Mary and Harry Poynor's first peal together was Stedman Triples, their 50th Stedman Caters and their 100 th, rung at Surfleet on July 20th, Stedman Cinques. What will be the next stepping stone? Sextuples!
The return to peal ringing of Mr. Edward Jenkins, with the peal of London at Ashton, will be noted with pleasure. He rang suitably rejuvenated.
Mr. William E. Court is to spend a year in Canada as visiting professor of Plarmacognosy at the University of Saskatchewan. He informs us that his nearest tower is only about 200 miles away.
Visitors from Kent, Surrey and Cardift on holiday in Stratton (Cornwall) wish to thank Mr. H. Stacey for arranging the series of 'Visitors' West Country' quarter peals just published.
After ringing a quarter peal at North Moreton, Berks, the ringers were surprised to hear the sound of bells. A resident had tape recorded some of the method, and after considerable deliberation the ringers were able to identify the method as Carter's Principle.
To commemorate the coronation of King George V in 1911, two trebles were added to the old ring of six at St. Margaret's, Rainham, Kent. The fiftieth anniversary of the dedication was on July 20th, the bells having been rehung in a new iron frame by John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.
Because of the shortage of recruits, there is a possibility that Darlaston may become a silent tower. Mr. D. T. Bates informs us that a reason is that the bells are such hard work to handle. The bells were cast by Thomas Mears II in 1840, and he believes that nothing has been done to them since. The P.C.C. ought to have the bells rehung.
In sending his congratulations to Mr. Brian $J$ Woodruffe and his band, who rang a peal of 16 Spliced Surprise Major at Ashover, based on Superlative, Mr. Robert B. Smith urites, 'Although I do not enjoy spliced ringing myself. I feel that it is more difficuls to ring variations correctly than it is to ring complete different methods.

Mr. Fred Bogan, president of the Irish Association, through "The Irish Bell News, thanks an anonymous donor for the gift of a presidential badge of office. The badge, in the shape of a bell on a circle, is finished in silver gilt and a green silk cord is affixed. The installation was by Mr. J. T. Dunwoody at the quarterly meeting at St. P'atrick's Cathedral, Dublin.

We are asked to state that Romford, Essex, tenor weighs 17 cwt 2 qr .

The quarter peal at Sarratt, recorded last week, was Plain Bob Doubles.

Hard luck on Elizabeth Timmins, attempting her first peal at St. Giles', Newcastle, Staffs. The bells were going very well when, after two hours, the clapper of the fifth dropped out Better luck next time, Elizabeth.
The bells of Rayne, Essex, had not been rung for some time until a quarter of Cambridge Surprise Minor was attempted on July 21st. Some consternation was caused when bits and pieces fell above!
A party of ten ringers from six towers in Kent and Surrey had a very good week-end's ringing in the Isle of Wight, travelling in a green Dormobile from Bromley on April 19th. All the towers on the Island were visited and on the mainland Horsham. Petersfield, Portsmouth Cathedral, Havant and Westbourne
The peal rung at Calverley, Yorks, is the first of Major by a local company for 37 years. Messrs. Wilfred Lee and Percy Wheatley took part in this peal and the one of Prince Albert Treble Bob Major, which was rung in November, 1926. All the ringers of the 1963 peal received their instruction in the Calverley tower, and have never been attached to any other tower.
The announcement that Cottingham bells (5) would be available after the Kettering Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild meeting at East Carlton (6), induced a reader to make a 25 mile journey in the hope of ringing a six score. After waiting 1 hour 18 minutes, a local and three others, one of whom was a beginner, arrived. Up to 7 p.m. only rounds were heard and then it was time for the bus home.

PEAL RECORIDS

Let us now compile a fictitious peal report and set it out in the current fashion, and then as it might be set out if the suggestions that I have made were to be adopted.

EIGHT BELL PEAL
LARGETOWN. SOMESHIRE.
THE SOMESHIRE ASSOCIATION
On Sat., Jan. 1, 1963, in 2 Hours and 59 Minutes, At the Church of All Saints.

EIGHT BELL PEAL

(TRIPLES)

ALL SAINTS', LARGETOWN, SOMESHIRE.  Sat.. Jan. 1, 1963-2 h. 59 m.

5040 GRANDSIRE (Parker's 12-part)

1. John Brown*
2. George Green
3. William Whitet
4. Robert Black
5. George Black +
6. John Green
7. Thomas Brown-conductor
8. Walter White

In this suggestion a serial number has been included and there would have to be one explanation off the meaning of the * and $\dagger$.

Where peals are rung on less than the full number of bells in the tower, which combination was used could easily be indicated by using the numbers of the bells themselves in the full ring. Thus. in a twelve-bell tewer the back eight would be described as $5-12$, whereas the middle eight would be $2,3,4,5,6 b, 7,8$ and 9 .

This same fictitious peal could be recorded in abstracted form by the Someshire Association along this sort of line:

| Date | Church | Method | Ref, No. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Jan. 1. 1963. | All Saints', |  |  |
| Largetown. |  |  |  | Largetown.'

Peals could be reported in chronological order or they could be groups together by the towers in which they were rung.

Earlier I suggested that the 'league table' serves no useful purpose. pointing out the differences in size hetween associations. I have also. in the past, drawn attention to the fact that some associations ignore this and appropriate to their records peals credited to other Associations in that table. This part of the Peals Analysis could be discontinued and this committee might well be amalgamated with the Records Committee under a title such as the Peal Records Committee. Such a committee could examine the peal columns and issue interim reports to correct inaccuracies and delete unacceptable peals. thereby adopting the peal columns as its own official record. It could also delegate to a section of its members the examination of the style and systems of compiling those records so that recommendations could be made where there was room for improvement.

I have written this article in the hope that it will stimulate discussion and I hope that I shall be ablc to read comments from others on the points that have been raised.

How it rained on July 6th! What with the difficulties of getting to Knebworth church and driving, almost continual rain. we were afraid the meeting would be hard hit. To our pleasure there was almost the usual number for tea. and the customary variety of methods rung: the chairman. Mr. A. Rex Agg, said that it was praiseworthy
Earlier Rev. D. Smith, the curate, had conducted the service, with Mr. Besley at the organ: and an ample tea had been enioyed. There was little business to be transacted: the confirmation of the tower election of Messrs. B C. Burrough. B. F. Matthews and R. E. Waters: and the next meeting to be at either Barkway or Askwell in Octoher. Advance notice was given of the Datchworth dedication on September 16th.

'ALL WE LIKE SHEEP

AS long as change-ringing has existed men have made mistakes, and as long as ringing persists men will continue to err; and the trip, the false blow, the unpredictable mental aberration cannot be said to be confined to the beginner, the nervous, or the moderate performer. Even in a band picked with meticulous care, for some extraordinary feat, mistakes may be made, and these lapses must be corrected, either by the erring ringer himself or by someone in authority. The letter from 'A Learner' in a recent issue of our journal invites some thought and invokes some interesting speculation on this matter.

The writer of the letter does not make his complaint quite clear, for we cannot be sure if he deplores being corrected in mistakes that he has not made, or if he feels that he should be allowed time to correct himself, or thirdly, if he holds the view that all errors should be detected and corrected by the conductor and by no one else. All three of these points are worthy of consideration.

It is well recognised that there are certain ringers who are fond of correcting other people's mistakes; and while it is certain that in most cases the motive is laudable and the intention sincere, there are occasions when the casting out of the mote obscures the realisation of the beam, and the importunate monitor may, in his zeal, be concealing or precipitating a fault of his own. But this brings us to the very debatable question as to whether all correction should be left to the conductor or whether a general alertness on the part of all the band is desirable. Some conductors have held that it is their responsibility and sole duty and that all other intervention is intolerable. The late Clement Glenn used to say, bluntly, that there was only one conductor and that he would tolerate no interference. But Glenn, like other men who held the same view, was a genius, and no band ringing with him could justly quarrel with his ruling. Washbrook and Pye took no such extreme measures to exert authority, but their general command of the situation required no ancillary support. and the same may be said of the brilliant conductors of today.

Of the second point in our reflections it may be said that here we come up against a problem that can scarcely be stated with precision or resolved with definition. For when exactly has a ringer made a mistake? When does a trip become a mistake? How can one decide when the first slight default will or will not grow into a disaster of the first magnitude? This is the problem facing the conductor (and, indeed, other members of the band), and a display of ineptitude and an exhibition of helplessness can follow from a slight trip by the most careful and experienced ringer just as easily as it may from a mistake by a learner. There is in this matter no touchstone for the conductor, and only his intuition and his knowledge of his band can inform him when to bring swift help and when to let events take their course. And so it must be that there will be times when a ringer is admonished needlessly and may resent this because he has made no mistake or because he has already corrected his erring way.

This problem is an old one. More than 200 years ago William Laughton complained of this. Of that great ringer and conductor Benjamin Annable, Laughton wrote: 'Whoever rings as well as he can ought not to be blamed by anybody. If they can tell a mistake before it's made I'd say they were lucky, but they know no more than the pope o Rome who'll make a fault before it's done. And what signifies calling out when a person knows it as well as they do? It only serves to set people fretting and making more mistakes.'

Of recent years Henry Fearn has said much the same thing in very similar words. Now both these gentlemen, the ancient and the modern, have proved themselves capable and competent ringers, each as widely experienced in the art as their times would allow; and so 'A Learner' finds himself in good company in his affliction, and may be sure that there are many other excellent practitioners who have had the distinction of being admonished and corrected by famous conductors. The privilege of being allowed to join with others in the pursuit of our art may mitigate our discomfort and soothe away much of our resentment; and with this reflection may come the realisation that in making our mistakes, and being (even bluntly) corrected, we endure a minor ordeal from which the most competent ringers cannot always escape.

THE EXTENT DF MAJOR FROM WITHIN

Conductor ROBERT B. SMITH writes of a Great Occasion

N behalf of all the ringers who rang the Extent of Major, at Loughborough I would like to thank all those concerned for their help and encouragement. A detailed letter of thanks has been written by Brian J. Woodruffe, but I wish to repeat that we would never have reached the end but for the support of those who were present. The enthusiasm of those watching and listening gave the ringers the necessary drive to finish. long after normal resources had expired. If ever a peal was the result of a team effort. this was it!
A week before the attempt we were robbed of the services of Derek Ogden. who had a fall, and damaged his shoulder. His place was taken by Frederick ('Ricky') Shallcross who, at 17 years old, showed that as well as being a brilliant ringer, he has the determination to keep going -like the rest of the tion band.
It would be unfair, unwise-and impossible to say who rang best; they all did! All that I can say is that 1 am extremely pleased and proud to have had the opportunity to stand with such a band of ringers

Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof: and the patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit.' (Eccles. vii, 8.)

BIOGRAPHICAL DETAILS

Brian J. Woodruffe, Treble. Age 24--Brian has just successfully completed an honours degree course at London University, where he read geography. He has accepted a postgraduate position at University College of Swansea. where he will be taking up residence in September. His peal total is about 400, of which he has conducted 220. (If. in fact, the 40.320 could be counted as eight peals, his 400 th would have been included somewhere around the middle of the eight. I believe!)
With the long peal of Superlative this year Brian surpassed the record of the late George Pye, who rang seven peals over 10,000 changes ong. His total over the 10.000 mark is now 10. the list being as follows
10.000 Double Norwich Court Bob Major,
10.944 Rutland Surprise Major

10,560 Pudsey Surprise Major.
11.552 Superlative Surprise Major,

15,000 Doubles (handbells).
15.840 Plain Bob Minor (handbells),
15.904 Plain Bob Major (handbells).
16.920 Yorkshire Surprise Royal,

18,928 Plain Bob Major.
In 1958 he rang 100 peals in the year. Many of his peals have been multi-method: Doubles up to 94 methods 'in hand' and Minor up to 73 Treble Bob methods on tower bells.

John M. Jelley, 2. Age 25.-Onc of three Johns in the band-which. I suppose, could have led to some confusion had there been any trips. In 1961 he rang over 100 peals in the year, and his present total is about 600 . of which he has conducted about 150. Previous long peals are :
ong peals are:
10.440 Cambridge Surprise Royal (handbells),
16.920 Yorkshire Surprise Royal,
18.928 Plain Bob Major.
32.704 Plain Bob Major.

His peals include many 'first': on tower bells Scientific Triples, and on handbells Yorkshire. York. New Cambridge. New Durham Surprise Maximus and the same methods and Lindsey in the 'Royal' field. The latest of his notable achievements is London Surprise Major in hand -what next?
Neil Bennett, 3. Age 24.-Neil is employed in the Research Laboratories of Oldham's Batteries. Ltd.. Lancashire. He is the secretary of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association. His peal total is approximately 250 , of which he has conducted about 50. Previous long peals are:
10.000 Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 15.904 Plain Bob Major (handbells),
16.920 Yorkshire Surprise Royal,

18,928 Plain Bob Major,
32,704 Plain Bob Major
This year he has rung about 70 peals so far, and could be the third leading peal ringer on the run who started ringing in the Manchester area. His peals include Spliced Surprise Maximus to 18 methods, and Spliced Surprise Royal to 12 methods. It is interesting to note that his first peal of Major in hand' was in fact the record 15.904 Plain Bob, to which he rang 3-4.

Frederick Shallcross, 4. Age 17.-' Ricky ' is still attending Grammar School and will be taking his ' A' level examinations next year. His peal total is now 200 , of which he has conducted about 40 (including Minor to Maximus). He has not previously taken part in any long peals, but is already 'booked' for one on Easter Monday of next year! Earlier this year he appeared under. Up and Coming Youngsters, in the 'R.W.-as one very famous ringer would say, He's theredon't you agree, Jock?

John C. Eisel, 5. Age 21.-John started ringing in June, 1955. at Hereford Cathedral under the tuition of A. W. Davies. His first peal. Reverse Canterbury Minor, was on July 28th, 1960 (just three years ago), and was conducted by Paul Cattermole. The 40.320 was his 95 th peal. 23 of which have been in hand: These peals have been rung for 13 Associations, the majority being for the Worcestershire Association and the University of London Society. So far this year he has rung about 40 peals. Previous long peals:
10.560 Pudsey Surprise Major.
10.944 Rutland Surprise Major,
11.552 Superlative Surprise Major,

15,840 Plain Bob Minor (handhells)
John Robinson, 6. Age 21.-John is another member of the young band from the Manchester area. His peal total at present is about 200, of which he has conducted ahout 40 . His first peal was at Norbury (Hazel Grove). in 1959. the method being Bob Major. Once his first peal had been scored. progress was made very quickly, and he soon developed into a very reliable ringer.

His peals include 18 Spliced Surprise Maximus and Royal to 12 methods. Last year he took part in the first ever Maximus peal weekonly having rung two or three twelve bell peals previously, and soon felt 'at home' on the higher numbers of bells. At present he is working hard to teach a hand of change ringers at St. Mary's, Stockport, a tower which has been undermanned for several years! Only previous long peal: 11.552 Superlative Surprise Major.

Brian Harris, 7. Age 30.-Brian now lives in Peterborough. where he is a teacher at one of the grammar schools. He is the only married man in the band, and is a father of four. His wife. Shirley, is a ringer. and takes part in peals when the opportunity arises.

Again. if the 40.320 could have been counted as cight peals. Brian would also have passed a milestone-his 500 th peal. These peals have been rung on all numbers of bells, and include over 60 each of Minor. Major, Royal and Maximus. Previous long peals:
9.56810 Spliced Surprise Major 13.4406 Spliced Surprise Major
16.920 Yorkshire Surprise Royal.

Robert B. Smith, Tenor. Age 25 -Now rung just under 500 peals. including following long

9,568 10 Spliced Surprise Major
10.000 Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

10,440 Cambriáge Surprise Royal (handbelis),
11,552 Superlative Surprise Major

15.904 Plain Bob Major (handbells),
16.920 Yorkshire Surprise Royal.
18.928 Plain Bob Major,

32,704 Plain Bob Major.
Just successfully completed course in production engineering at Loughborough. Now in charge or 'Quality Control' at Mirlees National. Ltd., Stockport, Cheshire

UMPIRES REPORT

The extent of Bob Major by one set of ringers was successfully rung at Loughborough Bell Foundry on July 27th-28th, 1963, in 17 hours $58 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes.

The bells went into changes at $6.52 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on July 27 th, a warm but pleasant morning. A steady rhythm was rapidly acquired, and the first of the 12 parts was completed in 1 hour $31 \frac{1}{2}$ mins. The second part was rather quicker 11 hour $26 \frac{1}{2}$ mins.), but after this the ringing returned to the original speed. The band was in a lighthearted mood. and the half-way point came up at 3.56 p.m., after 9 hours 4 mins., almost without incident. The individual 5.040 's had only varied in time between 2 hours 15 mins. and 2 hours 17 mins.

By this time the ringing room was very warm and there was no breeze, and although the ringing was a little quicker, several members of the band showed signs of faintness or severe fatigue. A very tiring part of the peal was between 25,000 and 30.000 changes. but by about $7 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the atmosphere was appreciably cooler and pleasanter. and this partially eased the situation. 5,040 's in the second half were averaging about 2 hours 14 mins., and by about 8 p.m. quite a crowd of bystanders had assembled outside the foundry, These included ringers and non-ringers, and it very pleasing feature was that nearly all the local inhabitants appreciated what was being attempted and many of them expressed their good wishes for a successful conclusion.
The previous record peal (32.704) was passed by 9.30 p.m., having taken 50 minutes less to reach this point than the peal itself, and by 11.2 p.m. the band had been ringing longer than any previous set of ringers ( 16 hours 10 mins. in an unsuccessful attempt. conducted by Mr. F. Lufkin). Throughout all this time only minor trips had occurred and for maintaining this standard Bob Smith. the conductor, is to be most sincerely congratulated on his incredible handling of the composition and coursing order during the entire day

By 35.000 changes all members of the band were suffering from stiffness of legs, arms and backs, but the end was in sight. The ringing was still of a high standard. and when only the last 15 courses remained to be rung the band rallied for a final effort to bring the bells successfully into rounds at $12.50 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Sunday, July 28th.

Amongst the hystanders waiting to congratulate the hand was a police car investigating the reason for the noise and activity at that time of the morning. However, as an indication of how well the inhahitants of Loughhorough appreciate what ringing is. the policemen soon understood exactly what had been achieved and offered their congratulations, along with those from all the other people present. for a truly remarkable performance. ## MY AMERICAN TOUR

By FREDERICK SHARP

TEighth National Convention of the Ringers was held in Detroit, Michigan, on June 26th-28th. The convention headquarters were in the Park Sheldon Hotel, and the whole company of 857 handbell ringers. their conductors and chaperones were housed in this hotel and the nearby Detroit Layland.
Many came long distances: from the far off Western States, from New Mexico, from Canada, and even those from the nearer Eastern Coastal States travelled further than from Land's End to Scotland. They brought their bells. their equipment, stands, and their robes, for almost every team, called in America a Handbell Choir. has a distinctive uniform. These varied considerably in style and colour so that the scene when many groups were together was spectacular. Great dignity was displayed at all times by the robed choirs, particularly in stage entries and exits.

It was difficult to assess the exact proportion, but I estimated that approximately twothirds of the company were teenagers, and that probably about three hundred of these were girls. For every six teenagers the Housing Committee of the A.G.E.H.R. insisted that there should be one adult chaperone.
Most teams were attached to some church, and a grea number of different denominations were represented. In many of the very large churches the music is controlled by an official having the title of 'Minister of Music.' He would have a staff of assistants. One man had 2? singing choirs in his church another had 13 handbell teams
Some groups gave recitals and concerts all the year round to finance their visit to the Convention: others gave concerts as they travelled across the American Continent to help defray their expenses

IMPORTANCE OF CONDUCTOR

Most ringers rang two bells each, retaining these in their hands; but occasionally exchanging one for another bell on the stand, or table. in front of them. The general arrangement was for the ringers to stand in a straight line facing the audience, and facing their conductor. with their music on racks, or music stands. They depended entirely on the conductor for it was impossible for any one ringer to see the whole team.
A great variety of bell nositions was observed. Very few rang in the clockwise position. as we do in England: many rang anticlockwise. but. of course, this would apnear clockwise to the conductor who would face the ringers and have his back to the audience. Many more teams rang with their bells in mixed nositions: trebles, altos. tenors and basses all mixed up together. I tried to find out the reason for this. but without success.
The backstroke position was used almost universallv. Bells would be held nearly shoulder high. inverted. With much grace and dignity the hackstroke would be sounded and the hell returned and held stationary in its normal inverted position. This would be done in one graceful movement. concluding almost, so it seemed to me. like the action of holding one's glass when proposing toast. The ringing was done with great feeling. soft passages in narticular being heautifully rendered: and with harmonies well subdued to the melodies. But there were exceptions: some teams in their enthusiasm were over vigorous. and the dampening of bells was carried to extremes by others. One team even

MR. FREDERICK SHARP and his bells.

ELABORATE EQUIPMENT

A great variety of stands, tables, bellracks and carrying cases were used. Some were elaborate and obviously costly. One team had a set of aluminium stands designed so that the ringers stood on three levels. tier behind tier, with carefully designed bell stands and rests complete, with music racks in front of each tier of ringers. One director explained how she had designed carrying cases which formed bell stands when required. and could be erected in a minimum of time. The cost of these had amounted to $£ 500$. All equipment was obviously well cared for, as were also the hells which, without exception. were highly polished and in first rate condition. Most of them were cast at the Whitechapel foundry in London. but several teams were using Dutch bells from the foundry of Messrs. Petit and Fritsen, and a few had American cast bells. Most teams used three chromatic octaves, or more. Less than two chromatic octaves. 25 bells. is termed a small set by the A.G.E.H.R. All are tuned to standard pitch ( $\mathrm{A}=440$ ).
Registration began at 9 a.m. on Wednesday in the MacGregor Memorial Hall at Wayne University. The city of Detroit, its hotels, Wayne University and Arts Institute had cooperated in a wonderful manner with the programme chairman. Dr. Marvin Reecher. in placing every facility at the disposal of the A.G.E.H.R.

The official opening of the Convention followed. An enthusiastic and very sincere invocation and welcome to all by the president, Dr. Robert Hieber, was followed by ringing by selected groups. It was beautifully performed, and I shall never forget my first introduction to American handbell ringing. On this occasion I sat with the Guild secretary Mrs. R. J. Marlow (Florence Marlow), and Mrs. W. Tufts (Nancy Poore Tufts), chairman of Publicity and Publications Committee These ladies had formed a reception committee to meet me on arrival just before midnight on Monday, and had assisted me on the previous day in arranging a display of photographs and exhibits of English bells in the Park Shelton Hotel. The amount of work done so easily and with such enthusiasm by them was astounding; and every day a com mittee, working well into the night, with Mrs Tufts as editor, produced a four-page news shcet, almost a newspaper, called Undertones. This was delivered to all members of the Convention at breakfast time each day. was sorry I could not stay until the end of the first session, but I was requested to interview several press reporters and photographers. had previously recorded three interviews for sound broad casting. Press and radio interiews alike were anxious to present a picture of ringing in England
In the afternoon Messrs Frederic Fay and $\mathrm{F}_{\text {: }} \mathrm{L}$ Whittlesey led a panel discussion on programming and repertoire, and demonstrations were given by Dr. Reecher's Tulsa ringers. Using film and tape recordings a lecture on the basic principles of arrang ing music was given by Mr Istran Gladics. Thes took place in the Wayne University I could not attend all of them for I was set what was prob ably the most difficult task of my visit. I had to lecture to the teenagers in the India Room at the Detroit Leyland Hotel, and demonstrate four-in-hand ringing. To play in four-part harmony at leas five persons are needed, and at the limited time at my disposal I had coached Dr. R Litterst, and Mr. Scott B Parry (the author of the well known book 'The Story of Handbells '), both of whom had done a little four-in-hand ringing. The other two volunteers were Mrs. Hulet and Miss G. S. Hulet, of Kansas neither of whom had attempted this type of ringing before the previous evening, but who were extremely quick learners. I was anxious to present a reasonably good demonstration after the excellent performances I had heard in the morning, and my scratch team rose to the occasion. So much was this appreciated that we were asked for two additional performances, not part of the programme.

YOUTH INTERESTED

Returning to the Park Shelton Hotel, I spent the next two hours with my exhibition. This meant explaining the basic principles of change ringing to all who were interested, and I left quite exhausted. but convinced that if there were bells hung for swinging in full circle in America the youth of that country would be as enthusiastic about ringing them as they are about handbell ringing.
After dinner the whole convention attended the evening concert in the auditorium of the Arts Institute. at which many groups. no doubt carefully selected, rang most beautifully. Afterwards the film 'Ringers Required' was shown in the Park Shelton Hotel, and a iremendous interest was taken in this by the adults. It probably did more than anything o present the art of change ringing clearly to the A.G.E.H.R. Members of the C.C.C.B.R. will remember the showing of this film at Cardiff by its author and producer, Mr. A. J. M. Collins, of the Vancouver Society of Change Ringers. At Detroit it led to many questions, and I was called on for further explanations. So much interest was expressed hat it was decided to show the film again on Friday

Letters to the Editor

Canadian Towers

Dear Sir.-I regret that I must point out certain inaccuracies in the information given by Mr. G. W. Pipe, regarding towers in Canada (see page 416 ).
I examined all the towers containing rings of bells in Eastern Canada in May, 1961, and conducted some correspondence with Mr . Dove after this in order that all the rings in Canada could be accuratcly brought up to date. As far as I know, I am probably the only person who has rung on the towers in Canada all of which have ringers-this totals five towers.
I started the ringing in Vancouver in 1957, a tower totally without ringers and unusual for at least five years, and I also was responsible for the instruction of the fathers at the Benedictine Monastery at Mission City.
Those of your readers who have seen my film 'Ringers Required, will have seen the former bells and heard the latter ring. At the Cardiff Council meeting, last summer, I opened my showing of three films with brief extracts from a holiday coloured film taken in Quebec City. These shots were of the church. tower and ring of bells at the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity-the oldest ring in Canada. I personally have rung on these bells, and have given one evening of instruction to the struggling band there, in the very small Anglican community. Some of you will also remember my remarks on the difficulties of ringing in the extremcly cold winters. and chipping ice off the bells for Christmas ringing!
Unfortunately, Mr. Dove printed that the hells were unringable. I purchased his third edition at the Council meeting at Cardiff. and was horrified to find this inaccuracy. I wrote to him after, asking for a correction to be made, but as far as I know no correction has been made for these very historical Canadian bells.
The ring at St. Matthew's, Quebec City, is in perfect working order, but has no band. It Patrick's. Montreal (10), has, I seem to remember, five bells complete with stays, sliders and wheels, but no ropes. The other five have been motorised with enormous chain drives. which are terrifying to see in operation. I therefore submit that the omission $o^{\circ}$ five ropes should not make a five bell ring (albeit an odd middle five) unringable. Of course the motorisation of the other five could be dismantled in less than a day and no doubt the remaining wheels, sliders and stays are in the church's store rooms. somewhere, for reinstallation.-Yours sincerely
A. J. M. COLLINS.

Vancouver, British Columbia.

Humour from Letters

Dear Sir,-In his letter in "The Ringing World July 19th. Mr. Giles B. Thompson suggests that, thanks to Mr. R. G. Leale. your letter page now 'beats even the peal columns for laughs.

Perhaps in view of this statement Mr. Thompson would care to explain the laughs about the "peal' that he "conducted" at Penn, Bucks. on May lith this year (' R.W.' June 7th. page 387). so that the whole Exercise may share in the mirth that Mr. Thompson attributes (or rather conlributes) to the peal columns - Yours expectantly.

Horton. Bucks.

A Learner's Question

Dear Sir.-Regarding 'A Learner’s Question,' it was established at a recent meeting of Yorkshire ringers that we are all still learners so perhaps 'A Learner' should be described as a beginner, and, as such, will be watched very carefully whilst ringing.

It has been said that good conductors can anticipate a trip before it happens, and instantly take steps to correct a ringer who may have momentarily lapsed.
The conductor often spots a beginner looking towards the wrong rope and realises that the latter is uncertain and takes immediate action which irritates the beginner. Until the 'Learner, acquires good ropesight and gains confidence he will be constantly under the eagle eye of the experts, who, I admit, often overdo the prompting, but it is all part of the training.
Soon the beginner will graduate and experience the exquisite delight in prompting a wretched novice.-Yours faithfully,
M. F. MOXON
(Just another learner).
Cawthorne, Barnsley.

How is it done in Brum?

Dear Sir.-Nothing ever surprises the Lincoln Cathedral ringers, but we wonder how the Brummies squeeze their peals in. Having spent a full day's outing in the Midland area on June 22 nd, visiting Walsall. Wolverhampton and the two Birmingham twelves of St. Martin's and the Cathedral, we also enjoyed the company of our York friend. Miss Iris Lemare. This accounted for her activities from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.. but then we read of her ringing a peal of London at Birmingham Cathedral on that day. We offer our congratulations, but still marvel how she did it.-Yours etc..
J. L. M.

Thank you, Somerset

Dear Sir.-Having just returned from a wonderful fortnight's holiday at Clevedon, Scmerset, I would like, through the medium of your columns to express my gratitude to all those ringing friends in the area who helped so much to make the holiday a success by arranging and standing in in ringing at various churches. and also in quarter peal attempts (two of which were successful!). Thanks are due especially to the members of the Batn and Chew Deanery Branches of the Bath and Wells Association. particularly to my good friends David. Yeo. Len Derrick, George Prescott and Michael Horseman ; also to clergy and tower captains for so willingly giving permission for ringing.

Thank you, Somerset, for a grand welcome. and I look forward very much 10 visiting more of your beautiful churches and fine bells in due course. -Yours sincerely,

50 YEARS AGO

'R.W.' August 1st, 1913.-
In connection with the Hertfordshire demonstration of protest against the Welsh Church Disestablishment Bill. held at Hatfield last Saturday. Canon Lord William Cecil invited members of the Herts Association of Ringers to use the bells of the Parish Church, and memhers attended in considerable numbers from many parts of the countw. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major were rung.

CONDUCTOR'S THANKS

Mr. Robert B. Smith writes: I would like to thank everybody who sent telegrams and letters, and will reply to them personally as soon as time permits.

CONGRATULATIONS

Dear Sir,-At last the full extent of Plain Bob Major has been rung, and I would like through 'The Ringing World' to congratulate most heartily Bob Smith and his young hand on having accomplished this great achievement, one which must surely go down in ringing history as 'The Peal of 1963.'
The first attempt to ring the full extent was made on December 4th. 1954, and since that time several attempts have been made. the last four or five by two bands, one led by Bob Smith and the other by Frank B. Lufkin. Bob, in his determination to gain this victory, has now proved to so many ringers, who have said it can't be done, that they are wrong.
Having taken part in eight attempts to ring the full extent at Loughborough I can well appreciate the feelings of the eight successful ringers when they heard the long awaited words. 'That's all.'
In rejoicing at their success we must not forget the one man without whom the extent might never have been rung. I refer, of course, to Mr. Paul Taylor, who through his kindness and generosity has made this great ringing marathon possible.
I am certain that the whole Exercise will wish to join me in this message of congratulations. and we look forward with eagerness to the next venture of Bob Smith and his young band of ringers.- Yours faithfully.

King's Lynn.

Dear Sir.-The band that twice failed to ring the extent of Major sends congratulations to Bob Smith and band on their success.Yours sincerely, FRANK B. LUFKIN.

Holland-on-Sea.

FROM LEEDS, KENT

Dear Sir,-On behalf of the present day members of the Society of Leeds Ringers. I offer my congratulations to Boh Smith and his band on ringing the extent of Major, with eight men only. I am sure my eminent predecessor in this tower, James Barham. would wish his name to be associated with these congratulations. He led the band which first attained the full 40.320 changes over 200 years ago. On that occasion though. fourteen men took part in the ringing, so Bob Smith's eight deserve all honour for their clear and decisive superiority over the earlier achievement.-Yours faithfully,

ALEC W.. FRY,
St. Nicholas', Leeds.

Confidence in Officers

Dear Sir.-Regarding the letter from Mr. Slight, of Grantham, concerning Lincoln Guild officers, the views expressed are probably his own. As an ordinary ringing member of the Southern Branch. Lincoln Diocesan Guild I wish to state that the vast majority of our members have full confidence in our office holders at the Guild headquarters, and greatly appreciate the work which they efficiently carry out.
We are also well served with officers at Branch level and have a secretary whose integrity and devotion to the office is second to none.-Yours sincerely,

CHAS. L. BLANCHARD.
Rippingdale. Lincs.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Coach parties from Chesterfield and Derby brought the attendance at the Association's quarterly meeting at Glossop to over 70. The Vicar (the Rev. A. Batslear) presided and welcomed the company. He is a ringer, and later in the proceedings he and five of the local company joined the Association.
Mr. J. C. Woolley, general treasurer, deplored that many subscriptions were out standing, and asked for payment as soon as possible, as expenditure had increased. Over e4 had been received in voluntary donations appealed for so as to avoid an increased subscription. The Bell Repair Fund was healthy, with a balance of over $£ 170$. Only one church out of 68 had failed to pay the affiliation fee.
An interesting and detailed account of the Central Council meeting at Great Yarmouth was presented by Mr. A. Mould.
A collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised $£ 210 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d}$., and proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. F. Adams. The meeting was preceded by a service and tea.

Chesterfield District

There was only a small attendance at the Chesterfield District meeting at Brampton on June 8th, but the business was significant with the election of eight new members from North Wingfield (Messrs. A. Sollis, B. Dunn, F Roby, B. Wharmley, C. Booker, J. Timmons, P. Hopkinson and G. Freeman and G. Hibbard (Staveley)). The strong effort by the local band at South Wigfield to re-establish regular ringing was noted with pleasure.
Silent tribute was paid to Mr. L. Palmer, of Staveley, a ringer for almost 60 years. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. $\mathbf{G}$ Goodall, District Ringing Master. Welcomed visitors were Mr. E. C. Gobey, of Ilkeston, and his son, Fred

REDEDICATION  STANTON, SHROPSHIRE

The old red sandstone Norman Church of St. Andrẹw, Stanton-on-Hine Heath, Shropshire, was filled for the rededication of the bells by the Bishop of Lichfield (Dr. A. S Reeve). In less than two years this small agricultural community has raised the $£ 1,200$ needed for retuning the bells and rehanging them in new fittings in an iron frame. Messrs John Taylor and Co. have made a splendid job, and the tone is now brighter. Canons have been removed and the tenor weighs 7 cwt .1 qr. 27 lh.
Immediately after the dedication the bells were chimed in rounds for one minute by six members of the Shropshire Association, at the request of the Vicar, and at the conclusion of the service the bells were raised in peal and rung for an hour or so under the leadership of Mr. R. E. Morris, general secretary of the Association. Men tanned by their work in the hay harvest showed they had not forgotten their Grandsire Doubles, although several seemed to find the little treble rather light.
Everybody was delighted with the improved tone and excellent 'go.' Unfortunately the Vicar seems rather against peal ringing, and it looks as though no permission will be given, at least for the present.

OBITUARY

MR. J. R, GILSON

Melton Mowbray has lost an old and faithful ringer and churchman by the death of Mr. Joseph 'Richard Gilson: on July 15th. Aged 87, he had been ringing for over 70 years, having learned to handle a bell at Kirby Bellars, where his father was sexton. He was a member of the Framland Association, the Goscote Society and the Leicester Diocesan Guild.
Fellow ringers rang a quarter peal of 1,320 Plain Bob Major on July 18th, with the bells half-muffled. They were: M. Ponting 1 , Mrs. D. Day 2. Mrs. M. Stimson 3, F. J. Stimson 4, A. J. Stimson 5, J. L. Day 6, R. E. Manton (cond.) 7, M. T. Stimson 8

MR. FRANK R. KNIGHT

By the death of Mr. Frank R. Knight, aged 64, on July 15th, Stanton St. John, Oxon, has lost the last of its veteran ringers. Frank had been in ill-health for the last two years and was recovering from a stroke when he collapsed and died.
On coming to Stanton in 1920 he joined the local band and rang with them until 1939, when war was declared. After the war he became tower captain and began training a new band. members of which still ring in various part of England.
He was a conscientious man, and before ill-health prevented him from climbing the stairs, seldom missed service ringing. One of his greatest pleasures was to hear the bells rung by a young band, especially if it was local. In his younger days he played cricket for the village team and, in later years, had played a great part in keeping it together He had maintained to the last that bellinging and cricket were two of the finest things man could have
May he rest in peace.
R. H. J.

BICESTER'S 50th ANNIVERSARY

The 50th anniversary of the recasting of Bicester bells was marked by the local company ringing a quarter pcal of Grandsire Triples, which was followed by a dinner, at which the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. W. Eardley) presided, and guests included Mr. H. J. Preece, Mr. J. Grimsley (one of the original band). Mr and Mrs. C. East and Mr. and Mrs. W. Hunt The toast of The Vicar and Churchwardens was proposed by Mr. C. Kinch, and acknowledged by the Vicar, and that of : The Bicester Ringers ${ }^{\text {© }}$ by Mr. C. East. of Ludgershall, and replied to by Mr. H. Hatield (captain).

During the evening it was decided to start practices again on Wednesday evenings at 7.30 p.m., when visitors would be welcome. The Bicester register of 1913 gives the membership us follows: Bowers, $F^{H}$, Bowden, W G.. Clifton. A. T., Clifton. C., Clifton, H., Cox. B., Grimsley, J., Hims, E., Pitts, G., Neale. D., Neale, W.

The quarter peal of Grandsire was rung b) E. Evans 1. Mrs. J. Thurmott 2, H. Hat field 3, H . Clifton 4. $\dot{W}$. Baggett $5, \mathrm{C}$. Kinch 6. M. Thurmott (cond.) $7, \mathrm{~A}$. Crutchfield 8.

Unfortunately, a peal attempt of Stedman Triples the following Saturday failed after 65 minutes.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Marlborough Branch

Visitors made the meeting of the Marl borough Branch at Chilton Foliat on July 27th. There was a touring band of young men calling themselves ' The Nomads,' and also Mr. Tony Price, of Sunbury, who gave a fascinating demonstration by ringing the treble and second to a touch of Grandsire.

The Rector (the Rev. F. C. Unwin) not only conducted the Guild service, with Mr. Alan Keen (Aldbourne). but saw to it all were entertained to tea in the new rectory by Mrs. Unwin and her helpers. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. G. Newman (chairman) and ringing was under the direction of Mr T A. Palmer (honorary secretary and Ringing Master).

Dorchester Branch

Thirty-five members attended the quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch at Abbotsbury on June 29th, at which the Vicar (the Rev. B. H. P. Ball) conducted the service and gave an address. After tea, at the Flower Bowl Cafe, the business meeting was held in the church, with the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth (chairman) presiding. New members elected were Miss P. Brockway, Messrs. G. Brockway, K. Brockway and T. Riggs (Piddlehinton), Miss M. Ford and Miss P. Corbon (Abbutsbury). Next meeting: Charminster, September 24th Practice meetings: Wyke Regis, August 10th; Maiden Newton. August 24th: St. Peter's, Dorchester, September 7ih; Cattistock, October 5th.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar and organist, Abbotsbury ringers and the caterers.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

N.W. District

The Rector and a team of youthful beginners welcomed those attending the quarterly meeting of the N.W. District at Ixworth on July 13th. The service was taken by the Rector, with Miss June Wright, a Rougham ringer, as organist, and a collection for the Sulfolk Bell Fund was taken by Mr. L. Wright.

After an enjoyable tea, provided by local ladies, Mr. Wright presided at the business meeting. A programme of forthcoming events announced included: Evening meeting. Hessett, August 10th: no meeting in September: quarterly, Lakenheath. October 19:h: annual dinner. Bury St. Edmunds. October 12 ith. The Rector was thanked by the chairman.
Visitors from a wide area joined in the evening ringing.

DUR PAGE

BIRSTALL, L.EICS
Saturday, July 20th. dawned brightly for the annual outing of the Birstall bellringers. Joined by friends from other parts of the county, we descended on the Staffordshire area, commencing ringing on the light octave at Overseale, followed by St. Paul's. Burton. Here, unfortunately, the rope on the tenor broke during a course of Bob Royal, but after this had been rectified we rang a good course of Stedman Caters.
Other towers visited were Sudbury, with the church almost hidden in the Hall grounds, Rocester, Mavesyn Ridware, which we had difficulty in approaching as the access road is only 10 feet wide for nearly it miles. The last three towers were Rugeley. where we were lucky enough to ring for a wedding. Barton-under-Needwood, where the spiral staircase to the ringing chamber was locked and we had t. get in from the inside of the church up a window cleaner's ladưer, and Lichfield, St. Mary's, where the claim that the bells go better to odd bell methods was disproved vi hen one of our stronger ringers turned the tenor in to a touch of Spliced Major.
The usual halt was made on the way back when 36 handbells were rung to tunes for nearly an hour, with such good results that the landlord's wife asked us to move from the back lawn into the lounge.
Finally, thanks are due to Sid Harrison for the use of his handbells, incumbents and tower captains, and finally our very patient and helpful driver
D. F. M.

CALVERLEY, YORKS

The Lake District was visited by ringers from St. Wilfrid's, Calverley and their friends on July 6th. The first call was at Kirkby Lonsdale, where good use was made of the six bells. After an extremely good lunch is perhaps not the best time to ring the musical but heavy bells at Ambleside. but we rang them to the best of our ability, and enjoyed ourselves very much.
A short. but beautiful, run to Langdale, followed, the fells and steams looking their best. The light six at Langdale went like tops. We rang slow, Treble Bob in the traditional cart-wheeling, style and faster open lead Surprise and plain methods. While in the tower there was a heavy thunder shower.
At Hawkshead the local company had arranged a wonderful tea. The homemade cakes and fancies put us in a good mood for the lightest eight of the day. We left at 7.15. with regret, and arrived home at 11 p.m., with happy memories of the kindnesses of our ringing friends in the towers visited. JIM.

DARTFORD AND DISTRICT

Six towers in Sussex were visited by Dartford and District ringers during their outing on June 15th and the route chosen was mostly through byways.
Ringing at the first tower. Turner's Hill. was preceded by prayers. led by the Vicar of Dartford. At Cuckfield (8) the local band. who were away on their outing. left useful instructions, and at the King's Head Hotel. adjoining the church. an excellent lunch was provided.
There was competition to our ringing at Burgess Hill, in the form of a brass band at the local festivities. but we were allowed to depart without any disturbance of the peace Newick bells ( 6 , tenor 5 cwt., the lightest six in Sussex) were a novelty, with their outsize sallies, and at Uckfield (8), after tea. we met Mr. and Mrs. Percy. Mr. and Mrs. F. Hairs. well known to the older ringers of Dartford area, greeted us at Coleman's Hatch. The day's ringing was quite up to standard, and we thank all who helped to make the outing su enjoyable.

TADCASTER, YORKS-On July 29th, 1,320 Doubles (Grandsire and Plain Bob): C. Banton (cond.) 1-2. W. Hick 3-4. S. Burnett 5-6. A compliment to Alan Evens and Jennifer Stephens, on the occasion of their weddiag at Ebbw Vale.

A cloudless sky, a perfect day,
Lilacs and laburnums we passed on our way From Norfolk to Cambridgeshire, fertile and green.
Trees, fields and hedges completed the scene.
To Burwell St. Mary's, an F sharp ring of eight, Four dated 1705, three trebles added of late: Inside the spirelet hangs an old sanctus bell, Square Norman tower traces still visible as well.
From Cambs to Northamptonshire, the valley of the Nene.
Flowing slowly thro pastures Higham Ferrers is seen,
13th century tower, with high crocketed spire, Fine ring of eight; misericords in the choir.
A beautiful church; treasures unique and rare
16th century screen and a Bede House stands there.
The bells. were struck well, rang out loud and clear,
Major and Triples, all methods, did share.
Our next call was Rushden; recast 'fifty-three,'
For the coronation of Elizabeth trebles added D and E
From John Taylor's foundry; in 100 days,
£3,500 was subscribed in many ways.
Ancient customs were kept here; a bell rang daily at noon,
Pancake bell on Shrove Tuesday, gleaning bell; all too soon
Old traditions leave us. the death bell; jits knell,
If you counted, ihe age of the departed could tell.
St. Katharine's, of Irchester, another sing of eight,
To All Hallows' at Wellingboro', with histories great.
Both rings key of D, bells loud and clear
Rang o'er country and market for all to hear.
We made our last call at Raunds Church of St. Peter.
High above the town, bells mellow and sweeter, We raised them and rang, lowered them in peal Then homeward once more, our day to reveal.

Thanks given to all, a happy day : before it ends
One silent thought for all absent friends;
For those who are sick one moment 'We pray God's help and comfort for them every day.'

DAVENTRY BRANCH

Making an early start from Daventry on July 20th. we arrived only a few minutes behind schedule at the Cleve Hotel, Wellington. where we were met by Mrs. E. S. Powell and Miss Hartley.
After an excellent lunch. at which we were warmly welcomed by Mrs. Powell, the towers of Wellington. Milverton and Wiveliscombe were visited, and a return was made to the were visited, and a hotel for high tea.
The Branch chairman thanked all those who had helped towards the outing. especially Mrs. Powell and Miss Hartley, for their part in arranging the ringing programme and meals. As a small token of our appreciation Mrs. Maude Clarke presented flowers to Mrs. Powell.
Ringing for the day was concluded at West Buckland.

DEVIZES TOWERS' COMBINED OUTING

Members of St. Mary's and St. John's.

 Devizes, Bishop's Canning, Urchfont. Seend and Bromham had a hali-day six-bell outing on July 6th. On the fine bells of Kilmersdon the rope broke during the last touch. Radstock bells were particularly pleasing, and so was the tea here! Compton Dando, where the Vicar welcomed the party, has a splendid six, and at Newton St. Loe. the last tower, the almost new ropes required extra care. A most pleasing point was that, at every tower 'the gentleman with the key' was always there to open up and extend a welcomeH.A. G.

ALLESLEY, COVENTRY

Ladies and gentlemen: before I begin.
The Rector apologises, for letting you in
For this verbose and garrulous account of a day
We've all spent together, this Saturday.
The service of a good psychologist
Must decide what drives any campanologist
To seize his hat-with no farewell,
And travel miles to ring a bell.
But they do. We came along too,
To sec whether it was bells, or the brew,
That inspired them to pull on a rope.
Now we know.' We watched them cope
In six lovely churches. We've heard bells fifty-two (Six-and-a-half tons of ten-that includes toa).
But let us get the tale narrated
From when we boarded our Midland Red.
In dawn's early light the party assembled,
With two Ringing Masters, we novices trembled
We boarded the coach and sat where we could,
And headed for St. Mary's, in Brewood.
Roger bet Janet, of nylons one pair,
If it should rain before we got there.
It did and he lost, and promised to pay.
Is that why it stayed fine for the rest of the day?
St. Mary's was reached half-an-hour before time.
The others, in search of coffee or tea,
Found the local landlady in her deshabille.
To Coalbrookdale, by boarding the bus,
The day was progressing without any fuss.
While some rang the bells, there was a rival appeal
And some smacking their lips, proved it was real.
Here the Rector, alone for the moment, wavered.
Was lost and succumbed to his first ice cream wafer.
So to Shrewsbury, in time for lunch :
You have never seen a hungrier bunch.
But the lunch that we had-chicken and bangers-
Was right up the street of our bunch of clangers.
After lunch, Peter Border's lads,
Scurried up the hill to ring at St. Chad's.
A nearly two ton tenor. What a to do.
(The Rector ate ice cream number two).
A further journey to Much Wenlock,
Where we stopped till past four o'clock.
While the bells rang in Holy Trinity
We went off in search of tea.
It was a little shop-a tiny place-
And there the ladies took up all the space.
But ordering tea in shifts about,
The men went in as they came out.
Another, short ride, but a pleasant one,
Landed us at Bridgnorth's 'Swan.'
Here a salad tea with ham,
Amply filled our inner man.
Our waitress asked us 'What's the reason
For putting slops in your fruit salad basin?'
Bill Osborne, of the head so white,
Said. 'We'd no slop basin.' She said, 'Oh! That's all right.
A gentleman missed a well known sign, when greatly urged.
His face was red when he emerged.
Up the hill, to ring St. Leonard's,
Ropes creaking loud-louder creaked our innards.
The Rector looked downward from the town called High.
To the river helow. and emitted a sigh
'Down there. I feel, l've got to go.' said he.
If I'm not back by seven, wait for me.'
Having walked down and up the valley rift.
He discovered the existence of a west cliff lift.
One more short ride. to church number six,
To find the Vicar of Claverley in a fix.
Two privately-owned chapels were his bane,
The non-churchgoing owner was to blame.
After ringing at this painted church,
We entered into the CROWN to search,
For food, and wine and comradeship;
This latter we should like to skip.
Mr. Taylor-at Claverley we're done!
We thank you much, both all and one,
We deem the day has been a memorable one,
Indeed, it has been most Claverley done.
DOMINE.
NORTH MORETON, BERKS.-On July 20th. 1,260 Doubles (six methods): Susan Howes 1, D. H Slade 2, D. J. Slade 3. M. S. Hammerion 4, J. R. J. Dyke (cond.) 5 .

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

Chew Deanery Branch

The Rev. P. N. Bond. who as Ringing Master conveyed the best wishes of the Rochester District of the Kent County Association. was a welcome visitor to the Chew Branch quarterly meeting at Backwell (8) on July 20th. The Rector (the Rev. J. T. George) conducted the service, and after tea presided at the business meeting.

Subject to confirmation, the following meetings were approved: Quarterly, Chew Magna practice meetings, Nempnett (August) and Clapton-in-Gordano (September). The Branch Choral Evensong will be held at Backwell on St. Andrew's Day. Elected non-resident life members were: E. Shuttleworth and F. J. Nelson (Manchester), J. H. Fielden (Todmorden), G. Davies (Hanley), and D. W. Friend (Stafford).
Further ringing followed under the direction of Mr. H. W. Knight (Ringing Master).

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Bingham District

When the Bingham District held a meeting at Cotgrave on July 13th, the Vicar (the Rev. F. W. Stephanie) had previously typed out two ringers' hymns for use at the service. These were sung heartily Appreciation of the Vicar's interest came at the business meeting, which followed an excellent tea. when he was elected a vicepresident of the Guild. Roger Barker (Holme Pierrepont) was elected a member.

Forthcoming meetings: Hickling, August 10th: Radcliffe (Crawford Cup final), September 7th; Bottesford (joint with Melton District, Leicester Diocesan Guild). September 14th.
For the evening ringing numbers had reached nearly 70 . The day ended by joining the parishioners in Compline at 8 p.m.. a pleasant end to a successful meeting. R.B.

SCHOOLS FORGATHER AT SILEBY

Seventeen members of Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar School, led by Mr. John Partington, and another party from New Parks School, Leicester. led by Mr. Michael White met outside the Loughborough Bell Foundry on July 16th. After the 'tour' and trying out the ten ' up the ladder ' they moved off to Barrow. where lunch had been arranged at the Humphrey Perkins School. Enlarged by Humphrey Perkins' School ringers the party adjourned to the Parish Church, where further reinforcements arrived from Loughborough reinforcements College School.
An impressive procession led the way to Sileby Parish Church, where methods rung included Stedman Triples and Cambridge Major and the standard of striking augured well for the future. Tea of a substantial character for the 40 teenagers present was held in the Pochin Hall, arranged by Mr. White Each group then entertained the rest, and the two styles of tune ringing caused mucn interest. Change ringing was not neglected and included Bob Royal and Cambridge Caters. Another meeting is wanted next year-perhaps in a different area and perhaps with one or two more school societies involved
B. S. PAYNE.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Tewkeshury Branch

Most of the towers of the Tewkesbury Branch were represented at the well attended quarterly meeting at Hasfield on July 20th. As it was a lovely warm day, tea was taken on the Vicarage lawn, and, needless to say, was enjoyed by all.
During the business meeting the following were elected performing members: Messrs. 0 Trenfield, R, Loxley, W. Bulford and $\mathbf{O}$. Cooper, of Eckington. W. Bulford M.A.B.

AMERICAN RINGING WEEK-END

Miss Alice Shurcliff held a 'week-end of change ringing' at her home in Ipswich, Mass. U.S.A., from June 21 st -23rd. The nine ringers present were: Alice Shurcliff, Tillie Suggs, from Washington, D.C., Elizabeth Bradford and Ruth Stiell, from Marshfield. Mass, Bonney McDowell, from New York City, Sabra Sullivan (Manchester Un. Guild), from Northampton. Mass, Alan Durfee (Ely Diocesan Association). from Cambridge, Mass. David and Alice Dickinson (Ely Diocesan Association), from Amherst, Mass.
Short touches in yarious methods on six, seven and eight bells were rung. On the Sunday evening some of the ringers drove to Boston to ring the tower bells in the Church of the Advent.
A good time was had by all, thanks to the hospitality of Alice Shurcliff, as well as her sister. Mrs. Sara Ingelfinger, and friend, Jane Phillips.
On Wednesday, June 26th, three of the ringers. Bonney McDowell, Sabra Sullivan and Alice Dickinson, rang a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor 'in hand,' to celebrate the week-end of change ringing. A. B. D.

RUTLAND RINGER'S WEDDING

Miss Vivian Jean Hubbard. bellringer and chorister at SS. Peter and Paul's, Langham, Rutland, and only daughter of the Ringing Master, Mr. J. Frederick Hubbard, and Mrs. Hubbard. was married on July 27 th to Mr . David Whitehead Carrington, of Bishop's Stortford.
The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar, Canon J. N. Hill. As the happy couple left the church Langham bells rang out to a well-struck 720 of Cambridge Surprise by ringing friends from Asfordby, Meiton and Wymondham.

At the reception held at the Noel Arms, the toast was proposed by Sir Kenneth Ruddle, who paid tribute to Vivian and her parents.

Can any band equal thus record? Forty-three years ago a peal of Minor was rung at Melbourn, Cambs. One July 20th the ringers who participated met and rang a quarter peal in thankfulness for their good health and being still able to ring. Each rang the same bell as he did 43 years ago.
Comment of a Rector's wife at a recent Hampshire meeting: 'He may be an excellent ringer, but he can't tell Stork from butter.'
Senior member of the band of St. John's Church, Frome, Mr. William Mills (81), rang the second in grand style to a quarter of Grandsire Triples on July 21st.
The Vicar of Burghill, Herefordshire (the Rev. R. J. Coombs), has decided to limit the number of peal attempts in his tower and to give notice of them in the parish magazine. 'It is not fair to villagers living in the immediate vicinity of the church to have to listen to peals too frequently,' he writes.
The peal of Quedgeley Surprise Major rung during Mr. Frank C. Price's tour of Devon and claimed as the first in the method for the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was, in fact, the second. The first in the method for the Guild was rung on March 17th, 1963, at Newton St. Cyres.
Holy Trinity Church, East Peckham. Tonbridge, Kent. built in 1841, has only two bells. A generous donor, tired of hearing one, two,' has had a loud speaker installed in the open tower and recordings of Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles, call changes on eight, Cambridge Surprise Major and Stedman Caters are now played. Is this the first of its kind to be installed in Kent?
On August 4th. 1913, members of the Middlesex Association rang the first peal of Camhridge Maximus on the bells of Great St. Mary's, Cambridge. the hand heing W. J. Nudds 1, G. R. Pye 2, B. Prewett 3, J. H. Cheeseman 4. I. G. Shade 5. C. T. Coles 6, J S. Goldsmith 7, A. W. Grimes 8 , K. Hart 9 , R. Sanders 10. E. Pye 11, W. Pye (cond.) 12. This was followed in the afternoon with a peal of 5,019 Stedman Cinques. A peal of Stedman Cinques was rung 'in hand' the previous afternoon at Pembroke College.

BELFRY GOSSIP

 parish fete on July 13th, wheil heir jewellery stall raised $£ 2816 \mathrm{~s}$.-a sum larger than the efforts of any other parochid organisation. The jewellery had been donated by parishioners and in making it saleable Sunday evenings after ringing were spent in mending broken brooches and rings, rethreading necklaces and sorting the genuine from the paste. Well done!'The Victoria Daily Times' has an interesting article about Christ Church Cathedral (B.C.) bells, and Mr. E. W. Izard and other ringers in its Whitsun issue.
Of note is a handbell peal of 31 Surprise Minor methods rung at Bushey, Herts, on July 10th, conducted by Mr. Roger Baldwin. It is the greatest number of Surprise methods rung to a handbell peal. A prewious record had been established on July 5th. of one of 27 methods, also by the same band.
We are pleased to learn that Mr. Alan R. Bridges, of Ipswich, is now home, after 11 weeks in hospital. He hopes hefore long to be normal. One interesting observation-he found the diagram on his temperature chart made a good attempt at the front work of Cambridge Surprise only to miss out a dodge with the treble.
A striking competition. open to Sunday service bands in the South and West District of the Middlesex Association, will be held at Cranford on August 17th. If a tower has insufficient members available, other ringers may be called in. hut their names must be declared. The test is 240 changes of an own choice method.

- Irish Bell Ncws , has in its summer issue a very topical article entitled 'The Belle.' dcaling with lady ringers' apparel. The writer suggests as the ideal form of dress either a skirt with a loose filting blouse, which is secured at the waist or long enough not to expose the top of the skirt. or to wear a shortsleeved and comfortably fitting frock. Ladies who are fashion conscious might stand in front of a mirror and stretch up their arms in the act of ringing to see that all is well before going to the belfry to ring.

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

THE ARCHITECT AND BELLS

By Brian Austen

THE architectural profession came under considerable fire at the Central Council meeting at Great Yarmouth at Whitsun, mainly because there was a general feeling that architects concerned with church restoration in general knew little or nothing about church bells and the principles of correct bell hanging, but were including the amount of this specialist work in the final account on which professional fees are based. Strong sentiments were prevalent and in order to place this whole question in the correct perspective the views of the Royal Institute of British Architects have been obtained.

The whole question of the architect's brief from the client and terms of reference must be examined because on this depends the ultimate fee which the architect charges. To illustrate this fully, several hypothetical cases are set out below:-

Case 1

The Parochial Church Council decides to have a ring of bells rehung. The architect is employed solely to design the foundations on which the frame sits. Note that in this case no advice has been sought as to the safety of the tower or the design of the frame, and therefore no responsibility is vested in the architect other than the building work involved, the Parochial Church Council being responsible for the subsequent condition of the fabric. The fees should therefore be on a 'quantum meruit' basis calculated on the time involved. This is the R.I.B.A.'s legal opinion.

Case 2

The Parochial Church Council employs an architect to inspect the church, i.e., the quinquennial survey, and resulting from that he finds that the church tower is cracked badly and mentions this fact in his report, with a rider that the ringing of the bells be suspended pending further inspection, which he advises be carried out without delay. If then the architect is instructed to proceed with obtaining further specialist advice and providing a report, a specification, and bills of quantities for the whole work, which includes the frame and the bells, so that the tower when all the work is complete is safe for ringing, the position regarding fees is different. This is obvious as his responsibility and skill on the work has increased. Instead of being solely concerned with the building work as in case 1 he is now responsible in law for (a) the safety of the tower. (b) the design of the foundations and any subsidiary work to the bell frame, and (c) the checking of the design of the bell frame and supporting steelwork. The fees must therefore be higher as the responsibility and skill involved have increased.

Even in this case it is difficult to state precisely that the fees should be on a fixed percentage or a time basis as the actual statement from the architect which says 'this tower is now safe' results from the architect's experience and may cost the Parochial Church Council over $£ 100$. This may seem excessive, but it should be borne in mind that the responsibility is with the architect and not with the Parochial Church Council. This can be of great comfort to the Parochial Church Council, although it may hurt their pockets at the time.

The cost of the actual bells should not be included in the total cost on which fees are based. The R.I.B.A. is quite adamant on this point and the reason is obvious. The architect is not competent to pass an opinion on the bells nor does he use his professional skill in the design of the bell itself. This is the bellfounder's province entirely.

The picture should be clear from what has been written: it remains only to summarise that if a Church Council is considering a bell restoration and it intends to employ an architect, then the brief to the architect should be clear and concise. He should be able to indicate how his fees will be based at the outset and these will be in proportion to the amount of skill and responsibility vested in him.

The other aspect of this whole subject of bell hanging in relation to the structural safety of the tower will eventually be resolved if the proposed publication from the Towers and Belfries Committee does materialise. The form of this (it is hoped) will be a factual document in concise terms. It is required to become a standard textbook on this subject to which all church architects can refer with confidence. The present publication is admirable for its intended purpose, but is not sufficiently convincing technically for most architects.

It is hoped that now the question of fees is clarified and a textbook for architects is to be published, the relationship between ringers and architects will be more har-monious-after all, architects are human and some are even ringers!

THE EXTENT OF MAJOR

Conductor ROBERT B. SMITH writes of the Ordeal

In response to numerous letters. Mr. R. B Smith sends the following detailed account of the progress of the long peal at Loughborough on July 27th/28th.
The start of the peal was very much like the start of any peal-apart from the early hour. We met at precisely 6.30 a.m.; those who wished to adjusted their ropes. Everyone unwrapped sweets and chocolate. I had 13 barley sugars-one for each part, and one to spare: actually I ran out of them at about the 35,000 mark. Time is not measured in hours and minutes, but in number of changes rung: this was my experience anyway. 1 did get one rough check on time at about 6.30 p.m. John Acres arrived after work at Leicester to do his spell of umpiring.
It had been suggested to me by Derek Ogden that if we rang at about 2 hours 15 mins speed, we could cut the time of the peal by about $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours. For about a week I considered the proposition, but it was not until we actually started that I made up my mind that $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours off the 'wrong end of the day was worth the extra effort required 'round the back end.

FIRST 10.000 ALL SMILES

The progress of the peal I can only describe from the way I saw it. For the first 10,000 changes everybody was smiling, particularly when familiar changes like Whittingtons came up. Everybody enjoyed the 5678 handstroke roll ups off the lead-thoughts of London Royal-and also the course ends which sounded so much like Grandsire and Stedman Triples
The period between 10,000 and 20.000 was very boring really-rather like the start of a 5 -day Test Match on a dead wicket-everybody knows that you can get a big score, you've just got to do it. At the 18,000 mark my back felt as though it was going to break in half! No point in stopping now though as youll have to come again? Several of the hand started to take sweets, and chocolate during this spell (never take chocolate, it sticks in your throat. I believe?).
Inquiries werc made to the umpires about the score in the West Indies v England Test Match at Leeds. and Brian Harris said that he didn't think that I was pulling the treble hard enough. Some of the band began to show signs that the heat and lack of air was having an effect, and the downstairs door of the foundry was opened. I wished that I'd taken my vest and shirt off as it was getting quite hot. and my arms were being chafed.

EVERYBODY PARCHED

A course after halfway 1 announced that there were only 179 more courses to go-John Jelley replied that I'd cheered him up no end. Several of the band looked very uncomfortable at about 25.000 , so I said that we d passed all the records but one. My arms started to bleed at about this point, but this seemed to stop the chafing a little bit. Most of the band were able to lean back on the wall. and by the time we reached 30,000 they were doing so if they were fortunate enough to be able to. Everybody was 'parched,' and helped themselves to glasses of water: I dropped mine and it broke. after I'd had a drink fortunately!
At 35.000 Brian Woodruffe informed me that ' I better hadn't miscall it. or else....' By this time everybody had black rings round their eyes and some of the band had a sudden change of colour. Smelling salts were bought and livened the atmosphere up somewhat: the only way we could possibly lose it now was if somebody fell over-there were eight candidates!

Queen's came up in the last 5.000 changes. Nobody smiled. At 37,000 I remembered that Paul Taylor had said he dreaded the thought that a rope would break then. During the last course I looked round the band to see how they compared with the picture I had imagined the previous evening; they were much more weary, but then they had stood up to much more strenuous conditions than those anticipated.

THE COMPOSITION

I would like to make a point of explaining how simple the composition by Kenneth Lewis is to call. Composers and conductors may be interested to see how it is built up.

The basic block shown above is essentially two singles at wrong and a bob at home, the well known composition for 720 Bob Minor During the first 20,160 the 6 th is never in 6th place end during the second 20.160 the 6th place end during the 5th is never in 6th place.
Consider the first half of the peal. when we have reversed 5 and 6 with a single. The first lead after the part end, one can hardly miss the single (or if the 4 th was a 4 ths place bell at the part end, this becomes a place bell at the part end, this becomes a bob). The only bob one has to remember is the first bob at home: this puts the 6th in 3rds place. From here we call a middle, and then continue calling bobs at every wrong until the 6 th is in 3 rds, then call middle. This applies throughout the peal. If the 5th comes into 6 th at a middle, call homes (2) until the 6th is in 2nds. ready to make 3rds and out at the single wrong. A bob at home biings the part end up
From any coursing order in the peal it is possible to know where the next bob (or single) comes without knowing where you are in the part. I would once again like to thank Mr. Kenneth Lewis for the composition, and ali the people who have written to me during the past week

Those Behind the Scenes

Dear Sir,-On behalf of the ringers who took part in the extent of Major at Loughborough, I would like to express our gratitude for the work done and enthusiasm shown by the people " behind the scenes
The umpires deserve first mention. Throughout the peal there was at least one present but more often than not they were all there, with a double check being taken. This checking of calls and course ends and coursing orders is a tedious task, but we all knew that they were present in more than a mere technical position. Every look, every smile gave us encouragement and support. especially towards the end. when there were some anxious moments.
Next, we must thank the witnesses and listeners. The thought of their presence inspired us to attain a high standard of ringing and we hope it was this that kept several of them there until the end
Our greatest thanks must go to the man who made this historic event possible-Paul $L$ Taylor. By letting us use the foundry bells, he gave us somewhere where we could ring com fortably and undisturbed: he was of invaluable assistance. with regard to the hotel arrangements and transport: and, finally, his unfailing enthusiasm brought us back after failures in previous years. We were very disappointed that he could not be there at the finish, but we are glad that he was one of the first to know that the extent had been accomplished.
Lastly, we must thank all those who sent best wishes before the attempt, and to all the ringers of the previous attempts. The advice and experience of the latter gave us a means of approaching the attempt and their loss was our gain.-Yours sincerely,

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE.

REDEDICATIONS PADBURY, OXON

The bells of St. Mary's. Padbury, were rededicated by the Bishop of Dorchester on Saturday, July 20th. after having been rehung in anew metal frame erected lower in the tower by Mr. F. A. White. of Appleton. Mr White's great grandfather rehung the bells in 882.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who has taken much interest in this rehanging, read the first lesson at the service. The Bishop, preceded by the choir, Vicar and churchwardens, walked in procession to the tower, where the rededication took place. The bells were rung as the procession returned to the church.
The Bishop. in the course of a helpful address stressed the need for maintaining the art of bell ringing and implored those already skilled to make every effort to encourage young people to take up the art in the service of the Church
The first touch on the bells after the service was of Plain Bob. called by Mr. F. Sharpe. in which the other five ringers were from five different Branches of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Altogether during the afternoon and evening some 60 ringers attended. the youngest being a boy of 12, from East Claydon, who took his turn on every bell in the tower

NEW RINGING CHAMBER AT USK

As the result of ten months' voluntary work on the part of the bellingers, who generally devoted three evenings a week to it, the ring ing chamber at St. Mary's Church. Usk, has heen renovated in a most extensive manner The chamber was rededicated by the Vicar (the Rev. Randle Davies) on July 24th. The service was followed by two short touches on the bells and then camc a tea in the Church Hall
The work started by scraping the many coats of lime off the wall. each stone being cleaned thoroughly with wire brushes, and then pointed with cement. The misshapen ceiling necessitated a framework being fitted between the oak joists and then panels of hardboard neatly fitted.
Wood was laboriously hauled over the porch and between the two roofs of the church, the length of timber being impossible to carry up the narrow winding stairs. This was then nailed in place and polished to form a new floor over the original ugly cement.
Two fluorescent lights were fitted, which, although modern, did not seem to be incongruous. The woodwork and ceiling were painted and a beautifully oak panelled sliding door surmounted by blue glass in the shape of two hells was fitted over the entrance to the ringing chamber. Eight new squared carpets lay under each bell rope and a new electric clock keeps watch over the ringers' enthusiasm in keeping the congregation waiting.
A plaque stands in the centre of the chamber. which commemorates the work and bears the names of those who have carried out this transformation.

Although the ringers' funds (obtained through ringing carols on handhells at Christmas) will now be nil. the wonderful results voluntarily achieved give a great sense of satisfaction

MY AMERICAN TOUR

Apart from the group directors and conductors, who were fully occupied with their teams and had little spare time. I found the adult members of the A.G.E.H.R. exceptionally good company. They were a very friendly group, on Christian name terms with one another, and much like a gathering of English ringers. All wanted to entertain me to meals and sightseeing expeditions: I was almost kidnapped and hurried away somewhere each day when lectures were over. Church leaders encourage the young people to take up handbell ringing much as we encourage youth to take up tower bell ringing in England. At the moment it appears to be regarded as a church and musical activity, rather than being done for the love of bells. Perhaps I noticed this more easily than others, as first and foremost I am a lover of bells. The young people were delighted and full of enthusiasm They crowded around me at every available moment, announced their names and groups and were eager to talk about bells and music, and to ask questions.
On Thursday morning there were three lectures for adults in the Park Shelton Hotel. Mrs. H. Runkle spoke on arranging music for small sets of bells, and Dr. David Wehn on arranging for larger sets. I was able to attend a little of Mrs. Runkle's talk before going to hear Dr. Wehn. He uses an one which is used by some English ringers, but with a more advanced form of harmonisation, and with charts arranged so that many variations were possible, while still using a master copy. I was invited to speak on several points, and to describe the various forms of notation used in England. After the lecture I mounted up a display panel of photographs of the Launton Handbell Ringers and played tape recordings of their music, which occasioned many questions.
I then attended an interesting lecture on bell equipment hy Dr. R. Litterst, and Mr. Scolt Parry. All the problems of the care and maintenance of bells. their transportation, and arranging for recitals appear common to both sides of the Atlantic. This lecture greatly exceeded its time limit by reason of the numerous questions asked. I was in constant demand with the ever-recurring question, What do you do in England?
The afternoon was spent in Greenfield Village and concluded with a barbecue.

RINGING IN ENGLAND

At approximately 7.45 the whole Convention. 857 of them. plus about an additional two hundred, had assembled in the large audiorium of the Arts Institute of Detroit University. Dr. Marvin Reecher took the chair and introduced me. I spoke for one hour on 'Ringing in England.' and afterwards the uhole company stood as one man to applaud : Scolt Parry told me that this is an American custom to show extra appreciation. My activities of this kind at the Convention. are to be reported for. The Ringing World by Mrs. Tufts, the publicity officer of the A.G.E.H.R., so I will say no more.

Following my talk was a half-hour performance by Miss G. S. Hulet (Ginger Hulet). an extremely talented and popular teenager bells. cow bells and handbells. and never before have I seen such quickness of hand and sucf skill in solo ringing. Miss Hulet appeared by courtesy of Messrs. Schulmerich Carillons. Incorporated. and the whole Convention was quick to show appreciation of her talented performance.

Soon after 9.30 p.m. the adults met in the hallroom c , the Park Shelton Hotel for the annual gencral mecting of the A.G.E.H.R it amazed me that they held this at the end of such a strenuous day, but all seem possessed of endless vitality. even though the temperature registered 100 in the shade. About 300 attended the meeting, and looking round the room I could count over 5011 already knew by narae. and approximately 100 more by lasted little more than half-an-hour. yet all the essential business was done No words were wasted. Reports and accounts were presented and adopted-officers were elected. and alterations 10 rules agrea. What a pattern for some of us. Motions were passed by members saying 'Aye.' Only if there was a reasonable volume of 'No' was a vote taken.
Dr. Marvin Reecher was elected as president for the next two years, and Dr. Richard Litterst succeeded him as vice-president Tributes were paid to retiring officers, and appreciation expressed by members standing to applaud. I have already mentioned the outstanding work of Doctors Hieber. Reecher and Litterst. Others selected for special appreciation were Mrs. Marlow, the energetic secretary of A.G.E.H.R.: Mrs. E. Thompson, the registrar. Mr. Irving Daniels, under whose expert guidance the finances of the Guild appeared flourishing: Mrs. W. Tufts, whose work and skill are obviously greatly appreciated by all ; and last but by no means least. Mr. James Lawson, the celebrated carillonneur. of Riverside Drive Church. New York. the talented editor of 'Overtones,' the official journal of the Guild.

850 Bon Voyages

The following letter was received by Mr. Sharpe as he was leaving America from Mrs. Nancy Poore Tufts, chairman, Publicity, Publications, A.G.E.H.R.

Dear Mr. Frederick Sharpe,-Your friends of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers, especially inEnglish Handbell Ringers, especially including the Tufts, are unable adequately to express their great appreciation of vour kindness in addressing the 8th National Convention and your marvellous co-operation in every phase of the programme. This establishment of a link hetween our two countries as regards handhell ringing-past. present and future-is helpful and valuable to cur organisation and your presentation made a deep impression.

And so-thank you, thank you, from all of us. May 850-ish Bon Voyages and Good Wishes attend thee!,

After the business meeting there was a social gathering in the ballroom. where the whole company were guests of Mr. A. A Hughes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. London. I was happy to go round and give Mr. Hughes" many friends news of him. and pass on his good wishes to all. At the conclusion of the social, and although it was nearly midnight. four more groups rang, and earned much well deserved applause. Even then I was 10 allowed to escape, for 1 had pressing request fo: another four-in-hand lemonstration. and it was well into the early hours before the party finally hroke up. We were extremely fortunate in having one more four-in-hand ringer, and an English change tinger, who had joined us. He is Mr. Derek Sawyer. the Master of the Bristol University Society of Change Ringers. and he played a prominent part in explaining our English ringing to the A.G.E.H.R.
Friday morning saw much activity. Mrs. Marlow and Mr. Fred Elder were in charge of a ringing seminar in the India Room. while Mrs. Alinda Couper lectured on organising a bell choir in the hallroom. Following hese was a forum for experienced direcors. conducted by Dr. Robert Hieber. in the helton Room. while Mrs. G. Walker. Mrs. $E$. Thompson. and Mr. R. Hollinger held a seminar on 'Bells in Worship Services' in the ballroom. Later in the morning the teenagers were entertained by Miss G. S. Hulet. and I conducted a handbell practice in the Wardell Room, in preparation for the afternoon's lecture. On leaving the practice I was kidnapped by three well-meaning and generous members of the A.G.E.H.R. and driven at high speed over the great suspension bridge to have lunch in Canada. We had to speed back also to be in time for my afternoon s lecture. This took place in the ballroom and was divided between change ringing and four-in-hand tune playing. During my brief stay in Detroit Miss G. Hulet and Mr. Scott Parry had learned plain hunting on a pair of handbells, and with the welcome addition of Mr . Derek Sawyer we were able to illustrate plain hunting. and ring a plain course of Grandsire on handbells. Mr. Sawyer also illustrated the paths of various pairs of bells while I explained their paths using Mr. Wilfrid Moreton's excellent instructional charts. After the lecture we again showed Mr. Collins' film Ringers Required. and played tape recordings of English bells. A massed rehearsal for the evening concert followed

OUTSTANDING TEAMS

After dinner we assembled for the last lime in the large auditorium of the Arts Institute. It is quite impossible to describe the scene adequately. Over 850 ringers were there. with their bells, tables, stands. racks and other equipment. Almost all teams wore their colourful robes. In turn sixteen selected teams took their places on the stage, and then returned to the pit. How the selection was made for this final concert I do not know Four of the teams were really outstanding and received tremendous applause. The whole performance was delightful, and included also a handbell carillon recital by Mr. Scott Parry Before the concert I was invited to view the stage, bell equipment. back stage arrangement and organisation. and spent some time with Dr. Hieber and Dr. Reecher. Half-way through the concert presentations were made to the retiring officers of the Guild. and was presented with a membership certificate and had to speak in reply
Dr. Hieber presided at the concert, and Dr Litterst and he conducted the final ensembles First. a Prelude and Fugue in B minor, com posed and conducted by Dr. Litterst, and finally a bell prelude on the Welsh hymn tune Hyfrydol, arranged and conducted by Dr. Hieber. Almost everyone took part in this, and the scene was unforgettable. Approximately 400 ringers occupied the stage, about 100 more rang from the pit and two groups of about 50 each occupied the wings of the gallery. Well over 1.000 people attended. Dr Hieher conducted from the front of the gallery, and the volume of sound from such a vast number of players, alternating when desired with soft passages by selected ringers, is difficult to describe. So that I could obtain a better view I was invited to join Mr. Scolt Parry in the organ loft for these final ensembles, and to ring the final note of the estival myself from that position.
The concert ended. hells, ringers. rohes and cquipment disappeared as if hy magic. and I Wras driven by Mr. Fred Elder, with his wife. Mrs. Runkle and Mr. J. Lawson, to the Detroit Leyland Hotel, where we formed the panel to select the Festival King and Queen. While the young people danced almost shoulder to shoulder in the ballroom we had the extremely difficult task of choosing one boy and one girl from fourteen candidates. The selection made. I stood on the rostrum in the ballroom and placed the crowns on the heads of the selected King and Queeen, as the seven couples passed. After I placed the crown on the Queen's head she left the procession and stood by me on the rostrum while I crowned the King. Immedately, deafening applause burst forth, and afterwards trophy cups were presented to the King and Queen by Mrs. H. Runkle. It was with great difficulty that I was able to leave and return to the Park Shelton Hotel, as people crowded around to shake me by the hand and wish me God-speed. My message hanks. May God prosper the gooduill and thanks. May God prosper the A.G.E.H.R.

Leicester University Society

A gay band of ringers from Leicester University, with some members of Nottingham University Society, had a tour of five churches in Leicestershire and Rutland on Friday. June 21 st. Ringing took place at Somerby. Market Overton, Wymondham, Buckminster and Syston. Tea at Melton Mowbray was much enjoyed.

Letters to the Editor

Peals Rung by Visitors

Dear Sir,-In his concluding words. Denis Bayles hopes that he may read other views on his most valuable article. May I rush in forthwith and say that I agree wholeheartedly with much that he has said.
Before going into details, may I declare my interest. I am not 'agin' peals. I have rung some. though none recently. I look forward to doing so again-both in Hertfordshire and. if I may, elsewhere.
I feel particularly strongly with Mr. Bayles about the custom whereby a band of visitors or a touring team ascribe their peal to the territorial association in whose area they ring. We all know the pleasant and courteous custom which this was-and which brings some financial advantage to the, often unwitting. host organisation.
But how many of such visitors. and I include myself in this. before or as they ring give a single thought to the Barset Diocesan Guild. In a few cases. I suspect. that it is only when they see the peal in the 'R.W.' that they know who the peal was rung for.
We do know, sir. unhappily, from your columns that from time to time such a visitors' peal may indeed, in the event, be a most unwelcome one-not only to the host association but to non-ringers in the parish concerned I would not make much of this, for such events are. I hope infrequent. But surely it is adding insult to injury when a possibly not-so-good peal which has irritated the citizens of Barchester and angered Barset's Guild has to be recorded on their books as 'their peal-even if it brings in a few shillings.
So much for destruction: what could be done? Here are some potted proposals, which I would he prepared to argue in detail
(1) No change in non-territorial peals, e.g. A.S.C.Y.
(2) A peal only eligible to be recorded for a territorial association if all but two of the ringers (up to eight bells) or all but three (nine to 12 bells) are present members of that organisation-or have been ordinary members of it some time in the past-for at least threet?) years.
(3) If these conditions are not satisfied. the real when rung shall be non-attributable to an association. It may. however. be submitted for recording to the Central Council.
(4) For such recording the C.C. may require a fee of 2 s . 6 d . per rope (or a minimum of 1 s . for ringers under 18 or over 65). The surplus remaining after the C.C. has covered the expenses of keeping the records of all such peals to be divided from time to time hetween all affiliated territorial associations on a basis of their ordinary membership-Yours truly.

Stevenage. Herts

Peal Records

Dear Sir--Having read the article by Mr. Denis A. Bayles. entitled 'Peal Records,' I have come to the conclusion that his observations are rather pointless.
Firstly, if it is a matter of saving space, at least forty peals could have been recorded in the space occupied by the article. Secondly. the fictitious peal recorded on page 525 is so little short of the usual size that the diffierence could well be disregarded.
I. for one, should be very sorry to see the present style discarded in favour of one that I'm sure would meet with disapproval all round.-Yours sincerely, Ramsgate.

A Question for Cambridge

Dear Sir.-I have just been catching up on a few weeks of 'Ringing Worlds.' after raissing them during my holiday. I am interested to observe that the controversy over the peal of eight spliced at St. Neots still continues.
Seeing that Mr. A. S. Hudson, of Clare College. Cambridge. has joined in the argument in your issue of July 19th. I wonder ment in your issue of july whether he would be willing, as an expert. to enlighten a more simple-minded Cambridge man on the subject of another peal of eight spliced, which he called for the Cambridge University Guild on June 7th, at Great St. Andrew's, as published in your issue of June 28th.

Can it be that some subtle variation of Bristol has been invented in a murky corner of Clare-a variation almost totally indistinguishable from the original method-and then christened, with fiendish cunning, Bristol?

Can we take it that is the official Cambridge answer to both the St. Neots peal and its ignorant critics?-Yours faithfully.

Recollections of August, 1912/13

Dear Sir,-I thought I would pen a few lines on the visit of Mr. William Pye and his famous band in the years 1912 and 1913, when Cambridge endured nearly eight hours of ringing, on both occasions.

Needless to say, this invasion into the quietude of Cambridge raised a storm of protest. both in the local press and university journals, and the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey. Vicar at that time. came in for a hout of angry criticism for allowing this to happen. Unfortunately I did not keep any of the correspondence, but I can assure you it was very vitriolic. especially from those who were near the church.

In the 1912 visitation Mr. Boughey, with H. S. T. Richardson as curate, rang their first peal of Stedman Cinques on tower bells, and at the completion of this peal he (Rev. A. H. F Boughey) collapsed, and was gently conveyed down the belfry steps. resting on the slout shoulders of Ernest Pye and George Taylor (steeplekeeper), and revived with stimulant. to be able to preside at the luncheon table at the Lion Hotel, at which he entertained his visitors and friends to a splendid lunch.
In the 1913 visitation Mr. Boughey took part in the afternoon attempt for Stedman Cinques. To add fuel to the fire, the bells of St. Andrew the Great also rang out to the strains of Kent T.B.. the Cambridge Youths having heen reinforced by the late F. Dench and A. Wilkerson, of Royston. and a good peal of Kent was knocked off there.
I thought I would write a line in case it was overlooked.-Yours sincerely,
T. R. DENNIS.

Cambridge.

Peal Withdrawn

Dear Sir,-I wish to withdraw a peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major rung at Dodderhill. Droitwich. Worcs, on Saturday, January 6th. 1962, owing to false alteration on my part as conductor of the composition. With apologies to all concerned-Yours, etc..

GERALD C. HEMMING.
Evesham. Worcs.

No Change, Please

Dear Sir,-I have waded through Mr. D. A. Bayles' front page article in recent weeks. It is all very well thought out and constructive, no doubt.

He asks for opinions. Well, I have taken a ringing journal for well over fifty years: first 'The Bell News" and then 'The Ringing World,' and the peal reports have always been printed in the same manner, in good times and in bad.
Why chop the peal columns to bits in these more affluent days? Is our little paper on the verge of bankruptcy? I don't think so, but if it is, then adopt Mr. Bayles' cuts by all means otherwise leave things as they are. I cannot see that a change would be for the better. but rather the reverse. It may come to something like Mr. Bayles' well intentioned idea eventually, but not for some time. I hope.-Yours sincerely,
E. V. RODENHURST.

Whitchurch, Salop.

Place Notation of New Surprise Methods

Dear Sir,-May I ask for more uniformity in the submission of Place Notations for publication in "The Ringing World. I am sure it would save a great deal of time for those of us who try to keep a record of all the new Surprise Major methods if conductors would submit the notations in the following way:

ALDERNEY SURPRISE MAJOR
$\times 36 \times 14 \times 58 \times 36 \times 14 \times 58 \times 1236 \times 78$
2nds 1573 FCE 32465, 43265
The following was published a few months ago $-5-6-2-3-34-45-6.34$. 7. Although, of course. this can be worked out it is not at all obvious what the first places are. The lead end is not given. nor is it said if the method is 2 nds or 8 ths. The conductor must have had the place notation in full and it would have taken little extra space to have published the method as set out above. There even seems to be some doubt as to the correct name, as it is given as Vermouth in the peal report and Vermont in the place notation.Yours sincerely

JOHN R. KETTERINGHAM
Note-The peal should be Vermont.-Ed.

THE OKEFORD BELLS

Paul and I, we love to ring
And hear the bells go ding-a-ding
And when we ring the Grandsire Peals,
The ropes go up from Sally to end.
The ropes go up from sally to end.
With arms held high we stretch and bend. We listen to our Captain's voice.
Each pulls the rope of his own choice.
All need God's grace and saving power.
For this we labour in the tower
The melody we hope will bring
Our people's praise to God our King.
ANDREW WALLIS (aged 12).

A DEVON OUTING

Organised by Mr. A. L. Bennett an evening excursion was held on August 3rd, when towers visited were Lustleigh, Spreyton and Bow: the last named tower being obtained at very short notice in lieu of Cheriton Bishop. which had to be cancelled at the last moment. Methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor, as well as call changes to oblige a number of the Spreyton ringers who accompanied them to Bow

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY'S 1963 TOUR

THE rendezvous for Liverpool University Society's second annual tour on the evening of Thursday, June 27th, was the Roman Catholic Church at Cambridge, where we were welcomed by Mr. James Quinney, who had also arranged for us to ring at Trumpington that evening. At these two contrasting eights Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major were rung. After the easy going bells at Trumpington, where we were privileged to ring with Miss Kitty Willers, we were pleased to find the 32 cwt . tenor at the R.C. tower not so tricky to handle as we had expected, with the 40 ft . unguided draught of sоре.

Amusement was caused at the hotel by the receptionist assigning a lady and gentleman of the party to a double bedroom. When this match-making error had been rectified, a social evening was enjoyed until the early hours. After breakfast we transferred our luggage to St. Andrew's, the University hostel, where we stayed until the following Tuesday.

The morning's programme was three sixes. including Duxford. where the third is the lightest bell and the 5th the heaviest. Methods up to London Surprise were rung. At lunch time the president ordered his pint of orange, please,' a habit to which the beer-drinkers were disgustedly resigned.

After lunch the striking was much improved at Barkway, Barrington Church was undergoing extensive renovation and the bells needed similar treatment. as the tenor was unringable with a cracked headstock At Fulbourn, with an anti-clockwise ring of eight, we found two unringable trebles lacking ropes. The day's ringing concluded with methods up to London Surprise at St. Bene t's, Cambridge, our fourth ground floor ring in succession. Here we were joined for the week-end by Andrew Hudson, Master-elect of Cambridge University Guild, and Clare Dillamore. their presence enabling us to ring Surprise Major

Saturday provided an interesting selection of churches, towers and bells. Very pleasant were the five at Fen Ditton, but the five at Isleham, believed to be the heaviest five. were very noisy and rough going. In spite of the hard work, we were all pleased to have rung here, except perhaps the ringer who had to kneel down to ring. We also rang the pleasant six at Swaffham Prior, where the bells hang in the tower of a derelict church, and on two tens-Mildenhall and Soham-Plain Bob Royal, Grandsire and Stedman Caters.

All sat down to a proper meal at Bury St. Edmunds. and then enjoyed ringing at St. James Cathedral. The 30 cwt . ring of ten sent forth pleasant deep-toned music from the Norman tower. but it was hard work for the ' back-end ' ringers.
The twelve at Great St. Mary's were rung for service on Sunday morning, and in the afternoon came the best ringing of the tour at St. Andrew the Great. Bristol and Yorkshire Surprise Major were rung on these fine bells. in addition to the four standard methods. Probably the best bells of the tour were those at Saffron Walden, where we joined the local ringers for evening ringing

Monday morning saw the party reduced to ten for what was to be quite an eventful day. At Histon, in addition to our first stayless bell, we found seats cunningly made from old

START OF NAVE AT CARBIS BAY

Visitors and resident members of the Truro Guild, who attempted a peal of Bob Major (unfortunately lost through a rope slipping wheel) at Carbis Bay on July 27th, to mark the commencement of the building of the nave, standing hy the growing granite south wall. Left to right: Mrs. J. A. Howard, J. A. Howard (East Grinstead), Rev. A. S. Roberts. A. Locke (St. Kea), A. J. Davidson (Truro), Valerie Perkin (St. Gluvias), T. J. Lock and M. F. Lock (North Mymms).
headstocks, and also a handbell repeater, enabling changes to be heard at a reed-bell practice. The ladies all turned in the tenor of the light five at Rampton, where St. Simon's Doubles and that horribly false 'method.' Kent Treble Bob Doubles, were rung. The six bells at Willingham went well to a variety of methods, including Killamarsh Treble Bob,

Our Kent Treble Bob and Grandsire did not do justice to the eight bells of either Over or St. Ives, where we ought to have rung much better. Our performance was improved at Brampton, where the tone sounds much deeper than the tenor's 14 cwt . led us to expect. These bells are hung anti-clockwise, with one bell hung on a second tier, diagonally to the main frame.
Our last tower was St. Mary's, Huntingdon. We were pleased to be welcomed by Mr . Harold Peacock, his presence strengthening our band, which was now depleted to eight. Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were rung, before concluding our ringing with three leads of Kent Treble Bob.

We wish to thank Mr. James Quinney, of Cambridge, for his help, also all incumbents and local tower captains. We are also grateful to Mr. Geoffrey Pullin. a past president of the Society, who drove the minibus, and to those who helped organise the tour.

TONBRIDGE RINGERS’ OUTING

On the afternoon of July 20th,. Tunbridge ringers and friends held their first annual coach outing. the route chosen being along the byways of Kent and Sussex. The first tower was St. Nicholas', Sandhurst ( $11 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), where the recently restored six proved to be very pleasant. St. Lawrence's, Hawkhurst (eight bells, $23 \mathrm{cwt)}$. , was the next venue and here we were welcomed by members of the Hawkhurst Guild. Into Sussex now to St. John Baptist, Sedlescombe (6). Tea followed. after which ringing on the fine Sux at St. Mary's. Northiam ( 14 cwt .), was greatly enjoyed before the journey homewards.

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$N Thursday. July 18th. ten ringers from South Northants and North Bucks, with a highest common factor of Cambridge Major, journeyed to Yeovil, the headquarters for the annual trip, arranged by Mr. W. A. Yates
Mother Nature was kind as the previous day's rain turned to glorious sunshine on Friday. Thorncombe, Dorset, bells (a 20 cwt . octave, augmented this year from five bells) have a fine tone, but the tenor is sadly oddstruck for a new ring. After a good rise in peal, a brisk touch of Stedman with Queen's and Tittums opened the proceedings, and Cambridge and Yorkshire followed.
At Crewkerne the choppy course of Bristol on this 22 cwt . eight was only the cobwebs being shaken off, as a decent course of Double Norwich proved. but we didn't ring these bells with the best of our abilities. Quick refreshment at the Windwhistle Inn tuned us up for the $25 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt eight at Axminster, our first tower in Devon. Straight away a peal beat was established. with some Stedman and Bristol. and George Cross. a former Master of the Cumberlands. rang with us in some respectable Cambridge.
Lunch was taken at the Cedar Hotel, before we crossed the border to Beaminster. where the magnificent tower houses a difficult eight. which went well to Stedman, and not so weli to London and Yorkshire.

The ring at Bridport, the last tower before tea. has a pleasant tone. which was demonstrated by Stedman, four Spliced Surprise and some sparkling Superlative. The best ringing of the day, however. came at Whitchurch Canonicorum, where, on the easy-going bells (17 cwt.), Stedman, five spliced and Yorkshire were rung.

REUNION AT LYME REGIS

An interesting hour's browsing on the beach at Lyme Regis preceded ringing on the delightful 11 cwt . eight, where many old friends were reunited. Bristol was lost by going too fast and some very rough London didn't do credit either to us or the tuneful bells, but some five spliced went well. Back at the Three Choughs Hotel, Yeovil, our reinforcements, Chas. Truman and Chris. Clarke, were patiently awaiting our return. And so, after a chicken barbecue and handbells, we retired wearily 10 bed.

The quality of the bells on Saturday. and the standard of ringing, had to be experienced to be believed. Smiles spread round our faces as the 23 cwt . eight at Ilminster were raised -wonderful tone with a reverberating hum. Some fantastic Yorkshire with an easy rhythm had just come into rounds when the cheery face of Ernie Lines, round the door, gave everyone a pleasant surprise. A long drive through the low clouds brought us to Ottery St. Mary, where Norman Mallett was waiting for us.

A COMPLIMENT

Stedman, Bristol and Superlative were of such a standard that it prompted the comment from a local call change ringer. 'You needn't be afraid to ring anywhere, if you strike the bells like that. You can ring up and down well too, and we specialise in that! A compliment indeed!
A perfect 21 cwt . ring is that at Broadclyst. An excellent circle, easy 'go' and first class tone set the scene for some ringing that will not easily be forgotten. The Stedman brought smile for the second time to the face of Bill Chester, and a course of Yorkshire was near perfect. Some fair four spliced was the last ringing before lunch.

Silverton bells are a handy octave. which sounded to London and Bristol. before Norman led us to Tiverton, bells reputed with Heavitree to be the best octave in Devon. The five spliced and Yorkshire made us realise that the good reports of these bells were not ill-founded.

AEROBATICS AT EXETER

After a brief look at the Cathedral. and tea, Si. Petrock's was visited before we sampled the fine 12 at the Cathedral. where we joined the local practice. Yorkshire on the middle eight warmed us up for six men to pull the 72 cwt. tenor up. backwards. of course! The only interesting thing about the scrappy Grandsire Cinques was when 'Gaffer' was helped too strongly to pull the tenor off at handstroke. It lifted him two feet off the box at backstroke. and, instead of going into orbit. he returned gracefully to earth. missing the tenor box, which he neatly remounted at the handstroke boh, and continued to ring the bell with complete ease. At Heavitree. the bells easily matched Tiverton for inside tone. First class Stedman had long since been a formality and, after fair Cambridge, a course of Bristol,

OUTINGS  BATTLE, SUSSEX

Following on last year, the annual outing of it. Mary's. Battle, bellringers was held on the first Saturday in July. The first ring was on the light eight at Lower Beeding, where ringing was curtailed by a broken rope. At Capel ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise and was enjoyed.
After lunch in the coach-it was raining heavily outside - we moved on to Dunsfold. where a course of London was successfully brought round (or almost). Godalming bells proved somewhat difficult to strike well, but on the whole we had quite a good ring. The last ring before tea was on the beautiful Taylor eight at Shalford. where, after rounds and Grandsire, a touch of Stedman Triples was achieved.
High tea was taken at Harvey's Restaurant. Guildford. and afterwards ringing took place at St. Nicolas' Church, where, although a course of Grandsire Caters was brought round, we did not settle down to ten bell ringing and unfortunately did not do justice to the bells. The last ring of the day was on the lovely eight at Dorking.
Any sorrows of the day which may have resulted from the almost incessant heavy rain were heartily drowned in the traditional manner on the homeward journey. after which some found interest in the eclipse of the moon whilst others found other things of interest to do!
I. V.J.S.

FOREST OF DEAN BRANCH

The first outing since the amalgamation of the North Forest and South Forest Branches took place on July 13th, when seven towers around Bath were visited. Marshfield and Colerne. the first towers, were conspicuous for their well kept ringing rooms-a matter for congratulation. At Bathampton, because of the low clock casing, one of the ringers sat down to ring.
After lunch, Dunkerton, was visited. Then came the beautiful ring at Tiverton (8), where non-ringers sang hymns to the organ accompaniment provided by the organists in the party. We had tea before ringing on the lovely eight at Weston, but some of the best ringing of the day came at Chipping Sodbury, where we all enjoyed the lovely tone of the bells. Nine o'clock. and the start of our journey hack to Gloucester came all too soon. Our thanks are due to Miss Joy Smith and Mr Chew for planning such a successful outing.

SOUTH NORFOLK

Thirty-five ringers and friends from South Norfolk left Diss at $6.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on July 20 th for their annual outing. this year into Kent. Arriving at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's, Lewisham, the eight bells were rung for 45 minutes. Then on to SS. Peter and Paul's. Bromley (another good eight). Lunch was taken at Bickley. and the afternoon programme included three eight hell towers-St. Luke's. Bromley Common, the Church of the Annunciation and St. Nicholas Church, Chislehurst. Back to Bickley for tea, and then to the last tower. St. Alphege's Church. Greenwich. where the party joined the local ringers and rang touches on the grand ten.
It was indeed glorious weather, excellent food, good bells and over eighteen hours, which hrought us into Sunday morning. Mr. Harry Fuller, of Thetford, Ringing Master for South Norfolk. on behalf of all thanked Mr. William Flatt. of Harleston, for once again making the arrangements. To all ringers who met us a great 'Thank you.

which was probably the best ringing of the tour. delighted our ears.

Sunday service ringing on the fine ten at Yeovil, at Hardington, and a quarter of Stedman Triples at Martlock, ended a memorable tour.
To the local ringers who met us, to Norman Mallett and Harry Gaylard for advice on towers and Bill Yates, for his unfailing organisation and enthusiasm, we extend our grateful thanks.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Salisbury Branch

The quarterly meeting at Damerham on July 27 th was a very pleasant gathering, blessed with fine weather. Some 30 members were present, and visitors from Holt (Trowbridge), Badsey and Maulden. Four new members were elected: James Alexander (Salisbury, unattached), Alan Payne (Wilton), Miss Hilary Coyle and Mr. Paul Kelly (St. Paul's, Salisbury). Mr. Kelly has recently returned from Kenya and settled in Salisbury and will be known as the organiser of the Kilifi ring and ringers.
The Vicar (the Rev. G. W. H. Moule), who himself took part in the ringing. said in the course of his address that he was a naturalist and people sometimes said he was mad. Ringers were aften accused of being mad. But if a person was not 'mad' about something, he was colourless!

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

On the recently restored bells of All Saints, Babbacombe. which are now a delight to ring, the Mid-Devon Branch held its quarterly meeting, on July 27th. Ringing was supervised by the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. W. Simmonds), and the service conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. B. de Andrews).
Mrs. D. E. Hood (Branch chairman) presided at the business meeting, which followed tea, and congratulated the Babbacombe ringers on the hard work they had done in their tower. Certificates were presented to the Misses C A. Goss and E. Cruze. of Townstal. A joint meeting with the South Devon Association is to be held on September 7th at North Bovey, and the next quarterly meeting (subject to permission), on September 21 st at Buckfast Abbey. After appropriate votes of thanks there was further ringing.

Nude Woman In Belfry

An unusual incident is reported from St. Ives, on Aug. 3rd. The Vicar, the Rev. Paul Black, hearing the bells ringing, went with other people to the church to investigate and found a nude woman of about 30 hanging on the bell ropes. The police were called when she refused to leave.

A constable threw a raincoat over her and led her from the church. She slipped from his grasp on the church steps, threw off the raincoat and ran through the market place. She was caught, taken to the police station, seen by a doctor and admitted to hospital. Her clothes were found in the vestry. All the candles in the church were found to have been lit and a cross on the altar removed.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The St. Albans District held their July meeting on the 20th at Kimpton. The six bells are rung from a gallery, which was installed in recent years by the ringers themselves. The rather cramped conditions in the tower were made up for by the hot sun and the grass outside.
The Vicar, the Rev. Kenneth Martin, who took the service, said that as it was the ringers' job to praise God the service would be one of praise and he had chosen the hymns and psalm accordingly. Tea was served by Mrs. Price. a local ringer's wife, in her garden. At the business meeting Miss Thelma J. Burrows was elected a probationary member. Mr. Stan Huckle proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar. Mrs. Price and Mrs. Dodds, who had played the organ.

A LONDON JOINT MEETING

A joint meeting between the Middlesex County Association and the London County Association is becoming an annual and popular event. This year, on July 13th, the Middlesex Association were the hosts and towers open during the afternoon were Pinner, Harrow Weald and Harrow-on-the-Hill. An inspiring service was held at last named church, conducted by the Rev. P. Brassel, Vicar of St. Alban s. North Harrow. The organist was Mr. Brian Apperson, organist of Roxbourne.

In his address, Mr. Brassel spoke of a visit he had made to a very modern church in South London, where old traditions had been swept away. The Vicar of this church invited him to hear the bells. He then opened a cupbord in the vestry, and showed him something like half a piano keyboard. The incumbent played a modern song on this keyboard; and the preacher's impression of the bells; was that they were a good set of well-tuned 'Heinz' tins. He was proud to say that a bell or bells had been ringing out from Harrow-on-the-Hill for nearly a thousand years, and this was a part of the great ringing tradition. He finished by emphasising that everything changes but God, who is changeless.

A most satisfactory tea had been prepared by the local ringers in the Parish Hall. Handbell ringing followed before a return to the tower, beginning with a touch of Stedman Triples rung by two members of each Association. A well-struck course of Bristol showed Harrow bells to their best advantage.

The thanks of both Associations are due to the incumbents and to the organisers and helpers.

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung at Morpeth on July 4th (' R.W.' page 506) was the 50 th peal to be rung in the Watch Tower. There were five peals rung here between 1892 and 1939, so it may not be very long before the 50 th peal on the recast (1951) bells. The 50 peals are made up of: Spliced Surprise (3), Surprise Major (20), Treble Bob Major (5), Plain Major (12), Triples (7), Minor in seven methods (1), Plain Minor (1).
Regarding the combined meeting of the Hereford and Clifford Districts on August 17th (see page 527) we are asked to state that Bacton has four bells.
For sixty years, Mr. P. W. Marjoram, now 87. has been a ringer at Tuddenham St. Martin's, Suffolk. For his diamond wedding anniversary a peal of Minor in four methods was rung on August 3rd.
By ringing in the peal of Grandsire Caters at Chrisichurch Priory on July 27th, Mr. Geoffrey K. Dodd has completed the Grandsire family, with peal of Doubles, Triples, Caters and Cinques.
We are informed by E.V.R. that Wrenbury, Cheshire, tenor weighs 11 cwt ., and not 15 cwt., as reported on page 524 , although he had been there on occasions when it has gone like 15 cwt .

The ringers of the peal at Wellow would like to associate it with the 37 th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. P. Young (July 31 st) and as a 68th birthday compliment to the tenor ringer, Mr. Albert Butt. As a matter of interest, Mr. Butt has rung over 20 peals on Dunkerton tenor, which weighs 5 cwt., so for his first outside his own tower he decided to try something over four times as heavy.

Mr. J. Woolley, of Greton. Corby, reports that while a quarter of Plain Bob Minimus was being rung at Tilton-on-the-Hill on July 25 th, the following was noted, nailed to the wall: 'On Saturday. July 11th, 1897, 5,040 Minimus: 1 James George. Birmingham: 2 William Pye. London: 3 George R. Pye, London; 4 Edward Pitman, London. First peal of Minimus ever to be rung.'

We regret that a misprint occurred in our report of the extent of Major conquered (page 515). The peal was rung at the rate of 2 hours 15 minutes, and not 3 hours 15 minutes as inadvertently stated. We thank those readers who called our attention to the error. Mr. Frank C. W. Knight, of Ramsgate, is now back in our peal columns. He rang his first peal for 10 years at Sellindge, Kent, on August 2nd.
Can any reader explain how to learn a method from the place notation instead of depending on the blue line? 'I greatly admire and wish to emulate such feats, writes B.Sc.

A Pakomac was left behind in Slaugham tower on August 3rd. Will the owner please contact Mr. G. F. Francis, 35, Friday Street, Warnham, Sussex, who has it.
Mr. Alan Ainsworth took up a new appointment at the General Hospital, Birmingham, on August 6th. A farewell peal was rung at SS. James and Basil's, Fenham, his home tower, on July 27 th.

Friends will be sorry to learn that Mrs. F. I. Hairs, of Groombridge. was rushed to hospital on August 6th, and operated on within an hour. The latest report is that she was very comfortable, and looking and feeling a lot better. Mrs. Hairs hopes to be home shortly.

The Northamptonshire village of Flore held a festival of flowers to mark the completion of the restoration and redecoration of the 13 th century church. If the target of $£ 1,200$ is reached the bells will be rehung. During the festival. which lasted four days, 10,000 teas were booked and 2,000 turned down. In the words of the Vicar (the Rev. R.A. Yates), the public response was overwhelming.

The thatched roof of the Church of St. Helen. Ranworth. a church familiar to most members attending the Central Council meeting at Great Yarmouth last Whitsun, was destroyed by fire on Friday. The damage is estimated by the Rector, the Rev. E. Everard, at several thousands of pounds and a theory is that it was caused by a cigarette end thrown from the tower.

OBITUARY

MR. G. W. JENNINGS
The Bury St. Edmunds Cathedral band has lost a most reliable and cheerful ringer by he regretted death on August 2nd of Mr. George William Jennings., of Whepstead, Bury Si. Edmunds. at the early age of 53 , year
May he rest in peace.

MR. ERNIE TRUSLER
Nobody can organise an outing quite like Ernie, was a tribute paid to Mr. Ernie Trusler in the minutes of a past A.C.M. of the Aldrington (Sussex) band
It is with sadness that we have to report that Ernest Trusler passed away on July 25th, at the age of 57 years. He was the youngest of the pre-war Aldrington band, and was noted for his good nature and happy disposition. Not many secretaries give 22 years continuous service hut this was Ernie's achicvement. for which he received a silver tankard from the members of the local band. He rang many quarter peals from Boh Doubles to Cambridge Minor.
The cremation was at the Woodvale Crematorium, Brighton, on July 29 th , where the Aldrington band was represented.
A half-mofiled quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on July 28th. in his home tower, by members of the local band

MORE OUTINGS

WANTAGE, BERKS

The annual outing of the Wantage Parish Church bellringers was held on July 27th, in perfect summer weather, in contrast to the thunderstorms which were experienced on the outing last year. A part of 31, including some ringers from East Ilsley, Blewbury and East Hagbourne, set off at $1.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and reached Henley-on-Thames at 2.30 . where touches of various methods were rung on the very fine eight. The ringing did not really do justice to the bells, but was much appreciated by some local residents. who told us how nice it was to hear all the bells. as they rarely heard the eight for Sunday service
Marlow, the next tower has also a nice eight. the Parish Church of All Saints being set in lovely surroundings by the side of the river. For tea at the Dutch Tea House we were joined by the Vicar, who had been delayed by other engagements. We then journeyed to Maidenhead by way of Cookham Bridge and Boulter's Lock, and rang at the Church of All Saints, Boyne Hill. Here the standard of ringing was much improved, and included a particularly well-struck touch of Stedman Triples.
After an hour at Maidenhead. we went to Theale, where we were welcomed by Fr. King, an old friend. who is now Rector of Holy Trinity. The six here are not an easy ring. and after an hour's ringing the party was much in need of refreshment. which was found at a local hostelry. The journey home was sustained by the usual sing-song.
We were very glad to have with us Mr. H. C. Mulford. who is one of the longest serving members of the Oxford Diocesan but is nowing been elected a member in 1908, regular servicevented by doctor's orders from to incumbents for permission to ring. K. L.

PORTISHEAD AND WRAXALL

The Cotswolds in early June. Stratford-upon-Avon on a warm. sunny afternoon: the river at Evesham: Birdlip: the Stroud Valleyall this and four carefully selected eight-bell towers to ring at. With these ingredients how could our outing be other than successful?

A party, numbering forty ringers and their friends. set out from N. Somerset and soon after $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The bells of Olveston were sounding out across the Severn Valley. Further ringing took place at the pleasant village of Prestbury, nestling between Cheltenham and Cotswold then over the hill to Winchcombe for lunch. We crossed the Worcestershire border for a glimpse at Broadway (a village famous for its beauty), then back into Gloucestershire for a ring on the fine eight at Mickleton.

The timetable allowed for a $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours stay at Stratford, to enjoy the sights and the sun shine. then on to Evesham for high tea at an hotel overlooking the river. Evening ringing was enjoyed at Bishop's Cleeve. and here several visitors to the village. on hearing the bells, came up to see what was going on and were rewarded by being invited to join in a touch of Stedman. It was a happy party that descended the wonderful 15 th century ladder and forgathered outside the church for a group photo

A late evening stop for a 'night cap' was made at Chipping Sodbury
Many thanks to all the kind people who helped to make this outing so enjoyable.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

The meeting of the Cary Branch on July 27th at West Camel, with Queen Camel avail able in the evening, attracted ringers from as far away as Newbury and London. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Minor. The Rector (the Rev. M. P. Ralph-Bowman) conducted the service, assisted by the Rev,
O H. Skipwith (Branch vice-chairman). At the business meeting. which followed tea. two new members were clected from Castle Cary. two from Ditcheat and three from Evercreech
Arrangements for the Branch outing in August were announced and the Rev. O . H Skipwith invited the Branch to Maperton in October to make their first Corporate Communion.

AN IMPORTANT REPORT

AT Great Yarmouth on Whit Tuesday a report of Overseas Ringing was submitted to the Central Council. The representatives received the typescript as they entered the Council Chamber for the morning session and consequently there was little time in which to examine the contents of this report before it was formally presented to the Council by Mr. George Pipe, who had compiled it. That the majority of the members had found time to read it through was obvious; it was equally obvious that the Council recognised the presentation of this report to be one of the most important items on the agenda that day.
Ringers at home should indeed rejoice that more and more rings of bells are being hung in different parts of the world and that more and more ringers are being trained in these countries to ring them.
There would appear to be another aspect of the presentation of this report on Overseas Ringing to the Exercise at home, in that it affords an opportunity to appreciate the difficulties under which our brother ringers are labouring in order to establish and enjoy the art in distant lands. More recently, a report of an annual meeting in Australia revealed that the members (approximately 40) had travelled over 40,000 miles between them in order to attend! That sort of situation would seem to bring before us, in retrospect, something of the conditions facing our forbears in this country some 70 or 80 years ago when, to quote the late Mr. George Williams, 'You had to comb the South Coast in order to get a band together to ring a peal of Grandsire Triples.'
How privileged we are to-day! We have hundreds of well-hung rings of bells, our country is literally thick with bell towers; a few minutes in a car, or at the worst an hour in a bus, will take us to a bell practice at least once a week. Sunday ringing is easy to obtain and ' The Ringing World' advertises dozens of meetings each week, to say nothing of the luxurious peal ringing opportunities which abound for those who wish for them. But do we appreciate these privileges as we should? Do we value the work of our predecessors who made long difficult journeys to teach others, to ring peals and to attend practices in order to establish and progress the Exercise? How many of our bells are silent because we have been slack or taken our many privileges for granted?

A few years ago a Sunday service ringing survey was made and it was conceded that although the situation was not bad, there was room for much improvement in this very important department of our Exercise. Has there been what the Americans call a 'recession' since that time?

One hears from visiting ringers sometimes that 'fings ain't what they used t'be "and that many rings of bells are silent except for the occasional meeting or a visiting peal band.

There is some evidence, too, of depleted bands doing duty on Sundays. 'There is a better band which is not here than that which is here ' is a remark made recently in a well-known South Coast tower. Unpunctuality seems to be increasing. 'Getting there in time to come out with the rest ' does not produce good results and it can become infectious.
A Dorset stalwart opined that 'Ringing is a dying art.' He has taught more ringers and more bands of ringers than he could remember, but he backed up his opinion by reeling off a formidable list of towers where ringing rarely took place nowadays, although a few years ago the same towers boasted thriving bands. Perhaps he was being unduly pessimistic, nevertheless, the question recurs-Is there a 'recession'? Are we less enthusiastic, less aware of our privileges as church bell ringers, less aware of our duty to call the people to church Sunday by Sunday?

The Overseas Ringing Report has been printed in 'The Ringing World '-it is available for all to read. If it were read and examined thoughtfully by all the ringers in this country, perhaps we should find encouragement therein to do much more than we do at present for the benefit of the Exercise. It could lead to a revival of interest comparable with that demonstrated at the end of World War II. Were this to be so, the Overseas Ringing Report would assume an importance much greater than that which the Central Council at Great Yarmouth imagined.

St. Giles' Church, Willenhall, Staffs

By CHRISTOPHER WALLATER

SITUATED on the main road from Wolverhampton to Walsall, the Church of St. Giles stands on the right. a short distance from the town centre of Willenhall. Travelling towards Walsall, the towers of Darlaston and Wednesbury can plainly be seen. and on the left is a good view of the new Church of St. Emmanuel, at Bentley, which contains four bells hung dead for chiming. This church was a gift of the Owen family, through the generosity of Mrs. Owen, mother of Sir A G. B. Owen, who is head of the engineering organisation of Ruherg Owen and Co., Ltd., Darlaston.

Nearby is a plaque marking the place where once stood Bentley Hall, made famous in history for the part it played in the escape of King Charles II from Cromwell's soldiers. after the defeat of his army at the Battle of Worcester. Passing through Stourbridge, on his way to Boscobel. the King, under the guidance of Colonel John Line, eventually arrived at Bentley Hall.
The next morning, disguised as a groom to Jane Lane and riding pillion, the King continued his journey, thus escaping to the Continent. This episode is the subject of a frieze painted on the wall of a corridor in the Houses of Parliament. At the Restoration of the Monarchy the Lane family were rewarded with a pension and the privilege of using the royal coat of arms, which is portrayed in a small window in the present Church of St. Giles. This window was given by the descendants of this family.

In the 'Annals of Willenhall' by Frederick Wim. Hackwood, the historian of Wednes bury, there were two Charters, dated A.D. 732 and 733, executed by Ethelbald, King of Mercia, at a place named Willenhalch (halch means enclosed land on the banks of a stream). The building of the present Church of St. Giles was commenced in 1860 on the site of at least two former churches. Although the names of other churches in nearby towns were changed as the Protestant Reformers took objection to non-Biblical names (All Saints: Walsall. now St. Matthew's. St. Clement's, West Bromwich, now All Saints', St. Mary's Wolverhampton, now St. Peter's), St. Giles" Willenhall, retained its name throughout the centuries.
The staple trade is locks and keys, for which the town has been famous for many years and is unique in having a lock museum Many other industries have developed in recent years, such as casting. stamping and dropforging. all of which played a great part in the successful efforts of the two World Wars
In the year 1547, from an inventory taken by the commissioner of King Edward VI, there were two small bells, which were allowed to remain in the steeple. By 1786 there were six bells, cast by John Rudhall, of Gloucester, the terior weighing ten cwt.

WEATHERCOCK STOLEN

The steeple. much shorter than it is now was the one from which the weathercock was stolen in 1827. A reward of 10 guineas was offered on July 24th. 1827. There was intense rivalry between the men of Darlaston and the men of Willenhall, as to who owned the test game bird. The Darlaston men would hring a game cock and hold him up to show him the weathercock on the church steeple, and uould give vent to roars of laughter when the hird crowed his challenge.
By way of reprisal the Willenhall men would raid Darlaston and pretend to call the cock from the steeple by scattering corn in the churchyard
The Willenhall men woke up one fine Sunday morning to find that the Darlastonians had entered their town in the dead of night and stolen the cock from the church steeple Consternation reigned supreme in Willenhall. It was felt that this latest act of aggravation could only be met by an appeal to the law which hitherto both factions had so recklessly set at naught. So a public notice was promptly issued, offering ten guineas reward.

ST. GILES', WILLENHALL.

No one came forward to betray the heroes of this daring escapade. A new vane had forthwith to be provided. Some time afterwards the old weathercock was found by some miners who were reopening an old coal pit, which lay between the rival townships. Needless to say the new vane was instantly fetched down and the old one once more set up to flaunt itself bravely as of yore in the eyes of distant Darlaston.
For many years the notice offering the reward was displayed in the Neptune Inn (an old coaching inn), which then stood opposite the church.

The Parish Church of St. Bartholomew Wednesbury, has a model of a game cock which is used as a lectern. and is stated to be the gift of the owner of a successful bird at a local main.

There is no information available as to what ringing took place on the six bells, other than an account of Wake Sunday, when the bells rang merrily as the crowd assembled for the bull-baiting on the village green.

The six bells were increased to eight in 1873 by the addition of a treble and tenor, and recasting the fourth by Mears and Stainbank, London. These were rehung in a new tower There was a public appeal to defray the cost as the inscription on the former treble bell indicates: We for other churches three, Are ready to make sounds of Glee.' The other parishes were St. Anne's. St. Stephen's and Holy Trinity.

EARLY PEALS

The first peal was rung on the bells on February 3rd. 1874. It was 5,040 Grandsire Major in 3 hours and 18 minutes, by the Walsall Society of Change Ringers. assisted by W. Johnson. of Darlaston; composed and conducted by W. Hallsworth. Peal No. 2 was Grandsire Triples in 3 hours 5 minutes, conducted by W. Johnson, of Darlaston. Mr John Carter, inventor of the ringing machine taking part, this being his first peal, which was rung on July 7th, 1874.
The first peal of Stedman Triples rung on the bells was a notable performance and was mentioned in "The Ringing World' some months ago (under - 50 Years Ago '). It was the first peal of Stedman for the late William Rock Small. a native of Wednesbury, who later went to reside and work at Tipton, and n later years became known as the Black Country Veteran. The incident of the choir boys repeating the bobs after the conductor was possible as the organ and choir stalls were situated in the gallery, the entrance to which was close to the belfry door. The peal was rung on Saturday. August 14th. 1880, in hours 55 minutes, by Samuel Reeves, Job Joynes, William Rock Small, Henry Johnson, sen.. Henry Johnson, jun.. John Buffery. William Hallsworth. Thomas Reynolds. Composed by the late Mr. Lates. Conducted by Mr. William Hallsworth. of Walsall, for St. Martin's Society of Change Ringers, Birming ham.
On September 25th, 1880, the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on the bells was rung by James Foster 1, William Micklewright ? Abe Malborn 3. John Lloyd 4. Joseph Bate 5 William R. Small 6, Thomas Foster 7, John Astbury 8. Conducted by James Foster. The conductor was a son of T. Foster, who was head ringer of St. Bartholomew's, Wednesbury. Another peal of Grandsire Major was rung on February 21st. 1881, composed and conducted by John Carter.
The first peal of Plain Boh Major on the bells was rung on April 8th. 1905, by Edward Stafford. Thomas J. Elton. Christopher Wallater. Joseph Birch. William Fisher, Edwin J. Tyler, George Hughes, John C. Adams. Composed and conducted by George Hughes ( 5.088 changes). The ringers of treble, fourth and tenor came from Bloxwich. the second Walsall. the fifth Coseley, the sixth Wood Green. the third and seventh from Wednes bury.
Mr. George Hughes, who had only his left arm. was a native of Hanbury, Worcester stire. He was appointed as conductor to St. Bartholomew's, Wednesbury upon the death of Mr. Thomas Foster. Before coning to Wednesbury Mr. Hughes was a member of the band at St. Martin's, Tipton, the tower of which was called the Pepper Box by ringers in the Black Country. This was on account of its peculiar shape. The eight bells, hung on one level. were considered to he a masterpiece of bell hanging.

RECASTING AND AUGMENTING
The scheme for the recasting and augmentation of the bells to ten was launched during the incumbency of the Rev. Edward Harrison. M.C. M.A., who came to Willenhall from St Catherine's, Liverpool, at which vicarage the Rev. Studdert Kennedy (Woodbine Willie) passed away, whilst on a Crusade. The appeal for support to the restoration was well re sponded to by all sections of the community. People who had left the district stated that they remembered the bells in former years, one in particular being Professor Rosedale. College of Medicine. Singapore, who, in his reply mentioned that he was once a potential bell ringer. His father. Rev. W. E. Rosedale, D.D. was voted to the living upon the death of the Rev. G. H. Fisher. in 1894.

Shortly after the appeal for restoration was launched the sad news came that our Vicar had suddenly passed away, whilst undergoing treatment in hospital. his illness being through the after effects of the war. The next Vicar. Rev. Christopher E. Turner. A.K.C. came from St. Aidan's. Leeds. Yorkshire. He proceeded with the restoration scheme, and : committec was formed and a meeting arranged to deal with the situation

At a subsequent meeting of the committee one of the members. Mrs. Mary Ethel Dyke. announced that with her sister: Mrs. Emily Fox. they would give two bells in memory of their parents Henry Vaughan and Hannah Vaughan. and would also contribute towards the cost of the new frame for ten bells
Eventually the scheme was brought to ${ }^{8}$ successful conclusion on Sunday. May 2nd. 1937, when the Rt. Rev. Lord Bishop of Stafford conducted the dedication service ${ }^{3 t}$ $11 \mathrm{~h} . \mathrm{m}$. These bells were recast to com memorate the coronation of King George VI

WINLATUN, CO. DERHAM.-On May 18th, 1209 Plain Bob Minor: Miss G. Wardhaugh 1, J. Crowther 2. Miss O. Douglas 3. M. Armstrong 4, M. Maughan (cond.) 5, T. Bullerwell 6.

WILTS AND SOMERSET RINGERS IN WARWICKSHIRE

The combined Surprise Major practice band, drawn from the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and the Frome Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. paid a visit to Warwickshire on July 27th. An early start allowed for the collecting of members from Frome, North Bradley, Melksham and Chippenham, and the long run to Stratford-on-Avon was much enjoyed. At Stratford the lovely 10 were turned briskly to Cambridge and Yorkshire Major, supplemented by two touches of Caters, and towards the close of the ringing we were joined by Mr. Gordon Benfield, of Pudsey.

On the run into Birmingham we picked up Mr. George Fearn at Hall Green, and he acted as our gutide. At the Cathedral the famous ring was set going to rounds on 12, Stedman Caters and Yorkshire Major. Rescuing Mr. Brian Price from vain efforts to collect antiques in a thoroughly modern Babylon. we ran out to Solihull, the former home of Mr. E. C. Shepherd. Lunch was taken informally. and we had the opportunity to meet some of the Solihull band. including that faithful veteran, Mr. William Leeson. who has been ringing at St. Alphege's Church since the beginning of the century. The ringing on this beautiful 10 included an excellent course of Bristol.
Taking leave of our guide. and successfully thwarting attempts to kidnap Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd, we traversed the very pretty 13 miles to Warwick. where Mr. Garner-Hayward awaited us at St. Nicholas Church. The excellent eight provided us with some good Stedman Triples, 'topped up, with Cambridge and Yorkshire. A substantial tea was taken at the Warwick Cafe, and this establishment may be unreservedly recommended.
North-bound traffic was building up in alarming fashion as we ran down the Fosse Way to Stow-on-the-Wold. but we made good progess and were able to finish the day's ringing on the heavy eight at St. Edward's Church. Here we were joined by a very young stranger, who, with more confidence ithan competence, found himself in trouble on the treble and contrived to break the stay. We are grateful to our local mentor for thi good natured manner in which he received this catastrophe.
The run southwards over the high Cotswolds, with the sun dropping unclouded on our right and the long evening shadows streaming eastwards. was a beautiful and soothing experience.

Our best thanks are due to incumbents for the use of their bells and to the tower representatives for patience and unfailing courtesy.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The second Saturday in July found the Beverley and District Society holding their monthly meeting at St, Peter's Church. Hutton Cranswick. to mark the anniversary of the rededication of the bells in 1950 . Thirty-four members were present. representing 15 towers.
The service was conducted by the Vicar and chaplain to the Society (Rev. G. Storer), Horlet the Bishop of Hull. Patron of the socrety, read the lesson and gave an inspiring address The Bishop joined the members at tea in the schoolroom. again provided hy the Aospitality of the Vicar and the local ladies. On shour for church funds raised 15 is. Fd. Afmorstar for the first time was the timen to the memory of Mr. Alhert E. Sellers. president of the Society from 1951 to 1962 .

THE BELFRY IS HIS HOME

Meet Rene Mignot-a man who actually ives in a belfry!
Rene. seen in his full regalia in this picture. is the official watchman at the 700 -year-old Cathedral of Lausanne. whose job it is to call the hours from the high tower every night between sunset and sunrise.

He starts his duty every evening by climbing the 184 steps that lead up to the belfry, where he has a comfortably furnished wooden hut, equipped with bunk, telephone, radio and electric fire.
For 300 years Lausanne has had its night watchman, a job which in the last century has heen very much a family affair, handed down from father to son.
And every hour, without fail, the cry is heard four time as he calls to the north. the cast. the south and the west: 'C'est le guet. II a sonne trois.' (This is the watch. It is three oclock.)
Tradition has only been broken once. In July. Lausanne joined in official celebrations to mark the centenary of the first-ever British conducted tour of Switzerland. and large crowds gathered below the Cathedral tower to hear the watchman shout. for the first time in English: "Eleven o'clock, and all's well." In the picture, which was taken on this occasion. he is seen with an English girl in Victorian costume (left) and a girl in Lausanne costume.

Rene was asked by reporters whether he had ever dozed off and missed one of his hourly calls.
He laughed and showed them his ' alarm clock -the six-ton bell, dated 1795, which automatically tolls the hour and which is right next to his wooden hut.

You would have to be stone deaf to sleep while this fellow is ringing. he told them.

A MEETING FOR LEARNERS

Some ringers are apt to look upon learners as ringers who will make the grade if keen enough. overlooking the fact that from bellhandling to Bob Minor is the most difficult period. Many learners keen enough to try are discouraged by lack of opportunity at Branch meetings. They arrive and ring rounds once or twice during the afternoon, and once after tea. These are often bad rounds with all learners ringing together. Perhaps they are pushed through Doubles on the treble, without the slightest idea of what they are doing and the Ringing Master having no time to explain.
In an attempt to help this type of learner an experimental 'learners and young people' meeting was held recently at West Overton, Wilts, where Captain Manfield-Robinson, R.N. (retired), has some dozen or more learners.

Ringing with instruction was under the control of Mr. Brian Bladon. of Swindon, who started at 2.30 p.m. by demonstrating bell handling and control and followed by explaining the principles of plain hunting and Bob Minimus. Several courses with various learners were rung.
A short service was held at 4.30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. F. Smedley, and after tea, in the Village Hall, a talk on 'Belfry Management and Tower Upkeep, was given by Mr. Peter Minchin. of Swindon. This was followed by a demonstration of double-handed handbell ringing and then the learners each rang plain hunting on one bell, Mr. Bladon explaining how this was done, and also the build up into Bob Minimus, by chalking the changes down the middle of the Village Hall floor. The handbell ringing ended with a demonstration of tune ringing.

The results of this meeting were that several learners rang changes for the first time, knowing what they should be doing. One ringer. who before had only rung Plain Bob and Grandsire, learnt and rang two new methodsSt. Simon's and St. Clement's. A. R.P.

BANK HOLIDAY AT LEATHERHEAD

The opinion was expressed early in the year Association the and joint meeting of the Surrey Association and the Guildford Guild at Leatherhead on August Bank Holiday was played out. Had those who voiced the opinion been present they would have to agree that, far from being played out, this hardy annual 'is thriving as well as ever. Where indeed could a better setting be found for a Bank Holiday meeting? The old Church of St. Mary, with its lovely ring of 10 , set close to the River Mole, with Box Hill and the North Downs as a backcloth. The ideal spot for a walk. a ring. tea, pleasant company and meeting old friends.

Ringing during the afternoon was in the excellent hands of Mr. Patrick Cannon, in his dual capacity of General Master of the Surrey Association and District Master of the Guildford Guild. A service, to the Surrey order this year. was led by, the Vicar, at 4.30 , who. in his address. voiced the heresy that ringing is a sport in no uncertain terms. Albeit we must add, before you take up your pens, unlike most sports it serves a very good purpose still.
Tea followed in the new Church Hall, and this had been in the capable hands of Mr. George Marriner and his helpers. The Vicar attended, and during tea he informed the 60 or so ringers present that Mr. Marriner was celebrating his 80th birthday that day A presentation was made to him and all joined in the usual birthday song. Long may we have the pleasure of his company and ringing votes of thanks were proposed by Mr. Douglas May. seconded by Mr. А. P. Cannon.

Substitutes for Bells in Kent

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read in the ' Belfry Gossip ' of August 9th of the installation of another of these wretched contrivances for imitating the sound of bells, at East Peckham. This is, to my knowledge. the second of its kind to be put into operation in the county, the other being at Smeeth, near Ashford.

At Smeeth there was one old bell in the tower. but this somehow sustained some injury. with the result that a large piece was broken out of the soundbow. Obviously the tone was adversely affected, and a pious but sadly misinformed donor had a loudspeaker installed to enable recordings to be played. 1 am glad to say, however. that the novelty of the new toy soon wore off, and the apparatus is not now used ; evidently the parishioners preferred the panny tone of their one real bell to that of its cheap replacement.

However, the story did not end there. Last year the church was offered the gift of five disused clock bells. but. after careful consideration. the Parochial Council decided that they could not accept the bells on the grounds that they were not in a financial position to bear the expense of a bell frame and hangings.

Obviously this is a story with a moral. If the worthy benefactor had instead been advised to make his donation to a fund for the bells (which in my opinion. is a 'must' for every tower whether the bells are in good repair or not), then the church would at least have had something towards hanging them. which would probably have swayed the decision of the council to keep the bells.
There is, however, another problem which has become much more frequent during recent years, and which must account for the downfall of so many good intentions: I am, of course, referring to the Ellacombe Chiming Apparatus. So often these days one comes across towers where the bells are unringable. and an attempt to raise money for them has ended in the installation of a chiming apparatus. It is unfortunate in these cases that this is usually sufficient to satisfy both parson and Parochial Council and all further thoughts ahout restoring the bells are forgotten until one of them literally falls from the tower.

When Canon Ellacombe invented his apparatus it was intended to allow the sexton to sound the bells for week-day services and any on Sunday when the ringers were not in attendance. It was not intended as a second-rate substitute for rehanging and doubtless Ellacombe would have had second thoughts had he realised some of the circumstances under which it is now used.-Yours sincerely.

Not in Peal Records

Dear Sir.-Regarding the 'pcal' which was - conducted. by Mr. Giles B. Thompson at Penn, Bucks, on May 11th, and which was referred to in $\mathbf{M r}$. Giles R . Shedden's letter ( ${ }^{\text {R.W.W. August } 9 \text { th, page 532), I feel I must }}$ point out that $I$ and two others in the band have not included it in our peal records.

Short of announcing the fact in the 'R.W: (a drastic and very unpleasant step, I think) we have done everything possible to persuade the conductor to withdraw the "peal," but without success.-Yours faithfully.

HOWARD OGLESBY.
Hitcham, Bucks.

Penn Peal Satisfies Conductor

Dear Sir,-In reply to Giles Shedden's letter I would make the following comments:
(1) As far as I am concerned the peal (with no inverted commas) still stands as such ; others may testify against this, but their arguments do not satisfy me. and I give myself the benefit of any doubt which might exist.
(2) The inverted commas around 'conducted are perhaps more appropriate than those around 'peal.' I make no claim to be much of a conductor (after all. how many people are conductors in every sense of the word?). I do put the calls in the right places and keep the coursing order straight as far as I can (even with a band of conductors this is difficult in certain methods-or so I've found!), and I expected to improve with practice.

Finally, I would say, as one Giles to another: Go and try to call a few peals yourself before you criticise other people's efforts and then your remarks might be of some value, and, as he wasn't a member of the band or a witness of the peal. mind your own business, and haye a look at both sides of an argument before making pointed comments.-Yours in reply.

Wincanton.

Rabbits' Guild and A Learner's Complaint

Dear Sir.-The editorial royal command (page 501) must. of course. be obeyed, but it is not quite clear just what A Learner's complaint is.
If he means that he is troubled by advice from self-appointed tutors not in charge of the ringing, such ill-mannered interference requires a fairly crude protest if it is to be understood. The exact form can be left to $A$ Learner, with the hope that he is skilled in pointed speech.

If he is complaining of prompting given by the right person when he knows well what he is about, and serving only to retard his progress, as may well happen, then various remedies are open to him. First, however, he must be absolutely certain that he knows a.s much as he thinks he does. Then he may begin by saying politely, 'Thank you, I'm quite all right for the moment.' or something equally innocuous, and if necessary saying it again and again. Next he can point out. privately, and still politely, that unasked-for prompting is a hindrance in his case.

If these moves fail and he is unwilling, or it is inexpedient to be rude, then he can try excluding the unwelcome voice from con-sciousness-it can be done. An aid to this exercise is a silent recitation; Gray's Elegy is good the stresses come in useful later, when the tyro requires to count five dodges).
If all these remedies fail, only one cure remains. A Learner must say in a loud voice. 'Will you stop!' It works. I know, because I did it-and the boss and I remain the best of friends.-Yours, etc..

Outsiders Ring the Farewell Peal

Dear Sir,-With reference to the peal of London Surprise Royal at Chesterfield on July 20th (' R.W.' page 537), I would like to comment on the fact that, although the peal was rung as a farewell to the Archdeacon of Chesterfield and the restoration of the Parish Church. the band did not include anyone from the Chesterfield District and was not even rung for the Derby Diocesan Association.
All credit is due to the conductor and his hand for their performance, but I think they would agree that an opportunity ought to have been given to the local ringers to ring for the departure of the Archdeacon. It would appear that as far as Chesterfield is concerned the Yorkshire Association has preference over the Derby Diocesan Association.

This impression was' strengthened recently when a request by local ringers to ring the bells to welcome the new Archdeacon was refused.
Perhaps we shall open the 'R.W.' one morning to find that the Outer Mongolian Association of Bell Ringers has rung a peal to welcome the Archdeacon.-Yours sincerely,

ALAN KELLER

Place Notation of New Methods

Dear Sir. - I was beginning to feel disappointed that none of our readers had written 10 you concerning the trivial error in the reporting of the Vermont peal. How had all our hudding authors missed this golden apportunity?
Now we see, on page 548, that after weeks of hesitent deliberation, Mr. Ketteringham has found it necessary to point out the error of our ways, together with his views on the "correct', presentation of the place notation.
If your readers would kindly turn back to Mr. Ketteringham's letter they will see the two extremes of place notation presentation. They can make up their own minds as to which looks the best and which is the easies! to read.
As to any omissions that I may have made let me say, firstly, that I consider external nlaces in the notation as completely superfluous and that they incur unnecessary ivpesetting both in 'The Ringing World ' and in my own collection.

The second point is that if Mr. Ketterineham knows anything at all about the methods of place and lead order notation he would know that the letters L.E.B. indicate a seconds-place method having a lead end 5738264 .
I would extend my first point to the publishing of false course ends. These, to my mind are further examples of unnecessary printing. Personally. 1 would never rely on this information and I sugzest that if they are required for checks, etc., they are always reextracted.

I would also suggest that all new methods be published in a standard form.-Yours. etc., DAVID J. TAYLOR.

A WEST COUNTRY HOLIDAY

$\mathrm{S}^{\mathrm{E}}$VEN ringers from various parts of London. Essex and Peterborough set out on Saturday. July 6th, to be greeted by seven hours of non-stop rain. However, on arriving in Devon, we stopped for a cream tea, and the weather changed for the better. Finally, we arrived at 'Lerwill Farm, Chittlehampton, in the early evening. and decided to ask for permission to ring the bells. This was granted and the captain met us and called changes, for us.

On Sunday morning we joined the local ringers at South Molton (8) to ring Triples and call changes for morning service. In the afternoon we rang at two six bell towers and centinued on to Minehead (10), where we were joined by the eighth member of our party, who had hitch-hiked from London. Then we rang for evening service with the local band. This was a 'gentle' start to a somewhat busy week ahead.

During the week we rang at 63 towers. At many of the churches we were met by the incumbents or the captain of ringers, and we were made welcome wherever we went. We toured through beautiful countryside, with our two drivers skilfully negotiating the narrowest of Devonshire roads. Every day we had to contend with herds of cows, tractors or similar obstructions.
Highlights of our holiday included visits to Selworthy (6), where we were invited to ring a peal of Surprise Minor at a future date: Cutcombe, said to be the highest ring of bells in Somerset ; West Buckland, Somerset (6). a fine heavy ring; Marwood (6), where the shorter members of the party could have stood on chairs to ring as the sallies were so high: Wiveliscombe (8), where we were delighted to meet Mr. Brigham Young: Langtree (6), where the church has no dedication due to a fire in which all church records were destroyed. TRIED TO EMULATE
At North Molton (6) we joined the ringers at their practice on a fine toned ring. We were very impressed by the way they dropped the bells, setting us a standard which we endeavoured to reach for the rest of the week. Afterwards in the -local,' where we were joined by two men from Mears and Stainbank's, we quenched a well earned thirst, played darts and rang handbells with encouragement from the landlady and one of the ringers.

On Thursday, with time in hand, we rang a quarter peal at Egg Buckland, and admired

'R.W.' August 15th. 1913.-
The marriage of Mr. T. Faulkner, while Master of the College Youths, recalls the fact that it is a rare occurrence for a President or Master of any ringing society to be married during his term of office. Mr. Martin Stewart joined the benedicts a year or so ago while Master of the Salisbury Guild, but we have to go back twenty years to find an instance of the Master of the College Youths married in office. This was Mr. F. E. Dawe, who was wedded on October 7th. 1893, at St. Bride's. Fleet Street, where a fine peal of Stedman Cinques was rung in the evening, under the conductorship of the late Mr . J. Pettitt.
the view from the top of the tower. Later, we crossed the Tamar Bridge to Saltash and St. Stephen's-by-Saltash, where we failed to do justice to the bells

We were pleased to ring methods with local ringers at six churches during the week, after ringing call changes with many more. The last night was spent at Sampford Peverell, where we joined in ringing for morning service. On the journey home we rang at Collingbourne Kingston (6) and Collingbourne Ducis (6). We endeavoured to ring a different method at each tower and almost reached our target. In all we rang five Doubles methods, 49 Minor, three Triples, three Major and one Caters.
Besides the ringing, memorable events, such as discovering one-in-four hills, crossing Exmoor in brilliant sunshine and watching the men pushing the third car on Saturday morning, made it an enjoyable holiday. The party regretted that Tony Bishop, who initiated the holiday, was unable to come due to a back injury. We are glad that he was able to go to Ireland later.
We all appreciated Elizabeth's hard work in doing all the pen-pushing towards the week's arrangements. Our thanks also go to everyone who made this holiday possible.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

The meeting of the Monmouth Branch at Lower Machin on July 13th was opportune, as at the business meeting those present heard from the Rev. Anthony Bailey (Rector) that much progress had been made at Lower Machin, where a band had been taught by Mr. I. Davies, and regular service ringing was taking place. He thanked Mr. Davies. for his hard work in teaching learners, and said that as a band they hoped to take a far more active part in the Association in the future.
Eight new members from Lower Machin and two from Chepstow were elected. The choral service was conducted by the Rector; tea was served by ladies in the Church Hall, who were thanked by Mr. David Pike. Mr. F. Hannington thanked the choir and organist.
Next meeting: Tredunnoc, October 12th.

JOINT MEETING IN  SOUTH YORKS

No fewer than 21 towers were represented at the joint meeting of the Barnsley and District Society and the Yorkshire Association (Southern District) at Bradfield. At the meeting of Barnsley Society, the Rector (the Rev. R K. Wood), who presided, in reply to a vote of thanks from Mr. Michael King (Wentworth). said he had been asked by the bride and bridegroom at a wedding that day to thank the ringers for their unexpected ringing. Miss Gillian Gidding, Wokingham, Berks, was elected a member.

After the meeting some of the company left for Bolsterstone, which is in the midst of the beautiful scenery in the Sheffield Lakeland.
Next meeting: Hoylandswaine, September 14th (cup contest).

SEAL, CHART MEMORIAL

In the presence of 20 ringers from Seal Chart, Seal, Sevenoaks and Tonbridge, and his widow, two daughters, son and other relatives, a memorial was dedicated on July 28 th at St. Lawrence's Church, Seal Chart, to the memory of Arthur Wenban.

The memorial is an inscription, cut in the stonework over the belfry door, in the following terms: ' In affectionate memory of Arthur Wenban, devoted ringer in this tower from 1904 to 1962 .
In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, through illness, the service was taken at very short notice by the Rev. M. Heal, from Sevenoaks. He took as his theme: 'For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office.' The lesson, from Romans 12, was read by Mr. P. A. Corby, secretary of the K.C.A. Immediately after the dedication, a short touch of Bob Minor was rung on handbells by Sheila M. Dobbie $1-2$, W. H. Dobbie 3-4, P. A. Corby 5-6. The six bells at the church were rung before and after the service.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION  \section*{N. and E. District}

The 15 th century Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Monken Hadley, with its very rare copper cresset surmounting the tower turret, lies just within the county boundary and was the venue for the August meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex Association

With the sun in evidence during the afternoon thers was a good attendance of members and friends, including visiting ringers from the North Staffs Association, Bradford Cathedral and Croydon.

The bells were kept going to a variety of methods from 3 o'clock onwards, followed bv a service conducted by the Rector of Monken Hadley, the Rev. H. E. Wood.

Subsequent to tea a short meeting was held in the ringing chamber, when two new members were clected to the Association, viz., Miss E. Emmett (Stanmore) and Philip M. Cuckson (Barnet). Mr. Charles Gray, who for very many years was a member of the St. Matthew's Upper Clapton band, rejoined the Association.
Reference was made to the forthcoming second Triennial Dinner on Friday, October 4th, at the Century Hotel. Wembley. This dinner is to commemorate the memory of Charles T. Coles, who did so much for ringing in general and the Middlesex Association in particular. Tickets for this function are available from either of the District secretaries or any member of the Dinner Committee and it is hoped that it will be well supported.

Mr. H. G. Hart, chairman, proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for taking the service and for the use of the bells; to Mr. W. M. Soper for accompanying at the organ: and to Mr. M. J. Soper for having everything in readiness at the tower.

SOME NOTES ON CONDUCTING

By DENIS A. FRITH

SEVERAL articles have appeared in these pages in past years concerning short touches for meetings or for service ringing.

These have usually been applicable to one method only. But if a conductor understands the build-up of a touch, he can have quite a variety at his fingertips from a basic knowledge of one or two touches in each method. Slight variations of the original are very useful if one wishes to keep a learner from being affected by the bobs. or conversely to involve him in them especially. Another point is that they can relieve the tedium of seeing, for instance, the tenor called 'Wrong-HomeWrong Home, whenever a touch of St . Clement's Minor is asked for.

Consider Plain Bob Major, In even-bell methods, the tenor is usually regarded as observation bell, and the 'Standard Calling' is when the tenor is called Wrong-Home-Wrong-Home.' This means that a bob is called each time it is about to dodge $7 / 8$ up and $7 / 8$ down, and produces a two-course touch of 224 changes. Now, if the 4 th is called likewise two courses are still produced, and the 7th still courses after the tenor for all except one lead. With this touch. the effect is that the tenor is called Fifths-Fourths-Before-Before.

To those not familiar with this notation, 'Fifths' is when the observation bell is in fifths place at the lead-end, e.g., in Plain Bob it has just dodged $5 / 6$ up: 'Fourths is when it has made the Bob: 'Before' or 'Out'running up from the treble: In -running in to turn the treble: 'Home' is when it is in the last place at the lead-end (has just dodged $7 / 8$ down in Plain Bob Major): 'Wrong when in last-but-one place (has just dodged $7 / 8$ up): 'Middle ' in last-but-two (has just dodged 5/6 down).
By the way, if the 4 th is made observation bell the 2 nd and the 6th are also unaffected by the bobs.

Supposing the bobs are called when the 3rd is about to dodge in $7 / 8$. 224 changes are again produced, and the 3 rd , 2nd and the 5th ar: unaffected bells. From the tenor the calling is 'Before-Before-Fifths-Fourths.' In other words, the difference between this variation and the last is that the calling from the tenor to the two courses has been swapped. This can be done with any two-course touch, although if the two courses are called alike, e.g., 'Wrong-Home-Wrong-Home,' nothing will be altered. Similarly if it is called - Middle-Home-Middle-Home (calling the tenor 'Middle-Home-Middle-Home' is only calling the 7th observation).

Again, if the 2nd be called observation. the tenor and 7 th will not course together for eight of the leads. but six leads of the plain course will be rung. The 2nd. 3rd and 4 th are unaffected by the bobs: 12348765 is the half-way change. Nothing starting. but musical and interesting.
Before going on to the next step, the above can be tidied up. The 8th is almost always used as the observation bell. but it has been shown that the 4 th, 3rd, 2nd or 7 th are just as good: the two remaining bells. the 5th and the 6th. can also be used, of course.
If these variations are written out more fully:

The difference between the first and the second is that the first lead, a bob lead. has been placed at the end. and so on. All these touches are of course, true. Armiger Trollope explained this very well in his booklet 'Variations and Transpositions.' He suggested that if every change of a touch or peal was to be written out on a long piece of paper, and this piece of paper was to be fastened around the outside of a drum of such a size so that the final rounds just coveted the rounds written at the head of the touch (in other words, all and only those changes in the touch were visible and continuous). then from wherever one started, their progression forwards and backwards are all ordered by the same rules. Whatever symbols were used in place of 12345678, no row would be the same as any other row no matter where begun or in which direction rotated. as long as the same rules are obeyed as in the original touch in the method.

In any change ringing method, the same rules are obeyed throughout if the touch ends at the backstroke of the treble's full lead. Therefore, all the variations of the 'Standard calling ' given above are true

Now, in 'The Ringers' Diary ' there is a touch of 208 Plain Bob Major. 'Fifths-With-A-Single, Fourths. Wrong, Before, Middle, Home-With-A-Single.' This one-part touch is of thirteen leads and will give a total of thirteen variations. To demonstrate this, they are written out with the tenor observation.

$\mathrm{W}=$ Wrong .

$5=$ Fifths.
$4=$ Fourths (make the bob).
$2=$ Making seconds.
$3=$ Making thirds.
$\mathrm{M}=$ Middle ,
H=Home.
The addition of ' $S$ ' means that the call is a single.

Another point with Bob Major is that Bobs at any two successive leads can be made singles (or vice versa), also a bob-and-single can be made single-and-bob (or vice versa). Note that the last and first leads of a touch are in effect successive. Therefore, in each of the 'Standard callings' given first either two or four singles can be substituted for bobs, and in the 208 six more variations can be obtained. Thus from a knowledge of .two touches in the method, the conductor has a further thirty-eight to hand.

Although to show the effect, some of these variations have been written out in full. there is no need to learn anything more than the original touch, but keeping in mind one golden rule. To ensure that there will be no repetition the conductor must make a call at the first position where a call is allocated by the notation of the original touch. For example. if in the 208 the conductor is ringing the 2nd his calling will be M-HS-5S-4-W-B. i.e.. bobs at the third lead-end. singles at the fourth and sixth. and bobs at the seventh, tenth and thirteenth lead-ends. If he is ringing the 3rd. his first call will be at the Before; if ringing the 4 th, it will be at the Middle, etc. If he does not observe this ruling. an extra plain course may be included. For example. if the 3 rd were to call himself $5 \mathrm{~S}-4-\mathrm{W}-\mathrm{B}-\mathrm{M}-\mathrm{H}$, he would have six leads before the first call and three after the last. and the touch would extend to 360 changes, not all of which would be different.
Longer touches may be treated in the same way.

| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 23456 | $\mathbf{W}$ | $\mathbf{M}$ | $\mathbf{H}$ |
| 46235 | - | - | $\mathbf{S}$ |
| 23465 | - |  | - |
| 53426 | S | S |  |
| 23456 | $\mathbf{S}$ |  |  |

Some peculiar music may result if this touch were to be called 2nd observation (calling the first bob when the 2nd is at middle. the observation it can casily be transposed in full courses. That is ringing them in the order $4123,2341,4321$ or 2143 , etc.

As a general rule, any method can be transposed in similar ways, except sometimes in the matter of singles.
In even-bell methods when 2nds place is made at the lead-end the 'Standard calling' is 'Wrong-Home-Wrong-Home': when 6ths, 8 ths, 10 ths or 12 ths place is made the calling is In-Out-In-Out or Out-In-Out-In, whichever position is arrived at first.
One class of touches can be better understood by a little writing out. The 192 of Double Norwich Court, Bob Major given in 'The Ringers' Diary' calling the tenor Fifths-In-Home is

PPPBPPPBPPPB.

As can be seen, this can be split up into three equal groups of four leads, each group containing three plain leads and one bob lead. Starting at different lead-ends only has the effect of altering the position of the bob lead within the group of four leads. In this touch as given, at all three bobs the sixth will be the bell actually making the bob. If the bob had been called at the first lead of the group, the second would have made them all: if at the second lead-end the 8th would have made them all. and if called at the third leadend the 3rd would have made each one. So all that is necessary to be known is that a bob may be called at any of the first four lead-ends, and that bob-making bell be called to make two more bobs.
With Plain Bob Major, each group is five leads long, so calling a bob at any of the first five lead-ends, noting the bob-making bell, and calling it to do that twice more, produces a touch of 240 changes. In St. Clement's the group is of only two leads. And in Little Bob one, so there is not much scope here: Kent has a three-lead group-a little better.
In Royal, a bell will be required to make the bob four times, and in Maximus five, but as this throws the bells about so much and takes so long to come round, this principle is not of practical use, and the 'Standard calling should be employed. As might now be expected. in Minor a bell need only be called to make the bob twice. In Double Court, Little Bob, Killamarsh and Hull Minor the group consists of only one lead. In other methods a useful touch is produced by calling a bob at the first lead-end, noting the bobmaking bell, and calling it to make its other bob. This brings the bells back into the plain course. If then a hob is called at the next lead-end, and that bob-making bell bobbed again. an extended touch is produced. This can be continued until all the bells have made their pairs of bobs, one lead of the plain course being rung between each pair. Each time the bells are in the plain course they can be left to run into rounds, though in certain cases part of the plain course may be repeated. In Minor. of course, the -Standard calling may be adapted, as explained for Major.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES AND CATERS

Similar variations can be obtained. but, it must be emphasised, only with touches that come round at backstroke. (One ringer I know worried for a long time as to whether the touch of Triples with a single eyery other lead-end should be started with a plain lead or a single.)
The familiar touch in Triples is the 7th called $\operatorname{In}$-And-Out-of the Hunt, twice repeated. In this case the basic group is B BPP. Its variations are P B B P (6th In-And-Out) PP B B (4th In-And-Out) and B P PB (2nd Out-And-In), each twice repeated for 168 changes.

The equivalent touch in Grandsire Caters is made up of three groups each of five leads. The basic is BBBPP ( 7 th Into the Hunt. Out and $8 / 9$ down). The four variations are P B B B P (9th In, Out. 8/9 Down), P P B B B (8th In. Out. and $8 / 9$ down). B P P B B (4th $8 / 9$ down. In and Out), and B BPPB (2nd Out. $8 / 9$ down and In). Repeat each twice for 270 changes. Another Caters touch is the one with two groups of five leads-B P B B P. This has its four variations... P B P B B BPBPB... B B P B P. and . PBB B B.

The Grandsire Triples touch often used to fill in the last two minutes before service time is the doubled-up bob course, B B S, repeated; this is how it is invariably rung. But any arrangement of bobs and singles can be used ... B S B, S B B, S S B, S B S, B S S, SSS. For Caters, to give four minutes approximately, B B B S repeated is used. There are fourteen variations of this. Incidentally, the 107 of Triples that one of our young ringers rediscovered BSBPSPSP.. is a group three minute fill-in.

STEDMAN

Many people do not realise that in Stedman Triples the bob course S.L.Q. (3/4--7/8 -12/13) can be called from any bell and not just the 7 th. A well known ringer from Lavenham has an interesting play on this. If any bob directly affects $1,2,3$, omit it. If they are not so bobbed, call one to affect them. The equivalent touch to S.L.Q. in Caters is $6 / 7$ and $4 / 5$ down before slow. out slow and $4 / 5 \mathrm{up}$, in and out quick, off any bell, starting with the appropriate call. In Triples calling any bell to make 7 ths-With-ASingle twice (one after quick and then after slow, or vice versa) produces one course. This is the same as calling a bell to make 5ths, then 6ths (or vice versa) with singles. Similarly in Caters in 7, 8.9. In Triples calling any of the first five bells to make the bob as every opportunity comes round.

CONCLUSION

The impulse to compile these notes came after attending two eight-bell meetings recently and at both places Plain Bob Major was one of the nominated methods. At the first. the only calling used (apart from a plain course 'conducted' by the writer) were Wrong-Home-Wrong-Home tenor observation, and Wrong-Three Befores-Middle-Home. (N.B. -This last touch has two groups, each of five leads . . B P P B B . . having, if singles are substituted. eighty variations in all.) At the other meeting, as well as these touches, a more enterprising person called two singles Home, and later called the tenor to make three bobs. It is not a case of budding conductors being overawed by the eight bells, as several of the touches were called by experienced conductors. There were quite a few eminent conductors at a six-bell meeting not far away some fifteen months ago. Single Court was asked for five or six times. The tenor was called Out-In-Out-In every time.

OBITUARY  MR. ALBERT PARKER

The parish of St. James, Poolstock. Wigan, has lost an old and valued servant by the death of Mr. Albert Parker, on August 3rd. at the age of 76. Although in indifferent health he had been at work until the previous day, but sulfered a heart attack and passed away in a few hours.
Another month would have seen the completion of Albert's 56th year of service as a ringer: in addition he was a sidesman. member of the P.C.C. and diocesan representative. In all those years he missed very few times in spite of living far from the church, and latterly having trouble in climbing the tower steps.
He leaves a widow and two daughters to mourn a loss shared by a wide circle of friends in Wigan, where Albert was a keen Rugby League supporter. Truly can it be said of him. 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'
J. A.

CAPTAIN J. WATSON, C.A.

A quarter peal was rung at Blaydon-onTyne (see quarter peal page) to the memory of Captain John Watson, of the Church Army. who was well known for his youth work throughout the country. He was the first Scoutmaster of the Blaydon Boy Scouts, which he helped to form. along with the Rev. E. V. Simpkinson (then Rector).

NORTH BRADLEY, WILTS.-On Aug. 6th, 1.260 Grandsire Triples: R. Knight 1, P. Harding 2, A. Knight 3, F, Slatford (cond.) 4. R. Mitchell 5, L. Hitchens 6, E. Hitchens 7, G. Scharz 8. Rung halfmuftled in memoriam A. Roy Harding, by his Sunday service ringing friends at St. Nicholas'.

An attempt for a peal of Minor for the Clerical Guild at Mapledurham on August 8 at Mapledurham on August lost near the end of the 5 th 720 . Three of the band came from Kent-the Revs. J. T. Robbins, Peter N. Bond and Stanley Evans; two from Somerset-Roger Fry (conductor) and Christopher Marshall ; with Eric Wood, of Mapledurham.
After five years of silence ringing has been arranged at Kidderminster Parish Church on Sunday, September 8th, 5 to 6.30 p.m.
A peal attempt had to be abandoned at Chartham, Kent, on August 9th because the belfry lights were switched off by mischievous children.
Mr. George Cousins has been transferred from Hereford to Ross-on-Wye. His departure is a loss to the Hereford District as he has done a lot of work recently, especially in teaching young bands.

Will Mr. A. A. Paton, formerly of Minnetts Avenue, Bishop's Cleeve, send his address to Avenue, Bishop his copies of The Ringing World' are being returned marked 'Gone away.'

The band who rang the four bells at Graftham, Sussex, recently would like to record their appreciation of the cider and biscuits provided afterwards by the Rector and his wife.
With a recent peal of Cambridge Minor at Smarden. Kent, another generation of a famous ringing family has at last appeared in the peal columns. Having lost several attempts in her native county of Bucks. Miss Elizabeth Birmingham was successful at her first attempt in Kent. Perhaps a change of air did the trick?

Mr. Bryan Pattison was married ,to Miss Patricia Butter on August 3rd. An early congratulatory peal was rung at Brancepeth on June 26th. Mr. Pattison is leaving this month for India as a visiting Fellow on behalf of Durham University to the Tate Institute of Fundamental Research in order 10 do a nuclear physics experiment using cosmic radiation deep underground.

July 30th was a happy day for Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton when at Withington, Herefordshire he conducted the first peals of his two nephews, Kenneth (aged 15) and David (12). They received their instruction from Mr. Austin Wingate (Master of the Hereford Guild) and Mr. Geo. Cousins (Master of the Hereford District). The nephews are the sons of Mr. Moreton's sister, and their surname is different from Wilfrid's-Morton.
The Yorkshire Peal Week, published this week, was arranged by Mr. J. Martin Thorley, for three ringers from South Lincolnshire.

The peal rung at Blackmoor, Hants, on June 29th (see page 508) was rung for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.
The Rev. P. T. Robbins hopes to take up his new living, Charing with Little Chart, near Ashford. about the end of October. There are two rings of six in the parish.
The peal of Minor rung at Marden, Herefordshire, is the second of Minor on the bells. The last (Plain Bob) was rung in 1920, conducted by the late Charles Edwards, and rung half-muffled after the dedication of the war memorial.
We have now received the annual report of the Lancashire Association, which was not available at the time of the annual meeting. Details are given of the Association's 1,027 ringing members (new 145) and the 'wonderful' peal year for the Association in 1962, when 140 were rung, of which 34 per cent are Surprise. As usual the ringing calendar gives full details of all rings, practice nights and in some cases methods rung.
The carillon at St. Clement's Church, Ipswich, has heen repaired by volunteer labour over the past three years, and was rededicated at a service held on August 11th. It was the gift of the late Mr. Felix Cobbold in 1884. After serving for 36 years the diocesan authorities ruled that the tower was unsafe. The bells were hung 10 ft . lower-which made it necessary to wind the carillon twice daily, but it eventually gave up in 1952. Visitors can see the carillon working on Wednesdays at 2.50 or 5.50 p.m.

EBBW VALE WEDDING

The wedding took place at Christ Church. Ebbw Vale, on Augusi 10th. of Mr. Brian J. Wylde. of Totton. Southampton, and Miss Barbara Stephens, of Ebbw Vale. The Rev. Canon Oliver Davies and the Rev. H. Clarke officiated, and the organist was Mr. Ian Williams.

The bride. who was given away by her father (Master of Ebbw Vale ringers), wore a fulllength dress of parchment brocade, with shoul-der-length veil, and carried a spray of rosebuds and lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by her cousins-Mrs. Alan Evans and the Misses Jane and Carol Butler-who all wore long dresses of nectarine taffeta and carried sprays of rosebuds. The best man was Mr. Trevor Fairlamb, of Bridgwater, and the ushers were Mr, Alan Evans and Mr. Brian Werry, Ehbw Vale.

The reception was held in the Church Hall. where 65 relations and friends of both families met and expressed their good wishes to the happy couple. Amongst these were local ringers, A.Y.P.A. representatives and the Ringing Master (Mr. Nicholls) from Stourbridge. where Barbara had worked. and ringers and friends from Bridgwater, where Brian worked. and friends from the U.B.S.C.R.. of which both were members.

Ringing took place before and after the ceremony, and a peal of Surprise Major was rung in their honour during the afternoon by six members of U.B.S.C.R and two Llandaff and Monmouth Association friends. The couple are making their new home in Bridgwater.

TIGHTENING THOSE NUTS AND BOLTS

TTHE majority of steeplekeepers and ringers think that if they have a ring of bells hung on up-to-date principles with cast iron headstocks and frames bolted to rolled steel joists, they do not require to give them any attention except to lubricate the main bearings and sometimes shift a rope up or down an inch to distribute the wear. This is not the case, for nuts have a nasty habit of becoming slack.

For instance, old bells which have had their canons romoved and have been rehung on cast iron headstocks have a wooden pad fitted between the headstock and the crown of the bell, and no matter how well this fits the crown it will shrink, and therefore the nuts or the bolts which hold the bell to the headstock require tightening. The pad will form its own bearing on the usually roughish surface of the crown of the bell and while it is doing this the nuts are getting slack. Split pins are fitted to keep these nuts from coming off and they usually do so, but it must be remembered that split pins do not keep nuts tight as the shrinkage takes place.

The same remarks apply only more so, if the bell has a wooden headstock. Indeed, until recently at Long Eaton, the fourth bell relied on only one bolt to hold it to the headstock the others had become loose and fallen out. Care must be taken in tightening the headstock bolts to pull up all the bolts cqually. If one side is pulled up more than another there is a danger of the bell becoming false struck.

False struckness can be detected by measuring from cach side of the clapper bell to the point where it strikes the bell, taking care not to disturb the clapper whilst this is done. If the bell is not odd struck the measurements on each side will be equal.

The nuts and bolts which hold the two halves of the wheel together and fasten the wheel to the headstocks are often neglected. This means that the wheel becomes loose on the headstock and the lower half drops away from the upper. These nuts and bolts should be checked for tightness.

It is always best to tighten bolts during a spell of hot, dry weather. This is because under these conditions the wood will have shrunk by its greatest amount, and therefore loose bolts will be casy to detect, easily tightened and they will, of course, remain tight when the weather is more humid when the wood begins to swell again. It is casy to think that a nut is tight when it will turn no more, but this is not always so, for it may be rusted to the bolt: if so, it should be soaked with paraffin or penetrating oil and tightened later. A nut may also be screwed down to the end of its thread before it seats on its face, in which case the nut should be taken off and washers used to make up the space.

Where timber headstocks are fitted, special care must be paid to the four bolts at each end of the headstock which hold the gudgeon plates in position. These bolts must be kept tight, but there is a right and wrong way of doing this. When a bell is down, the natural tendency is for the bell to make the bearings tip down inwards. Thus the nuts furthest from the bearings should be tightened first and more so than the others in order to correct this fault. If these bolts become slack it leads to the bell 'going ' badly.
The nut holding the clapper in position is one which frequently becomes loose: if this is left to continue it leads to difficulty in shimming the bell during a rise and fall, the clapper rattles during ringing, and the bell can become difficult to strike correctly. More seriously, however, it wears away the threads on the nut and clapper retaining shank and eventually the clapper may fall out with the attendant possibility of damaging bells or fittings. When checking the clappers it is important to renew periodically the leather washer between the clapper and the crown of the bell. for it improves the tone of the hell and helps to keep the clapper nut tight-particularly so if the washer is softened in water before it is fitted.

PIPE'S PILGRIMS, 1963

Sunday, August 4th, dawned dull and damp as the advance guard of Pipe's Pilgrims left sleeping Grundisburgh with ' Lofty' at the wheel of a 41 -seater coach. After picking up at St. Paul's Cathedral and ringing at Wandsworth, the coach headed for Guildford for ringing at Holy Trinity and St. Nicolas'
T. W. White met the party and at short notice arranged for a pull on the anti-clockwise six at the ancient Church of St. Mary. The stragglers joined up with the main body here and ringing at Shalford and Haslemere completed the programme for Sunday. H.Q. for the tour was the Arun Hotel, Pulborough.
Monday saw a big improvement in the weather and that was maintained throughout the week. The route lay westward and included ringing in the five Hampshire 10 -bell towers. Alan Buswell met us at Portsmouth Cathedral and Canon Felstead was in attendance at St. Michael's, Southamoton, which was followed by ringing at St. Mary's. Tom and Elizabeth Chapman and Christopher joined the oarty at North Stoneham and the Rolls piloted the coach to Curdridge. where the full-throated eight were a big contrast 'o North Stoneham. Mr. Pipe's sister welcomed some thirsty souls to her home and provided cups of tea, which were much appreciated. After Shedfield came Fareham, where interest in the hells flagged in favour of the organ.

ISLE OF WIGHT

Orders for Tuesday: 7 a.m. start in order to board the ferry to the Isle of Wight. Ringing took place at Newport, Carisbrooke, Brading and Ryde, but some really keen ones chartered taxis to ring at Godshill and Arreton. Their search for a ring of bells at Sandown proved abortive.

First call on Wednesday was the ancient Church of All Saints, East Meon, where Dr and Mrs. Moore joined in the ringing and a young lady member of the local band was piloted through her first course of Triples. Ringing was curtailed somewhat at Alton owing to a funeral and the sound of Farnham bells brought Stella Hughes, of Walsall, to the tower. She was on a course at Farnham prior to leaving for Uganda and accompanied the pilgrims to the next lower, Godalming. At Cranleigh some members of the party viewed the bells as they were being rung to Bob Major. A noisy but impressive five minutes. The last tower of the day was Pulborough, where Len Stilwell's neat handwriting was noted in the peal hook. A quick run in Chichester Cathedral by the tireless ones earned them a null on the Cathedral hells.

An Thursday the route lay north and east, starting with Horsham. At Lower Beeding the ladies rang a touch of Bob Minor. Lingfield came next and at Edenbridge the eight hells were rung to call changes by seven ladies with Irvin Slack, suitably attired, on the tenor The tall tower of East Grinstead was next, with its light, spacious ringing room. It is customary to make a donation to the tower fund at all churches visited by the pilgrims and the donation at East Grinstead brought the figure given on the various tours up to $£ 250$. Balcombe and Slaugham eights ended the day's ringing.
The route lay again to the east on Friday with Henfield as the first tower, and Mr. G. Elphick was waiting at Lewes, where lunch had been kindly arranged in the Church Hall. The church and surroundings at Fairwarp bore testimony to the benevolence of the Eckstein family, also the solidly-built little school. now closed owing to the decline in the number of pupils. At Tunbridge Wells members of the Ladd family met the party and our organist-ringer officiated at the harmonium for an impromptu choir practice. Mr. F Hairs was in attendance at Withyham, and the final tower of the day was Coleman's Hatch, where the ladies, assisted by Irvin, again rang call changes.

IRVIN HONOURED

As this was the last evening of the pilgrimage. presentations were made to Mr , and Mrs. Pipe in appreciation of their work in arranging a grand week's lour under severe difficulties. The ladies presented Irvin with a certificate to mark his admission as a nonvoting, honorary member of the Ladies' Guild The nose of the coach was turned towards London on Saturday with a few less aboard. and Dorking was the first tower, followed by Reigate. At Godstone the Rev. K. Hoare (Rector) joined in a touch of Stedman Triples Due to a navigational error the last tower of the tour, Cudham, was approached across the fields and credit must be given to 'Lofty' for his patient mancuvring of a ligrge coach in a very small lane. A half-course of Cambridee Royal was rung on the light ten, and Bob Minor on the front six brought out the flutelike notes of the little bells. That concluded the ringing for the week. and it was London Bridge next stop, where a :nuch-depleted party remained in the coach for ths journey to Suffolk.

There were some familiar faces missing from this year's tour, notahly Mr. and Mrs. Barker and Roddy, while some new pilgrims were wel comed on their first tour. Ringers came from the counties of Bucks. Cambridge. Derby. Durham. Essex, Hertford, Leicester. Somerset, Suffolk. Wilts and Yorks. The standard of ringing was very good and some excellent music was heard from various towers but a few points were dropped in raising in peal here and there. The historian tells me that of the 40 towers visited, 15 of the rinos were by Taylors and 144 by Gillett and Johnston.

It was a combaratively easy week as there was no great weight of metal to contend with and very little climbing of stairs

To sum up: Good weather. good bells and ringing, good food and lodeings and good companions. Could one ask for more?

Our grateful thanks are extended to all who met us and those who in any way helned towards the tour's success. RODNEY

MIGHT BE 13th CENTURY BELL

Because the bell turret was unsafe, the only hell at Appleshaw Church, near Andover, was dismantled a dozen years ago, and it has since been rung from a rough wooden trestle in the open churchyard.

Quite recently, when rehanging was contemplated, Messrs. Taylors, of Loughborough, said that it was a sanctus bell of the 13 th century, if not of the 12 th century, with original chapter, headstock and ironwork. It bears neither date nor inscription, but its age is proved by the elongated shape and rough-cast canons, one of which is broken.

Canon K. W. H. Felstead. Rufal Dean of Southampton, endorses Messrs. Taylors opinion and writes that this may well be the oldest bell in Winchester Diocese. He adds a warning that if it was rehung the remaining canons might give, as is the usual end of ancient bells.
The Vicar and Council are delighted to have this relic of sacramental worshio here, perhaps 700 years ago, and only sorry to see it dumb in the nave, where it now stands Incidentally, they face the cxpense of replacing it and would be grateful to hear of any idle bell under a hundredweight which they might acquire.

CUCKFIELD AND AMERICA

On a pleasant summer evening four years ago. the sound of the bells at Cuckfield at to the tower. They were Dr. John Kirkpatrick, a professor at Cornell University, his wife and their son, David. The art of change ringing greatly interested them and the ringers of Cuckficld took much pleasure in explaining to them some of the principles of the Exercise.
It happened that David Kirkpatrick was about to go to the Kent School, where there is one of the very few rings of bells that are ringable in North America. Here was a coincidence indeed, and one in which both the ringers and their visitors delighted, for change ringing had been introduced to the Kent School some 50 years or so earlier by Isaac Attwater. who himself hisd learned to ring in Cuckfield tower.
Earlier this summer the Cornell Glee Clut visited England, 2nd among its members was Mr. Paul Lyon, chimesmaster of the Cornell Chimes. Guided by Dr. Kirkpatrick. Mr. Lyon duly arrived at Cuckfield during his visit bounding with enthusiasm for change ringing, and would not rest content until he had had his first lesson in controlling a bell. A cony of "The Rinsers" Handbook ' is now pursuing him back across the Atlantic, and Cuckfield hopes that Grandsire Triples and Treble Bob may yet ring out across the campus at Cornell.
Hard on the heels of Mr . Lyon came Dr Kirkpatrick on a return visit to England and eager to see his friends at Cuckfield again. He received a warm welcome and brought them the glad news that, encouraged by his visit four years ago, David has become an active member of the Kent School tower and has been appointed chairman (that is, captain) for the forthcoming year
Of the many American visitors to our shores, there can be few for whom bell ringing arouses more than the mildest interest. How happy a chance that the future cadtain of the Kent School band and his family should have happened to find themselves in Cuckfield on nractice night four years ago at the tower which first exported ringing to the United States over half a century ago.

ALL SAINTS', WANDSWORTH

The bells of Wandsworth Parish Church were rehung in 1956 by Messrs. Mears, but never went really well after that.

The local band at that time was quite good, but fell off badly in the next few years. As a result the bells were soon in a very biad state -wheels, ropes and bearings all being sadl: neglected. At last, in 1961. the tower was abandoned and the bells remained silent for two years.
Earlier this month a team of five ringers from Puiney and Wimbledon set to work in cleaning un the tower and doing some repair work. This took about ten days. the work including fixing an aluminium section on the broken tenor wheel, made by 78 -year-old Mr Edward Whitlock, one of the churchwardens who had taken interest in the work.
At last. on August 16 th. the full ring was ready for ringing and that evening the 16 cwt . ring was going to a quarter neal of Triples. which was rung in a very good time-45 minutes.

I hope to get a regular band going soon, and notice of a practice night should apnear in The Ringing World before long. I wish to thank all those who helncd with the work. and the churchwardens and Vicar for their support.
M. J. UPHILL.

LONG STAYS THEORY FOR ACCIDENT

From left to righs: (1) The fractured canon with four of the lugs damaged; (2) The gudgeon of the third resting on the frame: t.
(3) The bell repaired.

Late this spring the full eight bells at Marshfield, Monmouthshire. rang out again after five-bell ringing during the winter months. The cause of this was an unfortunate accident which occurred while ringing down after an evening practice last autumn.

The bells were on the way down when, to put it politely, a noise was heard in the bellchamber. When down, a hasty inspection was made, which revealed the gudgeons of the third resting on the frame. A more thorough examination was executed a few days later. This was when the true extent of the damage was brought to light-the broken canon. As can be seen from the photograph (1) four of the seven lugs had suffered.

A couple of theories were suggested by local ringers, but the most probable seems to be that of Mr. Frank A. White, of Appleton, who repaired the damage. This was that the stays of the third and fourth were of such a length that they could touch each other, as there is no cross-beam between the two bells to prevent this. It seems as if this is the most accurate explanation. The fourth, however remained unharmed, while the third received all the damage.

The captain of the neighbouring tower of St. Mellons. Mr. Reg Addis, recalled that there was a similar occurrence in the 1930 's, when the third was knocked out of its bearings hy the stays touching Fortunately, there was not so much damage then. The bells have been hanging in their present arrangement since they were increased to eight from a six in 1910.
The third photograph adequately expiains what was done in restoring the third, together with the headstock receiving a grey painting to complete the job.
The stay of the latter was shortened and a horter one was fitted to the fourth to remedy (it is hoped) a similar misfortune.
The moral of this is that if you have no cross-member between any of your bell-pitsbeware!

JOINT MEETING AT  WESTERHAM

A very successful joint meeting was held at Westerham between the Kent County Association (Tonbridge District) and the Southers Section of the Surrey Association. We were pleased to have visitors from Ilampshire. Herttordshire, London. Essex and the Lewisham Nistrict. A pleasant tea was enjoyed after a service conducted by the Rev. L. T. Burleigh. and ringing ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise.

OBITUARY

MR. C. T. WATTS

With sorrow, the Elloe Deaneries Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild report the death of Mr. C. T. Watts, captain of the ringers at Long Sutton, on August 11 th, at the age of 46.

- Clem,' as he was known to his friends, had heen a ringer at St. Mary's for over 30 years. Although in the past few years poor health had prevented him from taking an active part in ringing, he nevertheless attended all practices and services to encourage a young band whom he had taught.

The funeral service was on August 16th at Long Sutton, followed by cremation at Peterborough. In the evening the local band and members from other neighbouring towers came to ring the bells half-muffled and pay their respects to a dear friend so early taken from them.
It is indeed fitting that his ashes are to be buried in the garden of rest at the foot of the tower whose bells he loved to hear. The sympathy of his many friends goes to his mother and relatives in their bereavement.

MR. T. TAPLIN

For nearly 40 years a member of the Marlborough Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, Mr. Tom Taplin, of Collingbourne Kingston, died at Savernake Hospital on August 15 th at the comparatively early age of 55 years.
Tom was the youngest of three brothers, all of whom were taught to ring by their father. the late Mr. William R. Taplin, as soon as they were able to pull a rope. All three have faithfully formed part of St. Mary's band at Collingbourne Kingston since the early 1920 s. and Tom had also cared for the churchyard for many years. He was unmarried. Although not a change ringer. Tom had rung in several peals of Grandsire scored for the Guild, being a safe and reliable tenor man.
He was huried in his heloved churchyard on August 17th amid every sign of sympathy and respect. Half-muffled touches on the bells were rung by his fellow ringers as a last tribute to a man whose chief characteristics were faithfulness and utter dependability.

Striking Contest In S. & W. District

When John Sansom enthusiastically suggested at the District A.G.M. that we ought to hold a striking contest, i: was only rough justice that he should be given the iob of organising it. No one better. He wrote to all the bands of ringers in the district. Some never bothered to reply, but coming in the holiday season was the excuse others made for not attending the event. A pity, for Derek Fowles and Peter Woodgyer make visitors so welcome to Cranford that it is always a joy to go there, especially if there is time to also visit the Queen's Head (try it on Boxing Day)! .
There was a wedding at Hillingdon to be rung for and it delayed the arrival of this band and the opening of the contest. Noncontestants were thereby enabled to ring and contestants to warm up. Eventually Johnı was abie to ask the teams to draw for the order of ringing and the first team went up to the little ringing chamber. Beforehand, the judge (John Mayne) had been locked in the vestry, with Peter Woodgyer on guard at the door. Five bands competed and each rang 240 changes of whatever method thes chose. Three sang Grandsire Doubles and two Cambridge Minor. The styles of ringing were interesting to listen to. Most rang too carefully, so that what might be termed the natural or normal rhythm of these bells, a bit on the fast side, was not attained. The band that came nearest to doing so proved the ultimate winners of the contest. With Chris Fynes ringing 2-3 in this touch with his fascinating skill, it was only to be expected perhaps,
Cranford ringers, under their captain, had prepared an excellent tea for the 40 -odd ringers present, at which we had the pieasure of the company of the Rector. the Rev. Michael Dean, a great friend of ringers. Afterwards the judge delivered his verdict on the afternoon's ringing. The mixed band mentioned had least faults. with Cranford hand second. The others he kindly classed as also runs. As he did his job most conscientiously, as was to be expected, we will not mention the figures. It only goes to show how far we have to go for gerfection, surely the very reason for holding the contest. It was fun: it was interesting. It made us concentrate on the most important thing-our striking. It stimulated team interest.

Next year? Perhaps John Sansom will try again. He has our gratitude for trying at all.

Surprise Major Methods Publication

Dear Sir,-At the last Central Council meeting the Methods Committee were authorised to oublish & comprehensive list of Surprise Major methods, but I am not sure whether the list was to be of all methods rung to peals (perhaps 500 ) or of all the methods available (which I understand may be of the order of 5,000 ).
Whichever of these lists it is intended to oublish. 1 woula like to support my friend Gordon Halls in his suggestion to the committee that the publication should include details of lead incidence of internal falseness (tenors together) instead of F.C.H.'s only, and I ask the committee. Council members and anyone else interested to consider the following arguments in favour of this:-
(1).-The information is available to the committee.
(2).-It could be printed concisely, would require no additional space and the extra cost could be small.
(3).-The Central Council's money should be used to publish the maximum amount of information, consistent with economy, and not the bare minimum.
(4). -If the lead incidence of falseness is not published in this collection of methods it is doubtful if the information ever will be puhlished in the future.
(5).-The present system of puhlishing only the F.C.H.'s of methods is of minimal value and can be very misleading. A number of talse peals have been rung as a consequence of this.
(6).-One of the main arguments against publishing the lead incidence of falseness is that 'it is informative to the inexperienced composer to work it out for himself.' Whilst this may be true for 20 methods it is hardly instructive to repeat the exercise for each of the methods available which may be as many as 5,000 and taking between 10 and 20 minutes over each one. It is like asking a student to work out his own logarithm tables.
(7).--It is no argument to say that humbler ringers will not be able to understand the system. They can, if they wish, ignore the additional information but at least they will have the hint that there is more to internal falseness than F.C.H.s.
(8).-The information would enable composers to specify all methods for which their compositions are true.
(9).-The information would provide additional enjoyment to many composers. One may find that a composition designed for some particular method may, hy chance. be a real iewel in adolying to another method with very difficult falseness.
I can rec only one valid argument against publishing full falseness information and that is the additional work involved for the members of the Methods Committee or their collaborators. But these are men of great ability and industry and I am sure they would not shirk such a task.
May I, in conclusion, take the opportunity to express my appreciation of the work done hy the members of the Methods Committee and indeed of members of all other Central Council committees.-Yours faithfully.

Call Change Peals

Dear Sir.-It is always with interest that I read in "The Ringing World " of call change peals.
Is it not possible for one of the call change brethren to explain the theories behind these peals, and how they are conducted?

Perhaps an explanation might also be given as to what constitutes a ocal. The last 'peal ' ('Ringing World,' $16 / 8 / 63$, p. 556) consisted of 1,069 changes, which by 'scientific' standards does not even measure up to a quạter peal.-Yours sincerely,
S. K. A. HUSON

Peal of 8-Spliced at Cambridge

Dear Sir, -In reply to Mr. Peterson's answer to my letter of 8 th inst., which he considers, quite without foundation, to be the Cambridge answer to London University"s peal of Spliced at St. Neots. I take this opportunity of explaining his difficulty concerning our own peal of 8 -Spliced.

The place notations of the methods given as Bristol in 'The Ringing World' are as follows :-

Bristol (1)
$\times 58 \times 14.58 \times 58.36 .14 \times 14.58 .14 \times 18$. Bristol (2)
$\times 38 \times 14 \times 58 \times 16 \times 14 \times 38 \times 34 \times 18$.
During the ringing of the peal I referred to Bristol (2) at Rutland in order to avoid confusion.
If Mr. Peterson attends the Cambridge University Guild tour he will doubtless find an opportunity to suggest an official Cambridge answer to the St. Neots peal.-Yours faithfully,

Great Baddow, Essex

Duplication?

Dear Sir,-According to my records the figures published in the issue of August 2nd, 1963 , as Fairfield Surprise Major are the same as Gloucestershire Surprise Major and first rung to a peal in August, 1958. As none of the experts haye written in to query this method I wonder if my records are inaccurate.- Yours faithfully, A. W. T. CLEAVER.

Redland, Bristol.

ANOTHER YORKSHIRE FIVE PEALED

Following recent first peals at the five-bell towers of Meanwood. Rise and Roos, a peal of Doubles in eight methods has been rung at All Saints' Church, Wykeham, the only five. hell tower in the Northern District of the Yorkshire Association, and the only detached lower in Yorkshire holding a ring of usahle five bells.

Wykeham is a small farming village half-wav between Pickering and Scarborough. The bells are a Taylor ring, hung in a cramped rusty metal frame with the treble above the four and equipped with such fittings as the Hastings stay slider and ball hearings. The ringing chamber is rather small with a big clock-case obstructing the activities of the treble ringer, especially if the is a tall man.

The bells have a tendency to "drod' at intervals and some difficulty was encountered because of this during the peal. There is a local band but they do not meet to ring vers often and when they do they leave the front four bells up, lowering only the tenor. as it is the hour bell for the clock chime. M. K.

A RINGERS' CRICKET MATCH

A Visitor's Impression

A famous Lincolnshire song says: 'It's my delight, etc., ete., in the season of the year. I was, ir fact. in Lincolnshire on August 10th and my delight in the middle of the cricket season was to watch cricket, not between poachers, but between ringers. The tenthusiasm of Lincolnshire ringers in the tower is well known and this was equally matched on the field.

Let me describe what happened. There was a meadow complete with cattle at Edenham, midway between Spalding and Grantham. This was deserted one minute but the next saw it filled with cars and scooters approaching from all directions, all containing players and spectators. The fact that some players looked like spectators was of no account, here was enthusiasm and an eagerness to get down to business. The cadtains spun the coin, the plavers took the field. the spectators clapped and the annual match between Grantham ringers and Spalding ringers had begun. Grantham batting.

It would be difficult to describe each stroke: I suspect that John Arlott would have been stumped for words, also, but nevertheless the score began to mount up. At one stage the rules of Stedman intermingled with the rules of cricket, batsmen being 'In and Out Quick,' and when the last man was in the score was 39.

With a third consecutive victory in sight. the Spalding ringers took the field but after a steady beginning the same rule of Stedman anplied to Spalding until with the last man in the scores were level, and that is how the match ended-a tie! This was probably the most satisfactory result.
Approximately 100 people enjoyed an excellent rea in the Village Hall, and then followed ringing on the fine eight of St. Michael's, Edenham, the batsmen, the bowlers, the catchers (and the droppers !) and the spectators now in their more familiar roles as ringers.
Although I had to leave at this juncture, I understand that the ringing was followed by other activities connected with ringers, when no doubt next year's fixture was arranged.

OUTING

LUTON

For this year's outing, on July 6th, the Luton ringers, with guest ringers from Woburn. Maulden and Harpenden and a number of friends, visited the Winchester area.
On this typical English summer's day the non-ringers had rather a raw deal as, apart from the first two hours. it rained incessantly and therefore the usual sight-seeing was * out.
Not that one wishes to malign the English climate, of course, and one must admit that, once the foolball season is over, the weather is usually very fair (except during the cricket season!). The pleasant eight bells of St. Michael's. Basingstoke, took our minds off the weather to some extent, and after a good lunch at Winchester and a ring on the magnificent 12 at the Cathedral, no one seemed to care if it snowed!
Tea and further ringing were enjoyed at Andover, where the belfry is approached by a most remarkable stairway, and the last tower of the day was Wallingford-on-Thames-an excellent eight.

Sinzere thanks to the Dean of Winchester and the incumbents of Basingstoke. Andover and Wallingford for the privilege of ringing on their bells, and to the local ringers who so warmly welcomed us.

A LINCOLNSHIRE PRIORY CHURCH

By T. A. BEVIS

$D^{1}$EEPING ST. JAMES is a big Fen village situated on the borders of Lincolnshire and Northants. It is in reality a 'twin village. joining hands with Market Deeping, these places, with Deeping St. Nicholas, by their names reminding one of their location in the deep meadows which from time immemorial have been subjected to flood waters from nearby rivers.
Nearly 800 years ago Richard de Rulos embanked these parts, 'making them a garden of pleasure out of the very pits and bogs.' It is indeed a fertile area. the lands of which are steeped in legend
The Priory Church of St. James is the oldest of the Deeping edifices, Much can be written of its glories, but the writer must of necessity ignore its captivating Norman features and excellent examples of the varying periods of Gothic architecture, and activate his pen in praise of the bells contained in a tower which is comparatively new, dating from 1717 , adhering to the style of the Renaissance type of modern Gothic architecture
Prior to that year the church was confronted with frightening financial problems.

As was the custom in those days in such circumstances, when the burden was found to be too ponderous and quite beyond the means of a parish. the particular problem was represented to the local Quarter Sessions, seeking permission to allow collections to be nade in order to raise money
A petition of like nature proved nstrumental in helping St. James Church ..: being a large antient :hurch is become soe ruinous and decayed in severall parts of it varticularly the south aisle and ye iteeple which is rotten to the coundation. and some parts of it fallen down, and the other parts jecome very dangerous to the nhabitants (which are in number bout 800) when they resort to the ayd church for divine worshippe . within a few years last past nath cost the inhabitants of ye sayd parish above eight hundred pounds to keep it up ... and are not now able to repair ye sayd church any longer, which will cost neare as much money as will build it, the steeple being to be taken down to ye foundation, and the bells being already ordered to be removed to lighten the walls.
The Brief was successful and consequently the church was restored and the steeple rebuilt at a cost of $£ 1,10211 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d .-a considerable amount at that time.
The village has every reason to be proud of its bells. Indeed a ringer would be musically

St Joso Church, Deeping, Lincs a INSt: Foundry mark from the early Notts, Fandry ~
(12-0-3) is in memory of the benefactor's father, the Rev J N Cooper, born 1788, died 1864, who resided for many years at Deeping St. James.
Prior to its introduction to the furnace, the fourth (13-1-14) was the oldest bell in the steeple; in 1923 it received a new lease of life and Messrs. Taylor & Co. wisely retained the original inscription, and also the bell founder's mark (see inset illustration). It would appear the fourth was a product of the early Notts foundry, circa 1500, to which can be attributed the foundry mark and letters R.C.
Richard Seiyoake comes into mind when surveying this bell that founder having cast a bell for Croxton Kerrial, Leics, in 1529 , with an dentical mark. His father, John, was also a bell founder, and was Mayor of Nottingham, 1497-9, also in 1505-6.
Concerning the unusual cross and the letters R.C., North, in his book, states: 'It is found upon the curious little bell hanging on the top of the Guildhall, Lincoln, which bell was cast in the mayoralty of William Belle, 1371. The shield appears on other bells in company with other stamps from which it can fairity be assumed to come from an early Notts foundry carried on prior to 1600 by the Mellours, Quernbies and Oldfields.
The fifth and tenor remain untouched and weigh respectively 12 cwt .2 qr . 11 lb . and 16 cwt .3 qr . 22 lb . They were cast by Tobie Norris, a Stamford founder, who is not exactly famed for his ware. But here he excelled. Norris inicribed upon the fifth: NON SONO : ANIMABVS : MORTVORVM : SED: AVRIBVS VIVENTIVM : TOBIE NORRIS CAST ME, 1624; and the tenor is inscribed: IESVS : SPEED : ME NON : SONO : ANIMABVS : MORTVORVM : SED : AVRIBVS : VIVENTIVM : TOBIE NORRIS CAST ME, 1623

HORACE DAY

Approximately 40 peals have heen rung in the tower, the first in seven methods on November 17th. 1923, conducted by that well known exponent of bellinging, the late Horace M. Day, who died in 1961, at the age of 79 . Mr. Day

MEASVRE : CH : W : ALEX : RIGBY MADE : ME : 1704. It was found necessary THE PRIORY CHURCH OF ST. JAMES. to recast this bell in 1900, expenses being met by the late Rev. W. H. Cooper (a worthy benefactor to the church). 'IN MEMORY OF HIS WIFE. MARY COOPER. WHO WAS BORN $1827^{\circ}$ AND DIED 17 AUGUST, 1895. Also recast at the same time, the third bell had long been associated with the Deepings having rung at St. James since the end of the Frist World War. He also served as a chorister at Market Deeping and as a rule rang at that village on Sunday mornings, and at Deeping St. James in the evenings of the Sabbath. His peals had been scored on ten. eight and six bells, and he particularly excelled in conduzting (Continued on page 582)

THE SMITHS

THE STORY OF A RINGING FAMILY
By I. N. QUICK

YOUNG WILLIIAM'S PEAL
Do you think it would be possible to fix up a peal for me sometime. please, Mr. Smith? They were descending the belfry steps after the practice and although Joe could not see Young William's face he could detect the anxiety in his voice.
Strangely enough Joe's thoughts had been running on similar lines. He had mentioned the subject to William, senior, a few days previously.

I think it is about time that the young un was ringing a peal. If he will only master his College Exercise he can have a peal in seven methods.

Joe was a stickler for his seven methods. Rightly or wrongly he maintained that wherever possible each 720 in a peal should be in a different method. When it was pointed out that his first peal was Plain Bob Minor he shrugged his shoulders and said, "That was because old "Zac" was a peal grabber and not averse to increasing his peal total at my expense. I ought to have been made to wait until I was proficient enough to ring seven methods.

Phyllis often crossed swords with him on this point.

It is nothing but a chip on your shoulder. father. If everyone had to wait until he could ring seven methods some people would never ring a peal at all!'

With some ringers that I know. that wouldn't be such a tragedy!' A rejoinder which evoked a contemptuous snort from Phyllis.

- A peal of Minor in one method,' Joe went on, is like going a long distance in a train with the blinds drawn. You get there eventually, but the journey has bored you stiff because you have never had a change of scenery on the way!'

At least you do get there, which is, after all. better than not setting off. Maybe the scenery isn't all that it should be, but the blinds can be lifted by degrees. We can't all travel as luxuriously as we should wish, but surely the point is that we either travel or stagnate.'
"It depends upon what you mean by "travel." I don"t accept the dictum that peal ringing is necessarily travelling, although I grant you that in some cases it may be travelling downhill. If a young ringer is pushed through an indifferent peal he receives an impression that that is the acceptable standard-as well it might be for some ringers! "But surely: said John. who usually left these arguments to Phyllis, 'there is no guarantee that a 720 in seven methods is of a higher standard, if by a higher standard you mean a better struck peal with fewer mistakes, than one in a single method?

- A ringer who has practised sufficiently to be able to ring seven methods is a more mature ringer than a ringer who has learnt to ring only one. This is nothing to do with age. or the length of time he. or she. has been ringing.

I don't agree." replied Phyllis. "He may be more mature, but there are many excellent ringers who go through life ringing only one method. simply because they lack opportunity.'

Rubbish! You're getting confused between excellent people and excellent ringers. The person who. in spite of his deficiencies as a ringer turns up Sunday by Sunday in order that the bells may be used for the purpose for which they were intended is worth his weight in gold, but as a ringer he may be a perfect clod. If he is a born ringer of peal calibre type, he will find some means of increasing his own ringing vocabulary.

- So you would deny him the pleasure of a peal simply because he can ring only one method?'

The pleasure? The drudgery! No. I would encourage him to widen his interests and increase his store until he can ring a peal that is worth ringing. If peals of Bob Minor were as uninteresting for the conductor as they are for most of the remainder of the team. the number of peals of them which appear in "The Ringing World "would be considerably reduced!'
-I wonder!' mused Phyllis.
Young William's attempt was finally fixed up with a team that included Phyllis and John, and John Chappell. of Brigton, who had often intimated that he would like a peal at Hexworth, and consequently eagerly accepted Joe's invitation.

In the interim Young William buried his head in his notebook and memorised his music. A vacant look appeared in his eyes: he stared not at but through people as his lips moved in silent soliloquies. An expert lip reader would no doubt have been able to detect misterious incantatious such as, 'threefour places.' 'triple dodge,' "pass treble in 4-5, single lie double, and other apparently meaningless phrases. Each question addressed to him had to be thrice repeated and intelligent conversation was impossible.

His mother shook her head and sighed. confessing privately to Old William that she would be glad 'when the blooming peal was over !

The great day arrived, as all days will whether great or small, and at the appointed time. $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., the ringers met in the ringing chamber.
At least, five of them did: John Chappell was still to come. By 3.15 Joe began to grow anxious; it was not like John to be late. Nothing. felt Joe. was more disturbing before a peal than to be held up because someone was late. Ringers became restless and began to make mental estimates as to the duration of the peal and to perform corresponding calculations with regard to bus or train timetables or other sundry appointments of divers nature.
He knew of a ringer who invariably consulted his watch before a peal and made some remark such as: ' If we begin straight away we should be finished by 6.35 : I could catch the $6.45 \frac{3}{2}$ if I nip down the belfry smartly. It is, if one runs, about ten minutes' walk to the station!'

Such stipulations prior to a peal attempt were not exactly advantageous preludes.
By 3.20 p.m. a deep depression had settled over the ringing chamber.
In gloomy silence the church door banged and the ringers looked hopefully and expectantly at each other. A moment later the welcome sounds of footsteps echoed up the staircase.
Joe went quickly to the door and shouted down. Lock the door, please. and leave the key in the lock.
The noise of the grating key was smothered by sounds of preparation as coats. cardigans and similar garments were discarded and people moved across to their bells in anticipation.

But the person who came through the doorway was not John Chappell at all. Instead a young. pleasant-faced youth, with a mop of blonde wavy hair, advanced diffidently into the ringing chamber, Joe recognised him as one of the younger members of the Brigton team. John Chappell had mentioned that he showed great promise.
'Hello Tony,' said Joe.

- Good afternoon, Mr. Smith. Mr. Chappell is sorry. but he is unable to come : he's ever so disappointed. He was suddenly stricken at work this morning: the doctor's sent him to bed. I went around and tried to get someone to come in his place; there was nohody that could manage it.

Oh! thank you for trying anyway.
I thought perhaps that I-er-may be able to help you out.'
Joe stared at him.
'Thank you! What can you ring?"
He knew the answer, of course. before it came

- Only Plain Bob, I'm afraid. I've never rung in a peal attempt before.' He sounded

Perhaps you would prefer to have one of your own ringers in. Is there anyone handy whom you could ask? I am quite willing to stand down.
Only he knew what the offer cost him,
Joe again looked hard at him; he turned to Young William.

Do you mind if we change the peal to Plain Bob?

Not a bit.'
He sounded, Joe thought. more relieved than disappointed!

Then Plain Bob it is, said Joe.
And Plain Bob it was.
'What is more,' said Phyllis afterwards, - I enjoyed every minute of it. Both Tony Marchant and Young William rang as though they rang two peals every day before breakfast!'
'Yes, it wasn't a bad peal,' Joe admitted. I ve rung in worse.

Did you hear.' he went on, 'what young Tony said to me afterwards?'

No, what did he say?'
Joe chuckled.

- He said: : Your first peal was Plain Bob Minor. wasn't it, Mr. Smith? It's nice to think we both started the same way!"

50 YEARS AGO

' R.W.' August 22nd. 1913.-
A correspondent has sent us an account of a curious action which is taken in some Devon towers. The rope ends are cut so as to do away with the 'tuck' and leave the ringer with a single rope with a knot in the end. This has many disadvantages.

A single end is, of course, not at all comfortable for ringing and does not enable the ringer to get anything like the same grip. while there is, of course. no possibility of lengthening the rope for a short man, or when the weather causes it to shrink. In the course of a visit to some country towers our correspondent found that the cutting had been done in more than one belfry and he thinks the attention of the incumbents should be drawn to the absurd action, with a view to putting a stop to it.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The August meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Henlow on the 10 th inst. As it was an evening meeting there was no business meeting but arrangements were made to hold the next meeting at Maulden on September 14 th .
About 25 ringers met at Henlow, including visitors from the other Bedfordshire Districts and Hertfordshire. Mr. L. Bywaters was Ringing Master for the evening. Methods were varied and included the soecial methods for the day-Cumberland Bob and Durham Surprise.

LINCOLNSHIRE PRIORY CHURCH-Conİ.

Minor methods, notably Spliced Surprise ; he earnert rimelf a revutable name in this respect.

In 1936. Mr. Day conducted the then record peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 32 methods; and the present captain of the St. James' ringers. Mr. J. O. Landan, took part.
Mr. Landan has been a ringer at Deeping St. James all his life. Last year he and another member of the band, Mr. W. Clarke, completed 60 years at this tower, a creditable dual achievement.
Recently the need of recruits was realised and two popular ringers at St. James', Mr. J. Haw and his wife. Ruth, began teaching members of the Church Young People's Fellow: ship. with encouraging results. In this task Mr. and Mrs. Haw have the welcome assistance of Herbert and Frank Taylor. of Littleworth (the former a ringer at St. James ${ }^{\circ}$. and the latter captain of the team at Deeping St. Nicholas).
It is through this happy and agreeable association between the bellringers of the three Deepings that one of the finest Minor rings in the country is faithfully manned. ringing Sunday by Sunday, which is much appreciated by the village.

TYHILE eight ringers were churning out 40.320 Bob Major at Loughborough. members of Packwood & District band were wending their way down to Ashford, Kent, in glorious sunshine, which was to continue for most of their tour. A breakdown on the M 1 deprived one car-load of the privilege of ringing at Ware, in Hertfordshire. but Roydon. Essex, saw them united. Lewisham provided a London tower, and the party rang for a wedding: and it was here that the and District portion became augmented with the inclusion of Miss Alice Lester from Suffolk. Foots Cray, an obvious choice, provided the afternoon interlude before the party joined in the ringing at the Kent County Association meeting at Cudham. Here. Miss Yvonne Porter pricked up her ears at a few towers and added Cornwall to ' and District for the rest of the week, and proved to be very efficient (it overworked) at trebling up and down.

Sunday saw the party in Sussex. invading Rye after ringing at Iden in the afternoon and bathing in the sea. On Monday we rang on the eights round Faversham, where a long touch of Stedman Triples suited the bells very well. At Whitstable, the morning's programme told its tale and we did not do justice to this lovely little six. Chilham provided the hig test for our keyshound and Double Norwich was going in no time. Selling showed up the navigators as being suspect. and at Chartham a very keen band of young ringers joined us for call changes.

BAND AUGMENTED

Wye, the place but not the method, opened Tuesday's programme, which was spent around Canterbury. mainly on sixes, and this proved to be a wrong lead up to Grandsire Cinques at the Cathedral practice. Nevertheless. the hospitality extended by the Cathedral band was very much appreciated. We were very pleased that Cyril Beeching could join us for the day after meeting us at Petham. Richard

WARE, WYE, and HOO

Hough, who had previously made our acquaintance at l'ackwood. also joined us for the day, and also on Wednesday at Folkestone, where Bristol eluded us. Ipswich came round at Newington and again at Hothfield practice, where we were the only ones present.
Thursday opened with London Minor at Willesborough and a climb to the top of Aldington tower to survey the Romney Marsh -our area for the day. Double Norwich was tapped out at Appledore, and again on the magnificent eight at Lydd. where we also rang Cambridge Major. The detached campanile at Brookland was one of the four anti-clockwise towers of the day, but as it was remarked. after the din subsided. only three ropes were out of place! After working very hard on New Romney. we rang some Treble Bob at Burmarsh, with three local ringers, before going to Little Chart practice, where Nicholas Davies gave us an opportunity of thanking him for his excellent classification of towers, which made the organisation so much easier and the ringing so much more enjoyable.

For Friday onwards we were joined by three more ringers, so tens were the order of the day after two good rings of eight at Lenham and Harrietsham, where London was tapped round. Leeds was almost a pilgrimage. but no Bob Major was rung here: instead Cambridge Royal followed Grandsire Caters as it followed Stedman Caters at Maidstone. After lunch (Chinese, of course), Rochester Cathedral kept us on our toes, and Mr. Norris, who was also to meet us at Chatham, came via Hoo, which was to have been our third interrogative tower of the tour. Unfortunately interrogative wot to he. At Aylesford someone just happened to mention a six bell practice at Barming, where the local band made us very welcome.

SOME CIRCLE

After turning in Tenterden to Yorkshire and Goudhurst to London, we found our first Flowers' house and reacquainted ourselves with our local brew. There was no connection between this and the fact that during the afternoon one member completed the circle by ringing first without a slider and then without a clapper, having rung without a stay previously. It was with some trepidation that we ascended the next tower only to find a bell complete with headstock in the ringing chamber! When the navigators ultimately got us to Frittenden, the conductor eventually brought a good touch of Erin Triples round. The ringing ended with Warkworth and London at Smarden.

Sunday service ringing started at Ashford and Bethersden and finished with an attempted course of Biddenden Surprise at Biddenden. and a quarter peal of Norwich Surprise at Little Chart, with the late arrivals going to Canterbury. where St. Stephen's was added to the list after the Cathedral.

Sleepy navigators or sleeping drivers delayed our start at Tonbridge on August Monday, and we apologise to the young lady who met us. Dorking provided us with a new county and a fine hour's ringing, and an opportunity to nurse Mr. Cannon through a course of London. Yateley supplied the musical minded with a problem and the decision was the back seven of the light eight of a twelve. with something added and, as Mr. J. D. Faircloth says ('R.W.' page 516). the changes produce a certain amount of music when notes are anticipated.

Bristol eventually came round at Caversham, and the tour ended at Abingdon. where we were deprived of the tenor clapper.
Thank you, Kent, and thank you, Nick Davies. for directing us to some excellent rings of bells.

We have received from Mr . Sidney W. Smith, of Hobart, Tasmania, a letter expressing appreciation of Miss Shirley Rymer's good work in coaching beginners at St. David's Cathedral. She took part in a farewell quarter peal at the Cathedral on August 9th in which there were three 'firsts, and a presentation was made to her from St. David's Company.
The Rev. Roger O. Fry takes up his duties at Portishead on October 1 st.
Mr. John R. Mayne, despite his 716 peals, had not rung a peal of Stedman Caters until he met with success at Isleworth on August 12th.
The conductor sends his congratulations to K. Barry Osborne and Pamcta A. Osborne on their faultless ringing in their first attempt for a peal at Lyncham.
Some good work is being done at St George's. Newcastle upon Tyne. During Julv five members of the band rang their first quarter, all conducted by A. C. Bolton.
Mr. Roger V. Clarke, of Kirkburton, Yorks, had a profitable six months at Slough doing a sandwich course.' He came as a modest sixbell ringer and can noy ring several Surprise Major methods. His loyalty to the tower, especially on Sundays, was much appreciated. A farewell quarter of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung on August 181h.
Mr. Peter Bellamy-Knights, a ringing member of Stapleford and Sandiacre, has obtained an upper second class honours degree in mathematics at Leicester University. He is shortly going to India to teach for three years, after which he proposes to return to England to attend a theological college.

Making his first Pipe's Pilgrimage, a West Country reader writes: 'It proved most homely and enjovable. The company was good and the organisation excellent. It was nice to ring with a party where such a happy atmosphere was present, and where the company was not plagued with would-be tenor grabbers or bigheads!

Mr. T. Reginald Dennis, of Cambridge, participated in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on August 17th to honour his 80th birthday. He is truly the Grand Old Man, of the Cambridge District and in spite of his age a fairly constant peal ringer. In fact, he has rung more than 120 peals for the Ely Association since his 70th birthday. After the peal he entertained the band to tea and discussed the peals he wanted to ring in the future. Our congratulations.

The peal at Ratcliffe-on-the-Wreake, Leics, was the first by all the band on an anti-clockwise ring

Mr. Anthony R. Peake's band are in the news this week by a peal of Spliced Minor of 122 methods, which was rung it North Cerney, Glos, on August 14th.
Fourteen ringers shared in the ringing at St. Giles' Church. Newcastle, Staffs, for the wedding of Mr. Kenneth Cooke, local ringer, to Miss Dorothy White.

With a peal at St. Mary's. Barton-uponHumber, on August 13th, Mr. J. L. Millhouse has now rung peals on all ringable eights in Lincolnshire.
During a recent gathering of ringers, afterdinner talk was on the possibility of the extent of Caters. A popular Cheshire pealer listened with interest and then remarked: 'Should you consider the extent of Maximus, then I advise engaging Border for the tenor, as he will knock a year off !!!
When Mr. Frank H. Hicks' band met at Balcombe on Aug 17th they were two short. Eric Knapp was approached and he 'downed tools' to join in the ringing. Valerie Howard. who had come to listen. was persuaded to stand in and rang her first peal of Major.
Sole member of the choir at Hitcham. Suffolk. is Mr. Jack Sewell (82) and he has been singing there for 75 years. He is also verger, clerk, sexton and bellringer. His sister. Mrs. Saraly josing ( 80 ), is organist, a post she has held for 61 years. In his younger days Mr. Sewell was a keen bellringer and had rung in almost every tower in the county. He recalls that once he rang at St . Paul's, Bedford.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The Stow-on-the-Wold Branch embarked on a new venture on August 17th by holding the first of a series of evening branch ringing meetings at Bledington. The Rector (the Rev D. $R$. Dendy), in welcoming the company, wished the meeting every success.

Under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. A. W. Wright, of Bourton-on-the-Water, the following touches were rung: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. Bob Minor, Kent Treble Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise Minor

The ringing reached a high standard and the meeting was very successful. The arrangements were carried out by the secretary. Mr. L. C. Dowdeswell. of Stow-on-the-Wold.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The summer meeting of the North West Branch at Stratton was well aftended, with friends and visitors from Truro, Westleigh, Lancashire and Combe-Martin.

After tea, certificates were presented to D. Pearce, E. Worth and Miss S. Hambly, and thanks were proffered to those who prepared the tea.

Some enjoyable ringing took place at Kilhampton and Bridgerule in the evenings. methods rung being Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major, Kent. Yorkshire and Cambridge.

CORRECTIONS

PEALS AND WHY WE RING THEM

THE current correspondence about a recent 'peal' at Penn, Bucks, is clearly not ended yet, and it would not perhaps be fair for one not in the band to comment until all those intimately concerned have had ample chance to give their views. Though we believe that certain members of the band were taking steps before giving the matter publicity in these columns - it was Mr. Shedden's letter in the issue of August 9th which precipitated the publicity. The one amusing thing about it is that this letter was apparently triggered off by a letter in this paper of July 19th on a completely different subject, from the conductor of the Penn 'peal' himself, who used the expression 'beating even the peal columns for laughs.'
But whatever happens now the Peals Analysis Committee of the Central Council will in due course have to decide whether or not to include the 'peal' 'in their annual records, so let us and the band concerned see what that committee will have to consider.
The Peals Analysis Committee are under instructions from the Council to include in the analysis 'all peals which are rung in accordance with the Conditions required for Peals.' And those Conditions are specified in the Council's Handbook and require such things as that a true peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds, that visible aids are not permitted, etc. They also require that 'any objection which may be taken to a peal shall be raised in writing to the conductor and the Association at the earliest date.' We believe that this has been done in the case referred to. The Handbook includes an approved code dealing with both ordinary peals and record peals. For ordinary peals it is specified, inter alia:-
(a) That any shift or error in ringing be immediately corrected.
(b) That no call be made, or having been made, be altered or withdrawn later than during the change at which a call would probably take effect.
Further on it is specified that peals of Minor shall consist of 5,040 or more changes rung in (1) True and complete $720^{\prime}$ 's without interval between any two $720^{\prime}$ s and without rounds or any other row being struck more than once before the next change is made, etc.
These decisions have, of course, no legal force, but then neither have any of the normal practices or basic premises of change ringing, but in a democratic manner we, through our representatives, have made these rules for the better ordering of the Exercise and we, through our own local associations, have agreed to abide by them. So those responsible must ask themselves when claiming to have rung a peal-any peal-Was there a shift or error in the ringing? And if there was, was it corrected immediately? And it seems to us that this means immediately it happened and not immediately the conductor noticed it or immediately it was convenient to correct it. In a Minor peal attempt we were calling recently two bells changed over in a muddle. This was not certain until two or three leads had elapsed and if another trip had occurred with these same two bells they could well have been put right in all good faith. But, of course, a second trip did not occur, so when the part end came up 143256 instead of 142356, 'Stand' was the only thing to say.
And the next question to be asked is whether the 720 's were true and complete. That is, did they each contain 720 true changes, no more and no less, produced strictly in accordance with the rules of the method being rung? We would urge those concerned to consider these questions most carefully and at the same time to bear in mind the second part of the heading to this article.

Why do we ring peals? I don't mean for what special occasions-quarter peals would do that equally well, and might often be more acceptable in the vicinity of the tower. But why peals. For enjoyment? I wonder! Some of them are hard work, physically or mentally, or both. Some are just boring. Some are pleasant part of the time, but, if truth be told, how many of our peals have been three hours of undiluted pleasure and how seldom have we been sorry when 'That is all' 'was called?
It seems to us that we ring peals for much the same reason that other folk climb mountains. Because of the satisfying sense of achievement afterwards. And that sense of achievement is made to seen more real by the publication of the peal in our columns and in the association reports. But if there is any doubt about the validity of the peal. then what have we achieved? Nothing to be proud of, that is certain.
We must not forget that this sense of achievement is not necessarily associated with our own cleverness in ringing or calling a difficult peal. The presence in the band of a first pealer, especially a pupil of one's own, can make a peal well worth while -he will recall his first peal when we have long forgoten it. And it may be that a somewhat lower standard of striking - but not in truth - becomes acceptable when beginners are in the band. One is inclined to be more tolerant in such cases. But that clearly does not mean that we can depart from the conditions that have been laid down by our representatives and accepted by the Association of which we are loyal members.

UNIVERSITIES' ASSOCIATION TOUR

THHE Universities' Association of Change Ringers held their summer tour this year in Southern Hampshire. We were extremely well looked after at Foster Hall, City of Portsmouth Teachers' Training College.

Most of the ringers arrived on Friday, July 26 h , and during the evening crossed by ferry to join the practice at Alverstoke. Early the next morning eight set off to attempt a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Shedfield, while the remainder rang first at Soberton and then at Warnfield, where they were joired by more ringers, including the peal band who had unfortunately broken down after an hour of ringing. Everyone enjoyed this deep musical six, and various Plain and Surprise methods were rung. ending with ant amusing impromptu touch of Original.
Lunch, as on the subsequent week-days, was taken at a local hostelry. At Winchester Cathedral the ringing was rather cautiously limited to plain courses, although it was noted that the back bells sounded well in a touch of Grandsire Caters. We returned to Portsmouth via New Alresford and Ropley.

On Sunday morning we were all very pleased to hear of the successful record peal at Loughborough. We split into several groups to join in the service ringing at most of the nearby churches in the morning and evening. During the afternoon some enjoyed swimming and tennis and, as usual, there was a fair amount tennis and, as usual, there was a fair amount of handbell ringing, As it was so hot it was decided not to attempt any more peats, although a quarter was proposed and attempted at Ringwood on Monday afternoon. We all rang at Lyndhurst and Christchurch in the morning, but due to a slight misunderstanding those not in the quarter peal visited Bournemouth in two groups and nobody rang at both towers : we all met again at Brockenhurst on the way home.

COBWEBS BRUSHED AWAY
Bp Tuesday it seemed the cobwebs had been brushed away and at Havant, Petersfield, Liss, Privett, East Meon and Catherington we indulsed in a considerable variety of Surprise methods and excellent touches of the standard methods. Wednesday began with Corporate Communion at St. James', Milton. During the day we rang at Bishopstoke, Bitterne Park and North Stoneham, and we especially enjoyed Romsey Abbey and the two tens at Southampton.
We toured the Isle of Wight by motor coach the next day, ringing at Ryde and Brading in the morning. At Godshill, Brighstone and Freshwater we rang a fine selection of Minor methods, and the day was rounded off with a visit to Carisbrooke. On Friday we rang first at Wickham, Swanmore and Upham (a very pleasant six) and then on the fine old eight at Bishop's Waltham. At Fareham and Portsmouth Cathedral we were introduced to some interesting methods in which the progress of the treble was extremely limited. The afternoon's ringing wa most enjoyable and ended with a visit to St. Mary's, Portsea. After ringing at Hawkley and Alton (that fine deep eight) the party dispersed. Our thanks go to all those who helped in organising such a successful tour and to all the churches we visited for the use of their bells.

RINGERS' SUNDAY POPULAR AT KIRBY-LE-SOKEN
Bellringers' Sunday at Kirby Parish Church on July 14th attracted ringers from all parts of the county. Two ringing clergy-the Rev. G. Galley, of King's Lynn, and the Rev. J. Tredennick, of Lambeth-preached at Matins and Evensong respectively, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett represented the Central Council.

The programme began with Holy Communion at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and the bells were rung before and after the service. Then the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Thomas joined more than 50 ringers for breakfast in the Church Hall, prepared by relatives of the local ringers.
A wide variety of methods was rung before Matins, and during the service lessons were read by Mr. Barnett and Mr. W. Ayre. Instead of the enthem handbells were rung hy Mr. and Mrs. Barnett, Mr. Ayre and Mr. Bernard Fairhead.
The bells were rung for one and a half hours before Evensong, and the handbells again during the service by local ringers, viz.: Mr Maurice Downs, Mr. E. B. Smith (Vicar's warden), Mr. Urban Wildney (tower captain) and Mr. Frank Lufkin (Ringing Master), who organised the day's proceedines. Lessons were read hy Mr. E. Roast and Mr. Lufkin.
At the invitation of the Vicar and his wife, ringers, choir and congregation joined for a social meeting in the Hall, and the Danbury Singers (six vocalists and an accompanist, who are all bellringers) provided an enjoyable halfhour's entertainment.

FAREWELL TO MR. A. HARMAN

Mr. and Mrs Harman, of Beare Green, Suriey, are to move to the Isle of Wight later this year. The Capel ringers arranged a farewell for August 10th and invited many of Mr . Harman's ringing friends to share in the tea and ringing, although he expects to contimue ringing at Capel until his new home has heen completed. The best wishes of the gathering which included Mr. Appse (Cackfield). Mr. Buls (Hawley), Mr. Checsman (Banstead) and the Rector, were sent to Mrs. Harman, who was not well enough to be present. Saveral of Mr. Harman's friends present. Saveral of Mr . Harmante to be present through holidays and illness.
A splendid tea was prepared in the Memorial Hall by Mrs. Penfold and her helpers and the tables were decorated with magnificent chrysanthemums from Greenway. The Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was requested to present Mr. Harman with a farewell present from the Capel ringers and another for Mrs. Harman. Before doing so, Mr. D. May sooke of the loss which would be suffered not only by Capel but also by Surrey ringers and ringing in general. He referred to the work and achievements of Mr. Harman whilst he had lived in Surrey and more particularly during his 15. years as Master of the Guildford Dlocesen Guild. Mr. Johnson. Master of the Sussex County Association, said how much he would be missed in Sussex.
In reply, Mr. Harman thanked those who had spoken about him. and his friends at Capel for the gifts. He said that he had always done his best for ringing wherever he had been and would continue to do so.
After thanking Mrs. Penfold, the company adjourned to the tower, where ringing, interspersed with reminiscences, was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening. D.A.R.M.

ESSEX JUNIORS' OUTING

Junior members from five towers-Harwich, Kirby, Mistles, Great Holland and St. Leonard's. Colchester-joined for an outing into Suffolk, on Aug. 19th. They were accompanied by senior members and rang at Rushmere. Wenhaston (where they had lunch). Blytheburgh, Leiston (where they stopped for tea). Aldeburgh and Ufford. The outing was arranged by Mr. Urban Wildney, towermaster of Kirby

'SYLVIA'S STEDMAN CINQUOPATORS'

On Saturday, July 27th, the embers of the last few chords of 'The B.B.C. Northern Ireland Light Orchestra; (conducted by Arthur Anton) had hardly died away when a sleepy band of local belliringers left Brentwood just in time 10 catch the morning rush in the Mile End Road. Some talented map reading by Phil carried us into the Poplar regions of the East End and swept us through the pipe at Rotherhithe and up into the backyard of Britain.
Erith was our first stop, where we were an hour late caused both by traffic delays and through being sent round the town twice by the police, who did not appear to realise that St. John the Baptist was C. of E. However, we were greeted by the Vicar. As time was short we only ring rounds in two methods.
The oldest church visited was that of SS. Peter and Paul. Swanscombe, which has a preConquest tower. The first touch of Stedman was among the best of the day's ringing and was conducted by Mike, our oldest ringer
Hoo was visited next. Our most select ringers caught hold and the tape recorder was set in motion to capture a touch of Orpheus on this heavy six. The recording resulted in 34 rounds being rang, presumably while th method was being discussed and abandoned then the rounds changed to Bob Minor. Thr furst few rounds preceding the next touch sounded yery strange until Sonia happened to notice that the ropes fell the other way round i

Rochester Cathedral's beautiful bells responded to our short touch of Stedman Triples but most of us were quite happy to ring some of Peter's pretty call changes. We finished the stay here with some Grandsire Caters. Breaktime, so we stopped at Sole Street for a picnic.

The next ringing was in the ears of the nccupants of the Bedford Minibus when it backfired and blew a huge hole in the silencer We then crackled our way into the picturesque village of Cobham. Because of some excellent conducting there were nn Grandsire troubles here, but the ringer of the fourth could not stand it ! Plain Bob and Kent rang out and then Oxford and Cambridge came last. We took our time in ringing the bells down. the best lower of the day. At Meopham some lovelv Stedman Triples were rung.

The unsilenced Bedford echoed northwards through the Blackwall tunnel towards St. Mary's, Bow Road. Knowing that the extent of Bob Majol was to be attempted this same day at Loughborough, we limited our ringija here to Stedman Triples. How the cups must rattle in the skyscraper fiats across the street.
Sylvia refuses to let her party eat the traditional bell-outing cold salad: this year's feast was a chowmin meal in a Chinese nosh-shop at Stratford Broadway. Most of the party were English and used knives and forks, hut Peter, who comes from Prittlewell, created much mirth. with his frantic endeavours to control a pair of Oriental noodle needles.
Now that the church bells and ringers' bellies have settled down, we must thank the clerg: and local ringers for letting us ring their bells: Phil, Mike and Jim for most of the conducting: and Sylvia Hayward for the faultless manner in which she organised and ran the day's outing.

AN ARCHBISHOP ENTHRONED IN AUSTRALIA

For the enthronement of the new Archbishop of Perth, Western Australia, the ringers took a prominent part on August 12th. The Cathedral band, which is nearing the end of its second year, rang call changes, Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles for 30 minutes before the service.
A new feature took place when the Archbishop knocked three times on the Cathedral door by the bells being : fired three times. At the end of the service the Archbishop emerged from the Cathedral exactly as the ringers pulled off again. He formally blessed the city of Perth as the bells were rung to Queens. No less than 14 ringers took part and the ringing was noted for careful striking. - Perhaps we shall be ringing Stedman Triples for our next Archbishop, hopefully comments our correspondent.

MY AMERICAN TDUR  By FREDERICK SHARPE

FRROM the time I landed at New York, every moment was fully occupied. Most of my journeys and visits were pre-planned by members of the A.G.E.H.R., who seemed determined to crowd two days into each one. I was met on the pier by Mr. James Lawson, whom I have already mentioned, and Mrs. Watson (Doris Watson), the author of "The Handbell Choir " and whose published handbell music is well known. They constituted an official reception committee, took me out to dinner and after a long discussion on bells and music I left for Washington. Here 1 was met by Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Tufts and driven to their home, some 20 miles from the city. It is beautifully situated in wooded country on the bank of the Potomac River, which is one and a quarter miles wide at this point.
My first day in Washington was almost entirely taken up with appointments. Mr. Tufts had arranged for me to visit the British Embassy, and appointments were made with the Bishop of Washington and the architect of Washington Cathedral, Mr. J. Frohman. who spent the whole day showing me round this most beautiful building, the best modern Gothic work I have seen, and discussing the bell installation. The tower is not yet completed, but the ring of ten, cast at the Whitechapel Foundry. London, has been hoisted to the bell chamber. The frame and gear are there also, awaiting erection. Meanwhile the carillon of 53 bells, with a bourdon bell of $10 \frac{3}{4}$ tons, was in process of being hoisted and the erection of the carillon frame had begun. To achieve this, scaffolding had been erected on top of the ridge of the north transept: the bells were raised at the north-west angle of the building and conveyed over the roof to the huge central tower. During the next few days my hosts took me to see many famous buildings in the city: The White House. Capitol. Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials and most of the public buildings. libraries and museums. Among them was the Folger Shakespeare Library, where I had assisted some years ago in designing the bells and their gear for the replica of the Globe Theatre. There were also visits to two famous carillons. with special permission to play them-a privilege not often granted. These were at the Netherlands Memorial in Arlington Park. where there is a carillon of 47 bells. cast by three Dutch founders (Messrs. H. T. and A. H. Van Bergen. Mr. E. Eijbouts and Messrs. Petit and Fritsen). and at the Taft Memorial Tower at the Capitol. where there is a carillon of 37 bells by Messrs. Pacard. I preferred the latter and found the French bells more like our English ones. One of my last duties in Washington

a visit to Luray. The journey there lay over the Blue Ridge Mountains, with the wonderful Sky-Line Drive extending over 100 miles along the top, with delightful views of the Shenandoah National Park. Luray is famous for it extensive underground caverns and its carillon of 47 bells by Taylor, with a bourdon of 64 cwt . Mr. Tufts introduced me to the carillonneur, Mr. Charles Chapman, who gave a delightful recital, and allowed me also to perform on his clavier.

After the Convention in Detroit I was the guest of Professor Percival Price, the famous carillonneur, campanologist and author, at Ann Arbon University. The time here was spent in research and discussing bells of all nations with Dr. Price. This was interspersed with bathing in the Michigan Lakes, with the temperature at over 100 most of the time
Here is another Taylor carillon of 47 vells, with a bourdon of $10 \frac{3}{2}$ tons, which 1 heard played most beautifully by Professor Price and some of his students. and once again was privileged to use the clavier. My journey back to New York was by way of Canada.
The last few days_in New York were one long hectic rush. I was the guest of Mr. James Lawson. the celebrated carillonneur of Riverside Drive Church. Here I was shown the great interdenominational Church Centre. founded by Mr. Rockefeller, the great carillon, the largest in the world, containing 74 bells, with a bourdon of $18 \frac{1}{4}$ tons. Fortunately my visit coincided with one of Mr. Lawson's noted recitals. The largest 16 bells here are by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the remainder are by the Dutch founder, Van Bergen. Mr Lawson arranged for me to visit the New York Cathedral. the United Nations Building, St. John's Church, the Empire State Building and many others. I was taken to lunch on skyscrapers and to visit the famous Radio Cit: Music Hall. the world's largest theatre. I returned to the 'Queen Elizaheth comoletely exhausted, but would not have missed the experience for anything. No one could have shown me greater kindness or more generous hospitality than my friends of the A.G.E.H.R, the work. Here I hąd the privilege and pleasure of being conducted round the more important buildings by the city architect, and was also asked to inspect and report on the bell in the Parish Church. I was taken to Jamestown, where the first settlers landed in 1607, and shown the replicas of the three original ships, which brought the colonists from England, the reconstructed stockaded settlement and the ruins of the old church.
Space, or lack of it, prevents me from describing visits to Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington, Alexandria, Richmond and its carillon, Georgetown and Fort Washington, but mention must briefly be made of

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Although numbers were not great, towers were well represented at the Mansfield District meeting held at Selston on July 27th. Members and visiting friends enjoyed a variety of methods on the very pleasant six. The service at 4.30 p.m. was followed by tea and a shor! business meeting, during which a moment's silence was observed in token of respect to the late Mr. Wilson Dobb, who for many years was a ringer and verger at St. Helen's. Next meeting. Warsop. September 28 th.

Letters to the Editor

Long Length of Rutland Attempt

Dear Sir,-An attempt to ring 11,520 Rutland Surprise Major will be made on Saturday, September 14 th, at Norbury, Hazel Grove, Cheshire, commencing at 2.30 p.m.
The composition to be used is as below:-

Place Notation in New Methods

Dear Sir,-I am at a loss to understand why David Taylor considers it trivial to expect a a method to be named correctly! In the report of the peal in question the name is given as Vermouth, and I think any band who wished to ring it (assuming they are able to decipher the place notation) would use this name. However, the point of my letter was not the name but the notation-I contend that notations should be published in a way intelligible to e;eryone.
I still cannot make anything of the notation given on page 370 ; row 2 could be either 56 or 58 ; row 4,16 or 56 ; row 8,36 or 38

I happen to know that LE B means 2nds 1573 as new methods are set out in the Lincoln Guild report in this manner, but where is this information available to any ringer?
My letter was intended to be constructive and I resent the tone of David's letter, especially the first two paragraphs; I consider it the duty of a conductor or composer to correct any mistakes himself.
I hope interested readers will comment on the merits of both types of notation. - Sincerely yours,

Kensington, S.W.

Quality Wanted in Peals

Dear Sir,-Regarding recent correspondence concerning the quality of some peals published in the columns of 'The Ringing World,' may I suggest that the Editor publishes in ' The Ringing World,' in full, the rules and regulations governing peal ringing so that some of the younger (?) conductors will know exactly the standard required before they attempt to call one?
Very few peals are perfect, and I'm sure no one expects perfection from a 'first pealer,' but this doesn't mean to say that you can just bash on for about three hours absolutely regardless and then call it a peal. It's the quality that counts every time! If more peal attempts were stopped because of the poor standard the ringing would improve Until then peals of rubbish will continue to be entered and a higher standard will not be expected or achieved.
Full marks to Howard Oglesby for his admission ('Ringing World,' page 564). Perhaps some others may be prompted to follow suit? -Yours sincerely,

WILFRED W. RING.

The Penn Peal Attempt

Dear Sir,-As Mr. Giles B. Thompson still appears to have no intention of withdrawing the Penn 'peal' I feel I have no alternative but to ask you to publish the reason why the other members of the band have not included it in their peal records.

It was the sixth extent, which was Plain Bob, and should have been called as follows:-

| :--- | :--- |
| 42356 | 5 |
| 42563 | 1 |
| 54263 | 5 |
| 25463 | 5 |
| 25634 | 1 |
| 62534 | 5 |
| 56234 | 5 |
| S 4326 | 3 |
| 24356 | 5 |
| 24563 | 1 |
| 52463 | 5 |
| 45263 | 5 |
| 45632 | 1 |
| 64532 | $5 *$ |
| 56432 | 5 |

*32456 occurs at a plain
lead two leads on from here.
I was not following the calling meself, but these figures have been supplied to me hy Mr. William Birmingham, who was doing so.

I was contenting myself with noting the positions of the front bells when the fifth and tenor were dodging together at the back and imagine my surprise when the change 132456 came uo for the second time, first at a plain lead, and ther at a bob lead.
On comparing notes later, Mr. Birmingham's observations revealed that instead of having a single at the end of the extent we in fact had:

thus confirming mv observations.
Incidentally, this 'extent' took 27 minutes, whereas the first extent took only 25 minutes. The inference in Mr. Thompson's letter that he had difficulty in keeping the coursing order straight with a band of conductors is quite fallacious: in fact we had to put him right on more than one occasion.-Yours faithfulls,

HOWARD OGLESBY.
Hitcham, Bucks.

Why Not Call Stand?

Dear Sir,-I feel that I must write in reply to Mr. Howard Oglesby's letter ('Ringing World.' page 564) concerning the peal at Penn on May 1lth. Not knowing the circumstances under which this deal was rung, it is impossible to pass an opinion as to its validity. However, it seems that there is some argument about its merit, and Mr. Oglesby and two of his friends saw fit to omit it from their peal records.

Surely if the standard of ringing was as bad as this suggests. at least one of these three ringers (the ringing leader. perhaps?) should have thought fit to stand his bell.-Yours faithfully,

ANTHONY H. SMITH.
Biggleswade

Peal at Chesterfield

Dear Sir ,-With reference to the question raised about the recent peal, I should like to explain that it was the culmination and fulfilment of a promise made some 18 montbs before the fire, which obviously postponed activities. The arrangements were made by me, with the full knowledge and agreement of the retiring Archdeacon and also of the priest-incharge, and the peal band was only 100 pleased to accept my invitation.
As regards the future, our own band will, I hope, carry out the ringing on the occasion of the installation of the new Archdeacon, a privilege we have earned after ringing for ser vice for more than 18 months under frightful conditions of extreme cold, dirt and discomfort.

If a peal is rung, I shall arrange it without asking permission or advice from any local body or organisation. I regard the reference to Mongolia as in very bad taste. -- Yours sincerely,

'Have Now, Pay Later

Dear Sir,-I must record my agreement with N. J. Davies (page 564) in the matter of Bell Funds. I. too. agree that a fund for the repair of bells is a must for every tower, whether their bells are in good order or not. The reluctance of many ringers to pay a reasonably adequate sum for their own enjoyment and satisfaction in ringing is an extension of the practice which is fast hecoming a nationwide pastime-- Have now, pay later.
The unfortunate aspect of our narticular debit side is that we may not be called upon to Day in our own lifetime, and the earnest and most praiseworthy efforts of many ringers in teaching and extending their knowledge to the younger generation may well be nullified to marked extent by the inability of those same youngsters to ring what could eventually be unringable bells.
I have heard arguments that as the maintenance and repair of bells is the duty of the P.C.C. concerned. this in some way absolves ringers from taking any action in the matter. I am aware that many P.C.C.'s have bell funds and that many ringers contribute -but there are many who do not.

We can always find a reason for justifying our actions or our non-participation in any Darticular effort, but whatever the excuse may be, it can surely never be a valid one if it results ultimately in what is tantamount to selfishness. It is surely better to announce that we do not wish to subscribe to this particular cause than make hosts of excuses and raise myriad difficulties. If we really want to help by Daying we shall find that nobody will actively protest !-Yours, etc..

Farmborongh, som.

Sunday Morning Ringing

Dear Sir,-I note the reference to newly silent towers in the leading article of "The Ringing World' for August 23 rd. It occurs to me that a large proportion of these may be due to the respective parsons following the current trend for the main morning service to be held earlier. It is obviously more difficult to obtain a band to ring for a service at 9 or $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Sunday than for a service at 10.45 or $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Once the "rot' has set into the morning ringing it very soon spreads to the evening.-Yours faithfully.

A GUILDFORD DIAMOND WEDDING

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hazelden, of 109, Grange Road, Guildford. who celebrated their diamond wedding last Tuesday. Mr. Hazelden is convener of the Biographies Committee of the Central Council and librarian of the Guildford Guild.
Their peals include first on tower bells by four married couples in 1920 (others being Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs and Mrs. J. Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs and Mr. and Mrs. R. Whittington); first peal by ringers all celebrating their silver wedding in ringers an celebraring theldes was the only lady; on December 9 th; 1933, the same band rang another peal to mark the 30th anniversarv and consisted of Mrs. Hazelden, J. S. Goldsmith (conductor), John Beams, C. Hazelden. J. Hoyle. Charles Greenwood, William Pasmore and Joseph Hawkins. Arrangements were made to attempt a 35 th anniversary peal but the death of Mrs. Goldsmith not long before the date of the peal broke up the happy circle.

They have rung peals together in the four standard methods on eight and ten bells, also Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise. Mrs. Hazelden, who commenced to ring in 1913, inaugurated the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild, of which she was first secretary. Mr. Hazelden started ringing on Kent in 1897 and came to Guildford in 1901. He has had a long association with St. Nicolas' Society of Bellringers and served the Guildford Guild faithfully as District secretary for many years.

WHAT IS 'SOUTING'?

Sir, - I have been asked to explain a use of church bells called 'Souting,' of which I have never heard. My correspondent understands that it was ' the tolling of bells on All Saints' (or All Souls') Day by or on behalf of poor people asking for cakes.' If any member of the Exercise has heard of or knows anv instance of this custom being observed, or when it was discontinued, I should be glad to reccive information.

NOTABLE OCCASION AT STOTFOLD

On Sunday, August 18th, after a lapse of ten years, a full peal was rung on the fine bells of St. Mary's, Stotfold, the result of over a year's hard ©ork by Messrs. P. Mehew and M. D. Staniforth in training a new band of ringers. The peal, the seventh on the bells, was rung within the octave of the Patronal Festival, the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and the method chosen was Cambridge Surprise Minor. Audrey, Alexander and David Saunderson, the star' young members of the Stotfold band, together with their friend, Verna Rix (an equally keen member of the Arlesey band), are to be congratulated for ringing so well in the oeal. Although the local band have been capable of ringing Cambridge for some time, two members were unable to ring, and Verna Rix and George Thoday are warmly thanked for standing in on this special yet sad occasion.
The sense of achievement was tinged with sadness because the peal was arranged and rung as a farewell to the deputy tower captain and his wife. Both Michael and Margaret Staniforth are well known and liked in the village, where they have taught for over three years at Etonbury and St. Mary's Schools respectively. Philip Mchew, the tower captain, in paying an unreserved tribute to Michael for his unfailing and invaluable assistance in training the band, gives grateful thanks to Michael and Margaret (and Alison and Helen!) for their wonderful friendship. The peal was rung prior to Exensong. and during the service the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. H. Bullock) expressed the warm appreciation of the church and parish for all they had done during their time in Stotfold and wished them Godspeed in their new life in York.
Coincidentally, the first hymn was Nor 450 , and it was Philip Mehew's 450th peal! He would also like to pay compliments to that grand old gentleman of ringing, T. Reginald Dennis, who celebrated his 80th birthday on that day in Cambridge.

Bingham District

Because of the many activities in Hickling on August 10 th the Bingham District meeting at the Parish Church started with a service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. L. T. P. Harwood). Mrs. Harwood arranged tea at the Vicarage, which was enjoyed by 35 members. Ten towers were represented and $£ 1$ collected for the Bell Repair Fund. Joan Challenor, of Bingham, was elected a member.
Future activities include a joint meeting with Melton District. September 14th: Crawford Cup Final, Radelifte, September 7th; Holme Pierrepont, October 12th. It was provisionallv agreed to hold a dinner at Whatton on December 13th.

Ringing continued during the evening at Hickling and Long Clawson until 8.30 p.m., numbers having increased to over 60 one will always remember him for his quiet walks to and from the church he loved, his walking stick and pipe his inseparable companions.

The funeral service at St. Leonard's was fully choral and attended by representatives of many village organisations and all the local band of ringers. Representing the Worcestershire Association were Mrs. A. Thomas and Mr. Ass. J. Brazier (present and past Branch Masters) and Mr. J. D. Johnson (vice-presidentl. Immediately after the service a halfmuffled quarter peal was rung by the local band.

OBITUARY  PREB H. S. URCH

The death occurred suddenly at his home on August 19th of Prebendary H. S. Uuch, who was Rector of Backwell, Somerset, from 1930 to 1950. Although officially retired at Weston-super-Mare, Preb. Urch was in great demand in the area and was taking services on the day before he died. He was a man of outstanding ability as a parish priest, being greatly loved by all his people.
He is remembered especially as a ringer, and among his achievements was the augmentation of Backwell bells from six to eight in 1938.
At the funeral service at St. Andrew's, Backwell, a large and representative company paid their last respects, and the committal was conducted by the Bishop of Taunton.
An extended quarter peal of 1,740 Doubles (Grandsire and Plain Bob) was rung halfmuffled on the back six by: W. P. Blake 1, T. G. Phillips 2, L. Derrick (cond.) 3, C. Kortright 4, J. Brain 5, W. J. Lott 6.
To his widow and members of the family we extend our heartfelt sympathy in their loss.
J. B.

Mr. L. H. JONES

The funeral of Mr. Lennard H. Jones, Monmouth, took place on Monday, August 19th. He had been tower captain at St. Mary's, Monmouth, for many years and before being prevented by ill-healih had heen a very keen and active ringer.
He was a member of hoth the Llandaff and Monmouth and the Gloucester and Bristol Associations. He had a particular interest in the South Forest Branch, of which he had been chairman for many years.
Mr. Jones always showed great kindness to learners, and in the towers around Monmouth he will be greatly missed.

He carried on the family business of undertaker and builders' merchant, which had been started in Monmouth by his father, who had also been tower captain at Monmouth. A widow and son are bereaved.
After the funeral service touckes of Grandsire Triples were rung on Monmouth bells by the Rey. Ivor Richards, Rural Dean of Raglan, and the Rev. Roy Hallett, Vicar of Caldicot, and other ringers representing towers in both the South Forest area and the Diocese of Monmouth. These bells were also rung half-muffled later in the week by Monmouth ringers and other close friends of Mr. Jones from Staunton and nearby tdwers. J. S. K.

MR. JOHN C. PERKINS

The death of Mr. John C. Perkins on Julv 28 th, at the age of 84 , severs the last link of the Perkins family with the belfry of St. Leonard's, Bretforton, Worcestershire, a link which has extended for 150 years, when the original six were first hung in the tower.
It was in 1893 that Jack, then a lad of 15 , first took his place with his father and brother in ringing out the Old Year, and until his eyesight began to fail a few years ago he faithfully maintained this connection. For manv years he was captain and tower-keoper. He learned his ringing the hard way but immediately following the First World War he readily adapted himself to 8. 10 and 12 bell standard plain methods and for ten years was Southern Branch Ringing Master.
He was a keen sportsman-playing football and cricket-and took a keen interest in all village activities, among them being a member of the Parish Council, School Managers. Memorial Hall Committee and Services Welfare.
A true son of the soil, he was engaged all his life in market gardening. Unassuming and unhurried. yet always there and never late, (Continued previous column)

EAST RIDING RINGEIRS AROUND CAMBRIDCE

$\mathrm{O}^{N}$N Saturday, August 3rd, at 7.30 a.m., a removal van containing a number of ringers and bicycles left Willerby Square, near Hull, and another ringing tour had started. After picking up several ringers at Selby we arrived at Peterborough at 12.30 p.m., where we were eventually joined by friends from Warwickshire, Staffordshire, Essex and Northamptonshire.
After lunch we rang at Peterborough (St. Mary's), where the pleasant six were soon tapping out a variety of methods. Then to Woodston, with its minute ringing chamber, where we struggled not very successfully with these tricky bells.
After ringing at Stanground (another good six), we went on to Whittlesey, where we rang at St. Andrew's first, and then at St. Mary's, both rather awkward eights. The party then struggled on to Houghton Mill Youth Hostel in a penetrating drizzle only to find that the drying room was U.S. Never was morale so low as at this point ; however, when the younger members found a tabletennis table faces brightened up.
For Sunday morning ringing the party was split up among Huntingdon (All Saints' and St. Mary's). Hemingford Abbots, Hemingford Grey, Godmanchester and Holywell. Two quarter peals were successfully attempted at St. Ives (Bub Minor) in the morning, and at St. Mary's. Huntingdon (Bob Major), in the evening. There was also boating and swimming for more intrepid members.

BANK HOLIDAY

Surprisingly. Monday dawned reasonably bright. After Huntingdon (All Saints') came the glorious octave at Godmanchester, where the bells boomed out to Stedman Triples and our allotted time passed far too quickly.
Lunch was taken at Hemingford Abbots and before leaving for St. Ives we watched the regatta. The long draught at St. Ives was coped with fairly successfully. At Long Stanton. where the tenor is only seven cwt., our first touch of Double Norwich of the tour failed to come round and we did not add to our reputation by dispatching another stay at Histon. Finally to Cambridge Youth Hostel, where, after our duties were finished, we went into the town. Some of the party had a lightning tour of the colleges lod by the organiser.
The eight at the R.C. Church at Cambridge started Tuesday's programme. These bells are surprisingly quiet for their weight ( 32 cwt .) but we managed a complete course of Yorkshire. After ringing on the awkward six at St. Bene't's, we were allowed to ring at Great

St. Andrew's. which was not in the schedule. Trumpington followed, and then a short ride brought us to Stapleford. Sawston and Ickleton. where the Vicar joined in the opening touch of Stedman Triples. Tuesday and Wednesday nights were spent in the half-timbered hostel at Saffron Walden.
Wednesday morning found us ringing at Hempstead. where we were intrigued by the electrically-operated clock and chime mechanism. After lunch we cycled across the undulating countryside to Finchingfield, where the tower was under repair.

IMPRESSED BY SAFFRON WALDEN

The next morning we rang again on the impressive 12 , which must be one of the finest rings in the country for its weight ( 24 cwt .). The Vicar allowed us to go on the roof and raised one of the louvres so that we could see the 12 swinging. We attempted a touch of Stedman Caters, which to everyone's amazement came round, after our abortive effotts the previous night.

The next leg of our journey took us to Melbourn, where we arrived tired out after struggling with a head wind and a bad road for 13 miles. However, we soon recovered and, after ringing on the six, went on to Bourn. Meanwhile another quarter with several 'firsts' was rung at Meldreth. After ringing at Bourn the more hardv members went on to ring on the magnificent octave at St. Neots. Although the mileage was high. most people completed all the towers, except two gentlemen who were engaged in repairing a certain young lady's bicycle

After tea at Houghton Mill Hostel we went over to Hemingford Abbots to join the local ringers for their practice.

The following morning we retraced our steps along the Via Divina to Chesterton, where we admired the numerous peal boards, and after lunch we rang on the pleasant eight at Burwell. Only two miles away we rang at Exning, the only five of the tour. With the Cathedral in sight, we soon reached Ely, where we rang on the casy-going eight. Afterwards we went round the Cathedral and admired the magnificent roof and the octagonal tower.
To our dismay it was raining again in the morning, but we cycled the nine miles to Chatteris in high spirits and soon had the hells up. We noticed with amusement the cld ' peai ' board recording the ringing of 120 Bob Doubles by the local band.
After lunch the van picked us up and we were soon speeding down the A. 1 towards home.
Our sincere thanks are due to Ian Goldthorpe for arranging the tour and selecting the towers and hostels, also to Mr. H. S. Peacock and Mr. P. Came for their advice and assistance, and finally to the incumbents for the use of the bells.

A MEMORABLE OCCASION

August 17th was a memorable day for Mr H. G. Cooper, of St. Michael's Church, Yeovil, when he returned to his former home village of Market Lavington to ring his first quarter. peal. He was taught to ring at St. Michaet's by the assistant priest, the Rev. R. O. Fry, or the one bell which the church possesses. The bell weighs nine cwt. and was hung by Mears in 1897, in a tower capable of containing a medium-sized ring of eight. It was last rung for service in 1933, when Mr. Tom Setter, of St. John's, Yeovil, then rang it. and remained chimed until ;wo years ago, when Mr. Cooper rang it again after a break of 28 years. Mr. Cooper has learned his change ringing at Chitton Cantelo and Milborne Port, where the bands have been receiving instruction from Mr. Fry. Perhaps the day will dawn when St. Michael's has its own ring of bells.

Mr. T. W. White is visiting the West Country on a wellearned holiday. Readers of earned holiday Readers of this journal will join me in wishing him and Mrs. White a good holiday. Meanwhile, for this week and next you are asked to bear with the 'locum' and. if things are not perfect, please make allowances and don't blame the Editor.-W. G. W.
After a lay-off for two and a half years, Mr. Mark W. Marshall makes a return to ringing with a quarter peal at Bethersden, Kent.
We are glad to hear that Mr. Fred Ranson, of Ealing, is out of hospital after his operation, and we wish him a speedy recovery.
Recently Mr. A. F. Udall, of Chelsea, seriously damaged both wrists in a fall, and his many friends wish him continued progress and a speedy return to ringing. -
.. Marriages are made in Heaven," says the proverb, but an awful lot are also made out of ringers' meetings as well.'-Philip Gray in an article on 'Ringers' Meetings ' in 'Ringing Towers.'
Readers will have seen, earlier this year, the advertisement for a Ringers' Pilgrimage to the Holy Land in August. Among those who went were Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barker and Mrs. Deal, and we hope to print next week Mrs. Barker's account of the trip.
Mr. E. Barnett writes that the failure of the attempt for a peal of Minor at Mapledurham for the Clerical Guild reminds him that a clerical peal of Stedman is long overdue. Some 50 years ago when ringing parsons were at a premium, one was attempted al High Wycombe. He thinks Canon Cox is the only survivor of the band.
The ringers at St. John's Church, Coppull, near Chorley, Lancs, have opened a fund to augment their six-bell ring (tenor 16 cwt .) with two trebles. A frame for eight bells was fitted when the church was built. Through 'The Ringing World ' they appeal for support for their effort. Contributions would be gratefully received and acknowledged by Miss B. Yapp, 316, Spendmore Lane, Coppull, near Chorley, Lancs.

Mr. Norman S. Bagworth, of 37, Cliveden Road, Wimbledon, S.W.19, writes inviting anyone attending the National Police Guild meeting at Birmingham on Sept. 28th, to get in touch with him, as travel arrangements can be made if justified. Picking-up points could also be arranged on the way northwards.

Has any ringer surpassed this? Mr. Urban W. Wildney has eight times 'circled the tower ' to peals at St. Michael's, Kirby-le-Soken.
George Bonham, who has been ringing for 18 months, looks like developing into a steady ringer. In his first quarter at Haslingfield, Cambs, he never made a wrong blow.
'Conservative' writes: 'While the present spate of correspondence on Surprise Major methods continues, might I ask what happened to Superlative?

We are pleased to note that the Lancashire Association's 'Instruction and Diagram Book has been reprinted and is available from $F$. Dunkerley, Standard Mill (Rochdale) Ltd., Rochdale. (Price 3/6.)
We are pleased to learn that Mrs. F. I. Hairs is home again and that her operation was a success. She is going on very nicely but will have to take things a little easy for some time yet.
Many thanks to Mr. Tom Charlton, captain of Moulton, Lincs, tower, for the way he entertained the peal hand and their wives to dinner af the White Swan on the occasion of the wedding of his eldest daughter, and they rejoice in the thought that he still has two other children yet to marry.
The Northern District of the Surrey Association are promoting an elementary course for would-be change ringers, particularly those at towers where change ringing is a rare occurrence. Instructors are Mr. N. Bagworth, St. George-the-Martyr, The Borough (8); Mr. F E. Collins, Immanuel, Streatham (8): Mr. W. Parrott. Christ Church, Mitcham (6). Next practices are at St. George's, September 10th: Immanuel, September 18th; Mitcham, September 26th.

EDWIN H. LEWIS

\begin{gathered}
1881-1963 \\
\text { R.I.P. }
\end{gathered}

It is with great regret that we report the death on September 4th of Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, M.A., Past President of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. The secrelary of the Council has contributed the following:-
Born on June 13th, 1881, the youngest son of Canon J. D. Lewis, then Vicar of St. Ann's, Nottingham, Mr. Lewis was educated at Charterhouse and at Trinity College, Cambridge, where he was Mechanical Sciences Exhibitioner in 1903. He learnt to ring at Trowell, Notts. in 1900, and in 1901 joined the Cambridge University Guild.

ALL SAINTS: WANDSWORTH

In our issue of August 30th we published a contributed account of the bells of the above church. including a misstatement about work carried out in 1956. We regret the publication of this statement and draw attention to the position at Wandsworth as outlined by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank on page 610. which he represented on the Central Council from 1908 to 1936. It was then decided that, as President since 1930, he should become an honorary member. He was made a life member in 1951 and retired from the Presidency in 1957.

The Ancient Society of College Youths elected him as Master in 1936 and again in 1937 for its tercentenary. Despite a busy professional life, Mr. Lewis not only took part in Sunday ringing, whenever possible, but taught new bands at Widnes and Brasted, and while at Wishaw he served as churchwarden. From 1912 he was a member of the Council's Towers and Belfries Committee and has given advice on bell restorations on many occasions. In 1914 he presented a survey of his investigations into the nature of the forces which bells exert on a tower, work which has been said to have revolutionised bell hanging. He rang his first peal in 1902, and rang upwards of 300 peals. He was an early composer of extents of Spliced Minor methods and contributed an article on this to "The Ringing World 'as long ago as in 1912.
Mr. Lewis had a long business connection with the Glasgow Iron and Steel Company, Lid., being appointed general manager in 1927, responsible at that time for working six collieries, an iron works, a cement works, an ammonia works, a limestone mine and an iron ore mine. For four years he was president of the West of Scotland Iron and Steel Institute, and from 1929 until 1956 was on the board of directors of the Tunnel Portland Cement Co.
In 1909 he married Miss Agatha J. T. Richardson, daughter of the Rev. J. G. Richardson, and four years ago they celebrated their golden wedding. They had four sons and three daughters, of whom three sons and two daughters served in the Royal Navy, one son and one daughter being lost on active service.
Mr. Lewis' recent gifts to the Council's library of rare books on bells and ringing will be recalled by members of the Council. His quiet manner in the company of strangers sometimes gave the impression of aloofness, but it was due to his innate modesty. When one got to know him he was a delightful man, with far-ranging interests including, let it be said, outstanding knowledge of all branches of our art. My wife and I spent two most enjoyable holidays at his Scottish home, where he and Mrs. Lewis were happy to share with us their life, so different from our town existence. I remember, too, with gratitude, his helpfulness when I took over the Council's secretaryship and the pleasure it was to work with him. His death is a very great loss to the Exercise, and the deepest sympathy of all who knew him is tendered to Mrs. Lewis and the family.

ALL THIS, AND PEALS TOO!  The Trevor A. Cross Peal Tour

PARTY of 12 ringers, gathered mainly from Kent and Cheshire, assembled at the Dolphin Hotel, Wincanton. with the intention of spending a week ringing peals in the surrounding area-a start having already been made by the Kent contingent on the way over with a peal of Bristol at Sherfield English.
The bands for the attempts were sorted in the bar on Saturday evening after dinnerEffell having already done his famed Oliver Twist act and got more potatoes and ice cream. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all except for our anti-social companion, who preferred other company.
Sunday morning dawned bright and clear and we rang for morning service at Wincanton before the 'grabbers ' were off ringing a handbell peal standing up in one of the bedrooms in the hotel. After lunch we made our way to Martock, where a peal of Superlative was rung at a rather brisk pace on the well toned eight. Another handbell peal was scored in the evening-this time in a room over the stable!
Monday found us at Castle Cary, where a peal of Aldenham was rung on the pleasant cight : the afternoon band were not successful with Lincolnshire at St. John's, Glastonburythe "go of the bells leaving much to be desired, although the tone is good. We then went down to St. Benedict's, where we met Bill Theobald and Trevor Bailey, who were rehanging the six in a new frame. On the return to H.Q. we called at Ditcheat hoping to get permission to ring-but as no one could be found we decided to return on their practice night. The evening was spent at Yeovil. where we turned up for the practice, but found there was none here. We met Geoff Davies, Hector Bennett and Co., who had also come hoping for a ring.

Tuesday brought continued fine weather and a journey to Crewkerne for a peal of London on the fine eight followed by six spliced at East Coker in the afternoon. We went to Queen Camel in the evening for their practice and enjoyed the majestic six at a variety of speeds. Returning to the hotel we found our anti-social friend to have discovered a sourse of rough farmhouse cider at 2 s . 6 d . per gallon from a local worthy known to all as Cider Jackson.'

CIDER'S HIDEOUT

Wednesday came and we inquired as to the whereabouts of Cider's abode-only to be greeted by the horror-rounded eyes of the waitress and hands raised aloft : - You're never going up Zider's place, surely. My son spent an evening there and was ill for a week afterwards." Nevertheless. we established the location of his hideout and, while the others went for a peal of London at Melksham, four of us set off into the foothills with a dozen empty gin bottles, given to us by the hotelier, in which to bring back two gallons of Jackson's feckling lotion. We then journeyed to Urchfont and lost our attempt for Rutland. due to a variety of causes. However, four of the party rang a handbell peal of Bob Major, and followed this in the evening with a peal of Kent Minor.

On Thursday morning a very musical peal of Bristol was rung on the glorious eight at Curry Rivel, this being followed by Derby on the 'not-quite-what-we-expected' eight at Drayton. Some amusement was had here at the expense(?) of a local 'lady,' on whose land we unwittingly trespassed in the parking of our cars-she threatened us with the police, lawyers and all manner of other retributive measures and to spite us she parked her own car across the entrance, the better to prevent our getaway. However. our peacemaker soon arrived and established good relations and a peace treaty was signed. The good lady then allowed us to leave with the information that a band of beatniks had had the audacity to. perform the selfsame atrocity on the previous day. The beatniks were in fact Geoff Davies and his party, whom we met later that evening at Ditcheat.
Rain greeted us on Friday morning and we got off to a late start at Beaminster for five spliced, the back bells here requiring a great deal of hard work. The local cafe, at which the majority of the band had elected to take lunch. proved to be a bad choice-the service being so slow as to cause us to spend $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours feeding time; this caused us to be too late to start for a peal at Whitchurch Canonicorum so we just grabbed the tower and made our way back to the hotel.
The final day was Saturday and we changed the proposed method for Wincanton from Pudsey ("a graveyard of a method 'to quote one eminent authority) to London (which different people describe in different waysdepending on how they've rung it) in order to enjoy the magnificent music of one of Stephen Ivin's compositions. After the peal we went our own separate ways, returning to 'all, various different parts of the country (unquote)
Our thanks are due to Trevor Cross for the fine job he made of the arrangements and to the incumbents and local ringers for the use of their bells.

MAN OF KENT (in exile).

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY  DAY IN YORKSHIRE

On June 15th. 13 members of the Guild left the Union for a tour of some of the Yorkshire towers. By 10 oclock we were ringing on the good eight at Tadcaster. After lunch we proceeded to Hedon and Beverley Minster, where we rang some Plain Bob, Grandsire and Surprise. Then to the fine ten at Beverley St. Mary's, where we saw the original carving of the white rabbit from which Lewis Carroll took his character. We were also shown round the museüm. where there are several articles of interest such as a scold's bridle and a set of stocks, in which two of the girls were locked (only temporarily).
The last tower was that of the fine old Abbey at Selby, which is famous for its magnificent Norman arches. Here we completed our very successful rour by ringing some Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters. Thanks are due to all those who helped to make this tour possible. especially Mr. Ian Goldthorpe. who arranged it. for us.

HEVERSHAM. WESTMORLAND.-On Aug. 23rd, 1.260 Plain Bob Minor: R. C. L. Brown 1. N. P. J Cossey 2. T. Wood 3. P. Handley 4, W. C Wilson 5. T. F. Metcalfe (cond.) 6. On the eve of St. Bartholomew's Day.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Marlborough Branch

The meeting of the Marlborough Branch at West Overton on August 17 th attracted ringers from a wide area (Urchfont, Lyneham, Bishops Cannings. Broadstairs and Croydon). The bells, a pleasant, easy-going six, but a trifle noisy in the ringing chamber, were raised at 3.30 p.m. The Guild Office was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. Smedley), who gave an appropriate address. Mr. Alan Keen, of Aldbourne, was the organist. The tea, a sumptuous affair, was laid on by Mrs. Mans-field-Robinson and her helpers and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. T. A. Palmer (hon. secretary and Ringing Master) called attention to the annual outing on September 28th to Worcester and neighbourhood, and Mr. G. Newman (chairman) proposed a vote of thanks. Ringing followed at Overton and East Kennett

South-West District

At the District meeting at Polstead on Saturday, August 24 th , we were pleased to welcome visitors from Prittlewell and Kent. A short service was conducted by Brigadier Stirling, after which an excellent tea, prepared by the local ladies, was enjoyed by all. At the business meeting Mr. E. C. Hynard acted as chairman in Mr. Twitchett's absence. In view of the number of people interested in the District competition. it was decided to postpone it for a further year. It was also decided not to enter the Guild competition on August 31st as we were unable to make up a complete band. Members were told of the forthcoming combined N.W. and S.W. Districts dinner and social at Bury St. Edmunds on October 12th, to which all ringers and friends are welcome.
The Ringing Master (Mr. A. W. Cansdale) extended votes of thanks to Brigadier Stirling for taking the service, Miss Cocksedge for playing the organ. the ladies for preparing the tea, and to Mr. Hynard for having the bells ready. Next meeting (A.G.M.). All Saints', Sudbury on November 23 rd , subject to permission.

Ashover Joint Meeting

Although only four miles due west of the main A61 road from Derby to Sheffield, Ashover is a charming little village set in the heart of rural Derbyshire. and is as yet unspoilt by coffee bars, juke boxes and the like! The 18 cwt . octave at All Saints Church, although a ground floor ring with a rather long draught. certainly matches the lovely countryside, and is considered by many to be one of the finest eights in the county.
This then was the venue of over 50 ringers. representing more than 20 towers, who attended the joint meeting of the Chesterfield and Peak Districts held there on August 17th, A wide variety of methods was rung before the company adjourned to the nearby Church Hall for tea.

An unusual feature of tea was that it was open to the public, in an effort to raise money for the church funds. Everyone seemed to be quite satisfied with the arrangements. however. as was evident from the time it took for the company to reassemble in the belfry for a shor meeting!
Following the election of Miss Thelma Staples. of Kirkby-in-Ashfield. as a non-resident lie member, the details of the Chesterfield District outing to the foundry on September 14th were circulated and discussed. The meeting then concluded with the customary vote of thanks 10 the Rector, the Rev. P. G. Norman, the local company and ladies for providing the tea. Further ringing was enjoyed in the evening, under the joint supervision of the two Ringing Masters.

PILGRIMAGE TO THE HOLY LAND

By Mrs. A. D. BARKER

A bellringers tour with a difference. We knew there would be no bells to ring, but there was much to interest us, and it was a wonderful experience to wander in the Bible lands.
We stayed first in Tiberias, by the Lake of Galilee, and as we walked by the shores we said: So this is where it all began. The wellsaid: "So this is where it all began." The well-loved stories of childhcod flooded in, taking on deeper and fuller meaning. The lake seemed to dominate the land around: it was an intense blue and cradled in the hills. The sun rose behind it every morning and bathed it in light every evening. The significance of water and cold drinks in this hot. dusty land could not be overlooked. The hills were all around: no wonder the Psalmist said: 'I will lift up mine eyes to the hills ${ }^{\circ}$. We had a coach to take us up them, but those long-ago travellers must have been footsore and weary. Around the lake we visited the Synagogue at Capernaum, the Mount of Beatitudes and the site of the Feeding of the Five Thousand. Fish from the lake is eaten quite frequently and formed part of our diet, which was planned so that we should keep well in the intense heat of the Galilean summer.
One day we visited Nazareth, a very busy town spread all down the hillside. We entered Si. Mary's Well, still the only one in Nazareth. and the women still come for water but use large cans instead of pitchers. Tucked away behind the busy market streets were carpenters shops, and we kept bumping into the loaded donkeys. On the way to Cana of Galilee we saw a wedding in progress, a colourful bride's procession wending its noisy way to the bridegroom's house. Many unexpected things like this happened. On Mount Tabor, which we visited on the Feast of the Transfiguration, a christening was taking place, and as the infants were totally immersed the ensuing noise can be imagined. Again we rounded a corner to run into a camel procession. The camels and their driver obligingly stopped to allow the camera enthusiasts to shoot. The Bedouin Arabs invited us into their tents, and we watched as one pounded coffee in a wooden pot. making a pleasant musical sound. In the village of Peqiin we saw the making of bread and the baking on a curved stone. As we passed by Nain a herd of sheep and goats streamed across the fields, and many were the mixed herds that we saw.
The soil of this wonderful land is remarkably fertile, and given water and work will grow almost anything. The people of Israel are making great efforts to bring the land under cultivation, piling the stones to make walls. Bellronging gardeners note that many are the huge rocks that must be removed. Once, every tree planted was taxed. but now many are being planted to conserve the reclaimed land. Great cactus hedges lined the roads, and the fruit of these was sold in the markets and is quite pleasant to taste. Oranges. lemons, grapefruit, bananas. pomegranates and dates were growing in profusion but, unfortunately for us, were not yet ripe. On the way to visit Degania, the Jewish settlement at the southern end of the Sea of Galilee, we came to the Jordan: we were to see it again later-the traditional place where Christ was baptised-and to cross it by the Allenby Bridge as it entered the Dead Sea.

A week had gone by, and we now had to leave Israel and say goodbye to our excellent guide. Isaac, and our very good driver, Mr. Lion Heart. They took us to Jerusalem via Cæsarea with its Crusaders Wall, and Joppa Harbour. We stayed one night at the Y.M.C.A. in Jerusalem, Israel, and the next day entered Jordan by the Mandelbaum Gate, Now we had to mind our P's and Q's, and only use cameras when given permission. Our travelling in Jordan was by luxurious private cars. Our home for the next week was on top of the Mount of Olives, 2.700 feet up-quite a change from 600 feet below sea level-and i awoke next morning about 4 to the sound of the call from the Mosque and the braying of donkeys. The rising sun lit up the City of Jerusalem on the opposite hill. and it really was Jerusalem the Golden. There was so much to see as we entered by Si. Stephen's Gate and walked along the Via Dolorosa and visited the many churches covering the traditional sites of holy plazes. We had to take a short cut (which was like our countryman's mile, not so short) through the market streets. full of every sort of oriental produce, 10 the Damascus Gate to get out of the city. One morning we took the road to Bethlehem, and stood in the grotto which is supposed to be the actual manger where Our Lord was born. We climbed the Tower of the Christmas Bells and looked on the panorama of Bethlehem and the Shepherds' Field beyond. Some of the bells showed cracks and I was able to touch them, but we were warned not to pull the ropes as it would cause consternation in the city.
The journey to Jericho through the lonely, bare, brown hills brought forcibly to us the story of the Good Samaritan, and we were glad to get away from the heat of the Dead Sea region, 1,300 feet below sea level. We spent one morning on the Mount of Olives, visiting the Church of All Nations and walking along the original Palm Sunday road. We could not enter the Golden Gates as they are now bricked up, but we spent some time in the Garden of Gethsemane. Some brave souls walked through Hezekiah's Tunnel, but the others went round the hillside and met them at the other end.
The visit to the site of the Garden Tomb was most impressive. and there was the hill outside a city wall. Our journeyings took us across the 300 miles of desert to Petra, where we stopped on the road to drink from the rock Moses struck, where the water still runs clear and cold. As we approached the city, down from the hills came the Arab horsemen. We were to ride these horses as the only road into the city is a very narrow rocky gorge. impossible for other transport. For our peace of mind each horse was led, and we accomplished the jcurney safely. The wonders of the Rose Red City will long linger with us.

I have perforce left out much. but perhaps have shown how wonderful is this Holy Land and what joy it gives 10 walk these historic places. I said there were no bells to ring, but this is not quite true as we took with us a set of small handbells, loaned by Mr. Reuben Sanders. These bells, already much travelled by having been rung in the trenches in the first world war, have now been rung in Tiberias at our own evening service, where the other tourists were very much interested. We also rang them in St. George's Cathedral. Jerusalem, after Matins, and gave much pleasure to the blind girls' choir. Inquiries were made as to the possibilities of getting a set of handbells for the girls, and who is to say what may come from such a small beginning?
The idea of this tour came from the advertisement in "The Ringing World, and the ringers who took part wish to express their warm appreciation to Mr. Houseley and the Holy Land Advice Centre, Ipswich, for the excellent arrangements made and carried out.
After this memorable journey, we have one wish-to return in the springtime and see the desert blossom like a rose.

OUTING

DORE, DERBYSHIRE

Dore ringers met in pouring rain on June 29th for their first annual outing. As the bells were being raised at the first tower-Sherburn-in-Elmet-it sounded as if a touch of Bob Major was being attempted, and all hoped it was not the standard for the day. A flying start was made, however, with touches of Stedman. Double Norwich and Cambridge. Ian was asked to call a touch of Grandsire. After calling some 500 changes, which he afterwards informed us was the shortest possible with the tenor in the tittums for their extent, he was told that we were not on a peal tour. Some well struck London completed ringing at this tower
At Snaith, a notice in the belfry said that the sixth was the death bell, although the fifth looked more capable of accomplishing this when the ceiling began to detach itself from around the sally hole. They were rather rough bells and were rung to rounds, call changes. Plain Bob and Kent. Lunch was taken at a local hostelry before an unscheduled stop at Carlton, permission having been given by the Vicar at Snaith.
The bells were raised much better at Thorne and ringing included Yorkshire. Superlative and a near perfect course of London. Epworth (in Lincolnshire) was unknown territory and, in spite of the long draught, even the rounds ringers did well when they employed the principle of 'long smooth pull' to its fullest.
We then set off for Tickhill, via Bawtry, where, in a 'cozy' cafe, tea was enjoyed. Richard's touch of Stedman, Plain Bob. rounds and two courses of Duffield were rung. A good lower was completed by the worthy organiser, who valiantly undertook to lower the tenor, catching for the final rounds. after missing one, floating up in the air with the greatest of ease and missing the enormous box on the way down, in which he narrowly escaped breaking every bone in his body.
As we emerged from the bottom of the stairs at $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. We were met by the sun for the first time that day. The Dore contingent then said farewell to Jeff and the chap from Todmorden. and left for home at a great many m.p.h. to the accompaniment of the Seagermobile's unsilenced exhaust.

The Penn Peal Attempt

With reference to the peal in eight methods rung at Penn, Buckinghamshire, on Siturday. May 11th. 1953, for the Oxford Diocesan Guild, we the undersigned wish to make the following statements:-

1. During the sixth extent of this peal the same course-end came up twice.
2. This extent took several minutes longer to ring than any of the others, although the speed of the ringing did not materially change.
3. Immediately after the peal and in answer to questions, the conductor stated that he could not remember the composition he had used in the sixth extent.
4. In a written reply some weeks later the conductor suggested a number of $720^{\circ}$ s of which, he said, he could possibly have called one. He also suggested that there was a possibility that two extra courses had been added, but he wasn't sure about this.

After a reconstruction of the sixth extent. an unfamiliar one, it was found that during the second half a miscall had been made and several extra leads added to bring the extent round.
6. In view of the conductor's verbal and written refusal to withdraw the peal, we must celuctantly ask the peal recorders of the Central Council and the Oxford Diocesan Guild to delete this performance from their records.

> MICHAEL HATCHETT,
> JENNIFER SCEENY.
> WILLIAM BIRMINGHAM. HOWARD OGLESBY.

NOTE BY THE 'LOCUM
These four ringers formed the majority of a band which last Saturday rang a peal of Minor in seven methods, non-conducied and silent. An achievement which adds weight to their opinions.

5,120 Bristol Surprise Major

Dear Sir--On looking through some back numbers of - The Ringing World, I noticed peal of Bristol Surprise Major rung ot Eaton Socon on April 14th, 1962 (page 306 , May Ilth, 1962).
My name is stated as the composer but as I have not produced a 5.120 in this method, may 1 ask Mr. S. Ivin, the conductor, if it' was an extegsion of the 5,088 or 5,056 which appeared under my name in . The Ringing Worlds ' of August 28th, 1953, and April 22nd, 1955. respectively, or was there an error in recording the length of the peal or name of the composer.-Yours truly.

Fulwood. Preston, Lancs.

Filming Difficulties

Dear Sir.-With the object of altracting mor * would-be ringers, the 25 teenage ringers at St . Mary's. Stretton-cum-Westmoor. Burton-onTrent, have contributed towards the cost of making a short film of belfry activities.

The first reel was. however, by no means perfect, the shots in the hell chamber heing rather dark. Could any reader with experience of this type of filming help us with advice on such items as strength and positioning of lighting or content of the film? -Yours sincerely.
D. J. SHRUBBS.

The Peal at Fowey, Cornwall

Dear Sir.-I fear my good friends (five of whom I have attempled two peals with during the past five days) cannot claim the peal rung at Fowey as the 'First peal of Major on the bells," as the footnote states. I was very cheered to know the peal had heen rung, for it happened to be rung in the jubilec year of the first peal of Major at Fowey, and it might well go down in the Truro Guild's peal book as such.

In 1913 the late William Pye organised a tour in Devon and Cornwall, and on September 8 th of that year rang a peal of Bristol at Fowey with the correct footnote- First peal on the bells and first peal in the method in the county. The report, however, incorrectly gives the weight of the tenor as 21 cwt . Fourteen years later (in 1927) I had the pleasure of ringing in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Fowey, and now 36 years after the third peal has been rung there.

Fowey bells are a fine ring. They became eight in 1870, when Messis. J. Taylor and Co. added two trebles. In 1909 the same firm recast the two trebles and rehung the ring in a modern frame. They have also put the bells on ballbearings since the last war. On August Bank Holiday, 1910, the Truro Guild's annual festival was held at Fowey, and the programme shows that ringing continued from $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., with only three-quarters of an hour's break at $11.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for the service.

Fowey tower has been claimed to be the highest in Cornwall. There is doubt between this and Probus, but it can be a matter only of inches. The late Canon C. Fox Harvey, when Vicar of Probus, handed the honour to Fowey when, after these two towers with Altarnun and Kilkhampton had been specially measured. he found that these measurements, respectively, to the pinnacles and battlements were: Fowey 126 ft . and a few inches. and 107 ft ., and Probus 123 ft .6 in ., and 105 ft .6 in . 'So it is clear.' says Canon Fox Harvey in his letter (1890) to the 'Western Morning News.' 'that Fowey has the highest tower. However, three peals in 93 years are not enough to keep a new generation fully informed!-Yours sincerely, Carbis Bay. A. S. ROBERTS.

Gloucestershire Surprise

Dear Sir. - Re Mr. Cleaver's query, the method Gloucestershire is as follows :-
$\times 34 \times 14 \times 12 \times 16 \times 34 \times 58 \times 34 \times 78$ $\times 34 \times 14 \times 12 \times 16 \times 34 \times 58 \times 34 \times 78$
2 nds place method. L.E. 4263857.
Both Gloucestershire and Fairfield have same lead-end and same F.C.E.'s.-Yours sincerely. JOHN R. KETTERINGHAM.
Kensington, S.W.

Identity of Tourists Wanted

Dear Sir,-The season of outings and tours seems to be upon us again and, as usual, "The Ringing World' gives full coverage of them. Some are excellent and well worth reading, for example the Bristol University Society report in your issue of August 2nd, but this (in my opinion) cannot be said of those reports which give little or no indication of the identity of ringers taking part. In this way the report on page 565 (August 23rd) becomes solely a list of West Country towers with little or no interest in the ringing fraternity at large.

May I appeal to 'A. M.' and other correspondents to think of the Exercise as a whole when writing these reports and not just of those who actually took part.-Yours faithfully,
D. P. B. MILES

Cottingham, Yorks.

EDWIN H. LEWIS

A Tribute by Mr. P. A. Corby
Will you kindly allow me, on behalf of the members of the Kent County Association, to pay a tribute to the memory of a great man. remembered by the Exercise as an outstanding president of the Central Council, but by this Association as a distinguished and greatlyhonoured vice-president?
For many years Mr. Lewis lived at Moorcocks, Brasted, and took a very great interest in the affairs of this Association. Many will recall Mr. Lewis' public utterances on the importance of an acceptable standard of striking and performance in all ringing. If example is indeed greater than precept, Mr. Lewis proved it by the impeccable standards he demanded and obtained in the ringing at Brasted. I have often heard him recall an experience he had in a handbell peal attempt for Grandsire Triples with the late Challis F. Winney. The treble was in second's place and Winney put his bells down. When asked why, he said :'I have missed a bob." Mr. Lewis always said a lesser man than Winnev would have called the bob and shuffled the bells through any trip that might result. He would conclude his telling of the story by saying that Winney's standard was the standard to be aimed at in all ringing Others will no doubt refer to Mr. Lewis outstanding period of office as Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and there will be some older members of that great Society who will recall the gatherings he organised for them at his lovely home at Brasted. But we in Kent will remember most the many annual general meetings of the Association when Mr. Lewis ozcupied the chair. Seldom can there have been a more outstanding chairman. He had that great gift of allowing people to have their say without rambling on interminably However vigorous the debate, it was never possible to detect where his own particular sympathies might lie; but when all had finished he would find just the happy choice of words needed to frame the resolution that was to he finally adopted by the meeting.

A particularly treasured memory is of the an nual general meeting at Margate on Easter Monday, 1938, when we had an inspiring service in the parish church with a crowded congregation. led by the organ and full choir. Mr. Lewis read the lesson at that service as surely only a clergy. man's son could read it. Any who have been fascinated by that lovely and well-modulated speaking voice will know what I mean.

It was my privilege at our annual meeting at Tonbridge on Easter Monday. 1951, 10 express the thanks of the members of the Association to Mr. Lewis for all he had done and had been during his years in Kent. It was the occasion of his retirement from regular business. and he expressed his ambition 10 see Scotland in all four seasons. He certainly loved Scotland. but I like to think that Kent and the ringers of Kent had a warm place in his affections, and Brasted in particular will have a strong claim for consideration in any worthy memorial that must surely be provided by the Exercise to which he gave so much.

The ringers of Kent would wish to be asso ciated with the great sympathy that the Exercise will feel for Mrs. Lewis and her family in the loss that we share with them.

HAMPSHIRE RINGER'S  WEDDING

On Saturday. August 17 th, was solemnised the marriage of Miss Colleen Sparks Taylor, daughter of Mr. John E. Taylor, of Purbrook, Hants, with Mr. Alan A. J. Buswell. son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Buswell, of Havant.
The day opened with showers, but these foriunately held off for the ceremony at Purbrook Methodist Church and for the delightful receplion afterwards in a large marquee. accommodating some 120 guests, at the bridegroom's home.

The bride wore a dress of white lace with a satin Irain and short bouffant headdress, and was attended by three bridesmaids in dresses of blue flock nylon with matching headdresses.

The traditional ceremony of cutting the cake was accompanied by a background of nostalgic sound in the form of a course of Cambridge Surprise Major on a gramophone record

The bridegroom is a well-known ringer in the district, being a member of the Portsmouth Cathedral Guild of Ringers. The couple's future address will be 32, Lower Drayton Lane. Drayton. Portsmouth.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W.', September 5th, 1913 :-
'In the blood' is an expression one often hears when an hereditary accomplishment shows itself in succeeding generations. Certainly it has evinced itself in the famous Pitstow family of Saffiron Walden. We record this week a peal of Stedman Caters rung at Stepney, in which Harold Pitstow, son of Ernest and grandson of Nathan of that ilk, took part. He is only 15 years of age, and this was his first peal of Caters, yet he rang like an old hand.

'R.W.', September 13th, 1913:-

Mr. J. Segar’s Latest Performance
Mr. J. Segar, junr., of East Retford, Notts, has just completed another wonderful tapping performance. In the presence of competent witnesses, he has successfully tapped seven $720^{\prime}$ s in Surprise methods, and the achievement, of course, constitutes another record of a remarkable nature.

MORE OUTINGS

BELLS AND BLUEBELLS

On Saturday, August 24th, a mixed bag of ringers from Ashtead, St. Aibans and Wheathampstead took part in an outing with a difference. After picnic lunches, the party assembled at Ardingly, Sussex. for half-an-hour's ringing on the pleasant six, and then moved on for a brief ring at Danehill, where we were met by the local ringers. Owing to a wedding, ringing had to be curtailed on this lovely new six before going on to Sheffield Park for the main object of the exercise-a trip on the Bluebell Line, organised by Martyn Harbott, who is a member of the Biuebell Railway Preservation Society. On this charming line-due partly to gradients. ancient rolling stock on square bearings, antique locomotives from various foundries, and the enthusiasm of part-time engine drivers-two engines are needed to haul each train of five coaches! From Sheffield Park Station we rode in a splendid veteran observation coach to Horsted Keynes, where time was allowed to 'pat the engines' before returning ta Sheffield Park for tea in the station canteenthree ex-B.R. dining cars (first class!). Definitely up to the standard of a ringers' tea. While we were eating, we saw no less a V.I.P. than the secretary of the Central Council, also out train-spotting for an afternoon!

After tea. we inspected the collection of vintage engines, ranging from the 1875 0-6-0 Tank 'Stepney.' resplendent in her old L.B. & S.C.R. livery, to a 4-4-0 Dukedog. awaiting restoration of her original G.W.R. colours. Small children of both sexes and all ages had the time of their lives playing with real engines!

Then back to ringing, this time on the re-cently-rehung but odd-struck six at West Hoathly, before making our various ways home. Thank you, Martyn Harbott, for a most successful day.

WESTHAM, SUSSEX

Westham (Sussex) ringers had their second annual outing on August 17 th. Unfortunately we arrived late at Bethersden, our first tower, and apologise to Mr. W. Ring. Alas ! We were unable to settle down and do justice to the bells. Our next stop was at Great Chart's lovely church, which is similar in some respects to Bethersden. Everyone was eager to ring the six good bells.

An hour's break was taken at Tenterden for tea at Goldsmith's Tea Roons, and then came the delightful six at Smarden: finally the eight at Headcorn, where the bells were kept busy for half an hour. Handbell ringing enlivened the homeward journey and Westham was reached about 10.30 p.m. The success of this well-organised outing was due to Mr. W. Binstead. We thank him, and also incumbents and those who met us. L. F. T.

A DEVON OUTING

Organised by Mr. A. L. Bennett, another successful evening outing was held in the South Hams of Devon on August 21st, when towers visited were Slapton (a ring of five) and Stoke Fleming and Dittisham (two rings :c six). All were found to be in good going order and methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor, whilst a course of Cambridge Surprise Minor at the last tower came to an untimely end. All the locals who met the visitors were most impressed by the good striking.
MR. J. KEITH WARD'S FIRST 100
With a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Clun, Shropshire. on August 10th, 17-year-old J. Keith Ward, of Slough. completed his first 100 peals, which have been rung for 19 Associations, in 52 counties and 71 towers.

The list is rich in variety. In the 53 Surprise Major peals, there are 31 different methods, and peals of spliced up to eight methods. There are also 14 of Surprise Royal (four different methods). five of Surprise Maximus (three methods), four of Plain Royal, two of Stedman Caters. While there is a Deal of Doubles (eight methods) and eight of Minor up to 14 methods, there are no peals of Triples.
Of the 100 peals, Keith conducted 13. It is a very creditable first hundred.

CYCLE-RINGING OUTING IN KENT

As threatening rain-clouds gathered on the horizon, six enthusiastic 'never say die" ringers from Edenbridge and Tonbridge set out on August 17th for a day's ringing in the Weald.

The first tower was SS. Peter and Paul's, Headcorn ( 21 cwt.). Here we were joined by seven more ringers-three who had cycled from the Battle area, two who had made marathon rides from Sunbury-on-Thames and Hayes respectively, and our despatch rider, Margaret. who with Betty as pillion passenger was to blaze the trail for the rest of the day.

This majestic eight at Headcorn overwhelmed us after the morning ride and it was with sweet relief we relaxed for lunch.

Being well refreshed, we were then able to do justice to the heavy six at Smarden. Despite a weak stay on the second and the fact that the sally of the treble disappeared at the moment of take-off into the clock-case, we were able to achieve some good ringing and to tackle a course of Duffield on the light tuneful eight of St. Mary's, Frittenden.

With the thought of tea not far away the ride to Staplehurst was taken at a remarkably quick pace. We then rang on the resonant eight at All Saints'. After a splendid tea the the lovely eight at St. Michael and All Angels', Marden, proved to be a wonderful finale to an enjoyable day. Grateful thanks to Brian Jeffrey for the excellent arrangements.

OBITUARY

MR. A. E. BRISTOW

Mr. Albert Ernest Bristow, of Coventry, passed away on August 19th, aged 70 years He learned to ring at St. Mary's, Clifton, near Rugby, in 1930. Removing to Coventry in 1937. he joined the St. Thomas'. Keresley. Society on 1ts formation in 1938. His favourite methods were $\mathrm{Si}_{4}$ Simon's and New Doubles, and he obtained a majority support among the members for the regular ringing of these, in spite of the disapproval of the head ringer. who wished to limit the ringing to Grandsire. Stedman and Plain Bob. He had an unusual way of handling a bell rope. After drawing his rope at handstroke he always allowed the rope to run through his right hand up to the backstroke. He was one of a band who attempled a peal on the heavy-going five at Ladbroke. Warwickshire. on November 1st, 1947. Just over one sixscore had been rung when the rope of the third jumped off the wheel at backstroke. the ringing coming to a sudden stop. The wheel had become warped by the damp weather and the bell would no longer respond to orthodox handling. Albert, who had been ringing the treble, took over, successfully piloted the bell through 42 sixscores and lowered it in peal, without the rope once leaving the wheel! Without his way of handling and his dogged determination a peal would have been impossible. In addition, he also rang in the first peals on the bells at Corlay, Bishop's Itchington. Burton Dassett and Leamington Hastings. He regularly cycled the $4 \frac{1}{2}$ miles to ring at Keresley Church on a Sunday morning and was never late. It was a severe blow to this great-hearted little man when. ten years ago, his doctor strongly advised him, in his own interest. to give up all strenuous activities in order to minimise impending heart trouble.
The funeral took place at Canley Crematorium on August 23rd, his old friend, Harold Folwell, being amongst those present. He leaves a widow, 2 daughters and severai grandchildren to mourn his loss. His body is no more: may his spirit he at peace. W. A.S.

FLORRIE  WYMAN'S IRISH

$\mathrm{H}^{\mathrm{A}}$AVING sampled the delights of Southern Ireland in 1962, it was inevitable many of us should wish to see the rest of the country. Accordingly, at 12.50 a.m. on July 14th we touched down at Nufts Corner. Next morning we reported at St. Thomas 10 ring. which was just around the corner from our hotel. This beautiful ring, with 20 cwt. tenor, went well and one of the local ringers joined us in a touch. After exploring Belfast, with its incredible one-way street system, we duly arrived at St. Mark's, Dundela, and rang for Evensong. The bells went like tops and we managed Caters and Royal. At St. Donard's. which followed. ringing was strictly on the shift basis, there being room for six people only at one time. The standard methods were rung and then Jean Jeffrey kindly invited us to her home for refreshments and a touch on her handbells.
Next day we explored the surrounding countryside in the morning and then went to Bangor. On our way we saw the first of numerous patriotic arches still standing from the celebrations of the 'Twelfth.' After being drenched in torrential rain we ascended the tower and made our first attempt at London. Like all the others which ensued it failed to come round. A sumptuous tea came next, at Groomspoint. after which we watched a violent storm sweep across Belfast Lough. At Holywood we met John Dunwoody and the local band. who rang several touches with us, including Erin. We had an opportunity to admire the brand new organ which the organist was demonstrating, and were then entertained to supper by the local band.

MOUNTAINS 'SWEEP DOWN TO THE SEA

On Tuesday we went to Ballylesson, first getting lost on the way. Here Morpeth was added to our repertoire. At Hillsborough we were very impressed by the lovelv Plantation church. in its fine setting, and this, to some degree. compensated for the ringing being cut short due to a missing key. The Rudhall bells are majestic in quality and we lowered them in peal. Travelling by the shores of Carlingford Lough we came to Rostrevor, and again Morpeth was rung. One of the St. Thomas', Belfast, ringers on holiday also joined us for a ring. Our route back to Belfast lay along the lovely coast, where the Mountains of Mourne really 'sweep down to the sea.' A stop at the delightful little harbour of Annalong was a highlight of this day.

Next day we left in pouring rain for Carrickfergus. Here the bells are in a charming room above the churchyard gate, quaint on the outside and most beautifully kept within. After a huge "elevenses" at the local hall we moved on to Ballymena. Here we accomplished Little Bob and an enormous lunch. With the scenery growing ever finer we made our way round to the Giant's Causeway. Here photographs were taken standing on the strange basalt formations. At Coleraine. local ringers were again awaiting us. but although we rang Superlative and Double Norwich. London still refused to go. The night was spent at Derry, but we wished we had had longer to explore this historic place. We had time only to ring on the fine ten next morning before having to leave. The Gillett ring sounded out to Bob Royal. Grandsire Caters and Double Norwich, and then we moved on into Donegal. The rest of the day was spent admiring the scenery as we travelled through Dunfanaghy to Ardara. Villages became more and more remote, and the feeling of 'getting away from it all: increased. This was the West of Ireland we had imagined. Only one thing marred the scene. Some members, deprived of bells. resorted to penny whistles and rent the air for the rest of the week with all manner of perversions of well known melodies.

PEAL IN A MOTOR CAR
At Ardara. Fred Dukes arrived and spent the evening with us in handbell ringing. The hour was late when we got down to the business of attempting the first peal in Donegal. So late that even in Ireland we dared not attempt it within the hotel, nor yet in our mini-bus, since it was parked outside the police station. Accordingly we removed some way outside the town and a peal of Plain Bob Minor commenced at 11.50 p.m. and concluded at $2 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. It was rung on the back seat of Fred's car, under conditions of some overcrowding. Despite the stiffness and the attraction for spiders, earwigs, etc., provided by our light, we stayed awake to the end and then effected an entry into our silent hotel with the aid of a flash lamp.

Next day we went to see the weaving of tweeds and to buy our souvenirs. More fine scenery followed as we drove on through the town of Donegal and up the valley to Ballybofey for lunch. On our return we paddled in the icy peat-brown waters of the stream beside the road. Crossing the border near Belleek we saw the lovely lake of Lower Lough Erne. Indeed the road seemed to be built on a bridge along the length of it. and in every direction were tree-covered islands and hills. Tea was taken overlooking this same lake, the waters sparkling in the sun. At Enniskillen we attempted Cambridge Royal. but were not successful. Several young members of the local band were present and joined us for a ring. The ten were lowered in peal to the accompaniment of a massive goal-kick to the ninth box, when its occupant decided he did not require it. After supper we gave Fred Dukes a suitable farewell. firing our handbells outside the hotel. in which he loudly joined with his horn.

PRESENTATIONS

On our last day we visited Armagh and were most graciously and hospitably received by the Dean. He showed us the Cathedral treasures and after climbing the tower to see the superb view from the roof, some of the party chimed the eight bells. At lunch. souvenirs of miniature handbells were presented to all our drivers. and also to Florrie. together with a powder compact. Our thanks for all their hard work were expressed by Messrs. Daniell, and Rapley. Despite warnings of 'elastic' ropes at our next tower, Lurgan, we quite enjoyed the bells and again lowered them in peal. A delightful surprise awaited us after ringing. We had got used to being invited to eat enormous teas, but at Lurgan we were also given presents. These were an Irish linen tea-towel depicting the tower at which we had just rung, and a History of the Steeple, Bells and Clocks of Shankhill. Lurgan." Arriving back at St. Mark's. Dundela. we rang for and then attended Evensong. This was followed by a banquet, no other word being adequate to describe the feast. The Vicar welcomed us. and Mr. Goodman replied on behalf of the party. Our last ring consisted of a quarter peal of Bob Royal rung at St. Mark's, and conducted by M. J. Bangham. We then set off for Nutts Corner. our sqeaking mini-bus just managing to climb the hill. As we took off into the gathering dusk, the lights of Belfast receded below.
M. Lin

Our thanks certainly must be given to all incumbents, local ringers and others who met and made us so welcome, with such wonderful refreshments: also to Mr. F. Dukes and Mr. J. Dunwoody, for all their help in making such an enjoyable week for us. F.E.W

The quarter peal rung at Great Gransden on August 22nd was arranged to take place five weeks earlier, place five weeks earlier, but Mrs. L. B. Jefferies and the four children were involved in a serious car crash on the A45. Mrs. Jefferies sustained fractured ribs, the baby a fractured skull, and one of the little girls a double fracture of the arm; the other two children sustained cuts and bruises. Besides being to welcome John Roberts the quarter peal was a thanksgiving for the recovery of all the injured.
In the peal of Yorkshire at Quorn on Tuesday, August 6th, the ringer of the tenor should be Harry Poyner (not Joyner).
With the peal at Rotherham on August 31st, Mr. John N. D. Chaddock has now' completed the circle.'
John A. Acres and Brian G. Warwick (peal secretary and general secretary respectively of the Leicester Diocesan Guild) rang their 300th peal logether at Barrow-on-Soar on Thursday, August 8 th .
The composition of the peal at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough, of 5.088 Superlative on Monday, July Ist, should be No. 13 (not No. 3), by Ernest W. Tipler, and the ringer of the tenor should be A. James Poynor (not Poyner).
We are glad to know that Mr. Reuben Sanders, now in his 90th year, was well enough to join in the annual Wednesday ringing trip in the Northampton District. Mr. Harry Sears was unfortunately not well enough to take part this year.
Before the peal at Silk Willoughby on August 24th, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnes were presented with a bouquet from their ringing friends to mark their golden wedding. Mr. Barnes, who rang in the peal, has been a member of the Guild for 64 years.
The band who rang the quarter peal at Elstow on August 24th offer their best wishes to Mr. George Seth. who rang the treble for them on his 75th birthday. He only started changeringing when he was nearly 50, and he has rung ten peals and is looking forward to his next one.

Many older members of the Kent County Association will readily recall the name of Edwin G. Buesden by the announcement of the death of his widow which occurred recently in a Can:erbury hospital. Mr. Buesden was well known in his day as a conductor mainly of Stedman. Mrs. Buesden, who survived her husband by some 30 years, was interred in her husband's grave at St. Stephen's, Canterbury. Mr. J. W. Unwin represented the Cathedral ringers at the funeral.

At the Middlesex dinner on October 4th, a tribute will be paid by the secretary of the Central Council to the memory of Charles T. Coles (Tom), who did much for ringing in general and for the Middlesex Association in particular, and was for many years its joint general secretary.

A photograph of the tenor bell ( 35 cwt ., cast in 1937) of Winchester Cathedral shows that the Latin inscription referring to the Coronation has had the words "EDWARDI OCTAVI" crossed out and 'GEORGI SEXTI' added. Is this unique?
S. Barry Schofield, of Bradford, is not yet 16, but has completed his first 100 peals. It is an impressive list, but we understand that he is likely to appear shortly in one of 'Norving's' articles on 'Up and Coming Youngsters,' and fuller details will no doubt appear then.

Congratulations are due to Diane Turner, of Bolsover, for the capable way in which she rang her first peal (Bob Minor) at Clay Cross recently. Although only ringing a year, she rang very well and is a credit to the Bolsover band which, in spite of the loss of several of their best ringers a few years ago, is now stronger than ever.

The peal at Weobley, the heaviest six in Herefordshire, on August 24th, was of particular interest as it was only the second peal of Minor on the bells. The first was rung on April 21 st , 1923, and the only surviving member of that band is Mr. Geoffrey W. Taysom, who is still ringing in Cornwall. This was his first peal of Minor.

Some Comments by the 'Lacum'

UNDER the above heading our front pages of July 26th and August 2 nd had a well-thought-out article by Mr. Denis Bayles. We make no apology for returning to the subject - a correspondent who takes the time and trouble that he so evidently did deserves very full consideration for his ideas. It may well be, too, that he was encouraged to make this effort by a talk he had with the writer at Yarmouth last Whitsun.

So far, the Editor has printed just two letters commenting on the article-one for and one against. This suggests that most of our readers are either satisfied with the present arrangements or else, if they want a change, they do not want it sufficiently to write to the Editor about it. Perhaps it is only human that personalities are so much more productive of newspaper correspondence!

It may be thought that one would not expect the peal ringers to support Mr. Bayles' proposals, but that the Exercise and this paper are not run for or by the peal ringer. There is some truth in this: the prime object of the Exercise is and must be to ring church bells as part of the service of the church. But I believe that it is often the ringing of one's first peal (sometimes perhaps just a quarter peal) that decides a ringer to start taking this journal. Certainly if he continues to ring peals he is unlikely to give up the paper, so while not all readers of this paper are peal ringers, I believe that a very large proportion of the subscribers to it are or have been interested in peals, even if only in their own.

This suggests that the format of peal publication should not lightly be altered, and that any alterations that may be made should be done, as were the two referred to by Mr. Bayles, a little at a time and with the firm intention that If not acceptable to the Exercise they should be abandoned.

It seems to me that Mr. Bayles' suggestions fall into three phases, each requiring action by a different body, but yet needing co-operation between them. If this is to be achieved then the need for adopting his suggestions must be considered carefully, (a) by the 'Ringing World' Committee, responsible for this journal, and helped by the technical advice of its Editor: (b) by the Central Council and its Peals Analysis and Records Committees. charged with the duty of keeping records: and (c) by each of the individual Associations and Guilds.

In the first case one would imagine that at their next meeting the 'Ringing World' Committee would have the articles before them, with the views of the Editor, and would take into account the practicability of the suggestions, whether the space saved would be sufficient to be worth while, whether any number of customers would be upset and end their subscriptions, whether extra staff cost would be involved in sorting out peals for publication, whether the traditional method of setting out peals should be abandoned for slight financial advantage, if any, etc.

In the second case, Mr. Bayles, being a member of the Central Council, is himself in a good position to ask the Council, in its dual capacity as appointee of both the 'Ringing World' Committee and the Peals Analysis Committee, to instruct those committees to report on the suggestions, and after such a report to make such changes as are thought desirable. But the Council would have to bear in mind that it should not lightly make more onerous the task of those volunteers who man its committees. Only if changes in the manner of keeping records and in the presentation of copy in this journal are clearly justified should changes be made.

And thirdly, there is the Association angle to consider. Mr. Bayles makes various suggestions as to what the individual Associations might do - but here he is on a sticky wicket. We saw what happened to a motion at Cardiff in 1962 which attempted to tell Associations how to conduct their business. It is perfectly true that they find the publication of an annual report a big drain on their finances. and a glance at a collection of such reports shows that many of them have made attempts to lessen the expenditure by the publication of peals in various ways-smaller print, less details. in quarter peal or tabular form. etc. Mr. Bayles could well try to introduce changes in the reports of his own Association, but he must leave it to the other Associations to work out their own salvation. At least one of the larger Associations has met the difficulty by having a full report printed in alternate years. In the intervening years a volunteer's duplicated job contains the reports of the officers and branch officers, accounts, etc.. and leaves the less ephemeral printed report, the lists of peals and affiliated towers. etc. My own Association, having much less material wealth, has to he content with a verbal annual report by its Master.

Perhaps some time in the future we shall be given a technically-informed view of all Mr. Bayles' suggestions so far as they relate to this journal. Meanwhile I would add that the Exercise should be grateful to any of its members who are prepared to give thought and time to its problems to the extent that Mr. Bayles so evidently has. W.G. W.

Giles Thompson's Thames Valley Peal Tour

 ringers met for the first attempt of the tour, the venue being Old Windsor. Cambridge Major was halted after four and a half courses. More ringers joined forces, and it was decided to have a short practice, after which about a dozen ringers left for the Clewer Which about a dozen ringers enth Hostel. A good supper was provided, and later more ringers joined the party.

On Sunday morning we rang for service at Slough, with the aid of the local company. Later came handbell ringing, in which we were - helped out, by the locals. After this we cycled through Reading to the Streatley-onThames Youth Hostel. However, it was noticed on arrival that three girls and three boys were missing! Was this a coincidence? During the evening the more energetic ringers went to ring at Goring-on-Thames for evening service. Whilst, waiting for the local Monday saw two attempts. hoth successful. In the morning a peal in three methods was rung on a somewhat uneasy six at Theale. In the afternoon Plain Bob Major was rung at Aldermaston, whilst the remaining five ringers - grabhed" Mapledurham (a nice six). The - tower grabbers, were back early for supper at Streatley, but the Aldermaston band cycled back in 'dribs and drabs,' the "Fenland hairdresser " appearing last in a rather ruffied state. with a black smudge of grease on the left side of his face!

SWIM IN THAMES

On Tuesday morning there was an attempt for St. Clement's College Bob Major at Benson. which quickly halted. and a peal of Bob Major was substituted. The other half) Bob Major was substituted. The ' other half, had a tower grab at Brightwell-cum-Sotwell. After lunch one energetic member had a swim in the Thames. hefore turning in Dorchester Abhey tenor to Kent Major. Because of a puncture. two of the party reached Oxford Youth Hostel just hefore the 10 p.m. deadline.

Except for one lad, who was ill, the party departed next morning for Old Marston. The attempt for 15 Doubles methods failed and perhaps is best forgotten. Tower grabs followed, at Beckley, where the five ropes fall in a ' Z' shape, and Stanton St. John. Afternoon peal attempts were at Garsington, where seven methods was successful, and St. Thomas the Martyr, Oxford, for three methods, which, alas. didn't go. Supper was marred by the early departure of Michael Hatchett, who was always 'full of beans.'

We left Oxford on Thursday morning. Through unforeseen circumstances the peal at tempt at East Hagbourne was cancelled. Blewbury was selected for the afternoon attempt of Little Bob, which was halted after half an hour. The remaining two nights were spent at Streatley Youth Hostel.

CHANGE OF PERSONNEL

Next day we were off to South Stoke for 11 Minor methods, but Beverley and Surfleet just wouldn't splice. A quick change of one member was made, although no one could guess why! (And may it be said, this is nothing to do with his ringing ability.) Seven methods were then attempted but this failed in Oxford Bob after ringing 720's of Oxford, Kent and Cambridge. The afternoon saw two more attempts-a peal at Brightwell-cum-Sotwell. and an attempt for Minor at Pangbourne which, unfortunately, was unsuccessful.

The last day was spent in Streatley, where a peal was duly rung. This we had to get as our old friend, the warden, was listening. After the peal a small presentation was made to our organiser. Giles B. Thompson, who really did a 'grand job.' It was a dismal sight as everyone said goodbye, but perhaps this was due to the pouring rain. However, for five ringers the tour was not yet over, they travelled. one the hard way, in driving rain. to Aston Tirrold. where. with the help of the local fower captain, they rang a quarter peal of Doubles. A sumptuous tea, provided by his wife and family, followed.

We would like to say thank you to all incumbents and ringers who met us and allowed us to ring at their churches, and to our organiser, Giles Thompson.

OPEN DAY AT ROTHERHAM PARISH CHURCH

The annual "Open Day' at Rotherham Parish Church on September 7th again attracted over 300 members of the public during the afternoon to the tower and members of the local band were kept busy showing and explaining the items of interest-bells. clock, models and diagrams. etc.
In the evening. members of the public were able to watch the local band ring touches of Caters. Royal and Surprise Major-

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The August meeting of the St. Albans District was combined with the Western District and the Central District of the Ladies' Guild and held at North Mymms. Ringing on the eight bells at St. Mary's was done from the 'Dress Circle, the tenor ringer being down in the 'three bobs,' and ranged up to nine Spliced Surprise.

The service was taken by Graham Lock, the tower captain's son, who is a theological student. Mrs. Lock played the organ and organised the tea.

Mr. Bonnett the Association president. would have been in the chair had a formal business meeting been held. He is setting an example of attendance at District meetings that future presidents may be hard pressed to follow.

THE CHATSWORTH WEDDING

St. Peter's Church. Edensor, is situated in a beautiful setting in Chatsworth Park. close to Chatsworth House, the home of the Cavendish family. It was at this church that Lady Emma Cavendish. 20 -year-old daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, was married to the Hon. Tobias Tennant on September 3rd.
Simplicity and homeliness were the obvious keynotes of the wedding ceremony, where the employees and tenants of Chatsworth and Glenconner were all assembled together, with some of the highest in the land.

The bride, attended by one bridesmaid, her 6 -year-old sister, Lady Sophia. and one page. the 4 -year-old nephew of the bridegroom, wore a beautiful white gown. with a full length train. She looked very lovely, and wore no make-up. (There was no need!) The bridegroom is a strikingly handsome, well built young man, fair, with a healthy, clean complexion. They made a handsome couple as they stood at the altar.

Lady Emma had expressed a desire for the bells to be rung, but. as Edensor does not have a regular band. the Darley Dale company were invited to ring. They were led by their new Rector, the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith (president of the Lancashire Association), and he conducted most of the ringing. The ceremony over, all guests, including the ringers were invited to a champagne buffet. which took place in the gold decorated banqueting hall. and every guest was received in the most friendly manner by the bride and bridegroom their parents, the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire. Lord ard Lady Glenconner, and the best man, the Marquess of Hartington. The wedding cake, made by Mrs. Dorothy Child at Chatsworth, was cut in the approved fastion and freely distributed to all the guests.

A few days after the wedding a full peal of 5.040 Bob Minor was rung by the Darley Dale band. with their Rector conducting.

JAFUS.

MISS PATRICIA BOURN MARRIED

Miss Patricia Bourn, daughter of Mr . and Mrs. T. G. Bourn, of Church Street, Clitheroe. Lancs. and Ringing Master of the Bristol University Society in 1956. was married on August 5th at Clitheroe Parish Church. where she was a ringer. The bride taught chemistry at Blackburn High School,

'SHOW NIGHT' AT MONMOUTH

August 29 th dawned bright and sunny, a perfect day for the Monmouthshire Agricultural Show. held annually at Monmouth in a field overlooked by the church.
Ringing at Monmouth on 'Show Night ' has become a tradition over the last ten years. started by the late Mr. Len Jones. Although Mr. Jones had died only two weeks previously. it was decided to carry on with the usual ringing this year. with the arrangements in the hands of the Rev. Ivor Richards. Mr. J. Clarike. of Monmouth, kindly got the tower and bells in readiness for the ringers. Visitors to the show were treated to many delights, including the music of a brass band and touches on the church bells-sometimes both together! But no complaints from crowds of people thronging the show ground and the narrow streets!

This annual gathering of ringers from the border counties is always a pleasant occasion and an opportunity to meet old friends. Ringers attended from Llanarth. Usk. Newpon.

THE RAVING RINGERS IN IRELAND

FOR the first time in their history, the Society of Raving Ringers crossed the sea for their annual summer tour-to Ireland. This year the Society had lost its honourable Master, Mr. Ron Russ, who is at present living in Adelaide. South Australia.
On Friday. July 26th, 14 Ravers, fully fledged or new-comers, met at Liverpool, from London. Cambridge. Cheltenham, Bucks and Oxfordshire
A ring was snatched by some of the party at Much Woolton, before boarding M.V. Ulster Prince for Belfast. Some of us recalled hearing these bells on a Christmas broadcast about wo years ago.
At $9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. prompt the boat sailed and most spent the night either walking the deck or grabbing 'forty winks' on any vacant chair. Affer a calm crossing the boat docked at Belfast at $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on July 27 th , and it was only a matter of time before Howard Oglesby's car had been unloaded from another hoat. Chris Clarke and Dennis Bowen went into Belfast to pick up the minibus, which was to be our main transport for the coming week. Before long. the Ravers flag was hoisted on the roof of the minibus, and we left for the Botanic Hotel. Bel fast, for breakfast. We were surprised to find that Mr. Eric Speake's touring party were staying just opposite us in the Alexandra Hotel. After break fast the tired travellers were only too glad to get some sleep, before the mass onslaught which was to start on the Saturday afternoon

JOINED IRISH

ASSOCIATION
All of the Society memhers had hecome honorary resident life members of the Irish Association hefore the tour and. complete with hadges, we sailed forth from Belfast at 3 p.m. to visit our first Irish tower

Our journey from Belfast took us along the southern shore of Belfast Lough to Holywood, where we were greeted by $\mathbf{M r}$. J. T. Dunwoody, the Master of the Association. Alas! due to the journey and lack of sleep we were unable to make the best of our striking. The bells are of good tone and go very well. and led us to expect some excellent rings elsewhere. Howard Oglesby got lost on the way to Holywood, but eventually his car arrived and some rather poor Stedman and a course of Yorkshire finished our ringing here.
We next stopped at Bangor, a scaside resort and were delaved by a mile long traffic jam Fortunately Mick Ling, our navigator, knew where the church was. Bangor bells are a fine eight of excellent tone. but unfortunately one or two of them are odd struck. Here we tried our first course of Bristol of the tour. but efforts to ring the method were in vain due to many sleepy-eyed Ravers.
Following tea. we motored on in the heat of the afternoon to Ballylesson. As it was not marked on our navigator's map I suspect we saw more of the Irish countryside than originally intended. Finally we arrived at Drumbo, which is a part of Ballylesson. and we were welcomed by two young local ringers. The bells sound and go very well. It was at this tower that Tony Mann called his first touch of 'Spliced' Minor. which we suspect

Back at the hotel in Belfast. Howard Oglesby was elected Master in Ron Russ absence, and Mick Coleman became Ringing Master
On Monday morning we headed for Lurgan with a ring of eight of good tone. but difficult to handle due to the extremely long draught We were each presented with a linen cloth, on which was printed a picture of the church. For these gifts we thank the ringers of Lurgan.
Passing through the Mountains of Mourne we came to the village of Rostrevor. These pleasant bells were broadcast on Christmas Day. An added attraction about the belfry is that the 5 th and tenor are rung from a high ledge. Although the 2nd slipped whee occasionally some good courses of London and Cambridge were rung.
Following lunch we crossed the Eire border and arrived in Drogheda in good time. A reporter from 'The Drogheda Independent' rushed up to the belfry to interview us and Chris Clarke immediately placed an order for a copy of the paper.
Between Drogheda and Dublin we visited Skerries, for the Ravers' annual dip, and amongst scores of jelly fish we marched forward to waggle our loes in the Irish Sea. Dennis Bowen seemed unwilling to join us, but after a half mile chase along the beach was soon persuaded to do so.

IN DUBLIN
Tuesday was our busiest day. with a programme of six towers. First was Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, a majestic ring of ten. which have two semitones amongst them for light and medium weight octaves. Unfortunately, due to very low ropes, there was difficulty in managing the back bells. Next to Blessington which in Dove's are labelled "unringable." Half the fifth's wheel is missing and part of the tenor wheel was badly damaged. Due to these defects we were therefore restricted to ringing all the bells except the fifth. The front bells are in reasonable order, but the tenor required four stalwart youths to raise it. We managed to ring Bob Minimus on the front four. with the tenor covering, but found that one course was ample for the brave man ringing the tenor. Tony Mann. our tenor king, had to supper in the Church Hall, and we thank them.

THREE TOWERS ON SUNDAY
Our first tower on Sunday was St. Thomas'. Belfast. shared with Eric Speake's party. The bells sound very well. though odd struck and exceptional effort is required around the back end. In the afternoon we visited Carrickfergus and some visited the castle here. while others went for a ride. Carrickfergus bells are in a detached campanile. directly above the church lich-gate. The bells were originally cast by Gillett and Johnston and are a fine eight.
Leaving Carrickfergus we headed around the northern shore of Belfast Lough in time to ring the ten bells at St. Mark's, Dundela. The ten are good for their weight. Our final tower of the day was St. Donard's, Bloomfield. where we took it in turns to ring as the belfry is extremely small. just about enough room for six people at a time. and after while the belfry resembles a Turkish Bath.
one ring on it and then slunk down the stairs However. Chris Clarke attempted to turn the tenor into Bob Doubles. This he did. but a rope breaking on the 3 rd caused the effort to come to a sudden end. The bells are an average loned six and. with the 5th chimed and three on the tenor. some reasonable rounds were achieved. This tower was Mick Coleman's 500 th and was one he certainly will not forget.
Our journey to Bray took us through one of the most beautiful parts of Ireland: Glendalough, and it was here that we had lunch before finally passing around the foot of the Sugarloaf mountain and entering Bray itself Here we had our biggest disappointment of the tour. On arrival we were informed that the tenor clapper pin had sheared off and therefore we could only ring on the front seven. Our party piece at Bray was to have been a course of Bristol. A varied collection (Continued on page 630)

Sunday Morning Ringing

Dear Sir,-Clearly the pattern of Sunday morning worship involving a service at 9 or 9.30 has come to stay-at least for the foreseeable future.
Its advantages are so obvious. It normally consists of Holy Communion, so devised, in splendid simplicity, as to emphasise the greatest values of Christian worship-the gathering together of the redeemed family, with one another and with our Redeemer; the offering of our lives and activities to our Lord and to our fellow men: the consecrating of the working week which is to follow, by the receiving of the fruits of men's work hallowed by Christ's blessing. It transforms the atmosphere of Church from being ' a place to which we go ' to 'the home to which we belong.' The breakfast which often follows is the final act of transforming a crowd into a family.
Where it is found difficult to ring before such a service, surely the obvious thing is to ring afterwards. Indeed, this might seem even more appropriate than ringing beforehand for its purpose is then the proclaiming to ali around the splendour of the presence of the around the splendour of the presence thist whose family has gim in the church below.
We ring after a wedding, to proclaim the joy of two people coming together as a family in God's name. Similarly the joy of the gathering together of the Christian family round the Lord's tahle can animate our Sunday mid-morning ringing.-Yours sincerely.

GILBERT THURLOW (Canon).

Greal Yarnouth.

Dear Sir,-In case any of your readers should he misled. I hasten to comment on the letter from Mr. Frank S. Cheney, on page 596 of 'The Ringing World' of September fith. This was written from South Wigston, Lcicester, and I should like to make it clear that Mr. Cheney's remarks have nothing whatcver to do with the ringers or the ringing at St. Thomas', South Wigston.
It is true that Mr. Cheney lives as close to St. Thomas' as some of our own ringers, but he worships at All Saints', Wigston Magna. (Conversely, two of St. Thomas' ringers live quite close to All Saints'.)
When I first came to St. Thomas' in January, 1953. only one bell was chimed (by the churchwarden) for the morning service at 10 a.m. However, the bells of St. Thomas' have rung every Sunday morning for the last eight years and even during the recent holiday season the minimum number being rung has been six.
Quite naturally. a number of incumbents are holding their Parish Communion. Family Mass, or call it what you will, at an earlier time than 11 a.m. and making it the principal act of worship. Therefore it is also necessary for the ringers to be there in time to ring adequately for it. Why Mr. Cheney should think it to be obviously more difficult to obtain a band to ring for a service at 9 or $9.30^{\prime}$ I do not know, unless the activities of some members of the band the previous evening have something to do with it!
have heard two or three fellow Ringing Masters say to me: ' Our Vicar has altered the morning service to 10 (or earlier). therefore we cannot ring for it." To my mind it should be: 'Our Vicar has altered....therefore we have to get up an hour earlier and it means have to get up an hour earlier and it means we have an extra hour hefore lunch for.... we have an (gardening?).
(gardening?).
Surely our duty as ringers is to ring the bells for service at times laid down by the incumbent and not to say that we will ring only when we think we will-Yours faithfully.

South Wigston, Leics.

Peal Collections and Errors

Dear Sir-Mr. D. R. Carlisle's letter on page 580 presents a good- case for the inclusion of details of the incidence of falseness in a Surprise Major Collection. Possibly some comments from another outsider may be relevant.
(1) C.C. publications take a long time to get into print. The last attempt to produce such a book died on its feet and it was left to Mr. Corrigan to put the Council to shame. I suggest that anything that may cause delay is to be avoided.
(2) It is traditional that all C.C. publications have misprints. Incorrect place notation shows up when the method is written outerrors in falseness do not.
(3) On past showing, the Methods Committee have no idea of how to economise on space-the Minor Collection is a classic example of this-I have no doubt they are debating whether to print whole or half leads of the methods! The addition of information on falseness would give a further excuse to lengthen the publication.
(4) In conclusion I would make one plea to the committee; please put in the methods that people ring. The present Doubles and Minor collections are infuriating, not so much because they contain page after page of seldomrung rubbish. but hecause they do not contain methods and so called variations which are very frequently rung.-Yours sincerely.

RICHARI F. B. SPEED.

Stretton-on-Dunsmore
Note by the "Locum."-Item (2) is a bit sweeping. The presence of misprints is not these days confined to ringing publications. It must also be remembered that the work is all voluntary and usually done by very busy members of the Council-W. G.W.

50 Years' Ringing at Aldenham

Dear Sir,-As the oldest member, in age, of the Aldenham band of church bell ringers, it has fallen to my happy lot to bring to your notice the outstanding record of our respected Tower Master. Mr. Cecil Evans. He has been ringing continuously at the Church of St. John the Baptist. Aldenham, excepting for illness and holidays, since he was 12 years old in 1913 He has thus completed 50 years service to the church.
I do not think I can do better than quote from a letter to Cecil from the Vicar of Aldenham, who congralulates him on attaining his jubilee as a ringer. It is, he says, a magnificent record. and one of which he may he justly proud. not the least valuable period being the last sixteen years, when he held the Aldenham tower together during his, the Vicar's. incumbency, and has built up such a useful band of ringers.
We. the members of the Aldenham band. would like to join our Vicar in congratulating Cecil on his achievement, and hope he may be spared for many years to come, and enjoy increasing happiness in his fine task for Christ and His Church.

Cecil has been instrumental in teaching many learners, including my own two sons and for which I personally owe him a deht of gratitude. Ringing is a grand hobby. hut more than that. a service to the Church of which anyone may te proud. My only regrat is that I did not start learning until I was 56. However. I hope to carry on for a few more years yet. always assuming I don't get the sack!-Yours faithfully.

Radlett. Herts.

The Clerical Guild

Dear Sir,-Referring to the note in Belfry Gossip (page 600), the members of the Clerical Guild are at one with Mr. E. Barnett in realising that a peal of Stedman should have been recorded for the Guild ere this. The peals of Stedman Triples and Caters in 1884, 1910 and 1914 were rung, of course, before the Guild was formed.
But I want to assure Mr. Barnett that the Guild has made some attempts at Stedman Triples: one at Highweek. Newton Abbot, in 1939, where after half-a-peal of good and fast ringing the whole thing suddenly went o pieces: another at Coln St. Aldwyn in 1947. where belfry conditions were too awkwardly primitive : and. again at Combe Martin in 1955. where the first mistake after two and a half hours proved fatal.
We were, perhaps, unduly bold to attempt Cinques at High Wycombe in 1911, even with the band of stalwarts who could be mustered then. Gathering only for a day or two, reliable ringers as they were, few of them in regular practice and some of them strangers to twelvebell ropesight and beat, success was hardly to be expected. But we enjoyed trying. That was the fine old generation comprising $G$. D. Coleridge. C. P. D. Davies. F. J. O. Helmore H. S. T. Richardson, C. W. O. Jenkyn, A. T. Beeston, W. W. C. Baker, Law James and Bankes James, $H$. E. Cockey and C. A.
Clements. It was such a privilege to know and ring with them all, and we owed much to the organisation of my cousin. E. V. Cox. Alas! those have all passed on now, but the Clerical Guild has some capable successors to them and with the keen present generation one looks forward confidently to the emergence of a peal band which will not be afraid to tackle anything. It has to he remembered. of course, that our members, scattered widely over the country as they are, have little or no opportunity of practising together-obviously a disadvantage and most of us know that Stedman can defy the best of us!

Sad to say, at my age, I must leave it to them now to redeem the failures of the past. Certainly I urge that the Guild's primary ohjective should be a peal of Stedman-Triples at least. and I hope Mr. Barnett may be granted with me the joy of seeing it accomplished before long.-Yours sincerely,
C. CAREW COX

Yorkshire Fives

Dear Sir--I fear that M. K. makes a misstatement when he, or she, states that Wykeham is the only 5 -bell tower in the Northern District of the Yorkshire Association (see page 580 of the 'R.W.'). Does not M. K. know of a place called Nidd. situated between Harrogate and Ripon, which is another 5-bell tower in the Northern District of the Yorkshire Association?
Perhaps what M. K. really meant to say is that Wykeham is the only 5 -bell tower in the North Riding of Yorkshire; but what he or she is apparently overlooking is the fact that some towers situated in the West Riding of Yorkshire are attached to the Northern District of the Yorkshire Association. I recommend M. K to peruse some of the annual reports of the Yorkshire Association.-Yours faithfully.

All Saints', Wandsworth -An Apology

Dear Sir,-May I express my apologies to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for the misstatements contained in the opening sentence of my article on All Saints', Wandsworth? The sentence also seems to blame them for the poor condition of the bells. This was completely unintentional. The date should, of course, have been 1922, in which year (says a memorial tablet in the tower) 'several defects arose which caused the need for restoring and modernising.'
However, I would like to make it clear that two factors assured me that the bells were rehung in 1956, both of which are now known to be false: (1) I was told by members of the All Saints', Wandsworth, Society (who after abandoning the tower continued at Holy Trinity, West Hill) that they were rehung in 1956 . This tallied with (2), an edition of the - Belliringers' Guide ' of about that time, which says: 'Wandsworth All Saints' bells not yet rehung.' These two points, of course, made me think that the bells had been rehung.
The error is deeply regretted and a letter of apology will also be sent to the founders.Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL UPHILL.

Adding 48 Changes

Dear Sir,-Noticing in your issue of August 30th the way in which the peal of 5,040 Surprise Maximus at Lincoln Cathedral on August 5 th was obtained reminds me of a similar peal rung at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, on April 12th, 1930. This contained 48 changes of Primrose and 4,992 of New Cambridge Maximus, being the first peal of Surprise Maximus to contain only 5,040 changes. Both these plans bring up the Wrong position at the first lead. Also 5,088 and 5,184 changes of Rochester Surprise Maximus have been rung at Ipswich.-Your truly,
G. E. SYMONDS.

Ipswich.

The Late Mr. L. H. Jones

Dear Sir.-May I thank Mrs. D. J. King for her appreciation of the late Mr. L. H. Jones, of Monmouth a man it was a privilege to have known. In the early 1880 s. my father went to live at Monmouth. where he taught a band from scratch and in 1886 called the first peal on the bells. In 1956, Mr. Jones arranged another to commemorate the 70 th anniversary and invited me to take part.
The kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Jones to my wife and myself during our visit is something we have never forgotten.-Yours sincerely.

OBITUARY

MR. T. McMORRAN
A quarter peal of Grandsire Triples came to grief and brought grief when, after forty minutes ringing. Mr. Thomas McMorran, conductor at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, conducting off the 2 nd, suffered a cerebral hamorrhage and died in the ringing chamber on Tuesday, August 27th.

The quarter peal had been in progress 40 minutes, when Mr. McMorran collapsed and died. It was to be a compliment to mark his 50 years' active service in his trade union. The band was H H. Brown 1, T. McMorran 2. W. E. Lynch 3, H. W. Jones 4, C. J. Reede 5; D. Vokes 6, J. A. Atkinson 7, T. H. Wilson 8.

Mr. McMorran learned to ring in St. George's. Dublin. in 1912, and would speak proudly of conducting call changes there. He was elected a member of the Irish Association in May, 1913, and in May, 1963. was elected a life member in recognition of his services to change ringing in Ireland.
In 1920 he joined the Cathedral Society, and two years later rang his first peal; in all he rang in 12 successful peals, including the first peals on the bells of Derry Cathedral and Limerick Cathedral, and also the first peal by a band composed only of Irishmen. He learned to conduct under Gabriel Lindolf, and. when Mr. Lindoff died in 1941. Mr. McMorran was the obvious choice to succeed him as conductor at St. Patrick's Cathedral. He also held the office of secretary for 20 years.
He enjoyed his conducting, deriving great pleasure in calling quarter peals, especially several of Stedinan, his favourite method. He also conducted the only quarter peal rung by a band of Irish Freemasons, being himself a Past Master of the Craft.
Mr. McMorran was by trade a carpenter, and last year completed 50 years' active membership of the Amalgamated Society of Woodworkers. Visitors to St. Patrick's will have seen a rare example of his craftsmanship in the handsome press which he fashioned to display the set of handbells and contain the Society's records. They will also remember his friendly welcome and spontaneous invitation to "call a touch,' and his hospitality in his home when the "crooked bottle' would be produced.
His loss to St. Patrick's Cathedral in particular, and to Ireland in general, will be keenly felt; he was a link with the men who established change ringing in Ireland and his own knowledge of the art was extensive. The bells were rung half-muffled before the burial service in the Cathedral, plain courses only of Grandsire, for our conductor was dead. Representatives of many towers attended the interment at Mount Jerome.

The sympathy of all his many friends is extended to his wife, Mrs. Alice McMorran.

C. J. R.

Mr. and Mrs. Fardon and Mr. and Mrs. Hart, of Middlesex, and Miss Sweeney, of Farnham, Surrey, whilst holidaying in Ireland, gave valuable and greatly appreciated assistance to the ringers at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, on Sunday September 1st, when the bells were rung muffled in memory of the late Mr. McMorran.

OUTINGS

BAWTRY

The Derbyshire area was chosen for the annual outing of Bawtry ringers on August 31st. It was an enjoyable day with perfect weather. Towers visited were Clay Cross. South Normanton. South Wingfield, Swanwick, Ripley, Breadsall and St. Andrew's, Derby, Incumbents and all who helped to make the day possible are sincerely thanked.
A. J.

ST. MICHAEL'S, WORKINGTON

A tour in three counties was enjoyed by St. Michael's, Workington. ringers & friends. totalling 20, on June 29th. Towers visited were Ambleside, Kendal (Grandsire Caters and Bob Royal), Lancaster R.C. Cathedral, Lancaster Priory (Cambridge Surprise Major) and Morecumbe. Mr. Les Boumphrey is thanked for organising the tour

DUNHAM MASSEY, CHESHIRE

Twenty-six ringers, friends and relations from Dunham Massey, Rostherne, Bowdon, Northenden, Swintan, Leigh and Birch-in-Rusholme left Altrincham at $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on August 22 nd for an outing to Leicestershire. Rain and low cloud spoilt the journey over the Pennines and it was still raining at Kegworth, where the party had lunch.
The Loughborough Bell Foundry followed. and all the party agreed that 90 minutes was too short a time to see the foundry and ring there. Thurcaston (a delightful eight) and Wanlip (6) concluded the ringing, but before returning home Mrs. Thomas, the mother of an ex-Dunham Massey ringer, gave the party an excellent hot meal at her home in Birstall. All too brief was the look at the new church in Birstall.
Our thanks are due to lohn Taylor and Co. incumbents, tower captains and ringers, and Mrs. Thourras, for a wonderful day. A. K. M.

WOOTTON WAWEN, WARWICKS.

A number of ringers and friends from St . Peter's, Wootton Wawen, and the surrounding area made an early start on July 27th for their annual outing. At Long Compton, the first tower, we encountered the only hitch of the day-the difficulty in obtaining the belfry kev, which was eventually found after exploring most of the village.
Enstone and Middleton Stoney, where the church stands in private grounds, followed, and we were glad of the map sent by the local captain. The last tower before funch was Bicester (a lovely eight) and a member of the local band joined us for ringing. An alfresco lunch was enjoyed here in the sunshine by some, while others visited the local tavern.
In the afternoon towers visited included Buckingham (hardly suitable for just after lunch), Towcester and Brackley. We concluded our ringing on the fine ten at Banbury but, regrettably, were unable to ring Royal. An excellent dinner was enjoyed at leisure in Banbury afterwards.

Methods rung during the day included Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob.

We would like to express our thanks to the incumbents and local ringers who met us. Also to Tom, our driver, Miss Riley and the other organisers who helped to make the day so enjoyable.
H. A. A.

$3,4,5,6,8,10,12$, IN KENT

On June 28th, 4.30 p.m., and off for a long week-end in Kent. En route, Guildford. How the Cathedral has improved since last we saw it-only chancel completed then. Three parts round the town and we arrive : my, this is something; and a hassock with embroidered bell greets us immediately inside the west door. Almost behind the altar we find the 'Pulling bell. just as the 'curfew' is rung-shouldn't bells be in a tower? We leave: what is that thing upon the tower?
At 8.30. Stoke D'Abernon. Here we are, a delightful 3 cwt . six and not tricky to handle. At 9 oclock, ringers ${ }^{\circ}$ rest hour already; perhaps we could take the bells with us? No? timbered for us, fine-looking place; let's to bed. Expensive garret this, at $30 /-$; perhaps they ve heard of ringers!
At 9.30 a.m., Biggin Hill. St. Mark's, with fine-proportioned tower; not a bit as expected. Joy of joys, the bells are fully-muffled; and the Vicar, in an ecstasy with our first course of Kent in Kent, wishes his choirboys would strike in like manner on Sundays. Oh, that we could stay all day!
Foots Cray: a' very light five, though the second is trying to make it a six by speaking twice. Any congregation here must scale the pews to dodge the ropes. Ah, welcome to Miss E.-left Sandbach at 2 a.m.! On again: what traffic. Gravesend-aptly named-and frustration: not one native knows the Chapel of Unity. Perhaps this is the Styx Ferry queue, from which we extricate ourselves in the 'nick? of time. At 12 o'clock we must give up-hope the others found it. Stop-start-switch offcrawl on. Ah, a blessed motorway. Leeds, of great repute, we come to pay homage. Sorry we're a bit late, sir. Where is the 40,000 peal board? In a pile and sadly neglected-the worms appreciate it anyway. Ninth and tenor kick, perhaps in protest.

Staplehurst, Cranbrook, Biddenden, Smarden : 8. 8, 8, 6, with ringing fair and not so fair, a rusted clock hammer wire, and plain hunting for food. Through fields of hops, past hosts of oasts, broken and misleading signposts. Little Chart-modern church, tower and beils; not quite a Biggin Hill. Away with tea, let's enjoy these while we may-pity about the slider noise or whatever: we persevere with OswaldDelight(ed) we get it.
Egerton: band for rising: must be anticlockwise : ah, that's better. It is, we find, a stronghold of peculiar T.B. methods. A lone ringer, despairing of his local band. greets us for Chartham's noisy six. Now, hey-ho, to Canterbury, where we unearth St. Alphege's and grope for the main switch. Last ring of the day, and we forget to ring Canterbury Pleasure -even in Reverse. But now for the delights of a Chinese restaurant. with a bottle of the best. and talk of tours past, present-and one settled for October. And so. thankfully, to the Land of Nod. Not one spare bed in all Canterbury this night. We are pilgrims indeed.

Sunday, and away to Birchington to ring for Mattins: a light eight, a joy to ring. Now for ye mysteries of Quex Park. Intrigued, we wend and paddle towards a dripping spinney where, suitable incantations muttered. we enter the "brickdom: tuck up the newly-fitted ropes and raise the bells, then explore. Eerie it is, and unlovely. Vampires and things. Come! let's ring them. Squire Powell, does he listen, in mausoleum beneath the tower? Caters. Triples, rounds, unaided by new ropes and down.
Lunch in Canterbury, and exercise in ascending the Cathedral tower. Lovely bells. Stedman's Triples-an awareness of our ears. The 12 to rounds, and Caters before we concede to Bell Harry's voice of fleeting time. Sadly, we must go. Photographs and goodbye to three of the band: and for us, from the sublime to Alkam's enjoyable four, and local band. amused to see us ring without resort to cards: Stedman and many forms of Minimus. The tower, scrutinised from 20 paces, we find, bears a marked resemblance to a prominent member of H.M.G.

An hour or so by the sea, and Brookland's triple candle-snufter, awaits us. Amid incredible noise we raise the five and attempt Doubles, watching the conductor's lips for notification of a bob. The massive beams about us visibly twist: we fear the rope guide. thrashing about its one-nail fixing, will embroil the tenor man's head and arms-a frightening thought. Outside, the bells sound subdued and sweet. Almost service time, we lower away to silence. An inspection of this curiosity reveals an immense tenor wheel and pits above the present level, perhaps for an original two.
One more tower before we turn homeward; but when we find it two miles away we don't want to leave. An oasis among low-lying and oft-flooded fields stands Fairfield's tiny church. Fittingly, in its cote are hung 'iij' small bells; the tenor we judge about 2 cwt. Much pleasure they give us when rung to Reverse and Original Singles, and even call-changes. We give a chance visitor his first lesson in handling a bell, and advise him to have more when he gets home.

Well done, John Sawtell, say we all, in organising such a memorable tour: 16 ringing friends, representing six counties, have taken part. Thank you. kind vicars and captains, for permission to ring and welcomes in meeting us.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

About 30 people were present for the service and tea at the Ashford District meeting : New Romney on September 7th.

The service was conducted bv the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. Stuart Martin), who spoke interestingly. Mr. D. Tullett was at the organ. Tea was enjoyed in the adjacent Church Hall and was kindly paid for by Mr. J. Willis, the esteemed charman of the Dis* trict, who was celebrating his 80th birthday.

In his vote of thanks Mr. J. R. Cooper included another octogenarian, Mr. H. S. Humphery, captain of the New Romney ringers, who made all the arrangements and who has long been a stalwart in this outpost of the District.
New Romney was once the chief of the Cinque Ports but now the only reminder of its former greatness is its ancient church, with its glorious Norman nave. The tower is one of the finest in the south of England, 100 feet high and 32 feet square. It has had al ring of eight bells for over 200 years.
C. T. H.

of Triples methods were rung on the front seven, and we had no doubt in our minds whatsoever that if the tenor had been ringing also we woutd certainly have declared these bells to be one of the finest rings of eight.
After tea we visited St. George's, Dublin, and we found eight bells very much to our liking. Our visit to Ireland would not have been complete if we had not rung the Erin principle, so it was appropriate that we should terminate our visit to St. George's with a good touch of Erin Triples.
We arrived on time at St. Patrick's Cathedral to appreciate fully our hour's ring on the glorious 12 . The bells were already up when we arrived, and ringing commenced with a course ot Grandsire Cinques. Here we were all very pleased to meet Mr. Fred Dukes, through whon the tour had been arranged. Here also the mighty Anthony turned the tenor into a course of Cambridge Royal.
We were rather late for our final tower of the day-the Augustinian Church of St. John the Baptist. The entrance to the belfry was definitely the most peculiar ascent any of us had ever encountered. It is at the top of a 90 ft . spiral staircase, which commences somewhere amongst the church organ. The ten bells are anti-clockwise and do not go very well, the ninth and the tenor being extremely odd-struck both ways.

TWO CATHEDRALS ON WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday our first tower was Arklow. set upon a hill and visible for many miles around. The bells are an extremely good eight : they all go very well indeed, and some very good ringing was heard. finishing with a very fast course of Yorkshire.
Our second tower of the day was Kilkenny Cathedral. The belfry is very spacious and the bells are housed in a wood and metal cage structure on top of the central tower. The rope circle is very large and the bells are noisy from inside the belfry. Here the whole Society signed and sent a postcard to Ron Russ. our past Master. who is at present living in Kilkenny, Adelaide. South Australia. The final tower of the day was Waterford Cathedral. The local captain made us very welcome and we enjoyed the bells very much. Ringing here included the Society's first course of Lincolnshire, some Spliced Plain Major and Gainsborough Little Bob Major. The night was spent at Dungarvon, 30 miles away.
Thursday saw us heading past the Comeragh Mountains towards Cork. At St. Fin Barre's Cathedral we were met by the president of the Irish Association, Mr. Fred Bogan, and here also the official tour photograph was taken. The bells are a marvellous eight, but unfortunately rather noisy inside the belfry. In the afternoon we rang at Bandon (6), and once more dodged with Eric Speake's party.
Arriving at Doneraile, we managed to have some good ringing on these very pleasant little six, including an extremely fast course of Cambridge and a much slower course of Hull. Our final tower on Thursday was St. Mary's Cathedral. Limerick. After celebrating Mick Coleman's 500 th tower in the true raving fashion. we made our weary way to our hotel in the centre of Limerick.
On Friday morning we rang at the Church of Mount St. Alphonsus, and most of the Saciety agreed that the ring is one of the finest tens we had ever rung on. Ringing concluded with a fine course of Cambridge Royal.
The last tower on Friday was Enniskillen. some 150 miles away from Limerick. On our way we met a donkey cart, and soon the minibus was parked by the side of the road while the photometers of our keen photographers pointed from all directions towards a rather bewildered lrishman. After Mick Ling's detour through a farmyard, we finally managed to reach Enniskillen, despite the fact that our smuggling members were detained for a time at the Northern Irish Customs on the way. Ringing at Enniskillen commenced with a course of Cambridge Royal so that Tony Mann and Howard Oglesby could take Howard's car back to Belfast that evening to catch the ferry back to Liverpool. The rest of the Ravers journeyed on towards Londonderry.
Saturday morning saw us ringing at Derry Cathedral, and at this tower Howard and Tony rejoined us. The bells, a fine ring of ten, go well. but several had very deep sets which left some of our female members dangling in the Londonderry air.
This was our last day in Ireland. and our two final towers were Coleraine and Ballymena The latter had the ideal ring on which to finish our tour of Ireland. Ringing of exceptional standard was attained. A fine touch of St. Clement's Triples concluded a marvellous week in Ireland.

On Saturday evening we sailed from Belfast for Liverpool. Ringing on Sunday was at Everton in the morning, and in the afternoon we visited Childwall. An application to look at Liverpool Cathedral bells proved unsuccessful. but nevertheless we did visit the cathedral. Our final tower of the tour was St. Nicholas", Pierhead. On Monday, the seventh annual tour of the Society of Raving Ringers ended.

On behalf of the whole Society may I thank Mr. Fred Dukes for making this tour possible. Thanks also are due to Chris Clarke, Howard Oglesby and Ron Russ, our organisers on this side of the Irish Sea, and to all the incumbents and tower captains of the towers we visited. Next year we hope to see some of Somerset.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe writes: 'I read with interest BF/FPY GOSS/P An interesting query has whout the discovery of the 13th century bell at Appleshaw, Hants. I know nothing of this and W. E. Colchester's "Hampshire Church Bells" (page 68) says only: "Appleshaw-one bell modern." I wonder if the old bell has been acquired from some other church.
Martin Foster and Jonathan Chamberlain, who recently spent a cycling holiday in Yorkshire, would like to thank those who made them so welcome, both at York and Whitby, and especially Margaret Wilkinson for her hospitality and for introducing them to parkin.
A quarter peal at Gedling, Notts, on September 4th, was rung half-muffled as a token of respect to Mr. William F. Horsepool, a regular member of the local band for over 40 years, who died on September 1st, aged 62 years.
From the M.V. 'Cannanore' (P. and 0. Line), Mr. K. Fleming, of Ampthill, Beds. sends his thanks to the ringers of the Hull District and other East Riding towers for their hospitality and friendship during his stay in Hull.

Mr. Ernest Paulson, of Darley Dale, has achieved a notable success by obtaining his B.Sc., London University, at the age of 46. This was after five years' intense study in his spare time. He is now tackling the necessary study for his M.A. degree, and all ringers will. wish his every success.
The method of Langston Surprise Major, the first peal of which was rung at Churchill, Oxon, on September 7th, was so named to perpetuate a family name. The church was erected in 1826 at the sole expense of James Haughton Langston, M.P. He died in 1863. and the east window is a memorial to him from his tenants Churchill tower is a copv from his tenants Churchill
'Jafus' contributes to the August-September issue of the 'Belfry News' (newspaper of Derbyshire ringers) an article on ringing in Derby 40 years ago. He recalls, in particular; James Pagett, appointed captain of All Saints', who could ring two tower bells together and also handbells up to Double Norwich.

An interesting query has GOSJIP points the tower captain. Is it the Rector's prerogative or is the appointment made by the ringers? Our experience is that the selection is made by the ringers and the Rector is notified of therr choice and has the right to object. Often he is present (in the chair) at the meeting. The right of appointing an organis! rests with the incumbent, and if the tower captain is a salaried officer of the church then the same principle would apply.

Whilst on a tour of Hertfordshire on August 31st, Mrs. Doreen Bradley, one of the band at Shelford, Notts, rang in her 1,000th tower ! Her husband, Frank, has a similar distinction. The Rev. A. W. S. Holmes, the new Vicar of Etwall, Derbyshire, who comes from Churchill, near Oxford, is a 'ringer' himself, as are two of his five daughters. He was chairman of the Chipping Norton Branch.
Ringers who have visited Durban and met Cyril Chambers will be sorry to learn that he has recently lost his son, John. He was a telecommunications engineer, working in Turkey, where on an expedition into the mountains he was robbed and murdered

Readers interested in G. A. Hall's article which appeared in our issue of August 30th should obtain a copy of the Central Council book, 'Preservation and Repair of Bells' (price 2 s . post free) from Mr. R. F. B. Speed, Four Winds, School Lane, Stretton-on-Dunsmore, Rugby.

The new ring of eight supplied by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. has arrived at the Borough Church of St. Clement. Hastings. While the hanging will be completed shortly, the tower will not be open to ringers until after the dedication service on November 24th. Details, will be announced in "The Ringing World ' later.
Miss M. Phillips, who rings at Great Mongeham, near Deal, has gone to Finland under the British Council to teach English and lecture on English life. She would like to include belvinging as an aspect of English life and would like pictures of bells and ringing sent to her home, Manor Cottage, Cherry Lane, Great Mongeham, Kent.

SECOND BEST?

AT the Salisbury Diocesan Choirs' Festival on June 29th, the preacher addressed himself to a great gathering of 600 choristers and posed to them a vital question: were they, as church workers, too often content with the second best? It was a theme he developed very ably to implicate bishops, priests and deacons, vergers, choristers, bell ringers and all who profess and offer worship Sunday by Sunday. The deadening effect of routine, the dangers of an unimaginative approach to the trivial round and the common task, the mental laziness that tolerates the mediocre and seeks no improvement of talent: these were the points driven right home to us by the skill of the speaker. And to all present who were ringers as well as singers there must have come some ray of revelation and some sudden striking thought of our own weekly routine of service in the belfry.

Repetition, mechanical repetition we should perhaps add, brings almost invariably a lowering of standard, and in our worship it is the set form of the ritual and its ceaseless repetition that makes it difficult for us not to accept it lightly and without fitting thought. Thus, our very acts of regular attendance at the belfry, admirable as they are in their discipline and consciousness of responsibility, are attended by a familiarity that may lull us into a sense of wellbeing, self-satisfaction and a species of indolence.

There are belfries where the standard of attendance for duty is not uniformly high: where there are members who are only too ready to intrude trivial occupations in front of Sunday observance. There are ringers who take no pains to attend practices and rehearsals in order to fit themselves more worthily for their weekly offering of belfry praise. And there are those who, regular in their attendance at service and practice, are yet content to remain in a narrow groove of activity, accepting second or third best, and stirred by no desire to improve their talent. These last are to be commended inasmuch as they are bound by their sense of honour to render their offering without fail, but it is a sad thought that many of them have never known the joy that comes from an uplift to higher things; and it is a matter for regret that so many of them have arrived at the threshold of a wonderful world, but will never go over into it to enjoy its pleasures to the full.

A state of competence in change ringing can be a very elusive thing, and it is well known that even highly educated and intellectual men and women have failed to acquire skill or proceed very far along the road to proficiency. But such instances are not common, and it can be said, in general, that, given the right approach and armed with a certain determination, an ordinary intelligent person can acquire proficiency in the elements of the art of change ringing and, indeed, go beyond the limitations of the simple standard methods.

But whether it is or is not given to the practitioner to seek and find the higher realms of ringing, there can be no evading the responsibility that rests on him to ensure that what he sets out to ring has had some preparatory thought and study. It is a pitiful and discouraging experience to find a ringer of long experience confessing that he does not know how a bob is made in Stedman Caters or requiring to be tutored on the spot when a single is called in Plain Bob. In these days of ready help, both from simple text books and in the form of personal advice, such ignorance is surely inexcusable. The higher and more difficult forms of ringing may be out of our reach, but the simple fundamentals of the easy methods can be firmly acquired by all who take the trouble. The competent ringer is made, not by any magical means or special intellectual endowment, but by intelligent study and determination.

How often do we hear the cry: 'I really haven't had time '? There are periods in our lives, we all know, when change ringing (and indeed other affairs) must be pushed into the background;-but it may be well to recall that the late Ernest Morris was a man of many activities and enterprises, archæologist, lecturer, author, historian and ceaseless tutor of change ringing, and with all this a ringer of 2,000 peals. Time, it is manifest, can be found for any worth-while occupation or essential duty, and the expenditure of so very little more could transform and enrich the offering of ringing in many a belfry.

A few weeks ago T. A. B. remarked that the Church had, over the years, all but expunged the bell from her rituals. Whether or not this be true, there is a strong army of Christians, clergy and laity that still sees the offering of Sunday ringing as an act of worship; and in that act of worship, weak and imperfect though we are, there should be no easy tolerance of the second best. E. C. S.

Washington Cathedral Carillon

Mr. Paul L. Taylor is in the United States for the inaugural ceremony at Washington Cathedral of the 53 bell carillon, which was due to take place on September 25th. Superintending the hoisting and erection of the bells has been Mr. Rohert Langton, of Braunton, now back home. The bells were brought from Raltimore in ten trucks and a special crape was provided for raising the 12 ton bell.

Mr. Ronald Barnes, president of the U.S. Guild of Carillonneurs, told Mr Langton he was delighted with the bells and their fine tone. He is now arranging the training of a full complement of boys in change ringing.

THE MIXTURE AS BEFORE
North Bovey, not at all io be confused with not-so-far-away Bovey Tracey, lies around its village green in a fold in the hills of the eastern slopes of Dartmoor.

The 13th and 15 th century church, built of moorland granite, was the meeting place for the now annual event held for the purpose of bringing the change and call-change ringer; of Devon more closely together and this oc casion proved to be no less successful than those held in previous years. Owing perhaps to the fact that North Bovey lies off the beaten track, not quite so many attended but, on the other hand, this ensured that more ringing was to be had by those present. The delightful six were ringing to call-changes early in the afternoon, followed quickly by members of the Devon Guild, and were kept going until service time at 4.30. In the meantime a party had gone to nearby Manaton 10 ring.
Evensong was conducted bv the Rector, and the collection was given to the church heating fund. Tea followed in the Village Hall, after which Mr. Lavers, of Plympton, gave an account of the peal of 1.069 changes, which he called recently at Plympton St. Mary-much to everyone's interest. Mrs. Hood (East Teignmouth) and Mr. Roberts (Babbacombe). the chairman and secretary of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild respectively, regretted being unable to be present-the former abroad on holiday and the latter in charge of a Sunday School outing Moving on to Moretonhampstead, the ring of cight was soon going well to "method" and call-changes, with mixed bands, until nearly 7 o'clock when, with buses to catch and some with long distances to travel-the Rev. John Scott for one-over the breadth of the county, the 'party' gradually broke up, leaving the local tower captain 'bringing on 'two young sters. So ended another 'annual' with even the weather keeping fine and sunny, for a welcome change.

The day would be incomplete without acknowledgment to the Rector of North Bove and the Rector of Moretonhampstead for thei ready welcome.

The Yorkshire Association.
For the third time in this series the Yorkshire Association proudiy presents to the Exercise one of its most outstanding youngsters.
S. Barry Schofield. youngest member of a well known ringing family, all of whom are members of the Bradford Cathedral band, was born in Bradford on November 23rd, 1947. His education started at Bradford Moor Primary School. and he won a scholarship to Carlton Boys' Grammar School, where he is at present.
Barry started to ring at the early age of nine under the careful and exacting tuition of his father. and in a very short time became a member of the Cathedral hand. a membership of which he is very proud.

First rung at the Bell Foundry. Loughborough. August 26th, 1963, conducted by Brian Gugh. Augus

The high standard of ringing which one enjoys at Bradford Cathedral was a tremendous help to Barry, and it was not long before he rang his first peal. This was when he rang the treble to Minor in three methods at Callingham. Yorkshire, conducted by Mr Ray Bettley-Cooke.
At the age of 13, Barry succeeded in ringing his first peal as conductar, when he called Bob Major at Birstwick on April 22nd, 1961 On August 31st of this year. this brilliant young ringer reached his first century, when he conducted a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Bradford Cathedral. A magnificent and noteworthy achievement for a youngster of 16. and one which surely deserves heartiest congratulations from the whole Exercise. The following is a list of Barry's 100 peals :
Minor.-Three methods 1 , seven methods 2 nine methods 1.
Triples.-Stedman 1, Plain Bob 1.
Major.-Plain Bob 5 (conducted 3), Double Norwich 2. Crosstone Imperial Court Bob 1.
Surprise Major.-Aldenham 1. Birstall 1 Bristol 2. Cambridge 9. Dorchester 1. Ealing 1. Heptonstall Little 1, Lincolnshire 1, Lincoln 1, London 7, New Cambridge 1. Pudsey 1 Rutland 1, Superlative 3, Yorkshire 10 (1).
Spliced Surprise Major.-Two methods five methods 1, six methods 2, seven methods 2. eight methods 4. ten methods 1.

Royal.-Plain Bob 3. Plain and Little 1.
Caters.-Grandsire 1
Surprise Royal.-Cambridge 6. London 4 Pudsey 1, Rochester 1. York 1, Yorkshire 8.
Spliced Surprise Royal.-Four methods 2, five methods 1 , seven methods 1,14 methods 1 Cinques.-Stedman 1
Surprise Maximus.-Cambridge 1.
Barry desires to express his gratitude to the Bradford Cathedral band and many Yorkshire ringers and others for the opportunities which have been given to him in connection with peal ringing. One of his ringing ambitions is to turn in Bradford Cathedral tenor to a peal of Surprise Royal.
This excellent recard must surely be a shining example to all youngsters in the ringing world. Well done, Barry.

What did you like best at Detroit Convention? "The presence of Frederick Sharpe among us, replied Helen Runkle. - A gentleman with tremendous personality, with a treasury of information about the bachground of bell ringing with a willingness to share modestly and effectively his talents. He graced our Conventian with dignity and charm. Thanks to him the links between American and Eaglish bell ringers have never been stronger.'

WILFRED WILLIAMS' DEVON PEAL TOUR

WHY is it that the first question you are always asked after a holiday is 'What sort of weather did you have?' The dozen or so 'scientific ringers' who made their way to Devon for the last week in August, from all parts of the country, were not particularly bothered about the weather, anyway. It was the usual sub-tropical monsoon stuff, more sub' than tropical. It did nothing to deter us from ringing 11 (out of 15) peals. It did nothing to discourage us from finding the best that Devon has to offer of bells, beer and scenery.

The first peal was scored on the Saturday morning at Ilminster (Somerset). Our new recruit (Ralph G.) was put on the tenor here and had had enough already by the end of it The party was then impeded by the notorious West Country holiday traffic and arrived late at Tiverton. The fine bells here already knew the method chosen. Bristol. The band obviously didn't, or they had forgotten it. This was a tragedy. We didn't need to lose that peal.

Our accommodation on the Friday was at the Bath Arms. Warminster. On Saturday night we took up residence at the Royal and Fortescue. Barnstaple. Two rose early on Sunday for early seryice. The rest had a late rise. Ralph, however, managed to round everyone up to attend Morning Prayer at Chittlehampton. The well known clerical ringer and president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers (the Rev. J. H. B. Andrews). who is Vicar here, was away. In his place was the priest who is custodian of the belfry at Westminster Abbey. He publicly welcomed 'the ten men from the Whitechapel Bell Foundry.' Ralph is now shaping well for his new emoloyment. but this surprise announcement nearly caused several fits! In the afternoon. Stedman was scored at Braunton. the first in the method for Derek Jewell. Derek lives at Combe Martin. and kindly arranged all the towers for us in the Barnstaple area, so we were glad to be able to give him this peal as some return for all he had done. It was not only conducted by a Past Master of the College Youths. but also heard by another Past Master outside.

OVERNIGHT TRAVELLING

That country curate from King's Lynn must have been getting his backstrokes into some order in his sermon on the Sundav night. In spite of having evening service at 6.30 p.m. he was firmly seated in the 7.42 train from King's Lynn to London with several minutes to spare, and duly arrived on the doorstep of the Fartescue at 6.30 a.m. on Monday in good time to ring two peals that dav.
John Eisel had to leave that morning, so we were still 12. Bristol was successfully rung at Bideford in the morning. These bells were recast in 1929. In the afternoon the newly recast bells of Aopledore settled down to a fairly brisk peal of Cambridge. Herc we were met by the Rev R. N. Longridge. Master of the Salisbury Guild, who turned up unexDectedly. This capped the mornine's experience. when we bumped into the Rev. John Scott in the centre of Bideford. He denied any planning of this. Had he known we were coming he would not have done his shopping in Bideford ! Jack Phillios, on holiday in his home country, joined us in the peal at Appledore, and so achieved a lifelong ambition to ring a deal there.
Tuesday saw a return to the scene of two former failures, the beautifully situated church at Tawstock. No clappers broke this time, and we rang a peal of Rutland. In the after noon we went to Chulmleigh, which is one of those churches with a beautifully carved screen running right across, for which Devon is renowned. The back six here are by Evans, of Chepstow (retuned 1957) and the tenor is 22 cwt . Two of the party took a delightful walk down to the river valley below the bridge, where they heard the bells to best advantage Echoes gave the effect of two peals being rung at the same time from two churches. London (Washbrook's) was successfully brought round
At Witheridge on Wednesday morning eight trusty men rang the first peal of Major on the bells (Lincolnshire). This achievement had so far eluded a certain well-known rhythm king, and so we sent a card post-haste to $\mathbf{A}$. $\mathbf{P}$ Cannon, to break the news. In the afternoon we had a treat in store. We rang a peal of Bristol on one of Taylor's finest eights, at Broadclyst (1937 vintage: tenor 21 cwt.). And there was some good ringing. That night we took up residence at the Golden Lion, Ashburton, 'gateway' to Dartmoor.
peal with some accuracy. Devonshire ringers very rightly set great store by this part of their ringing, and their high standards of striking are an example to many Having refreshed ourselves in Buckfastleigh we made for Plymouth and rang a peal of Pudsey Royal at St. Andrew's, where we rang Yorkshire Royal two years ago. Aubrey came with us again to-day, and we should like to express our gratitude to him for all he did to welcome us and make arrangements for us At Plymouth we were pleased 10 meet Tom Myers again and also Roy Bould and his wife The evening finished with the customary conviviality.
Most of the bells we were privileged to ring were good if not qutstanding, but that could hardly be said of the eight at Híghweek, where one of the bells is slightly cracked. All of them were a bit odd-struck. Nevertheless, we rang a peal of Yorkshire there, and apparentlv they did not sound too bad outside. We were grateful to the Vicar of Highweek for ac commodating us at such short notice, and also to the clergyman respon sible far allowing us to ring at Wolborough in the afternoon, at similarly short notice. in place of East Budleigh.

DROWNING THEIR

 SORROWSOff we went to Exeter to hear how the Cam bridge University Guild were faring with Stedman Cinques at the Cathedral They were unlucky, but it was good to hear the bells anyway. It was good to meet old friends even if they were drown ing their sorrows

Eight of us left on the Sunday morning and called at Bovey Tracey
in time to ring for morning service. The bells are very nice and easy to ring. The local band was short that morning. so they were pleased to let us ring. After a week's practice we were able to demonstrate that 'scientifics,' too. can raise and lower bells! After this the party began to diminish further, but the chronicler was able to grab Bristol Cathedral in the afternoon. Evensong at Bucklebury (near Newbury) turned out to be at six o'clock. so we arrived lust too late to ring. We hurried on to St. Mary's: Reading, again only to hear the last few minutes' ringing. So near and yet so far! And we nearly came to grief on the M. 4 when we were buzzed, by a fanatical Japanese driver. 'What a nit!'

Thank you, Wilfred, for another most enjoyable tour. Thank you, too, all the clergy and ringers and hoteliers who welcomed us to their towers and entertained us.
G.C. G.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

The attendance was above average when the Southern District met at Gorseinon on September 7 th. and nearly all the towers were represented. A variety of methods was enjoyed and the Vicar (the Rev. J. Trevor Evans) conducted a short service, which was followed by tea.

At the business meeting the best wishes of the company for a speedy recovery were sent to Mr. W. Dobbins. A peal is to be at tempted to mark the 40 th anniversary of the diocese. Thanks were proposed to the Vicar, the organist and the ladies for the excellent tea.

Next meeting: St. Mary's, Swansea, Novem ber 30th. J. A. M.

Letters to the Editor

The Peal at Penn

Dear Sir,--In reply to the continued opposition to the recognition of the peal at Penn, I should like to make a few points clear which at present seem to be seen - through a glass darkly.
(i) Mr. Oglesby claims he has 'done every. thing possible to persuade the conductor to withdraw the "peal.
(2) Reference to the front page article (or the C.C. Handbook) will reveal that the Conditions for Peals demand that any objection which may be taken to a peal shall be made in writing to the conductor ot the earliest date.' Just what has been done by Mr. Oglesby or anyone else in this respect?
(3) As soon as the peal was over there was some discussion as to the calling of the penultimate extent: I attempted to explain what I had been calling and that I had been calling it by the bells fixed in $5-6$ in the blocks of three
(4) A new line of attack was then opened, this depending for its 'validity' on the fallacious argument that ' the same bell did not make 2nds at both of the singles.' This is quite true-and anyone who knows anything much about composition will know that such is not, a necessary (or sufficient) condition for the treatment of a $Q$-set involving singles. Indeed (as was the case here) two are bobbed. two are plained and two are singled, with the same bell making 2 nds at the plajns, 3rds at the singles and 4ths at the bobs.
(5) Some further discussion ensued during tea, but the trivia of peal-ringing were soon forgotten as our visceratomic natures got the belter of us and we were soon lost in the sumptuosity of the repast. At no time did any member of the bund state that he or she did not wish the peal in be published or that they did not wish their name to go in the peal report.
(6) $A$ week later I was in the company of some of the member; of the band on a day's outing-at no time was anything of consequence said in reference to the peal.
(7) A little time elapsed and I heard that one of the band was making negative remarks about the peal to totally disinterested parties -in reply to this I furnished a long, explanatory letter, to which I received no reply.
(8) On June 8th I was in a peal attempt with almost the entire band who had taken part in the Pcnn peal-again nothing was said, indsed I seem to recall that there were about five successive bobs at Home before the 'conductor' (H. Oglesby) realised that something mizht be amiss and called 'Stand.'
(9) The final paragraph in Mr. Oglesby's letter is a misunderstanding on his part as to which peal attempt I was referring to when I mentioned that it is sometimes difficult to keep a band of conductors straight in certain methods. I was, in fact, making reference to two occasions on which I have lost peals of Minor with what could be referred to as a solid ' band (fi.e., mainly experienced ringers and conductors of Minor) due to them becoming crossed over and hopelessly lost in Oxford Treble Bob Minor.
(10) The point that the 6th extent (Plain Bob) took 27 minutes as against the first extent taking, 25 minutes (Treble Bob) is surely of minimal value in trying to show an alleged superfluity of two courses-the variation in time of two minutes between the first and penultimate extents in a 2 hour 50 minute peal is neither here nor there.

Bearing in mind the above 10 paragraphs. let us consider 1 and 2 in the light of 3 to 8 inclusive:-
(11) Mr. Oglesby and the opposers of the peal have clearly made no effort to dissuade publication or later to obtain a withdrawal thus it would appear that they were not really worried whether or not the peal was claimed To my mind this shows a lack of intellectual honesty on their part, since, if truly concerned with the issue, they would have taken positive action (as I have dona myself in the past on more than one occasion) either in seeking a withdrawal immediately or setting their bells when the supposed repatition occurred-as adwhen the supposed repatition occurred-as advised by Tony Smith in his letter. Rather it would seem that Giles Shedden's letter stirred up overstocked memories of a pleasant afternoon's ringing and precipitated the furore it is now your readers' sorry burden to witness.
(12) It was not I who sent the peal up for publication in any case this was done some little time later by another member of the band, who (as I later discovered) did not include the peal in his own records! If this is not evidence of a desire to see the peal published and let other people see it then what is his reason for sending it in?

Finally, let me say once again that I am not aware that I miscalled the extent in question or that there was any repetition in the coursing order or lead-heads, and that I entered the peal in my own records at the time with a clear memory of the peal and a clear conscience as to its truth.
Manchester. GILES B. THOMPSON.

Collection of Right Place Surprise Major Methods

Dear Sir,-We shall shortly have comnleted a tabulation of all possible right place Surprisc Major methods producing Plain Bob lead ends. Although at present we have not derived false course heads for all the methods, we hope to do so in the near future.
In order to estimate the demand for such a collection, we would like to hear from anyone who is interested in obtaining a copy. It would be helpful to know whether they would be interested in a list without false course heads, which would be available in two or three weeks, or whether they would prefer to wait a little longer (possibly until the New Year) until we have completed the list of false course heads (including lead incidence).
The collection was produced partly by a Hollerith 1,202 Computer in Belfast and partly by an English Electric 'Deuce' in Chelmsford. As we are not certain what computer ford. As we are not certain what computer course heads, we are unable to give a more definite date for their publication.
Would those interested please write to J W. McClenahan, Christ's College, Cambridge, or A. S. Hudson, Clare College, Cambridge. - Yours faithfully.

Thanks, Isle of Thanet

Dear Sir-I would like to say a few words of thanks to all those ringers in the Isle of Thanet who have for a number of years always afforded me a warm welcome in their belfries at practices and Sunday ringing. Particularly to Mrs. N. Bridges. captain at St. Peter's, Broadstairs, whose devotion to her duties as a ringer and to all her learners is outstanding.
Thank you. Thanet. for many bappy hours of ringing and for the social activities that always followed.
A tip for future visiting ringers: Mrs. Bridges cooks an excellent supper ! - Yours incerely, FRANK C. W. KNIGHT. Winchester.

Incidence of Falseness

Dear Sir,-I was not at all surprised to read in 'The Ringing World ' of August 30th, that the long length of call changes, rung at Plympton St. Mary recently, has created some interest outside the county.
In Devon call change towers any lengths of changes are called peals, 60 being a favourite It is not unusual on a Sunday, when the ringers turn up on time, to hear a remark such as. 'Come on, we have time for three peals this evening.' I know, in method ringing that a peal must consist of 5.000 changes or over, so there is really now comparison between the two systems.
Long lengths such as the 1.069 are very rare now, but have created quite a lot of enthusiasm in this part of the county. The system of producing this peal is to use the musical comoinations, Tittus, Queens, Whittingtons, Reverse Queens and others. When the bells are called into one of these, the treble is kept plain hunting, as in Grandsire or Plain Bob, throughout, changing a pair every time she arrives behind or comes to lead. The calls are made chiefly at every other handstroke, never over, and with short periods every time.
No aids were used in the calling of this peal. It may be of interest to your readers to learn that a long length, believed to be a record, was rung at St. Peter's Church. North Tawton. Devon, on Saturday, January 17th, 1914, consisting of 2.861 in 4 hours. Conducted by William Fewings (tenor 18 cwt .).
I would very much like to know if any band has rung a greater number. This was certainly a great effort. The conductor of the Plympton peal for the 'Devon Association. is also a member of the 'Devonshire Guild. and enjoys a little method ringing occasionally.
It is hoped, some time in the future, to make an attempt on the North Tawton record. providing a conductor can be found whose vocal chords will stand the strain.
Should S. K. A. Huson be in our area on holiday or otherwise, and would like to take part. in say 500 . I feel sure it could be arranged.-Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM G. LAVERS.

Place Notations

Dear Sir--Perhaps I can enlighten Mr Ketteringham on the subject of place notations. With a little thought it is obvious that all place notations must start with an odd place and end with an even place in even bell methods. Hence when Cambridge, for example, is written:

$3 \times 4 \times 25 \times 36 \times 4 \times 5 \times 6 \times 7$

the rule for extending this to the full place notation is to add a 1 or an 8 where necessary to make it start and end with the appropriate place. With a little practice this can be done automatically and for those who ring by place notations it is much easier to learn the abbreviated place notation above rather than the full one because it involves no redundant information. As for the classification of leads by letters this is set out very clearly on page 40 of the C.C. Plain Major Methods booklet.

While in print I should like to point out that the 393 Stedman Caters in the Ringers' Diary does not come round as printed.-Yours faithfully.

Dear Sir,-In answer to inquiry in 'Belfry Gossip, regarding the most times 'circling a tower' to peals, the late Arthur Symonds, of Lavenham, Suffolk, 'circled the tower' there nine times. Had he scored one more on the third bell he would have completed the circle' ten times. Although he got within a few courses (and once within a few leads) of accomplishing this-it just wouldn't go!
During his term of office as Ringing Master at Lavenham tower (1888-1935) he had the honour of standing in every peal attempt on these bells. This last peal was one of Double Norwich at Stowmarket, Suffolk, in 1935, when eight Symonds took part.-Yours sincerely.

STEDMAN H. SYMONDS.

Uniform Use Advocated

Dear Sir ,-As one who, until the recent correspondence on the subject, was mystified by 'L. E. B.,' may I adyocate the uniform use of '2nds "place 1.e.? Almost everyone knows what this means, and of those who knows what this means, and of those who do not it is extremely doubtful if 'L. E. B.' would enlighten them
With reference to Mr. Frank S. Cheney's letter on Sunday morning ringing, why should it be more difficult to raise a band of ringers for an carlier service? The 'rot,' which is usually a combination of selfishness and lack of enthusiasm, must have already set in to make such a difference. Fault very often seems to lie with the incumbents who rarely place their Ringing Master on the same standing as their choirmaster. Are there any ways of prodding neglectful parsons into greater awareness and understanding of their ringers, and not just at periodic intervals? Yours sinceroly,

ELIZABETH TIMMINS.
Tetienhall, Staffs.

Huntingdon Thanked

Dear Sir,-I have just spent three months in Huntingdon. On arrival, after the usual introductions, the Huntingdon Branch of the Ely Diocesan Guild made me most welcome and the Huntingdon ringers made me feel that I was one of their own band.
I was most willingly transported 10 and from Branch meetings, practice meetings and quarter peal attempts. The generosity and kindness received from the ringers of Huntingdon was a true act of Christian friendship towards a fellow bellringer. Thank you, Huntingdon. Yours sincerely,
Lyneham, Wilts. G. PLUCKROSE.

Speed-a Sign of the Age

Dear Sir--A peal board in the belfry of the Parish Church. Burghill, Herefordshire. records that, on November 6th, 1922, 5,040 Grandsire Triples were rung in 3 hours 10 minutes. On July 1st, 1963, on the same bells and bear: ings (tenor $10+\mathrm{cwt}$ ) a peal of 5,088 Vancouver Surprise Major was rung in 2 hours 36 minutes.
Did peal ringers generally of half a century or so ago take their ringing, as well as many of their other activities. at a more leisurelv pace than ringers of the 1960 's? Yours truly, Burghill, 'Herefordshire.

READING UNIVERSITY SOCIETY VISIT 10 COUNTIES

O
N Sunday, July 28th, equipped with a 44 tower itinerary and an ambitious array of duplicated methods, we set out for a week's tour around Shropshire. This time we decided to break from the traditional Youth Hostels (and bicycles!), and went to both extremesmost of us staying in an hotel, and a splinter group camping.
At Pershore Abbey on Sunday afternoon, we found the 'cage' quite as frightening as we expected-the female members of the party were too terrified even to keep themselves right ringing Grandsire. Through the kindness of the local ringers we were afterwards able to 'grab' St. Andrew's. Headquarters for the week was at Church Stretton. By coincidence we had chosen the same hotel as the Clerical Guild earlier this year, and, with such apparently respectable predecessors, we were a little surprised to be told by the manageress that we were the second party of ringers she had had, and 'she didn't want any more '!
The first full day started at Condover. At St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, the early arrivals were able to try the new light eight. We were unable to do justice to the heavy six at Clive; and found the light eight at Hodnet more to our liking. Stoke-on-Tern produced the first ladies' touch of the tour; and at Atcham the tenor man, exhausted by the heat, had to be carried bodily to the towerno mean feat.
Oñ Tuesday. Ted and Nancie Coiley met us at Chirbury, the first awkward bells of the tour. After this we entered Wales to ring at Montgomery a six obviously manned by midgets! In the afternoon we found that we were the first touring party to ring on the recently augmented eight at Berriew. At Newtown a course of Cunecastre put our timing so far out that Peter and Felicity skilfully contrived to get left behind and returned to Church Stretton in disgust. While search parties scoured the countryside, the rest of us 'expiored a wide field' in Doubles at Clun, under Doreen's guidance. We found the Warner six at Clunbury well worth braving a revealing ladder; and finished the day at Wistanstow, where the loose headstock we remembered on the six had mysteriously transferred itself to the fourth.

STAFFORD'S BLACK JACK
Judi White joined us on Wednesday at Stafford, where Mr. Garbett showed us the ringer's black jack, kept in the church (presumably it solved the problem of ringers who go straight from the tower to the pub). We were allowed to exceed our time on the pleasant eight at Uttoxeter, where the first touch of spliced came round. We were much impressed by the lovely church at Ashbourne, but found the bells difficult owing to springy ropes. At 11 a.m. the Rector told us that the remarkable noise made by the third was caused by ©just a little crack'-investigation revealed a large chunk out of the sound bow-and stays made from fencing posts. At supper stays made from fencing posts. At party encountered the Wimbery, which, served in a variety of forms, dogged our footsteps for the rest of the week. Later the local band made us most welcome at Stokesay.
Brian Shingler had left Somerset at 6.30 to meet us at Stanton Lacy on Thursday morning.

The first course of Reading Triples by the Society was rung at St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth At Madeley the ringing suffered badly from the heat. We had heard so much of the ten at Coalbrookdale that reality was inevitably disappointing. However, apparently 'a perfect roll-up ' was tape recorded here-unfortunately everyone got so excited that it was accidentally erased before most of us had heard it! Miss Edge met us at Much Wenlock, and kindly allowed us to overstay our time on this lovely eight.
A monumental touch of spliced at Oswestry on Friday morning helped to make us all late for Overton-on-Dee. After lunch we rang Lincolnshire-without deliberate varia-tions-on the heavy eight at Gresford. A large contingent of Brownies, who were being shown over the church, watched us at Malpas. What may well have been the first (and last!) half course of Leasowe Delight was rung on the eight at Whitchurch to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the death of William Shenstone-probably only one-eighth of the band was aware of this, however! The rest of us sat on the nave roof and got our fingers pinched by the lead of the freely moving tower. After supper we went to Bromtield, where the women became ambitious and tried Cambridge.
Saturday's ringing started at Leominster, where the "local' who met us was John Coates, a Past Master of the Society. Reports of this ten had been mixed, and we were very pleasantly surprised. Some time was spent at Hereford Cathedral looking for the door before we realised that we had walked straight past Mr. Wingate, who was waiting for us in the porch. A peal attempt had been arranged on the lavely eight at Eardisland, but end-ofweek non-peal-mindedness defeated us, and a trip at the end of half an hour's cautious Cambridge provided an excuse to call it a day. Meanwhile the rest of the party had been ringing at Pembridge, Lyonshall and Kington.

At the Saturday evening end-of-tour meeting we agreed that the tour had been a worth while and enjoyable venture. Finally, next morning, we completed our programme by ringing at Ludlow for the service, before making our various ways home. Thanks are due to John Croxton, on whom much of the organisation fell; and-even more im-portant-to all the clergy, who allowed us to ring their bells; and the people who met us.
A. R.

St. James', Taunton, Ringers' Outing

Accompanied by their Vicar (the Rev. A. Drowley) and Mrs. Drowley, St. James' teenage band held their first outing on September 5 th. Travelling by coach, driven by their captain (Mr. Reginald Beale), the party of 25 visited and rang at four towers, viz.: Drayton (8), South Petherton (8), Seavington St. Mary (6) and Kingstone (6). At all towers this young, band (the youngest being nine and the eldest 15 ) did remarkably well. Tea was taken at South Petherton and home was reached at 7 p.m. Thanks were accorded to incumbents and to the captain for making the arrangements.

OBITUARY

MR. E. H. LEWIS

APPRECIATIONS

I should like to pay tribute to the memory of Mr. E. H. Lewis, for the work he did for the Church and ringing in Frodsham. When he took up his appointment in Widnes, he came to live in Frodsham. in rooms near the church. became a regular Sunday service ringer. and also often read the lessons for service. Frodsham then had a ring of six bells and a band who rang call changes for service and were struggling to ring Bob Minor on practice nights. Mr. Lewis' ability as a teacher and conductor must have been a great help at that time.
One of our treasured possessions at Frodsham is a diary and record book kept by him and in it is recorded every touch, with compositions, that was rung while he was here. The first entry in the 5ook, is, " 720 Bob Minor rung on June 5th, 1907,' and the last is 352 Bob Major rung for Evensong. Easter Diy. 1915: This would be his last Sunday before taking up his appointment in Scotland. Many and varied are the footnotes to the touches recorded- 720 Bob Minor on Sunday. April 21 st. after Matins, with the clappers half-muffled out of respect for the 1,635 passengers and crew of the R.M.S. Titanic, which sank off Cape Race on Monday, April i5th'; 'Sunday, Feb. 9th, 1913, after Matins, 490 Oxford Bob Triples with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect to Captain Scott and his four companions, who died on their return journey from the South Pole.' Royal weddings, funerals and birthdays are often footnoted- on Thursday. April 29th, 1909, 720 Bob Minor was rung for the wedding of Mr. E. H. Lewis and Miss A. J. T. Richardson in Southwell Cathedral.'

Mr. Lewis bought a piece of land among the bracken and heather on the high ground behind Frodsham, on which he built a house in local red sandstone. He took a great interest in the laying out of the gardens, and the dry stone walls he built himself are still standing. Also standing in the garden were some old wooden headstocks, which, I believe, came from Southwell Cathedral.

In 1911, through his initiative and perseverance, our bells were sent to Loughborough to be retuned and two trebles added-it was at this time that he was made head ringer. In September. 1913, the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on the bells was rung by the Cambridge University Guild. The ringers were Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake. E. H. Lewis, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson. E. M. Atkins, $\dot{W}$. D. James, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Rev. H. Law James and Rev. E. Bankes James. This was a peal of which he was particularly proud and a peal board in the belfry records it
My earliest memory of Mr. Lewis is, as a boy of seven. when he used to call at our house each Monday evening to ring handbells. My brother and I rang 1-2. Mr. Lewis 3-4 and my father 5-6. I can still recall the epic struggle to ring our first 720 -that quiet patience we all knew so well in Mr. Lewis must have been sorely tried by two young boys who had been brought away from play. The standards that he set as a churchman and ringer are still maintained and I am happy to say that, since his time in Frodsham, we have always had a full Sunday service band. We, at Frodsham, are very grateful that such a man as Mr. Lewis once passed our way, and we should like to tender our deepest sympathy to his widow and her family in their great loss.

FRANCIS BIBBY.

As convener of the Essex Association Central Council representatives. I would like to pay a short tribute to the late Edwin $\mathbf{H}$. Lewis.

He was of a kindly disposition. extremely clever, and an outstanding president of the Central Council. A very modest man, he did a tremendous amount for ringing, especially in his capacity as a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee.

HILDA G, SNOWDEN.

MR. LEWIS W. WIFFEN

Last week we briefly announced the death of Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen on September 13th at Braintree. He made a big contribution towards the advancement of ringing in his native county. Essex. He was 82 . He had been in poor health for the past 18 months, but attended the Braintree practice on his 82 nd birthday (August 26th), when he conducted a touch of Stedman Triples and rang a course of London faultlessly.

Born at Colne Engaine, he was taught to ring as a boy. When 18, he went to Ipswich and joined the famous St. Mary-le-tower Society and rang with them in many outstanding peals. He was the last survivor of the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Mary-le-Tower on August 15th, 1908. He took part in the first peal of Double Norwich Maximus, and also in a 10,080 Double Norwich C.B. Major. His first peal of London, in 1903, at Coggeshall was conspicuous. It was with the Pye brothers and the same day the band, with one exception, rang a second of London at Great Tey!

In 1912 he moved to Wyke Regis and was very helpful to Dorset ringing. After a short stay at Guildford he returned in 1922 to Braintree, where he had been attached to the Parish Church ever since, being for a long period Ringing Master. His service to the Essex Association has included the duties of Ringing Master, Northern District, peal secretary, Central Council representative (193638). In 1949 he was honoured by being elected a life vice-president. His membership of the Ancient Society of College Youths dates back to 1902.

APPRECIATIONS

Lewis Wiffen will long be remembered for his outstanding ability as a ringer and conductor. He had done much to further the art in Essex. Suffolk and Dorset. His insistance on good striking at all times was admirable. A very modest man, with a list of great achievements, he taught me all I know about change ringing. and his kind encouragement will always be treasured in my memory. Many others will also remember him with gratitude for his unfailing help during their early ringing days. May his soul rest in peace

He was a modest. unassuming. friendly man, associated with James Motts, of Ipswich, and later with William Keeble. He was, no doubt, happy to accept the leadership of these great ringers and only in later life was he to come into his own as a conductor. But what a conductor he was, particularly when it came to London Surprise Major. He would not tolerate sloppiness or bad striking and did not mince his words when he was ringing if he felt the performance of any member of the band left anything to be desired. He set a standard that is very hard to follow and one ringer at least feels it a great honour to have known and to have rung with such a man.

MR. DEREK OGDEN

It is with great regret that we record the sudden death after an operation on September 17th of Derek Ogden. Ringing Master of Manchester Cathedral and the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association, at the age of 30.

The funeral service was held in the Cathedral on September 21 st, followed by committal at Manchester Crematorium. Many of Derek's ringing friends were present at the services, the Association being represented by the vice-president. Mr. Cyril Crossthwaite, the ringing secretary, Mr. John P. Partington, and by Mr. Stephen L. Parry on behalf of the general secretary. Mr. Fred Dunkerley, who was abroad on business. The bearers were representatives of the Cathedral band, the Lancashire Association and the Manchester University Guild, with al! of which Derek had close connections.

His death is a tragic loss to the whole Exercise, and our deepest sympathy is extended at this time to Mrs. Ogden and the family.

TRIBUTES

It has come as a great shock to members of the Manchester University Guild to learn of the sudden and untimely death of their president, Derek Ogden
A graduate in chemistry of the University he took part in many of the early peals of the Guild. Subsequent to leaving the University, he continued to take an active interest in the affairs of the Guild. In the last 12 months, he had conducted the first peals for the Guild of Spliced Surprise Major (the only peal yet to be rung by past and present officers of the Guild). Surprise Royal and Surprise Maximus. Thanks to him, the Guild has established and maintained close links with the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association.

A man of many talents, he was always ready to help others to improve the stahdard of their own ringing. We will long remember with gratitude the help that he gave to successive officers of the Guild in the management of Guild affairs. An active supporter of the Guild's yearly tours, as recently as August of this year he and his wife accompanied us on our tour of the Norfolk Broads. As we return to Manchester, at the start of a new University term, it is hard for us to appreciate fully that he will no longer be there to guide us. We have all lost a true friend.

We extend our deepest sympathy to his family in their sorrow.
E. F. P. B.

The death oif Derek Ogden stuns and mystifies; and if his passing is a tragedy to the ringing Exercise. how much more so to his wife and two small sons. We extend our deepest sympathy to Joyce. who knows that if her ringing friends can assist her in any way they will do so.

Derek was an outstanding personality in ringing. There was no branch or facet of the art in which he did not excel. Though an outstanding peal ringer, conductor and composer, this to Derek was but a small part of his ringing. He was deeply concerned with the affairs of the Lancashire Association, and in particular the Manchester Branch. and it is due to Derek's enthusiasm that ringing in the Manchester district has progressed continuously during his all-too-short life.

Derek graduated at Manchester University. and that University's Guild was very dear to him. He it was who forged a strong link between the Guild and the Manchester ringers which led to complete understanding and harmony between the two bodies. Derek supported the University Guild after graduation and gave it the continuity which has been its strength.

Derek knew that the strength of the Exercise is its Sunday service ringing, and in this he never failed. maintaining an excellent band at St . Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, until he married, then moving to Manchester Cathedral. He was always ready to teach when required.

A quiet man by nature. Derek was truly a leader, not forcing others into submission but by his right judgment, ability and humility commanding respect and admiration. B.H.

We endorse to the full the plea by Mr. C. E. Jeffries, of Bromham, Beds, that the famous band which rang the extent of Major should meet again at an early date to be photographed. Posterity demands it!

Ringers of St. Mary's, Rougham, at their annual outing on September 14 th rang at five other churches dedicated to St. Mary.
D. F. Redding, of Reepham, Norfolk, rang his first quarter before joining the Army. We feel certain that a warm welcome will await him at Chepstow, where he is to be stationed.

Mr. Alan R. Bridges, writing on 'circling towers to peals, submits the record of the late Mr. James M. Bailey, of Leiston. He circled' to peals St. Margaret's, Leiston, on 14 occasions, and only required the tenor twice more to make it 16 times.

The 'Monday' band who rang the first peal of Llanfair P.G. Surprise Major have now followed the request of Brian J . Woodruffe in the 'R.W.' of July 27th, 1962, by ringing a peal of Ob Surprise Major.

The band which rang in the peal of Plain Bob Major at Dorchester Abbey on September 4th regret the failure of 5,476 Bob Major at. Warborough, Oxon, in which Michael Zobel was making his first peal attempt. Better luck next time, Michael.
The first of the courses in elementary changeringing promoted by the Surrey Association was held at Christ Church, Mitcham. It attracted seven instructors and four pupils. A profitable evening was spent. This was reported at the quarterly meeting of the Northern District at Addington on September 7th, when local ladies prepared an excellent tea and Canon Greenaway conducted a short service.

The late Mr. Edwin H, Lewis conducted the first peal of Miss Doris E. Colgate, the wellknown secretary of the Ladies' Guild. Miss Colgate took part in a memorial peal to Mr . Lewis on September 14th at Westerham. It was appropriate that the peal should be rung at Westerham since Mr. Lewis often rang there, and from the churchyard it is possible to see Brasted Church, with which he was associated for so long.

Cuckfield ringers, led by their tower captain, Mr. Reginald Johnson, staged on September 4th a demonstration of tower- and handbeil ringing for the benefit of students attending a course on 'Church Activities' at Lodge Hill. Pulborough, under the direction of Mr. H. T. Kirby, an extra-mural tutor of Birmingham University. It was a most successful evening, the ringers' skill and warmth of welcome making, according to our contributor, "an everlasting memory.
The peal at Holy Trinity Church, Bolton (see page 634), was a 21 st birthday compliment to Miss Margaret E. Fort and not as printed. Apologies, Margaret!

The 'Mid-Devon Advertiser,' in a report on Wilfred Williams' 1963 peal tour, states: 'Wolborough is one of the few churches with a complete set of eight bells. Staying at Ashburton. the ringers sounded a peal at Wolborough for mo-e than two hours." Alas, the attempt was lost after about two hours.

The peal of Bob Major rung at Norton to commemorate the diamond jubilee of Letchworth Garden City was quite creditable as only two of the band ring peals regularly; the others live in Letchworth or work for I.C.T., a company which has still very strong connections with the first garden city.

Because Penryn, Cornwall, Town Hall is on the site of a former chapel its bell is rung every Sunday. The borough council have acceded to the request of the Vicar of St. Gluvias' (the Rev. R. G. Perry-Gore) that as the site is boly and consecrated ground the bell should be rung on Fridays. The Vicar thought 15 pulls of the bell would be adequate.

Owing to a call of duty, Cpl. Eric Holtine, R.A.F., who is now serving overseas, was unable to participate in the outing he arranged for ringers of Ipswich and Stowmarket areas on August Monday. We are asked to let him know it was a great success. Ringing took place at Cowlinge, Poslingford, Kedington, Great Thurlow, West Wratting, Linton, Whittlesford and Duxford.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

It was wedding bells at Handsworth on September 7th as prior to the meeting of the Sheffield and District Society the marriage had been solemnised of the daughter of Mrs. Kelly. At tea. in the Parish Centre, the bride, who was just leaving for the honeymoon, was toasted.

Ringing included Stedman, Grandsire, Spliced Kent and Oxford and Seager Special (Spliced Plain and Little Bob). Ringing in the evening was at Treeton, but when the company arrived it was not a case of John splicing Plain and Little, but the tenor rope. The bells were raised very gingerly, except by the tenor ringer, who perspired profusely for a good ten minutes after raising the "rough ' bell.
Thanks are due to Mr. Gilbert, the ladies for tea, and the ringers who travelled from as far as Rawmarsh, Shelley, Dore and Dronfield

DIGGING INTO THE PAST IN ESSEX VILLAGE

By F. H. ERITH

MANY ringers must have wondered who rang their bells in days gone by, but unless they belong to those few towers which have ancient peal-boards there would probably have been no evidence of any activity a hundred or more years ago.

In my own tower of Ardleigh, in Essex, we have had a ring of six since 1675 , which was augmented to eight in 1892, but apart from entries in the churchwardens' accounts of such items as 'Beer for the Ringers' in Napoleonic times, which implied that there was a company, we had no clue as to who our bygone ringers were.

Last month, however, there was a great turn-out at the Vicarage, owing to structural alterations, and it was my duty to examine some old ledgers and notebooks. In one of them I came across the following entry:-
'Sunday, December the 14th, 1794.
'At a public Vestry meeting held this day WE the Minister, Churchwardens and Parishioners do approve the following persons to be the bell-ringers of the Parish of Ardleigh, viz.: Robert Munson, William Munson, James Sparrow, John Whitaker, John Southgate, William Webb.
(Signed) John Kelly. Vicar ${ }^{\text { }}$ (and six other names).
It is curious that the Vestry should have found it necessary to enumerate the ringers at all, and I can think of only two reasons why it did so. There may have been a dispute among the ringers over the allocation of beer or money, and they required a ruling. Or it may have been that the church bells were to be sounded as a warning if the French made a landing on our coast, and a reliable set of ringers would be needed.

That the latter is the more likely is borne out by the unusual entry in Ardleigh Parish Register No. 5. This reads as follows:-

In consequence of the avowed intention of the French to make a descent upon this coast . I have thought it my duty to number my parishioners; which I have done by a Domiciliary Visitation, that in the event of an actual invasion. such a list may be useful either to assemble us in order to make a resistance, or in case of dispersion, to enable us, upon our return, to discover and ascertain our various claims and settlements.

John Kelly. Vicar.
Vicarage House, Octr 13th, 1796.'
Here follows, in the Vicar's copperplate handwriting, 'the names, qualities, and ages' of the 1,145 inhabitants, divided up by households. At the end is a list of statistics leading to the final, vital one: 'No. of males from the age of 15 to 60 ; and capable of bearing arms -352 .'

This document takes up twelve pages of the Parish Register and must surely be of immense interest to anyone studying the Social History of England in the Napoleonic period. But the interest to us lies in the fact that it tells us a little more of the six ringers who were appointed less than two years previously.

The Webb family, for instance, is classified thus: William Webb, Shoemaker, 55; Jane Webb, Wife, 49; William Webb, Son and Sailor, 21; James Webb, Son, 8.

The other ringers were:-
Robert Munson, Constable, 40 , with a wife, sailor son aged 14, and five younger children;
John Southgate, Parish Clerk, 43, with a wife, and Abraham Whinney, lodger, 76;
John Whitaker, wheelwright, 26, with a wife, infant son, and lodger;
William Munson, Shoemaker, 30 , living all alone:
James Sparrow, servant, 26, living in the house of Lucy Fenn, widow, 21, and her mother, Elizabeth Went, 50.
The ringers at that time were evidently not a band of irresponsible drunkards, as Ellacombe said of a later generation in another county. The Constable was one of two who were appointed annually by the Vestry. The Parish Clerk would have been superior to most of the other villagers.
One likes to imagine that the company held together for many years after the great survey, but the records tell otherwise. Robert Munson was buried on Christmas Day, 1798, and William Munson followed him three months later.

FLOURISHING SALISBURY

ASHORT time ago. in a review of Theological College ringing Salishury was mentioned as 'flourishing.' It might interest readers to know how true this is. The college is small by most standards as there are only about 45 students. Nevertheless. during the past two years a quarter of the college has been actively engaged in ringing. Many have been taught to handle a bell, but it is generally difficult to get lecarners beyond plain hunting in the time available. There is a regular practice afternoon for learners and on Tuesdays the more experienced fire the bells, generally at Coombe Bissett !

During the course of the past two years we have, however, visited almost every five and six bell tower in the arca. On Saturday afternoons outings have been held to more distant towers. On one occasion a joint meeting was held between college ringers, those of the Teachers' Training College in Salisbury, King Alfred's Teachers' Training College in Winchester and-Southampton University. We had a service in the College Chapel, followed by tea in the Library. This was a great success. Some members have joined the local Guild as ringing members.

The college is affiliated as a tower to the Salishury Guild and is thus the only tower in the Guild with one bell (Gillett and Bland

First Peal on Carter's Ringing Machine

The first peal on Carter's ringing machine was called on September 7th by Mr. John Chilcott. It was a peal of 5,019 Stedman Cinques, appropriately a composition of John Carter (C.C.C No. 15), and was umpired by Mr. Frank Haynes.

Expressing pleasure at the performance, Mr. Douglas Hughes writes: - I am very pleased that this has been done, although sorry in a way that Albert Walker, who had been promised the first peal by John Carter, did not live to call it himself. He always intended to come to London to do this, but somehow never made the journey.

1870 c. 3 cwt ) hung for chiming only! A team was entered for the Striking Competition of the local district, and though the college was last, it was only just behind St. Thomas', Salisbury On Sundays the college ringers ring at various churches besides keeping the three bells at Netherhampton going. This last often means missing breakfast

The keen ringers in the college are doing everything in their power to bring ringing into a favourable light with their fellow students In consequence we believe that you will find that anyone trained at Salisbury recently will be a friend of ringers. The college even formed an unofficial anti-bell socicty as non-ringers seemed to find all conversations turning to bells. Needless to say, the society was soon ousted when its secretary learnt to ring!
There have been occasional setbacks. On one occasion three-quarters of the college attended a harvest festival only to see all the local ringers walk out before the service and come back again afterwards to lower the bells! In casc the Bishop of Dunwich should read this, I would add that the nearest house was half a mile away and the village contains no rectifying house (apologies to Worcester ringers for this name!).
Despite such setbacks we believe that it is essential to acquaint all ordinands with the correct place of bells and ringers in the life of the Church. So many look upon ringers as nuisances, as mere drunken non-churchgoers. That no Salisbury man can ever leave thinking this is our proud boast.- A.C.
Anyone wishing to contact the college ringers should write to:- The Master of the Bellringers, The Theological College, 19, The Close, Salisbury, Wilts.

ST. MARY ABBEY CHURCH, SEMPRINGHAM.

${ }^{5}$N August 27th an assorted group of 12 ringers left by minibus for a ringing week centred on Lincoln. On the way we rang at Godmanchester (8), Wansford (a 2 cwt . minor five). Stamford (All Saints', 6) and the magnificent ten at Grantham. This splendid 15th century building set the pattern for many we were to see
We attended Parish Communion at Saxilby (6) on Sunday morning. Here the local band have rung for over nine hundred services consecutively. Further ringing was at Nocton, Welton, St. Peter-at-Gowts. Lincoln (with its very ancient font) and the good bells of Dunholme-all sixes.

Gainsborough (8) was our first stop on Monday. We continued through Bawtry (6) Doncaster (8) and Conisbrough (8). to Rotherham (10). Here we were delighted by the cleanness of the belfry and the tone of the bells. Worksop Priory bells (8) were of good tone. The day ended at East Retford (10), save for an evening practice at St. Giles', Lincoln (8. a fine Rudhall ring)

Tuesday provided some splendid Marshland churches. We visited Sleaford (8), Ewerby (10). Heckington (8), Boston (10), Algarkirk very easy to handle despite the light weight, long draught and alarmingly leaning tower. In the evening we visited Waddington (6).

We started with two good rings on the Wednesday-Newark (10) and Southwell (12). We liked the latter despite the sagging and springy floor. After lunch, in the grounds of Nottingham Castle, we rang at St. Peter's (10) and Lenton (8), in that city. Hucknall Torkard (a good octave), Edwinstowe (6) and Dunham-on-Trent (5) followed. The congregation leaving Dunham Church is greeted by the inscription: "Are your minds set upon righteousness, O ye congregation?'! Evening ringing was on the four at St. Mary-le-Wigtord, in Lincoln, which are manned by a band of Baptists.
On Thursday we rang at Horncastle (6) and Halton Holgate (6), lost a peal at Mablethorpe (6) and had difficulty in the fine spire at Louth (8). In the evening we joined in the practice on the magnificent hells of Lincoln Cathedral (12).
Friday was the day for North Lincolnshire, and we visited Wraghy (6), Waleshy Old Church (8) and Caistor (6). We were disappointed by the restored and augmented ring at Grimsby (10), but favourably impressed by the two octaves at Barton-on-Humber, particularly by St. Mary's. In the evening we grabbed two excellent sixes at Norton Disney and Bassingham.
On the final day we returned to London, via Sempringham (6. the isolated church where St. Gilbert founded a monastic order), Croyland (6). March (6) and St. Neots (8), all good bells.
Our grateful thanks go to all who helped to make this second expedition a great success.

A PETERBOROUGH RETIREMENT

For over 52 years Mr. Sydney E. Wright has rung regularly at St. John's, Peterborough. and it is with much regret that the band have had to accept his resignation. The long climb to the belfry has become somewhat of a strain to Syd during the past few months. and he feels that he can no longer put in a weekly appearance. Fortunately we shall still see him at service, and he hopes to have an occasional visit to the belfry.

Syd remembers the time when the Sunday service band could ring three courses of Superlative like clockwork, and has taken part in several 5,000 's in the tower, in a variety oí methods.
To mark his retirement a quarter peal of 1.280 Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major (Worcester Variation) was rung on Sunday, September 15 th, by Wendy Hollowell 1. G Cowlin 2, J. Bird 3, J. Rone 4. G: S. Bush 5. F. Boyall 6. R. H. Daw 7. B. Harris 8. We wish him many more years of happy retirement.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD

WHEN, at a business meeting of the Cambridge University Guild two years ago, I proposed that we should go to Cornwall for our 1963 tour. I wasn't expecting the reply:
Good idea. You're organising it.' However, this is what happened. and eventually we got ourselves booked at the Vicarage, Stithians, which is a guest house

The majority of the party arrived by the evening of Saturday. August 24th, some having rung at Liskeard and Cardynham. Here the organiser's first wellakept secret was sprung-many of the party would have to share beds. After a whispered consultation between organiser and president, rooms were allotted, and members went off grumbling. A good dinner the precursor of many excellent meals, mollified them slightly, and after dinner many found their way to the Seven Stars, where the Cornish style of hymn singing was much appreciated

The only ' official' ringing on Sunday was in the afternoon, at St. Erme and Veryan. At Veryan we rang 'The Cornish Sixties' at a tremendous pace. In the morning some rang at Stithians (where a rope was broken and afterwards very kindly mended by Roger Leigh). others at Kenwyn.

CHURCH IN AN AIRFIELD

St. Eval on Monday morning had some of the 'navigators' worried; they were not used to finding a church in the middle of an airfield. At Padstow there was some trouble in finding the key. Meanwhile the first peal of the week was being rung-London Major at St. Dennis*. on top of a windy hill. In the afternoon we rang at St. Columb Major and St. Columb Minor before tackling Truro Cathedral. An interesting touch of Little Bob Royal was attempted here, composed by Brian Price, but its undoubted musical merits were obscured by the inability of the band to ring it. After dinner we walked over to Stithians Church. and later in the evening had our first experience of Martyn Jordan at the ivories. or, as the poet put it: ' Dey had biano-blayin'

On Tuesday our first call was at Carbis Bay where we were cordially welcomed by Rev. A. S. Roberts, and after some mainly indifferent ringing were royally entertained with coffee, sandwiches and cakes. This was most welcome, and we are very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. The navigators had an interesting time after this, guiding us to the remote church of Towednack. The afternoon was much enjoyed hy the 'Dove' fans. First they added a ' $Z$ ' (Zennor) to Sunday's ' $V$ ' for Veryan, then collected Sennen. the most westerly tower in England. Those who were not content with this rang handbells on the rocks at Land's End. Meanwhile, a good peal of Stedman Triples was heing rung at Gulval. Some of us went to the practice at Truro in the evening. while others hunted for 4-bell towers.

PASTIES WITH MR. AND MRS. H. W ROGERS

We started Wednesday with our Corporate Communion in Stithians Church. which was celebrated by the Vicar. Rev. J. R. Jose. The peal band went to St. Anthonv-in-Meneage and rang a peal of Superlative. while the non-pealers went 10 Mawgan. Mullion and Cury for a 6 -bell morning. J. B. Williamson inveigled some of the party into snatching Manaccan as well. For lunch we went to the Old Inn at Mullion. where we were treated to pasties and sandwiches by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rogers, who were staying there and who had joined us in some of the ringing.

Feeling refreshed. we moved on to Helston. The phrase 'quaint old Cornish town 'inevitably springs to mind here, but fortunately the bells are neither quaint nor old, having been recently recast and rehung. At Camborne, praatically everyone was saying to the organiser: "Why on earth aren't we going to Tuckingmill? There's a beautiful little eight there. much better than the ee bells.' Personaliy, I didn't see much Wrong with Camborne, and Id never heard of Tuckingmill, so I echoed Dr. Johnson: "Ignorance, sheer ignorance.' Finding Redruth Church was a navigator's nightmare. It was eventually located and the bells duly rung. The timing of this afternoon's programme being distinctly odd, there was plenty of time for those whose appetite for towers was insatiable to go back to Tuckingmill and ring there before dinner. After dinner we had our business meeting. It was agreed that next year if we did not go to Shrewsbury we would go somewhere else! Eventually the meeting adjourned to the Seven Stars, and later in the evening Martyn 'Kramer, Jordan was rivalled by Old King Cole.

Thursday was an 8 -bell day. We had some enjoyable ringing during the morning at St. Stephen-in-Brannel, Roche (where the lights were left on and someone had to go back later to switch them off), and Bodmin, with its new eight. At Bodmin we were unfortunately restricted to half-an-hour's ringing. Here we said goodbye to Major Freeborn, and noticed that Brian Price had already "silently slipped away. After lunch a peal of Bristol Major was rung at Egloshayle, and the rest of the party went to Lanivet. Mr. Jose met us again at Perran-arWorthal, and showed E. M. Atkins some entries in the parish register made by his wife's grandfather. The tower-snatchers snatched Gwennap after dinner, while others went to the practice at Kenwyn.

PARTY'S RINGING ABILITY

Friday's peal was at Probus, where 8-Spliced was scored in the morning. Meanwhile ringing took place at Kea, where $\mathbf{j}$. B. Williamson and Chris. Woolley left us. We then went on to St. Ewe, where one rings in a sort of chimney. and Gorran, where the bells don't sound quite right. In the afternoon we visited Lanlivery, It was an interesting indication of the capabilities of our party that the 8 -spliced peal band arrived at Lanlivery to hear the bells being rung in 6 -spliced! We then rang on the very pleasant six at Lostwithiel. Our last tower was Fowey (the "Troy Town' of the excellent novels of 'Q').

Back at Stithians, Rev. J. R. Jose was our guest for dinner, and shortly after dinner the majority of members "adjourned '--t the best part of two miles-to the Golden Lion. In the lounge bar here, reminiscences from the older members were mingled with practical advice to the younger members.

I should like to draw a veil over what happened on Saturday, when we attempted a peal at Exeter Cathedral, but, as many people already know. the peal was lost in quite a short time. A quarter peal attempt was also unsuccessful.

Miser Gulielme. desinas ineptire.

I suppose that everyone got home safely. It was a great week, and it seemed 10 me that all thoroughly enjoyed themselves. W. T. C.

CHRISTCHURCH DISTRICT FESTIVAL

About a score of ringers assembled at All Saints' (8). Milford-on-Sea, on September 14th to start the Christchurch District's ringing festival: but after tea, when the proceedings concluded with two hours' ringing at Christchurch Priory. under the direction of Mr. W. E. Cheater, it was a case of standing room only. Visitors came from Lancashire. Worcestershire Essex and Oxfordshire

Car owners who drove the ringers from tower to tower included Messrs. R. Marlow. W. T Godfrey. C. Conway and H. A. Mitchell. After Milford, lowers visited were Ringwood. Downton. Fordingbridge. St. John's, Surrey Road, and St. Peter's. Bournemouth. At Christchurch Priory the Vicar, the Rev. L. H. Yorke, conducted a short service, and presided at tea in the Priory Church Hall. Acknowledging a vote of thanks. the Vicar said the world of campanology was a mysterious world to him, with a language of its own quite mystifying to the uninitiated. The ringing of the bells was importint, and he wished the ringers well in their valuable work for the Church.
The ladies who had prepared the tea were also thanked. They were Mesdames Godfrey, Witt, Alan Price and A. V. Davis. The dropping of the Priory bells at 9 p.m. concluded a

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

North Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch, at Iwerne Minster on September 14th, was attended by some 28 ringers and friends, including ringers from Wellington, Som, and Aylesford, Kent.

Standard methods were rung on this deepsounding six ( 18 cwt .) until the Guild Office. This was truly a ringers' affair, as the Vicar (the Rev. R. A. Wells) is vice-chairman of the Branch and a ringer, and so is the organist (Geoffrey Spencer). During the office a course of Plain Boh Minor was rung on handbells by C. Longridge, J. Longridge and R. Longridge (hon. secretary)
Tea, provided by Mrs. Wells and helpers, laid a proper foundation for the business meeting which followed. Fourteen new members were elected and one extra-diocesan life ringing member. Proficiency certificates were awarded to Messrs. G. Spencer, C. Dunster, J. Longridge, C. Longridge, $\mathbf{A}$. Wallis and $P$. Cracknell.

Ringers were reminded of the Dorset ringing festival at Blandford on October 26th, and this brought forth some discussion about the possibilities of some 8 -bell practices. Attention was drawn to the regular practices at Sherborne on Tuesdays and Mere on Thursdays.
Ringing was continued at Iwerne Minster and Shroton.

West Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Chardstock on September 21st. Distinguished visitors were the Master of the Guild (Rev. Richard Longridge) and Mr. Frederick Sharp. Mr. Longridge conducted the Guild service, and Mr. Sharp read the lesson. Twenty-one sat down to tea, served by lady helpers from Chardstock.

Mr. C. Powell presided at the business meeting. and gave a warm welcome to Mr . Sharp. who. in reply, expressed his pleasure at being present. and followed this with an interesting talk on his recent visit to America
Mr. Jesse Davis acted as honorary secretary in the absence of Mr. J. T. Barrett. The next two practices were fixed for Loders on October 9 th and Bridport on November 13 th, subject to consent. Mr. Barrett gave formal notice that he would not be seeking re-election at the A.G.M. in November. Miss Angela Quick. of Lyme Regis, was elected a ringing member: Mr. Longridge gave a reminder of the Ringers: Festival at Blandford on October 26th. Ringing ranged from rounds to Oxford and Cambridge. The service touch was Stedman Doubles

IN INFORMAL DAY IN  EASTERN HERTFORDSHIRE

On August 24th. 14 ringers from various parts of Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire met at 9 a.m. outside the Church of St. Nicholas, Great Hormead, and the bells were soon ringing to a variety of Doubles and Minor methods. Different ideas as to the best foute to take resulted in the last two cars leaving Great Hormead being the first to arrive at Anstey (a springy six, rung from the centre of the church). A short but rather hairraising drive brought the party to Brent Pelham. where Bob Minimus and various Doubles methods were rung. There is the tomb of a dragon slayer here. O. Piers Shonk. The drive to Little Hadham (the only other five bell tower of the day) was. for some, notable for the watery state of the 'road' taken. The afternoon's programme was Much Hadham (8). Widford and Great Amwell (two sixes) and Hoddesdon (another eight in a brick tower)

After tea we met again at Bengeo (a delightful light eight, which are at their best when rung fast), then moved to Tewin (6), where we were met by the Rector, who rang a touch with us. We ended the day at Welwyn. Most of the more common methods up to Cambridge were rung, as well as rounds. call changes and Minimus for the benefit of the less experienced. Those participating in the ringing are grateful to Jean Sanderson, for her efforts in organising the trip

Tune Handbell Ringing

Dear Sir.-I am sure that many readers, and especially those who are tune ringers, will join with me in congratulating Mr. Frederick Sharp on his being chosen to be the guest of honour at the Eighth National Convention of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. I have no doubt this gesture of esteem was well deserved by Mr. Sharp. for I do not know of anyone more suitable to represent English ringers and ringing at an overseas function of this kind. This, however, would not be an entirely one-sided arrangement. as the A.G.E.H.R. would derive a great deal of benefit from Mr. Sharp's wide knowledge and experience of ali things appertaining to bells and bell ringing. and this will doubtless be put to good use before long by our ringing contemporaries on the other side of the Atlantic.
Our thanks are also due to Mr. Sharp for the very detailed and concise account of his visit: this is one of the most interesting articles I have read in your columns for some time past, and while space does not permit me to comment at length on it, I should like to remark upon one or two points the mentions.

First of all, the tremendous distances travelled by many of the large number of ringers present, not forgetting the expenses involved in transport for themselves and all their equipment. This expense would not be light, and in almost every case would have been raised during the preceding 12 months by the voluntary efforts of the ringers concerned: it would also be in addition to the normal commitments for church funds that most of them will meet from time to time.
Another thing that struck me forcibly is the fact that these Americans use their handbells to make music in their church services all the year round. not just on special ringing occasions or at Christmastime; they use them with either voice and organ accompaniment or without. and to my mind it is very right and fitting that they should do so. 'Praise Him uoon the loud cymbals, says Psalm 150. and this is another form of giving praise and thanks to our God. We in Eneland could do well to take a leaf from their book in respect to this practice. One of the most moving and yet enjoyable services that I have ever attended was a carol service held at Norbury Parish Church. Hazel Grove, a few years ago. The handbell ringers took a prominent dart in the music of the service, playing for four or five of the hymns and carols sung. besides rendering a musical interlude, and I thought that the whole effect was most inspiring and a very worthy addition to our usual church organ music; it is something that could well be used to enrich the service music in our churches. not once or twice, but Sunday by Sunday throughout the year.
Now. whatever their different techniques and methods of arranging and writing musical scores. one quality of these American ringers stands ouf ahove all others. It ${ }^{-}$cannot be purchased. in fact if it is not there no amount of money can provide it : it is ENTHUSIASM. and very few good things in this world have heen accomplished without it!
Having seen and experienced for yourself this enthusiasm of our American friends for tune ringing. may 1 presume to ask Mr. Sharp if he would contribute a series of articles on tune ringing. and how to arrange music for handbells. so that enthusiasm for this art may he fostered and encouraged in this country? I am sure there are many ringers like myself who would appreciate a lead in this direction. There are many sets of handbells lying unused in towers throughout this land; with a little encouragement and assistance they could be put to good use once more; all that is required in many towers is the knowledge of how to use them properly, joined with enthusiasm, so that these bells may ring out in harmony once again.-Yours sincerely.

THOMAS OGDEN.

Northern District

Some 50 members and friends met at the Parish Church, Chipping Hill, Witham, on August 31st, for the quarterly meeting of the Northern District. A service was conducted by the District Master, and in his address the Vicar told us the history of the little bell recast and hung in the tower by the late Harry Richards
Tea was arranged in the Church Rooms bv the local ladies, followed by the business meeting. The District Master welcomed the visitors, who included Mr. Jim Chalk, of Wanstead, who gave a talk on people he remembered. Mr. Monk, of Witham, was elected a ringing member. The District Master congratulated Peter Laurence and Paul Le Count, of Bocking, who had rung their first peal.
The Vicar replied to a comprehensive vote of thanks, and afterwards the bells were kept going in a number of methods until 8.30 p.m.
Next meeting, Felstead, November 16th.

OBITUARY  MR. DEREK OGDEN

May I nay a short tribute to the memory of Derek Ogden, whose sudden and unexpected death has removed a talented ringer from the north-west.
He learned to ring at Ashton. under the tutelage of the late Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft. but it was in the last few years that his real influence had been felt. A capable ringer. conductor and composer, he had taken part in many of the noteworthy performances in this area during the past few years. culminating in the peal in 18 Spliced Surprise Maximus methods this year, which was composed and conducted by him.
Of a modest and quiet disposition he nevertheless filled the position of chairman of Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association with great dignity and much of the prosperity of the Branch is duc to his wisdom and guidance. His association with the Chester Guild. of which he was a resident member was close and cordial. and all ringers in the Manchester area. both Cheshire and Lancashire. feel that they and the Exercise have lost a valued friend. To his wife and children heartfelt sympathy is extended. C. K. L.

MR. LEWIS W. WIFFEN

APPRECIATIONS
It was my privilege to have known Lew Wiffen since I was a small boy, and his passing only magnifies what a tremendously fine man he was, both inside and outside the belfry.

One might easily have misunderstood his somewhat gruff attitude when at the end of a rope, but this was a coupling of intense concentration and rigid insistance from himself and the rest of the band on the highest standard of striking attainable. In this regard Lew was exceptional, and I count myself fortunate to include one peal in particular with him which was he at his most typical.

A peal of London at Great Dunmow with about one trip in it and Lew. Wiffen, with his old friend Frank Claydon, ringing and striking perfectly throughout. And then the comment afterwards: 'Not a bad 'un!' He was in his middle seventies then and that peal gave him a lot of pleasure.
Lew Wiffen will he sorely missed, particularly in Essex and Suffolk. and we mourn his nassing. We are thankful for the memory of his example. May he rest in peace.

GEORGE W. PIPE.
For some vears prior to the 1914 war. Lew Wiffen lived in Ipswich. There he was moulded into the great ringer he became. and there he gained that love of good ringing that was to last all his life. He rang in the 1908 peal of Cambridge Maximus and was the last surviving member of that illustrious band. Not a big man physically. fairly tall but spare. I don't suppose he ever weighed 9 stone. but he rang St. Mary-le-Tower tenor to London S. Major in 1909. He was also in the second Cambridge Maximus in 1910.

After the war, during which he worked at the Whitehead Tornedo Works. he drifted back to his native Essex. Here he became leader and conductor of a band he gathered round him at Braintree. It was a good band ringing Deals in the standard Surprise methods of the day. un to spliced. Always he insister on good ringing and was not slow to tell anyane whose ringing was not up to standard. for he was rather outspoken and did not suffer fools gladly.
From time to time between the wars. he would return to Ipswich for the 12 -bell ringing shich he loved and always when a new Surbrise Maximus method had been rung there. he with another prominent Essex rinaer. would be invited to take nart in another. which he would do with the skill and precision so characteristic. He was a staunch College Youth. Recently his ringing had heen curtailed as he was troubled with arthritis. And so his race is run. but he leaves an ahidine memory of a gallant ringer who loved all that is hest in ringing. God rest his soml may earth lie lightly on him.

REDEDICATION

DATCHWORTH, HERTS

On September 16th the bells of All Saints', Datchworth, were rededicated by the Bishop of Bedford, after they had been rehung and retuned by John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

This joyous occasion was the culmination of over three years' effort since it was found that the bells were unsafe. The Parochial Church Council decided early this year to go ahead with the repairs and appealed for volunteers who would be willing to undertake training in the art of ringing, thus ensuring that the bells would be rung regularly for service. The response was most encouraging, and, on the advice of Mr. A. R. Agg (general secretary, Hertford County Association), an approach was made to the Knebworth ringers who readily agreed to teach the volunteers.

Considerable enthusiasm was displayed by all concerned and as a result of hard work and determination sufficient progress was made to enable six of the learners to ring rounds at the end of the service. The ringing during the service was undertaken by members of the old band and Datchworth is now in the fortunate position of having two bands, with other trainees coming along to swell the numbers
At a reception. the Rector expressed thanks to all who had contributed so much in time and money to make it possible for the bells to be rung again. They were particularly grateful for the help given by the Knebworth and Benington ringers, and he made presentations on behalf of the parish to Mr . and Mrs. G. W. Critchley, Mr. B. L. Marks and Miss B. Harris in appreciation of their efforts.

Later in the evening the bells were open; to visitors, amongst whom we were delighted to see Mr. Stuart Bonnett, the president of the Hertford County Association.

A VISIT INTO ESSEX

On August Bank Holiday Monday a party of ringers assembled as usual at Willingham Church (Cambs) along with the organiser of the day, Mr. D. E. R. Knights, the venue this year being Essex. Friends were picked up at Cambridge and Harston, then on to Great Easton (6), our first tower of the day. Many touches were brought round on this pleasant ring. At Dunmow (8) we had some good ringing before lunch. The next tower was Rayne (6), followed by Coggeshall (8. a very pleasant ring which we all enjoyed), followed by Earl's Colne (8), where many methods were rung. After tea, on to Castle Hedingham (6), the last ring of the day.

As usual we were joined by our organist friend. who plays the organ whilst we ring the bells. A very pleasant day concluded. we turned for home, and Cambridge was reached just after midnight. Many thanks to Don for another enjoyable day. We would like to thank all who gave permission for us to ring, and those who so kindly met us at the towers.

CHELMSFORD, ESSEX.-On Sept. 8th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: Edna Frith 1, Ann Edwards 2. C. K. Cooper 3, A. R. Groves 4, J. Crawley 5, I. R. Panton 6. P. J. Eves (cond.) 7. D. A. S. Symonds 8. Rung for the civic service for the 75th anniversary of the granting of the Chatter of Incorporation to the Borough of Chelmsford.

BRAY RINGER A FARMER'S BRIDE

'THE wedding took place' 1 on Saturday, September Church, Bray, of one of the local ringers, Miss Diana Harris, to Mr. Francis Cartman, who is a young farmer. The bride wore a full-length dress in white satin with a lace train and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, lilies-of-thevalley and stephanotis

Diana was attended by three bridesmaids wearing full-length japonica pink wild silk dresses and carrying matching rosebuds. All the dresses had been made by the bride's mother.

The chief bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Wenda, who also rings at Bray. The local ringers rang before and after the choral service. which was conducted by the Vicar of Bray, and as the couple left church they were met by an archway of handbells. During the afternoon a peal attempt of Plain Boh Major unfortunately came to grief after $2 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' good ringing

After the wedding reception the couple left at lightning speed for a secret honeymoon, and when they return they will make their home at Overbury, Worcestershire; and so, unfortunately, Bray tower loses one of its regular Sunday service ringers.

DUDLEY & DISTRICT GUILD

The Guild held its annual meeting at St. Thomas', Dudley, on September 14th. Ringing took place during the day at Brierley Hill, the three Stourbridge towers, Cradley, Halesowen, Metherton and Dudley.

The Guild service was conducted by the president (Canon T. W. Keith Murray) in St. Thomas' Church, Dudley, quite a good number of ringers being present. Tea was taken in St. Thomas' School, and was followed by the business meeting, which was conducted by the president. Canon Keith Murray was re-elected president and expressed his thanks to the Guild for honouring him yet again.

The outgoing Master, Mr. F. G. Handley, stated that he did not wish to be re-elected. He therefore proposed that Mr. Michael J. Fellows, of St. Thomas', Stourbridge, be elected Master for the year 1963-64. It was pointed out by several members that by electing Mr. M. J. Fellows, the meeting had made history by electing the youngest person ever to the office of Master.
The secretary. Mr. Martin D. Fellows, and the treasurer, Mr. Harold J. Shuck, were both re-elected.
It was pleasing to see Mr . Chris Wallater at the meeting. He is in his 81st year and has been a member of the Guild for over 50 years.
The next meeting will be held at St. Peter's Wolverhampton, subject to permission being granted.

BARKING GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. E. G. Cottis, of Barking, celebrated his golden wedding anniversary on September 20th. and to mark the occasion a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Margaret's.
A native of Barking, George has been a regular member of the local band for 64 years, and now at 80 years of age still maintains his regularity, keenness and efficiency.
George's touches of Grandsire are notorious! Listening to the ringing, he detected the two shift courses in the false starts, but at the successful conclusion congratulated the band-and that coming from George is something, for he was a member of the exceptionally able Barking band of years ago.
Full of reminiscences and whimsical humour, at the short session afterwards George inquired as to whether anybody had rung for their own baptism, because he had 72 years previously at St. Leonard's, Colchester.
Congratulations, George ; may both you and your wife be spared many more years of happiness.
L. V. G.

CREWKERNE, SOMRRSET.-On Sept, 18th, 1,260 Stedman Triples: C. W. Powell (cond.) 1, Mrs, C. W. Powell 2, Dr. L. E. Wear 3, F. G. Knight 4, K. E. Pinney 5, H. G. Keeley 6, H. J. Gaylard 7, Rev. C. J. B. Marshall 8. Rung with best wishes to the ringer of Sth, prior to his entry to St. Luke's College, Exeter.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY IN NORTH DEVON

THE Society's second ringing tour this year, for those too aged and infirm to participate in the cycling tour, was based at Great Torrington, which is conveniently situated in North Devon.

The party, representative of membership of the University from 1946 until the present day, assembled on Sunday, August 25th, for ringing for Evensong at Great Torrington, where the local ringers kindly allowed us to ring scientific' for half an hour before introducing us to Devon style call changes under the leadership of the famous call change competiion judge, Mr. Tom Darch. We were joined here and on many occasions during the rest of the week, by Pam and Doug Bellamy and of the week. by Pam and Doug Bellamy a family, who were camping at Westward Ho!
Monday began with ringing at Abbotsham (6), where the tenor was out of tune, and then we visited the fine eight at Appledore. before lunch at Westward Ho! and a round of miniature golf, which was to become the sport of the week.' In the afternoon we were joined at Northam by some of the members of Wilf Williams' peal tour, and some good ringing ensued on this nice ring of eight. The last tower of the day was Buckland through narrow country lanes. It was well worth the offorts for these are a good six. A plaque in the church commemorates John William Taylor, the bell founder, who was born in the parish in 1827.

CHILDREN'S DAY

According to our programmes, Tuesday was to be 'tower grabbers' day.' It also appeared to be children's day, because, in addition to the four Bellamy children, and young Timothy Sprackling. whose parents were with us for the first half of the week. Frank and Mary Mack and their four children came round with us for the day. The first tower was St, Giles-in-the-Wood (6), followed by Winkleigh (8), where we also patronised 'The Ring of Bells,' next to the church. A quick ring at Jacobstowe (5) ended the morning. After lunch we rang at four sixes: Down St. Mary (home of a famous call change band), Zeal Monachorum, Dolton and Merton, where we were delighted to find that the local ringer who met us was a change ringer and he rang some Grandsire with us.
Only two towers had been arranged for Wednesday so that we shouid be able to spend a leisurely afternoon and evening by the sea at Bude. However, the day started with rain so we were delighted when the Rev. J. at Holsworthy. and invited us to ring at Clawton. his parish church. He subsequently arranged for us to ring at another nearby six, Pyworthy, as well. The sun emerged as we crossed the border into Cornwall to ring at Stratton (8), before lunch, and it was fine enough to tempt some of the party to bathe at Bude. while others played bowls during the afternoon. We then rang at Pyworthy and Clawton, both very nice rings of bells. As if he had not already done enough for us. Fr. Scott then invited us to a meal at his vicarage which we much enjoyed, and we should like to record our thanks to him and his wife for their hospitality.

Thursday was a day of narrow, winding lanes and steep hills. We had by now acquired reinforcements-Mary Bliss from Cheltenham, in her new Ford Cortina, and Chris Brown from Wareham, in his even newer Triumph Herald-and so the most capable cars were selected for the day's trip. We began at High Bickington, which is appropriately named. and had an hour's good ringing on the lovely eight, before the Vicar kindly gave us refreshments. At North Molton we were met by reporters from 'The Western Morning late already and now we were further delayed while we were photographed and interviewed by the press. We then rang on the excellent eight at South Molton. After an hour's ringing at Chittlehampton (on this fine eight) we returned to Torrington for the reunion dinner. which was held at the Gribble Inn. Little Torrington. We can fully recommend this hostelry.

On Friday the local newsagent was surprised to have sold out of copies of 'The Western Morning News, before breakfast, so that we were all able to admire our photograph and the accompanying short article. Ringing started at Pilton (8) and then Combe Martin (8), where we were once again pleased to find a local change ringer. After lunch we went to Ilfracombe and rang on the eight at Holy Trinity Church before having tea, playing another round of miniature golf and buying copies of 'The Evening Echo,' in which we were front page news. The last tower was West Down. where there is another expert call change band.

DEANERY RINGING CONTEST

By Saturday morning a sufficient number of us had memorised the blue line' to ring Rutland at Bideford. We learnt from the local captain. who met us, that the deanery ringing contest was to take place at Littleham that afternoon, and we decided to go and listen to it. We admired the lovely little village of Clovelly before having lunch there and then had a look at Hartland Quay before ringing at S.. Nectan's Church, Hartland, and All Saints', Clovelly

The winning team, Bideford, were ringing their 'peal' when we arrived at Littleham, and we also heard the Buckland Brewer team's contribution. Most of us were of the opinion that this sort of ringing is monotonous, but it was nevertheless an experience to hear well-struck call changes. This provided fitting end to an excellent ringing week.

Our thanks are due to Pat Bird for picking out such good rings of bells, and to the incumbents and ringers who met us and were so hospitable. Our chief recollections of the tour will be the fine carvings in the beautiful Devon churches, the call changs ringing and the lovely scenery. A.G.

CHESTERFIELD DISTRICT

In spite of the organiser overlaying and being very nearly left behind, the District outing to Loughborough on September 14 th proved to be an unqualified success. Arriving shortly after 9.30 at the Foundry we joined forces with others from Matlock and Darley Dale who, quite rightly as it turned out, preferred the services of Dr. Beeching to those of our navigator!

After a very interesting tour of the Foundry, the more ambitious tried the famous campanile, whilst others were busy trying to ring the first peal on the new eight for Sprotborough. near Doncaster.
A very substantial dinner at the Co-operative Cafe, Coalville, temporarily silenced the navigator's critics at missing the route. On the very pleasant eight at Measham a good course of Yorkshire was rung. followed by an even better course of Cambridge Minor on the six at Packington. We arrived at Whitwick just in time to ring a happy couple out of church

After a pleasant ring here we had tea at the Constitutional Club prior to sampling the fine Taylor eight at Shepshed. At the final tower of the day. Hathern (6). we were pleased to accept the Vicar's invitation to join him at Compline before starting the journey home.

Our thanks are due to incumbents and also to Roland Berniston for his help with the arrangements.
M. P. P.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The autumn meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Bridlington on September 14 th , and was attended by 50 ringers and friends from 15 towers. It was also a joint function with the Beverley District Society. The service in the Priory Church was conducted by the Rector and was followed by an excellent tea, provided by Mrs. Parker and helpers.

Mr. H. Walker, vice-president, presided at the business meeting, when Miss Vivienne Kirk and Mr. Howard C. Parker, both of Kirk Ella. were elected members. A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Rector, the local company and ladies was passed

Next meeting, Pocklington, December 28th, if possible.

MORE OUTINGS

BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY
The Society had a very successful annual outing around the North Yorkshire this year There were more ringers than usual in the party, including quite a few learners.

The last picking-up point was at Shelley, and we left just after 8 o'clock. The journey to Thirsk was in pleasant weather. We were met at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin by Mr. E. Metcalf. Ringing on the eight bells (14 cwt.) was for an hour. The next tower was Kirby Wiske (6. $7 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where Mr. Arthur Bashforth greeted us, He showed many of the party around the interesting church, while the ringing was in progress After ringing for one hour, we left for Northallerton, where we enjoyed lunch at Barker's Restaurant.
The coach route was up Sutton Bank, which rises to over 1,000 feet, and has a gradient of 1 in 4 in places. The view of the surrounding countryside was breathtaking, and so was the wind! Those who had not been there before were very impressed.

We went the easier way on to Helmsley, passing through Hovingham. Outside Hovingham Hall (the residence of Sir William Worsley) photographs were taken of the party in the best weather of the day. Ringing at All Saints', Helmsley ( $8,12 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), lasted over an hour.
The journey to Malton, where we had an excellent high tea, did not take long. Afterwards. we strolled to St. Leonard's ( $8,12 \mathrm{cwt}$.). The Vicar, Rev. R. C. Treasure, greeted us in the unusual ringing chamber. It was after 7.30 when we rang the bells down in peal and set off home. At the refreshment stop, Mr. N. F. Moxon, our president, entertained by playing the piano.

We are indebted to Mr. Moxon for the very good meals and the towers he arranged with Mr. Eric Stainrod, our driver. Thanks are also extended to incumbents and local ringers.

STRATTON ST. MARGARET

On August 31st ringers from Stratton St. Margaret, with friends from Cirencester, Chippenham, Lechlade, Bradford-on-Avon and Swindon left 'The Jacob's Ladder.' Stratton. for their annual outing; this year to Andover and district.

Ringing started at Thruxton, followed by Goodworth Clatford. and, after a somewhat circular tour around the country lanes of Hampshire. we finally arrived at Abbot's Ann. but as the Vicar was away we could not get the belfry key. Disappointed, we decided to carry on to Andover for tea, after which we ascended the rather hair-raising climb to the tower of St. Mary's Church.

Our last two towers were Longstock (5) and Stockbridge (6), after which we had a most enjoyable ride home, with the front half of the coach trying to compete with the singing in the back Grateful itianks and due to the incumbents and tower captains.

ROUGHAM, SUFFOLK

On September 14 th , the ringers of St. Mary's, Rougham. visited and rang at five other churches dedicated to St. Mary. when the annual halfday outing, arranged by Mr. L. Wright, visited Suffolk and Essex. Ringers from Elveden, Euston. Great Barton, Hockwold and Thetford were also in the party.
The first lower was Polstead (6), where a variety of methods were rung and the Norman arch in the belfry was much admired. Stoke-by-Nayland (a heavier eight) was the next, followed by crossing into Essex to Langham.
Returning to native Suffolk, the ringers were met by Mr. Walter Bailey, whose wife and friends provided an excellent tea in the Parish Room. The Rev. G. E. Jarrold (Rector of Rougham) thanked Mr. Wright. the organiser. and Mrs. Bailey and friends. the providers of the tea. Stratford St. Mary's bells were then rung, and were followed by the bells of Higham. Methods rung were Plain Bob, Grandsire, Double Court. Kent, Oxford, Cambridge Single Court. Ipswich, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, Oxford Bob and Stedman. The conductors were Messrs. M. Ros
Wright and H. Fulfer,

Mr. Michael J. Fellows, of Thomas', Stourbridge, was elected on September 14th Master of the Dudley and Dis BEFRY is only $15 \frac{3}{2}$ years of age and is without doubt the youngest Master of a Guild or Association affiliated to the Central Council.
Mr. Brian G. Warwick has rung 250 peals on the Bell Foundry Campanile at Loughborough. After several failures. Biddenden, Kent, have at last managed their first quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor with an all-local band.
Overheard at a meeting: 'I always think the popularity of Tittums in Stedman Caters and Cinques is due to the bob at 1 after Go!', followed by informing several of the band that they had not caught hold for Grandsire.
The ringers of St. Andrew's Parish Church, Hampton. Evesham, wish to congratulate Mr. John Smith, assistant Ringing Master, and Miss Frances Newman, daughter of the late Ringing Master, on their engagement. Both are faithful members of the Sunday service band.

Dedicating a new ring of bells at St. Peter's Church, Harrogate, the Bishop of Knaresborough suggested that the bells be rung at each baptism to welcome new members of the Church. The Vicar (Canon R. H. Baines) presented the tenor bell to commemorate his ordination 30 years ago.
In the 'Belfry News " Mr. D. R. Carlisle suggests that as the large majority of evening peal attempts in the Derby area come to grief before 8 p.m., the ringers find gossiping sessions, after the ringing, in the local pub far more entertaining than the ringing itself! The remedy he offers to Mr. Halls is a band of total abstainers !!
Mr. A. W. Bond, of Lindley, Huddersfield, sends us a correction to the claim that the peal of Stedman Cinques at Halifax was the first in the method on the recast bells. This was scored by the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford on October 11th, 1952. The peal was conducted by $H$. Howell 1 , others ringing being B. G. Key 2, J. N. Hadley 3, C. Wallater 4. G. A. Packer 5. A. D. Langford 6. A. Rogers 7, E. Stitch 8. I. R. Nicholls 9. S. Birch 10, M. G. Turner I1, A. W. Bond 12.

Mr. Tom Lock's eleventh

 peal tour in the North East. while very enjoyable and cover-GOSSIP ing a delightful itinerary arranged by Mr. Kenneth Arthur, was not conspicuous for its success. Only 11 tower bell peals can be recorded out of 20 attempted. There was also one handbell peal.

The peal of Pudsey Surprise Royal rung during Mr. Wilfred Williams' tour of Devonshire (see page 649) was not the first of Pudsey in the county but the first of Pudsey Royal.

Mrs. Nancy Poore Tufts, the well-known American handbell ringer, and her husband have been to the Edinburgh Festival, covering the event for several American journals. Before returning to 'the States, they called on Mr. Albert Hughes at Whitechapel.
Mr. R. Harper informs us that Winchester Cathedral tenor is not unique in having the inscription EEdwardi Octavi ${ }^{\text {' }}$ crossed out and 'Georgi Sexti ' added. There is a similar correction, he states, on the tenor of Manchester Town Hall, which was recast about the same time.
St. Giles' Day this year was on a Sunday, and the St. Giles' Society, Ashtead, made the most of the occasion by ringing for early celebration, morning and evening services. Two quarter peals were rung, in which 13 ringers participated.
There was a coincidence about Mr. John Weaver's 21 st peal, which was rung at Kirk Deighton, Yorkshire. It was a 21 st birthday compliment to Miss Sheila Chinery. John is leaving Yorkshire for London, and a farewell peal to him was rung at Crofton on September 16th.
To honour the wedding of Miss Merril Purslow, a ringer at St. Michael's, Stone, a peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at this church on September 21 st, arranged by Mr. B. G. Key, of Gnosall. Unfortunately the peal was lost shortly before the end, but the Stone ringers appreciate very much the services of all who participated in the attempt.

AN ENGLISH GENTLEMAN

0N the wall of the ringing chamber of Beddington Parish Church will be found a tablet erected in thankful memory of Arthur Bristow Carpenter, a founder member of the Surrey Association, Honorary Secretary for nine years and the Society's first Ringing Master. Fifty years have passed since the death of this notable medical ringer, and personal recollections of him are now confined to very few; but his work is still with us, and the influence he exerted on the Surrey Association had farreaching and important results.

Despite his busy life, both in general practice and as Medical Officer to the Croydon General Hospital, Dr. Carpenter found time to become a very accomplished practical ringer and a theoretical investigator of some distinction. He rang 165 peals and conducted 45. Among these it may be noted that he called Double Norwich from a working bell and was at home with Holt's Original, the calling of which is still the ambition of many ringers and a challenge to any conductor. As a composer his work was limited by the trend of his day, and his concentration on Triples shows clearly the dominating influence of C. D. P. Davies. In the Triples methods Carpenter's touch was masterly, and among his work is a notable variation of the Original in which the calls are reduced to 110 . Those who have access to Davies' 'Stedman' will not fail to be impressed by the table of opening and turning courses of Stedman Caters worked out by Dr. Carpenter, a schedule of more than 540 of each, all having the treble in 2nds place and produced by bobs only. The industry, patience and care required for this immense task are indicative of Arthur Carpenter's character and outlook.

For more than twenty years he represented the Surrey Association on the Central Council. His speeches were not numerous. He spoke against the Yorkshiremen during their great fight for 360 's of Minor in multi-method peals, and in one of the fierce debates he ventured the rather naive suggestion that if 14 methods were desired the band should ring 10,080 ! He had a fondness for Cater ringing. and at the Council meeting in 1893 he expressed the view that Stedman Caters might well start from 312 so that the treble might be in 2nds place right away. But it is in the substance of his speech to the Council at York in 1904 that his sincerity, commonsense and sense of right most plainly appear. In commenting on disputes then common among ringing societies he bluntly pointed out that ringing societies did not exist for the convenience or pleasure of selfish ringers, and that the welfare of the Church. its bells and its belfries should be the first and dominating consideration.

The greater and most important part of Dr. Carpenter's work, however, was typically behind the scenes. It included the first and not very satisfactory Peal Collections attempted by the Council; and the task of seeing into publication these difficult, controversial and somewhat invidious anthologies was one of unrewarding drudgery.

But we must look beyond skill as a ringer and work for the Council to perceive the importance of Arthur Carpenter in the life of the Exercise and to feel with those who knew him something of the charm and influence of his life and example. He came into ringing at a time of great expansion and almost feverish activity. New discoveries were being made, new feats performed, and in those final years of the 19th century genius was not always matched by education or culture, and often tempers were hot and controversy bitter and inelegant. It was into this exciting world that Carpenter came, and it was here that he was able to join his influence to that of other balanced and educated men to secure some measure of tolerance and to turn this great outburst of renewed life into some ordered path of progress.

It is to such men that we owe it that ringing was raised to a new status, composition and method construction provided with a basis for scientific development. and the Central Council, which might conceivably have faded into insignificance or have been destroyed by ignorance, brought to its present level of dignity and authority.

Like his great contemporary and colleague, Dr. Conan Doyle, Arthur Carpenter was an active man, a great cyclist, a great traveller, and a scholar who never let his scholarship rust. And of him the writer of fifty years ago said: 'His thoughtfulness for others was stamped on his whole life. It came out in the performance of his duties. in his social relationships, and in his very beautiful home life it was instinctive in him to put others before himself: and behind it all he was a keen and strong churchman.'
At Beddington the Surrey Association honours his memory and gives thanks for his life and work. We, too, may spare a thought at this time for this kindly, upright English gentleman to whom we owe more than we can perhaps comprehend.

MAKING HEADWAY ON THE MEDWAY

TYHE three cruisers, San Celia.' 'San Carol' and 'San Diana,' patiently bumped their sterns against the Tovil Boatyards jetty in Maidstone, waiting for the eleven ringers and three non-ringers who were to take them up the Medway to Tonbridge and back. 'Celia,' the six berth. was to accommodate the girls during the night, 'Carol' and 'Diana' the eight men. For cruising and cooking purposes the party was to be mixed. two girls to each boat.

Having practised: 1 Driving the boats (i.e. idling around in mid-stream, attempting unsuccessful 'three point turns); 2 Rowing the dinghy (i.e. fouling the week-end fishermen's lines whilst rowing young ladies to Sunday ringing): 3 Making a single in Stedman (at St. Michael's. Maidstone): 4 Going wrong in Cambridge Royal (at All Saints', where, joking apart. our sincere thanks and apologies are due to the Sunday service band who kindly let us join them)-the fleet finally set sail upstream in Sunday afternoon drizzle.

FIRST CASUALTY

We thought the cruisers having been up and down so often would know their way, hut very soon disaster, in the shape of Farleigh Bridge, struck 'San Celia.' It came down and hit me, complained Peter, the navi-gator-understandably as he was now supporting the broken canopy on his head! After a hurried ring at E Barming, 'Celia' and crew returned to the boatyard for repairs. thus upsetting the carefully organised sleeping arrangements. From then on there was also "mixed slecping! (actually a much more convenient and quite moral arrangement). At the end of the week. Peter received a sincere vote of thanks from all the party for taking such prompt action in hitting the first bridge! ' Diana' and 'Carol ' proceeded upstream to moor at Wateringbury, whilst Celia's' (and Peter's) wounds were patched.
Having rung at Watering-bury. Mereworth and Hadlow, the fleet was re-united for beer at Yalding on Monday night. We were now becoming more experienced at passing through locks, fending off. etc.. and 'Diana, proved very good at going aground! Leaping ashore was improving, though rope throwing was still sadly amateurish. The latter was not enjoyed by wet. grumpy lock-keepers, who muttered their observations. not always under their breath. Tea, it was found. was a good way to soften this species. Plenty of this. plus "throwing the stern rope first," kept the two lockmen happy who guided us. on Tuesday, through the five locks up to Tonbridge. We moored by the gas works in a thunderstorm, though this cheerless greeting was rectified by Mr. Large at SS. Peter and Paul's Church. who was most hospitable.

Justice was not done to these bells. so we tried again next morning, when joined by the ' Putney boys " (Alan and John, plus boater and rolled umbrella). Highlights during the day's outing round Tonbridge included Edenbridge bells and lunch at the XIII Century Restaurant. the beauty of Hever, Chiddingstone and Penshurst. pienic tea and worm throwing. the fast course of Yorkshire at diary. Horror struck, he exclaimed that his 'methods had all got spliced!' The evening was spent in the 'Anchor,' Yalding.

NETTLESTEAD, TRUE TO NAME
The fine six at Yalding were much enjoyed next morning. Having rocked 'Celia' off a sandbank we proceeded downstream to Nettlestead. where we found, rather painfully, why it was so called! A quick ring on the five and back down the muddy path, over the railway, through the nettles to our boats. From Wateringbury we caught a bus to West Peckham, where the East Peckham bells are to be found! Rain fell as we went through Teston lock (tea-pot at the ready) and under Farleigh Bridge, dead centre this time. though the canopy was back as a safety precaution and Mick wearing his bowler to keep off both rain and bridge!
Mooring some distance from the bank we used the dinghy to 'shutde' ringers back and forth to ring Farleigh bells. Arriving back safely at the boat yard we sighed in relief-at least no one had sunk! Otherwise most of the joys of boating had been experienced -good aground, ramming bridges. falling over-

Speldhurst, and the aching feet of all mem bers, who had walked over hard road, soft grass and bogs in the interest of ringing. Our apologies and thanks must go to the Tunbridge Wells ringers, who waited 20 minutes for us and were subjected to some very tired ringing.

Having kept our date with the friendly Tonbridge lock-keeper on Thursday, and having been passed back through the five locks, we sunbathed it East Peckham in glorious sunshire, fortified by lager. beer. cider and handbells. Trevor, from 'Carol.' decided to swim in the brown Medway, despite having seen all kinds of things floating by during the week. I'wo of his crew, David and Pam, went for a row in the dinghy, leaving just 'young Keith," who. later. trying to moor Carol. inadvertently 'took the plunge.' Luckily he could swim and striking out soon reached the shore. At once his hand went straight to his heart-and encountered his board. etc.-and thoroughly enjoyed! Handbell ringing had taken place on board 'Cavol most evenings, and in all sorts of places during the week. (One lady liked the sound of bells across the water so much that she followed and moored close to us!) The dinghy proved invaluable for courting, and mops and brooms not only for fending off locks, bridges and other boats. but, in 'Diana,' for sword play. In fact great fun was had by all.
David Bennett. Gill Sims, Mike Hallett and Val Mepham. in 'Diana'; Trevor Hawkins. young Keith.' Elizabeth (Liz) Stevinson and Pam Gough in 'Carol ' : 'But.' Mick. Pete (Bridge Basher) Bound, David (Lover) Hughes and Handsome (metaphorically speaking) Sansom in 'Celia.' My thanks are due to them (particularly to David for so ably taking command at short notice), and to all the incumbents and those who met us at the towers

ADVENTURES AT PAMBER PRIORY

A short distance from Basingstoke is Pamber Priory. All that remains of the original building is the nave and a large central towe containing a ring of four bells hung in an oak frame supported by massive oak beams. Regular services are held here by the Rev. F.J Tachley, Vicar of Mark Sherborne, and the Priory is maintained by Queen's College. Oxford.

The bells. although hung for ringing, had not been rung for generations. Only the tenor had a stay and slider. Permission was obtained from Queen's College to carry out repairs and ai 6 p.m. on September 27th working party from Highclere. Burghclere and Reading sel about repairing the wheels oiling bearings and clappers and tightening nuts on the headstock of bells Nos. and 4.

Finally by 9 p.m. all was ready to raise the bells singly. This was very difficult because of the exceptionally long draught of rope-between 60 and 70 ft .. wiin only one set of guides about 10 feet from the ceiling. All the bells were raised and lowerea. and then came the test-to ring them to gether when they were up.
Rounds went well for about eight whoie pulls when the distraction of seeing No. ringer flying through the air sent two of the other bells right over. Later a second attempi to ring them was made: this lasted about seconds before a missed sally on the second bell made this ringer airborne, the other bells being rapidly let down.

The bells are of good tone, but until guides are fitted it is obvious they cannot be rung satisfactory. In their present state they presenf a challenge to any band of ringers bold enougt to try the old-fashioned thick ropes that make the task harder.

A full report has been sent to the Vicar and Qucen's College, advising guides, stays and slides to be fitted. The four ringers who nave rung them are of the opinion that they are in longest length of rope without a guide in $t=$ country. It is hoped to start service ringul by visiting bands. but this will be restricien (Continued next page)

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION AT DINNER

MR. JOHN FREEMAN AND VALUE OF MEMBERSHIP

THIS year's dinner of the Kent County Association was held on September 28th at the Maritime. Museum. Greenwich, and received encouraging support from the Metropolitan district of the Association. Although recently celebrating his 80th birthday. Mr. John Willis, the Association's president, made the long journey from Folkestone to preside in his genial fashion. He was supported by the Association's general secretary, Mr. P. A. Corby, and Mrs. Corby, and by Miss Mary Andrews, the Lewisham District secretary, who efficiently made the arrangements, with cooperation of other members
Among those on the top table were the Rev. John Higgins. Vicar of St. Alfege's. Greenwich, whose bells were to be heard during the afternoon, and Mrs. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett, Mr. John Freeman, vice-president of the Central Council, Mr. and Mrs. John Chilcott. Mr. and Mrs. D. Beresford and Miss Freda Cannon.
Following the loyal toast. Mr. E. Barnett proposed the toast of 'The Church,' and said he often wondered if those of them who were interested in church history or węre either born in Kent or made it their county by adoption, were proud of the fact that when St. Augustine laid the foundation of the Church of England in the County of Kent, it was from Canterbury that he sent St. Paulinus on his journey to found the sees of Lincoln and York. Since then it has spread to the whole world and the centre of the Anglican Community was where St. Augustine first planted it in the city of Canterbury

WHEN ENGLISH WAS AT ITS BEST

Today they were living in a material age, when little or no thought was being given to religion. They were also living in an age of extremes and changes in church services. For some years they had had a revised prayer book and more recently a new English Bible, to which many people in all walks of life found some difficulty in adopting themselves. When they considered that the Old Prayer Book and the Old Bible were both written when the English language was at its very best, he wondered if these changes were a step in the right direction. That was something that time alone could provide an answer.
There was one thing, in particular, that each and every one of them owed a deep debt of gratitude to their leaders for and especially to Dr. Fisher, the late Archbishon, for the great work they were doing in the cause of Christian unity. He thought they would be foolish to expect any spectacular results in their life time-it certainly would not be in his, but he had no hesitation in saying that he had great hopes for the future.
In reply the Rev. John Higgins said he was one of those Vicars who were fortunate enough to be associated with bellingers for the whole of the time since his ordination, but he had been wise or foolish-he supposed they would say foolish-to keep ringing away from him. He recalled at one time he rang a bell for Evensong. The problem was how long to ring it and he decided on three times seven. as seven was supposed to be a red numeral. One day somebody came up to him at Taunton and asked him why he had only rung 20 times that day!

What was important was that he should thank them on behalf of the Church for their expression of goodwill and that their ancient art. which was probably unique. should flourish and that this marriage between the church and campanology should go on for all time.
The toast of 'The Kent County Association ' was proposed by Mr. John Freeman. vice-president of the Central Council and honorary secretary and treasurer of the Kent County Association. He said he had enjoyed hospitality at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burnett and Mr. Barnett had arranged many peals for him. It said much for those peals as for 10 years they did not lose one, and When they did it was in Lincolnshire, when the conductor missed a bob.

IN RETURN FOR SUBSCRIPTION
Recently he was discussing with a visiting ringer the matter of Guild and Association subscriptions, and the question arose what should they tell young ringers when they asked What they got for the $3 /$-or $5 /$-subscription? Of things tangible he supposed the only one was the annual report. But an annual report, in his opinion, did not reflect the true value of an Association to its members. It reflected the vitality and vigour of an Association to its members and its accounts no doubt the prudence of members and officers. If one perused the latest report of the Kent County Association one was led to the conclusion that the Association was and had been for many years one of energy and wise decisions.

While these qualities were considerable, the real values of this and any other Association lay elsewhere. It was inevitable when a number of people had a common interest they would form themselves into a body to look after and organise their affairs. What the Kent County Association did in 1880 followed such a logical course of events.

Now the first benefit of being organised was that it provided a means of communication and bringing them together from time to time for meetings and the inter-change of ideas. without which change ringing would not flourish. The grestest contribution, however. in his opinion. was that the Association gave ringers some standing in the diocese. which an individual band would never achieve on its own.
When some of the Associations were founded one of their aims and objects was said to be belfry reform and if they believed what they were told the standing of ringers in the last century was low. Now everyone would agree that the standard was fairly high. The change did not come about by the founders setting about to reform their wayward brethren. He thought the formation of an Association brought together a fairly broad cross-section of society, and to the head of affairs ringers of merit and ability, whose efforts led the Associations to be accepted as responsible bodies.

PRIVILEGES

Because of this acceptance they enjoyed the privilege of being able to ring in the vast majority of towers, when the bells were in good order. Also because of this they were consulted on matters relating to bells and many Associations had representatives on Diocesan Advisory Committees. He had the privilege to represent the Llncoln Diocesan Guild, and when he gave his opinion he felt that he had the whole Guild behind him.
Their main purpose was to see that church bells were rung Sunday by Sunday in the good old English style, and he had no doubt that the Kent County Association tried to achieve that same objective.
Mr. Philip A. Corby prefaced his remarks with a reference to the late Mr. Edwin H. Lewis. They remembered him. he said. with the very greatest respect as chairman of the Association. The gentleman who succceded Mr. Lewis, when he left the county, was with them that night. Mr. Willis had served them in many ways which mose of them were not aware of. A few days ago it was his pleasure to send to Mr. Willis, in the name of the Association. a greetings telegram, wishing him all the hest for his $80 t h$ birthday
Mr. Corby also mentioned that the Association was raising a fund to provide a memorial to Mr. Frederick A. Mitchell, who was for many years secretary and treasurer of the Association. They remembered his tremendous work in following Canon F. J. M. Helmore, who was general secretary for 38 years.
He would also like to refer to a member who was second in years of membership of the Association-Mr. Edwin Barnett. Who joined the K.C.A. in January, 1897 . Their sole foundation member. Mr. Ted Ruck. was in Hopfield Hospital. He was still reasonably coherent. They had lost by death Bertie Aldridge, of Woolwich. and Joe Bachelor, a member of the committec, who was church warden at Little Chart. Shortly the Rev Peter Robbins. who married into the well known Kent ringing family of Spice, was going to become Vicar of Charing and Little Chart. Another clerical member, he would like to mention, was the Rev. Peter Bond, who was ordained a priest early that year. Many of them had the privilege of being present on the first occasion he celebrated Holy Communion.

Another clerical change had been the retirement of the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, who had been Dean of Canterbury for 32 years. He was a vice-president of the Association and always received the K.C.A. very kindly He had written to the new Dean expressing their good wishes. His installation that day prevented many of the Canterbury members from being present. The annual meeting next year would be somewhere in the Ashford District. and the dinner was due to be held at Maidstone.
Mr. Corby expressed his pleasure at meeting members of the Lewisham District; he praised them for their loyalty to the K.C.A. in resisting the demands that had been made upon them to join another Association. In peal ringing while the Lewisham District did not do as much as it did 20 years ago it was a lively and active District, and the Association would be much poorer if it left them.
The concluding toast. 'the Guests and Visitors,' was proposed by Miss Freda Cannon, a former captain of St. Alfege's Church. She welcomed by name the Vicar. Mr. John Freeman, Mr. John Chilcott (secretary of the College Youths and leader at St. Paul's Cathedral), and Mr. T. W. White. Mr. John Chilcott replied.
The chairman thanked Miss Mary Andrews for the efficient way she had organised the dinner and asked her acceptance of a hox of chocolates. He also thanked Miss Hazel Simkins (soprano), for her songs. which were warmly applauded

SAWBRIDGEWORTH, ESSEX

A 6.30 a.m. start was made by Sawbridgeworth ringers on their recent outing. A sporting gesture was made by the Vicar at Chipping Norton. His bells were out of commission as new ropes had not arrived for two, and he arranged for ringing on the six at Bledington Lunch at Moreton-in-Marsh preceded ringing on the musical eight, where Stedman went well. and the same method had the honours on the heavy octave at Stow-on-the-Wold. At Bourton-on-the-Water ringing was fair for Double Norwich and Kent and good for Stedman. Striking was of a high order at Witney, where some of the best ringing took place. Special thanks to Ted Rochester who organised, as for a number of years.

to quarter turning and chiming until something further is done. Any band wishing to try them must undertake to make good any damage done should they manage to raise the bells. which is as difficult a task as actual ringing.
The inscriptions on the bells, as supplied by Queen's College are:
Treble.-John Taylor & Son. Loughborough, recast me. A.D. 1551

Second.-That hast sent us thy holy worde. 1579 J.C.
Third.- Oh Lorde even for thy holy name 1582. Joseph Carter

Tenor-J. Taylor & Son. fecerunt + inflame ur hearts to love the same. 1579. Recast 1850.
An old gentleman who had maintained the bells said that they had been rehung in 1851, hut only the tenor could have been recast.

Letters to the Editor

The Penn Performance

Dear Sir,-Having on previous occasions become embroiled in controversial issues with a resultant creation of undesirable alienation of friends. I hoped to remain aloof from the present one, contenting myself with omitting the 'peal' from my personal records, and taking steps to persuade my Guild (for the preservation of its good name) to disclaim it too. However, having supported my colleagues in their rejection of the peal by consenting to append my signature to a joint statement, I now feel it my duty to reply to the latest outburst by Mr. Thompson.

Most of the facts regarding the peal have already been published, and one would have thought there was no need to argue any further about such a performance. but since Mr. Thompson insists on defending it, as well as attempting to besmirch other people and forcing them to write unpleasant things in answer to his charges, I will make a few comments.
1 The peal started at a very steady pace which quickened towards the end of the first extent to the right pace for the bells, and the 720 took 25 minutes. All the other extents took $23 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes, except the sixth which occupied $27+$ minutes and the speed of the ringing was consistent throughout once a -heat' had been set. Both Mr. Oglesby and I realised that the sixth extent was questionable and acknowledged this during the ringing by looking hard at each other. As the ringing was very satisfactory, and as one does not stand his bell without the conductor's orders. there was no question of stopping. Up to that point standard callings had been employed, but when the sixth extent began with a bob at the end of the first course I memorised the calling so as to record it later. When 43256 came up at a single the calling was repeated, so I presumed that 43256 was half-way, but a bob was called at the corresponding place in the second half, and two more courses were added. The extra time involved also made me think something was amiss. Consequently at the conclusion of the peal I asked Mr. Thompson what was the calling of the sixth extent. Instead of telling me he replied: - Oh. I can't tell you now. It's in here ' (pointing to his head). 'It's one that Ken Lewis gave me, made ip of Q -sets. I haven't the details here. They are at home.
Mr. Oglesby then observed. "The course-end 32456 came up twice, once at a plain lead and once at a boh." Mr. Thompson would give no further information and stated, "As therc is only some doubt about the extent. I shall take the benefit of the doubt and send up the peal.' Most people would have taken the opposing view and withheld publication.
2 Mr . Thompson accuses us of not discussing the peal at sea-time. As Mr. Hatchett's wife and her parents had invited the band to tea. surely he would not have expected us to start an argument in our hosts' home!
3 Mr . Thompson knows steps were taken to prevent publication of the peal. A student from his college was on school practice where I work. Being himself a ringer (from Derby) I requested him to speak to Mr . Thompson about the matter as the figures arising from his calling proved the peal false. I did not have a chance to work them out till I arrived home. Mr. Thompson kindly replied, and gave the composition. adding also the figures of which he declared he might have called He had not seen my figures. but they were identical, so he obviously knew what he had called, and there was no real doubt in his mind. I replied to Mr . Thompson stating that that was in fact what he had called. Unfortunately the student was absent ill and the letter was not delivered, and I regret to say that I failed to post it later, for which I apologise to Mr. Thompson. I still have the letter
I also requested the Oxford Guild peal recorder not to accept the peal, and told him I wanted no unpleasantness in the 'R.W.' He undertook to write to Mr. Thompson requesting the calling of the peal, so that any further steps could be taken, if necessary. Whether such procedure actually took place I do not know, and I hope the gentleman concerned will forgive my reference to this in my desire to refute Mr. Thompson's accusations
4 If he is referring to me as the member of the band making negative remarks about the peal to totally disinterested parties, I can assure him that my Slough colleagues are extremely interested in each other's ringing activities. and every Sunday morning questions are asked about successes or failures in our Saturday attempts, or about our outings. What is wrong in admitting that a peal is mis-called?-which was all that happened when Mr. Oglesby missed a "Wrong' in a subsequent peal, and went on to the course end before calling 'Stand,' a normal procedurewhich Mr. Thompson exaggerates into five successive homes.'!
5 Mr . Thompson is most uncharitable to Mr. Hatchett in emphasising that he did not forward the peal for publication. As Mr. Thompson badly wanted to conducted his first peal, Mr. Hatchett obtained Penn bells and assembled a band to enable him to do so At the end of the peal Mr. Hatchett stated that he believed something was wrong with the sixth extent, and as soon as he saw the figures he took immediate steps to have the peal withdrawn and disclaimed it himself. A few days after the peal he rang a handbells peal with Mr. Thompson, and as the Penn peal had not been forwarded Mr. Thompson requested him to forward the two peals together, while Mr. Hatchett was still unaware that it had been proved false.
6 We do regret our failure to take the formal steps for withdrawing the peal. but such a procedure is so rarely necessary that we were unaware of them, and apologise to Mr. Thompson.
${ }_{7}$. It is to be hoped that this matter will soon be brought to a close by either the Oxford Guild or the C.C. formally rejecting the peal.-Yours faithfully.

Slough, Bucks.

P.S,-Having refrained from posting my reply to Mr . Thompson in the expectation of my Guild taking action, I now learn ( $5-10-63$ ) that no such action was taken; hence Mr Thompson's charge is valid. Had I not believed that official action would be taken, I would most certainly have forwarded by letter -W. B.

Note.-This correspondence is now closed. -Ed.

A Learner's Complaint

Dear Sir.-I was particularly interested in A Learner's' complaint (page 501). and rather surprised to find that no one had suggested that he/she should consult his/her Ringing Master or tower captain on the point.

It is true to say that in some towers there exist ringers who cannot refrain from commenting upon a probationer's ringing, whether deserved or otherwise, without any regard (Continued in next column)

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

North Dorset Branch

An outing to the Axbridge area of Somerset on September 7th provided a good day's ringing for many members of the scattered North Dorset Branch. Inevitably a good deal of time is spent picking up along the highways and byways of North Dorset, but a prompt start from Okeford Fitzpaine at $8.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. , and a skilful driver, ensured that we arrived at the first tower with a minute in hand. This was Ditcheat, with its fine eight, and Mr. Lintern, its captain, to welcome us.
Ringing here and at the next two towersAxbridge and Compton Bishop-was conducted by Mr. W. Shute. Axbridge, with its dignified heavy six. gave us some steady Grandsire Doubles and Stedman. while Compton Bishop gave a chance for our younger ringers.

At the next three towers operations were organised by Ringing Master Mr. Ben Ridout. First Shipham, a light six, which sound better outside than in: Stedman here mostly, and rounds. A diversion to Winscombe for tea. which certainly was up to standard at Bird's Cafc, Rowberrow, once found-and with our third Ringing Master, Mrs. Godley, waiting. having driven goodness knows how many miles to be in at the death-gave us 45 minutes of mixed ringing.

Saving the best until last, hack over the Mendips to the best six in Somerset-Brutonfor the last and longest ring of the day, with the tenor turned in to Kent. as well as beating the drum for Stedman and Grandsire. With Mr. White, captain, to meet us, the day came to a happy end.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD
On September 7th teams representing the five Districts of the Southwell Guild met at St. Mary's, Radcliffe-on-Trent, for the Crawford Cup final. After tea, Mr. Midwinter introduced the judges-Messrs. A. Mould and D. Marshall. Before giving their verdict. Mr. Marshall remarked on the good ringing and growing interest in the Guild to get good striking. Result: Warsop 17 faults, Shelford 30, Wollaton 77, Retford 108. Newark 135. Once again Mr. T. Rooke received the cup, presented by Rev. T. Richardson.

Mr. W. L. Exton announced that $£ 18$ 1s. had been received from ringers towards the Canon Wilkinson Memorial and $£ 300$ from other friends. Evensong. conducted hy Rev. $T$ Richardson. was followed by ringing to suit all until 8.30.

READING UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

A tynographical error occurred in Reading University Society's tour report. In the fifth paragraph. for 'At Iam the Rector . . . was set as 'At 11 a.m.. . : The remark about the cracked third did not refer to the ring at Ashbourne that sounded extremely pleasant.
The party consisted of J. H. Croxton, J. W. Manley. P. M. Wilkinson and the Misses Jane Black. Pat and Janet Buss. Doreen Gibhon. Sandra Farley. Jane Foster. Margaret Montgomery and Judi White, and Mr. and Mrs. F. W, Lewis. Other correspondents are thanked for pointing out the error. for the conductor or Ringing Master. Such attitudes are to be deprecated.
My advice to 'A Learner, is to consult the Ringing Master or tower captajn. trusting that he has the ability and tact to deal with the complaint. Whatever the outcome do not despair but use every criticism as a means to greater endeavours.-Yours sincerely,

EMLYN F. HANCOCK

TOM LOCK'S PEAL TOUR IN THE NORTH-EAST

SATURDAY. August 31st, saw the start of Tom Lock's eleventh peal ringing tour. The area was Northumberland and Durham, and the headquarters were at the Rex Hotel, Whitley Bay. This was a very comfortable hotel overlooking the sea, although we were not to see much of the sea during the next eight days. About 20 of the party were accommodated at H.Q. and were joined daily by two locals, Kenneth Arthur and Fred 'laughing boy' Ross, and on some days by two others, Michael Maughan and Alan Patterson. Transport this year was by private cars, and the daily convoys consisted of anything up to eight vehicles.
Two peals were attempted on Saturday after-noon-Cambridge Maximus at Newcastle Cathedral and Cambridge Major at Whitley Bay, still the home of the Gofton family. The former came unstuck after two-and-a-half hours' ring ing, but the latter was successful.
On Sunday we were requested to supply ringers to make up bands at churches where local bands do not exist, as well as joining other local bands for service ringing in the Newcastle area A quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was success ful at St. Peter's. Jarrow, for morning service Everybody met at Newcastle Cathedral at midday and were issued with instructions by Kenneth Arthur for the afternoon, evening and rest of the week. It was then realised what care and trouble he and his helpers had taken to make the tour as successful and enjoyable as was humanly possible.
After lunch at the Asia Café, the convoy was piloted by Kenneth to Durham Cathedral to Iring for Evensong. The majority ascended the 241 -or is it 242 ? -steps to the ringing chamber to be locked in for one hour. Back in Newcastle, each made his appointed way to the various towers for evening ringing. Those fortunate to be directed to St. Stephen's were rewarded with a majestic ring, one of the finest eights of the tour. Another band went to Cramlington where, unfortunately, a quarter peal of London Minor was lost. However, a handbell peal of Plain Bob Major was successfui at the home of Alan Patterson after Evensong. Being St. Aidan's Day, one of the hymns sung at Evensong at Cramlington was a new one, entitled 'The Hymn of the Church of Northumbria.

NORTHERLY RINGS

After fine weather on Saturday and Sunday, Monday started with a heavy mist which lasted well into the afternoon. Kenneth took us to Embleton, a very pleasant ring and the most northerly ringable six in the British Isles. While ringing was enjoyed here, a peal band went to Bamburgh-the most northerly eight in England to attempt a new method which would have been named Lindisfarne. During the ringing at Embleton, a non-ringer seated in one of the cars overheard the following from three young boy cyclists who had dismounted to listen. 'I wonder why the bells are ringing on a Monday? -It can't be a wedding as the cars haven't got ribbons on them. 'It can't be a funeral beribbons on them. "It can't be a funeral because there isn't a coffin. Eventually, curiosity got the better of them and they approached the non-ringer to satisfy themselves.
After coffee at Embleton. lunch was taken at Bamburgh. The peal came to grief after 40 minutes excellent ringing. but there was no scenic reward as the mist still obscured the Farne Islands and mainland costline. The staircase leading to the ringing chamber here is interesting in having the steps grouped in threes around a square centrepiece. During the morning Len Stilwell sent a congratulatory telegram to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hazelden, of Guildford, who were to celebrate their diamond wedding the next day. After leaving Bamburgh, the mist suddenly lifted, but rain began to fall and continued for the rest of the day. Two bands went heir various ways to Rothbury and Morpeth: Rutland Major was successful at the former and Yorkshire Major was scored at the latter.
Tuesday started with a trip over the Tyne Ferry to South Shields to meet Kenneth, and on to Roker where we greeted Margaret Ranken, a member of previous tours. A good peal of Yorkshire Royal was rung here, The rest of the party rang at St. Ignatius', Sunderland (Joseph W. Parker's tower), and at Holy Trinity. After lunch all rang at St. Michael's, Bishopwearmouth, and then said goodbye to Margaret. The lectern here is in memory of Major Robert Challis Hudson, churchwarden. Sunday School teacher and bellringer, killed in the belfry on November 26th, 1925. He called the first peal on the bells by a local band. The base of the lectern has bells carved around
On to Houghton-le-Spring and Chester-leStreet. A peal of Bristol Major was lost at the former after one hour and 20 minutes, but 4 Spliced Major was successful at the latter. In the meantime the four members of the party not ringing were graciously entertained to tea by Denis Bayles and his wife. Also at the tea party was Frederick Sheraton, until recently a ringer at Chester-le-Street. It was his 84th birthday, and his name is on a peal board for 1897 in the tower. This was conducted by his brother, one of the original band at Chester-leStreet from the installation of the six in 1883. Unfortunately Mr. Sheraton now finds difficulty in climbing stairs, but enjoyed listening to part of the peal from ouside
Wednesday started bright and sunny, and remained so for most of the day. Winifred Keys joined us at breakfast time, having travelled up overnight by train. This morning most cars got temporarily lost in Gateshead, but all eventually made a rendezvous with Kenneth, although delaying our arrival by half-an-hour at St. Aidan's, Blackhill. Here Superlative Major was attempted while another band attempted London Major at Consett. Unfortunately both came to grief. the former after two hours five minutes of good ringing and the latter after only 17 minutes. A quarter of Bristol at Consett also came unstuck Thanks to Norman Errington, of Consett, lunch was taken as guests of the Consett Iron Company.

CONSETT IRON WORKS

During the afternoon a peal of Lincolnshire Major was successful at Blackhill Roman Catholic Church. Those not ringing had an extensive tour of the iron works, where artificial sun-tans were obtained by all. Some parts of the tour were definitely hair-raising. This was followed by a very good tea provided by the company. A ring at Benfieldside was then secured, where the peal band (minus tea) met up with the 'iron tourers.' This church has been beautifully restored and is in a delightful setting, although the ringing chamber is rather cramped. After a quick visit to the home of Norman Errington for a wash and brush up, the whole party were then the guests of the Fenham ringers at a social in their Church Hall. Mrs Arthur and her lady helpers had a splendid array to satisfy the "inner man. Community singing was enjoyed, and even the locals were surprised at our rendering of the Blaydon races, although probably disgusted at our pronunciation.
Thursday saw us heading south once more. This time to Darlington, where Darlington Major at St. Cuthbert's was brought to a halt after only 47 minutes by the untimely entry of the verger, who decided to inspect the clock and its chimes. This poor gentleman was nearly left in tears after admitting that he had only been in the job for one week. The same method was attempled at St. John's and complefed without interruption. In the meantime the remaining ringers went to Holy Trinity, but ringing was delayed for an hour by a damaged clock hammer, which was eventually 'tied.' In the afternoon a peal of Yorkshire Royal was attempted at Stockton, and the remainder of the party went to ring on the pleasant eight at Ormesby After tea in Middlesbrough, a return to Siockfon found that the peal had been successful. We then said goodbye to Arthur Mason.
On the journey back to Whitley Bay a call was made at Sedgefield. This tower, which looks from the outside as if it could hold a ring of ten, actually has five bells, the front five of a ring of six, and provided the "highlight. of the tour. After the front four had been raised. an unsuspecting ringer started on the fifth. Before he had the bell half way up. everyone was in hysterics with tears streaming everywhere Surely this is the bell for the 'Tenor King.' When ringing commenced, a nameless gentleman from a southern spa town tried his hardest to prevent the ringer of the tenor from striking at all. When the hilarity died down, a visit to the belfry, in which the bells only occupy half the space, showed that the bells had only recently been rehung on ball-bearings and fitted with new clappers. However, the obvious crack in the tenor was not visible at all.

A GREMLINS' FEAST

Friday (not the 13th) was to be a black day and a feast day for the Gremlins. After meeting Kenneth once more, at Fenham, we journeyed to Hexham Abbey. An attempt for Cambridge Major was made on the Abbey bells whilst another band journeyed on to Allendale for London Major. The former came to grief after one hour's good ringing. After lunch came the sad news from the latter that their peal had also been lost after ringing for 1 hour 40 minutes, a bob called early being the undoing. Altogether once more, we were taken right out into the country and given a tour of Hadrian's Wall-on foot, of course-by Centurion Ross. The weather was calm if a little overcast, and the quietness and scenic beauty were certainly a grand onic after the disappointing morning. Handbells were rung on the Wall. but there was no sound of Hadrian turning in his grave. A peal band was then despatched to attempt Northumberland Minor at Newton Hall, while the remainder had high tea at the George Hotel, beside the river at Chollerford. It was decided to call at Newton Hall to listen to the peal. On arrival, the cars coming from all direcions of the compass, ws tiere greeted only with silence. On entering the ringing chamber, the culprit, in the form of the fourth rope lying on a seat, was found. They assured everyone that they had rung for 45 minutes! On the journey to H.Q. calls were made to local practice nights at Benwell and Fenham.
Travelling was cut to a minimum on Saturday In the morning a peal of Fordcombe Major was attempted at Jesmond. No sooner had changes begun than a local ringer, who is also wellknown in Westminster, appeared on the scene completely breathless. He was soon assured that it was a peal attempt and that he could return to bed as he hadn't forgotten to turn up for a wedding. The start for a peal of Yorkshire Major at Gateshead was delayed for an hour by a wedding. Both these peals were successful. The final peal attempt of the tour was in the afternoon at North Shields-the most northerly ring of ten in England-where Cambridge Royal was scored.
The concluding get-together was held on Saturday evening in Mr. and Mrs. Lock's hotel bedroom. Fortunately it was a large room. Although only 11 tower-bell peals out of a total of 20, plus one handbell peal, were rung during the tour, it was unanimously agreed that it had been a most enjoyable tour socially. 'Marg. read her usual poem, which caused a good deal of laughter, and Bill Rogers thanked drivers for supplying transport. Kenneth Arthur was thanked for his excellent work and presented with a table model dinner gong. Tom was then presented with a coffee percolator for arranging yet another pleasurable tour. Next year's venue was suggested as Somerset and North Devon.
Those who stayed over Saturday night all departed by 9.30 on Sunday morning. Some rang for morning service at Newcastle and four rang at Roker. Nearly 600 miles were covered on the four, with only one bad day as far as the weather was concerned. To all members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association ve say a big 'Thank you' for your wonderful welcome and hospitality, and not least to our fellow tourer Kennth Arthur

CHELFORD, CHESHIRE

For their annual tour, Chelford, Cheshire, rìngers, their wives and friends, went to Lancashire. Though the weather forecast promised a dismal start, there was nothing dismal about the spirits of the party who left the Roundabout at $80^{\circ}$ clock, first call being at Rainford (8). From there northwards to Tarleton (8), and after ringing we bad some excellent coffee, thanks to Edward Ashcroft.

At St. James', Leyland, in spite of the long draught, some very good ringing was obtained on the noisy (in the belfry) six. After an ample lunch we made our way to Lytham, where we found a musical eight at St. Cuthbert's, and with the sun still shining we made our way to St. Anne's Parish Church and another eight in first-class order.
Having disposed of a very good tea, we spent an hour walking it off on the prom. before embarking for our last visit, to Eccleston (an easygoing six in a very old and well-kept church).
Thanks are due to incumbents and the tower captains.
F. G. F.

ST. DAVID'S, EXETER

Ringers from St. David's, Exeter, together with Mr. R. Berry (Topsham), Mrs. G. Retter and daughter (Honiton Clyst) and Mr. A. Newton (St. Cyres), had a half-day's outing on September 14th.

Towers visited were Hiltisleigh (a 3-bell novelty), Spreyton (6), Jacobstowe (5), Exbourne (6). North Tawton (8, the treat of the afternoon), Washford Pyne (6) and Poughull (6). Ringing included call-changes. Grandsire and Bob Doubles, Bob Minor and Grandsire Triples. Thanks are due to Mr. Peter Pavey, who not only organised the trip but drove the Dormobile. A.J.W.

CONSTANTINE, CORNWALL

Starting out on a wet and dreary Saturday morning, Constantine ringers made for Lostwithiel, which was the nearest point to our first ring at Braddoc. We rang the five bells to the local changes, which were conveniently placed for all to see.
A pienic lunch was taken at Talland Bay, but we were soon on our way to Lanreath, where we were joined by two friends from Truro Cathedral and Kea. After a few call-changes and rounds, a quarter peal of Gransdire Doubles was rung in 40 minutes. This was a first for one of our members.
On to Lansallos (a delightful eight), and whilst there we had a photograph taken by a roving reporter for a local newspaper. Tea at Polperro and then on to St. Veep through narrow lanes and beautiful scenery; but as no previous arrangements had been made we were unable to ring, but were invited to ring at St. Winnow. We then returned home, tired but pleased with the day's ringing. G.W.R.

TWERTON-ON-AVON

We were very lucky, with good weather, good bells and a good driver, reads the report of Twerton-on-Avon outing on September 14 th . Cambridge went well on the pleasant six at Kilmington, rung from the gallery, and at Uplyme, another slow-turning six, Beverley was the highlight. (The youngsters here must be congratulated on their call-changes.)

Two hours were allocated to enjoy lunch on the beach at Lyme Regis. Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert Powell welcomed us at the church; but whether it was the lunch or the sea air, it took us till the fall before we warmed up on this grand ring. Mr. Bert Walborne was waiting for us at Whitchurch Canonicorum, and at Symondsbury there was something beyond the very loud bells in the ringing chamber, where London Minor went well. The Rector, the Rev. D. Strangeways, and his daughter, who is organist, met us and tried out our ringers' voices with hymns. Our two organists each rang in a new tower and played on a new organ!

WEDDING OF MR. R. B. SMITH
On Saturday, August 24th, the marriage took place between Mr. Robert B. Smith, of Marple, Cheshire, and Miss May B. Foster, of Leicester, at St. Margaret's Church, Leicester.
Ringers began assembling early as an attempt for a peal in honour of the wedding was made at All Saints'. Leicester. The bridegroom himself wanted to join in but was not permitted, by his trainers. As ringing was out he looked to his next pleasure, namely cricket and it was most difficult to drag him away from the television in order to get him to church! Nevertheless, the bridegroom, his best man, Peter Staniforth, the two ushers, Basil Jones and Bill Lee, had sufficient time to go up into the belfry and join their fellow ringers before the ceremony.

Some excellent ringing on the beautiful 12 welcomed the bride and her attendants, Miss Ann Smith (sister of the bridegroom), Miss Adrienne Lapworth and Rosemary Staniforth, friends of the bride.

The bride. who wore a full-length gown of ivory brocade with pearl and diamante headdress, was given away by her brother, Mr. W. Foster, due to the indisposition of her father (fortunately, however, he was able to attend the ceremony). The bridesmaids were in midnight blue slipper satin with cream accessories, and carried cream and pink roses. Rosemary was dressed in pale blue Swiss broderie-anglais and carried a pomander of yellow freesias, carnations and roses.
The reception was held at the Victory Hotel, Leicester. After receiving a good send off the couple spent the first night of their honeymoon at the Falcon Hotel, High Wycombe, and then travelled on the next day to St. Helier, Jersey. They are now making their home at Macclesfield, where all their many ringing friends will send their best wishes.

When the bells of St Francis' (R.C.) Church, Holbeck, were dedicated 10 years go by Dr. Heenan, then Bishop of ringers in the opening touch were from Leeds Parish Church. It was mostly from the same tower that a band rang a peal at St. Francis' Church to honour the Archbishop's enthronement at Westminster. The peal, however, nearly ended in disaster as the tenor rope broke on the first pull of the 'lower.'
Mr. T. J. Lock, of North Mymms, Herts, has 'circled. Willesden tower to peals on 11 occasions, and needs to ring the treble only to 15 more peals to make it 26 times round.
The title of the Somerset peal tour on page 649 should have read 'Campingologists' tour, to denote that the week was spent under canvas. The error is regretted.
In the peal of Redcliffe Surprise Royal, reported on page 437, Mr. C. J. Sedgeley's composition was used, reports Mr. David Mottershead.
Mr. Harry P. Thompson, of 3, Hallgarth Terrace, Lanchester, Co. Durham, is the new honorary secretary of the Western District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association.
Through "The Ringing World the Guilsborough Branch of the Peterborough Guild desire to thank the Great Glen handbell ringers who, under the expert direction of Mr. Len Allen, gave 'a most enjoyable and colourful performance, at their recent Branch dinner
Two memôers of Kirkby-in-Ashfield tower have gone to further education establishments. John Harrison is entering Sidney Sussex College. Cambridge, and Martin Kirk, Chichestel Teachers' Training College. There are several up and coming youngsters to take their places, youngest of whom is Colin Pitman, aged 10.
So appreciative is one Association secretary of Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd's front page article 'Second Best,' that appeared in our issue of September 27th, that he is sending a stenciled copy to all towers in his area. We have about 30 copies of this issue available. If there was a similar demand we could consider a reprint of the article.

Mr. Robert B. Smith informs us that it will not be possible to get the band who rang the extent of Major together until sometime next year as all the members have a packed programme until the end of the year. The ringers at present are scattered over five counties, but at the earliest opportunity a photograph will be taken.

Who were the ringers who rang the middle six at St. Paul's Cathedral on their recent outing?

We regret that the handbell peal of Surprise Minor at Lechlade on page 636 is a duplicate.

An unlocked door resulted in an intruder wrecking a peal after $2 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' ringing at Folkestone. The peal was to have been for the installation of the Ven. Ian White-Thompson, a former Vicar of Folkestone, as the new Dean of Canterbury.

Will the secretary of the band who visited Sawbridgeworth on Saturday, September 28th, at approximately 9.15 , please contact Mr. E, Richester, 7, Riverfield Lane, so that he can write and explain what happened, and apologise.

The best wishes of ringers in the North Staffordshire area are extended to Mr. Eric Young, of Stone. who is now in the North Stafford General Infirmary to undergo an operation. They wish him a speedy recovery and trust his return to ringing will not be too long delayed.

Ringers who have difficulty in finding St. Peter-de-Witton Church, Droitwich are reminded there is only one farmyard in Droitwich containing a church! On the nearest civilised road has been erected a large sign 'St. Peter's Church Lane.' Practice night: Thursday, $7-8.30$ p.m. Inquiries to Miss J. Stone-Wigg, 10, Newland Road, Droitwich Spa
On his journey to Cornwall, Mr. W. Hibbert called upon Mr. Joe Dyke at Chilcompton, and spent a pleasant half hour with him. When told that there were four more ringers in the car outside, Joe insisted that they came in and joined in a bottle of beer. It was a thrill to the young ringers to meet such a grand veteran of the art.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

For the September meeting, the St. Albans District visited Wheathampstead, which must have one of the longest free draughts in the country, ringing being from the floor of the crossing. However, despite their misgivings, even the inexperienced found the bells easier than they had feared

Evensong was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. G. Roe. who preached a sermon for St. Matthew's Day. A tea which defied the critics and the determined eaters alike was pre pared by the local girls, led by Mrs. Brown. At the meeting John Cull was elected to the chair. Miss Lesley Lilley, of St. Michael's, St. Albans, Miss Janice Parker, of St. Peter's, and Paul Brearley, of Wheathampstead, were elected members. The District Car Rally was discussed and will fake place on October 26 th Details from the District secretary

Special method for October (Harpenden): Pudsey.

RINGING AND WORSHIP

Sermon preached by the Rer. F. F. Rigby, Rector of Bromsberrow, Gloucestershire, and Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, on the occasion of the rededication of Frampton Cotterell bells on Saturday, October 5th, 1963.

LAST week's 'Ringing World ' provided me with a text for this occasion; it was taken from Ecclesiastes ix, 10: Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do. do it with thy might.' I like 'The Ringing World' for a variety of reasons, for it brings before me the names of old friends. It told me last week of the marriage of a daughter of two friends of my younger days. And, sadly, it also told me of the death of a brilliant ringer who had died at the age of 30 , a young man known to me, who had rung a peal and a quarter peal for this same wedding only a few days before.

Sometimes 'The Ringing World' enters the field of theology, which it has every right to do, and in doing so occasionally prints a little heresy. religious ideas which are contrary to the orthodox Christian Faith. It need not be abashed about this, for even learned theological journals and newspapers do the same. Last week, for example, there was a front page article entitled 'Second Best?'. It was a good, sensible article, but the writer spoiled it by quoting someone else's theological ideas at the end. Here is this end piece, the heresy or wrong thinking of the article : . . . there is a strong army of Christians, clergy and laity that still sees the offering of Sunday ringing as an act of worship

If I am to prove my point that this is wrong thinking. I must first explain what worship is. The word worship is derived from 'worthship.' the acknowledgment of the great worth of God. The greatest Christian act of worship is the remembering of the sacrifice of Jesus Christ on the Cross, an offering made by the Son of God Himself. Anything we can offer to God compared with this is very much a lesser sacrifice, and we must not make the mistake of calling it worship. Even the best that we can offer of ourselves demonstrates our worth, but not the worth of God. So though we may offer to God the best of our talents and skills we are making an offering only, a very worthy one maybe, but it is not worship. That is why we say in the Holy Communion service: 'And here we offer and present unto Thee, O Lord, ourselves, our souls and bodies, to be a reasonable, holy and lively sacrifice.' There are some theologians who think that the saying of these words is going a bit too far, and that Cranmer made a mistake in allowing that sentence to be part of the service. I am not, however, one who thinks like that. But I still distinguish what I offer to God from the worship of God.

We must learn to distinguish between the worship of God and the results that follow from true worship. Apply this to our ringing. Because we learn to love God in worship, we shall want to give Him of our best. But even the giving of our best in ringing. will not be worship, the recognition of the great worth of God: it will be an offering demonstrating our own worth, but not the worth of God.
Let me illustrate this is another way. An aged aunt of mine used to tell of a verger by the name of Binns. who not only cared for his church but also grew wonderful roses in the churchyard. Whatever he did he used to say he did for the Lord. One day she saw him in the road with a bucket, gathering up what the horse had left behind. ' What are you doing. Mr. Binns?' she asked. He replied: ' I'm gathering muck for the garden of the Lord.' He didn't call what he was doing an act of worship. But because he loved God, something he had learned from his worship of God, he wanted to produce lovely roses for the garden of God.
In the same way, though we may ring because we feel we are helping the work of God, we must not call our ringing worship. Now I like ringing: I have liked it since I was a boy. If anyone says to me: ' Why do you ring?', I should say, if I am really honest, and I expect you would say this too: 'Because I like it.' In the same way, if anyone asks me: "Why do you play a musical instrument?", I should reply: 'Because I like it and because I find it satisfying.' 1 should not say: 'Because it is an act of worship.'
But, because I love God and because He gave me certain talents. I do the best I can with my hobbies and interests in life, with my ringing, with my music, and so on. What I am able to achieve is a result of worship, but not worship itself. So we must be careful not to describe our ringing as an act of worship; it is a result. but not the act itself. Because I like ringing. I believe that God wants me to do it as intelligently as I can. So I am reminded of the words of my text: 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do. do it with thy might.'

There are some practical conclusions from this discourse about worship. You cannot use your hands intelligently unless you use your brains too. For real skill in ringing. as in so many things. there must be co-ordination of hand and brain. So. speaking as a ringer to ringers. I have two suggestions to offer. First, no method of ringing sounds good unless it is well struck. Faulty striking is as bad as playing a piece of music without the proper rhythm. Some of our standards would not be inlerated for one moment (Continued on page 691)

THE MIDDLESEX

THE second triennial dinner of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, at the Century Hotel. Wembley, on October 4th, was held in honour of the late C. T. Coles. a former secretary, a ringer of more than 1.000 peals and a member of the Central Council from 1921 until his death in 1947.

The president, the Rev. G. C. Taylor, who was accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, was in the chair, and he was supported on the top table by the Bishop of Willesden and Mrs. Ingle. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett (secretary and assistant secretary of the Central Council), Mr. Dennis Beresford (Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths), the Rev, and Mrs. R. D. Deasy. Mr. A. W. Coles (brother of the late Mr. C. T. Coles and former Ringing Master and vice-president) and Mrs. Coles, Mr. T. Lock (honorary secretary), Mrs. W. Turner (widow of former secretary), Mr. J. R. Mayne (Ringing Master), Mr. F. W. Goodfellow (honorary treasurer) and Mrs. Goodfellow and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. White.

THE COMPANY

The company included the Rev. G. C Oakley, R.D. (Vicar of Willesden), the Rev. C. E. Welch (Vicar of Hendon) and Mrs. Welch. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coles. Mr. and

Mr. and Mrs. F. T Blagrove, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul.

Mrs. Mayne. Mrs. Fardon.
The Misses Wooders, Walters, Clayton, White, Gearing. Foreman: Messrs. A. Tyers, C. Fynes. D. Knights. Sanders, D. Pickett, E H. Kilby. R. Davies, Stevens. D. Fowles.

An apology was received from Mrs. C. T, Coles. who lives at Wantage and was unable to undertake the journey.
Proposing the toast of . The Church ' Miss Ruth M. Foreman. assistant honorary secrelary. said to the majority of ringers the church is not just a building which sometimes houses a ring of bells on which we can enjoy ourselves, although this impression is sometimes given. To a great many of us, our first duty as ringers is to ring for Sunday service and to celebrate the festivals of the Church. The fact that we can also thoroughly enjoy ourselves in peals and quarter peals and at Association meetings is, of course, fully appreciated. But we feel that as ringers, we are a very important part of the Church and 1 believe that this is being realised by more and more incumbents. At my own church we are lucky in this respect.

The Bishop of Willesden. who replied, said he was brought up with bells, as being a parson's son he lived within 200 yards of the church. They had a ring of eight bells and a very fine and faithful body of bellringers. In the Army, in the First World War, that was his vintage. his name being Ingle, his nickname was Jingle.

The bells were part of the Church and in ringing the bells they were performing one of the many services that are looked for from all church people. This particular service that bellringers perform is a very important one : it would be a very sad day if the bells of the church were silenced It would be a sad thing if people who did not go to church did not hear them rung, saying: It is the Lord's Day: people should come and worship.

Concluding. the Bishop said: 'I would like to pay my tribute to all those who do this service and ring bells. I beg of you to keep it up and train young people to ring. It is also pleasing that you have recognised the emancipation of women and that so many of them ring in your towers today.

OVER 1.000 PEALS

The toast of the evening." The life and work of Charles T. Coles, was proposed by Mr. Edwin A. Barnett, honorary secretary of the Central Council. Giving details of Mr. Coles career, Mr. Barnett said he was born at Islington, in 1882, and died in 1946 . He learned to ring at St. Georges-in-the-East, joined their Association in 1903 and rang his first peal in 1905 at St. George s-in-the-East by ringing the 30 cwt . tenor. He rang 1.014 peals and conducted 278 : his $1.000 t h$ neal was rung at Crayford in 1943. and this was also Jim Bennett's 1,000 th. His list of peals included many outstanding performances such as the first peals of Spliced Surprise from five to 12 methods, 15,312 Cambridge Maximus, 10.440 Cambridge Royal.

Without anything else he would have been a great name in ringing: but he did far more than that. In 1910 he became nominally the secretary of the Association. with Arthur T King, and a few years later. what he had been in all but name. general secretary. King was a man of some wealth and of great influence in the City of London. He set himself the task of introducing north of the Thames an Association similar to those on the other side of the river, and conducted what was virtually an attack on Central London from tha suburbs. In doing so he engendered much ill-feeling among the older Societies. One of Tom Coles main tasks and main achievements was to restore harmony, and one of his last acts before he handed over the secretaryship to Ernest Turner was to arrange a joint meeting between the Middlesex and the Ancient Society of College Youths, an almost unheard of thing then as incidentally he was a Cumberland. He was a member of the Central Council from 1912 until he died and also a member of the Standing Committee.

Mr. Barnett confessed that as a boy he was scared stiff of Tom Coles, so much so that when 13. he dodged ringing in a peal of London with him by riding off on his bicycle. In January, 1933, he rang his first touch of four spliced with him and in October. 1933. he rang a peal of Bristol with him. The last time he stood in a peal attempt with Mr. Coles the latter showed his integrity. It was a peal of Cambridge and he took the figures from the Yorkshire report-a 5.184 of Cambridge. This came round in the quick time of 2 hours 41 minutes. Tom Coles was not satisfied. He asked to see the figures and. when checked, it appeared that they had rung 4.728 changes.
A letter of personal reminiscences of Mr Coles by Mr. Henry Rumens was read by Mr. Barnett. In this it mentioned that Tom went to Walthamstow and brought up his family of three boys and two girls. One of his activities was chess. and he was also interested in politics and once stood for the local council. His second son. Freddy. won the M.C. in North Africa, and the following Sunday news was received that he had heen killed in Tunisia

LIFE OF SERVICE

In conclusion. Mr. Barnett quoted from Mr. J A. Trollope's leading article in "The Ringing World of February 8th. 1947. The life and work of men like Charles T. Coles are an example. an inspiration and a challenge to the younger members of the Exercise. It is not mainly by their own merits that they can now ring methods and peals once thought beyond a ringer's capacity. What the men who went before them have done for them they must do for the men who come after them and the life and work of Tom Coles are an assurance that if they devote themselve, to the service of others they will get their full reward in the respect. honour and friend ship of their fellow men.

The toast was drunk in silence.
Proposing the toast of - The Association and Guild. Mr. Dennis Beresford, Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, spoke about the close association between his Societ and the Middlesex. Their joint meetings were always extremely popular. he said. and on Sunday mornings before ringing at St. Martin-in-the-Fields they had the privilege of ringing at the church of their president (St. Giles-in-the-Fields), together with George Parsons. their honorary librarian

Referring to the proposed alterations of boundaries in Greater London. Mr. Beresford said that Kent was prepared to meet the new situation by defining their area as Kent and that part of London in the county of Kent He understood that they had similar thought so that if the temporal boundaries were to ditappear they would protect themselves by the spiritual houndaries of the Diocese of London. He was sure the excellent relations between the Middlesex and the other London Association would easily resolve the situations
The Middlesex Association during its 66 years existence had developed ringers who had outstanding qualities in their art. There were William Pye (Master for 20 years). J. A Trollope (the brilliant ringing historian). Ernest Turner. Charles Roberts and many others The Association had always been favoured with extremely faithful officers who had builk up the Association. He thought of $F$. A Milne (treasurer for many years), William Pse C. T. Coles and Ernest Turner, former secretaries. and now Tom Lock. their presen secretary, who was formerly a District secre tary.

For sheer brilliance of performances their Association had always been in the forefront. It commenced with that brilliant band at tie beginning of the century, the Pye band, then there was the Bushey handbell band and $\overline{1 \pi}$ Willesden band. and now there was the wonder. ful performances in Spliced Surprise, wherel each bell has rung all the work in all methods in five Spliced Surprise.

surely a marvellous performance.

As to what the future held for them it 38 64.000 dollar question, but the Associatio. had the blend of youth and experience friendliness among its members and with the ingredients it could not fail to prosper.
The Master. Mr. John R. Mayne, in reply. said the first joint meeting with Cumberlands took place at Shoreditch 1938, and since then they had regularly meetings with the Royal Cumberland Socie They had always enjoyed most excellent $r$ tions with them.

The Visitors; were honoured on the call Mr. W. H. Coles, who coupled with the 10 , the names of the Rev. Roy D. Deasy, Vicar St. Andrew's Holborn. and Mr. T. the editor of 'The Ringing World. Oukley, R.D.. rVicar of Willesden) the Rer C. E. Welch (Vicar of Hendon). M Matthews (of the Cumberlands). Mr. Woolley (Hertford County Association). ## DEREK OGDEN: ONE OF THE GREATEST ALL-ROUNDERS

DEREK OGDEN. was born on March 24th 1933, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. R Ogden. of Audenshaw. He was educated at Audenshaw Grammar School, and whilst still at school, in April. 1946. he began what was to become an outstanding but all too short ringing career. He showed very early promise and Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft. who taught him to ring. considered from the start that he was one destined to greatness in the Exercise. Mr Wolstencroft was himself a member of the Cheshire band which rang many of the early spliced peals on six and eight bells, and it was he who sparked off Derek's enthusiasm for method splicing. an enthusiasm which eventually led him to establish new records in this field.
His first peal was Grandsire Doubles on November 22nd. 1947, and his first as conductor was Plain Bob Minor at Birch-inRusholme on September 2nd. 1950. Such was Derek's ability and personality he was elected Ringing Master at St. Peter's. Ashton. whilst still only 15 years of age, and during his ten years in that position he built up a Surprise Major band there.

The end of his school days brought disappointment: having obtained his Higher School Certificate in three subjects when barely 16 years old, he was offered a place at Christ College. Cambridge. only to be turned down shortly afterwards, when the University authorities realised that he was too young to be admitted! Rather than remain at school he took a job in the Research Laboratories of I.C.I. for twelve months. during which time he worked on synthetic fibres. being present at the discovery of Terylene.

AT MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY

In 1950 he accepted a place in Manchester University, from whence he graduated in 1953 with an honours degree in chemistry. He seized the opportunity for ringing which Manchester life presented. and played prominent part in the early development of the University Guild of Change Ringers; his connection with the Guild continued after leaving the University, and in 1960 he was leaving the Univers made its president.
Called up for national service in December. 1953, he reached the rank of corporal in the Royal Signals: he was stationed for 15 months at the S.H.A.P.E. Headquarters in Fontainebleau, and his fluency in French gained for him the post of interpreter. On his return to civilian life he rejoined I.C.I. at Blackley, rising to section leader, and he worked for the company up to the time of his death.
Despite his two year absence from ringing. Derek was immediately re-elected chairman of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association. and one of his first tasks was to encourage the Wednesday practice nights at Manchester Town Hall. It was at one of these practices that he first met Joyce Halliday, who was then ringing at Swinton. They married at St. Peter's, Swinton. on June 21st. 1958. and had two sons. Mark in 1959 and David Graham in 1960.

WORK FOR LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

He was always concerned with the part which the Lancashire Association could play in promoting ringing, and he began in 1960 to formulate plans by which the Association could encourage. and come closer to. young ringers. He considered that each Branch should have its own five-member committee so that all lowers could be constantly reminded of the existence of the Association and of the work which it is doing to help them become hetter ringers. This experiment was tried in his own Branch with complete success

He believed fervently in the value of ringing competitions, as a means of encouraging good striking, and he undertook the organisation of a trial competition in the Manchester Branch in order to convince the critics. and there were many of them. that their fears were unfounded. That competition was an outstanding success. and his perseverance was amply rewarded when at its 1963 annual meeting the Association accepted ringing competitions as one of its activities.

One of his carliest proposals was the establishment of an Association library in Manchester Cathedral belfry. A librarian was appointed. and one of the ironies of fate is that the bookcase which he had watched in preparation and for which he had worked so hard should be finished just one week after his death and that he never saw its completion. A more fitting memorial is hard to imagine.

SPLICED PEALS

Since 1959. Derek had devoted a great deal of his time to composing peals of spliced on cight. 10 and 12 bells, and it was in no small way due to his drive that there was in the Manchester area a band capable of ringing them. He composed and conducted peals of Plain Major in up to 55 methods. Surprise Royal in 12 methods and Surprise Maximus in 18 methods. He also completed a composition of Spliced Surprise Major to surpass the present record, and was working on compositions to Eeat both the Spliced Surprise Royal record and his own of Surprise Maximus.
Equally at home on a treble or a heavy tenor he was yet the complete conductor, knowing always what was going on, always requiring the best out of us, and never hesitating to call a halt if we didn't match up to his expectations.
He was a keen participant in long peals. ringing the seventh superbly at Loughborough in the 32.704 in 1961. He was to have taken part in the successful attempt on the extent of Major in July this year, but had to withdraw at the last minute because of pains in his chest and feeling unwell. Little did we suspect as he shared in the general rejoicing after the peal that those pains were to take him from us less than two months later.

UNSUSPECTED CANCER

He had complained a little of headaches and dizziness since Christmas. but X-rays failed to find anything amiss. He volunteered to go into hospital for observation. but still nothing could be found wrong. Finally. he agreed to undergo an exploratory operation on Sentember 17th and it was this operation which disclosed a hitherto unsuspected cancer of the lungs. which had reached an advanced state of growth. Derek Ogden never regained consciousness.

So ends the full but incomplete life of one of the greatest all-rounders of our time: his quiet manner and infinite patience with even the slowest of learners and his unquestioned ability in the highest forms of ringing earned him universal respect and admiration. In the words of one of his close frierds. :No one had such comprehensive greatness nor that quiet ability to lead while appearing to follow.

RINGING AND WORSHIP

by a good musicizn. In any form of music. rhythm is something you hear and feel. Good striking of bells is also something you hear and feel, and by many this is not easily acquired. The good ringer in his own way is as dependent upon other good ringers as one player in an orchestra is dependent on the others.

My second point: you cannot learn to strike your bell properly in change-ringing unless you know the method you are ringing inside out. as we say. Now methods are not learned in the belfry: they are leurned in the home from books and with the aid of pencil and paper. The good ringer will probably have spent far more time in the home learning about his ringing than in the tower. That is, he will use his brains at home so that in the tower he will be able to use his hands aright and take to heart the good advice of the writer of Ecclesiastes: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.

Good hunting, then, with ,our new bells. Dodge neatly and make your places accurately. Through the years, may the bells giva pleasure to the ringers and joy to those who listen to them.

Letters to the Editor

Coincidence

Dear Sir.-Having just read the report of the Cambridge University Guild tour of Cornwall I felt I had to write and tell of a most interesting coincidence.
My daughter, Caroline, aged 4, is not content with the usual type of bed-time stories, but instead enjoys a serialised story which tells of the exploits of 'Teddy' (Mr. Edward Bear). who is captain of the 'Throwlington (8)' bellringers. and his friend 'Golly' (Mr. Wogg), who is captain of the neighbouring village tower of 'Slapington (6).' As you can imagine after some hundred or more instalments, including outings, competitions, practice nights, visiting expert ringers, augmentations, handhell practices. peal attempts. new recruits, etc. the storyteller begins to find new material more and more difficult.

It was. therefore. a rare coincidence that about the last week in August Teddy and his wife went to Cornwall for a week's holiday and stayed at Fowey. On the Sunday night they went to Lansallos, where : Teddy' enjoyed a nice ring with the local ringers. Then on the Tuesday he went on a coach trip to Land's End and on reaching Sennen he heard the bells ringing. The coach stopped at this spot long enough for Teddy to visit the church to find that it was the Cambridge University Guild on their summer tour, and he was allowed to join with them in a course of London Surprise Minor! The stopping place for a Cornish cream tea was Zennor, where curiously enough the Cambridge Guild were also ringing. and Teddy had another unexpected ring with them!
Are you sure. Cambridge Guild, you didn't sec Mr. Bear on these two occasions?-Yours sincercly,

393 Stedman Caters

Dear Sir,-A letter on page 644 of the issue dated September 27th contains an allegation that the 393 of Stedman Caters in the Ringers' Diary does not come round as printed.
Mr. Viggers and I are grateful when errors in the diary are brought to our attention. When this is done publicly, however, an explanation of the nature of the defect would he more helpful than a mere assertion of inaccuracy. Perhaps your correspondent will be good enough to furnish details to enable anyone interested to make any correction that may be necessary in their copy of the diary.-Yours, etc.

Remember Their Tutor!

Dear Sir,-With helated reference to the pen pictures of the members of the band which rang the extent of Major at Loughhorough. may I say that instead of the academic qualifications, which I feel are irrelevant to the subject. it would have been more interesting and certainly more courteous to have told us who first taught these men, and to whom a share of the glory must go.
I do hope that these men. who have probably travelled far from their home tower, have thought to write a word of thanks to their tutors. whose names are perhaps insignificant to most of us, but who grow grey with years. putting many a rope into a youngster's hand for the first time.-Yours faithfully.

THOMAS C. BELTON.

Bristol Surprise Adaptation

Dear Sir,-In reply to the letter in your issue of September 13 th from Mr. Ernest Bennett, I append the composition of Bristol as rung at Eaton Socon on April 14th, 1962.
If memory serves me correctly, this peal was published as a two-part 5.056 in April. 1955. By a few simple alterations it is transformed into a 13 -course peal and the 2 nd does not turn up in 6th place at the $W$ and $H$ positions. I hope that Mr. Bennett will not take excep. tion to this-personally I think a 13 -course peal of Bristol, with no artificial calls, like 4ths and In, is the most enjoyable to ring, though I may say that in the case of Mr. Bennett's peal this could be regarded as gilding the lily since the original is an excellent example of its type.
Had I by my alterations produced any unique feature I should have probably put my own name to it, as in the case of one you published in 1961, which had double bobs at every $W$ and $H$ position, the first time this had been done without parting the tenors and using a length of 5,280 (Mr. E. A. Barnett's 3-part). Although, I seem to recall. this instance prompted a stern rebuke from Ian Holland
I hope this will clear up the mystery, and not cause Mr. Bennett to regret that this composition appeared under his name.-Yours truly,

STEPHEN IVIN.

Surprise Methods

Dear Sir,-Two Surprise methods recently rung and claimed as new methods. namely Moira ( -36 -14-1258-1236-14-58-36-78 LH. B.) and $\mathrm{Ob}(-36-14-1258-1236-14-58-36-78 \mathrm{LH}$. B.) have previously been rung in a peal of Spliced Surprise Major and were at that time name Purbeck and Oxney respectively. Both these methods are slight variations of Superlative. Can someone please clarify the procedure for naming new methods, and state which is to be taken as the correct name for these methods. Earlier this year. when the controversy arose over Durham Surprise a method previously published as Durham Surprise Major was rung by a Birmingham band and re-named Dunelm Surprise ( -38 -14-12-38. 14-14. 38. 1434. 18). Does this name still stand or should this method now be called New Durham?-Yours, etc.,

Bristol.

Speedy Ringing

Dear Sir,-I think that Mr. Morris is probably right in assuming that the ringers of fifty years ago rang their peals in a much more leisurely manner than nowadays. After all, a peal in those days was an eventlooked forward to for many weeks before and talked about for many weeks after-so why rush through it? Whereas to the present generation it's just ' another one for our book so let's get it over as quickly as possible!
Our ten bells at Beccles ( 25 cwt .) were rehung in 1910 and the first peal, by a band of famous East Anglian ringers, look 3 hours 53 minutes, and for many years the usual time taken was round about 3.50 : now, however, 3.30 is regarded as quite reasonable time, and it has been cut to 3.15 on one peal of Plain Royal, in recent years. This seems to refute the suggestion that the speeding up is due to the more general use of ball bearings, as our bells are still turning on the plain bearings fitted in 1910.
Slower ringing is. I consider. much more melodious and pleasing to the listener, and non-ringing friends tell me it sounds much more impressive.-Yours truly,

EDWIN R. GOATE.
Beccles. Suffolk

Tune Ringing

Dear Sir.-I should like to support Mr. T. Ogden, in his request for a series of articles on how to arrange music for tunc ringing on handbells. I am sure that this would meet with general approval, as there are many ringers with access to sets of handbells: who would like to use them for tune ringing if only they knew how.

At the present time I am engaged in training a band of tune ringers, and any information about how to arrange music would he most acceptable. Perhaps we can look forward to this in the near future.-Yours faithfully,

Rochdale, Lancs.

Barwell, Leicestershire, Has A New Captain

At a dinner, attended by the ringers and friends of Barwell tower, a pleasing ceremony was performed by the Rector, the Rev. W. D. Quinlan. when he presented the retiring captain. Mr. C. R. Belton, with a gift and cheque on behalf of the ringers. Mr. Belion. who had been captain for 17 years, succeeded his father, who had also held the same office for 25 years.
Mr. A. A. Lucas, son-in-law of Mr. Belton. was appointed captain, with Mr. Alan Hough as vice-captain. Practice night has heen changed to Tuesdays, from 7.30 to $9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$ Owing to the close proximity of the old Rectory Flats, applications for peals must he refused.
Visitors to the quarterly mecting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild were full of prase for the delightful way the Barwell ringers have themselves modernised and improved the belfry. A new entrance has provided more space. draughts have been eliminated and hardboard panelling has provided a pleasing change from the plastered walls.
The work, which has been done by the ringers themselves. includes new electric lighi. heating system and floor covering. It nas taken almost a year to complete. The money has been accumulated over a period of several years by the ringers own efforts and fees from weddings.

LICHFIELD DIOCESAN RINGING FESTIVAL

FOUR years ago the first Lichfield Diocesan Festival took place in North Staffordshire. On September 7th, having done the rounds in the Stafford Archdeaconry and Shropshire Association territories, we were back to Stoke Archdeaconry; this time based on Newcastle-under-Lyme.

The first towers visited were Betley (with its recently restored half-timbered church, and light Rudhall six) and Madeley (a rather more substantial church of mellow Staffordshire stone, whose six bells are now seldom rung). Keele followed, more famed perhaps for the University College of North Staffs than its bells, a pleasant six, set under a graceful spire.

For the day's first octave the border was crossed into Cheshire to the ancient Church of St. Bertoline, Barthomley. After a search for the key the 13 cwt . eight were put to good use for two hours. The 11th century church at Audley boasts a melodious Gillett and Johnston eight hung in a squat, solid, sandstone tower, surrounded by trees. Here one may inspect the clappers of the old bells, displayed on the south wall of the church.

Wolstanton (whose spire may be seen from many parts of the Potteries) was next on the list. ihe bells, rehung by Taylors in 1948, have a front six bought from Trentham Priory in 1767 at 9 d . per lb . One can only say that the parishioners of Wolstanton had a bargain. Silverdale, a mining village, belies its name as the church, racked with mining subsidence. is held together with iron tie rods. It contains a pleasant Warner octave (the only complete Warner eight jn North Staffs, I believe).

Approaching Newcastle from Silverdale the first object which becomes apparent is the massive buttressed tower of St. Giles' Parish Church. a tower we aye told was built round an existing tower. The Croydon foundry rehung this ten shortly before it closed. At the service here, conducted by the Rev. A. Craig, the address was given by a ringing member of the North Staffs Association, the Rev. B. Peel, the Vicar of Chesterton

After a sumptuous tea provided by Newcastle ringers and served in St. Giles' Church Hall. the gathering were welcomed to North Staffordshire by the Rev. B. Peel and Mr. G. W. Biddulph (chairman). By 6 p.m. ringing had resumed at St. Giles' and visitors were on their way to the other four towers open during the evening. These were Broughton. the church with no village but a grand ring of eight (the peal ringers' delight), and Eccleshall. once the seat of the Bishops of Lichfield. with its church and tower of stately proportions. Two trebles were added here in 1957 to complete the octave. Stone has an anti-clockwise eight. The inscription from the third bell here. When ye me ring I'll sweetly sing, was used on the souvenir ash trays given to the Central Council visitors in May, 1962. The last tower of the day was Swynnerton (6), whose belfry stands sentinel over the picturesque village.

Our thanks are due to the incumbents for the use of their bells and to Newcastle ringers for arranging tea.

FUNERAL OF MR. LEWIS W. WIFFEN

The funeral service for Mr. Lewis Wiffen took place at St. Michael's Church, Braintree, on September 19th, and was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. C. Trundley). Many ringing friends were present, including Mr. H. Turner, deputy Master of the Essex Association, Mr. C. Willmington and Mr. and Mrs. J. Crampion, from the S.W. District. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the graveside by F . Claydon 1-2. T. Bird 3-4, H. Turner 5-6, Miss H. G. Snowden 7-8.

The memorial service, which was held on September 21 st, was attended by many more ringers, including the Master of the Association (Mr. R. C. Heazel), Mr. R. Suckling (Northern District) and Mr. E. W. Roast (S.E. District). Representatives from four of the five Districts of the Essex Association attended either the funeral or the memorial service. The Rev. F. C. Trundley again conducted the service, which was fully choral. He spoke of the work Lewis Wiffen had done for his church so faithfully during his life.

After the service a 1,344 Plain Bob Major was rung half-muffled by the following: B. Warne 1 . Miss J. Dye 2, F. Claydon 3, R, C. Heazel 4. R. Suckling 5, C. Barker 6, Miss H. G. Snowden 7, R. Lindseli (conductor) 8.

AN APPRECIATION

I would like to add a word of appreciation for the work done by Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen in the belfry at Braintree.
Lewis' fierce bark across the belfry (invariably from the 7th) was certainly worse than his bite, as he would often walk over to the victim after the touch and explain where they had gone wrong in the nicest way possible. This was his method which resulted in a good many excellent ringers being produced in this Dart of Essex.

I feel it was a privilege to have been one of his pupils.

ANDREW T. BECKWITH.

RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD AT LINCOLN

'T'HE autumn meeting of the Guild was held at Lincoln on September 28th and, in spite of the long journey for many of the members, there was a good attendance, with all regions represented.
Mr. Jack Bray, Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, who was the chief guest, said it was a pleasure to welcome the Railwaymen's Guild to Lincoln, and hoped that everyone had enjoyed their short visit.
Ringing arrangements, which were organised by Mr. Jack Walden, were excellent. The following towers were made available: St. Botolph s (6), St. Peter-at-Gowts' (6), St. Giles (8) and the Lathedral (12). Harmston's 8 were also made available for Friday night, but only two turned up. The two members however, went to a lecture on church bells The highlight of the day was the Cathedral bells, and the wonderful view from the parapet outside the belfry chamber.
Evensong in the Cathedral preceded the tea and meeting, which was held in the Eastgate Court Hotel
The business opened with correspondence, the Master (Mr. Charles Bassett) being in the chair. A letter was read from Mr. John Freeman, secretary, Lincoln Diocesan Guild. apologising for absence, and Mrs. Dewey wrote that her husband. Mr. Frank Dewey, of Boston, had passed away last March. Members then stood in silence to his memory.
Apologies were received from 21 members, who sent their best wishes for a successful meeting. The minutes of the 1962 autumn meeting at Taunton were adopted, and Mr. Foske proposed Messrs. John Curtis, V. Briggs and Michael Stanley as members. This was seconded by Mr. J. Thomas and carried.
A discussion followed on the programme for the 1964 A.G.M. This opened up the question of members leaving before the business commenced. Mr. Foskett proposed that the secretary should write to Mr. Frank Stenson, asking him to arrange the business meeting. to be held either before lunch or immediately afterwards, the ringing programme to follow in the usual way. This proposal was seconded by Mr. J. Thomas and carried
An annual dinner was discussed at length. and Mr. J. Thomas proposed that this matter be included in the 1964 agenda. It was also proposed to include in the agenda a ringing competition.
Before the meeting closed the secretary thanked the incumbents for the use of the bells, and Messrs. J. Waldon and H. Walker, whose arrangements were so satisfactory.

St. Crantock, Cornwall, Ringers' Outing  Accompanied by their Vicar (the Rev. F. N

 Brown) and friends, St. Crantock ringers held their. outing on September 28th, which proved to be one of the best days of this somewhat bad summer.Ringing was enjoyed at Constantine, Mawgan. Manaccan, St. Anthony. St. Keverne. Mullion, Helston and Wendron. Tea was taken at Helston. Our thanks to incumbents and ringers who met us. and also to Harry, our coach driver, who brought us safely back with a slightly battered coach after squeezing through some of our notorious Cornish lanes.

OUR BUSINESS HAS BEEN RECENTLY RECONSTRUCTED AND OUR RESOURCES STRENGTHENED
The Accumulated Experience of Four Generations is behind all our Clocks

OUTINGS

ROTHERHAM, YORKS
Rotherham Parish Church ringers outing into Northants, Leicestershire, Rutland and Notts on September 28th was made enjoyable by pleasant country, some excellent bells. good ringing and a courteous driver, who kept well on schedule throughout the day.
Outstanding features were the magnificent display of nature's pioduce at Grantham Parish Church for Harvest Festival, the wedding for which we rang at Rothwell the excellent touch of five Spliced Surprise Major at Thrapston and the unique tone of Oakham Parish Church bells. We also enjoyed ringing at Market Harborough. In addition to Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman. courses in the four standard Surprise Major methods and Yorkshire were rung. Suitable thanks were extended to Mrs. Burns and Mr. Chaddock who organised the outing.

BROMHAM, BEDS

On August 31st the Bromham ringers staged their usual supplementary outing, visiting Beaconsfield, Cookham. Hitchin, Slough, Hampton-on-Thames and Twickenham. Many excellent friends. old and new. were met, and some good ringing, ranging from Bristol to Grandsire. was enjoyed.

The more active part of the programme completed and the homeward journey started. one of the party, an expert in such matters. expressed the opinion that the refreshment offered in the Harrow area was superior to that obtainable in most places. This theory had to be proved, and a suitable place was found to carry out the necessary research-a task which was entered upon with great enthusiasm! Unfortunately, the time allow was inadequate for such an important matter, but a good time was had by all!
Sincere thanks to incumbents, to the local ringers for their splendid co-operation, to the organisers for their excellent arrangements and to all members of the party for keeping to the schedule. A.E.R.

KIRKBY-IN-ASHFIELD

Starting at mid-day on September 21st Kirkby-in-Ashfield ringers had their second outing this year. the objective being towers in West Lincolnshire.
After the five at Coddington came the majestic 23 cwt. six at Brant Broughton. William North and Louis Willders joined in Grandsire and Kent Treble Bob at Leadenham. Tea break followed. At Ancaster (5) an extent of St. Martin's was rung in keeping with the dedication.
Messrs, James Musson. Henry Collin and Richard Hunt met the visitors at Silk Willoughby (6). where touches of Plain Bob. Grandsire and Cambridge Surprise were rung. Blankney bells were regarded as a good six, and it was dark when we arrived at Nocton. to be met by two ringers. The last tower. Durston. was a disappointment as the second of the five bells lacked both stay and rope. The remaining bells were rung to a variety of Minimus methods.

SOUTH DERBYSHIRE & NORTH LEICESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Some very beautiful country in North Derbyshire and Yorkshire was visited by the Association on September 21st during its annual outing. After a glimpse of a herd of deer in Chatsworth Park, a stop was made at Eyam, for ringing and coffee. A very pleasant ring was had at Cawthorne, although some of the party were put off by the Yorkshire backstrokes and found two sallies a bit of a handful.
The final ring was at Shelley, and then came the arduous climb of 1,725 feet on to Saddleworth Moor and past the B.B.C. television transmitter.

Congratulations to Mr. Jack L. Millhouse, who rang his $1,0001 \mathrm{~h}$ peal on October 2nd at Evercreech while a member of Mr. G. E. Fearn's peal touring party in Gloucestershire and Somerset.

MEMORIES OF REV. C. W. O. JENKYN

Memories of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn were renewed by Mr. Alfred J. Whittle, of Reading, when he was invited to accompany the Caversham band on September 28th, during their autumn outing in the beautiful Lambourne Valley

After a ring on the heavy six at East Garston he pard a visit to the grave of the Rev. C. W, O. Jenkyn. 'It was a rather sad memory, writes Mr. Whittle, as I rang the third bell of the then augmented ten at Newbury on Easter Monday, 1933, which Mr. Jenkyn conducted. This proved to be his last touch. as on going outside to hear the new trebles he passed away suddenly on the doorstep of the Two Brewers.'

Continuing he writes: I was rather shocked at the state of neglect of his tombstone, which was very green and neglected: but as I stood over his grave I thought what a wonderful place to be laid to rest.

Ringing followed on the heavy eight "at Lambourne, which. according to the captain. are to be tuned and rehung. Tea at the Red Lion was a very enjoyable meal, and the journey was continued to Wantage for more ringing and a final refresher. "Thank you, St. Peters Caversham: how very pleasant to be with such very old friends. concludes Mr. Whittle.

WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS

On September 7th the Western Branch met at Clifton-on-Teme and in spite of wet weather about 40 ringers were present. During the afternoon the bells of St. Kenelm's Church were rung to methods up to Cambridge. At the service the Vicar, in his address. emphasised that all talents were acceptable in the service of the Church and that we. as ringers, were using our peculiar gift in exactly similar manner to the native drummers, who had summoned the congregation 10 worship, when he had been at work in Africa! Tea was followed by a meeting in church.
During the evening ringing took place at Peters. Martley. where the six bells are reputed to have been cast in a field near the church and all date from 1673. They are of very fine tone and some good ringing was heard.

Next meeting: Malvern Link and Madresfield in December. Special methods: Double Norwich, Worcester S.M.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

The annual general District meeting of the Ashford District took place at the mother Church of St. Mary. Ashford. on October Sth. Some 40 visitors were present for the service, conducted by the Rev. A. Atkinson. and the tea, kindly given by the Ashford ringers.

The honorary District secretary's report and balance sheet made gloomy reading. Subscriptions were well down on last year. no meetings were held for five months and successful peal attempts were few and far between. Many of these ills were due to the lack of leadership, caused by the death. early in the year. of the late Mr. J. J. Batchelor. District representative, and the illness and long convalescence of the District secretary. However, although some famous towers appear to be, temporarily, in the doldrums, others, such as Lympne, Wittersham and Biddenden. have set a fine example of progress, and most members have maintained steady support despite these ups and downs
Mr. Alan Berry (Folkestone) was re-elected as District representative: and Miss Violet Relf (Tenterden) was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Batchelor. Mr C. T. Hillis was re-elected as honorary District secretary, and Mr. Berry was also elected as Ringing Master. Three new members were elected to the Association.
Afterwards, ringing on this fine eight (tenor 23 cwt.) ; contipued until 9 oclock. ranging from rounds to Surprise Major and ended with a good lower.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

East Devon Branch

About 50 ringers and friends attended the service and tea of the East Devon Branch. held at Luppitt on September 21st. The Vicar (the Rev. J. F. Prouse), who is a ringer. conducted the service, with Mrs. E. Thorne as organist A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung prior to the meeting, at which Mr. J. Sage (chairman) presided. Certificates were presented by the Vicar to the Misses Irene Thorne. Iris Broome and Susan Davey.

The chairman reported on the proposed memorial to Preb. E. V. Cox, and stated that it was now resolved to erect a tablet in Exeter Cathedral belfry.

In future quarterly meetings are to be held on the second Saturday in October and February (Cotleigh). Monthly practices are Dunkeswell. October 15th: Feniton in November: Hemyock. December.

The Vicar said they were delighted at the number of young ringers present and suggested a special meeting being arranged for them The chairman gave a short talk on the history of Luppitt bells. which was much enjoyed.

THE HARVEST QUARTER

Invited by the Vicar to ring for the Harvest Festival Evensong at Evenley, Northants 15 , 6 cwt .3 4r. 26 lb ), the writer called at the Vicarage at 5.15 p.m., on September 29th. thinking he was in good time for a steady quarter for 6.30 service. A casual remark to the Vicar. 'It is 6.30 service?' brought the reply. No. we always hegin at $6^{\circ}$

The writer jumped in his car and did a 'racing start to the church. The bells were up and the method changed from four Doubles to just plain and simple. The bells were in motion and. by much sweat and effort. That's all." was called 36 minutes later. the conductor, not being content with calling if 60 after 10 extents. called a full 120 to make it 1,320 changes.

The average for each 120 was 3 mins. 16 secs.. and a peal would have been in the region of 2 hours 17 minutes if we could have lasted out till then! With three minute to spare and a straight run down. the Vicar ringing the service bell. Let it be noted, the ringers needed fully 10 minutes to restore themselves to normal before leaving the tower.

The Society of Windsor Youths were invited by ind BELFRY GOSSIP Doreen Hague and John Norsworthy to visit Bray and ring the annual Patronal Festival peal. The successful peal of Windsor Treble Bob Major was the first peal in the method. and the first peal of peal in the method. and the first peal of Major by the Windsor Youths; previous peals Major by the Windsor Youths; previous peals by the Society being peals of Triples rung 1798, 1799 and 1934 at Windsor Parish, in 1799' at Denham and in 1748 at St. George's Chapel. The invitation and refreshments after the peal were very much appreciated.
With reference to the peal at Hanley, the band wish to thank David Jones for standing in at extremely short notice.
The young band who rang a quarter of Bob Royal at St. John the Divine, Leicester, on September 29th, are proud of 13 -year-old David Buckley, who had his first quarter attempt on the second
The peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Ashton-under-Lyne, on October 3rd, was the first peal of Surprise ever to be rung in Ashton by a local band.
Barbara L. M. Baker, who learned to ring at Upwey, Dorset. contributed a well written article to 'The Christian Science Monitor' of August 24th on 'Change Ringing as an Art.' She has a facile pen.
His many friends will regret to learn that Mr. A. C. Hazelden has been confined to his home for the past month, with shingles. He and Mrs. Hazetden were to have been guests of honour at the Guildford Guild dinner last Saturday.
Mr. Frank Morgan, tower-keeper at Stoke-on-Tern, and Mrs. T. Morgan are well known for their hospitality to ringers. After the peal on September 26th, for their silver. wedding. they provided a sumptuous' repast for the band, which included a wedding cake. Being a learner at Babworth, Notts, is not without its hazards. Since August there have been casuarties due to a broken ankle, a sprained wrist, a broken wrist, appendicitis and scarlet fever. Three others may still be described as 'fit' and are making good progress.

Sunday, October 6th, was the 50th anniversary of Mr. Frederick Sharpe's admission to the choir of Launton Church. His record of service to Launton Church is server since 1918, ringer since 1920. P.C.C. since 1925, churchwarden since 1932. lay reader since 1957. For the past year Launton has been without a Rector, so Fred has to organise parochial duties and take the services. Seven adjoining churches are all without incumbents and he helps them when possible.

Congratulations to Michael J. Roberts, of Shepshed, Leics, on ringing his first peal at Woodhouse Eaves on September 6th. Shepshed now has two peal ringers of 11 years of age, Stephen Hall having already rung a peal earlier in the year.
Two tours are featured in the current issue of 'The Irish Bell News'-Florrie Wyman's and Eric Speake's-and apart from these there is plenty to interest the reader. We are pleased to note that the circulation is increasing. The annual subscription is 2 s . 6d. to Fred E. Dukes (Editor), Nieadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath.
Portishead bells rang merrily for a quarter on October 1st. as a welcome to the new curate (the Rev. Roger Fry), and for the ruby wedding of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Williams. Joining Portishead band as a youth Mr. Williams has completed more than 50 years' loyal service, including a long spell as captain. Illness has prevented him from ringing for nearly a year, but his critical interest in ringing has not diminished.
The late Ernest Morris. of Leicester, had one ambition, shared with his brother, G. Stedman. of Lyme Regis, which unfortunately he never fulfilled. This was to ring a peal at Cattistock in Dorset, where their paternal grandfather and great grandfather used to ring many years ago. On Saturday, October 5 th, through the kindness and interest of the Rector, the Rey. C. E. C. Brinkworth, Mr, A. J. Scott and the local ringers, a peal of Stedman Triples was rung, being the first on the bells. The band feel that Ernest would have approved of the way in which it was accomplished.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD West Lindsey Branch

The attendance at the meeting of the West Lindsey Branch at Messingham, on September 21 st. was disappointing, but the enthusiasm and general standard of ringing of those who attended did much to offset the poor numbers and ensured a successful meetīng.

The Vicar, the Rev. P. M. Freeman, a ringer himself and brother of the vicepresident of the Central Council, conducted the service and did much to enliven the business meeting that followed a tea prepared by wives of local ringers and their friends,

Two special methods selected for this meeting. Wragby and Douthe Oxford, were rung with varying degrees of skill and it was agreed that for the next meeting, at Saxilby, Hereward and St. Albans Delight would be the special methods.

Mansfield District

The neighbouring Districts of Bingham and North Notts, and also the Derby Diocesan Association were represented when the Mansfield District held its by-monthly meeting at Warsop on September 28th. Methods from Grandsire to London Surprise were enjoyed by all on this fine ring of six. A short service was conducted by the Rev. J. G. P. Habgood. after which a nicely prepared tea awaited the company in the Church Hall.
Next meeting: Sutton-in-Ashfield (subject to onfirmation).

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The Mid-Devon Branch held a quarterly meeting at Buckfast Abbey. Buckfastleigh, on September 21 st , when the attendance was not so large as in former years, although it attracted visitors from as far afield as Somerset. Ringing consisted of Grandsire Triples and Caters. Stedman Triples and Plain Boh Major and Royal, with rounds on the 12 for the less experienced.
A short service was held in the Mission Roont. conducted by the Rev. J. W. Timms, Vicar of Buckfastleigh, with Mrs. F. P. Walters at the organ. Tea followed in the Car Park Cafe.
At the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. D. E. Hood. the Branch chairman, a numher of apologies for absence were received, in cluding that of the Branch secretary, Mr. D. J. Roberts.
The recent meeting with the South Devon Association at North Bovey was reported on, and a report by the Branch secretary on ringing at various lowers in the Branch showed that 50 per cent. of the lowers were satisfactory, 25 per cent. unsatisfactory and 25 per cent. no ringing at all.

Votes of thanks were accorded to those who contributed to the arrangements, and ringing took place at Dean Prior Parish Church in the evening.
Next meeting (annual). Paignton. January 4th, subject to permission.

HANDBELLS IN

STAFFORDSHIRE VILLAGE
The village of Bradley. near Stafford, held a harbecue to raise funds to put the five bells of the Parish Church in ringing order again. Proceedings started with handbell ringing by children of St. Lawrence's Primary School. Gnosall, which included call changes and a course of Original on eight bells.
Later they entertained a large audience in the marquee with tune ringing in harmony, their programme including sach well known airs as Camptown Races, Brahms Lullahy; Crimond. Bach's Sheep may safely graze; and Hundel's Water Music. They were accompanied by two Glockenspiels and a Victorian bell toy, also played by children.

Rung at St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancs, on March 20th, 1963, conducted by the composer.

The 'Monday ' band at Loughborough has heen strengthened by the Vicar of Clifton. Nottingham, the Rev. M. C. C. Melville. It was quite appropriate that the peal of Packington Surprise Major rung at the Foundry on Sept. 30th was a birthday compliment to him. It is hoped that his green M.G. will continue to traverse the Leicestersnire countryside in 'the furtherance of the art.'

TIDEBROOK CHIMES

IN the years before and during the first world war, the little hamlet of Tidebrook lay peacefully in the valley between Wadhurst and Mayfield in Sussex. At the Manor John E. (Johnny) Budd reigned supreme as squire. Each day he drove to Wadhurst Station in his horse and trap to go to business in the City, and when at home he ran his model farm, bred his herd of prize Sussex cattle, had one side of the house painted each year, supported the church and gave the school children a treat on his lawns every summer.

At the end of the war his supremacy was challenged, for then Duncan Elliott Alves bought Tidebrook Place on the opposite slope, enlarged and modernised the house, built cottages, distributed largesse round the hamlet, and gave the school children bigger and better treats. The old squire suffered in silence until in 1920 Mr. Alves had a chiming and striking clock installed, and after some time Mr. Budd sent a strong note, Would Mr. Alves please stop his clock from making its infernal din, as it was frightening his cattle and they had not won any prizes since it had been installed.
In reality the clock, by Gillett and Johnston, produced a most pleasant sound. It had four chiming bells, viz., $1 \mathrm{cwt} .23 \mathrm{lb} ., 1 \mathrm{cwt} .2$ qr. 14 lb ., 2 cwt .0 qr. 12 lb ., and 4 cwt .2 qr .19 lb ., while the hour was struck on a fine Simpson tuned bell weighing 13 cwt .3 qr .25 lb . in F sharp.

I have most pleasant memories of these chimes during my last four years at school, and later in my courting days, when walking home in the still of the night, I used to stop and listen to eleven, sometimes twelve strokes of this fine bell come floating up out of the valley.

After several years Mr. Alves went to live in a castle in Wales, while Mr. Budd died and went we know not whither, but successive owners of Tidebrook Place kept the clock going.
At the outbreak of the second world war the house was taken over by the Columbia Picture Corporation and on Saturdays I often had to deliver express letters. The place would be deserted, so I used to go up into the clock turret and strike the hour bell to attract the attention of the caretaker to get his signature. This pleased me a lot, as I was now a ringer of some two years standing and appreciated the bells more than ever before.

At the end of the war the house became a girls' school, and either by accident or design, the fans on the chime and strike became crossed, so much so that the chimes would ring out so wearily as if the clock was just about run down, while the hour was struck at express speed. I wrote to the principal, asking her if she would have the chimes and strike restored to their former perfect timing and offered to go and do this free of charge, but all I got for my trouble was a short note from the gardener telling me in so many words 'to mind my own business: they liked the clock as it was.' Later on I did get the handyman to 'have a go,' but not with much success.

In the carly hours of August 22 nd, 1963, a fire broke out, and with the house empty, except for the caretaker. got a good hold before the alarm was raised. Five fire engines attended, but the building was gutted, the clock faces fell one by one, the works melted and the bells crashed to the ground to lay in a pile of debris.

They are badly chipped and possibly cracked and it is very doubtful if the clock will be restored, so no more shall I strain my ears at each hour to hear its pleasant sound, and no doubt along the road in the churchyard Johnny Budd turns in his grave, wishing that he could be back at the manor to breed his prize cattle in peace.

EDWIN H. LEWIS

(President, Central Council, 1930-1957)
A Memorial Service will be held at 12 noon on Saturday, November 2nd, at the Church of St. Michael, Cornhill, London, E.C. 3 (near Bank Underground Station and the Mansion House). The address will be given by Canon Gilbert Thurlow, President of the Central Council.
All ringers and friends are invited to attend E. A. BARNETT,

Hon. Secretary,
Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

MAIDSTONE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS' CHANGE RINGING SOCIETY

The Maidstone Grammar Schools' Society held its final meeting at Harrietsham on September 28 th. It was regretfully decided that as there is so little interest among the younger ringers it would be best to disband the Society.
The Society held its first meeting at Mereworth in October, 1954. In the early years there was much enthusiasm among members and meetings were held quarterly in towers around Maidstone. Unfortunately, in the last two or three years membership has fallen off and attendance at meetings has gradually become worse.
Part of the reason is the fact that the school services are now held separately because the number of pupils makes a combined service impossible. The schools' staffs were not willing to allow ringers time off to ring for the services, and so the original aim of the Society (to have a trained band of ringers for the services) was destroyed. Apart from this, neither of the school heads was keen about the Society and gave no encouragement.
Maybe at some future date a new Society will be formed. I sincerely hope so.

PAMELA J. USBORNE (Mrs.), Secretary, M.G.S.C.R.S.

ST. NICHOLAS', LEEDS, KENT

Mr. Alec W. Fry, tower captain of Leeds, Kent, protests strongly at the anonymity of the party of ringers referred to in the article ' $3,4,5,6,8,10,12$ in Kent,' and has the following comments to make in regard to their report on the condition of St. Nicholas' Leeds

1 The tower was in process of redecoration. Anyone who did not notice the smell of paint and the half painted walls must have been not only insensitive to 'atmosphere' but just plain unobservant. The tower was in the state that all towers are in when in the process of being redecorated. I cannot accept that this is equivalent to the neglect so readity ascribed to it in this article.

2 I do not consider the protest (clearly implied in the article) at what was assumed to be the state of the tower to be consistent with the deeds of the party. My record of donations to the tower fund does not show any receipts for Saturday, June 29th. This is a pity as the restoration of peal boards is an expensive business.
3 The ninth and tenor do indeed kick when in the hands of ringers who are not scrupulous about their style. or who are not familiar with the bells. I understand from old ringers that it has always been so. Extensive investigation of the bells' behaviour, together with resiting the holes in the ceiling, has not prevented this. The only reliable cure is to pull straight and keep the rope tight.

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS-No. 11

ALAN G. KIRK,

The Derby Diocesan Association.

Many ringers enjoy a great deal of ringing activity and a very high standard of ringing in the Derby Association and among its junior members is a most promising youngster, Alan G. Kirk.

Alan was born at Buxton on April 15th 1946. His early education took place at Fairfield Endowed Primary School. In 1957 he passed his 11-plus and entered Buxton College, where he has gained his General Certificate of Education (N.U.J.M.B.), passing in seven 'Ordinary" level subjects, and is at present studying 'Advanced' level in physics mathematics and chemistry.

5,120 BIRSTALL SURPRISE MAJOR

Composed by W. ERIC CRITCHLEY. 23456 W B M H

First peal in the method. Rung at Birstall, Yorks. on August 19th, 1963.
Suitable for Plain Bob Major if doubled by singles.

At the age of 13, Alan decided to take up ringing, and Christ Church, Burbage. Buxton. beneifted by his decision. for in less than a year he became a member of the Sunday service band. His early success as a ringer is due to the excellent teaching he received from his father, Henry Kirk, and Alex Richardson. of Fairfield.

Alan's first peal at the age of 14 , which took place on October 15th, 1960, at his home tower. was a very noteworthy performance. Ringing the second to a peal of Spliced Treble Bob Minor in nine methods is no light task for one ringing his first peal. It is interesting to note that this peal was conducted by his father. Five months later Alan rang his first as conductor, this being a peal of Minor in four methods, and again rung at his home tower. His total of peals is now 46, all having been rung on tower bells, five of which he has conducted.

Alan is one of a large ringing family, and in addition to his father the following members of his family are ringers, Sidney Kirk (grandfather), Henry Kirk (great uncle), Sidney Kirk (uncle), and his motiner, Mrs. Henry Kirk.
It is hoped that an ambition he has will be achieved. It is to have the present band of learners at Burbage (all boys under 13 years of age) competently ringing Surprise Minor before he leaves in two or three years" time.
Apart from the actual ringing, Alan is keenly interested in the affairs of the Derby Diocesan Association and has been a member of the committee since 1961. Congratulations to you, Alan, and good luck to you for the future

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The clash with the Sheffield Society's meeting at Dronfield and the bitterly cold weather probably reduced the attendance at the quarterly meeting, held at Clay Cross on October 5th. However, a wide variety of methods were rung on the delightful eight before the service, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Wynford-Phillips.

After an excellent tea in the Church Hall the business meeting began by observing a silence for Messrs. E. H. Lewis and D. Ogden.

Apologies for absence were then reccived from Mr. J. C. Woolley (general treasurer) and Mr. G. N. Goodall (Ringing Master. Chesterfield District). In his written report on the financial position, Mr. Woolley welcomed the election of 30 new members so far. and was also pleased to state that over E 6 had now been received in voluntary donations.

A record balance of $£ 175$ was reported by the Bell Repair Fund secretary/treasurer, Mr. G A. Halls, who also informed the company that the site for the rebuilt Church of St. Alkmund, Derby, is adjacent to a local hospital. As bells are thus of the question. the services of the Bell Repair Fund consultants are to be used to help in deciding the fate of the pleasant 16 cwt . octave. In view of some confusion over the new title it was decided to defer any action. with regard to new badges, until after the A.G.M

New members elected were: J. Watkins, A. Gregory (Scarciffe): P. Smith (Staveley): M. Wills, G. Davidson (Bolsover): and F. S. Ogden. of Stanley, as an honorary member. Although there was a suggestion of abolishing non-resident life membership subscriptions. no action could be taken until after the A.G.M.. and so the belfry elections and subscriptions of H . Longden. S. Chesterton and D. Butterworth were ratified and accepted!
A comprehensive vote of thanks concluded the meeting, after which further ringing was enjoyed at North Wingfield (8), in addition to Clay Criss.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD AT DINNER

Bishop wants Lift at Cathedral

A LIMITATION of numbers resulted in A only 135 people attending the annual at the Newlands Corner Hotel, near Guildford on October 12th. The Bishop of Guildford (Dr. G. E. Reindorp), who is president of the Guild. was in the chair, and was accompanied by his wife. Dr. Alix Reindorp. With them were the Master of the Guild (Mr. D. A. R. May) and Mrs. May. In view of their recent diamond wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hazelden were to have been guests of honour. Mr. Hazelden unfortunately is ill with shingles. Good wishes for a speedy recovery and flowers were sent to them.

Apologies were received from Mr . and Mrs. A. Harman, who had gone to live in the Isle of Wight, and from Mr. Leslie Hunter, who was ill.

30 YEARS AGO

After the Bishop had proposed the loyal toast. Mr. C. W. Denyer (vice-president) submitted that of "The Church and the Ringing Exercise.' He said he wanted to talk about the Diocese of Guildford and its ringers, and 30 years ago at a similar function Bishop Grieg said. Ringing was an extraordinary useful, uplifting and altogether helpful piece of church work. The clergy had to rely on words, whereas bellringers had the power of music of rhythm and something that was almost supernatural, which had the means of lifting people's hearts. minds and very souls to heavenly things by the beauty and sweetness of the church bells

Later on the then Provost (the Very Rev. C. E. Kirwan) said. "I sometimes think the clergy do not give all the encouragement they might do to this very important and very English work of God's Church. The reason is that being out of sight could well mean out of mind as well.

How is it today? went on Mr. Denyer. - Are things any better than they were 30 years ago? Fortunately in the Guildford Diocese there has always been a strong feeling of Brotherhood and friendship between the clergy and people. There are certainly more bellringers taking other offices within the church and they find them serving as sidesmen, altar servers. P.C.C.s and even churchwardens, and it is only right that we should take our part in the work of the church.

CLERGY AND SERVICE TALKS

But so often the incumbent seems to be rather tolerating the ringers, not encouraging them. Oh! yes, he would spend a deal of uo references to bells in the Bible and telling up references to bells in the Bible and telling the ringers all about the bells and pomegranates around the high priest's robes. and granates around the high priest s robes. and that he should practise what he preached and come to church after calling others. They could tell the clergy more about bells than they could tell them and his advice was please do not talk about bells at a ringers' service : they wanted to be treated like ordinary beings.
Last year they were challenged as a Guild by the Bishop to raise $£ 6.000$ or $£ 7.000$ for the Cathedral bells. Before accepting the challenge they appointed a small sub-committee to go into the matter, and this subcommittee found that the diocese authoritics. in their appeal to finish the Cathedral, did not allow anything for the bells. Many people urged the building of a tower and they now had four walls enclosing nothing.

Mr. Denver contended that people rushing along the by-pass to the coast on a Sunday did not see the Cathedral-magnificent building as it is-but they would see it if the bells rang out Sunday by Sunday and it would remind them that they ought to be worshipMing in church.
Mr. Denyer reminded the Bishop, in regard to the challenge. to raise the money for the bells that onethird of their ringers were either bells that one-third of their ringers were either school children or students. If their presidant would only consent to make the appeal he would accomplish in 12 months what would take them 12 years.

BISHOP WANTS LIFT

The Bishop, in his reply, said if he had been with them in 1933, when a tower was under discussion. he would have insisted on a lift being provided. They could have had a library and reading room in that tower, apart from bells. but it was no good placing a library there with all those steps to climb. When he was in London one of his parishioners was Cardinal Griffin. He had a tower, which commanded a wonderful view of London, and a lift, and as the cost of living had increased the cost of going up the tower in the lift had also increased from sixpence to 1 s . 6 d

Referring to the appeal for the Cathedral, the Bishop said people talked about the Chapter House is being a luxury, but it was not wanted merely for meetings of the Dean and Chapter, but for other meetings and discussion groups. The previous Wednesday they had over 1,300 people at the Cathedral for the lecture of Dr. Wand. As he walked up the nave with him. Dr. Wand said. "We could do it like this at St. Paul's.' The Bishop said he replied, 'No. this is Guildford.'
Dr. Reindorp said he was glad to hear of their progress in raising money for the four bells the Guild was providing. By May 17th they wanted to see the Lady Chapel completed. The Bishop's chair would be a memorial to Dr. Somerset Ward, and the four priests' stalls to Archdeacon Windsor Roberts, and there would also be a memorial to that saint-Bishop Frank Johnson. Concluding. he said: 'The important thing about a ringer was not his ringing, but his witness.

A friend of the Masters. Mr. D. J. Martin, vice-president of the University of London Society, proposed the toast of : The continued prosperity of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.' He recalled a tour of his Society in the North when they were television and it was announced on the screen. "Ringing down the bells to Grandsire Triples." The most common bells to Grandsire Triples.' The most common was that when their Master retired from the leadership of the University of London Society he was elected Master of their Guild.
In reply the Master said the Guild had been fortunate in that it had prospered in everything but money since its foundation. 35 years ago. There were, however, things they should look to-greater recruitment. consolidation of bands training for leadership, systematic instruction. the maintenance of bells and the ringing of peals.

REGULAR RECRUITMENT

While membership had increased, the number of bells which ring out regularly each Sunday had not increased anything like proportionately: such was the wastage due to marriage, moving and other interests that even a church which could boast of twice as many ringers as ropes must teach at least one recruit each year and in churches where there were only just enough ringers a real drive must be made to increase strength.

On the question of consolidation. Mr. May said he usually noticed that where the band worshipped together. say on a Sunday evening. there was an unmistakable air of comradeship in the tower. Another point was the belfry office before ringing. This might take guts to initiate if the custom was not there. but it did make them realise why they here ringers.
Urging memhers to train for leadership. the Master said. 'We have some marvellous people among us. several years older than I. for instance, who are well equinped to serve in some canacity or other. When you go to your nomination meeting give great thought to next year's officers and do not necessarily look to youth. as is becoming the tendency today. Experience of life and ringing is a good qualification.

WEEK-END COURSE

Convinced that the time had come to snonsor course for heginners and instructors, he had reserved Moor Park Collegc just outside Farnham. for a course from Friday, July 17th.
to Sunday, July 19 th, and the Surrey County Council had agreed to subsidise them. There were to be parallel courses-one for those who had just learned to handle, plain hunt or ring changes, and the other for average ringers who would like to improve their teaching techniques. Talented lecturers were being obtained from all over the country and details would be circulated to tower secretaries.

Finally, peals. We as a Guild should definitely ring more, because they are perhaps the best instrument for improving striking, an excellent form of discipline, a developer of stamina and a marvellous mental exercise. There are many occasions which go upmarked at present which deserve a peal, and I hope you will all take active steps to amend this even if a few complaints are heard.'
The toast was followed by the company drinking in silence to the memory of John S. Goldsmith and other officers and members of the Guild, and before doing so the Master asked members to remember especially Mr . Frank Oakshott. a District Ringing Master, who died this year.

CLAPPER TROUBLE

In a toast to "The Ladies and Visitors,' Canon J. M. Evans expressed regret that Dr. Alix Reindorp had been suffering from laryngitis or 'clapper trouble.
Mrs. Shirley Beck, wife of the Vicar of Church Crookham. replied.
Mr. F. E. Collins, who acted as toastmaster, thanked the dinner committee, which was headed by the Master and Mr. Viggers, for making the arrangements. The Master, in reply. said they were sending their best wishes and flowers to Mr. A. C. Hazelden, with wishes for a speedy recovery. He also thanked the entertainer and his wife, who arranged the flowers at the dinner tables.
The speeches were followed by a delightful entertainment by Audrey Dodd (contralto), Betty Ranshaw (soprano). Harold Cole (tenor) and Marjorie Wakefield (piano). The Glee Singers-W. Viggers, E. M. Bragg and C. W. Denyer-as usual. gave topical verse and there was handhell ringing by E. W. Bragg, W. Denne I. Page and W. Viggers.

DOVE'S SUMMER TOUR NO. 1
Some 64 towers were visited by the party organised by Mr. Barrie Dove and his helpers. during the summer holidays. The party had as its nucleus four ringers from Leeds and one from Pontefract, and they were augmented by friends from Derby and Claines.
Having established themselves at Minehead, Sunday service ringing the following day was at Taunton (St. James' and St. Mary's), Wells Cathedral, where they were given a cordial welcome in the afternoon, and on the fine ten at Minehead.
They were generously received as at Mudford, where the Vicar invited them to tea on the vicarage lawn, and then drove them to the next two towers. Ilchester and Yeovil Parish Church, where they joined in the practice.
There was a good deal of walking. One day's programme was to Stogursey. Stockland (where they were given tea by the Ringing Master) and then Cannington and Chilton Trinity. The next day's walk was Seavington. Kingstone, Dowlish Wake, Chaffcombe and Ilminster. followed on the third day by Ash Priors. Halse, Heathfield. Oake. Hill Farrance and then to the practice at Wiveliscombe. Tired of walking, the next day we hired a taxi to Selworthy.
The week over. a day was spent in the Bristol area before going on to Hereford, where the number of beams in the ringing chamber amazed the party. The following morning we rang at Gloucester Cathedral and St. Woolos' Cathedral. Newport. followed by two days in South Wales. We hope this holiday will become a regular feature in years to come.

Dr. A. B. Carpenter

Dear Sir,-Mr. E. C. Shepherd's article headed 'An English Gentieman' reminded me of the days when Dr. A. B. Carpenter was a prominent personality in Croydon, beloved by all classes of people with whom he came in contact. He enjoyed ringing and I well remember his visit to Cherisey on June 20th, 1907, when we rang a peal of Stedman Triples, a farewell peal to his younger brother, Rev. E. W. Carpenter, who was leaving the neighbouring village of Thorpe, to become Vicar of Bobbing. Kent. The doctor and the reverend enjoyed the peal and it was mentioned that seldom is a peal scored in which a doctor and a reverend, two brothers, were ringers.

In 1913 at Croydon I attended the funeral of Dr. Carpenter and, although many tributes were paid at the graveside, the ringers did not forget to honour his memory by ringing a course of Grandsire Caters on a heavy set of handbells, a fitting tribute to a great ringer who passed to higher service at the age of 59 . I have no record of those who rook a pair with me that afternoon, but I caln fully remember our lovely tribute to a wonderful personality and a thorough gentleman.-Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

An English Gentleman

Dear Sir,-Supplementing E.C.S.'s excellent leader of October 11th, Dr. Carpenter also held the office of churchwarden at St. James', Croydon, for many years.
I was reminded of this oniy recently when I happened to be in this tower in connection with the clock, and I was asked to give an opinion on the bell which the Vicar designate thought to be cracked, and I noticed the doctor's name on the 1907 recast Gillett bell. which was not cracked but was being carelessly 'clocked.'
I have heard it said that there was once a suggestion to have a ring of six there, but the scheme never materialised and in all probability never will. although there are many rings of bells in far worse towers than this.Yours, etc.,
R. H. DOVE.

'The Fierce Debate'

Dear Sir.-The front page article on Dr. Carpenter by E.C.S. calls for a small comment on the fierce debate on $360^{\circ}$ s of Minor in multi-methods, when Dr. Carpenter ventured the 'rather naive suggestion that if 14 methods were desired the Yorkshire men should ring 10,080 !' may I suggest that the word ' naive ' should be replaced by 'fatuous,' which is a more apt description of the suggestion.
Obviously Dr. Carpenter, who was no doubt a fine exponent on Triples, Major and Caters. was not interested in Minor ringing, and his 'suggestion' gives the impression that he was not as tolerant as E.C.S. would have us believe.
When I heard Mr. William Barton, at the Yorkshire dinner at Iceds, descrihing the past officers of the Society I quickly realised that these personalities would not casily he subdued by Dr. Carpenter.-Yours faithfully,

Cawthorne, Barnsley.

Dear Sir--Circumstances arising from the departure from Australia of George W. Pipe and the bells of Melbourne Cathedral being in this country for refitting has caused careful consideration to be given to the date of the proposed tour of Australia. Correspondence has taken place between both sides on this matter and the decision arrived at is Great Adventure II will be postponed until 1965.

It is sincerely hoped that those intending to take part in this trip will not be put to much inconvenience and that the postponement will not prevent them taking part at the later date.

Arrangements for the tour will still be proceeded with and information will be circulated from time to time, but because of this extended period should there be any more ringers who would now find themselves able to join the party their inquiries would be welcomed. Moreover, may I appeal to any emigrant ringer not only to attach himself to a tower in Australia, but also to keep in mind the arrangements now being made for Great Adventure II with a possible participation in the tour.-Yours faithfully,
North Mimms. Hatfield, Herts. J. LOCK.

Cambridge Royalat Loughborough Parish Church

Dear Sir--Earliar this year I had the privilege of ringing in an excellent peal of Cambridge Royal at Loughborough Parish Church. Unfortunately it was later found to be false, and reluctantly the peal had to be withdrawn.
Recently. I have learned from several members of the band taking part that Mr. H. B. Bowley, of Leicester Cathedral, had criticised the quality of the ringing of this peal. I should like publicly to challenge Mr. Bowley to:
(a) that he attempts to collect a band and rings a better peal of Royal. or
(b) that he replaces one of the original band in the attempt which is shortly to be tried again: so that he can see just how well we can ring men's hells. As he seems to doubt the capabilitias of the tenor ringer. in satisfactorily complating the performance in the time taken. it is further suggasted that he rings the tenor himself-properly. and with an open lead.
Well. Herrick, what about it?-Yours faithfully,

CAMPINGOLOGISTS TOUR OF SOMERSET

(For peals see page 649)
The high winds and rain of Friday, August 16th, battered the advance party of the Campingnologists driving down from the Midlands to Bridgwater, which was to be the headquarters for our tour of Somerset. A lucky short break in the weather enabled us to pitch the tents, camp being at Wembdon, just outside Bridgwater, and we were able to join the local practice later on a pleasant six. A gale during the night well and truly tested the tents, but despite some anxious moments everything held firm.

A leisurely Saturday morning prepared us for the afternoon peal attempt at Wrington, a somewhat over-tenored ten, at 37 cwt . the heaviest bells for a peal attempt on the programme. Grandsire Caters went well for two hours, then some confusion arose and the peal was lost Thus we were left with plenty of time to return to Bridgwater for the local Bath and Wells evening meeting and have a first taste of the fine eight which we were to visit later in the week for a peal. A pleasant social evening in Bridgwater followed.

A DAY OF ' HEAVIES

A day of 'heavies' was arranged for Sunday and early morning found us crossing the county to Sherborne. A breakdown en route was speedily repaired, and the party arrived in good time to ring for Matins at the Abbey. Stedman, Bristol and Double Norwich were rung on this, the heaviest ( 46 cwt.) eight in the country, which impressed us by their tone and 'go.'
After dining well in Shepton Mallet, we drove on to Wells to join in ringing for the afternoon service on the heavy ten of the Cathedral. Ringing for evening service followed at Queen Camel, on the famous heavy ( 35 cwt .) six. and a variety of methods were enjoyed on these fine bells, including Grandsire Doubles and London Minor. We had thus rung on the heaviest six, eight and ten in the day: but more was to fol-low-an hour or so on Ditcheat's fine. mellow eight, after the evening service. Well-earned refreshment followed at Glastonbury, after our four-vehicle convoy had gone the wrong way along a one-way street. Here we were pleased to meet Messrs. Theobald and Bailey, and Mr. and Mrs. Bould, and successfully rang some Stedman Triples 'in hand ' with them.

Yorkshire was arranged for the eight at Chewton Mendip on Monday morning, but a broken rode cut the peal short, just as the bells were being recorded. These were a magnificent eight in a very fine tower. Cambridge Major at Blagdon in the afternoon was a welcome first success and also included some 'firsts' in the method. In the evening we visited Mr. Meads. of Athelney. landlord of a club of cider drinkers, and some of us had our first taste of 'real ' as opposed to 'factory, cider. Later we went down the road to be introduced to the same of skittles. English fashion. in an alley heside the local hostelry, and had a strenuous and enjoyable game.

THE LOCALS STARED

Careless ringing at Timberscombe on Tuesdav morning lost us Pudsey there after ahnut $1 t$ hours. The bells are a pleasant. light eight. but rather uneven inside the tower. A formidable line of locals staring at the tower met the first to descend. bringing the warning that the bells were very loud outside sharply back to mind but fortunately they did not prove to be particularly hostile, just curious.
For the afternoon attempt we went to Mine-nead-a good 20 cwt . ten but very uneven inside the tower-and rang a fast peal of Yorkshire Royal. A skittles match rounded off the day.

A flat twre on the way to Mells delayed us a little on Wednevday morning. Here we had another rode failute, after $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours of Rutland on the mellow 26 cwr , eight. the sixth rooe disintegrating below the sally In the church were several memorials to the Horner family, reputedly descendants of Jack Horner of the famous rhyme. One of the more honest statesmen of his time, the rhyme was applied to Horner by the Whig oovosition, a plum being $£ 100,000$ in the slang of the time. or so the story goes. Bowls and swimming filled the afternoon, and an enjoyahle evening followed at Bridgwater, where we were entertained by the organisers Barbara and Brian Wylde, in their new home The peal-ringing situation looked up on Thursday, both attempts proving successful. In the morning Lincolnshire was rung on the good 8 at Curry Rivel, and included several 'firsts in the method. The afternoon attempt, on the beautiful $26 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. eight at Bridgwater, resulted in a good peal, despie the unusually difficult long draught of rope. We were told this was the first peal on the bells for many years, so were particularly glad to have been successful Here we were able to see the tenor of the light est six in the world. Frank Mack having brought it with him to show us before installing the ring in his garage.

After the peal we travelled to Taunton for the annual dinner, and had a very good meal in the Tudor Steak Bar. The evening was happily completed, much to the particular satisfaction of some of the Staffordshire members, with excellent Burton ale.

SKITTLES AND RINGING

We seemed fated with odd-bell peals, Erin Triples at Martock being lost on Friday morning. The bells tapped round well till about half way through. when a shift occurred and the peal was lost. The run of afternoon successes continued on the pleasant, heavy eight of Milborne Port, where a peal of Cambridge Major was rung. An enjoyable last game of skittles in the evening, ending with some requested handbell ringing. Here the landlady enjoyed the ringing so much she insisted on joining us for some rounds, and we were pleased to oblige.
From the ringing point of view it was Black Saturday." Stedman Triples was lost after two hours' good, fast ringing at Wiveliscombe, and Plain Bob was lost after some good, slow ringing at Wellington, another good eight

After returning to camp for the general meeting, we all went up to the farmhouse to thank Farmer Day for the use of his field. Welcoming us into the spacious 16 th century house. Mr. Day plied us with generous quantities of his excellent and most potent cider, and we spent the evening drinking this and ringing handbells at the request of Mr. Day and his family. Needless to say. all slept well that night
Early rising on Sunday morning enabled us to break camp in time to ring for Matins at nearby Cannington, a good, heavy six; then the band assembled for the last time this year tor coftee in Bridgwater.
Our thanks are due to Brian, Barbara and Cecil for the excellent arrangements, and to the incumbents and local ringers for the use of their bells, all contributing to a most enjoyable tour.
A. 5 .

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Devizes Branch

Bishop's Cannings, with its beautiful church and fine ring of eight. proved a popular venuc for the Branch quarterly meeting on October 5th. nearly 50 members and visitors enjoyed ringing during the day. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. Smith. and the Master of the Guild, Rev.
R. Longridge, read the lesson. The Branch vice-chairman, Mr. A. Weeks, was the organist
After an excellent tea, served by the ladies. the chairman. Mr. N. Knee, presided over the business meeting. In reply to his welcome. the Master stressed the importance of regular attendance at meetings as a means of making advance in the art of ringing.

The meeting stood in memory of Mr. R. Harding, a ringer at North Bradley for over 30 years. Two new members were elected from Corsley. The Branch secretary (Mr. A. Knight) reminded all towers that subscriptions for 1963 were now due and unless everyone co-operated in completing their returns it would be impossible to present the accounts and report at the annual meeting.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE HOLD ANNUAL IN VESTRY

WHAT sort of picture did this headline conjure up? Did it suggest an attendance of just a handful of members of an Association very much in decline, or did you wonder whether this was yet another stunt in the realm of ringing to set up another 'first' or to use the vestry instead of the more usual telephone kiosk for experiments with human sardines?

None of these pictures is correct. This was a normal meeting, but Stockion Parish Church has an abnormally spacious vestry, and an attendance of about sixty was accommodated without overcrowding. Sixty is not a large attendance by some standards, but for us this represents something like one in four of our membership and Stockton is near the edge of our territory-so near that for our ringing programme we borrowed the tower at Thornaby from our neighbours.

FAITHFUL SERVANTS

Is our Association in decline? Eighty-six years of history lie behind us and some noteworthy contributions to ringing history feature in our record. We have some faithful servants still with us who have seen a large period of that history. The name of Frederick Sheraton, of Chester-le-Street, has been on our books for 70 years! On September 28th, he was one of a first batch of nine men who were made life members in recognition of their meritorious service. The award of life membership was one of the new features of the revision of the rules in 1962 . The full list of those honoured in this way was: J. Anderson, J. F. Bird. F. W Burnett, R. Alder Gofton, R. W. Leighton, J. Pickering, W. Kobson, F. Sheraton and S.
Thompson. Most of them are still ringingThompson. Most of them are still ringing-indeed $R$. Alder Gofton rang a peal of London Surprise Major for his 85 th birthday during the past year-and some were present at the meeting.

But in this gathering at Stockton. youth was very much in evidence. Seventeen new ringing members were elected and the peal report mentioned eight first peals and one first peal as conductor. Cambridge Surprise Maximus had been rung for the first time by a resident band, and so had London Surprise Royal (No. 3). The Ringing Master reported on the second one-day course at Lumley Castle. where over 80 had attended. After one year in office the new treasurer-under 30 and with a office the new treasurer-under 30 and with a mere 14 years of membership!-was able to report that he had collected all arrears of subscriptions other than those going back several years.

MEMBERSHIP TO EQUAL BELLS

This hardly adds up to a picture of an Association in decline. content to rest on its laurels. But our president is not satisfied. He set before us a challenge that we should all strive towards the target of a membership equal to the number of ringable bells in the dioceses of Durham and Newcastle.

We try to introduce new ideas and variations. Our programme for the meeting was based on a variation that had been successful at Newcastle in 1962 and, indeed, Stockton as the venue for our 'annual' was an innovation. This choice was a tribute to our president. Peter Rock, and his fellow ringers, and it so happened that the date was not far away from the tenth anniversary of the reopening of Stockton bells after their recasting and rehanging by Taylor's in 1953. Stockton provided our first general secretary, the pew end carving incorporating a bell in his memory.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, Canon Wardle-Harpur, and the preacher was Canon Hancock. now Rector of Sedgefield and one of our good clerical friends in his previous incumbency at Stranton. West Hartlepool. Since going to Sedgefield he has had the five bells there given some attention and in the evening many were able to have their first ring in this tower. It would be very nice if in the future the job could be made a really good one by recasting the fifth and providing an occupant for the vacant sixth pit in the frame. The organist was Leslie Evans, of Herefordshire, who must have derived great pleasure at seeing his former pupil as president of our Association. We were very pleased to have Leslie with us along with a number of other visitors, some of whom are so regular that we really forget that they are visitors.
Associations depend upon the co-operation of their clergy and they also depend very much upon the ladies who attend to their material needs. Stockton's ladies did not fail us and our thanks for their excellent tea were voiced by Bill Tyson-and Bill is not an easy man to satisfy in these matters! Fred Ross thanked the incumbents on this occasion, but it may not be long now before he is on the receiving end for this item of the agenda.

NOW RINGABLE

Sedgefield bells have been made ringable and the past year has seen the return to service of All Saints'. Gosforth, after rehanging, and St. John's and St. Stephen's, in Newcastle, after repairs to their towers. St. Aidan's, Blackhill. now go very much better, thanks to voluntary local efforts in freeing pulleys. etc. There are high nopes for a restoration at Tanfield in the near future and it was a great pleasure to hear the new Vicar of Tanfield, the Rev. A. J. G. Ellery, elected a clerical member.
A year ago an indication was given of what was considered to be a more practicable system for the Association peal book. The old style of ornate record had fallen several years in arrears and no one could be found to continue the ornate style. This year a bound volume of just under two hundred peal records was on view. Our thanks are due chiefly to Elaine Murcott. who did the typing so expertly Norman Park handled the printing and binding and the recording was supervised by Alan Ainsworth as editorial secretary. This is only one aspect of Alan's service to our Association, and his departure for Birmingham is a loss that we regret and shall feel in many ways, but we do extend to him and to Marion our very best wishes for the future.

GOING PLACES

Once again Alan headed our list of conductors with 18 . including the London Surprise Royal and the longest length of Yorkshire Surprise Major ( 15.520 ) yet produced. Alan has been the principal organiser of most of our peal attempts of recent years, and our loss is certainly Birmingham's gain. Second in the list of conductors was Robin Turner with 10 , and before the next annual meeting he will have departed to Australia. Third was Bryan Pattison with 7, and he has already gone to India. Budding conductors should have plenty of scope in the coming year or, perhaps, we shall have more of our experiments in dispensing with the conductor. We have done it once or twice alrcady. The peal report showed also that 83 ringers had taken part in the 48 tower-bell peals and 10 handbell peals. Among the 24 towers used Gateshead was the most frequent with 8 peals.
The Handbook was re-issued during the year after it had been thoroughly revised and brought up to date. Unfortunately the material in it has proved to change more rapidly than it was originally thought that it would. and this idea is not to $t$ ( 2 continued in the future. Instead the 1962-63 report will be printed in a form to contain the more important items, but we shall have to economise by omitting the peal compositions and adding them as a duplicated sheet or two.
The report is the major item of expenditure in our balance sheet and its cost has to be kept under close review.

LOOKING AHEAD

What of the future? Our officers were reelected. with the exception of the editorial secretary and there the members showed their appreciation of Elaine Murcott's work by asking her to do the whole job after Alan's departure. The programme of meetings that we have arranged maintains the same pattern. but we shall endeavour to see that none of these deteriorates into a stereotyped affair. The list is: Social function, Chester-le-Street. January 4th: one-day course on ringing, Lumley Castle, March 21 st : half-yearly meeting. West Hartlepool. May 9th ; annual meeting, Newcastle, October 3rd.
When Canterbury needed a new Archbishop a few years ago it turned to Dr. Ramsey, one of our former patrons. During the past year Canterbury has needed a new Dean. and it has turned to another of our patrons, the Ven. Ian White-Thomson, who was Archdeacon of Northumberland. We offer him our congratulations and best wishes, and we compliment Canterbury on its choice.

KIMPTON CUP WON WITH LONDON SURPRISE

There was a record entry of 10 teams for the Kimpton Cup competition, open to bands from towers in Hertfordshire, which was held at SS. Peter and Paul's. Kimpton, on October 5 th. The test piece was 360 Minor or Doubles and once again all the ringing was tape recorded.

After an excellent tea, providzd by local ladies, Mr. J. G. Cull, secretary of the Kimpton Guild, introduced the judges-Mrs. Fardon. who rang the tenor of St. Clement Danes' to the first all ladies" peal on 10 bells in 1926, and Mr. Tony Mann. known to many younger ringers partly hecause of his association with the Raving Ringers
In their comments, the judges said that the general standard of ringing was quite good, particularly as they felt that the bells are not an easy ring. Principal faults were that the little bells did not hold up sufficiently over the larger bells and in those bands that rang Doubles the tenor was often erratic, Some teams did not manage to settle down to a good rhythm and for this reason were placed lower than those with a larger number of actual faults.
Results were as follows: North Mymms (London) 36 faults. Cheshunt (Grandsire) 44. King's Langley (Plain Bob Minor) 54. Hatfield (P.B. Minor) 45, St. Peter's. St. Albans (P.B Minor) 51, Apsley (P.B. Doubles) and Kimpton (Plain Bob Doubles) 76. Wheathampstead (P.B. Minor) 66, broke down after eight minutes, Hertingfordbury, Sarrat. The last two teams were not given a place by the judges.

The cup was presented to Mr. T. J. Lock captain of North Mymms. by the Rev. K. G. Martin. Vicar, who said he was very pleased that the traditional art of bellringing, which had gone on for so long and was so very much a part of our English worship, continued to flourish.
The length of the test piece was discussed. but the majority felt that 360 gave a better chance for the band to sett'e down. The committee who were elected to consider length of test piece and date were Messrs. J. G. Cull. W W. C. Hughes, T. J. Lock. D. C. Price and T. J. Southam.

Mr T. J. Lock thanked the Vicar, judges and Mrs. J. G. Cull and helpers for the tea.

A box of chocolates was presented to each of the judges by Miss Mary Arnold, one of the Kimpton ringers, as a token of aporeciation for their services.

UNIVERSITY OF  LONDON SOCIETY SUMMER TOUR, 1963

FOR this year's summer tour the Societv descended on North Derbyshire and the area around Sheffield and also into Lincolnshire. This was the first summer tour for many years that no member of the illustrious Layton family was with us-what can be happening to our Society? !

The arrangements were made by Brian Woodruffe (who was never actually able to join us) and John Seager, to whom, with all the incumbents and Ringing Masters we extend our thanks. We stayed for six very pleasant days at Whirlow Grange, on the outskirts of Sheffield, and it was noted that conditions, though non-alcoholic, were so good that the usual exodus to a local only occurred on the first evening.

The tour proper did not start until Sunday, when we joined various bands in Sheffield for morning service. In the evening, and in the rain, the whole company stated they wanted to ring at St. Marie's, so, forsaking the rest of Sheffield, we all rang to call our separated brethren' to church. Later that evening (and also on Thursday) we were entertained by Philip Gray's excellent colour slides of his (and Joan's) recent holiday in Greece.

Monday saw us all ringing in earnest and, with Philip in charge, the method of the day was Cambridge, which everyone either said they knew or said they were learning. The first tower was at Bakewell, famous for its tarts (we had coffee in the original pudding (?) house), where the one show touch had to be Stedman, due to Cambridge not, after all, being so well known. After ringing and lunching at Youlgreave, we had the experience of ringing at Winster-an anti-clockwise Minor five. On to Darley Dale, where we were visited by Frank Smallwood, and finally to Ashover-a lovely church in beautiful surroundings.

STEELWORKS VISITED

The most awe-inspiring cultural event of tire tour proved to be an interesting trip to Samuel Fox's Stocksbridge steelworks. We were taken round by David Armstrong (a Sheffield Cathedral ringer) and a friend, who efficiently protected us from the myriad dangers of the works and tawled the answers to our many bald questions over an incredible cacophony of noise.
Tuesday was John's day in charge, so at every tower we had a touch of Spliced Plain and Little Bob. Ranmoor started off the day, and although the experts' Cambridge Royal failed, the inexperts' Grandsire Caters did not. At Ecclesfield we enjoyed our ringing and a cup of coffee in a nearby cafe served by a spritely, 84 -year-old. We had lunch in the - local at Wentworth, and eventually attained the village church, though Katie Gorvin's car had a most curious attack of what seemed to be hiccups on the way. We rang divers different methods here and the ladies brought a touch of Bob Minor round, whereas the gentlemen's ambitious attemot at Original was sadly unsuccessful.

The 'elusive' key is how most people remember Wortley, and by the time we had found the key, found the ladder. found the ringing chamber, we also found the bells kept hitting the chiming hammers. At this point the Vicar found us, tucked up his cassock and leaped into the bell chamber, followed by about half the company. Eventually, after muct delicate manipulation of machinery, during which Howard Collins tried to tell us his name was not 'Charlie,' we all achieved what we had come for and had a brief ring, though even this was complicated because of the unaccustomed sally-type ropeends.

SOME FAILURES

It was raining when we rang at Bolderstone but the journey home through the Sheffield Lake District was on roads 'practicable if taken gently, and proved a most scenic ride. After supper most of the party squeezed into the practice at Dore and had some very good ringing.

The Rev. Malcolm Melville, accompanied by a young ringing prodigy, joined us at Barlborough, the first tower on Wednesday, where. after various touches, a tine attempt at Spliced Oxford and Kent Treble Bob failed to come round, so changed to Plain Bob, which failed to come round. so changed to Little Boh, which failed to come round! Thence to Staveley for Double Norwich, and where lunch was a very cheerful meal. We did not do justice to Chesterfield bells, though per. haps the front-enders would suggest it is because the ropes of $2-6$ fall in a straight line. At Clay Cross we grabbed what was supposed to have been the peal tower, and 1,212 Single Oxford was rung by some more enthusiastic members, while others had a much-appreciated free afternoon.

Thursday was sunny, and we enjoyed our journey into the Peak District, starting off at Eyam, where we were delighted to discover some beautiful examples of well dressing. Next we went to Tideswell, the so-called 'Cathedral of the Peaks,' where we broke a rope, or was it the result of disgust at being made to ring Superlative? However, despite this, a course of Bristol was rung.

After lunch we visited the unusual light six at Wormhill, where the tenor weighs only one cwt. The ringing chamber is so small that we had to go up there in shifts, but once we had discovered that it was easier to ring without a stay, all went well. At Castleton we were interested in the ropes with their mult1coloured sallies, which are hand-made by an old craftsman who sits in the entrance to one of the famous Castleton Caverns. At Hope we achieved a course of Lincolnshire, and on the way home two keen car loads grabbed Bradwell, a chiming eight, and felt it was a shame they were not hung for proper ringing.

FIVE SPLICED

Friday morning we had to pack up and say goodbye to Whirlow and turn east towards Lincolnshire. At South Anston the height of the tour was achieved with Five Spliced. The next tower, Babworth, was almost impossible to find, being on no maps or road signs. Howevir, once found, this new six went very well. At Retford East we were soaked walking across to the church and afterwards discovered that, most ironically, the church was dedicated to St . Swithun. After ringing at Retford West we journeyed on to Moor Lodge Hotel, Branston, where we spent Moor Last two nights.

On arriving in Branston, Robin Dyke dis covered that there were six bells in the church, and it was not included in our itinerary. This was quickly remedied by a phone call and we all went off there after dinner. The local old gentleman was pleased to see us, and when asked what he would like to ring asked for Norwich! This made even the most talented of the Society get out their diaries and do a bit of homework.
Saturday saw us off to Ewerby, a nice ten in a small, scattered village. We did manage Stedman Caters here. On to Heydour (various spellings confused navigators), where there was no key or Vicar. However, Philip. with his usual skill, got us in somehow. After lunch we went to Barrowby but found we had made a mistake and should have betn at Grantham, so off we all rushed in order not to miss this lovely ten. We then sidetracked into Leicestershire to ring at Bottesford, where we tried to ring Rutland, as it was the home of the Dukes (and Earls) of that name. At Newark, Katie could not set her bell, but then neither could Philip, and on investigation a clock hammer was found to be fouling the ropes. On the way home, to John's surprise, we made a quick grab at Metheringham.
After breakfast on Sunday we all moved off to Lincoln to ring wherever possible, most people managing three towers befors going their separate ways. J. M.R. and E. C. F.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM PERRY

A member of the Essex Association for 37 years and a life member for the last 12 years, Mr. William Perry, of Leigh-on-Sca, died on October 1st, aged 81. For the past 12 years he had been nearly blind and this prevented him ringing.
The funeral service took place at St. Clements Church, Leigh-on-Sea, on October Sth, and among those present, in addition to Leigh and Prittlewell ringers, were Mr. E. Furbank (Brentwood) and Mrs. Lufkin (Clacton).
Mr. Frank B. Lufkin, in a tribute writes He learnt to handle a bell at his own Parish Church of St. Clement, Leigh-on-Sea. and his change ringing at St. Mary's, Prittlewell. where he did most of his ringing. Both at Prittlewell and Leigh he was a most regular Sunday service ringer. He rang about 65 peals, of which 60 were rung under my conductorship.

Bill ' played his fuli part in all the activities of the Prittlewell band of ringers, and he was most generous if any help was required, such as helping young ringers with the expense of outings, insurance of bells, decoration of the belfry, which was given witil my knowledge only. He was a great friend to me personally. and in his very quiet way a friend and help to all ringers in the Southend-on-Sea area. May we follow his example and may his soul rest in peace.

ST. PETER'S, HARROGATE: NEW BELLS AND RINGERS

By EDWARD HUDSON

$A^{s}$,S Harrogate grew rapidly during the built, and one of them fine churches were a ring of eight, on which at least one peal was rung for the Yorkshire Association. My old friend, the late Tom Metcalfe. for many years the mainstay of ringing in North Yorkshire, remembered ringing on these bells in a ringing room heavy with tobacco smoke. Built on a faulty site, the church was in danger of collapse, but a generous donor provided the money for the building of the present fine church on a safer site. The bells were transferred to the new church; unfortunately they were hung dead.

For many years the people of Harrogate have heard little of the sound of bells rung in the traditional English manner. Beckwithshaw, a village on the outskirts of Harrogate, has a useful and recently restored ring of six, and the church has a band of ringers. but there has been no other ring in regular use in the Deanery of Knaresborough (which includes all Harrogate) for many years. The ring of five at Nidd is almost unringable, and the fine ring of eight at Knaresborough has, as the result of disagreement between the ringers and a former incumbent, been silent for a quarter of a century
The interest of local ringers was considerabie when it became known that an appeal had when launched to provide St. Peter's Church with a ring of eight bells. This aroused the interest of a number of young persons and in June, 1962, on a very hot evening, I met these potential ringers, in St. Peter's House, for the first time.

LOCAL KEENNESS

They had a potential leader in Bill McQuiggin, a young engincer: a good set of handbells, and plenty of enthusiasm. They decided after I had talked to them about bells and the art of change ringing that they would submit to my efforts to teach them the art. and a few days later they came to Ripon and saw for the first time the interiors of bell chamber and ringing room. With never fewer than seven pupils and with 12 on several occasions there was plenty of work for an instructor. Yet so keen was their enthusiasm that I began to look eagerly forward to each Friday evening marathon. A kind friend lent the learners a mini-bus which conveyed the party safely from Harrogate to Ripon, some 11 miles, in every conceivable sort of weather.

Slowly but steadily progress was made and a notable milestone was reached when, with the assistance of four experienced ringers, rounds were rung on the full Cathedral ten. My corrections and rebukes were accepted in the right spirit. and only two of the original volunteers fell by the wayside.

When the order for the bells was placed some of the learners, selected by the drawing of lots, were able to visit the Loughborough foundry and see the casting of their bells. During the summer the Vicar of St. Peter's went to the United States of America on a previously arranged visit and his place at Harrogate was taken by an American priest: the dedication of the new ring was perforce delayed until after the Vicar's return. As the day of dedication drew nearer excitement mounted, several ringing friends came along to help with instruction and some of the learners made their first attempts at change ringing.
Early in September the installation of the new ring was completed. I returned from a holiday at the Scarborough Cricket Festival to find the tower of St. Peter's a hive of activity. A hitherto bare ringing room was becoming presentable. excellent lighting had been installed, boxes had been made and the young ringers were able to control the bells quite well. We had several practices before the day of dedication. ringing the eight tied and the front four and the back six separately in open rounds. We deliberately refrained from ringing the full octave open until the day of dedication.

Sunday. September 22nd, was a perfect autumn day; as the Sunday morning traffic streamed by on the nearby A.61, an excited body of young ringers was assembling outside the Church. They were joined by Jackson Ewbank (veteran of the Birstwith tower), Brian Sissons (Sherburn-in-Elmet), John P. Fidler from the Loughborough Foundry, Mr. Osborne and Isobel Hart (Whixley), Arthur Bashforth (Kirkby Wiske) and myself.

The Suffragan Bishop of Knaresborough, who lives in Harrogate, arrived on foot in purple cassock and Canterbury cap. The large church was filled almost to capacity when the procession of choir and clergy entered, and we sang :All people that on earth do dwell. The Vicar (Canon R. H. Baines), an impressive figure in a fine blue and gold cape, read the first lesson, and then to the singing of 'Unchanging God who livest' we proceeded to the tower. The new band of ringers walked in pairs, John P. Fidler represented the bell founders, Arthur Bashforth and I represented the Yorkshire Association.
At the base of the tower the Bishop, at the request of the Vicar's warden, dedicated the new ring. Bill McQuiggin, as leader of the new band, tolled the seventh bell, and the Bishop handed a symbolic rope to the people's warden; prayers were offered by the Bishop, and then for the first time the full octave was heard in rounds. The waiting ringers aloft were understandably a little nervous and the wailing of fire alarms and fire engine hooters at the critical moment was somewhat disconcerting and the rounds were not quite up to expectation. Nevertheless Peter English 1, Denise Greenwood 2, Christopher Watson 3. Janice English 4. Anita Hardisty 5, David Fisher 6. Ann Fisher 7 and William McQuiggin 8. had opened a new phase in the church life of Harrogate. Waiting in reserve were Kenneth Herdson, Julian Tetlow, Edward Farrand. Pamela Wainwright and Claire Greenwood, all of whom joined in the ringing after the service
Matins proceeded, the ringers refurned to the nave and in due course the choir sang The Bell Anthem. The sermon was a homely discourse given by the Rt. Rev. H. H. V . de Candole, suffragan to the Bishop of Ripon. He recalled occasions when he had been moved by the sound of bells rung in the traditional English style and suggested that the bells might sometimes be rung for public baptisms and to give a message of encouragement to Christian worshippers going out from their devotion into a world where Christian standards are not fully accepted The bells were rung as the congregation left the church.
With a tenor of $12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in the key of F sharp, this ring of bells from the Loughborough Foundry is well-nigh perfect in go and tone. The treble is the gift of the Vicar of St. Peter's. in commemoration of his ordination, and bears an inscription to the effect. The remaining seven bells have been provided by the subscriptions of the people of St. Peter's

P.C.C. INVITET,

On the Friday evening after the dedication members of the P.C.C. and others from St. Peter's congregation accepted an invitation to visit the belfry and to see and hear a demonstration of change ringing. The president of the Yorkshire Association, the Ven. C. O Ellison, honoured us with his presence. both in the ringing room and afterwards in St. Peter's House. Short touches were rung for just over an hour and it was my privilege to call the first touch. Grandsire Triples, on the bells. Afterwards in St. Peter's House refreshments, generously provided by the ringers and their families, were served 10 a very happy company of church people.
Considerable interest was taken in a display of ringing literature, which we had arranged. This included a first edition of Shipway, a century old record book of ringing for special occasions at Ripon Cathedral, Central Council publications and, of course, copies of The Ringing World.'
I became the delighted recipient of a fine framed water colour, given to me as a thank-offering for instruction given to those who began their ringing career as my pupils, and who, I hope, will long continue to ring with me as valued friends. The water colour, by Percy Monkmann, depicts in fresh and unusual tints a group of rather gaunt farm buildings in the moorland Bronte country. We had some speeches, we had a bellringer's cake, we had some handbell ringing, but above all we had good company and good fellowship.
Inspired by the homely sermon of the Bishop of Knaresborough, I have ventured to write the following verses.

ST. PETER'S BELLS

Ring out this gay September morn
The gospel news, St. Peter's bells.
Speak out to those, who live within
This town made famous by its wells.
Speak out as silver trumpets spoke
To those who sought a promised land.
Bidding them pray to God, who gives The guidance of a father's hand.

Sing out in nineteen-sixty-three
Your long awaited first, gay song,
To those who live in careless ease.
Who have no place for right or wrong.
To those who come and stay awhile
To eat and drink, then go away.
To tiose, the faithful few. who meet
Here with the،r God and to him pray.
Tell these good folk to lift their hearts. To go forth in their Master's name. And in their steadfast daily lives The hope eternal still proclaim.

Go live in hope. go live by faith,
Knowing the love which conquers hate
This is the song which surges from
The vaices of St. Peter's eight.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Ringing was not possible during the afternoon at the quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District at St. Mary's, Alverstifie. on October 5th. because of a late wedding and a broken rope. The Vicar, the Rev. W. Rees. officiated at the service, and tea was served by the ladies in Brodrick Hall.

New ringing members elected at the meeting were Mr. Brown and Miss Simms (Catherington) and Mr. P. Page (Titchfield): compounding member Miss Pamela Gough (Guildford); associate member the Rev. W. Rees.

At the two by-meetings. Alverstoke. November 9 th, and Stedfield, December 14 th . each from 6 till 9 p.m., it was decided to devote the first two hours solely to the instruction of learners and the last hour to Surprise ringing only (Cambridge. Yorkshire and Superative).
Methods rung during the evening war* Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob. Double Norwich. Kent T.B. and Cambridge.
Next quarterly meeting: Titchfield. April

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

There was not a very good attendance at Barkway, on October 5th. probably due to the difficulty of getting there, as much as the wet weather. One member declined an invitation to stand in a peal attempt so that he would not miss the meeting.
Canon Webb-Brown conducted the service, and was chairman for the business meeting after tea at the Tally Ho! Two new members were elected-Messrs. E. Ward, of Sandon, and A. Hoare, of Barkway. As Hitchin bells are not likely to be ready in time for the A.D.M.. Bildock was chosen instead. The meeting closed with the members' good wishes to the Canon, on his retirement.
Plans are going ahead for the transfer of wo of Wyddial's bells to Albury. J. S.

WAY OUT WEST WITH ESSEX MEN

SATURDAY, June 15 th, had been a bright, sunny morning for several hours, when at 7.30 a.m. the fawn Zephyr of Pat Saltmarsh slipped unnoticed down Danbury hill on the first leg of its journey to the west. Leaving Peter Eves to gather his passengers together in Chelmsford. we made our way to Harrow, where John Mayne and Andrew Hudson were waiting to complete the party.

With plenty of time in hand we crossed he border into Somerset, where we were soob greeted by a familiar sound coming from the tower of Norton St. Philip. Temptation proved too much, brakes were applied and nine ringers all eager for another 'line in Dove' strode towards the church. The visiting coach party kindly invited us to join them in their ringing. We arrived at Chewton Mendip ahead of schedule, but the famous octave were soon into changes and eight spliced came round without mishap just before 7 p.m. A few miles brought us to Wells and dinner at 'The Swan,' before passing through Glastonbury and Bridgwater to Crowcombe Court. where we stayed the first night, surrounded by the ornamental extravagance of 18 th century England, including a tine four poster bed (curtains and all) which had been used recentiy in the film 'Tom Jones.
Sunday morning brought rain and hill mist giving us little opportunity to admire the Exmoor scenery. A stop for lunch in Bideford was followed by 'doing' some of the tourist attractions of North Cornwall, before wending our way to book in at the Brookdale Hotel, Truro. After a much appreciated meal we were joined by Tony Davidson and Alan Carveth, popular president of the Truro Diocesan Guild

A HANDBELL PRACTICE

After breakfast the next morning, residents and chambermaids alike were slightly surprised to hear the strains of handbell ringing coming from one of the bedrooms as our three tintinnologists (sic) practised for their afternoon peal attempt. Finally, we managed to drag them out and proceeded to Illogan (with its detached tower), and the handbell band was deposited at Carbis Bay, where they rang a very creditable peal in nine Surprise Minor methods, while the remaining five went to Zennor (6), and then spent a rather wet afternoon in Penzance. Returning to Carbis Bay we joined forces again and, with the assistance of Alan Carveth and the Rev. A. S. Roberts, rang a peal of Pudsey Royal on these very light but musical ten. Perhaps if we had rung Cambridge there would have been fewer mistakes.
Tuesday saw us in the china clay district. where, after ringing at St. Enoder, we crossed the Hensbarrow Downs to St. Dennis and Roche (two eights surrounded by the conical mounds of kaolin. waste and set in a bleak and windswept landscape). After lunch in St. Austell and a ring on the majestic eight, with its 75 ft . of rope, we returned to Probus, where a good peal of Bristol was even appreciated by the local villagers.

UNSUCCESSFUL DAY

A wet and rather unsuccessful day pretty well sums up Wednesday, when quick dashes from car to church gave us rings at St. Budock. Wendron and Crowan, a poor lunch at a good price in Helston, a delay in getting the key at Cury, and the backing of one car into another at St. Antony. After all this it was hardly conceivable that we would ring the peal. After a false start and the splicing of a rope we eventually got under way and six spliced look 'in the bag' until half way, when a slight muddle cleared itself with two bells over. As we came outside it was still raining and the beautiful setting of this tiny village, at the estuary of the Helford River, received few admiring glances. Our run of bad luck ended, however, with a sumptuous farmhouse type cream tea, which soon dispelled any gloom. Later in the evening wz Were joined at the 'Norway Inn,' Perran-atWorthal, by Alan Carveth and the Rev. J. Jose, where the handbell section entertained in customary style.

With cases packed we left Truro on Thursday morning and made our way eastward, first to Lanivet and then, to Lanhydrock, where the church is surrounded by extensive parklands. After lunch in Camelford, we pursued our journed to Stratton, where we were to spend the next two nights in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stacey. A hurried start was made to the ringing due to local practice night, but this had no adverse cffect and a good peal of London, the first of Surprise on the nells, was rung. Ringers' wives usually know what is required after a peal and Mrs. Stacey is no exception. We all piled into Philip's house to partake of a large and much apprectated dinner. The evening was spent at the Stratton practice and Bridgerule. where the local ringers joincd us in Stedman and Double Norwich.

The pleasant eight of St. Stephen's-byLaunceston was followed on Friday morning by a delay at Tavistock, where, as everyone seemed to have forgotten about our visit, we took an early lunch while arrangements were made to procure the key. At Calstock the Vicar joined us in the ringing, and we then procceded to St. Germans, where eight spliced failed after about 50 minutes.
Goodbyes all round on Saturday morning and we set off through the Devon lanes to Chittlehampton. Stops were made at Woody Bay and Lee Bay to admire the scenery en route to Lynton and lunch. At Minchead we were met by Mr. Middleton, who had kindly agreed to stand in our attempt for Stedman Caters, but just under the hour the peal was abruptly terminated by a miscall. In glorious sunshine the evening was spent on Exmoor, with Crowcombe Court again for the last night.

We extend our thanks to all who helped in making the tour a success, and particularly our Cornish friends; to Peter and Pat for undertaking the task of negotiating the highways and byways of Western England, and finally a special thanks to Pat for his splendid organisation.

CENTRAL COUNCIL AND COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

In its summer bulletin, 1963, the College of Campanology refers to its relations with the Central Council in the following terms

In view of a mistaken impression sometime noted about the college and its relations to the Central Council, it is thought to be only fair and right to affirm that the college, from its foundation and in accordance with specific provisions in its constitution, has always supported the Council's authority and adhered to the ". Rules and Decisions of Central Council," as originally promulgated and since amended from time to time. So, too, has the college always been ready to seek affiliation, as and when its record of achievement should indicate this desirability. its numerical qualification having been attained within a year or two of its foundation.

A statement in Council, to the effect that while it would endorse certain schemes of tuition or courses in ringing yet it would not "run" or organise such courses, secmed to the collcge authorities to create the opportune situation in which to apply for affiliation. especially as the educative side of ringing had been proved to need proper development.

- At an ensuing Council meeting however, the committec whose province was Sunday service ringing. put forward the proposal that its title should be expanded to indicate that it would also function educationally. A little later a ringing course was reported as having heen planned or worked in part by some members of this committce. In these circumstances the college has. for the present, deferred its intended application for affiliation; but it continues loyally to support the Central Ccuncil.

Monmouth Branch

Tredunnoc, in the lovely valley of the Usk, and shadowed by the shoulder of Chepstow Hill, is a peaceful village, seemingly untouched by time and the rush of modern life. And on that sunny afternoon of October 12th, it was indeed a delightful place to be, surrounded by woodland and hedgerow ablaze with autumn colour. The tiny church, too was aglow with decorations for harvest, and the Rector, the Rev. Albert James, eagerly welcomed the ringers and encouraged them to enjoy the six Tredunnoc bells.

The short service delighted the Rector, who had never seen his church so full of young pcople and with a goodly crowd standing at the back! He asked for, and got, a most hearty rendering of that rousing Welsh hymn tune, Bleanwern. In his welcome, the Rector pand tribute to the endeavour of Mr. Geoffrey Marchant. who had got Tredunnoc bells into a ringahle condition. The Rev. Ivor Richards read the lesson.
Tea followed, served by Mrs. James and her helpers in a nearby converted stable and these kind ladies were thanked by the Rev. R. E. L. Jones. At a short meeting members stood in silence to remember Mr. L. H. Jones, of Monmouth.

The Rev. Roy Hallett thanked the Rector tor his wonderful welcome to Tredunnoc, and complimented him on his courage in having the "go ' of the bells improved by local effort.

SURREY AND KENT JOINT MEETING

Saturday, October 12th, saw the annual joint meeting of the Northern District of the Surrey Association and the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association, at St. Mary's. Rotherhithe. The choice of this church proved to be not an unhappy one, as many of the 30 ringers present had never rung on these belly. They are a typical early 19 th century Whitechapel eight, a bit heavy for their key ( 18 cwt . in F ), but not unpleasant or too strident in tone. The neglected condition of the belfry left a little to be desired.
We were, at the outset, made most welcome by the Rural Dean, Rev. Eric Walker, who later conducted the Surrey Association form of service (the Rectory of St. Mary's being vacant until the induction of the new Rector in December). The Rural Dean brought a clergyman friend to play the organ, which is of considerable historic interest, as a rare example of its type nowadays. So much so that in 1959 it was completely restored to its original 'tracker-action' construction at the cost of the Pilgrim Trust.
The ringing done ranged from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise Major and was of a standard that reflected considerable credit on all. considering the erratic 'go' of the bells. The ropes 'put up' a poor performance, as we had three 'breaks.' The bells were eventually lowered at $8.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and the ropes left intact after necessary splicing and refitting by Mr. Ian Oram and others.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

The first striking competition of the Suffolk Guild took place on August 31st at Bredfield, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lufkin as judges. The system of marking allowed for 100 points and deductions were made accordingly. Results:
 Lester's, $90 ; 3$
Alythe's, $82 ; 5$ L. W. Pipe's, $83 ;{ }^{4}$ J. Wright's $59 ; 6$ Miss 5 Goodship's. 33. The shield, presented by Mr. M. Mitson, was awarded to the winners. and in the ringing which followed, the first touch was 240 Cambridge Surprise by the six conductors of the afternoon. Local ladies served a wonderful tea in the Village Hall to a company of over 50 .

ERIC SPEAKE'S PARTY TOUR  IRELAND

A LONG-FELT wish of many of our party to visit Ireland and, if possible, ring on all the ringable bells was met when Eric Speake offered to arrange such a tour. His suggestion was accepted with enthusiasm by a party numbering 17, comprising a dozen from South Staffordshire, four from Lancashire and one from Kent.
The majority travelled on the 2.15 p.m. Holyhead-Dun Laoghaire, sailing on July 27 th , and after a calm crossing arrived on Irish soil to find their hired minibus awaiting them. A swift journey was needed to reach Belfast, where we were to stay the night, and this was accomplished safely, but not until 11.30 p.m., to be grected by our Lancashirz friends, who had flown over earlier.

GENEROUS HOSPITALITY

Service ringing at the Belfast towers on Sunday, July 28 th, was shared with the Raving, Ringers and commenced on St. Stedman Triples, in which the local captain joined. In the afternoon a drive along the north side of the Belfast Lough brought us to Carrickfergus, with its busy little harbour and impressive castle. Though much-restored, St. Nicholas' Church dates from the 12 th century and contains many interesting features. The original detached campanile of 1922 had to be demolished in 1960, as it was dangerous, A new tower. built as a war memorial houses a first class octave (tenor $13 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.), which were usefully employed for an hour in methods up to Bristol. To conclude our visit we were entertained to tea in the Church Hall, a gesture much appreciated.
Back in Belfast. we rejoined the Raving Ringers at St. Mark's. Dundela (a merry, light ten), and St. Donard's Bloomfield, to ring for evening service. Later in the evening we visited Lurgan (a heavy octave which hangs high in the tower, with a tall spire above, and hence plenty of effort is needed to control the bells). Nevertheless, a good course of the bells). Nevertheless, a good course of Superlative was achieved. At the end of our - lower in peal the rope of the second broke; Jeffrey Webb, however. set to and made an excellent splice, and later we were greeted by tables groaning with food in th parish's recently built hall. In addition each ringer was presented with a booklet on the history of th bells and an Irish linen cloth depicting the church. Eric Speake acknowledged our gratitude.
Next morning started with a 20 -mile journey to Ballymena (a pleasant Mears octave). The tour had been planned to allow a reasonable amount of time for seeing the country as well as ringing, and this day we drove through beautiful Glenarift to Cushendall, and while some had a bathe in Red Bay others continued over Torr Head, with glorious views from the top, and then all the party made for the Giant's Causeway. Returning inland. we came to St. Patrick's, Coleraine, where the bells ( $8,20+$ cwt.) hang just below the wide open louvres: methods up to London here and some call changes and Stedman Triples for local ringers. Our first Cathedral visited was St. Columb: Londonderry, which overlooks the city. A fine Gillett ten (tenor 32 cwt.) hangs in the tower as well as two semitones to provide an octave. with the ninth as tenor, and these were utilised to enable the local captain to ring some Bob Major. The ten were heard in methods up to Stedman Caters and Cambridge Royal.

WONDERFUL SCENERY

The only tower on Tuesday was Enniskillen at 2 p.m., which permitted a late breakfast and a leisurely ride past Lough Erne. The Dean's Vicar and several local ringers met us at St. Macartan's Cathedral: the lowceilinged ringing room is immediately beneath the bells, which makes handling rather awkward. and it takes a little while to get used to this ten (tenor $20 \frac{1}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$.), which sound well. In order that we could see something of Western Ireland. our hotel for the night was at Westport, Co. Mayo, and an interesting drive along the Sligo coast brought us to our objective.

We had enjoyed fine weather so far, but on venturing further south the skies became overcast, but, nevertheless, we were able to admire the fiord-like Killary Harbour, the rugged magnificence of Connemara and the renowned Galway Bay. Continuing on, we eventually reached Limerick, and, having located the Church of Mount St. Alphonsus, we ascended the tower to find a grand Taylor ten, which inspired us to ring a good course of Yorkshire Royal. Crossing to the other side of the city, we came to St. Mary's Cathedral, which was founded in 1172 and contains many interesting monuments. The anticlockwise. 24 cwt. eight, which are rather odd-struck, will. providing they are not rung too slowly, produce good music.
The next morning was spent exploring the county of Cork, including seeing a little of the beautiful coast in the south-west. In the afternoon we visited Ballymodan (an verage ring of six, on which we rang London and Double Court). Proceeding east wards we came to Cork. and heard the well known chime at St. Ann's, Shandon, and visited St. Mary Magdalene's Cathedral, which badly needs a thorough restoration-whether the tower would be repaired sufficiently to enable the bells to be rung remains to bo seen. At the south side of the city stands St . Finbarre's Cathedral, an imposing French Gothic building, with a majestic eight (tenor $27 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt.). Mr. Fred Bogan, the president of the Irish Association, and the local ringers welcomed us and we were loath to leave such a grand ring

RESTORATION AT THURLES?

Friday, August 2nd, saw several of the party finding if it was, in fact, a long way to Tipperary, on the way to Thurles Cathedral. an interesting building modelled on Pisa Cathedral. The tower-keeper, Mr. William Ryan, showed us the bells, by Murphy of Dublin, which have not been swung for many years. The minibus party went, by way of the Knockmealdown Mountains, to Cobh in an unsuccessful attempt to inspect the carillon : the car-borne members climbed the Rock of Cashel. descended into the depths of the Mitcheltown caves. and also visited the Cistercian monastery of Mount Mellory. We were reunited at Doneraile to ring the pleasant six there in a small tower with little ventilation.
The programme for Saturday was fairly tight, commencing at Waterford Cathedral. where the tower sway is considerable, but good striking can be obtained, and methods up to Pudsey were scored. Although no reply had been received from Wexford, the priest-in-charge gladly gave permission for us to try the bells. Before doing so, we had to fit ropes to the third and fourth, and also rethread the ropes of the sixth and seventh whose stays had been broken: we were then able to enjoy a short ring on this excellent $31 f$ cwt. Gillett ten. At Arklow. where a grand Taylor eight may he heard. we managad a touch of six Spliced Surprise
Three nights were spent at the small seaside resort of Greystones.
All our ringing on Sunday, August 4th. was in Dublin's fair city. commencing at St Patrick's with good Grandsire Cinques, which was recorded by one of the local ringers. A short walk brought us to the oblong tower of St. Augustine and St. John's, where the open spiral staircase was ascended safely. Ringing here was restricted to half-an-hour before the 12.15 Mass. After lunch we rang for the 3.30 Evensong at Christ Church Diocesan Cathedral (10. $39 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). where Murphy's odd-struck bells are again predominant. However. we succeeded in ringing a good touch of Erin Caters; later we dwere privileged to meet the Dean. A pienic tea was taken on the Hill of Howth, a nearby beauty spot overlooking Dublin Bay. Ringing for evening service was it St. George's Church. where we produced methods up to London

BAD LUCK AT BRAY

At our first two towers next morning one bell was out of use. A short ride from our hotel brought us to Bray, where the tenor clapper was missing, and also there was no light in the tower as the entire church was being rewired. Several Minor methods were rung on the middle six. and a touch of Stedman Triples with the tenor chimed. We were delighted to make the acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. Dukes and family here, and to express our thanks for their hard work in arranging all the towers. An impressive drive over the Wicklow Mountains followed, which took us to Blessington (with an anti-clockwise six). The fifth had only half a wheel, so could not be rung; the wheel on the third had two fillet-holes, and the rope had been passed through the wrong one : the treble's stay was cracked, and the tenor could only be kept up by extreme physical effort-otherwise a fair ring! A long journey was needed from here to Kilkenny, where a 22 cwt. octave hangs in the 'tower' of St. Canice's Cathedral. The back six are by a founder called Curtis, and two trebles have been added and the others rehung by Mears.

RUDHALL BELES OF DROGHEDA
On Tuesday. we were off north again, to Drogheda, the Dukes' home tower, a pleasani Rudhall octave. No difficulty was encountered re-entering Northern Ireland, and we were well on time at Rostrevor ( $6,13 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), where a large variety of Minor methods up to Norwich and Durham Surprise were brought round. Our programme then allowed plenty of time around and over the Mountains of Mourne. A cruciform church. standing in park-like ground is to be found at Hillsborough; the bells are rather quiet. but go well, and our first course of Wembley was successfully rung. Afterwards we were the guests of the local ringers to refreshments in their hall. for which we were very thankful. Agaín a brişk schedule on our final morning. commencing at Holywood, where John Dunwoody made us welcome, shortly followed by the fine Taylor octave at St. Comgall's. Bangor. The last tower contained a good six at Ballylesson, and here a couple of local ringers oined in some Grandsire Doubles. This was the parting of the ways, and while a few had spare time till their flight home the rest were oft south for the $7 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. sailing to Holyhead.
This account would be incomplete without a sincere word of appreciation to Fred Dukes. who arranged all the towers, and Eric Speake. who arranged the accommodation and transport. We also thank clergy and local ringers who made us so welcome to the Emerald Isle.

NORTH-WEST SUFFOLK DINNER

The N.W. Suffolk ringers held their annual dinner at Bury St. Edmunds on October 12th Ringers first met in the belfry of St. Mary's Church and enjoyed a variety of methods, before going on to the Masonic Hall for the dinner.
Mr. L. E. Last, of the Central District of the Suffolk Guild. took the chair, and. with a number of amusing tales. welcomed the guests. The toast to 'The Suffolk Guild' was proposed by Mr. Frank Lufkin. of the Essex Association. who spoke of his long association with the Suffolk Guild. and of his pleasure in judging the recent striking contest. Mr. George Pipe. of Ipswich. replied and said his great affection for Suffolk had not diminished during his travels in Australia. He also mentioned the lengths ringers went to visit new belfries in Australia.
Mr. Last proposed the toast to 'The Visitors.' and the Provost of Bury St. Edmunds. the Very Rev. J. A. H. Waddington, replied. He voiced his appreciation to the ringers of Bury, for their services at both the norman Tower and St. Mary's.
The highlight of the evening was the handbell ringing of Mr. Howard Egglestone, a Henley. Suffolk, ringer, and his two friends Their programme contained popular tunes. old tunes, classic and modern, and all marvelled at their skill. and thoroughly enjoyed their programme. Miss C. Perrett sang two solos, Mr Last organised a tower quiz and Mr. George Pipe showed some most interesting slides of various countries he had visited during the last few years. Miss June Wright. a Rougham ringer, was the pianist.
Mr. Cyril Grange voiced the thanks of the audience to both the artistes and organisers, particularly to Mr. L. Wright.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Local ringers provided a free tea for the Farnham District meeting at Farnborough on September 28th, when a good standard of ringing preceded the service. conducted by the curate. in the unavoidable absence of the Rector.

The Guild Master. Mr. D. A. R. May, presided at the business meeting. when there was some discussion about Guild and District Surprise practices. Further ringing followed until 8.4 j p.m. $\quad$ A. D. E.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Grandsire Doubles is much simpler when the treble orily goes to 5ths instead of 8ths place! -comment by a learner at a recent practice.
All Saints' Church. Rotherham, has a promising recruit in Miss Tessa Hollis, 13-year-old daughter of the Vicar, who has just rung her first quarter of Plain Bob Major.
Miss Freda Cannon is still captain of the ringers at St. Alfege's Church, Greenwich. a post she has held with distinction for several years. She is also a representative of the Lewisham District on the K.C.A. committee
One hundred and fifty years ag6 (October 12th. 1813) the Ancient Society of College Youths rang Holt's Original at East Grinstead. To the day the Society repeated the peal, the only difference being that in 1813 two men were needed to ring the tenor of 23 cwt .2 qr .25 lb .
The peal of London Surprise rung at Halstead in memoriam Lewis W. Wiffen was a peal worthy of all that Lewis stood for in his long ringing career. It was fitting that Phil Corby should have conducted it, as Lewie conducted Phil's early Surprise peals in Essex. The peal was nearly wrecked by a broken tenor rope, after only 35 minutes' ringing. A fresh start was made after Harry Millatt expertly spliced the rope.
The peal of Grandsire Triples at Liss, Hampshire, rung for the silver jubilee of the installation of the bells in the new tower, was the 20th on these beils. They were given by an anonymous donor and dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Portsmouth on July 1st, 1938. The peal was arranged by Mr. Alan Betsworth to include the surviving six of eight ringers who were present at the opening of the bells, but eventually H . Gauntlett and $\mathbf{C}$. Bassett were the only two able to take part. Alan Betsworth himself was unfortunately prevented by the death of his father on the previous day: Keith Sansom kindly stood in at short notice to replace him. The band were welcomed by the Rev. Norman Barnett. Rector, and afterwards were kindly entertained to tea by Mrs. R. May. tower secretary.

Mr. Thomas J. Brock, Ringing Misier at Kessingland. Suffolk was a member land. Suftolk was a member BELFRY of the local band when they atterinted a peal in 17 Doubles methods early in . $\zeta 38$. With only two mechods to g.o someonz Jown below inadvertently switched off the ringing chamber light and the peal was lost. After the war Mr. Brock did little active ringing until the bells were restored in 1960 . Since then, with members and friends of his present iccal company, he has scored his first and many other peals. On September 7th at Theberton the band finally settled the debt of a quarter of a century with a similar 17 method peal.

The peal rung at Churchill, Somerset, on September 14th (page 668) was rung in memoriam E. J. Avery.

The method rung to a peal at Willesden on September 19th was Datchett, and not as printed on page 667.

Mr. George Chambers, of Creswell, Derbys, is making good progress in Chesterfield Royal Hospital, after his operation for ulcers and hopes to be out very soon.

The band who rang the farewell peal to the Bishop of Southwell on October 5th, would like the names of Mr. George E. Foster and Mr. Lewis W. Henstock to be associated with the peal.

Mr. A. W. Fry, head ringer at Leeds, near Maidstone, had the pleasure of steering five of his pupils through their first quarter on October 13th. This is believed to be the first quarter on the bells this century.

On seeing the inscription ' United we stand. divided we fall,' on a window frame in a belfry, a visiting ringer was heard to remark, - I suppose that means they don't lower in peal.'
Behind the quarter of Minor at Godmanchester is a five years' struggle, when Mr. A. J. Davey reports that they started from scratch five years ago and lost quite a few members on the way. which meant starting all over again. "We finally made it. and. humble as it is, we're quite proud of it.' Now for Major!

Mr. & Mrs. R. F. Diserens, now living in Sussex, made a return visit to St. Mary's, GOSSIP Reading, to ring a peal of Spliced Surprise
Major in eight methods with the local band. Major in eight methods with the local band.
The peal at Holbeck R.C. Church, Leeds (page 683), was rung on the day of Cardinal Heenan's enthronement, September 24th.

The ringer of the sixth in the peal of Grandsıre Triples at Ruardean. Glos, on September 22nd, was Leslie Barry and not L. Parry.

Ten Dereks assembled at Duffield, Derbyshire, on October 5th and rang a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal to the memory of Derek Ogden. It was conducted by Dr. D. E. Sibson, and two of the band were ringing their first peal on 10 bells.

Mr. D. R. Baxter, of Grantham, reports on the four at Corby Glen, where he conducted a quarter on September 29th, that they found them quite reasonable, although bad slider adjustment made the treble and second very difficult to handle. They are anti-clockwise, with tenor approximately $12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.
On October 5th. Pritchard's peal of Bob Major was attempted at Ross-on-Wye as a wedding compliment to Miss Mollie Tilbury and the Rev. J. Toy. Unfortunately a shift occurred near the end of the peal and a bob was called to bring the bells round after 3 hours 10 minutes' good ringing. This was also an unsuccessful attempt for J. J. Webb to 'complete the circle,' having previously rung the same bell for just over 3 hours to Stedman Triples. Better luck next time.
Ringing in the quarter peal at Christ Church, Aughton, Lancs, in honour of the 86 th birthday of Mr. James Marsh, was his friend. Mr. William Rimmer. They have rung together at Aughton for 67 years, but Mr. Marsh was ringing there four years before and joined the Lancashire Association in 1894. His peal total is 101. Unfortunately his birthday was spent in hospital and he would be pleased to hear from old acquaintances, at No. 1 Ward, County Hospital, Ormskirk. A recording was made of the quarter peal.

MID-WALES RINGING OUTING

Cardigan, Pembroke. Tenby and Llanbadarn Fawr ringers travelled to mid-Wales for the annual outing last July.
The coach left Cardigan at 8 a.m. and travelled along the coast road to Aberystwyth, where we were joined by the Llandabarn ringers. Another pleasant run over, the Cambrian mountains to Llanidloes, and our first tower. Soon the pleasant six were being rung to Plain Bob Minor and various Doubles methods. Next came the six at Newtown, where we found the ringing chamber rather cramped and our Oxford Treble Bob wouldn't come round.
After the lunchcon interval came Montgomery (another enjoyable six). The sally of the fifth was so low that it could only be rung comfortably by sitting on a bench, and many were curious as to the age and size of the regular ringer. Mrs. Phil Rogers had her cine camera with her and it is hoped to show the film of the outing and other ringing activities at the annual dinner.
It was only a short run to Berriew, where we were pleasantly surprised to find that it was now an eight bell tower. and our first touch of Grandsire Triples was rung. As we had planned to ring Cambridge Surprise Minor here, we did so on the back six. This was one of the best towers of the day and we were most impressed with the duty roster ' of ringers pinned up with almost thirty names on it!
Now came the most ambitious part of the outing, a run across the foot of the Snowdonia National Park to Barmouth, a distance of almost 60 miles. Perhaps we were too ambitious because we failed to ring at Machynlleth on the way home, being so much behind schedule.
After a late tea we made our way to Barmouth Church, which is most unusually sited, right against the cliff face and the echo of the bells is almost overpowering. However, they were a delightful eight to ring and were soon tapping away to Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob Major and rounds. We were grateful to the curate and his wife for cutting short their holiday to ring with us.
We left for home about 8 p.m., making a short stop at Machynlleth to cater for the thirsty ones, and arrived back in Cardigan at midnight. We would like to thank all incumbents and tower captains, and Bob Pateman for the arrangements.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual meeting of the Marlborough Branch took place on September 28th and, heing blessed with fine weather, was a great success. Well organised by Mr. T. A. Palmer and ably assisted by Mr. George Newman, two motor coaches picked up a party of nearly 50 over this widely-scattered district and assembled at Chisledon at 8.45 a.m.
The destination was Worcester and its surrounding area, and the early morning drive through the Cotswold scenery was enjoyed by everyone. Childs Wickham was reached slightly behind schedule. Most of the company had a pull on this nice-toned six before leaving for Hinton-on-the-Green. Here we were met by Mrs. J. Thomas, who joined in a touch of Grandsire Triples. The fairly long draugh: and two very light trebles were not conducive to particularly good striking, however, although all enjoyed this tuneful octave and admired the immaculately-kept ringing chamber.
Pershore was the next stop and after a packed lunch a visit was paid to the Abbey. Here the writer must confess that the dizzy height of the ringing 'cage" defeated him, but thase who did ring were full of praise for the heavy eight with its 28 -cwt. tenor. At Upton Snodsbury good touches of Bob Minor and Stedman were accomplished.

Worcester was reached at 4.30, where the whole party sat down to a previously-ordered high tea. Leaving at $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., the last tower of the day. Kempsey, was reached very quicklv and here, on this beautiful easy-going six, some of the best ringing of the day took place.
Home was reached just before 11 p.m. after memorable day.

N. and E.. District

Although the weather was indicative of what the summer days should have been, it did not induce a large attendance at the mecting of the N . and E . District on October 12th at Clerkenwell and Holborn. Unfortunately the wheel of the 7th at the former tower was damaged a few days previously and ringing was therefore cancelled. At the suggestion of the Vicar, however, who met those attending. a course of Cambridge Minor with the third and seventh missing was rung.

The Rev. Roy Deasy, Vicar of St. Andrew's -in days gone by the ancient Parish Church of Holborn and now a Guild church of the Diocese of London-conducted a short service. and welcomed the Association to the City.
The Vicar generously offered the hospitality of his vicarage and supplied tea and biscuits to the smail number of members and friends present. and also permitted the business meeting to be held there. At this. Mr. J D. Hibbert. of Chorley Wood. was elected as a non-resident life member, and Mr. John Weaver, from Pontefract, as a ringing member. Votes of thanks were expressed by Mr. H. G. Hart, chairman.

The attendance at the evening ringing improved somewhat and visitors from Waltham Abbey, Croydon, Liverpool Cathedral. Bedford and Bletchley joined the company and ringing was enjoyed in a variety of methods.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Prebendary Andriews, president of the Guild, made the long journey from Chittlehampion to be present at the S.W. Branch's meeting at Buckland Monachorum on September 28th. There was some good ringing on the eight bells of Grandsire. Stedman. Plain Bob Major and Kent under the direction of Mr. T. G. Myers.
An excellent tea was provided by wives and friends of local ringers. At the business meeting Miss A. Read of Galmoton, was elected & member and the belfry election of Mr. Nelson was confirmed. Capt. Read and his daughter were presented with their Guild certificales by the orresident.
The Vicar (the Rev. R. C. Luckraft) and the organist were thanked, as well as the ladies, for an enjoyable efternoon.

OUTINGS

CORSTON, SOMERSET

Corston ringers, accompanied by friends from various towers, had a half-day friends in the Sedgemoor area on September 28 th . We were pleased to have with us the Rev. Rev. Fry, and for a part of the time the Rev, C. J. B Marshall, Vicar of Long Sutton Tix), where one or two Moorlinch (a pleasant six), where one or two low sallies caused considerable embarrassment to several of the party. Middlezoy (a slightly lighter six. but with a rather heavy-going tenor) came next, A death prevented us ringing at Othery, Permission was sought to ring at Weston Zoyland but in the absence of the Vicar and Tower Master this was not possible. However, the church was well worth a visit with its magnificent roof and screen. the beauty of the interior being enhanced by the decorations for Harvest Thans Harvest Thanksgiving.

After a picnic tea, taken on a runway of a disused aerodrome. a move was made to Drayton, where a pleasant time was spent on the easy-going eight. Mr. T. Lock joined us in a well-struck touch of Plain Bob Major The last tower was Long Sutton, where we were made at home by the Vicar and a pleasant hour was spent. Methods during the afternoon ranged from rounds to Cambridge and London Minor.
Our thanks are doe to incumbents, those who met us and to Mr. H L. Parfrey, who made the arrangements.
L. R G T.

ST. GEORGE'S, BECKINGHAM

The bells at Walton-on-Thames proved to be better than expected when the Beckingham company rang them to methods up to Cambridge during their outing on September 21st. Chertsey's eight bells proved equally successful.

A good lunch at Guildford put us in the mood to enjoy the ten at St. Nicolas ${ }^{\text {. }}$ In spite of the effort required on the tenor, a good standard was maintained at Holy Trinity and concluded with an Herculean performance for a course of Superlative, which proved well worth while A wide range of methods up to Bristol at Shere delighted everybody, and the day was rounded off with an excellent dinner
D. G. B .

LIVERPOOL PARISH CHURCH

Leaving $P$-rhead at $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Septem ber 22nd. Liverpool Parish Church (Our Lady and St. Nicholas') ringers and friends had a very successful outing with Worcester as the objective. A pleasant hour was spent at the first stop. St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, which concluded with an almost perfect lower After a satisfying lunch at Quatford, the party moved to the beautifuil ring at Dodderhill, and the course of London which finished the ringing was voted as the best ringing of the day. Worcester was reached at 3.30 p.m. Our ringing strength was inadequate to get the test out of the melodious Cathedral bells, although Cinques. Royal and Caters were rung, with the very welcome help of the Cathedral ringers. In the meantime the nonringers had an interesting time climbing the tower looking around the beautiful Cathedral and older parts of the city. The final tower was that of All Saints, Worcester. where elbow grease was in some demand.
Having refuelled to satisfaction, the party left for home, and en route were ireated with 81 years young Lester Gray's broadest smile of the day, when the coach stopped at a place of his choosing instead of the promised milk bar.

A SUFFOLK OUTING

Mr. L. G. Brett's annual half-day trip is always popular and this year. with Cambridge as the objective. the coach was more than full. Towers visited were Ickleton. Sawston. Trumpington, and St. Andrew's and the Roman Catholic Churches at Cambridge. Ringing reached Spliced Surprise Major. but there were ilso call changes. Grandsire and Siedman Triples. Help in organisation is acknowledged to Miss K. Willers and Mr. Quinney, and thanks expressed to incumbents and those vho met the party.

THE EXTREME SOUTH

CORNWALL is a land of extremes. The county provides the most westerly and the most southerly rings of bells in the British Isles. Very appropriately, too, the extremes of the alphabet can be found, beginning at Advent (5) and ending at Zennor (6), but much more, for in between you can ring at a tower beginning with every letter of the alphabet except Q (and even this cannot be ruled out for there is an uncertain ring of three at Quethiock), U, X and Y. The county provides the only V's (St. Veep and Veryan). Students of 'Dove' will say the ' O ' is missing, but Otterham provides this with a ring of three hung in a modern frame for six. Not far over the Tamar Bridge the U and Y can soon be found. On October 12th the most westerly branch of a Diocesan Guild - the Penzance Branch of the Truro Guild-visited the most southerly tower of Landewednack, which is the parish church of The Lizard as Sennen is of the Land's End. The Autumn Festival was to celebrate the hanging of the ring of six bells 25 years ago when two of the ancient three bells were given four new companions. The ancient tenor was preserved and is now mounted outside the church. A plaque records its interest.

At this festival there were almost one hundred present. A Press photographer busied himself photographing a full group (as many as could be mustered), the Landewednack ringers (some retired and some still active who rang 25 years ago), and also the cutting of a two-tier birthday cake by the local captain, Mr. H. C. Barrett, at the tea. The age groups reached to the extremes also with Mr. W. Wood, of Gulval, who will be 88 in November, and Stephen and Jane Carveth, respectively three years and seven months.
At the service the Vicar (the Rev. E. H. Hodges) apologised that there was no organ. This had been dismantled by the organ builders the week before, but a harmonium sufficed to accompany the rousing singing of the good congregation. The preacher was the Guild's general secretary (the Rev. A. J. Vincent, Vicar of Kenwyn) and he immediately made us sit up and take notice by saying that on such occasions the clergy often took the opportunity of telling ringers what they thought of them, but he was going to reverse this and try to discover what ringers thought of the clergy. Basing his remarks on St. Paul's words, 'As ministers of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God,' our secretary soon had us all meditating on a new method, and puzzling over a diagram well worth committing to memory.
For the business meeting the Guild president. Mr. Alan Carveth, was voted to the chair in the absence of Miss Eijeen Symons, who asked that she might be relieved of this office. The branch secretary, the Rev. A. S. Roberts, was elected branch chairman, and the vacant office was filled by the election of Miss M. Christopher, of Gulval. Mr. William Wood agreed to act as auditor for one more year. A credit balance of $£ 388$ s. 8d. was reported, but it was pointed out that in view of the visit of the Central Council to the diocese next year, the branches might well be asked to help the central fund. Gulval was chosen for the Spring Festival. Ringing also took place at St. Keverne (8), Mawgan, Mullion and Wendron (6).

ALBERT CHARLES HAZELDEN

TIHE Guildford Diocesan Guild and the Exercise at large has lost a 1 devoted servant of the Church and officer of long standing by the death on October 24th of Mr. Albert Charles Hazelden of 109. Grange Road, Guildford. Although 87 years of age, until his illness about two months ago he was leading an active, industrious life in fulfilment of his various honorary posts as convener of the Biographies Committee of the Central Council and as librarian to the Guildford Guild.

It was on Queen Victoria's birthday (May 24th, 1876) that Mr. Hazelden was born at Sevenoaks; and although he left school seven weeks before his 12 th birthday, by painstaking attention in after years he made amends for these early deficiencies of education. He came to Guildford in 1900 to enter the employ of Dennis Bros.: by 1919 he was on the salaried staff and specialised in fire engines, handling large contracts from all over the world. He retired in 1944.

He learned to handle a bell at Sundridge in 1897 , but it was when his work took him to Seal Chart and he became a pupil of F. G. Newman that he progressed in change-ringing, and rang his first peal in this tower in 1900. Coming to Guildford the same year, he was welcomed by a band of enthusiasts-Jim Hunt. Alfred H. Pullen and Charles Wiltshire. With them he made history, ringing the first of London Surprise for the Winchester Guild, first of Bristol Surprise in Surrey and first of Stedman Caters by a Guildford band, and many other peals.

Last September he and Mrs. Hazelden celebrated their diamond wedding. It was after marriage that Mrs. Hazelden joined him in the belfry and ultimately, in 1913, she inaugurated the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild, becoming the first secretary. Together they rang peals in the standard methods. Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise. In 1920 they stood in the first peal on tower bells by four married couples. Later they were to be recorded as ringing together for their silver wedding and also with the same band for the 30th anniversary. In all, he rang about 200 peals

With Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, he was one of the founders of the Guildford Guild in 1927, and in 1932 when the Guild formed its library became the first and only librarian to date. In the spacious ringing chamber of St. Nicolas' Church, Guildford. he established a very good library. For years he was in charge of the tower, and was one of the best instructors in the district, travelling miles to take classes. While devoted to ringing, he had an even greater devotion to the Altar. being a Servant of the Sanctuary and hy precept and example leading a truly Christian life.

Charlie's' service to ringing was not confined to his own Guild. In 1930 he was elected to the Central Council, and had served continuously since then, attending the last meeting at Great Yarmouth. In 1939 he was placed on the Biographies Commiltee. becoming its convener after the deaths of W. A. Cave and J. S. Goldsmith. Assiduously he carried out this task, writing hundreds of letters and following up the faintest of clues in the hope of making the biographies of members of the Council as comprehensive as possible.

The requiem and burial service was held at St. Nicolas' Church on Wednesday, and cremation followed at Woking. The deepest sympathy of the Exercise is extended to his widow and niece. Miss Y. L. Eloie, secretary of the Salisbury Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

WILTSHIRE-THE PLAIN AND SOUTH OF IT-THE SMALLER RINGS OF BELLS

'WHOUGH this report contains all the threeand four-bell towers in the area (except West Dean and Swallowcliffe), some lesser known fives, two sixes and one two have been included. All the towers have been personally visited during the last two years.

It has seemed unnecessary to give a list of founders as these can all be readily found in Walters' . Church Bells of Wiltshire.' Though published in the 1920's the three parts can still be obtained from the Wiltshire Archaological Society, The Museum, Devizes, Wilts. ai the original price of 16 s. the set. The only change in the bells which follow is the treble a: Donhead St. Andrew's, recast by Mears in 1953. Of the bells described three 17th century founders. John Wallis and John Danton. of Salisbury, and John Lott, of Warminster, are represented by 21. 9 and 11 respectively. Danton's successors, the Tosiers, account for nine, the Aldbourne Foundry for seven and 15 th century bells are well represented by 10 . There is a fair smattering of Warner and Mears bells.

SIXES AND FIVES

Chute Forest (6). -This church is being restored, and not demolished as stated in ' Dove.' It is hoped to ring after restoration. but ringing is not possible at the moment. A complete Mears ring of 1871.

North Tidworth (5). -These bells were last rung 40 years ago and are in very poor state. Only the tenor was raised by the writer, the rest being out of the question.

Winterbourne Earls (5).-Fully ringable. Tone rather poor.

Ebbesbourne Wake (5).-If somebody was willing to put shrouding on the wheels these bells would be ringable. Treble and tenor added by Llewellin and James in 1884.

Tollard Royal (5). -The two trebles have been poorly squeezed into the end of an 18 frame. All the fittings are in very poor shape and unringable.

Stapleford (5).-Tower declared unsafe by architect. It is difficult to see why.

Berwick St. John (6).-The hells would be quite ringable, but the tower is horribly cracked. and the pinnacles could be pushed off by hand.

Sedgehill (5).-A pleasant ring which only needs tightening to put it good order. About 4 cwt . in D. and not 9 cwt . as in 'Dove.

West Knoyle (5).-Condemned by founders. Antiquated fittings. but they look quite safe for the occasional ring!

FOURS AND THREES

Tilshead (3).-Clocked, with the bells held a quarter up by bits of wood nailed to the stays, etc. The sanctus has half a bed leg as a clapper. Complete Bilbie ring of 1764. Orcheston St. George (4).-Fully ringable and go reasonably well.

Orcheston St. Mary (3)-A really magnificent Taylor ring of 1916, in excellent condition still. Tenor has no stay. The Vicar is touchy about giving permission to ring.

Maddington (part of Shrewton) (3).-Clocked and in last stages of decay.

Winterbourne Stoke (4).-Architect condemns tower, but the bells are in very poor shape. all swinging the same way. Probably would be just ringable. Treble 1380, and perhaps oldest bell in Wilts.

Berwick St. James (4).-In terrible condition. Broken wheels, clappers missing. Really a five, with the 4 th represented only by a headstock.

ST. GEORGE'S, ORCHESTON
Baverstock (near Dinton) (3).-All swing the same way in a rather loose frame. Ringable. however, and well worth a visit as the treble and tenor date from about 1400 .

Teffont Evias (3).-Fully ringable and in good order.

Sutton Mandeville (3).-Of excellent tone. Ringable when ropes fitted and Ellacombe hammer on tenor disentangled, despite architect's condemnation.

Donhead St. Andrew (4).-Rehung 1953. Some tightening needed. Tenor by otherwise unknown founders, Washborough Hale & Co., of Bristol, 1831

Alvediston (3).-Last rehung in 1811 by the Aldbourne foundry and still in first class order Officially condemned, hut unotficially ringable. Tenor ahout 14 cwt .

Bowerchalke (3).-Clocking apparatus fixed immovably.

Bishopstone (3).-Quite unringable, broken wheels, etc. Frame dated 1652.
Stratford Toney (3).-Architect condemns. but could just be rung. Stays are pieces of wood roped to the wheels; 17 fittings and hangings.

Odstock (3).-Badly attacked by worm, and in $t 00$ poor a condition to ring.

Nunton (3).-A new wheel on one bell would make these ringable.

Netherhampton (3).-Restored by writers, with the assistance of Taylors, and rung regularly.

Whiteparish (3) and Figheldean (3).-Towers condemned by architect.Wilsford (near Amesbury) (3).-One hell has a broken cast in staple, otherwise they might be ringable. Tenor, the only surviving bell by Thomas Warre, of Salisbury, dated 1572. The second is by the rare itinerant founder. R. Beconsall, dated 1601

Idmiston (4). -In perfect ringing order in a stable tower. The Vicar entertains unreasonable fears and is quite unringable.

ALVEDISTON CHURCH

Allington (3). -In deplorable state. The second is being chimed with only one canon intact. Nothing to stop it falling to the ground when the other breaks as the frame is poorly constructed.
Newton Toney (4).-Permission to ring not obtainable, until the decision to spend some money on them is given.

Winterbourne Gunner (2).-A fine. mediaval hell frame, with half wheels. One bell has a stay 6 ft . long, protruding from the centre of the headstock.
A. CLAYTON & N. SKELTON.

Can you imagine a more heautiful. decorative and more adorable belle than the Master s wife? -the Bishop of Guildford's prelude to his speech at the Guildford Guild dinner. Jill May acknowledged the compliment by a charming smile.

ROBIN LEALE'S PEAL TOUR OF NORTH WALES

(See page 717)
I FTER visiting Scotland last year. Mr Robin G. Leale's tour this year was in North Wales. the party assembling at Craven Arms Hotel, Craven Arms, on Friday, August 9th.

A sleepless night, due to the traffic on the main Hereford to Shrewsbury road on one side and the railway on the other, preceded an early run to Clun, where before attempting our first peal an hour was spent changing ropes. Having done this we were away to a fine start and after 2 hours 51 minutes of Yorkshire we were again in rounds. This was Keith Ward's 100th peal.

After a bite we were on our way to Bishop's Castle, where a variety of methods was rung on the good ring of six. Our next call was Church Stoke. the first tower of the tour in Wales. where Doubles methods were rung on this ground floor five. Although we were forewarned of a little refreshment at the Court House Hotel, we were amazed at the tremendous spread laid on for us by Mr. Shuker. the local captain. Our sincere thanks to him for his generous thought
A few more miles on the clock found us at Montgomery, where again our repertoire was put to good use. By now we were a little behind schedule and after a quick ring at Forden we journeyed to Leighton. Here unexpectedly met Arthur Pearson. who claimed the villagers had told him the Canon of Dorking was ringing their bells! Ringing followed at Berriew on a recent recast Taylor eight. which is certainly in keeping with the best kept village in Montgomeryshire. Mr. Cannon called a very musical touch of Stedman, in which Queens came up twice and we finished with a touch of eight soliced. We now had to travel 50 or so miles to Aberystwyth, which took us across central Wales. This journey was most enjoyable for it gave sothe idea of the country we had yet to see. Our headquarters for the next two nights was the Talbot Hotel, Aberystwyth.

PRESS-UP • COMPETITION

In the evening we had the annual press-up competition, when Mr. Cannon generously offered a penny for each press-up over twenty. Much to Mr. Cannon's dismay Robin earned himself twopence. after which it was found necessary to reconsider the situation. After a financial reshuffle it was decided that a penny over twenty-five would still be a generous offer. or so Mr. Cannon thought, and the competition continued. After one or two very courageous attempts it finally fell on Mr . Cannon. who did not hesitate to inform us that he was old enough to be the father of everyone present, to show us how it is done. and with 25 press-ups he brought a very pleasant evening to a conclusion
Sunday morning eight of the party went to ring at Llandiloes, while the remainder went to church in Aberystwyth. After a filling lunch at the hotel we were on our way to Llanbadarn Fawr, for our second attempt of the week. Here we were successful in ringing Bristol. The peal over, two car loads went to see Devil's Bridge and the waterfalls made famous by Wordsworth.
We ?eft Aberystwyth on Monday for Machynlleth. Here in a church. tvpical of slate quarry areas. we rang a peal of Pudsey. Further north to Barmouth. Through some of the most beautiful scenery in Wales. Great misfortune met us at the magnificent Parish Church, as after one and a half hour's ringing one member of the band decided to set his bell after a slight trip. No accommodation had been booked for Monday night so the two not in the Barmousth attempt made their way to Harlech. wherc suitable accommodation was found, although not all under one roof. Monday evening was spent in the games room at the St. David's Hotel, where a table tennis tournament was held. Colin taking the championship.
Up bright and early Tuesday morning and over the toll bridges crossing Afon Dwyryd and past the famous Ffestiniog railway. Portmadoc was reached at 10 a.m. and a start was made for London. Which came round

2 hours and 51 minutes later. An afternoon free from ringing saw us up to our knees on marshy ground on Glyder-fawr. However the three agile members of the party managed to climb to a height of about 2,500 feet. leaving behind last year's 'Mcuntain King.

INTO ANGLESEY

Another pleasant run took us 10 Beaumaris and the Liverpool Arms Hotel. where we were to stay for the next two nights. After a visit to Bangor's Chinese restrurant, we obtained permission to ring on Llandegai's noisy six Wednesday morning we onre again crossed the Menai Straits to ettempt a peal at St David's. Glenadda. After ringing for an unscheduled wedding we started for Lincolnshire, our fifth successful peal out of six at tempts. Back to Beaumaris for Gillian Neal Smith's 100th peal-Rutland. on extremely melodious bells. This was Mr. Cannon's first in the method "inside"; he was so delighted that he bought the most expensive meal he could find, which, although very nice, was not substantial enough for 'Tenor Kings

Leaving Anglesey. Thursday morning, we made haste for Abergele. where our stay was shortened because of lateness. On to Bodelwyddan (the marble chusch). where the bells proved a little disappointing. However touches of Bristol and spliced were brought round. Rhuddlan's turned out to be the roughest bells on the tour. Rhyl, the playground of the Midlands, was our next peal i.ttempt and Camhridge ran round after 3 hours 1 minute, with only one or two slighi trips. Much consternation was experienced during the early part of this pral when someone commenced to hammer on the bottom door. After some considerable time the bang ing stopped and the key, which was quarter turned in the lock, was heard to drop on to the floor. Naturally we all thought our days were numbered, but to our astonishment the intruder completely ignored us as he passed the belfry door on his way up to the bell chamber.
From Rhyl a most uninteresting trip was made to Flint, where ringing took place on the three tier 'handhell ring of eight. It "as pleasing to see that the local band consists of youngsters hetween the ages of eight and 16 . the majority of whom are girls. En route to Ruthin, a stop was made to look at Liverpool Cathedral tower, just visible in the distance. After booking in at the Castle Hotel, Ruthin. we rang at the Parish Church (a rather lumpy eight).
It was a fairly long trip on Friday morning to Ruabon, where a peal in seven Minor methods was rung. Spliced was to have been rung in the afternoon at Malpas, but the band decided to make up for the lost Super lative at Barmoyth. This was an average peal. certainly below our standard. due mainly to the long draught. Then on to Hodnet. one of the few octagonal towers in the country, followed by Prees (both good rings of bells). The Charlton Arms Hotel. Wellington, was our last stop, and hęre we joined another touring party of St. Paul's Cathedral Choir, Detroit, performing up and down the country.

A substantial breakfast Saturday morning prepared us for Coalbrookdale. our only tenbell attempt, which unfortunately came to grief after a short time owing to the indisposition of one of the band. A visit to Ironbridge to have our photographs taken on the first ever iron bridge, built in 1779 . preceded lunch. Broseley and Cound were visited before entering Shrewsbury to ring at St. Mary's (10) and St. Chad's one of the best rings of 12 in the country. The Vicar met us at Uppington and escorted us to his neighbouring parish of Wrockwardine. Both of these villages lic within the shadow of the Wrekin. Sunday morning we left Shropshire and travelled across country to Wolverhampton, where we had arranged to ring for morning service. and then to Birmingham
Thanks to Robin for arranging another excellent tour, although 100 per cent was not achieved this year. Thanks also to the incumbents and the local captains, who made us feel at home in their belfries

THE ART OF HANDBELL RINGING by Nancy Poore Tufts is an authoritative source of up-to-date practical directions and helpful suggestions on every aspect of handbell ringing. It gives a brief history and general description of handbells and provides full information concerning the organisation and direction of handbell groups, the techniques of ringing, how to arrange and write music for handbclls. where and how to order handbells, and how to care for them. It includes-simple instructions. sample music scores, a complete bibliography and an index

Frederick Sharpe, F.S.A.. President of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, has contributed a Foreword to the book. In his Foreword he says:

Mrs. Tufts . . . is recognised in America and England as a leading authority on tune ringing. In a clear and charming manner she admirably describes in considerable detail the intricacies of our ancient art. I know this book will meet a popular demand. confidence in recommending Mrs. Tufts book to all bell lovers.'

Washington Cathedral Test

Dear Sir,-I hope you will get a more complete report from Richard Dirksen, at the Washington Cathedral, but I wanted to inform our English friends of a wonderful 'weekend the Groton ringers just spent, ringing the new bells there.
Seven of us flew down Saturday afternoon, practised on silenced bells that evening, and rang for $2 \frac{1}{2}$ hours yesterday afternoon (October 20th). The specific purpose of the ringing was to enable acoustics experts to make tests of volume in the various Darts of Northwest Washington, as well as to measure tower vibrations with a seismograph. Much of the ringing for the tests consisted of rounds and calls on ten-with the help of Warren Sturgis and Harry Parkes. Then, for an hour and a half, with an audience of around a hundred visitors in the ringing chamber, we rang Stedman Doubles and Triples. By this time Philip Gray had arrived. It was great to see him and have his expert help. Between touches I tried to explain what change ringing was all about.

It was a great privilege to ring the bells for the first time, an historic event indeed. No. 4 is in memory of Warren Sturgis, sen., who was Groton's Ringing Master for the first 35 years.
The Cathedral already has more candidates for a Guild than it needs. They need only a Ringing Master. Since I am going off on sabbatical leave next year, that makes two towers without Ringing Masters. Teachers, take note.-Yours sincerely,

RUSSELL S. YOUNG.

First Peal in Scotland

Dear Sir. -It is often stated that 'the first peal in Scotland is the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Old Steeple, Dundee, by the College Youths on May 21st, 1873.' Has the following peal report ever been put before the Exercise this century?

From 'Bell's Life of London,' Sunday, December 4th, 1859. "The members of the St. Nicholas' Society, Aberdeen, met on Wednesday and rang a peal of 5.040 changes Plain Bob Triples deeply muffled, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Geo. Gordon, formerly a member of the Society of Bellringers. The following were the performers, viz.: Jas. Ross treble. Jas. Rivie 2, John Ross 3, Wm. Wishart 4. Alexander Bain 5. Geo. M'Donald 6, Joseph Healey 7, Aurther Robb tenor. Wt. of tenor 33 cwt . Conducted by Joseph Healey.
In reading this report, the following facts should be noted. The ring of eight bells was installed by Warners in 1858 . They were opened by the St. Peter's company of ringers. of Leeds. and they rang 1,260 Grandsire Triples, August 30th. Joseph Healey was a ringer from Wakefield. Who went to Aberdeen as an instructor to those wanting to learn change ringing. For further details see the article by David Cubitt in the 'R.W.' August 8th. 1958. and 'Bells of Aberdeenshire: Part III. by F. C. Eeles and Ranald Clouston. 'Bell's Life of London' was regularly used by peal ringers from about 1845 to the mid-1870's Jasper W. Snowdon was a contributor to this paper. Did J. A. Trollope know of this peal report? I await with interest comments and further imformation from your readers. -Yours sincerely,

Ringing and Worship

Dear Sir,-A sermon preached by the Rev. Frankland Rigby made an excellent leading article in 'The Ringing World' recently Not the least important aspect of it was that it clarified, in simple language, what constitutes a heresy. I imagine that there are many ringers like myself who have never been quite sure on this point.

The clerical members of our ringing fraternity contribute very valuable articles to 'The Ringing World' from time to time. During the coming months the general question of Reunion of Churches will be very much on our minds and in this diocese we have been asked by the Bishop to consider carefully the reunion of the Established Church and the Methodist Church in particular, so that he may 'know the mind of the diocese by the next Diocesan Conference in May; 1964.' This subject is not strictly 'Ringing,' but as church workers all ringers are directly concerned. I wonder if an article on the subject from an informed parson (or layman) could appear in our journal?
The Rev. Frankland Righy has told us that we are wrong in considering our ringing to be an act of worship, but he will concede. I am sure, that the ringing of our church bells is a call-a call to church. a call to worship, and, perhaps. a call to think of our Christian faith and its problems
It would seem that the organisers of the recent B.B.C. Telstar T.V. broadcast. on the subject of reunion, appreciated the value of our bells in this connection by introducing London to the sound of St. Paul's bells. Incidentally, was this the first bell broadcast by Telstar?-Yours faithfully,

> ARTHUR V. DAVIS.

Southbourne, Bournemouth.
Dear Sir.-The Rev. F. F. Rigby, in his sermon on the occasion of the rededication of Frampton Cotterell bells, did scant justice to that splendid feature on the front page of 'The Ringing World '- Second Best' by Edgar C. Shepherd.

The Rector was not very appreciative, neither were his arguments very convincing; he rather spoiled his feature by his narrow view and definition of Worship.

Bell ringing has, after many years become by almost everyone in the church, clergy and laity alike, an act of worship and comes well within the wide distionary meaning.
Worship, the quality of being worthy, or/and our ringing being worthy is Worship.

The act of paying divine honour to God.

- To perform a religious service.
'To take part in a religious service' (which the ringers do in the widest sense). It does not follow that because we ringbecause we like ringing-we do not also ring to the Glory of God.-Yours sincerely, Crewe.

Handbell Tune Ringing

Dear Sir, -I was interested to read in the correspondence columns of The Ringing World ' a piea for some instruction in arranging tunes for handbells.

For many years I have engaged in tune ringing. arranging all my own tunes and carols. If my services can be of any use. I would be willing to submit an article on the subject.-Yours sincerely.

Handbell Tune Ringing

Dear Sir,-As Mr. John P. Partington inquires about handbell tune ringing, below is my plan:
For over 40 years myself and family have rung tunes on handbells at concerts. socials and four times on the stage at Ipswich Hippodrome. Having 18 bells (two octaves) the first ringer holds do. te in the right hand, and lal, sol in the left, and so on down the diatonic scale, leaving the last three to be played from the table.

With four MSS. music books the tunes are written in music notation; in the first book only notes coming in the air are entered, thusG. F sharp, E and D, with rests between as required. Second ringer has C. B. A. G. Third has $F$ sharp. $E, D, C$, and fourth $B, A$, $G$ in the bass clef. Any tune not in this key has to be transposed to $G$ on the Tonic Sol-fa principle.

All notes which are an octave below the air are struck by the intermediate players, also other harmony, often five or more notes in a chord.

We play Christmas hymns and carols. also ' Blue Bells of Scotland,' 'Ring the bell. watchman.' 'Bells of St. Mary' and many other well known tunes.

Luckily we can count the number of beats in a bar according to the tune. -Yours, etc, Ipswich.

A Tutor's Reward

Dear Sir,-As I am approaching the fifty mark in pupils, my experience should interest Mr. Thomas C. Belton.

A tutor's reward is not in a pupil's letter of thanks or the publication of a teacher's name, but in the glowing pride of watching their exdert bell control and perfect striking. None of my pubils has ever complained about too long draught without guides, odd struck bells or being hung backwards.

The thrill of watching them enjoy their ringing is beyond measure. Added to this. I have the pleasure of knowing that six of my pupils hold the record of being the youngest hand from one tower to ring a peal of Minor.

My birthday was on a Saturday: would 1 ring the 7 th to a peal? The day in July was one of the hottest of the year, we took up our places and what a shock I received when the conductor called Everyone o.k? then go Superlative.' They were determined to ring one I should lemember: during the last part the treble tried one too many dodges at the back and that was the onlv mistake made. After 'Stand' was called I was too full to say 'Thank you' when the 15 -year-old conductor said. "We felt that was the best present we could give you.
But I never forget that ringing is team work, so what use is a tutor on his nwn? Others must have the patienen and will to man the other ropes, so a punil becomes the product of a tower.-Yours faithfully.

A TUTOR.

St. Peter Mancroft

Visitors to St. Peter Mancroft during the past 14 months must have noticed the forest of scaffolding which has been necessary for the complete rebuilding of the roof and the realignment of the clerestory walls and their return to the vertical. Work is now in progress at the western end and the bells must be silent for a period of about six weeks $u$ hile the ends of the concrete beams, running the entire length of the clerestory walls, are bonded into the tower with a flexible "coupling.' The total cost will be in excess of $£ 53,000$, of which $£ 35,600$ has already heen raised.

A Tutor's Satisfaction

Dear Sir.-I would like to assure Mr. Belton that I have received more than ample thanks and gratitude from the conductor of the Extent of Major both after this and after the many other notable performances in which he has taken part. This comment also applies to several other quite well known ringers. whom I was fortunate enough to guide in their early stages, including two who rang in the previous record length of 32,000 at Loughborough.

It is not easy to single out particular people as normally several ringers are concerned in producing ringers of this standard. myself was only able to teach up to Treble Bob Minor, and the credit for the further advancement of the conductor rests. and I am sure has been given, to John Worth and the other members of his well known band in Cheshire. Like me, I am sure they get great satisfaction from the activities of their former pupils.
I hope that I am not the exception, but I have received thanks in many forms from former pupils and it brings quite unexpected thrills, as. for instance, a phone call early on a Sunday morning a few years ago to be told by an excited young voice that four of them had rung in a peal of Cambridgc Maximus at Buckfast the previous day. -Yours, etc..

A WELL SATISFIED TUTOR

REDEDICATION

FRAMPTON COTTERELL, GLOS

The bells of Framptun Cotterell (six, tenor 18 cwt .), which have not been safe to ring for 40 years, have been restored and were rededicated at a service on October 5th.
The Rector (the Rev. C. H. J. Wood) describes in a souvenir brochure this very important event in the history of the church as a wonderful effort. Three gymkhanas have raised over $£ 1,000$ and this has been augmented by $£ 500$ from other efforts and subscriptions. Finally, by the interest and generosity of Benson Bros., Mr. R. Benson and Mr. R. Webley, the tower was ready for the bells when they arrived from Messrs. John Taylor of Loughborough. This saved a great expense.
The rededication was by the Rt. Rev. D. B. Hall. Rector of Tormarton, and formerly Assistant Bishop of the Niger, and the address was given by the Rev. F. F. Rigby, Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, which was reported in our issue of October 18 th .
Nine villages during the past two years have had learners to handle a bell, some at St. John's Ringing School and others by attending practices at Coalpit Heath and Westerleigh.
Under their captain, Mr. A. J. Nelmes, they rang after the dedication, others being N . Curtis. A. Drew. R. Drew, A. Curtis and R. Driver.

The original hanging of the bells appears to have been in 1627. of which only the 2nd bell remains. The treble. 4th and tenor were cast for the last rehanging in 1760 . The tenor bears the inscription, 'Let my sound move people to God,' and the fourth, which nas been recast this year, has the original contemporary inscription, ' King, Pitt and Quebec tor ever.'

Miss Meryl Purslow, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Purslow, of 14. Lichfield Road, Stone, with her hridegroom, Mr. Barric Simms, of Stone, after their recent wedding at St. Michael's Church, Stone. 1 member of a well known ringing family, Meryl rings at St. Michael's with her father and sister (Mrs.J. Bowley), and also sings in the choir. The bridegroom has been a chorister at the church for 16 years.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a full-length dress of crystal satin, with bell-shaped skirt and overtrain in same material. A short veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossom. She was attended by two bridesmaids and two page boys. The reception at St. Michael's Hall, Stone. was attended by 130 guests.

Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung previous to the service. Unfortunately the attempted peal of Stedman Triples was lost a few minutes from the end.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Rochester District

The annual meeting of the Rochester District was held on October 19th at St. George's Chapel of Unity, Gravesend. and was attended by approximately 90 members and friends. The secretary gave his report on the activities of the District during the past year. Twenty-eight peals had been rung, mostly of the Surprise calibre. Tom Sone had rung his 700th, at Hoo, and was heartily congratulated. Chris Osenton had rung his first as conductor. The accounts showed a balance of $£ 3619 \mathrm{~s}$. 1 d . Nine new members were elected, of which six were juveniles.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Christopher Osenton, of Halling. Ringing Master: Laurence Mitchell, re-elected District secretary; Messrs. Albert Dunk and Frank Cheal, re-elected District representatives on the Association General Committee. The meeting closed with hearty thanks to the ringers at Gravesend and their ladies for the wonderful tea which they provided. A return was then made to the tower for further ringing.

RINGING COURSE AT DERBY

Over 30 ringers and friends attended a oneday theoretical course on ringing, held at the Adult Education Centre, Derby, on October 19th. Mr. D. R. Carlisle started the course with a lecture on the history and organisation of ringing. After describing how ringing had developed from an entirely secular hobby into a Christian act of witness, he went on to mention present-day Associations, with particular reference to the Central Council and its founder, Sir A. P. Heywood.

The company then split up into two sections. elementary and advanced. Whilst Mr. G Halls was explaining plain hunt to the former, Mr. D. J. Marshall was speaking on the topical subject of place notation. After lunch Mr. Carlisle gave a useful lecture on the art ot good striking, which was clearly illustrated by means of various tape recordings and handbells.

The elementary course then covered the construction and method of ringing Plain Bob on all numbers of bells, whilst those in the advanced course were, learning about the classification and construction of methods Insuthient time did not permit the section to lackle the other subjects of composing and conducting.
Following tea in St. Michael's Church Hall, during which the company were joined by the Association's president, the Very Rev $\mathbf{R}, \mathbf{A}$. Beddoes, Provosi of Derby, the final lecture was given by Mr. John lidler, of the Loughborough Bell Foundry, on the maintenance and repars of bells and their fittings, Ihe great inteicst in this to all was clearly evident from the large number of questions. Ihe course concluded with a vote of thanks to the lecturers, after which handbells were put to good use for a while. M. P. P.

'R.W.' October 3lst, 1913.-

It is remarkable, and happily unique, that we should have to record in one issue the destruction of two church steeples by fire. Last week disaster overtook Leck Church, Lancashire, where among other serious danage, was the loss of two of the five bells. On Monday the ancient Church of SS. Peter and Paul, West Clandon, one of the oldest churches in Surrey, suffered in the same way, and five of its six bells were totally destroyed. In each case considerable damage was done to the fabric, and serious loss has been sustained. At Clandon, and we believe also at Leck, the fire originated in the steeple from some unknown cause, and we hope that subsequent events will not prove the outbreaks to be due to carelessness on the part of the ringers.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

To mark the centenary of the bells, a special invitation was extended to the Barnsley and District Society to meet at Wentworth. near Rotherham. on October 19th. Eleven towers иere represented with a good iurn out of young ringers. Canon $\mathbf{A}$. King was in the chair for the short business meeting, when ive new members were elected from Wentworth. Mr. W. E. Critchley proposed, and Mr. H. Chant seconded, the vote of thanks, Next meeting: Conisbrough, near Rotherham, November 9th

OBITUARY

MR. HERBERT W. LIDBETTER

The Norwich Association has lost, through the death of Mr. Herbert W. Lidbetter, a most loyal supporter. Soon after his retirement to Acle he entered fully into the life of the Association, and he was a familiar figure at meetings, where his kindly manner and rich. good humour endeared him to everyone. A great welcome was accorded visitors to his tower, and his home was an 'open' one and his hospitality well known. Although not a prolific peal ringer, he celebrated for many years his birthday with a peal and took part in his last on his 85 th. He could claim to have been a ringer for 60 years.

A native of Smarden, Kent. Mr. Lidbetter spent most of his life in Middlesex, where he became a county court officer, and came to Norfolk on his retirement in 1939. He died on September 14th, within two months of his 91st birthday

On the evening of the funeral, a half-muftled peal was rung as a token of respect. Tributes included wreaths from the local band and from the Norwich Association.
Our deepest sympathy goes out to his daughters, May and Doris, in their bereavement.

DEREK OGDEN

AN APPRECIATION

On behalf of our band. I sorrowfully write this farewell tribute to Derek Ogden
During his relatively short lifetime, Derek had furthered the Exercise a considerable amount. A large part of his achievement was just that-the advancement of the general ringing fraternity in this area
He encompassed a broad spectrum and was always helpful to beginners. For instance a good number of ringers have had their first peals in the simpler methods conducted by Derek.
In the field of composition, his most original work was on Spliced Surprise Royal and Maximus. He had produced peals which epitomise three features, namely: the number of methods, the occurrence of the various possible lead-heads and the musical qualities of the course-ends. We invariably liked him o conduct these compositions himself.
Derek had also produced some compositions in new and non-standard methods when requested. His versatility was further illustrated when, a few years ago, he called a peal of Erin Triples. On handbells, he was also most competent; and he played the organ sufficiently well. as he put it, to derive same enjoyment.
Those who knew him will share our thoughts of Derek's pleasant personality. He has departed whilst still on the threshold. but we shall always cherish the memory of his friendship with us.

EAST GRINSTEAD & DISTRICT GUILD

One of the most successful East Grinstead and District Guild outings was arranged on October 12th by Mr. Stanley Jenner. A late start was unfortunately unavoidable. The first tower was Elstree (6) and, although the bells were rather noisy and not appreciated by the cafe owner opposite. we enjoyed some touches At Hemel Hempstead (8) we were made wel come, and, after ringing, enjoyed a picnic lunch and sampled the local brew until it was time to journey on to King's Langley (8).
The sun shone all day and by the time we reached Rickmansworth everyone was feeling fit enough to make the awkward ascent into the belfry and enjoy ringing on the only ring of ten bells of the day. After tea at 'The Chequers' our chairman (Mr, B. E. Jeffrey) thanked Stan for arranging the towers and ordering a sunny and dry day! He reminded members of the annual dinner on January 11 th , with a change of hotel this time. A collection was taken for the rope fund. At the last tower, Harrow Weald (8), we were met by Mr. John Mayne. We were so proud and honoured to ring a course of Surprise Major with Master Robert Fuler, of Westham. completely unaided. At 13 years, he must be our youngest member.) Darkness had fallen when we made our way across London.
M. A.L.

THE SOUTH WALES AND BRISTOL NOMADS

"HE Nomads" fifth annual ringing tou started from Bristol on July 27th, when a party of eight set out in two cars for a tour of parts of Hampshire, Oxfordshire and Berkshire. Two towers were visited on the journey down: Kintbury (a loud six) and the anti-clockwise five at Chilton Foliat, where a Salisbury Guild meeting was in progress. Tadley was our base for the week, and here we were met by our hast. the Rev. Ken Davies. Rector of Tadley, who gave us use of the Church Hall cooking and recreational facilities. After pitching our tents in the Rectory field. we visited Monk Sherborne and Bramley, where, with the help of Ken and two local ringers. Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were attempted.
Some of the party attended Holy Com munion at St. Saviour's on Sunday, and all went to Tadley Parish Church to ring the three bells, and attend morning service. The afternoon was spent at Henley, by the river and ringing for evening service
Monday was our most towers day. First was the light six at Sherfield-on-Loddon, then Rotherwick and the heavy-going five at Heckfield. After lunch we were joined by Ken at Sallowfield (an odd-struck five). The musical light six at Finchampstead came next, where with the help of a local inger, some touches of Kent and Oxford Minor were obtained Sandhurst and Arborfield were visited, before we joined Hurst ringers for their practice.

THE BAILIFF SAID 'NO
Ringing started on Tuesday at Goodworth Clatford, and then we journeyed on to Long stock. Our decision to have a picnic lunch by the river near Stockbridge was foiled by a farm bailiff, who insisted it 'just can't be done, but a new site was found. At Stockbridge our first mishap occurred, the treble rope breaking in the middle of a touch of Bob Doubles. Then on to Broughton, Lockerley and Mottisfont, where, finding the Abbey grounds closed. we obtained the Rector's permission to ring an hour early. Andover was reached in good time for a high tea, before we joined the local ringers at their weekly practice.
Wednesday was a more leisurely day, and in consequence the ringing improved. At Dummer (5) we found the tenor extremely heavy going. Traces of a very old set of ringers' rules painted on the wall plaster were an interesting find here. Micheldever. with its octagonal nave, was next and after lunch in the New Forest a visit to Beaulieu Abbey and motor museum was enjoyed. Fawley. our southernmost tower. was a very easy-going six. In the evening we visited Romsey Abbey
The following day, still in glorious sunshine. we started with two fives, at Selborne and Newton Valence, before spending the afternoon on the beach at Hayling Island. On the return journey we visited the lovely Taylor six at Catherington. and the five at Benworth. HEADMASTER HOST
Our first tower on Friday was at the Roman city centre of Silchester. where after ringing the easy going five we were invited to morning coffee by Mr. Salmon, the local headmaster. At Stratfield Mortimer we first tried the octave at St. Mary's. where the rope on the third broke on the last stroke of the lower and then the light six at St. John's, which are spoilt by the very loud hum in the tower. After lunch we went to Upton Nervet. our only four-bell tower, and then on to Burghfield and Englefield. Whitchurch, Oxon. bells are a nice going six. the only distraction being the creaking beams. After returning to Tadley we had a camp fire finale.
It was raining on Saturday, when we set off on our homeward journey. After sightseeing at Winchester came our last two towers, Nether and Over Wallop. After a visit to Stonehenge, we had our first breakdown, which was quickly fixed by an A.A. Patrol, and we arrived in Bristol just in time to catch the train to South Wales.
Our thanks are due to all incumbents and local ringers, our cook, Glynne Bowsher. our drivers, and especially to the Rev. K. C. Davies without whose help the tour would not have been the success it was. Our thanks also to Mr. G. R. Marchant, of Durleigh, Somerset, our Ringing Master and organiser.

MR. J. L. MILLHOUSE'S 1,000 PEALS

The first Lincolnshire man to ring 1,000 peals is Mr. J. L. Millhouse, captain of St . Giles' belfry, Lincoln, who has gained this distinction at the early age of 47 . Of his peals. 937 have been rung on tower bells, the first being at Navenby. Lincs, in 1935. On handhells he has rung 63 . He has conducted 553. Details are appended

OXFORD DIOCESAN GULLD

The first meeting ever to be held at Ascott under-Wychwood, where the tower had rejoined the Guild. took place on October 19th and was attended by about 30 members of the Chipping Norton Branch, representing nine towers. The light six were rung until the service, which was conducted hy the Vicar. Tea in the Village Hall was provided free and the ladies who provided the meal were thanked by the Branch Secretary, Mr. J Keyte.

After the business meeting, attended by the Guild secretary (Miss M. R. Cross), there was more ringing, also at Shipton-under-Wychwood.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

N.W. District

A good afternoon's ringing preceded the service when the N.W. District met at Lakenheath on October 19th, and touches of Cambridge, Norwich, Ipswich, Double Court and Single Court were enjoyed.

Mr. John Ivings, a Euston ringer, conducted the service in the absence of the Rector through illness. Tea in the Church Room was served by Mrs. Peachy and friends. and Mr. L. Wright welcomed Mr. Frank Perrins, of Coventry, and other visitors.
Before starting business at the annual meeting. members stood in silence in respect to George Jennings, a Bury St. Edmunds ringer. who had died since the last meeting. Mr. Leslie Wright was re-elected chairman, Mr. A. Balham secretary, Mr. Richard Rose Ringing Master, and Miss G. Reeve press secretary Committee: Mrs. Ivings. Mr. Ray Fordham. Miss D. and Miss G. Reeve (re-elected).

The chairman thought more methods should be rung in the N.W. District and hoped that ringers would support him and study at least one fresh method at each quarterly meeting. This meeting the members gave special at tention to Cambridge Surprise.

The Ringing Master's report showed that few peals had been rung, but several quarters. Elveden topped the list. but Rougham had the greatest variety of methods, and also rang a great variety of 720 's at their Sunday service ringing.
Meetings suggested for 1964 were: Elveden, January; Rougham, April: Horringer, July: and Barrow, October. November evening practice. Freckenham: December practice. Brandon. Profits from the tea, amounting to £2 2s.. were given by Mrs. Peachy to the Bell Restoration Fund. She and her helpers were thanked. After hearing records of the Bredfield striking competition. ringers returned to the belfry and rang until 9 p.m.

Eastern Branch

The recently rehung six at Blofield was the venue for the autumn meeting of the Eastern Branch on September 21st. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. S. C. Bailey), and Canon A. G. G. Thurslow deputised as organist.
Miss D. E. Lidbetter (Branch chairman) opened the meeting with votes of thanks to the Rector, to Canon Thurlow, and to Miss H. Grass and her lady helpers for preparing an excellent tea. She also welcomed Mr. W. love. who is now home from hospital.
Miss J. Harvey, of Happisburgh, was elected to ringing membership. Members stood in silent tribute to the memory of Mr. H. W. Lidbetter, who died the Saturday previous to this meeting.

Forthcoming meetings: Loddon. December 7th, Great Yarmouth : February 8th (not February 15th). Branch dinner.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Seventy-four years separated the ages of two of the ringers in 120 of Bob Doubles at Hoby, Leicestershire, on Saturday week. Michael Roberts of Shepshed, who is just 12 . turned in the $8 \frac{\mathrm{cwt} \text {. tenor and conducted the }}{}$ touch, while the treble was rung by Mr. T Briggs, of Somerby, who will be 86 next month.
There was much rejoicing at Combe Martn Devon, when a peal and quarter peal were rung to celebrate the 100 th birthday of Miss Halnon, a most delightful centenarian. The ringers were very pleased to receive a letter of thanks from her, stating that she enjoyed listening to the bells from her doorstep. Arthur Smallridge stood as reserve for the ringers.

Congratulations to the two young members of the batch of beginners at St. Pcter-deWitton, Droitwich, who rang their first quarter peal on October 19th, Susan Barker (13), who rang the treble. has been change ringing since August, and Martin Guise (just 12) rang the tenor. Martin is. without doubt, the youngest to ring the $12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cw}$. tenor, which he managed well despite his small size.

A ringing parson, the Rev. Peter C. Woodward, has left St. Anne's Chingford, Essex, to be a missionary in Madagascar. He graduated from St. Catharine's, Cambridge in 1958 and followed this with a two year course at Bishop's College. Cheshunt. He served his title at St. Anne's, Chingford. Friends rang a farewell quarter at Uppingham, Rutland.
One of the main centres of Australian ringing is the home of Mr. Tom Goodyer, the president of the A.N.Z.A.B.. with handbells once a week and their own home tower, St. Mary's Cathedral, Sydney. Mrs. Goodyer, a Gloucestershire girl, went to Australia for two years in 1952, but instead married a fellow bellringer and has remained there permanently. She is expecting a baby in January and would like to have an English girl bellringer as mother's help. Her address is 16 , King Edward's Street, Roseville, New South Wales.

The eight bells at St. Mary's, Dolgellau, Merioneth, Wales, are now back in the tower and were rung for the first time on October 18th. Of the cost of $£ 1,200$, about $\pm 600$ was raised by public subscription. It is hoped to dedicate the bells on the Saturday before Christmas, when it is expected that many ringing visitors will be present.

With the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung on October 19th. John Potts has now 'completed the circle, at his home tower of Sherburn-in-Elmet, Yorkshire.
Congratulations to Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson on being a proud grandfather. A peal of Kent T.B. Maximus was rung at Evesham on October 19th in honour of the arrival of Malcolm Reginald Wilson, on October 16th.
A misapprehension might arise from the asterisk against the name of A. C. Wenban in the peal of Windsor Treble Bob (see page 70). It should not be there. This was the first peal in the method.
Mr. Colin A. Lewis, of St. Peter's Vicarage, Glasbury-on-Wye, Hereford, asks for the figures of two Doubles methods-Morning Star and Suffolk Delight. They were rung at Talgarth in 1923, but he adds that he can find no other records of them.
' You do not have to be a computer programmer, although the mental approach is rather similar.' from article by W. D. N. Foote, 'Campanologists Pull Together' in I.C.T. House Magazine. I.C.T. have recently acquired the computer department of Ferranti.
There were two special points about the peal of Bob Major at Henley, Suffolk, on October 17 th . Mr. S. Bloomfield, who had been a ringer for over 30 years, rang his first peal, and Mr. R. C. Kersey. who was ringing his 50 th peal, rang his last 30 years ago.
The Rev. Roger O. Fry is faced with a huge task at Portishead as the day after his arrival the Rector (Preb. W. L. M. Coombes) was taken ill and admitted to hospital. It is feared that the Rector's absence may be protracted. There are five churches in the parish and Roger has only a curate to assist him.

Cornwall generally, and Truro in particular, will miss the enthusiasm of Robert A Southwood, who, on promotion in his work, has moved to Plymouth. Bob has been a member of the Kenwyn band as well as being a member of the choir; he also rang at the Cathedral. We believe, however, that half his heart is in Cornwall so there will undoubtedly be the occasional peal
We thought it would not be long before St. James', Taunton, band were in our quarter peal columns. There were five first quarters rung on October 6th.
Mr . Fred Ellis has been elected foreman at Wheathampstead. Mr. Ivory, a call change ringer, has kindly retired to give the young change ringing band more of a free hand.
Congratulations to Mr. F. E. Dukes, secretary of the Irish Association, on ringing his 200 th peal. He is the first to reach the 200 mark. Comments Fred: ' If in England it would probably be 2,000 .'

Bright and breezy is 'The Belfry News,' well printed with news of Derbyshire ringing. We should like to congratulate Editor Geoffrey Camm not only on an excellent production but the announcement of his engagement to Miss Linda Prior, of Lutterworth, who is a nurse at the City Hospital, Nottingham, where Mr. Camm is a staff nurse.
All Saints', Boyne Hill, ringers are very sorry to lose the services of Mr. John Blackwood. their popular young Ringing Master, who has accepted an appointment with the National Wild Life Conservancy at Wareham. To mark their appreciation. his ringing friends arranged a farewell party for him, at which he was presented with an clectric razor, with their very sincere wishes.
At the autumn meeting of the Towcester branch, the President, Rev. R. G. Richards. was presented with a brief-case, subscribed to by all members, in appreciation of his loyal support and kindly interest in all branch matters and meetings over the past ten years. Members wish him many years of happiness and improved health at his new living in Devon.

LONG LENGTH OF YORKSHIRE STOPPED

The attempt at Loughborough Bell Foundry campanile on October 26th for 21.240 Yorkshire Surprise Royal was stopped after seven courses as the standard of ringing was not up to the required level. A peal of Cambridge Royal was rung in the morning and London Major in the afternoon. The remaining three lost a handbell peal.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD  Striking Competition

Some excellent ringing was heard during a striking competition of the Guild held at St. Michael's, Southampton. on October 19th.

After tea. prepared by the ladies of St. Michael's, the judge, Mr. C. H. Kippin, gave his comments. The Master (Canon K. W. H. Felstead) announced that St. Mary's, Liss, band. who rang 240 Grandsire Doubles, were the winners, followed by Warnford (Grandsire Doubles) 171. Christchurch Priory (238 Grandsire Triples) 199. The Alliston Cup was presented by the judge to the winning team. which consisted of Rosemarie Walton 1 . Lesley Read 2, Susan Ellenor 3, D. M. Hughes 4. B. R. Walton (cond.) 5. Patricia Smith 6. With an average age of 17 years, they are the youngest team to win the cup

Other competitors were Winchester Cathedral (Grandsire Triples), who were disqualified as their well struck touch failed to come round within the prescribed length due to a miscall: SS. Peter and Paul's, Fareham (Grandsire Triples): St. Lawrence's, Alton (Grandsire Doubles), and St. Mary's, Fordingbridge (call changes)

The judge and the ladies were thanked, and the Guild is indebted to the Master, who, as convener of the Striking Competition Subcommittee. had been mainly responsible for the excllent arrangements

LATE NEWS

Mr. E. Maurice Atkins. the general secretary of the Devon Guild, is in Victory Ward of the Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital. Exeter, awaiting an operation. Our good wishes for a speedy recovery.
We regret to announce the death of Mr. J. F. G. Sutton of 43, Queen Alexandra Road. Salishury, Wilts.

CORRECTION

Cattistock. where the first peal on the bells was rung on October 5 th (see page 719), is still in Dorset and not Devon as printed.

SOME OF THE OUTINGS

HUTTON, ESSEX

Hutton, Essex, ringers and friends had their annual outing by coach into the Thames Valley on September 14th. Every ringer had a programme. The first, touch lasted 10 minutes in each tower, then came general ringing for 20 minutes, and. finally. every ringer had a choice, three at each tower.
At the first tower. Waltham St. Lawrence. there was Stedman. Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles. Bob Minor and Cambridge. At Warfield, Bob Major and Stedman went well:
then Minor and Doubles with cover bells were then Minor and Doubles with cover bells were rung. After an excellent lunch at Bracknell. the lovely six at Binfield were enjoyed. The very light Six at Hitcham Park. Which are rung round the font. were a novelty. Eventurung round the font. were a novelty. Eventu
The route was through Burnham Beeches to an excellent tea at Wingrove's tea rooms. The last ring was at Fulmer, where a good touch of Winchendon amongst other methods was rung. Our thanks to Raymond Jones and John Wallet for their organisation, the coach drivers, incumbents and those who met us.

TORRE, TORQUAY

The ringers of Torre Parish Church, Torquay, held their annual outing on October 19th. with East Devon as the venue. They were accompanied by friends from Babbacombe, Buckfastleigh, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haryey (and family), of Topsham. former members.

The first stop was Offwell (a reasonably good six), followed by Kilmington (a very nice going six). The rext stop was Musbury where the bells were found to take some handling. This was followed by tea at Seaton after which a pleasant hour was spent on the good octave at the Parish Church. The last tower to be visited was Colaton Raleigh where it was learnt that the bells were not often rung. These, too, required careful handling.

Thanks are due to Mr. Keith Fursdon, the Captain for the excellent arrangements.

ST. GILES', WILEENHALI

It was through a thick mist that St. Giles ${ }^{\circ}$ Willenhall, ringers approached the Peak District for their outing on Sedtember 2lst. Cups of tea were awaiting the party at Clay Cross and, after lunch, a visit was paid to the tuneful six at the church. Before boarding the coach thanks were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Price and helpers.

A cordial welcome from Sam Scattergood awaited the party at Chesterfield and in the well-kept belfry he challenged one of our heavy men to raise the ninth the right way up. Bob Major and Stedman Triples were rung on the back eight and call changes on the ten

Our next objective was Ashover, where Jafus, was on guard at the church door. Frank helped in our ringing, and trebled them down in peal. The timetable was kept when we arrived at Matlock for tea at the Ritz Restaurant. Our thanks go out to incumhents, tower keepers and Mr. Fred Adams, who helped with the arrangements. C. W.

IRONY FROM RUTLAND

The Daily Mirror ' of October 16th informs us that the bellringers of Oakham. Rutland. will ring a peal of Rutland Surprise of more than 5,000 changes. lasting 23 hours 20 minutes, on Saturday. when Britain's smallest county celebrates its successful battle to stay ndependent.

How misinformed these reporters are!-23 hours 20 minutes for a peal of 5,000 Rutland Surprise Major even before it has been rung!'

The Rutland band are not sufficiently proficient to ring a peal of Rutland Surprise Major without outside help. It is ironic that 80 per cent of the band will be Leicestershite ringers-the county that lost in the "takeover " hid for Rutland.

A letter written to the Vicar of Warminster has been mislaid. Will the sender be good enough to write again to Mr. N. G. Knce, 75, Boreham Road, Warminster, Wilts.

SIMON SAID "THUMBS UP"

RINGERS and their idiosyncrasies amuse or irritate the public. It is not merely by ringing bells in towers and on handbells under unusual circumstances that arouses curiosity, but by our very demeanour in refreshing memory of our art that we break through the barrier of normality into what the public might regard as absurd. Things seem to happen in Yorkshire-have they not a professor who keeps a watchful eye on the foibles of the Exercise-but this delightful sketch or satire in 'The Yorkshire Post' proclaims far and wide that we are a peculiar people. The incident reads:

Travel, they say, broadens the mind. Mine was nearly unhinged on a short train journey I made the other day. There were four men in the compartment I got into. I thought it was funny that each of them had his hands lightly clenched on his knees, the thumbs lying straight out in line with his trouser creases.

- What was even odder, they suddenly began raising and lowering their thumbs in strict order, one after the other. All this was done without a word until one of them said, "Go, next time." (I was already in a state of go. Had it been a corridor train I would have gone into the next compartment.)
- Now instead of following each other with their thumb hoisting and lowering, they seemed to be moving them at any old time. After half a mile the garrulous member of the party said, "Bob." Whichever was Bob didn't answer to that name. A little later the gabby one again said "Bob" and followed it up with "Single."
'At this, one of them-Bob, maybe?-began to look flustered. His thumb movements became jerky, and the head of the gang told him sharply: "Take the third with the fifth, dodge three four up and go on to lead!"

[^19]' I cleared my throat, George's boss must have seen I was about to burst with curiosity. "We're bell ringers," he said kindly. "We were just practising change ringing."
"" With your thumbs?" "We were using them instead of handbells. I suppose it would look funny to you."

" "It did."

'He then gave me a brief outline of bell ringing, throwing off terms like "dodge three four up," "lay your pull" and "take the lead." "Of course," he said, "that's in Plain Bob Major or Minor."
" "Of course," I said. My campanological education was cut short by our arrival at my station. As I turned away from the train I saw that the thumb exercising had started again, and I hoped George was watching his dodges.
' I thought there ought to be special compartments marked "Bellringers." After exposure to an experience of this kind a nervous passenger, who was given no explanation, would totter out of the train feeling that his belfry was full of bats.'

We feel certain that this Yorkshire experience and the suggested remedy will be given full consideration by the Railwaymen's Guild. Perhaps the author of 'Belfrymanship ' might, with his experience of railways, coupled with his wide knowledge of our art and its practising members. be induced to add to the quotation, 'And Simon said. . ..

MEMORIAL SERVICE TO EDWIN H. LEWIS

RINGERS came on All Souls' Day (November 2 nd) from distant Cornwall, from Lancashire and Yorkshire, and most parts of the country. to pay homage and respect for the life of Mr. Edwin Hugh Lewis at a service of thanksgiving held at St. Michael's, Cornhill. London. While the large congregation was assembling, the bells were being rung half-muffled to Stedman Cinques by a representative band as follows: J. Phillips. senior steward. A.S.C.Y.. treble: Rev. P. N. Bond. who was taught to ring by Mr. Lewis, 2; F. W. Perrens. librarian, Central Council. 3: J. Freeman (conductor), vice-president, Central Council, 4 : M. V. Chilcott. Mas ter. A.S.C.Y., 5 : F. Bibby, Chester Diocesan Guild. representing the Frodsham band. of which he was a former member, 6; J. E. Chilcott. secretary, A.S.C.Y., 7 : Dr. P. A. F. Chalk. Cambridge University Guild. 8: G. W. Fletcher past secretary and treasurer. Central Council 9: A. D. Barker, member of Central Council since 1924. 10: P. A. Corby, secretary, Kent County Association, of which Mr. Lewis was one time chairman, 11: D. Beresford. Master of Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, tenor.
The service opened with the hymn 'Through all the changing scenes of life.' to be followed by the Sentences. read by Canon K, W. H. Felstead. Vicar of St. Michael's. Southampton, and a member of the Central Council. Psalm 23 was sung to the tune by Crimond, and then Mr. Frederick Sharpe. who succeeded Mr. Lewis as president of the Central Council, impressively read the lesson from Ecclesiasticus xliv, 1-15.

A course of Plain Bob Major was then rung from the choir by the following members of the Council: Mrs. E. A. Barnett, assistant hon. secretary. 1-2; E. A. Barnett. secretary and treasurer. 3-4: J. F. Smallwood, member since 1939, 5-6; Walter Ayre, member since 1926, 7-8.
The address was given by Canon Gilbert Thurlow, Vicar of Great Yarmouth and president of the Central Council, to be followed by, the hymn 'Guide me, O thou great Redeemer,' which was sung with great fervour to the organ accompaniment. played by the world-famous composer Dr. Harold Dark. Prayers offered by Canon Felstead preceded the great resurrection hymn. 'Jesus lives! no longer now." and the congregation was dismissed by Canon Thurlow pronouncing the blessing.

THE ADDRESS

Canon Thurlow, in the address, said : Nothing could encourage me more, in the task of paying tribute to Edwin Lewis, than the touch of Bob Major we have just heard. For that was the sound II heard when. as a terrified undergraduate 32 years ago. 1 first met Edwin in Mr. Boughey's rooms at Trinity. And one immediately realised, to some extent. the kind of man he was. 1 could not in those carly days appreciate his brilliance. nor did I know that he had already been a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council for 20 years and had all that time been doing work of quite extraordinary value. But one immediately saw that here was a man humble enough. kind enough. longsuffering and charitable enough to spend his time enduring the first miserable struggles of a big boy through Bob Major on handhells. So I learnt the most important thing about him. For whatever a man does, it is what he is that matters most. A man must leave his deeds behind him. The one thing he can keep for ever is himself. And a man who is humble. kind, longsuffering and charitable has within himself that with which he can for ever be with the God from whom these things come

IMPRESSIVE ACHIEVEMENT

Edwin leaves behind him an impressive tale of achievement. His career in industry, as an engineer, was brilliant. He played a worthy part in the social, human side of industry. His work as a lay member of the Church in both Scotland and England was of great value, as the Archbishop of Canterbury was years ago glad to acknowledge. He was a brilliant linguist, one reminder of which is the Swedish version of The Nine Tailors.

Born June 13th, 1881  Died September 4th, 1963

As a ringer he thoroughly deserved the honours which came to him. Having learnt to ring at Trowell in 1900, he joined the Cambridge University Guild in 1901 and represented it on the Central Council from 1908 to 1936. He was president of the Council from 1930 until 1957. and was a life member thereafter. As Vicar of Yarmouth, how pleased 1 was that he was able to be present with his wife. who is so much in our thoughts today, with the Council in Yarmouth at Whitsun this year, and how deeply impressed the Council was with the speech he made at the meeting.

A wise man makes provision for the future. He showed wisdom indeed in handing over not only the presidency of the Council but also the leadership of the Towers and Belfries Committee, with the immensely important and valuable work which that implies. to a brilliant successor. who we profoundly hope wifl carry on this work for many years to come. The other activity which has brought us to London today reminds us that Edwin was Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1937, its tercentenary year, coronation year also, and he presided at its annual dinner over a great com. pany, which included some of the highest in the land.

STRANGE ACTIVITY

It is indeed a strange activity which is ours. We shut ourselves up in some apartment perched on high. quiet and alone, raised above the noise and clamour of the city. We meet together almost as it were in secret to join with the sport of the centuries past, like Christ and His friends on the mountain top. Yet as those meetings result in fresh power to help the crowds. so the result of our meeting is the insistent message of the bells penetrating everywhere, irritating those who are irritated by God's call. lifting the hearts of all who long for God's coming.

The death of an active man poses the question which we think about on All Souls" Day- is human activity worth while? Man is cut down like a flower: he flees like a shadow. We live always in a state of tension. We each try to achieve something to make our mark-to work. to write, to paint, to build, to leave an inherirance to shape the future, to make discoveries and lend to the path of progress: and just as we have achieved something we are cut down like a flower. The very thing our true nature desires, our outward form denies. In fact. if this life is all there is for man, nature is mocking us unmercifully, maddening the thoughtful man by its laughter

It is here that the Christian belief in the resurrection of the body and the life everlasting comes to man's rescue-not as a doubiful addition to the Christian story, not as a piece of wishful thinking. but as the only way by which the tension in which man lives can be resolved. the only way by which man's existence as an individual-thinking, planning, achieving, and yet imprisoned in a body which dies-zan be seen to be a reasonable existence. The resurrection means that the individual lives differently in form, yet as an individual he is the same.

Christ in His earihly lifetime taught. hea'ed. befriended a few people in a small country, yet after His death and resurrection He marched across the centuries and the world as a mighty power for good. continuing for ever, whilst the benefits the world invents come and go. Believing this, we can believe that our art of ringing. ever changing though it be, has yet ? counterpart in eternity. Having once been it must ever be: and we can believe that the life of Edwin Hugh Lewis, like all who pass as pilgrims through this strange material state. coninues to be in company with the source of all beauty and truth. and with all who because they are of the truth hear His voice.'

MR. TOM MYERS

The many friends of Mr. Tom Myers. of Plymouth. will regret to know that he is a patient in the Scolt Memorial Hospital. Plymouth, sutfering from a bronchial ailment. We wish nim a speedy recovery and hope he will soon the back 'on the box' at St. Andrew's. For 6 years there has never been a day but that a mesp ber of the Myers family has been in the tower of Si . Andrew's. Mr. Myers late father attended to the clock chimes and carillon for many years, and when the climb became too much Tom took over the job. His brothers. Bill and Fred, will carry on during his temporary absence.

ST. ALBANS CAR RALLY

On October 26th the St. Albans District

 held its first car rally, in the north of the county. Unfortunately for their public relations, the committee gained first and second place-J. D. Chamberlain and G. Dodds and their families. Peter Coles was third: he couldn't be allowed to win as he had been in the Kimpton Cup winning team, organised by the same master brain as the rally. Robert Hardy and bird gained fourth prize. Before the uncharitable ones think there were only four entries, there were thirteen.A most impartial starting place was chosen -Nomansland. Here revealing questions were asked on our knowledge of the Highway Code The route took us through Kimpton of 'strik ing memories, to Whitwell and its eight legged. 'major.' water tower. Beyond Great Wymondley was a memorial to two aviators of 1912, still well cared for. William had nasty question: Which was the best kept village in 1959? The county arms were on a post on the green: but beware, unsuspecting rallyer, on closer inspection a list of winners was found under the arms-the answer being Preston.
Nobody noticed the sluice valve sign at Weston (not super-Mare). where our guardian angels, the organisers, had altered the route the day before to keep us out of sewer trenches. I wonder who would call their house Toggs? We went past it anyway on our way to Cromer (not on the East Coast), where the Wrights make Arrfdsh Zoider (we must try some of this).
Diaries were required to find out where Middleton's 5.600 of Cambridge was first rung. Luckily it was early in the year. on February 11th. 1873, at Bennington. Tea was taken at the Bell, where the organisers. John Cull and Amy Coburn, were congratulated on first class afternoon.
Ringing in the evening at Bennington and Aston was for those competitors who were not mentally and physically exhausted, and, in fact. reached quite a high standard. Thank you. Amy and John. the venture was an unqualified success. Please do it again : we ll be looking forward to it.
D.C.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

Thanks to the hospitality of the local company the Society enjoyed a most successful meeting al Kingswinford on October 19th. St Mary's bells ( 8 ) were kept going to a variety of methods, under the guidance of the Ringing Master. Mr. B. G. Key, before the service, at which the Societys form of Evensong was conducted by the Vicar. who addressed us Our thanks are extended to the organist for his interest and playing the - Variations on Holsworthy Bells as a voluntary
The ringers wives and friends did us proud by providing a hountiful tea. After this meal the secretary announced that as many as possible of the annual ieports had heen distributed. The following new members were elected: Miss C. Turner (West Bromwich). Miss J. White (Great Barr). G Griffith (Bilston) and D. Braddock (Sedgley). The Vicar and Kingswinford ringers were sincerely thanked for all they had done to make this such a successful meeting. Further ringing on St. Mary's hells followed. and also on the six bells at Holy Trinity. Wordsley.

CHELSFIELD'S WEEK-END

The last week-end in September was something by the way of an experiment for Chelsfield ringers. Saturday took the form of the annual outing, and the party was completed at the first tower, Horsmonden. by several visitors from Kent and Surrey. A course of Bristol was among the methods rung here
At Marden a touch of six spliced came home. Staplehurst bells proved a bit of a handful, especially for those who were not used to eight bells-but the ringing worked up a respectable appetite for lunch, which was taken while listening to the local band ring for a wedding.
Having sent several ringers to ring for a wedding at Cranbrook, the remainder moved t. Headcorn. where a course of Lincolnshire was rung before the party was completed again. Smarden's were the only six of the day. and a very pleasant six too. A tea house raid in Biddenden resulted in 25 hungry thirsty and none 100 quiet ringers descending on rather surprised propriztors.
We joined the Hawkhurst and District Guild to ring at Biddenden. We were expected and warmly wlcomed. and. among other things. good courses of London and Bristol were rung. Ringing for the day concluded on the easy going octave at Frittenden.
The company was then invited to the home of Mike and Dorothy Legg at Cranbrook. where a truly amazing spread awaited our eager attentions. Singing and conversation continued well into the evening and Chelsfield was reached in the small hours.
At seven-thirty on Sunday morning we were ringing again-our own bells this time-for ringers Corporate Communion, at which all those on the outing attended. A quatter peal of London Surprise Minor was rung during the afternoon. At Evensong we welcomed hack several of our former ringers who have moved out of the area, and now ring elsewhere. Ringers acted as sidesmen and read the lessons and the Rev. C. J. Ellingham. once a ringer, preached an inspiring sermon to a packed church. Further ringing after the service was watched by many of the congregation. while the intricacies were explained to those who were interested. All ringers were then welcomed home by the captain and the evening and ringers' week-end had passed all too quickly

THE LADIES' GUILD

Devon Branch

A large attendance of ringers of both sexes attended the Devon Branch's successful meetin at St. Peter's, Tiverton. on October 26 th. The ringing was under the supervision of Mrs. D E. Hood and consisted of touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Boh Major, with rounds and call changes for the less experienced ringers.
A service was later held in church which was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Chas. S. Nye). who welcomed the visitors and gave an address.

After tea at a local cafe. the gentemen ringers returned to the belfry, whilst the branch members held their meeting under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hood. in the absence of the vice-president (Mrs. D. R. Bould). Seven new members were elected (six from Bampton and one from Dartmouth), and it was resolved to hold the annual meeting at Clyst Honiton on April 18th, with ringing at Clyst St. George in the evening, subject to permission.

The usual votes of thanks concluded the mecting. and further ringing took place at Bickligh.

SOME OF THE OUTINGS

ST. PETER-DE-WITTON, DROITWICH

Although they left Witton at 6.45 a.m.. St. Peter's ringers and friends did not reach Bristol, the destination for their outing on October 5th. until $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. They were made very welcome at the Cathedral School practice and from the Cathedral were escorted to the Lord Mayor's Chapel. Lunch was eaten in the pouring rain before visiting St. John-onthe Wall (a lovely City church. with a good ring of six). Our best ringing was there. St. Michael-on-the-Mpunt Withour's 6 bells were more difficult. Philip and Joan Gray met the party at Stoke Bishop, and at Emmanuel. Clifion, Grandsire Triples was rung with local help. The return journey by train was as uneventful as could be expected, with 11 of us packed into one compartment of an otherwise empty train! Thanks are due to Philip Gray, who made the arrangements.

EASTHAMPSTEAD AND WARFIELI
Easthampstead and Warfield ringers combined for a merry outing on sixes, on Septem-
Fourteen
Foh ringers in a minibus set out before faithful captain at the wheel. Lunch in traditional manner, preceded trying Bosham bells. These were a slower trying Bosham used to. but after a couple of courses we wed some nice striking-1nore striking. though, was the beandiful old church and the Harvest Festival flowers

At Felpham we rang for a wedding and had a good variety of methods (from Plain Bob in Cambrides), but lad difficulty in striking well. After tea and a short walk to sniel the fragrance of seawced on the front we set off for Lyminster.

A lovely six in a lovely setting, was the general verdict, and here we had some good striking as well as a good number of methods. Very pleased we left for our last tower Thakeham, which all of us enjoyed-the bells were easy on the hand and the ear, and the ringing reasonably good. Thakeham will also be remembered for the hospitality of its local -I can only say we had a real partydarts, singing, dancing. friendly faces and good drinks

EXETER UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

The first outing of the newly-formed Exeter University Society was held on October 12th and started modestly with Bob Doubles a Atherington (6), followed by Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor. At Northam (8) a local ringer appeared very interested in ' scientific' changes and was later persuaded to conduct some call changes. Lunch was eaten on the beach in Warm sunshine at Westward Ho !
A baptism delayed the start of ringing a Swymbridge (6) where Little Boo Minor and Stedman Doubles were rung in addition to methods already mentioned. A short journey brought us to South Molton (8) and the long climb to the ringing chamber was well rewarded by these majestic bells. However, the striking in Grandsire Triples and Bob Major cculd have been improved.
After tea the ploasant-sounding six at Cadeleigh were visited. The tenor proved difficult to handle. but was expertly turned in by one of the band to touches of Plain Bob and Kent T.B. Unfortunately at Broadclyst, the best bells of the day, there was only time for Grandsire Triples and Bob Major. Our thanks to Martin Lock for arranging the tour, to car drivers. incumbents and lower captains.

Swords and Pistols

Dear Sir--It is with regret I see these tools returning to Leicester. They were much in use before the 1914 war, but I was under the impression that they were boxed and buried years ago. I have not the pleasure of knowing either of the two gentlemen and feel that the challenge is not much help to either Church or craft. I suggest they try and improve on some of the feats at Loughborough Parish Church, which would give them plenty to do other than find time to fall out over hearsay. -Yours tuly,

A FLAT.

Changing Guild Officers

Dear Sir-After my letter appeared in 'The Ringing World' (June 21st, page 431), concerning the changing of guild officers, periodically, I have received several letters both for and against the suggestion. Unfortunately, a few people misconstrued the meaning of one of my statements.
In my letter I stated that I would like to know what other ringers thought, especially those in the Lincoln Guild, to the proposition that an officer should retire for at least one year after serving three consecutive years. Several people (including one whole branch) accused me, of 'backbiting' statements about the officers of the Lincoln Guild.

There was nothing, so far as I could see, in my reference to the Guild, that could be interpreted as 'getting at' anyone. I would like to see all Guilds adopting this rule and one must put one's own house in order before trying to change others.

As far as the Lincoln Guild officers are concerned they are doing a grand job, but let's have a change. - Yours faithfully.

Grantham, Lincs.

St. Peter-de-Witton, Droitwich

Dear Sir.- The temporary suspension of ringing at St. Peter-de-Witton has been advertised in this journal, and perhaps a few relevant notes may be of interest.

It was not until the captain of the local ringers put his foot through it that the floor of the chamber under the bells was found to be eaten away with worm. Removal of this floor has revealed the existence of a mediæval floor supported by a massive oak frame, work probably coeval with the tower. Unfortunately one of the main beams supporting this framework is completely decayed and it is feared that any vibration due to ringing might bring about two tons of oak crashing about the ringers' ears. It is hoped to repair and preserve this fine 15 th century woodwork and expose it to view from below by removal of the ringing room ceiling.
We hope that it will not be too long hefare we can again welcome visitors to ring at St. Peter's.-Yours, etc.,

PAUL CATTERMOLE
Tower Captain,
St. Peter-de-Witton).

The Minor Controversy

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read the article by E.C.S. on Dr. A. B. Carpenter, and subsequent comments by your correspondents.
In considering the controversy over 5,040 s of Minor, one must understand exactly how these 5,040 's were obtained. A band would learn 14 methods, and then ring 360 of each by the use of calls at Home; thus the tenors would not be parted and would do no more than ring plain courses. One does not need to be an expert in Minor ringing to realise that such performances were considerably easier to ring than peals in seven orthodox 720 's. With the tenors fixed they were very easy to keep right. They made life very easy for the conductor, and he did not even have to learn the calling of a single 720 ! Such performances were not confined to Yorkshire. though they seem to have found more favour there than elsewhere: possibly because Yorkshire bands were more enterprising in the number of methods rurig, even if their conductors were less so in calling! The Central Council very properly ruled against such performances being recognised as peals. If the question was not actually asked, the feeling of the supporters of these performances must have been, ' If we cannot ring peals like this, how can we include 14 methods in a peal? Since splicing was then unknown, Dr. Carpenter's answer to this question seems the only one possible at the time. Should it be termed 'naive'? And certainly it does not deserve the description of 'fatuous,' as applied by Mr. Moxon.
Perhaps Mr. Moxon-whose letter seems strangely bitter-could tell us what the answer should have been, having regard to the state of ringing at that time; and also whether he would really like performances of this sort to be recognised as peals.
As a personality and à debater I cannot judge Dr. Carpenter; nor, I think. can Mr. Moxon. Few can now be living who actually remember him in action. To assert that the old Yorkshire members could not have heen 'subdued, by him is beside the point. At least, in this debate, Dr. Carpenter was on the winning side.-Yours faithfully, Bushey Heath.

Discourtesy Alleged

Dear Sir,-When visiting Tewkesbury on Saturday, October 26th. my sister and I were delighted to hear the bells ringing.
Being regular ringers we thought the opportunity too good to miss, so went up to the tower, where obviously a meeting was in progress,
Having visited towers up and down the country, where we have always been made most welcome. imagine our surprise when confronted with complete indifference. After being there for half-an-hour, in which time no one spoke to us properly, or even smiled. we were so disgusted that we left.
It was very pleasant to meet quite the opposite at Bath Abbey on the Sunday evening. where we couldn't have been made more welcome.
We do hope that this letter may prevent other visiting bell ringers encountering such discourtesy as we did at Tewkesbury Abbey. -Yours faithfully.
(Misses) P. & V. STEPHENS.
Babbacombe, Torquay.

Derivation Wanted

Dear Sir-Can any historian in our midst tell me the origin of the words Minimus, Doubles, Minor, etc., to Maximus?
I have been asked this question by a nonringer and was unable to give a satisfactory answer, except to say that, for example. Doubles meant two pairs of bells change places within themselves. and Triples meant three changing pairs, etc., but why are there the words Caters and Cinques? Is this a derivative from the French meaning four and five; if so. how and why has the French influenced our ringing?-Yours sincerely,

ALAN A. J. BUSWELL.
Cosham.

North Wales Adheres to Rules

Dear Sir,-In the 'Ringing World' of Oct. 25 th. a number of peals were recorded for the North Wales Association. The peals were rung during a tour of North Wales in August last. under the leadership of Mr. R. G. Leale.

As none of the members of the party are members of the North Wales Association the peals cannot be accepted under the North Wales title and should have been recorded as Non-Association peals.

I have informed Mr. Leale to this effect, and pointing out to him the ruling that any nonmember must be proposed and accepted prior to ringing a peal.-Yours sincerely,
W. CATHRALL.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Perry Barr on October 16th. The eight bells. installed in 1869, are now in need of renovation. and as the clergy seem interested we may soon hear of a scheme to put the bells in order. After a long period of silence, the bells are now rung regularly by an enthusiastic band of learners.

At the business meeting the item which caused most discussion was the annual Henry Johnson Commemoration. For some years a considerable financial loss has been sustained on this function, and last year's depletion in the number of people attending resulted in a larger deficit than usual. Many different opinions were ventilated and it was finally decided to hire a smaller room, and limit the number to about fifty. The Provost of Birmingham (the Right Rev. Bishop Sinker) will be invited to occupy the chair.
It was reported that the donations to the Albert Walker Memorial tablet now amounted to $£ 62$ towards the $£ 100$ required.
The Vicar of Perry Barr (the Rev. Canon D. McLean, M.A.) was warmly thanked for taking the service in church, and for the use of the bells. Acknowledgments were also made to the ladies who provided tea, and to Mr . David Purnell, who has undertaken the difficult task of teaching a band to ring at Perry Barr.
Annual meeting. St. Martin's Hall, January 4th.

Corrections.-The ringer of the second in the peal at Stanford-le-Hope (page 719) should be Sylvia A. Hayward, not Haywood
The quarter peal printed as Crowborough on page 723 should read Withyham.
Handbell peal. St. Albans (page 740). 5.120 Spliced Maior in six methods. Not Spliced Surprise Major

ST. ALKMUND'S BELLS, DERBY

The latest news on the future of the bells at St. Alkmund's, Derby-the church which is to be demolished to make way for the new inner ring road-is that the bells will not be installed in the new St. Alkmund's Church which is to be built elsewhere. This is because the site of the new church is close to a hospital and it would be impossible to ring the bells.

At present members of the Derby Diocesan Association man St. Alkmund's bells once a month for Sunday service on a rota basis.

During consultations on these ringing arrangements the Vicar revealed that it was proposed to take only two of the bells from the present ring and install them in the new church. One would be used as an hour bell and other be used to call the congregation to worship.

The Derby Diocesan Association wrote to Canon A. Hopkins, secretary of the Advisory Committee to the Consistory Court, expressing dismay at the possibility of this fine ring being dispersed and asking whether he could controm the Vicar's statement.

Canon Hopkins replied: 'I had not heard the suggestion that the bells of St. Alkmund's would be broken up, and they must not, even if they cannot be put in the new church.

If they do have to leave St. Alkmund's have you any suggestion of any parish that could take them?'

The Derby Association have made some suggestions, and have asked for and been granted an interview with Canon Hopkins to discuss what positive active part the Association can play in the future of St. Alkmund's bells.

DORSET RINGING FESTIVAL 1963

A record number attended this year's festival a: Blandford, on October 26th, made possible under the will of a late citizen of Blandford, Samuel Francis Pond. Although 75 had notified their intention of coming, it was more like 100 who were present. While all ringers were welcome, it eases the catering if more precise numbers are known beforehand.
After coping with a clock hammer difficulty left by the clock repairers, ringing went merrily enough until the clapper of the 6th dropped off. This, naturally, interrupted proceedings for a few minutes, but all was well when we returned to the belfry after tea. Until, that is to say, a broken stay again held up affairs. Your correspondent left soon after this, but hopes there were no further alarums and excursions.

The festival service was attended by the Major of Blandford and other civic officials. The Rev. P. A. Unwin, Vicar of Canford Magna, preached, and other clergy taking part were the Rector of Blandford, Canon H. G. Goodall, and the Rev. R. N. Longridge, honorary secretary of the North Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Guild.

After tea, in the Town Hall. the ringers were welcomed by the Mayor, who spoke kindly of bells and ringers.

OBITUARY

FUNERAL OF MR. A. C. HAZELDEN

There was a representative gathering o ringing friends at the Requiem Mass and funcral service held for Mr. A. C. Hazelden in St. Nicolas' Church, Guildford, on October 30th. The Rector (the Rev. W. Goddard) was the celebrant at the Mass, and the Rev. J. A. L Hardcastle also assisted.

The widow and Miss Eloie, with other relatives, attended. Among those present were Mr. D. A. R. May (Master, Guildford Diocesan Guild), Mr. S. T. Russell (secretary), Mr. W. Viggers (representing the Central Council), Supt. R. J. C. Hagley, Messrs. A. P. Cannon, L. Stilwell, G. L. Grover, J. Bradley. F. Cherryman, W. E. Enticknap, S. Petter, L Hunter, B. Clarke, E. ## MR. R. A. FERGUSON

With the passing of Mr. R. A. Ferguson, at the age of 90 , on August 25th, ends a family of ringers at Hilgay, Norfolk, of over 150 years. Up to this year he could be seen almost daily going to his office in Downham Market. He conducted a peal of Plain Bob Major by local ringers in 1896 and rang in several peals up to 1914.
He was buried in Hilgay Churchyard on August 28th, and the same evening a halfmuffled quarter peal of 1.344 Plain Bob Major was rung by M. Bryan 1, W. Cousins 2. J. Fox 3, V. Bowen 4, E. Cousins 5, A Rolfe 6, E. Mastin (cond.) 7, C. Cousins 8 First quarter by 1 and 5.

THOMAS H. TAFFENDER AN APPRECIATION

Mr. J. A. Hales writes:-
The Master has passed on, leaving a gap that can never be filled. For 50 years he was Master of the London County. What a record!

How many youngsters rang their first quarters and first peals with 'Taft'? His Sunday night band, ringing for worship at many churches where the bells would otherwise have been silent, doubtless inspired local bands to be resilent, doubtess inspired local bands to be redeath means, it is good to know that, under the able leadership of Mr. Monty Meyer, the work that Thomas H. Taffender started at St John's. Waterloo, is still being carried on.

On October 29th at St. John's, Waterloo. members of his Sunday night band of the London County Association rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples half-muffled. They were W. D. Grainger (conductor) 1, Miss N. Hales 2, Miss M. E. Powell 3, J. A. Hales 4, J. Hales 5, M. Meyer 6, L. W. Bullock 7, C. W. Ottley 8 .

It was extremely gratifying to find at Streatham Vale Cemetery that so many of his old colleagues came to pay their respects. They were the present Master (Mr. Wilfred Wilson). past Masters of the Cumberlands and College Youths, Messrs. Harold Rogers, Arthur Barker, Joe Hawkins, Jim Prior and that grand old Leytonstone veteran, Ted Smith.
WULLASTUN, WURCS.-On Oct. 16th, 1,224 London Surprise Minor: C. Brown 1, 1. Warr 2. F. V. Nicholls 3, M. J. Fellows (cond.) 4, F. G. Handley 5, G. Westwood 6.

ST. STEPHEN'S SOCIETY WESTMINSTER

Formed just three years ago, St. Stephen's Society, Westminster, has now 10 members and 2 beginners. Due entirely to the persistent hard work and infectious enthusiasm of the tower captain, Mr. Michael Moreton the Society has continued to make steady progress. As three or four members will shortly be moving from London, the Society has instituted an annual dinner, the first being held on October 11 th and proving to be a great success.
The following morning, none the worse for wear, the Society held its bi-annual outing into Herts, Beds. and Bucks. Ringing started on the pleasant six at Redbourn, followed by St. Leonard's, Flamstead, with its 14 th century wall paintings. Refreshments were taken at -The Spotted Dog,' Flamstead, before ringing on the loud six at Houghton Regis.
A sandwich lunch at 'The Anchor,' Tilsworth, preceded ringing at the parish church, where, according to the vicar, the tenor bearings need replacement, which confirmed our opinion. The ropes at Stanbridge (5), the next tower, were far too low for people of normal stature. We were sorry to lose here Robin Leale and his fiancee, particularly as the eights were still to come.
The highlight of the day, a plain course of Westminster Surprise without our captain, was rung at Eaton Bray. Next came Edlesborough, where the church on a hill looks across Dunstable Downs at a huge lion cut into the hillside. There were disappointments at Totternhoe where two attempts to ring a course of Cambridge Surprise Major failed as also did Grandsire Triples. Although tired, we redeemed ourselves on Dunstable Priory's magnificent eight, with Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major.
Our thanks to our secretary, Clive Simpson, for arranging the outing, and to incumbents and local ringers of churches visited.
J. V. C.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W:' November 7th, 1913.-

The small and ancient town of Southam is situated in a rather inaccessible part of the county of Warwickshire, but the Church of St. James now possesses a nice ring of eight bells, and the Rector, the Rev. J. HartDavies, is most anxious to see change ringing established firmly in the tower. The original ring was one of six bells, the first three of which were cast by Mears and Co. in 1863 While the last three are dated 1615. 1650 and 1676 respectively. The fourth is by Watts, of Leicester, the fifth by John Martin, of Worcester, and the Zenor by Henry Bagles Recently Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, vere requisitioned to provide two new trebles and rehang the whole ring.. .
A somewhat unusual note is found in the churchwardens' accounts for 1641 , as follows:

Paid to the King's footmen, who sealed up the church doors for not ringing when the King came to town 6 s . 8d
Paid als to them for not ringing when the King went out of the town 5 s . Od

UNIVERSITY OF WALES SOCIETY IN SOMERSET

Standing: Marilyn Stock, Tony Grifin, Peter Else, Christina Griffin, Richard Smith, Susan Grifin, Peter Smith. Gwen Storer, Barry Couzens, Colin Lewis, Gill Graney, Chris Bainham.
Standing behind Gwen Storer is the local tower captain.

THE University of Wales Society's annual tour was based this year at Angersleigh, near Taunton, where the Rector, the Rev. W. Griffin, kindly allowed the use of the Parish Hall as sleeping quarters for some of the party.

Assembly point was St. James's, Taunton, and Stedman Triples went best on this very pleasant ring. Despite our navigator we managed to find St. George's, Wilton, roughly on time. Here the light eight were hung too close together, but were otherwise very pleasant. Next came an unscheduled grab on a new, six at Holy Trinity, Taunton. The bells (tenor $4 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) have been bought from different sources and hung by local ringers. They are very loud and very untuneful. At Pitminster we were baffled for a time about the chiming hammer. Our last tower of the day was Angersleigh. where, despite three of the five bells being pre-Reformation. the tone of the bells is extremely clear. That evening We discovered a skittle alley at "The Merry Harriers and the Aberystwyth ringers were decisively beaten by "The Rest.:
The following day we went into Devonshire and found three rings of an exceptionally high standard at Uffculme (8), Cullompton (10) and Ottery St. Mary (8). In Honiton we really had to work hard to ring the six at St. Michael's (tenor 23 cwt .). After tea a good quarter peal was rung quickly at Chard, and Shepton Beauchamp visited. Returning to Angersleigh, at the invitation of the Rector, we joined in the parish's harvest social. Colin Lewis, Peter Smith, Barry Couzens and Gill Graney gave a demonstration of handbell ringing, which earned loud applause.

On the final day of the tour we visited three magnificent eights at Wellington, Wiveliscombe and Bridgwater. The tour concluded at Huish Episcopi, with a peal attempt. Unfortunately the bells came into rounds after only half an hour, but a quarter peal of Bob Major was more successful.
The most notable achievement was that of Susan Griffin, who rang at every tower on the tour after learning to handle only a few hours before the beginning of the tour.
Our week-end was most enjoyable and we should like to thank the incumbents and tower captains who made it possible. The quarter peals:
CHARD, SOMERSET.-On Sept. 27th, 1.260 Plain Bob Triples: Gwen Storer 1, P. T. Smith 2, C. L. R. Bainham 3. B. J. Couzens 4. P K. Else 5. R. W. Winstanley 6, C. A. Lewis (cond.) 7, J. Cornelius ( 60 th quarter) 8. First in the method for 1 . 3 . 5 .
HUISH EPISCOPI, SOMERSET.-On Sept. 28th. 1.344 Plain Bob Major: Gwen Storer (first of Major) 1. Gill Graney 2, R. W. Winstanley 3, P. T. Smith 4, B. J. Couzens 5 , P. K. Else 6. C. L. R. Bainham 7. C. A. Lewis (cond.) 8

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

Southern Branch

About 25 ringers attended the meeting held t Pulham St. Mary, on October 19th, when the service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. C. J. Huggins) and Mr. Nolan Golden (President of the Association) read the lesson.

An excellent tea was followed by the business meeting, presided over by Mr. Golden in the absence of the Chairman. Four new members. all from Pulham. were elected.
Mr. Golden announced that ringing at St. Peter Mancroft. Norwich, would be stopped for about six weeks owing to repairs to the roof near the tower. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector and all who had helped to make it a success.
Evening practice, Banham. December 7th. Branch annual, Diss, February lst

NATIONAL POLICE GUILD

The visit of the Police Guild to Birmingham on September 28th was highly successful and ringing was arranged at four towers-St. Chad's R.C., St. Martin's, the Cathedral and Edgbaston.
By kind permission of the Chief Constable of Birmingham the business meeting was held at the Birmingham City Police Training and Recreational Centre. Tally Ho!. Pershore Road, Edgbaston, and was attended by 25 members.

The annual dinner was also held at the centre. where 67 members, guests and friends were given an excellent meal. The guests were the Assistant Chisf Constable of Birmingham. Mr. J. G. Morrison. and Mrs. Morrison, Canon R. Allen, of Edgbaston, and Mrs. Allen.

The dinner was followed by a social. given by members of the Birmingham City Police, and we were also graced by a visit of the new Chief Constable of Birmingham, Mr. Capper.

TAYSOM'S TRAVELLERS IN DEVON

THIS year the week-end was held from 1 October 11th to 13 th and the party consisted of Barbara Dench (Corston), Terry Milsom, David Barnett. Jean and Alan Lee (Twerton). Ian Smith, Brian Metcalfe, Myra and Tony Gibbs, Rita and Bill Lampard and Henry Taysom (Warmley); Henry, as usual. acting as driver of the minibus. Lustleigh, the headquarters, was reached rather late on Friday night. Everyone was up early next morning to be greeted with what turned out to be one of the sunniest days of 1963pleased to have David Burt, who had travelled from London. Aubrey Bennett (Buckfastleigh) and Margaret Bould Tavistock) joined us for the day.
Tower No. 1, Kingsteignton (fine octave, rehung by Gillett and Johnston in 1929, tenor 17 cwt. in F.). Best ringing Kent Major. also call changes, conducted by Mr. Bowden. a local ringer.

Tower No. 2, Combe-in-Teignhead. Rector, the Rev. E. Perry, gave an interesting account of his church bells ( 6 , tenor 10 cwt . in G.): seldom rung, but 'go, and tone good. Cambridge was best here.
Tower No. 3, Stoke-in-Teignhead (a very good ground floor six. tenor 10 cwt .), seldom rung. Reverse St. Bartholomew. London Surprise and Oxford Treble Bob all successful.
Tower No. 4, Kingskerswell (another little six, about 8 cwt.). Beverley well struck. Mr Bovey, local ger, called changes and then dropped the treble for a good fall.
Time for lunch-plenty to eat, and a juke box to add background music.
Tower No. 5, Churston Ferrers was reached via Torquay and Paignton. Mr. Teale was waiting and he joined us for a ring. Bells very pleasant ( 6, tenor 13 cwt . in A flat), rung from back of church.
Tower No. 6, St. Saviour's, Dartmouth, after a ride on the ferry over the River Dart Bells are a joy to hehold Stedman Triples here the best of the day. Mr. Middleton made everyone welcome.
Tower No. 7, St. Petrox's. Dartmouth (6), situated by the castle, in very charming surroundings. Bells rehung by Taylors in 1947; rung from the ground. Joined in our ringing by Miss Goss, who is mastering change ringing, and Mr. Newman, now 85 years old, who proved he had not forgotten Stedman Doubles, despite a serious illness last year
Tower No. 8, St. Clement's, Dartmouth (6). Ringing room reached by iron ladder. Mr. Newman again showing the way up: not as difficult as we thought. Back three are pre-Reformation, last rehung 1908; need a little attention from the bell hanger. Joined by a visitor from Liverpool.
Ringing finished. we went back to Buckfastleigh for supper. As last year, the organist from the Parish Church. Mr. E. Penny, played the piano and harvest hymns were well received.

Ringing on Sunday morning was at Lustleigh Church-the local ringers vacated the tower so that we might ring. An excellent rise-just as well. as critical ears outsid: All the party attended Holy Communion.

In the afternoon Moreton Hampstead was visited. Mr. Bob Gale broke his peaceful afternoon to tend to our needs and made sure we have a good ring.

We said good-bye to Lustleigh for another year. and on the way home joined the Sampford Peverell (6) ringers for service ringing. The captain (Mr. F. Norman) allowed us half hour's ringing, and then showed us how to strike call changes. So our trip was over for another year.
Our thanks must go to Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and Miss Gay for looking after us so well and to the various incumbents and captains for their kindness, also. Henry for driving. and Mr Bennett for his choice of towers. In all 23 methods were rung.

It was fitting that a peal of Rutland Surprise. Major should be rung at Oakham to celebrate Rutland's victory in her fight for independence. For two years the county has vigorously opposed the suggested amalgamation with Leicestershire, for administrative purposes, and at last won its independence.
The new secretary of the National Guild of Police Ringers is P.C. Richard Holt (Lancashire Constabulary), 16, Windsor Avenue, Newchurch, Rossendale, Lancs.
The bells of All Saints', Braywood, Berks, have been rehung at Beer, Devon. The first quarter on the bells in their new home was rung on October 13th.
As a 75th birthday compliment to Mr Squire Croft, a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung at Siough on October 27N It was good, writes our correspondent, to see Mr. Croft looking so fit, and ringing like a young man again after his recovery from his operation.

In answer to a request from the Rev. A. T. Parker, Rector of St. Alban's, Kimberley, S.A., a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters for transmission was recorded on tape at Slough on October 27th, as Mr. Parker has but one bell in his church. Formerly, Mr. Parker was a ringer at Ealing, and the band consisted of five Ealing ringers, with five from Slough.
Conducted by Alan R. Pink, eight Alans rang a peal at Lavenham on October 26th It was originally intended that Alan W. Payne should ring in the peal, but unfortunately he sprained his chest and had to drop out a few days previously. In associating his name with the peal, the band send him their best wishes for a speedy recovery.
The first quarter by a local band at Thurcaston, Leics, on October 23rd, is a reward for Mr. F. T. Bindley, who, now well over 70. has been teaching learners. As some of the band are too young to be allowed out for the evening practice, Fred arranges another on Saturday mornings. His band is now ringing Triples.

Three Kent stalwarts Messrs. R. J. Carlton, C. T. Hillis and A. Waddingtonreturned to peal ringing after an absence of about a year, in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Willesborough, on October 26th. The peal honoured Miss Rosemary Gower, a ringer at Willesborough since her schooldays. It was for her wedding and a arewell to her in leaving the parish. Best wishes Rosemary !
Mr. Cyril Watts was unable to do his duties as toastmaster at the College Youths' dinner. He is in Peking on a business engagement.

Mr. Fred Pickard, a ringer at Southwell Minster for over 50 years, died on October 16 th, aged 81.
All Saints ${ }^{\circ}$, East Meon, Hants, has a regular Sunday service ringer in Mr. R. Fisher. For his 97 th birthday a quarter peal was rung on October 24th. He must be our oldest ringer.
The Swansea and Brecon Guild is 40 years old. The anniversary was commemorated by a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at St. Mary's, Swansea.

The peal attempt for Stedman Triples at Crediton for Martin F. Lock's 21st birthday was lost after an hour's good ringing. Compensation was a quarter of Plain Bob Major at Newton St. Cyres.
Mr. W. S. Childs, a ringer for over 60 years at St. Mary's Church, Denham, Bucks, died on October 26 th , aged 86 years. A quarter peal was rung by his friends on October 30 th with bells half-muffled.

The first peal attempt on the 12 bells at Liverpool Cathedral was made last Saturday. Grandsire Cinques was attempted with two men on the tenor and two on the eleventh. We are informed that 'Stand' was called after 40 minutes.
Master Tommy Harvey, the four-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Harvey of Topsham, is already showing an interest in ringing. On the recent Torre outing he insisted on ringing a bell at Musbury with the help of his father, and again at the practice at Buckfast Abbey on October 23rd.

ADVICE TO A YOUNG RINGER

You've learned to ring the treble very well. son.
And ringing rounds you feel is rather nice.
But method ringing you will find much more fun
If you will make a note of this advice
If you can keep your place when all about you Are losing theirs and blaming it on you. The leader looks as if he wants to clout you And the others are all frowning at you too. If you'll persist though there is none to love you.
In time you'll understand they're glad to have you,
It gives them somewhere they can lay the blame.
They start you off, dear learner, on the hunt bell
And though you think they're helpful when you're new You'll see at length when you have learnt to hunt wel
That you're the quarry-they are hunting you
But. if you can keep your irritation under,
And not be daunted when they criticise,
And realise that even they can blunder
Although they talk so big and look so wise. One day, when on the inside they must fit you, A novice you can put the blame upon.
Will cover the mistakes you won't admit to And-by this you'll know-

You are a Ringer, son
With apologies to R. K. M. S. M. (Composed when feeling all twisted and bitter after attending a disappointing practice night).

THE HESSE WEEK-END

The peal attempts to honour the memory of the late Major J. H. B. Hesse were arranged at Yatton and Wrington respectively during the week-end of October 18th-19th. An attempt for Plain Bob on Friday evening at Yatton was unsuccessful, but a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung afterwards.
A peal of Stedman Caters was rung at Wrington on Saturday, and afterwards the company were entertained to tea by Mrs. Hesse, who thanked the ringers, and said how much she enjoyed meeting them each year on this occasion. Mr. H. Sanger suitably replied on behalf of the company. Those present were Rev. B. Lee (Rector of Wrington). Mrs. Hesse, Rev. R. O. Fry. Mr. and Mrs. J. Chilcott. Mr, and Mrs H. W. Knight. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kingcot and Messrs. H. G. Bird. L. Derrick, G. Hawkins, E. T. Lee. G. Pullin, G. Prescott, S. G. Smith and H. J. Sanger

SURREY AND SUSSEX JOINT MEETING

The annual joint meeting of the Southern District of the Surrey Association and the Northern Division of the Sussex Association was held at Capel and Ockley on October 19th. The sun deigned to shine and lured a somewhat larger crowd than could have been expected due to the rather awkward situation of the two towers.
Ringing took place at Ockley from 3 to 4.15 The bells were found somewhat hard to handle and difficult to strike and. on being run down, the tenor came down rather quicker than expected, the cause being a broken gudgeon.
After Evensong at Capel, the company sat down to a hearty tea in the saloon bar of The King's Head. Ringing then continued in the somewhat cramped conditions of Capel belfry, which was rapidly filled to capacity and, as the evening progressed. became very warm. In spite of the heat, the ringing maintained a good standard, and methods rung ranged from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Minor.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Chew Branch

A tribute to the Rev. H. S. Urch, former Rector of Backwell. to whose memory a halfmuffled quarter peal was rung, was paid by Mr. J. Brain at the quarterly meeting of the Chew Branch at Chew Magna on October 26th. He was a ringer and a great friend of ringers, said Mr. Brain. The decision of the Association's peal secretary not to stand for re-election was announced, and two new members from Portbury and one from Easton-in-Gordano were elected.

The service was conducted by the Rev. C, M Luxmore-Ball, and an excellent tea provided by the ladies for 41 members and friends.

November practice meeting, Kingston Seymour: Branch A.G.M., Wrington, December 7th (subject to permission).

ST. MARY MAGDALENE'S, WOOLWICH

About two years ago the fine ring of eight at St. Mary Magdalene's. Woolwich, became silent No one would ring on Sundays and only three or four arrived for practice. The young people of the church made an appeal for volunteers to learn to ring; their plea was answered and many hours have been spent teaching recruits. St. Mary's has now a team of 14, ten of whom are new to the art, recruited in the last ten months.

We are not pretending to be top class ringers,' write John D. Curtis and Trevor Gibb. - but we are improving by leaps and boundsdue to regular practice. We also ring on Sundays before Evensong for an hour. At least. we ring rounds and call-changes as they should be ruag.'
They are also learning handbells, and hope to be able to go out at Christmas and collect for the old people of Woolwich.

ABOUT OURSELVES

AS some of our readers will know, the editorial office has recently been moved to a new building at Robertson House, Leas Road, Guildford, but our postal address is still the same (c/o Woodbridge Press, Ltd., Onslow Street, Guildford), with the same telephone number (Guildford 5028). The printing works are a seven minutes' walk from the editor's office, and this means that the close liaison which was possible because one only had to cross a corridor is not quite so easy. This may, therefore, be a convenient time to tell readers something of our method of working.

To be economical a modern rotary printing press must be used as near to capacity as is possible. Each publication produced on it must, therefore, have its regular day and time for the final printing. After that the pages have to be cut and stapled, and the postal copies must be given their addressed wrappers by each Wednesday morning. To fit in with these times the paper must be set up in its final form by Tuesday mid-day.

This means that in each week galley proofs of articles, peals, quarter peals, notices, etc., after being edited, must be set up and read by the preceding Friday, so that the editor's 'make-up' of the paper can be prepared. You, our contributors, can help to work to this timetable, and indeed many of you do. The Editor must often say to himself as he opens a letter: 'Ah! from so-and-so. He knows what we want.' Often, alas, he says, I am sure, something quite the contrary! So what follows is largely addressed to those new contributors who will, I am sure, be helpful when they know what is easiest for the Editor.
(1) If your contribution must for any reason be printed in a particular issue, try to get it to the Editor before the preceding week-end. It must arrive no later than first post on the Monday, and even then it may miss the press. Monday is for obvious reasons the heaviest day for mail -most newsworthy ringing is done on Saturdays and Sundays, and many people then have the time to write. While most of this mail may not be urgent, the Editor cannot know that until he has read it all.
(2) Do please send your varying items of news on separate sheets of paper, written on one side only. Sometimes a communication is received giving details on one sheet of paper of a peal, a quarter peal, perhaps a notice of meeting, perhaps a request for peal cards and often a piece of very welcome news for Belfry Gossip. Peals have to be sorted in date order and according to the number of bells involved; quarter peals in alphabetical order of places rung; quarter peal cards must be printed from a separate draft (in peal form); notices must be sorted, and those of meetings must be in date order and alphabetical order, and must be referenced for payment and according to the number of insertions required; the gossip items must also be separated from the rest. This could well involve so much copying out that, apart from the risk of mistakes, publication time may be missed.
(3) When you send details of a peal or quarter peal. check the form of your details against a recent copy of 'The Ringing World.' This will save the Editor having to alter it and will help you to include everything that is necessary. Further correspondence because the name of the town, or the association, or the conductor, or even the method, has been omitted can be expensive.
(4) If you want quarter peal cards, please enclose a second copy of the details, written out in 'peal' form.
(5) If you need to send a remittance with your letter, please check that you have remembered to enclose it.
(6) If you regularly send notices for publication on payment, open an account with our accountant. Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall. You will save on poundage and will not miss a post because you have to go to the Post Office for a money order. You will also simplify the job of preparing your Association's annual accounts-the Editor will save the work of dealing with the money. Do make it clear in which issues you wish your notice to appear, and check that you have given all the details you want known.
Now, after all these do's and don'ts, may I say that I know the Editor is grateful for your support, both as readers and as contributors of news or money, and that he welcomes your letters. He may not always be able to print all you send-he may have to cut some of it; but he never takes such decisions lightly. If his postbag were empty there would be no news, and therefore no 'Ringing World.'

326th Anniversary Dinner of College Youths' Society

THE MASTER QUOTES DIGNITY OF ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL AS EXAMPLE TO BELFRIES RECTOR OF BOW TAKES REFUGE IN PICTURES FROM PEAL ATTEMPT - C.Y. LIBRARY NOW AT ST. PAUL'S

'THE tradition of 326 years was well maintained at the anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths held at the Bridge House Restaurant, London Bridge, on November 2nd. The double room was crowded to capacity when the Master. Mr. Michael V. Chilcott. made his dignified entry escorted by the senior steward. Mr. J. Phillips. and the junior steward. Mr. Rodney B. Meadows
During the meal College Youths of 60 and over years standing and those of 50 years were honoured. and the Master also took wine with his officers. It was appropriate that on the top table there was a loving cup presented by Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, the memorial service to whom many of those present had attended earlier in the day. The cup commemorated the tercentenary year of the Society, when Mr. Lewis was Master
In offering a personal welcome to the company the Master said he knew for many of them it was the highlight of the ringing year. and he thanked them for their support in making it once again such a happy and successful occasion. He had a special welcome for Canon Hood, a member of the Chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral. who was attending for the first time, and also for Canon Thurlow. to whom he offered his congratulations on his election as president of the Central Council.
Coming to the subject of his toast. 'The Church,' the Master said an entertaining feature of these dinners some years ago was the annual skirmish which took place beween several gentlemen from the North and South banks of the Thames. At one time it almost seemed as though a Holy War was being waged across London Bridge. The result now appeared to be an away win for the gentlemen of the North. following the posting to Guildford of one of the more aggressive South bankers (Bishop Reindorp) Perhaps the name of the conflict reached higher circles and it was felt that his departure would be in the hest interest of Church unity in London

WASHING ST. PAUL'S FACE
Since last year St. Paul's had been attracting much attention : the Dean and Chapter had been washing its face. Perhaps it was their experience in caring for the young members of the choir school which led them to make a start with a good scrub behind the ears. It was. in fact. the right ear. in other words the bell tower. where this formidable task was begun. and the ringers had suffered some discomfort at times. A slow trickle of cold water down the back while ringing was not an aid to concentration. However. with the work of the west front now nearly complete. some really spiendid results had been achieved and there must be many who, in these past few months. had looked at the Cathedral again with fresh eyes. and some who had been encouraged to pass inside.
This cleaning of the west front was only the latest of many works of restoration modernisation and improvement that had been carried out at St. Paul's over a very long period. In all this work great care had been taken by men who loved the building to ensure that they had done nothing to mar, but rather enhance. Wren's masterpiece.

Pointing out that the Church today had to compcte with the clamour of many commercial interests, the Master said one thing which could easily be lost was the Church's dignity. Dignity was. he felt, a most valuahle quality. providing it did not tend to pomposity, for it commanded respect, and without the respect of the man in the street the Church could not he effective.

DIGNITY AND RESPECT

At st. Paul's a quiet dignity prevanled giving to its services a most impressive and moving quality. Their Society enjoyed the privilege of providing the ringers for St. Paul's, and it was therefore appropriate that they should maintain a similar dignity in their ringing and other affairs. This he thought they tried to do.

MR. MICHAEL V. CHILCOTT

EXAMPLE OF EDWIN LEWIS
Twenty-six years ago at their tercentenary dinher the chair was occupied by Edwin Lewis That morning, at St. Michael's. Cornhill, many were present to pay tribute to his memory. He was a man who, in a very full life, found time to be a true servant of the Exercise It was not in all of them to make such great contributions to ringing as he did. But they could follow his example of enthusiasm and wholehearted effort in their ringing. If they could do this they would have gone a long way towards making it a worthy advertisement for the Church: for this was what it should be. just as much as the west front of St. Paul's. or the soaring 'spire of St. Mary-leBow. or the lovely music of St. Michael's; Cornhill. So, remembering our audience. concluded the Master. 'which has better ears han we often give it credit for, let us ensure that our ringing makes a real contribution to the Church's task of making its voice heard oday.
Canon F. Hood. chancellor of St. Paul's Cathedral, who replied. said until the invitation to the dinner arrived he knew very little about the Ancient Society of College Youths. He was preaching at a Harvest Festival in a small country church in Sussex and asked one of the young ringers if he was a member of their Society. He replied, "No." as if it was the most august thing in the world. It was not until he had their booklet and discovered the awful things they had to do before they were eligible to join that he realised the privilege of their membership.

Canon Hood said his own interest in bellringing began when he read The Nine Tailors. He used to know Dorothy Sayers very well at Oxford. She looked like the Queen of Sheba and nobody could believe she was married

We at Si. Paul's owe very much to the Society and it is a pleasure to me to meet and entertain you as part of our family and worship with you. All over the Commonwealth there are members of your Society and our new Archdeacon, who was Dean of Christchurch. New Zealand. tells me they have 10 bells there and that when their ringers come over here you give them a great welcome. I visit America every year and thought there were no bells ihere until Mr. Sharpe told me about Washington. I understand St. Paul's. Melbourne, has 12 bellsthe only 12 outside of Britain, and that a ringer from that Cathedral is present (George W. Pipe).'

THE CHIMES WOULD NOT STOP

The toast of "The Ancient Society of College Youths was proposed by the Rev. J. McCulloch, Rector, St. Mary-le-Bow. who said he had a confession to make, that he now lived under Bow bells. which was a rather perilous sort of thing to do. particularly as they had new chimes, because they could not always get 12 men at 1.15 on Thursdays. As he was going to the service he pressed the button and away went the bells. But the thing would not stop. He began the service and could still hear the bells going like mad. They had masses of workmen overhead, but they could not stop the bells, which went on for over an hour. It did not occur to anyone to press the button harder-the bells would then go for eight minutes and stop. He came to the conclusion that it would be better to stick to 12 good men.

Next Saturday, he understood that the Society was proposing to ring a peal on Bow bells: he proposed to go to the pictures. (Laughter.) This was their 326th anniversary dinner and he thought there was a great future for the Society. For one thing they had discovered the spirit of comradeship. If this happened from pulling ropes carry on for a thousand years. "but tell me in time and I will go to the pictures!'

The secretary, Mr. John E. Chilcott, before replying. gave the list of apologies. These were from Bishon Wand. Henry Hodgetts. Harry Miles. Alan R. Macdonald, A. YorkBramble. Russell Young (Groton. Mass). Richard W. Sumner. Albert A. Hughes Cyril Watts (from Peking). Hervey Bagot (from Canberra). Michael Gathercole (Port of Spain) and Norman Harding. The telegram from Cyril Watts read. "Best wishes for truly successful evening. Another telegram of - best wishes to all at the 326th anniversary dinner and compliments to the Master,' was received from Mr. H. A. Hughes. They would be pleased to know, said Mr. Chilcott. that he was recovering from his operation and hoped next year to be in his usual place.

He thought they could safely say that his year's dinner had been very successful and with 220 they had as many people as the room would hold.

RIVAL THE BEATLES AT LIVERPOOL

During the year they had elected 39 new members. They did not count their growing strength in the number of members, but in the quality. and they valued the care, particularly of provincial members, in their selection of candidates. Their new members had come from 19 counties. of which the leading county was Lancashire. They elected seven from Lancashire (five from Liverpool) and soon they would have sufficient members there to ring on 12 bells. 'I am pleased to say that Liverpool can produce College Youths as well as breed Beatles.

Since the last dinner. continued Mr. Chilcott. 18 peals had been rung in 11 counties, from Devon to Lancashire. These were Doubles 1. Triples 5. Major 3. Stedman Caters 3. Stedman Cinques 4. Surprise Maximus 2. A peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Tottenham in memoriam Edwin H. Lewis. Other in memoriam peals were for Samuel J. Hector Alan A. Hilliar. Ernest Morris and one in thanksgiving for the life and work of Horace Belcher. A silent Stedman Cinques peal was rung at Cornhill on the 50th anniversary of the first silent Cinques on tower bells of which Herbert Langdon was the sole survivor. The deal of Holt's Original at East Grinstead was for the 150 th anniversary of the first peal on the bells

LOSSES BY DEATH
The company stood in silence while the following who had died were remembered: Alan A. Hilliar (joined 1948), Joseph A. Tomlinson (1948). Bertie W. Aldridge (1939). George Cook (1912). William G. Newberry (1930), Ernest Stitch (1948). Frank Oakshott (1950), William T. Prior (1898). Jack Lydiard (1936), Robert E. Coles (1949), Edward H. Adams (1890). Edwin H. Lewis (1903), Lewis W. Wiffin (1902). Herbert W. Lidbetter (1908). Thomas H. Taffender (1893), A. Charles Hazelden (1921).
The usual Sunday ringing had been maintained in the City, and also practices. continued Mr. Chilcott. They had their out-oftown meeting at Maidstone, which was a small but successful gathering. The Master had referred and congratulated Canon Gilbert Thurlow on his election as president of the Central Council-he would like to extend their congratulations to their old member. Mr. Frederick Sharpe, for his work as president of the Central Council and on the success of his isit to the United States.
That morning at the memorial service to Mr . Lewis it was believed that someone took a recording of the service. If that person was present would he contact Mr. Sharge.
The provincial members would be interested that in the past year they had revised the rules of the Society in draft form. They did not affect the Society to any great extent. but it might affect the election of new members. The booking fee for peals was now 2 s . a rope. They had received an invitation to hold their next provincial meeting at Cardiff. probably on June 6 th, but the date would be announced in 'The Ringing World. Next year's dinner would be held on October 31st. The secretary thanked the officers and those who had catalogued the property of the Society. which was now housed in the ringing room in St. Paul's Cathedral. They had 178 volumes available for loan to members. They had a name book which was completely up to date and it was part of the bequest from the Rev. Llewellyn Edwards.
Concluding, he thanked the Master for an extremely good year and said in the next Master to be elected (Mr. J. Phillips) they had one who had done a lot for the ringing Exercise in London.

CUMBERLAND AND C.Y. PEAL

In a witty speech Mr. J. D. Rock proposed The Visitors and Kindred Societies. Referring to Mr. McCulloch's proposal to visit the cinema during the peal attempt at Bow. Mr. Rock suggested that the film he should see was . Beau Geste. They had with them a member of the Cumberlands. who was the only Cumberland to have his name in a College Youth peal. He referred to Mr. E. A Barnett, who umpired the silent peal. Speaking to kindred societies he welcomed Mr. Denis Beresford, as Master of the Cumberlands, and he thanked him and his brother. Peter. and sister. Joan. for all they had done for London ringing.
The Rev. G. R. Dunstan. superintendent of the belfry. Westminster Abbey, replied and expressed the debt of the Abbey authorities to Mr. H. Pitstow and his ringers. When he was learning to ring in a country parish the foreman exclaimed. Drat-en. Us can't teach-ee. Ee's a scholar. He was married and his wife was a bellringer and he had learnt this essential lesson-io stand in the corner and say nothing (Laughter.) Mr. F. E. Hansford, of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, replied for the kindred societies and said if they did not have the Ancients there would not be a lot of ringing today. In Bristol they had 30 members of the Ancient Society who did their stuft on Sundays and practice nights.

The concluding toast. 'The Fragrant Memory of the Masters of 300,200 and 100 years ago,' was proposed by the Master. He said in 1663 ringing was in a very primitive stage, and their Society was very much in the nature of an exclusive sporting club and it included many men who held high office. They knew nothing about Samuel Weaver. the Master. In 1763 there were various clashes of personalities. and in this period the Society was split into two different parties. Unfortunately they had no record of the Master. The Master in 1863 was George S. Shurry. He was a member of the St. Mary Abbot's. Kensington, band, and was not a particularly notable ringer. but he must have been regarded well by his fellows as in a zeriod of five years he served as Master for tour years. The toast was honoured in silence.
The customary course of Stedman Cinques was rung by Michael V. Chilcott $1-2$, William T. Cook 3-4. Stewari F. W. Kimber 5-6. Wilfred Williams 7-8. John Chilcoti 9-10. Michael P. Moreton 11-12.

ANOTHER RING OF BELLS IN AFRICA

On St. Luke's Day a ring of four bells was dedicated in St. Luke's Church, Que Que a small mining town in Southern Rhodesia The dedication was performed by the Bishop of Matabeleland (the Rt. Rev. Kenneth Skelton), and the bells commemorate the 50th anniversary of the laying of the foundation stone of the present church.
To ring for the service four ringers from Salisbury Cathedral travelled nearly 200 miles. They were Peter Raynor (Ringing Master). James Milford. Colin Stevenson and Ken Cross. and they joined A. B. Berrington, of Selukwe, who has taken on the responsibility of instructing four very keen men
The tower was built for six bells, but only sufficient money was raised for four bells, the sum subscribed being over $£ 1.000$.
The bells are named after four people who had long associations with Que Que, viz:
Treble.-Janet (in memory of Mrs. Rebecca Janet Fowler. died 1959. having lived at Que Que since 1920).
Second.-John (in memory of Mr. John W. Reid. the town chemist, in the 1900's).
Third-Ada (in memory of Mrs. Ada Sohr, teacher, who died in 1956).
Tenor.-Agnes, weighing $5 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. in memory of Mrs. Agnes Mullett. mother of a former Rector. the Rev. J. St. H. Mulleti)

HARLINGTON'S LEG OF PORK SUPPER

Overjoyed at Parliament being saved by the capture of Guy Fawkes. an unknown lady left $\frac{1}{2}$ acre of land at Harlington. Middlesex, to provide for the bells of the Parish Church to be rung on November 5th, and also to provide a leg of pork supper for the ringers. This has been faithfully observed since 1605 . the only break being between 1939-1945.
A company of 26 ringers and friends attended the 359th Leg of Pork Supper on November 1st at Wistowe House. Hayes, the Rector (the Rev. R. J. Bartlett) being in the chair and proposing the loyal toast
Mr. L. Grice (captain of the ringers) proposed the toast of the evening. The Unknown Donor.' 'The Beiliningers' was proposed by Miss Heather Walters and Miss Wendy Smith (vice-captain) replied that the standard of ringing had been good over last year. with the bells rung regularly on Sundays for Matins and Evensong. Mr. C. Fynes made an able renly for the visitors.
A fine entertainment was provided by the Rector at the piano, aided by the curates-the Revs. Paul Cain and David Bennett. This was the most youthful and entertaining Leg of Pork Supper I have attended in the posthar years,' concludes L. G.

As Washington Cathedral Opening of Bells

Dear Sir.-During a recent business trip to the United States I had the unexpected privilege and pleasure of taking part in the inaugural ringing of the new ten at Washington Cathedral, on Sunday. October 20th.

One does some pretty mad things for the sake of ringing, but that day was for me even madder than most. I was in Washington on the 18 th and discovered that the bells were to be opened on the 20th. and asked to be at the Cathedral by 11.30 a.m.

On the Sunday I was in Clarksburg, W. Virginia, some 200 miles from Washington. Examination of the flight time tables showed that it was possible to get to Washington by way of Pitsburgh on a Sunday morning by 12.30 . This seemed worth a try, although it was equivalent, say, to going from Bristol to Dover by way of Sheffield. Due partly to the time zoning in the U.S. and partly to my own stupidity I got to the flight barrier at Pittsburgh just in time to see the Washington plane take off. I was undecided whether to continue as there was not another plane for two hours, but decided to risk it. Eventually I arrived at Washington Cathedral as the ten were going in call changes and very good they sounded. Fortunately there was more ringing after that and I was privileged to take part in a couple of touches of Stedman Triples with the boys from Groton School. Mass, who had flown down especially for the week-end. It was a great pleasure to meet them, their Master, Russell Young, Warren Sturgis from New York, Richard Dirksen, the new captain at Washington, and to renew acquaintance with Harry Parkes.

The bells are hung Liverpool Cathedral style and. although the tower is only half the size $0^{+}$Liverpool, there was room enough for a great many curious people to watch the ringing and to applaud the conclusion of each tnuch. Amongst them was the Cathedral architect. to whom each new addition to this uncompleted building was clearly a delight. Already the Cathedral, on its commanding hill, is a landmark in Washington and when completed will be a wonderful sight.

Any ringer thinking of taking a job or a holiday in Washington will be more than welcome for there are a great many learners hut insufficient experience available. Enthusiasm is not wanting.
The flight back to Clarksburg was less eventful and I estimated my full day s travelling had heen 550 miles: the furthest I have ever heen for Sunday service ringing and the first time by plane.-Yours, etc.,

Stoke Bishop, Bristol. PHILIP GRAY.

Long Length of Yorkshire Stopped

Dear Sir.-It was puzzling to me to read that after the attempt on the long length of Yorkshire Surprise Royal had been stopped after ringing seven courses ( 2.520 changes) owing to the required level of ringing not having been achieved. the band were able to ring two peals-Cambridge Surprise Royal and London Surprise Major-immediately after.
Can one take it they were able to settle down quickly in these two peals, or was it that a lower level of ringing was considered to be quite acceptable in a mere 5.000 changes than in the longer length!-Yours, etc..
W. J.

Oxon.

First Peal in Scotland

Dear Sir,-I am very curious to know more about the peal mentioned by Mr. Frank Blagrove in his letter published on November 1st. He tells us that a peal of 5.040 Plain Bob Triples was reported rung in 1859 on a 33 cwt . ring of eight, installed in 1858 , in Aberdeen, presumably in St. Nicholas' Church. Any owner of Dove will tell us that the only bells mentioned in Aberdeen are the nine chiming ones at the Roman Catholic Cathedral and the 48 -bell carillon at St. Nicholas' a fact confirmed by most Scottish ringers 1 have consulted on the subject.
The peal report and the information Mr Blagrove gives us about the bells sound perfectly genuine. and give no cause to sucgest any fabrication, so obviously the fact that these bells existed is no myth. Dove. however, would surely not overlook such a ring, were it there loday, which leads one to the incvitable conclusion that at some time between now and 1859 these bells were removed.
My collection of 'R.W.s does not. unfortunately, go back as far as 1958 so I cannot follow up Mr. Blagrove's recommendation to read the article Bells of Aberdeenshire. I should be grateful if anyone would satisfy my curiosity and supply more information about the bells in addition to that already known by Mr . Blagrove.-Yours faithfully, Airlie Hall, Dundee. PETER T. DALE.

An American Parson Learning Ringing

Dear Sir.-At the quarterly meeting of the Kettering Branch of the Peterborough Guild the Rev. Warwick Aiken. jun., interim Rector ot the parish of Barton Seagrave, was elected an honorary member of the Guild and presented with its ,bage.
Mr. Aiken is an American on a one year's exchange with the Rev. L. Gurth Fothergill. of Barton Seagrave. Since arriving in this country last February, he has been a regular attender at weekly practices and is now a useful member of the tower band.

He hopes to enlighten people in the U.S.A. on the very English custom of church bell ringing, and has already quite a number of stories relating to bell ringing to tell his American friends.

One of these is really quite amusing. He recently paid a visit to Warwick Castle and then to a church in the town. where a wedding was taking place. The bells were heing rung in rounds. Another typical. American tourist and his wife were also walking up the path at the same time, and Mr. Aiken heard this second American say, 'Can't that man up there play any other tune?'

To him who already knows quite a bit about ringing, it was most amusing!

He also has quite a number of films of the bells in our tower and also shots of ringing taking place, as well as lape recordings of ringing.-Yours faithfully,

Barton Seagrave. M. DOWNHAM.

Withdrawn

Dear Sir--Due to difficulties over membership, the peals at Lanbadarn Fawr, Machynlleth, Portmadoc. Bangor. Beaumaris, Rhyl and Ruabon. published in "The Ringing World of October 25th, as having been rung for the North Wales Association. cannot be credited to them. They must therefore be regarded as non-Association peals.-Yours faithfully.

The Extreme South

Dear Sir.-Your contributor of Friday, November 1st, is mistaken in supposing that Cornwall has the most southerly rings of bells in the British Isles. According to Dove's Guide, there are three rings south of Cornwall: from north to south these are: St. Anne's, Alderney (6), St. Michel-du-Valle, Guernsey (6), and St. Peter Port, Guernsey (8). The Forest Church, Guernsey, has four bells, which I suspect are hung for ringing; if so, this is the most southerly ring in the British Isles.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN DAVID.

'Irony from Rutland'

Dear Sir,-In your issue of November 1st, 1963, you report certain observations under 'Irony from Rutland,' on which I respectfully beg to comment.

Your correspondent appears to delight in 'taking the mickey' out of a report published in 'The Daily Mirror' concerning a peal to be rung at Oakham as part of the celebrations commemorating the county's victory to remain independent. Let is all have a giggle on this report, for surely anyone with knowledge of ringing would not take the article seriousiy. Rather than the reporter being misinformed, could it possibly be that the reporter misinterpreted the information he was given?
However, there is no justification for your correspondent to continue his satiric comments with regard to the ringers of Rutland. It is agreed that from the county a band could not be mustered to ring the proposed peal. After all, we are all dependent on one another from time to time. In a county where only two rings of eight exist most of the ringing is centred in the five- and six-bell towers, where your correspondent would do well to visit and lend a hand with the many youngsters that are making progress.
May we now have a giggle at the expense of your correspondent-for he is as far from the truth as 'The Daily Mirror, in saying that 80 per cent of the band will be Leicestershire ringers. In fact, two ringers were resident in Rutland, three in Nottinghamshire and three in Leicestershire
Finally. I would take the liberty, on behalf of the people of Rutland, in putting on record their appreciation of the efforts of the peal band, particularly of the able conductor who put off a previously arranged engagement in order to make the attempt possible.-Yours faithfully,
E. ALAN JACQUES

Morcott, Rutland.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W.' November 14th, 1913.-

The inquiry as to what tower could go one better than Irthlingborough. where 160 peals have been rung in 20 years, has come from exactly the quarter we expected it. Mr. H. H. Chandler, now of Hillingdon, writes: 'Will you please allow me space to congratulate the Irthlingborough band on their record of 160 peals on the 20 th anniversary of the opening of the bells. As to the inquiry whether there has been a tower in which more peals have been rung in the time, I may say, that two trebles were added to the old six at Warnham, Sussex, to make up a ring of eight, in 1886. By 1896 there had been rung on the bells 200 peals. most of them conducted by myself. and included 13.440 Canterbury Pleasure Major. 10,176 Treble Bob and two 6.720 's in one day. We used to think nothing of starting for a peal every evening all the week and two on Sundays. This nas been done a good many times.'

LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL OUTING

Llandaff Cathedral Guild spent an enjoyable and worth while day in Gloucestershire on October 26 th. The outing began well with a prompt start. and the handbell exponents soon found that, in spite of 'pop' competition, they were not so far out of practice on the saucer bells.
Barnwood (8. 10 cwt .) was reached early and the handy ring was well used for the halfhour, with a rather slow course of Cambridge Major and a faster touch of Stedman. The many learners coped well with the bells, before presenting their charms to the photographers of the party. The run through the beech woods on to the Cotswolds showed the countryside at its best, and the fine little town of Painswick displayed its magnificent Cotswold stone buildings. The glorious 12 ( $26 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). with its long and distinguished pedigree of record length peals, perhaps inspired us to an above-average touch of musical Grandsire Caters. With the moderate skill available, rounds on the 12 was deemed wisest.
At Stroud, we arrived on the last day of the Religious Drama Festival, and the melodious Taylor 10 ( $20 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) ran round in excellent style to some more inspired Caters. Everyone performed well here, but spirits fell again soon when it was discovered that the coach driver had departed leaving the coach locked with our well-earned picnic lunches within. Solace was sought in local hostelries, until the driver's return. Some erratic map-reading made us late at Cirencester, together with the delay caused when the coach reversed into an inoffensive Anglia hehind! However, the bridal party at Cirencester (Watermoor) were heralded by an unexpected louch on the melodious eight (191 $\mathbf{c}$ cwt.). A variety of touches went well, including Stedman Triples, and also Cambridge Major, until the treble became too individualistic. A warm welcome awaited us at Malmesbury, where we rang on the fine eight ( 11 cwt )., hung in the tower-which is all that remains of the old Parish Church, standing on the edge of the venerable Abbey.

Some brisk driving brought us up to schedule again at the last tower, Dursley. The tower was admired by the last rays of the summer time sun. and the melodious bells ( $8,19 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) were even more appreciated when they rang out to Stedman Triples and Kent Major. The ground floor pull made some of the learner a little uneasy, but not too many stays were tested here. or elsewhere for that matter! Darkness had finally come as we made our way to Gloucester for the evening's divertisement.
A surprisingly sedate trip. through some foggy patches along the Severn Estuary, brought us back to Cardiff in excellent shape to enjoy the extra hour in bed following the end of this aptly-timed outing. Our hearty thanks go to organisers. incumbents and local ringers. CAMPANAMANUAL.

CORRECTIONS

In the peal at North Muskham (page 700) the ringer of the tenor was Harold Stevenson, and not Charles J. Copp as submitted.
The peal of Kent T.B. at Evesham on October 19th was not the first of Maximus in the method for F. R., but it was the first peal of Maximus for David P. Hilling.
The peal of Plain Bob Triples at Deptford (see page 754) was not Denby P. Murduck's first peal. but his first of Triples.

ST. JOHN'S SOCIETY IN SOMERSET

(For peals see last issue)
The second tour of the St. John's Society was in Somerset, with headquarters at Chewton Mendip. Camp was pitched on a Sunday afternoon in time for joining the local band in service ringing at Chewton Mendip.
The first peal attempt was at Wellow on Monday, where a peal of seven Minor was scored in rather quick time for a 22 cwt. tenor. Ringing in the afternoon was at Cheddar. In the evening we made our way to Yeovil, but found that the practice was off. Here we met Trevor Cross and company, who had come with the same intention.
On Tuesday morning an attempt was made at Midsomer Norton for Cambridge Major, but owing to the lack of rhythm the bells were stopped after $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours; nevertheless, on our way back to the car we were complimented on our ringing by a local ringer. Other ringing that day was at Kilmersdon, Evercreech and Queen Camel.
Wednesday was a busy day, with morning ringing at Litton, East Harpree and Hinton Blewitt. We were invited by Philip to lunch at Tudor Farm. Three members afterwards complained of tiredness, hut for all that they were whisked off to Drayton to ring a quarter peal of Yorkshire instead of a peal, Returning to his van, Benny had an altercation with an angry voman with a Zephyr Six, who told him that bellingers were all the same-trespassers, rude and inconsiderate. She threatened to prosecute the next lot who parked their cars there. The beautiful six at Long Sutton and St. Cuthbert's, Wells, concluded the day's programme.
On Thursday, our last day, we rang a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Beckington-not without difficulties. as near the end several of the bells showed signs of a lack of oil. The evening was spent at Ditcheat, joining the locals at their practice.
Our list of 'thank yous' go to incumbents and ringing masters; Mr. Green, of East End Farm, for the use of his field ; and to Mick for his organisation.
R. J. B.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Lewisham District

The annual meeting of the Lewisham District at Chelsfield on October 26 th was attended by about 45 members and friends. To many members this was their first opportunity of ringing at the tower since the new floor had been put in. This was considered by everyone (with the possible exception of a few ladies who suffered from cold feet-no stiletto heels!) to be a great improvement.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. R. King), Miss J. Wright, a local ringer, played the organ and the lesson was read by Mr. E. Barnett.
After a most enjoyable tea, provided by the Chelsfield ringers and their mothers, a short business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Rev. Peter N. Bond. The retiring Ringing Master, Mr. J. D. Faircloth, was thanked for his services and Mr. D. Manger, of Chelsfield, elected to that office for the following year. The other officers were reelected and six new members were elected. Further ringing concluded another happy meeting.

Marlborough Branch

The October meeting of the Marlborough Branch was held at the Ogbournes on October 26th. but the event did not, for some undefined reason, attract the usual good number oi members. Those who did attend were from Aldbourne, Chisledon, Marlborough, Collingbourne Ducis, and ringers were also present from Marlborough College and Swindon.
Ringing commenced at Ogbourne St. Andrew, where the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rey. H. W. Dunn), with Mr. Alan Keen at the organ. Tea was laid on in the Village Hall at Ogbourne St. George, by Mrs. Whitting and helpers, and thoroughly enjoyed. Everyone was delighted to welcome Mr. A. Whitting, captain of the local tower, who, owing to illness, has had to give up ringing for the time being. He arranged for his handbells to be available, and these were rung after tea. much to the appreciation of all present. Mr. George Newman (chairman), on behalf of the Branch, thanked all who had contributed to the afternoon's arrangements and welcomed the visitors.
Ringing was afterwards resumed at St . George. the party being augmented by Mr . Eric Sutton and a friend from Swindon, and some really good ringing ensued. Methods included Plain Bob, Grandsire. Stedman and St. Simon's Doubles.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

An enjoyable meeting of Sheffield & District Society was held at Conisbrough Parish Church on November 2nd, when, despite a rather low attendance due to competition of the College Youths' dinner, some very good ringing was produced on this handy eight.
A number of ringers came and went before tea, but those who stayed were well cared for by the Vicar's wife and her co-helpers. who displayed the usual hospitality so often enjoyed at Conisbrough.
A good variety of methods, including London, Bristol and Spliced Surprise Major, was rung. whilst those desiring more elementary methods were well catered for by touches of Plain Bob Minor and Major, Grandsire, Little Bob Major and rounds.
Next meeting: Penistone, December 7th (subject to confirmation).

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Tewkesbury Branch was held at Tewkesbury Abbey on October 26th. The bells were raised shortly after $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and rounds and methods were rung befare the service. The Rev. P. G. C. Brett conducted the service, after which tea was taken.
During the business meeting three new junior members were elected. The new afficers for 1964 were also elected. Mr. F. R. Perks is now chairman and Mr. J. Attwood Ringing Master. The retiring chairman and Ringing Master, Mr. E. W. Penn, was thanked for his considerable services to the Branch during his years of office.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF GUERNSEY

By DAVID L. CAWLEY

HE Bailiwick of Guernsey, in so far as its Ecclesiastical History is concerned, has had some very troublesome times, but it is now a part of the Diocese of Winchester. It is therefore not surprising that many of the bells on the island should be hung for ringing in the English manner
On arrival at the harbour of St. Peter Port, the first notable building one sees is the magnificent 'Cathedral' - the Parish Church of St. Peter. This, the largest church on the island, has a late 15 th century central tower and spire. The early history of the bells here is not known, but in 1736 a ring of eight was placed in the tower by J.-B. Brocard, of Louvain. These were replaced by the present ring of eight in 1913. The bells were put up in memory of the late Rev. G. E. Lee, Rector, 1881-1912. They are French bells, cast by Corneille Harvard, of Ville Dieu, Brittany, the tenor weighing about $20 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in E flat. They have not been rung for over 30 years, though they have proper--if clumsy-ringing fittings, and proper ropes with sallies. An Ellacombe apparatus exists, and by this means the bells are sounded. There is also attached to this a piece of machinery resembling a mangle, which can be operated if required. The bells themselves are extremely French looking, long waisted, and with long inscriptions and hang in a massive timber frame with their huge headstocks and wheels

There is also a clock bell outside the spire. The writer was unable to obtain permission to ring, but the tone of the bells when chimed is very fine. Let us hope that before long St. Peter Port bells will ring again
There are several other churches in the town Holy Trinity has three clock bells hung 'dead' in an open turret-date about 1890, tenor approximately 4 cwt . St. John s, another three hung for ringing, but, alas, immobilised this year, though the ringing fittings could be used again if the pieces of metal securing the headstocks to the frame were removed. These bells tenor about 7 cwt ., were cast by Messrs. J. Warner, London, in 1887, and are now electrically sounded. St. James the Less has only one bell, inaccessible in a large has only one bell, inaccessible in a large round tower. This presumably is of the same date as the church (1818).

CHIME OF 11 BELLS

The Roman Catholic Church of St. Joseph has a chime of 11 bells. Originally there was only one bell, cast in 1854 at Whitechapel, and thirteen tubular bells, traces of which still exist. In 1909 a new chime of eight was erected the old single bell being the No. 4. A secitone bell, hung for swinging, was also installed. This work was carried out by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. In 1951 two further semitone bells were installed by the same foundry, making a chime of eleven. The bells hang in a very high tower and are grouped on beams in a hexagon. with the swinging bell below. The tenor weighs about $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in G. and the original nine are of very fine 'timbre.
Of more interest to practical ringers is the Church of St. Michel du Valle. This is the parish church of The Vale, and is a very ancient building. It has a low S.W. tower. with a heavy spire of a type typical on the island. There were formerly three bells, but in 1891 a new ring of six was installed in the spire, cast by Messrs. J. Warner, of London. These bells have been regularly rung, and still are, for Sunday service, and a few years ago a peal was rung on them by some English ringers. The writer had the pleasure of ringing one of them, and, although the belfry is very cramped, the bells go comparatively well. The tenor is about $7 \frac{\mathrm{cwt} \text {. There is }}{}$ also a small mission church with one bell

Another church of interest to our 'rabbits. is that of St. Marguerite de la Foret. at The Forest. This has a low south central tower, with four bells. tenor probably approximately $4 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. These are rung regularly, but are somewhat inaccessible, as at The Vale, as access has to be obtained from outside. They are rung from the church floor, and there is also a chiming apparatus. The writer was unable to obtain any historical information.

THE UNRINGABLES

The remaining bells on the island are un-ringable-with the possible exception of Ste Marie de Castro at Catel (Castle)-which the writer was unable to visit. The three bells at St. Pierre du Bois at St. Peter-in-the-Wood are French, dating from 1654, 1681 and (tenor) 1828, the latter from the Ville Dieu foundry. These were rehung with half-wheels by a French firm in 1995, on ball bearings. The Church of St. Martin de la Bellouse at St. Martin has a very unusual chime of three. These bells are French and have no wheels. They have been swung 'up' (as at East Bergholt) and then merely left, and fitted with chiming hammers, and sounded by a mangle.

The lofty tower and spire of St. Saviour's Church are a landmark to all arriving at the airport. Unfortunately I was unable to locate the turret key for this tower. There is a newel stair rupning the whole height, but around the font hang three ropes of the carthorse variety, which feel as though they are attached to the clappers of the bells.
As at St. Peter-in-the-Wood, the tenor is about 14 cwt ., but here the tone is poor. The church of Torteval, on the south-west point of the island, has three bells, two hung with levers and one with a wheel. The tenor weighs about 4 cwt . Orly one of these bells (inseriptionless) is in use. They probably date from c. 1818, when the church was rebuilt. This church has a round tower and spire, with a geometrical staircase running around the wall. similar to that in the southwest tower of St. Paul's, London. Near here is the village of St. Andrew, which possesses three bells, chimed by an apparatus, and apparently inaccessible. The only information the writer could glean was from the inscription on the apparatus-Mears and Stainbank. Founders, London. There followed the name of a French hell founder, who had apparently repaired it
The visitor to Guernsey must on no account miss the historic Parish Church of St. Sampson, the oldest on the island. This is mainly in the Norman-French style (all the churches have a somewhat French atmosphere), and has a low saddleback tower, with one bell, hung for swinging. There is also a very small bell over the north door, and this is a particularly long-waisted specimen. probably ancient. Unfortunately, the writer could not visit the churches of Castle (which has a large tower) or Cobo. but presumably the latter has but one bell

AT ALDERNEY

The neighbouring islands of Herm and Sark both have small churches, with one bell each. The story of the bells of Jersey is another tale, but the six bells on the island of Alderney. in the Victorian Church of St. Anne (tenor 10 cwt .), have bad a troublous history. They were cast in England c. 1854. when the present church was being erected (of the old church the tower alone remains). The bells were shipped over to Alderney, which is part of the Guernsey group of islands. in spite of its distance away, and duly hung. They were rung until the German occupation of $1 \overline{9} 40-45$; but during those years when Alderney was completely evacuated, the bells were removed from the tower and shipped to France to be turned into munitions: before this could be finally effected. the war was over, and the bells. One of them badly cracked. returned to St. Anne's. In 1953 it was decided to recast the bells: they were removel to Messrs. John Taylor and Co, at Loughbo, Dugh, and were rehung with completely new ringing fittings in that year. The tenor weighs 13 cwt . 1 чr. and is in $F$ sharp
Such is the tale of the bells of Guernsey What of the future? There is no instructor for the last surviving band at The Vale. The eight great bells in St. Peter Port Church have not been rung for years, and perhaps will never again echo over the lovely bay as they did on the occasion of the visit of King George V. The bells of St. Peter-in-theWood now have half-wheels, and there are barely enough ringers at the Forest. It seems that ringing must eventually come to a standstill in Guernsey. Surely visitors to the island could help in a small way. Whilst on the island the writer met four ringers (three from Middlesex, one from Southampton), and heard about a fifth. Yet as far as he knows only one of these made any effort to get any ringing. It is our duty as ringers to encourage and further the Exercise, wherever we may be, and not least in the lovely isle of Guernsey

Mid-Cornwall Branch

At the Mid-Cornwall Branch's annual festival. held at St. Stephen-in-Brannel, an illuminated address was presented to Canon F. F. Gilbert. Rector of St. Stephen's. in recognition of his services as chairman of the Branch for more than 30 years.
The presentation was made by Mr. W. H Southeard. vice-president of the Guild, who recalled that 50 years ago he attended his first ringing festival at St. Stephen's.
Canon Gilhert. in speaking of his impending. retirement. said he hoped to live al No. 6. The Crescent, Bude, and would welcome visits from ringers. He paid a tribute to Mr. D. Burnett. secretary of the MidCornwall Branch.
In the competition Bodmin ' $A$ ' were considered ty the judge to have done the best ringing.

Cary Branch

The autumn meeting was held at HorsingIon on October 26th, with the service being conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. S. Derbyshire (an associate member), assisted by the Branch chairman (Rev. G. S. Robinson) Mr. K. E. Stevens was organist.
Tea was served in St. Margaret's Hall, and at the business meeting one new member from Horsington and two from Maperton were elected.
Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector of Horsington, the organist and choir, the local captain and the ladies who had prepared and served tea.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

After years of indecision, the Hereford District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild decided to hold a striking competition. A handsome trophy was obtained and five teams entered, but illness and unforeseen circumstances reduced the entries to three-Bodenham. Fownhope and Kingstone.
The contest was held on the near perfect ring at St. Peter's, Withington. The adjudicator was Mr. R. B. Morris, Master of the Shropshire Association, who awarded the trophy to Kingstone, and then left for an important meeting of his own Association at Ellesmere. where a presentation was being made to Mr. Harry Poyner, their former Master.
It is already apparent that Kingstone will be hard put to retain the shield and there can be no doubt that this competition is going to supply a much-needed incentive to ringing bands in the Hereford District.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Enid Elaine Lancaster, wife of the Rector of Waltham, Leics, who died on October 25th, was a good friend of ringers. Ringers from the Melton District rang the hells of Waitham half-muffled on October 28th, the day of the funeral.

MR. A. C. HAZELDEN AN APPRECIATION FROM THE GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD
We remember 'Charlie' in the Guildford Diocese with gratitude love and respect. His untiring work for the Central Council was well known, and we are proud to have had him as our representative for so many years. The library which he has built up for the Guild is undoubtedly one of the most extensive and valuable in the Exercise. His knowledge of ringing publications was extensive and most of our younger members. who did not know him as the fine active ringer he was until only a few years ago, will fondly remember him as the friendly man who reported at each annual meeting the further treasures he had acquired for our library during the year. It will be difficult to find a new librarian to take such great care of our books.
Mr. Hazelden lived through a flourishing but uneasy time of ringing in Guildford, and we are grateful for his wise counsel and lead. At the 'tower down the hill he spent much time teaching, and his attention to detail will be remembered by those he taught. many of whom have moved to other parts of the country and the world. The frankness of his observations will always be remembered. such as after the overwhelming defeat of a proposal to merge with the Surrey Association when he told a jubilant Guild that a great mistake had been made. The fruits of his earthly labours are still with us; may he rest in peace.

MR. J. R. BURNHAM

The Melton District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild has lost another ringer by the sudden death, on November Ist. of Mr. James Reginald Burnham. 'Jim' learned to ring at Peatling Parva and came to Hoby about 25 years ago. He joined the ringers at All Saints' and helped a struggling band to ring for practice and service. He had rung 3 peals for the Leicester Guild. For the last eight years he had been Rector's warden.
The funeral, on November 6th, was largely attended, the congregation including students and workers from the Brooksby Agricultural College, where he worked. It was conducted by the Rector. Rev. A. V. Asher, who paid a very touching tribute to him. The Leicester Guild was represented by Mr. J. H. Cook.
A quarter peal of Doubles in three methods was rung half-muffled by R. H. Cook (cond.) 1. A. E. Hinman 2. H. Stonehouse 3. C. E. Cooper 4. H. T. Bonshor 5.

Editor: T. W. Whits. cation of the bells at St.
Mary's, Dolgellau. on December 7th at 2 p.m This lovely town is in an area where there is no tradition of change ringing. High tea can be arranged. but please warn the Rector of Dolgellau by December 2nd at the latest.
Bendigo bells are on their way to England for recasting into a ring of eight.
St. Paul's, Melbourne. Society raised just on $£ 800$ for the restoration of their bells.
Among those who attended the funeral service for Mr. A. C. Hazelden was a very old friend, Mr. E. R. Warner, of Woking.
Two ringers from Bishop's Cleeve, Glos, rang well to score their first peal at the first attempt, at Quedgeley on November 4th. Anna Sadowska (15) and Marilyn Jackson (14) have been ringing for exactly one year.
Ringers of Ealing and Isleworth rang halfmuffled Stedman Triples for an hour on September 23rd at St. Mary's, Ealing, in memory of Mr. J. W. Green, former churchwarden at Ealing, and Mr. H. W. Lidbetter, formerly a ringer at Isleworth.
Guildford ringers will be pleased to learn that Stephen Munday, the ninc-ycar-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Munday, of Bradford, Yorks. rang his qualifying 720 for the Yorkshire Association recently, and now rings the treble to Bob Royal. His sister, Judith, is also learning to ring.
The donation of $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$. to the Bell Restoration Fund as the result of the N.W. Suffolk District meeting at Lakenheath was made up by 17s, 3d. from the tea profit and the rest by the collection in church, writes Mr. $L$ Wright, the District chairman.
The news of Mr. T. G. Myers, of Plymouth, during the past weeks has been most encouraging. He is most grateful to all who have written to him. Tom must have been most heartened by the news that the peal of Grandsire Caters, arranged before his illness, was successful. Except for visiting band peals, this is believed to be the first at St. Andrew's for 40 years without his assistance. ported from South Australia by the restoration of the bells of Adelaide Town Hall. It has been a terrific job; since July 6th every successive Saturday afternoon had been spent in the tower with 15 to 20 man-hours put in each week. A course of Cambridge Minor and 180 Stedman has been rung on the back six. Ron Russ promises a full story for 'The Ringing World.'
Orders for 'Ringing Towers' can now be placed with G. W. Pipe, 8, Lansdowne Road, Ipswich, Suffolk. Price 5s. per annum.
We are sorry to learn that Mrs. F. I. Hairs has been ordered back to hospital by her doctor. Our best wishes for a speedy recovery.
We are pleased to learn that Mr. E. M. Atkins is making good progress after his operation. Letters from well wishers are much appreciated.

Friends from Rainham send congratulations to Mr. T. A. Cross, upon his appointment as secretary of Maidstone District, K.C.A. They do not forget that he learnt to ring at Rainham lower.
Mr. Norman V. Harding and not Norman J. Harding, as stated in the peal column of last week's 'Ringing World,' would like to express sincere thanks to the ringers in South Wales for the very warm welcome he received from them during his recent visit there.
A ringers' party who visited an Essex village church on Saturday, November 2nd asked the Rector: 'What's the flag flying for, Rector?' Is it because of All Souls or in spite of All Souls?' Came the reply: 'Neither, I'm afraid. Technically it's up there to dry!'
By air mail we have received the latest edition of 'Ringing Towers' and Editor Bill Pitcher has a fine issue, with plenty of readable ringing stories, We pass on C. H. Bagot's conclusion as to reasons for ringing peals- a method has never been pealed before, or it is very difficult to ring. or it has an interesting blue line, or it is a variation of some other method. or it is' a new Surprise method-how rarely because it is musical!'

OUTINGS

BOLSOVER, DERBYS

Bolsover ringers' annual half-day outing was held on October 26 th , with two towers in Lincs and one in Notts as the objectives. Ringers from Mansfield, Chesterfield and Scarcliffe joined the local company, making 33 ringers and friends who set out for the first tower-Heydour.
This excellent 12 cwt. octave was raised in fine style with Malcolm Phipps in command, and this was followed by a good touch of Little Bob Major. Further ringing ranged from rounds to Double Norwich. The second tower contained the good eight at Harmston (10 cwt.). where unfortunately none of the ringing cil full justice to the bells.
Having returned to Newark to pick up the non-ringers a short journey brought us to the last tower. Sutton-on-Trent. Most of the ringing on the 12 cwt eight was reasonable, and methods rung included Plain Bob. Kent. Cambridge and Stedman Triples, in which we were assisted by the Burchnall sisters.

With the ringing programme completed another short journey brought us to Tuxford for the much-awaited late dinner. After an excellent four course meal, Malcolm Phipps welcomed our ex-Ringing Master, Ben Cooper, who had come from Kirk Ella to be with us on the trip. and also proposed a vote of thanks to the organiser, Alan Keller. Sincere thanks are extended to the incumbents ano local ringers.

A SUFFOLK OUTING

Ringers from Barking, Cotton, Mendlesham. Offton and Ipswich joined forces for a haltday outing into Essex on October 5th. Towers visited were Hempstead. Finchingfield. Castie Hedingham and Halstead with tea at Great Bardfield.

HAZARDS

TO the expert the hazards in a church tower are bad enough and all come in a day's work, but to the inexperienced they can be very serious, especially in old towers.

Access to the bell chamber can either be by stone spiral staircase or wooden ladders - in some cases a combination of both. The chief hazard of an old stone staircase is the worn condition of the treads, especially if the staircase is dimly lit. Little or no toe hold is left, consequently climbing is difficult. Descending is more dicey as the foot is liable to slide; then one goes helter-skelter to the bottom. There are occasions when an accumulation of sticks brought in by birds covers the treads, and it is possible for the sticks to move under one's weight and so you skid to the bottom. In towers constructed of friable stone a thick layer of stone dust can hide deep cavities in the treads, so here again is a risk of shooting down.

With wooden ladders a broken rung can have nasty consequences. There are many that have worm in the rungs, so when climbing a ladder always place the foot close to the sides; even this is no guarantee a rung will not snap if a rung does break the chances are the lower rungs will break as you drop. The sides of ladders are not immune from weakness, and these have been known to snap when least expected. No matter how strong a ladder may appear to be, never have more than one person on at a time.

Having reached the bell chamber, one's troubles are not over: the floorboards can be deceptive. When there is advanced decay in them the danger is obvious, but more often than not the danger is not so obvious, and it is not a pleasant feeling when boards give way and one is going down to the clock department,' as I know from bitter experience. Again, sticks brought in by birds can hide the weak places in the floor. In a strange tower try and note where the floor supports are and put your feet over those. Unguarded clock weight shafts must be regarded as mantraps, as more often than not they are placed in dark corners.

A rare hazard can be the material used to fill the bell chamber windows. I have reason to remember St. Peter's. Ashton-under-Lyne, when the bells were hung in the upper stage of the tower. The window openings were filled with cast iron filigree which looked all right, and when I was inspecting the bells had occasion to put my hand on the cast ironwork in the windows. To my consternation this ironwork collapsed and fell outwards. I shall never forget the look on the late Mr. Wolstencroft's face when he realised what might have happened. Afterwards he told me that often he had steadied himself by putting his hands on the ironwork. The old wooden frame was a double-decker, smothered in old grease, which provided another hazard, for it is so easy to skid on the greasecovered timbers.

Finally, there is the obvious danger of moving about a bell frame with a bell or bells 'on set.' A bell can be pushed over accidentally or it could be 'pulled off' by someone who is not aware you are up amongst the bells. If you must 'mess about with bells,' make sure others know.

The dangers are bad enough in the daytime but are much worse at night, especially if adequate lighting is not provided. So if in doubt, keep out.

JOHN P. FIDLER

RINGING FOR INDUCTION

ACONSIDERABLE amount of ringing welcomed the Rev. Peter T. Robbins, M.A., and Mrs. Robbins to their new living of the combined benefice of Charing with Little Chart. A peal in four Minor methods was rung at Charing on the morning of November 2 nd . The same afternoon the local ringers rang for the service of institution and induction at Charing, while another peal in seven Doubles methods was rung at Little Chart. The following evening both Mr, and Mrs. Robbins stood in with the local band for the service ringing for the induction at Little Chart, the new Rector himself conducting the touch of Grandsire Doubles.

The peal at Charing was not achieved without difficulty. It caused the conductor some anxious moments, and the tenor rope broke the following day. But the peal at Litte Chart went with such clockwork precision that the new tenor-queen was in danger of nodding off. Nigel Fright. aged 15. of Ashford, had the distinction of ringing his first two peals on the same day, and Peter Richardson, of Willesborough. doubled his total, also by ringing twice

Although both churches are combined in the same benefice, and both have six bells, they are otherwise very different. Charing ( 13 cwt ) is one of the 15 original founder-towers of the Kent County Association and, administratively, comes under the Maidstone District. The beautiful old church overlooks the busy A20 road. and stands at the foot of the North Downs beside the great mediæval barn which was once the banqueting hall of the Bishop's Palace. where came Henry VIII and Elizabeth I. The tiny hamlet of Little Chart lies well off the beaten track. The new church is characterised by lines of architectural simplicity, and was dedicated in September. 1956. The bells ( $6 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) were recast from the bells of the original church, which stood some distance away and was destroyed by enemy action during the war. It comes under the Ashford District, so the newcomers have. as it were. a foot in both camps.
Mrs. Robbins is the daughter of Mr. George Spice. former hon. secretary and present vice-president of the Association, and has conducted peals on tower- and handbells. As the bands of both Charing and Little Chart have suffered losses and setbacks during the past year, the advent of two such distinguished ringers as the Rev. and Mrs. Robbins is a very great encouragement to them.

TEACHING WASHINGTON TO RING

AN ARTIST'S IMPRESSION OF THE NEW CATHEDRAL.

By HARRY PARKES

$1^{\prime}$OUR readers may be interested in an account of my trip to Washington to install the new ring of ten at the National Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul.
I left London Airport on Tuesday, October Ist. at 12 noon, and owing to high winds in the South Atlantic we were routed via Prest wick. Iceland. the Labrador and New England coasts to New York and Washington, arriving at $6.10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Western Time. The assistant clerk of the works. Mr. Fanfani, met me at the airport and took me to my accommodation.
On Wednesday I was shown around, and introduced to Dean Sayre, and the Cathedral architect. Mr. Frohman. also members of the various firms of contractors with whom I was to work. I also met again Mr. Feller, clerk of the works. Mr. Dirksen, associate organist of the Cathedral. who is in charge of the ringing. and Mr. Barnes, the carillonneur. I had previously met these gentlemen during their visit to the Whitechapel Foundry to see the bells earlier in the year.
The Cathedral is a fine building, and when finished will be not unlike our Canterbury, although it is by no means a copy
The bells hang in the central tower, above the Taylor carillon. and as the belfry is about 40 feet square, a circular frame was employed similar to Liverpool's. but constructed in steel. and bolted down to an insulated concrete ring.
On Saturday. I was introduced to 20 or 25 prospective ringers. but as soon as some of the bells were hung and instruction could start. this number rapidly increased until finaliy there were over 40 people clamouring to be taught. This presented a problem, and finally my stay was extended for two weeks to cope with the rush. Eventually. I was taking two an hour from 2 p.m. to 9.30 or 10 at night. with a break for a meal at 6 p.m.
On October 19th and 20th. six boys fromi Groton with Mr. Russell Yonng came to try out the hells and enable tests to be carricd out on the tower. They were joined by Mr. Warren Sturgis from New York, whose family gave the fourth. and :out of the blue "Mr Philip Gray from Bristol. who was in the States on business. During the tests two or my pupils were far enough advanced to join in and we rang round on the ten Everything was pronounced in order, and during the following days I returned to teaching with renewed zest as I wanted to hear ten of my pupils ring round, before I left.

Finally. Saturday. November 2nd, the day of my departure. arrived, and in the morning all the pupils assembled in the belfry for a final session. and it gave me great pleasure to hear rounds on the ten as good as some I have heard over here, and we linished up with four of them and myself ringing Stedman Doubles on handbells.

I was seen off to the airport by Mr. Dirksen. who on behalf of all the learners gave me a presentation and a letter which I was able 10 read as soon as we took off. I was decply touched by this letter, and lost for words. and I hope they will understand if I just say Thank you all most sincerely
I flew to Buffalo for the week-end and achieved a long ambition to see Niagara Falls.
On Monday. November 4th, I went to Kent School. Connecticut. to check up their bells and was once again made most welcome Leaving there on Wednesday for New York I uas presented with a very fine book on the history of the school

Thursday, November 7th, saw me aboard a T.W.A. jet airliner for London. where I arrived at 7.30 the following morning, after a pleasant journey, during which a film show made the $6 \frac{1}{2}$ hour crossing seem even shorter
To conclude. I had a most enjoyable trip, met a lot of very nice people and made a lot of friends. I offer my sincere thanks to all for their hospitality and to my employers, for their trust and for giving me the opportunity of secing the U.S.A. once again.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Wareham, where the Northern District met on November 9th. Was a very popular meeting. Despite the crowd that overflowed into the churchyard George Francis, who was in charge. ensured that everyone had a ring The service included a warm welcome from the Vicar (the Rev. M. R. Newman), and this was followed by a good tea in the Village Hall

The Master (Mr. Reg Johnson), who presided. expressed sorrow at the illness of Mrs. Hairs (honorary secretary) and wished her a speedy recovery. Mr. George Jennings was acting secretary. The vote of thanks from the clair included the Vicar. organist and Warnham hand for the splendid arrangements. December meeting: Hartfield

More ringing followed until 7.30 p.m.. when a happy and cheerful social was enjoyed until 10 p.m.

OFFER OF GUILD CHURCH TO LEICESTER GUILD

THHE Annual Dinner and Social of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held at the Shakespeare Hotel, Braunstone, Leicester. on November 2nd.

During the afternoon the bells of the city churches were available for general ringing and good use was made of them.
Supporting Mr. F. K. Measures (president) and Mrs. Measures on the top table were Mr. B. S. Payne (vice-president) and Mrs. Payne: Mr. P. L. Taylor (vice-president). Mrs, Taylor and their daughters: Mr. J. A. Acres (peal secretary): Mr. P. J. Staniforth (Central Council reoresentative) and Mrs. Staniforth: Mr. S. Burton (Central Council representative) and Mrs. Burton: Mr. J. M. Jelley (Central Council representative) and Miss Monica Moore : and Mr. B. G. Warwick (general secretary): together with the guests for the evening the Archdeacon of Loughborough (the Ven. Dr. H. Lockley) and Mrs. Lockley.

Proposing the toast The Leicester Diocesan Guild the Archdeacon outlined his connections with ringing. He commenced his ministry as curate of All Saints, Loughborough. where the names of the Taylor family became well-known to him: then he became Vicar of St. Thomas'. South Wigston, where the record peal of Double Norwich was rung on December 27th. 1904. and is recorded on a tablet in the porch: and now. in addition to being Archdeacon of Loughborough. he had also become Vicar of All Saints, Leicester, which as associated with the bell foundry of Newcombe and Watts. This is a down-town' parish with very little Sunday congregation and the Archdeacon made the generous offer to the Guild that they might care to consider All Saints' as the Guild Church. He reminded the gathering of their calling in ringing for Divine Service and concluded by congratulating the members of the Guild who had successfully rung the recond peal of Plain Bob Major at Loughborough earlier in the Following the toast a $\frac{1}{2}$-course of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung on handbells by: John A. Acres 1-2. Mrs. P. J. Staniforth 3-4. P. J. Staniforth 5-6, J. M. Jelley 7-8 and R. B. Smith 9-10.
HANDBELL TRADITION MAINTAINED
The President (Mr. F. K. Measures) in his reply, apologised for the absence of Mr. C. Harrison (trustee) who had been seriously ill: and of Mr. J. P. Fidler (trustee), whose wife was ill. He thought that whereas the attendances at district meetings had dropped in some cases, the attendances at general meetings had increased. He congratulated the handbell band, under the conductorship of Mr. P. J. Staniforth. who were ringing peals of Surprise and reminded the gathering that they were carrying on the tradition laid down by the founder-president of the Guild, the late Mr. H. J. Poole. He also congratulated members of the Guild on ringing the extent of Plain Bob Major and was glad the conductor of the peal was present.
The toast - The Gucsts and Visitors * was proposed by Mrs. P. J. Staniforth. History was being made as this was the first time that lady had made a speech at a Leicester Guild dinner. Referring to Lord Denning's impromptu speech she was going to read hers! After acknowledging the honour in being the first lady to make a speech she welcomed all guests and visitors to the dinner. On behalf of the guests and visitors. Mr. R. B. Smith (conductor of the extent of Bob Major) suitably replied

The duties of toastmaster were ably carried out Mr. B. S. Payne (vice-president) who then called on his fallow vice-president (Mr. P. L. Taylor), who gave a hrief description of his American tour.
A prize draw in aid of the Bell Repair Fund was organised by a sub-committee (Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth. Messrs. J. M. Jelley, J. Adams and J. M. Jelley). This resulted in £164 135. being realised for the fund.
A competition run by Mr. J. M. Jellay and Miss Monica Moore to guess the number of prize draw tickets sold brought in $£ 39 \mathrm{~s}$. 6d. towards defraying the general expenses of the dinger.

POPULARITY OF ESSEX  ASSOCIATION DINNER

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{V}}$VER the ten years since the Essex Associthon inaugurated its annual dinner the at the Saracen's Head Hotel. Chelmsford. on November 9th. there was a record attendance of 135 which necessitated an overflow into the restaurant

Supporting the Master (Mr. R. C. Heazel) ai the top table were the Archdeacon of Southend (the Ven. W. N. Welch). the Provost (the Very Rev. G. E. Gordon), and Canon J. H. Barrow. The guest of honour was Mr. Paul Taylor of the Loughborough foundry
The toast of The Church was proposed by the Master, and the response was by the Archdeacón.

Bells and Ringers of Essex was proposed in a series of amusing anecdotes by Mr. Pau Taylor and Canon Barrow replied by outlining briefly the history of the Cathedral bells. This year is the Jubilee of the installa tion of the twelve at the Cathedral and in jocular vein the Canon assured the company that as far as he could remember Warner's estimate was sixpence lower than Taylor's! Canon Barrow, of course, was largily responsible for the installation of the twelve when $£ 1,300$ was raised in four days and a 48 -page programme was produced for 6 d . a copy.

Life Members. Guests and Artistes ' was proposed by Mr. L. J. Clark, life vice-president It is the custom of the Association to honour the life members elected during the current year by making them the guests of the Association for the evening. Present were Messrs. A. W. Beard (Barking). E. E. Holman (Walthamstow). H. Shadrack (Springfield) and J. Sitch (Brentwood). Messrs. C. Mansfield (Nazeing) and F. C. Taylor. of Walthamstow. were unable to be present.
In a humorous reply the Provost thanked the Association. especially for their efforts during the Cathedral Festival Week. He lamented the failure yet again of the peal attempt for Stedman Cinques and ventured the opinion that it ought to be called 'Stedman Stinks Excellent entertainment was provided by Ann Randall (songs with guitar). Robert Lindsell and Richard Webb (instrumental duets) with some excellent tune ringing by Messrs. J. Brandon. H. Egglestone and A. Hendron.

Altogether a most pleasant and enjoyable cvening was had by all.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W: November 21st. 1913.-

The Cambridge Youms can claim to be one of the oldest of our ringing societies, but it was not until a week or so ago that they rang Cambridge Surprise. The first performance in this method was at Old Chester. ton. when 720 Cambridge Minor was rung by W. B. Kempton 1. F. Dench 2, A. Wilkerson 3. T. R. Dennis 4. F. E. Kempton 5, W. D: James (conductor) 6 This is another evidence of the revival of this ancient society. which is now being brought about.

AUBREY'S EVENING

Mr. A. L. Bennett. of Buckfastleigh, organised one of his evening excursions on October 24 th . Towers visited were East Allington (6). Halwell. where the six bells had not been rung for months, and there were signs of neglect, and finally Harberton, where Mr. H J Narramore, captain of Totnes ringers. rang the tenor behind in excellent style for Doubles. Thanks are due to Mr. Bennelt for providing such an enjoyable evening for the visitors and getting everything in readiness

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GULLD  Quarterly Meeting

The third quarterly meeting for 1963 was held by rotation in the Leicester District on October 19th.
During the afternoon ringing was available at three towers. First the five at Peatling Parva, a village with a population of 70 . and yet possessing one of the best kept churches and churchyards in the diocese. The bells are seldom rung, but are chimed every Sunday by a churchwarden. who uses the Ellacombe system. They are of quite good tone, but the fourth and tenor need to be rung by ablebodied men!
Next came the recently restored octave at Lutterworth. where John Wycliff was once Rector. The bells have just been rehung on ball bearings and were rededicated by the Bishop of Leicester on October 25th. Mr Ernest W. Tipler, the famous Leicestershire composer. lives close to the church, and it was a great pleasure for the president and secretary of the Guild to visit him. Unfortunately, he is unable to ring at present, but hopes to do so before long. Our visit cheered him greatly and so did the touch of Siedman Triples rung on his beloved bells.
Finafly came the good-toned octave at Gil morton, where the Rector the Rev. Dr. H. L McDonald-Liegois) is an honorary member The service was held here, and the Rector preached. Tea followed in the Village Hall ably served for the 60 members and friends by the Ringing Master (Mr. George Broughton) and his helpers. Gilmorton is rather of the beaten track and this was the largest number they had ever known at a ringing meeting.
At the business meeting. the president ( Mr F. K. Measures) apologised for the absence of the two-vice-presidents (Mr. B. S. Payne and Mr. P. L. Taylor). and referred to the passing of Mr. W. Hector, of Market Harborough one of the few survivors of Mr. C. Arthur Manning's band of pre-war days. The meeting stood in silence to his memory. Visitors wel comed were the Rev. M. C. C. Melville (Clifton) and Mr. J. Pickup (Accrington).

Certificates of membership were presented by the president to new members, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were approved.
The election of the following new members was confirmed on the proposition of Mr B C. Law, seconded by Mr. R. K. Masor John C. Eisel. John Robinson. Juliet F. Block (Leicester University) Susanna Poppleston (Nottingham). John E. Stacey (Maidenhead). Mary Barrass. Pat Farmer (Shepshed) and Marie Pickering (Thurlaston).

In any other business. Mr. S. Harrison deplored the fact that at the previous meet ine at Barwell a group of ringers had been taiking in the porch during Evensong.

Next yuarterly meeting: LoughDorough District. February 8th: A.G.M.. April 4th, with Evensong at Leicester Cathedral, preacher new Provost.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCLATION

Ringing was of a good standard at a meeting of the Biggleswade District ringers, held at Stotfold on November 9th. with Mr. P Mehew as Ringing Master.
The Rev. J. W. H: Bultock conducted a short service, and Miss A. Alexander played the organ. Ringers then adjourned to the school for tea. which had been prepared by Misses A. Alexander. V. Rix and Mrs. Alexander

The Vicar presided at the business meeting. when it was decided to hold the December meeting at Meppershall and Shillington. Ring ing was resumed and a few more visitors arrived, among them Mr. T. Price. of Sunburs, who rang the treble and the second to an excellent course of London Surprise.

Trouble at St. Neots

Dear Sir--Readers will wonder what the rouble has been at St. Neots, Huntingdonshire, which has been aired in the press and by the B.B.C. The facts are that the band were all young people, most of whom were still learning with about six able to ring rounds and call changes. They were keen for some time but latterly slackness had crept in. practices had fallen oft through non-attendance, and a had habit had been developing of leaving the church after ringing for services instead of staying to worship.
With the Vicar's consent, a band to ring ${ }^{2}$ quarter peal of Bob Major before the weeknight harvest thanksgiving service was arranged Those ringing were all friends of the local band. including three experienced ringers from neighbouring towers, who had frequently visited our church during practices to help us, one of whom had given much time to teaching us week by week until attendances fell off. The conductor of the quarter peal was the Rev. Giles Galley. who was preaching that evening. He is the Vicar's son and learnt to ring at St. Neots as a boy, had been one of the ringers here. often during his holidays he joined us, and had taught some to ring. Only one of our band was competent to ring a quarter peal of Bob Major besides myself. He was asked to ring on this occasion, but had another engagernent.
Some of the others took exception, especially one who had given himself out as captain No captain of ringers had in fact been appointed for none was suitable or qualified After this most of the ringers stayed away from church. Canon Galley therefore called a meeting to go into the trouble. He made it clear that ringers must attend practices and were, generally speaking. expected to attend service after ringing. They objected and it appears from what has been published that except for one or two they have given up. We did not agree with them. No resignations have actually been sent to the Vicar. Their attitude is quite unreasonable and they seem to have used the quarter peal as an excuse having really lost interest as one of them said. Aiready some recruits have been found and have started learning, and other have promised to come
I am one of the ringers who has not resigned.-Yours sincerely.

St. Neots. Hunts.

Tewkesbury Abbey Incident

Dear Sir.-The members of the Tewkesbury Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association are sorry to learn that the Misses P. and V. Stephens consider them to me discourteous.

The meeting held at Tewkesbury Abbey on October 26th was well attended, both by members and friends, and by several visitors, who were previously unknown to us: and, to the best of our belief, everybody who wished to ring did so.

It being Saturday, however, there were the usual hordes of trippers going to the tow ar to admire the view from the top. The door to the ringing chamber being open to admit ringers, attracted many of these trippers, who would gaze at us, as at a circus act. then go on their way. This is a usual occurrence, and over the years one becomes accustomed to being regarded somewhat as a performing animal, and takes no notice.
Could it be that the Misses Stephens were the two young women in trousers, who came through the door way, sat down on the step. watched for a few minutes and then went away again? If so, seeing that they showed no intention of coming right into the ringing chamber. or of speaking to or even smiling at any of the assembled company-and considering the way they were dressed-we can hardly be blamed for mistaking them for just another two trippers. Surely if one wishes to ring in a strange tower the usual procedure is to approach the person in charge (who is not usually difficult to pick out) and introduce oneself-as. in fact, all our other visitors that afternoon did.
Finally, as a member of the Tewkesbury Abbey band, may I say that we are always pleased to welcome visiting ringers to the Abbey. The pages of our visitors' book will testify to this.-Yours faithfully,

Handbells in Public

Dear Sir-Reading the front page of "The Ringing World' of November 8th brought back memories of a certain Association's tour this summer. It was on the return journey from a day in the Isle of Wight that some of the party decided to ring real handbells, not just thumbs. There they were swaying merrily with the boat while tourists of varying nationality looked on in wonder (or was it horror?) We thought it was a gorgeous sound on the water, but the passengers for some strange reason seemed to differ. After they thought the chap called Bob was deaf. and started to shout about dodges and call singles, they cleared off completely, and we had a whole deck to ourselves. while the other end and down below were by this time packed to capacity. So if you should go to the Isle of Wight any time, don't forget your handbells. Yours faithfully,

TOM THUMB.

DELAYED IN TRANSIT

Through • Ringing Worlds * put on the train at Guildford being lost at Waterloo, Rolls House Publishing Company were delayed in despatch of last week's conies to newsagents. To readers concerned, we assure them that the fault was not with our publishers, who spent hours searching and phoning. or with the printers, and were only found at 6 pm . Representations have been made to British Railways.

Mr. C. W. Woolley Corrected

Dear Sir,-It is with some trepidation that I trespass upon a private war. but I feel sure that Mr. C. W. Woolley will not mind if I correct him; a service he often performed for me.

He says, rather ingenuously I thought, that by using 'Calls, at Home the ' tenors would not be parted.' I think he has forgotten, in spite of his sojourn in the backwoods of Yorkshire and his enforced though I hope profitable and not unhappy contact with barbarians who eat raw meal and ring close leads and irregular methods. that in the latter the tenors are parted even in the plain course and that the coursing order, which is the life-blood of ringers and conductors on higher numbers, is of so little value when ringing such methods that Minor ringers never bother about it

And were they very easy to keep right '?
I suspect that Mr. Woolley would discover that it is much easier for him to correct a 'mix-up in, say. Bristol Surprise Major than to sort out a corresponding one in. say, Violet or Duke of York, and that only a conductor with expert knowledge would be able to decide whether the bells were once again in their correct position.
Many of the methods rung in these peals nere, of course. 'irregular.' Of the $14360{ }^{\circ}$ s rung in a peal at Cawthorne in 1883. 11 were irregular. In a peal of 6.000 changes at Tong peal at Saddleworth the same year 10 wer irregular. In a peal of 6,000 changes at Tong also in 1883, there were $25240^{\circ}$ s each in different methods, of which 20 were irregular

Whether the conductors of Yorkshire were 'less enterprising' is a moot point. The conductor of the Tong peal, George Bolland, weil known as 'The Minor King." was no less at home as a ringer and conductor of Major, as is evident from the Yorkshire Association reports of that period.

I know, of course, as little about Dr. Carpenter's personality and debating powers as does Mr. Woolley, but I read into Dr. Carpenter's suggestion that Minor ringers should ring 14720 's if they wanted 10 ring 14 methods. a touch of that offhand superciliousness occasionally displayed by ringers on higher numbers towards 6 -bell ringers.

There was no need to say what he did. and it would have been more to his credit if it had remained unsaid. I wonder what advice he would have offered to the Tong members?

The only reason that in this iebate Dr Carpenter was on the winning side had nothing to do with his powers of persuasion. but because a way was found of placing more than one method into a 720 without repetition of rows. If method splicing had not been discovered peals of Minor in $360^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$. 240 s or even plain courses would have continued
I know because I should have rung in some of them !-Yours etc

Ryhill. Wakefield. HAROLD CHANT

Leeds, Kent

Dear Sir.-Briefly, in reply to Mr. Fry protests on 3 3, 4,5 , etc. As to anonymity -merely a simple desire not to bore 99 per cent of the Exercise to whom we are unknown anyway.

To straighten him out on other points. Ncthing whatsoever was said as to neglect of the tower: comment was on the unfortunate state of a very historic peal board.
If funds are wanted. then charge a fce. Gravesend does, Pershore Abbey does: doubt less others, too. We are all in favour.

Ninth and tenor we are quite capable of managing: their vagaries are mild indeed Minchampton. Glos.

A Barnsley Opinion

Dear Sir,-May I comment on the observations of Mr. Woolley on peals of Minor rung in 14 methods in 360 's; he states that the tenor would need only to call 3 bobs at Home for a 360 ; this is his first error because plain methods were seldom if ever rung in these peals and second place methods were not greatly used so bobs at Home would not produce a 360 . He then states that this calling would keep the tenors together; this of course would not be true for in many of the methods such as Duke of York the tenors do not course, so to state that the conductor would have an easy task is again quite wrong. Furthermore to say that a conductor had no need to learn the calling of a 720 to be able to conduct these peals of 360 s is a joke which even we in Barnsley can appreciate.
A peal in 14 different methods, each of 360 changes, was rung at Cawthorne in 1883 by a team of ringers, local working lads mostly in their teens, and the methods were: Primrose. College Treble. Tulip, College Exercise, Duke of Leeds. Darton Victory, London Scholars, College Pleasure, City Delight, Arnold's Victory. Duke of York, New London Pleasure, Oxford anci Violet; to me this was a fine performance. greater than many of the peals I have rung in even more than if methods. These ringers intended to emulate this feat by ringing 21 methods in $240^{\circ}$ s but I have not found any record of it having been rung. Possibly the conductor fell asleep through boredom!
The Central Council should never have attempted to damp the enthusiasm of the multi-minor method ringers by condemning such peals until some form of splicing had been perfected. However they supported the brilliant scheme of Bankes James which enabled a peal to be rung in ONE method in round blocks: this certainly was enterprise! I would rather ring a peal in 14360 s than the Bankes James thing: in fact we may repeat the peal of 80 years ago just to see how easy" it is.
Mr. Woolley concludes his letter stating that Dr. Carpenter was on the winning side of the debate. Of course he was: six bell ringing is known as MINOR and is therefore in a minority every time. I am surprised we are permitted to ring peals of Minor for a prominent member of the Central Council once stated that there could not be any such peals because 5.000 different changes of Minor could not be obtained.

Regarding the 'bitterness' of my previous letter I am certainly not bitter but I was reminded of a front page article in "The Ringing World 'some years ago when E.C.S. admonished wayward Minor ringers in the manner of a magistrate addressing juvenile apple stealers.-Yours faithfully,
N. F. MOXON

TRIBUTES TO A GREAT LONDON RINGER

MR. T. H. TAFFENDER, I.S.O.
The senior Past Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, which he joined in 1893 ; a member of St. Paul's Cathedral company for over 60 years the rang a peal at St. Paul's Cathedral in 1898); an officer of the London County Association, which he joined in 1895. for 68 years and Master for 50 years: these are some of the unique achievements of Thomas $H$. Taffender, a famous ringer, who passed from us on October 18th.

About 20 ringers attended his funeral service at St. Leonard's. Sireatham, and most of these followed the cortege to Streatham Valc Cemetery. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the coffin by H. W. Rogers $1-2$. W. G. Wilson 3-4, A. D. Barker 5-6 and W. D. Grainger 7-8. Half-muffled ringing took place at Streatham. Waterloo and Isleworth. Later ' in memoriam' peals were rung at Beddington (London Surarise Royal) and Isleworth (Stedman Caters, using as a composition one which T.H.T. had called many times. John Carter's 5:030).
Among Mr. Taffender's early peals for the London County Association were

February 25th. 1895, first for St. James' Society;
February 4th. 1905. memorial peal to his father at St. Stephen's, Coleman Street :
May 14th, 1905. 'Thomas peal of Stedman Caters at St. Magnus-the-Martyr, Thames Street. City:
September 22nd, 1906, his wedding peal at St. Clement Danes".
Peals of which he was particularly proud were several of Stedman Triples at St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, where he had taught the band from scratci, and where he called some intricate compositions, including Carter's Odd Bob. In addition to instructing bands and running the ringing at this tower, he did similar service at St. Dunstan's-in-the-East, St. Giles', Camberwell, St. Mary's, Lambeth, and others.
It is hoped to publish an analysis of Mr . Talfender's peals, shortly. H. W. R.

A FURTHER APPRECIATION

In all ages, art and science have had their great exponents. Various campaigns have had their prominent leaders and there has been always a following for such as could remove 'the veil from seeming mystery that knowledge might be given to their fellow men,' as J. M, Routh said of Jasper Snowdon. It is 40 years ago since the Master, as I will speak of him, taught me to handle a bell in the steeple of St. Giles'. Camberwell. my introduction having been brought about by his son. Wilfred, with whom I spent some years at school.

In those 40 years I saw T. H. Taffender as an exponent of the science of no mean ability. I saw him again as a leader. I saw in him one possessing great knowledge of the subject, and also of the ready willingness to assist others in surmounting those same difficulties which he himself had experienced so long ago. In all pursuits, whatever their direction. lies the seed of enlargement and progress. T. H. Taffender gave fully of that encouragement so necessary to the young ringer and conductor. Many a bob has been called for the first time with confidence gained from the Master, and experience has shown that wise indeed were those men of the London County Association who appointed him to that office which he was to discharge so admirably for over half a century
I shall not forget his enthusiasm toward us when we were boys. After he had been to St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday mornings, he would join us at St. Magnus-the-Martyr in Billingsgate, where, with his help, we would ring Stedman Doubles for morning service. After 11 oclock we would go with him to St. Dunstan's-in-the-East for an hour's instruction on handbells where occasionally we were joined by the late Mr. W. A. Alps, formerly of Waltham Abbey, who then lived close by in Idol Lane.

Many years ago I recall him saying that his one ambition in the science was that he might leave it better than he found it. The testimony of my own experience is that he did just that. Of those who sought his help, failure was not often their portion. He would explain a difficulty. as many times as it was necessary to make his knowledge our own and he led us in those early days from faltering steos in Stedman Doubles to frequent unconducted quarter peals of Triples at Camberwell.

On the occasion of the annual thanksgiving for the harvest of the sea, held before the war at the Church of St. Dunstan-in-the-East, there would be always a quarter peal of London Surprise on Sunday evening at that church.
The Master believed firmly that those he taught should know something of "what was going on upstairs.' He spent much time explaining the function of bell gear in general and equipped us with an ability to discern between what was and what ought to be. There was so much that I could tell of St. Mary Matfelon, Whitechapel. of Wallage's tea party, of Wilton Road. Pimlico, S.W.. and of the handbell ringing at 10 , Northlands Street.

For our first peals of Stedman Caters, Mr. Taffender would conduct a composition by John Cox, with the treble a fixed bell. Such were the things that he did to aid our first essay at a peal of Caters. His own first peal was rung at St. John's, Waterloo Road, on December 12th. 1893 ; significantly his last was also rung at that church on July 28th, 1956. Both were Stedman Triples.
A conductor of vast experience and I think of unparalleled ability and achievement. Stedman was pre-eminently his method. He never rang an observation bell. and invariably took the second rope. Indeed, I know of many of my oldest ringing friends who speak of the second as 'the Master's bell.' Whilst it is difficult indeed to realise that we shall not meet with him again in this life, there must be a great number who, like myself, will wish to perpetuate his memory.
It is my belief that no better way exists in which to do this than that there might be a wider sense of brotherhood amongst ringers generally. That we may never be unmindful of our true calling, which is to maintan Sunday service ringing. and in discharge of that high privilege let us not forget that nothing is good where better is possible.
W. D. GRAINGER

A Lincolnshire Village Remembers

HE band who rang a peal of Minor at Folkingham, Lincs, to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the rehanging of the bells by John Taylor and Co., are all, with the exception of Mr. J. H. Musson, over 60 years of age. two being in their 70 s , one of whom is Mr. J. Lindsey, who rang his first peal at the first attempt. They have an aggregate of 387 years, five have been ringing for 50 years and Mr. Musson for 40 . Four of the band learned $t 0$ ring at Folkingham, and three of them are still Sunday service ringers.

Those in the photograph (left to right) are A. E. Scott, C. Wade, C. Wilkinson, J. Lindsey. C. T. H. Bradley (tower captain for 40 years), Canon F. R. Money (Rector) and J. H. Musson, of Silk Willoughby, who learned to ring at Folkingham.

Mr. C. T. H. Bradley, who rang the second in the anniversary peal, recalls the day the late Mr. J. W. Taylor came to inspect the bells in 1911. For the occasion he was allowed a day off from school: he harnessed his father"s old grey cob and took the dog cart to Billinghorough Station to collect the visitor.

On arrival at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. an elderly gentleman with a long grey beard stepped from the train. whom he discovered was head of the firm-Mr. Taylor, in person. On the three miles journey to Folkingham he was thrilled with the con-versation-all about bells.

An estimate of $£ 75$ was received for re hanging the bells. The money was raised in two years and the work started in September. 1913, and completed for the harvest festival in October of the same year. Five lads in theit early teens aspired to learn to ring, although they were not accepted at first by the older generation. However, they made progress unii the outbreak of the 1914 war, when four of them enlisted in the Forces. All four returned and soon found their way to the belfry except Mr. J. Lindsey, who had to refrain owing to a war wound.

The ring was augmented to six in 1924 in time for Easter Sunday. The first peal was rung in July. 1924, and since then some 40 peals have been rung. In 1931 the firstever peal in which a mother and daughter took part was accomplished with five Folkingham ringers. Another noteworthy peal was Spliced Surprise Minor in 32 methods, which was a record for many years.

MEMORIES OF 50 YEARS AGO
Dear Sir,-Looking back 50 years it seems quite a time since the five lads in Folkingham had a great ambition to become ringers, but alas! no one wanted them, let alone the rouble to teach them to handle a bell.
Nevertheless, determined to learn, matters were taken into their own hands by making their way to the belfry after discovering where the ancient sexton used to hide his belfry kev. After ascending the 80 steps to the bells, a bell would have its clapper lashed and then learned to be raised in very gradual stages. Luckily for the intruders no mishads occurred.
There was sometimes a price to be paid for this adventure, as the old sexton would be informed that some hoys were up in the tower. He would then proceed to the church and take up his position outside the belfry door equipped with an ash plant walking stick, which i!e would use freely on the culprits as they made their exit.
We did eventually become recognised by the older ringers, if they were short in numbers. Nevertheless, we became ringars. if it was learning by the hard way. Very different in these days, when a beginner gets a pat on the back after his first lesson from his instructor, who says: - You have done quite well for the first attempt: come back the same time next week. -Yours sincerely.

WEDDING BELLS AT HARROW

The bells of St. Mary's Church. Harrow-on-the-Hill, were rung both before and after the service when Miss Jennifer Anne Reeve, onlv daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Reeve, of Harrow. married Mr. Christopher John Aldridge, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Aldridge, of Southgate, on September 7th. The service, with Holy Communion, was conducted by the Rev. Guy R. Whitcombe.
Givan away by her father, the bride wore a classic designed full-hength dress of heavy satin brocade with a short train, and her long veil was held in place by a satin band decorated with seed pearls. She carried a white bible with a spray of white gardenias and lilies of the valley. She was attended by three bridesmaids. Miss Bridget Knight (her cousin). Miss Pat Norris and Jane Reeve (four-year-ald Miss Pat Norris and hane Reeve was Mr. Reg Pike.

A reception for 60 guests was held at the Roxborough Hotel, after which the happy couple left for a honermoon in Cornwall.
A peal to record the happy occasion was ung the previous Saturday at the church

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD Annual Dinner

The annual dinner of the Chester Guild was held on October 5th in Macclesfield and was preceded by a short service in the ancient parish church conducted by the Vicar. the Ven. Thomas Clarke, at which: the Bishop ot Stockport preached.
At the dinner which followed in the Town Hall some 160 sat down to an excellent meal. The loyal toast was honoured at the call of the Master, Mr. J. W. Clarke, and after a short interval Mr. R. C. H. Sibley proposed the traditional toast of "Church and State. with a most admirable speech. He referred to the ancient connection between thes two and emphasised that in the forthcoming decisions on unity, not only the clergy but also the laity would be called upon to play their nart. He looked forward to one Christian Church going forward hand in hand with the State and challengingly asked who or what could withstand this?

The Rev. W. E. Clarke, Rector of Gawsworth, in his acknowledgment, made a reference to the Bishoo of Coventry's speech on morals and rejoiced that this country has been traditionally a Christian country. The Book of Common Prayer was the law of the land. he said, and we wish that the faith of our fathers should be preserved
Archdeacon Clarke proposed the toast of
The Chester Diocesan Guild and said that he fielt like Daniel in the lions' den, with the difference that the speech was after a meal. He said the Church recognised the service done by ringers, often unseen but none the less as valuable as that of the members of the Patochial Church Council. He realised that ringing was a Dastime. but first and foremost it was a piece of service to God and His Church. This fact alone justified the need for practice meetings, etc. There were many unable to attend services who were reminded by the bell; of the services and could take part in their own homes. He felt that the ringing of bells was one of the great characteristics of the Church. In his concluding remarks he referred to the magnificent ringers' jugs which his church possessed and also to the increasing number of lady ringers

Mr. J. W. Clarke, Master of the Guild. briefly replied and expressed the thanks of the company to the Macclesfield Branch for the excellent arrangements made

The floor was then cleared and dancing took place until 11.30

OBITUARY

MR. R. HENRY HUTTON

For upwards of 60 years Mr. Robert Henry Hutton. of 126. Addison Road. Guildford. had been a ringer at Holy Trinity Church, Guildford, and his passing peacefully in his sleep on November 13 th. at the age of 85 , removes a link with ringing in Guildford going back to the Boer War. He recalled ringing for the relief of Mafeking, which went on all day, and the churchwarden sent a cask of beer into the belfry.
 A. H. Pulling. They learned change ringing together and Harry probably rang 300 peals with A. H. P. in the days when Holy Trinity tower was at the height of its fame. A loyal servant of the belfry. through days of success and days of difficulty. he attended regularly for service ringing and practice. His name appears with great regularity in the Holy Trinity Society's peal book.

A staunch friend, with a ready wit, he will be remembered with affection by senior ringer: of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. By trade he was a freach polisher and decorator and had his own business. In all he did there was a pride oe craftsmanshio and this was also ex emolified in his ringing and neat handling

The funeral service was at St. Luke's Church, Guildford, last Monday, and in the evening d quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung to his memory

CORRECTION

The first peal on the new Bow bells held particular significance for Mr. John Phillips. It was his 300 th peal and he has now rung peals on all the London twelves-an enviable achievement.
The Diocese of Swansea and Brecon celebrated its 40 th anniversary this year. The Guild came some years later. Correction to item on page 752 .
The peals at Middleton Chency and Hook Norton on October 26 th were rung as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Willis, on the occasion of their silver wedding.
Mr. John Baldwin is programming the Manchester University Allas Computer to derive false course heads for Surprise Major methods. He has promised an article after Christmas.
Messrs. B. G. Warwick and J. W. Cotton (secretaries of Leicester Diocesan Guild and Midland Counties Guild respectively) rang their 200th peal together at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough, on October 28th.
The overwhelming hospitality of the local band at Eardisland and in particular Mr Leslie Evans, for his great help both before and after the tour. is acknowledged by the Robert C. Kippin party. The report of their week, which started on August 31st, reached 'The Ringing World' this week.
Will the party who were disappointed in not being able to ring at Finedon, Northants. on November 2 nj accept the apologies of the local band, and their regrets for any misunderstanding which may have occurred. Their donations are gratefully acknowledged, and they will he welcome to make a return visit. when the bells are restored.
Eight ringers from St. John's College, York, rang the bells of Ripon Cathedral prior to Leeds University Institute of Education's 16th annual service. A quarter peal on the front six was called round after 360 changes. After the service, assisted by Mr. E. Hudson, Cathedral Ringing Master and two ringers from Ripon Triming College, the ten bells were rung.

Harlow Common, Essex, ringers paid a 75th birthday compliment to their tower master. Mr. W. Wheeler, with a quarter peal of Stedman Triples on October 29th. Mr. Wheeler has been a ringer at Harlow Common since the bells were installed in 1905 and for two years previous to that he was learning hendbells under the direction of the late Mr. G. Dent For over 50 years he has been ia member of the Essex Association, and he sprightly turns the tenor in to any method rung at Harlow Common.
Octobe- 2nd was a red letter day at the remote Warwickshire village of Salter Street, when on the five bells of St. Patrick's Church a quarter peal was rung by the keen young band who have been in training for the past 18 months. This was the firşt all-local quarter. The band thank all visitors for their support.
Miss Pamela M. Turner had her great chance when M. C. Faulkes broke his arm in a rugger match, played on the afternoon of the attempt for Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Holy Trinity, Kingston-upon-Hull. She stepped in at a few moments' notice and rang her first peal of Maximus. To M. C. F., best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Mr. W. Pitcher, Editor of 'Ringing Towers,' thanks those who kindly offered him copies of 'The Great Adventure.' One wrote that he lent his copy to a friend who refused to give it back. He suspected that as this friend was perpetually in debt he might try 10 'flog it off ' to Mr. Pitcher. If anyone of a certain name offered it.... Mr. Pitcher concludes: ${ }^{\text {He }}$ hadn ${ }^{\text {t. .... but all I could say was some friend. }}$
A peal band arrived at St. George's, Colegate, Norwich, only to find that there was no power in the church. Evidently a bulldozer, removing the road surface, had also removed the clectric cables and athough these were supposed to have been repaired it did not appear to be the case. Undaunted, the band went ahead and rang the peal by the light of three candles. Comments afterwards-a nice quiet light. no eye strain or glare; we must do this again!

IMPROVING THE STANDARD

Abstract

Sermon preached by the Rev. F. F. Rigby, Rector of Bromsberrow and Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, at Malmesbury on November 16th, 1963.IN 'The Ringing World ' of November 1st the weekly text was: 'For there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; neither hid that shall not be known.' (Luke xii, 2.) Whether the chooser of these texts intends to make a comment on ringing or not, I do not know. Sometimes, however, as in this case, the texts are aptly chosen. The point that Jesus was making in this statement was simply that the truth about all that we do will be known some time-if not to men in this life, then to men when we meet before God.

I have in my parish a children's music group; we play and sing together. At the Harvest Thanksgiving a few weeks ago we sang and played a harvest carol. Now we are practising Christmas carols, for we have a number of engagements to fulfil. Though we have been practising for Christmas for many months, we know that we shall have to work hard to be on top of our form. Until Christmas, we shall not be heard in public. for we know that between now and then we shall make many mistakes which will have to be corrected. But we hope by Christmas that we shall have something worth listening to. Our rule is simple: plenty of hard work during our months of practice: then we hope to be good enough to be heard in public.
This. of course. is true of any music group. We must all have listened to a final performance given by a music group which has given us much pleasure. Before such a performance there will have been much practice in private. After that, the members of the public are allowed to listen if they so choose. Usually, they have to pay for the pleasure of doing so.
With church bell ringing it is different. Our practices are held in public for all to hear; and what we may call our final performances, such at Sunday service ringing and peals, are also held in public. Tickets don't have to be bought by those who listen to us; those members of the public who happen to live near have to listen to both our practices and performances, whether they want to or not. This poses ringers with a difficulty to which I see no easy solution. I think it is a pity that the public have to listen to our mistakes during a practice, for then they get a totally wrong impression of what good ringing should be like.
This brings me to the point I want to make: as we have to practise in public and as we thrust upon our audience ringing which may be good but is often bad, we should try to raise our standards. If, as we often do, we dare to speak of the music of the bells, then we must set ourselves the same standards as other musicians. A musician in an orchestra knows if his playing is not up to standard. or if he does not he will be told. A ringer should also be able to recognise faulty rhythm, which he can do only by developing the skill of listening to the ringing as a whole.

What then can we do about improving the standard of our ringing on practice nights so that our public performances on Sundays and in peals will also be improved? 1 have said it and written it hundreds of times and shall continue doing so. Good method ringing is learned as much in the home as in the tower. It just will not do for ringers to think they can learn a new method in the tower without having first of all sweated it out at home, pencil in hand, paper before them and brains ticking over intelligently. This is the sort of practice we can all do in the privacy of our own homes before we do our necessary practice in public. It is also possible to think about a method at all sorts of odd moments; how to tell. for example, whether to go in slow or quick in Stedman. This sort of approach to ringing would develop our ringing memories and we should then not make so many mistakes in public.
What of our public performances. our peals, for example? I am satisfied that not all peals recorded in 'The Ringing World ' ought to appear. I can think of one of my own so recorded but which does not appear in my own peal book. It was supposed to have been a peal consisting of seven extents of Minor. Now, I may be a bit dim-witted mathematically, but I do know that if the ringing has been at the rate of an extent in about 25 minutes, one of the extents can't be rung in a quarter-of-an-hour. And if there has been a bit of clashing and clanging in this particular so-called extent, then I am allowed to draw my own conclusions, even if the conductor thinks he has been clever in bringing this part of the peal into rounds.

Now. I believe that all things that we do will be made known to men as they are now known to God: 'For there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; neither hid that shall not be known.' A tape-recorder could do this for us in this life and would demonstrate our shortcomings. I reckon God is cleverer than any tape-recorder and that even our faulty ringing is known to Him and is somehow or other being recorded. Like all other people. I have done my share of wrong things in my life, and not all my ringing has been, or is, up to standard. But at least I try to have a concern about standards.

RINGERS REQUIRED

Recently the Amateur Film Section of the Brighton Telephone Area Sports and Social Association provided an evening film show at Hove Telephone Exchange with the film Ringers Required' as the main feature. Tine Hurstpierpoint ringers made the arrangements and over 100 programmes were sold in the towers in the northern part of Sussex. The Film Section then agreed to make it a R Ringers Only' evening as the normal seating maximum is for 100 people.
Briefly, the film portrays the story of how a band of ringers was recruited and trained to ring the bells of a church in Canada. A very pleasant surprise for this particular audience was to see an old friend from Buxted tower, in Sussex, as one of the film stars none other than Michael Causley, who married Jean Durrant from the nearb, tower at Uckfield. Quite probably the handbells used in the film were the set given to this couple by Sussex ringers on the occasion of their marriage prior to their departure to Canada.
One unexpected feature was the tutor in an early scene ringing with his jacket on! Another which brought gasps from experienced members in the audience was the sight of bells in the "up, position while ringers attended to the clappers!!

Apart from these two points, the film was very typical of the experiences many have had in training a band of ringers. The determination, loyalty and keenness shown by those in the film is inspiring and quite infectious for those in the audience! For instance. the thrill of the trainees ringing together on open bells for the first time, and the exhilarating experience of 'ringing in' the New Year.
Yes, those from 'Sussex by the Sea' recommend all ringers-and potential ringersto see this film and I have a shrewd suspicion that they will suggest another to be shown with it.

OBITUARY

MR. HERBERT D. LIDBETTER

AN APPRECIATION

Herbert D. Lidbetter started ringing at All Saints". Isleworth. Middlesex. in July, 1902, and rang his first peal (Holt's Original) at this church on April 21st, 1905. It was also at this church in 1930 that 1 met him and I recall the many happy hours spent in his company.

Herbert Lidbetter was an example to all who knew him. Regular in his attendance for service ringing. willing to assist beginners in the art of change ringing and conducting. and a disciplinarian in the belfry, but easy to get on with. His methods and approach were appreciated by all with whom he came in contact.
While not a prolific peal ringer, up to the outbreak of the First World War he had rung over 50.
On removing to Acle. Norfolk, he continued his regular service ringing until January. 1961. when ill-health caused him to give up ringing, although his interest in the Exercise continued to the last. We shall miss his regular attendance at our local meetings. May he rest in peace.
H. W. BARRETT.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Maidstone Branch

The final mecting of 1963 should have been held at East Farleigh, but because of difficulty in arrangements the Vicar of Mereworth kindly allowed us to go there.
Ringing on the rather odd-toned six was under the guidance of the new Ringing Master Mr. B. F. L. Groves. Ahout 35 people sat down to tea in the Village Hall. There was no business to discuss. but it was reported that arrangements were going ahead with the District party on February 8th at St. Michacl's Hall. Maidstone.
The service followed, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. W. E Keene. and included the custornary course of Grandsire Triples 'in hand.' Ringing afterwards rangad from Plain Bob to London.

REDEDICATION OF HIGH WYCOMBE BELLS

The bells of High Wycombe Parish Church were rededicated during Evensong on November 10th by the Vicar. the Rev. Eric Hague. Members of the congregation included the Mayor and Mayoress, Town Clerk. members of the local council, Mr. John Hall. M.P., and Mr. Colin Harrison. from John Taylor and Co. Rounds on 12 were rung during the ceremony by the local ringers, and ringing took place after the service until 9 p.m.. ringers from several towers in the area being present.
The two trebles have been recast. the other 10 retuned. and all rehung on ball bcarings with completely new fittings by Taylors. the cost of this work being borne by the church. A sharp 2nd bell has also been added. giving a light ring of eight : this bell commemorates the visit of the Queen to the town in April last year. and the cost is being met by the ringers: $£ 100$ is still required and any donations will be gratefully received by the Vicar.

The tone and 'go' of the bells has heen improved considerably, and it is now possible to ring up the tenor ( 30 cwt.) with the clapper on the right side. single-handed. a task previously impossible, even with three on the rope.

While the bells were away, a sound turret was constructed on the tower roof, and the louvres completely blocked up: unfortunately the sound of the bells is now too muffled in the immediate vicinity of the church. and it is hoped that the P.C.C. will allow the shuttering to he modified so that the "ring of the bells can be heard

The High Wycombe ringers wish to thank those at West Wycombe for the use of their bells for practicer during the past six months.
G. H.

REV. CANON F. J. O. HELMORE

On September 8th. 1927, a Frederick peal by men of Kent and Kentish men was rung at St. Margaret's Church, Rainham, Kent. there being presumably no St. Frederick church available. The method was Stedman Triples conducted by Frederick J. Cullum.

A participant was Canon Helmore. then nearing the end of his 38 years in office ds general secretary of the Kent County Association. This proved to be his 209th and last peal although he lived until November 8 th, 1938.

On November 8th. 1963. the 25th anniversary of Canon Helmore's death, a peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. John's. Erith, Kent, again conducted by Fred Cullum. One of the participants was Philip Corby, the present general secretary of the Association.

IMPROVING THE STANDARD

Am I being fussy about all this? I think not. With you. I like ringing, and I am sure it has many joys for me yet to come. But, being interested in music generally, i am concerned about the standards of ringing. We must constantly try to improve them. and this is not going to be achieved except by hard work and a sensible approach to our practices which have to be in public for all to hear.
Compare our knowledge of method ringing with that at the beginning of the century. We are much cleverer. We know far more about the mathematies of ringing. But does our ringing sound any better? I don't know. Bul God knows, and when we meet Him it may be revealed to us that our standards of striking are helow those He rightly expects from intelligent ringers. You have to be intelligent to be a tinger. so we shall not be able to excuse ourselves and say we don't understand.
Is it too far-fetched to imagine God taking out His super tape-recorder and giving a dethonsiration to us of our own ringing, and saying to us: "Do you really think that stiking was good enough? I don't. You should have practised more carefully in public."

GUILD OF MEDICAL RINGERS

The annual London meeting of the Guild took place in the City on November 16th Ringing began a little before 3 oclock at St . Vedast s, Foster Lane, and continued later at St. Botolph's. Bishonsgate, and St. Giles Cripplegate. There was a good attendance of members and guests, and the ringing was much enjoyed Following ringing at St. Giles', the annual general meeting took place. The retiring president. Mr. W. R. Winterton, first of all welcomed Mr. Jack Phillips who had been elected Master of the College Youths a few days earlier. The Guild was fortunate to be the first body to receive the new Master after his election. Mr. Winterton then said that it was his intention not to stand for re-election. and proposed the name of Dr. G. Roworth as his successor ; this was carried unanimously The remaining two officers. Dr. D. J. Neal Smith, Master. and Dr. D. L. Gullick, secresecretary, were elected.
After discussion of plans for 1964 the meeting concluded with votes of thanks to the retiring president and to all who had made the meeting and ringing such a success.

Before adjourning to continue informal discussion over dinner. a 'doctors' only course of Stedman was rung on the back eight by the following: G. Roworth, D. L Gullick, J. Armstrong, L. S. Castleden. D. G Hollis. W. R. Winterton. P. A. F. Chalk and D. J. Neal Smith

Devizes Branch

After two disappointments. caused by the severe weather in the early part of this year, the Devizes Branch was at last able to meet at Hilperton on November 2nd. and a very pleasant meeting it proved to be.
Thirty-five people attended the service. which was conducted by the Rector (Rev. R. C. H. Corbin). By his choice of hymns and excellant address he drew the attention of the congregation from the usual ringers' service to the importance of the Festival of All Saints. Mr. R. Hunt was the organist.

Afterwards a splendid tea was provided in the Vicarage by the Hilperton ringers. The Branch chairman (Mr. N. Knce) expressed thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting such a success. The light, merry sounding six were kept busy during the afternoon and evening with rounds and touches up is Cambridge Minor

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Twelve lowers were represented at thi Barnsley and District Society's meeting at Conisbrough on November 9th. The Vicar (Rev. G. F. Braithwaite) presided at the shorl business meeting, when Earlsheaton was selected for the next meeting on December 14 th . The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Fred Jackson, Bawtry

EAST GRINSTEAD & DISTRICT GUILD

The Guild journeyed to Horsham (8) on November 9 th for their monthly meeting. and after ringing a variety of methods and meeting members of the Horsham band enjoyed a short service. conducted by the Kev. Mr. Matthews, who welcomed them to Horsnam and complimented them on their sing. ing during the service.
After tea a business meeting was held in he belfry. with 38 members and friends atending. Eight new members were elected and made welcome by the chairman, and a grant of five guineas was made towards all appeal by Spaldhurst for new bell ropes. Ther chairman reminded members that the dinntif ickets were now ready for sale, and urg them to see that they had their names tak dr hy the secretary, as there were only a tew is

CAMPANOLOGICS-ART OR SCIENCE

By A. S. HLDSON
During the pasi few months there has been considerable research into the Surprise Major methods, using electronic computers. The results of these analyses are to be published in the near future, and it is hoped that the following discussion may stimulate though concerning the application of computing to the various theoretical branches of change-ringing

(HANGE ringing has always been an  essentially logical art, although as it was developed the art gradualiy became more and more chaotic. It is difficult to draw a distinction between the art and the science of ringing, even if such a distinction be desirable. While the fundamentals are concerned with the production of changes, which is purely and simply an exercise in logical thought. there exists an infinite capacity for individual genius to get to work on the problem of arranging changes in a pleasing and musical manner. In the carly stages of change ringing the methods evolved were mainly those which today would be regarded as "irregular": very few of these are still practised-Grandsire is an example of one which has survived. although one feels tempted to wonder why this should be so.In attempting to produce order out of chaos, the Central Council has set out a series of rules governing which methods may be regarded as 'regular.' and the Exercise is enccurared to practise only those which fall into this category, although there is no emhargo on irregular ones except in record peals. The regular methods have been selected both for convenience and also to limit the choice oi availahle methods. which is in itself a more or less essential step.

Having arrived at a universally agreed sel of rules governing what we may ring, we are faced with the problem of finding all the methods and fitting compositions to them. Let us consider separately the generation of methods and the derivation of compositions

TWO BASIC RULES

The two basic rules regarding acceptable methods are (1) that the plain course must be true, and (2) that no bell may remain in the same place for more than two successive hows, forming a clear distinction from many methods practised of old. All that remains is 10 discover which of the methods obeying rules 1 and 2 produce Plain Boh lead ends. Ihe problem now resolves itself into a tiresome and protracted lahour of love.

It is at this stage that 1 want to introduce the discussion of the place of electronic computing in the art and science of change ringine. We have decided that there is no special art in the derivation of acceptable methods, it is merely a matter of pladding through every possibility and determining whether or not they conform to the rules. Such an operation is idzally suited to the computer. but not to the human brain. It has been suggested that genius is an intinite capacity for taking pains: If this is so, then I would suggest that there is more genius in a room of computers than in any collection of humans. however brilliant. The computer is not cadable at present of producing any original thought whereas the human brain is not distinguished for its capacity for taking pains. Thus it would seem that the computer provides an excellent labour saving device
Let us compare the time required to evaluate a possible method in order to see whether it gives a Plain Bob lead end. Working quickly. one might produce one result per minute by hand or sixty methods to the hour The lathour that follows in order 10 check the work is enormous. Even the slower computers these days will check about one method per second. that is. several thousand an hour, and the faster ones can achieve ten an hour, and the faster ones can achieve ten to this time saving factor, there is the advantage that the computer seldom makes a trivial mistake: if it does make any rip, complete nonsense results, and therefore once a programme is working properly it is not necessary to undertake any further checking.
The most striking objection to the use of computers for this type of work is the prohibitive cost, coupled with the fact that not many people are in a position to get acess to a machine, or to persuade an obliging maths department to allow the programmes to be run. In fact. there is not so much of a problem here as might at first be expected it can be relatively easy to get short periods of machine time for ringing problems, since the authorities are sometimes remarkably interested in such problems.
There are further difficulties to be considered in the work of method derivation: so far we have not considered the falseness of the methods. A collection of a large number of methods is virtually useless unless some analysis of the falseness is provided. This analysis proves to be quite simple on the computer : the approach is in fact completely different from that which one would employ if one were working it out by hand Falseness considerations bring us naturally on to the second lype of analysis mentioned ahove: that is, the derivation of composttions. This immediately raises several philosophical questions.

END OF INDIVIDUAL GENIUS

First of all, is there any art in composition? Without any doubt there is. The scope for including musical qualities is enormous. although ihis is sometimes severely limited by the falseness of the method, ard the intricacies of working out a composition for the very false methods are manifold. The question is not so much - could one produce compositions suited to the music peculiar to any given method by computer means? - but rather-is it desirable to remove the scope for individual genius to flourish in the realm of inspired composition? It must surely be a retroprade step for compasitions to be produced mechanically on a large scale. It would be perfectly possible to derive compositions for every known method, but it would take a prohibitive amount of time, and the volume of tabulation would be enormous. The Exercise would then lose the variety inherent in the work of individual composers, which would he most undesirable. Fortunately, none of these objections apply to the ganeration oi methods.

Nevertheless. there are abjections of a different variety to the derivation of methods en masse. Several points of view have bean expressed in letters recently. and so 1 will try to give a summary of them here. The first objection is that the quality of a method is very variable. If a complete collection of. say, major methods, is published, then a vast number of methods. some of which are of doubtful quality, are showered upon the Exercise. Clearly it is a matter of opinion whether a method is worth ringing, but it is widely agreed that methods which are dynamic in that the bells do not stagnate in one place for long periods. are superior to the more stagnant ones. The second objection is that some of the methods are hopelessly false and therefore could not be rung to peals. There are objections to the publication of falszness for methods. On the grounds that some of the Exercise is not capable of understanding all that is implied in an analysis of falseness. and thus many false peils would be rung.

On the first count. I consider that there is not only a place, but a definite need in the Exercise for complete collections. We have suffered for too long from incomplete information about which methods have been rung. which compositions will go to them, what their falseness is. and so on. We have to accept the possibly biased judgments of committees as to what type of method conforms to the precepts of good taste. A case in point is the recent collection of Minor methods, which although being an extremely good piece of work in many ways, and probably the best collection that the Central Council has yet produced. contains a considerable number of Little and Alliance methods, but NO Single change methods. That the former are included is just as it should be. even if some would criticise the value or appeal of such methods but that the latter are excluded is lamentable. On the second count. surely the Exercise is intelligent enough to be able to use properly an explicit analysis of incidence of falseness? Those who are likely to construct a composition are perfectly capable of using falseness tables correctly. while those who do not understand them are not very likely to select or compose their own compositions.
In conclusion, l will restate the points I have tried to make. There appears to be a firm place for computer applications in the science of change ringing, so long as it doe, not interfere with the scope for individual talent or genius in the art. There is plenty of work that the computer can do far more accurately and quickly than we can. The re cults from analyses of the type discussed above should be of lasting value to the Exercise.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE INVADED

On October 19th a strong and determined force of men (and women) from the Silsoe district of Bedfordshire carried out a highly successful raid on the neighbouring county of Northants. Two mechanised columns. led by D. Brazier and C. Mann, penetrated the enemy territory as far as Gayton, with practically no opposition from the matives Surprise tactics were used with great succiass and words like London: "Norwich and - Cambridge ${ }^{\text {• were freely exchanged. presum- }}$ ahly to confound the local inhabitants, and not infrequently the insurgents themselves were confused!

After their early success at Gayton. the raiders pressed on to the peaceful villape of Green's Norton, and the independent observer felt that a place of such surpassing beauty might have been spared. but the loud ringing of bells (the marauders' normal method of announcing their arrival) soon made it known that the invaders were in occupation

The conquest of places like Easton Neston. Towcester. Paulerspury. Potterspury and Cosgrove followed in rapid succession. without a shot (or even a ring of bells) being fired. The entire exercise was carried out with such speed and precision that no injury to personnel or damage to property was reported, though, intoxicated by success, the invaders made raids on catering establishments and hostelries, but in all cases peaceful negotiations proved effective. The organisers would like. through the 'neutral channel of 'The Ringing World. to express their warm appreciation of the very valuible fifth column work of Frank Eyden. and also the co-oneration of local clergy and cther non-combatants?

Letters to In Defence of Yorkshire Six-bell Ringers  Dear Sir-I think my old friend, Mr: Chris

 Woolley. must have had his tongue in his cileek when he wrote to you propounding his weird and wonderful theory on how the six-bell ringers of the latter part of the last centurs came to ring their peals of 14 half-extents.Surely he doesn't expect anyone to belicve hat those ringers learned fourteen different methods just to make it easy for a conductor not capable of calling a 720 , or that they would care two hoots whether the tenors were parted or not. The more likely explanation is that they wished to progress beyond ringing peals in seven methods only, which they had already accomplished. and in which incidentally, the conductor had had to call the full extent in each method
Quite naturally they did not want to ring a 10.080 to cover the fourteen methods. which they would have had to do had Dr. Carpenter had his way. I think I prefer Mr. Moxon's description of Dr. Carpenter's suggestion as fatuous to Mr. Woolley's naive; for it was silly rather than unsophisticated.
Whenever the controversy which raged over what should. or should not. constitute a peal of Minor is mentioned. the Yorkshire six bell ringers are regarded as the villians of the play. They are considered to have been the chief offenders. Yet, from the time the Yorkshire Association was formed in 1875 up to 1896, when matters really came to a head, of the 116 peals of Minor rung by the Association only six were half-extents of fourteen methods. and those six were rung in different towers by different bands
The chief protagonist of the Yorkshire sixbell ringers was George Bolland, of Tong, a very able ringer and conductor. whom I knew well. He fought on principle and -not because he had any particular desire to ring the disputed type of peal in fact he rang (and called) only one of those peals.
He objected to the six-bell ringers being dictated to. on what they should or should not ring. by pcople who were not primarily six-bell ringers and he was supported by most if not all, of his Minor brethren in Yorkshire.
In June, 1895, George Bolland proposed tha: the Yorkshire Association should withdraw from the Central Council, but discussion on that proposition was deferred until a meeting held at Rawmarsh on February 81h, 1896. where. although George had the sympathy of the meeting his motion was not carried.

Mr. Woolley, in his letter, states that in the debate at the Central Council mecting. Dr. Carpenter was on the winning side. Perhaps it was. but was it such a victory? Someone on the Central Council must have felt uneasy hecause the following annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association, held at Leeds on January 16th. 1897. saw, no less a person there than the president of the Central Council, Mr. A. Percival Heywood (afterwards Sir Arthur), who came to 'appeal strongly for the Association's support in the vork the Council had before it. adding that he had great hopes that some compromis? on the six-bell question might be reached.' What the compromise was (if any) I do not know. but the Yorkshire six-bell ringers showed their independence and their utter disregard of the dictatorialness of those. who. in their oninion, were not qualified to dictate, by continuing to ring peals of 14 half-extents with increased vigour. In 21 years before the dispute they had rung six such peals: they rang three in the three years that followed!

the Editor

In order to dispel any misunderstanding there might be of George Bolland, I would state, from personal knowledge and experience, that he was a very likable man. a gentleman in every sense of the world. He was a man of high principles and though he was. at times, somewhat fierce in debates he had a kind and genial nature. He was often referred to as the "king of six-bell ringers," but his ringing was by no means contined to Minor. He was not a six-bell bigot.
Up to the time when Mr. Heywood went to the Leeds meeting George had rung 57 peals, 23 of which he conducted. Only 19 of the 57 were Minor: 37 were Major; and one Royal. Shortly afterwards he rang in the first peal of Surprise Major by the Yorkshire Association
George Bolland was a member of the Cential Council for almost thirty years. When he championed the causes of six-bell ringers he did it. not just for the Minor ringers of Yorkshire. but for those of the whole Exercisc -Yours faithfully, Pudsey, Yorks.

Tunes on Handbells

Dear Sir.-May I support others who have asked for articles on tune ringing on handhells. As one who has dabbled in this activity (albeit on a limited scale due to pressure of other ringing activities). I would suggest that the provision of suitable music scores is most needed.

For those intending to go far with tune ringing I recommend getting used 10 music written in staff notation. Many piano scores may be broken down and adapted, particularly if one has a good range of bells (two or more octaves).

Many tunes in keys other than $C$ will be found to have no sharps or flats when transcribed to the key of $C$. thus a set of bells in the diatonic scale (no sharps or flats) can b* used for a wide range of tunes.

It does not matter what key one's handbells are in. To play ia tune in key of C on handbells in key of $G$ (lowest note), call $G$ note $C$. A note $D$. $B$ note $E$. $C$ note $F$ D note G. E note A. F sharp note B, top G note $C$. etc. The tune is thus automatically ttanscribed from one key to another.-Yours Rotherham.

Congratulations to other Margaret

Dear Sir.-May I, through your columns. greet my namesake who rang her first peal at Ormesby. Yorks, on October last.

This afternoon I was greeted with various witticism from people with whom I have stood in peals and who thought the asterisk for First peal ' was an error.
Congratulations. Margaret. My first was only Bob Minor.-Yours faithfully. York Minster

Notices of Meetings

Dear Sir.-May I please suggest to Districl secretaries and others responsible for organising ringing meetings that longer notice is given of such meetings when advertising iti The Ringing World.
I have seen notices which apparently give only one week in which to make arrangements and give notice of attendance.
I consider that a minimum of two weeks notice should be given when advertising meet-ings.-Yours faithfully.

Mr. R. G. Leale's North Wales Tour

Dear Sir.-May I congratulate Mr. W Cathrall and the North Wales Association on their adherence to the Association Rules, and hope that more Associations and Guilds take the same attitude.
Mr. Cathrall has exposed a grave weakness in the matter of tours and peal ringing generally. At present it would appear that any party can decide to tour a county or diocese, ring a number of peals and say credited to so and so Association or Guild. and unless the tower captain is at hand to insist upon subscriptions being paid to a particular Association or Guild, and if the Association or Guild does not object, that is the end of that. The situation is anomalous in two respects mainly, therefore:
(a) As the result of a tour a quiet Association or Guild finds at the end of a year it has credited to it several peals of Surprise Major. Triples and so on: its past record having been an average of one, or at most two per year, of Grandsire Doubles.
(b) It can be argued that extreme discourtesy has been shown to an Association or Guild which has not been forewarned of an approaching tour and peal attempts.

Permission to ring from an incumbent is always necessary: peal crediting should receive the same treatment. therefore.
In the case of Mr. R. G. Leale's tour it can be pointed out that Llanbadarn Fawr is not in North Wales. it is in South Wales. (The border is crossed a quarter-of-a-mile north of Glandyfi.) St. Padarn's bells come within the Diocese of St. David's. and the ringers there are members of St. David's Diocesan Guild of Bellringers.
Whoever. therefore, organised Mr. Leale tour forgot his map. his geography-and his etiquette! - Yours faithfully

ROBERT PATEMAN (Maj.)
Gwbert-on-Sea, Cardigan.

Guernsey Bells

Dear Sir-Church guide books often give very odd information about bells, and that at St. Peter-in-the-Wood, Guernsey, is no exception. The treble is not dated 1654, nor anything else, nor was she cast in France, as were the other two: she is a very nice mediæval bell from the Exeter foundry, dating from about 1520. There are coins in the crown-not accurately datable, but early Tudor so the British Museum tells me-and the initial cross is one found at Payhembury and Stoke Abbot.

The bells hang in a massive old frame of very odd design. and have half-wheels. They were put on ball bearings in 1955, as Mr. Cawley says, by the well known French firm of Mears et Stainbank. of Rue de la Chapelle Blanche. E.I. and the work was done by that celebrated denizen of the Montparnasse bistros. Monsieur Guillaume Theobald -Yours, etc.: (Rev.) JOHN G. M. SCOTT. Clawton Vicarage, Holsworthy.

Tip for Outing Organisers

Dear Sir.-Might I suggest to those wha heve the lask of arranging outings, etc.. to other lowers, that in writing to secretaries given in association ennual re⿻orts, the envelopes be endorsed . For singing at something to that effect.

Quite often the secretaryship has changed hands and the previous secretary may be residing many miles away, possibly overseas, and considerable delay could. in fact does. arise causing inconvenience and no doubt. irritation -Yours sincerely.

A SOMERSET RING REVIVED

'HE village of Cothelstone, with its scattered nouses and farms, nestles under the Western Quantock slopes of the Vale of Taunton Deane. From the hill road, passing steeply downwards between avenues of gnarled beeches, one of the finest panoramas of all somerset unfolds. On the afternoon of October 26 th the scene was set in all the glory ot autumn. with the russet tinges of tree and hedgerow blazing brilliantly over the dark greens of mossy banks and fields of kaye. The red sandstone Church of St. Thomas of Canterbury, approached by a track through the same arched gateway from which the notorious Judge Jeffreys had two rebels hanged, stond nobly in the weak sunshine. Of the village folk. probably only the Vicar in his home overlooking the vale sensed that the country peacefulness would soon be aroused by the rippling, swelling notes of bells being raised in full peal.
Such an occasion has indeed bein rare in Cothelstone's past, as for many years the tenor (a 20 cwt. bell by Mears. 1863) has been virtually unringable. The reason is attributed (1) the badly designed frame installed hy Harry Stokes, of Woodbury, Devon, in 1904 The second occupies a small upper deck and with the five other bells in the lower deck, the tower dimensions were only sufficient to allow for one end beam, at bearing level, in the tenor pit. Consequently the corner posts, at the frame end adjacent to the tower wells, were carried on upwards above wheel level, and here mortised into a beam extending from the upper frame-work. This has proved to be : very unstable structure and one wonders just how long it took for the motion of the bells and the seasoning of the timber, hastencd by gale-lashed winter rain cascading through the unlouvred tower openings, to warp the frame work until eventually the tenor gudgeons became severely clamped. Swing chiming remained just possible and in this way the tenor has been sounded alone as service bell for years past.
One summer evening in 1949 this lack of ringing was broken by ringers from the Taunton and Wellington areas, who spliced a econd tail on to the tenor rope so that the bell could be double-manned. Later, on Easter Monday, 1956. they again rang all six bells; the tenor pit being temporarily jacked open so that the bell could swing more easily. On both occasions a crowd of ringers worthy of a quarterly meeting gathered. More recently, a quarter peal was rung on the front five by band from Spaxton.
Encouraged by memories of these successes. ringers from the Bridgwater area decided last year to attempt a permanent repair. The Vicar was consulted and his ready co-operation and interest spurred us on. The frame was again jacked apart and now a spacing beam was firmly secured berween the uprights. jus heyond reach of the tip of the stay. Liberal quantities of oil were used to flush out th the bearings and a preliminary test was made Go was hard. but certainly possible aad it was decided that a running in period of service chiming would be beneficial, since the hearings had probably twisted slightly is the frame was fored apart. Years of chiming had also scored a deep groove in the rope guide whence the rope would suddenly lodge, with disastrous results. Ihis guide was repaired and. at the Vicar's invitation. we ratng for morning service on Sunday. May 26th-the first service ringing on all six since the war!

After two unsuccessful quarter peal attempts third time proved lucky on October 26th, when. with the aid of oil drip feeders, kindly lent hy Mr. George Burge. the tenor was iinally turned in to a quarter peal of Camoridge Minor. Mike Stone, our ' tenor king, was heartily congratulated on this achieventent.

The bells themselves are quite an interesting assortment. the inscriptions being:

Treble-AN • NO • DO • MI •NI • 1632. R. P.

Second - G. MEARS AND CO. FOUNDERS, LONDON. 1863
Third-IOHN LORD STAWEL. I.P., MB. 1689.

Fourth-MEARS AND STAINBANK. FOUNDERS, LONDON, PRO DEO ET REGINA. 1897. M. CAMLIN, I. GIBBS CHURCHWARDENS. CAST BY T. KINGSTON. 1808.
Fifth.-PEACE, HEALTH AND PLENTY TO THIS NEIGHBOURHOOD. B. AND S. 1752

Tenor-G. MEARS AND CO.. FOUNDERS LONDON. 1863.
The inscription on the third and the coat of arms on the waist are badly worn, and the inscription is taken from Ellacombe's Church Bells of Somerset.
It is sincerely hoped that. due to our activities and efforts in the past few weeks, sufficient interest may have been created for home ream ' to be taught. The idea has already been discussed with the Vicar. so it may well be that before long Cothelstone bells will once more echo the Sunday callings of their neighbouring towers out across the Deane is the distant Brendon Hills.
G. MARCHANT.

TRYING WILTSHIRE TOWERS 'A Day's Hard,
Bells not often heard were included in a visit to 14 South Wiltshire towers by nine keen ringers, including John C. Sawtell and Kingsley C. Jones. This account of the day, which took place on August 24th, they suggest should be called 'A day's hard.'

A start was made at Corsley. and on the 14 cwt . six " the standard of the day's ringing was set. with methods up to Cambridge. The sequence of towers was Horningsham, Maiden Bradley. Stourton to Mere, where the 23 cwi. e:ght were tidily hung in a metal frame by Llewellin and James. of Bristol, some 50 years ago. and in spite of plain bearings provided good ringing and music.
A brief excursion was made into Dorset to ring at Motcombe ( 6,8 cwt.), an easy-going ring by Warners, of the last century. The lefthanded six at East Knoyle was followed by the heaviest six in the county at Semley, a ring the party was unable to take full advantage of A broken treble rope was replaced at Donhead St Mary before the Salisbury Guild practicc meeting. Tisbury bells, that had not been rung for some years, were a fine ring. hung on two levels by Gillett and Johnston. Fovant bells were unringable as, like Zeals, the lower is unsafe

After tea came Wylye (some also visited Boyton), Codford St. Peter and finally All Saints. Chitterne, rehung by Mears and Stainbank only last year and deserving of a regular band. which they lack

WITH EAST DEVON RINGERS

A very wet start was made on November 2nd in the trıp to Wiltshire, well organised by Charles and Colin Turner (Ottery St, Mary) With support from Sidmouth and Sidbury, punctual start was made on the heavy eight at rrome. where we were pleasantly surprised to be joined by Reg Woodley and his wife. John Manley made the long journey from Newport (Mon) to be with us, so we were well blessed with conductors. Some well struck Grandsire and Stedman Triples were brought round here by Colin Turner,
Over the border into Wilts. a short stop for lunch ('in hand) at Melksham, and we pressed on to Swindon All Saints". A course of Grandsire Caters was brought through by Cyril Deem, but, alas, subsequent touches did not do justice to this excellent 10
Returning to Wootton Bassett we were met by that stalwart 'Otter' Louis Wilson Denying his eighty odd years, we were pleased. to have him join us in some good Siedman Triples, ably conducted by Keg Woodman Louis was delighted to ring again with young George Betts, as they had not met for noung 30 years

Somewhat regretfully we set off for Warminster, where the mellow eight were soar going well to Kent Major, with Charles Turner in charge. John Manley was also successfu with Plain Bob. Some 30 miles nearer home our last call was the lovely ring at Crewkerne where, after several methods came back into rounds. our ringing was brought to an end with a well struck touch of Oxford Bob Trimles
Our thanks are due to the organisers, incumbents and those who met us so promptly at the towers.

KIPPIN'S HEREFORDSHIRE TOUR

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$Southerday, August 31st, two cars left Southampton bound for the small but famous village of Eardisland, carrying Carolyn Vibet, John Faithfuil, Maurice Butler. Michael Thomas, Chris Kippin and David House. After a brief halt at Andover, to pick up Hilary Kippin and Peter Joyce, our path led to Purton, Wilts. Here numbers were further increased by Brian Bladon, Ron Marlow and Raymond Haines London and Cambridge were rung on the fine six before we hurried on to Cheltenham to meet Louise Taylor and have lunch. Our first effort on eight at Ruardean. Glos, included Bristol and fivespliced, the party being strengthened by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kippin. After the sixes at Goodrich, Llangarren and St. Weonards annther meal was disposed of in Hereford. At the White Swan, Eardisland, we were warmly welcomed by Leslie Evans. The arrival of Frances Rickard and Tony Davidson from Truro completed the party.
On Sunday morning we were wakened to the sound of a tape-recording of Eardisland bells, thoughtfully put on by the landlord. In the ringing for Sung. Eucharist we were joined ty Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Oatway, of Leatherhead. who spent the week-end with us. We were welcomed by the Vicar at the beginning of his sermon and two were even pressed to sing in the choir. Afternoon ringing was at Eye, Kimbolton, Kingsland and Wigmore, and ringing for Evensong at Ludlow. Here we were glad to welcome Kay Moore, of Lichfield.

THE GRAB BEGINS

On Monday the grabbing began in earnest. From the good eight at Ledbury we went on to Eastnor (6) and Colwall (8). Next came Coddington (6) and the beautiful eight at Malvern Link After Mathon (6) and Cradley (6) a break was made for tea. Unfortunately time was limited on the oleasant ten at Leominster. After a brief touch of Grandsire Caters, an excellent course of London Royal was tapped round. Back at the hotel a pleasant evening was spent.

A start was made at Burghill (8) on Tuesday, followed by Pipe and Lyde (6). Lugwardine (8), where a request for Quedgeley was acceded to, and then the first five of the tour. Weston Beggard. where New Bob was the highlight. The noble six at Withington were greatly admired, but the next six, Sutton St. Nicholas, provided a contrast in every way, Two more heavy sixes followed-Marden and Wellington. The last tower of the day was Wodengton, a good Gillett and Johnston six. Tuesday night was a rowdy one, and two of the martyrs who had kindly volunteered 10 sleep at the cafe across the road were evicted-. a tragic event! However, they managed to put up with the hotel for the rest of the week.
Wednesday took us to Leintwardine (8), Clun (6) and Clunbury (8). Knighton ( 8 bells) was our first tower in Wales. and after lunch we rang on the other eight in Radnorshire. Presteigne. The sixes at New and Old Radnor followed. and after a much-enjoyed meal of faggots, chips and peas at Leominster, a visit was made to the five at Stoke Prior. Here we were joined by the Rev. Arthur Roberts. of Carbis Bay who was looking after the parish during his holiday. At the end of our ringing here, the total of changes rung was 19.843: unfortunately the record was not kept up till the end of the tour,

YORKSHIRE PEAL LOST

At breakfast on Thursday a knock on the window heralded the arrival of Don and Kay Exell. who joined us for the rest of the tour. Eight of the company attempted a peal of Yorkshire at Eardisland, which was lost after an unfortunate understanding after an hour's good ringing. The rest of the party rang at Dilwyn (6), Weobley (6) and Norton Canon (5). After the party had been reunited ringing followed at Staunton-on-Wye (6) and Holmer (6). The afternoon was spent in Hereford. Ringing at the Cathedral included Yorkshire and London Royal, but those listening outside enioyed it most. Other towers visited were All Saints' (8). St. Nicholas' (6) and Aymestry (6).

On Friday morning we left our organise and his girl-friend standing outside the hotel, but his absence was noted at the first tower, Hampton Bishop (6), and a car was sent back for him. Holme Lacey's eight were not greatly admired, the fourth being cracked, but Much Dewchurch's six were pleasant. The eight at Ross-on-Wye were enjoyed by all. Alas! Kings Caple's six were the worst of the tour. We went on to Fownhope (6) and Woolhope (6). Here the church was closed for repair. and on arriving home we found a letter withdrawing permission to ring. The evening was spent at Eardisland practice night, where we were loined by another touring band from Sussex.
On arrival at Glasbury-on-Wye on Saturday we found we were unable to ring. Our thanks are due to Colin Lewis for arranging ringing at Talgarth (6), so we still manaeed to ring in seven counties. After the five at Clyro, we went to Clifford (8), where a good course of Glasgow and a touch of eight-snliced were rung. Ringing went on at Whitney (5), Eardis ley (6), Almeley (6), Kington (6) and Lyonshall (6), then finally on the justly famous five at Pembridge

The second annual meeting of the party, fondly called 'Kippin's Kreeds.' was held in the public bar of the hotel, and after the election of new members the venue for 1964 was chosen-Derbyshire. A srall presentation was made to Chris in appreciation of a great deal of hard work.
On Sunday morning, after farewells nad been. said to Charles, Jessie and Hilary Kippin and Peter Joyce, we rang for the last time at Eardisland, and, at Matins, criticised Chris at the organ. Afternoon ringing was at Upton Bishop ( 6 ), Linton (6) and Aston Ingham (6). then, after a stop at Gloucester, we reached Swindon in time to ring a course of Cambridge Royal at Christ Church, a fitting end to a wonderful tour.
Three Surprise Royal methods were rung, 10 Surprise Major, as well as five. six and eight spliced and 12 Surprise Minor methods as well as all the usual plain methods.
D. E. H.

OUTINGS  LITTLE ASTON

Although the date for the annual outing was later than usual. Little Aston ringers and friends were favoured with a tine day for their visit to the Cotswolds on October 26th Bishop's Cleeve. the first tower. proved to have a very pleasant ring of eight. Where the local captain joined in a touch of Stedman. Next was the fine Norman church of Elkstone, and New Bob was accomplished on the easy-going five. A hurried sandwich lunch was eaten on the way to Rendcomb (a ground floor ring of six). The bells were difficult to hear (especially while our Vicar was playing the organ!!, but London was managed without too much difficulty Some good fast ringing was enjoyed on the light six at North Cerney (a saddleback tower). hefore going to Lechlade. our heaviest ring of the day. By this time we were ready for tea at Bourton-on-the-Water. which was followed by a visit to the famous model village, and then a ring on the excellent eight. Bristol was achieved here and Lincolnshire brought the day's ringing to a close.

Our grateful thanks to Mike for the arrangements and those who made it possible for us

BALDOCK, HERTS

Arranged by Mr. E. G. Buck, Baldock ringers and friends had an enjoyable half day outing on October 12th into Essex. Ringing started on the fairly light octave at St. Juhn the Baptist, Woodford. and after a break for tea on the heavy bells of St. Margaret's. Barking. A long drive brought us to Stanford-le-Hope. where the bells are of very good tone, and finally Brentwood for the best ringing of the day on bells that pleased us immensely. Thank; to all who contributed to such an eniovable outing.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Northern District

Reporting on the Association committe meeting to the quarterly meeting of the Northern District, held at Felsted on November 16th, the District Ringing Master said he hoped they would consider an addition to the title of the Association incorporating the words Chelmsford Diocese." like • The Essex Associ:1tion and Chelmsford Diocesan Guild. This was to enable towers transferred from Essex to London under the Greater London Act to maintain their connection with the Association,

It was agreed that the annual District meeting would be more central if held at Braintree. Bocking. Halstead and Coggeshall in rotation.

A letter was received from Kelvedon, inviling the District to hold its annual meeting at Kelvedon on the same day as the rededication of the bells. The meeting, in thanking Kelvedon. thought it would be if a separate date was arranged. Dunmow also invited the District, but it was thought it would be better to visit this tower in the early spring. Finally. it was agreed to hold the annual meeting at Coggeshall on January 11th

The Master closed the meeting with thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. L. J. Vick) for conducting the service and his welcome, to Peter Wood for playing the organ and to all who had helped to make the meeting a success. Ringing, which ranged from call changes to London Surprise, continued until 8 p.m.

N.W. Branch

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott. Vicar of Clawton and chairman of the Branch. preached at the annual meeting of the N.W. Branch. held at Bradworthy on November 9th. The Vicar (Rev. A. Proctor) conducted the service, which was attended by about 35 members and ringing friends from Coombe Martin. Westleigh, Lamerton and Plymouth. The president. Preb J. H. B. Andrews, was also present.

Local ladies provided a marvellous tea, and this was followed by the business meeting. at which the present officers were re-clected. viz.: Chairman. Rev. J. G. M. Scott: secretary and treasurer, R. G. Pearce: Ringing Master. C. Sangwin: General Committee: R.C. Callocott. H. Stacey and W. H. R. Smale. Next yzar's meetings will be at Bideford and Northam. July 25th. and Clawton. November 14th. (Will other secretaries. please note!) Good wishes for a speedy recovery were expressed to Mr. Tom Myers, who is in hospital.

Ringing consisted of Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent T.B. with rounds and call changes for beginners. Lutcombe and Holsworthy towers were also visited during the evening.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District

Sutton-on-Trent has a high reputation for hospitality and this was surely proved by the large number of members and visitors wh, attended the meeting there on November 16 th.
The eight bells, were rung during the afternoon and well into the evening to a wide variety of methods. including Surprise Major and Erin Triples. and there was very little need for rounds only, as most of the learners present had progressed to elementary chang: ringing. During the afternoon a small party visited the church of the Holy Rood. Ossington (6).

A sumptuous tea was prepared in the Church Hall by lady ringers and helpers, and this was preceded by a shortened Evensong. conducted by Canon R. T. Keal. At the business meeting, the District chairman welcomed visitors from the Bingham. Mansfield and Nottingham Districts. and gave a warm vole of thanks to all who had made the meeting such a success

Next meeting: District annual. Newark. January 18th

For over 50 years the Cambridge University Guild attempted a peal of Stedman on handbells, but without success. Various bands tried to score such a peal. including E H. Lewis and the Revs. H. L. and E. B. James, and. in more recent years. bands of ron-residents have made regular attempts. On Friday. November 15th, Stedman Caters was lung at their first attempt by a band of resident members.
Prittlewell ringers raised $£ 31$ 10s. towards new lighting in the tower by a rummage sale held on November 2nd.
The Editor acknowledges annual reports of the Chester and Salisbury Diocesan Guilds. These reports are most useful in tracing people.
The peal rung at Blewhury on November 9th (see page 787) was for the Jxford Diocesan Guild.
Mr. R. Rainford who has complered 56 years ringing at Lancaster R.C. Cathedral, was honoured by friends ringing a quarter of Bristol Surprise Major at Scorton on November 3rd.

Mr. W. F. Moreton writes: The method 'Banbury,' rung in the peal at Rotherham on November 9th, is down in Corrigan's Royal Collection as 'Daventry. hut it is not an acceptable extension of Daventry Major and so has heen renamed.
By ringing the tenor to a peal of Boin Major at Chobham on November 16th. Mr. D. G. Blows completes the circle in eight peals, and none lost! A straight eight. The band would like to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wells on the birtli of a son, and the Vicar on the birtñ of his first granddaughter.

Probably other readers have experienced the same difficulty as Mr. A. S. Phelips, of Littlestone, Kent, who writes that while on holidav he had the greatest difficulty in finding details of bells and ringing times from many cliurches. The only exception was Sidmouth: here, on the main church notice board was a coloured drawing of a bell, together with number of bells, weight of tenor and ringing times on Sundays and practice nights.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Ringers at St. Marv's, Rickmansworth, have a dismal prospect ahead of them. Last week the sixth bell became badly cracked during practice. The Church Council express little hope that any money will be available within the next few years for recasting. They also state that they will not give the ringers permission to obtain the money themselves. There will be no further ringing until the situation improves.
In the peal at Checkendon on November 2nd (page 772), it was Barry J. Davies who rang his 50 th peal, and not as shown.

For his 100 th peal, Mr. A. William Bird rang the same bell at Wrentham, Suftolk. on which he rang his first peal. Mr. Charles Bailey took part in both peals.
A small stone from a piece of jewellery was found recently in the belfry of St. Clement Danes' Church. It will be returned to the owner on application to Mr. E. A. Barnett.
On October 29th five Scouts who had been taught to ring at North Weald. Essex. were examined by Mr. D. Riley and all passed for their certificate to wear the bellringer's badge. The Essex Association is contemplating a change of name to incorporate the words 'Chelmsford Diocese.' The reason is to maintain connection with towers in the London area which will not be in Essex.
The peal at Burley, Leeds, on November 16th. was rung by members and friends of the Leeds University Union Campanological Society to commemorate the fifth anniversary of the Society's first peal and as a birthday compliment to Professor H. Irving.

The annual 'Bellringers' Sunday" at St . Mary's, Sileby, Leicestershire, on November 17 th , proved to be a very busy day for the ringers. Besides the normal service ringing, a handhell peal was rung in the belfry during the afternoon and a quarter peal on the tower the a ternoon and a quarter peal on the lower bells prior to the evening service. Both morning and evening services included hymn tunes rung on the handbells, four members of the team being only 12 or 13 years old. Many of the congregation took the opportunity to see the ringers at work as they rang for half an hour after Evensong.

BELLS OF ABERDEENSHIRE

ATTENTION has been focused on St. Nicholas' Church. Aberdeen, by the recent letter in 'The Ringing World 'from Mr. Frank T. Blagrove, calling attention to a peal of Bob Triples of 5,040 changes rung, according to Bell's Life of London' of December 4th, 1859, on the Wednesday previous. Until this publication, the College Youth peal rung at Old Steeple, Dundee, in 1873, was considered to be the first recorded peal in Scotland.

Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston has now, in conjunction with the late Dr. F. C. Eeles, published Part III of the concluding part of "The Church and other Bells of Aberdeenshire,' and this part tells of the considerable research that has taken place in regard to St. Nicholas' Church, Aberdeen - a church wonderfully rich in bell history

As far back as 1351 there were two large bells in this church, presented by Provost William Leyth-one dedicated to St. Lawrence and the other to St. Mary. In 1634 Lawrence was recast by the well-known Dutch bellfounder Michael Burgerhuys, of Middelburg, and was known as Old Lowrie. This bell remained in use until the fire of 1874, when it was broken in pieces. The inscription on this bell, in Latin, is translated as follows:-

> To the only God be glory. Michael Burgerhuys made me in the year of our Lord 1634 . Lo. I, the bell. do not proclaim the praise of that which is unholy. I glorify the Creator. I draw away the fear of thunder, I mourn in solemn tones the departed, I tell of the recurrent rites of faith, I move the heart of man that is joyful; behold me, I am Lawrence. In 1351 . William Leyth, Provost of Aberdeen, presented this bell to the church of St. Nicholas of Aberdeen. Thereafter a cleft having been made in it at the expense of the community it was recast in the year 1634 while Sir Paul Menzies of Kinmundy, Knight, was Provost.'

There were then three bells. In 1794 one of the bells was sent to London to be recast by Thomas Mears I, and he was instructed to cast an additional bell. In 1803 Mears added another, making a ring of five.

A decision to provide Aberdeen with a complete ring of bells was taken in 1857, when two proposals were submitted by Messrs. John Warner and Sons, of Cripplegate, to a meeting presided over by the Provost. The scheme adopted was to add two trebles and a heavier bell to the existing five for $£ 465$. This provided a tenor in $E$ flat slightly over 32 cwt . The treble was the gift of a Leeds banker, John Smith, and through his generosity members of St. Peter's Company of Ringers, Leeds, and others, came to Aberdeen to try out the bells. On August 30th they rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, and afterwards issued a testimonial in the following terms:-

Abstract

'The St. Peter's Company of change-ringers, Leeds, do hereby certify that the peal of eight bells in St. Nicholas' Church, Aberdeen, are for power and richness of tone, the finest peal of bells for their weight in the United Kingdom. They also consider them in perfect tune. Should a company of young men from 18 to 25 years of age come forward and place themselves under the tuition of Mr. Hubbard, there is no doubt of Aberdeen being put in the possession of as good a set of change-ringers as any other town in the Kingdom can hoast of.-William Gawkrodger. President of the Company.

For a time Hubbard was retained as tutor by the town council, and later a Mr. Healey, of Wakefield, became the instructor. Any prospect of Aberdeen becoming a centre for change-ringing ended with the steeple being gutted by fire in 1874. It was not until 1882 that the council decided against a ring of ten bells with a tenor of 30 cwt . for $£ 1,325$, submitted by Messrs. Warners. Acting on the advice of the Rev. H. R. Haweis, they selected a carillon of 37 bells from the Louvain foundry of van Aerschodt for $£ 2,690$. The bells, however, were stated to be of poor tone. The carillon was entirely recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd.. of Croydon, in 1952, and in 1954 the same firm added 11 new bells to complete four octaves. It is the heaviest carillon in Great Britain and is the property of the Corporation.

Mr. Clouston has analysed the bellfounders whose work is found in Aberdeenshire. There are only three pre-Reformation bells - a disused bell at Cruden, dated 1519. a bell at Tough, cast by William Culverden, of London, and a bell at Turriff (1556). Of the Continental bells, the largest number came from the Middelburg foundry on Walcheren Island. Holland. The Sevérin van Aerschodt carillon of 37 bells (largest. 54 cwt .) has, as previously stated, been recast. Naturally there is local interest in the products of the old Aberdeen Foundry, which seems to have operated since 1686 , firstly through the Kilgours and afterwards John Mowat and Andrew Lawson. A number of Scottish founders of the last century and their work is also listed. The Whitechapel Foundry have had a market in the county since 1567, and the work of John Taylor and Co. is also well represented. John Warner and Sons and Gillett and Johnston have also specimens from their foundries, the latter recasting and augmenting the carillon.
The work of the authors merits the attention of all interested in bell history and, selling at 3s. post free, bearing in mind its excellent illustrations, indicates an indebtedness to some good friends. These parts have been reprinted from the proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, Vol. xciv. Session 1960-61.

In Memoriam - John Fitzgerald Kennedy

The aswassination of the President of the United States of America on November 22nd, 1963, was followed by a manifestation of world-wide sympathy with his widow and the people of the American nation. Throughout Great Britain bells were rung half-muffled on the following Saturday and Sunday to the memory of a great statesman and a ceaseless worker for international peace. ## LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

West Lindsey Branch
The last meeting in the current year was held at Saxilby on November 16th, and was well attended in spite of the fact that there was a Central Branch meeting at nearby Scothern on the same day
Towers represented were Haxey, Belton. Gainsborough, Lea, Upton, Willingham. Stow and Saxilby, while visitors from the Central Branch, Nottinghamshire and Yorkshire were welcomed. The two special methods, Hereward and St . Albans were frequently called for any many other Minor methods were rung, along with Bob Doubles and rounds for the less skilled.

Due to the Vicar being incapacitated the service was conducted by Mr. G. H. Bingham, a lay reader from Willingham-by-Stow, and an excellent tea provided by local ringers, wives and friends followed.

During the business meeting a reminder to peal ringers was given by the Ringing Master who said when ropes were adjusted in towers they should be put hack to their original length before leaving
It was mentioned that as the annual meeting is to be held at Gainsborough. an eight-bell tower, and as most members are used to six bells. the special methods should not be complicated. Plain Bob Major and Cambridge Major were chosen; ringing to continue until the service at 6 p.m.. which will be followed by tea, the business meeting and a social evening.
The business meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar, to Mr. G. H. Bingham and to the ladies who provided tea. Ringing was resumed until nearly 9 o'clock.

OTHERS MIGHT FOLLOW

Grundisburgh ringers had a recent Saturday hop, visiting five or six towers, and after enjoying the bells left 5, in each church as tangible appreciation.
In his letter of thanks one Vicar writes: ' It is very rare in my experience that anyone troubles to say thank you for such use of bells-and rarer still to cap it with a gifi. Many thanks.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION  Chesterfield District

In spite of the miserable weather the District's first meeting at Killamarsh on November 9 th was quite successful, and most of the local company became new members! The tenor proved difficult to set, nevertheless some good ringing took place on the pleasant 11 cwt . six before tea.
At the short business meeting, which followed tea in the Rectory, Mrs. V. Stones and Messrs. A. Parr, E. Morris, J. Jennings, G Martin. R. Green and C. Fisher (all of the local company) were elected new memhers. The Rector (the Rev. G. S. Cheetham) the local company and the ladies for providing such an excellent tea were thanked.
In the evening methods rung on the halfmuffled bells included Killamarsh T.B.. London S Minor. Spliced St. Clemenis and Kent T.B. together with a very goo cours Oxford T.B. with each change repeated.

HIGHCLERE RINGERS' SERVICE
The second annual bellringers* and choir festival of St. Michael 's, Highiclere, was celehrated on November 24th. Ringing starsed at 8 a.m. for Holy Communion and again at $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for Matins. In the afternoon a peal of Bob Major was rung. in which two ringers scored their first on eight bells. At Evensong Mr. G. Dodd. the captain gave a short talk on the choice of the hymn. 'Abide with me. There was handbell accompaniment to the singing of this hymn, and also to the hymn Now the day is over ; the singers being lady members of the choir. Further ringing followed. in which visitors from Tangley. Bucklehury and Thatcham joined the local hand.

Adelaide Town Hall Bells Ringable Again

By RONALD K. RUSS

COLONEL WILLIAM LIGHT was one of and. one day in 1836, while standing on a hill overlooking the sleepy Torrens River. he had a vision of a beautiful city. He decided this was the place to build the state capital. and named it Adelaide, for the wife of William IV. In 1840 it was incorporated as a city, the first in Australia to be so designated.
Today the city has grown into the fourth largest in Australia. with a population of some 565,000 . but it continues to reap the benefits of Light's vision. and his careful planning in the form of a square, with wide. tree-lined streets. In the very centre of the city is Victoria Square, with a statue of Queen Victoria and standing sentinel. overlooking the square, is the Albert Tower of the Town Hall. so named after the Queen's Consort.
In recent years the tower has hecome dwarfed by the adjacent city sky-scrapers, but regained some measure of its former glory when. on Saturday. September 2lst, 1963. its eight bells rang out in full peal for the first time in 54 years. Being completed early in 1866, its style is ?miniscent of many London towers of this period. First and second stages are built to form arches at street and balcony levels. the third stage forms a square ringing chamber. this being surmounted by a smaller clock chamber, also square. Stage five is octagon:l, being a system of louvre-filled octagon houing the sells. This in lurn is arches, housing the surmounted by a smaller octagon of open arches supporting a small lantern spire. The tower is 175 feet high.
John Warner was commissioned to cast a ring for the tower in 1865 as it neared completion, and the Albert bells came into being. Their story is now unfolded
They. of course, figure among the few secular rings of the world, being one of only three town hall rings hung for change ringing. The other trio are at Ballarat. also in Australia, and Manchester. The belis were shipped on a craft called the Edinburgh, and arrived on May, 9th. 1866. They formed one of the first. if not the very first ring to be hung in Australia. and the newspaper reports of the time add colour to the story.
'The South Australian Register' for May 10th. 1866. tells us that 'as the bells are stowed in the wake of the pump well. near the main hatchway, the chief officer is of the opinion that they will be discharged at an early date.: The Daily Telegraph. the previous day, said. "there is now a possibility of their of their being fixed in time to ring a peal at the oopening ceremonies of the Town Hall: the ovening ceremonies of the Town Hall:' ( $A_{n}$ unfortunate choice of words, since, in fact, the bells never have been pealed.)

COST $£ 724$

The Register for Friday, May 24th. 1866. gives some interesting facts and figures A considerable number of spectators
sathered near the Albert Tower on Wednesday gathered near the Albert Tower on Wednesday 10 see the peal of hells recently imported per "Edinhurgh " ${ }^{\text {a }}$ raised into the tower.
-The diameters, weights and tones of the bells are as follows

1. $29^{\prime \prime}$
$5-3-6$
F.

Cost weight: $\mathbf{C h}$ arges:
Bell Metal $£ 7-4-8 \mathrm{cwt}$. Total $£ 482-15-3^{\circ}$ Eight Elm Stocks, gunmetal bearings. elc.. x66-4-0d. Framework $£ 90$. Chiming Apparatus with spring hammers. etc. 145. Shipning expenses, insurance and packing $£ 40-4-0 \mathrm{~d}$.
Total
$£ 724-3-3 \mathrm{~d}$.

It is quite possible the bells will be ready for chiming on the anniversary of the Queen's Accession, June 20th. but we understand the architect does not think it advisable that they should be rung for some time to come.
The newspaper's weights are quite correct. and the third in in fact the lightest bell. Is this unique? The cost figures are in Australian currency, which converted at the present rate totals about 1580 sterling, an amount which would not go far in such a scheme nowadays.
Chiming did take place at the opening ceremonies of the Town Hall in June, 1866. and on the following Sunday to fit church service times. In. The Register ${ }^{\circ}$ for August 7 th, 1866 , we read

The Lancashire bellringers visited the Town Hall on Monday morning for the purpose of practising on the Albert bells. Several chimes as well as changes were performed on six and eight bells. and the beautiful melody "Home. Sweet Home." was also played, the chiming in general being very correct and of a superior character throughout. It was performed by means of ropes, two bells being allotted to one ringer. A citizen. Mr. S. Pryor, who superintended the fitting up of the belis and who belongs to the Albert Bell Ringers' Society, assisted in two of the closing chimes with considerable skill. It may not be generally known that there are comparatively few airs. either sacred or secular, that can be performed upon eight bells. The conditions are:

1. That the time shall not extend beyond the tonic and its octave.
2. That there shall be no "accidentals" introduced.
Among the sacred airs which comply with these conditions are Rousseau's Dream. Mariners, Jerusalem. Arabia and Suffolk, and of secular airs. The Last Rose of Summer. Home Sweet Home, Vilikens and his Dinah. Even such simple airs as Sarah. Old Hundred and National Anthem cannot be played upon eight bells.

LANCASHIRE BELLINGERS

wonder who the Lancashire bellringers were. and why they should choose a Monday morning to practise? From the description one could assume there were only three or four of them. Maybe they were immigrants who played a large part in ordering the bells. The Albert Society was in being at this time and its members seem to have gone gay with their chiming in the first few months after installation. Ringing has always had its antagonists, and here was no exception, for within months of installation we have the first nuisance reports, from which one can deduce that the chiming was frequently of a poor standard!

The Register' of October 1st. 1866. tells us that. The talk is that the Albert Bells are becoming a real nuisance. That they break out with a horrible clangour at all hours of the day without any apparent reason: that sometimes they sound as if they were afflicted with St. Vitus Dance or had taken a drop too much: that this should be reformed. that the bells ought to be rung on only very special occasions and if they are rung for bazaars and such like. familiarity will breed contempt, and we may expect them to break forth into frantic ecstacies because Jones' cow has calved. or Smith's son has recovered from the measles: that "the Mayor should direct a rigorous eye" to this matter.
A happy medium must have been found for no further reports appeared. For at least a year after hanging the bells were only chimed. This fact is evidence from the only other news item I have been able to trace, which appeared in The Register ' for Jnly 6th. 1867. From this is appears that despite Mr. Pryor's superintendence at the installation, fuli circle ringing was impossible!

MR. COLLINGS' ADVICE

The article reads:
Not long after the Albert Bells had been hung, and the chiming apparatus adjusted. some manifest defects were discovered. But imperfections are more easily detected than remedied. Mr. T. G. Collings. of Franklin St.. has, however, effected both of these ohjects. He was one of the first to point out in what respects the chiming apparatus had been imperfectly adjusted. and the Corporation having confided to his charge the superintendence of the necessary alterations, they have been made tis the satisfaction of the city council. He has also effected some important improvements in the hanging of the bells, so as to allow them free scope for swinging whilst they are being rung, by shortening the space between the head of the bells and the axis on which they turn. With respect to the chiming apparatus the principal improvements consist of a careful readjustment of the nuts upon the cylinder s) as to secure their regular action upon the steps or levers which communicate motion to the hammers in the belfry.

Mr. Collings states that his experience has convinced him that the Albert Bells are very superior in tone as compared to their size. and that the effect upon the ear would be very considerably improved by converting the belfry into a sound chamber by closing up the sides with wood and allowing the sound to pass upwards into the higher lantern. and thence to escape into the open air. He says that this alteration would effectually get rid of the humming noise so much complained of, and that the tones of the bells would very much commingle and roll over the city in a rich. delightful swell of harmony.'
It could be that the louvres were put in on Mr. Collings' advice. but if they were in existence at the time of this article, then the council did not take his advice, because the louvres are not boarded up at all.

LAST RUNG IN 1909

The fortunes of the Albert Society are not known. but it was in existence until 1909. Members of the Society opened the ring of six in the Adelaide suburb of Walkerville in 1887. but the general concept of opinion is that they never aspired to anything beyond call changes. and spent much of their time chiming the bells. The bells wers last rung in 1909. when the Waratah disappeared of the South African coast with a number of South Australians on board. I would like to think that ringing for such an occasion was muffled. but we found no trace of muffles in the tower. It appears that the ringers were paid for their services and chose this occasion to ask for more money. Instead they got the sack and the bells fell into disuse.
To what extent the chiming apparatus was used during the 54 years of ringing silence is not clear, though in comparatively rezent times it was restored. and the original drum made to revolve by electric motor. The bells are currently sounded by this means on Sunday evenings. rounds and queens figuring in the chimes.

Mr. Woolley Explains

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. Chant and Mr. Moxon ('R.W.' November 22nd), I fear my first letter may not have been expressed in clear or full enough terms; but it would be strange indeed if the various elementary points on which they claim to 'correct' me should have escaped my notice. I learned change-ringing on handbells. ringing Minor, and was ringing a pair to a number of methods up to Surprise Minor over 40 years ago.
Mr. Moxon is strictly correct in what he says about bobs at $\mathbf{H}$. For sixth's place methods the fenor must be called Out three times, and this produces a 3 -course touch; actually the same touch, only started at a different lead. But these calling places correspond for the two types of method, a fact that I considered too well-known to need elaborating.
1 am aware that the tenors become parted within the lead during some part of the plain course. This happens in all methods, sometimes very much so. But 'parting the tenors' also means calling them into positions occupied by $3-4$ in the course. It was in this sense that I used the term, and I think it was clear from the context.
Were there no other $720^{\prime}$ s than the well-known 3 -part, and its variations. I could understand that talk of 'learning' a 720 might cause amusement. But there are many other 720 's, a fact which should be known to a conductor in an essentiaily 6 -bell district. Without wishing to belittle the performance at Cawthorne, in 1883, and similar ones elsewhere, I maintain that it would have been even better had they rung the 14 methods in two separate peals (or one 10.080) in full $720^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$. And for the conductor a better performance to have called seven distinct 720 's, even in one method.

I must say that I deplore the attitude of mind expressed in both letters, which suggests that ringing is divided into two hostile camps-6-bell ringers versus the rest. Mr. Moxon might remember that Minor is rung in many places outside the Barnsley district, and Mr. Chant that if one goes round looking for slights and insults one may often see them where none are intended. Of course, if one throws bricks they may be thrown back. To stress the difficulties in ringing on the various numbers. one against the other, is both unrewarding and futile. I think the most difficult thing the average ringer ever does is to learn to ring in the first place. It certainly was for me.
In conclusion, I would like to send my best wishes to the Barnsley and District Society. have very happy memories of ringing in Yorkshire during the last war, and much of this was done in that area. where I remember 6 -bell ringing of a very high standard. And I must mention my old friend, the late Daniel Smith. a fine ringer and a man I am glad to have known. I do not intend to write again, but should be very glad to hear privately from anyone I met at that time. including. of course, your two correspondents.-Yours faithfully

C. W. WOOLLEY

39. Titian Avenue, Bushey Heath, Herts
P.S.-Having read my friend Mr. Barton's letter. I must say I never intended for one moment to hint that the Yorkshire ringers rang their methods in 360's because they were incapable of ringing or calling full 720 s . What an idea! Nor yet because they wanted to make it easier for themselves: though. in fact. I think it dops. Further, it was E.C. S.: not I, who, described Dr. Carpenter's suggestion as 'naive, my first letter was written 10 suggest that it might have been intended seriously. In view of your heading I must add that I would never dream of attacking Yorkshire ringing. I would not want to, and I would not dare! I might twist the lion's tail, but I would not put my head in its mouth.-C.W.W.

The Bells of Finedon, Northants

Dear Sir,-The bells of Finedon have for long been a ring cherished by ringers over a wide area. The eight, with its 21 cwt. tenor, is notable for its fine tone, and for being one of the few comparatively light octaves in the key of D.
The original tenor is said to date back to 1613. The bells were recast in 1825 by W . and J. Taylor, of Oxford, when there were six. They were augmented to eight by Taylors of Loughborough. in 1897. A mishap to the seventh caused this bell to be recast in 1913 by Gillett and Johnston, along with the third, fourth, fifth and sixth. The ample weights of the sixth and seventh provide a good match for the tenor and go to make up a well-balanced ring.
The bells have been causing considerable concern recently. having had no attention since 1913, and are now in urgent need of rehanging. A quotation has been made of approximately $£ 480$. and the task of raising this sum has been laid on the local ringers, in a parish where $£ 15,000$ is already needed for the restoration of the roof of the fine Decorated church.
The band has recently been strengthened by the recruitment of four promising learners. two of whom have just scored their first quarter.
The band has not stood still and $£ 80$ has already been raised in a few months. But even so the task is still formidable, and we feel we must appeal to any ringers who have been impressed by this ring in the past to help preserve it in a ringable state. Contributions silould be sent to the undersigned and made payable to the Finedon Church Ringers' Maintenance Fund. All contributions, however small. will be gratefully acknowledged.
We hode it will not be too long before these fine bells are restored, and their go matched with their excellent tone.-Yours faithfully,

NOEL F. PEARSON
23. Mulso Road. Finedon, Northants.

Thank You, Australia

Dear Sir.-I should like to make known. in the pages of 'The Ringing World.' my warm appreciation of the kindly welcome and generous hospitality shown to me by ringers in Australia during my recent four months' stay there. I shall long remember arriving at Fremantle. when. within minutes of the ship's coming alongside the terminal. the Perth ringers came on board to take me off for a wonderful day's ringing and sightseeing: but this was a foretaste at what was to happen at every other city I visited. Whether at Adelaide. Melbourne or Sydney, where I stayed only a few days in each case, or at Hobart. where I lived for three months. I received a warm and heartv welcome not only in the towers I visited but also in the homes of ringers: moreover, several neople gave uo a good deal of time to showing me the sights of their city or district. I can assure any ringers thinking of emigrating to Australia that they will meet a friendliness and enthusiasm for ringing unenualled anywhere that I know of. I certainly appreciated it mnre than I can say.
Thank you. Australia-Yours cincerelv.
SHIRLEY RYMER

A Correction

Dear Sir.-With regard to the peal on page 803 of 5.040 Minor rung at St. Stephen s . St. Albans. I would like to point out that the person ringing the fourth was Christine M . Rimmer and not as printed. I would have thought that the national Press had already dealt more than fully with this matter without the pages of 'The Ringing World' having to be sullied as well. I hope this mistake was caused by a slip of the pen at some stage between sending this peal up and printing, combined with inadequate checking at the final stage of printing.
Whoever is responsible for this must surely realise that nothing less than an apology to the five other ringers taking part, the Church, the Hertford County Association of Change Ringers, the Exercise as a whole and, last but not least, myself. can rectify this matier.-Yours sincerely,

CHRISTINE M. RIMMER.
Park Street,
St. Albans, Herts.
NOTE.-The Editor expresses his sincere apologies to Miss Rimmer at the inadvertent publication of a substituted name in the peal in question.-T. W. W.

Nomenclature

Dear Sir,-Now that the controversy has died down and having no particular axe to grind, I would like to make one or two observations relative to methods.

1. To my mind a method varying only by a few changes from a parent method (e.g.: double Kent places instead of a triple dodge) should be called a variation of that parent (Yorkshire. Braunstone variation). From this 1 would exclude the lead and half-lead variations for they do produce a vastly different "blue line." How many people could ring Belgrave Maximus by just knowing that the lead-end was 12 ths instead of 2nds?
2. If a method, or variation, is rang for the first time in a peal of spliced then that name should stand. I think that it is about time the Central Council made a ruling on this matter. With all the untapped wealth or methods yet to be rung this stealing' is quite unnecessary.
3. When naming a method the conductor should look closely at the Minor methods, and make sure that the name he is giving it is not duplicated in the Minor. For instance. there are Norfolk Minor and Norfolk Major, Ipswich Minor and Major and these do not bear any relationship to each other at all! 4. I should like to see published in olace notation some of the better Delight Major methods, and I am sure that this would stimulate interest in this rather sadly neglected field. 1 myself would like to fing peals ot Delight Spliced, but as yet I have seen no compositions.
The title Surprise seems to set a method on a class of its own. anything else makes pconle think. 'Oh-a Kent type of method.
May I conclude by saying that these are only observations of mine, and I am not having 'a go' at any person or groups of people-Yours sincerely, Leicester.
JOHN E. COOK

SUNDAY MORNING BELLS ON LIGHT PROGRAMME

We have received a number of queries from listeners regarding the seeming omission of the bells on Sunday mornings, and would point out that they have never been off. What has happened is that the programme now starts earlier and the bells can be heard at $8.25 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{ml}$.. approx H. J. SANGER, Convener. Television and Broadcasting Committce. C.C.

THE SOCIETY OF WESSEX SCHOLARS

Another Society has come into being, largely through the initiative of Mr. Frank C. W Knight, known as the Society of Wessex Scholars. The creation of the Society was prompted by the large number of towers ihroughout the country in which the bells were never rung because of the absence of ringers.
The main function of the Wessex Scholars is to teach young ringers in their own towers and to take bands of ringers each Sunday to the towers where the bells are never or rarely rung. As it is a teaching Society, qualfications for membership are stiff. It is restricted to males who are 14 years of age and have rung any bell other than a cover bell through a peal of 5,000 or more changes in a standard method, or six or more bells. This condition does not include Doubles. Membership of the board of officers, consisting of a Master. secretary, minutes secretary, treasurer, steward and under steward, is limited to those who have conducted a peal of not less than 5,000 changes in any standard method on not less than erght bells, this condition to include Triples.
The headquarters tower of the Society will be in or near Winchester. District Branches can be formed as the board of officers think necessary. These will be governed by a District Master. District secretary, District treasurer and other officers as may be regarded as necessary.
Life membership fee has been fixed at 10 s. and a charge of 3 d . per head will be collected from all members and friends attending a general meeting or ringing meeting of the Society.
Mr. F. C. W. Knight has been elected Master of the Society and Mr. A. R. Carter, of 37. Wharf Hill. Winchester, secretary. Applications for membership, stating qualifications and enclosing the 10 s . life membership fee (which is returned if not elected), should be sent to Mr. Carter. We are informed that membership of the Wessex Society is growing fast.

LIMTLE ASTON MAKES HISTORY FOR SOCIETY

The resident Sunday service band of Little Aston, Staffs. have provided a landmark for the Sociely for the Archdeaconry of Stafford by a peal of seven Surprise Minor methods on November 16 th. This has taken the Society 80 years to achieve!
The Little Aston ringers were responsible for the first peal of Beverley Surprise Minor for the Society some two years ago, and since then their repertoire has grown considerably. The quarter peal columns of "The Ringing World tell of the many new methods they have rung, and the writer can confirm that the standard of ringing has been very high.
The peal is the outcome of many years of training of recruits by the conductor and deputy tower captain, Michael W. Fairey. The girls who rang the treble, second and third are his pupils and are still in their teens. The co-operation and interest of the Vicar, the Rev. H. H. Follis, has spurred on the band, and the success of the peal must be to him doubly pleasing as his daughter rang the treble to pleasing as his her first peal.

THE DEVON ASSOCIATION

THE annual meeting was held at Diocesan House, Exeter, on Nov. 16th, under the chairmanship of its president, Mr. T. Oatway, when about 40 towers were represented. The meeting was very glad to welcome Mr. Norman Mallett as representative of the Devon Guild of Ringers.
After the usual formalities had been completed, discussion was centred upon arrangements for the 1964 festivals. which were decided as follows: Eight-bell, Chagford, April 18th; six-bell (south), Ermington, May 9th (bells recently rehung); six-bell (north), Monkleigh. May 23rd (about five miles from Bideford on the Holsworthy road); six-bell (final), Christow. June 13th (in the Teign Valley). Judges for these events were also nominated.
Representation on the Central Council was discussed and Mr. Bartlett stated that, to his regret, he thought that he would again find it impossible for himself to attend the meeting at Truro at Whitsun, but Mr. H. Yidler and Mr. T. G. Darch stated that they looked forward to going.
Mr. Bartlett announced that he hoped to once again arrange an invitation six-bell competition on June 27th and as Broad Hempston had offered their tower the festival would be held there-in aid of the Historic Churches Preservation Trust. The hope was expressed that the usual support would be forthcoming.
The meeting closed shortly before 5 o'clock after a notice of motion had been given that the competition eight-bell peal should in future, be 'Westminster' as a change from 'Queens as hitherto.

50 YEARS AGO

'R.W.' December 5th, 1913.
This issue of 'The Ringing World' is a veritable 'peal number,' for seven-and-a-half of our pages are occupied with the reports of performances of over 5,000 changes. It is a remarkable record for one week, and only once, we believe, have we exceeded this number in a single issue. There seems to be. just at present, quite a boom in peals, and while we doubt if this year's performances in this direction will equal in number the extraordinary figures of 1912, the closing munths are, at any rate, producing results which will make up some of the leeway lost in the earlier part of the year.

OBITUARY

MR. T. H. TAFFENDER

A TRIBUTE FROM YORKSHIRE
The death of Mr. T. H. Taffender cannot be allowed to pass without comment upon his connection with Yorkshire over a great number of years, a connection occasioned mainly by holidays spent at Scarborough, which echo and re-echo with Mr. Grainger's words of him that he gave fully of that encouragement so necessary to the young ringer and conductor.' He did indeed! I recall one August Sunday afternoon when he taught me to ring Stedman, and for that and later encouragement I remember him with gratitude. On the occasion of this visit we met eight at St. Mary's in the morning, but withal one short for Stedman. Accordingly he called me to spend the afternoon with him-during which he explained Stedman so thoroughly that for Evensong, with him on No. 2 and me on the treble, I rang my first courses of Stedman Triples

At this time he had already been coming 10 Scarborough intermittently, for 30 years or more. His visits usually meant two or three peal attempts, and the Y.A.C.R. record his first peal for the Association at St. Marie's, Sheffield, in 1903, Stedman Triples, which he conducted, and his first at Scarborough in 1910, again S.T., conducted by him. There must be many ringers with peals recorded due to T.H.T.'s visits to Yorkshire and I myself recali particularly Caters at Holy Trinity, Hull. and Beverley. Minster. His total for the Yorkshire Association was 29, in 15 towers (over a span of 53 years), and at least one more, at Scarborough in 1936, rung for the London County Association. Of the 29 five were rung at St. Stephen's, Fylingdales, one of his favourite Yorkshire towers.
One recalls the friendly discussions he had with other regular visitors, Yorkshire stalwarts J H. Brothwell, P. J. Johnson and H. Lofthouse for a few; also how he was always ready to welcome provincial ringers to London with visits to some of his towers. This I experienced on several occasions.
With his passing another character has gone, one who will surely be missed from the Yorkshire Coast scene at Bridlington. Scarborough and Whitby, a familiar figure at their practices and at the August meetings of the Beverley and District Society at Bridlington In Scarborough he held a place of his own: now 'Soon be time for Taff to come' will not, alas, be said again, and his cry 'Up. up. up' no longer heard.
May he and Mrs. Taffender, who was always with him, rest in peace.
B. SUTTON.

MR. FREDERICK CHAMBERLAIN

Tirley. Gloucestershire, has lost a faithful servant of the church by the sudden death on November 19 th of Mr. Frederick Chamberlain, aged 76.
A member of the Tirley band for over 40 years, and also of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, he rang regularly for services. For some years he was clerk of the church and for the last few years nad been churchwarden.
Four Tirley ringers acted as bearers at the funeral service on November 23 rd. which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. J. Stanford). Immediately afterwards the bells were rung muffled.

THE TENOR'S SECRET

By T. A. BEVIS

St. Mary's Church, Dennington, Suffolk

$D^{\text {E }}$ENNINGTON, an attractive Suffolk village, contains in its few square yards a goodly vision of history and beauty which combine to stimulate the imagination of any who step from the outside world into a peace afforded by ancient. time-honoured acres, wherein sleeps in God's particular space a hero of Agincourt. Sir William Phelip. later Lord Bardolph. who was borne from his manor home to the church in 1441.
St. Mary's Church. at first glance, does not impress the visitor as being a place of exceptional merit. Nevertheless it is a deceptive and commodious fane, well-proportioned, 50 yards long, and it has need of length and breadth for it is full of treasures and curiosities of the past.
Here in retirement is a clock pendulum which regulated the time for 700 years; the skeletal-like timepiece can also be observed at the side of its inseparable companion. An unusual item is a sand-table upon which the illiterate learned to write. It was last used by an elderly resident in 1895.

The church has a legacy or rich woodcarving as well as possessing interesting features carved in stone. The 14 th century nave is filled with 15 th century benches complete with poppyheads and tracery; on these we see animals and birds. mermaids. angels and a quaint figure known as a Sciapus. a strange race created by medieval imagination and superstition, having tremendous feet which they held over themselves as parasols.

Overlooking this wonderful assortment. admirably illustrative of those weird fantasies conjured from men's minds all those years ago, is a striking three-decker pulpit from which the parson would be able to see any who were 'imprisoned ' in those monstrosities called box-pews. one of which has a row of pegs on which the lord of the manor and his sons hung their wigs.
Delicate wooden screens for which Suffolk is famed, and the colour of receded years. the cool vastness of this country church, a tenor bell with a puzzling secret, and the dignified presence of the man who saw Sir Thomas Erpingham throw his truncheon in the air before dashing into battle with Henry V. magnetises those fortunate people known as 'church-grabbers.

An effigy of Sir William Phelip lies on the right of that of his wife, this reversed arrangement indicating that Sir William inherited his title from the lady.

Mr. (Jack) Daines is leader of the ringers and he and eight other men ensure that the bells are rung each Sunday, with the exception of the period between haysel and harvest, according to custom hereabouts.
The first peal in the tower, conducted by George E. Symonds, was rung for the Norwich Diocesan Association. In 1915 the five original bells were rehung from a steel frame. and at the same time a new treble was added. with this inscription : ALFRED BOWELL MADE ME 1915, CAST DURING THE GREAT EUROPEAN WAR, this reference placing the bell in an historical setting for future generations.

The second and third are pre-Reformation bells and are dedicated to St. Mary and St. Margaret respectively; the Fourth, dedicated to St. Thomas, was recast by Bowell at the time of angmentation. Brands of Norwich cast the fifth bell in 1628. but it is the tenor, one of Bowell's heaviest-if not his heaviest ( 19 cwt.. $E$ flat)-which inspires a profound interest, for a heavy air of mystery surrounds its ample bulk

Although recast by Alfred Bowell in the dark years of the war the bell. happily, retains its original inscription, devised at a time when the talk of the land was centred on a certain dreadful fire.
1666 ANNO ORBIS INCENDIO REDFMPTI URBIS PEREMPTAE
GUIL:BELL :TP : VICARIUS JOHN DARBY MADE ME
It is apparent that Darbie (or Darby) a roving founder of Suffolk origin. made the bell for a parish the Vicar of which was called William Bell. That incumbent certainly did not serve the parish of Dennington, which has always had Rectors.

For which church and parish was the tenor made and under what circumstances did it find its home at Dennington? Perhaps one day the mystery will be solved
EXHALL-BY-COVENTRY.-On Nov. 1 th, 1.440 Exhall Detight Minor: D. S. L. Lloyd 1. I. P. Unsworth 2, G. P. Hammond 3. K. F. Gardner 4, D. J. Alten 5. W. A. Stote (cond.) 6. Believed to be the first extents ever rung in this method.
FARMBOROUGH, SOMERSET. - On Nov. 3rd, 1.260 Doubles in 11 methods: K. Baker 1. A. Perry 2. M. Horseman (cond.) 3, M. Heymenn 4. R. Smith J. Coomber 6. First in eleven methods by all except the conductor,

HURSTBOURNE PRIORS, HANTS

The bells at Hurstbourne Priors had their first recorded quarter peal rung on them on October 30th. These bells were considered unringable for about 50 years till 1958, when a peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung on them after restoration work had been carried out by Geoff Dodd. A quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise was planned for this occasion. being rung at the first attempt

The front five bells were cast by Henry and Ellis Knight at Reading in 1667 . The inscriptions on these follow their well-known pattern :-

I as treble begin.
I as second sing.
I as third ring.
I as fourth sound.
I as tenor hum all round.
A tenor was cast by Henry Bagley, of Witney, in 1745. The frame is massive, the third swinging in a separate frame above the other bells. The wheels on the back bells are about seven feet in diameter, part of the sole of the fifth being completely rotted away due to a leak in the roof, which has now been repaired.
Three of the ropes hang along the north wall and the other three along the south wall. The tenor rope falls in one corner about eight inches from either wall, and is best rung by facing the corner and skinning your knuckles.
The fifth has the garter hole in the wrong place, very little pull at handstroke being possible. The third has a plate on the stay which inadequately holds it together. The others have no peculiarities, apart from being false struck and dropping during ringing !
The band who rang in the 1,296 Cambridge Surprise Minor were: Arthur Sayers 1. Ronald Christopher 2, Geoffrey Dodd 3. Walter Hunt 4, David Papworth 5, William Butler (conductor) 6.
The thanks of the band are due to the Vicar of Longparish for permission to ring. and to Ron Christopher, who spent most of the previous Saturday greasing, tightening and splicing up the ropes.

THE LADIES' GUILD

South Wales District

The South Wales District held a very enjoyable and well attended meeting at St . Woolos Cathedral. Newport. on November 2nd, when the twelve bells were well used during the afternoon under the able direction of Mrs. Barbara Wylde.

The Rev. Peter Clemett, Cathedral chaplain took the service. and the organist was Mr Spooner from Machen. The Cathedral ringers afterwards served tea in St. Woolos Hall. A collection was taken towards this and the sum of $£ 210$ s. was given to the Cathedral Extension Fund. Mr. Jack Alsop thanked Miss Trowbridge and her helpers: Mrs. B. Wylde thanked Mr. Spooner: and Miss Kathleen Watkins, vice-president. thanked the Rev. Peter Clemett, for his warm welcome.

A special welcome was extended to visitors from Abbot's Leigh. Somerset. Mr. and Mrs. N . Coombs and their son. Mr. C. Coombs. Ai the business meeting the Misses Gwen Bidgood (Whitchurch). Anne Davies and Anne Humphris (Bedwellty) and Jeanette Paddon (Marshfield) were elected members.

Next meeting: District annual, Swansea, January 25th.

St. Peter's. Tiverton, Change Ringing Society when they visited Milverton on November 23 rd were met by that grand old stalwart Claude Tarr. He was persuaded to take part in 180 of Grandsire, his first half-pull changes since his serious illness. The bells were rung half-muffled as a mark of respect to President Kennedy, and also to a former Rector, who had died that week. Ringing also took place at Wiveliscombe.

Mr. Noel F. Moxon, of Green Gables, Cawthorne, Barnsley, will be pleased to send notations of any of the 41 methods rung in the peal at Cawthorne on November 23 rd.

Will Mr. A. N. Stubbs, formerly of 29, Sutherland Place, London. W.2, inform the Editor of his new address for his Ringing Worlds.'

When the organiser of the recent Bolsover outing, Alan Keller, presented his itinerary to the coach driver, the latter asked him if he had booked a helicopter!-' Belfry News.
Miss Carole Sone was congratulated by her grandfather, and the rest of the band, after ringing her first quarter at Brenchley on November 24th. She started ringing last Christmas, and, although only 12. has made many ringing friends, especially in Kent.

There is friendly rivalry amongst the lady ringers at St. John's, Cardiff, over ringing the tenor. The first lady ringer ever to ring this bell to a quarter peal is Miss Glenys Evans. We think her triumph will be very short lived as several other lady members are in strict training for the same honour!

After a lapse of a number of years. Mr. Reginald Beale, of Taunton, is back zgain conducting with a fast but good peal of Plain Bob Minor at Curry Mallett. He expresses his thanks to all the band, especially to Turner Tenor,'

The quarter peal rung at Warnford, Hants, as a mark of respect to President Kennedy, on the evening of his death, was rung immediately after the normal weekly practice and came round at 9.45 D.m. Was this the first touch to be rung for the occasion by the Exercise?

GOSSIP at Lentam Kent on November 17th. Mr. T. E. Sone informs us that the Original has now been rung 375 times for the Kent County Association since its formation in 1880. There have been 58 conductors, of whom at least 47 have passed on. The peal has twice been rung for the K.C.A. non-conducted-at Aylesford on April 30th, 1892, and Tonbridge. July 16th, 1930.

A promising pupil is Miss Margaret Twigg, of Enfield, who, in her first quarter peal at Enfield, rung after President Kennedy's funeral, rang her first touch of Grandsire from the fourth.

Mr. Tom Myers, who is still in hospital at Plymouth. is making progress. He is very touched by the many letters and good wishes he has had from friends in the Exercise, but is, as yet, unable to get down to answering them as he tires very easily.

The St. Andrews University Guild. formed recently, held its last meeting of the term on November 26th. Rapid progress has been maintained during the first eight weeks of the Guild's existence, and it is now hoped that a start on change-ringing will be made after Christmas.
The conductor of the local band peal of seven Surprise Minor at Little Aston congratulates the three young ladies who took part on their performances. The band would like the name of Andrew J. Strathdee to be associated with this peal as he was a member of the band which first attempted it earlier. this year, before he left the district to start work at Welwyn, Herts.
The peal of Grandsire Triples at Edenbridge to mark the retirement of the Rev. E. A. Graham, after 25 years as Vicar, was originally attempted on November 2nd, when he was still living in the parish, but unfortunately this came to grief after about $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' good ringing due to a miscall. However, this made the band the more determined to achieve success, and their efforts were well rewarded by the final result on November 16 th.

MIDDLESEX AND ESSEX JOINT MEETING

Although the weather was in one of its best moods for the time of the year the attendance did not come up to expectations at the joint meeting of the Middlesex Association (N. and E. District) and Essex Association (S.W. District) on November 16th, when ringing in a variety of methods was enjoyed at St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, and St. John at Hackney.
The service was held at the Parish Church of St. John and was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. H. A. S. Pink. Following severe damage by fire in 1955 the interior of this 18th century church was redesigned, a prominent feature being the presence of the high altar in the centre of a circular sanctuary. The delicate colouring chosen for the redecoration gives this beautiful church a feeling of light and spaciousness.

The Rector joined the company at lea. so ably provided by the local ringers and church workers, following which the District secretary extended a welcome to the members of the Essex Association, expressing the opinion that joint meetings were of great benefit to the Exercise, giving great opportunities for new friendships in the belfry to be made. Mr. C. Willmington replied on behalf of the Essex Association and endorsed the view that joint meetings were most helpful and enjoyable.
Mr. H. G. Hart proposed a vote of. thanks to the Rev. H. A. S. Pink for conducting the service and for the use of the bells, to the Rev. A. Lesson for accompanying at the organ and to Messrs. Hinkley and Errington, of the local band, for having everything in readiness. Thanks were also accorded to the Rev. Trevor Southgate, of St. Matthew's. Upper Clapton.

TRYING THE YORKSHIRE STYLE

$\mathbf{N}$O! This is not an attempt to renew the oft-repeated arguments about Minor ringing in methods with irregular lead-ends and/or with closed handstroke leads. (Since I agree with one and not the other I may be presumed neutral.) The same area of Yorkshire which is the stronghold of these two ideas is also the home of a third variation-ropes with an extra 'sally' on the tail-end. Unlike the other two, this third idea has provoked little discussion and may in fact be little known in much of England.

In the early summer of last year, when our old ropes were more splice than original, the suggestion was put forward that we should try Yorkshire style ropes. The nearest tower with them is only 20 miles away, but only two of our band had rung on them.

The merits and demerits of a change were fully discussed. They would undoubtedly cost more (not very much, it transpired), but the relations between us and the incumbent and P.C.C. are so good and the ringers do so many 'odd jobs' for the church that this caused us no worry. More serious was the question of holding two sallies at handstroke. Would our young (some very young) ringers be able to do this? Someone pointed out that young people do learn to ring in Yorkshire, and anything they can do we can do better (to save argument, we will leave out cricket!). Learning to tie figure-of-eight knots presented no difficulty since the Ringing Master is also a scoutmaster.

The main points in favour were the easier handling, especially during peals (although many of our ringers ring very few peals), and that it would make us different from all nearby towers. It will, I suppose, never be known how much influence this had in producing the unanimous decision to order one as a trial.

The question of colour provoked a long discussion. The four colours red. white. blue and green can be used singly; there are four 'three-colour' combinations and 12 on the lines of 'Iwo strands green, olle white.' (Luckily we were not having four-strand ropes!) Any of these 20 for the main sally could be combined with any of them on the tail. Total possibilities, 400! Old sallies were untwisted and remade, and gradually five likely combinations emerged. A complicated secret vote (five points for first choice, four for second, etc.) resulted in a narrow victory for green sallies with red tails (a choice we have never regretted). In due course the trial rope arrived and was installed on the tenor, making it a more popular bell than ever. A few weeks later a unanimous vote was passed to order the other seven.

Now, after a full year of service and practice ringing, a meeting, many peals and two striking competitions, a fair assessment of the results of this experiment can be made. Nearly all comment from ringers who have visited us has been either favourable or facetious (usually both!). Even young ringers (and our youngest is only nine) have found little difficulty with the 'double sally ' at handstroke. After a few touches they have been quite at home with these unfamiliar ropes. The blister crop amongst 'first pealers' -and others-has been considerably reduced.

One may conclude that the main obstacle to the wider use of Yorkshire style ropes is the innate conservatism of the ringing Exercise. We have certainly not regretted the experiment. Should any other tower be bold enough to try one rope, the following points should prove helpful.

DO have the sally and tail of distinctly different colours. It helps to avoid confusion between handstroke and backstroke.

DO err on the short side in working out the distance between sally and tail. This part of the rope stretches just like the top part. Neglect of this may mean having permanent knots in some of the ropes.

DO ring a short touch, not just a few rounds, before starting a peal on such ropes. They are a little more difficult to adjust correctly. Too long a tail will result in the 'back-enders' getting on to the single rope when 'cutting in ' to hunt down.

DON'T allow too much tying and untying of knots. Set the ropes a little high and rely on the use of boxes for the smaller ringers. A range of sizes is more important than a large number. Our ringers range from a small nine-year-old to a young giant, but we manage quite well with two each of nine-, six- and three-inch boxes plus an extra two-inch one.

ADELAIDE TOWN HALL BELLS RINGABLE AGAIN

By RONALD K. RUSS

EVER since the revival of ringing in South Australia occasioned by the installation of the 41 cwt. octave at St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, it has been in the minds of South Australian ringers to investigate the possibility of a restoration at the Town Hall. The Australian Broadcasting Commission use the Hall for broadcasts and have built a sound mixing room in what was the old ringing chamber, thus leading many to believe that the bells would never be rung again. No ringers had ascended the tower to investigate, having been refused permission in earlier days. Fred Smcaton it was who, following correspondence with the authorities, arranged the first in spection of :he bells and, after further correspondence. the Council gave permission for -ome work of an exploratory nature to be done to determine what might be involved in restoration. This exploratory work developed into a challenging onslaught and has put the tower tack on the map
It was found that hetween the ceiling of the mixing room and that of th:e old ringing chamber there was a room aboue seven fee high, lit by one small window. Three-quarter of it had been divided off by a chain-link partition to form a store for electrical goods, the racks round the walls being stacked with floodlights. Three or four ancient ropes with huge thick sallies were draped at odd angles into a corner. The remaining quarter of the chamber forms a passageway from the vertical access ladder to steps leading to the clock chamber. The existing rope holes formed a good circle but the treble, seven and tenor were very rear the shelving. The second hole was immediately about the chain link partitition and three and four were uncomfortably close to it in the passageway.

The clock chamber is a mass of wood beams which support the works of the three-faced slock and. above that, the bell frame. revealed that to form a good circle the ropes of treble and tenor were guided at acuic angles and enclosed in drainpines: the rcmainder fell at lesser angles but without any guides through the 15 feet or so of fall. None guides throu fell straight.

FIFTY YEARS" NEGLECT

Conditions in the bell chamber were consistent with 50 years of virtual neglect, and overall it was a gloomy picture. The chamber was piled high with pigeon droppings and twigs, some sliders were missing and the tenir was being clocked. The clocking rope was promptly removed
It was considered that if the tenor could be raised then there was a good chance of the other seven, too. Hence the first working party hegan on the tenor, tightening up, cleaning bearings and freeing caked pulleys. etc.
With a rope brought from the Cathedral the bell was raised to frame height, but a kink in its down pipe prevented further progress. The party retired and reinforced its ranks, while the authorities were persuaded to replace the down pipe and clear most of the foreign matter.
On July fith we started in earnest with a thorough inspection of the bell chamber. The frame is basically iron but is supported on wood at both its upper and lower levels. It was found to be in good condition but for a desperate need of tightening up ; some nuts has quite low humidity and iron is not so prone to rust as in England. Well-seasoned wood has tood the lest of time. the floor under the bells being some two inches thick. Wood here is fortunately not subject to the ravages of boring beetles to the degree experienced in our English belfries! Once tightened up. we considered the frame would be quite safe and. this done. we turned our attention back to the tenor. She sits in the tention back to the tenor. She sits in the middle at the base of the frame, surrounded by the treble. 5,6 and $7,2,3$ and 4 are on the upper level above treble and 5. All bear the Warner crest and are inscribed simply: 'Cast by John Warmer and Sons, London, 1865. When we tried to raise the tenor again. as soon as the sally began to bob, it stuck above the pulley on the clock chamber floor The hole in the floor was too small to take the sally comfortably, and similar trouble was experienced with all the others. When the bells were rung from the original level the sallies never rose this far. We descended on th:e hole with Dadsaws and rasps, and the first bell was raised, though none too easily, and without a slider. Thiree sliders were missing but later searches revealed all but the one for the fifth,

ALL STAYS ORIGINAL

The treble was the only other bell with a down pipe, so we tackled ber next, striking the same trouhle with the sally. Her headstock was cracked. as was that of the second. and emitted an ominous creak. We got rid of this by tightening the bell on its stock and putting a U-bolt right round the stock for extra strength in each case. The cause of the cracks was obvious-the stays are made of jarrah, the hardest Australian wood, second only to teak for its strength. All stays appear to be the originals! Replacement with the best substitute for English ash is planned if ringing continues.
The third refused to go up at back, and we found the slider was jamming. Careful reshaping of the stay, and a precisely-driven nail to stop the slider twisting, cured the trouble The bell was first rung from the clock chamber since despite enlargement of the hole in the floor it proved impossible to ring from below -the 15 feet of unguided rope just snaked Brian Cox, who led the party so ably through out the work, and who successfully took ove liaison with the authorities, decided that rope fall problems could he tackled later, so many of the bells were first rung from the clock chamber.
Although the fourth's wheel is very badly warped, and when first rung it would not go up at hand, this was trased to the hope catcling between the main frame pulley wheel and its block. The wheel was badly worn but we cured the trouble by simply turning it through 180 degrees. Bearings in general were caked with filth despite tight covers, and some were caked so solid they had to be chiselled out before we reached the brasses. What we removed seemed more like solid resin than ancient grease. We used lengths of plastic tubing to blow the bearings clean as we progressed and penetrating oil to finish un before greasing them. Many of the pulleys were badly worn and could not be made to run very freely. Alas, one of several examples we found of sad neglect in the past.

NOVEL FITTING

The fifth had a very loose wheel and no slider. A temporary one was cut from th: spokes of a snare half-wheel available, and it worked so well it has now become permanent. The sixth has a very light pit due to its position against a side of the octagonal chamber. and the corners of the frame have had to bc rounded off. The result is that a conventional stay and slider mechanism cannot be fitted: its stay would never clear the frame. To over come the problem John Warner used a most ingenious device which may well be unicue. He fitted what looks like an extra gudpeon on the top edge of the headstock. This engages on a small vertically hinged metal bar moving in a slot in the frame a few inches below the beating. doing the work of a slider. We felt that hard bumps might do considerable damage and even cause the bell to jump from its hearings. tut the device has so far stood the test of time. The hell does not go well and lass to be ereated with great respect
So we came to the seventh, and last. in our programme. Here we met trouble The tower is adorned with flag poles. and three of these protrude horizontally at bell chamber level. The pole by this bell has its hase supported in the angle of the frame below the bearing. and it protruded enough to foul the path of the headstock. We cut it back as far as wis dared, and wired it to nrevent move ment. We were worried in case frame movement when all the bells were going would be sufficient to dislodge the pole and send it crashing into the street. The seventh wheel was warped, too, and when we tried to raise the bell the rims rubbed so badly on the frame as to appear incurable without a major remake of the wheel. Evidently they had rubbed in the past and been worn down then. but further warping during the inactive period made the bell impossible to keep up. Undaunted. we removed parts of the rims and shaved them down even further. also tiaking a slice off a bolthead on the frame, which was causing some of the trouble. After much trial and error, the rub was eliminated, though at one point the inside wh:eel rim is reduced to nothing! Fortunately the bell shows no tendency to slip wheel and now goes as well as any.

At this stage all the bells had been raised, but we still had a long way to go. Extension lights borrowed from the Cathedral reccived so much use that the lamps keep blowing. plunging their users into semi-darkness. Soon it became a standing joke as to :How many are going to go this week? The City Council will be thinking we eat them
Having rechecked tighitness of the framc. varipus combinations of the bells were tried while the effect on the frame was observed and decided to be satisfactory. This quickly dispelled any doubts in our minds about the safety of the structure. Such stories go round for every unusable ring it seems. The tower certainly oscillates, but so do they all.

The clappers hang from simple crown staples cast into the crows of the bells, by means ef a metal stran hushed into leather :-nd specially shaped woods to prevent lateral movement Their condition was consistent with completc neglect. Lateral movement in the fenor widy well over a foot, and we tad to renlace severai bolts and two woods before refitting each clapper. We then turned our attention to the lower floors and rope-fall problems

Pulleys on the clock chamber ceiling proved difficult to reach and gave rise to ringers behaving more like steeplejacks, perched in precarious positions, pursuing their cause! Experimental guide holes wer:- fitted but little improvement was noticed in the rove-fall. Sheer weight of rope falling at an angle through the clock chamber was iust too much for efficient control from the seven-foot ringing chamher Holes in the clock chamber foor were then blanked off and repositioned to give straighter fall, also avoiding obstructions downstars. Permanent guides, were fitted at various levels in the clock chamber but still the sallies caught up without a long, hard pull at backstroke. Some members of the team began to despair of ever solving the problem. but then an idea of Austin Adams completely eliminated the trouble. He designed. manufactured and fitted a number of tin funnels, about 15 inches high. nine inches across the tip, tapering to ${ }^{2}-\frac{1}{2}$ inch hole at the base. These were fitted just above the pulley blocks on three metal legs. bolted to the funnels and screwed to the floor. The erring sallies never strayed atter this, and we even found we could dispense with some of the pulley blocks. The repositioned holes have upset the former goou circle but have made the bells easier to ring and steered all except the tenors cocar ord. obstruction below.

RABBITS IN THE REEDS

This is not our heading, but that supplied by the scribe to describe the happening of S . Margaret's Guild of Change Ringers. varnin Norfolk.

Their headquarters was a cottage on a game reserve at Serlingham. First excitement was after crossing the River Yare by motor launch th ring at Blofield. the launch would not start. The consequence was that they had to row across and arrived late at Lodden, where ney were met by Mr. Barrett. Who fulfilled the roic of guide that day.
Other towers visited were Raveningham. Beccles. Bungay. Brooke and, in the evening. St. George's. Colegate. The day finished with a barbecue arranged by their hosts. Mr. and Mrs. Hoare.

Sunday's ringing was at St. Peter Mancrofl. St Miles' and Giles'. Norwich, and on the way home at Hatfield. Thanks are given to Mr. and Mrs. Hoare, Mr. Nolan Golden and Mr. J. D. Nelson (who arranged the outmg.

FIRST RINGING STAGES AT WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL

IR R. RICHARD S. DIRKSEN. Bellmaster of Washington Cathedral. U.S.A.. reports that with what the band retained of Mr. Harry Parkes fine tutelage they were making some progress and would seen be ringing plain hunt
The first meeting of those interested in the Exercise took place in the choir room of the Cathedral on October 12th. with the Bellmaster presiding. Mr. Dirksen gave an introductory talk on good and safe ringing helped by the Central Council's Beginners Handbook. After a discussion on the nomenclature of the bell and its mounting the party began the long climb to the ringing chamber in the tower
There they were met by Mr. Harry Parkes, of the Whitechapel Foundry. who took them into the bell chamber to see the bells. The sixth bell was raised to the balance by Mr. Parke, who had descended into the ringing room. -It was a sight. writes our correspondent. That those assembled will never forget. for better than anything else it showed them what force and power there was to be controlled in a rocking bell.

Preliminary ringing instruction in handling followed. A near accident occurred when a student pulled too hard at hackstroke and broke the stay, the rope disappearing through the ceiling. Fortunately he let go in time. but the lesson was most impressive to all

During those weeks with Mr. Parkes so many stays were broken that for financial reasons it was necessary to replace the ash stays with less expensive pine. However. during the past 10 hours of ringing no stays have been broken despite a number of very forceful attempts!

On the week-end of October 20th. we were privileged to be host to the band from Groton School. Massachusetts, who with the assistance of their Master. Mr. Russell Young Mr. Parkes. Mr. Warren Sturgis. of New York. and Mr. Philip Gray. of Bristol, proceeded to put our bells through their paces for the purposes of seismographic and audio testing. When the testing (in which mostly rounds and Queens were rung on the ten hells) was completed. the Groton band. directed hy Mr. Young. rang a plain course of Stedman Doubles as well as touches of Plain Boh

The time came for Mr. Parkes to leave us, and it was with the greatest regret that we watched him board his plane. For his superb teaching ability and for his boundless patience with such a group of novices as ourselves we shall ever be most grateful.

Since his departure progress. though slow has been steady and most of us are beginning to acquire some feel for our bells. (By this I mean that we are able to stand on command about seven out of ten times.) Progress is also being made on the handbells and, having mastered. more or less. the intricacies of nlain hunt. We are now commencing Bob Doubles. Once our lingers have mastered these two simple changes, and once they have gained a reasonable control over their ropes. our progress should pick up immensely. R.S.D.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Despite the foggy day. seven towers were represented at the Bingham District meeting at Whatton-in-the-Vale on November 9th and there were also visitors from Nottingham and Loughborough

CANON THURLOW TO RETURN

TO NORWICH

Canon Gilbert Thurlow, the president of the Central Council, who has been vicar of Yarmouth since 1955, has been appointed to the Residentiary Canonry of Norwich Cathedral in succession to the new Bishop of Thetford the Rt. Rev. Eric Cordingley). He will be installed at the Cathedral on April 1lth

His work at Yarmouth has been conspicuous for the energetic lead he gave to rebuilding of St. Nicholas Church. which was left in ruins after an air raid in 1942. The rebuilding cost $£ 350,000$ and with the restoration the church was provided with a ring of 12 bells. Before going to Yarmouth he was precentor at Norwich Cathedral.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W: December 12th, 1913.-

On Saturdity. December 6th. 1913:-
In 2 hours 12 mins a peal of Stedman Triples. in the belfry of Holy Trinity Church. Guildford.
In 2 hours 10 mins. a peal of Grandsire Triples. at King Edward VI Grammar School
In 2 hours 17 mins. a neal of Bob Major. at King Edward VI Grammar School Miss Elsie L. Bennett 1-2. Alfred H. Pulling 3-4, Frank I. Hairs 5-6. Frank Blondell 7-8. Conducted by Alfred $H$. Pulling.
This is the first time three peals have bost rung on handbells in a day, and the first time a lady has rung threc peals in a day.

Granby Road Infant and Junior Schools, Aylestone, and the the City of Leicester Boys Grammar School to fifth year.
James started to ring at the age of 13 and was taught to handle a bell at Aylestone by the Rev. P. R. Blackman. then assistant curate. It was not long before James was making rapid progress in method ringing under the watchful eye of R.S. Morris, and his first peal took place at Ratby on January 11 th. 1958. when he rang the treble to Grandsirc Triples. the conductor being Brian G. Warwick. Within four years of ringing his first peal the achieved a remarkable record by completing the alphabet to Surprise Royal methods. Only two other ringers have claim to such an achievement.
James. who has rung some 290 peals (ahout 50 of which he has conducted). is now Ringing Master at Aylestone Parish Church. where a very high standard of ringing is maintained. A variety of methods up to London and Bristol Surprise are rung for Sunday service. His first peal as conductor was one of Doubles in three methods at Kirby Muxloe. with at band whose average age was 15 years and two months.
On many occasions when James was travelling from place to place for ringing he was accompanied by the late Ernest Morris. and the many tales the latter told of his youth and the peals he had taken part in were much enjoyed and will never be forgotten.
Apart from Sunday service ringing and ringing peals. James takes an active part in the affairs of the Guild by being secretary of the Leicester District, an office he has held since January, 1961.
Included in his very interesting collection of peals-which no doubt will be published in 'The Ringing World' in the very near future when his total reaches 300 -are over 40 of Surprise Royal in 34 different methods and over 73 of Surprise Major in 27 different methods. James ambition in ringing is to complete the alphabet in Surprise Major methods. Congratulations and good hunting. NORVING.

WOLLATON WENT WEST

Wollaton ringers' first annual outing. on Sepiember 28th, was to Derbyshire and Staffordshire. We were privileged to have with us, in addition to one or two non-ringers, Julie Lethbridge and Elizabeth Smith, from Aspley, Mrs. M. Paling and Mr. F. Salter, from Nottingham St. Peter's, and. in their car, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bradley, from Shelford. At one tower we joined forces with Shepshed ringers and the Rev. M. C. C. Melville.

Some of the ringing was quite good, and variety of method; were rung. Towers visited were Breadsall (6). Duffield (10), Os-maston-by-Aslibourne (6), Rocester (8), Alton (8). Mayfield (6), Belper (8) and Horsiey (61. The best rings of bells we thought were at Alton, Staffordshire-a majestic new Taylor set, and Horsley. Derbyshirc-surely the loveliest-toned set in the area. Belper and Breadsall sounded well, a bso. However. at Duffield we were disappointed at only ringing the back eight, as earlier visitors that day had snapped the treble rope and there was no time to repair it. Sandwichos were taken for lunch and a cooked meal was arranged in Asthourne about 6 p.m., although a meeting prevented ringing there.

Jo my mind the best touches came from the awkward six at Mayfield College Exercise Minor). Alton (Cambridge Major, and where Mr . Salter's splicing of Plain. Little and S ! Clements Bob Major was successful) and Belper (Cambridge again). M. P.

Bells and the P.C.C.

Dear Sir.-I shall be glad if some knowledgeable person will explain the extent to which a Parochial Church Council has jurisdiction over the bells and activities of ringers. Being at a Cathedral. I am rather ignorant of the affairs of parishes, but was under the impression that the bells and ringers were the direct concern of the incumbent.
On page 794. G. H. says that it is hoped the P.C.C. will allow an alteration of the shuttering of High Wycombe bells, which has heen found too effective. On page 800. Rickmansworth P.C.C. is said to have refused the ringers permission to raise money for repair to a cracked bell, which they themselves express little hope of affording over a period of some ycars.

What is to stop some willing organisation (perhaps the local Guild) from collecting a sum (conditional on the work being done within a specified time) sufficient to cover the cost. and then nominating some memorable event or person to whom the repair shall be a memorial?-Yours, etc.
Winchester.
W. O. CAYTHORNE.

Conductor's Integrity

Dear Sir--If your correspondent who writes under the initials W.J., of Oxfordshire (R.W. 15.11.63), is a ringer of any experience, hc will know that the question of the standard of ringing acceptable in a touch of any length, be it 210 or 21,000 , depends on the standards and integrity of the individual con-ductor.-Yours faithfully,

> J. ALAN AINSWORTH.

Settling down to Long Lengths

Dear Sir.-In reply to your correspondent. W. J., I would like to say, as an umpire of and participator in a few record peals, that in general I have found that a higher standard of ringing is expected and attained during a long lengtis than during a mere 5,000 -odd.
As to the band not settling down after seven courses I don't think this is to be expected on all 10 at the foundry by a band unused in the main to the bells. Had they got the peal anyway it would have been morally inferior to the 16.920 rung at Worsley, two ycars ago.-Yours, etc..

Tisbury Bells

Dear Sir.-An article on page 797 of the - R.W. states that these bells have not been rung for some years. I am afraid that this is not quite true as I rang there last June, and I helieve others have done so. When I went we had difficulty with the clock hammer. and nerhaps similar trouble led the writer to helieve they had not been rung for some years. I would dispute the fact that they are a fine ring. The tenor, by William Corr. of Aldbourne, used to be given as 21 cwt . in D , but when Gilletts rehung them she was found to he only 16 cWt . in D! At the best of times the Aldbourne foundry never cast very musical hells and though a beautiful casting. this is certainly a failure tonally.
Incidentally in Tisbury market place, over a greengrocer's shop. is still a faded painted trade sign the trader describing himself as Trade sign the trader describing himself as escapes me.-Yours sincerely.
Tooting Gravency. S.W. TONY CLAYTON.

Tune Ringing and Extra Bells
Dear Sir,-The arrangement of tunes for handbell ringing is a specialised subject, and one which might well appeal to those ringers who 'double' as choirmen. Owing to the restricted range of notes it is often impossible to apply the conventional rules of harmony, particularly as to completeness and correct inversion of chords, let along to maintain a melodic bass line. Fortunately the medium is tolerant of such failings, and also of the modal peculiarities which must sometimes be introduced to overcome the shortage or absence of chromatic notes. There are nevertheless situations in which harmony of any kind is impracticable; one may then make a virtue of necessity, for the contrast between unaccompanied melody and even two-part harmony is pronounced, and compensates to some extent for an inherent lack of dynamics.
A set of handbells intended primarily for change ringing, and therefore consisting of a diatonic scale, may be used to ring many simple tunes: but the repertoire may be extended greatly is one or two chromatic bells are added. It is important to choose them carefully. Those near the bottom of the scale are of very little use, besides being the most expensive. Given a change ringing set of 12, the most useful additions are a sharpened second and a flattened sixth. In the scale of $C$ (for example) the set now becomes as follows: becomes Tenor. D 11,
B flat New bell, B 10. F 9, G 8. A 7, F 2. F sharp New hell, ${ }^{\text {5 }}$ G Treble. and modulation is possible into the related keys of $G$ and $F$; the (ascending) scale of $G$ minor is also complete
I agree with your correspondent that it is essential to use proper musical notation for all but the very simplest tunes. This is because it indicates complicated rhythms precisely. It is not at all difficult to learn sufficient of staff notation for handbell ringing. A technique which I have successfully used is to reproduce my full arrangements in red ink on a spirit duplicator. and then mark on each ringer's copy in black ink the appearances of his bell. This minimises copying errors and enables each ringer to see what the other bells should be doing, so that he does not have to count his rests.
The publication of collections has no doubt been discouraged by the high cost of engraving or photographing staff notation. To overcome this 1 suggest a modified form of sol-fa. using one line for each ringer and substituting bell numbers for the notes of the scale. Bells sounding together would be grouped vertically, and the advantage of accurate time representation would be preserved.-Yours truly.

Bristol Surprise Adaptation

Dear Sir, - I was interested to read Mi. Ivin's letter ('R.W.' October 18th. 1963) and to see the composition of 5.120 Bristol as rung at Eaton Socon on April 14th. 1962.
Perhaps to avoid any possible misunderstanding to your readers it may be well to mention that the original composition, a twopart 5.056, published in April. 1955, did not contain any calls at 4 ths and In-the tenors heing together throughout.
May I thank Mr. Ivin for the information which he has supplied.-Yours truly.

North Wales Peal Tour

Dear Sir.-I have no intention of entering into any controversy over this matter. primarily because none exists except in Mr. Pateman's fertile imagination. I shall only say that, firstly, my own and my touring companions' relationship with Mr. Cathrall and the North Wales Association is entirely amicable and has no reason to be otherwise, and. secondly, I consider Mr. Pateman's suggestion that we did not intend to pay our subscriptions to bo extremely offensive.-Yours faithfully. ## In Defence of Grandsire

Dear Sir.-Without wishing to detract from Mr. A. S. Hudson's valuable work on Surprise Major methods. I feel that :he unwarranted slur on Grandsire contained in his article should not go unanswered. This strikes me as ringing snobbery of the worst order.

The need for Grandsire is obvious. On heavy bells a local band is frequently unable to ring even-bell methods. either from lack of numbers or lack of a competent tenor ringer (or both). There are not many well known Triples methods and in practice, with beginners, the choice is limited to Plain Bob and Grandsire. Of the two, Grandsire has better music and is more interesting: also a plain cours requires only five 'inside' ringers. I agrec that little can be said for Grandsire Doubles. except that it has more callings than other Doubles methods; but Grandsire Caters has great musical potential.
Not every eight-hell tower has a Surprise Major band, and surely even Mr. Hudson prefers well-struck Triples to indifferent Mitjor! -Yours faithfully,

RICHARD HOUGH.

First Peal in Scotland

Dear Sir.-Further to my letter of November 1st, and the letter from Mr. P. Dale, of November 15th. regarding the first peal in Scotland. rung at St. Nicholas'. Aberdeen. in 1859
R. H. Dove's excellent Guide has a list of existing rings of bells. and his chapter on losses and transfers of ringing peals deals only with recent cases. A full list of losses and transfers would be extremely difficult to compile. and would need a very much enlarged Guide.-Yours sincerely.

REMINISCENCES OF THOMAS GROOMBRIDGE

By A. C. HAZELDEN
It must have been either late in 1895 or early in 1896 when I first met Tom Groombridge. We (my family) were then living near Sundridge Church. where a recently appointed Rector had the church left open every day. With this freedom. I went in one day and, finding the belfry door open, went up to the ringing floor and into the bell loft. I was interested at once and soon began to appear at the ringers' weekly practice. They were not very enthusiastic either about ringing or about me, but I did get a show sometimes. One evening a stranger came in who at once changed the atmosphere-Tom Groombridge, who had come to live at Sevenoaks.

To say that Tom was an enthusiastic ringer would be an understatement. facing thinly veiled hostility on the part of some ringers, together with hostility on the Rector's part to the Kent County Association, combined with the decrepit condition of the bells to make the situation distinctly explosive.

It was said at the time that the Rector's hostility to the Association arose from a dispute between himself and the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore. It is, of course. well known that in 1891 both the Rev. T.S. Curteis and the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore had been nominated for the position of secretary, and that Helmore was elected by a narrow majority. I always thought that there was possibly an element of professional rivalry between these two very able men.

Groombridge tackled the situation directly with characteristic energy and it must be said. considerable wisdom. He first made himself acceptable to the existing ringers, by regular attendance, and with them ringing what they could ring, at the same time gently persuading them that there was something hetter which they could learn. In this effort he was joined early in 1898 by Messrs. James Stevens and H. J. Ford.

As a result of Tom's continuous urge, and is commemorate the diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria's reign, some work was done on the Sevenoaks bells. I never knew the complete details, but the tenor bell was, I helieve, recast. and the Cambridge quarter chimes added to the clock. I was present on the evening when the new work was tried out: also other visitors from Westerham. Tom had discreetly warned us that we would get no ringing: we all kept ourselves in the background. I suppose discerning dimly that we vere witnesses of a turning point, the dawn of a new day at Sevenoaks.
I.ATER NOTE: MAY. 1962.

To assess the position in 1891 between Revs. T. S. Curteis and F. J. O. Helmore it is wise to light up the background of the two accomplished men. T. S. Curteis was a grandson of Thomas Sackville Curteis, who was succeeded as Rector by his son. Thomas Curteis: his son, T.S.. was born in December, 1851. and somehow obtained ordination on December 21st. 1871, and in 1873. aged 22, a very young priest. look on the Rectory at Sevenoaks. All this sook place near the time of my parents marriage and my own appearance. There is much more to this, but. I fear, to you rather a bore.

AN ECHO FROM THE PAST

Way back in the early April of 1938, I went with an organised party from the West Midlands to see the international soccer match, England v Scotland, at the Wembley Stadium. We iravelled up tic London early on the Saturday morning and stayed to the following Sunday afternoon; this was, I considered, a good opportunity to go over to St. Paul's on the Sunday morning to hear the ringing there. One of our party who was interested in cihurcies and famous buildings went along with me.

On our arrival at St. Paul's the bells were alieady ringing, and. not knowing the runs,' so to speak. we spent some time walking around looking for what all ringers seek on such occasions, the 'magic place of entry': for after all. considering we came from the West Midlands. and this being my first visit to St. Paul's, I thought it just possible we might get the chance of a peep into this famous belfry.

Making our way alongside some iron railings skirting the churchyard we came to a large door and side opening. where could be seen some ascending stone steps: a man, who was obviously a verger, or of some similar office, was seated on a chair at the foot of these steps. He informed us that on no account could we go up to the belfry while ringing was in progress.
I turned away feeling very disconsolate and not a little perplexed by the situation. Retracing our steps to the outside causeway, we halted and held a conference. my friend of course being quite unused to what might be the correct procedure in such circumstances. We stood a few more minutes listening to the bells tripping off the Stedman Cinques changes. 'Let us try again.' I said. turning to my friend. Who dutifully followed as we again approached the custodian of the steps. 'Look now,' I parried, 'I am a bellringer and promise to go up very quietly and not enter the belfry unless invited.' He took from a side pocket a large silver watch on a long leather thong, he held the watch in the palm of his hand and slowly ribbed his thumb end around the edge of the watch as if contemplating what to do. 'All right,' he said at last, still looking at his timepiece, 'you can go up now.'
We literally crept up those steps. Coming at last to a turning where the ringers came into view, we halted and at that moment the bells ran into rounds: the time killing tactics of old 'Silver Watch' had certainly paid off. I thought.
The backenders had. by now, stepped down off their boxes. and I noticed one particular ringer was donning his jacket at the same time coming over in our direction. 'Are you ringers?' was his greeting. On my exolanation he immediately apologised and explained the position about ringing at St. Paul's, at the same time beckoning us to follow him down the steps. 'I have a quarter of Grandsire Caters on at London Bridge, he told me, 'would you care to come along?'
On our arrival at the Church of St. Magnus the Martyr we found the band already assembled in the belfry: several of the ringers appeared to be the same age as myself, in the late twenties, the rest being in their late teens. Our friend from St. Paul's had a few words of advice to a young ringer, who was obviously to do the conducting, we took our positions. and the quarter started. Our St. Paul's friend was content to sit it out. I gathered it must have been a decent effort. for our friend looked more than pleased as he talked with the younger ringers, then, after a few more words to the conductor, who had by now collected by name, we made our way once more to the streets below.
He lead us off to a quiet inn. whose doors stood in the shadow of the famous Monument, erected in the year 1677 to commemorate the -Great Fire of London.' Here we talked about most of the well known ringers of the Midland Counties Association-Arthur Knights. Ernest Morris. William Willson. Fred Dexter and many more. I mentioned John Austin, of Gloucester, with whom I had recently rung a peal. He knew them all.

The time to go our various ways had arrived when we were joined by a young man who looked slightly older than myself. 'You must tell us your name,' I asked of our St. Paul's friend. whereupon the younger man interposed and said. Yes. let me introduce you to my father, Thomas H. Taffender.'

When I read the appreciations of the late Mr. T. H. Taffender I realised that my interesting experience on that lovely spring morning long ago was but one of many such episodes in the life of this great ringer.

WEST MIDLANDER.

OBITUARY

MR. G. W. STEEL

The sudden death of Mr. George Wm. Steel, at his home at Rothwell, Leeds, at the age of 87 on November 16th. came as a great shock to all who knew him. Right up to the end he had been in full control of his faculties and in perfect health.

He learned to ring at Rothwell in 1893 at the age of 17 and rang there all his life. In 1894 he joined the Yorkshire Association and the following year rang his first peal. Among his peals was 8,448 Oxford T.B. Major rung in 1903 which at the time was the longest length in this method for the Yorkshire Association. Another peal worthy of mention was 5.600 College Exercise Major, the first and only peal in this method for the Yorkshire Association. This method was rung by the local band at that time as practice for Cambridge!

George rang his 100th peal in 1927 and became the first Rothwell ringer to accomplish this. His last peal was rung in 1959 and this brought his total to 181, of which he had conducted 14.

Throughout his life he had been a very keen Sunday service ringer. It was very rarely he missed a service on Sunday-usually cycling or walking the two-and-a-half miles from his home at Woodlesford. However, the last two years we had seen less of him. due to minor ailments. The last time he rang was for Evensong in September.
A short service was held in the Chapel at Cottingley Crematorium, Leeds, prior to committal and was attended by friends and relatives and several of the Rothwell ringers. I. N

Within two months of his 35 years as secretary of Burstow, Surrey, band Mr. Leslie W. Penfold has resigned to get a younger man in office. He had a surprise at the annual meeting when he was elected captain. Burstow has a keen young band of 20 members some of whom are just starting.

The peal at Dorney on November 24th was David P. Hilling's 75th peal. His first peal was at Stoke Poges on November 30th, 1960

After 22 months of hard work by D. Roy Fuller, Wrotham have at last managed to ring a quarter peal with an entirely local band.

Now 89 years of age, Mr. Charles Marven has completed 60 years as church clerk at Tendring, Essex. The anniversary on Advent Sunday was commemorated by a peal.

The band who rang in the peal of Rutland at Ripponden, Yorkshire, on November 26th were proud to have with them on the treble 13-year-old A. William Kirkby. He rang well and scarcely made a mistake.

For the 60th anniversary peal at Wymondham Abbey, the method and. composition was the same as that rung in the first peal. Mr. Peter Adcock, who rang the seventh, has circled the tower ' in eight peals.
With the peal by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths at Walsall on November 30th. Miss Joyce M. Gurnhill and Mr. Edmund Malin complete the Cambridge family from Minor to Maximus.

At the St. Albans meeting in November a carved bracelet was found in the belfry. If the owner will apply to Mr. J. D. Chamberlain, 3, Mile House Lane. St. Albans, it will be sent, post free, to any address in the United Kingdom

For many years a pair of handbells has featured in the ceremonial opening of Nottingham Goose Fair, being used by the Lord Mayor to signal the actual opening. The bells were lent by a showman who has now given them to the Corporation and. at the donor's request, it has been agreed that the bells should be preserved should at any future date the holding of the Fair or the use of the bells be discontinued!

The peal of Stedman Triples at East Budleigh was a great achievement for John Quick and George Retter, who have had well over 40 attempts together for a peal in this method, without success. The peal should also be credited to the Society of Friends of the Exercise as an 89 th birthday compliment to Winston S. Churchill.
Congratulations to Howard Oglesby on ringing his 100 th peal. This was at Amersham on November 23 rd.
With the peal rung on November 23rd. Mr. James. Thorley became the first to 'complete the circle at Belton, North Lincs., the tower where he acted as instructor when the bells were augmented from four to six.
The quarter peal rung for the funeral of President Kennedy at St. Michael's, St. Albans, was the first quarter on all eight bells to be rung by a local band. It is hoped that the band will soon be advanced enough to turn all eight in to a quarter.

Shepshed, Leicestershire, have reason to be proud of their ringers; no less than nine of them are aged 15 or under, and all are in various stages of change ringing. Two of them, Stephen Hall and Michael Roberts. both: aged 12, rang their first peal of Major recently. They both rang 'inside' bells, and are to be congratulated in putting up a performance in which they can well be pleased.

The first ever peal by an all local band has been rung at Lympne. Kent. This has taken three-and-a-half years to achieve, when method ringing was started, and there have been quite a few failures. Thanks are due to friends at Burwash and Folkestone towers for their help and above all to $\mathbf{M r}$. R. P. Brotherston who has trained and led the band.

The band who rang the peal at Batheaston on November 25 th would like to associate it with the Vicar (Rev. L. Evans) for whom the peal had originally been arranged. as he was made Prebendary in Wells Cathedral on this day. Also to associate the name of John de Jong of Corston who passed away on November 22nd.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

All but four of the District towers were represented at the Farnham District nominalions meeting held at Aldershot on November 23 rd. Ringing before the service was slightly delayed by a wedding, but soon got under way under the able direction of Mr. Tom Page.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. T. H. Dart. after which the company retired to the Church Hall with great expectations. These were fully justified by the excellent tea prepared by the Aldershot ladies.

The Master of the Guild. Mr. D. A. R. May. was elected to take the chair for the business meeting, and finally the ringers returned to the lower for further ringing.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

 SOCIETYDespite foggy conditions, no less than 104 members and friends of the Society sat down to another successful Annual Dinner on November 9th, at Taylor's Restaurant, Cannock.
The chair was taken by the president. the Ven Basil Stratton (Archdeacon of Stafford) and on completion of the meal he proposed the loyal toast. The toast, Church and State. was proposed by Mr. W. Evans of Gnosall. To this the Vicar of Penn (Rev. R. A. Gaskell). suitably replied, and reminding us that ringing of church bells was not only for religious reasons, but also on great national occasions.
To provide a light interval during the speeches the company were entertained to a demonstration of "lapping" cight handbells to Plain Bob Major by the Penn Handbell Ringers.
The toast to the society was proposed by the Rev. R. B. Robertshaw, who said that it was a great pleasure to him to see the obvious healthy state it was in. Mr. R. Hawkswoth, Ringing Master at Brewood, replied.
The visitors were welcomed by Mr. P. Barker of the Cannock company. and he stressed the importance of visiting other towers on practice nights to faster fellowship and a higher standard of ringing. On behalf of the visitors, Mr. W. Watkin, of Swynnerton, North Staffs. said that nothing gave him greater pleasure than ringing with the Societv and he was prepared to ring at any time with its members.
A lively entertainment followed. a highlight being a performance of tunes on handbells by the Brewood handbell ringers, accompanied by Mrs. B. G. Key on the piano Sincere thanks are accorded to the Cannock ringers and Mr. B. G. Key for organising the evening. and to the incumbents of Cannock. Penkridge and Shareshill. for allowing ringing at their towers during the afternoon.

THE UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

The general meeting of the University of London Society was held on October 19th. in the vestry of St. Olave's. Hart Street. Ringing during the afternoon took place at St. George's. Borough. St. James', Clerkenwell, St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate and St. Olave's. Hart Street. Fifty two members and friends were present at the meeting and 8 new members were elected. Concern was expressed at the number of overdue subscriptions.
The chief matter under discussion was ways of attracting undergraduates on society tours as recent tours had been composed almost entirely of graduate members. A wide variety of graduate and undergraduate opinion was expressed. It was finally decided to leave the organisation of next year's tour in the hands of the committee who should suggest two types of accommodation suitable for graduates and undergraduates respectively. The area gaining most support at the meeting was Herefordshire and South Wales, with carly July as the date. The organisation of the Whit tour was also left in the hands of the committec. It was felt that better publicity of tours in London would lead to greater undergraduate support.

After the votes of thanks Douglas May showed films of previous tours and Marcus Barton showed slides. The following morning the Corporate Communion of the society was held at St. Olave's.

CHRISTMAS

By GILBERT THURLOW

MAKE yourselves at home!' What magic words these are! You are perhaps having friends or relatives to tea or dinner today. How pleasant to say to them: ' Make yourselves at home.' If you are yourself a guest, how pleasant to hear these words said to you. Perhaps you have lately been bereaved, so that your own home seems empty. Then these words will sound with even more than their usual welcome, as you enter the home of a friend. And if we were not living in rich and easy England but were in the mountains, the desert or the Arctic, these words might make all the difference to us, between life and death.
'Make yourselves at home!' These are the words which the Power behind the universe said to men at Christmas! For Christmas means quite simply God making His home with men, to make men feel at home with Him. What is God like? This is life's greatest question, and on the answer hangs our whole outlook on life. There's no question whether there is a God or not. The dictionary tells you that the word God, in its origin, simply means 'The ruler of the universe.' And you are free, if you like, to suppose the ruler of the universe is nothing but blind, impersonal force-gravity, electricity, splitting atoms, and so forth.

Now, if that is your god, if you like to feel there is nothing more behind the universe, life is much easier. You need have no moral standard, you need have no loyalty to anyone. But you have a heavy price to pay, also. For if your god is nothing but blind, impersonal force, then you cannot as a thinking being feel at home in the universe. You cannot be anything more than an intruder; you can have no lasting part to play; the universe can get on as well or better without you.

There are many people whose god is nothing more than this. They are the kind of people who hold expensive commissions to try and find out why bad people are bad. They hope against hope that money and education and health and comfort will make people good. Their hopes are constantly dashed.

But there have also always been people who felt there must be something more behind life than blind forcepeople who looked for signs which would make them feel at home in the world. The whole of the Old Testament is about how the Ruler of the Universe was leading men to feel at home with Him.

But the magic words 'make yourselves at home' never fully ring out in the Old Testament. The best the Old Testament prophets can be is to be like signposts pointing the way home. As the Epistle for Christmas Day says, in the New English Bible: "When in former times, God spoke to nur forefathers. he spoke in fragmentary and varied fashion through the prophets.' The New Testament message, in one sentence, is that at Christmas the Ruler of the Universe made Himself at home with us, to make us feel at home with Him. Henceforth man need no longer feel a stranger. He knows he came forth from the Ruler of all things. He knows he belongs to this Ruler. He knows he will return to Him. But further, man knows that the Ruler of the Universe is not just like an average man, subject to hate as well as love. Christmas and all that follows it show that God is like perfect man, and He comes to lift us from the darkness of average life into the light of His perfect life.

But the words 'make yourselves at home' do not complete the Christmas message. One of England's stately homes bears a notice signed by its owner; it runs: 'You are my guests. It is my duty to make my guests feel at home. It is your duty to know you are not.' That notice has something to say about the Christmas message. God came here to make us feel at home. But He only came here for a time. The world can only last for a time. We can never be fully at home here. That's obvious, isn't it? We never feel we quite fit, in this world; we never make a complete and lasting success of anything, here. Christmas looks forward to Easter and Ascension. Without these, Christmas would have been the sad beginning of a futile life. And to man, who is only temporarily a creature of the body but is eternally a creature of the spirit, this world can at best be a 'home from home.' In the Christmas Crib, the straw and the donkey and the sheep are the temporal part of Christmas. But the lasting part is the angel, the message from the true life, which time cannot destroy. Easter and Ascension complete the message of Christmas: they tell us that we are not only guests of God in this world, we are also sons of God for ever.

A brilliant non-ringing clergyman in a recent afterdinner speech, said: 'I, too, am a ringer of bells-front door bells of every kind, which I am constantly ringing in my parish. And what a joy it is when the door opens and I am invited into the home to which it leads.' And one might add "what a joy it is when the gong rings for supper, and the host bids his guests make themselves at home at his table.'

Let our Christmas bells ring with this double message. Let them be the instrument of the sincere seekers after truth, seeking whether they can find themselves to be at home in the universe. Let them simulate the voice of God, replying: "Let those that seek, find; come, and make yourselves at home, in this life, around My Table to which My bells are calling; and in the infinitely richer, fuller life to which I call you in due time, when you will be for ever at home with Me.'

For the God Who came to us at Christmas will never Ict us go. Beneath the material sphere, we are His

FINEST ACHIEVEMENT IN SIX BELL RINGING

143 Merhods in Peal of Spliced Minor

Congratulations to Anthony R. Peake and his band who on December 2nd at (astle Eaton, Wiltshire, rang a peal of 5,040 Spliced Minor in 143 methods. This great achievement was the result, as one of the band describes it, of eighteen months hard labour.

THE band was formed in early June. 1962, and the first peal attempted was 59 methods at Cranham on June 9th. No luck there. so we tried for a less ambitious 54 methods at North Cerney, which we scored. It was agreed that in future we should each stick to the same bell throughout the series, which proved to make life a lot easier as the Which proved to make

On September 6th at North Cerney we discovered that we couldn't ring 65 methods, but at Haresfield on September 15 th we all thought we could: we shall never know, as a clapper broke. After one more abortive attempt for 65 at Meysey Hampton. on September 26th. it was rung at Castle Eaton on October 6th. The next Saturday we made it two in a row by scoring 70 at Hardwicke; then we tried for the hat-trick on October 31st at North Cerney, but failed to ring 75 methods. So we decided to jump over 75 and try 85 , and started out for this peal at Hatherop on November 14 th but this soon degenerated into a practice. Eighty-five was scored at the second attempt at Lydiard Millicent on December 1 st .

There followed a long gap, partly due to the icy weather partly because we kept getting embrangled in 100 methods. When the snow went and our brains thawed out. we went to two towers on March $16 \mathrm{th}, 1963$ : the effort at Lyneham in the morning fired out. and at West Overton in the afternoon a thunderstorm and a leaky helfry forced us to bale out. At Great Witcombe on April 27th, omens seemed bad with a broken stay on the third. nevertheless it was here that we finally broke the 100 barrier; and in the afternoon, to prove it was no fluke, did it again at Tirley with a well-struck peal of 105 methods. One hundred and eleven next Saturday at Hatherop made it three in a row. and success inspired us to nut in a new extent to make 113 at Broad Hinton in the afternoon, but this proved to be too ambitious
The next step was 122 methods, and the first attempt at North Cerney, on May 29th. turned out to be a practice, so we decided to go to Castle Eaton on June 12th and call it a practice from the outset. In the next few attempts for 122 we rang the new extent fairly confidently, but tripped up in those we should have known. So we blamed the "muggy' weather, the bells and various other factors. and at the sixth atternpt scured 122 at North Cerney on August 14th. The next and Anal peal was to be 143 methods, with so many new methods to be learned we expected a series of false starts. The first attempt never got off the ground, owing to a misunderstanding concerning the key of Rendcombe tower. Two of the band demonstrated that by climbing a long ladder, left by some builders. it was possible to get on to the roof of the church. and from there (in theory) into the tower via another ladder, but the other four chose not to take this suggestion seriously. So we went home.

No less than eight attempts came and went. and at some time or another we lost the peal in each of the extents, until December 2nd, at Castle Eaton, when we finally rang a good peal in 143 methods. The Rector (the Rev. J. A. Harrison! kindly revived us afterwards with some of his home-made mead, which was so good that the amateur wine-makers among us were taken with large inferiority complexes. In fact our thanks are due to many local incumbents, particularly those at Hatherop, North Cerney and Castle Eaton, for making their bells available for peal attempts and for listening so patiently to involved explanations of what we were trying to achieve.
G. R.D

During the peal series we had 36 peal attempts and only three practices. We rang a total of 7 different extents, containing 164 methods and the total number of miles travelled by the band came to approximately 8,124 miles.

The Band

Peter T. Hurcombe (Treble).-Age 23, an electrical engineer with the Midland Electricity Board. Learnt to ring at St. Mary-de-Lode. Gloucester. in 1953, and now rings at St. Mary's, Cheltenham. Rang his first peal when 15. and has now rung 102 , conducted 14 . Has rung 54 Minor methods "inside." and taken part in the first peal to contain all the 41 regular Surprise Minor methods (10.080).

Shirley M. Drew (Second). - Started to ring at Cheltenham in 1953. when she moved there from Havant. Hants, and rang her first peal (Stedman Triples) at Bishop; Cleeve in January, 1955. Was Shirley Parsons in those days. married Geoffrey R. Drew in March, 1962. Her peal total is now 187. including 175 on tower bells and 12 "in hand.' She has rung 102 with Geoff.

Geoffrey R. Drew (Third).-Started ringing at Great Ryburgh, Norfolk, in 1953. and rang his first peal at Sculthorpe in June, 1955. Had a break from ringing while in Singapore with the R.A.F... in 1957-58, but took it up again when he returned to Norfolk. He moved to Cheltenham to trork at S. Smith and Son, at the end of 1960 . He now rings at Bishop's Cleeve, and his peal total is 201, of which he has conducted 67, and rung 2 on handbells.

Cyril A. Wratten (Fourth).-Age 28. a civil servant in the Foreign Office at Cheitenham. Learnt to ring at Saltwood. Kent, in 1949, and is now tower captain at St. Mary's, Cheltenham. He has rung 262 peals. his first when 16. and conducted 76. He is treasurer for the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and their representative on the Central Council.

Anthony R. Peake (Fifth).-Age 30. Learnt to ring at Blunsdon, Wilts. under Mr. W. H. Trueman and Mr. J. Vincent. and is now tower captain at Stratton St. Margaret. Wilts. Rang his first peal when 15 and has now rung 214. conducted 115 , with 35 on handbells. Conducted the first peal of Doubles in 100 methods, and the first peals for the Gloucester and Bristol Association of Spliced Triples, Surprise Minor in 45 methods, and on handbells Association firsts of Surprise, 52 Minor methods and Treble Bob in 48 methods:

Brian Bladon (Tenor)--Age 29. Learnt 10 ing with the conductor at Blunsdon. Wills. and was later at Stamford Hill. Tottenham, where he helped to train a band up to London S. Major standard. Returning to Swindon in 1958, he is now the Ringing Master of the Swindon Branch, Salisbury Guild. The most experienced ringer of the band. he has rung just over 400 peals. including the first of Scientific Triples, 14.560 of Yorkshire, over 60 different Surprise methods. and conducted the first peals of London and Bristol S. Major for the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

FIRST ON THE BELLS AT LLANBLETHIAN

Ringers of the peal of Grandsire Doubles at Llanblethian. near Cowbridge. Glamorgan. on December 4th. were pleasurably surprised to learn, on enquiry afterwards. from Mr. M. Pryor. hon. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, that he had no record of any previous peal on these hells. It is therefore claimed as 'first on the bells

These are by no means a new ring. The tenor is a late 17 th century bell donated under the will of Sir Leoline Jenkins, a local man and Principal Secretary of State to King Charles 1I. The fifth is an Evans Bros. (Chepstow) bell of 1726: the fourth is dated 1746 . The front three date from 1769. though the trehle was recast by Carr's of Smethwick in 19(17

The bells go very roughly and have not been regularly rung for a number of years.

The band was the same as that which tried unsuccessfully for a peal on these bells in June last. Three of the band, Gareth Jones. Ellis Thomas. and Paul Evans. are senior pupils at Cowbridge Grammar School. They put in some hard work to get the bells into a ringable condition for the peal. as ther hat done for the June altempl. They also fitted ropes, borrowed from Cowbridge where they (and the ringers of the treble and tenor) are members of the tower. The conductor was a good friend and neighbour from Bridgend. Mr Tom Petty.

RINGERS DINE AT WINDSOR

'I'O the sound of the bells of Windsor Castle, ringing for St. Andrew's Day, few yards away the ringers of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild assembled for their second annual dinner at the Thames Hotel. Windsor The success of the inaugural dinner last autumn. when an attendance of 90 proved the sponsors correct. prompted the Branch to try, making this an annual event. Their optimism was rewarded with an attendance of 122.

The Branch president (Rt. Rev. Gordon Savage. Bishop of Buckingham) was unable to be present, but Mrs. Savage deputised for him. Also present were Cunon Eliot Wigg (Master of the Guild). Canon Eric Perkins (Branch chairman). Rev. L. Badham (Vicar of Windsor), Rev. M. Ware (Vicar of Boyne Hill). Rev. S. W. Doran (Vicar of Bray), Mr. A. D. Barker (general treasurer, O.D.G.) and Mr. W. G. Wilson (Master of the London County Association and vice-president of the O.D.G.). Following the dinner Canon Perkins welcomed members and wives, and the special guests. and proposed the toast of The Church and the Queen.
The Vicar of Windsor, in proposing the toast of 'Our Church Bell Ringers,. expressed his joy at being among ringers. He said he was impressed by their passion. their skill and the art which they devoted to their ringing. and that gathering was a demonstration that it was being continued. In the life of the Church it was easy to pick out someone as being a member of the Mothers Union or of the C.E.M.S., but one could hardly identify a member of the belfry! When he was in the R.A.F. he found the good. the bad and the bellringers. He recalled a certain celebration. at the close of which he found a ringer sitting in the snow after a party, and said. - Tom, what would you say if you saw me in this condition?' Tom replied. 'Not a word. Padre; not a word!"

Bellringing, he said, had always been a concomitant of religious worship. In Norman times bells were used as a curfew. In Windsor they had served as a clock since as carly as 1400 . Their bells had given warnings of national dangers. and of triumphs. on land and on the sea. For centuries they had regulated their lives and working hours. The bells presided over all the joys and also the solemnities of our national life. The whole community was unified by the sound of the bells, and on Sundays all our worshio was hallowed by the tintinnabulation of the bells. The Church was deeply indebted to its bellringers, and he could not adequately express the love and the gratitude of the clergy for their ringers.

WINDSOR RINGERS THANKED

The Vicar paid a tribute to the hours of voluntary work done by his own ringers at Windsor in designing. having constructed and fitted a brace to tie the bell frame. and in cleaning and decorating the belfry and installing a new window. When they would give such service to their church, it seemed a nity that ringers should leave the huilding as soon as the service had hegun. Having summoned them to the feast, they guictly stole away! The way this tradition of loyal service and the art of ringing maintained was a wonderful thing. and the Church was truly grateful for the ringers ${ }^{\circ}$ voluntary service.
In his reply Mr. W. G. Wilson thanked Mr. Badham for his anpreciation of the work done by hellringers and for the interest of the clergy in their activities. He refer red to a vicar whose interest extended to inquiring of his captain how his new voung hand was progressing. Oh. were making good piogress.
he replied, 'but it is rather slow, they are now beginning to pull together much better." Yes, that's what I was thinking. ' said the Vicar, ' as I listened when I came through the churchyard!
Mr. Wilson quoted some lines from a lecture given at a clerical meeting as recently as 1859 -only just over 100 years ago!' Neither should any excuse whatever obtain permission for ringing on a Sunday. Many, even clergymen, are not aware of the generic distinction between ringing and chiming.
I. for my part. would quite as soon sanction football or cricket in the churchyard on Sunday as ringing properly so-called. and I would as soon give up the belfry to prize-fighting on a Sunday as to prize ringing. ...Ringing is an intellectual and scientific enjoyment, as much so as chess ar violin playing, and in the opinion of some. more so, when done as it should be : and we know what view we should take of Sunday chess players or Sunday concerts! Let us therefore implore every clergyman to exercise his authority and put an extinguisher on all Sunday ringing. So said the Rev. Robert Waller at Sutton Bonnington. Notts.. on June 26th, 1859
It was only due to the work of the ringing guilds that the Vicar of Windsor was able to say what he had about bellringers. They had themselves brought about the reforms which gave ringers their present status in the eyes of the Church.
The Master. Canon Wigg, expressed his pleasure at having been invited to this dinner in a wonderful Branch of a wonderful Guild. He had just come from a meeting of Branch secretaries, and after a day's serious deliberations. it was most pleasant to be able to relax so enjoyably afterwards.
There was music throughout the meal, and the band played for dancing after the speeches

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Banstead is always a good venue for a Northern District meeting and November 30th proved to be no exception. Ringing was under the direction of the District Master. Mr. F. E Collins, and the service was conducted by the Vicar.

At the business meeting nominations were made for the District officers to be elected at the annual general meeting at Kingston-uponThames on January 25th.
progress report was received on the Courses in Elementary Change Ringing which are being pioneered by the Association. The object is to provide special practices. with qualified ringers in attendance, to would-be-change ringers. The project has been enthusiastically supported and many of the learners have shown considerable improvement, which they could not have achieved so quickly without the help of the Association. A similar programme is being arranged for the early part of next year.
After the usual notes of thanks to the Vicar and the ladies who had prepared the much needed = tea on a cold afternoon, the company returned to the tower.

50 YEARS AGO

- R.W: December 19th. 1913.-

The Spitalfields Foundry Guild have succeeded in ringing the first peal on ten bells by a foundry band. and we hear that they will not be satisfied until Cinques and Maximus have been rung. Appropriately enough the peal of Caters was rung unon Shoreditch bells. which have so recently been restored hy the firm. This and other similar performances go to prove that modern founders are fully alive to the value of having practical ringers to do their work wherever possible.

DEDICATION

St. Clement's, Hastings

The new ring of eight at St. Clement's Church, Hastings, was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Chichester at a service held on Sunday, November 24 th . The large congregation of over 500 included the Mayor and Mayoress, aldermen. councillors and chief officers of the county borough of Hastings, donors of the bells or their representatives, including four visitors from Hastings, New Zealand, a representative of John Taylor and Co.. and many visiting ringers. The service was most impressive and at the end the local ringers rang a few rounds after which visiting ringers rang short touches.

The ring of bells is the third ring in the history of the church. The first bell was hung in 1607 and this was added to through the years until in 1717 a ring of six was completed. About the year 1800 these bells were disposed of and a ring of eight cast steel bells was installed instead of the traditional bronze bells. These bells over the years became worn and dangerous because of their poor quality.
In October. 1961, an appeal was launched for the sum of $\pm 3,500$ to meet the cost of eight new bells which it was hoped to achieve in time for the bells to be rung to join in the town's celebrations in 1966 of the 900th anniversary of the Battle of Hastings. Such was the response to the appeal that the amount was subscribed and the fund closed within two years of launching the appeal.
The new bells were cast by Jolin Taylon and Co., and were hung with complete new fittings in the existing Sussex oak frame of 1739 and they bear the following inscriptions
Treble. -The Hastleons. Donors, The Hast ings and St. Leonards Operatic and Dramatic Society

No. 2.-Donors. Sir Ralf and Lady Emerson Rev. Jack L. Napier, B.A., and Miss Kathleen Napier.

No. 3.-In memory of Alderman F. W and Mrs. Morgan from their children.
No. 4.-Donated by the citizens of Hastings, New Zealand.
No. 5-The Hastings Grammar School. Given by the governors, masters, old boys and pupils.

No. 6.-In memory of Jack Shirley. Given by the Nalgo Players

No. 7.-In memory of Mr. and Mrs. James Phillips from their children.
Tenor.-The Corporation Bell. Donors, past Mayors, Aldermen. Councillors and Chief Officers of the County Borough of Hastings.

The weight of the tenor bell is 15 cwt . A bronze tablet recording the historical event has been placed on the wall beneath the south window in the tower.

St. Clement's ringers wish to thank Tony Jackson, of Blacklands. for the use of their bells for practices during the past months.

MEMORIAL RING OF EIGHT FOR CANBERRA

Canberra, the capital of Australia, is to have a ring of eight hells. The Governor-General Lord DC L'Isle, has offered to present a ring of eight bells to the Church of St. John the Baptist. Canberra. as a memorial to his wife, who died in Canberra late last year.

The Rector of St. John's. Archdeacon F. M. Hill, and his vestry have accepted the gift. The hells will be cast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. of Loughborough. A spokesman at Government House. ## The Original and Deptford

Dear Sir.-With reference to 'Belfry Gossip' of December 6th (page 816). I feel that the name of St. John's, Deptford, S.E.4. should be associated with Mr. Sone's comment about the number of time the 'Original' has been rung for the Kent County Association.

I have not been able to go back to 1875 (five years before the K.C.A. formation), when the bells were hung, because of lack of time and. above all. records, but from the records at my disposal I would put the number of neals of the 'Original' having been rung at Deptford for the K.C.A. as high as 15-20 per cent.
I would be grateful. and I am sure other members of the Exercise would be as well, to learn the exact number. The helfry walls at Deptford are full of peals of Grandsire, but these boards finish in the late 1920 's as do the volumes of bound 'Ringing Worlds.'

May I through your columns inquire if anyone rung a peal of Plain Bob Triples on these hells. If not. the hand who rang one for the london County Association on Octoher 19th would like to claim a "first on the bells.' Yours sincerely,

BARRY R. HOLLISS.
Bromley. Kent.

Attempt for Long Length of Yorkshire Surprise Major

Dear Sir,-I hereby give notice that, by kind permission of the Rev. G. John, it is the intention of the undermentioned eight ringers to meet at St. Leonard's Church, Clent. Worcestershire, on Boxing Day next, December 26th. at $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and attempt to ring a peal of 11.520 Yorkshire Surprise Major.
If successful, the peal will be credited to the Worcestershire and Districts Association.
The band will consist of: P. L. Bill (Stourbridge), P. J. Brown (Stourbridge), J. C. Eisel (Stourbridge), M. D. Fellows (Stourbridge). M. J. Fellows (Stourbridge). G. C. Hemming (Evesham), A. V. Pearson (Wombourn), J. G. Pusey (Malvern).

The ringing will be conducted by A . V . Pearson, and the composition to be used is appended.-Yours faithfully.

Thousand Peal Ringers

Dear Sir,-As a matter of personal interest I wonder if you or any reader could give me the following information:

1. The names and order of people ringing a thousand peals.
2. The most peals as conductor
3. People who have rung two tower bells to a peal.
4. The youngest person to conduct a peal. - Yours sincerely.

GEO FRY

Standard in Long Length Peals

Dear Sir,-I have been hoping to see an answer to the point raised by 'W.J.' a few weeks back in regard to a record length attempt at Loughborough. It seems quite inconsistent to ring half a normal peal before deciding that the standard of ringing was not sufficiently high. and to follow up the proceedings with two normal peals with the same band.

If the band was badly placed. surely a course at the most would be needed for the conductor to decide what rearrangement of the band was required. Or do we have an implicit assumption that the standard of ringing for a long peal should be higher than that acceptable for a normal length? I really do feel that the conductor or organiser owes us a slightly Fuller explanation.-Yours faithfully.

Origin of Method Names

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{A}$ correspondent recently inquired about the origin of the names given to changes on different numbers of bells. Since I have seen no reply to this interesting point, may I report the results of a discussion with some members of the University Guild at a practice the other day?

Firstly, as far as even bell methods are concerned, it was generally agreed that in the early days of change ringing eight and six bell methods were the only two sorts in common practice and it was reasonable to refer to them as 'major' and 'minor,' entirely with reference to "size.' Ten bell ringing was rare and was considered (in those days) the 'ultimate' in campanology. For this reason ten hell methods reigned supreme as 'royal.' Thinking along the same lines (and this is almost certainly true) the number ten bell in rings of royal were referred to as the tenth or 'tenor' a term which came to refer to the bell with the lowest note on any ring of bells, and whilst it had no musical connotations the word treble probably did have at the other end in opposition to the musical meaning of 'tenor:' A logical extension of the sequence : . minor, major . . . required ' minimus' for four bells and with the advent of twelve bells 'maximus' was invoked.

Secondly, odd bell method terminology clearly refers to the number of pairs of bells that can be changed at a time. On five bells the maximum is 'two pairs.' hence 'doubles.' A logical extension requires 'triples', for seven bells. 'Quadruples' and 'quintuples' were too much of a mouthful so corrupted French versions caters and cinques were introduced. although 'sextuples' is tolerated for thirteen bells. Perhaps 'ceases, would be a suitable corruption here to discourage anyone from going further.

This shows how nomenclature was adopted for one or two numbers of bells and the process of evolution extended it to other numbers; An anomaly exists in the case of 'singles, which should refer to three bells. but some authors, notably Jasper Snowdon (cf. 'Ropcsight'). use this for four bell methods. Perhaps he would have used 'mini-minor' for three bells. or shouldn't that be two?
I have good reason to believe the above is for the most part true, but I hope at least that it will satisfy your correspondent's friends. - Yours sincerely,

FRANK H KING.

North Tidworth Bells

Dear Sir.-I would like 10 give a few facts regarding the bells of North Tidworth. mentioned in the article on Wiltshire bells in the issuc of November 1st.
Three of the bells date from 1619. one from 1700 and the other from 1809. They requirc rehanging in a metal frame, with new wheels and in some cases clappers. For this purposc $\pm 1.500$ to $£ 2.000$ is required. It is doubtful. however. if this amount will be raised for some while yet, and in the meantime local ringers are attempting to make the back three chimable or even ringable if this is found possible. If any of your readers feel that they would like to help get these bells ringing again, any donations. large or small. would be gratefully accepted. Cheques or postal orders should be made payable to : North Tidworth Bell Fund. and sent either to Mr. R. J. Vockins. 4. Mill Hill Avenue. Tidworth. Hants. or The Manager. Lloyds Bank Lid.. Tidworth. ## SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Marlborough Branch

The Marlborough branch held its annual meeting at Marlborough on November 30th, when there was a fair attendance which included visitors from Warminster, Burghclere, Kingsclere and Devizes (St. Mary's).

St. Mary's mellow-toned six were rung in rounds and changes until the Guild service which was conducted by Canon F. B. Browne (Rector), assisted by the newly-appointed curate (Rev. Roger Keeley) who read the lesson and gave a short address. Mr. J. W. Pomfret was organist.
Tea was taken at a nearby cafe and was followed by the business meeting. Mr. George Newman (chairman) presided and he was supported by Mr. T. A. Palmer (hon. secretary) and Capt. Mansfield-Robinson (branch representative).

A report on the past year, read by Mr Palmer, revealed a slight drop in membership. Nine meetings had been held with an average attendance of 18 . One full peal and several quarter peals had been scored, and on the whole the position was reasonably satisfactory.

Although expressing the opinion that the office should circulate among the members, Mr . Newman was prevailed upon to continue as chairman and Mr. Palmer was unanimously re-elected secretary. Mr. A. Johnson did not wish to continue as vice-chairman and this office was left vacant, it being decided that should the chairman be unable to attend a branch meeting. one should be elected pro. tem, from omembers present.

In order to lighten the secretary's burden (he has now held office for 29 years) Mr. George Brown (Marlborough St. Mary's) was unanimously elected assistant secretary. This was particularly timely as the annual festival of the Salisbury Guild is due to be held in Marlborough next year, and Mr. Brown's help and advice will be invaluable.

The Rev. Roger Keeley was unanimously elected Ringing Master (a post previously held by Mr. Palmer) and it was a source of great satisfaction when he consented to serve. Another cause for congratulation was the election of 18 new members. 12 of whom were fiom Overton with East Kennett, including the Vicar (Rev. F. Smedley). There were also three from Aldbourne and three from Chisledon.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD  Andover District

Over 40 ringers attended the popular meeting of the Andover District at Longparish, on December 7th, when ringing during the afternoon reached Cambridge Surprise. The Rev. S. N. Agg Lage conducted the service. which Was followed by a good spread in the Parish Room, arranged by Mrs. Dobson and Miss Cioddard.

At the business meeting, with Mr. A. W. Alliston in the chair, Miss Jenkins was elected a member, and Whitchurch selected for the annual meeting on January 11 th.
Evening ringing was at Longparish, Barton Stacey and Hurstbourne Priors.

SWANSEA & BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD

With the help of visitors who were made very welcome, an enjoyable day of ringing was held at St. Mary's, Swansea, on November 30th, when the Southern District held its annual meeting. During the evening a tired party from the University of Wales Society presented themselves, but soon lost their presented and took part in the ringing.

The curate, the Rev. Edward Hunt, conducted the service, and as it was St. Andrew's Day the theme of the address by Canon $H$. C. Williams (the Vicar) was based on the patron saint of Scotland. Tea followed in the vestry hall and the Vicar thanked those responsible for the excellent meal.

As Canon Williams was unable to stay the Rev. E. Hunt was voted to the chair. Mr. J. A. Hoare was re-elected honorary District secretary and Mr. T. M. Roderick honarary District auditor. After various suggestions, Devynock, Brecon, was selected for the next quarterly meeting on March 7th.
The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar, the curate and Mr. J. Davies, the organist.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION Western Branch

Fog cut the attendance at the quarterly meeting, held at Swaffham on November 30th. Ringers were present from Caston. Holme Hale. North Creake, Wells, King's Lynn, in the Branch. and welcome friends from Hockwold, Southend and Norwich.
The service was conducted by the Rev. J. E. Burridge. with Branch chairman Rev. G. Galley at the organ. Tea followed in the Church Rooms. At the business meeting three new members were elected. King's Lynn was confirmed as the venue for the annual meeting and Caston was provisionally approved for the May meeting.
In the afternoon and evening the bells were rung to a variety of methods, but with an emphasis on helping the less experienced ringers.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

At the meeting of the St. Albans district at St. Michael's, St. Albans, on November 16th, ringing up to six spliced was attempted. Practically nothing, however, in the evening at any rate, came round except a short touch of Grandsire Triples, though on the other hand some reasonable striking was achieved between the fire-ups.

The service was taken by the Vicar, the Rev. D. G. Harpur, and Mr. A. T. Hawkins played the organ. The local band are very grateful to the Misses Brearley and Williams, from Wheathampstead and Hemel Hempstead. who made the tea, St. Michael's being an almost womanless tower.

At the top table the Irish Vicar kept the officers in fits of laughter. On complaining to one of the tea pourers of the service, he was told that it was better than some of his !

A profit on the tea of $£ 14 \mathrm{~s}$. was given to the Voluntary Bell Fund.

Next meeting Barnet. December 21 st. special method. Bristol.

OBITUARY

HENRY CHARLES STALHAM

17th March, 1871-29th November, 1963
Harry came to a practice on Wednesday evening and on Thursday evening he quietly left us for good. He had been coming to practise at St. Nicholas', Brighton, longer than all the band put together; he had in fact been a ringer for 80 years
On Saturday, December 7th, upwards of 40 ringers from 14 towers, including the President of the Sussex Association, gathered at St. Nicholas to pay their last respects. The bright winter sun shone from a cloudless sky, and passers-by paused to listen to the bells being rung half-muffled to Stedman Caters. The vicar met the cortege at the porch, and as the casket was borne into church. the bells stood $\rightarrow$ silent.

With moving sincerity, Father Walker turneú to us and said 'Harry-cap, stick, and a pipe ; rounded shoulders, and half-closed eyes that missed nothing. A perfectionist whom we must forgive, for when he found us to be less than perfect, he said so. No greater tribute (he concluded) could be paid than that. He laid his blow, and kept his place.'
With impressive symbolism Harry passed from our midst, from the dim church through the dark porch. and out into the trilliant sunshine to pause a moment below the tower as the bells began their farewell peal. We laid him to rest high on the Sussex downs to the old familiar sound of the handbells ringing Grandsire Triples, and from afar St. Nicholas ${ }^{3}$ golden vane gleamed in the winter's sun.
Floral tributes came from the Sussex Association; the Ancient Society of College Youths ; St. Peter's, Brighton; Hurstpierpoint ; Shoreham and Wivelsfield towers, and the St. Nicholas' band. Handbells were rung by Mr. Hairs 1-2, Angela Grainger 3-4, Frank Hairs 5-6, Victor Sheppard 7-8. The tower pear was lost after $2 \frac{3}{4}$ hours
Harry joined the Sussex Association in 1893 at St. Paul's, Brighton, and rang his first peal on January 23rd, 1896. The last of his 234 peals was on May 19th, 1962.

MR. R. G. WILLIAMS
We regret to record the death of Mr. R. G. Williams of Portishead, who had a life-ions association with Portishead Church. first as a choir-boy and then for more than 50 years as a ringer, including 15 years as captain.

Mr. Williams rang a few peals, mostly of Grandsire Triples, the first being at Portishead in 1911, but he always placed Sunday service ringing as a priority. The keynotes of his long ringing career were 'regularity,' punctuality and 'precision.' Until being taken ill about a year ago. Mr. Williams rarely missed any Sunday service ringing or weekly practice and he was never :3te. He always laid great stress on good striking and rhythm and took the view that it was better to ring a simple method well than a more complicated one badly

A number of his ringing colleagues attended the funeral service, conducted by Rev. R. 0 . Fry, and he was interred near the tower he had served so faithfully. The Portishead ringers paid their final tribute by ringing a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, half-muffled. during the evening following the funeral.

Throughout the work the bells had, of course, been tied, and not more than five had heen pulled together. We had no idea what problems would arise legarding sound or oddstruckness. Soon all was ready for the first open ringing, and Brian Cox ohtained verbal permission for it to take place on Septemher 21 st, which in fact coincided with $\cdot$ British Week in Adelaide. Every successive Saturday afternoon since July 6th we had spent in the tower, logging 15 - 20 man hours on each occasion. The great day arrived, but the caretaker refused to let us in. He had nothing in writing. Our hearts sank to our boots, but the timely arrival of Brian smoothed things over.

THE BELLS ARE RUNG

We raised the bells singly, none going up wrong. Then the ringers ook their places, peering at each other lik. monkeys through the cage work, and the men on the tenors contriving to dodge with the floodlights. With tape recorders on, the first tentative rounds rang out over Victoria Square, the first for over half a century. It was a wonderful sound to our ears, and everyone was agreeably surprised at the tone of the bells. They rank among the best Warner rings I have rung on-they are right outside the 'saucer, class! But beauty of tone is not complemented by easy handling. The trebles could not be heard very weil: the fourth dropped unpredictably at hand, the fifth was sadly offstruck and the sixth needs more strength than any other to keep it up. The tenors responded well, though, and by the end of the afternoon we had brought round a course of Cambridge Minor and 180 Stedmen Doubles on the back six. We had no band for change ringing on the eight and indeed will find it hard to produce one in the immediate future. South Australia is not well off for ringers, and these are not learners' bells. Ringers at St. Peter's Cathedral and Walkerville are not used to plain bearings. We wonciered whether our change hinging was in fact the first on the bells, since it is thought the old Alhert Society never aspired to change ringing.
With later visits to the belfry, we readjusted all the chiming hammers and rigged up devices for their release. The fourth's trouble was traced to the puiley whecl, which had been put back the wrong way when all the pulleys were greased. We attempted to correct the oddstruck fifth by adjusting the bell on the stock, but improvement was negligible. We felt we could do nothing with the sixth but set out to tackle the problem of ti:e muted trebles. A four-inch sound pipe was fitted with a sound hox on the top. made from a biscuit tin! The base of the pipe falls to a hole in the ceiling between treble and second ropes. The result. when we rang the bells again on October 12th, exceeded our wildest expectations. Plain hunting on seven was aspired to on this occasion. Our set of ropes was made up of old ones from the Cathedral and Walkerville, together with two 1 brought from St. Mary"s, Reading, Bill Pitcher has spent hours splicing up the set.
As the only English ringer in the restoration team. I feel bound to comment on the tremendous enthusiasm displayed by my Australian colleagues throughout the work, which has been far from straightforward. Brian Cox. David Bleby, Austin Adams. Bili Pitcher and myself composed the team. with occasional help from others, including Richard Jolley. from Walkerville.
And so another unringable tower is back on the map though the future of ringing here seems a bit uncertain. This is due to our difficulties in assembling a band capable of striking the bells reasonably well (we must do it better than the chiming apoeratus! and the apparent indifference of the Town Hall authorities now the bells are in order.
Brian met with a cool reception at his interview with the authorities, but later contact by Bill looks more hopeful. A detailed report of the work done has been submitted. with suggestions for future ringing occasions, and a reply is awaited.

an alternative system of place notation

Being one of those people who cannot make any headway with the present system of place notation I venture to put forward this alternative method.

There are sufficient letters in the alphabet to give every row of figures in the half lead of Treble Bob or Surprise from Minor to Maximus a separate and distinct reference letter to show by a letter and figures. in which place the places in the notation are started or completed in. The diagram is the first lead of Cambridge Surprise Major to illustrate the working of the system. The numbers in the places are those of the bells that make the places when ringing this lead. You will notice that on the left are letters in starting with order. rounds and finishing with $Q$ at the second blow of the treble's lie behind. As you know. the half lead should show all the places made and reverse true to itself to make the full lead. Thereiore it should only be necessary to give the notation for a half lead. Here is the notation for the half lead. giving the last blow of the places made.

A 2/C 3, 8/E 1.4/G 1, 2.5,8/I 3.6/K $1.4 /$

M5, 8/O 1.6/Q 7. Add the information as to which place the bob is made, and the lead end. and that is all that need be given. For this method. the hob is A 4. lead end is 1538264 . When sending the notation for publication you will help the ringer who is working out the lead from your notation if you add the lead end as he can check and make sure his work is correct.
Now let us suppose that you are working out a lead from a notation given on this system and that you have worked as far as Q7. You now need to reverse your work to get the second half. Now take a look at the letters on the right. They are simply the letters on the left reversed with $A$ at the handstroke lead of the treble. Now look at places 01.6 in the first half lead. They end on row O , while places 01.6 in the second half lead begin on row $O$. So what you have to do to reverse your work is: Reverse your letters, reverse your notation, and reverse the method of making the places. So here is your notation for the whole lead:
A $2 / \mathrm{C} 3.8 / \mathrm{E} 1.4 / \mathrm{G} 1,2.5,8 / \mathrm{I} 3.6 / \mathrm{K} 1.4 /$
M 5.8/0 1, 6/Q 7.
O 1.6/M 5.8/K 1, 4/I 3.6/G 1. 2.5.8/
E 1, 4/C 3.8/A 2.
Bob A. Lead end 1538264.
In actual practice you can. if you like, put all your letters on the right with the figures just like the calling of a touch or peal. and then fill in your rows (I made out the diagram with the letters on both sides for clarity), but if you do so, be careful to label the row $\mathbf{P}$ (handstroke of the lie behind), $P Q$ and row $Q$ (backstroke of the lie behind). $\mathbf{Q P}$. The reason why this care is necessary can be seen if you look at London. The last three places in the half lead notation are N1,6/P 1.6/Q5. If you look at the diagram you will see that the row labelled $P$ on the left is $Q$ on the right. So as place ending on PQ must comright. So as place ending on PQ must comSo the places while the treble is in $7 / 8$ would read N1.6/P Q 1,6/Q 1, 5/QP1.6/ N 1.6 .
Finally, here are the notations of two well known methods

LONDON SURPRISE MINOR
A 2/B 3, 6/D 3.6/E 1.4/G1.2/I 3.6/
J 1.4 /L $1.4 / \mathrm{M} 3$.
Bob A 4. Lead end 142635.
YORKSHIRE SURPRISE ROYAL
A 2/C 3.0/E 1.4/G 5.0/I 1.6/K 1.2.7.0

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

A very pleasant and successful meeting was held on November 23 rd at Sutton-in-Ashfield. when the Mansfield District joined forces with the East Derbyshire and West Notts Association. Before commencing the business meeting a short silence was observed while those present joined people the world over in remembering John F. Kennedy, President of the U.S.A., who had died so tragically the previous day Mr. J. L. Parker of Teversall was elected a Guild member and following the meeting ringing continued in a variety of methods until 8 p.m, when the bells were lowered in peal. Next meeting-District Annual at Mansfield.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Central and Kent Districts held a joint meeting at St. John's. Leytonstone, on November 30 ith . when some 30 members and friends attended during the afternoon and evening Ringing ranging from call changes to Bristol Surprise was included. thereby catering for all stages of ability of those present. Also included was a touch of Plain Bob Major hy an all-ladies' band.
A short service. led by the choirboys and organist of St. John's. Was conducted by the Vicar. Rev. de Lande Jones. In welcoming the Guild. he spoke of the message of the beils as being equally pertinent to those who hear them as well as to the ringers themselves.

A sumptuous tea in the Church Hall was provided hy Mrs. C. Willmington and lady helpers. all arrangements being kindly made by Mr. C. Willmingtore. The company showed by vigorous applause their thanks and appreciation to all concerned for the success and enjoyment of this meeting.

Euitor: T. W. White.

To our list of correspondents we add the name of Mr. John Sutton, of Didlingon. Thetford, who because he is a spastic is unable to ring. This disability does not prevent John from taking a keen and informed interest in ringing and ${ }^{\text {. The Ringing World.' }}$ At ringing meetings of the Western Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association, writes the secretary, he is welcomed as one of them and is an inspiration to all. The meeting report in this issue comes from John, who is an honorary member of the Association.
Mr. T. H. Radford of 35, High Street, Tibshelf, is the new hon. secretary of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association.
The ringers who took part in the two peals at Newick and West Hoathly on Nov. 30th would like to associate the peals with the passing of Harry Stalham (91), of Brighton, who died the night before.
On December 1st, 1923, William Rogers, who now lives at Hildenborough. Kent. rang his first peal at Buxted, Sussex. He celebrated the 40th anniversary by ringing a peal at Swanscombe, Kent, on November 30th, 1963.

Andrew Corby who was 15 on November 27th, celebrated his birthday by ringing peals at Erith and Swanscombe on November 29th and 30th, bringing his peal total to 38 . A happy birthday

The peal at Knebworth on November 16th was rung as a farewell to Bernard Marks, who has been tower secretary for the past ten years and has played a big part in ensuring that the bells have been rung regularly for Sunday service. He is now moving to Brabourne in Kent, taking with him the best wishes of his friends in Hertfordshire.
The quarter peal on the back eignt at Exeter Cathedral, published in the December 6th issue, was also rung to the memory of H. Corry, who died in November and had heen a member of the Exeter Cathedral band for 10 years. The conductor was N. Mallett and not as printed. It is believed to be the first occasion that the tenor had heen turned in single handed to a quarter on the back cight (tenor $72 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.).

BELFRY GOSSIP

 the R.C. Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Heavitree, Exeter, is being rung for services. The bell was cast by John Taylor in 1931, and is a superb bell with impressive tone. Only 100 yards from the octave at Heavitree Parish Church, it is the same note as the tenor, and local ringers look forward to hearing Heavitree bells and the Bourdon ring together.Mr. Brian G. Warwick has 'circled' the Loughborough Bell Foundry Campanile 10 peals for the 20 th time. Can any other circlers' go one better?
Handbell ringers from St. John's College, York, raised the sum of $£ 40$ [3s. 8d. for Famine Relief and Refugee Aid work in King's Square on December 7th. Carols, call changes and touches of Plain Bob Minor were rung between 2 and 5 p.m.
The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Morris was duly celebrated by a peal of Little Bob Major at his own tower. Hodnet. Afterwards the band adjourned to a local hostelry where a family party had gathered to celebrate the event.
At the dinner held at Windsor on November 30th by the E. Berks and S. Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild, a detached piece of diamante jewellery was picked up. Will the loser please contact Miss Doreen Hague. Branch Secretary (Tel. Slough 23321-during working hours).
A peal of Grandsire Caters was rung at Rotherham Parish Church on November 30th as a tribute to Mrs. D. M. Pearce, a teacher at Kimberworth Secondary School, who recently died. Six former pupils and one master were in the band, the pupils being Mrs. Elsie Chaddock, Stuart Armeson (conductor and former school captain), Neil Donovan (former captain). John Bruce, Richard Lindsey and David Nichols. Mr. Norman Chaddock, a brother of Mrs. Pearce. is a member of the teaching staff. Also remembered was Miss M. L. Humphries. former headmistress, who is living at Cheltenham and recently had her 90 birthday.

A RECORD OF LONG AGO

0N December 27th, 1904. 59 years ago, William Willson conducted at South Wigston. Leicester, a peal of 17.104 of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, and so put an end to a period of growing rivalry in the method. For nearly twenty years there had been a rising tide of progression and the Wigston exploit marked the culminating roller. In 1882 the famous Burton band rang 7,200 at Beeston; in 1885, 8.064 changes were rung at Leiston : and Appleton responded in 1888 with 10.080. In March 1894. the Cumberlands went for the extent with the tenors together at Brentwood, and suffered the cruel ordeal of having the treble rope break after ringing 13,072 changes. Within a month the same band met, and George Newson succeeded in calling the 13,440 at Romford.
Five years later there came two great achievements, accompanied by what still remains as probably the greatest and bitterest controversy since the old Norwich quarrels of the 18 th century. In April, 1899. William Pye called at Erith 15,072 of Double Norwich Major, and just over a month later Washbrook's band rang at Kidlington a record length of 17.024 . The ensuing dispute. as revealed in the current correspondence. makes interesting reading. One of the vigorous parakers in this verbal warfare was Leicester's redoubtable controversialist. William Willson, and five years later, he succeeded, by only a narrow margin. indeed, in exceeding the Kidlington performance.
A striking feature of these twenty years of Double Norwich enterprise is the list of famous names associated with the successive long lengths. Jasper Snowdon, William Wakley, Edwin Barnett, Henry Dains, George Newson. William Pye, James Washbrook, F. E. Robinson and William Willson-these are but a few of the leading exponents of this lovely little method in the days when its popularity had not been impaired by the growth of Surprise ringing.
We are fortunate in having a complete and very satisfying account of the South Wigston peal, written by William Willson immediately after his triumph. He tells us of his early ambitions, his participation in a number of long lengths, and the gradual and careful approach to the great task of ringing the record length. The penultimate test was a peal of 11,008 at St. Thomas's, on April 9th, rung, so Willson tells us, without a hitch. And that night, the chronicle says, a group of elated ringers might have been seen in Leicester market place at midnight, toasting each other from bottles and urging the putting on of 'the long 'un.'

Preparations for an attempt for 21,024 were made immediately. Strict training was the order and no smoking was allowed. Willson himself commenced his self-discipline by swimming in the open river every morning, and this he did for four months. This, together with a fortnight's course of Phosferine, made him, so he says, ten years younger.

On Boxing Day the seven Midland gentlemen were joined by Mr. T. H. Taffender from London, and the great attempt began soon after $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The peal ran a reasonably smooth course until the approach to 17.000, and here came a dramatic change. Willson describes it in a memorable and exciting passage.

One nember of the band . . . . was hanging out signals of distress. I believe I saw them long before the band was aware of the position. The pallor of his face made me feel uncomfortable, and conductors know what that means. Our intention was not to stop at less than 18,000 if it could be helped, but when our comrade leaned back to the wall for support, and with a face as white as chalk said "Bring 'em home," I don't mind confessing that it required all the resolution I possess to concentrate my thoughts on my calling. In such a crisis the bob-caller's life is not a happy one. I had passed one of the "landmarks" in the peal and had called the bob at one. The sixth was now coursing the seventh, and at the fourth lead I asked our friend " What is it to be ?" meaning should I go on. He shook his head. I called the bob at five and the sixth was home. Shortly after, noticing that the excitement was affecting the striking, he appeared to rally. But the die was cast, and when we came round I was not sorry, for I was afraid he might drop his rope and lose all.'
17.104 changes had been rung and the Kidlington peal exceeded in length. and this number remains as the record for the method. The band stood as follows: Josiah Morris 1. Thos. H. Taffender 2, Chas. H. Fowler 3. Thos. R. Hensher 4, Jas. Houghton 5, Wm. H. Inglesant 6, Arthur H. Aldham 7. Wm. Willson 8.

William Willson was a fiery controversialist, a formidable opponent in argument, and a bonny fighter even in a lost cause. But his heart was kindly and his gestures generous: and nowhere is this more clearly shown than in his declaration, at his moment of triumph. that Kidlington still held the palm for weight of metal and would remain a monument of ability.

A YORKSHIRE SIX RESTORED

Fourteen miles west of York is the small village of Hunsingore. The church is sited on the crest of a low hill with a few houses and farms grouped around and below. A mile further west the thundering traffic of the A. 1 north of Wetherby fails to disturb this little village. The parish church of St. John the Baptist with its white magnesian limestone spire makes a prominent landmark. Erected in only 11 months in 1869 the church received a ring of six bells cast by Warners, the gift of the Rector, Canon J. Dent. The bells were hung in a wooden frame and soon the villagers of Hunsingore were able to be proud of their ringers and bells. even if the standard reached was not very high.
In 1939 the bells became silent. and after the war no local team could be raised. and thus they were not rung. In the mid 1950s a pirty of South Yorkshire ringers paid a neeting visit and found the bells almost unmanageable.
In June. 1961, these bells were inspected by the author and the frame was covered with pigeon dirt and sticks. the louvres were unwired. the ringing chamber was extremely filthy, and the ropes were very poor.

A year later the committee members of the St. John's College Bellringers' Society resolved to visit the tower and try to restore the bells. The Rector was contacted and permission was given : On Wednesday. October 30th, ten College ringers duly arrived at the church. The Rector and his sexton had had the louvres rewired and the ringing chamber cleaned. An extension lamp was fitted and three paraffin lamps were lit (there was no electricity in the tower). Over 20 sacks of dirt and rubbish were filled and removed from the belfry. The rope chest in the ringing, chamber provided two new ropes and one in need of splicing, and these three ropes were fitted to replace three of the ropes which were unusable. The rims of bells five and six were strengthened by extra screws.

The bells were then raised singly and rung to call changes for five minutes when the fifth repeatedly began to slip the wheel. Upon investigation it was found that over half the rim had heen ripped off as it had been rubbing against the sides of the tower wall. Thus the initial effort had. in a way. been a failure.

A further visit was made to the tower on November 30th. and the rims of bells fifth and sixth were repaired with specially made wooden replacement strips, and on raising the bells these rims were found to be holding. Unfortunately the rope-pulley of the tenor was not functioning correctly with the result that the rope became jammed on setting the bell. Thus with two ringers pulling the $10 \frac{1}{2}$ ewt. tenor off the bells were rung for 20 minutes to call-changes. and plain courses of Grandsire and Bob Doubles.
Thus the ring had been restored to a ringable state but it seems unlikely that a team of regular ringers will be formed. Any ringers organising a tour should bear it in mind that the bells are still very awkward to ring, especially three, five and six. and that only an hour's ringing is advisable at the present moment because of the weakening rims on most of the wheels which. although seemingly sound at the moment. may easily be weakened as a result of prolonged ringing. However the Rector would he most pleased if any band of ringers can visit the church to try these difficult but now ringatle hells.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

When the Barnsley and District Society held their monthly meeting at Earlsheaton. near Dewsbury, on December 14th. 13 towers were represented. Mr. H. Dransfield responded to the vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Christopher Moxon. and said he had completed 50 years as a ringer at Earlsheaton and was always pleased to have visitors. Another warm welcome was from the Vicar (the Rev. W. W. Baldwin). Who presided. An excellent tea was provided by local ladies.

E hundred years ago Lord Grantley gave W sum of one guinea to the Ripon Cathedral ringers whenever they rang for his return to the family seat at Grantley Hall, some five miles from Ripon city. This Georgian residence is now used as a centre for adult education and a company of some 30 ringers assembled at this pleasant place during an October weekend to take part in the fourth annual course on bells and bellringing.
In accordance with the established custom at Grantley two courses were in progress at the same time. We found ourselves in company with Gilbert and Sullivan lovers who were making a special study of The Gondoliers and The Yeomen of the Guard: strangely enough the ringing party included Gilbert and Sullivan addicts and the operatic party included two or three Surprise ringers.

Friday evening was spent in assembling the party. dining and hearing a lecture by Edward Hudson, of the Ripon Cathedral ringers. concerning the history of ringing in Yorkshire. In the course of his lecture he expressed the hope that some sudent of history would undertake the preparation of a full-scale history of ringing in the county-there is an abundant wealth of material available.

We had a comprehensive selection "of students, including many beginners: they came mainly from Yorkshire towers hut enthusiasts came also from the Home Counties: a blind ringer evoked much praise for his skill in handbell ringing and in operating the tape recorder.

THE LECTURERS

In the spacious library of the Hall. Harold Chant arranged a fascinating collection of old and rare ringing books and manuscripts. In dealing with the history and practice of six bell ringing he covered a wide range of study and compressed a great amount of material into his admirable lectures.

With his customary skill and enthusiasm Norman Chaddock. using many ingenious visual aids and useful hand-outs, dealt with many matters: he has the rare ability of being able to teach others how to teach. Wilfrid Moreton came along and taught those who would venture into the field of handbell ringing: his contribution to the success of the course was invaluable. From Lincoln John Freeman brought the greetings of the Central Council. and taught the art of conducting.
Saturday morning and evening were given up to lectures and handbell ringing. Saturday afternoon was devoted to practical sessions at Ripon Cathedral and at the nearby church of Saint Andrew. Kirkby Malzeard, which has a grand-toned heavy six. A feature of the ringing at Ripon was a touch of Stedman Triples with the calls made almost simultaneously by seven potential conductors.

The ten bells of Ripon Cathedral were heard in their full beauty when they were lowered in peal almost perfectly.

The standard of catering at Grantley Hall is excellent and the assistance given to us by all members of the resident staff added considerably to the success of the course.

On Saturday evening the tape recorder was used until a very late hour. Particularly "interesting was a tape recording of a six hell ringing contest in which competing bands varied in their use of open and closed leads : needless to write. the question of which is the more desirable was not finally settled when the company adjourned.
We were joined hy our Gilbert and Sullivan collcagues for a short service, which included handbell course of Grandsire Citters on Sunday morning.

In attempting to assess the value of the course it can truthfully be stated that cueryone attending went away better equipped to ring and to teach others than when he or she arrived at the delightful College of Grantley Hall and that the joys of good fellowship were always in evidence. E. H.

MALMESBURY'S SIX TOWERS

What a wonderful year this has been for outings by Malmesbury ringers, no fewer than six having been enjoyed
The first, a car journey to Appleton for the 4th of March celebrations. whilst the snow was still on the ground. In April a trip was arranged to the All England Rally at Coventry Cathedral when the writer was fortunate to ring at the following towers:-Tysoc. Butlers Marsden. Harbury. Berkswell, Kenilworth Warwick and Stratford-on-Avon. Good bells and pleasant company were found on this day's outing.
During May an outing took place to Wednesbury St. Bartholomew ( 10 bells). where we were met by Rev. J. Blacker, son of Mr. H. Blacker, who is assisting at this church On the way Kemsey bells were enjoyed and Halsowen's good bells were found rather difficult to handle. no doubt due to the inexperience of the younger members of the party Wednesbury St. Paul was next visited. then to Selly Oak where Stedman Triples and Grandsire was enioyed. Here we had to say goodbye to a farmer Malmesbury ringer, Mr. R. Terry of Church Eaton.
The next outing took place in July to Somerset and Devon with ringing at Stoke-underHam and Ottery St. Mary. where the bells are first-class. Seaton. followed after a near miss with the coach in the narrow Devon lanes. then to Wanstrow's light six for a ring on the way home.
In Sedtember with friends from Warminster a Saturday afternoon trip into Oxfordshire was enjoyed. Ringing at Great Tew, Hook Norton, Banbury and the light ring at Home Farm, Balcoste. was really an enjoyable outing.
The October outing covered Salisbury and Southampton. with ringing at Wilton. and St Paul's, Salisbury, before getting to Romsey where the Abbey bells were rung in touches of Stedman and Bob Minor. St. Michael's. Southampton, was the next tower: these bells are heard very clearly. and a cup for striking was noticed in this tower. St. Thomas*. Salisbury, provided the last ring of the day.

The writer would like to express his thanks to Mr. H. G. Blanchard for making these outings so successful: also to Mr. J. Billings for driving his car on the Appleton. Coventry and Oxfordshire trips.

THIS IS ALL

Three hours of ringing and without a trip A peal of Grandsire well within their grin Outside as pigeons neath the coping lodge. Inside each ringer watches for his dodge. Above all
Like many methods in the Exercise
This one demands a tenor's drumming crics:
As rhythm heating rounds the melody,
Advantage is it for this chap to be Strong and tall.
To mark endeavour whilst his skill enhance,
Catch as catch can. eight sallies choose to dance:
About falls each his puppet on a string.
While uo above his bell in circle swing.
High: then call.
A feeling which in turn each member sense
The final call is but a few leads hence
To keep the changes all true as a die,
Where others would not: pealers always try Stand or fall.
All what this complicated art implies. Determination of the will defies Hut once decided there are bells misplaced. In carnest the conductor, and in haste, Stand! would call.
It little profits ringers not to ring
In their career a peal of anything
Hope springs eternal as this call is passed
For each one knows it is the welcomed last To install.
Which stood for pleasure, stood as well for gain.
Reward
Reward is reached now that the course is plain;
Queens, tittums, tintinnabulating sounds
Resolving changes back to final rounds.
This is all.

100 Years' Service

by Claverley

Veterans

A peal of Yorkstire Surprise Major was rung at Claverley, Shropshire, on November 30th 10 commemorate the completion of 50 years' ringing service at the Church of All Saints by two of the bestknown ringing personalities in the county.
Ernest Drew and Joe Marsh both started ringing in 1913 and their attendance at Sunday service ringing since has been impeccable.
In September a dinner was given in recognition of the valuable service that they have contributed both o ringing and as members of the choir. A presentation was made in the form of silver tankards suitabiv inscribed
Those ringers who know the hospitality of Claverley will agree with the pl:rase of a ver:' well-known Tenor King,' ' What a community! ! and it was with a band of ringers who have in the past known itich hospitality that the peal was arranged. A. V. P

Letters to the Editor  Tenors Together  Dear Sir,-I was interested in Mr. C. W. Woolley's explanations. I note that he does  First Ringing for President Kennedy's Death

not intend to write again on this subject so 1 will try to be as fair as possible to avoid being accused of taking unfair advantage. For this reason I will confine my remarks to his statements about parting the tenors which, if I may be allowed to say so, were far from clear from the context.
Of course, "tenors become parted within the lead during some part of the plain course, but with a regular method this is not recognised as being a deviation from the coursing order as, no matter how widely separated they may have been within the lead, they are always 'together" at the lead-ends (and leadheads).
This simplifies correction during ringing and makes 'checking' to a conductor who knows his onions. as, for instance. Mr. Woolley undoubtedly does, a comparatively simple matter
With an 'irregular' method this system of correcting and checking falls completely to pieces.

Why this is so may be seen from examination of the two following sets of figures which are the plain course lead-heads and lead-ends of a regular and an irregular method.

| Regular | Irregular |
| :---: | :---: |
| 23456 | 23456 |
| 24365 | 25634 |
| 42635 | 52364 |
| 46253 | 56423 |
| 64253 | 65243 |
| 65432 | 64352 |
| 56342 | 46532 |
| 53624 | 43265 |
| 35264 | 34625 |
| 32546 | 32546 |
| 23456 | 23456 |

It will be seen that in the irregular method the tenors do in fact fall 'into the position occupied by $3-4$ in the (plain) course.' and that without a call being made! There is no guarantee that having started the plain course with the tenors together they will be still coursing even at the end of the first lead. There is. apparently. no means of checking whether a shift' has heen made until the course-end comes un again. The incidence of the tenors drawing together as they do at the end of the 2 nd and 4 th leads varies from one irregular method to another.

There are. of course, various guides and signposts, but in order to keep track good Minor conductors would "see" the complete hlocks of rows as a pattern as the leads unfolded.

Mr. Woolley mentioned Dan Smith and has probahly seen him at work. There was $11 n$ question when Dan was at his best of Who's on the front?' or Who's doing a 6-5-6?' elc. 万ut a complete list of instructions as necessary to all and sundry was given with authority. It wasn't a question of waiting to check up: ringers just weren't allowed to go wrong. Whether the method was irregular made not one jot of difference.

Incidentally. Dan usuallv employed the standard thren-nart if the 720's were different methods but had a gondly slock of other mallinge un his slecve in either Plain or Trebic Boh.-Yours, ctc.
H. CHANT.

Ryhill. Wakefield.

Dear Sir,-The quarter peal rung at Warnford and mentioned in Belfry Gossip, p. 816, was not the first touch to be rung for the death of President Kennedy.
We had met in the Gelfry at Arundel for the usual practice and were just about to start ringing when one of the churchwardens came up and told us that he had just heard the news of the President's death given out by the B.B.C. After a short discussion we decided to suspend the practice, we put the mulles on and rang the bells half-muffled for half-an-hour, starting at 8 o'clock.-Yours faithfully, R. WAKE.
Sidlesham, Chichester.
Dear Sir.-On occasions such as the death of President J. F. Kennedy, and how quickly we pay our tributes, much depends upon such factors as a tower's practice night, and or the the number of ringers with telephones and cars. However Stotfold. Beds. should be considered if early starts are the topic.

The news was broken to me when I arrived. the bells were then half-mulled. As only six were present it was decided to attempt a quarter, and the bells were in changes before 8 o clock.-Yours sincerely.

Adelaide's Town Hall Bells

Dear Sir,-l would like to congratulate Mr . Ronald K. Russ on his fine article about the bells of Adelaide (R.W.. P. 826). He may be interested to know that the novel fitting on the sixth at the Town Hall there is in fact. far from unique. The device he describes is known technically. I believe. as a horizontal stay and vertical slider. All the bells at Mentmore. Bucks. and Si. Michael's. Winchester, Hants, possess these fittings-though both are 17 th century rings and is a poor state of repair. At Adelaide, Warners seem simply to have borrowed an old bellhangers' technique to suit a tight situation.-Yours faithfully.

Wessex Scholars' Society

Dear Sir,-I would have thought that the officers of the newly-founded 'Society of Wessex Scholars could at least have the good manners to arrange their meetings on a day when their own district of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild is not holding a meeting.
Furthermore, I should be interested to find out the real reason for the founding of this Society. for at the moment I can see nothing in its aims which could not be done by the existing Diocesan Guild, probably reflecting greater credit on the Exercise. Surely nobody is naive enough to think that the payment of ten shillings and being dragged through a peal qualifies one as a teacher, any more than having called a peal of Bob Major makes one a good secretary. The gift of being able to teach is not necessarily coupled with the possession of knowledge. and the fruits of bad teaching can he seen in belfries all over the country
The founding of a new Society merely complicates the issuc and hinders the work being done by the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. hesides being blatantly insulting to that Society. -Yours faithfully.

DAVID E. HOUSE.

Yorkshire Tail Ends Condemned

Dear Sir.-May I raise a very strong objection to the opinions about Yorkshire tailends made by 'R.L.' He is, of course. entitled to his opinions, and if he and his band choose Yorkshire ends in their tower, that is entirely their business. But if any other band in the country is thinking of trying them. my advice is a very definite 'DON'T.'
R.L.: gives two points in favour of these ends: easier handling and to be different from nearby towers. The first of these points is, I am certain, not true. When the two sallies are new and thick many people find it difficult to get a proper grip at handstroke. that is with all the fingers round the main sally. A common result is that the handstroke is rung with one hand. the other making a negligible contribution to the work at that time. Further. however exactly the rope is adjusted, whether by knots or boxes, it is nothing like so casy to alter for quicker or slower blows as the more usual end. Again. on a heavyish bell it is extremely likely that one will have to move off the tail-end sally on to the single rope when, apart from the discomfort and poor grip. the tail-end tends to swing about.

There is moreover a tendency for the rope to twist when it is only single below the main sally, a tendency I have not noticed when the rope is doubled back for a few feet. And what almost invariably happens in a tower where there are Yorkshire ends is an undignified single bell practice before each touch. I'm all for adjusting tail-ends or using boxes if it is necessary, but right against this pretouch length testing which seems (and mostly is) necessary with these abominable ends.Yours sincerely. ## Methods or Variations

Dear Sir,-I was most interested to read John Cook's letter. It is, I feel, a good thing for people to write letters merely to prompt others to air their views, for, whe knows, a useful idea may appear at some time.

First of all I must point out Jack's obvious error in auoting ' Belgrave as Yorkshire without 2 nd;' $:$ it is, of course, 1 st in place of penultimate at the half-lead. Yorkshire with2nds (at leadhead-end) is Woodstock.

Secondly, the question of variations. My own view is that a method is something having a unique (hunt-controlled) plain course. To group things together into families and call them variations of a methor has many nitfalis. An example of this will suffice to illustrate my point: Kent Treble Bob Minor is quite easy to ring, Oxford is rather more difficult: they have the same structure excent for the $1-2$ section. Distinct methods or variations on an idea? One can carry this further: Ring Oxford Treble Bob until the treble lies hehind, instead of 1sts have 5ths: result. Saindal Trehle Bob-exactly the same changes. only five transits different in each course-yat it's a different method-everybody savs so. Yet Kent and Oxford are 30 transits different and few changes alike in each course

Depending on how you ring-be it hy hlucline, place notation or black magic. you have different ideas of what is a mithod and what is a variation. I should like to hear other people's views on this.

Ancient Bells of the Norfolk Clackclose Hundred

By TREVOR A. BEYIS
'1'HE Clackclose Hundred consists of a small portion of Norfolk and forms the west boundary of that county. Its area is similarly shaped as a diamond, the upper point terminating at Wormegay, near King's Lynn, in width extending from Upwell. near Wisbech, to Sioke Ferry, and the lower point resting on the Fenland village of Southery. Downham Market is the principal town

With the area outlined are 40 parishes and almost as many churches, a few of which are. unfortunately, in ruins. The Clackclose Hundred. so called from Saxon times. is one of about 14 such areas in Norfolk known as "Hundred, and it contains a varied and interesting assortment of ancient bells. some undated. some without inscription. some suspended within church towers and a few hanging from bell turrets. Many are still in use, a few unused. and some have unaccountably disappeared.
The area has been generously patronised by a number of old-time bell founders and long ago had its own foundry business at Downham Market under the name of Osborn and Dobson. This particular enterprise nuturally experienced a brisk trade, notably in the Fens and West Norfolk, between the years 1785 and 1827

Imported bells were received by Clackclose churches over a lengthy period of years from the foundries of the following craftsmen: John Draper. Christopher Gray. John Stevens. Joseph Eayre, Pack and Chapman. C. and G: Mears. Edward Arnold. Charles Newman. Joseph Mallows. Thomas Norris. John Saunders, John Darhie and Thomas Newman.

The following is a compilation of the churches of Clackclose Hundred possessing or having possessed hells of ancient origin :

OBITUARY

REV. T. N. GUNNER

The death on December 4 th of the Rev T. N. Gunner. until two years ago Vicar of Woburn. is deeply regretted by Bedfordshire ringers. During his 15 years at Woburn he proved himself not only a good priest but a friend of ringers. He loved bells, and Woburn were about the only balls that rang on Easter Eve. This was his wish and ringers used to come from far and wide to ring them

The funeral took place at Arundel on December 9th and on the following Wednesday a Requiem was held at Woburn Parish Church at which a large number of people were present. This was followed by a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells halfmuffled.

MR. PERCIVAL. WOODS

A member of the Debenham Company for many years. Mr. Percival Woods died on November 1ith. aged 80 . He was a regular service ringer over the years and a first-rate striker, usually ringing the third. "Cil." as he was locally known. was the last of the fine Debenham band that rang at the beginning of the century-the Grimes. Grooms. Rumseys, etc. He had rung 27 peals for the Norwich Diocesan Association and nine for the SufTolk Guild. A carpenter and wheelwright by trade. he served with the R.A.S.C. during World War I.

St. Dunstan's, Canterbury, ringers were recently given the job of entertaining the other members of the church for an evening. They did this by giving a talk on the history of the bells and change ringing, lapping and tune ringing on handbells. There was also a Ringer's ABC by B.J.L., which greatly amused the ringers present, and which we hope to publish shortly.

Congratulations to Mr. Trevor A. Cross on ringing his 400 th peal. This took place at Westerham on December 14th.

It was friends from Burmarsh and not Burwash that Lympne ringers desired to express their thanks ta in a Belfry Gossip paragraph on page 832 .

Mr. A. Bishop, of 12, Worple Avenue, London, S.W.19, asks for the notation of Tankerley Delight, Darton Victory and Walsh's Victory Treble Bob.
The choir and organist of St. Leonard's Hythe, Colchester, added much to the enjoyment of a carol service at a meeting of the Eastern District of the Ladies' Guild, recently held at Grundisburgh.

St. Albans continues to be in the news. This week we received a postcard posted at St. Albans containing the report of a quarter peal rung on December 8th. Will the unknown writer please let the Editor know where this performance took place.

After a stuccessful quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Wittersham on December 10th. the ringers were refreshed with coffee and biscuits in the belfry. All concerned would like to thank Miss Anne Funge-Smith for this very kind thought. Also thanks to Lloyd Sweatman for standing in at very short notice.

According to 'Belfry News,' the ringers at Derby Cathedral propose to redecorate their drab belfry. The walls will be painted white emulsion at the top and pale blue gloss below. Two large modern lights are being supplied, the cost being met from 'the box,' which receives a steady supply of contributions from ringers who fail to set their bell at the call of 'Stand.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

 thanks to pressing his appreciation and A. M. Rolfe (Whipstead) for their efforts in trying to teach him to ring. "I have just rung my first quarter,' he concludes. 'I wonder who was the prouder-my tutors or myself." He also thanks Mr. L. Wright, chairman N.W. District. Suffolk Guild, for the wonderful outings he organised.The quarter peal rung at Hewington. Somerset. and reported in our issue of November 29th, was not the first on the restored ring. one having be completed earlier in the summer.

Mr. E. M. Atkins, the general secretary of the Devon Guild, is now convalescing at home. He is very grateful for prayers, visits and letters during his seven weeks stay in hospital.

The Bor Dearvud expresses his many thanks to Alan B. Andrews for standing out and offering him his rope at Gt. Holland thus after 37 years, ringing another peal for the Essex Association.
Four Corbys took part in a quarter peal at Sevenoaks on December 15th. Judith, together with Anne Raincy, rang their first quarter; Andrew calling it-his first quarter as conductor. Father and mother also took part.

This issue is the last of 1963. The telltale of peal performances will, as usual, be published as soon as data is available. Will those who rang 25 peals or over send totals of peals rung on tower- and handbells, and the number conducted of each in brackets.
After 15 weeks in the Royal Free Hospital Mr. A. A. Hughes is now back home. Bodily he is feeling first rate, but he has a long way to go before he can use his leg with comfort, as he underwent a major operation. A long course of physiotherapy is ahead of him.

This is the last number of 1963 . Do you realise that for $\pm 18 \mathrm{~s}$. you can have a second copy posted to you during 1964, making only $£ 3 \mathrm{3s}$. for the two copies, including postage? Why not one for the tower? Send remittance at once to J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall.

Two years ago a disastrous fire took place at Chesterfield Parish Chirch. In an issue of The Venture. the church's magazine. Mr. Sum Scattergood gives an eye-witness account and tells the enic story of a great achieveand tells the epic story of a greal achievement. The discovery of the fire was at 9.30 a.m. on the Friday. The steel frame was too hot to tuuch and grease from the bearings lang out like oil: the ropes were charred and the table and chairs in the ringing room had fallen through a gaping six-foot hole. And yet by Sunday morning those bells rang as usual. with new ropes from I.ondon. $\wedge$ wonderful performance.

[^2]:    50 YEARS AGO
    R.W. March 2lat, 1913.

    Mr. George $\mathbf{N}$. Price, of Watford, has just contpleted a unique performance by calling different peal of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinferent peal of Stedman Triples, Caters and it me first to accomplish this feat, and in Deation he has conducted Carter's Odd-Bob of Triples from each pair. The composiof Stedman Triples qailed from $1-2$ and -6 had not been previously rung on handat the furning courses at the end, thus enhancing the difficulty of the performance. and had it not heen for two of the peals of and had it not heen for two of the peals of ?iters (those called from $1-2$ and $9-10$ ) Tving the same coming round all would have and homing courses toth in Caters and Cinques.

[^3]:    - First peal on elight bells.

    Rung in memoriam. Henry Hubball, a ringer at this church for over 55 years, who was interred in Netherton churchyard the Saturday previous: also Ernest Sitch, of Wolverhampton and South Wales, who fin on March 10th. Both were members of the Guild for many years.

    Some of A. G.s are both enlightening and edifying: not all are complimentary. I wonder what a famous conductor would have said to the opinion: "Not very good ringing for Treble Bob'? One could write a series of articles on this notebook alone, but I cannot leave it without glancing once again at the footnote he added to the first peal of Major rung on the augmented bells of his home tower:-
    ' I am including this peal in my list of treasures.' And then the poignant addition : 'Should have liked to stand in.'
    I remember he was unable to ring hecause of an accident at work: 1 know because 1 padg in his place. As $!$ said at the beginning: I recently acyuired a load of junk.
