RECRUITS

Professor Dodge Discusses the Problem

ICALLED once more on the Professor, and found him immersed, as usual, in his tables and figures. He pushed the ones he was studying among the piles of papers that littered his desk: such is his filing system. We discussed various subjects and he asked me: 'How are you progressing with your recruits?'
'Slowly,' I said. 'It is difficult starting from scratch.'
'You've done it before.'
'Yes, but I had more time and patience 30 years ago!'
' And less competition.'
He rummaged about on his desk and eventually produced a typewritten sheet:

RECRUITS

Reasons for loss of above:
1 Lack of Interest,
2 Lack of Application,
3 Lack of Progress,
4 Schooling (homework and night school),
5 Courting,
6 Marriage,
7 Illness.
8 Death,
9 Leaving District,
10 Television (and similar useless pastimes),
11 Youth Clubs (which include Boy Scouts and Girl Guides),
12 Church Activities (e.g., choir, servers, G.F.S.), 13 Sport (a watching, b participating).

- A pretty formidable list,' I commented, 'and then, I imagine, not fully comprehensive. It is surprising that we manage to produce any ringers at all.'
- Yes, the wastage is shocking.'
' It is no good.' I countered, 'producing a list like that unless you are prepared to make some constructive suggestion. What can one do to overcome the wastage, and combat the counterattractions?'
'There have been, and still are, some great minds at work on the problem; although none, of course, so great as mine!' he added modestly.
'It must be recognised,' he continued, 'that a certain amount of wastage is inevitable, although I fecl sure it could be reduced. Most ringers now realise that to wait until the old hands begin to disappear is courting disaster. Preparations should be made beforehand by ensuring that the belfry is liberally supplied with recruits. The selfsame activities which deplete their numbers can sometimes be turned to our advantage, and choirboys whose voices have broken, members of the G.F.S., Boy Scouts and Girl Guides encouraged, especially if, as happens in many cases, the captain or leader is a member of the church.'
'All this,' I remarked dryly, 'is not exactly unknown!'
- No, but ringers, need reminding occasionally that they owe a debt to posterity.'
- Factors such as courting. marriage, illness and death must, I suppose,' he said scanning bis list, 'be regarded as inevitable, but the first two are mixed blessings as I dare say they have done as much to bring recruits into the belfry as to take 'em out. It seems a pretty drastic process though, whichever way you look at it!' (Mr. Dodge is, ofcourse, a bachelor.)
' Which of the items on your list do you consider most damaging?'

Lack of progress,' declaimed the Professor. 'Give me a recruit who is constantly moving forward and I can almost guarantec to keep him-or her. To this end recruits should be encouraged to attend district meetings and visit other towers, and to join in other ringers' practices.?
'That's all very well,' I pointed out, 'seeing that when they reach the stage when they can participate in such things most of their (and your) teething troubles are over. It is those belfries where there is a complete vacuum that worries me; where perhaps there is no instructor and cither the bells are silent or there are but one or two ringers who pull the bells about on Sundays, and sometimes on weckdays too, without any knowledge of ringing whatsoever.

He nodded.

'Yes, that's the real problem. Fortunately many Societies are giving the matter some thought and various suggestions have been put forward as to what to do in such cases. There has been some suggestion that Societies should provide instructors who can be sent to various silent or semi-silent towers in their areas.'
' That seems a good idea.'
' It is better than nothing, but it seems to me that the best results could be obtained by tackling the problem locally, by adjacent individual towers or ringers. Each tower where there is a reasonably good band of ringers must look outwards towards less fortunate towers. If the tower is silent the Vicar should be approached, a team recruited if possible, instruction offered and practices arranged. If there is the nucleus of a team the captain should be consulted and a pow-wow held. I think that more can be achieved by pushing the boundaries of learning outwards than by pouncing on isolated black spots, although any method which offers the slightest chance of success must be tried.'
'It must not be forgotten,' he said, 'that the progress of a learner is dependent on the equation:

Where $\mathrm{P}=$ Progress.

\sqrt[3]{\frac{\mathrm{N}^{10}(\mathrm{i})^{3} \sqrt{T}}{\mathrm{I} \mathrm{~B}^{12}}}

$\mathrm{N}=$ Number of Qualified Ringers in attendance.
$\mathrm{i}=$ Intelligence of Pupil.
$\mathrm{I}=$ Intelligence of Instructor(s).
$\mathrm{T}=$ Time (in hours) available per week for practice.
$\mathrm{B}=$ Condition of Bells (see Dodge's Table No. 34).
$\mathrm{F}=$ Factor of Provincial Relativity (see Dodge's Table
No. 101).

- The learner's speed of Progress will therefore depend to a great extent upon the number of Qualified Ringers with whom he is constantly in contact.'
'I will remember that,' I said.
I forgot to ask hum what he meant by a 'Qualified Ringer.'

PENN RINGERS HONOUR THEIR CAPTAIN

Some 44 ringers and friends attended a presentation dinner to honour Mr. E. G. (Ted) Bowyer's 50 years' ringing service ( 19 /3-1\%3).

The dinner and presentation was organised under the chairmanship of the vice-captain, Mr. John A. Roden, who, after the loyal toast, paid tribute to his captain for his untiring and unselfish work in the belfry, and said that had it not been for Ted's devotion the belfiry would not be in the fealthy state it is at present.
Before the presentation of a silver tankard, Mr. C. Griffiths related some memorable and jovial occasions which happened during his 35 years' association with the captain.
Miss E. Twentymen presented the tankard and paid tribute to Mr. Bowyer and his singers, and recalled the many happy times the whole of her family had with them.
In his reply after the presentation, Ted said what a surprise it whis and thanked all those connected with the organising of the dinner and choosing such a lovely gift. Ringing, he reminded the company, was very much a team effort and comradeship and should be done for pleasure and devotion to duty. A team should have a leader and this he had tried to be, but this could not be achieved without the loyal suppont of the other members.

The caption had a further surprise. Mr. C. Griffiths and Mrs. C. Eyre presented bim with eight woollen mats fo? the ringing chamber, which had been given by the respective ladies and their husbands to commemorate their 25 years of happy marriage. These mats were designed by Mr. H. Howoll (a member of St. Bartholomew's) and made by the respective families.
Other ringing friends, Messys. F. C. Bennett, E. Drew, A. Pearson and H. Griffiths, paid tribute to Ted's cordial welcome to tower visifors, and his inspiration which instilled into his ringers the necessity for derotion to duty, regular worship and a good standard of ringing.
The Vicar (the Rev, A. R. Gaskell) concluded the evening by an appropriate seference to the captain's work and thanked the ringers for their loyal service.
The ringing mats were dedicatod at Evensong on Aprit 7 th, when again the Vicar paid tribute to the captain and his ringers.

MISS SANDRA E. CHESTERTON, Leicester Diocesan Guild.

The Leicester Guild has for many years been one of the leading Guilds in the Exercise, and is continually growing. This is largely due to the recruitment of and good training given to youngsters, many of whom have already reached the heights. Heading for the heights today is Sandra E. Chesterton.

BELLS, BELLS-and more BELLS !

That was the impression gained tiy the bellringers and their friends, from St. Mary's, Westham, Sussex, on April 6th. when a visit was paid to the bell foundry of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. at Whitechapel. The party was welcomed by Mr. Hughes, who took them on a tour of the foundry.
Among many objects of interest seen was a ring of bells ready for shipment to Amorica, to be hung in the Cathedral at Washington, and another ring for South Africa. A great number of handbells were also on view, in all stages of making.
Leaving the foundry, the party made their way to St. Dunstan's. Stepney, and spent some time ringing, and also looking at the many interesting features in the church, one of which was the completo church registers from the year 1568. The burials from 1644-1666 included the names of 6.533 prople who died in the plague. Afterwards at West Ham some members joined the ringers of the Essex Association in Grandsire Caters. Pkain Bob Royal and rounds.
The return journey was made by way of the Woolwich Ferry into Kent, calling at Penshurst Church at $7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. for the list ring with the Kent Associaion.
We wish to convey our thanks to our hosts during the day, also warm thanks to D. Roy Fuller for arranging the day's programme and acting as guide and driver. V.J.M.

YOUNGSTERS-No. 7

Sandra was born on March $15 \mathrm{th}, 1945$, at the Fosse Nursing Home in Leicester. Sbe was educated at Sir Jonathan North Secondary School for Girls, attended the Leicester College of Art and Technology in the School of Commerce for a year, and is now working as a shorthand typist for a whokesale electrical firm in Leicester.

Sandra started to ring at the age of 13, at St. Andrew's Church. Aylestone. under the watchful eye of Mr. Russell S. Morris, and it was not long before she became a member of the regular Sunday service band.

A year later, at the age of 14, Sandra rang her first peal. This took place at Claybrooke, Leks. on December 24th. 1959, when she rang the treble to Yorkshire Surprise Major, conducted by Brian G. Wamwick. A large amount of credit for such rapid progress by this brilliant young ringer is surely due to her tutor and the high standard of ringing maintained throughout the Guild.
Sandra now has some 35 peals to her credit including Plain Bob Minor, London Surprise Major, Plain Bob Royal.' Lincolnshire Surprise Royal, Grandsire Caters and the treble to Durham Surprise Maximus at Leicester Cathedral.
For the past two years Sundra has been exploring the ficld of conducting. and conducted her first, which was Plain Bob Minoi ut Aylestone. for her 16th birthday. The composition was one of Mr. Ernest Morris', who look part in the peal. Her ambition is to conduct a peal of Surprise Major.
On January 12 th this year Sandra was appointed secretary of the Midland District of the Lidies' Guild. A noteworthy performance by an up and coming youngster.'

FIRE TRAGEDY AT EASTWOOD

'The Belity News,' the newspaper of the Derbyshire bellringers, devotes its front page story to the disastrous fire at St . Mary's Church, Eastwood, Derbys (see page 171).
Complimenting the firemen for saving the church from being completely destroyed, the report states that the damage was most severe at the east end, where the organ was completely destroyed. but the east window survived the inferno.

The firemen are also to be complimented on their courage in fighting the fire near the tower; an altempt to get in via the clocisface was unsucacesfful. so with breathing apparatus and floodilghts they went in through the church door and fought the blaze from the inside.

As slates and masonry were falling most of the time this was not one of the easiest of jots to do, but the attempt was successful in preventing extensive damage to the tower.

The ftoor of the hellringing chamber and the clock floor have been badly damaged.' and will need replacing. The panelling round the ringing chamber has been complately consumed by the fire, as has also the door and small wooden window frame.
The present church, which was completed in 1852. is well insured, but it will be some little time before it is opened for worship and its bells ringing again.
Two young boys have boen found guilty of cuusing the fire and seht to an approved school. In the meantime work is going on in stripping the roof of its burned timber prior to rebuilding the side walls. It has been suggested that complete rebuilding of the hody of the ctiurch masy be requires.

HERTS RINGERS GIVE SERVICE TOUCH AT KENT ANNUAL

1. PERSONAL tribute was paid to the Say), when he attended the 83 rd annual meet ing of the Kent County Association on Easter Monday at Tonbridge Parish Church. Ringers from his former church, Hatfield. rang the service touch, to be listened to by the 200 ringers present. This new idea of a personal link with the principal visitor is to be followed, when possible, at future annual meetings, announced the chairman. Mr. J Willis.
Ringers and their families filled the nave for the Easter service, conducted by Canon Mr. Willis. Bewes. The desson was read by It was the Easter theme the Bishop took was the message the apostles took wherever they went, and wherever they founded church. And it is rather hard for us to believe that the Resurnection was the basis of the beliof on which our church is founded.

- The first day of the Christian calendar is nor Christmas or Good Friday, but Easter Day, so every Sunday is a little Easter, a miniature observance of the Resurreotion, and miniature observance of the Resurreotion, and all through the centuries where men have buik churches to the glory of God they have done so to proclaim His Resurrection and to provide a meeting place for those who are witnesses of that truth.'
It was the faith in
It was the faith in the Resurrection that gave to them all, however frustrating it peint be at times, a new ine and a new perspective because they knew that death was no: the end, and good would triumph over evil, and their lives would pass from crucifixion to resurrection. Therefore let their bells continue to fing and proclaim to all the world that Jesus Christ was risen. Alleluia

HUMBLING A MAN

Welcoming the guests at the lunchean, the chairman, in a reference to the Bishop of Rochester, said he had no doubt as time went on the Bishop would have a lot to tell the people in his diocese, especially the ringers, about their shortcomings: He was told by the Bishop that he had never attempted to ring a bell, and Mr. Willis added that he ring a bell, and Mr. Willis added that he in hls make up. Nothing rendered a man more humble and understanding than in trying to do something of which he knew nothing oi. very little. That would also be a good thing for many of the clergy. He hoped the Bishop would tell the clergy that the bells and ringers were part of the Church
Mr. Willis also welcomed Mr. C. L. Watts ${ }_{\text {( }}^{\text {C }}$, Bewes an Tonbridge U.D.C.). Canon T. F. and Bazant (churchwardens), Mr. T. W. White. Mr. T. J. Lock (secretary of the Middlesex Association). Mrs. Lock (vioc-president and former president of the Lindies' Guild) and Rev. P. Lee (Vicar of Scal).
The Bishop congratulated the Association on the success of the meeting. When he was Vicar of Hatficld he went into the belfry with a certain amount of risk because they had certain discipline there, and the clergy were only let in on sufferance. When he was stepped in.

The chairman of Tombridge U.D.C. spoke of the pleasure it gave her in attending the Association's service. She was certain that something would be missing from their lives ir they did not hear the bells-it was a most frightening thought to think that they would not ring.
The annual moeting followed, at which Mr. John Willis presided, supported by Mr. P. A. Corby (honorary secretary) and Mr. B. W. May (honoraty treasurer).

LOSSES BY DEATH

The annual report, presented by the honorary secretary, gave the following losses by death nldich were specially rememhered at the service These were: Praclising members: A. Hewitt (Frindsbury), H. Hundley (Chiddingstone), V.

Lincoln (Aylesford), W. J. Lancetield (Willes borough), T. Warner (Mereworth). A. Wenban (Seal Chart), H. S. Wickens (Ashford); nonresident life members: R. F. Deal (East Ham), W Welling (Old Windsor), C. Walshire
(Canada. formerly Birchington and Sitting bourne). J. M. Bailey (Leiston), E. Morris (Leicester), W. C. Hort (Brighton), T. A Blow (Croydon). R. W. Stannard (London), F. W. Burnett (Portsmouth), H. E. C. Goodenough (St. Albans), W. H. B. Wilkins (Oxford).
The report gave the membership of the different Districts as follows: Ashford, 225 resident, 31 honorary; Canterbury, 330,44 ; Lewisham, 205, 5 ; Maidstone, 199 ; Rochester, 262. 15; Tonbridge. 151 . This gave a total 262. 15; Tonbridge, 151. This gave a total honorary. Towers in union were 168 , and out of union 47. Fifteen new non-resident life members had been elected.

RESTORATION WORK

Ringing had resumed at St. Margaret's, Rochester, after a lapse of many years. It was hoped that restoration of the frame would be possible at some future date. A first class rehanging job had been completed by Taylors ai Sundhurst; the bells had been retuned and a new fifth added in place of the mediaval bell, which was cracked and now rested on the church floor.
There was hope of bell work at Mersham, Pluckley and new ring at Smeeth. A new frame for the eight at Sevenoaks was contemplated at some future date. It was also hoped that ringing at Upchurch, stopped some three years ago, could be restarted before long A restoration fund had been started at Ash-by-Wrotham.
Advice had been received from Mr. F Sharpe, regarding sound control at Kilndown. The report concluded: Our main purpose is is see, as far as we are able, that the church bells of this beloved county of Kent and that part of London formerly in Kent are rung regularly, Sunday by Sunday, in the good old English style. There are still many towers not in union with the Association and, alas, all too many in union where we have fewer members than the number of bells. Let us endeavour to remedy these deficiencies and at the same time strive by the competence of our change ringing performances to keep this great Association in its well deserved place, as one of the leading ringing societies

THE ACCOUNTS

The income and expenditure account shomed a balance carried forward of $£ 167$, against $£ 142$ brought formand The principal item ander payments was $i 109$ for printing the annual reports. The balance of the Benevolent Fund had risen from $£ 230$ to $£ 236$. and the Belfry Repiir Fund balance was $£ 306$. against $£ 270$. Moving the adoption of the roport, Mr. B. W. May said 100 more members paid their subscriptions this year, compared with last year. and of those 54 were juniors.
Mr. A. S. Richards, the honorary auditor, reported that the accounts seemed very satislactory; every acccount had an increased balance.

MORE PEALS

Mr. Ian H. Oram, as peal secretary, reported thit 169 peals had been rung by the Association in 1962, six more than last year St John's, Erith, headed the list of lowers with is peals. There were five handbely peals Twenty-three members were congratulated on ringing their first peals.

There wore 35 conductors, one more than last year, and four of these were conducting their first peal. Bernard F. L. Groves headed the list of conductors with 51 , followed by the peal secretary with 23, Philip A Corby 16, George J. Butcher and Crawtord T. Hillis 10 each.

First performances were St. Clement's College Bob Caters, Hinton and Lincoln Surprise Major, Splised Surprise Major in 14 and 15 methods, and Surprise Minor peals in 31. 34 and 41 methods. The $4 t$ method peal comprisud 8,640 changes and was rung at East Sutton; it was the langest length by all the band. The peal at Minster-in-Thanet was the first on the bells.

Moving the adoption of the report, Mr Oram said that for the first time a complete selection of new compositions, which he hoped would be very useful to conductors, had been published.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Proposing the re-election of Mr. P. A. Corby as honorary secretary, the chairman said: I want to tell you from the inside how very pleased we are at the way he has tackled this somewhat difficult job. The amount of work he thas put in is enormous. Seconding, Mr Geo. E. Spice added: "He absolutely tops the bill: Carried.

Qther officers elected, with thanks for their past services, were: Mr. Ian H. Oram, peal secretary; Mr. B. W. May, honorary treasurer: Mr. A. S. Richards, honorary auditor. A ballot for Central Council representatives resulted in the election of Messrs. Ian H Oram 98 votes, Mr. P. A. Corby 94 , Mr. T.
Cullingworth 92 and Mr. J. R. Cooper 91 . Cullingworth 92 and Mr. J. R. Coop
Mr . Trevor M . Cross was unsuccessful.

The annual dinner of the Association was fixed for September 28 th at the National Maritime Muserum, Greenwich.

REVISION OF RULES

This subject was introduced by the honorary secretary, who said about two years ago a proposal was made to increase the annual subsoription, and to introduce a peal booking fee. When that was brought to the General Committee in November, 1961 , the chought Wis expressed that there was little point in trying to increase income unless they had a reasonably olear idea of how much was wanted and what they were going to do with it when they got it. A finance sub-committee was appointed to investigate, and they met five or six times. It beoame clear that there was no jmmediate crisis in the Association's finanoial affairs. If it was found that the expenses of the Association continued to rise this increase of subscriptions might be done with an alteration of rules.
Mr. Corby said the Rochester District felt it would be advisable to ahlow more time for considering the alteration of rukes. As far as the Association was concerned, they had far more things to worry about than money or rules. Their job was to ring the bells of Kent every Sunday and not worry about rutes.
Mr. Terry Barton said there was no doubt the Finance Committee had made a very good job. The only thing that he had any doubt about was the tower affliation fee.

CRITICISM

Mr. Bernard Callison was critical of the report. He wanted to know why it was proposed to delete the names of trustees from the rules. The tower affiliation fee would take up a tremendous amount of time and he could no see more than 50 per cent of the towers piying it. If every tower paid it would only produce $£ 24$ towards the $£ 100$ required for printing the reports. He also regarded the committee as unwieldy, and questioned the right to transfer any sum from a specified fund.
The homorary treasurer sid trustees were powcrless without a trust deed.
The chairman said the committee felt that sufficient time had not been given to the many points in the report and it would be better for it to go to the Districts for their consideration. Any proposals should be presented to the secretary, between the end of August and the November commitlee meeting. Their report would then go back to the Districts and next Easter be preserted at the annual meeting.
To test the meeting resolutions to increase the subscription were presented by Mr. F. Macey and Mr. Duncan, and were heavily defeated. The report was then referred back to the committec.
The meeting decided to send a tetter of sympathy to Mrs. Mitchell. Who was in hosonly surviving founder member. who was also in hospital.
Mr. May proposed an omnibus vote of thanks. and this included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobbie, the Vicar, the organist. the chairman, the caterers and the general secretary.

A retiring collection for Melboume Cathedral bells raised $£ 410$ s.

HARPENDEN RINGER FOR 50 YEARS

TO mark an achievement, not often attained of ringing at the same church for a period of 50 years, the ringers of Harpenden, Herts, held an informal gathering in the Rector's Room on March 27 th, to honour Mr. Arthur Day.

Mr. Day started his ringing career in December. 1911, when he rang fandbells in and around the village at Christmas-time. In th: following January he began to learn to handle a rope, and with it the intricacies of change ringing, and in September. 1912, Mr. Day rang his tirst quarter peal. Having been elected a member of the Harpenden band in the early part of 1913, he was. in March, elected a ringing member of the Hertford County Association. In November, 1913, the first and only all-local peal was rung. Mr. Day being the only member of that band who is still ringing. His musical ear was a great holp, and he was able to master the art of conducting. The majority of quarter peals that have been rung in Harpenden during the past 25 years have been called by him.

Mr. Day was secretary of the band for 25 years, and during the very trying war-time years did all that was possible to hold the band together until the ban on the ringing of church bells was lifted.
Apird from the local band, who were all present at this happy gathering, friends came from St. Albans (the Cathedral and St Peter's). Hemel Hempstead and Luton, where Mr. Day has done al considerable amount of ringing over the years.

As Mr. and Mrs. Day entered the room, handbells were rung in welcome. After mingling with the assembled company and having refreshments the focal point of the evening nas reached.
Mr. L. G. Coburn read a résume of Mr. Day's ringing career, and then asked Mr . R . Newson, who has rung with and known Mr Day longer than anyone else in the tower, to make a presentation on behalf of the Harpenden band. The gift took the form of an oak lea tray, with a silver bell inlaid and suitably inscribed. Miss Nina Thomas then presented

Mr. Arthur Day receiving the tray from Mr. R. Newson.

Mrs. Day with a bouquet of white and gold freesias. Mr. F. C. Jacklin, captain, proposed a toast to Mr. and Mrs. Day, after which Mr. Day cut an iced cake decorated with eight silver bells.

Mr. H. V. Frost, president of the Hertford County Association, and Mr. A. Rushton. president of the Bedfordshire Association, spoke of the good work which Mr. Day has done over the years. Mr. R. M. Williamson. churchwarden. thanked Mr. Day on hehalf of the parishioners of Harpenden. coupling Mr. H. A. Taylor, who was also present, with his remarks. Several other delightfal compliments were paid by past presidents of the Association. and by the present captain of the Luton hand, who has himself rung for over 50 years.

After the speeches were over Mr. Day expressed his thanks for his gift. and for all the nice things that had been said, and also to his fellow ringers for the pleasant evening. Mr Day then joined in ringing handbells.
The wish expressed by one speaker is echoed hy all Mr. Day's friends, that he will the blessed with good health and be able to enjoy many more years of active ringing.

ODE ON MISSING A SALLY

I; this a sally, which I see before me,
The woolly bulge toward my hand? Come, let me clutch thee:-
I have thee not, and yet I know thou art flying around somewhere.
Art thou not, striped vision, sensible
To foeling as to sight? or art thou but A sally of the mind: a false creation A sally of the mind: a from floor to ceiling with velocity? 1 see thee yet. in form as palpable (and moth-aiten)
As this hair which now I tear out.
Thou marsal'st me all over the place to catch thee,
And such an instrument I needs must use. My person is made a fool of the other ringers, O- else worse than all the rest; I see thee still: And on my thumbs and fingers, gouts of blistors,
Which was not so before. Sally? There's no such thing:
I! is that imbecilic instructor which informs Thus to mine eyes.
(Apologies to Shakespeare, and to the instructor.)

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Combined practices are being held between S:. Martin's. Bradley, and St. Leonand's, Bilston, Staffs. The first was on Friday, April 19th. at Bilstan and the next is at St. Martin's. Bradley, on April 26th. Visitors are especially welcome.
When Twyford tingers had an outing on Easter Monday all the towers visited except one had the same dedication as their own church-St. Mary. The exception had the dedication of the church at Twyford-St. James It was quite accidental.
In honour of the Diocesan Youth pilgrimage to the shrine of St. Alban on Easter Monday, five ringers, from 14 to 16 years, rang a quarter peal of Plain Bob Doubles on the back five at St Stephen's Church. The ringers were Ann Woodhouse 1, V. Rix 2, Audrey R. Alexander 3, A. C. D. Mayes 4, D. R. Sinderson (cond.) 5.

A clock has been presented by the bellringers of St. Andrew's Church. North Weald, to Miss Wendy Bowak on leaving the village for Burnham-on-Crouch. Where she will be a welcome addition to their company. The presentation was made by the Vicar (the Rev. T. C. Thorpe) during the family service on Ralm Sunday.

William Underhill or William Dawe '?

Dear Sir.-Reference the article by Mr. T. A Bevis (page 245). Either Mr. Bevis has got his facts wrong about the founder's stamp marked ' D , or all the information about it given to me over the past $30-40$ years by such pronounced authorities as Messrs, John Taylor and Co., Mr. Cyril Johnston. Mr. Ernest Morris, and Mr. J. Armiger Trollope is inaccurate: I can hardly helieve four such men and firms of research would all be wrong, and only Mr: Bevis right!

This stamp. depicting as it does. the words William ffounder: fecit, enciroling a tree branch with two birds (dawes). has, by all four above authorities, been ascribed to Willianı Dawe, whose existence as a hell founder (according to all four in letters I have) was from 1385 to 1418.

William Underhill may have been another founder who succeeded Dawe; just as in later years William Chamberlayne is said to have followed Henry Jordon-the latter 1442-1470. and the former 1470-1498, according to Ernest Morris. in his manuscript of British bell founders. which he gave to me just before he died There is a single bell of 8 cwt . (approx.) at Hardwick, near Wellingborough, showing the other stamps given by T. A. Bevis. but not the ' $D$ ' stamp, but if information given to myself, the late Rev. E. S. Powell and others. by al past long serving Rector (Rev. Mr. Richards) that it was cast in 1395 (though no date is inscribed) is correct. it is hardly possible that even this was a product of "William Underhill:

Some of these same stamps can he seen unon the four ancient bells at Fawsley. Northants-said to be products of Henry Jordon; they were also used by William Chamberlayne-the fourth at Old, near Walgrave, in this county, is another example, as is also one at Bainton of four bells there
I would also like to correct information about a bell at East Farndon. Northants. to the effect that 'it is believed to be the first beli cast by Thomas Eayre, the 3rd of that ring of five.' About four years ago I took a rubbing of its insoription and sent it on to Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. who agrecd with me that it is a bell by Thomas Clay, that the inscription is T.C ${ }_{\text {. }}$ not T.E. The late Rev. Thomas Merriman (East Farndon's last resident Rector) gave its date of installation as late 1710: Clay, acconding to Ernest Morris, was a Leicester bell founder from early 1711 to 17.15 .

One of his last bells must be the tenor of three at Great Harrowden, near WelFingborough, hearing the date 1715 .-Yours, etc.,
P. AMOS.

Weston Favell.

Underhill not a Founder

Dear Sir-T. A. Bevis has spoiled his interesting paper on William Founder by stating that 'it is generally accepted that "Underhill" was the founder's surname.'

The shield with a chevron between three trefoils slipped is also the arms of Rufford and Fitz-Lewes. There is not a scrap of evidence that an Underhill was a founder

He has apparently taken T. North as his authority. ignoring greater men such as J. C Stahlschmidt. A. D.'Tyssen and H. B. Walters -Yours sincercly.

Letters to the Editor

Naming of Surprise Methods

Dear Sir,-The letter from Mr. Belcham

 ( R.W. April 111 h ) serves to emphasise the pressing need for the publication by the Central Council of a complete list of the regular Surprise methods, on eight or more bells, thit have been rung in peals. The Council has issued handbooks in virtually every other field of the Exercise, but has never published a collection of Surpnise Major methods. I estimate that 638 regular Surprise methods have been rung and published up to April 11th, 1963 (including spliced peils and Little ' methods): 497 Major, 100 Royal and 41 Maximus.In view of the lack of consolidated information on Surprise methods, it is not urexpected that methods should occasionally be rung under incorrect names. In fact it is due largely to the care taken by most Surprise peal bands that the number of duplicapions is very small. Unfortunately, once an incorrect method name appears in a peal report it is impossible to undo the harm caused, no matter how quickly a correction is published. Many columns of your valuable space have already been wasted by inquiries on this subject over the years.

The following list of offending names may help to dispel some of the confusion which prevails. First I give the methods which had been rung to peals under a different name.
Incarreit

| Name | Rung at | Date | Correct Name |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| Wicken | Anstey | $6 / 4 / 35$ | Huntingdon |
| Burton | W. Wyc'be | $5 / 9 / 36$ | Brighton |
| Framsden | Helmingham $5 / 12 / 38$ | Loughboro' |  |
| Northchurch Northchurch $11 / 2 / 39$ | Lessness |  |  |
| Warfield | Warfield | $20 / 5 / 39$ | Cassiobury |
| Airedale | Northowsam $5 / 8 / 39$ | Chiltern |  |
| Hale | Fsamsden | $30 / 10 / 48$ | Belvedere |
| Nettleham | Lincoln | $23 / 6 / 51$ | Withyham |
| Moorside | Birmingham $14 / 10 / 54$ | Quinton |  |
| Netherton | Netherton | $30 / 10 / 54$ | Oxfordshire |
| Stechfard | Birmingham $19 / 1 / 56$ | Zetland |  |
| Newmarket | Long Sutton $5 / 12 / 60$ | Stanton |  |
| Ouadring | Epworth | $7 / 1 / 61$ | Wellington |
| Marden | Marden | $22 / 8 / 59$ | Northrepps |
| Little S |  |  | Major |

Loughborough, in the above list, had previously been rung only in a spliced peal, and the peal at Helmingham was, in fact, the first in the method, but it was decided to retain the earlier name. Northrepps is not a Surprise method. Of the incorrect names in this list, only the following three names have been used again:

Wicken, at Wicken, 12/7/53;
Nettleham, at Lincoln, 26/12/60;
Quadring, at Donington, $11 / 2 / 63$.
(Incidentally, my Spalding friends do not recommend the new Quadring to any band looking for a ' $Q$ ' to add to its alphabet, because of its poor musical qualities.)
Mistakes in reporting account for two more errors, The names Acton and Chester had both been used for earlier peals when the both been used for earlier peals when the following were printed: Date Correct Name

The names of a number of methods have been changed after their original publication in the peal columns. The following four have been renamed by the bands concerned after Central Council decisions that the methods are not acceptiable extensions of the Major methods of the same names:

Rutland $S$. Maximus rung at Leicester, $3 / 7 / 50$, renamed Belvoir ;
Gainsborough S. Royal sung at Lichfield, 29/12/56. renamed Boston;

Whitwick S. Royal Iuno at Loughborough, 19/10/59, renamed Gracedieu;
Lyme S. Royal rung at Loughborough, 9/11/59, renamed Charmouth.

A method named 'Lindoff's London' Surprise Major, rung in several spliced peals, was renamed Elford when the first peal in the method was rung at Drighlington on $2 / 10 / 54$. Another method, rung as Superlative Surprise Major (Rochester Variation) was rung at Southgate on 28/11/07, and the name was changed in 1948 to 'Southgate' to avoid confusion with the other Superlative.

A full reply to your correspondent clearly cannot be given in your columns, but must be made privately. The following comments are. however, relevant.

The methods of which he gives the notation are, in the order printed, Wellington, Ripon, Acton, Nettleham, Withyham. The notation of Ripon is incorrect; the final section should be $14-14.58$.

The name Suxlingham appears not to have been given to a Surprise method, but a peal of Saxlingham Imperial Major (C.C.C. 202) was rung in 1952, and is presumably the method intended.
Some of the methods requested have been published very recently, and Mr. Belcham does not seem to have tried very hard to find the methods before seeking help.-Yours sincerely,

GEORGE W. MASSEY.
Frome, Somerset.

Publication Wanted

Dear Sir,-In view of Mr. Belcham's letter in a recent "R.W." and the difficulty I and others have in abtaining a complete record of Surprise Major methods, which have been pealed, perhaps there might be a need for the notations of these methods to be published. Of course, a number of people, including Mr . J. Mayne, have a complete list of the some 500 methods in question and perhaps he could be persuaded to set them out and yourselt: to print them in, say, blocks of 50 (which wouldn't take up much more space than the detter in question) and would settle the Stanton/Newmarket, Wellington/Quadring and Folkestone queries which have appeared (and which I have been concerned in) in the past months.-Yours faithfully,

EDWIN T. CHAPMAN.

Spalding, Lincs.

Note. The publication of 500 methods would take approximately four pages.-Ed.

Surprise Major Methods

Dear Sir,-This is in reply to the letter from Mr. Belcham, appearing in your issue of April 11th, page 244. He raises several queries.

1 Quadring. The previous peal to which he alludes was rung at Epworth, Lincs, $7 / 1 / 61$. This peal was actually a peal of Wellington (the figures of which Mr. Belcham gives), and the error was pointed out in correspondence to the 'R.W.' $10 / 2 / 61$, page 99 , and $17 / 2 / 61$, page 115 . Therefore, the name Quadring again became available for a Surprise Major method, and the band who rang the new method at Donington on $11 / 2 / 63$ were perfectly entitled to use it. There is no need to change the name to prevent 'misunderstandings,' as Mr. Belcham suggests. Such a further change of name would only create more misunderstandings.

2 Acton is as follows:
38-58. 4. 58-58. 16-12-5. 16-16. 7. L.E. 12 and was first corrigan No. 2 . $17 / 1 / 52$.

3 Ripon is as follows:
38-58. 4-12-16-14-3. 14-14. 5. L.E. 12
Corrigan No. 262, and not as Mr. Beicham gives it, for he gives the last section as 16-16 in error. Ripon was first rung at Willesden $12 / 7 / 56$, and by mistake was published as a peal of Acton. But the name actually given to this method was Ripon, just as 7 appears in Corrigan. and this is made quite otear in Belfry Gossip of the issue of $17 / 8 / 56$, page 520 .
4 Nettleham. The peal rung at Lincoln. $23 / 6 / 51$, under this name was actually a peal of Withyham. This error is corrected in Belfry Gossip of the issue of $20 / 7 / 51$, page 456. Again, the name Neftleちam became available and was used for a new method rung at Lincoln, 26/12/60.
If Mr . Belcham has difficulty in finding a method, he may write to me, if he wishes, enclosing a S.A.E., and I will give him the information he wants.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN R. MAYNE.

Odd-Struck Bells

Dear Sir.-There is nothing better than the deather washer, as $E$. Barnett suggests. fo- the odd-struck bell. Some time ago i offered a little advice on packing on ane side to get the clapper in the centre. Why not use the washer? If the washer is not worn very much, take it off and soften it; also hammer the edges down. See that you get the clapper dead centre, then tighten up the washer. Do not ring the bell until next day or so, so as to let the washer get hard again.

There are not many rings of bells sent out and fixed odd-struck but can be rung true with very little trouble. Always see that the clappers are light; if they get loose the leather washer will not go back in its proper place. If the clapper is loose for long, the washer will wear and come off.-Yours faithfully.
E. C. GOBEY.

DEDICATION OF A NEW SIX AT GOSFIELD

THE dedication of the new ring of six at Gosfield, Essex, on April 6th, was the climax of two years of enthusiastic local effart under the tireless and inspiring leadership of Miss Hilda G. Snowden. For many years three bell ropes have hung near the font at the west end oi the church, from which it was assumed that the tower possessed three bells. An inspection about two years ago showed that the frame had originally housed a fourth bell, and further investigation showed that the tower was capable of carrying a ring of six. The three existing bells, which form the third, fifth and tenor of the ring (the tanor being a preReformation bell), were qaken to the Louginborough foundry last October for retuning and new fittings, and for the addition of chree new bells-an augmentation which has been extremely well carried out, the blend of cone of new and old bells and the 'go' of all being excellent. Ringing still takes place on the ground floor around the font, and the ropes have been skilfully arranged so as not to obscure the fine stained glass west window, a memorial to George Cortauld. Insoriptions on the bells read:

Treble:

TRIPLEX PERSONA TRINITAS
NUNC GAUDIA DONA
The church was packed to capacity for the dedication service. Amongst those present were Mrs. R.A. Butler, Captain Pennell (Barron Bell Trust), Mr. Paul Taylar, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. T. J.
Lock, Mr. R. Clouston. Mr. R. C. Heazel (Master. Essex Association), Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crampion and others representing the Eswex Association. Flowers surmounted the font.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. A. Burdon), and the lesson was read glory, laud and honour," "Ring forth, holy bell: and 'Praise the Lord! ye heavens adore Him.' and Psalm 122. Miss J. Howard was the organist. The procession to the west end was led by David Arnold (one of the local ringers). carrying the processional crass, and followed by choir and clergy. Here the dedication was carried out by the Bishop of Colchester, assisted by the Rural Dean, Rev. A. W. Swallow (Vicar of Halstead).

VICAR'S DAUGHTER RINGS

Rounds were then rung on the new bells by six local ringers-Irene Finemore 1, Eve Ruggles 2, Susan ${ }^{\text {PBurdon (the Vicar's daughter, }}$ aged 11) 3. Kathieen Poole 4, Dorothy Lewin 5. Stuart Pountney 6. None of these had louched a bell prior to the removal of the three existing bells 青ast October, but through all the strams and stresses of the unusually hard winter they had crudged regularly week by week to Stisted. where, by permission of the Rector, they were taught by Miss Snowden, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. H. Moore (Bocking), R. Martin (Haineod) and A. Syder (Stisted).

During the ringing choir and clergy returned to the chancel, after which the Bishop gave an address. 'I am anly going to speak for about five minutes,' said the Bishop. would rather the bolls spoke for themselves. There is nothing I enjoy more than progress in this respect. Lasi summer 1 dedicated the bells at Hempstead, later the restored ring at Saffron Walden, and now Gosfield. This is similar yet equally great occasion.'

NO MEAN ACHIEVEMENT

It is no mean achievement, yet no mean advantage, for a village to have a ring such as this. I hate silent towers, or feeble onebell towers; jt suggests a community shut up within itself A peal stands for an invitation, a welcome, and a challenge which goes out to all the community, and asks the people to listen with some imagination.

I am reminded of a quotation from Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan"-"Blessed, blessed chiming bells, like angel voices floating down." Listen for those angel voices and expect guidance from this simple fundamental fact.

Bells make a joyful sound, and should make you count the things for which you have reason to be thankful and inspire you to come and worship.

At the close of the service an opening touch of 360 Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung by Paul Taylor 1, T. Bird 2, A. Syder 3, R. Suckling 4.F.E. Collins 5. Hibda G. Snowden

During this ringing the congregation walked across the field path to Gosneld Hall, where a buffet tea was served in the ballroom, by permission of the House Committee. This fine mansion is divided into apartments. occupied by retired professional people, but has several rooms, which the public may visit. The Queen's Gallery is 106 feet dong, and its linen-fold panelling is the finest example of its kind in the country. Once inside, the library, with the door closed, the visitor suddenly wonders how to get out again, for the inner side of the door is so panelled as to look like shelves of leather bound books!Back to the ballroom and tea-and the centre of attraction was., a wonderful threetier riced cake. Aruund each tier was icing in the form of bells, from the second tier hung six miniature bellropes, with blue and white sallies (an exact repdica of those in the church); from the top tier hung six silver bells. and this tier was surmoumted by a model of the tower and a flagstaff flying the cross of St. George. This cake. made at a bakery in Halstead, was ioed by Mr. Rohert Bamford. of Great Leighs, and his mother-they worked from $11 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. to $4 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to complete their task, yet they had never even seen Gosfield Church! The cake was cut by the Bishop.

VICAR'S THANKS

The Vicar then paid tribute to all who had assisted the appeal fund for the bells. He was particularly pleased that Captain Pennell, of the Barron Bell Trust, was present, and thanked him for a very generous sum. Mrs. R. A. Butler had attended the service, and they were grateful for her support, through which a bell had been given in memory of her late hushand, Augustine Cortauld. Even that day he had received a pound note from someone quite unknown to him.
Miss Snowden, said the Vicar. had been a tower of strength, and without her they could not have arrived at this slage. Which was due to her keenness and her extraordinary knowledge of the whole science of campanology. He added that friends unknown to him among the company present were there because of Miss Snowden. (Applause.) He was pleased to welcome Mr. Paul Taylor. of the Loughborough Bell Foundry, but regretted the absence of Mr. J. P. Fidler, who had put in the bell frame, with the assistance of Mr . H. Moore. He expressed thanks to the Bishop and to Dr. White and Mr. and Mrs. Hill, of the Gosfield Hall House Committee.
Mr. R. C. Feazel, for the Essex Association, said: This is a great day for the Exercise. for it gives us another peal of six on which to ring. That six new ringers should be able to ring rounds for the dedicotion is an achievement. When towers are sident it brings sadness, but this need not be if there is enthusiasm such as at Gosfield.
Mr. M. Rowsan (people's warden) thanked the newly formed Gosfield Guild of ringers who had raised money by various means to provide the tea free for this accasion. They had also raised $£ 33$ from a cheese and wine panty, which provided a carpet for the ringing chamber and $£ 10$ for the Bell Fund.
Many friends and visitors took part in ringing a yarjety of methods on the new bells during the evening.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

The Northern District quarterly meeting was held at Baldock on April 6ith. There was about an hour's ringing before the service, conducted by Canon F. C. Brenchley, with Miss D. Bate at the organ. The business meeting followed a more than ample tea.
Mr. F. J. Plummer, formerly of Hitchin, was elected a non-resident life member. A practice meeting will be hold on March 4th at Offley, we hope, and the next quarterly meeting at Knebworth in July. There was a report on the Greneral Committee meeting, and some discussign about the proposal to increase the subscriptions. This matter will be on the agenda for the annual general meeting 01 April 20th.

ST. ALKMUND ${ }^{\prime}$ S, DERBY

The Vicar of St. Alkmund's. Derby, the church which will probably be demolished to make raom for the new inner sing road, has now accepted the offer made by the Derbyshire Association for ringers in the Association to man St. Alkmund's bells on a rota basis, at least once a month.
The initial plans are to ring the bells for Evensong, i.e.. 5.30 to 6.30 p.m. on the first Sunday of each month. The band from Etwall rang on April 7th, and bands from Feanor and Belper have wolunteered for May and June. If sufficient bands volunteer it should be possible to increase the frequency of ringing to once a fortnight. Any band wishing to take its turn to man St. Alkmund's bells on the above basis should contact G. A Halls, 54. Willson Avenue, Liftleover, Derby.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Meeting at Cawthorne on Apri! 13th, with the Vicar (Rev. C. T. D. Ellam) in the chair. members of the Barnsley and District Society stood in silence as a tribute to Mr. Herbert Rowley, of Horbury, a founder member. who had died. aged 94 . The meeting agreed 10 a memorial tablet heing placed in Felkirk Church, subiect to permission, to Daniel Smith. Donations from lowers would be gladly received.
The shield contest (open) will be held at Worlley, near Sheffield, on June 8th. with Mr. Harold Chant as judge. An excellent free tea was served. and $\operatorname{Mr} . \mathrm{H}$. L. Roper. of Adderbury. Oxon. proposed the vote of thanks. Next meeting: Armitage Bridge. near Huddersfield. May 11 th.

MRE. GLADYS M, MOSEDALE

The death of Mrs. Gladys M. Mosedale, at a hospital near Taunton, came as a shock to her old colleagues at Chilvers Coton.

She will best be remembered as Miss Gladys M. Dodds, one of two daughters of Canon M. A. Dodds, a former Vicar of Chilvers Colon, who were members of the Sunday service band. A brother, Edgar, was also a ringer.

Gladys was an excellent ringer and striker, and rang a number of peals in the mid-1920's up to London Major.

She had, I believe, done some ringing in the Taunton area. but ill-health put an end to it. A. H. B.

MR. W. J. BROOKS

Foraman of AH Saints' tower. Wokingham. since 1921, Mr. Walliam J. Brooks died Last month, aged 74. His passing is a big loss to the Conning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, of which the had been vicechairman since 1951.
At Hever, Kent, where he was a gardener a: the castle, he learned to ring. During World War I he was in the Army in France. and on demopilisation he came to Wokingham and joined All Saints' band. Throughout his long tenure of office as foreman, he maintained a good change ringing band. Most of his peads-his total is not known- were rung on All Saints' bells in the standard methods, and with local ringers. He also took a keen interest in church affairs and served faithfully as churchwarden for a number of years. A member of the Oxford Guild since 1919, he was held in high respect.
The funeral took place at All Saints' Church on April 1st and was attended by members of the lacal band, the Guild being represented by the Branch chavirman, Rev. F. E. HarcourtTrevor: the Ringing Master, Mr. H. Smith; and Mrs. R. W. Murrell, of Warfield.
May he rest in peace.

Canon Wilkinson was not only an authority oa bells and bellringing, but a practical ninger of no mean lability. He was a member of the North Notts Association, the Clerical Guild. the Midland Counties Guild, and chairman of the Southwell Diocesan Guild from its formation in 1946 up to his death. He represented the North Notts Association on the Central Counoil from 1929 to 1937. ## MR. W. T. PRIOR

Mr. William T. Prior who died in the Bishop's Stortford and District Hospital on April 6th, at the advanced age of 91, had been kept from the belfry recently through failing health, but was interested in ringing until the end.
He learned to ring at the age of 10 at Stansted, Essex, and was an accomplished method ringer round the heavy end. His peals method ringer round the heavy end. His peais methods up to London Major and ten bels to Cambridge Royal. Many of his peals were rung at Stansted, with the Pitstow family and the late Frederick Dench. He outlived all the old Stansted ningers.
William was one of the oldest members of the Anrient Society of College Youths, and also a niember of the Ely Diocesan Association, the Essex Association and the Hertfordshire Association. He was interested in handbell ringing-performing with his late brother, Walter, in ringing tunes four-in-hand. He also rang methods.
The funeral service was at Bishop's Stortford Cemetery on April 10th. And so passes a quiet, likeable man, always ready to welcome the visitor and help learners. "Well done, thou good and faithful servant.' F.B.

MR. HARRY PETTITT

The Peterborough Diocesan Guild has los: one of its old members by the death in Park Hospitad, Wellingborough, on March 16th, of Mr. Harry Pettitt. Harry, who was in his 84 th year, was a member of the Central Northants Association, which later became the Peterborough Guild.

A persanal friend of 56 years' standing, he was a friendly, steady and reliable ringer, ready to help anyone. When he retired from the old Midland Railway, he rang with us at St. Peter's, Northampton, for a short time.

In my days as a dearner at Isham, I seem to think it was Harry who called the first touch I rang in away from Isham about 1913. I do not think many of the Central Northanis members are now alive, as I was one of the young ones. and I am now turmed 70 .

 on April 6th was the first peal of Maximus in the method on the bells, for the Oxford Diocesan Guild and all the band. The conductor was Mr. Widfred Williams.Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd has written an attractive . Belfry Praise' for 'Parson and Parish,' the magazine of the Parochial Clergy Association, published by the Rev. Edward G. Courtman, Minal Park, Marlborough, Wilts (price 1s, 3d.).

Taking part in a quarter peal at Daventry to mark the opening of the Christian Stewardship Campaign in the parish was Mr. E. F M. Simsan. who is Diocesan Stewardship Adviser. Every member of the band took an active part. One was chairman of teenagers, another chamman of visitors; others were hostesses or visitors.
Miss Hilda G. Snowden is to be congratulated on getting a ring of six in her own village-Gosfield, Essex. She has eight people who can ring for Sunday service and another five learning to handle. The band who rang at the dedication were taught at Stisted and Halstead, and despite the terrible winter only missed two weekly practices, through the roads being blocked.

Readers interested in the National Convention of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers at Detroit, Miahigan, U.S.A., on June 26th, 27 th and 28 th, can obtain programmes from Mr. T. Ogden, 119. Smallbrook Road, Shaw, Oldham, Lancs, on receipt of a self addressed. 3d. stamped envelope.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. C. T. Hillis, the hard-working secretary of the Ashiford District, K.C.A.. has had a difficult operation on his hip, which will confine him to nis home for some time. Visitors at 244, Hythe Road, Willesborough, would help him to keep in touch with the District and would be a welcome interlude in the enforced leisure, which must be irksome to sucl an energelic character.

From 'Irish Bell News.'-A ringer wrote to an hoted in Gt. Yarmouth for accommodation at Whitsun and was surprised to learn that he could harve: breakfast from 7 to 10.30 a.m.; lunch from 12 noon to $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. ; tea from 4 to 5.30 , and dinner from 6.30 to' 9 p.m. He replied: "Not much time to see the place.'
Mr. W. Love, for some years secretary and treasurer of the Norwich Diocesan Association is indisposed; we wish him as speedy recovery.

The address of Mr. John Segar, who is willing to send compositions of 24,000 Cray Surprise Major, etc., is 16, Green Lanc, Seacroft, Skegness, Lincs.
Expressing appreoiation of the references to St. Paul's Cathedral bells in our issue of April 11th, Mr. R. Harper, of London, writes that such articles give him a longing that he had lived in those distant days.

Two of our ringing parsons have received their dirst livings-the Rev. S. M. Evans, assistant curate of St. Laurence-in-Thanet, Ramsgate, to be Vicar of Bredgar, Sittingbourne; and the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall, assistant curate, of Crewkerne, to be Vicar of Long Suttan, Langport, Somerset.
From 200 years ago in a West of England newspaper: 'Sherborne. -Mr. George Evans, oi the City of Wells, bell-hanger, has completed new hanging of the bells here, to the satisfaction of the town, so as to be rung with half the men as usual. The peal is thought to be one of the heaviest in England, the tenor being 65 hundred.'
'Irish Bell News' (subscription 2s. 6d. per annum to Mrs. F. E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath) has just issued its spring number. with a delightful variety of reading matter. In an article on the Cathedral of the Assumption, Thurles, the Editor hopes that this "chime will once again be rung by a team of ringers. Very little expense, apart from a set of ropes, would be necessary to ring the front seven. The tenor would have to have a major job as the headstock is badly split.'

IN PERSPECTIVE

HOW about another half-day outing? How many times has this suggestion been made and how often accepted with enthusiasm in towers up and down the country. Faces light up, diaries are produced like magic, and in no time at all the date is fixed.

But what does the average ringer look forward to on these trips. and what does he remember most afterwards? The quality of the bells perhaps, or more likely the quality of the ringers! Both important of course, but what of the incidentals that help to put the ringing in its proper perspective?

First, what of the journey itself? If you are lucky enough to live in a lovely county, as I do in Somerset, there is the ever-recurring thrill of seeing the beauty of its scenery at all seasons of the year. Be it Sedgemoor or Mendip. Exmoor or the Bristol Channel coast, the variety is endless: and it is the same wherever we ring, from Cornwall to Norfolk, and from Northumberland to Kent. How often does the route lead off the beaten track to some little 5or 6 -bell tower deep in the country, in a setting which remains imprinted on the memory for months afterwards. And yet we do tend to take our countryside for granted, or pass it by with unseeing eyes.

Then what of the churches? I need hardly say that my own county is blessed with some of the fairest towers and churches in the land; yet how often do we give a thought to this on our tours? If the tower has an outside entrance the temptation to add to our total often supersedes the thought to spare a few minutes to look inside the building itself. It has been said with certain truth that we should never lose our sense of wonder in this scientific age; and how better to sustain and encourage this feeling than by seeing for yourself the craftsmanship displayed in our churches, craftsmanship that invariably bears its strong regional characteristics in whichever area you live. Some churches are essays in beauty themselves; others have their own individual parts which catch the eye. I am thinking, in the former instance, of Wells Cathedral, and in the latter of such well-known features as the barrel roof at Shepton Mallet, the wonderful screen at Halse and the fine 15th century carved stone pulpit at Cheddar. The list is endless, and our county certainly has no monopoly of beauty in this respect, as any traveller knows.

And last, but not least, there are the people who love their churches and make our ringing possible. The rector who, whilst he may not be a ringer, welcomes the party with such sincerity, and who takes genuine pleasure at pointing out the special features in his church. The 'local' who might ring only his modest Grandsire Doubles but who keeps his bells in such perfect order, and is so obviously pleased when you tell him so. And finally, the characters you meet in the other 'local ' when the ringing's done. In the country there is still a strong bond between the church and the pub, and I have heard both the parson and the ringers championed in far more English country inns than among many gatherings of erstwhile intelligent people where the Church and its teachings are thought oldfashioned and out of date.

I hope we shall all enjoy our outings and 'half-days' in the coming months, bearing in mind that as well as being ambassadors of our Associations we proclaim our standards to the listener in no uncertain terms. Strange towers should not be used as an excuse to experiment with littleknown methods. however strong the temptation.

One last point. It only costs $2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. to say 'Thank you' afterwards: and the local company, having stared openmouthed at your Spliced Surprise, will add to their impressions of your band a quality far more valuable than respect-that of friendship; and the parting remarks to 'come again - any time' will really ring true.
'COUNTRYMAN.'

Devizes Branch

Over 50 ringers and visitors, including the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. Longridge), enjoyed ringing on the fine eight at Warminster Minster on April 6th, when the Devizes Branch held a quanterly meeting. Tike Viear kthe Rev. J. Freeman) conducted the Guild service, with Mr . K. Binns as organist. Afterwards Warminster ringers and friends gave an excellent teil, and were warmly thanked tor their generosity.
The Vicar welcomed everyone to his church and tower, and expressed thanks to his own ringers for their loyalty, and said that after many years he was still astounded at the fellowship which existed between ringers wherever he met them.
A welcome feature of the meeting was the number of young people present. Six new members were elected from Warminster und Devizes. Notice was given of the various practices taking place in the Brancli, including Surprise Minor at Bromham on Fridays and Grandsire Triples at Urchfont on the ehird Saturday evening in each month. It is hoped that many members will take advantage of these facilities.

The Master yddressed the meeting and hoped that he would meet everyone at the annual festival at Beaminster on May 11th. Ringing continued in the evening, and methods up (1) Cambridge were rung.

Dorchester Branch

When the Dorchester Branch met at Berc Regis on March 30th a free lea was provided for the 34 members present in the W.I. Hall. It was immediately proposed that a collection at the tea should be given to the Freedom from Hunger Campaign.

The Vicar (the Rev. P. T. W. Tranter) conducted the service and also gave the address; After quoting Tennyson's 'Ring out, wild bells; he said the essence of ringing was order all the sime. Many towers had suffered from disorder through singers coming to ring when they thought itt. Ringing should be orderly, behaviour orderly and life orderly.
Main jtems at the business meeting, presided over by the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. were forthcoming events. Practices, subject to cenfirmation, were: Si. Peter's, Dorchester, May 4th: Piddletrenthide. May 18th: Litton Cheney, June 1st: Piddlehinton, June 15th: Charminster, June 29 h . Next meeting: Abbotsbury, June 291h or July 13th. ## Wimborne Branch

Forty ringers (including visitors from Christchurch. Cranford. Derby and Sheffield) attended the quarterly meeting of the Wimborne Branch, held at Wareham on April 20th. The easy-going octave was put to good use during the two hours prior to the service, which was conduoted by Wareham's ringing curate, the Riv. John Palmer. An interesting address on the Easter Message was given by the Rector, the Rev. John Wallis.

Afterwards a board recording a peal of Stedman Triples, rung in memory of the late Mr A. $\mathbb{F}$. Martin Stewart, Master of the Sos pury Guild. 1910-13, was dedicated in the tower. It was a pleasure to have Mr. Stewart's daughters present at this bricf ceremony. Mr. Arthur V. Davis, a member of the peal band, is to be congratulated on the crafismanship shown in making such a beautiful board.

Tea at • Nellic Crumbs,' was followed by a fairly short meeting. Three new ringing memhers were elected. two from Warcham and one from Canford Magnit. Mrs. Marchant, of Cranford. Middlesex. was also clected á life member. Next mecting: Kingston1, June 8th.

22 PEALS IN NEW METHODS

The report of the General Committee drew attention to the rededication of the ring five bells at Cottered, and to efforts at St. Peter's, S: Aloans, to improve the go of the bells, The repori of the peal secretary showed a 14 total of 64 peals rung in 1962 : a drop of 14 from the previous year. Twenty-two of the ptals were in methods new to the Association. and included Pudsey Surprise Maximus and Porisefract and Prittlewell Surprise Royal. The treasurer's report showed a losis over he year of 19 123.. which wass caused bargely the year of $£ 912$ s.: which was caused Largely by the non-payment of subscriptions. Althougl: the Association had 576 members on paper. only 468 were fully paid up. It was pointed out that it was the responsibility of the local tower secretaries to collect and transmit the subscriptions of their members to the District secretaries: too often it was Jeft to the District secretary to tour his area searching out individual members.
The election of officers began with the instalhation of H. S. Bonnetl (Buldack) as president for the next year. He thanked the meeting for their cordial recepticn. The other officers were all re-elected with the exceptiou ot the lifratian. C. F. Sayer, to whom the meeting conveyed its sincere thanks for his work over the years. The officers are now A. RINGING COURSES-AN INVESTIGATION
A lengthy discussion took place on the suhrect of ringing courses and instructional claswes. organixed with the assistance of the county education wuthority. The general feeling of the meeling was in favour of such courses, though several speakers had reservations about the need for and the response to ehem. Finally. a sub-commitice under the chairmanship of
W. Ayre was appointed to study the question fully and to report to the General Committee in September.
The general secretary explained the arrangements for the diocesan festival ringing at St. Albans Cathedral in June. Ringing will take place from $7-8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on June 10 th . 11 th, 13 th and 14th. The rota of ringing will be: Monday, Bishop's Stortford and Western Districts; Tuesday. Northern and Watford; Thursday, St. Albans city. and Friday, St Albans and Eastern. The Bedfordshire Association would be invited to join in the arrangements.
For the second year a mation was presemted tn raise the annual subscription to five shillings. The same views were expressed again and little new evidence was produced to convince members of the need for a higher subscription: the motion was accordingly lost will 13 votes being cast in jts favour. Votes of thanks were expressed to the ladies of the Western District for an excellent tea, to the District officers who had made the arrangements and to the incumbents of the local towers for permission to ring.

JOINT MEETING AT STAVELEY

Despite the counter attractions of a Bank Holiday Monday and the dull, wet weather, the joint meeting of the Chesterfield District of the Derbyshire Association and the Sheffield and District Sociery on April 15th was attended by over 50 ringers representing some 20 towers.
Under the joint supervision of the respective Ringing lMasters-Messrs. G. Goodall and S. Armeson-a variety of methods, ranging from rounds and call changes to Bristol and London Surprise, was rung during the afternoon 0.1 the 18 cwt . octave before an excellent tea was enjoyed in the nearby school rooms.

Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association

A COMPANY of 130 members and visitors i attended the annual meeting of the LLandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, held at Llandaff on Euster Monday. The service was theld in the Cathedral, conducted by the Dean. after which at the Prebendal Hall an ample tea had been provided by Miss Penny Walsh and the Cathedral ringers. During tea we were pleased to welcome the president, we were pleased to welcon the Lord Bishop of Llandaff.
It was intended to make a presentation to Mr. Fred Hannington and his wife, on Mr. Hannington's retirement from the office of secretary after 17 years. Unfortunately, Mr. Hannington was conlined to his わed with jaundice, but we were pleased to have Mrs. jaundice, but we were pleased Hannington with us once more.

The Bishop, on behalf of the members. presented her with a portable radio and a handbag, together with of coloured certificate commemorating his election as an honorary life member. Mrs. Hannington thanked the Bishop and the members for the gifts and spoke of the great pleasure that she and her tusband had enjoyed in the company of ringers over more years than she cared 10 remember. After the presentation she was safely returned to her nursing duties, with the good wishes of all to Fred for a speedy recovery.
The treasurer, Rev. I. J Richards, presided over the business meeting, at the start of which the company stood in silence as a token of respect to the memory of Ernest Stitch and William Buttress. Ernest Stitch was one of the Association's most 'noble sons' and he will be very sadly missed.
The secretury (Mr. M. J. Pryor) in his report. indicated that 156 had been a most memorable year in the history of the Association. For the first time they acted as hosts to the Central Council who met in Cardiff at Whitsuntide. The reports received indicated that the deplesentalives left with happy memories of South Wales. We enjoyed having them in our midst and hope they will come again in the not too distant future

The visi: was a fitting climax to Mr. Hannington's long period as secretary, and. although he resigned at Easter, 1962. he willingly agreed to remain in office until after the Central Council meeting. and, logether with the committee set up for the purpose, was responsithle for the success of the arrangements made. During the year all the Branch meetings were well attended and the membership reached the total of 350 . Forty-nine peals were rung for the Association, which has the highest number recorded in any one year.

The honorary treasurer complimented the secretaries on the way they had dealt with the financial aftairs, and reported a favourable bulance in view of the expenses incurred by the visit of the Central Council.
Mr. F. J. Hannington was elected Master iot the year and the other officers were re-elected.
The meeting adopted a revision to the rules, which provides for a probationary period of six monrhs' regular Sunday service ringing, before a ringer is eligible for full membership.
The Associafion decided to make at contribution of is to the Ernest Morris Memorial Window, and $£ 1$ ls. to the Kilifi Church Bell Fund.
During the year the Association fad pubfished its first full report and it was decided to publish a full report every two years, and an abbreviared report for the years in between. The report was very well received by the niembers.
In an effort to expedite matters at the A.G.M. it was decided to set up a Slanding Committce of the Association's officers to deit with matters that now require the decision of the A.G.M
The meeting concluded with a sincere vote of thanks to the Dean for the use of the Cathedral, to the Cathedral ringers for the tea and to Rev. I. J. Richards for presiding over the meeting Further ringing took place in the evening at the Cathedral and at St . John's, Cardiff.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The April mecting of the Biggleswade District was held at St. James: Silsoe. on Apri] 20th. In spite of wet weather this meeting was well attended: 35 people had tea and more ringers came during the evening.

Amendment to 'Dove

Dear Sir.-Recently, an applicant for permission to ring at two Northamptonshire fivebell towers. Farthinghoe and Thenford, which are under the charge of the one Rector, has been told that he and others must obtain their information from some very out-of-date source. since both Beirries have bean out of commission for 'possibly 25 or 50 years.' although the Rector admits that he does not know how many.

Doubtless : Dove * is the source of their infarmation, since neither lower is even mentioned in the Peterborough Diocesan Guild report. and so to save the Rector from further reminders of the unhappy state of the iwo belfries in his care, perhaps possessors of 'Dove' would care to note that these two rings are unringable, and thereby render their Guides less out-of-date.-Yours truly,
R. H. DOVE.

A 1906 Peal Query

Dear Sir-A peal of Stedman Doubles was uag at Weston-under-Penyard on February 13th. 1906, by a local band. It was the first of Doubles in the method to be rung in Herefordshire. It is believed to be the second peal of Stedman Doubles ever sung in this country.
I would like to know if this is correct as th: relatives of some of the ringers who took part would like to place a pial board in the ringing chamber, recording this peal.-Yours sincerely,

Grandsire Doubles

Dear Sir,-I think that I can provide an explanation of the interesting fact pointed out bv $\mathbf{M r}$. Sage in your issue of March 99 th, that only with the fifth as whole hunt is it possible to obtain extents of Grandsire Doubles rung in the orithodox way with the fourth as cbservation, whereas the fifth can be made observation with the treble, second or third as whole hunt.
The anomaly arises because of the privileged position of the row called "rounds in our ginging in that every extent begins and ends with rounds. whether it is a lead-end or not.

With any bell but the treble as whole hunt we start off into changes by ringing a part of the plain hunting course on five bells, as rounds is not a Jead-end unless the treble is the whole hunt. So all these extents have as their common point the plain hunting course rung with rounds occurring at backstroke and back rounds at handstroke.

With the treble as whole hunt this is no longer necessiarily true. Any extent ending with a plain lead does have this property. but such an extent must be one with the third as observation. Mr. Sage will also find that in fact the only extent with the third as observation which does not end with a plain lead (i.e., S P S B) does produce the plain hunting course in the ordinary way as the fourth lead.

However, any of the ordinary extents with the fifth as observation remove us from this systematic set of 120 s. For we find that in all the extents with the treble as whole hunt and fifth as observation alithough rounds occurs at a backstroke lead-end (as we demand that it shall) the rest of the plain funting course occurs reversed somewhere in the exte:t.
So because we treat the row of rounds as our standard go-off and not the plain hunting course (starting from whatever point we need) we have introduced this 'foreign' set of extents with the treble as whole hunt and the fifth as observation. If Mr. Sage will now write out Grandsire Doubles from, say, back rounds (54321), and with the treble as whole hunt call a hob at the dirst lead-end (or a single) he will find that he has the start of one of the lost extents whith the treble as whole hunt and the fourth as observation.Yours faithfuliy,

Edinburgh 12
Dear Sir.-I would like to suggest that Mr. H. N. Evans check his hypotheses both theoretically and practically before putting them into print. If he had done so he would have found that the figures I gave ( R.W. page 212) were correct. Using these figures one can say that the half-hunt bells are those which occupy thirds or fourths place at the backstroke lead of the whole hunt. except when the treble is whole hunt. In this case they are the third and fifth.
Puiting my question in a new form, why dozs this exception occur?-Yours faithfully,

> F. J. SAGE.

Lupp:tt.

P.S.-The quarter peal rung at Luppitt on Murci1 3rd (*R.W: page 22l) contained one extent of each of the variations. using the same calling. S B S.A plain lead at the beginning giving one half-hunt and at the end fo- the other with each of the whole hunt beils. -F J.S.

The New Bell Inn

Dear Sir,-Gone are the days when rooms of public houses were identified by such unimaginative names as Bar. Tap, Smoke Room or Vaults. Almost without exception, the pubs being built today offer the comfort or rooms with such high sounding names as Ragley and Chatsworth or Trafalgar and Wite:loo. In some cases, the names have local connections.
One such pub is 'The New Bell Inn' dt Great Barr. which, in common with its modern counterparts, boasts but two public rooms, naıned Loughborough and Whitechapel.

In each of the roons is a mural covering the greater part of one wall. The one in the Louginborough Room depicts a tiny church on the small island of Sveri Stefan, off the Montenegro coast of Yugoslavia. In the church tower. which is of open construction, are three small bells not hung for ringing. The same applies to the one bell in the tower of the church at Textal in Switzerland depicted on the mural in the Whitechapel Room. Somehow, I don't think that either of these are examples of the work carried out by the foundry whose name the room bears.
Unlike those on the murals, the bell on the painted sign outside is a true representation of a ringing bell; being complete with headstock, wheel and stay. It is also of the recognised shape iDo the customers ever query the significance of the names of the roonis? I asked Mr. Raymond Simkin, the lisenses. 'No,' he replied. with a smile on his face which left me wondering if even he knew. 'The regulars always refer to them as The Bar and The Smoke, and no one appears to care for the teal names.
left 'The New $B=11$ Inn' a dittle disappointed at witat I found, and wondering if there could be any sign fiance in the fact that the Loughborough Room is referred to as the Bar and the soniewhat better Whitechapel Room the Smoke.-Yours faithfully,

BRYAN D. A. WOOLLEY.

William Dawe, not Underhill

Dear Sir.-I beg to confirm the regretful error pointed out by your correspondents in the issue of April 26th. The article in question should. of coursi, relate to Will:am Dawe and not Underh'll.

About two months ago, some time after the article had been despatched to "The Ringing World. I had before me notes concerning Dawe, who is repu:ed to have supplied cannon to the Constable of Dover Castle. From then onwards I had reason to suspect the contents of the article, and accordingly amended my notes. It was my intention to emend the article but owing to one thing and another I failed to proseed in that respect. and the matter, unfortunately. was overlooked. My sincere adoiogies to all for my not having in the first instance ascertained that the data was correct, and in the secnnd instance for my oversight. My thanks to Mr. Amos and M. ## Worcestershire and Districts Association

MR. J. D. JOHNSON HONOURED

HE annual general meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held at Worcester on Easter Monday. After ringing at All Saints', members attended the annual service, conducted by the Assoc:ation's chaplain, Rev. H. L. Daves (Vicar of Cradley)
For the first time for many years, the form of service, specially written for annual meet ings, was used. Many members spoke in favour of it afterwards, though the hymn tunes had besn unfamiliar to some. During the service, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by J. D. Jonnson I-2. R. G. Morris 3-4, D. Beacham 5-6, M. D. Fellows 7-8.
The business meeting followed in College Hall, with the president, the Dean (the Very Rev. R. LL. P. Milburn), in the chair. The general secretary (Mr. D. Beacham) reported that the following members had died since the last meeting: Alfred Boxley, John Morris, Henry Hubball, C. A. Binyon. Wilired J Newman and Frederick Hyde. Members stood in silence in tribute to their memory

"SILENT TOWERS' INQUIRY

The secretary presented the report of the Central Committee. The •Slent Towers 'sub committee had conducted a survey of Sunday ringing within the Association. which showed that there was regular Sunday ringing at about 63 per cent of the towers, ringing by arrangement only at 22 per cent, and no ringing at 15 per cent; this datter being mainly due to bells or tower out of order. However. there were towers with bells in order but no ringers, and this was receiving consideration.
Referred to them by the last A.G.M., the committee recommended that the sule regard ing the number of clerical vice-presidents remain, and the the Branches should therefore nominate two clerical vice-presidents each Also referred to the committee from the last meeting was a resolution calling for revision of the form of service used at Branch meetings to be considered. The committee recommended that a new form of service should not be printed, but that Branches could ask the incumbent taking the service to use h's discretion in following the old form.

REPORT AND PRACTICE DATES

A resolution from the Western Branch asking the committee to publish days and $t$ :mes of practices in the annual report had been considened. The committee decided not to undertake to do this, however, since days and times of practices were la'ble to change and the published information could be misleading. The report stated that peal ringing had declined, only 57 being rung as against 70 las: year. Nine were handbell peals. Peals of note were the first peal in hand by three Stourbridge Grammar School boys, and local band peals at Hinton. Kingswinford and Ripple. Fifteen members were congratulated on ringing their first peal.
Discussion on the committee report centred chiefly on the revision of the form of service. The chaplain reiterated his view, that no incumbent was bound to use a printed form of service and that if the Branches wanted changes this could be arranged without publishing a new form, which would eventually become out-of-date again.
The I.brarian, Mr. C. W. Cooper, reported that there had heen 12 applications for the loan of 14 books during the year. He appealed to members to consider donating any unwanted books on ringing to the library.
Inder elaction of ofticers, the Master, Mr W. B. Cartwright, proposed the re-election of the Dean of Worcester as president. This was carried unanimously. There were some changes among the clerical vice-presidents, the Branch having nominated Bishop Stuart, Rev. C. J. Kay (Welland). Rev. T. Keith Murray (Dudley), Rev. A. Webb (Kidderminsier), Rev H. S. Bill (Feckenham) and Rev. L. J. Bircb (Bredon), who were duly elected.

MR. J. D. JOHNSON HONOURED
On the proposition of Mr. W. B. Cartwright, Mr. J. D. Johnson. past general secretary, was elected a lay vice-president. Mr. Johnson thanked the members for the honour and then referred to the illness of his predecessor in office, Mr. James R. Newman who was now in Ronkswood Hospital. The secretary was asked to write to Mr. Newman, conveying the members' best wishes.

All other officers were re-elected. Worcester was again chosen for the annual meeting next

Mr. R. G. Morris proposed a vote of thanks to all concerned with the service and meeting arrangements, and to the incumbents of the various churches at which members were to ring later
During tine aiternoon a large number of members and visitors rang at St. John's and St. Swithun's, Worcester, Powick. Leigh, Hallow, Grimley, Ombersley and Claines.
After tea. which was held at, the Old Pheasant Inn. Worcester, the usuai large crowd filled the spacious Cathedral ringing chamber for what is always one of the major attractions of Worcester annual meetings. D.B.

MR. MARTIN STEWART REMEMBERED

On April 20th, at the conclusion of the Wimborne Branch service at Wareham Parish Church. the Rector (the Rev. J. Wallis), accompanied by his assistant priest (Rev. J. Palmer), Jed the ringers back to the ringing chamber, where a board, which records the peal of Stedman Triples rung on April 15th, 1961, in memory of the date Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart, was dedicated.
The assembly of over 30 included the Misses Nettie and Betty Stewart, who had been invited to be present by the captain of Wareham ringers, Mr. Ross Robertson. After the short ceremony the company adjourned for tea and the quarterly meeting. at which the chairman. Mr. L. J. Lockyer, expressed the pleasure felt by all that the Misses Stewart were able to come to Wareham tower that day.
Mr. Mart:n Stewart was Master of the Salisbury Gu:ld. 1910-1913, and did much enthusiastic work for many years $q 0$ further the progress of the Exercise in the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, as well as his own. It was fitting. therefore, that the memorial to him should be something of a joint effort between the two Guilds, for the light oak board, lettered in black and gold. was the work of the donor -Mr. Arthur V. Davis, of Bournemouth.

CENTENARY YEAR FOR WENTWORTH BELLS

This is the centenary year for the ring of six bells in Wentworth. Yorks, Parish Church. which were cast by $j$. Warner and Son, of Jondon, in 1863 . The old ring of three were taken by the foundry in part exchange, and the bells were hung in a wooden frame in the west tower of the then parish church (now the old church).

Each bell is inscribed with the founder's name and the year 1863. but a complese inscription adorns the tenor bell, as follows:

Wentworth Church by John Duke, Esq.. of Wentworth
Barley Hall.

Rev. J. S. Upton. M.A., incumbent.  J. Biram and J. Cobbon, C.W.

The weight of the tenor was just over 10 cwt .
The present church was erected and consecrated in 1877. the architect being J. L. Pearson, who also designed Truro Cathedral. This chunch has a lofty central tower and spire, the total height of which is rearly 200 feet.

The bell. were not transferred until 1893. They were hung in the original wooden frame. Ii 1938. Taylors, of Loughborough, rehung and retuned the bells. A stout metal frame replaced the old frame and new fittings, such as the Hastings stay and ball bearings. were added. The tenor now weighs 10 cwt 12 lb . a climb of 69 steps. Below the ringing chamber is a ringers gallery, which overlooks the chancel.
So far 22 peals have been rung on the bells, most of them after 1930. An engraved placard in the ringing chamber recalls what was probably the first peal. This was rung on March 20th. 1897, when ringers of the East Derbyshire and Yorkshire Associations rang a seven Minor methods peal in 2 hours 51 minutes. The different 720 's were of College Pleasure, College Exercise. London Scholars', City Delight, Killamarsh T.B., Duke of York and Oxford. The ringers were: J. H. Brothwell 1. T. Whitworth 2. S. Walker 3. T. Sadler 4, W. J. Nicholson 5. W. Lambert (cond.) 6.

Another noted peal. rung during the war on Saturday, April 1st, 1944, was in three Minor methods. It was rung by Barnsley and District Society members, conducted by the late Daniel Smith.

In the autumn of 1959. the ringing chamber and bell chamber were thoroughly cleaned and repainted. A change ringing band, established soon after, succeeded in ringing the first alldocal peal in November, 1961. The peal was an 10 Doubles methods, the conductor being Michael R. Meadows.
Ringers in the Sheffield area have been known to remark that for "go" and tone combined the ring is one of the finest sixes in the region. The loca! ringers welcome visitors in this centenary year. Peal jnquiries should be made to the Vicar

BELL HATERS v. BELL LOVERS

Colmworth. Bers, a steeple of very dittle ringing aotivity. recently had its first peal for 24 years. Hardly had the bells been raised to hegin the peal than in walked a gentleman and lady (we thought to tell us to stop the ring. ing), but no!-they had come to tell us what a joy it was to hear the betls, and-that they live in the house alongside the church.

Thanking them, we mentioned that we should be ringing for around $2 \frac{1}{2}$ to $2 \frac{1}{6}$ hours. Kkeep on as Jong as you like." They seplied.
This lovely welcome was a contrast to two of the opposite sort we had experienced only a few weeks previously-one at Welford.
Northants, with eight lovely-toned bells. where Northants, with eight lovely-toned bells, where an annoved T.V. viewer and listener, after the two hours peal attempt failure, wh'le we stood - holding an inquest " in the churiñyard. came across with threatening Janguage. Are you nuisances finished? If vou dare io come here again I'll hash a brick through your cars.' little realising that ons of the cars belonged to a police officer-ringer among the company!
A few weeks previous to this, when at Holy Trinity Church. Wandsworth, on an outing to I.ondon. 40 minutes ringing (following a wedding) saw a man rush up to the belfry with a hail of abuse because the bells were scunding. Maybe the alcohol sather than the man was threatening? But we were told loally that ia hospital nearby liked to hear the belts-a tovely toned 8 !
Colmworth's five may not have the best of tone: Alan Paul did well on the tenor. which needed work at every stroke. Seldom does one mee: the welcome we were accorded a: Colmworth these days. It was very upliftang!

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

Members who attended the quarterly meeting of the Guild at Boldmere on April 6 th received a very warm welcome from the Vicar (Rev. J. C. McCallum), who, at the meeting, expressed his pleasure that the Guild had chosen Boldmere for their meeting after a lapse of several years.

The Master (Mr. Richard C. Ingram) presided, and commenced the meeting with a seference to the passing of William C. Rhodes a ringer at Coleshill Parish Church. and an old member of the Guild.
Arising from the minutes, the secretary reporied that a quotation amounting to $£ 97$ 10s. had been received for the erection of the proposed memorial tablet to the late Albert Walker. An opinion was expressed that the cost should be met by members of the Guild, but it was pointed out that by doing so many ringers who would like to subscribe would be deprived of the oppor&unity. It was decided to leave the question of an appeal to the officers of the Guild to conduct.
The following resident members were elected: S. Clarke Walters (Sutton Coldfield), Miss Jennifer Cook (Handsworth) and David Vokes (Quinton). The tower elections. as Jife members, of Christopher M. P. Johnson (Kidlington) and Richard C. Kippin (Southanp(on) were ratified.
Next meeting: Harborne, where the bells of the demolished Bishop, Ryder Memorial Churoh have recently been installed. This will be held on July 6 th .
A vote of thanks to Rev. J. C. MoCallum fo the use of the bells, and to Mr. John Neale for arranging tea was ably proposed by Mr. Frank E. Haynes (vice-chairman).

KENT COUNTY ASSOCL,」TION

In connection with the annual meeting of the Kent County Association aï Tonbriage, the Rochester District organised a District outing. travelling by coach, two mini-buses and several cars. Before reaching Tonbridge ringing look place at Aylesford and West Malling.
The homeward journey was not so fortunate. Traffic jams prevented ringing at Westerharm. although justice was done to a very good le: a! the Tudor Rose Cafe. The recenily installed six in the modern church at Biggin Hill were enjoyed, Ministry of Transport regulations prevented the coach traversing the country lanes to reach Cudham. and they had to be content with the six bells at Downe. Special thanks to driver Wally Smith,

MR. WILLIAM ROSE
With much regret we learn of the death of Mr. William Rose, which occurred at Wellington. New Zaaland, at his daughter's residence. on March 31st, at the age of 78 years.

Billy, as we generally knew him, was a very apt pupil of the writer in 1900, and later became conductor at Thornham Magna, Suffolk, and it was through thim that the total of peals in this tower was the highest, according to Canon K. W. H. Felstead.

After the war, $\mid$ Mr. Rose took up school reaching, being stationed at Peterborough. where he was a ringing secretary. In addition $t 0$ others he rang 160 peals in East Anglia.
It is a coincidence that his cousin, James Rose. of Ipswich, should survive him by only a week.

MR. HERBERT ROWLEY

Mr. Herbert Rowley, who died on April 11 th, at the age of 94 , was a ringer at Horbury, Yorks, Church for over 70 years. He joined the Yorkshire Association in 1891, and was also a founder member of the Barnsley and District Society.
A great six-hell ringer, he conducted the first peal of Surprise Minor in seven methods to be sung in Yorkshire in 1894. This peal was not, however, the first for the Yorkshise Association, but the first in the county.
Herbert Rowley was the last of a team who, in the $1890^{\circ}$ s, rang over seventy $720^{\prime}$ 's per year in over sixty methods.
He was cremated on Easter Tuesday, and the bells were rung fully muffled before and after the service. A quarter peal of Bob Major was rung half-muffled on the following Saturday by six local ringers, assisted by two from Ossett.

IRVIN SLACK.

LOW WASTAGE OF DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The Derbyshire Association now has a membership of 360 . During the last five years 180 have joined the Association, an average of 35 per annum. Over the last 10 years the wastage has been 187 or 18.7 .
Whilst ringing has improved technically, and there are more ringers available, the number of churches whose bells are rung regularly for Sunday service is deplorably jow. In 1947 only 24 churches had their bells adequately rung for Sunday service; in 1961 this figure had only increased to 28 . The total number of churches. with five or more bells is approximately $60 .-\mathrm{Mr}$. D. R. Carlisle. writing in "The Belfry News," the magazine of the Derbyshire bellringers.

The rehallowing of St. Mary's Church, Brownsea Island, will take place on May 15th. Members of the Wimborne Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild hope to have the opportunity of ringing for the service.

The peal for the Universities Association rung at Throwley, Kent. included the present Masters of Cambridge, Manchester and Reading Societ:es, the secretary of the London University Society and a Past Master of Bristol University Society.
The all-England rally to Coventry Cathedral on April 20th was probably the most successful national gathering of singers yet held. Before the general public were allowed into the Cathedral, there were 1,600 ringers, their wives and friends present. The lessons were read by Mr. F. Sharpe (president of the Central Council) and Mr. F. W. Perrens (president of the Coventry Diocesan Guild), and the address given by the Rev. Graham M. Smallwood. ## GOSSIP

 W. Lake, a peal of Minor in seven methods was rung on Easter Monday at Bourne Abbey, Lincs. In his time, Mr. Lake was a very able conduotor at Bourne for many years before the last war and has conducted many pzals of Spliced Surprise Minor. Arthritis now prevents him from ringing, but he was at the church, with Mrs. Lake, to congratulate the band when the bells came round.Mr. J. R. Mayne asks us to correct his address-it is 170, Headstone Lane, Harrow, no: as recently published.
Mr. F. C. Mogford rang in a royal wedding quarter at Compton Dando with his leg in plaster, following a compound fracture.
Mr. Robert B. Smith writes making two corrections to the composition of 11,552 Superlative Surprise Major rung on Easter Monday and publsihed on page 239. Although the transposition of the figures is correct, the 16th course should be 5 th, Middle and the 21st course Middle, Wrong, In Middle, 4th Home.
After two attempts at a peal had been frustrated by technical defects of the tenor at Royston, Yorks, the team went on 10 Felkirk and sang a quarter peal. This was in honour of the christening of Sheila Mary, the daughter of Frank Mitchell, the ringer of the 5th, who had arranged a 720 in 36 singles to celebrate the occasion. The ream were afterwards entertained at the Mitchells'.
Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lock on their silver wedding anniversary on Aprii 23 rd. In honour of the wedding, which tơok place at Twickenham, Mr. Alan R. Pink conducted a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at St. Mary's, Ealing. On the same bells a peal in the same method and using the same composition (J. W. Parker's) was fung on April 27th. Unfortunately, of the original company only Nir. Leonard Stilwell and the conductor could ring, and singularly it was thęit 100 th peal together.

BELFRY PRAISE

By EDGGAR C. SHEPHERD

THE bell is an instrument of ancient origin and its connection with the Church and church worship dates back a very long way. But the singing of bells as we know it today, and more particularly the very precise art of change ringing, may be said to belong entirely to the last three or three and a half centuries. The adoption of the completely circular bell wheel made possible a more exact control of the bell and speedily brought about a disciplined and orderly striking of the bells in the place of unsystematic jangling. By the beginning of the 17th century (and possibly earlier) bell ringing had become a popular exercise, and clubs and societies were formed to encourage the art and to provide opportunities for devotees to practise together

Ringing societies and 'gilds' existed at a very early date, and as far back as 1254 a patent Roll of Henry III granted privileges and money to the Brethren of the 'Gild' of Westminster who were appointed to ring the great bells, The Deykins of Coventry (1462), the 'Gild' of St. Paul's (1507) and the Schollers of Cheapside (1603) were forerunners of societies like the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Union Scholars, the Cumberland Youths, the Norwich Scholars, the St. Martin's Youths, and numerous other bodies formed in the 17 th and 18 th centuries for the purpose of bell ringing. It was only with the coming of these later societies that any records of organised ringing were preserved.

Bell ringing at this time, it should be noted, was almost entirely secular in its outlook and practice. The bells available at the churches were, of course, used for the indulgence of the art. and doubtless were rung in connection with the offices of the Church. But the premier attraction was the art itself, the splendid physical exercise it entailed, and the irresistible fascination of the growing soience of change ringing. Early in the 17th century the art of ringing systems, by which new changes were produced by each pull of the ropes. had been discovered, and from quite primitive begininings and tentative experiments men speedily began to comprehend a vast and exciting field of mathematical exploration in the world of permutations. Change ringing spread to the ringing of changes on eight bells, then to ten, and finally to twelve hell ringing. Church authorities themselves seemed to catch some of the enthusiasm, for towards the end of the 18 th century many rings of bells were being augmented; and it is worthy of note that in some cases the ringing societies provided money for this work.

In 1668 the first known work on change ringing was printed and published in London. It was called 'Tintinnalogia, or the Art of Ringing.' The book is scholarly and well written, and although its title page reads 'By a lover of the Art' it is generally accepted that the author was Richard Duckworth, the Rector of Steeple Aston, Oxfordshire. Three copies of this valuable book are known to be in existence. One of these is in the Bodleian Librasy at Oxford. while another was presented by Mr. Edwin Lewis to the Library of The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers at Whitsuntide last year. In 1677. Fabian! Stedman published 'Cimpanalogia, or the Art of Ringing Improved: and since that date there has grown up a large and extensive bibliography devoted to every aspect of the Art-historical, archeological, mechanical, theoretical and practical. The text books of instruction for learners are numerous, and some of the works on the methematical construction of changes ascend into quite lofty heights of applied mathematics.

It is not possible in a short essay even to begin to make clear the clements of change ringing theory. Much of it does not directly concern the practical ringer, and yet the practical ringer could not do without it, for the blocks of changes he sings must be construcled, or "composed,' as the bell ringer says, and this is the work of the Composer. Briefly speaking. it is the business of the Camposer to canstruct sequences of changes that shall be true. that is to say, shall have no repetition of any particular change, and shall at the same time incorporate as many of the more musical-sounding changes as possible. This may be a fairly simple task in one system of ringing changes, in another system it may be an amazingly complex proceeding, presenting problems sometimes insuperable and often dishearteningly difficult. It is a noteworthy fact that some of the most bridliant exponents of this abstruse mathematical process have been men without any mathematical training or even educalional advantage: and the acknowledged intellectuals of the ringing exercise have never failed to pay ungrudging and wondering tribute to the achievements of men who by their uphringing and limited education might reasonably have been expected to be incapable of mathematioal investigation.
It has been emphasised above that change ringing was in its inception almost purely secular. This outlook persisted until the latter half of the 19 th century, and only by bearing this in mind can we comprehend the astonishing change that came about: a revolution that lifted bell ringing to its present important position in the life and work of the Church and gave bell ringers a new status and importance in relation to church services. The awakening to a new sense of duty seems to have come round about 1880, when educated and important ringers like Jasper Snowdon, of Ilkley, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies. of Fretherne, and Arthur (afterwards Sir Arthur) Heywood. of Duffield, together with the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, and the Rev. Earle Bulwer and others, began to perceive the need for the devoting of this fine art of bell ringing more intensely to the service of church worship. At this time there was a great increase in the number of change ringing societies. and to the existing territorial associations there were being added the Diocesan Associations. It was to these asscciations that Heywood lurned for help.

Arthur Heywood was a man of wealth and intellectual ability and his influence was great and widespread. After much difficulty he succeeded in forming The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, a kind of ringers' parliament. composed of elected representatives from all the ringing societics. Since its first meeting in 1891 the Council has grown in size and importance and is now the very centre, and, it might be said. the driving force of the whole ringing exercise. It meets once a year, visiting a different part of the country each year, and at this momentous conference problems affecting church bell singing and difficulties arising from the technical aspect of the art are discussed and (for the most part) resolved. The Council works perforce through a large number of committees, and the reports of these committees form the basis of each agenda. There are committees dealing with every possible branch of ringing, but two important ones must be mentioned here. The 'Towers and Belfries Committee' is composed of experts in the study of the structure of towers and the problems of bell restoration and preservation, and it is frequently called upon by parish and diocesan authorities for advice where any prohlem has arisen. The work of this committee should be more widely known, for its services are always available and are readily and promptly given. The other important committee that should be mentioned here is the 'Education and Sunday Service Committee,' the work of which is concentrated on the teaching of ringing and the education of bell ringers as servants of the Church. The advice of this committee is at the disposal of any incumbent.
The Central Council is responsible for two important literary institutions. One is its official list of publications and the other is the weekly journal. The Council booklets, published at a low cost, provide much technical and educational matter for the ringer. but also include pamphlets on preservation and care of bells, model codes of rules for belfries. and an excellent little treatise on Sunday Service Ringing which should be in the possession of every ginger and incumbent. "The Ringing World' is the official journal of the Central Council. It was founded in 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith. a Surrey ringer and journalist, and on his death it was acquired hy the Council. 'The Ringing World 'provides all the news of hell ringing throughout the whole of the British Isles and may be said to be the chief binding force of the Exercise. By its means we record ringing performances, neetings, thell restorations and church aftairs generally; its columns provide technical articles and instructionid essays. and, of course, all the transactions of the Council. It is by means of this periodical that we know all the important ringers in all parts of the Isles, and it is a pleasant and significant reflection that no ringer need be a stranger in any town or village where there is a band of ringers: for in no sect or community is hospitality more spontaneous than it is among bell ringers. In this short paper much stress has been laid upon the work of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. It is undoubtedly due to the work of this body that the status of hell ringers has been raised to such a high level. Ringers are now widely recognised as office bearers in the Church, and their work is more clearly seen as an offering of praise 10 God. Their hobby is a great art, and like the arts of sculpture, painting and music, is no less dedicated to the worship of the Creator hecause it finds its origin in the sheer delight of performance. In many towers all ringing commences with prayer.

STAGGERING RESPONSE TO COVENTRY RALLY

1,600 RINGERS AND WIVES AT MEMORABLE SERVICE

T'HE ald-England rally to Coventry Cathedral on April 20th proved to be al greater ccess than anticipited.
When the applicutions exceeded 500. it was realised thit tickets would have to be used to ensure that everyone would he able 10 have a seat at the service. When the number turned the 1.000 mark, the general secretary of the Guild began to get worried, at he realised that if they all wanted to jain din the realised that if they all wanted to join ont the tea it would be impossible to cater for them. However, as things turned out, 600 were catered for-by sending 100 to the Cathedral Refectory and the balance to the municipal cantcen.
Prior to the service, af the towers that were opened were kept busy with partics calling in from all directions, and the Ringing waster of the Guild must have been very sitisfied with his organisation. which included bainds of ringers calling at all towers on the various routes into Coventry heing present to help small parties have a ring.
To the writer's knowledge. there were very few disappointments in this direction. It was very much regretted that the ringing at Allesley had to he stopped owing to serious inness near the tower. and this abso neeant that this tower was not open in the evening.
As with all ringers gatherings, there was the usual percentage of members who did not send in their names for either meetings or teas.

ORGAN INSTEAD OF BELLS

Before the general public were allowed into the Cathedral, 1.600 ringers. their wives and friends were admitted, and it was fuh almost to capacity. From the altar steps. before the service commenced the Provost, the Very Rev. H. C. N. Williams. gave a sincere welcome to those present. He said it was to him a great honour to be able to conduct such a service with churchmen from all over England and Wales.
Referring to the Cathedral thells. which had not yet been thung for ringing. he sitid he hoped that this would not be the case if they should visit the Catdredral again. They hind. hewever, been welcomed by a peal on the orgen.

The form of service had been prepared by the Precentor. Canon J. W. Poole, who wals unfortunately unable to sttend owing to being in Germany. It was much enjoyed by all. The lessans were read by the president of the Central Council (Mr. F. Sharpe) and the president of the Coventry Diocesan Guild (Mr. president of the F. W. Perrens).
The address was given by the Rev. Graham M. Smallwood, a vice-president of the Coventry Guild and Vicar of St. Nicholas:
Warwick, from the lext. Whatsoever ye do, Warwick, from the text. 'Whatsoever ye d do all to the glory of God.' (I Cor. x, 31.)

THE SECOND RALLY
Ife said this all-England rally of bellrmgers raking place in this, the newest of all the wonderful cathedrals of their land, was a great occasion: great indeed in the history of ringing: for chis was only the second allgland rally to have taken place.
The first was held at Croydon in 1928. The well known firm of G llett and Johnston had made a splendid carillon for Riverside Church.
New York. These bells had been set up just New York. They were to be at Riverside Church. and over 1.000 ringers. from all over the country, accepted the invitation to be present.

There was a similarity between thesc two rallies. Normally, mectings of ringers were at a place where belis could be rung. but in both these rallies there were no ringable bells for the ringers.
There were also two striking differences in the two rallies. In the first those who attended did not meet for worship, but were given a free tea. They of the Coventry Diocesan Guild who were most honoured to be hosts to this rally were also grateful that they had been able to have the service in their splendid Cathedral. "I am sorry the horpitality of the Coventry Guild canno: extend to a free tea.

CATHEDRAL BELLS

We hope that you have enjoyed ringing in the various towers in the diocese, conlinued the preacher. We all lament that the Cathedral has not a ringable peal, but, and as 1 am not on the Cathedial staff 1 call speak quite freely, great things are being accon. plished at this Cathedral. All the time new possibilities are teing considered and new projects designed and undertaken to make the thing cannot be accomplished at once, and in due time I am sure that this Cathedral will White we are looking forward eagerly to that day we thank God for the wonderful things already achieved in and through Coventry Cathedral.

England is known as "The Ringing Isle." The art of change ringing has developed here and nowhere else is this art practised, except in a few places where Englishmen have taken it. The sound of the bells is one of the things that makes England. England. The people of our land love to hear the bells. The grimness of the war years was made darker by the enforced silence of the hells. One of the great uplifting moments of my life was when I heard on the radio this silence hroken by the hells of Westaninster Ahbey after the Balle of El Alamein.

- Bell ringing is one of the fine traditio
- Bell ringing is one of the fine traditions of England. People from other lands listen with wonder at the precision and order and rapid sequence of our bells when they are rung by a good band.'

FUNCTION OF BELLS

'The reason for having bells in churches is to proclaim in sound, and proclaim proctaim what the Church is doing. The preface in the Prayer Book instructs the curate or Vicar to "sily the same (morning and evening prayer) in the Parish Church or Chapel where the ministereth, and shall cause a hell to the tolled thereunto a convenient tink hefore he begin. that the people may come to hear Ciod's word and to pray with him.
This referred to week-day Matins and Evensong as well is Sundays, and Mr. Smallwood satid he was meticulous about the bell heing sitid he was meticulous about the bell being rung. telling people that though they might not be able to be in church. yet God was being worshipped, prayers offered on their behalf and they were being remembered in their parish church

NATURE OF THE CHURCH
Church bells were not only to give witness that the Church was there; they gave witness to what the Church stood for-the glory of God. It was founded by Jesus Christ to be His Body, His instrument in the world for carrying out God's purpose. The Church was nor as someone had described it, a social cluh with religious affinities, seen mainly in tea. The Church was that sereat concourse of people who had accepted Jesus Clarist ads Lord and Master and Saviour, and had been grafted into Him through baptism.

They had the duty of worshipping God, and serving God in love and thankfulness, and of proclaiming God and His purpose to the world. Every aspect of the Church's work must be part of this supreme aim, and must he undertaken in the light of St. Puul's words: - Whatsoeve: ye do. do all to the glory of Bellringing, as part of the activity of the Church, shared in the minis!ry of the Churel). Bells proclaimed in their own unique and beauliful way that the Church was set in the world for the glory of God, and to proclaim God's Name and His purpose to all mankind.

STRIVING FOR PERFECTION

This ringing for worship was a very impartant activity within the Church. Rineers of that excellent publication. The Ringing World. could not hut he impressed by the achievements recorded week by week of hands of ringers up and down the country singing peals in many different methods. This striv. ing towards perfection, this delight in the art. this excellent standard. this yearning to achieve the best; all helps very greatly to keep the art of bellringing alive: and it needs cevery encouragement. Anything done by the Church should be done well. and ringers are always striving to improve their performance.

Nevertheless it must be remembered that the achievement of peals is not the be all andicials of all of church belliringing. The local bands, must not be dismayed if great feats of change singing are not achieved as often as they would like by their members.

What is important, what really matters, is 110: the number of peals rung, but whether the bells are rung regularly and well Sunday by Sunday in every church for each service prescribed. A band which never reaches the standard of peal ringing, and yet sees to it that all the bells are rung at all the services prescribed for ringing cvery Sunday of the year. this is the good and loyal band. This is the band which is proclaiming the Church and its message to the world.

In this century, when there has heen a general decline from the Christian faith, it is good to know that the ringing of church beils has heen carried on with increasing regularity dedication and sense of service. It is only the loyalty of bellringers that keeps the bells of this land continually ringing. May this loyalty always remain. May its quality be right. May ningers always remember that Whatsoever they do, to do all to the glory of God."

TOWERS SWAMPED
At the tea which followed, it was announced that Allesley and Stratford-on-Avon bells would not be available. and, unfortunately those who did not attend the tea did not get the message, and many who called at these towers were disappointed.
The remaining lowers were literally swamped by ringers hoping to have a pull. What ringing the writer heard was generally of a good standard, and with ringers from all parts twking part this was at compliment to the general standard of ringing.
There were 110 organised partics, and they came from the four conners of Great Britain: Stoney Stratford. Hampton-on-Thames. Penn, Willenhall, Ormokirk, Liverpool, Bedford. Hatdield, Chalfont St. Peter, West Harlicpool, Trumpingion. Croydonn. Cambridge We, Trumpingion, Croydon. Cambridge. West

The Covertsy Guild regretted that line tea could not be organised is a single gathering. Ihis would have made the occasion even more memorable. The honorary secretary $\mathbf{\text { Y Mr. J. L. }}$ Garner-Hayward) expresses his appreciation of the huge number who attended. The appreciative comments from so many made the task of organisation very well worth while and compensitad for the sleepless nights as the event drew ncarer.

One letter of appreciation from as participant read: "What a wonderful time we had in Coventry on Saturday! Thank you very in Coventry on Saturday! Thank you very much fcr the invitation. That service will be frequently in my thoughts-thank you again." With such a response. 'Yes. We may do it again in the not too distant future.

MR. L. J. WILLIAMS' 50 YEARS

AT CHURCH KIRK

On April 17th, a quarter peal was rung to mark the 50th anniversary of the arrival at Church Kirk, Lancs, of a keen and energetic young ringer, Mr. Laurence J. Williams. It was intended to ring at peal for the occasion. but the indisposition of one of the band and hurried arrangements for a substitute contributed to an unsettled start and at premature end to such hopes. However, a good quarter of Kent was successfully completed.
No sooner had Laurence settled in Church Kirk than he was required to serve his counlyy in the 1914-18 War, so the earliest indication of his presence can be found in the Lancashire Association records for 1916. Since then, however, his career as at ringer and servant of his Parish Church lhas boen one of uncersing activity. So great, in fact, was his enthusiasm that it has given rise to many a heated argument (and jt still does, occasionally!). Coupled with this enthusiasm, his ability as a ringer fitted him well to serve on the committee of the Lancashire Association. and on the Central Council, besides having been bell adviser and president of the Blackburn Branch

In the early 1920's, when the old six bells at Church Kirk hecime unringable. Laurence spent a few years training a band at the neighbouring tower of Rishtosn. and the results of his work there were evidence for many years. Returning 10 a recast and rehung eight, he led the Church Kirk Society as a great pioneer of Surprise ringing in the district, and by 1928 he had rung his 100 th peal for the Lancashire Association, to which he has since added another 228.

Faced with the now too familiar situation of no longer having a full team of ringers, in 1957 he again faced the task of training a new band. With one assistant and his usual energy he tackled this situation, and is now suppor':=d by a lively young hand, which has been augmented bv a rebel from Accringlon and an exile from Rossendale, all of whom arc unanimous in congratulating him on his fine record, and wishing him many more years' enjoyment in. the company of ringers.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

Penzance Branch At Towednack

The spring meeting of the Penzance Branch was held at Towednack on April 27th, where the church is situaled in at very rural setling. The meeting was appropriately held on the eve of the Feast Sunday, and the church was beautifully decorated for the occasions.
There were about sixty present, including Mr. Douglas Burnett (Diocesan Ringing Master) and Miss E:leen Symons (Branch chairman), and members from the Truro Brancls. Ringing on the light. melodious cight (7) cwt.) ranged up to Siedman Triples. The service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. 'T. S. Hichens. who also welcomed the gathering. Mr. Harry Miles kindly acted as organist. and at the business meeting was thanked by the Rev. A. S. Roberts (Branch secretary), who also mentioned that the last meeting at Towednack was ds long ago as 1925 . A very sumptuous tea was provided by the local ladies, and included generous supplies of Cornish splits, jam and cream.
Ringing also took place on the six at the ne:ghbouring parish of Zennor, and in the evening soveral spent a pleasant time on the ten at Carbis Bay
An invistion to hold the autumn meeting at Landewednack was accepted with thanks

King's Lynn is 90 miles from London, but the majority of the band who rang in at peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal in honour of H.R.H. Princess Alexandra's wedding to the Hon. Angus Ogilvy came from London or beyond. The distance travelled by the ringers for this local recognition of the royal wedding was commented upon in the Eastern Counties Press.
The band consisted of : Left to right: J. K. Ward, F. R. Scott, W. Birmingham, M. Hatchett, L. W. Houghton, Rev. G. Galley, D. P. Hilling, N. V. Harding, W. Wilson, T. J. Lock.

Increased Subscriptions Hit Gloucester & Bristol

TrHILE financially in a better position. the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association at its annual meeting at Henbury on April $20!\mathrm{h}$, altended by 190 members, reported a substantial drop in membership.

Mr. Charles Rouse. the general secretary, in his report stated that they lost last year 237 members and gained 169 new ones. giving a total of about 870 . This was a small numher. as in 1959 they had 1.131 : other recent losses have been 235 in 1960 and 193 in 1961

The rising cost of bsing a member is partly to blame. but all who think must realise that this is no fault of the officers. I was very surprised on receiving the tower returns to see the names of some who are withholding payment. For many years they. and others. have done much to build up this Association, now. in time of trouble, surely their support should continue.'
Losses bv death ramembered were: Dr. W. M. Askwith. Bishon of Gloucester and joint president; Messrs. A. A. Hilliar and F. G. Leaker (vice-president), of St. Mary Redcliffe; H. J. Hobbs (vice-president), Slimbridge: E. Humnhries, Brisl ngton: T. Moulden, Stratton St. Margaret: P. Paker, Olveston; and G. W. Townsend, Swindon.

PEALS LESS

The number of peals rung had fallen to a total o: 72. which was 23 less thin the previous vear, but the list of firsts would take a lot of beating. and snoke for itself of the high standard of peal ringing members. Seven of their members were in The Ringing World jist. headed by D. J. Hunt 50 peals and fillowed by G. R Drew 33, Mrs. S M. Drew.
n C. Exell and A. R. Peake 32, C. A. Wratien 31. and M. J. Hobbs 29 .

The course at Bristol was a success, and thanks were due to Mr IP. J. Bird and all who helped them.

The audited accounts showed that the General Management Fund started the vesar with a deficit of $£ 2615 \mathrm{~s}$. and ended with a halance of $£ 150$ 14s. ## HEREFORD CATHEDRAL SCHOOL SOCIETY

The recently revived Hereford Cathedral
School Bellringing Society had its annual outSchool Bellringing Society had its annual outing in South Herefordshire on April 18th. Valuable help was given by Mr. M. P. Moreton, a Past Master of the Society and also of the College Youths. Mr. A. T. Wingate, Master of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, and Mr. G. T. Cousins, Master of the Hereford District.
At Fownhope (an easy going six), the Rev. M. C. Sell welcomed the purty. A noisy tenor, visible from the ringing chamber, made ringing at King's Caple disconcerting, and the rehung Rudhall six at Llangarron was somewhat tricky to handle because of the low sallies.

After a cup of tea at the Vicarage, we had a good iing on the pleasant bells at Goodrich. A brief visit to Weston-under-Penyard was followed by the light and tricky eight at Bridstow, and then an excellent tea. Mr. Godfrey, from the Christchurch District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, joined us here and came with us to Rosson-Wye. An excellem ring cis the lovely octave with Mr. J. Webb concluded is successful outing. Methods rung varied to Grandsire Triples and Camb-idge Surnise Minor. Thanks are expressed to all those who helped in any way.

LETTERS  A Darlington Ringing Family of 1931

Dear Sir.-Browsing through my volume of 1931 'Ringing Worlds,' I found a whole page devoicd to 'A young family of ringers' from Darlington, with a picture of Mr. H. Taylor and his five children. aged from between 6 and 12 years, with handibells in their hands.
At this early age they could ring Grandsise and Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters - double-handed.' The boys hoped to emulate the feats of Will IPye and Jimmie George.
Are any of this family still, ringing and did the boys achieve their ambition?
It would be interesting to hear of the progress of this unique ringing family of Grace. Ida. Raymond. Harry and Fred and Mr. Taylor senior.-Yours faithfully,

THOMAS C. BELTON.

Recruitment

Dear Sir-According to Professor Dodge, there appears to be no answer to the problem of 'Recruits' (front pige. April 26th). But we at St. James', Taunton, believe there is, and to have found it.
Our experience is that recruits must be found from the churchis various functions and activities. Of the 17 tecnage members of our hand. 11 are charisters, members of the Bible class. Sunday school and the Scout Troop. whilst the remainder (girls) are aiso members of the B:ble class, Sunday school. Girl Guides. etc. And of the older members of our band. most are actively engaged in our church affairs, and all are regular worshippers. In short, all are within the Fellowship of the Church. and this, we believe is the answer to the problem of recruits. Your truly,

REGINALD BEALE.

'Locked' in Happiness for 25 Years

OApril 23rd, 1938, Thomas J. Lock and Kathleen M. Bradford were married at St. Mary's Church. Twickenham. Middlesex. The silver wedding of this well known and popular ringing couple was celsbrated in fine style.
On Thursday, April 25th, a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung at Twickenham, in which Tom took part with a band of old friends. The younger generation was represented by Peter Coles, the son of Mr. A. W Coles, a neighbour of the Locks at Nortil Mymms, where they have lived throughout their 25 years of married life. Mr. A. W Coles, a former vice-president and very hard worker for the Middlesex Association, had taken part in the ringing at Twickenham on the wedding day in 1938.
This peal was a double celebration since two local ringers at Twickenham. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Turner, were also celebrating their silver wedding, having been married at Twickenham on April 26 th, 1938.
After the peal the ringers, some of whom had by then been joined by their wives, were the guests at supper of Mr. and Mrs. Lock and Mr. and Mrs. Turner. This was a jolly party, and Mr. E. A. Barnett, the secretary of the Central Council, expressed the hearty good wishes of all present to the two happy couples. The Vicar of Twickenham, Rev. W J. Davies, who was present with Mrs. Davies, said what pleasure it had given him to hear the bells on such an auspicious occasion, and how very glad they all were to share the happiness of the Locks and the Turners at such a time.
There were further celebrations for the Locks on April 27th, when they gave a lunch and tea party and afternoon's entertainment to the: relatives and friends in the Memorial Hall at North Mymms. Mr. Graham Lock, their elder son, who is reading for Holy Orders at Cambridge, was present but a notable absentee was Mr. Martin F. Lock, the younger son, who, on Good Friday, was taken to Barnet Hospital for an appendix operation and is having to stay there rather longer than usual for such cases. Several of the party visited him in the hospital on their way home. Mr. E. H. Kilby, secretary of the North and East District of the Middlesex Association. who was best man at the wedding. spoke of the happiness of Tom and Kath. and of the pleasure of their friendship. Mr. Lock suitably replied with an amusing few words.

Many readers of 'The Ringing World ' will know this delightful couple and will be aware of the good work they do. Kath was an enthusiastic president of the Ladies' Guild for three years and is a great worker still. During her term as president she attended meetings up and down the country, encouraging support for the Ladies' Guild. She is a great worker for the Women's Institules in Hertfordstire. and frequently travels to remote parts of the county on the Federation's behalf. Her service to North Mymms Church includes deputy organist and choirmaster for many years.
Tom has.long bsen an ardent worker for the Middlesex Associacion, having been general secretary since the untimely death of his friend, Ernest Turner. Before that he was Ringing Master and subsequently secretary of the North and East District. For many years he has arranged an annual peal ringing tour in various parts of the British Isles, and is now associated with the arrangaments for the projected trip to Australia. Nctwithstanding these activities he was for 21 years secretary of the Parochial Church Council at North Mymms, and is always at hand when building problems arise locally, such as with the North Mymms Memorial Hall. Throughout most of his career he has worked as a quantity slirveyor for the London County Council, and has achieved high rank.

A peal attempt at Nonth Mymms on the Saturday before the silver wedding was arranged by Martin Lock as a surprise to his parents, but was doomed to a double disappointment; first that Martin could not take part, and second that the attempt was unsuccessful.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

 ASSOCIATION
Northern Branch

The first quarterly meeting of the year was held at St. Michael's, Aylsham, on April 27th, when the service was conducted by the Rev. A. W. Holland, with Mr. N. J. A. Pumphrey as organist. The lesson was read by the president (Mr. F. N. Golden). Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal.

The Branch chairman (Mr. W. Love) was unable to be present through sickness, and the meeting wished him a speedy recovery. Mrs. S. Haddon (Norwich) and Miss B. Pardon (Aylsham) were elected ringing members, and the belfry elections of Miss $\mathbb{B}$. Gillian Schofield (Bradford) and Mr. Alan J. Frost (London) were ratified. It is hoped to hold a striking competition at Acle in the near future

Suffolk Guild Districts Reorganised

TMHE annual general meeting of the Suffolk 1 Guild was held at Ipswich on April 20ih Well over 60 members and visitors attended including some from Hertfordshire and Norfolk. During the course of the afternoon and evening the bells of St. Clement's, St Lawrence's, St. Margaret's, St. Mary Quay and $\mathrm{S}^{+}$. Matthew's were available for ringing and pui to good use in a wide variety of standard methods
The service was conducted by the Rev. J. Standen MoDougal in St. Margaret's Church at $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. , followed by tea and the business meeting at Manor House. Mr. C. W. Pipe (vice-president) presided over the tea and meeting, supported by Messrs. G. E. Symonds (vice-president), L. G. Brett (Ringing Master), R. W. M. Clouston (technical adviser) and . W. Blythe (general secretary and treasurer).
Mr. Pipe extended a warm welcome to all present. Speaking in general terms, he said that 1962 did not appear to be too promising from a statistical point of view, but on the other hand there had been plenty of activity and he felt confident that 1963 had better things in store. He urged all ringers to do their bit by finding that recruit, calling that first 720, quarter peal or peal, and by learning some new method and by regular support Apologies for absence were received from Miss Alice Lester. Mrs. C. W. Pipe, Mr. P. S. Bedford and Mr. C. J. Sedgley

The reports of the various officers revealed that 56 peals were rung. Membership was slightly down at 489. Eye hells were rehung and provided the diocese with yet another fine octave. Further restoration work wals envisaged for 1963. Mr. L. E. Last had been active in giving talks and lectures on bells and ringing.

IHIGHER SUBSCRIPTIONS
The accounts showed a considerable excess of expenditure over income. The treasurer antic:pated that the 1963 accounts would. however, make better seading than the present figures. but in the light of the trend over the last few years it was apparent that steps would have to be taken to improve the position, and the meeting ratified the proposals made at the last general meeting in January that the annual subscription be increased from 2s. 6d. to 5s., as from January 1 st, 1964. Other categories of membership are also being increased at the same time. Non-resident life membership will be increased to 10 s.

A course, sponiored by the East Suffolk Education Committee is to be held at Belstead House, Ipswich, from Friday to Sunday, Janwary 31st to February 2nd, 1964

A striking competition is to be held at Bredfield, a six bell tower, an August 31st. Ar anonymous donor offered to present a shield or cup to be compsted for annually. The meeting showed its appreciation in the usual manner and expressed its preference for a shield.

- A proposal, approved by the last general meeting in January, to reduce the number of Districts to five by amalgamating the two Central Districts, but at the same time transferring a number of towers to the North-East and South-East Districts and also a number from the North-East to the South-East. was ratified. The meeting also decided that this reorganisation should become effective immediately.
The officers were all re-elected. with one exception. Mr. C. J. Sedgley did not seek re-election as a trustee of the Pearson handbells, and Mr. Roger Whittell was elected in hi; stead.
The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks.

LUMLEY RINGING COURSE, 1963

The Durham and Newcastle Association held the second of its courses in ringing on April $6 t h$, and once again enjoyed the amenities of Lumley Castle. Co. Durham, for lectures and meals. By permission of the respective Rectors, the bells of Chester-le-Street. Hough-ion-le-Spring and Bishopwearmouth Parish Churches were available for practical belfry work
With the experience of last year's venture behind them. The orginising committee were able to provide a more comprehensive curriculum this time and. in accordance with a general desire of members. the course was presented in three grades-elementary, intermediate and advanced. The response of intending students was most gratifying for the officials concerned and over 80 names were registered for the classes-an increase of almost one-third on 1962.

The elementary grade was conducted by Messrs. E. P. Rock, and F. Hodgson, and they provided lectures and practical sessions for heginners ith the stage of ringing rounds and call changes. The syllabus here commenced with a study of tower bells, their fittings and action. and proceeded to deal with the principles of striking and the elements of change ringing and method structure. Illustrations were presented in the classroom with tape recordings and handhells, and practical instruction was given at Chester-le-Strect tower.
Mr. D. A. Bayles introduced the intermediate grade, which catered for the change ringer at the 'improver' stage, and he gave two lectures on method construction and its practical applications. In this the considered the Plain Bob system for producing changes on various numbers of bells and examined the rules and conventions of the 'regular' methods recognised by the Central Council. By means of paper exercises in the classroom and a practical sexsion in the tower at Chester-le-Street, he showed how to apply this knowledge to the ringing of various methods.
This grade then continued with a Jecture and practical session on Elementary Conducting given by Mr. K. Arthur. This provided for the aspiring conductor from the point of calling the first bob to the position of calling extents of Plain Bob Doubles and Minor, and contrasted 'boh-calling' and 'conducting.' Exercises in transposition etc., were worked out in the classroom and during singing at Houghton-le-Spring tower.

collected in the villaze the cost of the tifth bell. and again in 1432 faithfully worked for a sixth hell to be auded. It was his ambition gos hear a ring of eight as Billexdon. and through his enthusiasm this augmentation took place in 1958 . Unii recently he rang the Shrove Tuesday paniake bell. His son-in-law and grand-daughter are carrying on the family bellringing tradition.

MR. GEORGE CAMP

The passing of Mr. George Camp, of Fryerning. Essex, on March 24th, has left at hank in the life of the church there. For 26 year: he wis people's warden and for 55 years it ringer: he also did most of the verger's duties. He had a stroke ahout two years ago and was confined to hospital until his death.
George was a member of the hand which made a name for themselves in the $1930^{\circ}$ s in Surprise Minor. His business did not allow $720^{\circ}$ time for peal ringing, but to ring different 720 s for Sunday services gave him great pleasure. During the 1914-18 war, he served in the Essex Regiment and was awarded the Military Medal.

THE QUARTER FAILED

The advanced grade started with two sessions on method construction and its practical applications given by Mr. R. G. Turner. He tiscussed the construction of methods and the consequent properties of the bluc line. together with place notation and derivation of the "blue line from the sequence of places for the simpler Surprise methods. The practical application of the principles involved was then practised in the tower at Houghton-leSpring. This was followed by a lecture on - More Advanced Conducting by Mr. Bayles. who dealt with the principles and practice of conducting beyond the mere calling of bobs from an observation bell, basing his remarks on Plain Bob Major. As a practical exercise in the topics discussed, an attempt for a quarter peal of Bob Major in which each ringer shared in the conducting was made in the tower at Bishopwearmouth; unfortunately, this was lost after several good courses.
An optional feature of this year's course was a lecture on "Change Ringing on Handbells? given by Mr. Turner, who explained the principle of ringing handbells as a pair rathe: than as two "blue lines.' The basic coursing positions and the effect of internal places in changing these positions was dealt with. This class was limited to 10 students to allow for sufficient practical instruction to be given, but it was repeated in the evening after the conclusion of the general course to enable others who were interested to take part.

As on our previous visit, the facilities provided by the vice-Master, Dr. Prowse, and his staff at Lumley Castle contributed largely to the success of our efforts and everyone present was impressed by the quality of meals and service. Foblowing dinner in the Great Hall, a forum was held in the Junior Common Room and students were given an opportunity to voice criticism of the day's proceedings. Most comments were enthusiastic in their appreciation of the 'fare' provided and in support for a repetition of the occasion next year. Only one innovation, that of a further sub-division of the intermediate grade, seemed to be generally desired and this was duly noted by the Ringing Master and his committee.
A social evening in true ringers' style then followed in the same surroundings, but not hefore due votes of thanks had heen expressed to all thase who had made the course possible by their various contributions.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

The seven attending were supported by the "faithful four' from the North West District, whose support is always appreciated.
A short service was held by the Rector. In his address, he expressed his and parishioners pleasure to hear the bells ringing once again, Hi; wish is that a local band be formed, so That the bells can be kept ringing Sundas by Sunday

OUTING

TWYFORD, BERKS

Twyford ringers' Easter Monday outing had Send. Surrey, as their first call, but a telephone message on Sunday brought the unwelcome news of a fire at the church and withdrawal of permission to ring. Fortunately both the tower and the bells are safe, as we learned on calling at the church to meet the remainder of the party
A warm welcome at Shere augured well for the rest of the day. Across country by a pleasant ride to Horsham, where we found the hells very much to our liking. Bilkingshurst and Pulborough were visited before tea at Petworth. Some of the best ringing of the day was at Chiddingfold, and included a wellstruck touch of Grandsire Triples. Worplesdon wats the last tower of the day, and the ringing included a lidies' touch-well done, girls! Our thanks again to all who met and helped us.

CENTRAL COUNCIL AGENDA

TO some of our readers, the agenda of the Central Council meeting is uninteresting reading; indeed, anything to do with the Central Council is of no concern to them. To others the agenda has elements of excitement. as the meeting at Great Yarmouth is the first session of the 25 th Council, and in consequence officers and committees have to be elected.

Generally speaking, the Council does not go in for radical or revolutionary changes. Where officers and committee men are doing good work they are undisturbed, the general rule being never to impede a willing horse. Thus we find that practically all the conveners have a long record of service, and they do not lightly accept their responsibilities. Invariably their reports contain indications of useful work being accomplished, but at times there are signs of chafing at delay, particularly in regard to publications.

Significant, in an organisation which rather prides itself on continuity of service, is that the Council is promised an clection for the two leading positions-the president and vice-president. The position in regard to the presidency perhaps needs explaining. When Mr. Frederick Sharpe was elected to this office six years ago, the view was expressed that it would be to the advantage of the Exercise if there was a change in the presidency after two Councils (six years). There is no rule to this effect-not even a gentlemen's agreement-but a feeling beneath the surface that such a course should be adopted.

It thus came about that the retiring president nominated as his successor the vice-president. Canon Gilbert Thurlow. The second nomination of asking Mr. Sharpe to continue in office for another three years was received just before the completion of the agenda. He was proposed by the hon. treasurer of the Oxford Diocesan Guild Mr. Sharpe's mother Guild. The fact cannot be denied that he has found time from a very busy life to embellish the office of president. His services have not been confined to his own arduous committee, the Towers and Belfries, but he turns up most unexpectedly in such an outpost as the St. David's Guild to judge a striking competition, to lecture architects on bells at York, and to give handbell recitals in various churches and cathedrals, apart from the round of dinners and meetings.

Six years ago Canon Thurlow was elected to the vicepresidency, with the express purpose of one day taking the chair of the Council. He had qualities for the officeexperience of conducting big meetings, a ready tongue, a nimble wit and a love of bells and ringing. The prospect of a contest is no reflection on his ability or the opinion held at the time of his election to the vice-presidency that ultimately he would lead the Exercise.

Two popular men have been nominated for the vice-presidency-both are regarded as 'sound,' and when they speak at Council meetings they are followed with close attention. Mr. W. B. Cartwright has been for a number of years the hon. solicitor to the Council, and he keeps a watchful eye on new legislation as it might affect ringing generally. He is Master of the Worcestershire and Districts Association.

The other nominee is Mr. John Freeman, captain of Lincoln Cathedral band and hon. secretary to the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. His father, the late J. R. Freeman, was a revered member of the Council. The son is a more vigorous personality with ability to hold a national office with distinction.

There is another interesting item on the agenda in the amendment of rule proposed, whereby the convener of 'The Ringing World' Committee becomes an officer of the Council. The property, funds and assets of the Council are at present vested in the president, vice-president, hon. secretary and hon. librarian, and they have power to invest money and adopt such measures 'as seem to them necessary in the intcrest of the Council, subject to the approval of the Council.' This body is to be joined-if the amendment of rule is carried - by the convener of 'The Ringing World ' Committee.

The amendment is a fair and just recognition of the work done by the convener of this committec. The sound financial position of the Council has been built up by the wise direction of "The Ringing World.' Except for the Clement Glenn bequest, there has been no substantial contribution to the finances of the Council other than "The Ringing World.' The committec of the journal feel that it is only right and proper that in the employment of the revenue so produced their convener should be placed on a parity with the hon. librarian and other officers, in the important decisions that have to be taken from time to time.

Every body of size has to have an inner Cabinet. and this is really the function of these officers. Below them is that important body the Standing Committee, who thrash out contentious matters before a Council meeting and generally speaking give the Council a lead.

From the Truro Diocesan Guild comes a motion which we feel will be welcomed by all Diocesan Guilds and Associations, that in the quinquennial surveys of consecrated buildings expert opinion is to be taken in matters outside the normal work of an architect, particularly in regard to hells and bell frames. ## MIDDLESEX WANT TO PUBLISH SURPRISE MAJOR BOOK

THERE was a strong determination at the annual general meeting of the Middlesex County Association at St. Mary's, Hendon, on May 4th that a collection of Surprise Major methods of all those rung should be published. The collection was mainly the work of two members-Messrs. F. T. Blagrove and J. R. Mayne.

- The subject was introduced by the honorary treasurer (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow). who said he had been approached in the last few weeks to print the collection, and it was thought that jt could lo done to the financial benefit of the Association. He had been to two printers and to print a book of the size of Conrigan's would cost $£ 104$ for 500 copics, and about $\pm 120$ for 1.000 . In addition, there would be the cost of advertising, envelopes and postage. This was higher than they expected, and it would necessitate realising most of their cash resources, and after meeting the cost of their report it would mean that they would be on the red line for the greater part of the year.

The president (the Rev. C. C. Taylor), who presided, said there were questions they should consider. such as how many copies they would sell quickly and would they get their money back in fairly quick time. There was a firm at Gloucester that undertook church publications and met the cost by local advertisements. Perhaps that might be considered?
Mr. T. W. White pointed out the advantages of a Central Council publication by utilising reprints from "The Ringing World.' This had been done with a number of publications-such as Method Extension and originally with $\cdot \mathrm{On}$ Conducting.

The NEED OF THE EXERCISE
The Master (Mr. J. R. Mayne) said both Mr. B!agrove and himself had thought for a long time that the Exercise was in need of a collection of known Surprise Major methods similar to Corrigan's. It could be done through the Records Committee, who could bring a proposal before the Central Council for its consideration in the same way as the Sook on Minor. Mr. Blagrove had a collection of 200 methods. The number rung was now about 480 . They wondered whether this could be donz of their own bat. to the benefit of the Association.

The matter had been brought to a head b': a letter in 'The Ringing World ' from Mr. E. Chapman. who asked if anyone could be persuaded to publish the collection yet rung. He thought that an arrangement with The Ringing World would be very attractive, and publication would be quicker than through the Council. He did not think, in view of the trend of the Association's finances, that it was advisable to take the risk.
Mr . Blagrove said that in the early 50 's he pub'ished a collection giving the method and date of the performance. He had sbout 200 methods duplicated and it cost just over $£ 10$, and he still had some left. The trouble was advertising - $t$ cost 43. a time to advertise.
Mr. Maurice Hodgson thought it was a book more appropriate for the Central Council to pub! sh. If, however, the Association wanted to publish its own collection members could loan the money, and he was prepared to put up $£ 50$ as an interest free loan.
The honorary secretary (Mr. T. J. Lock): It this is done through the Central Counci] could we take it that Mr. Blagrove would make his collection available?
Mr. Blagrove: Yes, as far as 1 know there is no copyright.
Mr. Lock commented that as a representative of the Central Council, he could request for the matter to be brought up at the Standing Committee and for immediate action by the Central Council. If that could not be done in a reasonable period that representative could report back 10 their Association and contact the editor of The Ringing World to see if he could help.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Mr. Goodfellow. so test the of nion of the meeting. propnsed that a committer be appoinied to consider the publication of the collection.

Mr. John Hill seconded and said their War Stock inveestment had done them a very poor turn. It might be better to put the money to work and earn themselves is ditile profit. The resclution was carried by 17 votes to five.

Mr. Goodfellow suggested that the sub-committee could report to a special meeting of the Central Committes
Mr. Clive Simpson disagreed, and thought that a matter of this description should go before a special meeting of members

After further discussion it was resolved That the special committee. consisting of Messrs. Blagrove, Mayne and Tom Lock. report to the Central Committee of the Association.

IOSSES BY DEATH

The proceedings opaned with the company stunding and remembering those members who had died during the year, i.e.. T. A. Blow (Croydon), W. J. Bowden (Southgate), G. B. Cole (Lyme Regis), A. E. Coleman (North Walsham), H. E. Day (Hitchin). H. J. Eldred (Ealing). A. R. Glasscock (Southgate), H. E. C Goodenough (St. Albans), Preh. F W. Ferrars (Pcplar), E. Morris (Leicester), F.J.
Rumens (Chicugo. U.S.A.), R. W. S'annard Rumens (Chicugo, U.S.A.), R. W. Stannard (Barking). Miss G. F. Townsend (Uxbridge).
The Master (Mr. John R. Mayne), in his report, said he thought the trend of things was very hopeful, and a lot of good work was being done. He saw no need for pessimism at all, but, on the other hand. there was no need for complacency. The greatest progress was being made in the South and West District.
Among the places he would like to sce help given was Tottenham; there were neighbours who ought to be of great assistance to them. Heston and Harrow-on-the-Hill were fine examples of progress. and Edmonton had besn doing good work for some time.

The honorary treasurer (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow), reporting on finances, said receipls for the Bell Restoration Fund had increased by i) Both grants during the year were to places abroad (Kilis and Melbourne Cathedral) and it was the first time that grants had been given to places outside the Association's area. The batance sheet showed it balanee at bank of batince sheet showed : balance at bank of £143. Their Wiar Stock was now vialued at $£ 43$ 6s. 10 d . (nominal value $£ 73$ ).

With accounts were adopted.
With Mr. W. M. Coles in the chair, the secretary read his report and apologised that the printed report was not ready for distribution. The report, the 65 th, stated that regular service ringing was taking place at a number- of towers, though there was still much room for improvemeat, and ringing by arrangement was still too prevalent.

Steady progress had been made by the band at Harrow-on-the-Hill, who had set a fine example by their frequent presence and support of District meetings. Greater activity was reported from Feltham. Kingsbury, Staines and Uxbridge (St. Andrew's), whilst efforts were continuing to be made at Chiswick, East Bedfont. Gospel Oak and Hounslow.

CLERKENWELL PROBLEM

By the resignation of Mr. William Prockson from leadership at Clerkenwell. the Association's officers were now seeking. with the cooparation of the newly appointed incumbent, the best ways and means of preventing these bells from becoming silent. The report expeessed thanks 10 Mr . Prockson and his sister. Miss Mabel Prockson, for their devoted oervice 10 the church and betls at St. James

Clerkenwell.

Lecnard Stilwall, Worthing, having completed more than 50 years continuous memhership, became an honorary life member, and they were pleased to accord this privilege to uch a well-liked member of the Fxercise.
Mention was made of the new ring of eigh! at St. Andrew's. Holborn. that the bells of Christ Church. Southgate, had been improved by the bell founders, that St. Mary s, Hendon provided for the Central Office of Information a four-m nute film about bellringing and that Hampton Grammar School had started off with an active and successful year's record.

18 FIRST PEALERS

Sixty-two peals had been rung in 56 towers and six 'in hand.' Eighteen members had rung their first peal. The 450th peal on the bells of St. Mary's, Willesden, was rung on December 27th, and the Boxing Day peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 17 methods at Stanwell was a fine performance by youth, as three of the band were just 16 , and the conductor, 21, rang two *inside "bells. The peal of Stedman Doubles at Cranford completed the sequence of Doubles to Cinques in the method. for W. H. Coles. F. C. Price and J. B. Sansom. A significant revival in handbell ringing was noted by three peals of London Surprise Major, all conducted by J. R. Mayne. A. Cutler was the first person ever to ring peals in 200 different Surprise Major methods.

The chairman said it was an excellent report, and the Association could be proud of some of the things achieved.

Mr. Goodfellow reported that the Association's dinner would honour the life of Mr. October 4th. at the Century Hotel, Forly Avenue, Wembley Park. The president would take the chair and guests would include the Bishop of Willesden.

Officers re-elected were: President, Rcv. G. C Tiylor: Master, J. R. Mayne: treasurer, F. W. Goodfellow; secretary. T. J. Lock: assistant secretary, Miss R. M. Foreman librarian. G. A. Parsons; trustees. A. Culler, F. W. Goodlellow and T. J. Lock: auditor, M. Hodgson: Central Council representatives, F. T. Blagrove, F. W. Goodfellow, T. J. Lock and J. R. Mayne.
It was decided, subject to permission, 10 hold the next annual meeting at Sudbury.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. C. E. Welch (Vicar) for conducting the service. the president for his address. Miss Foreman and her mother and helpers for providing the tea and the incumbents of churches where ringing took place in the afternoon.

ARTS FESTIVAL 'RUNG IN' AT HILLINGDON

The first Uxbridge Festival of Arts is being held this year and a full and varied programme of events will occupy the whole of May. Hundreds of local people will be taking purt and practically the whole range of artistic. musical and cultural tastes has been catered for. The Halle Orchestra, under Sir John Ba-b:rolli, are among the many celebrities The part.
The St. John's Guild. Hillingaon. was therefore delighted when the Guild of Aits suggested that it would be mosi appropriate if one of the local arts, practised in the ancient tower of St. John's, could ring in the festival on its first day. And so it was arranged that while guests were assembling in Rutland House School, opposite the church. for the inaugural ceremony by the Mayor of Uxbridge, Alderman C. J. Gadsden, J.P.. the following ringers rang 1.259 Grandsire Caters: T G. Bannister 1, Mrs. H. G. Hart 2, F. W. 4, H. G. Hart 5, A. R. Turley 6. M. J. Palmer 7. A. R.
Coles 10.

Afterwards some of the ringers attended the opening ceremony and enjoyed the wine and cheese provided. Their ringing was mentioned by the Mayor. The organisers original dea was that the reception would be held in the grounds of the school, and that the guests could listen to the bells, but the weather put pad to that idea. It is encouraging to know that people think good ringing is worth listening to. The thought that the headmaster was throwing open his premises to enable people to listen to the bells was intriguing to local ringers as he hates bells.

WEST MEON. HANTS.-On May 5 th. 1.260 Drubles (six methods): Maureen White 1. R. A Bassell (cond.) 5, K. G. Waller 6. For Matins.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

THE annual general mecting of the Lancushre Association took place at St. fortunately. the weather was inclement. but in spit: of this approximately 150 members ware present. One of the most pleasing features of the meeting was the number of young people who attended. The usual rintring took place before and after the meating. and many methods were rung.
The meeting was preceded by the annual service. held in St. Saviour's Church, at which the Vicar, the Rev. J. A. Slater, was the preazher. An excellent lea was served in the school room, after which the vice-president, MI. C. Crossthwaite, opened the meeling.

The conly matter arising out of the minutes was the Association's proposed library. Mr. D. Ogden reported that this was not yet operating, but he thought the organisation would be completed by the time the rext committee meeting took place in September.

17 YEARS' SERVICE

The vice-president announced the re-clection of the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith 3s president. and said that he was sorry Mr. Smith was not at the meeting to take the chair. There was only one nominaticn for the office of ringing secretary, namely, Mr. J. P. Partington, and the viee-president declared him elected. The vice-president said how sorry they were that the retiring ringing secretary. Mr. S. Ll. Parry. had decided to resign after 17 years, and thanked him for the services he had rendered to the Association during those years. Mr. Parry thanked the members for showing their appreciation.
The vice-president declared Mr. J. F. Wood re-elected to the office of treasurer, and announzed the election of the following four members to the office of Central Council representatives: Messrs. James E. Burles, C. Crossthwaite, R. Leigh and D. Ogden. Mr. Crossthwaite said he regretted in some ways that there had been a 'clean sweep,' as he thought these things should change gradually, and it was probably very unusual for the Central Council to receive four new names at once.
The committee's and ringing secretary's reports were taken as read. The balance sheet and auditor's report, showing the worth of the Association to be just over t 500 , was presented by the treasurer (Mr. J. F. Wood).

STRIKING COMPETITIONS

Four resolutions were carried, the most controversal one being on the question of striking competiticns. It was agreed finally that striking competitions shall be recognsed as official activities of the Association, hut no prizes shall be awarded at the competitions.
The Woodhouse ringing machine was demonstrated by Mr. Gordon Thwaites. who had completely rebuilt and remodelled the machine s.) that today it was probably one of the finest change ringing mazhines in existence. It was the result of some five years work and the workmanship had to be seen to be believed. and :tas certan!y a piece of equipment that, in its field. would bear comparison with anything ever madz. The machine will be demonsirated at Branch meetings, if any Brinch so de res and can make arrangements for at suitable room to be available, and an autherised cparator to be present. The gra:: ful thanks of the members are extended 10 Mr . Thwaizs for the production of this exc-! lent examnle of a change ringing machine. alsc, to Mrs. Thwaites and all those who had iil any way assi: ed Mr. Thwaites
The venue of the next annual general meeting will bz in the Preston Branch. The vice-president gave thanks to all who had contributed to making the meeting a success.

QUARTER PEAL OUTING HONOURS BISHOP'S ENTHRONEMENT

A report of a quarter peal tour in 'The Kinging World' earlier this year inspired one of the younger mambers of the Lady St. Mary, Wareham. band to organise a similar outing of his own. This co:ncided with the consecration of the Bishap of Salisbury, which took p'ace on April 27th. By 8.45 am . the band arrived at St. Mary's. Sturminster Marshall. The chosen method was Little Bab Minor, the theory being that this was more likely to be successful while the band was' fresh. However, being so early in the morning the band was not quire 'with it' and. coupled with the fiiet that the bells were both heavy and difficult to ring, the attempt came to an abrupt hatt after some 400 changes.
On then to Witchampton. where the bells were soon set going to Plain Bch Doubles. callrd by our youngest member. Afterwards compliments were received from some of the villagers. who were delighted to hear the usually silent bells being rung. Feeling more cheerful. the band drove on again along winding country lanes to Pimperne. Fiere the ropes of two of the five bells fall within 18 inches of one another, so ropes had to be kept tight. The only incident in the quarter of Grandsire rung occurred during the first sixscore, when a wail of 'I'm lost.' was heard from the lady conductor's corner. On descending, we were greeted by the Rector, who was pleased to have had his bells rung.
A stop was made for lunch on Iwerne Hill, with its view over the lovely Blackmore Vale. A small gas cooker was quickly produced and in next to no time the smell of fried sausages and onions was wafted across the surrounding fields. Suitably refreshed, we continued on 10 Sturminster Newton. where we were joined by Colin Heawood and his young family. These heavy bells sounded beautiful and itgood quarter of April Day was rung. At Shillingstone we were greeted by the Rev. P. Grubb, who said the Guild office with us before ringing. Our organiser. Graham Elmes. called Plain Bob Minor after a last minute panic, during which he found that he trad learnt his Wrongs right and his Rights wrong! The last tower visited was Dunveston, where much valuable time was wasted searching for the key. thus foiling the quarter attempt, but an enjoyabie ring was had in the time left.
The final call was Tarrant Keynston, to the home of Judith and Rass Kobertson for te: 1 and a welcome rest. Thanks to all incumbents for allowing us the privilege of ringing. to Graham. for his organisation, and Mr. Charlie Bishop, of Wimborne. for joining us at short notice when work prevented nthar Wareham ringers from participating. ## Welsh Ringers Disappointed

Dear $\operatorname{Sir},-A$ party of 40 members of the St. David's Diocesan Guild journeyed 173 miles to Coventry to attend the Rally of Ringers ' and we feel we must protest strongly about the poor organisation at the only two towers where we planned to ring.
Firstly, at St. Nicholas'. Warwick. On attempting to enter the ringing chamber the door was slammed in our faces, und we were told (through the door). 'You can't come in!" We waited ten minutes or so on the staircase until the door was opened and we were allowed in.
We were horrified at the way people, including ourselves, were shouldered bodily out of the way by 'grabbers' after a rope. many of these grabbers being members of the socalled gentle sex. However, to crown it all. when one of our party succeeded in getting a rope (more by luck than anything else) he turned to take off his jacket, and before he could turn back again his rope was in the hands of a young lady and it was 'Trebie going, gone!' before he could protest. I'm afrajid that finished us and we left as quickly as passible.

Secondly, Holy Trinity, Stratford-on-Avon. Here we met a gentleman locking the church door and telling us that there was no ringing because of a practice service for a B.B.C. outside broadcast. A quick glance at the 'R.W.' showed ringing from $7-8.30$ p.m.. the time was then 7.10 p.m. Very disappointed we started back towards our coach only to hear the bells start ringing. It seems that some stout hearts, including a few of our party, had literally talked their way into the ringing chamber, via another doar.
It seems to us that the organisation between the Coventry Guild and each tower was left very much to chance. The Guild must have known that quite a number of people would be bound to try for a ring at the towers listed in the 'R.W.' and some ideal of the numbers to be expected would surely have heen of some help to the towers to cater for them.
In conclusion I must say that, other than the ringing disappointments, the trip was definitely worth while and wils thoroughly enjoyed by everyonc.-Yours faithfully.
A. F. WALTERS,

Note.- St. Mary's Church, Cardigan.

Parson's Augmentations

Dear Sir,-A recent item in Belfry Gossip caused me to look up an jitem that I contributed to Belfry Gossip just over three years ago.
In 'The Ringing World ' January 15th, 1960. page 40: The Rev. E. H. Fenwick is leaving Benfieldside, Co. Durham. this month. after holding the living for 21 years. In 1957 he was instrumental with his ringers in having the bells rehung. At Lapworth the five bells there will present him with another challenge in that line. His daughter, Angela, has leamed to ring and she will doubtless urge him on with the task. Ringers in Co. Durham wish with the task. Ringers in Co. Durham wish him and his family well in their new home.'
Now we have 'Ringing World " April 19 th, 1963, page 264: 'The five bells at Lapworth. Warwickshire, have been rehung and a treble added. The bells are to be dedicated on Sunday. April 28th, at 6 p.m. Evensong. There will be ringing after the service.'
1 mentioned these items at our meeting recently at North Shields, and was asked to convey the congratulations of this Associat:on to the Rev. E. H. Fenwick.-Yours sincerely, DENIS A. BAYLES.
Chester-le-Street, Co. Durham.

Northants Towers

Dear Sir,- $-\mathbf{I}$ was interested in Mr. Dove's letter regarding Farthinghoz and Thenford. In 1936, a party of us rang at six five-bell towers one afternoon, the last two being Farthinghoe and Thenford, i have no recollection of the former, but the condition of Thenfard bells remains clearly in my mind, even after 27 years. We rang them halfway up, brought them hursiedly down and went upstairs to irspect them: after tightening the looser nuts we rang one 120 with our hearts in our mouths and departed.

Another recollection of that afternoon was a poignant inscription on a tombstone in Thenford churchyard:

For 20 yeurs I was a maid,
For one 1 was a wife:
An hour I was a mother,
And then I lost my life -Yours faithfully.

Porthkerry, Glam.

Another Who Rang

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}-1$ was one of a small party who rang on the Northants rings of Farthinghoe and Thenford on August 8ith. 1936. The condition of neither ring was good. and it is possible that these bells have not been rung since then.
I recall certain features of each tower. Farthinghoe bells are anti-clockwise, with the ropes falling to ground level around the uncased mechanism of the church clock, which was actually working from ground level! At Thenford we had to tighten up the bolts on one side of the third headstock to prevent the bell catching on the frame. These are the most tuneless apology for a ning of bells on which I have ever rung!
Other amendments which may he made to the latest Dove are as follows: Swaffham Bulbeck. Cambs, which appeared on my visit a few weeks ago never to have heen in ringable condition during the present century; Grandborough. Warwicks. which were condemned ahout the year 1900: Walsgrave-onSowe, Last rung in 1928: Chadshunt. Warwicks, derelict since 1928. when the stonework of the tower wis declared unsafe; Hillmorton, Rughy, which were in bad going order in 1934.Yours, etc.,

Old Founders

Dear Sir.-Can anyone give me any information on founders Edward Neale, of Burford, and J. Gardner, of Teibury?
While ring ng on the four bells at Cherington recently I obtained these inscriptions from the bells (tenor about 9 cwt.).
Treble-EDWARD NEALE, OF BURFORD, MADE ME. 1672.
2nd-EDWARD NEALE MADE ME FOR CHERINGTON. 1683.
3rd.-RECAST BY J. GARDNER, OF TETBURY. 1870.
Tenor.-EDWARD NEALE, OF BURFORD, MADE ME. 1644.
There were some interesting patterns round the crowns of the bells, and on the treble was a rather large crown, which was obviously the founder's emblem.-Yours sincerely.

English of Yesteryear

Dear Sir--Is not my old friend Bryan Woolley a little hard on our forefathers when he describes such terms as Bar, Tap Room, etc., as unimag:native?
These beautiful words, beloved of generations of Englishmen, are not anly as sonorous as the rolling Latin of the Roman Catholic Church or the clear English of the Prayer Book, but in the ir very simplicity redolent of pleasures past, present and (I hope) to come.
The present day tendency in pubs to employ high sounding names for often very uncomfortable and exorbitantly expensive rooms seems to have been copied from estate agents who w II persist in calling a lavatory or closet a "toilet.' a kitchen a ' breakfast room,' a scullery a 'kitchen,' etc., etc., culminating in that abomination of abominations indoor sanitation for an upstairs, lavatory. We also have rodent operative, for rat catcher; 'secondary modern' or 'comprehensive, schools for Council or Board Schools, where. in the old days. a multitude of very useful facts was drilled into us by liberal use of the cane.
A certain public house, near to here, for many years possessed a useful structure which. like the Windmill. never closed, but now all is gone and a very garish erection with a flaring sign 'Steak Bar' occupies the site. I never knew steak was pulled through a pipe!
In conclusion, it seems to be a regrettable fac! that, in many pubs, although the house has been done up in truc Homes and Gardens style, the landlord has not and remains the old Adam.- Yours sincerely.
Harborne.

ALFRISTON-VILLAGE OF ENDEARING CHARM

By T. A. BEVIS

SUSSEX is justifiably famed for a translyient grandeur, reflected from grean slopes, hedgerows, multifarious trees and verdant pastures, and s loved for its endzaring charm, enriched in proportionate quantities, nurtured in the appeating quietness of villages cling:ng to a history which casily st s the hearts of Englishmen.
Visit Alfriston and take a step back to yesteryear!

Alfrision has a long and honoured pedigree. 100 per cent pure in the annals of a hundred decades, beginning at a time when inhabitants $o^{c}$ lang ago listened in disbelief to the illtidings borne by messengers that the:r warriork:ng had fallen at Senlac Field-a few miles away-and that the militant and victorious Conquerer at last had possession of the domain.

Nowadays the village slumbers. graciously overcome by age, and seems contenced to let the busy world pass by. It is a haven of peace and plenty. The clinking of cups and saucers from thatched cottages and from irresis: ble tea gardens are indizative of those alluring qualities forever beckoning thase who love to wonder and savour that atmosphere which only England can give.
St. Andrew's Church is the immediate attraction. It is the glory of Alfriston, ascended from enduring foundations, well proportioned ant spacious. a splendid trihute to the craftsmen who, in 1360, erected the fane all at one time without later additions. 115 feet long and 70 feet wide at the transspts, St. Andrew's is thought to have been the model for Poynings. Church. It stands upon a mound on part of the village green known as the Tye. and is built in the shape of a Greek cross with carefully selected and carefully knapped flints. and with greensand quoins and facings. The low central tower is capped with a shingled broach spire, which underwent repair in 1905.
The interior is extremely conmodious and the dimensions and layout of the building are in complete harmony, a single outstandine: feature being the beautiful arches supporting the tower piers, which are semi-octagonal and fluted.

RINGING BEFORE HIGH ALTAR

Owing to the short height of the tower. barely topping the high-pitched roof, it is necessary for the bells to be rung from the neeessary for the bells to be rung from the ground floor of the crossing. The ropes fall directly before the high altar, a feature which, when the bells are ringing. affords great delight to the congregation and not a litile wonder and embarrassment (?) 10 visiting ringers. Those who are strange to this procedure may well experience a sensation similar to that of a juggler taking the stage for the first time!
Of the six bells-restored and rehung in a new frame in 1928-five are modern. The treble and third were cast by T. Mears, of London, in 1819 and 1811 respectively: a note in the church reg'sters records: Be it rememhered by all good men and let it suffice as an instance of generosity worthy of their imitation: that Mr. John Ade. Yeoman, of Alfriston, did of his own free gift present to the said parish the first bell in the peal of that Church. the same having undergone a complete repair this 12 th day of December, 1811.-Thomas Norris. Minister.

The second and fourth bells (originally dated 1 f98. but recast in 1928) were the handiwork of John Wood, a well known 17th rentury bell founder. who had his business at Alfr'ston. Number two is. in actual fact. al 'lodger,' having been made for Berwick Church and sold to Alfriston n 1811. circumstances of which gave rise to the couplet:

- The parson was pocr. and so were the people. Sn they sold their hell to mend the steeple.
The old fifth of the ring (1587). cracked in the crown. : preserved in the church and mav be seen at the west end of the nave.
Although light in weight. the tenor is 'hosw' with age. She was cas! in the $14 \mathrm{th}^{\prime}$ centurv and it is conjectured that her founder was William. Woodward.

An agreement for the recasting of a beil in 1698 is still preserved at Berwick. In addition to the recasting of a bell, the founder had also to make new brasses, or sockets in which the bells lurn for all four bells in the steeple, at a cost of $£ 510 \mathrm{~s}$. The agreement stipulated that the churchwarden provide fuel at the parish church of Alfriston, for convenience sake. as John Wood had already a furnace at that village.
The Commission on the State of Churches in 1686 recorded that at Alfristen one bell was cracked and another reyuirsd a clapper. These two bells may have been those recast by John Wood.
Two wills of 1543 outline bequests for the repair of bells: In one, William Osborne mentions, To ye castyng of ye brokyn bell. I wyll vis. viiid. and the other by Mylys Batman. I bequeath Towards the castyng of Batman. I beque the third ball iis.

HOGHION LADIES' FINE RECORD

In the dark days of the First World War (1914-1918) ringing continued in most towers. but only under difficulties, due to so many ringers being away from thome in the forces. To fill the gaps in the ranks at home, many ladies came forward 10 learn to ring, and it was at this time Miss May Clayton and Miss Jane Wadsworth, amongst others, look up singing at the Lancash re village of Hoghton, 01 the Preston-Blackburn old road.
Over the years, and unt: a few months ago. these two ladies have continued to give loyal service. Between the wars, at a time when travelling in rural parts was not so easy as nowadays, and peals not so zasily come by. Miss Clayton (now Mrs. Windle) fook part in over forty peals.
Now, not so young as they were, and the tower steps proving rather too much for them. they have retired from ringing. It was intended to arrange a little soz:al evening to mark their retiring, but with the prolonged severe weather and the indisposition of Mrs. Windle, this was dispensed with, and instead. the Vicar of Hogi'on (Rev. W. F. W. Richmond) and a band of ringers visited the two ladies in their homes for a chat, and to piesent each of them. on behalf, of the parishioners, with an attractive table lamp.
Later in the evening a well struck and musical quarter pend was rung. and as the church lies across the fields from their homes, they were able to listen.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

THE attendance at the 17 th annual meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, held at the Minster. Southwell, on April 27 th, was the largest recorded in the short history of the largest recorded in the short history of the Guild, there being over 120 ringers and friends at the business meeting

Evensong, conducted by Canon R. Leeper, vice-president of the Guild, was well attended. and a special prayer was said in memory of the late chairman, Canon R. F. Wilkinson.
The business meeting. following a most enjoyable tea, was presided over by the viceshairman. Mr. F. W. Midwinter.

A minute's silence was observed for three members who had passed away during the past year. namely Messrs. J. E. Hobbs (Nuthall), A. V. Dent (East Bridgford) and J. Worspool (Ruddington), coupled with Wilkinson (West Bridgford), who died on April 10 th.

Four new members were elected, namely the Rev. M. C. C. Melville (Clifton), B. Crooke and Miss B. Cooke (Greasley) and Miss M. and Miss B. Cooke Deveraux (Newark).

The annual report having been in circulation for almost a month. it was resolved to take all the reports as read, and they were confirmed without comment.

The Peal Committee reported that 46 peals had been rung during the year, a decrease of eight; conductors numbered 20, a decrease of eight; conductors numbered 20, a decrease of two. R. Baldwin heading the list with ten. First pealers numbered 15 , as again 16 the previous year, which together augurs well for the future.

11 FIRSTS FOR GUILD
A record year of first performances for the Guild, with 11 firsts for the Guild and one first by a resident band of Bristol S . Major were reported. The other firsts were Cambridge S Maximus. Yorkshire S. Maximus and Stedman Cinques, all on the new 12 at Southwell. Yorkshire Surprise Royal, Spliced Surprise Major in three methods, Hatfield, ErdingIon and Overseal Surprise Major. 'two Minor

The honorary general secretary (Mr. W. L. Exton), in his report, welcomed several new towers. and reported on the success of the formation of the Bingham District. thus bringing the Guild membership up to 468 , an ing the Guild increase of 26.

Perhaps the most important cvent of the past year had been the dedication on Whit Saturday of the new ring of 12 bells at the Minster. Southwell, by the president of the Guild. the Lord Bishop of Southwell. the Guild. the Lord Bishop of Southwell.
Grateful thanks were expressed to Sir Stuart C. Goodwin, the donor of the hells. Advent Sunday saw the dedication hy Bishop Mark Way of the two additional irebles to complete a very fine octave at Balderton.
The report finished with an appeal to all Districts to visit their lesser known towers and i) try to estahlish contact with and encourage the ringers known to exist at these towers.
The honorary treasurer's report and accounts evealed a small loss of $£ 319 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d , on the revealed a small loss of $£ 319 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d . on the year's working. which was almost entirety due to several non-recurring expenses. The Bell Repair Fund stood at $£ 97$ 1s. Ild., from which the chairman announced that the committee had just recommended a donation of $£ 20$ lowards the cost of the recent rehanging of East Bridgford bells.

THE NEW CHAIRMAN

Mr. F. W. Midwinter was elected to fill the vacant position of chairman. In thanking members for their confidence, he paid tribute to his predecessor. the late Canan R. F. Wilkinson, who had held the post of Guild chasirman since the Guild was formed in 1946.

The honorary secretary welcomed to the diocese the Rev. M. C. C. Melville, who had recently moved to Clifton, and nominated him for vice-chairman; this was duly seconded and carried unanimously.
The remaining officers were re-elected en bloc, with the exception of the Peal Commistee, where Mr. H. Poyner was elected to fill the vacancy due to Mr. D. H. Rooke not wishing to stand again. Will all conductors please note that all peal compositions should be- forwarded to Mr. H. Poyner, 80, Ollerton Raad. Ordsall. Retford, and not to Mr. D. H. Rooke as previously.
Under the theading "Any Other Business." Mr. Bennett raised the validity of a team entering the Crawford Cup competition under the name of a tower at which they did not ring on Sundays. This was debated at length, it being finally sesolved to leave the matter to be decided between the District Committee and the judges.
A proposition by Mr. Poppleston on behalf of the Wollaton tower that the Crawford Cup Rule 12 be amended to read, The length of the Test Piece to be 360 changes of Doubles or Minor, or not less than 336 changes of Triples or Major in any method,' was carried.
It was finally proposed that the committee be asked to reconsider the rules at their nexi committee meeting and report back to the next annual meeting.
The chairman suggested that in view of the success of the present annual meeting, perhaps the meeting would like to consider holding the annual meeting at Southwell again next year. this was carried, there being 13 votes against. Mr. H. T. Rooke asked if the meeting could be fixed for the Saturday following Easter: this was agreed, subject to the ing Easter: this was agreed, subject to the bells being available. (iPlease note, next A.G.M. April 4th. 1964.)

Mr. Shonfeld suggested that perhaps more local information could be inserted in the annual report, possibly on the lines of the Leicester Diocesan Guild report.
A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Provost for the use of the bells. Canon R. Leeper for the service, the ladies for an excellent tea and the executive officers of the Guild for their work during the past year was proposed by Mr. S. W. Fossey and carried proposed by Mr. S. W. Fossey and carried unanimously. unanimously.

First to ring was the young Thurlaston band. In their Pla:n Bob Minor there were 85 faults. Next came Burbage (Grandsire Doubles) 79 faults: Sapcote (Spliced Surprise Minor in five methods). 49 faults: Higham-on-the-Hill (call changes). 90 faults: Stoney Stanton (Cambridge Surprise Minor). 47 faults.

questions relating to bells were addressed to churchwardens, viz.: the number of bells and when were they last inspected. In his address the Archdeacon did not draw any special deduction from the answers. Probably this is a forerunner towards an ultimate expert survey. We know that the Archdeacon in question has a copy of the Council's publication 'Preservation and Repair of Bells, etc.'-a book which should be on every archdeacon's bookshelf and in possession of churchwardens where a ring of bells is in their church.
Apart from what is contained in the committee reports, the Great Yarmouth Council meeting gives every indication of providing material for discussion afterwards. and representatives when they go back to their Guilds will be ahle 10 tell the Exercise that there is vitality at the fountail head.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION HAVE A NEW TITLE

$\mathrm{A}^{\mathrm{T}}$ the annual general meeting of the Derbsshire Association, held in Derby on April 20th, the attendance of over 80 included a large contingent from the Chesterfield District and was the largest for several years. Prior to the annual service in St. Peter's. conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. A. Shaw), ringing in a wide variety of methods was enjoyed at Belper and Darley Dale in addition to St. Peter's, St. Alkmund's and the Cathedral in Derby.

After an excellent tea in the Church Hall the business meeting followed, with the president of the Association. the Provost of Derby (the Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes), in the chair. In his opening remarks, the Provost congratulated the Association on another year of progress, and also made special mention of the large number of young people present, which augured well for the future of the Association. The general secretary (Mr. B. P. Morris) reported a record membership of 367 ringing and 15 honorary members, and also the welcome addition of seven more towers into union with the Association. Losses through death included the following members: A. E. Parsons and W. Dickinson (Staveley). S. Boundy (Fainfield), F. HiM (Ripley) and E. Morris (Leicester). An apology for absence was also received from the Bishop of Derby. the Right Rev. G. F. Allen, who is the patron of the Association.
The report of the peal secretary (Mr. D, R. Carlisle) showed the total of 45 peals in 1962 to be the lowest since 1953. Langley Surprise Major and Spliced Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal had been rung for the first time, int addition to which eight members had rung their first peal and one member had conducted a peall for the first time.

SUPPORT FROM 60 P.C.C.S

The accounts, as presented by the general treasurer (Mr. J. C. Woolley), showed an excess of expenditure over income of $£ 15$. This was due in part to subscription arrears, and also to such jtems as new stocks of stationery and receipt books, which would not occur again for some time. The report on she Bell Repair Fund by $1 \mathbf{M r}$. G. Halls showed the finances to be in a very healthy state, with a balance of over £132. Almost 60 Church Councils were now supporting the fund and grants had been paid to Pleasley ( $£ 10$ ). Scarcliffe ( $£ 10$ ). Sawley ( $£ 2$ ) and Duffield ( $£ 310$ s.).
Under the list of proposed alterations to rules, the two most controversial were that the title should be changed to the Derby Diocesan Association of Church BeH Ringers and that each member should pay an annual subscription of an amount that they thought their membership was worth-subject to a minimum of four shillings. Considerable discussion ensued, during which arguments both for and against the alterations were heard, but on putting the alterations to the vote they were both accepted by overwhelming majorities.

With the addition of Mr. $\mathbb{M}$. Phipps to the Central Council representatives, all the officers were re-elected as follows: President. the Provost of Derby: treasurer, Mr. J. C.
Woolley: secretary, Mr. B P. Morris, Gable Woolley: secretary, Mr. B. P. Morris, Gable End, 14. Greenway, Ashbourne: irustees. End, 14. Greenway, Ashbourne: trustees.
Messrs. F. R. Lowe and H. Taylor; peal Messrs. F. R. Lowe and H. Taylor; peal secretary Mr. G. Halls, treasurer Mr. J. Sternitt; Central Council representatives, Messrs. A. Mould, G. Halls and M. Phipps.
Glossop was chosen for the next quarterly meeting on July 6th, with Derby again as the venue for the 1964 A.G.M. Messrs. J. F. Smallwood and G. Paulson, of Darley Dale. together with Miss M. Wickman, of St. Peter's, Derby. were elected honorary life members. A collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised over $£ 4$, before a comprehensive vote of thanks by Mr. F. Adams brought a very successful meeting to a close. M. P. P.

SLUUGH. BUCKS.-On April 2ist, 1,280 Spliced Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Major: J. F. Bowler 1. Jennifer Sceeny 2, Pamela M. Jervis 3. D. P. Hilling 4, H. Oglesby 5, E. S. T. Farr 6, W. Birmingham 7. J. K. Ward (cond.) 8. For the I. Geurge's Day parade service.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

A visit to Lifton by the S. W. Branch takes place every two or three years, and is an occasion which is always looked forward to with great pleasure. It is a foregone conclusion that the event will be a great success, as the ready permission is backed by a hearty welcome from the Rector and the local ringers, headod by Messrs. Brimmacombe and Benoy. April 27 th proved no exception, except that the Rector, the Rev. M. E. Thornewill, who had come to Lifton since the last visit in 1961, was unable to be present. The Branch was welcomed by the assistant priest (the Rev. Mr. Wright).

This lovely village, which is three miles from the Carnish border, lies between Launceston and Okehampton. The dittle gardens, with their arnay of flowers, are very beautiful. The well known firm of Ambrosia is at Lifton, and it was here that the Rector worked as an ordinary workman for two or three months before his induction; in his own words, to get to know the people amongst whom he would be ministering.

Ringing before the service included Girandsire Triples, 'Stedman Triples, Plain Bob Major, Kent and Cambridge, and was supervised by Mr. H. H. Thomas. Between 60 and 70 ringers took part, and came from as far afield as Sidmouth in S. Devon to Coombe Martin in N. Devon.

The ringers' service was conducted by the assistant priest, and the address was given by the Rev. Mr. Matthews, who became the Vicar of Brentor recently.
Mr. H. H. Thomas presided at the business meeting, when Master Robert Stead, of Emmanuel Church, was elected a member, and a tower election of Mr. Read, of Galmpton, was confirmed. Welcoming the new members, the chairman said that Robert had been a member of Emmanuel choir for three or four years, and for at least a year before it was decided he could start his tuition as a ringer he came into the belfry to watch the ringing before service. Guild certificates were presented to Messrs. L. Cundy, G. Frise, C. Burden and E. G. Glover, all from the Lifton area.

Mr. Matthews announced that the five bells at the little church at the top of Brent Tor were to be rehung. This church is a landmark for miles around, and a very interesting article by the Rev. John Scott appeared in - The Ringing World' a few weeks ago.

The comprehensive vote of thanks included the ladies responsible for tea, all of whom. with one exception, are wives or closely connected with Guild members.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Bedfordshire Association was held at Biggleswade on May 4th, and attracted a large attendance.

Several towers in the area were at the disposal of members during the morning and afternoon, and very good use was made of them. Some 80 members enjoyed an excellent te.t, which was followed by the business meeting.

The most important item in a fairly heavy agenda was the election of a general secretary to succeed Mr. Stephen Ivin, and Mr. Alan Smith accepted the office.

Miss E. Steel expressed the thanks of all to the incumbents of Biggleswade and other panishes for so kindly allowing the use of their bells, and also to the president of the Association for presiding at the meeting.

Thanks were accorded to Mr. G. Dodds. for the excellent work he foas done in training and helping the young ringers of Studham. and also for the great interest he has taken in Coddington hells, which. it is confidently hoped, will soon be heard again, after a silence of many years.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

At the annual general meeting of the Society

 on April 30th. the following officers were elected for the $1963 / 64$ session: Master, Derek M. Sawyer; secretary, Janet D. Phillips; treasurer. Maria E. Kirby; tower secretary, C. Martin Foster.

$\mathrm{M}^{\mathrm{R}}$
IR. ROBERT PRESTON, well known ringer of Wollaton, Nottingham. and Miss Mary Helena Whitehead, of Plumtree, near Nottingham, were married on Apsil 27th at St. Leonard's Church, Wollaton.

The bride was given away by her father, and wore a white Swiss embroidered organza dress and a headdress of three white satin roses held in place with a shoulder length veil. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley

Mr. Preston was until recently Ringing Master at Wollaton, and was Ringing Master of the Nottingham District of the Southwell Guild during 1962-3, unt: he took up new employment near Torquay, where the couple will now live.

The tower bells were rung before and after the service, and the couple were attended by handbell ringers as they left the churchyard.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

N.E. District Striking Contest

A District meeting was held at Thorington on May 4th for the purpose of running off the striking competition. Six teams had entered, viz.. two from Kirby-le-Soken, and one each from Harwich. Mistley, Ardleigh and St. Leonard's, Colchester, but the Jast named team scratched, having to ring for a wedding.

Four teams rang Bob Minor and one Bob Doubles. All five teams contained a happy mixture of youth and age: the Mistley team had three generations of the Honeywood family. With Mr. Harry Millatt as M.C., the proceedings went without a hitch, so that there was about half-hour of ringing time available for the non-participants before the service.

The Rector (Rev. D. B. Griffith) conducted the service, and Mr. Frank Lufkin, she District Master, read the lesson. The choir seemed to consist mostly of the local ringers, and it was obvious that at Thorington the backbone of the church consists of the ringers, as in so many country villages.
After tea the judges, Messrs. E. P. Duffield, Walter Arnold and Frank Claydon. gave their verdict. Mr. Duffield said they had had an enjoyable and novel experience. The striking. while not being of that perfection expected of selected bands. was acceptable for the standard of Jocal bands. Some teams lost points when a ringer failed to give open handstroke leads.

The results were: 1, Kirby 'A' team, 37 faults: 2. Ardleigh, $39: 3$, Kirby ${ }^{8} \mathbf{8}$ ' team. 45 : equal 4. Harwich and Mistley. 58. The first two teams will go to Stebbing on July 6th for the final.

Mr. Donald Munro, the organist. had made a tape recording of the competition ringing. and this was played back after the meeting.
Furthe: ringing followed.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK JOSEPH WOOD

The Church of St. Nicholas, Ingrave, has lost a faithful servant with the passing of Mr. Fredenick Joseph Wood. He rang and played the organ for Evensong on April 28th, was taken ill on his way home and died later that night, at the early age of 55 years.
Fred learned to ring at Brentwood, under the late George Miles in 1926, later moving to South Weald, where he was the towei secretary for several years. About 10 years ago he came to Ingrave, where the bells had been silent for many years, and formed and taught a completely new band.
Not a great peal ringer. Fred was one of those upon whom the Exercise depends so much : those who find and teach new ringers, and whose main object is to keep their bells ringing for Sunday services.

The choral funeral service on May 3rd was preceded by half-muffled ringing by members of the Essex Association. In his address, the Rector (Rev. G. E. Porter) paid tribute to his work in the belfry, in the choir, as deputy organist, and as a church councillor. His quiet and unassuming manner did not hide his sterling qualities to those who knew him. said the Rector. He was genuine: like hallmarked silver, no base metal, but sterling worth, he rang true.
To those of us who knew him this was a true description of Fred Wood. He will long b: remembered in the church he loved.

Repeated three times, with SS at (*) in 1st and 3rd parts.
Each part can be divided into four types of work on 5-6.
a From the plain course, put 5-6 after tenors with one call (Before) and work round 3 M on the light bells.
b $5 / 4$ ths on 5-6 (by H-W) and call B on 5-6 and tenors alternately until 2nd in 6ths place after a Home.
c $5 / 4$ ths on $5-6$ (by M-H) and work round 3W on the light bells.
d 5-6 at home with one call (Before) and SH. H to bring up the part end with 34 or 43 at home.
For 1.296 changes, call Bob for Single in for one part.
For 5,056 (by R. Baldwin) call the last two courses of each part:

| $(34625)$ | $W$ | $H$ | W | W |
| :--- | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 63425 | $(3)$ | - | $(24365)$ | 23645 |
| 42365 | S | - | 63245 | 62435 |

Repeated 3 times, with Singles for Bobs half-way and end. (No singles in 4 th course.)
One of the easiest of the 'tower bell' compositions is J. E. Burton's, where most of the Wrongs are called after 5-6 return to coursing at the end of a block of Homes, the remaining Wrong in each part being used to put 5-6 at home.

| 63425 |  |  | 6235 |

Repeated 3 times, with Singles for iBobs half-way and end. A rearrangement of this is C. H. Martin's peal.
The Central Council booklet includes Pritchard's. before moving on to Double Norwich, etc., but. as Mr. Hudson pointed out. Eitte Bob and Gainsborough Little Boh make useful intermediate methods.

W-M is only one short lead in this method and 5-6 course for just half the peal. As in E. M. Aikins peal of Rob Major, the last part is shortened to keep the number of changes down. The composition and variations were previously published in • R.W: 1959. page 335.
The following is a very popular peal both on tower- and handbells, hut $2-3$ are the part bells instead of 5-6.

Gainsborough is certainly a little harder than Little Bob, as many a dodge can be missed above the areble in 6 ths, producing a crunch for the unwary. The following is an easily remembered peal, in which 5.6 course nearly half the peal and ate al home for one course in each part.

Another composition. variously ascribed to J. Reeves and W. E. Critchley, is easily remembered, being standard 10 - course blocks of Wrongs and Homes, joined by Middles on 2-3-4. This is both musical and simple, but as with S.H. Wood's peal of Little Bcb, 2-3 are part bells instead of 5-6. 5.040 GAINSBOROUGH LITTLE BOB MAJOR

Whell enough of the team have mastered the curious 'loose-jointed, shuffle produced by Kent places on a coursing pair and the conductor can see his way through the first three courses, providing little real trouble occurs, they may wish to try this simple peal for handbells.
5.088 KENT TREBLE BOB MAJOR

For Double Norwich and higher methods, the C.C. booklet provides an admirable path.

CATERS

There is an obvious advantage over Triples in that one can keep the back bells fixed for long periods. For a beginners" peal." tiftums throughout should keep 7-8-9 safe, bringing them home in the last course.

GRA NDSIRE CATERS

The following is a well known peal with long courses to allow the coursing order to be watched.

ROYAL

By the time a team has reached this stage, there should be a good pair of ringers. able to ring $7-8$ and $9-10$ solidly to plain courses. PLAIN BOB ROYAL
The simplest handbell composition would have a safe anchor on 7-8. $9-10$. giving a steady 10 -bell rhythm, a coursing pair, say $5-6$ (for the conductor) and. if possible. $\mathbf{2} \mathbf{3 - 4}$ grouped together for long periods. The sheer boredom of the following peal could well $b=$ oftiet by the errors the team could introduce due to inexperience.

TWELVE BELL PEALS

Few teams are strong enough to aspire to these heights, except for the very occasional choppy course of Grandsire Cinques or Bob Maximus. When teams can do this successfully and smoothly. they can choose from many suitable standard compositions. but there are other methods worth trying. Erin Cinques offers possibilities. when Bobs at 1.2 and 11 bring all the back tolls coursing in cittums However, following on Little Bob Royal, the only twelve bell peal. I will give you one of Little Bob. in which the first nine parts are based on B. Annable's (as in 6th and 12th parts of the Royat. above) and the last three are $\mathbf{E}$. M. Atkins' compositions.

The Bishop of Kensington, when he went on May 5th to St. Mart:n's Church. Ruislip, to conduet a Contirmation service. stepped up into the ring.ng chamber and. after shaking hands with the r.ngers, took a rope with them for three or fou- minutes. As this is a goound floor ringing chamber and in full view of the congregat.on, everyone was greatly surprised and delighted.
The tenor bell at Diss was dismantled on May 9th and will be out of action for about a foetnight.
Here is a coincidence. The peal in 111 mathods at Hatherop on May 4ih was Mr. Geoffrey R. Drew's 1,11 h tower for a peal.
When a Sapsote, Leics, ringer questioned a new resident living within 200 yards of the church if the bells disturbed him. the reply he received was, No, because you sing with such good rhy:hm.
The consecrat:on of the Rt. Rev, Joseph Fison as 74th Bishop of Salisbury Diocese at Southwark Cathedral on April 27th was heralded by a quarter paal tour by Wareham ringers in Dorset villages. Four out of five attempts were successful.
St. George's Guild of bellringers, Jesmond, Nawcastle, raised $£ 114 \mathrm{~s}$. 6d. for the local hosp:tal's Kidney Research Fund by a coffee morning on April 27th. 'Two nights were spent by the females of the band (writes Miss S. Scott ) making cakes, sweets and toffce app!es, all of which sell well. No casualties have yet been reparted. The average age of this band is 15 years.
Mr. Neil Carter, who left Ottershaw some five years ago, sends greetings to all his friends in the Guildfcrd Guild. Since going to Canada he has worked for the Ontario Dipartment of Highways, and has now moved to Connecticut, U.S.A. He has married a Canadian g.rl from Cobourg, and has a daughter. A regular reader of the 'R.W.' he hopes to visit England from June 29th to July 21 st, and do some ringing. which he misses more than anything.

At the annual general meeting of the Derbyshire Associaticn, the adoption of the change of name to the Derby Diocesan Assaciation of Church Bell Ringers was adopted. For the benefit of any touring bands, peal fees and names and addresses of members elected in a belfry prior to a peal should be sent to the teasurer. Mr. J. C. Woolley, Selworthy Lodge. Burley Lane, Quarndon, Derby.
The peal rung at Parbold, Lancs. on April 20th was a birthday compliment to Mr. J. Ridyard, of Southport.
The astempt for a peal for the royal wedding at Leeds Pa:ish Church was lost after almost two hours' ringing, through a broken rope. Amends were made by a peal of St. Clement's Ccillege Bob Major on May 2nd.
Mr. C. J. Groome brings to our notice another Yorkshire four at Stockton-on-Forest. The bells were cast in 1896 by Taylors, with a tenor of $5 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. They are in their original jron frame and 'go' very well.
Mr. Ernest R. Warner has collected from the staft of Woking Railway Station and friends £15 for Guildford Cathedral bells. His list contained 109 names and many of then were noi church people.
Teenagers from Harwich. Kirby-le-Soken and Ardleigh, Essex, cycled during the Easter holidays to Tendring (6) and enjoyed their ringing, which ranged from call changes to Treble Bob. Ringing on the eight bells at Gre: it Bentley followed in this useful gettoge:her.
One hundred years ago, according to 'The Western Gazette." it was proposed at St. John's vestry meeting, Yeovil, that as church bells were a continual expense, a charge should be made to the ringers for ringing, and the money applied to keeping the bells in repair. It was agreed that a sum not exceeding 10 s. be paid to the churchwardens for ringing the beli's on private occasions, and before permission be given for ringing such money to be applied to the repair of the bells.

COMPOTE DES CLOCHES

Ingredients.

6 bells, tenor $8 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. in G sharp.
36 ringers, Devon, top grade.
4 judges, ditto.
1 large Tea.
Several Local Ladies.

Method.

(a) Place the Ringers in a Churchyard on a fine May afternoon. Surround the Churchyard with beech trees just coming into leaf, and garnish with daffodils, primroses, violets and celandines. Place the judges in the Vicarage sitting room, garnished with notebooks and pencils. Place the Tea in the Church Room and leave the Local Ladies to it.

Now place the Ringers in the tower in groups of six, and set to rise, ring 66 changes and lower. Now return them to the Churchyard to cool and mix well.
(b) When all have rung, transfer ringers and judges to Church Room.
(c) When all the Tea has been absorbed, repeat (a) with ringers in a different order.
(d) Now put all ringers and judges in the Church for a service. and ask judges to make comments to taste. Express thanks to Local Ladies, and go home rejoicing.

This was the main dish on the menu at Clawton on May 4th, when North Devon met South Devon for the first competition ever held between regions. The bands were West Down. Down St. Mary. Swymbridge, Plymstock, Kenn and West Alvington, and the judges were Messrs. T. Darch, F. Vanstone, G. Daw and A. Tapper.

It was fitting that the team drawn to begin should have been Plymstock, for it was Mr. Jack Hines of that tower who had the idea of holding this competition. They set a very fair standard with 373 faults, but Down St. Mary, following with 304 , set a somewhat higher one for the North. This pattern was adhered to pretty closely: West Alvington had $37 \frac{1}{2}$, Kenn $42 \frac{3}{4}$. For the North, West Down had 29 and Swymbridge $38 \frac{1}{2}$. When we reached half time and adjourned for tea, there was a margin of $20 \frac{1}{2}$ faults between the two regions-nothing that one bad peal could not upset.

Clawton bells sound, inside the tower, as if they are running a little quicker than in fact they are, and most of the ringing in the first round had been on the stiff side. about 33 rounds a minute. Kenn, the first to ring after tea, didn't do so well as they had before, earning $44 \frac{1}{4}$ faults; they were varying the pitch rather, and never seemed to get it quite right. But Swymbridge, who had been the heaviest-marked of the Northern contingent earlier, went in next, and after an excellent rise got the bells exactly where they like to be-just over 35 a minute-and they kept them there for the best ringing of the day, brisk, even and 'suant,' so that after a very pretty lower nobody could have wished them a fraction more than the $21 \frac{1}{4}$ faults the judges gave them. This had plainly lengthened the North's lead, and the process was continued; each of the Southern bands got a few more marks after tea than before, and each of the Northern bands did substantially better. By the time Down St. Mary had finished the last peal of the day, the North had only $71 \frac{1}{2}$ faults between them in their second half and the South had accumulated 1351 $\frac{1}{4}$. The margin of the North's win was a substantial one-169! against $253 \frac{1}{4}$.

There is as yet no permanent trophy for this competition, but small mementos were provided for the three teams of the winning region, and these were presented after the service in church.

It was Mr. Hines' belief, when he started to plan this contest, that it would not only give a most attractive day's ringing but would also help to foster comradeship and good relations between call-change ringers. If the Clawton example is anything to go by, he has been triumphantly vindicated. The general spirit of the day was a delightful one; the firmly-established rivalries between individual towers were. for the day at least, entirely set aside. If Jack Hines goes down in the history of Devon call-change ringing for only one thing, it should be bccause, thanks to him. a Down St. Mary man was heard. loudly and distinctly, to say: ‘Come on, West Down!’. ## LORD MAYOR BREAKS WITH RINGING TRADITION

The Lord Mayor of Leeds, Ald. E. J. Loy Wooler, asked that the bells of Leeds Parish Church should not be rung when he took office recently,
This break with a 200 -year tradition (except during war years) is felt by Mr. R. H. Dove, the Ringing Master. -It would be just as logical to do iaway with all the pomp and pageantry in the Civic Hall Council Chaniber on Lord Mayor's Day,' be told 'The Yorkshire Evening Post.'
A letter, written by the Lord Mayor's secretary, Mr. William Pilts, to Mr. Dove states

- The Lord Mayor-elect has found that there is no general appreciation, nor indeed knowledge, of the custom, particularly as the sound of the bells is confined to a very limited area in a city of the size of Leeds.'
When interviewed, Ald. Wooler said: - One has to move with the times. In my view bell ringing on this occasion is quite out of date.
The new Lord Mayor has also the support of Canon W. Fenton Morley, Vicar of Leeds, who is reported to have said that he and the wardens of the church have approved Ald. Wooler's suggestion that the bell ringing practice should be discontinued.
In an Editorial 'The Yorkshire Evening Post' asks: 'Why?' and takes the Lork Mayor to task. 'One has to move nith the times, he says. 'On this occasion bell ringing is quite ouf of date.' It still is not easy to see just why Alderman Wooler mentions: " completely changed conditions since the custom was instituted.'

The Editorial goes on: 'But surely nothing has changed about church belis and their impact on our social life? Ald. Wooler seems to think the size of the city now prevents the Parish Church bells being heard, except in a limited area. So "there is no general appreciation of the custom."
'We would ask whether a merry peal can ever come amiss in our too materialistic and often drab era. We think, with Housman's young lovers, that bills are "a happy noise to hear."
Wedding bells are part of our way of life and the continuation therenf. Even a passing bell has its own eloquence. Is not Aid. Wooler's bit of change ringing passing strange?'

BARMOUTH BELLS

After many years of Sabbath stillness, the bells of Barmouth were rung again on Easter Sunday to the excited expectation of the churchpeople of St. John's. At the end of six months' silent training the bells were unlashed, and at precisely $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the band heard the pealing fot the first time.
Commendable rounds were rung by $A$. Westley-Jones treble, the Viscountess Chetwynd 2. Christine Evans 3, Rev. Trefor Evans ${ }^{4}$. Thomas 7 and W. Harris tenor. Judith Le-clare and Cbristopher Speake later took part. Visiting ringers are welcome at $10.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on Sundays and at 7 p.m. at the Monday practice.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Lewisham District quarterly meeting at St Nicholas', Chislehurst, on April 27th, was attended by ahout 50 members and friends The Archdeacon of Bromley (the Ven. R. G H. MoCahearty conducted the service, and ringing was under the leadership of Mr. J. D. ringing was under the leadership of Mr

Tea in the Village Hall was followed by a short business meeting, at which four new practising members were elected. Further ringing concluded antother pleasant meeting.

CLERICAL RINGING TOUR IN THE WEST MIDLANDS

THE Clerical Ringing Week, held at the customary time during the week after Low Sunday, had for its centre this year a ringing tour are good company, good bells and good country. Shropshire and Herefordshire provided the last two of these in first rate manner and the Clerical Tour was, if anything, happier even than it usually is. Although Easter was Jate and therefore the tour tater in April than usual we missed the apple blossom in this belated season, but enjoyed some splendid displays of daffodils and narcissi. The weather was better than might be expected in England-particularly as we were very near to Wales! We had three fine days, one very bad one, one medium. It was a pity that the really bad day came when we went westwards into the hills of Herefordshire and Radnorshire. Had the weather been fine the scenery would have been weather b splendid.

THE RINGING

When most of the party assembled at the first tower, Aymestry, on D-Day, the standard of ringing promised well. In the second tower, Leintwardine. there was a very well struck course of Bob Major, which inoluded several of the less talented members of the company (hereinafter called the second team). At Bromfield. the third tower, the secretary's course of Cambridge :Minor, which is by now a tradition of these weeks, was successfully accomplished before dinner and in the absence o: some of the experts (hereinafter called the first team). This constituted an all time record for clerical tours. After dinner at Church Stretton the first course of Yorkshire was rung. So we looked forward with high hopes to even further achievements dater in the week.
$\mathrm{D}+1$ saw the full strength of the ringers in action. At Much Wenlock the first team sailed through a course of Bristol, while the second team had a taste of what was to become their major diet for the rest of the tour. Grandsire Triples. At Bridgnorth, the secretary was carefully piloted through Cambridge Major, while at Broseley a musical touch of Double Norwich was rung. During this day London and Superlative were added to the repertoire of Surprise Major methods and the more ambitious began to think in terms of Spliced Surprise. Then the rot set in. At Coalbrookdale. the first team had just begun to test the excellent tea when the tope of the fourth broke, enmeshing our imperturbable secretary, who was ringing it at the time, in its coils, All that was left to do was to ring Stedman Doubles on the bottom six-which really sounded rather good.
The next tower. Madeley, brought further disaster. One of the clerical wives blotted her copy book by breaking the stay on the treble. Two local ringers seemed not in the least surprised by this; in fact they had a replacement already to put in! But time pressed and so the first team took over, with Canon Felstead on the treble. The band was horrified to see him march across the tower with the rope still in his hand, apparently oblivious of the broken back stay. It can only be the weight of Canon Folstead's learning which enabled him to avoid following the example of Elijah and being taken up into heaven at high speed! So this day ended with a ring at Hope Bowdler after dinner. where the first team showed for all their expertise they could ring call changes for the benefit of the local ringers.
D +2 took us southwards and then westwards We were not allowed to test the hells at Ludlow. but at Leominster we were right royally welcomed by the Vicar and his curate. suitably attired to meet the Clerical Guild in cassock and cloak. The splendour of their welcome was matched by that of the church. which must surely be one of the most impressive in this area. Cambridge Royal and a touch of Stedman Caters were successfully rung and then some of the second team had a go at Grandsire Caters. We headed towards Wales, where Presteigne brought back memories of the kite Preh. Renson. and the first team rang more Yorkshire. At Knighton, Ashtead was attempled, but failed and some moderate ringing at Clun brought $\mathrm{D}+2$ to a close.

On $D+3$ the first team, in the absence of a practised peal conductor, were to attempt a quarter of Yorkshire at Condover. Despite the fact that the energetic incumbent already had the bells up it failed towards the end. Meanwhile, the second time had made their way to Cound, where one of the natives was more than surprised that they wanted "to play the bells.' She thought that being parsons they had come for a service. despite the unusual hour! The remainder of the day was spent in the Shrewsbury district and by now jt was olear that the early promise of a higher standard of ringing this year would only be pantially realised. Those not in regular practice were becoming tired and the ringing is best described-appropriately-as like the curate's egg. good in parts. At St. Mary's, Shrewsbury, Bob Royal was competently rung. but Stedman Cinques on the Taylor twelve at St. Chad's just did not go.

PERSSONALITIES

The ringing power of the party was strengthened this year by the presence of our most accomplished clerical singing wife, Mrs. P. Robbins (nee Spice). Alban Wood, on his third tour, although still under three, successfully tried a ting tang bell. so recording his first blow. The latest recruit to the Guild, Peter Bond, made his presence felt not only by his immense height and ringing ability but also by the zeal with which he recorded our ringing at each delivery tower. Among older members of the Guild the death of one of our vice-presidents. Canon R. F. Wilkinson, was an inevitable shadow.

At the annual meeting, tribute was paid to his memory. Congratulations were expressed to K. W. H. Felstead. A. G. G. Thurlow and F. A. Oswell, on their being made Honorary Canons. Canon C. C. Cox was re-elected president. despite his customary annual protest, while Canon B. F. Sheppard and the Rev. St. J. Smith were elected vice-presidents. The name of Preb. Andrews was proposed as secretary and seconded by the whole meeting, a fitting tribute to the esteem in which he is held. Canon Felstead and the Rev. O. I. J. Richards were elected to the committee. Ali heing well. the next tour will be held with Exeter as its centre

THE END

So passed yet another Clerical Ringing Week I very pleasant break for the parsons who had worked hard at Easter and their wives, ringing or non-ringing. who joined the tour. Apart from the fine churches which we visited, many of them with fortress-like towers dating back to times when this area was subject to raids from the neighbouring Welsh. we remember the interesting area of the Severn Gorge at Iron Bridge and Coalbrookdale. where even the memorials in church and the reredos are made of cast iron. We remember, too, the first evening, when our august president was taken by our dignified secretary in his car past a no entry sign and down a one-way occasion the police were conspicuous by their absence.

UNIVERSITY OF READING SOCIETY

At the A.G.M. of the Reading University Society on May 6th. the following were elected to the committee for 1963-1964:
Master, Jane Foster. St. Andrew's Hall. Redlands Road : secretary. John H. Croxion Si. Patrick's Hall. Northcourt Avenue treasurer, Margaret Monigomery, St. Andrew' Hall; lay members, Jane Black and Ruth Howes.
The retiring Master. Mr. P. M. Wilkinson reported that the highlights of the year had theen the summer tour of Scotland and the dinner in November. A successful joint meeting had also been held with Bristol in February. Arrangements for this year's tour were well under way: and it was decided to ery to hold the dinner on November $16 t \mathrm{~h}$.

PUTNEY'S WEEK-END

0N Friday, April 26th, two cars and a minibus sel out from Putney, conveying 21 Putney ringers and friends on their annual outing. By late evening all had arrived at the guest house in Stroud which was to be the base for the week-end.

Setfing out on the Saturday morning, we crossed the Severn at Gloucester and thence to St. Mary's. Chepstow. The fine ring of ten went very well, and it was noted how well the two trebles fitted in with the original eight. The next call was at AII Saints', Newport, whose slender tower contained a pleasant-sounding eight. The traffic in Newport delayed us slightly and resulted in a rather hurried visit to St . Augustine's, Rumney (6).
It was after lunch at Cardiff that we encountered some trouble when one of the cars refused to start. A band was commandeered to push the car, which eventually got going: we were. however, considerably late at the Cathedral at Llandaff. This was a great pity, as not only were the magnificent ten not done justice to but there was not time to inspect the interior of the Cathedral, which houses the controversial Epstein figure.
A very warm welcome was received at Usk.
The bells were most enjoyable, and the local ringers were in the process of making a wonderful restoration to the ringing chamber. We left Usk and wended our way to Monmouth. where tea was obtained before ringing at the Parish Church (8).

DEAN FORESTERS CHURCH

The final part of Saturday's route lay through the beautiful country of the Forest of Dean 10 the picturesque church of Littledean. Herc a very nice six were housed in the church, which was used by the Dean Foresters in years gone by. Leaving the pleasant surroundings regretfully, we returned to Stroud.

A bright Sunday morning and a quick run along the valley of the Frome led us to Cirencester, where a short ring was grabbed at Holy Trinity, Watermoor, before morning service. Proceeding on to the Parish Church of St. John, the only 12 -bell tower of the week-end, we enjoyed the bells. although not attempting any 12bell ringing. At Swindon the fine ten of Christ Church were very much appreciated, and put us in good humour for dinner. A short distance outside Swindon is St. Andrew's. Wanborough: here a well-hung six was rung with enthusiasm.

Aldbourne Church, set on the corner of a typically-English village green, has a mellow octave. Proceeding eastward, we came to Reading, where ringers refuelled with tea before ringing the very fine bells of Si. Mary's, perhaps the best eight of all. A good hour's ringing was had here before bidding our farewells and making the last trek back to Putney.
Methods rung during the week-end ranged from Plain Bob to Bristol Surprise and rounds to Stedman Caters. The week-end was most enjoyable, and we should like to thank all incumbents and ringers who made the visits possible.

'FORTY YEARS ON'

In 1922 several Wallingford Grammar School boys met frequently in the attic of a painter's shop, owned by the Nash family. Many fire-ups, followed by lengthy arguments. soon gave way to success, when many 720 is were rung. Tower bells were then tackled with very limited results, as members of the band left to commence their careers.
Recent ringing activities by present pupils of the school urged the writer to contact the band and the result was two peals at Warborough on May 4 th . We were not so fortunate in our early days as the present boys, who combine forces with a girls school te ring peals!

CATHEDRAL RINGER A QUEEN'S GUIDE

Miss Jennifer Smith, of the 15th Exeter (Bishop Blackall School) Company, has gained the Queen's Guide award.
Jennifer started ringing $2 \frac{1}{2}$ years ago with the Heavitree ringers, and is a very regular Sunday service ringer. She is now a member of the Exeter Cathedral band, being elected at the last annual meeting. She has the distinction of being the youngest ringer to be elected to the Cathedral band.
At the 6 a.m. service last Easter Day. Jennifer rang her first touch of Grandsire Cinques: she has now mastered Plain Bob. 'I an sure she is going to make a very useful ringer,' writes Mr. H. Skinner.

THE LADIES' GUILD North-Eastern District

The tenth annual meeting of the NorthEiastern District was held at the Church of St. Michael, Heighington, on April 27th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and after a shortened Evensong an excellent tea, prepared b) the ladies of the parish, was enjoyed by all.

At the business meeting Miss D. M. Killingley was re-elected vice-presideni, and Miss 1. Thomson honorary secretary. Mrs. C. N Lea and Miss S. Scott were elected as members of the General Committee, and Mrs. T Cooke. Miss G. Douglas, Miss E. Murcott and Mrs. E. Riley were elected as members of the District Committee.
The vice-president welcomed Mrs. Riley, who had come from the Lincoln District and is now living in the Stockton area.
Next meeting (if possible): St. Peter's, Jarrow, June Bth.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

At the annual gencral meeting of the Society held on May 3rd. the following officers were elected for the session $1963 / 64$ :-

Master, C. K. Cooper : secretary, R. J. Shea treasurer. J. H. Fielden: committee member, Miss P. A. Freeman.

A 720 SURPRISE TOUR OF SURREY

An enjoyable day's tour of Surrey for ringers from Newbury, Liss and Kingston-upon-Thames was held recently, the object being to visit eight towers and ring $720^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$ in seven different Surprise Minor methods.

A late start at Farnborough meant cancelling the first attempt, and at Ash Ipswich faviled after 480 changes. Success came with Cambridge at Pirbright. After lunch in Dorking, Beverley was unsuccessful on the light six a: Buckland.
The heavy six at Kingswood produced a well-struck extent of York, and at Charlwood. Ipswich was rung without trouble. The long draught at Newdigate proved tricky, but it was a late catl that put paid to London here. Finally, came Merrow and while the tenor to Beverley nearly creased David Hughes the 720 was successful.

Sincere thanks are accorded to the organiser, Miss Cherry White. With four out of seven 'in the bag' the band feel well satisfied.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Cary Branch

The spring meeting of the Cary Branch at Barton St. David on May 1lth provided the first opportunity for many of the members to sing on the bells since the new treble was dedicated, last August.
The service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. P. S. Thomas, assisted by the Branch Charman (Rev. G. S. Robinson). and a collection laken for the local Tower Fund. The Vicar. in his address, said the tower of the church was the only completely octagonal one in Somerset.
At the business meeting, which followed tea, six new members from Barton St. David, two from Ditcheat and one associate member from Horsington were clected.
The possibility of a Branch outing in August in the Weston-super-Mare district was discussed, the next meeting in July fixed for West Camel, with a Branch practice in June at Batcombe.
Votes of thanks were accorded to Rev. P. S. Thomas. Mr. W. Prescott (the local cap!ain) and the ladies who prepared and served tea, especially one lady who had made and given dil the cakes.

Letters

Dear Sir.-Thank vc! for vour frant page article on "Beifry Praise" (May 10th, 1963). Mr. Edgar Shepherd's clear exposition of the aims and status of ringers must have been welcomed by the people for whom it was written and by the Exercise as a whole.

At the A.G.M. of the Salisbury Guild, on the day following publication, the Master quoted from the last paragraph: "Ringers are now widely recognised as office bearers in the Church. and their work is more clearly seen as an offering of praise to God. Their hobby is dedicated to the worship of the Creator. He enjoined all ringers to live up to this status.

I am sure that to the great majority of ringers, who unseen and unpublicised ring the bells for Sunday service all over the country, this feeling of service to God and the Church is very real. But why do our more skilled brethren, the peal ringers, fail so often to use their great opportunity to spread this ideal of service and the status of church bellringers? Look at the peal records in our journal week by week and see for whom and what we offer the best that we can givebirthdays, anniversaries, outlandish names and any and every excuse under the sun. but very. very few to the glory of God and the great festivals of the Church.

It is right and proper that very important occasions should be marked by peals; indeed the peal boards in towers up and down the country record both national and local history over many years; but surely, if we are indeed ' office bearers' in the Church, ringing to the glory of God. our best efforts should be dedicated first to this end. There is no lack of opportunity: Chrisimas. Easter. Ascension, All Saints, to name just a few. should be given priority over all other peal dedications.

In the Branch of the Salisbury Guild to which I belong, 12 peals have been rung this year, and in only one has such a dedication been given. This was rung in a small village by a band of young people whose average age was 16 : the footnote simply says: "Rung for Easter,', Judging by the peal records over a period, this situation is typical of the whole country. Good luck to these youngsters, and may their example lead their elders to ring their peals more in the spirit of "Belfry Praise."-Yours sincercly.

North Bradley.
A. J. KNIGHT.

NOTE. -The phrase 'Glory to God' does not appear frequently in our columns partly because it is an assumption that all ringing for the great festivals and other occasions connected with the Church is for this purpose (including first peals on the bells). From the Editor's experience of his own Guild. the peal ringers are the most conscientious of Sunday service ringers. -Ed.

Renamed

Dear Sir,-In order to conform with the deeision of the Methods Committee regarding the various published 'extensions' of Durham Surprise Minor to Major. Royal and Maximus, the band which rang a peal in the method hitherto known as Durham Surprise Major at Claybrooke on May llth are renaming it Dunelm Surprise Major.
We trust that this name is acceptable to those who took part in the original peals in this method and its extensions.-Yours faithfully,

Coventry.

New Standard Book on Ringing

Dear Sir,-As you well know. I have agreed to the request of a well-known publishing firm, arising out of demands by libraries for Troyte's 'Change Ringing,' which has been out of print for many years, to write a standard text book on the Art and Science of Change Ringing. I hope to deal with the subject from the beginner stage. include chapters on the standard methods, with touches and peals, and introduce the reader to such matters as conducting, composing, false course ends, etc., so that it may help readers to reach the stage when they can specialise on particular aspects of our art.

I feel that the chance of giving the Exercise a comprehensive book of this nature, which can be borrowed from the local library, if indeed it cannot find a place on our bookshelves, is one that should not be missed. But one cannot write a book of this nature without depending on the work and knowledge of others, and I shall be grateful if within the next month or so members of the Exercise who would agree with the above and wish to help will send me the figures of their favourite touches, quarter peals and peals in the normal methods in a ringer's repertoire, with the name of the composer (if any) and any other details they wish. especially when there is any special quality worthy of mention.

I cannot of course promise to include them in the book, and if they do appear I cannot necessarily mention the name of the sender: there may of course be duplicates, and many of the figures will obviously be old favourites. But I will do my best to acknowledge individually everything sent to me, and the sender will have the satisfaction of having tried to share in the production of a book which I hope will be useful, even if not a best seller.
Please don't decide that someone else will send your touches in-they may not.-Yours, etc.,
42. Willow Grove,

Ruislip, Middx.

To the Locks

Dear Sir.-I would like to add my congratulations to the many which will have been received by the two Locks on the occasion of their being "Locked in happiness for 25 years, as per your report on page 309. May they smoke the 'Pipe (not Cecil) of peace for many years to come.

I was tickled ' Pink ' (sorry, Alan R.) to also see that, according to page 314 , quite a few 'Keys' have taken part in a peal.
What a 'Golden' (pardon me, Nolan) opportunity for a Lock and Key peal.-Yours faithfully,
F. HODGSON.

Avoid King's Lynn

Dear Sir,-I would like to warn all Council members and friends who will be travelling from the North and Midlands to Yarmouth on Saturday. June 1st, of the traffic chaos arpund King's Lynn, with queues of five to seven miles.
This can be avoided by taking the Downham Market bypass from Wisbech to Swaftham.
Those from the Midlands will find it well signposted before entering Wisbech. Those from the North should turn off the A. 17 at Long Sutton to Wisbech, and so to Downham Market and Swaffham.-Yours sincerely.
E. H. MASTIN.

Ashton Surprise Major

Dear Sir.-Enclosed with this letter are details of a peal of Surprise Maior rung at Ashton-under-Lyne on May Ist. The method rung was produced by Walter W. Wolstencroft about 1936, and was named Ashton after the town where he was then ringing and where in fact it was first practised. The method was published under that name in Corrigan's Major Collection (Method No. 12) in 1948.
Last December a peal was rung in the method at Willesden, and the name was changed to Clerkenwell 'to avoid confusion with Ashton-under-Lyne. Although the right of a band to name a new method when they ring a peal in it is not disputed. to rename a method which has been in a standard ringing publication under its original name for 14 years is in itself likely to cause confusion, especially when the new name has no special significance, and we have therefore rung the recent peal under the original name of Ashton Surprise Major.
A request has been made to Mr. John Mayne, who conducted the earlier peal, to reinstate the name Ashton in the Central Council records. Yours faithfully, DEREK OGDEN.

Manchester.

On Leave in Australia

Dear Sir,-My wife (a non-ringer at present) and I have just returned from a holiday touring Australia, ringing wherever possible. and we would like. through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to express our appreciation for the wonderful hospitality shown by the ringers there.

Our first call was Perth, where we were made to feel very much at home (even at $4.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. when we arrived) by the band of young ringers from St. George's Cathedral. Although this band was only formed about a year ago, the members are very keen and are making good progress, having recently scored their first peal.

Adelaide. with its more experienced ringers, was our next stod. A good number of ringers were present at the practice night at St. Peter's Cathedral. and a variety of Minor and Triples methods were rung on this heavy octave.
Unfortunately we didn't have a chance to visit Walkerville before leaving for Sydney. We arrived as the bells of St. Mary's Basilica were being rung muffled for the Anzac Day parade and for the special service.

On the Saturday afternoon I was pleased to be able to make up the band to ring for two weddings at All Saints'. Parramatta. Although it was pouring with rain we managed to get to St. James', Turramurra, on Sunday morning, where I had a ring. Later in the day I was included in quarter peals at St. Mary's Basilica and Parramalta.
With regret we had to say 'checrio' to our newly-made friends as we made our way to Melbourne. At the practice night at St. Paul's we had the pleasure of meeting not only the local ringers but also another English visitor, as well as someone we had previously met at Adelaide.
There are too many peoole whom we remember with gratitude to mention them all here. hut we would like to say a specinl 'Thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Lees and lenny at Perth. Tom and Margaret Goodyer at Sydney and Boh and Margaret Ferris at Parramatta for all their kind-ness.-Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL and BETTY STRACEY.

BATH AND WELLS: 'CHANGE RINGERS' IN TITLE

TNHE 73rd annual meeting of the Bath and
1 Wells Diocesan Association took place at Crewkerne on Easter Monday. More than 150 ringers from all parts of the diocese gathered in 'St. Bartholomew's Church for the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. T. Ashion), assisted by the Revs. H. F. Warren (Master) and C. Marshall. The Rev. N. F. Coleridge gave the address, and the lesson was read by Dr. L. E. Wear, captain of Crewkerne ringers. Another Crewkerne ringer, Mr. K. Pinney, was organist. A retiring collection amounting to $£ 718 \mathrm{~s} .4 \mathrm{~d}$., has been sent to King's College. Budo, Uganda, earmarked for the bells of a new chapel that is being built there.
After lunch, taken at Crewkerne Secondary Modern School, the Master opened the meeting with prayer. He asked members to stand in memory of the following who had passed away: A. Cavill, E. Elkins, L. Fudge, A. Rapson, J. Scudamore, W. Thorne, C. Trenchard. Dr. C. Vaisey and C. Withers.
Apologies for absence were received from the president the Lord Bishop and from the Rt. Rev. D. J. Wilson, also from Miss N. G. Williams. Messrs. J. T. Dyke, P. Field, L. McCreadie and D. Yeo, Visitors were welcomed from Hampshire, Middlesex and Warwickshire.

In presenting his seport the Master stated that the had been able to visit only two Branches during the year, a fact that underJined the disadvantage of having a Master who lived in a far corner of the diocese. He was impressed by the high standard of striking in these Branches and noted the enthusiasm and friendliness that was evident.

EVERCREECH RECORDINGS

Mr. Warren commented on the new recordings of Evercreech bells now being used by the B.B.C. He thought that some, though not all, of the remarks that appeared in The Ringing World' were a dittle ungracious. - Ringing of the quality to be heard in these recordings is rare and can only be achieved by hard praotice.' He congratukated the band concerned, all members of this Assaciation.
The general secretary, Mr. G. Salmon, reported another active year and told the meetjng that he had been able to visit every Branch. Occasionally he did find the tower that must be regarded as 'silent' and heard of the difficult:es encountered in finding recruits. The enthusiasm of the young people at such towers as Twerton, Curry Rivel, Crewkerne. Taunton St. James and Evercreech belied that fact however. and he appealed to members to give youth every chance.
Although the number of performing members had again increased and now stood at 1,731 some members had been lost. These had been in the habit of paying their subscriptions at the end of the year and the severe weather of December and January had beaten them to it He asked members to support their Branch secretaries in every way, and particudarly by getting their subscriptions in early.

FINANCES SOUND

In presenting the balance sheet. the treasurer, Mr. E. Naylor, said that income had exceeded expenditure on the general fund by $£ 5$. An outlay that would not seoccur for several years was the $£ 28$ spent on a new peal book.

Also some donations had been made from the general fund to appeals from outside the Association. Expenditure in connection with the affiliated towers scheme was $£ 38$, and, in addition, grants totalling $£ 72$ had been made to the following towers: Hemington $£ 40$, Glastonbury St. Benedict's $£ 25$, Cannington $£ 5$ and Langport $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$. The balance of the genenal fund was $£ 221$ and that of the bell tund $£ 183$.
The diocesan adviser on the care of bells stated that he had carried out twelve inspections and attended shree meetings of a bell restoration committee during the year. Mir. Sanger gave a comprehensive account of his work and told the meeting that he was encouraged by the fact that much of his work of previous years was producing results. A major restonation was in hand at Glastonbury St. Benedict's, and estimates for rehanging had been invited at Wells St. Cuthbert's. Ilminster bells were now in first class order, and work had been carried out at Berrow and Stogumber. Fire damage at Batheaston had been rectified.

PEAL QUALITY IMPROVED

Mr. IP. C. W.right, peal secretary, told members that 52 peals had been rung at 35 towers, with 164 ringers taking part. First peals had been scored by 15 singers and 133 had rung something new. The leading peal ringer and conductor was M.r. Alan Lee, who had conducted 12 of his 17 peals. The quality and variety of peals had improved and six new methods had been rung for the Association.
Mr. Wright stated that peals rung prior to 1901 had never been written into the peal book. He had now been able to do this and, consequently, the peal number in the report would now be the true number of that peal for the Association. The work of writing up the old peals had proved fascinating and had been able to trace an interesting history of the Association's early days.

On the proposition of Mr . G. Massey, seconded by Mr . M . Horseman, the reports were adopted en bloc.
All the officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, with the exception of Mr. W. A. Osborn, the assistant adviser on the eare of bells. Mr. Osborn expressed a wish to retire and was warmly thanked for the tremendous service and devotion he had given the Association. Messrs. J. Gilbert, A. H. Reed. H. J. Sanger and the general secretary were elected as representatives on the Central Council for the ensuing three years

HONORARY LIFE MEMBER

The Master announced that the committee had elected as a vice-president the Rev. A. T. Stephens, of Shepton Beauchamp. In speaking of the election of two honorary life members, Miss N. G. Williams and Mr. W. A. Osborn, he stresised the fact that this was the highest honour that the Association could confer and. as such. was only to be used with the greatest care.
On behalf of the Frome Branch. Mr. G. W. Massey proposed that the Association reveri to its old title of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Change Ringers. Mr. Massey reminded the meeting that the old title of Change Ringers had been discarded in $195 \%$.

He asked the meeting to consider the objects or the Association: (1) 10 recognise the true position of ringers as Church workers and to encourage ringing for divine service. He said that tnis was the tundamental rule since the foundation ot the Association in 1890, and it would remain whether we were Church bell Kingers or Change Kingers. (2) To promote the art of change ringing. in.s demanded that we should be Change Ringers. Funally, the Association could ner aflora the expense incurred by continuing in the name of Church Hell Kingers. A darge stock of membership centificates in the name of Change Ringers still existed and, at the same meaing at which the title was amended, the Association had accepted, as a gitt, a die for the making of badges in the name of Change Ringers.

The proposition was seconded by Mr. R. G. Beck, ana, atter considerable discussion during which it was pointed out that the certincates could be eastly amended and the Cientral Counch was styled Church Bell Kıngers, was carried by an overwhelmıng major:ty.
A second proposition that Branches be known by their Deanery names, as they were prior to 1957, was defeated, the argument against being based on economic and geographical grounds.

Arising from discussion that arose at the meeting of the previous year concerning a possible change of day for the annual meeting. Mr . IE. Fisher proposed that the meeting be held on Easter Monday, as had been the rule to date. This was seconded by Mr. $\mathcal{U}$. Jeannes, and cars:ed.
Under any other business, Mr. S. G. Coles proposed that the secretary be given an nonawar.um of $£ 15$. An amendment that the honorarlum be of $\pm 25$ had no seconder. Mr. E. Chivers proposed that the Central Council representatives be given $£ 20$ to help defray their expenses. Born proposutions were carried. Mr. S. G. Coles, in proposing a vote of thanks, thanked the Crewkerne Branch for making the Association so welcome and mentioned the able way in which the Master had conducted the meeting. He also shanked the incumbents and correspondents of the 16 towers that were open for ringing Juring the day.

There being no funther business the Master closed the mesting with prayer.

RINGING FOR THEIR WEDDING

In the belfry of St. George's Church, Beckington. Somerset, after their wedding, are Mr. David Thomas Robertson, a member of the St. John's, Frome, band. and Miss Teresa Ruth Jones, a ringer at this church, daughter of Mr . and Mrs. S. E. Jones, of 15, Sandy Lane, Beckington. The Rector the Rev. W. T. H. B. Davies) officiated.

The bride wore a full-length dress of white figured brocade, with a bouffant veil held in position by two white roses. Her flowers were orange roses and freesias. She had three atten-dants-her sister, Hilary, in lemon brocade, Mrs. Ann Escott, of Bournemouth. and Miss Brenda Davis, who wore apricot brocade dresses and carried posies of Jemon carnations.
Mr. Peter Ives, of Frome (cousin of the bridegroom) was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Richard Ives (cousin of the bridegroom) and Gordon Jones (brother of the bride).

A reception was held at Beckington Village Hall, attended by 80 guests, and the honeymoon was spent touring Cornwall.

BROMHAM, BEDS, RINGERS' OUTING

On April 20th the Bromham ringers had a very enjoyable outing in the Glousester area.
Leaving Bedford at $6.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the party reached Burford in time to enjoy a cup of coffee before visiting the most interesting Parish Church, where the bells were very much enjoved by everyone, as were those of Northleach, which came next. It was as the party were about to depart from the latter place (almost!) that the peace of the Cotswolds was shattered by a tremendous banging. Fear gripped the hearts of all, and consternation showed on their faces. whilst dogs and cats scurried for shelter. and just as everyone was becoming resigned to the breaking out of a nuclear war, it transpired that one of the younger members of the party was anxious to proceed to Gloucester, where lunch was to be taken!

The light six at Blaisdon were a pleasure to sing. and the resonant octave at Ledbury gave great satisfaction, as did the generous tea chat followed!
On the homeward journey, further ringing took place at Welkand, Upton-on-Severn and Cropthorne, and refreshment was taken at Banbury. So ended a most interesting and enjoyable day, and sincere thanks are accorded to the organiser. Mr. F. W. Rivett, to incumbents and to the locat ringers who so warmly welcomed us,

THE idea of a ringing tour based on the inland waterways was conceived three years ago and developed into a reality as a result of the efforts of two ringers from Sussex. The Shropshire Union and Llangollen canals were chosen for their beauty, and on Suturday April 20th, a party of 10 ringers travelled by train and taxi to Wheaton Aston lock on the Shropshire Union canal.
During the journey we rang at Penkridge, a fine church with a collegiate foundation dating from 1180 A.D. On arriving at Wheaton Aston we saw for the first time the three boats on which we lived during the tour These were Christine and Dawdler. both 4-benth petrol engine cruisers, and Pennine Navigator, a six berth craft, with a diesel engine. We were impressed by the interior fittings of the boats, particularly those in Pennine Navigator and Christine.

Before starting our cruise we were given a short lesson in navigation and lock operation by the boat hirer, who stressed the dire consequences of not closing lock paddles properly. After dea on Pennine Navigator, where we had all our meals, as it was the largest boat and had the best cooking facilities, we set off, We soon reached our first bridge. Like most of the bridges we were to pass through, nearly 200 in all, it had only just enough width and headroom for a narrow boat. It took much practice before we could shoot one accurately.

HARD GROUND

The first stop was at Church Eaton, a pretty little village, with a tower condaining six bells. Here we had to overcome the difficutties of mooring our boats. Christine ran hard aground and some hard work with boat hooks was needed to refloat her.
After travelling a further two and a half miles through lovely country we tied up for the night near. Gnosall. Ringing followed at the Church of St. Lawrence, and we paid a visit to the Boat Inn, where we ententained the customers with handbells. By $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Sunday morning a party of seven were on their way to Holy Communion before breakfast.
It was a gusty, showery morning when we reached Norbury Junction, where we had to take on fresh drinking water. During the berthing of the boats Pennine Navigator was holed in the bows when Christine reversed into her. Fortunately the hole was well above the waterline. By evening we had reached Market Drayton, where ringing for Evensong included Cambridge and Superlitive Major.

15 LOCKS

An early start the following morning saw us at the top of the chain of 15 locks at Audlem. On our way through we had to give way to two narrow boats, the only commercial traffic we encountered during the week. Ringing at Audlem followed Junch, and after purchasing Wellington boots and other sundries we moved on to Nantwich.
Here we were met by the Vicar. a churchwarden and the tower captain. The Vicar was interested in meeting the party, many of whom came from Sussex. since the was educated at lancing. The churchwarden showed us the fine carved wood choir stalls. of which only two other similar examples exist in the country. We were also impressed by the beauty of the stained glass und intrigued by ringing in an octagonal tower. The eight bells were found to go well and we enjoyed ringing several of the standard methods on them.
Tuesday was a fine day and we enjoyed ringing at Bunbury, Tattenhall. Christleton and St. Mary-without-the-Walls. Chester. One of the highlights of the day was the unique Beeston Iran Lock, which is built on running sand.

ROYAL WEDDING RINGING!
Wednesday morring was spent in Chester. Ringing at St. Mary-on-the - Hilt was followed by ringing at the Cathedral, where we were welcomed by the Vicar of Tattenhall. who was on duty as an Ordinary of the Cathedral and we were confined to ringing on the front six, the eighth and the tenor. At lunch we were amused to hear from a waitress that the Cathedral bells had just been ringing for the royal wedding, an event we hild almorit forgotten!
The following morning, soon after passing through Hurleston locks, at the entrance to the Llangollen canal, Dawdler's propeller shaft hecame disconnected. The delay in effecting a repair made the party an hour late at Wrenbury, but lunch on the move helped us to make up some lost time on the way to Marbury, where we found we were at last moving out of the sed sandstone country. Further trouble with Dawdler caused delays on the way to Whitchurch, and Christine weru on ahead to negotiate the staircase locks at Grindley Brook

HOOKS ON BELFRY WALLS

So much time had now been lost that a $5.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. start on Friday was necessary in order to reach Ellesmere on time. Here we were met by Mr. Whitehead. a very active old gentleman: he pointed out the hooks on the belfry wall, to which the ropes were fastened to hold the bells up in the days before stays. After ringing we set out intent on reaching Chirk on time. However, Dawdler, having decided that token strikes were only nuisance value, settled for a total stoppage and ejected propeller, shaft and all into the canal. Quick action to plug the shaft housing, up which water was pouring snto the boat, and some hard work at the pilge pump, saved her from foundering with all hands, in three feet of water. The boat was now useless and towing being illegal, her crew transferred to Penrine Navigator.
From Chirk to Ruabon was the most speotacular part of the whole trip with a 487 yard tunnel and the Chirk and Pontcysyllte aqueducts. All these are remarkable pieces of engineering and from the aqueducts breathtaking views of the valieys are seen. From the Pontcysyllte aqueduct it was a sheer drop of 121 feet over the side of the boat to the fast-flowing River Dee beneath. Quite a hairraising experience!
The tower captain at Ruabon gave us a cordial welcome and showed us a mediæval mural in almost perfect condition, and some interesting gravestones in yet another very beautiful church. The bells went well and we rang call changes with the local band, and also demonstrated change ringing.
On Saturday morning we travelled the final five miles along the Vale of Llangollen before returning the baats. So ended a tour which we believe to be unique. All of us enjoyed ourselves tremendously, but will think twice ahout another canal ringing tour. The necessity of adhering to a programme made for hard work and prevented us from stopping 10 visit places of interest rear the canal, and savouring the scenery.
The tour was organised by Miss Angela Grainger, of Brighton, and Mr. John Norris of Hurstpierpoint. who both worked very hard to make it a success. We would like to thank them. and also all the incumbents. cower captains and others who waited so patiently when we were date.
D. P. T.. J.R.N.

THE BELL WITH A GRUDGE

Recently placed on a lorry for the Whitechapel Foundry were the six bells from St. Benedict's Church, Glastonbury.
One of these is "the bell with a grudge." ac cording to a local newspaper, as it bears the inscription: 'Our tone would have been deeper if contributions had been greater. And that particular bell has been carrying that grudge since 1776.

Another has the familiar inscription: "I to the church the living call, and to the grave do summon all.'
The bells are to be retuned and other work done to them at a cost of $£ 1,100$. Glastonbury expects the bells back in two months' time. So far. about half the money required has been The bells were unfortunately got in good order raised.

Mr. Albert W. . Bond re-
notoriety $\quad$ BELFRY GOSS/P through an error in our col umns that the peal of Stedman Caters rung at St. Peter's, Brighton, on April 27th, was his 1,100 th peal, whereas it was his 100th. Congratulations have been reaching A.W.B.: indeed at the Sussex A.G.M. Mrs. Frank Hairs was rather surprised that the peal secretary should omit such a major point in his report. Forty years is quite a long time by present day standards to arrive at one's 100 th peal. The error arose through the imperfect writing of our correspondent.

Those who are watching ringing in our theological colleges will note that the Culham College Society of Change Ringers have rung their first quarter peal. Congratulations!
We are pleased to state that Mr. Albert Hughes is going on fairly well after the operation to this leg and is receiving treatment from a therapeutist. The stitches were removed on Tuesday.

Mr. Ronald A. Wright rang his first peal for 14 months at Harrow Weald on May 15th, owing to his service with H.M. Forces at Aden. He goes back at the beginning of June to complete his two years' overseas service.

Only one tower was represented at the quarterly meeting of the Radnor District held at Llanbadarn-Fawr. Following the service and tea, the secretary expressed concern at the lack of interest, and appealed for support from other parishes in the district.

Mr. Robert B. Smith, of Whingarth, 17, Ridge Road, Marple, Cheshire, would like the taperecording of the last course of the 32,204 peal at Loughborough returned to him. It has been out of his possession for 15 months, and was last heard of in the Marsden area of Yorkshire. Copies of the Central Council's publication, 'Preservation and Repair of Bells,' have been circulated by the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association to all towers affiliated to them. A practical suggestion orher Associations might follow.

For end-of-term service of St. Helena's School, Chesterfield, on May 10th, the front bells of the ten at the Parish Church were rung by four of the pupils-the Misses Gill Atrill, Christine Sherwood, Kay Marsden and Jane Lowe, and the fifth by Mrs. E. M. Silcock. This was made possible as the ringing room renovations after the fire are now nearing completion.

The Lancashire Association hope to have their annual reports ready in about eight weeks' time.

Re ringers' names, a few years ago at a Salisbury Branch meeting we had two visitors-Mrs. Cockell and Mr. Mussell. (A long way from - Dublin's fair city '!)

Mr. W. Prockson and Miss M. Prockson, both well known in London ringing circles, left Liverpool for Montreal to visit their sister who lives at Peterborough, Ontario.

The peal at Holy Trinity, Bolton, on May 1st, marks the first peal on the bells since the rehanging of the sixth, seventh and eighth by local ringers, under the direction of Mr . W. Tyson.

Mr. Ronald C. Noon disputes the claim of the band who rang the peal of Plain Bob Major at St. John's, Peterborough, of the first peal on the bells for 14 years. He rang a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major there on November 1st, 1952, conducted by G. E. Watson.
Writing from the Bell Jones Ward of the Anglesea Road Wing of Royal Suffolk Hospital, Ipswich, Mr. Alan R. Bridges tells us he will miss the Central Council as he will be in hospital. His trouble started with a minor operation for fluid on the knee, and now he will have a second in a few days on a cartilage. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Bedfordshire Association, at its annual meeting, reported last weak, agreed to increase the 1964 subscription to 4 s . for adult members, remaining at 1s. 6d. for junior members. In future it will be possible to pay a life subscription of $£ 44 \mathrm{~s}$. Although no longer general secretary, Mr. S. J. Ivin is peal secretary and Mrs. Ivin librarian.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD  Farnham District

About 40 ringers met at Worplesdon for at meeting of the Farnham District on May llth. Ringing before the service ranged from rounds to Surprise Major. The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. Hoskyns. and this was his first association with the Guild. He commented how pleasing it was to see such good fellowship among ringers.
Tea was raken in the Church Room, and excellent fare was provided by the local ladies. During the tea it was discovered that it was the Rector's birthday: he was heartily congratulated and thanked for having spent his birthday tea with us. As the charge of 2 s . per head for tea amply covered the cost, the surplus was donated, together with the retiring collection from the service, as part of Worpleston's donation to the Cathedral Bells Fund. This amounted to $£ 2$
The Rector was elected to take the chair for the business meeting, and routine matters were speedily dealt with. Five new members were elected from Grayshott and Worplesdon.
Ringing was resumed after Evensong until about 9 p.m.

CHRIST CHURCH GUILD OF RINGERS, EPSOM COMMON

Afler the death of their captain, Mr. G. F. Oakshott, the ringers of Christ Church. Epsom. expressed the wish to have their own lower Guild and elect their own officers. A meeting was duly held on May 2nd at Christ Church Vicarage, with the Vicar in the chair.

It was decided to call the Guild the 'Christ Church Guild of Ringers, Epsom Common.' The Vicar was elected president. The following officers were then elected.

Mr. W. Parrott, captain: Mr. Denis Oakshott, vice-captain: Miss Adrienne Gibson, secretary: Mr. Richard Fentiman, treasurer; Mr. David Herschell, steeple-keeper.

Ringing times would continue as before, i.e. 10.30 to 11 a.m. and 6 to 6.30 p.m. on Sunday, 8 to 9.30 p.m. on Wednesday, practice night.

Would all ringers please forward any future correspondence in connection with the ringers 0: Chnist Church. Epsom Common. to the Secretary, Miss A. Gibson. 4, Ridgeway, Epsom.

BALDERTON, NOTTS

Four pleasant easy-going rings of bells. similar to their own, were selected by Balderton. Notts. ringers for their half-day outing on April 20th.

The first stop was Heydour (8), where we unfortunately had a broken rope. This was soon put right, hawever. At Folkingham (6) we were warmly welcomed by Mr. Bradley, and here we ate our packed tea. of necessity in the coach, as the weather did not match the bells. Billingborough's eight we found very much to our liking, and excelled ourselves with a good rise and fall. The last tower had another pleasant six, Silk Willoughby, scene of many peals.

Methods rung were simple, including Stedman Doubles. Boh Minor and Grandsire Triples. with rounds for P Paul, our latest recruit.

Our thanks go to our coach driver, and the clergy and ringers who met us. B. N.R.

50 YEARS AGO

'R.W. . May 16th. 1913 :-
As will he seen from the report of the Sussex Association's annual mecting in our last issue. a very admirable foundation has been laid by that organisation for a benevolent fund, and there is now provision to the extent of $£ 25$ to assist members who may be in distress. Sussex has the proud distinction of heing the first ringing association actually to adopt a scheme for such a fund-although Kent was only a week or two hehind. It should give the lead to other societies who are still without such a scheme.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Any ringer who may be in London on Whit Sunday will be very welcome at St. Clement Danes', where ringing for Evensong is from 2.15 to 3.25

Her many friends will be pleased to read of the return to the quarter peal columns of Miss Y. C. Porter, of Plymouth, after a break of eight months, and trust the near future will see her back to peal ringing

Corrections.-The peal by the Ancient Society of College Youths rung at Worcester on April 27 th was Yorkshire Surprise Maximus and not. Cambridge. The conductor of the peal at Eardisland (page 337) was Peter Border and not Wilfred Williams
Mr. Rupert Capon. secretary of the Chertscy District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, learned to handle a bell at the jll-fated church at Eastwood. Notts. He thinks that gremlins must be about there, als the church was destroyed by fire in 185 2 and not rebuilt until 1858.

Miss Valerie Hollings. of East Grinstead, will temember her 21st birthday. On the day before, she not only rang her first quarter ' inside, hut owing to indisposition of Miss Jane Smart, she was called upon at a moment's notice to ring her first peal. This she did extremely well.

A very helpful article on conducting by Bernard Groves appears in the April issue of "The Belfry.: the quanterly magazine of the Maidstone District, K.C.A. Editor Percy M. Town is in the happy position of catering for a Districy full of vitality

GREAT YARMOUTH PARISH CHURCH

By Canon Gilbert Thurlow

HAD anyone suggested a meeting of the Central Council at Great Yarmouth in any year between 1942 and 1959, it would have been unanimously turned down. For during all those years this parish endured a ghastly silence -it had no bells. Its ringers kept up their spirits and their courage. They hoped against hope for some future event. But for ringing they had to go elsewhere.

The great Priory and Parish Church of Yarmouth, 'England's largest parish church,' had a long and honourable history. It was founded in 1101 by Herbert de Losinga, the far-sighted Norman Bishop who at Norwich in a mere five years had built the first half of one of the world's finest cathedrals. Yarmouth was at that time little more than its name implies - the mouth of the River Yare. In the estuary there had been forming a sandbank; the herring fishers found this place convenient for headquarters when plying their trade. Their temporary huts were giving way to the beginnings of a permanent settlement, and Herbert, seeing that the place would grow, built a splendid Norman church on the sands. Here the church is still. But it has experienced changes of fortune, good and evil, far beyond those which have come to most churches.
Yarmouth became very wealthy. Herbert's Norman church was twice enlarged, so that today it possesses the widest Gothic side aisles in Europe, and its once dominating Norman tower is half hidden behind vast roofs and the Gothic belfry which surmounts it. We proclaimed our gratitude to the source of our wealth by having as our arms three silver herring on a sea-blue shield. Then we became richer still. For the Battle of Sluys we provided half the British Navy-think of it!-and grateful Edward 111 permitted us to halve the herring on our shield with the lions of England, making the arms we bear today. Our church was adorned with many chapels, belonging to our trade guilds, and when in 1468 we "paid the Suffragan for hallowing the bells, 6/8.' and again when in 1485 our Great Bell was 'new run,' our church was splendid indeed.

Then came reform and dissolution. Henry VIII pillaged everything, so that until two years ago the endowment of the benefice was $£ 100$ a year. The church was reduced to a state more ghastly than that of most others. It was divided into three parts separated by brick walls. The Independents had the quire, the Presbyterians the north aisle, and the Church the nave and south aisle. However. we kept such bells as we had. In 1670 we had six, and John Stevens, of Norwich, added two trebles in 1726. But the church was in a shocking state. There was disagreement as to who was responsible for what, and ruin gradually spread. The cloisters were pulled down in 1811 . but the Refectory remained and is today the splendid Assembly Hall of our controlled Church school.
In 1840 our suspension bridge collapsed, drowning a crowd standing upon it. 'Ah!' said the people, 'it is because we have neglected the parish church.’ There began a vast scheme of restoration through which. by 1880, the building was the most shockingly Victorianised of all the great churches of England.
On the night of June 24th, 1942, came the worst disaster of all. In six hours the building was reduced to a ghastly shell. Everything went but the tower and walls. Down came the timber spire in a cloud of flame. Down came the 12 bells-on which I and so many others had rung-with a tragic last funeral clatter. The clock stopped at 1.35 a.m., and thus it remained until 1.35 p.m. on October 31 st . 1959. For 13 years there was discussion as to whether the church could be rebuilt, discussion paralelled by that at Coventry, whose cathedral had been very similar in size to our church.
I became Vicar in June, 1955. Somehow things sorted themselves out. We reached agreement with the War Damage Commission for payment of $£ 315,000$ (very different from Coventry's $£ 1.000,000$, though the amount of damage was roughly similar in extent). In 1957 we signed a 5 -year contract for the complete restoration of the building. The work was carried out magnificently, and was successfully concluded after only two years 11 months' work. All honour to all who shared in it! Now we have a church of greaty beauty, redolent of 850 years of history yet strikingly new in its conception, contrasting interestingly with the far more expensive work at Coventry.

The 12 bells have been replaced by a glorious ring of 13 . These have rapidly become famous, for holiday visitors from all over the land have been welcome to our tower. One Sunday evening we had together ringers from (I think) Northumberland, Kent and Cornwall. The new tenor was cast at Whitechapel on May 7th, 1958, exactly a century after Big Ben's casting there. The frame is of Burmese Gurjon resting on a 16 cwt . reinforced concrete grillage. The frame is so planned that at handstroke half the bells swing east and half swing north. so the wave motion which can develop if bells swing both east and west, and both north and south, does not happen. The bells are 20 feet lower in the tower than formerly. and we also have a simple adaptation of the organ swell box in the tower windows. so that the bells can be quietened for a peal. The only complaint I have ever heard about their sound is that sometimes they are not loud enough! Lucky Yarmouth!

The chimes of the clock. composed by Brian price, sound themes from Bach's B minor Mass, You can find their music in detail in the parish church guide book-and if you want another pleasing souvenir of your visit to Yarmouth. you will find a photo of the ringers at work in the June issue of 'Yarmouth Parish Life, also ohtainable in the church. This photo recalls the day of October 31st, 1959, when at a vast service the Mayor of Yarmouth in the ringing chamber said: "At 25 to 3 on the morning of June 25th, 1942, the clock in this church was destroyed. And now, at 25 to 3 this afternoon, I rejoice, in the name of all who will see it and hear its chimes. 10 start this ctock again." After which hundreds of ringers joined in the ringing. the Bishop of Thelford having dedicated the bells.

They had already, on June 21 st . 1959, been blessed by the Dean of Norwich who, al a service attended by 3.000 people, had named them thus: Herbert (after our first Bishop), Walter (after a bishop who enlarged the church), Felix (East Anglia's first mussionary). Luke, John. James. Peter. Paul. George, Andrew, Thomas. Nicholas (after the churches of this parish) and Gabriel (the flat sixth)

Other events have filled our church since its rising to life two years ago. But centuries must pass ere men forget the days we have seen as our church has returned to life. And no events will give greater pleasure to many people than the visit of the Central Council at Whitsun, 1963.

WELCOME TO TIIE COUNCIL

THE forthcoming visit to Yarmouth of the Central Council is anticipated with pleasure by all members of the Norwich Diocesan Association. They trust that all who come will have an enjoyable time and that the meeting will be one of happy recollections. It is our intention to do all we can to ensure this. We are indeed honoured that for the third time since its inception the Council has considered one of our towns to be 'a convenient centre' for its annual meeting.

With three centuries of organised ringing behind them, the ringers of the diocese of Norwich have made a considerable contribution to the development and maintenance of church bell ringing, and the Association is proud to have taken no mean part in the formation of the Council and in its growth and work, and has consistently supported its aims. Indeed in 1885 a vice-president was a member of the committee appointed to consider the possibility of its formation (originally referred to as the National Association), and in A pril, 1890, two members helped to frame its constitution.

For ten years from 1892 the Association's hon. secretary and treasurer served the Council in that capacity. A few years later, one distinguished member who sprang from Norfolk soil began his 50-year period of invaluable service to the Council. Another giant of the Exercise with more than 20 years' devoted service to the Council has settled in the diocese und has given great help with the present arrangements. Today, another member is a worthy candidate for the highest honour the Council can bestow. We can therefore fairly claim to have a 'vested interest' in the wellbeing of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.
To all, then, who are attracted to Yarmouth -members of the Council, their families and friends, and all other visiting ringers-we offer a very hearty welcome to the gaiety of Yarmouth, to the quiet and peace of the Norfolk roads and villages, to the charm of the Broads, and above all, to the glories of our magnificent churches.

> NOLAN GOLDEN. President.
> Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

The A.G:M. of the University of London Society, held on May 4ih. was attended by 22 members and two visitors.
Prior to the meeting, good use had bean made of the bells at St. John's. Deptford. St. Mary's. Lewisham. St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, and St. Olave's, Hart Street. but an unexpected urgency prevented the Rector of the latter church (Rev. Maurice Dean) from being present to take the service. Accordingly tea. which had been copiously prepared by the dady members of the Society in St. Olave's Hall. was embarked upon a little carlier than usual.

With the president, Philip Gray, taking the chair in his usual good humour, the meeting opened with the secretary reading out a long list of apologies for absence, many due to the change of date of the A.G.M.

The Master's. secretary's and treasurer's reports were available to the meeting in printed form in the annual report, and, after some controversial discussion, were adopted

Four new members were presented for ratification, two of whom were not accepted, since their subscriptions were overdue.

The following new officers were elected for 1963/64: President. Philip Gray: vice-presidents. David Martin. Alan Thirst and Denis Layton; Master, Alan Frost: secretary, Diana Lawless : ireasurer. Tony Osborne: committec. Yvonne Edwards, Pauline Fennell and John Eisel: auditor. Peter Layton.

On the subject of forthcoming tours, the secretary outlined the Whit tour, to be held in Leicestershire. and arrangements for the summer tour in Yorkshire and Derbyshire were confirmed.

The votes of thanks included one to the retiring editor of the annual report (Marcus Barton) for a prompt and stimulating edition.

AUSTRALIA'S FIRST 100 PEALS

Details of the first 100 peals rung in Australia, and also the seven rung since completing that total on Feb. 7th. are published in the Whitsun issue of 'Ringing Towers,' the journal of the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellningers.

The first peal was rung almost 73 years after the first-Grandsire Triples at St. Philip's Church. Sydney. on April 9 th, 1890 . by six Victorian and two Sydney ringers. Two peals at Hobart followed the same year and early in 1891 came the first peal in Victoria.

The visiting English ringers on the Great Adventure in 1934 added seven to the total, but their departure was followed by a gap of 10 years. After the war, ringing was revived in Sydney. Bill Rowe emerg:ng as the most promiment figure. Under his Jeadership the $20 t h$ peal was rung.
The coming of Philip. Gray to Melbourne in 1952 gave to Victorian ringing a muchneeded impetus and he conducted the 50 th tower peal. Stedman Triples at St. Paul's.
The early 50 s saw the first peal at Yass. where Bill Rowe called 8.040 Doubles, and at Walkerville, where Philip Cooper was active. Also at this time a start was made on handbell peals (total now 21). Philip Gray's departure from Melbourne was quickly followed by the arrival of George Pipe. and in the next four years $(1956-60)$ peal after peal was recorded in Victoria, including the first in Australia of Cambridge Surprise Minor and Double Norwich Court Bob Major
The next two years were comparatively quiet. only six peals being rung. but by the end of 1962 the total stood at 99 . The first peal of 1963 achieved the century. Since then seven peals have been rung. including the first peals on the bells at St. George's Cathedral, Perth, and St. Peter's Cathedral. Adelaide.
The leading ringers are: T. W. Goadyer 26 (conducred 17 ), J. J. F. Roper 23. G. W. Pıpe 22 (18). W. M. Rowe 20 (11), P. M. J. Gray

SURREY ASSOCIATION'S STRONG POSITION

The A.G.M. of the Surrey Association was held at Christ Church, Epsom Common, on May 4th. Ringing took place in the afternoon, and the Vicar conducted the service; after wards 85 members and visitors sat down to tea in the Church Hall prior to the A.G.M. The chair was taken by the Master, Mr. F. E. Darby, who welcomed those present in opening the meeting.

The committee report for 1962 outlined a ysar's quiet work and steady progress, which will perhaps be remembered particularly for the special general meeting held to vote on the proposed merger with the Guildford Diocesan Guild. There had been a very slight increase in membership, and those present stood whilst The names of six members, who had died in 1962. were read: T. Blow. E. G. L. Coward, E. Goldstone, F. Hoad, W. Pellow and W. Robinson.

Beddington had again won the striking competition and was congratulated on the standard of ringing there and in the Christmas Day broadcast. The number of peals rung was 37 and the number of quarter peals had risen to 192. The Southern District had launched a scheme to assist struggling bands through a team of ringers. and the Northern District had proposed the setting up of 'teaching towers." The report was concluded with a plan for 1963, including a survey of Surrey towers, and a proposial to encourage membership and widen ower representation.
The statement of accounts showed a healihy financial position, with a balance at December 3 st of $£ 142$ in the general account and $£ 150$ in the Belfry Repair Fund. Following request for assistance with the rehanging of the bells at Merstham. the sum of $£ 25$ was voted from the Belfry Repair Fund.

> MR. A. P. CANNON MIASTER

Mr. F. E. Darby relinquished the office of General Master on completion of three years service in this capacity, and. following a ballot, Mr. A. P. Cannon was elected for the coming year. The following were also elected as general officers: Secretary. Mr. R. I. Parsons; treasurer, Mrs. K. E. Chilcott ; assistant secretary, Mr. G. Clarke; auditor, Mr. M. V. Chilcott; liaison officer to the Guildford Diocesan Guild, Mr. F. E. Collins

The meeting agreed that the A.G.M. in 1964 should be held at Leatherhead and that consideration should be given to opening two or more towers.

As this was the first general meeting since May, 1962. two appeals, which had been received were discussed and it was agreed that a donation sbould be sent to Melbourne Cathedral and the Ernest Morris Memorial Fund.

Requests had been made by the Epsom towers to be transferred from the Northern to the Southern District. Leatherhead and Ashtead signified that they would also be prepared to transfer. After some discussion the matter was left in abeyance. The whole question of county and diocesan boundary changes in the future was raised and referred to the committec for consideration.

Mr. D. A. R. May, the Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild said how much appreciated was the work of Mr. Collins, as the Jiaison officer, and the Master, Mr. A. P Cannon, called for votes of thanks to the retiring officers, to the ladies for tea, to Miss Kempsell for preparing the meeting notice, to Mr, and Mrs. Streeter for collating the annual report and to Mr. Parrott and the Vicar of Christ Church for their kind hospitality.
The Association's appreciation was expressed to Mr. W. F. Ottway for his gift of a bound volume of 'The Ringing World for the library, and to Mr. R. F. Layton. for his willing labour on the Association peal book.

The Leicester Diocesan Guild.

Among the Up and Coming Youngsters the Leicester Guild is one Martin C Faulkes, a member of "The Rambling Ringers. Martin was born at Hinckley, Leicester. on March 16th, 1944 . He commenced his schooling at Hinckley C. of E. Junior School in 1949, where be stayed until 1955. Following this period he went to Hinckley Grammar school from 1955 to 1962. He was successful in his G.C.E., both at ' $\mathbf{O}$ ' and ' $A$ ' levels, and had three years in the VI form. He is now at Hull University.
Martin learned to handle a bell in the early part of 1958 on the magnificent eight at St. Mary's, Hinckley, and was taught by Alf Ballard, a first class ringer and member of the Leicester Guild. He was soon exploring the mysteries of method ringing, and could be seen on most Tuesday evenings in the lower at Sapcote. where he was severely driiled by another well known ringer-Michael E. Brown.
Martin rang his first peal at Sapcote on December 30th, 1958. when he rang the treble to Beverley Surprise Minor. At a later date he was invited to join the Wednesday evening peal band at the Loughborough Foundry, where he took part in a number of peals with the late Ernest Monris. His peal total of 100 plus includes over 50 in Surprise Major methods. Like most youngsters of today he has conducted a number of peals. the first of which deserves great praise. It was Plain IBob Major at Ashby Folville in 1960 and the average age of the band was 15 years and 10 months. Of his peals as conductor two have been Stedman Triples

Martin speaks very highly of "The Rambling Ringers.' whose annual cycling tours under the supervision of Dennis Mottershead make such interesting reading in "The Ringing World.'

MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

THE 17th annual meeting of the Midland Counties Guild was held in Burton-onTrent on May llth, when upwards of 50 ringers were present from the majority of towers in the area, together with visitors from Birmingham, Whitwick and Wolverhampton. During the afternoon ringing took place on the fine. modern ring of six bells at All Saints'

The business meeting followed an excellent tea, kindly provided by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brittan. The president, Mr. B. Wortinington, who had travelled from Northumberland, was in the charr, and, in his remarks. spoke of his message written in the annual report, in which he said. Bells are important and serve an important purpose, whether they call us to Sunday service, marriage or funeral. or whetber they ning out news of a special occasion of public or personal interest. they are doing important work and so are the ringers who ring them. Bell ringing is an art and a skill, seldom perfected in a lifetime.

REMEMBERED

A minute's silence was observed for members who had died during the past year, namely Mrs. Soar. W. Noble and G. S. Hill, of Tick$\mathrm{n}=11$. A. Shaw (Ashby). H. L. Duwson (Newhall). E. Morris (Leicester) and Mrs. N. L. Ramsey. whose tragic death in a road acc:dent took place that week.
Four new members from St. John's Horninglow. who have repaired their almost unique ring of steel bells after many years' silence. were elected
The honcrary treasurer (Mr. J. H. Brittan) reporting on finances said that the balance sheel showed balance at bank of $£ \mid 46$, and that a donation from the Bell Repair Fund of three guineas had been made to Hoar Cross.

Mr. T. Pryce (auditor) commented on the excellent way the books were kept and the fund's healthy state, aided much by a kind gift from the president.

The secretary (Mr. J. W. Cotton), in his report. said 39 peals were rung in 1962, includang 'firsts' for the Guild of Yarkshire and Wye Surprise Royal, Loughborough College Major, Grangemouth Bob Major, Warwick Delight and Lytham Minor: six members rang their "first' peal and Mr. D. P. Jones was leading conductor with 19 peals.

The report concluded with a vote of thanks to all clergy. ringers and ladies-for providing tcas-all of whom combine to give pleasure to the Guild and assist its functions.

The reports were adopted.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Officers re-elected were: President. Mr. B Worthington : vice-president, Rev. W. V. V. ${ }^{\text {B }}$ Griffiths: chairman, R. A. Welton; Ringing Master, J. K. Smith; treasurer ,J. H. Brittan : secretary, J. W. Cotton: auditor, T. Pryce ; committee, S. H. Jones, P. J. Stretton, P' Marriotl and G. H. Lane; Central Council representative, J. W. Cotton.

Commenting on the 1962 report. Mr. D. P Jones suggested that the peal inventory he reduced to a smaller type to economise space in future reports
A collection taken for the Bell Repair Fund amounted to $£ 312 \mathrm{~s} .$. and a vote of thanks to the president. for his effort to travel a long distance to be present, brought the meeting 10 a close.
Two hours good ringing on the bells of St. Modwen's included touches of Bristol and Cambridge Surprise Major, and the president showed he still can ring. despite his exile. by taking part in some set changes.
So concluded a memorable and well at tended afternoon's ringing and fellowship.

Letters to the Editor

The Coventry Rally

Dear S:-M-. Waltors seems to have travelled from Wales to take rar! in the Coventry Rally with the imp.c.s.on thet he could walk into any tow:- of his choice to find that his party would just makz up a band. I was at St. Nicholas' . Warw.ek. during the whole of the morning ringing and agree that during one period of about half an hour the ringing chamber was extremely crowded with the resu't that it was not possible to enter or leave whilst ringing was in progress. Although i: was inevitable that some " tower grabbers should turn up on an occasion such as this. Mr. Walters impression of rop:snatching is surely not the impression gained by the majority of those who attended. As he only wished to ring at two towers, surely he could have waited until the crowd had thinned a little.
Mr. Garner-Hayward announced several times during the tea interval that there would be no ringing at Stratford-on-Avon in the evening. Another glance at The Ringing World in question will show that the number of towers open should have been sufficient to cater for those who attended, but. as it happened, the towers nearer Coventry attracted a surfeit of ringers.

The Coventry Guild should be congratulated on achieving the greatest feat of organisation of this nature yet demanded of a body of ringers.-Yours sincerely,
D. A. R. MAY.

'A Decadent Caper

Dear Sir-It amazes me that the bund who recently rang a peal int St. Neots: reported in your issue of May 17 th. have the nerve to describe it as 'Spliced Surprise Major.

To my mind the form in which the peal was published. however well if might have been rung. amounts to a gross deception of those of your reiders who do not understand place notation and reflects diseredit on the Society concerned.

A better name for it would, I suggest, be - Lincolnshire with a Fire-up on the Front at Most Half-leids: An even betier solution would be to desist from such decadent capers altogether.-Yours faithfully. ROBIN G. LEALE.

A Welsh Custom

Dear Sir,-When a person dies in a Welsh village, the custom is for a 'cnul' (toll) to be rung the night before the funeral to show the dead person's age, when a number of blows equal to the age of the dead person are struck on a single bell.
Is this a custom in England, and if so, what is the name given for it?-Yours faithfully,

Llanfairfechan.

Not a G. and B. Peal

Dear Sir,-I have had brough: to my attention that the peal rung at Tytherington on December 291 h (page 51 ) was non-association. due to the lapse of membership of one of the ringers. I wculd like it withdrawn as a Gloucaster and Bristal D:ocesan Association peal. I would like to apologise to yourself and the peal secretary for any inconvenience. -Yours faithfully.

Edward Neale, Bellfounder

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. Uphill's letter, Edward Neale. of Burford. was casting bells between 1635-1683. In the 'Bellfounders' Aisls" of Burford Church is a tablet to the memory of his wife, which also records his name. His death is recorded in the registers in 1695. It appears that he migated to Buriord between 1632-1635, with his father, Henry, who also cast a few bells. His usual, though not invariable, trade mark was a large stamp on the waist of the bell, with "Edward Neale. of Burford, made mee.' His work is mainly confined to East Gloucestershire and North Wilts. Expansion further east was prevented by his better known rivals. the Keenes of by his be

I have no knowledge of J. Gardner. of Tetbury. He was probably a local iron or brass founder, who made this one attempt in the field of bellfounding. Alternatively, he may be the person who paid for the recasting of the bell.-Yours sincerely.

Salisbury, Wiks.
Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. M. J. Uphill's inquiry. Edward Neale, of Burford. is beleved to have been born at Somerford Keynes. in Wiltshire, but he died at Bunford in 1695. and this name is recorded in the - Bellfounders' Aisle of the Parish Church there, where there is also a tablet to his wife, who died in 1671. It is thought that his residence in Oxfordshiae was temporary and that he returned 10 Wilts. His son, Ediward, was also a bell founder.-Yours faithfully,
E. G. CAPLE.

Clevedon, Somerset.

Mr. Frederick Sharne writes that he knows nothing of 3. Gardner, of Tetbury, and wonders if our correspondent transcribed the inscription at Cherington correctly, as it differs from Ellacombe's version, but H.T.E. was not always reliable. An article by Mr. Sharpe on the Burford Bell Foundry appears on page 366 .

Lost Correspondence

Dear $S$ :r.-I have been informed that, at some time secantly. someone applied for the use of Wadhurst bells, but got no reply.
I can assure whoever it was that I have received no letter of application that has not been answered, and can only assume that the one in quistion has been lost in the post.
About two years ago a Mr. A. Bassett moved into No. 10, Pendrill Place, and quite a lot of our respective mail has been delivered to the wrong address. but I hardly think that this is the cause of the above.-Yours faithfully.

Attempt for 20,160 Minor

Dear Sir.-An attempt to ring 20.160 Minor will be made on June 15th at Stoke D'Abernon, Surrey, commensing at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. There with be two extents each of the following methods: London S., 2 Bourne S.. 3 Caithness S.. 4 Camoridge S.. 5 Oswald D., 6 Double Oxford B.. 7. Thelwall B.. 8 P.nehurst B.. 9 Si. ## A Peal for Duffield

Dear Sir,-I would like to mention something which, although not really in danger of extinction is suffering lamentable neglect by ringers at the present time. I refer to - Duffield," invented by Sir A. P. Heywood, in the 1880's, and irtroduced to singers via The Bell News.
To find reasons for the investion of this principle, it is necessary to examine the popularity of the Treble Bob hunt methods. The popularity of 'Treble Bob in the Kent and Oxford variations, in the 19 th century was based upon their 'musical qualities ' (pure fallacy!), and the ease of extension to Royal and Maximus. These same quakities are the reasons for the popularity of Stedman, which has been a favourite for hundreds of years. However, Stedman does not extend well to even numbers of bells! The popularity of Kent and Oxford was maried, however, by several faulis, mainly: (i) 'The Slow, which splins the tenors and causes the most horrible changes: and (i:) The length of the courses, a fault shared by ahl T.B. hunt methods.
Duffield possesses none of these disadvantages. It is musical to a very great extent, which cannot be said of even Superlative, let alone the pure Treb'e Boh methods. It has courses of only 60 and 72 changes for Royal and Maximus respectively and a simple extension. identical to that which has made Stedman so desarvedly popular. Moreover. being an even $b=11$ method, it eliminates Stedman's one fault; the monotony of it covering bell. a thing not so musical as many ringers would like to believe.

Why, then, is Duffield not as popular as it deserves to be? The answer is that it is 'too casy' or 'simple" (or too hard: one has in stay awake) for ringers who vicw unmusical rubbish. like Londan Su:prise as a kind of status svmbol.
The other virtue of Duffield lies in the truth and ease of proaf of the sixes, a ahing not even the most devoted Cambridge Surprise fan could question!-Yours faithfully,

DAVID C. BROOKES.

En Route for Great Yarmouth

Dear Sir.-When I have attended Central Council meetings it has always been a pleasure to be abie to ring at two or three churshes before arriving at the actual venue. Th:s year there is no ringing until Great Yarmouth rearhed.
I have advised visitors to G.Y. to use the Dowrinam Market By-pass, and, for the benefit of any ringers doing so, Downhan Market bells (8) will be available a'l day Saturday.
Any ringing will be doubly appreciated as June 1 st is the annual gift day of the church. -Yours faithfully,

A 64th ANNIVERSARY

To commemorale the anniversary of Mr . Edw $n$ Barnett's first peal, at S!. Paulinus Crayford, on May 18 th. 1899, an autempt was made for a peal of Sedman Tripies there on the approp: ate day. This unfortunately came $t 0$ gaie aftc: an hour and twenty minutes good ringing. though exactly what happened no one was quite su-e. The failure was ragretted not only for Mr. Barnetts sake but for that of the young lady of 16. who was ringing the tenor splendidly in her first at Lempt for a peal. The singers were W. H. Dobbie 1. ## HOWDEN MINSTER BELLS

Finest Ring for their

THE annual general meeting of the Yorkshire Association at Howden on May 4th took my mind back a litule over thirty years, to the time when the present bells were dedicated by the Jate Archbishop Temple.
In the early hours of Wednesday, October 9th. 1929, a destructive fire began at the old ringing chamber level and destroyed the various floors and room of the tower, besides causing irreparable damage to the organ in the transept below and to the sanctuary and side screens of the alter. The ring of eight bells crashed to the ground.
So thorough was the work of destruction that it took nearly three years to carry out the wark of reconstruction and renewal at a cost of $£ 32,000$. A new ring of eight bells was cast by Messrs. John Taylor, partly from the old metal salvaged from the fire, the tenor being 22 cwt . 1 qr. 3 lb , in E flat. The dedication of the bells and restored parts of the church took place on Thursday, June 30th, 1932. the ringing arrangements being in the hands of the Rev. C. C. Marshall, president of the Yorkshire Association.
The tower economy was arranged in accordance with Central Council recommendations inasmuch as the bells were placed 40 ft . lower in the tower, the frame being built on a devel with the oills of the lofty Jantern windows. The louvres were blocked up and a lantern rocf was constructed.
The architect made one mistake, however: the roof was visible above the parapet as against the Central Council's dictum that this class of roof should be hidden by the parapet.
In 1961 chursh authorites đec:âed to improve the appearance of the tower, and in consequence the lantern roof was removed and an ordinary roof substiuted. The accompanying photograph taken in 1961 shows clearly the improvement in appearance which took place Since then the flag pole and gilded weathe: vanes have been put back.

Weight in Yorkshire

Howden bells are now reputed to be the finest in Yorkshire for their weight, and the tower is a popular calling place for touring lands of ningars.

BIGGLESWADE DISTRICT RINGERS VISIT COTSWOLDS

Members of the Biggleswade District of the Bedfordshire Association and their friends had their annual outing on May llth, when the Cotswold country was chosen by Mr. L Bywaters, who arranged the tour.
The first tower was Stanton Harcourt. in Oxfordshire, where we arrived well on time to ring the six bells. Another six. of approximately the samis weight 111 cwt .) followed.
The eight-bell towar of Faringdon, Berkshire proved to be a very pleasant ring. Lunch had been booked in Faringdon, and it was only a shart ride to the delightful village of Lechlade. After an hour's ringing on the easy-going six we went on to the church at Fairford, famous for its stained glass windows.

An exce!lent tea was arranged at the White Hart. Fairford, and then on to the eight bell tower of Northleach.
At 8 p.m. the homeward journey was started, everyone having, had a most enjoyable day and everything being most satisfactorily arranged by Mr. L. Bywaters.
Thanks also to local ringers and incumbents of the churches visited.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Monmouth Branch

The delightful Church of St. Cadoc. Penrhos, possesses a ring of four bells in good condition, abviously carefully tended by loyal ringers. The church is set on a rise, in the heart of rural 1 Monmouthshire, and on May 11 th the countryside around was dressed in the hoveliest green, and biossom of wold cherry, horse-chestnut and blackthorn abounded. It was at th:s church that some eighty ringers and friends gathered, to attend the first bellringers' meeting ever to be held in a four-bell tower in the diocese.

During the afternoon the bells of Penhros, Tregaer and Bingestow were all pealing out over the fields around.

The church was full for the service, which was conducted by the Rural Dean of Raglan, the Rev. Ivor J. Richards. The Rev. Roy Hallet. Vicar of Caldicot, read the lesson, and Mrs. Arthur Price was at the organ to lead the hearty singing. The Rev. Ivor R:chards, in his welcome to fellow ringers, said a meeting a: Penrhos had bsen a secret wish of his for many years.
Warm hospitality was forthcoming in the churcl't room, refreshments being pressed upon the company by Mrs. Briggs and her helpers. They were thanked by Mr. Leslie Bainham, and Mr. Hannington. Master of the Associztion, thanked Mrs. A. Price.
At the business meeting the Rev. Ivor Richards read a letter of good wishes and encouragement from the Rev. H. S. Hanson, $V$ vicar of the four bell tower of Studham New members were elected from All Saints Newport, Magor. St. Mellons and Penrhos.
It was decided to send congratulations to Mr. J. Jaynes, of Ebbw Vale, who recently celebrated his 85 th birthday, and get weld messages to Mr. R. E. Coles at Cardiff Roya! Infirmary, and to Mr. I. H. Jones, of Monmou'h. Mention was made of the next Branch meeting to be held at Machen on July 13th.
Further ringing took place in the evening at Penrhos. Tregaer and Abergavenny. where more visitors joined the company. Her Majesty the Queen had visited St. Mary's. Abergavenny, the previous day and Mr. George Ward, tower master, arranged that the church be open for members to see the beautiful floral decorations and the royal signatures in the visitors' book.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Cnly two teams ente:ed the Newark District compitition for the Crawford Cup at N. Collingham on May 18 th. The judge was Mr. W. L. Exton, with Mr. T. D. Clarke as marker, and the result was Newark 66 faulis, and Sutton-on-Trent. 97. One of ths commonest errors-bad leads-was again mentioned by the judge in his summing up.

Ringing had taken place at South Collingham in the afternoon, and the Rector. Rev. G. H. L. D. Lane, and his wife had kindly entertained the company to cups of tea in the Rectory. and afterwards allowed the use of the room for the business meeting.

Miss Celia Chandler, of Sutton-on-Trent, was elected a member, and it was proposed to hold an evening meeting at Staunton-in-theVale on July 6th.

THE BURFORD BELL FOUNDRY

by Frederick sharpe

IN the north transept of Burford Church is Edward Neale, bell founder. who died in 1671. The uransept is known as The Beilfounders' Aisle.' The reasion for its name must he a matter of conjecture. It can hardly have been so called because of one memorial tublet. and may have been the scene of bell founding activities in past centuries. We know that hells were frequently cast in or neaur our parish churches in times past. It was easier to erect a temporary furnace than to transport heavy hells over country, with indifferent or no toads. Certain it is that bells were cast in temporary furnaces in Burford in bygone days.
We first learn of Henry Neale casting bells in Wihsh:re. In. The Historical MSS. Commission (page 358) is the record of a do doument stating ithat Henry Neale. of Somerford Keynes, Willshire. cast bells for North Nibley. Glcucestershire. in 1640 . Other belis by him Willshire are (or were) at Leigh. 1627, Sherston, 1632. and Ashley 1632. He sel up furnace in Bufford in 1635 and four bells. two of them disused, remain in Burford Church today. Apparently he returned to Somerford Keynes as evidenced by the document quoted above. He cast bells for Farinington, 1637. and Little Barrington, 1638, in Glourestershire.
Afterwards we find Edward Neale founding in Burford, where he died in 1695. In Oxfordshire. his bells are to be found at Brize Nortion, Broadwell. Fulbrook. Oxford, Shifford. Swinbrook, Witney and Yeiford. They also occur in Gloucestershire, as at Cherington: and in Wiltshire. (See Ellacombe. ' The Church Bells of Gloucestershire.' and Walters, 'The Church Bells of Wiltshire.)
The second Burford Bell Foundry was established in the middle of the last century.
In or about the year 1825 Thomas Mears bought up the bell foundry at Aldhourne. Wiltshire, and transferred the staff and plani to Whitechapel. James Bridgeman, who had been Robert Wells' principal assistant, worked a: Whitechapel for a few years and then returned to Aldbourne and reestablished the foundry there. In 1851 he met with a serious accident in a tower. which permanently injured him, and he retired. To James Bridgeman was apprenticed Henry Bond I. who bought the plant from Bridgeman after his accident and established, a bell foundry at Westcote. Gloucestershire. After some ten years he moved into Burford and built a foundry there. He died in 1905. His sons, Henry II and Thomas. continued the business. and the foundry closed after the death of Thomas Bond on March 13th. 1947
In Oxfordshire alone members of the Bond family cast or hung bells at Alkerton. Burford. Chadlingoon, Chalgrove, Charlbury Chastleton, Chipping Norton. Churchill. Fulbrook. Hanwell. Idbury. Minster Lovell. Great Rollright. Rousham. Shennington, Shill:on, Shipton-under-Wychuood, Taynton. Wigginton and Witney. Their betls are found in many counties.
Thomas Bond's foundry in Witney Street Burford. was the last of the one-man bell foundries of England. Is was delightfully situated in his garden, at the bollom of which flowed the River Windrush. Thomas Bond would often light his furnace fire, then throw a fishing line in the river. and alternate between the two while the metal was metting. He also did a considerable tusiness in casting mill brasses. and among the products of his foundry was a bellmetal water-mī1 wheel weighing several tons.
The writer was fortunate to the able to make an extensive photographic record of the Burford foundry in the list years of Thomas Bond's life: and some of these were published in his 'Church Bells of Oxfordshire.' It is to be regretted that Thomas Bond had no sons. and that the foundry has been demolished

RINGERS' SUNDAYS

Chilvers Coton

Canon F. F. G. Warman, Vicar of Aston was the preacher at Bellringers" Sunday at All Saints. Chilvers Coton. Warwicks, on May 5 th. In his sermon he said bell ringing was the way in which the Church went out to nonchurchgoers.

The bessic idea of ringing was to form a connection between the inside and the outside of the Church. Some people did not like hells and new churches were rising withou provision for the exercise of the ancient craft of campanology, but very many still supported and clung to the bells as the one really loud noise they were allowed to make in praise of God today.
The processional and recessional hymns were accompanied on 24 handbells. rung by Mr and Mrs. A.H. Beamish, the Misses Vivuriel and Christine Mason, Margaret Corcoran and William Day. The song "Bless this House" was rung unaccompanied. The lessons were read by A. H. Beamish (captain) and Miss Christine Mason (aged 16. vice-captain). The bells rang out as the large congregation left the church and a number of interested spectatars ascended the spiral staircase (only 13 steps) to watch the ringers in action.

Tonbridge

On May $119 / \mathrm{h}$, Evening Prayer took the form of the bellringers' service at Tonbridge Parish Church. Ringing on the eight bells of this historic church preceded the service, at which the Bishop of Tonbridge, the ringers prestdent, was the guest preacher. He was assisted by the Vicar, Canon T. F. C. Bewes, and the Rev. T. E. Yates.
In an inspiring address he reminded ringers and congregation alike of their great responsibility in this press-button age. As each ringer in: a peal by his own individual effort made one joyful sound. so in everyday life they must face the problems of retaining their individuality to carry forward that glorious heritage which was theirs and to sweeten the life of society at large Ringers in the tower look to their captain for their lead and example: therefore together we must look to the greatest captain of all, the Lard Jesus Christ. for our blessed hope and salvation.

The lessons were read by two ringers, Miss A. W. Burgess and Mr. L. T. Pope. and. in place of the anthem, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Mrs. O. D Barnett 1-2. Mr. E. A. Barnett 3-4, Mr W. H. Dobbie 5-6. and Mrs. S. M. Dobbie 7 -
After the congregation had been rung out to the sound of handbells the ringers and friends from Tunbridge Wells and Edenbridge were entertained io a most enjoyabie suppe by the Vicar and his wife.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

In connection with the Association A.G.M
a: Derby on April 20th, a half-day outing wa organised by the Chesterfield District. Despite a torrential downpour. 32 ringers and friend; deft Chesterfield shortly after 1 oiclock and arrived at Darley Dale (8) just in time to hear the advance party from Dore trying out the hells. Although one or two of the younger members were put off initially by the long rope draught, this difficulty was soon overcome and some quite reasonable ringing ensued.
The light eight at Belper were then visited. where, under the watchful eye of Jafus. a toush of Stedman was accomplished before proceeding to Derby for the tea and business meeting. Further ringing in the evening was enjoyed at St. Peter's (8) and the Cathedral (10).

Our thanks are extended to those who met us and. in particular, to Gordon Halls and the other Derby, ringers who provided at the R.A.F. Club the perfect end to an enjoyable day's outing.

 Sonning Deanery Competition
On a chiliy but bright afternoon on May

 18th, six teams waited outside the Church o St. James. Finchampstead, while their leader: made the draw for ringing order-the starts of the fourth annual striking competition of the Sonning Deanery Branch. This event seems to provide more enthusiasm and entertainment as the experience gained in the past adds more confidence and friendly rivalry.Sonning, appropriately it seemed, drew the first ring, fallowed by Warfield. Hurst. Easthampstead. Sandhurst and Twyford, and each by the good organisation of Joint Ringing Masters H. Smith and W. J. Parker, giving their ten-minute performance for the attention of ahl and, in particular. for the two adjudicators, somewhere secretly jotting down the clips' and sometimes clashes -not all the nerves had gone perhaps!
While the teams in turn were occupied with their call changes. Doubles and Treble Bob their opponents listened intently for any peculiarities in the bells or walked the grounds surrounding the 12 th century church, set high overlooking the beautiful Berkshire country side. 'Two's quick at hand'.... The ligh bells, want keeping apart ${ }^{\circ}, \ldots{ }^{\text {' }}$ Reckon th tenor's a bit slow at back .....advice and criticism kept pace with every pull until so many had gone that the difficulty of keeping with it gave place to general conjecture
With time to spare before tea a team of ladies, one from each band. and a team of men, similarly selected, completed the competition.

Up to fifity ringers th sn sat down 10 a well eurned and tasty meal joined by the judges, the Branch chairman and the Rector of St. James'
After the last cup of tea had satisfied the thirstiest throat thanks were expressed on behalf of the company by the chairman. the Rev. F. E. Harcourt-Trevor, for the excellent tea provided by the local members and friends. to the adjucticators (Major E.J. Bragg and Mr. W. Viggers) and to the Rector of Finfhampstead for the use of the belis.
In their comments both Major Bragg and Mr. Viggers stated that the standard of striking was the best since the competitions started. Their placings were: 11 Twyford ( 33 faults). 2 Sonning (42). 3 Warfield (45), followed by Easthampstead (50). Sandhurst (52) and Hurst (53). A close contest with only 20 faults between the first and last-an ominous task for judges at the next competition, if the rate of improvement is maintained!
Mr. B. C. Castle. Branch secretary, closed the meeting by disclosing to the judges that teams 7 and 8 were the ladies and gentlemen's scratch teams ( 67 and 48 faults). Proof perhaps that practice does make perfectprof indeed that ringing. striking competitions ${ }^{11}$ particular. are good fun, good for the business and something to be looked forward to next year.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Bernard F. L. Groves, who conducted the peal at Erith on May 17th. would like to associate this peal with all those who have rung peals with him in the past.
Many friends will note with pleasure that Miss Sara K. D. Woolley, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Christopher W. Woolley has rung her first peal- 7.8 to Plain Bob Major hand. Her father, who was conducting, at the same tme rang his 750 th peal.
A golden wedding quarter peal was rung at All Saints" Church. Wyke Regis. Wevmouth oll May 10th for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rose. For 56 years Mr. Rose has been a ringer ai this church and for a number of years has been people's warden. Of the band who rang for their wedding. Mr. Lewis Wiffen and Mr. W'. Rose are the only survivors. Taking part in the quarter peal was Mr. F. Stedman, the captain. who is in his 89th year and still rings twice on a Sunday

BOLTON AND ROCHDALE BRANCHES' OUTING

Thirty-one members of the Bolton and Rochdale Branches of the Lancashire Association enjoyed a happy day out in the Chester and North Wales areas on May 11th.

Leaving Todmorden at 7.30 a.m. the early risers anrived at Rochdale and Heywood. then on to Bolton and Westhoughton. Excleston. near Chester, was reached at 10 a.m., where an hour was enjoyed on the wonderful eight ( 26 cwt.). The church, built by the first Duke of Westminster, must surely rank among the finest parish churches in England: built of red sandstone with pillars and black and white chequered floor, with equally beautiful organ and interior. it is a joy to enter. Sam Jones, grand old man of this tower, is a respected man in the village. His son. Arthur, met the party and conducted them round and his brother, Sam, met us at the next place of call, St. Mary-within-the-Walls, Chester. We were sorry not to see Percy Swindley. The bells (tenor $19 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt.) here do not go too well, but sound very well outside.
After an enjoyable lunch at Chester. a pleasant run brought us to Gresford, where the eight hells ( 25 cwt .) go extremely well.
The next stop was the white limestone Church of St. Margaret at Boddelwyddan, a dovely church, in an equally beautiful setting with a good eight ( $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). Nearly everybody in the party had been waiting to ring at this church. On to Rhyl for tea at - Summers Cafe, which we had visited before, and then an hour at St. Thomas ( $17 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., very good-toned bells), after a nice welcome from the leader of the ringers, Mr. Evans, and tower secretary, Miss Wallis.
We left Rhyl at 7.30 p.m., and after a pleasant run along the coast road, with a view of Liverpool Cathedral on the horizon, we finally came to stop for jiquid refreshment, and arrived home in time for Boltonians to catch their respective buses home. All thanks are due to incumbents for allowing us to ring and tower leaders for meeting us, etc.

SALISBURY CATHEDRAL, RHODESIA

M.r. H. P. Raynor, in his annual report of the Mashonaland Diocesan Guild of Bellringers, states that the past year has in many ways been difficult for the Guild, the hardest thing being the departure, permanent or temporary, of many active members. Losses include George Collins, Joan Winter and Colin Stevenson. In spite of these losses steady progress has been made in the tower (Salisbury Cathedral) largely due to the guidance of the tower captain. Fred Wilson. "Striking is improving, and while we may not be making the progress with change ringing that we hoped to make, the spirit is not lacking.
The main development during the year has been the erection of the new ringing chamber by Bruce Berrington and Sunday helpers. The difference made by this floor is impossible to overestimate. Much may still need doing to the clock, lighting is still unfinished and our ringing is far from perfect. but our belfry is ideal.

HYMN OF ST. DUNSTAN By $\mathbb{P}$. AMOS

(Sung to tune 355, Ancient and Modern)

1. Maker of instruments of Praise To thee our thankful hearts we raise, In changing chants to worship's call To glorify the Lord of all.
2. To Holy Dunstan came the task The Church's outward voice to cast, To Christendom he gave his all tMay we Tike him wbey that sall.
3. The sacred cail the pealing bells Oer countryside their music swells, To every home a message brings The Gospel of the King of Kings.

OBITUARY

THE VERY REV. R. J. F. MAYSTON

Leicester Cathedral has suffered a great loss by the death of their Provost (the Very Rev. R. J. F. Mayston. C.B.E.. M.A.), at the age of 56, following an operation in St. Thomas' Hospital, London.
Although he was not a ringer himself, he took a great interest in the ringers and ringing which took place at the Cathedral, and, with Mrs. Mayston, always participated in the social activities with the ringers. as the was president of the Leicester Cathedral Society of ringers.

The funeral took place at Leicester Cathedral on May 16th. and the bells were rung half-muffled before the service.

The Bishop of Leicester conducted the service, and the address was given by the Rev. James Good (Rector of Lutterworth). whose words gave a very true picture of the Provost.

He said that he first met Mr. Mayston as a student in 19:15. He was honest and helpful $t 0$ all who came to him for advice. Nothing was ever $t 00$ much trouble, no matter how small or difficult the problem might be. He had a great gift of giving himself to others.

A peal of Stedman Cinques half-muffled was rung on the Cathedral bells the following evening, as a last tribute to the memory of a very dear friend of the ringers.

The peal rung at St . Cuthbert's, Wells, in thanksgiving for the restoration of tne church at a cost of $£ 24,000$, had in the band six regular iSunday service ringers. The roof of the nave has been painted in its former medieval colouring and a 15 th century ce:ling has been uncovered and restored. Although the appeal was only launched $3 \frac{1}{2}$ years ago by Preb. H. A. Btarnett, only $£ 4,000$ remains to be found.

We are asked to state that the number of changes in the quarter peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal rung at Dalton-in-Furness (see page 317) was 1,480 and not as printed.

It was a big disapointment that the quarter neal attempt at Clanfield, Oxon, on Apral 25 th to hanour the 78 th Dirthday of Mr. George Clarke failed. Amends were made to George afferwards in 'The Plougn.'
Mr. A. P. Cannon is an unofficial liaison officer between the Guildfard Guild and the Surrey Association. He is Ringing Master of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Guild and Master of the Surrey Association.
The claim that the peal at Theale, Berkshire, was the first on the bells for 25 years (page 340) is incorrect, writes Geoffrey K. Dodd. A peal in four Minor methods was rung here in October, 1957, conducted by A. P Cannon.
Very high appreciation of the services to Australian ringing by George and Diana Pipe appears in the datest issue of ' Ringing Towers.' J. J. F. Roper, W. D. Watson and W. B. Pitcher w.rite of the great work and friendships they established during their seven years in Melbourne.

Senior ringer to tyro, after recent unsuccessful peal attempt at Pontefract, Yorkshire: - Hard luck, -: Came the reply, Never mind, there is always next time, and, anyway, it makes getting a good peal all that much more worth while; if we got them all, what would be the point?' One hopes that he (and many more) may have this thought ahways at the back of his mind as he grows older.

To celebrate the 75th birthday qi Thomas W. Metcali, Furness, a quarter peal of Plain Bob Royal was rung there on May 15 th . Since joining the Association in 1899, 'Old Tom,' as he is known to most North Lancashire ringers, has been a regular Sundiay service ringer at Dalton and still attends the Tuesday practices to help learners. "His 60 odd years of service are a credit to him, the Branch and the Lancashire Association,' writes W. Wall.
Congratulations to Mr. Bernard F. L. Groves on ringing his 500th peal at Erits on May 17 th . He is probably the youngest ringer to have amassed this total.
On Easter Monday a laine plaid scarf was left in the Tonbridge belfry. The owner should write to Mr . R. A. Large, Little Trench Farm, Trench Road. Tonbridge, for itts return.
The premature retirement of the Rev. A. N. H. Roscamp, through an infection of the throat, is deeply regretted at Wadhurst, Sussex, where he has been Vicar since 1951. He was instrumental in getting two trebles added to the bells when they were rehung in 1954. A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, the first of iSurprise on the bells, was rung on May 13 th. the day the Vicar vacated the vicarage. The peal at Felpham, Sussex, on May yth was. specially Jung to the memory of Mr. Horace Davis Alford and to mark the dedication of the new ringing chamber, which was met by a bequest to the church by Mr . Alford, Mr. W. Bristow, who has been in charge of ringing at Felpham for a number of years, rang the treble to his first peal of Minor.
With a peal of Stedman Doubles at Seend, Wilts, on May 18 th, Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd achieved a small ambition by ringing his 600th peal, and also completed peals of Stedman from Doubles to Cinques on both tower-and handbells. His total includes 188 twelve bell peals ( 136 Cinques, 52 Surprise Maximus). We rejoce in our illustrious contributor's achievements, Ringing in the peal, was David Nrbbs, one of the up and comng, youngsters from Holt, Wilts. He rang well.

SPRING-TIME OUTINGS

ST. MARY'S, WATFORD

On May llth Watford ringers and friends broke some new ground. A pleasant eight at Eaton Socon provided the first ring. which was enjoyed, as was also the first sign of sunshine after a rough start.
Through the flat countryside to Whittlesey, where the beautiful spire of St. Mary's contrasts sharply with the clusters of tall brick chimney stacks (some of them leaning) which abound in this area. Ringing on the good eight at St. Mary's was followed by lunch at the Falcon Hotel. Only a few minutes away is St. Andrew's, where another eight were put to good use.
Turning south, Huntingdon, the next objective, looked attractive in the brilliant sunshine, and touches in various methods were rung at St. Mary's. A mile away picturesque Godmanchester, with its pretty riverside, old houses and gardens, was much appreciated, as were the fine eight bells. Tea was taken here.
The journey back lay through St. Neots, the last call where, after a welcome by the Vicar, the majestic eight sounded well to the delight of ringers and listeners alike.
Old friends in the party included Steve Hoare and Harold Cashmore, with whom it was a pleasure to ring. Many thanks to all those who were waiting at the towers. particularly the young men at St. Neots who coped with a troublesome clock hammer, also to Dennis Laud for his faultess organisation.

ST. JOHN'S, FROME

A small band of ringers. with a large company of friends, visited five Hampshire towers for their outing on May 18th. St. John's captain. Mr. D. Flower. was unable to join the trip due to a slipped disk, and we all wish him a speedy recovery.
Ringing took place at West Meon, Soberton, Alverstoke. Bishopstoke (all eights), and King's Somborne (6). A visit to North Stoneham tower had been arranged, but a broken clapper made this impossible. Members of the band are most grateful to Mr. D. Forder. who arranged alternative ringing at Bishopstoke at very short notice.
All the bells were easy going, with the best ringing of the day taking place at King's Somborne. Here a course of Beverley Surprise Major made a satisfactory ending to a pleasant day's ringing. After leaving this village, Mr. W. Mills, aged 81. found that he had lost a gold ring. given to him by his mother, and he thinks it may have caught on the rope while he was ringing at King's Somborne.
Frome was reached at 11 p.m., after a day of sunshine, good fellowship and excellent food. Grateful thanks were expressed to Mr. Robertson. our driver, for able 'coachmanship,' and to the tower secretary for arranging the outing. We would also like to thank the ringers who met us and incumbents.
H. M. M.

STRATTON, CORNWALL

A very enjoyable outing to Somerset was arranged by Henry Trewin, of Stratton, for Easter Monday. It was fogey when the Stratton party left at 6.45 a.m. by way of Barnstaple and across Exmoor to Bishop's Lydeard. the first tower. Here we joined forces with ringers from Plymouth, Saltash, Tavistock. Plympton and Combe Martin.
Ringing was not enjoyed here because of the Ringing wa oscillation.
The other towers were happily chosen. There was good ringing at St. Mary's, Bridgwater, and St. John the Baptist, Weston-super-Mare, and on the nohle rirg at Congresbury Wrington was reached at $3.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and the delightful ten were soon going io Grandsire and Siedman Caters and Bob Royal. After Winscombe there was a long trek of about 50 miles to Martock. Where it was generally agreed the best ringing of the day was accomplished. South Petherton and Shepton Heauchamp received a hasty visit. Mr. and Mrs. W. Bisthop and John Cornclius were pery heipful as ringers and guides. The Stratton conlingent arrived home very tired at 12.45 a.m.

FIRST DAY OUT
(1T. MARY THE VIRGIN'S Church, Marlb borough, Wilts, has a tower whose membership has grown in the last year from almost nothing to about 35 ringers and learners. On a Saturday this month some of them, with friends and children, spent a day ringing their way round the Hampshire-Surrey borderland The trip was organised by Mr. and Mrs G L. E. Brown, and the panty was accompanied by the chairman of the tower, Rev. F Armand-Smith. Ringing was in the charge of the tower captain. Ab Johnson, and included Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Doubles and Minor, with a considerable amount of rounds and call changes for the learners.
A good start was made at Sherborne St. John, but at Odiham the ringing was rather thinly supported. due to the proximity of a place of refreshment. At Guildford, the party dispersed for lunch and reassembled for ring. ing at the delightful old Church of St. Mary, the first anti-clockwise tower for many of the band. The afternoon was spent at Puttenham. Seale and Ash, all with bells less than half the weight of those at the home tower. Nevertheless, the learners were undismayed, and a good standard of striking was maintained throughout. After tea at Farnborough. the party adjourned to the Parish Church for the final ring of the day.
The experience of ringing on strange bells seemed to have helped the standard of striking, as the service ringing the next morning was some of the best the team had ever managed.
M. L. S.

LADY RINGER AS MAYOR

We have only heard so far of one ringer as a new Mayor-Councillor Miss B. Temple, of Lewes. She is a niece of the late Archbishop Temple, at Southover Parish Church.
On May 22nd, the day of her election, her fellow ringers rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples on Southover belis.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W. $\therefore$ May 23rd, $1913:-$
We record quite a curiosity in a handbell peal this week. It is a peal of Bob Major rung at Haggerston, and each of the four ringers conducted a quarter-peal, while each quarter was by a different composer. The peal was the outcome of a suggestion made some time ago, and, despite its novelty, it was well struck. Indeed, throughout the whole of the ringing. only some half-dozen words were spoken apart from the calling of the bobs.
'R.W: May 30th. 1913.-
The two following peals were rung in honour of the wedding of Princess Victoria Louise, of Prussia. and Prince Ernst August. of Cumberland. Prince Ernst is descended from William Augustus. Duke of Cumberland, who was the founder of the Royal CumberLind Youths.
(The two peals were Superlative at Mortlake, conducted by Frank Bennett, and Superlative at Edmonton, conducted by James Parker.)

A NOTABLE PARTNERSHIP

ON JUNE 5Th, 1909, the first peal of Erin Triples was rung at Gateshead by the Durham and Newcastle Association. In these days of enterprise in the ringing of new methods little particular notice seems to be taken of a new venture, and 50 and 60 years ago, too, many methods now well known and well rung received an unobtrusive baptism. Erin Triples, so easy to learn, so exacting for the conductor and so challenging to the composer, was no new thing. It had been known, discussed, argued about and named quite a long time before 1909; but it was the mathematical genius of Joseph Parker that solved the difficult problem of producing a 5,040 and it was the uncanny ability of William Barber that inspired the ringing of it.

Joseph W. Parker was a North Country man. He began to ring rather late in life, for he was round about the age of 30 when he came under the tuition of Mr. Thomas Hudson at Bishopwearmouth. His progress was manifestly rapid, for in a very short time he was becoming notable both as a practical ringer and as an officer of the Durham and Newcastle Association. But what is more remarkable is that one beginning to associate with the art in the approach to middle life should reveal such an aptitude for theoretical investigation and develop such a masterly control of the principles and difficulties attached to the more abstruse aspects of composition.

No investigator worked more unobtrusively, none with a more sure touch. His writings reveal him as an earnest searcher after truth and the solving of problems; his approach was objective and never for self-appraisement or self-gratification, and it would appear that he was more concerned that the truth should appear or the problem be resolved than to be troubled as to who should light upon the essential facts. In Volume I of 'The Ringing World' one may find a long and not uninteresting controversial correspondence between Parker and Law James on the relationship between Stedman and Erin, and it will be seen that in his determined defence of what he considered truth Parker relentlessly hounded the brilliant Law James into a corner from which the reverend gentleman could not finally escape. In the same volume will be found Parker's very sympathetic reference to George Astbury's investigations into the possibility of securing the extent of Erin Triples with only two singles.

Pioneer of Spliced Surprise Major composition, exponent of Spliced Minor, brilliant investigator into the mysteries of Stedman Triples, J. W. Parker was placed by that great student Trollope among the leading composers of all time. And none can deny him his place.

William H. Barber was a Clent man and, together with his very able brother John, learned to ring at an early age. His work caused him to travel a great deal, and after some residence in Dublin, Bangor and Edinburgh, he settled in Newcastle upon Tyne to add one more famous North Country name to those of Routledge, Storey and the Gofton brothers.

His brilliance as a conductor was speedily apparent, and his fame as the exponent of the calling of difficult compositions was soon established. There was no limit to his mastery in all methods, but his favourite intellectual exercise was (as with Maurice Swinfield) Stedman Triples, and in the directing of some of the intricate compositions in this principle Barber's touch was as sure and unerring as was the touch of Parker in the production of the figures. Among the notable feats of this extraordinary man are the calling of Law James' Seven-Part, John Carter's OddBob for the first time on tower- and handbells, and that amazing performance at Gateshead when Barber conducted the Odd-Böb blindfolded.

It was either Barber or Washbrook (recollection is here unsure) who expressed the following desire: To be one of four people to walk into a room, take any pair of handbells, sit down blindfolded and ring Carter's Odd-Bob. The above two gentlemen were doubtless capable. And the other two'? Challis Winney probably. And the fourth? Might we say John O. Lancashire?

Great ringers and distinguished composers invariably have a fame that rests on their own achievements, but it is not unusual to find the name of a notable conductor associated with the works of a particular composer. There will come to mind John Austin and Bankes James. John Carter and Albert Walker, the Holifields senior and junior. and perhaps William Pye and Gabriel Lindoff. These were happy and portentous associations, and with them we do well to recall that formidable combination of the North. J. W. Parker and William H. Barber.

POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS  By Canon K. W. H. FELSTEAD

A ${ }^{\text {S usual these days. there has been quite at }}$ subject, which means a correspondingly large number of towers to mention in the various categories. The number of towers which have still to have their tirst peal has been reduced by 23 in this period-quite a good number. Most of these were claimed as such, viz.: Tilton. Peter Tavy, Napton-on-the-Hill. West Overton, Colyton, Dunblane, Ryton. Wroxton. Meanwood. Warnford, Broadchalke. Hicर̄líng. Chitterne, Madbury, Excter (St. Petrock's). London (St Vedast's). Barrford St. Martin, Hampstead (Essex) and Newton Valence. Four first pealers were not claimed-Brighstone, Dolton. Ossing1on and Cherry Hinton. Since I have yuite often had requests of late for lists of towers in different counties which have not had a peal. I expect a lot more will 'fall' before long
It isn't often we have a tower in the peal columns which has had a peal but before the ringing press came into existence in 1881 ! In fact. Dunham Massey is the only such case I can think of offhand previously. This time we welcome Inverness in this category. where the only previous peal was rung in 1877. So an 85 years' silence here. There have been five towers which have not been heard in a peal since before the first war. Ulfington had two peals 61 years ago and none until the recent one. They were both of Bob Minor in 1902 and 1903. Unless the bells at Nuthall have been recast, the peal a month or two ago was not the first on the bells. Grandsire Doubles was rung in 1906 and Doubles in two methods in 1908, but none since. At Swanwick the only previous peal was Grandsire Doubles in 1910, whilst the claim at Builh Wells for the first peal for more than 30 years was very modest! It should have been 50 years, for the last was in 1912-there were five peals from 1907 to 1912 . Then Netherbury had its only previous peal (Grandsire Doubles) in 1912 also.
Eight towers last had peals in the $1920^{\circ}$ s. Cropwell Bishop's last was in 1920, and there had also been one in 1905. Upton Snodsbury's one and only former peal was in 1923. Chelmarsh had its last in 1925, with a previous one in 1908. Littledean and Keynsham hoth appeared last amongst the peals in 1926. The former had had peals in 1921 and 1924. whilst the latier had peals in 1910. 1912, 1913 (two) and 1924 also. The last peals at Thurstaston and St. Paul so Cathedral. Dundee, were both in 1927. The former had also had its first peal in 1923 but there had been no other at SI. Paul's. Hale's last was in 1928, with the first on the hells in 1925.
As usual, quite a few towers last appeared in the peal lists in the 1930 s. Feckenham seems to go in for peals cevery 30 or 40 years. The one before the recent one was in 1930 and before than. 1889 . For an eight-bell tower, this is very infrequent. Barrowden's only previous peal was in 1931, in which year appeared also Ilmington for the last time before the recent peal. But here there had been peals in 1922,1924 and 1925 also. Before been peals in 1923, 1924 and 1925 also. Before the first war, South Hackney's name was seen ceased in 1932. From 1909 to 1913. 13 peats were rung. then four from 1919 to 1922 and three in 1931 and 1932. and no more until now. The peal at Wick St. Lawrence was claimed as the first on the bells, but I fear it wasn't unless the bells had been recast. I have one in 193?. St. Osvth likewise has lide a thave one in 1932. St. Osvth likewise has had a single peal hefore (Bob Minor in 1933). The last time Sherift Hales appeared was in 1935-it had also done so in 1925. Lingfield's last peal was in 1936. This is another eightbell tower with very few peals. As a six-bell tower. Grands: -e Double was rung in 1907. Then :here was silence untit 1935 (II suspect the bells were augmented in 1934). Then, in 1935. Cambridge and London Maior were rung and in 1936 London Major again. Now, in 1963, we get Naistone Major. I'm not sure that any other tower can say that nothing hut Surprise Maior peals have ever been rung on our eight bells! Of course, it was the last war which has kept the name of St. Mary Abbotts, Kensington. out of the peal columns, and it is a pleasure to read it there again. Before the first war, there had been 26 pcals. from 1882. then nine peals between 1922 and 1937

25 YEARS WITHOUT A PEAL

West Kirby is still another eight-bell tower which hasin't had a paal for 25 years. The first peal here was in 1890 (Double Norwich) and 10 had been rung by 1914. There was one in 1920 and one each in 1935 and 1937 (the latter the only Surpr'se on the hells) and silenez until now. St. Paul's. Chippenham, has a similar history. First peal 1886. seven peals up to 1914 and eight from 1921-38 (the jast until recently). All but two of these, by the way. were Triples. The two were Double Norwich, Strangely enough the next tower, Neston, makes a ' hat trick' of eight-bell towers with a similar tistory again. Fourteen peals from 1885 to 1910. then eight from 1921 to 1938 and now activity again after 25 years. Finally, in 1939. have three towers last seen in the peal columns-Church Oakley, Moreton-on-Lugg and Colmworth. The first had had peals in 1914 and 1932 also: the second peals in 1922 and 1930 (I confirm the recent peal as the first of Minor on the hells) and the last one preyious peal in 1937.
Now we come on to ' milestones.' A special article appeared when. a few months ago, the first tower to produce 1,000 peals divit the head-lines-Loughborough Bell Foundry. Already there have been another 20 or so peals there. sn I expect the 1.100 will be up next year! 1 am very pleased to confirm the 600 th peal at Erith since 1 last wrote. A wonderful record here, and going great guns still. The tower now is about 80 peals ahead of Crayford. which was the first church tower to reach 500 peals. In fact the latter may soon have to take 3rd place. for Willesden is creeping up and has passed the 450 mark a few months ago ractually, I made the claim for the 450th the 451 lst on the bells). We have 20 to 25 peals a year here. so maybe the 500 will be un at the end of next year. No tower passed the 400.300 or 200 in the period under review. Accringion has scored 150 - 58 were on the six before augmentation and of the 92 since 32 have beell on six bells. In fact, only one of the Lust 10 has been on the eight bells.
Eight towers have passed the century marksome claimed and some not. They are Handsworth (Staffs). Claybrooke, Halewood, Salchurst, Southport (Christ Church). Conisbrough. Gateshead (here I made it 98 when the 100 was claimed, although two more have been rung since) and Great Yarmouth (in the tower, of course). North Stoneham also aclaimed the 100 th peal since augmentation to 10 . I made it the 102 nd. Then for the half-century. we have Cranford (Middlesex). London (St. O!ave), Coleman's Hatch, Kirdington, Over (Cambs) Farnhant Roval, North Bradley. Branston. Heydour and Sawley. Derby All Saints where the 50th peal was claimed. has actually had more than that. I have 52 when older than 1881 peals are included.
Now a few false claims! The peat at Micheldever was not the first on the bells. Boh Minar was rung there in 1938. A peal at Theale was not the first for 25 years. There was one in 1957. Rutland Major at Soberton was not the first in the method there. It was rung in 1956. Unless 1 missed the withdrawal of the peal. Cambridge Maximus was rung at Worcester Cathedral in 1962 and so the one last month was not the first on the bells
I confirm the first of Major at Glasbury-onWye. This is a quite ex'raordinary tower.
Before the peal of Maior. there had been 30 peals commencing in 1907. First peal was of Grandsire Doubles. the second Grandsire Triples. Of the 30 peals. six are of Grandsire Triples. 14 of Grandsire Doubles. sine are of Doubles from two to five methods and one (in 1960) was of Bob Minor. So it had to wait a long time for an even bell method. I confirm the first of Minar at Prestbury There are only two previous peals here-
Grandsire Doubles in 1911 and 1949 . Fairford, Grandsire Doubles in 1911 and 1949 . Fairford, too, has had its first peal of Major. Here, there was a peal of Stedman Triples in 1898; Doubles (two methods) and Bob Minor in 1921 and 1923 respectively, and then six peals of Grandsire Triples from 1923 to 1931 and in 1954.

CORNHILL'S NARROW CHOICE

Cornhill, London. had its first peal of Maximus since 1923. There is an interesting record here. Sixty-seven peals have been rung since 188?. Of these, 54 have been Stedman Cinques (all since 1923 have been until the Cambridge Maximus six months agol: nine have been Kent Treble Bob Maximus: thres have been Cambridge Maximus, and. in 1900 there was a peal of Superlative Major. Not much variety so far!
The claim for the first peal of Stedman Triples at Stratton, Cornwall, is quite true for the present bells. which were recast in 1911. However, the very first peal in the tower, in 1901, was Stedman Triples, so the method has been rung there before. In that peal. four parsons took part. We don't often find as many in peals these days!

I presume the claim for the 100 th peal in Australia includes handhell peals. As far as I can see. tower bell peals have not yet reached that total.
Finally, three more five-bell towers which have reached double figures. They are Norton Canon. Bentley Common and Blaby. Congratulations to them.

BISHOP OF SALISBURY ENTHRONED

Summer came suddenly for the enthronement of the 74th Bishop of Salisthury (the R1. Rev. Joseph Edward Fison. D.D.) in Salisbury Cathedrad on May 24 th , before a congregation of over 3.000 . Many more were able 10 watch the colourful procession from Mitre House. through the High Street Gate and across the green to the open west doors. where the arrival of the Bishop was heralded by a fanfare of trumpets of the Royal Artillery Mounted Band.

The enthronement taking place the day after Ascension Day, the Bishop preached from the text, 'That He ascended. what is it but that He first discended. way must, to some small extent. resemble our Lord's-we must look to the descent and God would look after the ascent. Our Lord deszended to the lowest place on earth in H is Baptism. and if we went down to the lowest place-which is where we helong-then we could not but look un to everyone: and what a difference it would make if we looked un to and not down on others. each esteeming other hetier than himself. Supposing Conservatives looked up 10 Sociadists, and vice versa, the Forces and the Nuclear Disarmers. in the Church family High Churchmen and Low Churchmen. Vicar and churchwardens. organist and bellingers.... If we are at the feet of God we shall know that we are right down in the lowest place and must look up.
It is not known. of course. how many ringer; were in the congregation. certainly the president and Master of the Guild; and one of the clergy and a licensed woman worker $c^{f}$ the dirocese rang in the quarter peal later that day in St. Thomas", Salisbury, in honour of the new Bishop. He came from being Vicar of Great St. Mary's. Cambridge. and though we did not rise to Cambridge Surprise Major. at least we rang the method composed by a fanous Cambridge printer
The Bishop and his family listened from their garden, and he afterwards sent a message of thanks to the ringers for their wel come.

E. DERBYSHIRE & N. NOTTS ASSOCIATION

Under the direction of the Ringing Master Mr. C. Bleby) a wide variety of methods together with rounds and call changes. were rung at the monthly meeting of the East Derbyshire and North Notts Association at Gouth Normanton (6) on May 18th.
Ringars present were from Kirkby-inAshfield, Sutton-in-Ashfield. Selston, Blackwell, Morton. Clay Cross. Mansfield. Duffield. South Normanton. Todmorden and Heotonstall, Yorks.

RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD AT ROCHESTER

TIME seventh A.G.M. of the British Railways 1 Staff Association Guild of Church Bell Ringers was held at Rochester at the weekend May 10th-1.2th. Those who arrived on Friday visited St. Mary Magdalene's Church di Gillingham. and had an enjoyable evening. Saturday opened very promisingly, and at the Cathedral Mr. Norris conducted the party to the ringing chamber. The Dean. He Rt. Rev. R. W. Stannard, also climbed the steps to welcomed the Guild to Rochester, and hoped all would enjoy themselves during their short stay. Entering and leaving the belfry is no place for tall people, as one of the members found out.
During Junch it was found that a wedding was booked at the next church to be visited, so arrangements were made to ring at both All Saints', Frindsbury and St. Margaret's, Rainham. After this exercise all were ready for tea at Pat's Cafe, where the business meeting was also held.
With the Master in the chair, the business opened with a special welcome to the visitors, amongst whom were Mr. S. Robinson (secretary, Joint Committee, British Railways Staft Association). Mr. E. A. Barnett (secretary, Central Council) and Mrs. Barnett, Mr. L. Mitchell (honorary secretary. Rochester District). Mr. A. Dunk and Mr. F. Cheal (District representatives). Mr. C. Norris (captain, Cathedral ringers) and Mr. J. Willis (vice-president. K C.A.). Mr. Barnett replied with a story of his very amusing travels on the railway.
Members heard with deep regret of the death of the wife of Mr. R. E. H. Goodman, the general secretary, Southern Region, B.R.S.A., and the honorary secretary was asked to send a letter of sympathy. A letter of good wishes was also to be sent to Mr. A. J. Pitman, who was unable to make the journey.

BENEVOLENT FUND

Following the adoption of the minutes, the accounts were presented by Mr. Brough. senior auditor, who commented that it was a good statement. but there were many subscription arrears. Following the honorary secretary explaining that there were retired railwaymen who were unable to meet the subscription. Mr. $\ddagger$ Hodgson proposed. and the meeting agreed. that a fund called 'The Retired Railwaymen's Benevolent Fund, be created to meet such cases. A collection for this realised £2 18s.

The honorary secretary reported a very satisfactory year, with membership steadily increasing, and also a very happy relationship with the British Railways Staft Association. Although the ringing competition was thrown ou! last year, he suggested that an annual dinner should be considered in any future programme.
The new Master elected is Mr. C. Basselt. who was proposed by Mr. Foskett, and seconded by Mr. F. Hodgson. The honorary secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. A. Hoare, was re-elected, also both the auditors. All Regional Masters remain the same.
Mr. F. Hodgson moved that the Guild visit Crewe for the 1964 A.GiM. This was agreed 10: arrangements being left in the hands of Mr. Frank Stenson. Mr. B. Kynaston's proposal that the autumn meeting be held at Cambridge was carried.
Mr. S. Robinson. secretary, Joint Committee. B.R.S.A., explaining the new rules, said that honorary membership would not meet with the committee's approval. Membership would therefore come under the following four headings: (a) Active, (b) Retired. (c) Family. uives. etc. (d) Associate. The four ringers who rang in the 1962 peal were consequently elected as association members at a subscription of 1 s . each.

TWO HERSHAM RINGERS MARRIED

When two members of the St. Peter's, Hersham. Surrey, band were married there on May 18 th . ropes were let down through the belfry floor to enable this picture to be taken.
The bride. Miss Gwendolyn Peggy May, wore a full length lace dress, with high neck. line and nylon bustle. Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a white fur-trimmed coronet.
The bridegroom was Mr. Colin Norman Chinnery, and the bride's two sisters were attendants.
After a reception at Church House. Hersham, the honeymoon was spent at Ilfracombe.

Mr. H. Walker promised to help with the arrangements for the autumn meeting at Lincoln on September 28 th.

Mr . Stenson moved a vote of thanks to all thosc who helped to make the meeting sucla a great success. especially to Mr. and Mrs. W. Hollands. Mr. B. Kynaston read a letter. received from the manager and friends of the Black Horse. Taunton. thanking the ringers for the very interesting handbell ringing last year.

The programme for the day ended with a visit to St. Mary the Virgin's Church, Chatham.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The picturesque village of Armitage Bridge, near Huddersfield. Was the venue for the Barnsley and District Society's meeting on May llth. Fourteen towers were represented. and an excellent tea was served by local ladies. The Vicar (Rev. E. V. Wright). who is retiring this year, presided at the business meeting. Mr. H. Chant reported that permission had been given for a tablet to the memory of Mr. Dan Smith to be placed in Felkirk Church. Join Weaver. of Pontsfract. was elected a member.
The shield contest will be held at Wortley. near Sheffield. on June 8tb. Darton was suggested for the July meeting. and Bradfield. near Sheffield. for August 10 th. Replying to a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. C. Moxon. the Vicar hoped the Society would visit Armitage Bridge again.

CHELSEA (ST. LUKE'S) 1963 TOUR

The Chelsea ringers, accompanied by a few friends who have in the past been associated with St. Luke"s. went on tour in Derbyshire, Staffs. Notts and Cheshire. They made their headquarters at Darley Dale, where they were welzomed by Mr, and Mrs. Ron Bullen, G. H Poulson and "Jafus." Among the churches they $v$ sited were Alton. Stone. Tunslatl. Norton-on-the-Moors. Wirksworth, West Hillam. Ilkeston. Bolsover. Crich. Ripley, Mansfield. Cresswell, Fairfield. Glossop. Norhury (Hazel Grove), N. Wingtield, Staveley, Barlhorough. Bakewell. Matlock. Tideswell. Hope. Castleton. Eckington and. of course, Darley Dale.
The tour was arranged and planned by Veronica Dupré and John Loll. Those taking part were Kate Branson (Edinburgh), A. W Llovd (Oxford). Mr. and Mrs. F. Howson, Molly Powell, A. F. Udall. Squire Croft, W. H. Pickett (Staffs). J. H. Lott, V. Dupre. D. Kingman (Matlock) and J. F. Smallwood (Darlyy Dale).
The party thoroughly enjoyed the tour, and. although the weather in the first part of the week was cold and sometimes wet, they had some good ringing in many methods. including Double Norwich. Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Major. A few quarter peals were rung. and in the evenings handbell, were put to good use. Everywhere a warm welcome was awaiting the visitors. and local ringers were invited to take part in the ringing. Thanks to all incumbents for giving permission to ring, and to those local ringers who met the party. INSTALLATIONS-ALL TYPES OF REPAIRS

Coventry National Rally

Dear Sir.-I was very disturbed to learn that Mr. Wiaters and his party ivzre so disappoinsed in tix arrangements for ringing at our ring ng raby Rev. Guild very much regret the Cove Curdigan ringers had so much misthat the

I feel I must offer some explanation.

At St. Nicholas'. Warwick. I gather that the tower was very crowded: it was necessary to ask those who had just rung to go downstairs so that there would be room for others to take their place. It was realised that this was going to occur, so there was another tower opened, within several hundred yards of 'St. Nicholas", at the same time. The party could have had a ring if they liad transferred themselves to the ten at St. Mary's. The only way to cater for a large number of ringers is to open many towers and depend on the ringers to go to another one if they find their selected tower is full.

At Stratford-on-Avon we received a last minute message that the tower would not be avaiiable in the evening. (This was so also at Allesley.) It is just not possible to arrange for ringing at some 40 towers some eight days in advance, without there being one or two last minute alterations. It was not possible to make these cancellations known until tea time, when all of the ringers were not present At Stratford the party, no doubt, saw the verger locking up the church,' after which one of the Stratford ringers kindly managed to return in time to see that any people who did not know about the change could ring.
In conclusion. I must say that the success of an event of this magnitude depends not only an the organisers, but also on the co-operation of those taking part, together with the realisation that things can go wrong at the eleventh hour.
Whilst we do offer our sincere regret that Mr. Walter's party was disappointed, we do feel that the remedy was largely in their own hands.-Yours faithfully.
H. M. WINDSOR (Ringing Master).

Bromham Outing

Dear Sir--After reading A.E. R.is report of the above outing, we feel a few comments are necessary. We never realised the president of the Bedfordshire Association could be so rude! For 'young ringer' the report should read. the oldest and most loved past president of the Association. Also the so called nuclear explosion was the other 36 or so members of the party waiting for 'A.E.R.' and his friends to consume their drinks. Surely the president realises a time schedule should be kept on such an outing.
We hasten to add we all enjoyed the outing, hut regret such remarks were ever sent to *The Ringing World. - Yours faithfully

Although this is pureiy a 'domestice issue of the Associations concerned, one wonders just what advantage is to be gained by the change of tif:es!-Yours sincerely.

Easy Handbell Peals

Dzar Sir.-I enclose two of my compositions in answer to Mr. Dodds art:cle. The Stedman contains equal amounts of Tittums. Handstroke and Backstroke, with 1-2, 3-4 and 5-6 in the $7-8$ position virtually an the time and $7-8$ in the $7-8$ position for two-thirds of the peai. This is the easiest position for Stedman Carters because it is maintained throughout the course. the bells always go in to the front work in the same way and are coursing with one bell in between. Apart from 9-10 it is easiest to call off 5-6, which remain in the stame position throughout, but cross over each course.

The Bob Royal is easier than Mr. Dodds. because $3-4$ remain in course from the end o. the second course to the end of the peal and 5-6 from the end of the fourth course to the last course, and 5-6 are home otherwise. There is much to recommend the Tittums position for Royal: both to help the ringer of $7-8$ and on muscal grounds in thalf and half peals. I will gladly send anyone who writes peals of Royal or Maximus. with $3-4$ and $5-6$ coursing throughout and the back bells in Tittums or Home or any combination of the two.-Yours faithfully.

HADLEY HUNTER.

Trinity College, Cambridge.

Mr. Dodds comments:
(-1) Stedman Caters.-This sertainly looks an interesting structure. with the most elementary of turning courses. just what is wanted. The basic part is neatly repeated six times, without any awkward extras or omits. Providing 50 singles doesn't put one off and that the peal is true (I presume it has been thoroughly checked), I should think this is well worth calling.
(2) Plain Boh Royal-Ideal for an "unsiafe tand, in fart remarkable how three tenors ringers can he accommodated on 3-4.5-6 and 9-10. For most of the peal the and merely. makes the bob twice. miske. the single twice. I would agree that it is an easier peal than minc. The choice between them lies in the mental approach of the con-ductor-he may find mine easier to remember. with calls at one position anly for several courses-and if one worries about large numbers of singles. There are 22 out of 39 cexlls in Mr. Hunter's and 10 out oi 36 calls in my one part, both numbers of singles being excessive in many ringers' view.

Congratulations to Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir,-I would like to send best wishes and congratulations, via 'The Ringing World, to Alan Dunfee and Mr. and Mrs. Dickenson or account of Boston bells sounding argain, We at Trumpington had the pleasure of ringing with them last year, and were thrilled to read of the achievement.-Yours sincerely,

Four Bell Towers of Berkshire and Hampshire

Dear Sir.-Of the eleven known four bell towers in Berkshire I have rung on the eight ringable ones. Details are as follows:
Barkham.-Bells are ringable, but cannot be rung at the piesent time because of broken ropes and stays on all the bells.
Brimpton.-Are tingabie. but very rough.
Chaddlesworth.-Go extremely well, but very light, tenor about 5 cwt .
Denchworth.-Church is seldom used, the belld have not been rung for some considerable time.
Lockinge.-Three of the bells were removed about seven years ago.
Lower Basildon.-A good four that go well, enor about 9 cwt .
Hatford--Very musical four that go well.
Ufton Nervett.-Very no:sy, are seldom rung.
Stanford Dingley.-Go extremely well, ropes fast in a straight dine.
Sparsholt.-Go well, but heavy, tenor 10 cwt .
Shellingford.-Very light. are sung regularly, having a Sunday service oand of eight ringers.
Of the Hampshire four bell towers only three appear to be ringable. Details as follows:

Weyhill,-Hung dead.
Droxford.-Death watch hettle in the frame.
Newton.-Rung regularly by local team.
King's Worthy.-Heavy going.
Ovington.-Have been rung, but reputably now safe for ringing.
Lower Clatford.-Bells removed in preparation for reaugmenting to six.

Breamore.-A good four, rung regularly.
I nope that this information will be of ass:stance to outing organisers. On our visits to these towers we have been made most welcome. the Vicar and all the local band turn ing out to meet us.-Yours sincerely,

Flight?

Dear Sir,-I simply must tell you this story over again. When 1 left an address, five years ago. I cancelled my 'REnging World' and was told that they thought it was a racing pigeon book. On arrival at my new address I promptly ordered 'The R:nging World from my nearest newsagent, and for five years have always had delivery. On cancelling it to move to this new address, the last delivery of it again was none other than - The Racing Pigem? Needless to say I was quite amused. Fortunately my new agent ordered for mc as well so I managed to get one Ringing World for the pigeon to fly round with-Yours faithfully.

WIMBLEDON'S WEEK-END IN EAST ANGLIA

On April 19th a group of twenty ringers set ous for Harleston, Norfolk. We travelled in a mini-bus and two cars, those in the mini-bus heralding their presence by innumerable fragments of Boh Minor on handbells. The hotel had prepared sandwiches for us, and after eating as many of these as we could we spent an evening of relative peace-handbells only until eleven, when we ratired to bed.
The next morning we gathered for breakfast from 8.30 onwards. The last member of the party came in at 8.55 a.m., having bien dragged from bed only a few minutes before. However, we arrived on time at the first churchRedenhall. We were grateful that the first bells of the day were so easy to handle. This seemed a govd omen, especially to those who were not used to ringing strange balls. The inscription. Use no bad words,' seemed a del!ghtful but unnecessary motto. At Bungay, however, we fully appreciated their importance. We left with nerves more frayed than the ropes and wondering whether the business of the town had been more disturbed by the occasional firing of bells or the creaking of pulleys, wheels and frame.
There were only two six-bell towers on the outing. and we were pleased to find that Ditchingham, despite its long draught. had another easy six. After some good ringing there we drove on to Beccles, where we had a very good lunch. Those who had not rung at Beccles before were interested to find that the bells were hung in a detached tower. Among other methods we rang a course of Stedman Caters.
The long drive to Great Yarmouth gave those in the mini-hus a good chance for ringing handbells. We had been ringing even in the short drives in the morning. so the art of wedging ourselves and continuing to ring whilst the mini-bus shot over huinp-backed bridges or turned hair-pin bends had been mastered.
A visit to the fair at Yarmouth before ringing was planned, but the mare prudent. or cowardly, of us proferred to keep out of the rain by looking round the church. Wc admired the heautiful decorations inside. The church has been restored since the war, when only the outer walls were lefit standing. The heauty of the stained glass and the coloured ceilings was emphasised by the plain glass in the nave windows. However, the others returned from the fais to ring at the correct time. and we competed with the cacophony of sounds coming from the fair. We were impressed by the appearance of the ringing chamber and the neat circle of sallies, but far mare by the hells themselves. We improved upon our performance at Beccles by ringing a good touch of Siedman Caters on the back ten, although we used the light eight later. Apart from rounds we only used the twelve for a course of Grandsire Cinques. After ringing for an hour we walked hack through the churchyard. golden with daffodils. and drove to Lowestoft. We were all glidd to return to the hotel for a very enjoyable dinner.

During the evening most of us played cards. However there were various suspicious exits and entries during the evening. and the youngest members of the party were most unfairly suspected of preparing apple-pie beds for everyone else. Warily we felt in our beds before attempting to get in and several of us found such misplaced objects as dried peas spread under the bottom sheet, hairbrushes, and even a pair of sandals.

Next morning at breakfast we not only talked about bells, but were forced to eat to the accompaniment of the Sunday morning broadcast, just bafore the news. There was, in fact, no escapz. After breakfast we gathered our scattered belonging into the cars, and, after ringing handbells in the hotel car park, we left Hasleston to its more customary sound of the town clock Ringing for morning service at Halesworth included a good course of Bristol. This was the only church we actually rang at in the norning, for we then visited East Bergholt, arriving just as Matins was finishing. A member of the local band came and opened the bell cage for us, and after talking to us about bells he sang the tenor. Many of us were surprised to notice that he rang by holding the headstock and not hy catching the edge of the bell. However. We realised that in this way he had more control over the hell. We were then shown round the church and told its history hy a very friendyy sidesman. After an excellent lunch at Dedham we went on 10 ring at Langham. The treble was very difficult to thandle, but just hefore leaving we rang a good touch of eight Spliced Minor. We rang at Feering for three-quarters of an hour. and then had tea at Witham hefore ringing there for evening service. The outing finished with a service touch of Stedman Triples. V.R. & E.Z.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION Northern District

The venue for the quarterly meeting of the Northern Distri.gt on May 25th was the beaut:ful willage of Hempstead. Same 50 mem bers and friends wended their way through the winding roads of rural Essex to the village famous as being the birthplace of Dir. Wilhiam Harvey, discoverer of the circulation of the blood, and also the birthplace of its notorious son, whose name is recorded in the baptismal register as Richard Turpin, i.e., Dick Turpin, thighwayman. The tower, which was rebuilt in honour of Dr . Harvey, is an outstanding achievement. and the Rector and churchmardens have been awarded an architectural prize.

The bells are a grand six despite the fact that after the fall of the tower, 70 years ago, they lay in the churchyard, where they had fallen. for many years. The old five have been rehung in the new tower and a treble added. The service was conaucled by the Rector. Rev. J. R. Ryecars, who gave an inspiring address on the subject 'As sound as a be 'l.'

At the meeting. following tea, provided by the Rector's wife. the Master welcomed visitors from other Districts. the Master of the Association and one of our elder members. Mr Claydon. Mr. P. Wood was elected assistant secretary.

500 PEALS WITH A DIFFERENCE

ARJNGER does not very often pick out his 5.13th peal with a star in its report, 500 yes, but the significance of 513 to Basil Jones would he lost on most ningers. To Basil and those who have had the great pleasure of ringing with him it means a great deal. Bawi Jones (or Don Basilio, as Rodney Meadows christened him) hitd rung only 13 peals when he was handicapped by the loss of his left arm, and 500 peals rung literally single handed call for more than ordinary congratulations.
On returning to the belfry, encouraged by the late James Firnley and John Worth. Basil made up his mind that there was not such a word as defeat and every practice meant increasing confidence.
John Worth watched the progress carefully and Basil took part in a slow but steady flow of peals. Blisters on that all too precious right hand were a source of worry in the early stages, but the problem was solved by Jos Whittaker, who suggested the use of a wash leather cot encircling, and tied firmly to the tail end of the rope. This enabled Basil to take his place among the great hierarchy of the justly famous Cheshire band. and relish the good ringing which the band had to offer. Intricate methods were mastered with ease, and now and again the spirit of adventure would take over and Basil would try his hand on the heavy end. The ringing of a two ton tenor behind to a touch with consummate ease, and of that rather awkward bell, the 11 th , at Manchester Town Hall to a course of Surprise Maximus, caused admiration, amazement and wonder. How was it done?

Basil Jones has been known to give ringers a fright. and on one occasion he had the opportunity to go up to St. Paul's, where he was offered a rope. It was not till rounds were being rung that the 'high priests' of the Exercise noticed his handicap: the fright almost took their breath away. To their eternal credit, when the touch was finished, they appreciated that here was one worthy of their own high standard.

Whenever the occasion arises Basil is ready to ring tenors to peals, and has rung that rock and roll, affair at Christ Church, Macclesfield. and Surfleet to Surprise Maximus, At Quex Park he was cheated by a broken tope five leads from home!
Among the noteworthy performances in which Basil has taken part are: The first peal when the band travelled by air to Ireland 10 ring the first peal of Spliced Surprise in that country. first peals of Sphiced Surprise in Scotland and Wales, 9.568 and 13.440 records of Spliced Surprise Major, four Surprise peals in one day and the twelve bell peal week.
On Sundays Busil rings at Norbury (Hazel Grove). where, on the death of James Fernley, he took oharge and has been a most successrul Ringing Master.
His friends wish him many more years of enjoyable ringing.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

 Blackburn Branch CompetitionWith the exception of the three guest judges everyone present at the Blackburn Branch's striking competition on May 18th was a regular Sunday service ringer from a lower within the Branch. Good use was made of the hour of pre-competition ringing, during which time no complete band was allowed to practise together. A warming-up touch of three minutes preceded the competition.

After tea, in the schoolroom, the judges, rue Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith (president of the Association). Messrs. A. Dimmock (Preston) and $E$. Humphriss (Loverpool). gave helpful comments and criticisms with the result. The placings were: 1 Burnley St. Peter's. $25 t$ faults: 2 Accrington. 30\&: 3 Blackburn Cathedral I. $41 \frac{1}{3}: 4$ Clitheroe. $51 f: 5$ Blackhurn Cathedral II, 60.
Before further ringing, to bring the day to a satisfactory conclusion, the best thanks of the members were expressed 10 those who had helped in the arrangements; in particular to the judges. the organising committer, the Vicar and wardens and the ringers of Accrington for acting as hosts. when efforts to arrange the event at a 'neutral' tower had failed. at short notice.

OBITUARY

MR. RICHARD LONGDEN

Mr. Richard Longden, the head ringer at Manchester Cathedral. died suddeniy on May 7th after a short ilness, at the age of 67. He learned 10 ring before the First World War, at St. John's. Deansgate, Manchester, but stopped ringing when he undertook military service during the war. He returned to ringing in about 1922, and became a member of the Manchester Cathedral band in 1930. He had been head ringer at the Cathedral for tire last eight years.
He was always a most loyal and regular attender at service ringing, and he will be much missed by other members of the Eand. He rang about 30 peals during his ringing career. including several peals of Grandsire which be conducted. and for many years this thad been the method that gave him the greatest pleasure.

The funeral was attended by representatives of The Cathedral band and the Lancashire Association. and a memorial quarter peal was rung at Manchester Cathedrad with the bells half-muffled. A memorial peal was also rung at Bilsborrow.
Mr. Longden leaves a widow and dauginter, and our sincere sympathy is extended to them.

MR. WILLIAM WICKS

With the passing of "our Billy: Shiplake has lost its oldest ringer. Born in 1884. Mr. Wicks had been been a ringer at this Oxfordshire village for over 60 years. He was a member of the old St. Peter's Society. Caversham, until joining the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, of which the was made a life nember in 1961 .
A reliable and keen service ringer. he rang but few peals; his name, however, is recorded in the tower as a member of the band to ring the first peal of Triples by a service band, on Ap:ill 29 th, 1905.
A keen churchman he had also been verger, s.desman and a member of the P.C.C. Failing health of recent years had prevented him from actual ringing, but he always accompanied the band on outings. and his pleasant smile and ready wit will long be remembered.
The funeral took place at Shiplake on May 25th. and a half-muffied quarter peal was rung in the evening by a mixed band representing the tower and the Reading Branch.

MR. J. F. LVDDIARD

A founder member of St. Luke s. Bromley Common. when the bells were installed in 1910. Mr. John Edwin (Jack) Lvddiard died on May 20th. aged 73 . From 1910 until eight years ago, when failing health caused him to ret.re, he was a faithful Sunday service ringer. For many years he was tower captain. and also a sidesman. He took a keen interest in his church

Following the funcrat on May 24ih, a peal of Stedman Triples iwas attempted the next das ats at tribute of respect. but unfortunately was not successful.

- R.W: June 6th. 1913.-

There was some justification, we feel. for the comment made by the presidens of the Central Council, in connection with the debate on the subject of bells and the public, when he said that members sometimes went to che meetings. but did not go back and give their associations the henefit of the knowledge they had acquired. Unquestionatly the assosiation who send representatives to the Council meeting are entitled to receive from them some report from the proceedings. It need not necessarily be lengthy. so long as the important points of discussion are brought out, in order that the rank and file of the Exercise may at any rate grasp the view of their delegates in regard to the various matters of general in-

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

The second striking competition for Sunday service bands of the Manchester Branch was held at Stretford on May 18th. In all 13 teams from nine towers took part, three teams compating in the eight bell section and 10 in the six bell section. Towers represented were Ashton St. Michate, Birch-in-Rusholme. Flixton. Manchester Cathedral. Mossley (Roughlown). Northenden, Pendlebury. Prestwich and Stretford. This meant that over 80 Branch members and a dozen visitors were present.

At the A.G.M. of the Association, a few weeks previously, some doubts had been expressed about the desirability of competitions in that the ill-feeling which had sometimes surrounded them in the past might return. How. ever, it was obvious both at West Didsbury (where the previous competition was held) and at Stretford that no one intended to let it do so.
The standard of ringing was quite good and that of the winners of the six bell section, Ashton St. Michael, excellent. As the same tower's team also had fewest faults in the other section. they now go forward to an Association final (hoped to be in September) as an eight bell band, with the runners-up, Birch-in-Rusholme and Prestwich, representing the best six bell bands of the Branch. An important feature was that a large proportion of the younger generation was included in the teams. some comparative newcomers to the Exercise, which reflects the enthusiasm of the Branch Committee

A short Branch meeting followed, at which eight new members were elected. It was also suggested that the committee and judges (Mesirs. John Partington, John Robinson and John Baldwin) meet to devise a system of awarding faults with respect to an absolute standard, which might take the form of a tape recording.
A sincere word of thanks is due to the ladies. who provided tea under the awkward conditions that were prevailing at the time.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Barnes tower is losing its Ringing Master, Mr. J. Harrold, who is moving to Leicester.
Mr. Trevor Taylor, an accomplished ringer from the Manchester area, is now living at Ambergate and helping the Ripley. Derbyshire, band.
Another bright issue of 'The Belfry News,' the Derbyshire bellringers' monthly, has been received. The lead story, ty D. G. Astridge, tells of the birth of the Roving Ringers in 1947 and 'still going strong.
Congratulations to Miss Sandra E. Chesterton. on ringing ther first peal of Stedman Cinques in the - in memoriam "peal at Leicester Cathedral on May 17th. Sandra rang her bell perfectly throughout the peal, which was as near perfect as possible
Mr. A. L. Bennett, of Buckfastleigh, Devon, has been recently appointed local correspondent to the Buckfastleigh 'Western Guardian,' a newpaper which is published each Wednesday. The publishers, in the past, have always given a great deal of prominence to ringing events in South Devon, and it is to be hoped that this state of affairs will long continue.
The Rev. F. F. Rigby, the new Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Assaciation, attended the meeting of the Tewkesbury Branch on May 11th at Beckford. He was voted to the chair. which he accepted with much pleasure. The meeting was the first he had attended outside his own Branch since being elected Master of the Association.
The successful conclusion of the peal attempt at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, on May 21 st, the nearest convenient date to suit Messrs. S. F. O'Shaughnessy and D. F. Wheeler, to celebrate their respective siiver weddings, provided the opportunity for Messrs. H. F. and T. G. Myers to complete 'the circle.' It took Fred 32 years and Tom 37 to achieve this end. Over liquid refreshments afterwards. Walter H. Marks, the tenor man, said only that morning the learned from his wife that they had been married 30 years to the day!

Chesterfield District's Striking Competition

In spite of one or two misgivings, the Chesterfield District striking competition, held at Barlborough on May 11th. proved to be an outstanding success. The competition was designed to cater for alt types of ringing from rounds and call changes upwards; the only condition of entry being that the majority of any team's member's must be from the same tower.

Seven teams entered and the attendance of over 50 was almost double that of a normal meeting! Apurt from a slight delay, the competition proceeded smoothly with each team having a few minutes' practice in rounds before the test piece of either 240 cnanges or 10 minutes of rounds and call changes, etc.

When all the teams thad rung, the company adjourned to the Church Hall for tea, where they were joined by the Rector, the Rev. R. W. Barnsall. who also took the chair at the subsequent business meeting. After congratulating the District on holding such a competition, the judges, Messrs. D. R. Carlisle and A. Mould, gave some helpful advice and criticism.

The result of the competition was: 1 Dronfield (Cambridge, 18 faults); 2 Bolsover (Bob Minar. 22): 3 Old Whittington 'A" (Little Bob, 33): 4 Old Whittington ' B, (Little Bob, 67): 5 Old Brampton (Plain Hunt, 83) ; 6 Clowne (Plain Hunt, 113 ); 7 Staveley (call changes. 117).

Graham Ball, of Clowne. was elected a new member. and the meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector, judges and local ringers, together with the ladies for providing such an excellent tea.

Next meetings: Old Brampton (6) on June 8th; Glossop (Association meeting), July 6th: District outing to the Foundry, September 14th.

The 'Old Church' at Marple, Cheshire, is to be BELFRY GOSSIP pulled down to within four feet of the ground. The tower is to be buttressed and the bells fitted in a new frame lower in the tower. The cost of the projec: will be $£ 5,000$, apart from $£ 620$ the ringers would have to raise for the addition of two new trebles. We hope to publish an article at an early date on this old church.
To the quarter peal of Grandsire Triples (see page 360 ) should be added repeat nine times.'
Mr. P. G. Harris wishes to express his regret to those members of the Guild of Medical Ringers who turned up at West Wycombe and found no one there to meet them, and were thus unable to ring. This was because Mr. Harris had received a letter earlier in the week stating that the meeting had been cancelled.
The Guild of Ringers of St. Thomas of Canterbury, Portsmouth Cathedral, have adopted St. Dunstan as the ringers' patron saint. following correspondence with the late Ernest Morris, and also some research by the Guild chairman. Commander C. F. Jackson, R.N. On St. Dunstan's Day (May 19th) the Gutild held a Ringers' Sunday, when the belfry was open to visitors in the afternoon, and the Provost dedicated the Burnett Memorial in the belfry in the evening. There was also a ringers' tea in the Cathedral House.

The Chelsea (St. Luke's) band toured Derbyshire, Staffs, Nottingham and Cheshire districts during the week May 18th-25th. They made their headquarters at Darley Dale, and amongst thase who joined them were W. H. Pickett, who was at one time a member of William Pye's famous band. Aubrey Lloyd. late head postmaster of Edinburgh, and Dr. Kate Branson, who holds an important medical position in Edinburgin. All have been at one time or another connected with St. Luke's Chelsea. Jafus kept a watchful eye on the party-but did not succeed in selling them the famous yew tree which is in Darley Dale churchyard!

York-Bramble's disappointment and regret in that as medically advised he is to give up, for the present, participation in practical ringing.

The Kentish Gazette, had an attractive peture of the Railway Guild in all Saints' Church belfry, Frindsbury, where they rang for a wedding.

Rogert Gosling is the 50th person for whom Mr. David Walklate, of Derby, has called his first peal. This was at Spondon on May 4th.

Participating in the quarter peal in honour of his 87 th birthday at Littleham, Devon, was Mr. J. West. It is gratifying to see ringers of this age still active members of the Exercise.

We are asked to state that the number of changes rung in the peal of Llanfair P.G. Surprise Major at Chew Magna, Somerset, was 5,120 (page 354 ).

At Cuddesdon Theological College, Oxford, there are 22 men who are capable of ringing at least rounds and this augurs well for a continued sympathetic attitude of the clergy towards bell ringing. Three of their change ringers will be ordained on Trinity Sunday, but there is a prospect of about a dozen polential ringers in the new intake next term. It is Cuddesdon that has a College Society of Ringers, and not Culham, which was erroneously stated on page 352.
A Cheshire correspondent complains that from his observation at Branch meetings, Sunday ringing and practice nights few ringers have much dress sense, particularly females, who appear in most extraondinary clothes, usually totally unsuitable for the purpose in hand: He suggests that one of our women readers should take the matter in hand and make appropriate suggestions. The smartest ringing photograph we have seen came from New South Wales, some years back, where the mixed company all wore blazers with an appropriate badge.

SOME OF THE OUTINGS

ST. THOMAS', STOURBRIDGE, WORCESTERSHIRE

Five towers in Warwickshire, Gloucestershire and Worcestershire were visited by ringers and friends on May 4th.
Arriving at St. Alphege's Church. Solihull, at 9.15 a.m., we soon had the glorious ōells tupping Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Bob Royal; not forgetting rounds for the learners.
On then to Stratford-upon-Avon and the good Taylor ten at Holy Trinity Church. Here we rang Grandsire and Stedman Caters before journeying to Stow-on-the-Wold for lunch.
New ropes and weighty bells at Stow Church rather narrowed our choice of methods, and we did not really do justice to these bells St Lawrence's, Bourton-on-the-Water (a light Taylor eight), were put to good use and some quite decent Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, Cambridge and London were brought round.
After tea in Bourton we made our way across country to Evesham Bell Tower, where we were met by Geoff and Gerald Hemming On the majestic bells we rang Grandsire and Stedman Caters, and Stedman Triples and Cambridge IMajor on the 'back eight'; also rounds on the twelve.

Thanks are due to all incumbents and tower captains for permission to ring: also D. H. Watson for arranging such an enjoyable day.

CHRIST CHURCH, SWINDON

Ringing Master Eric Sutton and his able secretary: Shirley, provided another good day's ringing for the annual obting of Christ Church. Swindon, on May 18th

By $8.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the party was well on the road bound for Bidford-on-Avon, two hours' hence. The ring of eight provided scope for several spirited touches in standard methods. and the back six gave young ringers from Rodbourne Cheney an opportunity to exercise Plain Bob and Grandsire. Standard methods were also rung at St. Stephen's. Redditch, before adjourning to 'The Talbot' for an excellent chicken luncheon.
The heavy eight at Chaddesley Corbett fol lowed. and in the final touch of Stedman two local ringers parlicipated. Their compliments were greally appreciated. Perhaps we weren't too bad after all! Ringing at Bewley was cnjoyed, and 'The Central,' where we went for tea, was adjacent to the church, and cveryone left Load Street well Ioaded!
Later there was ringing at Hartlebury and Hallow ra beautiful church with an immaculate ringing chamber). The presence of three guests from Denmark, who were studying nursing, added to the delights of the outing and who knows if they might not be enrolled as new members in one tower?

To incumbents, local representatives and our driver sincere thank
A. M. E.

SILSOE, BEDS

On al glorious dav and in excellent spirits St. James" Guld of Chamge Rinvers, Silsoe, lefi or May 25 th for Rutland. Many interesting towers were visited. insluding Empingham. Cottesmore. Whissendine and Uppingham, and while the ringers enjoved the bells and rang many different methods the non-ringers were able to enjoy the villages set in a beautiful countrvside. At Fmningham we were pleased to hetr the local W.I. in their efforts, for the Frecdom from Hunger Campaign hy attending a coffec mroning and bring and huy.
Many methods were rung from rounds to Bob Minor. Kent and Oxford Bob. On Upoingham's e!ght a touch of Grandsire Triples and a course of Boh Major were achieved.
The weather. excellent meals and a most hospitable county helped to make this a truly memorable outing. and we are grateful to troth the organisers and all incumbents for their co-operation.
A. J. T.

BRISTUL-At the Cathedral, on May 18th. 1.260 Doubles (five methods): S. D. Nicoll I, P. J. Bird 2 , A. Howard 3. A. Tubb (first as cond.) 4. P. E. Parry 5. M. J. Harris 6. For the Bristol Cathedral School

HORBURY AND OSSETT

Ringers and non-ringers from Ossett and Horbury were joined by friends from Batley, Thornhill. Rothwell and Calverley for an outing to North Yorkshire on May 18tn. An early start was made from Horbury, collect ing the rest of the party at Ossett and Leeds The first tower. Norton. was reached a little behind schedule, but no time was wasted putting the popular North Yorkshire eight to good use.
A journey of some 30 miles, during which the famous Sutton Bank was negotiated, brought us to Thirsk, where we had it pleasant lunch at the "Three Tuns Hotel. The new octave at Northallerton (tenor $17 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), although rather noisy in the ringing chamber, was much appreciated by all the band, and some very good ringing ensued.
In pouring rain the journey was made across the North Yorkshire moors to Whitby. Here where the sun made one of its all too infrequent appearances. we had tea. A shor ride of about 20 minutes brought us 10 St Stephen's. Fylingdales. The rather slender tower houses a comparatively light eight (tenor $11 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), which were found to be tricky to handle by the more inexperienced members
Our last recollections of North Yorkshire were a short thunderstorm, hailstones and snow on the moors. Grateful thanks are due to Mr. Irvin Slack, who arranged the outing. local incumbents and to those who welcomed us at their respective towers.

PATRICIA LOCKWOOD.

ST. MARY'S, LEWISHAM

Despite rain for mast part of the day, St. Mary's. Lewisham, ringers and friends enjoyed their outing into Surrey on Aprin 20th.

An hour of a good standard of ringing took place at St. Giles', Ashtead. to be followed by the 10 bells at Leatherhead, where it must be confessed justice was not done to the bells. A most satisfactory lunch at the Wattermid, Dorking, preceded ringing at St. Martin's Church, where a nice touch of Kent came round.
The beautiful and historic church of St. James. Shere, was admired before ringing Next came the unusual bells at St. Michael's. Betchworth, and lastly the swaying fower of St. John's, Redhill.
To incumbents and local ringers, without whose co-operation the day would not have been so enjoyable, we extend our thanks.

IMPACT OF YARMOUTH

THE artificial atmosphere of Great Yarmouth on holiday, with its crowded streets, bingo and sea food establishments, did not invade the quietness and dignity of two buildings-the resurrected ancient Church of St. Nicholas and the quayside Town Hall. It was here that the Central Council functioned on Whit Tuesday for the first session of its 25 th Council.

More than 100 members of the Council were in St. Nicholas' Church at $7.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for Holy Communion, at which Dr. Lancelot Flemming was the celebrant; and specially remembered was Pope John XXIII, who died the previous day. Not only was this an indication of the universality of the Christian Church but also that the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers is not an exclusive unit of the Church of England. It rejoices in this country and overseas in Eire, Australia and Canada of members of the Roman Catholic Church and also Free Churchmen.

The welcome of 'Church and State,' which preceded the actual business of the Council, combined cordiality with interest. Councillor Winter, the recently-installed Mayor, had indulged in research into local bells and bell ropes, subjects quite unexpected from civic heads, and the Archdeacon of Norwich's injunction about cobwebs in the belfry will not go unheeded. His vision of the bellringer being a light in a church window seems apposite, as such is occupying the thoughts of Leicester ringers in commemorating Ernest Morris' life and work.
There was no contest for the presidency of the Council. Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who for six years had held the office, made a sacrificial withdrawal after a discussion with the Standing Committee. To be No. 1 in English ringing would have enhanced his position enormously in America, where he is going shortly.

To Canon Gilbert Thurlow it was after his first Council meeting, 'a day I shall not forget.' The expression of thanks to Mr. Sharpe came from the new president, and he gave the Council a glimpse of the busy background constiluting the I.P.M.'s life. His work for the Towers and Belfries Committee last year occupied 43 days, and his other activities for the Exercise included unspectacular things from judging a striking competition in Wales to lecturing learned bodies. And within a fortnight he is crossing the Atlantic to be guest of honour at the convention of the American Guild of Handbell Ringers.
With Gilbert Thurlow in the chair, meetings of the Council will never be dull, and playfully he foreshadowed some of Mr. Sharpe's experiences which include, apart from lecturing, the crowning of the king and queen of the festival. There was a word of warning, too, about the two cover girls on the festival issue of 'Overtones,' but a concluding note about the precautionary steps taken by the festival organisers that in the application form the name of the chaperone was required!

In a sense Mr. Sharpe, before leaving office, gave a presidential address; and in parenthesis we would say that it could with advantage be introduced to the Council. The picture he presented was that the Exercise was in a healthy state evidence was given later that during the past year 588 people had rung their first peal and that 1,681 copies of the Beginners' Handbook had been sold. Such factual information is significant. Another good point made by Mr. Sharpe was the introduction of courses in ringing, and an estimate was given that during the past year 500 ringers attended these courses. Although it was not mentioned. we would call attention to the growth in striking competitions where entries come from the Sunday service band. All this augurs well.

Mr. Sharpe repeated what he had said previously about the impact of the quinquennial survey of churches on bells generally, and he foretold a busy time not only for his committee but the bell foundries-not that they have been quiet for many years. Many of the towers to benefit by these measures will be those classified as 'silent,' sans ringers and sans instructors. Guilds must be on the alert for such occasions, and equally so incumbents and archdeacons should be on the watch ready to co-operate. Training arrangements should be put in hand some months in advance of dedication, and recently we have had the pleasure of recording two occasions when the bells were rung immediately after the dedicatory prayers by those who were to constitute the future Sunday service band.

The most important discussion arose over towers and belfries matters, and the first thought in this matter was one of congratulation to Mr. Edwin Lewis. on his jubilee in this class of work. His speech at the Newcastle upon Tync Council in 1913 led to the formation of this important committee, and to the delight of the Council Mr. Lewis delved into past history and produced three outstanding ' cases."
Architects were criticised at the meeting under two headings-in the matter of charges and in ignoring the advice of the experts in the know. Should the church have to pay an architect's commission on bell jobs done to the bellfounder's specification? Guidance was given to P.C.C.'s generally to arrange for special terms with the architect or to have a separate contract with the bellfounders with advice from the Towers and Belfries Committee. Alas, (Continued on page 397)

CANON GILBERT THURLOW TO LEAD CENTRAL COUNCIL Installed as President in His Own Town

CANON A. G. G. THURLOW. Vicar of Great Yarmouth, is president of the 25 th Council of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. His election was unopposed. At the meeting of the Standing Committee, held on Whit Manday, Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who had been president for the past six years, withdrew his nomination and at the Council mecting in the Town Hall on Whit Tuesday the Canon was elected president.
The new vice-president is Mr. John Freeman, of Lincoln, who, in a ballot, defeated Mr. W. B. Cartwright Proceedings on the Tuesday started with a celebration of Haly Communion in St. Nicholas' Church. The Bishop of Norwich (Dr. L. Flemming) was the celebrant, and assisting were the Archdeacon of Nonwich, Canon Thurlow, Canon K. W. H. Felstead and the Rev. J. G. M. Scott. Afterwards the Bishop had breakfast with the officers of the Council and of the Norwich Diocesan Association at the Star Hotel. Another engagement prevented the Bishop from attending the meeting in the Town Hall.

At the opening of the proceedings Mr. F. Sharpe presided and called upon the Mayor of Yarmouth.

THE PORT OF YARMOUTH

The Mayor (Councillor J. P. Winter), in his welcome to the Council, said Great Yarmouth was an ancient borough, with a lively sense of history, and especially with reference to bells. In the old days, when water, was the means of transporting heavy objects, many bells cast in Nonwich, between 1350 and 1750 , no doubt passed through their port on their way to other places and many bells cast in London passed the other way through their port on their way into Norfolk

As a great sailing port we had our rope making industry, and, probably before bell ropes became a specialised matter, we supplied them as a side-line. Indeed, a 14 th century reference in Norwich Cathedral accounts, "to cables from Jermout," probably means bell ropes from here. As an important port supplying a large part of the Navy in the 14 th century, we prohably placed many orders.

We are very proud of our Parish Church. the lidrgest in England. As no doubt you know, from 1942 to 1957 it was a complete ruin. Many people doubted whether it could ever be rebuilt. and somelimes we were told that our once famous bells would never rise again. But during these last few hectic years, from 1957 onwards, we have seen the apparently impossible happen, and now our church stands again, beautifully restored, constantly filled for one purpose or another, and alive with worship and work

NO IMITATION BELLS

From 1940 to 1959 the sound of church bells was never heand in Yarmouth. Few towns of such importance and with such a history could have been in such a state. How easy it would have been for Yarmouth never to have had bells again! How easy it would have been for our church leaders had they been innocent and ignorant. to be deceived by the sales talk of the imitation "bell" manufacturers. and to be led to think that ringing is a dying art, bells too expensive to obtain and to have disfigured our church tower with a noise like that of the itinerant ice cream cars. So far as 1 know, no such rubbish has ever been tried on our church leaders there.

- Let me leave with you a wish, that you have a most profitable and enjoyable time together, and when you have tinished wrestling with the deep problems on your agenda, go dustless, invigorating and, as yet. untaxed sea breezes!"

Another message of greeting came from the Arctudeacon of Norwich the Ven. Aiken). who, "because his voice was not only a question of "treble gone." but tenor and bass gone, asked Canon Thurlow to

CANON THURLOW, PRESIDENT

The Archdeacon wrote that as a native of Norfolk he had grown up as a member of the great Church of 'St. Nicholas in that town. - I bid you welcome as fellow workers in the service of our Lord Jesus Christ, and of His Church. In the full and thrilling life of this Church, many people have their varied parts to play and you ringers, in the exercise of your skilled and ancient craft, are fulfilling a high calling of God in the service His Church. I hope that churchpeople as a whole do not take for granted the great and splendid service that you render.

I always made it a practice as a parish priest visit my belfry as often as I could on Su:adays and on practice nights, as I am sure that a close personal relationship between priest and ringer is essential. Indeed. it is a privilege for the clergy to the able to shire in the happy fellowship that is so often found amongst singers

RINGER IN STAINED GLASS

If I were to design a stained-glass window. 1 think I should like to make room for a representative bellringer in one of the lights. There would be a churchwarden in the window, and, no doubt, an organist or choirman, hut I should want to find room for a ringer 100 , so great are the services that you render to our Lord and His Church. He would have to be a handsome ringer and we might easily select a lady ringer, but looking round the assembly I can see many who would look well in stained glass-much as they would dislike it!

I hope I am right in claiming that tinging is in a more healthy state than ever before If this is so, and I believe it to be so myself then this is a cause for profound thankfulness in the Church as a whole. I have been particularly struck by the number of young ringers learning this great craft, and 1 put in a plea for all of you experts that you wil exercise the greatest possible patience, perseverance and kindness in teaching the younger generation of ringers.

I make one further and last plea. We have done our best to give you a real East Coast welcome and have provided a fair old east wind to blow away your cobwebs. My query is " Are there any cobwebs in your helfries?" On the whole 1 would say not, as 1 have been impressed by the care and labour that is put into keeping our belfries in good order I am sure we ought always to remember tha our helfries are as much a part of God's house as the nave. the choir or the sanctuary, and should be kept in as fair condition as are these. I know thit you, members of this Council, will use your influence to see this is always so in all towers.
Thanking the Archdeacon for his welcome the president said if all dioceses had the same relationship between Archdeacon and ringers it would be better for their ant as a whole. We were in a very healthy condition and there was more interest in the art today than ever before.

Mr. Nolan Golden (president of the Norwich Diocesan Association) also gave a welcome -We in the diocese are extremely pleased to have you with us.

In a word of thanks to the Archdeacon, Mr Golden said he was brought up at Yarmouth and histather. of blessed memory, was extremely kind to ringers. He (Mr. Golden) had many a supper in the vicarage after ringing the bells of Yarmouth. They had splendid leaders in the church of this diocese to help them in their work

The president thanked Mr. Golden and Mr Barrett for all the work they had done in preparing for the meeting

A prayer for the success of the Council meeting was then offered by the Vicar of Yarmouth.
The honorary secretary reported that the Council had 59 Associations, with a total of 164 members, 24 honorary members, eight life members, making a total of 196 . There were seven vacancies. one among representative members and six honorary. All subscriptions had been paid.

A NEW MEMBER

The honorary secretary reported that an application for membership had been received from the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association as a non-territorial association. The Standing Committee considered the application the previous evening, and recommended that it be accepted.
Mr. G. A. Halls (Derbyshire Association) said the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association was formed six or seven years ago by a grourp of angry young men, who were dissatisfied with the number of meetings in their area. At that time the district of the Derbyshire Association was a large one and they could only visit towers once in three years. The solution was to form another district of the Derbyshire Association.

At the outset we did our hest to resist this Association,' said Mr. Halls, 'on the grounds that the area was already served by five Associations, and an extra ringing Association was not necessary. At that time we had 20 members in South Derbyshire, now we have four and two of those are in arrears with their subscriptions. In a smaH Association a drop in membership like that is by no means insignificant.
Mr. Halls emphasised that the Derbyshire Association represented the whole of the diocese, but as this Association had been formed and they recognised that it did a certain amount of good in the area they were prepared not to oppose the application.
Mr. J. F. Smallwood proposed and Mr. P. J Staniforth (Leicester Diocesan Guild) seconded that the application be granted

This was carried, but there were 18 votes against.

PRESIDENT, 1963-66
Before vacating the chair. Mr. F. Sharpe said two names had been received for the presidency. " May I express my deep gratitude to Mr. A. Barker and Mr. W. G. Wilson in nominating me to this office. I want to make it perfectly clear to the Council that neither Mr. Barker nor Mr. Wilson knew that I had nominated Canon Thurlow. That placed me in an invidious position, having nominated one candidate and being nominated myself. I discussed the matter with the Standing Committee last night and I have withdrawn $m y$ name from the nomination list. Therefore we have one nomination standing for the presidency for the ensuing year and that is the name of Canon Thurlow. proposed by myself and seconded by Mr. Nolan Golden, president of the Norwich Diocesan Association.'

Continuing Mr. Sharpe said Canon Thurlow needed no introduction; he was well known and had a life-long interest in bells and ringing. He was a Canon of the Church and Vicar of one of the largest parish churches in the country. I have every confidence that he will make an exceilent president, and I have pleasure in declaring him as president and in asking him to take the chair.'

Amid the applause of the Council, Canon Thurlow took the chair. "At this moment," declared the president, 'I am full of gratitude and humility. Gratitude to Mr. Sharpe for his noble act in withdrawing and proposing me. and humility when I think of the predecessors in this office, Sir Arthur P. Heywood, Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, Canon Coleridge, Edwin Lewis and Frederick Sharpe.'
In a fribute to Mr. Sharpe, the new president said the ways he had served the Exercise and the amount of work he had done for bells and ringing was quite encyclopredic. He supposed no one knew the extent of his achievement, the help he had given to diocesan authorities all over the country, the number of lectures he had given to learned Societies and Societies less learned, Tne Tremendous help he had given all over the country in various technical courses. the help he had given in judging ringing competitions, the brilliant books he had written, such as 'The Church Bells of Oxfordshire,' which was so much finer than the old county histories. Quite the most spectacular thing in his career was to come later this month. When he would go to America to attend the Convention of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. Not only was he to lecture and judge competitions, hut he was to crown the king and queen of the festival.
The president expressed the hope that Mr . Sharpe would survive his Trip to America and that he would be spared to guide and teach the Exercise for many years to come. (Applause.)

TWO OUTSTANDING THINGS

In reply Mr. Sharpe said he had enjoyed every moment of his position as president When he took office, six years ago, he said he did not wish to introduce any revolutionary changes: as they had gone on so well under tha guidance of Mr . Lewis he did not want to make any radical changes.
There had been certain changes and distinct features during his period of office. The first was the inauguration of residentikel courses foi- ringers, which had now become a recognised means of training. The first of these courses was very experimental and he had the pleasure and privilege of giving the inaugural lectures in most of the dioceses where these courses had been held. They had done a tremendous amount of good. He would also like to pay tribute to the wonderful work of the Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committees. The fellowship at these courses had been good.
The other thing of outytanding interest was the passing by the Government of the Quinquennial Inspection of Churches Measure. It meant that, for the first time, it was (Continued next page) required by law for every church to be inspected and reported on by an architect. This had meant an overwhelming amount of work for the Towers and Belfries Committee, In this work that of dealing with the roof and building would come bifore the b:lls. Mast of the churches hid completed that work and some ware giving attention to bells. He had been to many dedications and enjoyed going into all the dioceses. He had visited all the Associations excepi six during his term of office.

Mr. W. G. Wilson rose to assure the president that he would have his loyalty and support throughout his term of office. A reason for his nomination was that he wanted Mr. Sharpe to go to America as president of the Council. He wanted Mr. Sharpe to know that when he was in America he would have their support as a whole.

THE VICE-PRESIDEN'T

There were two nominations for the office of vice-president-Mr. W. B. Cartwright and Mr. J. Freeman. A ballot was taken and later in the proceedings the president announced the result:

Mr. John Freeman 86.
Mr. W. B. Cartwright 5 ?
The president added that both had served the Council splendidly in various ways. He congratulated Mr. Freeman.
Mr. Freeman then took his seat on the right of the president and thanked the Council. He said he felt that his election was a tribute to the Lincoln Diocesin Guild, which he had the pleasure of serving.

OTHER RE-ELECTIONS

The re-elections were announced of Mr. E. A Barnoit as hon. seoretary and treasurer and Mr. F. W. Perrens as honorary librarian.

The honorany secretary stated that the Standing Committee recommended that Mr. Harold I. Pitstow, one of the Council's auditors, be elected an honorary member of the Council. It was proposed by Mr. R. A. Anderson, and seconded by Mr. J. Sanger, that Mr. Pitstow be elected and this was agreed to.
The honorary secretary also reported that under the Standing Orders he proposed that Mr. Albert A. Hughes be elected a life member. This was agreed to.
The following were re-elected honorary members: Messrs. J. P. Fidler, D. Hughes, Mrs. C. C. Marshall, Messrs. E. C. Shepherd, R F. B, Speed, L. Stilwell, P. L. Taylor, T. W. White and J. Willis.

HONORARY AUDITORS

Messrs. A. A. Hughes and H. N. Pitstow were reelected honorary auditors, on the proposition of Mr. F. I. Hairs, seconded by Mr. W. Ayre.

LOSSES BY DEATH

Members of the Councid stood while the following, who had died since the last meeting, were remembered: H. E. C. Goodenough. Miss M. E. Snowdon, Ernest Stitch and Daniel Smith.

Mr. B. G. Key, speaking of Mr. Stitch, said he spent some years after he retired in the Archdeaconry of Staftord and did quite a lot of ringing. He was a most lovable character.
Mr. Narman Chaddock paid a tribute to Miss Margaret Snowdon. whom he said he visited at Cartmel. She had a lovely character, and always sent a message to the annuad dinner of the Yorkstire Association until last year. She was the last of the Snowdon family but the Snowdon series of books was heing continued by Mrs. Turner.

Mr A. D. Barker. speaking of Mr. Horace Goodenough, said he was a very enthusidstic worker in the St. Albans District of the Hertford County Association. and was largely responsible for getting the Abbey bells increased to 12.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING
The honorary secretary staled that the minutes had been published in "The Ringing World and circulated to members. He moved that they be accepted.
Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded, and the president signed them.

REPORTS

HONORARY SECRETARY & TREASURER
Among the inquiries dealt with during the year were ones from St. David's Cathedral, Hobart, Tasmania, for advice and information on restarting a band there; from Hong Kong Cathedral as to the significance of abbrevations in 'The Ringers' Diary'; from the John Hilton Bureau of "The News of the World" on numbers, organisation, training, etc. $:$ and from 'Woman' in connection with a leaflet on hobbies, in which ringing was included.

At the lime of writing, information shows that the following have now ceased to the members of the Council and we offer our thanks to them for their past services:
J. E. Chilcott, A.S.C.Y., 1960-62: Miss N. G Williams, Bath and Wells, 1939-62: S. Chester Diocesan, 1960-62; J. Worth. Chester Diocesan, 1960-62; J. L. Garner-Hayward, Coventry Diocesan, 1960-62; D. E. R. Knights, Ely Diocesan. 1960 ; J. H. Champion. Essex, 1954-62; C. W. Denyer, Guildford Diocesan, 1960-62; H. N. Pitstow, Guildford Diocesan, 1957-62: Mrs. J. Jeffrey. Jrish. 1953-62: Mrs A. Richardson. Ladies: 1932-62; P. Crook, lancash:re. 1957-62: F. Dunkerley, Lancashire, 1951-62: J. Ridyard, Lancashire, 1951-6? Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith. Lancashire. 1954-62: T H. Taffender London County and A.S.C.Y. 1900-62: Dr. J. E. Spice, Oxford U.S., 1960-62 E. G. Orland, Peterborough Diocesan, 1957-60 H Poyner. Shropshire, 1960-62; Rev. P. N Bond, S.R.C.Y. 1950-62; F. J. Culium, S.R.C.Y., $1959-62$; Miss R. J. Seabrook, Suffolk, 1960-62; A. P. Cannon, Surrey, 1957-62: W. F. Datway, Surrey, 1954-62; R G. Blackman, Sussex, 1945-62; R. Overy, Sussex, 1957-62: H. Stalham. Sussex, 1954-62: Rev. A. S. Roberts. Truro Diocesan, 1957-62: H Miles. Truro Diocesan. 1948-62; L. W. G Morris, Yorkshire, 1939-62.

Special mention should perhaps be made of the four ore-war members who have retired. Mr. '1. 18. Taftender's 62 years' membership is. I think. the longest in the history of the Counch, although his attendances were some what infrequent. Mrs. A. Richardson and Miss N. G. Williams miosed only two meetings during 30 and 23 years membership respectively, while Mr. L. W. G. Morris attended every meeting since his election in 1939.

A number of Associations have failed, despite several requests in "The Ringing World,' to notify names and addresses of members as required by Rute 5 (iv). Even if no change has taken place I do not necessarily know this unless so informed, and I do not appreciate the extra work entailed in trying to find out. I have therefore sent papers to the former memhers where the rule has not been complied with.
Once again I record my thanks to those who have sent copies of their annual reports and other publications, and to Mr. W. G. Wilson and Miss C. L. Groves for typing and duplicatjng these papers.

E. A. Barnett.

Mr. Barnelt moved the adoption and Mr Harold Rogers, in seconding, said he saw Mr Taffender on Whit Sunday. He was in hospital at Ensom, and was likelv to remann there fo: the rest of his life. He was more alert then than in the past year
The report was adopted.

Letters to ## London University's St. Neots Peal

Dear Sir.-Re Mr. Leale's letter concerning he University of London Society peal at St. Neots, I would suggest that he read the -elevant passage concerning the splicing of methods in the Central Counoil regulations. As the regulations stand there can be no possible valid objection to this peal being catled 'spliced.'
I cannot imagine why Mr. Leale should take it upon himself to write such an unfortunate, scurrilous letter, but it can only be construed as a personal attack upon the band which rang the peal. and the last part throws douibt upon the band's abilities.
If Mr . Leale did not mean his letter in this way, the only decent way open to him is to write a letter of apology, to be published in the 'R.W.'-Yours faithtully, Tooting, London.
JOHN C. EISEL.
Dear Sir,-Congratulations to Robin Leale on his humorous letter. His point re place notation is quite apt; after all, how different is Ditchling from ibristol? The place notation looks " different.
Why doesn't someone go and ring a peal of about 35 spliced, incorporating three 'Pudseys,' six 'Camioridges,' eight 'Yorkshires,' eight Superlatives' and eight 'Lincolnshires'? If this can be done!

Why Robin Leale's outburst against Brian Woodruffe's activities? Can this possibly be due to the fact that the datter took part in the the recent 11,552 Superlaive, and thus prevented Robin Leale from ringing 11,360 or 11.456 and getting the record, which. one urderstands, he was intending doing in the near future?
To Duvid Brookes' complaint about London ('unmusical rubbish') I would say go and listen to a peal of it sometime-you d be surprised where the music comes. Unlike forward hunting methods, in which you can almost imagine what the next change row is going to sound like, London, etc., is different and is well worth ringing for its music, let alone interest in work.-Yours, etc.,

GILES B. THOMPSON.
Chalfont St. Giles.
Dear S'r,-I was astounded to read Mr. Leale's letter in your issue of May 3lst, regarding the peal of Spliced Surprise Major at Si Neots.
It appairs that those who do not understand place notation are not the only ones under a misapprehension. To imply that it was not - spliced is sheer nonsense. Each bell rang the work of each method, even though this Was only changed nineteen times; the fact that these methods are similar to Lincolnshire is irrelevant.
If the tone of his letter reflects anything on his own standard of striking 'spliced,' I can only conclude that Mr. Leale's peals contain five-ups at places other than just the half-leads. - Yours faithfully.

Hull University.

Groton has Stay Problem

Dear Sir.-We too have had a stay problem. Ash and hickony are hard to come by these days. The school carpenter has made a few oak stays to replace the ones sent from the foundry. (I have 18 learners who have broken several stays.) The aak is obviously not ideal. so credit goes to our veny clever carpenter, who has thimself made some beautiful laminated stays, four thicknesses, edges towards the slider. Il have the impression that they are perfect. They have give and are very hard indeed to break.
Shall we send a sample to the mother country?-Sincerely yours,

IMPACT OF YARMOUTH

through inexperienced architects, unqualified advisers and big-headed local ringers, mistakes and costly ones, practically tamtamount to pouring money down the drain-have been made. The answer is education, and there is a promise that the Towers and Belfries Committee will produce a pamphlet giving the technical gen. It is a subject that could well be publicised in the architectural press.
A final top:c we would mention this week is the creation of a new committee to deal with overseas ringing. It was a spontaneous act after hearing a comprehensive review from Mr G. W. Pipe, who is in the happy position of having circled the globe. With travel facilities easier and young people from overseas coming to this country for higher education and professional training, many more links are now being forged. This new committee can do nothing but good under two headings-in stimulating interest in the problems of overseas ringers and eventually providing useful ringer-emigrants, and secondly by placing the resources of the Council at the disposal of ringers and the Church authorities in distant lands. Last year the Towers and Belfries Committee dealt with two overseas cases. Bells are being shipped overseas in increasing numbers. No one, for instance, can foresee the inffuence on America of the new ring going into Washington if they are rung English fashion. or of the two tens going to Africa shortly. As the world contracts in the matter of time-distance in travel, so will an increased familiarity of those peculiarly English customs prevail among those who stem from British stock. The sound of bells ringing across the English countryside on a Sunday will not be an almost exclusive local perquisite but will gradually be repeated in new towns in the five continents where the British way of life is favoured.

'Decadent Caper

Dear Sir,-I would like to know just what Mr. Robin Leale's objection is to the Spliced Surprise peal that he describes as a dacadent caper.
I do not understand Spliced Surprise myself, but if the peal concerned is a true one and conforms to the usual standards, I don't see why it should be criticised.
I have no doubt that the composer and conductor will be able to give a suitable reply to what, if anything, has caused this objection. - Yours sincerely, Norihampton.

S. J. EI.I.IOTT.

Duffield

Dear Sir--Concerning the letter from David C Brookes on page 364, I would like to draw attention to the fact that two meetings of the Southern Division of the Sussex County Associaion have recently been devoted to the pract.ce of Duffield.

After several successful touches, the company agreed that there wasn t much future in the meihod. and we prefer to spend our time trying to learn to ring 'unmusical rubbish' such as London Surprise.-Yours faithfully,

BRIGHTON BELLE.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

Year Of Steady Progress

THE annual meeting of the Lincoln Diocesin Guild was held in Lincoln on April 27th Holy Communion was celebrated by the Dean of Lincoln in the ringers chapel at the Cathedral and the service was well attended.
During the dayy ringing took place at Welton. Dunholme and Scothern: as well as the Lincoln towers of St. Botolph's. St. Peter-at-Gowts, St. Giles' and the Cathedral.

After attending Evensong in the Cathedral some 1.20 members and friends sat down to tea in the Tithe Barn. Tea was followed by the business meeting, of which the president. the Dean of Lincoln. took the chair. Apologies for absence included one from the Bishop of Lincoln. who had intimated that he hoped to alttend the annual meeting of the Guild in ${ }_{10} 964$.

In the annual report for 1962, which was presented to the meeting for approval, the Master (Mr. J. Bray) reported that the past year had theen one of steady progress and a cotal of 135 peals thad been rung. The Elloe Deaneries Branch had rung seven new Surprise Major methods for the first time and Lincolnshire Maximus had been rung for the first time by the Guild.
During the year the ring of eight bells at St James, Grimsby, was augmented to ten and the five hells at Upton to six
Mr. Bray said that one thing that caused some concern was when one heard of competent change ringers who did not ring at their own local tower and this was to be deplored. Loyalty to one's own band, to the Guild and, most important of all, to the Church and all it stood for should always be one's first consideration.
The honorary secretary and treasurer reported that the peal booking fee system, which had come into operation during the year, was warking satisfactorily, and that this, with the increased subscriptions now operative, should restore the Guild's finances to a satisfactory position.
The principal officers of the Guild to be elected were the Rt. Rev. Colin Dunlop, Dean of Lincoln, as president, Mr. Jack Bray as Master and Mr. John Freeman as honorary secretary and treasurer. Messrs. J. Bray, G. E. Feirn, J. Freeman and J. L. Milthouse were elected as representatives an the Central Council.
Mr J. I. Milthouse asked the meeting to consider whether or not to hold a 65th annual dinner. It was agreed to do so and a small sub-committee was appointed to maker the necessary arrangements.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

On May 18th the St. Albans District. together with the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association, held a meeting at South Mymms. where the bells had been unrung for about 40 years, until Mr. G. Dodds began to teach a new hand early this year. This band rang their belle open for the first time in a service touch of rounds.

The Vicar. the Rev. E. P. Clare, conducted the service, and in welcoming us said what pleasure it gave him to hear his bells ringing

OUTINGS

CATTISTOCK, DORSET

Cattistock ringers. under the leadership of Mr. George Gorringe. their captain. returned to Bristol for their annual outing on May 18th. En route, there was ringing and coffee at Somerton (tenor 20 cwt.). and on arrival at 60. Cotham Road. Bristol, an ample Junch was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Grant (George's brother-in-law and sister).
The afternoon's ringing was at Emmanuel, Clifton. and St. Stephen's, followed by tea in one of those post-war 'palaces' which rose from war-time bombing. A nostalgic threequarter hour was spent by Tom Lippitt at Brislington. where he was baptised. 72 years ago, while the others rang. Finally at Keynsham ( 25 cwt ) ringing for the day concluded. The striking of the Grandsire Doubles showed a marked improvement in confidence in change ringing since last year.
The ringers wish to think George, for his arrangements. and also the incumbents and tower captains who made ringing possible, and Mr. and Mrs. Grant for their hospitality.
C. E. C. B.

ROUGHAM, SUFFOLK

Making an early slart from the Norman lower, Bury St. Edmunds, Rougham ringers and friends enjoyed the beautiful Suffolk countryside on May 24th and made a prebreakfast stop for ringing at Copdock St Peter's (6). After a satisfying meal at Capel St Mary, the journey continued into Essex to ring at Ardleigh, where Mr. Felix Earth met the party.
A novelty was pointed out at Great Bromley by Mr. Arthur Cole, of a row of ringers' hats. Before Junch, at Colchester. a number of Minor methods were rung at Wivenhoe, and also at St. Leonard's. Colchester. Then came the very light six at Shrub End (tenor 4 cwt.). and the eight at St. Peter's, Colchester (21 cwt.). Tea was at Tweeds Restaurant.
On the homeward journey an hour was spen't ait Wormingford and on the anti-clockwise eight at Bures. Mr. Leslie Wright, the organiser, was thanked for his excellent programme, which included methods to suit all ringers.
G. R.

HOLBEACH, LINCS

The sturdy tower of North Elmham, where the eight bells have recently been rehung, was the first tower visited by the All Saints. Holbeach, band and ringing friends on their outing on Aprial 20th. The ruins of the old cathedral were also visited, as North Elmham was the seat of the Bishons of the Diocese from 673-1075

Ringing at Reepham was delayed by a funeral, and during the wait it was discovered that the churchyard once accommodated three churches-Reepham, Whitwell and Hackford. On the ten bells at Aylsham ringing included Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Royal. An excellent lunch at the Ship Hotel was tackled with zeal.
The journey was continued in the rain to Buxton St. Andrew's (a fine six). where one of our budding conductors called a Morris 240. A tower grab at Lammas. at the instigation of a local ringer. preceded Wroxham (6), where the bells went well. After tea, at Hethersett. St. Remigius. Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung. though a touch of Double Norwich was not so obliging.
Our thanks go to various tower correspondents, incumbents and our organiser. Roger Bailey.

DEDICATION

SOPLEY, HANTS
Many ringers will know of St. Michael's Church. Sopley. as three or four years ago a coloured picture cif the ringers in action appeared on the front cover of the Christmas number of "The Field." More recently the same picture became the subject of a popular Christmas card
The original bells, a ring of five (tenor 7 cwt.). were placed in the tower in 1784; of these bells, the fourth is the only one remaining in its original casting and bears the inscription

James Willis, Vicar of Sopley.
Stpn. Pardy & Thos. Pope. Ch. Wardens, 1784. Robert Patnick, of London.

Founders.

At the end of World War I the tower and the bells were found to be unsufe. After some years of effort to raise the necessary funds, the tower was restored in 1925. the old bells, Nos. 1. 2, 3 and 5, were recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and all the bells rehung in an iron frame. The opening ceremony in November. 1925, was broadcast from she old 6.B.M. Station. Bournemouth, and was the first time hells were heard on the air tocally.

This new frame was made for six bells in the hope of an augmentation, but it was not until just over two years ago that a serious move was made to fill the vacant bell pit. Great credit is due to Mr. Harry Harsison. who has worked untiringly to bring the project to jts successful conclusion. The new bell was installed in March and was rung for the first time on Easter morning.
The ceremony of dedication took place at Evensong on May 26 th and was performed by the Rt. Rev. Nigel Cornwall, Assistant Bishop of Winchester. The Jarge congregation present included 1 Mr. W. T. Godfrey, repiesenting the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. and Mr. Gerald Scragg, captain, Christchurch Priory band. The Bishop was conducted from the chancel to the tower by the Vicar and churchwardens, and after prayers of dedication chimed the bell. A short touch of Grandsire Doubles was then rung by the following: Roy Childs 1, W. T. Godfrey 2, F. W. Freeman 3, J H. Stone 4, Gerald Scragg 5, Roy Edwards 6 ,

In his address. the Bishop briefly outlined the histary of bells and their associations, and the difference in bellringing in this country and in foreign lands.

The new bell has the followng inscription: JOHN TAYLOR & CO.
The cost of this bell was provided by the united efforts of the Parishioners of Sopley.
Assisted by the Barron Bell Trust.
C. D. Kirkham, M.A.. Vicar.

Andrew Lane F. A. Lawrence) Churchwardens.
After the service the ringers present were joined by athers. who had been ringing for service in their own churches. and touches in variety of methods up to Cambridge Minor were rung.

NORTH BRADLEY, WILTS

Fortune favoured North Bradley ringers in their choice of May 25th for their annual outing, as it proved to be one of the finest days of late spring

The soaring spire of St. Mary's. Tetbury, a familiar landmark on entering the Cotswold country, was the first call, and the ringing set an excellent standard for the day. It was a long run to Witney for lunch and St. Mary's Church, where the bells do justice to their lovely setting. The sight of winning certificates of striking competitions at St. Mary's. Bampton, caused a slight feeling of inferiority complex. which was soon dispelled.

Although they went well. the bells of St. Mary's, Buckland (8). sounded noisy after the previous towers. The party left for Faringdon. with the satisfaction of not having loit a touch all day. Alas, after tea, taken almost next door to the church, the first touch of Stedman came to grief, although the position was retrieved. and the last touch of Stedman was one of the best of the day.

A most enjoyable day, thanks to the organisation by Mr. P. Harding, the people who met us and the clergy who gave us permission to ring.
A. T. K.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

'Mariborough Branch members were delighted to have with them at their monthly meeting at Ramsbury. on May 25th. the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. N. Longridge). The Rev. R. A. Bennett conducted the service, and Mr. Alan Keen, of Aldbourne, was the organist.

Following a bountiful tea, the chairman ( Mr . George Newman) extended a cordial welcome to the visitors, and thanked the Vicar and all who had contributed to a successful meeting. Ringing included Grandsire, Stedman and Kent T.B. Minor and was under the direction of Mr. T. A. Palmer (honorary secretary and Ringing Master).

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The May meeting of the Leeds and District Society was held at All Saints", Batley, on May 25th. During the afternoon ringing took place under the supervision of the Ringing Master, Miss Angela Skidmore, and, in spite of only a moderate attendance, a wide range of methods were rung. After an excellent tea, provided by the lacal company, the business meeting followed, with the president, Mr. Douglas Thorp, in the chair.

The secretary announced that the June meeting would be heid at Drighlington, but there was some doubt about the date as the Yorkshire Association were holding a committee meeting on the last Saturday in the month, to which two representatives from each local Society had been invited. It was agreed that the president and secretary represent the Society at this meeting, and the meeting at Drighlington he held on the previous Saturday. A suggested list of meetings for the next two years was read out and accepted on the proposition of Miss Angela Skidmore, seconded by Mr. T. W. Strangeway.
The usual vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. M. Brown, and further ringing continued in the evening until 8.30.

IN AMOUNDENESS

Amoundeness is one of the sub-division 'Hundreds' of Lancashire and has Morecambe Bay on one side of its boundaries. It is a gateway to the Lake District. I attended a joint meeting of the Preston and Lancaster Branches of the Lancashire Association at Scorton, a pretty and unspoilt village. St. Peter's Church has a wery good ring of eight (tenor about 18 cwt .). It was an exceptionally good meeting. many methods. including Surprises, being rung, and a splendid tea provided. After tea the rebuilt Woodhouse ringing machine was operated by Mr. Gordon Thwaites and Mr . Cyril Crossthwaite.
Travelling onwards I found that at the church at Pilling, a third bell had recently been added, with a view to eventually having a 'ring' of bells. Then I went up the Lune Valley to Caton, and, in the older part of the village, found another beautiful hamlet, known as Brookhouse. The original church is 12th century; it has been rebuilt twice and only the original tower remains. In it are five bells. three of which are hung for method ringing, the other two were ships' bells: one 'Dreadnought,' the other 'Defende.'
The largest of the three (about 10 cwt ., inscribed '1617. In Incanditati soni soni sonabo tibi Deo') has arms of Elizabeth. unicorn with wings. probably an Oldfield bell (Roman letters).
The middle bell: ' 1724. Gloria in Excelsis Deo.' Luke Ashton, of Wigan.'

The smallest: "In Dolcidine Vocis Cantabo Tuo.' 1605' (Gothic letters).

The Vicar, Rev. R. W. H. Entwistle, is very interested in these bells, and hopes they have a ring of bells sometime.

In the next village, Claughton, hung in a turret are two bells. One of which is reputed to be the oldest dated bell in the country.
I was fortunate in having as guide 80 -yearsyoung John Woods, a ringer at St. Peter's R.C. Cathedral, Lancaster, who has a wide knowledge of the district.

PETER CROOK, sen.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. G. Dodds has taught a band for South Mymms Church, where the bells have been silent for about 40 years. When a meeting was held there on May 18th, the local band rang their bells open for the first time in a service touch of rounds.
Many incomprehensive things are done by ringers. On May 21 st three ringers assembled at Rickmansworth and rang a handibell peal of Minor to commemorate the Feast of Kassin of Ughich, 1504 . Kassin does not get a mention in the Russian Encycloprdia or in three books of saints consulted. Even a brief history of Uglich ignores him.

The Derby Diocesan Association is holding a one-day theoretical course on bell ringing in St. Michael's Church Hall, Derby, on October 19th. Lectures will probably be in two streams-elementary and advanced, and fo: the katter composition, proof and canducting wihl be included. Mr. D. J. Marshall, of 52 , Wyvern Avenue, Lang Eaton, Nottingtham, is the organiser.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Chertsey District

The Chertsey District meeting at Egham was blessed with bright sunshine and there was the feeling that summer is here at last. Ringing in various methods took place under the direction of the District Ringing Master, Mr. F. E. Hawthorne.

The service was conducted by the Vicar of Walton-on-Thames, the Rev. J. M. Evans, and an excellent tea. served in the Church Hall by local ringers, was followed by a short business meeting, with the Vicar of Walton in the chair. During this meeting two junior members from Egham were elected.
A large variety of methods were rung in the evening, including rounds. Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, as well as some Surprise methods.

BELFRY GOSSIP

 tulip testival, held in CannonHill Park, Birmingham, were surprised to hear a carillon being played in the 'Dutch village.' This was a very small portable instrument of 35 bells, cast by Petit and Fritsen in 1962, with a bass bell of only about 6 cwr . in C sharp. During the three week festival the carillon was played on four evenings by Clifford E . Ball, of Bournville. on ten occasions by Clive M. Smith. of Lichfield, and on the Saturdays by a Dutch carillonneur, flown in from Holland.
Miss Temple is not Mayor of Lewes, but holds the office of Mayoress. The error is regretted.

At the Church of the Ascension, Burghclere, Hants, was rung on Ascension Day by the Sunday service band a quarter peal of Ascension Doubles.

Mr. Frank Hicks, at the Central Council meeting, did big business selling pencils for the East Grinstead Bell Restoration and Augmentation Fund. The Vicar has given permission for the recasting, and the ringers are hoping for an augmentation to 10 . The tower has a company of 24.
The best standard of striking since the competition started, was the view of Mr. C. H. Kippin. the judge at the Surrey Association's striking competition for Sunday service bands held at Ashtead on May 25 th. Placings were: ${ }_{1}$ St. 'Mary's, Beddington. 2 St. John's, Croydon, 3 Christ Church, Epsom Common.

A former Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association and secretary of the Llandaff Branch from its formation until the last annual meeting, Mr. Robert E. Coles. of 41, Lavanock Road. Penarth, died in hospital on June 1st. For many years he lived at Cowbridge and was associated with the focal company. Mr. Coles was one of the best known ringers in South Wales, and his en thusiasm did much to stimulate the art in that area. He had rung over 100 peals for the Llandafi and Monmouth Associartion.

MR. STANLEY HONOUR

With deep regret we report the death of Mr. Stanley Honour, aged 73 years, a retired architect, who worked for the railways Although a newcomer to Rainham, Kent, he soon made many friends in the Rochester District of the Kent County Association, and joined St. Margaret's. Rainham, Kent, company of bellringers, about two years ago. His cheerful personality will te greatly missed by the Rainham ringers. As a tribute of respect the bells of St. Margaret's, Rainham, were rung halff-muffled on May 5th. In his younger days, Mr. Honour had rung several peals.

COMPLICATIONS FOLLOW MINIMUS

The conductor of a peal on the easy-going four bells at Bishopthorpe, York, writes to say that whilst ringing Minimus is both an arduous and tricky task it is nothing compared to sending in the peal repart.

He first received from a members of the band a letter which stated that this member did not wish to be connected with the peal. This was followed, a few days later, by another letter from the same member (crossing with the conductor's irate reply to the previous letter) stating that he did wish to be connected with the peal; the previous letter was due to a misunderstanding
When the 'pipe of peace" had been smoked,' and the matter sorted out. the conductor found himself entering a correspondence concerning the Association for which the peal ought to be rung. It was at this point that the conduotor, who is attempting to revise for exams. decided to send in the peal as NonAsoociation, hoping that he would not offend anybody!
iMoral: Think of the implications, before ringing peals of Minimus!

MR. FREDERICK SHARPE

ISHOULD be grateful for the privilege and opportunity, through your columns, of adding to the tribute paid by Canon G. Thurlow to our outgoing President, Mr. Frederick Sharpe, F.S.A.

During the six years he has been President I have been greatly impressed by his extreme fairness, impartiality and courtesy to all wishing to contribute usefully to Central Council debates.

He has graced the office of President with dignity, charm and modesty, and when acting on our behalf towards other bodies and personalities has created in them respect, and indeed admiration towards our organisations and activities.
Nor is he a man of words only but also a man of action. for the amount of work he has done in the cause of church bells and bellringing is really unbelievable. Apart from his work in his own church and diocese and for his own Guild he has, busy man though he is in other respects, devoted a prodigious amount of time to the work of the Towers and Belfries Committee, to assistance with residential courses, to innumerable lectures and handbell demonstrations up and down the country, and to furthering our cause with the Central Council for the Preservation of Ancient Churches and other ecclesiastical bodies.

We could have no finer missionary. His immense knowledge of everything connected with bells and his terrific enthusiasm infects all his listeners. Long may we have the benefit of his wisdom and services in all the fields in which he is so talented.

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

GREAT YARMOUTH - THE SOCIAL SIDE

WE are told loudly and often that we, the members of the Central Council, go to the annual Council meeting to enjoy ourselves. Of course we do, and this year was quite certainly no exception. What we do not hear so much about is that members of the Council serve on committees which are responsible all the year round for special aspects of our work. Also that, when they have written their reports and the Council's officers have prepared and presented them suitably, we spend all day on Whitsun Tuesday confined to barracks-though that is an unworthy description of the City Hall of Great Yarmouth. We debate those reports and other matters and act as a clearing house for the problems of the Exercise.

What was different this year was that for the whole weekend the sun shone brilliantly. whether because of the efforts of the Norwich Diocesan Association or as a reward for those efforts doesn't matter, and that for the whole afternoon of Whit Monday we ignored the claims of the local towers, climbed no stairs. pulled no ropes, and talked not about bells and ringing. We enjoyed the complete change provided by a boat cruise on the Broads,

But to get things in order. On Whit Sunday afternoon a coachful of Council members, their wives or husbands, their friends, left Yarmouth for the pleasant countryside of Suffolk, and enjoyed a ring at Beccles (10) and on the eights at Redenhall. Diss and Pulham Market. These bells, and a tea which was almost a dinner, could not fail to please.

After this. Whit Monday might have provided an anticlimax, but not a bit of it. Continued good weather, and this time two coaches had been ordered and we left Yarmouth soon after breakfast. Aylesham (10), Marsham (8) and lunch at Wroxham beside the sparkling waters of the River Bure brought us to the day's highlight. For two-and-a-half hours in a comfortable modern boat, with all mod. con., we cruised along the rivers and round the Broads, dodging sailing boats at the last minute, avoiding luxurious motor cruisers more easily and hoping that the occasional speedboat would avoid us. A pleasant skipper discoursed at intervals on the wild life we saw (the little coots or ducks-I still can't tell the difference-were the reverse of wild), told us of interesting people whose homes we passed, and of the motoring on the ice during the past winter, and outlined the obvious attraction of a Broads holiday. We went round Wroxham, Salhouse and the South Walsham Broads; the stewardess served us all with tea, and we docked at the end of Ranworth Broad within sight of the tower at which we were to ring. Here also we saw the coaches waiting for us, and Nolan Golden, with car, to take certain important people back to Yarmouth in time for that mysterious but impressive-sounding 'Standing Committee ' on which they sat!
At Ranworth, as well as ringing on the pleasant six we were treated by an enthusiastic incumbent to a talk on his lovely church, with its famous painted screen and the illuminated missal, recently returned to his church after an absence of several hundred years, and worth perhaps more pounds than there are changes on eight bells.

A ring at Acle, where we were pleased to meet Miss Doris Lidbetter again, and a return to Yarmouth in good time to join the gathering at H.Q. for the evening. Our thanks are due for both trips to all who helped to make such pleasant days; to members of both parties for heeding the soft, cooing voices of Ted Collins and the writer to such an extent that all got a ring and no one was late; to all those, both local ringers and others not with the coaches. who enabled the parties to keep to their tight time schedule; and to the Norwich Association for arranging the tours. Above all to Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Barrett, who made such splendid arrangements and looked after us so well, on both days, we can only say, in sincere gratitude, the words we were to hear from the new President on the platform the next day: 'Thank you very much indeed.'

WILFRID G. WILSON.

The Income and Expenditure Account of the General Fund showed an excess of income over expenditure of $£ 54$ ( $£ 49$ ).
Commenting on the accounts, Mr. Barnett said the General Fund's Income and Expenditure Account would have shown a loss of $£ 4$ on the year's working but for the large profit on publications. Expenses had been very much as usual; one extra item on the income side was 'bad debt.' fl had been received from Australia for a gramophone secard
Regarding the Clement Glenn Fund he said that $£ 763$ had been invested. This was redeemable at par ( $£ 960$ ), plus interest.
They had had a very good year regarding the Publications Account, the whole idea being to sell as cheaply as possible. He would like to say how great a debt they owed to Mr. and Mrs. Speed. for all their work in connection with the library. It paid to have large quantities printed; They had obtained another 5.000 Begimers' Handbooks, which had reached the astonishing figure of 15,000 . They had 2.000 copies of Minor Methods. which worked out at 3 s . 4 thd. per copy. If it was only 1.000 the cost would have heen $5 \mathrm{~s} .8 \frac{1}{2}$ d. Trade discounts, $£ 9$, arose from people who ordered books through booksellers and not from the Council's library Turning to the Council's balance sheet. Mr. Barnett said $£ 3,118$ cash in fiand included £1.539 money received for subscriptions in advance to 'The Ringing World:
Mr. Barnett moved and Mr. J. T. Dunwoody seconded the adoption of the accounts.Agreed.

STANDING COMMITTEE

The honorary secretary reported that the Standing Committee at its meeting the previous evening made a number of recommendations. In accordance with the instructions of the Cardiff meeting the committee considered the use of the interest on the Glenn Bequest and recommended that the interest from the fund should be allocated for the Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee. The committee also suggested that members might consider, when he retired. the outstanding services to the nation of Sir Winston Churchill

'THE RINGING WORLD'

The report, signed by Mr. J. F. Smallwood (convener), stated: Your committee is able to report that despite continued rising costs, a satisfactory bakance resulted on the year's working. Analysis of this balance discloses that it is mainly due to donations and interest oll investments. The net profit, in view of the size of the turnover, is small. We have not yet felt the full impact of the last increase in printing costs, which came into force in the hast quarter of the year, and it is probable that the balance for the present year's trading even if donations continue at their present level, wili be considerably smaller.

Your committee took note of sentiments expressed last year by the Council, and being in full agreement with them decided to increase the Editor's salary as from July 1st. We deeply appreciate Mr. White's conscientious work and shall not easily forget his action in the very difficult years when he voluntarily relinquished a portion of his salary to help us in our effort to keep solvent. It is our earnest thope that he will be able to continue his useful work for many years.

During the year a new series of articles on "Up and coming youngiters" was planned. and is now apperring. Your committee is masi grateful to the writer of these articles. and all other contributors of literary articles to provide instruction and interest. Those who initialled the correspondence on the improvemint of bell stays and oddstruck bells are to be especially congratulated and thanked.

Your committee also wishes to thank all those who have made donations, especially those Associations which have contributed voluntary peal levies; to Mr. Jeater, for his work on the accounts: to Mr. H. L. Roper, for his expert comp:lation of the index; to the Woodbridge Press for producing the journal always on time : to all regular seaders and to everyone who has helped in any way to make

The Ringing World "lively and interesting."
Mr - Smallwood moved the adoption of the report, and Mr. R. A. Anderson seconded. The report was adopted.

Commenting on the accounts. Mr. Barnett said regarding the Profit and Loss Account expenditure had risen under most headings. There was an increase of $£ 200$ on the cost of dispatch of copies. which was due partly to the increased $t d$. on postage, this being the first full year. There had been a further drop of $\{50$ in income from Rolls House, but on the other hand an extra $£ 150$ had been received from the sale of postal copies, which was very gratifying. Other receipts were very much the same. The profit of $£ 747$ was very satisfactory in the circumstances, but $£ 450$ came from donations and $£ 265$ from investments. On the balance sheet the $£ 508$ due from the Central Council to :The Ringing World was more or less an internal transaction. He moved the adoption of the accounts. Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded, and the accounts were adopted.
Messrs. J. IF. Smallwood, F. I. Hairs, R. S. Anderson and W. G. Wilson were re-elected to the committee on the proposition of Mr. F W. Peirens, seconded by Mr. W. Ayre.

METHODS COMMITTEE

The committee has little to report; routine work continues, but it asks for the ratification of the following unanimous decisions published in 'The Ringing World ' of March 8th. 1963 :-
(1) The methods rung as Durham Surprise Major. Royal and Maximus are not acceptable extensions of Durham Surprise Minor
(2) The Royal and Maximus are accept able extensions of the Major.
(3) One new name should be given to the Major. Royal and Maximus by the Leicester Diocesan Guild

C. KENNETH LEWIS (Convener).

Mr. C. K. Lewis moved the adoption of the report and Mr, F. T. Blagrove seconded.
Mr. P. J. Staniforth said they had renamed the extensions. New Durham ; were they acceptable?

Mr. Lewis: I have consulted other members of the committee and we are quite satisfied with New Durham.
Canon Felstead said he had been a member of the committee for 15 years and he would like to retire.
The hon. secretary said he felt the retirement of Canon Felstead should not go unmarked. It was his privilege to be one of the members of the new committee formed in 1948 when the previous committee faded out. They did not have much to go on. Canon Felstead contributed some interesting points.
Mr. C. K. Lewis said as sole survivor of the 1948 committee they would miss Canon Felstead very much. They were very grateful for what he had done, and he thanked him personally on behalf of the committee.

The report was adopted and the committee elected, consisting of Messrs. C. K. Lewis, F. I Blagrove and J. R. Mayne

ADVICE GIVEN FOR 68 CHURCHES.-ARCHITECTS CRITICISED.-EDUCATIONAL PAMPHLET TO BE PREPARED ON TECHNICAL MATTERS.-FACULTY PETITION MOTION FROM TRURO GUILD.

COMMITTEES REPORT

During the year 1962 the work of the Towers and Belfries Committee diminished a little. Advice on bell and tower restoration was given in 68 churches, 13 less than the outstanding peak year 1961, but still far above the average for the past. This diminution is not due in any way to a lack of interest in bell restoration but to the fact that we have now completed the first cycle of inspections occasioned by the passing of the Quinquennial Inspection of Churches Measure.' A tremendous amount of bell restoration is contemplated and will be done in the future. Naturally much has had to be postponed while urgent repairs to the fabric of our churches, revealed by the first cycle of architects' reports, was put in hand.

The 68 churches in which advice was sought in 1962 may be analysed geographically thus: Berkshire 4. Breconshire 1. Buckinghamshire 4, Cacrnarvonshire 1, Cambridgeshire 2, Cheshire 2, Cornwall 2, Derbyshire 1. Devonshire 7. Dorset 2. Essex 1, Gloucestershire 1. Hampshire 1 Herefordshire 1. Hertfordshire 1, Huntingdonshire 1. Kent 1, Nottinghamshire 1, Northamptonshire 6. Oxfordshire 5, Somerset 15 , Staffordshire 1, Surrey 1, Sussex 1, Warwickshire 2, Yorkshire 1, Overseas 2.

Of the total of 68 reports, 13 were dealt with hy correspondence, including the two from over-seas-one in South Africa and the other in Australia. The remainder were visited by members of the committee. In addition, the Convener has again given over 20 lectures to diocesan, architectural and professional organisations.

For the first time for many years no advice was sought on augmentation. In six towers advice was given on recasting. Thirty-one churches sought advice on rehanging or were advised by members of the committee to completely rehang their hells. The number seeking advice on repair and maintenance is higher in proportion this year and has reached a peak figure of 37 Also at an exceptionally high level is the number of churches where extensive damage has been done to masonry or where there are structural defects in towers, and this year these were 11 in number. Advice on sound control and modification was given in 17 churches. It will be noted that the largest number of enquiries came from the West Country, Somerset heading the list. Here Mr. W. Osborne and Mr. H. Sanger have done much excellent work, and we welcome the latter to our committee.

In view of the fact that we expect much restoration wark in the future, it would be wise if members would emphasise the necessity of obtaining a faculty, or alternatively, if the work is of a minor character, an Archdeacon's Certificate, before any work is done. Recently advice was sought in a tower where bells and gear had been dismantled and restoration work put in hand without either the chancellor of the diocese, the archdeacon or an architect being consulted, and without a professional bellhanger heing employed. Again, when restoration work is necessary to boilh tower and bells, it is important that the two should be done logether. In two instances attention has had to he drawn to cases where bells have been put into excellent ringing order and no attempt made to stitch and bond vertical vibration cracks in the masonry of the tower walls.

Mr. Sharpe, in moving the adoption, said the epori was compiled from statistics sent in from individual members of the committee.

FDWIN HUGH LEWIS, M.A.,

who 50 years ago presented his first report on Towers and Belfries.

Mr. E. H. Lewis. seconding, said owing to infirmity and living in Scotland, he would like to say he had done no work for the. committee during the year. He could not travel 400 to 500 miles from Scotland, but if re-elected he would be prepared to answer any question hy post.
So far as the Towers and Belfries Committee was concerned he looked upon it as his jubilee. It was at the Newcastle meeting on May 13th, 1913, that he first reported verbally to the Council on the result of investigations undertaken by him into the action between bells, and he wanted to say now that he did not wish to alter a single word he said to the Council then nor to alter a single word to what he contributed to Sir Arthur Heywood's book a year later. Sir Arthur Heywood gave him six copies: they were all horrowed and not returned, and when he wanted to talk to the Council on a matter of fact he had to borrow a copy from the librarian.

As the result of these investigations he had visited a number of towers, and he would like to mention three. The first was Croydon Parish Church. In that case he suggested a circular hand of concrete. The second was Boston Stump. It was reported in "The Ringing World what he recommended. The third was typical of a number of towers that had heen split. A few years ag, o he was called into Handley, Cheshire, where the east and west walls were split from top to bottom, and in the ringing chamber there was a crack large enough to put one's hand in. What he recommended was a girdle round the lower to bind it logether, and the bells 10 be rchung so instead of swinging north to south would swing east to west. All he could say was that quite a few peals had been rung at Mandley.

Canon K. W. H. Felstead congratulated the committee on all the work they had done, but he would like to make a suggestion. Many members of the Council were members of diocesan advisory committees specifically for bells, He noticed that there was a report from a tower in Hampshire. When the matter came before the Diocesan Advisory Committee he knew nothing ahout the report. He suggested that when requests were received to report on a church the member of the advisory committee should be invited to be present at that inspection.

Mr. F. Sharpe said he appreciated Canon Felstead's suggestion. When one received an invidation to meet the church architect, churchwarden or vicar it was not always easy to fix a convenient date. Last year he spent 44 days on inspections, and it was not always easy to contact a third person. If it was possible they would do it. They did not wish to be discourteous but there were circumstances at times that made it difficult.

Canon Felstead replied that he would not regard it as discourteous if he did not hear as he fully appreciated the difficulties.

Mr. P. A. Corby said last year the Towers and Belfries Committee were asked for information in the matter of professional fees charged by architects in respect of bell work. He wondered if the committee had any answer to the question.
Mr. F. Sharpe replied that nothing further had been investigated. They all knew that in a building contract there were sub-contracts, and an architect was entitled to a percentage charge.

Mr. B. Austin said this affected him in two ways. In a church and bell restoration say, the church costing $£ 3,000$ and the bells $£ 400$, it seemed a litule unfair perhaps that the architect was taking a fee on $£ 3,400$. There was a way round it which happened in hospital work. Where a small extension contained expensive equipment, the percentage fee on the building was scaled and there was a considerable reduction on the special work. He suggested that the way round from the R.I.B.A's point of view was that a special case be made out.
Mr. T. J. Lock said they did provide in the bills of quantities provision for such scales and that there were sums of money under the heading "direct payments." The effect of that was that no profit was shown under that heading. and the order for the provision and delivery of that work was directed by the employer
Mr. F. Sharpe said they were really in the hands of the architects. If they proceeded by way of bills of quantities the thing to do if they had a bell restoration which was part of a church restoration was to warn the rector and P.C.C. and try and get them to treat the bells separately.

Mr. H. L. Roper suggested that the advice be published in 'The Ringing World ' and one or more of the Church newspapers.
Mr. P. A. Corby said lay people would not understand that they would have to pay fees in the matter of bells. The average layman knew nothing about bells; he relied on his professional adviser, or the bellhanger or the Central Council. It did not seem equitable that he should receive a 10 per cent. fee. If he could help Mr. Sharpe in making public the matter he would be delighted to do so.
The President: We are exceedingly grateful to Mr. Sharpe and all those who have shared in this very important work. The report was then adopted.

On the proposition of Mr. Corby, seconded by Mr. Ayre, the Committee was re-elected Congratulations were then extended to Mr. Edwin Lewis on his jubilee

TRURO GUILD MOTION
The Council decided at this stage to consider the motion submitted by the Truro Diocesan Guild. Mr. D. Burnett said the original motion on the agenda had since been discussed by the Truro Guild, and he asked permission to substitute the following motion:-

That all chancellors be urged to ensure that in all faculty petitions arising as a result of quinquennial surveys of consecrated buildings expert opinion has been taken in matters of bells. their frames and hanging, such matters being normally outside the usual work of the surveying architect; and when architect and experts are not in agreement note to be taken of such disagreement

In the absence of Mr. A. J. Davidson, the hon. secretary formally seconded the amended motion.
Mr. H. L. Roper: May I ask before we discuss this what effect this motion will have and what will the Council do to circulate it to the various dioceses? It may be idle to discuss it if nothing is done.
The hon. secretary: This matter was touched on at the Standing Committee last night. It was suggested that it should be debated and then referred to the Towers and Belfries Committee.
The Rev. J. G. M. Scott said he was a new boy on the Towers and Belfries Committce. They had heard from Mr. Lewis that 50 years ago he first put forward the knowledge which had become general among hellhangers and people like themselves. But 50 years was a very short time 10 educate most ringers and architects. Old ringers would tell them that it was good for the frame to have a little give in it. As regards the architects, it was very hard to educate them and tell them what Mr. Lewis discovered over 50 years ago.
Continuing, Mr. Scott said if the motion was carried it would help them no doubt. As far as he was concerned he would like to have something to send to the architects. He was approached by one architect who said he knew very little about bells and would be glad of some help. Later the architect wrote: "There being a general mess-up, what could you send to help me?'
Mr. Scott said he could not give him a copy of Sir Arthur Heywood's, and there were not enough technical details in the 'Preservation of Bells. Would it be possible, he asked, for Mr. Sharpe. Mr. Lewis and Mr. Austin to produce something in cyclostyle, something they could put into the hands of architects?
Mr. Austin confessed that he felt like a black sheep at that meeting. He said it would be very helpful to architects to have this sort of information they could draw upon. It must be factual right up to the last detail. If the Towers and Belfries Committee could compile something of this nature it would answer the question. He was glad the wording of the motion had been altered. and he was for it.

Mr. Kenneth Lewis proposed that the motion he referred to the Towers and Belfries Committee to prepare something.

Mr. R. S. Anderson seconded
Canon Felstead said he was sure the final wording would have to be extremely carefully done, especially so when dealing with diocesan chancellors.
' WRONG ADVICE
Mr. P. A. Corby said they could now see why he did not think the architects should draw fees on bell restorations. His purpose in raising the matter was to draw atteniion to the methods of these so-called experts. One expert he knew of gave advice which was completely misleading about hells and resulted in a waste of moncy. It was a case of rehanging in an existing frame which was against the advice of the hellhangers. He gave the opinion that the old frame was good for another 100 years, whereas it was only good for five minutes. It was hardly possible to ring the bells now.

Mr. John Freeman said he did not think they should be too hard on the architects. On two occasions he knew that a sound joh had not been done hecause the local ringers thought they knew better than the bellhanger. In a tower of North Lincolnshire the bells were to he rehung. There was considerable movement of the frame, but the local ringers thought that it was not because the bells were rung too high in the tower but it was all right when the wind blew in a certain direction. They had to co-operate with architects and there was need for a great deal of propaganda among ringers.

Mr. Brian Threlfall said he would like to take up the point made by Mr. Scott of more facts. They had a Central Council publication, 'The Care and Preservation of Bells ' which was reprinted a year ago and partly rewritten. It was done somewhat in a hurry. They had 1.700 copies still in stock, having sold 370 . Might he suggest that they revise the work thoroughly?
Mr. R. F. B. Speed said of the 300 copies they sold, 200 went to one diocese.
In summing-up a 'most interesting discussion." Mr. Sharpe said regarding the architects they had sometimes to prove to them that the bells were hanging in the wrong direction. He put this point 10 one architect by saying: 'If you refuse you will be called in in ten years time to advise on a crack in the tower wall.' It seemed to him that what was needed was to reprint the Towers and Bell Preservation book which in substance contains all the original pleas. In addition they should publish a book of this type. It should be written in conjunction with the latest preservation book because a lot had happened since 1914.
In regard to educating architects and ringers, in these college courses lectures had been given to the ordinary rank and file in the elementary principles. He also lectured at the Institute of Architectural Studies
As to chancellors, they could not tell what a chancellor was going to do. All the diocesan advisory committees were linked with the Central Council for the Care of Churches. They had a conference with them two or three years ago. and the result was they reached agreement, and that agreement had been printed in the Pre. servation Booklet. He suggested that more use be made of that booklet.
So far as the quinquennial survey was concerned, the law of England was that all churches be surveyed once in every five years, and also its contents. The architect could call in a special adviser, and in such cases the fees were not paid to the architect but the special adviser. They did sometimes get a chance of going along and advising the architect. It was not a case of nothine being done. A lot had been done. In their library there was that wonderful treatise written by Mr. Lewis 50 years ago. which formed the Basis of what they had published. He appealed to members of the Council to make use of the library.

The Council decided that the motion as amended be referred to the Towers and Belfries Committee

BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE'S RESEARCH

Although two new members joined the Council in 1962, the last year of the present Council, the total of those who through the years have been members remains as before at slightly under 800 . This is due to the discovery of a few persons who in the early years of the Council were present as visitors at meetings and became included in the attendance as official representatives of Societies which did not elect them. We have for some time known of one important gentleman who was present at the 1891 meeting, included in the attendance as representing a Society which, however, did not elect members to the first Council. Those known to be passed to their rest now total 409, leaving 379 who in the present state of our knowledge must he presumed living. It is probable that this figure of 409 should be greater.

The attention of present members of the Council is directed to a list which appeared recently in 'The Ringing World, containing the names of 13 former members who share three characteristics: (1) They were in most cases elected for short periods; (2) They did not attend any meeting of the Council: (3) The Biographies Committee has no knowledge of them, beyond the fact of their election. Not even their addresses were known. It is possible that some of these persons are known to present members, and any information regarding them, however slight, would be welcomed.

The following deaths of memhers and past memhers have heen reported since those up to the end of January. 1961 , included in our report to the 1962 meeting at Cardiff: Ernest Morris. Leicester Diocesan Guild, 1960-62 (attended two meetings): H. E. C. Goodenough. Hertford County Association. 1936-47 (two meetings): Miss M. E. Snowdon, Life Member, $1952-62$ (no meeting): Ernest Stitch, Llandaff and Monmouth Dincesan Association, 1939-50 (six mectings): Daniel Smith. Barnsley and District Assocjation. 1948 (no meeting).

At the time of preparing the text of this report the number of deaths of past or present memhers noted since our meeting at Cardiff is small when compared with the long lists of recent years, yet it contains onc of significant importance. The death of Miss M. Snowdon ends a 90 years' link with the Snowdon family. Her brothers Jasper and William rang their first peal on December 7th, 1872. and early volumes of "Church Bells " were seldom without a contribution from one or other of them. The name will continue but without a living representative.
We are again indebted to very many for help cheerfully given in what are often quite complicated enquiries. To mention one. Mr. T. J. Lock has kindly undertaken the task, of a search of back volumes of Crockford's Clerical Directory for information regarding eight clergymen about whom we know very little.
Another massive operation began about the time of the death of Miss M. Snowdon with some letters written just before his death by Mr. S . Flint, who knew and rang with the late Mr. W. Bentham. An enquiry of Mr. J. Ridyard resulted in a whole train of letters leading to the loan of pholographs of Miss Snowdon, also of group photographs containing the late W. Bentham. We are very grateful 10 all at Wigan and elsewhere who assisted.
With the ready co-operation of Miss Hill and with others of Bishop's Stortford we were put in touch with a son of the late Mr. H. Dew, whose death was reported in 1958 and who was present at three of our meetings about 60 years ago. Later in life a busy professional man, he could soare little time for ringing, but throughout all his life he did ring and assisted with teaching. We hope this contact will result in the loan of a photograph.
A. C. HAZELDEN (Convener), 109, Grange Road, Guildford. Surrey.
L. STILWELL. W. II. VIGGERS,
J. WILLIS.

Moving the adoption of the report. Mr. A. C. Hazelden said since the letter appeared in "The Ringing World' they had received three replies, of whom two were well. He regretted the retirement of Mr. Len Stilwell but welcomed Mr. Tom Lock to the committec.
Mr. W. H. Viggers, in seconding. said 44 hiographies were in the process of being written. All new members of the Council had been supplied with a questionnaire. which he asked should be returned with a photograph to Mr Hazelden.

The report was adopted and also the election of Messrs. A. C. Hazelden, W. H. Viggers, J. Willis and T. Lock to the committec.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE

ENCOURAGING SURVEY OF WIDE INTEREST IN BELLS AND RINGING.--BELLRINGERS RECEIVE PUBLIC SYMPATHY FROM BISHOP'S ATTACK.-PUBLICATIONS LISTED.

We desire to open this report with an ex pression of deep regret at the loss during the year of Mr. Ernest Morris, F.R.Hist.S., our be loved historian and antiquarian. Mr. Morris was probably the most important link between our art and the general public, and his authority integrity and industry made his name known and respected not only in this land but in America and the far countries of the world The Literature Committee wishes to record its sincere appreciation of Mr. Morris' heln and unflagging enthusiasm for the cause of bellringing.

The Star Ratherham Magazine, in a short article on the bellringers of All Saints' Church. remarks: 'Time probably touches the bells and their message less than most things, and this comment perhaps helps to explain the continued popularity of essays on bells and ringing. The past year seems to have indicated an increasing number of visits to belfries by reporters, particularly round about the end of the year, and the resulting articles have been almost invariably restrained and informative. Much emphasis has naturally fallen on the work of young ringers, and lay writers have cleariy been impressed by this feature 'Murder in the Belfry, in ' The Sunday Post,' was lighthearted, good-natured and somewhat vulgar, and in 'The New Strand ' David Boyce discoursed cheerfully under the heading Bells Are So Bellicose ': but alongside these trivialities we have a good survey of bells in Northamptonshire in "The Northampton Advertiser, a well-written interview with Mr. Arthur Hoare in 'The South Wales Evening Post,' the South Wigston youngsters in "The Leicester Evening Mail , and (a very pleasant and thoughtful essay) Marjorie Craddock writing in "The Hereford Times, on a visit to the Cathedral tower.
From Ireland we have a number of feature articles, among them the ringing for the New Year in "The Evening Herald,' accompanied by photographs of ringers at various Dublin churches. the Ballymena lady ringers in 'The Weekly Telegraph,' and Christmas ringing, showing John Irwin and the Lurgan band in 'Belfast Telegraph.' 'Cork Examiner' gave prominence to a reporter's visit to the belfry of St. Fin Barre's Cathedral aṇd his talk with Fred Bogan

HIGH STANDARD

The articles on ringers and ringing this year are of high standard. and among those we have received we may cite the following as examples. - The Exeter Fxpress and Echo' gave a survey of the restoration of SI. Petrock's bells and the plans for the forming of a ringing society: the articles by J. Cassidy in "The Ashton Reporter. discoursed on the bells of St. Michael and All Angels: Ashton-under-Lyne. with reference to the redoubtable Sam Wood; and the summer issue of "Hertfordshire Countryside printed an essay by E. A. Humphrey Fern on the county's bells and founders. Bv a curious error the writer gives St. A!bans Abbey eight bells only.
Probably the two outstanding articles are the excellently-constructed account of the beils of St Paul's Cathedral bv C. G. J. Watts in 'The Record of Friends of St. Paul's, and "The Bells of All Saints", Wraxall,' by B. J. Greenhill, in "The Clevedon Mercury. Both these show evidence of much patient research, and their authoritative touches will be clear to the ringer and helpful to the public.
'Edmonton County Grammar School Magazine has nrovided some telling evidence of ringing activity in the School. Michael V. White. the geograohy master, writes broadly on bell history and the work of ringers, and tells of the formation of the School's Guild. And in the December issue lacqueline Hughes. nyet 13. describes a visit to the bell foundry of Mears and Stainbank. Not only is her observation good but her little essav has a refreshing franknows Of one slage of the visit she tells us: This workshop smelt strongly of machine oil and grease and made me feel quite sick.' There is, however, evidence that the trip was much enjoyed.

In 'The Sign" for December, Ida Hancock provides a delightful account of her boys and the start of their ringing career. She writes as one who watches with interest, and her little story contains references to Dove's immortal Directory, Ringers' Diary, and 'The Ringing World.' This kind of article provides our art with the very best publicity and must be highly commended. Readers of "The Guide, and particularly those concerned with Guide badges, will welcome the friendly and dignified essay on Church Bell Ringing by E. A. Barnett in the issue of November 22nd. The secretary of the Central Council here offers an attractive approach to thought on the subject and some gentle advice for those likely to be interested.

BISHOP OF DUNWICH

In June the bells at Eye were dedicated, and the pleasure of the occasion was marred by some unguarded and ill-chosen remarks by the Bishop of Dunwich on the conduct of bellringers on Sunday mornings. His words, taken from their context and prominently displayed by portions of the less reputable Press, received wide publicity. Sober opinion expressed by more restrained papers was clearly on the side of the bellringers, and "The East Anglian Daily Times in a special leader deplored what it considered to be a slur on an important body of Church workers.
To set against this incident it is pleasing to note the high view of the work of ringers as it has come before the public from many sources. In 'The Gravesend Reporter ' the Rev. Kenneth Stuart, clearly inspired by the Eye dedication, emphasised that ringing is an act of worship and commended the work of ringers. The Bishop of Chester, Dr. Ellison, preaching at the special celebration service of the Chester Diocesan Guild on November 17th, presented an impressive picture of bellringing as one of the major pieces of craftsmanship reflecting the glory and majesty of God. And as a natural corollary we quote 'The Methodist Recorder. In a short article entitled 'On Hearing Church Bells Ring,' the writer remarks that there is a ministry in the ringing of bells, and deprecates the use of bell-simulating apparatus in these important words: - Occasionally we hear of an enterprising vicar who broadcasts a record of chimes through a loudspeaker in his belfry. which synthetic substitute has no life in it and no message either.
We have left for final reference three articles that we helieve to he the most important and valuable that have appeared during the year. In 'Research Review.' Mr. John R. Mayne has written for general readers one of the clearest expositions of ringing and its value as a hobby that we have seen for some time. Mr. Geoffrey Dodd's article. 'Bells for the New Churches.' in 'Church Building Today' should have received mention in our last report but did not come to our notice in time. The essay. meticulously planned. provides an important and authoritative view on the problem of providing towers and rings of bells for new churches, and it is to be hoped that it will receive serious consideration by diocesan bodies. The third work is the comprehensive and scholarly address given by Frederick Sharpe to the Friends of St. David's. The monograph is printed in full in the Report of the Society, 1962. and without doubt has provided ringing with striking and highly-desirable publicity.

OTHER PUBLICATIONS

We regret to notice the cessation of the puhlication of 'The Ringers' Magazine,' a popular journal whose pages covered a wide variety of interesting subjects for all ringers. We are pleased to note that its contemporaries continue to flourish: "The Belfry." as usual. contains matter relating mainly to the Kent Association. "The Jrish Bell News this year reached a record for circulation 'The Ringing Towers has been completely reorganised. it is a muchimproved paper, and contains articles of direct value to all Australian and New Zealand ringers and much matter of great interest to practitioners generally.

Overtones.' the fascinating quarterly of the American Guild of Handbell Ringers, continues to record the extraordinary spread of tune ringing, and in this connection we have seen the recent publication of 'The Art of Handbell Ringing, by Mrs. Nancy P. Tufts, an excellent instruction manual and guide for all interested in this branch of our hobby. The book has an attractive preface written by Frederick Sharpe.
'The Ringers' Note Book and Diary ' has now become an established annual, and its popularity among young ringers is noticeable and encouraging.

We conclude by welcoming the third edition of 'A Bellringer's Guide to the Church Bells of Britain. Mr. Dove's great work has now become a classic and, as a leader in "The Ringing World' remarks. 'it has become an essential companion to all ringers who travel.' And, we now discover, it is at the Editor's elbow on the editorial desk at Guildford!

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD (Convener),
46, Manor Gardens, Warminster, Wilts. FRED E. DUKES.
Proposing the adoption, Mr. F. E. Dukes said they would like to thank all who had contributed or sent articles to the Committce.

Mr. J. T. Dunwoody. seconded and the report was adopted.
The Committee, consisting of Mr. Edgar C Shepherd and Mr. F. E. Dukes, was re-elected on the proposition of Mr. Dunwoody.

BOOKLET ON SURPRISE MAJOR NAMED METHODS

Mr. T. J. Lock said the Standing Committee had asked him to raise under Any other business: a matter that occurred at the annual meeting of the Middlesex Association of printing a booklet containing all the Surprise Major methods that had been rung. The Association was naturally concerned with expense, and Mr. White intimated that he would print such information in 'The Ringing World. The type could be used for the booklet, which would serve a useful purpose for the Exercise. Two members -Mr. Blagrove and Mr. Mayne-had between them a complete list. It was suggested that it should be considered hy the Methods Committee and referred to the Standing Committee with power to act. The Middlesex Association would be willing to take it over in consultation with the Methods Committee.
Mr. F. E. Dukes: The Methods Committee given the task of producing?
Mr. Gordon Halls asked for information to be given of course-end leads
Mr. R. A. Anderson thought that such a book would have a very limited appeal. One rarely saw a new method rung a second time. Mr Lock had given them no indication as to what the cost would be. The Council were being asked to commit themselves to something they did not know

Mr. R. F. B. Speed: Mr. Corrigan produced his in 1949. and many more Surprise methods have been rung since then. He thought this book would be of value and of use.
Mr. J. R. Mayne said there had been for a long time a demand for this book. Surprise ringing was one of the most vital parts of ringing, and unless the Council produced such a book it would be embroiled with extension matters. Mr. Anderson had suggested that many of the methods were not rung more than once. He would point out that the Collection was indispensable to those who thought they had a new method. There was no place where people could consult. As to Mr. Halls question of printing false course-ends, he thought that should be left to the committee.
The Council decided that the publication of the hooklet should be left to the Methods Committee with power to act.

BETTER RELATIONS WITH B.B.C.

STATE BROADCASTING AND TELEVISION COMMITTEE.-CHRISTMAS BROADCAST: ALL RECOMMENDATIONS EXCEPT ONE ACCEPTED:-SOME NOTED PROGRAMMES.

CCMMITNEE'S REPORT

From Northern Ireland we are agiin pleased to report that relations with the B BC. are very good. Discussions have proved fruitful and led to a better understanding of problems on both sides. Various towers were heard on both sound and television during the year, and the standard of ringing was high. Radio Eireann also broadcast a fair number of bells in their territory, and interviews were recorded by the President. Mr. A. F. Bogan and Miss F. Wyman.

Other than the Christmas broadcast, there is little to mention from Scotland. Whilst enthusiasm is great, opportunity is very small in this region and the use of bells in broadcasting is very rare

With the retirement of Mr. Chaddock in the north last year. Mr. Bayles, our new member, has been very busy making contacts and generally getting acquainted with the job. Thanks to the generous assistance of Mr. Chaddock. this has been proeressing very well. and by exchange of letters with the broadcasting authorities and various personal contacts some useful work has been done. The rededication of the bells of Northallerton received mention in the local Home Service in 'The Week, Ahead.'

A number of items of interest appear from East Anglia. The legal ceremony of a new rector tolline a bell at his induction was televised as part of the televised indurtion service at St. Margaret's. King's Lynn. Recordings of Yarmouth bells were heard hefore and after each of seven épilogues given by Canon Thurlow on television. together with a picture of the church. The same pattern was used by at least three other clergy who took part in eoilogues. Only once were bells used in a sound broadcast service. In the programme "What, Where and When' the tower secretary of Yarmouth sent a clapper tie and muffle. and the former foxed the panel. On December 31st Anglia Television presented an extremely interesting programme from Kirbv-le-Soken: some excellent ringing was heard and there were shots of the bells in motion. the rincers and the church and village. Mr. Frank Lufkin and his company are to be congratulated on a first-class show.
Little of interest has come to hand from the Midland Region, but some useful contacts have been made.

Nothing worthy of note has come to our notice in the London Region, but we have been by no means idle, as will be seen in a later paragraph

ACTIVITIES IN THE WEST

In the West we have been biessed with by far the greatest opportunities since the formation of the committee. Firstly the making of the new recordings of Evercreech bells, and secondly participation in the production of the sound programme 'Ring Out, Wild Bells.' The former was first discussed by the committee at a meeting in Cardiff. when the preliminary correspondence with the B.B.C. concerning this and other proposed recordings was put before them. Unfortunately a car accident to the B.B.C. executive responsible held up progress for some weeks. but eventually p!ans which we had formulated were accepted by the B.B.C. and the new Everereech recordings were made. The scope of these was strictly limited in view of the decision to bring in other towers for use on the Light Programme.

Almost before this job was completed we were approached by the Plymouth Studio with a request for help and advice in the production of an Anthology on Church Bells, to be entitled ' Ring Out, Wild Bells.' This proved to be a most interesting venture. and eventually involved something over 350 miles of travel and a very considerable letter file. The producer, John Blunden, was found to be a first-class critic of bellringing, so much so in fact that he refused to use any of the existing recordings from the B.B.C. library, which we are bound to agree were tar from perfect, and new recordings to suit the programme had to be arranged and made, this with but a few weeks in hand before the broadcast. However, all went well. and with the exception of the Evercreech recording included, which became available at that time. some excellent recordings were made, and finally a most interesting and informative programme resulted.

A lew broadcast services included bells, among which were Alton. Hants, and St. Mary Redcliffe. Bristol. Advance notice of the former was kindly provided by the captain of the tower. and in this connection we would appreciate more news of similar events.

CHRISTMAS BROADCAST

At our meeting in Cardiff the Christmas broadcast of bells was fully discussed, and a plan which included six. eight and ten bells was prepared and later put up to the B.B.C. Later again a meeting with the executive resnonsible was arranged at Broadcasting House, London. and the plan elaborated. The result was that our recommendations were used in all regions except the Scottish, where the actual choice of tower was made by the B.B.C.. and a satisfartory broadcast was heard. This meeting with the B.B.C. was also arranged to vet the Evercreech recordines and was attended by Mr. Pitstow and the Convener. who were pleased to meet among others the Assistant Heads of Sound Recording and of Outside Broadcasts, 1ogether with some of the technicians resoonsible for these and future towers to be dealt with. An interesting and we feel profitable afternoon was soent. which did much to improve our relationship with the departments concerned by giving us the opoortunity to discuss at first hand the many problems involved.
Some corresnondence has taken place with A.T.V. and A.B.C. Television : the former concerning some excellent ringing used in a Drama 66 play which we attempted, unsuccessfully, to identify. and the latter in connection with the use of bells before televised services. We attempled to get notice of the inclusion of the hells in programme publications. but we were informed that this was not possible. We were. however, informed that it was the policy of the company to include the bells whenever the church concerned had bells and ringers to man them, and to broadcast them for two minutes. This we feel is reasonable.
The old Bow Bell recordings. the corruoted use of which was much criticised last year, have now been discontinued by the B.B.C. and an alternative signal substituted.

We have had some talks with the B.B.C. with a view to increasing the time allowed on Sunday mornings, and have been promised an extension to three-and-a-half minutes. This will allow some of the short touches to be run through in their entirety. To date, personnel problems seem to be hindering this increase, but we hope our persistence will triumph in the end.

TRIENNIAL REVIEW

This being the last report of our third triennial period as a committee. it would seem an opportune time to make the following poin:s:-
(a) With regard to ringing hefore service broadcasts, we find that in general no prohlem about the inclusion of the bells exists where the relationship between ringers and clergy is good. Where, as is usual, these broadcasts are 'live, the whole programme is run to a very tight schedule. and ringers should be most careful to co-operate fully with the engineers on the job and take every advantage of the time allocated to the bells. With regard to the placing of microphones. it will be found that most of the sound engineers are very anxious to obtain the best balance possible, and in fact it is their job to do so. There are, however, many towers where it is quite impossible to do this and at the same time exclude all extrancous noise. This we have to accept.
(b) Koncerning the puldication of these broadcast details in "The Radio Times a recent investigation has shown that this can include the bells and captain of the ringers. In the West the Rev. Colin James is very keen to see that this is done, and a check on a recent omission proved the fault to be that of the printer.
(c) The proposed Library of Church Bell Ringing, which the B.B.C. is anxious to build up, should give us a splendid opportunity to give of our best in a wide field and on the finest rings in the country. Although the severe weather has delayed work on this scheme, we hope that by the time the Council meets further progress will have been made.
(d) Although the committee started from scratch only nine years ago, we feel that each year has seen at least some improvement in building up our standing with the broadcasting authorities, and has culminated in a year of very real progress in which we have en'oyed unprecedented co-operation. One of the problems not generally realised is that of changing personnel in executive positions. Just when you may think that you have someone well informed and becoming amenable you find a change has been made in that department and you have to start all over again. During the past year three changes were made with regard to the executive responsible for the Christmas broadcast.
We look forward to continued progress in the presentation of our art to both listeners and viewers alike, and we hope to the satiesfaction of the ringing fraternity.
H. J. SANGER (Convener), Rockyville. Evercreech. Shepton Mallet, Somerset.
D. A. BAYLES, J. T. DUNWOODY. G. E. FEARN, H. N. PITSTOW, A. G. G. THURLOW. R. S. WILSON.

Mr. H. J. Sanger moved the adoption of the report and Mr. J. T. Dunwoody seconded.
Mr. A. D. Barker asked if the committee had done anything about the alteration of the Bow Bells signal. There were few of them left who knew the people who made that record and of the tremendous difficulties they had in making it.
Mr. Sanger replied that last year they protested at the way the record had been used and at the same time they were told by the B.B.C. that they were going to discontinue Bow Bells.

Mr. E. A. Barnetl: The greatest calamity was last Sunday. when instead of Evercreech there were traffic reports from all over the country. The report was adopted.
On the proposition of Mr. F. E. Dukes, seconded by Mr. Lock. the following were elected to the committee: Messrs. H. J. Sanger, D. A. Bayles, G. E. Fearn, J. T. Dunwoody. H. W. Pitstow. Canon Thurlow and Mr. R. S. Wilson.

PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE

The compilation of the second book of compositions for Major methods is continuing. though not as speedily as anticipated.

The committee would be grateful io receive examples of modern, original compositions in the popuiar methods. providing they can be considered to be of some merit. Such contributions should be sent direct to the Convener.
> W. E. CRITCHLEY (Convener), 38, Castle Hills Road, Scawthorpe, Doncaster. G. E. FEIRN. A. J. PITMAN, R. F. B..SPEED.

The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. E. Critchley, seconded by Mr. G. E. Feirn. The committee were re-elected on the proposition of Mr. Dunwoody.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING & EDUCATION COMMITTEE

It was generally agreed at the last Central Council meeting that the best results in securing co-operation of theological colleges regarding church bells and bellringing could be obtained by means of personal contact.

It has been our aim during 1962 to extend the number of personal contacts made by approaching appropriate officials of Guilds in which the various colleges are situated, to assist on the following lines:-
(1) To secure agreement of the Principal for a periodical lecture on church bells and bellringing, say once a year. Once established this privilege should not be allowed to lapse.
(2) To enable the theological students 10 follow up the lecture by a visit to a suitable local tower to see the bells, fittings, etc., and see the ringers in action.
(3) To arrange training facilities, if requested. for any theological students wishing to take up bellringing.
(4) To encourage the authorities at each college to include in the library suitable books about church bells and bellringing. Accordingly, during 1962, some responsible person was asked to lake action in the case of some 24 theological colleges.

The original letter to these responsible people included copies of the leafizt recently circulated by the Central Council about Sunday service ringing, for use when introducing themsalves to colleges. and the promise of a bound set of Central Council publications as a gift to college libraries in appropriate cases. It was also requested that those who took on responsibility for making contact with theological colieges should keep this committee informed of progress made so that continuity could be maintained in future years.
The information falls into three categories:-
(1) Satisfactory contacts made, lectures given and books presented.
(2) Contacts made and hopes of givine talks, etc.. but no further progress reported yet.
(3) No reply, or acknowledgment only. No progress repotted.
There now follows a summary of the position to date regarding the various colleges.
Queen's. Birmingham.-Approached by Dr. D. N. Layton with a view to talks.

Clifton. Bristol.-Mr. P. Gray gave a talk in 1959 but has been unable to ohtain agreement for further talks despite persistent efforts St. Augustine's, Canterbury.-Mr. F. B. Lufkin gave a talk in 1961. Future talks in hands of Kent County Association.

Bishop's College, Cheshunt.-Mr. F. B. Lufkin has established contact. Correspondence to be passed to new Principal. Present Principal says ringing aspects and progress in hands of Divid Hoare (student ringer).
Chichester.-Mr. R. G. Blackman has had a half-hour talk with Principal, who accepted C.C. books for library but has not yet agreed to lecture to students. Mr. Leslie Walker to continue Mr. Blackman's efforts to establish talks.

Cranmer Hall, Durham.-Mr. D. A. Bayles gave talk here in September, 1962.
St. Chad's, Durham.-Mr. D. A. Bayles Principal is accepting C.C. books for library and an effort is being made to arrange a talk.
Kelham, Nots.-Mr. N. Chaddock gave lecture and took team of handbell ringers in January, 1963.

Lincoln.-Mr. J. Freeman is proceeding with arrangements for talks. Students often visit Cathedral belfry.

St. Michael's, Llandaff.-Mr. J. Prior has sent copy of C.C. books and has arrangements for lecture in hand.
London College of Divinity and Oak Hill College. - Mr. H. W. Rogers promised necessary action after consultation with Middlesex Association Mirfield.-Mr. W. F. Moreton is making arrangements for talk.
Ripon Hall, Wycliffe Hall and Cuddesdon have for. some time been well covered by the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

Divinity students at Trinity College, Dublin. -Mr. F. E. Dukes has given a lecture and presented books.
Salisbury.-Ringing flourishing here.
St. Aidan's. Birkenhead: Westcott House. Cambridge: Ridley Hall. Cambridge: Ely, Lichfield. Wells, Lampeter.-Replies have not yet been received from people approached during November. 1962.
Progress is delayed by the fact that time allotted at theological colleges for occasional lectures outside the curriculum is very limited and booked up well in advance. Even when the Principal is favourably disposed a lecture may not be possible in the current term or year.
If any Guild official. Council member or other responsible person is in a position to help. other than those mentioned in the report, it would be appreciated if such person would approach either the Convener of Mr. Lufkin.

That this activity is worthwhile is demonstrated by the following extract from a letter of thanks received from one theological college:-

The reaction of those who were present at your talk seems to be very favourable, and everyone I have spoken to who has had no previous knowledge of bellringing has expressed surprise and interest at the intricacies of the art and subject. I should not be at all surprised if there are one or two people now who will seriously think about taking up the art when they leave here. At the very least I am quite sure that the talk has paved the way for much happier relations between ar least 50 ringing teams and future vicars!
This section of the report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. Chaddock, seconded by Mr. Lufkin.
COURSES AND MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS
In 1962 two courses in which members of this committee assisted were again very successful: one at Knuston Hall, Northants, and one at Grantley Hall. Yorks (the fourth in successioni). A new course has been arranged at Hereford Training College in April. with an additional advanced course in composition and conducting to run concurrentiy at Hereford.

The Grantley Hall Course this year will be held at the end of October, when it is half-term in many Yorkshire schools.

Advice and information about courses in bellringing was supplied to the lrish Association in response to their enquiry.

During the year enquiries received by the Convener included requests for: (1) Guidance on giving talks on bellringing: (2) Guidance re a striking competition: (3) Belfry prayers: (4) Sale or loan of instructional filni-s!rip (several enquiries).
N. CHADDOCK (Convener), 17. Herringthorpe Grove, Brook. Rotherham. Yorks. W. F. MORETON, F. B. LUFKIN.

Proposing the adoption. Mr. Chaddock said he would like to emphasise Mr. Sharpes remarks as to the importance of these courses. He had a list of ten Associations who were running courses. Canon Thurlow and Dr. Layton were unable to continue. He proposed that the name of Mr. Sharpe be added to the committee.

Mr. W. F. Moreton seconded the adoption.
In answer to a question as to the number of people attending courses, Mr. Chaddock said generally about 30 at each course. He imagined about 500 people had attended courses during the past 12 months.

On the proposition of Mr. W. Ayre, Miss Cross was also added to the committee. Messis. N. Chaddock, F. B. Lufkin and W. F. Moreton were re-elected.

PEAL RINGING REVIEW OF 1962

GRAND TOTAL OF 2.817 SWELLED BY HANDBELL PEALS.-LEICESTER LEADING GUILD. FOL. LOWED BY OXFORD AND KENT.

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE
For the year 1962 there is an increase of 7 over the total for 1961, but this is mainly due to an influx of handbell peals. The grand total accepted and included is 2,817 , with 2,627 on tower bells and 190 on handbells-the former down by 26 but the latter increasing by 33 .
A peal ${ }^{*}$ of Little Bob Minor is excluded as the method does not produce a 720. Two peals rung in July and October for the Worcestershire & Districts Association and published in the March 8th issue of 'The Ringing World have not been included.
First pealers numbered 588, with 96 first as conductor-a very healthy sign and something to be encouraged.

|  |  | Tower | Hand | Total |
| :--- | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Leicester D.G. | . | 157 | 48 | 205 |
| Oxford D.G. | $\ldots$ | 178 |  | 178 |
| Kent C.A. | $\ldots$ | 165 | 5 | 170 |
| Chester D.G. | $\cdots$ | 145 | 10 | 155 |
| Lancashire A. | . | 139 | 1 | 140 |
| Yorkshire A. | . | 117 | 20 | 137 |
| Lincoln D.G. | . | 128 | 7 | 135 |

These seven totals constitute $39.75 \%$ of the whole.

For what it is worth, the following might be of interest: 2 Associations or Guilds rang no peals: 4 rang 1 peal: 13 between 2 and 10 : 6 between 11 and $20 ; 2$ between 21 and 30 ; 3 between 31 and $40: 8$ between 41 and 50 ; 6 between 51 and 60:5 between 61 and 70 ; 1 between 71 and $80 ; 1$ between 81 and 90
2 between 91 and 100 .
The analysis breaks down as shown below:-

|  | Tower |  |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | 1962 | 1961 | + or - |
| Maximus | 55 | 47 | 8 |

W. AYRE (Convener), The Old School House. Leverstock Green, Hemel Hempstead. Herts.

K. W. H. FELSTEAD. H. L. ROPER

Moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Ayre said he wondered if they could get the old form of tables printed in "The Ringing World.

The report was seconded by Canon Felstead Mr. Smallwood said the printing of the tables was an exceedingly costly thing. As a committee they did not feel disposed to spend the money, which was hard to come by. They could get the same information from the written report

Mr. D. Bayles asked if they intended to include the two peals of the Worcestershire and Districts Association.
Mr. Ayre: No, they are excluded. They were not in in time.
The hon. secretary: The Council's decision is - The Council do not consider that the Peals Analysis Committee can be held responsible for the non-inctusion in the previous year's analysis of any pals rung in the previous year not appearing in print before the end of February.

The report was adopted, and Mr. W. Ayre, Canon Felstead and Mr. H. L. Roper re-elected

FOSTERING LINKS WITH OVERSEAS RINGERS

NEW COMMITTEE APPOINTED FOLLOWING Mr. G. W. PIPE's REVIEW OF POSITION.-HOPES OF INCREASED INTEREST IN U.S.A. FOLLOWING RING OF BELLS AT WASHINGTON

This year I have the pleasure of presenting to the Council a report on ringing activities overseas. It is something new amongst the various reports by the sub-committees, but it was felt that since the art is being practised in probably more overseas centres today than at any time, and in some places at very high standard, ringers 'at home' would be more than just interested in what the fraternity is doing in these centres.

I have received details from over 30 towers in seven different countries where change-ringing is taking place. There are also one or two other centres which I haven't been able to contact but where ringing is known to go on.

Africa.-The amazing thing about these vast territories is that isolated bands, with sometimes more than 1,000 miles between, manage to keep going. But they do! Salisbury ( $10,24 \frac{3}{c w t}$ ), in Rhodesia, has a membership of about 20, and besides Doubles and Minor in the tower handbells are often rung to Major, and occasionally Caters and Royal. Their first peal, Grandsire Doubles, was rung last year for the consecration anniversary, together with two or three quarters. It is also rumoured that a light six may be installed at Que Que, 100 miles away. With the handbell societies at Marandellas and Umvukwes, under Peter Raynor and Val Grossmith, things here are quite flourishing.

The two Durban towers in Natal are kept going by Cyril Chambers: but again, through distance and lack of members, it is a struggle. Six-bell methods are rung from time to time, and two quarters were attempled in 1962.

Woodstock, in Cape Province, is well known to us through 'The Ringing World,' and we remember Vic Sheppard's work here. This tower has quite a repertoire, and no doubt occasional visits from people passing through Cape Town give the welcome boost from time to time. The ring at Grahamstown is reputed unringable, but Kimberley in Cape Province may be getting an installation in the future.

Canada. - With my wife I had the pleasure of passing through Canada only two months ago, so I am able to report with authority! Starting in the West. we find three very progressive towers in British Columbia, all fine rings of bells and with the ringing blended with the traditional Canadian hospitality.
At the Benedictine Monastery in the Mission City (Westminster Abbey, B.C.) with a ring of ten ( 21 cwt ) the fathers are capable of ringing Grandsire and Stedman Caters under Fr. Dunstan. Vancouver. set in what must be one of the loveliest locations for a city in the world. has an octave in the R.C. Cathedral, and under Ted Lee, a Notts man. Sunday service and practice nights yield Plain and Grandsire Triples.

Long before one visits Victoria Cathedral on Vancouver Island. one has heard about its fine eight and the lzard family who ring them. The octave there ( $29 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in D flat) are often heard to Kent and Plain Bob Major and Stedman Triples. Two quarters were scored in 1962.

Five hundred miles away, in Calgary, Alberta, Judy Midgley maintains an eight. with ten or so members to ring them. Ringing up to Grandsire Triples is heard here. Unfortunately the valuable bell metal in both Quebec and Montreal is unringable: but who knows-with some keen immigrant we may yet see change-ringing back East.
U.S.A.-No details are to hand.

New Zealand.-The two active bands in this far-off country both have very fine rings and by all accounts make optimum use of them. Hamil$\operatorname{son}\left(8,20 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cWt}\right.$. in E ) in the North Island rings mostly a variety of 6 -bell methods, but given a visitor or two (or preferably settlers!) Triples and Major are soon heard. Athol Caldwell and David McAdam carry on the good work, which in the early '50's saw the assistance of A. J. (Bert) Lancefield and others.

In the South Island the very noble ten ( 32 cwt . in D) of Christchurch makes this a 'must ' for collectors of fine rings! Several well-known ringers have been and still are linked with this lower, and ever-active secretary Nelson Sloan, with Ray Idle, from Kettering. Northants, as conductor, sees to it that a high standard with variety of methods is maintained. A quarter and a 6-bell peal were scored last year, and it won't be too long I'm sure before the first 10 -bell peal is recorded at Christchurch. These ringers also occasionally ring on the light five ( 6 cwt ) at Papanui just outside. These bells were an insurance replacement, the original ring being lost at sea off the Cape of Good Hope in the last century.

Australia.-Last but not least, to what is the largest ringing centre outside Britain. Through the revitalised Australian journal 'Ringing Towers,' and I trust a fairly good coverage of activities published in "The Ringing World over the last few years, I believe that members will have a clear picture of the activity there. I will, therefore, just briefly go from state to state and highlight main points of 1962-63 to conclude this report.

In Perth (W.A.) the bells are ringing again after many years' silence, and with the assistance of A. J. Lancefield the band has been built up from scratch to its first peal in virtuaily its first year, in addition to many quarters in a variety of methods. Considering this tower is over 1,600 miles from its next Society, great credit is due to the team.

Adelaide (S.A.) continues to flourish, and this year the Cathedral band rang the first peal on the very fine eight ( $41 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. in C). A high standard prevails at this tower under Bill Pitcher and Enid Lloyd Roberts, and with the addition of the Wilfred Robinsons, Major is now rung. together with a variety of 6 - and 7-bell methods and handbells. The 6-bell tower. Walkerville, is also very lively, with a goodly number of young members.
In Victoria the two centres are Melbourne and Ballaarat-two towers in each. Bendigo, the third centre in this state, has its bells temporarily out of action. Five peals or so were rung last year, including Bob Royal on the back ten at Melbourne Cathedral and the first of Surprize Major outside Britain-also at the same tower. There were quarkers at St. Patrick's R.C. Cathedral under Ivan Page, and some useful elementary teaching has been done at Ballaarat. and Bendigo.
The two Hobart octaves are rung whenever possible-this being the only centre on the Island state of Tasmania. Sidney Smith, at Suffolk man, is the "old faithful' here, and due to his patience several young ringers learnt the art in Hobart.
New South Wales has the most rings of bells of any Australian state, all those ringable being manned for Sunday services. Under lan Goodyear`s conductorship a great variety of metheds -tower and hand-are recorded. and severa quarters and peals were scored last year. The Sydneysiders also occasionally journey up 10 Muryborough. the only Queensland tower. 900 miles north
All in all. Australia had probably the mos! successful year of its ringing history. The Australian and New Zealand Association was formed after several years deliberation: there was a great amount of interstate travelling beiween towers, several meetings and the best part of a dozen peals and a hundred quarters. Membership is high (though no cause for complacency as our brethren out there well know!), the Journal under W. B. Pitcher's editorship has set oft to a very high and successful standard and all in all a spirit of advancement prevails. Some of the unringable and badly-going rings are receiving the attention of the bellfounder, and if this attitude and interest continues the projected tour in 1964 from Britain will provide even further stimulus.

In conclusion may I wish, on behalf of the Central Council, good luck and good ringing to all our overseas brethren for 1963-64.

GEORGE W. PIPE (hon. member).
Presenting the report, Mr. G. W. Pipe said Australia was looking forward to Great Adventure II, and they hoped it would take place in 1964. By then Melbourne Cathedral bells would be back, retuned. He had obtained permission for 30 peal attempts. All details had been looked into and there was a great welcome awaiting the visitors.

Mr. John Mayne said in regard to Groton School. Massachusetts, the Council would be aware that Mr. Russell Young was a freguent visitor to this country and had twice brought parties of boys from the school. The bells had been rehung and augmented to ten and go well. The boys had now rung a quarter of Stedman Doubles. There was also a considerable amount of ringing at Kent School, Connecticut.

Mr. H. W. Rogers: May I say how pleased we are to see this report on the agenda. I hope Mr. Pipe will be requested to carry on the good work.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood: Mr. Stan Mason is here and he has recently rung at Groton.

Mr. S. Mason said he was at Groton in April. The boys rang Stedman Doubles and can do a plain hunt on ten. He thought if they could keep together they would be a very fine band but Mr. Russell Young has the problem of recruiting new boys each year
Mr. Geoffrey Dodds asked as to the prospects of ringing to changes the new ring at Washington.
Mr. F. Sharpe: That will be under discussion in the next formight, and 1 will let you know what happens.
Mr. V. Sheppard, in a report on African bells. said Kilifi bells were now rung; at Woodstock. Cape Town. they had an accident recently to one of the bells. There were prospects of bells at Kimberley and Cape Town.
The Rev. John Scott said last year they had a visit from a clergyman from. West Virginia, and he was tremendously interested in ringing. If the bells are hung for ringing in Washington Cathedral and are rung there would be an interest that would sweep right through the States.
Mr. P. A. Corby suggested that they should send a letter to Australia congratulating them on completing 100 peals.
The President: The secretary will do that
Mr. John Mayne said a lady from Middlesex had gone to Salisbury Cathedral, Rhodesia. where a peal of Doubles was rung last year.
Miss M. Cross said they had one of the Salisbury band in Oxford. At Salisbury he travelled 60 miles each week to attend a practice.
Mr. F. 1. Hairs proposed the election of an Overseas Committee, consisting of Mr. G. W Pipe and Mr. V. Sheppard.
Seconding. Mr. F. E. Dukes asked if any member had information it should be sent to Mr. Pipe.

This resolution was carried.

THE NEXT MEETING

The hon. secretary announced that three invitations had been received for the meeting in 1964. They had been invited to Truro by the Truro Diocesan Guild, to Northampton by the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and to any place in the Coventry diocese by the Coventry Diocesan Guild. The Council had not been so far west as Truro: they visited Northampton in 1920 and Warwick in 1934

Speeches supporting the invitation were given by Mr. D. Burneit (Truro). Mr. E. Billings (Northampton) and Mr. F. W. Perrens (Coventry), who said that if the Council accepted the invitation the meeting would be in such a centre as Leamington.

The voting was Truro 80, Coventry 66. Northampton 12 .
In answer to a question, Mr. Barnett said there was reasonable accommodation at Truro: there were three or four hotels each with accommodation for 150 people.
Miss Boyle hoped that Coventry and Northampton would be accepted another year as she would like to visit both centres.

Mrs. Staniforth: Next year we might come forward with the idea of two meetings!

VOTE OF THANKS

The President said the Council desired to offer their warmest thanks to those who had helped them. They would like to thank the Lord Bishop of Norwich for celebrating at Holy Communion, the Mayor (Ccir. J. T. Winter) for his welcome, and also the Archdeacon of Norwich for his welcome.

In thanking Mr. Nolan Golden, the president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, Canon Thurlow said they would like to thank all those who had worked so hard to make the meeting a success. With Mr. Golden there were the general secretary (Mr. Barrett), the Ringing Master (Mr. Goodman) and Messrs. Arthur Wigmore and Peter Newstead. They also thanked Mr. G. W. Fletcher for his help in obtsining the Garibaldi for headquarters.

Mr. P. A. Corby proposed a most sincere vote of thanks to Canon Thurlow for his welcome and for conducting a most successful meeting. They all looked forward with confidence to his years of office. [Applause.]

Canon Thurlow: In saying thank you, I would say this is one of the highlights of my ministry in Yarmouth. This is a day I shall not forget.

The meeting was followed by a civic reception, during which the members of the Council and their ladies were entertained to tea by the Mayor and Mayoress.
Their Worships were thanked by the President, and the Mayor in reply said they were proud in having as a resident of Yarmouth one who was secretary of their Council from 1932 to 1952 (Mr. G. W. Fletcher). He hoped the conference had been successful and members would enjoy their stay in Yarmouth.
In the evening a social was held at the Garibaldi. An impromptu entertainment was arranged with songs and recitations by Canon Kenneth Felstead and the Rev. John Scott. who composed a song on the forthcoming Australian tour, sung to the tune or the sea shanty, "The Spanish Lady." Mr. Frederick Sharpe also sang a Gloucestershire folk song.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

When the West Lindsey Branch met at Corringham, near Gainsborough, on May 18th, it was noticeable that a large percentage of younger members were present. This was a very heartening sight after the lean attendances of recent meetings.
The six at Corringham are not the easiest bells to ring, but various methods were sung with varying degrees of skill. the afternoon finishing with a service touch prior to the service being conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Martin Cordes, who gave a thoughtful address.
Some fifty people sait down to a tea provided by the wives and friends of local ringers.

The business meeting followed, and ringing was resumed, some members taking the opportunity to visit the tower of nearby Springthorpe Church. where the 3rd is heavier than the renor. The bells were finally lowered by 9 o'clock.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

The 'Society's summer meeting was held on May 11th at Newchurch, near Burton-onTrent. The ring of five bells (consisting of bells Nos. 1. 2, 3, 4 and 6 of a ring of six, with a 14 cwt . tenor in G ) were kept going until service time. This was conducted by the Vicar. who wedcomed the Society to Newborough and Newchurch. Tea followed in the old schoolrooms, at which the local ladies gave us tasty "extras " and a lot of help. The secretary announced that the next meeting would be the annual at Lichfield on June 22nd. and that the Lichfield Diocesan festival would take place at Newcastle-under-Lyme on September 7th.

During the evening the rings of five bells a! Newborough. Newchurch and Rangemore were much used.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The bells of St. Mary's. Portsea, will be heard on the West Region, prior to the service to be broadcast at 7.45 p.m on Sunday, June 23rd.
Whilst driving through Ware, Herts. on June 9th. Mr. E. J. Rowe. of Stamford Hill, heard the bells of the Parish Church. He succeeded in getting a pull and thus completed every ringable tower of four or more bells in the county. Ware had eluded him for nearly three years.
Three recent quarter peals at Gresley, Derbyshire, have been ung by an entire local band for the first time. Their conductor, Derek P. Jones, has also rung his 600th peat, in which three Gresley ringers he has trained also took part: it was a peal of Bob Minor at Marchington, Stafforởhire
The five bells of Selborne. Hampshire, were rung before the broadcast service on Sunday, May 19th, for the opening of National Nature Week, with Selborne as its centre. The ringers. Who have been service ringers here for many years, were Messrs. C. Hall, W. Coutts, D. Ham, W. Andrews (captain) and R. Crowson.

The quarter peal at Buckfast Abbey. on the eve of a Requiem for Pope John XXIII was in the nature of a 'come back' for Mr. E. M. Atkins, the conductor, as it was his first attempt since his illness. As the belis were being lowered Mr. Aubrey Bennett swung the $7 \frac{1}{5}$ ton Bourdon 'Hosanna, with very pleasing effect, as it is exactly an octave lower than the tenor Nearly 78 (June 28 th), Mr. Peter Crook rang his 5001h peal at Bolton Parish Church on June 3rd. It was here that he rang his first peal in 1905. Before ringing Mr. Crook, who conducted. entertained the band to tea. Souvenir photographs were taken of the band both inside and outside the tower after the event, and there was an adjournment to 'The Boar's Head' for refreshments and ringing yarns.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

The A.G.M. of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held on May 25th at Welling borough. Many towers were available for ringing from 12 noon until the service at All Hallows Church, Wellingborough, at 4 p.m., which was conducted by the curate, Rev H. Beaumont. The address was given by Rev W. Brown, Vicar of St. Mary's, Welling boraugh, and the lesson was read by the Master. Mr. P. I. Chapman

An excellent salad tea followed. held in St Andrew's Hall, after which the president, Canon G. F. Turner, presided at the meeting. attended by approximately 125 members and friends. He welcomed the visitors, and then, after reading the obituary list for 1962, asked members to stand in silence for a few moments in memory of late friends.

Apologies were given and the minutes read and signed as a correct record. The adoption of the printed annual report followed, and the secretary informed menibers that some peals had unfortunately been omitted. It was agreed that these should be included in the 1963 report. No nominations for officers had been received. except for the office of auditor, to which office 1 Mr . G. F. Roome was elected. The other officers were a!! re-elected, thanks being accorded to them for their services.

The committee's recommendation of grants of $\pm 40$ each to Weldon and Daventry from the Bell Restoration Fund were approved. The Master gave full details of the week-end course at Knuston Hall. Irchester. on July 5th 6th and 7th. It was agreed to visit Oakham for the summer festival on September 7th, and that the annual dinner would be held in Northampton on October 19th. The venue for the 1964 A.G.M. was fixed as St. Edmund's, Northampton, on Saturday, May 9th.
The meeting had pleasure in agraeing to the committee's proposal to invitz the Central Council to hold its 1964 or 1965 meeting at Northampton. A donation of five guineas had been to the Ernest Morris Memorial. and the meeting readily endorsed the committee's action. A motion before the meeting, to increase the annual subscription for a ringing member, was amended twice and the meeting finally agreed to the motion: that the Annual Subscription for a Ringing Member of 21 yoars and over be increased to $5 /-$ and under yoars and over be increased
21 years to remain at $2 / 6 \mathrm{~d}$
Befors the meeting was closed Mr. R. Daw proposed a vote of thanks to all those who had contributed to the success of the meeting, especially Mr. A. R. Elliott and his committee, and Mrs. Murdin and the other ladies who had prepared and served the excellent tea. The proposal was seconded by Rev. C. J. W. Faulkner and appreciation shown in the usual manner. The president then closed the meeting and members dispersed to continue their ringing activities in

OBITUARY

MR. E. H. ADAMS
It is with regret that we have had to say farewell to that grand old gentleman, Ted Adams. When he came to Warwick in 1898 from London he soon made his mark as a ringer. and shortly after his arrival he took charge of St. Mary's bells, although he came as verger and custodian. During his term of office St. Mary's had a very good band.

His passing removes another founder member of the Coventry Diocesan Guild. He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and never tired of discussing his ringing in London. In 1936 he was presented with an illuminated testimonial in appreciation of his work for the church. and in 1957 he was presented with his portrait in oils. He died on June 1 st , and the funeral took place on June 5th at St. Mary's Church. The bells were rung half-muffled before the service, and during the evening a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by a mixed band from Allesley. Leamington Spa, St. Nicholas', Warwick. and Si. Mary's. Warwick, being conducted by the present Ringing Master of Si. Mary's. J. L. G. H.

MR. R. W. CAUNT

By the death of Mr . Robert William Caunt, aged 87, on May 28th, Hose, Leicestershire. has losi the last of its veteran ringers. Failing health prevented him ringing for the last 10 years, but before that he had served the belfry and church faithfolly for over 60 years. He was a member of the Framland A.ssociation and the Leicester Diocesan Guild. When young he was a prominent local cricketer.
To his memory a quarter peal of 1.260 Doubles (Blain Bob. Canterbury and Grandsire) was rung on June 8th. with the bells halfmuffled, by A. E. Moulds 1. A. E. Hinman 2, J. H. Cook (cond.) 3, J. Butcher 4, E. Tinsley 5

MR. L. G. PALMER

Staveley Parish Church, Derbyshire, suffered a severe loss by the death on May 24th of Mr. Lewis George Paimer. aged 74.

He joined the choir as a boy. 62 years ago. and was a ringer for the past 58 years. heing Ringing Master at the time of his death and for several years before. He was an honorary dife member of the Derbyshire Association.

Mr, Palmer was the last in line of the older ringers at Staveley, and one cannot praise too highly the work he did in rebuitding the present band. Although he had been in illhealth for the past few years, he played a captain's part by helping and encouraging the young ringers. He was very interested in handbell ringing and over the years had organised a number of handbell ringing teams.

After the funeral call changes were rung on half-muffled bells.
H. P.

MR. L. V. DAVIS

His many friends will be sad to hear of the passing of Mr . Leslie Vincent Davis. who died suddenly on his way home from choir practiec at St. Christopher's Church. Brislington. on May 31st.

Leslie learnt to ring at St. Peter's, Bournemouth, where he was a member of the band fo: about seven years before he moved to the G.P.O. telophones at Dorchester. In this town he rang with the St. Peter's, Dorchester, hand, and, shortly after the war broke out was moved to the Weymouth and Portland area, where he was in charge of telephone maintenance until 1958. During this time he lived at Upwey and identified himself with the work of the church as choirmaster/bellringer.
Promotion came again in 1958, when he was moved to Bristol as a telephone inspector. Here he attended SS Phitip and Jacob's Church as chorister and bellringer. Unfortunately his health broke down and. some three years ago, he was ohliged to give up ringing. It was then that he decided to attend St. Christopher's. which was but a few hundred yards from his home in Brislington.
A wide circle of friends have tendered their condolences to his wife and two aughters in their sudden bereavement. The funeral took place at St. Christopher's on June 7th and was followed by oremation. There was a large congregation and numerous floral tributes.

SURREY ASSOCIATION CHAMPIONS

BEDDINGTON ringers added to their laurels of previous competitions and their Christmas Day broadcast, by winning the 7th annual striking competition of the Surrey Association at Ashtead on May 25th. The comment of the judge, Mr. C. H. Kippin, was: "The standard of ringing was marvellous; this is the standard of ringing that the other four teams should strive to attain. If ever it is possible to promote a national striking competition it will need to be a very good team that scores fewer faults than this Sunday service hand: The est was 224 Grandsire Triples. Other placings: 2 St. John's, Croydon; 3 Christ Church. Epsom Common, Also competing: Ashtead and St. Martin's, Epsom.

Votes of thanks were passed to Mr. J. T. Symonds for arranging the venue of the competition. the lay preacher and organist. the tea ladies, the judge and his marker (Mrs. E. M. Parrott). The judge's comments were taken down in shorthand by Miss A. Gibson and lyped out so that each competing hand could have a copy.

FIRST PEAL IN REBUILT BOMBED CHURCH

Twenty-three years ago a Nazi raider

 dropped several bombs harmlessly among the chalky downs of the Cambs-Essex border in deep countryside. Nevertheless, by a sad mischance. the last bomb struck the tower of Holy Trinity Church. in the thatched village of Heydon, destroying tower, bells and nave. A few years ago the rebuilt nave and a new brick tower were dedicated. and in July, 1962. a pretty little ring of five bells. from the Whitechapel Foundry, were installed to com pleet the restoration. The first peal on these hells was rung on May 25th, and was ap parently the first ring since their dedication last summerThe happy sound drew a number of visitors and it is hoped it may arouse interest in the formation of a docal hand of ringers. ## J. Gardner, of Tetbury

Dear Sir,-Mr. F. Sharpe may not know anything of J . Gardner, of Tetbury, and he may wonder if I got the correct inscription from the 3 rd at Cherington.
But whatever EHacombe's version is, and whatever H.T.E. says (whatever H.T.E. is) I can assure thim that the inscription on the waist of the 3rd was: Recast by J. Gardner, of Tetbury. 1870.

I only have to add to that, that two other Putney ringers, Alan M:llidge and John Gaze. were with me at the time I got the inscriptions from the bells, and they too saw the inscription with their c.wn eyes.-Yours sincerely.

Central Council and New Blood

Dear Sir, Looking through the lists of Guild and Association officers and Central Council representatives in the last few years' diaries, I notice that, virtually, the same people hold office year after year. Thus these organisations are in grave danger of getting into a rut (or are already in one).

This lack of change may be caused by the following reasons:
(1) The brilliancy of the present officers (?),
(2) The apathetic attitude of the Guild members,
(3) The practice of 'I'H vote for you if you'll vote for me. mate.

These point could almost tos eradicated by the Guilds and Associations adopting the rule: - That an officer must retire, for at least one year, after holding office for three consecutive years.'
1 would like to know what other ringers feel about this matter, either through - The Ringing World, or privately, especially those in the Lincoln Guild.-Yours faithfully.

A.N.Z.A.B. COUNCIL MEETING IN ADELAIDE

THE second annual Council meeting of the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellringers was held on June 8th, at St. Andrew's Parish Hall, Walkerville, South Australia, after a dinner, at which 42 ringers were present. Eleven Australian towers were represented from Sydney. Melbourne. Ballaarat, Bendigo. Hobart and Adelaide. It was calculated that by the time the 30 visitors had returned home they would have covered 40.630 miles between them.

Mr. Tom Goodyer was elected president for the ensuing term and Mr. Graeme Heyes is the new secretary. Mr. Ken Minchinton retains his post as treasurer and Mr. Bill Pitcher is continuing with the editorship of 'Ringing Towers.' It was resolved that the meeting next year would be held in Hobart.

Among matters discussed were the financial position of 'Ringing Towers,' the possibility of a ringing trip to New Zealand, the design of a badge, official note-paper, the formation of a Restoration Committee and an A.B.C. Committee.

The Council meeting was the reason for so much travelling. but it was a wonderful excuse for three days of ringing in the two towers St. Peter's Cathedral and St. Andrew's. Both were filled to capacity on all occasions (at St. Andrew's it was a matter of one band ringing and another waiting below to take their place). Ringing was very varied and ranged from rounds alid plain hunting. through Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor and Major, to Cambridge Minor. Stedman Triples and Double Norwich.

A quarter peal of Stedman was attempted at the Cathedral on the Sunday night, but without success. However. Dame Fortune smiled on the Monday morning and a peal in four Minor methods came round nicely, if rather quickly, taking only 2 hours 38 minutes. This raised the total of peals rung in Australia so far this year to 12 , only two behind the record number of 14 rung in 1954.

After the peal everyone adjourned to the National Park at Belair in the foothills about six miles from Adelaide. where a barbeque lunch was eaten to the evident enjoyment of all. This gathering of 40 was the real highlight of the meeting the getting together and talking, making new friendships, strengthening old ones and generally exchanging experiences and ideas. What is it about ringing that makes these gatherings so stimulating? The postprandial scene at National Park presented an unusual spectacle. Amongst the trees and scrub and the grass, vivid after three weeks of rain. there were three sets of handbells going. each one in a different key and all within sight and sound of each other. Those not thus engaged were lying on rugs playing chess or 'black maria.' or still standing round the three-sided barbecue grilling that extra chop or coaxing the water to boil for another cuppa.

It was a week-end of handbell quarters in odd places. On Sunday. Bill Pitcher took Monica Collins and Tom Goodyer into his bookshop and there among the piles of newly unpacked books they rang a quarter of Bob Minor. Helen Henderson, Anne Cowling and Sidney Smith were seen on Monday morning standing behind one of the Cathedral's buttresses trying for one of Doubles in defiance of the bells and the traffic noise. Something went wrong with this. but as soon as they reached the park they disappeared into the privacy of the scrub and were this time successful. It was the first quarter 'in hand' for all of them. Later in competition with the other handbells and the general coming and going, Tom. Helen and Anne rang a quarter of Bob Minor.

From start to finish, it was a week-end to remember. Roll on next year and a similar gathering in Hobart.

TO PETER N. BOND

MANY visitors to Great Yarmouth over Whitsun will have noticed in the porch of the Parish Church a prayer card for Peter Neville Bond, to be ordained priest on Trinity Sunday in Rochester Cathedral by David, Lord Bishop of Rochester.

A former Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, a former Central Council representative for that Society, at present Ringing Master of the Rochester District of the Kent Council Association. Peter Bond, who learned to ring at Brasted under the outstanding tutelage of Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, can certainly claim to be a prominent ringer. not merely because of his towering stature, but for his friendliness. enthusiasm, goodwill and enterprise in all causes related to the noble art of church bellringing.

Thus he went forward to his ordination as a priest of the Church. with a multitude of good wishes from ringing friends in all parts of the country. He was supported at the service in the Cathedral by several ringing friends. some of whom had taken part in a long touch of Grandsire Caters. there being not quite time for a quarter peal.

In the afternoon. members of the Kent County Association rang a peal of Fordcombe Surprise Major at Frindsbury. The method was appropriate as Peter lived at Fordcombe and assisted at the church there as a lay reader before commencing his special training for Holy Orders. The peal is also associated with Dennis A. Sweetman, of Chislehurst. ordained deacon to serve in the parish of Riverhead. near Sevenoaks. He is well known to Ian Oram. captain at the Annunciation. Chislehurst. and peal secretary of the Kent County Association. and Philip Corby. general secretary of the Kent County Association, is a parishioner at Riverhead. The Vicar of Frindsbury was delighted with the peal, as it reminded him happily of his ordination in 1933.

On Thursday, June 13th. the Feast of Corpus Christi. Peter Bond celebrated Holy Communion for the first time in St. Augustine's Church. Gillingham. where he now serves as curate. There was a large congregation, including several ringers, and even those at the back of the church were impressed with the dignity and clarity with which the liturgy was conducted and were no less impressed by the obvious affection in which Peter is held by the local congregation. which was very evident at the reception afterwards. when he was presented with an inscribed missal.

The kent County Association is very proud of its distinguished clerical member.

Yorkshire Takes Steps to Meet Membership Decline

THE 87th annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association took place at Howden Minster on May 4 th, attended by a large gathering representing each of the four Districts. In addition to the superb ring of eight at the Minster, ringing was also enjoyed at Selby Abbey, Snaith, Cartion, Hemingbrough and Eastrington.
Following the service in the Minster, an excellent tea was served in the Green Room when more than 100 sat down. At the business meeting the chair was taken by the president, Archdeacon C. O. Ellison, supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris), the honorary treasurer (Mr. V.
Bottomley) and the honorary peal secretary Bottomley) and the (M.r. W. E. Critchley).

After the minutes of the last meeting had been accepted as a correct record, an omnibus vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and churchwardens of Howden, and clergy of the numerous churches who had given permission fo: the use of their bells. also the respective local companies. This was proposed by Mr. E. Hudson, and seconded by Mr. D. Johnson, special reference being made to Mr. L. M. Woodhead for making tower arrangements.

The Vicar of Howden. the Rev. R. J. Graham. in a felicitous speech of welcome. reminded the assembly that whilst he did not know much about Yorkshire, he did about - Howdenshire' and when he learnt that some lime ago the Association had held a meeting at nea-by Gocle, he decided that one must be held at Howden. He was delighted that the Association had decided in favour of this, and was glad to welcome so large a gathering on th's occasion. (Applause.)

In presenting the report of the committee, the president drew attention to the fact that alhough there was a slight increase in membership. there had been a decline of about 100 members over the last eight years, which must be a matter of concern to all. Plans were in hand for a meeting between the committee and representatives of all local ringing societies operating in the county, with a view to closer collaboration for mutual benefit.

LOSSES BY DEATH

During the year about a dozen members had died, including three who had rendered faithful service to the Association: Mr. Albert E Sellers, vice-president of the Eastern District for the last ten years. joined the Association in 1907, and had served on the General Committee for 30 years : Mr. Dan Smith, vicepresident of the Southern District for 15 years: Mr. J. R. Brearley, also of the Southern District, was a former member of the General Committee. Reference was made to the death of Miss Margaret Snowdon. who was the Association's last living link with the Snowdon family.
The peal sccretary's report showed that 137 peals had been rung during the year. 117 on tower bells and 20 on handbells, and although in all 17 fewer than last year, stidt showed a healthy interest in this branch of the art. The list of peals rung by local bands had grown longer, chiefly by the efforts of the Bradford and Rotherham ringers. The former band rang four such peats in four different Surprise Royal methods. and the latter band also rang four peals. Halifax (Haley Hitl) ringers contributed a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in seven methods. The peal list also included the longest length of Surprise Royal for the Association, this being 6.480 Yorkshire Surprise Royal rung at Whitby on October 20th. composed and conducted by the general secretary, Mr. L W. G. Morris. Participating in this was Miss Patricia Lockwood. of Ossett, who is to be particularly congratulated as it was her first peal in a Surprise method.

The honorary treasurer's accounts revealed a moderately satisfactory position (investments and cash in hand f504), but the committee felt bound to point out that the Association faced a futute liability in the printing of the rules and certificates of membership, which could not be much longer delayed. Following discussion, the report was unanimously adopted on the motion of Mr. I. Slack, seconded by Mr. N. Chaddock.
The general secretary announced that the committee were unanimous in recommending the re-election of Archdeacon Elison as their president, and he had great pleasure in moving this. Mr. W. Barton seconded and on being pui to the vote by the secretary, Archdeacon Ellison was unanimously elected with acclamation. In acknowledgment, the president thanked the members for their renewed confidence, assuring them he would do his best at all times, and he valued very much their loyalty and support.
In accordance with the new rule, the hon peal secretary is now elected triennially, coinciding with the presidential election, and on the motion of the general secretary, seconded by Mr. F. J. Jackson, Mr. W. E. seconded by Mr. F. J. Jackson, Mr. W. E. this capacity for the next three years
It was unanimously decided to accept an invitation from Rotherham to hold the next meeting there on September 21st, on the motion of Mr. I. Slack, seconded by Mr. Barton.
The president reported that arrangements were in hand to hold the Snowdon Dinner in Leeds. and after explaining that his inquirtes at the Griffin Hotel had resulted negatively, he had been able to obtain suitable accommodation at the Guildford Hotel for the dinner to be held on October 12th-a week earlier than the previously suggested date. It was unanimously agreed to accept this without a forman motion.
On the motion of Mr . D. Thorpe, seconded by Mr. I. Goldthorpe, the following new members were elected: Mrs. V. Skellearn, R. Pygott, W. Pygott. P. E. North. M. Walton, F. Beaumont, A. C. McBarney and Graham Smith.

100 PER CENT OENTRAL COUNCIL MEMBER

Mr. W.Barton, vice-president of the Western District, who took the chair at the last general meeting. in the unavoidable absence of the president, said that he very much regretted he did not, on that occasion, refer to the yeoman services rendered to the Association by the general secretary, Mr. L. W. G Morris, who had been one of the Association's representatives on the Central Council since 1939. This was purely due to an oversight, and he had very great pleasure in now moving that their best thanks be accorded to Mr. Morris, who, incidentadly, had attended every meeting of the Council since that time. This was seconded by the president, who also paid tribute, and the motion was carried with applause. In acknowledgment, the secretary thanked the speakers for their most kind references, adding that it had been a pleasure to himself to have served the Association in that capacity. The Association now had distingushed team, and he hoped they would be accorded the same faithful and loyal support as had been meted to himself over so many years. This was greeted with acclamiation. Mr. N. Chaddock announced that a weekend course in behringing had been arranged at Grantley Hall. near Ripon, on the week-end of October 27 th, and advised those wishing to attend to make early application. This concluded the business, and further ringing was enjoyed at the various avaitable towers.

ORDINANDS' LECTURE

A lecture was recently given by Mr. Wilfred Wilson to members of the Southwark ordination course during their summer school at Wychcroft, Bletchingley. Surrey. The talk was divided into two parts, the first being on the history of church bells in general, and secondly, on the art and science of change ringing.

At the conclusion of the session. Mr. Wilson. 0.1 behalf of the Central Council. presented to the principal. Canon Sianley Evans, a hound copy of the Council's handbook and other pubtications.

The meeting was arranged by one of the ordinands. Mr. J. Tomsett, a member of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Promising Outlook
TMHE 78th A.GiM. of the Sussex County Association was held in the Church Hal of the Good Shepherd, Brighton, on May 11 th.

The chairman welcomed the Vicar, and also the Rev. Peter Hunter from Danchill, and Mr. Harman and Mr. & Mrs. Oatway from Surrey and members of the East Grinstead and District Guild. He also thanked those who had prepared the tea.

The meeting stood in silence as a token of respect for the following members who had died during the year: John Gasson (Bolney), Bill Hart (St. Peter's. Brighton).

The treasurer (iMr. R. G. Blackman) reported a fairly good year, but expenses were still nising. printing the report, etc, and grants to some towers had been deferred to 1963.
Peals rung during the year were 65 , the highest since 1956.

The general secretary (Mr, R W, R. Percy) reported an increase in membership: this had now reached 943 ( 615 males. 328 females). We now had a wery large number of young ringers and he hoped these would lay a firm foundition for future years.
The officers for 1963 were all elected, the only change being that of treasurer. Mr. R. G. Blackman, who had held this position for many years, also Central Council member, had to give up these offices owing to ill-health. Mr. T. A. Hunnisett, of Eastbourne, was elected as treasurer.

DEDICATIONS

FARNBOROUGH, WARWICK

The Bishop of Coventry, the Rt. Rev. Cuthbert Bardsley, dediceed a new treble bell and blessed the restored bells and belfry at St. Botolph's "Parish Church. Farnborough, on May 12 th, at morning service.

The new bell and restoration work was a gitt to the church from Dr. C. H. Budge. in memory of his late wife. who is buried in the churchyard. She died in June, 1960.

A large congregation, including the donor and personal friends, were present, the service being conducted by the Vicar, Canon H. A. Hayden. The new treble was rung by the donor during the service of dedication. It was then raised and was rung in rounds by members of the local band of ringers, who also opened the ringing at the conclusion of the service.
The Bishop, in his address, said. "The donor has cbviously known a lot about love, because love and generosity go hand in hand. When he loves much he gives muich. He knows only the best will do. He has given this lavish. loving and lasting gift to the church in memory of his wife. who is now parted irom him for a time. His love was so great that tee gave.

Dr. Budge's gift has given the parish a very mus:cal six in plaze of the old five. which were very badly in need of rehanging, and also out of tune. Incidentally, this is the second five to be made into six in the Coventry Diocese, as on March 24ih the rehung five at Stoneleigh were augmented to six by Taylors, of Loughborough. The rehanging and new treble work at Farnborough was carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and in each case a very good splice has been made.
J. L. G.-H.

BROADWELL, GLOUCESTERSHIRE

In the presence of a large congregation the rciuned ring of five bells, which have been rehung in modern fittings at St. Paul's Church. Broadwell. Moreton-in-Marsh, were rededicated on June 16th. The Rector (the Rev. D. V. Kennedy). who conducted the service. spoke of the assistance of Mr. Jack Wehb, of Ross-on-Wye, in getring a grant of $£ 200$ from a bell fund towards the restoration. The work was done by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

Mr. Webb is a member of an old Broadwell family, and it was on these bells that he learned to ring, 50 years ago. After the rededication by the Rev. Hugh Potts, of Glouceste: (former Rector of Stow-on-the-Wold). Mr. Webb led the ringers to the tower to conduct a touch of Grandsire Doubles. Other ringers taking part were Messrs. L. Dowdeswell (Stow), L. Joynes (Loughborough). G. Harpar and J. Hickox (Moreton-in-Marsh). Visiting ringers came from Cheltenham and Hillingdon and took part in touches of Grandsire and Bcb Minimus.

The treble bell unfortunately does not bear any date when cast. The second was cast in 1908 by Bond's, of Burford, and the third in 1884 by the same firm. The fourth was cast in 1734. and was recas! by Bond's in 1908. The tenor bell. the weight of which is approx:mately 8 cwt., was cast in 1761 .

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

On June 8 th, the Guild met in glonious sunshine at the picturesque churzh of Bradshaw to ring the five bells. A most enjoyable day was had, with a short service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. D. Lewis), and ici. provided by the wife of the Ringing Master (Mr. E. Lord). Many Doubles methods were rung. and we felt that some useful work had been done amongst the Sunday service band.
Next meeting: probably Longwood in July

RINGS OF TEN FOR OVERSEAS

URING the course of ten months, the Whitechapel Foundry will have sent three rings of bells overseas.
The first is a ring of 10 (tenor $18 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{\mathrm{c}}$. in. F) to Groton School. Massachusetts, complete with rew fittings and framework. These were installed last autumn and replace the old eight (tenor $22 \frac{1}{\frac{1}{4}} \mathrm{cwt}$.) sent out from Whitechapel in 1900 .

The second is a ring of 10 (tenor 32 cwt . in D). which arrived in Baltimore on Monday, June 10 th, for installation in the Gloria in Exselsis " tower in Washington Cathedral. These will be hung in a circular bell frame s milar in design to that at Liverpool Cathedral, but fabricated in steel. The illustration shows the bells erected in their frame at the Foundry. The belfry. which is approximately 40 ft .
square, provides adequate space for hanging the bells in this ideal way.

The third ring is yet another 10 (tenor $25^{\circ}$ cwt. in $E$ flat), shortly being sent to $\bar{S}$ t. George's Cathedral. Cape Town. They will replace the eight (tenor $16 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) which were sent out from Whitechapel in 1830 . A new free standing towar of imposing design is being built to house them. It is decagonal (ten sided) in plan, but the bell frame is a conventional one. fabricated in steel. The bells and installation are almost identical to those sent 2 ut to Salisbury Cathedral, Rhodesia, in 1957 . These raise to six the number of modern rings of 10 exported from this Foundry so it would seem that 10 is becoming a popular compass with our everseas friends.

RINGING CAREER STARTED ON CRICKET FIELD

The peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major rung at St. John's, Darlington, on June 4th, was an 80th birthday compliment to Mr. Ernest Burnett. captain at St. John's and a ringer for more than 60 years.
Mr. Burnett's ringing career began on the cricker field He was one of a team playing at Sharow, Ripon, one afternoon, when the Vicar came on to the field, announced that singers were needed and asked the young mən to yolunteer. He was one who came forward and this began a lifetime's ringing. which has taken him into 300 towers. He rang at Sharow, and later at West Hartlepool and Kirk'by Stephen in Westmorland. Since he retired from the railway he has lived in Darlington, and, at St. John's, has taught a good many youngsters.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Mansfield District

Although coinciding with the other contest at Wembley, the Mansfield District meeting. which included the eliminating contest for the Crawford Cup. was well supported. Afternoon's ringing was at Greasley, and at 5 p.m the majority of those present went to Hucknabl for tea. where they were welcomed by the Rev. D. H. Williams (Vicar), a short business meeing. at which the Misses F. Hanlon and L W:ikinson and Mr. F. Marscombe (Hucknall) were elected members, and the contest, judged by Messrs. J. D. Charke and F. A. Setter. Their task was not made easier by opposition from the Salvation Army band.
The placings were: Warsop (Norwich Surprise) 38 faults. Kirkby-in-Ashfield (Plain Bob Doubles) 97, Greasley (Grandsire) 129.
Next meeting: Selsten, July 27.

Erin Triples at Wednesbury

Dear Sir.-The front page article of The Ringing World (June 7th) by Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd recalls $t 0$ mind the first peal of Erin Triples for the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. This was rung on February 3rd. 1912, at the Church of St. Paul, Wood Green, Wednesbury, and was the first peal in the method by all the band. which consisted of Edgar T. Smith. Edwin J. Tyiler, Thomas Hill, George Peater, Bert Horton, Christopher Wallater, Alfred J. Wallater (conductor) and Howard W. Cattell. The composition was Parker's Five Part.

Three in One

Dear Sir.-Your item in 'Belfry Gossip' about the entertainment at Great Yarmouth leaves us wondering just how many drunken ringers there were; are you sure it was only three? You mention the Rev. John Scott and Mr. Schott and Mr. Fred Scott: but what about the contributions of Mr. Fred Sharpe, the Rev. John Sharpe and Mr. Scarpe, who in all fairness should at least be mentioned? In addition there really was David Beacham. We are. sir. unanimous in signing ourselves, -Yours sincerely,

REV. JOHN SCOTT.

P.S.-Actually Mr. Fred Sharne's song was called. The Midnight Pead.'-J.S.
Contritely we apologise.-Ed.

Bromham Outing

Dear Sir.-As my report of the Bromham outing has inspired comment from Other Hungry Passengers' (' R.W.' June 7th) I would like to point out that I merely related what. to me, seemed a highly amusing incident, and certainly meant no disrespect to anyone.
Many pzople love and highly estiem the past president of the Bedfordshire Association, and one hopes that soon 'O.H.P.' will do the same, as one feels that, when that happy time comes, 'O.H.P: will refrain from connecting her with controversy, which must the as distasteful to her as it is foreign to her innate dignizy.
Finally. I do not remember that the Bromham outing was behind schedule at any stage. nor, incidentally, do I remember meeting any: one baaring the name of Other Hungry Passengers. or answering to such a description! I. also, enjoyed the outing-here's to the next i.me!-Yours sincerelv.

A Hoax

Dear Sir.-It has now been established beyond any reasonable doubi that the nonassociation peal of Stormy Weather Surprise Minor, rung at the Church of the Holy Rood, Ossington. Nottinghamshire. on Saturday, March 16th, 1963 (Ringing Wonld Aprid Sth. 1963. page 235), was in fact a hoax, and should be removed from all records.

I very much regret that a tower belonging 10 the Guild should have been chosen for such a hoax.-Yours faithfully,
W. L. EXTON

Hon, General Secretary, Southwel! Diocesan Guild.

Culham and Cuddesdon both have Ringing Societies

Dear Sir-May I. through your correspondence column, reply to the short paragraph which appeared as Belfry Gossip in the issue of June 7 th. and was evidently inserted at the request of Cuddesdon Callege. The particular statement to which I refer concerns Culham College.
Culham College does have jts Society of Change Ringers, which is part of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and the Society is responsible for providing the regular Sunday service ringing at Appleford Church. together with occasional service ringing at Milton Church.
We at Culham know of the existence of Cuddesdon and are sorry to have to correct the impression that they have given to your readers. We shall always be happy to see ringers from Cuddesdon at our open practice on Friday evenings at Appleford, during term time which seems to attract visitors from a wide area--Yours faithfully,

JOHN A. H. BETTS,
Culham College Society C.R.

Tewkesbury Abbey Bells

I should Jike to take this opportunity of inviting ringers to ring at the Abhey on June 30th. To those who have not been to Tewkesbury before. they will find the visit well worth while, and those who have visited us previously wili, I am sure be pleased to come again. For those who wish to make a day trip of i: we shall be ringing from $10-11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for the morning service and all ringers will be wel-come-Yours sincerely

In Praise of London Surprise

Dear Sir,-It is always interesting to read in ' The Ringing World the opinions of other ringers on the musical qualities of the great variety of methods now rung, but I was shocked to learn that Mr. David C. Brookes considers London Surprise : unmusicat rubbish. Having been privileged to take part in many well-struck touches and peals of London. I must say that. to my mind, it stands. in relation to almost all other methods, as Beethoven's symphonjes do to the pop parade!Yours sincerely. ALFRED E. RUSHTON Luton. Beds.

Mr. Leale Stands Firm

Dear Sir. - Congratulations to your decadent correspondents on their reactions to my comments on the St. Neots peal. Although reeling under their wail of abuse, I withdraw none of my remarks, except to say that my suggested new title for the peal was not intended to be taken quite so seriously as it has been by Mr. Eisel
I do not need to be told that the peal falls within the Central Council regulations. Activities which come just within the letter of the law, but which are nevertheless calculated to deceive are. regrettably, a sign of our times, but I have never seen a really blatant example of them in ringing matters before the publication of this peal. One expects such tactics from barrow-boys, door-to-door salesmen and confidence tricksters in general, but their introduction into pead ringing is something new and does no credit to those invelved.
If the peal had been given a footnote such a; All of the above methods are abortions of Linccinsnire, its supporters would have had some excuse to farl back on. Even then, however, its ludicrous boast to the effect that all the bells did all the work of the eigh: methods. when the latter can only muster fifteen different lead's between them, puts it straight back into the laughing-stock category. Moreover, some of my best friends come from Amsterdam. Johannesburg, Vancouver and Zurich. and I have had a hard time plicating their indignation at the insults accorded to their home towns by naming such rotten methods after them.-Yaurs faithfully,
Surbiton, Suircy.

LETTERS-Continued The Passing Bell

Dear Sir.-In answer to Mr. I. Jones' letter in your issue of May 31 st , 1963, it was the custom for many years at Cranleigh, Surrey, to toll the 'passing bell,' and was continued right up to the baginning of the last war.
The way it was done in Cranleigh was like this: for a married man the tenor was chimed three times, then a pause. three more times. another pause, and a final three times, hence the 'Nine tellers,' or, as Dorothy Sayers called $\mathrm{i}^{\text {t }}$, the ' nine tailors.' Then the bell was raised and set at handstroke, and for an hour was pulled off every three minutes and set at back and hand alternately, thus ringing 20 separate strokes. regardless of age; then for the funeral the bell was raised. and deft for half an hour. then pulled off at three minute intervals unt:l the corpse arrived at the lych gate, then the tenor was lowered, and the 6th bell tolled until the corpse arrived at the west door of the church. For a married woman the tenor bell was used. except that instead of three times three, for the chiming part of it, it was three, pause, three, making only six tellers instead of nine; then the people in the village knew that it was a woman who had died.

For single people over 21 years of age the seventh bell was used, and for people in their teens it was the fifth, for young children the fourth, and for babies the third, with the same difference in the number of tellers for male and female.
My father was verger at Cranleigh for 40 years, and he taught me to toll the passing bell, so that was how it was I became a ringer, and also my brother, who still lives at Cranleigh.
By the way, the passing bell was never tolled after midday for anyone who passed away after 12 noon: the bell was tolled at 9 a.m. the next morning.

I suppose this was in order $t 0$ avoid clashing with funerals, which always took place in the afternoon.- Yours faithfully.

ERNEST R. WARNER

Credit to Brilliant Youngsters

Dear Sir,-May we know what Mr. R. G. Leale is getting at in his attack on the peal rung at St. Neots for the London University Society? I am not alone in this area in congratulating the members of this youthful band on ringing eight Spliced Surprise, including four entirely new me:hods. Credit is also due to the composer for arranging for every bell $t 0$ do the work of all the methods ( 56 different leads if my arithmetic is correct).

As ringer of the standard methods for many vears I shall probably never aspire to ring peals in complex new ones, much less eight at a time, but I am always happy to give credit where it is due. especially to these brilliant youngsters.-Yours sincerely.
E. JOBLING.

MARPLE'S OLD CHURCH RAZED, BUT TOWER AND BELLS REMAIN

GHOULD the wheel of fortune ever bring you within a few miles of Stockport. where the Cheshire plain gives way to the foothills of the Pennines. looking eastwards you would be sure to see the tower of All Saints? Church. Marple. The tower looks solid enough to withstand the strongest 'sea breezes' that sweep in from the west coat of Lancashire and Cheshire ; on close inspection, however, one observes that the church to which the tower is attached is in ruins. Some thirty yards away, in the same churchyard, there stands another church (without a tower) in which the services are held, and have been for the last thirty years.

The 'Old Church' was built by Samuel Oldknow, a wealthy mill owner, at the beginning of the 19 th century. His mill, in Marple. was one of the first ever to house Arkwright's water frame. using the River Goyt to provide the power. Oldknow built his church on the site of an older church, built in Tudor style. which was blown down during a gale in the previous year! Each Sunday he used to march his apprentices up the hill to attend morning service at the church.

Until a very short time ago it was safe to enter the Old Church. where ane could observe the family crests on the end of each pew, and the fireplace in the pew for the Oldknow family. It is reputed that Samuel Oldknow used to start raking the fire when he considered that the sermon had gone on for long enough! It was because of the shortage of free pews in Oldknow's church that the new church was built, and, sad to say, the Old Church was allowed to become a ruin.

STOCKIPORT'S BELLS

The bells are still housed in the Old Church as they have beeen since 1816. Originally they were hung in Stockport Parish Church (St, Mary's), but were replaced by a ring of eight in 1810. The following is a copy of the letter which brought about the transfer of the bells to Marple, dated March 28 th, 1816.

To the inhabitants of Marple and its vicinity:
The Trustees appointed by Act of Parliament for the taking down and rebuilding of the Parish Church of Stockport, having made the Township of Marple an offer of the peal of bells belonging to the former edifice, it is earnestly hoped that a subscription may be raised equal to the purchase of them. The sum required is Four Hundred Pounds. being the price Mr. Rudhall. of Gloucester, a descendant of the original founder. has offered to take them from the Trustees. Little, it is hoped, need be urged to prevail upon the inhabitants of Marple not to suffer these bells to be conveyed away from them for ever. The real excellence of their tone must be well remembered by them, and scarcely an individual is there that has not listened to them with feeling such as few would wish to experience again.
The site of the chapel is a consideration that ought to have its weight. On an eminence that commands an extensive view of the bold swelling hills of Derbyshire, as of the more fertile plans of Cheshire, no situafion could be better adapted to give full effect to their uncommonly fine tone. From this hill the sound of them will go forth far and wide, and it cannot be doubted but that the inhabitants of the other townships, when they hear them, will rejoice that their neighbours did not suffer them to be removed for ever out of the Parish, and will applaud both the spirit and the liberality of the township of Marple.

THREE PER SONALLY RESPONSIBLE

This appeat had such effect that Samued Oldknow. Nathaniet Wright and the Rev. C. K. Prescott. curate of Marple, concluded the bargain and became personally responsible for the amount. On April 29th. Mr. Oldknow sent his dray for the treble and tenor and Mr. Wright sent two carts for the remaining four.
June 30th, 1816, saw the opening of the ring. Miriam Isherwood, of Marple Hall. a descendant of Judge Bradsiawe, who tried

Charles I. was christened and the day kept as a gala day. Prizes were given and competed for by the ringers of the Gistrict. Unfortunately, there is no record of what ringing took place nor details of the bands who competed
In 1886 the bells were going badly and they were rehung by John Taylor and Co.. Loughborough. on the then modern principle, and again the parishioners liberally responded. The reopening took place on Easter Monday, 1886, by the Hayfield ringers, at that time one of the best companies in the district.

FIRST PEAL IN 1925
After many failures, the first peal on them was rung on Saturday. October 10th, 1925. in 3 hours and 4 minutes, 5.040 Treble Bob Minor in seven methods:

William Fernley
John W. Hartley
W. W. Wolstencroft

Fred Holt .. .. .. .. Tenor
Conducted by James Fernley, sen.
The bells were rehung on ball bearings in 1936. but stik in the top of the tower in a wooden frame, despite recommendations by Taylors that they be lowered in the tower. In the following year. the first peal by an entirely local band was scored in 3 hours and 5 minutes, 5,040 Doubles (Grandsire and Plain Bob)
> *Mrs. F. Osbaldiston
> *Samuel Graham Eric Wigley C. Kenneth Lewis Arthur Whiting Frank Osbaldiston Conducted by Arthur wi.t Tenor

First peal First Arthur Whiting
he band peal. First peal of Doubles by all
In more recent times, at third attempt mem bers of the present band rang the first peal of Minor on the bells with an entirely local hand. This was rung in 2 hours and 57 minutes, being 5.040 Minor in three methods: Frank Osbaldiston Christine C. McNair Bernard F. L. Groves M. Jack Pryor Alan McFall
Robert B. Smith
Conducted by Alan McFall.

A $£ 5.000$ SCHEME

Now the church is to be pulled down to within four feet of the ground because it was becoming dangerous to passers-by. Work has already begun. which means that the belis will be silent for some time, perhaps 12 months. while the tower is buttressed and the bells fitted into a new frame, lower in the tower: the work being undertaken by Taylors. The cost of this project will be $£ 5.000$ apart Trom $£ 620$ that the ringers would have to raise for the addition of two new trebles It is early to say whether these trebles wil be forthcoming, but efforts are being made by the local band to raise sufficient money.
The bells. which. you will agrec, have had an eventfu! life so far, bear the following inscriptions
Treble.-Prosperity to the Town and Parish. A.R. 1731

3rd.-Abr. Rudhall, of Gloucester, cast us ali. 1731
4th.-Harry Style. Rector. A.R. 1731.

PROGRESS IN AMERICA

This week's mail from Boston, U.S.A.. bring news from Dr. A. H. Nichols of a real start being made in the Art in the land of the Stars and Stripes. The band is now practically complete, and as no less than five of the number rank as conductors, it is obvious that the company is a very capable one. A society has been formally organised under the name of the Boston Association of Change Ringers, Dr. Nichols having been elected president and secretary, and Mr. P. J. Allfry Master.

OBITUARY

MR. ROBERT E. (TED) COLES
It is with great sorrow that I write of the death of a most dear friend and fellow ringer, Ted Coles, who passed peacefully onwards on the morning of June 1st, after five months of severe ilness, cheerfully and courageously horne.
All who knew Ted lowed him, both in ringing circles and in all the other spheres of his many activities. The Llandaff and Monmouth Association has lost a staunch and faithful mensber and he will be severely missed at his old tower of Cowbridge.
Ted died at the early age of 58 , with his peal book quite up to date, his last pea! carefully inserted, one at Abergavenny on November 24 th last. He started to ring at Bonvilston in 1921, and called his own firsi peal of Grandsire Doubles at St . Athan in 1925. His peals totalled 129. of which 120 were for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association. After war service in the Royal Artillery, Ted returned to Cowbridge and served that church faithfully as chorister and bellringer. until his ihness in December last. Hi had been Master of the Association and secretary of the Llandaff Branch for ten years and retired from this office in January.
The funeral took place at Thornhill Crematorium. Cardiff. with the Rev. Ivor J. Richards, Rura! Dean of Raglan, and Rev. D. G. Childs, curate of Cowbridge, officiating. The bearers were fellow ringers, Sid Lunn. Roger Havord, Don Clift and David King. Many were present who so recently rang with Tedringers from Cowbridge, Bonvilston, Sully, Porthkerry. Cardiff and Chepstow, also Arthur Hoare (representing the Swansea ringers). Representatives were present from the South Wales Rose Society, the Vale of Glamorgan Show Committee. Cowbridge W.I. and Cowbridge old age pensioners.

Many messages of sympathy have daily reached Mrs. Coles from bellringers and rosegrowers all over the country. showing clearly with what affection and esteem Ted was regarded by all who came into contact with him. Ted's cheerfui grin, quiet, good sense him. Ted's cheerful grin, quiet, good sense remembered by his many ringing friends. Peals were attempted on the day of the funeral at Bonvilston and Cowbridge and later at Llanblethian.
J. S. KING.

MR. W. T. CLARK

With deep regret we record the death of Mr. William Tyson Clark, of Broughton-in-Furness, the oldest member of the Furness and Lake District Branch of the Lancashire Association, who died on June 1lst, after a short illness, aged 87 years.

A solicitor by profession, he practised as John Clark and Son, Broughton-in-Furness. which was started by his father. He was a regular ringer until about two years ago, when his doctor forbade him to climb the steps. but he was in the choir until the end. For $15 \frac{1}{2}$ years previous to 1936 he was secretary of the years previous to 1936 he was secretary of held many public offices, and was a keen sports man.
N. M.N.

MR. IVOR THOMAS WERRETT

Ivor Werrett was not welh known outside his own tower of Norton. Herts. He rang tew peals and only rarely attended ringing meetings. but he was a faithful Sunday service ringer. despite being hampered by poor health for many years. He was a miner, but left Argoed. Monmouthshire, about 27 years ago io come to Letchworth, where he worked for $K$ and L. 'Steelfounders. He helped his father and brother in the task of augmenting and rehanging Norton bells. After a long illness he died on June 9th in Lister Hospital, Hitchin, aged 50.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch at Hazelbury Bryan on June 8 th was a memorable one. The weather was perfect and enabled four ringers to cycle 20 miles to atten. It also enabled us to have tea in the Kectory garden at the invitation of the Rector. Bishop C. E. Storrs. Visiting ringers from Somerset and Manchester made up the company of 25 present.
Ringing in the noble 15 th century tower (which includes two pre-Reformation bells) included touches of Plain Bob, Double Court. Stedman and Cambridge before the Guild office. It was a great privilege to worship in this dovely church, so well restored and maintained. In welcoming the ringers, Bishon Storrs spoke of the inscriptions on the bells. how that in earlier times they bore words of praise to God, while the more recent bells told only of their donors or founders.

At the business meeting it was arranged to have a Branch outing on September 7th to visit some Somerset towers.

Ringing up to Cambridge later continued at Hazehury Bryan, and also at Hilton.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT CUP

The cup contest this year was held at Wentworth on June list. Canon King was particularly pleased to welcome the competitors as it is the centenary year of the bells.
Three teams entered and the results were as follows: Warsop (Nonwich Surprise) 32 faults. Handsworth (Cambridge) 89 faults. Dore (Plain Bob) 116 faults.
After tea, as the sun was still shining, Canon King jnvited the company to hold their meeting on the Vicarage lawn. Thanks were given to 'Professor Dodge' for judging the contest, and the cup was once again presented to Warsop.

The Rev. H. Oxley. of The Rectory, Lerwick, Shetland, writes that he is anxious to obtain recordings of Grandsire Triples available for purchase, Since deaving Clanfield, Oxon, last October, he misses very much the sound of pealing bells. All the bell music at Lerwick is the chiming of a single bell, and a small bell at that.
Although the quarter peal we record at Offton is the first to be rung by the Sunday service band on the bells since sehanging, the bells have been rung every Sunday since they were rehung in July, 1959.

Six singers from Putney and Wimbledon had a cycling tour round the Surrey Hills on June 4th. Ringing took place at St. John's, Coulsdon. Buckland. Nutfield (a quarter peal), Oxted and Limpsfield.
Brian Wylde apologises to the rest of the band who should have attempted a peal of Rutland at Tiverton on June 15th. Due to a misunderstanding he was standing outside another tower muttering similar things to those being said about him at the time.
After we had gone to press last week we received the names of the victorious Beddington band, featured in a picture on page 429 . Left to right, they are John Schofield, Mrs. Olive Tester. Robert Hinde, Raymond Finch, $\mathbf{R}$. James Cook, Jean Lavender and Stewart Kimber.

Regarding the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Newton-le-Willows, Lancs, on May 18 th , we are asked to state that this was Kenneth Hesketh's 25th peal for the Lancashire Association. His total includes 12 peals of isurprise, and incorporates 10 different Surprise methods.
The Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella, who for 30 years was general secretary to the Truro Diocesan Guild, on June 15th fulfilled an ambition of ringing in every tower in the diocese. With five singers from St. Crantock. he set out to ring at Maker. Lansallos and I.anteglos-by-Fowey. Despite traffic jams and wrong turnings the objective was achieved and a wonderful tea at Fowey enjoyed.

Expressing his thanks for an enjoyable Central Council meeting. Mr. R. W. R. Percy suggests that for the Truro meeting arrangements be made for ringing to be available throughout the week as many of the representatives would make this period a holiday. A headquarters throughout this week would also be an advantage.

After six months, two special practices and three peal attempts, the Durham and Newcastle Association have succeeded in ringing their first peal of London Royal.
We are sorry to learn that Mr. W. Love. of Narwich. a former secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, is not very well. We hope to hear better news in the near future.
Two members of St. Peter's Ashton-underLyne, have rung their first peals of London, viz.: John F. Barlow (aged 16) on May 22nd and Derek Ashton (aged 14) on June 5th. In each case the peal was the first blow in the method. Congratulations!

There are stild vacancies for the week-end course at Knuston Hall, July 5th, 6th and 7th. which is being arranged by the Peterborough Guild in conjunction with the Northants Education Committee. Applications should be made at once to the Warden. Knuston Hall, Irchester, near Wellinborough, fee 43 s .
Three members of the newly formed St. John's Callege Bellringers' 'Society, York. rang the first quarter peal for that Society on Sunday, June 9th. The ringers were the treasurer, Ringing Master and the secretary. It was accomplished after a week's intensive practising, and despite a number of nearhalts it was eventually completed.

St. Andrew's University has now a Guild of Bell Ringers, with P. T. Dale as president and Ringing Master. Mr. J. Fainolough secretary, D Cannon treasurer. and Miss A. Galloway ordinary member. The officials can be conteyted through the Students' Union, Queen's College. Dundee. Practices during term time St Paul's Cathedrad. Dundee. Tuesdays, 7.45 p.m. The standard at the moment is low, but there is no lack of enthusiasm.

North and East District

As a result of a number of weddings and summer activities at their own churches the attendance in the afternoon at the monthly meeting of the North and East Uistrict at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, on June 8th, was poor. After tea. however, the numbers increased and over 40 members and friends took part in the ringing which ranged from rounds to Surprise methods.

A short service was conducted by Father Palmer, with Mr. Douglas Birkinshaw as organist, which was followed by tea in the adjoining schóalroom.

At the business meeting Miss Ruth Foreman. assistant secretary of the Association, took the chair, in the absence of Mr. H. G. Hart. It was reported that the bells of St. Andrew's. Kingsbury, were ringing again after an unavoidable silence whilst repairs were carried out. The good wishes of the company for a speedy recovery were extended to Arthur Warren. of the Finchley band, who is unfortunately in hospitai. Congratulations were also extended to Bridget Sanger and Michael White, two members who regularly attend District meetings, whose engagement was announced in a recent jssue of 'The Ringing World.
The chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and all who had contributed to the success of the meeting, not forgetting Mis's Jaquest. Mrs. Birkinshaw and the numerous lady helpers in arranging an excellent tea.

Durham and Newcastle's Change of Title

Dear Sir, -In October last our Association changed its title to . The Durham & Newicastle Diocesan Association of Church Bell Ringers.' Mr. H. E. Taydor, who has been wandering and writing on this point, may be interested in our motives

In our case the change of title was part of a complete revision of the rules, in which we sought to bring the rules into line with our own current practices and modern thought generally. If the title includes "Change Ringers'. then it seems to me that one must Jay down some standard of proficiency for admission to membership. Such standards are by no means easy to apply in practice for they would really require a practical examination. for candidates. We used to day down a standard and we had in our Preface the aim. - To promote the study and practice of scientific change-ringing as distinguished from the dubl, spiritless and ignoble performance known as "call changes"... The corresponding part of our new Preface runs. "The association aims to improve and extend ringing for divine service. While it is especially concerned to promote scientific change ringing it does not despise the contribution of the call change ringer. ... Our standards for admlssion is now the afrility to ring rounds on tower bells.
Our title is now in dine with that of the Central Council. This body recently welcomed the Devon Association-a call change associa-tion-into affiriation and I would claim that our change of title is therefore, in line with modern thought. Incidentally, our original title was simply 'The Durham Association of Ringers.
On another topic that aroused much interest at the Central Council meeting it is interesting to mote that our revised Preface has in its final paragraph these two sentences. "The association is also concerned to see that the towers and bells of the two dioceses are maintained in good order. Expert advice can be obtained where this is required from the specialists who comprise the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. ${ }^{\text {'- Yours sincerely. }}$

FAITH, TRADITION AND BELLS

HOW many people value and recognise the true purpose of the bell? It might be said with certain misgivings that nowadays bells have a limited purpose in the daily life of the Church.
The Reformed Church adopted the science of changeringing in its embryological stages, but in her role over the years the Church has been inclined to view with indifferent attitudes the development of campanology, and the Exercise has become more of a tradition devoid of a living purpose, rather than an expressful means of communication.

The realisation of change-ringing did much to preserve the bell, transferring it from purposeful ideals to the dreamy realms of tradition, the former unacceptable to some and the latter a lovely yet, to the layman, an unsymbolic pastime enjoyed by men and women in pursuit of the unusual.

Compare the employment of present day bells with their pre-Reformation counterparts. Here we see the parting of the ways at which the 'bellman' had arrived about the mid-16th century, a period of theological unrest initiating as it did that sense of spiritual freedom and which at the same time all but destroyed the intimate and long-established thread of communication between the church and parish through the medium of bells. No longer was any particular attention paid to the 'soul' bell used on the occasion of funerals and, more important. chimed to inform listeners that a body was at the gate of death: those who perceived its meaning were moved to kneel and pray for the repose of the soul in transition.
Gone are those bells which were employed to illustrate in the minds of listeners without that a most reverent part of the service was, at that very instant of sounding, taking place. The labourer in the field, on hearing the resonant exhortation, put aside his work for a while and joined the congregation in quiet, contemplative faith. The bell's message would be welcomed by the aged and infirm who were unable to participate in church rituals, but otherwise on hearing the bell were encouraged to unite in thought with those who witnessed the devotions.

The change of faith to a large extent instigated that bold experiment which resulted in the scientific ringing of changes. If this had not materialised. then the majority of bells in England would have become objects of the past. Despite the fact that hundreds of bells can be heard in the United Kingdom, they are no longer regarded as a means of communication as in centuries past, when their clamours acted as realistic links between priest and people.

As with all traditions, the bell may well be in danger of fading away from the English scene. This is seen especially in the building of new churches, many of which have no towers and consequently no bells; some of our later edifices possess lofty. ultra-modern structures called 'towers,' which are obviously not designed to contain more than one or two bells, but are suitable for the accommodation of loudspeakers! Our present aged steeples cannot be expected to last for ever, and with continued rising costs in maintenance and dutiful obligations at home and abroad bearing heavily on ecclesiastical authorities, it is not inconceivable that in distant years church towers will be regarded as obsolete and will be cast to one side. Furthermore when bishops assert that bells are really a waste of money, the picture undeniably takes on a three-dimensional aspect*.

Let's not delude ourselves: not in every instance are bells rung to the 'glory of God.' Propulsive motives behind the ringer are gears which determine the difficult ratio of spiritual glory and the easier-found ratio of worldly self-satisfaction and pride.
Over the years the Church has all but expunged the bell from her rituals and embodied it in an unstable foundation called tradition, a quality which however seemingly harmless has become steeped in the waters of secular attraction. ' To the glory of God ' is often inscribed upon bells. It would not be inappropriate to add: ‘... and to the ennoblement of tradition.' Alas, the original theme is heard as a soft echo . . . a rare vibration.

A ringer who, Sunday by Sunday, takes a rope in his hands preserves, I would say, the only remaining link with the faithful 'bellman' of old. The upsurge of numerous denominations teach us that bells are not now necessary to remind laymen of their obligations to God. Modern ideologies have changed all that. Even the Church is in the process of change, en route to a unity hopefully desirable to all. Whither goeth the bell .

A newcomer to the Central Council receives the impression that that body, not surprisingly. is chiefly concerned with the preservation of the Exercise as an art for the pleasure of men, rather than in the first instance seeking its preservation in the bell's RE-ESTABLISHMENT in a proper, up-to-date spiritual rôle; not merely a unique way of expressing that peculiar and intoxicating music within our hearts, but seeking to use bells intelligently as ESSENTIAL instruments to the wellbeing of the Church, whatever future shape it may assume . . that they are accepted as purposeful mediums, valued by all who hear and believe.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Canon C. C. Cox's Message
T HE annual festival of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers took place at Exeter on June 15th, when ringing was indulged in at the Cathedral and the five churches in the city with ringable bells. An attraction was St. Petrock's, where the bells were available again after being silent for many years.

The Guild service was conducted at S t Mark's Church by the Vicar, the Rev. Leslie Hellens, the lesson being read by the Guild's president, Preb. J. H. B. Andrews. A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells, rung by members of the Mid-Devon Branch, preceded the sermon. which was preached by Canon C. Carew Cox, the president of the Salisbury Guild. He took as his text 'Turn us again thou God of Hosts: show the light of the countenance and we shall be whole' (Psalin ixxx, 7).
Canon Cox said that during the last war none of them took the clappers out of the bells to train recruits in handling, but there was no rhythmic music until the bells rang again after victory and we were thankIul for the preparation. The ditty, Turn again, Dick Whittirgton...' also disclosed that bells did give a new direction to ambitions. Bells did turn the thoughts of men and they liked to think that those who were stirred were more than those who objected. We were encircled by the mususe of Sunday, but so long as hells sounded they were ia safeguard to the Christian Sunday.

Turn us again: say the bells, and keep us going.' but sometimes bells have to go to the tuning shop or to be rehung. Similarly, we ringers, if we rely on ourselves, become selfcentred. Our lives need retuning, recasting, resetting, and always we need spiritual oil to make 'man of a cheerful countenance.' We also require wisdom to encourage the slow learner.
In emphasising the importance of Sunday service ringing. the Canon remarked that sceslless ringers will not impress the message any more than clapperless bells.

Turn us again' as we would turn our hells for the upholding of all that is sacred in left and show us the light of thy countenance. The joy of being made whole is the joy of ringing. and being in tune with god.

Upwards of 100 sat down to tea in St. Mark's Church Hall. The president welcomed and thanked Canon Cox, and pointed out that he was president of the Clerical Guild and of the Salisbury Guild. Members stood in memory of Mr. W. A. Wills. of St. Thomas:. Exeter, who had done so much in keeping a band going there since the death of Mr. Biffin.

Grants were made from the Bell Restoration Fund to Powderham, where a bell has to be recast, and to Beer, where a ring is being acquired from Braywood, Berks, where the church has been demolished. A grant was also promised to Blackawton, where a major rehanging is to take place.

MANY BELL RESTORATIONS

The secretary (Mr. E. M. Atkins) reported that membership at 670 showed an increase of 20 over the average for the past three years. The granting of 31 certificates to members who had rung a six-score was encouraging and a sign of the healthy state of the Guild. Bell restorations had taken place at Bampton. Westle:gh. St. Petrock's, Exeter, and Paignton, and Babbacombe bells, are to be rededicated on July 27th. He welcomed the institution of a branch of the Ladies' Guild in Devon. and referred to a joint meeting with the call change ringers at Dartmouth. expressing the hope that this might be repeated in other parts of the county. A new sfock of badges had been acquired and these were available at the old price of 3 s . each.
The librarian (the Rev. J. G. M. Scott) seported that the library had not been greatly used during the last year and a report on the recent Central Council meeting was given.

It was reported that the proposal to place a clock in the Cathedral belfry in memory of the late president, Preb. E. V. Cox, was found to be impracticable, and it was decided to place a tablet in the belfry. It was hoped that the wonderful wood carver, Mr. Tom Bowden, would carve it.
It 'was decided to hold next year's festival again in Exeter on the third Saturday in une. All the officers were re-elected, with the addition of the new Bishop of Plymouth as a vice-president. Five new members were elected and certificates were presented for Pat Peatfield and Cynthia Edbrooke, of the Lympstone band.
After the president had again thanked Canon Cox and the Vicar of St. Mark's, and Mr. Densham and the ladies who prepared tea, the Dean and chapter of the Cathedral, and the incumbents of the churches where ringing was taking place, Canon Cox replied and said that although, when at Lyme Regis, he was just over the border into Dorset, his cousin. Preb. E. V. Cox. had always kept him interested in the Guild.
The Guild's adviser on bells and belfries. the Rev. J. G. M. Scott, reported on the necessary repairs brought to light by the quinquennial inspection and stressed the need for periodical painting of steel frames and the tightening of nuts and bolts on wooden frames during the dry summer months.

LEEDS UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Highlights of the year reported at the A.G.M of Leeds University Society on May 7th were the annual dinner, ringing one peal and three quarters. The president. Mr. W. J. Couperthwaite, thanked the Society for an enjoyable year of office Officers elected to the committee for 1963-64: President, W. W. Bradbury: vice-president, C. McCartney; secretary, Frances Fairbank: treasurer, J. W. Martin : I. M. Gow was elected to the committee. At the close, the Society proceeded to the Union Bar to lest the generosity of the new president.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The chief matter discussed at the quarterly meeting of the Southern District. at Betchworlh on June 15 th, with Mr. F. E. Darby in the chair was the view expressed by the Sussex Associa tion that the two towers. Capel and Ockley. chosen for the joint meeting in October, were unsuitable to them. They suggested Bletchingley and Lingfield as possible alternatives. A proposal that an extra meeting be arranged at Bletchingley was defeated, and the meeting decided that the present arrangements should stand and the Sussex Association be informed accordingly.
The new Rector, in his address at the service said this was the first time he had seen so many ringers at one time. He extended a warm welcome to all present. Justice was done to the excellent tea provided by local ringers. Methods rung varied from rounds to London Surprise. Next meeting. Old Coulsdon (5). July 201h.

SOME OF THE OUTINGS

Barkby ringers journeyed southwards in search of warmer weather on May 18 th for their annual outing, and visited six churches in Northamptonshire to see if they had better bells than their own. They found the bells all right, but some of the ropes were a bit dodgy. They broke a rope at Burton Latimer and iwo ropes at a place called, appropriately, Weekley. Tea was taken at Kettering, with grateful thanks to Mr. Staniforth, who helped with the tea arrange ments. Home was reached at 11.30 p.m.

BRAMLEY, HANTS

Bramley, Hants, ringers had a glorious day of sunshine for their annual outing into West Sussex on May 25th. and at the first lower, Rogate (6), were able to join the Vicar at Matins and hear a talk from him on the history of the church and bells. Different methods were rung at Fittleworth (6), and the route to Arundel was via Petworth Park. Full use was made of the bells.

After a picnic lunch there was ringing at Angmering (6) before tea at Hove and paddling for braver souls. The dungeon-like entrance to Steyning (8) tower was a novelty, and the last ring was at Washington (6). Thanks to organisers, incumbents, local ringers and coach driver.

BOLSOVER, DERBYS

Bolsover ringers and friends had an enjoyable outing to Cambridgeshire on May 18th. and a quick run down the A 1 brought the party to Huntingdon in plenty of time for a cup of coflee before meeting Mr. Peacock at St. Mary's Church. Although heavy-going and odd-struck, the bells can be made to go quite well, and it is a pity that there is no local band, despite recent efforts to establish one.

After the initial surprise of finding the tenor at St. Mary's, Godmanchester. 5 cwt. hcavier than expected, some reasonable ringing was enjoyed on these deep-toned hells before leaving for Cambridge. The afternoon was completely free, but some enthusiastic members, rather than relax, managed to join in ringing for a wedding at Great St. Mary ${ }^{\text {s }}$ !

The party was reunited for tea and ringing at the last tower of the day at All Saints', St. Ives. These pleasant-going 12 cwt . eight were very much to our liking.

Methods rung during the day included Stedman Triples, Plain Bob. Cambridge. Superlative. Kent. Double Norwich and Little Bob Major.

Sincere thanks are extended to incumbents and local ringers, and congratulations are due to Alan Keller for the efficient arrangements.

EAST RIDING RINGERS

Towers in Notts and Derbyshire were visited by.. 38 ringers and friends from towers in the East Riding and Hull University on Whit Mon day. By avoiding much of the holiday traffic Worksop Priory was reached ahead of schedule The church was of groat interest and ringing enjoyed.

A pienic lunch under the shade of some ancient oaks near Edwinstowe preceded a visit to Warsop, with the finest six in Notts, and ringing, under the watchful eye of "Jafus, seemed to be much better. Before tea at Ches terfield, the light six at Clowne and the heavier octave at Staveley were tried. Then came the ascent of the famous crooked spire, to sample the best bells of the day-the majestic Mears ten at the Church of St. Mary.

Ringing concluded at Bolsover, surely one of the best rings in Derbyshire! Cambridge. Superlative and London were rung, but there were also rounds and call-changes. Incumbents, local ringers and Mr. Kirk (organiser) are thanked.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Returning home from their annual outing. Wilton (Wilts) ringers lost their organiser, Raymond Haines. Near Salisbury, someone said: Where's Raymond?'. Highly indignant, he was able 10 pick up the coach on its return from Salistury to be conveyed to his home at Wishford.
Mr. W. Love, of the Norwich Diocesan Association, having now been discharged from hospital. sends his very sincere thanks for all letters. messages of goodwill and for the many acts of kindness to him and Mrs. Love during the past three months. It has been a great source of arength to both of them to know that so many riends in the Exercise have shown their friendship in so many practical ways.
A loyal member of the Hornchurch band for the past 15 years. Mr. Tom East has retired to live in the Isle of Wight. Fellow ringers, in appreciation of his fellowship. have presented him with an enlarged photograph of St. An drew's Church, Hornchurch. Over the years, a beautiful sunny Sunday morning was known as a 'Tom East ' morning, and Tom was right on form to the end. May he have many more happy years of ringing, with sunshine all the time.
The attempt to ring an in memoriam peal to the Rev. Ewart Lewis and Mr. R. E. Coles on the bells of Llanblethian, Glamorgan, failed after two hours' ringing and the peal nearly three-quarters finished. The "bogey' bell is the fifth, with its bearings worn out. Gareth Jones, of Cowbridge Grammar School, made a very gallant attempt on this bell but eventually had to give in. Before the attempt a huge pile of hird-borne sticks had to be removed, ropes fitted to the bells and adjustments made to the rickety frame and gear. In this work Gareth was assisted by Ellis Thomas, Paul Evans and •Jonah Robinson.

ELLAND, YORKS

On Whit Monday Elland ringers and friends set off at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for Settle. Kirkby Stephen and Barnard Castle. It was a glorious route through Ribble Head and Hawes to Kirkby Stephen for lunch and to ring. We enjoyed ringing the tuneful eight bells, although we were not accustomed to the long draught.
High tea was had at Barnard Castle, where we mixed with the thousands of people enjoying the sun and the fair. After a very good ring on the fine eight bells of the parish church. we returned to Masham. We found the bells here pleasing to listen to but rather awkward to handle. The route home was via Ripon and Harrogate. Our thanks to Mr. Paul Birkett (who made the arrangements). incumbents and local ringers for a very enjoyable trip. D.S.

WILTON, WILTS

A leisurely tour of Somerset was arranged by Wilton Church ringers for their 16 th annual outing on June 15 th , in which they were joined by many friends. An early morning ring on the delightful bells of Radstock was followed by a visit to the covered market. There was lunch. sightseeing and more shopping at Bridgwater before going to ring on the heavy six at Huntspill in a very noble church.

After a halt for tea at Weston-super-Mare. a move across the murshes 10 Meare enabled good use to be made of the bells, though expert handling and good ears were necessary. Evening refreshments were taken at Castle Cary The ringing did not reach high standards-Kent being the limit, but the methods chosen were rung well and enjoyed. Raymond Haınes is complimented for organising such a smoothrunning outing, and clergy and ringers of towers visited thanked.

EAST GRINSTEAD'S WHITSUN TOUR

Twelve members of the East Grinstead and District Guild were joined by Northampton friends for their Whitsuntide tour of Bedfordshire. The first ring was at St. Peter-de-Merton (8), at Bedford, and after lunch came the deep. resonant eight at Bromham. At St. James, Biddenham (6), we were honoured by the presence of Miss Evelyn Steel, who rang a course of London with us. There was still one more tower before tea-All Saints*. Kempston. fortunately an easy eight. as we were all beginning to feel the effects of a very hot day. Revived by tea, we rang at Goldington before joining the Bedford District at their monthly meeting in John Bunyan's tower at Elstow.
For two nights our headquarters was the Laws Hotel. Turvey. All Saints' Church was only a few minutes walk from the hotel: we attended Holy Communion and later rang for Matins, a most inspiring service. After Junch at Bedford, the afternoon's ringing was at Mil-ton-Ernest (6). Felmersham (8). Odell (6) and Harrold (6). For evening service we rang on the grand ten of St. Paul's, Bedford. Here we were rather dismayed by the lack of local ringers due, we were told. to Surprise ringing being too greatly concentrated on. The last ring of the day was on the sweet-toned bells of CliftonReynes.
An early start was made on Monday. After bidding farewell to our hotel, where excellent hospitality had been enjoyed, we proceeded ic Stagsden (6), where the bells went well. Before lunch at Luton, ringing took place at Maulden (a light eight, greatiy enjoyed). Flitton (a ground floor six) and Silsoe (6). With the majestic ten of St. Mary's, Luton, we were made most welcome by Messrs. Hulatt and Woods, the latter after we had enjoyed these bells acting as our navigator into Hertfordshire to Harpenden. Unfortunately we were unable to obtain the best from this musisal eight due to new ropes At Hatfield (10) the long draught, and the presence of visitors watrhing from below, called for great concentration in the ringing. The deep resonance of these bells could he heard at its best from the outside. Tea was then taken in the historic Hatfield House. The last tower of the tour was North Mymms, situated in secluded parkland.

The success of the tour was due to Mr. Brian Jeffrey and his first lieutenant in Northampton. Mr. G. F. Roome. We also thank Brian and John Warner for driving, and all incumbents and local ringers for their co-operation.

LEEDS PARISH CHURCH

Invitations to ring at Buckley and the marble church of Bodelwyddan decided Leeds Parish Church ringers and friends to go to North Wales on May 18th. Heavy road traffic caused the timetable to go sadly awry, and the time spent on the smooth-running ten at Christ Church. Macclesfield, had to be cut drastically. Still behind time. we did scant justice to the first-class ring at Buckley, where we were met by the Vicar and Dennis Millward.

Our Heywood friends. who preceded us the previous week, had described the marble church at Bodelwydden: and although to ring there was a pleasure in view of the refusal two years ago. these bells suffered somewhat by our just having come from Buckley.
On the homeward journey, the light octave at Flint proved tricky to handle at first: time would not allow an intended call at Woodchurch, Birkenhead. The younger element of the Society are planning an autumn outingprobably in the Peak District. R.H.D.

'Ring Out, Wild Bells ' Broadcast

Dear Sir.-I think it should have been meationed, cither in the report of the Broadcasting Committee itself or when lite report was presented for adoption, that an item which the reparf states presented one of the greatest opportunit:es since the formation of the committee was not as a result of a direct apprach to the committee from the B.B.C.

The Rector of Daventry was approached by the producer, Mr. Biunden, for permission to record a bell at Daventry, wmen has a certain interesting inscription, together with a request for other local information. This was passed to me for reply to the latter part, which I was glad to give. together with my advice to contact Mir. Sanger and his committee for further information, as it appeared to me that the producer had got hold of some rather distorted and part-true information.
The purpose of intis letter is not to claim any credit for what was, in the event, a first class programme ('Ring Out, Wild Bells'), but to show that it is so very important that we ordinary ringers do our part when these opportunities arise by referring such inquiries to the committee. whose members are, on the whole. better able than most of us to deal with them.-Yours sincerely.
Daventry. PATRIOK I. CHAPMAN.

Exclusion of Peals

Dear Sir,-The question attributed to me in the Central Council's debate on the report of the Peals Analysis Committee ( ${ }^{\text {R.W.W. page }}$ $416)$ is rather different from the one which I asked and so. too, is Mr. Ayre's reply.

What I asked was whether the committee intended merely to exclude the two peals for the Worcestershire and Districts Association from its current report or to exclude them permanently. Mr. Ayre replied that the two peals were to be excluded permanently. The honorary secretary quoted the Council's decision.
It is quite clear that these two peals failed to meet the requirement for inclusion in the 1962 analysis and the adoption of the renont was in order. I have my doubts on whether my friend, Mr. Ayre, is in order to exclude them permanently. The Council's decision does not dehar their jnclusion in the following year's analysis and further omission of them would amount to a pretence that they had not bieen rung.-Yours sincerely.
Chester-le-Street. DENIS A. BAYLES.

Woodhouse Minor

Dear Sir.-The method rung at Woodhouse Eaves. Leicestershire. on 22-5-1963, and published as Woodhouse Surprise Minor in your issue of $14-6-1963$, page 403 , was first rung to a full peal at Cranford, Middlesex, on $21-5-1960$. This peal, and the figures, appear in the issue of 22-7-1960, page 491. where it will be seen that the correct name is Cranford Surprise Minor.-Yours faithfully.

Correction to Stedman Caters Composition

Dear Sir--I regret that owing to an inaccuracy in my copying botत̃ course ends of the peal of Stedman Caters in the issue of June 7th. given as 13524, should read 13542 The calling of the peal is unchanged. I hope that this has not misled more than one person.-Yours faithiully

London, W. HADLEY HUNTER.

Lavenham's Bar One

Dear Sir.-I was most intrigued to read the notice in 'The Ringing World, concerning ringing anniversaty at Lavenham. Suffolk. Everyone welcome, bar one.'
It seems very strange to read this sort of thing. I do hope that the "one " concerned knows all about it! After all it may possibly be me-the fact that I have not had a haircut fo:- a few months might well be offensive to some people. Again, it may possibly be my friend-he wears tight trousers and pointed shoes. so quite clearly in some puritan's eyes is quite unsuitable to be a church bellringer. I could continue this list for pages.
Is it a joke, perhaps? A poor one, and in bad taste at that. Please Mr. Mortlock. remember that as church bellringers, we have a Christian duty to be one body at unity. I know that there are the occasional disagreements between ringers, but. after all, we all make mistakes at times. This seems such an underhanded way of getting at someone.
Perhaps it is none of my business. Then I suggest that the notice, as it is worded, should mever have been sent to the 'R.W.' in the first place. I should very much like 10 know the real meaning, so that if 1 or my friend should by chance wish to attend this gathering, we shall know what sort of reception to expect.-Yours faithfully,

ROBERT E. HARDY.
Leicester.

A Ringing Meeting - or Soccer Match?

JDear Sir, -I was not at the Coventry rally, in fact, for reasons very similar to those experienced by Mr. Walters, I do not attend many meetings these days, unless in some quiet out-of-the-way place.
However, I did call at one meeting not so long ago, where conditions identical to those given by Mr. Walters prevailed-a tower overcrowded by tower grabbers, pushing and jostling, and even the firm voice of the one in charge had tittle effect: and no one seemed to give a thought to ventilation, to the danger or rush for the exit should an accident happen throuph an overcrowded belfry and standing on the staircase-maybe it would be a thousand to one chance. but that thousandth could be a fatal calamity.
This led to friends I had with me asking: Is this a ringing meeting or a soccer match? everyone seems to be clamouring for the bells. like players clamouring for the ball: reverence seems to be forgotten as if it were a sports ground and not a church. Is this what usually happens at ringing meetings?
From the upstairs belfiry they decided 10 look in at the nave and chancel below, but were further dismayed to see groups of ringers standing around talking loudly, with some of their children playing hide-and-seek in and out the pews: Come along, one remarked, this is no place for us!

All too often it is this sort of thing that puts off clergy (and some laity) from supporting schemes for bells.
The last Rector of my own parish never stood in my way against any improvements. but did once tell a group of ringers. very firmly (and 1 agree). that it is no responsibility of the Church, gnywhere, to provide large sums of money every 50 or so years, instruments-mot playthings!-Yours sincerely. Weston Favell. Northants. P. AMOS.

Spliced Peal at St. Neots

Dear Sir.-Perhaps Mr. Leale's letter in respect of the spliced peal at St. Neots was over scathing, but' this should not be allowed ts cloud the issue.
To contradict one of your correspondents, it is relevant that all the methods resemble lincolnshire: virtually the band rang a peal o lincalnshire. This is not questioning the legality of the peal; it conforms to the rules. However, to the novice this performance appears to be a far greater feat than it actually was and it is unfortunate that a peal of, say Cambridge. Superlative and Yorkshire would look insignificant beside it, although of greater merit.
Obviously. everyone of your readers should b: told that, even in ringing, it is impossible - to judge the contents by the cover although the author's name is usually a guarantee of quality.-Yours faithfully.

Nottingham.

Lockinge's Bells

Dear Sir -I Tead with interest the notes on 'Four Bell Towers in Berkshire' by G. K. Dodd, Woolton Hill ( R.W.' June 7th). In the case of Lockinge bells, he states Three bells were removed about seven years ago." His informant (who was probably the Rector) is wrong. There are still four bells in a five bell frame and a ting-tang in the wall.
Fifty years ago the verger always 'clocked all four himself. unless he allowed two of us choirboys to take two each. Ten or twelve vears ago the ringing chamber was converted into a vestry. and three of the ropes were pulled up through the next floor (which may account for G. K. Dodd's inaccurate information), leaving one which is used for services neiv. I have never heard the bells ring, except the tenor, which I have tolled as a passing bell."-Yours sincerely,
H. WHITE.

Lockinge, Bcrks.

Deceived

Dear Sir,-I would like to say how much I agree with Mr. Leale's criticism of the peal of so-called 'Spliced Surprise Major' recently rung at St. Neots

Having been singing for only two years, I was very impressed when I read the report of the peal and thought what mental giants the ringers must have been to ring four entirely new methods in a peal of eight-spliced, and with all the work of the methods for every bell. Imagine my surprise when shortly afterwards, I heard two experienced ringers discussing the peal and learnt that all of the methods were very simple variations of Lincolnshire. I certainly felt that I had been deceived; at any rate it has encouraged me tn learn about place notation.-Yours faithfully.

Carter's Odd Bob

Dear Sir.-1 always read with great interest Mr_E. C. Shepherd's articles, and A Notable Partnership " was no exception, particularly the last paragraph but one. in which Mr. Shepherd recalls either W. H. Barber's or J. W. Washbrook's desire 10 ring Carter's Odd Bob on handbells blindfolded.
During the 1914-18 War, Messrs. C. F. Winney. W. T. Cockerill, Herbert Langdon and H. R. Pasmore rang Cater's Odd Bob nonconducted on handballs at Clapham, and some years afterwards when talking to Messrs. Langdon and Pasmore about this peal, they told me that afterwards they attempted to ring it non-conducted sitting hack to back!?
This seems to be the nearest to a blindfold attempt there has been.-Yours sincerely, Crayford. Kent.
E. BARNETT.

Not Accepiable

Dear Sir -On behalf of the Peals Analysis Committee I regret to state that the 'peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at Gorseinon, for the Swansea and Brecon Association, and published on page 422 of the issue of June 21 st. cannot be accepted as a peal. on account of the conditions under which it was rung. We do not like to do this, especially in the circumstances and for the sake of the first pealers. -Yours, etc.,

WALTIER AYRE

New Zealand's Welcome

Dear Sir.-We read with great interest the article on the proposed. Great Adventure II We do hope that the trip will be made, and 1 can assure you that a warm welcome awaits the tourists when they arrive in Christchurch. A visit of this kind will do much to boos the art of change ringing in Christchurch.
A new set of ropes is due here, from England. in July, so our bells should be in good condition when the English party arrive. At present our Society is strong in numbers that is with learners; I do not remember ever having so many on the roll. Our membership now stands at 19, with three others just starting.
We are very pleased to welcome to the tower Miss Rita Boumphrey, of St. Mary's Cathedral Church, Gilasgow. She is on the staff of Burwood Hospital. and. I think, will be with us for about a year. We hope she stays longer.
At Easter we had Jill Swanne, late of Carbis Bay, Cornwall. singing with us, and Grandsire T-iples and Caters were rung. We are looking forward to her next drip down from Wellington.-Yours sincerely.

Duffield-Tricky in Simplicity

Dear Sir.-I was interested in Mr. Brooke's letter of May ${ }^{3 \text { inst }}$ and Mr. Belton's of June 28th I quite agree with Mr. Belton that Duffield is a 'conductor's method.' but there is another aspect. viz.: the method itself.

Some 53 years ago we set out to ring four firsts ${ }^{\text {a }}$ Royal for the Kent County Association at St. Clement Danes', under the conductorship of the late Frank Bennett, Forward. Double Norwich. Duffield and Cambridge.
The peals of Forward and Double Norwich Here rung at the first attempt, but we had to make six attempts to ring the peat of Duffield. and none of the failures were due to the conductor
After one of these ${ }_{2}$ after nearly three hours' ririging, one of the band, the late Mr, R. F Deal. expressed his opinion of the band in no uncertain terms for losing a peal in such a simple method. He was answered by my father in these words. I agree, it is a simple method, but it is trisky in its simplicity.
That. I think, is the real reason why Duffield has never 'taken on. -Yours sincerely 10. King s Close.

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS-No.

CHRISTOPHER F. MEW,

 The Surrey Association.The Surrey Association has during its life produced many fine ringers, who have given devoted service to the Exercise and now look to the younger generation to carry on this great. service. In this latter group is Christopher F. Mew who, in spite of the fact that he did not take up ringing until he was 17 . now ranks high in the up and coming youngsters of the Surrey Association.

Christopher was born on September 17th. 1941. at Kirkcaldy, Fife, Scotland, but fas lived in Putney, London, since he was 18 months old. He was educated at a local primary school and Sloane Grammar School, leaving the latter in 1958. One of his chief interests in life is railways, and it is, therefore, not surprising that when he left school he joined British Railways, and is at present a member of their Works Study Group.
After some six years as a chorister at his local church he was invited to take up ringing. This he did, and started to learn at St. Mary's, Putney, in 1958, his tutor being Anthony Clayton, then Master of St. Mary's. Progress for Christopher was very slow, and at times both he and his tutor thought he would never make the grade. However, he was determined to succeed, and two years later his perseverance was rewarded when he rang his first peal at the first attempt. This was on May 6th. 1960, when he rang the fourth at his home tower, St. Mary's, to a peal of Grandsire Triples, which was conducted by that very-well-known Surrey ringer, Frederick Collins. The peal was rung in honour of the wedding of Princess Margaret. It is interesting to note that it was at St. Mary's, Putney, in 1903, that Christopher's grandfather, the late Frederick Jee, rang his firsi peal.
Having scored his first peal, Christopher made better progress, and just over a year later rang his first peal as conductor. This was a peal of Nutfield Treble Bob Minor, at Nutfield, Surrey, on June $17 \mathrm{th}, 1961$. His peal total of 36 -plus includes 19 as conductor, which is indeed a noteworthy performance and one on which he is to be congratulated.

In addition to the first peal he conducted he is particularly proud of an "all Chris." peal in 1960, and of his first of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods a: Putney in 1962; also of the first peals of Ockley and Capel Treble Bob Minor, at their respective villages, and of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Putney, all of which he conducted in 1962.
On April 6th this year, Christopher achieved what he considers to be his greatest success to date when he called Holt's Original at Putney. This was his first of Triples as conductor, and the band included first peals for two and first peals of Triples for three. His ambition includes conducting Spliced Surprise at his home tower.
In August, 1961, he succeeded Anthony Clayton as Ringing Master at Putney, the latter having left to join the ministry at Salisbury Theological College.
A most interesting incident was witnessed one day by Christopher when a peal band made a tower-grab on the way to ring a peal. Hearing the bells, one of the local young boys walked in. 'Would you like a ring before we go?' said one of the experts - who shall be nameless - with over 900 peals to his credit, quite expecting the lad to ask for Grandsire or the like. 'What about a course of Bourne Surprise?' the lad replied. The face of the expert dropped-he didn't know it!

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION  Furness and Lancaster Branches

The Furness and Lancaster Branches had a combined outing into Yorkshire on Whit Monday, organised by Mr. T. F. Metcalfe, of Flookburgh. The coach siarted from Ulversion. where it picked up people from Kirkby-in-Furness, who started at $6 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The party was not completed until Kirkby Lonsdale was reached. where the six bells were rung.

At Sedbergh, where the late G. F. Woodhouse used to ring, there is now no regular band, but the boys from the Grammar School ring in term time. We enjoyed ringing on the nice eight. The next call was at Middleham, after a picnic lunch at Leyburn. Arriving late, we could not enjoy these bells as they deserved, being allowed only 20 minutes. The ten bells at Ripon Cathedral were well worth a visit: we had not the band to do justice to the ten, but had some good ringing on the eight and a good lower on the ten.
After tea at Skipton we rang on this good eight with Yorkshire tail ends-something new for most of the party. The long run home was via Ingleton and Kirkby Lonsdale, and the last of the party reached their destination by 11 p.m. It was a glorious day in brilliant sunshine. Our thanks go to clergy and ringers of towers visited. and to Tommy for his wonderful organisation

ST. PETER'S, FELKIRK, AND ITS RINGERS

By H. CHANT

F
TELKIRK CHURCH, founded in 1120, has, according to tradition, been so named because it is 'the church in the field.' One or two misguided (D.S.'s epithet) historians and/or antiquarians insist that it obtained its title because there existed at one time a wooden church and that the name derives from the Norse fel-plank, and kirk-church. Another theory, favoured by the present Vicar, the Rev. T. Boyard Webster, is that 'the name derives from the lowest type of ecclesiastical foundation.' Dan Smith, whose opinion was worth that of many historians and/or antiquarians, held to the first explanation, flatly refused to accept the second and knew nothing of the third.

There is really no village of Felkirk, an odd farmstead and one or two houses being near the church, but the parish of Felkirk with Brierley comprises the townships of South Hindley, Brierley. Shafton. Havercroft and Monckton, each of which is about one mile away from the church at various points of the compass. Even the vicarage and the rearest "pub; are this distance away!

The central position of the parent church and its isolation are both its strength and its weakness, but one result is that its congregation and its ringers have been drawn from a large area. At one time. I remember, the belfry was filled with a band of ringers comprising four from Shafton, one from Brierley, four from South Hindley and two from Havercroft. Monckton, so far as I can remember, has never produced a ringer, though i: has provided some excellent choristers.

TENOR OF 1613

There are six bells in the key of $\mathbf{A}$ flat. The tenor, cast in 1613 at York, carries the inscription 'Jesus be our speed'; the fifth was cast in 1759 at Rotherham by J. Ludlam; the fourth, whioh bore the inscription Sancti Warner and Sons, was found to be cracked, recast in 1889 and rehung by Thomas Malaby and Sons. of Masham. The front three added in 1876 by John Warner and Sons, of London, were presented by John Dymond, of Burntwood Hall. Brierley, in memory of his parents.

There appears to have been no organised attempt at 'scientific' change ringing before about 1920, although, so far as can be ascertained. the belfry never lacked ringers. For instance. one of the bands in the first or second decade of the century consisted of a team of brothers by the name of Doughty who, on one occasion according to J. T. White, "rang continuously for at least an hour and a half.' What they rang is not clear for, according to another old ringer. "they followed numbers chalked on the floor and on the belfry walls.
On April 13th. 1912. a team from Wragby rang a 720 of College Pleasure. It was the last 720 of John Easter. then president of the Barnsley and District Society. He died Later the same year
Mr. J. T. (Tommy) White was. I believe, a member of the old 'stoney' team and it was about 1920 that he. along with several others who had gathered round him. began to learn change ringing proper. In their efforts they were assisted by two proficient ringers. Frank Arkinson. who cycled over from Wragby (two or three miles away), and W. A. Wooler from Wortley, who, according to Cyril Normington. occasionally came along with his brother, who was a curate. A presentation of two ricely framed pictures' was at a dater date made to these two gentlemen in recognition of their services.
Their efforts bore fruit. for Mr. White 'The first 720 known to be rung by Felkirk ringers was on December 2nd, 1921 . Rung by:
Mr. J. T. White treble. Mr. H. Cooper 2nd Mr. J. T. White treble. Mr. H. Cooper 2nd,
Mr. M. Perry 3rd. Mr. F. Priestley 4th. Mr. C Normington 5th, Mr; T. Hartley tenor. Conducted by T. Hartley.
Frank Atkinson. who was present, stood behind the conductor 'to make sure.'
Cyril Normington, whose name appears in this 7.20 , was president of the Barnsley and District Society at the time. A versatile musician, he played the piano, organ and cello, and was a member of Felkirk Church choir. He bought a set of handbells and set about teaching several boys, including myself, how to ring them: three of us also entered the choir. We travelled far and wide attending meetings. ringing at concerts and haspitals. workhouses and almshouses, and generally having the time of our lives. He tiught us how to handle a tower bell and at least four of us later rang peals, two of us. Arnald Cole and mysebf, being members of the 1929 company.

SLLENT FOR A YEAR

In 1922 the bells were pronounced unsafe and for twelve months remained silent. They were rehung by T. J. Groombridge, jun., of Kent, who employed a local ringer, Roland Grimes. to assist him. I remember Mr. Groombridge principally because of his performances with three handbells in each hand ringing Bob Minor all by himself. Cyril Narmington says that he rang Bob Major with four handbells in each hand. but this I don't remember.

During the process of rehanging, the canons were removed from the fifth and tenor, and quite recently I was given a piece of metal from the tenor by Roland Grimes, who had kept it for forty years. Cyril Normington, who collected many donations for the bells. gathered logether the scraps of bell metal and gave a chip or a turning to each subsoriber. In order to allow the bells to reverberate after being struck, rubber buffers, fastened by locknuts, were fixed halfway down the shank of the clapper. They were always troublesome, sometimes working loose and silencing a bell, and we eventually removed them altogether
Our ringing must have been pretty grim at the time for T. J. Groombridge promised to supply us with a peal board if we ever rang a peal with a local band. When, in 1927. we accomplished this by ringing a peal of Plain Bob Minor. he was as good as his word and the peal board now hangs in the belfry.

AN INNOVATION

When the bells were reopened on the evening of November 7th. 1923, a novel idea by Cyril Normington was used. At a point in the middle of the service the hymn. A. and M No. 223. "Hark, hark my soul." was sung to H Smart's tune. After the 2nd verse the choir and congregation were silent whilst a chosen team of visiting ringers rang a shor: touch on the bells. When the ringing had finished the hymn continued with the 3rd verse, which, as most people probably know. begins. 'Far, far away, like bells at evening pealing.' It was, even to my boyish mind. a moving and effective innovation. After the service the first 720 on the rehung bells. Oxford T.B.. was conducted by Herbert Rowley. of Horbury. in a team which included Frank Atkinson.
For several years after the rehanging Plain Bob was the stock method, although Dan Smith, who at this time learnt to ring, and others, including myself, acauired a knowledge of Treble Boh by attending the meetings of the Barnsley and Yorkshire Societies. Following the peal of Plain Bob on February 27th. 1927, rapid strides in method assimilation were made and in 1928 we rang our first peal in seven Treble Bob methods, and later that year were ringing a different method every time we met. A note in the attendance register records that: : 74 different methods were rung from April Ist. 1928, to December 31s!. 1928.' It was about that time that the idea took root of trying to equal, if not surpass, Wath-on-Dearne's feat of ringing 197 different methods by a local band in one year.

GROUPING METHODS

The business of collecting and classifying the methods was left largely to me. Most of the methods I collected from the Wath-onDearne company, mainly from the borrowed notebook of Arthur Gill or by consulting the tables of Albert Nash. Seeing that the system of classification we adopted at Felkirk was different from that used at Wath, I rearranged the groups of methods. At Wath the backworks' were taken and grouped with as many 'frontworks, as would contain them. For instance. London Schalars' backwork was paired with various lead-ends to give College Exercise, College Bob IV. Royston. Gladstone. Vale Royal. etc., etc.; other, backworks recoiving similar treatment, whereas we at Felkirk took a lead-end (frontwork) such as Oxford and changed the middle sections to give us London Scholars', Sandal, Ccllege Youths' Pleasure. Evening Star, Chichester, Cawthorne, etc., etc.
Which was the better of these two systems of classification is difficult to say. but ours proved more adaptable to the method splicing we did in kater years.
Aifter I had completed my self-imposed task I wrote out all the methods in their various groups on sheets of paper and pinned them to the panelling round the belfry. We ticked off each method as it was rung, and Mr. White kept a note of the date, the method and the ringers in his notebook. Apart from one 720 of Plain Bob. rung for the benefit of $C$. Normington, all the methods rung in 1929 were on the Treble Bob principle, and, as can be seen from the methods quoted, we never bothered whether or not they were irregular or regular. To $6-5$ 's we gave never a thought! Mr. White's system of recording the ringers of individual 720's was based on the fact that we had what might be termed a 'standard team, viz.. A. Kelsall treble, A. Cole 2nd. M Perry 3rd. H. Chant 4th. D. Smith 5th, J. T White tenor, and that any deviation from this could be noted by writing down the ringer and bell of the odd man out.
By 1929. T. Hartley, R. Grimes, L. Roebuck (who was the treble ringer in the 1927 peal) had disappeared. together with Cyril Normington. who was now the organist (and principal chorister) at Archbishop Holgate's Almshouses, a position he still holds. Herbert Cooper and Freddie Priestley confirmed their attention almost exclusively to the treble. I think it was the competition for the treble that eventuadly decided Arthur Kelsall to ring inside, where he became what might be descrithed as the floating ringer

A 'CRACK • RINGER

Arthur. who began ringing about 1926, was projected into method ringing almost before he was aware of it. He never kept any systematic method classification, but would inguire before each one was rung what he had to do and would listen carefully to the instructions given. He seldom went wrong and I never really discovered how he did it. He described himself as a "crack' ringer because if everyone else kept right he would occupy the emply space! He loved a good 'cease" and was an expert at "trebling them down." a proceeding which Mr. White almays terminated by stamping a peremptory foot on the floor
Mr . White was staid. stable and phlegmatic. He always stood at attention when ringing. stiff as a ramrod. like a guardsman on parade with his feet at ten to two. He was seldom ruffled, although I remember he once gave me a severe ticking off when I grew too big for my boots. I only respected him the more. (Continued on page 459)

The reference to feet reminds me that Dan Smith (like Jasper Snowdon) frequently rang peals in his stocking feet. In contrast to Mr. White, who never moved his feet from the moment he took hold of a rope until the moment he put it down, Dan never rang more than a few changes before he shuffled from one foot to the other, shifting his weight across in his slightly drooping stance. There is an extract from 'Troyte, quoted in Snowdon's 'Ropesight,' which states that : 'A man who moves his feet about is never so safe in a peal as a man who stands quietly all the time.' Dan's comments on this injudicious and somewhat categorical statement were pithy, pertinent and pointed, for he was well aware of his own peculiarity.

Moses (M0) Perry was a cheenful and witty character, and an excellent method ringer; he never rang any bell other than the third. Arnold Cole. who rang the second and who now rings in the Leeds area, was, like mysolf, one of Cyril Normington's proteges.

A MEMORABLE YEAR

We began 1929 in fine style and overhauled Wath's total on August 30th during the ringing of a peal, and by the end of the year had rung 252 720's each in a different method. To achieve this total we often rang two, sometimes three or four, 720's on Sundays, meeting an hour before the service was due to start mornings and evenings, and we also generally managed one or two on practice nights. In addition we rang six peals during the year.
The 'achievement" was reported in "The Ringing World' and earned an Editorial in the same paper. Albert Nash wrote a congratulatory letter, which was published. All the 720's were rung for the Barnsley and District Society.

Seeing that H. Cooper was absent from May onwards the standard of attendance of the seven remilining ringers speaks for itself. I had the unique distinction of 100 per cent attendance. and A. Cole was absent on one Sunday only.
Of the $252720^{\circ}$ s, 119 were rung for Sunday service. Herewith is a list of the ringers who took part, together with the number of 720 s in which they rang; also in brackets the number they conducted: J. T. White 246 (246). A. Cole 239, D. Smith 191 (4), H. Chant 240 (2), M. Perry 206, A. Kelsall 190, F. Priestley 148, H. Cooper 23.

At least seven visitors participated at isolated intervals.

The rest of the story need not take us long. After 1929 'splicing' came more into prominence and among the ringers new names began to appear whilst some of the old ones disappeared. A. Cole joined the regular Army and illness removed F. Priestley from the scene. A. Kelsall died tragically young in 1933; Sunday working reduced M. Perry's position in the belfry virtually to that of a visitor. Fortunately these deficiencies were to a large extent made good and we find the names of W. Tibble, J. Copley (two members of C. Normington's original handbell band), C Cook, T. Cook, R. Hill, G. Hainsworth and P. Woodwand.

All these had, of course, to be taught, but good progress was made and plenty of ringing was done although the variety was inevitably lower.

A SILENCE
In 1932 the bells stood for seven months whilst the tower was renovated and repaired. The grey-slate span roof disappeared from the top of the tower and an inverted pyramid. a cony of that at Howden Parish Churct, took its place.
With the outbreak of war in 1939 a great upheaval took place in Felkirk belfry. Mr. White died in 1943, most of the others, including myself, being of military age were gobbled up in the war machine, and Dan Smith was left with a brand new team of lads and lasses struggling to ring Plain Bob: the wheal had indeed gone the full circle.
More recently, during Dan's long illness and my enforced absence from the tower for several years, matters grew even worse, and after a valiant attempt by some young tads led by some brothers called Coxon. to keep them going, the belk were silent for almost two years.

Now I have been able to return and so start a new band. It is worth much to realise that participation in a 720 of Plain Bob with a Jocal band would give me more satisfaction than joining in a peal of 125 spliced with a team of experts.
H. CHANT.

Bingham District

Between 50 and 60 ringers enjoyed the sunshine. while four teams competed in the District round of the Crawford Cup. A short service was conducted by the Rev. Pickworth Hutchinson, iollowed by a first class tea. The judges were Messrs. H. T. and D. T. Rook, who complimented all on the standard of ringing, but said there was still room for improvement. Winners, Shelford ( 81 faults), followed by Whatton (102), Radcliffe (120), Holme Pierrepont (154).

The District officers and the Shelford tower captain agreed that this tower should not be silent in the future. Other business was the election of Miss Rosemary Preston (Radcliffe) a member, a collection for Orston Church heating ( $£ 2$ 6s.) and the chairman announcing that $£ 20$ had been donated towards the cost of rehanging East Bridgford bells. Mr. Bennett proposed the vote of thanks.

Warmley, Glos, ringers wish to know if they are the first people to organise an outing with ringing on $4,5,6,8,10$ and 12 bells. The towers were Landwick (4), Swindon Village (5), Ashchurch (6), Leckhampion (8), Worcester (All Saints') (10), Tewkesbury Abbey (12). This was their annual Whit Monday outing.
Ringing at Finedon, Northants, has been restricted to Sunday service ringing owing to the state of the bells. Will peal secretaries and outing organisers please note.

Mr. George E. Fearn rang his 1,000 th peal of Major at Packwood on June 17th. This exceeds the late Mr. Ernest Morris' total of 772, and is probably the only occasion in which a ringer has reached the 1,000 mark on eight bells.
There was a happy reunion at St. Mary's, Scarborough, on June 23rd, when Mr. Colin Hopper, of Guildford, on holiday, rang for evening service with Mr. Bert Sutton. They had not met for 30 years, although they both learned to ring as boys at Cottingham, East Yorks.

Seven parishes in the Bradford diocese are to be dissolved, the churches demolished and the sites sold, as a result of a Bishops Commission set up :To consider the present position of parishes in the Deaneries of Bradford. Bowling, Calverley and Horton in relation to population and buildings.' Of the seven, that of St. John's, Little Horton Lane, Bradford, contains a ring of eight bells with a flat fourth. They were last rung ten years ago, but probably with attention could be made ringable.

On Easter Sunday, the Barmouth (Merioneth) ringers achieved their first rounds and, on Trinity Sunday, a plain course of Grandsire Doubles, with the help of visitors. Then on Trinity II they experienced the sheer delight of hearing Grandsire Triples and a touch of Kent Treble Bob Major, conducted by D. Bradley, thanks to "The Ringing World ' and to the following welcome visitors: B. Farrell (Cambridge), David Vincent (High Legh, Cheshire), Brian Jeffrey (Edenbridge), Raymond Large (Tonbridge), D. and F. Bradley (Radcliffe-onTrent) and Ewart and Julia Edge (Wolstanton).

BELFRY GOSSIP

 Rutland Surprise Mor 11,520 Loughborough Bell Foundry Campanile on June 22nd failed after 9,600 changes had been rung when one of the band was overcome through lack of air in the ringing chamber.Mr. F. S. Sharpe is lecturing to the Guild of Friends of Salisbury Cathedral on Saturday, July 13 th, at 2.30 p.m: in the Cathedral.
Unexpected disturbances at the striking competition of the Salisbury District were a slider becoming loose at the beginning of the afternoon and a rope that broke during the first competition touch!
The Canon Precentor of Washington Cathedral, D.C. (the Rev. W. G. Workman), writes (June 19th) that the Cathedral this week received a ring of bells cast by Mears and Stainbank. - Within the next few months we will begin organising our ringing society.'
At the annual meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford an inscribed silver tankard was presented to Mr. F. Brotherton, of Oxley, Wolverhampton, in recognition of his services to the Society, the last ten years being as treasurer. 'May he enjoy a good pint,' wished the Archdeacon of Stafford (the Ven. Basil Stratton), in making the presentation.

Mr. Malcolm P. Phipps, of Chesterfield, rang his 50th peal at Tibshelf, Derby (York Surprise Minor). These have been rung with 116 different ringers, 19 conductors, 31 towers in seven counties. Analysed, the peals are: Minor 17 (Surprise 5), Triples 2, Major 25 (Surprise 14), Caters 2 and Royal 4 (Spliced Cambridge and Yorkshire 1, Cambridge 2, Yorkshire 1).
In answer to inquiries concerning the Ernest Morris Memorial Window for St. Margaret's Church, Leicester, we are informed that the first design, although liked by all who saw it, was rejected by the Council for the Care of Churches The P.C.C. is now waiting for further designs-one from the original artist and another from an artist recommended to them. About $£ 400$ has been received

PERSONAL

Strive for the truth unto death and the Lord shall fight for thee. (Ecclesiasticus iv, 28.)

MAY I apologise to the peal band at Halewood on June 25th, if I seemed unobliging. Some of the band already know that a situation exists which governed my refusal. As always there are two sides to the story, and possession of the full facts would show, I think. that I am by no means wholly responsible for this situation, and will be more than glad when it is resolved. Please don't condemn trastily or unjustly. By the way, it was a good peal and 1 enjoyed hearing it-T. M. FitzGerald. Great Crosby. Liverpool.

MR. TED ADAMS

Canon C. Carew Cox writes:-
It was with much sorrow I noted the passing of Ted Adams, of Warwick. One had many happy associations with him in Warwickshire from 1909 to 1914. and no one visiting St . Mary"s belfry could fail to appreciate his kindly leadership and encouragement. The band, 100. he built up at St. Mary's was evidence enough of his teaching ability. I look back upon nine enjoyable peals with him, which entailed not a little hard cycling in those days. He was a grand. safe rimger, and his loss will be deeply felt by the Coventry Guild, but such as he muse leave behind a long-lasting influence for good. May he rest in peace

MR. STANLEY HONOUR AN APPRECIATION

Mr. John Woods writes:-
Mr. Stanley Honour resided in Lancaster for the major part of 1927-8, engaged on professional work for the raitway. I well remember him coming to the tower of St. Peter's (R.C.) Cathedral and volunteering to help the very backward band
With the co-operation of Mr. E. Jennings: of Kendal, and Mr. W. Robinson, of Ambleside. we made quite good progress. My own red letter day was February 4th. 1928. when I rang my first peal at Dalton-in-Furness, which incidentally was the first on the bells. Time has taken its toll, and with the death of Stanley only four of us remain To fellow ringers at Rainham and to Mr. Honour's family we tender our sincerest sympathy.

SURPRISE 'VARIATIONS'

By Cyril A. Wratten

MR. LEALE has commented adversely on the recent peal of Spliced rung at St. Neots without, unfortunately, remarking in similarly forceful terms on a regrettable trend in present Surprise Major ringing that has made that peal possible.
When Sir Arthur Heywood introduced the 'New' version of Cambridge and the famous Burton band first rang it to a peal in 1887, nobody did it in order to add a new method to their peal collection. The moving of the 1-2 places, by removing eight of Cambridge's 14 false leadheads, meant that a vastly wider field of compositions was available to those wanting to ring the method.
For the next 60 years all the new Surprise Major methods rung were indeed new, and not simple variations of older ones. Then. early in 1949, came Wye and Biddenden, each a simple variation of Yorkshire. each adding nothing to the original method. Similar variations of 'standard' Surprise methods followed slowly: Braunstone in 1951, Southwell and Gainsborough in 1954, Fordcombe in 1956, Quedgeley in 1961. Gainsborough and Fordcombe do, however, have redeeming features in that they not only break up the rather tedious 1-2 work of Lincolnshire but also have only one F.C.H. against Lincolnshire's four.
The peal of Llanfair P.G. rung at the Loughborough Foundry last June marked the turning point. In the rush to correct Brian Warwick's spelling nobody bothered to point out that the method was simply Rutland with Kent places instead of a dodge in 5-6 at the half-lead. Once the seed was sown it soon brought forth fruit in the form of Putney, Havant, the four new Lincolnshire variations (only one of which is less false than Lincolnshire) in the St. Neots peal, and Stand. That nobody took the hint from the lastnamed is apparent, for now that Cambridge, Yorkshire and Lincolnshire have been 'worked out,' the disease has spread to lesser-known methods. Vermont, rung at Harrow Weald in May, is only a 'Kent ' variation of Haselbech, first rung in December. 1957, and Christchurch, rung to Major at North Stoneham on April 25th and to Royal at St. Michael's. Southampton, on May 25th, is the 'New Cambridge' variation of Winchester (first rung in 1954)-and it doesn't have the New Cambridge excuse that it removes any of the parent method's falseness either!

Now, I'm not claiming that Llanfair P.G., etc., are not methods (sorry, Mr. Amos), merely that they reflect no credit on their originators. And since I was myself responsible for Quedgeley in a misguided moment I must include myself amongst them. Seventy-five years ago Sir Arthur Heywood wrote: 'New methods may be had by the dozen by any person conversant with method building, but my advice to such has always been to be sure, before they publish any new system, either that it is better than what already exists. or meets a definite want, or contains some distinct novelty.'
Is it too late to repeat and endorse his sentiments?

ST. MARY ABBOTTS, KENSINGTON

KENSINGTON TOWER is one which has long been famous in the history of ringing, from the 18th century onwards, and many notable ringers have belonged to the band there. Peal boards going back over 150 years tell of some of the performances in this tower, such as what is generally supposed to have been the second true peal of Stedman Triples ever rung: ' The Whole Peal of Triples on Steadman's Principle as composed by Mr. Thos. Edwards was completely Rung in this Steeple. Sunday, Decr. 4, 1803.' by a band of College Youths. This peal contained 722 calls, and at about the same time a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung here which had a call at every lead-end, also composed by Thomas Edwards.
When Kensington Church was first built it was, of course, a village church, but the expansion of London engulfed the old village, so that in the last century the old church became too small for the fashionable congregation, and a fine new church was built to the design of Sir Gilbert Scott. In spite of the proximity of vast modern departmental stores, its tall spire is still a prominent landmark. When the church was rebuilt the opportunity was taken to renovate the bells and to augment them to ten. These bells form the present ring, with a tenor of 32 cwt .-a majestic ring, somewhat mournful in tone when heard from inside. but well worth listening to outside.

St. Mary Abbotts is the parish church of Kensington Palace, and the connection with the Royal Family is emphasised by the name 'Royal Borough of Kensington.' Many of the peals rung here in the past were rung for royal occasions, the last pre-war peal being a coronation peal, in 1937. Unfortunately, since the war, the old band has dwindled away, and the Sunday ringing is now mostly carried out by members of the St. Luke's, Chelsea, band.

The 1937 peal was the last peal rung on these bells until December 1st, 1962: there was a variety of reasons for this long silence, but ringers in London were all pleased to see the name of St. Mary Abbotts reappear in the peal columns of 'The Ringing World.' This peal was rung by the College Youths to celebrate the engagement of Princess Alexandra of Kent (whose home was, of course, Kensington Palace and who was a frequent attender at services at St. Mary Abbotts) and the Hon. Angus James Bruce Ogilvy.

[^11]SPLICED LINCOLNSHIRE VARIATIONS

Dear Sir.-I write with reference to the remarks made by Robin G. Leale about the peal at St. Neots on April 20th, 1963.

1. Firstly, let me state for the benefit of Mr. Leale and others that considering the experience and ability of the band. I was fully satisfied with the standard of ringing attained. I maintain that no more trips occurred than would have occurred in a normal peal of Lincolnshire.

The majority of the remarks in both Mr. Leale's letters are entirely without foundation, and I challenge Mr . Leale to produce his evidence for the peal being "calculated to deceive. What I think is most illogical is that a peal in just one of these variations is acceptable, but if all seven variations are sung together in one peal, this is a 'decadent caper.' Anyone with an intelligent understanding can see that the words 'decadent' and caper' are not applicable.
3. I am going to waste neither time nor space in answering the other petty comments. I leave your readers to form their own opinions, but I ask Mr. Leale to remember that he too has rung 'abortions' (if we are to use his own abortive expressions) : e.g. Saturn T.B. Doubles (2 'peals'). Moreover there have been recent peals of such rotten methods" as Gainsborough. Fordcombe and Nailstone S . Major. Mr. Leale called the first peals of Caithness and Cranford S. Minor, but did not add a footnote to say that they were abortions of Bourne and Hull. Rung to deceive. Mr. Leale? On this point of footnotes. which he suggests. might be an idea for Mr. Leale to read the 'R.W.' each week and he might not then suggest something that has already been done. (Please refer to page 311.)

4. If Mr. Leale delights in criticising

 spliced. why doesn't he try the 12 (7) Spliced S. Maximus. rung at Walsall on February 3rd. including 12th place variations of Cambridge, Yorkshire. Pudsey, etc.?I am sure that Mr. Leale's friends in Amsterdam. Johannesburg Vancouver and Zurich would be more insulted by his connotatoon of their homes as 'towns" sather than by our method naming. These are all cities. Mr. Leale, major cities!
If. unknowingly, I have deceived any of your readers. I apologise, and only hope that they have nut been deceived by Mr. Leale's remarks into thinking that he is doing a grand job.:-Yours faithfully.

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE.
Fairfield. Derbys.

' BLINDED BY PLACE NOTATION,

Dear, Sir,-Until the publication of Mr . Jobling's letter ('R.W. June 28th), I had resisted the temptation 10 join the Spliced Lincolnshire controversy. How many others. I wonder, accepted this peal at its face value because they were blinded by the mysteries of place notation? If Mr. Jobling will sit down for a few minutes with pencil and paper and work out the grids of these methods, he will find that both he and Mr. Leale are wrong. there are 21 different leads, five common to all methods and two different (7th and 4th place bells) for each of the eight methods. He will also find that if one rang Lincolnshire throughout the peal. one would never be more than one blow out.
The claim that each bell did 'all the work adds insult to injury : the simplicity of doing this is borne out by the fact that even I arranged this within the first eleven and a half courses of C. J. Sedgley's 5.056 Lincolnshire in about twenty minutes. With a bit of thought it should he possible to get all the work twice.
Whicit brings me to the point of the 19 changes of method in this peal. I was under the impression that the method should be changed at least once per course to he called Spliced. A comment from one of the legal experts would be welcome.-Yours sincerely,

Eastleigh, Hants.

D. J. FORDER.

ANOTHER VIEW

Dear Sir.-Those of us who wondered wherher or not Mr. Robin Leale's attack on the St. Neots peal was quite justified must have had our doubts entirely dispelled by Mr. E. Jobling's letter on page 437!

Mr. Leale's contention is that although the peal came within the letter of the law, its description gave a very false impression of its true merit and was therefore Jikely to deceive a large number of ringers.
I do not know. Mr. Jobling. but he is undoubtedly a typical Sunday service ringer and one of a grand majority who are a mainstay of the Exercise. These are the ringers who look to the so-catled star performers to set new standards, they are indeed awe-inspired by some of the performances they see reported in 'The Ringing World.
Mr. Jobling states that he and his friends in the Ealing area are happy to give credit to the ' brilliant youngsters ' who rang a peal involving ' 56 different leads' (incidentally, most improbable in any peal of 8 spliced). Without a doubt-he is completely sincere in his admiration, and jolly good luck to him and the many ringers who share his views.
But they have all been hoodwinked!
Analysis of the place notation shows that this unfortunate peal included not 56 different leads, but a mere 15 of relatively simple work, which. although he doesn't realise it Mr Jobling could probably achieve himself given the opportunity!
So. Mr. Jobling and many other ringers have been deceived and Mr. Leale is to be congratulated for enlightening them.
Whether or not Mr. Leale's scurrilous remarks are justified depends on the intention of the instigator of the stunt. If he calculated o deceive (e.g.; It ll look good in "The Ringing World:; and most people won't see through it'), then he has merited severe criticism. If, on the other hand, he genuinely thought this a worth while peal, then his taste is to he deplored and he should realise that a well-struck peal of London or Bristol would. in fact, be more creditable and exercise the intellect of his band just as thoroughly.
A sad aspect of this affair is that such an escapade should be perpetrated by a university society from which one has grown to expect high standards. The peal has been credited as the first of 8 spliced by the London University Society. This is a fine Society and many of its senior members are easily capable of ringing 10 or 12 spliced of an acceptable content. However, they have now officially recorded their first peal of 8 spliced. I wonder if they really want it?-Yours faithfully.

IN ' METHODS' EIGHT

A while ago, a band enticed
Together rang a peal of spticed.
They were told: 'In methods eight.
'Good.' they said. 'for us that's great!'
Four new methods-so names must pick ;
Vancouver for one. another Zurich.
Amsterdam was one baptised
Johannesburg, for the last devised.

We suppose

The day they chose
Dawned bright and clear
A perfect day
In every way
For ringing Lincolnshire:
The peal was reported with due publicity. Credited to a University
But ringers of this seat of learning Now have ears that bright are burning. For someone cried. 'This peal stinksThey were only ringing Lincs!
Look at the figures. the place notation! Which. being said. caused consternation Amongst several readers who. in great huff Wrote and supported B. Woodrufte.
However, B. J. W. to relieve his troubles Will probably revert to calling Doubles,
O- Mr. Leale may just consent
To withdraw the 'decadent'? CLARENCE Nottingham.

SWANSEA & BRECON DIOCESAN

Annual Festival

The pleasiant weather and the excellent arrangements on June 15 th made the 35 th annual festival at Brecon Cathedral a memor able meeting. With both the bells of St David's and St. Mary"s. Brecon, available. ringing for everyone was made possible, before the service and afterwards.
The Rev. Roy Thomas, Rector of Llanbadarn. gave an appropriate address at the service, and the Lord Bishop the blessing. Tea was arranged by the Dean, whose timely aid in opening the tea rooms of the fete. which was being held in the grounds of the Cathedral, to all the ringers and friends, proved very satisfactory
The business part of the meeting was held in the Chapter House, with the Bishop in the chair. He extended a warm welcome to the visitors, and thanked the Rev. Roy Thomas for his sermon, and the Dean, Dr. Edwards Jones, for arranging the tea.

A short silence was observed for two losses by death-Mr. E. Stifch and Mr. W. Buttress Arising out of the minutes, the secretary stated that the money had been invested in Defence Bonds. The inaugural meeting of the new district was held at New Radnor, and Mr. A. J. Lewis was elected honorary District Secretary

The general secretary reported a very satisfactary year. The ringing competition was held this year at Llanfihangel Rhydiethon: $S$. Mary's. Swansea, winning the shield. Notice should again be made to those concerned, of the bells of St. John's, Morriston. which are still lying on the floor of the church. All officers of the Guild were thanked for their help and co-operation.
The treasurer presented the statement of accounts, which showed a satisfactory year's working. Mr. Saunders proposed the adoption and was seconded by Mr. Edwards.
The Bishop then presented the shield and centificates to the teams concerned, and added his congratulations.

Mr. Malcolm T. Johns was elected the new Master. and the re-elections of Mr. J. A Hoare (honorary secretary) and Mr. D. Stokes (hon. treasurer) carried. Tower officials were asked to advise the secretary of the names of members elected to the committee.
A motion to rename the Northern District the Breconshire District was withdrawn in favour of an amendment that the Guild should be divided into the Northern. Central and Southern Districts. An annual report is to be published in future. Mr. Gwyn Lewis reported an increase of five peals rung on the previous year.

The 1964 ringing competition will be held at Neath on May 24th, and the 1964 festival at St. Mary's. Swansea, date to be decided Jater by the Bishop and secretary. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£$ ? and the Bishop was thanked for presiding.

HETHERSETT FAMILY'S GENEROSITY

The peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Hethersett on June 28th, as a golden wedding compliment to Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Back. was also a. Thank you' for all Mr. Back's family have done for the church and ringers over the past century.
In 1890 . one of Mr. Back's forbears was largely responsible for the addition of a tenor bell to make a ring of six: again in 1904 members of the family were responsible for the addition of two trebles to make up the octave: in 1938 Mr. and Mrs. Back played a large part in having the whole ring recast. and as recently as January this year were instrumental in raising money for a complete se! of new ropes.
The Parish Church ringers especiolly thank them for their support over these many years and erust they may continue to enjoy good health for many years to come.

Truro Council Meeting

Dear Sir,-The acceptance by the Central Council of the Truro Diocesan Guild's invitation to visit Cornwall next year has given much pleasure here. ## C.C.C. and Mr. Sharpe

Dear Sir,-May I. on behalf of this Council. add to those you have already published a most grateful appreciation of the work of your outgoing president. During the six years of Mr. Frederick Sharpe's presidency circumstances have brought us into closer contact with the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, largely through the happy and fruitful discussion of a joint statement of policy which was subsequently published by both bodies. Over this. as over other questions relating to the use and preservation of bells, we have had many opportunities to be grateful fo: Mr. Sharpe's ready help and very extensive knowledge
The writer of a tribute in the same issue for June $21 s t$ refers to this body as the Central Council for the Preservation of Ancient Churches. If this was indsed the official title given by the Church Assembly, the work this body has assigned to it would in some ways be simplified. But is the Church of England's Central Council for the Care of Churches it is concerned with doing all it cari to promote the care-which must imply active use as well as preservation-of churches and their contents, both old and new. Consecuently the problems of conserving what is old, and therefore having special historical and architectural values. must be balanced with the duty of nelping the parishes fulfil the needs of a living place of worship. These two duties are sometimes in tension, but can generally be kept in balance and the knowledge that we share a common policy with you is a great source of strength.
C.C. suggestion now put forward that the C.C.C.B.R. should produce a tecninical handbook on bell hanging and on the cause of damage to towers by architectural defects or naglect of maintenance is to be welcomed, and could be nother very valuable extension of the work the organisution has already done during Mr. Sharpe's years of office and since the foundation of the Council.-Yours sincerely,

JUDIPH G SCOTT. Secretary.
The Counc! 1 for the Care of Churches.

Church Tower Clock Gift

Dear Sir,-If any church would be interested in acquiring a tower clock, which is available in return tor the reimbursement of the cost of removal and dismantling, they may like to apply to Mrs. J. Lambe, Berry House. Thorverton. Exeter, Devon. I am informed that this clock, which is complete with a bell dated 1783. was removed some years ago from buildings adjoining Welton Manor, Daventry. faithfully

JUDITH G. SCOTT.
The Council for the Care of Churches.
83, London Wall. E.C.2.

Yorkshire Association Finances

Dear Sir,-1 wish to qualify the statement or the foot of page 434, which will give the impression that we are much more affluent than is indeed the case.
The figure of $£ 504$ is merely the total of the balance sheet and includes the Bell Repair Fund of $£ 109$. There should also be deducted liabilities of $£ 109$ (a coincidence. this figure). The net accumulated fund is thus only $£ 286$. -Yours sincerely.

VERNON BOTTOMLEY,

Northowram. Halifax. Hon. Treasurer.

College Youths of 19th Century

Dear Sir,-In a recent issue of "The Ringing World. the death of Mr. E. Adams, of Warwick. a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, was reported. This gentleman joined the Society in 1890 . while living at Fulham and it is thought that he must have been the senior and oldest member

On behalf of the Saciety I would be pleased to raceive information about any other memhers who joined in the 19th century-there cannot now be many left. We have names of some : i.e. Thomas H. Taffender (1893), George E Symonds (1898), Albert Saunders (1898), George W. Faulkner (1899). Ernest G. Fenn (1899). Herbert Langdon ( 1900 ) and William Shepherd (1900), but there may well be others who are not known to the present officers and London members.-Yours sincerely Ila. Fieldhouse Road. J. G. A. PRIOR London, S.W. 12

Composition False

Dear Sir-I would like to point out that the composition of 5,504 Dover Surprise Major by C.I. Rowson. published in. The Ringing World on June 7th (page 382), is false. There is so much falseness that a few examples will suffice to prove the point. Although there are only six possible changes $1--5678$. ten occur in the peal. Two changes after the wrong position in courses $3,5,16$ and 18 , four of these occur, and also all six occur at course erids 7. 8, 13, 20, 21 and 26 . Thus the third lead of the third course is false with the twenty-first course end, the fifth with the twent:eth, the sixteenth with the eighth. and the eighteenth with the seventh. This falseness is only considering one set of six changes: the same is certainly true for the changes 1---2678. and clearly there will be considerably more falseness.
The basic reason for this is that Surprise methods. being based on the Treble Bob plan. contain in and out of course changes with the treble and tenors in the same position, and therefore peals cannot be doubled with the use of singles as in plain me'hods.- Yours sincerely, D. E. SIBSON.
Crouch End. N.8.

Leadership and Recruiting

Dear Sir.-One so often hears the excuse for silent or under-manned bells We cannot get recruits," or "The young people are not interested,' that I should like to draw your attention to the following extract from the Deddington Deanery magazine for July, 1963. writien by the incumbent.

- Claydon and Mollington. Four boys and girls from Claydon are learning to ring at Mollington. Altogether at Mollington there are fourteen ringers and learners, whose ages vary from 22 years to 11. Learners practise rounds and plain hunting and those more experienced. Bob Doubles and Grandsire Doubles. We are very grateful for the help of an Adderbury ringer. Mr. Bob Reeves. The Claydon bells require some minor adjustments before they can be rung and it is hoped they will be made shortly.
The Diocesan Year Book shows the population of Claydon as 190, and of Mollington 208: Claydon has three bells, and Mollington five.

The incumbent does not mention that the leader of this enthusiastic band is Miss Dianst French. and that for a period of 18 months or so, when Mollington bells were not allowed, on the architect's advice, to be rung, she not only kept the young band together, but actually recruited to it. Since it is hardly to be supposed that the youngsters of Claydon and Mollington are different from those of other villages the reason for this happy state of affairs must lie in the leadership.

Adderbury, Oxon. H. L. ROPER.

Central Council and New Blood

Dear Sir.-Well done, Mr. Slight. and how right you are! Let us sing the changes more often with Guild officers.

Ringers might feel kinder disposed towards these 'get in and hold on ' officers if they showed a little more encouragement to learners. Gentlemen, you could only ring rounds once so give a hand, pull with the learners and help in every way you can to keep all the bells of your respective districts ringing. Yours faithfully. VAUGHAN P. EVANS.

Branston. Lincoln.

THE LADIES' GUILD Western District

The quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Somerton. on June 8th. and was very well attended with a larger percentage of ladies than usual. After the service, in which the Rector gave an interesting talk on change ringing and cricket. tea, which was arranged by Mrs. Crocker, was enjoyed at a local restaurant.
Two new members-Misses J. Crocker and Jane Parfrey (9)-were elected at the business meeting. Ringing continued unti! 80 clock and the methods varied from Grandsire to London.
Next quarterly meeting: Shepton Malle: and Mells (subject to confirmation). J. K.

South Wales District

Chepstow bells were energetically used to rounds and Caters when the South Wales District held a meeting there, which was attended by 45 ringers. Canon E. P. Evans conducted the choral service and welcomed the visitors. Mrs. Dunn. Mrs. Simms and helpers served tea, and were thanked by Mr. W. Scudamore.

Next meeting (joint with Western District): St. Woolos' Cathedral, November 2nd.

THE WDODHDUSE RINGING MACHINE

By C. CROSSTHWAITE

The Beginning

The late Mr. G. F. Woodhouse, a science master at Sedbergh School, and a change ringer of considerable ability, had. for much of his life. been interested in developing a machine which would ring changes on six or eight bells.
He worked on the basic principle of change ringing that a bell can only move one place at a time. and must therefore change with a bell in an adjacent place. Thus for eight bells there are seven pairs which may be changed: 12. 23, 34, 45, 56, 67 and 78 , and these pairs were numbered 1,2, 3. 4, 5, 6 and 7.
Some thirty or forty years ago he had developed a machine using a revolving barrel as the change selector. For ringing Plain Major methods. he used a barrel which had 17 tows of seven holes. into whicit pegs could be inserted. Thus Double Norwich C.B. Major would be set up:

Row Pegs Pairs to Change

|  | 1, 3, 5, 7 | 12. $34,56.78$ |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | 2.5.7 | 23, 56, 78 |
| 3 | 1, 3, 5, 7 | 12, 34, 56, 78 |
| 4 | 1.4.7 | 12, 45.78 |
| 5 | 1. 3, 5, 7 | 12. 34.56 .78 |
| 6 | 1,3,6 | 12, 34. 67 | etc.

Result 12345678 21436587 24135678 42316587 24361587 42635187 24365817

He later improved this by arranging for the barrel to reverse its direction at the half lead so that only half u lead needed to be set up. and the barrel originally designed for Plain Major would now serve for a lead twice as long, i.e. Treble Bob methods. Bobs and singles were made by altering the pegs in the lead end row.
This machine was also arranged to work a typewriter, which would type out the rows being rung. On this model. Mr. Woodhouse rang at least three peals- 5.024 Double Norwich, 5,024 Cambridge Surprise and 5,040 Stedman Triples.

An Improvement

During the late $1930^{\circ}$ s an interest was developing in 'spliced' ringing. and Mr. Woodhouse set himself to adapt the machine so that it would be capable of this type of ring:ng. This required rapid changing of pegs and possibly altering the length of lead whilst the machine was running. He therefore substituted a flat horizontal selector panel for the revolving drum.
The panel consisted of 33 rows of seven pegs each. The centre row was the lead end row. and there were 16 rows on either side of it with additional reversal pegs to produce lead lengths warying from eight for Litule Major to 32 for Treble Bob Major. Each row of pegs had a push lever which wiped out the setting for the row. so changing a row could be effected rapidly
In ring:ng a single method. only one side of the panel was used, and the reversal peg at the lead end would be in operation. When ringing a 'spliced' touch, one method would be set up the left hand side of the selector panel and the other method on the right hand side, and the machine would then change from ringing one method to the other whenever the reversal peg at the lead end was lifted.
A further improvement made at this time was that the pegs now caused places to be made instead of pairs to change. This simplified the setting thus:

DOUBLE NORWICH C.B
12345678

| 1.3 .5 .7 | - | 21436587 |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 2.5 .7 | 1.4 | 2413678 |
| 1.3 .5 .7 | - | 42316587 |
| 1.4 .7 | 3.6 | 24361578 |
| 1.3 .5 .7 | - | 42635187 |
| 1.3 .6 | 5,8 | 24365817 |

Unfortunately, having perfected the principles on which a machine capable of ringing 'spliced' could be built. Mr. Woodhouse never lived to see its successful completion. Trus, he did complete and operate the machine befare h's death: hut with the onset of old age. failing health and the increased complications of working required by these later improvements. the machine was more of a prototype than a. finished model.
Shortly after his death. the machine which had been bequeathed to the Lancashire Association was collected from Sedbergh and brought to Preston by its trustees. C. Crossthwaite and $R$. Leigh. It soon became apparent that a considerable amount of rebuilding and standardisation of parts would be needed hefore its operation would be reliable and free from snags.
Fortumately. Mr. Gordon Thwaites-a member of the Association and a skilled engineerbecame interested and offered to carry out the necessary rebuilding. Since 1958 most of his spare lime has been devoted to this work. and during these five years he has completely stripped the machine. remade more than 1,200 working parts and incorporated several important improvements.

The Machine Today

This consists of two separate units. the machine proper and the bells.

The Bells

Eisht handbells are fixed in an open-sided wooden box and are struck by clappers operated hy solenoids. The sound produced was found to be rather 'hard.' und this has now been improved bv insertine nvlon plugs (kindly supplied by Mr. Douglas Hughes) in the clappers

An electric cable carrying eight differently coloured wires connects the bells to the machine proper.

The Machine

On top of the machine are eight movable brass bars or 'bells.' These make contact with eight metat "place' strips which are connected electrically through a rotary contact to the eight handbells. The 'bells' are set up in rounds, thus:

The rotary contact scans the connections from the metal 'place' strips from left to right, so that the handbells would ring in the order 12345678 .
On euch side of each of the 'bells' are two push-pull rods which move the bells. from one 'place' strip to an adjacent 'place' strip. For instance, in the first change of Bob Major the 'bells' would appear thus:

PLACE' STRIP

As the rotary contact is scanning the ' place strips from left to right, the handbells would ring in the order 21436587.

Two of the bells (treble and another) are connected to pens, and a record of their movements is drawn on a soll of paperthus producing the familiar 'blue line' diagram of the method being rung.

Two important improvements which Mr . Thwaites has incorporated in the machine are: Firstly, the use of solenoids instead of mechanical linkage between the selector panel and the 'bells,' and secondly, the use of an electric motor in place of the original hand drive. The handbells now ring at a constant rate of 30 changes per minute, with a perfect handsiroke lead of $1 / 17$ of a whole pull.

It would be difficult to describe in words exaztly how th;s complicated machine works, and it is impossible to convey the fascination which is experienced when watching the intricate mechanism at work.
All who have been privileged to witness recent demonstrations have agreed that the excellent workmanship of Mr. Fhwaites is in keeping with the ingenuity of the original ideas of Mr. Woodhouse, and the combination of the two has resulted in a ringing machine which is fascinating to watch satisfying to hear and unique in its operation.

Footnote.-As a trial run, a quarter peal of 1,280 Spliced Surprise Major (comprising 704 Superlative and 576 Cambridge, with 30 changes of methed) was rung on the machine on Sunday, May 5th.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Salisbury Branch Striking Competition

The practice meeting held on June 22 nd at Compton Chamberlayne was made the occasion of a striking competition, which was generally agreed to be so successful that it is hoped to repeat the venture. St. Michael's Church stands next to the mansion of the Penruddocke family, overlooking beautifully kept gardens and a lake, half a mile from the A.30. Unfontunately there is no local band, and the bells are not kept in good condition. A team from Lord Weymouth's Grammar School, Warminster, under one of their masters, Mr. B. Price, were there early. Though they are not in this Branch the judges marked them for the:r own instruction and commended their even pace, and said what a pleasure it was to see these young boys so keen.
The Vicar (the Rev. J. Blanchett) took the Guild office, and taking a phrase from the lesson. 'for His pleasure they are,' gave a gtimpse af our destiny, the whole purpose of our existence to give pleasure and satisfaction to our Creator. By this time some ladies of the village. having tea'd two cricket teams and given our Warminster boys lemonade and sandwiches, were ready to feed another 30 ringers!

Then a return to the church for the draw and the competition, much interest being shown bettween-whiles in Leslie Page's tape recording of the ringing. The result was: 1 Fittleton (Grandsire), 0 faults; 2 Wilton (Stedman). 11 faults; 3 Enford (Grandsire), 13 faults: 4 Damerham (Grandsire), 17 faults; 5 St Thomas ${ }^{\circ}$ Salisbury (Grandsire), 29 faults: 6 Salisbury Theological College (call changes), 31 faults. Lord Weymouth's Grammar School were adjudged 27 faults. We are most grateful to Messrs. H. Gummer and D. P. Bailey, of St. Mary's, Devizes, for their ready help and advice as judges.

BANBURY VETERAN HONOURED

Taught to ring about 80 years ago, 720 Plain Bob Minor was rung at Tadmarton by St. Mary's, Banbury, singers on June 25th, as a 92 nd birthday compliment to Mr. Frederick Selwyn, of Castle Street, Banbury. The ringers were: H. H. Alexander (cond.) 1. Mrs. M. O. Gilleit 2, C. T. Wjghtman 3, J. Kay 4, J. Bishop 5, H. Bishop 6.

Mr. Selwyn learned to ning at Bromesberrow, Glos, and it was there he rang for Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee. He moved to Banbury in 1914, and continued ringing until five years ago, when he felt it unwise to continue to negotiate the spiral staircase to the ringing chamber. His membership of the Oxford Diocesan Guild dates back to March $27 \mathrm{th}, 1923$, and he is the oldest member of the Banbury Branch.

A card was sent to Kensington Palace recording this peal ( 3.067 Stedman Caters) and a gracious letter of acknowledgment was received. On April 27th. three days after Princess Alexandra's wedding at Westminster Abbey, it was the turn of the London County Association to ring a peal here. The method chosen, Kent Royal, could not have been more appropriate. The ringers were very pleased to have been able to record at Princess Alexandra's own parish church this official tribute from bellringers. especially as it was not possible to ring a peal for the occasion at Westminster Abbey. OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY IN LEEDS AREA

$I^{T}$is said that a rainy day in Leeds is only surpassed by a rainy day in Halifax. and that the effect of a pint of Hey's ales by that of a pint of Stone Trough ales. All four of these were experienced by the Oxford Univercity Sosiety during its Easter tour.

Saturday, April 13th. saw the party assemble at Barrington Court Hotel. Leeds, and early in the evening sampling parties were dispatched to investigate the possibilities of the city of Leeds. The lack of success of this operation was reflected in the full attendance at breakfast, next morning.
On Sunday we were welcomed by the Leeds ringers at the Parish Church, and joined them in ringing for morning and evening service, whilst in the afternoon we took part in the ringing for Evensong at York Minster. Despite the attempts by the car drivers to emulate the antics observed at a go-kart meeting on the return from York, all arrived back safely.

HEAVIEST DAY'S RINGING

On Monday, at 9 a.m.. the party was collected by what appeared to be the oldest coach in the West Yorkshire fleet. During the morning we progressed from the eight at St Michael's. Headingley. to the 12 at Halifax. by way of the 10 at Bradford Cathedral, where. with the assistance of the Schofield family, the week's first course of London Royal was rung.
After the inevitable lunchtime we eventually found Birstall Church, where a number of people had their first experience of Yorkshire tailends and where the nonthern thrift was demonstrated by a time switch that extinguished the lights promptly at 3 p.m. (in the church). To round off what proved to be the heaviesi day's ringing of the tour, we rang at Ossett and then at Wakefield Cathedral. In the evening, those members who felt they had not justified their existence during the day visited Chapel Allerton. After ringing we were entertained by Ruth and Donald Niblett, who had made the arrangements for the week and ably guided us round the towers.
The following morning disproved our assumption of the previous day. when an even older coach was waiting to take us to Tadcaster. Here we were joined by Iris Lemare. from York, with whose assistance a course of Glasgow, was rung. Then, on to Selby, where an ex-Master proved that, with careful composition, even Stedman Caters can be unmusical! After Junch we went on to Heminghrough, with its pleasant 'chancel step ring of six. and Howden. The last call was Pontefract. where the coach driver operated 1. very slick shuttle service. enabling us to ring on both the 10 and eight.

The first tower on Wednesday was Birstwith. where, much to our surprise, we found there is some countryside within a day's journey on the west side of Leeds. At Ripon, we met Wilf Moreton, who, during the remainder of the tour was a welcome addition to our ringing strength, together with Jo and family.

FAMILY RINGING

At Sharow, the number of children under five present in a tower reached its maximum. with the arrival of Dermot Roaf, also with family. The resuhting chaos would have driven all ex-Master to drink - had he not found the pub shut after walking half a mile through the rain to reach it.
Two light sixes followed, Kirhy Hill and Aldborough: at the latter a broken rope caused a hold up which led to the discovery that the village teal shop. not knowing of our visit. had not yet opened for the summer season. much to the disgust of two of our lady members, well known for their leanings in this direction. At Wetherby, we had so wait for a key to be found-unfortunately other doors in the town were also locked. As we departed in the coach back to Leeds. 'Our man at King's Cross' was seen trudging in the direction of the railway station.
Later in the evening. an informal O.U.S. dinner was held in a Chinese restaurant in the centre of Leeds. This prevented the Master from giving his well known double curry act. Halfway through the meal a car was dispatched to collect pur sadly-missed representative of

About 140 guests, including many ringing friends. attended the wedding on June 29 in of Miss Kathleen North, a ringer at All Saints', Boyne Hill. Maidenhead. to Mr. Alan Horne, Sea Scout Master at Waltham St Lawrence. The bride has been on the P.C.C for the last few years.
Previous to the wedding the bride's fellow ringers rutempted a peal of Plain Bob Major but unfortunately it come to grief after three hours. but a quarter peal was rung at Boyne Hili on July 3rd.
The choral service was conducted by the Vicar and the bride wore a white brocade dress, with a train, and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Sea Scouts formed a guard of horiour, and the honeymoon was spent in Jersey.

British Railways from the station, worn out after his arduous journey back. Certain of the company then returned to the hotel for the Society's annual handbell practice. while the keener members adjourned for the fifth night running to the Queen's Hotel.
All six towers on Thursday, the last day of the tour were eights to the north-west of Leeds. Because of a service. ringing was somewhat curcuiled at Guiseley, with the result that we were able to get a little ahead of time and enjoy a leisurely ride through the pleasant countryside. The other towers in the morning were Ilkley, where a touch of nine spliced came round with only eight methods rung. the conductor being unable to decide whether to set up or call a change of method as fired past a lead end, and Skipton, where a couch different mine splaced

SECRETARY'S ENTERPRISE

After a long lunch-lime argument, over who put mustard into whose ham rolls. we went on 10 Kildwick. Here the ex-secretary in charge of the tower, living up his usual high siandard of organisation, so arranged a short rouch of Stedman Triples as to allow him ample time to visit the adjacent inn to quaff a quick quart and return in good time to hear rounds come up. On to Keighley and. finally. Calverley. where another course of Glasgow staggered round

That evening, some members went to join the practice at St. Chad's. Far Headingley ufterwards becoming entangled with a iair (an O.U.S. tradition?), whilst the more sober of us spent a quiet evening in and around the hotel.
On Friday morning the proprietor of the hotel was at last able to close his doors firmly behind the residue of the Society. only to see two of them being photographed standing upside down in his forecourt After standing upside down in his forecourt. After a farewell visit to the Queen's. the party finally disintegrated, the Master, as is only right and proper, being the last to abandon ship.

KINGSTON'S WEEK-END AT HEREFORD

The Kingston fingers opened their week-end reunion with time borrowed from Friday night. May 23 rd. The handbell ringers presented Bob Major, while a shocked hotel amployee awitched oft the T.V. set. The gathering is now an established reunion stemming from Kingston-upon-Thames tower. 'Brig.' Young, now in Somerset, and George Goodman. Herts, were gathered in plus two more from Herts -Ted Rochester and Reg Hayden-who came for the fun, and got it. Among old stagers present were our bell ringing newly-weds Elizabeth and David Wilkins, and our abous-ro-be-marrieds Susan Rawlings and Ken Newman. not to mention a very new stager, Bob Coles, aged 15, who rang and mixed very smoothly with a party much his senior Towers visited were Abbey Dore, Clodock. Michaelchurch Eskley, Clyro, Bronllys. Talgarth. Llangorse. Llanfigan. Ebbw Vals, Abergavenny, Hereford (All Saints'), Lugwardine. Ledbury, Much Marcle. Dymock, Newent, Ross-on-Wye and Charlton Kings.
Among tower bell touches and courses successfully brought round were Bristol. Ca.nbridge and Superlative, Yorkshire Major, Double Norwich Caters. London, York and Alnwick Minor and Double Court. The handbll touches were Plain Bob, Little Bob Major and Stedman Triples.
For those who enjoy not only ringing but also what the country has to offer, five things stand out in memory: Abbey Dore, with its gaunt abbey church, once part of a Cistercian monastery: the Goliathan wall of the Black Mountains behind us as we left Llanfigan fot Merthyr Tydfil; the sulphur smoke of Ebbw Vale steelworks, where we asked the way and the reply was Wur dyou come from?': the unmistakable golden green of young aak trees; and the raucous serenade of what Margaret called frogs and we less educated lypes assumed were the common mallard.

Eating was good at the Castle Pool Hotel. where we stayed two nights, and where our lively behaviour was courteously accepted. The Radnor Arms, on the road to Bronilys, was pr:mitive but friendly, allowing us to eat our own sandwiches and sing handbells for a certain fee in liquor. And at the Fleece. Whitney. coffee drinkers were surprised by a fine brew served from the bar counter, an excellent innovation. At each establishment the handbell ringers expressed our thanks with a touch.

Pay-off note. On the magnificent green outside the Fleece, the Silver Band was rounding up the Sunday performance. As we stood by our cars for the final departure and scawtering we were called to attention by a very fitting perfermance of 'The Queen.'

OUTING

MALLDEN, BEDS

Favoured wish ideal weather, the annual outing of the Maulden ringers took place on June 22nd. Leaving Maulden at $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the charming village of Trumpington was reached is good time, and the splendid light ight were soon set going to a variety of methods.

With many admiring glances the party goi under way again. and an hour's run brought us to Hilgay, where further ringing was enjoyed. King's Lynn was the next stop. and lunch was taken before ringing on the fine ten. A short run through beautiful country brought us to North Elmham, and it was here that the best ringing of the day took place; a course of Yorkshire Major being particularly well struck, though the standard of striking all day was of a high order. They like it that way on the Maulden outing!
Tea and further ringing were enjoyed at East Dereham. and the last tower of the day was Swiffham, where recent attention to bells and fittings has brought considerable improvement. The long journey home was broken at Mildenhall. where a little of the sight kind of refreshment put everyone in great spirits.

Ringers and non-ringers appreciate the work of Ron Sharp in making the arrangements, and thanks also to jncumbents and local ringers

THE annual meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at Lichfield, on June 22nd.. The proceedings commenced with an experiment which failed; the opening of three towers for ringing during the morning-Yoxall, King's Bromley and Longdon. A handful of the more enthusiastic members of the Society enabled the more interested long-distance visitors to have a sing.
Mora ringers were in evidence at St. Mary's, Lichfield, by 2.30 p.m. but ringing was curtailed here by a broken rope. However. good use was made of St. Michael's (6) and the ten of the Cathedral, until the service, which was held in the choir stalls of the Cathedral. An excellent address was given by the Vicar of Little Aston, the Rev. H. H. Follis, and singing was accompanied by the Cathedral organist.
Tea followed at the W.I. Hall in Lombard Street. after which the business meeting was presided over by the Society's president, the Ven. Basil Stratton (Archdeaeon of Stafford). Presenting the committee's report, the secretary announced that well over 30 new members had joined the Society during the past year. Over 60 members rang peals (totalling 40), and a similar number of quarter peals. Eleven memhers rang their first peal, and the leading peal ringers were Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Key. with 17 and 15 each respectively. One of the peals of the year' was the Little Aston Sunday service band peal of Beverley Surprise Minor. which was a first for the Society and containing a first pealer ringing, 'inside' and a 'first of Surprise as conductor.'
Although no professional bell hanging wark had been completed during the year, local ringers of Horringlow, near Burton-on-Trent. had made the front five of their ring of six steel bells ringable, and hoped to tackle the tenor shortly. The two bell founders had been asked to quote for putting the five bells at Bradeley, near Penkridge, in ringable order.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY  Lichfield Annual Meeting

The Society had sustained the loss of a valuable member in the death of Mr. Ernest Stitch.
The treasurer (Mr. J. H. Aflen) reported the Society's accounts to be in a healthy state. with a balance in hand of $£ 79$. One unusual feature on the income side was the revenue from no less than 47 new life members.
Mr. B. G. Key gave a report on an enjoyable Central Council meeting held at Great Yarmouth and outlined relevant details.
The following functions were planned for the coming year: September 7 th , Lichfield Diocesan Festival at Newcastle-under-Lyme; October 19th. to be announced; November 9 th. annual dinner, Cannock; January 18th, Kingswinford: March 21st, St. Paul's, Burton-on-frent; May 9th, Aldridge; June 20th, A.G.M., Lichfield. After discussion it was agreed to continue the series of Saturday evening practice meetings, but only on the last Saturday of a month in which there was not a full meeting. The Ringing Masters were asked to make a special effort to improve the general standard of ringing, especially the striking. An extra competition is to be introduced.
The following officers were then elected for the year 1963/4: Ringing Master, Mr. B. G. Key: Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. J. S. Eastwood : honorary treasurer, Mr. J. H. Allen (8, Oriel Drive. Fordhouses. Wolverhampton, Staffs) : honorary secretary, Mr. C. M. Smith (' Roiselt.) Walsall Road. Lichfield, Staffs. Tel. Lich. 2124); annual dinner secretary. Mr. B. G. Key (2. Newport Road. Gnosall, Staffs); honorary auditor, Mr. E. E. Speake.

New members elected were: N A. Bateman. J. Faulkner and D. K. Lane (of Great Barr). K. Swingwood (Sedgley), J. Shendon (West Bromwich. All Saints'), Miss C. Parsons (Willenhali), Miss A. E. Timmins and C. Will:ams (unattached). The elections of the following life members were confirmed: T. P. Edwards. N. Bennett, J. E. Camp, E. F. B. Bryant. J. D. Fernihough, D. Butterworth. F. Shalcross. J. H. Fielding, D. Mottershead, F. J. Nelson and M. Wilshaw.
The president presented Mr. F. Brotherstion with an inscribed silver tankard, in recognition of his many years of service to the Society. the last ten years being as treasurer.
The meeting concluding with votes of thanks. Five towers were open for ringing in the evening.

OBITUARY

MR. F. A. PRATT

Mr. Fred Pratt, of Leckhampton. Gloucestershire, passed peacefully away on May 26th, aged 89 . He was the last surviving member of the band which was led by William Townsend and Jack Ballinger, and he had been ringing at Leckhampton for over 70 years, before his retirement three or four years ago.

Mr. Pratt was one of the most conscientious of men in his quiet way, and never missed ringing for service, even in the most difficult times. He also always stayed to service afterwards, and continued to walk the mile and a half to church up till last summer. All those who knew him held him in the very highest respect.
With his passing another link with the past has been brokea: but he was never one for looking back: and one thing which always gave him pleasure was to learn of the steady progress of the new generation of young ringers at the church, where he had rung for service and worshipped for so many years, and so may he rest in peace.

Mr . C. F. Andrews, of Melksham, informs us that the claim of the first peal on the bells at Shrewton, Wilts (page 444), is 34 years 100 late. The first peal on the bells was Bob Minor rung on November 17th, 1929, and conducted by Mr. C. F. Andrews.

E:ght of the 10 ringers in a peal of Plain Bob Royal at Pontefract, Yorks, on June 26 h . conducted by C. Barrie Dove, were ringing their first peal of Royal.
Handbell enthusiasts at Bushey have established a new Surprise record by a peal of Minor in 21 methods. This is the greatest number of Surprise methods to be rung to a handbell peal.
In a silver wedding quarter peal compliment to an All Saints', Huntingdon, ringer, Mr. A. T. Howes, and his wife, the former and his two sons participated. One rang his first quatter and the other his first quariter 'inside.'
Mr. J. J. Webb informs us that it was his brother, William. late of Heston, Middlesex. and not himself who assisted in obtaining £250 from the Barron Bell Trust for Broadwell bells (page 435). We are sorry, he adds, this his brother did not live to see the excellent restoration done by John Taylor and Co.
Darley Dale ringers are eagerly awaiting the arrival of their new Rector, Rev. R. St. John Smith, who is a ringer of no meart ability. He will be inducted on Tuesday, August 6th, at $7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. So that all ringers in the district may join in the welcome, the bells will be available at 6 p.m., before the service.

Arrangements for this year's tour by the Universities Association of Change Ringers are row complete. An effort has been made, while maintaining the traditions, to introduce some other features of attraction. Based on Portsmouth, and including a coach tour in the Isle of W'ght, the eight-day meeting 'covers ' 39 towers- 10 sixes, 22 eights, five tens and two twelves. The whole itinerary, including sea passages, extends to approximately 440 miles around base. Booking is now urgent.

GOSSIP

Wimbledon has lost two faithful ringers in Susan whose marriage took place at St. Mary's, Whose marriage took piace at S. Mary's, was rung on June 29th, and the band wish to associate Tony Bishop with the peal. He is in hospital recovering from a back injury.
Mr. George F. Roome rang the fourth bell at Walgrave. Northanss, to a peal of St. Peter's Doubles without a stay.

On June 15 th the Old Albanian Society of Change Ringers rang the Cathedral bells prior to the St. Albans School Founder's Day service in methods up to Grandsire Caters.

We are asked to state that the lecture Mr. F. Sharpe is giving at the festival of the Guild of Friends of Salisbury Cathedral comorrow (Saturday) at 2.30 is open to anyone. It will be in the Cathedral.
The peal of Cambridge Surprise Royai at Derby Cathedral, which is recorded this week, was arranged in honour of Philip Whitaker, a former ringer at this tower, who has been living at Coleraine, Norshern Ireland, for the last six years.
Malcolm Wade, of St. John's, Leicester, and David Moore, of Birstall, deserve congratulations on the way in which they rang in a peal of Yorkshire S. Major. at Ashby Folville on June 30th. Malcolm scored his first of T.B. Major, and David, who hadn't previously rung Surprise Major, scored his first of Yorkshire. Both rang extremely well.
Mr. Frank C. W. Knight. who, in 1960, had to retire from work. ringing and other activities, is now fit once more. and in September starts a new teaching jab in Winchester. He made a ringing comeback' on July 5 th by ringing in a quarter peal at St . Laurence-in-Thanet, and although the had not touched a rope since 1958, found he hadn't lost the a rope since 1958, found he hadnit lost the knack. I never feit more elated than I did when the conductor called, "This is all," he concludes.

OUTINGS

ST. NICHOLAS', OLD MARSTON
Towers on the Berkshire-Hampsnire border were selected by Mr. Alec Gammon. Ringing Master. for the outing of St. Nicholas' Society. Oid Marsden, and their friends on May 18th
A good start of ringing was made at Aldermaston (8), followed by the noisy six at Midgham. where the long pull made handling tricky for learners. The best ringing of the day was on the pleasant-sounding eight at Thatcham Lunch and tea were hrad at Highclere. In the afternoon Woolton Hill and East Woodhay were visited, and in the evening Burghclere, where the cup won by the local band in a striking competition was an inspiration to good ringing and Kingsclere Ringing consisted of rounds, various Doubles methods. Minor (including Cambridge), Grand sire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major Thanks are accorded incumbents and local cap tains.

R. N. A. P.

WILLINGDON, SUSSEX
When the 30 ringers and friends who participated in Willingdon's third annual outing on May 18th arrived at the first tower. Godstone, they found a band of ringers preparing for a peal. Particulars of their visit were pinned on the notice board in the tower; they arrived just in time for an enjoyable ring!

Willingdon's young band handled Bletchingley's bells. with their fairly long draught, well. but Redhill's bells were a little difficult to handle owing to the sway of the tower. Local ringers including Mr. A. Harman, met the company at Capel (an easy-going six), and here were rung Kent and Cambridge Minor
The only disappointment occurred at the last tower, Crawley. During the first touch of Ox ford Bob Triples the splice on the fourth rope parted, and ringing concluded on seven bells After an evening meal at the Old Priors Lodge, we made our way homewards at 9.30 p.m. We thank clergy and tower secretaries who made the outing possible.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W: June 27th. 1913.

The dedication of the bells of St. Leonard's, Shoreditch. will take place on July 22 nd by the Bishop of London. The bells will be either at the entrance to, or in the church, and will not be hung in the tower until after the ceremony, thus following the example of Surfleet in reviving the old custom of blessing the bells before they go up into the steeple. The four trebles have been recast and the whole peal of twelve tuned upon the Simpson principle. The work, as is, of course. well known. is in the hands of Messrs. Warner and Sons, of the Spitalfields Foundry

COMMON FALLACIES

A'FALLACY,' according to 'The Concise Oxford Dictionary,' is a 'Misleading argument, sophism, (Log.) flaw that vitiates syllogism, one of the types of such flaws; delusion, error' (PATHETIC f.); unsoundness, delusiveness, disappointing character, (of arguments or beliefs).'

All this I know because I looked it up when I learned that the Professor was making a collection of 'Common Fallacies connected with Bell Ringing.' Not, of course, that I was unaware of the meaning of the word 'fallacy,' but I wanted to be sure of my ground. True, I was a little confused at first because I thought that '(Log.)' stood for 'Logarithm.' but having discovered that it meant 'Logic' 1 was prepared to do battle: Logic is. I maintain. my principal asset. I forget what the other is.
I even looked up 'syllogism' on the offchance that I might throw the word into the impending conversation-casual likebut changed my mind because I couldn't fully understand the explanation.

The Professor has, apparently, prepared a long list of such fallacies. I do not propose to reproduce the list here, as I feel sure the proper course is to deal with each one in turn, giving readers the benefit of the Professor's arguments and reasons for the promulgation of the same, together with the counter-arguments, albeit feeble ones, that I sometimes offered on their behalf.

The day he handed me the list I read it through carefully, reflecting that if these were 'misleading arguments' then, indeed, I had been misled. I read the first one aloud: 'Bells were installed for Sunday service ringing: therefore, change ringing, as a hobby, should be subservient to Sunday service ringing.'
' You don't mean to tell me,' I demanded, 'that you consider that that is a fallacious statement?

I was shaking with indignation. My withering tone was an education in itself. The Professor was, however, unmoved.
'This fallacy is a curious mixture of truths and half-truths: it falls into two halves: let us examine them both. Anyone who is familiar with the history of ringing and has read Morris' "History and Art of Church Ringing" or J. A. Trollope's "The College Youths," particularly the latter, will know that although at the present time and during the Middle Ages the primary purpose of bells is or was ecclesiastical, in the 17th and 18th centuries their use was almost entirely secular. Indeed, Trollope states that (and he picked up his "College Youths "): " bellringing was a purely secular sport, just as much as football and wrestling. Many rings of bells were installed or augmented for that purpose and that purpose alone."

I suppose,' he said conclusively, 'that many of the bells in use today, although they may have been rehung, were originally cast and hung in that period, and for that purpose.'

All this may be true, I said. 'but now that it is generally accepted that the primary purpose and function of the bells is to be rung for church services do you really think that the second part of your statement is fallacious?
I suspected mere cussedness on his part.
I once heard.' he declared. 'a well known ringer. who was a regular church worker, a churchwarden and a real live wire on the Church Council, state emphatically that the only reason he went to church three-quarters of a hour before the service started was to enjoy change ringing, and that if he knew that for the remainder of his ringing life he was to ring only rounds or call changes the belfry would see him no more. although this would not affect his church attendance.'
' I wonder,' I said. 'I know of proficient ringers who toil along, week after week, month after month, trying to teach a crowd of learners, when in many cases they could move to another tower and enjoy a high standard of ringing.'
'True; but think of the sense of achievement in launching even a single ringer into change ringing and multiply this by five, six. seven or eight. Isn't it more than likely that the derived satisfaction or natural human pride is the carrot dangled before the donkey's nose rather than the more laudable desire to produce a band for Sunday service ringing? Besides. most people have an innate desire to teach, although I suspect that in most cases it is merely an urge to demonstrate their own knowledge or superiority.'
' Really,' I remarked, 'you must have been singularly unfortunate in your choice of friends and companions, for you ascribe ulterior motives to all human endeavours.'
'Perhaps. Anyway what is wrong with bellringing as a hobby? Consider what would happen if all who treated it as such suddenly abandoned it; there would be many vacant ropes and silent towers. Surely it is better to have the bells rung on Sundays by people who regard it as a hobby than not to have them rung at all! Even if many ringers do not stay to service afterwards if they didn't come to ring they wouldn't come to church anyway. and, at least, the chances of roping them into church life are higher than if they were in bed or pursuing some other secular activity.'

The argument about this particular fallacy continued for a long time and I hope I gave as good as I got, but to report it in full would occupy too much space and rob us of the opportunity of studying others on the Professor's list.

Number two was worded thus: 'The usefulness of a Ringing Society is proportional to its size.'
' I must say,' was my considered observation, 'that I fail to see how you can regard that statement as a fallacy. Surely the larger any Society is the stronger it will be and the stronger it is the more useful work it can do.'
' Ringing Societies are not unions and their usefulness cannot be measured by the numbers on their books or the "balance" shown on the yearly financial statement. More useful work is often done by smaller societies moving quietly, with a more limited or less ambitious scope. They usually meet more frequently and because their numbers are not so great the individual demand for ropes and ringing is less and more evenly distributed, and they are, therefore, able to devote more time and attention to learners. Everybody is familiar with his neighbour and "strangers" become more quickly absorbed.'
"They have their place in the scheme of things! "The drawing together of ringers from larger areas so that the "cream" may be more concentrated at the top; the collection of compositions. data and the like; the publication of reports, which include this type of information. with sometimes lists of churches and ringers: these are things which cannot be undertaken by the smaller societies, at any rate to the same extent. Their meetings have a broader basis, often, but not always, held at 10 or 12 bell towers. Very often they draw on their smaller brethren and therefore are apt to regard themselves (not always correctly) as the parent Society.

The discussion of these first two fallacies continued far into the night. On certain points I was hound to agree with the Professor, but I came away far from convinced that he was right. What do you think?

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL

Honour for Mr. W. G. Wilson

ARECORD of 43 years attendance at annual meetings of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, held by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, has been broken this year. When the festival and annual meeting was held at Oxford on July 6th. Mr. Sharpe was in America: he sent his wishes for a happy and successful meeting.
The festival started with a Corporate Communion in St. Aldate's Church. at which the Master. Canon C. Elliot Wigg, was the celebrant. He also conducted the service in the Cathedral. which took the usual form and had a choir of ringer-choristers. The sermon, preached by the Rev. A. Tindall Hart D.D.. Rector of Appleton, was an interesting research into the history of bells. Mr. Harry Badger was the organist and the lesson was read by Mr. David Smith. of Witney
The annuail meeting was held in the Chapter House, with the Master in the chair. Send ing his apologies and best wishes, the Lord Bishop of Oxford wrote appreciatively of the services of the ringers to the Church.
The Master reported the receipt of a letter from Miss Jenkyn, offering to present her brother's war medals, books and papers to the Guild. When she moved house he had arranged for them to be sent to the honorary librarian.

REPORTS

The Master in his report, stated that 1962 had been a year of steady progress in the Guild. and had been marked by an obvious desire on the part of members not only for increasing efficiency in the belfries but also for a deepening of the corporate spirit of the Guild. Commenting on the growing custom of organising striking competitions. Canon Wigg said this was an excellent method of increasing the keenness to understand and value the meaning of really good striking.
In regard to school ringing societies. the Master drew attention to the formation of one at Wolverton Secondary Modern School We wonder how long it may be before an inter-school ringing association on the model of the Universities Association is contemplated. Perhaps the ringing schools in the Oxford Diocese may prove to be pioneers of such a move!'
The Deputy Master (Mr. Frederick Sharpe), in his report. stated that during the year he had attended 16 Branch meetings and visited 10 Branches. Commenting on the 21 tower inspections he had made. he stated when restoration work was necessary to both tower and bells it was of vital importance that the two should be done together.

COURSES BENEFICIAL

Miss M. R. Cross (general secretary) paid tribute to the value of courses. 'It has been very noticeable that where towers or Branches send their young members to the Radley course, there one can see a new and vigorious growth.: It may be that we should consider either organising a course (residential) within our own diocese or joining with another Guild in doing so during 1964
One matter which came up for much discussion at Oxford and Burford was the motion pu: to the Central Council at Cardiff, concerning the abolition of non-resident life membership subscriptions for ringers who wêre members of an Association affiliated to the Central Council. This motion was thrown out partly because the question of subscriptions to Guilds is their concern and not the Central Council's. The idea hehind the motion had much in is favour, but unfortunately it was not fully discussed at the General Committee meeting. Because of this she proposed to give notice at the autumn meeting of an alteration to the Jules so that in future any motion to the presented to the Central Council must be discussed in ful! at a general meeting of the Council.
The membership of the Guild for 1962 showed a decline on the previous two years. It was: ringing 1.836 . life 57 , honorary 61 total 1.934. Rehanging had taken place at Hurst and Aston Clinton. and work was being undertaken at Clinton Reynes and Padbury.

the new vice-president.
In the obituary Jist. Miss Cross mentioned Messrs. W. H. B. Wilkins (Oxford), F. White (Appleton). F. Wigmore (Twyford). P. Wilson (organist of South Oxon Branch), L. Moering (Langford). T. Harris (Bampton). R. H. Cave and W. Watson (Banbury Branch) and H. K White (East Hagbourne).

There were now six school societies, and of these Wallingford Grammar School had rung a peal and several of the others quarter peals. The international influence of the Guild continued to grow. One of the band at Cuddes. don was an American. and another a South African. An Old Radleian, a ringer, met in Swaziland Father Bertwell, who was at Radley and was believed to be the last pupil of Canon Coleridge. At the present time there were three ringers who had returned from Rhodesia in the diocese, one of whom learned to ring at Salisbury, taught by Peter Rayner. Ringing continued to flourish in both the University Societies of Oxford and Reading, and at Cuddesdon and Culham.

The honorary librarian, Mr. H. L. Roper, : fter reporting additions to the library, said M!. C. Lewington had deposited an old manuscript peal book and he would like to draw the attention of Branch secretaries to the passibility of preserving old minute books the possibility of preserving old minute books and other records by depositing them in the library.

GOOD YEAR FOR PEALS

At the lime of writing 178 peals had been rung for the Guild in 1962, which compared very we!l with the record number of 183 rung in 1961 . when there was the added incentive of ringing for the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Guild.

The honorary treasurer (Mr. A D. Barker) said the General Funds of the Guild amounted to $£ 1.697$-of which $$ 1.572$ was in the Restoration Fund. During the year $£ 56$ 13s. was contributed to the Restoration Fund by 61 P.C.C.s

Presenting the report Mr. Barker said they were all in a much better position than two years ago.

The Master thanked Mr. Barker and the other officers for their work during the past year
Officers re-elected were: Master, Canon C. E. Wigg: Deputy Master, Mr. F. Sharpe: hon general treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker ; honorary general secretary, Miss M. R. Cross ; honorary librarian, Mr, H, L. Roper. The work of Mr P Walker as report editor and Miss D. I. Pollard as assistant to honorary general secreory was mentioned with apprectiation
The six members elected to the General Committee were: Mrs. A. D. Barker, Mr. A Diserens, Miss D. Fletcher Messrs. E. Pearson P Walker and F. A. White.

APPLICATIONS FOR GRANTS

Three applications for grants were before the meeting. Regarding Wheatley, Mr. J. E. Godman said the cost of rehanging was about £550. Miss Cross said the parish had spent £500 on a new heating system and $£ 2.050$ on reroofing the church, which was also to be rewired. It was agreed to make a grant of $\pm 20$.

An application from Chinnor for rehanging. etc., was received and Mr. Godman said this would cost $£ 900$. Work on repairing the outside of the church, at a cost of $\mathbf{9 0 0}$, had been met. A grant of $£ 30$ was agreed to.

Mr. Bailey presented the case for a grant to High Wycombe. The total cost was about $£ 2,000$. plus the cost of an extra bell (£388). There was extra work also done to the tower and this had approached $£ 4.000$. The ringers were meeting the cost of recasting two trebles. The meeting granted $£ 40$ on the understanding that it was not applied to the 13 th bell, but for beli restoration.

SUBSCRIPTION UNCHANGED
Th General Committee recommended that the subscription remain at 38.6 d . for 1964. Mr. Barker said they seemed to be keeping their heads above water with the present subscription; in fact they might be able to publish a printed report every year.-Agreed.

MR. W. G. WHLSON HONOURED
The General Committee recommended that Mr. W. G. Wilson be made a vice-president in recognition of his services to the Guild

The Master said this was a very pleasant secommendation. They always welcomed Mr. Wilson at their annual meetings.
Mr. A. D. Barker, supporting, said he did not think the majority of members realised what a lot Mr. Wilson did for the Guild. He thourht he spent as much time in the Diocese of Oxford as in the Cty of London, where he was Master of the London County Association. He proposed and Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey seconded, the recommendation being carried with acclamation.
Mr. Wilson in reply said he found it difficult to believe that he had done as much as had been made out. He congratulated the committee on a well kept secret as the first he heard of it was when he received a copy of the agenda. Before he knew of this he had received two letters from members of the Guild. The first sent a lot of questions and figures. which involved an eight-page reply. The other was asking tim to judge a striking competition Although he had something else on that day he replied 'Yes.'.

As to whether the service in connection with the autumn general meeting at Windsor on October 5 th should be held at the Chapel Royal. where it would be Choral Evensong, or at the Parish Church, with ringers hymns, gave rise to discussion. After much counting of hands the Chapel Royal won: Miss Hague reporting that everything was in seadiness for the service being held there.

RINGING WORLDं GRANT

In recent years the Guild had made an annual grant to 'The Ringing World.' Mr. H. L. Roper proposed that the grant be increased to $£ 40$. He pointed out that the journal had increased difficulties in meeting rising costs this year. The motion was seconded by Mrs. Lock and carried.
Two other votes of thanks found great acceptance with the meeting. The first was to Mr. P. Walker for editing the report. and the other to Col. Hill, who had recently setired from the post of steward of Christ Church. Miss Daphne Pollard, the assistant to the secretary, had a pleasant surprise-an honorarium of five guineas was voted to her for cutting the stencils for the report.

The vote of thanks was proposed by the Master. This included the Dean and Chapter of Christ Church for the use of the Cathedral and Chapter House, the college authorities for use of the dining hall, the preacher and the Rector of St. Aldate's and Mr. P. Walker for making the ringing arrangements.

THE LUNCHEON

The luncheon was held in the hall of Christ Church, with the Master, accompanied by Mrs. Wigg, in the chair. He was supported by the officers and the Archdeacon of Oxford and the Revs. A. Tindall Hart. M. F. Gibbs, J. E. Greaves and L. G. Reeves, Dr. James Milford. and Capt. A. R. Poyntz (a former Deputy Master) and Wing Commander J. S. Mason.
The toast of 'Church and State' was proposed by Mr. Donald Wheeler, honorary secretary of the newly-formed Chiltern Branch, and replied to by the Rev. J. E. Greaves, Vicar of Wootton Underwood.
The toast of 'The Visitors' was given by Mr. H. iL. Roper, who mentioned among the visitors Mr. Simmonds. who had brought a party up from Devon, Mr. Goodfellow, treasurer of the Middlesex County Association, and the new vice-president, Mr. Wilfrid Wilson.
Dr. James Milford. who now lives in Southern Rhodesia, where is he is a schoolmaster. said he was born and went to school at Oxford, and afterwards at Magdalen.
Wing-Comdr. Mason, former Master of the College Youths, also replied and compared conditions that day at Oxford, with 20 towers available, with California, where he spent three years and the nearest tower was 1,300 miles away in British Columbia.
Speeches ended with the Master wishing the company happy ringing during the afternoon. Coliections taken at the services for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£ 7$ 18s. 6d.

Penn Ringers Honour Their Captain's 50 Years' Service

We record this week a peal of Stedman Triples rung to mark the completion of 50 years' ringing service of Mr. Edward (Ted) G. Bowyer.

For 46 of these 50 years Ted has been captain at Penn and is still a very active ringer. Although his peal ringing has been very limited, his devotion to Sunday service singing and special occasions is most meritorious, and his active interest in the training of young recruits has been a lifelong pleasure.
On June 30th, at Evensong. the Vicar, the Rev. A. R. Gaskell. dedicated an oak table (which was presented by the parishioners) for use in the ringing chamber, commemorating Mr. Bowyer's faithful service. The Vicar paid tribute to Ted's unstinted service, and thanked him for his devotion.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION

Beaumaris. Anglesey, overlooking the Menai Straits, with a dinne afternoon proved a delightfui setting for about 80 members. including wives and visitors who attended the annual meeting of the North Wales Assocition, held on June 22nd.
An hour's ringing preceded the service. conducted by the Vicar (Canon Ramage), and assisted by the president of the Association (Chancellor Dr. J. Alun Thomas).
The Vicar, in his address, welcomed the nembers to this first meeting at Beaumaris for over 50 years. He gave a special welcome to the president, who was a very old friend, atid mentioned two of his ringers in Mr. Raban (lower secretary), who were dedicated ringers. The bells, he said. were the only ring in Anglesey, and were originally six. intstalled in 1819. with two bells added in 1904 to compete with other rings of eight at Bangor anid Barmouth. They were restored and rehung two years ago.
Following an excellent tea, served by local ladies, the president proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and the Jadies, which was seconded by Mr. D. H. B. Millward, who also thanked the organist and choir, and welcomed the visitors from Cradley. Chester. Chepstow and Somerset. and Mr. Tom Butiter (Liverpool), an old friend of North Wales singers.

TOGETHERNESS

The president presided at the business meeting, supported by the Ringing Master (Mr. F. R. Evans). In his opening address, the president spoke of what he called this 'togetherness' of ringers meeting from various towers. He thought it very impontant the members should purchase"' The Ringing World " in order that thev should know what meetings were taking place.

The members stood in silence as a token of respect for the loss by death of two of its oldest members in Mr. J. Goodwin Flint and Mr . IL. Griffiths. Llandudno.

The accounts were presented by the honorary treasurer (Mr. W. Cathrall). The year's working showed an excess of receipts over payments of $£ 13 \mathrm{3s}$. 11d., and a baiance of £19 1s. 7d.
The officers elected were: President, Chanceltor Dr. J Alun Thomas: vice-presidents, Canon Ramage (Beaumaris) and Canon Knighton Jones (Rhyl): Ringing Master. Mr. F. R. Evans: honorary secretary and treasurer. Mr. W. Cathrall: District secretaries, Dr. Woodcot (Wrexham), Mr. Russell Edwards (Rhyl and Bangor).
The resignation of Mr. D. H. B. Millward. as secretary of the Wrexham District, owing to ill-health. was accepted with much regret. As an expression of thanks for his work over many years he was elected an honorary life member. Mr. W. H. Lewis was re-slected honorary auditor.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District

Despite the torrential rain and the difficulty of reaching the village, approximately 20 ringers enjoyed a pleasant evening on the five bells of Staunton-in-the-Vale on July 6th.
Several Doubles methods were rung and Bob Minimus and Rounds, and we were pleased to welcome visitors from Radcliffe-on-Trent and Whatton-in-the-Vale.

Unfortunately there is no local band. but the captain. Mr. Drury, joined in the ringing, and was afterwards thanked for making the arrangements.

Next meeting: Elston, September 21 st.

Bingham District

South Lincolnshire was chosen for the first outing of the Bingham District on June 8th, and a more glorious. sunny day couldn't have been wished for. Six towers were visited, where rounds. call changes and advanced methdds were rung.
Dinner at the Granada Restaurant, Grantham. completed a perfect and enjoyable tour. $\mathrm{Ai}_{\mathrm{i}}$ a committee meeting at the Red Lion, Bottesford, Cotgrave was confirmed for the next meeting on July 13th, and Hickling for August 10 th.
Three new members were elected-Mr. and Mrs. S. Guy and Mr. R. Wild (East Bridgford).

SKITTLING RINGERS

On a fine May Saturday afternoon a contingent of car-borne ringers from the Bridgwater area and parties of ringers from North Somerset met at Linegar to make the bells resound to some good ringing, including London. Later came ringing at Leigh-on-Mendip and an excellent tea at Midsomer Norton. The imposing tower at Kilmerston had purposely been left until after tea and the mellow. easygoing six bells gave out some creditable St. Clement's. Kent and Clewer.
The second stage of this social nccasion. at Farmborough. consisted of a two-hour skittles match, between Bridgwater and North Somerset, interrupted only by the entrance of a well prepared buffet supper. North Somerset. represented by five towers, just beat Bridgwater, also from five towers. Prizes for highest individual scores were won by Mrs. B Gilbert (Long Ashten) and Mr. R. Smith (Farmborough).
The 33 ringers present heartily endorsed the vote of thanks proposed bv Mr. C. Clarke (Wembdon) to the organiser, Mr. M. Horseman, and everyone present asked for a return match.

MAX.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

For the St. Albans District's meeting on June 15 th ringing in the afternoon was at Tewin by a small but useful band. Methods rung were up to Killamarsh, the special method, and several people rang their first course of Treble Bob:

After the Vicar had conducted a short service. a very good tea was taken in a cyclists" cafe at Burnham Green, there being many more people at the eating than there had been at the ringing.

Mr . Penney kept control of the short business meeting, with the wooden bell shaped mallet which is now a feature of St. Albans meetines. Mr. K. Darvill thanked the incumbents.
Evening ringing took place on the light eight at Weluin. though a handhell meeting in the churchyard proved something of a counter attraction.

Keenness at Kilifi

Dear Sir.-May I through the medium of the . R.W.' columns reoort that ringing is still taking place at Kilifif, Kenya.
It was my pleasure to join the local hand of ringers for an all too shont practice there recently, during this shin's visit to Mombasa. Mr. A. Charo, the head of the local primary school, is in charge of the band, which consists mainly of schoolhoys. Ringing takes place one evening per week besides the normal Sunday service ninging. The hand are very enthusiastic about their church and being able to sing bells.
I was most impressed by the church itself. which embraces both modern architectural thinking, qlong with practical simpliaty.-Yours faithfully.

Humour from Letters

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. Leale's reply to the replies received to his leter.
To say that 'activities which fall just within the Jetter of the law, but are calculated to deceive '.... are a 'sign of the times.' is as silly as saying that 'youth today are apathelic, resent authority and take no notice of their elders and hetters ' is also a sign of the times: this latter quotation may he found in the writings of one Peter the Monk during the 13th century. As for their introduction to peal ringing heing something new. this is also silly.
Mr. Leale doesn't seem to have any objection to Gainshorough and Fordcombe, so why to the more recent additions to the Lincolnshire family? Could it be that Mr. Leale is a hidebound conservative. with a great feeling for precedent and tradition, wanting the world to stay us it was when he came into it?

As for claiming to have friends from abroad who understand ringing and method structure so well as to be insulted by having their hometowns insulted by being used as names for poor methods ... well. I can only say that's the best I've heard for a long time. Thanks 10 Mr . Leale, the letter page in "R.W." remains the funniest, beating even - the peal columns for laughs.-Yours, etc..

GILES B. THOMPSON.

Spliced Peal at St. Neots

Dear Sir.-I have been amazed to read the nonsense which has been written during the last few weeks, concerning London University's peal of eight spliced at St. Neots. I would suggest that those people who are not competent to understand the peal report as printed are not competent to criticise the peal, -Yours faithfully.
A. S. HUDSON.

Clerkenwell Surprise Major

Dear Sir,-The band which rang the first peal of Clirkenwell Surprise Major at Willesden on December 13th. 1962. are unanimous in their wish to retain that name for the method. Before deciding to alter the name appearing in Corrigan, the possible confusion resulting from having two methods called Ashton and Ashton-under-Lyne was carefully considered. These considerations still apply.
I am therefore unwilling to accede to Mr. Ogden's request, and beg to point out that the peal rung at Ashton-under-Lyne on May 1st, 1963. was in fact, a neal of Clerkenwell. -Yours faithfully, JOHN R. MAYNE.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

A great welcome was given to Mr. W. Love. when he presided at the Northern Branch meeting at Mulbarton, as this was his first meeting since h's discharge from hospital. Thinty members sat down to tea. given by the Rector (Rev. C. J. H. Sinderson), who also conducted the service. He was appropriately thanked. as were the ladies who served tea. John L. Rice (Wymondham) was elected a member.
Next meeting: Hingham, October 12th.

Striking Competition

Eight bands (three From the Eastern Branch and five from the Northern) competed in a striking competition held at Acle. and judged by the president (Mr. F. N. Golden), Mr. W. C. Duffield and Miss D. Lidbetter. The winning band was conducted by Mr. G. Sayer. the second hy Mr. J. R. Smith and the third (a tie) hy Messrs. R. Dewsbury and A. Bason.
It is hoped to hold another competition in May, 1964.

THE LADIES' GUILD Central District

Despite monsoon conditions, ladies from most parts of the District were attracted to Monken Hadley on June 29th.
The Rev. H. E. Woods made us very welcome and delivered an interesting address. showing himself to be a lover of bells and an admirer of admirer of ringers.
Discussion at the meeting (with Mrs. Lock in the chair) raised the usual problem. of hou to cover our large District by choosing places for meetings which would give everyone a chance to altend at least once a year, and at the same time he accessible to most people.
It was, decided that our fifth Saturday meeting for August would clash with holidays so, if the Hertford County Association were in agreement. we could have a joint meeting with them at North Mymms on the third Saturday in August.
New members elected were Mrs. J. Sadler (Prittlewell). Miss Julia Fellows (St. Albans Cathedral) and Mrs. Betty Fost (South Mvmms).
Ringing continued at Barnet until 8.30 p.m., with rounds for the new South Mymms band and methods up to D.N.C.B.M. and Cambridge.

WALTHAMSTOW'S SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Of the two recent social events arranged by Walthamstow ringers, the earlier one was the most unusual, taking the form of the first dinner within memory of all but the most senior members, who for many years enjoyed a free feast through the generosity of a bequest.
About 18 months ago it became necessary to rehang the ninth at St. Mary's and to rehang all the clappers. Church funds being at a low ebb, the Essex Association's Bell Restoration Fund made a much appreciated grant. To give still more help the ringers instituted a weekly 'bob-a-nob' levy for one year. To conclude the affair it was decided to arrange a dinner to precede the annual meeting at St. Mary's Society, and this took place on April 20th at the Granada, Walthamstow, among the guests being the Vicar (Canon K. Druitt) and Mr. C. Willmington (Master of S.W. Division of the Essex Association). After an excellent meal (with background music provided on tape by Eric Granshaw, piano, and Aidan Boyack, theatre organ), the Vicar took the chair for the meeting and, following upon the usual business of reports and nominations, the Master (Mr. A. Boyack) presented to the Vicar, on behalf of the ringers, a cheque for $£ 40$, being the levy proceeds. to replenish church funds so readily given for the bell repair work.
A month later very much the same company enjoyed an outing to Brighton in such wonderful weather as to induce reluctance to enter the afternoon towers. A counting of heads encouraged wild talk of Yorkshire, and even London Royal. but no more was heard of this after a discreditahle performance of Cambridge Royal at the first lower, Leatherhead. This was improved on, however. at the other three ten hel! towers and satisfactory ringing, including some well-struck Bristol. was enjoyed during the day. At St. Nicholas', Brighton. $W=$ had the priwilege of ringing Kent T.B. Royal with Mr. Henry Stalham.

Our grateful thanks to all those who made their towers available to us.

COLEMAN'S HATCH JUBILEE

On June 30th, the Church of Holy Trinity. Coleman's Hatch. Sussex. celebrated the soth anniversary of its opening. At the services during the day the preachers were the Bishops of Chichester and Lewes. Coleman's Hatch Church, situated on the nonthern bousdary of Ashdown Forest. has a fine ring of eight bells, which has been put to good use during its 50 years.
At the request of the Vicar (the Rev. J. R. Missen), president of the East Grinstead Guild. the ringing at both services was carried out by members of the Guild and friends in North Sussex.
In the evening a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung by E J. Ladd 1. R. D. Dival! 2 H. Vaughan 3. Miss R. Heighes (first of Stedman) 4, M. F. Oakshett 5, A. F. Lewry 6. J. W. Smith (cond.) 7, F. I. Hairs 8.

EXTENSION, OF BILTON CHURCH, COVENTRY

To mark the dedication of the extension to the ancient Church of St. Mark. Bilton, Coventry, by the Bishop of Coventry on June 8 th. a peal was rung in honour of the event. The extension increases the capacity of the church by 150 more seats and cost $£ 17,000$.
At the dedication. service the Bishop was handed the architect's plans, a token gift of money and a gavel and trowel, and these were placed on the altar.

St. WENDREDA'S, MARCH, AT LAVENHAM

The bellringers of St. Wendreda's Church, March. held their annual outing on May 25 th, the venue being Suffolk. The tour had been arranged so as to avoid busy highways and to open attractive vistas affordeü by less frequently used roads.
Numbering 32 in all. the ringers and their friends headed for Eye, a small borough, overlooked by a ruined castle, and for an hour the eight bells of the parish church were rung. A pleasant journey along the ridge above the Waveney Valley took the party to Beccles. The great tower, detached from the church, contains a fine ring of ten, and full justice was done to the bells, the tenor of which weighs 26 cm .

After an admirable lunch, the journey was continued to Southwold-on-Sea for a stay of nearly three hours. The octave here must vie with the tinest in the Land, and the church possesses a wealth of unusual, features and fittings. Known as a 'barn' church-the nave and chancel enclose a wall without a break-most of the building's 60 -odd windows are happ:ly deprived of stained glass, the result being an extremely light interior, and the chequer-work of coloured flints and stone give it an unusual beauty not to be forgotten, evoking much admiration for the designers and builders of 500 years ago.
After tea a visit was paid to Dennington, a small village with a large church displaying if most interesting interior. where the six heavy bells (tenor 19 cWt . by A. Bowell), were rung fo: nearly an hour.
The wisit to Lavenham-not the first timeprovided a fitting end to the day. An invitation had been extended to the March ringers to join the local team at their practice and, consequently, the eight bells were employed at great length.
Methods rung during the day were Stedman Triples, Grandsire Caters, Plain Bob. Kent and Oxford T.B. Major, and Cambridge, St. Clement's and Double Oxford Minor.
Thanks are due to clergy, local ringers and tower-keepers.

WARMINSTER. WILTS

The annual outing arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Pearson. of Haslemere. for Warminster and Corsley ringers took place on June 22nd.
Ringing started at St. Lawrence's. Alton (a superb eight, and the usual excellent picnic lunch. prepared by Mr. and Mrs. E. Norris, was enjoyed by the side of a lake at Petersfield. The afternoon's ringing was at Buriton and Arundel. followed by a 23 mile run to Haslemere, where Mr. and Mrs. Pearson had a delicious tea waiting for us. The traditional game of rounders, kadies v gentlemen, followed.

The last tower was Milland, to be followed by the last rites of the day at The Black Fox.' where we said good-bye to our genial host. Mr. Pearson. Warminster was reached at $11.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. after a day that will not easily be forgotien.

BLABY & WHETSTONE

Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire were visited by ringers of these two Leicestershire towers and friends on June 8th. Eight towers were on the programme. the soute being through narrow country lanes.
After ringing at Twyford and Piddington, Mr. F. Sharpe met the party at Launton, which has one of the smallest belfries in the country. His story of this beautiful old church was full of interest. Lunch was taken at an appropriate hostelry at Bicester-'The Six Bells -and the eight at the Parish Church were regarded as the best bells of the day. Other towers visited were Caversfield, Bletchington (the roughest ring of the day), Woodstock and Byfield (Northants).
In the hostelry at Byffeld we entertained the locals with handbell ringing, in which Maurice Kirk (the life and soul of the party) led the singing.

ROCHESTER DISTRICT

Leaving Sittingbourne at 6.30 a.m., 42 members of the Rochester District of the Kent County Association and friends visited Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s foundry at Loughborough. Lunch was taken at Leicester, and after a short ring at Quorn (8), they were met at the foundry by Mr. Paul Taylor, who, in a simple and amusing manner, conducted them round the establishment. 'All enjoyed the experience of ringing on the eight foundry bells.
After tea at Leicester, attempts were made without success while travelling on the M. 1 to ring a quarter of Grandsire Triples in the coach. After a stop for refreshments at New Cross, the last of the party reached home soon after midnight. To Mr. Taylor, the incumbent at Quorn and Wally Smith, the coach driver, sincere thanks.

TEWKESBURY ABBEY BELLS

By E. W. PENN

ToO an ardent bellringer there can probably be nothing more exciting than a new ring of bells-resulting as it does in ringing once more at one's own tower after many months absence. And so it was at Tewkesbury Abbey Yet it is much mare than just the ringing of newly hung bells-there are many more emotions, which add to the excitement of the occasion. The feeling of triumph that after so many years of endeavour, so many hopes, so many frustrations, at last it is done. There is the feeling of having made, or at least of having been concerned with, a small contribution to the long and glorious history of our beautiful Abbey-of having contributed to something which will stand for many, many years to come. Yet there are regrets Regrets at the passing of the old bells. Regrets that the work of the old founders is no more. But these are outweighed by the happiness of having the new bells-safely hung and ready for ringing.
In these days of high costs it is a great triumph, a great proof of faith, a greal encouragement to all connected with the Church that considerable works of restoraaion can still be undertaken. This is essentially so for bellringers when their ring of bells is recast and rehung. Particularly has this been so for the ringers at Tewkesbury Abbey
We had known for some time that although our twelve bells were not the worst in the country they were far from being among the best. We, and many of those who visited the tower, were well aware that it would be a waste of money just to have the bells retuned even if this were possible. The answer was to recast and rehang the lot. How this was to be achieved was quite heyond our conception.
Tewkesbury Abbey itself is beautiful beyond compare and the more one knows it the more one marvels at the architecture and workmanship in it. But the cost of maintenance and restoration is positively frightening. How could we ask the Abbey authorities to undertake such a colossal expenditure that the recasting and rehanging of the bells would entail? How could the money be raised?
Perhaps, before you are told how, in fact, the money was saised, you would like to know a little of the history of the Tewkesbury Abbey bells.

FIRST BELLS IN CAMPANILE

Tewkesbury Abbey was probably furnished with bells of some kind directly after its origination as a monastery in 715 and certainly at the time of the consecration as an Abbey in 1123.

The first bells at Tewkesbury Abbey were not, however, hung in the tower, but in a campanile which formerly stood in the church grounds. In 1582 this building was in a state of disuse and was converted by Her Majesty's Justices into a gaol for half the shire. It was used for this purpose for over 200 years. The site is now occupied by the Abbey Hall-this building was at one time used for school purposes.
At the surrender of the Monastery of Tewkesbury in 1539. there were eight bells in the Abbey tower, and when a short time afterwards Henry VIII sold the church and its appendages to the parishioners the bells were estimated by the King's Commissioners, to weigh 14.200 lb . They were valued at (wenty shillings per hundred pounds weight and, consequently. cost the town $£ \mathrm{~T} 42$.
The number was afterwards reduced, as for some time prior to 1612 there were only four bells in the tower. In 1612. a fifth was added, an event which was celehrated in the following lines, by one who was probably a better bellringer than poet:

William Dixon and Thomas Hoare
Made us that bell which we ringe before
Which men, for that good deede, praie we they maie thrive.
For we, havinge but foure bells, they made them five :
And out of the grownde this bell they did delve,
The 24th' of July ano dom, 1612.'

It is recorded that these five bells were recast and a sixth added in 1632 at an expense of nearly t 100 .
In 1646 . the six bells were again recast and the number once more increased to eight. The cost was either wholly or in great part defrayed by voluntary subscription.
In 1717, the sieventh bell was recast at Gloucester, at an expense of $\pm 616 \mathrm{~s}$. Od.
In 1725, the second bell was also recast, at the foundry at Gloucester, and cost $£ 10$ 10s.
In 1743. the recasting of the treble bell cost £) 13s. 9d.; and the 'putting in order' of the seventh and eighth in 1771 was charged $\pm 15$ 7s. 9d,
In April. 1837, the whole of the bells were laken down and conveyed to Gloucester ; the fifth and tenor bells were there recast, and the others accurately tuned, by Mr. Thomas Mears, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, who had succeeded Mr. John Rudhall.

SUBSTANTIAL ALTERATIONS

On the 6th of June, thie eight bells were again safely placed in the tower and afterwards. so it is reported. very cleverly hung by a Mr. James Cull. builder of the borough: who at the same time erected a new aak frame for them. and fixed it in the north-east corner of the building, instead of in the south-west angle, where the former one had always stood. He had previously laid down an entirely new floor in the bell chamber, in lieu of an old and decayed one, which had become exceedingly dangerous: this he formed ô three-inch red deal planks, iron tongued, and supported it by several new substantial beams. rendered steady and secure by means of numerous strong deal struts, spring ing from stone corbels in the walls of the tower. Wiuh the best of the materials of the old bell room floor, a new new ringing loft was erected, with stairs leading to it from the original belfry, and thus the ringers were placed upwards of twenty feet nearer the bells than they were before.

The new bells were charged at 15d. per lb . and 11 d . per lb. was allowed for upwards of 33 cwt . of old metal in exchange. The bell founder's charges were

FIRST PEAL
On October 16th. 1837, the hanging of the bells having been completed some admirable change ringing was performed by the ringers from Cheltenham, Painswick and Longney. It is reported that Longney men first entered the belfry and gave a few touches of Stedman Triples in their usual excellent style. The Cheltenham Society next rang a true and complete peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, containing 5,184 changes, which they scientifically brought round in three hours and six minutes; and as these men were perfea strangers to the bells this was, at the time. considered to be one of the most extraordinary feats in the annals of ringing.' The celebrated Pains wick Youths then took the ropes, which they handled with much skill, and admirably executed several touches of Stedman Triples. The churchwardens, their friends, and the ringers afterwards dined together at the Bell Inn and spent a very convivial and pleasant evening.
The following were the jnscriptions upon the respective bells, with the dates when they were cast and weights:
Treble-Jos. Peace \& Wm. Hathaway, C. Wardens, 1743 ; 5 cwt. 2 qr. $17^{\circ} \mathrm{lb}$.
2nd.-Prosperity to this Town, 1725; 5 cwt .

Tenor.-Rev. Chas. White, vicar, Henry Brydges & Hugh Martin, churchwardens. 1837. T Mears fecit; 23 cwt . 2 qr .9 lb .
These eight bells continued until 1914 and in that year two trebles were added by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. raising the ring o 10. Two further trebles were added in 1933 by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, to make a ring of 12 .

TRIBUTE TO REV. C. D. P. DAVIES
A plaque in the bellringing chamber reads: -To the Glory of God and in thankful remembrance of the life and work of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, M.A. Co-founder of the Gloucester and Bristol Association and its Master, 1885. 1903. 1927, and the two treble bells were added and the whole peal retuned by ringers and friends at home and overseas. For fitty years he devoted his great talent to the furtherance of the art and science of change ringing. May 19th, 1934.
At the same time the old trebles, now the 3 rd and 4 th. were recast and the other bells tuned.

For many years there had been dissatisfaction with the bells particularly with the tonal qualities. It was felt by knowledgeable ringers tha! the only solution was to have the ring recast and rehung and that the weight should be increased to make the ring more appropriate to a ring of 12 and to the magnitisent Abbey Church.

APPLETON, BFRKS

On the wettest Saturday of the summer, the Appleton ringers held their annual outing, and such is Appleton, everyone had a most enjoyable day, and when we left Cheltenham at 11 p.m. for the homeward journey all were full to the brim' with happy thoughts of a good ringing day.
Throughout. the ringing was extremely good At Chepstow, a bride and bridegroom had the bells rung without puyment, and there was a call afterwards at the King's Arms to drink the health of the happy couple.

Anyone contemplating an outing should avoid Newport at midday on a Saturday. We found the quickest way to the tower was to abandon the bus and walk to St. Woolos'. Here a very creditable course of Grandsire Cinques was rung.
Then to Usk (quite a useful eight), but I expected the memory here will be of a very heautifully kept belfry; also we surpassed ourselves and rang a course of Cambridge. A wonderful tea put us in a good mood (it was still raining hard) for the final tower. Abergavenny, and the ringing was rounded off with three excellent courses of Stedman Caters on this good ten, which are spoiled in the tower by too much hum.

Frank White is to be congratulated on arganising a very good outing.
W. H.

LAVENHAM

On June 29th Lavenham ringers held their annual outing, visiting Watford. Hemel Hempstead. St. Albans ((Cathedral). Harpenden and Luton. Methods rung were Plain Bob Major and Royal, Grandsire Triples and Caters, Kent, Double Norwich and Stedman Triples; M. T. Symonds and C. Stannard sharing the conducting. The ringers would like to thank the clergy of the towers visited and the ringing friends who met them and helped to make the outing very enjoyable. M.T.S.

SHELFORD VISJ'T HEREFORISSHIRE

One of the many summer outings arranged by the Shelford ringers was that to Herefordshire on Whit Monday and various contingents from Notts, Herts and Northants converged on Kington. Some of the band found the bells a little difficult, but Lyonshall's proved to be a joy to listen to and to ring. Touches of Oxford T.B.. Plain Bob and Cambridge did justice to the bells.
Almeley proved to have another fine ring and Pembridge has a unique detached tower. King's Pyon, with a church nearly 1,000 years old. has a lighter ring than the previous tower, and our handling troubles must have amused the two ringers who met us.

After a wayside halt for lunch, everybody felt livelier for the musical eight at Burghili Single Oxford, Sandal and Norwich were tapped off at Holmer. Tea was taken near Hampton Bishop, and from this ground floor ring good touches of Kent T.B., Single Oxford and Primrose were rung. At Fownhope we received one of the warmest welcomes from the Vicar and his son, and the visit was thoroughly enjoyed.

At Woolhope. a solid tower overlooking the Wye, Oxford TJB. and Plain Bob with new ropes were a not too good combination. A run through the narrowest of country lanes led to Stoke Edith and a tiring band limped their way to the last tower, Stretton Grandison.
To all who contributed to the success of the outing we express our thanks, especially to the Secretary for the ringing arrangements
D. B.

BALDOCK, HERTS

Once again Baldock ringers and friends were very fortunate with the weather when they went on their annual outing on June 15 th. Such good time was made that we arrived half an hour early at Daventry. Holy Cross is a Wren type church in yellow stone, and possesses an anti-clockwise octalve, with ? tenor of nearly 19 cwt . On to St. Nicholas', Warwick, distinctively wide for its length. The casy-going 14 cwt. octave was ideal for "just before lunch. Stratford-on-Avon would be rightly celebrated for its position and the ten bells in Holy Trinity Church without needing to rely upon its Shakespearean connections. A wedding was in progress, and many of us were able to sit on the wall of the churchyard and watch the regatta before ringing.

Away to tea at Evesham, that lovely market town, before we were crowded out by tourists. To one who has not been to the bell tower, the arrangement of the two churches and separate tower comes as a surprise. The sun shone and the stonework glowed golden. Up in the ringing chamber we found the ropes very springy, but we improved with practice. A 36 cwt . (all but a few pounds) tenor to twelve bells takes a little bit of getting used to, even from round the front end.
The last tower was Tanworth-in-Arden, a pleasant village with a 12 cwt . eiglt. where one member was so wrapped in thought that he left his pullover there. Our thanks are due to Mr. E. G. Buck, who organised the outing. and those who made us welcome.
J. S.

A DEVON HALF-DAY

Arranged by Mr. A. L. Bennett, a half-day excursion for members of the Devon Guild was held on June 8th. Towers visited were Rewe, near Exeter. Plymtree, Luppitt (best tower of the day), and, after tea at Honiton, Shute. near Exeter. Methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent T.B. Minor.

Eleven peals out of 13 attempts were rung during a South Midland peal week arranged by Mr. Cyril A. Wratten. On July 1st, Canadian Dominion Day, the first peal of Vancouver Surprise Major (one of the offsprings of Lincolnshire) was rung. The peals lost were Double Norwich at Stratton St. Margaret, Wilts, and Hinton Surprise at St. Ebbe's, Oxford.
The rededication of Padbury, Bucks, restored bells will take place on Saturday, July 20th, at 3 p.m. The Bishop of Dorchester will perform the ceremony.
The honorary secretary of Harpenden singers asks us to state that their practice night is on Wednesday, as it has been for many years and not Thursday.
Another peal ringing week, recorded this week, is that promoted by Devonshire singers. with six successes. Highlights were a peal of Royal at Plymouth and the first peal on the bells at Bridestowe.
At Evington, Leics, a quarter peal of 20 methods of Minimus was rung on May 13 th. Mr. S. Edwards, the conductor, asks if this is a record for the number of methods in a quarter peal of Minimus.
Ringers of yesteryear in the Manchester and Sussex areas will be sorry to hear that Mr. Fred Page is now in hospital. A member of Manchester City Police Guild and a leading conductor of Stedman Cinques at the Town Hall there, he setired to Sussex about 1930, continuing to ring untid recent years. Letters can reach him through his wife, at 10, Lancing Close, North Lancing, Sussex.
Central District secretary of the Ladies' Guild writes: "Members may be pleased to know that at last, after three years of letter writing, we have managed to arrange a meeting at Leytonstone for November 30th. As the following meeting will be on February 29th, all eligible persons are asked to please note.' (A stock of Jadies' gloves of various sizes, please, may be an advantage to gentlemen visitors!)

To commemorate Mr . T . H. Taffender's 50 years as Master of the London County Association. Mr. C. W. Roberts composed a special peal of Stedman Caters, which, after some failures, was rung on July 3rd. Other names associated with the attempts were Mrs. Rogers, F. W. Goodfellow, F. E. Hawthorne, C A. Hughes and C. N. Ottley, all old friends of T. H. Taffender. The composer, also an old friend, could not be persuaded to stand in.
Mrs. R. Murrell, of Warfield, Berks, rang in a quarter peal in honour of her son's 21st birthday at Easthampstead Church.
Correction.-The peal rung at Penn on June 29th was Stedman Triples, and not Grandsire Triples as printed on page 475.
There were four Bibbys ringing in the 21st birthday peal for John K. Bibby at Frodsham, Cheshire, which enabled him to score his first peal as conductor.
The ringer of the treble in the peal at Castle Acre. Norfolk, was Douglas Burnett, and not David. He is the Master of the Truro Diocesan Guild and had attended the Central Council meeting at Great Yarmouth

After a lapse of several years it is hoped to restart Hawkhurst and District Guild, with a meeting at Hawkhurst next Saturday. The lapse was due to lack of support, but it is felt that the Guild can do useful work in the area.

The Friezland company won the Halifax and District Association's annual cup competition at Penistone on July 6th. Other teams competing were Shelley, Silkstone and Meltham. The judge. $\mathbf{M r}$. H. Sykes, commended all the teams on their standard of ringing.

With a peal at Bourton-on-the-Water, Mr. V. Griffin, of Swindon, completed his 100 peals-a 16 years' task. In his peals he rang with 202 different ringers, in 47 different towers, for nine Associations. His interesting dist ranges from Doubles to Surprise Royal ( 10 different methods). Seventeen different Surprise Major peals have been rung out of 24 peals. In Surprise Minor, however, a 41 methods peal was rung.

On June 19th. 12 members' paid a visit to the eight bell tower of Escrick, where an enjoyable ring was had by all who attended

The college porter and the Dean of York (once chairman of the college governors) died in the early part of June. and a half-muffled quarter peal was rung as a tribute to them on the hells at the Architectural Institute

OBITUARY

MISS BERTHA M. MILLS

A founder member of the Ladies' Guild, Miss Bertha M. Mills, died on July 7th at 106 , Brixton Road. S.W. The cremation service was at Aldershot on July 11th.

Miss Mills started ringing at Aldershot with George Gilbert. Later she moved to London to live with her brother and sister, and rang at St. Giles', Camberwell. She had the distinction of ringing in the first all ladies" Surprise peal at Crayford in 1928. and was known to all the older London ringers.

'R.W.' July 11 the 1913 -

Last Monday was the 162 nd anniversary of the first performance of Holt's Original. This famous peal was first rung at St. Margaret's. Westminster, and was called by Holt, who sat in the belfry. The board in the steeple records it as "the first true and complete peal of 5.040 Grandsire Triples.' but this. the Jate Mr. Jasper Snowdon has pointed out, probably refers to the first with two singles only. The peal was rung on Sunday. July 7th, 1751, by the Society of Union Scholars

Incidentally, it is worthy of note that on July 8 th. 1750 . John Holt called a peal of Double Bob Major at Si. Margarets, and on July 9th. 1749, 6.000 Boh Major at the same tower. A tablet in St. Laurence s Church. Reading, records a peal of Grandsire Triples rung there on July 8th. 1734.

PEAL RECORDS  By DENIS A. BAYLES

NATIONAL Productivity Year, as 1 see it. brings a challenge to review traditional practices in the light of changing conditions and examine critically how far they are relevant today and for the future trends. This will often involve consideration of what is the real objective and how far that has become obscured in the course of the years. I suggest that this process could be usefully applied to the recording of peals.

The last 25 years have seen tremendous changes in world conditions and in this country today we are told that we are in an affluent society. There is no doubt that ringers today enjoy a greater mobility and one of the results of this is the ringing of more peals by bands drawn from a fairly wide area. Besides these changes in the everyday world there have been significant changes in the world of ringing. The first of these was the change in ownership of 'The Ringing World' in 1942, when it was acquired by the Central Council after the death of John S. Goldsmith. The second has been the introduction and widespread adoption of place notation, initiated by the Corrigan publications, and the third has been the publication of Dove's Guide

During this same period there have been but two alterations in the recording of peals in 'The Ringing World,' the second of which was merely a change of position of the peal columns from the front to the back of the paper. In the records themselves there has been the omission of the word 'changes' so that today we have 'A Peal of 5040 Grandsire Triples' instead of 'A Peal of Grandsire Triples, 5040 Changes,' to give an illustration.
What is the objective in a peal record? Surely the main one is to record that a particular sequence of changes was rung on a particular set of bells on a particular occasion by a particular band of ringers. In times when printing costs show no signs of remaining steady it is obviously wasteful to make the record more elaborate than is necessary. Let us examine the peal record under these various headings of bell, changes, ringers, etc., in the light of the new conditions.

BELLS

The publication of Dove's Guide is the new factor here. This shows that the majority of places contain only one set of bells. Often in these cases the name of the county could be omitted without causing ambiguity, but. personally. 1 would favour the retention of the county as an aid to the location of peals regionally. The dedication of a church is not often needed, as I have just said, but even then the words "At the Church of. . are quite unnecessary and All Saints'. Largetown, would be sufficient. Where all the bells in the tower are used or the reduced number is the "back" set. the weight of the tenor is readily available in Dove's Guide. This item was probably included originally as a cross-check against the time recorded, but it serves no useful purpose today. One can only make valid comment on the time taken for a peal if one knows the bells and the ringers involved. 'Tenor 20 cwt .' can cover a very wide variation of 'go.' and even a given tenor responds differently in the hands of different ringers.

CHANGES

The words 'A Peal of ...' are unnecessary in individual reports. The number of changes shows whether or not the touch is a peal, and, in any case, the column has been headed 'Eight Bell Peals.' Instead of saying ' A Peal of 5056 Cambridge Major' as at present it would suffice to say ' 5056 Cambridge Surprise,' since the column heading shows it to be on eight bells.

In the naming of individual methods it is clearly time that the real objective was brought back into view. This is simply to provide a shorthand way of referring to a set of figures and there is no doubt that a simple place name is very much shorter than a lead of a method. Today place notation is widely used and many names show very little economy against half a lead set out thus. When the longest place name for Wales is chosen the position is reversed and the real objective has been completely obscured. Is there any need to name a new method these days? With most of these new methods almost the only incentive to ring them has disappeared once the first peal has been achieved and they are unlikely to be rung again. A name is not reliable in checking records of what has heen rung and the figures have to be produced to make sure. Some of these new methods may be required for splicing and it could be argued that a name would be needed in those cases. Welsh names are not the hest for this purpose!

Names have also been chosen simply to use initial letters that had not been used before so that some ringers could complete an 'alphabet,' although what significance this has beyond indicating that at least twenty-six different methods have been rung has never been clear to me. London and Lincolnshire both begin with L. but I have not observed very much in common between them. The common points between Lincolnshire and other methods beginning with a variety of other letters has been pointed out much too recently to need repetition here.

The old practice of a new method being named by the place where it was first rung was quite satisfactory while the number of methods involved was small, but it now seems outdated. There seems to me to be some sort of parallel to the naming of compounds in organic chemistry. In the early days when known compounds were few. names were given based on the source of the compound or some outstanding property, but as numbers increased it was seen that there was the need for a systematic nomenclature, where the name would show the structure of the compound. This has been done, but the earlier names are still used for common compounds in frequent use. Is it not possible to have a systematic nomenclature for Surprise Major? A start was made in this direction, surely, when Treble Bob methods were subdivided into Surprise. Delight and Treble Bob methods and this could probably be extended. Systematic nomenclature would not tax the ingenuity of bands ringing new methods and would eliminate disputes about naming.

A complete record of a sequence of over 5.000 changes requires a precise record of the composition used. Many peal reports in 'The Ringing World ' lack sufficient detail for this purpose and it is impossible from those reports alone to ascertain precisely what changes were rung. John Carter produced more than one peal of Stedman Caters and Gabriel Lindoff more than one of London Major. It is very unlikely that these compositions will turn out to be false, but a year or two ago certain arrangements for Cambridge and Superlative given in a Central Council publication were discovered to be false. It was not then posssible to go through the Central Council peal records and delete the false peals. It simply had to be left to any conductor to withdraw his peal. Many Associations keep a full record of the compositions, but there is no obligation on them to do so. From this point of view I consider that the official peal records have never been complete. About the only way that this deficiency could be remedied would be by giving all compositions C.C. reference numbers.

LADIES' GUILD A.G.M. AT IPSWICH

THOW many Guilds or Associations, we hers leave home at 4 oiclock in the morning in order to attend the annual general meeting? Ten of the Ladies Guild's thirteen Districts were represented at Ipswich on July 6th, and members travelled from places as far apart as Devon and Lincolnshire, Somerset and Cheshire in order to be present. The Eastern District, re-formed in 1961. Were hostesses and had made excellent arrangements for the day. Seven towers were open during the day and at several of these a rota had to be organised so that everyone could get a ring.
The Guild service was held at St. Margaret's Church at 4.15 p.m.. conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. Marks), who did not give an address, but who welcomed the ladies to Ipswich. and especially to St. Margaret's. Tea followed in the Garrett Memorial Hall. when a hundred members and friends were joined by the Vicar of St. Margaret's and by Mr. J. W. Blythe, the general secretary of the Suffolk Guild.

Blythe said he felt very honoured to have been asked to say a few words of welcome to the Ladies' Guild at their annual general meeting in Ipswich. He felt even more honoured when he realised that the Ladies' Guild had been founded in 1912, but this appeared to be the first time they had held their annual meeting in the diocese, and at that rate it did not look as if he would have another opportunity of doing so!
30 YEARS IN THE CENTRAL COUNCIL
At the business meeting which followed, with the president, Mrs. O. Barnett. in the chair, a special work of thanks was said to Mrs. A. Richardson. Who had represented the years and had only missed two meetings. a wonderful record. In her reply, Mrs. Richardson thanked the members for electing her an honorary life member, an honour which she greatly appreciated. She had made many friends through ringing and her work for the Guild had always given her a great deal of pleasure and happiness.
Five new members were elected. Miss Diana Carter (Harwich). Mrs. Anna Lawrence and Miss Pauline Jepperson (Hampton), Miss Penelope Paige (Wraysbury) and Miss Jenifer Ransom (North Mymms).

As no nominations had been received from the Districts in the stipulated time, the officers were re-elected en bloc and were thanked for their services during the past year.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Due perhaps to the calls of haymaking. the attendance at the Marlhorough Branch meeting at Chiseldon on Iune 15th was not so good as usual, but this was compensated for by visitors from other branches. After a service, conducted by Mr. G. Bowman (lay reader), a tea in the traditionally generous Chisledon fashion was laid on at the Youth Club by Mrs. Court and helpers.
Business was brief at the meeting. presided over by Mr. A. Johnson (vice-chairman). Towers selected for the July and August meetings were Chilton Foliat and West Overton, and the Worcester area is to be visited on the annual outing in September. Vates of thanks preceded a return to the tower

The July meeting was at Felkirk and during the afternoon the plaque to the memory of Mr. Dan Smith. a former secretary, was Webster). Towards the cost of about $£ 7$. Mr. Harold Chant, the treasurer, announced that $£ 3$ had been received and donations would be gratefully accepted. Mrs. Coward Shafton provided an excellent tea and the charge of 2s. made £2 for the Church Repair Fund.
At the business meeting Miss Elizabeth Peace and Mr. Christopher Moxon reported on was selected for the next meeting on August was selected for the next meeting on August Chant, one of the lecturers, called attention to the Grantley Hall course on October 25 th, 26th and 27th. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Gordon Benfield.

The report of the treasurer (Miss J. Beresford) was considered satisfactory, as although the amount in hand was only small. the balance sheet showed several non-recurring items of expenditure.

NEXT MEETING-MACCLESFIELD

According to the rota, the North-Western District should be visited for the annual meeting in 1964, and the members there proposed that it should held in Macclesfield. Will all members please note, however. that next year it will be held on the second Saturday in July. i.e July 11th. 1964, as the general secretary stated she would be unable to attend if it were held on the first Saturday, as is usually the

Mrs. Lock voiced the thanks of the members to all thase who had helped to make the day such a success: to all the incumbents for the use of the bells, to Mr. Marks for taking the service and to the organist; to the members of the Eastern District for all they had done, the wonderful tea they had prepared (not forgetting a special word of thanks to Mr. Goodship, for all his help in the kitchen), and for having a member at each tower to organise the ringing. A special vote of thanks was accorded to Miss Lester, the District secretary, who had not only organised the whole meeting. but had also prepared maps of Ipswich on which all the towers were marked and had given a list of hotels and restaurants for those staying overnight,

Then, with the rain still pouring down. but with enthusiasm undamped, members set out on two tours organised for the evening. one led by Miss Lester for those going in the Norwich direction. and one led by Mrs. Pipe, Norwich direction. and one led by Mrs. Pipe, which circulated to the north of Ipswich. This was a pleasure we had not had at previous annual meetings, but both tours were well supported and we would especially like to thank Miss Lester for making the arrangements, A grateful 'thank you,' too, to Mr. Pipe, who so kindly acted as guide when it was found easier to run that tour in two parts because of the number of ringers.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION  The annual meeting of the Essex Association

 was held on Whit Monday, June 3rd. at ChelmsfordThe pattern of this meeting remains the same over the years and this. the 84th meeting. was no exception. It seems that this can be said of most meetings and as such this brief account records the main facts.
The Association form of service was conducted by the Provost (the Very Rev. G. E Gordon). and the address was given by the Lord Bishop of Colchester (the R.t. Rev. F. D. V. Narborough), which. although brief in extent. gave much food for thought Lunch and tea was again provided by members and their wives from the S.E. District. This is cercainly a labour of love and something for which the Association is more than grateful.
The annual meeting followed the service and was held in the Chapter House. the Master in the chair
The business was carried through expeditiously and there was litt!le of a contentious All
All officers were re-elected, although in accepting office for another year the secretary (Mr. F. V. Gant) intimated that he would not be seeking re-election another year.
The weather was excellent and after the meeting the members dispersed to the usual towers available at this meeting. F.V.G.

STRIKING COMPETITION

The final of the Essex Association striking competition was held at Little Waliham on July 6th. The beauty of the surroundings was rather marred by the incessant rain. but seven teams of those which had survived the Divisional heats arrived to compete for the trophy. Each team was allowed two minutes of rounds to get the feel of the bells and then

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The 5.085 changes of Stedman Caters rung at Isleworth on July 3rd was chosen to mark age of 85 (see page 460 ).
From Rhodesia we hear that the four bells at St. Mark's, Que Que, will be dedicated in October. The frame is built for six bells in the hope that two bells will be added at a later date.
It was 'Happy returns of the day' to the president (Mrs. O. Barnett) at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild. Delayed by a traffic jam, she arrived at Ipswich just in time for the committee meeting, having had to go without lunch.

A number of ringers spending their holiday in South Devon recently were doomed to disappointment on July 10th. when, on visiting Buckfast Abbey. they found that the practice was cancelled owing to another event taking place there at the same time. However, Mr. A. L. Bennett came to the rescue and made Dean Prior bells available. and a very enjoyable time was subsequently spent at this tower. The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. Plain Bob. Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

While accompanying the Stratton. Cornwall, ringers on their outing on Whit Monday. Mr. Reuben Sanders, now in his 90th year, cut his head rather badly on entering Crediton ringing room and was somewhat shaken. In spite of this he carried on ringing as usual during the day, and $H$. S. reports. that he appears to have completely recovered from his injury.

His many friends will be sorry to hear that Mr. Tony Osborne. the popular treasurer of the University of London Society. has beeen detained in Ward 23 of University College Hospital. W.C.1. following a chemical explosion last Friday in the laboratory where he works. As it is likely that he will be detained for at least a month he would greatly appreciate letters or visits from friends. We all wish him a speedy recovery and hope to see him back where he belongs, in the ringing circles, as soon as possible.
rang 240 changes of any Doubles or Minor method. Under the able direction of Mr . Peter Eves. the M.C., the whole operation was completed in an hour and forty minutes.

The Rector, the Rev. P. G. P. Cornish. conducted a shortened Evensong, at which Dr. Magurie played the organ. and the Master. Mr. R. C Heazel. read the lesson.

About 70 ringers sat down to tea in the Village Hall. after which the three judges, Messrs. J. H. Crampion, A. J. House and H W. Egglestone. gave their report and some very constructive comments on the afternoon's ringing. With a possible of 130 marks each. the final placings were: 1 Danbury, 102 marks: 2 Shenfield. 92: 3 Maldon 76: 4 Waltham Abbey. 67: 5 Saffron Walden. 66: 6 (joint) Sible Hedingham and Kirby-leSoken, 63 each.

The Master presented the trophy to Mr. J Roast. the Danbury conductor, and congratulated the winners on an excellent performance He then expressed the Association's thanks to the Rector for allowing them to come to Little Waltham Church and for conducting the service there. where the worship of God has been carried on for nearly 900 years, to Dr Maguric. to Mr. Devenish. the local Tower Master and to the ladies who gave their Saturday afternoon to prepare and serve tea. In acknowledging the services of the judges. the Master referred to the attributes necessary to b: a competent judge-a knowledge of what good striking, a keen ear. a fine sense of rhythm and the ability to detect a flaw and record it while listening to the ringing as a whole. The judges that day had ably demonstrated their competence and possessed these fuculties.

FRANK PRICE'S TOUR OF THE WEST COUNTRY

- The bells ring out across the fields

By no means contrary.
The ringers all have come to stay At Ottery St. Mary.

TRUE to the old saying ' Flaming June' was Saturday. 8th. when the members of Frank C Price's touring party assembled far from London for a peal of London-at Yatton, Somerset.
The greensward outside the church wall and the shape of the trees around provided an ideal picnic spot for the early arrivals. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gogle and Dicky Price were the first to avail themselves of this. and were soon joined by Cyril and Frances Low. with Tom and Kath Lock. Then what a sight to behold, as a near-vintage Rolls Royce of 1932 arrives. bringing. Tom and Margaret Chapman and baby Christopher, also David Forder. Finally John and Marjorie Hill. with Ian and Frank Price, joined the waiting ringers. and the peal of London was successful and well struck, being a welcome to Andrew and Robert, the twin sons of Dennis and Sybil Knox. Dennis had hoped to be one of the party, but fate decreed otherwise.
Left to their own devices. Margaret and Kath took young Christopher in push-chair to the village fete, where they were persuaded to enter Chris for the baby show! In the class for infants aged six months to one year Christopher Chapman was awarded third prize

Headquarters for the week were 57 miles away at Ottery St. Mary. It was 6.50 p.m. when the last car left Yatton, nevertheless, all were dining in the London Hotel by 8.45 D.m.-the half chicken provided by mine host for each of the party being greatly appreciated. Later, more members of the party arrived-Mrs. Frank Price. Mr. and Mrs. W H. Coles and Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Coles

Saturday morning saw a few at 8.10 a.m. Holy Communion service at Otterv and service ringing was later available for all.
"They rings 'em well." the farmer says,
They, caught I all unwary,
They'm clever chaps who ring they bells
At Ottery St. Mary.
The fine twelve at Exeter Cathedral were rung for the afternoon service. Here Frank turned in the 72 cwt. tenor to a course of London Surprise Royal-the first time that this particular method has been rung on the bells. Later Norman Mallett obtained permission for a ring at St. Petrock's. with Martin Lock acting as Ringing Master. Evening ringing was at Heavitree. and included a touch of five spliced: finally a musical evening at headquarters.
Monday was again a glorious day, and travelling was short. first stop being St. Paul's. Honiton, where the pleasant ring of eight was singing merrily over the town for about threequarters of an hour. Some local inhabitants were heard to inquire one of another-Why on a Monday morning? Had they listened to the 8 am . news they would have heard that it was the Duke of Edinburgh's birthdaystrely good enough reason!
At $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the cars moved on to Broadhembury, one of Devon's most beautiful villages. The thatched roofs and white walls of the village street fall gently away down a slight incline from the church to a stone bridge over a stream, whence the road turns away out of sight. A 19 cwt . ring of six. hung anti-clockwise is here, and everyone enjoyed a touch before refreshments in the village

- local.
Suitahly refreshed the party moved on to Broadclyst-T.J. L.s favourite eight. Here is a good circle in a fine tower. housing a musical ring. the 'go' of which is excellent. and Jedburgh Surprise Major was scored ; John Chilentt took part. while Eileen joined Kath in baby-mirding for the afternoon.
Next day' we travelled much farther afield-

39 miles to South Molton ( $24 \frac{3}{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{cwt}$.), and every mile worth it, for again we had a sample of the cream of Devon's bells; more weighty than Broadclyst. Well-struck touches for all were brought round, then photographs were taken outside in the sunshine. after which all were ready for lunch. A lightweight ring was chosen fo: the afternoon's peal attempt. Quedgeley Surprise Major being scored at Chittlehampton It was an honour and pleasure to be joined in one touch by the incumbent. Preb. J. H. B Andrews, president of the Guild of Devanshire Ringers. Others not ringing took advantage of the heat wave and went off to Barnstaple and Lynmouth. Back at headquarters in the evening bells and towers were forgotten while the company indulged in a skittles match.
Wednesday meant long journeys again, and it was disappointing that the sky was overcast. However, this did not prevent passengers from enjoying the beautiful scenery of Dartmoor, over which we drove to Tavistock Anather glorious 24 cwt . tenor in the Church of St. Eustachius the Martyr, and the bells were kept going until lunchtime. The church contains much of interest, including a picture presented by Rev. S. Baring Gould. author of the hymn 'Onward. Christian Soldiers.' The organ was built to the specification of Samuel Sebastian Wesley, the composer. and he was organist here. The remainder of the day was spent in Plymouth, where a peal of Stedman Caters was rung at St. Andrew's. We said 'farewell' here to John and Eileen Chilcott who were proceeding westward into Cornwall for a further holiday, and a pause was made on the homeward journey for a short ring at Plympton St. Mary
Thursday morning brought sunshine again and a short trip to Cullompton for ringing on the ten-touches of Caters and a course of Cambridge Surprise Royal catered for all abilities and tastes. Then on to Tivertonsurely the creamiest cream of Devon's bells, In the afternoon a peal at Clyst Honiton was successful: the zooming and whistling of jet aircraft from nearby Exeter airport failing to disturb those concentrating on Yorkshire Surprise Major. The Rolls, following John Hill. set off for a trip to Beer. and after taking the wrong turning, and at one stage coming back to a point already passed. manceuvred up and down and round the narrowest country lanes through picturesque Branscombe to the seaside. The peal ringers paused en route for home for a pull on the six at Whimple.
Friday was the unlucky day, as the peal of Ospringe Surprise Major came to grief at 'half 'ime.' Prior to this, however. the entire party had gathered in the grounds of Buckfast Abbey where a warm welcome awaited us all from Father Paulinus. The bells were extremely well rung to Kent Maximus and Stedman Cinques, also a short touch of Grandsire Caters. The final call was at Kinesteignton where touches of Surprise Major and Stedman Triples were rung. Bert Soencer, formerly of Birmingham, ioining in. It was good to meet afterwards B:ll Simmonds. of Babbacombe formerly of Hersham, Surrey.
Back at the London, tune ringing and change ringing on handbells took place, other residents being interested onlookers. The local cricket club. holding a dance in a hall above the residents lounge. heard the unusual music. and sent an envoy down with the request that the ringers go up and give a tune! Frank Price and Tom and Margaret Chapman obliged. with The Blue Bells of Scotland and trumpet augmented the dance band and began with 'St. Louis Blues '-needless to say he was not allowed to leave and trumpeted on thl the dance came to an end

Frank was then thanked for all his hard work in organising the week and presented with plaque of Buckfast Abbey and cigarettes as a token of appreciation from all who took part, and on Saturday morning the party broke up and all made their way home by devious means.

They rang the Grandsire Trebles
Bob Majors all so clearly,
And had a happy ringing time
At Ottery St. Mary.'

OUTINGS

BARKING (Suffolk) AND DISTRICT

The Leighton Buzzard area was chosen for the annual outing on May 25th. Perfect weather, with the countryside at its best. helped to make a very enjoyable day. Towers visited were Dunstable Priory. Totternhoe. Leighton Buzzard, Tilsworth, Newion Longville and the very fine Norman church at Stewkley Methods rung included Cambridge, Superlative Double Norwich. Grandsire. Plain Bob, Little Bob. Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and London Minor, with rounds and call changes for beginners. To all incumbents and all who helped to make the day possible, sincere thanks.

ST. PETER'S, BRIGHTON

Even the longest day of the year can seem short when one is enjoying a good outing So report St. Peter's Church band. concerning their outing. Ringing started at Guildford, at Holy Trinity and St. Nicolas Churches, while non-ringers went to the Cathedral. A splendid linch was served at the Prince of Wales. The journey was continued to St. Anne's, Bagshot. and St. Paul's. Wokingham.
At St. Laurence's Church, Reading. a bit extra was attempted in courses of Grandsire Cinques and Plain Bob Maximus. Having no rings of 12 in Sussex, it twas not surprising to find that for 10 of the 12 in Plain Bob Maximus it was their first ever.
The last call was Haslemere, where ringing had to be curtailed as it coincided with the times of ringing allowed for the Guildford Guild festival. After all had had a ring we beat a hasty retreat on the arrival of a host of ringers in a fleet of cars

To our organiser. Angela Grainger. congratulations for her excellent arrangements. and to incumbents and ringers who met us our grate ful thanks
A. W. B.

DARLINGTON

Ringers of St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, went for their outing into the shoddy country of the West Riding on June 29th-and found nothing shoddy about the bells there.
On the way they called at Wetherby, where the octave at St. James provided some enjoyable ringing. Next stop was at Ossett, a fine 10 in a tower almost palatial in its proportions. At the gate of the church they were met hy one of their number, Miss Janet Warwick, now at college in Manchester, who had travelled through to meet them
Fortified by a good high tea at Dewsbury. the party went on hopefully to Batley, but found the tower locked and no one to let them in. After studying the remarkable collection of gravestones. which pave the churchyard paths, for about half an hour, arrangements were made for a visit to Liversedge, the 'home tower of St. Cuthbert's vice-captain. Fred Hodgson
The octave there is a pleasure to ring, and the party enjoyed it so much that thev had no time to stay and have a cup of tea, offered with true West Riding hosnitality by the organisers of a dance.

Methods rung-or attempted-included Plain Bob Roval. Cambridge Roxal. Stedman Caters,

'The Superior Attitude'

Dear Sir--Having been somewhat appalled by some of the recent correspondence about the St. Neots peal of Lincolnshire and various alterations of the front work, which appears to have sprung from prejudice rather than objective truth. the last straw appeased in your leading article of July 12 th, on the above subject, upon which I feel constrained to comment.

Ringers who adopt a superior or sneering attitude over those who choose to ring what does not happen to suit their ideas ought to sealise there are good reasons for ringing peals of Braunstone, etc., which are not necessarily described by phrases like "decadent abortions." - alphabet collecting." "new name for the book, etc. Even if the latter motive sometimes comes into it, it is a harmless enough desire, and is in no way intended to deceive, as anyone interested enough to find out what the method concerned involves can give credit or not as concerned involves can give credit or not as do not bother about ringing Surprise peals probably 'couldn't care less' if certain persons decide to try for the alphabet.

One would like to be able to take part in peals of eight spliced with London, Bristol and 'all the work' etc. but it most parts of the country it is very dificult to muster a band for this sort of thing, and, if one wishes to ring peals, it is necessary to fit in with the general ability of the bands which are available. If we took to heart the leading article concerned, this would mean ringing endless peals of Yorkshire, Cambridge and Lincolnshire. which would prove irksome in time, and kill enthusiasm to ring peals, with their attendant benefits to progress and maintenance of a good ringing standard.

Thus thougnts turn to the various departures from these standard methods. some of which, from'recent experience of ringing them. take quite a lot more concentration to ring them p:operly than required by the parent method. Even if the composition is not improved by the alteration, it often means learning a fresh. relatively unstraightforward composition, which improves the interest for the conductor at least.
Why is doing a triple dodge in 5-6 (Yorkshire) 'o.k.,' and doing Kent places instead (Braunstone) decadent? What special virtue is there in the triple dodge to make it superior? If the place-making makes it slightly harder in ring, ought it not to be given credit for this, instead of being the subject of a sneer? The latter savours too much of the 19th century kind of prejudice, which can be observed in the 'old books.' and was merely the opinion of the writers of that time. It is a pity this kind of snobbishness is resurrected from time to time.-Yours truly.

DEREK P. JONES.

16 Superlative Similarities

Dear Sir,-It is herewith announced that on July 13th at Ashover. Derbyshire, a peal of 16 Spliced Surprise Major was duly rung, in which all the methods bear a similarity to Superlative Surprise. It is to be hoped that any deceived persons wishing to write to the 'R W.' will have read this notice first, because it is regretted that no replies can he made in the particular case of those who do.-Yours sincerely,

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE

Was Heywood Forestalled?

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{In}$ a leading article on the front page of the 'R.W' (July 12th). Mr. Cyril A.
Wratten states: When Sir Arthur Heywood Wratten states: "When Sir Arthur Heywood introduced the "New ". version of Cambridge and the famous Burton band first rang it to a peal in 1887,

May I quote the following from page 116 of Thackrah's 'The Art of Change Ringing. 1852:

- Seven of St. Peter's Company. Huddersfield, and myself, rung at their Parish Church. on the 18 th of February, 1822, 6,720 changes of Cambridge Surprise, with the tenors together, in 3 h . 51 m . I composed and conducted the peal, and introduced singles when the treble was dodging in three four, to take away the false changes, when liable. The singles made thus: the changes then in their original state. It will run true to 6.720 with these singles every time the treble is dodging in three four.

> 624418375 2661488735 62441785 62447183
In a letter inserted between the pages of Thackrah's book, now in the C.C. library. dated January 7th. 1928, and addressed to My dear Jenkyn, by Charles $D$. P. Davies, the above is discussed and the conclusion arrived at that Heywood had been forestalled by Thackrah.-Yours sincerely,

The Universal Church

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read your leading article, "Faith. Tradition and Bells, in -The Ringing World of July 5 th, but would disagree with the some of the writer's condisagree with the some of the writer's conclusions. The faith of the Church of England is now what it has always been from the beginnings of Christianity in this land; the Catholic Faith of the Universal Church. The Anglican Reformers intended no change of faith: only a purification of mediaval accretions and a return to the faith and worship of the " old Catholic Fathers and Bishops.' This is clearly shown by the title page of the Prayer Book: 'The Book of Common Prayer and Administration of the Sacraments and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, according to the Use of the Church of England.' The English Church is but part of a larger whole.

Here at :Marhamchurch. on the borders of Cornwall and Devon, one of the bells in the tower is rung at the Consecration of the Eucharist, to signify to the parish that the principal act of Christian worship has reached its climax, and inviting all to join $n$ a moment of quiet recollection and faith. Whenever possible the parish priest, as the Prayer Book requres. says the daily office of Matins and Evensong in church and, again according to the direction of the Prayer Book. causes a Bell to be tolled a convenient time before he begin. that the people may come to hear God's Word and to pray with him."
In Wells Cathedral and in many other churches the Angelus is still rung as the daily Memorial of the Incarnation: and in hundreds of parishes, on week days as on Sundays, the bells stlll fulfil their ancient function as ' means of communication' as in centuries past. Your contributor was too pessimistic!-Yours faithfully.

EVELYN DUNFOLD (Rev.).

Woodhouse Ringing Machine

Dear Sir, The article on the 'Woodhouse Ringing Machine makes interesting reading and perhaps I may be allowed space to make a few comments, since I was a member of 1930-36.

During this period it was usual to attempt a quarter peal and, after ringing, it was the practice of the late Edward Pennington and myself. and after 1932 George Braithwaite, to visit Mr. Woodhouse's workshop and observe progress on the machine until it was time for the bus to Kendal. Before 1929 Sedbergh was an isolated village, but in that year buses commenced running from Kendal. and George invited me to join the evening band and we became very firm friends.

George Woodhouse was the younger son of Canon Woodhouse. of St. Andrew's. Manchester. Canon H. J. Elsee. who for many years was the president of the Lancashire Association, was a curate at St. Andrew's in his early days, and taught the Canon's three sons ringing. After a few peals, at least one on handbells in 1887, which was called by George. Dr. H. G. Woodhouse and the Rev. Edmund L. Woodhouse took very little interest in ringing after the turn of the century.

George took his degree at Cambridge in 1897 and immediately accepted an appointment at Sedhergh Schocl, and made his home there. During 1897 Sedbergh bells were installed. and he taught a band to ring and from 1900 until the outbreak of the 1939 War he maintained a band which rang Surprise methods. His No. 1 machine was produced late in 1932. and he demonstrated this machine to Frank Bennett's 1933 touring party, and Canon Elsce mentioned the machine to the members of the Central Council at their meeting at Warwick in 1934. A photograph of George and his machine appears in . The Rnging World of August $10 \% \mathrm{~h}, 1934$. page 506.

The notebook, various diagrams of methods rung on the machine and correspondence are in the possession of a well known member of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. and the machine was in $m$ / possession until 1956.
Besides his interest in ringing. George was a first class musician and a brilliant rock climber, and there are few climbs if any in Great Britain which he and his brother had not climbed. George was often a visitor at my home at Kendal, and he paid a visit to Bushey in 1937. It has heen my privilege to have known George. his brothers and sisters. and I consider myself fortunate to have been closely associated with him.-Yours. etc.:

Braintree. Essex. EDWIN JENNINGS.

Lerwick Will Hear Bells

Dear Sir,-May I thank you and your readers for your kind help in response to my recent inquiry for a recording of Grandsire Triples. I had a number of replies, but no one had the kind of recording 1 needed, but I am greatly indebted to Mr. F. Hodgson, of Darlington. who offered to help with a tape recording. How surprised I was when the tape arrived and he told me that the ringers of St. Cuthberis, Darlington, had made a special recording of Grandsire Doubles and Triples for our pleasure.
We thank them very much indeed for their kindness and brotherly concern, and we shall remember them when the recording is being relayed at Lerwick. Perhaps one day the members here will feel moved to install a ring of lightweight bells and that a team of tell ringers will be formed for the first time in the history of Shetland.-Yours sincerely,

The Rectory.
Lerwick. Shetland.

LETTERS-Continued

The Democratic Right

Dear S:r, The correspondenze regarding the spliced peal at St. Neots has dragged on and has now reached its zenith by having a leading article on a relevant issue
However. let me point out, as a bystander that any band has a democratic right to ring what it likes and a conductor to call' what he likes providing he keeps to the rules regarding • truth.
The footnote would deceive no one who took the trouble to compare the figures given at the time. of publication of the four methods rung for the first time and no doubt the present trend of ringing these methods will be short-lived before reverting to the old faithfuls.-Yours faithfully,
H. DAVID HOLLAND.

1961 Peal False

Dear Sir,-It has been pointed out to me that the way I arranged the methods in the peal of Minor in eight methods at Toddington, on Wednesday. November 8th. 1961. meant that the peal was false. I did not realise this at the time: I am very sorry to all concerned-Yours etc.

Opportunity for Elderly

Dear Sir,-When travelling around as a Society. we at times meet silent towers and invariably before we have been there very long an old lame ringer will come along and introduce himself, remarking. If I could get up the steeple steps the bells would not be stlent:

Now the Yorkshire Association (Southern D.strict) and the Barnsley and District Society have agreed to a joint meeting at Bradrield (6). with Bolderstone (8) as an extra. on Saturday, August 10th. Both towers have ground floor rings. This part of the county is known as The Sheffisld Lake District,' and is well a Visit. particularly if it is fine and sunny. Both Societies extend a warm welcome to all ringers and friends. Why not add to the happiness by bringing an old or lame ringer with you? -Yours sincerely,
J. W. BUXTON.

Secretary,
Barnsley and District Society

A Learner's Question

Dear Sir.-I am a learner. Almost every week I nearly lose my temper because one or two people in my tower prompt when they should not do so. How does one cure this trouble without appearing ungrateful or rude". - Yours faithfully.

A LEARNER.

Note.-Perhaps the secretary of the Rabbits ${ }^{\circ}$ Guild can give some helpful advice. or a crumb of consolation to A Learner.-Ed.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY WHIT TOUR

T
THE University of London Society was on safari in Leicestershire. where an excellent tour worthy of greater support. was organised by Rev. Peter Blackman. Vicar of two local parishes and an old member of the Society.

Four tired and hungry ringers eventually mustered at the headquarters (Johnscliffe Guest House, Newton Linford) late on Friday evening. having battled through the Whitsun traffic.
Saturday dawned bright and clear and when Ranald had eventually got together all his bellhunting kit the party made a prompt getaway and arrived at Mountsorrel in good time. Unfortunately an illness near the church ## prevented ringing.

At Quorn, however, the tour really got under way, when we were joined by Martyn and Christine Hawkes. Geoff and Margaret Pratt and two friends. Good touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob were rung before passing on to Loughborough. We spent an interesting hour at the foundry. where Paul Taylor took us round and explained the technical processes. We all admired a ring of bells cast for Hastings, but our enthusiasm to tap out a touch on another new ring apparently exceeded our ability. However, we redeemed ourselves on the tiny bells in the foundry campanile.

After a magnificent lunch in an Italian restaurant in Loughborough, the party then pressed on to view the War Memorial campanile. A lengthy discussion about the merits of carillons against ringing bells was interrupted abruptly by the sound of equine footsteps descending the spiral rapidly. It transpired that a lady member had parted company with the heel of her shoe and was descending 'quam celerime' to retrieve the same.
At the Parish Church we were joined by Dick and Ann Speed and our Master and his fiancée. and ringing improved on the fine ten, finishing with three leads of Bristol on the hack eight. At Sileby we all admired spacious and first class bells. Our illustrious lady member having rung her first touch of Stedman Triples oll one heel, then nearly ran down the rest of the pirty at the wheel of another member's car, but somehow managed to be the last to arrive at Barrow-on-Soar. Our ringing here fortunately coincided with a local wedding, but we found the six somewhat of a handful, although London Minor eventually yielded.

At Belgrave ringing waned somewhat on the good eight as the heat of the day was beginning to take its toll, and a tired but happy company wended its weary way back to Johnscliffe. In the evening our president, Philip Gray, put in an appearance!

On Whit Sunday we rose early to ring at Ratby, one of Peter's churches, for the early service, which we were pleased to attend. After breakfast a car-load of ringers joined the local band at St. John the Divine, Leicester. I. 2 the evening we rang in the tiny tower at Groby (Peter's other church) before attending the service. Later we were the guests of Peter and his wife to supper, and a most enjoyable day came to a fitting close, with our president enrapturing everyone with his reminiscences of life in Australia.

On Monday an early start was made for Syston, where ringing was curtailed owing to a service. At Ashby Folville we were joined by Jumbo and his vehicle, well known now to Society members! Ringing on this good eight consisted mainly of long touches of Bob Major for the benefit of those less experienced. A quick rush, headed by Jumbo. to Melton Mowbray, proved too much for Nick's car, with the result that he lost oil pressure and coffee at Melton. We did not do justice to the fine ten, but a touch of Yorkshire on the back eight was quite acceptable.
After lunch at the : Anne of Cleves.' David Martin's car was seen proceeding with metachronal rhythm towards Whissendine, where one can see the bells swinging from outside the tower; we were told that they were about to be rehung, and they should be an excellent ring when this has been done. At Oakham we found that the church. besides having a grand ring of bells, has a first class organ and organist. Some good ringing was enjoyed here, although an organ recital was a counter-altraction. Everyone quickly found the restaurant for tea except our president. who, having given details instructions as to its whereabouts, claimed that he missed the furning himself!
The last official tower of the tour was Uppingham, where a course of London Major was accomplished.
Thus ended another memorable tour, with sincere thanks to our untiring organiser, Peter Blackman, who, while sunning two busy parishes, managed to put in a tremendous amount of work behind the scenes to make the tour an overwhelming success.

MARSIANS.

ANOTHER LONG LENGTH FOR LONDON UNIVERSITY

With the peal of 10.560 Pudsey Surprise Major on July 6th, London University Society's long lengths now total four. As in the Rutland ( 10.944 ) last December, there were again some first peals in the method (6) and a first in the method as conductor. During the peal the ringers were treated to a colour show,' when one of the band gradually changed from pink, through white to green and back to pink again. The peal was a birthday compliment to Mary Taylor, of St. Peter's-in-Thanet, Kent.

TEWKESBURY ABBEY BELLS

The ringers had themselves been working, in a very small way, to raise funds and a small amount had been raised by way of the sale of Christmas cards. a rummage sale and a concert, etc. In addition a few donations were received and money received for ringing at weddings was also paid into the fund. However. the total amount was insignifficant compared with the amount. which it was compared with the amount estimated would be required.

CANON PUREFOY'S WORK

It is at this point that Canon Brian Purefoy should be mentioned. It can be truthfully sald that without him this considerable undertaking would never have been achieved. He is undoubtedly quite a character. He was always rather critical of the Tewkesbury Abbey bells and often remarked that the bells offended him aurally. The ringers were not infrequently discouraged and fears loomed that the bells would go on deteriorating until eventually they would become unringable. Canon Purefoy, however, had other ideas. but he had to put first things first. Through the Friends of the Abbey an appeal had been launched for the preservation of the fabric of the Abbey. Obviously a building of the age of the Abbey costs a tremendous amount each year to maintain apart from major works of restoration, the fight against the death-watch beetle, and cleaning the outside walls. This appeal was successful and the works of restoration were carried out as the appearance of the Abbey, both inside and out. well testifies to the many thousands of people, from home and overseas. who visit the Abbey
So that job hav

So that job having been fairly accemplished, Canon Purefoy was able to turn his attention to the bells. The first thing was to find out the cost and the second was to get the money. Accordingly, inspections and quotations were invited from the leading bell founders and although at first sight the cost was frightening, nevertheless it was something in the order of what they had been expected.

The Friends of the Abbey had, it was understood. some money available, and bells was part of the preservation of the Abbey, it was thought that this money should only be used as a last resort for work on the bells. It was, therefore, decided to launch a separate appeal. It was apparent that work on the bells was urgently reyuired and consequently it was decided to ask the F of the Abbey to underwrite the scheme.

MR. SHARPE'S SUGGESTION

The writer had the privilege of addressing the Council of the Friends of the Abbey on the need for the recasting and rehanging the bells. Eventually, the Council of the Frjends agreed to underwrite the scheme and to assist in the special appeal. First of all, however, it was thought that further expert opinion should be obtained. Naturally, this could only be from Mr. Frederick Sharpe. F.S.A.. who has done so much for bells and bellringing. He gave the bells, fittings and frame a mosi careful examination and reported very fully in February, 1961 . He confirmed the fully in February, 1961. He confirmed the opinions already expressed regarding the musical and tonal qualities of the bells and also expressed the opinion that little or nothing could be done to improve the tonal qualities of the inferior bells by further tuning.
He made many useful suggestions, the adoption of which was to be of considerable assistance when the scheme was submitted to the Diocesan Council for the necessary faculty. He suggested that the sixth (1725), seventh (1696), eighth (1696) and 11 th (1717) bells should be preserved, taken out of the ring and mounted in the tower for use as clock chimes. The quarter chimes of the Abbey clock were already struck upon these four bells and the suggestion had many obvious advantages. In the new ring these four bells were to be replaced. The old bells to be recast would be the fifth (1725), tenth (1696) and the fenor (1837). Of these the most serious loss of old bells would be the tenth, but Mr. Sharpe thought the bell was a bad ope and no monument to Abraham Rudhall, who made it in 1696. As two other bells of the same date would be preserved as clock chimes, Mr. Sharpe suggested that the inscription bands of the fifth, tenth and tenor bells be cut out and preserved.
Well, it was this scheme which was largely adopted and after the faculty had been oblained the order was placed with Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough.

A TREASURE SALE

The question of launching an appeal was discussed, but in the event this proved unnecessary. A very well known Gloucester firm of auctioneers suggested to Canon Purefoy that a treasure sale should be held. One had been held by the auctioneers for Gloucester Cathedrail and had proved most successful. The auctioneers stated that they would give their services free of charge. A Treasure Sale Committee was set up, on which the writer was privileged to be a member. Lady Ismay was appointed chairman, and it must be said that she displayed all the military genius of Lord Ismay in organising the campaign.

The idea was that throughout, what might be called ' the area of influence' of the Abbey, and this is, of course, considerable. leading persons should be requested to invite people interested in the Abbey to donate some object of value to be auctioned. The whole thing necessitated a great deal of planning, collecting and cataloguing. A great deal of voluntary effort went into it. The printing of the catalogues was undertaken free of cost by a local printer and the cataloguing was carried out by the auctioneers already referred to.

Eventually, after many meetings and much hard work thr treasure sale was held in September, 1962, and the resultant amount more than covered the sum required for the work on the bells.

The bells were removed by Taylors in January, 1963, and returned in February, 1963. The work was delayed a little by more urgent work on the American carillon.

The ringers naturally, wished to make a big occasion of the dedication, but Canon Purefoy, who had done so much to ensure the success of the project, felt that the bells should be rung for service as soon as possible. This was a point upon which there might have been strife. but. after all, we had a new ring of bells. So the bells were dedicated on Friday, bells. So the bells were dedicated on Friday, April Sth. 1963 , by Canon Purefoy, without pomp and ceremony. The ringers had tried them out on the previous Wednesday. when many ringing friends from the surrounding district and countryside had been entertained. All pronounced their satisfaction with the tone and "go' of the bells.
The weight of the tenor is 27 cwt. 1 qr. 5 lb ., and the bells are inscribed as follows:

One interesting outcome of the rehanging of the bells was an invitation by a representative of the Guinness Firm to drink Guinness with him. The invitation arose because one of the activities by which money had been raised was an ox-roast, organised by the British Legion Club, and at which Messrs. Guinness had given away free drinks. The representative. Mr. Warrey, displaying his usual initiative, felt that the singers might need a little strength to ring the new bells. Obviously the ringers were not slow to seize this opportunity and to invite a few ringing friends. As a result about fifty ringers were in the tower for ringing and afterwards spent a very convivial and pleasant evening at the Royal Hop Pole Hotel. where Mr. Pickwick once dined.

The ringers practise every Thursday at 7.30 p.m. and ring every Sunday at 10 a.m. and 5.30 p.m., and all visitors are very welcome. It is a matter of great regret to the writer, who is also tower captain, that soon he has to leave Tewkesbury to live elsewhere, but the history of the world is the record of a man in quest of his daily bread and butter.'

EAST YORKSHIRE VETERANS MEET

Members of 'the old brigade' of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association were entertained at Eastrington for the seventh consecutive year by Mrs. J. J. Taylor, of Goole, whose ability as a hostess is well known in the District.

Although the number of members with fifty or more years membership of the Yorkshire Association has diminished since the gatherings were begun. those that were unable to attend through other meetings or perhaps have passed on were remembered by name during a short servize, conducted by the lay reader, Mr. Jolley, in the absence of the Vicar

Taking part in ringing, which ranged from Plain Bob to Cambridge. were Messrs H. Rodmell and T. Goodin (Sutton), L. Rodmeli (Patrington) and Mitchell (Eastrington), all of whom are in the octogenarian class. Younger members of the Association were present from Carlton, Goole and Su!ton to help with ringing and eating an excellent tea provided by Mrs. Taylor and her willing band of helpers. Our thanks are due to her kind thoughts for the older generation in organising the event.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting and prize contest was held at Penistone on July 6th. Four teams entered to ring 600 changes test piece standard calling. judged by Mr. Hilton Sykes, with Mr . Raymond Crossland as marker. The winners were: 1 Friezland. 17 faults: 2 Silkstone. 18: 3 Meltham, 28: 4 Shelley, 49.
The meeting decided not to accept any form of amalgamation which might be put to them in the future. Officers were re-elected for the year 1963/64
Mr. Burgess moved the vote of thanks to the Vicar and the local band. Mr. Stainrod thanked the judges for a very fine result. as the ringing was of the usual high standard.

MR, F, W. HAULEY

Just two months short of his 98th birthday, Mr. F. W. Hauley died at Whitnash, Leamington Spa, on July 7th. He had the amazing record of being an active ringer for 87 years, as when he was 96 he raised and lowered in peal. (troble) and rang some 500 changes in between. He rounded this off, writes P. A. O. in an appreciation, by ringing the five minutes bell and then singing in the choir.
He learned to ring at Wavendon, Bucks, his home town, when he was a boy of 10 . He moved to Leamington Spa in 1887, when the bells of All Saints' were housed in a wooden tower. In 1919 he joined St. Margaret's Whitnash, and for a long period was tower captain.

He was a perfectionist in striking in the methods he knew and has left behind a number of teaching charts. particularly one demonstrating the rise and fall of bells in peals. The hospitality to Guild meetings at St Margaret's was greatly due to his ready welcome. and on one such wisit Mr. E. C. Shepherd wrote a front page article for the 'R.W.' entitled 'A village occasion.'

All Saints' and St. Margaret's ringers attended the funeral service and rang the bells muffled as a tribute to this "Grandsire" of the ringin? world.

MR. R. C. HOPSON

The death occurred at Ripley Hospital, Derby, on July 6th. of Mr. R. C. Hopson. Roly, had been a ringer for many years and since November last was tower leader at Ali Saints', Ripley.
On the evening of the funeral a halfmuffled quarter peal of 1,320 Plain Bob Doubles was rung by his former colleagues, viz.: Dorothy Blant 1, Margaret J. Allen 2, Jean M. Hunt 3, Patrick W. Sewry 4. Veronica J. Walters (first as cond.) 5, Vivienne Cheetham (first quarter) 6.

OBITUARY

MR. WILSON DOBBS

The Church of St. Helen. Selston, has lost a faithful servant with the passing of Mr. Wilson Dobbs on June 30th.
Only eight days before Mr. Dobbs was present at a meeting of the East Derbyshire and West Nottinghamshire Association in his own tower, which was just five days before his 88th birthday.
Known as Selston's 'Grand Old Man of Ringing.' Mr. Dobbs joined the old East Derbyshire Association on April 16th, 1906, at South Wingfield. He was president of the Association from 1930-38 inclusive. and a regular ringer at Selston for over 60 years.
Although not a prolific peal ringer, he was very proud of a 5.040 of Minor ( 3 extents Kent T.B.. 2 of Oxford T.B. and Plain Bob) rung at Selston on May 6th, 1911. He was very regular in attendance at meetings and for Sunday service, although in recent years an old aggravating injury and old age prevented him from climbing the tower steps.
May he long be remembered in the tower he loved.
Before the funeral service on July 3rd at Selston. 360 Bob Minor was rung half-muffled by G. Noon 1, A. L. Rawson 2, J. Price 3, W. Swain 4, F. Ball 5, W. Riley 6, and afterwards Grandsire and Plain Bob by A. L. Rawson J. Price, W. Swain, W. Riley and $B$ A. Richards.
On Wednesday, July 10th, a peal of 5,040 Minor was rung half-muffled to his respected memory by A. Smithson 1. Miss T E. Staples 2, M. J. Kirk 3. W. Riley 4, H. T. Rooke (cond.) 5, B. A. Richards 6.
M. J. K.

RUARDEAN, GLOS.-On June 9th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: T. Wilce 1, Joy Smith (cond.) 2, L. Smith 3, K. Tyler 4. How. Meak 5. Har. Meek 6. Rung half-muffled in memoriam Mrs, Olivia Dunkiey, aged 89.

MR. FREID SHEPHEARD

By the death of Mr. Fred Shepheard, Melton Mowbray has lost angther faithful and regular service ringer. He died at the home of his son at Northewram, near Halifax, on July 8th, aged 72 years.
Born at Marham, Norfolk, he came to live in Melton in 1912 and started ringing at St. Mary's, under the guidance of the late Mr. R. H. Bartram. He was very regular at practice and Sunday service ringing, and was a member of the Framland Association and the Leicester Diocesan Guild.

To his memory 1,260 Grandsire Caters was rung half-muffled at Melton Mowbray Parish Church, on July llth. by the following ringers of the Melton District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild: M. Ponting 1. Mrs. D. Day 2, Mrs. M. Stimson 3, H. Clayton 4. M. T. Stimson 5, R. E. Manton 6. J. L. Day 7, F. J. Stimson 8, R. H. Cook (cond.) 9, A. J. Stimson 10.

SAFFRON WALDEN'S GREAT RINGING DAY

The 340th anniversary of Great Ringing Day was held on June 29th. The local band opened at 11 a.m.. and soon after a party of 29 arrived from the South-Western District of the Essex Association. After a nice touch of Stedman Cinques the usual service was held in the church, the sermon being preached by the Vicar, Canon M. R. Sinker. More Stedman Cinques followed the service, and then all adjourned to the Parish Hall, where a cold lunch was served by local dadies.
In the afternoon the bells were kept going in methods on eight, 10 and 12 bells, including a good course of Cambridge Royal and rounds and call changes on 12 for learners.

Tea was taken in the Parish Hall, once again provided by the ladies. Many visitors arrived during the day. After tea the bells were kept going till 8 p.m. All agreed it had been a good day, with good striking throughout.

Because the sound of the betls would have effectively drowned anything that was being said at the reception, the quarter peal of Stedman Triples at Blewbury, Berks, on July 13th, for the wedding of the Vicar's daughter, was rung before the service. A short touch of Grandsire after the ceremony was brought to an untimely end when the tenor clapper broke. Will Graham Grant's Somerset friends please note that we have Graham's authority for quoting this as his first quarter of Stedman.
The quarter peal of Stedman Doubles rung at Stogumber, Somerset, on July 2nd is believed to be the first long touch in the method on the bells.

- The Behrry News,' the newspaper of the Derbyshire bellringers for June, has a topical article entitled 'Music or Rubbish,' describing the musical qualities of London Surprise, written by D. J. Marshall. A useful article comes from the pen of G. A. Halls, dealing with steeplekeeper work. Too much attention cannot be given to this subject.
Mr. David Friend, of Nottingham University, has obtained his degree and this will mean that his appointment at Rolls Royce, Derby, is confirmed. We understand that a peal is to be arranged by all Rolls Royce ringers, to welcome him. Another success at Nottingham University is Miss Deborah Hopkins, who has obtained her degree in pharmacy.

Preaching at Leeds Parish Church on Sunday, July 14th, the Bishop of Lichfield, the Rt. Rev. A. S. Reeve, mentioned that he had that morning once more climbed the familiar 69 steps to the belfry, and told his listeners how the had read in the belfry records how similarly one hundred years ago another former Vicar of Leeds-Dean Hook of Chichesterreturning to Leeds to preach at the opening of St. Peter's. Bramley, was invited to preach, also at Leeds, as he was doing, on the occasion of the centenary. During his incumbency at Leeds, Dr. Reeve was a regular visitor to the belfry, and took great interest in the bells, and if fewer than ten bells were ringing be would want to know the reason.

To attend the annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild at Ipswich on July 6th, Mrs. Parfrey, of Bath, left home at 4 a.m., with her husband and three children. They brought a tent with them so that they could camp on the Saturday night and travel home the following day. Her enthusiasm is to be commended.

An attempt for a quarter peal of Lincoln Surprise Minor was lost on the parish gift day at Sapcote, Leics, when the conductor missed the last bob. The sum of $£ 150$ was raised, and it seems as if Sapcote people put all theiT bobs in! $£ 1,000$ is needed for the repair of the tower

Miss Thelma Staples, who rang a peal of Minor at Selston on July 10 th, was the third generation of her family to ring a peal for the East Derbyshire and West Nottinghamshire Association.
After ringing a peal for the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. Perkins, of Draycott, Staffs. parents of Mr. William Perkins, the local tower captain, the band, whose conductor was Mr. Barnabas G. Key, were hospitably entertained by the happy couple.'
A treble bell is to be added to the five at Napton-on-the-Hill, Warwickshire, by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The bell is the gift of Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts, of Paignton, who was formerly a school teacher at Napton. Although 88, she is looking forward to making the 200 mile journey to be present at the dedication in August, by the Archdeacon of Warwick.
Clement W. Jose, the popular captain of the St Kea band, has now rung each bell in his thome tower to a peal. Clem, like others of this stalwart type, has certainjy put in many more hours teaching in his own and neighbouring towers than he has enjoying peal qinging. This achievement was well deserved. The same peal was the first for Margaret Gollop, aged 15, of Carbis Bay. The conductor (the Rev. A. S. Roberts) had baptised her at five weeks old and more recently prepared her for Confirmation. This must be a rare sequence.

OUTINGS

GNOSALL, STAFFS
On July 6th ringers and friends from Gnosall and Brewood spent the day in the Cotswolds The three towers before lunch were Bidford-on-Avon. Badsey and Chipping Campden, where our 'Tenor King' forgot his own strength and pulted a rope in half! After lunch ringing was enjoyed at Blockley, Stow-on-the-Wold and Bourton-on-the-Water, where tea was had
The long journey from Bourton to Pershore was broken by some tune ringing on handbells by the Brewood band. When people had managed to regain their nerves. some of the best of the day's ringing was had on the fine eight at Pershore Abbey. The services of Mr. B. G. Key in making the arrangements were much appreciated.
I. F.

LECKHAMPTON

Leckhampton ringers, with friends and relations, held their annual outing on May 25th. Towers visited were Bourton-on-theWater, Chipping Norton, Burford, Fairford and Watermoor-rather energetic for a halfday outing.

The day will long be remembered. not only for the pleasure of the bells, the beauty of the countryside and the excellence of the tea. but also, this very day, the birth of a son and heir to one of them band! We greatly hope that Michael will follow in the footsteps of his father, Alan Pendlebury, and become a dexterous ringer.

FARNHAM DISTRICT

Thirty-six ringers and friends, representing eight towers, took part in the District's outing through the New Forest. The bells at the first tower. Twyford. were classified as tricky. but Surprise Major was rung. Lyndhursi proved to be another buoyant eight. The afternoon was spent at Milford-on-Sea

On the way home the heavy eight at Romsey Abbey were appreciated. and ringing concluded with a well-rung course of Bristol. Ropley was the final tower, and here the company had a great surprise. when they discovered that the coach driver was an ex-ringer. who had not touched a rope for 15 years. Thanks are accorded to incumbents and local ringers.

PEAL RECORDS

By DENIS A. BAYLES(Continued from last week)

RINGERS

The greater mobility of ringers already mentioned has brought more peals by mixed bands, but this situation has existed for many years in border areas.
The vast majority of peal reports bear the heading of an Association or Guild. When one of these cannot be dragged in we find 'Non-Association ' inserted. Would it not be simpler to leave the second line blank in such cases? Where the band is a mixed one, especially as in the case of a touring band, it cannot seriously be claimed that the peal has been rung by that Association any more than if a varied collection of footballers donned Arsenal colours and masqueraded as an Arsenal team.

The other claim that is put forward is that the peal is rung for an Association. If you believe this, consider the peals at Dundee last year. The Scottish Assaciation derived no benefit from those performances and it is difficult to reconcile those peals as having been rung for that Association. Again, suppose you were secretary of an Association and that you received a letter of complaint from a nontinger about a peal that had been rung. He had been told that your Association's name was in the record and therefore he presumed that you, as the secretary of that Association. had some responsibility in the matter. What would be your reply? Would you accept the responsibility, or would you disclaim it? Could you be expected to accept responsibility when peal ringing is usually arranged by individual ringers without prior reference to an Association? If responsibility would have to be disclaimed should the Association's name be included? If all the members of the band belong to one group. such as a local band. this would make a more appropriate heading than the footnote to which it is usually relegated.

Part of the reason for the continuance of the use of Association titles in the reports is. I feel sure, the continuance of that aspect of the peals analysis. What is the point of producing a league table '? The number of peals rung by an Association is no yardstick. Some have a thousand members and some have a hundred. This is something which should have been dropped when points for peals were abandoned.

The main reason is probably a financial one in that many associations fear the loss of revenue that would result if non-resident life membership were no longer considered necessary for visiting peal tingers. Visiting ringers are usually given a warm welcome and this should, surely, extend to visiting peal ringers. In so far as such a visitor causes extra expense he may reasonably be expected to make some contribution to local funds. The main expenses are the extra wear and tear on ropes. which is usually the concern of the tower itself, and the extra printing cost for the records of the lacal Association. The peal records of a local Association are in many cases the cuuse of continuing financial worry because they swallow uo a lot of monev for their inclusion in a printed annual report. Yet. for all their cost, these local Association records are seldom complete for all the peals rung within their territory. They will not usually include peals rung by such hodies as the A.S.C.Y., the university societies, neighbouring Associations and, of course. the non-Association peals. For a comprehensive record for an individual tower it is necessary to refer to a private collection compiled by Canon Felstead, if the tower itself has not kept a compiete record. Would it not be better if territorial Associations kept full records for all their towers? With present practices this proposal would arouse considerable opposition for it would reduce income and increase expenditure. But it is in this section where what happened in 1942 is seen to have the greatest importance.

When 'The Ringing World ' was a privately-owned journal it could be argued that some other official records were needed and Associations were justified in printing extended peal reports. Now the journal belongs to the Central Council and no Association need print more than an abstract of each peal report with a reference to the peal columns of the official journal for those who wish to look up the full details. For this it would be useful to have all peals given a serial number as they appear in print. The peal reports of Associations could be greatly reduced in length and printing costs would be reduced. It would not be unreasonable to ask visiting peal ringers to make a contribution on each occasion that they assist in incurring this extra expenditure without requiring them to add their names to a list of non-resident life members, who contribute nothing to the ordinary activities of the Association and whose particulars it is well nigh impossible to keep up to date. Such a system would make the payment proportonal to the number of peals rung instead of the flat rate now in operation.

Each Association could arrange to subscribe to 'The Ringing World, to obtain copies from which their own full record for the territory could be compiled by simply cutting out the appropriate peals. This could help to boost the circulation. Would it be a practicable thing to print the peals so that all the peals had other types of subject matter on the other side? One suggestion, which I am sure would be helpful, would be to collect all conrections to peal reports and repeat them under a suitable heading, say every quarter. At the moment corrections appear in various places and can often be missed. It is important that corrections recejve as much prominence as the original reports.
I would like to think that the day is not too far distant when we shall see a touring band which is honest enough to head the peals that it rings with its own title, rather than retain the present system, which, surely, reached its peak last year, when a twelve-bell touring band set up a central headquarters and useía different alias nearly every day for the band, although the ringers themselves retained the same names.

OCCASION

The date and time taken for a peal are essential parts of the record, but some economy is possible there. This is shown in the sample of a suggested alternative form of a peal repont given at the end.
Under this heading we may also consider the material which is to be found in the footnotes. Footnotes are of two types, the first denoting progress of ringers and the second dealing with any special reason for the peal Of the first type little need be said, except that they should be confined to recording progress. For example, a first of Plain Bob Major is worth noting when a ringer has not previously rung a peal on more than six bells, but this is not so if the ringer has previously rung Cambridge Major to a peal. Filling in of gaps may still be noted if one wishes, but Belfry Gossip is better suited to that than the footnotes. In recording progress symbols with standard meanings could be used as is found in the Yorkshire Association reports. The meaning of the various symbols could be given at the start or finish of the peal columns and this would save having to print 'first peal' and 'first in the method' in several footnotes.
The second type of footnote calls for rather more comment. Many peals are arranged and rung for special occasions and where these have appropriate national or local significance there can be no objection to this being included as part of the peal record. Too often things are done the other way round. the peal being rung first and the search for something to put in the footnote coming second Another criticism that misy be levelled at some footnotes is that while the event itself is reasorable it has no local significance. I would suggest that when considering a footnote of this second type one should imagine that one were to be met outside the tower by a local resident and asked why the bells had been rung for three hours or so. Would the reason given in the footnote seem an adequate one? Would it stand up to a 'supplementary " as to what connection this event had with that locality? Thus. While it is reasonable to make the wedding of a ringer the occasion for a peal this is only really appropriate to the church where the wedding takes place or the church with which he and/or she was associated. Once again if one must mention birthdays and the like there is Belfry Gossip rather than the peal record itseli. Returning to pur imaginary questioner, I consider that it would be much better to explain to him that there had been no special occasion for the peal, but such exercises had an important part to play in the training of ringers and in the maintenance of ringing ability. rather than quote a 'frivolous ${ }^{\text {' footnote. }}$

EXTENT OF MAJOR  CONQUERED

The extent of Plain Bob Major, 40.320 changes. has been rung for the first time by eight men. This peal, which will go down to posterity as the finest achievement in English ringing, as regards stamina and concentration. was rung at the Loughborough Campanile on Saturday/Sunday, July $27 \mathrm{th} / 28$ th

The peal was accomplished in the surprisingly fast time of 17 hours, 58 minutes. The bells went into changes at $6.52 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and the peal was completed at $12.50 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. It was rung at the rate of 3 hours 15 minutes for each peal of 5,040 changes.

The ringing was excellent all the way through.' said Mr. Peter J. Staniforth, one of the four umpires. in reporting the achievement to "The Ringing World' "There were very few trips. Had there been many the conductor would have called halt: a long peal of this character cannot be rung with trips.
The peal was conducted by Mr. Robert B. Smith (25). of Marple. Cheshire, who also conducted the previous longest length of 32,704 in 15 hours $30 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes on July 15 th, 1961. He is to be married on August 24th at St. Margaret's, Leicester. and his fiancee twice visited the tower during the attempt and was there when the bells came round. 'Bob Smith was a real general in the field,' was the tribute paid to the conductor.

HEAT FATIGUE
Saturday was a very warm day, and heat fatigue was the greatest enemy. Doors and windows were opened to give the band the maximum amount of fresh air. 'They were all very, very tired.' said Mr. Staniforth. - Considering all things, they were all in very good shape. but the heat had affected them to some extent. There was no rejoicing afterwards. although a few bottles were available. They just wanted to go to bed.'
From the band announced in 'The Ringing World' there was one change. Derek Ogden dropped out and Frederick Shallcross, aged 17. of Ashton-under-Lyne. who was recently featured in. The Ringing World ' as an 'Up and Coming Youngsiter. Iook his place.

The hand stood as follows: Brian J. Woodruffe (Buxton) I. John M. Jelley (Leicester) 2. Neil Bennctt (Ashton) 3. Frederick Shallcross Staffs) 5, John Rothinson (Manchester)
Brian Har
(Peterborough)
7. Robert Smith rconductor) 8.
The umpires were Messrs. Peter J. Staniforth. Derek Ogden, John Barlow and John Acres.
In the previous record of Plain Boh Maior in addition to the conductor John M. Jelley and Noil Bennett took part.
Unfortunately Mr. Paul L. Taylor was away from Loughborough on this great nccasion; His encouragement and help has stimulated enthusiasm towards ringing 'The Everest.' and he will be the first among the whole Exercise in showering congratulations upon the gallant eight.

THE LADIES' GUILD  Devon Branch

The quarterly meetint of the Devon Branch was held at Wolborough on July 20th. with a good attendance, and visitors from Somerset. Dorset and Surrey. The Rev. P. Stokes conducted the service. and this was followed by a pienic tea. We then made our way to Kingskerswell. where the business meeting was held in the church, and the men adjourned to the tower for ringing. The ladies very soon ioined them. Methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman. Plain Boh. Kent and call changes. Next meeting: October 26th at Tiverton.

The peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at Blackmoor on June 29th was the first peal by a Liss Sunday service band. This attempt was to have been made at St. Mary's. Liss, for the 25 th anniversary of the dedication for the 25 th anniversary of the dedication of the bells (July 1st, 1938). but it is regretted that permission to ring was withdrawn at the las: momen The Vicar of Blackmoor, the Rev. C. J. Butler, kindly allowed the use of Blackmoor bells at very short notice.

THE BIG WASH AT MELBOURNE

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A well attended meeting of the Guild was held at Harborne. a populous village, situated some four miles from the centre of Birmingham. on July 13th.
Ringing on the newly-hung bells provided an interesting opportunity for ringers to compare the effect on the sound. resulting from the transfer of a ring of bells from one tower to another. For the present ring at Harborne are the bells which hung in Bishop Ryder's Church tower for 40 years, and upon which many peals were rung.
Before the meeting, the Master invited Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, a vice-president of the Guild, to take the chair. In acknowledging the compliment, Mr. Smallwood mentioned that it was 56 years since he last visited Harborne and, on that occasion he accompanied John Carter and several well known ringers of the past.
The secretary read a letter from Canon Bryan Green. in which the Rector gave his consent to the erection of a memorial tahlet to the late Alhert Walker, in St. Martin's ringing room.
The following resident memhers were elected: Miss P. Holden and Messrs. B. Holden, P. B. Jefferies. W. H. Wright, J. W. Moore and II. J. Burston (leamers at Perry Barr) and Mr. A. Crabtree (Solihull). The tower elections ratified were: David J. Taylor (Pinner). Anthony G. Tyers (Sunbury-on-Thames). J. Keith Ward (Slough). Harold C. Lonyon (Macclesfield). Martin D. Fellows (Stourbridge) and Miss Iris M, E. Lemare (York).
The Master proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar (Ven. S. Harvie Clark) for the use of the bells and the Church Hall, and to the local ringers and lady helpers for providing an excellent tea.
Next meeting: Perry Barr in October.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH GUILD Portsmouth District

The resignation was received of the District Ringing Master (Mr. T. R. Taylor) at the quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District at Catherington on July 20th. Members heard with regret that this was due to his wife's health being a cause of anxiety. Mr. W. Cope was unanimously elected his successor. Mr. P Stevens. Chichester, was elected a compounding member.
A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar (the Rev. R. W. Kilvert), for his welcome and conducting the service. and the ladies for the very fine tea.
Next quarterly meeting: St. Mary's. Alverstoke. October 5th.

WENTWURTH. YORKS.-On June $16 \mathrm{th}, 1,320$ Doubles (1'1 methods): Miss E. Cherry 1, A. King 2, M. A. Beaumont 3, D. Archer 4, M. R. Meadows (cond.) 5, A. Beaumont 6. First in 11 methods 1 and 4. For Evensong. Also on June 30 th, 1,320 Doubles (eight methods): A. King 1. E. P. King 2. M. A. Beaumont 3, D. Archer 4, M. R. Meadows (cond.) 5, A. Beaumont 6. ## LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD RINGING FESTIVAL, 1963

The countryside bordering the Lincolnshire Fens was the venue chosen for the first ringing festival arranged by the Central Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild on July 13th. An early start to the day made at the cathedrallike churches of Coningsby and Tattershall. and good use was made of these modern sixes. As the company increased some moved to Ruskington (6) and Ewerby (10), and lunch was taken at the Finch Hatton Arms.
In the afternoon the company divided : tower grabbers were catered for by North Rauceby
(5) and Silk Willoughby (6). and Ewerby Oval (5) and Silk Willoughby (6) and Ewerby Oval was the magnet for cricketing enthusiasts.
Here the Central Branch had challenged the undefeated Elloe Deaneries Branch, and. despite undefeated Elloe Deaneries Branch, and despite Central side failed to subdue the champions by 12 runs. These inter-Branch Test Matches have to be seen to be believed, but both players and spectators enjoyed the two hour diversion. Scores Elloe Deaneries: B. Bailey 5. P. Sanders 3, M. Bennett 19. D. Jones 6. A. Payne 14. A. Leggett 9, R. Davey not out 5, T. Charlton not out 4. Total 65 for 6 .
Central Branch: P. Burton 16. W. R. Parker 0. G Paul 2. G. R. Parker 14. C. Dillamore 5. W. Tomlinson 12, P. Sharp 3, T. Smith 0 . J. Edwards 0. J. L. Millhouse 1, S. Chambers not out 0 . Total 53.

More ringing on Ewerby's lovely bells and a visit to the church garden fete in the village followed. and the whole company gathered together for a magnificent tea, provided by the Sleaford ladies.
Mr. J. Bray. Master of the Guild. thanked the Central Branch and hoped that it would be the first of many such occasions. Mr. J. L. Millhouse thanked all incumbents and the many others who had helped to make such a sliccess of the gathering.
Service followed in Sleaford Church, conducted by the Vicar. Rev. A. Mann. Evening ringing was enjoyed at Sleaford (8). Heckington (8). Great Hale (6). Sempringham (6) and Helpingham (5).
Over a hundred ringers and their friends had a mosi enjoyable day, and hope that next vear more heautiful Lincolnshire churches can he visited and the Ashes (minor version) batted for.

A PICTORIAL STORY OF GREAT YARMOUTH PARISH CHURCH

The many who visited Great Yarmouth in connection with the Central Council meeting will enjoy the pictorial history of Great Yarmouth Priory and Parish Church, which Pitkin Pictorials. Ltd. have added to their Pride of Britain' series (price 2 s .6 d ).
The text is written by Canon Gilbert Thurlow, the new president of the Central Council. who states that the rebuilding of the church after its destruction in 1942 led to a great revival of interest and work for the church in Yarmouth. Canon Thurlow became Vicar in 1955. When the church was still in ruins and desolate. The contract for the rebuilding was signed in April. 1957, and it was completed in under three years.
The War Damage Commission gave a grant of $£ 315.000$. which was just sufficient for the essential work. A large amount of restoration work costing over $£ 10.000$ was done in addition. and the furnishings. except the bell frame and clock. Were individual gifts or made possible hy the contributions of many people.

BRISTOL CATHEDRAL SCHOOL

A party of 32 ringers from Bristol Cathedral School and other Bristol ringers had a fascinating outing to Loughborough on July 18th. The programme included a tour of the foundry. ringing on the campanile and seeing four bells cast. Later came a visit to the memorial campanile. On the journey home half-on-hour was spent at Stratford-uponAvon. Thanks are due to Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. and P E P. and P.J.B. who made the arrangements.

DEVON GUILD'S SUCCESSFUL PEAL WEEK

What will doubtless be long remembered as a highly successful and enjoyable week's ringing took place during the week commencing Monday, June 24th. when a peal attempt arranged for each evening met with 100 per cent success. With Ann and Stan Jenner coming on holiday, and Roy and Margaret Bould prepared to give full support, and others willing to help if required, it was a reasonably optimistic organiser who set about making arrangements.

Permission at all the towers was readily granted, but the task of manning the ropes proved a real headache, and Wednesday's attempt at Bridgerule was made possible when Fred Sangwin came in at short notice.

Thursday's attempt at St. German's was also in doubt until 2 p.m. on the very day, and we were most grateful to A. William Myers for making up the number. The rest of the week went according to plan.
On Monday the peal at Meavy. except for the occasional missed dodge, was in the bag ${ }^{\circ}$ after 2 hours 38 minutes splendid striking, and liquid refreshment was very much enjoyed in 'The Royal Oak.

Tuesday's Bob Royal at St. Andrew's went well for two hours, when the rhythm was quite suddenly lost for a half-hour, and it became apparent to the conductor that one or two were feeling the strain and had to be ' nursed." Fortunately all returned to normal and a good peal on the whole came well and trulv round in 3 hours 19 minutes.

On Wednesday, Bill Lavers and Tom Myers had to catch a bus to Tavistock. Where they were to be met by Roy's car to Bridgerule. Alas, at the 'Bretonside' Bus Station they got on the wrong bus and had half-an-hour to wait. Tom saw to it that this time there was no mistake! At Bridgerule, Reggie P Pearce had everything ready, but Kent Treble Bob Major was nearly an hour settling down to a good beat: it suddenly 'clicked' and over two hours' fine music was heard over the countryside: five of the band scored their first peal of Kent Major, and the conductor called his 50th peal. An adjournment was made to "The Bridge Inn,' where ham sandwiches and pickles had. very thoughtfully, been laid on by Reginald G. Pearce. the popular secretary of the North-West Branch.

On Thursday, June 27th. we travelled via the Tamar Bridge to St. Germans, where the Vicar. Rev. W. L. Ackroyd. met us, and was pleased to learn that two of the band came from Tunbridge Wells, his home in Kent. Upon entering the church (ground floor pull) we were dismayed to find the sallies of the treble and second well out of reach. We made Margaret fairly comfortable on a double banked stand of hassocks, and Kent Treble Bob Major went from the word 'Go. ${ }_{59}$ and ${ }^{\circ}$ This is all ${ }^{\circ}$ was called after $\frac{2}{2}$ hours 59 minutes of first class striking. This was Ann and Stan's 50th peal together, and A. William Myers 'chalked up ' his 'first in the method.'
Walkhampton was the venue for Friday and a well-struck peal in two methods was rung in $\underset{2}{2}$ hours 39 minutes on this tuneful six.
The peal on June 29th was rung as a birthday compliment to another of our welcome friends. who holidays annually in Ply-mouth-Mr. Albert W. Coles. of North Mymms, Herts. It was rung at Clawton, but the original intention was to ring it at Westleigh, with the blind Vicar taking a rope. This fell through, and Rev. J. G. M. Scott readily placed his bells at the ringers disposal.
The complimentary remarks of the 'call change ringers. at the non-Guild towers visited during the week was 'sweet music' to the method ringers ana their respective invitations to "come again soon' were much appreciated.

The annual meeting of a church bellrihging band does not sound to be anything out of the ordinary, but when it is found that threequarters of the twenty members present are teenagers, then it looks an unusual band to say the least. This was true. however: of the annual meeting of Taunton St. James tower.
The story of this youthful band goes hack just over a year ago to the time when a Western National bus driver. Mr Reginald Beale, was appointed captain of St. James' tower. Soon afterwards he appealed for recruits and found himself faced with training the choirboys to ring the eight bells in the tower. Today the band numbers 26 members. of whom 16 are of school age (the youngest is nine years old). Of the members, 19 of them have been trained in the past year and these include the Vicar. the Rev. Arthur Drowley, together with his wife and their two sons.

A particular feature of the young members of the band is that they are all active members of the congregation. being in the Sunday school or Pathfinder Bible Class, with most of the boys being choir members as well. The captain sets a good example, since his wife and family of four are all ringers. Four of the family are St. James ringers, with one daughter who rings at Ashford Parish Church. Kent. and a son who rings at Shepton Beauchamp. The Vicar is chairman of the band and the other officers include M1. John Harewood, a master at Huish's School as virechairman. and Miss Jennifer Lunn, who is not yet 16, as vice-captain.
What about results? Well, with so many inexperienced ringers it cannot always be claimed that the bells 'go' where they should. but practices are enthusiastically attended and at least ten of the younger members have begun change ringing and can lay some slight claim to being campanologists!

51 YEARS AGD

'R.W: July 18 th, 1913-
We hear that there is an unfortunate state of affairs existing at St. Mary's, Willesden. A correspondent writes: 'In years gone by there was a church in the City of London, dedicated to St. Peter-le-pore, which has long since been demolished. The be!ls were deposited in St. Paul's Cathedral. and any church could have had them for the asking. Eventually they were given to the authorities of St. Mary's, Willesden, who had them recast and hung to make up the octave in their tower. a little over twelve months ago. The Bishop of the Diocese. however, refuses to dedicate them, and the authorities refuse to have them rung, because the casting and hanging has not been paid for. Ahout $£ 80$ is owing. of which. I helieve. they have $£ 15$. If any of the readers of "The Ringing world" could assist in any way to wipe off the debt I am sure they would feel most grateful. Contributions would giadly be accepted by the Rector of St. Mary's, Willesden.'

R.W.' July 25th. 1913-

It is not everybody, apparently, who appreciates the beauties of handbell ringing During the course of a peal of Grandsire Triples at Newcastle-on Tyne. recorded in this issue. there was a demonstration in front of the house, where the ringing was taking place, and on two occasjons a handful of gravel was flung at the window, much to the consternation of the ringers. At one time also there was a bicycle hell accompaniment. which did not fit in at all well with the method or the rhythm. However, all opposition was worn down, and the ringers scored a peal.

Music of London Surprise

Dear Sir.-I would like to comment briefly on two recent letters in 'The Ringing World. expressing contrary opinions on the musical qualities of London Surprise.

It is difficult to entirely agree with either of your correspondents, Mr. Brookes and Mr. Rushton, since they both seem to have extremist views on the matter. The term 'unmusical rubbish' used by Mr. Brookes seems to be very ill-chosen, and for Mr : Rushton to equate 'almost all other methods: with the pop parade is quite unjust, and, moreover, because no direct comparision between bell music and orchestral music can be made in this context, unrealistic also. However, if one is to use an analogy, it would be fairer, in the present circumstances, to limit the range of comparison and to compare, for example, the music of Mozart (other methods) to that of Sibelius (London). The former is, generally speaking, easy on the ear. whilst the datter requires a little more altention and understanding. So it is with London, and if the music of London appears to compare unfavourably with that of other methods, it is probably because of its unorthodox construcion, which, without an intimate knowledge of the method. makes the changes difficult to anticipate. that is to say, the familiar or expected patterns do not always occur, and the changes may seem therefore to be incongruous, and thus the music as a whole unattractive or unsatisfying.

London then undoubtedly has the distinction of sounding 'different' to other methods. but it seems to me that one's appreciation and enjoyment of the music can grow as one becomes more familiar with it, and as one's understanding of the method develops. Familiarity does not necessarily breed contempt, and I think that Mr. Brookes would enjoy London a little more if he allowed himself to take part in some well-struck touches and familiarjsed himself with the style of the music produced. Indeed, I am sure the would then be less contemptuous towards London.

As to Mr. Rushton's view. one hopes that he does not include Bristol and Grandsire Caters in his derogation of other methods.Yours faithfully,
J. D. FAIRCLOTH.

West Wickham. Kent.

Lockinge Bells

Dear Sir.-I would like to thank Mr. White for correcting my information about the four bells at Lockinge: he is quite correct; I was misinformed by the Rector, who is also the incumbent at Ardington.
Regarding Denchurch bells, these are definitely out of action and have been so for a considerable time.
I have had my attention drawn to my omission of three other Hampshire foursHurstbourne Tarrant, Pamber and Hound.

At Hurstbourne Tarrant the frame is unsafe. An unusual feature here is that the ropes fall diagonally across the tower in a straight line.
At Pamber, little is known because of the difficult ascent to the bells. I hope to make a personal inspection in the not too distant future.
On the Rector's information at Hound, there are now only three bells, the frame is unsafe and the wheels have been removed. The Vicar here is also the Vicar of Netley.-Yours faithfully,

GEOFFREY K. DODD.
Woolton Hill. near Newbury.

A Learner's Question

Dear Sir, -In answer to 'A Learner's question' in 'R.W.' July 26th. perhaps the following quotations from a 'Student's' report on an Essex course in bell ringing (see ' R.W:' December 4th, 1953) might be of guidance; they are certainly worth considering.

Conclusions that were arrived at ... Ringing calls for so many of the qualities that are not too evident in certain walks of lifephysical and mental stability, religious conviction, coupled with moral strength and courage, team spirit, the spirit of meekness which allows persons to be told where they are wrongwithout loss of temper, the spirit to persevere when things are not too rosy, the spirit of brotherly love not to dwell on the failings of others, but to see only the good motives in their actions. When all these qualities become the rule ... I am sure our bellringing will be of service to the Church and to glory of God.'

My own comments are that irritating though it may be to have people constantly telling one what to do or giving advice regarding handling or striking, if this frequently occurs from capable and experienced ringers or from several members of the band, then it is likely that our performance is not as good as we think it is and we, need further experience before we can judge. We all have to go through this stage. I can recall instances in $m y$ early ringing when all the other ringers were telling me what to do, and more recently when I would have been thankful if someone would tell me what I was supposed to be doing, and thus save me from endangering the ringing.

Our 'learner' will find as he progresses that the number of other ringers telling him and the number of occasions on which he is prompted will gradually diminish to zero, thus ending his troubles.

We don't want to fall into such attitudes as- ' I can't ring it if I am told', or 'I know the hell. just tell me what to do' or 'What's wrong. I was on the right stroke or 'I was following at regulation distance.

There are many ringers who fail to reach a decent standard for lack of proper constructive criticism and guidance. Consequently they are seldom invited in peals or special ringing, and at meetings many will avoid ringing in a touch with them knowing it is doomed to be mediocre. In the latter case the kindest thing is to give constructive advice and help the ringer acquire a more polished performance.
Of course. there is no point in persistently nagging at a learner and we must endeavour to be gentle and really helpful in our attitude towards him.-Yours, etc.,

STILL LEARNING.

Lerwick will hear Bells

Dear Sir,-The story of the tape recording supplied by me. in conjunction with the ringers of St. Cuthbert's. Darlington, to the Rector of Lerwick, would not be complete if I did not say that in return for our efforts the Rev. H. Oxley. without obligation, very graciously forwarded me a cheque.
The donation has been equally divided between the Education Fund of the Durham and Newcastle Association, and the Belfry Repair Fund of the Yorkshire Association. -Yours faithfully,
Darlington.

Commemorating a Long Peal of 40 Years Ago
Dear Sir,-Early this year I wrote Mr. J. W. Griffiths, of Chester, pointing out that July 21 st would be the 40 th anniversary of the 17,280 Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Over in 1923, and suggesting we might get a band together to commemorate it by ringing a peal in the same method, by the same composer, on the same bells. He replied that he thought it a very good idea and he would see what could be arranged nearer the date. I asked him to contact Mr. Sam Jones to see if he would care to take part. as he and I are the only two left out of the original band, but as it turned out, because of business, he could not do so.
I think it was Sam who first had the idea of attempting the long peal. and, if I remember correctly. he wrote J. W. Parker for the composition, and handed it to Robert Snerring to conduct. We rang a 7,488 and a 9,344 out of the comnosition for practice before attempting the full length.
On Saturday, July 20th last. a reliable hand met at Over and rang a 5.024 by J. W. Parker, in good style. ably conducted by John W Griffiths. Mr. G. F. Sperring rang the treble, which was the hell his father rang when he conducted the 17.280 . I rang the fifth. the same as in the long peal, but this time I stood on the opposite side of the tower because in 1923 the bells were hung ' anti-clockwise,' and have since been rehung 'clockwise' in a modern frame.
The late James Swindley, of Handbridgc. rang the sixth in the long neal, and we wondered at one time whether his son, Percy, who has been ill, would be fit enough to take part but it was quite out of the question, as ringing for him is 'out' at the present time. We hope he will be better before very long and back in his place in the tower.
The band who rang in the 17,280 were: Rohert Sperring (conductor) 1. Geo. R.Jones 2. John Hayes 3. Harry F. Holding 4. Ed. V. Rodenhurst 5. James Swindley 6. Sam Jones, jun. 7, James H. Riding 8 .
I wonder if we will be able to ring in a peal for the 50th anniversary! I hope so. - Yours sincerely.
E. V. RODENHURST

Surprise 'Variations

Dear Sir. -In his article on Surprise * Variations,' on page 465. Mr. Cyril Wratten has resurrected some praiseworthy principles to guide the Exercise as to what methods in the Surprise group they should or should not ring. Some readers mav take note of the e principles as a future guide. but I feel sure the great majority will not, and continue to ring just what they please-and good luck to them.
In his reference to Christchurch Surprise. Mr. Wratten states quite unreservedly that 'it doesn't have any New Cambridge excuse that it removes any of the parent methods (Winchester) falseness either!' In the Major. I cannot but agree with his statement. but had Mr. Wratten taken enough trouble to look at the two Royal methods before committing himself in print he would have found that Christchurch removes all three false course heads from Winchester!-and if that doesn't come under of Sir Arthur Heywood's criterion of being 'hetter than what already exists.' as quoted by Mr. Wratten, then what does?-Yours faithfully.

R ROGER SAVORY.

ST. STEPHEN'S SOCIETY, WESTMINSTER
Big Ben boomed out twelve times in the still night as the day of our outing drew to a close, and we fumbled for front door keys, and clutched wearily at the empty flasks and uneaten sandwiches. Sixteen hours and ten towers earlier we had been busy packing ourselves into foul cars, with a fine sky, and a programme each which sent us to Maidstone ( 10,13 cwt.), where Stedman Caters collapsed at the course end, half a course of Cambridge Royal kept itself going until the treble rope snapped, and a plain course of Grandsire Caters was rung.
East Farleigh bells ( $6,7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) were interestingly rung to Cambridge, London and St . Clement's Minor, and Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles, and Hunton's ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$ ) sounded well in two touches of Spliced Plain Minor, and Bob Doubles. Linton ( $8,15 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was our last tower before lunch and Yorkshire, Bristol and Bob Major seemed to develop sufficient ebirst in most of us for us to wish to try The Bull for something to accompany our sand wiches.
Chart Sutton bells ( $6,16 \mathrm{cwt}$ ) were found (t) be elusive. but the syncopation noticeable in the London Surprise, Hlain Bob and Double Oxford was due more to the power of the Kent hops than any unwillingness on the part of the bells to respond. At Headcorn ( 8,23 cwt.), however, a certain reluctance to settle to a rhythm was detected, and rounds continued for some time before we set off on a stately three leads of Bristol, followed by Yorkshire and Stedman. The Stedman was that splendid touch composed by Mr . Leale, in which Queens occurs once at hand- and once at backstroke, and the musical changes are rung at least once. We were fortunate to hear it conducted by the composer.
Biddenden's ring ( $8,23 \mathrm{cwt}$.) sounded well to IBristol, Grandsire Triples and a touch of London, and then we moved on to Cranbrook, where more Grandsire Triples, Bristol and a course of Double Norwich gave us all something to think about; after this 23 cwt . eight we repaired to a tea-shop to gather strength for the last two towers of the day. These were at Staplehurst ( $8,21 \frac{3}{6} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and Marden ( $8,14 \frac{1}{\mathrm{cmt}} \mathrm{cw}$ ).
Our thanks are due to all incumbents and local ringers. M. M.

STRATTON, CORNWALL

Shortly after 7.30 on a fine brisk Whis Monday morning, a party of Stratton ringers and friends set out by motor coach for a day's ringing in South-East Devon.

Ringing in the standard methods started at Crediton, to be followed by Silverton and Broadclyst, where the Myers brothers joined the party. After lunch at Exmouth, Withycombe Raleigh was eventually reached. and here the bells rang out to a wonderful medley of Kent Treble Bob on seven bells and Double Norwich on the remaining one. The absentminded ringer on the fifth bell was apparently under the impression he was still practising Double Norwich with the Stratton ringers at Bridgerule. Tea was taken at Exmouth, and two good towers - Woodbury and Clysi Honiton-finished the day's ringing programme.

BABBACOMBE

Mr. D. J. Roberts arranged a very successful out.ng for Babbacombe ringers in the Tavistock area on June 22nd. Mr. W. G. Lavers met the party at the first tower-that fine octave at Plympton St. Mary-and two good sixes at B.ckleigh and Shaugh Prior followed. Because oi the poor condition of ropes no ringing took place at Sheepstor.

After a picnic lunch on the green at Meavy village, ringing took place on the very pretty six, followed by Bere Ferrers and Walkhampton (the visitors had kindly provided a set of ropes previously so that these bells could be rung). The five at Sampford Spiney left much to be desired, and then came Whitchurch, where, according to rumour, the bells are likely to be restored. Two towers remained on the programme for after teaBrent Tor and Tavistock, a fitting conclusion.

ST. MARY'S, EASTBOURNE

In spite of a sky red enough to delight any shepherd who happened to glance up from his television on Friday night, the morning of July 13th was doubtfully overcast. However, 35 ringers and friends (some from Canada) hopetunly stowed macs and handbells on the luggage racks. At the Hrst call, Withyham, Frank Hairs welcomed us. The Double Norwich was unaffected by the flash of Derek's camera.

Pushing onwards to Croydon, the windscreen wiper began to click, but we were far 100 busy bargaining with the pencil salesman from East Grinstead to pay much attention. At St. Peter's the ringing was indifferent, but after an excellent lunch the ringing improved with the weather. Grandsire Cinques at St. John's went better than we had dared to hope, thanks to Fred Collins and some his friends. These bells, 50 odd miles away, must be the nearest twelve to Eastbourne.

The next visitors' book to receive our scrawls was in SS. Mary & Nicholas', Leatherhead. We wondered why the faces of Messrs. Marriner and Winch were so familiar, until someone suggested the 'Personality' columns of 'The Ringing World.' The striking here was lumpy, but passable.

Henfield bells brought us back to Sussex and more familiar ground, and a course of Cambridge Major at last satiated the appetite of the Ringing Master for good striking.

SAPCOTE

Seven Sapcote ringers and Leslie Pickering, of Thurlaston, had an enjoyable two-day outing in Nottinghamshire and Lincolnshire on June 29th and 30 th . They camped at Cromwell Earley and rang at 9 a.m. at Sutton-on-Trent, staying to the Sung Eucharist. The week-end concluded with supper at 2, Leicester Road, Sapcote. Ringing took place at East Bridgford, Brant Broughton, Sutton-on-Trent, Babworth and Gamston. Methods rung were Plain Bob, Double Court, Kent T.B.. Cambridge, Bourne, London, York and Spliced Surprise.

EMMANUEL CHURCH, PLYMOUTH
For a number of years the second Saturday in July has meant an early rise for the ringers of Emmanuel, Plymouth, and so precisely at $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. we were off on our annual outing. Twenty-seven set off from Emmanuel Church, and two more of our ringers, also our old friend, 'Bill' Lavers, were picked up in the Plympton area. Our visitors included Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Sone, of Maidstone, who were on holiday, and 'Tom' Myers and Yvonne Porter, of St. Andrew's.
We were on the Exeter By-pass before $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$., and after half an houn for a welcome cottee, we arrived at Sowton right on time, $9.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$., where we were met by the captain, Mr. A. Iapley. Although a light eight, these bells are known to play tricks. Bradninch, with a 20 cwt . tenor, was our next call, followed by an hour's stop at Cullompton for lunch. We then journeyed on to Culmstock, another fairly heavy eight ( 19 cwt ). We returned to the main road and headed for Wiveliscombe, via Wellington. Here was a very attractive eight, with another 20 cwt. tenor. We were now in quite new country to most of our company, and the scenery in this part of Somerset was greatly appreciated. A hilly road, on the edge of Exmoor, brought us to Dulverton. Here before ringing we had a hot meal of roast chicken, apple tart, etc., which was thoroughly enjoyed. I he bells were not too heavy. 10 reach our last church, Silverton, meant a lovely run through Tiverton, down the Exe Valley. Here, as at all the churches visited, we were met by the local band, with a cordial welcome from themselves and the incumbent.

Mr. J. P. Sims, captain, did an excellent job to ensure that every one of the 20 ringers had a ring at each church, and at each there were a few rounds for the two young recruits, followed by Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major. Arrangements were made by the writer.

HORNCHURCH

Over the years it becomes difficult to find new territory in arranging outings, but this year we managed to do so, tnanks to the M.1.
Newport Pagnell, Olney, Higham Ferrers, Rushden, Wellingborough and Knebworth foldowed in punctual succession. We enjoyed them all, wishing that we could have had better climatic conditions at Knebworth (it poured with rain most of the day) and wondering wistfully how grand Olney bells must have sounded over the flat countryside.
To all the people in the area who helped us (there were many) we say a very sincere 'Thank you' and, as is our wont, pass on two helpful suggestions to those contemplating the same area-an excellent lunch is to be had at the Green Dragon, Higham Ferrers, and for that ' one for the road try the Station Hotel, Knebworth.

AN ISLAND TOUR

There was a warm 'Thank you' to Miss Cherry White for the day's outing in the Isle of Wight; she arranged for ringers from Newbury. Petersfield, Kingston and Dunsfold, and Brian Mills and Christine, from Shelford, Notts.
Ringing during the day included London, Wells, York, Beverley and Norwich Minor and Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY'S 1963 TOUR

YHE theme song of the U.B.S.C.R.'s cycle tour in the Surrey-Kent area this year might well have been "The rhythm of the falling rain.' It was difficult to persuade the first years that it newer rains on the summer tour as we swam on through the unceasing torrents.

Saturday, June 15 th. had been arranged by our thoughtful and efficient secrelary to give us an opportunity to look round the new ways our connection at Reading was missed so we only caught a glimpse of it from the train. The first tower that we rang at was Holy Trinity, Guildford, where Mr. Tom White met us ; alas. we put up a poor show because of the shortage of men, three of our back-enders not having arrived. At Shalford and Godalming we did not acquit ourselves much better. The youth hostel at Milford was very badly situated, being at least a 15 minute served with bottled cider

WATCHED CRICKET

On Sunday the weather turned to a misty drizzle. We raing for Sung Eucharist on the 3 cwt. ring of five at Hascombe, luckily not breaking any stays. After a pretty frightful packed lunch, the next tower was Dunsfold, which had been unconfirmed because the Ringing Master was in Canada. We then idled a way the next couple of hours in front of a cricket match, either watching it or explaining the rules of the game to someone uho had never seen it played before. At Cranleigh, our Master appeared, still handsomely scarred after his steering accident; the bells were good and we had an attempt at Stedman Triples, which unfortunately broke down. We admired the well kept ringing chamber and the small girl who handled the treble so beautifully

We found some difficulty on the heavy six at Ockley on Monday, but were compensated by the lovely light rings at Capel and Newdigate. However, our troubles were not yet over and we came to grief at Betchworth, especially in a dismal attempt at Cambridge Major; hut we managed it on the easier bells at Dorking, thanks to Mr. Patrick Cannon, to whom we are gratefu! for the sudden improved standard oi our ringing. By this time the rain was well established so we quickly found a pub which provided us with soup, sandwiches and coffee, before setting off on a long, uncomfortable climb up to Tanners Hatch Youth Hostel. I- is situated in the middle of a dark forest. accessible only along a muddy footpath, and the warden carries a hunting knife to and from his cottage. There was an open log fire wajting to unchill our bones, and we went to sleep in bunks lodged low among the rafters.

The next morning, after an interesting breakfayt, consisting mostly of condensed milk, we made our way to SS. Mary and Nicholas." deatherheid (a lovely ien), where we managed a course of Siedman Caters. Breakfast was stipplemented by sandwiches and coffee. kindly provided by the Rector's wife and her helpers in the newly opened Church Hall. At Ashtead we noticed the beautiful flower decorations in the church and the details of the tower cycle outing, programme which put our struggling twenty miles a day to shame.

SECRETARY LEAVING FOR USA

The Vicar at Epsom is evidently used to ringers because he came straight across to the pub to find us. We again managed Stedman Caters and Plain Bob Royal, before moving on to Banstead, but we did not get a very long sing here becouse the clock chimes were loose and had to be retied before we could use the bells. It was here that we said good-bye to our secretary. who was leaving us to spend the summer in the U.S.A. as a missionary in the campanological field. Our last tower of the day was Kingswood, reputedly the best six in Surrey. Their lovely soft tone almost hypnotised us into ringing twell a long touch of Cambridge Minor. The night was spent at Chaldon Youth Hostel, an old manor house of 'historical interest.'

Coulsdon (5) was the first tower miles out of our way, five people volunteered to go and attempt a quarter peal there: but they were unable to ring because no one appeared to let them in. The rest of ths cycted casuilly to Chaldon Church-not for the sake of the hells, hut to see the magnificent 13th century mural depicting heaven and hell, which was rather worrying to some of us. We then rang at St. Mary Magdalene's, Reigate (a fine ten), and after lunch at Redhili and Nutheld. At Bletchingly the long draught made handling difficult and ringing was not helped by half the band nipping off and scofling tea and scones. The rain was belting down by the time we finished here and most people decided to go straight to Chaldon, where we were spending another night.

TEST SCORES PRIORITY

On Thursday the weather had cleared up and wz were able to hide away our plastic macs for the last time. The first tower was St. Nicholas', Godstone (a good eight), and so on to Oxted and Limpsfield (both sixes). At Westerham our not over high standard sank even lower when we didn't ring Plain Bob, or Stedman. or Yorkshire.... At Brasted we just didn't ring, but sat on a tombstone and listened to the Test scores and had our photographs taken from unusual angles, while various people tried to find someone to let us in. We had a go at tolling the treble, which brought a bristling matron stalking up the path demanding who we were. We spent the night at Cudham Y.H., to be noted for the high quality of the food, and also because we were not sent to bed like good children at half-past ten, but went of our own accord twenty minutes later.

Appropriately named is Downe. To reach it on Friday morning we had to go down a very steep hill which induced a couple of people to get off and walk, but just retribution for this sin lay in the exceedingly high climh which faced us immediately. On this hill we met an obstinate motorist. who though so ohviously stalled refused all offers of a push. After Downe we rang at West Wickham (a tovely six), until a loose clapper stopped us all ton soon. We ate the best packed lunches we had had in a pub in Hayes, after which we rang on the light six at St. Mary the Virgin. The ringing chamber was also the west porch, which overlooked the main street of Hayes, and was some experience ringing in the middle of heavy funch-time traffic. After this we went on to Bromley Common. where an advance party had to leave early in order to cycle the seven miles up to Biggin Hill, the secretary having forgotten to tell us that he had warned them we would be date.

The last evening was spent in the traditional way. everyone weeping into their draught cider. We were entertained by a fascinating group of yobrs, who had stepped straight out of a Giles cartoon. whose guitar playing and singing were not much worse than most stuff on record. Afterwards we were not entertained by the U.B.S.C.R mate voice choir who failed to think of anything original to-dare I say sing?

It was back the way we came the previous day for our last tower of the tour, SS. Peter and Paul's. Bromley, a beautiful, smooth ring. ing eight, and the home tower of our treasurer elect. Maria Kinby, who generously provided us with a magnificent lunch. Thank you, Maria.Although personal knocks and bruises were numerous our bikes suffered very little, there being only one puncture and one clanking sprottle (or something). The prize for the bike of the year should this time be equally divided between I love Cliss. Duane. Elvis and the Beatles.' and the delicate red with turquoise mudguards. The most well-dressed cyclist would be the person who managed in wear grey fiannels, white shirt and tie throughout the muckiest weather, but perhaps the prize for sartorial elegance should go to (Continued foot of next column)

VETERANS' REUNION

The Veterans' Reunion at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, on June 29th, brought together many old friends. Some had been very ill and we were thankful to see them: some were not well enough to attend, and we especially missed Bill Shepherd, Freddie Wicks, A Wellington. Ernie Fenn and H. Hazell Apologies for absence, with good wishes, were received from many, with a special note of good-will from Canon C. Carew Cox, who was prevented from attending because of the long journey. Family ties prevented Dr. E. L Taylor and Miss E. Steel from being present. The service was conducted for the first time by Rev. Stanley Moore. Rector of St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate. In his welcome, he expressed appreciation of the many years of service they had given to the Church. Those who had died during the past year were remembered by name during the prayers. A good tea was provided by Mrs. Davis and many willing helpers.
Perhaps one of the happiest periods of the meeting was when those present indulged in reminiscences. Mr. Hazelden commented on a book on Shoreditch by Mr. Bradley, and Mr. Barnett's wonderful memory put at rest certain queries. Reuben Sanders was mentioned as the sole survivor of the first peal of Bristol in London 50 years ago. and Joe Hawkins was reminded of the good Sunday service band he started 40 years ago at St. Andrew's. Holborn, with Jim Bullock as Master. Congratulations went out to Alder Gofton, of Whitley Bay, on ringing London for his 85 th birthday, as many of those present had rung with him at various times.

Arthur Barker calculated the average age of the veterans present as 76. Many came under their 'own steam, including the 'Brighton wonder Harry Stalham

Of the many to be thanked there are the Rev. Stanley Moore, Mrs. Davis and her tea helpers, Messrs. L. Tuhb. J. Tomsett and E. Talbot (with cars). G. Parsons and J. Hibbert (general help). Walter Wainwright (photographer) and Albert W. Coles. (keeping the touches in order). Ringing at St . Lawrence, Jcwry, was due to the good services of Mr. Jack Phillips. and also took place at St. James", Clerkenwell, where the agility of the company was commented upon by the Rev. H. E. Roherts, and at Bishopsgate.

Good health to you all. and please listen i.1 on Sundays at 8.50 to 9.30 a.m. to 'With heart and voice. Until we meet again.

JOHN EUSTON.
