THE RABBITS' GUILD

THE number and enthusiasm of the members attending the sixth Annual General Meeting, held as usual on St. Francis' Day, were a far from mute tribute to the popularity of the Guild and the loyalty of those whom it exists to serve.

The Master's eagerly-awaited speech opened thus: 'When our beloved Guild was founded we hoped and believed that it would embrace as an Alma Mater the struggling hordes of patient failures who so persistently clog the belfries of the land. The venture has been successful even more abundantly than we hoped; for the first time in the history of ringing the Rabbit is no longer ashamed of his existence, and of course he thanks the Guild. [Prolonged cheers.]

- To illustrate my point I need only tell you that our Hints for Instructors are to be made available to the committee which is working on a new edition of the Central Council's Handbook for Beginners.' [Cheers more prolonged.]

Following the Master's speech, the secretary's report disclosed a thoroughly healthy state of the Guild's affairs.

Though the days when the Rabbits' Guild could only pursue its beneficent work underground are long past, certain of its transactions must still wear the veil of privacy, and among these is the reading of the Black List of Instructors and Ringing Masters-a sad duty. The account of crimes committed against Rabbits followed its usual dismal course, amid head-shakings and groans, especially from such as suffer the barbarous yoke of the criminals. Then the recital of the names and towers of Masters who have not disdained to mend their ways and who have therefore been expunged from the Black List was reccived with fervent applause.

Of general interest is the election of Honorary Patrons, the awards for the year being as follows:

For assistance with the menu for the annual feast: Miss M. R. Cross.
For secret service: Mr. C. W. Pipe.
As is customary, the recipients of the award were saved probable embarrassment by not being consulted beforehand.

A message of encouragement and good wishes was sent to the ringers of Llanfyllin, whose determination and perseverance it delights the Guild to commend.

In the ringing after the meeting some professed to detect a higher standard than in previous years, but much remains to be done before the Rabbits' Guild enters for striking competitions.

The feast was greatly enjoyed, consisting of ugly duckling, followed by spotted (lame) dog and gooseberry fool. The new song of the Guild was sung for the first time, with tremendous enthusiasm. As so many of the singers are tone deaf, the tune is immaterial.

THE RABBITS' SONG

The parish resounds To our angular rounds, We cause all the troubles With Grandsire Doubles. We make all the ripples In Grandsire Triples, There's not an old stager Can bear our Bob Major, We madden the Master By not ringing faster, He's sure to lament That we've ruined the Kent. And oh! how they hate us If we attempt Caters, On Monday.

With the best of our band The ringing is grand. But when Alice and Tom Are banning the bomb, And Robert and Mike Are off on the bike, We've muscle and gristle But we can't ring Bristol, If we attempt London We're utterly undone. Alas! for the head man He can't have, his Stednian. So the parish resounds To our angular rounds Come Sunday.
T. B., Master.

SUPERSTITIONS CONNECTED WITH BELLS

THE sound of church bells was once widely believed to drive away demons, both those who brought storms and pestilence and those who constantly flitted ahout the world seeking to harm the souls and bodies of men. They hated bell music because it was made by holy things. and also because it disturhed the atmosphere in which they had their incorporeal being. It is possible that the latter reason represents the older form of the belief. In pre-Christian zimes as well as later, ordinary hells, not connected with any sacred rite or building, were sometimes used. together with other noise-producing instruments, to defeat evil spirits. The idea that these entities dislike loud noises still survives in some crop-protecting customs of the Balkans and Central, Europe, and also, perhaps, in the clamour raised during the making of rough music.

Church bells were often pealed during thunderstorms to prevent damage by lightning and thunderbolts, and to protect those within hearing from material and spiritual peril. 'Wherever this bell sounds, says an 18th century form of blessing, "let the power of enemies retire. so also the shadow of phantoms, the assault of whirlwinds, the stroke of lightnings, the harm of thunders, the injuries of tempests, and every spirit of the storm-winds." Aubrey remarks in his Miscellanies that 'at Paris when it begins to thunder and lighten, they do presently ring the great bell of the Abbey of St. Germain, which they helieve 10 make it cease. The like was wont to be done heretofore in Wiltshire; when it thundered and lightened. they did jing St. Aldhelm's bell, at Malnesbury Abbey. Thie curious do say that the ringing of bells exceedingly disturbs spirits.' In the Pyrenees and some other parts of Europe the church bells are still rung during hail or thunderstorms to protect the crops.
Since diseases were anciently thought to be the work of demons, church bells were frequently rung when epidemics were raging. In the 16 th and 17 th centuries they were pealed or tolled during outbreaks of the plague. This was recommended by doctors of that period. not on religious or superstitious grounds but because the clamour was thought to dissipate those heavy and corrupt airs that were then supposed to be one of the cruses of the disease. Probably, however, simple folk remembered the old beliefs of their ancestors when they heard ihe sound. and look comfort from it for reasons quite unconnected with the fashionable scientific notions of their own day.

A curious tradition concerning the tenor bell in the Abbey Church at Dorchester-on-Thames is that snakes cannot endure its note. and that consequently none is ever found in that place. Dorchester is now little more than a large village. but in the 7th century it was the cathedral city of Si. Berin (or Birinus). the Apostle of Wessex, who died and was huried there in A.D. 650 . Legend says he was killed by an adder bite, and that ever since then he has protezted his people from a similar fate by the agency of inis bell. The latter, which was cast about 1380). has a Latin inscription invoking his profection. though snakes are not mentioned in it. Whether this tradition runs hack to AngloSaxon times, or if it is even as old as the bell, is uncertain: but evidently it was known in the carly 18th century, (or Cox mentions it in his Magna Britannia (1727). Ife quotes a rhyme. still remembered locally. which runs:-

Within the sound of the great bell.

No Snake nor Adder e'er shall dwell. and adds: " which to confirm the oldest men of the Place say they never saw any venomous Creature within that district, and have heard their Fathers say the same.'

SWEARING AND BELLS

Many traditional stories seem to ascribe life and conscious thought to church bells. They ring of themselves in the presence of a saint, or when a crime has been committed near them. They bring down misfortune upon those who steal or destroy them. Several are said to have been lost when being moved because of a curse uttered by some workman helping with the work, or because of an ill-timed boast: Rostherne Mere in Cheshire is supposed to contain such a bell, which broke its ropes while in transit and rolled to the water's edge. One of the men swore at it, and it sank immediately, never to be recovered. Its note is heard, however. according to local tradition, once a year. on Easter Sunday. A mermaid comes up a subterranean channel from the River Mersey and rings the bell at dawn. and then she sits on it and sings very sweetly for a short time. Many people fotmerly used to go to the mere on that day in the hopes of hearing her, but it is not recorded that any one ever did hear her. Combermere in the same county has a similar legend, but of a more terrifying nature. After the dissolution of the monasteries, the Abbey bells were moved to Wrenbury Church, and as they were being ferried across the lake one fell in. The man in charge, angered by the thought of the trouble involved in raising it, swore loudly, laking the Name of God in vain. At once a strange figure rose from the water and dragged him to his death, and neither he nor the belt has ever been seen since.

Another very common tradition is that bells can be heard pealing underwater in the church lowers of towns that once existed and were overwhelmed by floods. Bomere in Shropshire has such á legend. A town, variously said to have been Roman or Saxon, stood on its site and was drowned for its wickedness. On certain nights the sound of bells pealing is heard there or, according to one version, the Sanctus bell's note is heard on Christmas Eve, ringing again as it rang during Midnight Mass when the waters overwhelmed the church and the town. The group of rocks known as Caer Wyddno, seven miles out to sea in Carciigan Bay, is locally supposed to mark the spol where the capital city of the lost Lowland Hundred once stood. Here, it is said, on quiet. calm days, the bells can be heard faintly pealing as the water moves them to and fro in the depths of the sea. So too, off the coast of Lancashire. near Blackpool, a ghostly peal is oscasionally audible, coming from the drowned church of Kilgrimod.

SIGNS OF DEATH

The strange booming sound sometimes emitied by a bell when no one has touched it was formerly regarded as a sure omen of death in the parish before the week was out. This is not really very surprising, for it is a heartchilling sound to hear. It was specially ominous if it was heard during a service. when most of the parishioners were gathered together, or during a wedding. In the latter case, the early death of either the bride or the bridegroon was foretold. The ordinary wedding peal. of course, brings good fortune, and was no doubt originally intended to avert the evil spirits that were believed to be specially active always at, the great moments of life and death. Mrs. Leather records an instance of a peal used for the opposite purpose. At Pcterchurch, about the end of last century, the ringers were nol rewarded for ringing at a marriage, and in reyenge they returned to the helfry and rang the hells backwards 10 bring bad luck 10 the defaulting bridegroom. Church bells were somelimes rung also to help women in labour (see Birth. Easing). and at harvest, to ensure the safety of the gathered crop. Grease taken from them was believed to have curative powers if applied as an ointment. Cases have been recorded within this century of its use for ringworm, shingles and other skin troubles.
Ordinary bells have their superstitious lore as well as those connected with churches. If one rings of itself anywhere, on land or on shipboard. the omen is bad. If two ring at the same time in a house, it is a sign of a parting. If a telephone bell rings intermittently, with no incoming call to account for it, it foreteils bad news. This curious modern adaptation of an ancient belief is quite often found even amongst people who know that the sound is due to a lault in the mechanism.
In the days of sail, the ship's betl was regarded as in some sense an embodiment of the vessel's soul. Sailors believed that it always rang when a wrecked ship went down. even if it had been securely lashed in place beforehand. Nor did the final disaster always silence it. M. A. Courtney speaks of a ghostly bell that was often heard to strike four and eight bells in a churchyard near Land's End. The sound came from the grave of a sea captain who had refused to leave his sinking ship when she was wrecked on the Cornish coast. He went down with her exactly at midnight, as he was striking the hour on the bell. To hear it in the churchyard was apparently ominous, for Miss Couriney further records how a sailor once went to the grave to find out whether the legend was true or not. He heard the ringing. and was lost at sea on his next voyage.

The seaman's belief that a bell ringing of jtself is an omen of disaster is reflected in the common superstition about the ringing note sometimes emitted by a tumbler or a wine glass. This foretells a wreck at sea or the death of a sailor, and should be stopped at once by placing a finger on the rim of the glass. If this is done quickly the omen is averted.

BIRTH, EASING
The pealing of church bells during the critical time was thought to help delivery, but if this could not be arranged a piece of old bell rope might be .begged from the ringers and tied round the mother's waist.

DEATH BELLS
Bells have always been closely associated with dearh and with funerals. As they were once thought to avert many perils during life. so at the supreme moment of death they were rung to drive away the demons that besel a deathbed, and afterwards to protect the soul as it set out on its long journey to the next world. In Christian Iradition, of course, the Passing Bell is rung when someone is dying, to ask the livng to pray for the departing spirit, as the Nine Tiailors are rung to announce a death that has already occurred, and the great bell is tolled at a funcral in coken of mourning. We call them soul-bells: wrote Bishop Hall of the Passing Bell 300 years ago. "for that they signify the departure of the soul. not for that they help the passage of the soul. Nevertheless many. even among the devout, continued to believe that their music did protect the dying and the yet unburied dead, and traces of this idea lingered to a late date. To omit or delay any of the customary ringings was until quite recently considered not only disrespectful to the dead man and his kin. but also unkind, because it was likely to hamper the spirit in its passing.

In Notes and Queries (1852), Cuthbert Bede mentions the case of a Huntingdonshire child who dicd unbaptised and was huried shortly before he wrote. No bells were rung for him. and for this omission a neighbour expressed deep sympathy for the mother, because when any one died. the soul never left the body until the church bell was rung." Henderson was told by a Buckinghamshire friend how, on the deash of a farmer, the bells began toiling at 5 oclock in the morning and were immediately sopped for two hours by the clergyman's orders. The dead man's widow bitterly resented this, saying that it was a cruel act to keep the poor soul those hours a-waiting. At one time it was usual to ring for the dying or the dead at any hour. but this custom seems to have died out during the 19th century, and in most places the bells were tolled only between sunrise and sunset. In some parishes. if an inquest was necessary. they were not rung until after the inquest was over.

The Passing Bell and the Nine Tailors are sometimes confused in accounts of parish customs. They are, in fact. quite separate, the one rung, as the name denotes, for a dying man. and the other only after death has occurred. The word 'tailors' is a corruption of tellers, the full title meaning the nine tellers on strokes which indicate the death of a man. Hence the saying Nine Tailors make a man: The living are notified that someone has died, first by the colling of the bell, then by nine strokes for a man. six for a woman and three for a child. and finally by a single note for every year of the dead person's age. In a few of the parishes where this custom is kept up the number of strokes indicating sex varies a little, hut nine, six and three are the most usual. At Ayot Si. Peter, in Hertfordshire, the Nine Tailors are rung for Our Lord on Good Fridaly. At Dewsury it is, or was. the custom to ring the Devil's Passing Bell on Christmas Eve, followed by the age of the year. because the Devil died when Christ was born.
It was formerly usual in several counties, including Lancashire. Shropshire and Devonshire. to peal the bells, either when the coffin reached the lychgate and was received into the churchyard, or after the funeral, as the mourners were returning home. This custom, which has died out now, was far more Christian in its underlying idea than the melancholy tolling. for the hells were pealed as a sign of rejoicing that the dead man had gone home.

The old sexton later on had occasion to go to the cupboard, and, seeing the bag. took it up and shook it. It made a rattle. so. scared almost out of his life. he called in the police. and The he thought it was an infernal machine. The police took a long broom handle. put it through the handle of the bag. and carried it at a distance to the police stattion. where they got a long-handled iron bar, and forced the ting opin. Then out rolled the handbells, amid much laughter of the officers and the discomfiture of the sexton.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Dear Sir,-May I through the columas of your paper, congratulate both the Central Council and the B.B.C. on the choice of towers for the Christmas Day broadcast (Home 9.10 a.m.).

There was a healthy diversity in the ringing from call changes to Stedman Caters, all with a high otandard of striking.

Undoubtedly the 'laymen' listening were given a more accurate picture of the art with the inclusion, this year, of three six-bell towers. Was this the recognition by the organivers that good ringing does not only come from towers fortunately endowed whe cight or more bells?-Yours faithfully,

HILARY KNIGHT.
Geddington, Northants.

FADED OUT

Dear Sir,-Recently, and again this morning (December 23 rd ). I listened to Evercreech bells start into rounds and with almost perfect striking go off into Stedman Triples for what appears to be a musical wittle touch of 60 changes. On both occasions the performance has been ruined by the B.B.C. fading out the ringing at the end of the slow six, before rounds come up.

Cannot someone in touch with Broadcasting House call their attention to this. What an outcry there would be if a symphony was faded just before the end of the last move-ment!-Yours sincerely, H. S. HOBDEN. Waldron. Sussex.

WHAT THEY DO AT BARNSLEY

Dear Sir,--If Mr. P. A. Brand had taken the trouble to dig into C.C. history of a niere few years ago he would have discovered that the business of publishing 'abscure Minor methods' in the 'R.W.' had been amicably settled at that time and the Barnsley and District Society do not appreciate the efforts of Mr. Brand to cause further trouble or, as we say in Yorkshire. 'to warm up the old broth! As our Sunbury friend seems determined to clean up nefarious practices in this corner of Yorkshire. I will, to save him tiresome research, endeavour to put him in the picture.
Besides ringing methods with irregular lead ends, these barbarians ring in a continuous rhythm, known as close lead or cartwheefing. a centuries old custom, probably introduced by uninitiated yokels.
To continue. if one has the misfortune to visit a tower frequented by these infidels the sopes will be found to have a small sally at the end. which is referred to as a billie. and. although this tail end is the same diameter as a sully, fastidious visitors seem to have difficulty in grasping it. giving up the imdifficulty in grasping it. giving up the impression that their left hand is smaller than their right ; these tail ends. which recently -plagued' a very select team of dilettantes touring the West Country, are a very old custom and although expensive we still manage to afford the duxury.

> Ah! Mr. Brand, here comes the worst blow these Tykes have the effirontery to arrange and take part in prize ringing, contests, battling frercety for the awards which usually consist oi ball point pens, ash trays and the like.
The old adage 'what was good enough for father is good enough for me.' is usually worth following, providing you are convinced that what father did was good and we see no reason to think olherwise. In conctusion may I report a meeting of Yes Men in may I report a meeting of Yes Men in Rarnsley. who met down Regent Street in a telephone kiosk!-Yours fuithfully,

KILIFI BELLS DEDICATED

Dear Sir,-The Kilifi dight ring of six bells, by Taylors, was dedicated on St. Thomas' Day, December 21 ist, our Patronal Festival, by the Most Rev. L. J. Beecher, Archbisliop of East Africa.
There was a congregation of over 200 , which filled our nave and the enclosed garden and part of the open space between the walls which funnel in the northeast wind during this our hot season. The air was cool from the first rain to fall for some weeks. The flamboyant trees (Poinciana or Delonix regia) were in brilliant flower.
The nine lessons were cead by three English and six African children, four in Swahili and five in English. The singing was led hy the school choir from Rabai. where the first C.M.S. missionaries, Krapp and Rebmann. started their work in 1846.
The ring is the same as that of Suxthorpe. incorporating the old Stanford hell ('John Brend made me. $1653{ }^{\prime}$ ) as tenor. To the local people the bells seem large. All speak well of the tone. The cost was $£ 750$ and has been paid, leaving our fund with an overdraft of t200, now reduced by the collection at the dedication to $£ 150$.
We wish to thank all subscribers-101 are listed in the belfry-especially the 29 Guilds ind Associations who responded to the appeal. Among them, the Lancashire Association hold pride of nlice with nearly $£ 70$ and 14 individual towers so far. We record gratefully the offer of a loan of $x \geq 00$ from one kind member. Next come the Salisbury Diocese, then Norwich and Peterhorougli. And wo hope that all those who have not been able to subscribe so far will now help us to wine off the overdraft-and perhaps make a start towards the last two hells at $£ 100$ eanch, for which spaces are provided in the frame.Yours faithfully,

ST. THOMAS OF CANTERBLRY VERSLS ST. THOMAS A BECKET

Dear Sir,-Surely Mr. York-Bramble is not suggesting that St . Thomas of Canterbury wa a different person to St. Thomas a Becket? What does it matter anyway which title is used? Go to Skeffington, Leics, and the church there is dedicated to St. Thomas a Becket. one in South Warwicks is the same and 'Crockford' as well as other books list almost as many dedicated to one as the ather.
It may (in Mr. York-Bramble's favour) be said that he wasn't canonised St. Thomas of Canterbury until after his martyrdom. by King Henry II on December 29th. 1170, but the Church recognises him under both titles, otherwise why the two types of dedication?
Past history shows that Northampton had a close association with Thomas a Beckel: The old castle (built in 1084 and pulled down to make way for the railway in 1875-78) was where Becket faced his trial before Henry, and from where he escaped through old Roman passageways to the South.-Yours faithfully.

UNNECESSARY:

Dear Sir,-I have no desire to retraverse the well trodden arguments of Regular v. Irregular Minor methods with Mr. Brand.
I have but one observation on his letter No one reading it can remain unaware that the naive protestations of immazurity in the penultimate paragraph are nothing if not unnecessary - Yours sincerely,

A BARNSLEY ECHO

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Brand's letter (pige 836), I should like to ask him the meaning of the word 'tradition'? Would he like to see the traditions of England swept aside by some council? One gentleman tried hut in vain. and the Duke of York, in the compiny of Violet, with the support of Barnsley. Havercroft, South Kirby, Felkirk and many more, will be rung to peals many years hence.
Is there one rule for the Barnsley and District Sociely and another for the rest? I don't recollect seeing the Barnsley and District Society on the affiliated list of the Central Council: perhaps that's what makes the Barnsley and D.strict ringers such a pleasant lot. Would Mr. Brand like to see the freedom of the press fettered?
One Saturday night I was in the local of "some corner of Yorkshire," a place full of the past. and I asked a gentleman of mature age why the bells were ringing? I received this answer, with a mischievous sm:le. It s yon Moxon an't lads having a bit o' practice. They think a 720 isn't long enough for a contest. so they're ringing one or two 5,000 's ready for ticontest season. After a pause for a drink my informant said, 'Just listen to that tenor run in; they are ringing Duke of York.

That Saturday evening was quite a revelation. hearing about people teaching young bands to ring open leads in the land of Cartwheel Minor ringing. and contests of yesteryenr lasting days on end. where it would b: considered an insult to wager a mere fiver--Yours sincerely,

QLERY AND QUERY ANSWERED

Dear Sir,-In answer to the jetter from Mr. Smith, regarding Quadring and Wellington, the correct name for the method is Wellington. the first peal of which was rung at Aldershot on September 28th, 1957. A second peal i) the method was rung at I!pworth, Lincs. on January 7 th. 1961 , and printed as a peai of Quadring. ## 'Unringable' Bells

For the third year in succession an unringable' tower in Suffolk hiss been proved otherwise. In 1960 Covehithe's 5 were rung for the first time after 20 years, little being wrong except neglect ; in 1961. ## WILLIAM CULVERDEN-MASTER BELLFOUNDER

By T. A. BEVIS

MUCH has been written about William Culverden. particularly so concerning the foundry shicld attributed to him. More recently the controversy inspired by the works of the Master Founder and that interesting tride mark of yesteryear has hovered unoerlainly at times above English towers which claim to have-or have had-bells by him. Mr. Shepherd and Mr. Clouston have penned factual evidence and beliefs in this reppect and there is hardly any need for the writer to dwell upon or add to those points.
Suffice to rehate that according to the printed word the shield disphays a peacock, rather th:n a pigcon, a feasible suggestion when taking into consideration the capital ' $P$ ' beneath the clapper. Another theory concludes that the dirrd is act wally a sparrow. The former supposition lends support to the theory that the founder was one William Peacock and the latter bearing out William Bird or William Sparrow as being the man-of-metai betind the mystery
These allusions. according to Canon Raven; athere closely to the in Domino Canfido inscription, being possibly a continuation of the verse of the psalm (xi, 1), How say ye then to my soul that she should flee as a hird to her hiil?
Mr. A. D. Tyssen, however, altributes the stield to William Culverden (culver as we already know being the odd English word for pigeon).
William Culverden was a Londan citizen plying his trade as bell founder in the earrly 1 16h century. His name occurs in the parish accounts of St. Mary-at-Hill, date 1510 .
The founder's will. dated September 29h, 1523 portrays a fair reflection of the Godtearing character of this man who lived in the purish of St. Botolph-without-Aldgate.
In accordance with his faith, Culverden. in his will. hequeathed and recommended his soul to God. my maker., savyor and redcemer:' to St. Mary the Virgin and to all the thely company of heaven, and the instructed llosise concerned that his semains were to te interred in the church or churchyard of Botolph's Church.
Culverden was a loyal member of various mortierthoods and guilds, and these were naturally remembered in the founder's will. Leaving a sum to the high altar of the above mentioned church. William added this reason. for my fithes and ohlacions neeligently forgotten... The Abbey of Westminster. where he was brought up in his youth. received xxxims., viijd.. if it may he borne of my goods after my detts fuhy paide or ells not.' Culverden was a brother of the Guild of Out blessed Lidy of Boston. menbership of which necessitated an annual payment of xvidd The founder inseructed his executors to pay that amount which he apparently owed to the Guild for this yere past.
The interesting reference to the Boston Guila undoubledy Itwis a connection with that f.rmous Lincolnshire seaport. every, ilspsect ciominated by thit dominated by that impressive church dediciled to \%. Hotolph. a fine largely of Culverden's duy, then in the process of being enriched and o:namentated beyond compare. Perhaps Culverden possessed a magnanimous respect and admiration for thit saintly Saxon wanderer of Suffolk origin. Certainly the fact that Culverden's parish church bore the same dedicalon as that at Boston indicates that the min must have had intense interest in the most famous of all ' Botolph ' churches and consequently played a part in the Boston Brotherhood.

This same reference Jeads one to believe that the will in question materialised while Culverden lay at death's door, for he was unusually arixious that his debt to the Guild be settled. Then again, he may have gotten himself into business difficultics: and of necessity felt obliged to 'neglect; his interests for a time.
The Brotherhood of Jesu kept within St. Botolph's-without-Aldgate was also earmarked for monetary aid, deceased also remembering diverse organisations, and providing for lights and altar commodities peculiar to the Roman doctrine.
Culverden's prem ses were situated in Houndsditch. and included a house, sheds and garden. these leased to the founder by the Prior and Convent of Christ Church. According to an indenture between the founder and the prior Culvorden placed the business in the hands of Thomas Lawrence., Bellmaker,' for six marks a ycar. that amount being paid to Culverden o: his executors.
It seems that Thomas Lawrence was highly fivoured in Culverden's will, yet it may wefl be that Lawrence actually discovered that he was taking on something that was not entinely to his liking. He is supposed to have purchased the business, lock. stock and barrel: in the capacity of manager of the foundry he would be under an obligation to pay the Jrior and Convent of Christ Church 19 mark's a year in licu of lease: also Lawrence was expected to remunerate Culverden's executors at the daies expressed in the said indenture as they shatl come and growe oon after the other, and therwt to paye my (Culverden's) detts as ferre as the said money will extend.' The residue of all and singular goods, debts, funeral costs and bequests fulfilled was entrusted to Culverden's very trusty goode friends,' Sir Roger Preston, Clerk, Sir John Osborne. Clerk, parish priest of St. Botolph's. with others. Alas. the execusors were not able to carry out deceased's intentions.
Whether or not Thomas Lawrence was aetively connected with Culverden's hell foundry cannot be accurately ascortained; information with regard to his works is very scanty indeed. Nevertheless an interesting theory is that the gridiron, thought to represent Lawrence on a bell it Kingsion (Cambs), and adso occurring-or having occurred-at Margaretting (Essex); wals used by the founder as a 'trade-mark,' the design being the symbol of the saint whose name formed the founder's surname.

The inverted stield enclosing a fleur-de-lis is also worthy of note, and is supposied to have been used by Lawrence. The unusual inversion, it is suggested, denoted a desire to avoid collision with Heralds, Favine adhering to evidence that tradesmen who did take that liberty of inciting Heralds in such a way were liable to be heavily fined. Therefore it is not unusual to find bell stamps and designs ser in squares and the like.
We hear of Thomas Lawrence in Norfolk; apparently he ended his days at Norwict, heing interred on December 3rd, 1545, in St. Stephen's Church. He was obviously a much esteemed and respected person. for he was honcured with the Freedom of Norwich on March 23rd, 1541.

THE SMITHS

THE STORY OF A RINGING FAMILY

By I. N. QUICK

Squire Tregarthy had always taken fatherly interesi in all activities connected with the church, although he was not a regular attender himself. There was a tamily pew which remained empty unless members of the Tregarthy elan occupied it, an occurrence which took place at the church festivals of Einster. Whitsuntide and Christmas. or whenever the Syuire brought along important visitors from the Grange. Once the had tried, unsurcessfully, spasmodically and without any degree of enthusiasm, to pearn to handle a bell. He was respected and not a jittle feared, fo; he could be a Tartar when the wanted.

- The rich man in his castle,

The poor man at his gate,
God made them high or lowly,
And ordered their estate:
might be a verse that had disappeared from it old hymn in modern editions, but the spirit that prompted its omission moved more slowly i) cross the face of the countryside than it did in the more urban areas.
The old Squire died on Friday, 13th, and now the villagers would no longer touch their cips to him
It was fitting that he should have a funeral suitable to his station. In the ringing chamber on the Sunday before the funeral Joe discussed ringing arrangements.

The funeral will be on Tuesday at 3 p.m.. the said. 'I shan't be available for the ringing, of course [he was the undertaker]. but it is John's half-day and Phyllis and Henry will be coming.

And so, with others who could spare them, team was arranged to ring.

- I will come, down on Monday night and fix the muffiles,' said Joe.

The two boys, Tom and Harry, were in the ringing chamber

Can we come and help?' asked Tom.
Yes. I shall be setting off from home at about 6.30,' replied Joe.

And so on the following Monday, at about a quanter after six o'olock, Tom and Harsy piesented themselves at Joe's back doar

Good evening, Mr. Smith. We've came to help you fix the muffles.

Joe wasn't quite ready.

- Here, he said. "take the belfry keys. You can be going along. You know where the light switches are?

The boys nodded in unisan
Yes.' answered Tom, who was as usual the spokesman for them both. The main switch is just inside the door. then there is the switch for the stairs at the bottom.

- Good. Be getting the bells us. but don't play ahout. and don't go ap into the bell chamber until I get there. You can ba taking the muffles out of the cupboard: the key's on the thunch.

Happy, the boys went off.
The night was dark. There was no moon and scarsely a breath of air.

There was a light in the church. The two hoys pushed open the south door carefully in case there should be a service gonig on inside. But no. it was the sexton, Freddie Grimes, who was polishing and dusting at the east end of the church. obviously making preparations for the morrow. He did not sec them and there was little chance of his hearing them as he was stane deaf.

The main switch was on so the boys unlocked the belfry door. switched on the light and went up the steps. After turning on the light in the ringing chamber they took off their coats and proceeded to raise the bells. While Harry raised the treble Tom performed a similast ervice to the second. Harry had just taken hold of the rope-end of the third, when the light went out

There was darkness: complete and absolute.
'Is it the bulb?' asked Harry, who didn't care a great deal for the idea of being up the tower in suoh conditions.

- Mebbe so,' said Tom. 'It's more likely to $h$ ? Freddie that's knocked off the mitin switch! Shall we go down and sec?'
Might as well.'
Tom groped his way to the door. A bell rope brushed passed his head.

Take care not to grab hold of a bell and pull it off.' he said.

He found the door and opened it.
Come on,' he said.
l'm here. replied Harry, who was just behind thim.

They went out on to the stairs and felt their way down. The blackness could ailmost be felt. Cautiously they descended. Ther was a sound from below.
'Hello.' shouted Tom. 'Is that you, Mr. Smith?'
There was no answer. The noise stopped for a second as though arrested by Tom's voice. Then it started again. Tom. heard a hairp intake of breath from Harry, and a whisper. "What is jt?’

Mr. Smith. is that you? called Tam again.
Again there was no answer, but the sounds grew nearer. Whoever or whatever it was. was coming upwards.

What shall we do?' hissed Harry. There was a shrill edge to this voice. He grabbed Tom's arm: Tom felt him trembling.
Tom felt his heart pounding against his sibs. He shrank back against the wall staring down into the darkness below. What he expected to see coming up the steps he hadn't the least idea: a ghost or a goblin. Whatever it was wasn't human: there were no footsteps: just a rushing, swishing moise that grew louder.
He murmured a prayer to himself. Behind him he heard Harry moan, "O mother!'

They waited, frozen to immobility. Suddenly the thing was upon them. Something hrushed passed them in the darkness. Harry screamed. They felt it go - ppards. Suddenly volition returned: they slithered and tumbled down the steps. How they reached the bottom they never knew, but reach the bottom they did. They sarambled into the darkened church just as the lights came on again.
It was Joe who had turned them on. He had met Freddie Grimes outside and when to came into the church and found all in darkness he had realised that Freddie must have turned off the main switch as he was leaving. Freddje hadn't realised that there wis anyone up in the belfry and was too deaf to hear the odd bells being rung.
Joe stared at the whitefaced boys as they poured out their stary.
'It was a ghost, I'm sure!' gasped Harry.

- A ghost? laughed Joe. More likely an own o: a bat!"
"An owl?" breathed Tom. almost as rowndeved as one himself.

A bat?' echoed Harry

- Come, said Joe. "Lé us investigate.

They followed Joe unstitirs into the ringing chamber: there was nothing here: ghosts. owls or bats!

They finished raising the halls and rook the muffles from the cupboard. Joe took out an electric handlamp with a long flex. which he plugged into a socket in the ringing chamher. The hulh sprang to $d \mathrm{fc}$.
'Follow me. Bring the muifles,'
And up into the bell chamber they went. The bell frame was flush against the two walls of the tower leaving a passage about a yard wide on the other two sides. Joz walked round hearing the lamp aloft Jike the pictures ane sometimes sees of Florence Nightingale. The hoys kept olose to him.

Joe held the lamp still higher and pointed upwards: 'Look? he said.
There. on a tie beanl. Iwenly feet above them, its round eyes glowing like two green pools as it staned down at them, was indeed. poors as "There's your ghost!"
The two boys looked slisepish.
Tom shook his head.
'It seemed a lot bigger in the dark.
Joe made the two Lids stand safely on the side of the frame holding the light while he fastened on the muffles.

They left the betls up that nigh with a danger sign in the ringing chamber on al chatr facing the door.
When he arrived home, Joe told Annie alt ahout the hoys: atuventure.
-Mind you." he stid. "I woutd he the last person 10 make fun of them. It must have been a frightaning experience in ehe cotad darkness.
He filled his pipe and struck a match. Suddenly he stopped, the match hurning ?way in his fingers. He stared at Annie.

What is it?' she asked.
No.' he said. half to himself. - It couldn't have been:'

- Couldn't have heen what?'

He llung away the match as it hurned his fingers.

That door to the hell chamber: I've just rememhered: it was locked when we went up. I unfastened it myself!

MARCH RINGERS' CHRISTMAS OUTING

Owing to play rehearsals, etc.. several March ringers were not able to venture on the customary Christmastide half-day outing this year. Nevertheless a party of 11 ringers from St. Wendreda's Church boarded a minibus, and headed for the Norfolk and Lineclnshire Marshlands.
By the time Terrington St. John had been reached the rain had practically exhausted its efforts 10 throw a damper on the day. The unusual priest's lodge, wedged firmly between tite church tower and an aisle. stimulated a great deal of interest and the six bells were rung until the arrival of several ringers from the area on the occasion of a Wisbech District meeting.

A few miles away-at Terrington St. Clement -the tourists were obliged to wait for is wedding ceremony to end. The church is a breathtaking spectacle. its 80 windows. numerous flying buttresses and airy pinnacles lending support to its title Cathedral of the Marshes. The happy couple were finally sent on their way to the merry pealing of the octave. housed in a detached ower.

At Long Suttort, a sumpluous seasonal spread awaited a ravenous group and full justice was done to an excellent meal in the homely atmosphere of a bit of Old= England. The 'hrethren' departed from the hotel in warm spirits only to find that an exceptionally powerful gale had seemingly appeared from nowhere, and in St. Marys churchyard a large and beautiful Christmas tree bedecked with coloured fairy lights crashed to the ground. Nor was this all: four of the ringers. battling against the elements in the churchyard. were stopped in their tracks by an unreasonable gust which severed a substantial bough from an ancient tree. this hitting the ground a mere 12 fee: from the surprised visitors!
The ringers hurried to the lower. One of them was particularly glad to enter the 700 -year-old sentinel. for only two weeks previously he had stumbled headlong over a concealed headstone in almost the same spot as the broken tree! St. M:ry's Church poisesses a fine ring of eight bells and with the help of local ringers an enjoyable time was had by all!

At Tydd St Mary the bells were merrily rung and the March ringers were again joined bv their helpful friends from lincolnshire.
The day was certainly noi without incident. At one time the hus stopped in the darkness very close to a dyke and at least iwo ringers toppled over aided and ahetted by a fierce Fenland eale-but this merely raised more laughter from the "ditched" as well is from onlookers!
Methods rung were Plain Boh Minor and Major, Kent and Oxford T.B.. St. Clement ${ }^{\text {B }}$ and Double Oxford. and good attempts at Siedman-but those singles were awkward!

WHITTLEBURY, NORTHANTS.-On Dec. 23rd. 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: D. Burbidge 1. G. Linnell 2. J. Linford 3. J. Linnell 4. C. E. Truman (cond.) 5. For carol scrvice.

A DAY IN HERTS AND BUCKS

The first flush of dawn was struggling through the mist as the party of ringers from Putncy. Wimbledon and Westminster, together with a Welshman. a Lancastrian and a Kingstonian. made their way illong the A. 5 early on December 1 st.

The pleasant little six at St. Stephen's Church. St. Albans dispelled the early morning gloom and we felt ready for the Cathedral bells, where we rang a variety of methods. inciuding Double Norwich.

On another delightful six at Fenny Stratford. we managed Spliced Minor and Douhle Oxford. amongst other things. Then to Bletchley, a fine eight, which we rang to Plain Boh. Stedman and Double Norwich

After lunch in the 'White Horse.' Stony Stratford. we ascended the tower of Si. Giles'. where we found the bells good enough. but difficult to strike, due to noisy ropes. We were later joined by the Oxford Diocesan Guild. who held a meeting there afterwards. At Calverton (6) the ropes were long enough to enable the writer to sing Spliced Minor kneeling on the floor! Next was an unscheduled "grah': Potterspury (a magnificent six). where we interrupted the Ringing Master's gardening to get permission to ring!
At Wolverton (6) we managed Cambridge and London. although the quality of the bills far surpassed our striking. Tea followed, again it Stony Stratford. before we moved on to Shenley. where a 14 th century tenor makes the six memorable. Ringing consisted of Spliced and Double Court. Our last tower was the eight at Wohurn. which made a perfect end to the day.
Sincere thanks are due to all incumbents and those who met us. and to John Price for driving us.

We hear that St. Alkmund's Church, Derby, is to be demolished to make way for the new inner sing road at Derby. The fate of the eight bells is at present unknown.
Blewbury. Berks. ringers rang two yuarter peals on December 23 rd, the first time two have bzen rung in a day for 15 years.

The centenary of the installation of the bells, of St. Mary Redcliffe was commemorated by a quarter peal of Plain Bob Major.
The first 720 of Surprise Minor by a band drawn entirely from the Alton and Petersfield District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild was rung on December 15 th at Buriton.
One of the band who helped to put Southgate ' on the map' in the early part of this century. Walter J. Bowden, is now in Ward 5B. Highlands Hospital. Winchmore Hill. N.21, in a weak condition. A line or a card from old friends would cheer him up.
At East Sutton, Kent, a noteworthy Surprise Minor peal in 41 methods was rung on December 22nd. conducted by Mr. Ian $\mathbf{H}$. Oram. This was of 8,640 changes. and was accomplished in 4 hours and 27 minutes. It was the most methods rung to a peal for the Kent County Association.

Mr. Colin A. Lewis writes asking us to correct the title of his Association to "The University of Wales Society, It has been erroneously styled in another publication "The University of South Wales Society." The Society, he states, is very much that of the University as a whole and not of just the southern section.
A year ago a society of change ringers was founded at Queen Elizabeth's Grammar School, Blackhurn, Lancashire. On December 20th, when the annual Speech Day service and procession from the school to the Cathedral took place, members of the Society were able to ring the bells of the Cathedral to rounds and call changes, before and after the service. The Society has 14 members and practises the art of change ringing on towerand handbells.

Manohester University Guild will miss Canon R. L. Hussey. who has retired as Recto- of Salford. Not only has he been president of the Guild, but his church has heen the "home tcwer of the Guild since 1947. Past and present officers rang a peal of Spliced Surprise Major to mark the occasion.

Mrs. Mary Poyner sang her 50th peal for the Shropshire Association on December 2nd. Husband Harry rang his 13 days Jater.
News from the Spalding area tells of a peal of Ullesthorpe Surprise Major rung at Fulney on Dicember 17 h , non-conducted.

Complaints regarding the bells of St . Nicholas' Church, Harwich. appear in the Christmas Eve issue of 'The East Anglian Daily Times.' The Vicar (the Rev. D. Noel Thomas), while admitting the bells created a bit of a noise, explains that several of the bellringers were still gaining experience.
A note in : The Ringing World 'a few weeks ago concerning Gislingham (6) was somewhat misleading. These bells are not being rung as stated. the same derelict conditions still prevail and nothing has been done except that the sticks and rubbish have been cleared out. ropes have been tied to the clappers, and the bells are 'clocked.' not rung.

For early ringing on Christmas morning at St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, seven members of one family participated in a touch of Grandsire Cinques. There were Mr. Emlyn F. Hancock. his two daughters, the Misses Marian and Monica, and four sons, Edward. Michael. Brian and Norman. Is this the most of one family yet in 12-bell ringing?

Members of the staff of Bristol-Siddeley Engines. Lid.. engineering department, rang for Christmas during the lunch hour on December 20th a quarter peal of Doubles at St. Michael's Church, Winterbourne. The ringers represented six towers in Bath, Bristol. Somerset and Gloucestershire. This appears to be the first quarter by a Bristol-Siddeley hand. and it is hoped that it will be the fore-runner of other similar ringing gettogethers.

RINGER AND SINGER

FTEW present day ringers will remember old Henry Burstow, of Horsham, Sussex, who was born at Horsham in 1826. A noted ringer was Henry, and he was also remarkable for his singing. He was a cobbler and he was engaged in making women's boots at Is. 6 d . per pair, and his average earnings amounted to 15 s . a week. Never did he take 20s. for one week's work at his trade, so with his wife they faced one long struggle against poverty.

Henry started bellringing in 1841 at the instigation of his master's father, old John Vaughan, who was sexton and head bellringer at the time: but his first snag was the payment of the entrance fee. viz., 3s., which was an utter impossibility at that time. An alternative was offered of ringing for the first six months without receiving any payment for it, but Henry did not like the idea, so old John Vaughan came to the rescue and paid the fee on condition that Henry would repay the money from the first payment he received. Later when Henry offered the repayment the old man refused, so Henry went straight away and bought himself a new hat with his earnings, an act that greatly enhanced his self-importance and much pleased his dear old mother.

In 1843, when many of the old songs and carols that had been handed down through the generations by word of mouth were already largely forgotten except by the older folk, the Rev. John Broadwood started to make a collection of traditional songs which was afterwards continued by his niece, Lucy Broadwood, and has since been augmented by Dr. Vaughan-Williams, W. H. Gill and George Butterworth.

Many of the songs which he recorded were given to him by Henry Burstow, for his father ran a clay pipe business in the town and used to travel round the countryside in a pony-cart selling his wares. In that way Henry picked up the words and music of 200 songs and by degrees augmented them to 420 . Many of these have been preserved by the Folk Lore Society.

There are records of bells at Horsham Parish Church from the turn of the 16th century, and there may well have been bells before that period. However, the 18th century was the heyduy of the Horsham ringers, for in 1766, 14 years after the Whitechapel Foundry produced a ring of eight, the Horsham ringers scored their first peal in 3 hours and 8 minutes. The peal board still exists, and last year it was refurbished, still the pride of the ringing chamber.

Henry Burstow possessed a cheerful, buoyant heart and was contented with his lot, even when times were hard. Wheat $£ 45$ per load in Horsham Market; butchers' meat rarely tasted; common rushes from ponds, dipped in grease, were the only means of light and tinder boxes the only means of ignition. Labourers were forced to steal turnips from fields at night in order to sustain life.

Henry Burstow, a singer all his life, and a noted Sussex ringer from age 15 , was fond of singing his 420 songs right through, every song from start to finish. In April, 1906, he sang all the 420 on 41 consecutive evenings in celebration of his wife's 78th birthday.

Henry Burstow, his father and Mrs. Henry Burstow were instrumental in making Horsham one of the most musical towns in Sussex, and it is largely through them that so many of the traditional songs are still remembered.

Ever cheerful and happy, Henry Burstow died in February, 1916, at the age of 89 ; and he wrote the history of his life, also a list of the 420 songs he knew and loved to sing in his characteristic way.

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

- $\mathbf{S E V E N}_{\text {Treble . . Eight. . Nine.... Ten.... Look to. Eleven... Tweive. }}$ Treble going! she's gone. At this the treble sharply spoke. followed quickly by her seven compatriots going down the scalc. 'A Happy New Year. everybody.' 'A Happy New Ycar.'
In churches all over Britain this must have been the general pattern, but in this church, set in the suburbs of a large city, this was an event which the local ringers hoped was to be the start of a new year of good ringing, and progressive ringing at that.
Outside the church. across the snow swept main road. the local pub was still open. the sound of merriment drifting across to the churchyard. How many people in that house realised or even cared what had been done in that belfry in order that the old year was rung out and the new welcomed. They must have thought 'Ring out the old, ring in the new,' and gone back 10 their pints.
To the ringers in the belfry this ringing. in fact the whole of the ringing for the Christmas and New Ycar fesitval, was an. achievement. Twelve months ago the local newspaper had featured on its front page an article describing a cold, deserted belfry, and had pictured the cight ropes hanging unmanned. This year another local newspaper had come to the church and was amazed at the energy and enthusiasm that the young local band was showing. The average age had been worked out at just under 22: this was allowing for two ringers who had been ringing for more years than they would care to admit.
The ringers were pleased that the Press had come for they had rung a quarter peal for Christmas, at a ncarby church, and had gone very near to scoring another at their own later in the evening. They had rung for the birth of the Saviour at midnight the same day, and then there was the morning ringing at their friends' churches starting at $6.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.
The ringing for New Year. they themselves would admit. could have been better, but although they now can ring Kent and are starting on Double Norwich, Grandsire it was agreed was the safest to end the old year and Stednian to start it. A course of Doub?e Norwich was achieved two days later. A Happy New Year, everybody. 'DRUMMER.

Half Century of East Harling Bells

The fiftieth anniversary of the rededication of the bells of East Harling Parish Church, Norfolk, after recasting and hanging in a new iron frame was not aHowed to pass unnoticed. On the actual day a peal was rung and in it was Mr. W. B. Duncan, of Gorleston, who rang in the first peal on the hells in 191?. Afterwards the ringers were entertained to supper by Drs. Paul and Elizabeth Jonason.

On the Sunday the Rector, the Rev. K. Wilkinson Riddle. conducted a service of thanksgiving in connection with the anniversary. Before and after the service touches were rung on the bells by local and visiting ringers.

In place of the usual sermon a talk about the history of the betts and th: events leading up to their rehanging in 1912 was given by Dr. P. H. A. Jomison, who revealed that the first peal on the bells was rung on December 2lst. 1912, in two hours 46 minutes by William Duncan. Thomas Fitzjohn, Sidney Annison. Alfred Newson, Fred $\mathbb{C}$. Burrows and Charles Carter.
Dr. Jonason said that the present church at Eust Harling was built on the site of an earlier one in 1449-47 years before Columbus discovered North America. Bells were first put in the tower in 1456 . and up to 1616 there weie only three of them. In 1677 the lurgest was melted down and cast into two smatler ones, and a similar recast in 1746. and an addition made the number up to six as at present.
Frtries in the parish register were guoled such as an account in 1755 for 'Oyle for yc Bells-8d.' and in 1799 'heer for ye ringersis. 6 d .' The accounts show how itl 1910 the tower and the bells were declared unsafe. and a fund was opened to repair them-subscriptions came in and in a short time $£ 120$ was raised. and a fete in 1912 realised £113. A tender of $£ 159$ for rehanging the bells in a new frame was accepted in September, 1912. and the work, with the addition of recasting of some of the bells which was found necessily when they arrived at the foundry, was started in Novemher and completed in time for a service of dedication on December 19 th.

RINGING AGAIN IN ANOTHER SUFFOLK TOWER

The eight bells of the picturesque Church of St. Mary, Worlingworth, rang out for the first time for 41 years on December 171 h .
Extensive repair work has been carried out to the church since May and is still continuing. When it is completed it will mean about $£ 8,000$ has been spent on the church since the war.
The bells had been silent because it was felt their vibrations might increase the risk of further damage to the nave roof, with it; fine double hammer beams. The roof has now been made safe. and workmen are at present engaged on repairing the floor and the Jacobean pews, believed to be one of the few complete sets in the country.

The font-formenly in Bury Abbey-is to be restored in the spring of next year and the stained glass windows the following year. The Bishop of St. Edmundshury and Ipswich. Dr. A. H. Morris. has agreed to preach at a rededication and thanksgiving service at the church in July.
top hats and long boats: his son, Supt. Hagley. is in charge of the Godalming Division of the Surrey Constabulary: his daughter. Miss Joan Hagley. is employed in a civilian capacity at Godalming Police Station, and his sister, Mrs. Bird. was ane of the first policewomen at Hereford.

The quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was organised by the vice-captain) (Mr. Brian Vince). Participating were: S. G. Ponting (Holy Trinity, Guildford) I. F. Bowden (Haslemere. conductor) 2. J. H. Payton (Chiddingfold) 3. J. W. Hagley (Godalming) 4. R. J. C. Hagley (Godalming) 5. J. P. McDermott (Haslemere) 6. A. C. A. Hunter (Shalford) 7. B. G. D. Vince (Witley) 8.
Our photograph shows the band who rang the quarter peal with Mr. F. Hagley in the centre. The Witley ringers presented the couple with a pair of casserole dishes and stands.

NEW LONG LENGTH ON HANDBELLS

A new long length has been rung of Plain Bob and of Major on handbells by the successful peal of 15.904 Plain Bob Major, rung at Whingarth. 17. Ridge Road, Marple. Cheshire on December 22nd in 7 hours and 40 minutes. The conductor. Mr. Robert B. Smith. writes that, due to unforeseen circumstances, the peal started $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours late, and the last two parts of the peal were replaced by two bobs at home.

The umpires (Messis. Giles B. Thompson and John Robinson). in their report, state: - A late start was made due to the cold weather and a fog lying over the Mersey Valley. However, by 10.45 the band got urder way and settled down to a rather slow pace: alihough there were changes in the rate of ringing and a wide range of ringing speeds. which is apparent on the sumples recorded on tape

The coldness of the weather was almost equal to that on December 23rd last year, when the same band were setting up the new record of Yorkshire Royal, though this time they had a fire to keep them warm (indeed one ringer complained of being too hot due to an umpire's over generosity with the coal!
' By $6 \mathrm{D} . \mathrm{m}$. the band decided that with 15.000 odd changes behind them they had had enough for one day and thus the peal was brought round after the 10 th pirt end. by calling two Homes giving 15.904 Plasn Bob Major in 7 hours 40 minutes- the greitest kength of Major rung "in hand."

The umpires wish to expresi tweir thank to Bob's parents for their generous hospitadity:

CARDINAL WOLSEY AND BELLS

By the Late ERNEST MORRIS
r'HOMAS WOLSEY. Cardinal and Statesman (c. 1475-1530), is naturally mentioned in connection with several churcres and consequently bells! Born of an Ipswich grazier. he distingu:shed himself at Magdalen College Oxford, at an early age. and took orders. He became a member of the Council of Henry VIII and secured his position by diplomat: $:$ riumph. In 1514 he became Bishop of Lincoln and Archbishop of York
He later fell into disgrace and the fatal moment arrived when Henry resolved to marry Anne Boleyn. When he failid to procure the king's desire. the king turned and vented his wrath upon him. In 1529 he was deprived or all his offices and honours. and charged with high treason. While journeying souti to meit his accusers he died at Leicester Ahbey.

The most noted connection he (Wolsey) had with bells is at Sherborne Abbey, Dorset. which contains the heaviest ring of eight bells in England Before recasting in 1933, the icnor weighed 45 cwt . 1 qr. I $\mathrm{lb} .$. and was hy warner, but after recasting by Mears and Stainbank she now weighs 46 cwt .5 lb . At that time she other bells were retuned and rehung in new bearings and fittings. Originally the gift of Cardinal Wolsey. it was brough from Tournai with other bells. It became cracked and was recast in 1865 . The present bell is inscribed

By Wolsey's gift I measure time for all.
To mirth. to grieffe. to church. I serve to catl Recast 1670 by Thomis Purduc. of Closworth. Somerset: Joseph Barker. Vicar: Gustavus Horne Walter Pride. churchwardens. Again recast 1865 by John Warner and Sons, of London. Edward Harston Vicar: James Hoddinott, Francis Stokes, churchwardens. Again recast. 1933 by Mears and Stainbank of London. Wilfred Marcus Askwith. Vicar: Clement Horase Adams. James Florance, churchwardens.
The cost of recasting the tenor was defrayed by contributions from Old Boys of Sherborne Grammar School, through an appeal made by the late Major J. H. B. Hesse. There is a fire bell' ( $32 \frac{3}{3}$ ins. diameter) which says

Lord qunch the furiovs flame
Aris, run, help put ovt the same. I. W: I. G. 1654. R.A.

The ancient sanctus (diameter 19 ins.) has an invocation to St. Mary
The curious detached bell house at East Bergholt. Suffolk, has a local tradition that Cardinal Wolsey, while engaged on the work of the building. fell into disgrace. and so the tower was never finished. Certainly the whole work was not dependent upon him only. if we may judge from the will of Roger Cole. of Stratfolk. Suffolk. clothmaker. 1527, who writes

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Bingham District

The long draught to the beautifully toned bells at Langar proved rather difficult for some of the younger members at the B:ngham District meeting on December 8th
Tea was served in the Villiage Institute. and at the business meeting which followed Mr. Musion (Granhy) was elected a member. Nine towers were represented, the attendance reaching 41. The ladies who had prepared the leil were thanked by Mr. Loach.
Forthcoming meetings: Amual District. R.adcliffe-on-Trent. Jamuary 12th; Oxton and Viast Bridgford. February &h.

DISTRRICT DINNER

The lirst dimner and social of the recently formed Bingham Distriot took place at the Griflin. Whatton-in-the-Vale. on December 141h. Forty-seven ringers enjoyed a first class ineal and several diners were so full (after second helpings) that they were unable to join in the games and dancing. This new ventur? was a great success and we hope to make it in annual event. Thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. Exton. for the arrangements, and 10 all who attended and joined in the fun and games.

Sherborne Abbey tenor, recast in 1933 by Whitechapel Foundry, is inscribed
By Wolsey's gift I measure time for all, To mirth, to grieffe, to church I serve to call.

- I will that my Executors, after my departure, at times convenient, do deliver, or cause to be delivered, to the use and building of the Church of East Bergholt, as much free stone as shall make up the work there. that is to say. the body of the church. with north aisle. according to such promise it 1 have made
This bequest is not consistent with Wolsey"s dea of building a tower. He was then woll up in dignity and wealth. holding the See of Durham with the Archbishopric of York. The bell cage still has a bell by Henry Jordan, who died in 1468. But another legend says of the curious bell cage:

As far back as the 15 th cent. it was erected in another corner of the churchyard. but the squire was so annoyed by the sound of the chimes, that he had the curious building removed. So that the intervening church might deaden the sound
The bell house is only a brick foundation, about a foot above the ground, and the bells are rung from the stock without wheels or ropes.

They are a heavy ring of five, largest 25 cwt . and each ringer stands on a shelf, two feet above the ground, hy the side, and swings his bell by hand hy the stock on which it is hung. and so, like a pendulum and by centriffugal force. they are rung up. For chiming purposes, small lines are led from the hell clappers over pulleys above, which the hell clappers over puhleys above, which fall down and are handled by the ringers.

Standard of Ringing Higher, Says Church Times ${ }^{\text {? }}$

Urbanus," whose feature articles in "The Church Times' are exceedingly popular. Writes knowingly on ringing in the issue of December 21 st .

We quote two interesting points he makes:
It is not because of any shortage of ringers that bells are silent. There was never a time in living memory when ringers in plenty were more eager to exercise their skill. Some of them, particularly bands of young men and woman, are keener. it is true. on collecting " towers than on ringing regularly for church ervices in one place. Such teams will travel long distances to notch new towers in their log-books. None the less. most of the memhers of such parties. which may often number ketween fifty and a hundred ringers. have their places in their home towers Sunday by Sunday:

Having heard a good deal of ringing lately 1 have come to the opinion that the standard of attainment is much higher than it was when I was initiated into the art of campanology (as it was then called long years ago). Moreover, records of accuracy and endurance in change ringing are constandy heing broken, as may be seen in that excellent publication, "The Ringing World."

OBITUARY

MR. HARRY STOKE

We regret to record the death of Mr. Harry Stokes. of Woodbury, Devon, aged 85 . He was the son of Mr. Harry Stokes. who was one of the best master bell hangers in the West Country. The second Harry for a number of years combined bell hanging with farming. The latter side of his businesis developed extensively and he dropped bell hanging. On the occasion of the Central Council meeting at Exeter, he entertained members to tea. His son-also a Harry-married the daughter of Mr. Albert A. Hughes.

Cremation took place on Tuesday, and the ashes were interred in Woodbury Church.

MR. STEPHEN W. STRATFORD

Mr. Stephen Stratford died two days before Christmas. He would have been at his happiest if he could have died in Whitky Buy ringing chamber to the sounds he loved so well all his life. At 84 he passes on, the last but one of a generation that made Whitley bells famous

In 1911. when Whitley Bay had only six bells, he was one of the small band which included five Gofton brothers who, in 52 consecutive Sundays, rang 41 legitimate Surprise Minor methods., a performance,' said The Ringing World, of the day, : which stamps them as the most talented six bell band in the kingdom.

He was among the band which made the tower even more famous after the ring was iugmented to eight. Under two such conductors as T. T. and J. A. Gofton, the was content to take a minor role. but he was that buckbone of good bunds-a steady, reliable and expert ringer.

Not a protific peal ringer, he was, however, a regular Sunday service ringer, and rarely misised a practice nigit. Right up to his death, when he was a very sick man, he dranged himself along to the belfry, and wearily mounted the tower though he could no longer-to his angrily muttered chagringrip a rope.
It seemed unreal to be ringing in the New Year without him.

REV. C. F. WARD

The funeral of the Rev. C. F. Ward. Vicar of Billingborough and Sempringham with Pointon, took place at Sempringham Abbey. Lincs. on December 13th. Despite heavy rain the church was filled with sympathisers from the parishes, who made the pilgrimage to the isolated Abbey to pay a last mark of respect to a beloved Vicar.

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Hansan, Rector of Grimoldby, Louth, a fellow curate with deceased when at Louth. The lesson was read by the Archdeacon of Lincoln, the Ven. A. C. Smith, and the Bishop of Grantham, the Rt. Rev. Arthony Otter, conducted the committal. There was also a large number of clergy in attendance from various parishes in the district.
Mr. Ward was a ringing member of the billingborough band, and an honorary member o: the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. He had been in failing bealth in recent months and came to Billingborough from Louth in 1958 . Although not a prolific ringer, he always made welcome ringers who visited his two churches at Billingborough at the ancient Abbey at Sempringham, which he loved so well. and worked so hard for its upkeep and welfare.

After the service the six bells at the Abbey Church were rung half-muffled. and in the evening a quarter peal was rung at Billingborough, half-muffled.

Dear Sir,-In reply to your question in Belfry Gossip on page 856, as to the largest numbers of methods in a service yuarter, in 1955 and 1956 at ltchingfield, Sussex. 30 methods were frequently sung to a quarter real for service. On one accasion a quarter was rung in 40 methods. This I have always iegarded as a record.-Yours sincerely,

OLDESI CONPLETE RING OF EIGHT

Dear Sir. -Re the foomole to the peal at Bishop's Cannings on December 15 th ( $R$.W page 875), I have always been given to under stand. on fairly good authority, that the bells at Merton College. Oxford $\left(28 \frac{1}{2}\right.$ cwt. in $E$ flat), constifute the ohdest complete cight in the country. Perbaps some reader, more informed than myself, could verify this.-Yours sincerely,

P.S.- Could the conductor of the peal enlighten us as to the source of the information? -J. P.

WELL DONE, SAPCOTE,

Dear Sir--I would like very much to congratukate Mr. Michael E. Brown and his enthusiastic band of ringers at Sipcote. Leicestershire, who recently rang a peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 21 mothods.
This reffects great credit on Mr. Brown, who bias: trained this bund from more or less nothing to its present standard, and is at great reward for the liard work he has done in training them.

This band has also rung seven, 10 and 11 Spliced Surprise Minor recently.

Many of them also have adapted themselves to ringing on eight bells. just as well as on six. some having rung paals of Surprise Majoi as well, and one or two also ring Bristol.

Finally, I would like to say to this young band, well done and I look forward to seeing minty more peals of Spliced in the 'R.W. during 1963 and the coming years.-Yours sincerely,

NOT AN EXTHENSION OF DURHAM SERPRISE: MINOR

Dear Sir.-The following are the figures of two Plain Minor methods sung in recent peals Dorney Court.

> I4. $16,34.16$, St. Nicholas' College.
34. $16-36-36-36-16.34 .12$

The method rung on handbelts at Leicester is not an extension of Durham Surprise Minor As such it should not be named Durham Sur prise Royal. It is an extension of a Majoi method, and also goes to Maximus, viz: $-38-.14,-12-, 38,14-14,38,14-34,18$.
$-30-14,-12-, 30,14-14,30,14-14,30$.
$-3 t-14,-12-.3 t, 14-14.3 t, 14-14.34,10$ $14-14,3 \mathrm{t}, 14-34,1 \mathrm{t}$ a! with lead end 12, 1352, etc.
As can be seen. this family of methods has ihree different subsections below the treble 12-14-14 and 14-34. Durham Surprise Minor does net hive the subsection $14-14$. and dees not extend to Major. I uice the word extension in the ellee of the cemral Council Dccision on Method Extension, - Yours sincerely,

Windso
IRANK I. HLAGKOVI.

CONDUCTED HER SECOND PEAL
Dear Sir.-Since there has recently been much interest shown in the columns of The Ringing World' about young lady conductors, 1 thought that perhaps your readers would be interested in it peal rung at Woolwich, S.E.I8. on Dacember 29th. Miss Sheila Copping, of Bromley Common, who faultessly conducted the peal of Plain Boh Major, is only 16 years 3 months old. It was her second peal. and that her first "inside. Her achievement was all the gretter as thene were two first pealers' in the band.-Yours faithfullv, ## Bromlety. Kent.

(CLERKENWELL SURPRISE MAJOR
Dear Sir,-May I respectfully point out. that the notation given for the above method, on page 874 of 'The Ringing World.' is not Ashton No. 12. hut it is Mottram No. 231 (2nds place L.E.) in Mr. A. J. Corrigan's Collection. Dare I remind the conductor tha. two f.c.e.'s are givin for Mottram. Yours faithfully,

BROADCAST OF CALL CHANGES PRAISED

Dear Sir.-I would like to refer to the B.B.C.'s Christmas Day broadcast of church bells.
In this busy world of change ringing. where clack bands seem to be continuously competing against each other in ringing peals of various complex and often obscure meihods. and where long length peals are fast hecoming the most fishionable of all. and where perhap: not quite enough attention is puid to good striking, it was tefreshing to listen to the call changes from Lost withiel.

The opportunities to ring well-struck call changes with an experienced band are infrequent in this pant of the country, and since 1 had never heard a West Country 'stony band in action before. I listened with great interest.

My reaction, on hearing these anonymous ringers, was one of immense respect, for th: striking was nothing less than matgnificent. Their cartwheeling rhythm, though unfamil ar did not detract in any way from the pleasure oí hearing such perfect ringing, and although one would hesitate to criticise the performance of the Beddington band, for example. it wus ur doubtedly the bells of Lostwithiel which left the deepest impression.-Yours faithfully

JOHN D. FAIRCLOTH.
West Wickham. Kent.

IINCOLNSHIRE, CHURCH'S TRAGIC

FIRE
Dear Sir.-On Christmas Day the chancel of Branston Church was completely gutted hy fire, and the nave roof badly damaged. At the present moment it is impossible to hold services in the church.
However, apart from grime and soot, the hells were not touched, and continue to ring
We, however. feel that. owing to th's tragic loss: the singing be kept to an absolute minimum. Thus the next peal on the bells will be for the complete restoration of the church.
The organ, voiced by 'Father Willis' himself, has gone, and other pricelsss treasures have gone as well.
One day, we are sure. All Saints'. Branston. will rise again to its former glory. Thereforz we ask touring hands. for the present. to $m$ 's Brablia out of their towers and to conk again when we can present them with not onlv a grand ring hut a chursh in ke:ping with it-Yours sincercly. JOHN I: COOK

A NEW RING OF TEN IN LINCOLNSHIRE

A part of the $£ 15,000$ general restoration work heing carried out at St. James Church. Grimshy, involved the complete removal of the ring of eight hells and the reconstruction of the inside of the tower.
As a result of this ringing ceased at Evensong on May 13th, 1962, and this was the last time the bells were to be heard ringing out their message over the lown as a ning of eight, for they have, by the addition of wo trebles, been augmented to ten.
The two new trebles and the old No. 4 were cast and recast respectively at Mears' Foundry on July 18 th. and the compkte ring of ten atrived hack in Grimsby on November 9th. The bells were ready for testing on November 291h. and were tried out by a lozal company.

The hells remained silent until the ceremony of dedication and rededication on Christmas tive. This was performed in the tower by th. Vicar of Grimsby (Cinon G. W. Marh. ham), who was accompanied by the assistant curate (Rev. A. Charters) and the churehwarden (Mr. I. J. Wilkinson). After the prayers the opening rounds were rung by il local company. Afterwards they were joined hy ringers from Boston, Scunthorpe, Ulceby and Kirk Ella.
The new treble bell was given by the Hand family. in memory of their parents, who were worshippers at St. James'. The new second has been provided from a legacy left by Miss Hall. who was also a member of the congregation.

The old wooden supports of the bell frame have heen taken out and replaced hy a modern concrete support, standing on cight legs, The old bell frame has been renovated and now rests on this new concrete support, and is entirely independent of the tower.
During the period the bells were it the foundry the locill compiny met regularly for ringing on handbeils at Grimshy. and On tower bells at the nearby villige of Waltham. For the privilega of haing able to ring at Waltham. Grimshy ringers alre preatly indehted to the Rector of Wath:tm (the Rev. Lance Carter). and the leader it Waltham (Mr. J. Willows)

Owners of Dove's should note that the tinor still weighs the same. but that there is now a ring of ten bells and not eight. Incidentally: the ring at St. Andrew's. Grimshy, no longer exists, as the church his been demolished.

BELLS FOR PEACE-CANNONS FOR WAR

Reginald and Thomas Chyrcha of Bury S. FAmunds.
By T. A. BEVIS

TIHE 1 sth century bell foundry at Bury St. - Edmunds; Suffolk, was favourably recognised throughout East Anglia, and was a byword ans far as Church authorjties in that sigion were concerned. Nowadays we would not attach any special significance with Bury bells where they survive when considering their merits, but one point is worthy of our altention: ind thit is the remarkable foundry shiek incorporating a crown, arrows, keys, a bell and of all things at cannon, the latter of which suggests that the foundry conveyer helt carried not merely bells for the church but also destruative weapons for the mediaval army and navy.
It is not possible to name the originator of th: Bury St. Edmunds bell foundry; his identity has receded into the mists of time. Nevertheless, a faint shadow remains of this elusive person in that one of the two slightly variable shields appentaining to the foundry in question is inscribed with the initials H.S. Now it would appear that 'H.S.' disposed of his business to Reginald Chyrch who later ran the concern jointly with his son, Thomas Chyrch.

Reginald was a burgess of that charming North Suffolk borough, perpetuiting as it does the memory of Edmund. King and Martyr. The founder is sitid to have expired in the year 1498. his mortal remains being interred in the Church of St . Mary '.. under tine marble ston ther be me laid.. Deceased left 6 s . 7 d . to the 'parysshe preest' of thai church, 'to p'y for my soule, and to rehearoz my nanie in the bederoll ev'y Sunday.?

Reginald Chyrch was a kindly sympathetic man and in his will he remembered the sick and hedridden of the town, each sufferer receiving 4 d ., or more, according to the nature of his or her illness.
Many guilds banefited from the will. and received varying sums of money: "To the gilde of Seynt Petyr, xijd. To the new werke witn the Monast'y of Seynt Edmund, $x \mathrm{~m}$ 're. To the gilde of the Purification of Our Lady callyd Candlemesse guild, xxs. To the gilde of the Decollac'on of Seynt John Baptist, avd.. and a cuppe of Silu' called a peace.
The Bury founder held a good deal of property in the town. His three small tenemants in 'Reyngates strete' were to remain after his death almens housis for ever: furthermore, one Avery Foppys was 10 reside in one of these dwellings while she lived, and another. Alis Power have hir dwellyng in the hous that l bought hir during ier lyffe. .. The bell founder's son, Thomis, was instructed in the will to 'make clene the grete lectorn that I gave to Seynt Mary chyrch quart'ly as longe as he levyth.
Thomas Chyrch took over his father's husiness about the yeir 1498 , and in his capacity of hell foundar is recorded in the Munden Book it King's Cohege. Cambridge, for the year 1500 , when he was concerned with the reasting of a tell hung in the College clochard. This hell had a particularly interesting history well before Thomas laid his hands upon it.

Probably created in the carly 15 th century the instrument had occasion to be recast in 1460 by the celebrated. Danyell fonder.' Apparently Danyell did not excel in that particular joh for the bell was taken down and again broke. up and melted by Henry Jurden in the year 1466. The old hymn. "Tell me the aid, old story, sounds in the mind at this point. for in 1478 "de london Belfounder, Thomas Harrys, was entrusted with the unlucky bell, hut all to no avail. Finally, it Stally embarked on a journey to Bury St. Edmunds. where 'specialist' Thomas Chyrch prescribed the necessiry and well tried 'cure.' Incidentally, this bell was exchanged in 1598 for a bell without inscription.
We also hear of Thomas Chyroh being engaged by the authorities of Cambridge Great St. Mary's. in 1514, when the founder cast it tenor, thus augmenting the bells in that tower to a ring of four. However. it became necessary to recast Chyrch's tenor in 1595.

A Bury' Bell Stamp
The following is the will of Thomas Chyrch. dated July 121h, 1527 :

My hody to be bunied in Scynt Mary chirch in the Ele of Seynt Petyr.' Ynd (under) the ston ther be me layd. A priest to synge fer my soule at the Awter of Seynt Thoms. \&c., for 5 years. To the seid chirch of $0^{\circ}$ r dady oon food of led. To ev'y of the jiij priests that slall bere my body io chirch. xijd. To Margaret my wife, my ten't joynyng to the capital ten't late my Ifidres in Soulligate strete, su'tyme called Cobbolds. To Seynt Nicholas Gylde holdyn in the College wihyn the seid Town of Bury, a litil stondyng maser.
I: his come to the writer's notice that the Bury St. Fdmunds foundry passed into the hands of Roger Neve, and was not taken over by Stephen Tonni. who was also a ball founder at Bury. But one cannot help thinking that Tonni had a finger in the pie as far as the Chyrch family's premises were concerned. Or could it be that there were was a secand mediaval bell foundry at Bury, competing against the Chyrch enterprise? Roger Neve cast a hell :n 1533 for Detbden. Essex. under an obligation in the sum of $£ 40$ for the bell rematining good for a year and a dily.

Ah, well, the founders of yesteryear have thoughtfully if not generously bequeathed to us thase interesting specimens of pre-Reform: tion handiwork, and adl works of metal have a story to tell. Happily a few 'Chyrch' bells hive survived the rigours and trials of the years ... but how intriguing it would be should one discover an early bombard or cannan with a medixvil stamp, inscribed. Fecit at Bury St. Fdmunds.'

THE LADIES' GUILD  Central District

A 'winter wonderland ' was the setting on December 29th for the meeting of the Central District at Harrow-on-the-HiH. In spite of the snow, which made travelling difficult, a good number of members and friends braved the elements and managed to reach the church, which is situated sight at the top of the hill.
Ringing during the afternoon and evening catered for all abilities, and ranged from rounds to Surprise. The Vicar conducted a short service, and an excellent tea was served in the Church Room by the local ringers

Following tea a short business meeting was held, at which we were very pleased to welcome two new members. Our vice-president, Mrs. Lock. told the meeting that an invitation had beell received from the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild to join them. and the Middlesex Association, at Beaconsfield on February 23rd for ringing and a social evening. Mrs. Lock also reported on arrangements for the Guild's annual meeting to be held at Ipswich in July. when the joint hosts would be the Eastern and Central Districts. Members asked that their services should be offered, for staffing the towers that would be open on that occasion, if required. Another item of news which the meeting was pleased to receive was that an associate memher. Miss Hill. of Bishop's Stortford, had been awarded the R.S.P.C.A.'s silver medal. The vice-president had writen a congratulatory letter to Miss Hill.
The next meeting, the annual, is on March 30th, and it is hoped that it will be held at St Ann's. Stamford Hill, London

SOUTH DERBYSHIRE & NORTH LEICESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION DINNER

The main social function of the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association is the annual dinner, which was held this year at Shardlow on December 7th. All tickets had been sold weeks before the event, and it was a surprise to the caterers to find this number exceeded. Our hosts, however, rallied round and the meal started with a full plate before ewerybody.

Mr. Fred Hinds, the chairman, announced an apology from the president, the Vicar of Tideswell. The Association's prize draw, on behalf of the Chellaston Church bell fund, followed. These belks are being augmented from three to six, and Mr. E. H. Willows, Ringing Master, of Chellaston, reported that a large portion of the frame had been assembled by himself, his ringers and friends. They hoped to receive the Dells early in the New Year. Donations sent to him at 17. Sinfin Avenue, Allenton, near Derby, would be gratefully acknowledged.

Dancing and games followed the speeches; A ringing song from 'The Ringing World; was sung by a Diseworth ringer. and the chorus taken up by the company with enthusiasm. Handbell ringing included carols played by Aston-on-Trent ringers, a very pleaciant surprise. which was the outcome of secret practices.

The second century of peals at Gateshead, Co. IJurham, was started within $3 \frac{1}{2}$ hours of the linish of the first century wen peals, Pudsey ind Cambridge S. Major, were rung there on December 29 h .
Derek Ashton (14) has made an auspicious start in peal ringing. For his first he rang at Ashton-under-Lyne on a working bell in a peal of Plain Bob Maximus.
With Miss Pamela Gough home from Guildford for the Christmas holidays a ładies' quarter peal was rung at Aldrington, Sussex, on Christmas Eve, which Pamela conducted.

Mr. William H. Male has called Holt's Original from all eight bells for the Coventry Diocesan Guild. He completed the circle, at Bedworth on December 22nd.
Mr. Michael W. Fairey congratulates Miss Marilyn Smith on her first peal at Little Aston, Staffs, on December 29th. 'She rang an . inside "' bell to Beverley Surprise Minor extremely well,' he writes.
We hope to publish a recond of those who have rung 25 peals or more during 1962 at an early date. Will those who desire inclusion in this feature kindly supply numbers of peals rung on tower bails and 'in hand,' and also the number of peals conducted.

The quarter peal at Ewhurst, Sussex (5), on December 13th is believed to be the first on the bells, although at least three full peals have been rung there. Philippa Duncan and Judy Bowen certainly have the privilege of being the first local ringers to take part in any such length on the bells.
Exception has been taken by one of our pedants to our item in Belfry Gossip 'The Peterborough Guild has not a 12 -bell tower' pointing out, as has been stated previously many times, that no towers belong to any Guild. What should have been stated is that there are no 12 -bell towers in the Peterborougin Diocese, and that is the interpritation. we think. most of our readers took of the Fivesham peal paragraph.

BEL.FRY GOSSIP

During 1962, the local hand at St. Thomas', South Wigston, i.eicester, have rung 52 guarter peals and inquire if this is a record number for one church in one year. Twelve of the band have taken part and the conducting has been shared between B. G. Warwick (31). B. M. Smith (14), K. H. Mildred (4) and M. G. Wood (3). The highlight was Remembrance Sunday when three quarters were rung by the local band, all of whom have been taught by the Ringing Master during the last three years. Only the Ringing Master and his wife are over 18 years of age. The bells have been rung regularly for at least one hours before Evensong every Sunday.
Mr. George Waterman, one of the Harwich ringers, kindly stood out of the quarter peal at Harwich on Christmas Eve to allow Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodman, of Peterborough, to take part.
Hampton Grammar School Society have been assiduous in their handbell ringing at school. At the end of term quarter peals were rung on three successive days, all conducted by A. G. Tyers.
The five 'inside' ringers in the peal of Kent T.B. Minor at St. Edmund's, Kessingland, Suffolk, have rung the bells weekly since their restoration in December, 1960. The conductor, Richard C. L. Brown, has now rung peals of Kent from Minor to Maximus.

By ringing the second to a peal of Grandsire Caters on December 29th at Truro Cathedral the Rev. A. S. Roberts has 'circled the tower' and is the first to do so. In all he has rung in 13 of the 20 peals on the bells, his first heing in November. 1927. It has taken 35 years to accomplish.
Before the peal attempt at Brewood. Staffs, on December 23 rd, the Vicar visited the belfry and wished the ringers success. He said the villagers had been informed of the purpose of the afternoon's ringing (a 100 th birthday). There was general acclamation and no complaints of spoilt 'after dinner' naps.

GREAT ADVENTURE II IS PLANNED FOR 1963

It gives us great pleasure to announce that definite plans are now in hand to bring a party of British ringers to Australia and New Zealund in the latter part. of 1964. Great Adventure II, as we shall call it, is on.' HIS announcement is made in an editorial appearing in the November issue of 'Ringing Towers.' the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bell-ringers' journal.
The organiser is T. J. Lock, well known for his ringing tours in Britain. and those who have indicated that they are definitely interested are: Miss Ruth Foreman, Messrs. A. P. Cannon. J. L. Garner-Hayward. N. V. Harding. T. J. Lock, A. G. Mason, S. Burton, F. Perrins. C. W. Pipe, F. Sharpe, T. W. White. W. Williams, W. G. Wilson, J. Worth and E. H. Mastin. Others ' on the fence,' so to speak. are: Messrs. C. Edward Jefferies, E. C. Shepherd, W. F. Moreton. P. Mehew and F. C. Price.
Mr. W. B. Pitcher, of South Australia, comments: 'This is news of the first importance to ringing in Australia and New Zealand, and we know that all A.N.Z.A.B. ringers will reaet to it with keen delight. Having a party of such eminent ringers in our towers will be of tremendous interest and benefit to us all. and it will be a gala occasion, one in which we can show the traditional Australian and New Zealand hospitality. The tourists of 1934 found that these were hospitiable shores. We are sure that a second party uill find that there has been no change in that regard over the intervening 30 years.'
Giving details, Mr. Pitcher states: 'It is envisaged that the party embarking on Great Adventure II will fly out and spend one month in Australia and possibly two weeks in New Zealand. The likely time is September-October, 1964. Tom Lock says that they particularly want to assist local bands in every possible way, and generally to strengthen the bonds between Britain and Australia and New Zealand. Also they hope to ring one or more peals in every ringable tower, if this can be arranged.'
Addressing his own readers in the two Commonwcalths. the 'Ringing Towers' editor writes: ' It is up to us to see that it is arranged. and we suggest that it is not too carly to begin now, particularly in those towers where permission for peals is usually not casily obtained. We suggest that Societies make an approach to their church authorities at the first convenient moment, seeking permission for two peals. If any difficulty is encountered there are at luast Iwo very good points that can be made

1. that to have a number of eminent British ringers. journey so far to ring on our bells is surely a special occasion, and
b) that a long-range programme of advanced publicity will be given to make the event one of public interest.
We feel certain that Australia and New Zealand ringers will be most cordial in their welcome. It has been a great privilege in recent years to welcome to these shores a number of ringers from 'Down Under,' and their appreciation has been expressed in our columns. The list of names published is purely tentative at this stage, and Mr. Locke has not a closed shop as regards ringers interested, and he will be pleased to answer inquiries.

WRITERS WITH KNOWLEDGE

LATELY we have received a number of well-written articles explaining ringing to the public from the inside. One of the best was by Mrs. Ida Hawcock, in 'The Sign.' entitied 'Ringing Out the Christmas Bells.' She writes as a knowledgeable mother with two boys ringing.

When we plan our holidays.' she writes. 'the boys' first thought is what towers may be near enough for them 10 visit, and out comes Dove or, more precisely, The Church Bells of Britain, by Ronald H. Dove. This book gives details of all the towers in the country, with the number of bells, their weight, and practice night. It reminds me of the train-spotting books, for the boys underline the towers where they have rung as they used to the trains they spotted. Ringing visitors always receive a friendly welcome and are invited to have a ring and to sign the visitors' book.

We also get a mention. Mrs. Hawcock comments: - Since 1911 the bellringers have had their own weekly journal, The Ringing World, and even to the uninitiated it makes fascinating reading. So does The Ringers' Diary, which must be included among the boys' Christmas presents.'
The article concludes: 'Thus their interest is stimulated, but church bells are first and foremost part of the Church's call to the people. Whether they peal forth in grand manner rung by experts.or clang unevenly as the lcarners strive to do their best, they are still "the artillery of the Church"."

Another article that gave us great pleasure was 'By Whom the Bells Toll.' wrillen by Marjorie Craddock for The Hereford Times. Marjorie's article is largely concerned with Hereford Cathedral bells and the awesome climb to the ringing chamber.

I shall never again hear the bells of Hereford Cathedral ringing out across river. meadows and city without thinking of the 168 steps of that spiral stone staircase up which every one of the ten ringers have had to climb and up which ringers have been climbing for 600 years.

WELCOMING THE NEW YEAR AT WINCHESTER

rIHE oturn of the year is a matter of some consequence to the various dignitaries, both spiritual and secular, of the ancient city of Winchester. The annual ceremony of 1962-63 took place in the ringing chamber of the Cathedral, according to long established custom.

Having raised the bells and rung a few rounds to ensure that the muftles were correctly adjusted. the ringers adjourned to the Deanery, to be entertained to an excellent supper. during which they received the thanks of the Dean and Chapter for their work during the past 12 months. The captain, in his reply, assured the Dean the Very Rev. O H. Gibbs-Smith) of the continued goodwill of the thind.

Stharp at 10.30 , the band returned to the tower to speed the old year to its close with half-muffled rounds and changes, in which all ringers (and learners) present took part.
Towards the end of the last touch of Grandsire. the ringing chamber hegan to fill with a large and notable company. inciuding the Lord Bshop (the Rt. Rev. S. F. Allison), the Dean and Vice-Dean, the Camnon Treasurer (who is also a ringer), the Member of Parlia-

In the picture, those seated are the Bishop, with Mrs. Allison, and the Mayor (Councillor J. T. S. Hitchins) and Mayoress (Dr. Myrtle Hutchins). Behind them are the Dean of Wiachester (the Very Rev. O. H. Gibbs-Smith), Mrs. Gibbs-Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smithers, surrounded by ringers : Dennis Brown (captain), Raymond Adams, John Gunner, David Haskell, Outram Haythorne, George Noice. ment for Winchester (Mr. P. H. B. O.
Smithers), the Mayor (Mr. J. T. S. Hutchens), the Town Clerk and several councillors, the Cathedral architect and the head verger. Most of these were accompanied by their wives, and many had just descended from the bell chamber, or roof lop.
A few ninutes before midnight, the touch wi:s brought round, and an agite squad of muftle removers went to work to open the bells ' ready for the next ring. This done. the whole assembly was greeted by the Dean. who wished at Happy New Year to the city.

RINGING OUT THE OLD YEAR AT A CHURCH  IN A FARMYARD

1962 was rung out with 120 of Grandsire. the tenor was rung 12 times, and 1963 rung in with rounds and Queens. Nothing unusual in that, except that the last New Year to be rung in at St. Peter-de-Ditton. Droitwich Spa. was 1938!
This sience was broken by members of t!w St. Peter's Guild. with the help of John Whittall. of Clitines. The Vicar and his wife were present, and remarked that they were surprised to sec so many ringers present. having braced Arctic conditions to get to the churoh, which stands in the middle of at farmyard, 200 yands from a road, and deep in snow!
The keenness of the local band was in evidence on the previous Sunday, when seven ringers battled with the snow and rang for morning service, calling at congregation of three to church!

LOCKED IN THE BELFRY!

On descending the belfry stairs after ringing in the New Year, ringers at Cossington, Somerset, found that the tower door had been locked from the outside!

They mentually escaped when one of the band climbed dowa a bell rope hung out of the belfry window and went mund and unlocked the door.

The culprit has since been traced, hut the ringers threaten to ring all night until released, if this occurs next year. (Although it is doubtful if the tower captain will ever leave the key in the door again.)
the Parliamentary Division, and the diocese, as well as to the staff and community of the Cathedral. The Mayor and the Lord Bishop rose in turn to reply. each conveying the good wishes of his sphere to the mother church, and ail who serve her
The task of sounding midnight on the tenor fell to the District Ringing Master, who seni forth a dozen majestically spaced half pulls. The other ringers stood to. and rounds followed from open bells whilst. believe it or not more of the visitors were conducted up aloft.
Finally, at about 12.20, the city was allowed to settle down, and the numerous participants made their way home: some over considerable distances on foot or by raad, in some of the worst snow conditions southerners have seen.

Amongst those prevented from attending by the bad weather was the Lord Lieutenant: perhaps we shall he favoured with his company at the end of this year.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W: January 3rd. 1913.-

There are early birds at Horley, and on Christmas morning they, so to speak, caught the early worm. for they scored a peal of Grandsire Triples before the $6.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. service.

- R.W: January 10th, 1913.-

Southwark Cathedral must he among the - lucky towers. Treble Twelve. Siedman Cinques and now Cambridge Maximus have teen rung there within a month. The tenor. as is kell known, is over 50 cwt . and it speaks volumes for the excellent work of the bela hangers (Messrs. Mears and Stainbank) that the bells go so extremely well.
R.W: January 17th. 1913.-

Something out of the ordinary was rung at Chester last week, when the Chester Guild scored a peal of Double Grandsire Triples. This is the sort of thing which shows enterprise. and it would stimulate more interest if oilier novelties of this kind were more fiequently introduced in other towers to add variety to performanoes.

Inter-town Rivalry Produced This Twelve

CT. MARY'S is situated at the highest poin in Oldham. The earliest mention of bells is a ring of six. cast by Mellors, of Nottingham. These bells were later recast to a ring of eight by Rudhall, with a tenor of between I? and 14 cwt. The bells were hung in the trwer of the old Church of Si. Paul, which stood on the site of the present parish church. A number of long lengths were rung 0.1 this Rudiall eight. notably:

Septembe: 30tl. 1783-10.080 Bob Major. 5 hours 30 minutes
January 4th, 1784-14.482 Bob Major, 8 hours 24 minutes.
October 24th. 1807-15.120 Bob Major. 8 hours 46 minutes.
February, 7th, 1821-14.016 Treble Bob Major. 7 hours 26 minutes (Eversfield's composition).
Shorlly after the last peal the church was pulled dow: and tha present building erected The lower is tall and very slender being but II feet square in the bell room.

GOING ONE BETTER

The story of the rivalry between the Oldham and Ashton fingers has been told many times and the details have appeared in "The Ringing World: Suffice it to say here that because the latter had increased their ring to ten in 1819 the Oldham people determined to go one better and ordered a ring of iwelve from the Whitechapel Foundry. the tenor of which weighed $32 \mathrm{cwt}, 2 \mathrm{qr} .16 \% \mathrm{~b}$. These were hung in a two-tier timber frame with two bells on top.
The first peal on the new 12 was Grandsire Cinques on September ind. 1830, and on March 6th, 1832. 7.392 Kent Maximus was rung in 5 hours 14 minutes. A peal board in the tower, dated about this time. gives the tenor as being 34 cwt ., and it is on secord that the bell was generally considered to be of this weight. In 1847 a peal of Kent Treble Boh Cinques was rung, being one of the few peals on this arrangement
In 1896 the tower was restored and the hells were rehung in a cast iron frame. seated upon aak girders. The canons were removed at this time and it was estimated that the tenor's weight was reduced to about 31 cwt . From reports from ringers who took part in peals on the restored ring the bells must have gone extremelv well, although they appear to have heen difficult to maintain.

FINE ENGINEERING

In the early 20 's it was decided to have a clean sweep and the bells were recast and rehung in a new frame by the Loughborough foundry. This frame is considered to he one of the bell hanging achievements of the century, the total weight of the frame heing comerhing approaching, 18 tons and Jiterally holds the tower together.
An indication of the quality of this piece of engineering can be gathered from the fact tha; the tenor of the recast ring weighs 35 cwit. The bells are not easy to ring, particularly in Surprise Maximus. when the cower has a lendency to twist with the heavy bells out of coursing order. The trebles which are $0_{1}$ top of the frame, having a rope length of approximately 90 feet. are extremely tricky to handle under these conditions.
A visitor to the tower cannot help but marvel that such a fine and heavy ring of 12 can be installed and rung with reasonable comfort in such a tall and slender tower.

SEVEN BELLS CRACKED WHILE REMOVING CANONS

A stop press item in the Christmas issue of . Ringing Towers, the journal of the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellringers, records that during the removal of the canons of the bells of St. Paul's Church. Bendigo, at the Bendigo Ordnance Factory, seven of the eight bells were seriously crácked.

It appears that the recommended method of remova! of the canons was to use a flexible disc cut off wheel, but when this was found to be too slow the quicker but more drastic method of an 'air arc' electrode cutter, finishing off probably with a heavy hammer, was adopted. The crowns were then furned into a convex shape.
Mr. Warne Wilson says that the Ordnance Factory seems to be able to prove. with the aid of X-ray photographs, that the cracking was largely due to inherent stresses in the metal, let Joose when the casting skin was removed on the lathe. but they do acknowledge part responsibility for the way in which the joh was done. All work has been stopped until :Messrs. Mears and Stainhank s advice has been obtained on whether welding the eracks is practicable. The alternative is a complete recasting.

This is indeed a tragedy, and a great setback to the high hopes of Bendigo ringers. Fo: nine year Mr. Warne Wilson, the captain. hos been campaigning to have the bells restored. and when success seemed in sight, and funds were forthcoming from public appeal. this misfortune has occurred.

The bells of St. Paul's. Bendigo, were cast in the Whitechapel Foundry in 1872, the cost being met by public subscription, and the bells carried to Australia in the famous 'Cutty Sark.

Bendigo bells have always had a difficult 'go.' the reason being that the bells are hung high in a brick tower. The structure. states "Ringing Towers." is so subject to movement that the spire which it was intended should surmount the tower was never built.

To meet this difficulty a new frame has been sent out from the Whitechapel Foundry, and the girders for a new frame have heen set in a concrete ring. 18 feet lower in the tower. The bells had been sent to the Ordnance Factory to have the canons removed and everything was planned for the bells to ring out again in early December.

To Warne Wilson and his band. ringers from a!l over the world extend their sympathy.

Letters to the Editor

BROADCAST APPRECIATED

Dear Sir, - I want to say how much I enjoyed the handbell ringing on A.T.V. (Sunday, January 6 th, 12.15 p.m.), by Mr. Frederick Sharpe and his band.
It was absolutely wonderful. What a filiip this sort of thing could be to ringing in general if we could have a few repeat performances. Our own little efforts, here in church at Christmastide with anly 12 handbells, are enormously appreciated. But how nuch more pleasure wo could give the congregation if we could adopt Mr. Sharpe's system.
Could we know something about it, please? -Yours sincercly,

CECIL W. PIPE.
Woodbridge, Suffolk.

THE SMITHS

Dear Sir,-It was very naughty of Joc showing Tom and Harry how to put the muffles on after pulling up the bells.
He really must learn which side of the clapper to muffle when the bells are down! -Yours faithfully,
W. B. KYNASTON.

Rodbourne Cheney,  Swindon, Wilts.

RESPECT TRADITION

Dear Sir,-Although I am a comparative new-comer to the Exercise, I have already had experience of the battles which rage over Minor methods and open leads versus close leads-indeed the local society to which I bolong is 'notorious' (in the best sense of the word) for its close lead ringing-and I can only come to the conclusion that these battles a e ridiculous and futile.
Might I respectfully suggest that if eight-, ten- and twelve-hell ringers are going to encroach upon six-bell territory they stop burying their heads in the sand and invest 45. 6 d . in the Central Council's Collection of Minor Methods-there are, surpnising as it may seem, other Minor methods besides Plain Bob and Cambridge!
Admittedly ten- and twelve-bell ringers are not going to spend time in their own towers ringing Minor on the 'back six'-that would be taking it too far-but it would be a gesture very much appreciated when, say, the Yorkshire Association holds a meering which incorporates a six-bell tower, if the visiting ringers would come preparei to ring close leads and methods other than the two previously mentioned.
When we leave home ground we are expected to. and we do. adapt ourselves immediately to the conditions under which we are ringing, to the hest of nur ability. But yout can understand why we become exasporated when illustrious ringers, who are known io ring regularly at towers such as York Minster. demand Phion Bob Minor-with open leads; Surely they are not going to he defented hy a fuw simple Minor miethods!
And as for Mr. Brand's :zmarks athout living in the obscure nast in some corner in Yorkshise.' surely the whnic purnose of ringing today is to preserve an age-old sradition and it is hardly fair to malign one particular ringer who is greatly respected among his own fraternity because he chooses to help preserve one aspect of ringing which inchudes close leads and some methods. which to you appear odd. if we all rang the same methods, all the time. Varicty is the spice of life. Mr. Brand, and certainly the spice of ringing.-Yours fajthfully, AN EXASPERATED RINGER. Barnsley, Yorks.

PEAL WRITING FEE DISPUTE
Dear Sir,-In the past 12 months os so, in an Association of which I am a non-resident niember, a considerable number of peals have been rung in their territory which have been rung for other Societies or Guilds. On inquiring about the reason for this, I am told that of the 6 d . per rope peal fee charged by this Association, 3d. goes into the pocket of the paal secorder. Hence, some ringers would prefer to pay the peal fee to an organisation in which all the money goes to some useful fund. Also, most of these peals were rung for a new Society (formed because of the Association's peal fce policy). which has no pea! fee, and in this casc I am told that the 6 d . per rope is still paid, but into the offertory box of the church concerned, instead. I have my own views, but since I miglit be wrong, I would be interested in the views of others, and in the meantime stay on the fence.--Yours sincerely.

OLDEST COMPLETE RING OF EIGHT

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. Pladdys irquiry, H. B. Waiters in 'The Church Bells of Wiltshire' has this to say about the ring at Bishop's Cannings:

Apparently a very early ring of bells, perhaps the earliest of which there is record since the Reformation. They were originally cast by John Wallis during the incumbency of the Rev. George Ferebe (see 5th bell) who was vicar 1593-1616. Aubrey Nat. Hist. of Wilts. p. 109) says "Mr. Ferraby. the minister of Bishop's Cannings. Was an ingenious man and an excellent musician. When King James was in these parts Mr Ferraby entertained his Majesty with hucoliques of his own making.... Whilst his Maiesty was thus diverted. the eight bells (of which he was the cause) did ring. and the organ was played on for state. This parish in those dayes would have chailenged :ill England for musique, football and ringing." Possibly some other ringer will be able to suoply data as to the Merton College octave -Yours fathfully
E. G. CAPLE.

RFCORDING THAT GAVE, SPECIAI.  JOY

Dear Sir.-An unexpected pleasure was piven to nie recently. It is seven long months, sinee I last heard the words ' Treble's gone.' and lad the satisfaction of learing and controlling a bell.
As a member of a military hand. stationed in Germany, we have 'johs' to do all.1 over I ower Saxony. On Saturdav, January 5th, we played at a wedding in Hildesincim. at St. Alhans Church, attached to the English camp. After the service we walked out of church, and what a thrill: a recording had been made. of only rounds and call changes-but what a joy to mc. I would have given much to have heer transolanted to my home tower in Dore. Shefficld. for an hour or two.
I have asked numerous people for informafioil of the tower that provided the recording and sent it out to this land, harren of hell ringing. I am looking forward more than cver now to my leave, demob and Tuesday evenines in the belfry.-Yours sincerelv.

A SIMLLARITY

Dear Sir.-I was interested to rote that 'The Ringing World ' of January 4th carried a composition of Bristol S . Major by Mr. Stephen Ivin, which used double bobs only ai $W$ and $H$ positions.
Mr. Ivin has had a previous peal of Bristol with this quality appear in your columns, i.e. one of 5,024 changes, which was first rung at Si. Paul's, Bedford, on July 16th, 1962, and it is this composikion to which I should like to draw attention. It is, in fact, a variation of a peal of 5,056 changes by the late John L. Morris, which was introduced as recently as July 5th, 1958.
I submit the figures of this peal as they arpeared in 'The Ringing. Work' at that time and leave it to those interested to draw their own conchusions as to the similarity of the two compositions. - Yours faithfully.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

On January 5th members of the Frome and Midsomer Norton Deanery Branch held their annual meeting at St. John Baptist, Midsomer Norton.
Despite wintry conditions. 23 members were present. One enthusiast, Mr. D. Withers, atdended from Leigh-on-Mendip ( 8 miles approx.). oit his push bicvcle. carrying it where it was impossible to ride

Ringing commenced on the eight bells and continued till 4.30 p.m.. when the sarvice was conducted by the Rev. R. M. Fookes (Vicar). In a short address. he welcomed the ringers, commenting on the lively witness loyal ringers gave to the church.
Owing to the reezing-up of the necessary facilities at the Women's Institute Hall, the ladies. much to their regret. were unable to prepare tea for the singers as arranged.
With the permission of the Vicar. the hus:ness of the Branch was transacted in the church, with the Vicar presiding in the absence nf the Brinch chairman (the Rev. A.
Durstan). Six the memhers were elected.
Durstan). Six iww memters were ekerted.
It was also decided to hold the singer Corporate Communion at Midsomer Norton the nearest Sunday to the Patronal Festival.

One of our favourite anecdotes herc might just as well have happened in England. An unusually attractive young lady (hand) bell ringer from the Deep South could not arrange to drive up to Nen England with her team, but followed them by train. She had to change stations in New York City, and rode in a cab across the fown. The cabbic, fascinated with her Southern drawl, drew her into conversation asking questions ahout hell ringing. When the arrived at the station, the cabbie had beren so entertained he would accept only hall fare. She protested, but he tipped his cap and said, "In New York, Miss, we only ring "Southern Belles* lightly "-and drove off with a salute. NANCY MOORF TUFTS. Washington

John Tonne and Stephen Tonni, Bell Founders

By T. A. BEVIS

A BELL FOUNDRY of some importance - existed at Bury St . Edmunds in the latter half of the 15th century and that establishment of long ago has inspired generous degrees of interest and speculation in that it more than likely produced cannons-of-destruction as well as peaceful bells. Shields placed by a Bury founder upon his bells. circa 1500 , often display, among other devices, a cannon.

It is thought that this foundry was cirried oul successivaly by two men named Chyrch, Chincte or Church-father and son-Reginald Clyych and Thomas Chyrch-both of whom cust several bells for East Anglia, particularly Suffolk and Cambs.

The Chyreh family business is mentioned here in view of the possibility of its indirect connection with William Culverden, of London. for it would appear that the Bury foundry passed into the hands of Stephen Tonni in the mid-16th contury, the father (?) of whom is mentioned is the celebrated Culverden's will:

In Witness whereof to this present testament and last will I have subscribed my name with myn own hande. . . Thesc being witnesse unto the same, Thomas Holland. John Tynne, Thomas Lawrence, John Leyland. William Anys, Robent Pemberton, Thomas Hayward, with diverse other parsones. : Thomas Lawrence greatly benefited by Culverden's will. There is good reason to assume that John Tynne and John Tonne are one and the same person, and that Stephen Tonni was the son of John Tonne.
The names Tonne and Tonni to all effects and purposes Jave an undeniable forcign flavour and this is substantially confirmed when studying the liabits of John Tonne in his capacity as a bell founder: of occasionally dating hells and of putting his name on them; by placing a floriated cross on the waist of the hell with his name. beneath, definitely a regular practice abroad: and the French character of Tonne's kettering, all of which hear evidence to the contrary of his heing English by birth. Tlen again, the founder's name gives rise to speculation, being derived from the French Antoinc. These points were wholly agreeable to the late Mr. A. P. Tyssen. who had examined several ancient bells in Picardy.

PROTECTIVE RIGHTS

How was it than. that Tonne practised bell founding in England? As in other crafts, the principics of protection had extended themselves to bells by the year 1483. The statute, one might suppose, can be compared in a way with the statements and declarations opinioned over Common Market negotiations! It was designed to protect British craftsmen and encourage industry, yet despite rigid rules and regulations, a few specimons of bells from Louvain and Venlo found their way to this country. The protective statute was considered to he very eflicient, and if a craftsman (including, of course. the bell founder) experienced any great difficulty, he was allowed to set up for himself or seek employment at the hands of a master founder.

Should the founder have a sideline as some evidently did ('Danyell Fonder' was also a vinter) then a foreigner with an astule knowledge of bells would be a definite asset. The statute provided protection for the man as well as the master; thus in 1523 it was decreed that no alien should take an alien apprentice nor keep more than two alien journeymen. Accordingly, hell founders in london particularly, in common with other crafts, had their interests well looked aftor by 'union-minded' officials, the statute proceeding in these terms:

And that the Wardens of the said Citic of ev'ry suoh handycrafte, with one straunger or houscholder as is aforesaid of the same crafte, have full power and auctorite by this p'sent acte to lymylte and appovnte to ev'y straunger of the mystery and handy crafte that they be inhabityng withyn the said Citie Suburbes places or pcyncte above remembered a pper murk without takyng anythyng therfor, by the which their wares, vesselles and workmanshippe that they make may be knowen.'

There is. of course, no firm evidence of John Tonne ever having been employed by Culvorden. All in all, taking into account his foreign mannerisms when about his business. and touching upon that particular reference to someone called "Tynnc," concerning Culverden's will. it may well be that the "alien" Tonne, possibly understanding the future destiny of the foundry in which he was employed and having no desire to work under the highly favoured Thomas Lawrence. while confidently possessing new-found knowledge in the craft, plus his experience (we assume) of Continental bell founding. 'took the bull by the horns,' so to speak. Jeaving Culverden's premises a year or two before the master's death and set up for himself in Suffolk, or at any rate in E. Anglia. This was an area strongly favoured by a wealthy Flemish population and an experimental and fertile garden made seady for the final and most colourful development of the Gothic bloom.
Tonne cast a bell for Sullington. Sussex, in 1522-his carliest-and in 1536 three bells were provided by him for Botolph in the sime county. In 1540 a product of his foundry was installed in the church tower at Stansted Mountfitchet. Essex.
It seems that Cambridgeshire has but one Tonne specimen-at Batham-a beatifully created bell, aborned by Continental ornamentation of which the three combined illu-trations are examples. Tonne was equally fond of adorning his bells with busts of Henry VIII, the Royal Arms, medallions and other devices. His inscriptions are also interesting. the bell at Balsham being inscribed:

INTONAT . CELIS VOX. CAMPANA MICHAELIS.

Now to pass on to John Tonne's son (again w. ${ }^{2}$ must assume): 'Stephanus' Tonni, of Bury St. Edmunds, is discovered as carly as 1559. As previously suggested. Stephen maly have tiken over the old-established foundry of the Chyrch family. He provided several thells for churches in Cambridgeshire: Laindheach (1577). Wicken ( 1582 ). Stetchworth (1564), two bell, for I ittie Wilbraham, and one for Cambridg: Si. Lidward's (1576), two at Wood Ditton which can be regarded as historical molluments (1588), and two for the Round Church at Cambridge. Tonni's earliest inscription occur: at Reepham. Norfolk, dated 1559: BEATTI QUI HABITAT (sic) IN DOMO TUA DOMINE.
Tonni's 'trade mark' is well known, and consists of a crown and arrows, the emblem of St. Edmund. Kine and Martyr. Stephen also used a fleur-de-lis, and at Wicken and

10NNE & TONNI BELLFOUNDERS
Cambridge the initials 'W.L.' appear on his bells. these possibly of William Land, who may have been Tonni's foreman.
Tonni has been described as 'behind the times ' in his inscriptions. In that respect it is only fair to state that the man rejoiced in the Roman Catholic doctrine and this inbred the Roman Catholic doctrine and this inbred faith was maturally displayed on his bells. We silould also bear in mind that Siephen plied his craft in times of emotional stress when great changes were taking place in an England which was rapidly detaching itself from Rome. Hefore the final act of the Reformation, Tonni used quite inoffensive inscriptions, athough these were actually in harmony with the Roman doctrinc. He came out with portions of the Te Deum at Oxborough, Norfolk. and clsewhere. Generally speaking his manner at that time gives the impression of heing subdued-increasingly so as Reformathon activities gained strength. Thus he concintued using only his cross-and arrow emblem until the notable year 1588 .
A change then came over him. His tenor at Wood Ditton, cast in that year, is a strange vee hopeful cry reversed through the difficult years to the 1520 's. The familiar crown and arrows are discarded, and there may be the clue betwixt father and son) Stephen reemploys those grand devices used by John Tonne: the Great Cross and the smaller ornaments (illustrated)-Continental in their origin and a quiet but unmistakabile tribute o Papal faith. Two medizval inseriptions are resurrected in support of the founder's sympathetic inclinations to the Roman Church:

+ SUM ROSA PUISATA MUNDI MARIA

VOCATA

+ VIRGINUS ASSUMPTE NOMEN GERO DME MARIA.
the first of which is regarded as being unique. and the second thought to have been originally used by John Tonne.
The late Canon Raven fascinatingly suggested that Stephen Tonni had been, throughout. a concealed opponent of the Reformation. It is not difficult to understand that, with the dawning of the eventful year. 1588, the Reformation was unhappily confronted with destructive ideologies from far-away Spain. As Philip and his mighty Armada purposely apprazched Enelish shores, it seemed to our Papist bell founder that retribution was at hand. and that with the fall of Elizabeth the old faith would be restored throughout the land. Who of those loyal founders should welcome it but he himself. Lhrough the medium of his handiwork: his last bells at Wood Ditton.

But it was not to be. The visual expressions of his hopes depicted on those bells were destined to laud and magnify God, through the new and abiding Faitin: also to perpetuate the memory of John Tonne and Stephen Tonnihell foundets extraordinary.

MR. J. W. PARSLOW

As previously reported in 'The Ringing World' Mr. John William Parslow passed away very suddenly at his home, 8, Patrica Avenue, Worthing, on December 28th, aged 71.

Mr. Parslow. 'Jack' to many who knew him. was born in Kingston-on-Thames on March 19th, 1891 . When a young hoy his parents moved to Mitcham. Surrey, where Jack joined the ohoir nt Christ Church, and later Was introduced to the belfry by the late W. H Joiner. Soon after his retirement. nine years ago. Jack moved to Goring-hy-Sea and went along to St. Mary's Church to give assistance, where it was hadly needed, and up to the time of h's death was trying hard to get a band going so that they would be ready to handle t!e: bells when they are rehung in the near future. He also became à regular memher $a^{6}$ St. Andrew's Church. West Tarring. He and his wife were seldom absent from the 1! a.m. service. snd Jack was ringing there twice on Sundays and every Monday evening Ior praotice, where his hely and advice was much apprecisted. Jack ind I were both members of Christ Church. Mitcham. until he moved to Finchley, and rang together many times afterwards.
He had not rung many peals, but as a Sunday service ringer he was 100 per cent. Being musical, he loved a well-struck touch or quarter peal. Our last peal together was at Christ Church. Mitcham, on December 10th, 1949. Since I moved to West Tarring $5 \frac{1}{7}$ years ago. Jack and I had been great pals (inside and out side the church). He never lost an opportunity of doing a kindness and had helped my wife and me in numerous ways, and also many neighbours.
The funeral service, atended by his widow: relatives and many friends, took place at St Andrew's Church, West Tarring, on Janunry 3rd. followed ty cremation at the Downs Crematorium. Brighton. The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. A. Rees. assisted by the Rev. N. J. Smith. In the evening a well struck quarter neal of Grandsire Doubles was rung half-muffied by some of the St. Andrew s hand, conducted hy the curate, the Rev. N. J. Smith.

The death occurred at his home at Chisledon, Wilts, on December 21 st , of Mr. W. E, Farmer, who had been a ringer there for nearly 50 years. He was 84 years of age, and learnt to ring on the original four bells at Stratton St. Margaret, Wilts.

He had rung peals of Doubles and Minor. and hatd ahwo been seeretay of the Marlharough Branch of the Silishury Diocesinn Guild, but his chief interest was at his own tower, where he was most regular on Sundays and practice nights. He helped in securing a treble, put in in 1938, and rang in the first peals on the old five bells, and also on the six
His services to the church jncluded many years in the choir. and as a Sunday school teacher, and he had been organist at several villages in which he lived prior to moving (1) Chisledon in 1915 . If was much in demand as a vocalist, in the days when concerts were a feature of village life.
Shortly after moving to Chisledon he hecame an employec of the Burderop Estate, and worked in the building department until his retirement.
Amongst the many he taught to sing were his three children, but at the present time only his eldest son, now in Cheltenham. follows the art.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Devizes on January 5th. Many villages were still cut off, and the shocking state of the roads, the aftermath of the recent blizzards, prevented many people, including the Master of the Guild, from attending. Forty-five members braved the conditions and took part in ringing at the three towers. The service was held at St. John's and was conducted by the Rector. Rev. W. D. C. William, the Rev. M. E. Currah, Vicar of Southbroom, acting as organist

Tea was afterwards served by Mrs. Hide and her helpers in the Parish Room. The Rector welcomed the members and expressed the thanks of the church to all ringers. It always gave him great pleasure, he said. to hear the bells pealing for early service and for all the great festivals of the Church. He congratulated the chairman Mr. N. Knee, on his work during the past year

Mr. Knee presided over the business meeting and thanked the members for their support especially the ringing for the 80 th anniversary of the Guild. He said that the quality of ring ing in some parts of the Branch had greatly improved but in others it was still lagging hehind. He stressed the need for more to try their hand at conducting. and pledged full support for any. one who would have a go.

The hon. secretary (Mr. A. Knight) presenting the report for 1962. said the Branch could look back on its achievements with a good deal of satisfaction. Membership had slightly increased and stood at 250 . Fifteen peals had been ring during the yeir-an increase of five: there were nine conduetors-Mr. F. Slatford leading with five. followed by Mr. R. Purnell with three. There was also a new conductor in the Branch -Mr. R. Humphries, of Holt. Seven of these peals were rung for the 80 th anniversary. and 13 quarter peals, some being good achievements by local bands. There was still room for improvement in the attendances at monthly meetings as only about 35 members out of 250 at tended regularly. The statement of accounts showed a balance in hand of $£ 174 \mathrm{~s} .10 \mathrm{~d}$.
All the retiring officers were re-clected. A Jong discussion then took place over the need for training the many young ringers who were coming forward. It was pointed out that the monthly practices were held with this need in mind, and tower captains were asked to see that their ringers aftended as often as posisible. Ringers were also welcome at other lowers on practice night, and anyone keen enough could find a practice on every night of the week Towers were also urged to make more use of the Guild instructors; there were four residing in the Branch area who are seldem called upon A suggestion that P.C.C'.'s should pay a voluntary affiliation fee was unanimously rejected. The usual votes of thanks were passed. A.K

Au Il-yearmodd with a Lion lleart

$R^{\text {ICIIARD BOOBEIR strapping Exeler Cathe- }}$ dral tenor with Mr. G. Skinner. This 11-year-old youngster, who is only $4 \mathrm{ft} .3 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}$, in height is probably the smallest ringer to be scen with Exeter tenor.

In September. 1961. Mr. Skinner started a new band at St. David's, Exeter, and one of the learners was Mrs. Boobeir. She later approached Mr. Skinner and asked him if he would teach her son Richard, who was then ten. When Mr. Skinner saw him he wondered if she was not asking too much in view of his age and height.
Mr. Skinner soon found that Richard was going to ring at all costs. Since coming to the belfry he has not missed a lesson or a Sundiy service. A year ago he rang for midnight service on Christmas Eve, and at St. David's this year on Christmas Eve for the midnight service and on Christmas Day. He rings the treble to plain courses of Grandsire Doubles.

He seems to be a Richard with a lion heart: writes Mr. Skinner. Despite his size he is determined to make the grade.

' OVERTONES'

The issue of November. 1962, has much of it; attention on Christmas and the New Year, with an intriguing calendar of dates of interest to ringers. The biography in this issue is of John $E$. Ransom, with an arrangement of h's 'Come all ye shepherds. for 21 bells. - Looking backward has a reproduction of the print showing the Lancastrian ringers who visited America in 1847. This print is now owned by Mr. Ray Myrer, and, with his permission, is also reproduced in the English edition of Nancy Poore Tufts' book, 'The Art of Handbell Ringing.' A hand of handbell ringers of Empingham, Rutland. played some himn tunes to an American recording team about nine years ago. and the recording has ju:it been issued.

We may be seeing some A.G.E.H.R. memhers in July this year as they hope to have a tou of Europe after the Festival at Detroit. The National Geographic Magazine for Septemher. 1962. has a picture on page 425 of the Boise. Idaho, ringers performing at the Seattle World Fair. This issue is full of illustrations, among them being a picture of Mr . Sharpe and the Launton ringers, and another of the Standon ringers.

The handbell equipment series continues, and devailed instructions are given for making carrying cases which can be easily converted to ringing tables. The Schulmerich Carillon Co. is entering the market for handbells, with a novel type of clapper. It is a metal disc with a band of reoprene round the rim. A twn octave set is expected to cost a little under $£ 180$. with the addition of shipping costs.

Occisional Papers have been started, the first being 'General information about handbells.' Ti'e nexi one will probably be suggestions fre those organising festivals. Inserted in 'Overtones.' is a catalogue of bell music issued hy the Societas Capanariorum for carillons and handbells.

Now in his $82 n$ nd year. Mr F. 3. Crapnell returned io St . Andrew's Church. Hasketon on December 31st, to ring a peal in the same tower as he rang his dirst peal ( 0 years ago (December 31st, 1902). It was successful. To Mr. James Bennett's regret, ill-health prevented him ringing with his old friend on this momenfous occasion
Mr. Harry Poyner has started in his new post as head of the physics department at King Fdward VI Grammar School, Retford
With the quarter peal on Christmas Dity at Filton, all 12 regular members of the Sunday service band have now rung a quarter peal.

Mr. G. E Thoday points out that the peal at Bunwell, Cambs (page 873), was composed by C. Middleton and was not Johnson's Variation thereof.
Welcomzd back to our peal columns is Mr. John R. Kelteringham. of Alford. Lincs, who has just rung his first peal since, an operation last July.
Mr. Amburn, for over 40 years a ringer at Drontield, Derbyshire, rang his first peal on the bells on December 26th, and also his first peal for over 20 years.
All the ten methods rung in a peal of Treble Bob Minor at Hoylandswaine, Barnsiey, on December 29th, were named after lowers in the Barnsley District.
This Christmastide Mr. Norman Chaddock rang his 50 th peal on the bells of Rotherham Parish Church. He is the first to gain the distinction.

We are asked to state that it was Miss Rosemary Rich, and not Miss Rosemary Clark, who rang the second bell in the peal at Easthampstead on December 15 th (see page 12).

Many thanks to the party who rang the peal at St. Woolos' Cathedral on December 29th for money left for paraffin. As the paraffin is provided by the Cathedral authorities the gift has been deposited in the extension fund. Thanks again. and congratulations on the successful peal attempi!

GOSSIP
We are again indebted to Mr. H. L. Roper, of Adderbury, Banhury, for compiling such at comprehensive index of "The Ringing World' for 196?. As in previous years, copie of the index will be available for hinding upon application with a stamped addressed envelone. The indexes of other years since 1958 are also atvailahle.

During a peal week in Kent. Mr. John C Baldwin received the following telegram: - Please bring another wringer to Little Chart. Regret inconvenient.
Mr. F. B. Iufkin is very happy over his son. B. J. Lufkin. ringing his first quarter neal on Boxing Day at Gireat Holland. His daughter, Mrs. A. Brown, was also ringing.
Ringing at Kenilworth has much improved since Mr. Colin Sweency came to reside there from Halifax. His encouragement of the younger ringers is reflected in the yutwter peal section this week.

The Rev. Steven Pearce, who learned to ring at Theberton after the bells were rchung. has been ordained deacon and is serving his title at St. George's Church, Chorley, Lancs. Suffolk ringing friends hope he has been able 10 visit the two churches with ringable bells at Chorley.

Prior to the wedding of Miss Robina Anne Marrs, daughter of the Vicar of Binsled, Hants, on December 29th to Mr. Anthony Willis, the bride and bridegroom, together wilt the bride's mother and the three bridesmaids, rang the bells to rounds, but found that their dresses were not sultable for good ringing. A half poal was rung afterwards on the bells.

Through no fault of our publishers, 'Ringing Worlds' on sale through newsagents were late last week. Copies put on the train at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Thursday at Guildford were not found at Waterloo until 4.15 p.m. on a distant platform away from Guildford arrival platforms. This disorganised distribution, although our publishers were persistent in their inquiries from the slation officials.

JANUARY

0NCE again we are at the start of a New Year. Once again we reach the period of year when many Guilds and Associations hold their annual meetings and District annual meetings. The time when last year's work should be carefully examined: when plans should be laid for the future: to see what caused failures and find a way of avoiding them in the current year. Or-in a very few cases-to accept congratulations on a job well done.
Meetings-some lively, some boring, some full of interest, some completely dead and just a matter of form to comply with rules. Members of Guilds and Associations -you decide what kind of meeting it is! How often does one hear it said: 'I shall not go to the meeting, it's only the same as last year; same officers-similar reports-nothing for me.' Or, again: 'There's no point in going. A will nominate B for master, and B will nominate A for some other office, and the result will be the same committee as before.' If only they would stop to think, they are responsible for this situation. If they go to the meeting they can speak up and nominate one, two, three or more people for a particular ollice; the members present then have to vote and thus exercise some thought and therefore find some interest in what is taking place.

Occasionally a member has held office for several years. and the complaint heard then is: ' X has been master for a long time now-he would not like it if he was not reelected.' What an absurd statement! If the holder of an office is in fact that sort of person the sooner he loses the job the better for the Guild or Association. But if he really has the interest of the Association at heart he will not mind in the least another member (especially if of the younger generation) being nominated and elected: he will readily help the new holder with his experience.

Listly there is the individual who works hard in the office he holds and carries on year after year. May it not be to the advantage of the Guild or Association for him to say: 'I will not stand this year'? It will give a younger member an opportunity. After all, if the younger nembers see all offices heing held by the same persons year after year they feel there is no incentive and drift away.
Maybe Guilds and Associations would be wise to have in their rules one which limits to a maximum of two or three onnsecutive years the holding of any office, other than secretary and treasurer, and for these two officers to give careful consideration to the period they hold on to their offices before saying: 'I will not accept renomination.'

EX-OFFICE HOLDER.

A STORY OF PERSEVERANCE

BEHIND a quarter peal paragraph that a quarter had been rung at Feckenham. Worcestershire, with four local ringers taking part is a story of perseverance.

When, in 1960, an inquiry was made of the Vicar of Feckenham as to the condition of the eight bells in the tower, a reply was received that they could not be rung.

That year, however, the Rev. H. S. Bill was appointed vicar, and with his permission the writer and Mrs. Birch. tower captain of Hanbury, made an iuspection of the bells. The frame was found to be in a very good condition, and with the exception of the wheel of the tenor the littings were fairly good. The bells could not be raised as the chiming hammers were in the way. After several visits these were remounted so that the bells swung clear and the tenor wheel mended with pieces of a discarded tea tray.

Thus in September, 1960, Feckenham bells were rung for the first time for 23 years. The eight bells were a very mixed ring, and the sound which issued from the louvres could hardly be called inspiring. Proceedings on the first evening were watched by several local residents, and volunteers came forward to learn to ring. It was not long before the new local band was ringing every Sunday and practising regularly.
Unfortunately, after a short while the sixth bell was broken, followed a little later by the treble's headstock cracking. Thus for a time $2,3,4,5,7,8$ of the octave were rung on Sundays and practice nights.

Early in 1961 it was decided to huve the bells repaired. and a fund was started to raise the necessary $£ 1,000$. By the time the bells were ready the money had been subscribed, mainly by the efforts of the local band. Messrs. Taylor's, of Loughborough, recast the fourth and sixth and retuned and rehung the bells in the old frame. making a very fine octave with a tenor just a few pounds under 12 cwt .
Thus, in a short time, a completely silent and 'unringable' tower has been revitalised and now contains a firstclass ring of hells, rung regularly.

100 PEALS AT ST. MARY'S, GATESHEAD

I] HE historic Church of St. Mary, Gateshead, ereoted during the 13 th century, stands about 30 feet above the southern bank of the River Tyne and about 30 yards east of the New Tyne Bridge which carried the A. 1 road over the river.
Records show that there have been bells in the church since early times. An extract from the churchwarden's Accounts in 1490 reads
Item. For Stryng for the litill bell. 4d.' In 1730 a ring of six bells was hung in the tower. tho principal contributors being Newcastle Trinity House and the Corporation of Newcastle. These bells were replaced in 1788 by 4 ring of eight bells (tenor 15 cwt .), cast by Mears and Stainbank
The first four peals on the bells, all of Grandsire Triples, were rung by the Union Society of Newcastle and Gateshead in 1790 , 1791, 1829 and 1950. The sucweeding peals have all been rung under the auspices of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Assoclation. The first of these was in 1892, again Grandsire Triples, when the tenor was only clocked behind for the peal owing to the weakness of the tower. Next came Kent Treble Bob Matior in 1901, and the following account of the real appeared in 'The Bell News' of May 4th:
'This is the first peal of Major rung on these bells, the tenor never having been rung for about thirty years owing to a huge crack in the tower, supposed to have heen caused flom a large portion of the tower having been cut away in which to plice a stained glass window. and the terrific explosion which occurred on the quay in 1854. It was thought entil just recently ehat it was detrimental to the tower to ring the tenor. hut one of our members discovered that the local band was ringing it behind. and apparently had no effect of opening the old sore out which had been plastered up.

We are once got a band made up to ring this peal of Major, and fully prepared to be carried away on stretchers, as a well known ringer in our district wrote and told me; in fuct. he volunteered to bring an ambulance corps. hut such was fortunately not required, he evidently thinking the two halves of the tower wouldn't agree and pant. At 6.20 on Monday every man was at his rope, determined to score the first peal of Major, and simple as the method is, it was actually a more haborious lask than ringing a peal of Superlative Surprise Major on the back eight of our Cathedrai hells, tenor 37 J cwt. The two ringers on the 5 h does not however indicute that the bell! could not be rung single-handed, as Mr. Ferry had illness at home. and another ringer not leing available all the time. le came and foug until Mr. Hillier kindly came as soon as he: could get away, and took the rope from him to finish the peal.

CALLED PEAL BLINDFOLDED
In 190? the bells were rehung and quatter turned by Mears and Stainbank. and in the period from then until 1924. 31 peals were rung, including some notable performances. The most remarkable of these was the great W. H. Barber's feat in 1908 of calling Carter's Odd Bob One Part peal of Stedman Triples from a working bell whilst blindfolded. Diring this performance he turned in a complete ci-cle. Barber also called the most difficult seven-part by H . Law James, Joseph W. Parker's seven-part. and other tricky odd hob peals of Stedman Triples. In 1909 came the dirst ever pead of Erin Triples. This was also one of Jos. W. Parker's master-strokes as it was the first composition of Triples in the method by ullyone at that time. although other nien could produce peals of Erin Caters and Cinques. The period also saw the first peals oi Cambridge and I-ondon Surprise Maior in Co. Durham, both in 190S, C. L. Routledgc and T. T. Gofton being the respective conductors.
In 1927 the bells were again rehung, this time on ball hearings, by Gillett and Johnston. F:om the time of this restoration until the beginning of the Sccond World War, 17 peals were rung. These included in 1932 the first peal of Stedman Triples ever rung in two exactly equal patts. with ordinary bohs and singles. Jos. W. Parker had brilliantly resingles. Jos. W. Parker had brilianty re-
of 'Stedman,' C. D. P. Davies) retaining the sume course ends, but with 580 bobs and singles, and Bill Barber conducted it.
There were no peals at St. Mary's during the wat, but since 1946 and up to the present time 46 peals have been rung, 29 of them since 1959. These have been in a good variety of methods, including London, Bristol. four spliced, Ullesthorpe and the first peal of Gatesliad Surprise Major. In 1959 plans were made to ring a peal of Erin Triples to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the first ore and a practice was arranged a few months previous to the anniversary. A peal was scored on that occasion, but the commemorative attempt failed. A further attempt was arranged and this time it was successful. The tradition of Stedman Triples is still maintained and four odd bob compositions have been called during this period by J. A. Ainsworth. These include Carter's Odd Bob in 1957, and in 1959 an excellently struck performance of J. O. Lancashire's peal. with calls in consecutive sixes on only 22 occasions. As as matter of interest. for the 42 peals of Siedman Triples on the bells, 14 different twin bot and nine different odd bob compositions have been used

CANON H. S. STEPHENSON
To natives of Gateshead the name of Canon H. S. Stephenson is forever connected with Si. Mary's, and pealls have been rung there for his $25,40,50$ and 60 years in the Ministry. The footnote ta the last-named peal, in 1955, also recorded farewell to the Canon on his setirement after 43 years as Rector at Gateshead. Less than two years later another peal was rung half muffled to his memory. Canon Stephenson, although never a practical ringer. had been a staunch friend of all singers and th:: Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association had shown their esteem by electing him president from 1950-1953. He had been a thember of the Association since 1907.
Of the total of 100 peals, only one has been rung by a band from the regular Sunday service ringers, and another two with Bill Barberthe only mon-local. so it will be realised that S: Mary's has been a tower for Tyneside peal ringers for over 60 years. The bells cause no annoyance as there atre now no chouses in the vicinity, and traffic noisc from loouses in the vicinity. and traffic noise from the Tyne bridge often drowns the. sound of the betls.
Altogether there have been 24 different conductors, the leaders heing J. A. Ainsworth (21 peals), W. H. Barber (18) and T. T Gofton (8).
The speed range of the peals is yuite large the quickest peal being Stedmant Triples in 2 hours 29 minutes : the slowest peal of Triples was again Stedman in 3 hours 5 minutes, a difierence of 36 minutes. Yorkshire Surprise and Plain Bob Major have been rung in 2 hcurs 38 minutes, E. N. Harrison ringing the tenor on both occisions, whilst the slowest peal of Major was London Surprise in 3 hours 11 minutes. Although fast peals have been the rule in recent vears some slower peals are still being rung; the 4 splized, early in 1962 took 3 hours 3 minutes, and a peal of Sted man Triples. later in the year, took 2 hours 58 minutes
An analysis of the 100 peals shows that 63 are of Triples and 37 of Major. the figures being:
Triples.-Stedman 42. Grandsire 15. Erin 3 and one each of Oxford Bob. St. Clement's and Plain Bob Major-Yorkshire 6. Cambridge 5. London 4. Doutle Norwich 4, Plain Bob 4. Bristol 3 Superlative 3. Kcnt 2. and one each of Galeshead. Ullesthorpe, Rutland. Pudsey, Shipway and 4 Spiced Surprise.

Late news

We regret to hear of the death of Mr Joseph John Batchelor. of Little Chart. Kent nember of the Executive of the K.C.A H : collapsed and died suddenly in Ashford on January 15 ih
If you have rung 25 or more peals during 1962 please send details to the Edtor-tower and handbells recorded separately. We hope 1.) nuhlish the list next week.

HOW HE TOLD THE GOOD

 NEWS, Etc.
(with apologies to Robert Browning)

I sprang to the sally, and Joris, and he:
I pulled off. Dirck pulled off. we pulled oft all three; cried the tenor man, round at the back:
Next;' murmured the walls to us echoing back:
The faces grew tauter a slight pause at hand, And into the method then plunged all the band

Not a word to each other. we kept the great puce:
Note by note, blow by blow, always changing our place:
I edged my foot round, a slight turn to the right.
Then took in the backstroke, and held the rope tight;
Now!-check her at handstroke-pull harder a bit,
Not a bell out of place, not by even a bit. III
'Twas moonset at starting, but when we drew near
The half-way, the cocks crew, and daybreak dawned clear:
One more course, and out peeped the sun for all to see,
At two-thirds 'twas morning is plain as could bc:
As the clock up above our heads wheezed the hatf-chime
So Joris broke silence with, 'Yet there is time! IV

- Single!'-then up leaped of a sudden the sun, And against him the ringers stood black every one;
With arms working smoothly. brains working apace.
Each bell in her course, and each blow in its place:
With resolute shoulders, each swinging awey
The changes, the hours, the time of the day.
Each ringer standing there: one ear bent back
For the voice of his bell, as she chimed in her track:
And each eye's intelligence-evar that glance t the red, white and blue ropes. all flashing askincel
And the grunt or the murmur which aye and anon
Marked the thoughts of a man as he rang on and on.
Thrse-quarters:-Dirck groaned. and cried Joris: Strike true
Near places, now down, double dodge in one en crash! and again. as the bells lost their way;
So many changes. to end in this way!
Then, tired as the athlete bent hard on the sace, voize from the back. putting each in his place. VII
Then I cast off my tie. and both shirt sleeves flopped loose:
And was weary each face as we finished the course.
Six leads to the end now, the tenor man cried:
With a sigh of retief all the ringers replied
Make this all.' was what we were all longing to hear.
And it came as a welcome respite to the ear VIII
And all I remembe: is-friends flocking round A broad smile on each face as we slowly sat down;
And no voice but was praising this band of eight men
(For a record length's pleasant-just now and again);
Which fthe listeners all voted by common consent).
Was as good as last week's fifteen thousand of Kent!

OBITUARY

MR. ALBERT E. COLEMAN

Si. Margaret's, Lowestoft, has Lost a most regular woishipper and ringer by the death of Mr. Albert Coleman on Junuary 7th, at the ge of 61 .
He was one of the band of beginners taught by the late R. T. Woodley, after the installiton of the ring of eight at St. Margaret's in 1921. and had rung 32 peals, mostly at this church. where he had been Ringing Master fur many years until he had to give up, just 12 months ago. owing to ill-heath.
Owing to business commitments. his ringing ativities were largely confined to his own tower, but there he was most regular in atendance and worship, and it was due to his untiring efforts, especially in teaching many young ringers, that these tells have been regularly rung for Sunday service.
His nrompt and efficient action as a firewatcher during the war saved St. Margaret's from destruction during an air radd.
Of a very quiet. unassuming and genial dispositrois. hz will be much missed by all who isit Lowestoft. The funeral was attended by ingers from neighbouring towers, who took part in muffled ringing afterwards.
E. R.G.

MR. SIDNEY KEIGHLEY

By the death on January 7th of Mr. Sidney Keighley. St. Wilfrid's, Calverley, Yorks, loses a ringer who had heen a member of the local company for 60 yeirs and il family link with the Yorkshire Association has been severed which was lirst mada hy his father. Earal, in 1876. and carried on by Sidney in 1905.

He rang 22 peals, mostly at Calverley. and the wats particularly proud of a peal of London Tretile Boh Major. rung by the local company is 1926, and recorded on a peal board in the tower.
Ir was due to his efforts that the bells at Calverley are now rung regularly, for it was he who in 1950 rallied the local ringers together. There had heen intermittent ringing since 1945. hu: it seemed that it would not be long before Calverley joined the ranks of 'silent' Lowers.
For five years he rang the treble to countless plain courses of Bob Minor, often saying as the left the lower. If we don't improve we shall stop as we are., It was not until 1956 that his favourite methods, Oxford and Kent Treble Boin, began to the rung regutarly for service. Oii his list visit to the fower, three months ago, we rang for him a course of Double Norwich, of which he remarked. 'Very good.
The furieral service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. G. Lane, on January 11 hh. In his address. he said that we hatd lost a willing servant and a good friend. The bells were rung half-mulled. prior to and following inte service, to Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Ninar by local ringers. P.M.D.

MR. NORMAN SARGEANT

Through the sad death of Mr. Norman Surgeant. Nonth Staffordshire and particularlv Hanley Parish Church have lost a loyal and devoted ringer and churchman.
Norman Sargeant inad been connected with Hanley Parish Church all his life and as soon as he was old enough he was taken to the belfiy by his father. who was tower master for many years. In 1955 he was appointed Gwer mastar following the death of his friend. George Jones; and he held that post until his own pissing.
He served his church devotedly. and was atso at chorister. member of the Parochial Church Council and for the last three years a urchwarden
His pupils rang for the service at the church prior to cremation, and the sympathy of alf North Stalfordshire, ringers is extended to Mrs. Sargeant, who ofien accompanied Norman 10 meeting:

Some Four-bell Towers
Dear Sir,-The following is a little more information on four-bell towers:

BEDFORDSHIRE

Hockliffe, St. Nichalas'- $7 \frac{1}{\frac{1}{2}} \mathrm{cwt}$ in B fat Unringable due to the whole S. wall of the W. tower cracking away. The S.E. buttress has moved $5 / 16$ th inch in the last 20 years. The bells, ropes and fittings are still in reasonably good order, the timber frame being probably Taylors, 1883. The bells were rung until the last war, but have since boun clocked. Only the tenor is used at present and this was sot for safe clocking. The 2nd and 3rd are ancient, prohably Saundors, 1539-59, treble by Tavlors, 1883, and the tenor recast by Taylors, 1914-Inspected 26-5-62
Halcote or Holcote, Si. Nicholas'. This is a tiny church set in the middle of a field, half ${ }^{3}$ mile $\mathbb{E}$. of the M.1. The only other buildings in sight are a manor house and a farm, and the parish' is combined with Salford and Cranfield. The church is a perfect, unspoilt gem of 1593, with lovely original woodwork and a low pinnacled W. tower, containing two Dier bells of 1593 and a couple of Chandler's. The church is almost disused as there is not even a cross on the altar. Mears were called in to fit a 'clocking' chime apparatus in 1952 on threc of the bells (why not all Sour?). but even these ropes are now rotted off.-Visited 27-10-62.
Studham, St. Mary's-10-0-22 in A flat. Taylors recast the 3rd and rehung them on rliain bearings in an iron H-frame on steel widders in 1909. The bells were not rung from 1916-1961, when I rediscovered them and, with many willing helpers from St. Albans, areal, mastored them and formod a local team. led by cle Vicar. The bells are now rung for Sundays and Wednesday practices-visitors welcome. (It is close to Whipsnade Zoo.) In lune. 1962, the Bedfordshire Association held a well supported mecting there with tea and business on the vicarage lawn-perhaps the first time a four-bell tower has heen so honoured. Many visitors found the wide arjety of ringing Minimus extents surprisingly difficult, The tenor is by J. Keene. of Bedfond. 1627 , treble and 2nd by Chandker, 16,66, and the 3rd a recast by Taylors, 1909.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE

Bow Brickliill, All Saints'-8 cwt. approx. Most unringathe. The tower is perfcelly sound. hut the 1628 frame is decayed and the supporting heams very weak and patched. A! the bells swing E.W. The front three are now swing chimed on loose headstocks, hut have hein clocked-perhaps the state of the tenor explains the reison for the change. This was lovely casting by Ragley. but js now very hadly cracked and at piea of the sound bow is hroken off! There is a gramophone system (si, Margaret's, Westminster), but even the loudspoakers rexpaice relangiog! The present Restor coasiders that bells are not really wanted by his parishioners. Mouboe, Assumption of B.V. Marv -7 cwt . approx. in A. Ringable, but decidedly lumpv with frame movement. Rung from the ground floor, with a rather oudd rope circle. There is Outwood, St. John the Baptist-5 cwt. approx. Rehung hy Mears, 1959, and are now rung from a new gallery. There is a local bind.-Visited $9-12-61$.

There are still many coumie's where more information on the state of the four-bell towers would be welcome, notably in Berkshire. Cimbridgeshire, Dorset, Huntingdonshire Norfolk, Nottinglamslire, Shropshire and Monmouthshire.-Yours sincerely,

Dlest Complete Ring of Eight

Dear Sir,-Wilh reference to the letter on the above subject from Mr. J. Pladdys. he is quite correct in saying that the bells at Merton College. Oxford, are the oldest complete ring of eight in the country My footnote about Bishop's Cannings should have read the first ring of eight in the country. The front six were cast by John Wallis, of Salisbury, between 1602 and 1607, and the tenor by Purdue in 1626. hut Nos. 1. 4, 7 and 8 have since been ecast Merton College, Oxford. hells were all cast by Christopher Hodion in 1680 , from the melal of the original cight, cast in 1656 , by Michacl Darbie.
The information regarding Bishon's Cannings can be seea in 'The Church Beils of Wiltshire' by H. B. Walters. - Yours sincerely.

Dorking

Dear Sir ,-It appears that Mr. Pladdys is correct. for al! the hells in Menton College. Oxford. were cast by Christopher Hodson in 1680 . The bells at Bishop's Cannings. Wilts. were originally cast as an octave in 1602 by Jehn Wallis, of Salisbury. There have been various recastings: the treble hy Taylors in 1912: the tenor by Purdue in 1626: the 4th and $\overline{7}$ th by Thomas Mears II in 1840; and the tenor by Mears and Stainbank in 1897. Perhaps Bishop's Cannings was the first cower to contain a ringing ootave?
Aubrey. in the Natural History of Wilts, says: 'Mr. Ferraby, the minister of Bishop's Cannings, was an ingenious man and an excelkent musician. When King James was in these parts Mr. Ferraby entertained his Maitesty with bucoligues of his own making.... Whilst his Majesty was thus diverted, the eight hells (of which he was the cause) did ring. and the organ was played on for statc. This parish in those dayes would have challenped all Enyland fo: musique. football and ringing.'-Yours sincerely.

A Question to IDipulford

Dear Sir-I would like to congratulate mv friends at Diplford on their achievement. 507 call changes on December 13 h last, hut was surprised to note that the conductor took no part in actual ringing. Am I right to assunke that these changes were called from a book or card? If this js correct, it rather spoils the effort. Now,' Diplford. I know you can do it, and whell you go for the 1.000 I wish you cvery success, and hope that on of the band participating will do the calling without any artificial aids.-Yours faithfully.

Stamwell's Record

Dear Sir-In reply to your question Belfry Gossip on page 24, concerning the moa quarter peals rung in any one cower durma the same year, I have to inform you that 66 were rung jo 1961, at Stanwell in Middlesex. Standard varied from Bob Doubles to Spliced Surprise Minor, and on at least one occasion three of Spliced Surprise had heen rung on the same day.
This total, I have been led to believe. shands is the highest record. If, however, uny body atate of a more numerous accomplishment weuld be very pleased to hear from them.Yeurs faithfullv.

CHRISTOPHER B. FYNES
Stanwell, Middlesex.
Dear Sir. - Further to the inquiry in Belfery Gossip: If the 52 quarter peals rung at S . Thamas': South Wigston, in 196? constituted a record, it may be noted that 66 quirter peals were rung at Stanwell. Middlesex. 1961. The Association report quotes that 'this excellent total seems unapproachable,' but did not in any sense claim to be a record.-Yours favihfully,

Clerkenwell Surprise

Dear Sir,-I am afraid Mr. Sone is mistaken regarding Ashton and Mottram. Unless his copy is different from mine, he cannot have looked with sufficient care. My copy of Corrigan gives method No. 12 as Ashton. in which has a 2 nds place lead end. and it gives method 231 as Mottram, g. wlich is the 8the place variation. The key to these code letter: is given in Corrigat. Therefore the method we rang and renamed Clerkenwell. which haid a 2nd place tead end, was method No. 12. previously Ashton.
Regarding the false course ends of thewe methods. if I understand what Mr. Sone means, he wetrays an ignorance of a certain fact; namely, that the 2nds and 8ths place variations of any method have the same felse course ends. In Corrigan. the notation of Mottram is given in full together with tite code letters representing the false course ends. Ashton (now Clerkenwell) is shown as h, where Mottram is g , but there is no notation and therefore no falss course end corle lelters eitiver. It is assumed that the reader is familiar with the fact stated above
The method we rang as Clerkenwell has two false course ends. and the composition was selected accordingly.-Yours faithfullv.

QTO VADIS?

Dear Sir,-Isn't it about time the Method: Commitiee came down to earth and re-estabished contact with reality?
The recent peal of Durham Surprise Royal sould appear to halve coused cossternation is some enlightened circles of the Exercise, ie trouble appearing 10 be that it js not onsidered to he in extension of the Minor. give helow my reasons for considering it ne the logical extension of Durham Minor. When one altempts to feach a learner Durhan Minor the ubvious starting moint is: Well it's like Yark except that you do.... similarly with the Major, Royal and Maximus, is like York except that you do.... The exceptions are exactly the same in all cases. Now, bearing in mird that York has been accepied by the Methods Committee on all numbers of bells, compare the following table numbers York from Minor to Maximus, with the difference between York and Durham the difference between York and Maximus $-3 \mathrm{~T}-14-12-3 \mathrm{~T}, 14-14,3 \mathrm{~T}$,
$14-14.3 \mathrm{~T}, 14-14,3 \mathrm{~T}, 14-14.3 \mathrm{~T}$. York

Royal $-30-14-12-30,14-14,30,14-14,30$, 14-14.30. York.
Major -38-14-12-38.14-14.38,
14-14. 38. York.
Minor $-36-14-1 \geq 36$,
14-14, 36. York
14-34. 16. Durham.
Wel!, I ask you! A babe in arms could see the obvious connection between these methods. Wily is it that the Methods Committee can't? Mr. Blagrove, in correspondence with the conductor quoted the Royal method given above, saying. If this is the method you rang. then it doesn't qualify as Durham.' Now. I put it 10 the Exercise at large, how did Mr. Blagrove arrive at Durham if not by a logical process of extending the Minor to Royal. The very faot that he arrived at to Royal. The very faot that he arrived at the same method ss us, surely, is its greatest the same met qualification, most people will have noticed that Beverley Surprise Minor is merely Durham whh 56 in lieu of 16 at the half lead. I will assume readers know the difference between Bueverley and Surfleet. Therefore, by putting the penutrimaiz place in lieu of the extreme place at the falt lead of the extensions of Durham. Beveiley is the result. By substituting 12 for the last 34 in Beverley we dien have Surfleet. All this, mind you, works eqen have Surfleet. All this, mind you, works Minor. In order to nuake my reasoning clear I give the Major of both. Sad to relate the Major of Beverley has been rung and named. This ranses the point of whether the Royal and Maximus should be Beverley or Fecring.

Unfortunately, on mentioning Bevenley and Surfleet. at most peculiar series of anomalies motikes itsiff felt. Alas. we have unlittingly strayed into the t.yme-Morecombelake quagmire. In correspondence with a certain lisrned member of the Methods Committec. a well known I cicever ringer was informed that Morecombelake Surprise Royal was an extension of Lyme Surprise Major: what did he intend to do about 1t? Somewhat wiscly he did nothing about it. Did it, I wonder, occur to that member of the Methods Committee that by applying the same process, hoth methods, together with the corresponding Minximus, are extensims of Beverley Surprise Minor. Ditto, Cmlville Surprise Royal. Whitwich Surprise Major and Surfleet Surprise Minor I give helow the Metlods Committee's line of reasoning.

The following suggestion I put forward with my tongue very much in my cheek. I would suggest, how'ever, that the Methods Committec does not dismi:s it as ridiculous until it has s.riously reconsidered its present policy. My suggestion is that they rename Cambridge Surprise Majo:- Royal and Maximus, Yorkshire Surprise Major. Royal and Maximus. Albanian Surprise Royal and Maximus and Southwark Surprise Maximus. Fantastic, you say. Not if you apply the same rules to Cambridge Minor as the Methods Committee did to

LUNDY ISLAND BELLS

An article expressing concern at the condition of the church on Lundy Island appeared i.1 'The Guard:in." The montar is of such poor quality that pieces of it are breaking ibay, making repai- work imperative.
The present Vicar, the Rev. R. C. Dixon, of Appledore, who conducts about two dozen services on Lundy Island during the year, says that although the church is not in a dangerous condition centain renovation work is absolutely necessary
A meating is to he held in the spring between Mr. Albion Harman, Lundy's present owner. the Vicar and Miss Eileen Heaven, a dewendint of the former owner, to discuss the gucytion of repairs.
A louglibornugh firm has made an offer of tsin for the eight hells, but Mr. Dixon states ahat a faculty must the obtaineal io remove them. . In much greater importance is the need to make an altemnt to preserve the church before if is too late:

Only one peal has heen rung on the bells of Lundy Island, Stedman Triples. which was called ty the Rev. F. R. Robinson.

As will the obvious, things are in danger of hecoming somewhat confused. If one attempts 10 remove the confusion by resorting to the Methods Commintee's Report on Extensions then the position becomes completely hope-
1 now give two further methods that were considered as candidates for conquest by our handhell hand. lerhaps the Methods Comriittee would care to pronounce on them now. sather than after they have been rung. giving their reasons, in an inteltigible form, for rejecting them, if thay do so. Should no reply be forthcoming we shall, of course assume that they are quite legitimate extensions.

RAVING RINGERS' REUNION

"The Ravers' held their winter reunion at Exning, Suffolk, the home of their "Tenor King, assembling at the Cemetery Lodge. Proceedings started with an abortive attempt fo: a quarter on the heavy five at Exning, and a visit to Soham for evening practice, frustrated hy nobody to meet 'The Ravers' and no key to the helfry door.
An early stant was made on Saturday: there was a shontage of cars, and getting six into a Mini Minor was quite an operation. After ringing on the eight at Stowmarket, the bells of six towers in Ipswich were tested. A fairly good course of Bristol was rung at Si Margaret's, where we were met by Mr. Charkes J Sedgley, who led us to St. Mary-le-Tower Ringing included Stedman and Gmandsire Cinques, and half a course of Cambridge Royal. The marvellous eight at Lavenham was the last tower of the day visited, and h.ere Bristol, Yorkshire and Double Norwich were rung. The evening was spent at Cemetery Lodge, where old and rew Ravers songs were sung to the carly hours.
Ringing for morning services on the Sunday took place at Swaffinam Priory, Newmarke! and lixning. It was while the "Tenor King was ringing the second at Exning in Reverse Canterbury Pleasure that he broke the slay This he will never live down amongsi us or :t Exning. Among other fine towers visited Wals Elveden, Whare Bristol was rung.
Finally came farewells and thanks, and these we especially extend to the "Tenor King and his two helpers, and the Cross family for allowing us the use of their house.

Tower Captain with 200 Years of Family Tradition

By ERIC PURSEHOUSE

BFRTIE HARRISON needs no introduction in Diss, for he is well known in several capacities. Solemn and trim in his verger's robes, dignified and serious in his frock coat and topper as a funeral director, stern as the complete "master ringer." when conducting Tretble Bob, or as the cheerful decorator perched high on his ladder.

But above all he is one of the sixth generation of a family that has provided St. Mary's the parish church of Diss, with sextons, clerks vergers, choirmen. ringers and pitch-pipers, and even the town with its town criers. over more than 200 years.
It began when Robert Parr (born 1743) attended the Diss Charity School at the age of 10 . There he learned the three $R$ 's, to repeat the Catechism. and the become familiar with church services. Qharity boys were compelled to attend regularly under supervision Litter. Rohert joined the choir in the gallery and, when only 18 , became town crier

His deep bass voice boomed through the Market Place to announce the accexsion of George III in 1760 . Later Robert announced his coronation and other national events of importance at the time, such as . The great victory gained by the capture of Pondicherry in 1761
Church duties in those days were interesting, varied and at times exciting. Of power ful build. Robert was one of four burly men paid is. each in 1783 'to keep the church quiet at the Bishop's Visitation.'

Alone he performed a similar task in 1786. It may seem strange that it was necessary "to maintain order ' in the church. but those were times of bitter friction between the religious sects, and services were frequently interrupted.

NINE CHILDREN
Years hefore Robert ład wandered through the leafy lanes of Palgrave with Susanna Grey succumbed to her charms and married her early in 1769. Before Christmas in that year a new young Robert had arrived-the first of nine children Susanna presented him with at regular intervals hefore she died in 1785
Rohert sought consolation in a second marriage. but dropped out of public life, and after all his service to the town he ended his days in poverty. The Book of Requests at the House shows that he was on poor relief from 1816 until he died in 1824. at the age of 81 .

Young Robert thelped his father in many ways. He had the family ear for music. and soon learned to churn the handle of the harrel organ. placed in the gallery in 1786. Fach of its barrels could play ten iunespailms or hymns-but it had to be "set" at the correct "snotch." then turned with great dexterity, especially for thow sustained passiges in the pirlms. Robert was dubbed The Dumb Organist - but he reccived two guineas a year nevertheless.
He married Hannah Howlett in 1794. and four years later hecame sexton, as well as 'organist." It was then that the pitch-pipe miniature organ pipe. was fitted with a whistle mouthpiece and an adjustable slider so that any note in the scale could be pitched to start a hymn.
As sexton. Robert tolled the bell and then had to descend from the belfry to "grind the organ." To avoid delay in starting the service Hannah began the first hymn with a note on the pipe. Later her daughter Hannah (born 1796) relieved her mother on pipe duties. cenen at an early age.
In the church on August 11th. 1816. Robert (as town crier) pronounced the completion of the enolosure of the greens and commons of Diss. He was in charge of the volunteer firemen at a conflagration at Blackthorn Farm on a bitterly cold day of January, 1823. when ponds were frozen and had to he sledge hammered to obtain water for the bucket line to feed the "ingeon."

Robert continued his whaelwright's business and sexton duties until old age forced him to retire in 1859. shortly before his death. His son-n-litw. Terih Nicholson, noted in his diary: Junc lst, 1860 . died my much-respected father-in-law in the 90th year of his age. Terah, also it whealwright, had married Hannah P:are in 1823. He became parish elerk and rematined so till 1879, when his datughter Emma, wrote: My dear father departed this life, August 20th. in his 82nd year of his age His end was peace.' Dignified and imposing. and al clever, cellist, his photograph still adorn. the vestry wall.
Emma Nicholson (1832) was one of Terah scest daughters and helped with the pitch pipe until in 1844 a pedal organ replaced the hurdy-gurdy. She married James Harrison in 1856 and their son, Williatn, was fostered in the church's tradition. At ten he was in the church choir, when the new three manual organ was erected in 1877 and was in the firsi procession of the surpliced choir, proudly singing. Who are these like stars appearing?
William. a skilled cabinet maker and a faithful churchnian, became sexton and verger at the age of 29 in 1896, devotedly filling those offiess with dignity and regularity until his retirement in 1943. Hz died in 1955, aged 89

William and Bertie, his sons. had been a great help in his latter years, both in church atfairs and in husiness: William, a chorister. boy and man. for over 50 years. now lives at Northampton.

Bertic has the family flair for cabinet making and is known wherever hells are rung. His lone suffering wife helps him most assiduously in his duties. and patiently waits Sunday by Sunday as he completes them. while his daughter, Kathleen. is also an accomplished ringer, when freedom from domestic duties allows her to indulge

What a family record of service this is Tutle did Rohert Parr and Susanma Grey realise what they ware setting in motion, when they lirst met nearly 200 years ago.
(With acknowledgments 10 The Dis [xpress.")

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

NORTHER , DISTRICT

The Northern District held its annual meetins a: Hitchin on January 5th, the service heing conducted by the lay reader (Mr. Newman), with Mr. P. Wells at the organ. After an ample tea. prepured and served by Mrs. A. R. Agg and her helpers, the business nieeting began.
In his report, the District secretary said that the past year had not been one of the hest: meetings had been poorly attended, with the result that the ringing hid not been up standard. However. membirship hid increased to 111, though that included five or six subscriptions from towers outside the Northern District. With deep regret the deatti was eecorded of Mr. W. H. Das. who was a member of the pre-war band. when Bristol was practised at Hischin.
Cottered hells were rededicated on September 22nd by the Bishop of Bedford, and teaching had begun. through the lack of public transport made it difficult to naintain regular tuition. Twenty-two peals had been rump.
four of them being for other Associations. Congratulations to Miss Margatet Roden and Mi. Terry Hatchett, on the: $\mathrm{fi}_{\mathrm{i}} \mathrm{t}$ peals. Mr. G. W. Critcliley hid condusted nine peals in 1962. and Mr. J. R. Castledine and Mr. J. S. Dear liad each rung 16 peals. Only 15 quarter peals were rung, but it was encouraging that quarters were hoing attempted at Knebworth, Sandon and Noiton.

Thanks were due to all who had helned to keep the District alive, to Mr. L. B. Scoot, for his dutics as Ringing Master. to ath clergy and tower secretaries. Maty i appeal to all members for greator efforts during tise next twelve months. Is it wrone to ask for support when your District oflicers are expected in be present on all occasions? Remember. thes is your Association: it is in your hands whether it lives or dies.
In "The Ringing World" and Press renort Miss J. Sanderson said. on: thing was pleasing. that others were contributing news of their local ringing which might pass unrecorded

In view of the ever-increasing difficultics of arranging meetings on a Saturday. a suggestin: had bee $n$ made that individual towers might like to issue an invitation for practice night ringing to all those who might like to come. This might entail a neighbouring tower fractising on the same night cancelliag its practice and going to the host lower, It would. however, only be an occasional happening. and he at the discretion of the host tower. Mr. H. S. Bonnett recalled that wheir this hatd been done many years igo some lewners had heen discouraged, hut is was expected that this should heln them instead. The husiness meeting ended. members and frinds returned to the church for some ringing.

WARMINSTER RINGERS' ANNUAL DINNER

The fourth annual dinner of the Minster ringers was held on January 12th at the Old Bel: Hotel. Warminster. This fine old hostelty provides one of the reminders of the great corn markets that braught prowiperity to Warminster in past times: and the fine Assembly Room, part of the outhuildings of the hotel. maly well have seen the storage of hundreds of sacks of grain two hundred years ago.

Despite the unpleasant weather, 36 sat down to the excellent meal provided, and among the guests were Mr. and Miss Perrett. from Heytesbury, the churchwardens, Mr. H. H. Barther and Mr. F. J. Byrne. and (a most pleasisint surprise) Mr. and Mrs. Pearson and their daughter Catherine, who had motored nearly eighty miles from Haslemere.

In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar the gathering was presided over by the tower captain. Mr. N. G. Knee, and after the meal the proceedings were pleasantly informal. Mr. Knee referred to two matters: the valuable help given by the ladies both in the tower and in social matters. and the work of the tune ringing handbell hand which had played carols at several functions before Christmas. The company then had the pleasure of hearine a recording of the handbell ringing made by Mr. Gifford, the proprietor of the Old Bell. and produced by him through his own sound system.

To music provided by Mr. L. Hawkins the younger folk were able to dance, while the elder ones were permitted to sit and 'dream dreams.' or chat. or avail themselves of whatever sweet refreshment appealed to them.

The arrangements for the dinner had been in the capable hands of Mr. P. Roynon, and siacere thanks were voiced to him for organising such a satisfying ment and so pleasant a social occasion.

An unusual combination took place at Nuthall, Nots, on January 12 th, when a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was the first peal by any member of the hand and the first peal on the bells. We doubt if ever before has each member of a band fling a peal of Surprise for their first peal and together. Congratulations to all concerned.
Leicester Diocesan Guild with 205 peals in 1962 (possibly more not reported) has the highest total for the Guild for over 10 years.

Bolton Surprise has now been rung for the I Ancashire Association at Farnworth-withKearsley.
A diamond wedding quanter was rung at Loughton, Essex, on Janusry 13th in honour of 60 years married life by Mr. and Mrs. A C. White. Mr. White has bcen a ringer at this tower for nearly 40 years. Congratulations.
St. Thomas' Socioty of Change Ringers, Esdington, has blossomed out as a peal ringing body, with a peal of Bob Minor at Shirdey. Fifteen-year-old James Insley conducts. The eldest member of the band was 16 .
The footnote to the peal of Cambridge Maximus rung at Reading on December 294 h (see page 25), is incorrect. It should have read 'First of Cambridge Maximus' for J. K Ward, and not first of Surprise Maximus.
Mr. Ron Chapman, of Blaby, Leics, scored three peals-at Countesthorpe, Whetstone and Blaby-in his first week of peal ringing. If he keeps it up at this rate some of our mathematical experts will be forecasting the year of his 1,000 th peal. He is congratulated by Mr. M. R. A. Kirk, with Miss Rosemary Tailby, of Evington, Leicester, who scored her first peal at Whetstone.
Congratulations to Stuart Armeson and Neil Donovan, both aged 16, of Rotherham. Neil celebrated his return to full ringing after an hospital operation by joining Stuart in their tirst peal on 12 bells at Sheffield Cathedral on Boxing Day. Stuart rang his first peal as conductor at Rotherham on Christmas Eve, and on New Year's Eve rang the $23 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$. tenor immaculately to 5,075 Grandsire Caters.

The band who rang the peal of Stedman Caters at Westminster on January 12 ch in honour of Reuhen Sanders 8911 hirthday was appropisately representative for the imnortance of the nccasion. It included the secretary of the Central Council and other members, al member of the Fditorial Commiltee of 'The Ringing World' and past or present officers of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, the London County Association ind. of course. the Middlesex County Assochation.'Grandsize Triples' is the new titie given to a peal rung for the Hertfordshire County Association, by "The Birkhamsted Gazette and Tring and District News," on December 29th.

Mr. Peter M. Wilkinson, conductor of a peal of Minor at Sandon, thanks Mesirs. John West and Herman J. Oliver for standing in at very shori notice.
Work is procceding on the tower at Nayland, near Colchester. The tower is being lowered as the top is not safe. The bells, a pleasant old six, have been taken out and will eventually be reloung in a lower chamber.
Mr. Pat Cannon will not forget his recent visit to a certain Hampshire five-bell tower irt a hurry. His 'ncther' regions came to earth with a resounding 'wallop' when negotiating a slippery slope in the churchyard.
At the conclusion of the peal of Tamworth Surprise Royal at St. Editha's Church. Tamworth, the visiting ringers were entertained By the Tamwonth company 10 a sumptuous buffet lea and a social evening. The gesture was niuch appreciated.
Before the peal attempt at Pakefield. Suffolk, on January 7th, the ringers heard with regret of the death on January 6th of Mr. Alberì Coleman, the Ringing Master of St. Margaret's Church, Lowestoft. It was the wish of all those present that if successful this peal should he a tribute to him who caught many young people to ring, including the ringers of the 5 th and 6 th bells in this ring. He also helped the conductor a great deal when he was learning, before the last war.

ALL TYPES OF WORK : INSPECTIONS WITHOUT CHARGE OR OBLIGATION

The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

FROM THE INSIDE

MORE than one correspondent has asked what does the cditorship of 'The Ringing World ' involve and how do you set about it? Normally on a Monday or Tuesday there are between 50 and 100 letters waiting to be opened, and other days not quite so many. As letters are opened they are date stamped, and if any money is included this is marked on the first sheet. The contents are divided into piles: notices, circulation matters, peals, quarter peals and reports and correspondence. The next procedure is to deal with all money. Notices are entered in a book and given a serial number (most useful in after checking). Similarly other money is entered in another book. By the end of the week about 60 or 70 postal orders and cheques would have been received, amounting to between $£ 10$ and $£ 20$ in small money. These accounts have to be balanced, money banked and counterfoils sent to Mr. Jeater who keeps all subscribers' and deposit accounts -a matter of about 2,600 separate accounts.

The piles on the Editor's desk are transferred to their respective files to be tackled at the appropriate time. Take, for example, the peal file. The contents are first divided into their appropriate sections, 12, 10, 8 and 5-6 bells and handbells, and then arranged in date order. Where quarter peals or other matters are included on the same sheet as a peal these are copied out and placed in their respective files. The peals are then read through to ascertain whether every essential item is included-date. church, method and tenor weight. Some of these deficiencies can be tackled with the aid of 'Dove's.' but where information is missing letters are written to the sender if name and address is on the copy, or if absent to the conductor or a member of the band whose address is available in either our list of subscribers or Guild annual report. Special attention is given to the footnotes. The first in the peal is always an asterisk *. Then follow $\dagger \ddagger \S$. Although this information appears at regular intervals in 'The Ringing World ' it is too complicated for most of our contributors to grasp Quarter peals are also methodically treated. Those in the file are divided into two sections, 'priority' and 'ready.' 'Priority' is the recognition given to those who send a contribution. The sections are arranged alphabetically. Those with a second one written on the back are copied out, and a number of others that do not conform to style are rewritten. Anyone who glances at a quarter peal page will note how they are written: town or village, county, date, clurch's tille if more than one with a ring of bells in the town, changes rung, method, name of ringer. in brackets anything special (conductor, first quarter or first in method), and then the number of the bell. Finally footnotes. We try not to refuse publication of any quarter peal, but when a tower saves up a number spread over two or three months we are not too happy, and if the band is the same greatly tempted to give just the method and one list of names.
Copy is prepared daily for setting by the linotype operators. The treatment depends upon the inflow during the week. If heavy then reports are reduced. Sometimes perfectly good copy is altered to prevent introductions all being uniform. We are not perturbed if the copy received is not ' copperplate' providing it is legible. Much is rewritten. Similar treatment at times is given to lettersoften they are curtailed when irrelevant subjects are introduced. Some letters are not published. Often we get duplication. For example, two readers sent in front page articles dealing with lady ringers. Only one could be used. At times we get duplicate reports. We always like to have articles in reserve. Some that appeared recently had been in files six months (these are undated features). What upsets the Editor is to receive a summer tour in midwinter, although it is a reminder of 'If winter comes
After the copy is set and the proof read, galley pulls come to the Editor for make-up. With the aid of scissors and paste a dummy copy is prepared. The size of headings is marked, and lines are cut out to make each column fit. A column might be six or more lines long or short. Often pages are prepared in advance. Invariably some reports are held over.
Apart from the technicalities of the journal and its production, the office of 'The Ringing World' acts as a kind of clearing house to the Exercise. Most days there is an inquiry as to the address of a prominent ringer, and from our files of postal subscribers we are able to give the answer. On an average, eight to ten letters a day are written. There is also a considerable amount of time occupied in searching for back numbers and also with notices and advertisements.
During the year the Editor undertakes a number of reporting engagements for the journal. The largest of these is the Central Council meeting, which extends from 12 to 14 pages. Before leaving for the meeting the next issuc has to be prepared. as it is printed on the day the Council meet. Last year the report was completed in two issuesten pages being in the first as well as a front page article. This has to be done in addition to normal work. Although we get letters referring to the Central Council meeting as a 'beano' and 'jolly old pals' reunion,' out of the last 18 meetings only on two occasions has the Editor had time to attend any of the excursions provided. The journal must be put before personal pleasure.

1,000th Peal at Bell Foundry Campanile

A peal that will go down in the history of change rigning was that of Plain Bob Maior rung at the Bell Plain Bob Major rung at the Bell Foundry Campanile, Loughborough, on January 21st. It was the 1,000 hh peal on the bells.
No other tower can record its peals having reached four figures, and a pleasing feature about the peal was that the band who rang it was drawn entirel. from ringers employed at the Beil Foundry.
Mr. Paul L. Taylor, through whose generosity these bells have been available to ringers froms all over the country, was a member of the band.
We congratulate all concerned.

THE PEAL BEFORE THE FLIGHT

Squadron Leader G. W. Massey, vice-captain of the ringers of St. John's, Frome, had a very unpleasant experience on January 19th after purticipating in an unsuccessful peal altempt at Frome to commemorate the tercuntenary of the casting of the tenor
A peal of Grandsire Triples was being attempted. but a shift course occurred and the bells were halted. after $2 f$ hours' ringing. In:mediately Sydn.-Ldr. Massey set out for Whilterington, Northants, as he was due on the Sunday to fly to Singapore for a month's cour of duty
He was driving a Traveller and at Melkslam had a breakdown. He phoned Mrs. Massey who came over in their Mini-Minor and in this cir the Squadron Leader set out for Whitterington, the journey taking 18 hours to complete! Such are the wintry conditions of England today.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION  North-Eastern District

The annual meeting of the N.E. District was held at St. Peter's. Colchester. on January 1 Iih. and was attended by 60 ringers and friends from Essex and Suffolk. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Parsons. water which tea was served in the Church Hall.

After the secretary's report had been adopted a: the business meeting, officers elected were: Mr. F. B. Lufkin. District Master: Mr. F. H. Erith. District secretary: Mr. B. W. Fairhead and Mr.A. G. Semken, committee representitives. The retiring Master. Mr. H. J. Millatt. and secretary: Mr. J. H. Gould. were thanked fo- their services during the past 10 years. and they promised their assistance to the new Master and secretary. Eight new ringing members and one honorary member were elected.
Mr. Erith reported that there was a possibility that the unringable five at Layer-de-la-Haye might be completely restored. The dedication of the new six at All Saints: Shrub End. Calchester, on November 24th. 1962. by Rev. H. R. Darby. Vicar of Waltham Abbey, was also mentioned.

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS-No. 4

DAVid P. Hilling, The Oxford Diocesan Guild.
Among the many youngsters taught to ring at the Church of St. Mary, Slough. by one of 'The Ringing World's' most enthusiastic correspondents, William Birmingham. is David $P$. Hilling.

David. the eldest of a family of four brothers, was born at Slough on March 25th. 1946. His education started at a local primary sctiool. On reaching the age of eleven he geined an entry to the Slough Grammar School, where he soon discovered that his maths master was that well known ringer and conductor, Frank Blagrove. 1 At the age of 16. he left the Grammar School and connenced work as a junior clerk at a local firm of solicitors.

David has been a keen church worker for a number of years. serving as a choirboy from the age of cight to 14 . holding the position of senior boy for some 18 months. In his spare time he enjoyen listening to classical music.
At the beginning of 1960 he became intwested in bellringing and joined the happy throng of youtigsters at St. Mary's. Slough. under the leadership of William Birmingham whom David describes as a very good and patient iutor. Incidentally it was through his perseverance and patience that Bill stucceeded in getting St. Mary's bells augmented from eight to ten a few years ago
David, who is now a regular Sunday service ringer at Slough made rapid progress with his ringing, and 11 months after being taught to handle, rang his first peal, which was the ticble to Stedman Triples at Stoke Poges on November 30th, 1960. conducted by Arthur Barker. Eight months later, at the same trwer, this brilliant young ringer succeeded in ringing his first peal as conductor, when he ring the seventh to Siedman Triples on July 261 h . 1961 . His totisl of 42 peals includes six is conductor. being Stedman and Grandsire Triples. Plain Boh Major, Camhridge Surprise Major and seven Minor methods.

An amusing incident was witnesed hy David and others altending a meeting at Worcester when an unknown visitor took the 10 th to ling rounds. At the word $\mathrm{Go}^{\text {o the stranger }}$ gave a terrific heave on the sally and was amazed to see it disappear through the ceiling Hu released his hold of the tail end and jumped off the box. A nearby ringer grabbed the flying rope and pulled up the hell. The comment made by the would-be ringer was, 'Well, jt went up.
It is not surprising to learn that through his keenness for ringing David has an ambition It is to take pairt in the non-conducted extent of IMajor. It js hoped that the success of this youngster will inspire others to do well in the Exercise.

HANDBELLS WITH A HISTORY

From 'Ringing Towers.' and this jssue is 20 pages crammed full of sews. we learn that at Armidale there is a group of 12 handbell singers who meet under the direction of Mr Peter Richards and ring call changes and tuncs. (There are no tower bells at Armidalc.)

The handbells once belonged to Samuel E Joyce. who was Master of the College Youths in 1887. On his death they passed to his daughter, a Mrs, King. who is a house mother at Armidale School. She advertised them in - The Anglican, and upon Christchurch St Laurence's responding she gave them to that church. and Mr. Richards has them on permat nent loun.

In a journal of this type the Editor is dependent on a host of correspondents, who regularly send news itenis, letters and feasture articles. These exist all over the world where bells are rung in the Englist style. On the editorial side. with this array of correspondents the family spirit is very real. The same personal friendliness exists on the production side and when there is a slip up they feel it as keenly as the Editor. And what an assortment of crafts there is! Linotype operators, composilors, reader, rotary press operator and his as sistant, folders, cutter, gitls wrapping. warehouseman and men to convey the printed copies to post office or railway station. Week in and week out it goes on. thus uniting ringers in one big family of servants of His Church.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GULLD  Chertsey District

More than 50 ringers braved arctic conditions to attend the annual meeting of the Chertsey District. held at Chobham on Janwary 12th. Ringing up to Cambridge before service time was dinected by the retiring Ringing Master. Mr. R. Collins.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. O. R. Acworth), who gave a challenging address. He informed the ringers they would be warmer in the hall at tea than in church. as a new heating system had just been installed by one of his rimgers Mr. Ron Collins. Tea was served by the local ringers and wives.
In his final report as Ringing Master, Mr Collins pointed out that the District was in good shape: membership running at around 130 members, compared with 55 when he took over 8 years ago. He stressed that this was entirely due to team work, and named some of the loyal supporters of the District. Thesc would never be named in the "personality column. but they were all solid reliable workers for the church. In particulat he thanked his assistant. Mr. John King, and secnetary. Miss Elizabeth Loveland.

The new officers, who were unopposed, are Master, Mr. F. E. Mawthorne: Assistant Master. Mr. D. Leach : secretary. Mr. Rupert Caporn. Messrs. J. F. M. Maybrey and C. D. J. Webb were nominated for the Central Council.
Ringing up to Double Norwich was under the dreation of the new Ringing Master idl 8.45 cm .

LEADING PEAL RINGERS OF 1962

MR. BERNARD F. L. GROVES, of Maidstone, heads the list of peal ringers for 1962 with 108 to his credit. This is the scoond time he has passed the century mark, as las: year he was placed third with 104 peals. In 1960 he scored 68.
Although only 19 years of age (nearly 20) he has already rung 474 peals, of which he conducted 104. He started ringing a week before he was eleven. at Marple. Cheshire (where Mr. R. B. Smith comes from). and wits laught by Mr. Jack Pryor, now of Cardiff. He graduated into peal ringing through Brian Woodruffe and John Worth's band. He acknowledges his great indebtedness in amassing this total to the friends who have helped him in Kent during the last two years.
Mr. Robert B. Smith, who, in 1961 rung 137. has limited his activities to 66 peals. The second place this year is occupied by Mr. Charles A. S. Webb. of St. John's. Hanley. uith 77. Another member from this tower. Mr. Geoffrey Davies, rang 71 peals.
Mr. John R. Mayne. of Harrow. retains hit position as leading conductor with 56 out of his total of 64 pealls rung. Last year he conducted 61 and the yeur before 58. But Mr. Groves was only two behind him this year.
In the field of handbell ringing Mr. R. B Smith leads with 22 peals. The Halifax band aic prominent with Messis. J. H. Fielden 18. John F. Bryant and Gcoffrey F. Bryant 17 cach.
Ladies do not figure very high in our list. Mrs. Mary C. Poyner, with 37 peals according to our records, has the pride of place. Second is Mrs. E. Marion Key with 36 . We have a feeling that one or more of our bashful ladies have rung more

UNIVERSITIES ASSOCIATION'S 20th ANNUAL MEETING

Although ninetenths of the roads in Oxfordshire were blocked by snow the previous Thursday, a slight thaw enabled 52 members of the Universitics Association to assemble in Oxford for the 20th annual dinner and nreeting on January 5th.
Those arriving early were given a choice of bells at Wolvercote (6). Si. Giles' (8). Si. Aldate's (6) and St. Ebbe's (8) in the morning. During the afternoon a peal of Superlative was rung at Alt Saints', conducted by Hilary Muirhead, and the non-pealers were able to ring at Christ Church (12). St. Mary Virgin (6), Magdalen College (10) and Si. Mary Magdaler (6)

Oxford towers are probably noteworthy in as much as most of them require an experienced guide if the entrance is to be found without a considerable amount of trial and error. The bells in general possess a remarkble degree of individuatity both in tone and langing, and this may account for the fact hat the standard of striking was not of a very high standard: However, all tastes were catered for. and ringing ranged from sounds (1) Cambridge Royal and Stedman Cinques.

The Rev. P. M. Martin conducted the service in the University Church of St. Mary. and Canon Kemp. the chaplain of Exeter College, spoke, in his address. of the challenge of at New Year and of the determination and perseverance required of Christians.

A NEW SECRETARY

The service was followed by the A.G.M. held at Exeter College, with the president of the Universities Association, Mr. Paul L. Taylor, in the chair. The following officers were re-elected: President, Mr. P. L. Taylor: vice-president, Mr. W. F. Moreton; Central Council representative, Miss M. R. Cross: auditor, Mr. R. B. Speed. Mr. Dermot Roaf had expressed a desire to vacate the office o: secretary, and Mr..D. C. Exell was elected in his place. A vote of thanks was expressed to the retiring secretary for all his work for U.A. during his four-year term of office. The meeting confirmed the outline of the 1963 tour at Portsmouth, and a 1964 tour in Lancashire was discussed. A proposition to hold the rext A.G.M. in London the Houses of Parlisment was seriously considered! but was finally left to the discretion of the new secretary
Mr. P. Walker, the secretary of the Oxford Socioty, and Canon Kemp were the guests at the very substantial dinner, served in Exeter College after the meeting. The president thanked them for their part in meeting ringers and helping with the arrangements during the day

The toast of "The Universities Association' was proposed by Mr. Ranald Clouston, whose detailed records reminded him of the time when the unnual ainner cost $3 / 9 \mathrm{~d}$., and, when in the days before - Dove's Guide, the early U.A. tours only determined in advance a series of routes 10 be followed. Any church discovered en route was then considered fail prey for visining students even though requests to ring had not usually been made before arrival.
In his reply, Mr. D. J. Roaf recalled that early University ringing activities went back at leas! as far as 1880 in Oxford, and he hoped that anyone with interesting records of the early days would preserve them and let other ringers know of them.
Following the dinner members departed in their many different directions with an anxious cye still on the weather. The meeting had teen very enjoyable, and for its success our thanks go to the many local ringers. clergy end colleme authorities who mude it posisible

Fulfilled after 25 Years

Dear Sir,-I started peal ringing and visiting ather towers in 1938, and in October of theat year I first visited Horsmonden. I immediately took a particular liking to these lovely hells and expressed a desire to ring a peal there.
Litule did I think that I should have to wait nearly 25 years to accomplish this, which I did on Sunday, January 20 tn .
It always seems odd to me how one travels fai and wide over the country, ringing, yet it lakes years to accomplish some minor feat iil one's own immediate area. - Yours faith ili ones own immediate area. - Yours taill

Christmas Bells in N.S.W.

Dear Sir,-Whilst spending Christmas this year with Peter Richards (K.C.A.), up in the north of New South Wales, we happened to the listening one evening to ane of the country radio stations. The whole programme had heen accompanied, by the usual generous amount of 'static, when quite suddenly the crackling stopped and 10 and behold we heard.... "This is "so and so" speaking to you from St. Paul's Cathedral. London.' Imagine the rush to turn the wireless up to ful! volume! Following some fine uninterrupted Stedman Cinques, we were treated to interviews with some of the St. Paul's ringers. Ou: guess was that the voices were either John or Michael Chilcott and what sounded like Bill cook and Jaax wayesh
At the time we were nearly four hundred miles from the nearest octave tower so one can imagine the tonic it was! All most enjoyable and thank you, London.-Yours, etc.,

Bells and Cricket

Dear Sir-I am a ringer at St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, and I just wish to pass on something that may be of interest to readers of 'The Ringing World.' I realise that it is now too late to give advance notice of the following. but if you see fit you may like to give a report of it.
Next Saturday (January 26th) we have been asked to ring for a wedding at the Cathedral which starts at 10.30 a.m. (S.A. time). The wedding includes a Nuptial Mass. and we should therefore start ringing at about 11.15-11.30 a.m.

During this time the fourth test between England and Australia will be in progress at the Adelaide Oval. just across the road and in full view of the cathedral. The bells therefore will be (and indeed in the past have heen) clearly heard over the radio during the cricket commentary. If, therefore. the cricke is broadcast at that hour in England (1.45-2 a m. G.M.T.) and there are England ( $1.45-2 \mathrm{a} \mathrm{m}. \mathrm{G.M.T)}$.and there are any ringers energetic enough to stav up till that hour. they will hear the bells of St. Peter's Cathedral. Adelaide, intermingled with the cricket.
With reference to recent correspondence in 'R.W.' the B.B.C mav indeed be forced to broadcast hetts that they don't even know about!
We take great pride in our bells-the second heaviest eight (lenor 41 cwt .)-as they are a heautifully sounding octave and 'go' perfectly. It would certainly give us a great thrill if ringers on 'the other side were to hear them.-Yours sincerely.

Burnside. South Australia.

Second Ladies' Guild President

Dear Sir,-I have just had passed on to me a copy of 'The Ringing World,' November 9 tin, 1962 , containing a very intcresting report of the jubilee of the Ladies' Guild, in which I read I passed away during my term as president about 1920.
1 can assure you this is not correct as I ain very much alive and well, in fact I was in London during the previous week to the mecting and had I known about it I should certainly have attended. Perhaps you will be good enough to correat this error. Thanking you.-Yours sincerely,

Hedd-Fan, Rhydyfelin, Aberystwyth.
Note. We are very pleased to receive Miss Piggot's letter. She was the second president of the Guild. The error is regretted.-Ed.

Perishin' Ringers

Dear Sir,-The present cold weather spall ha, not deterred the handbell ringers of Sc. John's College, York, from ringing on a borrowed set of eight handbells prior to college morning assemblies. The handbells are rung four times a week, from 8.30 a.m., for about five to ten minutes in the open. The ringers are wondering if ringing in a temperature of $17^{\circ} \mathrm{F}$. (Wednesday, January 23rd) is a record for the coldest temperature in witich handbells have been rung. Has anybody rung io. at five minutes at a colder temperature?
-Yours. etc.,
MIOHAEL KING. Yours.

Proposed David Peal

Dear Sir,-In the early thirties, an effort was made to raise a band of Davids for a peal on St. David's Day, but the name was not so popular as now, and we could only muster, a dozen or so, including non-pealers.
The Archdeacon of Bangor has kindly given permission for a peal attempt at St. David's on Friday. March ist, to be concluded any on Friday. March. 1st, to be concluded any other towers could be arranged over the week-end.
As St. David's Day will not fall on a Saturday until 1969, the above appears to be the next best thing. Anyone interested please go: in touch with Whours faithfully,

Spliced Minor

Dear Sir-In 'The Ringing World' for November 16th, 1962 (page 767) an arnangement of Mr. Harold Chant's 25 method 720 . introducing 'single change" Alliance methods, was published. It has been pointed out to me that the place notations given there for the four Special Alliance methods are incorrect. and should read:

Newington Special Alliance
-14-12-1236-12-5 A.h. 6
Saltwood Special Alliance: 14 -12-1236-12-5 1.h. 2
Burmarsh Special Alliance
Witcombe Special Alliance
I'd be grateful if you would publish this correotion. together with my apologies to anyone who has tried to ring the 720 . only to find it had a singular reluotance to run round at the end-Yours sincerely.

Cheltenham. CYRIL A. WRATTEN.

A Peal of Value

Dear Sir,-Peals are very precious on some hells. Here is the story how Arnesby, Leics ing defied our Friday night band until the fourth attempt.
Our first attempt was last August Tuesday We decided to meet at Leicester and catch a bus to Arnesby. To our dismay there was only one bus that day. Our next attempt was on November 9th, but this attempt was lost after 18 extents. Still set on scoring our peal, we went again on December 21st. After about an hour's ringing someone came knocking at the belfry door shouting. "There's a car on lire.' We tock no notice, but then we could smell it. We stood our bells and ran outside and found my car on fire!
The fourth attempt with my car back on the road again took place on January 18 th W: reached Arnesby about 6.30 and found that there was some heat on in the church but when we loaked at the thermometer it was $30^{\circ} \mathrm{F}$. So off we started at $6.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and the peal was successfuly brought round at 9 p.m., which was in 42 Doubles methods The band consisted of Rupert A. Clarke Michael W. Brown 2, David F. Moore (cond. 50th peal) 3, Brian C. Law 4, Maunice R. A Kirk 5.-Yours sincerely

Barkby, Leics. MAURICE R. A. KIRK.

Durham Minor

Dear Sir,-In answer to Mr. Blagrove's letter, as pninted in 'The Ringing World point Min out that as far as I can see Durham winor is just the same method as York Minor with a variation at the half-lead-just a matter of two changes. Hawing extended matter of two changes. Hawing extended York Minor to Major the same was done to Durham with the necessary alteration at the half lead, and so 'ad infinitum.' I am sure that the whole Exercise, if they compare these figures, will agree that the extensions we have rung are true. It would probably be better to say that commonsense has prevailed, as opposed to the rules and regulations of the Methods Committee, which but a very few of the Exercise can understand.
It would be interesting to note that Mr Blagrove wrote to me after the peal of Durhim Surprise Royal was published in "The Ringing World 'giving me exactly the figures of the method that we had rung. Surely Mr Blagrove must have at the back of his own mind the feeling that there is something in what we say. But still it may be, a way of 'pulling the wool over the eyes' of the ordinary ringer like myself, and further dictation by the minority to the majority.
Perhaps we could hear the comments of other ringers on this question. and I hope they will not be frightened off by the word 'extension.' Let us hear your views which may rot be involved, but just commonsensc -Yours faithfully. P. J. STANIFORTH.
Leicester.

Handbell Recordings

Dear Sir-I noted with interest the article about the publication of "The Art of Handheli Ringing' by Nancy Poore Tufts. Perhaps our own English teams of handbell ringers will he stimulated by reading this book. and make themselves heard.
Mayte that our handbell ringers will move with the times, and make tape recordings of their ringing. so that these could be loaned out (for a reasonable fee!) and used to help erich other. These recordings could be a valuable asset for ringers, and church social functions.
There does rat seem to be enough cohesion hetween the various hands up and down the country. and we have very little knowledge of what is being done and what can be done. Perhaps 1963 will bring a revival in this rleasant art.-Yours. etc., ${ }^{\text {Pe. JATCH }}$.

SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

THE appalling Arctic conditions of January 1. 19th did not damp the enthusiasm of the Cumberlands who attended the annual meeting. A blizzard was raging as the members mide their way from St. James', Clerkenwell to St. Martin-in-the-Fields during the afternoon. Affer tea, in the warmth of St. Martin' Crypt, 40 members heard the Master (Mr Denis Beresford) welcome them to the meeting, thanking them for their support and hoping their homeward journey would not be too difficult.
In his report, the secretary (Mr. F. J Matchews) said that the Society had lost three members through death during the past year: Mr. Jack W. Cornford, who was made a member in 1919 and was a member of the Martin's bund for many years, a past secretary of the Society and a regular peal rirger; he had, however, moved to Essex soon after the war and had done livtle ringing since; Mr. Alfred R. Glasscock (82), was a nuember of the Southgate band for 50 years and a member of the Society for over 60 years; Mr. W. Bowden, of Southgate and Edmonton, who joined the Society in 1913.

During the year 25 new nembers had been elected, an increase of 14 on the previous year, but the secretary had to record that two members had sought to resign from the Society.
A very high standard of striking and method ringing had been maintained at the practices Holloway, Holborn, St. Giles-in-the-Fields and Cripplegate during the year. In Novemher, the structural repairs being carried out a St. Martin's were completed and the band returned to sing there. Searting last November, the first Wednesday in the month is devoled to a practice at St. Martin's.
On two Sundays in the month, St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. Martin's bells are manned, and St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, are rung on the fourth Sunday in the month.
During the year cight peals were rung against seven for the previous 12 months They were: New Gloucester Surprise Major at Putney on March 3rd; Wembley Surprise Major at Bishopsgate on April 30th ; Stedman Citers by our friends from Lincoln and Newark at Newark on April 23rd; Yorkshire Surprise Major ai Westerham on May 26th: Stedman Cinques at Yarmouth on November 10th: Rutland Surprise Major at Edenbridge O: November 3rd; London Surprise Major at Hackney on November 24th; six Spliced Surprise Major at Great Dunmow on December 8th. The peal of New Gloucester Surprise Major was the first for the Society.
Financially, the Society was in a sounder position. The increase in steepleage. fixed at the last annual meeting, was responsible for halting the continual drain on the Society's iricome and the Society could look forward to the hope of a crisis-free future.
The secretary reported ihat he 'rad been in touch with various authorities regarding the history of the Society. It was hoded that many more facts would come to diph regarding the origins of the Society and its life since with a view to rewriting the history Enthusiasm for the quarterly meetings had heen very gratifying. Meetings had been held at Poplar and Hackney; a particularly fine day at Sevenoaks; and at St. George's, in the Borough, and St. Giles', Camberwell. The joint meeting with the Middlesex County Associxtion in December was the usual success
The election of the officers resulted as follows: Master, Mr. D. Beresford; honorary secretary, Mr. F. J. Matthews senior steward, Mr. P. Beresford; junior steward, Dr. D. E. Sibson; treasurer, Mr. F. E. Hawthome; rustees, Messrs. 1. H. Francis and P. Bere;ford.

Quarterly meetings for the coming year would be held on Apill 20ih, July 13 th. Seplember 14th, and the Middlesex Association joint meeting would be held on December 7th. Venues to be decided.
A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. E. A. Barnett to the incumbents of St. Saviour's, Southwark. St. Jame', Clerkenwell, and St. Martin-in-the-Fields for permission to ring on the bells, and also to the Vicar of $s t$ Martin's for use of the Fellowship Hall for the meeting.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD Central Branch

Despite the bitterly cold day a good numbur of ringers and friends arrived for the annual meeting of the Central Branch meeting at Lincoln on January 12th, to ring at the two six-bell towers-St. Peter-at-Gowts and St. Botolph's.
The service was held at St. Peter-at-Gowts, the Vicar extending a welcome and thanking ringers for their services to the church. Teit was provided by local ladies of St. Peter's, all being very thankful for the warmth and a good tea.

Mr. J. Freeman, the chairman, welcomed visitors from Guildford, Reading, the North Lindsey Branch and the Southwell Guild.
Officers for 1963 elected included: Canon M. H. R. Synge, president; Mr. J. L. Millhouse, Ringing Master; Mr. S. A. Chambers, secretary.

Meetings for 1963 were agreed upon, the fighlight being that in July, when the Branch hepe to stage a ringing festival around the Sleaford area, to include both ringing and social activithes. Other Branches will be in vited.
Thanks were expressed to all concerned for the meeting, and members returned to St. Botolph's for further ringing.

HOLY TRINITY, GUILDFORD

Mr. David Tubbs has been elected conductor of Holy Trinity and St. Mary's Society, Guildicrd, following the resignation of Mr. H. A. May. who foind regular attendance difficult owing to his duties with the Surrey Constabulary. IMr. May, however, agreed co aot as sub-conductor. Mr. S. G. Ponting continues as honorary secretary and treasurer, and Messrs. C. A. Hopper and A. B. Lee are the steeple-keepers
The elections and annual meeting followed the Society's supper, held at the Corona Cafe. Guildford, on January 21st. Guests included the Reotor (the Rev. Michael Hocking) and Mrs. Hocking, Supt. Ranald J. A. Hagley (captain of Godalming) and Mrs. Hagley, Mr. A. White (verger of Guildford Cathedral) and Mrs. White, and Mr. Peter Sherwood (Ash).

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

Despite the wintry conditions over 60 ringers and friends attended the Society's winter meeting held at Tettenhall, on January 19th. St. Michael's Church gave us Jiterally at very warm welcome, as bath the ringing room and the nearby schoobroom were noticably well heated.

The excellent Gillett and Johnston ring of eight (tenor 15 cwt.) was put to good use during the afternoon and evening, from the easier methods up to Bristol Surprise. In his address at the service, the Vicar welcomed the Sociely and gave an interesting description of the development of bell uses through the ages. He warned ringers as church workers not to over-emphasise their own vocation, but to remember that they should all be working as a unit.

Mr. A. G. Newman and his willing band of lady ringers did us proud with an excellent tea. Afterwards the honorary secretary asked nikmbers to watch 'The Ringing World' for details of the mext meeting, which would be held on March 23 rd next. The Society has decided to organise a tower striking competition which will take place on May 4 ch at a six-bell tower in the Archdeaconry, to be announced. Each tower interested is asked to submit six regular members of their own bind only; hey may ring any method they wish (Doubles or Minor). of approximately 12 C changes, or call changes of at least ten different rows. Unattached members may form a band of their own. All bands are asked to contact the secretary if they wish to enter. Please state whether 'open' handstroke leads are to be used or not.

The honorary secretary went on to announce that the annual dinner will take place at Cannock on November 9th. He also appealed in all members to forward all money payable to the Society only to the treasurer, Mr. J. H. Allen, 8, Oriel Drive, Fordhouses, near Wolver: hampton. (Peal conductors and "Ringers" Diary' holders please note.) The Society is proposing to advertise in its next annual report and clients are asked to contact the secretary
The following new members were elected: Miss B. G. Schofield (Bradford Cathedral), $R$ Worrall (Macclesfiold) life members; J Moore and Mrs. E. Moore (Willenhall), P. R. Johnson (Codsall). Miss G. Wehb (Lichfield Cuthedral). Rev. G. Hodgson (Tettenhall), J. Wilkinson and Miss E. Halldron (Bilston).

This very successful meeting concluded with the Society's thanks being tendered to the Vicar of Tettenhath, to their Ringing Master and to Mi. Newman and all who had made us so welcome.
C. M.S.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH

A reasonable attendance, that defied the show, was present at the annual meeting of the Andover District at Whitchurch on January 13 th, and the eight bells were rung throughout the afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by the District chairman (Mr. A. W. Alliston). With the exception of the treasurer (Miss Cherry White), all the Distriot officers were re-eleoted She did not stand for re-election and Mrs. Tarrant succeeds her.
Next quarterly meeting: March 23rd. Abbot's Ann, Goodworth Clatford and Andover.
Further ringing, under the direction of Mr. R Croak, followed.

TERCENTENARY OF THE GREAT BELL OF FROME

By EUNICE D. OVEREND
In the ohurchwardens' accounts af St . John's, Frome, is an entry for January 20th, 1662, for 8s. 8d. spent at Warminster at the casting of the great bell.
The same bell, weighing some $30 \mathrm{cwt}$. can still be heard ringing for service and on practice nights, and sounding the hours.
Although the date on the bell is 1662 , untid 1752 the New Year began on March 25ih, so an anniversary in January, 1963, is not, as seems at first sight, a year late.

10d. FOR NAMING THE BELL
Running round the tenor is the inscription: William Whitchurch Andrew Rogers, C.W.D., 1662, I (bell) L.' and a shield with the Royal Arms is on the waist.
William Whitchurch kept the Anchor Inn, urrich disappeared when Bath Street was built. A Mr. Chapman was paid 1s.,, for the hiar of a hors to see the bell maide and 10d, was spent at the Naming of the great bell the day after it was cast. Farmer Coles had $\pm 15 \mathrm{~s}$. for carrying it and 1 s . was spent on bread on February 3rd, the diay the bell was hung; the next day John Cabell had 2 s . 6 d . for ringing it
At that time there were five bells in Frome, all by John Lott, of Warminster, whose mark was a bell between his initials. Two of these have since been recast. a sixth was added in 1684 and a pair of trebles given by William Cockey, churchwarden and bellfounder, of Frome, in 1724. The treble of 1684. given by John A'Court. of Rodden, was recast later by Wm. Bilbie. If it had survived it might have solved the mystery of the founder, whose initials were LC, only eight of whose bells remain.

By this time John Lott was dead thoug') his son kept the Warmitisicer foundry going for another six years.

THE COCKEYS

William Cockey did not begin his bellfounding till 1706. but his father. Lewis Cockey. living in Frome, was probably the founder of the six LC bells with the mark of a bell hetween the initials.
Richard Cockey, brazier, lived in Warminster in John Lott's day. and it was, perhaps, his son who arrived in Frome to set up in opposition on John Lott's death, copying his style of lettering and founder's mark, just as John Lott had copied the Perdues and William Cockey copied his father. If Frome had a foundry by 1634 the new bell would surely have been made there
The LC bell at Farleigh Hungerford is of a completely different method of construction and style of lettering. This may be by the Lewis Cockey, bellfounder. of Bristol, who appears in the Yatton churchwardens' accounts and who has hitherto been credited with all the LC bells.

Future historians will not be able to deduce from present churchwardens' accounts that the hells were rung in celehration since ringers are no longer paid, hut all successful peals are recorded and this, if luck is with the ringers. will be the 15th to go in the belfry peal book.

PEAL LOST

In honour of the tercentenary a peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted on January 19th. Unfortunately after $2 t$ hours' ringing a trip caused two bells to shift and the peal was lost. Another attempt will be made after Eister.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY

The second annual dinner of the S.U.G.C.R. was held at St. Michael's Church Hall, Bassett, on December 1st. A big programme of ringing preceded the meal: bells being a a naitable at Owstebury, Twyford, Bishopstoke St.
Mary's, St. Michael's, Bitterne Park and North Stoneham. A variefy of methods was attempted with varying degrees of success. A ringers' Evensong was arranged at North Stoneham, with some of the hosts acting as choir. The address was given by the Rev. John Pibworth, priest-in-charge.
After the most important business of the dinner (the eating thereof) had been successfully conoluded, the toast of 'The Church' was proposed by Pat Wooster, a life member of the Guild, now studying for ordination. He spoke of the need for co-operation between ringers and the rest of the congregation. as well as between ringers and clergy.
The Rev. John Pibworth, a good friend of the Guild. replied, with the requisite wit and good ఉumour

Alan Harrison, in proposing "The Visitars," gave a special welcome to many friends from Reading. John Bartlett. of Reading. replied, and also proposed 'The Guild. His speech included the traditional parrot joke!
By way of replying. the Master. Hugh Evans. gave a repors of the Guild's progress (?) during the past year, making mention of a performance, which many would rather forget.
The evening concluded with music and dancing. and also performances upon handbells. the pedal cycle and the well-tuned motor-bike

OBITUARY

MR. J. J. BATCHELOR

A sad loss to the Kent County Assosiation occurred on January 15th, when Mr. Joseph John Batchelor. of Little Chart. one of the representatives of the Ashford District, collapsed and died suddenly in Ashford. at the age of 47 .
Mr. Batchelor, known to his many friends as 'Joe.' learned to ring as a boy under the tuition of Mr. Bill Oldficld at the old church which was destroyed by a fiying bomb in 1944. He played a neading part in the build. ing of the village's new church, dedicated in 1956. where he was churchwarden and captain of the ringers. The present delightful little ring of six is almost entirely due to his efforts in salvaging the old bells, and insisting on them being recast and rehung.
In addition to training his own ringers he found time to help learners at the neighbouring towers of Smarden and Charing. As a District representative, one of his last services to the Association was to give the benefit of his wisdom and financial knowledge, as a member of the Finance Sub-Committee on Rules and Finance.
Mr. Batchelor was born and lived all his life in the Mill House. He took an active part in all the activities of the village. Batchelor's Paper Mill, which was houghi by Joe's grandfather in 1875. now employs 75 men, but has heen the centre of the working dife of Litlle Chart for over two centuriss.
Over 200 people attended the funeral service on the Friday. conducted by the Rev D. P. Lury. Apart from representatives of the Newspaper Manufacturers, British Railways the South Kent Lodge of Freemasons and ritiny other organisations, ringers were represented by Mr. J. R. Cooper (District Ringing Master). Mr. Alan Berry (District representafive). Mr. D. A. Chapman (Canterbury District Ringing Master) and Mr. A. Waddington (Maidstone District representative).
Mr. Batchelor is survived by his wife and two sons. all of whom he taught to ring, and imbued with his own love of the art. He rang only a small number of peals, but was most proud of the one he rang three years ago, when h's elder :on, Pitul. then aged 13. rang his first peal.
His bluff genial personality, his generous belp and kindly wisdom will be sadly missed in Little Chart. in the Ashford District and in the councils of the Kent County Association

MR. R. H. CAVE

Mr. Reginald Harold Cave. of Banbury, passed away on New Year's Eve, aged 17 vears. He came to Banbury in 1914 and served throughout his working life with the Great Western Railwav Company, and subsequently twith British Railways (Western Region). retiring in 1948.
He was a regular ringer at St . Mary s . Banbury, until about two years ago when illhealth prevented further ringing. For some years prior to his death he was honorary tower sterctary and treasurer. and his conscientiousness and enthusiasm in these offices will long be remembered by his fellow ringers and the numerous visiting bands he welcomed to St Mary's.
He had also heen a keen chorister in many church choirs. the last being St. Leonard's. Grimsbury. Banbury.
The funeral service took place at St. Mary's. Banbury on January 4th and was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. R. P. R. Carpenter. The congregation included many of his ringing friends. Immediately after the service and again that evening the bells were rung half-muffled.
Final tributes were paid by the Banbury and District Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at their meeting at Bloxham on January 12th, and on January 18th when re$p$ :esentatives from various towers rang a quarter peal of 1,259 Grandsire Caters at St. Mary's. ## EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD DINNER

The eighth annual dinner of the East Grinstead and District Guild was held at "The Culverden Arms,' Tunbridge Wells, on January 12th. The snowy weather caused the organisers concern and they had thought of cancelling the event; luckily they did not as a record company of 59 sat down to an excellent meal.

After the loyal toast, 'The Church' was proposed by Mr. C. A. Bassett, who spoke of hou much ringers were indebted to the Church. With all oth'r people they realised that it was the influence of the Church that kept some law and order in this crazy world of ours, and that it would be grim place without that influence. All rirgers hoped that the message of the bells would do much to keep the Church alive. Secondly, it was the Church that provided the means of enjoying their art, and if the authorities suddenly decided to ban bells in churches, there would only be ten towers to grab.
The president, the Rev. J. R. Missen. who replied. was in great form and nearly 'stopped the show, when he likened a meeting of parsons to a heap of manure, an obnoxious lot when all together, but when spread all over the land they did quite a lot of good.

Mr. Missen was, however, very sincere when $h$ : thanked the ringers for their service to the Church. and hoped that the good relations between the clergy and ringers would long continue. -Keen their bells ringing and they will bless you for ever,' he said.
A course of Bob Major was rung on handbells by $\mathbf{M r}$. and Mrs. Hairs and Mr. and Mrs. Ladd, after which Mr. B. V. Collison proposed 'The Guild.' giving a résume of the Guild's history since its formation in 1927, with special mention of the two founder members present. Messrs. E. J. Ladd and R. D. Divall, of the services rendered by several members, and the young up and coming conductor. Stanley Jenner. Mr. Collison had a special message to the youngsters, urging them to work hard to keep up the reputation of the Guild, and to try and match the services of past members, and the young members already holding office and putting up an excellent show.
In reply. the Guild chairman, Mr. B. E. Jeffrey. endorsed Mr. Collison's remarks as to the young members. and thanked all those who had travelled long distances to attend. He closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the organisers, congratulating them on the excellent arrangements.
In the social that followed the company were entertained by Ann Boon and Rosemary Heighes (sopranos). Raymond Large (baritone), George Fry (comedian), M. A. Ladd. E. J. Iadd and C. Tester (handbells). with Mrs. Ladd at the piano.

RINGERS' FESTIVAL DEFIED THE WEATHER

Instead of the normal congregation of about 100, there were little more than two dozen people present at St. Peter's. Weston Favell. Northants. on January 20th, when a ringers' festival was held on the Sunday following the Festival of St. Anthony, whose name has been associated with bells through the ages.
Despite deep snowfall the previous night, the drifts and treacherous roads. the programme as rranged was carried out, consisting of 8 a.m. Corporate Communion. Matins and Evensong. Four hymns, written by Mr. P. Amos, were sung during the service. These hymns and one other have been specially printed in a leaflet.

Weston Faveli ringers hope that better weather conditions will prevail for the next Ringers' Sunday, which is to follow St. Dunstan's Day-May 19th.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

Some 25 ringers and friends were present for the service and tea at the meeting of the Ashford Distriot at Rolvenden on January 12th.

The service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. P. Helyer, whose interesting address was wonthy of a larger congregation. Mr. P Wells was at the organ, and the lesson was read by Mr. J. Hemsley, captain of the Holvenden ringers.
Tea was enjoyed at 'The Bull.' after which the Vicar aoted as chairman for the business meeting. The main item on the agenda was the honorary Distriot secretary's report and bilance sheet for $196 ?$. This showed that the previous year's satisfactory trend was maintained, especially in the recruitment of honorary members. Eight new members joined the Association.
Mr. Alan Berry thanked the Vicar for his kirdness, and the Rolvenden ringers and friends for catering for the visitors under rather difficuil circumstances. In reply Mr. Helyer said plainly that he was disappointed at the poor attendance, but would be glad to welcome the Association again in 'ess wintry cenditions.
In this connection it should be said that most of the 15 visitors came from the other end of the District, i.e. Folkestone and Burmarsh. All credit to them and to their hosts, but not, it must be admitted, to anybody else. In spite of a request for a good attendance only Mr. J. Winlis sent even a letter of apology, and consequently the keen young band at Rolvenden received Jittle moral support. If this is a sample of future attendances. the timetable will have to be dirastically reduced.

Ringing on the fine eight was under the direction of the honorary District secretary, and eventually rose to Oxfond Treble Bob.

- The peal of Plain Bob Royal at St. Michael's Ashton-under-Lyne on Janwary 17 th was a great achievement for us, writes Mr. Ronald M. Edwards. There was a footnote re each ringer, conspicuous being the first peal of 15 -year-old Margaret Wrighi. For her it was a welcome to her niece, whose mother (her sister) was a former ringer at this church.
The annual meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild will be held at Rochester on Saturday. May 11th.
Frome ringers will remember New Year's Eve and the advent of 1963. They had to whip off the muffles of the bells in a frame covered in icy snow.
Miss Anita Henson, of West Bridgford, has resigned her secretaryship of the Society of Sherwood Youths. Her successor is Mr. Peter Nix, of Hucknall.
By ringing 12 methods of Spliced Surprise Royal at Worsley, Lancs, on January 12th, an advance is recorded. It is the greatest number of Royal methods yet sung to a peal. As the result of playing carols around the village during the week before Christmas, the Wadhurst, Sussex, bellringers handed the sum of $£ 18$ to the Mentally Handicapped Children's Society.
During the eight years he has been Ringing Master, Mr. Roy Collins has seen the memhers of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild rise from 55 to 130 . Gratifying progress.
A half-muffled peal attempt at Little Chart, Kent, on January 19th, in memory of the laie Mr. J. J. Batchelor, came to a sudden end in the sixth extent after two hours' excellent ringing when , power cut plunged the ringers into complete darkness.
Mr. Frank J. Matthews informs us that the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths propose to rewrite the history of the Society. Any unpublished manuscripts and notes relating to the Society would be most welcome. Write Mr. Matthews, 145, Wimbledon Park Write Mr. Matthews, 145 and it is unusual that two of these should come from Gnosall, Staffs. Taking aggregate totals, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Key lead with 78, followed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Poyner, 76, the Drews, of Cheltenham. with 65 , and the Warrilows with 58 . Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Peter Border had a combined total of 185 . The late Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Poole, however, in 1954 had a total of 244 !

This coming year should see Mr. A. Patrick Cinnon join the list of the 1,000 pealers. He is in his last 50 .

Five Slough Parish Cinurch ringers 'hit the target' in 1962. Fred Scott, Keith Ward. David Ward and W. Birmingham exceeded 30 peals and David Hilling rang 26.
Ringers, whether or not they are Scottish or Welsh rugby enthusiasts, in Edinburgh for the international at Murraytield, will be welcome at the practice at St. Cuthbert's, Prince's Street, on Saturday, February 2nd, from 6 p.m.

One of the surprises of this year's peal list is the leading peal ringers of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, except R. B. Smith, who really belongs to Marple, Cheshire, are below 50 . Despite this the Guild had to its credit the highest total for over 10 years.
Edjtor F. E. Dukes has some interesting posers for his readers in 'The Irish Bell News.' January number. One is, 'What does legend say about the bell of Ugley in Essex? Answer: - Ugley Church, ugly steeple, ugly parson. ugly people.'
The Irish Association aim at raising capital for a bell restoration of lat least $£ 200$. The sum of $£ 85$ is still required to bring the fund up to the target figure and to redeem the loans. The sum of $£ 150$ of the new $5 \frac{3}{3}$ per cent Irish National Loan was applied for and accepted. Of this amount, the Trustees have personally advanced between them $£ 60$. Those who have enjoyed Irish ringing and would like to be associated with the appeal should communicate with Mr. F. E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath.

' R.W.' January 31st, 1913.

Five hundred peals for one association is a iecord of wonderful service rendered, and this viluable service has been given by Mr. Keith Hart, who. with a peal at Shoreham on Monday, completed his fifth century for the Sussex Association. Speaking without any means, at the moment. of checking the absolute accuracy $0^{\text {e }}$ the statement, we believe that only thres other ringers can claim such a record. Mr William Pve and Mr. Bert Prewett have each scored 500 for the Middesex Association we helieve, and probably the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, to whose memory a screen is to be dedicated in Drayton Church. on Saturday, February 8th. rang 500 for the Oxford Guild.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Bingham District

Fontveight members were welcomed by the Rev T. Richardson (Rector) during the service at: the annual meeting of the Bingham District, held at Radeliffe-on-Trent. on Jamuary 12th. An inspiring address was given by the Rev. Mr. Widdowson. Tea followed in the Church Room.
At the business meeting the Rector presided and a minute's silence was observed for Mr . A V. Dent. a renowned ringer in the District. who had dien. Messrs. W. Mason and R Andrews (Radcliffe) and P. Staveley (Whatton) were elected members
The secretary. in her report, stated that seven meetings had heen held. with at least 40 memhers at each meeting. Membership stood at 66. but it was hoped 10 increase this when the remainder of the Distrid towers were visited. Officers re-elected were: Chairman. Mr. J. O. Clarke: secretary. Miss R. Black shaw: Ringing Master. Mr. J. B. Bennett committee member. Mr. Hansome.
Forthcoming fixtures: Oxton and East Bridgford. February 9th: Cropswell Bishop. March 9th: Orston (Crawford Cup). May: Outing. South Lincolnshire, in place of June meeting.

LUPPITT RINGERS' QUARTER PEAL OUTING

On December 20th Luppitt ringers went on az tour of local towers. with quarter peals being the objective. Fourteen ringers took part, each gaining at least one and there were several firsts. In the morning Hemyock and Upottery bells were manned by farmers and their families. Good quarters of Grandsire Doubles were successfully brought round in each of these towers. This was a good start 10 the day, as the bells in both towers are heivier than in the home tower
After a short break for lunch same mediocre Grandsire was rung at Churchinford-very similar to Luppitt-where a first as conductor was narrowly missed. Meanwhile the second band got off at a good pace with Bob Minor on the light six at Cotleigh. In the sixteenth course a shift occurred. This would have added two more 'firsts of Minor' to the four gained at the home tower on the previous Saturday. Those who were not engaged in farm work proceeded to Oftwell Two badly adjusted 'Hastings stays, in this 9 cwt. six caused a few rough patches in the Grandsire, but it was finally brought round. under joint conductorship.
After the farm chores had been finished and a snack taken. Bob Doubles were attempted at Membury and Musbury. The rather noisy ringing chamber and hard working hellis at the former caused an early breakdown. It was decided to chinge the method and Grandsire was once again successful Arother difficulty was encountered at Musbury, very long draught making handling very difficult. There was no time for a restart, but all agreed they had gained valuable experience.
It was unanimously agreed that the day was a great success, though a little tiring to some oi the younger members, and we would like to convey our thanks to incumbents and the local ringers.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Chesterfield District

The annual meeting of the Chesterfield District was hefd on December 15 th at Old Whittington, when over 30 members were piesent. which was quite good in view of the bitterly cold weather. Shontly after 3 p.m. the light sing of six was raised in peal. Ringing ranged trom rounds to Surprise.
An excellent tea in the Church Hall was enjoyed prior to the business meeting, at which Miss Susan Smedley (Creswedl) and Mr. Miss Susan Smedley (Creswell) and Mr. were elected ringing members. The belfry clections of Shelagh Collins and Diana Lawless prior to a peal were radified.
The District chairman, Mr. F. Adanls, welcomed the new members and paid tribute to Mr. A. B. Cooper. the former District secretary who left in November for a post in Hull. The officers for 1963 elected were: Chairman. Mr. F. Adams: committee. Mr. G. Goodal and Mr. D. Cooper: Ringing Master. Mr.
Gnodall: and secretary. Mr. M. P. Phipps. A vote of thanks to the Rector. the Rev. J L. Davies. the local ringers and to the ladies was proposed by Mr. D. Cooper, to which Mr. J. Newman. of the local company, suitably responded. After a short break fo- Compline further ringing was enjoyed.

THE OLDEST EXISTING RING OF EIGHT

By Ranald W. M. Clouston

TWHE recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World' on the rings of eight at Bishop's Canning, Wilts, and Merton College, Oxford, only gives part of the story of the carly octaves in this country. Mr. F. Sharpe, in Part X of 'The Church Bells of Berkshire,' page 9, gives a list of the first octaves in a number of counties, but in some cases all or a few of the bells have been subsequently recast.

Gloucester Cathedral had an octave of bells in 1527, but it is not clear if they were hung for swinging. At about the same time Bristol Cathedral had a set of nine bells, and the slots in the frame make it fairly certain that they were swung. In both cases only three of the pre-Reformation bells remain.
The Bishop's Cannings octave was completed in 1602, but the late H. B. Walters, in his work on Wiltshire bells, records only four of the original bells remaining. Worcester Cathedral had a ring of eight in 1640 or 1643, and of these four ancient ones remain, at Didlington Church, Norfolk. By 1650 the Curfew Tower at Windsor had a ring of eight, and of these only the treble and fifth have subsequently been recast.
New College and Merton College, Oxford, both had early rings of eight cast by Michael Darbie, the former in 1655 and the latter in 1656. Of the former, four 1655 bells remain in the present ring of ten. The Merton ring of 1656 was entirely recast by Christopher Hodson in 1680 to give the present bells.
St. Laurence's, Reading, had a ring of eight in 1662 by Henry Knight, but all the bells were recast and made up to ten by Robert Catlin in 1748. Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, had two trebles to make eight added in 1667, but these were all recast into ten by Richard Phelps, of Whitechapel, in 1722-3.
Next in age is the ring of eight at Horham. Suffolk, by Stradbroke. The latest bell in the present ring is dated 1673, so this can be claimed to be the oldest existing ring of eight in England. The next oldest would appear to be the Merton College, Oxford, ring.
At Horham, as at Bishop's Cannings, there was an enthusiastic incumbent, one John Clubb. Of the present ring only two bells were cast before his time-the tenor of 1568 hy John Brend, of Norwich ( $33^{3} \mathrm{in}$. diameter, about 7 cwt .), and the fifth of 1605 by John Draper, of Thetford. At the Reformation the church had four bells, and the frame for these four still remains and shows that at one time it housed a bell larger than the present tenor. It is not clear how many bells there were in the tower when John Clubb came to the parish; the earliest bell bearing his name is the fourth, cast in 1658, probably at the Brends' Norwich foundry. This was during the Commonwealth, and Clubb is described as 'Clerke' with three other words filed off.
In 1663, John Darbie, of Ipswich, recast the sixth and seventh, and he or an assistant cast the threc trebles-the treble dated 1673 and the other two 1672. The Terrier of December 13th. 1672. records 'Eight bells, with frames. ropes, etc.', so it is probable that the present treble replaces a slightly earlier bell. John Clubb died in 1693, and left 6s. 8d. to be given to the poor on Plough Monday, a charity which still remains.
The bells as they hang now with their peculiar gear make a visit to them one of particular interest, though alas they are now unringable. The 4 -bell frame had a pit parallel to each wall and a central opening for hoisting the bells through. Fortunately there was enough room to make two pits by the west wall, using an additional side frame. The end of the seventh bell pit was cut off by the wall and the second bell hung in the resulting opening. The fourth bell was hung in the central opening, the bearings being set up on blocks as the pit was not long enough. This fitting bells in where space permitted resulted in a peculiar rope circle in the ringing chamber; clockwise it is 1, 5, 6, 4, 3, 2, 7, 8.
Only the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh are maiden bells, and they are moderately well in tune with one another. The tenor, which has for some reason been flattened by chip tuning, is now over half a semitone too flat compared with them. The third is about correct and the two trebles are about a quarter of a semitone too flat. These latter are quite small, $20 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{in}$. diameter, say 2 cwt ., for the 7 cwt . tenor. Only the tenor has ever been quarter turned.
Quite a bit of the gear is of some age. The fifth and tenor to this day only have three-quarter wheels; this must now be extremely rare in a ring of bells. The clappers all hang from cast-in staples, except in the treble where a false one has had to be fitted: they are all without exception far two long, ranging from $1 \frac{1}{4}$ in. excess in the tenor to $\frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}$. in the sixth.

The gudgeon pins on the sixth and seventh are just driven into the stocks and hooped, and are not bolted to them in any way. On the treble the pins are recessed into the top of the stock and bolted through to the bottom, the reverse of normal. The fourth, which hangs over the hatchway, has curved metal guards fitted to the frame just below the bearings. If a gudgeon pin snapped, the hoop on the end of the stock in falling would catch on the metal guard and would prevent the bell falling through the frame. This feature is quite rare.

A VISIT TO KELHAM

By permission of the Father Warden, arrangements were niade for a representative of the Central Council to give at talk at the. House of the Sacred Mission, Kclham, Newark, Nous, on January 26th.

A party of six set out from Rotherham Parish Church complete with projector, screen handbells and various other paraphernalia piled into GVH 203 and left for Kelham, some 40 miles distant. A stop was made en route at Mansfield for a ring on the fine light eight where the Southwell Guild were holding a meeting.
A few miles further on snow ploughs were encountered clearing huge drifts from roads recently impassable. At Kelhan! the party were met hy Roger Datvis, who quickly produced tea and hiscuits and made the parly comforlable.

After a conducted tour of the House, and atending Evensong in the unique chapel, the party were taken to the common room, where the talk and demonstrations took place. The students and brethren showed great interest in the illustrated lalk and demonstrations, and a lively discussion followed before joining the community for the evening meal.

The visil proved enjoyable to both visitors and the hoste, giving bath the opportunity to obtain an insight into each other's interests and uctivities.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

 St. Albans DistrictConsidering the weather conditions (one nember disappeared between the station and the church) a good number attended the annual District meeting at Hatfield Parish Church on January 19th. Ringing on the easy-going bells ranged from rounds to eight. Spliced Major, a record for a District meeting. and included half a course of the special method, Cambridge Royal
In the tea room the Rector, the Rev. J. Slowe, said that the servioe had had to be cancetled, owing to a breakdown in the antique church beating system. After prayers he helped the local ringers serve a delicious tea.

For the business Mr. H. V. Frost, the presi dent of the Association, took the chair and asked the meeting to stand in memory Messis. H. E. C. Goodenough and S. E. Linsoll, who had died during the previous year. It was agreed to hold the 1964 neeting at St. Albans. Four new members were clected-Messrs. R. L. Arnold, A. Peters, M. J Sherrick and Miss G. Brearley.
In her report. the seoretary said that the representation of towers at mectings had improved and that Sunday service ringing was being well maintained in most cases. However, the number of peals sung was low. She asked all members, especially those in the firs flood of enthusiasm, to remember why the rang. In conclusion all thase who had mad the District activities nossible were thanked The statement of accoums showed that the Voluntary Bell Fund was in a very healthy

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Cary Branch

Many members were unabic to attend the annual meeting of the Cary Branch on January 261 h due to the icy condition of the roads, bul just over 20 , including the general secretary, took part in the service in the parish church which was conducted by the Rector, Rev. R. B. H. Kay. The lesson was read hy Rov. O. 11. Skipwlih and the organist was Mr. Excudier.

Tea was followed by the busibess mecting. presided over by Rev. O. H. Skipwith in the absence of the Branch chairman Members stood in silence in nemary of the following members of the Association who had passed away: L. A. Fudge, A. J. Lintern, A. Rapson and A. J. Whitchead.
The secretary in his report spoke of the suc ceas of the recently-started Branch practices and of a slight increase in membership
The Rev. G. S. Robinson was re-elected Branch chairman; and Rev. O. H. Skipwith vice-chairman. Mr. H. J. Sanger, who has been Ringing Master for 34 years, did not seck reelection, due to many other commitments. He Was warmily thamked for his services, and Mr. D. M. C. ## SOCIETY OF RAMBLING RINGERS' 1962 TOUR

The tour began in Oxford and proceeded on curved, westerly course to London, and ended, via Essex, Suffolk and Norfolk, at Cambridyc.
The r The ringing and numbers attending ebbed and howed. The first week was badly undermanned. he first day being so poor that it would have heen impossible to have rung more than Doubles. It was possibly fortunate that no one ruined up at the scheduled towers to meet us. Numbers slightly increased during the week. but it was still only possible 10 ring ten bells with local assistance
Friday saw the influx of members, and Spliced Surprise appeared for the first time, and by Sulurday numbers had increased by such 2 degree that a shift system had to be rigorously upplied. The focal point for this gathering was London. and the efforts of those who should have done hetter did not impress. Some of the fault must be with the first-weckers who were beginning to feel the heat and burden of the day. This was a great pity, for the Society is capable of a high standard of ringing.
After leaving London the ringing began to mprove considerably, and Spliced Surprise Major in eight. ten and 12 methods began to roll out. interspersed with Redcliffe, Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Royal and Maximus, logether with somse excellent Grandsire, Stedman and Plain.
The final tower of the tour was, perhaps, suitably chosen-St. Bene't's. Cambridge; and there we patid our respects to those who prepared for us the change-ringing we so much njoy today.
This account of a three-week lour may seen brief, but to thowe that took part the memory of the tour with its highlights and yes, times of depression, will live again. It is good to have a tour of this nitture, not only for the ringing hut for the comradeship. humour and lasting friendship that grows from these ventures.

REUNION

The reunion of the Society was held on December 15 th in Leicester. Ringing took place at All Saints', St. Margaret's, St. John's and the Cathedral. The dinner and meeting were held in the Golden Lion.
The meeting itself was fully in keeping with the Society-rambling! At length, order did evolve out of chaos, and the following were cither elected or decided upon: President, Denis Mottershead: Ringing Master, John E. Cook: depuly Ringing Masters. Alan J. Frost and John II. Fielding; secretary, William A. Lacey: peal secretary, Michael Vernon: and the reluctant member of committee Denis A. Frith. The subscription was raised to 5 s . touring and 2 s . non-touring, and the next reunion is to be in Manchester
From the point of view of those attending it was a grand effort. However. it was supposed to be at reunion not only of those who are still for ive louring members but also of those who, for various reasons, can no longer come on lour. To those we make this plea-try to come 10 a reunion and make it worthy of its name.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Melton District

The annual meeting of the Melton District took place at Melion on January 191h, when some 27 members and friends. including the president of the Guild, attended. The service ted conducted by Canon Clark, followed by tea and meeting in the Blackency Hall. Officers for the District were eleoted as follows: Chisirman. Mr. F. Williams: secretary, Mrs. M. Stimson; commitiee, Mr. R. N. Cook and Miss b. Smith.

THE GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Farnham District

A critical comment was made by Major E. J Bragg, the retiring District Ringing Master, at the annual meeting of the Farnham District at Farnham on January 19th. He said that for many years Farnham was the leading District in the Guild for numbers and enthusiasm, but they were not so now. Latterly there had been a dropping off in membership and attendances at meetings had been reduced. He suggested that the latter was due to too many meetings and practices one nearly every othor week.
Major Bragg recalled the successful pealstwo at Farnham, another at Seale to mark the 70th birthday of Mr. Ernest Gardner who rang the tenor and "completed the circle," and one of Stedman Triples at Aldershot, the first in the method for all except the conductor (Mr. John Wellsi. Quarter peals had been numerous, particularly at Farnham and Farnborough.
The hon. treasurer (Mr. R. H. Mills) reported a decreased balance due to the District outing costing the funds $£ 7$. Paid-up membership was ringing 123. junior 34, honorary 23-a total of 180 compared with 194 last year. A silent tribute was paid to Mr. Harold Harris, captain of tho Crondall company, who died last year.
District officers elected were: Ringing Master, Mr. T. Page (Aldershot); assistant Ringing Master, Mr. R. A. Clist (Yorktown) ; hon. secretary, Mr. D. P. Elsmore; hon. treasurer, Mr. R. H. Mills: Press correspondent and executive committee, Mr. A. D. Elsmore; hon. auditor, Mr. W. H. Viggers.
Mr. C. W. Denyer, in a report on the Cathedral hells, said the Cathedra! atthorities were leaving it to the diocesan ringers to find the money for the ten bells. It was intended to issue the Cathedral Bells Appeal after the Guild annual meeting.
The Guild's form of service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. R. Wilds) in Farnham Parish Church, and Mr. C. W. Denyer (chutchwarden and vice-president) read the lesson: Mr. L. S. Cooke was the organist.

The sliders on the sixth and ienor are normal traditional type; the four trebles have horizontal hars in the side frames set at mid-waist and pivoled at the end away from the hell; a shord sway engages the other end. The fifih and seventh have a horizontal sliding bar stapled to the lower cill members of the frame with a projection upwards on which the tip of the traditional stay engages and which is prevented from going too far either way by the staples.

Canon K. W. 11. Felstead has kindly made available his records of peals rung here; they number three in the period since 1881.

5,056 Oxford Treble Boh Major.
2 hours 56 minutes, August Ilth. 1888 Conducted by F. Diy.
5.184 Double Norwich Court Buh Major. 3 hours I minute, April 20ih, 1908. Conducted by E. Borrett.
5.088 Kent Treble Bob Major. 2 hours 45 minutes, January 19th, 1911. Conducted by James Motts.
The tower was cracked in its east and west faces, and in 1908 Days, of Eye, installed a tie bar system. This trouble would not seem to have been the cause of ringing ceasing as a peal was rung three years later with Frederick Day, the bell-hanger, on the treble. A more likely cause was World War I and general decay of the fittings:

It is to be hoped that the hells will be overhauled and rehung in a new frame set lower in the lower. This will allow the existing frame and fittings to be preserved as objects of sonfe interest.

Guildford District

Evidence of more activity in the Guildford District was forthcoming at the District annual meeting, held in St. Nicotas' belfry, Guildford, on January 26th. More towers were represented than for some years. It was with smiles that the hon. secretary (Miss Elizabeth Stevinson) was able to announce that there was only one tower (Hascombe) where there was no regular ringing. At Witley, Dunsfold and Stoke there had been a vast improvement. Miss Cherry White was in charge at Dunsfold and Mr. W. Savill was doing good work at Stoke.
The District Ringing Master's report nude mention of 27 quarter peals being rung in ten different towers, and nine sharing in the conducting. Godalming was producing more ringing than ever before, and the monthly Surprise Major practices at Holy Trinity had been well attended.

The balance in hand was less as the result of the donation to Melbourne Cathedral Bell Appeal, and Mr. T. W. White mentioned the pleasure it gave Miss Monica Coblins, a former District officer now in Melbourne, to know that her District was associated with the appeal.
Mr. Leslie Hunter was elected District Ringing Master in place of Mr. Harold A. May. Oiher elections were: Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. Stanley G. Ponsing; hon. secretary and treasurer, Miss E. Stevinson; hon. auditor, Mr. J. Horstman ; executive committee, Miss Cherry White and Mr. W. Savill.
The Guild Master (Mr. Douglas May) presided, and announced that the Guild's summer festival would be held in the Guildford District on 12 min 12 In.

In answer to questions, he said that the estimated cost of Guildford Cathedral bells, including frame and builder's work, was $£ 7,250$. The Pullen Memorial Bell would be the seventh of a ring of ten.

In reply to a question by Supt. R. J. C. Hagley, the Master said he would bring the question of the Revision of Rules before the executive. The superintendent maintained that the steps taken in promoting a ballot on the proposed merger of the Guild with the Surrey Association was out of order.

A vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. H. A. May for his services as Ringing Master, to Rev. M. Hocking for conducling the service in Holy Trinity Church, to Mr. S. G. Ponting for acting as organist, and to Miss Stevinson for making the arrangements for so successful a meeting which attracted about 60 ringers.

OBITUARY

MR. J. A. TOMLINSON

We leģrel to record the death of Mr. Joseph A. Tonslinson suddenly on January 13 h , at the age of 53. A native of Blackburn, he was taught to ring at Si. Michael's hy his father, and in 1920 he became a member of the Lancashire Asvociation.
Ile later, with his father and son, joined the band of Blackburn Cathedral, where he was a regular and reliable ringer up 10 a few years ago being forced into an early retirement due to ill health. He left a gap which has never been filled, for Joc, though a yuiet and unassuming man, was ever ready to give help and advice to a learner.
The funcral took place on January 16 hh at St. Matthew's Church. Blachburn. prior to cremation at Pleasington Crematoriam. In the evening of that day a half-mumbed quarter peal of Grandsite Triples was rung hy the Cathedral ringers as a mark of respect, and to his memory.

Letters to the Editor Great Yarmouth, 1963   Middle-aged Novice's Pleasures

Dear Sir,-We wonder if any other members of the Central Council felt the same way as we did when they read the notice in 'The Ringing World' dated January 11th, 1963, regarding the arrangements for the Central Council meeting arranged for Great Yarmouth at Whitsuntide. Our first reaction was why should we take the trouble to travel such a long journey (at our own expense as the Irish Association cannot afford to contribute towards their representatives' expenses) for such poor arrangements which have been officially announced by the hon. secretary of the Central Council?

No help has been given-as is usually done hy the host Association-other than "Fend for yourself, because of accommodation difficulties.'

It seems that Council members-at least those who intend being present-will have no option but to find accommodation many miles from Great Yarmouth. The position is one of 'disgust,' and in view of the importance of the occasion, viz. the triennial elections, something belter is expected.

Is it too late for the chief officers of the Council to get their heads together and to change the venue to one where there are no accommodation difficulties? Otherwise the Great Yarmouth meeting will in all probability become a 'farce.' We are not advocating a suitable venue, but there seems to be much in favour of London district principally beciase of the importance of the meeting.
Can we have the views of other members before it is too late? - Yours fatithully,
Irish Association. JOHN T. DUNWOODY,

More Explicit, Please

Dear Sir,-I would like to ask 'An Exasperated Ringer' who these 'illustrious ringers who are known to ring regularly at such towers as York Minster ' are?
At York we only have the ordinary ringer who respects tradition and adapts himself or herself to local custom and practice when visiting olher lowers, to the best of individual ability-Yours sincerely, York.
HAROLD WALKER.

Method Extension

Dear Sir,-Mr. Jelley may not know that the Methods Committee were ordered by the Council to define an Extension, and what they produced was the result of many years of experiments and research. They were certainly not hlinded by science, and their work made it possible for the first time to say with authority whether a method was or was not a correct extension of another.
Mr. Jelley's figures of so-called Durham Surprise Mijor to Maxinus introduce a front subsection (14-14) which does not appear in the parent Minor and cannot by any degrec of imagination be interpreted as an 'extension'; it is soncthing completely new. The Major Royal and Maximus themselves belong to one family with the Major as the parent. In York nothing is introduced in the higher numbers which is not in the parent.
Bowrne and Norwich also extend to Maximus, and although his figures are correct there is another extension of Norwich of the "expanding ' type and can be identified as BX/E.
Ohviously it was impossible to draw up such al formula understandable to everyhody without illustrations, and if Mr. Jelley cares 10 call at the address below when in the London area, I (as one who helped to compile the report) will he happy to answer his questions.-Yours faithfully, Southwood Road C. H. KIPPIN.

Dear Sir, - I should like Mr. Brueton to know that I am another middle-aged bellringing 'novice, "and how very much I enjoyed your recent article in 'The Ringing World,' particularly as my own experience has been so very similar to his.
I did at least have the purely theoretical advantage over him in that before I started I had some general knowledge of what goes on in a belfry (if only from having read some years ago 'The Nine Tailors,' by Dorothy Sayers, which I can thoroughly recommend), hut otherwise I 'started from scratch' in the autumn of 1961, shortly after my 50th birthday.
I' was encouraged to make the attempt by the enthusiasm of my younger daughter, who is now just 16 and has been ringing for nearly three years. I was warned by our tower captain (who gallantly agreed to try to teach me) that my progress would probably be slow. And how right he was! I don't wear glasses, otherwise I mm sure they would have suffered the same fate as Mr. Brueton's, but pretty well everything else seemed to happen in the early stages!

I am told that our bells do not 'go' at all well (the frame is wooden and nearly 200 years old, so rehanging is very much in mind), which has perhaps slowed me up, but I have at last reached the stage where I can 'cover' after at fashion on the tenor for Grandsire and Stedman Triples.
It was, I suppose, about two months ago when 1 first felt that perhaps I had made some progress. There were about ten minutes left of practice time, when my collcagucs suggested that I should' help' them to ring is short touch of Stedman Triples. On looking round I realised with considerable concern that by then there were only cight of us left in the belfry, the other seven being all experienced ringers! However, I managed to get the tenor going to a reasonably steady rhythm, and they were afterwards kind enough to say that they thought there was hope for me yet!
Seriously speaking though, I do agree most wholeheartedly with the conclusions Mr. Brueton reached about ringing. In my own brief experience it has been brought home to me what a striking bond of friendship there is between ringers, and it doesn't seem to matter whether one happens to meet some of the leading exponents of the art or the merest beginners.
To Mr. Brueton I wish the best of luck in his further progress; perhaps we may meet in the same tower one of these days. - Yours sincerely, ALLAN PEARCE.

Oldest Octave

Dear Sir,-In the late Rev. William C. Pcarson's hook on rings of bells in Eiast Anglia are details of the eight at Horham, Suffolk (now unringable), as follows:-

1. 1673 , by Robert Gurney.
2. 1672, by Robert Gurney.
3. 1672, by Robert Gurney.
4. 1658, by John Brend, jun.
5. 1605, by John Draper.
6. 1663 , by John Darbie.
7. 1663, hy John Darbic.
8. 1665 , by John Brend, sen.

It appears they originally were a ring of five cast between 1605 and 1668 , with three trebles added in 1672 and 1673.

As none have been recast these might be considered the oldest intact octave in the county if not in the country.-Yours, etc.

Southgate Surprise Major

Dear Sir,-Of late there scems to have bec an increasing interest in Southgate Surprise Major (split-lead Superlative), which method is simple and more interesting than Superlatin and is to be found in this year's Diary.

Although we have seen none of the composi. tions which have been rung recently, we thint the following may have some claim to originaliay as it-utilises one of the most interesting features of the method's falseness-or lack of it. It will be seen that by calling bobs at V-F the methot is rendered CPS: furthermore, if a course of the type 000XY is rung in full, then any course of the type OOOYX may be rung provided it is short (i.e., V-F). This feature alloms a theoretical extent of approximately 11,500 , with the tenors together externally, but this length cannot be had using one type of call only.

The appended compositions may be found of interest; they bave been kindly cbecked by one conversant in these matters who pronounco them to be true.

Simple Callings for Handbell Peals of Major

\begin{abstract}
By A.

Ease of calling can play an important part in the success of handbell peal attempts. The compositions described below have been designed specially for conducting from 56 , and may be of interest to newly-formed bands in the early stages of attempting peals.
It is often the case that experienced ringers of the inside pairs are lacking, while the bob caller is not over keen on ringing an inside pair and calling the peal. For this reason, compositions with $5-6$ or $3-4$ in course or ati home are desirable. Such peals have few qualities apart from the caller's point of view, although some of the music, particularly in the tittums, may be quite pleasing.
Below is an eight course block which contains Sh the extent in course for a given relative coursing order of the other three working bells. This block forms the basis of nearly all the compositions described.

The use of singles at Wrong, Home and Middle consecutively moves $5-6$ all the way through the remaining coursing order by reversing the pair at each single, one bell being unaffected in 2nds, the other making the bob. The bobs Middle, Home and Wrong which follow one course later are in effect three befores on S-6, thus bringing them back to the front of the coursing order the opposite way to that in which they started. Repeating the procedure arrives back in the original starting course. Repetition of this block six times, calling - - $S$ - $S$ at the middle in every eighth course gives the 48 course extent of 5-6 continuously coursing.
In order to produce a peal composition, five of these blocks (A) may be used, together with a 'going-off' and a 'coming-home 'course, and three so-called plain courses.
For example :-

have given the coursing orders in the left-d column. since they show more readily the hand column. since they show more readily the way the composition works and in any event way the composition works and in any event are far more useful than course ends in calling and keeping the bells right.

Before we leave Plain Bob, the following composition is of interest, since the work of 5-6, although only consisting of coursing and plain course work, is more broken up and gives greater variety.

Repeated five times, with $S$ half way and end, and two singles at * in first part only.
Once peal standard in Bob Major has been achieved, there arises the problem of what to attempt next. One or more of the Plain or Little Major methods is probably the easiest step. It is not easy to find compositions for Little Bob which have simple work for 5-6, since some 90 courses are required for peal length. Inevitably some of the work with 5-6 split up must be included, and if the conductor is still obliged to ring an inside pair the following may be useful.

5,040 LITTLE BOB MAJOR

| 43652 |  | A |  | S |
| 42356 |  | 2 | - |  |

Repeated five times, with $S$ half way and end. Here the full extent of $5-6$ coursing has been included, there being one round block (A) to each of the six parts. Each part also contains one course with 5-6 at home, and one with them reversed in the home position. In this way the work is the same in each part, being regular and not too difficult to remember

Gainshorough Little Bob affords easier prospects. Not only is it easier to ring but it also requires a mere 60 courses for a peal, and there is no need to split up 5-6 except to get in and out of the plain and coursing positions. A similar composition to the Plain Bob above is possible :-

5,040 GAINSBOROUGH LITTLE BOB 23456 M W H

| 32456 | 2 | - | 9th. 17th, etc., courses) |
| 34256 |  | S |  |
| 23456 |  | - |  |

This composition, rearranged and extended slightly, could be useful if an easy calling for $5-6$ is required for Spliced Plain Major methods. (Continued in next column)

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District

The annual meeting of the Ncwark District, held on January 19th, was much better attended than in the last two or three years. Newark was the meeting point, and after ringing on the fine 10 and a well attended service. hetween 30 and 40 ringers sat down to tea in St. Mary's Rooms. Visitors were present from the Bingham District and from Norfolk and Burton-on-Trent.
At the business meoting Canon J. H. D. Grinter, Vicar of Newark, who will shortly be leaving for a parish in Somerset, took the chair. The Distriot chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter, paid tribute to his helpfulness and Friendliness both towards the District and the Newark Parish Church ringers, and sidd how much he would be nissed.
An encouraging start was made to the year, with seven new members being elected, viz.: the Misses F. Dicken (Balderton), A. Bateson and B. Harding (Newark), David Williamson (Sutton-on-Trent), and Messrs. C. W. Soles. J. Cox and J. Bettle (Southwell). The financial statement was approved, and the secretary, in her report for the year, made a plea for new faces at meetings, and, as Canon Grinter remarked, the meeting would be memorable for quite a few new faces, if for nothing else.
Mr. F. W. Midwinter was re-elected chairman, and Mrs. C. W. Reed honorary secretary. Mr. J. W. Raithby and Mr. A. E. Chilon were appointed joint Ringing Masters, and Miss Grace Burchnall a committee member.
The tower progress report showed a slight general improvement, and Mr. Denis Simpson said he was hoping to start teaching a new band at Nonth Muskham. The meeting was closed with the customary votes of thanks.
Ringing continued in a crowded ringing room, and included a course of Cambridge S . Royal.

Next meeting: Balderton, March 16th.

In conclusion, it should be remembered that. the above arrangements are designed purely to enable newly-formed hands to acquire experience in peal ringing without the frustration of prolonged failures. There is also a touch of - belfry-(or lounge-)manship ' involved in conditcting from 5-6, as a trehle ringer once remarked after the first composition given above had been rung: ' 1 don't know how you people manage to ting the inside pairs!'.

6 A LICE; whatever her faults, had never let them down. She may have been a trifle heavy in oil: even Joe himself adminted, A pint of oil for every two gallons of petrol is a bit much!'
Unsuspecting filling station attendants had been known, on lifting the bonnet in order to replenish the oil supply, to be overcome, no doubt in admiration, at the miracle of engineering that lay revealed before them.

For Fred Sutcliffe, who owned the only garage at Hexworth, was a man of profound knowledge and not a little ingeniousness, and would disdain to order from the makers any broken or faulty part that could be forged in his own fire, or zurned on his own lathe. or held together by a piece of his own wire. He was well acquainted with 'Alice' for he had narsed her, as it were. since she was an infant. The makers of her engine would have had grent difficulty in deciding which part of it was original and which had been remewed, semade or invented by Fred Suteliffe.
But she went, and as Joe remarked, "That was all that mattered!'
On the occasion that we are about to relate she was chugging merrily through the bylanes of. England's green and pleasant land far from her mative haunts, for the Smiths were on holiday.

It was Saturday and Joe was driving with Annie by his side, a road map spread across her lap. John and Phyllis were in the back. They were on their way to a popular scaside resort to which they went every year-for Joe was a creatuce of habit-and having discovered from the 'R.W.' the previous week that it was possible to call in at meeting, were making a detour to reach a church which, to avoid $\begin{gathered}\text { evealing its identity and perhaps thereby }\end{gathered}$ causing embarrassment. we will call Kirkbridge, a name that is not inappropriate as the church was, in fact, situated near a bridge that spanned a river.
At abour 3.30 p.m. with a triumphant snort - Alice' drew up outside a pretty dittle country church. The bells were already ringing and the Smith family wandered through a well kept churchyard and having found the belfry door went up into the ringing chamber.

A touch ceased just as they entered. There were a dozen or so ringers in the room, which was fairly spacious. A fresh-faced young man looked at them inquirimgly as they entered. Jte came across to chem.
'Ringers?' he asked.
Joe rodded and introduced himself and his fimily, and in next to no time be and his iwo children were ringing in a quech of Cambridge. The bells were a bit lethargie and the ringing somewhat shaky.
He rollected as the rang on the wonderful spirit of comradeship that pervaded his beloved art. Seldom had the entered a strange holfry or attended some other society's mecting without being made welcome.

His cogitations were interrupted as the touch was brought round by a Jong-haired youth who called out desperately, "This should be all!'

Causing, Joe observed, several bells to jump viciously several places. Joe sat down next to a middle-aged man with red curly hair and prominent teeth, with gaps between them which gove the impression that each tooth had been, like gravestones, individually erected.
He gave Joe a toothy smite.
'That young man, said Joe, indicating the person who had greeted them on entry, 'who is he?
Fred (which, as it turned out, was the name of Joe's neighbour) mentioned the name of one who was, Joe realised, an up-and-coming ringer.

- He's Ringing Master, confided Fred.

That much Joe had gavthered. The young man was certainly bundle of energy, and as the ringing chamber filled up as more and more ringers arrived he was kept busy

Took over from me,' continued Fred, 'at the beginning of the year. I had been Ringing Master for 25 years.'

Indeed,' said Joe.
'Thankless task,' pursued Fred, shaking his head. 'Bell ringers are a funny lot.'

Don't I know it,' said Joe.
'It's impossible to please everybody, no matter what you do. It's not so bad at a six-bell tower like this. The choice is limited and so you do not get such a variety of requests. It is easier to fit the novices between the experts who, in their turn, seem willing enough to help. But what happens when you meet in a 12-bell tower?'

What does happen?' said Joe.
' I'll tell you what happens! You get six-bell ringers, eight-bell ringers, 10 - and 12 -hell ringers all mixed up together. Some who can ring only rounds, or have just learned to handle a bell. tubbing shoulders with those who can ring Surprise Maximus. You'd think that was a good thing, wouldn't you??

You would think so.' said Joe.
Ah. but is it? Royal and Maximus ringers consider at a meeting that six- and cight-bell ringing is a waste of ropes; six- and eight-bell ringers take hold for higher numbers when they canit even ring their own. Stedman Doubles ringers take hold for Sicdman Caters and Cinques, because, after all, they think the cnly difference is the extra double-dodging! All classes expect to be aatered for and the Kinging Master who can manage to do this without offending somebody is a superman.'
' Indeed he is,' said Joe.
For instance, I remember a ringer coming up to me and asking for a course of London Major. so I told him I would put it on as soon as possible. Quarter of an hour later when I'd got a team fixed up he'd disappeared. I discovered that he had gone off in a temper because he couldn't have a course of London! He didn't speak to me for a twelve month!'

Stupid man.' said Joe.

- Then there are others who come to demonstrate their superiority; grab hold for a touch of Spliced Surprise and then disappear. Sometimes this aype turn up with a complete readymade band and ask for some high-faluting method that they know nobody else has ever heard about. They may strike it impeccably, but if they don't muck in when you are trying to raise a team for Bob Minor it doorn't help much. does it?'
' Not much.' said Joe.
By this time the ringing chamber was crowded and Joe could see that the young Ringing Master was having quite a problem trying to accommodate everyhody; he looked hilrassed and worried; heads of perspiration stood out on his forchend.

To make matters worse. continued Fred. - some people come and sit down and say nothing and get overlooked. They go home disgruntled. complaining that they went to such and such a meeting and were never asked to ring! What can you say about such behaviour?'

What indeed?' said Joe.

A young man stuck his head through the doorway and called out, "How many for tea?"
Joe approached him and finding out that there were provisions in plenty for an extrat four who hadn't booked said that they would stay.
Whilst he was on his feet he joined in the last touch before tea. which was two courses of Spliced Minor, calling it at the suggestion of the Ringing Master.
After tea, which was followed by a short business meeting, it was time to be pushing on " and the Smiths made they way back to "Alice, Joe talking meanwhile with the local head-ringer, whom he had met several years previously when the had been a member of a touring pirty that had called at Hexworth. The young Ringing Master passed them. on his way back to the tower.

What happened to Fred?' he asked. didn't notice him at the meeting.'

No,' reptied the head-ringer. 'he had to jeave carly.

He looked after the retreating figure and shook his head.
'I didit like telling him. he said to Joe. 'but Fred went off in a huff. Said he'd heen stack in the corner all afternoon and never feen asked to ring!'

Dorchester Branch

Icy roads and Arctic conditions did not deter menuhers of the Dorchester Branch from attending the annual meeting on January 19th, and all parts of the Branch, which extends in a 10 milc radius of Dorchester, were represented.
Ringing for an hour preceded the Guild service, which was held in St. Peter's Church and conducted by the Rector, the Rev. K. W. Mciklejohn. the lesson heing read hy the Branch chhirman, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. Tea was served to 41 members in St. Peter's Institute.

Duke; who stated that there had been a slight decline in membership. which now stood at 129 ringing members, 4 honorary members and 14 associate members. Meetings during the year had been held at LitIon Cheney. Cattistock and Preston, with a bymeeting at Hilton. Branch practices had been held forlnightly throughout the year. Repairs and overhauls had been carried out to Abbotsbury and Charminster bells, and repairs were still being carried otit to St. Peter's. Dorcheser. ## Salisbury Branch

The deep snow and ice prohably halved the attendance at the Branch annual meeting at St. Paul's, Salisbury, on January 29th, but 21 members and two visitors were present, with a few more during the evening. A message of good wishes was received from the Master (the Rev. R. H. Longridge).

The report for the year included the festival held at Salisbury for the 80th anniversary of the Guild, the first meeting on record at Ludgershall and the rededication of the bells at Chitterne in the centenary year of that church. Membership had dropped to 108, but this was party due to four towers being in arrears with subscriptions. Messrs. H. A. Roles and A. Trimby were re-clected chairman and vice-chairman, the Misses Y. L. Eloie and M. Page hon. secretary and treasurer and auditor respectively. Messrs. L. Page, C. Haines, A. Haines and R. Jones Ringing Masters.
It was decided to continue holding meetings on the fourth Saturday of each month. the places chosen for 1963 being South Newton. Durrington. Netheravon (quarterly. April 27th). Durnford. Donhead St. Mary, Damerham (quarterly, July 27th), Compton Chamberlayne. Semley, Broadchalke (quarterly, October 26th) and Amesbury. These are all subject to confirmation. It is also hoped to run a striking competition in the Branch at one meeting.

The Rector of St. Paul's conducted the Guild service, and spoke of three reasons for ringing church bells: firstly, to the greater glory of God; secondly, to call people to worship (including many prevented from joining in public worship who yet could lift up their hearts with us); and also because we enjoy it, adding that if we did not we inight as well give up at once. as otherwise our ringing would not be done to God's glory.

Bishop of Shrewshury) was in the chair, and expressed regret at the departure of Mr . and Mrs. Poyner from Shrewsbury. Members slood in silence in memory of Michael Ford and Mr. E. James-Moore, who died during the year.
Mr. and Mrs. H. Poyner were elected honorary life members in recognition of their work in Shropshire.

Coventry Diocesan Guild are planning a national rally similar to that at Croydon, when the bells of Riverside, U.S.A were on view. The difference this time is that it is a new cathedral that is on show; there are bells in the old tower, but so far not ringable. The date is Saturday, April 20th, when ringers from all Guilds and Associations are invited to a service in the Cathedral at 3 p.m.. when it is hoped that the Bishop of Coventry (Rt. Rev. Cuthbert K. Bardsley) will give the address. There will be ringing before and after tea.
Guildford Diocesan Guild dinner has been fixed for October 12th, when the Bishop has promised to attend.
Members from Somerby attending the annual meeting of the Melton Mowbray District on January 19th had, on the homeward journey, to abandon their car and walk because of the snow. Another had to spend the night in Melton.
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Francis are shortly leaving London for Southampton. Canon K. W. H. Felstead, one of the Cumberland ringing parsons, will welcome this acquisition of strength with the departure of Mr. and Mrs. C. Kippin.
The Rev. Roy Deasy, Vicar of St. Andrew's, Holborn, quoted at the dinner of the Society of Cumberland Youths last Saturday two unusual names-a sign outside a photographer's in Old Kent Road which read 'Parsons for Weddings,' and an undertaker's business in Australia run by 'Doug. A. Pitt.'
A peal of Spliced Doubles has been rung at Bradford-on-Avon in 18 individual plain course methods and six variations ( 24 in all). Is this the most Spliced Doubles methods yet rung for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild? enquires the conductor, Mr. R. J. Purnell.
We have received a letter from Mr. Paul A. Brand, replying to points raised concerning Regular and Irregular Methods, Cartwheeling, etc., by Mr. Harold Chant, Mr. Noel Moxon, 'Artful Dodger' and 'Exasperated Ringer.' As we do not wish to prolong this discussion, Mr. Brand's reply is not published.

BELLFRY GOSSIP

The front nine bells of the new ring of ten (tenor 26 cwt .) for St. Gcorgc's Cathedral, Cape Town, South Africa, were cast during January at the Whitechapel Foundry. The tenor will follow in about a month's time. It is just five years since the Cape Town ringers began to agitate and lobby for action.
The Rev. Meredith Davies, a popular figure at dinners of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, is to be the next Mayor of Shoreditch.
Following the gift of five bells to Smeeth Church, Ashford, Kent, estimates have been obtained from the bellfounders for installing a ring of six.
There were five firsts, including the conductor, Mr . John Keddie, in a quarter to mark the close of 1962 rung at St. Elli's, Llanelly, Carm. Well done!
The Coventry Guild members appreciate the co-operation of Mr. Stockley, captain of Woot-ton-Wawen, in helping them out for the meeting on February 2nd.
A creditable performance took place at Nuthall on January 12 th when the first peal, Cambridge Surprise Minor, was the first peal for each member of the band.

At Wallington, Herts, on Christmas Eve was scored the first quarter peal by the local band. It was also the first quarter for all except the conductor (Mr. T. Hatchett).

In sending the peal records of the leading members of his tower, a well-known ringer writes: "I must state in the most emphatic terms that these regular peal ringers are the backbone of the Sunday ringing, as they are the "regulars" who keep the service ringing going, and not the "casuals" who appear at unspecified intervals.'
To commemorate the 75th anniversary of the Chester Diocesan Guild, the Wirral Branch planned to ring a peal in all the 19 towers in their area. Through various reasons this was not achieved. but 13 peals were rung. including one of Minimus to enable the Moreton captain (Mr. R. Harry Davies) to score his first peal-and in his own tower.

THE DESIGN OF STAYS

This article is prompted by several months' experience as steeplekeeper in a tower with light bells and heavy-handed learners. Replacing stays at a rate of one a fortnight is tedious and expensive.
What are the requirements of a really satisfactory stay? I would say that it should be cheap and simple to replace and it should be as strong as is safe, so that it needs to be replaced as infrequently as possible.
Ash is the usually recommended wood for stays but, with correct design, there seems to be no strong reason why some other wood should not be used. Ash is often difficult to find and always expensive. The two most important parameters of the wood chosen are U its Ultimate Tensile Strength, and E, its Young's Modulus of Elasticity. Other considerations include how well it is seasoned (will it warp in an exposed belfry?), whether the grain is straight and uniform, and whether it 'creeps ' (deflects slowly but continuously) under constant load, as for instance when the bells are left up.

SIMPLICITY

There seems to me to be no doubt that the best shape for a stay is the simplest: rectangular or square in section, and untapered. This kind of stay requires the very minimum of work to make and fit : one sawcut to make it the right length, and one or two holes for the holding bolts. I cannot see any reason for the complicated taper (on seven faces!) of a Hastings stay, nor for the groove cut in the end of a stay to fit over the gudgeon in some cast-iron headstocks. Why not just make the stay that much shorter? That end serves no useful purpose.

SAFE LOADS
A bell and its fittings could fail in one of several ways if it hits a very strong stay too hard. The bolts holding the bell might fail in tension as the headstock is wrenched off the bell. The cast lugs on an iron headstock could snap off. The crown of the bell could break. The gudgeons or bearings might fail. If the bearings are plain, with no cover caps, the gudgeon could be forced up out of its groove A stay must be designed so that none of these things happen before the stay breaks, and to design the stay the most likely form of failure must be determined.
The gudgeons and bearings are fairly strong and withstand horizontal forces up to twice and vertical forces up to four times the weight of the bell during normal ringing. The strength of the crown of a bell is a difficult problem for me to deal with theoretically, as I have an inadequate knowledge both of the required mathematical theory and of raw data to which it can be applied. How thick is the crown of a bell? How strong is bell metal? I may be able to ohtain answers to these questions in the next few months, but for the moment I must confess ignorance
Rough caiculations assuming. conservative values for the strength of cast-iron in shear show that the lugs fail at a considerably greater load that the bolts can withstand, so that the lugs are not a governing criterion
If the bell has plain bearings, whether these will jump out is determined so much by the geometry of any particular hanging that it requires individual calculation for each bell: as this article is meant to treat the problem fairly generally, in what follows I shall assume that the gudgeons are firmly held in the bearings.
Putting numbers into the appropriate expressions shows that the most likely mode of failure is snapping of the headstock bolts. Equating the moment of the force acting on the end of the stay at failure to the moment of the safe working loads in the bolts (say $1 / 5$ of the breaking loads) about the bearing axis gives an expression for the maximum value of this staybreaking force.

WORK ABSORPTION

The amount of work absorbed in the stay before it breaks is a measure of how difficult the stay is to break. It should be as large as is consistent with a safe breaking force, and will be determined by the value of this force and by the deflection of the end of the stay at fracture.
It is desirable on any but the smallest hells to have this work at least 200 foot-poinds (1 ton-inch), so that a ten-stone man would have to pull with his whole weight for a foot-and-a-half to break the stay.
The deflection of the end of a beam supported at one end, like the stay, is determined from its length, breadth and thickness, by the force applied, and from E, the Young's Modulus.
The breaking load is given by the dimensions of the slay and by the value of U , the Ultimate Tensile Strength.
Working backwards, given the failure load and work-absorption to fracture, we may calculate any two of the stay dimensions given the third. Usually the length $L$ is determined by the size of the bell, so we may determine a the width measured parallel to the length of the headstock, and $b$ the thickness. If V is the amount of work absorbed, and $\mathbf{P}$ (fail) the maximum safe stay-breaking force as calculated from the breaking loads of the bolts, then and $\quad \begin{aligned} & a=27 \mathrm{E}^{2} \mathrm{~V}^{2} / 2 \mathrm{U}^{3} \mathrm{~L}^{3 P}(\text { fail }) \\ & b=2 \mathrm{P}(\text { fail }) \mathrm{L}^{2} \mathrm{U} / 3 \mathrm{EV}\end{aligned}$ in consistent units. (E.g.: P(fail) in tons, $L$ in inches, U and E in tons/square inch.)
If the stay is not supported in a socket or by a staple, then $a$ is the effective width of the stay, allowing extra width for the bolt holesadd the diameter of the bolt to the calculated value to obtain the overall size of the wood
If absurd values of $a$ or $b$ are obtained, then try other values for $V$ until a well-proportioned shape is obtained.

WORKED EXAMPLE

Bell: Tenor at Trumpington, Cambridge
Weight: $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.
Holding bolts: $2 \times \frac{5}{8}$ " diameter mild stee bolts, one on each side $3 \frac{1}{2}^{\prime \prime}$ from centre line of headstock, $2 \times \frac{i^{\prime \prime}}{}$ diameter on the centre line. Length of stay required: $30^{\prime \prime}$
For mild steel $U=20$ tons/square inch at least, so the bolts will fail at a load of $20 \times$ $0.625^{2} \times \pi \times 0.25=6.2$ tons
Then, if the safe working stress is $1 / 5$ of the U.T.S
$P($ fail $)=(6.2 \times 2 \times 3.75+6.2 \times 2 \times 0) \div(5 \times 30)$
If the stay is made of ash, $\mathrm{U}=5.3$ tons square inch, and $E=670$ tons/square inch Take $V=1$ ton-inch.

Then $a=27 \times 670^{2} \times 1^{2} / 2 \times 5.3^{3} \times 30^{3} \times 0.31$

=4 \cdot 9 \text { inches. }

and $b=2 \times 0.31 \times 30^{2} \times 5.3 / 3 \times 670 \times 1$
The stay actually fitted has $a=3^{\prime \prime}, b=1 \cdot 5^{\prime \prime}$, so that $\mathrm{P}($ fail $)=0.20$ tons and $\mathrm{V}=0.63$ ton-inches.

CONCLUSIONS

The method outlined above leads to a reasonable design of stay on a sound theoretical basis. It provides a known margin against the type of failure considered, and seems to indicate that founders are perhaps slightly over-cautious about fitting strong stays.
I would be most interested to hear from anyone who has performed similar calculations or has any comments on these, and from the founders. In particular, any information about the strength of the crown of a bell would be most welcome. J. J. MCCLENAHAN.

Dear Sir,-Your correspondent Michael King (' R.W.', page 76) writes about ringing handbells in temperatures below freezing point.

Since it is not the delight of the multitude to practise their art in such adverse weather conditions, the performance of Mr. King's band. in a temperature of $17^{\circ} \mathrm{F}$, may well constitute a record for such a feat; and they need have fittle fear of it being broken. for it is difficult to imagine another hand attempting to sink any lower!-Yours faithfully,

ST. PETER'S, STAINES

AMODERN church with modern bells ' is often applied to many towers and churches by history writers, and scant attention is paid to anything of interest in such buikdings. Yet there is something about St. Peter's, Staines, that has always attraoted the writer since his first visit, just 60 years ago, so a short story in modern history may be of interest to many who have visited the church by the riverside at Staines.
Back in the Victorian days of tho early 70's, Staines was served by the Parish Church of St. Mary and those living in the Laleham Koad area had no church nearby. In 1874 a small brick building was erected in the vicinity, and years afterwards on jron huilding was erected to scit double the number, hut stil the district rgrew. Then Sir Edward Clarke, the famous lawyer, came to reside nearby the River Thames in 1890, and, with Lady Clarke, he became a member of the congregation at the little church.
During a visit to Devonshire, Lady Clarke sau a picturesque church situated by the River Dast, and it was this scene that gave her the jdea of a church by the banks of the Thames at Staines. Sir Edward took up the deen warmly and in his autobiography, he wrote: 'A little higher up the river than "Thorncote" there was a charming site, where a row of fine elms stood along the river-side of a field which it was proposed to let in building plots. I was afraid these trees would be cut down, so I told my neighbours that if they would buy the site I would build a church on it. The site was secured and I employed Mr. G. F. Prynne to design the church and superintend its construction.'
How promptly the work was carried out can be judged by the fact that Lady Clarke laid the foundation stone on July 22nd. 1893. and the churoh was dedicated on July 28th, 1894, by the Bishop of Marlborough.

STUMPY RED TOWER

Outside we see a stumpy red tower with a green spire, and a church in red brick and stone. On entering the west door we notice on the left a convenient place for books, etc.s while on the right is a lobby, where overcoats, hats and wet clothing can be hung, also a place for umbrellas.
The interior has a nave of four bays, and the chancel is the same width and height as the nave. At the south-west end of the south aisle, near the font, is the entrance to the tower. There is a southern transept and Lady Chapel, each with a separate entrance, while on the north side of the chancel are clergy and choir vestries, also the organ chamber
The altar is elevated by steps from the nave floor level, and the carved screen is worthy of close inspection. The organ and choir stalls were two of the many gifts of Sir Edward Clarke, and the ถltar. with frontals and furnishings, was presented hy Lady Clarke. The fine brass pulpit is also worthy of note. The visitor cannot fail to admire the stained glass windows, many of them given by Sir Edward, nnd two in the north aisle, one in 1931 by the people of Staines to mark Sir Edward's 90 th birthday, the other by friends and fellow citizens of the City of London in 1932, as a memorial to him.
In 1902 a ring of eight bells was Sir Edward's gift to mark his thanksgiving for the safe return of his son-in-law. Major ReesWebb, from the Boer War. The founders were Warner and Co., and the tenor is $15 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. Before the octave was formed in 1902 $S_{\text {t. }}^{2}$ Peter's had but two bells, and these formed the largest and smallest of the present ring; Many peals have been scored on them and the tower has proved a magnet for visitor's from many parts. due in many ways to the assiduousness of the tower keeper, Billy Parker. who took charge of the bells from 1902 and was a popular ringer and steeplekeeper for cver 50 years.
In recent years we read of activities by the local band. and the writer's memory goes hack to 1903, when he first heard and rang this pleasing riverside octave.

THE LADIES' GULLD  South Wales District

The South Wales District held its annual meeting at St. Mary's. Swansea, and despite the preceding freezing weather January 26th proved to be a sunny, spring-like day. Various methods were rung on these line bells, including Grandsire Triples, by a band of ladies.
The service was taken by Canon Harry Willians, who warmly welcomed the Guild to Swansea. The address was given by the curate, the Rev. Edward Hunt, who had been taught to ring by Mr. Arthur Hoare at Sketty,

The usual excellent tea was provided in the Church Room by Mrs. Whitworth and her helpers. These kind people were thanked hy Mr. Trevor Roderick

At the business meeting Miss Kathleen Watkins, of Sketty, was elected vice-president, Mrs J. S. King was re-elected secretary, and committee members elected were Miss Hulbert, Mrs. Whitworth, Mrs. Griffin. Mrs. Bruten and Mrs. Coles. Now members elected were Mrs. Stitch (Newton Notlage). ## LONG STANTON'S MISHORIUNE

The misfortune which has befallen the village of Long Stanton, in Cambridgeshire, can seldom, if ever, have heen the lot of a rural parish. They have only just had their bells increased from three to eight, and now, while a very considerable sum is still outstanding on the restoration, the ancient tenor has cracked in such a way as to render it useless, and the new peal has been spoilt until the bell can be recast. Such a happening would be enough to dishearten the suthorities of any church, but in Long Stanton the circumstances are spocially unforlunate. The recent increase of the bells to an octave was only carried out in the face of all kinds of discouragement and opposition.

ALL ENGLAND RALLY TO COVENTRY CATHEDRAL

The Coventry Diocesan Guild at their last quarterly meeting agreed to invite all ringers from all Guilds and Associations to a rally to be held on Saturday, April 20th, 1963. culminating in a service at the new Coventry Cathedral. It is hoped that the address will be given by the Bishop of Coventry, the $\mathbf{R t}$. Rev. Cuthbert K . Bardsley.
As Coventry is situated in the centre of England. and the new Cathedral has aroused so much interest, it is thought that ringers would appreciate this opportunity to visit it and talke part in a service especially arranged for them. The service will take place at $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., to cnable long distance iravellers to commence their return journey in good time.

All towers within easy reach of Coventry will be made available during the morning and afternoon up to $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., and some will be open after the tea.
A buffet tea will be arranged as near the Cathedral as possible immediately after the service.
From whatever direction Coventry is approached there are good bells available, and visitors are assured of a hearty welcome at them all. Suggested routes, and towers on them, will be published in 'The Ringing World' at an ## arly date.

Will all secretaries of Guilds and Associations who are interested inform the secretary of the Coventry Diocesan Guild as soon as possible of the numbers who may attend, to enable final urrangements to be made, as it may be necessary to issue tickets for the service: J. ## GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The annual meeting of the S.W. Branch was held at Plympton St. Mary on January 26th. Ringing, under the Ringing Master (Mr. T. G. Myers), comprised Stedman and Grandsire Triples. Plain Bob Major, with 'rounds' for several heginners who were present.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Ven. F. A. J. Matthews), who extended a hearty welcome to the Branch. They all formed the Body of the Church, the whole which made the House of God.

Iea was served in the Church School, and this was followed by the business meeting.

In his report the hon. secretary stated menbership remained about the same. Four peals hatd been rung at SI. Andrew's during the year and 20 yuarter peals, a number having been put on for Sunday evening services for visitors. Mention was made of the great progress being made by the Lifton ringers. Mr. Myers allo stated that Mr. Fred E. Day had called his irst peal. This was unique, is his first peal was Grandsire Caters, and this he followed by calling a peal of Bob Royal, both at St. Andrew's.

One new member was admitted-Miss Patricia Sims, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. J. P. Sims, captain of Emmanuel. Her sister, Miss Sylvia Sims, now at Salisbury Training College, has heen a ringer for about eight years. Messrs. 1. Welch. J. Cornelius and F. F. Lock, of Shopton Beatuchamp, were admitted as non-resident members. The chairnan expressed a welcome through Mr. Cornelius, who was present.

CANON GUY WARMAN: RINGERS' PADRE

TO be invited to take the chair at the Henry Johnson commemration dinner in Birmingham is an honour that may be valued and treasured in the memory. While it is customary for St. Martin's Guild $t 0$ extend this invitation to practical ringers, it by no means follows that a non-ringer may not be seen presiding over this important gathering. During the last 20 years we find the chair at the dinner occupied by influential clerics, men who do not ring but are intimately connected with ringers and their work for the Church. In 1952 the chairman was the Ven. S. Harvie Clark; in the years 1944, 1946 and 1948 Canon Guy Rogers, for many years Rector of Birmingham. In 1959 the gathering was presided over by Canon Guy Warman, the Vicar of Aston.

This year the Guild has again conferred the honour upon Canon Warman. He is a vice-president of the Guild, a regular attender at the Henry Johnson dinner, and a man with more perception of ringers and ringing than one can ever get him to admit. During the 16 years he has laboured in the heavily-populated and difficult parish of Aston, Canon Warman, in common with many others whose lives are devoted to such heart-searching tasks, must have seen deeply into virtually every human problem and thus marked the subtle interchange of the darker and the lighter, the humorous and the tearful. the tragic and the ridiculous. Near his home, in the middle of the field of his labours, is the great arena of the Aston Villa Football Club, presenting its weekly drama of comedy and tragedy and the compelling fascination of endless changes on an old theme. And close at hand, the noble tower of the ancient parish church looks down on this passing show, and from time to time reflects in its own music the vagaries of human life and the mutations of human fortunes.

Canon Warman knows his football crowd, for he may sometimes be found among them; and he knows his bells and his ringers. A few years ago, when Aston Villa went to Wembley, the Vicar said that if the F.A. Cup came to Birmingham the Aston bells should ring to welcome it. The cup came to Aston and the bells rang.

Birmingham ringers are conscious of what they owe to the kindness and interest of Canon Warman. The bells of Aston are available to bands of ringers at reasonable intervals, and at the quarterly meetings the Guild service at the church is conducted by the Vicar, who is quite prepared to play the organ, and will deliver an address that offers some new views on ringers' work and responsibilities and invariably provokes thought. To him, too, is owed the privilege that when the tombstones in the churchyard were laid flat for the bettering of that piece of holy ground, the stone of Henry Johnson, erected to his memory by the ringers of England, was allowed to remain erect as a witness to the national esteem in which this great ringer and composer was held.

With many such considerations as these we may, despite his repeated assertions that he knows nothing of the art, cease to regard Canon Warman as a nonringer. For he sees more deeply than many into ringers' motives; he has sympathy with the growth and development of change-ringing, remarking wisely that the art, like music and painting, must move with the times; and he speaks plainly on the relationship between the secular and the sacred aspects of bell-ringing activity.

A man's man, a true ringers' padre, and a commonsense friend: so all members of St. Martin's Guild know him; and for these things they have been privileged to honour him.
E. C.S.

1,000 PEALS AT LOUGHBOROUGH BELL FOUNDRY

By the Rev. Canon K. W. H. FELSTEAD

A S far back as August. 1905 is the Rev. F. E. Robinson became the first ringer to have 1,000 peals to his credil. Now. nearly 60 years later. we have the first tower to total 1.000 peals. And only 11 of them had been rung when Mr. Robinson achieved his ambition! And so, if it is possible to congratulate a tower, we do so with great pleasure.
The first peal on the Foundry bells was on September 27th, 1901-Stedman. Triples in 2 hours 48 minules-a slow time by modern standards for these bells. But people weren't in so much of a hurry in those days. Several of the early peals of Major took over 3 hoursthe slowest being 5.120 Kent Treble Bob Major in 3 hours 10 minutes rung in 1903. Surprisingly few peals were rung at first-five being the most in any yeur hefore the First World War. The grand total at the end of 1914 was 40 peals. 1921 was the year when things began to liven up at the Campanile-the year when. Harold Poole commanced his activities on the bells. The 100 peal mark came in 1923, and the 200th peal was rung $4 \frac{1}{2}$ years Later in 1928. After that, there was again a lull, for some reason, so that in the five years from 1929 to 1933 inclusive only 22 peals are recorded. Then came another hurst of activity, with the $300 t h$ peal in 1937 (November 3 nd). and a grand total of 335 when ringing had to cease bectuse of World War II.

After the war, came rather slow start-oniy 99 peals a slow start-onis. 19 peals from 1945 to 1948 inclusive. Then came the Jucques and W. Smith 52. Mention also ought explosion- 50 peals in 1949, which brought the to be made of J. P. Fidler, the well known 401 up on December 17th of that year. From that time every two or three years has seen atrother 100 peals. and 600 peals, to bring the 1.000 up, have been rung in almost exactly 13 years from the end of 1949 to the end of 1962 -an average of about 46 a year. The most in any year was 62 in 1959 and none of the past five years has had less than 57.

770 RINGERS

And now. something about the ringers who have taken part in the 1.000 peals. Actually, I think the number of ringers who have helped to amass this great total is surprisingly small. It is about 770, and of these 350 have rung a single peal only, so the remainder have been busy. The late Mr. Ernest Morris (as many will no doubt have guessed) took par: in most peals. I make his total 334 at the Foundry. For any who are interested. here is a list of those who have rung over 50 peals: G. R. Edwards 277. H. J. Poole 262, B G. Warwick 236, J. A. Acres and J. W. Cotton 231. J. M. Jelley 197. Mrs. H. J. Pool: 187. J. F. Milner 169. E. J. Jelley 149. C. Harrison i32. A. J. Poynor 129 . R. J. Clifton 122. E. W. Rawson 118 . R. S. Morris 115 , S. Burton 114. W. P. Whitehead 109. J. F. Hutchby 100, P. J. Staniforth 99. H. B. Bowley 94. J. SudJington 91. R. Elkington 85 . G. A. Hatls 85. D. P. Jones and J. R. Smith 81, Mrs. B. G. Warwick 75. P. L. Taylor 69. E. Reader 68, B. S. Chapman and L. H. Whitehead 64. A. Ballard 62. F. H. Stubbs, E.R. Whitehead and J. Oldham 60, H. Broughton 58, and E. C. Gobey, E. A. employee of the Foundry, whose total is 49 .
The peals have been conducted by 114 different people. The list, in descending order of number of peals conducted, is quite different from the above. Mr. E. Morris, for instance, only 'called' 45 of his great total. The ' keader ' in this list is Mr. B. G. Warwick with 193. Actually, it was only in 1962 that he pussed the total of the previous leader the late Mr. H. J. Pooke, whose total was 179. No other ringer has yet called 100 peals at the Foundry, and, in fact, they have still a long way to go. Here is the list: W. P. Whitehead 66, J. M. Jelley 53, E. Morris 45, C. Harrison 45, D. P. Jones and P. J. Staniforth 40, E. Reader 35, F. H. Dexter 21, J F. Milner 16, G. R. Edwards and W. Thornley 15. A. J. Poynor 13, and G. A. Halls and R. B. Smith 10 . Those are the ones with 10 or more peals to their credit as conductor. Aotually, 64 of the conductors have a single peal they have called on the bells and one hils even thalf at peal!

66 DIFFERENT METHODS

We now turn to the methods rung in the 1.000 peals. Although the majority of the peals were of Major, the biggest variety has been in peals of Royal. The 170 peals of Royal have been rung in 66 different methods or combinations of methods. Surprise Royal has been rung in methods which commence with every letter of the alphabet! Cambridge

Royal has been most populat as usual, with 36 peals, Yorkshire has 24, Plain Bob 13 and K.Kent Treble Bob 6 No other methods have mori than four peals
There have only been 38 peals of Caters- 29 of Sted. man and nine of Grandsire
The Campanile had eight bells at first, the two trebles being added in 1923. so it is not surprising that (as men tioned above), most peak have been on eight bellsjust over 560, in fact. The irst of Major was on March 8th, 1902-Kent Treble Bob and 33 peals in this method have been rung in all. Again it is Cambridge which lead the way in number of peak -109 in all, with Yorkshire again second-77. Superlative 33. Bnistol 26, Lincolnshire has 60. Plain Bob 56. Double Norwich 40, London 38, Kent 13, combined Kent and Oxford 11 and Rutkand 10 There is insufficient space to mention those with less than 10 peals. Not quite all the alphabet has been rung in Surprise methods in the Major range, the missint letters being $\mathbf{E}, \mathbf{H}, \mathbf{Q}, \mathbf{U}$ and Z. No doubt this will soon be rectified now that the secret is 'out.' Sixty-two different methods or combina. tions of methods have been rung in all.
Of Triples. there have been 131 peals- 104 of Stedman 26 of Grandsire and 2 Plarin Bob.
It is only in the past few years that Minor and Doubles methods have been rung with any regularity. Thus the first peal of Doubles wasn't undil 1936. Personally, I think thi increase is a pity, for I am onc who thinks that, on the whole, peals shouk be sung using all the bells in the tower. Ther are plenty of five- and six-bell towers for peals on these numbers. No doubt this opinion will spark off a letter or two in the correspondence column! There have been 73 peals of Minor, in 20 varieties of methodsmost being of PLain Bob (19). Fourteen of the 21 peads of Doubles have come in the past three years. and there have been 15 different kinds of peals- 27 methods being the greatest number used in one peal.

QUIOKEST PEALS

Of course, over the years, there has been a competition for the quickest peal on the bells in the various compasses possible. The first peal of Royal rung was in 1924, with a time of 2 hours 58 minuter. This time was the quickest for 13 years-a pretty good effort. In 1937, we had a time of 2 hours 50 minutes, which was the pre-war record. Imme diately after the war came 2 hours 45 minutes in 1945 and this had been reduced to 2 hours 25 minutes by 1949 . This time stood for 10 years, until a further minute was knockod off in 1959. In 1961 came the present record one minute less still- 2 hours 23 minutes. The first peal of Caters took 3 hours 5 minutes. but this didn't last long and by 1931 the record stood at 2 hours 32 minutes. This lasted until 1954 , when 2 hours 30 minutes was clocked. In 1957 came times of 2 hours 28 minutes and 2 hours 26 minutes. Then in 19612 bours 25 minutes and, frally, last year 2 hours 22 minutes.

Major started at 2 hours 58 , and the quickest peal before 1914 was in 1907-2 hours
1.000 PEALS AT LOUGHBOROUGH-contd. 4) minutes. This time was reduced progressively no less than seven times in the years 1921 and 1922, by the end of which year 2 hours 20 minutes had been reached. This stood until 1937 when a couple of minutes was clipped off the time. In 1939, no less than 10 minutes was knocked off and we had a time of 2 hours 8 minutes. This obviously took some beating, but the time was a minute less in a peal of Superlative in 1949. Five years later, a peal of Yorkshire wis rung in 2 hours 2 minutes Even that time only lasted nine months, for there came i:1 November, 1954, a peal in 1 hour 57 minutes. Finally, a vear later, there came the quickest tower bell peal yet rung to that time-Bob Major in 1 hour 45 minutes-an incredible speed of nearly 50 changes a minute. I don't suppose that will be beaten in a hurry.

Triples had a quickest time of 2 hours 33 minutes before 1914. 2 hours 8 minutes before 1939 and is now 2 hours dead (in 1957). Minor started at 1 hour 59 minutes in 1925, had been reduced to 1 hour 50 minutes before 1939 and thas only been quickened up twice since then - 1 hour 48 minutes in 1958 and 1 hour 41 minutes in 1961 (the present record). Deubles started at 2 hours 32 minutes in 1936 . became 2 hours 15 minutes in 1939 and stands at 1 hour 35 now-the quickest tower bell peal ever.
One of the attractions of this very light and beaunifully 'running' ring of bells has always been the possibility of ringing long lengths, and the Foundry holds the record in many methods, the most recent being on December 8th last when 15,520 changes of Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung. Pride of place must be the longest peal ever rung by one band of ringers -32.704 changes of Plain Bob Major on July 15th. 1961. This, of course, was the result of an attempt on the 40,320 . of which the Campanile has seen several in the past year or two. If this ever is accomplished. the Foundry is probably the only place where it could be done. The second longest peal here was also connected with this 40,320 attempt.18 .928 of Bob Major last August. Other peals of over 10.000 changes are as follows: 13,440 Plain Bob Major on April 8th, 1922 ; 10.400 Real Superlative Surprise Major on

10.368 I.ondon Surprise Major on October

14.560 Yorkshire Surprise Major on September 21st, 1957 :
Peals of 6.000 changes and over, in order of ringing them. are:
9.120 Kent & Oxford Treble Bob Major on May 6th. 1922
7.008 Bob Major on October 4th. 1924 6.720 Lintle Bob Major on April 3rd. 1926: 9,600 Kent & Oxford Treble Bob Major on December 24th. 1927 9.760 Buh Major on November 30th, 1935 : 7.008 Bob Major on December 6th. 1952:
6.720 Double Norwich Major on August 6th. 1960 ;
6.120 Cambridge Surprise Royal on October 6,000 Doubles in 5 methods on November

3rd. 1962.
Finally we come to the Guilds for which the peals have been rung. At first. and until the mid-1920's, most peals were rung for the old Midland Counties Association-336. in fact. When that was divided and the tower caime in the area of the Leicester Diocessan Guild, the vast majority of peals were rung for that Association and the number for that Guild is now 546 . The only other two Assochations for which any substantial numbers have been rung are the new Midland Counties Association, 70, and the Derbyshire Associa-whose encouraging co-operation has made the ringing of 1.000 peals on the Foundry Campanile possible, to the advancement of the Exercise at large.

MR. PAUL L. TAYLOR,
tion, 26. The remaining peals have been rung for 13 other Societies and there have also been two non-Association peals.

And so another milestone in the history of ringing has been reached. I wonder which will be the first church tower to pass the 1.000 peal mark? Erith? Crayford? Willesden? Who knows? But it is quite likely that it may not be reached before the end of the century! By which time, at the present rate of things, Loughborough Bell Foundry will have passed the 2,000 mark.

SOUTH DERBYSHIRE & NORTH LEICESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The members attending the annual meeting of the Association at Shardlow on January 19th-a cold and snowy day-heard from the chairman. Mr. F. W. Hinds, that the Association's application for recognition by the Central Council had been received and would be submitted to the Council at its meeting later in the year. The news was warmly greeted by the 27 members present.

Ringing preceded a short service conducted by the Vicar atnd a splendid tea was served in the British Legion Hall. The Rev B. K. Rice. Vicar of Tideswell, had resigned the presidency and the Rev. M. R. Austin. Vicar of St. Andrew's. Derby, was elected his successor. Mr. F. W. Hinds and Mr. R. Barker were re-elected chairman and secretary respectively, and Mr. S. K. A. Huson is the new Ringing Master in succession to Mr. B. R. Manning. Elected to the committee were Messrs. J. E. Collins, M. A. Fenn, G. Fletcher. Messrs. Walklate. E. H. Willows and C. Whitting.
Mr B. R. Manning said although the number of peals, half peals and quarters had not risen during the past year there was an increase ill the number of conductors.
Next meeting: St. Andrew's. Derby. on February 16th.

OBITUARY  MR. H. COX

Mr. Bert Cox died suddenly at his home in Wimbledon on February 2nd, aged 81 years.

Known as 'Harry, in his early years he was one of the members of the Boyne Hill band in the 1930's. He rang several Surprise Major peals there, one of the earlier ones (in 1909) being Cambridge, with George Martin as conductor. Bert Cox was proud of those days and rightly so, for Surprise Major rung by a Sunday servic band represented a considerable achievement
Latterly he had lived in Wimbledon, and he was, until his failing legs prevented him, a regular service ringer, standing in many of the Sunday evening quanter peals.
A gardener, he found relaxation after retirement in his roses and pot plants.
He was a kindly man and will be missed by those who knew him.
On February 7th a half-mulled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Wimbledon as a token of respect by Vanesisa Rodrigues 1 Judith Geiringer 2. Caroline Carpenter 3, Susan Rawlings 4, A. Bishop 5. M. H. Sinden $6 . K$. Newman (cond.) 7, R. Mayes 8.

Cremation was at Putney Vale on February 13th.

MR. GEORGE BERRY

The death occurred recently of Mr. Gicorge Berry, of Hodnet, Shropshire, at the age of 57 years.
He stirted ringing about 199 \} with the calle change band at Hodnet; the bells were then in very bad order and were swing-chimed on Sundays and only rung up on speciall occasions owing to the very heavy 'go.

After the bells had been rehung in 1931, a change-ringing band was formed with the writer as instructor. George made excellent progress and was appointed captain the following year a position he held for about 15 years until he went farming on his own account. when he gave up ringing owing to pressure of work. He was also a chorister for many years.
He was a tall, well-built man, and was freyuently taken for an ex-Guardsman. He rang a few peals. mostly of Plain Bob Minor at his own tower and round about, and he rang the treble in a very fine peal in seven Treble Bob methods at Forton, conducted by Arthur Pritchard.

George was a very good striker and came of ringing stock: his farther, Alick used to slog the almost unringable tenor at Hodnet prior to the rehanging, and his uncle, Jesse, was captaitn at nearby Stoke-on-Tern until his death.
He was laid to rest in Hodnet Churchyard on January 26th, and as it was not convenient to get a band to ring, owing to the annual meeting of the Association at Shrewsbury, the ringers met on the following Wednesday evening and rang some cxcellent half-muffled Grandsire Doubles to the memory of an old friend.

Dear Sir ,-It is necessary to correct the third paragraph of Messrs. Dukes and Dunwoody's letter in 'The Ringing World ' of February 8th, that "No help has been given, as is usually done by the host Association, other than "fend for yourself" because of accommodation difficulties.'
Immediately after my return from the 1962 Central Council meeting, on June 19th. I had an interview with the manager of the Carlton, Yarmouth's most suitable hotel, and effeoted a shadow' booking for 200 people, also arranged an excellent room for the Standing Committee, and an equally excellent room for the Tuesday evening gathering, all for the Central Council meeting for Whitsun, 1963.
The same day I interviewed the Town Clerk of Great Yarmouth, and effected a shadow booking of the Town Hall for the Whit Tuesday meeting, together with the Mayor for the official welcome, and a civic reception for the afternoon.
Great Yarmouth is one of the most popular seaside holiday resorts in the British Isles; the hotels get more or less fully booked for the following summer, even before the summer season is over. and the Town Hall is similarly booked for conferences sometimes a year or more ahead.
The manager of the Carkon made it clear that he must have an early confirmation of the booking if the reservation were to bo guaranteed.

I was, naturally, acting not in any officia! capacity, but simply as a local resident. familiar with the difficulties inseparable from the extraordinary popularity of Great Yarmouth. I made it very clear to those officially concerned with Central Council arrangements that these bookings simply must be confirmed at the earliest possible date, or the whole plan would collapse. There are several other good hotels in Great Yarmouth, at all of which the same matters apply.
It appears that it was not found possible 10 confirm the shadow booking of the Carlton Hotel, and the hotel naturally had to take up other bookings which other groups were able to effect months ago. Meanwhile, the same thing has been happening at the other hotels here. None of this is surprising. It was all foreseen by those who know the local conditions. It is, nevertheless, a great pity, for the Carlton could have provided the Council with an entirely adequate and really delightfu! meeting place.
The thing for members to do now is, not to indulge in any questions about the past, but to seize the opportunity of the present, act now on the advice in the notice in the 'R.W. of January 11 th, and book. not in the large hotels which are already full, but in the smaller yet very attractive places noted in the 'summary of acoommodation' from our publicity manager.
Control of the hotel situation has passed from our hands, but everything else is boing planned so as to give members a most delightful time-tours on the Broads, ringing in the incomparable Enst Anglian churches, and the other delights associated with Central Council meetings.-Yours faithfully.

GILBERT THURLOW.

> Vicar of Great Yarmouth.

Dear Sir-Canon A. G. G. Thurlow has heen good onough to send me a copy of his reply to the letier from Messis. Dukes and Dunwoody in your issuc of February 8th, and I would like to endorse his view that, apant from the difficulty over headquarters and accommodation generally, arrangements for the mecting are proceeding normally, thanks to the efforts of the officers of the Norwich Diocesan Association. It seems to me somewhat ungracious to complain of "poor arrangements' when all that has so far been said is that members must select their own accommodation from a local guide. Had the meeting been held in London exactly the same situation would have applied.
The fact that the Irish Association representatives travel at their own expense seems hardly relevant, but perhaps it is worth mentioning that all honorary and life members of the Council also attend meetings at their own expense.

I must, however, refer to the statement in Canon Thurlow's letter that he had effected a shadow booking for 200 people at 'Yarmouth's most suitable hotel,' with the implication both there and clsewhere in the letter that had it not been for the dilatoriness of others-mainly myself I suppose-the accommodation difficulty would not have arisen. What he does not say is that the manager quoted for 160 persons at the Cavendish and 40 at the Carlton (the two are practically adjoining), both at fifteen guineas a head, weekly terms only. The Association's secretary, Mr. Barrett, was able to get bed and breakfast terms at the Carlton and the charge for the Cavendish redused to twelve guineas plus 5 per cent., but since the manager would not agree to other than weekly terms the latter would have been out of the question for most members. In effect, therefore, accommodation at headquarters would have been for 40 people only, and it is obvious that at least three-quarters of those attending (four-fifths if wives and families are inoluded) would have had to find accommodation elsewhere.-Yours sincerely,

Handbell Teams in North of England

Dear Sir,-In reply to the letter by 'E. Jatch,' with reference to handbell ringing, akhough he does not say so, I presume that he is in possession of a copy of "The Art of Handbell Ringing,' and also that his remarks refer to tume ringing on handbells, and not change ringing.
I know of quite a number of bands of tune ringers in the North, and for general information I enclose a list of those active at the present time. There will be other bands that perhaps I am unaware of, and it would be of interest to many readers if they could make themselves known through "The Ringing World.'
E. Jatch' does not give his address, and so I am not aware if he lives near enough to get in touch with any of these bands, but at various times I have had correspondence with tune ringers in other parts of the country. If he will write to me I will try to put him in touch with the nearest tune tingers that I know of; perhaps then he may arrange to have some tune recordings made locally.

He is quite right when he states: "We have very little knowledge of what is being done and what can be done,' but I can assure him that the tune ringing of the bands I mention is of a high standard, the ringers are keen and they all make visitors welcome at their practice nights. To anyone who thas never heard or seen a good hand of tune ringers I would suggest that they do so at the first opportunity; they have a treat in store! A Jarge part of the fascination of tune ringing to me lies in watching the rise and striking of the bells in the ringer's hands, sometimes in sequence, sometimes in irregular order. but always in time and with never a wrong note, and all blending together to produce music with qualities no other medium can reproduce.-Yours sincerely,
T. OGDEN

A PEAL ON YORKSHIRE'S HEAVIEST FIVE

THE AVENUE

THE CHURCH

I
IN the north-westerly outskirts of Leeds and forming a triangle barely a mile widc stand three churches surmounted by lofity spires with much in common, in that they all contain rings of bells-two eights and one five-all by Taylor's, although of differing periods and characteristics, and all three in the same key.

The two octaves are well known: the Pearson church of St. Michael, Headingley, appears frequently on television when Test matches are televised from the cricket ground nearby, and further along the Otley Road lies St. Chad's, Far Headingley, where a 'Grimthorpe' octave was recast thirty years ago.
Less prominent down in the valley, between the Otley and Harrogate Road, lies Meanwood village, a parish over which the earliest Leeds Corporation housing estate sprawls as well as hundreds of what in estate agents' jargon would be described as 'mod. semis, small gardens at front and rear...; but the church and its tree lined avenue still keep their village characteristics.
Passibly Meanwood's only claim to fame lies in its influence in the design of "Big Ben through its association with Sir Edward Beckett, afterwards Lord Grimthorpe - the nearby 'Beckelt Arms' perpetuates his name.
When after seven years of wrangling matters had reached a deadlock, Beckett was called in to adjudicate on the Westminster clock in 1851 and having the previous year had the Meanwood clock made to this satisfaction, he not unnaturally had the Houses of Parliament clock made by the same man, Mr. Dent, of l.ondon.

At that time there would have been only two bells at Meanwood by Taylor's, 1840, the present third and fourth, to which the same founder added two trebles and a tenor eleven years later.

OCTAVE ENVISAGED
From the dayout it is apparent that the passibility of completing the octave was envisaged, and a splendid eight they would make. I am inclined to agree with a former Vicar who maintained that tonally Meanwood tells are superior to their two heavier neighbours up the hill, and it is said that the three areble bells were suggested if not actually offered in memory of the famous surgeon, Lord Moyniham, whose house, Carr Manor, now forms the judges' residence.

Through the instrumentality of one of the offshoot Potts' clock firms abounding at the time, the bells were rehung by Mears, some thirty years ago, and while they 'go' well they cannot be rushed.

The tower is built over the chancel crossing and the ringing chamber is directly below the single belfry floor, which has a large gap for the clock weights, so that the bells are inclined to be on the noisy side, although they are by no means impossible for a conductor with good lung power.

In ringing circles Meanwood's most famous son was the late Mr. Rupert Richardson, who was proud of his association with the village.
There is no record of a peal ever having been attempted here until after the last war, when one or two somewhat half-hearted attempts were made, one with silencers fitted and another when it is said that two ringers tried to change bells and changed course in the process.
Neither would here seem ever to have been a meeting at this tower. It is not to be expected that a large territorial association should visit a five-bell tower while the local district society. which might be expected to do so has, in my opinion, a stupid rule whereby it cannot hold meetings at any tower unless it has members there.
The 'non-union' tendency does not appear to have any adverse effect on the ringing. rather the reverse in fact, since this is one of the minority of Leeds towers where the bells are fully manned and rung twice a Sunday.
As already reported, the first peail on these bells was rung on January 19th, eight methods of Doubles by a band mostly from Leeds

Parish Churoh, with one ringer from Pontefract, and it was a very creditable performance by the eighteen-year-old conductor, who, apart from contending with weight and noise, called the first peal in eight methods of Doubles by the whole band.
It may not be a record, but I imagine that few towers where the bolls have been pealable will have remained 'unconquered' for 82 years.
R. H. DOVE.

Grandsire Minor

Dear Sir,-I was very interested to see Geoffrey Drew's letter concerning the 'carrect' name of Grandsire Minor. Although I need hardly mention it, plain leads can be had in a 720, and it can then rightly be called Grandsire Minor. But what happens if the conductor wishes to put a call at every lead? To me it seems like some form of Original Minor.

Now, to go one step further away from the method. The ringers are told to think of the method of Grandsire and to make a bob at every lead without it being called. Rounds will come up at the end of tha usual five leads, thus forming the plain course. But what is the name of this method now? It doesn't even look like Grandsire, there is not even a bell in the hunt-draw out the blue linz and have a look for yourself. Now for the calls, there won't be so many for a 720. what were bobs ane now plain leads and singles need anly be called. If an ordinary Grandsire plain lead be needed this could be a bob.

Rung in this fashion it could be called Reverse St. Bartholomew Minor, as this method on five bells is only Grandsire with four uncalled singles and a slightly different bob.-Yours sincerely,

ALAN A. J. BUSWELL.

SOCIETY OF CUMBERLAND YOUTHS AT DINNER

rIHE dinners of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths are becoming some of the most popular in the singers' calendar, and it was a pleasing tribute to the Master, Mr. Denis Beresford, to find, amid the snow and ice of these days, ringers travelling from as far as York and Lincoln, Chepstow in the west and Southampton in the south, to thonour the common link they had in this Society, which was founded in 1747. This year's function was held on February 2nd at the Eustan Tavern.
It was a happy evening. The Master had a good report to give of a successful year, well attended meetings and encouraging progress from many recruits. With his skill in the chair, he blended speech into speech and countered story with story, and the evening passed all too quickly.
The Master announced apologies from the Bishop of Worcester (the Rt. Rev. Charles Edwards), the Rev. Meredith Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Drew (Cheltenham). Mr. Alfred House, Mr. F. E. Hawthorne, Mr. Zass-Ogilvie, Mrs. Deal, Mr. Tom Bevan and Mr. Nicholas Davies. The Master of the Middlesex Association scnt his greetings.
The toast of 'The Church' was proposed by Mr. W. R. Winterton, who recalled that Jast year the 'preacher' was the almostReverend Peter Bond. At that time he was in the twilight zone; he had seen his light, but had not quite reached it. It was obvious that the person proposing the toast on this occasion had been taken from outer darkness.
Mr. Wimterton said his credentials for proposing the toast were that his father, his father-in-law and his uncle were parsons; a nephew was an almost-reverend and a cousin was one of that curious breed-licensed lay readers.

BELLS RANG TO THEIR DEATH

In a welcome to the Rev, Roy Deasy, Vicar of St. Andrew's. Holborn, Mr. Winterton said they were ail delighted that those bells were ringing again. They were all sorry that their dear friend Joe Hawkins was not with them. He was for many years steeple-keeper of those bells and he tells a very sad story of their end. The last people to ring those of their end. The last people to ring those bells left them up. The church was hit by incendiary bombs in the early hours of the morning and Joe, who lived nearby, heard the bells ringing for their death as they swung when the stays burnt through. Those bells were now back and they hoped that Mr. Deasy would enjoy hearing them on very many occasions and come to that dinner on future accasions.
The Rev. Roy Deasy, who replied, said he would like to offer deep appreciation and gratitude for all bell mingens contribute to the life and work of the church in this land. Sunday by Sunday the bolls rang out an invitation-an invitation to join in the wonderful love and glory of God. Those of them who were concerned with the work and mission of the church realised that ringers not only aang the bells, but kept them in first class order, and it was the boast of one tower with which he was familiar that no cost for the bells fell on the parish.
Mr. Deasy said he was not only Vicar of St. Andrew's Church, but he had a specialised job among young people. It was a pleasure to know that so many young men and women found enjoyment in young ringing bands, and he was pleased to know that in their Society there was room for ringers who were learning che oraft.
The Rev. Peter. N. Bond, proposing the toast of 'The Socioty of Royad Cumberland Youths, said he had watched through the columns of 'The Ringing World, the great progress the Society had made in the past year. One sometimes read letters suggesting abolished and that the only Societies noeded were those who catered for ringing in a geographical area. He was convinced that Societies like theirs and the Ancient Society of College Youths had a definite part to play in not only keoping the churches in the central part of Loodon going but as a hink

WORTHY SUCCESSORS

Their Society had a very great heritage and history going back over 200 years which they hoped to read when the original rules of the Society were reprinted. But they could not merely look back; they had to look to the future and get young people interested in their art. They all knew of flourishing bands of ringers dying and the bells becoming silent because there ware no young ringers coming forward, when the older ringers died or retired. It was with great pleasure he welcomed so many young members that evening, many of them being worthy successors of those who had done so much to advance the Society. Already more than one of the young members were great rames in composition and conducting.

The Master. in his reply, said they had the rules of the Society as known from their foundation in 1747, and they hoped that they would be shortly available to every member. In a weloome to the gathering, Mr. Beresford said it was some inspiration to their members in London that their activities were followed by those of the Society in other parts of the country. They had with them members from Chepstow, Newark, Lincoln, York, Lichfield and Southampton. Those were long distances for people to travel and gave a fair indication that the Society throughout the country was in good heart and that their dinner was one of the events of the year. The attendance that night had practically doubled in the last five years. While numbers were important what was more so was that their dinner should continue to be a friendly gathering of friendly people.

They had also tried hard to make sure on such day that there should be suitable ringing. In that respect they were grateful to the key man of the College Youths, Jack Phillips, who had done so much to foster good relations while remaining an admirable College Youth If he succeeded to the Mastership of that Society next year they would wish him a happy year. They welcomed that evening the Master of the Society, Mr. Michael Chilcott, and his wife.

MORE STABLE

The past year lad been a good year and financially the Society was more stablo than since the war, and double the number of now members were elocted than in the previous year. Their peals numbered eight, and in that respect thy were very pleased to enrol certain members of the Essex Association. They had rung their first peal of six spliced and their first of New Gloucester. He must also mention that admirable meeting at Sevenaaks, and the successful meeting with the Middlesex Association.
St. Martin's bells were ringing again, but they must receive some attention: they were as difficult as ever. They were very grateful to the Rev. Roy Deasy for the bells of St. Andnew's, Holborn: they had a large number of people coming to their practices, and it was encouraging to see the progress these was encouraging to
The Society in London was to face a blow when Tom and Margaret Francis ieft for Southampton. They owed a lot to Tom, who kept the Society together when it was at a ow ebb. and, although the work id hard when he was Master, he did not lhive a great deal of support. Canon K. W. H. Felstead was ons of their members. He would have someone to replace the loss of Charlie Kippin.
Mr. F. J. Mathews, honorary secretary of the Society, proposed 'The Visitors.' He included in the toast members of the Society living out of London. There was a special mention of Miss Iris Lemare, of York. Jack Millhouse and other Lincoln friends, and also the Newark contingent that cilused him to remark: "You cannot have links withour knots (Lines without Notts). Mr. Tom Lock, as leader of Great Adventure No. 2, was grected.

Coming to Mr. and Mrs. King. of Chepstow, the speaker recalled their visit to the annual meeting of the Central Council at Chelmsford. Another visitor with whom he had travelled was Mr. Chilcott, the Master of the College

Youths. 'Some years ago,' said Mr. Matthews - had the pleasure of cyoling many miles with him and his brother. They had wish them that night nine College Youths. They were not specially invited as on a Sunday morning they sat at opposite ends at Lyons', drinking coffee. [Laughter.]

THEIR SUPERIORITY

The Master of the College Youths replied and on behalf of his Sooiety congratulated the Cumberlands on a very successful year. He was pleased to know that St. Mantin's bells were ringing again, as St. Martin's was a very important tower-the first peal of Stedman Cinques was rung there 175 years ago.
Mr. Chilcott said his Society had to acknowledge the Cumberlands' superiority in one re-spect-in the field of female bell ringers-and he would say that their skill in the art of belle control had to be seen to be believed. [Laughter.] To Mr. Matthews, Mr. Chilcout sald - Your secretary is carrying on a family tradition of service and we all owe him our thanks fo: a very happy evening.'
Handbell ringing was again prominent, and included a touch of Yorkshire Surprise, and also Bristol Surprise. The ringers were: Mr. E A. Barnedt, Miss J. Beresford and Messrs.
D. and P. Beresford.

THE COMPANY

The Master and Mrs. D. Beresford were supported on the top table by the Rev. R. and Mrs. Deasy, the Rev. Peter N. Bond. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Winterton, Mr. M. V. Chilcott (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths) and Mrs. Chilcott, Mr. F. J. Matthews (honorary secretary) and Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. F. E. Hawthorne and Mr. T. W. White.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY DINNER

I'HE annual dinner and reunion of the Bristol 1 University Society took place on January 26th. a record number of tickets having been sold this year. Throughout the day ringing was enjoyed by many at various towers in Bristol opened for the occasion. A peal attempt of Stedman Caters at St. Stephen's was successful.
As usual, the dinner was preceded by the special general meeting of the Society, followed by the annual service at St. Michael's Church. The ringing was led by a choir of past and present members of the Society, accompanied br Dr. David Heighton at the organ. The lesson was read by Miss Maria Kirby, and a stirring sermon was given by the Vicar, the Rev. Vyvyan Jones.
During the meal the Master. Mr. Antony R. Kench. took winte with past Masters present. and later the secretary, Mr. Derek Saw-ye-. paid a similar compliment to his predecessors in office.
The toasts of 'The Queen' and 'The Church, were honoured on the call of the president, Dr. R. J. Brockelhurst. The president also reminded all present that in the past year the Society had lost an honorary member. Mr. Frederick Leaker. to whom it owed a great deal. especially in its beginnings after the war. All stood in silence in memory of him. The president welcomed both members and visitors, remarking how loyal past members always were to the occasion. He then asked the secretary to propose a toast to the visitors.
Mr. Sawyer began by teminding the Society of the debt it owed to the Rev. Vyvyan Jones for allowing them the use of St. Michael's bell's for the past 20 years. This had enabled the Society to keep together. They had repaid the deht by somehow eleating him an thonorary member twioe iover. The secretary welcomed the Masters of Birmingham, Liverpool. Southampton and Oxford Universities, and also representatives from London and Nottingham.

He also welcomed Mr. A. V. Bennett. Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and Mr, and Mrs. E. A. Barnett, names that conjure up a picture of the Central Council.

This year menu cards had been printed and would be sent to past members of the Society who were unable to attend. One of these was to be sent to Mr. Cecil Mogford, a well-known city ringer and a great friend of the Society, who was unfortunately in hospital.
THREE POINTS FROM THE DOCTOR
Mr. E. A. Barnett, neplying, said he was playing truant from his Association's District meeting but believed he was supported by several other ringers from Kent who were present. He said the was reminded of a famous Englishman. W. G. Grace, captain of a cricket team touring Australia in the $1890^{\circ}$ s. who also spoke at society funcrions. As communication was bad in Australia he always made the same speech. First he thanked his audience for their hospitality, saying he had never had a better meal. Secondly, he stated he had never played with better cricketers. and thirdly that he had never seen prettier women. Mr. Barnewt was sure he could equally well address all three remarks to the assembled company, substituting ringers for cricketers
In spite of the forebodings of 'The Ringing World Committee, the magazine would make a substantial profit this year. Next year, however. with increases in cost, the position would be uncertain, but as yet there would be no increase in price. It was hoped the paper would continue to make a profit so this would be a voided.
Mr. Barinett concluded by thanking the chairman and the Society on behalf of the visitors for the dinner
Mr. Ginner. Davies. Master of Birmingham University Society, proposed a taast to "The Bristol University Society. The Society dinner, he said. was always the best, and the support it got was overwhelming. From his 'voluminous notes' Mr. Davies managed to produce some irrelevant but amusing information. including two poems by William Wilson. The remarkable ringing achievements of William Pye were brought to everyone's notice, among them his ringing of over 1,000 peals; and all were asked to stand while a subsidiary toast was proposed to him. Mr. Davies concluded by saying that the Society held one of the most successful Society dinners in circuit.
The Master. Mr. Antony Kench, replied to the toast, and stressed that in responsic to a taast to the Society his job was to talk about the Society. First he gave an informal vote of thanks to the president. Dr, R. J. Brockelhurst. He had done much behind the scenes and was a tower of strength to the Society, always ready to give advice and help when it was needed.

CUPID INTELLIGENCE
If not the most important aspeot of the Society, the most interesting was Cupid. This past year a daughter had been born to David and Bridget Heighton, also there had been an addition to the family of Frank Mack and to that of Michael and Brenda Sprackling. He congratulated Jemnifer Gambling and Pat Bourn 0.1 their engagements, both regrettably to nonringers. but he still wished them ev. Is happiness. A toast was proposed to Barbara Stevens and Brian Wylde. who had become engaged enly two hours previously.
The Master stressed that the Society was a ringing society. In the last year not many peals had been rung, in fact only one more than in the previous year. This year. however. chere had been more variety in the methods rung. The resident Society still rang regularly at St. Michael's and the Vicar always gave them his full support. The bells were rung for Matins and Evensong, and this was in fact listed as one of the arms of the Society.
Everyone was reminded that ringing, although a pleasant hobby was also a duty, a fact brought home especially in the severe (Continued on page 119)

At the S.W. District annual meeting, Mr. Leonard Strilwell was elected an honorary life member of the Middlesex County Association. having completed 50 years' membership. A peal was arranged at Windsor to mark the occusion, out it was found to be rather belated since he had in fact joined the Association in 1908 Better late than never, and the compliment was given even more sincerely.
We are told that the weight of the tenor at Swanwick, Derbyshire (page 66) should read 17 cmt .2 qr. 13 lb.
Will Mr. W. Linter, who took pant in the Great Adventure, please forward his address to Mr. T. J. Lock, 57, Holloways Lane, North Mimms, Hatfield, Herts.
Mr. A. James Poynor and Mr. B. S. Payne, of the Leioester Diocesan Guild, both rang more than 60 peals during 1962. Correction to Gossip paragraph in jissue of February 1st.
Mr. Jeater is mystified. He received a postal order for 9s. 6d., purchased at Highwood, Bushey, Watford, with no other enclosure but a blank sheet of paper
A new tower in our list of quarter peals is Irnham, near Grantham, Lincs. On this five (tenor 9 cWt . 3 qr .22 lb . in G ) the first quarter by an adl-local band was rung on January 31st. It was the first quarter by all the ringers.
The attempt for the first peal (Stedman Cinques) an the newly-restored bells at Saffron Walden on February 2nd was lost after $2 \frac{1}{4}$ hours' ringing. The conductor was Mr. Harold N. Pitstow. After the attempt the band were hospitably entertained by brother Leonard.
A recording was made by the Vicar (the Rev. E. W. K. Bailey) of a peal rung at Barkby Church, Leicestershire. This he has taken to the Vicar of a Nottingham church without bells, and the recording is to be amplified. The Vicarage, where the recording was taken, is more than a quarter-of-a-mile from the church but, states the Vicar, the sound carried exceptionally well over the hard ground.' The peal in question was conducted by Mr. Maurice R. A. Kirk

But now, as far as I am concerned, to come to the heart of the matter. Bombarded as we are on all sides by detergents which wash whiter than white, cakes that cook lighter than air and disinfectants which kill all known germs, what unparalleled bliss it is to open a paper which contains the Rolls-Royce class adverts of the leading bellfounders and nothing more insistent than that which brings to our notice the prowess of Charles Potts & Co., Clock Makers. Any change, I feel, is bound to be for the worse.

Your correspondent who wrote not so long ago of her delightful, absorbing and, I am sure, relaxing Friday coffee break would find that she was no longer left in peace. Neither would I be on a Thursday. That other woman would be there for sure, the one who stalks the television screens, providing perfect meals, spotless homes, two children-one of each sort-with never a hair or a temper out of place. She would be there telling us how to remain in one piece throughout Thurstans' Four Part and matt during a Bank Holiday peal. And think not that she would be late at backstroke or miss a dodge! She's just as capable of perfect peals as perfect meals.

May ' The Ringing World' ever remain a bastion against her so that we may read, or read between the lines, in peace.

MADELINE CROFT.

200th ANNIVERSARY OF FIRST PEAL AT DERBY  The peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Derhy

 Cathedral on February 9th marked the 200th anniversary of the first peal on the bells: appropriately, it was also the 50th peal. In the belfiry there is a peal board recording the 1763 peal. hut the board is a very recent copy of a much earlier original which was probably painted straight on to the rough stone walls.The board claims that the brand consisted of Derby Youths, aged between 19 and 23 years, who rang the peal after only six months' practice and without the aid of a tutor. Furthermore, it is claimed that this was the first peal to be performed within many miles of Derby.
By present day standards such an achievement would be very remirkible. but to have done it 200 years ago. when mecans of transport and communication were very difficult, makes the magination boggle.
There are no details given regarding the composition used, but a fair guess is that it would be Holt's Ten-Part of Grandsire Triples; so this was chosen for the 200th anniversary peal also. Derby Cathedral has witnessed many changes since 1763. Before 1926 it was All Saints ${ }^{\circ}$ Parish Church. The bells have heen retuned and rehung at least once since that date, and both the bell chamber and the ringing room are now on different levels than hitherto. The bells, however, are all of pre-Reformation date and none have been recast, so it is almost certain that the present Cathedral bells are the very sume ones used by the band in 1763 .

The 1763 hand was:-

> Willian bruwn John Sione:
> Johen Wrigilit John Chatierion
> Thomas Copl: John Faknswortil
> Thiomas Dudily Isaac Breninali

Who the conductor was we do not know

ST. ALKMUND'S, DERBY

Vollowing the dramatic news in 'The Derby Evening Telegraph 'that St. Alkmund's Church. Derby, is 10 be demolished to make way for the new inner Ring Roud, the Derbyshise Association have had discussions with the secretary of the Diocesan Advisory Committee to the Consistory Court. The facts are as follows:(1) The Ministry of Transport have said that the inner Ring Road must be a certain width.
(2) In order that the Ring Road he this width the land on which St. Alkmund's Church stands is needed. According to present plans, the Ring Road passes between St. Alkmund's and a Catholic church on the opposite side of an existing road.
(3) St. Alkmund's has formed al committee to discuss the position with the town clerk.
14) The Ministry have powers of compulsory purchase.
The Derbyshire Association have received an assurance from the secretary of the D.A.C. that in the event of the church being demolished and rebuilt on a different site, the eight bells would be installed in a rebuilt tower.
At present St. Alkmund's bells are not rung for Sunday service, and an offer to ring the bells, made by the Cathedral band two years ago, was turned down by the Vicar.
The Derbyshire Association have expressed concern that the hells are not rung and. mindful of the possibility that the bells may be 'forgotten on economic grounds in any rebuilding $=$ heme, they have offered to man the bells for Sunday service at least once a month. To date this offer has not been accepted.

Coventry Cathedral Rally

Dear Sir,-As secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association I note with interest the notice re rally of all England ringers to Coventry Cathedral. It is most unfortunate that the date is that on which no less than four annual meetings of large Associations are to be held, and it is to be hoped that members of those Associations will put loyalty to their Association and officers before the chance of several new towers and service in the new cathedral. It is to be hoped that there will be another opportunity later when there is less on elsewhere to visit and join in worship at Coventry. Yours sincercly,

CHARLES ROUSE:

The 12 bells of High Wycombe Parish Church are to be retuned and rehung on ball-bearings with completely new fittings by Taylor's, of Loughborough.

It is expected that work on dismanting the bells will start shortly after Easter, and that they will be returned in lime for ringing at Christmas--the cost of the work is being borne by the Church.

The ringers, with the help of a local appeal signed by the Mayor and the Vicar. are hoping to raise the necessary money for the installation of a sharp second, which will give a ring of eight with a tenor of 9 cwt .

While the bells are away, a sound lantern is to be constructed on the tower roof

Great Yarmouth, 1963

Dear Sir,-I am sorry that our two Irish friends are worried about accommodation difficulties at Yarmouth at Whitsun. I too got the sime impression from the official announcements and. having got the official guide, wrote to six of the places given therein, hoping for perhaps one favourable reply. All of them were able to cope with four of us for the four nights concerned-I will gladly pass on the five unused replies.

To attempt to change at this late stage would he unfair to our hosts and to the civic and Church aulhorities, and would cause difficulties at any new venue because of the late arrangements and would land someone with a bill for lost deposits on booked accommodation. I hope that our friends will still altend and, as they always do, enjoy themselves and add to the benefit and enjoyment of the rest of us.Yours, etc.,
Ruislip, Middx. WILFRID G. WILSON.

Leicester Supports Ireland

Dear Sir,-I would like to support the Irish Association delegates who plead for the 1963 meeting to be rearranged in London.

Many of those who voled at Cardiff to hold the meeting at Great Yarmouth did so although they had no idea that they would be members of the Council in 1963-in fact, probably some of them are not!

As this situation happens every three years, there seems much to be sidid in favour of having the first meeting of each sesion in a convenient centre like London, where there can be no argument. London is accessible by direct rail service from all parts of the country, whercas provincial places are not. London can he reached by rail without the expense of a night's Indging (although I realise that from a good many places it means travelling by night), but provircial towns are not in that happy position.

In my own casc. Yarmouth cannot be reached by a direct rail at all (since the unfortunate closing of the old M. & G.N.), nor from anywhere else in the Midlands, so it means spending at least one night and possibly two in Yarmouth for all but those who travel from the London direction.

Now we find that the arrangements to which we have heen used to are not being made this year, which makes things even more difficult.
I would ask the Standing Committee to meet and rearrange this important mecting at a more convenient centre, and that they do it now before it is too late.-Yours faithfully,

St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne

Dear Sir,-Once again I take this opportunity of thanking, through 'The Ringing World ' the following Guilds and Associations who have donated to the above appeal. These efforts are greatly appreciated, and the Fund is now well on the way to target figure. Work will commence on the bells as soon as possible after the royal visit, and the completely-restored 12 will be installed in good time for 'Great Adventure II ' in 1964.
Would Guild treasurers please accept this as an official acknowledgment of their donations:

Mr. Sharples, of course, took part in the tour of 1934, and we were very pleased to receive his letter in the belfry. He is remembered here with great affection.-Yours, etc.,

Baldheaded Rabbits?

Dear Sir,-The observations of Messrs. Bruefon and Pearce on the hazards of the late entry interest me very much, for I have often thought of proposing an Over-50 Association. The qualification for membership would be passing the 50th birthday before attempting to handle a bell.
Perhaps the Association could be affiliated to the Rabbits' Guild as the Baldheaded Rabbits' Section? Certainly it would need to be a Mutual Admiration Society, for no one who has not attempled it can conceive the difficulty of learning to ring when the second half-century has dawned, the ponderous fumblings of the aged mind matching the clumsy creakings of the arthritic joints.-Yours faithfully.
B. M. WILLMOTT DOBBIE.

A Peal Ringer's Query

Dear Sir,-I expect that a number of your readers who organise peals have, at some time or another, been told in reply to a request for the necessiry permission that the tower or the littings are not solid enough to withstand three hours' ringing, but that they are welcome to come and ring for an hotr if they wish.
This idea has always puzzled me, as I cannot sec how three hours' ringing on a single occasion can do more damage than six separate half-hours on successive Sundays. Surely the theory is not that the parts of the structure displaced from their positions during one Sunday's ringing will have had an opportunity to work their way back again by the next!
1 should be very interested to know the views of any of your readers having engineering or architectural knowledge on this point.-Yours faithfully,

Surbiton, Surrey,

Method Extension

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. Staniforth; letter of February 1st, he should know that the Methods Committee has not yet been asked to pronounce on the methods known as Durham Surprise Royal and Maximus, and that no one has dictuted that they are not extensions of Durham Surprise Minor.

In my letter to the 'R.W.,' January 11th, 1 pointed out that the methods were not in accordance with the Central Councit Decisions on Method Extension. My letter was meant to be helpful, in the hope that the Leicester, Diocesan Guild (or perhaps some of its members) would not get us into another mess by using incorrect names. I deeply resent Mr. Staniforth trying to lead the Exercise into thinking that I was trying to dictate to anyone about anything There have now been three letters in the 'R.W.' explaining why these Royal and Maximus methods are not extensions of Durham Surprise Minor.

Mr. Staniforth asks how I arrived at the same incorrect figures as they did. It is a necessity of school teaching to be able to anticipale a child arriving at an incorrect answer due to incorrect reasoning, even though to the child his reasoning might appear to be logical. Sceing the peal report, without figures, of a claim to have rung an extension of Durham S. Minor to Royal, I considered the following facts:-

Some members of the L.D.G. are known for their approximate extensions; it has been stated that they ring handbells by two blue lines and not by places, and that they had recently rung York S. Royal. Making the assumption that they still regarded Surprise methods as being composed, and as variations one of another. I made a guess that their Durham $S$. Royal had been arrived at as a variation of York S. Royal. But Surprise methods are not composed, are linite in number, can all be churned out mechanically, and have individual characteristics One characteristic is that some will extend whilst others will not. Any system of interrelationship between methods is entirely arbitrary, and Durham is not a variation of York.

Mr. Jelley's letter has been answered by Mr Mayne, and the figures given for Bourne and Norwich are correct. But if he will refer 10 the 'R.W.' of August 26 th , 1960 , he will find the same figures of Norwich and also two other extensions.-Yours sincerely.
Windsor. FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

Stays

Deir Sir,-May I congratulate Mr. J. McClenahan on such an excellent analysis on the design of bell stays, and say how interested I was to read it. Although I do not pretend to understand the formula, the criterion that the stay should absorb as much energy as possible consistent without damaging the bell or its fittings seems to me to be quite logical.
The two main conclusions from Mr. McClenahan's article are: (a) There is an unnecessary over-claboration regarding stays, and (b) They could be made a good deal stronger without fear of damaging the bell.
If these are correct, why should we have to put up with monstrosities like the Hastings stay? Why cannot we use willow instead of ash or oak? Why are the stay sockets not made larger in the first place in order to allow a stay of much larger dimensions to be used?

In this modern day and age it is surprising that no one has found a method of replacing the old-fashioned stay by some spring-loaded snap release safety device which would only require resetting and not repaiting in the event of heavy-handedness.-Yours, etc.

Derby.

OBITUARY

MR. WILFRED J. NEWMAN
By the death of Mr. Wilfred J. Newman, Ringing Master at St. Andrew's, Hampton, the Worcestershire Association has lost one who gave most of his time in leaching olhers, and one whowe first allegiance was to his own parish church. He was ringing as usual over the Christmas Festival, but collapsed at his work the following Friday and died in hospital on February 1st, at the age of 52.
He learnt to ring at Hampton and also joined the choir at an early age, and continued reguiarly in his place. He was the Southern Branch secretary and treasurer of the Worcestershire Association for 11 years, and a member of the central committee at the time of his death.
A safe ringer in the standard methods, he had rung 105 peals for the Worcestershire Association and conducted two, being content to leave the conducting to others. But it was in teaching others to ring that he excelled. Always appearing to be relaxed, he yet had an immaculate style of handling a bell himself, and this he had the gift of imparting to others, coupled with an inexhaustible patience. He was particularly successful with juveniles, and it was a regular sight in Hampton belfry to see boys and girls of diminutive stature standing on boxes or hassocks in order to reach the sallies. Losses in the band caused him no dismay-he simply started teaching afresh, and many of his colleagues in the belfry were also colleagues in the choir
He was a member of the Parochial Church Council and also served in the Special Constabulary. He leaves a widow and one daughter (Frances)-also a ringer.
The funeral took place at St. Andrew's on February 5th, the Vicar (the Rev. R. W. N. 1 larris) officiating. The robed choir and organist were present, and the church filled with representatives of the Church Council, many ringers of the Southera Branch, the regular and special Police and other local organisations with which Mr. Newman was connected. Speaking from the text 'He that endureth shall inherit all things,' the Vicar paid stirring tribute. -Wilfred Newman,' he said, 'was a staunch member of the Church, but we think chiefly of his ringing. He worked well and hard to keep a band of young ringers, and not only trained them but helped them to retain an interest in the Church at a time of life when so many fell away from it. Ringing, to him, was not just a hobby but part and parcel of his worship of God.'
Immediately after the committal, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by Mrs. V. Barnes 1-2, Mrs. J. Thomas 3-4, J. D. Johnson 5-6, Wm. J. Newman 7-8. The church bells, which had already been half-muffled for the Sunday Evensong, were rung by members of the Southern Branch and again in the evening by the local band. A muffled peal arranged for Saturday had to be postponed at the last minute, owing to illness near the church.
Among the many wreaths were those from the Church Council, St. Andrew's choir and ringers, the Southern Branch of the Worcestershire Association and the Hinton band.
J. D. J.

MR. BFRTIE AIDRIDGE,

A well-known ringer died at St. Mary Cray on Fiebruary 7th in the person of Mr. Bertie Aldridge, aged 76.
For the last eight years he had been a memher of the kind or St. Mary Cray, hut before that he was captain of the ringers at St. Mary's, Woolwich, for over 30 years. He attended service and practice ringing regularly, and was ever ready to help learners, and thought. a practice worth while even if no method ringing was rung.
He had been in and out of hospital for the last four months, but his death came as a great shock to all his friends.
P. G. B.

MR. H. C. WARNER

Great Dalby, Leicestershire, has lost another of its stalwarts by the death of Mr. Harry Cecit Warner, aged 85.
He belonged to the old band of ringers in the days of the Rev. R. C. Dashwood, the famous hunting parson. He had been tower captain for upwards of 20 years, and had served as churchwarden, school manager and a parish and church councillor. He was a member of the Goscote Society of Ringers.

In the evening, after the funeral, a quarter peal was rung with the bells half-muffled.

MR. G. A. COOK

For many years both captain and tower keeper at Ashtead, Surrey, Mr. Gearge Albert Cook, of Lavender Cotttage, Crampshaw Lane. Ashtead, died on February 9th. He would have been 70 next week.
Mr. Cook was a life-long resident of Ashtead, as were his father and grandfather before him. For most of his life he had been a bellringer, having been taught the art by his father when he was about ten years old. For over 50 years he was a member of the Surrey Association and, it is believed, was a member of the Guildand, it is believed, was a member of the ford Diocesan Guild since its formation.
There is no complete record of Mr. Cook's peals available at present, but it is believed that he rang some 76 peals, ranging upwards to Surprise Royal. Two of the peals of which he was most proud were the first at Ashtead of Ashtead Surprise Major and, at Leatherhead, the only peal ever rung of Cobham Surprise Royal. A severe illness forced him to give up ringing some 12 years ago.
Mr. Cook was always keen on training new ringers, and it was owing to him that the nucleus of ringers now at the parish church hegan their training, and he was a proud man some five years ago when the 300 th peal on the bells was rung by the local band containing a number of his pupils.
His long illness was borne with great fortitude and cheerfulness. The funeral was on February 13 h, when his ashes were interred near the church and bells he loved so well. To his wife and one son (now resident in British Columbia) the deepest sympathies of many friends are extended.
A quarter peal in his memory will be rung, and the bells will he open and not muffled, as this would have been his wish. J.T.S.

MR. FRED HYDE

The Worcestershire Association has lost another officer, with the death of the Western Branch secretary, Mr. Fired Hyde, on February 11th. He was aged 58 years. He had already made arrangements for the Branch meeting at Kempsey on March 2nd, and this meating will therefore take place as planned.

MR. A. E. EDWARDS

Mr. Albent E. Edwards, of 19, Langham Raad, Robertsbridge, Sussex, who died on January 27 th, aged 88 , was, in his day, a noted member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, which he joined on Fcbruary 24th, 1894.

For 25 years he served in the West Sussex Constabulary, and he had been for eight years parish constable at Salehurst when de retired in 1924.
Much of his peal ringing was done with the Cumberlands,' and he rang with such famous conduotors as Keith Hart, Thomas Card, W. H Card and George A. Card. Of his 225 peals, Mr. Edwards conducted 150, and his peals were rung in 82 different towers. For a time he was instructor at Salehurst, and here he rang many peals in various methods, up to Double Norwich C.B. Major.
The funeral service took place at St. Mary's, Salehurst, on January 31st, and was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. A. Stedman. Immediately after the service the bells were rung half-muffled by the local band. Final tributes were paid by the band on February 2nd, when 1,260 Grandsire Doubles was rung by G. H Muggridge 1, F. J. Lambert 2, A. Hoad 3 A. Smith 4, $\underset{T}{ }$. $\dot{W}$. Edwards (cond.) $5, G$. Fellows 6.

In spite of Arctic weather conditions, the attendance at the District mecting held at Clowne on February 9th was most rewarding, with almost every tower in the District represented! Ringing from rounds to London Surprise Minor was supervised by the District Ringing Master, Mr. G. Goodall, in the afternoon, before an excellent tea was enjoyed atternoon, betore an excellent tea was enjoyed Barn.

METHOD EXTE NSION

Dear Sir.-This is in reply to the letter from Mr. Jelley in 'The Ringing World' of Jan uary 25 th (page 61). Let me make it clear at the outset, for the benefit of other readers, that there is no question that a perfectly satisfactory peal has been rung. The name of the method is the point at dispute.
I shall not deal with Mr. Jelley's points iil order, but shall begin at the end. The last paragraph of his letter requests that the Methods Committee produce a report on extensions that would be intelligible to mere mortals such as I.' This is a clear enough admission that Mr. Jelley does not understand the report, even if it were not obvious from the rest of his letter. It puts him on rather shaky ground when he comes to criticise that report, and when he comes to propound his own jdeas of what constitutes extension. What is also clear is that Mr Jelley (and others) are not prepared to make the least effort to comprehend the report, which, far from being complex, is in fact quite simple. These concepts, however, cannot be explained without the use of some technical words. What Mr. Jelley wants is a kind of mountain railway, which will transport him without effort to a summit of knowledge. He is like the learner who refuses to learn ringing because he has to understand terms such as Whole-turn, Treble Bob, handstroke and backstroke. But knowledge cannot be acquired without some effort
Now I will try to explain in the simplest possible terms on what grounds the Durham extensions are rejected, but some attempt will have to be made to understand what I am saying. And perhaps your readers will study this carefully; perhaps they will read it more than once, so that I am not accused of saying what I thave not said.
I shall begin with some statements which I hope are beyond dispute:
(1) That some form of systematic extension is needed.
(2) That as there is such a diversity of methods, and of ways of extensions, some decision is neoessary as to what may constitute an extension. Such a decision will necessarily exclude centain relationships, what ever it is
(3) Whatever system is agreed it has to cope with any method; that is, it has to give "yes' or 'no" in every case
This third requirement, for a universal formula, implies that any such formula cannot possibly be hased on one method alone or even a very limited number of methods. All this implies that some relationships will have to be rejected as extensions, even though they possess certain claims, and no matter what system is adopted this is bound to be the case. Otherwise, the formula which is so weak that it rejects nothing is equivalent to no formula at all.
If we are to understand the present case we shall have to be specific. Let us restrict ourselves to methods where the treble does a treble bob hum. This kind of method can he divided into groups of four changes, in which the treble is confined to one dodging place. These are called "sections. Part of the section is below the treble and is called the 'front sub-section.' while pant is ahove and calted the "back sub-section." For the purposes oi method extension. the front and back sub-sections are defined by the places occurring therein and not by the changes themselves. If there are no places the sub-section can still be treated as a unit defined by the absence of any places. If there are places, it is defined bv the position of these places.

When the treble moves from one dodging place to the next. places must be made both below and above the treble. These are called cross-section places. The pivot place is made when the treble lies behind. The construction of the half-lead completely defines the method (except for the lead-end place, of course) and to extend it a new half-lead must be construoted bearing an agreed relationship to the parent half-bead.

At this point certain decisions have to be taken. These are set out quite clearly in the report, but I shall have to restate some of them here. The first is the decision to construct the extension by relating the position of the places 10 those of the parent. Other systems could have been adopted. but this is the most fundamental, and it is also the most powerful. The second decision is that apart from Double methods, which must remain Double after extension, the parts of the method above and below the treble may he extended quite independently. Thirdly, and i. 1 the present context the most importan point, the sub-seotions on the one hand and the cross-seotion places on the other are the units to be used in performing the extension. This requires amplification.

Suppose we consider York Surprise, and further we will consider extending the part below the treble only. The notation of York Surprise Minor is as follows
While the treble is in 1-2 there is no front sub-section, and at the $2-3$ cross-section, lead is made and must be made on all higher numbers; therefore these can be forgotten. The rest of the method below the treble consists of two frant sub-sections, a cross-section place, and the pivot place, these being as follows :

-12- Front sub-section  Cross-section place  14-14 Front sub-section

 Pivot place.Now these four items entirely construct the method below the treble, and provided the extensions contain these alone, no work, and no construction of places will appear in the extension which does not already occur in the parent. But they are also to be used as units and not divided or amalgamated in any way, so that. for example. the sub-section 14.12.14 formed by combining both the above sub-sections could not be employed in the extension. Expansion of places is. however. allowed, so that $16-16$ cowld be used as a direot derivation of 14-14.
The Methods Committee's report defines specifically the allowable arrangements which may be employed on higher numbers, and there are quite a number of ways given which fall basically into two different systems, illustrated by the following two examples
Minor

\begin{aligned}
& -12-3.14-14.3 \\
& \text { Major } \\
& \begin{array}{l}
\text {-12 } \\
\text { Royal: } \end{array} \\
& -12-3.14-14.3 .14-14.3 . \\
& \text { Maximus: } \\
& -12-3.14-14.3 .14-14.3 \\
& 14-14.3 .14-14.3
\end{aligned}

Static

Minor:
Mor: $12-3.14-14.3$
Major:
-12-3.14-14.3.16-16.5
Roval:
$-12-3.14-14.3 .16-16.5$
Maximus: $18-18.7$.
$-12-3.14-14.3 .16-16.5$.
$18-18.7 .10-10.9$.

The accepted extensions of York are the actual ones given to illustrate the static type of extension. The extension of Durham. which is rejected. is also of this type. When all the possibilities allowed by the formula have heen worked out in a particular case, many and sometimes all will be found to give other than Plain Bob lead ends, and the rest of the report gives tqualifying rules designed to ensure that the remaining contenders will have blue lines bearing a proper relation to the parent. and the lead-ends fall in the correct scquence.

Wo now come to the crux of the matter. Applying the same system $t 0$ Durham. the following static extension corresponds to the one given for York:

-12-3.14-34.
Major:
Royal. $3.14-34.3 .14-34.1$
-12-3.14-34.3.14-34.3.14-34.1
Maximus
$-12-3.14-34.3 .14-34.3 .14-34.3 .14-34.1$.
which gives three consecutive blows in thirds a few times!
A possible alternative would be
Minor:
-12-3.14-34.1
Majar:
Royad: $3-12-3.14-34.1$
Royal:
-12-3-12-3-12-3.14-34.1
Maximus :
-12-3-12-3-12-3-12-3.14-34.1
hut this fails because of the lead-end order.
The extensions rung by the Leicester band. which Mr. Jelley attempis to justify, are these: Minor:
-12-3.14-34.
Major:
Royal:
-12-3.14-14.3.14-14.3.14-34.1
Maximus:
-12-3.14-14.3.14-14.3.14-14.3.14-34.1
Here a new sub-section has been introduced. borrowed in fact from York; namely the subsection 14-14. This does not occur in Durham Surprise Minor, and therefore tire report excludes this series as a possible extension. 'Even a babe in arms.' as Mr. Jelley puts it, should be able to see that a sub-section foreign to the Minor has been introduced.
I am perfectly able to see the argument given by Mr. Jelley, and perfectly able to see that it preserves a constant relation between York and Durham on all numbers. But the extension of any one method must stand or fall on its own merits. No system of extension could possibly preserve all desirable relationships between the extensions of different methods; the report seeks only to preserve proper relationships between the various stages of extension of the same method. In the long run it would only create new anomalies if the report were modified simply to suit the present case, and I repeat what I said carlier. that no sound theory could possibly be based on a few individual cases.
Has Mr. Jelley applied the formula to the best part of Corrigan's Collection representing some 300 methods? And has he satisfied himself that an alteration to the report could be made which would at the same time allow these extensions of Durham, and cause no extra difficulties? Of course he has not. His suggestion that the report is illogical and out of contact with reatity, and that the committee is blinded by its own science, is simply not true. These decisions are perfectly logical and self-consistent within the framework of the axioms decided upon. If Mr. Jelley would like to develop a system. where the units were whole-pulls instead of sub-sections. he might matnage to cater for these extensions of Durham. But he will thave to show that his formuki works better than the present one, in hundreds of other cases: and it won's.

Turning to the other methods he mentions: the Feering is rejected as an extension of Beverley for the same reason that the Durham is: namely, the introduction of a sub-section which dees not occur in the Minor.

The same is true in going from Reverky Stirpnise Minor to Lyme Surprise Major, only this time the foreign sub-section is one containing no places.
Beverley: -12-3.14-34.5
L.yme : $0-0-12-3.14-34.5$

Once this blank front sub-section is present, it can he used to perform further extensions: thus Lyme Royal is:

-0-0-0-12-3.14-34.5

But this blank sub-section which does not occur in Beverley Minor cannot he produced out of the blue. If this were allowed, any work completely different from the parent method could be introduced. defeating the whole object of having a formula.

I next turn to the suggestion Mr. Jelley makes for an alternative extension of Cambridge. Here Yorkshire Major, Albanian Royal and Southwark Maximus are given as succeeding stages from Cambridge Minor. They are in fact unrelated to the Minor for the same reason as just given, but they could be allowed as static extensions starting from Yorkshire Major. There is nothing inconsistent in this; since two different processes of extension have been allowed by the formula (static or expanding) it is not in the least surprising that certain methods will extend in both ways. Historicatly the expanding extensions of Yorkshire have been preferred. Mr. Jelkey then goes on to say: 'As will be obvious. things are in danger of becoming somewhat confused. If one attempts to remove the confusion by resorting to the Methods Committee's Report on Extensions then the position becomes completely hopeless.' It is Mr. Jelley who is comfused. He has apparently tried to apply the formula in this case. and the hopeless position arises from not underseanding the repart. He has admitted it is not intelligible to him.
Finally, a word about the Bourne and Norwich. Perhaps, the committee is asked, we would like to comment on them before they are rung. We would. Had we been given the opportunity, we would have done so on previous occasions too, but unfortunately Durham and some other methods were rung without consulting us. Mr. Jelley will be pleased to know that the extensions he gives of Bourne and Norwich are quite acceptable.
1 trust Mr. Staniforth will not unwisely igbore the Methods Committee's report. As conductor of the peals in question, he should provide forthwith a new rame, which will apply to the Major, Royal and Maximus. I do shot propose to enter into a long correspondence over this matter: I consider what I have written should be sufficient.-Yours faithfully, Harrow.
JOHN R. MAYNE.

'Trying to Put the Clock Back'

Dear Sir,-It was clear to many ringers, when Mr. Staniforth and his very talented band rang the first peal of Durham Surprise Royal ' in hand,' that there was more to this than an outstanding performance. Subsequently an article and a letter in "The Ringing World" have confirmed this.
It is Mr. Staniforth and others, and one at least of these ought to know better, who are trying to 'pull the wool over our eyes' by dragging up once mone the whole question of method extension. Mr. Staniforth is correct when he says that the ordinary ringer just does not understand what is involved, and here is a clear case where the view of the experts should be accepted. as indeed it has been.
I feel the Leicester men are trying to put the clock back. Maybe, because they still have not got over the shock of having the first peal of London Royal No. 3 in Leicestershire rung by an out-county band.-Yours faithfully, Peterborough.
BRIAN HARRIS.

Tonne Family Bell Founders

Dear Sir,-I was very interested to read the article on the Tonne family, bell founders of Bury St. Edmunds.
In the Deanery Church of St. Mary, Bocking, there is a bell from these founders. I believe it is the only bell cast by them specifically as a clock bell, and it is still performing its task today.
The bell has the following inscription: - Nomen Si Queris Cujus Vocor Ipsi? Richardus' (If you ask the name by which I am called I am Richard); also a medallion of a man's head believed to be Henry VII&. I hope this may be of some interest to your readers.
I hope at some future date to submit an article on the rest of the betls in this tower. article on the rest

Peal Writing

Dear Sir.-Re letter on peal writing fees in the issue of January 18th. Many members of Associations have no idea of how beautiful are the peal books, and of the number of hours of work put in to make them so. I have at Churchdown one of our peal books, the work of Alfred Reeves, and it is open for inspection by anyone interested who may be passing, either of the G. and B. Association or Other Associations. One of our peal books is always available for members to look at at our A.G.Ms. If anyone is coming from a distance to see the hook, a postcard. giving time, would enable arrangements to be made for someone to be at, home.-Yours sincerely,

Fifty years apo-on February 19t11, 1913 -the first peal was rung on the bells of St. Bartholomew's Church, Ingham, Suffolk It was Grandsire Doubles (nine, different cillings) and the ringers were W. Palfrey (cond.) 1, A. Cutler 2, E. Footer 3, 1. Watson 4, W. Bantle 5.
Under review is the augmentation of St . Swidhin's, East Grinstead, from eight to ten bells.
Mr. P. A. Sadler has completed 25 years as a ringer at St. Mary's, Prittlewell. The occasion was marked by a quanter peal of Grandsire Caters.
Manchester University Guild have been very successful in peal ringing lately. This issue contains four of their peals-two Surprise, Stedman Triples and Oxford Bob Triples.
Mr. L. E. last, with a team of handbell ringers, is to leoture an 'Church Bells and Change Ringing' to the Suffolk Institute of Archaology at Ipswich on March 14th.
All Saints'. Isleworth, plan for 1963 to attempt quarter peals for Evensong on the first and second Sundays in cach month, and have general ringing on the other Sundays.
The peal of Royal at St. Stephen's, Bristol, set the conductor rather a headache, as in addition to two firsts, it was also Michael J. Hobbs' 25 tho peal with Bryn Shackleton and Reg G. Hooper; and Bryn Shackleton's and Don Exell's 25th together!
A notable peal of 12 Spliced Surprise Maximus was rung at Waksall on February 2nd. The method named Walsall is Prittlewell's 12 th place variation, states the conductor, Mr. Wilfred Williams.

During Mr. Wilfred Williams' Irish tour last year a peal of Cambridge Royal was rung at St. Patrick's Cathedral on the light ten. At the time it was claimed as the first of Royal on the light ten. A member of St. Patrick's Cathedral band has pointed out that the first on the light ten was Plain Hob Royal on June $17 \mathrm{th}, 1927$, conducted by Gabriel Lindoff.

GOSSIP

 On the day of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Stimsom, of Somerby, a peal was quickly arranged. Hanry Cook was caught on his milk round and persuaded to stay. Harold Bonshor came in white overalls and carpet slippers. An absentee was Cyril Tyler, captain of the Somerby band, who had such a heivy cold that he couldn't cven "wet the baby's head '!The Valentine Gosling award has been sent to Mr. J. A. Acres' handbell team-the first to ring the composition.
Messrs. John Taylor had added a sixth bell to the ring of five, all more than 300 years old, at Hartest, near Bury St. Edmunds. An anonymous gift of $£ 100$ has been received towards the cost of about $£ 250$.
The difficult five bells at Cossington, leicestershire, rather defy peal ringers. The only two peals on the bells in the last two years despite many attempts were when Maurice Kirk and Michael W. Brown rang the same bells and this was on the same night two years ago.
Congratulations to Mr. W. G. Wilson on his election as Master of the Landon County Association in succession to Mr. T. H. Taffender, who has held the office for 50 years. A new rule, limiting the office not normatly to more than three consecutive years, was passed.
The band at St. Thomas', South Wigston, Leicester, who are well known for their number of quarter peals during 1962 , have now added another success to their list of achievements. Fior the 70th anniversary of the dedication of the church a peal of Stedman Triples was rung on February 2nd. In the morning (for Holy Communion) a quarter peal of Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles was rung: on the next day a quarter of Plain Bob Triples was rung for Parish Eucharist, and another of Kent Treble Bob Major for Evensong. All taking, part have been taught Evensong. Alt Thomgs, by the conductor and his wife during the last three years, with the assistance of the Late Ernest Morris.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W. Feb. 21. 1913

The following, which appeared in the Barking - Parish Magazine, summarises, about as aptly as anything which we have seen, the art to which we are all so much devoted:-

Wanted-Half a dozen young Churchmen to take up a useful branch of Church work -namely, the science and art of campanology. Vacancies have occurred in the St. Margaret's Society of Change Ringers. Qualifications necessary: Earnestness. enthusiasm. and energy. Preference will be given to those who are prepared to take up ringing seriously. and to give the greater part of their (spare) time to a study which is more brainy than billiards, more captivating than cricket, more fascinating than foptball, and more pleasurable than the pictures.' Remuneration: More kicks than ha'pence.

PEAL RINGING AROUND ASHFORD, KENT

The third annual Christmas peal week in the Ashford district, organised once again by the District secretary, Crawford Hillis, with a more peripatetic programme than usual, got off to a good start on Boxing Day when the first of five successful peals was brought round without serious mishap.
Since enough unappropriated ringers could not be found to ring a peal of Major at Benenden, the little church of Stowting, nestling away in an unpopulated spot under the South Downs, was chosen for the lirst peal, and we were most pleased that Gay Williams, for whom the original peal was arranged, managed to brave the treacherous roads from Benenden to help make up the band. A peal of St. Clement's Bob Minor was rung at a leisurely pace on the little ring of six, it being the first peal in the mothod by all the band, and the first peal for Pcter Richardson, who rang like a veteran.

On the following day, everything got of to a very late start. The heavy drifting that had taken place around the district seemed to have concentrated its efforts upon Crawford Hillis drive, since it took about an hour to dig his car out. Richard Hough, who had given up waiting to be picked up from Folkestone Station, was dragged, protesting, away from a warm fire. The peal of Double Oxford at Great Mongeham conseguently started about an hour-and-ithalf late, hut eventually came round after a liberal number of $6-5 \%$ at backstroke. Marion Phillips had the satisfaction of ringing her first. peal very creditably, and we were most grateful to her and her parents for a most welcome meal afterwards
On day three. the writer found himself in the uncompromising position of having to ring a peal at Little Chart and attend a cocktail parly simultancously. Since the latter deemed precedesice on the occision another ringer had to be found. A telegram sent to John Baldwin reguesting him to bring another ringer was suitably 'coded by the G.P.O. (as has already been reported in the ' R.W.'), hut artived too late to be of any assistance in the situation. However. Peggy Skinner kindly stood in at the eleventh hour. but a peal of Cambridge Minor wound up after two extents.

Nevertheless, this failure was fully redecmed by two good peals when lian Oram joined us on the following day. The heavy six at Wittersham went fairly well in the morning to a peal of Kent Minor, with the local captain, Mr. Kenneth Hamilion, ringing his first peal in side.' During this peal a bird flew into the ringing chamber and took a peculiar attraction to the ringer of the fourth, pecking at the floor around his feet. After the peal we were most hospitably entertained to biscuits, beer and coffee by Sir Victor and Lady Mallett, of Wittersham (both members of the K.C.A.), and photographs were taken in the snow-covered grounds of their heautiful house. During the afternoon a peal of Cambridge Major was rung in the cold helfry at Appledore, breaking the jinx that has dogged success here on two occasions.

Two peals were planned for the last day of the year, but only one materialised. This took place at Withesborough, where Peter Richardson, who had excelled himself earlier in the week. repeated his performance by ringing his first peal in three methods 'inside.' The peal was believed to be the quickest of Minor on the bells, and our consultant fourth bell ringer found his hell a considerably easier proposition than that at Wittersham. The other peal was planned as a half-muffed peal of Bristol Surprise at the District's Mother Church at Ash ford for the passing of the old year, but the weather had further deteriorated, and although the Ashford and Canterbury contingents managed to get through the London contingent was delayed by the Arctic conditions. By the time the latter arrived the Canterbury contingent had decided to get back while the roads were passable, so Crawford Hillis and Margaret Jones kindly stood in and, time being limited good quarter peal of Boh Major was rung
Thus ended another memorable peal week: the score card of played 7 , won 5 , last 1 , postnoned 1, compared well with previous yeart

SAMUEL J. HECTOR

0N September 14th, 1962, the Salisbury Diocesan Guild celebrated its 80 th anniversary, and was able to survey a long and honourable period of expanding activity and increasing influence. In his foreword to the report of 1960-61 the president pays tribute to all who have contributed to the growth of the Guild from the small beginnings of the ' 80 's to the present network of Branches covering, this large diocese. "There were "giants" in those days." writes Canon Cox, 'such men as J. R. Jerram, W. W. Gifford, T. Blackbourne, G. T. White, W. S. Wise, T Hervey Beams and the Rev. H. Drake... $\because$; and we shall readily add the name of the president to this list. But, as the Book of Ecclesiasticus reminds us, there are others whose names come not so prominently on the roll of fame but whose work has not been forgotten and whose names live for evermore. Among these stands that stout son of the West Country, Sam Hector.

The ancient town of Trowbridge 'lies pleasantly,' writes the Rev. P. J. Goodrich, 'in its setting of woodland and down,' and from its centre rises the noble spire of St. James' Church, marked with the Fleur-de-Lys that couples it with John of Gaunt and the royal line of Lancaster. Notable in literature is the town through its distinguished poet and priest George Crabbe, famous as the home of Isaac Pitman (witness the shorthand on the peal board in the belfry), and no less notable to ringers as the scene of the activities of Samuel J. Hector.

In the early part of the century Hector came from North Curry, Somerset, where he had learned to ring, and became an under-gardener in the service of Mr. Francis Hobson, a man of wealth and influence, whose name, as churchwarden, is found on the present fifth bell. The property passed to Brigadier Palmer, a well-to-do cloth manufacturer, and Sam managed to interest him in bells and ringing, with the result that the General presented a new ring of eight bells to Christ Church, Bradford-onAvon. This was Hector's second enterprise, for while at Hilperton he had already been largely instrumental in the augmentation of St. Michael's bells from four to six.

On the death of General Palmer, Sam became licensee of the White Swan Inn, Church Street, and this was, as may be imagined, the meeting place of ringers. A ringing publican has always been popular, and Sam, following the tradition of Cooper and Elijah Roberts of ancient days, of Alf Grimes and others of modern times, provided a rendezvous where much ringing business was transacted and much good hospitality enjoyed. At the Trowbridge tower our host of the Swan speedily came to the fore, and it was not long before his particular genius for the promoting of repair and restoration work was again in evidence. In 1912 the eight bells were rehung in a new steel frame; in 1923 he organised a scheme which resulted in the rehanging of the bells and their increase to ten; and, crowning achievement, in 1934 he arranged a public meeting, stirred the enthusiasm of people and tradesmen, and succeeded in bringing about a recasting and rehanging, and an augmentation to 12 , thus giving to the diocese its first and only ring of this size. It is a notable and significant fact that the second bell was presented by the Salvation Army.

It has been said that Sam was not a great ringer, and it is true that he does not figure among the gigantic ringing feats of his day. Nevertheless, those of us who have had the pleasure of ringing peals with him know that in Grandsire Doubles or Stedman Cinques he had a grasp of his art and technical ability enough to suit any tower and any company. His true genius, however, was constructive, and his personality persistent and persuasive. The recollections of his influence on Mr. Hobson and General Palmer, of his driving enthusiasm in the town of Trowbridge, and of the superb self-confidence that led him to organise a public meeting must arouse wonder and admiration.

But to his intimate friends there remains (a rich and treasured thought at this time) the memory of his genial personality and kindness to young ringers. Roger Fry, who knew and loved him, wrote: 'Sam set a fine example, an example which the older ringers may respectfully admire and one which the younger ones would do well to emulate.' And Canon Cox may have the last word: 'Any pride we may feel, therefore, in the progress and achievements of the present day must redound to their honoured memory. "Other men laboured and we have entered into their labours":
E. C. S.

Miss RITA M. JOWETT,

 Yorkshire Association.In number two of this series Miss B. Gillian Schofield made reference to her closest ringing friend, Rita Jowett. It is not surprising, therefore, to see the latter's name appearing in these columns.

Rita was born in Bradford on August 20th, 1944. She was educated at Dudley Hill Junior School and Bolling Grammar School. From school she entered the civil service and is at present in the telephone accounts section.
A pupil of Mr. Harold Schoficld. Rita learned to ring at Bradford Cathedraik, starting at the age of 14 . Taking advantage of the many opportunities offered her by the Cathedral band, she made rapid progress and soon became one of jts members, ringing London Royal and Spliced Eysprise Major for Sunday service ringing. This is surely a standard of ringing to be proud of, and an example which could well be followed by so many youngsters at so many towers today.

Rita scored her first peal on July 12th, 1959. which she rang the treble to Plain Bob Major it Todmorden Parish Church, conducted by Peter Schotield. She states that the peal took 3 hours and 23 seconds to complete. and her reward was 20 beautiful blisters, which she

- R.W: Februasy 28th, 1913.-

The following paragraph, which appeared i7 'The Norfolk Chroniole,' of January 30th, 1813, will be interesting. as it records some ringing at Norwich a century ago by that old master. Mr. Samuel Thurston:-

- On Sunday morning Jast, that musical peal of six bells belonging to St. John's, Maddermarket, tang a Funeral Peal of Seven Hundred and Twenty. called the Revolution Peal (as a mark of respect at the interment of Mr. Dunn. many years a Clerk to that parish), in at very masterly style, under the direction of Samucl Thurston. by ringers which justly may be termed Odds and Ends, as none of the St. Peter's ringers had any hand in it. and it may be fairly presumed from the steady perseverance of Mr. Thurston in this art. and his already acute knowledge. he is dikely to become one of the first ringers this or any country every produced.
was very proud of in spite of the fact that they were very sore for many days.
In a very short time this brilliant young ringer has already taken part in some 68 peals. An excellent and most interesting collection, which inchudes Cambridge Surprise on six, eight, ten and twelve bells. Yorkshire, Rochester and London Surprise Royal. Spliced Royal in four and seven methods. Plain and Little Bob Royal. Stedman Caters and Triples, Grandsire Triples. Yorkshire, Bristol. Lincolnshire, London and Dorchester Surprise Major, Spticed Surprise Major in two, four, six. seven and eight methods. Plain and Oxford Bob Major. Plain and Little Boh Major. Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Cross Stone Imperial Court and Minor in four spliced plain methoris.

It should not be long before Rita scores her first peal as conductor, thus enabling her to fulfil her ambition in ringing.

On one occasion when Rita and Gillian were travelling some distance for a peal the sindwiches which they thad prepared for their lunch mysteriously disappeared. After a quick and frantic search they were given up as lost. Luckily for them they did not lose the peal. NOR VING.

LONG LENGTH ATTEMPT

Narborough Road South, Leicester, on Sunday, March 3rd. Ringing will commence at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The composition. probably by Rev. H. Law James, is appended.

THE HASTINGS STAY

Dear Sir,-I fail to see why Mr. Halls should call the Hastings stay a monstrosity. I consider it to have all the advantages of the two-way stretch. Surely he does not want to return to she ones found on the village pump in the 18 th century - Yours, etc.

TOWER CAPTAIN MARRIED

The marriage took place on February 9th between Mr. Robert John Purnell, onily son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V, Purnell, of Bradford-on-Avon, and Miss Christine Lansley, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lanstey, of Stratton St. Margaret.

They have hoth been keen ringers for six years, the bridogroom being lower captain of Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, and the bride former secretary and treasurer of Strattion ringers.

The ceremony was performed by the Vicar. Rev. R. Bryant, with Mr. T. Chamberlain at the organ.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a full length white brocade dress, with a small train and a short bouffant veil held in place by a coronet of pearls. She curried a shower of red roses and trailing fern. The bridesmaids were the Misses Pauline Lansley (bride's sister. chief). Carol Reid (hride's cousin) and Carol Hulbert (bridegroom's cousin). The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. Philip Gaisford (bridegroom's cousin).

The couple left the church to the sound of St. Margaret's belis and walked through an archway of handbells.

IN MEMORIAM PEAL TO MR. SAMUEL J. HECTOR

On Fehruary 16th a band, representing London. Reading. Swindon, Taunton, Evercreech. Radstock, Warminster, North Bradley and Trowbridge assembled in the belfry of St. James Parish Church. Trowbridge. to attempt a pead to the memory of Samuel J. Hector. Before starting the poal the Rector, the Rev. George Brett, M.A.. conducted a short service in the tower. during which a peal board. recently erected to record a peal of Stedman Cinques rung in 1947. was dedicated.
This wals Sam's 50th peal in the tower and his 250 th in all. but. alas, it proved to be his last. as shorily afterwards he left Trowbridge for a while and after his return he was taken ill and. acting on his doctor's advice, did not ring another peal.
Sam died on February 14th. 1952, and it has since been the custom to attempt an - In Memoriam' peal on the Saturday rearest that date.

The peal rung on Fehruary 16th, 1963, is recorded in our peal columns.

ALBERT WALKER REMEMBERED AT HENRY JOHNSON DINNER

PLEASING ceremony took place at the 75th annual Henry Johnson commemora(ion dinner. held at the Imperial Hotel. Birming ham. on February 16th. when Mr. Fred Walker, son of the late Mr. Albert Walker, presented a framed photograph of his father, with a request that it should be hung in the belfry of St. Martin's Church. The gift was received by the Master (Mr. Richard C. Ingram) with great thanks
Only the previous Thursdiy a peal of Solihull Surprise Royal was rung at Birmingham Cathedral als an 85th birthday compliment to Mrs Walker Probably on account of the weather, the num bis of guests present was not as many as usual. ihe Rev. Canon F. F. Guy Warman. usual. The Rev. Canon F. F. Guy Warman.
Vicar of Aston, was this year's president, and with him was Mrs. Warman and also Bishop Sinker. Provost of Birmingham, and Mrs. Sinker.
Sinker.
After an excellent meal and the loyal toast. Mr. Frank E. Haynes proposed the toast o Church and State. His statement that he held a record for the number of times any one person had proposed that toast was promptly challenged by Mr. Frank W. Perrens. Unperturbed Mr. Haynes boldly asserted that they were ali members of the Church and State-the State being their politicat entity and the Church their religious entity Appropriately, the speaker brought in the individual's indebiedness to both by a quotation from Ibsen : 'A community is like a ship; every one of us should be prepared to take the helm. That preparedness, emphasised Mr. Haynes, meant that whether it was in ringing or any other activities, they should all be willing to undertake their part.

NO ANTI-BELLS CLERGY

The happy way Bishop Sinker had fitted in with St. Martin's Guild was mentioned by the speaker, who said relationship between ringers and clergy was an important factor in their lives, and in Birmingham they had been particularly fortunate in their chairman and also the Provost. We have never had any clergy whoare amti-bells, and for that we should be very grateful?
The Provost in his reply said if there was to be a vole on the question of establishment, he would be one of those who would vote against establishment. He longed to see the disestablishment of the Church; when that took place they would go forward more quickly than in any other time.
'I think,' he said, 'the Church can be of tremendous henefit to the State - and that is what the Church is here for-but I dislike many of the occasions and many of the ways in which the State forces itself on the church. One of the things I dislike is the State appointment of the bishops.
Throughout his life, the Bishon said. he longed for a church with a ring of bells, and that was not fulfilled until he retired from his appointment in India and came to Bakewell, Derbyshire. It was a great pleasure to him to meet that evening Mr. Paul Taylor, because he look the whole of his ringers to Loughborough 10 see their bells attended to. At Birmingham Cathedral there was a magnificent ring of bells. and he often went into the ringing chamber and walched the ringers at work.
Mr G. E. Fearn, the hon. secretary, had a long list of apologies. These included the Bishop of Birmingham: the Rector, who was in of Birmingham: the Rector, who was in America: Mr. Paddon Smith. this being the first occasion since 1901. except on two occasions when he was in India on husiness, that he had missed: Mr. Edgar Shepherd, who in sending his best wishes for a successful evening said the dinner would be one of the very few he had missed in 50 years; and Mr. Jack Millhouse.

The Memory of the late Henry Johnson was proposed by the chairman, who said in many past years that toast had been proposed by a practical bellringer who could really appreclate the great part Henry Johnson did play in the history of the Society.
He knew that Henry Jothnson learned and practised his ringing at Aston and was very prominent among the ringers of Birmingham and neighbourhood. His tombstone was in Aston Cnurchyard and was erected by the beliringers of England. He was not only a great ringer and composer; they were told he was a man of great integrity, a man of great kindness and was held by many people in affection and esteem. For many years it was possible for people to stand up at that dinner who had seen Henry Johnson in the flesh. That was not now possible. At any rate they heid that dinner to his memory. The toast was drunk in silence.
The toast of 'Continued 'prosperity to St Martin's Guild ' was proposed by Mr. Anthony Ager. His mind went back ten years ago when he came to Birmingham University and within a fortnight he had been asked to ring in a peal of Cambridge. Birmingham ringers really made one welcome-in a social as well as a ringing sense. The prosperity of the St. Martin's Guild was partly due to them all pulling together.
The response was by the Master (Mr. R. C Ingram), who said one of the main things for continued prosperity was the younger ringer, and they in Birmingham were very fortunate with their young ringers, many of whom did church work other than bellringing. A number of young people carne year by year to Birmingham University and attached themselves to their Guild. Their influence was not only felt in their towers but some of the things they had learned from St. Martin's Guild went back with them to their own towers.
The Guild were fortunate in their secretariesthey had had five in 100 years and the two predecessors of Mr. Fearn served for 20 years. and he would soon have reached 20 years in office. While it was a good thing to change certain officers it was not a good thing to change their secretary, and he hoped that Mr. Fearn would continue in office for many years to come.
During the afternoon's ringing he was sitting down watching the ringing at the Cathedral of a touch of London Royal. 'I was fascinated by a young lady and the masterful fashion she rang, and I have never seen a bell better handled. Next to her was another fine ringer. Mr. Jack Pinfold. The young lady he referred to was Miss Gillian Schotield, who was recently clected a life member of the Guild. With such ringers the St. Martin's Guild had no fear for the future.
Mr. Johin McDonald proposed the foast of The Ringing World, and asked that every Guild or Association should appoint one member to push sales. He regarded it as most unsatisfactory that only about one in eight of the Sunday service ringers in the country took the journal. It was the duty of the Guilds to undertake this work because, in his opinion. 'The Ringing World made the biggest contribution towards the wellbeing of the Exercise.

MODEST PROFIT

The Editor in his reply welcomed the suggestion of Mr. McDonald. To those who would push sales he was only too willing to send specimen copies. At one time there was a young lady who would always lake with her a number of copies when sild went tery successful in her sales. If notice was given in advance, copies of the currentiissue would be sent for sale purposes.
Mr White mentioned that the past year had concluded with a modest profit. Whether that was adequate to see them through 1963 remained to be seen, as the cost of labour had increased by 7 per cent. It was essential for 'The Ringing World to maintain its revenue fully during 1963-under all headings-and to increase it. He appreciated very much the support given in the 'Gratefully Acknowledged' column and those who ordered extra copies for people who rang their first peal or quarter peal
The coneluding toast of "The Chairman ' was drunk on the call of the Master, who referred to the front page article on their chairman in The Ringing World. which had been written by Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd. With the toast they would also like to associate Mrs. Warman She and her husband were also very welcome.
Canon Warman, in thanking the company, said what Mr. Edgar Shepherd had wrillen about him was largely untrue. He thought that in ringing there was a certain amount of 'gamesmanship - that was the art of winning without cheating. He was very proud df Aston bells and they had a very good band of 12 . He had noticed at times when he had been in the ringing chambers and the bells had gone less smoothly than usual so that 'Stand' had to be called. Morris J. Morris would say so-and-so ought to have done so-and-so. He afterwards learnt that that was part of Mr. Morris" gamesmanship. [Laughter.]
Concluding, the Canon said: I must again disclaim many of the things Mr. Shepherd wrote about me, but I do thank you for the honour you paid mo by inviting me to be your chairman
There was handbell ringing during the evening. A touch of Stedman Caters was brought round at the second attempt by R. C. Ingram $1-2$, F. W. Perrens 3-4, F. E. Haynes 5-6, P. Border 7-8, J. McDonald 9-10. Later came Grandsire Caters by F. E. Haynes 1-2, R. Pipe 3-4, J. McDonald 5-6, P. Border 7-8, J. Anderson 9-10.

THE COMPANY

With the chairman and Mrs. Warman on the top table were the Bishop and Mrs. Sinker, Mr. R. C. Ingram (Master). Mr. G. E. Fearn (hon. secretary) and Mrs. Fearn. Mr. P. L. Taylor Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Collins, Messrs. J. Pinfold F. E. Haynes, F. W. Walker, R. S. Anderson and T. W. White.

The February meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Clitton on February 9th. Over 30 ringers attended. which helped to make it a successful meeting. Mr. G. Mayers acted as Ringing Master. The Rector, Rev. E . Hall. conducted Evenisong, with ane of the ringers, Mr. T. Harris, at the organ.
Teal was in the Church Hatl, and was followed by the business meeting, with Mr. L. Bywaters in the chair. Four new menbers were elected-Mr. C. Goodwin as an ordinary member, and Mr. A. Mayers and Mr. and Mrs. P. Harris as non-resident lile members. Next meeting: Arlesey, March 9th.

MR. ARTHUR W. HOODLESS

With the passing of Mr. Arthur W. Hoodless, at the age of 79, Barton-on-Humber lost a life-long churchman. He was for many years a member of the Parochial Church Council and was at one time churchwarden, but he will best be remembered for his connection with ringing in this parish for 60 years.
For over 50 years he was captain of the band, which rang on the eight bells at St, Peter's, and also on the four at St. Mary's. Peter's, and also on the four at St. Mary's.
It was a great joy to him when these were augmented to eight in 1947, and the first peal on the bells in 1961. was conducted by Arthur, who rang the tenor, at the age of 77a remarkable achievement.
During these 50 years he taught many lcarners, and the writer is sure he would have been very proud of the way one of his latest young recruits rang the treble in a peal to his memory.
In all the difficulties which come to bands over such a long period Arthur always remained very loyal to his church, and was most regular in his attendance for service ringing.
He did not keep a recond of his peals, but it would appear from information available that he rang approximately 118 , five of these on handbells, and conducted 19.
After the funerail service, held at St. Mary's Church, the beautiful eight were rung halfmulfled by the local band as the cortege left the church. and later visiting ringers joined in the ringing, a tribute to one who had sirved his church so faithfully throughout his long life.

MR. R. C. THRIFT

Mr. Reginald Charles Thrift, of Chelmsford, whasc death occurred suddenly at his home on January 20th, a few days before his 66th hirthday, started his ringing career at Boreham and was elected a member of the Essex Association in July. 1914.

He served in H.M. Army during the 1914-18 War, and on his return to civil life was employed by the date Frederick J. French, a huider of Chelmsford, and was largely responsible for interesting his employer in the ait of beliringing, with the result that in 1947 Mr . French presented the 13th bell in the Cathedral ring as a memorial to his own father.
After his marriage, Mr. Thrift moved to Chelmsford and was, for over 30 years, a member of the Cathedral band. In his earlier days he took part in a number of peals and was well known as a good striker and reliable ringer. Always megudar in his attendance for service ringing, Reg will be sorely missed at the Cathedral. He was a member of the Essex Association Committee and a regular attendant at Association meetings.
Ont January 21 st' a heulf-muffied quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the back cight at the Cathedral.
The funoral service in the Cathedral on January 24th was conducted by the Rev. A. H. Bradbury, the Precentor, and a half-muffiled touch of Grandsire Caters was rung as the cortege left the church.

Among those present were Messrs. E. W. Roast and P. Saltmarsh, the Master and searetary respectively, of the South Eastern District of the Essex Association, and Messrs. L. Ainger. G. Andrews, I.. J. Clark. J. Crawley, Miss A Edwards. Messis. J. Edwards, A. Everett. 'l'. J. Eves, R. Harrison, I. Panton, N. A.S. Symponds, H. W. Shadrack and H.
Wame.

It MR. W. G. NEWBERRY
It came as a shock to his many friends to hear of the death of Mr. W. G. Newberry, whioh occurred after a short ikness at Leatherhead Hospital on February 4th. He was 58. The funeral service, held at Ashtead Parish Church on February 9th, was attended by many friends. Cremation followed at Leatherhead.

Bill' ' was a native of Dulverton, Somerset, and here as a lad he learnt to ring, under his father's turition. In 1927 he went to Surrey and settled at Leatherhead. where he worked as a joiner. He was finally assistant manager of the Ashtead and Leatherhead joinery works.
While not a prolific peal ringer, he had rung some in various methods. A peal he always seemed proud of was that of Cambridge Surprise Major at Leatherhead, rung by the local band in 1939.

As a tnibute to his memory a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on February 17 th, by the following: W. J. Williams 1 , $G$. Marriner 2, Mrs. P. Smith 3, G. P. T. Peters 4. F. G. Oakshott 5, B. Hawkins 6. A. J. Smith (cond.) 7, A. H. Smith 8. This was also a tribute to G. A. Cook, who passed away the same week at Ashtead, where he was a ringer for many years.

MR. GEORGE COOK AN APPRECIATION

Apart from one occasion, four or five years ago, when his wife and doctor weren't looking, Mir. George Cook, of Ashtead. Surrey, who died on February '9th, hadn't touched a bell for 12 years.
During this long period of illness he fought off stroke after stoke with incredible courage and calmness. His once aotive life, of playing cricket for the village, peal ringing in plenty and strenuous gardening jobs was rapidly reduced to long, helpless hours in bed. In the early stages of his confinement, he produced some exquisite embroideries, and tapestries, and would potter steadily in the garden. In the last few months it was adl he could do to get out of bed and walk round the room.
George maintained a keen interest in both cricket and ringing right up to the end. He rang in well over a hundred peals, mostly of Major and Triples. He rang many new Surprise methods, like Ashtead, Ipswich and Cornwall, but could remember few of them. He would often 'run a course of London through his head to stop himself going potty," hie would say with a twinkle in his eye. He could not understand why people wanted to splice methods together or ring peals at great speed, but he appreciated good striking and didn't despair the standard methods.
He went on several ringing outings, but by some curious chance never rang at a six-bell tower. A proud recollection that would quickly bring on a chuckle was the time he rang with Rev. F. E. Robinson. Gegrge must have been about eleven and just learning to handle a bell when the Old Man came to ring a peal at Ashtead. One of the locals persuaded the visitor to give the lad a few rounds, but after a few minutes of this the reverend gentleman purt a stop to it with "That's enough of this nonsense-let's get on with the serious business of the day.'

In ane sense his passing will be a relief to him and those who love him, as it was a sorry thing to sec him becoming ever more irestrioted and helpless. George was the most perfeat gentleman one could wish to know. al wonderful example of humility and loyallty. He possessed more than his share of every virtue and the village be loved so much will miss him greatly.
A great tribute must be paid to his wife, who nursed him with relentless courage and cheerfulness. Together they enjoyed a wonderfully happy life, in spite of all the sacrifices that these llast long years have demanded. Our heartfelt thanks and sympathy go to Mrs. Cook.
D. G. A.

MR. F. W. HYDE

We regret to announce the death of Mr . Fred Hyde, a much respected member of the Powick, Worcs, band of ringers, after a very brief ilness. He passed away in hospital on February 11 th, aged 58 years, and was laid to rest in St. John's Cemetery, Worcester, the following Friday.
Fred lived in St. John's, Worcester, and assisted with the Sunday evening service ringing. He spent most of his life in the service of the Worcestershire County Council, as an official in the motor tax department, from whioh he would have retired in two years time.
In response to an announcement in the Powick Church magazine for ringing recruits in 1944, Fred offered his services. Full of enthusiasm, he became most consistent and reliable, which was characteristic of him. Ringing the 23 cwit. tenor was his great joy, and while he had not rung many peals he was always happy to cover when required. Ringing the tenor to the first peal on the bells by a local band in 1947 gave Fired his greatest thrill. He had a great sense of duty, and was resolved to maintain Sunday service ringing. Ringers' outings were great occasions for him and he much enjoyed visiting country parish churches.
Fred was secretary of the Western Brancil Worcestershire Association, and the esteem in which he was held was marked by the many ringers who attended the funeral service at Powick Church. and who took part in the muffled ringing to his memory.

The sympathy of his fellow ringers extended to his wife in her sad bereavement
G.J.L.

Letters to the Editor

Five Bell Towers and Meetings
Dear Sir,-I was enjoying reading the article by Mr. R. H. Dove, on page 109, about the heavy ring of five at Meanwood, when I was suddenly canfronted with the statement, It is not to be expected that a large terricorial association should visit a five-bell tower while the local district society has, in my opinion, a stupid rule whereby it cannot hold meetings at any tower unless it bas members there.'
And why should the large territorial association, presumably the Yorkshire Association, not hold meetings at a five-bell tower?

My full membership of the Yorkshire Association covers over a decade longer than Mr. Dove's, and never to my knowledge has the Yorkshire Association refused to go anywhere that it has been invited to. I have known it happen that the Yorkshire Association have asked permission to hold a meeting at a tower, but the local ringers have refused to ententain them, and gone ringing a peal at another tower on the same day.
Referring to the local socjety, presumably meaning the Leeds and District Society, having stupid rules, is it not the obvious thing for Mr. Dove to do to raise the question at the annual meeting (providing Mr. Dove is a member), and try to convince the members that they are running a fainly flourishing. Society with rules that are stupid and against the progress and welfare of the Society?-Yours faithfully, faithfully,
F. HODGSON

Northern Handbell Teams

Dear Sir,-I was most interested in Mr. Ogden's letter on page 108 . He asks for further information of northern handbell tune ringing bands. At Ecclesfield Grammar School, near Sheffield, Yorkshire, there is a team of 10 ringers using an old set of bells which, I believe, once belonged to the Ecclesfield village team. Whose bells (now in London) were sometimes used by the school team.
The school team was revived in January, 1959, after about a 5 -year 'silence.' Since then this team has been quite active, and, although the present team has none of the members of 1959, the bells (about 60) are still used and rung. The school team has made several appearances in the local vicinity. Practices are held after 4 p.m. on Thursday nights, under the guidance of Mr. G. Mitchell (senior physics master and leader of the Ecolesfield village team). Anyone wishing to see this team in action would be advised to contact Mr. Mitchell at the school or the headniaster, Mr. A. H. Jennings.
The Wentworth Parish Church team (near Rotherham) also indulges in tune ringing, especially at Christmas time, when a tour of the village is made. Here is a set of 17 bells, although at present eight of these bells aic on loan to St. John's College, York. The team has six ringers.-Yours sincerely,
M. KING.

Cheapside Bob and Queen Victoria

Dear Sir,-The methods given by Mr. A. Bishop as Cheapside Bob and Queen Victoria may well have been rung under that name as there were many local names for many Minor methods.
The method quoted as Cheapside, however, appeared in Campanalogia (1702) as Tulip and has been rung under the name up to the present time. The early editions of Snowdon's 'Standard Methods' contained the method (if my memory serves me right; it is a long time since I saw an eanly edition).
The Tulip which appeared in the 1907 Collection was a misnomer. There was a Cheapside Bob in the above mentioned 'Campanalogial': $x, 36, x, 14, x, 56, x, 16, x, 34, x, 6$. l.e. 6 . panalog
It is the first time I have mat the method Mr. Bishop names Qucen Victoria.
There was a method of that name 'composed' by Wm. Woadcock, of Darfield, and rung both at that tower and Wath-on-Dearne a long time before it was published and nemed by the C.C. as 'Balmaral.' It also has the names Kettering and Hawthorne. I have no information regarding the other two methods mentioned.-Yours sincerely,
H. CHANT.

Design of Stays

Experience in the tower at Westham, Sussex, where the bellls have Hastings stays and a deep set has shown a number of things which can be done to reduce stay breakage. In the pasit our stay casualty rate with beginners has been very high.
Inspection of broken stays revealed that the usual point of breakage was across the bolt hole, just inside the socket, this was remedied by leaving this bolt out and the stay undrilled at this point. The breakages were reduced considerably after this. It was then found that the nature of the break had changed; they now commenced at the edge of the socket and then split along the grain.
The remedy for this was accidentally discovered when our only spare piece of wood was of an undersized section, this fitted the socket in one dimension, so it was used as an emergency measure with a wood fillets $3^{\prime \prime}$ thick at the back and front of the stay to make a snug fit in the socket. These fillets extend a short distance out of the socket and protect the stay from the sharp square edges of the socket.
Using this method makes it possible to use timber of paralliel rectangular section, as advocated by the writer of the article on page 100.
The depth of set bas also been reduced on the handstroke of the bells used for beginners. Stay breakages have now become a rare occurrence instead of a commonplace event.
Woods other than ash have been cried due to the difficulty of supplies of ash (a source of supply has been found 25 miles away), but these have proved to be a waste of money and effort; ash is far superior and cheaper fin the end.

Barber, for the work he had done while being responsible for the upkeep of the bells for the last 21 years. Mr. Batber now felt he must give up this work.

Four towers in the Soar Valley were open for ringing-the eights at Mountsorrel, Quorn and Sileby and the six at Barrow-on-Soas. Some good ringing was heard at all these towers, except Quorn, where even the general secretary had some difficulty in ringing the treble, althhough some were able to master its peculiar habits far better.
The Vicar (the Rev. R. J. Hunting) conducted the service and gave an excellent address in St. Mary's, Sileby, and the local ringers served tea to the 80 members present.

The meeting stood in silence as a coken of respect to the following members who had passed away since the last meeting: Mr. F. passed away since the lasth mibworth), Mr. T. Templeton (Melton Mowbray), Mr. W. Martin (Hıgham-on-the-Hill), and Mr. E. Vallance (Hinckley).
The following have been transferred to the list of honorary members: Mr. E. F. Payne (Syston). Mr. C. Brown (Sapcote), Canon I'. Lister (Humberstone).

Nominations for 1963 general officers ware received at the business meeting as follows: President, Mr. F. K. Measures; vice-presidents (two), Mr. B. S. Payne, Mr. P. L. Taylor and Mr, J, H. Cook; honorary general secretary, Mr. B. G. Warwick; honorary treasurer, Mrs. B. G. Warwick ; honorary peal secretary, Mr. J. A. Acres; trustecs. Mr. J. P. Fidler and Mr. C. Harrison.

The main alteration proposed to rules concerned peal fees. One proposal was to increase the peal booking fees to one shilling crease person, while another proposal was to abolish peal booking. fees altogether. ## A B.B.C. MORNING STORY  THEOUTING  By GEORGE EWART EVANS

'IHIE Middleford annual hellingers' outing had suffered a drop in temperature. Someth:ing was missing this year. The coach was fu:i of ringers and their wives; and though they were as cheerful as usual. expecting an enjoyable tour of the churches, there was a brittleness about the gaiety-as if it wouldn't take much to shatter it altogether. This was plain as old John Marjoram entered the coach, his red shining face more severe than usual. He took his seat at the back and said with rigour: ' He should never ha' said it!'
There was a pause in the talk and laughter: one or two of the ringers glanced round; and fo- a moment it looked as if the old man's theme would be taken up. But heads turned to the front again almost immediately; and fo- the time, at least, John Marjoram's glimpse of what was under the surface was forgotten Jus: before the conch started, Philip Linstead. the Ringing Master, got up with a paper in his hand. He was a rather small man, thinraced and earnest :

You all know the route. Pretty much the same as usual.' Then he recited a list of churches: "We'll ring at Sandacre St. Peter"'s, Furzewood St, George's, Fressinghall St.
Michael's, Gislingfield, Northall and Melham Michael's, Gislingfield, Northall and Melham
S! Andrew's stop for a snack at Fressinghall and finish up as usual at Norton St. Jude's, where we'll mect some old friends and have a meal.' The ringers called out their approval, hut John Marjoram said darkly: "And right glad I am to hear we still got a few friends!'
The coach stasted, and the talk soon took the usual rhythm, a quiet commentary an the state of the crops in the next parish, the county show, the bells they'd rung on previous outings. Then suddenly above the quiet timepassing came Mrs. Thunlow's loud. decisive Oh. I could have gone after him and knocked his hat off!' Again there was a silence, and Philip linstead said firmly in a quiet voice 'Best to forget about it,' as if to close up the little trickle quickly and stop it developing into a flood. But old John Marjoram, now that he had an ally in his friend's, Josh Thurlow's wife, went straight in to widen the breach: 'But some of us can't forget it, Philip. He had no call to say it, especially at a time like that.'
There were one or two noises which clearly meant approval of what old Marjoram had stid: but the ringers as a whole were not ready, it appeared. to discuss it. The business in hand was more important; and there was hardly any further talk until thev reached their first church and rang their first bel's. Then. having loosened their muscles and got into the rhythm of all the past ringing outings, the talk became more free. But it was then that Philip Linstead startled them all. As snon as they'd got back jnto the coach after coning out of the church. Joosh Thurlow called our in his gruff voice: 'I feel kinda better after that-Gorseby Lion next stop!'

There was a laugh and a shout of agreement : hut the Ringing Master stood up again at the front of the bus and faced the rest of the party. 'I think we should go careful today, boys.' he said, 'after what happened. This is our chance to prove him wrong. Keep out of the pubs altogether; that's what 'd advise.'
There was an outcry. Old John Marjoram was on his feet in a moment, his face redder than ever: ' You're out o bed, Philip. You're greatly out $\mathrm{o}^{\circ}$ bed over this, If we were to keep away like you say. we'd be just like a lot o' schoolboys who go careful just, because the master starts a-swishing his cane.

But Philip Linstead was stubborn, and he knew how far he could go. The fact was. the ringers respected him as one of the best all-round men on bells in the Eastern Counties: and they respected his judgment, too. Yet to alter the pattern of the ringers' outing by suggesting they miss out the pubs was more than they could take-even from Phwilip linstead There was a real tussle, with old Marioram leading the attack and the Ringing Master stainding firmly on his conviction, that after what had happened they should he on guard The flood was now loosed. and the words that had been pent up since the previous Saturday, now swirled round in a torrent. Then in the midst of it all, someone called cut: 'We've passed the Goresby Liop
The exchanges had become so hot that no onc had remembered to tell the driver to stop. There was a groan, and the talk tailed away. Most of the road to the next village of Furzewood-through beautiful open heathland heather-covered with the blue sky a rackground to a quick notation of nimble white clouds-they travelled in a sullen silence. The tower of "Furzewood St. George's held eight bells and it was one of their favourite calls. Today they rang the bells competently, without any zest. Their ringing was accurate, but it lacked flow. Philip Linstead remarked as niuch when they returned to the coach. Then John Marjoranı said: 'Look, Philip. I got to speak ma mind. It fare to stick in ma' gillet, all this do. I got to get rid on it.'

Thet's right, John: get it off your chist, Josk Thurlow encouraged. 'Do you preach us a sarmon like the bishop.'
There was a laugh, but old Marjoram wiped his moustache with the back of his hand and said with conviction: 'I reckon I couldn't do much worse than he done. Leastways, I know there's a time for talking and a time for keeping silent.

Yes, yes, yes,' Philip Linstead said. 'You're right, no doubt. John. But though we don't agree with the bishop, he was only doing his job according to his light.
'Yeh, according to his light.' John agreed. The trouble is. Philip. I fare to think the bishop's light do get whoolly dim once he starts a-climbing into the bell chamber,
'I could ha' gone after him and hit his hat off, that I could!' Mrs. Thurlow said again.

What about that sarmon, John?' Josh persisted, and the other ringers-partly wanting any diversion that would help liven up the trip-called out: 'Let's have it, John. Tell us where the bishop ought to be,

The bishop know hisself where he ought to be, John said modestly. 'I don't wish the bishop no harm. But this is how I see

Last Saturday they ask him to come and rededicate the bolls at Middleford Charch. after they'd been recast-and a finer set o' bells you wont find this side o' Cambridge. The bishop. he does fis job well enough : hut then he gits into the pulpit and he det's fly at the ringers. He smites em hip and thigh, and tel! em they ought to be ashamed $0^{\circ}$ ihemiselves $a$-rushing into the pubs straight after ringing in the tower

Yeh, we heard him, John.' Josh Thurlow said morosely, 'we was there.
'But why did he say jt?' John went on. A rededication $0^{\circ}$ the betls is not the place to go a-picking faults in those who use 'em. And he say about the ringers' out:ngs.

Just a minute, John,' Philip 1.instead interrupted. 'He hardly said anything about the outings. Let's be fair.

Yeh, yeh, let's be fair, Philip. as fair as a juder He didn't say anything; but he meant it: a-hinting that we take too much when we go on an outing. But tell me, who's ever seen a ringer like thet? I've been coming on these outings for nearly fifty years, and the only time I see anyone with a drop too much was forty years ago-the time we rang a touch o'Stedman's Cinques at Farlingfield. That Tommy had a good reason to drown his sorrow that day, for his missus had just up and slipped off with a knife-grimder and left him with a houseful $0^{\circ}$ kids to 100 k after.
There was an outburst of laughter; but John was just warming up: 'It's no use for the bishop to go a-shooting out his crook and a-catching sinners by the hinder leg, like a lot o' sheep-trippin' an 'em up in season and out o' season. There's no kind o' governnient in thet! The shepherd only do thit once a year when a sheep wants a-seeing to. Someone ought to tell the bishop his crook is for leaning on most ot the time, just to show he's a bishop, mot for tripping up behringers who are some on his best supporters. It a bad shepherd who goo a-drubbing his sheep at shearing time. The dedication-look! the dedication $o^{\prime}$ the bells is a kinda harvest bike the sheep-shearing, a time for rejoicing not for moaning and a-mortifying.

Hear, hear! Well done, John!' his fellow ringers called out: and even Philip Linstead, at the front of the coach, seemed to be nodding his head in agreement.

And what if we do go into a pub? The bishop likes talking to his friends in his palace. Well I ain't got a palace, but I like talking 10 ma friends: and if I go to a pub where 1 can talk in peace what harm's there in that? You can praise God with a pint $0^{\prime}$ good heer is well as anything else, even if the brewers and the Chancellor o' the Exchequer gits a cut out of it as well. We ringers know when o stop. Temperance!. That's the wordwhich is not the same thing as having nawthen at all. But, look, we're coming into Fressinghall, where we're going to have our snack And if Philip don't mind we'll have suthen with it to wash it down.

The Ringing Master made no objection and even seemed convinced by old John's sermon. But it was noticeable that few of the singers went into the bar of the inn where they were served with a cold lunch. And it was a very subdued band that slopped the next church of Gislingtield.
Philip Linstead, too, was gloomy The bishop had spoken a few disastrously ill-timed words and they had rippled out and disturbed the rhythm of the ringers' outing. None of the ringers here deserved the bishop's strictures. In any case, if he had anything to say on that score he could have said jit at some other time. Old John was properly upset; and that was a great pity because at his age he couldn't be expected to take part in many more ringing tours like this. Perhaps the trip weuld brighten up when they got to Norton. At least, Charlie Appleton would see they got a proper welcome there.

They rang at Gislingfield and the next two churches. but again without the usual enjoyment. At last, however. the coach pulled into Norton, a small coastal village with a huge church overlooking the sandy heathland behind it The party's spirits rose when they saw Charlie Appleton-a big fisherman, conductor of the Norton ringers-waiting for them. He was grinning all over his face as he met them coming off the coach.

Your bishop's been handing it out. ain't he? You together ought to train him better than that. You ought to git our owd vicat to have a word with him.'
'What you mean by that. Charlie?' John Marjoram asked as they shook hands.

Never you mind. John. But wait a minute You don't know it's our charch celcbration do you? It's been up five hundred ycar. Then he whispered to John Marjoram before qurning again to the others: ' Dew you keep quiet for a while, John: irm going to ask Dew any of you know what a gotch is?'

There were blank looks and a "Never heard of it!'; but old John's face lit up at the word: and the light came back into his eye. the light that had been missing ever since they started that morning. Although he refused to tell Charlie Appleton's secret, John's change of heart soon affected the others. Philip Linstead sensed that there was a better feeling in the bell chamber and the Nortan ring was easily the best of the trip. There was a flow in the striking, and it was as crisp and accurate as the tick of an old clock.

When they'd finished they went to the village haull, where the usual meal had been prepared. But there were glasses of water on the table; and there were some very wry fuces among the visiting ringers as they sat down. But Charlie Appleton's band was evidently in the secret, too; for they were as cheerful as if they were helping at a wedding. Then, when the meal was nearly over, Charlie stood up and said with a wink at old Marjorim: "And now we'dl show you What a gotch is. It's been in the church tower to: a rare dong time, and the Vicar he say, since it's our quin-cent-what-you-call-it, we can have jt out and give it an airing.'

Then at a nod. two of the Norton band slipped out and immediately rexurned bearing a huge earthenware jug with two handles. "Tell 'em. John!' Charlie Appleton called Iohn was on his feet in a moment: 'It's a ringer gotch.' he said, 'and I reckon I don't w/ant to tell 'em what's in it.'
There was a shout and cries of 'Good owd Charlie!' But Charlie waved aside all thanks: - I see it in the paper that the bishop don't wist for you to call anywhere, he say. So some on us thought it would be hest to have some refreshment brought in. Help yourselves toge:her, and give no thought to anything else.
In the expectant silence that accompanied the orderly passing of the gotch. John Marjoram rose slowly to his feet.

- You're not a-going to preach us another samon, are you, John?’ Josh Thurlow asked nervously

No. said John looking contemplatively at his full glass of beer. Just a little text: Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof. Raise your glasses, boys. And I reckon us'll all agree we should put the first u. down for the bishop.

Christ Church, Southgate

TTHEN Christ Church was dedicated, in 1862. it possessed only one bell, a small one, which had formerly hung in the Weld Chapel, on the site of which the present church was arected. This bell, which is still rung for week-day services, was cast at the Whitechapel Foundry and bears the date 1616 Public subscriptions and private donations enabled the back six of the present ring of ten to be cast at Whitechapel and they were rung for the first time on Whit Sunday, 1874. In 1879 further subscriptions raised onougli money to augment the ring to eight and tinally in 1920 two more bells were added-the gift of the Barker family, of Southgate. The first pea.l on the bells was rung on April 21st, 1880. and the totad number of peals is now 192. In addition. many hundreds of quanter peals have been rung.

From time to time Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have carried out minor work on the bells, but in recent years it has become obvious that a major overhaul was needed. Accordingly Mears and Stainbank inspected the bells and submitted a detailed account of work which needed doing at a cost of approximately $£ 1,000$.
The Parochial Church Council agreed and work was started at the end of August last year and completed in time for Christmas. The chief work carried out consisted of removing the canons and drilling out the staples from the cight danger bells; cehanging all the bells with new fibtings, including cast-iron headstocks, ball bearings, wheels, etc., in the old frame, which is in good condition.

During dismantling it was discovered that the 5th had a very fine crack in the crown, which was repaired but the 3rd was cracked beyond repair and had to be recast. The new bell weighs 7 cwt .1 qr .10 lb . and was tuned to fit in with the remainin管 bolls.
In addition, the louvres have been boarded up to within two feet of the top and as a result the bells sound much better in the vicinity of the church. The bells were rededicated by the Vicar after the Parish Communion and then rung for Matins on Sunday, December 16th.

A band of bachelors rang a peal on St. Valentine's Day at North Stoneham. Here's to hoping!
Two Birmingham ringers-Norman Goodman and John MaoDonald-completed their 100th peal together with a peal of Stedman Triples rung at Erdington Abbey.
The 100th peal in Australia was rung at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, on February 7th. It was Pritchard's 5056 Plain Bob Major and was conducted by Mr, G. W. Pipe.

Miss Jidl Swanne, who has been holidaying in Sydney, N.S.W., rang in three quarter peals at St. Mary's Cathedral and was with St. Mary's bellringers for their Tennis Day in Prince Albent Park, and enjoyed swimming with them. She returned to New Zealand on January 30th.

The Ilkeston District of the Derbyshire Association, which was amalgamated with the Derby District 10 years ago, due to lack of support, is now operating again as an independent District.

Mr. John Camp, of Jesus College, Oxford, asks if any reader has particulars of a legal case in which either the bells or clock at Hammensmith Parish Church were or was restrained from ringing or striking.
We have just heard by air mail that, in honour of the visit of H.M. the Queen, the first peall has been rung on the heavy eight of Adelaide Cathedral on February 20th. The peal, Grandsire Triples (Parker's Twelve-Part) was called by Miss Enid Lloyd Roberts.

Through a broken arm Mr. N. Roderick Ellway, of Swithland, Leics, has been out of peal ringing-in fact this limited his total of peals last year to 24 . He is now in the peal columns again with a peal at the Loughborough Foundry Campanile on February 23rd.
Mr. J. Raiph, of Gillingham, Dorset, writes pointing out that the footnote to the peal of Doubles in 16 methods rung at Bradford-onAvon on January 26th (see page 99), claiming most methods to a peal for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, is incorrect. A peal in 21 Doubles methods was rung at Evershot, Dorset. by the local band (conductor Dennis Bishop) about 1938-39.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Despite the unfavourable weather, 55 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Beverley and District Society, held at Beverley on February 9th

The afternoon's ringing was on the 10 bells at the Minster, whilst the equally fine ring of 10 at St. Mary's was put to good use in the evening. A service was held in St. Mary's Church, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. S. Walker, who warmly welcomed the Society A'r excellent tea was thoroughly enjoyed.

At the business meeting the members heard a recording of the hadf-muffled ringing at Beverley Minster on the evening of the funeral of their late president, Mr. Albert $E$ Sellers. An annual competition is to be inaugurated, with a cup named in memory of Mr. Sellers.
Mr. H. Parker (Bridlington), the present vice-president, was elected to fill the vacant office of president, whilst Mr. N. Castle (Walkington) becomes the new vice-president Other officers and committee members were re-clected, Mr. F. C. Hobson (Kirk Ella) being elected to continue as Assistant Ringing Master, following upon his temporary appointment to that office last November on the resignation of Mr. R. Ducker. The Rev. $G$ Storer (Hutton Cranswick) was thanked for his continued interext as Society's chaplain.
The annual report showed an increased arcage ittendance at the monthly meetings and the enrolment of 32 new members during 1962. The total membership is 174 , of which a large propontion are of the younger generation. Increased membership from students as Hull University was reparted.
Mr. D. Johnson, presenting the Ringing Master's report, stated that there had been a decrease in peal activity, but that this was more than offset by the large number of quarter peals rung, including many 'firsts.
Future meetings are to be at Cottingham on March 9th, and at Walkington on April 6th when the tilm 'Ringers Required ' is to be shown

GRANDFATHER WAS A RINGER

SORTING some personal belongings of their grandfather, the late Mr. Henry Oddy. Mrs. R. Cocker, of Church Street, and her brother, Mr. D. Oddy, of Ashwood Gardens, Gildersome, discovered his age-worn ringing book and with it old photographs. The book throws interesting sidelights on Yorkshire ringing, particularly the many ringing contests that were held in the latter half of the last century.
Henry Oddy was closely associated with St. Paul's, Drighlington. which was at one time the leading tower for peal ringing in Yorkshire and where the 150th peal on the bells was rung about four years ago. But it was at Tong Parish Church that Henry began his ringing career in 1877. In all he rang in 47 peals, the last one being at Drighlington in 1912. Many of his peals were of Minor, and these included a long length of 10,440 changes rung in 1896 , which constituted a record length of Minor for the Yorkshire Association.
Although he did not take part in it, Henry Oddy had copied into his book details of the first peal rung at Drighlington on September 16th, 1880. It was Kent T.B. Major, by Henry Hubbard, of Leeds, and the peal came round in three hours and three minutes. The band was thought to have lived in and around Drighlington, and consisted of W. Sugden. B. Parkinson. E. Webster, J. A. Ross, J. Crabtree, G. Bolland, B. A. Dodson (conductor) and J. Haley.
The first ringing competition mentioned was that at Kirkheaton in April, 1866 - a 6 -bell tower, in which Batley and Mirfield were among the competitors. Later the same year another competition was held at Stainland, near Halifax. A special mention is made of the Batley team, who came fourth.
Teams from Dewsbury, Batley, Carr, Ossett, Mirfield and Birstall are mentioned as participating in these ringing contests, and each enjoyed some measure of success. The prizes presented to the winners were usually monetary, but often were copper kettles. silver pins, silver mounted pipes, carving knives and forks, and silver mounted drinking horns.
In the early part of the century Drighlington had an outstanding band under Mr. Francis Barker, but World War I broke it up. Mr. Barker, however, formed another GrandSire Triples band which held together until about 1930. The 100th peal on the bells-Parker's Six-Part-was rung in 1912, conducted by Mr. Barker, the band being Albert Gascoine 1, Harold Brown 2, Smith Collinson 3, George Barron 4. Syduey H. Barron 5, Firth Hopwood 6, Francis Barker 7. Walter Totham 8.

An outstanding servant of the tower was Sydney H. Barron. The 150th peal on the bells in 1956 not only commemorated the Queen's birthday but also his 70 th birthday. He took part in this peal and also one the following year to commemorate his 50 years as ringer and tower-keeper at Drighlington. This 1957 peal enabled him to ' circle the tower' to peals - the only man to do so.

Mention should be made of the veterans' peal at Drighlington in 1959, when the average age of the ringers was 70. A peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung on this occasion by Ernest H. Simpson (conductor) 1, Thomas Hill 2, Wm. H. Senior 3, Fredk. Seager 4, Vernon Bairstow 5, John Hogg 6, Sydney H. Barron 7, John Pearson 8.

A GRANDMOTHER JOINS THE NOVICES  By LADY MALLETT

MAY I add myself to the company of middle-aged novices? I have much in common with Mr. Brueton and Mr. Pearce, but there is one great difference. I am a woman. I started after my 56th birthday, when our tower was in great need of ringers.
Thanks to the patience of our captain and the other members of the band who taught me to control the bell. I neither went up to the ceiling nor broke a stay. But later, when we came to plain hunting. Bob Minimus and Grandsire Doubles the fun began. 'Rope sight! rope sight!' cries the captain, ' not by numbers'!

To me, everything seems to be going up and everything coming down at the same moment, as it did in the war. Grandsire Doubles goes as follows: Fourth place, fifth place, dodge. Bother, something has gone wrong. 'You have missed me out, three,' shouts the captain from the treble.

My ears picks out the familiar sequence 5, 4, 3, 2, 1. Got it; back again. Two minules later bother, I have pulled too hard: she has gone too far over. I will never get her back in time and they will think I am lost again. 'You have missed me out again, three. Why do you always miss me out? That is all: go rounds.'

The young ones who started well after I did seem to have no trouble at all. They will never make a changeringer out of me, but I get the greatest pleasure from trying, and the admiration that I feel for all the band who put up with my incompetence knows no bounds.
My grandson is just beginning to learn to ring, and he confessed that half the fun of going up in the belfry was to watch Grandma's worried face as she heaved away!

LONG LENGTH ON HANDBELLS

The second attempt by the University of London Society for the Minor handbell recard on February 20th was successful. The num ber of changes was increased by 720 to 15,840 to equal the Plain Bob Royal handbell record set up in 1953.
The peal now becomes the equal third longest on handbell. 64 changes short of the Plain Bob Major record of December 22nd 1962 , but well short of the 19.738 Stedman Caters, which has now stood as a handbell record for 51 years. (It is now quite likely that this will soon be broken!)

The peal commenced at 2.9 p.m. to a very steady heat, the first 720 taking 19 minutes, but gradually settled down to bring up 5,040 in 2 hours ? minutes. Half way, 7,920 changes, was passed in 3 hours $8 \frac{1}{4}$ minutes each extent now taking about 17 minutes, which was exactly the rate of ringing aimed for

The second peal of 5.040 took 1 hour 57 mirutes: the previous record, believed to be 10.800 , was pasised at 6.23 p.m.. and by now the speed had increased further to $15 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes pe- 720. The third 5,040 took only 1 hour 55 minutes. but towards the end the ringing sleadied up considerably: the final extent took 18 minutes

The final rounds came up at 8.21 p.m.. a time of 6 hours 12 minutes. The ringing was of a very high standard throughout. as is apparent on the tape recordings: 11 different callings were used- 228 bobs and 144 singles

The hand would like to thank Mary Taylor for acting as a very efficient umpire for yet another 15.000 , and also for operating the tape recorder and being of general assistance throughout

EAST RIDING RINGERS

The annual dinner of the East Riding Ringers took place on December $29 t h$ at the Beverley Arms Hotcl, Heverley. The evening's entertainment was preceded try ringing on Heverley's two fine rings of tent. at the Minster and St. Mary's. About 50 ringers and their friends were present from Beveriley. Cottingham, Kirk Elia. Sutton and Walkington

A splendid seasanal meal was served-there car be mo doubt that Yorkshire cooking is England's hest. After dinner the Sutton handboll ringers had a merry performance with their bells. and rendered a selection of carols and Christmas qunes. A film show followed. with one ringer bravely illustrating some of his honeymoon delights. with a film constructed by himself. Slides taken during last year's cycling tour in Somerset and Dorset were shown prior to a discussion of the next tour. which. it is foped. witl the in the Cambridgeshire area in August.
Hearty thanks were accorded to David Johnson, the organiser.

PUTNEY RINGERS SING THE CHANGES

Abstract

A recent leading article on the need for new blood on committees and for officers to consider seriously whether they ought to accept nomination year after year had striking confirmation at Putney on February 16th, when a most successful social evening was held there by the Northern District. It really started with a new and young committee member inquiring when the next get-together would be. The previous social function had been the 75 th annlversary dinner in 1955, and the answer to her question was a centenary dinner in 1980. This not proving good enough she got busy and the result was an offer from the energetic ringers of Putney to or ganise a social evening for the District.
The evening proved conclusively their point, hat such occasions were needed and would be welcomed. Some 80 ringers and friends at tended at the belfry for a ring first (so many that : one ring and get out of the belfry to make room for the others' was the arder of the evening). Light refreshments had been promised at $7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. The mind boggles at what Putney people would call a square meal if what provided was correctly described. When the quantity of food provided had finally defeated the company the film 'Ringing the Changes,' from 'Look at Life,' was shown and appreciated, especially when local ringersi fices were seen. More active events followed in quick surccession.
Miss Silly Parrott won a prize for heing the first to ohtain the signatures of 21 memeres who had performed a whole variesy of different ringing fouts: They varied from breaking at stay to having rung more than 50 peats or heen a member of the Association for over 40 years. The Putncy Chorad Society (a'l allias for Putney ringers) rendered some musing ringing verses

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Eastern Division Annual

Over 60 ringers from all parts of Sussex crowded into the spacious belfry of St. Mary's, Eastbourne, on February 23rd, when the Eastern Division held their annual meeting. The Vicar (Canon W. W. S. March) was unable to take the service owing to an attack of influenza, and his place was taken by the curate. Rev. N. M. S. Waters. At (ea. in the Old Parsonage (arranged by Si. Mary's band). the members learned that their secretary, Mr. F. Beeney, was ulso ${ }^{3}$ flu casualty, and his predecessor, Mr. H Reynolds. deputised for him.
The Master, Mr. R. V. Johnston, took the chair, and Mr. R. W. Percy, general secrelary, was also present. On hearing that Mr. Beeney did not wish to seek re-election as Divisional secretary, the meeting voted Mr. I Smith. of Battle. to this office. Other officers elected were: RInging Master. Mr. A. Baldock : auditor. Mr. T. A. Hunnisett: committec. Mri. B. Percy and Mr. T. Barlow: Central Council representative, Mr. R. Percy. The chairman thanked all retiring ofticers. especially Mr. L. Giles, who had filled the difficult and thankless task of Ringing Master for many yeirs.

A most refreshing and healthy indication at this meeting was the youth and obvious future capabilities of the new officers. H.R.

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY DINNER

M
OST of the city towers were available on February 9th. when the Nottingham University Society held their dinner. Appropriately, an excellent meal was served in the - Tower Suite ' of the Co-operative House to a company of about 50
Mr. Paul Taylor, the genial president, gave the loyal toast, to be followed by the Master. Mr. Roy Tiffin. who welcomed the guests These included Mr. Norman Chaddock and Mr. David Marshall and their wives, and representatives of other University SocietiesLiverpool. Leicester and Bristod-and friends from Loughborough College. which would probably soon have university status. Lastly, came the city ringers and the Rev. J. N. D, Perkins and Mrs. Perkins, of All Saints', Nollingham, to whom the Society owe it great deal, as the bells of All Saints Church have been availible to the Society for the last three years.

The reply was by Mr. Norman Chaddock, who recalled previous visits to Nottinghamonce to take an examination at the university and several times to attempt peals with the late Clement Glenn. He noticed during the day's ringing that Clement Glenn had left his mark on Nottingham ringing in the ingenious way the bells were quickly in a musical position in Grandsire Caters. Another thing that pleased him was that after a touch had failed there had been no arguments or harsh words.
The toast of 'The Socicty' was proposed by Mr. David Marshall, who said he was quite sure that everyone present knew what cxcellent fellows all its members were, and what good work the Society did, a point he did not propose to elaborate.
It was important, said the proposer, that all ingers and clergy should increasingly bear in mind the question of public relations. Peal ringing was something which helped very much to keep the Exercise alive, but it also often caused bad feeling with the listening public. He urged that towers where complaints were frequent should fit some form of sound control to the louvres, which could be adjusted to provide a maximum for service ringing and a minimum amount of sound for practices and peal ringing.
Mr . Edmund Shuttleworth responded for the Society, and said the Society had manned the bells of All Saints' Church every Sunday evening until Christmas. Then ringing had to bi suspended because the 'go' of the bells had deteriorated. Next year was the centenary of All Saints' Church and the parish hoped to rehang the bells as part of the celebrations. When this was completed All Saints' parish could rely on the Society to give them every assistance in teaching a negular band. Another activity of the Society was in concentrating ${ }^{0} 3$ getting ringing again at Beeston.
The formal part of the evening over, the company adjourned to talk over ald times and to ring handbells in an atmosphere of goodwill and friendship.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

North and East District

A company of 50 attended the annual meeting of the North and East District at Hendon on February 9th. The bells of St. Mary's, Finchley, were avaibable during the afternoon and. judging by the number of members inside the small ringing room at one time. were very popular.
The service was held at Hendon and was conducted by the Viacar. the Rev. C. E. Welch. who based his address on a passage from the Association Collect, Help us to be worthy of our holy calling.
Following tea. in the Church House, Mr. H. G. Hart took the chair at the business meeting and extended a special welcome to Mr Fred Barker, of Finchley, who has been a nember of the Association for over 50 years. The secretany's report gave members a resumé of the activities of the District during the past year and revealed that. of the quarter peals rung for Sundily and other services, the hand at All Saints', Edmonton, recorded the mast successes.
The election of officors for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Master, A. Cutler ; Deputy Master. Mrs. H. G. Hart; District chairman, G. H. Hart: secretary, E. H. Kilby ; assistant secretary, D. T. C. Smith; auditor, J. R Mayne. Messrs. D. E. R. Knights. C. F Neal and S. G. Peck were re-elected as committee representatives.

JOINT MEETING AT  BEACONSFIELD

A very enjoyable joint meeting between the Ladies' Guild (Central District). Middlesex County Association (South and West District) and Oxford Diocesan Guild (East Berks and South Bucks Branch) was held at Beaconsfield on February 23rd. Early in the afternoon there was ringing on the six bells a: Penn. Various methods were rung on the eight at Beaconsfield before Sung Evensong, which was conducted by the Rector, Rev. C. R. Warner, and Rev. L. G. Reeves.
The gathering. which numbered about 70 , enjoyed an excellent tea in the Old Rectory. Mr. A. D. Barker thanked the Rector for his joyful service. and welcomed the visitors. Mrs. Lock replied, thanking the East Berks and South Bucks Branch for the invitation. Miss D. R. Fletcher and Miss G. Reeves and their helpers for preparing an excellent tea and $\mathbf{M r}$. W. ## NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Eastern Branch Annual

The Eastern Branch again chose Loddon for its annual meeting on February 16 th, and the handy eight were soon being rung to suit all latstes and talents.

The service was conducted by the Vical (Canon C. R. Ninham); the lesson was read by Miss Doris Lidbetter; the organist was Mr. D. L.loyd.

In the absence of the Branch chairman, Mr. E. R. Goate, the business meeting, after the tea in the Church Hall, was presided over bv Mr. Nolan Golden. president of the Association.

Mr. Golden opened the meating by proposing a vote of thanks to Canon Ninham. Mr. Lloyd the organist and Mr. Bailey (verger) for the use of the bells and the general arrangements: to Mr. and Mrs. Barrett and their lady helpers for the splendid tea provided.
He then spoke of the loss the Branch had suffered by the death of Mr. Alhert Coleman. of Lowestoft, a great churchman and well known ringer; the members stood in silent tribute to his memory.
Before the election of officers for the ensuing year took place. Mr. Golden said how grateful the Association was for the work of thesc folk and it was a well known fact that the Eastern Branch had always been well served. the retiring chairmitn and secretary having held office for 12 and 10 years respectively.
The elections resulted as follows: Chairman, Miss Doris Lidbetter; secretary, Mr. Norman Cossey: Ringing Master, Mr. G. Walpole; Standing Committee, Messrs. E. R. Gaate and P. G. W. Newstead; Branch Committee, Messrs. A. W. Bird, C. Bailey, J. Forder, J. Gorrod and T. Brock.
A striking competition will be held on May 18th. and the next Branch meeting will be at Kessingland on June 8th.
The president said there would be room for members to attend the forthcoming Central Council meeting at Great Yarmouth. The members also heard from various speakers of the detailed arrangements which had so far been made by the Association's officers, and which ran contrary to certain "long distance" allegations which had appeared from correspondents in 'The Ringing World.'

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GULD  Bingham District

The first hour of the Bingham District meeting on February 9 th was at the four bell tower of Oxton, where 18 members were welcomed by Mr. C. H. Ashmore (captain). Then to East Bridgford. where the chaplain took the service and tea was served in the Village Institute.

Reconsideration of Extension Justified

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{I}$ would dike to state that, in the current controversy an method extension, I du think the Leicester protagonists have made a valid point, in that an extension can sometimes be made of a method which appears not to extend by the expedient of adapting from another method which allows - perfectly obvious extension.

Some of the results produced by this method do not conform to the recommendations of the C.C. Report, but I fail to see that they, can be dismissed by the term 'arbitrary, as Mr. Blagrove would have us believe-the C.C. Repart is a classic picce of 'arbitnary ' reasoning.
In one or two cases (and I include Durham) the methods produced by the 'adaptation' system seem to give a resuilt which is not only satisfactory to the practical ringer, but also appeals to the theorist because the method concerned can be summed up in a comparatively simple and understandable way, which suggests the way in which the method can be produced on all numbers, in exactly the same way as the elements of the Cambridge construction can be contained in one basic precept -i.e. 'working bells hunt while the treble dodges, and vice versa.'
$I_{i}$ is easy to formulate a rule to produce Durham. once the principle is grasped, on which the York extension is based, and I do foe! that the Durham extensions are quite as sound as the accepted York family.
Finally, I may sny that thare is a large hody of the Exercise who, after due consideration, feel that the existing rules of the C.C. Report are inadequate, and who would be glad to see the situation reopened, if the lengthy samblings which precede the production of the Report could be avoided.
Mr. Mayne bas given us a very lucid lesson on the Report, which, I think, many will find useful. Having understood the substance of the Report, however, we must examine the rules which, in many cases in an arbitrary way, draw the dine between the acceptable and the unacceptable extension. To qualify my allegations. the following rule is obviously entirely without logical foundation, and so arbitrary (I cannot quote the reference, but it is part of the rule on pivot position at the whalf-lead):
The substance is that if a pivot place is made internally, e.g, in thirds place in Major, then in the extension to Royal it shall be made in fifths place, and in Maximus in sevenths place, undess the extension is static. when it shall remain in thirds place. Why in an expending extension, should the pivot place remain static from the back, when it is not allowed to remain static from the front?
I feel that the way is open to relaxing the rules, while still maintaining equall quality of extension.-Yours, etc.,

Loughborough Bell Foundry Peals

Dear Sir.-In connection with the Rev.

My total number is 70 peals. 34 of which bave treen rung since is was married and the remainder under my maiden name (Forstar). ## Conductor Disagrees

Dear Sir,-We have now had official confirmation from the Methods Committee that they do not accept the extensions of Durham Surprise rung at Leicester. I read, and understood Mr. Mayne's letter, but I cannot agree with all the points he made. Should our extension (which appears perfectly logical to $\mathrm{me})$ be rejected of hand when the other means of extension provides no answer at all? What about London Surprise?
Had the Birmingham band rung Londinium hefore the Cheshire band, they were going to call it I.ondon. And why not? Scveral of the Cheshire hand wanted to call it London. and. in actual fact, claimed as a footnote to a peal of I.ondon Minor to have rung peals of London from Minor to Maximus! This was not disputed.
When we rang the peal of Durbam Royal we were not aware that it did not conform to C.C. Rules. It can be rung by the same rule from Minor to Maximus, like Cambridge. York and Primrose ; this, from the practical ringer's view, is the ideal. Primrose is Cambridge without 2 nds at the lead end, and Durham is York without 3rds at the half-lead, and gives the back change at the first halflead, for all numbers.
No doubt a great deal of hard work went into the report an Method Extension: but some modification is needed to cover logical extensions which are accepted by the majority of the Exercise.
|Many Government committecs work very hard, hut I think everybody would agree that their findings are not infallible, despite good intentions.]
I can call to mind four bands who have questioned method extension independently. We will not be the last unless some changes are made ; perhaps to consider the few exceptions which arise on their own merits?
If we had called the method County Durham it would have been acceptable, or even Llanfair P.G.. correctly spelt. of course!- Yours sincerely, ROBERT B. SMITH.
Loughborough.

Handbell Tune Bands

Dear Sir,-With reference to the list of tune ringing handbell bands on page 108, I inadvertently omitted three bands of enthusiastic young ringers who deserve to be included. They are:
Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar School handhell ringers, Ashton-under-Lyne. Lancs. 17 hells, 6-7 ringers. Leader. Mr. John P. Partington. 23. York Street, Heywood, Lancs. Tel.: HEY 60170. Practices usually during school hours
All Saints' C. of E. School handhell ringers, Hamer, Rochdale. Inancs. Leader. Mr. James Taylor. 9 . Greenhank Road, Rochdale, Lancs. Ahout 24 bells. 6-9 ringers. Practices usually during school hours.
Kettering High School ringers, Kettering, Northamptonshire. Secretary. Miss M. Rowles, 'Grindelwald:' Skeffington Close. Geddington, Kettering. About 36 bells, 8 ringers. Although the band are in the Midlands. I think they should be mentioned if only for the fact that I have heard some very good reports of them. from time to time.
Miss J. S. Armstrong. of Morpeth. has sent ma brief details of a Northumbrian band,

The Camhois Church handhell ringers, Carmhois. Blyth. Northumberland. Correspondent. Mr. J. R. Fenwick, 4, Sindficld spondent. Mr. J. R. Fenwick, 4, Sindfield Road. East Sleekhurn. Bedlington. Northumherland. 16 hells, $7-8$ ringers.- Yours sincerely, Shaw, Oldham. THOMAS OGDEN.

A Peal Ringer's Query

Dear Sir,-If the bells in a parish church need new fittings, etc., what is more important to that church-six separate half-hours of service ringing or three hours' ringing by a party from outside the parish for their own satisfaction?
The bells at Irthlingborough, for instance, were last rehung with new fittings, etc., in 1893. Before a peal attempt or a ringers' meeting, these bells need extra care. The old plain bearings do not retain the oil for long, rollers and pins are badly worn and, of course. ropes near the garter hole need care and attention.
On one or two occasions we have had to refuse permission for a peal because sufficient time, before and after the long ringing, for this attention was not possible. After all, service ringing and practice ane more impor tant for the local church and ringers.
Another point to remember is that, in most parishes there are the bell haters. who complain of three hours' continuous ringing. One couple, near this church, requested the Rector to stop the practice on Tuesday nights because it awakened their baby. However, we didn't. and they have moved farther away.-Yours faithfully, Irthlingborough.
ARTHUR BIGLEY.

Metal Strips For Stays

Dear Sir,-Mr. Halls, on page 124, wonders why some sort of unbreakable stay that only requires resetting when a bell 'goes over' has not been devised.
It seems to me that few people realise that such a stay has been tried, and is in use on several light rings that have been installed in recent years.

The principle utilises a metal strip for the stay, with a little finger at the end. extending twc or three inches beyond the main part of the stay. There is no slider nceded, merely a slide, shaped like a long old-fashioned English s.

When the bell reaches its highest point the finger is guided into one side of the slide and rests against a stop a few inches off centre. When the bell goes up the ather way the finger goes into the other side of the slide and rests there. Thus the finger is moved to and fro with each stroke.

If the bell is pulled too hard the stay and finger simply bend, allowing the bell to "go over.' All one does then is to haul up the rope and put it back on the right side of the wheel. There is not even any resetting required.

Such a system is firted to the Taylor ring at Sixthorpe. Norfolk (tenor 3 cwt .). and I had a remarkably heavy handed (for the light bells) band of learners there from the nearby school. However, though a bell could go over ten times in an afternoon, ringing was never halted more than a couple of minutes while a: enthusiastic learner dashed up the tower to 'retrieve' his rope. For those who are interested in records, four of these learners stood in (fairly) successfus rounds less than ten minutes after first handling a bell rope! I am sure that this is at least in part due to the lack of fear (both mine and theirs) in bicaking a stay.
I have no doubt that an olahoration of this method could be used on the heaviest of bells -Yours faithfully,

F゙RANK H. KING.

LETTERS-Continued

London & The Central Council

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}_{\mathrm{r}}$-I have read the recent correspondence regarding accommodation in "The Ringing World for the forthcoming Central Council meeting in Great Yarmouth. I notice that Mr. B. G. Warwick, of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, approves of the fact that the first meeting of the Central Council in each session ought to be held in London. I, personally, do not agree with this motion at all, for the following reason. I feel, and I expect there are many ringers up and down the country will feel the same, that the Central Council should move its headquarters frequently and get out in the 'country lanes.' Englind has a north, which is not centred on London.
We in the north are ' fed up ' with 'London.' Why must everything and everybody be in Landon, all at the same time? Another inreresting fact is that there are better things than finding rooms for a few days for the Central Council members to argue about. The use of synthetic bells is one-I saw an advert for these tin cans in a leading Church paper. Never mind accommodation; plenty of that for everybody, am I sure.-Yours faithfully,

> ANDREW KING.

Five Bell Towers & Meetings

Dear Sir, - Replying to Mr. Hodgson, in my report on the peal at Meanwood, I did not suggest that the Yorkshire Association has ever refused to go to any cower to which it has been invited nor am I qualified to pass an opinion on this matter. I merely expressed my personal opinion based on the fact that the Association's meetings are usually held at towers with eight or more bellis.

On the other hand my remarks concerning the Leeds and District Society and the rule whereby it automatically shuts the door in its own face were based upon experience. When 1 was instrumental in getting a new ring of six bells in Leeds, some eight years ago, I procured the Vicar's invitation to the Society to hold the first meeting there, but far from being received with gratitude, the invitation was almost thrown back in his face, and only with much persuasion and the understanding that the new ringers would become members did the Society ungraciously agree to go there. It is poetic justice that, for reasons which are beside the point at issue, this particular tower is now closed so far as meetings are concerned.
Mr. Hodgson would do well to reflect that Associations, whether they be large or small, do not hold meetings at any tower as a ringer, but as a privilege, and a privilege which is taken for granted or abused frequently hecomes withheld.
1 believe I know the case he has in mind and if I an correct in my surmise. I would remind him that the Yorkshire Association Wis sot invited to the tower in question, that the local ringers do not as a rule, attend Association meetings. so that if they chose to ring a pead on the day in question they were quite at liberty to do so.-Yours, etc.,

Leeds.

Southgate Surprise Major

Dear Sir,-I was interested to see the letter on the subject of Southgate Surprise Major in the issue of January 8th.

The first point I would make is that the peculiarities of the falseness have been appreciated for many years. This was pointed out to me by Mr. C. W. Roberts, about 1950, and peals of Supenlative with bobs both back and front have taken advantage of this. Incidentally, any composition of Southgate in an odd number of leads will produce a peal of Superlative with calls both back and front!
My second point is simply this-since, by playing tricks, good material is available for composition in a method, use itl Don't spoil it by using rubbish. The three peals given below all make an attempt to exploit the method. I have no doubt better can be done.
Incidentally, I see we have two more half-composers.-Yours sincerely,

A Verbal 'Bash'

Dear Sir,-I ance read how one of your correspondents found delight and interest in parish names above peal reports, and am prompted to write of my own innocent amusement of a similar kind. It is in the names of the performers. For instance, in that incredible performance, which heads the list on February 22nd we surely have a comment Ont the present weather, Pipe, Frost, Thirst, and also, for gardeners, a Rock Bander. Another consequential instance follows in BirdHunt. Hussey. In another peal stood a Goodfellaw, two Kings and a Pryor. Then there is the Clover Rose Tooke for Spight or did she want it for the Faithfull House Butler?
I liasten to say, however, that this game is not chicf interest in the peal columns. Perhaps it stems from having a most inhppropriate name for a ringer, though many of my friends might think it apt--Yours faithfully, Thirsk.
A. BASHFORTH.

Tonne Family Bell Founders

Dear Sir,-Mr. Suckling's Jetter makes me wonder whether the bell at Bocking is the old sacring bell which hung in the turret, and had 'Sanclus' (three times) round the crown, also an effigy of a knight in armour. Underneath is the translated Latin inseription: "If you want to know my name, my name is Richard.' This bell is said to have heen given to the Priory in the first half of the 13 th century, but history seems silent regarding the actual period of presentation to this ancient deanery church, founded in the year 995 by Royal Charter. - Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Society of Roving Ringers Tour North Wales

I IANDUIDNO was basking in hlazing sun 14 shine as some of our party met for a pal attempt. Two of the proposed band did not arrive at the specified time, but two holidaymaking ringers happened to be patsing, and atgreed to take their place. A start was made for Bob Major, but one of the ropes objected to the standard of ringing and parted. A quarter of Stedman was rung after splicing the rope and dmitting the two latecomers
A short train journed to Bangor and a bike ride brought us to Beaumaris, to join the rest of the party and the start of the tour proper. Bernard and Beryll joined us here, and we all completed Anglesey on an unusual but not unpleasant eight. Saturday night was spent at the Bangor Youth Hostel, at the water's edge, and we were heartened to discover that the most serious crime in the city. hut one that warranted the patiolling of policemen in pairs, was ...drinking under age.

On Sunday morning, bright and early we cycled the short distance to Llandegai. With no one to meet us and no key in the door the obvious next move was to jnquire at the cottage, right next to the church. Unfortunately the little white-haired old lady who came to the door brought a communication problem with her-she could speak very little English. The key was produced some time later and the delightful six (just back from Taylor's foundry) were rung for the Welsh ervice and again later for the English.
After lunch we tried the well-used octave at Glenadda, where John Freeman joined us and steered us through a course of London. Back to Landudno, then for another attempt-an attempt to swim. After trudging for miles over seemingly endless sand we reached the water's edge-only to be told by a little man in a white cap and binoculars that it was too dangerous to swim when the tide was coming in! At Holy Trinity we vang for Evensang before cycling on to the hostel at Colwyn Bay. Sunday evening proved very dry for all except those who had the slightest comections with the R.A.F.
On Monday morning we called at Abergele and tossed a coin with some workmen to decide who should occupy the ringing chamber first. At the marble church, Bodelwyddan, we were embarrassed by tourists and short ropes, and the ringing wasn't very good. Rhyddtan's were not an easy going six. and it was only with great difficulty that we managed to ring rounds. Rhyl's were a splendid eight. and the hour we spent here was very enjoyable. The only dicappointments were our attempt to ring Double Norwich and the fact that the hovercraft was not working.

The water at Prestatyn was very cold. but did not deter several from swimming. The evening chorus was well supported by local vocill talent: it wis a pity that they didn': know any of our songs.

TO HEAD OF QUEUE

At Flint, the following morning. we were overwhelmed by a vast reception committeethe Vicar. choristers, ringers. recording engineers and relatives of our Master-surely outnumbering us by at least three to one. We found the recently augmented eight by Taylor to be a delightful little ring. but the replayed recordings showed that our control was not good. The Master received excellent service at the butcher's shop next door, when dragged from the end of a very long queue to the front by the Vicar. who insisted that "This gentleman should be served first as he's come all the way from Derby to ring our bells. and all he wants is a pork pie

We shinned Flint mountain to find an excellent six at Halkyn, where a lady's touch was well struck. Once more we ailmost Jost our youngest member but not to the police this time. No key could be found at Northrop, but we were admirably entertained by the but we were of the inebriate village cobbler. Mald's were a pleasant six, and the local ringers joined us in some fairly good ringing. Some more mountaineering took us to the highest point of the tour and the mountain h

A long drop down to Hope, on Wedneselay morning, improved the ringing slightly. Wrexham Parish Church had a splendid ten, but wz didn't readly do them justice. Lunch was taken at a house kept by a local ringer, and it Was here that the president was called upon to excrcise his unquestionable authority on Romin pottery.

OWN WARDEN TO RESCUE

At Llangollen was rang a course of Llangollen Imperial on an indifferent eight, and Double Norwich was defeated. The horde of hostellers at the large youth hostel was such as to leave the warden in a cold sweat. At this point our own portable warden sprang to the helm and organised the hostel, the hostellers and the warden. On the interpretation of the term 'good hostelry' the views of the warden and ourselves were not quite the same. Appirently the good hostelver does not apply for an extension to go to the puh. but spends a day or two repairing hostel

On Thursday we rang at six six-bell towers, including all those in the detached part of Flintshire. The best of the day were the heavy six at Hanmer, although the combined effects of a substantial lunch and blazing hot sun were to make a bed of long grass seem more attractive. At Bangor-on-Dee the river ran within a couple of yards of the porch, so it was hardly surprising that the president did not come away without getting wet.

Friday brought pouring rain, the weekenders, some better bells and better ringing. Gresford, perhaps, being the best of the day On Saturday, the weather improved and two line eights were found at Buckley and Ecclestonl. where we attempted almost everything. The Westminster Hotel provided us with a good dinner and a room to ourselves. The greater part of the evening was spent having fun with Frank's tape recorder.
On Sunday we rang at the theree Chester towers, some members ringing on the front six of the Cathedral in the afternoon. On Monday the party dispersed after ringing at Christleton and Waverton, some members departing by car, some by train and our portable warden-cum-farming and cycle tyre expert... by bike for a cycling holiday!

REUNION AT WORCESTER

Snow, ice and cold weather restricted the number at this year's reunion to 26 . Those who came to Worcester enjoyed a full programme of ringing arranged by George Evenden.
Ringing opened on Saturday morning on the musical six at Elmiey Castle. At Cropthorne, an attempt to ring Evenden Surprise came to grief. but more orthodox methods were successful. The death of a local ringer at Great Hampton diverted us to Hinton-on-the-Green, where the bells knew Stedman Triples. At Pershore Abhey the 7th slipped wheel several times and we did not seally have our ten shillings worth. The highlight of the day came in ringing the magnificent Cathedral bells. There weren't quite enougin ringers to ring the tweTve adequately, so most of the singing was confined to ten. All making our way to the hotel for a welcome dinner.

A very informal and spontaneous business meeting followed the meal. The secretary-cumMaster gave a combined secretary's and Master's report, in which he apologised for the fact that a repont of the summer tour had not yet appeared in "The Ringing World,' and for the absence of the record book. It was observed that the two gentlemen responsible for these items were absent from the meeting; one known to be in Italy. Later reports indicated that the record book was somewhere in the Bristol In the elections that followed George Evenden retained the presidency, Donald Cobb wis elected Ringing Master and Derek Astridge and Marilyn Gibbs re-elected secretaries. Bernard Ongley indicated that he wished to relinquish his post as treasurer, and wished to relinquish his post as treasurer, and so it was decided to combine the office with that of secretary. Bernard is to be thanked lor the work he luas put in for so many years. The venue of voted to be Cornwall.
Sunday ringing commenced at the Cathe dral, and continucd at All Saints' and the fine eight at Hollow. Dodderhill witnessed some good ringing in the afternoon (Crowk will rot be mentioned) and St. John's. Worcester, brought the week-end reluctantly to a close.

REV. ROGER KEELEY'S WEDDING

BRISTOL AND READING UNIVERSITIES IN SWINDON

February 23rd saw the invasion of Swindon by two University Societies, first stop being at the delightful eight of Stratton St. Margaret. Here some reasonable striking was attained, as the two Societies became better acquainted.

The highlight of the day was Christ Church, with a full-bodied ten. where between the ringing of anything from rounds to Cambridge Royal, the "historians" perused the large library of 'Ringing Worlds.' After tea St.
Mark's Church, originally built by the railway for its employees, was visited.

Much improved ringing was noted, and the day finished in the best of tradition with three leads of Bristol.
^ masterpiece of disorganisation followed as Swindon was combed for the missing coach. and then, when some of the party found it. they set about looking for the rest. who had found surroundings more suitable to the time of evening!

Tower captilins and clergy of the above churches are thanked for permission to rint

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  West Dorset Branch

The Langford-Beams memorial meeting was held at Bradpole on February 23rd, with good attendance of members from seven cowers. and one visitor from Yetminster Rounds. Doubles. Triples and two courses of Yorkshire were rung during the afternoon. The service touch was rung by the young Hradpole band
The Vicar, the Rev. W. H. Gibb. conducted the service, and tea was served in the Forester Hall by the Bradpole ringers and friends. Mr. C. W. Powell, the Branch chairman. presided at the business meeting. An apalogy was received from Canon C. C. Cox, as he only felt fit enough to stay to ring two touches Arrangements for the Guild festival at Reaminster on May llth were discussed, and the Rev. C. B. Marshall, of Crewkerne, was confirmed as a non-resident member
The Branch chairman proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar. organist. ringers and friends for a very pleasant afternoon.

Next meeting: Thorncombe, April 20th.

DBITUARY

MR. IDANIEL. SMI'TI

When Danial Smith came from the Forest of Dean to Yorkshire. in the 1920's to follow his trade as a coltier. Gloucestershire's loos was Yorkshire's gain. He took up bellringing, joining the Felkirk band. who were then struggling to ring Plain Bob Minor, after which both he and the band made rapid strides.
Among Yorkshire ringers, and others, for the last 35 years he never required any appellation other than the first syillable of his Christian name; there was, and will ever be, andy one "Dan'!
No other singer in the Barnsky and District Society, except perhaps C. D. Potter, has been held in such affection and esteem, though he was aever afraid to speak his mind and was farthright and dogmatic aimast to the point of obstinacy when he knew that the welfare of ringers or ringing was in jeopardy. Yet he was of a gentle and cheerful disposition and his earnestness and sincerity endeared him to all he met. The amount of work he did for bellringing is incaloulable.
He was secretary of the Society for over 20 years and in the difficult war years almost carried it upon his broad shoulders, as undaunted he arranged meetings in spite of blackouts and transport difficulties. At one time he represented the Society on the Central Council. For many years he was vicepresident of the Southern District of the Yorkshire Association.
He rang almost 200 peals, most of them on the tenor. including Surprise Major and peals of Minar up to 45 spliced. He conducted over 109 and was included in the series of 'Great Conductors,' published in the 'R.W.' some years ago. Quite a few of his peals were Major, but the burlk were Minor, his first and greatest love. Dan was, emphatically and uncompromisingly, a 'cartwhecler,' ind hial no time for open-lead Minor ringing. He rang severad peals on handbells, a skill he acquired when the bells were silent during the war.

Scveral times he headed the yearly list of peat scorers for the Yorkshire Association. We learnt to ring together, and together we rang our first peal. I am proud that I was privileged to ring in more peals with him than anyone else.

His last years were clouded by iHness. He died on February 12th, and his funeral took place at Felkirk on February 16th. Many friends and relatives and ringers from a large area attended. The bells were rung halfmuffled and a well-struck course of Felkirk Treble Bob was included. At the service Dan's favourite hymns, 'The Day Thou Gavest' and 'When I Survey,' were sung with Michael H. Chant at the organ. Around the open grave Din's handbells were ruing by Harold Chant 1-2. Herman Rusby 3-4, Trevor Tarbatt 5-6; Noel F. Moxon 7-8. Peter Coward also rang rounds on $3-4$.
After the funeral a short touch of spliced was rung by a band which included the oldest member of the Society- 84 years old W. Moxon. of Sandal. Dan was 66; he leaves two daughters. May he rest in peace.

FOUR BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir,--Here is a ditule more information concerning four-hell towers which I am aware of:

OXFORDSHIRE

North Aston St. Mary, 71 cwt., B flit. Tower unsafe, although two peals were rung early in 1961, and there was a local band here.

Fritwell St. Olave, 8 cwt., A flat. The hells are quite ringable and rung by a docid band. They were rehung by Whites, of Appleton, in 1949. Visited 14-4-62.

Horly St. Etheldreda, 8 cwt ., A flat. Fine church with a central tower. The bells are very rarely rung, but go fairly well, and have a good tone. Ringing takes place in the centre of the church in full view of the congregation. The staircase is the smallest I have ever negotiated, and the bell chamber is full of dirt, and dead birds. Visited 26-8-62.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE
Dorney St. James. Were unringable for many years until last year, when two trebles were added, together with a new frame and tittings by Mears and Stainbank. Visited 24-11-62.
Radnage St. Mary, 8 cwt. Unringable and not rung for many years. Visited 10-5-58.

Towersey St. Catharine, 7 cwt . Fresumably ringable as there is a local band here.

BERKSHIRE

Stanford Dingley St. Denys. Presumably ringable as there is a local band, and a peal was rung here in 1960.

STAFFORDSHIRE
Lichfield St. Chad. Ringable and go well, although there is a long draught, and the ropes fail in the curious order of $1,3,2,4$. Visited 23-6-62.

WARWICKSHIRE

Ettington, 9 owt. Fine church, with nice upstairs belfry. The bells are very rarely rung, but go well: the frame and fittings are clean and in good condition. Visited 31-3-62.
-Yours sincerely,
Amersham, Bucks.
TONY FORTIN.

In honour of the visit of H.M. the Queen to Adelaide the first peat on the bells of St.
Peter's Cathedral was rung on February 20th in 3 hours 32 minutes. The peal, Grandsire Triples, was called by Miss Enid Lloyd Roberts (her first tower bell peal for eight years) and the band consisted of four South Australians, three of whom were ringing their first peal, and four English-born residents. Adelaide tenor ( 41 cwt .) is second to Sherbarne in the list of heavy eights, and David Bleby, the youngest member, made a good job of his first peal on this heavy bell. Herbert Greenhalgh was ringing his first peal for 30 years.

Wo must congratulate Mr. Thomas Brjggs, of Asfordby, Leics. At the age of 84 he has rung his first quarter peal "inside.'

Eight Masonic P.Ms recently attempted a peal of Stedman Triples at Tarleton, Lanes, came later at the social board.

Mr. Colin Stevenson, after three months' vacation at Cranford. flew back to Salisbury, S. Rhodesia, on March 2nd. His farewell quarter was duly rung. Cranford ringers wish hin well and hope for more peal reports from Rhodesia soon.

Mr. Robert B. Smith, of Cagley Hall, Loughborough, much appreciates the gesture of the friend who sent him a spoon with label attached: 'Hold in right hand and rotate in clockwise direction.' He promises to call on him at the end of torm.

Work has started on the Chiswick-Langley section of the M.4, which runs across Cranford Park, just north of the church. The road approach to the church over the bridge in Cranford Park is unaffected, and during alterations " jt is ringing as usual."
P.C. Heppenstall, of Wath, was to have stood in the memorial peal at Barnsley for the late Mr. Daniel Smith, but as he was called away on a case he sent his wife as substitute. Margaret, by ringing the treble 10 Kent Treble Boh Major, scored her first peal on cight bells.

The peal of Stedman Cinques rung silent and nonCornhill, on February 23rd, coincides with another anniversary. Sixty years ago on February 21st, 1903, the Midland Counties Association rang the first ever peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells at Leicester. This was the first peal of Cinques for all but onc of the band. The Cormhill peal was for the 50 th anniversary of the first silent peal of Stedman Cinques on tower bells, which was rung in this tower, also by the Ancient Society of College Youths (February 22nd, 1913).

Appropriate names were noted at Nottingham University Society's dinner. The mead was served in "The Tower" Suite and the visitors were welcomed by a Mr. 'Tiffin.'

A correspondent writes that he was greatly amused on St. Valentine's Day, when he read in the Bristol University dinner report a mention of Cupid's activities in that Society. At the same time a machine cailed the Snogometer, built at Bristol University to measure passion, was being shown on the T.V. programme 'Tonight.' Our correspondent wonders if any of the U.B.S.C.R. Were watching?
Llanfair P.G. has again raised jts 'ugly head,' to the consternation of our comps and readers. To sweeten the Editor, the band sent a donation to our Gratefully Acknowledged column to cover the extra cost involved in printing the same. The conductor would like to remind certain friends that Llanfair P.G. has now been rung in the north of England.

It was only natural that when Miss Rosemary Hazlewood was married at Asfordby Parish church on February 23rd the bells of the Parish Church should be rung in happiness. Her father, grandfather and greatgrandfather were all ringers at this church, indeed the Hazlewood family's connection goes back 250 years. We wish her and her hushand every happiness and that this great ringing and church tradition dnaty be long continued.

MORE OF ALBERT

We've joost 'ad our annual meeting As comes round this time every year With lots of most 'eated discussion, Like who sells the best pint of beer

With so many things to consider,
Ail highly important as well.
We didn't 'ave time for daft riddles
Like when should a belle ring a bell
Our band are all creatures of habit. S. 3 whether our clock's fast or slow, Since we're all late at some or other, We all lack in manner we know.

We didn't 'ave everyone present,
'Cos there'll always be someone can't get And they always ave excellent reasons But our Albert were with us, you bet.

There were keeper and captain to vote on, And the gent as does make up the books, There were secretary and 'is assistant. But i'were captaincy caused all the looks.
Our Albert were slumbering gently,
But were woke by a tap on is knee.
'E struggled to get 'imself upright. Ard in clear voice 'e said, I agree.
'I take it that's settled.' said chairman Who would rather 'e 'adn't of come, - I 'ereby declare that hour Albert The position of captain has won.'

Old Joe were the first to recover
And in accents that sounded guite pained. Siuid. 'Good Lord, we've elected our Albert, And the atmosphere got very strained

Then Albent rose quickly and quietly, And with feet both apart made is stand, He said, 'Ladies and gentlemen, this year, I propose that we raise a new band.

- Since it's obvious that with our numbers, And the number of bells that ther 'art, That we can't ring at all without learning, That we each of us must play our part

The others all looked a bit sheepish,
Realising the truth of 'is speech,
We reckon you're right there, our Albert, You can't learn if there's no one to teach.

And you "aven't done badly we reckon. Though you did make a mess of our peal. If you can call 'em, we'll ring 'em, our Albert, And that's just about 'ow we feel

Our chairman looked really quite 'appy.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Northern District

The quarterly meeting of the Northern District was held at Great Yeldham on March 2nd, when ringers gathered from all parts of the District on a very bright but cold afternoon. The church is one of those Essex jewels, in which pieces seem to have been added at random, and to no perceivable plan, but the end product is surprisingly pleasant. The village was for a long time the home of Mr. Augustine Countauld, the Arctic explorer, and the interior of the church bears record of his excellent taste.

The bells are a very fine light ring which, despite a long draught, handle very easily; this was evidenced by the quality of the ringing throughout the day. During the afternoon the District striking contest was held, Three teams entered, the result being: 1 Bockjng, 2 Sible Hedingham, 3 a mixed band from Feering and Kelvedon. Mr. H. Praft was M.C., and Miss Hilda Snowden and Mr. Alan Syder were judges.
The ringers' service was conducted by the Rector. Duning his short address he said how very pleased he was to welcome the Association to Great Yeldham. Tea was served by village ladies, who laid on an excellent repast. The Rector took the chair at the business meeting, and welcomed the visitors, who included Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crampion from Leytonstone: there were 52 ringers present. A letter was read from Mr. H. Turner, asking for a tower for the finals of the striking contest to be held on July 6th. It was agreed to recommend Stebbing. Two letters were read from two of our oldest membersone from Mr. Lewis Wiffen, of Braintree, and the other from Mr. Frank Claydon, of Earl's Colne. It was hoped we might be able to meet both these gentlemen in the not too distant future.
The District Master reported that the Surprise practices had been well supported, despite the appalling weather. In a report on the commiftee meeting at Chelmsford, he thought the officers should look into the position re nominations as it was obvious that the rules needed revising. Finances needed examining and the meetings agreed this should be done in time for the next meeting.
The Master gave notice of the opening of the new ring of bells at Gosfield on April 6th.
The Master thanked Mr. Pratt for acting as M.C.. and Miss Snowden and Alan Syder for judging the striking competition. and also the Rector, the organist and the ladies.
Next meeting: Hempstead, May 25th, where the bells have been installed in a rebuilt tower by the doctors of Great Britain in honour of William Harvey, who discovered the circudation of blood.

DUDLEY & DISTRICT GUILD

The Guild held a quarterly meating at St. Mary's, Kingswinford, on March 2nd, which was attended by about 50 members and friends. The service and business meeting were conducted by the Vicar. Rev. T. F. Woolley, and the ringing was superyised by the Master. Mr. F. G. Handley
The meeting considered the new rules of the Guild, also the revised form of service. The amendments which resulted from the discussions will be submitted to the annual neeting in September.
Methods rung included. Douhle Norwich, Cambridge. Yorkshire, Bristol and London, with plenty of the more elementary methods for the less ambitious.
Next meeting: Enville, Staffs, on Junc 1st, subject to permission being granted.

JOSEPH HATCH, BELLFOUNDER

By NICHOLAS DAVIES

JOSEPH HATCH was the son of Thomas Hatch, of Ulcombe, near Maidstone, who cast several bells in Kent at the end of the 16th century. It is probable that Joseph served his apprenticeship to Thomas at an early age for, when his father died in I60I, leaving him in charge of the foundry, he was still a young man. During the 37 years of his working career, however, his business can fairly be described as enormous; in spite of hot opposition from two other local bell foundries, not to mention the Metropolitan and itinerant founders, he must have almost enjoyed a monopoly over his rivals. Thus, of the 210 towers in Kent that at present contain five or more bells, records show that at least 58 have contained specimens of Joseph's work, of which 36 are still represented (i.e., about one-sixth). The fraction would be even greater if one excluded 'modern' rings of bells in churches erected after Joseph's time. Two hundred and five of Joseph's bells have been brought to light through records (doubtless there were originally many more), of which 128 are still giving service; a handful of his bells may also be found in East Sussex.
A diary of the most important events of his working career presents an interesting reflection on this successful business man of yester-year.
Joseph's earliest casting is, without doubt, the third of the four at Waltham, dated 1602 , on which he uses his father's trade stamp. Two bells at nearby Egerton, also cast in 1602, are obviously later examples, since they bear Joseph's own circular three-bell medallion.
In 1605 he cast a ring of five for Chartham, all of which remain, and these are five majestic bells that would do credit to any founder. They now form a ring of six (tenor $\mathrm{I}_{3} \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in E), a treble having been added in I 728 . The same year he may have cast five for Willesborough (tenor I2 cwt.), but the tenors were recast 20 years later.
In 1606/7 the five heavy bells at Cranbrook were recast (tenor probably about 28 cwt .), but none of these remain, having been superseded by a lighter ring of eight. Joseph was obviously far in advance of his time in his business dealings here: the churchwardens were given a period of seven years to settle the debt-a kind of primitive hire-purchase agreement! Also during this year he was commissioned to recast a bell at Canterbury Cathedral, and it may well be that while engaged on this job he met his wife-to-be, tor on December zoth, I607, he married Jane Prowde, of Canterbury, at St. Paul's Church there.
In $1607 / 8$ he cast rings of five at Lydd (tenor 13 cwt .)
latter remain, but none of the former. Five bells were cast for High Halden in 1609/Ir, but the tenor was recast in 1620. Three of these bells still ring out from this wooden steeple. 16ro also saw him further afield at Brenchley, where five bells (tenor 18 cwt .) probably materialised. Three of these were still intact until 1925.
In 1612 five mediæval bells at Mersham were recast, and the new bells remain as the back five of the present octave (tenor I 3 cwt ).*

1620 saw him casting his only ring of six, when the heavy mediæval five at Ashford were recast into six (tenor 23 cwt.); two of these bells still give service. Two years later, in 1622, five bells (tenor $10 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.) were cast for Sturry, three of which remain.

Two rings of four were supplied by him in 1624, to Wouldham (tenor $9 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) and Boughton Malherbie (tenor io cwt). In both cases three bells remain. Also during this year, Joseph made what was probably his largest casting when he recast the fourth bell of the Arundel ring at Canterbury Cathedral, which weighed about 33 cwt . We can imagine the pride that was in his heart to be honoured with a recasting for such a renowned edifice when we see that he went to the trouble to reproduce the inscription of the old bell, which was dated I408. In the following year five bells (tenor 16 cwt .) were cast for Sandwich, which, tradition asserts, were hung for many years in the Oxford (S.W.) steeple at Canterbury Cathedral. There may be some truth in this as the present tower at Sandwich is of a much later date than Joseph's bells, but all had been recast by 1779 .
The authorities at Sevington had four bells (tenor 9 cwt.) made in 1630 , and, apart from the treble, which was rccast in 1885, these still render service. In I63I he returns, probably with some nostalgia, to Waltham, where his first casting is hung (see above), and recasts the other three bells. Perhaps, for the sake of tradition, he deliberately tunes the new bells to sound like the old, for the notes are Nos. 2-5 of an octave.
In 1632 the bells at his local tower, Ulcombe, required attention, and five bells (tenor I4 cwt.) may well have been supplied once again, but only three remain in testimony. At about this time his nephew, William, is taken into apprenticeship, and some of his subsequent bells bear the initials 'W.H.' as well as Joseph's name.
His last complete works materialised in I635, when rings of four were cast for Fordwich (tenor 8 cwt.) and Reculver (tenor 14 cwt .) All the bells at the former church are still in existence, but at Reculver the church was pulled down c. 1805, when two of the bells were preserved for use in local churches, whilst the others were destroyed

- These bells were recast on the spot. outside the church.

By this time Joseph was obviously an elderly man, and must have made more than enough to provide for himself in his retirement. for he also owned much land in many parts of Kent. and he may well have left the management of the foundry to his nephew since no more major recastings are recorded.

In 1635-36. however, the authorities at Canterbury Cathedral decided to have the great 64 cwt. tenor of the Arundel ring recast into two new trebles to make a ring of six, and Joseph was called in once again to supervise the recasting. Doubtless the Dean and Chapter were more than satisfied with Joseph's previous recastings for them. for they also gave him the job of rchanging the augmented ring in a new frame, which he entrusted to his own hanger, one Thomas Crust.

Joseph's last bell is apparently the treble of the ring of three at Stourmouth, dated 1638, but a bell at Herne, recast in 1781. also bore this date. His nephew William's first casting is the singleton at Trottiscliffe, dated 1639, and this may well have been cast when Joseph was still alive.

Joseph died, childless and wealthy in September. 1639 . being buried in the little church at Broomfield (the adjoining village to Ulicombe, where Joseph owned much land) next to the tomb of his mother and brothers. In his will he bequeathed the foundry to William, who kept it going until 1664, while the remainder of his considerable estate was shared in the main amongst his wife, brothers and other relations.

Appreciation

Mr. Tom Roach, of Norman Park, Brisbanc, Queensland, writing to a friend, says:
"I have just received my "R.W.s." They come two at a time, and I get enormous pleasure from them. They are so English. It is the cleanest and most instructive magazine that I have ever read, and to read of ringers having tours all around, the lovely people they meet, the wonderful co-operation of wives and sisters makes me wish I could be with them.

When you next enter your tower have a thought for an old Londoner who loves bells."

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The meeting of the St. Albans District at S: Stephen's. St. Albans, produced some good ringing, including most of the usual Surprise Minor methods. The service was taken by the Vicar, the Rev. Hart-Synnot. and an excellent tea, served by Miss Christinc Rimmer and her helpers, was unfortunately not fully eaten as Chris had kind-heartedly catered for the nameless ones who did not materialise. Mr. Penny, in proposing the votes of thanks, said; Never before have so few eaten so much. In the absence of Mr. W. Ayre. Mr. H. V. Frost. the Association's president, gave a short talk on the history of St. Stephen's bells. Mr. G. Auton told how he had led the drive to have the old bells restored and then played a recording of them, which was almost drowned by the creaks and groans of the wooden frame. Mr. J. Cull thanked the speakers. and ringing was then resumed on the new and safe hells.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Seventy ringers sat down to tea at llkeston on February 23 rd . when the Ilkeston and Derby Districts held a joint meeting with the Society of Sherwood Youths. The meal had heen prepared by Ilkeston ringers and ladies. and the Vicar. the Rev. A. G. Robertson, in his welcome, said it was the first bellringing meeting he had attended.
Mr. D. Carlisle, chairman of the Ilkestan District. presided over the meeting:- the Sherwood Youths held a short business meeting after which they departed to the tower.

The Ilkeston and Derby Districts began their meeting with a short talk on bell control by Mr. G. A. Halls. which was afterwards open for discussion: this proved to be a success. It is the intention of the Ilkeston District to have these talks at the monthly meeting.
Since the collapse of the Ilkeston District ten years ago it has been under the management of the Derby District officers and all the meetings have been jointly with their District: now that the District has been reformed and has its own officers, it was decided to hold the meetings separately from the Derby District for a trial period of six months.
Heanor ringers have published a montht newspaper called 'The Belfry News,' copies of which were sold at the meeting. It is hoped it will be circulated to all Districts of the Association in the near future.
Ringing continued until $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

APPLETON FOURTH OF MARCH

FESTIVAL

TIHE 145th anniversary of the opening of $\boldsymbol{i}$ the original ring of bells at Appleton was held on March 2nd and on this happy occasion a larger number of ringers than eve hefore were present to eat, drink and enjoy themselves
In the morning the traditional peal of Grandsire Caters was attempted, but unfortunately "fired out after 45 minutes. An inquest was heid in the evening
At 6.30 p.m.. everybody having gathered in the Village HaH, the real business of the day began, and over 100 ringers sat down to an excellent supper and to listen to the speeches. Richard Blackwell, proposing the toast to the Church. paid tribute to the Rector the Rev. Dr. A. Tindall-Hart. for his unfailing help and support of the ringers. Canon C. E. Wigg, Master of the Guild. welcomed the union of Methodists and Anglicans, and said the addition of Methodist ringers would be most welcome
Mr. Frederick Sharpe, president of the Central Council. making his 39 th appearance Central Council, making his 39th appearance ton bells and spoke glowingly of past and present Appleton ringers. He pointed out that t'e Appleton Society was unique in that no minute book or other such time-wasting devices existed and yet their traditions were stronger than ever. Appleton still held the Grandsire and Stedman Caters record lengths. and in Frank White they had a wonderful crafisman. Frank White replied, and said he d rather make a bell frame than a speech. He thanked the Appleton ringers for their attendance on Sundays and practice vights, particularly the over $70^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$. The company then stood in silence in memory of Frederick White, who passed away last year. a very great loss to Appleton.
The Rector welcomed the visitors. one of The Rector welcomed the visitors, one of whom came from New Zealand. and the toast was replied to by John Camp, honorary secretary of the Oxford University Society.
After supper came the handbells, and tunes bv the Appleton ringers, and what is, always the top of the hit parade, a 'lapped, course of Grandsire Caters: four Whites and Fred Sharpe. solemnly sitting with knees together. pissing handbells to each other with faultless rhythm. And then the old songs. The first in praise of Appleton bells and ringers, written by the village schoolmaster 145 years ago and sung by Fred Sharpe. The Farmer's Boy, bucket by Sir Basil Blackwell, Old butter and cheese. Which sadly reminded us of Fred White, who used to sing it. 'The ten thousand 'and all the rest : ringers' songs with a chorus and harmony, if you can manage it. A very enjoyable and memorable evening. and so to bed with another Appleton festival

R W: March 14th. 1913.-

In mediaval and, indeed. in much later times singular criminals have fallen under the ban of the Jaw. Not only animals but even inanimate objects such as bells have been brought mate objects such as bells have been brought to trial and sentenced to most grotesque punishments.
Bells, for having been tolled at inopportune limes, have on more than one occasion suffered, and Rouvel, the famous, Rouen bell. was sentenced to many years' silence by Charles V1. The bell of Uglitch, which at the Charles VI. The bell of Uglitch, which at the time of the assassination of Demetrius, in 1591 . knelled the alarm. was, with all the other actors in that gruesome episode. brought to trial. when it was sentenced to be mutilated. knouted. and sent into perpetual exile. Over 250 years later. in 1847. it was pardoned. Reconsecrated at Irkutsk. in Siberia, by the Bishop, it was, amid general rejoicing, bedecked whis tlowers.

NOTTS CHURCH GUTTED

The Parish Church of St. Mary, Eastwood Notts. was tragically gutted by fire on the night of March Sth.
Fire engines from five neighbouring tawns responded promptly to fight the blaze. and with the main part of the church and roof well alight. the firemen worked hard to save the tower. Flames, having consumed the belfry floor. were licking round the clock face, where the fire was brought under control, just before reaching the bell chamber.

There being no resident ringers of late, the bells were used occasionally by the young team fron Heanor. Derbyshire, who always conscientiuusly serviced them before ringing. A peal had also been rung there recently by the Derbyshire Association.

The bells. although in need of attention. did not go too badly, and were undoubtedly the most musical eight in the District. Having heen snitiched from destruction, it is to be hoped that before very long Eastwood wilt he hearing them again from a restored St.
Mary's.

ENDING THE INCARCERATION

Four car-loads of ringers from four towers in Bath and North Somerset, armed with thermos flasks and shovels, ended the enforced incarceration since Christmas by an outing inte Wiltshire on February 9th.
Ringing started on the beautiful groundfloor six at Heddington. followed by Yatesbury with its cracked third which did not sound at backstroke and gave the singing a peculiar cha cha beat. Here we were joined by our fifth car, bearing friends from Bristol.
The best ring of the day was thought to be at Broad Hinton. where the church overflowed with flowers brought down from Covent Garden for a recent wedding.
We would prefer to draw a veil over our ringing at Wootton Bassett. except to say that we did manage some respectable Grandsire Triples. However. we seemed to excel ourselves on the easy going, well-tuned six a Lyneham. The last tower. Hilmanton, was reached dead on time. Apart from its lovely altar and chancel, this 15th century church has a beautiful oil-fired boiler and equally beautiful radiators! The 15 cwt . six here are due to be rehung. A fresh young band is starting: we wish it luck.
Much appreciated were the hot pasties and liquid refreshments on the homeward journey. We made new friends at every tower visited and to them and the incumbents we extend our thanks.

UNIVERSITY OF WALES SOCIETY

For the 1963 Rag Week tour the University of Wales Society chose the coldest, snowiest week-end in February. We started on Friday, February 15th. with great expectations after a slight thaw the day before, but by dinner time it was snowing hard again. The road to Ebbw Vale tried the nerve of our most stout-hearted drivers, but it was worth it to ring on these beautiful bells.
After travalling the same road back to Abergaveiny, in well nigh blizzard conditions. it was decided to forgo a peal altempt at Llanfeigan. A lot of snow can fall in three hours, and nobody relished the idea of digging the cars out after a peal! So we contented ourselves with an hour's ringing on the finc 10 at Abergavenny.
The next day it was decided, with regret to cancel the dirst iwo towers, which iwere up in the mountains, and to concentrate on the area round Newport. The Aberystwyth contingent arrived rather late at Lianfrechfa, duc to the treacherous road conditions, and found that the Swansea contingent had been telephoning the R.A.C. for news of them. A short ring was enjoyed on the dightest eight in Wales and afterwards we were entertained to refreshments, taid on by the local ringers, in the beautifully warm Parish Hall. We were very grateful indeed for their kindness.
A short meeting was held here. Colin Lewis, of Aberystwyth. was re-elected Ringing Master for the session 11963-64, and Christopher Beinham. of Lampeter, was elected secretary It was noticed with regret that there were no members from Cardiff present.

Then on to Caterlean, where another party joined us, having come from Lampeter and Aberystwyth that morning. These bells are again a light eight and have a sweet tone. By now we had managed to catch up with ourselves and arrived at All Saints', Newport, on time. that is all except one car which took a minor road out of Caerleon and got stuck in a snowdrift! All Saints'. Newport, bells are a good eight and Stedman went well here The bells at St. Woolos Cathedral are the only ring of 12 in Wales. Here the Society rang its first touches on 12, Grandsire and Phain Bob, and we were pleased with the attempls
The roads were quite clear by this time and we were not delayed on the way to Usk. Fere wis found that the local ringers are repairing the belfry themselves and we had an enjoyable ring on the good eight. surrounded by ladders and cement. We shall have to go back and see the finished result next ryear! The last official tower was Llanover, near Abergavenny. It was dark by then and it took us some time to find the church, which looked very pretty in the snow. We also nceded Wellington boots 10 get to the church; several people got wet feet. The bells are a nice little five and went well to a variety of Doubles methods. Here the tour proper ended and we said. Goodbye, until the summer,' but one party managed to ring at Llangatock and Glasbury on the Sunday morning, before their trek over he mountains home.
Perhaps the weather will be kinder to us next year, or perhatps the University will move Rag Week to the summer, but whatever happens we will always remember Rag Week, 1963.

Leeds Society replies to Mr. Dove

Dear Sir.-Having read Mr. Dove's article on page 109. and Mr. Hodgson's remarks on page 141, I feel that it is my duty, as secretary of the Leeds and District Society, to point out to Mr. Dove that our Society holds no such 'stupid rule' as stated by him.
Our Society rule is: "That the Society shall meet for ringing on the last Saturday in each month, except December, at any tower within a ten mile radius of Leeds, or at one having four or more members.
Mr. Dove ought to have been aware of the above rule, as the Society's rules were amended on April $261 \mathrm{~h}, 1958$. at Leeds Parish Church, the home tower of Mr. Dove.
May I also point out that the ringers of Meanwood are welcome to ring with and join our Society, and the next meeting will be held on March 30th. 1963, at Rothwell; and the April meeting will be held at St. Chad's, Headingley, on April 26th, on the approval of the church authorities.-Yours truly.

ANGELA M. SKIDMORE.
Batley, Yorks.
Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-$ The stupid rule ' referred to by Mr. R. H. Dove, in his article about Meanwood bells (page 109), is incorrect. The rule states that the Leeds and District Society will visit any tower with in a ten mile radus of Leeds and any other tower with four or more affiliated members. It is thus apparent that no rule prevents the society from visiting Meanwood.

If the Leeds and Distriot Society were to hold a meeting at Meanwood, it would. I think, receive little support from the majority of the members. who only attend the meetings held at ten bell towers or the more popular 'eights.' providing, of course. they are not ringing a peal on the same day.
The ideal way of visiting Meanwood would he for the Yorkshire Association to hold a neeting at Leeds Parish Church, with Meanwood as an additional tower, say during the afternoon.

However, the Yorkshire Association have already heen refused permission once to hold a meeting at Leeds and the Society, which was formed by previous ringers of Leeds with the Parish Church as its headquarters, has been virluatly hanned from the tower.

One hegins to wonder who is Vicar of Ieeds-Canon Fenton Morley or Mr. R. H. Dove!-Yours faithfully. IAN NORTH,

Ringing Master,

Leeds and Distriot Soclety

The late Sam Hector

Dcar Sir,-Thank you for your leading irticle about my old friend, the late Sam Hector. For five years I was an assistant to a firm of auotioneers and surveyors in Trowbridge, with offices next door to the White Swan Inn. where Sam was the ever-genial host.
Bofore going to Trowbridge as an architectural student in London I had done a fair amount of ringing at St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. Clement's Danes'. It was Sam, however, who really taught me what method ringing I' have managed to acquire.
Though it is now forty years ago, I shall never forget the delightful evenings spent in Sam's company. A party of us would bundle imo Sam's car, and he would take us out to towers in the neighbourhood-and what glorious churches and melodious bells there are in that part of Willshire. Steeple Ashton, Edington, Bratton. Westbury. North Bradley and many others we used to visit. Sam was always the life and soul of the party. a giant in stature, with the warmth and affection of a child.
Looking hack to those days. I think my years at Trowbridge were among the happiest in my life, hut the most vivid memories that 1 carried away with me were those evenings spent ringing with Sam. He was a grand fellow, a splendid ringer and an example for others to follow.-Yours faithfully. GEORGE E. HUBBARD (Rev.)
Melton Malsor Rectory.

Coventry Cathedral Rally

Dear Sir.-I am extremely sorry that the Coventry Cathedral Rally clashes with other meetings of Guilds and Associations, particulirly as it affects our near neighboursLeicester Diocesan Guild, Derbyshire Association and the Gloucester and Bristal Association. I am sure Mr. Rouse will appreciate that it is literally impossible to arrange any meeting so that it would be clear of all other Guild meetings.
Owing to the pressure of visitors to the Cathedraj. particularly at the week-end. we have had to accept the date given to us by the Cathedral authorities. May I also point oui that the invitation to this rally does apply to individuals as well as Guilds and Associations. The response so far has been very gratifying and tickets will be sent out as soon as possible to those who apply.
Finally, arrangements for ringing facilities will be published later.-Yours sincerely,

J. L. GARNER-HAYWARD.

Congratulations to Sapcote

Dear Sir,-It is good to read in your columns of peals that have been rung by Sunday service ringers in their own towers, and when such a band rings a peal of 24 Spliced Surprise Minor, the ringers can feel justly proud of their achievement.
Congratulations to Mr. Michael E. Brown and his band at Sapcote, Leicestershire.-Yours faithfully,

Kirkby-in-Ashfield Quarters

Dear Sir.-In a recent jssue of "The Ringing World, I read about the accomplishments of the South Wigston band. It may be of interest to the Exercise to know that at St. Wilfrid's, Kirkby-in-Ashfield, Nottingham. 25 quarter peals were rung during 1962. Nine of the band took part, and the conducting was shared between M. J. Kirk (11), J. A. Harrison (9) and E. A. Harrison (6). The majority of the band are under 19 years of arge. Methods ranged from 1 to 14 methods. -Yours sincerely, Kirkby.

Design of Stays

Dear Sir,-I must agree with Mr. Halls that, in principle, a spring loaded trip on a stay is an attractive idea. However, in view of the large amount of energy to be absorbed, I rather doubt if such a device is realisable in practice. The springs that would have to bs used would be very large, and very expensive. Economics, and not technical difficulties. would prevent the general adoption of the idea. One could, I think, bury quite a number of stays before recouping the price of a spring 1 rip.

Another writer on page 141 states. "Woods other than ash have been tried.... but ash is far superior and cheaper in the end.' While I must admit that. given the size of stay as fixed by the socket, this is true. it does not necessarily hold as a general rule; subject to the not very stringent requirements outlined iit my article any wood can be used if the stay dimensions are suitably chosen.

His method of reducing stay breakages has much to commend it; although it increases the breaking load, most stays are so weak that the increase is most unlikely to be dangerous. -Yours faithfully,

JOHN M. MOCLENAHAN.

Stay Designs

Dear Sir,
Your correspondent J. J. McClenahan (' R.W.'. page 100), writing about the design of stays, stated that replacements are required at the rate of one a fortnight in his tower. This can only mean that bell control is not being properly taught.

The purpose of a stay is to enable a bell to be left in the 'up' position when not being rung. It therefore follows that the minimum size stay required is one which will support the small turning moment exerted by the bell when ' set' just over the balance.

This gives the minimum requirement, but for practical purposes (noting the large number of bad handlers that ring, hitting the stay at 'back' and 'hand,' and, believe it or not, even when ringing changes) a stronger stay is necessary, but must still be the first part to fracture.

The safe maximum size of stay for any particular bell is probably best found by equating the kinetic energy of the rotating mass to the strain energy in the stay at the moment of impact. It should be pointed out that when the bell is being correctly rung the kinetic energy is zero at the beginning and end of its travel (i.e., Angular Velocity zero).
Kinetic Energy $=\frac{W}{2 g} k^{-} w^{2} . \quad$ ' $W$ ' is the weight of the rotating parts, ' $k$ ' the radius of gyration, ' $w$ ' the angular velocity, and ' g ' acceleration due to gravity.
Strain Energy $\mathbf{U}=\frac{\left.P^{2}\right]^{3}}{6 E I}$ where ' $P$ ' is the load on the end of the stay. 'I' the length of stay, ' $E$ ' the Young's Modulus of Elasticity and 'I' the 2nd moment of area.

This strain energy formula is assuming the stay to be a cantilever and of rectangular cross section with a gradually applied load (not strictly true, and the stress may be double that calculated).
From simple beam theory $\frac{f}{y}=\frac{M}{1}$, where ' $f$ ' is the stress in the extreme fibres of the material, ' $M$ ' the applied moment, ' $y$ ' the distance from the neutral axis to extremc fibre, and ' I' the 2nd moment of area. Note $\mathrm{M}=\mathrm{P} \times \mathrm{l}$.
$\therefore \frac{f}{y}=\frac{P l}{I}$

\frac{\mathrm{fI}}{\mathrm{I}} \quad \mathrm{P}=\frac{\mathrm{f}}{\mathrm{y}}=

=\frac{f^{2} \mathrm{I}^{2}}{\mathrm{y}^{2} \mathrm{I}^{2}}

Substituting in Strain Energy Equation for $p^{3}$

\begin{aligned}
& \mathrm{U}=\frac{1 \mathrm{BD}}{18 \mathrm{E}} \mathrm{f}^{2} \quad\left(\text { NOTE: } \mathrm{I}=\frac{\mathrm{BD}^{4}}{12}\right) \\
& \mathrm{K} \cdot \mathrm{E} .=\text { Strain Energy. } \\
& \frac{\mathrm{W} \mathrm{k}^{2} \mathrm{w}^{2}}{2 \mathrm{~g}}=\frac{1 \mathrm{BD}}{18 \mathrm{E}} \mathrm{f}^{2} .
\end{aligned}

From this equation, values of width ' $B$ and depth ' $D$ ' can be determined for any stay if the weight of the rotating parts. radius of gyration and angular velocity of the system is known. (A little gucsswork here would assist!)

The foregoing is only intended as a guide to a complex problem. but should give your correspondent a new approach.
The answer to another question is that the Ultimate Tensile strength of bell metal is about $34.000 \mathrm{lb} . / \mathrm{sq}$. in.. and Young's Modulus of Elasticity $17 \times 10^{6} \mathrm{lb} . / \mathrm{sq}$. in. 1 would also like to point out that I would exs pect my Mild Steel bolts to have a U.T.S. of at least 28 tons $/ \mathrm{sq}$. in (commercial quality M.S. to B.S.S.15). Yours sincerely,

SS. PETER AND PAUL'S, EAST HARLING

By Dr. Paul Jonason

「1HE Church, including the tower, of SS. Peter and Paul. East Harling, Norfolk, 1449 - some 47 years before Christopher Columbus discovered the New World.

A church with four acres of land belonging to it is mentioned in Domesday Book. The whole parrish was then two miles long and :wo miles broad. The parish changed hand many times. Earl Warren. as feudal lord leased the property to the Bigots, of Felbrigg. and from them it passed to the Bournes, of Long Stratton. One of Nicholas Bourne's dawghters marnied Sir Thomas Jenney, and a Margaret Jenney married John de Herling, who died and was buried at East Harling in 1392 The Herlings, after whom the village is named were living here previous to this date, but only became concerned in the Manor in 1350 owing to the marriage with Margaret Jenney.
Sir John de Harling, knight, her son married Cecily Mortimer, and their son, Sir Robert Herling, married Joan or Jane, the rich heiress of the Gonvile family. The tomb of this Robert Herling, who died in 1435, is to be seen in the Herling Chapel. concerning which there is still a good deal of mystery
Sir William Chamberlain. K.G., of Gedding, in Suffolk. married Ann, the only child of Sir Robert Herling, and it is thanks to Sir William's generosity that the church was built into its present magnificence in 1449 . He lies buried in the north chapel, in a magnificen tomb, which forms part of the north wall of the chancel.
The tower itself is probably circa 1300 , built of flint, with very symmetrical buttresse (clasping buttresses). There are tall niches in the west buttresses at the level of the west window and knapped flint work used here as ornamentation.
The west window. cusped intersected tracery illuminates the ringing chamber. The belfry openings are cusped-Y-tracery, with a stone watercourse continvously surrounding the tower, reminiscent of an "eyebrow.' The tower is surmounted by fine freestone ballisters with the blank shields encompasser cut in the stones (Sir W. Chamberlain) ganter cut in the stones (Sir W. Chamberlain) the Lovells and Herlings. There are four pinnacles, one at each corner and four centra figures looking outward. The whole is surmounted by an aak spire lead covered, arising upon flying buttresses from an eight painted crown.
DESIGN FOR ST. PETER MANCROFT
This graceful fleche, as it is called, was probably erected in 1475 , and is the most unique feature of the tower, being the first object which catches the eye when one approaches the church from whatever direction From this Mr. Street, the architect, obtained bis design for the spire of Si. Peter Mancrofi Church. Norwich, in 1888. In February, 1910 when the Church Council were making plans fo: rehanging the bells, Mr. A. H. Green, who was then diocesan architect, stated. "The spire is unique in design for E . Anglia and there is nothing like it in Norfalk. It should therefore claim exceptional care in treatment and restoration in onder that its beauty may be jealously preserved and its graceful lines continue to charm the eye.'

The bells were first put in the tower in 1465. Until 1616 there were probably three bells, each considerably larger than the present tenor. On July 6th, 1616. 'one littel bell by weight, $£ 410$ s. a hundred' was ordered to be cast by John Draper, of Thetford, and delivered to Harling. Total cost, including all fittings- $£ 4418 \mathrm{~s}$. The bell weighed 9 cwt .3 qr . and is the presont 5th. In 1677 the then tenor was melted down and recast into two smaller bells. the 3rd and 4th. by Jotun Darbic. of Ipswich, and Christopher Graye.
In 1746, Thomas Gardiner, of Norwich. recast the tenor into two trebles
Thus L'Estrange records the bells as follows: 6 Bells. Tenor G about 12 cwt .
1 and 2. -Thomas Gardiner Fecit. 1746.
3. Christopher Graye made me. 1677.

A BAD CIRCLE
Prior to 1912 the bells were hung in a wooden frame and the ropes did not fall in a circle. Casl changes were the rule. and. although several peal attempts were made. owing to the bad arrangement of the ropes even a 720 was a great undertaking.

In 1910. when the tower and spire were surveyed, it was found that nol cnly was the bell frame insecurely fixed but that the spire supports were also in a dangerous condition H.H. Prince Duleep Singh. then living at Blo Norton Hall. offered 10 call in the architeat to the Society for the Preservation of Ancient Buildings, and this was gladly accepted. He advised that new timbers should be corbelled into the cills of the belfry windows to support the lantern and spine. Also that a new oak frame for the bells of massive dimensions should be bult. the bells quarter turned and rehung with new fittings. The parish magazine at that time records tha the following were asked to tender for this work: Messrs. G. Bullock and Son. Ixworth Suffolk: C. Carr, Ltd.. Smethwick: George Day, of Eye ; Messrs. Stajnbank. of London Day, of Eye; Messrs. Stainbank. of London and Taylor's, of Loughborough.

Gearge Day, of Eye, presented a most realistic and comprehensive estimate. They advised An English oak frame of massive dimensions to be built. The 5th (the ane made by Draper in 1616) had lost some of its canons, has a crack in the crown and is not in such good tone as the others, and should be recas?.

The wheels of oak were much too large and heavy and need to be re-wrought and rerimmed with new stays. sliders and pulleys. They also recommended that the frame should be built to accommodation eight bells, there being plenty of room in the lower for eigb: on the same level. and that rope troughs should be fixed between the floors 10 guide the ropes satisfactorily about the ringers heads, so that the bells could be rung in a good cirole. The cost $£ 170$.
In May. 1911, a fund was opened to collect money for the work and by September a total of $£ 165 \mathrm{15s}$. had been reached. However. the work on the spire and lantern required an additional $£ 100$, so that the Chutch Council decided to hold a fete in the village and to reconsider the estimate. The fete, held the following year on July 11th, 1912, was an unqualified success. The member for the constituency. Mr. Boyle, opened the function. and in one day 1113 9s. 2d. was rajsed.

TAYLOR'S ESTIMATE ACCEPTED

The Church Council then accepted Taylor's estimate as: (a) It was the Jowest at $£ 159$; and (b) jncluded the latest type of modern iran bell frame. Work was put in hand immediately and the bells were taken down and sent by rail to Loughborough. On arrival at Taylor's. they then informed the Rev. Baseley Hales Grigson, Rector of East Harling, that the bells were not in such good order as had been previously supposed. It was already agreed to recast the 5th. but Taylor's suggested recasting the other five for an additional $\mathrm{C61} 18 \mathrm{~s}$. If this was not possible the 4 th should be recast at a cost $£ 1210$ s. The Church Council met and in true East Anglian tradition held firm and would only agree to the 4th and 5th being recast. This was accordingly carried out, and the bells were rehung in a new fron frame. Thus the inscription an the bells is now changed. The original wording has been recast on the 4 th and 5 th with the additional insignia of the Loughborough Bell Foundry, and the words Recast 1912., Taylor and Co.. Loughborough Bell Foundry.

Today, if one looks at the bells, the Ist. 2nd. 4 th and 5th are excellent castings of nicely shaped hells. The 3 rd by Christopher Graye, in 1677, is a very porous casting, and has some cold chisel marks round the mouth The tenor is still in its original condition as cast in 1550 , minus its canons. which. of course, were removed when the new metal headstocks were fitted. The only part of the mechanism which is perhaps regretted is that of the Hastings stays.

The first peal on the bells was fung on December 21 st, 1912, by William Duncan (first peal) treble. Thomas Fitzjohn 2. Sidney Annison 3. Alfred Newson 4. Fred C. Burrows (conductor) 5. Charles Carter 6

On December 19th. 1962, a 50th anniversary peal was rung by James King treble. Paul Jonason 2. Harry Fuller 3. William Duncan 4, Leonard King 5. Frank C. Phillippo (conductor) 6
The time taken to ring these two peals was identical-? hours 46 minutes.

19t? Dec. 19th, Plain Bob, 7 is C. F. W. Phillippo. Mr. William Duncan is the sole surviving member of the original peal band, and in 1912 it was his first peal. He was certainly the best and most experienced ringer present in the band. which successfully rang the 50th anniversary peal, and it was considered by all present to have been a privilege to have rung with him

The band. with the Rector (the Rev. K. Wilkinsan Riddie) and Mrs. Riddle, celebrated their success with a well earned dinner as guests of Dr, and Mrs. Paul Jonason, a't their home.

Thus the story of East Harling bells is brought up to date. There is astill room for two more bells in the tower to complete the octave, but there is even more room in the ranks of the ringers themselves to fill the ringing chamber with eager young men and maidens who are prepared to take part in this peculiar form of worship to the glory oi God.

ST. MARY'S CATHEDRAL

(Glasgow) ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Association was held in St. Mary's Cathedral on February 28th. Mr. E. Boumphrey was elected captain. Mr. H. Sargent vice-captain and Dr. D. M. Graham-Service secretary and treasurer.

At this meeting Mr. E. A. Stafford, because of ill-health. tendered his resignation as secretary and treasurer. Provost Laming, who was in the chair. spoke very highly of Mr. Stafford's work over the years. He pointed out that Mr. Stafford joined the Association in 1931 and became secretary/treasurer in 1932. He had held the post since then except for a temporary break of about a year and a half.

As a small token of our esteem Mr. Stafford Wals unanimously elected honarary vice-president of the Association, and was also presented with a bellringer's silk scarf.

CHELSFIELD HAVE NEW BELFRY FLOOR

On Sunday. March 3rd, the Bishop of Rochester dedicated the new belfry flow at Chelsfield. Kent. This new flowr shortens the rope draught by approximately 10 ft . and forms a gallery in the north wall of the church. The cosi of all the materials for the floor and the labour has been donated by members of the congregation and the balustrade. seen from the church. has been beautifully made by a local craftsman and erected in memory of S . C. Manger. a former ringer and father of the present captain. The bells are much easier to handle and are no longer rung from the choir robing room.

Prior to the dedication service a quarter pea! of Cambridge Surprise was rung. whilst immediately after the act of dedication a short touch was rung.

OBITUARY

MR. ALFRED MANN

With the sudden death from influenza of Mr. Alfred Mann, Christ Church, Epsam, has los: the last resident survivor of a family of eight ringers. He had just retired from working in a local hospital, at the age of 68.
Alf started ringing in 1912, when he was 17, and remained a regular ringer until he had to give it up due to his headth. just after the war. He also wound the church clock until last July.

He was a very cheerful man. and often recalled with pride an accasion in 1925. when his father. who was captain, conducted a quarter rung by the family. From his house on Epsom Common he often listened to the bells of Christ Church, St. Martin's and Ashtead.

Melbourne, Australia, ringers have had a gay week scoring the first peal of Sur-

BELFRY GOSSIP
Mr. A. G. Lancefield left Perth, Western Australia, on March 4th to continue his prise Major outside Great Britain. a peal of Plain Bob Royal, first since The Great Adventure,' and Bob Major ' in hand.' Visitors have included Tom and Margaret Goodyer and Bill Watson, from Sydney, and Brian Cox, for Adelaide. At the Wednesday practice, Cambridge, Superlative and Yorkshire Surprise Major were rung as well as Stedman Caters.

The Shebbear College Society inquire whether their peal at Dolton, Devon, was the first on the bells.

The quanter peal rung at Elstow, Beds, on January 13 th was a birthday compliment to the Rev. P. Hartley and Mr. R. Law, and not as printed.

The peal rung by Manchester University Guild at Eccles on February 16th should read: 'A peal of 5,088 Spliced Surprise Major, and not as printed. The error is regretted.

The band who rang the peal at Barton-onHumber on February 23 rd would wish it to be associated with the memory of Arthur W. Hoodless, captain of the local band, with whom the conductor (Mr. Walter Ayre) had been associated since his youth.

Ringers and friends of St. Mary's. Lewisham, rang Grandsire Caters before the afternoon Evensong at Southwark Cathedral on March 3rd. The Cathedral, like so many Central London churches, has no resident band of ringers and Lowisham ringers hope to make this visit to the Cathedral, to ring for service, a regular event.

We are sorry to lears that Andrew Macve is temporarily indisposed and is condemned to tie on his back for a week or two, although this did not prevent him ringing a quarter peal of Bob Minor 'in hand ' recently. We hope he will soon be quite fit and able to resume his ringing again in an upright position.
tour of Australis. A farewell quarter was rung at the Cathedral on February 23rd. In it Jennifer Leees, who started learning to ring in November, rang her first quarter. Mr. B. J Lawes wnites that Mr . Lancefield will be greatly missed. He will be welcomed in any Australian tower he visits.
We are asked to state that the quarter peal rung by the Mancroft band was for Mr. Boar's 75th birthday, and not his 80th as published in the issue of March 1st.
Mr. Ronald K. Russ, of Reading, writes that he is not emigrating to Australia in the strict sense of the word, but is going out for three years.

The peal of Plain Bob Minor at Broadchalke, Wilts, on March 2 nd is claimed to be the first pead on the bells, which have been a ring of six since 1659 . The tenor was cast about 1350 .
The following comment was heard after the long peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal on handbells had been successfully completed at Leicester, 'Not bad for kids! Considering also that they are blue liners.'
The band who accomplished the quarter peal of London Surprise Major at Raunds on February 18th regret the absence of Miss Shelagh Collins, who had been in several unsuccessful attempts. The conductor denies that this success is in any way a coincidence.

There are some promising youngsters in the Ashton-under-Lyne area. A peal at Mossley and a half peal at Oldham on the same day were ruing by bands of average age 16 years 1 month. Both performances were conducted by Jeffrey Brannan.
Mr. Anthony Ager asks us to correct an impression that might be gained from the Henry Johnson dinner, that he was at Birmingham University. He came on accepling ${ }^{2}$ post as brewer at Atkinson's Brewery, Ltd, Aston.

Heanor's Example

We welcome 'The Belfry News,' the monthly newspaper of the Heanor bellringers (4d.), with Mr. G. M. Camm as Editor, and offices at 103 . Thorpes Road, Heanor, Derbys. Commenting on the enthusiasm of the large band of young ringers at Heanor, Mr. Ben Robierts, in a foreword, writes:

This revival has not been limited to the tower, for they are not content to summon others to worship which they do not intend to share themselves. They almost form a second choir, encouraging the congregation from behind, and lowering considerably our average.
To the distinction of being the only tower in the diocese to have two practice nights a week they now add the production of their own magazine.

The Belfry News' is a bright production with a strong local interest. There is a feature article on the bells of the Cathedral Church of All Saints, Derby.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Sheffield and District Society at its annual meeting at Ranmoor on March 2nd elected its first lady president-Mrs. D. Kelly. In handing over the office to her, Mr. F. Brunt said that ne did not know another lady who was quite so popular among ringers as Mrs. Kelly and how right it was that she should be the first lady president.

Mr. J. J. L. Gilbent was voted presidentelect. and Mr. C. Rusby and Mr. Gilbert the new auditors. Apart from these changes the other officers remained the same as last year. A now office, that of pead secretary, was created-an appointment Mr. N. Chaddock accepted with the request that a copy of all peals should be sent to him

The afternoon's ringing included Bristol. London and Stedman Caters, and in the evening eight Spliced Major. A splendid tea was served in the Church Hall.

Next meeting (provisional). Staveley on Easter Monday

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Rochester District

A very successful meeting of the Rochester 1) istrict was held at Cliffe-at-Hoo on March 2nd. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and was followed by the service, tea and a lengthy husiness meeting. About 65 members and friends were present

Business included the District representative's report on the committee meetings and a discussion on the report by the sub-committee on the Association's finances. The possibility of a District magazine was also discussed, and the District secretary was asked to make arrangements, if possible. to take a party to the Loughborough Bell Foundry. After votes of thanks a return was made to the belfry for further ringing.

A BROADCAST FROM FROME

In the midde of the B.B.C. Television broadcasit on Sunday, March 24ih, starting 10.30 a.m.. to Nlustrate the work of the Church, the bells of St. John the Baptist, Frome. Somerset. will be heard and probably some of the ringers seen ringing six whole pulls of rounds.

The ringers are Francis M. Massey treble, Mrs. Hilda M. Massey 2. D. G. Massey 3, B. A. Payne 4. R. J. Baker 5. N. T. Abbott 6. D. H. Flower (captain) 7, H. Vennell sen. tenor. Alan payne will read the ringers Collect.
Partly due to lack of spuce in the ringing room for all the T.V. apparatus, the rounds were not 100 good. The fifth bell was particularly difficult to handle, as the rope normally fatts in front of the door where the T.V. camera had to stand.
The bells were pulled up at 6.45 p.m. expectin:s to be recorded at 8.30 p.m. after the service rehearsal. By the time other problems were solved the ringers started their part at 10.15 p.m.. spending 4 hours in the church.

The recording was outside as well as inside the belfry, and it is expeoted the outside -sound will be imposed on the picture to avoid the noise of rope rattle.

NORTHANTS RINGERS' WEDDING

The wedding took place at Eydon Parish Church, Northamptonehire, on February 23rd of Miss Dorothy Williams, of Eydon, and Mr. Victor A. Perry, of Weedon Bec. The bride and bridegroom are both members of the Culworth Branch and ring at Byfield.

The Vicar. the Rev. G. Neville (president. Culworth Branch), officiated. The bridesmat was Miss Betty Mansfield (Towcester Branch). and the best man Mr. Frederick W. Hutt (Daventry Branch). The organist was Mr. Enic Walker (secretary and treasurer, Culworth Branch).

The reception was held at the Mounts Hotel, Bianbury.

In the evening a quarter peal of Doubles was rung at Byfield by the local band to mark the occasion.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Chew Branch Striking Competition

In an attempt to emphasise the importance of good striking. the Chew Deanery Branch decided to arnange a striking competition, and the first experimental competition was held at Chew Stoke on February 23 rd , when Mr. H. J: Sanger, of Evercreech. judged the ringing of five Chew Deanery Sundiay service teams from a bungalow situated next to the church. The test piece was 120 changes of Doubles or Minor,' preceded by not more than 2 minutes oi unmarked rounds.

At the conclusion the 45 ringers and friends enjoyed an excellent tea in the Village Hall. during which Mr. Sanger placed the teams as follows: 1 Wrington ( 66 faults), $\frac{2}{6}$ Yatton (70), 3 Portbury (74), 4 Winford (76). 5 Wraxall (100). A scratch team made up on the spot from the spectators, but. of course, not eligible for the competition, scored only 40 faults. The judge, in his remarks, said that the ringing was of a fairly equal standard, but generailly he felt it was too slow, with bad backstroke leads and lack of rhythm the chief faults. He hoped that other Bath and Wells Brancties would be inspired to arrange similar meetirgs.
Thanks were expressed to the Rector for his co-operation, to Mr. Sanger and Tony for their hard work (they even played all the ringing back with a tape tecorder to check the markings) and to those who helped with the local arrangements.
Further ringing was enjoyed at Chew Stoke after tea and later Chew Magna bells were a vailable.

ST. MICHAEL'S, CORNHILL

TTHE ringing chamber of St. Michael's, Cornhill, London. contains two records of peals. One, a massive stone tablet placed high on the wall, and possibly filling up a former doorway, records a peal of 8,580 Stedman Cinques, rung by the College Youths on April 27th, 1861. This peal was at that time the longest length ever rung on 12 bells. and curiously enough it was 'the first peal in that method performed on the bells,' although a peal of 7,018 Grandsire Cinques had been rung in the tower as far back as 1731. It remained the longest peal of Stedman Cinques until it was beaten at Birmingham in 1881, and was the subject of a song of considerable length which was composed by James Dwight, who rang the tenor to the peal, and which. according to tradition, he used to sing at College Youths' dinners.
The other peal board records a peal of 5,002 Stedman Cinques, rung by the College Youths on February 22nd, 1913. in 3 hours and 51 minutes, composed by Frederick Dench. This peal was rung silent and non-conducted and Was the first silent peal of Stedman Cinques to be rung on tower bells. (The information given in 'Belfry Gossip' of March 8th is not quite correct. The handbell peal rung on February 21 st, 1903, was the firsf silent peal of Stedman Cinques, not the first on handbells.) The ringers in this peal were Henry Springall treble. Challis F. Winney 2, Harry R. Pasmore 3, Herbert Langdon 4, Henry R. Newton 5. Thomas Faulkner 6, John N. Oxborrow 7, Frederick Dench 8, Alfred B. Peck 9. John W. Golding 10, William T. Cockerill 11 and William H. Pasmore tenor. In accordance with a long-standing tradition, there were two umpires: Henry Dains, of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and George W. Wild, of the Ancient Society of College Youths.
There were formerly two other peal boards at Cornhill, but these werc badly damaged by fire during the war and have since been removed.
When the bells of St. Michael's, Cornhill, were restored recently, it was felt that these two noteworthy perform-ances-one 100 and one 50 years ago - should be remembered on the appropriate anniversaries. So it came about that the first peal on the restored bells- 5,100 Stedman Cinques-was rung on April 29th, 1961, to mark the centenary of the 1861 peal.
There was no great difficulty about that, but then came the more challenging question-would it be possible to commemorate the silent peal of 1913 by ringing another silent peal? Gradually the idea caught on; the Saturday nearest the original date was fixed for the attempt, and the band-nearly all of whom are regular Sunday ringers at Cornhill-was briefed.

By way of practice, a silent quarter peal of Stedman Cinques was rung for Evensong at St. Giles', Cripplegate, on Sunday. January 27th. The successful accomplishment of this gave confidence to the band, so that it was with fairly high hopes that it assembled outside Cornhill on the afternoon of February 23rd. The bitterly cold weather was, of course, something that could have been dispensed with, and it is to be hoped that the band of 1913 did not have to cope with such Arctic conditions; but there was nothing much the ringers could do about it, except that fewer sweaters were taken off than usual. The umpires were made as comfortable as possible: a small electric fire was provided for them and they were well muffled up, so perhaps they did not suffer too much.

The preparations having all been made, it only remained to ring the peal. The 12 bells were set going, Mr. Barnett called 'Go' and. after 3 hours and 34 minutes and 5,007 changes, he called 'Stand.' So that was it. It had been as simple as that; not quite so simple, however, for Dennis Randall on the ninth, who was feeling far from well that day, while some of the other 'back-enders' had their share of blisters by the end and were curiously reluctant to ring the following morning!
'LUD.'

GUILDFORD GUILD AND CATHEDRAL BELLS

WHEN the Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers held its annuat meeting at St. Saviour's HaH, Guildford, on Saturday, the Master (Mr. D. A. R. May) told the large gathering how the Guild proposed to take up the Bishop's challenge to meet the cost of the Cathedral bells.
The Cathedral, he explained. was to have ten bells. The Putling memorial bell had been provided and the total cost of the remaining nine bells and the cost of hoisting and hanging the Pulling bell was $£ 7.250$.
Each of their four Districts had agreed to provide one bell at an average cost of $£ 400$. The cost had been worked out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who cast the Pulling memorial bell. but as they had not a firm order they rather objected to their figures being published and getting to their competitors.
Although the Bishop challenged the Guild in meet the whole of the cost. the Guild Executive decided last autumn that they could not meet it as they would have difficulty in finding the $£ 1.600$ required for their four bells. He met the secretary of the Cathedral Council and $\mathrm{is}^{2}$ was assumed that the Guild would accept responsibi"ity for raising the money in some way, primarily by an appeal.
It was decided at the next meeting of the Executive that the Guild should issue an appead. One bell had since been given by anonyolous donors in memory of a relative. An appeal letter had been drafted and this had been approved by the Dean and Cathedral Council. It was to all lovers of bells and hell music, and they hoped that some corporate bodies or companies would accept responsibilisy for a bell.

After discussion, the steps taken by the Executive were approved and it was decided to issue the appeal.

RAISED THE STANDARD

The annual report mentioned that three of the District Ringing Masters had retiredMajor E. J. Bragg (Aldershot), Mr. R. Collins (Chobham) and Mr. H. A. May (Guildford). In his eight years as Ringing Master. Mr. Collins had raised the standard of ringing at the towers under his care to a devel which would not have been thought possible a few years back.
A good indication of the progress of the Guild was the quarter peals sung. During 1962. 135 quarters were rung in 40 towers. 17 people ringing their first quarter, 20 their first -inside. 71 a new method and 13 a quarter on a different number of bells.
The bells of Thames Ditton had been secasi and rehung. and Mr. G. S. Joyce said there was a possibility that Farnborough bells would be augmented from six to eight.
The meeting stood while the deaths of the following were reported: Messrs. Bill Goldstone (Send). Bill Robinson (Epsom). Clifford Hilton (Dorking). Bill Newhury (Ashtead), Harold Harris (Crondall) and George Cook (Ashtead). The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. L. Hunter. seconded by Mr. P. Smart.
Major Bragg, presenting the pea! recorder's report, stated that 35 peals had been rung for the Guild-eight fewer than last year. They were rung by 126 ringers in 19 different methods or numbers of methods with 20 different conductors. The long Stedman silence was broken four imes-at Aldershot six were ringing their first of Stedman and one his firs: as conductor. Mr. John Wells conducted most peals (nine) and Mr. Stan Ponting rang in most peals (13).
The badge secretary (Mr. G. S. Joyce) said during 15 years badges to the value of $£ 201$ had been sold.

BISHOP COMING AGAIN

Presenting a report on the dinner. which had a record atlendance of 217 , including the Bishop of Guildford. the Master said it was decided this year to restric: numbers to 180 . It would he held at Newlands Corner Hoted on October 12 th and the Bishop had promised to attend. The Guild has few changes in its officers. To the list of vice-presidents the name of Major E. Bragg has been added. The officers (Continued foot of next column)

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL  DERBYSHIRE DINNER

For the 11th annual dinner of the Derbyshire Association held on March 2nd at the Midland Drapery Restaurant. Derby, over 300 applications were received for the 160 lickels available! It was mainty due to the great demand for tickets that the venue was ihanged last year from the Corporation Hotel. hut it seems that an even larger venue than the Midland Drapery is necessary
The large contingent from the Derby and Itlieston Districts was supplememed by coach parties from the Peak and Chesterfield Districts. led by Alex Richardson and Makcolm Phipps respectively. Ringing prior to the dinner took place at Heanor., Ashover, Ashhourne. Horsley and St. Peter's. Derby, when methods rung ranged from rounds and call changes to Spliced Surprise Major.
After an excellent meal Mr. J. F. Smalluood apologised on behaif of Mr. John Freeman. of Lincoln, who should have been guest speaker, but, due to the indisposition his wife. was unable to be present.
He was. however. pleased to announce that president of the Association. the Provost of Derby, had kindly stepped into the breach at hort notice. Although the Provost was a shunch supporter of the Association. he was asiured by Mr. Smallwood that if he exceeded allotted time of ten minutes he would e shot down in flames regardless. A. Beddoes,
The Provost, the Very Rev. R. A. The Provost, the Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes, iongratulated the Association on its record membership of. 367 . of which over 340 mem hers were fully paid up! The present satislactory position from the financhal as well as inging viewpoints was largely due to the uniring efforts of a few faithful stalwarts. who were well known to all present. However, he urged members not to become complacent, but urged members not to become complacent, but 10 continue to go forward in leaps and bounds inj increase the membership even more! He assured the company that the Belfry Repair Fund would continue to flourish from the subscriptions of over 50 Parochial Church Councils. which, speaking from experience. would still be subscribing to the fund long atler the Association had ceased to exist!

BURLEY P. MORRIS HONOURED

This concluded the formalities. and was followed by the evening's highlight, namely the duarding of the noble order of capita magnisDerbys to the most worthy helfryman in the Derbyshire (Associattion. The Association's general secretary, Mr. Burley Morris, of general secretary, Mr. Burley Morris, of Ashhourne. was presented with this year's Hard, the citation being read by Mr. David Marshall:
It is no surprise that you. Burley P. Morris, $h_{\text {ts }}$ heen chosen as your outstanding attributes e prominently displayed for all to see! The feret of your sucpess lies in your popularity umangut your fellow ringers. which you are

[^2]very careful to maintain by organising ringing to the very last detail.

This was illustrated last year by a peal attempt it Tideswell. when you decided not to ollend anyone by leaving them out of the baind and as a result ended up with 16 ringers for eight hells! If anyone knows a way of ringing two peals on one set of hells simultancously will they please let Burley know! In addition to which your way of arranging of peals is uell known. After first writing a letter of invitation to each ringer, you ring them up and tell them what was in the letter, presumably as being postmaster of Ashbourne you know how Jetters can go astray! Furthermore, you ask each ringer to confirm the arrangements with the other members of the band and then to make absolutely sure you visit each ringer personaily.

- Although you have now been in Derbyshire fo- five or six years we are well aware that you stist have strong ties with the Peterborough Guild, as some of the hest propaganda for that Guild has been written by you in our Annual Report!'
The Derbyshire Association choir then sang the capita magnissimus anthem before a satire on the recently reformed Ilkeston District was performed to the tune of the Batlad of Bethnal Green.' Dancing brought a tremendousty successful dinner to a close all too soon. Sincere thanks and congratulations are extended to Gordon Hajls, Dennis Carrlisle and David Marshall. the only regret being the long wail for Dext year's difner! $\quad$ M. P. P.
'THE Twickenham and Richmond Music Festival held its 29th annual competition music. dancing, speech and drama from March 2nd to 9 th, and for the first time included handbell ringing in its programme. The festival chairman was Dr. D. J. Neal Smith and the secretary is Mrs. Neal Smith, and it was through them that handbells were included, and I was the adjudicator for these jtems.

In All Souls' Church Hall. Twickenham, on March 7th. five handhell hands met to ring not less than 250 chinges in any standard method, rung two in hand. on eight hells or upwards (Triples and Caters accepted). for a challenge shield presented by the chairman and t) be awarded at a prizewinners' concert next May.
As adjudicator. I explained briefly how change ringing differed from the other musical items of the programme and expressed regret that the absence of Mr. J. R. Mayne, through illness, meant that London Surprise Major cculd not he one of the methods to be heard. That hand was, however, fortunate enough to have Mrs. C. Woolley able to stand in at short notice.
Such a very high standard was set by the first competing team that the judging had to b? very strict-indeed 1 had to be extra critical to be able to differentiate between three of the bands and I hope the competitors realised this.

The first prize and an honours certificate went to Mr. T.J.Lock's band, who rang 252 Grandsire Triples-not fast. but so regular in beat that quite minor details like the striking of a bell slightly louder than the others had to be taken into account. 10 faults.

Two teams, Mr. R. G. Leale's and Mr. A. Tyers', each chose to ring 272 Plain Boh Major (not quite the same touch), and when the faults were added up they were found to have 12 each. Both bands started off to a

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

The East Grinstead and District Guild held annual meeting at Coleman's Hatoh and Hartfield on March 9th. Although a wet day, members were welcomed cansiotently throughout the afternoon. The service was conducted by the president, Rev, J. R. Missen, and the Rev. J. R. Collins (Hever), a newlyclected vice-president, read the lesson. The singing was accompanied by G. Fitzhugh at the organ. Members afterwards made their wity to the Church House. where a sumptuous tea had been arranged by Mr. J. Ryman, ringers' captitin with the help of his family.
With the president in the chair, 48 members attended the annual meeting. Three new vicepresidents were elected, viz. Rev. J. R. Collins, Mesiss. Charles A. Bassett and Ernest J. Ladd. Messis. Albert Relfe and Edward J. Jenner did not stand for re-election to the commitiee. They were thanked by Mr. Jeffrey for all their support and work. Their places are taken by Mrs. Ann Jenner (it was suggested this would give some feminine support) and Mr. George Fry. remaining officers elected en bloc.
The annual outing was fixed for October 12 h . and Mr. Stankey Jenner was asked to make the arrangements, as he had done last year. It was suggested we should go into for second Saturday in January, 1964. Some changes in the rules (printed in 1933) made by the committee were read by Mr. Jeffey, and agreed to. Three hundred copies are to be printed for sale to members. Seven new nkmbers were elected. Thanks were accorded to the president and Mr. J. Ryman. Hartield and Coleman's Hatch bells were available in tive evening.

very high standard, which they were not quite able to maintain, but they were excellent performances, cither of which could well have won first prize on another occasion. Tie fo: second place-first class certificates.

Mr. F. W. Goodfellow's team tried 287 Grandsire Caters and with this lovely handbell method and the fast and perfect rhythm to start with (my note after two leads was if possible to keep it up '). I thought they would do well. Once they got out of the plain course, however, what may have been lack of practice logether showed up and they began to pile up the faults. Allowing for a bonus for ringing Caters, 27 faults and fourth place.

The last to compete and to fill fifth place was a new band from the National Physical Laboratory. Three courses of Plain Bob Major (336) was a very brave try and the experience they have gained. added to their enthusiasm: will the no doubt produce results when they have had more practice.
Not one of the hands 'fired out' and, apart fiom the occasional fast lead due to nerves, the standard was high and the interest shown was great enough to suggest the possibility that change ringing may prove a regutar feature of the programme in future.

After this the Eating handbell ringers (introduced by Mr. A. Fulwell, of St. Mary's, Ealing), the only team to enter this section of the competition, gave their rendering of the march from Handel's Occasional Overture and a Piece for Musical Clock. No. 21, by Haydn. This delightful bell music made a wonderful change from the usual popular tunes heard on handbells. Such perfect timing by a band of ten with some $50-60$ bells denotes a mastery of their art only attained by much practice. First prize and a first class certificate. An additional item "The Ash Grove, was given by the band and delighted the listeners

Another Grandparent-a Late Starter

Dear Sir -May I, as a grandfather, add my quota to Lady Mallett's excellent article in your issue of March 8th? I also started ringing after my 56 th birthday, and-horrible thought -will, in a few months, be eligible for the old age pension!
Unfortunately, unlike Lady Mallett, I cannot claim not to have gone up to the ceiling. It happened thiswise: we had been pulling the bells up, and. having completed the operation. stood to for Triples. I, being the dunderhead, was on the tenor (15 cwt.), and pro ceeded foolishly to take up a few coils. No one noticed my thoughtlessness. Treble's going -she's gone-and so did I! Fortunately I was able to wriggle free without any ill effect, but it taught me a lesson!
There is no doubt the youngsters pick it up much more quickly than we older ones. have two sons ringing with much more competence than I, and four grandchildren in America, too young to ring yet, but, by jove, if they were in this country we would soon be able to make up a band for Grandsire Triples-the old fogey on the tenor, of course!

Joking apart, I would also like to add my thanks to those most willing tower masters and others, who have given ap so much time and patience, and who put up so cheerfully with our peculiarities.
Ringing is a great joy, and a service to the Church of which one can be justly proudmy only regret is that I did not take it up much earlier in life.-Yours faithfully,

Ringers' Names

Dear Sir,-Reading Mr. Bashforth's letter 01 ringers' names reminds me that about 30 years ago the late Ernest Morris sent me several sheets of foolscap listing the names of known change ringers, belonging to various ringing societies. Judging by the notes he sent me, he had spent hours in compiling the lists.

The idea was to group the rames together in some sort of method. but the task was 100 much for my limited ability. As an illustration in the food group there were: Pye, Baker. Bun, Tart, etc. The biggest selection was Cocks-every sort from Weathercock to Stopcock. Just at this time I moved home and the lists were lost. After many spring cleans I have given up the idea that they will ever turs up.

Now, you rescarchers, have a go!-Yours, etc,.

Dear Sir,-The correspondence which has appeared in 'The Ringing World' under the above and allied headings, together with communications received personally by us, indicates that our fears were correct, and that there is a large amount of support for the views expressed.

What puzzles us, in the light of the admissions by the Rev. Canon A. G. G. Thurlow, is that the Standing Committec was not consulted as to the wisdom of going to Great Yarmouth at all, particularly in view of the importance of the occasion, viz. the triennial elections. Canon Thurlow admitted that the accommodation position was knowr immediately after his return from Cardiff. His attitude is like this, 'You can come to us for the week-end, but we cannot put you up. You should write to the local tourist bureau, to see if they can help you!! The situation as revealed by both Canon Thurlow and Mr. Barnett surely justified consultation with the Standing Committee.

Some years ago, Oxford was turned down reluctantly, because of the reported accommodation difficulties. Further, it was requested that the visit to Ireland should not clash with the triennial elections, because it was feared thai distance would prevent the usual numbers travelling. This year we have both hotel accommodation difficulties and triennial elections. Yet we must go to Great Yarmouth! Why?

Our letter may have implicated that we were castigating the Norwich Association. Perhaps it is our Irish way of putting things, but let it be said that we did not intend to offend Mr. Barrett and his committee, who are doing so much, perhaps against great odds, to make the visit as pleasant as it can be in the circumstances. We do appreciate their efforts and are pleased to note that the usual tours are being planned.

Our grumble is in regard to hotel accommodation. We would have liked to have had some guidance about suitable places outside Great Yarmouth and Gorleston-on-Sea, where the same difficulties do not arisc. To us Great Yarmouth is just a place on the map. about which the local tourist propaganda gives the same 'boost,' as do other resort tourist boards. Local guidance would have been helpful to those who know nothing of Great Yarmouth and would prohathly never have heard of it hut for the fuct that our vice-president is its Vicar.
We have to thank Mr. Wilson for his good and wholesome advice. Wlinn we can see the light, about our own travel arrangements. we shall certainly follow his example and write to number of places in the hope of getting one suitable reply, so that we can as usual go along and enjoy ourselves.Yours faithfully,

FRED E. DUKES.

Peals at Wick St. Lawrence

Dear Sir,-On page 164 a peal of Plain Bob Doubles, rung at Wick St. Lawrence, Somerset, is recorded and the caption reads. Believed to be the first peal on the bells.' This is not I conducted a peal on these bells on April 13th. 1932, and that was the first known peal lo be rung on them.-Yours faithfully.

Design of Stays

Dear Sir , It is over 70 years since I started to pull a bell in a three bell tower. Later, on a Sunday evening, I visited a six bell tower. I was asked to ring the tenor and I remember the peculiar way of one of the ringers, who let his bell go over and give the stay a good bump and bounce back.

Some years later this ring of six was overhauled and put in an iron frame. I then got to know the ringers better and went over on practice nights. I asked about the peculiar ringer, and was told he never came to a practice, but on a Sunday, and broke a stay every time he came. He always rang the treble.
Later two trebles were added and the original treble was now the third. I was given permission for a peal attempt and had to go into the bell chamber to splice the rope of the third, before we could start. I put my hand on the stay; it felt very cold and, behold, it was an iron stay!
Now there were two brothers who were blacksmiths in this tower, and they always took on the job of replacing the stays free of charge. They decided to put an end to this stay breaking and put an iron band from the top of the stay right down and under the headstock and up to the top of the stay again.

A few years back this ringer presented himself at our tower. I felt like asking him to leave, but instead asked him if he would like a pull. He said he would, and he was plased on the treble. After three or four pulls I shouted, 'Stand.' I went across the belfry to him and said, 'If you are going to ring that bell in that way you cannot ring here. You will throw the bell through the louvres. Stays are put there to rest the bell or not to be knocked off.' I never saw him again.

Where stay breaking is rather high do not leave young ringers on their own. Show them the bells and explain what the stay does. Do not leave them on their own too soon.
There are other things to help to keep the stays safe, such as seeing that the little catch on top of the stay works freely; also see to the slider, put a spot of oil on and keep it bright and clean. The rope just below the wheel gets very stiff in damp weather. If it does not run freely over the pulley rub the rope with a little soap. When replacing a stay make sure you have it straight and the right length. as it does not tiske much to make the bell drage. II you do get al stay a shiode too long, lake the ratched off, get a red hot poker and make the bolt hole a little Jower.
If yower.
If you experience any trouble in getting the bolts out after a stay is broken, get a file and shave the edge of the bolt on two sides. Then when you want to take it out again drive your screwdriver in on one side of the bolt. As the nut gets very fast with rust, this prevem's the bolt from turning.-Yours sincercly,
E. C. GOBEY

Misunderstanding over Dove Controversy

Dear Sir.-I fear that Mr. Dove has misread my letter on page 141. I did not write anything about the Yorkshire Association being - invired to the tower. What I wrote was that the Yorkshire Association 'asked permission to hold a meeting at a tower,' so it is pointless to remind someone of something that never was.

I doubt if there are any Associations who never hold a meeting except where they are invited to go. Nor are many peals rung at churches where there has been an invitation extended to the peal ringers. It is well known these events are usually as a result of a reguest from the visiting ringers.
I wonder what would the the state of ringing throughout the country if Associations waited for invitations to hold meetings at towers, but if the lowers were manned. fully or partialiy. hy ringers who were not sympathetic towards Associations.
I regret I cannot agree with Mr. Dove that - the local ringers do not as a rule attend Association meetings. Had the said local meetings I would probably have agreed with him. but by virtue of the fact that I have seen the same locals at ringing meetings in the neighbouring counties of Derbyshire and Durham, the statement is a little misleading.
I also regret that I cannot agree with Mr Dove on the matter of the rules of the Leeds and District Society. According to my copy of the rules. rule 3 states. 'That the Society shall meet for ringing on the last Saturday in each month, except December, at any tower within a ten mile radius of Leeds. or at one having four or more members, i.e. an affiliated tower.: To me this does not prevent the Leeds and District Society from holding meetings at any tower in the Leeds area, whether there are members or not at that tower
I appreciate that in paragraph three of Mr. Dove's letter the word ringer may be a printer's error for the word right, but I fail to see where. I have given any impression that Associations hold meetings at any place as a right. In fact. I have the greatest difficulty in determining what is a right. I thank it is right to kill a rat, but I also think that the rat doesn't think it right.-Yours faithfuily.
Darlington.

Dear Sir,-I would appear to have incurred the displeasure of the Leeds and District Society since both the secretary and the Ringing Master take up the cudgels.
In her reasoned reply, the secretary proves me to be wrong and I stand corrected-the Society did in fact have the stupid rule of which 1 complained. as I showed in my recent letter. but I must have been five years behind the times, as I was unaware that the rules had been revised.
Dragging the proverbial skeleton from the cupboard and then rattling its bones for all and sundry to hear, the Ringing Master strays from the point and raises matters which have no bearing.

For instance, what connection has an isolated instance of the Yorkshire Association no: being able to come to Leeds Parish Church with my remark (mistaken as has heen shown) that the leeds and District Society excluded itself from holding a meeting at Meanwood?
Furthermore, his 'crack' at the Vicariate of Leeds is neither apt nor even funny.
I do not consider the columns of the "R.W. a suitable place in which to ventilate a dispute of a purely local nature and a trifling one at that. and it was for this reason that I did no: refute the quite untrue report which appeared in your columns a couple of years ago, as to why the L. & D. could not hold its annual meeting at the Parish Church.

Since the Ringing Master again raises the issue I feel bound to correct him by saying that on no occasion has the Society been banned from the tower.
The behaviour of the Society the last time it came to Leeds left much to be desired and it is true that I was not at all enthusiastic when they asked to come again the following year, when there was no. Vicar, but when the Precentor did in fact grant permission, but was obliged to withdraw it on account of a musical festival being held the same day, and the secretary was well aware of this fact.
As the Society has not applied to come again it is difficult to see how it can be said to have been 'banned.' although the Ringing Master's letter is scarcely calculated to improve the Society's prospects in the future. - Yours truly, $\quad$ R. H. DOVE. Leeds.

Handbells in School

Dcur Sir.-It might be of interest to other ringers to hear of the activity of the children of St. Lawrence's Primary School, Gnosall.

As part of their musical training, children of three age groups are learning to ring handbells, reaching varying stages of proficiency.
Two sets of eight children, in the lowe classes, aged 7 to 8 , can ring simple tunes within the range of one octave from Tonic Sol-fa.
The second group of 12 ringers, aged 8 to 9 , ring well known national tunes and hymns in two three and four part harmony, also from Tonic Sol-fa. accompanied by a Glockenspiel and a Victorian bell toy, also played by children.
Twelve children from a third group, aged $9-10$, ring well known and national airs, from Staff Notation as well as Tonic Sol-fa They also ring call changes, and a course of Original oll eight bells.

We hope to go on in the future to more advanced work both in tune- and change ringing.-Yours sincerefy,
E. MAARION KEY.

Gnosall.

Practical Help-and Long Eaton Bells Ring Again

'I'IE tower of St. Lawrence's. Long Eaton, Derbyshire, is rather small and the light ring of eight bells, with a tenor of $10 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. is of necessity set in two tiers of four. Since the tower is set several yards to the south of the centre of the nave, the ground floor ringing chamber opens on to the south aisle. Rope guides and squeaking pulleys provide the usual rattling accompaniment to the bell sounds, which are difficult to hear from the ringing chamber.
Both treble bells. when rung separately, sound rather like buckets. but the eight, when rung briskly as they can be when properly maintained, are quite pleasing.

FAMOUS BAND

In pre-war years. Long Eaton church boasted a strong band of ringers capable of ringing Surprise Major at a time when this $\mathrm{Ha}_{3}$ guite rare. The Midland Counties Association report of 1908 , for example. lists 18 ringers. all members of the Association, at Long Eaton. Of these. at least two, Joe Bailey and Dick Drake. are well remembered names in the area, even today. The first peal on the bells, Grandsire Triples. was rung on October loth. 1883. and subsequently an average of one neal per year was achieved.
Since the last war, as at many churches, the picture is quite different and there has not been a good band to maintain the tradition. For the last two years the bells have been silent until quite recently.
Quite often at churches when the enthusiasm for hell ringing has waned and proper maintenance has not been carried out for a number of years, the bells are reported to be unsafe to ring : so was the case at Long Eaton. Because of this. the two local consultants of the Derbyshire Association Bell Repair Fund, Gordon Halls and David Marshall, communicated with the new Vicar, the Rev. W. H. Blyth Martin. It ensued that Mr. Paul Taylor. of the Loughborough Foundry, had inspected the bells and found the fittings in a poor state. The bearings were badly worn, several bolts were missing and the headstock of the fourth bell was infested by woodworm. He could not therefore guarantee that the bells would continue to be safe for singing.

FIVE VOLUNTEERS

Our two consultants offered the help of the Association towards getting the bells into a ringable state and to train ringers to man them. The Vicar gladly accepted these offers. So on February 26th. a working party comprising Messrs. Halls. Marshall, Carlisle. Geary and a useful recruit from Long Eaton (Claud Beswick) assembled in the tower. They found that the doubtful headstock had woodworm, but careful probing revealed no serious cavitation: so this and all the other headstocks were treated with cuprinol and then painted liberally with creosote. Several missing bohs were replaced and all the nuts on the fittings and frames were tightened and locked where necessary. Several pulleys and clapper bushes were badly worn and needed replacing. All the clappers. pulleys and main bearings were then well lubricated.
This first attack occupied the five volunteers three hours of solid hard work, but the next time the bells were fung for Evensong their efforts were well rewarded by the improvement in 'go.' The bells are now rung at regular intervals for Evensong by spare ringers from Sawley and Sandiacre without sacrificing ringing on their own bells.

RECRUITS WITH CHARLIE

A full report on the condition of the bells and the work done was sent to the Vicar, who replied expressing his gratitude, together with a cheque for two guineus, to the Bell Repair Fund. In addition, the Vicar has found two recruits, rounded up two earlier recruits, who can already ring, and reinstated old Charlie Geary as Ringing Master. This latter action was very just because Charlie is one of the most likeable and lively characters as well as being one of the most faithful ringers in the district. He regularly attends practice at Sawley. Sandiacre and Breaston. rings twice at Suwley and once at Long Eiton on Sundays is well is ringing often on a Saturday. His difficulty is now where to fit in a Long Eaton practice. Up to the last two years Charlic had very little experience of Surprise ringing. bu: now he has added Cambridge Major. London. York. Carlisle and Surfleet Surprise Minor to his repertoire. which is fair going a: 76 years of age.
So the present position at Long Eaton is that the bells are safe to ring, although there is quite a lot yet to be done to them. The nucleus of a band is already in existence and the Sawley ringers are helping to train them. Let us hope that in a few years' time there will be eighteen competent ringers, all members of the Association, as there were 55 years ago.
D. $R$, CARLISLE.

First Peal on Warnford's Recast Bells was for Dead Rector

Warnford. a tiny Hampshire village in the Mean Valley, had its bells recast and rehung three years ago and the church and tower restored through the enthusiasm of the Rev. Charles A. Millen, who was Rector of the parish for 17 years. It is pathetic that the first peal on these bells on February 16th, the third anniversary of the bells being rung, was aia in memariam tribute to the Rector, who died on January 31st.
Conducting the peal was Mr. R. T. Jones, now of the Salisbury Guild, who for two years was captain of Warnford belfry. He staried a oand from scratch; there had been no band in the village for 55 years.
The church stands in the centre of a private park and is approached through massive iron gates. The Norman tower was thought to have contained three bells at the time of the Edwardian Inventory (1552), but this cannot be verified, as the Hampshire records of the inventory are now lost. Dates of a later ring suggest that they may have been recast in 1598 .

FOUR BELLS OF JOHN WALLIS

In the 17 th century the tower contained six bells. The tenor ( $12 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) was cast in 1603, with the inscription, 'Prayse the Lord.' The fifth ( $8 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.) was cast in 1600 , similarly inscribed. The fourth ( $6 \frac{3}{d} \mathrm{cwt}$.) was cast in 1598, inscribed. 'Prayse God.' The third ( $5 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt.) was cast in 1599 , bearing the inscription, -Tho. Culle Qui Obit 4 Maii.' These four hells all carried the founders mark I.W, and were cast by John Wallis, of the Salisbury Foundry. A complete ring of four bells by John Wallis is very rare, and this instance may even be unique. The two other bells-the second ( $4 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt.. inscription 'Feare God') and the treble ( $3 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt., inscription 'Love God ')were cast in 11635 by Wallis' successor at Salisbury, John Danton. They bore the founder's mark I.D.. and the Neale Arms, and were probably given by Thomas Neale, the author (who had inherited the Warnford Manor at the age of eight). to mark his coming of age.
These six bells were removed from the tower in 1950 and laid on the floor of the church. where until 1958 they were objects of much interest to visitors.
Meanwhile the work of restoring the tower wa, put in hand. Behind the 18 th century brick parapet the top was strengthened and locked together by steel and concrete reinforcement. upon which was rested a new aak roof, covered with the old lead recast. A similar girdle of reinforcement was made halfway down. and massive new floor timbers were locked into it. When the ruinous belfry was cleared away, original beams from two earlier belfries were disclosed. and being only slightly affected by beetle and decay, have been treated and preserved in position. For this reason provision was made to site the new bell frame just above them, and the steel joists on which it was to rest were also designed as part of the scheme to brace and designed as part of the scheme to brace and strengthen the tower. While all this was in progress the interior masonry of the tower was thoroughly repaired.
By 1957 the work (which had been done in stages as the money came in) was advanced enough for consideration in detail of what could be done about the bells. Two of them (the tenor and fourth) were known to be cracked. It was estimated that to recast these, to tune the others and to replace them all in modern fittings would cost $£ 1,200$. Two generous benefactors paid this sum into the Restoration Fund earmarked for this purpose. So in 1958 the bells were removed to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, where on closer examination the third was found to be cracked also.

INFERIOR TONAL QUALITY

Moreover, it was discovered that the three sound ones. particularly those of 1635 , were of such inferior tonal quality, due to their having been oast on such a thin scale, that retuning could only be very limited. It was clear that if the three cracked bells were recast down to the same scale of thinness, and the three sound ones retuned as far as possible, the result would be poor indeed and musically unsatisfactory. The foundry therefore advised recasting all six. The fifth bell was retained as a service bell, replacing it with a new one. and recasting the other five. This decision increased the cost somewhat

Five of the original bells were recast with a! 1 marks and inscriptions copied facsimile, with the addition of the Whitechapel mark and the words, Recast, 1959: The new fifth was made, bearing only the Whitechapel mark and the date. 1959. The cast-jn staple from the original fifth was cut out and a centre hole drilled through the crown. hy means of which it is fastened to a timber deadstock, supported on the main bell frams on the south side. This bell thus fixed is now rung on the clapper, and is a great convenience for use as a sanctus bell and for wezkday services. The new bells were blessed by the Archdeacon of Portsmouth before being hoisted into position, and the work of erecting the new belfry was completed in the tower in just over a formight. The final cost of resioring the bells was $£ 1.760$. In all, and excluding the bells. some $£ 4,000$ has heen judiciously spent on this tower in the last ten years. The population of Warnford is 250 .

The Story of a Remarkable Suffolk Ringing Family

THE BAILEYS, OF LEISTON

 By CHARLES J. SEDGLEYTHE Baileys of Leiston. They are but a name to the present generation of ringers, but the older ones will remember the performances of this extraordinary family. There were eleven brothers. There have been eleven brothers in a family before, there may be again perhaps, but the remarkable thing about this one is that nine of them became ringers, and good ringers too.
They were natives of Leiston, a small town of about 4.000 inhabitants, some two miles from the Suffolk coust. It was in those days50 or so years ago-a place with just one industry, the engineering works of R. Garrett & Sulns, who employed most of the male popuLation of the place, including most of the Baileys. The older ones were ringing peals arcund the turn of the century, and as the younger ones came to maturity so they came $t 0$ ringing. Doubtless it was always an ambition to ring a pead with eight brothers and this was realised on October 21st. 1911, when 5,024 Plain Bob Major was rung by the following. the first ever by a band of brothers:

Allen F. Bailey, 1896
Frederick W. Bailey, 1894
Leonard P. Bailey, 1892
James M. Bailey, 1890
Norman R. Bailey, 1887
Ernest S. Bailey, 1882
Charles F. Bailey, 1879
Edgar H. Bailey, 1877.
Treble
$\qquad$

Tenor
It will be noted that they stood in order seniority. Another was rung before the start of the 1914 War, which put an end to a! things.
With the return of peace and the brothers' gridual release from war service, they were soon back 10 ringing, and on February 14th, 1920, rang a peal of Double Norwich C.B. Major, Norman dropping out of the Bob Major baind and Wilfred W . ringing the treble. This was followed by Superlative Surprise Jater in the same year. Stedman Triples in 1921 and Cambridge Surprise in 1922, all by the same hand.

- MAXIMUS ON HANDBELLS

Handbell ringing also came into the picture, and before the war Plain and Kent T.B. Major and Royal had been rung; the Maximus of each followed in 1920, Oxtord T.B. Major and Roral the same year, Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques in 1921, and Double Norwjeh C.8. Major in 1923. I give the band which rang the Maximus and Cinques:

| Allen F. Bailey |  |
| :---: | :---: |
| Ernest S. Bailey | 3 |
| Chardes F. Bailey | 5 |
| James M. Bailey | 7 |
| Frederick W. Ba | 9-10 |
| Edgar H. Bailey | 11-12 |

It is rather surprising that they should have rung Cinques and Maximus, as they had no opportunity of practice on 12, nor do I think at that time they had rung a peal on 12 tower bells. The total of peals rung by the brothers is: On tower bells. Plain Bob Major 3. Double Norwich C.B. Major 1, Superlative S. Cambridge S. 1: on handbells, Plain Bob Major 5, Royal 10, Maximus 1. Kent T.B. Major 15, Royal 7, Maximus 3, Oxford T.B.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

The new Vicar (the Rev. T. Dearing) presided at the Barnsley District Society's meeting at Silkstone on March 9th. at which 13 towers were represented. The meeting stood in silence as a tribute to Mr. Daniel Smith, who had been secretary of the Society for over 20 years. One new member, Miss Jeannette Maclean. of Royston. was elected. It was decided to visit North Yorkshire for the annual outing on May 18th. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. Burgess. of Friezland, and the Vicar, in reply, sald he did not know ladjes did ringing.
Next meeting: Cawthornc, April 13th.

Major 4, Royal 3. Double Norwich C.B. Major 3, Stedman Triples 7, Caters 14, Cinques 2 ; all conducted by Charles. He was always the leader and conductor, and had the distinction of conducting 100 consecutive peals on Leiston bells, in one short period calling eaght different Surprise methods, from eight different bells. He also rang the tenor and conducted 11,040 Double Norwich C.B. Major at Leiston, 1909.
Ringing was not their only love, for all the brothers took part in some form of athletic activity, football and the like. Charles was a good bowiler and played for lis county, as dial Wilfred at football.

NEW SURPRISE METHODS

With their colleagues-George Wilson, James Rumsey, Firederick Smith and others-of the Leiston band, they gave an impetus to the ringing of new Surprise methods, then caming into fastrion, and so much in evidence today. Eighteen were rung, including the first of Camdon, Dublin, Edinburgh, Essex, Rochester, Suffolk and Waveney. It is worth noting that these were all composed by Gabriel Lindoff, himself a Leiston man.
Now all are scattered and gone, excepting for Ernest and Leonard, who alone remain at Leiston, but they had their day, and put up records which in all probability will stand for all time: of them surely it can be said: 'Take it for all in all we shall not look upon their like again.'

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

A quarterly meeting of the Tewkesbury Branch was held at Ashchuroh on March 2nd. The six bells were raised shortly after 3 p.m. but very soon after commencing a rope broke. This naturally curtailed the ringing period. The Rector (Rev. C. P. Willis) conducted the service. and afterwands joined the members at an excellent tea, provided in the Village Hall.

During the business meeting two junior members were elected to the Branch, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Hope, of Hasfield. were elected associate members. M. A. B.

Invited to give a talk to the pupils of Northampton Town and County Grammar School, on bells and their history, and the art of singing, Mr. P. Amos willingly accepted. Result: many inquiries to know more, and a desire to see around a bell foundry.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUHD  North Dorset Branch

At the quarterly meeting at Shaftesbury on March 9th, some 30 members were present. Methods up to Cambridge Minor, including rounds for beginners, were rung under the direation of Mr. W. C. Shute. The Rector, the Rev. G. K. Horlock Jones, conduated the Guild office, at which a course of Grandsire Doubles was rung on handbells by C. Longnidge $1-2, R$. Longnidge $3-4, C$. Dunster 5-6.
After, tea, provided by the Shaftesbury Mothers' Union, the business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Rev. $\mathbf{R}$. G. Chaffey Moore. J. Batten, of Bourton, was elected a junior ringing member. A suggestion for a branch outing to some Somerset towers was discussed. Double Court Minor was suggested as the special method for the next meeting.
Ringing continued up to the customary hour, both at Shifftesbury and at Motcombe.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

West Lindsey Branch

The West Lindsey Branch held a meeting at Lea on February 23rd, when, despite difficult road conditions, there was a good representative gathering.
Full use was made of the bells of St Helen's and many Doubles and Minor methods were heard. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. J. Knight, while the Rev. Mansfield-Williams, himself a ringer, gave the address.

Tea followed, and the business meeting was short, but opportunity was taken to pay silent tribute to the memory of the late Rev. Stott. Vicar of Haxey, a friend of the Guild, whose sudden death was a tragedy.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and to Mrs. G. L. A. Lunn for providing an excellent tea concluded the business, and ringing was resumed.
Next meeting: May 18 th, Corringham with Sandall; Double Court special methods.

THE SMITHS

THE STORY OF A RINGING FAMILY

By I. N. QUICK

THE MANSTONE MEETING
Old George decided to go by himself.
Aftor all, he had rung his first peal at Manstone, nearly 50 years ago, and he always enjoyed ringing on these fine bells. The Smith family were away (due back later the same day). and nobody else from Hexworth appearod to be going to the Manstone meeting.
He got off the bus, almost opposite the church. and crossed over the road to enter through the dich-gate. He made his way to the belfry door, which was outside on the north side of the tower.
A young man in his early twenties was pusbing a cycle past the west door, examining the church and tower with interest. He wore corderoy shorts and an open-necked shirt, and thad the bronzed appearance of a person accustomed to outdoor life. Espying the belfry door he propped his cycle against the tower plinth and made his way towards the opening, reaching it at the same momen: as Oid George, whom he had not previously noticed.

He stood back to allow the older man to enter first. He was a stranger to George.
' Nay lad, up tha goes. Th'art younger than me and will be alt t'top afore I've risen half a dowen steps,'
The young man thanked him and disappeared through the doorway.

Gearge enjoyed several touches before tea, twice ringing the treble to Grandsire Tiriples (for as you must know there are eight bells at Manstone). He saw the Ringing Master, Join Chappell, talking to the young man, whose Christian name George discovered was Edward, but who preferred to be called 'Ted.' He rang several times during the afternoon and ance, after being pressed, called a touch of Stedman.

Now, Old George, who even by his own estimation is 'no angel,' has one besetting sin-he is a pun addict! In the Hexworth tower the is given no encouragement, although even thene the is subject to occasional outbursts. Unfortunately. David Walker, of Whetherton, was at the Manstone meeting and he was, I am airaid, fond of ariding and abetting George
The spasm started innocently enough Someone asked: 'What's the next tune?'
And David answered, "indicating Old George, Ask "Grandsire" there!"
To which George reptied, pointing at John Chappetl. 'Nay, don't ask me; he's "Stedman " here!"
All would have been well if the company had ignared them. Some thoughtless person, however, gave a childish giggle. a mistake that prowided the two with the necessary impetus.
After the next touch had finished someone asked George Whitford, the local head ringer, what key the bells were in.

A flat,' he replied.
Whereupan the following exchanges ensued:
Old George: "Ah, not a "natural" peal".
David Walker: "You are "sharp" to notice that.'
O.G.: "Shouldn't we "bar" musical jokes?" D.W.: "They certainly "seemphunny" to me.'
O.G.: "What a "bass" suggestion.
D.W.: "I suppose you think now that "alto" the line." you have got "Ujoln OG.: "!
And so they went on. chuckling at their own feeble jokes in the manner of puerile punsters, whilst the remainder stood aghast at this debasement of their native tongue.

There was a short service, before tea, which Old George attended, not, jt is feared, with any degree of enthusiasm. Afterwards at the tea tabie. being a safe distance from the parson, he expressed his opinions on the subject of services on meeting days.
'Taint right,' he said, 'when I've travelled a long way to a meeting an' have to travel a long way back, to snip half an hour from the middle $o^{\circ}$ the artemoon in order that some parson can get a dig at me for not staying to the service, when I've finished ringing. Tea an' business meeting take up enough time as it is without wastin' any more.

I suppose,' said 'Ted,' who was sitting next to him, "it is the only chance that the parsons have to encourage some of us to stay to church.

Parsons is parsons,' sajd Edgar Pettigrew, of Redbank. 'They have a job to do like you and me, and like you and me, most of 'em try to do it properly. I'm a painter and like to see a micely finished job; Jimmy there is a mechanic and makes sure that all his nuts are tight and his valves properly ground in : this young fellow, turning to "Ted") is a
'A cobbler,' volunteered the young man.
A cobbler,' continued Edgar, 'and likes to see a worn pair of shoes turned out like new ones. If a workman's worth his salt he likes to see a good job well done.

The Vicar at our church,' said David Thomas, of Ross-an-Ooze, 'is one of the understanding type and never pesters us. On the other hand he has nothing to complain about as most of us try to stay to service at least once every Sunday, which is at least equal to most of the churchwandens!'

I think that most parsons are fainly reasonable,' remarked Ted, if you give them reasonable treatment. There are vory few that lay down hard and fast rules to the ringer about church attendance-and it must be pretty galling to see sometimes, as I have seen, more people slipping out at the back than are staying to the service!'
' Mebbe so, mebbe so,' growled Old George, but some $o$ ' these young 'uns come from school or college, or whatever it is, wi' big ideas on little stalks, an' try an tell me what I ought to do. All parsons ought to be made to learn how to ring before they're fully qualified; they might appreozate the amount o' work that we ringers do that nobody ever hears about. We're due for a new curate at Hexworth; I'd like to see him telling me what to do!'
And the glared round the room as though he expected to see the curate walk through the door
They all laughed. The idea of anyane dictating to Old George was too funny for words.

The Hexworth band were in full force the following (Sunday) morming as the Smiths had returned from their holidays. During a pause in the ringing the door opened and the Vicar entered, followed by a young man in clerical garb.
'Good morning.' said the Vicar brightly. the bells sound nice this morning. May I introduce the new curate, Mr. - er - Hepplewhite. He informs me that he has been initiated into the mysteries of campanology, so perhaps you will allow him to join you sometime."
He led the young man across to Joe.
"This is Mr. Smith, our head ringer.
As they shook hands he left them and went down the steps saying: 'I leave him, I know, in good hands.'
Old George recognised his stranger of yesterday, in spite of the difference that his cloth made to his appearance. He came across to George and shook hands
'I think,' he said. 'we have met hefore.
Old George eyed him carefully
'A cobbler?' he demanded.
The curate smiled.
'An apprentice cobbler at any rate.' he said. I hope in time to become, by God's grace. a proficient mender of broken "souls " $!$ "

MORE BELERY GOSSIP

Mr. A. V. Bennett has resigned the secretaryship of the Bristol City Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol. Association after 13 years in the office. His successor is Mr. D. John Hunt, of the Cathedral band

We are asked to state that Mr. T. Briggs, who rang in a quarter peal at Asfordby, lives at Somerby and not Asfordby, as submitted in the copy. He was included in the quarter because Mr. H Cook was incapacitated through 'flu

HOW TRUMPINGTON WAS SAVED BY HER BELLS

The snow falls thick, the show falls fast, It covers fiek and lane.
On the fair town of Trumpington
The snow it falls again.
The roads were blocked, the wires weer cut,
The drifts were deep and wide.
-O, what shall we do for food and drink?
So loud the good folk cried.

- No bread have we, no milk or rea,

No hay for horse or cow.
A message really must be sent To Cambridge town. But how?'
Then up and spake good Thomas Brown. The tower captain was he.

- I have a plan. 1 have a plan.

So listen carefully!'
We'll ring a peal upon the bells
That Cambridge cown may hear,
And they will come with their snow ploughs
And make our roadways clear.
But that will never do.' said one,
Poor Henry Bull is ill
He is the lad that rings the third.
And lives beyond the mill.
Bantholomew: another said.
'As broken of "is arm.
E slid upon an icy patch
That's 'ow 'e came to 'arm.
O. many a man was lying iH;
O. how poor Tom did grieve

For all the lads who rang fite tells
On Sunday morn and eve.
Then up and spake old Albert Hayes,
Ful! eighty years had he.

- When I was young I used to ring;

I'il ring that pead, you'll see!'
"That's good. that's good!' cried Thomas
" We each two bells can ply!"
[Brown. And a fine peal of Bob Minimus
Reached Cambridge through the sky.
The bells were heard! The ploughs were sent. The bread and milk were found.
And the fame of good old Albert Hayes
Was heard for miles around.

MR. ERNEST STITCH

1884-1963

The sudden death of Mr. Ernest Stitch, briefly reported in our last issuc. took place on Sunday. March 10 th. On the previous Thursday he had a blackout; was ordered t.) rest by his doctor. He had another collapse on March 10th, while preparing for the doctor's visit and died just after the doctor arrived. So passes another of the old ringing stalwarts of South Wales. A man of humility, full of loyalty and faithfulness. he was much loved by all who knew him, and they must be very many.
The funeral service was at the Parish Church. of Newton Nottage, on March 14th, and was conducted by a fellow ringer, the Rev. Derek Ford. The Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was represented by Mr. F. J. Hannington and Rev. Ivor J. Richards, Rural Dean of Raglan, and the Swansea and Brecon Guild by Mr. Arthur J. Hoare and Mr. Gwyn I. Lewis. They were supported by a goodly representation of the ringers of South Wales Cremation afterwards took place, and the ashes will eventually be interred in the churchyard. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service.
Mr. Stitch commenced his ringing with a peai of Grandsire Triples at Aberavon Church on July 5th. 1919. composed and conducted by Mr. A. J. Pitman. He rang his 500th peal 01 the same bell, to the same composition and conductor. on May 10th, 1957. it being their 149th peal together. Mr. Stitch had been sccretary of the Southern District of the Swansea and Brecon Guild for 27 years, from it; formation until 1950. He was Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association in 1938 and represented this Association on the Central Council, 1939-1950.
On his retirement from work in 1950 he moved to Wolverhampton, where he coninued his ringing until the end of last year, when he returned to Wales to settle at Porthcawl.

OBITUARY

He rang 564 peals in all; 259 for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, 200 for the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society, 56 for the West Wales and Swansea and Brecon Guild, with a further 49 shared amongst cight other Societies. His tast peal he called i) the church where his funeral service was held, when the priest who conducted the service rang the tenor. This was three weeks before his death. As a conductor. Mr. Stitch will be remembered chiefly for his ability in calling Hott's Originad of Grandsire Triples. which he had done on many occasions, from each bell except the tenor. He noted in his records that no less than 87 different people rang in this composition with him. He had circled the tower in most of the churches in Glamorgan, in some many times. Bridgend, for example, eight times in 84 peals on the bells.
T. M. R.

AN APRRECIATION

The announcement of the sudden death of Mr. Frnest Stitch came as a great shock to his many friends in the Archdeaconry of Siafford. Ernest was a welcome visitor to many of the belfries in the district, and especially to St. Giles', Willenhall, where he rarely missed a practice often arriving before starting time, in all kinds of weather. When a learner was introduced. Ernest was in his element and would soon have him handling a rope and would not hesitate to replace a broken stay or mend a rope.
When we knew that he was arranging to return to Wales, our Vicar, Rev. A. G. Bond. in making a presentation of a table lamp. thanked him for his patience and perseverance in all that he had done for St. Giles'. Our deepest sympathy is extended to his wife and family.
C. W.

Canon K. W. H. Felstead writes apologies to Mrs. Hall for omitting her name from the Loughborough Bell Foundry peal list (31 as Miss Forster, 39 as Mrs. Halis. Pleading that he had not realised that they were the same person, the Canon adds, "Not being a real conductor, I am not immediately aware when anyone changes course in a peal!'

From distant Stratton. Cornwall, was rung a quarter in honour of the wedding of Stanley Jenner and Ann George, in Kent, in appreciation of their help to the locals on the occasion of their many visits.

On March 9th, Charlie Sangwin took his band to Appledore and rang a quarter of Grandsire. They were not so successful with Stedman at Bideford owing to the limited time hefore service. In consequence the ringing had to be pushed and there was a 'blow-up.'
Babbacombe. Torquay, bells are now at the l.oughborough Foundry and are expected to return about September. Practices are being held regularly in the District, and holiday visitors can keep in touch through notices on the belfry door.

With reference to the silent peal at Cornhill. we should point out that the handbell peal rung at Leicester in 1903 was the first silent peal of Stedman Cinques and not the firs peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells. as stated.

Higham-on-the-Hill Sunday service band have blossomed into the limelight by ringing a quarter peal, the first for about 20 years, and it was done without the presence of the Ringing Master! They have now hopes for peal, which would be the first for about 30 years.
For the first time handbell ringing, and to changes too, was included in the Twickenham and Richmond Music Festival, of which Dr. D J. Neal Smith is chairman. So successful was the venture that the chairman is determined not only to include handbells but also tower bells in the next contest. which widl be in the first fortnight of March, 1964.

It was a great joy to Mr. J. G. Jefferies, of Mangotsfield, that ore of his sons and Also a grandson, who is secretary of the Bristol Rural Branch, are members of the Management Committee of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. It is believed that this is the first time that three generations of one family have held office in the Association. The youngest Branch secretary-A Crawley, aged $14 \frac{1}{2}$ years, of Gloucester-is also there.

The band who rang the peal of Rutland Surprise at Bradley. Staffs, on March 2nd offer their good wishes to John Grinsell and June Maclachlan, of the local company, who are to be married on March 23 rd .

Calling his first peal at St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, on March 9th was Derek Ashton. who is only 14 years old. The average age of the band was 16 years 9 months. Guod luck, Derek.
A $£ 26,000$ restoration appeal has been launched for St. Mary's Church, Bury S. Edmunds. This church has eight bells with a tenpr of $28 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in D and is close to the Cathedral ( $10,30 \mathrm{cwt}$. in C sharp), where a very darge extension scheme is going on.
The quarter peal in six Minimus methods sung on March 9 th at Bishopthorpe. Yorks, was accomplished on what as, as far as known, the heaviest ringable ring of four bells in Yorkshire. The tenor weighs 14 cwt. 0 gr. 20 lb . Has a quarter of Minimus been achieved on a heavier four?

For several years a band of Kent ringers have met on the third Saturday of each month for a peal altempt. When Stanley Jenner, a member of this company, was married on March 2nd, the 'survivors,' plus Andrew Corby, rang a peal at Withyham in honour of the occasion. The singers were grateful to M.. F. I. Hairs and the Rector of Withyham, for kindly allowing the attempt, and, in view of the occasion, agreeing that the peal should be credited to the Kent County Association.

THE QUEEN'S VISIT TO CHRISTCHURCH

The visit of Her Majesty the Qucen and H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh to Christchurch. New Zealand, was marked by excellent ringing on the Cathedral bells. Mr. G. Nelson Sloan. secretary of the Christchurch Cathedral Socicty, writes:

On Suturday, February 16th. The Cathedral hells were rung to welcome the royal visitors to Christchurch at 1 p.m., and ringing continued until 1.30 p.m.: Grandsire Triples and rounds on the full ring of ten being rung. Later an attempl at a peal of Grandsirc Triples on the 'heavy eight was made, but failed, so for the remuinder of the afternoon Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Minor were rung.

Sunday, Februalry 17h.-The royal visitors attended divine service at the Cathedral at II a.m. This was a State service and the sermon was preached by the Archbishop of New Zealdnd. The Most Rev. N. A. Lesser: the first lesson wis read by the Prime Minister of New Zealand. Mr. Holyouke: the second lesson by H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.

This was an historic day for the Christehurch Cathedrad Society of Bellringers in that it was the first time that the bells had been rung for a State service. with a reigning sovereign attending. A picked band was chosen to ring touches of Grandsire Triples and rounds on the full ring of ten. and was conducted by the Master. Mr. R. H. Idle. The ringers rose to the occasion and excelled themselves: in all the years I have rung at the Cathedral, I have no: heard better striking. it being almost perfect and was a treat to Jisten to. The Society was congratulated on the high stiandand of the ringing on the day and letters of appreciation were received from the Dean of Christchurch (the Very Rev. A. Pyatt) and the Cathedral Chapter.

RINGING RECTOR'S WEDDING

The Rev. Cyril Munt, Rector of Cheriton. Folkestone with Newington-next-Hythe, is to be married to Miss Dorothy Aldworth, at Biddenden. Kent. on Wednesday, April 17 th. at 10.30 a.m.
Mr. Munt and his sister. Mary, are both ringers and have greatly helped a struggting hand of mostly young ringers at St. Martin's. In addition, thanks to the Rector's enthusiasm and drive. considerable restoration work has been undertaken in the tower. The light ring of eight ( $7 \frac{1}{\mathrm{t}} \mathrm{cwt}$. tenor) has been underpinned by massive concrete girders, a new ringing chamber has been formed at first floor level and the vestry space doubled at ground level. The bells have been overhauled and new ropes fitted. Some work still has to be done to the tenor by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. as this hell has a loose crown staple.

Naturally. the marriage of the young and popular Rector is quite an important event in the life of the parish. A party of parishioners. including the choir and some ringers, will be going to Biddenden on the great day
Mr. Munt was formerly a curate at Ashford (Kent) Parish Church and later priest-incharge at Ranmore. Dorking, Surrey. He is wel! known to local ringers at both places.
Miss Aldworth, who is a teacher at St. Martin's Primary School, is well known in Biddenden Church circles. She often deputises at the organ there during the school holidays. She is already a freguent visitor to St. Martin's belfry and it is hoped that she. too, wil! like up ringing.

A CITY SET ON A HILL

WELL, not a city in the common sense of the word, but the City of God in one small piece of Devon, and it certainly cannot be hid, standing over 1,100 feet above sea-level on an upward thrust of the granite steep on three sides and sheer to the west-St. Michael de Rupe (St. Michael on the Crag), Brentor, must be one of the most dramatically-situated churches in the Kingdom.
Churches dedicated to St. Michael the Archangel, the Prince who cast down the old Serpent, are believed often to bear that dedication in token of their having been built on the site of ancient pagan shrines, and the summit of Brentor is just the sort of place for a pagan to worship at. It probably began as a very tiny church, built simply to Christianise a heathen sanctuary, but the story of the present church's building is as dramatic as its situation.
In about the year 1140, a sea captain, Robert Gifford, was coming honle up-channel with the hold of his ship full of valuable cargo, when a furious storm sprang up. Standing on the poop in a waste of raging Channel water, he vowed that if he brought his ship safe to port he would build a church on the first point of land he sighted. It seems incredible that he should first have sighted Brentor, 20 miles inland and close to much higher hills, but with the lower land obscured by storm-wrack and the cloud base as it often is at about 1,200 feet, it's by no means impossible, and I know one seaman who has had the very same experience. Anyway, the church stands on Brentor to testify to the fact that Robert Gifford did reach port in safety, and that Brentor was indeed the first land he sighted, for he fulfilled his vow and built the church there at his own cost.
It is a tiny building-of necessity, for the top of the Tor is not big enough for a tennis court. A simple rectangle with no aisles and a tiny porch on the north side, it can be reached only on foot; there is no chancel, and the interior is simple under a low timber roof. At the west end is a tiny tower, only 12 feet square outside and hardly more than 30 feet high, with a battlemented parapet; the bell chamber is only 7 feet square and the ground floor ringing chamber even less, yet here is a ring of five bells.

There were formerly three bells here, and until 1890 two of them were late-14th century bells, cast probably by John Langhorne, of London; they were certainly London bells, and one wonders however they were brought here. In 1890 they were rehung and the treble recast by Mears, and in 1910 a new ring, with a tenor of $5 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt., was cast by Mears and Stainbank and hung by William Aggett, of Chagford. They are a pretty five, and the fourth hears the inscription from the ancient second: 'Gallus vocor ego; super omnia sono - ' I am called the Cock! I sound above all.'

The tenor hangs immediately above the ringing chamber by herself. Six feet above her. and very close under the roof, are the rest, packed into less than 50 square feet on plan and with their clappers barely clearing the roof beams. They are hung in a castiron frame and fitted at present with Aggett's 'Patent Ball-bearings,' shortly to be replaced, and not a moment too soon. The foundation girders were replaced two years ago, the original ones being rusted through at the ends: the new ones had to be brought in through holes cut in the outer walls.

The village of Brentor, over a mile away, has a modern church now, more accessible for the parishioners, but services are still held in St. Michael de Rupe throughout the summer, and the bells are rung regularly by the local band. who ring during the winter on the nearby five at Coryton. They have a long, stiff climb to get to their summer ringing, as does anyone who goes to the church; but at least they are rewarded with one of the most spectacular views in Devon. To the east Dartmoor rises, fold upon fold, tor and clitter and heather slope, to High Willhays and the lonely peat bogs round Cranmere Pool; to the west, across the Tamar, Dartmoor's Cornish cousin makes its rugged skyline; to the north the long ridges sweep across from North Tawton to the North Cornish coast; and southwards, heyond Tavistock and the hazy sprawl of Plymouth, lies the sea where, on a little battered vessel eight centurics ago, Robert Gifford prayed to his God, and found mercy.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD ANNUAL DINNER

Following the success of the first annual dinner at Cardigan last year, the St. David's Diocesinn Guild decided to hold a second dinser, this time at the Ivy Bush Hotel, Carmarthen, on February 9th.
In spite of the Aretic weather nearly 50 mombers and friends were able to attend nuany of them from the remoto corners of this large diocese.
The guest of honour was the Bishop of St Duvid's. who proposed the toast to the Guild. and gave an amusing glimpse into his early days as a ringer. The Master of the Guild Major R. Pateman, responded.

Mr. Gwyn Thomas proposed the toast of The Visitors, and this was replied to by another of our guests of honour, Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who thad travelled from Oxford through the snow to be present.
The evening concluded with the showing of the film'Ringers Required.

Burry Port

The first quarterly moeting for 1963 was held at St. Mary's, Burry Port, on March 9th. Ahout 40 members attended, and the five bells were kept ringing through the afternoon
The Vicat, the Rev. T. J. Thomas, officiated at the service, and also presided at the business meeting. Among the lopics discussed was a visit to Coventry for' the Festival in April. In view of the great distances involved it was decided to take no action
A splendid tea was provided and served by the local members, and Mr. P. G. T. Lewis, of Llandovery, thanked them for their effort.
Members then returned to the cower for further ringing.

UP AND COMING

FREDERICK SHALLCROSS,

Lancashire Association.

The Lancashire Association brings into the Exercise a young ringer full of action and enthusiasm. One who suggests that his activities would be more fitting to a title such as "Unrelated Events.'
Frederick Shallcross, affectionately known to is friends as 'Ricky, whose home is at Ashton-under-Lyne, was born on September 4th, 1945. His education started at the early age of four, when he was sent to the Parochial School. Ashton. After passing his eleven plus he entered the Co-ed Grammar School. Ashton where he is at present studying mathematics physics and chemistry, at A A, level, after having passed five subjects at ' $O$ ' level.
At the age of ten, Ricky joined the Parish Church choir and soon after became interested i: ringing. He became a pupil of Miss Joan Carter-now Mrs. Wilkiam Harrison-who was and still is doing such a tremendous lot of hard work, teaching youngsters. For the first six months progress for Ricky was rather slow, but he had plenty of opportunity for ringing, as service ringing on Sundays was from 9 to 10.30 a.m. and 5 to $6.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. The weekly practice often lasted three hours. It is not surprising then that after jumping the first hurdles he soon began to make excellent progress

On a certain Sunday, soon after he had learned to ring, Ricky turned up for service ringing at 9.30 a.m. In the absence of other ringers he decided to chime the tenor. All went well until a very agitated and angry verger burst in: and-informed him that he had started an hour too soon and was causing great annoyance to the Rector, who was half way through the Communion service.

On May 4th, 1958, at the age of 13, Ricky rang his first peal, together with four other first pealers. He rang the third of the middle :Ix aft Ashton Parish Church to Grandsire Doubles, which. incidentally, was Miss Carter's first peal as conductor. A very noteworthy fecord.

Two years later he rang his first peal as conductor. This was Yorkshire Surprise Major, and the same year he believes he created a record by having conduoted a peal of London Surprise Major and curned the tenor in to a peal of Surprise Maximus at the age of 15 .
After a rather slow start Rioky's peal ket grew rapidly and the total to dite stands a 167. of which he has conducted 23. Of this total his most interesting peals are Londinium, Lambeth and Brigstow Surprise Maximus, Lomdon and Redeliffe Surprise Royal; Spliced Surprise Royal in $2 ; 4,6,8, n t 1$ and 12 mettods,

YOUNGSTERS-No. 6

Spliced Surprise Major in 16 methods, and is very proud to say that Mr. D. Mottershead and many other excellent ringers in the north took part in thesc peals. Ricky is to be congratulated on such a fine collection of peals rung in so short a time.
He has a great respect for Mrs. Harrison his tower leader, who, in spitc of great difficulties. has for the past six years main. tained a very high standard of regular Sunday service ringing.
He is proud of his membership of the Rambling Ringers, which he considers contains some of the finest personalities in the whole of the Exercise.
Ricky's ringing ambitions are to call Mr Pitman's odd bob Stedman Triples and Scientific Triples. His favourite composer is Mr. Stephen Ivin, who, he says. brings out ail the best music in his composilions.

WILF'S TOUR, No. II

For the second year the weather was kind and in bright sunshine we assembled for our day s ringing in Dorset. Somerset and Witshire. At the last moment it was learned that Harry De Combe had been taken ill, and it took 45 minutes and some fast driving to find a sixth ringer.
At last we were off, with Ken Tipper, Keitl Sanson. Brian Kercher and Wilf Davison from Petersfield. David Hughes, of Liss. and Ken Waller. who fortunately stepped in at the last minute, from Warnford.
Some 70 miles and 90 minutes later we arrived at our first tower. Bourton, the most northerly church in Dorset, where we were met by Rev. R. N. Longridge. Ringing Master of the Guild, and Jim Ralph from Gillingham. David Hughes called a successful quarter of Bob Minor, in spite of a Bob-I-mean-single call. and after a short touch of Bob Doubles we moved on to Maiden Bradley, across the border into Somerset, where, according to the stone fountain. the water runs 'Qaite a mile uphill.' A second successful quarter, this time of Grandsire and conducted by Ken Tipper, put us in great' spirits. which were sustained by the excellent lunch of turkey silad, washed down with ale at a nearby hostelry.

Stourhead was our first tower after lunch, and this famous beauty spot looked strange with the lake frozen and snow covering the lawns and trees. Keith Sanson called a quarter of Doubles in three methods (Stedman. Bob Doubles and Grandsire). and as we were now in Wiltshire we had rung quarters in three counties. The yuarter at Stourhead was. incidentally, the first to be rung there since the bells ware rehung in 1960.

Our fourth tower was Sutton Veny, with a pleasant little church tucked away in the Wilshire Downs. But our attempt for a quarter failed after about 20 minutes, and after a short touch of Bob Minor we were entertained to tea by the Rev. and Mrs. D. V. Evening. Rector of Sutton Veny, before travelling to Wylye.
So far. the ringing had been good and all the bells had been a pleasure to ring, but at Wylye things began to change. Maybe we were getting tired. The ringing chamber was on ground level and after moving, with some difficulty, the bier from the ringing chamber into the main aisle. we attempted to ring 3 touch of Grandsire. but the bells didn't go at all well and the striking was shocking. We were soon bringing the bier back into the ringing chamber. and shortly afterwards inspected the horse bells, ancient pistols and other trinkets in the pub close by
On the way home we dropped in at a practice meeting at South Newton. Wc travelled in all 180 miles, but the long day was really worth whike.

We welcome to our quarter peal columns Miss Sara K. D. Woolley, and wish ber the same success and happiness in ringing as bep parents have had.

ODD-STRUCK BELLS

THERE has always been some mystery about Recently, in the Derby areack. we have made some effort to understand odd-struckness a little better and to improve some of our bells $n$ this respect.
An odd-struck bell is one whose clapper strikes earlier on one stroke than on the other when pulled of from the balance with the same effort. Such bells can be a nuisance ince they need extra concentration and physical effort to strike them accurately
It rests on the experience of ringers to determine the degree of odd-struckness of a bell because to measure it would require fairly chiborate apparatus. There is usually some disagreement about this. but one could conclude that if several experienced ringers could no: agree as to whether a bell was oddstruck or not, then the amount of oddstruckness would not be worth warrying about. In this area, as with most, there are several kells which are notoriously odd-struck; for example. the third at Matlock and the third and fourth at Duffeld. In addition many Towers have bells which are slightly odd-struck. The fourth at Sawley and the third at Sandiacre are typical. All the bells at these towers mentioned have been examined recently and clapper distances measured. The method employed was to let the bell hang down freely and the weight of the rope taken off the bell. The distances between the impact points of the clapper faces and the bell lip were muasured accurately by cutting stiff copper wire to the right length on both sides. Quite a good correlation between the difference in these distances. with the observed odd-struckness, was obtained and we have formed the opinton that this eccentricity of the clapper is the primary reason for odd-struckness. As little as $\frac{1}{4}$-inch eccentricity of the clapper can account for noticeable odd-struckness.
One rather amusing result was obtained at Sandiacre. Everyone knew that the third was odd-struck because it had to be pulled in at backstroke more than its neighbours, but the measurements showed that the third was the only one correct and that all the other bells. particularly the fourth, were odd-struck. I might add that all these clappers had been rimoved and refitted by our own ringers some lime ago. when we were less informed.
This introduces another point. Since we ling with open handstroke and closed backstroke leads, it would be a distinct advantage to have all the bells. particularly the heavy bells, slightly odd-struck, so that they naturally bells, slightly odd-struck, so that they naturally strike quicker at backstroke. An example of thes sort of thing happened at Sawley. These bells have always been rather slow, and a time 0.3 hours for a peal of Major was quite common when one would expect a 10 cwt . common when one would expect a 10 cwt .
lenor to be turned in much quicker than this. The local experts have always said that this is because the tenor is fitted with a large wiecl. but the wheel, of course, is quite normal and if it was large surely this would make it easier to ring rather more quickly. On examining the bells it was found that the tenor was odd-struck the wrong way: that is, it was ther slow to strike at backstroke.
Hewas not found possible to rectify this by moving the clapper over so the clapper was lurned round. For some reason this made the bell noticeably odd-struck the other way. and this has had the quite marked result of enabling the bells to be rung much more quickly. Peals of Major can now be rung easily in less than 2 hours 45 minutes.
It is unusual for bells to be odd-struck when that it is likely that odd-struckness develops poor maintenance or accidental bending of clapper bolt. Tightening the clapper bolt and lubricating the bush is an important maintenance requirement
Most cases of odd-struckness can be rectified if there is plenty of clearance in the headstock bolt hole by pushing the clapper over using metal shims.
I would be interested to know the views of others on the causes of odd-struckness and how to cure it. D. R. CARLISLE. Risley, Derbys.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GULLD Newark District

A very happy meeting was held at St. Giles' Balderton, on March 16th, the first since the bells were augmented to eight, last October.
Unfortunately. two weddings curtailed the afternoon ringing. though this meant that two smiling brides had the bells rung for thom. Almost 60 ringers were present in the tower some time. and the fact that the ringing room was still crowded well into the evening was proof of the pleasure everyone found Methods rung ranged from Grandsire and Plain Bob to Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise.

The Vicar, Rev. G. Springett, conducted short service, before joining everyone for a very enjoyable tea in the Church Hall. He was afterwards made a vice-president at the business meeting. Three ringing members were also elected. Mr. and Mrs. T. Webster (Balderton) and Miss Suxin Moxon (Sutton).
It is intended to hold the District competition for the Crawford Cup in the evening of the next meeting, and it was proposed that Mr. W. L. Exton be asked to act as judge.

SUSSEX TOWER HAS NEW RINGING CHAMBER

On March 10th. prior to Evensong, the Vicar, Rev. D. Manners, dedicated the new ringing chamber at St. Mary's Church, Felpham, Sussex.
As many visiting ringers will know. the bells were rung from a sloping ground floor and, coupled with the extremely long draught, even experienced ringers found the bells very difficult to manage.
The new ringing chamber, which is situated at the west end of the church, is very well lit and has an attractive aak balcony, over which the ringers can look down into the church. With the existing beautiful stained glass window in the west wall, the whole effect seen from the church is very pleasing. The ropes are now shorter by 12 feet and, coupled with the well-constructed level floor, h-is made ringing considerably easier. The local craftsmen who carried out the work are to be congratulated on a job well done.
The work was made possible by the late Mr. Horace Davis Alford, who made a very generous bequest to the church. Prior to the dedication service the local ringers rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob and Oxford Bob Minor, and as the Vicar made his way back to the chancel, after the dedication service, the bells were rung down in peal.
The Western Division of the Sussex County Association are holding a practice meeting at Felpham on Saturday, April 20th, when it is hoped that visitors will take the opportunity to see for themselves what a wonderful difference the new ringing chamber has made.

Oxford University Society Dinner

The annual dinner of the Oxford Univerty Society was held on February 2nd. Once again, to the delight of any visitor the following large number of towers-all within easy walking distance of each other-was open some time during the afternoon: Carfax (6), St. Mary Magdalen (6). St. Cross (6), Merton Callege (8). the Cathedral Church of Christ (12). St. Thomas the Martyr (6). New College (10). Magdalen Colkge (10). St. Martin and All Saints' (8), St. Mary the Virgin (6) and St. Ebbe's (8). Most of the familiar methods were rung, and, while not of the highest quality, the ringing seemed to be enjoyed by most of the company present.
The service was held at the University Church of St. Mary the Virgin. The Vicar (the Rev. P. Martin) and the Rev. D. Rydings officiated. while the president, Canon C. E. Will, and the secretary, Mr. J. E. Camp, read the lessons. Over the pust few years the dinner has been held in New College. bul unfortunately this year our usual location was no lonyer available and the dinner was held in the 'Wheatsheaf Inn," Iigh Strect. We were served with quite a pleasant meal, although perhaps it kacked a little of the decorum and atmosphere of previous dinners in New College.
After the loyal toust Mr. J. E. Camp proposed the toast of 'The Church.' He welcomed Dr. A. T. Hant, the Rector of Appleton. and then went on to speak of the problems of ringing in the University and of the part it could play in bringing others to the Christian Church.

Dr. A. T. Hart replicd for the Church, with some ideas on how the Church could make great strides forward in adapting itself to the present slate of the world. as it had found necessary to do in the past. He jek us with the quotation:

Ring out wild bells across the snow.
The president, Canon C.E. Wigg, then called upon Mr. D. Roaf to speak on behalf of the visitors. In wolcoming the senior member, Di. Sutton, he said that he was probably the least active of the members of any Society. He went on to outline the purposes and values of a University Society such as ours, particularly with regard to teaching deamers and providing experience for foture tower captiains. Mr. D. Roaf also welcomed Mr. P. Walker, secretary of the Oxford Society. Mr. R. Hough. the Master of the Cambridge University Gulid, and other visitors from Bristol and Reading. Mr. P. Walker replied for the visitors. He remarked on the fact that the Oxford Society had had meetings under that veny same roof in the 1930's. although subsequently they had been held elsewhere. The University ringers were always welcome, he said, but at the same time he reminded the gathering of a remark made to him some time ago, on the very same tepic, namely: " Keep an eye on them, for they will get in and we shall not be able to get them out
Those at list year's dinner may remember that Mr. R. Hough snoke on behalf of the Cambridge University Guild. in his capacity as secretary. the then Master being unable to come. We were happy to have him speak to us agrin this yeir, only this time as Master. Nelson, concluded the proccedings by saying, among other things, how pleased he was to see again the famitiar faces of old members and tuests. He was indeed as true as his word-short. brief and to the point Informal talking and drinking then continued for the rest of the evening.

Valueless Compositions

Dear Sir, - Once more one of these Surprise Major compositions ' with no 82's or 83's' dhas bcen duplicated ('R.W.' page 138). Several times in the past few months this has happened; on one occasion, the composition was in the C.C.C.!
I do not pretend to have an advanced knowJedge of composition ; surely, however, anyone with but a little knowledge of change ringing can see how relatively little scope the Yorkshire/Superlative group has for original compositions of peal length. The restrictions placed by the T.C.E. 24365 (to take the above mentioned group) are bad enough, but to keep the second and third out of sixths place must make things far, far worse. This has not stopped these ghastly things being sent in, with unfortunate duplication.

Although the scope of these arrangements (even that word is not satisfactory) is even jess than that for Plain Bob, I am sure the Editorial Committee would not publish a corresponding composition of Plain BJb, as there would be grave doubts as to its originality. Can it be, perhaps, that the cardier arrangements referred to bear the magic name 'Surprise '?

For Surprise Royal 'compositions,' especially those rung at the Bell Foundry, no words are posible. Anybody who knows atlything ahout figures at all can see, on looking at these compositions, how simple they are. Of coursc, as I said carlier, this fact is overlooked beciuse of the words 'Surprise Royal.'

No one can deny, especially myself, that, as compositions for peals, they have their use. Hut as for publishing them in the 'R.W.'- what possible good are they to the Exercise what possible good are they to the Exercise at large? For one thing, 99 per cent of these new Surprise Royal methods will never be sung again, and become a name in the C.C. records, another peal for so-and-so to put in his book, and send in at the end of the year as a "jeading peal ringer of 1963.' The value of the peal to the ringing fraternity will cease at that point.

Even disregarding this, very few conductors wil! ever look at the compoistions again. The faci is that, jnstead of sceking new material fo: Surprise Major and Royal compositions (:Imost impossible anyway), we would do better to make do with the conventional stuff handed down to us, and using these as starting points for respectable, worth while compositions, with, say, the tenors parted.

For goodness sake, let us have no more of these unearthly 'no 82 's or 83 's' abortions, having instead something like C. J. Sedgley's peals of Cambridge Major, with the tenors parted. Then we might have something original, and worth ringing.-Yours sincerely, West Hartlepool, Co. Durham.

Llanfair P.G.

Dear Sir--So another peal of Llanfair P.G. Surprise Major has been rung! I should think it could now be referred to as simply ' Llanfair P.G., especially as its complete spelling seems to cause so much difficulty-both times it appeared in this week's 'R.W.' an ' $r$ ' was omitted, changing "chwyrn' (fierce) to 'chwyn, (ueeds)!

The meaning of the whole unwieldy name, hv the way, is: 'St. Mary's Church (Llanfair) of the pool of the white hazel (pwll gwyn-gyll) near the fierce whirlpool (goger $y$ chwyrn drobwll)-St. Tysilio's Church (Llantysilio) of the red cave (gogogoth).-Yours faithfully.

A Precedent for the Recognition of Durham

Dear Sir.-May I suggest that the controversy over the extension of Durham Surprise Minor be resolved by the addition of the following sentence to the Report:

If it can be established that a method on a high number of bells contracts to a certain lowest stage, then the higher stages shall be regarded as extensions of the lowest stage, even though they may contain one type of subsection which is missing from the lowest stage.:

This would recognise that the contraction process is the identical reverse of extension, which is surely selfervident, and would give approval to the extensions of Durham Surprise Minor. which have been rung, to quote one case in particular. It would also confirm the exactness of the extensions of Bristol Surprise which were rung by the Leicester Guild some years ago. These extensions of Bristol were recognised by the Council, so there is a clearly established precedent ; the extensions of Bristol also contain a type of sub-section which is absent from the lowest stage.

It is quite easy to establish that one stage of a method is a contraction of higher stages. All that is necessary is a bit of arithmetic on the various blue lines, to discover whether the features of the mothod become less frequent in an arithmetical progression as the decreasing number of bells gradually limits the scope of the method. (In the case of Bristol not only does this happen but the pivot bells alter in an arithmetical progression is well.)

A study of the contraction of Durham Surprise Maximus through the Royal and Major down to the Minor shows that the Minor does belong to the family. Even though the Minor fails to contain a complete subsection of backward hunting in 1-2-3-4, backward hunting is not entirely absent, for it appears in the first part of the sub-section with the treble in 5-6.-Yours faithfully

East Harling

Near, Sir,-May I, through 'The Ringing World,' convey my thanks to Dr. Paul Jonason for giving us the history of SS. Peter and Paul's, East Harling (pages 174-5). I well remember the day the first peal was rung, as I was the spare man. It was a cold and miserable day and much to my disappointment I had to listen.
I knew all the band personally-T. Fitzjohn and C. Carter from Thetford: S. Annison and F. Burrows (Kenninghall); W. Duncan and A Newson (West Harling). T. Fitzjohn, captain of St. Peter's, Thetford. taught me to handle a bell in early 1910

This history has recalled the names of men and places, who and where I used to ring. They were happy days, even if the only transport was a bicycle. The alternative was to walk.-Yours, etc., F. A. SALTER.

Bell Identity Wanted

Dear Sir.-Can any reader tell me who was the founder and anything relevant about the casting of a small bell (approx. $\frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). with the inseription J. B., 1871, and the head and tail of two coins, about the size of a sixpence, let into the surface. The bell was last used as a calling bell, high on the roof of a mansion near Reading. about 10 years ago. - Yours faithfully

No Ringing Bells at Madras

Dear Sir,-As I always have a copy of Dove's' with me on my travels, it was with interest that I noticed a ring of bells at Madras, when looking through the pages upon learning of this ship's intended visit here.
As the dedication of this particular church is not given in 'Dove's' I set out in a taxi to visit the most likely looking churches in turn. The first stop was at St. Thomas' R.C. Cathedral, and upon ascending the fine looking tower in the presence of the verger, I found it possessed two bells ( 8 and 10 cwt .) and a ting-tang.
Instructing the taxi driver to taka me to another English church we set off again, expecting a large robust-looking tower like the first. and it wasn't with the highest hopes that I entered St. George's Anglican Cathedral. But this proved to be the church I was seeking. by the eight ropes in an Ellacombe chiming frame in the bottom of the tower. Ascent of the tower is gained by, firstly, an internal wooden staircase and then by an outside ladder to the louvres, which swing open. There are no other fittings on the bells, other than headstocks and bearings. The bellis hang in four pairs between beams-Nos. 1 and 4 hang above Nos. 5 and 8 in an east-west direction. All the bells were cast by Mears and Stainbank, in 1871; the tenor measures 47 inches diameter and sounds to be in $E$ flat. None of the bells possess clappers.

Later that day I was assured by an English Vicar. who lives in the Cathedral grounds, that this was the only church in Madras to possess eight bells: he was in charge of the only other Anglican church in the city and that only boasted of one bell.
So it Jooks as though Mr. Dove's list of overseas 'rings' of bells is now one less.Yours sincercly,

> P. & O.M.V.' Cannanore,

Ringers' Exhibition at Brighton

Dear Sir,-Early this summer I hope to hold an exhibition of illustrated material connected with ringing. My collection is a small one and I should welcome gifts or loans of humorous or satirical cartoons, caricatures advertising posters, or handbills: written jokes would also be acceptable.
Since it will take some time to prepare this display I do not think the material could bc returned before the autumn, though, where especially valuable items are concerned, I would be prepared to photocopy them, and return originals as soon as possible.
Thene must be a great deal of humour expended both for and against the Exercise. and with your help I should like to present some of it to a wider public.-Yours. etc...

Grandsire Doubles

Dear Sir,-In the past few weeks the Luppitt ringers have been ringing Grandsire Doubles using an alteration of hunts as given by Trollope in 'Grandsire.' page 19. While doing some paperwork, in preparation for the quarter peal on March 3rd, a curious fact came to light. With each bell taking the whole hunt there are two half-hunt (observation) bells. They are as fallows

Half-hunts
3 or 5
1 or 5
5 or 2
2 or 3
4 or 1
Could someone please explain why the 5 th seems to be taking the place of the 4 th in the second column?-Yours faithfully, Luppitt.

STAY BREAKING - SOME NEW PROBLEMS

Dear Sir--I think others will agree that the most common immediate cause of a bell going over is some ham-handed youngster missing the sally. (Competent ringers sometimes miss too, but as experjence brings economy of effort, the result is not so spectacular.) It would be a help to those of us who instruct if Mr. Page could use his wonderful formula to translate into comprehensible terms, such as the lifting of a weight, the effort needed to ring a bell exactly on balance-a bell on ball bearings that goes reasonably well, perhaps, for weights of 1,5 and 25 cwt .
If the stay is of average strength and resilience whether or not it breaks would seem to depend mainly on the extra pull above that needed to bring the bell to balance. It would he interesting to know the ratio of pull to the overpull which just breaks the stay for various weights, as well as sample figures, since the same amount of overpull has more effect 0.1 light bells.

Children, who can manage only these light bells, are taught more frequently nowadays, for if one waits for strength to develop they are either working for exams or have found other interests. A grown man has a pulling-length of a good 4 feet, an 11-year-old, reaching up, might manage 3 feet, so to ring the same bell the junior has to pack more work into each inch of his pull. He cannot always pack enough if the wheel is small and the sally stroke short. and so tends to pull the backstroke too hard in compensation.
That the strength of muscle increases as the square of the length probably comes in somewhere here, also that no one can pull a bell harder than the force necessary to lift his own weight oft the ground. Some formula, including these factors and connecting the weight of the ringer with that of his bell, will show, I think, that a youngster is using a much higher proportion of his total strength (apart from wasted effort, due to lack of skill). Anyone who remembers cracking Christmas almonds and Barcelonas will know that greater effort brings less accuracy of control.
In theory these awkward youngsters should never be given the opportunity to break a stay. In practice how are they to know they will be clumsy and slow to learn till they try? Some make the grade eventually, and there nay be good reasons why others should be encouraged to feel they belong to the church through the responsibilities of service ringing, though they may never get beyond covering. Tu say that bad teaching is the only reason fo- broken stays shows a limited appreciation of the problem.
If one has to pay a carpenter to make a new Hastings stay, following the card provided and the broken one for measurements, replacement costs about 15s. After this has happened several times the stay tends to shrink in width iill it rattes. or grow till it won't fit in the box. or in length, so that the dingle runs over the stop. or binds on top of the slider. Thee dingle nut may even unwind and drop off, followed by the dingle, during ringing. One gets on quite well without the top bolt, since the hole is always in the wrong place if muking it while filting cannot he arranged. its only use seems to be to provide a weak place for the stay to break next time. On top of ail that, if. on rehanging, one wants to avoid these trouhlesome and unsuitable objects (at least for a light ring, on which learners must be taught), one has to pay extra! If one could select and discard learners freely (and how many of us would have been discarded at the outset?) stays need never be bumped. As things stand a simple, economical and timesaving design is the one needed.-Yours faithfully,

EUNICE D. OVEREND.
Frome.

Stays in Two Portions

Dear Sir.-Your readers may be interested in a simple device for the replacement of stays subjected to misuse.
Make the stay in two portions, with a 15 -inch bridle joint, the fork part starting about four inches above the headstock, and fastened together with a half-inch loose fitting bolt to act as a hinge. Three inches from the top bore through and drive in a ${ }_{3}^{3}$-inch diameter beech dowel rod.

On receiving a heavy blow the rod will shear, allowing the stay to collapse, then the rope can be rethreaded and a new dowel driven in, knocking out the broken parts. If the holes are bushed with steel tubes a cleaner bteak will result.

Some experiment may be necessary, according to the weight of the bell, but a satisfactory size of dowel will be found to be surprisingly small.-Yours faithfully,

Brighton.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Rev. Murray Macleod, Vicar of Christ Church, Southgate, extended a warm welcome to a large number of members and friends of the North and East Distriot to his church on March 9th, and during the course of his address suggested belliringers could be likened to the television stars who advertised various products on the little screen at home, in that they were advertising agents of the Church in calling people to worship, Sunday by Sunday.
This beautiful church, which recently celebrated its centenary, has had a major overhaul of its ten bells carried out by the Whitechapel Foundry, and now has a ring of which it can be justly proud.

Following tea in the Walker Hall, Mr. H. G. Hant, who took the chair at the business meeting, extended a welcome to Mr. John Jelley, of Leicester. Two new ringing members were elected, Miss Helen Davey, of the local band, and Miss Valerie Ware, of Willesden, whilst the provisional elections of Mr. Jeremy Salter, of Brixton, and Mr. L. Fox, of Leyton, as non-resident life members, were confirmed. Miss Enid Town, of St. Augustine's, Kilburn, was transferred to non-resident life membership, as she is shortly leaving the district.
The chairman thanked the Vicar for conducting the service, the Rev. Arthur Wiggins, the organist, and Mr. S. G. Peck, who read the lesson. The ladies who were responsible for the catering arrangements were also thanked. together with M.r. Peck for attending to ali local arrangements.

EAST RIDING  H

Ringers from Beverley, Cottingham, Hull University, Holy Trinity, Hill, Kirk Ella, Sutton and Walkington spent a pleasant day on March 16 th ringing on some of the finest hells in their area. John Pilkington, of Church Kirk. Lancs, and Tercy Hargraaves, of Curdridge, Hants, also joined the party.
We arrived at Selby Abbey, at $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and were joined by some of the local ringers for some good ringing on the fine bells. On descending the tower we enjoyed listening to the locill band ringing for a wedding and would like to compliment, in particular, the many young ringers of the Abbey on their excellent striking.
Ringing across lunchtime took place at Holy Trinity, Hull. where we rang a variety of methods, including a course of Stedman Caters. A late lunch was then enjoyed in the nearby 16 th century Olde White Harte Inn.
The highlight of the afternoon ringing on the fine octave at Hedon was a well struck course of Yorkshire Surprise Major. Afternoon tea was then enjoyed in a cafe at Beverley, before the long ascent to the Minster ringing chamber. Ringing here ranged from well struck rounds to Stedman Caters and Little Bob Royal.

At St. Mary's, Beverley, the last tower of the day, we did not really do justice to this majestic ring. However, good courses of Yorkshire Surprise Major and Grandsire Caters were sung. The ringing throughout the day on these heavy rings was on the whole very commendable, especially in view of the large proportion of youthful ringers present. We should particularly like to compliment the younger members of the Walkington team on the excellent way in which they handled the hells and on the rapid progress and cnthusiasm of this band generaily.
Thanks are due to the incumbents and local ringers for allowing us the use of their bells and to David Johnson for making the necessary arrangements.

THE SPLICING OF ALLIANCE MINOR METHODS

By H. CHANT

I hope to deal with certain aspects of splicing not touched upon in the recent C.C. Collection (which does not, after all, profess to be a handbook on this subject) and so place at the disposal of Minor ringers many interesting extents which should be within the scope of quite a few bands. It is impossible, without going to inordinate lengths. to cover all aspects of splicing these methods, nor is it possible to give complete 720's in all cases for the same reason. I hope, however, that the explanations given and information supplied will enable many ringers to compile their own extents.

1. ORDINARY ALLIANCE METHODS

Study the two leads given below.
Cromer. A2. Reverse Bob. P. la.

Here the four middle changes are removed bodily from Cromer leaving a lead of Reverse Bob. The rows removed are transplanted between two half-leads of Crayford Little Court which are taken from different parts of the same course. If the remainder of this course is altered so that the complete course is now Reverse Bob then four extra leads of Cromer will have to be turned into Reverse Bob. This will give us ten leads of Reverse Bob where we originally had five Ieads of Cromer and five of Crayford. The transposition required to achieve this metamorphosis is 23654 as can be seen from the figures.
Perbaps the following will make this clear. Course of Course of Five leads of Cromer Crayford Reverse changed to five lead

In the early stages at least, it is wise to write out both lead-head and lead-end; 1 always do this when splicing. Note that the five leads of Cromer are taken from five different courses. Any of the leads of Reverse may be changed to Canterbury so long as its partner (at the opposite end of the double-ended arrow) is also changed to Canterbury. The second-place variations of the Alliance and Reverse methods are available with the same transposition.

It is worth noting that if one complete course of a 6th place method is substituted for another. as in Crayford and Reverse, the initial leadheads and final lead-ends will be identical. This is true of 2nd place methods also, although these will be different from the 6th place method, e.g.: 6th place 2nd place methods methods

Initial lead-head
Final lead-end

It is owing to this factor that if it is required to have the full complement of 2nd and 6th place variations of both Alliance and Plain methods in the extent, it will have to be arranged in most cases to have the 2nd and 6th variations of the Alliance and Little methods before altering operations are begun.
For example. extent No. 335 (p. 129 in the C.C. Collection) is suitable for Groups (1), (2) and (3) in Table 1, although Groups (1) and (3) could be managed with only one type of Little. Extent No. 325 (p. 128) is suitable for Group (4), and extent No. 321 (p. 127) for Groups (5) and (6).

Peals of 6,000 and odd changes are not taken so much notice of in these days as once was the case, but it is noteworthy that we recard this week the longest length of Stedman Cinques yet rung on handbells. This was a 6.063 rung by the Middlesex Association last Saturday.
Another peal of more than passing interest is the 7.325 Grandsire Cinques rung at Painswick on Monday. It is the longest length oin the bells since 1858. Painswick has been the scene of many noteworthy performances, and it was there that the record length of Treble Twelve was rung, and which stood for many years until beaten in 1911 at Ashton-under-Lyne.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION CHESTERFIELD DISTRICT

Although the monsoon season seemed to have stanted this did not deter members from attending the District meeting, held at Creswell on March 9th. On the contrary the attendance of over 45, representing some 15 towers, was the best for some years for a meeting arranged solely for the Chesterfield District!
In spite of an unfortunate incident, when over a dozen ringers were accidentally teft out in the pouring rain, the stanciard of ringng during the day was well above average and even included Bristol and London.
At the business meeting, which followed an excellent tea, Miss Verena Simpson, of Staveley, was elected a member, and the details of the proposed District outing to the A.G.M. at Derby on April 20th were approved. After discussion it was decided to arganise a striking competition for the District and to include rounds and call change ringing bands in the teams.
These new ventures are designed to stimulate interest in the District. and it is hoped that they will be supported to the full. The details will be circulated to all the towers in the District as soon as they are available.

A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar, the Rev. D. R. S. Jephson, and to the local ringers and their wives for preparing such an excellent tea was proposed by Mr. D. Cooper, and further singing concluded a very successful meeting.

Next meeting: Staveley on Easter Monday, joint with the Sheffield and District Society.

Abingdon School has a very keen band of ringers. who ring for all the school services held in the town Church of St. Helen. For the 400th anniversary of the school's refoundation in 1563. by John Roysse, a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung. The School Society hope that this is just ine prelude to more meritorious performances.

MR. EIERBFRT HOARE

With the recent passing of Mr. Herbert Hoare, at the age of 72 , Woodstone, Hunts, lost a lifelong churchman, choirman and bell ringer. Herbert had been verger at Woodstone fo: 26 years, following both his father and grandmother in this position. He had also been tower captain for 25 years.
Over the years, Herbert taught many learners how to handle a bell and the art of change ringing-including two now famous lady ringers, Mrs. Rupert Richardson and the late Mrs. Phyllis Poole

In the evening, after the funeral, an in memoriam' quarter peal of 1,260 Plain Bob Doubles was rung with the bells half-muffled

MR. E. STITCK  APPRRECIATIONS

It was a great shock to me to learn of che sudden death of Mr. Ernest Stitch. We had been ringing friends for so many years, and while he was attached to Aberavon tower he was a great help to all the ringers. He was captain there for several years. We did quite a lot of ringing together, and he helped to fix up many of my peals in the days when I was available. We missed him very much when he left us to live at Wolverhampton.

I extend my sympathy to his wife and his relatives.
A. J. P.

It was a shock to all ringers at St. Bartholomew's, Penn, to learn of the passing of an old friend and colleague, Mr. Ernest Stitch.

Ernest was a great help, especially in the training of young reoruits, and a fine example to all who knew him for his untiring devotion in Sunday service ringing and regular worship in our church.

When he Jeft Penn to go to his old surroundings it was difficult for all to say goodbye. especially Ernest, who himself said he was going to miss the happy comradeship he had enjoyed.

OBITUARY

Before the half-muffled quarter on Sunday. March 18th, our captain and conductor called us all to prayer, and concluded with the words, 'May God give his soul eternal rest.'
C. F. W.E.

MR. FRANK OAKSHOTT

There was a very representative gathering at the funeral of Frank Oakshott at Christ Church, Epsom, on March 21st. Ringers from all parts of the diocese and county came to pay their last respects to an old friend, whose happy smile, walking stick and limp will be greatly missed, not ondy in Surrey but all over the country, for he did not let his disability prevent his enjoying his ringing or any other of his many interests.
Before the service a mixed band from St. Martin's. Epsom, Ewell, and Christ Church, Epsom. the three towers from the borough in which he spent all his life, rang 336 Grandsire Triples, conducted by Mr. C. W. Munday, of Ewell. The Guildford Guild, of which Leatherhead Branch he was District Master, was represented by the General Master, Mr D. A. R. May, and Mr. C. W. Munday (District secretary). The Surrey Association was represented by the Nonthern District Master, Mr. F. E. Collins, and the secretary, Mr . W. Parrott, and the local ringers by three of his pupils. Messrs. D. Herschell, R. Fentiman and J. Munton. Other organisations represented were the Masons, Epsom Bowling Club and the Post Office, of which he was superintendent postman until his retirement a few years ago.
Interment in the family grave in Epsom Cemetery followed the servioe.
Quarter peals in his memory at the three churches in the borough were planned for that evening, and a pead attempt at Christ Church for the following Saturday morning.

MR. W. C. RHODES

A few hours after practice with the Coleshill ringers, 'Bill' Rhodes passed away in the early morning of March 6th.
For many years he had been a member of the St. Martin's Guild, and well known in the Birmingham area. His interest led him to many towers in many districts, and he was as happy when ringing with a band of learners as when joining in with the more advanced.
During 20 years as one of a small nucleus of the Coleshill Ringers' Guild, he had seen many dozens join, learn and pass to other areas. As the need arose he acted as captain secretary and steeple-keeper; and at the age of 62 was looking to a retirement from his employment which would enable him to participate even more fully in ringing aotivities. He will indeed be missed.
The following quarter peals were rung halfmuffled at Coleshill, in memoriam: On March 14th, 1.260 Plain Bob Triples: A. G. Ensor 1, Miss D. Trimm 2, E. H. Fill 3, L. L. Will is 4 , D. L. M. Hooper $5, \mathrm{~K}$. Lane 6 , G. H. Lane (cond.) 7, H .Walker 8. First in method for $1,2,3,4,5$ and 8 . Also on March 15, 1,280 Plain Bob Major: Miss R. Morgan 1, Miss D. Trimm 2, Miss A. C. Richards 3, G. H. Lane 4, M. Edwards 5, R. C. Ingram 6, K. Richards 7, D. R. Ingram (cond.) 8. First of Major for $1,2,3$ and 5. The latter was also in memoriam Mr. A Willis, chorister and server. D. L. M. H.

BALDUCK, HERTS.-On March 17th, 1,260 Plain Bob Triples: A. Buck 1, C. Dear 2, 3. I. Dear 3, P. Salisbury 4, M. Hopkins 5, D. Sutcliffo 6, E Buck (cond.) 7, J. S. Dear 8. Also on March 18th 1,260 Stedman Triples: C. Harwood 1, D. Salisbury 2, D. Sutcliffe 3, L. Scoot 4, R. Cartledine S, E, Buck 6, J. S. Dear (cond.) 7, P. Flack 8. Both rung half-muffled in memory of Canon L. P. Smith former Rector. who died on March 14th.

His many ringing associates will be delighted to learn of the continued good progress back to full heakli of Mr. Henry Stalham. He has for two months been confined to his room, but has now returned to his much-loved St. Nicholas' belfry. He was present before his birthday peal attempt, and, sitting in the church, heard the homing courses of the peal rung to honour his 91st birthday.
Comments Prof. Dodge on 'Metal Strips for Stays;': 'Like the ones my granny used to wear.'
Miss Florence E. Wyman has a few vacancies for her Northern Ireland tour, starting on July 14th.
The Editor acknowledges the gift of $£ 1$ for Guildford Cathedral Bells Appeal from 'Just one of your friends.'
An all-ladies' peal had been planned for Moreton Corbet, Shropshire, on March 16 th, but in the end Mr. Harry Poyner was called in and, needless to say, called it successfully.
The seventh bell at Littleham, South Devon, which cracked last year has been recast and rehung and was rededicated on March 14th. Local ringers are hoping for a revival of interest now the octave is complete.
Congratulations to the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association on ringing their first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maxımus. It was not achieved at the first attempt ; in fact it had been one of the Association's ambitions during the past two or three years.
The Rev. Eric B. Wood, formerly curate at Leatherhend and a popular member of the Clerical Guild, has sung his first peal on the bells of his new parish, Mepledurham, Oxon. He rang the third to ten Minor methods on March 16th.
A correspondent, who has had a long association with Trysull, Staffs, where he rang four peals, questions the accuracy of the footnote of the peal rung there (see page 163). He writes: If Arthur Wharton died in 1949, I spent eight years ringing for Sunday services with a most amiable and substantial ghost.'

GOSSIP

Mr. Alan Carveth, the genial president of the Truro Guild, some time ago completed all the ringable towers in Cornwall, and now guards the cherished hope that he may one day score a peal on all the rings. Helston, however, seems to be strangely difficult to overcome. On March 9 th his fifth attempt failed there. With Parker's Twelve-Part chosen for safety it must have been rather mystifying to see from the tenor seven old hands det you down with only the last quarter to go. Attempt number six has been provisionally arranged for 'one evening in the summer.' May luck be with Alan!
We are asked to state that the handbell peal on page 164 was rung at Swithland, and not Rothley as printed.
A correspondent asks for a list of bell records or recordings. Could any reader oblige?
The peal at Hemingford Abbots on page 203 was Beverley Surprise Minor, and not Major as published. Regrets by all concerned.
Spalding (Lines) ringers visiting Sulfolk in search of peals on March 16 th would like to thank Mr. J. E. Allen for being 'trapped' jnto two peals in a day, Mr. and Mrs. L. Brett for the arrangements and tea, and commiseate with Mr. R. C. Noon, who missed the jaunt through illness.
The Rev. H. Oxley, chairman of the Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. has left to go to Lerwick, Shet tand Islands. His successor, elected on March 16th. is the Rev. Peter Wilkins, Vicar of Cassington. Owing to his duties as churchwarden preventing him from fully participating in the service ringing at Farnham Parish Church (he misses the last quarter of an hour), Mr. C. W. Denyer has resigned the captaincy of Farntiam (Surrey) tower. His successor is Mr. Richard North, with Mr. Dudley Elsmore as vice-captain. There is a new secretary in Miss Ann Sweeney, fornecrly of Southampton, who is a child welfare officer ot Aldershot.

LADIES' GUILD  Eastern District

There was an extremely good attendance at the annual meeting of the Eastern District ent Thetford on March 16 th, when $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hour's ringing preceded the service in St. Poter's Church.
Tea, in the British Legion Hall, was followed by the business meeting, with a rather lennehy agendth. The retiring offiecers were re-elected, and the arrangements for the Guild annual meeting discussed.
After the meeting the majarity of those present went to Euston, where ringing continued until 9 p.m. Our thanks go to the Rev. H. R. Mumford, of Thetford, Mr. M. Fuller and Mrs. Ivings, for their help in making the meeting so successful.
A. E. J. L.

The ammal meeting of the Western District was held at Winford on March 9th, when the following officers were elected: Vhee-president, Mrs. R. Smith; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. H, M. Kingcott. Two new members from Wrington were also elected.

The service in the afternoon was conducted by the Rev. W. J. Penny, who gave an interesting talk on bells and thoir uses..... Ms York and his lady helpers provided an excellent tea and afterwards the vice-presidont thanked everyone for thelr co-operation. J.K.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Marlborough Branch

The Marlborough Branch met at Mildenhall on March 16th for its first monthly meating of 1963 . Due to the recent severe weather and the consequent difficulty in travelling in this somewhat scattered area, both the January meeting at Ramsbury, and the Fobruary one at Collingbourne Kingston had been cancelled.
A fairly good number gathered at Mildenhail, and welcome visitors were the Rev. $\Lambda$. Phillips and Mrs. Phillips, of Manningford Bruce, and representatives from the Whitechapol Bell Foundry. This light and easy going ring of six was raised in pcal and kept goins in methods and rounds until 4.30 p.m. when the Guild service was held, conducted hy the Rector of Mildenhatl (Rev. E. G Courtmin). Mr. Alan Keen, of Aldbourne, was the organist. Tea was afterwards enjoyed in the Garden Room.
At the business meeting Mr, G. Newman presided, supparted by Mr. T. A. Palmer (hon. secretary), and all present stood in silence in memory of two members who had died in the interval, Mr. W. Farmer, of Chistedon (former Branch secretary), and Mr. A. Hedges, of Ramsbury.

A statement of accounts, presented by Mr . Palmer, showed a loss on the year's workint of just over $£ 1$. due to unforeseen expenses at a monthly mecting. There was, however, at healthy credit. halance at the bank. The accounts were adopted.
Suggeations as to the venues for the next three meetinge resulted in Ramshury, Chisledon and Collingbourne Kingiton heing selected subject to permission.
Acknowledging a vote of thanks, moved by the chairman. the Rev. E. G. Courtman said that he thought it was the parishes themselves, with a ring of bells but no regular Sunday service band, who ought to thank the Guild for coming, as the sound of the bells was widely appreciated.

Ringing was nesumed in methods ranging through Grandsire Doubles. Bob Doubles. Stedman and lBoh Minor, with rounds for the learners.

JUNK

IRECENTLY acquired a load of junk. How and where I got it doesn't really matter, but there was enough of it to fill the back seat of the car, almost obliterating the rear window, whilst some overspilled on to the floor. I called at the local grocer's shop and begged a couple of large cardboard boxes with a combined capacity of about a dozen cubic feet. When I arrived home I persuaded the junk to go inside the boxes and the boxes to go inside the house. Quite an operation.

For several days the boxes stood in the hall, one on top of the other, looking a trifle unsteady; they bulged at the sides, particularly the bottom one. When I found that I had a couple of hours to spare I decided to sort out the contents. I underestimated. It took several sessions of two hours. I remembered by instructions:
'You have more right to them than anyone else; keep what you want and burn the rest.'

There were church magazines, brochures and pamphlets from all the churches north of a line from Bristol to the Wash (and a few south of that line) at which various people had called to ring. There were dozens of old Association reports going back to the year 'dot.' Many of these were duplicated and bore signatures of different ringers. Among the books there was a 'Thackrah's,' almost falling to pieces, and a 'Troyte's' in slightly more respectable condition; Sottanstall's meaty tome, held together by string; the Rev. F. E. Robinson's 'Among the Bells,' in the pink of condition. Dorothy Sayers' 'Nine Tailors' was rubbing shoulders with a 1907 edition of the C.C. Collection of Minor Methods, with several editions of 'Standard Methods' in close attendance. A solitary bound edition of 'Church Bells,' 1881, with its name misspelt on the outside, occupied more room than was justified, by the information contained on the inside.

Other books there were of varying degrees of condition and interest.

Among the photographs I unearthed were some that I had forgotten but on which the most vacunus and inanclooking face peering out from a crowd of ringers was, much to my surprise, my own! Could that little brat with the clean white collar and long knee trousers and the cherubic-looking face, who was holding a couple of handbells, be me?

To describe in detail all the items of interest that I discovered would be a task of immense proportions, though I trow the reader would tire before the writer, so I will content myself with selecting one or two items of interest to myself and hope, though care not overmuch, that they will prove interesting to others.

There was a 'Ringing Book,' beautifully written in copperplate by a Wath-on-Dearne ringer named William Finch, and dated 1825. This was nine years after the long peal at that tower, and the book contained all the 21 methods included in that peal. Each method showed two or three leads and then the lead-ends and lead-heads required to produce the 720. A veritable treasure house!

The book also contained particulars of a prize ringing contest held at Silkstone in 1832, and some information concerning, apparently, one of William's illustrious ancestors, a 'Colonel Savile Finch . . . of Thribergh . . . son of the Hon. John Finch, second son of the Earl of Ailsford, by Elizabeth, his wife . . . heiress of Thribergh.' The book boasted a short poem, entitled 'A Comparison,' with a familiar ring, of which I quote the last verse:

I grieve not for the sweets that fade,
Since He in whom I trust,
Shall here protect with heavenly aid,
And rais me from the dust.'
Hidden away in a bundle of old papers I discovered a rule card of a 'West Riding Association,' a Society extinct now for over 85 years. Names of the officials caught my cye, having seen some of them inscribed on an earthenware jug recording a peal rung at Barnsley in 1879. The late J. R. Brearley, whose uncle was in the peal, once wrote to me when I was making some enquiries: 'I well remember George Tyas, a gaunt man, evidently a collier, who bent nearly down to the floor at every stroke-very tall and thin. "Bob" Sparks-short and fat, very red face-I believe he was a barman at a local pub.'

The 'Objects' of the Association fascinated me:-
(1) The promotion of Change Ringing in every known method.
(2) To give all Ringing Members an Annual Excursion free of cost.
(3) To admit such Members free to the Annual Dinner to be held in Christmas week.
No wonder the subscription was 2 s . 6d. per quarter!
And what can one say about the bulging, black-backed notcbook of A.G.? I suppose it is typical of hundreds that have been compiled up and down the country over the years. most of which have disappeared, although occasionally odd ones turn up here and there. Each one represents the condensed ringing experience of a lifetime. All the peals are there; in this case 198 of them, together with compositions, news cuttings, photographs and odd snippets of information. And comments.

BACK FROM ANTARCTICA

A great welcome has been accorded Dr. Christopher Brown, the Wareham and Bristol University Society ringer, upon his return from the Antarctic.
While there he had an alarming experience of falling more than 50 feet into a crevasse, and breaking a rib and sprabing his left ankle. With other sciestiots and technologists, he arrived at Southampton in the Danish ship, Kesta Dan. A picture of his welconic by his two daughters. Frances and Clare. appeared in 'The Daily Telegraph.'
Dr. Brown is also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, Mr. Donald G. Clift and Mr. Wilfred williams being responsible for his election.

GRANDSIRE DOUBLES

Une of our younger ringers, Mr. N. R. Webber. of the Lord Weymouth School. Warminster, has been experimenting with Grandsire Doubles und points out that 240 's with the 120 changes at hand- and at backstroke can be obtained by calling akernate bobs and singles at every thind lead. While this is not original and does not, we think. come within the definition of 240's acceptable by the Central Council for peals, some of our readers may find it useful for practice.

We would say, however, that a 240 can always be obtained by starting one of the standard ten 120 's. then ringing anothor one and then completing the first one. As these arrangements and the recognised 240 's by Morris and Pitman are all round blocks. they can be varied by starting the calling at any position. There is therefore a large number o: 240 's already available and we think that our young enthusiasts would find it more rewarding to experiment on the lines referred to in the leller from Mr. Sige (page 212varying the hun(s) which. hy coincidence. appeared in the same week.

FORTY YEARS' RINGING AT HASLEMERE

$\mathrm{M}^{\mathrm{R}}$R. F. BOWDEN has completed 40 years as a Sunday service ringer in his native town. Haslemere, Surrey. He was taught to ring on the old cight at Haslemere hy Mr. Riohard Hayes.

The bells were recast and, at the opening ceremony in October, 1923, by the Rector (the Rev. W. Wragge), Mr. Bowden took part in the first touch. He was in another opening touch on November 16th, 1927. when the ring was augmented to 10 . A peal he takes a just pride in was that of Grandsire Cators on Haslemere bells on January 28th. 1928. conducted by Mr. H. Langdon. This was the first peal of Caters for the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

COPENHAGEN BELLS

Those who have visited Copenhagen on holiday, and been privileged to worship in St. Alban's C. of E. Church. along the Esplanade, may have heard fis tells. When heard last summer they were not being 'change rung,' but a hymn was being ptayed, calling the people to worship.
Most of the Copenhagen churches appar to have one or more bells, but all-wherc multiple-were "jangled, by British standards, or tune rung.

One church, where we were able to actually see the bells, was the Church of Our Saviou: -the largest church of 'old Copenhagen. The Reformation appears to have given purticular impetus to church building in Denmark-judging by its capital. This particular church was consecrated in 1696. Above the clock (1699) hang two historje bells and three large 'peeling' bells, tuned in the Te Deum-motif: cee flat-f. Seven big and 33 small bells in the lantern make up the carillon, which was erected 1717-34, at the request of the then organist. This number was later jncreased. and now totals 47 bells. The 'tenor' is dated 1931-and appears to be perhaps 30-35 cwt.

Copenhagen proved to be a happy holiday centre, but one which would not satisfy from the change ringing aspect-but, then, outside the United Kingdom, few places can!
N. D.

Mr. Bowden has another 40th anniversaryof being a continuous subscriber to "The Ringing World.' In that long neriod there was only one copy he missed-May 7th. 1926. the week of the General Strike. He has been captain at Haslemere since 1445. When Major John H. B. Hesse left for Wrington.

Mrs. Bowden has been ringing at Haskmere for 36 years. being taught to ring. by Major Hesse. Her marniage at Haslemere Parish Church was on February 2nd, 1929.

In the photograph we reproduce, Mr. and Mrs. Bowden are the first two on the Jeft of the seated ringers. It was tuken on one of their summer outings, and contains no fewer than 14 of the over 60 pupils they had taught to ring at Haslemere.

TWYFORD GOLDEN JUBILEE

The hells of St. Mary's. Twyford, Berks. were first rung on Easter Sunday, March 23 rd. 1913. To celebrate the jubilee. a peal board. recording the first peal on the bells by a local band, was dedicated on the afternoon of Sunday. March 24th, by the Vicar. the Rev. H. Hartley
A number of purishioners, local and visiting ringers attended. These included Misi M.R. Cross. secretary of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, whose home tower this is.
Touches of Grandsire Triples and a course of Bob Major were rung after the ceremony. H.S.

Letters to the Editor

Quedgley Surprise Royal
Dear Sir.-I am afraid the footnote to the pual of Quedgeley Surprise Royal rung at Loughborough Foundry on March 4th ('R.W, page 197), claiming it as the first peal of Roval in the method, cannot be allowed to Royal in the method, cannot be allowed to St. Michael's. Southampton, on September lit. 196 :: the peal was reported on page 618 of the 'R.W.' for that year.

I should also, as conductor of the first peal rung in the method, like to correct the spelling of the name. In the three peals in the method reported in the 'R.W. for March 22 nd, the names was spelt as 'Quedgley, omitting the scoond ' e .' Having several times myself misspelt the name when submitting reports of peals rung at Quedgeley, I had an awful feeling thai it may all have been my fault, but a thai it may all have been my fault, but a yuick look through back numbers of the 'R.W.' reassured me.
Incidentally, am I correct in believing that the peal of Folkestone Surprise Major rung at Edenham, Lincs, on February 18 th , was the first peal in the method, although not chimed as such? I have no record of any previous peal in the method, although I believe a Kent band was considering singing one at Folkevtone some ten or more years ago.-Yours sincerely,

CYRIL A. WRATTEN
Cheltenham
Dear Sir.-Mr. B. G. Warwick appoars to have made an error in the reparting of one or both the peals which he conducted at the Bell Foundry Campanile during the first week of March (reported in ©R.W, of $22 / 3 / 63$ ). The peals in question are: (i) 5,056 Quedgley $S$. Major rung on March 2nd, and (ii)
At first sight it would appear that it is merely a case of $\mathbb{M r}$. Warwick's 6 pelling being at fault again (shades of Llanfair P.G.), and that the method actually rung in both cases was the variation of Yorkshire which has the name QUEDGELEY. Secondly, had the above peal of Major been in a new method idled Quedgley, I feel sure Mr . Warwick's footnote undoubtedly would have claimed it as such. The only claim made, however, was one of "First in the method by all, on the bells and for the (Midland Counties) Guild.' To the above peal of Royal is added the footnote. The first peal of Royal in the metnote. 'The tirst peal of Royal in the method was in fact QUEDGELEY, then I fear that thes footnote is the one which is incorrect. since the first peal of Quedgeley S. Royal was rung on 'September 1st. 1962, at St. Michael's Church. Southampton, for the Winchester and Portimouth Diocesan Guild.
Frhaps Mr. Warwick can shed some light on the matter, if only by appending the place notation for an extension when he thinks he has rung for an extension when he thinks he has rung it for the first time, a minor variaton of "old faithful" though it may be. - Yours faithfully,
R. ROGER SAVORY.

Southampton.
Note.-We thank D. T. Matkin and D. J.
Forder who have also replied.-Ed.

Central Council Proceedings

Dear Sir,-Just in case the Central Council meeting is accused again this year of being a bunch of old pals on a tower grab, it may bc of interest to hear one ringer's views on the Whitsun scramble. Certainly committee members have very little chance to see much of the countryside, as a lot of the last-minute business is conducted on the Sunday and Monday. If this is fully thrashed out then, the fuli session on Tuesday shoutd. in theory, go through rapidly most of the controversial matters having been resolved.

Of course. this is rarely so and the president has his time cut out to keep the discussion to the point, and to move through the agenda in all too short a time. Reading the seport in 'The Ringing Warld,' one is left with the impression that, after allowing for condensation in reporting, the business could not possibly take more than three hours, with perhaps half-an-hour for official welcoming.
On the other hand, the representatives come away with the impression that some items could have had more discussion, but had been virtually guillotined for lack of time. How then are the six hours spent and is any of it wasted (apart from the decisions with which one personally disagrees)?
Representatives reading 'The Ringing Warld' repart notice that the opening speeches are considerably curtailed. This is so with nearly all routine spocehes elsewhere (except in Hansard). There is one item which is not published in full-losses by death during the year of past representatives, when their names are read out and all stand in silence as a mark of respect. Then follow tributes to their memory by friends and officers of their Associations and Guilds. This is all much as occurs at almost any Guild A.G.M. The only difference is that $j t$ is on a much iarger scale ; it fact, anything up to three-quarters of an hour of tributes, many of which have already been made in 'The Ringing World' during the year.
No one would wish to prevent such tributes being paid to old and respected friends, but is there some way round using so much limited business time without causing offence? Would perhaps publication of names and subsequent tributes in 'The Ringing World, suffice as they occur?

Every three years large numbers of newly elected members are sponsored by older representatives, who jntroduced their charges to the president. This Parliamentary procedure is completed surprisingly quickly, due to very efficient organisation. Are there any other items of business which could be sbreamlined without loss of dignity or opportunity for full discussion?-Yours, etc.,

Dear Sir, - Have a go' says 'A. Flat,' and no doubt Wilfrid Pickles would. be 'tickled to death' to read a few of the names that appear from time to time in "The Ringing World, as in some of the Directories, toonot only of ringers, but of places, such as Giggleswick, Stratton Strawless. Swineshead, Isle of Muck (oft Scotland). Merry Town, Tarts Barn. Willoughby Waterless, Appletree, Edith Weston, Pityme, Wallop and Nether Piddle, to quote a few that come to mind.
Then, in 1931. thede was a peal rung by eight ringers, all the names of a colour-Fred White, Willam Brown, Alhen Green, Roberi Rose and Nolan Golden.

I've both read and known of others. such as Edward Beir, Maurice Stout, Mansfield Ginn, Fred Larger, Bertram Waters; Agnes Duck, Michael Chicken. Maurice Hen. Albert Gooseman, Harold Peacock. Joshua Partridge, Frank Rahbit. Phyllis Hare (later Mrs. Poole), Frank Fox, Geoftrey Badger, Ronald Deer;

Frank Sparrow, Reginald Finch, Anthony Hawk. Philip Nightingate. Ron Dove, Joseph Linnet, Samuel Bunting, William Wren, Harry Crow, Ralph Bird, Cecil Swan;

Handbell Ringing-'A Good Advertisement

Dear Sir -The recent letters published giving details of handbell teams, mainly in one of the most interesting yet, I feel, sadly neglected branches of our art of ringing. This is certainly a pity as there is no doubt all that it is the only branch of ringing that is always appreciated.

Mention was made on page 156 of the tune ringing tean I run at Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar School. Like the team at Ecclesfield Grammar School we have been ringing for the last four years, during which time we have played 'in public' on some couple of dozen times-often in school (Christmas partics, school fairs, etc.) and also tocally (for such organisations as the National ETAO purties, school fairs, etc.), and also locally (for such organisations as the National Children's Homes. Inskip League, Rotary Club, etc.). The pleasure given to the various people especially thase in hospital, is something I don't think the girls themselves appreciate to the full.

Just as tower bell ringers reoeive help from neighbouring towers so we have received help from handbell ringers in the distriot. Your correspondent, Mr. Thomas Ogden, of Shaw, Oldham, has always been most helpful, especially in providing us with handbell music (anyone sequiting 12-bell music should definitely contact him). Similarly, Mr. Norman Wilkinson, of Oldham, has arranged various qunes, especially for our 17 bells. Visits have been made to hear the Hazel Grove handboll ringers, and on a number of occasions to hear the Moorside handbell ringers (and, jncidentally, we have even visited Loughborough Bell Foundry!). To all these people I would like to say a personal 'Thank you,' at the same time inviting any passing ringer to join in our practice at 4 p.m. most Tuesdays.
The reason for my writing in such detail is mainly to draw attention to a branch of ring ing which is good advertisement for ringers and ringing in general. and, after all, this is something that ought to be encouraged. Possibly we ringers in the teaching profession can help by forming tune ringing teamsand I can vouch that enthusiastic tower bell ringers can be found through this introduction to ringing.
I was most pleased to read of athor school bands-possibly we could have a 'get logether' sometime? If any other schools are interested then please contact me, and if there are enough interested I am quite willing to organise such an event.-Yours sincerely,

JOHN P. PARTINGTON.

In certain Alliance methods the four middle rows when removed will fit directly into a Little method to form a Plain one. The two halves of the Alliance method which are left will not join directly together; if, however, the middles are removed from a complete course of Alliance the ten parts left will form a complete course of Plain, e.g. :

It will be noted that although the original Alliance method is without a 2nds (or 6ths) place partner the rearranged parts are in all cases capable of two variations. If, therefore, hoth these are required, preparation must be made beforehand in order to obtain them.
Ringers can, of course, prepare their own arrangements if they wish, but it will be found that 720 No. 335 is suitable for Groups (1), (2) and (3), and 720 No. 325 for Groups (4) and (5).
The following procedure will serve as a guide

1. Place Alliance in the courses which bear their group letters.
2. Place the Plain method in place of the Alliance in the remaining courses.
N.B.-The Plain method will have the same Capital Group letter as the Alliance which it is replacing.
3. Make the alterations in the Little methods to allow for this substitution of Plain methods for Alliance.
4. Choose one of the courses of Alliance and change to Plain, making the necessary adjustments to the Little.

The iniddle course of Norwood All. is changed to Lytham, otherwise the 720 is the same as the 3 -part given above. ## SURREY ASSOCIATION

The first quarterly meeting of the year of the Southern District was held on March 16th, at Limpsfield and the Chart.
Ringing started with a happy touch to a bride and bridegroom as they left the church, to be followed by a varied programme, which included Cambridge Surprise Minor, until Evensang in the church. The tea was kindly provided free of charge by local ladies.
A sad note was struck by the secretary announcing the sudden death the previous day of Mr. Frank Oakshott, a loyal member of the Association. The company stood in silence as a tribute to his memary. The eleccion of four new members iwas the only other ilim of note. Ringing continued in both lowers until 9 p.m.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY ANNUAL  DINNER

'HE second annual dinner of the Liverpool University Society was held on March 2nd. In the morning, members of the Society attempted a peal of Bob Major at Oxton. Although this unfortunately came to grief, owing to the conductor missing out a course, two out of the three visitors' peals attempted were successful. In the afternoon, there was general ringing at four towers on the Wirral The standard of this ringing was surprisingly high, with methods ranging from London Major to Grandsire Doubles. A couple at St. Mary's, Birkenhead, were pleasantly surprised to hear the bells pealing out on the occasion of their wedding.
The dinner was held at the Prenton Hotel, Birkenhead. at 8 p.m.; 54 members and friends attending. After an excellent meal, the president (Mr. M. Pilgrim) having welcomed the visitors especially those from Birmingham, Bristol, Huli and Nottingham, proposed the loyal toast, followed by that of 'The Church.' The Rev. E. A. Owen, Vicar of St. Mary's, Birkenhead, replied to the latter saying that he was not accustomed to making entertaining speeches, but rather those which the congregation seemed to regard as a time to regain lost sleep. Ringing was the traditional art of calling people co church, and he hoped that this was in fact true for campanologists, and not as in China, where bells are used to drive away evil spirits. He concluded by saying that he hoped that the Society would carry on its service to the Church with pride.
After the toast of 'The Visitors' had been proposed, Mr. Philip Tocock proposed that of 'The Society.' He said that as he was a soldier he had been stationed in many parts of the country, and had thus seen the work that universities did in manning silent towers. He was glad to note that that Society did its share of this work. After relating stories of students' high spirits, he registered his surprise at their ability to think about two things at once; a talent, which he said could be quite useful whilst ringing. Assuring the Society that it was always weicome at Liverpool Patish Church, he hoped that it would go from strength to strength, and produce, one day, a conductor who did not miss out courses.
In reply Mr. Roger Shea thanked Mr. Tocock for his remarks and advice. He gave details of the Society's achievements and remarked on the keenness of the learners. He hoped members would make more major peal attempts, and also widen the circle of their frienos at the nnnual dinners and on the annual tours.
Handbells and good fellowship concluded the evening.
On Sunday, ringing took place at St. Nicholas', St. Francis Xavier's and Liverpool Cathedral, with the help of the local bands. The Society would like to thank the visitors for making this dinner such a success, and also the local ringers for the warm-hearted welcome that they gave to the visitors, both on Saturday and Sunday.
H.A.A. & C.K.C.

WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION
On March 2nd the Western Branch held a meeting at Kempsey, where the six fine bells were rung to methods up to London Surprise. The Vicar, in his address, told us that although often our homes, churches and bells were secondhand we must take care that our religion was not, and it was only by regularly taking past in the church serwices that our religion could be thoroughly first hand.
The tea and business meeting took place in the comfortable surroundings of the Vicarage. At the beginning of the meeting tribute was paid to the late Mr. Fred Hyde, and the company stood in silence. It was agreed that the next quarterly peal be associated with his memory. The gap which has been deft by his passing will be hard to fill, and it is a tribute to his efficiency as Branch seoretary to say that before his death he had competed arrangements for this meeting.
During the meeting, Bishop C. E. Stuart and Rev. C. J. Kay, Vicar of Welland, were elected clerical vice-presidents, and Mr. Arthur Jopp seoretary. The perennial question of General Fund versus Belfiry Repair Fund again reared its head and, despite impassioned support for the latter, a collection was made for the General Fund. (One muttered remark, overhead during the discussion, suggested that since the Belfry Repair Fund appeared to be in such a strong state, it should subsidise the straightening out of the apparently square wheels on Crowle bells to stop their slipping rope.)
On our return to the tower, ringing ranged from rounds to London, and even included a course of Worcester Surprise.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GULLD

Witney and Woodstock Branch

Despite a stormy afternoon, there was a warm welcome at Cassington for a good number of ringers who attended the annual meetof the Witney and Woodstock Branch on March 16th. The ringing was of a higher standard than usual.
The Master of the Guild (Canon C. Elliot Wigg), who conducted the service jointly with the Rev. Peter Wilkins, Vicar of Cassington, commented especially on the quality of the service touch. Mr. David Smith read the lesson, and the Vicar gave a short address.
Mrs. Wilkins and her helpers excelled themselves in the tea enjoyed by a company of 45. Canon Wigg was in the chair for the business meeting. The accounts, presented by Mr. Graham Orme, showed that funds had increased by over $£ 9$. A report on Branch activities from the honorary secretary stated that two pealls and 17 quarters had been sung in the Branch in 1962 . The only changes in the officers were the Rev. P. Wilkins as chairman and the Rev. H. P. Hudson as vice-chairman.
Mr. Alec Cantwell spoke about the proposed rehanging of Northmoor bells; about $\pm 800$ was needed, including a new frame. The Branch decided to give $£ 40$.
Evening ringing was at Cassington, Eynsham and Stanton Harcourt.

Ashford Parish Church-200th Anniversary

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$N Saturday, March 16th, history was remembered when a peal was rung by eight members of the Kent County Association to commemorate the 200 th anniversary of the first ring on the eight bells, and the first peal thereon.
The first definite mention of bells occurs in 1552, when - V great bells, ane lytell bell are recorded in the inventory of church goods of this year. These may well have been given by Sir John Fogge, who rebuilt much of the church and raised the great central tower to its present height of 120 feet at the end of the 15 th century; the latter was destined to become one of the most famous landmarks of the locality.
In 1620 at least three bells were recast by Joseph Hatch, who added a new treble to make six; it is more than likely, however, that the old bells were exchanged for a new ring of six, although the third bell of this ring was recast by Joseph in 1633, and the second by his nephew. William Hatch, in 1651 The inscriptions on these six were recorded as:
Treble.-IOSEPHVS HATCH ME FECIT 1620.

Second-WILLIAM HATOH MADE ME O 1651 .
Third-IOSEPHVS HATCH ME FECIT O 1633 W.H.
Fourth,-IOSPEHVS HATCH ME FECIT O 1620 .

Fifth. $\rightarrow$ PETRVS PARRIS CW IOSEPHVS HATCH ME FECIT O 1620.
Tenor, IOHN ASHERST CW IOSEPHVS HATCH ME FECIT 1962.
For the dimensions of the other bells the tenor was probably about 19 cwt ., somewhat lighter than the present temor.

In 1762 two new trebles were cast by Lester and Pack, and the augmented ring was rehung in a massive wooden frame of the traditional $2-4-2$ design, with $3,4,7,8$ hung in the middle row. A board in the inging chamber depicts that the "First ringing of the eight bells was on Monday, 14th March 1763.' and the first peal on the bells was rung oil the following day by a band from Leeds (Kent) ; this was 5,184 Oxford Treble Bob Major in 3 hours 23 minutes, conducted by the famous James Buarham. The first peal by the local company was in 1765 . and the present peal boards record performances in varjety of methods during the next few decades: thene were even one or two remarkable peals of over 6,000 changes
In 1795, the tenor bell sustained some injury: it was taken to Whitechapel, where it was recast by Thomas Mears 1, and came back in 1796. weighing about $24 \mathrm{cwt}$. ; possibly the previous bell was a little thin and weak compared with the rest of the ring.
Ln 1878 it was noted in the vestry minute book that the 6th bell was cracked in the crown, but nothing seems to have been done to rectify this for 20 years.
In 1885 the old chimes, which had been originally made by a local craftsman and had made Ashford famous, were completely restored by Giallett and Co., who also placed a new clock and striking mechanism in the tower. The new chimes necessitated the addition of two extra semi-tone bells, and these are fastened 'dead' to a beam above the main ring.

In 1898 the bells were thoroughly overhauled and rehung with new fittings throughout by Taylors, who recast the sixth bell, which was quite useless by now. The old bell weighed 12 cwt .2 qr. 3 mb , while the new bell weighs 11 cwt .3 qr. 23 lb ., and is tuned on the Simpson 5-tone principle.

Finally, in 1924, the cannons were removed from the bells. which were hung with new (wooden) headstocks, clappers and ball bearings by Gillett and Johnston, who estimated the fenor as weifhing 23 cm . in E flat.

THE TENOR BELL OF $17 \%$.

The bells at present are generally regarded as a good 'old-style' ring, and they go very easily, although one or two are somewhat odd-struck. This is remarkable when one considers that the bells have never been tuned together as a ring, and that they are still hung in the original framework of 1763. The chimes were regularly heard until the Last decade, but they are now in need of a tharough overhaul; the clock, however, still gives good service, and is hand wound every day.

By kind permission of the Vicar (Canon Granville Sharpe) eight members of the Kent County Association were privileged to attempt a commemaration peal. At 4.30 p.m.. after the local press had taken pholographs, a start was made for 5.184 Oxford Treble Bob Major. This was stopped after a course of indifferent ringing. and Bob Major was substituted in an attempt to reconcile good striking with a method more familiar to the band. Accordingly a good peal was rung in the quick time of 2 hours 48 minutes.

A VISIT TO LANCASHIRE

On March 23 rd. one of the first fine days that Yorkshire has seen this year, five ringers from Leeds Parish Church and one from All Saints', Pontefract, had a tour of Lancashire.

At St. Mark's, Preston (a rough-going six) we found the rope of the third just protruding through the ceiling. Nothing could be done about this, and we were reduced to ringing five, and adding the thind with the Ellacombe chimes.
An excellent eight was sampled at Walton-le-Dale and at Leyland Parish Church we regretted the smallness of our numbers. When confronted with the majestic ten. and had to be content with the back six. Three of the local band joined us at St. James'. Moss Side.

The "go" did not match the tone of the bells at St. Michael's, Croston, but at Eccleston we felt we did justice to the bells. At Chonley and Adlington we were disappointed in not getting a ring, nevertheless. The day was enjoyable, and we thank Mr. C. Barrie Dove for or manising the cour.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

On March 16th the St. Albans District visited the Houses of Parliament to see Big Ben. Even we ringers found the steps a few over the eight, but the view from the belfry was tremendous. We knew tie (Ben is male isn't he?) had a crack, but it looked more as if mice had been at him.
On regaining terra firma, just after the hour we were conducted round the histori chambers where our destiny is decided. Our congratulations to our guide who had heen doing a grand job for exactly 43 years.
After ringing at two London thwers, there was singing, etc.. on the coach. the tunes coming from Harpenden, while most noise came from one particular member from Wheathampstead.

50 YEARS AGO

'R.W.' April 4th, 1913.-
At last four peals have been rung in a day by the same band, and the honour falls to the six-bell men of the Kent Association. They accomplished this performance on Easter Monday, when four separate 5,040 's were rung each in seven Minor methods.
This performance recalls an episode in Sussex about 14 years ago, when four ringers took part in five 5,000 's, which were completed in less than 31 hours.

CIRENCESTER GRAMMAR SCHOOL

On March 29th, the bells of Cirencester Parish Church were rung by members of the Grammar School's Ringing Society, before the annual Founder's Day service. Such an event has now become a well established part of the Society's activities.

The first time the bells were rung for the Founder's Day service was on the occasion of the school's quincentenary celebration, when a band was formed consisting of past and present ringers from the school. Now the school is able to form a band made up entinely of pupils from the school.

This year, to everybody's horror, a photographer from one of the local papers appeared in the tower, claiming that he had been sent by the headmaster. Despite protests, especially from one of the fair sex, who claimed that having been caught umawares she was not looking her best, a photograph was taken. The visitor then left to go and warry the choir. The remainder of the band, presum ably having been warned of the presence of the photographer. then arrived and the back eight hells were rung to Triples. M. D. D

OLD ALBANIAN SOCIETY

On March 23rd five past and five present members of St. Albans School spent an en joyable afternoon in Northern Hentfondshire Ronging up to Surprise Minor took place at four towers. this being the first outing of the Society.

At Hinxworth. a quaint church with lovels bebls, the rail to the ringers' gallery seemed to be better arranged to trip one up than for safety
Wallington will always be remembered as the place where one driver didn't notice the duck pond until too late. The Master had to tow him out.
J. D. C.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at St. Peter's, Arlesey, on March 9th There was singing during the afternoon before a short service, conducted by the Vicar. Kev E. Edgell. An excellent tea was provided in St Peter's Hall by lady church workers. and a short business meeting followed, with the Rev. E. Edgell in the chair.
Ringing continued after tea until 8.15 p.m and the standard of ringing was moderately good.
Next meering: Sikoe, April 20ih.

MRS. LEWIS COCKEY

The sympathy of many friends is extended to Mr. J. Lewis Cockey on the death of his wife. Mrs. Annie Gordon Cockey, which was very peaceful at Stratton Hospital, Swindon.
A native of Holmsdale, Sutherlandshire, Mrs. Cockey (nee Bruce) was a distant relative, on her mother's side. of the late President Grant, of the U.S.A. She met Mr. Cockey while serving as a student nurse in Sheffield, and served much of World War I in the Army Nursing Service. Her marriage was on July 22 nd, 1919, at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Inverness. the Bishop of Moray (the Rt. Rev. A. J McLean) being the officiating clergyman. The Second World War saw her again in service, this time as a warden at Ealing, where her nursing experience was of much value in a number of incidents.
Although not a ringer, Mrs. Cockey took a great interest in bells and loved to entertain people after peals and other functions. There was a walcome for everyone at her home at Dore, near Sheffield.
In 1955, when she was ailing somewhat, she had. a great desire to be with her daughter in Winnipeg. Mr. and Mrs. Cockey emigrated and intended to live there permanently. Unfontunately, after a time, she suffered a seizure and became so weak that it seemed better to return to England. Her Jast few happy years were spent at Smindon near relatives. A further seizure necessitated her removal to Stratton Hospital, where she was quite happy and normal except for great weakness.

APPRECIATION

His ringing friends will have seen with great regret the notice of the death of Mrs. Annie Gordon Cockey. wife of Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey. of Swindon, and formerly of Ealing and Dore. She will be remembered by us because of her interest in ringing and her kind hospitality on many occasions after ringing, and we would assure Mr. Cockey of our sympathy in his loss.

OBITUARY

MR. W. C. RHODES

AN APPRECLATION

Mr. Rhodes will be missed by many over a wide area. He assisted the ringers of Kingsbury from call changes to Surprise Minor attended most practice nights and apologised if he could not come. He was always ready to assist in a peal, ring for weddings. or go on outings. Indeed, we at Kingsiury have lost a very dear friend. G.H.L.

MR. WILLIAM SHARPE

Ringers in the Melton District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild heard with great regret of the death of Mr. William Sharpe. of Hose, on March 18th, after a long illness. He was born in 1877 and had been a ringer at St. Michael's, Hose, for 60 years, and for over 50 of these tower captain. He was the oldest member of the Framland Association: a member of the Midland Counties Association and the Leicester Guild.

Mr. Sharpe was the leading figure in getting Hose bells rehung in 1898, and again in 1928, when they were all recast. He conducted the only peal on the old five in May, 1927, in which his old friend, Mr. Ernest Morris, took part. A very good Ringing Master, he insisted on good striking and belfry discipline. But above all this, he was a great churchman, and had held many offices in the church, having been Vicar's warden for 25 years.

Many friends attended the funeral on March 21st, which was conducted by the Rev. A Willcock. Messrs. Edward Tinsley. R. Caunt sen.. R. Caunt jun., E. Caunt and J. W. Kirton represented the ringers. Wreaths were sent from the Framland Association and the Leicester Diocesan Guild.

In the evening, 1,260 Doubles (Ptain Bob and Grandsire) were rung half-muffled by R. Caunt 1, J. H. Cook (cond.) 2, E. Tinsley 3. H. Clayton 4, R. H. Cook 5.

ST. VEDAST'S CHURCH-ONLY TWO PEALS

The recent two peals at St. Vedast's, Foster Lane, London, are the first on the bells. "As far as gan be ascertained,' writes Dr. D. E. Sibson, 'the bells had not been rung this century up to when the church was damaged in the war. For many years there had been eight bells in the tower, although originally i! was a six-bell tower. Where the other two came from is apparently unknown, but they were put in in such a way as to make it impossible to ring the original six. Neither Canon K. W. H. Felstead nor Mr. F. T. Blagrove knows of any other record of a peal having been rung at this church, beyond the two recent peals.

The peal that is published under the title Stormy Weather Surprise Minor is a very old one and was formerly known as College Hob V, but this name has been replaced, and the correct title, writes Mr. Frank T Blagrove, is Luton Surprise Minor. It is an irregular method and not related to the regular method, Luton Surprise Royal.
The band who rang a peal of Durham Surprise Minor at Wigston, Leicester, have now rung Durham from Minor to Maximus!

We regret that the peal of Warwickshire Surprise Major rung at Shepshed on February 16 th and published in the issue of March 22nd was a duplicate of a peal published on March 15 th.
In connection with the peal at Rowde, Wilts, on March 16th, Mr. R. J. Purnell, of Chippenham, asks us to thank the Vicar and Mr. Amor, the tower captain, for making the necessary arrangements.
This year's Grantley Hall (Yorks) Bellringing Course will be from Friday night, October 25 th, to Sunday, October 27th, and will be limited to 30 students. Details will be advertised in due course.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Schofield, of Bradford, Yorks, rang their 50th peal together at Liversedge on March 23rd. It was called by their daughter, Gillian, and Barry was also in the band.

In ringing his 120 th peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Ashtead, Mr. A. Patrick Cannon informs us that this is the first time he has duplicated a tower for a peal in this method.

Will readers please jgnore the composition of 5,201 Grandsire Caters by Brian Downes on page 207. Unfortunately the first line under bracket A, 1-2-3 2345 is out of place. It should be the last line in the bracket. The error is regretted.

Capt. N. Denson, C.A., after a spell in Germany, has been posted to the R.N. Air Station, Lossiemouth, Morayshire. While on the Continent Capt. Denson kept a watchful eye for bells and contributes to our colunst an article on Copenhagen bells.

BELFRY GOSSIP

 Martin's Guild on March 2nd. It would be interesting to learn whether the late Mr . Ernest Morris rang more than 1,250 peals for the Leicester Diocesan Guild. He certainly rang more than 1,250 in Leicestershire, but the Leicester Guild was not formed until 1946, and its predecessor, the Midland Counties Association, of which Emest was secretary for 21 years, was then also divided between Midland Counties Guild, Derbyshire Association and Southwell Diocesan Guidd.The youngest member, of Godalming, Surrey, 12 -year-old Nicoli Stroud, has called her first quarter of Grandsire Triples-and faultlessly, too, writes her mentor.

Owing to leaks in the balancing tank at St. Albans Cathedral, caused by the severe winter, the tank had to be emptied and it was only considered safe to ring the front bells. Rumour has it that dexterous use of large quantities of chewing gum has now committed all the bells to be rung again.

In a tube train between Charing Cross and Euston, via Viotoria, High Street Kensington, Paddington, Edgware Road and Baker Street, on March 6th a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung 'in hand' by Mary Taylor 1-2, P. Cattermole (cond.) 3-4, J. C. Eisel 5-6. Umpires: Pauline Fennell and Yvonne Edwards. This is believed to be the first in hand' on an underground train, and possibly the first mobile quarter in London. It was rung during London University Rag Week.

Old Tom Dexter, one of the leading bell founders of his day, has a fine testimonial to his work at Leeds Parish Church. Despite a long draught, a very rocking tower and great weight, no trouble was experienced by a band, which included five minors, in scoring a peal of Bob Major on the back eight after meeting short for Royal. Tom Dexter, writes R.H.D., hung the present ring in 1932, and the tenor again in 1949. Strangely, he was not a ringer in the true sense, but he raised and set the 42 cwt. bell by the wheel, to the amazement of the spectators.

EASTER PRAISE

By the Rev. Canon C. C. Cox

THE church bells call people again to rejoice in the victorious Truth of Easter. Notwithstanding the multitudes who know nothing and care nothing about the religious significance of the Festival, its message will be no less for them than for those who do know and care. The convinced Christian, like St. Paul, has only one aim, 'that I may know Him, the Redeemer, and the power of His Resurrection.' Yet, like St. Paul again, he will not stop there but labour to pass on his conviction to all who live without hope and without God in the world.
The Christian ringer handles his or her rope with that intent. He or she may not have the eloquence of the trained missionary, but the bells ringing out from the church towers can do so much to draw the attention of the multitudes to the solace and triumph of Christ's gospel: to the message that death is now the gate to life, and that the Church doors are open for men to flock in and learn the way of freedom, hope and praise.
No one, we know, is exempt from physical death, and the fear of it with many is, after all, a natural fear. But Easter throws the light upon that. It reveals something of the mystery of death. What fallen man has brought upon himself Jesus the Son of Man has suffered on the Cross to overcome. What man is tempted to regard as an end the Lord Jesus Christ transforms into a new beginning. Even Nature itself affirms that nothing passes away without becoming the channel of some new breaking forth. And though the effect is apparently the same every spring it brings no impression of monotony. It is accepted with relief and joy, giving fresh hope, and encouraging men to face all the labour of preparation for another fruiting time. This principle in Nature is not to be idly ignored in any contemplation of the progress of mankind. It is the background of all struggle: of the confidence that something must and will survive, more shapely; more productive; yes, through all experience of sorrow, pain and loss.
We may liken the process to the recasting of an old, and perhaps unworthy, bell. There is a better, stronger note of praise to be drawn from it. It has served its purpose for a time. but must lose its former weakness to take on a new identity in keeping with a larger environment of scientific and artistic knowledge.
It is the Christian Faith which assures us that we are not the puppets of a blind. relentless Fate. If that were so there would be no incentive to praise: our bells then would give only meaningless sounds. Rather, it assures us that we are the spiritually-endowed creatures of a purposeful God Who holds our destiny in His Hand here and BEYOND DEATH: inviting us to express ourselves every Easter morning in some such way as Milton concludes Ådam's Morning Hymn:-

> 'Hail, Universal Lord! Be bounteous still To give us only good; and if the night Have gathered aught of evil, or concealed, Disperse it. as now Light dispels the dark.

The joy of Easter ringing is the joy of proclaiming the crowning evolution of all created things; the crowning truth of man's emancipation. For the glory of the Creator. The hand of death as it passes over all can never now leave only mortality and grief in the world. We cease to glory in earthly sepulchres which, as we know, can be disintegrated in a moment. They represent only skulls and skeletons. the miseries and ugly effects of evil in Time. They can become the whited. soulless structures of the unthinking and unbelieving: the static expression of materialistic ignorance and, maybe, defiance. We bring the Easter message to bear upon them and defy them in our turn. So that the picture is not now of any fenced-in cemetery. but of a world-wide boundless garden where the flowers bloom again. and yet again: where men walk and labour and lift up their hearts in the Light and Life of the Risen Saviour Who leads them out of the temporal into the eternal realities of the Kingdom of God.

Good will it be to echo Whittier's 'Laus Deo' in and from our belfries today:-

> 'Ring, O bells!
> Every stroke exulting tells
> Of the burial hour of crime.
> Loud and long, that all may hear,
> Ring for every listening ear
> Of Eternity and Time!

Let us kneel;
God's own voice is in that peal.
And this spot is holy ground.
Lord. forgive us! What are we.
That our eyes this glory see.
That our ears have heard the sound!
Ring and swing,
Bells of joy! On morning's wing
Send the song of praise abroad!
With a sound of broken chains
Tell the nations that He reigns,
Who alone is Lord and God!'

FIRST PEAL OF MAJOR ON ADELAIDE BELLS

On February 20th, the local band at St Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, brought round the first peal on the bells, the method being Grandsire Triples. On Mothering Sunday, March 24th. the first peal of Major was sung, a 5.040 of Plain Bob, the band this time including of Plain Bob, the band this time Melbourne ringers. George and Diana Pipe and Jack Roper.
The occasion was the last visit of the Pipes to Adelaide, before their return to England, and the week-end was thus tinged with regret. But it was a good opportunity for George to achieve yet another of his Australian ambitions. and the recent successes of the peals of Cambridge Surprise Major and Bob Royal in Melbourne were rounded off with a peal of Bob Major on the 41 cwt. tenor at Adelaide. Those who took part are filled with admiration at his handling of this big bell.

Like all other centres of singing in Australlia, Adelaide will miss the Pipes, not only personally but also because of the tremendous impetus their presence amongst us has given to ringing in this country over the past seven years. We can only hope that perhaps one dar they will return to Australia.

MOTHER TELLS OF WILFRID'S AMBITION  The Hereford Times, in calling attention to the week-end course for lvellringers at the Hereford Training College, at which Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton will be one of the lecturers, gives an insight into Wilfrid's early days by quoting an interview with his mother. Mrs. Moreton said: 'Wilfrid always wanted to go up into the tower at Pencombe, but his father wouldn't let him do so because it was dangerous. But when we came to Hereford, Mr. Sadler, who was a well known ringer Leintwardine every Sunday to ringtaught him to ring, and later Wilfrid taught his brother, Michael, who nowrings at St. Paul's, and also Westminster Abbey on special occasions.

WOODHOUSE RINGING

 MACHINEMr. Gordon W. Thwaites, who has spent the past five years rebuilding the Woodhouse ringing machine, demonstrated it recently at a Model Engineering Exhibition at Kendal.

The Westmorland Gazette, stated that this exhibit attracted most attention and interest to the extent of being surrounded by a crowd two o: three deep throughout most of the two hours the exhibition was open.

Although of particular interest to bellringers, of whom Mr. Thwaites is one at Kendal Parish Church, anyone with an eye for working devices could hardly fail to be fascinated by the ingenious and complex selection mechanism which comprises one unit of the two unit construction. The bells are housed in a box without sides, the two units being connected by an electric cable.

The machine will be officially handed over to the Lancashire Association at the annual meeting at Bacup on April 27th. It will then be housed in Preston, and demonstrations will be arranged there, and also in the various Branches of the Association.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD DINNER

${ }^{\text {WHE }}$ annual dinner of the Cambridge University Guild of Change Ringers was held in the Hall of Selwyn College on March 9th. It was raining, of course, but it always rains on Dinner Day and so probably no one was surprised. But this year it was windy as well.

Quite apart from the weather. the day got off to a slightly uncertain start. It seemed that the Postmaster General had not been entirely efficient (at least. that is who the Master said it was) and had failed to give the peal band adequate warning of what was required of them. where, and when. After several anxious telephone calls, enough people struggled from their beds to Eaton Socon to abandon wild thoughts of five- or six-spliced, but to ring a respectable peal of Rutland

The afternoon's programme began. as usual, at St. Bene't's and St. Andrew"s: at the former. ringing got as far as Cambridge Minor, while at the latter a first-class touch of Stedman was all that seemed to stick in the organiser's memory.

TENOR MISSING

At Great St. Mary's, those who fought their way up the spiral staircase through a noisy flock of young ladies of foreign extraction found an enterprising novelty in that the clapper of the tenor was missing. It was interesting to note how many suddenly developed principles about ringing on the front ten when they realised that it was just about teatime anyway. The mysterious thing was that the clapper reappeared in the bell the following morning, and it is strongly rumoured that this was a diabolically-contrived plot to keep out the older members. Indeed, only one turned up on the Sunday morning!
Ringing at the Roman Catholic Church was as mixed as usual, though after the fortification of tea and crumpets a good touch of six-spliced was achieved. The day's second novelty transpired to be a game of hunt-the-key at Trumpington, which was substituted for ringing att Chesterton. This game was lost by the Guild.
In the evening the party met for sherry and an admirably swift election before proceeding to dinner in the Hall. After dinner, the president. Mr. W. J. Ridginan, welcomed the guests and non-resident members, and said that apologies and good wishes had been received from several well-known members and friends, including one young lady who had set out from Oxford the previous weekend.

'A WHOLESOME PASTIME

The toast of 'The Guild' was proposed by Douglas Birkenshaw. He confessed that having rooms even in the very shadow of St. Bene't's had not made him a ringer, and that it was some 20 years after Cambridge that he had taken to the Exercise. He found it a satisfying pursuit, partly because it was a service to the Church and partly because it was a thoroughly wholesome pastime, the like of which was sorely needed in a nation of watchers. The duty of a University Guild was to supply good ringers, teachers and composers to the Exercise, and no less to preserve a good standard of ringing manners in our towers. Although outnumbered by Oxonians at Kilburn. Mr. Birkenshaw was proud to congratulate the Guild on its 84 -year record and to give it the warmest of good wishes for the future.

In his reply the Master, Richard Hough. gave account of his charge of the Guild. Since the last dinner 25 peals had been achieved. 12 being handbell and 13 tower peals. This was the largest peal total since 1958 and could largely be altributed to the manic enthusiasm of some of the junior members. Boh Royal had been secured at Bury St. Edmunds. conducted by Henry Lewis. Andrew Hudson had conducted peals of 32 -Spliced Minor and 9 -Spliced Plain Major methods on consecutive days. He hat hand.' With a nine-tenths undergraduate male band. Grandsire Caters had been scored Mildenhall and. 10 offset the Guild's firm anti pathy to ringing peals in Lancashire, a second visit to Great Yarmouth produced something for Brian Threlfall's alchemy to turn into a peal.

Sunday service ringing had. despite repeated mechanical failures at Great St. Mary's. im proved. but there had been a drop in the num ber of learners. Besides helping to till the pea columns of " The Ringing World. the Guild had contributed scholarly monographs on stay design by John McClenahan and on simple callings for handbell peals of Major by Andrew Hudson.

MORE MODEST DEMANDS

In conclusion, the Master made the secmingly heretical suggestions that ringing should not be taken too seriously, and that the enthusiast: might be more modest in their demands on th more rational members of the Guild. The secretary had achieved some distinction in the cours of the year by becoming locked in his room instead of taking charge of ringing at Great Si Mary's, to which problem the resourcefulness of the Fire Brigade had been called. The laughter of the residents suggested that they had more information about this than the Master disclose to the gathering.
The loast of The Guests was ably propost by the secretary. Andrew Hudson. He could thot. at that stage in the proceedings, share the feeling of ease and wellbeing to which Mr Birkenshaw had earlier referred. He drew ala ingenious, if risky, analogy between the clergy and manure, but gol out of it in good orde and wished Canon Fison well for Sulisbury Plain. His welcome to the Vicar of Great SL Andrew"s was not entirely disinterested, he confessed, as he wanted the bells for a peal th following Thursday. The other guests were warmly welcomed from Oxford. London and the Cambridge Youths. Concerning the lastnamed, the secretary said he had been disturbed to read an account in . The Cambridge News headed 'Delinquency among Cambridge Youths. and saying that the authorities were at a loss to how to deal with them Mr. Ward and Mr Muncey were, however, extremely well behaved on this occasion
John Nelson, Master of the Oxford Universt Society, replied on behalf of the guests to thani the Cambridge Guild for their hospitality. corrected the secretary on the source ol one his quotations, but admitted that Oxford hearl sank at the sight of Cambridges peal recordAs a fitting end to the dinner, the loving cuf the Guild's memorial to Canon A. C. Blyth was circulated, and then the party returned to sherry and handbells in the tower room.
The Sunday dawned a fine and sunny day. but the residents were largely left to their own devices on the augmented 1! at Great Mary's. None the less, the occasion was its usuai success, and all those who took part must bc grateful to the officers and resident member who made the arrangements.

50. YEARS AGO

R.W: April 11th, 1913.-

The Master of the Winchester Guild the Rev. C. E. Matthews) is intent upon increasiag the number of bells at his own church of Titchfield. Hants, from six (tenor 12 cwt .) to eight. He has a young band of keen ringers. and with a complete octave some good work might well be expected. At the Easter Vestr) meeting consent was given to the raising of unds by the Vicar and ringers to add two new trebles.

'Church Bells' Story of St. Paul's Cathedral Bells

Readers may remember two previous series of extracts from the Victorisn senny weekly publication 'Church Bells.'
These came from the volumes Advent, 1872-3, 1875-6 and 1879-80, and appeared in 'The Ringing World,' April-July, 1957. and January 6th to September 8th, 1961, under titles' Ringing in England Eighty Years Ago' and 'A Potpourri from "Church Bells", Church Bells' dealt with Church matters generally, one, two, three or four columns only being devoted to bells, ringing and ringers.

I have now gone through two more volumes (I wish all had been loaned to me in chronological order!'), and the following extracts come from Volume VIII (Advent, 1877 to 1878) and Volume XI (Alvent. 1880 to 1881). Afler this I shall have no further volumes to search.
When this series is printed I hope readers may have found interest at least here and there. It is the random nature and location of the items. as they appear, that is partly responsible for the interest, I, think.

Though they are nearly a century old now, I find that many of the phrases used and the ringers' arguments in correspondence are very: similar to those we find in our ' Ringing World of the 1960's.
Ringers argue and argue about compositions and are sometimes fierce and not too pleasan!!

CLAUDE RUSH.
Felixstowe, March, 1963.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL, LONDON

In 'Church Bells,' of January 5th, 1878, an article, reproduced from 'The Standard,' included: 'It so happens that our present St. Paul's Cathedral is wanting in the special feature which, according to trustworthy testimony, its predecessors possessed and which the majority of its contemporaries now possess-a ring of bells . . . On all festival occasions in the city the want of a ring of bells in St. Paul's has been sorely felt as, for instance, on the visit of our own Sovereign, or of foreign potentates, to our capital, or on the occasion of the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs attending Divine Service in the Cathedral. But never in immediately modern times was the want so nakedly apparent as on the memorable day when the Queen and all the Royal Family went to St. Paul's to return thanks for the recovery of the Prince of Wales from a terrible illness. On that occasion, of almost all the sacred edifices in London. St. Paul's was the only one which could not peal forth a strain of rejoicing from its towers
'The movement set on foot after Thanksgiving Day culminated in a meeting at the Mansion House during the mayoralty of Mr. Alderman Stone and a committec. It was decided that the bells should be English in fashion and manufacture the cage cost about $£ 5,000$ the cage about $£ 1,000$. The bells are being cast at the foundry of Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. the makers of the bells at Manchester Iown Hall, supposed to be the purest of tone in England .
On August 31st, 1878. 'Church Bells' announced: We learn. that these bells are nounced: : We learn.$\dot{W}$ that these bells are now being hung in the N. tower in a massive oak cage. An article in the "Church Times, states that "none of the largest bells are to be $v$ whing but will be rung by means of a turning $V$ wheel fixed in. the front of the bell, and in the groove of the $V$ the rope will pass and be attached to the clappers. By this means the Church Bells asks: What do our minging Church Bells " asks: "What do our ringing iriends and others think of this new dodge?" ${ }^{2}$ This quickly brought an answer: Charles $\mathbf{A}$. in stating, on Messrs. Taylors authority, that the extract from "Church Times" in your issue of last week is entirely founded on some misapprehension of facts. The new bells at St. Paul's are all to be hung for ringing: in fich the tenor has already been "pulled up." and is reported to go very well.' Next week the paper confirmed that the tenor had been 'pulled up and rung by two men.

The twelve were rung for a short time on October 4th. 1878. by College Youths- ' a privale trial... to test the tones of the bells, to enable the committee (who were present) to give a certificate as to their efficiency. etc. According to a report in "The Globe," a few minor alteralions are necessary before the public opening, which is expected to take place on All Saints' Day.

Particulars of the bells are given as follows:-

DEDICATION DAY, ALL SAINTS', 1878
Church Bells ' records that the November air was keen and chill, there was a general stir around the Cathedral, and inside people were packed closely logether for almost the whole length of the nave. Evensong was sung; then. for the actual dedication, Dr. Stainer, the or ganist, led the way to the Geometrical Staircase, as Mr. Hodge, who had laken over the organ. played 'The March of Priests," by Mendelssohn. The Bishop of London and his chaplain, the Archdeacon of London, the Dean, eight canons, Dr. Stainer and the choristers (apparently thirty in number) 'threaded their way in surplices up the narrow, winding staircase, and formed a group in the centre of the ringing chamber.'

Here there was quite a lengthy service-versicles and responses, four psalms chanted by the choir, The Lord's Prayer, versicles and prayers, the dedication. the hymn 'When morning gilds the skies.' the Collect for St. Paul's Day; then, finally, the Bishop gave the Blessing to the little kneeling congregation, above which rose the stalwart forms of the ringers leaning on their ropes
It is difficult to know exactly how the ringers could 'lean' on their ropes because, earlier in the report, it was stated that, during the sermon at Evensong ' the belis were being rung up with clappers lashed and set at back-stroke for the opening peal. However, the record shows that. after a slight pause, following the Blessing, the Bishop of London gave the world 'Go' to the circle of ringers, and 'thirteen pairs of strong arms began to pull in concert and down came a: shower of music, bright. soft and mellow. Rounds only were rung. and the conductor called 'Stand." ". Well stopped," exclaimed Dr. Stainer with delight: but it was a premature congratulation for the tenor hesitated in the hands of his two ringers .. and spoke twice alone, breaking the neatness of the first performance but giving the thousands of listeners an opportunity of hearing his voice clear of competition.

FIRST RINGERS

Then followed over an hour of Stedman Cinques. Hundreds stood listening in St. Paul's churchyard on this fine, clear night

The first ringers were all College Youths and stood as follows: H. W. Haley, sen.. H. Haley jun., W. Cooter, J. Pettit. G. Mash, R. Haworth G. Ferris, J. Dwight, E. Horrex. G. A. Muskett, M. A. Wood, J. M. Hayes, with G. Dorrington. Reeves and W. Jones. (These last three apparently took turns at strapping.-C. R.) Among the ringers present were Mr. Troyte, Rev. R. Cattley and Rev. Augustus Sutton.
On Saturday. November 9th, 1878. Lord Mayor's Day, touches of Stedman Cinques were rung by the same band as rang at the dedication; fitst between 1 and 2 o'clock, when the procession passed the Cathedral, and again at 6 o'clock. when the Lord Mayor's guests passed. Thousands were present to see and to listen.

The Rev. H. R. Haweis was a severe critic of the new ring, and in succeeding issues of Church Bells; there were long Jetters of argument between him, Dr. Stainer and others. including Sir Edmund Beckett. an author of books on church building, clocks and bells.
Mr. Haweis would have preferred a carillon of Belgian bells. He said: 'Peal ringing, although a healthy British exercise, in large towns is barely tolerable even for a quarter of an hour before Divine Service. Had there been a carillon at St. Paul's the mute crowd below, instead of melting away beneath the scourge of treble bobs, would be rapt in wonder
Sir Edmund Beckett, referring to the effect of bellringing and bell frames on towers, said that St. Paul's bell tower walls are ten feet thick, and it is probably the only tower in the kingdom that does not even vibrate under the ringing by its own elasticity.
Referring to Rev. Haweis‘ remarks about bells being rung and carillons being played, he said:
The English public think much more of the full sound of a fine peal of bells rung in changes than of the comparatively feeble tunes played on them by the very best machinery. So far from thinking a little bellringing before church "intolerable," the accidental omission of it is generally resented by a vast majority in any town that is used to it, as we in the north are more than those in the south, where men are generally too lazy to ring proper changes, varying at every, round according to scientific rules. But the ringing at St. Paul's last Saturday [probably the Lord Mayor's Day's ringing.-C.R.] was the best I have heard on twelve bells. Generally they sound worse than ten tenor bell of St. Paul's has been rehung, in conformity with the principle I have been advocating for many years against the practice of what is called "tucking-up " or putting a good deal of weight rabove the pivots or gudgeons, and that it now sounds well over the others, which it did not at the first two trials. And, on the whole, this is the grandest ringing peal in England and. therefore, in the world though. for aught I know; somebody may yet be able to make a better.'
W. Warskitt wrote saying that he was a practical church-bell tuner of more than forty years" experience, and he disagreed with Dr. Stainer who had said that the ring was in tune. Hc maintained that the treble was too sharp for the second and the second too sharp for the third, also that the tenor was too flat for all the others.
"An old College Youth " thought St. Saviour's. Southwark, twelve were better than St. Paul's and that the two trebles at St. Paul's were not only 'too sharp for the others but wild in tone and out of tune.
Rev. Richard Cattley, of Worcester, described these iwo trebles as : particularly bright and telling .... a matter of much importance in a ring of this magnitude.

Rev. H. T. Ellacombe. of Clyst St. Gcorge. Devon, and Mr. Rob. Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry, wrote letters, so did 'A Soundbow:" who said that the ring was 'simply magnificent." But the controversy in 'Church Bells and in 'The Times ' too, it seems, went on for weeks and developed into opinions on stress and strain on towers, bell frames, canonless bells, and so on in places far from St. Paul's.

RECORD LENGTH COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir-Three new record lengths of Surprise Major are now ready to be sent to anyone interested.
They are 24.000 of Cray, 22,080 of Bristol or Diss and 11,328 of Superlative.
Subject to confirmation, I should like to claim the 24.000 as the longest peal of Surprise Major in any method.-Yours faithfully.

Letters to the Editor  Odd-Struck Bells  Dear Sir -I hope all conscientious steeple-  Other Views on Compositions  Dear Sir,-One reads with interest Mr .

keepers will have read the article by Denis $\mathbf{R}$. Carlisle, page 211.

It is high time a discussion took place on the subject of odd-struck bells, for nothing is mare maddening than slow blows at backstroke: Just as there are many causes and reniedies for bad going bells. so there are many seasons and cures for odd-struck bells.
Bells with independent crown staples are easily corrected of falseness by unscrewing the centre castle nut, allowing the olapper to drop, say, a quarter of an inoh, and stuffing a piece of packing between the inside of the crown of the bell and top of the clapper, on the garter hole side, and then tighten up. This will make the bell strike quicker at backstroke, and, of course, the opposite side has the opposite effect.

To cure bells without independent staples, the cause may be the distance between ganter hole and pulley. Lengthening the distance between garter hole and pulley will have the effect of slowing the handstroke blow and quickening the backstroke blow. Ideal for perfect leading.
This will mean putting in a new garter hole, say, eight inches above the present one, or moving the pulley nearer the bell. The stay o: slider must also be adjusted.-Yours, etc.,

Grundisburgh, Woodbridge.

Dear Sir,-I was interested in Mr. Carlisle's article. A simple and effective way to cure an odd-struck bell, where the clapper is bolted through the headstock, is to use a taper washer.-Yours sincerely,

10, Kings Close, Crayford.

Enthusiasm at Salisbury, Rhodesia

Dear Sir.-I should like, through your puper, to express my appreciation of being able to join the enthusiastic band of ringers at Salisbury Cathedral, Southern Rhodesia.
They certainly thave a fine ring of bells, and there is no doubt that they will soon be extending their range of methods, particularly if enthusiasm is any criterion.
Fantunately, on the first Sunday I was in Saljishury, there was a special service in the afternoon, so that I was able to take part in some ringing both for this service and later on for Evensong. On the following Wednesday I was able to join them again for their ringing practice.
I am sure any ringing visitor to Salisbury will be very welcome and, for the record, their present practice on Wednesday extends from 5 o'clock in the afternoon till nine at night. with a break from seven to half past. The firs: two hours, when I was there, were spent in handbell ringing and silent tower ringing, and after the break open tower ringing was practised.
Many thanks to a very delightful band of ringers.-Yours sincerely, Birmingham.
J. R. COTTERILL.

Tonne Bell at Bocking

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Shepherd, the Tonne bell at the Deanery Church, Bocking. 1 wrote about is indeed the hell that was once housed in the turret, but people who have examined it since it was taken down and rehuig in the tower feel that it was never a sacring bell. as it is too large. It is believed to have been always a clock bell- Yours fraternally,
R. SUCKLING.
Braintree, Essex.

Pladdys' letter in a recent 'R.W.' It is true, as he says, that there is little scope for composition in the 00065 F.C.H. methods, except, I think, where the location of the falseness is unusual (as in Cassiobury, Southgate, Hinton, etc.).

It is a sule of the C.C. that compositions used for new methods should be published, so this would seem to explain why they appear in the 'R.W.'
To say that there is no new material for composition in S.M. and S.R. is complete tripe, and as for using existing compositions (Old Masters) as starting points for tenors parted peak you won't get very far. The thing is to start from scratch.
It is interesting to read Mr. Pladdys' letter and then look at his own peal of Stedman Triples (on the twin-bob system!), which he published in 'R.W.' some time ago. What scope is there in twin-bob S.T.?
Perhaps Mr. Ptaddys' principle of living is If the cap fits pretend you don't like to colour.' I certainly find it useful at times. Yours, etc.,

GILES B. THOMPSON.
Chalfont St. Giles, Bucks.

Surprise Major Methods

Dear Sir.-I have found, on looking through my records, that there is already a Quadring been pealed; figures are as follows $\mathrm{x} 58 \times 16 \times 12 \times 38 \times 14 \times 38 \times 56 \times 18$ l.e. 18 and. as can be seen, these are different to those of the Quadring petaled at Donington. Perhaps the name could be changed to avoid any misunderstandings.

I also find the same problem with Acton and Nettleham, figures as following
Acton $-38 \times 58$. $14 \times 12 \times 16 \times 14 \times 38.16 \times 16.58$ l.e. 12
Corrigan's No. 262 Ripon.
$38 \times 58.14 .58 \times 58$. $16 \times 12 \times 58.16 \times 16.78$ 1.e. 12
Corrigan's No. 2 Acton, Nettleham- $\times 38 \times 14 \times 12 \times 16 \times 12 \times 1258 \times 16 \times 38$ 1.e. 12 $\times 58 \times 16 \times 12 \times 38 \times 34 \times 58 \times 14 \times 58$ 1.e. 12
Finally, can anyone also supply the figures of the following methods: Wirfal, Birmingham, Hereford, Kensington, Warnham. Plymouth, Trowbridge, Crewe, Neasden, Cheshunt. Imberhorne. Kirklington. Saxlingham. Horsham, Stoughton, Portsmouth, Enfield, Moorside, Zennor, Fordham, Netherton, Southport, Jaffay. Weatheroak, Rugby, Longney, Kilburn, Umberslade. Ladywood, Hanslope, Houghton-le-Spring, Totternhoe, Ripplesmere, Seiwiley, Digheth, Queslett, Cotswold, Wellington, Aldridge, Southwell, Ploughdey,

Thank you for your help.-Yours sincerely, DAVID E. BELCHAM.

DEDICATION

A NEW TREBLE AT HARTEST

Through the generosity of a veteran Whep stead ringer, Mr. Arthur W. Rolfe, a treble has been added to the ring of five at All Saints' Church, Hartest, Suffolk.

This bell was dedicated by the Ven. H. R. Norton, Archdeacon of Bury, on March 30th. and those wending their way across the village green that afternoon could hear the old five bells summoning them to be present at the dedication service. The five bells were rung by Messrs. G. Garwood, M. Willoughby, Richard J. Seabrook, S. Honeyball and R. Truin.

The service was taken by the Rector, the Rev I. K. Hamel Cooke, and the lessons were read by him and Major Weller Poley. The Arch deacon's address was very appropriate to both ringers and other members of the congregation.
The first ring on the six bells was by a local band, who rang 720 Plain Bob Minor. They were G. Garwood 1, A. W. Rolfe 2, M. S. Willoughby 3, R. J. Seabrook 4. S. Honeyball 5 M. Rose (conductor) tenor

Next to take the sallies were six ladies, who rang 240 Oxford Treble Bob. They stood in the following order: Miss June Wright 1. Mrs. Palmer, of Fordham (conductor), 2, Mrs. Ivings, of Euston, 3, Miss D. Reeve, of Hockwold. 4 Miss Alice Lester, of Needham Market, 5, Miss Hilda Snowden, of Halstead, tenor

Tea was served in Hartest Village Club by the Rector and helpers. The Rector thanked the donors and ringers for their part in the day's proceedings. A cheque for $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. was presented by Mr. L. Wright, of Bury St. Edmunds, to the Rector from the Suffolk Guild Bell Fund.
An opportunity was given to Mr. Arthur W. Rolfe to speak, and he mentioned that he first rang in 1902 and' rang his first peal of Grandsire in 1907 . Since that date he had rung many bells and peals. Tribute was opportunely paid to Mr. Rolfe's service to ringing in training many recruits in Suffolk during the past 50 years.

There was a big assembly of ringers in the belfry after tea, when many Minor methods were rung. Visitors carae not only from Suffolk but from Norfolk, Cambridgeshire, Essex. Middlesex and Hertfordshire, and were greeted by the Rector.

Place of the Elderly

Dear Sir,-There is a lot more to bellringing than merely pulling a rope, and while I admire the efforts described recently in 'The Ringing World of elderly novices in mastering bell handling and clementary change-ringing being one of them myself). I think our relative maturity can be better employed in teaching and encouraging youngsters and keeping a hand logether. Yours sincercly, H. L. ROPER. Adderbury, Banbury

15th CENTURY WILLIAM UNDERHILL-The 'ffounder'

By T. A. BEVIS

A WELL known mediaval bell foundry was A that at the Metropolis producing bedls under the comewhat 'shy' trade name of one - William ffounder.'

The works of this man-of-metal (who has left us but little information in respect of his activities) are found in many parts of the country. Several bells by him are-or wereadorned with beautiful initial lettering, and have shields with intriguing designs.

It is thought that 'William ffounder's' business was established between the years 1410-1420, and his wares were in great demand. William often placed his trade mark on his bells in the manner depicted by illustration ' $D$,' and the shield ' $C$,' the arms of Underhill, was also frequently employed in the adornment of his creations. Consequently it is generally accepted that 'Underhill' was the founder's surname. This particular shield (a chevron between what would appear to be three trees), logether with the maker's name, occurred in one instance on a bell at Southelmham St. Peter's Suffolk, thus providing irrefutable evidence in support of the founder's actual surname.
Underhill's popular emblem, however, took the form of a shield displaying a chevron between three ewers (' $A$ ') and this does imply that the bellmaker, in common with a good many of his fellow craftsmen, enjoyed an additional occupation, in this case, possibly as a silversmith or simikar.
It is possible that Underhill had connections with another foundry business. The jllustration ' $B$,' of a shield bearing a dolphin, wheatsheaf, bell and an ewer and crosskeys, although somewhat mystifying, lends the impression that our founder was directly or indireatly concerned with another medizval establishment.

William devised a weird and wonderful initial cross for his bells and the design adhered strongly to Oriental inspiration.

The three bells at Bartlow, Cambs, are excellent examples of 15 th century bell founding and although they can handly be attributed to Underhill, in the absence of his obvious foundry marks, it is thought that they have a connection with him for they display the shield ' $\mathbf{B}$ ' and, in addition, have a second shield with a monogram containing a T

A similar connection occurs at St . Botolph's Church, Cambridge. and also at West Wickham; the shield ' $B$ ' also occurred on a former treble at Chardstock, Devon However deeply enveloped in the mists of time, the 'ffounder' emerges for the duration of a twinkling of an eye, and indelibly records in the annals of posterity, through the medium of his captivating bell marks, his friendly, Christian תame.

THE SPLICING OF ALLIANCE MINOR METHODS

2. SPECIAL ALLIANCE METHODS

Examine the following two leads Chelford Alliance

Two blocks of four rows each are taken from a lead of Special Alliance, leaving behind a lead of College. These two blocks are placed between two half-leads of Bastow Little Court taken from the same course, forming thereby a lead of College. The remainder of the course of Bastow could now be changed to College if the four other appropriate leads of Chelford were also changed to College. As with the Ordinary Alliance, the 2nds place variations of both pairs are available, as are also the methods Wavertree and Childwall obtained by changing each side of the pair at the same time.
Table 3 gives a complete list of methods that can be treated thus:

Extent No. 332 can be used for Groups (1). (2) and (3). and No. 327 for Group (4). As neither Bastow nor Kent Little Court have a 2nd place variation, however, the 2nd place variation in the New Plain column will be unobtainable in Group (2) and (4) if these extents are used.
If it is desirable to obtain this Plain method then the ever-useful extent No. 335 may, in Group (2), be adapted by substituting 2 nd place method for 2nd place and 6th place for 6 th. It must be remembered that in the 'Little" section the 2 nds place method must always be Plain, e.g., in Group (2).

The necessary leads of Alliance will have to be changed to correspond with the Thelwall; in this case it would be perhaps easier to work backwards from the Thelwall using the Transposition ( 45263 ), which is, of course, the places into which 2345 and 6 fall respectively in the first Lransposition. Now, in order to obtain the Lytham. one of the courses of Bastow must be changed to Plain (Lytham) and the necessary adjustments made in the Alliance. This is similar in many ways to the 720 previously used

There does not appear to be an extent in the Collection which makes it possible to include Cumberland in Group (4), for this requires a single type of Alliance with two types of Little. Here then is an arrangement which can be accepted as another contribution of mine to posterity!

Any one (or two if desired) of the remairing courses of Little can be changed to Ennerdale. Of course, the necessary leads of Alliance must be altered to Frodsham to allow for these transformations. The transposition, 32456 . in this case is the same whichever way we work so the alterations should not be difficult.

Now let us examine the following :

156342

Here the middle is removed from a lead of a Special Alliance and transplanted between two rows in the middle of a lead of Bastow L.C A complete lead of Crayford is left behind. This exchange can be effected wherever de sired. Table 4 gives a list of methods which can be so treated.
Extent No. 332 will be found suitable for all the four Groups in Table No. 4.

A further point of interest arises in Group (3) of this table as Hampstead is a course splicer with A (9, 10, 21, 24) and A $(34,35,45.46)$, at '3-lead splicer' with A 22 and a ' 6 -lead splicer with A 17. Moreover, the Special, Alliance methods from which it is 'borrowed' is a ' 3 lead splicer" with S.A 14 (S.A 15) which are among the methods of the previous table from which Plain methods may be obtained. I also have it in an extent which contains Treble Bob methods!
Lack of space prevents a full discussion on the many interesting extents which can be evolved here, but perhaps some ringers may prefer to experiment in this direction with pen cil and (half a ream of) paper!
The exchange of rows in Table 5 is similar to that in the preceding one. The "borrowed' rows do not, however, fit directly in the middle of a lead of Bastow but between two half-leads taken from the same course in a manner that parallels the methods in Table No. 1. Furthermore. the New Ordinary Alliance methods. Darlington and Kelly. are both 2nds place methods. whereas Bastow is a 6ths place method. If, however, the extent on p. 7 is used. the new Ordinary Alliance can be substituted for the first course of the Little in each part i.e.:- $\quad 23456$ Aliance S.A 43 S 32564 Alliance A 49
S 46235 Bastow L.C.

- 34625 Alliance S.A 43

With the necessary alterations in the Special Alliance. Clewer and Kelly may be similarly reated.
The treatment of methods in Table 6 is similar to those in Table No. 4. There is one important difference. Six leads must be selected with one bell fixed. In Groups (1). (2) and (3) it is the 4 ths place bell and in (4), (5) and (6) the 3 rds place bell. In both cases the fixed bell will be 2nds place bell in the Little Court method. Extent 332 is suitable for adapcation in Groups (1), (2) and (3), and extent 327 for Groups (4), (5) and (6).

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD  Bingham District

A wet, wintry day did not deter ringers from attending the Bingham District meeting at Cropwell Bishop on March 9th. Thirty were present during the afternoon, and despite the downpour over 50 during the evening. A shortened Evensong was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. R. pleming), after which tea was enjoyed in the Church Hall.
At the business meeting, a proposal by Mr. Hanson to hold a joint meeting with the Melton District at Bottesford on September 14th was favoured. Four new members - Messrs. J. Reader. T. Rawlings (Cropwell Bishop), G. Wells and P. Butler (Lowdham)-were elected. Preliminary rounds for the Crawford cup will be held at Orston. The final will be held in the Bingham district, Cotgrave being selected. If an 8 -bell team should reach the final, a different tower will be chosen. The Rev. H. R. Pleming was elected a vice-president.
The vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist, and ladies who prepared the tea was proposed by Mr. W. L. Exton. Ladies were asked to volunteer to prepare tea at the Guild general meeting at Southwell on April 27th.

In conclusion, I have two things to say. Firstly, that I have been brief in my explanations; deliberately so, as my intention has been merely to give a lead so that ringers can compile their own extents. In any case the subject has not been entirely covered, and I hope that I have left room for inquisitive minds to extend their own investigations.
Secondly, although I have carefully checked oll the figures it is possible that I have made some error or omission in the Tables. I should be grateful, therefore, if anyone discovering such a fault would kindly point it out through the medium of the 'R.W.

OBITUARY

MR. EDWIN (TED) RUSSELL AN APPRECIATION

All his ringing friends in the Godstone, Blechingley. Nutfield. Merstham, Redhill and Reigate lowers mourn the loss of a good friend in the sudden passing, on April 1st, of Mr. Edwin (Ted) Russell. It was tragic that this should have come just a week after the anniversary of his golden wedding.

Ted's own tower was Merstham, but he was claimed equally by all the others mentioned. Ted was more than just a fellow ringer : he was a good and dear friend to all who rang with him. At his own tower, his enthusiasm was an inspiration to a struggling band of learners. He encouraged them to visit other towers, and it was always a joy when he turned up with a string of his learners in tow.
He will perhaps be missed the most on the local ringers' annual outing on Whit Monday. The stories of Ted's exploits on these occasions are legion, but perhaps the best and most beloved tale is of last year's outing when Ted. who was a little hard of hearing, rang the second to a touch of Grandsire Triples at Hast ings. Everyone's exhortations to him to 'strike closer. Ted!" were in vain, because not until the bells came back into rounds was it discovered that the clapper of the second was tied and the bell was mute! This was certainly Ted's own favourite story about himself.
Dear Ted-gentle, kind, and full of good humour-how we shall miss you. The world will be a poor place without you; but knowing you, it is certain that the trumpets are sounding for you on the other side. Vade in pace.
N.E.K.

MR. FRED BISHOP

A member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild since 1911 and president of the Eastern Branch since 1960 , Mr. Fred Bishop, of Kirton, Lincs. died on March 15 th, aged 68 years.

From 1912 to 1919 he served with the Lincolnshire Regiment, seeing active service in France, Flanders and Ireland. He then joined the Police Force, and in 1931 went to Saxilby as station sergeant, where he stayed for 20 years. Here he did good service with the ringers. Upon his retirement he came home to Kirton, where he was for many years verger and a ringer.
The funeral service at Kirton was fully choral and was attended by several ringing friends. Cremation followed at Peterborough. A quarter peal of Plain Bob Major was rung half-muffled at Kirton on the Monday evening. W. E.C.

MR. FRANCIS (FRANK) DEWEY

With regret we report the passing of Mr . Frank Dewey, of Boston, Lincs, at the age of 78. A ringer at the famous Stump for over 45 years, he was also a sidesman and a member of the Parochial Church Council. Owing to illhealth he had to give up ringing about four years ago.

Mr. Dewey had rung 98 peals. He had a wonderful memory for the names of ringers, the number of bells at different churches and the weights of tenors.
The funeral took place on March 21 st and was attended by many of his ringing friends. His favourite method was Grandsire, and a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Boston on the Thursday evening. W.E.C.

WEST CLANDUN, SURREY,-On March 21st, 1.260 Grandsire Triples: G. L. Grover 1, Jill M. May 2, Carolyn White 3, P. G. Sherwood 4, R. Walker 5, D. J. Tubbs 6, D. A. R. May (cond.) 7, W. Savill 8. With the peal we publish this week, Mr. John Hill has rung Bristol Major, Royal and Maximus. It is believed that this is the first time that it has been accomplished.

Two of the ringers in the band that rang in the quarter peal at Marshfield, Mon, on March 29th were members of the new band recently formed at the tower. The remaining three came from St. Mellons.
The ringing of a peal of Doubles ( 14 variations) at Builth Wells, Breconshire, on March 30th was ta spcial occasion. A peal had not been rung on these bells for more than 30 years.
Regarding the pead at Trysull, Stafts, on February 9th, Mr. F. C. A. Bennett informs us that there was an error in the printed footnote. Mr. Arthur Wharton died in 1959 and he knew the gentleman for 25 years.
Mr. D. Cooper, of 84, New Bolsover, near Chesterfield, invites any ringers travelling to Coventry from the North or outing organiems to visit Bolsover Parish Church, which has been partly rebuilt and redecorated after a disastrous fire. There is a first class ring of eight, and a pull on these and a look round the beautiful church will certainly be time well spent, writes Mr. Cooper.
At the annual 'Oranges and Lemons ' service at St. Clement Danes' Church, London, attended by the children of St. Clement Danes' Primary School, Drury Lane, held on March $28 i \mathrm{~h}$, members of the London County Association, as has been their custom, rang a course of Grandsire Caters 'in hand at the end of the service. It always seems to be an appreciated novelty.

RUSSIA AND BELLS

THERE have been various writers on Russian bells. The late Ernest Morris, in 'Bells of All Nations,' devotes considerable space to the Tsarine Kolokol, the great bell of Moscow, weighing about 193 tons, which was cast in 1733 and buried by the great fire of Moscow in 1737. It is from Augte de Montferrand, who raised the bell in 1836. that there is a record of how the bell was fractured during the fire. He writes:-
' The records of the time relate that, having become extremely hot, it cracked when it was reached by the water which the inhabitants with over-great zeal threw on it to save it, and which occasioned a contrary effect to that which they expected. The charcoal and the blackened wood which I found in the surrounding ground, and particularly close to the bell, left no doubt as to the truth of the narration of the accident.'
The Rev. Geo. S. Tyack, in his book about bells. 1898 , writes of Russia being a country of great bells, and states that even small towns frequently possess bells surpassing in dimensions famous examples. A church to suffer in the epic French invasion of 1812 was St. John's Church, Moscow, with a great bell of 96 tons, another big bell of 55 tons and 32 smaller bells in the belfry.

From the winter issue of 'Overtones,' the magazine of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers, an insight is given to Russian ringing. The ringers are called zvonari, and when they ring several bells they produce a pattern of sound called a zvon. The Russian word means, like the English 'ring,' both a set of bells and their sound.

A few small bells added to a zvon make a trezvon. A wild, cacophonous effect is produced by the rapid ringing of high-toned bells against the boom of several deep monsters. It is a trezvon that Moussorgsky imitates in the coronation scene of his opera Boris Guudonav. Rimsky Korsakov also depicts Russian bellringing in his 'Russia Easter Overture.' Prokofieff makes use of Russian bells in the film 'Alexander Nevsky.'
How do the zvonari ring? Percival Price, an American carillonneur, makes this suggestion: while it may require several men to pull the clapper of one large bell, when the bells are not too big one ringer may ring several bells at once. He holds a sort of 'control stick' from which wires run to the clappers. By twisting or jiggling his hand he may make a continuous jangle. He may also ring a large bell by using his feet as a lever. There is a primitiveness about the surroundings as the ringer performs among his bells in an open belfry in all weathers! Mason Hammond, a Harvard classics professor, states that the tones of the bells ' are based not upon a Western but upon an Eastern scale, a combination, perhaps, of Byzantine and Tartar influence.'

At Havard, in Lowell House, there is a 26 ton Russian zvon, purchased in 1930 from the Soviet Government by Richard T. Crane, the bells having originally hung in the Damailov Monastery in Moscow.

The Russians, states 'Overtones,' sent an expert but eccentric bellringer named Saradjeff with the bells to supervise their installation. Saradjeff thought that some of the bells needed tuning, and he proceeded to chip pieces from their edges. The President of Harvard feared that he might ruin the bells and ordered him to stop. After an epileptic seizure, Saradjeff was committed to an infirmary, where he drank ink as an antidote to the poison he believed he was being administered there. This was too much for Harvard, and Saradjeff was persuaded to return to Russia!

Another Russian, named Andonoff, was then engaged to ring the bells, but his performances were received with mixed reaction. Richard T. Crane, the donor, was a leading manufacturer of toilet fixtures. During one of Andonoff's performances the residents of Lowell House flushed all their Crane toilets in unison and flooded the college sewage system!
'The History of Church Bell Ringing,' by Oloviannikov, is the classic work on Russian bellringing, and a specimen of a Russian zvon taken from the book is given in the accompanying issue of 'Overtones.'

BIGGEST BELL EXPORT ORDER FOR 40 YEARS

ACARILLON of 53 bronze bells, Britain's - biggest bell export order for 40 years, will Jcave England for America next month (May) to be installed in the 200 ft . tower of the new National Episcopal Cathedral, Washington, D.C. More than 45 tons of pure copper and nearly 15 tons of tin were used in casting the bells.
The $4 \frac{1}{2}$ octave carillon has been cast at the 200 -year-old Loughborough Bell Foundry of John Taylor and Co.. and it will be a major transport operation to ship the bells. With its 35 ift. supporting framework the carilion weighs 100 tons.
The biggest bell, which sounds the note $E$ flat, weighs $10 \frac{1}{2}$ tons. It is 7 ft . high and 8 fi. 8 in. in diameter. The smallest bell weighs 20 lb . and is 7 in . in diameter. Bell boltoms -special wooden platforms-will be used to protect the bells in transit. The bells wili he handled as delicately as eggs to prevent damage to the lips and to preserve their purity of tone. A fleet of nine lorries will lake the bells to the docks for the start of a $4.000-\mathrm{mile}$ sea and road journey. At Baltimore. Maryland, another fleet will be waiting to deliver the bells to the capital.
The hells are a gift under the will of Miss Bessie Juliet Kibbey, who died in 1949. at the age of 92 . Work on the cathedral tower is nearly completed.

INSCRIPTIONS FROM THE PSALMS
On each of the bells. except the smallest, is an inscription from the Psalms, arranged to he sung on Miss Kihbey's birthday.

The biggest hell carries the inscriptions. Praise God through these Bells, "and underneath - This carillon given by Bessie Juliet Kibbey, 1857-1949." On the other side is inscribed. 'The Lord He is God, and the smallest bell has a simple and final Amen. Amen.
Mr. Paul Taylor, head of the bell foundry, said: Casting bells is a combination of art, science and craftsmanship. Bell founders have their own methods of casting based on experience over the centuries. They are kept a strict secret.

Bell metal is the only alloy which gives the right tone. It consists of seven parts of copper to two of tin. For many years there have been experiments to find a cheaper alloy without any success. The mixture of copper and tin is the only alloy which produces the true sing.'

ENGLISH BELLS SELECTED
A team from the cathedrad toured leading churches in America in a search for the right type of bells. After hearing carillons and many rings they came to England to place the order.

There was another visit to Loughborough recently by the cathedral's clerk of works. Mr R T. FeHer: the organist. Mr- Richard W. Dirkson: and the carillonneur, Mr. Ronald M. Barnes, to inspect the completed carillon. There was an unforgettable moment of drama in the fcundry when Mr. Barnes moved to the keyboard to play the carillon for the first time. Seventy foundrymen-some have been with the firm 50 years-quietly put down their tools and formed a circle round the carillon they had built. They stood as still as if they had been cast in their own bell metal as they listened with the pride of true craftsmen to the inspiring music of the bells booming and rippling through the dusty shop.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bells at Kilifi, Kenya

Dear Sir,-Your readers may wish to hear what progress was made between St. Thomas Day, December 21st. 1962. When the ring of ix was installed and dedicated, and March 3th, when 1 last saw the ringers before finally leaving the country.
In January and early February practices were held every night except Suadays, from 5 to 6.30. or later, with the usual variable attendances, several recruits falling by the wayside. In the end the following persons could ring the bells up and down, and in rounds, and were practising call changes:
Mr. Enoch Benjamin. a Pokomo. our organist, retired building foreman from the Dinistry of Works. Church elder:
Mr. Timothy Ramtu, a Digo. graduate of Edinburgh University, District Education Officer ;
Mr. Gideon Ngetsa, a Giriama, senior Goverment driver. Church elder;
Mr. Albert Charo, a Giriama, master at Kilifi Primary School, 'Sunday school teacher:
Mr. Francis Stoo, a Giriama, artisan at Local Government Workshop:
Kahindi, Kazungu and Charo, primary school boys.
They have two books on elementary change ringing, and strips of haidboard containing courses of Stedman, Kent Treble Bob, Bob Doubles. Grandsire, Bob Minimus, plain hunt and examples of Bob and Single. It will be interesting to see haw far they can get by next Christmas!
The bells have been paid for, but the fund is overdrawn by $£ 100$. We naturally want to clear this off as soon as possible, and also to buy two more bells at $£ 100$ each to fill the gap in the bell frame, and to provide chiming mechanism to connect the clock to the betls at a cost of $£ 250$. Contributions may be sent to the Kilifi Church Bell Fund, c/o Midland Bank. Acock's Green, Birmingham, 27.-Yours taithfully,
W. F. P. KELLY.

Ringers' Names

Dear Sir.-Having read with interest Ringers Names, and Others; I notice an ntor in the names of the fingers who took part in the colour peal. These should read: veorge Gray, Fred White, Stafford Green. Nollam Brown, Harold Hazell. Wiliam Rose, The Golden, Alan Pink.
The name included in the writer's list pubof the dast week, Robert Black, was not one he band.
'Crescendo' missed out a few in the food List, namely: Fry, Bacon, Rice.
In clothing, we find: Coates, Ruffles, Tucker. Among birds, there is Woodoock.
Then, of course, going back a few years, reme were some really uncommon names, I Arthat Lonose of Andrew Shufflebotham. etc,-Yours, etc, etc., Yours, etc.,

Copenhagen Carillon

Dear Sir, -I feel I must write and correct an cror regarding the paragraph about the curillon in Our Saviour's Church, Copenhagen. I was there some years ago and saw this, and brought back with me a booklet in Danish giving its whale history and, in fact, that oí all the bells in the tower. I have had this translated.

Your paragraph states 1717/34: this is entirely wrong. The first part of the cartillon was not heard until 1917, and then only eight bells. The 33 betls were eventually consecrated in 1928. and then another seven were added, and finally another four. This makes 44 bells. I don't know where the discrepancy in the number comes in, but it was the date that attracted my attention.
1 have often heard this carillon at Christmas time. when it used to be, and, I believe, still is. broadcast on Christmas Eve, ringing Danish carols, and there was an H.M.V. recond (78). No. X4742 (Danish List). a copy of which I still have, which was quite good, bui spoiled in places by noisy traffic in the street below. This was played by the organist Rung-Keller

The portion in your paragraph about the old historical bells and the "Te Deum' theme is correct. A clockwork mechanism was installed in 1931, and a hymntime is played every three hours, till midnight. Besides this a special bell-tune is played at each hour. Whether or not Mr. Rung-Keller is still alive I cannot say, but if he is, he must he very old now.-Yours faithfully,

Dulwich. S.E. 22 .

> ARTHUR H, COOMBS.

'Mischief' leaves her Ringing Friends

Dear Sir-I am sure that her many ringing friends will be sorny to learn that "Mischief' has gone to happier hunting grounds, at the age of 12 . In her $10 \frac{1}{2}$ years of loyal companionship, she had accompanied me on visits to over 1.000 towers, and altogether had travelled over half a million miles. This, I should think. must very nearly constitute a cenine record.-Yours sincerely,
E. T. P. FIELD.

Stoke-sub-Hamdon, Somerset.

Guildford Cathedral Bells

Dear Sir,-Your readers will have noticed from the report of the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild that the Guild has issued an appeal to offset the cost of the four bells for the Guildford Cathedral that have not been promised. The sum required is in the region of $£ 5.650$, which also covers a proportion of the framework and hanging costs. The appeal has been launched through the medium of local papers covering the diocese and also by means of a letier to many companies.
The annual meeting particularly expressed its feeling that ofter bellringing Guilds and Associations should not be approached for a donation in view of the ever-increasing frequency of such appeals. However, I feel that the Exercise should be informed that donations will, of course, be acceptable, and should be sent to the undersigned.-Yours faithfully.

DOUGLAS A. R. MAY

East Clandon, Surrey.

Grandsire Doubles

Dear Sir,-In reply to the letter by Mr. F. J. Suge (page 212), concerning Grandsire Doubles. I would like to make the following observations.
The method, Grandsire Doubles, consists of plain hunting. except for the thirds place made from backstroke io handstroke. immediately after the whole hunt bell has completed its whole lead.
This means that the method must have the same start as "original," except when the treble is the whole bunt bell. The observation bell docs the work thirds. double 4-5 up at alternate leads, and so is always in either thirds place or fifths at the whole hunt backstroke lead. The bells in these places are the only two possible observation bells. Examination of the following table will demonstrate the correct observation bells.

Whole hunt Half hunts

| :--- | :---: | :---: |
| $\frac{24153}{42513}$ | 4 | $2-1$ |
| $\frac{55231}{54321}$ | 5 | $4-2$ |
| $\frac{53412}{35142}$ | 3 | $5-4$ |
| $\frac{31524}{13254}$ | 1 | $3-5$ |
| 12345 |  |  |

With the above system each bell becomes the half hunt for two different whole hunts.
I have not read 'Grandsire' and consequently do not know of Trollope's system. but I suggest that the truth of the compositions contained in it be checked before any more peals of this type are rung. -Yours faithfully,

HUGH N. EVANS.

SIMPLE HANDBELL PEALS

By G. DODDS

'THE article by Mr. Hudson on 'Simple Callings for Handbell Peals' (February 8th, page 93) interested me as a conductor who does not believe in making life too difficult when attempting to get a none-too-steady band through 'first peals.' This approach can be applied on other numbers of bells than Major, and the following ideas may be of interest to those handbell ringers who can ring touches, but always lose peals. All the touches and peals are simple and are ideal for early stages in handbell conducting.

DOUBLES

This has a technique of jts bwn, where the work and places made have no natural symmetry, and there is no choice of extents available -all have to be rung at least once in the average peal. The treble and each temporary observation bell just have to be watched throughout.

MINOR

Most handbell ringers start with Minor, as there is an attractive symmetry of work and places ideally suited to working pairs of bells relative to one antother. For a peal of Plain Bob Minor, one should try for seven different 720's-and not with only the singles shifted in one basic extent. Make 5-6 a good anchor by giving them regular part structures, e.g.:

1 6th Bob W; Single W; - Bob H.
5th Make Bob; Make Single ; - Bob with 6th.

Repeat twice.
360 changes
apart.
The first extent in this group is perhaps the easiest to ring on handbells, as calls are few and 5-6 are affected by only two calls, one to bob them out of coursing and the other to single them back again. As shown, the bobs at Home occur with the front bells in-course (coursing orders 324,243 and 432 ), but they can be placed instead in the second course of each part, with the front bells out-of-course (coursing rorder 234, 342 and 423).

This one composition could be used in a seven method peal, where. in 6ths place methods, the corresponding calls to Wrong and Home and In and Out. The basic part would be called 'S Out, Out, S Out, Out ' (note the reversal of Bobs and Singles), and the 'In' would be called with 5-6 coursing at lead-ends, as the Home in the 2nds place composition.
2 6th Single $W$; Single $W$; Bob $H$.
5th Make Bob; Make Single; Bob with 6th.

This type is almost a variation of the first, but is even simpler as a composition- 3 H with '5-6 parted' singled in at W , with the Inand Out-of-course reversed by doubling with singles (or putting bob for single 360 changes apart).

3 6th Wrong: Home and Wrong (Standard Calling).
5th Make Bob; Out twice.

| 23456 W H | 23456 | W | B | H | 23456 | W | B | H |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 45236 -* | $\begin{aligned} & 35246 \\ & 24356 \\ & 45236 \\ & 34256 \end{aligned}$ | - | S | — | 52346 | - | S | SS |
| 34256 |  | - |  |  | 45236 |  |  |  |
|  |  | - | S | - | 32456 | - |  |  |
| Repeat 5 times |  | - |  |  | 34256 |  |  |  |
| 360 changes |  | t |  |  |  |  |  |  |

360 w al apart.

Repeat twice.

Repeat twice.

With Treble Bob methods, the obvious choice is the basic 'Standard Calling' (pr In, Out, In in 6ths place methods), where Kent is a good introduction and Norwich the easiest of the Surprise group.

One more extent is well worth quoting and was given to me in chorus by two members of a well known handbell team of years ago, but it will be noticed that the main calls are reversed:
'Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle, tinkle.
Make the Bob and make the Single!
which with 6th observation is simply
$3 W$, make Single, make Bob, 3H. Repeated.

TRIPLES

As with Doubles, the work and places are asymmetrical. Very few methods other than Grandsire and Stedman are rung, and very few peals of Stedman are rung 'in hand' as the method is an end in itself, not leading one on to any other method
The easiest Grandsire peals are either Parker's Twelve-Part, 7th observation, or one of the 3 -lead course peals, where the conductor has to be on his toes to remember to call all the Bobs, and where to put in the odd Singles.

After Minor, this is the next logical step for peal ringing 'in hand. The symmetry of work and places is similar and the range of methods and compositions is large. Most teams will naturally start with Pain Bob, so let us see which are the simplest for handbells.
Perhaps the most famous and popular of all is E. M. Alkins' which must have been called hundreds of times, either in its original form or in one of the many variations, and it is given pride of mace in the Central Council booklet, 'Change Ringing on Handbells.' It it known to the composer as Tappa, tappa? from the labelling of parts and from its handbell simplicity.

P SS for Bobs at ( $\dagger$ ) (i.e. on Parted lead of 5-6).
Call TAAPAA, TAAPA(A); where one (A) is reduced to Bob H only.

An easier Twelve-Part peal from the point of view of 5-6 coursing is the following 5,184 , where $7-8$ are given the interest of 5 ths $/ 4$ tns and Before to help pass the time and any trouthe in the one difficu lead per part can usually be corrcted with only a little floundering It will be noticed that the light bells, 2, 3, 4. retain their coursing order from $5 / 4$ ths to $5 / 4$ ths, as in euch part of the previous peal and the H-W pair of calls are merely a $5 / 4$ ths on $5-6$.

LOOKING BACK, 1877-1878-'Church Bells'

By CLAUDE RUSH

LETTER BY REV. H. T. ELLACOMBE
" It is often asked: "What is a peal?", and it seems strange that there should be any difficulty in answering the question

The term is generally applied to any ringing of bells together -no matter whether of ten minutes' or ten hours' duration . . . Such was the meaning in pre-Reformation times, as may be seen by an extract from the Lives of the Berkeleys, a MS.
in the possession of the College of Arms . On the death of Lady Isabel, wife of Lord Maurice Berkeley, who died in 1516 at Coventry, the following ringing took place"Rynging daily with all the Bells continually: that is to say, at St. Michaell's xxxiii peles, ad Trinitie xxxiii peles, at St. John's xxxiii peles, at Babyleak because it was so nigh, lvij peles and in the Mother Church xxx peles and every pele xiiid.

But since the introduction of scientific change-ringing on the principle of permutations early in the last century [i.e., 18 th centuryC. R.] the term is known and used as a performance of the full number of changes of which the bells are capable or any number above 5,000 : any portion of changes under that number with seven or more bells is called either 1 short or long touch; in some places a piece of ringing, by others a flourish on the bells, etc.

LETTER BY THOMAS NORTH, F.S.A.,  EDITOR OF ' LEICESTERSHIRE BELLS

'Although I am not myself a ringer, I should be extremely sorry if the columns in " Church Bells" devoted to Bell-ringing were disconlinued. 1 believe that the news there given attracts the attention of a body of men for whom little has hitherto been done, and that encouragement is likely to be given to scientific ringing
DEATH KNELLS: FUNERAL KNELLS
These are rung according to the custom of the place, but in every place three times three tolls for a man, three times two tolls for a woman either at the beginning or at the end of the passing bell, which would be the tenor or a smail bell according to the age of the deceased. The passing bell is now [1877] usually tolled half an hour as soon as possible after death, and then rung out for half an hour (see Dr. Donne's Meditations) and then falled, and the age tolled and the sex announced as may be In a later issue came the following:
custom at Gawsworth, Cheshire, is to ring the teaor up, and then set it each way for a quarter of an hour, and then ring it down again and then chime all round. For males, three times on each bell and twice round; for females twice on each bell and three times round for another quarler of an hour.'
Also :
at Colyton, Devon. six or twelve hours after death the great bell is tolled slowly, once for each year of the deceased...t then. alter a short pause, a lighter bell sounds for two or three triplets-iwo for a female, three for a male. In some places these are called "tellers," or "tailers." which is very probably the origin for saying " Nine tailors make a man," which in itself has as little sense as civility. I am not sure whether the single triplet for an infant was in use

Thomas North wrote: ' . . . These vary much in different parishes. Three tolls for a male and two for a female are the best, and follow ancient custom

The Editor adds
The Editor adds: 'The custom for knolling, in all old-fashioned country parishes is, for children, to take the smaller bells, as the case may be, from treble upwards.'
DURHAM DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION OF RINGERS
This Association held its inaugural meeting at Christ Church, North Shields, on Saturday, November 24th, 1877. It seems that ringing took place from before $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. until 9 p.m.
The Editor adds: 'We congratulate Durham on this beginning, but are very sorry to hear that more consideration was not paid to the requirements and wishes of ringers from a distance as to time of holding the service ( 5.15 p.m.), which many were unable to attend for fear of missing their trains.'

ST. PAUL'S, DENHOLME, YORKS
Nov. 19, 1877. - Eight members of the Denholme company rang 5,124 Treble Bob Major in 3 hrs. 6 mins., composed by Wm. Sottanstall, of Sorby. Tenor 15 cwt . 'The above new ring was opened Nov. 4, 1876. Since then the company has been formed and for the last six months has been under the tuition of Mr. J. Jenkinson, of the Bradford Old Company

Disgraceful Condition of Bells, and Belfries about Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk.:

Apparently a correspondent wrote to the paper with a complaint. The editor replied: "We advise "O. L." to lay his just complaints before the Archdeacon.'

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION OF

 RINGERSThe first quarterly meeting was held at Lynn on December 10th, 1877, the inaugural meeting having taken place at Norwich, September 24th. - The meeting was not a large one as, with the exception of the company at Lynn, the ringers of the neighbourhood are but few, many of the belfries being in a sorry condition

WOBURN. BEDFORDSHIRE

A set of Mr. Seage's 'Church-bell dumbpractice apparatus' has recently ( (early 1877) been fixed to these bells Mr . Seage it is right to say that his invention deserves great praise . . obtaining an unlimited amount of practice for learners without annoying the neighbours... Persevering efforts are being made to master change-ringing in Woburn, the only place in this county where it is practised

DINTON, NEAR SALISBURY

- When the present clergyman came here some years ago (i.e.. previous to 1877), the bells were in bad condition. Through his energy the bells have been rehung by Messrs. Warner and a company of ringers formed, ... a most respect able set.
had never heard any changeringing, and so created one set of change-ringers out of a lot of agricultural labourers in a district where change-ringing is entirely unknown.

Tenor 141 cwt.'

WEEK-END BELLRINGING COURSE AT HEREFORD

Ringers from Berkshire, Oxford, Hertford-

 shire, Bedfordshire, Yorkshire, London, Birmingham, Shropshire, Surrey and Herefordshire were attracted to Hereford on April 5th to attend a bellringing course at Hereford Training College. The college, assed by kind permission of the principal and L.E.A., proved in be an ideal venue because of the excellent facilities available.About 50 ringers were welcomed by the director of the course, Mr. W. F. Moreton He had been ably assisted with the preparatory work by the man on the spot, Mr. A. T. Wingate, Master of the Hereford Diocesan Guild. Mr. Moreton had mustered a notable team of lecturers to support him. The course offered a varioty of subjects and covered many facets of the bellringers' art. Running parallel to the main course was an advanced course ; a small group of ringers studying composition and conduoting under Mr. W. E. Critchley and Mr. C. K. Lewis.
The tone and high standard of the course was set from the start, by the first lecture given by Mr. F. Sharpe, president of the Central Council. He freely gave of his wealth of knowledge and experience ; his meticulous attention to preparation and detail, his unique display of pictures, bells and visual aids, his courteous, easy manner and, above all, his enthusiasm. could not fail to sitir the most lethargic or somnolent ringer.
This quality was maintained by the feast of eloquence, enthusiasm and erudition displayed by the other lecturers -Mr . N. Chaddock, Mr. W. F. Moreton and Mr. P. M. J. Gray. It was, therefore, an exitremely successful course, and while the exact value cannot be measured, it can do nothing but good for bellringing. Mr. Moreton and his colleagues are to be congratulated, and it is hoped that, in spite of the hard work involved, they can be persuaded to arrange more courses later.
Tired ringers dispersed after tea on Sunday, much richer for their experience at Hereford, N. J. S.

Memorial To Ernest Morris

The vergers of the Leicester Diocese have subscribed to a memorial to Ernest Morris. This takes the form of a very fine altar book fo: St. Margaret's Church, Leicester. The book was dedicated on the Monday in Holy Week.

Towers, like bellringers, have individual characteristics. No two are alike, yet they possess one thing in common. Church towers in multifarious shapes, be they built of brick. stone or timber, form the most distinctive feature of the building in which God is worshipped. They may contain one, two or many bells; numerically it matters little, for every bell has a common purpose: they are the Church's strongest voice; they entreat. remind and exhort. And the person who commands the bell. be he a solitary bellman or a member of a skilled band of bellringers. shares the same joy and satisfaction in the regular and faithful Matin chime and the beautiful melody of changes, which Sunday by Sunday sound above the English countryside . . . . The tower is the bellringer's second home. From the individuality of Essex sentinels to the quaint timbered structures of the west, towers are symbols not only of the Church's strength and a singleness of purpose, but they also protect that mystic 'togetherness '- il sense of cordial relationship engendered beneath gently-chiming and rapidlyswinging bells.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

A very successful spring meeting of the Society was held on March 23 rd at the pleasant village of Pattingham. Although it is only a few miles west of Wolverhampton, near the Shropshire border, it is in a country residential area.
The ring of eight bells (tenor 14 cwt .) which hangs beneath St. Chad's tall spire, was raised at 3 p.m. and kept going until the Society's form of Evensong. which was conducted by the Rector, Rev. E. C. Hayward. The Rector said the Society was very welcome to Pattingham. and some members could not remember when the last meeting was held there.

Only cups of tea were served at the Village Hall opposite, as it was 'bring your own tea.' Afterwards the hon. secretary asked all members to hand all copy for the next annual report to him by June 22 nd next (annual meeting) in writing. The forthcoming striking competition would take place at Little Aston on May 4th, all bands asembling at 3 p.m. The rules were as previously announced, but it was made clear that only attached resident members would be allowed to take part. Closing entry date. April 27th.
Subject to permission, the next meeting will be held at Newborough and Needwood on May llth. The following new members were elected: P. Challenor (Bilston), Miss S. C. Guthrie, Miss J. Ansell, Miss S. J. Devy, R. D. Baker, J. P. Darrall. D. Hiscock (all of Cannock). M. J. Stephens (Lichfield Cathedral), Miss C. Follis (Little Aston) and. D. J. Bates (Wednesbury) as resident members. The following four ringers were also elected to honorary life membership: W. Benton (Cannock), E. G. Bowyer (Penn). T. Roden (Wednesbury) and T. Smith (Wolverhimpton).
Our thanks to all who made us so welcome. and 10 Mrs. B. G. Key for playing the organ at short notice.

OBITUARY

MR. FRANK OAKSHOTT'S PEALS

Although the late Mr. Frank Oakshott, of Christ Church, Epsom, and Master of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Guild, did not have a large peal total, by some standards, the list has two unusual features. Only 11 of the 60 peals were rung before 1945 (the first in 1918). The Surprise peals were all rung in the last three years of his life, and the methods were learned at an age when most ringers are content to enjoy ringing methods they already know.
The peals were rung in 19 towens, of which the largest number, 21 , were rung at Christ Church, Epsom. of which tower he had been captain for so long. They were rung for nine Associations, mostly for the Surrey (29) and Guildford (24).
The summary is as follows:
Minor-Plain Bab 3 (conducted 1), Cambridge Surprise 1, 4 methods 1,7 methods 1. Total 6 (i).
Triples.-Grandsire 24 (1), Stedman 2, Oxford Bob 1, Plain Bob 1. Total 28 (1).

Major-Plain Bob 13, Kent Treble Bob 4, Double Norwich 2, Cambridge Surprise 2 , New Cambridge Surprise 1, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob 1, Lincolnshire Surprise 1, Superlative Surprise 1, Yorkshire Surprise 1. Total 26.

Mr. Oakshott's peal book contained records of 113 quarter peals. In pride of place must be put the first quarter by a local band for 25 years, which is entered in 1955. This was followed by such progress by the Sunday service band. that it has often featured among th: leading towers in Surrey for the number of quarter peals rung annually. His ambition fo- the band to ring a quarter of Surprise was achieved in 1962, but Stedman proved elusive, despite numerous attempts.

Anolher feat he did not live to see was a peal by members of his family, most of whom can ring. However, he has left a young band of ringers who will cherish his memory and try to keep the filag flying for him.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The quarterly business meeting of the Bedford IDistrict was held at Harrold on April 6th, where, despite the windy weather, over 41) ringers in all enjoyed the use of the very good six. Ringing ranged from rounds and plain junting on six to London and Beverley Surprise.
At the meeting it was decided that the May meeting should be cancelled, owing to the annual meeting of the Association being held on May 4 h . The towers for the next two meetings were chosen as: Willington, for June, and Felmersham, for July.

A vote of thanks was proposed by the chairman. Mr. J. Hilson, to Rev. T. Dix for conducting the service and for the use of the bells, and to the local ladies for providing such an excellent tea.
F. W.R.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCLATION

The Tonbridge District held a quarterly meeting jointly with the Kent Branch of the Ladies' Guild at Penshurst on April 6th.
Ringing began in the afternoon, followed by tea and a service, conducted by the Rectior (Rev. A. Curry), with the Rev. P. N. Bond reading the lesson. The business meeting followed, when arrangements for the annual meeting were discussed, and sidesmen proposed from among the members present, to officiate at the annual service on Easter Monday. Three new members were elected.

The members of the Ladies' Guild held their own business meeting, while the remaining company made use of the bells. Ringing continued until 8 p.m., in a variety of methods.

Another member of the Kent "third Saturday" band, Mr. John Cooper, was married on April 6th, and, in honour of the occasion, most of the other members of that band, with a few additions, rang a peal of Lincolnshire at Brenchley. Also in the coulity a band, which includes John, meets on the sccond Saturday, and past and present members of this band were also successful with a peal of 27 Surprise Minor methods at Hothfield, where the marriage was solemnised.
A quarter peal was rung at Droitwich Spa, Worcestershire, for practice fully muffled to avoid disturbing the parish.
The peal at Ilmington, Warks (see page 219), was rung as a birthday compliment to Mr . Charles Sabin, 62 years a ringer at this church, and not as published.
The farewell achievement of Mr. Ronald K. Russ, before leaving for Adelaide, Australia, was to sing his first peal in 42 methods/variations.
Mr. Donald A. Kirk is leaving Lincolnshire on appointment as headmaster of a county primary school at Stedham, near Midhurst, Sussex.
Who was the well-known Southampton conductor who after ringing four courses of one of his own compositions of Yorkshire realised that it was only 4,800 changes long? Was 30 seconds' checking worth seven pints of bitter?!
The five bells at Lapworth, Warwickshire, have been rehung and a treble added. The bells are to be dedicated on Sunday, April 28 th, at 6 p.m. Evensong. There will be ringing after the service.
Slough ringers have rung three quarters this Ient to welcome visiting preachers from churches with bells of their own. There was good striking on each occasion. Our correspondent hopes that they took away with them a good impression of Sunday service ringing at Slough-in case they should mention their visit to their local ringers!
