beLLS at a music Festival

READERS will recall that last year the organisers of the Twickenham and Richmond Music Festival included for the first time sections on handbells, for tunes and for change ringing. Evidently an instance of their astute Chairman, Dr . D. J. Neal Smith, introducing novelties gradually, because this year he persuaded his committee not only to repeat the handhell items, but also to include a section for tower bell ringing. 1 imagine this must be the first time change ringing on tower bells has been an item in a music festival, but predict it will not be the last.

This year the handbell contests were held on March 5th. at The London Apprentice." at Isleworth. This was appropriate because of the long connection of this public house with London ringers and their handbells. It had the drawback, however. that the performances were not given in the presence of the vocalists and other instrumentalists attending the Festival. Nevertheless about $70-80$ people did attend.

The rules provided for competitors to ring not less than 250 changes in any standard method, two in hand. Entrants had, therefore, to be beyond the stage reached by so many of us of just being able to get through a plain course of Grandsire Triples or Plain Bob Major. What could not have been expected. however. was that one of the bands would choose to ring 288 changes of Spliced Surprise Major (London. Cambridge. Superlative and Bristol). It is impossible to do this unless the striking and rhythm are almost perfect. so the adjudicator nad no real difficulty in awarding the chairman's challenge shield and an honours certificate to John Mayne's team for a wonderful performance. No judge ever gives marks of $100 \%$ - I awarded $95 \%$, but readily admit that the few faults found would have been unnoticeab!e in any less perfect performance

Mr. Goodfellow's team from St. John's. Islington, were sccond, with 252 changes of Grandsire Triples, an excellent performance. marred only by one bad patch. Mr. Rogers' band from Isleworth was remarkable because it was $75 \%$ a family affair and they chose 252 Stedman Triples - not everyone's choice for easy performance. They came third. but it was a close thing. Fourth werc the Christ Church. Epsom Common. Guild. who rang 272 Plain Bob Major

The team tune ringing which followed had three entries and so different were they in character that they could well have formed separate classes. The Ealing band. led by Mr. Fulwell, who is tower captain at St. Mary's. Ealing, gave an impressive performance and the dexterity shown by 11 performers with some 50 bells was evidence of much practice together. Last year they were the only competitors in this class, but this year they were just as clear winners of the Festival challenge shield. The Whittington handbell ringers. 10 performers, each with two hells. were excellent and deserved sympathy in meeting the Easling hand and therefore only gaining second place. Epsom were third, hut their choice of simple well-known tunes for their 12 bells was very well advised and gave enjoyment to the audience.

This year's novelty, the tower bell competition, attracted five teams to Isleworth tower on March 14th. and added interest was given to this by the attendance of the B.B.C. As already reported briefly, short extracts from the ringing and remarks by Dr. Neal Smith. by myself as adjudicator, and by the conductor of the winning band, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow. were included in the Home Service on the following Monday. The teams. with methods rung and faults found were: 252 Stedman Triples, by Hillinginn, 25 faults: and hy Isleworth, 29 faults: and Chelsea faults : and Epsom, 252 Plain Bob Triples, 49 faults. The closeness of marks of the first four teams will be noted, Isleworth being placed second and Chelsea third, only by taking into account the type of touch called.

Ringing competitions are a new venture in this part of the country as well as new in a music festival. If they lead, as I think they must, to an improvement in striking and the encouragement of friendly rivalry to that end, then they seem to be well worth while. The rules of the Festival require that no adjudicator should serve for more than two consecutive years so. while thanking the teams for their forbearance, I can now leave to another the invidious job of commenting publicly on the performances of my friends. W. G. WILSON.

TECHNICAL LITERATURE

By ANDREW S. HUDSON

IT was very encouraging to read Mr. Hodgson's letter in 'the Ringing World.' The problem of publication of definitive works dealing with the various theoretical aspects of change ringing is of course financial. It is impossible to make large collections readily available unless a realistic price is charged to ensure recovery of capital expenditure. and it is not easy to estimate in advance the demand for such publications. If collections are published privately. then recovery of expenditure must usually be made fairly soon after the book becomes available, and therefore one cannot keep the price low in the hope of breaking even over a period of years, but nevertheles: one can guarantee to cover cost if a price is charged similar to those which one would expect to pay for books on any other subject. Why should the ringing public expect to get its textbooks for three or four shillings? If we want works which are complete. properly printed and bound, we should expect to pay the order of 15 s . to $£ 1$. and then there would be some encouragement to the Central Council to go ahead and provide some respectahle publications.

When there is a demand for information by the Exercise, the Central Council should take all reasonable steps to satisfy it : this is one of the reasons why we elect a Council. and the appropriate committee have a responsibility to us to see that these things are done. and done in a reasonable length of time. Little wonder that one has to take things into one's own hands when year after year goes by and very little happens. When a publication does emergc. it frequently doesn't contain what we want. on account of some personal whim of the pcople responsible, and we are little better off.

I have learnt several lessons from, the recent Collection of Right Place Surprise Methods. On the one hand, my colleagues and I now appreciate the difficulties involved in producing an accurate work. free from mistakes, together with the simp'e hard work and time required. On the other hand. we now have a much better appreciation of the feclings and attitude of the Exercise as a whole fowards such a collection. Over the last few months we have received the opinions of about a hundred people. of which over half have been through the post. It appears that such steps as we have taken are almost universally welcomed. and also that the Exercise is prepared to pay for the information it requires. Indeed. I can find only three letters out of over 50 which do not approve of our efforts, so there is every encouragement to carry on with similar ventures.

Finally. a few words on the subject of further collections of methods. It is no trouble to produce definitive lists of methods by computer means. but in many cases it is impracticable to puhlish them, In the case of the Right Place methods, we

MATTERS FOR INVESTIGATION

Dear Sir,-1 trust that you will allow me space to say a word or two about two motions which I hope to put forward at the forthcoming Central Council meeting at Truro. I do this in the hope that members may have the chance to consider the issues beforehand and so use the limited time for debate to the best advantage. It is not an attempt to by-pass the Central Council.
I believe that the main aims of change ringing may be summarised as:
(a) To produce as much variation as possible at each stroke
(b) To avoid repetition until all the possibilities have been exhausted.
It is possible to develop the Plain Boh method on the basis of the two main aims, explaining the various imitations that are imposed from practical considerations and to obtain uniformity throughout the Exercise. This I have endeavoured to do in our ringing courses at Lumley Castle and this year with the co-operation of kind friends I set this out in the form of a booklet.
In the ordinary course of a method it is not necessary for a bell to lie more than two consecutive blows in tho same position and it is not necessary for more than one bell 10 do this between successive rows with an odd number of bells, or for more than two to do this on an even number of bells. This permits of a wide variely of methods where these limits are not exceeded.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE

There would be quite a logical case fot stipulating that these limits should not be exceeded in methods which are to be classed as 'regular.' However, one of the methods that would become irregular would be Cambridge Surprise. This is a method which is widely rung and is part of the standard repertoire and there is, therefore, a good case for extending the limits so that Cambridge and a number of other methods shall remain regular. This is the background of my motion: "That the Central Council shall no longer recognise as regular any even-bell method which has four places made between successive rows on more than one occasion in a half-lead Criticism will doubtless be raised on the scores that (a) the acceptance of this motion would restrict the freedom of ringers and (b) a few methods already rung will become irregular.
On point (a) it may be observed that most, if not all, of the Central Council conditions restrict freedom. For example, the require ment of Plain Bob lead-ends causes rejection of about 59 out of every 60 notations for Righ: Place Surprise Maior methods. If this motion is adopted there will still be 9.106 Right Place Surprise Maior methods available and to these must be added all those with places made wrong. This considerable number is achieved within the limitations imposed by Surprise.
This is a voluntary limitation accepted by many ringers whicn leaves almost untanped a vast reservair of Trebie Bob and Delight methods, largely because of the mistaken prestige value of the word 'Surprise.' It may be noted that ringers have generally shown a preference for those methods without double changes in that in Hudson and McClenahan collection as published 186 without double chanees were named against only 60 containing double changes. although the total number available in the latter category is much greater
On point (b) it may be recalled that method; which were being rung, such as Woodbine. were excluded when Plain Bob lead-ends were required. This hay not stopped them from heingt rung and, indeed. The Central Council cannot what they should or should not ring. The Council can and should exercise comolete control over its own records. Peals already recorded in methods which would cease to he regular should be allowed to stand but no future performances would be recognised.

SYSTEMATIC NOMENCLATURE
I believe that we have reached the stage where a systematic nomenclature is overdue and noticed a recent letter from Mr. Shuttleworll expressing a similar view. This accounts for the second motion: "That the Central Council should investigate and report on the possibilities of systematic nomenclature for methods.

A prerequisits for such an investigation would seem to be it list of all the possibilities to be considered and, therefore, Messrs. Hudson and MeClenahan have done an extremely useful job in one section of the field. With the restriction on double changes that they have adopted, and which I propose should be maue an official requirement. the collection is kept within reasonable bounds. This is a great advantage to set off against any disadvantages. I hope that other peonle will cover other fieids in a similar way in due course.

I have merely called for an investigation and lot sought to specify how this should he carried out. There seem to he two main possihilities (a) to use an existing committee, such as "Methods" or (b) to set up a special committee. This would seem to be a good case for the latter and it might well be that the finding of a suitable convener with power to enlist assistants would be the most effective way of doing the job.-Yours faithfully.

DENIS A. BAYLES.

PUTNEY WEEK-END, 1964

An assortment of ringers converged on King's Lynn on Friday, April 3rd, in three cars and a minibus to start another Putney week-end tour. The prospects were not very good when we set out from King's Lynn, our base, on the Saturday morning, and at Terrington St. Clement. the first tower, there was a small gale blowing. After an enjoyable ring here we went on to Long Sutton (a fine eight), being held up by a ship at Sutton Bridge.
The tower at Tydd St. Giles (6) stands some 40) feet away from the church, having been moved because of a subsidence. The pleasant six of Wisbech St. Mary's preceded dinner Downham Market's 8 proved to be a pleasant ring. On to Watlington ( 6 ), another groundfloor ring, and then to the much awaited six at St. Mary the Virgin's, Wiggenhall, reputed to be unringable. We got them up and indeed there were some rounds in hetween bells dropping but the final verdict was unringable fo changes. St. Mary Magdalen's, by contrast were a very good six recast in 1952. Finally visit to Waywood (another 6) brought us back to King's. Linn. During the evening we enjoyed a friendly practice and some good ringing on the melodious ten of St. Margaret's Parish Church.
Leaving King's Lynn homeward bound we called at Swattham, where we rang the fine cight from the gallery. After a most enjoy. able lunch at Bury St. Edmunds those who could still move made their way to the Cathedral, where some good ringing was had on the 30 cwt. ten. On then to Burwell (another good cight) before having tea in Cambridge the last tower contained the fine new eight a Trumpington.
Our thanks to all who made us welcome and allowed us to ring.
C. F. M.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Before ringing could commence on the pleasant but heavy six at Blunham, when the Biggleswade District met there on April Ilth. all the ropes had to be taken up considerably Despite this delay and the rather poor atten dance the bells were put to good use during the afternoon, with Mr. B. Sims as Ringing Mavter.

Eighteen ringers then adjourned to the Village Hall. where they enjoyed an excellent tea prepared by the local ladies. The Vicar took the chair at the short business mecting which followed, when a collection was made toward, the cost of the printing block for the new certificates of membership. Several visitors in the evening widened the variety of methods rung.

FIRST 12-BELL PEAL FOR TRURO GULLD

The Truro Diocesan Guild was founded in 1897, but it was not until August, 1907, that the first peal was rung for the Guild and that was in Devonshire at Emmanuel, Plymouth, by a band of life members, conducted by the late Harry Myers. This band wanted to forestall the late Rev. F. E. Rohinson's touring party which visited Cornwall in the same year and rang the first peal in the county for the Guild at Kenwyn in the October. This was a peal of Superlative, conducted by the late" George Williams

The diocese of Truro covers the whole of the county of Cornwall with three parishes in Devonshire-Werrington (8), North Petherwin (6) and St. Giles-in-the-Heath (5), but few peals for the Guild have been rung outside the diocese On the other hand. Devon Guild members have more often crossed the border and rung a neal for their Guild in Cornwall In 1913 the late William Pye visited Cornwall and rang five peals but he credired these to the Devon Guild, which may well have been his answer to the fact that he was only allowed to ring for three-quarters of an hour at Truro Cathedral. He then had to wait 25 years for a peal at Truro when he conducted one of Cambridge Royal in 1938. but on his wa: down he had already rung the first peal of Cambridge Royal for the Guild at Yeovil, no doubt allowing for any mishap at Truro.
For a long time resident members of the Guild have cherished the idea of ringing a 1?hell neal, and the possibility seemed nearer some five years ago when it became known that there was a scheme for a tower and a ring of 12 at Newguay. At he moment this eems as far away as ever
Two years ago permission was given for an attempt at Buckfast Abbey and as the date drew nearer it was decided to attemnt Grandsire Cinques and a band was got together One or two who were invited were very modest and considered they had not had enough 12 bell practice, but some life members very kindly helped and the Deal was rung with surprising ease. The Truro Guild is grateful to Devonshire for providing the opportunity. Special thanks are due to Mr. Aubrey Bennett, whe made contact with the Abbey authorities. and he was there with Father Paulinus to give a welcome and to see that all wals in order. It was certainly a nrivilege and joy to all who took dart to set un yet another milestone for the Truro Guild on such a glorious ring of bells.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY ATTEMPT

The attempt at a long length of Grandsire Caters at Loughborough on April 11 th was very short lived. The ringing stonned aftei 1 hour 27 minutes when one of the band became indisposed. Since there was no reserve to hand at that time it was decided not to sestart the attempt
Mr. Patrick J. Bird writes: "We are ex tremely grateful to J. Taylor and Co. for the use of the bells, and to Maurice Huches. Peter Bennett. David Marshall and Arthus Wrighs who kindly acted as umpires.'

Technical Literature-Continued from page : originally hoped to publish all the ones with more than one double change per half-lead but when we found that there are at least 25.()(x) of them in addition to the ones which we did in fact publish it was quite out of the question to publish them all. There must be many more wrong place methods than there are right. so one could not hone to sell a list of all of them at an economical price.
One solution to this nroblem would not be too difficult to put into practice. A limited number of tabulations of both the ahove classes of method (including falseness) could he made and sold at cost to the various Association libraries. The lists would then be available to anyone who wanted to inspect them and there would be no financial risk to the compilers. We would merely need to know which Associations would be prepared to pay something like fl for a copy. I do not propose to do anything about this at the moment, but if there is sufficient favourable comment and interest then we can certainly go ahead.

BATH & WELLS A.G.M.: GREATER INTEREST IN RINGING

THe 74th annual mecting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association took place at Minchead on Easter Monday. Ringers from all Darts of the Diocese gathered in the Parish Church for the service conducted by the Master of the Association, the Rev. H. F. Warren. The lesson was read by Mr. Christopher Hopkins, a ringer and student at Wells Theological College.

After lunch, taken at the Dorrien Restaurant, the meeting took place in the Parish Hall. This was onened with prayer and the Master asked members to stand in memory of the following who had passed away during the year-Preb. C. S. L. Alford, Mrs. E. Knight, Mear-Preb. F. C. Andrews, F. Bond, W. Dunkerton. 11. Griffin. R. Higgins, D. Loxton, T. Mogg, S. Pyne, C. Webh and A. J. Whitehead. Apologies for absence were received from the president. Miss N. G. Williams, the Rev. F. Bennett, Messrs. $P$. Field and D. Yeo. Visitors were welcomed from Gloucester, Middlesex and Hampshire.

In presinting his report the Master stated that, because of the bad weather and clashing of meeting dates, he had only been ahle to visit six Branches during the year. He had seen enough, however, to know that the Association was going forward steadily
He told the metting that he had been privileged to address the Diocesan Conference on the work of the Association. His remarks had created a great deal of interest and had resulted in numerous inquiries both in ringing and in the care of bells. He was most grateful to the Lord Bishop for giving him this opportunity.
The Master referred to the volume of work now being undertaken by the Diocesan Adviser on the Care of Bells, Mr. H. J. Sanger. He felt that the time was coming when the Association would have to exp:and this service. Inquiries were also being received concerning the noisiness of bells. Mr. Warren said that although our instinctive reaction was to say that the bells had been ringing in that way for 300 years they must realise that much can be done to overcome the problem and ringers should be the first to come forward with conmructive ideas.

191 TOWERS AFFILIATED

The secretary, Mr. G. Salmon, reported a performing membership of 1,692 , a drop of 39 on the previous vear. This was disappointing but, on the brighter side, he was pleased to but, on the brighter side, he was pleased to note that 191 towers were now affiliated through their Parochial Church Councils.
Mr. Salmon referred to the departure from Somerset of Mr. P. C. Wright, the peal secSomerset of Mr. P. C. Wright, the peal secretary. He recalled that Mr. Wright had had a most exacting period in office and had written up all the peals rung for the Association prior to 190)2. This work had involved considerable research, mostly undertaken by Mr. Sanger, and he was sure that the Association were most grateful to these two officers for giving them such an interesting insight to its arly history Instruction under the affiliation scheme was continuing and beginning to show the results of many hours patiently spent, some hands having reached the quarter peal stage. In discussing striking, the secretary said that he had noticed a falling off in the standard of service touches, particularly at Branch meetings. He felt that this touch should be of the highest possible standard and that, as it should be an eximmple to young ringers, the Ringing Master should nominate a band that he knew would ring really well. It should certainly not he treated too lightly.

FINANCES ENCOURAGING

In presenting the balance sheet the treasurer, Mr. E. Naylor, reported an increase of $£ 8$ on the General Fund. This was doe mainly to a large number of non-resident life members being elected in 1963. but he warned the meeting that this would probably be offset hy the cost of printing the annual report. A badge piercing tool had been purchased for £27 10s. and $£ 1518 \mathrm{~s}$. had heen paid to "The Ringing World' as half of the peal booking fees received during the year.

Affiliation fees transferred to the Bell Fund totalled $£ 130$. Grants from this fund amounted to $£ 75$ and were made to six towers, the following having benefited: Watchet $£ 42$, Cossington $£ 1515 \mathrm{~s}$., Nailsea $£ 1010$ s., Frome $i 3$ 3s., Weston Zoyland $£ 2$ 2s. and Worle

The balance on the General Fund was $£ 229$ and that on the Bell Fund $£ 225$. The approximate value of investments was $£ 315$.

Mr. H. J. Sanger, the Diocesan Adviser on the Care of Bells, cold the meeting that he had visitod 19 towers in 1963 . He gave a comprehensive report on his year's work and also reported the progress of restoration work cibried out in towers that he had helped previously. Mr. Sanger was very pleased to siy that he had been consulted by one architect in connection with the Quinguennial Surveys at several towers. It seemed that few architects were conversant with the mechanics of bells and the recognition of the Association's seivices in this respect was an important step forward. Obviously many towers and belfries had been overlooked by these surveys in the past and in developing this theme Mr. Sanger dwelt at length on general maintenance in the belfry.

91 PEALS

The peal secretary, Mr. I'. C. Wright, spoke of the 91 peals rung for the Association during the year. Of thesc. 30 were rung hy visiting hands but he was delighted to be able to say that resident bunds had recorded 10 methods rung for the Association for the first time.
The leading peal ringers were Mr. E. SkipThe leading peal ringers were Mr. E. Skip-sey with 13 and Mr. D. J. Hunt and Mr. V. G. Roberts with 12 each. Mr. Hunt, who had conducted six of his peals, was also the leading conductor.

Mr. Wright asked members to be a little more discerning in their footnotes to peals.
It was one thing for a village band to honour local resident but quite another for a typical peal band to ring for something none of them knew anything about or troubled ahout afterwards. Trivial and badly judged reasons can only make a mockery of the whole thing and can easily bring neal ringing into disrepute.

In closing his remarks Mr. Wright said how sorry he was to leave Someract and thanked all concerned for the wonderful years he had spent there.
On the pronosition of Mr. S. G. Coles, seconded by Mr. W. A. J. Knight, the reports were adopted en bloc.
The meeting then passed to the election of officers and the following were re-elected for the ensuing year: Master, The Rev. H. F. Warren ; secretary, Mr. Gr. Salmon; treasurer,
Mr. E. Naylor: Diocesan Adviser on Mr. E. Naylor: Diocesan Adviser on the Care of Bells, Mr. H. J. Sanger; auditor, Mr. D. E. Lee. Mr. G. W. Massey, Parbury Bungalow, Vallis Road, Frome, was elected as peal secretary.
LIFE MEMBERSHIP FOR MR. KNIGHT
The Master expressed his great pleasure in announcing the election of Mr. H. W. Knight, of Wrington, as an honorary life memberMr. Knight had been chairman and Ringing Master of the Chew Branch for many years and still served the Association in those capacitics.

The Dunster Branch asked if the subscription of members who had reached retiring age and who had comnleted 25 years' membership of the Association could be waived. After discussion, in which members remarked on these senior ringers' likely reaction and the possible effect on the balance sheet, it was decided that this was a problem that could be tacifully solved by the local hand.
Mr. Sanger, as convener of the Central Council Broadcasting Committee, was asked why the B.B.C. had apparently dropped from the 'Radio Times, almost all references to bells being rung for services. In replying, Mr. Sanger spoke of a change of policy by the B.B.C. in that they were concentrating more on religious discussions than on actual ervices. Also, many of the services that were being broadcast were relayed to the West from other regions.

Mr. Brain commented on the number of towers that were silent on Sundays. He appreciated the work that the Association was doing in this ficld but wondered if the seeking out of these towers could be undertaken at Branch level. He considered that meetings could be held at towers that were not affiliated and also that periodical visits could be made by bands to ring for Sunday services. His remarks were generally endorsed by members and the Master asked all Branch secretaries to take note.

Mr. S. G. Coles proposed. and Mr. D. Burt seconded, that the general secretary be given an honorarium of $\mathrm{El} / 5$. Mr. E. Chivers proposed that the Central Council representatives be given a grant of $£ 20$. This was seconded by Mr. G. Jeannes and hoth propositions were carried.
In conclusion. Mr. Coles thanked the Rev. F Bennett for allowing the Assoclation the usc of his bells and church, the organist, the Master for the able way in which he had conducted the meeting, Mr. W. Middleton who had made all the local arrangements, and finally the incumbents and tower correstor:dents who had made so many rings of bells a vailable.

BELLS COMMEMORATE END OF A RAILWAY LINE

On Anril 4th the last passenger train left Melton Constable to run along the 10 -mile line to Sheringham. The closure of this single-line branch has marked the end of Melton as a passenger station. Once the hub of the Midland and Great Northern Railway, with lines radiating in four directions and trains running to Yarmouth, Norwich, Derby, Leicester and Birmingham. Melton has become during the last ten years a vast 'ghost' station and the closure of the Sheringham line has ended its last passenger service.

This sad event was commemorated by a quarter peal rung in the waiting room on the last day of the service. The melodious sounds of Boh Doubles drew the attention of the local British Railways area supervisor during the last 120. After breathing down the necks of 3-4 and 5-6 for the last five minutes of the quarter he told the hand that he had heen attracted by the Thythmic nattern of the ringing and congratulated them on a fine effort. Two of the ringers had scored their first quarter peal (in a unique place, one would imagine!).

After ringing, the band boarded the last passenger train ever to leave Melton Constable, which pulled out to the popping of flash-bulbs, the hanging of detonators and the sounds of Bob Doubles.

50 YEARS AGO

THE RINGING WORID,' APRIL 17th, 1914 Four Surprise Peals in a Day. - When, some years ago, the St. Stephen's. Westminster, Society rang three Surprise peals in a day, it was thought that the last word had heen said in what could be done in regard to the number of 5,000 's that could be rung in one day. But that idea proved a fiction. and last Easter a Kentish hand rang four 5,000's of Minor in a day. It has been ieft. however. for a band of the Middlesex Association to score the first four peals in one day upon a ring of eight, and they rid it in as complete a manner possihle by ringing them in four different methods. (And four different towers.)

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

At the quarterly meeting of the Tonbridge District at Edenhridge on April 4th an effort to belp struggling hands was arranged in that more experienced ringers would attend these local practices to give instruction and stimulate interest. The Rev. Stanley Evans, of Bredgar, conducted the service, at which the choir rendered in Easter anthem. Tea was given hy the Fdenbridge band, headed by Mr. E. C. Leigh. Plenty of opportunity for learners and heginners was a feature of the ringing.

STARTING THE BEGINNER-GRANDSIRE

Dear Sir, -Mr. Frank Knight's letter about Grandsire v. Plain Bob raises a question which is something of an old chestnut, but it is one which deserves consideration and discussion. I must admit to being one of those who has frequently referred to Grandsire as a 'dead-end ' method, and I firmly believe it to be so; the method has its points, especially musically (Grandsire Caters is generally accepted as producing some of the finest bell music there is) but its value as a method for introducing beginners to change ringing is infinitesimal.

Grandsire's 'backwards' dodging, at back stroke and hand stroke instead of at hand and back, is very confusing until it is fully understood; and once understood, the more normal system of dodging, as found in the vast majority of the more advanced methods, becomes extremely difficult to grasp. Grandsire Doubles can lead on to Triples, then possibly to Stedman and one or two other odd-bell methods, but otherwise it leads nowhere.

Contrast this with the system advocated in Ropesight '-surely one of the greatest text books on change ringing in its elementary stages ever written. (The system, incidentally, which the late Mr. E. H. Lewis used in training his pre-war band at Brasted.) It begins with plain hunting on three bells, then on four: on to Bob Minimus; then to plain hunting on five and Bob Doubles: finally on to plain hunting on six and Bob Minor. Once Bob Minor has been grasped, the way is open to go on to Kent and Oxford and more advanced Treble Bob methods, then on to Surprise methods.

Advancing to the higher numbers involves learning the more complicated ropesight involved, but the principle remains the same. Mrs. Lewis's Brasted band advanced very rapidly by this system, 720's in a wide variety of methods being rung regularly both on Sundays and practice nights: most of us eventually learned Grandsire, and later other purely oddbell methods-though not in our own tower. as the method was never rung there-but not until we had had a sound grounding in a really progressive method of training.

I am well aware that many towers have one or two older ringers who can only ring the tenor as a covering bell (and wonderful service to their towers is rendered by these same older ringers) in addition to younger ringers anxious to progress. If Bob Doubles and Triples are rung instead of Grandsire, these younger ringers will then be in a position. When the time comes, to progress to Minor and Major methods. hy the simple process of replacing the 'four blows behind' by dodging in $5-6$ and $7-8$ respectively.

It is a matter of regret that 'Ropesight , appears to he out of print at present as, in my humble opinion, the system which Snowden advocates is by far the most satisfactory and progressive system of training more young ringers for our towers.-Yours sincerely,

> PETER N. BOND (Rev.)

Gillingham, Kent.
Mr. Harry King, of North Weald. Essex, also writes advocating starting with Bob Doubles. He writes that many years ago he told Mr. George Dent, of Potters Bar, of his difficulty in teaching change ringing by Grandsire Douhles. Mr. Dent said: "Why not try Plain Bob? They will learn that quicker and in no time go on to Minor. If you teach Grandsire Doubles you have nowhere to go very easily from there." Mr. King adds that he took the advice and in no time his learners were ringing Bob Minor.

Dear Sir,-Grandsire or Plain Bob for the beginner? That is a question that is often asked and I think that it stems in part from ringing text books which deal with these methods in separate chapters and so tend to obscure the close relationship that exists between Grandsire and Plain Bob. My answer is Grandsire and Plain Bob in the way that I describe below.
After teaching beginners to ring Plain Bob Minor 'inside,' for Grandsire Triples I simply tell them to use the same rules modified to accommodate another bell plain hunting after the treble. This delays the making of the internal place and the consequent dodging for one blow and so everything has to be pushed up one place higher. It must, of course be pointed out that this postponement of dodging from the backstroke lead of the treble until the handstroke after the treble's lead means that the first dodge will occur immediately on starting in Grandsire. It also means that the cutting in is at handstroke on up dodges in Grandsire as against backstroke in Plain Bob and so on. The rules and their modifications are outlined below :

OR PLAIN BOB?

Grandsire not Dead-end

Dear Sir, - In reply to Mr. F. C. W. Knight's letter (page 220), may I, as a comparative beginner, voice my opinion?
My first experience of change ringing, other than plain hunting, was a plain course of Grandsire Doubles "inside, Having learned how to plain hunt, I could clearly understand what two of the other bells were doing. This made it much easier for me to see which bell to dodge with, for by eliminating the bunt bells there were only two others left.
When. however, I came to ring a plain course of Bob Doubles, I only knew what one other bell was doing, namely, the treble. 'This left me with three bells to choose from when I had to dodge, and may I say that in those early stages one more bell to watch makes more difference than some ringers would imagine.
Personally I do not agree with the people voho consider Grandsire to be a dead-end method; for me, it has helped a lot to know

Plain Bob Minor Grandsire Triples

Passing the Treble

Treble takes one from the lead Pass treble in 2.3 up Pass treble in 3.4 up

| 2nd's | becomes | $3 \mathrm{rd} \mathrm{\prime s}$ |
| 3.4 up | becomes | 4.5 up |
| 5.6 up becomes | 6.7 up , etc. |  |

This is no mere theoretical relationship. It works in practice and $I$ have had several ringers who have rung their first course of Grandsire Triples after this explanation without any prolonged study of the method-some had not even seen it. I see no reason why Grandsire Doubles should not be rung in a similar fashion by modifying the rules for Plain Bob Minimus.
I may add that this treatment may be applied to several Minor methods to give Triples methods with two hunts. St. Clement's and Oxford Bob are quite simple examples and, as plain courses of these may be rung with only five inside ringers, these are often useful for obtaining some variations when resources are limited.

Perhaps one day these thoughts and others may crystallise into a ringing text book which does not devote separate chapters to individual methods. I made a modest start recently for our latest ringing course at Iumley Castle and I hope to extend this. In the meanwhile I hope that Mr. Knight will continue his policy of inifiating his recruits on Plain Bob and I hope that he will trv out these suggestions to enable them to take in Grandsire as well. Yours sincerely,

DENIS A. BAYLES.

Ipswich Bell Foundry

Dtar Sir, Concerning my article dealing with Alfred Bowell and Ipswich Bell Foundry, one error occurred in which it was stated six bells at Maldon were tuned by Mr. F. Bowel. It should have read: The complete eight were tuned by this gentleman.-Yours, etc.,
T. A. BEVIS.

March.
how to ring it for, although it may not have as much use in learning other methods as has Plain Bob, for me the fact that I learned it quickly encouraged me to go on and learn other methods. If it had been Plain Bob first I might have been easily discouraged through taking longer to learn how to ring it.
May I stress that this is only a personal opinion. I quite agree that other ringers would not have found Grandsire easier, for the same reason as I have given. - Yours faithfully,

ANNE M. SMITH

Tenor Ringing

Dear Sir.I have long admired the style alld ability of Mr. Harry Mann, having rung with him many times. Other men I can quote are: Fred Hodgson (Liversedge), Edward Earnshaw (Meltham). Noel Moxon (Cawthorne). Alfred Bennett and Joe Burgess (Friezland), Andrew Hoyle (Shelley), Arnold Rothery (Longwood) and many more.
All these men make music when they are ringing, without the necessity of moving their hands, or bobbing up and down like yo-yo's.
Ringing bells at the fastest speed possible, with the tenor halfway down, just creates a noisy tintinnabulation instead of music.
On many ringing trips to towers where closed lead ringing is unknown, the usual remark passed by the local people is 'We have never heard so much music come from these bells before.' How many of the other letter writers have heard this remark made of their ringing? Very few. I expect. - Yours faithfully.

Letters to the Editor

Bell Ropes on Loan

Dear Sir.-I wonder if the writer whose bell ropes have failed to come home has asked for their return? So many people nowadays lend a thing and because it is not returned hegin to think of all the difficult methods of recapture-such as going to the police or writing to the 'agony" column for advice or seeking legal advice. There is no evidence in his letter to suggest that he has even so much as written to the borrower or seen him personally about the ropes and my advice is. if he has not done this already -do it now !
If he has in fact done this but without success. then I suggest that he goes along to the place where his ropes are and simply retakes them for himself. Of course, he must be careful to get his own ropes and no one else's. Furthermore. he must not do any damage on the premises-no 'writing on the wall or sabotage and the like, otherwise his entry on to the premises would be unlawfirl and he might be faced with an action for trespass.
If all this fails and the borrower still refuses to give up the ropes, then I suggest the writer sees a solicitor who will probably advise an action in either conversion or debtinue. Both the actions cover this situation where there has been a wrongful detention of another person's chattel. Whatever debtinue lies so cioes conversion but the results of the two actions are different. If the writer seeks merely the return of the ropes and not damages he must sue in debtinue alone whereas if he sues in conversion a conversion and debtinue, the borrower would have the option to return the ropes or pay damages Also if the value of the goods is decreasing. as would be the case with bell ropes which deteriorate with use. the writer would get damages. in debtinue, to the value of the goods as at the date of the trial. compared with conversion where damages would be assessed as at the date of the actual conversion, and in some cases the difference between the two can be quite substantial.

Let me say, however. I feel sure the writer's problem can be settled quite amicably without having to resort to legal remedies. Indeed, if the borrower has a conscience and reads the 'Ringing World.' then I feel sure the hell ropes will come home "wagging their tail ends behind them. - Yours fethfully

Highclere's Sunday Ringing

Dear Sir.-At the annual vestry meeting of St. Michael's Church, Highelere. the Rector asked how many churches in the country had bells rung for the early Communion service as well as matins and evensong.
He congratulated the team on keeping this up throughout the year as well as additional ringing on the first Sunday in the month for family service. making this four services rung for on this day.

Are there any other churches that rine for three services each Sunday? If so the Highclere band would like to know of them Yours sincerely.

The Brotherhood of Ringers

Dear Sir.-Mr. Uphill on page 236 wites from Isleworth. Middlesex. Possibly he comnosed his letter on a bus passing through Isleworth: hut I have it on good authority that he lives in Putney, and he certainly has no connection with the Isleworth hand. As for the content of his letter I only ask him to practise what he preaches. For words expressed by him in my hearing recently showed anything but a feeling for 'the hrotherhood of ringers. - Yours sincercly.

Incidence of Falseness

Dear Sir.-We should like to apologise for the delay in publishing Volume II of the Collection of Right Place Surprise Major methods, dealing with the Incidence of Falseness. The delay has been due 10 a number of setbacks, in particular the fact that the computer has been out of order for some time. However, a limited edition has been made and is available now at $12 / 6$ ner copy (post free). but for those who have already paid, no further remittance will be necessary.
Maurice Hodgson's approach has been used throughout the treatment of falseness, and the work includes the following sections
(1) Falseness of the methods in Volume I, together with lead incidence.
(2) A complete table of Maurice Hodgson Ratios, each one identified with its falseness group and leaul incidence
(3) A detailed analysis and tazles for the falseness of spliced methods.
Section 2 makes it possible to find the false ness of any Surprise or Treble Boh method right or wrong place, together with its lead incidence in little more than the time it takes to write down the first half lead, and Section 3 makes the same thing nossible for any number of any tyde of Treble Bob or Surprise methods spliced.-Yours sincercly.

College Youths and Washington

Dear Sir.-Whilst I have no doubt that the ten ringers chosen to visit Washington will form quite an adequate band and that they will leave this country with the very best wishes from the whole of the Exercise, I am also not convinced they form a truly representative band of English ringers because, as previous correspondents have indicated, there are certain obvious omissions. Harry Parkes must feel the most honoured of the band by reason of the special request from Washington Cathedral.
May I express the hope that all the ringing during the trip will be regorded or represented as having been done by the bellringers from Great Britain, as distinct from having been done by members of any particular Society because it would be well to remember that the appeal for money was directed to every ringer in this country and it resulted in a general esponse - Yours faithfully, T. Mr. E. Hotine writes expressing thanks to Mr. Robert E. Lester for arranging a most successful and enjoyable outing on Easter Monday. Morning ringing, the better, was at Watlington. Terrington St. Clement and Long Sutton. Afterwards came Gedney, Whaplode. the four Deepings and Croyland.
In honour of Mr. George W. Pipe, of Ipswich, being selected in the band to ring for the dedication of the Gloria in Excelsis Cathedral. Washington. the East Anglian News took shots of ringing at St. Mary-leTower Church. These will appear on the B.B.C. television programme at 6.10 p.m. on Thursday. April 30th.
Scene outside Holy Trinity, West Hill. Wandsworth, on April 4th, at midday. A gathering of about 30 complaining people. Reason? First peal on the bells since the Coronation peal in 1953. Fortunately there were no bricks through the windows, and everybody got out alive. A pleasant surprise? Cuckfield, Sussex, ringers were very heartened to receive the news that a quarter peal had been rung at Kent School, Connecticut, U.S.A. The conductor was David Kirkpatrick, the son of Dr. John Kirkpatrick, who visited the Cuckfield tower last summer and also four years previously. Change ringing was originally introduced to Kent School by Isaac Attwaer, who learned to ring at Cuckfield.

Yet another School Socicty has rung a peal, with one of Plain Bob Minor by the Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar School Society. The peal was conducted by Sixth Former Frederick Shalkross, who rang in the extent of Maior at Loughborough last year. and included in the hand was a member of the staff, Mr. J. P. Parlington, who is ringing secretary of the Lancashire Assoclation. It was Margaret Humphrey"s first attempt for a peal and she rang tricky bell very well.
Sixteen-year-old Miss Julie A. V. Caligari, of St. Margaret's, Wellington. Herefordsh.ec, has good reason for remembering her Easter holidays. On March 31st she rang the treble at her first attempt to Bob Minor, scoring her first peal. Two days later she attempted Bob Minor "inside " but was not successful. From April 3rd to 5 th she attended the course at Hereford Training College, and on April 9th she scored her first peal of Bob Minor inside. Julie's enthusiasm, which is shared by the remaining young band at St. Margaret's, is making her one of the "up and coming youngsters or the Hereford Diocesan Guild
In honour of Mr. Bernard F. L. Groves 2lst birthday a quarter peal of Stedman Caters was rung at Maidstonc on April 16th. Following the quarter and the arrival of more local ringers. Mr. L. Mannering (captain) paid a very warm tribute to Bernard. for the valuable service he had given to local ringing during the past four years. He congratulated him on his 21st and. with great pleasure. presented him with a wrist watch. from the All Saints band and a few of his peal ringing friends. Bernard. taken by surprise, thanked the company, very much tor their wishes and he accepted the gift with great pleasure.

RECORD PEAL YEAR FOR HERTS ASSN.

Annual General Meeting

$\mathrm{F}^{\mathrm{o}}$OR the second time in the history of the Association. members visited Bishop's Stortford for the annual general meeting this year. The customary meeting day, the Saturday after Easter, was probably the coldest on record, but the wintry conditions did not deter over 150 members and friends from attending the meeting in Water Lane Institute, following a full day's ringing. By the kind co-operation of the Essex Association, several towers just over the county border were available in addition to those in the eastern area of Hertfordshire. Evensong was conducted at St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford, by the Vicar, Rev. David Farmbrough, and as an anthem a course of Plain Bob Major was rung on handbells by G. Penney $1-2$ T. J. Lock 3-4, G. Dodds 5-6 and H. V. Frost 7-8.
After an excellent tea, the President, Mr. H. S. Bonnett, took the chair and opened the meeting by welcoming everyone present and making some observations on the state of ringing in various parts of the county. His remarks were based on personal ex perience as, during his year in office, he had made great efforts to travel to meetings and to visit individual towers throughout the county.
The meeting stood in silence as a mark of respect to those members who had died during the year. These included Rev. A. Turncy (Bishop's Storiford), Hon. Barbara Gibbs (Hunsdon), Messrs. S. I. Aylett and I. W. Clark (associate members), P. Parslow (Bushey). C. C. Stubbington (unattiached), 1. Werrett (Norton) and F. E. Barker (Braughing). A life membership certificate was sent to Mr. Robert Howard (Royston) in recognition of his 50 years' continuous membership.
The Treasurer, Mr. C. E. Slade, in his report was clearly relieved that the balance sheet indicated an excess of income over expenditure for the year of about $£ 12$. This improvement was attributed mainly to the collection of a higher percentage of subscriptions. A record number of peals rung during the year was reported by the Peal Secretary, Mr. G. W. Debenham. 103 peals had been rung of which 42 were on handbells; the latter including Surprise Minor in 31 methods and Spliced Surprise Major in up to 10 methods Mrs. J. Dodds, who had taken over the library at the beginning of the year, had recatalogued all the books and, as a innovation, now held a slock of Central Council publications for resale to members.

SOUTH MYMMS

As was reported in "the Ringing World " last year, the bells at South Mymms. which lies just outside the county boundary in Middlesex. were now ringing again after a silence of several years. Following the instruction given by members from Sit. Albans, the ringers at South Mymms had asked to be allowed to join the Heriford County Association. With the blessing of the Middlesex Association a motion to alter the rules of the Association 10 permit their election was proposed by the General Secretary on behalf of the Management Committee. After a short discussion the motion was carried and the meeting moved to the next item on the agenda, which. appropriately, was the election of new members. Messrs. M. Charlion and G. Sillis (South Mymms) were elected as ringing members, and Messrs. S. C. Chilton, R J. Owen. A. E. Pugh. II. Sillis and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Fost. also of South Mymms. ds prohationary members. Mr. R. Harris (Hampstead) was elected as a non-resident life member.
The President then asked for nominations for his successor, declining to accept nomination himself for re-election. Mr. G. W. Critchley (Knebworth) was elected and took the chair for the remainder of the meeting In thanking the meeting for the honour hc had received, Mr. Critchley paid tribute to Mr . Bonnett for the diligent way in which he had carried out his duties during the year. The Peal Secretary, Mr. G. W. Deben ham, did not seek re-election, thus breaking a period of service in various offices extending over many years. Mrs. C. A. Agg was elected as his successor; the other officers being reelected.
The General Secretary proposed that $£ 5$ should be given to the Bishop's Stortford District Bell Fund as this district, having been formed out of the Eastern District, had no bell fund at present. An amendment raising the sum to $£ 15$ was proposed by Mr. W. C. Hughes and carried. In addition the district bell fund also prolited to the extent of $\pm 8 \mathrm{4s} .4 \mathrm{~d}$. from the collection taken at the service.

INSTRUCTIONAL COURSES

At the previous annual meeting a subcommittee had been set up to consider the various aspects of instructional ringing courses and to advise on their applicability to the Association. The report of the sub-committee, which met under the chairmanship of Mr. W. Ayre. was discussed at some length. It became clear that the requirements varied considerably according to the area under consideration. High density urban districts could no doubt profit from some form of organised course, while the more scattered rural communities demanded a different approach. Finally it was decided to leave the organisation of instructional facilities to the individual districts for the lime being. although the matter would be reviewed by the management committee at its next mecting.
Votes of thanks were proposed in the clergy and local ringers, and in particular to those in Essex, for the use of their hells: to the district committee for the arrangements for the meeting, and to the ladies who had, at considerable difficulty, provided the tea.

OBITUARY

MR. HARRY C. JONES

His many friends will regret the quiet passing in hospital, on Falm Sunday. of Mr . Harry C. Jones, the well-known Ellesborough. Bucks. ringer, aged 78.

Mr. Jones was an Oxfordsnire man and learnt to ring at Sandford St. Martin when only ten years old. Later in life he moved to Aynhoe, Northants, and then to Ellesborough, where he became head gardener on the Chequers Estate.
He was a familiar figure, until a few years ago, cycling many miles with his daughter to attend ringing meetings at places as far away as Bicester and Maidenhead.

We remember Mr. Jones as a most patient helpful and untiring instructor, a firm friend and a man of wit. May he rest in peace.

MRS. M. I. MARSHALL

Many ringers and friends will regret the passing on March 27th of Mrs. M. D. Marshall. wife of Mr. Charles (Barnes ') Marshall. of Smarden. She shared her husband's interest in ringers and ringing, and in bygone days was often called upon to entertain ringers 10 tea at a moment's notice Barnes, after 68 years' ringing at Smarden. with many peals to his credit, is now unable to ring owing to ill-health. but is always within earshot when ringing is going on.

The memorial service at Smarden, on April 5th. was preceded by a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor rung by members of the Marshall family. viz:

William C. Marshall (son) 1. Mary Marshall (granddaughter by marriage) 2. Flizabeth Stewart (granddaughter) 3, David Marshall (grandson) 4. Gordon Stewart (grandson by marriage) 5. Mark W. Marshall (grandson cond.) 6 .

Uncalled for

Dear Sir,-.A certain 'genteman. from $p. Dunstan's, Canterbury, in the visitors' book at All Saints, Biddenden, has described our 23 cwt . teno" as "lousy" and flat. Could it be that the gentleman is tone-deaf or perhaps better qualified to judge than other eminert ringers who have the opposite opinion? Yours sincerely, H. C. PAYNE, Biddenden, Kent.

Derby Offer Better Terms to Non-residents

FOR the second year running there was a record attendance of over 80 when the 18 th annual meeting of the Derby Diocesan Association was held in Derby on April 4th. Prior to the annual service in St. Peter's, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. A. Shaw), ringing took place at St. Peter's, St. Alkraund's and the Cathedral in addition to Ripley and Horsley. which were visited by a coach party from the Chesterfield District.

After an excellent tea in the Church Hall, the business meeting commenced with the Association's president, the Provost of Derby (the Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes) in the chait. In his opening remarks he congratulated the Association on another year of progress and also made special mention of the large number of young people present, which augured well for the future.

Only one apology for absence was received -from Mr. A. Laughton, who was attending it ringing course at Hereford. A record mentbership of almost $400-379^{\circ}$ ringing and 17 honorary members-was reported by the general secretary. Mr. B. P. Morris, who was also pleased to state that Sunday service ringing now took place at most of the churches in the Diocese which possess bellit in ringing order. Losses through death included the following members: Messrs. L. G. Polmer (Staveley), N. Hotchin (Darley Dale) and J. F. George (Ilkeston). Amongst the national figures tributes were also paid to Messrs. E. H. Lewis and D. Ogden.

PEAL RINGING HEALTHY

The report of the peal secretary (Mr. D. R. Carlisle) showed the total of 61 peals rung during 1963 to be quite a healthy one. particularly as this total had not been augmented by any peal-touring hands. Ian Holland. of Dronfield, was the beading peal ringer with a total of 22 peals and was also the leading conductor jointly with Brian Woodruffe, who received special congratulations for participating in the extent of Major.

New records for the Association included the first of London Royal and the 16-Spliced Surprise Maior, in addition to which a large number of 10 -bell peals had heen scored and the total of seven Deals of Triples was the highest in any one year for the Association Fifteen members had scored their first peal. with the conducting having been shared by 19, with one first as conductor.

In presenting the balance sheet the general treasurer, Mr. J. C. Woolley, was pleased to report that the previous year's loss of $£ 10$ had been converted into a prolit of $£ 1$. However, he warned members that whereas expenses had increased by over $£ 10$, ringiag subscriptions, which were the only guaranteed source of income, had only increased by just over £3. Although this deficit had been adequately covered by the voluntary donations, which had exceeded £7, Mr. Woolley urged members to keep supporting this new rule with regard to subscriptions as he could not en visage any substantial reduction in expenses.

A balance of over $£ 200$ was reported by the treasurer of the Bell Repair Fund (Mr. J. B. Stennitt), who was also pleased to report that the number of Parochial Church Councils con tributing to the Fund had increased from 58 to 72 during 1963 . Technical help and advice had been given to Ashover, Etwall, Long Eaton. Stanton-in-the-Peak, Ripley, Denbr; St. Alkmund's (Derby). Hathersage and Bakewell, grants having been made so far to Bolsover ( $£ 20$ ), St. Alkmund's ( $£ 4$ ) and Long Eaton (£1).

NON-RESIDENT MEMBERS' REDUCED

 SUBSCRIPTIONSAfter the various reports and balance sheet had heen odopted, with thanks to all concerned, the peal secretary (Mr. Carlisle) put forward his proposition to reduce the subscriptions of non-resident life members. The cost. he explained, of printing peals in the annual report was approximately one shilling for each name and that was the peal fee of the Association. Then each year a non-resident member rings a peal for the Association, there is an additional expense, as his name, address and peal total are published also.

This further cost, however. is on average adequately covered by life subscription of 2,6 , and as = result they were being subsidised by visiting peal ringers, a fact which he deplored. Agreeing with Mr. Carlisle, the Provost said he thought it would be a step in the right direction, as he felt sure the Exercise existed far more on courtesy and encouragement than on subscriptions. On being put to the vote the motion was carried by a substantial majority.

After some discussion a grant of $£ 5$ made to the Washington National Cathedral Appeal by the committee was approved. Judith Allan, Robert Reid and Alan Scape (Duffield) were elected new members and a collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised £4 3s.

Officers re-elected en bloc were: President. the Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes (Provost of Derby) : secretary, Mr. B. P. Morris, Gable End, 14, Greenway, Ashbourne; treasturer, Mr. J. C. Woolley; peal secretary, Mr. D. R Carlisle: secretary Bell Repair Fund, Mr. G. A. Halls; treasurer, Mr. J. B. Stennitt. Votes of thanks concluded the meeting.
Next quarterly meeting: July 4th. Fairfield (subject to permission).

OUTING

TWERTON-ON-AVON

Joined by friends from Corston, Batheaston and Keynsham, Twerton ringers had a day" outing in Wiltshire on March 7 th, ringing at nine towers.
There was a lesson from the first tower-Sutton Veny-where it was found that three bells were up and the other three down. 'Be sure and check each bell' should be the first motto when entering a belfry. The five bells at Norton Bavant, a ground-floor ring, nre seldom rung, but the frame and fittings are in good order.
At Heytesbury we were met by the tower captain. The bells are a lovely ring (tenor 20 cwt .). Boyton's is a marvellous church, in excellent condition, and its history was told by the Rector. The bells, a lovely little live, are rung from the church porch. They go well, but are chilly to ring, especially with the wind in the north. The tower cantain and Rector met us at Codford St. Peter-pleasant bells.

A hearse had to be moved from the ringing chamber at Wylye before the five bells could be rung. Credit is due to the 13 -year-olds who ring these bells.

From here some of the party preferred a long tea break while the others visited Stonehenge. After tea Shrewton was visited, where six bells tapped along at a merry pace, and finally Chitterne, where the five bells were restored by Mears and Stainbank in 1962, and one would have to go a long way to find better.

It is sad to think that not many of these bells are rung on a Sunday, but the idea of inviting the incumbent along to join in the prayers worked well, and from those we mel they seemed thrilled to have been asked
A. F. L.

SIMON LANGTON SCHOOL

The newly-formed band at the Simon Langton School, Canterbury, had its first outing on March 21st, when nine towers in the Romney Marsh area were scheduled for u ring. Ai New Romney, Doubles with 768 behind were rung for an otherwise bell-less wedding. The glorious eight at Lydd were much admired but the ropes at Appledore were like steel hawsers and did not improve the ringing. The highlight of the day was the heavy eight at Tenterden, and special thanks are accorded to Miss Relf and the local company. David Cawley and Karen Desch are thanked for organising the outing.

THE LADIES' GUILD  Eastern District

A paid-up membership of 42, with an average attendance of 16 at each of the three meetings, was reported at the annual general meeting of the Eastern District, held at Liss, on April 11th. The officers were reelected but there were two committee changes.

In the evening ringing continued at Palgrave and ranged from rounds to Stedman and Yorkshire.

Next meeting, Kirhy-le-Soken. June 27th (provisional).

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD A.G.M.

THE attendance at the 18 th annual general meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Guild held at the Minster. Southwell. on April 4th. was again up to the high standard set last year, there being over 110 ringers and friends at the business meeting, nearly all of whom were residential members of the Guild.

During the afternoon and evening the 12 bells were put to good use, the Ringing Masters being hard pressed catering for such a large gathering. This and the fact that the majority of ringers were ringing on 12 bells for the first time probably accounted for the rather low standard of ringing.
Sung Evensong, led by the choir of St. Saviour's, Arkwright Street, Nottingham, was well aftended, the lessons being read by Canon R. Leeper and the Provost, the Very Rev. H. C. L. Heywood, both vice-presidents of the Guild.
Tht business meeting, following a most enjoyable tea prepared and served by members and friends of the Newark District, was presided over by the Guild chairman, Mr. F. W Midwinter.

LOSSES BY DEATH

A minute's silence was observed for ten members who had passed away during the past vear, namely, Messrs. J. Baker (Rampton), D. A. Piercy (Ordsall), L. Bramble (Oxton), G. Simpson (Cotgrave), C. H. Chapman (Newark), Canon R.F. Wilkinson (West Bridgford), W. W. Dobb (Selston), the Rev. R. Lyne (South Anston), A. Hill (Shireoaks) and F. Pickard (Southwell).

The anitual report having been in circulation for a fortnight, it was resolved to take all the reports as read, and these were confirmed without comment.
The Peal Committee reported that 67 peals had been rung during the year, an increase of 23, this being the best year for peals since 1958 . when 74 were rung. Conductors numbered 19 . a decrease of one, H. Poyner leading the list with 12 , from $F$ G. Hooper 11 and W. L. Exton 10. There were three first peals as conductor, namely, C. R. Daft, H. K. Harrison and $E$. Jenkinson.

FIRST PEALERS—UNIQUE

First pealers numbered 28, the highest in the Guild's history, which together with the 15 ast year and 16 the year hefore, should augur well for the future of the Guild. The list of first pealers included one father and daughter (T. Harrison and Miss J. Harrison), two fathers and sons (J Dawson and G. A. Dawson, C. H. Pritchett and D. H. Pritchett) and two cousins 'C A. Parsons and D. D. Parsons). This occurrence in one year in ringing circles for one Guild is probably unique.
First peals on the bells have been scored at Gedling and Worksop (first since recasting and the peal of Cambridge Minor at Nuthal! was the first peal by all the band. who deserve to be heartily congratulated.
Five first performances for the Guild were recorded, namely. Lincolnshire. New Durham. Wemhley. Zelah Surprise and Burslem Delight Major.

Ninety-five quarter peals were rung during the year and reported in 'The Ringing World, the great majority of them were rung for Sunday service, Holme-Pierrepont heading the list with 25.

MEMBERSHIP 460

The honorary general secretary (Mr. W. L. Exton) in his report once again welcomed new towers and ringers, but. despite these. membership was down by eight 10 460. this being counteracted to some extent hy a reduction of three in the number of towers at which there three in the number of lowers at which the are no members of the Guild from 28 to 25 .
No restorations or augmentations had taken place during the year but a report by the local renresentative on the Towers and Belfry Coinmittee of the Central Council had been supplied to the respective Vicars of two of the towers, All Saints', Coddington, and St. John the Baptist, Beeston, all members and vicepresidents being reminded that the Guild would on request. examine their bells frames and fittings. and supply a report on their conditions.

The five District secretaries annual zeports contarned details of Sunday service ringing throughout their Districts. From these it would appear that over 35 per cent. of the lowers rang out on Sundays for at least one service. While this was certainly an improvement, there was stiti a long way to go before all the bells in the towers were fully manned Sunday by Sunday.

The honorary treasurer's report and accounts revealed a small profit of IL 13 s . 5 d . on the year's working. The Bell Repair Fund stood at $£ 10613 \mathrm{~s}$. 3d., an increase of $£ 78 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d ., a donation of $£ 20$ having been made towards the cost of the rehanging of East Bridgford bells. The collection for the Bell Repair Fund taken at the meeting realised $£ 311 \mathrm{~s} .8 \mathrm{~d}$.
All the retiring officers were thanked for their services and re-elected to serve for a further year.

AMENDMENT TO RULES

Two proposed amendments to the rules were then considered The first, proposed by Mr. H. Poyner and seconded hy the Rev. M. C. C. Melville, was to amend the word bell" to read 'ringer in Rule 13. The proposal in effect was to reduce the peal fee payable by handbell ringers from $6 d$. per bell to hd. per ringer. This was carried by 35 votes to 20 ..

The second concerned the place of the annual meeting, and the proposal to amend in the Districts in rotation with Southwell Minster every alternate year. The time and place to be fixed at the annual meeting to read "at Southwell Minster or at a place to be chosen at the previous annual meeting, submitted by Mr. J. D. Clarke and seconded by Mr J. W. Raithby, was defeated by a majority of 46 to 19 .

Arising from the defeat of the above proposition, the place for the annual meeting in 1965 was chosen as East Retford, by a majority of 36 to 33, from Bingham.
Under the heading any other business, Mr. J. W. Raithby submitted a proposition that the Crawford Cup Contest be discontinued, Mrs. C. W. Reed and Mr. J. D. Clarke soeaking in favour. This was opposed by Mr. F. Bradley and Mr. H. T. Rooke, and the proposition was defeated, there heing ondy 10 votes in favour of the motion.

The proposed new rules for the Crawford Cup competition, as amended by the committee, were read to the meeting and agreed with one small amendment. These rules will come into use from January 1st. 1965.
A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Provost for the use of the bells. and the ladies for an excellent tea, was moved by Mr. J. D. Clarke and carried unanimously. W. L. F..

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The April meeting of the Sheffield and District Society was held at Thrybergh and Wath. Ringing hegan at $2.30 \mathrm{n} . \mathrm{m}$. at Thrybergh. and a good standard in a wide range of Miner methods was maintained. At 3.30 p.m. members moved to Wath. where ringing continued until tea is $5.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. During the meeting Mr. F. Brunt proposed that the good wishes of the meeting go with Mr. N. Chaddock on his visit to Washington. This was seconded and passed with applause.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Nineteen towers were represented at the Society's meeting at Sprothorough, near Doncaster. on April 12th. The Vicar, who pre sided at the business meeting. mentioned the nssociation of the parish with Douglas Bader. the legless pilot, and how the parishioners had built their own church hall. Miss Christine Saville, of Cawthorne, said goodbye to the Society. She thanked them for the enjowible times she had had with the members and had a soecial word of appreciation for Mr. Noel F. Moxon, who taught her to ring.

Next meeting: May 9th, outing to NorthWest Yorkshire (five towers)

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Frome Branch

Norton St. Philip, halfway between Frome and Bith, was the venue for the first quarterly meeting for 1964 of the Frome Branch on April 11th. An excellent touch of Stedman Doubles was rung for the service conducted hy the Rector of Norton.

An excellent tea was enjoyed by 48 member.: and friends. The business meeting, under the chairmanship of the Rev. A. G. Durston. first stood in silence in respect of Mr. Jack Hillard. of Mells, who passed away on Good Friday. having been a member of the Association since 1908.

The chairman gave a special welcome to the general secretary. Mr. Gwilym Salmon. The meeting noted with some concern that there were no new names put forward for membership. The secretarv, Mr. E. Chivers, complimented Mr. G. W. Massey, of Frome, on his being elected peal secretary for the Association.
Mr. D. Robertson proposed that some form of recognition of membership be made available for display in towers affiliated to the Association. After a discussion it was agreed to approach the general committee for their views. A vote was then taken to decide the location of next year's annual general meeting. on Easter Monday. in the Frome Branch. The majority chose Midsomer Norton, subject to catering facilities

The vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. F. Savage, included Mr. R. Phelps for local arrangements

HEREFORD RINGING COURSE

The second week-end course in bell ringing was held at the Training College, Hereford. from April 3rd to 5th and was a success
The comfortable and spacious accommodation was ideally suited for the purpose. and the excellence of the food fostered the happy spirit which prevaifed.

The students, some of whom had attended the first course, received a warm welcome from the director of the course, Mr. W. F. Moreton. Assisting him were Messrs. F. Sharpe, C. F. Wratten and F. T. Blagrove and the main subjects dealt with were Spliced Minor and Spliced Doubles. For the first time on a course. Mr. F. Sharpe lectured and held practical sessions in tune ringing. an innovation which proved very popular.
Six towers were used for the practical sessions, and students who desired to do so were able to ring at All Saints' and the Cathedral. Hereford.
Sunday afternoon arrived all too soon with many of the students looking forward to the third course to be held in 1965 . T C

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GULI.D

Fifty-three members attended a special meeting of the Hereford Diocesan Guild at Clun on April 11th
A service in St. George's Church was con dacted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. ## A DEVON OUTING

A smaill number of members of the Devon Guild held a half-day excursion on April 15ih when, despite the inclement weather, an enjoyable time was spent. Those taking part joyable time was spent. Mose taking part were Miss R. J. Marks. Mr. and Mrs. D. R. were Miss R. R. Marks, Mr. and Mrs.
Bould, the Rev. W. P. Dowling, Messrs. A. L. Bennelt, K. E. Fursdon, W. H. Marks and II. F. Myers.

N.W. SUFFOLK RINGERS

The N.W. Suffolk Ringers met on April 11th at St Mary's Church, Rougham, visitors from Terrington. Wisbech, Ipswich, Finchingfield. Strafford St. Mary and Henley joining them in ringing a great variety of methods. These included Plain Bob, Grandsire, Little Boh, Double Court, Kent, Oxford, Cambridge, Hull, Ipswich, Lonuon and Stedman.
The service was fully choral and the Rev G. E. Jarrold gave an interesting address on the meaning of the word 'Campanology.' He and the choir joined the ringers for tea in the school, which was served hy Mrs. Nice and Mrs. Rose.
At a short meeting one new member was proposed and two evening meetings suggested May 9th at Exning and June 13th at Mildenhall. The quarterly meeting will be held in July at Horringer, with a picnic tea. Thanks were accorded the Rector and choir.

THE INTRUDER

Sons have I none, but daughters two. The twain are junior ringers. Your journal (by them left about) Thus meets my eyes and fingers.
When tidying up (if time allows) I tip-toe through its pages
(Which mental act of 'trespass' my Non-craftsman soul enrages!).
Alone in your strange world of print, Of bells silenced on paper,
I am bewildered, awed, afraid,
Through this 'intruding' caper
'Royals' I see, at 'Majors' stare (Value nor meaning feeling);
Pick 'Minors' up, or put down 'bobs Like someone bent on stealing. My mind trips over 'leads' and things, Frenziedly 'pulls, and 'touches.' It "hunts' for this and 'dodges ' that As though in demon clutches.
' Peals ' of melodic laughter mock My stealthy lay-exploring,
With ' changes' and 'surprises ' crammed, Could such a 'world' be boring? Muffled or loud, its vibrant tongue Belangs a 'race' of people
Who to themselves dwell in the heights That are each parish steeple.
Sadly the language of the chimes Defeats my brain's slow powers;
It is the 'shorthand' of the ropes,
The 'purl, plain ' of the towers.
I 'Alice' in 'Belfryland,'
Less rabbit-hole approaches
Atop a spiral rise the realm
My curious gaze encroaches !
Still, ignoramus though I am,
I catch, if distantly,
The radiated lure and charm Of campanology.
So weekly now, your temptress voice, In lines and columns singing, Calls me to swap my mundane mop For the Enchanted Isle of Ringing ! EVELYN MASON (Mrs.)
Chilvers Coton,
Nuneaton, Warwickshire

Believed to be the first quarter on the bells was that rung on Easter Day at Christ Church, Calgary, Canada. This was made possible by the visit of William E. Court, of Liverpool, who is spending a year as a professor at the University of Saskatchewan. As Saskatoon is some 400 miles from Calgary, writes J. M. Simpson, this is probably a record distance travelled for a quarler peal of Grandsire Doubles.
Chertsey District ringers were happy to have Dave Munday with them once more at Old Woking.
Four members of the Fuller family took part in a farewell peal at Eastbcurne. They are going to live at Poole, Dorset.
A new record in handbell ringing was created at Swindon on April 11th with 64 Treble Bob methods. It was conducted by Anthony R. Peake.

Miss Jennifer Bunyan, former secretary of the Watford District, has been gazetted into the W.R.A.C. and is now posted to a signal squadron at Salisbury. Her friends wish her every happiness in her new career.
A striking competition is to be held in conjunction with the Mid-Sussex Arts Festival at St. John's Church, Burgess Hill, next Saturday at 2.30 p.m. Mr. A. P. Cannon will te the judge.
St. Georgc's Day (April 23rd) was the 40 th anniversary of the last peal rung at the Imperial Institute, London (Stedman Caters), writes Mr. Walter Ayre, Of the band, the only survivors are Mr. Arthur E. Sharman, of Dunstable, and himself.

Chobham ringers were honoured to receive a visit from Bishod Yashiro, Presiding Bishop of the Japanesc Church, during ringing for Evensong on April 12th. He thanked them for ringing a quarter peal to welcome him to the parish in the morning.
Mr. Edward Barnett, who recently contributed his reminiscences of listening to much of the then longest peal of Double Norwich, 15,072 at Erith in April, 1899, took part in a commemorative peal on the 65th anniversary. His own first peal was rung the following month.

Truro Diocesan Guild scored their first 12-bell peal on April llth with a peal of Grandsire Cinques at Buckfast Abbey, there heing no rings of 12 in Cornwall. Six of the band, all of whom were ringing their first on 12. are resident members of the Guild, and of the remainder two lived and rane in Cornwatl before returning 'up country. To ring this peal, at the first attempt, the 12 travelled between them nearly 1,900 miles.
The ringer of the third in the peal at Macclesfield on February 29th (see page 226) was Robert J. Warrilow, and not as submitted.

Mr. Norman Smith writes regarding his composition of 5,184 Spliced Surprise Major (page 248) that the bob in the first course should be a Wrong and not a Before.
Mr. M. J. Uphill wishes to announce that he still lives in Putney, London, and not Isleworth, Middlesex (see page 236, 'Ringing World '). He has no idea how this mistake was made.
Miss Gillian Neal Smith will receive the congratulations of many friends on her qualifying as a doctor from the Medical School at Charing Cross Hospital. Her marriage to Mr. Robin Leale will take place at St. Matthias' Church, Richmond, Surrey, on May 30th at 2 p.m. and friends will be welcome at the church.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L N. Rance took part in their silver wedding anniversary peal at Sandhurst, Berks, on April 13th. The peal for their wedding at Binfield was conducted by Mr. Tony Price, and it was his son, Frank C., who conducted the 25 th anniversary peal.
Ever since the ladies of the West Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Guild rang a quarter peal in June ${ }_{2}$ 1962, the present secretary of the Wimborne Branch has been itching to have a go' 1oo. Due to the scarcity of the fairer sex in the area difficulty has been experienced in gathering a band. At last, and very appropriately, the quarter was rumg at Canford Magna on the day after Lady Day, in the presence of the two Ringing Masters.

BON VOYAGE

'COMORROW (Saturday) at 11 a.m. a Pan American Jet Clipper will leave London Airport taking ten men on one of the most exciting of all ringing experiences-to Washington to ring for the consecration on Ascension Day of the Gloria in Excelsis tower in America's national cathedral.
Their presence and journey is the outcome of an inspiration of the Dean of Washington, the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre. The opportunity of making a contribution towards the cost of the journey was gladly accepted by many people. Donations came from as as far afleld as Calgary (Alberta) and Saigon in Victnam.

The ten bells. the product of one of our two British foundries the other is represented in the carillon-have a tenor of 32 cwt . They are to be rung according to the English style of change ringing by a band of proved exponents of our art all honoured and respected by the Exercise at large.

They are not only ringers; in their ranks are some of the ablest instructors in our land-men of recognised ability at weekend courses. The band also contains the man who has rung more peals than any living man in Mr. Geo. E. Fearn. of Birmingham. whose total now exceeds 1.900 . Above all. they are men from prominent but different English Cathedral buildings like St. Paul's. Westminster Abbey and Lincoln, known to thousands of American tourists. Their presence is a contribution of the old to the new. To the "New World" they are presenting an essentially English art in its highest form.

Letters have appeared in our columns deploring the choice-and some of these have been written by people well known in ringing circles. Boldly we say the selection has been well made; we cannot see a weak link. The Editor purposely wears neither the tic (figuratively speaking) of the Ancient Society of College Youths nor the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. He is not the least perturbed hecause one Society should have a nreponderance of members. It is the calitre of the men as ringers and instructors and their ability to represent all that is hest in English ringing that counts. They are representative of the best we can offer.

This does not mean that other bands equally good in men and women could not be found. The Exercise is particularly rich in talent today, and while we venerate and respect those who have gone before and have given by their writings and knowledge a sound foundation for the development of our craft, the contribution of our age is making this a glorious era in the history of change ringing.

Today there are more practising ringers than ever before and the achievements in advanced method ringing would simply stagger our forbears. And these achievements are not hy isolated bands.

Again the art of bell-founding and hanging has reached a stage undreamed of by bygone founders. Some might lament that the modern bell-founder has robbed the Exercise of the clements that gave ringers of the past an added spice to their ringing. This is far outweighed by opening the opportunity to ring to hundreds of our girls today; so much so that women are to be found in the front rank of Surprise bands. They would like America to know that ten women could be found to let Washington bells sound out in their full majesty.

To the ten we wish them "Bon Voyage" and every blessing upon their endeavours to introduce the art of change ringing to a wider circle of American people. This contact for even a very short period should lead to permanent friendships and the widening of an art that we hold very precious. Of good service ringing it can truly be said 'Gloria in Excelsis.'

OXFORD GUILD AND INSURANCE

'I'HROUGH the initiative of their Hon. Librarian, Mr. H. L. Roper. the Oxford Diocesan Guild have circularised all tower captains on the importance of insurance of bell ringers. We give their circular, as it might be a guide to other Guilds and Associations

The Officers and the General Committee of the Guild wish to draw the attention of all ringers to the facilities offered by the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office Limited for the insurance of ringers against the risk of accident.

This is done by the Parochial Church Council taking out with the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office a Group Personal Accident Insurance which covers the Parochial Clergy and paid and unpaid. Church workers as well as the ringers who are covered against the risk of accident while ringing or attending to the bells in any church or bell tower or while travelling to or from a church or bell tower to practise or take part in bell ringing anywhere in the United Kingdom.

The annual premium for ringers is $2 /-$ each, but double benefits are available for double premiums. It is important that a premium should be paid for every ringer or learner in the tower. and the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office should be notified each year of the number in the tower and the premium adjusted accordingly. It is not sufficiont to pay six premiums because you have only six bells: if, in fact, you have ten regular ringers you should pay for ten: if the following year you have 12 you should tell the Insurance Office so and pay for 12.

The age limits are 16 years to 70 years. A ringer nver the age of 70 cannot be insured under this policy. Children between the age of 12 and 16 can only be insured at, the normal rate of premium but with limited benefit and the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office should he told each year how many of the ringers come into this eategory. Children under the age of 12 years cannot be insured under this policy but other possibilities are heing explored.

The Officers and the General Committee of the Guild feel that you. as Tower Captain. have some responsibility in this matter so will vou nlease. AS SOON AS POSSIRLE AND WITHOUT PUTTING THE MATTER OFF see the Parnchial Church Council Secretary or Treasurer, or the Incumbent. or all of them, and find out
(a) whether or not they have a Group Personal Accident Policy and. if so. that the full number of ringers is insured and that any children between the ages of 12 and 16 have been mentioned.
(b) if there is no such policy. persuade them to write to the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office without delay and to take one out.
The address is: The Gencral Manager. Ecclesiastical Insurance Office Lid.. Aldwych House. Aldwych. Strand. London. W.C.2.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

From Boston. Lincs. comes a record of long and faithful service. Mr. W. E. Clarke has just retired from the office of secretary and Ireasurer of the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. a post he has held for 30 years. During this time he has only missed one meeting. But the Branch is not losing the valued services of Mr. Clarke. At the annual meeting he was elected president and also Guild representative.
Mr. P. J. Kelner, of Fishtoft, is the new hon. secretary and treasurer, and Mr. P. Reynolds. of Swineshead, Branch Ringing Master.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Devon Branch held its annual meeting at St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Clyst Honiton, on April 18th. The ringing. which was interrupted by a wedding in the afternoon, was under the sudervision of Mrs. G. E. Retter, and mainly consisted of Grandsire Doubles and Triples and Stedman Triples.
A short service was held in church conducted hy the Vicar (the Rev. H. V. Christie). After tea in the Church Hall. the vice-president (Mrs. D. R. Bould) voiced the thanks of the visitors to the Vicar. to Miss Christie for acting as organist, and to Mrs. Retter and the ladies for the excellent tea.
At the subsequent business meeting. presided over by Mrs. Bould. the secretary and treasurer's report were both adopted, the former recording three meeting during the past year.
The officials were re-elected as follows: Vice-president, Mrs D. R. Bould: secretary Fnd treasuier, Miss Y. C. Porter: branch commiltee memhers. Mesdames D. R. Hood and G. E. Retter and Misses C. Dodridge and M. Rusiell : general committee, the Misses V. Goss and P. Stephens. An assistant secretary is to be appointed.

Further ringing afterwards included a visit to Clyst St. George Next meetings: Dartmouth. July; either

WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION
THIS year's annual general mecting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association attracted a large number of people to Worcester on Easter Monday.
The events of the day commenced with a service in the morning at All Saints: conducted by the Association's chaplain. the Rev. H. L. Davies, Vicar of Cradley. During the service courses of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were rung on handhells by M. J. Fellows 1-2, R. G. Morris 3-4, D. Beacham 5-6. and M. D. Fellows 7-8.
The business meeting was held in College Hall and the president of the Association, the Very Rev. R. L. P. Milburn, Dean of Wor cester, was in the chair. Having dealt with the minutes, the secretary reported that three member; had died since the last meeting. namely, Ezra Homer, of Rowley Regis; Frank Hill and William Bullock. of Malvern Link.
The president extended a warm welcome to all, especially the younger members. He also said how gratifying it was to hear that Kidderminster bells were now heing rung regularly.
All the officers were re-elected, among these being the Master, Mr. W. B. Cartwright: chaplain. the Rev. H. L. Davies: general secretary and treasurer, Mr. D. Beacham.
Worcester was again choven for the annual meeting next year on Easter Monday
An attractive ringing programme had been arranged after lunch and everyone made for Stoutton to ring at the Parish Church and on Mr . Jopp's light ring of six. Church Road. Stoulton, soon became like the finishing point for a motor rally, there were so many cars ! The next attraction was Pershore Abbey, with ringers queueing half-way up the tower waiting their turn to enter the unique 'birdcage ringing chamber.
Perhaps Upton Snodsbury and Crowle are an attraction only if you have not rung there before! At any rate each has its own idiosyncracies: the sallies of the ground-floor ring at Upton Snodsbury never come down in the salme place twice. whilst Crowle bells are sometimes, descrited as having a tenor in $\mathbf{Z}$ blunt
Other bells availahle were St. John's and All Saints'. Worcester, and. after tea, a record crowd filled to overflowing the spacious Cathedral ringing chamber. Here ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Maximus.

A SPOOF NAILED IN TIME

An important omission from a peal report sent from Liverpool unexpectedly revealed an attempt to get a spoof peal published.
There was no name and address of the sender-not uncommon despite requests-and also the name of the tower was missing. The Editor then examined the Lancashire Association report to see if a clue was possible from the names of the supposed band. Only two were recognised as ringers and a letter was accordingly sent to Mr. Joseph Ridyard, whose name was given as the ringer of the treble.
Mr. Ridyard replies: ' 1 wish io state that wasnit a peal. To me it is the act of a maniac or lunatic. My name is down for the treble. On that date I was never in Liverpool for I was not away from home all day.

Some of the names 1 don't know, and I am sure the secretary of the Lancashire Association couldn't find them in his books. They are the name of the Merseyside group known as the Beatles. har the conductor, who is a well known Liverpool ringer.

I intend to find out who the fool was who sent it up to you. Yesterday was the annual general meeting of the Lancashire Association. As I couldn't attend I asked a colleague of mine to show it to the president with full details and to press it on the meeting as we cannot tolerate such nonsense. Furthermore, whoever the culprit is I would like an apology for you and myself for the insult we have put up with. As I am in Iiverpool next Sunday I hope to take the letter with me and find out the object of it."

CLERICAL RINGERS' GUILD IN SUNNY DEVON

FOR once $D=$ vonshire lived up to its reputation of sunshine when the Clerical Ringers Guild spent its ringing week there after Low Sunday. Members combined the serious business of ringing with the pleasure of a few days off from their parochial duties and the fine weather and pleasant wooded hills of the country round Exeter made this tour one of the most enjoyable in the history of the Guild. The party occupied a very comfortable hotel just off the Exeter By-pass and the bells available were truly splendid. There can be few places in England where the organiser of a localisen week. such as the Clerical Ringers have, could find such a wealth of bells within a small radius. As well as the bells in Exeter itself, there were those on the three day trips. These took in the country to the south as far es Teignmouth. to the south-east as far as Exmouth and to the north as far as Tiverton. The sea was blue, the hills and fields fresh green or red with good Devon soil and from ime to time glimpses of Dartmoor reminded us of the majesty of the high hills.

GOOD IN PARTS

It must be confessed at once, however, that the quality of the parsons' ringing matched neither the scenery nor the bells! Part of the reason for this was the absence of two of our most capable performers, Canons Thurlow and Felstead. Among Surneise methods only Cambridge. Yorkshirc and London were rung, the latte: after much travail. There was much Grandsire and even the Sicdman Triples which seemed to be demanded by several of the majestic rings we visited came round only uncertainly. We felt that perhaps these bells did not know this particular tune. En route for Exeter we met at Seaton and played safe with Grandsire and Plain Boh. At Sidbury our honoured president called a musical touch of Stedman, which sounded well on these good hells. The first full day also went well. We were in the heart of the call-change country standard of striking we were several times con scious of falling below the prowess of the local band as evidenced hy the wealth of certificates round the belfry At Teignmouth there was more presidential Stedman as well as Double Norwich and Yorkshire. while the excellent eight at Kingsteignton were lowered in good style by the " second team.

DISASTER

The second day started with disaster. A our first tower. Broad Clyst. Cambridge failed and so did Stedman. We broke a stay and left, covered with confusion, arguing who was responsible-the lady beginner who was on the rode or the cleric who was supposed to be helping her. So, on to Silverton and Tiverton. Here we admired the church. known so well to our worthy secretary. We admired. too the noble bells but again failed to ring them as well as we would have wished. London failed and so did Stedman. so we settled for Grandsire. Our nride humbled, we went back is Buckleigh for lunch with a tower-grab at the local six thrown in. Here. Undershaft. which had been the subject of much discussion and instruction in the coach, was dulv runIt was claimed that this was a "first" for the Guild. Then back. through the model village of Newton St. Cyres, to Exeter Cathedral We were given tea as guests of Prehendary Andrews in the Cloister Room : ind then joined in Evensone in the Lady Chanel. Our president's own hymn was sung with gusto accomnanied by N. F. D. Colerige on the sma!! nortable organ The small number of nonringers in the congremation ma: have won dered what it was all ahout? If so, then they may have been enlightened when the hrazen tongues, of which the hymn spoke were heard from the great south tower. Five stalwarts rang up Grandison and even the ninth was manned by a leam of three with the result that the rope promptly broke. This was passed off with such kindness by the local ringers that our hearts warmed to our work. Rounds included $\mathbf{R}$. N. Longridge and his two sons (minor and minimus) and were well rung. This followed clerical Grandsire Caters and Cinques with the help of local talent including two very capable young ladies. We heard afterwards that this effort won favourable comment, and our morale improved.

SUCCESS

So to our third day and the traditional peal attempt. As if to make up for her frowns on the previous day Dame Fortune smiled on us and a peal of Bob Major was brought round in good style at St. Thomas', Exeter, in 2 hours 50 minutes. This was due in no small part to the capable conducting of M . C. C. Melville. As this was the first peal scored on a tour for the Guild for 14 years there was considerable jubilation-the more so hecause the band knew that Canon Cox dearly wanted it to succeed. During the morning non-pealers had enjoyed ringing at nearby towers. After lunch the re-united party set off by coach io Exmouth, ringing at Clyst St. George and Lympstone, returning through Woodhury and Heavitree. Here, Derhap hecause of the magnificent bells, the ringing improved and some excellent London was rung with the aid of Norman Mallett, who had been kindness itself on this tour.

ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Guild most of the business was as usual. We had shown a small loss on the year but at this rate our eserves will keep us going until 1980! Canon Cox was re-elected nresident on the condition that we would not ask him to do too much ringing. Prebendary Andrews was once again made secretary and treasurer and congratulated on his calm efficiency. Canon B. F Sheppard and R.D. St. J. Smith were again clected vice-presidents and the committec was completed with Canon K. W. H. Felstead and I. J. Richards. And that, so we thought, was that. But no-we were presented with a request made through M. C. C. Melville from the Rabbits Guild that one of our members be nominated for election as chanlain to that body. We found, however, that not one member on the tour was qualified as a Rabbit and so the matter was left on the table.

PERSONAL

It was good to have Canon Cox with us and able to ring in some of the towers although he had recently been ill. It was a pleasure, too. to see R. D. St. J. Smith in such good ringing form and to have Canon Sheppard with us again. The keenness of Long ridge minor and minimus was a tonic and their ability should ensure a good ringing future for them. There were a few diverling incidents. The first night our ringing at St Petrock. Excter. coincided with a practice at the nearby Cathedral. The light six seemed iust not to be in tune with the top six of the 12 and the result was cacoohony.

Dignity and impudence' was an abnronriate comment.

Our coach driver was splended. Each tour cem, to brovide a vehicle more sumptuou and immense than the last. This year our 41 seater almost scraned both hedges in the nat row Devonshire lanes. Mercifully we met little traffic in them. Once we came face in complete abandon about 300 yards at a speed of 30 miles per hour. Such is Devonshire driving.

We record our ANBs FAREWEL the many towers we enjoyed. It ssemed that many of them were, like us, on holiday, hu: we were met and welcomed in almost all the towers. On one occasion. which shall be nameless, it was a charming lady ringer who showed us the ropes: at others were were met by local call-change experts and we tried our hand at their craft led by one of our West Country parsons.
So to the end of a very enjoyable week Our homeward-bound towers were better manned than usual. ## Letters to the Editor

Good Luck and Bon Voyage

to Washington Team
Dear Sir,-In the past few weeks there have been several letters in "The Ringing World criticising the Washington venture and the selection of $a$ hand to go to America. 1 was appalled and shocked to read these letters which, in my opinion, ought never 10 have been written!

The ten ringers go to America for two obvious reasons:
(1) To ring at the dedication service of Washington Cathedral.
(2) To encourage, teach and advise the learners at the Cathedral.
Let us be thankful that such a venture is 10 take place at all. John Chilcott had the great honour of inviting ringers to go-he has done it well and has picked a team not only capable of extremely good ringing but a team which will be able to teach and help the learners of Washington Cathedral.

May these ten men go to Washington and ring to the true glory of God, and may they return with a wonderful experience behind them. Good luck and ' Bon Voyage, -Yours faithfully.

Wentworth, Yorks.
Washington, a Good Idea? - Yes

(K. S. B. Croft)

Dear Sir, -No. you are not, by far. the only couple to think that the Washington Venture is it good idea. 'My Girlie' and I were so sitisficd with the idea and the excellent choice of the band that we sent along a donation to help them on their way.
I like to claim friendship with three of them, 'Wilf Moreton, George Fearn and Harry Parkes. Best wishes-and to all the hand. Best wishes, also, to you, St. Mary's, Southampton. for your soth anniversary on April 26th. Small world. isn't it, that we should have heen at Southamnton in May, 1940, at our Manchester Unity Odd Fellows' a nnual movable conferencie.

Crewe.
OAD BAT-ER.

An Offer

Dear Sir,-Reading in 'The Ringing World that an intensive training programme is I was rather disturhed to hear the same week from a former Guild Master and his wife at present working near Washington that their offer of regular help at the Cathedral was refused. They were not invited to ring but were offered a $£ 10$ recording of the hells !
Our selected band of ringers has the great privilege of ringing at the dedication service. and in this they have my wholehearted support as representatives from the homeland of hellringing, hut I believe that-apart from the publicity value-a crash, training course, given by even the most experienced ringers, is of less value than regular instruction. conlinuing over a period of months. -- Yours faithfully,

ALAN J. FROST.

Cambridge Royal

Dear Sir.-Although Mr. Bayles wants to keep Cambridge a regular method, his motion in fact makes Cambridge Royal and Maximus irregular, as hoth have 'four places made hetween successive rows on more than one $O$ casion in a half-lead. -Yours sincercly.
Wakefield. WILFRID F. MORETON.

Great Adventure I/ Agreement

Dear Sir, - Arrangements are now being made for Adventure II to take place during September/October, 1965. A provisional programme to last about four weeks has been agreed upon, and news from Australia is that towers are being circulated inviting constructive comments and suggestions to be suhmitted to the organisers. Messrs. Pitcher and Roper have taken over since George W. Pipc's return ind are giving the visit a great deal of thought and are prepared to do a lot of planning on our behalf.
The progress of work on the bells of Melhourne Cathedral, now at the Loughborough Foundry, is very satisfying and there should be no need to rush the work of rehanging for the tourists' visit.

A few ringers in this country have made inquiries as to the date of the tour in Australia -it seems that some are thinking of emigrating and hoping that a certain coincidence will occur.-Yours faithfully.
T. J. LOCK.

The Leeds Broadcast-An Apology

Dear Sir.-I must adologise to listeners who were unfortunate enough to hear Leeds hells nrior to the hroadcast Festival Service on April 19th. televised by A.B.C. Television.
We were asked to have the bells ringing from 10.55 until the customary signal to ston would he given, shortly after 11 o'clock.
In order to put up as good a performance as possible. we confined ourselves to call changes on ten hells and these were narticularly well struck and the hells hrought into rounds immediately hefore the signal came. when everybodv set his or her hell.
I was horrified therefore to discover that instead of this very good ringing being heard. and it was unquestionably the hest we have done on the ten or so hroadcasts of Leeds bells, a recording of some very indifferent Grandsire Triples on the light eight earlier in the dav had been used, although it was mercifully short.

I have not vel found out who was responsible for the denarture from the arrangements hut we will make sure this does not happen again.-Yours truly.
R. H. DOVE.

Duplicated Doubles Names

Dear Sir.-We read with interest Mr. Amos correspondence regardina Doubles variations As members of one hand referred to in the article, we would like to point out that St David's Doubles which we rane to a quartir peal for St. David's Day, 1962, was not in fact named by us, as he stated, hut by a Derby hand who rang it $t$. a handhell peal in 1961 We also note his persistent use of the term ' New Antelone single.' Pcrhad Mr. Amos would care to note that according to Central Council nublications this is exactly the same as an Antelope single.
It is evident that these variations coincide with those published in 'The Ringing World.' April 10th. 1964, hy David Walklate. Clearlv this would not have arisen had Mr. Amos and his friends not allowed such a length of time to elapse before nublishing them in The Ringing World. - Yours sincerely.

Tangley Peal

Dear Sir,-I am sorry Mr. E. A. Barnett should echo some remark made in the 1920's by the then editor of 'The Ringing World' in his reference to the Tangley peal. I cannot truthfully say I find ringing Bluebell Double; any sillier than ringing a method called Grandsire Doubles.

The names of the method/variations at Tangley were not the important part of that peal, but that two schoolboys with less than two years' ringing learned the nine method variations and spent a Sunday afternoon ringing them and, I may say, very well indeed. It may also be the ringers of silly named doubles to-day who will be the ringers of silly named Surprise methods of to-morrow
P. MURDUCK.

Kingsclere.

We don't regret asking for them

Dear Sir,-I feel that Mr. P. T. Dale. of Dundee, overlooked one or two boints when he complained about certain letters dealing with service ringing records.
The first item to appear was a paragraph in Belfry Gossip.' I then wrote to congratulate the band concerned and suggested the publication of a list of hands with similar records You, Mr. Editor, inserted a note after my letter which read: 'These records deserve nuhlicity. Any others?' The letters which followed were undouhtedly written as a result of that note. In other words, they were written because "The Ringing World' asked for them. Therefore, whatever Mr. Dale may think about the letter which 1 wrote, he is heing grossly unfair when he criticises the others.-Yours sincerely,
H. W. COX.

Doubles Names

Dear Sir-I was most interested to read David K. Walklate's letter ('Ringing World. April 10th). In his letter he gives the compositions of 13 Doubles variations includine some which, he says, have not been published before. I have these variations in my collec tion under other names. I would be obliged if Mr. Walklate (or some nther ringer) wouk let me know who named these variations and when or where they were rung. The variations are Doveridge. Flon. Winster. Chelmorton. Heath. Shirland, Pleasley. Church Greasicy Ault Hucknall, Pentrich. Brailsford. Foremark and L.ongford. Ault Hucknall is called Dove alsn-is this the Derbvshire river or dale? I would be interested in discovering the com nositions of Reading (Collection of Double and Minor Methods, 1939?). Newhury, Woking. Rarton and Thisile. Thisile may he: P.C. of Shinwavs PI: All Saints P.L. Used as a hoin: songle tunknown. Barron may he a variation of St. Simon or St. Martin.-Yours sincerely Marston. Oxford. ROY H. JONES.

Burghill's Annual Dinner

Senior memhers of St. Mary-the-Virgin's Church choir and belfry. together with their wives. friends and churchwardens, went by coach to the Unicorn Hotel. Weobley. for their annual dinner-an excellent meal.
The Vicar, the Rev. R. J. Coombs, in thanking the choir and bellingers for their loyalty during the nast year. said the dinner was in assurance that their voluntary services to the church were not-as so often happensheing laken for granted... "The sound of church hells ringing was one of the ioys of the countryside,' he said F.M

Nurtured on Grandsire, but...

Dear Sir.-As one who was brought up on Granasire Doubles, I should like to air my views on this subject in response to Mi. Anglat's invitation. While I shall always be indeoted to my futor for an introduction to the art, it was not untu I fearned l'larn Bub that the right concept of change ringing began to dawn
Let me draw a comparison at Doubles level. The suitabilty of any method for teaching beginners lles in its simpleity of construction, and how casy the 'blue line ' looks to the jearner. The method should be to him the easiest means of learning how to combine hunting, dodging and place making. but all the tume he must be able to see what he is doing, and recognise his place.

Whate the learner should lind the plain hunting in either method easy, I think PlainBob has the edge. It is somehow cleaner." When the learner makes places, surely it is easier to see how to make seconds rather than thirds. In a plain course of Plain Bob he will also learn how to make long places. The dodges are unencumbered. clearly one step up or down, but in Grandsire the all-importast dodges are cluttered up with making filths on the lurn round in 4-5. The learner frequently muffs his dodge, being worried about making the place. Only when he has mastered singles will he learn how to make long places. It is then a hig step to Triples, but a comparatively easy one from Plain Bob Doubles 10 Minor and so on. As the learner climbs through the Plain Bob family he tinds the same simple fourths place bob, and the greater number of bells, the less he is affected. Yet in Grandsire he finds himself having to cope with the effect of calls in practically every position.

The popularity of Grandsire as a method undoubtedly lies in its great variety of touches and the hine music it produces on higher numbers. Unfortunately in many towers its popularity seems to be the yardstick by which its suitability for teaching to beginners is measured. It may be argued that Giandsire is better where a number of learners is involved, because it has two hunt bells and needs fewer ' inside ringers. It seems to me that anyone holding such a view has never taught his learners to plain hunt first, but lets the method take care of this straight away. The poor learner is plunged from rounds straight into Grandsire and learns first to olain hunt on treble or two, but half the time he cannot see what he is doing because another learner has lost his place trying to master the dodge and turn round in $4-5$ all at once. They are cutting each other's throats and take a long time 10 appreciate the importance of good striking. Yet Grandsire continues to be taught. No, like Mr. Knight, it is Plain Bob for me.

Another point concerns the means by which the Exercise gets to know of restorations, augmentations, etc. Those who try to keep their - Dove up to date have to rely to a large extent on scratching through The Ringing World, picking up details from reports kindly sent in by other ringers. Information is sometimes incomplete and ifeel there are some jobs we never get to hear about at all through lack of reporting. Could not the foundries provide periodical lists in " The Ringing World,' giving brief details of work they have com-pleted?-Yours sincerely,

RONALD K. RUSS.

Surprise Booklet Questions at Middlesex A.G.M.

TIIE annual meeting of the Middlesex Association was held at Sunbury-on-Thames on April 11th, on one of the warmest days of the year. Hampton bells were open for ringing as well as Sunbury and there were good attendances at both towers. The Association's service was at the latter church, and was taken by the incumbent, the Rev. Mr. Saville. About 70 members and friends sat down to a very good tea, at which the high spot was the excellent trifie.

Tea over, the business meeting commenced with the president, the Rev. G. C. Taylor, in the chair. The first item was a vote of thanks by the president to Mr. Saville, who was unfortunately unable to stay for the meeting.

The Master, Mr. J. R. Mayne, made his report and began by welcoming Mr. Harold Rogers, of the, London County Association. He expressed his pleasure at the steady progress shown by the Middlesex, particularly in the South and West District, but he indicated that there was room for yet more progress. He also pointed out that one of the singers: duties was to ensure that the incumbent understood about ringing and its ramifications, and that it was more than a parochial issue.

Following the adoption of the accounts, the secretary, Mr. T. J. Lock, read his report, first apologising for the fact that the annual reports were not yet to hand owing to matters outside his control. Mr. Lock also referred to the advancement of ringing in the Association, mentioning particularly the newly-installed six at Harefield, and the continued progress at St. Andrew's, Uxbridge, and Feltham. Seventytwo peals had been rung for the Association during the year and 121 quarter peals.

MET IN A TEA SHOP

Mr. F. W. Goodfellow gave the report of the Dinner Sub-Committer on the Triennial Dinner held on October 4th last year. This had been fully reported in 'The Ringing World,' and the committee's only comment was to draw attention to the comparatively small number of resident members who attended. The committee had held six meetings at six different places, including one at a Lyons lea shop, which nearly didn't happen as he went to the Lyons at Liverpool Street Station instead of the one at King's Cross !
Ali the retiring officers were re-elected, and seven new members of the Association were proposed and accepted. The members than had great pleasure in agreeing that Mr. C. E. Lankester, of Willesden, and Mr. R. Sanders. of Westminster, should be elected honorary life members. Mr. Lankester joined the Association in 1914, and Mr. Sanders has been a member for an even longer period. Both of them have done a lot for the art of church bell ringing.
Mr. Goodfellow advised the meeting that the Central Committee had decided to send the sum of $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$. to Mr . Hughes towards the cost of the Washington trip, together with the Association's best wishes for the success of the venture. This decision was approved by the meeting.

A query was raised concerning the publica - tion of a booklet containing a complete list of all Surprise Major methods which have been rung. The questioner was advised that this had been brought up at last year's Central Council meeting, and it had heen put in the hands of the Methods Committee. Although both Mr. Mayne and Mr. Blagrove were on this committee, and were anxious to proceed with the booklet, they had been unable to get things moving. A suggestion was made that the matter should be transferred to the Records Committee. The discussion on this subject was closed with Mr. W. H. Coles' definition of a committee: "A hody of persons who individually can do nothing, but collectively can meet and decide that nothing can he done.'
The usual votes of thanks were passed to the captains of hoth ${ }^{\text {c }}$ towers, to Mrs. T. J. Lock for playing the organ, and to the ladies who prepared such an enjoyable tea. R. F

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Over 40 ringers and friends were the guests to tea of the local band at the ancient Cinque Port of Hythe on April 18th. when a meeting of the Ashford District was held.

There is much of the old world left in its steep winding ways. its old Vicarage and Manor House side by side, its Venetian canal and its glorious Norman church like a small cathedral, where the chancel, which has stood for 700 years, rises like the great altar at Canterbury

The service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. E. A. Newman. Miss Anne Barber, of Folkestone, was the organist.

Tea was enjoyed at The Green Parrot. The chairman, Mr. T. Willis, opened the business Dart of the meeting by welcoming the Rev. and Mrs. P. T. Robbins and their ringers of Charing on their transfer from Maidstone to the Ashford District. Twelve new members were elected to the Association.

Miss Maisie Vantom, of Lydd, thanked the hon. District secretary in a few well-chosen words for presenting the meeting with a new leather-bound visitors' book, which he had made himself.

Mr. Alan Berry, the Ringing Master, conveyed the thanks of the visitors to the Vicar and organist for their kindness, the Hythe ringers for their hospitality, and to Mr . W Bidnell for making all the arrangements.

Ringing on the fine eight (tenor 19 cwt.) continued until 9 o'clock, but seldom did justice to the bells.

OBITUARY

MR. LLEWELLYN ALLUM

The death took place at the East Suffolk Hospital. on April 17th, of Llewellyn Allum. late of Stonham Aspal, at the early age of 27.
'Chummy.' as he was locally known, began to ring in his early teens. and soon joined the then Framsden band. Very quick to learn, he was soon ringing Spliced Surprise and London. Although he had only rang 20 peals they were of a good standard.

As a last respect a peal of Yorkshire (his favourite method) was rung upon the bells where he learnt his change ringing. All who took part were members of that band. To his young widow we offer our deepest sympathy: they had been married only 18 months.
L. G. B.

Two of the nine bells which were hung under a canopy at The Lea, Wittertham. Kent, the home of Mr. Liarence H. F. lrving, have been stolen. The bells, cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1869, were used by Sir Henry Irving when he took over the management of the Lyceum Theatre, London, in 1878 . Mr. Laurence lrving is a grandson of the famous actor.
Congratulations to Mr. Malcolm Phipps on becoming a licenciate member of the Royal Institute of Chemistry.
Mr. John Robinson writes correcting the date of the peal at Old Glosson (page 279) to March 24th and not April 4th.
Mr. Douglas Hughes informs us that the trip programme from Washington has arrived and looks formidable, with activities from 8 a.m. to $10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on most days.

After the peal at Kelvedon, Essex, on Aptil 18th, the band was hospitably entertained to tea by Mr. J. Papworth and Mr. and Mrs. J. Elliott, and this was followed by handbell ringing-all very enjoyable.
The shedding by the Rabbits' Guild of its cloak of anonymity is taken as a sign of its established prestige. The belfry visitors' book of Bath Abbey is the richer for the signature of the Master, and his office.
David J. Salter and David P. Sturge are the first members of the Radley College Society to ring a tower bell peal. David Collins. secretary of the Society, would have been in this attempt on March 30th but had to play for College Evensong.
Mr. B. E. Matthews, of London, writes: - The band who called at Warminster on April 19th would like, through your columns, to express their thanks to the local band who generously forsook a quarter peal attempt to allow the visitors to ring.'

The Belfry News': : We have heard of another case recently where a Vicar opposes sound control because he knows that the hottled-up sound vibrations may damage the tower. It is difficult to convince people who have a confidence bred of complete ignorance of this subject that they are wrong.

BELFRY GOSSIP

difficultics ifficulties lon, Hampshire, on April ringing chamber with a cered the ground-floor alcoholic loquar with a certain amount of minutes before housness, and it was 15 minutes before he was persuaded to leave. Fortunately the band kept cool and survived the interruption.
St. Dunstan's, Canterbury, Sunday service record is ringing twice every. Sundav since 1945, as weil as for special services during the week.
A peal of Doubles in seven methods at Handsworth, conducted by Mr. Bernard D. Sims, contained five first peals and a first as conductor. A good start!
Mr. Raymond Hart, who organised the peal at Church Lawford on April 14th, to the regret of his colleagues could not participate owing to an injured foot. John Webb is thanked for standing in at short notice.
The new R.C. Church of Our Lady and St. Joseph, Balls Pond Road. Dalston, Islington. which was consecrated on April 12th by Archbishop Heenan, has a ring of eight bells (tenor $4 \frac{1}{4}$ cWt. in E). from Mears and Stainbank. The bells are hung dead.

The quarter peal rung at Somerby on March 19th was to the memory of Mr. D. R. Moore, father of Mrs. Harrison, and not as printed on page 275. The Rev. A. W. Harrison, Vicar of Somerby, is still alive and well. Our apologies to all concerned.
Mr . G. Burge. captain of ringers at St. Mary's, Bridgwater. informs us that in connection with the royal birth his band were in the tower within 10 or 15 minutes of the B.B.C. announcement and rang out the good news. Local newspaper reporters were also present.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. J. David Clarke, of Whatton, Nottingham, is shortly returning home from the Nottingham General Hospital after a serious illness. He will be recuperating at home but some time must elapse hefore he is ringing again. Best of luck, David.

PUBLICATIONS & THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

$\mathbf{M}^{\mathrm{R}}$R. STUART HODGSON'S letter, criticising the Central Council for not publishing technical literature, has been followed by a thoughtful contribution by Mr. Andrew S. Hudson. May I first of all assure Mr. Hudson of my pleasure in sharing with him the honour of this front page in that issue (April 24th). and also that, while we may differ on details, we have clearly each the same cause at heart. In my letter ( ' $\mathrm{R} . \mathrm{W}$ : March 6 th) I wrote that it was little use bemoaning the fact that the Council or anyone else had not yet produced what another correspondent called a 'mythical long promised' collection. Any collection or publication about change ringing would only be published when one of us gave up sufficient time to produce it and found the cash (or a backer) to publish.
In view of the approach of the annual meeting of the Central Council it might be appropriate to consider the Council's powers and duties and how they relate to this demand for technical publications. We must all the time, however, bear in mind that the Council is not a corporate body like a local government authority, or even like a limited company, with a salaried staff to carry out its orders and the finance to see that those orders are implemented.

Among its original aims (1890) and relevant to this article are that the Council shall use its best endeavours to guard the rights and generally promote the welfare of the Exercise, both in its scientific aspect and as a branch of Church work. It shall also encourage and assist the development of the Art in its scientific, mathematical and historical branches. The Council today is still in this position-it can try to promote the welfare, etc., and can encourage and assist the development. etc. Note that there is nothing mandatory about this--our predecessors realised that there could not be, above all because the power of the purse was lacking.
The members of the Council, and its officers, are volunteers and all the work done for the Council is voluntary. Apart from the secretarial expenses incurred in arranging the annual meetings, hardly any of the expenses of its members on the work of its committees are met and all the actual labour is completely free. In spite of the reference in the Handbook to 74 delegates attending the first meeting, the members are not delegates in the sense that union delegates attend meetings and vote on the instructions of their unions. They are representatives elected by the constituent associations and, while normally they reflect the views of those associations, there are many occasions when they do not. with the result, sometimes, that their association does not reelect them. But this does not happen often.

Now let us consider the vital question of finance. First the matter of cost of publication, remembering that ringing textbooks cannot be printed as cheaply as novels. Because of the considered policy of publishing the Beginners' Handbook as cheaply as possible it is now in its third edition of 5.000 copies. This last edition cost $£ 169$-about eightpence a copy. Allowing for postage. packing, advertising, etc., and the six copies for five shillings concession, the Council does not lose money on it. And it achieves its main object-a wide circulation. If this work had been dealt with on commercial standards there would have been publishers' costs, distributors' costs, retailers' costs, profits to all of these, initial payment to author and continuing royalties. At, say, two shillings and sixpence or more a copy sales would have heen so much lower that the opportunity of a low reprint charge would bever have occurred. It is quite possible that it would never have been printed at all-certainly not in its present form. It was the proof of demand supplied by a certain "Notes for Beginners' which led to the issue of the printed booklet. And I am well aware that the circulation, for the "Notes' of some 3,500 copies in six hand produced editions was only because it was sold for the cost of the paper used.

Your critics may reply that they have only suggested that charges should be increased to commercial levels, and that this need not cause costs to rise similarly. But that is to ignore human nature. You can only use voluntary labour if you use it to cut costs so that you can produce cheaply for the benefit of all. The moment you raise charges to commercial levels and start to make 'profits," the labourer will decide that he is worthy of his hire. There's also the tax man!

Now let us see what money is available to the Council under the present arrangements. It would not be right to use 1963 figures: they have not yet been presented to the Council. But the 1962 figures, published last Whitsun, are sufficiently recent for our purpose. The publications account showed a profit for 1962 of $£ 58$. This was obtained by carrying out the Council's policy of publishing at low prices to obtain a wide circulation. Enthusiasts may well say that ringers could buy at the full commercial price. I sincerely hope this will prove true when my own venture is published-both for my publishers' sake and my own. But I suspect we shali rely largely on copies being bought for public libraries! The large majority of ringers are not enthusiasts for textbooks and they are used to having their hobby almost for nothing. Perhaps this is subconsciously because it is a kind of return for all their voluntary ringing as part of their church work. Whatever the reason I know no peal ringer who pays for his three hours ringing at the rate he would for the same time at tennis, or ten-pin bowling-or bingo! We know well the reaction of association members to proposals for increasing subscriptions-usually only about the price of a packet of ciragettes per annum.

The profit of $£ 58$ was made on a total sale of 3,542 itemsalmost half of them copies of the Beginners' Handbook; the other half was divided among 22 other publications-no fortunes to be made there. It would be rash to prophesy that a doubling of the selling price would not at least halve the sales. With that result the profit would be no more and the aims of the Council, mentioned earlier, would not have been achieved.

The Council's general fund showed an excess of income over expenditure for 1962 of $£ 54$. But this took account of the $£ 58$ profit on publications. So the ordinary income, primarily from affiliation fees, barcly covers necessary expenses. Perhaps this general fund should also be put on a commercial basis by asking the constituent associations for higher fecs. But if you do this you cannot cxpect still to have the Council's work donc for nothing, so your final position will be the same. And the associations will have less to spend on buying books, or teaching, or will have to raise subscriptions and round the circle we shall go!

There is the Clement Glenn bequest, now amounting almost to $£ 900$. The annual interest on this is about $£ 25$, which at commercial rates the capital might suffice for a quite limited edition of one 200 page text book and that would be that. This leaves 'The Ringing World' account, which shows an annual profit which may or may not continue to meet rising costs of production. It shows also a capital which in 1962 brought in the useful sum of $£ 265$ in interest to help towards the annual profit. As a member of the committee. I can well imagine the views of its convener

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

Invitation to Central Council

THE Coventry Diocesan Guild held its annual general meeting at St. Nicholas' Church, Warwick, on April 18th. Ringing before the ervice was in a variety of methods, all tastes being catered for. The service was taken by the Vicar, the Rev. Graham Smallwood, who is a vice-president of the Guild and also a ringer. In a short address he assured the members present that the Guild would always be welcome at St. Nicholas
Tea was followed by the business meeting with the president. Mr. F. W. Perrens, taking the chair. Opening the meeting, he gave a hearty welcome to all present, and in particular to the visitors. After dealing with the usual items, reports were given by the various officers.

MORE AND MORE YOUNG PEOPLE

The secretary said that the Guild was doing the job it set itself to achieve, that is, to keep as many of the bells ringing on Sundays for services. This he felt was being done very successfully as only bells that were unringable were silent, and even some of these were being chimed. Looking around the room, it was obvious that more and more young people were coming into the Guild, and this assured continuity, as these young people would be taking their place among the peal ringers, and peal ringing would help to keep them.
The treasurer's report created quite a useful discussion on the Guild finances, and how they should be used.

The Ringing Master commented on the ringing at meetings, saying that rounds for learners was very much worth while, as it taught them how to listeen to their bell and improve their striking. He also commented on the low attendances at some District meetings, Darticularly because some of the towers were not too easy to get to. This was borne out by the Branch secretaries.

It was confirmed that the Guild acquire a lypewriter and duplicator to enable the annual report and other duplicating work to be produced at little cost. It was also contrmed that the Guild renew its invitation to the Central Council to visit the Guild for its meeting in 1965.
It was confirmed that the annual subsuripion he raised to 3 s . Gd. for seniors and 2 s . Gd. for those under 18. This would make Guild finances more realistic and would enable officers of the Guild 10 claim expenses 10 which they were entitled, as it was obvious. that many of them did not make clatims out of consideration for the Guild

A NEW PRESIDENT

As the president had intimated that he would not be secking re-election, he nominated Mr. A. Beamish for that office. Mr. Beamish was duly elected. Before vacating the chair Mr. Perrens said how much he had enjoyed serving the Guild as their president and assured the meeting that he would always be pleased to help in the future in any way he could.

Mr. Beamish, on taking the chair. said he very much appreciated the honour the Guild had paid him. but he took it as an honour for the tower he represented. He realised that

AN APOLOGY TO BIDDENDEN

A. E. Davies (age 16), of Chartham, Canterbury, has written to Mr. H. G. Payne, tower captain at All Saints: Biddenden. expressing his 'sincerest apologies for my very stupid comment in your visitors' book about your tenor bell. I'm afraid it was one of those things which was written humorously without thought.

So that the article "Uncalled For" should have no reflection on the band of St . Dunstan's Church, Canterbury, or for that matter any of the other churches in the city, I should like to make it quite clear that I am not an altached memher of the lower, but. being a member of St. Dunstan's Church, the band and their captain very kindly allowed me to join them in their ringing.'
in following such a capable man as Frank Perrens, who had served the Gaild in many offices, he had quite a difficult task before him, but assured members that he would do his utmost to uphold the example set by his redecessor.
All other officers were re-elected with the exception of the Warwick Branch secretary. who was not seeking office again. A successor will be nominated at the next Branch meeting, to be confirmed at the next quarterly meeting.
The meeting concluded with thanks to the Vicar and those who had arranged the tea A social evening arranged by the young members of St. Nicholas' band was much enjoyed. Those not able to do the twist were left to enjoy more ringing on the good eight.

if it was proposed to use either capital or interest for the risky business of publishing books at commercial prices.

What does all this amount to? Mr. Hodgson says : There are signs of an increasing determination by ringers interested in technical aspects that their requirements shall be met. If those in control of the Central Council will not satisfy the demand they ought to announce their refusal at the Whitsun meeting in order that other sources of supply can be investigated without delay.' Brave words. But it needs no decision by the Council to enable Mr . Hodgson or any other of those determined experts to write and publish commercially, at their own risk, any book they wish, provided it does not infringe the law. Mr. Hodgson's own treatise on false course heads. which he substantially subsidised to enable publication, is being handled by the Council's voluntary labour system. It has only 12 pages and the charge at non-commercial rates is two shillings. Interesting as it is. sales in 1962 amounted to 34 copies.

Mr. Hudson says that When there is a demand for information by the Exercise, the Central Council should take all reasonable steps to satisfy it.' The word 'reasonable" can only mean in the context of the Council's voluntary workers and limited finance: that is just what the Council does when it is satisfied that the demand is sufficient to encourage its memters to give of their leisure time and spare cash to produce suitable manuscripts. I can only underline Mr. Hudson's own words- One has to take things into one's own hands.' Of course one does and always has, and those hands must dip into one's own pockets. More so if you are not prepared to accept Council publications which in his words "omit what we want on account of some personal whim of the people responsible.'

May I conclude by saying that the Exercise should be-I believe most of it is-deeply grateful for all the work done all the year, freely in both senses, by so many members of the Central Council. some for many years. White realising that a 'Snowdon' family does not appear in every generation. I am sure the Exercise will be equally grateful to any of your correspondents who produce desirable text books to fill the gaps. Whether they will show that gratitude by paying commercial prices is a matter of doubt. It will depend on their valuation. not that of the author. But the enthusiasts for puhlication should be aware that the previous experience of several eminent ringers has not been too encouraging.
W. G. WILSON.

Burslem Delight

Dear Sir, - The Methods Committee are unanimous in their decision that Burslem Delight does not extend and request the conductor of the peal rung on November 23 rd, 196.3. to furnish a name for the method rung. - Yours faithfully,
C. KENNETH LEWIS,

Convener, Methods Committee.

OBITUARY

MR. JOSEPH MARSH

Local captain and a ringer at Claverley Salop, for over 50 years Mr. Joseph Marsh died on April 21st. A memoir will appear in our next issue.

MR. H. R. FRENCH
As brielly reported recently, the death of Mr. H. R. French, of Sturry, near Canterbury, came as a great shock to his friends. Proud of the fact that he was born a true Cockney," his father being in the City of London Police, he spent his early youth at Smarden and was apprenticed to a local builder, and later moved to Ospringe. He served in the Royal Engineers during the first world war. and after hostilities moved to Sturry to join Mr. Ernest Slingsby, who at that time was captain of the local ringers. He soon took up ringing and eventually became captain, retaining that office until recently. In 1934 he joined the Cathedral company and at the time of his death was vice-captain. He was a keen peal ringer in the early days, but the demands of his business, which he took over in 1935, curtailed his activities. For a number of years he represented the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association.
As a builder he maintained a very high standard of workmanship, and gained the complete confidence of his many customers. This. together with the high regard with which he was held by all ringers who knew him. was vividly shown by the large attendance at the funeral service held in Sturry Church. This was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R, R. Lunnon, assisted by the Rev. T. G. Willian!, (former Vicar) and the Rev. S. M. Evans. In a short address the Vicar paid a wonderful tribute to 'Dick' in his work as a former verger, latterly as a churchwarden, and in his relationships with all the village people. As the cortege passed between the ringers on its way to Barham Crematorium a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on the back eight of his own handbells.

He will be sadly missed by all who knew him, and many expressions of sympathy have been received by his family. To the writer it is the treak of over 30 years of wonder ful friendship.

MR. SIDNEY HOLGH

The Chester Diocesan Guild has lost one of its oldest and most honoured members hy the death on April 10th of Mr. Sidney Hough aged 85 years. He had heen a member of the Guild for at least 68 years (his name appears in the Quinquennial Report for 1896) and all of this time he was a ringer at Knutsford. He rang his first peal at Norbury on October 23rd, 1909, and his last peal was one for his own golden wedding on December 27th. 1952. rung by members of his own family with him as conductor. His peal total of 22 was by modern standards insignificant. but his contribution to peal ringing had been in the encouragement of others and he had travelled miles to take part in attempts, and many ringers who are better known to the Exercise owe much to his helo in the early stages of their ringing carcers. The writer is proud that Sidney Tlough took part in his first attempt for a peal (which failed) and later conducted his first peal.

He was always active in Guild and Branch offairs and his attendance at Branch meetings was extremely regular until age prevented him from travelling, but in the last year he had filtended one or two meetings and was obviously delighted with the progress of the young ringers he met. He was chairman of when he took over from the Rev. A. T. Beeston, with whom he had a great friendship. and he continued to keep in contact with Mrs. Beeston up to the time of his death. When his periad in office was over he continued to offer the Branch his guidance and his advice was always sound and much of the Branch's strength may be attributed to his and his contemporaries', work.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Mr. F. Dunkerley Retires

THE 1964 annual meeting of the Lancashire Association, held at Leyland on April 25th, marked the retirement from office of Mr. F. Dunkerlev, who had been general secretary since 1951, following the death of Mr. W. H. Shuker.

The president, the Rev. R, D. St. J. Smith, paid a very warm tribute to his services and, as is gesture of thanks from the members, presented Mr. Dunkerley with a silver cigarette box. A bouquet of flowers was also given to Miss Grimme. who had given such sterling service to him.

Mr. Dunkerley, in his reply, thanked the members and asked them to support the new secretary.

The only nominee for the vacancy was Mr. F. Reynolds, of 38, Windsor Avenue, Whitefield. Manchester, who was declared elected. There was a ballot for the vacancy on the Central Council caused by the death of Mr. Derek Ogden, and Mr. J. P. Partington (Rochdale) was elected. Mr. Cyril Crossthwaite was the only nominee for the office of vice-president. Miss Mary Walshaw's appointment as custodian of the Derek Ogden Memorial Library at Manchester Cathedral was confirmed.

LAPSED MEMBERS WHO REJOIN
The committee's printed report. which was received, called attention to the resolution from the Blackburn Branch: - That the committee be asked to consider a request that members whose subscriptions had lapsed, but who had since rejoined the Association, should be credited in the peal totals with peals they had rung when the: were previously members.' After discussion it was carried that the resolution should go before the annual general meeting with the addition of the following words: "if they request the same and furnish details. The committee agreed that if the resolution was adopter by the annual general meeting an asterisk should be placed by the name of any member in the annual report who had rejoined. This was adopted at the half-yearly meeting.
Mr. Frank Reynolds reported to the committee that the bookcase for the Association's lihrary had heen completed at a cost of $£ 20$ for timber, although its value was estimated at $\ddagger$ lon. The library was to be named The Derek Ogden Memorial Library.

L OSSES BY DEATH

These were.-Life ringing members: Henry Moss (Bolton), William T. Clark (Broughton), J. Miller (Leyland). Mrs. H. M. Windle (Hnghton), H. Entwistle (Burnley). H. Reynolds (Manchester). Ringing members: W. E. L.oxham (Penwortham). R. Longden. D. Ogden and B. Walshaw (Manchester), A. Parker (Poolstock) and F. Bentley (Burnley).
The Association membership was: Honorary life 65 (new 2), non-resident 784 (new 43), ringing members 940 (new 101).

The ringing secretary (Mr. J. P. Partington) reported that 218 peals were rung for the Association in 1963, which was a record and 78 more than last year. They consisted of: Maximus 9. Cinques 4, Royal 13. Caters 8, Major 118. Triples 9, Minor 46, Doubles 11 , There were $20^{2}$ 'firsts' for the Association: 2113 resident members took part and 47 rang their first peal. Fifty-one shared in conducting. the leaders being Neil Bennett 22, Inlon: Asheroft 19. Frederick Shalleross 18., Threo resident members took nart in the extent of Major at Loughborough. The outstanding peal for the Association was 18 -

MR. F. DUNKERLEY, General Secretary since 1951.

Spiced Surprise Maximus at Manchester Town Hall conducted by Derek Ogden. This was the greatest number of methods ever rung to a peal on 12 bells.

The president regretfully gave notice that having left the county he would have to resign next year. He also moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar. the ladies, organist, Mr. L. Walmslev and local ringers, and this was warmly supported.

Earlier in the day a large congregation heard the president give an interesting sermon at the service in St. Andrew's Church. A potato pie tea followed, and in spite of the number who had not sent in names, the locals rose to the occasion and catered excellently.

PROGRESS IN NEW ZEALANI)

( REAT progress has been made in regard It ringing at Christchurch Cathedral. The membership is the highest ever and the result is that Grandsire Caters (plain courses) are heing rung fairly regularly and soon a touch. will be attempted. Other methods rung atre Stedman Doubles and Trioles and a start has been made with Cambridge Surprise Minor.
At Easter we were very pleased to welcome Mr. Johin Gardner, of Balcombe, Sussex, England. Ringers of his ability, also Mr. John Gunner (late of Winchester) are a great help to the Society. On practice nights, with learners included, we have had as many as 15 present.

I am delighted to report that the ring of five bells at St. Paul's Church. Papenul, is active again, after being silent for some years. The Vestry at St. Paul's are hehind this, the result being that recruits have been trained at the Cathedral by our members. Under the guidance of Ray Idle a start has been made at Pananui with oractice on Thursday nights and Sunday evening ringing
These are the bells that the ringers practised on for the opening of the Cathedral bells in 1881.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

West Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Symondshury on April 18 th , representatives from nine towers and two visitors being present.
The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. R. J. Edmondson, Vicar of Melplash, and the lesson was read by the Rev. K. G. C. Rowcroft. Mr. B. Elsworth was the organist.

An excellent tea, to which 30 sat down, was prepared and served hy the local ringers and their wives, and all were made welcome by this hospitality.

At the business meeting members paid tribute to the memory of Messrs. E. Case and Elie Hawker. Five new ringing members were elected. Final arrangements were made by members for attending the Guild Festival at Marlborough, by coach.
Methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Grandsire and Stedman, Cambridge, London and Bob Minor.

Next quarterly meeting: Askerswell, June 13th; and practice meetings: Thorncombe, June 10th, and Hawkchurch, July 8th, J. D.

Marlborough Branch

Aldbourne, where for over 200 years bells of all descriptions were rast by the former Wiltshire founders, Cor and Wells family, was visited by the Marlhorough Branch for their meeting on April 25th. With the Rev. Roger Keeley (Ringing Master) in charge, a variety of touches was rung. It was a good meeting with many visitors. The Guild secretary (Mr. W. C. West) and his assistant (Mr. F. Slatford) were present and the Branch secretary was welcomed back after being laid aside with a severe attack of lumbago.

After the Guid service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. C. Perry), came a splendid tea in the Memorial Hall generously provided by Mr. and Mrs. Keen. Helping with the arrangements were Mrs. P. Newman, Mrs. G. Newman and Miss E. Palmer. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. G. Newman (chairman) and the evening's ringing concluded with an excellent touch of Stedman Triples rung by a touring band from Thatcham, Berks.

CHESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS SILENT

Unless an unexpected gift is forthcoming. Chester Cathedral hells are likely to he silent for some time.
The Bishop of Chester (the R1. Rev. Gerald Ellison), in his diocesan leaflet, states that an architect has reported that the bell frame is hadly reiated to the tower structure, and movement in it could seriously affect the stability of the tower.
'The bells must be silent.' he says. 'First aid steps could be taken for $£ 500$. This would enable the bells to he rung for short periods. For $£ 9,000$ to $£ 10,000$ the troubles could be completely cured.
'Is there anyone who would like to provide for the restoration?" appeals the Bishop. He points out that the Dean and Chapter were faced with heavy responsibilities for cleaning the inside of the Cathedral, and putting the Cathedral in order must be given priority.

It looks as if there will he a lone wait hefore the bells are heard again in Chester. This is a great sadness to those of us who love the sound of the bells and who feel much sympathy with Dorothy Sayers, who remarks that in this noisy world the sound of the bells is the one loud noise made solely to the glory of God.'

Letters to the Editor

Xingu Surprise Minor

Dear Sir.-The performance at Countesthorpe on March 9th does not conform with the C.C.'s conditions for peals of Minor, and cannot thercfore be classed as a peal. I am sure that the ringers concerned are aware of this fact, and it was therefore wrong of them to mislead you into publishing details in the peal columns of 'The Ringing World, of April 24th. If it was necessary to publicise this feat at all, a heading such as "Other Performances 'should have been requested.

Minor methods such as Xingu are worthless since they are incapable of producing true extents in the conventional manner. This essential requirement cannot be evaded bv using singles to produce $1,440^{\prime}$ s. Yours sincerely,

GEORGE W. MASSEY.
Frome. Somerset.
Dear Sir.-With regard to the peal Xingu Surprise Minor rung at Countesthorpe on March 9 th. I would like to point out that this peal does not comply with the Central Council's requirements for peals of Minor. The reason for this is that, as Mr. Jelley already knows perfectly well, it is impossible to obtain a true 720 in the method, and therefore the 1,440 's employed could not consist of true and complete round 720 's.
I am sorry to have to raise this mattci, but. if my memorv serves me correctly, a neal of Saturn Treble Boh Doubles was disallowed for this very reason.-Yours faithfully.

ROGER D. BAILEY
Holbeach, Spalding.

Mr. William Pye

Dear Sir,-The writer of the article concerning the first 12-bell peal for the Trurn Guild on page 266 does the memory of the late Mr. William Pye a very grave injustice in suggesting he credited the five peals he rang in Cornwall in 1913 to the Devon Guild. instead of the Truro Guild, because he was only allowed three-quarters of an hour's ringing at the Cathedral instead of a peal.
Mr. Pye was not only a great ringer, he was also a great man, and quite above anything mean or petty such as is suggested. Yours sincerely,
E. BARNETT.
170. Kings Close, Crayford.

Disappointed by Record

-Dear Sir,-A few weeks ago my son and I were looking through the miscellaneous records at a well-known store. To our surprise we came across a bell-ringing record (H.M.V. CLP 1441). We hadn't the time to hear it played but knowing that bell-ringing records are rather hard to come by we bought it. But what a shock we had when we played it for the first time !

On the first side there was Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles. The striking was terrible and I fail to see how this came to be recorded. On the second side there was Cambridge Surprise Major: this was a little better but I should not think it was up to recording tandard.

I myself am by no means an expert ringer. indeed I am limited to Boh Minor and covering. But even I can tell had striking when I hear it. If anyone doubts me and would like to hear the record I am in all day and would be more than pleased to oblige. - Yours sincerely. M. BROWN.

Behind Washington Criticism?

Dear Sir, - There has been much correspondance and criticism of the selection of the Washington band.
The final one from Tom Lock adds something. He speaks of 'obvious omissions.' May I ask what obvious omissions?

Perhaps the general secretary of the Middlesex Association or the Master of the Cumberlands or a representative of the Ladies' Guild? Why end here? Why not the general secretary and Master of every Association? Why not a representative of every Association? Why not a representative of every band who contributed?

Now let us face facts. The selection of a band of everybody's choice is impossible.
No matter who had selected the band, criticism was bound to come. One has only to glance down the peal columns each week and look at the number of Societies to realise the difficulties. I have been assured in certain circles that the fact that nine of the band are Cumberland Youths is purely a coincidence, and a sane look at the names will show that they are as good a band as possible.
The universal appeal has been pointed out. As a matter of fact it would be interesting to find out how many of the people who have complained have actually contributed to the fund.

Let us therefore have a little reason in the matter.
Certain people have selected certain ringers. If anybody has any complaint against any certain ringer or ringers, let them out with it openly.

Otherwise, let us have a little less of the sour grapes and pious platitudes and resign ourselves to the fact that everybody suitable could not possibly go and that in view of the difficulties a good job of selection has been done.-Yours sincerely.

Place Notation for Doubles

Dear Sir, - Could correspondents give Doubles methods in place notation? This would avoid the rather clumsy Winchendon plain leads with half-leads of Original called as bohs and Old Doubles calls for singles, type of notation, which may be all very well for Mr. Amos and Mr. Walkgate, but is rather disheartening for the less expert.

Two difficulties would be prevented entirely by place notation. The first is that it is not always made plain whether a whole lead of one method is being used as the bob of another. or if the plain lead method is being modified near the lead end.
Secondly, the method or call referred to may not be known to the reader. For instance, I cannot find any mention of a Grandsire extreme or odd bob in the 'Collection of Doubles Methods.'
Place notation is bound to be a little complex when the bob lead is very different from the plain lead, but it does have the advantage of conveying the information concisely, accurately and unambiguously.

It might also take up less column space and. in the long run, lead to fewer arguments in your columns.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN DAVID.

Peal on Woodhouse Machine

Dear Sir,-On Sunday, April 19th, a peal was rung on the Woodhouse Ringing Machine. The peal was P. G. K. Davies' composition of 5,120 Spliced Surprise Major in four methods $-1,120$ Rutland, 1,280 Cambridge and Lincolnshire and 1,440 Yorkshire with 69 changes of method and all the work of each method for every bell. The peal was rung in 2 hours and 47 minutes.
This is the first peal to be rung on this machine since it was completely rebuilt by Mr. Gordon Thwaites, and we are pleased to report that the machine behaved faultlessly throughout..

I set the methods and put in the bobs whilst Gordon Thwaites attended to the diagram mechanism. A complete diagram of the paths of the treble and seventh was made, and this measures about 12 feet in length!-Your faithfully.

'Wizard Show, Truro

Dear Sir-May I congratulate the members of the Truro Diocesan Guild who broke the Cinques barrier for the Guild. I know of no Cornishman who will not echo my sentiments when I say 'Wizard show, chaps, wish I'd been there"

Of course, we could all draw un bands which we think should have rung this peal. We did not, and therefore to this band goes all honour for having done that which we have neglected-Yours sincerely,

Sundays at Twerton

Dear Sir.-May I first be allowed to congratulate the Highclere ringers on their Sunday service ringing and to tell them that the band at Twerton-on-Avon have rung for three services every Sunday since 1958.
Also, since starting off several youngsters at the beginning of 1963. we have added ringing for Sunday School and after Evensong 10 make it five times on a Sunday. It may be added that people around the church love to hear the bells and un to now have not found it too much.
It is interesting to note that the Sunday time-table of at least four of the band, who are also choirboys, ring six times and sing four times (which includes a visit to a neighhouring narish). I am not sure whether meal times exist but their keenness does not seem to wear off and I hope it won't. - Yours truly.

Not from St. Dunstan's

Dear Sir, -It is a pity that Mr. Payne, of Biddenden. did not add the name of the 'gentleman' in his letter regarding the comments written in the visitors' book, that the tenor was "lousy and flat."

I have known all the members at St. Dunstan's for vears. I am quite positive that not one of them would even think of making such an entry in any visitors' book, let alone do it, no matter what state the bells were in. I am cqually positive that the 'gentleman' in guestion is not a member of St. Dunstan's and. whoever he is. he should at least have the decency to apologise to both the Biddenden and St. Dunstan's ringers.-Yours faithfully,

Canterbury For Apology LUCK.

BRISTOL RINGING FESTIVAL

May 30th, 1964

As you can see from looking in 'Dove, the city of Bristol and the immediate neighbourhood are wonderfully well endowed with rings of bells. It is therefore a natural place to hold a big Ringing Festival, for it provides all the facilities for a lot of ringers to do a lot of ringing in one day and to come together and meet each other. This year there will be 26 towers open and between them they will provide something for everybody; for the 12 -bell ringers there are the fine bells of St. Mary Redcliffe; for the eight-bell specialists our Cathedral and the heavy eight at Long Ashton, as well as iight eights like those of St. Ambrose or Knowle; for those who wish to pit their skills against heavy sixes there will be Westbury and Portbury as well as Filton and Clapton-in-Gordano for those who prefer their sixes lighter.

At any time of year Bristol is a beautiful city, but at the end of May it and the surrounding country are at their very best and provide much to delight and interest the eyes of the yisitors, whether they be ringer or a non-ringing member of his family. For those whose particular interest is seeing unusual bells, there will be opportunities during the day 10 visit the central tower of the Cathedral to see the mediaval bells and frame recently described by Mr. Ranald Clouston in . The Ringing World,' and also Great George, the great bell of Bristol University.
On such occasions as this ringers also wish to get together and meet one anotber outside the tower. We have therefore arranged that all those who wish can lunch logether at a modest cost at a hotel conveniently situated for the towers which will be open immediately after lunch and also for car-pariking-no sma'l problem in Bristol on a Saturday. There will also be a social gathering in the new Senior Common Room of the University in the evening, to which all are invited and for which there will be no admission charge
It is appropriate that when ringers meet logether like this they should also worship together and give thanks for the great gifts they enjoy. We shall have our own service at noon in the Cathedral, in which there will be a special ringers' choir.
Festivals were previously held in Bristol in 1961 and 1962 and were very well attended. Wie do hope. though, that ringers will not find themselves at the same tower simultancously, as happened once or twice before, and we have tried to arrange things to prevent this.

You will not find the day's programme published in detail in "The Ringing World ' because it is so large that it will take up too much space together with all the necessary instructions for finding the towers. You can get the programme by writing to Mr . D. J. Hunt. 58, Gordon Avenue, Bristol 5. He also has lunch tickets for sale (7s. 6d.). Organising a festival like this does cost us a little, so we hope you will not mind a small surcharge being put on the lunch tickets to cover organising expenses: perhaps if you want to come but do not wish to have lunch with us, you could let us have a little contribution to help towards these expenses. Thank you.
We hope to see you in Bristol on May 30th.
P. G.

CHELSEA RINGERS' TOUR

Ringers from St. Luke's, Chelsea, together with other ringers who have in the past been associated with St. Luke's, took part in a well organised tour of North Yorkshire and Westmorland during the week April 11th to 18th. Headquarters were at Bedale, Yorks, and excursions were made daily by road to visit and ring at about 30 churches, which included Kendal, Bowness-on-Windermere, Ambleside. Sedburgh, Beverley Minster, Beverley St. Mary's, Walkington, Leeds, St. Chads, Headingley St. Michael's. St. Peter's, Bramley. Armley, Northallerton, Guisborough, Whitby, Pickering, Saltburn-by-Sea, Skelton-inCleveland, Middlesbrough, Thornaby-on-Tees, Howden, Selby, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Tadcaster and Middleham.

No peals were attempted but an excellent quarter peal of Stedman was rung on the beautiful eight at Howden. A very warm welcome awaited the party at every tower visited and ringing was enjoyed on some very good bells.
Those taking part in the tour were Miss $\mathbf{K}$. Branson (Edinburgh). Miss V. Duprê (Chelsea). Miss M. Powe! (Chelsea), Squire Crofi (Ealing), I. H. Lott (Chelsea), Ian Lloyd (Pershore), Aubrey Lloyd (Charlbury), W. H. Pickett (Stoke), A. J. Stimson (Melton Mowtray). J. F. Smallwood (Darley Dale) and A F Udall (CheLsea).
Sincere thanks to those who made it possible for us to ring, and to Veronica and John for their efficient organisation. JAFUS.
MISS JEAN BARNETT'S "21st"
As April 28th fell on a Tuesday, it was decided to hold the first part of Mise Jean Barnett's ' 21 st' celebrations on the previous week-end, when friends and relations gathered at Crayford, where they were entertained by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett (mother doing a specially good job with the buffet!). The second oart consisted of a peal of Bob Royal at Plymouth, in which Jean rook part, and a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Withyham. in which her father grandfather and godfather took part (both peals being rung on the 28 th). After the Withyham peal the band were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Hairs at Groombridge, and the opportunity was taken of wishing Jean "Many Happy Returns,' this being done by telephons to Exeter.

SUFFOLK GUILD

The Central District held a quarterly meeting at Worlingworth on April 25th, which at tracted ringers from as far afield as Hertfordshire, Cambridge, Norfolk and Ipswich. The Rector, the Rev. W. H. Donnan, welcomed the ringers at the service and gave an interesting account of the history of the eight hells and their connection with the people and village life over the past 300 years.
Before sitting down to tea at the Rectory Mr. L. E. Last thanked the Rector and Mrs. Donnan for their warm welcome and hospitality and congratulated all concerned on the very effective restoration work recently carried out at the church. At the business meeting the chair was taken by Miss Alice Lester and it was agreed that the meeting had proved a successful ringing and social orcasion.

THE LADIES' GUILD

South Wales District

Several young Caldicot ringers were able to ring their first courses and touches of Stedman Triples when the South Wales Branch held an enjoyable meeting on April 18th. The visit was regarded as a special occasion bv the Vicar (the Rev. Roy Hallett), who ar ranged for solemn Evensong.
Tea was served in the church school by Mrs. Sowerby and Mrs. Wheeler. These ladies were thanked by Mr. Jack James. Mrs. Coles thanked Mr. Hallett for his warm welcome and Miss Dilys Hulbert thanked the organist, Mr. H. Harris.
Two new members were elected the Misses Nona Davies and Sally Behenna, of Cardiff.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY

Seven Sunday service bands competed for the second striking competition held by the Society at St. Mary's Church, Bushbury, near Wolverhampton on April 11th. The test was 120 changes of either Plain Bob Doubles or Minor.
The results were: 1 Little Aston ' $A$ ' ( $7 \frac{1}{2}$ faults), 2 Lichfield Cathedral ( $10 \frac{1}{2}$ ), 3 Great Barr (21), 4 Aldridge (26t), 5 Penn (31), 6 Cannock ( 501 ), 7 Little Aston ' B' (52). Great Barr should be congratulated on coming third as they had never entered a band before and some were learners, also Little Aston on not only winning but on entering two six-bell bands.

Thanks are accorded to the Vicar for his co-operation, the local ringers for light iefreshments, and to Messrs. Gordon Halls (Derby), Dennis R. Carlisle (Sandiacre) and Gordon Lane (Kingsbury) the judges.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Branch was held at Long Ashion (8) on April 18th, when the Association service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. I. F. Westmacott). Tea in the Church Hall was followed by the business meeting under the chairmanship of Mr. H. W. Knight. Eight new members were elected, seven from Yatton and one from Portishead.

Subject to permission, the following towers were chosen for meetings: Wraxall (quarterly) and Nailsea (June). The May meeting will be replaced by the Striking Competition at Nempnett Thrubwell, with Mr. A. M. Tyler. of Bristol, as judge. The test piece will bc 120 Doubles or Minor, rung by a tower's Sunday service band.
An offer from Portishead to hold the annual Corporate Communion at their tower was accepted with thanks by the meeting.
Tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. E Knight, who had died since the last meeting. and Mr. H. W. Knight was congratulated on his election at the annual general meeting as an honorary life member of the Association

Mr. R. Gorton, of 152 , Deane Road, Bolion, completed on May 2 nd 61 years is a ringer of which the first 60 - 12 K Saviour's Church. For first 60 were at The Hiast 12 months 67 years a 67 years a ringer at The Saviour's Church. This is, indeed, a family record to be proud of. The band who rang in the 150 th peal on the bells of St. John's, Cardiff, on April 23 rd , included five of the Sunday service band.
The peal at Seavington on April 23rd was rung by the St. James', Taunton, band, with the exception of Mr. Tom Hill, of Ilminster, to whom grateful thanks are accorded.
A naval correspondent who will be in Mombasa in June and hopes on six days' leave to visit Nairobi inquires as to the possibilities of a ring on the six bells at Kilifi.
Is it the custom for young ladies having the misfortune to break a stay in a strange tower to purloin the same as a souvenir? This happened recently when the Wotton Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association visited Malmesbury, Wilts.
Commander Davies, the son of the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies, the well known authority on ringing, visited Aldbourne tower during the meeting of the Marlborough District of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild on April 25th. The Commander resides at Aldbourne.
Yorkshire has wrested from Lancashire the honour of most methods rung to a peal of Royal. On April 25th at Wakefield Cathedral a peal of 28 spliced methods was rung, conducted by Wilfrid $F$. Moreton. A fine achievement!
A peal attempt at Old Alresford to mark the opening of a Diocesan Retreat House and training centre was terminated because the local tower captain was required to disconnect a hosepipe in a garden near the church. A half peal was, however, rung.
On the day after a peal Mr. Michael E. Brown was in Mr. Mick Vernon's shop at Stoney Stanton when he heard Mick ask a customer, who lived near the church, if the bells annoyed her. She replied that they lulled her baby to sleep and wished they rang every night!

The band who rang the peal at St. Stephen's. St. Albans, on April 18th wish to associate it with Miss Christine Rimmer. No girl could wish for a more graceful compliment as the method was St. Albans Delight.
The peal of Kent T.B. Major at Clanfield, Oxon, on April 25th. was the first in the method on the bells since 1921.
Miss Claire Dillamore informs us that to the best of her knowledge the gentleman who rang on her left in the peal at Downham, Essex, on March 29th (see page 281) was Peter J. Came, and not as printed. Will the conductor accept this correction?
Congratulations to 14 -year-old Ronnie Loxley, of Eckington, Worcs, on his first attempt for a peal. He rang the treble faultlessly to Bob Minor at his home tower. A $19 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. six of magnificent tone. Eckington bells, are locally regarded as being 'men's bells.'
The Rev. L. Reading, who is leaving Shrub End, Colchester, to a national position in the Church of England was recently responsible in getting the three beils at Shrub End augmented to six. A farewell peal was rung on the bells on April 23rd. We in N.E. Essex wish him good luck in the name of the Lord,' writes F. H. L.
The band who rang the peal of Stedman Caters at Nottingham St. Mary's wish to thank Mr. Walter Nicolls for volunteering to ring the tenor at short notice when the band met short for Royal. This was the 19th time Walter had rung the 35 cwt . bell to a peal and at the age of 69 his latest performance was first class; fully deserving of the congratulations of the band.

The last meeting of the Kent County Association at Tenterden was not 59 years ago as erroneously stated in our report. Mr. H. E. Audsley recalls a meeting there in 1932 or 1933. Lunch at the time cost 2s. 6d. and included a bottle of beer. Mr. Audsley and the late Harry Hoverd were in charge of the distribution of beer and when they had finished there was none left for themselves! This sad state of affairs has not been forgotten.

WELCOME TO TRURO

THE modern age has brought many advantages to our people, and one which is enjoyed is the ambition to travel to other parts of the country, to see and explore the beauties of our land, to make friendships and, for ringers, to hear and ring church bells.

The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers has become accustomed to this ever-changing scene for its annual conference, and if it were not for the trend of the age we would not have been given the opportunity to welcome the Council to Truro.

The Truro Diocesan Guild of Ringers was formed in 1897 and soon became affiliated to the Central Council. The first member of our Guild to attend a Council meeting was Mr. W. H. Southeard, who joined the first resident company of ringers in Truro Cathedral, and is still an active ringer and a vice-president of our Guild.

For many years the Truro Guild has cherished the idea that one day the Central Council would honour it with its presence at a Council meeting to be held in the City of Truro, and it is to the City of Truro and the diocese that we welcome you this Whitsuntide.

Truro is a pleasant little city almost in the centre of Cornwall, set amid green, sloping hills, steeply running down to a valley, clustered with buildings. streets and shops, with a steady flow of cars and vehicles passing through from one side of the town to the other. Away to the south can be seen the River Fal. wending its way along from the city centre downstream through thicklywooded slopes towards the port of Falmouth. The call of the seagull can be heard and the small pleasure steamer taking its daily crowd of sightseers on the river is a familiar sight. In the centre of the city, as if reaching up to heaven, rise the tall spires of the Cathedral. Built of granite and Portland stone, tho Cathedral stands, casting Iong shadows across the dwarfed streets and shops, which appear to crowd beneath its shelter. From the north west spire can be heard the tones of a ring of ten bells that reflects great credit upon the founders who cast it in 1910. On a Sunday the sound of the Cathedral bells mingles with a melodious ring of eight at Kenwyn, and in the distance may be heard the bells of St. Kea.

It is from this city that the Diocesan Guild has spread out to meet the needs of the diocese. Today the Guild covers the greater part of Cornwall, under the patronage of the Lord Bishop and the leadership of a president. Ringing Master and the general secretary.

The president, Mr. A. Carveth, is fortunate to have a wife who rings. His pleasant, enthusiastic personality has won the hearts of the Cornish ringers. He is Master of the Cathedral company of ringers and has been president of the Guild for ten years. In his home tower of Kenwyn he has built up a good band of change-ringers and himself has a good list of peals to his credit. He has guided the Guild through many difficulties with dignily. and he provides a vital link between the youth and the older members of our Guild.

The Diocesan Ringing Master, Mr. D. Burnett, began his ringing career in the small 6-bell spire of St. Ewe. His early years were spent ringing call-changes, and he later progressed to change-ringing. He has been a regular of the Cathedral band since 1949. For the past ten years he has been Master of the Guild and a representative on the Central Council, and for eight years a branch secretary.

The general secretary is the youthful-looking Vicar of Kenwyn, Rev. A. J. Vincent. He learnt to ring at Camborne Parish Church and after ordination was privileged to return to Camborne as the assistant curate, and later became Vicar of Kenwyn, a large parish in the City of Truro. He is a popular figure at Guild meetings and has a vital part to play in the important leadership of the Guild.

The Truro Guild is divided into six branches, each with a secretary, and has a total membership of approximately 900 ringers, some of whom are round ringers, some call-change ringers, and a proportion are method ringers. The greatest task of the Guild is to unite all the ringers in the diocese into one fellowship to proclaim the one true, living God.

So to the city and diocese of Truro we welcome you. To our picturesque towns; to our fishing villages: In our seaside resorts, especially Carbis Bay: to the land of the white pyramids of the clay industry: and to our villages. some of which are untouched since the time of the Re-formation-we welcome you to ring in our towers, to enjoy our fellowship, to enjoy the sea air and green countryside.

We have looked forward to your visit; we hope that you will take away pleasant memories of Truro and also have the ambition to come again. On behalf of the Truro Guild, welcome.

DOUGLAS BURNETT.

WASHINGTON A GREAT TRIUMPH

Three Peals in America

THE Washington party arrived home at a.m. on Monday extremely tired but very happy. Their visit had been a great triumph.
The big day was Ascension Day. At 12 noon the tower, Gloria in Excelsis. was consesrated, and in the afternoon there was a second ceremony for the dedication of the bells. Afterwards the bells were heard in all their glory as a quarter peal of Stedman Caters was rung.

Washington has been won over to change ringing. There were tears in many eyes among the crowd, as they listened to the bells

AMAZING ENTHUSIASM IN  PRESS AND RADIO

The excellent publicity drew a large crowd to sit in the grounds to listen to the peal of Stedman Caters on Saturday. The peal was successfully brought round in 3 hours and 24 minutes. and as the bells went into rounds the crowd clapped their hands and cheered. The enthusiasm was amazing.

It was good ringing throughout, although the temperature reached 90 degrees. A recording of the ringing was taken and this will be played at Truro by Mr. Douglas Hughes to enable members of the Central Council to form their own opinion.
Sunday was spent at Groton School. and on the ten bells at the school a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung. This was also a good peal.
When the band were in Washington on the first Sunday the bells were rung for a short period. The bells were silenced for the intensive training periods. There was amazing keenness among the young people. The principal lecturers were Mr. Norman Chaddock and Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton, but all the band worked hard during the training periods. It was a week of late nights. The hospitality extended to the visitors was most generous.
While in America handbell ringing is almost entirely confined to tune ringing, the English visit has creased an interest in change ringing in hand. So much so that the set Mr. Douglis Hughes had with him was left with the girls of Washington High School.

PRESENTATIONS

Messrs. Charles and Douglas Hughes were presented to Mr. Robert F. Kennedy, Chief Justice Earl Warren and the British Ambassador. As a souvenir of the visit Messrs. Mears and Stainbank presented three miniature silver bells to Dean the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre. Mr. Robert F. Kennedy and the Chief Justice. On one side was panelled the arms of the Cathedral and on the other the arms of the Whitechapel Foundry.
The Dean presented to each member of the visiting band a heautifully bound, signed copy of the history of the building of Washington Cathedral.

While in America a handbell peal was also rung. brịnging to total to three peals and one quarter.
When the aeroplane touched down at 7 a.m on Monday there was quite a number of ringers and relatives there to greet them. Among them were Mr. J. E. Chilcolts wife and parents Mr. W. H. Coles (who has rung at Groton School). Mrs. Jill Staniforth and daugnter and Mr. George Pipe's wife and children

- The Ringing World' will be publishing a special article on the tour. with pictures, written hy Mr. George Pipe. Those who paticipated regard it as the most outstanding week in the history of change ringing.

CREWE was the venue for the eighth annual meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild held on April 25th, with Kettell's Restaurant as headquarters. For those who arrived on Friday evening there was ringing at Christ Church. Every region was represented and the attendance was un to the average. It was nice 10 see Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pitman amongst those present.

The business mecting was held in the morning with the Master. Mr. Charles Bassett. in the chair. A silence was observed in memory of Mr. A. Hill, of Workson, and a tribute was paid to him by Mr. S. Foskett. Apologies from 28 members and also best wishes from Mr. Norris (Rochester) and Mr. S. Robinson were received.

A short report from the hon. secretary deplored the lack of publicity of actual ringing within the Guild. Subscriptions and bank balance had increased and Mr. F. Stenson thanked the auditors.
Three nominations were received for the office of Master A ballot resulted in a tie between Messrs. F. Stenson and A. Bassett and, with the casting vote of the chairman. Mr. Stenson was elected. Mr. J. A. Hoare was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer. The regional Masters remain in office until the rew regional territories are sorted out.

Tea at The Beehive was very welcome. After evening ringing at Christ Church. Crewe, a very successful meeting, voted by some as one of the hest, concluded.

BELLS OF ST. MARY'S JUBILEE

SUNDAY, April 26th, was rtuly a memorable day in the life of St. Mary's, Southampton. when special services marked the jubilee of the bells. The Rector, the Rev. Roy Chamberlain. who conducted the services, took as the theme bells and the ringing of bells. Two of the foremost clerical ringers preachedCanon K. W. H. Felstead. Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. at Matins, and Canon Gilhert Thurlow, president of the Central Council, at Evensong.

There were some noteworthy dedications during the day. The first was a blaque recording a name which will always be remembered ir connection with Southampton ringing. It reads

This tahlet records the service of John Walter Faithfull, chorister, bellringer, church councillor. for over 30 years captain of the belfry. Erected by his fellow ringers.
Other dedications were a pew given by the ringers and friends. and also a tapestry depicting the bells of St. Mary's given by the Mayof of Southampton. Ald. Ronald Pugh. and the Mayoress, Cclr. Mrs. Elinor Pugh.

Before and after each service the bells were rung, the standard of ringing being very good. It ranged from rounds to Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal. This was possible not only by the loyal support of ringers from the Southampton District but also those from Bournemouth. Christchurch. Fordingbridge. Farnborough. Bristol, Eastbourne, Winchester. Lichfield and London.

Mr. T. R. Faithfull, on behalf of the Rector and ringers of St . Mary's, thanked Canons Felstead and Thurlow and all ringing friends for their wonderful support which resulted in a really memorable day in the history of St. Mary's Church.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

Holding their first meeting at Corton Denham for 15 years on April 25th. the Cary Branch had the pleasure of clecting eight new members from Cucklington and their Rector. Rev. R. G. Harewood, as an associate member. South Dorset was chosen' as the venue for the Branch's outing in September.
The Rev. S. Risdon-Brown was thanked for conducting the service. also Mr. F. P. Hill. the organist, and Mrs. Longney, who provided tea. Evening ringing was at South Cadbury.

$\mathrm{A}^{\mathrm{T}}$T mid-day on Saturday, April 4th, three A carloads of ringers from Brighton and Chelienham descended on Mr. Frank Mack's garage in Exmouth. The Grainger tour of 1964 had started. Difficulty was experienced in handling the lightest ring of six in the world but eventually we managed some rougt: rounds and two scarcely recognised Plain Bob.
Our hotel in Helston was reached in the early evening and here we were joined by the Bedford contingent and Dr. Tony Bennett, who is living in Cornwall. Sunday morning saw the entire party at All Saints', Helston, for carly Communion. followed by breakfast and ringing for Matins at St. Keverne. The res: of Sunday was spent enjoying the sunshine it Coverack before attending Evensong at Landewednack.

On Monday morning the residents of Carbis Bay heard some rough ringing on the ten bells but this improved at Towednack and Zennor. Sennen provided the highspot of the day. On arrival we were greeted by the Rector and taken on a tour of the church. He told us of the six-day-old wreck on the rocks at Land's End. which we subsequently saw, and of the quarrel among the local fisbermen over the muilet catch. Ringing at Penzance and Madron rounded off the day.
All partook of a trin round St. Michael's Mount the following day. Our boat was driven by a local fisherman, who told stories of smuggling, whales and wrecks associated with the hay, and gave us information ahout the tides and currents. In taking the boat over the cruseway running from the shore to the Mount, we found our experience with boathooks from last year"' tour on the Llangollen Canal useful. The first tower of the day was Gulval. where the chuschvard looked really beautiful in the bright sunshine. Some good ringing ensued during the day including a call change peal at Camborne. Two quarter neals of Grandsire Trinles were scored by different bands during the afternoon, one at Tuckingmill, the other at Crowan. In the evening everybody relaxed at a party given by Dr. Bennett.
After ringing at Helston on Wednesday morning a band of six was despatched to Sennen to ring for a wedding in accordance with a request from the Rector. The rest travelled toward The Lizard, ringing at Cury. Mullion. St. Antony-in-Meneage and Manaccan. They were later joined by the Sennen hand. A cordial welcome was received at the practice at Redruth. That night we moved our base to Truro.
We rang in seven towers on Thursday and it was a relief to visit only three on Friday; A visit to Veryan produced interest in and speculation about the origin of the unique round houses. Ringing on the sixes at Goan and St. Ewe followed before the party split up to find rest or entertainment.

The final day of touring took us to seven towers to the north east of Truro, Crantock Rural, Newlyn East and St. Erme being towers to remember The local at Newlya East called a long peal of call changes which were enjoyed by those ringing but taxed the patience of those waiting to ring.
Sunday morning: and most of us were up for a non-existent 7 o'clock Communion at Truro Cathedral. After this disapnointment we returned to the hotel to pack before returning to the Cathedral to ring. During Eucharist at the Cathedral ons of the three organists in the party was allowed to play a chord at the start of the anthem. Those who did not stay for the Cathedral service made their way to Kenwyn to ring and attend Matins. After the services. a brief meeting to say farewell before we went our various ways.

Throughout the week a reasonably high standard of striking was maintained and methods included Yorkshire, Cambridge and an ill-fated attemnt at Cornwall Surprise.

We would like to thank Angela Grainger, of Brighton, and John Norris. of Hurstnierpoint. for their hard work in organising the tour.
D. P. F.

CORNISH BELLS

O merry ring the Christmas bells across the Western land,
From Launceston town to Michael's Mount, from Bude to Sennen Sand,
The joyous echo sweeps along far spaces by the sea.
And Church bells answer Church beils with their 'Gloria Domine!'
O Cornish bells ring far, ring free,
Ring- Gloria tibi Domine!'
High oier the ridge of Bodmin moor grey Rqwior keepeth guard,
His age-worn crown of granite crag by wind and storm is scarred
But here as once in Bethlehem the Christmas stars shine bright.
And moorland men are wending far to Church on Christmas bight.
O Bodmin bells. ctc.
O hark the bells of Liskeard how they call the bells of Lqoc.
St. Wingow and Lansallos, Lostwithiel and Duloc,
Till all the upland pulses with the Glorious Hymn of Joy,
As falland calls to Lanreath and Lanteglos apswer Fowey.
O Liskeard bells, etc.
O'er Mordred's town. by Michacl's rock. the hells of Roche out-tell
Their silver call to Wenna's fane beyond the Holy Well :
O! Columb's hill O! Deny's heights, the gladsome chorus sing.
Till all Luxulyan's rock-piled dells with clashing echoes ring.
O Roche Church bells, etc.
Ring gladsome bells, ring pealing bells from Falmouth harbour wide,
To where St. Mary's Minster stands above the Truro tide.
Ring Christmas bells of Roseland in our maddest, merriest glee.
From Probas to Penkevil, from Lamorran to the sea.
O) Kenwyn bells, etc.

As by the mystic star of all the Magan kings were led.
So homing boats on Christmas Eve by lights of Lizard Head
And fisher lads safe home at last from peril on the sea,
Give incense of brave hearts to greet their Lord's Epiphany.
O Keverne bells, etc.
Round dark Tintagel's castled crag, round Gurnard's Titan keep,
The Iong Atlantic rollers boom their organmusic deep
And Buryan bells o er land and sea the Christmas message bear
To where the dreaming Scillies sleep in moonenchanted air.
O Buryan bells, etc.
O) Magic moon! O mystic Stars!

O music of the night!
Your 'Gloria in Excelsis' sing.
O Praje Him in the Height!

- On earth be Peace, Good-will to men!'
it is the Angels song-
Ring Cornish bells, ring one and all.
Ring Cornish bells ocr land and sea,
Ring 'Gloria tibi Domine!'

Standard Notation wanted

Dear Sir,-The method given as Rothley Surprise Major (page 278) is incorrect. The Inds place method with the given place notation produces the lead end $1573 \ldots$ not 1352 , and has previously been rung in spliced as Guernsey. It was renamed Llanfihangelrhydeithon in a peal (page 48).
Since the False course heads (not ends) given are correct (see H. and M. Collection, Vol. II. Method No. 1,796) presumably the lead end place was printed or submitted incorrectly, since 8 ths p.l.e. is 1352 , as printed
May I redefine the distinction between leadand course-ends and heads? The end of a lead or course has the treble leading at the handstroke of its whole pull, the head has it leading at backstroke. Thus (e.g.) 12345678 is the zero-th lead head of Plain Bob, 13254768 is the first lead-end and 13527486 is the first lead-head.
Could copy submitted incorrectly be corrected by the Editor before printing, to avoid the confusion now existing? And could we have a uniform standard style of place-nota tion? (Again editorially supervised if necessary.) I suggest that places be printed in full (no first or last places 'understood '), changes where no bell makes a place be denoted by X . and adjacent places be separated by a full stop. An example of this type of layout is Spalding Surprise Major (page 299).
The economics of leaving places to be 'understood' are negligible, the 'understood place has to be ressored before use, and an $X$ scems to me clearer than the alternative dash. Compare the clarity of Spalding with the untidiness (and inconsistency) of Hounslow in the adjacent column
Could I also plead for a standard notation of lead-heads? The numerical system adopted in our Surprise Major collection has the advantage of easing the task of working out successive lead-heads, even in spliced methods. For example, a method like Cambridge having a lead-head denoted by the lead-head number 2 has its 2nd lead-head 4. its 3rd 6, 4th (8) $=1$, and so on. (See Maurice Hodgson, 'A Symbolic Treatment of False Course Heads, page 4 , where he discusses the meaning and use of Hn , where n is our lead-head number) I have here called rounds the zero-th lead-head this seems preferable to calling it the first, as he does.
The alternatives are two: The lead-head letter system, which is extremely compact, but does not have the ease of interpretation and prediction of the number system; or the present haphazard method of quoting the lead-head bells in full or in part, which is clear and easy to interpret, but takes much space and is not suited to easy prediction of the next lead-head.
Is it asking too much of our Editor to ensure a consistent editorial style? Mos periodicals have it (for instance, the journal of the Institute of Physics has a multi-page booklet 'Notes for Authors,' which even goes into details of spelling and punctuation).
If it is objected that editing may lead to misinterpretation of submitted copy, then would counter that if the Editor can misinterpret the copy, then so can the reader. and so nothing is lost., while something is gainedclarity and consistency.
As a further illustration, compare Hounslow. as printed on page 299, with my suggested method.
(a) $3 \mathrm{f}-56.4 .58-58.36 .14-14.5-14-3$.

2nds place L.E. 15738264 4ths place hoh.
(b) $36 \times 56.14 .58 \times 58.36 .14 \times 14.58 \times$ $14 \times 38.122$ bob 14
In the half-page width columns on the peal pages (even if not here), (b) has the advantage of taking a line fewer. Which is preferable? Anarchy or consistency? (Even if not on my terms, but on some.)-Yours faithfully,

JOHN W. McCLENAHAN.

Christ's College, Cambridge

Note.-For 18 years the Editor has been trying to get a consistent form of arranging a peal with the number of a bell after the name. and not before, and footnotes in the following sequence, *, $\dagger$, $\ddagger$. § (recognised by printers) and there are still members of the Central Council who refuse. He hesitates to rearrange place notation.-Ed.

Carillon goes to Belgium

Dear, Sir,-Those who like to keep their Dove' up to date should delete the entry relating to the carillon in the Odeon Cinema Marble Arch. London
On the recent closure of this cinema the magnificent four-manual Hill, Norman and Beard concert organ was sold to a church at St. Austell, Cornwall. (I fear little room will he left for the congregation.) The carillon has been sold to Belgium - for $£ 5,000$ !
Although the carillon had been disconnected for years, following complaints from patrons in the front stalls. it was played manually during a final B.B.C. recording of the organ, due to go out on the Third Programme at a future date.-Yours faithfully,
A. St. J. BOYACK.

The Leeds Broadrast-an Apology

Dear Sir,-It is considered an apology is due from the A.B.C. Television Authority rather than from Mr. Dove. We at York have had a similar experience.
On Easter Monday. 1962. A.B.C. Television broadcast the morning service from the Minster and we rang a tittum course of Grandsire Cinques prior to the service. What was broadcast, however, was a recording of rounds on the front eight.
The recording was made without our cooperation or knowledge and was made when rounds were being rung for the benefit of learners. At that time, also. the 9th was unringable, being loose on its headstock. and was awaiting the attention of the bellhangers, so that was why the middle octave was not being rung.
The facts were reported to the Dean and Chapter and we were advised that what had been done could not be undone, but we were forewarned for the future

Our relations with the B.B.C. however, have been excellent. A few months ago a service was broadcast and several weeks before the event I was contacted and told it would be necessary to record the bells. My advice was sought as to the best time to take the recording and also the best place to place the microphone. The result was that on the Sunday prior to the broadcast the recording yan arrived at the Minster at 9 a.m. and I was able to stay with the operator while the rest of the band rang a good course of Grand ire Cinques. Everyone was satisfied.
Perhaps the Central Council Broadcasting Commitice will take note of the ways of the A.B.C. Television Authoritv.-Yours sincerelv, HAROLD WALKER. President.

York Minster Society.

Australian Hospitality Commended

Dear Sir,-I would deem it a great privilege to be allowed a little space in your columns to try and express thanks to the ringing circle here ' down under.

It is now two months since this ship called at the first port in Australia; from then on I have been received by the ringers in each respective port with hospitality that knows no hounds, both in the belfry and in Australian homes. This letter can do little to repay the debt I owe them but I feel I must pen a few words and assure people in "The Ringing Isle" that both ringing and ringers are very much alive here. We in the U.K. can learn something from the ringers in Australia. At times they express regret at the sparseness of towers here but their insatiable enthusiasm for ringing will carry them a long way and makes un many times over for the lack of towers. At times like this $I$ think that we are spoilt in Britain.

Finally. may I ask any merchant seaman reading this who has not sailed out here yet to mend the error of his ways, for a great and spontaneous welcome awaits him.

Thank you all in Australia for making this the most enjoyable and memorable voyage of my career at sea.-Yours sincerely,

K. FLEMING

Two Points

Dear Sir-I should like to draw the atten tion of the Exercise to two matters.

Firstly, in the Douhles collection in thit excellent publication. "Ringers' Notehook and Diary' for 1964, the dividing line between the lead has heen drawn at the lead-end. This no doubt is due to last year's academic discussion on lead-heads and lead-ends in "The Ringing World.' Mav I suggest that it would be of more use to the Doubles ringer if the dividing line was drawn below the lead-head. which most non-academic ringers refer to as the 'lead-end.'

The second matter is the motion which Mr D. A Bayles proposes to put to the Central Council this year. To pronose a motion and then exclude certain methods (e.g. Camhridge) from it is quite illogical. better not to introduce the motion at all. One alsn fears that a motion applied in the first instance to even-bell methods may eventually be applied to odd-bell methods may eventually be applied many popular methods.

No doubt other ringers have their own views on the above matters. and I may be criticised for what I have said. I shall, however, he ouite content if this letter succeeds in drawing attention to the two points discussed above.-Yours faithfully.

Glasbury-on-Wye.
COLIN A. LEWIS.

An Apology

Dear Sir. - 1 hasten to apologise to my friend. Mr. Maurice Hodgson, for his renaming as Stuart on your front page of May 8th. Whether this was due to the article being written late at night. or to my calligraphy. or merely to a hitch in the production line, I have no idea. hut I am glad that he is so well known in the Exercise that there can have heen no douht as to his identity.-Yours.

THE MASTER MARRIES THE SECRETARY

Mr. Alan John Frost, of Kettering, Master of the University of London Society, and Miss Diana Mary Lawless, of Corby, the secretary to the Society, photographed after their wedding at St. John the Baptist Church, Corby, on March 28th. A representative band of ringers assembled to ring before and after the service, which was fully choral and was followed by Communion. The bridegroom could not resist having a ring while waiting for the bride.
Diana wore a dress of patterned white brocade and carried a spray of tangerine rosebuds and white heather. She was attended by three bridesmaids-Bridget Lawless (her cousin), Idena Frost (sister of the bridegroom) and Enid Town (a college friend who is also a ringer). Their dresses were of tangerine coloured brocade, and they carried carnations and heather. The best man was Roger France. who, like the bridegroom, is an architect.
The top tier of the wedding cake was decorated to resemble a church tower complete with bells. The honeymoon was spent in Italy.

CHESHIRE RING TO BE RECAST

Due to the dangerous condition of the tower. ringing at Bowdon Parish Church, Cheshire, was suspended early in 1963.

Inspection revealed that the eight pinnacles. each weighing approximately $3 t$ tons, would have to be demolished and the turret wall rebuilt.

The present ring of eight bells (tenor 14 cwt . 1 qr .25 lb . in $F$ sharp) is to be recast with a tenor of 18 cWt . in E and hung in a new frame, approximately 25 feet below the existing one. The church gallery is to be modified to form a new ringing chamber.

Originally the tower held six bells, cast by A. B. Rudhall, in 1714, which in 1923 were recast and two trebles added. The first recorded peal was rung in 1936 and to date the total stands at 57.
It is hoped to dedicate the new ring towards the end of this year.

RINGING COURSE AT LUMLEY CASTLE

Praise him upon the loud cymbals: praise him upon the high-sounding cymbals. (Psalm cl, 5)
Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding.' (Proverbs iv, 7) sUCH may be the thoughts behind all our schemes of organised courses in ringing, but variation in approach to these aspects will be found in particular cases. Thus development and innovation were the features of the third annual one-day course arranged by the Durham and Newcastle Association on March 21 st.

Once again, we enjoyed the facilities of Lumley Castle, Chester-le-Street, a privilege accorded us by the Vice-Master of University College, Durham University, and the response of intending students was enough to tax even the resources of this resplendent hall of residence. Over 90 names were registered for the various classes and with the continuing yearly increase in numbers one can contemplate invoking the spirit of Sir Ralph de Lumley, the founder of the castle, to make some extensions.
The curriculum was developed on previous courses by catering for four different grades of study-Elementary Stage 1 (Class A) for the round and call change ringer wishing to take first steps into change ringing; Elementary Stage 11 (Class B) for the "plain hunter' progressing to method ringing; Intermediate (Class C) for the elementary method ringer seeking to extend his repertoire by considering the two stages (i) Plain Bob to Kent T.B. Minor, (ii) Kent T.B. to Cambridge Surprise Minor; and the Advanced (Class D) for the more experienced ringer. Innovation was introduced by adeptly 'tailoring " the time-table so that each class was afforded two full sessions of practical belfry instruction, and in this respect we were fortunate in having five local towers available. In addition, no lectures were projected for the Advanced grade and, instead, the main feature was a discussion group where ringing topics of particular interest were considered and reported upon, while further time was devoted to advanced ringing practice in the tower.

Beginning with general assembly at 10.30 a.m. . the full course was addressed by the Ringing Master, who welcomed all students and supplied general orders for the day. Class A was conducted by Mr. E. P. Rock and Class B by Mr . F. Hodgson, and these classes alternated throughout the day between the Pillared Hall at the castle and the belfries at Lanchester and Chester-le-Street parish churches. The syllabuses here covered respectively the study of tower bells. their fittings and action. to principles of striking and the elements of change ringing; and explanation of terms 'hunting,' "place making ' and 'dodging ' with their application to the structure of Plain Bob. the rules for ringing Plain Bob Minor and their practical aspect in belfry work.

Class $C$ was organised in two streams ' $X$ ' (Plain Bob to Kent T'B.) and ' $Y$ ' (Kent T.B. to Cambridge Surprise), but to commence with a joint session was held, when Mr. D. A. Bayles lectured on 'Method Construction and its Practical Applications,' in which the Plain

Bob system for producing changes was developed and the structural relationship of other 'regular' methods demonstratetd. A text of the talk was available in booklet form and at a charge of 6 d . copies were readily bought up. ihe streams then divided and Class X had a lecture from Mr. K. Arthur, who provided a detailed analysis of the Treble Bob principle with particular reference to the Kent variation. Simple rules and hints in ringing the method were demonstrated. Two practical sessions then followed at Houghton-le-Spring belfry when exercises in the Treble Bob principle were performed. Meanwhile, the $Y$ class, which was alternating with the X class between lecture room and Houghton-le-Spring, completed a practical session ringing methods considered at the morning lecture as stepping stones to Cambridge Surprise. A further talk from Mr. Bayles on 'Progress to Cambridge Surprise ' followed and the Treble Bob system with its variations 'in phase' and out of phase' were examined.
A welcome addition to the panel of tutors this year was Mr. W. J. Davidson, who undertook the unenviable task of launching the newly-introduced discussion group for the Advanced grade. With him gathered in the Junior Common Room were 16 expectant ringers and a wide range of subjects was dealt with in an informal atmosphere. The training of recruits and instructors, publicity, Association organisation were among the matters discussed at length and the opinion was expressed that the group met a real need and could be repeated to advantage. Then after an afternoon assisting with practical work in the A and B grades, this class concluded the course with ringing practice at the Sunderland belfries of st. Ignatius' and Bishopwearmouth, which included the ringing of a quarter peal of Bob Major, elsewhere reported.

Following dinner in the Great Hall when we had the Rector of Chester-le-Street and Mrs. A. Spurr as our guests, the usual forum was held where the proceedings of the day are open to criticism. Among suggestions for future courses was one for a talk on telfry maintenance for towerkeepers and this was duly noted by the organisers. On a proposal of Mr. E. P. Rock a vote of thanks was passed to the Ringing Master for his work in promoting his third successful project and the gathering then adjourned to the Pillared Halt to conclude the event with a social gettogether and general discourse on those things that only ringers understand.

MR. JOSEPH MARSH

Mr. Joseph Marsh. of Claverley, Salop, died suddenly on April 21st. He had had trouble with his heart a few weeks earlier and had been advised by his doctor to take a period of rest, which necessitated him giving up his ringing.

His death came as a shock to the residents of Claverley, and especially his fellow ringers. Joe Marsh, who was the local captain, had been a ringer at All Saints' Church for just over 50 years. He was a devoted 'Sunday service ringer and it was only on rare occasions that he was absent from duty. He was equally regular on practice nights. Joe loved his bells at Claverley and it was on a few special occasions only that he could be persuaded to ring at other towers. He had rung a few peals, mostly at Claverley.
In addition to his ringing activities Joe Marsh was a very keen chorister and his good tenor voice will be much missed. He was also a member of the Parochial Church Council for many years. Claverley Church has indeed lost one of its stalwarts. F. C. A. B.

AN APPRECIATION

Mr. Philip Mchew writes: It was with sorrow that I read of the death of Joe Marsh, of Claverley. One of my most treasured ringing experiences was that of ringing in a peal at Claverley on November 30th last year in commemoration of 50 years' service by Joe Marsh and Ernie Drew in their belfry.
It was of this village that a ringer once said 6 in other place one exists, but in Claverley you really LIVE!' The beauty of this place goes far deeper than the material, the warmth of its fellowship lies everywhere. and welcomes one in belfry, choir, 'Top,' 'Middle or 'Bottom.' Joe Marsh had a great deal to do with this welcome, and I would like to offer my sympathy to Mrs. Marsh and all of my many friends at Claverley, for Joe's passing is our loss.

PHILIP MEHEW.

MR. F. WATTS
Burmarsh. Kent, ringers suffered a tragic blow in the sudden death of their captain Mr. Frank Watts, on April 24th, at the early age of 57. Not only had he been a member of Burmarsh band for about 35 years, but was also organist and churchwarden for the last few years.
Frank had rung several quarter peals and was always present for service ringing. Only in recent years, with Frank's leadership and determination had Burmarsh ringers made progress in change ringing, and a few weeks before he died they rang their first course of Cambridge Minor.
To his memory a fialf-muffled quarter peal was rung on April 29th, with the help of friends from Lympne. Later Mrs. Watts Brian and Yvonne paid a visit to the belfry to express their thanks. A. T. R.

SIR GILBERT ACLAND-TROYTE

Lieut.Col. Sir Gilbert Acland-Troyte. C.M.G., D.S.O. who died recently, aged 87 , was Member of Parliament for Tiverton from 1924 to 1945. He was the third son of Col C. A. W. Troyte, one of the founders of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers and the author of a formerly well known text book on ringing.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX

A programme of ringing. which included Cambridge, Kent, Oxford. London and Double Norwich, made the Guild's meeting at Mytholmroyd on May 2nd most enjoyable. Local ringers provided a sumptuous tea, the Vicar (the Rev. W. H. Barnes) conducted a Ringers' Evensong and the presence of friends from Lancashire among the many visitors gave us great pleasure.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION
Some 63 members were present at the annual general meeting of the Bedfordshire Association, held in the crypt of St. Mary's Church, Woburn. on May 2nd.
During the day ringing took place at Ampthill, Flitwick, Westoning, Aspley Guise. Husborne Crawley and Eversholt. Despite the rather damp weather, there was a good crowd at every tower and the ringing was generally of a good standard. Our thanks are extended to the incumbents who met us and allowed us to ring on their bells
The Vicar of Woburn, who had taken the service, at which the captain of Woburn ringers read the lesson, welcomed the Association, and particularly to the spacious but 'empty' crypt, where all present enjoyed tea, prepared by the local ladies. After tea the young Woburn handbell ringers under their conductor, Mr. K. Spavins, ably entertained the company.

The president, Mr. A. E. Rushton, who presided, thanked the Vicar and ringers of Woburn, and the ladies who prepared the tea. It was pointed out by the treasurer (Mr. A. S. Smith) that the statement of accounts showed no deficit only because an annual report was not published last year.
The officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Mr. A. E. Rushton: secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. S. Smith; peal secretary. Mr. P. Mehew; auditor, Mr. C. E. Jeffries; Central Council representatives. Messrs. J. H. Edwards and A. E. Rushton: trustees. Messrs. H. D. Harris and A. J Smith; librarian. Mrs. S. J. Ivin

It was decided to hold the 1964 A.G.M. at Bromham on May ist, with ringing a various towers in the district. The meeting rejected the idea of holding a summer festival but there were indications that if a dinner was held in November it would be well supported
After the meeting ringing up to London was continued on the eight bells.

A word of gratitude is expressed by those who rang the peal of Plain Bob Royal at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, on April 28th, to William A. Theobald for standing in at the last moment and making the peal possible. The band send their best wishes to Thomas G. Myers and E. Maurice Atkins, two Guild olficers, and wish them both a speedy recovery and a quick return to the ringing cbamber.

Peals at Sherborne Abbey are always occasions to be remembered. Mr. Derek Jones conducted a youthful band through a very good peal there on March 30th.
Colin Wright, of Walthamstow, who started ringing at 13 after his holidays last year and is already ringing Stedman Caters, recently stood in a peal of Bob Major at short notice and rang this, his first peal attempt, without a single trip.
In connection with the peal of Grandsire Doubles at Chetwynd, Salop (see page 301), it was the first peal at first attempt for $L$. Evans, S. Illidge and Jack Smith and the first of Grandsire and of Doubles for Philip R. Johnson.

The band who rang the peal at Timsbury would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Cottle for providing tea afterwards - this and the teas for the previous lost attempts have been most kind. Mr. Cottle is tower captain and he rang the tenor to his first peal.

Considerable interest in campanology is being evinced by Rotary in the South. Mr. A. York-Bramble has accepted his fourth invitation to lecture to clubs in this area, this time to the Cosham (Hants) club. Previous talks he has given to the Southampton, Portsmouth and Fareham clubs.
Cottingham (Yorkshire) ringers were rather taken aback during ringing for Evensong on May 3rd. Since Matins two pigeons had built a nest in the eye-level window alcove of the iinging chamber and the female bird started to lay eggs during the evening ringing. It has not been possible to ascertain the foundry marks on the eggs yet, however, but whether cast at Loughborough or Whitechapel it is hoped that the 'youngsters' will be interested enough to take up ringing at a later stage!

BELFRY GOSSIP

 to the old bell ringer nearin 80 that it was time he retired, the old chap cheerfully replied: 'Lookee here, sir. I was born and bred in this place and in me time I've seen five Vicars of the parish dead, and I would like to make it half-a-dozen before I give up myself.'No more applications for peal attempts at Lichfield Cathedral can be considered until mid-1965.

At the 13 th attempt, spread over a period of two years, M. J. Bangham, of Kingston-uponThames, has rung his first quarter of Stedman.
The band who rang a quarter peal of Stedman at Blandford on St. George's Day would also like to associate the quarter with the Ancient Order of Foresters Friendly Society (Wimborne, Wareham and Bournemouth Courts) as a quarter peal attempt before a centenary service at Wimborne Minster on the previous Sunday was unsuccessful.

Mr. Cecil W. Pipe writes that the ringing arranged in Cornwall on Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Thursday during Whit week, excluding the two coach tours, allows a fairly good tour of the county and deserves support. At least four ringers of his family will present themselves at the towers mentioned.
Mr. George Hawkins, of Luton, and Donald Clift, of Cardiff, attended school together, and learned to ring at Usi while still at school. Up to 1935 they rang many peals together, now, after an interval of 29 years, they have rung another, a peal of Stedman Caters at Luton.
The quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor rung at Somerton on April 28th ran into difficulties owing to part of the tenor rope breaking and unplaiting and flying around, and also the sally breaking apart after the conductor set the bells. At the end all had a good laugh. The ringer of the treble said, "There's one thing, old Garge got more hair now than when he started!' To this the ringer of the fifth added: Ah! and I got more fluff, too.'

LONDON TOWERS REVISITED

By RONALD H. DOVE

OF course, I have visited London since, but my outing on April 11th with ringers from St. Mary's, Putney, my son Barrie, and Paul Field, who had specially come up from Somerset, took me back 36 years.

Those were the days before the covered buses, and in fine weather it was a pleasant ride by a 68 'General,' for a modest shilling or less, leisurely to cruise over hill and dale by a tortuous route from South Croydon to Chalk Farm. For variety there was opportunity to alight at the top of one long, steep hill and walk alongside the bus, which could be rejoined once it had reached the foot in safety.

While enjoying such a scenic trip on a summer's evening I saw nestling in a quiet backwater just off the busy Walworth Road the Georgian tower of St. Peter's, Walworth, whose slender and graceful tower contains, unbelievably, a ring of eight of perhaps three tons weight.

Of the evening service I remember little beyond a very meagre congregation and that before it started the Rector rang some 'quick-fire' rounds and Queens, interspersed with seasonable hymn tunes. With youthful enthusiasm I extorted permission to attempt a peal, but was told I would have to provide my own ropes and ringers. Before I had progressed with my plans, Jim Davis, the originator of the 'Davis silencers,' who lived nearby, told me that he had fitted the bells for chiming and to 'de-clock' them would cause him a lot of work. I abandoned the idea.

Some months ago I revisited the church, and the Rector, Fr. Hinds, willingly allowed me to see the bells and to arrange for a brief trial ring. The bells are a complete ring by Mears, dated 1824 -one year later than nearby Waterloo Road. Numbers 1, 2, 4 and 6 are carried above $8,3,5$ and 7 in a timber frame, which must be seen to be believed for it defies description.

A number of peals have been rung here, and boards record a 5,088 Kent in 1894, conducted by J. E. Davis, and an carlier one of Grandsire Triples in 1840. The bells had not been rung for a very long time. I have been told the last was for peace in 1919, but I am open to correction.

On April 11th our first call was at St. Barnabas'. Pimlico, another supposedly 'unringable' tower, where the insecurely fastened 'Davis silencers' failed to placate the 'anti-bells' living in the neighbourhood. To those who protested, the Vicar, the Rev. John Fox, replied in the 'Evening News': 'People are happy enough to hear the strum, strum, strum and the Yeah, Yeah, Yeah, but they complain when they hear the bells of heaven.'

Then came Walworth, where it was quite an achievement to obtain rounds, and seldom has so much hard work been put in for so brief a ring. Next came Rotherhithe, where the bells hang diagonally in the tower. We followed a touring band from St. Albans at St. Vedast's, thence to Bethnal Green and back once more into dockland. The ten at All Saints', Poplar, require ringing, and I suspect the eight at Cubitt Town went easier than now when the ladies rang their first peal there 50 years ago.

In Kent we found the six at Sidcup a pleasure to handle, and the light five at Foots Cray have a second that won't clapper-up right and gives a double blow in consequence. The most tuneful bells of the day were the 40 -year-old Croydon eight at Eltham. Beckingham's light ten induced the day's best ringing, including a touch of Stedman Caters in which the conductor lost his bearings and wondered why the tenor man would not dodge in 6-7 as told! Of these bells, personally I liked them and disagree with the critic who once told me that they were a good eight spoiled.

The day, or rather the night, was rounded off at Addington, where the six are a pleasing combination of new and old. Perhaps it was the previous week's disturbance at Clacton which led an anonymous caller to raise the alarm so that the Putney Dormobile arrived at East Croydon Station simultaneously with the police, who appeared to be looking for someone to run in. I felt I ought not to loiter about too much for, when I come to think of it, I had caused quite a disturbance of the peace in one way or another that day; and what with forgetting to put the clock chimes back at Pimlico, to say nothing of attempting to ring at Walworth, I probably deserve lockingup anyway.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL

FOR ringers in the Salisbury Diocese all road led to Marlborough, on May $9 t h$, where the annual festival of the Diocesan Guild was held. They came from almost every corner of this large diocese, which comprises the whole of Dorset, and all of Wiltshire except a smali area around Swindon.

Most of the towers in the local Branch were open, and full use was made of the privilege during the morning. early afternoon and evening. The ancient borough wore quite a festive, air with flags flying from church towers and public buildings, posters welcoming the Guitd to Marlborough. and in the background was the added bustle and excitement of a pending Parliamentary by-election.

The annual general meeting was held in the Town Hall, with the Master of the Guild (the Rev. Richard Longridge) presiding. Supporting him were the Mayor of Marlborough (Councillor J. M. Seamer), Mr. W. C. West (general secretary) and Mr. F. Siatford (assistant secretary). Apologies for absence were received from many old friends, including the president, Canon C. C. Cox. It was unanimously agreed to send Canon Cox a message of affection and good wishes. The Mayor, in his welcome, confessed to being a non-ringer but said that after spending many years abroad, one of the things which delighted him on returning home was the sound of church bells. Of English customs, he thought. anyone in foreign lands missed this the most. A warm welcome was also extended by the chairman of the local Branch (Mr. G. Newman).

In his report for 1963, the honorary secretary announced the resignation of three Branch secretaries. one committee member and one Branch chairman. Miss Y. L. Eloie, of the Salisbury Branch, was in office for 14 years, and is now living at Guildford. Both
Mr. J. I. P. Davis, of Wimborne, and Mr. Mr. J. I. P. Davis, of Wimborne, and Mr. reluctantly compelled to give up owing to other commitments, and Canon H. V. White had relinquished the chairmanship of the Calnc Branch after 40 years in office. Mr. R. H. True had resigned as a committee member. A sincere vote of thanks was passed to all and the following were elected in their stead: Mrs, Judith Robertson, Wimhorne: Mr. A. Trimby, Salishury: Mr. J Davis, West Dorset; and Mr. Barry, Calne. The Master was unanimously re-elected, as was Mr. W. C. West as honorary secretary and treasurer, with Mr. F. Slatford as his assistant.
The financial statement was quite Fiealthy, with a shightly increased balance in hand.

RINGING, A CHARACTER BUILDER

Capt. J. D. Mansfield-Robinson calleđ attention to the great contribution bellringers could make in enrolling youth in their bands. Bellringing was a team effort of the very first order, he said and as such was a wonderful builder of character. Capt. Mansfield-Robinson represents both Wilts and Dorset on the governing body of the National Association of Youth Clubs, and was one of those associated with the Outward Bound scheme and the Duke of Edinburgh's Award Scheme. This latter includes campanology as one of its proficiency aims. His appeal was backed by the Rev. Roger Keeley. who is the Marlborough representatives on the Northern Area of the Wilts Association of Youth Clubs.
It was agreed that if possible the next annual festival should he held at Sherhorne on May 8th. A short discussion on the possihility of allowing Branch secretaries to retain a Targer proportion of the subscriptions for running expenses concluded a most useful mceting.
The Mayor and Mayoress were among the large congregation in St. Mary's Church for the Guild service. Canon F. B. R, Browne (Rector) officiated. and the lesson was read by the Master. During the service a plain course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells by H. G. Keeley I-2, C. W. Powell 3-4, G. S. Morriss 5-6, E. C. Sheppard 7-8,

Rev. R. Keeley 9-10. The choir gave an impressive rendering of the Easter carol 'Good Christian men rejoice and sing.' with Mr. J. W. Pomfret as organist. The address was given by the Rector.
A bountiful high tea was partaken of in the Church Hall by a company of 160 ; the Mayor was entertained at the top table by the Master supported by Capt. J. D. Mansfield-Robinson (Branch representative). Rev. R. Keeley (Branch Ringing Master), Mr. G. Newman (Branch Ringing Master), Mr. G. Newman (Branch secretary). The meal was arranged and served by Mrs. Browne and a willing team of lady helpers, who were sincerely thanked for their services.
In the ringing afterwards the octave at St. Peter's was in great demand, and as the writer wended his 14 miles homeward, most of the towers en route were adding their contribution to what had been a really great and enjoyable day.

THE SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION

The 32 nd annual general meeting of the Scottish Association was held in Edinburgh on May 9th, when there were ringers present from Birmingham. Lancashire and Newcastle, as well as local or semi-permanent residents in Scotland.
Ringing began at 11.30 a.m. at St. James' and later the three other ringable towers in the city were also available. A short service, conducted by the Rev. John Paterson, was held in St. Cuthbert's Memorial Chapel, followed by tea and the business meeting, when 12 new members were elected. Mr. Harry Sargent. of Glasgow. did not wish to stand again as Ringing Master and was thanked for all the work he had done to date for the Association. Mr. Magnus Peterson, of Edinburgh, was elected in his place, the other officials continuing in office for another year.
It is hoped to hold meetings during the coming year at Dundee in the autumn. Alloa in the spring, and Glasgow and Paisley in April.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN COMPETITION

Praise was accorded by Mr. Frederick Sharpe the adjudicator, at the variety of methods rung at the annual competition at Llandeilo (6). A rope slipping wheel caused one test to be rerung and a broken rope interfered with one team's ringing.
Mr. Sharpe's adjudication was given after an excellent tea, provided by the ladies of Llandeilo. who were thanked by the Master (Major R. Pateman). He said there was little to choose between the teams, and no extra marks were given for more intricate methods. Results: Llanelly ' A ' (average age 17), Grandsire, 11 faults; Cardigan, Stedman. 12: Llanbadarn Fawr, Grandsire, 14. Other competitors were Pembroke, Llanelly ' $\mathbf{B}$ ' and Tenby.
The evening concluded with a recital by Mr. Sharpe and his Launton handbell ringers who were enthusiastically received.

Witham-on-the-Hill, Lines

To mark the rededication of the hells of Witham-on-the-Hill, Lincs, a tuarter peal of Surprise Minor (Norwich and Cambridge) was rung on May 9th by W. R. Marsh I, A. E. Scott 2, F. W. French 3, C. Wade (cond.) 4, C. L. Blanchard 5, H. E. Burrell 6.

The rededication was performed by the Bishop of Grantham. Tea was afterwards provided by the ladies of the Parochial Church Council, and a good company of ringers enjoyed an evening of ringing.
The work was undertaken in 1962 by Messrs. John Taylor and Co and included the recasting of the treble, second, fifth and tenor ( 13 cwt . 3 ar .24 Ib .). The service was deferred until full payment had been made for the contract.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Rochester District

Some 45 members and friends attended the Rochester District meeting at Bobbing on April 25th, when methods up to London Sutprise Minor were rung under the superinten dence of Mr. C. Osenton, Ringing Master The Vicar (the Rev. G. E. Jessup) conducted the service, and the District secretary, Mr. L. Mitchell, was a last-minute organist. The churchwardens and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. May provided tea.
Outstanding business at the meeting was a proposal by Mr. A. J. Dunk to hold a District dinner at Sittingbourne on September 25 th , as the Kem County Association was unable to hold one at Maidstone. Support was promised bv most members present. Mr. Dunk was appointed chairman of the dinner committee and within a few hours of the meeting finishing he hid made the necessary arrangements-cos? 12s. per head.
Mr. George Kenwood was welcomed back after his long illness and members were sorry to learn that Mrs. F. A. Mitchell was ill with influenza, After a comprehensive yote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Dunk. ringing was continued until 9 p.m.

Lewisham District

Christ Church, Erith, proved a popular touer for the Lewisham District's quarterly meeting on April 25th, which was attended by about 70 members and friends. Ringing was under the leadership of Mr. David Manger District Ringing Master, and the service wis conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. K. H Jocelyn). An excellent tea in the Church Hall was followed by a business meeting.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Six teams entered for the N.E. District's strikıng contest held at Mistley on May 9th Each team rang practice rounds for two minutes and then rang 240 Minor.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. J. Morley), and Mr. Robert Heazel (the Association Master) read the lesson. After tea Miss Hilda Snowden, for the judges, gave her assessment of the afternoon ringing. She said she had been one of the judges. of a previours competition at Mistley two years ago, and the striking had improved considerably since then. The treble was oddstruck and a lot of points had heen lost from failure to give open leads. The order of the teams was as follows: Kirby ' $A$ ', team 149 faults, Thorimeton 228, Kirby ${ }^{\text {B }}$, 243, Harwich 25?. Ardjeigh 304. Colchester St Leonard's disqualified owing to a pile-up
The winning Kirby team had to ring with one substitute. All teams rang Bob Minor except Thorington, who rang Treble Bob. The wo winning teams each contained three ladies. The District Master. Mr. Frank Lufkin, thanked the judges. Mis Snowden. Mr.
Walter Arnold and Mr. Peter Wood, all from the Northern District. and the M.C. Mr. Robert Leavett, of Tollesbury.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Lamerton bells, near Tavistock, which were rehung last year, were much enjoyed at the spring meeting of the S.W. Branch on May 9th: Rounds. call changes. Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent were rung. The Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Stenhouse), assisted by Prebendary Andrews, president of the Guild. conducted the service
The chairman said he knew he was expressing the feelings of all present in saying how much they regretted the fact that their hon. secretary and Ringing Master. Mr. T. G. Myers, was unable to be present. and that on the previous day he had returned to hospital. Everyone wished him a very early and comnlete recovery. Duties of hon. secretary and Ringing Master were undertaken by the chairman. New memhers elected were Messrs. Harry Del-Quick and G. Hill (Lamerton). Mrs. J. Southwood (Plympton) and the Rev. i. Ruming.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar. the organist. Miss Hayman, Messrs. Cundy, Barrabal and Solely and the other local ringers, and Mrs. Stenhouse, Mrs. Barrabal and helpers for an excellemt tea.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

THEHE annual meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held in the Church Room at Stroud on April 25th and was very well attended, there being about 160 members present from most parts of the Association area.
The Rev. F. F. Rigby, Master, opened with prayer, using the Collect for the Fourth Sunday after Easter. Apologies were presented on behalf of a number of members unavoidably absent.
The reports showed a lower number of members ( 787 - 131 juniors, 656 seniors) but an increase in the finances, and that 117 peals had been rung during 1963 for the Association with no less than 43 first peals in various methods, including the record multi-Minor peals on tower- and handbells.

All of the officers were re-elected for another term of office and thanked for their services. Mr. J. Whiting, of Gloucester, was made an adviscr in place of Mr. R. Dowdeswell, who did not seek re-election. for the Gloucester and Cheltenham areas: Mr. E. F. Hancock and Mr. R. E. G. Luton will continue for Bristol and Swindon
Mrs. E. Hobbs, Mrs. E. Sutton, Canon Lister. Mr. H. Cuff and Mr. L. Hewitt were made honorary life members for their services to their towers and the Association. The next annual meeting is to be at Berkeley on April 24th, 1965 , by invitation of the Wotton Branch.

NO CHANGE IN REPORTS

After considerable discussion, a proposal to print the peal section of future reports in tabular form was defeated, and the officials were instructed to make no drastic changes to the style of the report.

At tea in the Premier Rooms the Bishop of Gloucester was welcomed by the Master, who thanked him for sparing the time to come and preach at the service.
In his reply Dr. Guy said that he knew a little about ringing, heing just about able io control a bell, and he asked the officers number of questions about change ringing, as he had come from a part where only call changes were rung. The Bishop was also very surbrised to learn that there were rings of hells in places other than churches. At the service he said how very pleased he was to be one of the presidents, and took for his text. O Gort, make them perfect in every good thing to do Thy will.:

During the service Messis. G. Land. B. Bladon and T. Peake rang a plain course of Oxford Treble Boh on handhells between the lesson and Magnificat. A collection amounting to £10 8s 3d. was given to the church to be used mainly for material to keep hirds out of the tower. Most towers in the Stroud Branch were open during the day, and good use was made of the bells; a wedding at Stonehouse caused some delay in starting there.
Visitors present at the meeting came from Harrow, Middlesex, Prittlewell, Essex, and Sandhach, Cheshire.

Peals at Bassaleg, Mon.

Dear Sir, -In connection with the footnote to the peal rung at Bassaleg on April 10th, I would point out that the first peal on these bells, one of Plain Boh Minor, was rung on March 18th, 1933. conducted by the late George Popnell.-Yours faithfully.

17th CENTURY BELL FOR WINCHESTER CATHEDRAL

The bells of St. Lawrence's, Winchester, four cast by Anthony Bond in 1621 and one by Ellis and Henry Knight in 1674, have parted company for ever. Only No. $\overline{3}$ remains in the home tower to be chimed in lonely

For many years the tower has been declared unsafe for ringing and Ellacombe chiming apparatus was used; even this had to be discontinued. The parish very generously decided to dispose of four of the bells, where they could once more be of service to the Church. Treble, second and tenor were found a home at Upper Clatford, and will be hung with two other 'resident' bells.
It was discovered that the fourth could be tuned to make a flat sixth for the Cathedral. The St. Lawrence's P.C.C. were very happy to present this hell to the Dean and Chapter so that at least ane of the old five could ring out again in the city. The bell now lies in the south transept of the Cathedral, awaiting the day when funds sufficient for retuning and hanging are raised. An anonymous benefactor has already paid the cost of its removal.

When the project is completed, the Cathedral will have a true ' light eight' with 14 ewt. tenor, which will be known as the "St.
Lawrence Eight" in remembrance of the grand little ring which contributed to its completion, and in acknowledgment of the generosity of the parish that supplied the bell. The task of raising the funds falls mainly on the Cathedral ringers, who will explore every means of expediting the day when they can say "Take hold for . ... on the light eight." Donations large or small will be gratefully acknowledged and should be sent to the captain, Dennis B. Brown. 3. Moss Road. Winnall. Winchester.
Our picture, through the courtesy of 'The Hampshire Chronicle,' shows Mr. Frank C. W. Knight inspecting the fourth hell.

Mr. Sweet writes correcting the report of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers on page 119. His home tower is St. Peter's. Tidenham. Glos, and not Chenstow, as stated. although he is a member of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association as well as the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

A comprehensive survey of many. Kent towers was accomplished by Birmingham University Society of Change Ringers during their Easter tour. which was based on Westwell. near Ashford. The party included Chris Nokes (Ringing Master), Geoff Davies (postgraduate member). P. W. Gay, N. C. Perrins, C. J. Brown. A. J. Jobson, A. D. Macfadyen, Ann E. Fellows. Rosemary A. Tailby (who made all the arrangements) and Ruth Gay.
Many of the touches were spoilt by ringing too fast and this was particularly noticeable at Margate. Improvement was noted on Friday in the Folkestone/Hythe area. Sunday ringing was at Wye and Petham, and in the afternoon a quarter of Surprise Minor (Cambridge and Surfleel) was rung at Hothfield by Rosemary A. Tailby 1. C. S. Nokes 2. A. J. Jobson 3, C. J. Brown 4, P. W. Gay 5. G. Davies (cond.) 6. In the evening ringing was at Great Chart.
On Monday, after a visit to the Isle of Sheppey, there was an interview with a Kent Messenger representative. His first question Was: 'Are you doing this for money?' Then 'Are there any ladies with you?' to which a reply was 'I don't know, but you needn't quote me on that.'
At Leeds the tomb of James Barham. of the famous peal of April 6th-7th. 1761, was visited and a touch of Boh Major was rung to commemorate the 203rd anniversary of the peal, which fell on the date of the visit. Grandsire Caters was rung with the help of Mr. G. Cantrill.
The first snag of the tour occurred on the last day at Chart Sutton, where we were informed a stay had been broken the previous evening and the rope was round the wheel. A grab' at Boughton Monchelsea, with Vicar's permission, was a good substitute.

Thanks are accorded to ringers who met us and Rosemary Tailby, the tour organiser, and her helpers: the results were much enjoyed by all who went.

A CONQUEST AT BREDON HILL

Birlingham, lying at the foot of Bredon Hill in a hed of the River Avon, is what would usually be descrihed as a sleepy village. On April 25th, however, rurel peace was shat tered when the first peal was rung on the bell; of St. James" Parish Church. The tower here is constructed with a pigeon loft complete with nesting holes and alighting window sills heneath the bell chamber. A further unique feature is the village stocks, which stand in the ringers gallery of the ring of five originally cast by Bagley in 1685 , two were recast in 1692 and 1748. Since being rehung by Barwell, c. 1880 , the bells have had no attention.
Rarely rung, the bells were ungreased when the band arrived. A visit to the local shop was unsuccessful in the purchase of oil, but a bottle of liquid paraffin and a half-pound of - Cookeen cooking fat mixed to a suitable consistency was forced into the plain hearings and found to have good lubricant properties !
The hells were raised and after a few rounds, the tenor ceased 10 strike. A further visit to the tower showed the clapper lying in the bottom of the raised bell with one of its securing holts missing. A search revealed a substitute and when this had been installed the peal was restarted. All went well until a starling suddenly made an entrance and spent three extents doing circuits and bumps among the ringers and rones before finding its way out. The bells finally came round after 2 hours and 43 minutes. Thus the last of the unpealed towers round Rredon Hill has been conquered.

Letters to the Editor

Technical Articles

Dear Sir.-The suggestions made by Maurice Hodgson (page 236) are excellent. Your readers may be interested to know upon what lines we are working in Manchester.

Firstly, all published Surprise Major methods which do not appear in Hudson and McClenahan's Collection have had their falseness (together with incidence) extracted, using the Manchester University Atlas computer. The work is almost complete and it is honed that the results will be published in the not too distant future.

As already indicated (page 157) we have a programme to determine all possible Surprise Major methods actually running. Unfortunately I do not foresee the completion of this work as I shall not have the use of 'Atlas: after Junc. However, I would be pleased to pass on the programme to anyone who might be able to obtain sufficient time on another machine. So far, we have obtained 18,715 notations producing Plain Bob lead-ends (thus giving nearly twice this number of methods) all beginning $\times 34 \times 14 \times$
The output indicates the number of notations tested for Plain Bob lead-ends (261.314), which Plain Bob lead-end is produced (of H. and M.) and whether or not the bells in 8ths place are in Plain Bob coursing order or its reverse. Although this represents only ahout 20 minutes' computing, the printing of results is a somewhat lengthy process. I cannot foresee the Central Council financing this sort of project as $£ 500$ is a reasonable estimate of the computer time used to get this far, had it heen bought commercially!

It has been obvious for some time that a large gap exists in the technical literature between simple descriptions of methods and formal treatment of falseness, extension, etc. Philip Jones and I are collaborating in the preparation of a booklet of the size of the Central Council beginners' handbook, which is aimed to bridge this gap. I hope that it will not be too long before we can publish.

An interesting point emerges when the question of Plain Bob lead heads (p.b.l.h.s.) is considered. Denis Bayles (page 266) implies the arbitrariness of this ruling, but it should be pointed out that they are unique. Any group of l.h.s. has the property that it is cyclic, i.e.: if one member is nroduced then in turn all other members will also appear. except in the case of Royal where 3 lead courses are possible (simply because it is the only group containing a composite, that is, not prime, number of members). For example, if from rounds we obtained 13456782 as the second lead head, then 14567823, 15678234, cic., would he produced as successive ones. The unique feature of p.b.l.h.s is that no matter whether 2nds pl . or 8ths pl . is made at the treble lead, we still get a p.b.1.h. Thus the row 15372846 (the first lead end of Yorkshire) gives 15738264 or 13527486 depending upon the place made while the treble is leading. These are both p.b.l.h.s. This feature does not occur for any other groun of lead heads (I'm sure David Marshall will sunply a proof of this if it is desired). and it alone justifies' the condition imposed for regular methods. Denis Bayles' figure of 59 out of Ko is not horne out by II. and M.'s -ollection. nor by the figures quoted above. A ficure of 9 in 10 seems to be a nearer estimate of the rejection of notations caused by this condition.

The article on ' In and Out of Course ' by F. Aitch (page 174) was a useful one. There is an easy way of determining whether any row is in or out of course given by A . C .

Aitken in "Determinants and Matrices (Oliver and Boyd, 9th ed., 1962, pages 31 et seq.). This involves writing down the row in question immediately below rounds (or any other row known to be in course). Correother row known to be in course) Corresponding digits in the two rows are joined by lines and the number of intersections of these lines is counted. An even number of intersections indicates an in-course row, and conversely, e.g.

N.B.-The intersections must be of two lines, not more.
There are seven intersections, so 24163857 is out of course.-Yours faithfully, Manchester.

JOHN C. BALDWIN.

Had the Judges a Different Standard?

Dear Sir,-Since 1 moved from Derbyshire to the East Riding of Yorkshire I have always looked eagerly through. The Ringing World ' for any news of old friends and I was most interested in the account of the striking competition organised by the Stafford Archdeaconry Society at Bushbury, especially when I noticed the names of the judges.
From my recollections of many general mectings of the Derbyshire Association I should think the organisers of the striking competition were well advised to appoint three judges as 1 could not imagine my old friends Dennis Carlisle and Gordon Halls reaching a unanimous verdict without reference to a third opinion.
On a more serious point, however, I was intrigued by the very low number of penalties incurred by the winning teams and in view of the widening interest in striking competitions I have wondered if it is possible to obtain information about the comparative methods of determining faults in striking.
I fully realise that the test piece at Bushbury was limited to 120 changes, but to incur only $7 \frac{1}{2}$ faults the striking of the winning band must have been well nigh perfect unless the ringing was judged on standards different from those set by judges in certain other competitions.

Although one would normally expect the striking io improve in longer lengths I cannot recollect Harold Chant and Jim Thorley ever giving results as low as $22 \frac{1}{2}$ faults (pro-rata) for contests of 360 changes in the Sheffield District, and it was always considered that the ringing of Warsop band, under Herbert Rooke, was of near maximum standard.
If. as I hope. the ringing of the Little Aston and Lichfield Cathedral bands was as good as indicated then the results are most encouraging and I hasten to assure all concerned that my only point in writing this letter is to promote interest in comparisons of the methods employed by the judges of striking competitions.-Yours faithfully,
A. B. COOPER.

Washington Hospitality

Dear Sir-Although a full report of the Washington visit will be submitted shortly by George Pipe. I would like to take this early opportunity of recording the party's appreciation of the magnificent hospitality extended in Washington by the Cathedral authorities and those private individuals who acted as hostes and hostesses, guides, etc.

Also to thank all those who, by supporting the fund organised by Douglas Hughes. helped to make the trip financially possible. and those many ringers in this country who sent messages of greeting and goodwill prior to our departure.-Yours faithfully.

JOHN CHILCOTT.

Cornish Bells

Dear Sir.-I see in your issue of May 15th you give the words of the carol Cornish Bells ' with 'author unknown.' I expect you will get a number of letters giving the name of the author. But in case not and as I am rather older than most ringers, I write to say the author was Bishop C. W. Stubbs, fourth Bishop of Truro, who confirmed me. It was set to music hy T. Tertius Noble, who was, I believe, his son-in-law. It had its vogue when I was hoy, but I imagine is seldom heard now. Incidentally, I should very much like to obtain a copy of the words and music and should be very grateful if any of your readers could tell me how to get this.-Yours faithfully.

Surprise Major Collection

Dear Sir, - I think Mr. Wilson's article dealing with ringing literature and the Central Council does Maurice Hodgson an in justice.

At last year's annual meeting of the Middlesex Association, in order to get printed the collection of Surprise Major methods which had been rung, proposed that the Association should undertake this work. Maurice Hodgson was then prepared to contribute half or even more of the cost so that the work could go forward on this basis. I hope he will forgive me for mentioning it.

You, sir, were present and on your advice the project was left to the Central Council Although the Council were agreeable, a whole year has elapsed and we are still waiting for the collection. Does this not justify Maurice Hodgson's remarks?-Yours sincerely

It was decided not to increase the nonresident life membership subscription, which remains at 5 s . Agreement was reached in regard to the rule for life membership, which will in future be awarded to those who render exceptional service to the Exercise ; the honour cannot be bought as heretofore.

All accounts showed better balances due to increased activity in membership and reading of the 'Irish Bell News.' A record circulation of 246 copies was achieved.
Reference was made to the newly-formed Society of Change Ringers in Dublin University and it was decided that members should be treated as follows for affiliation: Students not normally resident within the jurisdiction of the Association, non-resident life members; those 'within,' resident members.

The Murphy Cup contest was run off on the bells of Christ Church Cathedral and won by St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick ( 31 faults) followed by St. Donard's, Belfast ( 62 faults) and St. George's, Dublin ( 93 faults).

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Northern Branch

Tributes were paid by the president, Mr F. N. Golden, at the meeting of the Northern Branch at Wroxham to two members who had served with distinction and had died recently. They were Mr. W. Love, for some years secretary of the Association, and Mr. W. C Medlar, whose membership exceeded 50 years. The meeting stood in silence as a token of respect.
Elected members were the Misses W. A. Cook, D. I. Grout, S. A. E. Partridge and K. Sewell (Buxton), Mr. D. Bird (Wroxham) and as an honorary member Mr. A. S. Goddard (Wroxham). The belfry elections of Miss J . Buss and Mr. M. Cubitt were ratified.
The Vicar (the Rev. E. A. Hubbard) was thanked for conducting the service, and also local ringers and wives for an excellent tea.

Mr. F. C. Goodman and the Branch Committee were thanked for arranging the striking competition, also Mr. P. Cattermole for getting Bale bells to ring and teaching the art to boys at Gresham School.

Historic Hoxne Hears its Ancient Bells

THE churchwarden who had been chiming one of the bells for services came to seek advice as the bell would no longer ring. The rope had broken and become wedged between pulleys. The request was then made for all the bells to ring for Easter services. Five secondhand ropes, kindly loaned from Diss, were fitted and then from the lovely 15 th century church tower came . Ding dong bellding dong bell,' followed quickly by two deeper notes and Hoxne people, climbing Little Hill for the early morning celebration, were hearing for the first time tor many years the somewnat plantive melody of the ring of five bells heralding the glad tidings of this Easter Sunday mornıng.
Some 250 years ago the original 'tenor ' bell (weighing approximately 18 cwt.) became cracked, and was taken put of its pit in the bell frame and sold to provide funds for seating and church repairs, leaving a ring of five bells in a minor key to bewail the loss.

The use of the word 'tenor' to denote the heaviest and deepest toned bell is probably derived from the development of part singing in the 14 th century $w$ hen the 'tenor' (or bass) would 'hold' or sing the melody, and the alto and treble would improvise a harmony in thirds and sixths above the notated line.

But to return to the Hoxne bells-number five now the heaviest is also the oldest, being cast and placed in the tower by Richard Baxter, of Norwich, in 1420 . When the first notes of Baxter's bell floated down the hill. earlier and more primitive buildings occupied the sites of the ancient houses now clustered around the picturesque village green. The fourth is also a pre-Reformation bell, cast in the same Norwich foundry 40 years later, in 1460 , by the famous Brayser family, and it may be interesting to recall some of the chief events of those intervening forty years.

HEADLESS BODY BROUGHT HOME
Following the great victory at Agincourt, where Hoxne men instead of throwing darts at bulls' eyes in local inns, may well have been shooting arrows from their long bows, Henry V in 1420 married Catherine of France and established a claim to the French throne. However, by the time that the 1460 bell had been placed in the Hoxne tower, Joan of Arc had been burnt at the stake, and nothing except Calais was left of the English dominions in France. William de la Pole, of Wingfield Castle, the great Duke of Suffolk, who was blamed for the disaster, had been ignominiously beheaded in the Straits of Dover, whilst fleeing for his life. and his headless body had been brought back to the castle in the dead of night. Hoxne bells may well have tolled for this sad event.
The arms of the de la Poles can be seen on the font in Hoxne Church and this family probably contributed towards the building of the tower. In 1460 the Duke of York clamed the throne of England and the bloodbath of the 'Wars of the Roses,' to last for twenty-five years, had begun.

The third bell, recast in 1711 by a local founder, John Goldsmith, of Redgrave, who also cast three bells for the adjoining parish of Great Oakley, was probably originally another Brasyer bell from Norwich which had served as the village 'Angelus' in preReformation days.
The second bell, dated 1655 , also came from the Norwich foundry, but the treble bell, Darbie. There is a suggestion that one of dated 1676, was cast in Ipswich by John these last two bells was bought from Thorpe Abbots, on the Norfolk side of the Kiver Waveney.

A TENOR FUND
And what of the future? The conversion of the bells into a ring of six on a major scale by adding a small treble bell would also involve drastic retuning of the other bells with the consequent grave danger of impairing their excellent tone.

Why was the original tenor destroyed in 1750 instead of being recast? The Enclosure Acts of this period had brought increasing prosperity to the rural areas and the countryside was taking on its familiar pattern of hedges, fields and scattered farms. In spite of this affluence the bell was sold and not recast. Who was the incumbent and who the churchwardens? Modern mechanisation of the land is rapidly destroying this agricultural landscape in the cause of greater efficiency and prosperity which may enable our generation to supply a new tenor bell comparable in weight and tone to its original predecessor.

The fourth bell bears a request in lovely lettering in Latin, to pray for the soul of Richard Smith.' For over Yive hundred years this bell has done its duty, a period that has far exceeded the life-span of Richard Smith's friends or the memory of his place in the local community. Could any man wish for more?
A new tenor bell fund already exists and just needs topping up by someone seeking a similar sweet-sounding memorial. Hoxne would then possess one of the finest rings of six bells in Suffolk and, with ringers to ring them. could 'Still upon the hallowed day
Convoke the swains to praise and pray.'

MID-SUSSEX STRIKING CONTEST

In connection with the Mid-Sussex Arts Festival at Burgess Hill on April 25th, a striking competition proved to be a well worth while venture. Mr. A. P. Cannon was the adjudicator.

ISLEWORTH. MIDDLESEX

Two 41-seater coaches were required for the Isleworth outing into Oxfordshire, a major parish activity. Small parties from Cambridge University and Lewisham also attended. Ringing varied from call changes and Grandsire Triples to London, Bristol and an attempt at Spliced Surprise Major.

Memories include meeting Mr. Allen, now 87, who had been tower captain at Great Milton for 63 years; three sittings for lunch at Witney, and the fine octave in the Parish Church; the final course of Yorkshire at Burford, the finest sound of the day. It was a day of good scenery, good bells and good company, and thanks must be given to the secretary, Miss June Creak, for her excellent organisation, and Harold Rogers. the Ringing Master.

WIMBLEDON'S WEEK-END

Wimbledon ringers, for their week-end on April 17th, assembled at Blandford Forum. Saturday was a full day starting with the six at Okeford Fitzpaine. Contact was made with an Essex party at Wincanton. At Evercreech, the Stedman and Grandsire were not quite up to B.B.C. standard, but Cambridge Royal was well rung. The Essex party was again met at Ditcheat and justice was done to a fine ring of bells with a course of London. Dorchester was tried at Dorchester; it did not go well, but there was a fine touch of Double Norwich and a first class drop at the end.
Sunday morning saw an early start at Blandford, with service ringing at 8.45 . Following lunch in Ringwood, a course of Superlative provided satisfying work for the two tenor men. For the Scout and Guide service at Romsey Abbey. Bristol was rung. followed by the Surrey competition piece of Grandsire Triples. The light 10 at North Stoneham defeated us-apologies for making a bad job of the bells. Service ringing at New Alresford included Rutland. Our thanks to Yicars and all who met us. N.B.

BROMHAM, BEDS

On April 11th the ringers of Bromham, with friends from several other Bedfordshire towers, enjoyed a day's outing in Kent. On this lovely April day everyone was in high spirits at the prospect of seeing some of the beauties of this enchanting county-Garden of England!
We witnessed a little drama, tou, at Dartford, which was the first tower. The bells had just been raised when suddenly the whole scene seemed to be transformed. and one felt that this must be a performance of one of those religious plays which are so popular nowadays-there was the circle of expectant watchers, with awe and wonder expressed on every face, as one of the younger members of the party soared heavenwards, giving a very fair representation of the Ascension! We handed over the cost of a new stay, and, with profound apologies, stole meekly away.

The next stop was at Milton-next-Gravesend. where we quite enjoyed ourselves, though in a more restrained manmer. Lunch was taken at Rochester, after which we enjoyed a pull on the fine ring of ten at the Cathedral.

Some good ringing on the light eight at Gillingham was followed by a pleasant run through attractive country to Boxley, where we found the fine ring of six a real delight.
Tea at Maidstone put us all in good shape for a visit to the interesting village of Farningham, with its even more interesting church and splendid ring of six bells.
The excellent octave at St. Mary's, Lewisham. made a very suitable end to the day's ringing, and a brief stop for refreshment concluded a most enjoyable trip.

The thanks of all are accorded to Frank W. Rivett and his helpers, for their work of organisation, and to the incumbents and local ringers who made us so welcome.

473 MILES TO GRAB FIVE TOWERS
A partv of Irish ringers left Dublin on April 18th and travelled 473.6 miles that day to grab five lowers. They were the Misses A. Sadler, M. Bernard-Smith, S. Dukes, D. Graham, Messrs. C. Reede, A. Vere-Hodge, $A$. Pike and F. E. Dukes.

Limerick was reached following the beautiful run around the shores of Lough Derg, and ringing at St. Mary's Cathedral included Grandsire and Plain Bob Triples and Kent Treble Bob Minor. At Mount St. Alphonsu: (one of the finest tens in the world) David Benson left a sick bed to bid the party welcome, and Charlie Reede took charge of the ringing.

While a search was being made for the key at Doneraile, a picnic lunch took place. The ringing here was Grandsire Doubles and Kent Minor. A cross-country run through marvellous unspoilt country with the Magillicuddy Reeks in the distance, brought the party to Bandon. A precarious climb up iron ladders led to the ringing room. Grandsire was the only method rung. Finally came St. Finebarre's Cathedral, Cork, where a quarter peal had to be deferred because of a funeral service. The three conductors took turns in calling. Supper at Cahir consisted of two trout and three chops per person at a reasonable charge. English ringers note the address-Cahir House Hotel. One car reached home at $1.5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and the other at 12.25. Thanks are expressed to the many who co-operated in this memorable and enjoyable tour.

WADENHOE. NORTHANTS.-On April 11th, 1.320 Minor (Kent T.B.. Litle Bob, Plain Bob): Mary J. Bloxam 1. Joyce M. Clipstone 2, M. A. Coleman 3. Jean Marlow 4. I. W. Hall 5, A. D. Sansom (cond.)

Anne Barber and Rachel Sinden are two of the four Folkestone schoolgirls who, together with two young ladies from Lympne, scored their first peal in an all-ladies' peal of Doubles at Cheriton on April 25th, reported in our last issue. Their first attempt for Minor, at Little Chart, two days before, failed, but Anne and Rachel scored again with a peal of Minor at Newington on April 27th. The conductor of the latter peal informs us that they both rang very well and have their minds on ringing their first 100 peals together !
The peal at Old Glossop (see page 279) was rung on March 14th. Second check.
Errata: Peal of Rothley Surprise Major (page 298). The lead-end should be 18 and not 12 ( $\mathrm{i}, \mathrm{e}$., an eighth's place method).
The quarter peal at Wentworth on May 1st, to mark the jubilee of the Diocese of Sheffield, was the first quarter peal by the Wentworth band without one of the two 'Micks' taking part in it!
Sending a contribution from his outing to 'The Ringing World,' a Bedfordshire correspondent states that this is a little less than usual as the party had already 'forked out' for a broken stay.
The young band who rang a peal of Minor at Wheatley on May 2nd desire to thank Mr. Sheldon for the tea awaiting them after ringing. Their comment: 'One of the best teas we have ever seen!'
The meeting of the Bedfordshire Association at Caddington next Saturday is the first ever to have been held there. When the six bells were rededicated last January they had not been rung for 133 years. Catering difficulties mean-no names, no tea.
Ringing for Ascension Day Evensong at St. John's, Cardiff, was undertaken by a band of ladies; six were from St. John's, two from Llandaff and one from Sully. With Mary Pryor conducting, several touches of Grandsire Triples were successfully brought reund. The male members of St. John's have been assured there will be no redundancy!

GOSSIP

 century the Rudhall during the whole have heralded in the festival. On two occasions the ringers had been requested to start at $6 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. instead of $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. as the proud parents of the May Queens-elect wished their daughters to be awakened by the sound of the bells! The late Mr. Hough rang for the festival for 60 years, and his son, Sidney, continues the tradition. Knutsford May Day is an open day for ringers. Long may it continue!The peal at Wymondham, Norfolk, on April 19th. was the 400 th by Mr. H. Tooke, secretary of the local company.
Ringing has been suspended at High Wycombe Parish Church until four loose pinnacles have been repaired. It is feared that they might be dislodged with ringing.
To raise $£ 2.000$ to meet the cost of rehanging their bells, Isleham, near Ely, ringers held on May 16th a Tramps' Bar-B-Q in the Vicarage grounds. Ringing took place between 7 and 8 p.m.

A conductor's practice was held at St. Michael's, St. Albans, on April 25th. Most people arrived so late that ringing was only possible during the second hour. Touches of Major and Triples were called by several people for the first time.

Through a slip of the pen, Mr. W. A. Theo. bald in his letter on page 308 stated that the Washington band was of nine Cumberlands. It should have been College Youths. The Editor thanks the many readers who have called his attention to the error.

The peal of Bob Major at St. Michael's, Basingstoke, on May 2nd, was originally planned as a tower captains' peal but at the last moment substitutes had to be found to ring the treble and No. 6, Jack Weaver kindly standing in at a minute's notice. The tower captains taking part were from Overton, Aldermaston, Chievelev, St. Michael's (Basingstoke), Andover and Highclere. A further attempi with all eight is planned for later in the year

MR. WALTER H. FREEMAN

With deep regret, the Ely Diocesan Assoclation records the death at Wisbech. on April 30th, after a short illness, of Mr. Walter H . Freeman. aged 81 . He was a brother of the late Mr. J. A. Freeman, of Lincoln Cathedral, and uncle of Mr. John Freeman, vice-president of the Central Council, and of the Rev. Michael Freeman, of Messingham. Lincs. A grandson. Mr. Paul Freeman. lives in London.

Born at Market Deening, Lincs, he learned to ring there, with the late Mr. Horace Day. when he was ahout 15 years old. After his marriage he lived at Sniktiv. near Booton, and for the last 30 years at Wishech, where ior several years he was cantain of the tower.
Although Walter was not a peal ringerhe rang only 11 during his many ringing years -he was never happier than in a belfry and usually rang the tenor. His work as a master builder caused him to ravel extensively but no matter where he was he sought out a tower on a Sunday and attended every possible practice in the area. When at wisbech he was regular and reliable for Sunday se-vice ringing and practices. His ringing was always conscientiously performed and was eruly his pride and joy Mr. and Mrs. Freeman celebrated their diamond wedding on Feh-

SOUTH WALES NOMADS RENAMED 'THE NOMADS'

The sixth annual tour, which started on March 31st, was centred on Exeter with headquarters, at 'The Endeavour' Guest House. Alphington. At Alphington's fine old church the first evening. the party met Mr. F. Mack who accompanied them many times during the week. The next morning they sampled Mr. Mack's 'lightest six in the world, and after a little practice three leads of Grandsire were mastered. That evening they joined a helpful crowd of locals at St. Mark's, Exeter, and Stedman was rung.
The major day of the week was Thursday and through the good services of Mr. Audrey Bennett. the tower organiser, Buckfast Abbey was visited. Major and Caters were rung on these deep-toned. sonorous bells and a sight never to be forgotten was the swinging of the great bell 'Hosanna.' An important 'first, for many of the party was the 'Devon Cream Tea' which followed and proved in schoolboy parlance 'a smashing success." Friday was another full day. A quarter lost at Tedburn St. Mary included some of the hest striking on tour: four other towers were visited before ending at St. David's. Exeter.

Another quarter was lost at Harpford on Saturday and alas. we did not do justice to the finest octave of the tour-Ottery St. Mary. Concluding the tour we bade farewell to the - South Wales Nomads'-for nationality reasons they are to be known in future as "The Nomads.' Grateful thanks 10 Mr . D. Roberts and Mr. A. Benneit for success of sixth tour.
The tourists: Rev, D. Sansom (Stoke Bishop), G. Marchant (Dursley). D. Thomas (Ponteg. Mon). E. Thomas, P. Evans, G. Thomas. E. Ricketts (Cowbridge Grammar School). R. Walters. B. Neal (Marshfield), C. Bird (Tetbury). C. K. Cook (Cholsey).

DECISIONS AND OPINIONS AT TRURO

$\mathrm{N}^{\circ}$ O one who made the long journey into Cornwall to attend the 67th annual meeting of the Central Council, and the first in the county, will regret it. The visit was a glorious experience; a beautiful county, many good rings of bells, and warm friendship to be found everywhere. Moreover, it was a county of ringers who would gladden the heart of any Sunday service chairman. According to the Lord Bishop, only 14 out of the 160 towers are silent on a Sunday-seven because the bells were unsafe and five through lack of ringers. The majority of these may be call-change ringers but they are fulfilling the office of ringers in the Church.

In the last few years there has been a change of attitude towards call-change ringers. On Tuesday the hand of fellowship was extended by the president to two representatives of the Devon Association (a call-change body) and there were favourable references to the call-change ringers' art. Instead of Cinques and Maximus on 12 bells in broadcasting why not try call-changes, was a suggestion made during a debate on broadcasting, particularly of the bells on Christmas Day. Most 12-bell ringing is too fast for good recording as the trebles are indistinguishable when mixed with heavier bells. That was more or less the official opinion in making a plea that 12 -bell ringing should be slower. It started a big wail. The Council was reminded of the glories of St. Paul's ringing at the President Kennedy memorial service and the superb ringing broadcast from St. Martin's. Birmingham. We think 12 -bell bands will heed the advice of Mr. Harold Pitstow and ring slower for such occasions when recordings and live broadcasts are made. English ringing would not be representative without 12 -bell ringing-our pride in every corner except in the matter of broadcasting.

The recent visit to Washington was the principal 'buzz.' Eight who were present at Washington attended Truro and regaled hearers with their experiences. Included in the report of the Overseas Committee was a talk hy George Pipe on the trip. There was also the presentation of gifts from Washington. High hopes are entertained that from the enthusiastic reception accorded to change-ringing, which was listened to by thousands, there will emerge something lasting and permanent. A special Washington number is to be produced by 'The Ringing World.'
'The Ringing World' occupied a prominent place on the agenda. A new convener of the committee was appointed. To the regret of his colleagues and the Council. Mr. J. F. Smallwood retired from office on account of advancing years and for health reasons. Since the Chester meeting of 195? he has directed the aftairs of the committce with a shrewdness and hinwlidge of printing which has added to the appeal of the journal. The last balance sheet he presented showed 'The Ringing World ' investments at $£ 6,500$ and cash at bankers and in hand of $£ 3,135$. He wanted to see $£ 10,000$ behind 'The Ringing World' before he let go the reins of office, and it has practically been fulfilled. To him the Council proposes to confer its highest honour of life membership, and this will take place at Northampton in 1965.

Although there is this substantial reserve behind the paper, rising costs are a cause of apprehension. Despite economies, production costs increased by $£ 589$ last year while revenue only increased by $£ 111$. The profit of 1963 was realised by investment income of $£ 276$ and donations of $£ 477$. To bridge this gap, two methods were announced. Postal subscribers are to be asked to pay another 2 s . per annum, and this will come into operation with renewals due on July 1st. At present the postal subscriber pays just 4d. for a year's copies! The other increase is in respect of small advertisements, by introducing a common charge of 4 s . for 30 words. Providing revenue from donations-mainly quarter peals-is maintained, it should be possible to produce more 24 -page issues.

We have been passing through a silly phase, particularly in one quarter, in regard to the naming of new methods. In no outspoken language was there a condemnation of these foolish efforts. ‘Ob,' said Mr. Wilfrid Moreton, ' is "Bo" backwards, and this is like saying "Bo" to the Council and ringing generally.' There were three changes and a fourth is under consideration. Mr. Denis Bayles was mainly attacking these and others in his motion for systematic nomenclature. A great step forward was an acceptance that once a method was named, even in a spliced peal, that name should be permanent. But no alteration of past names or reducing naming to numbers can be tolerated, otherwise chaos will ensue. It would, however, be helpful in the naming of new methods if there can be an association with the parent. In H. and M.'s computer list it will be found that there is a host of methods with only one pair of places different from Cambridge. Why could they not be called after colleges?

The message of Truro was that the Exercise was in a healthy state. Peal ringing in 1963, at 2,961, was 137 more than in the previous year, and this year peals are even more prolific. A slight abridgement in the way they are set in type is planned. Most areas are able to impart an improvement in Sunday service ringing and the quality of ringing seems even higher. But 1963 will live in bell history by the ringing of the extent of Major: and the spontaneous applause that greeted Mr. R. B. Smith, the conductor of 'the Everest' of ringing. at Truro, revealed what all present felt of that wonderful achievement. From Trurn also came wonderful fellowship, and amnng the memories are Comish pastics and saffrnn cakes. a happy louch at the reception after the Council meeting.

BISHOP TELLS CENTRAL COUNCIL OF TRURO DIOCESE SUNDAY SERVICE RECORD

ARADIANT Cornwall welcomed the Central Council to Truro this Whitsun. The opening of the second session of the 25th Council ( 67 th annual meeting) had all the eradition and dignity which accompanies visits to different parts of the country. The meeting took place in Truro Town Hall on Whit Tuesday and was attended by the Mayor and Mayoress (Councillor Eric A. Brown and Mrs. Brown), the Lord Bishop of Truro (Dr. J. M. Key) and the president and other officers of the Truro Guild.

The Mayor. in his welcome to members to the ancient city of Truro, said it was the first time the Central Council had visited Truro. and he hoped it would not be the last. The history of the Council was extremely interesting and its formation followed a dinner given on Easter Tuesday (April 8th), 1890, by Sir Arthur Heywood, and the first mecting was held the following Easter Tuesday and was attended by 76 delegates representing 33 Societies. Sir Arthur was president of the Council until his death in 1916. The nearest meeting the Council had held to Truro was at Plymouth in 1932, when several members visited Truro and a peal was conducted on the Cathedral hells by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, the Editor of 'The Ringing World.'
The Truro Diocesan Guild was founded in 1897. but was not represented on the Council until 1908, when Mr. W. H. Southeard was elected the first representative. The Central Council had had six presidents and six secretaries.

Giving an indication of ringing, the Mayor said there were 5.345 rings of bells in the British Isles and only 60 in the rest of the world. Recently a team of English bellringers had visited America to ring for the dedication of the tower and bells of Washington Cathedral.

The Lord Bishop, who in his own words seconded the Mayor's welcome' said it was four years since he came to the diocese and he was getting more and more fond of his adopted county. He welcomed them on hehalf of the diocese, and also on account of the position he held in the Guild, hut he had to admit he was very much al learner in the art and skill of a bell ringer.

SUNDAY RINGING IN TRURO DIOCESE

 One of the duties of a Bishop was to visit his diocese and that could be done in a technical way in making comprehensive inyuiries of what was going on in the parishes. He made an inquiry about beliringers in the diocese two years ago. They had about 200 ) parishes in the diocese and 160 had rings of bells. Of those bells only 14 were not rung on a Sunday. seven because the bells were not fit to ring and five because there were no ringers.He then inquired if the ringers attended chureh after ringing and was told that only in one church did they not attend. Another incumbent replied that they attended, except the Methodists who rang and then went to chapel. This showed that the ringers did their part not only in ringing but in worship and this. he believed. was true throughout the country. The Bishop said he also discovered that there were at least 250 learning to ring. which. he thought. was very encouraging.

Concluding, his lordship said he had only mastered one bell-the tenor-in the village where he was brought up. He however, knew something of the art and delight of the hells: they were then somewhat suspicious of anything 'scientific.'

Another welcome came from Mr. Alan Carveth. Master and president of the Truro Guild. who said the Guild were delighted to make arrangements for their visit and he hoped they would take away with them pleasant memories of their city and county.
The president (Canon Gilbert Thurlow), in returning thanks for the welcome, congratulated the Mayor on the way he had done his 'prep' and. to the Bishop, said his diocese had given an example to the Exercise in having only 14 towers that were not rung each Sunday and 250 learners. Their children would look forward to ringing for the Coronation of a King of England for, whatever their Welsh representatives might say, before he was Prince of Wales he was Duke of Cornwall.

The President commented that the absence of some of their senior members in Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher and Mr. A. A. Hughes seemed to mark a turning point in the history of the Council. He was sure they very much regretted their absence.

PRESENTATIONS

The following new members were presented 10 the President: Messrs. T. Darch and H. Pidler (Devon Association). J. F. M. Maybrey (Guildford Guild). P. Morgan (Hereford Guild). J. P. Partington (Lancashire Association). W. L. Weller (Sussex Association), A. J. Davidson and (i. Locke (Truro Guild).

MR. A. A. HUGHES HONOURED
Mr. F. W. Perrens proposed on behalf of the Standing Committee that Mr. A. A. Hughes be elected a life member of the Council. He said that few words of his were needed for the condition of such membership stated: life members shall consist in the opinion of the Council of those by reason of their services in the art of ringing merited the conferring of life membership. When this came into being, it was decided that life memhership should only be conferred on those who had rendered special services. Mr. Hughes had been a member of the Council since 1915 and together with Mrs. Fletcher had, he believed, been a member of the Council for nine years longer than any other member. He had given 49 years of faithful service: he had been a very active member and had acted as the auditor for many years. When The Ringing World was taken over by the Council after the death of its originator. Mr. Goldsmith. many difficulties had to be overcome and one of the biggest was in the matter of finance. Here Mr. Hughes came to the rescue in guarantecing in the case of loss. In those days 'the Ringing World' was not in the position it was today: it was due to his kindness and generosity that 'The Ringing World was able to continue without any break.
Seconding Mr. J. Frank Smallwood said he heard from Mr. Hughes a few weeks ago stating that he was feeling excellent in himself but his mohility was impaired in his legs: nevertheless he was gradually improving and they hoped he wauld live long to enjoy the privilege of life membership.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

HONORARY MEMBERS

The Hon. Secretary reported that there were now six vacancies for honorary members. The Standing Committee recommended that the retiring members (Mrs. R. F. B. Speed and G. W. Pine) be re-elected and that Mr. F. A. White of Appleton, be elected. They also recommended that Mr. John Betjeman be approached for honorary membershin next year and the remaining vacancies be left.

LOSSES BY DEATH

The Council stood while the following members were remembered: Mr. E H. Lewis, Mr. A. C. Hazelden. Canon R. F. Wilkinson, Messrs. W. Rose, H. Stalham. T. H. Taffender and Derek Ogden.

The President paid a tribute to Mr. E. H. Lewis. recalling how he was held in great affection of all members. At Brasted ho restored the bells and taught many people to ring. He recalled his open days once a year and his work for the Kent County Association. For a time he lived at Frodsham. Cheshire, where he did much for the Chester Diocesan Guild in encouraging method ringing. He also lived at Tring and in Scotland.
Mr. Lewis he said. was Master of the College Youths in its tercentenary year (1937) He represented Camhridge University Guild on the Council from 1906-1936. was an hon.

MR. R. S. ANIDERSON
the new Convener of ©The Ringing World ' Committee.
member 1936-1951 and from 1951-1963 a life member. When President he was a wonderful example of what a chairman should be. He was a distinguished member of the Towers and Belfries Committee, a donor of many valuable books to the Council's library and would always be remembered for his work on the mechanics of bells

I remember him,' concluded the President, as a most kind and patient leader and nothing seemed to ruffle him. I was so grateful that he was present at Yarmouth.'

Mr. D. A. R. May in a tribute to Mr. A. C. Hazelden said everyone knew how meticulous he was in his work for the Central Council. He would like to mention his work at St. Nicolas'. Guildford. Mr. Hazelden had trained many ringers who had gone to many parts of the world and they were all most grateful to him. They remembered the way he had established the library of the Guildford Guild.

The tribute to Mr. Wm. Rose, of the Peterborough Guild. Was paid by Mr. Norman Chaddock. He was a good striker and would not tolerate anything slapdash, he said.
Mr. A. V. Sheppard spoke of the lovable qualities of Harry Stalham and Mr. Edgar Shepherd recalled his recollections of Canon Wilkinson when he was at Mansfield. 40 years ago. He was a very capable ringer who did a lot for the advancement of ringing in Nottingham.

A member of the Central Council for 62 years, the late Mr. T. H. Taffender, reccivod a tribute from Mr. Harold Rogers. Mr. Iaffender. he said. Was a senior past master of the Ancient Society of College Youths which he joined in 1893. and a memher of St. Paul's Cathedral band for over 6 6) years. He joined the London County Association ir 1895 and served for 65 years as an officer and as Master for 50 years. He would be best known for the encouragement and help he gave to young ringers all over the county.

Mr. C. Crossthwaite recalled the sudden and untimely death at the age of 30 of Mr. Derek Ogden, who was only elected a member of the Council last year. He was not well known to Council members but in Lancashire he was extremely well known and admired by everybody. He had a quiet, efficient manner and even people who did not know him personally appreciated his achievements. He was President of the Manchester University Guild and secretary of the Manchester Disfrict of the Lancashire Association.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETINC The minutes of the last meeting, which were published in the Ringing World, of March 20th and had been circulated to members, were adopted on the proposition of the secretary seconded by Mr. F. 1. Hairs.

THE HON. SECRETARY'S REPORT
Probably the most outstanding event during 1963 was the service of thanksgiving for the life and work of Mr. Edwin H. Lewis at St Michael's, Cornhill, on November 2nd. The church was almost full and those able to attend were privileged to take part in a most impressive service, conducted by Canon Felstead. and heard an outstanding address by our president. Mr. Frederick Sharpe read the lesson and representative bands rang before, and on handbells during, the service. It should perhaps now be placed on record that at the time of Mr. Lewis's retirement from the presidency in 1957 I approached the then Archbishop of Canterbury, at the suggestion of Mr. R. G. Blackmtan, of the Sussex Association, to ask if he would consider recommending Mr . Lewis for inclusion in an Honours List. Although His Grace could not see his way to do this a most courteous reply was received from him.
Reference is made elsewhere in the reports to the death of Mr. A. C. Hazelden. A telegram of congratulation was sent on behalf of the Council to Mr. and Mrs. Hazelden on the occasion of their diamond wedding anniversary in September.
The Council's good wishes were also sent to Que Que, Southern Rhodesia, where a ring of four hung for ringing was dedicated on October 18th.
A cooy of 'The Ringing World,' in which were reported a number of peals and quarter peals in memory of President Kennedy, was sent to the American Ambassador and an acknowledgment said that it had been forwarded to Washington.

Numerous inquiries were received from the public. Among them, 'Woman' magazine wished to include a reference to ringing in a leaflet on hobbies; the Dean of Lincoln asked for information on bell-recording on behalf of an Ameican inquirer, who later sent a letter of thanks, adding that he played it for his wife every Sunday!; several students who had chosen bells for special study sought information, two free-lance journalists asked various questions: and a suggested handbel!ringing syllahus for the Duke of Edinhurgh's Award was provided at the request of Benenden School.

Once again I record my thanks to Mr. W. G. Wilson and Miss Groves for typing and duplicating these papers and to Association secretaries who send me copies of their reports. I am sorry that lack of time prevents me from acknowledging these individually.
E. A. BARNETT, Hon Secretary.

This was moved by the secretary and econded by Mr. W. E. Critchley and carried.

TRUSTEES OF THE JOHN CARTER

RINGING MACHINE
The machine was run on five days during the year and seen by 34 visitors. Touches of Stedman Triples. Stedman Cinques, $P^{\prime}$ ain Bob Major. London Surprise Major and Bristol Surprise Major were rung. The new trustee, Mr. F. E. Haynes, was introduced to the machine in March and on September 7th he umpired the first peal on the machine, which was conducted by Mr. John Chilcott and consisted of 5.019 of Stedman Cinques, composed by John Carter (C.C.C. No. 15).

The machine continues to run well but it is hoped to replace the two recording pens shortly.

Standard Notation

Dear Sir,-It is unfortunate that Mr. C. A Lewis disapproves of the position of the dividing lines in the Doubles methods in the Diary. In' treble-dominated odd-bell methods the division is governed by the presence or absence of a bell in the hunt. Thus in the Doubles methods on the front endpaper, the cad is symmetrical about a line drawn between the hand and backstrokes of the treble's lead. If there is a bell in the hunt, as in Grandsire, the lead is symmetrical about a line drawn between the whole pull leads of the treble and the bell in the hunt; in such methods, the backstroke of the treble's lead is correctly called the lead end, whereas in most methods it is the lead head.
The anomalous location of the lines in diagrams that were made for early editions of the Diary and are still in use was due to thoughtless copying of the obsolete style if Snowdon's Standard Methods. Now that the Diary contains about as many diagrams as can be included without increasing the number of pages and hence the price, the old blocks are gradually being replaced by what I regard as improved versions.

Mr. McClenahan's remarks about place notation are relevant in this connection. I had always understood that only internal places were noted in expressing a Surprise method. and followed this convention in Surprise Major and Royal diagrams in the Diary. I am now convinced that the slightly greater brevity is not a sufficient justification for omitting ex ternal places in the case of Surprise methods, when by including them the notation becomes applicable to non-Surprise methods and even to non-treble-dominated methods. I think. however, that the typorraphy proposed by Mr. McClenahan could be imnroved: it results in an unbroken sequence of places which. in the example he gives, has been grouped by the compositor in a confusing manner. I suggest that nlaces within a section should be punctuated by full-stops. but that a dash (preferably an en rule) should separate the cross-section olaces from the others. The boh places could be given in parentheses after the plain lead nlaces, followed by the lead head number: the Hudson and McClenahan false course head information could be appended if desired. Guildford S. Maior would then be written x.58.x-14-58.x.58-36-x.14.x-38-14.36.x-58, 18 (14). LH6

Regarding the lead heads of the plain course. there seems to be no good reason for calling the second one the first. But since there is no doubt which is being referred to when identifying a method, it can simply be referred to as 'the lead head.' Readers who do not nossess either of the nublications using lead head numbers can ohtain them by writing out the lead heads of Plain Boh Maior and numhering them $0-6$ : rounds is 0,13527486 is 1 . and so on.

Error in Association Report

Dear Sir,-I should be grateful for space in which to correct a mistake in the annual report of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers for 1963. which has recently been published.

On nage 31. in the paragraph of the Committee's Report devoted to the 1963 Snowdon Dinner held in Leeds on October 12 th. Mr. Gordon Benfield and Mr. R. J. Lumley are thanked for the work they did in preparation for the dinner. In actual fact it was Mr. Fred Munday, of Bradford Cathedral, and not Mr. Lumley who shared with Mr. Benfield (and Mr. W. Barton, too, incidentally) all the preliminary arrangements for the event. Munday's was indeed the lion's share.

I alone am responsible for the error and would like to apologise to Mr. Munday for attributing his much appreciated labours to someone else, to the members generally for misleading them, and to Mr. Lumley for taking his name in vain A correction will he made

Place Notation and 'Lead Ends

Dear Sir, - I would like to refer to two detters on page 324 of the issue of "The Ringing World of May 15th, 1964, on these matters.
A 'one-line ' simple, inclusive version of place-notion for the half-lead was devised long ago, but its use depends upon correct recognition of what is meant by the terms leadhead' and 'lead-end,' and of the proper distinction between them, a distinction still dis counted, apparently, by one or two who should know better !
Unfortunately, Mr. McClenahan's definition of these terms is not generic, and to that extent may be misleading; that is to say, if a definition of 'lead-head' and 'lead-end' is to apply to all hunt-controlled methods. His distinction is limited to single-hunt controlled methods-a part only of what was made clear half a century ago by that eminent ringer and writer, the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies, in his pamphlet entitled 'Lead Ends.

Briefly, a comprehensive distinction would run something like this: The terms "leadhead ' and 'Jead-end' refer to particular change-rows: whereas in place notation the symbols refer to what happens between the change-rows, and, in the case of the rows under consideration, between the end-row of any one "lead" and the head-row of the ensuing lead.' It is, in fact, the nature or form of the permutation between those two rows; and for convenience in theoretic discussion we have long since called this permutation the "Link. (Obviously, as well as a normal link there can he 'Bob links and 'Single' links.)

But now comes the vital point. In huntcontrolled methods the link can occur in one of two positions. in the change-rows, according as to whether the method is single hunt-controlled or twin hunt-controlled. Simple examples are found in Plain Bob, for the former. and Grandsire, for the latter. Put another wav. we mav say that the "rule-off, or dividing line between the "leads" (or "divisions ') of these two classes of method. differs in its position between the rows hy just ane row-interval. As to exactly where this dividing line or link comes. we cannot do better than refer to dicta of the Central Council on this matter.

In their 'Rules and Decisions,' 1904 edition. page 22, naras: ( $a$ and ( $b$ ) we read: "In methods with one hunt (treble) (the division) is between the first and secnnt blows of the whole pull of the hunt. hefore or behind. And apain. "In methode with two hunts (treble and hell in the hunt) (the division is) midwav hetween the whole null of the first hunt and the whole null of the second hunt. hefore or hehind." (The nhrase 'hefore or hehind' is adred to enver 'Reverce' methods.) Further allthority is fo. he found in the Counril's 'Handhonk' 1956 edirion nage 24. where peated.

This may be summed up in simple language as follows: Rounds row. normally at the back-stroke blow of the treble's leading. comes at the head of a 'lead' in single-hunt controlled methods: hut at the end of a lead in twin-hunt controlled methods. Therefore the "rule off, line must come above rounds-row in all single-hunt methods. hut below roundsrow in all hut twin-hunt methods.

These C.C. definitions and their consequences do not annear to he universally known or recomnised. as Mr. Colin A. Tewis' letter radvising what would be fonfusion as to the position of the 'rule-off' line) annears to indirate. A little care devoted to their consideration will lead to a clear conclusion.

That the nrinciples of method structure, as accented to-day are renendent unon them. is yet another point.-Youre very trulv

OBITUARY

MR. J. S. HAWKINS

A member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the London County Association and Oxford Diocesan Guild for over 60 years, Mr. Joseph Stephen Hawkins, passed away peacefully in his chair on December 31st, at St Clement Danes' Estate, of which he had been superintendent for nine years.

Joe started his ringing at Marlow, Bucks. and was afterwards associated with Boyne Hill, Maidenhead. Berks. St. Clement Danes', Strand, and St. Andrew's, Holborn.
He was a Past Master of the College Youths. and they were represented at his funeral by a Past Master, the London County Association by its Master and other members, the Oxford Diocesan Guild by its treasurer, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths by its Master. the Ladies' Guild by its treasurer and also a representative from Boyne Hill tower.
A. D. B.

AN APPRECIATION

Joe " departed from us quietly on December 31 st last, just as he wished, active to the last. amongst the small community with whom he had lived for some years. He had been reluctant to join in any ringing for some years because he could not trust his hands to grip a rope, but he maintained a keen interest all the time. He valued his many friends, especially in Gloucester and district and was always pleased to see anyone who called to see him; he appreciated, therefore, Mr. W. R. Winterton's visit on Christmas Eve. Many of us remember the 'welcome to St. Clements' Passage near the 'Olde Curiosity Shop' by Joe and Mrs. Hawkins during the '20's and '30's. Last year we mentioned at the Veterans' Reunion how Joe had formed the St. Andrew's. Holborn, band in 1923 and had maintained the best Sunday service band in London on that wonderful ring until 1945 . He was a Joval College Youth and was Master during 1928 and again in 1932. At the dinners for those years we read of a record attendance of 262 for 1928 and 200 for 1932: also that 32 new members were elected during 1928 and 39 during 1939 'from all parts of the country." We know how popular Joe was and on his slender means he achieved much.

Joe had rung many peals and his name is on belfry boards in many towers. His last was the 'perfect' peal of Stedman Triples at Finchley, conducted by Albert W. Coles, and most annropriately we can thank the Cumberlands for ringing a silent peal of Stedman Triples to his memory at Milton-nextGravesend.

His name is written in the records for good work done and will never be forgotten. J. E.

MR. CECIL E. CARR

The death took place at his home at Brougliton Astley, Leics, of Mr. Cecil E. Carr on March 22nd. He had heen suffering from a heart complaint for the past 18 months and had consequently done very little ringing in that time. Cecil had been a ringer at Brough ton Astley for many vears. He had taken part in 100 neals ( 50 for the L.D.G. and 51 for the old M.C.A.). The neal he was most proud of was the first ever for Hinckley District band (rambridge Surorise Mainr. rung at Earl Shilton on Anril 2nd. 1949), Cecil ringine the third. He ioined the old M.C.A. in 1924 and was a member till the formation of the L.D.G in 1946, of which he was a member till his death.
The funeral took place at St. Mary's. The L.D.G. were represented by their president (Mr. F. K. Measures) and other ringing friends. As the final part of the funeral service wa taking place in the cemetery a quarter peal of 1,260 Grandsire Doubles was commenced, being brought round successfully 45 minutes later The ringers were: Mrs. M. E. Brown 1, A Ballard (cond.) 2, M. E Brown 3, N. Price 4,

THE UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

The 20th annual general meeting of the University of London Society was held on May 9th.

Ringing commenced on the somewhat doubtful eight at Dalston and continued at Cubitt Town in the Isle of Dogs. After luncis, Rotherhithe, St. George's, Borough Road, and the Society's home tower, St. Olave's, Hart street, were visited. The service at St. Olave's was conducted by the Rev. M. Dean, and was followed by an excellent tea in the Parish Hall. The chair at the meeting was taken by the president. Mr. Philip Gray.

In his report, the retiring Master, Mr. Alan Frost, reminded the meeting of the role of a University Society. This was to renew the ties with past members, to encourage new members and io form an integrated society. Sunday evening service ringing had continued to be well attended, perhaps spurred on by the thought of coffee and handbells after the service. Quite a number of quarter peals had been rung at St. Vedast's and at St. Clement Danes'. Other ringing activities had been two highly successful tours in the Slough and North Kent areas. Another well-attended function had been the annual dinner.
The Master noted that the 150th peal had been rung during the year, including several long lengths and a ladies' peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major. In addition, two members, J. C. Eisel and B J. Woodruffe, took part in the extent of Plain Bob Major at Loughborough. In conclusion, he thanked the Rev. M. Dean and Canon Mortlock for the continued use of the bells of St. Olave's and St. Vedast's.
The secretary, Mrs. Diana Frost, said that the social activities had increased, the tours being supported by more new undergraduates than ever before. Membership now stood at 184, which included 16 new members elected last year. She thanked the Society for a wedding present.
Before the election of the officers for the next year, the president informed the Society that he wished to stand down from the office as he felt that after five years a change was desirable. In a short account of his term of office, he said that no less than 15 members of the Society were on the Central Council, and he felt that this showed that past members were continuing to lead the Exercise.

The following officers were elected: President, Mr. D. Martin; vice-presidents, Messrs. D. Layton, A. Thirst and P. M. J. Gray ; Ringing Master, Mr. R. O. Humphries (Imperial); hon. secretary, Miss Y. Edwards (Bedperd); hon. treasurer, Mr. R. W. Powell (Imperial); auditor, Mr. P. Layton; committee Mr. A. J. Frost, Mr. A. G. Tyers and Miss B. G. Dale.

The wife of the Rector of St. Olave's, Mrs Dean, was elected an honorary life member for her services to the Society.
Future meetings: General meeting, October 17th, 1964; Annual Dinner, February 13th, 1965: Annual general meeting, May 8th, 1965

There are still vacancies on the summer tour in Hereford and South Wales-Saturday, July 4th, to Sunday, July 12th. Anyone interested should contact the secretary.

THE EAST RIDING RINGERS

This year the East Riding Ringers chose the Yorkshire dales for their Whit Monday outing - so ensuring both magnificent bells and countryside. En route the splendid eight at Tadcaster were sampled with a variety of methods -although the Surprise ringers met with their first misiortuile when Superiative broke down a lead from home. Then on to Birstwith, in Nidderdale, for a picnic lunch and an hour on the very tuneful Warner eight. Here the bells seemed to preter the odd-bell methods. At Addingham (6), in Wharfedale, key difficulty was experienced but the belfry door was eventually released to reveal Yorkshire tail ends, so giving some of the younger ringers their first chance to try them. All the more interesting after the recent controversy in "The Ringing World.'

The Yorkshire tail-ends were especially appreciated on the glorious eight at Skipton, although time here was reduced due to traffic hold-ups. After retracing our path through the rain, Ilkley was reached for a restaurant tea. The bells of Jasper Snowdon's home tower were then rung to many methods; and here some Surprise did actually come round!!

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

On May 2nd the North and East District of the Middlesex Association held a joint meeting with the Watford District of the Hertford County Association at St. Mary's, Finchley. This was the first time a meeting had been held at thls tower for several years.
Although the meeting was very well supported, unfortunately the representation from the Watford District was very small. In the absence of the Vicar the service was conducted by the Curate, the Rev. A. Bacon, who gave a very enlightening address Tea was served in one of the spacious new halls.
The District chairman passed a vote of thanks to the Vicar, Curate and lady organist, also the ladies who prepared tea and especially to the Parochial Church Council who so generously provided a very good tea, and last, but by no means least, to Mr. L. Tubb, captain of the local ringers, without whose help and assistance the meeting would not have been the success it proved to be.

' CORNISH BELLS'

Sir,- 'Cornish Bells' (see page 323) was written somewhere about 1899 by the then Bishop of Truro. I've mislaid my copy so 1 cannot give the exact date. He sent it round, I think, to all parishes at Christmas time. Your copy is not quoted quite correctly but it is only a matter of a rew spelling mistakes. But ringers coming to Cornwall should not put too much faith in it, for the Bishop allowed the necessity for a rhyme to take precedence over the actual presence of bells. And there are none or only one in some of the places mentioned. C. F. JERRAM (Li.-Col.).
Helston, Cornwall.

Probably the best ringing at Truro was the peal of Cambridge Royal rung on the Cathedral bells. A second start was necessary because one of the ropes gave the impression it would not dast out. Some splicing made things safe. Commented one listener: - The best ringing I have heard in Truro for years.'
We learn that Miss Marie R. Cross is holidaying in America.

Mr. Frank 1. Blagrove has accepted a teaching appointment in Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia. He will be leaving this country in August.

Congratulations to Mr. Sydney M. Bailey, of High Wycombe, who is ringing master of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, on ringing his 100 th peal-at Slough, on May 1st.
On Whit-Monday, May 18th, 1880, the Kent County Association was formed at Canterbury, Mr. Ted Ruck, who will be 97 this June, is the only surviving member.
Included in a film on Cambridge University life to be shown 4 . French television, probably on May 28th, is a sequence of ringing at the University Church. Holiday-makers, take note!

Mr. Michael Fairey the conductor of the peal of 13 Surprise Minor Methods at Little Aston, Staffs, on May 9th, completed 20 years in the local choir on May 5th. The Little Aston choir and ringers tender to him their warmest congratulations on the anniversary
A ringer giving a talk on bells in the remote village of Himbleton, Worcs, was confronted with an unusual question. He was asked whether he knew Dormston tower and if the locdl rumour that one of the bells was made of leather was true.
Feckenham, Worcs, band have just recorded their first quarter-a wedding anniversary compliment to the conductor and Mrs. E. Styler. who both took part. They remembered on this anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jopp, of Stoulton Campanile, Worcs, who were married on the same day and have been closely connected with the tower since the recommencement of ringing in 1960.

BELFRY GOSSIP

on May 9 started at Southover, Sussex on May 9th to mark the 700th anniversary of the Battle of Lewes, the Mayoress, who has recently taken up ringing, joined in some rounds. The peal was rung at the special request of the Mayor and Corporation and the rounds inaugurated the festivities of Lewes' Gala Week.

Back in our peal columns after an absence of ten years is the well-known Leicestershire ringer, Mr. Edward R. Whitehead. The last time he rang a peal of Superlative was 20 years ago.

Two new conveners were announced at the Central Council meeting. Mr. Tom Lock takes the place of the late Mr. A. C. Hazelden, and Mr. Robert Anderson succeeds Mr. F. Smallpiece.

On his way to Truro, Mr. Frank Smallwood and Mr. R. B. Anderson were able to call on Mr. Joe Dyke at Chilcompton. Joe was one of the members of 'the Ringing World' committee that was formed at Chester in 1952. Some of his shrewd observances were later passed on to "the editor."
The editor fulfilled at Truro a request from Miss J. Armstrong, of Morpeth, to tell Mr. Harry Miles that she was unable to ring the curfew in the Watch Tower because a peal attempt was in progress. When the Central Council met at Newcastle, Mr. Miles was invited to ring the curfew by Miss Armstrong and did so most nobly.
Peter Caine writes: The poem "Cornish Bells " (p. 323) is somewhat reminiscent of "The Tower of Bottraux." The latter is from the pen of Robert Stephen Hawker, the 19th century Vicar of Morwenstow in North Cornwall. Perhaps he was responsible for the former poem too.'

Sixteen - year-old Bob Cooles distinguished himself at Kingston-upon-Thames on Whit Monday. Learning Cambridge Surprise Royal at thirty minutes' notice, he rang a quarter peal at his first attempt af the method, and his first quarter of Royal ever. The occasion was a farewell to Margaret Lewis, Kingston's secretary, who has left for Farnborough, Hants.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

At the invitation of the local band, the St. Albans District held their April meeting at Hatfield, where ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise Royal. The Rector (the Rev. J. W. Stow) conducted Evensong. In his sermon he spoke of bells as the voice of the community, rejoicing or mourning events about which the parish felt strongly.
A good tea was provided by the locals and the Rector took the chair at the meeting. The meeting particularly appreciated Mrs. Coburn's imaginative report of the Coventry outing. The best wishes of those present were sent to Christine Rimmer for a speedy recovery when it was heard that she had been involved in a car crash. Katherine Maylott was elected a new member. After the vote of thanks Geoff Dodds gave his second talk on conducting.

Marlborough Branch

The Marlborough Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild met at Ramsbury on May 16 th for their monthly practice. This was only a week after the annual Guild Festival at Marlborough and it says much for the enthusiasm of the members that such a good attendance resulted. The ringers were present from Chisledon, Aldbourne, Marlborough (St Peter's), Everleigh, Marlborough (St. Mary's) Collingbourne Ducis and Axford, and in cluded a number of youthful members.
Visitors were also welcomed from Swindon and Bristol. Under the direction of the Ringing Master (the Rev. Roger Keeley), ringing commenced at 2.45 p.m. and con tinued in rounds and changes until 4.15 p.m. when tea was taken in the Church Room.
The chairman (Mr. G. Newman) presided at the short business meeting which followed and he made a strong plea to all to support the Ringing Master by helping learners when they were noticed to be in difficulties.
Tentative suggestions were made as to the venue for the annual Branch outing in September. South Dorset being mentioned as a possibility. It was agreed to hold the June meeting at Great Bedwyn and St. Katherine's (Savernake Forest) subject to permission being granted.
On the motion of the chairman a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Smythe and her helpers for the splendid tea enjoyed, and to the Vicar (the Rev. Dr. Philp) for the use of the bells. A warm welcome was extended to the visitors.

The Guild service was held at 6 p.m., the Vicar officiating, with Mr. W. Lowe at the organ, and ringing was afterwards resumed until 7.30 p.m. Methods rung varied from Grandsire and Stedman to Kent and Cambridge.

THE PROBLEM OF PEALS

THE older one gets the more reluctant is one to face up to change. This week we are introducing what many would regard as a momentous change. Since 'The Ringing World' was founded in 1911 peals have always been set in a traditional style - some unkind persons have referred to them as the design of a monumental mason. In the past. any suggestion of change has been strenuously opposed. For many years the Editor has been hoping against hope that the resources of the paper would equal the enthusiasm of the peal ringers.

Definite signs of the difficulty were apparent last year when 2,961 peals were rung. This was an increase of 138 or, translated into space, the equivalent of 12 pages. At the same time there were complaints about the general reduction of reading matter, the severe curtailment of reports and the lack of technical matters. The spark was exploded by Mr. Denis Bayles, who in two articles explored the general position and made suggestions that would enable peals to be set in a smaller compass.

Advocates of such action have not been lacking. Not only have they pointed out the proportion of the paper occupied by peals, to the detriment of general reading, but have not hesitated to criticise the scant return forthcoming from peal ringers in response to the decision at Bournemouth and reiterated at subsequent meetings. Three or four Associations have been most generous and have organised peal 'fees' but most have left the matter to individuals.

Mr. Frank Hilliar, of Okeford-Fitzpaine, Dorset, this week writes: 'In "The Ringing World," May 15th, 1964, there were 66 quarter peals published and took up one page and a few in odd corners of other pages. There were 62 peals published and they took up $4 \frac{2}{3}$ pages. The peals. brought in a cash value of $£ 26 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d}$. and the quarter peals £6 1 Is. 9 d . This is what happens in every issue " more or less." I think the space allowed should be reversed. What do other ringers think?

We are repeatedly told that peal ringers ' are the backbone of the Exercise and "The Ringing World "." This is probably true. From our postal subscribers mailing lists we have evidence that there is hardly a fairly regular peal ringer who is not a subscriber and that the percentage of peal ringers who take the journal is probably three times as high as those who confine their special ringing to quarter peals.

At Truro. 'The Ringing World ' Committee spent a considerable amount of time discussing the space position. The conclusion reached was that no economy in space on peals was effective unless at least an extra peal a column could be printed. In future the town and dedication of church are to be printed in one line, peals of a Guild or Association grouped under one heading, footnotes severely curtailed, tenor weights to be placed so as to avoid an extra line, and subsidiary lines under the title of Association, such as 'Northern District.' to be abolished. In some cases, particularly Minor on handbells, a separate line for conductor will be avoided by the contraction (Cond.) after the name.

Consideration was also given to quarter peals. Attention was drawn to the fact that some people thought so little of their performance that they waited up to five months before sending it in for publication; others sent four or more every second month. These long-delayed announcements invariably were not accompanied by donations. The Editor reported that those who valued their performance mostly sent either a donation or an order for extra copies. A suggestion that this should govern publication was not acceded to, but authority was given the Editor to disregard such quarter peals which either through date or other reasons he thought it inadvisable not to publish. In five days this week we have received 95 quarter peals. Last week in a page-and-a-half we had about 75 !

The Editor is really indignant of the hoax regarding the 'peal' reported from Great Milton, camouflaged by the introduction of the names of Messrs. W. Birmingham, Frederick Scott and J. Keith Ward (see page 345). Most of the letters received deplore this example of pawky humour, but not so a reader from Farnborough, Hants. He writes:

Congratulations to "the Rolling Stones" on ringing a peal at Great Milton, Oxfordshire, on Friday, April 24th (William Wyman. Charles Watts, Brian Jones, Mick Jagger, Keith Richards). Was this to celebrate the release of their first long-playing record? Also may I congratulate Chuck Berry. It's nice to see a composer of pop songs (R. and B.) change to composing peals. As he is an American. I feel that this may be due to the efforts of those who recently went to Washington. Congratulations. Chuck! Would I be sticking my neck out if I said the peal was a hoax?

This has to stop. If it continues it will wreck the Exercise and the keeping of records. An alternative might have to be introduced of a peal being countersigned by the peal secretary of a Guild or Association, or a duly accredited person. It is obvious that the perpetrator of the hoax was 'one of us.' who is now out of touch with the delights of his children's children. Let us hope that teaching is not his future profession!

COUNCIL TO HONOUR MR. SMALLWOOD -- POSTAL SUBSCRIBERS TO PAY MORE - SPACE SAVING ON PEALS

The 'Ringing World' Report

Despite the difficulties caused by rising costs, your journal has continued to appear regularly throughout the year.
Events of national and international importance have made heavy demands upon available space in the peal columns, which could have been easily dealt with had it been possible to have more 24 -page issues, but as strict cconomy had to be exercised, it was necessary to cut them down to the barest minimum.
Examination of the accounts will show that we are not quite paying our way, but contrihutions from well-wishers towards the costs of production have helped to produce a balance on the right side.
Your Committee desires to express sincere thanks to Mr. T. W. White, the Editor, fo: his loyal and painstaking efforts; to the Woodhridge Press, Lid.; to all literary and financial contributors. especially the Oxford Diocesan Guild and the Bath and Wells Association. 10 Mr. H. L. Roper for compiling the index. to Mr. Jeater for supervising the accounts; 10 all regular readers: and to all who have in any way helped us with our work.
May we make a strong appeal io all postal subscribers to renew their subscriptions promptly and so save the work and expense of sending out reminder cards.

PROFIT $£ 368$

The accounts of "The Ringing World, which had been edited by Messrs. Caldwall and Braham, were circuluated with the report.
The Profit and Loss Account on the debit side showed printing and blocks $£ 5,47217 \mathrm{~s}$. ( 15,297 ) : editorial office expenses $£ 981 \quad 14 \mathrm{~s}$. 2d. (£915); postal subscribers (dispatch of copics, addressing and wrappers) $£ 1,7179 \mathrm{~s}$. 3 d . ( $£ 1.577$ ): Accounts Department $£ 3013 \mathrm{~s}$. 11 d . ( $£ 303$ ): miscellaneous $£$ T9 (1)s. 6d. ( $£ 23$ ); audit and accountancy ( $£ 36,15 \mathrm{~s}$. ( $£ 37$ ); interest receivable Srhedule D © $£ 107$ 17s. 6d. ( $£ 105$ ). Total expenditure $£ 8,646 \mathrm{17s} .4 \mathrm{~d}$. Profit for the year $£ 368$ 19s. Id. (£747).
On the credit side income was Rolls House Publishing Company $£ 2,723$ 16s. 5d. ( $£ 2,772$ ) :
postal subscriptions $£ 4,347$ 11s. 5d. ( $£ 4,204$ ) postal subscriptions $£ 4,347$ 11s. 5 d . ( $£ 4,204$ ):
donations $£ 477$ 2s. ( $£ 449$ ): $\pm 5153 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d . ( $£ 536$ ): notices and peal reports $£ 623$ 4s. 5d. (£639): sundry receipts $£ 42$ 10 s .6 d . ( $£ 39$ ); interest received $£ 2767 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d . ( $£ 265$ ). Total $£ 9,015$ 16s. 5 d . ( $£ 8,904$ ).

The balance sheet showed jnvestments at cost $£ 6.500$ ( $£ 5,800$ ): cash at bankers $£ 3,131$ 13 s . IUd. ( $£ 2,666$ ): cash in hand $£ 2$ 1s. 3d.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood (convener). presenting the report, said they would be pleased to know that there was a considerable increase in peal ind quarter peal ringing. To them it was a very good sign. but to those responsible for the publication it was a headache : because of the pressure caused on space a lot of other material they would like to appear could not always be published. Mr. Dennis Bayles made some very constructive suggestions as to the style pals should be presented: it had been given consideration and they were hoping to effect some slight modification on the style of these report so as to save space. They must get the peals condensed but at the same time preserve the traditional style. He thanked Mr. Bavles for his suggestions.

They would see from the report that they enly broke even through donations: had it not reen for them they would have been in the red. It was obvious to everybody that thev would have to make a little further effort to increase income. Two years ago there was an increase in postal charges which the committee thought at that time they would carry. They were now going to ask postal subscribers oo nav 2s. a year more from their next order: half-yearly and nuarterly would be increased in nroportion. They were also making slight additional charge, on small notices, with a minimum of 4 s . for 30 words instead of 3 s . कd

RELEASED FROM DUTIES

Concluding, Mr. Smallwood said: •This will be my last appearance as convener as I feel that increasing years and not very good health prevent me from doing the work as efficiently as it should be done. The committee have agreed to relieve me of my duties and Mr. Anderson will take on from now. I move the adoption of the report.'

Seconding, Mr. Anderson said he felt very humble in taking office following such an acknowledged person as Mr. Smallwood. can assure you that I will do my best but it will not be anything near to that done by Mr. Smallwood.'

Continuing, Mr. Anderson said he would like to introduce to the Council a person whose name was known to thousands of ringers-he referred to Mr. J. E. Jeater who had looked after the accounts of The Ringing World ' for very many years. He had not done the work for the financial recompense. There was never a mistake and he would like to thank him most sincerely for all he had done for this Council (applause).

Mr. Jeater said he was delighted when Mr. Smallwood and Mr. Anderson called upon him and gave bim an invitation to be present at that meeting and for the opportunity of meeting so many people he had known only in name. I like doing the accounts of "The Ringing World" but I am afraid I shall not be able to do it very much longer as I, like Mr. Smallwood, find years are going on.

PRODUCTION COSTS UP 6\%

Mr. Anderson said production costs were lip by six per cent. and income by one per cent. There was one other matter on which the committee were taking an opinion. In his last budget proposals the Chancellor said he was going to make provision for taxation of surplus of mutual trading concerns. In future they would be taxed not at 7 s . 9d. in the $£$ but 10 s .9 d . That would seriously reduce anything they should be able to put back.
The hon secretary said on behalf of the Standing Committee he put forward the name of Mr . Smallwood for his election as a life member of the Council next year (applause).

Mr. V. Bottomley said the additional 3s. in the $£$ profit tax which Mr. Anderson referred 10 was only payable on profies of £2,000 a year.

Mr. W. E. Critchley said he was a little uncasy about the increase in charges for advertisements. He thought it was almost 37 per cent. He wondered if the committee would leconsider it .

The Editor replied that it was necessary to obtain additional income. The proposal was a uniform charge of -4 s . for 30 words for all types of notices. At the present time the charge for meetings was 3 s . 6 d . for 30 words. They would pay 4 s . minimum (an increase of 14 per cent.) and there would still be a reduction of half-price for second and following advertisements. For other notices the charge would be 4. for 30 words instead of 36 at present. Many of these advertisements did not exceed 30 words. The charges for advertisements were low comnared with other pub. lications and it was a common experience to receive 5s. or more for a notice. Practically all newspaners had revised their small advertisement charges.

Mr. John R. Mayne expressed the hope that members of the Council would do their hest to increase the number of postal suhscribers.

Mr. R. B. Morris (Shronshire Association) sald he had worked out that it would cost another 13s. a year for notices from his Association. It was a sum he would gladly mest.

The repont and accounts were then adopted.

General Fund of Council

The General Fund of the Council showed an excess of income over expenditure of $£ 3517 \mathrm{~s}$. Id. Incoine was $£ 1404 \mathrm{~s} .2 \mathrm{~d} .$. made up of $£ 82$ IUs. affiliation fees and $£ 5714 \mathrm{~s}$. 2 d . protit on publications. Expenditure was £l06 6s. Id., the chief item being stationery and printing 2384 s . Id.. postage and telephone $£ 1!$ 15s. $6 d$. hon. secretary's expenses £10. E. H. Lewis memorial service $£ 8$ 7s. The Publication Account showed sales at $£ 296$ 7s. Id., and stock at the end of year $£ 65.7$ 8s. 3d. In the Clement Glenn Bequest. investments at cost were $£ 76218 \mathrm{~s}$, 4d. and cash at bank $£ 13610 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d .
The halance sheet of the Central Council showed assets at $\ddagger 12.334$ 18s. 2d., made up of library $£ 10$, office and library equipment $\pm 815 \mathrm{~s} .11 \mathrm{~d} .$. stock of publications $£ 6578 \mathrm{~s}$. 3d. dehtors and payments in advance $£ 942$ 2s. 7 d . investments at cost $£ 7.26$ ? 18 s . 4 d . (market value $£ 7,34514 \mathrm{~s}, 4 \mathrm{~d}$.), cash at bank and in hand $£ 3.13315 \mathrm{~s}$. Id. On the other side. sundry creditors was $\pm 629$ 4s. 8 d .. amounts received in advance $£ 1.825$ 2s., Clement Glenn Fund $£ 8998 \mathrm{~s}$. 10d. capital accounts $£ 8.981$ 2s. 8 d . (Ringing World $£ 8.247$ 11s. 9d.).
Presenting the accounts the hon. secretary and treasurer said the accounts had heen andited by Messrs. H. Pitstow and A. A. Hughes. Although they made a profit of some $£ 35$ on the income and expenditure account. it was only due to the selling power of the Council's publications which made a profit of $£ 57$ 14s. During the year there had been an unusual amount of stationery and printing done and that was the main reason for the extra expenditure. On the publication account they had a most successful year financially and Mr. and Mrs. Speed could hardly have had a spare moment throughout the year. On the Clement Glenn Bequest the usual $£ 23$ had heen added as interest on investments. Following the desire of the Council last year, the expenditure incurred by the Sunday Service and Education fommittee could be charged to that account. He moved the adoption of the account.

Mr . C. K. Lewis seconded.
Canon K. W. H. Felstead said from the sales of publications it would seem that Plain Major methods would be out of print in 18 months. time and also one or two months time and also one or two other puhlications. Who publications. Who gave orders for reprinting?
Mr. F. W. Perrens Mr. F. W. Perrens (lihrarian): We do keep that in mind and we have already arranged for that to be attended 10.

Mr. V. Bottomley raised questions on the form of auditor's certificate and also that the title "consolidated balance sheet" he introduced.

Mr. E. A. Barnett promised to bear these points in mind and the accounts were adopted.

ALTERATION OF RULE

The Hon Secretary proposed to amend Rule 9 (Meetings of the Council) by substituting the words 'at a previous meeting' for 'at the previous meeting' in lines 2 and 3. Mr. Barnett explained that at the present time they could only arrange theit mectirgs ons year ahead at Whitsuntide. This would enable more than one meeting ahead to be arranged.

Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded and the amendment was agreed 10 .

THE ATTENDANCE

The hon. secretary presented details of the aftendance as follows: Present Absent 26 Associations fully represented
26 Associations partly represented
8 Associations not represented
I ife members
Honorary members
Total
There were seven vacancies.
The hon. secretary said the attendance was very similar to that of recent years.

BROADCASTING PROBLEMS OVER 12 BELL-RINGING

SLOWER RINGING NECESSARY

REPORI OF BROADCASTING AND TELEVISION COMMITTEE.
THE main function of the committee. com mon to all regions this year, was the arrangement of the Christmas broadcast of hells. A lower from each region was recommended and accepted by the B.B.C. and the resultant programme was of a very fair standard. It was unfortunate that Lincoln Cathedral was omitted, due to an extension of the News to cover the Lakonia disaster. The B.B.C. did. however. send an apology to those responsible at Lincoln. Mr. Pitstow was able to visit Broadcasting House to hear a run through of the programme, and discuss it with the producer. The main criticism was the speed of ringing at Swindon and Lincoln, in hoth cases the ringing was much too fast for successful hroadcasting and we should impress on all ringers who broadcast or record for this purpose the need for good open ringing so that all the bells can be clearly heard Although the engineers take every care in the placing of microphones, their efforts are nullified if the ringers fail to play their part toward success.
A pleasing feature of the broadcast this year was the increase in time allowed each tower. Our suggestion that an extra tower be included. from East Anglia. Was considered hy the producer hut it was felt this would complicate matters from a regional point of view and the extra time was divided hetween the towers.
The change of time of the opening of the Light Programme brought a number of letters regretting the omission of the bells on Sunday mornings and we were able to put a notice in -The Ringing World pointing out that the bells had never heen omitted but merely put on at an earlier time. In fact (as always) to open the programme. One or two suggestions were made by correspondents regarding this hroadcast and the committee are considering them.

REGIONS REPORTS

Northern Ireland.-Relations with the B.B.C. continue to be very good. Various towers were heard on television and sound during the yea and the standard continued to be good Radio Eireann.-St. Gcorge's. Dublin, almost had a monopoly on radio. They hroadcast three limes and on each occasion the time allowed was three to four minutes. However, St. Patrick s Cathedral. Dublin, had a fair do on Christmas Eve when they were given three-and-a-half minutes on the air and a soecial mention. The bells of Christ Church Cathedral as usual went on the air on New Year's Day. In the programme "Today" Mr. John Irwin did great credit to the Exercise.
Scottish Region. - Discussions have taken place regarding the various rings available for hroadcasting in the region and an up-to-date list is being prepared for the B.B.C.

Northern Region.-Activities have been confined to the Christmas broadcast arrangements.

London Region.-Here our activities have heen chiefly confined to work for the Light Programme. It is hoped that an alternative grouo of recordings will he included in the Sunday morning broadcasts by the time this report is presented. Two successful visits to Broadcasting House have taken place.
During the year the -Ancient Society of College Youths made a new recording of Bow Bells at the request of the B.B.C.
West and Wales.-Compared with last year 1963 was a very quiet one. Some five rings were heard prior to Sunday services and Rogate. Hants. were broadcast in the General Overseas Servicc. All excent one were given advance notice in "The Radio Times. We could wish for a wider use of bells for these hroadcasts hut so far as the West is concerned a proportion of services broadcast are taken from the Midland Region. in which cases no mention is made in The Radio Times ' of the inclusion of bells. On television the ringers of Frome Parish Church were briefly seen and heard.
Midland Region.-There were two instances where ringers were expected to ring hefore broadcast and television services without prior notice. The unfairness to the ringers of expecting them to ring without being prepared was pointed out to the B.B.C. organisers, who promised to rectify the omission in future.

East Angliat.-Apart from a Sunday service broadcast from Aldeburgh, nothing of interest has occurred.

Mr. H. Sanger moved the adoption of the report and said it recently came to his notice that they did not get as much on bells broadcast hecause pcople did not urite about it. He asked people to write and reveal their interest. This applied particularly to ringing before Sunday services. Very often he turned on his radio to services from churches where he knew there were good bells and there were no bells. He felt their parsons could help in such matters if they approached them. Bells before the service were part of the service and it was up to local ringers to see that they were included. If not people should write to the B.B.C. who were an understanding authority.

Mr. D. Bayles seconded.
Mr. John Freeman said they would know from the report that the broadcast from Lincoln did not come over the air. He thought there was a tendency to ring too slow when broadcasting. If the microphone was not in the correct position it would give s wrong effect Many ringers would agree that 12 bell ringing did not lend itself to good hroadcasting as 10 bells did. With 12 bells the intervals were smaller and very often the acoustics were nol so good. They felt if 12 bells were used they should be rung slowly. They did think a couple of years ago not to recommend hells. Any 12 hell ringing must be slow.
Mr. A. V. Davis (Winchester and Portsmouth Guild) wondered how much of the broadcasting they heard "as live ringing Correspondence had tak slace in "The Ringing World "as to what could happen when a recording was used or misused. Recently in a broadcast from a southern town a recording was used and someone commented to him: " 1 suppose you chaps had a layein. He expected many of them heard the memorial service for President Kennedy and would not forget the magnificent ringing at St. Paul's Cathedral. The bells were not rung too fast but the answer was in the broadeast and not the use of a recording. He suggested they should press for the bells to be rung before a broadcast service, but they should be "live" and not recorded.

Mr. Walter Ayre spoke as the recorder of some of the broadcast ringing for Christmas which was recorded three weeks previously. The ringing they did was good and he defied anyone 10 say otherwise, but it was not good when it came off the tape. Something had been done to the tape.

Mr. F. E. Dukes said a disappointing thing ahout the 8.25 Sunday broadcast was that they did not know whose bells were being rung. Perhaps the committee would make some effort with the B.B.C. to obtain this information.

Mr. Harold Pitstow said as he was the only ringer who heard the recordings of the Christmas broadcast perhaps he might answer one or two of the points raised. He was invited by the B.B.C. 10 go and hear and edit the recordings-to take out the best section of each record. That did not materialise hecause some of the records did not get to London in time. London got recordings by taking them over land wires from the Northern Region. When everything was ready they set them going and John Snagg was in the studio and made his remarks from the tape on to a hig disc.
Lincoln had been criticised as to the speed of the broadcast. As 12 bell ringing, he agreed that it was not fast. but as it was coming over the amplifiers it was extremely difficult to pick out the little bells when mixed up with the big bells. This might be due to the microphone heing fixed badly. It was cut out because of the 'Lakonia' disaster.
Continuing Mr. Pitstow said they were continually pressing the B.B.C. to do this or other, but they were very much in their hands They got an officer interested in bells and then found he had been pushed elsewhere and they had to start educating another nerson. They had a very good friend there and he did his hest to nush hells.
Mr. Cecil Pipe (Suffolk Guild) said he would be extremely sorry if through the advice of Mr. Sanger they were never to hear any 12 bells broadcast.

Mr. John Mayne (Middlesex County Association) said it seemed unreasonable to expect : light 22 cw . (enor to be rung at the same sneed as St. Paul's with a tenor of 62 cwt The finest piece of ringing he had heard on 12 hells was not from St. Paul's hut from St Martin"s. Birmingham.
The Rev. J. G. M. Scott (Guild of Devonshire Ringers) deplored the tendency on the Dart of the B.B.C. to use records for the hells before services. Some years ago they broadcast from Gidleigh where his father was rector. It was a ring of five and the bells ceased three-anarters of a minute before the start of the broadcast. The noise of people going to church and their conversations were heard. His father received hundredse of letters of appreciation. In regard to 12 hell ringing those in the West Country would enjoy St. Paul's or Birmingham better if they rang call changes!

Canon K. W. H. Felstead said he was very surprised to see from the renort that nothing of interest had occurred in East Anglia.

Mr. G. Dodds 1 Herlford County Association): Am I right in thinking that the reason far so many records was due to the poor standard of ringing of 'live ' broadcasts?
Mr. Denis Bayles (Durham and Newcastle): The chief reason recordings are made on Christmas Day is that a minimum number of technical people should be employed that day
Mr. Norman Chaddock (Sheffield and District Society): May I appeal at towers where bells are recorded to ring their bells at the same time?
The report was adopted

TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE'S BUSY YEAR

During 1963 the work of the Towers and Belfries Committee increased considerably. Advice on bell and tower restoration was given in 85 churches, an increase of 17 over 1962 , and four more than the previous outstanding peak year, 1961. It appears that the second cycle of bell restoration work, mentioned in our last year's report, has commenced.
The 85 churches in which advice was sought in 1963 may be analysed geographically thus: Berkshire 6, Breconshire 1, Buckinghamshire 3, Caernarvonshire 1, Cambridgeshire 1, Cheshire 1, Cornwall 2, Devonshire 11, Gloucestershire 2, Herefordshire 2, Kent 1, Lincolnshire 1, Leicestershire 1, Merionethshire 1, Northamptonshire 10, Northumberland 1, Nottinghamshire 2, Oxfordshire 5 Rutland 2, Somerset 20, Shropshire 1, Surrey 2, Sussex 1, Yorkshire 2, Australia 2, United States of America 3. Total 85.
The locations of the towers secking advice varied considerably from those of the previous year. Of the tota! of 85 reports, 16 were dealt with by correspondence; the remainder were visited by members of the committee In addition, the convener has given 14 lectures to diocesan, architectural and professional or ganisations, and Mr. Threlfall has done considerable research in bellhanging and clappering.

In contrast to last year, when no advice was given on augmentation, ten parishes sought advice on this during 1963. The number of towers seeking advice on recasting increased this year to nine. Forty-three churches sought advice on rehanging, or were advised by members of our committee to rehang their hells completely. Last year the number seeking advice on repair and maintenance reached a peak figure of 37 ; this year the number has increased to 45, a welcome indication that more parochial authorities are concerning themselves with this important work. The number of towers where extensive damage has been done to masonry or where there are structural defects in them increased to 18. Advice on sound control and modification was given in 21 churches. Somerset again headed the list of inquiries, with Devonshire second; an indication that the West Country is doing excellent work in maintaining and improving its bells and gear

PROCEDURE OVER BELL RESTORATION
The Truro Diocesan Guild's motion on the best method of approach to diocesan chancellors in regard to advice on bell restoration was the subject of much correspondence between memhers of the committee, and the convener wishes to thank Mr. Threlfall for attending to the majority of this while he was absent in America. The committee was almost unanimous in its decision that it would be unwise to contact diocesan chancellors in this matter, and recommends that the best way of ensuring advice on bell restoration is given by competent persons is to urge all Associations and Guilds to bring the matter to the notice of their members. The committee wishes oo emphasise that chancellors usually seek the advice of Diocesan Advisory Committees, and that these committees have close liaison with the Councit for the Care of Churches in the same way Uat Ringine Guilds are associated with our Centmal Council. Also, that through its Towers and Belfries Committec. Our Central Council and Council for the Care of Churches have had joint meetines in recent vears and that the two Councils agreed a common policy in regard to bell restoration.

A summary of the decisions of the two Councils is printed in our Council's handbook, and has been circulated to all Diocesan Advisory Committees.
Last year our committee had occasion to draw attention to one instance in which bells and gear had been dismantled without either the Chancellor of the Diocese, the Archdeacon or an architect being consulted, and without a faculty application being made. Members are urged to emphasise the necessity of obtaining a faculty for bell restoration work; or, alternatively, an Archdeacon's certificate if the work is of a minor character. This year a difficulty of another nature arose when the repairs to the masonry of a tower were not mentioned in a faculty application. We wish to stress the point made last year that when restoration work is necessary to both towers and bells it is of vital importance that the two slould be done together

A COMPREHENSIVE BOOK

Our committee met early this year to discuss the question of revising the handbook on bell restoration and of producing a more comprehensive book. Before we can proceed in detail we wish to learn how much money is available for printing this work so that we may plan accordingly. A sum of approximately $£ 500$ is needed to produce 2,000 copies of the book we have in mind and we seek the authority of the Council in this matter.
As in previous years this report is compiled from statistics sent to the convener by individual members.
We cannot conclude our renort without acknowledging our sincere appreciation of and gratitude for the tremendous amount of work done for this committee for so many vears by the late Edwin H. Lewis, and to pay tribute to his life and work. His knowledge of bellhanging and the problems of tower oscillation were outstanding. He was a leading authority in al! matters concerning bell restoration and freely placed his knowledge at the disposal of all. We regret the passing of so great a man and feel keenly the loss of such a wonderful colleague

Mr. Frederick Sharpe, in moving the adoption of the report, pointed out that it was compiled from statistics sent in from individual members of the committee. In regard to future policy, last year they were charged with the desirability of producing a mose comprehensive book on the preservation of church bells. It was felt that it should be something that should be on every architect's bookshelf. They had gone into the matter and they would like authority to plan ahead and print 2,000 copies that would cost not more than $£ 500$. They sought the authority of the Council.

The Rev. I. G. M. Scott seconded.
The hon. secretary said the Standing Committee recommended that authority be given to the committee to expend un to $£ 500$ as mentioned in the report.

Mr. P. A. Corby congratulated the Towers and Belfries Committee on their report and on the splendid work they were doing. In his area, instead of a church having a 'bodgedup' six it was an augmentation into eight as the result of the report of a member of the committee. The local people had been very grateful for the help given and they had adopted every word of it. He would like to express appreciation of the article in "The Ringing World ${ }^{\text {' }}$ of August 16 th as the result of Mr. Brian Austin's communications with the R.I.B.A. He had done some valuable work there which he hoped would be of benefit.
Mr. Brian Warwick asked the name of the church in Leicestershire that had received assistance. He was a member of the Diocesan Advisory Committee and he had not heard of any church needing assistance.
Mr. Sharpe said he believed it was a tower which sought assistance on sound control. He had not the details with him but would write.
Mr . Harold Rogers wondered in regard to the new book the committee were producing if they had not been too conservative in price. He would like to see it a worthwhile production with many illustrations. One aspect ke would like to see in the book was sound control inside and outside the tower. For that purpose there should be an illustration of a sound lantern for towers. They had seen some good examples. There was an excellent one at Carbis Bay as well as at Isleworth. In both these towers one could stand urderneath when the bells were ringing and carry on a normal conversation.
In reply, Mr. Sharpe said they had allowed $£ 300$ for printing. $£ 100$ for binding and $£ 1(0$ on illustrations-in brief round figures.
Dr. D. N. Layton (University of London) sald he would like to emohasise the word 'control.' They did not want to annov their neighbours during practices but on Sunday they wanted the maximum amount of noise. He hoped that arrangements would be made for the draft of the book to be seen.
Mr. Sharpe: That is what we had in mind. Obviously we cannot circulate it amone all members. The committee will meet and de cide who will write the different sections. On the auestion of sound control some 30 years ago he brought out a device of a clapper board with a small bell attached. The small bell rang as the rone was pulled and the tinklcould be hrord 50 yards away. They had police nermission to use it during the war.

Mr. Geoffrey Dodds (Herts County Associaiinn) asked if there had heen any response to Mr. Austin's article respecting bells in newchurches.
Mr. Sharne Yes. Mr. Austin's article has heen published by several diocesan magazines Others have accepted it and considered printing it. The resoonse was very gnod indeed.

The report was then adopted.

STANDING COMMITTEE

The hon. secretary said that the Standing Committee at its meeting considered the agenda in detail and made a number of recommendations. Mr. Douglas Hughes was co-opted under rule 12 (2) which would enable the trustees of the Carter machine to be represented. He moved the adoption of the report and Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded. The report was adopted.
The corporate communion in the Cathedral on Tuesday morning was largely attended. The president (Canon Gilbert Thurlow) was the celebrant. assisted by the Dean (the Very Rev. H. M. Lloyd). the Cathedral treasurer (Canon J. A. Simcock) and the general secretary of Truro Guild (the Rev. A. J. Vincent) who is Vicar of Kenyan. The Rishop (Dr. J. M. Key) was also present.

Abstract

1．－COURSES With the increased interest in the residential and the one－day course，it has been thoughe opportune to append to this report a summarv of the courses already held．Though the attached summary gives much useful informa－ tion and will be useful to the organisers of future courses，there may be omissions and we extend our apologies if such is the case． Apart from courses partly or wholly or－ ganised hy members of this Committee，advice has been given to several other Guilds who have undertaken week－end or one－day courses． Inquiries of this kind are welcomed．The one－ day course has much to commend it，being within the resources of most ringing associa－ tions and involving neither student nor or－ ganisers in any great expense．

2．－THEOIOGICAI，COIIIFGES

A comprehensive survey of contacts estab－ lished so far was made last year（covering anproximately half the Colleges）．This year efforts have been made to establish contacts in Colleges where hitherto little progress had heen possible．
New contacts attempted or made during 1963 were：
Lincoln．－A lecture and demonstrations were given in September by some Lincoln Cathedral fingers followed by visits to the tower．M： John Freeman，whe made the arrangements． hones in make this an annual event．
Llandaff．Mr．M．J．Pryor gave a talk to students in October，1963，foillowed by a tower visit and the loan of handbells to the College． He is arranging for a repcat every other year．
Southwark．$\overline{\text { W }}$（Business man＇s ordination course．）－Mr．W．G．Wilson gave a talk in June and was well received．＇Bound books accepted with gratitude．
St．Aidan＇s，Birkenhead．－Mr．J．W．Clarke． who gave a talk two years ago，has further arrangements in hand．
Wells．－Has been sent a set of bound books and Mr．G．Salmon hopes for a lecture soon． Worcester．－Lecture and demonstration． given by Mr．David Beacham in November were much appreciated and he hopes to ar－ range further lectures．
Ely．－In the hands of Mr．J．W．Pickett，who has made contact with the Principal with a view to a lecture early in 1964 ．
Westcolt House，Cambridge．Ridiey Hall， Cambridge．－In the hands of Mr．Brian Threl－ fall，who is still negotiating for a lecture．
London College of Divinity．－In the hands of Mr．W．G．Wilson．
Oak Hill．－Mr．T．J．Lock reports that students had little time for organised considera－ tion on campanologe and was，therefore． leaving it whilst these circumstances obtained． Edinhurgh．－Mr．R．S．Wilont reports that there had been important staff changes at the College and that he was waiting until things settled down．One student was receiving in－ struction in ringing．
Ripon Hall，Wyclife Hall，Cuddesdon，Ox－ ford．－In the hands of Miss R．Cross
Mirfield．－In the hands of Mr．W．F Moreton．
Experience has shown that direct approach to the Princinal by some person who can indicate activity in church work in addition ta ringing brings results．An annual lecture is the first aim．Princinals tend oo prefer their students not to take on time－consuming ac－ tivities，additional to their course．
Twelve sets of bound C．C．hooks have tren presented to various college libraries to date and another twelve books obtained through Mr．Viggers for future use．

MR．NORMAN（HADDOCK． Committee Chairman，who was principal instructor during Washington visit．

3－MISCELLANEOUS ACTIVITIES

Recruiting leaflet．－In conjunction with Mr． E．A．Barnett，the Rev．G．Thurlow and the Editor of＇The Ringing World，1，000 copies of an illustrated recruiting leaflet suitable for posting on church notice boards have been printed and are available through the librarian．
Filmstrips．－There is a demand for instruc－ tional filmstrips and the ground is being pre－ pared for the production of a general interest film strip，possibly with a section or a second strip devoted to change ringing．These could bc useful for recruiting and elementary in－ struction．
Belfry Prayers．－Requests for copies of these continue to be reccived and duplicated copies are almost exhausted．It is now suggested that the Council print a selection of these in suitable form and distribute them through the

librarian．

Bell Ringing in Schools．－The Convener has had correspondence with，and a visit from． Mr．Michael King，who，as Dart of his course at St．John＇s College，York，is doing a thesis on －Bell Ringing in Schools To－day．It is hoped that a cony of his thesis will eventually be pub－ that a copy of his thesis will eventually be pub－ lished in ．The Ringing World or made available to the Council．

Teachers already make a large contribution to ringing activity and much recruitment is done in schools．The time may soon be ap－ propriate for more organised links between Training Colleges and existing ringing organisa－ tions and the Council．

Talks and Lectures．－In addition to several talks given by other members of the com－ mittec．Mr．Sharoe gave 23 lectures on bells in various parts of the country．He also made a fortnight＇s lecture tour in America，where he was very well received．His efforts there are likely to prove very rewarding．

WIDESPREAD INTEREST IN BELLS AND RINGING

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE REPORT

The usual ringing publications have come to our notice again this year: "Overtones" is published hy the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. This delightful journal appears quarterly and contains photographs of handhell choirs, music for handbell ringers and news of various handbell functions in America. The principal event covered was the eighth National Convention of the A.G.E.H.R. at Detroit in June, at which Mr. Frederick Sharpe was the guest of honour.

The publication of the Irish Association The Irish Bell News' completed its fourth volume with a record circulation. Its circulation extends to the four corners of the earth and is predominantly an Irish ringing paper which finds an interest outside the Emerald Isle.

The much improved 'Ringing Towers.' the journal of the Australian and New Zealand Association. continues to thrive. It now regularly includes a Conductor's Corner, as well as "Quarter's Ringing," Belfry Gossip." and as 'Quarter's Ringing

A new nublication. 'The Belfry News,' appeared and it is the journal of the Derbyshire ringers. It comes out monthly and is the first publication to appear in foolscap form. Although dealing mainly with news of Derbyshire interest. it contains also material which is suitable for a wider field, such as hints on the care of hells, change ringing and other technical matters.
The quarterly magazine of the Maidstone District of the Kent County Association, 'The Belfry, has been erratic in its circulation and we trust this is of a temporary nature. It has hecome more technical than previously when it consisted mainly of news items about various towers.
Ranald Clouston's Part II of the 'Church Bells of Aberdeenshire' made its appearance during the year. This is very valuable and takes its rightful place amongst the works of the other bell historians who have given of their time to record much factual information on the bells of our churches.

Trade journals this year contained very few references to our art: only three came to our notice. The I.C.T. House Magazine puhlished two articles. the first was by W. D. N. Foote. of the Computer Division, Putney. called 'Campanologists Pull Together' which deals with an outing by the ringing employees of I.C.T. The second article was hy Jean Sanderson. former librarian. I.C.T. Engineering Division. Stevenage, called Ring out ye Bells' which is technical and instructive. - Bells That Never Ring.' by A. G. Matthews. was an article in the Foundry Trade Journal. It dealt with casualties to bells of historical interest. such as the Great Bells of Russias. our own Big Ben, and the Liberty Bell.
Fictional periodicals seemed to have nothing 10 sav about hells, except 'Today' which published a verv amusing and yet to-the-point story entitled "The Belles of St. Jude's.' This story enlarged upon the effect of an unsuitahly dressed lady ringer and how the younger male ringers reacted.

NEWSPAPER ARTICLES

The newspapers continue to provide a spate of references and articles dealing with the art. some amusing and others serious. The - Yorkshire Post' in its column "This World of Ours' presented a humorous experience of a traveller in a train nearly being driven - hatty by four bell ringers practising change ringing with their clenched fists and thumbs up. The new 53 bell carillon for Washington Cathedral was covered hy the 'Leicester Mercury and both the carillon and the ring of bells received mention in the various Irish and American papers. We are surprised that so little has come to hand about these hells.

Lancastrian, in the 'Lancashire Evening Telegraph. devoted his column on October 21 st 10 campanologists meeting in Accrington for a competition which really turnce out to he an informative interview with Roger Leigh. head ringer at Accrington. The (Accrington) - Observer also mentioned the competition and its interview with Mr. Leigh and puhlished a photugraph of Cyril Crossthwaite demonstrating the bell-ringing machine. This machine was invented by Mr. Woodhouse, of Sedbergh, who constructed the prototype. The recast and augmented ring of hells at Lapworth received mention in 'The News' (Solihull).
Whilst there was nothing spectacular abou: these redorts, we find that they are more accurate than has generally been the case over the years.

The work of Mr. A. York-Bramble received mention in the "Portsmouth. Evening News on no less than three occasions, the first of which was a description by a beginner of his initiation to ringing in an article called. The Bell Had a Hollow Ring of Terror, , whilst the second mentions Mr. York-Bramble's talk to the Portsmouth Rotary Club.

The Press seems to have taken the view that we have cried 'Wolf, Wolf' too many times, for very little coverage was given to the extent of Plain Bob Major rung at Loughboroukh. The 'Guardian Journal " of Nottingham alone seems to have given a straightforward account of the event.
On the lighter side, the 'Yorkshire Post ${ }^{\prime}$ presented a rather delightful, article called "Simon Said "Thumbs Up", and on the serious side a complaint was raised in the - East Anglian News' about ringing at St. Nicholas". Harwich. The Vicar in reply, at tributed the noise to learners. It behoves us all to consider our neighhours and where an annoyance from ringing is likelv to occur, to see that the clappers are clipped or muffled.
Personalities continue to receive notice in the paners. Mr. Bradley. of the Folkingham the 'Sleaford Standard.'

UNIVERSITY EXPERIMENTS

A more serious note was struck in the 'Cambridge News?' which gave an account of experiments being carried out in the Engineering Department of Cambridge University. The experiments with a 98 lb . bell control the movement of the clapper against the side of the hell and it is hoped that the results will enable the design of the bell. its clapper and susbension to be rationalised. 'If the tests are successful, the mechanics of the bell's tests are successful, the mechanics of the bell's motion," the "News, says, which up to now are sketchy-will become clear and the awkwardness of ringing bells will disappear.'

Our attention was drawn to a good illustrated article on the Ringing Society in Shehhear College, Beaworthy. North Devon, which appeared in the "Times, Education Supple. ment in December, 1962. As we did not see this article we are unable to comment on it hut merely record its anpearance. Still on the Educational side. Miss Brigid Gray, who is not a ringer. wrote a very intelligent article called 'Campanology or the Art of Bell Ringing ' in the 'Droghedean.' which is the magazine of Drogheda Grammar School. Although Brigid is not a ringer. she was able to pumo her eight fellow boarders in the school (who regularly ring for services at St. Peter's. Drogheda) for information about ringine. It seems that they are good learners at that school

The Irish papers were more attentive than previously about hell matters. The (Dublin) Evening Herald, puhlished an historical article by Tom Tobin called 'The Bells of St. Mary's Are llidden For Ever.' The note cen tres around one of the legends about the bells of St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick. The hells of Buckfast Ahbey were featured in the 'Cork Examiner" London Letter column, which was written on the occasion of the golden jubilee of thes: bells. A sub-leader in the "Irish Times headed 'Wild Bells, was relative to the peating at odd hours of the bell at the Cburch of Pellegrino. Italy. The writer went on to praise bells and concludes: 'Their spontaneous outhursts mights be a good corrective to the broming ntterances and link line sententiolioness of ooliticians in East and West alike.' Altogether, it was a most heartening discourse. About half a page was devoled to the inwer and clock chime of bells in Cannock's Store, Limerick. in the 'Irish Independent.'

Will You Learn the Ropes?' was the title of a column in the 'Evening Press.' It made special reference to Billy Lynch's 61 years of ringing in Ireland.

Further afield, "The Victoria Daily Time," had an interesting article on Christ Church Cathedral. B.C., and its hells. Special mention was made of the lzard family's interent in and work for ringing in that far-away post.

PARISH MAGAZINES

Parish magazines seem to contain the usual amount of interesting references to bells and hell ringing. 'Home Words,' the inset which accompanies many parish monthlies, frequently has letters about the bells of this and that parish church, which make interesting reading. Occasionally one finds a note on the art in other sections, such as the 'Young People's Page, which wrote about 'Looking at Towers and Spires." The cover of the "Yarmouth Parish Life, was a photograph of the bellringers ringing the bells of St. Nicholas' Church. The same issue devoted a section to the visit of the Central Council to Great Yarmouth at Whitsuntide. Lambourn bells, were featured in 'The Country Churchman' and the front cover showed one of Lambourn's bells in the 'set" position. In the pit beside the set bell and holding on to a wheel stay was a man who does not apnear to be on the young side. We wander if it is wise for ringers io allow themselves to be photographed under cuch dangerous conditions: we draw attention to this noint and recommend that all ringing societies should deprecate any encouragement Fy nhotogramhers to ringers to be photographed under hazardous circumstances. In "Parson and Parish' Mr. Edgar Sheoherd wrote an article on 'Belfry Praise.' which was given three pages. The article dealt with the hrief historv of rincing in to the formation of the Central Council and its work It was intended as an informative article for clergy.
The narish madazine of All Saints'. Relfast nublished a useful naragranh bv Mr. B Austin who deplored the lack of nrovision of towers in new churches. The bells of Christ Church. Brav. were referred to in a leading artirle in the 'Chursh of Ireland Gazette' on the nerasion of the centenary of the chureh. Trowbridge narish magazine. 'The Rridge.' devoted one and a half pages to Mr. Gilhert Hardine nad the hells. Annarentlv the Wiltshire Times made mention of Mr. Hardino whe fook nart in snecial neal to mark the 80th anniversary of the Salisbury Guild. He had heen a' ringer for 55 vears. An interecting re ference in the article is to the onlv Salvation Army hell in a chureh enwer in the country The secnnd hell at Trowhridee was oroviver hy the local Salvation Army group The: new tnwer and recited hells of Crrickfermus were featured in the St. Nicholas' magazin. We $^{\prime}$ of all the bell information which is nublished and we chould he riar in receive ronies of all raferences to hells hellringers and rinoine which annear in the various publications thrnughout the wor'd

The President called attention to the statement published in the Press concerning the Rector of Loughton, Essex, who called attention to the new housing estate being built near his church and those responsible for the design to make the houses soundproof. The church had been there before the houses and he would not silence the hells. He also asked for trees to be retained as they deadened sound. In the "Times" appeared a charming photograph of the ten men ringing at Washingion.

2.962 PEALS RUNG IN 1963

Peals Analysis Committee's Report

$\mathrm{T}^{+}$HE peal totals for 1963 show a large increase over those for 1962 , with an outburst of both tower and handbell peals. The grand total including the belated two peals from 1962, is 2,962 ; with 2,720 on tower bells and 24 'in hand.' The handbell peals are up hy 60 , mainly from the Gloucester and Bristol, Hertford C. Leicester G. and the Middlesex C. The controversial peal at Penn is not included, neither is one rung at Gorseinon, for the Swansea and Brecon G. rung with two le:lding bells-a great pity, for there were five first pealers in it.

The peal rung at Oakham-Rutland Surprise Major-to proclaim Rutland's independence was originally credited by W. A. to the Leicester G., but for political reasons it is now included in the Unattached List.

For the first time for years the Leicester $G$. do not top the tible, for the Lancashire A. is the leader this year with 218 peals

The table shows the first eight positions:

|  |  | Tower | Hand | Total |
| :--- | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Lancashire A | $\ldots$ | 216 | 2 | 218 |
| Leicester D.G. | $\ldots$ | 142 | 56 | 196 |
| Oxford D.G. | $\cdots$ | 171 | 4 | 175 |
| Yorkshire A | $\cdots$ | 157 | 6 | 163 |
| Kent C. | $\cdots$ | $\cdots$ | 145 | 2 |
| Lincoln G. | $\ldots$ | $\cdots$ | 123 | 3 |
| Chester G. | $\cdots$ | 109 | 13 | 126 |
| Glouc & Bristol | . | 90 | 27 | 117 |

Glouc & Bristol . 42.8 per cent. of the total peals.

The Analysis breaks down as fullows: Tower Betls Handbells 1463 196?

Lancashire A.-18 Spliced Surprise Maximus; 12 and 6 Surprise Royal.
Leicester D.-New Durham Maximus in hand. Two Spliced S. Royal ' in hand.' with three other Surprise Royal 'in hand; nine other peals in Surprise methods 'in hand ' 10,440 Cambridge Royal 'in hand '; last of all, though it should have been the very first, the great achievement of the extent of Plain Bob Major, to whom everyone would wish to offer their congratulations and desire us to record the same in our report.

Middlesex C.- 12 and 9 methods Spliced Surprise Major on tower bells; 9, 8, 6, 5 and 4 methods Spliced Surprise Major 'in hand ' Cambridge Royal where one person rang $1 / 2$ on tower bells.

Southwell D.-Nuthall.-Cambridge Minor (all first pealers).

Sussex C.-Lower Beeding.-One method of Doubles (all first pealers at first attempt).

Worcester and Dists.-Four 'firsts " and first as conductor of Doubles in three methods.
Yorkshire A.-Spliced Surprise Royal in 18, 14, 12 and 5 methods.
It would be of interest if the conductors of peals using St. Nicholas and Southrepps in peals of Minor could give some indication of what these really are.
We often wonder what was really rung, e.g. one peal in two Minor methods showed live extents. Do we rule this out or does the conductor think we are thought readers?
Again we ask those who send up the peals for publication to be accurate in their ac: counts!! (Vide page 100, 'Ringing World.' February 7th, 1964.)
Methods in which ten or more peals were rung are as follows:
Maximus.-Cambridge 28, Yorkshire 11.
Cinques.-Stedman 30.
Royal.-Cambridge 49, Yorkshire 34, London 15, Plain Boh 38

Caters.-Grandsire 46, Stedman 43

PRESENTATION TO

MR. SHARPE

When the Council resumed after the lunch interval, the president made an interesting presentation. For many years, he said, the Council, and indeed the Exercise, had in a variety of ways had helpful assistance and advice of particular value from Frederick Sharpe. He had been their president for six years and it was felt that his termination of office should not go unmarked. On behalf of his friends he presented Mr. Sharpe with a signature book

Mr. Shatpe: It is very nice of you to think of me and I hope many of you will come along and put your names in it.

PEALS COLLECTION REPORT

The compilation of the second buok of compositions in the popular Major methods is progressing, though much more slowly than anticipated. Very few contributions have been submitted and we would appreciate further examples of worthwhile material.

Moving the adoption of the report, Mr F. T. Blagrove made a number of corrections. substituting Purbeck for Moira, Oxley for Ob and Guernsey for L.lanfihangel-Rhydeithon. There would also be an additional name to come for Burslem Delight Maior. In the progressive lengths would be added on April 15 th 11.552 Superlative Surprise Major. Chester Diocesan Guild.
As to the submission of compositions the Leicester Diocesan Guild had coughed up." There were a number of Associations who did not send in the compositions of new methods rung. in fact the only Associations that did so were Kent, Leicester and generally the Middlesex.
Mr. John Mayne seconded the adoption.
Canon Felstead asked if all these methods were published.
Mr. Blagrove replied that the methods were always published in "The Riliging World.' It was a question of compositions. They werm sometimes not nublished and they were not always sent in. The Middlesex did not always send in their compositions. He paid a trihute to the work done by Mrs. Fletcher and Mits. Marshall.
Mr. Mayne said it was difficult with a large number of peak being rung always in send in. Because these compositions were not always published a lot of information had heen lost $t 0$ mosterity. Another thine was the truth of the comoocitions. Nohody could be exnected to prove all these things, hut he thought some orovision should be made for all these compositions going on record.
Mr. C. Crossthwaite (Lancashire Associa(ion) asked whether Burslem Delight Major should not be left out now and puhlished later. when it was renamed

LARGE INCREASE IN SALES  Report of the Librarian

The very darge increase in the sales of publications during the past four years is still maintained. The demand for the Beginners ${ }^{\circ}$ Handhook has been even greater than in any of the last three years and the total number of publications sold is greater than in any year except, for 1959, which was the first year the 'Beginners' Handhook' was for sale, when over 5,000 of them were sold.

Our present stock of 'Village Bells. wil! soon he exhausted, and as the "Beginners Handbook covers the essentials of its contents, as well as giving much additional useful information for the beginner, Mr. Speed joins me in recommending that we do not reprint it.

Our thanks are due to Mr. J. A. Acres for the official checking sheet for the 40,320 Plain Boh Major rung at Loughhorough, to Mr . R. W. M. Clouston for a copy of "The Church and other Bells of Aberdeenshire- Part 111 . and to Mr. F. E. Dukes for copies of 'Irish Bell News.

Once again I must pay a well-earned tribute to Mr. and Mrs. R. F. B. Speed for dealing so efficiently with the sales section of the Library, a work which must take up a large amount of time and for which, I am sure we are all extremely grateful

Mr. F. W Perrens, in moving the adoption said it had been a very successful year for the tales department and they were very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Speed for the tremendous amount of work they had done in that direction.
Mr. F. Sharpe seconded and the report was adopted.

The secretary said the Standing Committee recommended that Village Bells' he not reprinted and at the meeting Mr. Ge W. Pipe presented a number of hooks from Washington Cathedral to the Council.

Mr. R A. Anderson moved that the thanks of the Council be sent to the Washington authorities for their gift. This and the Standing Committee's recommendation were carried

The Hon. Secretary: I think the correct procedure is to include it now and amend it if and when the conductor submits another name.
Mr. Blagrove then moved that November 23 5.120 Burslem Delight Major he entered and io be renamed Delight Major.

Mr. W. E. Critchley seconded and this wus agreed to. The report was then adopted

MR. T. J. LOCK CONVENER BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE

The Report

THE work of the Biographies Committee has been oversbadowed this year by the sad death on October 24th of. Albert. Charles Hazelden, who had served this committee since 1939 and had been its convener for the las 21 years. Mr. Hazelden was the mainstay of our work and was an acknowledged authority on the carlier records and members of this Council. His service to his Church, together with his work for this committee and for the Guildford Guild library had been his principal occupations since his retirement in 1944, and this Council owes him a debt of glatitude for this unstinting work on its behalf The committee is carrying on with its work with Mr. T. J. Lock as the new convener.
The following is a list of members and past members whose deaths have been reported since the last meeting of the Council
W. Rose-Peterborough Diocesan Guild 1945-1956. Died March 31st, 1963. (Attended 12 meetings.)

Canon R. F. Wilkinson-North Notts Association 1929-1937. Died April 10th, 1963. (One meeting.)
E. H. Lewis-Cambridge University Guild 1908-1936. Hon. member 1936-1951. Life member 1951-196.3. Died September 4th, 1963. ( 38 meetings.)
A. C. Hazelden-Guildford Diocesan Guild 1930-1963. Died Octuber 24th, 1963 (23 meetings.)
H. Stalham-Sussex County Association 1954-1962. Died November 29th, 1963. (Eight meetings.)
Mr. Lock has continued his researches through old volumes, of 'Crockford' and -The Church Times for details regarding early clerical members of the Council and we acknowledge valuable assistance from other persons too numerous to mention individually in this report.

One of the jobs undertaken since the death of Mr. Hazelden has been the listing of present and recent members of the Council for whom we do not hold a record sheet or for whom we do not hold a photograph. This list will be available at Truro.

Mr. William Parroti, of Epsom-a representative of the Surrey Association-has ex pressed a wish to help us with our work and we would ask the Council to elect him to the Biographies Committee

Finally, again referring to the late Mr Hazelden, he left all of the committee's records in really first-class order with his own biography sheet quite complete with photograph attached all ready for writing up-he had even requested his wife to add the date of his death. If this fine example set by our late convener were followed by all other members of the Council our task would be much lightened. Would that everyone was so meticulous.

W. H. VIGGERS (Acting Convener). T. J. LOCK.

Moving the adoption of the report, Mr. W. H. Viggers (acting convener) said he was sorry the names of Mr. Ogden and Mr. Taffender had not been included in the report. Details of biographies should now be sent to Mr. Lock, and not to Guildford.

Mr. John Willis (Kent County Association) siconded.
The Hon. Secretary: The Standing Committee recommend that Mr. William Parrott be added to the committee and the omissions be included in the report

Mr. Viggers: Yes. we will do that.
The report was adopted.
WINSTON CHURCHILL
Before the meeting closed Mr. C. K. Lewis called attention that when the present Parliament ceased, the greatest Englishman of all times would retire. It might be worthwhile to consider what action should be taken by way of individual efforts. Te also hoped that they would bear that in mind when the names of new methods were considered.

NAMING OF PEALS DECISION  Report of Methods Committee

THE committee's work has been concerned with the preparation of the Collection of Surprise Major, Royal and Maximus method rung in peals up to December 31st, 1963. Discussion has taken place as to the material to be included and the format and the collection is in course of preparation.
The committee asks the Council for confirmation of the following Decisions published in "The Ringing World,

That the names of the methods rung in the peal of Spliced Surprise Major at Ashover on July 13th, 1963, should obtain for all future peals in them.

Consequently the peals by the Leicester Diocesan Guild of Moira Surprise Major on August 25 th, 1963 , should be renamed Purbeck Surprise Major and that of Ob Surprise Major on September 16th, 1963, should be renamed Oxney Surprise Major.
The committee wishes to draw attention 10 this Decision and to remind conductors that when a method is rung for the first time in a multi-method peal the name then given obtains for all future performances in, or including, the method !
The committee acknowledges that under the present Decisions of the Council the Leicester Diocesan Guild has the traditional right to name the methods but would draw attention to the precedent set in 1939, when the Suffolk Guild waived its right to retain the name Framsden Surprise for a method which had been rung previously in a spliced peal as Loughborough Surprise by the Leicester Diocesan Guild. The committee trusts that to avoid confusion the Leicester Diocesan Guild will now waive its right.

The committee does not wish to interfere with the traditional right of a band to name : methods, within the Decisions of the Council though it may consider the name ill-chosen. Neither does it wish to suggest that Elford Surprise should revert to. its former name (Signed)
AGROVE
(Signed) F. T. BLAGROVE, C. K. LEWIS. J. R. MAYNE

The adoption was moved by Mr. C. K Lewis, who said they would like to add to the report the Decision regarding Burslem Dilight. : We are unanimous that it is not a true extension.' He had a letter from Mr. Poyner indicating that he is not willing to give it a new name until logical proof of the extension is forthcoming. Mr. Lewis suggested that they should meet Mr. Poyner and try and get him to give the peal a new name. They must refer the peal back to the Southwell Diocesan Guild and ask them to deal with the matter. Mr. F. T. Blagrove formally seconded the adoption.
Mr. Brian Warwick (Leicester Diocesan Guild) said he rose with some trepidation. To Moira and Ob Surprise Major mentioned in paragraph (1) should be added a further peal, Llanfihangel-Rhydeithon Surprise Major rung in December. As he hoped he was a dutiful member of the Council, he was quite prepared to accept the committee's suggestion He would also like them to take action on Smith Bob Major rung at Loughborough.
Mr. W. F. Moreton (Yorkshire Association) thought the Council was being held to ridicule hy some of the names given to new methods. He also thought it was wrong oo rename them when the method was first rung in a peal of soliced. It made it most difficult for everybody. He thought it was time they stopped people ringing methods with such names as $\mathbf{D b}$, which was Bo backwards
Mr. John R. Mayne said the sole reason for the committee acting was to clarify the situation. With that in mind, the committee decided they would not make the Decisions retrospective beyond the present cases. Thes would like to thank Mr. Warwick for his action. If the Council was thinking of changing all names of methods rung, it wouki upset everything that had happened before.
Mr. W. Parrott (Surrey Association) asked whether the Council was not running away from their responsihilities in referring Burslem Delight to the Southwell Diocesan Guild. If this was referred to the Surrey Association there would not be the local knowledge io decide. They elected a Methods Committee to tell them what was right; he thought it was wrong to refer it back to the Association. It was like saying: 'I can ring Plain Bob and call it Grandsire and you can't stop me.

Mr. John R. Mayne commented that it was a fact that Burslem Delight did not conform. He did not think there was anything they could do but to refer it to the Southwell Diocesan Guild and ask them to bring pressure to bear on the conductor. They expected this to be done, as the Guild had agreed to accept the Decisions of the Council. This report was one of the finest documents produced by the Council.
Mr. R. B. Morris asked if these peals would be counted in the analysis.

Mr. W. Ayre: Of course. There is no question that a peal was rung.
Mr . C. K. Lewis: It is not the custom of the Council to dictate to a Guild or Association but to refer it back to them so that they can set their own household in order.
Mr. Brian Warwick: To make everything correctly in order, can we have an assurance from the Methods Committee that they would include Llanfihangel-Rhydeithon Surprise in paragraph (a)?

Mr. C. K. Lewis: Yes.

The report was then carried nem con.

INSURANCE OF RINGERS

Under the heading of other business, Mr

 A. D. Barker (Oxtord Diocesan Guild) submitted a motion: "That this Council urges al ringing associations to press for proper in surance of all ringers, preferably under a group accident policy.Mr . Barker said this was something that had come to light recently when one of thei ringers in the Oxford Guild met with a serious accident, and they took up the question of insurance of ringers. This poor chap was insured. He went to a church to do a job and broke a bone in his foot. When they saw him ten weeks later he was hobbling about but had not received any money under insurance. They found out that it was a group insurance policy and they did not normally pay benefit until the case was finished.
For 2 s . a year a person could be covered for seccidents in his own or any other belfry or when travelling from one belfry to another. With the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office any ringer could be insured between the ages of 16 and 70 . The benefit was $£ 5$ a week for temporary disablement, $£ 500$ for total dis ablement and $£ 500$ in the event of death. They did not have to give the individualf names of ringers, it was done by a group insurance.
Mr. Walter Ayre seconded and the motion was carried.

NEXT MEETING

The hon. secretary said they had two invitations, both carried forward from last year for the next meeting. The Peterborough Diocaesn Guild had invited the Council to Northampton in 1955 or 1956. The Coventry Diocesan Guild had written that they would consider it a great honour if on this particular occasion the Council accepted their invitation as the Lord Mayor had intimated that he would be willing to entertain the Council.

Miss Shelagh R. Collins, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, said she had pleasure on behalf of the Guild in inviting them to Northampton, where there was ample accommodation. Their secretary was as sociated with a brewery.
Mrs. Beamish, speaking in support of the Coventry Gild's invitation, said they had many interesting and historic places in Warwickshire and many nice rings of bells. Their only regret was that there was no ring of bells in Coventry Cathedral, hus they hoped that would be remedied in a few years' time.
Asked where the headquarters would be, Mr. Frank Perren said it would probably be at Leamingion.
The hon. secretary said it was 30 years since they visited Coventry Guild and they were at Northampton last in 1920.
A majority of ten votes was secured for Peterborough Guild's invitation
(C.C. A.G.M. to be concluded)

PRESENTATION TO MR. LESLIE MORRIS

26 Years Secretary of the Yorkshire Association

The resignation of Mr. Leslie Morris as general secretary of the Yorkshire Association. which had been pending since January last. took effect at the annual meeting of the Association, held at Doncaster on May 9th.
The President, the Ven. C. O. Ellison, recalled that Mr. Morris had held this office since 1938. a period of more than 26 years and had not missed a single meeting. He had also represented the Association on the Central Council from 1938 until 1962 and attended every meeting during that period. His minutes of proceedings were a model. The Association would always be in Mr. Morris' debt for his prolonged and devoted work on its behalf, but after such a length of service they felt obliged to respect his wish to have more time for his other commitments. They received his resignation with the utmost regret and with deep gratitude for his services.
The President added that the Association could not allow Mr. Morris to lay down his office without taking with him some tangible expression of its thanks and appreciation. A subscription list opened for this purpose had received widespread support throughout the county and he asked him to accept a gold pen and pencil as a token of the Association's thanks and affection and as a memento of his long services.
Mr. Morris said the presentation came as a complete surprise. He thanked the president, officers and members for their most beautiful gift, which he would always treasure although not feeling worthy of it. The success of a vast territorial Association such as the Yorkshire depended upon team work, not only of elected officers. but the general memhers. He hoped that the same loyalty and support as he had enjoyed would be accorded to his successor. In the election of Mr. W. F. Moreton. he felt sure the Association had made a very wise choice.

Mr. V. Bottomley was unanimously reelected hon. treasurer for the next triennial period.
In presenting the 88 th annual report the president pointed out that while 71 new resident members had joined the Association during the year, it was a matter for regret that through deuth or lapsing of former members, this digure was more or less offset. Among those who had passed away were Ben Birkett (Arksey). George W. Steel (Rothwell). Henry Clayton (Tadcaster). Herbert Rouley (Horbury). Ralph Umpleby (Ide). Arnold Hill (Worksop). George Robinson (Leeds) and Jackson Ewbank, of Birstwith. a former member of the general committee

The Snowdon dinner held in Leeds had been supported by 130 memhers and friends, including Canon Gilbert Thurlow. president of the Central Council. The success of the dinner reflected very great credit on Mr. F. A. Munday who bore the burden of the preparations which alone made the evening possible.

The hon. treasurer's statement of accounts revealed that the Association has more than maintained its financial position during the year. That this is so is largely due to the energy and enthusiasm of the hon. treasurer himself. During the year two meetings have been held between the general committee and representatives of the local ringing societies operating in the county, the object being to see if there is not some way in which ringing activities could not be co-ord nated to the benefit of ringers and ringing in Yorkshire. The result of the meetings wis to set up a representative working party whose conclusions have still to be considered both by the Association and the other societies.

The peal secretary's report showed that 167 peals had been rung during the year. being 161 tower-bell peals and six handbell peals. The calling of the peals was shared by 49 conductors, and the list included 19 members who had rung their first peal. two their first handbell peal, and three who had conducted a peal for the first time. The total represented an increase of 30 over the previous year. Several peals were rung by local companies, heing Spliced Surprise Royal in five methods at Bradford. Grandsire Caters at Rotherham Doubles in nine methods and 21 methods at Wentworth, and Plain Bob Major at Calverley. Two members had passed their first centuries of peals for the Association, being B. Giilian Schofield. of Bradford. and Dr. R. E. Price, of Sheffield.

The report and balance sheet were adopted on the motion of Mrs. J. Bottomley, seconded by Mr. C. Maxfield.

A motion to introduce a peal hooking fee was submitted in the following terms: "That a charge of one shilling per ringer be made as a peal booking fee. The necessary amount should be forwarded to the peal secretary with the peal report. Moved by Mr. W. E. Critchley, seconded by Mr. W. F. Moreton.
Mr. W. Barton moved and Mr. F. Hodgson seconded an amendment that the amount be sixpence per ringer. On being put to the vote, the amendment received 13 votes, and the original motion 31 votes, which was declared carried. It was also agreed that it should operate from June 1st, 1964.
Mr. H. Walker reported that arrangements were going ahead in connection with the Snowdon dinner to be held in York on October 10th. The new Dean of York had promised to attend.
The following new members were elected: Miss W. E. Hewings and Mr. Hepworth (P'ontefract), Miss Valerie Johnson and Mr. Anthony Dew (Acomb). Mr. Graham Blackburn (Goole) Miss L. Leigh (Bentley). Mr. D. Buck (Wetherby). Miss Susan Raper, Miss Janet Sowter and Mr. Alan Marshall (Thorne) and, as an out county member Mr. L. J. Keen (Willesden).
Previous to the meeting Archdeacon Ellison conducted the service in the parish church and an excellent tea was served. Doncaster. Arksey, Sprothorough and Barnby Don towers were available. In the votes of thanks Mr. W. E. Critchley. Mr. F. A. Staveley and the ladies were specially mentioned. Mr. Critchley replied.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN E. ROOTES

Jack Rootes died suddenly at his foome, at Bushey, on May 10th. His death came as a great shock to his many friends, for he was apparently making a good recovery after a recent operation.
Born at Goudhurst in 1890. Jack came to this district in the mid 1920 s. He rang at Stanmore and Bushey Heath before coming to St. James. Bushey, where he had been a ringer for over 30 years and tower master since 1953. This position he filled with outstanding success. To the end he showed little sign of his age, and might well have been taken for a much younger man.

He kept no record of his peals: he had probably rung several hundred. Most of these were on the treble. which he would ring to peal after peal with hardly ever a mishlow. Capable of ringing round the back end. he rang Cambridge, Superlative and Yorkshire but steadily declined to learn any other Surprise methods. What he enjoyed about ringing was clearly the company of his fellows rather than any personal achievement. On handbells he rang the tenors to peals of Boh Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples.
Jack was very well liked by all who knew him: he always had a cheerful word for everyone, and nobody ever saw him the least bit out of temper. People have remarked. to me that Bushey always seemed a very happy helfry; Jack had said so himself, seemingly unaware that this was largely due to his own influence. His passing is a grievous loss to the tower and district. C. W. W

The bells of Whitwell-on-the-lill, North Yorkshire ( $6,12 \frac{1}{5}$ cwt.) have been recently restored to a ringable condition by members of the St. John's College Bellringers' Suciety and were rung on Ascension Day in connection with the induction of the new Vicar at Crambe (an unringable three). The bells are not safe for quarter or peal attempts because of a somewhat insecure framework but are all right if rung in short touches, say, by touring teams.

Six tower teams and three scratch teams made up from other ringers present, look part in the Farnham District striking competition held at Ash on May 23 rd. Mr. W Parker was the adjudicator. assisted by Mr Douglas May. Master of the Guild. Farnborough were again first, followed by Aldershot.

Great Milton Peal a Spoof

Dear Sir,-I see that once again some feeble-minded person has seen fit to submit a 'hoax' peal for publication. namely that at Gt. Milton on April 24th. supposedly rung by the Rolling Stones and three well-known ringers from South Buckinghamshire.
I realise that it is too much to expect that you. sir, should be familiar with the names of the members of all the "pop " groups in the country, but nevertheless one would have thought that it would have been apparent to anyone with a knowledge of ringing matters that this peal was a little suspicious, five of the names being unknown. and there being no asterisks for first peals, etc.

What is more important, however, is that a member of the Exercise should consider it amusing to waste time, money and space in the 'R.W.. to perpetrate such adolescent inanity. This is by no means the first time that such peals have been published. Might I suggest that all possible steps be taken to find the author of this latest foolishness. and the results printed?
It was also satisfying to see that the peal at Pershore on May 2nd was published as nonassociation, the reason being apparent in the footnote. Doubtless others will complain about this, but at least it obviates such remarks as occasionally appear in 'Belfry Gossip about one Association having gained a record from another when the participants in both records were virtually identical.-Yours faithfully.

JOHN CAMP

Jesus College. Oxford.

Note. We had already asked Oxford Guild officials to investigate when reader Camp's letter arrived. Although the Editor has been reading peals for publication for 18 years, he is still unfamiliar with the names of all who ring. He can give no guarantee to spot a spoof. Readers will respect his frailty in this respect by not attempting.-Ed.

LETTERS

A Disclaimer

Dear Sir.-We, the undersigned, wish to inform all those concerned that we did not participate in any "peal' at Great Milton. Oxfordshire, on Friday. April 24th. 1964. and, as for the other people mentioned in the report, viz. Messrs. W. Wyman, C. Watts, B. Jones. M. Jagger and K. Richards, we have never heard of them !-Yours faithfully,

Signed by: W. BIRMINGHAM.

Essex Secretary's Appreciation

Dear Sir.-I would very much appreciate it if you could find space to insert this short letter of thanks to all those members of the Essex Association who so generously contributed to my presentation on Whit MondayI refer in particular to those members who were unable to he present at the meeting.
With the cheque I hope to purchase a cocktail cabinet and hope that members will come to see it and. perchance. try it some time! Once again my sincere thanks. -

FRANK V. GANT
Hornchurch, Essex.

Burslem Delight Minor

Dear Sir,-I am willing to call Burslent Delight Major by another name if logical proof of the incorrectness of the extension is forthcoming. Until that time the name stands.

This proof will rot be found in the 'Report on Extension,' a document which by arbitrary rules attempts to control the most poorly-understood branch of our art. The Report commands as little respect 10 -day as it ever did, for this reason-it says how but not why, Yours faithfully,
H. POYNER.

Retford.

Faults and Striking Competitions

Dear Sir,-The Surrey Association has held a striking competition for about eight years. and when the report is submitted to The Ringing World 'for publication, the number of faults has been intentionally omitted for the sole reason that has caused Mr. Cooper (page 340 ) trouble-namely, that the judges are thought to have different standards of marking. The Association felt that just the position of the bands is sufficient for readers.
Our judge, Mr. C. H Kippin, gives marks which vary from about 100 faults to the winning team, and well over 300 to the last team. The set piece is 224 Grandsire Triples and only once have 1 known a band to get less than 100 faults, and that was due to an excellent ring of bells. If these faults had been published alongside another competition which awards $22 \frac{1}{2}$ faults for 360 changes. then it might be felt that the ringing in Surrey was the worst in the country.
Whilst I am not condemning the judges on the results they give. I think that they all have their own methods of marking, and that the number of faults awarded can only bs of interest to the local association
If number of faults awarded to each band is omitted from reports it will prevent ambiguity and definitely save space in The Ringing World. - Yours faithfully.

DAVID J. HERSCHELL
Epsom Common, Surrey.

Miss M. E. Chilton informs us that the peal at North Muskham on May 1st (page 333) was not her 50th peal.

West Country hospitality was fully demonstrated following the recent peal at Twerton. The band were entertained afterwards to a magnificent tea by members of the Bowden family and also had the pleasure of meeting the youngest member of the family. All concerned would like to thank them for their wonderful hospitality.

Winchester College Society had hard luck in their peal attempt at Owslebury on May 24th. The rope of the fifth broke shortly after the beginning of the last extent. It would have been the first peal of C. W. Daws, the 16 -year-old conductor. The following were making their first attempt: R. A. Friedlander (16), R. Dyckhoff (16), R. H. Yondale (17), M. D. Roaf (17). Keeping a fatherly eye on them from the tenor was Mr. J. E. Spice.

The peal at Carbis Bay on May 21 st was to mark the 25 th anniversary of the ordination to the priesthood of the Rev. A. S. Roberts, who rang the tenor. and io Ann Mallett on her second birthday.
Tony Tyers, who arranged the successful peal of Royal at Feltham on May 23rd, was prevented from ringing by illness. There were six firsts of Royal in it.
Congratulations to the ladies of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association on ringing their first peal. This took place at Dinder on May 23 rd.
For 70 years Mr. Tom Barker has rung the tenor at Holy Trinity Church, Hawley, Camberley, and his 80th birthday on Whit Sunday was marked by special ringing in the evening and after the service the band drank Tom's health.

The band who recently rang the peal of Bristol at Twerton Parish Church were extremely sorry to learn that Mr. W. H. Ware, the local tower keeper. who was to have met them, had been involved in a road accident the previous day. They join his other ringing friends in wishing him a speedy recovery.
A well-known ringer from Brierley Hill, Staffs, will probably be very envious of the 10 people who rang the peal of Surprise Royal at Christ Church, Bristol, on May 25th. Had it been known that he would be on an outing with the Stourbridge ringers on May 9th then permission would have been sought to ring at Christ Church instead of the Cathedral.

Because of the length of 'The Ringing World committee meeting, the editor was locked out of his hotel at Truro and the down floor was in darkness. To the rescue came Dr. Derek Sibson and later a member of the hotel staff. The editor's escort. Mr. Norman Harding and Mr. Wilfrid Wilson, were not salled upon to perform unustal feats to secure an entry.
We learn that Mr. Tom Myers, of Plymouth, who is in hospital, is making excellent progress.

The peal at Frome on May 16th was a birthday compliment to Mrs. Hazel Stirland, who husband rang the fifth.
Miss Joan Hills, of 1. Oval Gardens, Grays, Fssex, would like to hear of anyone who rang a quarter peal with her during 1954 to enable her records to be completed. They were mostly rung in London.
The band who rang the peal at All Cannings on May 16 th desire to thank Mr. and Mrs. Maslen, of Church House, for their very kind hospitality, which came as a complete surprise on leaving the church.
A long length peal of 9.120 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung at Heptonstall on May 23 rd for the Yorkshire Association, in 5 hrs. 12 mins. It was conducted by Leonard Goodall, and Edward Jenkins was on the 18 cwt . tenor.
When Mr. Robert Parry, secretary of the Aylesbeare Deanery Branch, was married on April 25th, eight of the nine towers in the branch contributed a ringer to a congratulatory peal at Clyst Honiton. His wedding to Miss Joyce Sampson was at his own church, Lympstone, where the ringers rang before and after the service.

The quarter peal rung at the memorial service for Nancy Viscountess Astor at Si. Andrew's. Plymouth. on May 19 th, is only the second half-muffled quarter on the bells and they have both been rung as tribute to Americans. After the second world war Lady Astor and her husband did much in the rebuilding of Plymouth and the ringers taking part were proud to add their tribute.

Peterborough Diocesan Guild now Led by a Lady

HISTORIC ELECTION

The annual general meeting of the Peterhorough Diocesan Guild was held on May 9th at Northampton. The large number of towers open for ringing during the day attracted numerous visitors and members from all eleven branches of the Guild.

The Guild Office was said by the president, Canon G. F. Turner, at the Church of St. Peter, Northampton, and the famous Norman nave was very nearly filled by the larme contgregation. Canon Boyd, Vicar of Pitsford, and himself a ringer, preached the sermon. The preacher said that he always judged a parish, particularly a village, by whether or not it had a keen team of ringers, and he found that if it had, then more often than not there was a live organisation and a spirit of community in the place. He said that it was important that the bells be heard as often as possible in any parish and that if, through them, only one person was brought to think of the things of God it was well worth whue.
Tea was served in All Saints' Church Room by the ladies of St. Fdmund's parish and was followed by the husiness meeting. Members stood to the memory of several old members who had passed away during the year and the president recalled that all had contributed in no small way to the cause of ringing in the diocese.

The annual report and accounts were presented and adopted.

The Master took the chair for the election of the president. Mr. Chapman said that the Guild was indeed fortunate to have the deep interest of Canon Turner and said that much of his work was of a nature that never brought it before the general membership. The Canon was re-elected to the office with acclamation and resumed the chair

Mr. P. I. Chapman had notified the committee in February that he wished to retire after six years as Master of the Guild. There had been only one nomination for the office and that had later been withdrawn. When called upon to address the meeting, Mr. Chapman said that he had appreciated the honour of serving and had tried to serve the Guild in the way he thought hest, in the absence of anv set code for such an office.

In the absence of nominations, rules did not permit the election of a new Master, so it was decided to appoint someone pro tem. Three names were nut forward and the ballot showed that Miss S. R. Collins had the greatest support. It is thought that this is the first time a lady has been made Master of a Diocesan Guild.

The general secretary. Mr. E. Billings, and the anditor. Mr. G F. Roome, were re-elected.

The meeting was asked to confirm the conlmittee's recommendation of grants of $£ 40$ each to Finedon. where the eight hells are to be rehung. and Pitsford, where a new treble is to be added Both were approved.

It was decided to hold the Summer Festival this vear at Flore, where the six bells have inct heen rehing after a long silence. The Guild dinner is again to he held at the Town Hall. Northampton. in Octoher.

Oundle was chosen for the 1965 anmial reneral meeting, it being renorter that caterina facilities had imnoved and no difficulties would now he experienced in that respect.

PROPOSED RULE CHANGES

A proposal to increase the subscription from 2 s . 6 d . to 5 s . and issue a free report to all members, submitted by the Guilsborougn Branch, was defeated, and the committee's recommendation of an increase to 3 s , was agreed. The charge for reports will be reviewed hy the committec annually as before.
The committee recommended that the rule be a!tered to allow the payment of 'the expenses, whole or part, of the Central Council representatives if authorised by the Guild Committee.' This was instead of travelling expenses only, and was passed unanimously.

A proposal to raise the maximum grant from the Bell Restoration Fund from $£ 40$ to $£ 75$ was also passed unanimously.
A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr . E. Garrett and seconded by Mr. A. R. Elliott, to all who had contributed to the success of the occasion.

MISS SHELAGH R. COLLINS,

the first lady to be Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. She was taught to handle at bell at St. Nicolas*, Guildford, hy the late Mr. A. C. Hazelden, rung her first quarter the following year and first peal on Coronation Day at Keele. She has rung 133 peals (conducted five) in 86 towers and 71 quarter peals (21).

Apart from the Peterhorough Guild, Miss Collins is a member of University of London Society, the Universities Association, the Cumberlands and 14 Diocesan Guilds. She was secretary of the Kettering Branch for three years and has been a member of the Central Council since 1963. Another office she holds is tower secretary of Ketteping Parish Church.
Miss Collins took a B.Sc. degree, and a post graduate certificate in education at Leeds. She is on the staff of Kettering Technical College, her subject being mathematics.

Mr. P. I. Chapman said that, as his 'swan song,' he would like to raise again something he had mentioned during his first term of office. It concerned the Cathedral bells. He wished to repeat that it reflected badly upon the Diocese and the Guild that its Cathedral bells could not be rung. The Dean of Peterborough had confirmed that they could not be rung as now hung, and that no one would wish to dispute. They therefore had to consider the alternatives. They were the erection of a new bell tower in the Precincts or the use of the central tower. These problems were overcome in past centuries and there was no reason to suppose that it could not be done to-day. If the ringers of a smaller diocese such as Guildford could be responsible for providing bells for their new Cathedral, surely a Guild the size of theirs could do something for their own Cathedral.

SOUTHWELL GUILD

Just over 40 ringers and friends attended the meeting of the Bingham District at Colston Basse!t on April 11th. Owing to a misunderstanding there was no service for the first time since the District was formed. May 23rd was fixed for the District round of the Crawford Cup contest at Granby. The annual dinner and social was fixed for December at Whatton, and a dance during September will be held at Radcliffe. More ringers attended in the evening, 12 District towers being represented.
R. B.

Which Bristol conductor, helped by one from Farnborough, lost six peals out of six at Whitsun?

THE FRENCH INVADERS

When a member of a French television film team, engaged in making a film of University life in Cambridge, heard the bells of Great St. Mary's ringing on a Sunday, it gave him an idea for a film. Thus a few days later, at the early hour of 11 a.m., when the Master of the University Guild was still eating his breakfast in his dressing gown, one of the Frenchmen called. Being an engineer, the Master's knowledge of the French tongue is small and, unfortunately, his foreign visitor spoke hardly a word of English! However, finally, the Frenchman was able to make understood what it was the film team wanted. So it was arranged that the filming take place the following day, May 13 th , and a 12 -bell band was hastily gathered from the University.
The ringing included Stedman Cinques and Plain and Little Bob Maximus. During this time a small group stood in the rope-circle filming the ringers-some found it distractine to have a film camera within a few feet of their faces whilst ringing! Shots were also taken of the bells themselves being rung, and the tenor being lowered. Ian Smith, who for tunately speaks French fluently, was in a brief interview. Anyone who has tried to explain ringing to a non-ringer in English will know it is not easy, and they will appreciate that it is no easier in a foreign language. If any holiday makers saw the film, due to be shown on French television probably on May 28th we would be interested in knowing how it comes out (if at all!).

SPELT WITH TWO 'E's'

YYOU'VE got a bit of beetle here, I see.'

Not death-watch beetle,' said the Vicar, turning the shade of his collar.

The death-watch beetle has destroyed more bell frames than any other agency, and is busy chewing its way through a great many while you are reading this, so it might be a help to steeple-keepers to know something abcut it. It's a small brown beetle, straight-sided (not oval like a ladybird), between $\frac{1}{4} \mathrm{in}$. and $\frac{3}{8} \mathrm{in}$. long. It generally only emerges in the spring, when it may be seen crawling sluggishly about on the floors of many churches and other old buildings. Unlike the furniture beetle, its grubs can eat away not just the outer surface of timber but solid stuff over a foot thick, and that is why it's such a menace in a bell frame. The holes which the emerging beetle makes are much larger than 'woodworm' holes: they will admit the head of a match, and the 'frass ' which comes out of them is brown and about the size of caster sugar, not fine dust. By this you may know the deathwatch beetle.

In the last few years several interesting things have been discovered about this nasty little insect. First. and most important, it doesn't live on timber. Its food is fungus, to get which it chews timber, and it follows that although once it has got busy it may attack sound wood it never starts in sound wood. So, if your timber is kept free from rot it'll be free from the beetle. Second, the grub lives deep in the timber where ordinary methods of applying insecticides cannot reach it, and the emerging beetle only chews its way out; it doesn't eat its way out, so that an insecticide which poisons its digestive system will not kill it. Spraying the timber with D.D.T. will not kill the emerging beetles but some other insecticides will. and these are the ones to use.

Thirdly, although the adult beetle has wings it doesn't normally use them, and it is doubtful whether it can fly upwards at all. How, then, does it get into a church tower?

My own belief is that the villain is the jackdaw. Death-watch beetles don't specialise in ecclesiastical timber: you can find their holes in hedgerow sticks, especially dead hawthorn. and there's nothing that a house-proud jackdaw likes better than a nice twisty hawthorn stick. which can be woven so immovably into the wire-netting of the windows. So it would be wise for steeple-keepers to make sure that as well as keeping jackdaws out of the belfry they keep them from nesting even outside the netting.

I had confirmation of this theory the other day at a 3 -hell tower, where the frame was still largely snund after some 500 years. There was furniture beetle and a little rot, and in the windows there were no louvres but great old shutters of 2 in . oak with $1 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}$. holes bored in them. No building sites for jackdaws here, and no death-watch beetle.

Jackdaws seem to be on the increase; they should not be welcomed as recruits to our belfries. J. G. M. S.

A PRESENT FROM TRURO

(To be sung-if it has to be sung-to the tune of 'The Farmer's Boy.')
When first the Cornish ringers heard the Council was to come. Bold Alan Carveth summened them. and things began to hum: They planned to give a welcome such as never was before,
The day we came to Truro town in Nineteen Sixty-Four.
Now when they went to the Potieries, at Stoke-on-Trent. they say, Each member of the Council got a handsome dish or tray: Now what about a Cornish gift they 11 treasure evermore. The day they come, etc.
Then up and answered Doug Burnett, a Cornishman all through. - We'll show these foreigners." he said "what Cornish lads can do. - Iet's give them each a pasiy brave, they could not wish for more. The day they come. etc.

Now whei the Council day came round. they served the pasties up.
With splits and cream in many a plate, and tca in many a cup: And the forcigners were fair amazed when they the pasties siw. The day they came, etc.

The President he looked at his, a learned Norfolk priest He thought its lancet windows were twelfth century at least. But he found they were Victorian, which made him very sore. The day he came, etc.

Pat Cannon then took his in hand. a ringer strong and tough ;
He tried to turn it in to Kent. but found it went too rough He struggled on for half a course, then dropped it on the floor, The day he came, etc.
George Pipe he took a bite at his. and said 'In very truth. "I'd take one "er to Washington. if t'were a College Youth." A sentiment which some disgruntled gentry did deplore, The day they came. etc.

Ken Arthurs then and Denis Bayles. they took theirs all to bits. And four internal places found. which gave them forty fits They hollered out "Irregular !" and headed for the door. The day they came. etc.

But all the other forcigners. from towers far and near.
They tasted of this wondrous food. and raised a pious cheer :
They ate with relish every bit. and then called out for more.
The day they came to Truro town in Nineteen Sixty-Four.
J. G. M. S.
*The perpetrator of this ditty is fully aware that this verse is a scandalous libel: in fact it was his original intention to attribute this verse to someone else, hut as the latter was not at Truro this was impnssible. and George fitted the metre. It would have heen a libel anyway, and the author disclaims any responsibility should a correspondence ensue. J. G. M. S.

COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW OF OVERSEAS RINGING

Overseas Committee's Report

$I^{T}$T gives your committee a great deal of pleasure in reporting that 1963 has prohably been the most successful year in the history of ringing overseas. And now that Council has invited regular reports on these activities a more comprehensive coverage has been possible. Consequently it can be seen that the Art is practised, in varying degrees of achievement and enthusiasm admittedly, in something like 35 to 40 centres in seven countries throughout the world.
Our report covers vast territories with sometimes hundreds of miles between towers. These isolated bands are once again to be commended for the part they play in the Ringing Exercise at large. Where possible information not previously available or known has been summarised in respect of newer/isolated towers which it is hoped will be of further assistance to would-be travellers. We heartily welcome enquiries for more detail and likewise would be pleased to hear overseas news at any time.

AUSTRALIA

Despite various upheavals in the Australian ringing scene, an excellent year can be recorded. It would be a mistake to gauge this only from the peals and quarters that have been brought round though this is always a good indication that things are flourishing. Through the admirable publication Ringing Towers,' and reports in our own journal the ringing centres of Australia are now quite well known.
Perth is gaining strength all the time and some 14 ringers were present at the Bishop's enthronement in August. All eight bells are now rung and this very isolated band rang the first peal on the bells in March and scored several quarters 'during the year
Adelaide with the addition of the recently renovated Town Hall octave is now quite a Mecca for ringing in the country. Double Norwicl, Cambridge and Stedman Triples are now welil within their grasp and whereas Miss Enid Roherts by moving to N.S.W. will be greatly missed. Ronald Russ makes a valuable replacement. Adelaide was the venue of the A.N.Z.A.B. annual mecting when well over 40 ringers from four States attended. Three peals and several quarters are listed for South Australia.
Melbourne after a flourishing four of five months at the beginning of the year felt the loss of the Cathedral bells, now in England for complete restoration. The new job will be on its way again in May and awaited with some eagerness! St. Patrick's Cathedral band has kept things moving, however, in readiness for the return of the 12 and we can look to Melbourne for a strong band in the near future. Five peals. including Cambridge $S$.. Major and Bob Royal go down in the record book.
Hobart, Maryborough and Yass continue to maintain Sunday service bands, Hobart ringing a quarter peal during the year.
Ballaarat's two towers have also picked up whilst the octave at Bendigo will soon be returned from Whitectiapel where another restoration is taking place.
Finally Sydney which has done remarkably well and crowning its year with a peal of Stedman Triples ' in hand. Five other peals (including Burwood) were scored and it is nleasing to note the variety of methods in their quarters.
Overall there were 63 quarter peals on tower bells and 15 in hand. together with 15 peals in the following methods: Plain Bob Maior 4: Grandsire Triples 3: and one each of Bob Royal. Cambridge S. Major. Grandsire Caters. Stedman Triples, 3 Spliced Plain Major. 4 Minor methods and $9 \times 2$ Doubles methods.

NEW ZEALAND

A year of steady progress in New Zealand and ringing generally of a high standard. Both Christchurch (10) and Hamilton (8) Cathedrals are further cases where with perhaps just one more experienced ringer'conductor would make all the difference.

Ringing took place every Sunday and for several special occasions and festivals in Christchurch. Grandsire Triples, Kent Minor and Plain Boh are a regular feature here and occasionally Grandsire Caters and Stedman. Unfortunately peal attempts for Triples failed but success is sure to come this way before long. Membership stands at 20 which is indicative of enthusiasm.
Hamilton has eight in its Sunday band and call changes and Plain Bob are managed.
A band is also being taught by Christchurch ringers at Papanui ( $5-6$ cwt.) and there is rumour that St. Peter's. Wellington (8-16 cwt.) will be renovated and placed in the new Cathedral there.

CANADA

A very good coverage of activity in this country has appeared in . The Ringing World over the last 12 months by Miss J. Midgley and Mr. A. J. Collins, so that a brief summary will suffice.

Victoria, B.C. (8-29 cwt.). Membership approx. 20 , ringing twice every Sunday with methods including Stedman and Kent T.B.

Vancouver, B,C. $(8-16 \mathrm{cwt}$ ). Membershin 14.
. rung almost, every Sunday to Grandsire. Plain Bob and call changes. We understand there is also an eight at St. James', Vancouver, which may well soon be rehung, being chimed only at present.

Mission City, B.C. ( $10-21 \mathrm{cwt}$ ) rung regularly by the Benedictine Fathers at this most impressive Abbey. The Fathers can manage up to Grandsire Caters Calgary, Alta ( $8-14 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Another up and coming centre which together with the two rings in Quebec gives a string of towers from West to Eastern Canada. The Cathedral in Quebec ( $8-16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) has a small but very struggling band but at the moment there are no ringers at St. Matthew's ( $8-14 \mathrm{cwt}$ ).

No activity unfortunately to cater for the two very fine 10 's in Montreal although your representative was able to inspect them last year.

U.S.A.

As with Canada the U.S. Mail coaches have kept us well informed with some excellent ringing articles. The latest development of ringing articles. The latest development of course will be the important Washington dedication in May and this will be reported direct to the Central Council at Truro.
Therefore a list of towers with short notes will complete the picture for 1963.
Boston, Christ Church ( $8-15 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Unringable, apparently only because of sprinkler pipes being passed through the wheels and a ## ery low ceiling.

Boston, Perkins Institute (8-22 cwt.). Only rung when visited by Groton-in perfect condition except for ropes

Boston, Advent (8-20 cwt.). Some activity here and there is a donor who is prepared to pay for a full restoration if ringers can be found!

Hingham, Mass. (10-19f cwt.). Unringable - tower suppciedly too weak but this is dehatable.
Kent School, Conn. ( $10-25 \mathrm{cwt}$ ). A schoolboy band of cight to ten in number. changes and Giandsire Doubles.
(hicago, III. ( $10-21 \frac{1}{3}$ cut.). It is rumoured that renovation will be taking place soon.
Groton. Mass. (10-18 cwt.). Very strong and enthusiastic band here with something like 25-30 ringers-masters and boys. Stedman Doubles and Triples. Erin. Plain hunting are regular features and last year a quarter peal of Stedman Triples and four of Doubles were recorded. Groton ringers have visited Washington and hope to get over to Kent Şchool. The U.S.A. is almost equal in size to Australia and it can readily be seen that a keen and able ringer and conductor who was able to liase uith towers and move around couid soon build up a very strong change ringing area in the States. The bells are certainly there!

The information gleaned from the African continent indicates a general spreading of the Art especially in lowers from which nothing has been heard for some time or where no band/ringable peal was thought to exist.

REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

Grahamstown Cath. ( $8-25 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. by Warner 1878). Quite regular Sunday and practice ringing here by mainly University students, Unfortunately there is no instructor so ringing is a matter of trial and error, although plain hunting on seven has been reached. The nearest tower is Durban, 350 miles. Handbells from Queenstown also used, which church incidentally has the treble and tenor ( 26 cwt . in D) of an unfulfilled octave by Taylors' (1922).

Woodstock, C.P. (8-11 CWI. Barwell, 1901 ). Is the well-known South African ringing centre having had three peals and 52 quarters recorded so far. Although Grahamstown ( 425 miles) is the nearest tower this keen band accomplished $720^{\circ}$ 's and a quarter last year, as well as celebrating the 60th anniversary of change ringing in the continent.
Durban. Two towers - Greyville (10-181 cwt. Taylor's. 1919) and St. Paul's (8-14 cwt. Taylor's, 1920) are rung as often as possible and strong efforts are being made to man both these towers.
Good news for South Africa is the new Whitechapel ring for St. George's Cathedral, Cape Town ( $10-26 \mathrm{cw}()$. The hells have already been cast and are on their way for installation.

SOUTHERN RHODESIA

Yet another littie ringing community set in 'splendid isolation,' a further 850 miles from Durban. Salisbury, ( $10-24 \frac{3}{2}$ cwt. by Mears and Stainbank, 1958) is the main centre and stands nearly 5.000 ft . above sea level! Ringing improving all the time and the band meers on Sundays and at practice for Grandsire and Plain Bob. We hear that handbells are taught at Riverside Anglican Mission, Bulawayo, by Rev. P. Cole, who has a set of 12
Que Que. A 1962 ringahle four with frames for two trehles. has a young hand with eventual hopes of making the ring into six.

KENYA

Rounds off Africa and the light four ( $2 \ddagger$ cwt. in E. Faylors. 1961) at Kilifi are at least a start in these parts. Again provision is made for two trebles and meanwhile the bells are heard for Sunday matins and practices.

At Cuduesdon Theological College. Oxford, three overseas students were taught to ring during 1963: Rev. D. Williams. of Calhfornia, Rev. C. Gregorowski. of Cape Town, Rev. D. Low, anotner South African, now at Copnor, Hazts.
The Convener would be pleased to hear of any comments. or items of news pertaining to ringing outside Britain, and if these could be communicated to his private address (8, Lansdowne Road, lpswich) they will be summarised and published in The Ringing World at a later date.

A. VICTOR SHEPPARD.

Mr. G. W. Pipe moved the adoption of he report. He said the 12 for Melbourne the report. He said the 12 for Melbourne were leaving England in the next few weeks. They had becn completely renovated in an iron frame at Loughborough. The Bendigo octave had been recast at Whitechapel and were leaving in a short time and the new 10 for Cape Town were at Whitechapel and would be going shortly.
Mr. V. Sheppard, seconding, said he had heard that Salisbury. Southern Rhodesia. would be receiving shortly a very competent ringer for two years-he referred to Mr. Frank Blagrove.
Mr. Frederick Sharpe said he did not propose to give a detailed account of his experiences in America, as they were printed in The Ringing World He would like to thank especially the president of the American Guild of English Handhell Ringers (Dr. Robert Hieher) ind Mr. James Lawson. carillonneur of Riverside Church. New York and editor of Overtones': they were all handbell ringers and rang for church services. They While he was in America he had the pleasure and privilege of giving lectures on elementary change ringers in groups.
He had on several occasions just over 300 tesnagers all eager to learn. One lecture was planned for one hour; it lasted three hours.

Mr. G. W. Pipe was called upon to describe the recent visit to Washington which he called. That was the week that was. The outstanding thing from their point of view, he said. was the actual reception and enthusiasm they got. They expected them to turn up as beefeaters: all they had were bellringers' ties!

As to Washington. it is the sort of city you ought to visit. The Cathedral is a magnihave brought with me a collection of presentation books of Washington that will enable you to see what it is like.

The bells are a first-class ring in every way. and the belfry is something to be seen to be helieved. Apart from the elevators that lake you up there can you imagine a belfry with three complete lounge suites, and furniture and fittings in ecclesiastical colours-in brown. olive green and in gold. Imagine 200 people or so there and you can still drive a bus round!

- The main reason for going was first for the dedication of the bells for the American people. Imagine the situation. . We have bells. we want ringers, we get them out "! Apart from the dedication on Ascension Day. we were able to do a lot of teaching. The actual teaching was handled by Mr. Chaddock and Mr. Moreton. They did a splendid job in every respect, and the other eight of us assisted. The result of the week was that $25-30$ people were taught and on Friday one of the pupils rang a 720 of Bot Minor on the treble.

The actual dedication day was something I shall never forget: it started at 7 and services were outside with temperatures about 80 and 90 degrees and thousands of people milling 90 degrees and thousands of people milling around. The climax came when we rang a quarter of Stedman Caters with 200 people in the belfry at the time, the Press coming and going and cameras clicking. John Chilcott did a magnificent job indced the whole Farty behaved splendidly. We felt we were a representative band for England in the cause of change ringing.
want to express special and heartfelt thanks to our friend Doug Hughes. He did a lot of arranging and he has taken a recording of the peal which is going to be played at the reception and you can then judge the quality of the peal. We had a chance to ring a peal on the Saturday. perhaps not in the fittest condition as over 10,000 people were fittest condition as over 10,000 people were listening to it on the lawns outside. I want to pay a tribute to John Chilcott: he was Master for the week. cool and had everybody in a happy frame. Think of conducting a peal and a quarter under such circumstances! day and fly to Groton at Russell Young's invitation. Here we rang a peal of Cambridge Royal. Earlier in tre week a peal of Plain Bob Major was rung in hand. We have introduced the art of change ringing and we hode it is firmly established in America.?

Mr. H. L. Roder (hon. member): When I saw the report of the Overseas Committee I felt I must congratulate Mr. Pipe. I would felt I must congratulate Mr . Pipe. I would also like to congratulat the Washington visit.

The hon. secretary: At tine same time as we vote on the report. there is a rather mundane matter. to agree to the terms of reference of the Overseas Committee. The Standing Committee recommend these terms : "To keep in touch with and report to the Council on all activities of ringing outside the British Isles and to furnish information when though: desirable and to establish contacts with overscas visitors.
The report and recommendation were adonted.

LITTLE SUPPORT FOR CONTROL OF NAMES

The Council then proceeded to consider the two motions in the names of Mr. D. A. Bayles and Mr. K. Arthur:
(a) That this Council shall no longer recognise as regular any even-bell method which has four places made between successive rows on more than one occasion in the half-lead.
(b) That this Council investigate and report on the possibilities of systematic nomenclature for methods.
Dealing with (b) first, Mr. Bayles said there had developed a habit of names being longer than the place nctation. Let them be as simple as possible. Most methods rung for the first time would not be rung much in the future. He felt that Hudson and McClelland showed one way of dealing with it. He moved para. (b) and Mr. K. Arthur seconded.
Mr. W. E. Critchley (Yorkshire Association) asked Mr. Bayles to qualify, as he did not understand what was meant by the 'systematic nomenclature
Mr. Bayles: If a person gets the figures of a new method, how did he know it had not been rung before? Surely there must he some method of arranging them. They had a comprehensive list produced by a commuter which showed all right-placed methods. When a thing was rung they could give it the name or number relating to it in the list.
Mr. C. K. Lewis: This will only he solved when the book of the methods of Surprise Major rung is published in the near future. If you want to kill ringing it is to ring methoil 100 and composition 99 . In five years timic the Exercise would then be as dead as mutton
Mr. K. Arthur in a speech showed how ridiculous many names were. In the 17 th and 18th century they had such names as Ham Jreble Bob, Blunderbuss, Whirligig and Both Sides. They Jack of Both Sides. They have now such names as Ob and Llanfihangel-Rhydeithon and were threatened with parsnips and beetron!. If this went on in the same breath as Doub'e Norwich Court Boh Major they would have Beatles" names. Could they imagine "Yeah, Yeah, Yeah Surprise '?
Mr. R. B. Morris said years ago his Association rang a new method and called it Oswestry. He would not like that to ne called by another name
Mr. W. G. Wilson (London County Association) said the only thing that made the motion necessary was if Mr. Arthur's examoles were taken up by Mr. Warwick. If they were not, then the motion was not necessary.

Mr. John R. Mayne: We have a great heritage and we ought to do our best to pass it on. I do not think this nomenclature system fits the bill. I think this Council should invent and select proder names. I remember years ago the Rev. John Scott said he derived great oleasure from such names as Whirligig. I would be prepared to consider a reclassification of names but if there is any doubt I think it is best to leave it alone.
The Rev. John Scott said it would be unthinkable to change names that had been in existence for centuries. Names like Oswestry rung for a snecial occasion should certainlv be retained. His oninion was whether a peal was called Whirlieig. Oh or another name. they should not try to stop them. Many of thece peals were not worth ringing.
Eventuallv Mr. Jnhn Freeman moved that the Council proceed with the next husiness. which was seconded by Mr. W. E. Critchley and carried. A nrevious aflemnt this nrocedure was ruled out of order by the nresident as the mover coupled it with a sneech.
Mr. Bayles then submitted motion (a). He said unfortunately under this motion Camhridge would become an irregular methor It was in order on 6 and 8 bells but 10 and i2 hells would be ruled nut. He would like to restrict the motion to 6 and 8 bells.

Mr. K. Arthur seconded.
Mr. W. F. Moreton said he was in svmpathy with a good deal of what had bren said. This motion would affect many peals which were printed in the enllemtion.

Mr. Nromin Chaddank cairl lie was in svmrothe with Mr Ravies' ids if it what was gont tacte. They rould indirnte those of years ago that provoked long disMr. Cussions,
Mr. C. K Lewis also contended that it was far better to rely on what was good taste than to legislate. Legislation led people to find ways round it.

Mr. R. S. Anderson moved as an amendment that it be referred to the Methods Committee for consideration and report

Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded.
Mr. P. A. Corby felt this was only a manouvre to pass it on to others. We had a debate some years ago like this in regard to Bob Triples.'

The amendment found 21 supporters but was heavily defeated.
After further discussion Mr. Corby moved that the question be now put and the motion was defeated.

THE RECEPTION

A reception followed in the Town Hatl antexe, where, the members of the Council. their wives and lady friends were received by the Mayor and Mayoress and the Lurd Bishop of the Diocese. A Cornish tea was provided, which insluded hot Cornish pasties-a delicacy appreciated by visitors from a distance. The generosity of the Truro Diocesan Guild and therr ladies and also the Mayor and Mayoress and the Lord Bishop for receiving the company was fittingly expressed by the president.
In the evening in the Red Lion Hotel the tisual soctal was held. An added attraction was the playing of a recording by Mr. Douglas Hughes of the Washington deal. As on many previous occasions, Canon Felstead and the Kev. John Scott were prominent in the entertainment. Topical verse appropriate to the Council meeting was given by the Rev. John Scott. (See front page.)

MASHONALAND DIOCESAN GUILD

At the annual meeting of the Guild held in the bell tower in Salisbury on May 6th, the Master (Mr. H. P. Raynor) reported that progress had been rather sporadic: irregular attendance by members (often unavoidahle) and the departure of many of the most useful ringers had been the chief difficulties. In particular. the tower captain (Mr. F. Wilson) had been dogged by ill-health and unable to ring for nearly a year, Dr. Gibbs migrated to Australia at Christmas, and the tragic death of the enthusiastic steeplekeeper. Chris Head, had left a gap which had not been filled.
Scrvice ringing, chiefly rounds and call changes, had been maintained by a faithful few, and run very competently by Miss Pellatt (deputy tower captain) and Mr. K. Cross (hon. secretary), the latter bearing the brunt of teaching new ringers.

The most notable event of the year had been the hanging of a ring of four bells at St . Lukc's, Que Que ( 140 miles from Salisbury). Four members from Salisbury went there for the dedication in October. Since then Mr. Berrington, who played a major part in the establishment of ringing in Salisbury, had trained a band there. travelling 70 miles to practices. Rounds were rung regularly for Sunday service.
As Que Que is in the Diocese of Matabele. land. Mr. Raynor proposed that a provincial guild should be formed and this was agreed in principle. Mr. Raynor regretted that he had to returr to full time farming and declined to stand for re-clection as Master. His successor is Mr. J.R. Milford, also from Marandellas. Other officers were re-elected.
The Guild has 18 ringers made up of seven regular ringers in Salisbury. two who could be regulars. one recruit, six visitors from 50 miles away or further iwo boys from Peterhouse School. The chief hope for real expansion and progress is that an enthusiastic expert from England may be persuaded to work in Salisbury for a year or so: negotia. tions with such a person are still in pregress

Place Notation

Dear Editor,-I was recently asked to try and explain this system of recording a method. This caused me to look more critically at the specimens appearing week ly we $2 k$ in "The Ringing World.' Having done so I was surprised, as I believe may be others. by the variations in the way they are set out. I thought I would write about it, not from any passion for uniformity, but on the basis that the system is designed to convey information precisely. If it does not do so. and can confuse the inexnert reader. then it fails.
May I give a few examples, all taken from recent reports:
(1). There are two symbols in use to denote a change at which no place is made. viz. a dash ' - and a cross ' $x$.' The former is more quickly written, the latter more nearly conveys what is going on. May we have one or the other. but not both? I favour
(2). There would seem to be confusion in denoting what happens at the end of the lead; Different methods are reported in which I.h. and 'l.e.: are used for exactly the same meaning. Surely only one can be correct. I would have thought that 'l.e.' should have it.
(3). In my paragraph (2) I have used '1.e." and ' $1 . \mathrm{h}$. but often in 'the R.W. one sees 'L.E.' and 'L.H.' Typography is your privilege, sir, but would you consider sticking to one or the other? I am a firm believer in lower case always unless there is an overwhelming case for a capital.
(4). I am sorry to say that you have occasionally accompanied abbreviation with an apostrophe indicating the plural. e.g. "F.C.E's. If there are two false ends. is the ' $s$ ' really essential ? From the appearance of two sets of figures it would be clear that there were indeed two-and again, may it be 'f.c.e.'?
(5). Included in the information given sometimes is-l.c. (or L.E.) 1426.' sometimes 'l.e. 2nds place, and sometimes : 4ths place bob. As I see it the first two pieces of information are repetitious; if the information ' 1426 . or ' $1573^{\circ}$ is given then there is no need to specify that 2 nus place or any other is to be made when the treble is leading. So far as bobs are concerned could the convention not he accepted that, unless specified otherwise. 4ths place is understood?

I am sorry to appear pedantic, but as I said carlier if we are to use this convenient shorthand. let it be precise and as pricf as is consistent with clarity. It may be that the standardisation is a job for the Central Council. If so I have a year to wait. hut would you not. sir, in the meantime give a clear lead to your contributors, and instruction 10 your compositors.-Yours sincerely,

DAVID GULLICK.

Method Name

Dear Sir-i he peal of Surprise Major rung at Godmanchester on April 25th. which ad. pears in your issue of May 15 th (page 331). is wrongly named. In accordance with the advice of the Methods Cemmitte. published in the issue of January 17th. 1964 . page 36. and ratified by the Central Councll at Truro. the name for this method is Westray. Which is the name given when it was first rung in a pea! of soliced at Ashover. Dertyshire. on July 13 ih. 1963 . - Yours faithfully.

In and Out of Course

Dear Sir.-I have discovered a method of determining whether or not a row is in or out of course. It may have appeared in print before, but it is so simple that it is worth reneating.
the method is this: In the row in question, for each bell count the number of bells below it which in rounds, would be above. The total number of 'above ' bells 'below' is the same as the number of single changes necessary to reach rounds. An example: 24163857.

Two has no hells below it. 4 has one. but this is below it in rounds, so it is not counted. One has two bells below it that are above it in rounds. total so far two. Six has no 'above" bells helow. but 3 has 4 and 6 below it, total so far four. Tenor can never have any above, bells and can always be ignored. Five has 8 and 6 below, total so far six: 7 has 8 below. grand total seven. Seven single changes are necessary to produce 24163857 from rounds. The row is out, of course.
I believe that this method is more convenient than any other, it can be done mentally, $\rightarrow$ Yours faithfully. JOHN DAVID. Guernsey.

Surprise Major Collection

Dear Sir.-My article on 'Publications and the Central Council was written because of correspondence. over various names, in "The Ringing World. It took no account of matters which were not public knowledge or known to me. If. therefore, any injustice was done. as Mr. Goodfellow thinks. 10 Mr . Maurice Hodgson it was clearly not intended.
All authors are impatient for puhlicationmost of them wait many years, often in vain. In this case time has heen spent on the consideration of nutlication by the Middlesex Association and if this had come about the Exercise would have congratulated its members. Then more time has passed while that Association passed the matter on to the Central Council. Of course a whole year has Central Council. Of course a whole year has elapsed and more time will also pass. No committee of the Council can spend the Council's money (our money) without authority and that authority should not be given without an estimate of cost and an indication of need. The lower the demand the greater the pronortionate cost.

Then there are the mechanical considerations. The Middlesex Association will doubtloss be as pleased to persuade the Central Council to undertake the tasks of stocking. advertising. selling. nacking, posting, accounting. etc., as Mr. Hodgson would have been if the Middlesex Association had undertaken all this. I am sure that if Mr and Mrs.
Sneed could or would. Dut a price on their Herculean labours in disposing in 1963 of. inter alia. two thousand copies of the Beginners' Handbook. it would far outweigh the cost of publication. If it is suggested that the number of conies would be rearer 20 or 200 a year than 2.010. then it may be that the question whether the demand is great enough to justify using the Council's limited resources of money and latour will need even more careful consideration.
As it have tried to say before, any ringer who is prevared not only to find the cash hut also thie labour can publish what he wishes. But if he wants someone else to pay reven part). to stand the financial risk. and to undertake all the work and incid:ntal expenditure. then he will need to he both persuasive and patient

Judging Striking Contests

Dear Sir.-I too. share the amazement of Mr. Cooper in that Mr. Carlisle and myself were able to agree on the result of the Atchdeaconry of Staffs striking contest held at Bushbury. Despite the fact that the probability of three judges agreeing exactly on the placings of the seven teams is less than one in 125.000.000, c.00 we did just that. The main point of Mr. Cooper's letter, however, related to the small number of faults which were awarded to the winning team.
I believe there are two basic rules which must be obeyed when judging a contest and althoug') they are obvious they are often not emohasised enough:
Rule 1.-Each row must be noted and marked individually, and all rows must be marked to the same standard.
Rule 2.-The standard of marking must be maintained constant for all the teams competing. This is not easy because there is a natural tendency to mark good teams severely and poor teams leniently-simply because the time available to assess and mark each change is verv limited.

However, this pitfall is not so serious in its tesult as the tendency gradually to alter one's standard of marking as the competítion progresses, either because one becomes more practised or as concentration wavers. If there is more than one judge, it is inevitable that even if they are using the same system of marking. they will differ in what constitutes a fault or part of a fault. Any tendency to try and make the marks agree more closely as the contest proceeds must be firmly resisted and, although this means that marks awarded hy each judge to individual teams will differ. the marks should be comparative and the iudges should agree on the order of merit. This is what happened at Bushbury, where. although one of the judges differed by a factor of two in his markings from the other two judges, we were unanimous in the order of merit.
I believe that the most important aspect of judging is to place all the teams (I repeat all the teams) and not just the winners. in the correct order of performance. Thus where there is more than one judre notice should be taken of each judges placings of the teams in preference to his marking. Of course, when it comes to announcing the result and the number of faults have to be quoted. an average f:om all the judges must be taken. However. a straight average is not good enough: a - we:ghted average which illuminates the effects of different standards of assessment must bc used.
You will probably have gathered from what I have written that the actual system of marking is of secondary importance to that of maintaining consistency, and this is so. For the record. all the judges at Bushbury used the same system of marking which had as a basis a maximum of one fault per row. Slight imperfections and slips constituted a $\frac{1}{5}$ or $\frac{1}{1}$ fault, whereas a definite clash constituted a full fault. I know other persons use other system; where multiple faults are possible in each row. This probably accounts for the fact that the excellent striking contest tands, such as Warsob. have on occasion scored a large number of faults with well nigh perfect ringing. whereas on other occasions with a different judge and a poorer performance they have scored far fewer faults.
As striking contests are tecoming more and more popular it is imperative that more ringers he prenared to do the judging. I hope that no one will be deterred from trying on th: prounds that they do not know how to assess faults and are afraid of marking 100 few. lours sincerely.

ST. MARY'S BASILICA, SYDNEY
Ftatured in the May issue of Ringing Towers' is an article on the famous Roman Catholic Cathedral of St. Mary's Basilica Sydney. Graphically the writer gives this impressive introduction :

It is very pleasant to stroll across Sydney's Hyde Park. enjoying the relative quiet, looking at the trees, duaging the spray from the fountain of the breeze is surring and all the tume sce.ng the massive shape of st. Mary's Basuica looming larger. Une trien nips across the road and round the great buttresses wish the enjoyable anticipation of some interesting ringing on good beils. The only cloud on the hurizon is the thought of ascend.ng the 111 stone stars of som=what uneven height, but having spiralled successfully upwards and stepped out on to the slanting catwalk that leads to the central tower and the bells, one's breath can be agreeably recovered gazing at the beauty of a large part of the haroour spread out below. Everything is on a larg: scale and seems to have been there since Governor Ph:llips' time.'

There have been two rings of bells at St. Marys; the first eight, witn a tenor nearly 30 cwt., was tirst rung on New Year's Day, 1844, and destroyed by tire in 1865. Ine piesent bells, from the Whitechapel roundry, were presented in 1882. They are a ring of eight, with a tenor weighing $25 \ddagger$ cwt.

Lauric Curran captains the present band and other ringers include Tom Goodyer, the tower's extremely able conductor, n!s wife Margaret, John Cummins, John Snechy, Ted and Neil Fowell, Wendy Nichols, Audrey Peters, Willie Waison, Enid Koberts. Gracme Langshaw, Frank Cormack and Jenny Rees.

This is a good number of Ringing Towers, with Edgar Shepnerd writing Daobling in Doubles. very useful for young bands, and an editorial on call changes. George W. Pipe writes of Melbourne bells at Loughborough and Philip Gray on "The Beg nner. There is also a correction to trie list of first 100 Australian peals. A peal of Grandsire Doubles that appeared in "I he Ringing World as hav ing been rung at Holy irmity, Hobart, on September 9 th, 1944. is withdrawn. The peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Peter's Cathedral Adelaide, on February 20th, 1963. conducted by Enid Roberts, becomes the 100 th peal rung in Australia.

BELLS' TRIUMPHAL ENTRY. - Arrangements are being made for a triumphal entry into Southampion on May Day of the new ring of eight bells for St. Mary's, the mother church of the horough. The bells have been given by Miss Wingrove, and at half-past five in the morning of May Day will be taken from the Dock Station and placed on eight cars, for a triumphal march through the town. At the boundary of the parish they will be met by the clergy and choir. who with special hymns of thanksgiving. will lead them to the church. Each car will carry, in addition to the bell, four parishioners, to represent the 'seven ages of man." The bells have been cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., at have been cast by Messrs.
the Loughborough Foundry.

Winners of the Ipplepen Dcanery ringing festival at Upton (Torquay) were the followmembers of Upton Parish Church: Messis. N. J. Roberts (holding the Searley Shield, captain), W. Hancock, B. E. Bardett, W. G. Brewer, A. R. G. Wotion and H. M. Hilt. The test was the usual peal, 'sixty-on-Thirds; (call changes), rung in not longer than 20 minutes and not elss than 15 , including rise and lower. Six teans competed and Upton beat their near rivals, King's herswell, by $5 \frac{1}{2}$ points. Each of these teans has now won the shicld six times.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The May mceting of the Excter Branch was held at Bramptord Sineke, with Mr. F. Wreford in the chair. A lively discussion ensued concerning instruction and it was suggested that each tower in the District should be visited in lurn by members from other towers to give instruction to those not so far advanced. New. ton St. Cyres was chosen for the next meeting. A sérvice was taken by the Vicar. Canon Lucas, who gave an interesting talk about the local bells, which had recently been overhauled. Brampford ringers supplied tea.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

History was made by the Monmouth Branch when they visited for the first time the tiny church of Llangattock-Vibon-Avel, which is hidden amongst the trees and two fields away from the road.

Tine lively young Vicar. the Rev. D. G Cooling. was early at the church to welcome the visitors. The six bells were rung to a variety of methods varying from rounds to Surprise
The service was conducted by the Vicar. and the organist was Mrs. Millar. Mr. David Pike thanked the wives of the Llangattock ringers, who had so kindly prepared tea at the Hendre Hall.

Three new members were elected from Llangattock-Vibon-Avel, the first ever from that tower to join the Association. New members were also elected from Rumney and Machen.

Mr. Jack James, Master, thanked the Vicar for his warm welcome and interest in the Branch.
Next meeting: Bassaleg on July 1lth

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK SHERATON

And though men be so strong that they come to four score years: yet is their strength then but labour and sorrow. Frederick Sheraton belied these words of the psalmist as he retained his faculties to a remarkable degree and was active until he died suddenty on his way to a cricket match on May 22nd.
Born in Chester-le-Street on September 3rd 1879 , he spent all but eight or nine years of his life in the town. He was a founder member of the golf eluh and of the first operatic society. a special constable and a member of the Fire Brigade. In this last he hecame vicecaptain and a clock was presented to him to record his long service to the Brigade. But. above all, he had a life-long interest in bells.
Fred joined his older brother, William, in the belfry at Chester-le-Street and it was William who conducted his first peal in 1897 for Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee. This is recorded on a peal board in the ringing chamber at Chester-le-Street and this board as well as the others is surmounted by some of Fred's carving. Some of his carving is also to be found in the church itself. He rang faithfully at Chester-le-Street, except for the years when he was living at Humshaugh and until he found difficulty in climbing the stairs during the last few months. He had held office as cantain and secretary at various times. He joined the Durham and Newcastle Association in 1892 and was for many years vice-president of the Western District, and last year he was among those honoured with life membership under the new rule. He rang 38 peals
He was one of the deputation formed by the local ringers to obtain donations for the two tretiles to complete the octave which were added in 1908. Shortly afterwards Sir Lindsay Wood undertook the rehanging of the eight in the present frame. Many ringers can testify to the excellence of that job in 1911. A joiner by trade, most of his working life was spent in the employ of Sir Lindsay and Sir Arthur Wood in Chester-le-Strect.
Fred's wife predeceased him by six years and they just failed to reach their golden wedding. He leaves a daughter (Mrs. Brown) to whom and her family we express sympathy.

APPRECIATION

I knew Fred only from about 1947 but we became close friends. There are several examples of joinery in this house where a young amateur benefited from the advice of skilled professional.
1 arranged peals for his 70th, 75th and 80 th birthdays and I planned another one in this series for September, 1964. Last year the visit of Iom Lock's touring band produced a peal by coincidence on his 84 th birthday and he enjoyed listening to some of this and chatting over tea to some of the other ringers.
He died suddenly after a life that had been almost entirely free from illness and in which he hardly knew what aches and pains were. He was thankful for his own good health but not unmindful of those less fortunate and he did much visiting of recent years.
At his own request he was cremated privately and his fellow ringers respected his wish. They sent a wreath and on the evening of the funeral eight of the local band rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled

William and Frederick Sheraton's service covers the period of change ringing in Chester. le-Street. the original six heing installed in 1883. They helped to build up a tradition of regular ringing from which we benefit today and they have left us a high standard of service for which we give thanks.

A HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY

Many ringers of the other generation who have visited the Sittingbourne area will remember Mrs. Mary A. Dobbie, who celebrated her 100th bitthday on May 26th. Wife of the late Walter Dobbie (a ringer) and mother of four ringing sons. Stanley B., Clarence H. and the late Ernest J. and Alexander Dobbie, she has entertained many ringers at her home.
In honour of the event a quarter peal of 1.296 Cambridge Minor was rung at the Church of IIoly Trinity. Milton Regis, where she was churchwarden for many years, by: George A. Taylor 1. Doris G. Dobbie (granddaughter) 2, Sheila M. Dobbie (granddaushter-in-law) 3. Clarence H. Dobbie (son) 4, Stanley B. Dobbie (son) 5. Walter H. Dobbic (grandson. cond.) 6.
Mrs. Dobbie. still hale and hearty, listened for part of the time to the ringing from the churchyard.
Among Mrs. Dobbie's visitors during the day were representatives of the church. the local council and the St. John Ambulance Brigade (Sittingbourne Division), which she helped to establish 40 years ago and served for many years as lady superintendent, retiring at 90 years of age. In 1929 she was made a Serving Sister of the Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem

Mansfield District

The Mansficld District eliminating contest for the Crawford Cup took place at Edwinstowe on May 23rd, following tea and a short business meeting in the Church Hall.

The bells, a rather light ring, with a fairly long draught, contrasted strikingly with the heavy going six at Mansfield Woodhouse, used during the afternoon. There were only two entrants and with several new faces in their team Warsop won easily, ringing 360 Norwich Surprise, with 26 faults. The second team. Greasley. incurred 66 faults. The judges were Messrs. D. Cooper and H. Poyner.
Ringing continued until 8 p.m., when Compline. conducted by the Rev. W. Pickles, rounded off a very pleasant day.

CHILTERN CAPERS

The first-ever Barton-le-Cley, Beds. ringers ${ }^{\circ}$ outing began well on the fine six bells at Amersham. and continued somewhat tardily on the eight at 'Our Man at St. Mark's, Denham.
Members were delighted to be joined by two locals in a course of Kent at Chalfont St. Peter. (Why no reply to four letters from Chalfont St. Giles?) The majestic eight at Beaconsfield followed, then a hurriedly arranged strictly bread-and-jam-and-cakes only tea in a town surprisingly lacking in catering facilities. While still at full strength a plain course of Cambridge was achieved on the resonant six at Penn.

At Great Kimble. to everyone's consternation. the fifth remained stolidly stationary-no time to find out why. The final tower. Aston Clinton, was the best of the day. Fittingly. here was rung the best touch of the day. Double Court.
Well done, hon sec, Bob Ashby, Grateful thanks to incumbents and 'people with the keys.'

ASHBOCKING AND HENLEY, SUFFOLK

An enjoyable half-day was spent on May 9th as an outing for the young recruits at Ashbocking and Henley. Ringers from the Ipswich area made up the party and several methods as well as plenty of Plain Bob were rung.
The four towers visited were Grundisburgh, Saxmundham. Southwold and Blythburgh.
Judging by the lusty singing on the homeuard journey, a good time was had by all.
A.T.B.

DEVON GUILD

Special guest at a half-day outing of the Devon Guild on May 13 th was Mr. A. W Coles, of London. An hour and a half was spent at Buckfast Abbey, where the ringing finished with a well struck 378 of Grandsire Triples. After a tea at a local cafe ringing was enjoyed at Holne and Bickington. Before departing thanks were accorded to Mr. A L. Bennet; for making the arrangements.

BIGGLESWADE DISTRICT

Kent in apple-blossom time ! What a sight awaited the Biggleswade ringers when they visited that fertile and beautiful county on May 9th. Amid all this beauty we still found time for a little bell-ringing, and the excellent ring of eight at St. Nicholas', Sevenoaks, were put to good use. Next came Tonbridge, whefe lunch was taken before ringing at SS. Peter and Paul, another splendid eight.
Approaching Brenchley, the roads became less crowded as the scenery became more attractive, and the charm and peacefulness of Brenchley will not soon be forgotten (incidentally, we had the best ringing of the day here). At Goudhurst we found out what the words 'odd-struck , really mean! Nevertheless, an interesting hour was spent on this heavy eight. which made us appreciate the very adequate tea which followed.
The bells at the lovely and interesting church of St. Michael. Marden (8), were well rung which was just as well, as ringing at the last tower, West Malling, came to an abrupt end through the breaking of a rope.
Altogether. a quite memorable day, and everyone will join me in thanking Mr. L. H. Bywaters for his excellent organisation.
A. E. R.

KING'S LIYNN

Delays arising from the heavy traffic on Whit Monday caused the ringers of St . Margaret's, King's Lynn. and St. Faith's, Gayord. to miss Woburn and St. Peter's. Bedford.
Nevertheless. there was some enjoyabie ringing at Clifton. Bedfordshire, Old Warden, Husborne Crawley, Olney and Eaton Socon. Lunch was enjoyed in the grounds of Woburn Abbey, and on the homeward journey through the Fens a final stop for refreshments at March was appreciated.

STRATTON, CORNWALL

Stratton ringers had their usual Whit Monday outing and visited South Devan. Visitors from Kent and Oxford were included. At Newton St. Cyres they were met by ringers from Plymouth and Exeter and good ringing ensued. A stay had to be repaired at Exminster before ringing and another Kent ringer. Carole Sone, joined the darty at Dawlish. Lunch was at Teignmouth and was followed hy scoring Double Norwich and Siedman at St. Michael's Church.

Cambridge Minor was attempted at Bishopsteignton and Double Court brought round The evening ringing was at Chudleigh an: Chagford. A stop at Okehampion for refreshment brought a day of good bells, grand scenery and excellent company to an end.

BADSWORTH, YORKS.

A small party of ringers from Hemingbrough. Yorks. succeeded, after oiling and repairing three ropes, to get the four bells at Badsworth, near Pontefract, ringing again on May 23rd. The bells were rehung in an iron frame in 1916 and were last rung in 1945 for the end of the second world war. The tenor is 13 cwt. 24 lb . in E . The bells sound well and don't ring too badly.
G. F. J.

AXBRIDG: BRANCH

An early start. at 6.45 a.m., was made by nearly 70 members and friends of the Axbridge Branch of the Bith and Wells Association on May 9th for their outing to Devon. The first tower was Buckfast Abbey, where the bells enjoyed for an hour. After lunch at Paignton. the two coaches parted company-one visiting Paignton and Upton and the other Tor and Babbacombe. where the other coach rejoined Before tea those who had the energy explored Babbacombe and Oddicombe Bays. For evening ringing one coach went to Pinhoe and the other to Broadclyst. They met for a pleasant half-hour before the journey home. All who helped are thanked.

Miss Marie R. Cross informs us that she was not on honday in U.S.A. as stated is: this column. She had been given a sabbatical month by the local Education Authority to study American Primary Education and new trends in it. We are gratified to learn that it was not all work as she is listed with Miss Hilary Muirhead. the Rev. M. Melville and Mr. John Seager by Mr. George Pipe as having rung Washington Cathedral bells during the time of the visit of the English ringers.
The ringer of the seventh in the peal at Southover, Lewes (p. 361), was Ian V. J. Smith and not as printed.
When St. Aldate's, Oxford, had their first outing for several years on May 3uth, the organiser, Mr. Edward Venn, lost a pint sinking contest to a lady!
Mr. Frank Hilliar is thanked by the conductor of the peal at Oketord Fitzpaine, Dorset, for standing down to enable the Rev. K. N. Longridge to ring his first peal.

Mr. Wilfred Williams asks us to state that in regard to the peal of Surprise Royal at Truro published in our last issue there was not a second start. The bells were rung for rope adjustment only with rounds. Only one splice was required before ' Go ' was called.
For the benefit of visitors Mr. Charlie Sangwin, of Siratton, arranged a half-day tour of North Devon on May 23 rd. Towers visited were Great Torrington, Barnstaple. Bideford and Appledore, where Mr. G. J. Ladd was able to ring with the blind vicar of Westleigh, late of Kent and Northam.
Mr. W. E. Court and family will be home in England shortly from Canada. Writing from Vancouver he states he motored 1.450 miles to get there. In ringing at Holy Rosary, Vancouver, and Westminster Abhey, Mission City, he has completed his longest ever lower snatch. His regret is that time prevents him visiting Victoria Cathedral on Vancouver Island. The journey from Saskatchewan across the Rocky Mountains and Coastal Range is an experience not to be missed, he concludes.

Mr. Frank Price stayed a second week in America after Washington. Part of the time was spent at Peterborough, New Hampshire. where he has re!atives and his photograph appears on the front page of " the leterborough Transcript playing the console of the electre Lells. He gave iwo lectures on bells and ringing at Groton and while there a quarter of Stedman Doubles was rung.
The peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Stoney Stanton on May 22nd was the first ever to te rung by a Hinckley District band.
Ringing this year at St. Mary's Basilica, Sydney, includes quarters of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise Major.

With the peal of Bristol at Sherborne, which is, incidentaily, only the second in the method on the bells. Barrie Hendry completed his 100 th peal of Major on tower bells; the peal at Mells was his first peal of Lincolnshire as conductor.

A Dutch organisation. which is in:erested in forming and training a blind group of handbell ringers, would like to contact a similar group in Great Britain. Write: ' Bartemeus, Christelijk Institut voor Blinden en Slechtzienden, Utrechiseweg. 84, Zeist Holland. (Mr. B. C. Mante, Jr., Publicity Department.)

When the Society of Raving Ringers had an outing in North Bucks after leaving the last tower, Hanslope, one of the younger members was bet a pint he couldn't stand on his head. Of course he couldn't. Eut the rather older and portly gentleman who laid the bet was on his head within seconds to everybody's amusement. Shades of Father William!

The 90 th birthday of Mr. J. B. Hallifax, of Fleet. Lincs, who is a founder member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. was celebrated by special ringing at Fleet Church on May 25th. Mr . Hallifax himself conducted a touch, in which the combined ages of the band was 421 years. They were Mr . Chapman 1, C. Perkins 2, J. B. Hallifax 3, C. Brundall 4, G. R. Butler 5, H. Waltham 6.

TEN MEN WENT TO SOW

The Washington Story May 2nd - May 10th, 1964\section*{BY GEORGE W. PIPE}

$\mathrm{H}^{\mathbf{o w}}$OW those last few days of April seemed to drag as the exciting prospect of our trip to Washington drew tantalisingly near! And yet, it seemed, all at unce we were standing in London Airport on that memorable Saturday morning, May 2nd. Wives, children, parents and friends, cases, cabin bags, tickets and pass ports, cameras, handbells and magazines-and we in the midst of it all.

It was good to see Mrs. Pitstow, Marjorie Hill, Jil Staniforth, Eileen Chilcott, Sheila and Mrs. Price and their families, looking as thrilled as we were, and then Bill Coles' and Douglas Hughes' firm handshakes and a friendly push towards the terminal gateway to make sure we were getting to the plane on time!'

We finally taxied off at $11.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to the waves of the girls from the balcony Up and up into the clouds and beyond in what was to be our flying home for the next eight or nine hours. Peter fel a wee bit nervous but soon cheered up when he broke his no-smoking habit, and it wasn't long before we all relaxed and started to chat and take in our sur roundings. In fact, so charming were the hostesses that George Fearn immediately recalled some new methods they might try in Birmingham-38-24-36 perhaps! The flight was great fun, and with the northern and southern accents all around us we soon felt as if we were in the U.S.A.

Cruising at 35,000 feet over the Atlantic, we settled down to a good lunch of "Beef" man, and in no time seemed to be following the ice-bound coast of Labrador. Frank Price was given the chance of spending two hours 'up-front,' so, armed with our cameras, off we went. Curiously enough, ten minutes later the plane seemed to develop a tail wobble-perhaps a cross wind?

Bell Ties create interest

Customs were cleared at New Yorkthe officials seemed much more in terested in our bell ties than baggage, and after a chat to Harold Pitstow were quite happy to let us all through! Washington came into view at 4 p.m.-very soon we had our hosts and hostesses But if we tnought we would lightly skip down the gangway and walk across the tarmac-oh no! A voice cracked over the intercom: "Passengers will remain seated please while the mobil-lounge approaches the aircraft. This, ladies and gennelmen, is the latest carncept in pas senger transportation.' Fancy! Sure enough, a huge monster approached us that was literally a moving hotel lounge, enabling us to step right of the aircraft, straight into the airport buildings.

Whisked into the ultra-modern Dulles airport we were soon spotted by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dirksen and Rick, Mr. and Mrs. Tufts and then Mrs. Rockwood Foster. What a wonderful hostess in every way Margot Foster proved to be, and the success of the ensuing week was due in no small measure to her organisation and the delightful glimpses she gave us of life in Washington. And what a team of helpers she had built round her!

After driving out to our various homes for the week, we were then guests of the Dean, the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre, and Mrs. Sayre at a dinner party, together with our individual hosts. This was a most happy evening sp nt informally on the Deanery terraces and garden.

The Cathedral

Our first Sunday in Washington was a memorable one indeed Apart from the warm sunshine filtering through the tree-lined streets and showing off the massed azaleas, dogwoods and cottonwoods-reds, pinks, greens and whites of a hundred shades-we were able to have a good look at the Cathedral as we made our various ways for 11 o'clock Sung Eucharist. And what a truly magnificent sight it is! Out of the trees and gardens, on a natural hill some two or three hundred feet above the Potomac Valley and soaring in white stone to 301 feet stands what must be one of the very finest ecclesiastical achievements of all time

The ' Cloria in Excelsis' Tower, Washington Cathedral, from the S.W. (The belfry windows and gallery are immediately under the upper louvres.)

The architect, Philip H. Frohman, freely admits that Lincoln, Canterbury, Worcester, Wells and Gloucester gave birth to the vision and inspiration of this place-dedicated to SS. Peter and Paul, and quite literally for the ten of us it took our breath away.
Criticism of a Gothic style church in the 20th century has been silenced by Dean Sayre's crisp answer, 'Our cathedral must stand, not for 30 or 300 years but for 3,000 years, a symbol of Christianity and a tribute to the building perfection of the 14th century.' The ancient glory has been planted fresh and bold in the New World, and we might well say that God is praised in Washington by the fairest tower in Christendom.
Our seats in the south transept, looking towards the already famous Last Judgment rose window, enabled us to take a full part in the service and celebration. The Dean preached from John xvi. 23, and it was soon quite plain why this man, a grandson of Woodrow Wilson, has become known not only as such a notable theologian and orator but a friend of all mankind.

The First Ring

It seemed that a few hundred other people too were eagerly awaiting the opening touch, to take place immediately after the service. And so, accompanied by, it was estimated, nearly two hundred (and the belfry held them quite easily), we made our way by the two elevators up to the ringing room. Lifts do occasionally get stuck you know, but by detailing off the equivalent weight of five Staniforths and two Chilcotts, everybody made it as far as we know! It was hard to keep our enthusiasm and awe within bounds. because not only in 'things Cathedral ' no detail appeared to have been overlooked. And the belfry itself was no exception surely the most remarkable that had ever been seen. It is nearly 50 feet across, the ropes and mats in purple stand in a perfect circle on a raised rostrum, and the general décor is in cream and grey. Beyond the 48 spacious windows the view was really something. With the lift and staircase doors in one corner, this leaves the remaining three for furniture, and the belfry was in the process of being fitted out with wall-towall carpets and abundant leather upholstered chairs. With the polished wood tables and bookcase there was an almost living-room atmosphere. My photograph unfortunately doesn't do it justice). We were to live with this for three or four hours a day for the next week, so we got quite used it it, but as one visitor from Connecticut was heard to say, 'Man, that's some belfry-and I don't see no bats eether!'

Applause follows Touch

The first touch was a somewhat

 nerve-racking experience, but John Chilcott took everything quietly and organised us with a minimum of fuss. The three course of Stedman Caters went like clockwork, and the applause at the end was tremendous; the first time any of us remember being clapped after tower bells!A good lunch followed, given by Mrs. Norman Erb and Miss Alice Shurcliff, daughter of the famous handbell ringer, Mrs. Shurcliff, of Boston. These ladies had a downstairs room for their handbells, and some rousing numbers were rendered. Norman, himself an accomplished tune ringer in the English style, bit off a little more than he could chew by accepting a handful of bells for 'Crossing the Minch.' However a vigorous prod from one Francesca Curzon soon put him in tune!

Our first teaching period of two hours with tied bells took place in the afternoon, and it was very gratifying to see the response to the appeal for ringers and their enthusiasm. It was mainly handling and bell control, handbell tuition and some elementary theory.

The evening dinner party as guests of Edwin and Todd Dale was a huge success; good food and wine, plenty of laughs, handbell ringing and tunes with some of our new friends, 'plain hunting' by movement (it almost finished up like a barn dance). Then the talented Frank Price at the piano, after two nice pieces nonchalantly playing a course of L. Bob Maximus!

At School Monday morning

Our first school talk and demonstration came on Monday morning first thing at the Potomac School, Norman doing the job admirably. So well, in fact, that he (with Wilf assisting) became our principal lecturer for the week. These talks, generally one, sometimes two a day, followed a similar format, though of course the approach varied with the age groups. These were mostly ten to sixteen-year-o.ds. It rather amused us that every little demonstration was applauded, especially when their own classmaves were called on! Our three schoolmasters were shown round just to keep them in trim and to see if they were getting fair treatment back in England.

We were guests or honour at the National Music Week luncheon at International Inn, which included the appearance of the Metropolitan Opera House star Risé Stevens. A spiendid lunch, followed by the usual speeches. and then our first glimpse of Nancy Poore Tufts in action and her Potomac handbell ringers, in traditional costume. Both this and our own change ringing were well received, and people murmured about 'this new art form-gee!'

The second practice session, three hours, enabled us to formulate a plan for teaching for the remainder of the week. We were divided into four groups, headed by the two Yorkshiremen, and covered handling and bell control rounds and elementary cail changes, handbells and theory. These groups were quite flexible and in general worked extremely well. All we needed was time! The progress was most encouraging, bearing in m.nd that we only had a mere week, so we decided to follow this pattern.

The dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest May in their sumptuous home on 52 nd Terrace that evening will long be remembered. Everyone in gay mood, immensely keen it seemed on the Cathedral, its carillon and bells, chatting about times spent in England and Europe. John Freeman, beaming face behind horn-rimmed glasses as a group of attractive ladies plagued him with questions, and then roars of laughter as G.E.F. quite quietly turned to someone and said, 'I reckon they're making a mockery of ringing-bringing us to a slum like this!!’

Tuesday, T.V. and Tufts

On Tuesday we had to be at school at 8.30 a.m. sharp, handbells and all, and there we were able to w-lcome Doug. Hughes, who had flown in the previous afternoon. Douglas' preliminary arrangements and his very generous attitude towards our trip are much appreciated and we were glad that his business commitments had allowed him a few days off.
The gym of the National Cathedral Girls School was packed, and another lecture and handbell demonstration given. So appreciative were the audience, staff and girls alike, that before we left someone anonymously donated a set of twelve handbells for use at the school. Potomac, under their music master John Langstaff, have their own set, two or three octaves in fact. so we can expect some healthy public school bell and belle competition before the school Fall!

We were warned of the 'Radio and Telly Hounds' when we arrived, and although the week seemed plagued at times with reporters and cameras, it always had its amusing side. ihere was the case wien we had just lowered the Cathedral bells after practice, a photographer had somehow found the lift in the south transept and made his way to the belfry, insisting on a moving shot. We did our best to explain that we could only stand by the ropes, but, as he held up his box of tricks, Say, you guys, let's have a bit of ACTION!
But appear on T.V. we had to, no escaping it. The sincerity of the announcers churning out the ads. was really touching, but in spite of that Wayne D.rksen and Norman. with us backing up with some Bob Royal, made a good feature of it and got the message over to the public.

At Great Falls

Our visit to the Smithsonian Institute would need a supplem nt in itself, so vast is this galaxy of museums, galleries and exhibitions Nevertheless, we managed an interesting crosssection and enjoyed a good lunch. Although the programme said 'Free' for a couple of hours afterwards, the chance of a visit out to Great Falls, a series of rapids and waterfalls on the Potomac was too good to miss. especially in such perfect weather. Seeing Wil frid, Peter and Harry reclining in the deep

The Cathedral Belfry-in the process of being carpeted luxury of a Buick Electra 225 as we cruised up the rotomac Hig way-well these just didn' look like ringers at all!

The three-hour belfry session was beginning to get results, and already some of the better hand ers were ringing rounds on four. five and six, tied clappers, of course. Margot had per suaded her husband Adam-a good friend to us all that week-to learn, and with him Adam, jun. Although these were fairly long teaching spells, they went very quickly because there were always questions, activity, theory movement from one group to another at the half-way mark, and if one managed to get a breather, the sights from the belfry windows on all sides were so photogenic there was never a dull moment. Then with our own little kitchen in one corner of the belfry and Margot's tea and cookies, teaching in Wash ington was never a chore.

Late afternoon Bill Hughes flew into Dulles Airport from London, the twelfth and last of the English party and, as several of us hadn't had the pleasure of meeting him before, it was an especially pleasant occasion.

The evening dinner was something of a classic and had been eagerly awaited by us all! Mr. and Mrs. William O. Tufts had invited us and several other folk besides to their home in a most exquisite setting in Riverside Road several miles from the city centre, and on the wat-r's edge of the rieer. Nancy is an as onishingly vigorous lady, and we had a great time. Cocktails on the lawns amongst the azaleas and silver birches. lively conversation regaling with choice food from a groaning table and fruit punch from the cutest littls riental bowl you ever did see (must have been 2 ft . 6:n across).

The tables cleared and out came the hand-bells-six octaves and more, and we make no resitation in saying the American tune-ringing on the scale we saw it that evening is a most stirring experience. Handel's Largo from Rinaldi, and then accompanied by the viola l'amour, several glees and folk songs. The more enthusiastic we became so did they, until after a subtle change of mood by Nancy Poore Tufts. her husband Bill, managne quite adroitly until then, was heard to blurt out, Say, Nance, I just dunno where I'm s'posed o be!'
Some good songs by baritone Frank Abel ( The Keeper' and Purcell's 'Passing By'), and then our turn to round off the evening, which we did with a Bob course of Stedman Cinques.

The White House

The weather so far had been perfect and was to remain so for the whole week, so that traditional meeting topic was rarely discussed as we teamed up each morning, on parade at 8 a.m. usually! Everyone had looked forward to our hour or so at The White House, and we weren't disappointed. The more we saw of Washington the more we liked it. Despite its highly individualistic layout and character, its trees and parks, government buidings and Embassies, one could see glimpses of London, Canberra, Paris and Edinburgh at their very best.

Our time at the President's House was all too short, but enough to show us some of its treasures and the good taste and personal restoration under the rare of Jacqueline Kennedy.

Then a real glimpse of London as we crossed Pennsylvanıa Ave. into Lafayette Sq. to visit St. Johns. a delightful church in the transitional style of Colonial Georgian and Greek Revivalism. This is the 'Church of the Presidents,' since every President from James Madison onwards has attended occasional services here, and many, of whom Roosevelt was one, have been regular worshippers. Its 1822 bell was cast by Paul Revere, from a cannon used in the 1812 war and weighs about 9 cwt., the subject of much pride to Helen Griffith, who gave us such a nice hour or so's guide to St. John's.

Wednesday's lecture and demonstration, although in a perfect setting in one of the State Rooms in the British Embassy worried Norman a little on hearing that his pupils were only six years old instead of the usual 10-16, but the job was done admirably, much to the delight of the children, their governesses and the Embassy staff. And then the look of wonderment later turning to impish mirth when they heard tie story of Sir Walter Raleigh and the Muduy Yuade" in Snemeld Engush! The dark eyed Caroıne Kenneuy was in une group who looked so angenc; all situng cross legged on the noor on tue deep carpets, and waen they neara nat Harold caine Irom Westminster ne cuaiun t resist tue cries of 'uon!' and igrinwitn gave them a litule talk on the Abbey. - Now you nave all heard of the Uueen, haven't you!' 'Un, yes,' said one Dolaly, 'an' sne's the sanne age as my mummy!'

Into The Capitol

back into the cars aga.n and tuis time on Guvernment business, lunch, and a tour of lite Capiti. I ine approach to tuese build.ngs is really impressive, everyuming in snining white marbie and stone against a backaro of trees and garaens. Inere were peopee everywnere, and the large car park looked pacaed like sardines. A burly ofticer nalied our car-inere wasn't the shigatest chance of gctung in; an important debate or something. viargo not to be uutdone repuea: 'But, otticer these gennermen are ENULISH bellringers; here to dedicate Washington Cathedral bells. - Mam, he repleed, 1 appreciate that but those guys in there are makin' the law.' 'Yes ouncer, but these men are on the Central Cunncil-imagine that.' 'Ah, well, I guess you d better nip in that spot there and say nothin' Ihanks,' saıd our hostess, 'you're a pal!
A good lunch inside the buildings and then on to their own underground into the Capitol prop.r. We had glimpses of the Senate and House of Representatives in debate and a most interesting hour's tour. Standing under tue great Rotunda and gazing at the 300 ft . Brum.dı frieze dep.cting events in American history and seeing life-sized statues of its Presidents, it seemed hard to grasp that so much has been achieved by this country in the mere 175 years since George Washington's time.
we split up for tea held on the lawns of the houses of Mr. and Mrs. Hadsel and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Wentworth, and then to crown the day a three-hour teaching session from 7.30 to 10.30 p.m. We felt as if we were in the last three hours of the 40,320 , but at least we could have a cigarette and a sit down beforehand!

Ascension Day Dedication

Things seemed to come to a climax on Thursday and this glorious occasion will long be remembered by many thousands of people. From sunrise the Cathedral and gardens were massed with people bedecked in an infinite variety of colours, smiling and enthusiastic All services were to be held on the steps, in the Pilgrim's Way, and in the sunken gardens below the South Transept and something like 400 ft . below the pinnacles of the Gloria in Excelsis tower. The $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Festival Service of Holy Communion, with the dew still on the grass and all the freshness of an early summer morning, was something that made our hearts rejoice at belonging to the Chistian Church. Rev. Malcolm Melville joined us and quite near to us. we discovered atherwards. and rezeiving the Sacrament, the Roman Catholic Bishop-e'ect of the Dincese
Later on at 10.15 came a Festival Servic of Morning Prayer and just before this, on a balcony high outside the Transept, we heard Wayne Dirksen. in charge of the dedication arrangements, introduce Bill and Doug Hughes to the assembled throng and welcome the English ringers.
During the morning the first handbell peal in the U.S.A. was rung at the home of Mrs. John D. Phillipsborn. Helen Phillipsborn was a most charming host and 3.516 Lowell Street. N.W.. Was 'open house' for many of us during the week. Here are the details

We congratulated our colleagues on this actually the second peal ever rung in the states, the first being Grandsare Iriples on tower bells at Christ Church, Philadelphia, in 1850, conducted by Henry Haley.

Inen came the dedication of the Gloria in Eaceisis lower and a notable utterance by Mr. Earl Warren, the Chief Justice of the United states.
by $2 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the temperature was touching 90 degrees and yet sull tu.e peopie came, and oy Evensong time at 4 p.m. the British Ambassador, Lord Harlech, arrived. We were introduced to him and some of us were able to meet Robert F. Kenneoy, the Attorney Generai. And what a aeligns to meet some old British ringers! Jack Brothwells brother $\mathrm{Jim}(86)$ and George Willams (84), from Barry South Wales, wno used to ring with John W Jones and sull takes ' 1 tie Ring.ng World.'

The actual dedication of the bells took place at 5 p.m. iminediaiely toliowing Evensong, atter Kick Dirksen, Dougtas nughes and the Dean had participated in presenung a bellrope to the Bistop, the Rt. Rev. William F Creighton, D.D. We were escorted to the tower for a quarter peal of Siedman Caters and although Kick endeavoured to keep sightseers and p.otograpners to a minımum at least 200 were prosent in the beltry during the ringing.
It was a mixture of an ordeal and yet extreme delight that it made a lump come into our throats at the sight of the crowd. Jonn Chilcott had a big job to do in conducting but as we had come to expect of him, he did it splendidly. The applause at the end was deafening and the Lincoln John quite thougat it meant an initiation into the TOp Ten!

Did somebody say 'A glass of Bass?' Well it was there afterwards, in a private house near the Cathedral. Noth ng had been forgotten by Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey M. Wilson who were with it!
The remainder of Thursday gave us time o relax a bit. although we didn't feel like missing the Kiobey Memorial Carillon. This comprises 54 bells, each carrying an inscription from the Psalms, the bass bell weighing 24.000 Ibs. in the key of $E$ flat. These were cast by John Taylor and Co. and we felt it was very appropriate that both our founders were thus represented and offering the best of their skills to the New World.
Tine day was rounded off (officially) by the floodlighting of the Gloria in Excelsis tower and a festival concert including the singing of the 'Gloria,' from Bach's B Minor Mass

A late party at the Deanery and an even later one at "Helen's place' and that was us for another day.

George Washington's Home

Possibly the nicest trip of the week was out to Mt. Vernon. the plantation home and estate of George Washington, on Friday. We spent the whole morning there including lunch in the most pleasant estate in United America. on high ground, in a dry and healthy climate, 300 miles by water from the sea and on one of the finest rivers in the world.' Thus the first President wrote to a friend in England 150 years ago.
And a lovely spot it is $t 00$, carefully planned, lying in the folds of the hills above the Potomac, a part of Fa.rfax County in the State of Virginia. and originally 8.000 acres in extent. Everything has been preserved where possible, the Colonial-style mansion, its furniture, the lawns, terraces and gardens are there for all to see.

There were two schools on the agenda for the afternoon so we split up. Wilf took some of us to 'Friends' School whilst Norman and Co. visited John Eaton School. Both lectures and handbell demonstrations went off well, with something like 500 pupils present.

Call changes on the ten, some elementary hunting and polishing up handling styles were the main features of the three-hour practice session and this was rounded off by three leads of Treble Ten with Frank ringing 2-3.

At a Cabaret!

Our evening hosts for dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fearey, personal friends of the late John Foster Dulles. Another warm evening. exquisite food and drink. tunes and Grandsire Caters on the patio and nicely informal. But while our ten associates were thus loafing Frank and I had an appointment-- Mauri's Hideaway.

Picture the scene. A cabaret-restaurant in the Soho of Washington-a big ham of an interviewer and 'personality.' Steve Allison by name. whose speciality was finding people with unusital or controversial interests and then pulling them to pieces to the delight or otherwise of the audience.

We were warned about this fellow but were narticularly asked if we would participate both for the fun of it and the pablicity value it could give to the bells at the Cathedral. So it fell to the two youngest to go and do battle As Dean Sayre politely said afterwards: "What a jerk that man is !' But it all went off well and quite truthfully $w:$ enjoyed the experiencs of playing 'Steve' at his own game.
Saturday the last day in Washington and how that week had gone! The final threehour practice session from nine until noon achieved something which we'd hoped for but weren't quite sure if we would have the time. Rick Dirksen rang the treble to a 720

Plain Bub Minor and jolly wen we ana it too. Severat ot hae vuter duys nad hear tirst laste ol buo minur tuo and lue murning was rounded our oy rugarg wuat everyone feit hacy cuala manage under gumance. Il aso enaoled Jonn segar, rrom snemeta, to join Masa Cross, nuary Murnead and Mascolm Melvilie in naving a ring as uney had dunc waen ure chance had aisen during the week. We reasly worked nard that morning out now rewarding it all was.
Un behalf of us all and the Central Councıl, Norman Chaduock presented copies of the 'Ringers' Handbook' and a buund set of books as given to ineological Colleges to form a nucleus of their library. From Rotherham Parısn Church a finely bound red leather, embossed. 'Viggers book for quarter peals and visitors' names. He had also sent previously full sets of the now well known - Weekend Course ' literature of film strips, etc. Ricks' 720 enabled him to join the Yorkshire Association and thus a happy liaison has been formed.

One thing was in all our minds and that was if only someone were able to stay on, or move into Washington, for say six or 12 months to consolidate this week $s$ activities. But one never knows-it happened in Canada (Vancouver), South Africa, and Australia. If keenness is any criterion these boys will certainly keep the Art alive in the States

The Peal

The first peal on the bells and of Royal in America.
Although we probably didn't care to admit it there was a certain 'tenseness' in the air as the time for the peal attempt drew near. And even the most succulent barbecued chickens, served up for lunch on the lawns of one of the British Embassy officials, didn't quite dispel it.

We knew deep down that $3 \frac{1}{2}$ hours could bring public criticism. Only once before had a peal been heard on tower bells in the States and that was in 1850 at Philadelphia. It had to be of a high standard and what's more we had only this one chance. But somehow the sight of G.E.F. drinking 'Coke, thinking it was 'Ansells' and Harold tearing at a leg of chicken made us feel better. Nothing like a good lunch and then off to the Cathedral and jackets off, complete with the Hughes' tape recorder, the Dirkens and the Fosters. the last to wish us good luck. and a mere 92 degress temperature for good measure, we pulled off.
The music was lovely. everyone doing their very best and then at the turning course that little bit of extra effort to ensure that last 16 handstroke courses would be as good as we could make them. The record is:

The Peal at Groton

Boston was reacised some bit after 10 p.m.-nobody quite remembers when! 1 wo of the masters of Groton school met us and drove us the 40 miles out to the school. We were mighty tured but not too much to enjoy the beer and cheese supper laid on in the headmaster's study. Dr. and Mrs Crocker were thrilled that we had arranged to spend a day with taem througn an invitation by Kussell Young.

Some of us managed the 8 a.m. Holy Communion celebrated by Rev. Charles Sherrin and the quarter of a mile walk to the chapel across the lawns in the morn ing sun was well worth the effort.
Breakfast was taken with the headmaster and his wife and one or two of the senior boys who were ringers. 'How are you finding our American food, Mr. Parkes?' said the Doctor to Harry. 'Oh, it's fine,' said he, 'but darned hard to recognise sometimes!'
Nason Hamblin, their captain, welcomed us to the belfry for service ringing of Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Caters, organised by Frank Price, the boys taking part. There was time for a short bit of tuition and during the ringing of the peal about 10,000 people thronged the Cathedral Close and gardens. Doug's followers on the Transept roof alternately clapped and cried and their enthusiasm was simply staggering.

But that wasn't all-Oh, no! High tea, buffet style, was all arranged in the 'Overcroft'a large room in the apex of the South Transept. About 300 people were there, in the midst of them tables laden with food, surmounted by two of the biggest tubs of strawberries ever seen! Good to see those smiling faces again and Dean and Mrs. Sayre in the middle of them. Margot vowed it was the greatest and really everyone seemed overjoyed at the success of the peal.

Presentations

Time was running all too short and we had a plane to catch but first a very pleasant duty to perform. John Chilcott presented to Margot Foster (the hostess with the mostest), on behalf of all of us, a suitably inscribed book, and then another to the Dean of the Cathedral. which he said would grace the belfry's new library. To all of us came a presentation book of photographs of the Cathedral, autographed by the Cathedral staff and handed to us, one by one. by Dean Sayre.

So to the handshakes and the "au revoirs" and on to what was to be a bonus reallyan extra day in America to be spent at Groton School. We were to fly out from the National Airport at 8 p.m. for Boston, 500 odd miles away. There were so many 'thank you's' due. To Margot and Adam Foster, Dean and Mrs. Sayre, the Dirksens and the Tufts, all our respective hosts and hostesses who made us so very welcome and made their homes completely open for our week. The fine group of boys, 25 to 30 of them, who had come along to learn the Art and whom we had the pleasure of teaching during our stay. Then the people who gave us luncheon and dinner parties, the school principals. and last but not least that wonderful group of ladies who provided automobiles (with a capital A!) Mesdames Briggs: Larrabee, McLelland. Kling Cassidy, the inimitable Jackie Pendleton and the lovely Barbara Pittman. Where we wanted to go we just had to 'say the word.'

Washington D.C. looked a picture from the air and we sank back into those aircraft seats very tired, very happy, and with a 101 feelings and thoughts going through our minds.
then a good half course of Cambridge Roya to finish.
Full strength at matins and coinciding with Parents' Day too, the chapel was full.

Much to our dismay though, that great personality Russell Young, master and tutor of the ringers was ill in bed. We knew how disappointed he would be not being able to get up and have a ring with us. We could do no more than send our good wishes to him for a speedy recovery and trust that our ringing would meet with his approval.

A Good Peal

At the insistence of the Headmaster, Russell, the ringers and masters, we were to ring full peal in the afternoon before flying back to London. John therefore asked Frank as a tribute to his work with the Groton boys to call the peal and Cambridge Royal was decided on.

They are a bonny ten, 18 cwt . in F , the middle bells a wee bit indistinct (this is going to be rectified) and 'go' like tops. A good peal was scored much to everyone's satisfac tion and completed the trio for the week.

Our thanks were expressed to all the staff and boys of this fine school and John made another presentation of a book on English Cathedrals to the school. This had been an all too brief, but very enjoyable stopover and we ware glad to hear of plans for another Groton trip to England before long.

Would you all fasten your safety belts please.' said the hostess. 'and observe the no smoking signal.' Was it really nine days since we had crossed the Atlantic?

A BISHOP'S BELL INSPIRED VERSES

By the Rev. A. S. Roberts

IT was a happy thought to publish the carol 'The Cornish Bells' in 'The Ringing World ' just prior to the visit of the Central Council to Cornwall, and we should be grateful to Mrs. P. J. Staniforth for bringing it to light. The verses have been rightly attributed to the late Rt. Rev. C. W. Stubbs, fourth Bishop of Truro, by various correspondents. The carol, with others from time to time, was first published in the New York 'Outlook,' and all were set to music by the Bishop's son-in-law, the late Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist of York Minster. Twelve carols with music appeared in a publication called The Truro Carol Book in 1911.

Until the appointment a few years ago of the present Dean (the Very Rev. H. M. Lloyd) the Bishop of Truro had also filled the office of Dean. It was during Bishop Stubbs' reign that the two western towers and spires were built and the ring of ten bells installed. He carried out the great dedication service on June 21st. 1910. It is evident that bells appealed to him--as the bell carol alone signifies, but there are other verses written by the Bishop which I came across some years ago. These may be of special interest to those who so recently visited Truro, as well as to others.

The first little poem is headed ' Truro Cathedral. From the Terrace at Lis Escop.' This Lis Escop was, until about ten years ago, the Bishop's Palace, but it is now a part of the Cathedral School. It is adjoining Kenwyn Churchyard, from which an almost similar view can be had. Many will remember the lovely view through the archway of trees of the Cathedral with the River Fal beyond from Kenwyn Church. These lines make reference to the late Archbishop Benson, first Bishop of Truro, who laid the foundation stone of the Cathedral in 1880. They run:-
Oh look! the Minster towers are red with gold, With sunset gold, a shaft sped from afar
Through cleft in purple hills; above, one star,
The first of night, gleams o'er the waters cold,
Where Truro River seeks the sea; enrolled
In darkening mists the great church stands; a bar
Of light engilds its spire's high cross, and far The evening bell calls to the guarded fold.
And here he stood, the man who dreamt this dream,
And fired the heart of Cornwall with his thought
Three decades since. Today his dream is fact.
Father in God! I, too, redrean thy dream.
But God in mercy grant the mercy sought
That all thy dream I yet may see crowned fact.
A note by Bishop Stubbs with the verses says they were - Written during a perind of ennvalescence in 1910. Dedicated to the people of Cornwall.' It was in 1910 that King

George V was crowned, and for that occasion the new bells were rung, their lovely tones rising to the Terrace at Lis Escop, and the Bishop wrote these lines:-

CORONATION BELLS

Nursery Rhyme
The King and the Queen in a carriage of gold
Ride forth to be crowned in the Abbey so old:
Clash merrily, bells, with your ding-dong!
Archbishops and Bishops all kneel in a row.
The Lords and the Ladies make homage fuil low:
Hurrah for the King with his Crown on!
The trumpets they sound and the people do shout,
Oh that is the way that the thing comes about: Clash merrily, bells, with your ding-dong.
While you and I, baby, cry 'God bless the King '!
May God bless the King with his crown on!
There are some other fascinating little verses with an evident pun in the first verse. This time the inspiration is not from the new spires of the Cathedral but from the old grey tower' of Kenwyn Church just over the fence which divides it from Lis Escop.

> TO I. B. V.
> Aged 6 years

Is a bird singing,
Is a bell ringing,
lsobel Bessie?
Yes, in a leafy bower,
Yes, from the old grey tower,
Bird and bell, Bessie.

> Happy and holy,

True, sweet and lowly, Pray God to make thee, Isobel Bessie.
It is not only in verse that reference has been made to bells as heard from the Terrace of Lis Escop, for in the Life of Bishop Frere, C. S. Phillips, in a chapter on 'August at Lis Escop.' says: 'As a "holiday home " the house could hardly have been better. Its situation on the hillside lifted it well above the City of Truro, and its garden was a beautiful place, though Frere himself had none of the gardening enthusiasm of his predecessor. Bishop C. W. Stubbs, and of his successor, Bishop Hunkin, who have doue so much to make it what it is. From one corner of the terrace there is an exquisite view of the Cathedral, and on Sundays and practice nights the sonorous tones of its magnificent old bells could be heard rising from below.' These bells, not so old at 54 years, were heard at their best during the recent visit of the Council, and are now to be assured an active future for, thanks to the Dean and Chapter, it is expected that they will be rehung in readiness for Christmas.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Master's Encouraging Review

THE experiment suggested at the last A.G.M. of holding the annual meeting away from Brighton, proved very successful when the 791h A.G.M. of the Sussex County Association was held at East Grinstead on May 9th. It was the largest attendance for many years.
Ringing, had been arranged by the Northern Division in towers around East Grinstead for those ringers travelling from other Divisions. A wedding, however. necessitated the service heing delayed until 5 p.m. This was conducted by the Rev. H. C. F. Copsey (Vicar). who. in his welcome, said he was pleased to see such wonderful turn-out which included many young ringers. The local band was praised for the efforts so far to raise the necessary money to augment the ring of eight to ten hells.
Approximately 140 sat down to tea in the Church Hall arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, and the business mecting followed, with the Master (Mr. A. V. Johnson) in the chair He thanked Mr. Copsey for taking the service and extended a welcome to the Revs. M. R Newman (Warnham). P. L. Scott (Withyham) and I. Paton-Hunter (Danehill). Also welcomed were two vice-presidents-Messrs. S. E Armstrong and L. Stilwell. and ringing friends from the East Grinstead and District Guild and the Kent and Surrey Associations.
The meeting stood in silence for those members who had passed away during 1963Messrs. E. Trusler. H. Stalham and F. Weller.
After the minutes of the 78th A.G.M. had been signed. the Master's report was presented This recorded marked progress in all parts of the county. The standard of ringing at meetings had. in his opinion. steadily improved and attendance had been generally good. Ringing for Sunday service had been fairly well maintained and the bells in the county were generally good. Improvements had heen carried out at several places, notably the new eight at St. Clement's. Hastings. The resignation of Mr. R. G. Blackman from the office of honorary treasurer for health reasons was regretted. On the proposition of Mr Swift, seconded by Mr. G. Francis, the report was accepted.
In the treasurer's absence the balance sheet was accepted subject to audit.
The peal secretary (Mr. P. Romney). in his report. recorded 64 peals rung during 1963. one less than the previous year. Nineteen ringers were congratulated on ringing their first peal.
One resident member and three non-resident were elected.

ELECTIANS

The president (the Bishop of Chichester) and he vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc, and also the Master. the general secretary (Mr R W. R. Percy), the peal secretary and the honorary auditors (Messrs. A. Bond and W. A. Kiddington). The new honorary treasurer Mr. A. Hunnisett, was unable to attend meetings and it was decided to elect Mr. W. Leslie Neller in his place. the Master undertaking to write to Mr. Hunnisett to explain the position and have the books forwarded to the auditors.

A letter had been received from one of the trustees. Mr. C. B. Tomkins, who wished to resign owing to his retirement from business. Mr. F. I. Hairs was elected in his place. The honorary general secretary was asked to send a suitable letter of thanks for his many years of service to the Association.

SUBSCRIPTION

A proposition had been received from the Northern Division as follows: 'That in Rule III. Section 3. the eentence referring to suhscriptions be altered to read. "Ringing Members shall subscribe 5s. annually or 2s. 6d annually if under the age of 18 years
Mr. Peter Romney put forward the General Committee's recommendation that the present rule remains for a further year so that the Association can review the financial result.
The present proposition would then come up again for discussion at the 1965 A.G.M. This was carried.

The committee had agreed that the affiliation fee would be abolished as soon as circumstances permitted

The Southern Division submitted the following proposals
(a) That the grant of $£ 5$ towards bell restoration he increased 10 a maximum of 125 any grant must be approved by the General Committee. - It was decided to leave this over to the 1965 A.G.M.
(b) 'That a committee be set up to revise the "Form of Service" used at Association meetings.:- It was decided to form a committec comprising one representative from each Division (to be elected at their next quarterly meetings) and two clergy. The commitlee would appoint its own convener.
(c) That the Association extend an invitation to the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers to meet at Brighton in 1966.
It was decided that in view of the C.C. visit to Easthourne in 1951 the invitation was premature at the moment.

DINNER PLANNED

Mr. Bernard Matthews (Western Division) sugegsted that the 80th anniversary of the Association in 1965 should be commemorated by holding a dinner. A committee, under Mr. Matthews formed by the Western Division would look into the matter with a view to holding the same in Brighton. If it was found that the arrangements could be completed in time, their findings would be sent to each Division before their next quarterly meetings.
Mrs. S. Knight (Burgess Hill) said that the honour of life membership had in the past only heen conferred on memhers when they were too old to enjoy same. She proposed that the Master (Mr. R. V. Johnson) and the honorary general secetary (Mr. R. W. R. Percy) be made life members, in view of the service they had given and were giving to the Association. This was seconded by Mr. Brown and carried.

RUISLIP CAPTAIN RETIRING

Mr. Tom Collins, captain of the ringers a St. Martin's. Ruislip. for the past 10 years, is retiring from that office shortly, but will continue as a member of the band. Now 76 years of age. Mr. Collins can look back on 60 years service as a ringer at St. Martin's. When Tom joined his uncle, the late Mr. Bill Collins, was captain and another uncle. the late Mr. Harry Collins, was a member of the band.

Apart from ringing. Mr. Collins and his cousin, the late Mr. Billy Bunce (also a ringer). were winders of the church clock. They started this job in 1922, and did it together until 1954. when Mr. Bunce died. Since then Mr. Collins has done the work with the heln of Mr. Bill Bunce junior. A retired farmer. Mr. Collins and his wife celebrated their golden wedd.ng last year. They live at 165 , Linden Avenue. Ruislin.

The meal over. the secretary asked that any alterations or other croy for the next annual report should be submitted as soon as possible. and also requested that all members should please co-operate with the treasurer more this year. by getting subscriptions paid up as soon as possible. ## ROBIN AND GILLIAN MARRIED

TWWO of the most ardent peal ringers in the Exercise. Mr Robin G. Leale. of Surbiton and Dr. Gillian Ann Neal Smith. of Twickenham. were married at St. Matthias Church. Richmond. on May 30th. It was a happy combination of bells and music. In the morning a peal of Cambridge Sprprise Major was rung at the Church of All Hallows. Twickenham which is the bride's and her father's regular tower.
the brid= is the senior chorister at St Matthias' Church, where her father. Dr. D. J Neai Smith, is organist and the 35 -strong choir sang during the signing of the register Sir Hubert Parry's anthem. 'I was glad.'
The service was conducted by the Vicar
(the Rev. D. Landreth) and the Rev. G. W.

Groves, godfather of the bride. Dr. Arthur Pritchard was organist. ## NORWICH DIOCESAN  ASSOCIATION

When the Northern Branch held an interim meeting at Wiveton on May 23rd, a warm welcome was extended by the Rector, the Rev. A. M. Gamble. who said it was just five years since the meeting scheduled there had had to be cancelled at short notice owing to the dangerous state of the roof. This he was pleased to say had been put in order.

- About 50 members and friends sat down to an enjoyable tea, which had been provided by Mr. W. R. West and Mrs. Mabel Francis Gidncy. The band were pleased to meet the churchwardens Miss Helen Barclay and Miss J. M. Gosselin.

Great interest has been taken in ringing by boys from the Gresham Sichool, thanks to Mr. P. Cattermole. during his brief stay at the school, and who is now back at university. Handbells were rung both by professionals and the boys, and from rounds to London on the six tower bells.

Bale bells were sampled by a few. Astonishment was on all faces when the ringer of the third left the foor for a matter of six feet when the stay broke. On examination of the bells there was evidence of the amount of work that had heen put in by these lads to get the bells ringable. Less towers would be silent it the enthusiasm of the ie boys was widespread.
The president. Mr. F. N. Golden, proposed the vole of thanks.

THE LADIES' GUILD

It was cloudy. windless and hot when the Ladies Guild met at Elstree on May 30th. We were quite glad of the light weight of the six. even though ringing did not begin promptly. The Rector, the Rev. L. Wood. conducted the service-his survey of the history of the church was most interesting, for the presen: building gives little sign of the antiquity of its predecessors.

After an excellent tea Mrs. K. Lock acted as secretary in Miss Spreadbury's absence for the business meeting. The next fifth Sat ${ }^{\text {. }}$ being at the end of August. most people felt that it would be better to cancel ours, and possibly 10 combine with a territorial association which would be faced with the same problem of many members on holiday. There was no doubt where we would be welcome for the October meeting: the Vicar, the hall and the bells have been hooked already at St. John the Baptist. Croydon, for the 31st. It is delightful to feel that someone is so keen to hiave us come. A fortnight hefore is the joint Middlesex. Oxford and Ladies Guild mecting at Hillingdon.

New members elected were: The Misses B Goodspeed. C. Folkes. F. Dodds (all of St Albans) and D. Robotham (Finchley), with one ussociate non-ringing member, Mrs Leach (Ruislip). A discussion on optional two guinea lite membershids took place: the subject will be raised again. After many thanks to the Rector and Mr. Hyde. the memhers went- to South Myms for more ringing. J.S.

Inconsistencies

Dear Sir.-May I. as a comparative new. comer to ringing be allowed to make a few comments on the subject of lead ends/lead heads. To me the terms as used in recent correspondence seem to be bristling with inconsistencies
Mr. McClenahan, Mr. Hodgson and Mr. Baldwin all refer to the treble handstroke lead row as the lead end' and the treble backstroke lead row as the 'lead head' (page 324. 356 and 340 respectively), but it is evident from Mr. C. A. Lewis' letter (page 324) and from common usage as observed in my own short experience, not to mention volume: of past literature, that the backstroke row is generally known as the 'lead end.' The situation becomes even more complex when Mr A. York-Bramble goes on to elahorate on twin-hunt methods. May I ask what happens when we have a method with two treble boh hunts. such as Surfleet Surpris: Caters? Does the lead end then come when the treble dodges with the other hunt hell?
The inconsistency is made worse because several C.C. publications refer to the backstroke row as the 'lead end.' among them - An Elementary Handbook for Beginners in the Art of Change Ringing ' (see the text on Bob Minimus page 5) published as late as 1962. Snowdon can hardly be blamed for this!
However, there does secm to be some well founded justification for sticking to the term 'lead cnd.' apart from its obvious long standing.
Ringing always commences and finishes with rounds, and changes commence at the command "Go next (handstroke)." Thus (practically speaking) if the lead commences at handsiroke it must end at backstroke This is also consistent with the bells being pulled off at handstroke and set. at the termination of ringing, after the backstroke pull (referred to as 'set at handstroke.' being thus ready to be pulled of again at hand stroke). This impression receives support from the punctuation given to ringing by open lead ringing. One would surely expect the interval to come at the lead end.

The usage "lead end is also in line with the terms 'course end' and 'part end' which should also be changed to 'course head 'and part head' if 'lead head' is to be adopted.
One wonders why the team "lead end should he applied to the handstroke row since no practical use seems to be made of this row, and therefore there is no necessity for it to be named any more than other rows in the lead. There seems to be no reason why the backstroke row should not be referred to as both 'the lead end' and 'the lead head being the row to which one lead progresses and the row from which the succeeding lead starts, and whichever term is used this is the sense in which it is to be understood, and which. I believe. is the way all ringers understand it.
To bring another hunt hell into the argument is surely unnecessary. Such a bell is in the hunt only until such time as a call is made and in this respect does not differ in character from the hell which returns to its own place again at the end of each lead in the thirty-six Doubles methods with a three lead nlain course, in Sectinn III of Collection ố Doubles Methods. Grandsire. Antelope etr... could well have been included in Section IIIh being merely snecial cases of methods with a three lead plain course.
I am bound to agree with Mr. C A Lewis in his reauest for the dividing line to be drawn below the backstroke row, since whether 'lead end ' or 'lead head.' it is the most important row and by this alone deserves to be underlined. I find the improved method harder to read. In fact, referrlng to the 'Doubles Methods' collection, the setting out of the New Grandsire and New Antelope series is not clear, and cannot be so by the system adopted unless two comp'ete lead; are given since the first 'lead' (as $g$ ven) contains only nine rows when one would expect ten. This would not be so bad if some explanation were given. such as is given in Mr. A. York-Bramble's letter.
Speaking again as one who has taken up bellringing in middle age. these inconsistencie; do not make things any easier for the heginner. Could we not have a move towa:d greater consistency and therefore loward ereater simplicity? In doing so. let it be remembered that 10 change time-honoured lerms and methods more often than not leads to greater complication rather than simplicity.-Yours faithfully

LATE STARTER

P.S.-Mr. McClenahan introduces a further inconsistency in wanting to call rounds the zero-th lead head. Rounds is at the head of the first lead and should therefore be the first lead head.-L.S.

Congratulations, Truro

Dear Sir.-I was one of the members who complained at the Central Council last year and asked for more ringing afrangements for those who stay on with their families for the ucek.
May I through the columns of . The Ring ing World congratulate the Truro Diocesan Guild on the ringing arrangements in the Truro district.
Many members and families made this their holiday and ringing was available or easily obtainable up to liriday. Thanks are due to those who made the arrangements and to the clergy who even at short notice made their bells availabie. Good show -Yours, etc..
Eastbourne. R.W. R. PERCY

Peal Renamed

Dear Sir.-Following the Central Council meeting's adoption of the Records Committec: report I give notice that the method named Godmanchester will now be known ty its original name. i.e.. Westray Surprise Major. All those concerned. please note.-Yours faithfully. G. E. THODAY Cambridge.

In and Out of Course

Dear Sir.-May I suggest th's, as an casier method of determining whether rows are in course or out cours= than the one illustrated by John C. Baldwin (page 340).
To ascertain whether any row is positive or negative. we add the number of times a lower number succeeds a higher number in any row. For example in the row 24163857 $\frac{1}{3}$ is less than 4 3 is less than 6. 5 is less than 8
7 is less than 8. $\square$

Total
Seven is an odd number and the row is herefore out of course
This can be done mentally with little effort The theory is explained in an article on Determinants (Enc Britt. 1910)-Yoיris faith fully. MICHAEL S. HOLBROOK ully.

Nomenclature to boost Conductors' Ego

Dear Sir,-After the Central Council meeting at Truro I was discussing with my wife (not a ringer) the motion put by Mr. Bayles concerning nomenclature and classification of methods and she said. Why not name them after the "inventors" of the methods?' I pointed out that all the really good basic methods had been invented' years ago and that these news ones were mainly variations which it was only a matter of 'pealing ' before naming them.
She then made the (I thought) bright suggestion that methods be named after the conductor of the peal concerned, with the addition of a number where necessary (where a conductor "bags" more than one).

Since the main objections raised at the C.C meeting were: (a) to nomenclature by numbers and or symbols only. and (b) to ridiculous names. this id:a seems to have certain advantges as follows:
(1) There would be no chance of running out of method names. You would possibly get 'Fred Smith 6 Surprise Maior.' "Fred Smith 14 Surprise Major' and 'Fred Smith 6 Surprise Royal.' but to those dersons interested ir, ringir? them they would clearly bz different methods.
(2) You'd have a joh firding rinpers called O's or Xerxes names. which bring the present system to ridiculc. (Noms de p!ume would not be permitted) Thus all new method names would be of no:mal length and easily pronounceable.
13) It might boost the cego of those conductors who like ringing new methods and they would possibly vie with one another for the higiest number after the reme.
(4) With or without official sanctiont there is, as far as I can cee, nothing to prevont someone who thinks well of the idea starting to use it as from now.
the only difficulty would he where two conductors called Bill Smith roth adopted this schemc. but no doubt a way round this could be found. (Consider the number of years that no one confused John Freeman with John A. Frceman.) Anyway, I am putting the idea forward for consideration - it could possibly be elaborated a little to also indicate the type of method-and should the commilees of the Central Council who are concerned with this sort of thing consider it worth adopting. it could possibly be made oflicial ' nex: ycar.-Yours, etc.

Winchester's 'New' Bell

Dear Sir.-In the picture on page 339 the wooden objects projecting upwards from the headstock are not as mgnt at first be thought. some fiendish double stay, but the remains of the wheel. The stay is that curious "spur shaped attachment at the other end of the headstock and it was designed to engage with the iron strip projecting upwards from the frame member level with the waist of the bell. I have not seen this type anywhere else: can anyonz say whose design it is, and whether there are still samples of it in use?
With regard to the ringers fund for tuning. etc.. I was a little premature in asking for donations to be sent to Denn's Brown
Our appeal. for which aporoximately £40) is the target. has been placed in the hands of our secretary/treasurer. Herbert Stocks. whos: address is 5. Nelson Road. Winchester.-Yours faithfully.

RINGING TOUR IN SIX COUNTIES

A party of eight ringers from East Grinstead and District gathered in Tunbridge Weils on May 15 th for their annual Whitsun tour. Wit. Brian Je?Tries and Jo?n Warner acting as drivers we set forth in glorious weather for Banbury (The Mount Hotel, Oxford Road). which was to te our home for the next three days. Alan, Christine and Ke:th with h:s tijx of handbells, were picked up en route and Banbury not reached unt! 12.11 a.m. We were very grateful to the hotel proprietor who so thougattully provided tes and biscuits at this late hour.

On Saturday we set forth at 9 a m. for Swarl.ne (Uxun), a 13 chi. six renung by Gillett and Jehnston in 1933. Here we were jorned by Mr. and Mrs. Kosme and friends from the Northampton area, icgether with Colin cook. Afier a gocd lower in peal. We moved on to Brailes (Warwickshire), the s.cond heaviost six in the country, with a lenor we g.ing 24 cwl inese bells were rehung by laylors in 1958.
Oar next tower at Great Tew was in a charming old-world viluage nestuing in the hart ot the Uxtorashire cunntryside. En route tae middie of nowhere, wnicn caused a certan amount of alarm and despondency but help in the way of a gatlon of petrol was obtained trom a neigntouring farm and also from a passing motorist. An excellent lunch was obtained at Deddington hetore ringing on this very pleasant eight. Tracks were then made for Addertury (Oxon), where an hour was spent. from here to Bloxham to the church of Our Lady of Bloxham. The Vicar here told the author that on occasions he gets a thousand people in his congregation.
Tea was taken at Banbury (with cakes !). before going to Si. Marys Cnurch to ring on ine ten. The last call of the day was at ine Home Farm Campanile, Balscote. There are 14 bells heie. all nung on bicycle wheels and the ringing chamber is in the owner's wasnhouse.

Leaving Banbury at 9.31 a.m. on Whit Sunday we made record time to Stratford-onAvon ( 22 miles in 30 minutes), where we rang for morning service on the lovely ten and also attended service. A picnic lunch prepared by the ladies of the band was had on the banks of the Avon. After lunch handbells were rung and they were a real joy to listen to. On now to Wellesbourne-Hastings (Warwickshire), to the churc't of St. Peter and then to St. Nicholas (Warwick), where we rang various methods on the lovely eight. The ien at St. Mary's (Warwick), were rung for evening serlice and the author was privileged to see and hear a four-manual organ huilt by Hope. Jones and Morgan. of Birkenhead, and reconditioned by Comptons. It is unfortunately in need of repair one again. Tea supper was had in a restaurant at Warwick before returning to Banbury via Avon Dasselt and Farnborough.

Banbury was left at 9.5 a.m. Monday en route for Maids Moreton. Bucks (a lovely six hung by Taylors). A very good lower in peal completed the ringing before going to Wicken (Northants). Apart from the six bells Shenley (Bucks) has a magnificent two-manual organ built by A. P. Mander which the author was privileged to play. The Rector kindly invited us to coffee, but unfortunately we were unabla to accept due to time. Lunch was taken at Loughton. Now on to Linslade, home of the great train robbers of everlasting fame. A mishap en route due to navigation landed us at Old Linslade instead of Linslade. We discovered when we finally arrived at Linslade, a mile or so further down the road. that the old church we had gone to had only one bell. On again to Leighton Buzzard (Beds), to ring on the beautiful Taylor cast ten. We arrived late at Cheddington (Bucks) and were only able to ring two methods. Here we met up with a party from South Mymms (Herts) who were on a day tour. On again to Tring (Herts), to ring on the eight and to Berkhamsted for tea, which unfortunately delayed our arrival at Bushey Heath (Herts) by one hour. However. the local ringer was got from his house by John and very kindly let us ring for $\frac{3}{3}$ hour. After this the homeward ruil. Handbells were rung by Hilary. David, Keith and Colin in the minibus.

Methods rung throughout the tour ranged from Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles to Superlative. Double Norwich Major, Double Norwich Caters, Bristol Major and Kent Royal.

Grateful than's to all incumbents and the originators of this tour.

Chesterfield District's Striking Competition

The Chesterfield District second striking competition, held at Clay Cross on May 9th, was once again a success.
Six teams entered this year but as the ringers from one of these-North Wingfield-had never before attended a meeting in such numbers. the competition was worthwhile from that point of view alone!
After an excellent tea in the nearby school rooms, the judges (Messrs. D. R. Carlisle and D. Friend) gave some very helpful advice and criticism on the standard of ringing. The results were as follows: 1st. Old Whittington (Oxford T.B. 244 pts.) : 2nd, Dronfield (Oxford 237): 3rd. Bolsover (Plain Bob. 220): 4th, Staveley (call-changes, 200): Sth, North Wing. field (Plain Boh and Grandsire Doubles. 196) and 6th. Clowne (Plain Hunt, 102).
The tower captain at Clay Cross. Mr. J Price, presented the District Shield to Mr. S Lawrence, captain of the winning team, and warmly cgngratulated them on a fine performance. As this year's contest was a knockout heat for the Association's final, Old Whittington, Dronficld and possibly Bolsover will go forward to compete for the Horsley Cup Next reeting: June 13th. Creswell.

OBITUARY

MR. B. GREATOREX
With regret we record the death of Mr Benjamin Greatorex, a ringer at Wirksworth for over 60 years. Mr. Greatorex died at his home on May 9 th. and is survived by a widow, a married son and small grandson.
He was a staunch supporter of the Old Midland Counties Association and regularly attended its annual meetings at Derby. Not tingham. Leicester and Burton-on-Trent. There is no record of the number of peals rung, hut most of these were for the M.C.A In 1946 the Derby and District Association (now the Derby Diocesan Association) was formed from the old Midland Counties Association and Ben Greatorex was a founder member and supported it until his health prevented him frem attending meetings. In 1961 he was elected an honorary life member. His last peal was one of Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Wirksworth on April 6th 1957. which was also the last peal on the bells. Much to Ben's disgust peal ringing has been banned at Wirksworth-a situation that exists at a number of Derbyshire towers.

Ben Greatorex had not been able to ring for several years. and since then Wirksworth band has gradually deteriorated. It was only a short time ago that the general secretary heard of his death, and consequently the Association was not represented at the funeral. However. permission was obtained for a quarter peal which was rung on June 1st with the hells half-muffled. It was 1.260 Siedman Triples, rung by B. P. Morris I. J. F. Smallwood (cond.) 2, F. R. Lowe 3, P. Taylor 4. G. Clift 5, H. Taylor 6, R. H. Bullen 7, G. Paulson 8.

Ben Greatorex maintained his interest in ringing right un to the last, and was always delighted to see any of his ringing friends and to talk of the days when he rang peals with M. Swinfield. J. George and J. Paget. He looked forward to 'The Ringing World ' every week. Another old friend who was unable to get io Wirksworth for the quarter peal but wished to he associated was Mr. Fred Adams, of Staveley, a vice-president of the Association.
B. P. M.

MR. P. H. STAFFORI

Cantain at Caerlcoh. Newport, Monmouthshire. for many years previous to his death. on May 16th, Mr. Percival M. Stafford leaves behind a long record of faithful service. He was 77 years of age and was present in the tower on the Sunday before his death.
He was taught to ring at Caerleon just over 60 years ago and was a regular and punctual ringer
His name was only seen a few times in the peal columns, these being in the 1920 s. He liked Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and also call changes. The bells at Caerleon were rung half-muffled to call changes during the evening after the funeral

MR. F. W. ROGERS

With deep regret we record the sudden death of Mr. Frederick W. Rogers, of Cosham lortsmouth. on June 9th. While on a visit to Mr. A. York-Bramble at Southsea.

Mr. Rogers" services to the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild were outstanding. For 25 years he was general secretary of the Guild. retiring in 1955 . At the annual mect. ing in 1936 at Ryde he was presented with a model bell. suitably inscribed mounted on a small frame. a pen and pencil set. and also a cheque. He was elected Master of the Guild and this post he held until two years ago. when he retired and was succeeded by Canon K. W. H. Felstead. In his prime he was one of the finest heavy bell ringers in the country. To his memory the hells of Portsmouth Cathedral were rung half-mufled to Grandsire Cater on Saturday atternoon. The funeral strvice. followed by cremation, took place on Monday.

MR. I.EONARD FIIDER

The death occurred on June 12th, at the age of 77 years, of Mr. Leonard Fidler, of Hitchin. Herts. Although he had been unable to ring for about eight years his interest in the local hand continued and. Whencver his health permitted, he was present at the annnual lower meetings. Some weeks ago Mr. Fidler had a fall and fractured his hip; an unfortunate acciden! from which he never fully recovered.
Len Fidler was elected a member of the hand at Hitchin in 1908 and rang his first peal the following year. In the years between the wars he helped to build a local band which was one of the foremost in Hertfordshire. The records show a steady flow of quarter peals rung for Sunday services. both in the standard methods and several Surprise methods. In most of these Len rang on the heavy end and conducted many of the performances.

His peal total for the Hertford County Association was 27, and his great love of Doubie isorwich is reflected in the fact that no less than 11 of these were in this method.
In 1947 his services to ringing were honoured in his election as president of the Hertford County Association. The writer's acquaintance with Len Fider did not hegin until the twilight of his career. hut even then his regard for Sunday service ringing and his earnest desire for a high standard of striking were still evident. His service to St. Mary's had been long and faithful: as a ringer for 56 years and as captain since 1947. To his family we extend our sympathy in their sad loss.

KNUTSFORD'S ROYAL MAY  DAY

ihe recent death of Sydney Hough, sen.. and the peal rung at Knutsford on Miy 2nd to celebrate the centenary of the May Day Festival brings back some happy memories.

Nowadays, owing to traffic problems, the celebration is held on the first Saturday in May, formerly it was held on the first of May. My introduction to the May Day ringing was on May Ist. 1920, also it was the first time, but not the last. I sampled the hospitality of the Houghs-theirs was open house and what with young Sid and Norman dashing in and out like scalded cats, selling programmes and coming back for more, at the same time snatching samples of the good fare laid out for the visitors and the many visitors who did pop in. Mrs. Hough had her hands full.

On this day of days the kids of Knutsford had the time of their lives, for the May Gileen it was a proud moment and the girl chosen had something to be proud of as with her retinue she was the centre-piece around which everything revolved. The children were dressed to represent every known character in nursery rhymes and other mythical beings. whilst the two men who bore the sedan chair developed a whale of a thirst. Added to these were the gaily decorated tradesmen's vehicles whose proud horses seemed to sense the gaiety of the occasion. The crowning of the May Queen and the dancing around the maypole took place on the Green witnessed hy hundreds of visitors even in those days.
A feature of Knutsford for this particular Festival was the sanding of the streets. sand being sprinkled on the ground and formed into innumerable patterns and woe betide anyone who trampled on the designs before the day was out.
The rinsing continued throughout the day and the appreciation of the Festival Committee in those days was shown in a practical manner by seeing that the ringers had some cash to obtain the refreshment necessary to drink their health.
After the formal Festival there was all the fun of the fair to enjoy so everyone stayed as long as possible, the journey home was not thought of then. Eventually the time of departure arrived and though tired we set off for home. By the time Mobberly was reached I had a puncture but no repair outfit. anyhow more by good luck than management. a penny stamp I had on me served as a temporary repair and although I had to use the pump several times, 1 did manage to get home, very tired but like many other ringers. quite happy at the pleasure I had had ringing-was it worth that weary ride home? Yes, of course it was?

JOHN P. FIDLER

LONDON UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Whit week-end was spent by eight members and friends of London University Sociely touring North Hampshire.
The party arrived at Overton on Friday night to join in the local practice and a snatch at Laverstoke. A spice of adventure was provided on Saturday by attempting the almost unringable bells at Hurstbourne Priors (6) and Nether Wallop (5). where a loose frame had cracked the tower. There was also the tall shaky tower at Andover (8). However. some good bells were included.
Compensations were forthcoming on Sunday with early ringing at 7.30 at Overton. New and Old Alresford and, in the afternoon, the splendid 12 at Winchester Cathedral. In the evening we joined the hoys of Winchester College at the college chapel.
To mark the 50th anniversary of the ordination as priest of the Rev. Powell Miller fcrmer Rector of St . Olave's, a quarter of Cambridge Major was rung at Highclere Among other towers visited were Kingsclere (8). All Saints: Basingstoke (9). where Bob Caters was rung, and the musical eight at St. Michael's. Basingstoke-for Erin and Double Norwich. Thanks are accorded Diana Frost for organising a very successful tour and to incumbents and local ringers.

CORSTON, SOMERSET

The excellence of the bells made up for the deficiencies of the weather when All Saints". Carston, ringers and friends visited the New Forest area for their annual outing.
The fine-toned eight at Komsey Abbey were much enjoyed. Despite the heavy Bournemouth traffic, Lyndhurst was reached on time. The tower appeared to be somewhat mobile, hut a good course of Cambridge was brought round.
After a picnic lunch, good use was made of the light six at Brockenhurst. where ringing included a ladies' touch of Stedman. Tea was taken at Lymington, after which an hour was spent in the tower, where perhaps the most enjoyable ringing of the day took place. The last tower was Cranborne, Dorset, the route thereto passing mile after mile of rhododendrons in full flower. These bells were also put to good use.
Thanks are extended to all incumbents and to those who met us.

TOTTERNHOE, BEDS

The Vale of Evesham. the Cotswolds and the Maivern Hills were included in the itinerary of Totternhoe ringers during their outing on May 30th. Coffee at Evesham preceded ringing on the sixes at Cropthorne and Elmley Castle. Thirst was quenched after this by 'village-brewed' cider.

Lunch was taken at Worcester and the afternoon's ringing was at Malvern Link and Pershore Abbey. The climb to the 'bird cage ' at the Abbey was negotiated and some successful Major rung on the majestic eight. Tea followed and Eckington and Ebrington visited to conclude the day's ringing. Thunderstorms accompanied us to Banhury, but did not dampen our spirits for the ston at Brackley.
Mr. R. J. Smith is thanked for organising another successful day, and also incumbents and ringers who met us.
C. S.

OUTINGS

RAVING RINGERS IN NORTH BUCKS
An extensive repertoire of methods was indulged in by the Society of Raving Ringers during their day's outing in North Bucks. There was Cambridge and Kent at Mursley (6) and Bristol. Yorkshire and Stedman at Bletchley where Mr. Marks welcomed the party. Milton Keynes bells were hard going, but after dinner the six at North Crawley were a compensation.
At Chicheley Norwich Surprise was rung on a hard-going six and Bristol and Stedman at Newport Pagnell. Following the tea break came Clifton Reynes but two cars nearly didn't make it-one ran out of petrol and the other went to the wrong tower. Lathbury (5) sallies were found to be a yard too low. The day finished with Double Norwich at Hanslope. B. J. D.

ST. ALDATE'S, OXFORD

Several learners not used to ringing on strange bells and friends from other towers were included in the outing of St. Aldate's, Oxford. on May 30th, which was the first attempted for several years.

The 17 cwt six at West Hanney were found to be easy to handle but rather loud inside the tower. Next came the light six at Brightualton followed by a picnic tea, with tea brewed without a teapot-a brown, warm and almost tasteless liquid. After a lesson by the branch secretary on how to replace the rear window of a mini-bus after some idiot had pushed it out' the journey was resumed to Bedwyn Magna. Despite some finding this 28 cwt. six rather a handful. several methods were managed with some of the local ringers. Ringing concluded at Mildenhall.

Thanks go to Edward Venn, the organiser, and Bob Benstead, the capable driver
P. J. H.

ST. MARY'S ROUGHAM, SUFFOIK

A start at 6 a.m. Was made by St. Mary's Rougham, ringers and friends (numbering 42) for their outing to Coventry on May 23rd. En route ringin: took place at Elston (John Bunyan's birthplace) and Dunchurch (tenor 19 cwt.) where Plain Bob Minor, Oxford T.B.. Kent T.B. and Ipswich Surprise were rung.
After lunch at Coventry the film 'On the fall and rise of the new Cathedral was seen at the Cathedral. Ringers of the party then visited the light eight at Allesley and joined the rest who had been sightseeing in Coventry before continuing the journey to Warwick for a welcome tea. At the well-known tower of St. Nicholas'. Warwick, the best touch of the day was rung-Kent T.B. Major. A call at Whitnash on the homeward journey produced some good touches of Plain Bob. St. Clement's. Cambridge and Oxford Bob.
A very tired party reached Rougham at 12.15 p.m. to be met by the Rector, the Rev. G. E. Jarrold. His wife, who with some of the choir accompanied the party, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. L. Wright (the organiser). The ringers are very grateful to Mr. F. W. Perrens, who arranged the towers, film show and meals and even pilots for the coach!

'R.W. May 1st. 1914 -

BY GEORGE!-The patron saint of England, whose festival falls on April 23rd. has many namesakes among the ringing fraternity and on more than one occasion Georges have celebrated the day by ringing a peal. On Thursday of last week eight of them again marked the festival by scoring a 5.088 Kent Treble Bob. Not only was the peal rung. composed and conducted bv Georges. but to make the record complete it was rung at the Church of St . George. Camberwell.

On Monday the Editor received a phone call from Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward, hon. secretary of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, who we regret to state, is in King's College Hospital, London. Last Thursday he underwent an operation. which is regarded as successful. Those who attended Coventry Cathedral Rally last year will recall that he was forced to hobbl? alound with the aid of a stick. At that time he must have been in considerable pain although he tried to hide it as much as possible.
Miss Christine A. Major, former Rainham ringer, won prizes for anatomy and physiology at the Elizabeth Garrett Hospital, Si. Pancras, London, where she is training for a nurse. Congratulations, Christine!
The following tribute has been paid by a lady to the Washington ten: 'Everyone missed all the ringers. I don't know when in all my lite I have met such a fine and splendid group of men." Perhaps the selection wasn't so bad atter all. writes our correspondent.
Mr. William S. Deason should be associated with the peal rung at All Haliows: Twickenham, in honour of the marriage of Mr. Robin G. Leale and Miss Gillian A. Neal Smith. Mr. Deason stood down, the band having met one short for Royal.
The golden wedding of a former Rainliam ringer, Mr. Robert Belsey, was honoured by a quarter peal on the bells on June 2nd. He and his wife now live at Ditton. Maidstone. and before that at Headcorn. Unfortunately, owing to losing a leg, Mr. Belsey cannot now ring. but he sat in a car and listened to the bells he and his family rung for many years in the past

When the late Arthur Craven produced the figures for a new Surprise method over 40 years ago he gave them to the band at Pudsey and suggested they might call it Pudsey Surprise. Two of the ringers in the peal of Pudse; at Pudsey on June 6th were members of the band when the method was first rung thereWilliam Barton and John Ambler. It was not thought in those days that it would become a standard method.

The Editor thanks the many correspondents for their advice in the way peals should be presented. Most of the defects mentioned were patent to him in the first dssue. He is flattered to think that the alteration he is making this week coincides with the improvements many of our readers have suggested.

Mr. B. S. Neale, of the South Wales Nomads. writes to tell his friends that there is a final e to his name.

More girls than boys rang their first peal in Sussex during 1963. Is this a general pointer?
The name of Mr. F. W. Perrens should be included in the list of life members attending the Central Council meeting at Truro. See page 354 .

The number of changes in the pcal of Yorkshire Major at St. Denys. Cornwall (see page 381), was 5.024 and not 5056 as printed.

Our correspondent asks us to correct the footnote of the peal of Belgrave Surprise rung at Caythorpe on May 2nd (page 384). It should reaj. First peal in the method by all the band except the ringer of sixth.

Mr. B. L. Burrows informs us of his slip-up in sending in a report of a peal at Croft (page 364). The date was May 1st and not April 3 rd, and the time 2 hours 28 minutes and not 2 hours 38 minutes.

The peal at Silsoe. Beds, on May 18th should receive an honourable mention. It was one of Minor, seven methods, and was the first peal for the conductor (Mr. R. Law) and three others, and first in seven methods for the remainder of the band.

Mr. E. R. Warner, of Woking. received the congratulations of his fellow ringers at Holy Trinity, Guildford, on the 40th anniversary of his wedding on June 7th. and Mrs. Warner came into the belfry after the quarter peal in honour of the day to thank the ringers for their congratulations. Mr. Warner has been ringing for 48 years and he has subscribed to - The Ringing World' constantly throughout this period. He showed his appreciation of the journal by sending a cheque.

SWANSEA & BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD

Ringing Competition

Neath ringers were the lucky ones to win the Guild's shield in this year's ringing competition. held at St. Thomas' Church. Neath. on May 23 rd

The seven bands entered were: Cadoxton. Neath, Glasbury. St. Mary's (Brecon). Newton Nottage. Sketty No. 1 and No. 2. The competitive spirit throughout was very keen, and the striking and rising and falling had much improved from previous years. The adjudicator. Mr. Gwyn Thomas, in his summing up. stated that he had thought it necessary to add credit points. The results were (out of a possible 240 points): 1 Neath, 220 points: Cadoxton, 216 points: 3 Glasbury. 203 points.

The Rector gave a warm welcome, and added that one thing the competition had done was to create greater interest among his young church bellringers, and induce them to ring regularly for Sunday services. He was more than pleased that they had won the shield.

The Master. Mr. Malcolm Johns, thanked the Rector and those responsible for the excellent tea. J. A. H.

A YORKSHIRE OUTING

Accompanied by wives and friends, ringers fiom Horbury, Ossett and Rothwell. had their second annual outing on May 23rd in delightfu! countryside and perfect weather, matched by Irvin's arrangements, but not, unfortunately, by the ringing.

Perhaps our best touches came after tea, on the majestic eight at Bridlington, where at least we rang some passable Stedman, although it must be admitted that we had not a band to do full justice to so glorious a ring.

The day had begun inauspiciously, with some unsteady ringing at Goole. There, as elsewhere, our learners, unaccustomed to the long draught in the belfry, had difficulty in handling; yet the more proficient had their troubles, too, for both Kent and Stedman refused to go.
Fortified by a first-rate lunch in Hull, we moved on to the fine octave at Hedonbeautiful bells. which will run, so that we suffered by ringing them too slowly. Stedman failed again. and our best here was a course of Double Norwich
Our third calling-place was Patrington, where the soaring spire. rightly renowned, was the subject of our wonder: while the intriguing mode of access to the belfry excited not a little speculation in the way of ingenious suggestions as to the best manner of negotiating the catwalk and gave rise to dark rumours concerning the dwarfs of Holderness. The ringing here was undistinguished, save that Stedman eventually came round.

Grateful thanks are offered to all who met us and to the respective incumbents. $R$. $B$.

THE PROFESSOR EXPLAINS

HAVING discovered on examining the Professor's list of so-called 'Common Fallacies' that there was one with which I violently disagreed, I repaired myself thither in order to do battle.

I handed him the list with the offending passage 'A musical ear is not necessary in order to become a firstclass striker' heavily underlined in red ink. In order to support my argument I had copied on a piece of paper the definition of 'Rhythm' from the Oxford Concise Dictionary, thus: '(Mus.) systematic grouping of notes according to duration; structure resulting from this;'. This document I stuck under his nose.

Surely,' I began with my immaculate logic, 'seeing that good striking depends upon the accurate placing of one's bell in a rhythmic pattern, any person possessing a sense of rhythm has no need for what is usually termed a " musical ear "?'

He read through the definition carefully.
'The most significant feature of this,' he observed. ' is the abbreviated heading in parenthesis. because, in spite of much evidence to the contrary, bellringing is still a musical activity.'

- Maybe, but though I grant that a musical sense is perhaps a useful ingredient, I contend that it is by no means indispensable to good striking.'
'The first thing a learner has to master,' answered the Professor, 'once he has overcome the initial difficulties of bell-handling, is to recognise the sound of his own bell as it emerges from the welter of sounds above his head. If he is on the treble or the tenor he has maximum opportunity to recognise the "pitch" of it, especially in rounds, but once changes begin he is beset with problems. He has, in addition to his method-ringing and bell-handling difficulties, to accustom himself to the time lag between pulling and striking, and if he is tone deaf-and it is surprising how many people suffer from this defect in varying degrees this time lag is the only means of fixing the position of his own bell into the rhythmic pattern, seeing that he cannot recognise the sound of it.
'Such people. of course. cannot really make first-rate leaders. Being aware that the pattern (i.e., the rhythm) is uneven but being unable to recognise by sound the principal offenders, they cannot instigate the necessary corrections and are driven to the time-worn phrase "Listen to "cm"

I felt the ground slipping from beneath my feet.

- There must be many first-class strikers who are tone deaf,' I persisted.
'Are there? Offhand I cannot recall any. I should be most interested to discover how many there are and would be delighted to be proved wrong. All the best strikers I know are at least musical enough to be able to sing in tune and quite a few have distinct musical ability-like yourself! although it doesn't necessarily follow that distinct musical ability automatically produces a first-rate striker.'
And having neatly removed with one hand what he had given with the other, he went on: "You see, the difficulty with " unmusical" ringers is that in order to attain a standard of striking as high as their fellows they have to be well above average intelligence (for unmusicality is not a defect of intellect) in order to overcome their great handicap.'

You make it sound,' I complained. 'as though it is not worth while an unmusical person taking up bellringing!’
' I'm sorry if I have given that impression,' he said. especially when I think of Henry.
'And who is or was Henry?'
He was a friend of mine who took part in many of the peals I stood in some years ago. He was highly intelligent but tone deaf. It was painful being next to him in church when he was joining in the hymns. but in the tower he was a very keen ringer and learnt to strike reasonably well. He needed gentle reminders at intervals, such as "Keep a little wider off the tenor at hand," or "Keep a little closer to the third at backstroke." whereupon he would give a little nod and make the necessary adjustment. I think he struck by visual memory alone plus, perhaps, the natural instinctive rhythmic muscular sense that most ringers possess.'
The time to depart came all too quickly, but as I was about to depart I asked the Professor his opinion of the team that went to America.
'I have no quarrel with it. Sclection was difficult but I think an excellent choice was made.
'Mind you,' he remarked with a mischievous twinkle in his eye,' I think there was a very serious deficiency.'
'Oh, and what is that?'
'Well, don't you think that in order to illustrate the full variety and vigour of British bellringing a team of Minor ringers. ringing irregular methods, close-leads on Yorkshire ends should have been sent?"
I was relieved; 1 thought he was going to say that as lady should bave been included.

Perhaps. however, he was right. What do you think? H.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Presentation to Retiring Secretary

THE annual meeting of the Essex Association was held on Whit Monday at Chelmsford. The service, before the husiness meet ing. was conducted by the Provost (he Very Rev. G. E. Gordon). with an address given by the Assistant Bishop of the Diocese (the Rt. Rev. T. G. Stuart-Smith). He took for his text the words. 'Guard Thy Steps,' reminding those present that the familiarity of entering the church often tends to take away the reverence which should be felt in the House oí God.

The annual meeting immediately followed the service and was held in the Chapter House, with the Master (Mr. R. C. Heazel) in the chair. During the meeting the Master presented Mr. F. V. Gant. retiring after 11 years as secretary, with a silver salver and a cheque for his services to the Association. The husiness of the meeting was a little out of the usual run. The important item was a change in the rules which created a separate post of treasurer to the Association to take effect immediately.
Two proposals of a controversial nature came up. The Northern District proposed that the name of the Association should be changed to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild. The object of this was to prevent the loss of affiliated towers due to the change in county boundaries. Mr. R. Tomlin proposed that the Master and District Master should not hold office for more than five consecutive years. He stressed that this was not meant as a criticism of the present officers, but an effort to keep the Association from stagnating.
Both the propositions were defeated by a large majority.
One change and one addition was made to the officers-Mr. P. W. Saltmarsh becoming general secretary and Mr. P. J. Eves elected to the new post of general treasurer.
The business closed at 1.25 and the memters went to lunch, once again provided by the members and friends of the S.E. district.
In the afternoon and evening the usual
P.W.S. towers were open.

OBITUARY

MR. W. H. HAYWARD

The death took place at Cirencester Mcmorial Hospital on June 3 rd of Mr. Wilfred H. Hayward. aged 68. He started ringing at Witcombe at the age of ten. He was badly injured in the Battle of the Somme in World War I where he lost part of his left leg.
He came to Cirencester soon after the war and rang with us for atout 48 years. during which time he held for many years the offices of vice-captain and steeple keeper. He rang 39 peals on from five to 12 bells and was a good heavy bell ringer.

The funeral service was held at Cirencester Parish Church and was followed by cremation at Cheltenham. The Rev. I. H. Hearn. a very old friend. officiated at the service which was attended by the ringers, who sent a wreath in the shape of a bell. The ashes were afterwards interred at Witcombe.
In the evening a half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung: R. Wakefield 1. the Rev. I. H. Hearn 2. H. L. Cooke 3. E. H. Jefferies 4. F. J. Lewis. jun.. (cond.) 5 . P. Law 6. W. A. Godwin 7. P. Morgan 8. Miss Heather Leeds also rang in a touch to add her respect.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Mrs. Hayward and the other members of the family and we shall all miss him very much.

MICHAEL R. BLORE

The Derby Diocesan Association.

Michael R. Blore has, during his teenage years, built up a first class ringing record which does great credit to those who have taught and helped him. especially Mr. G. Halls, a well known Derby ringer, with whom he has rung most of his peals and whose help he greatly appreciates.
Michael was born on April 13th, 1943, at Melbourne. Derbyshire, and three years later. after his father had met with a fatal accident, the family moved to Derby.
After his school days at the Sturgess School, Derby. he went to the Derby and District College of Technology, where he took a five year course of mechanical engineering (City and Guilds). He is now a trade apprentice at the Rolls Royce Aero Engine Factory at Derby.

At the age of 14 Michael started to learn to ring at the Cathedral Church of All Saints. his tutor being the Ringing Master. Mr. H. Taylor. A very high standard of ringing is enjoyed at the Cathedral and the ten bells are rung morning and evening. almost every Sunday. He made rapid progress. scoring his first peal a year later. This was on January 3 rd. 1958, at Brailsford, when he rang the treble to a peal of Plain Bob Doubles, conducted by Mr. D. Walklate.
Determined to further his skill in the art. Michael began to study the field of conducting and his first success came fifteen months after he rang his first peal. It was on April 8th.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Shelford. with $36 \frac{1}{2}$ faults. were the worthy winners in the Bingham District round of the Crawford Cup contest held on May 23 rd at Granby. Tley were followed hy Whatton ( $85 \frac{1}{f}$ faults). Radcliffe-on-Trent (115). Holme Pierrepont did not finish the test piece.

It was a very enjoyable meeting, with 40 ingers present. and ringing at Granby and Barkston in the evening. Mr. Harrison thanked the judges (Messrs. A. Mould and D. Marshall), and Mr. Exton, the Vicar

Next meeting: Cotgrave. July 4th (joint with Nottingham District).
R.B.
1959. at St. Werburgh's. Spondon, where he conducted a peal of Minor in four methods (Cambridge. Kent, Oxford and Plain Bob).

Since that time he has built up a fine and first class record with a total of 71 peals. including Yorkshire and Cambridge Royal. Derby. Glasgow and Bristol Surprise Major. Of this noteworthy record Michatl has conducted 11, including two each of Bristol and Yorkshire Surprise and Grandsire Triples.
Like many youngsters he is keen on ringing heavy bells and success in this direction came when at the age of 17 he rang Grantham tenor ( 32 cwt .) to a peal of Yorkshire Royai, and in the same year he rang Oakham tenor (24 cwt.) to a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major. which he conducted. His proudest moment was when he finished ringing Nottingham St. Mary's tenor ( 36 cwt .) to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal in 1962.

New Rate for Postal Subscribers
In accordance with the announcement made at the Central Council meeting at Truro a new rate will operate for postal subscribers renewing their subscriptions or enrolling as new members as from July 3 rd . The increase is equivalent to 2 s . per annum, and the new rates will be : 3 months 10s.; 6 months 19s.; 12 months EI 17s. Substantial reductions are allowed for subsequent copies.

In the eyes of Michael Blore the late Ernest Morris. with whom he had the pleasure of ringing, ranks high among great ringers, and he considers that to be congratulated on one's ringing ty such as $E . M$. is praise indeed.
Michael's experiences as a ringer have not been without amusing incidents. one of which happened at Oakham when a member, renowned in the Derby Association for his homemade potent winc, invited the band to his home after a peal. Michael. who took no heed to friendly warnings. was completely knocked out and knew nothing more until he woke up the next morning to find himself at the home of another ringing friend.
Michael, who has held the office of secretary and chairman for the Detby District of the Derby Diocesan Association. has other interests besides ringing. One in particular is playing the guitar in a rhythm group which has been for an audition at the TV studios in Birmineham, and he has olayed at a number of ballrooms in the Midlands. It is hoped that this musical activity will not spoil for him the chance of extending a first class ringing record. Good luck. Mirchael. and may the great and wonderful art of change ringing keep you alive in the Exercise.

NORVING.

A PRAYER BEFORE A PEAL

Prior to the peal on the bells of Washing. ton Cathedral, the Dean (the Very Rev. F. B. Sayre) said the following prayer
O God our heavenly Father who art the author of our labour and our life. we thank Thee that Thou hast given us the freedom to praise Thee and serve Thee here on earth and to know one another in the grace of that service.
Bless us this day our heavenly Father that as we praise Thee with these hells Thv light and the wonder of Thy glory may peal foith from this tower to reach the hearts of all

COLLEGE YOUTHS IN SOUTH WALES

It rains in Wales
In buckets and pails.
And when it stops raining it hails.

THIS version of a well-known Welsh song probably does less than justice to the climate of the Principality, but certainly it seemed to your correspondent, when he attended the meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths at Cardiff on June 6th. that there was some justification in the above lines. It was. to say the least of it. Wet. when the party from London arrived at Newport. Mon., and so we were very glad and grateful that we were met at the station by Don Clift and Jack Pryor, who took us by car to St. Woolos Cathedral.

Here we found a fine ring of 12 bells, with a tenor of 21 cwt. We had been told beforehand that these bells form one of the hest 12 's there are for their weight. and they certainly came up to their reputation. The first touch. Stedman Cinques, was rung by ten London members. with Tudor Edwards and David Llewelyn ably providing 'local colour.' It hasn't raining quite so hard when we left Newport and made our way to Cardiff. some bv coach and others by car. We had an informal lunch at the Tennis Court Hotel. where there were about 40 present. including members from London. Giloucester. Bristol. Livernool and Chesterfield. This last was represented by Mr. Sam Scattergood. who. we are told. left there at the unheard-nf hour of 5.30 a.m. in order to get to Cardiff on time! The London party's efforts at getting to Paddington bv $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. quite pale into insignificance beside this. Among the local rinkers present were the Master off the Tlandaff and Monmouth Association. Mr. J. James, and the treasurer, Rev. I. J. Richards of Llinarth.

At the end of the lunch. Mr. Jomes. in a brief speech. welcomed the College Youths on hehalf of the Llandaff and Monmouth Associa. tion. He apologised for the weather. but hooed that we were having a rood time in soite of it. In his renly. the Master of the Ancient Societv of College Youths, Mr. John Phillips. said that we had had a very gond time up till now. and honed that we would have an even better time in the afternoon.
The partv then moved across the road in St. John's Church. Here we were met by Mr.
F. Hannington and Mr. T. Yeomans and the F. Hannington and Mr. T. Yeomans and the ten bells. a mixed ring in the old stvle. were ring in Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Royal.

Later we went hy enach to Llandaff Cathedral This heamiful church in a picturesnue etting was badly damaged by enemy action in the war. hut has now tieen rompletely restored. The dominant feature of the intering is the smbluture. Christ in Majesty. hv

EIGHT NEW MEMBERS

The rain had more or less stopped when we left. and went hack to the Tennis Court Hotel for the business meeting. There were about 40 present at this merting. Eight new members ware made. including Messrs. N Simon and R. G. Havard of Llandaff. Mr. T. Yeomans, the Ringing Master of St. John'c. Cardiff. and Mr. R. Addis. also of Cardiff. and Mr. J. Owen. of Pentre. The Maver. Mr Phillins. made mention of the recent deaths of Mr. Seymour R. Barker. who had heen a lifelang memter of the St . John's. Cardiff. hand and had rung 85 neals on the tenor there, and of Mr. R F. Coles. a nast Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association. who had done as much as anyone for ringing in that area.
In thanking the Llandaff and Monmouth Association. the Master esnecially mentioned Mr. M. J. Pryor for makine swih excellent arrangements. and the slergy of the three lower used.

To me.' he saik. 'this day it rne of the highliphts in my ringing career. When I left Cardiff many years ago for England it was the)ond my wildest dreams that I would return one day as Master of the College Youths. I should also like to thank the band who rang a peal at Caerphilly in honour of my mastership. Usually it's a case of "out of sight, out of mind." but on this occasion I was out of sight but not out of mind.
Replying. Mr. Pryor said: On behalf of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association may 1 say how pleased we are to have you all with us today. It is particularly appropriate that the Society of College Youths should comc here when you, Mr. Phillips, are Master. On looking through our peal records. 1 find a peal rung at Marshfield. on May 7th. 1927. of Grandsire Triples, in which Jack Phillips rang the treble to his first peal. He was Master of our Association in 1931. and during the time he was living here between 1927 to 1939. he rang 111 peals with the Association.

In our Association we have a number of up and coming ringers, and it is possible that one of them may occupy the chair one day. We are quite an exporting association-oui members are to be found in Liverpool. London and many other places.

The business meeting was followed by a "social hour.' but all too soon it was time to leave our old and new friends. and to make our various ways home. The College Youths have a long history of outings to various places. dating back to the earliest years of the society. but this was surely as good an outing as has ever been held. and I am sure we all say most sincerely. :Thank you. Cardiff, for a most enjoyable day:

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Ashford District

About thirty people were present for the service and tea at the meeting of the Ashford District at Stone-in-Oxney on May 30th.
The service was conducted by the Rector. Lt.-Col, the Rev, P. J. Bouveric-Brinc, who welcomed the visitors, and the address was given by the Rev. T. A. Rockley, Tait Missioner to the Diocese. Mrs. Butchers was at the organ. with the choir in attendance.

Afterwards tea was enjoyed at The Crown, and was arranged by Mr. A. Daw, captain of the local ringers. At the short business meeting Mr Alan Berry the Ringing Master. voiced the thanks of the visitors to those who had accorded such a splendid welcome for such a tiny village.

The present church, with its marvellous view across Romney Marsh. has stood on its island for 500 years. But the site has probably been sacred since the second century, as a Roman altar to Mithras, god of the legions. was unearthed from the chancel floor. This huge carved stone now stands on the floor of the towar. and is ceriain to outlast the old frame of the bells some ICO feet above it.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  North Dorset Branch

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. O. L. Willmott) who. in his address. spoke to us as churchmen helping the church as ringers, wardens and choir. all taking their respective paths in the service. A high tea was provided by the local ringers and much appreciated.
At the business meeting presided over by the chairman (Mr. W. C. Powell). Mr. Dennis Bishop (Ringing Master) congratulated four members on ringing their first peat at Bradpole. Steady progress is being made in change ringing and this was proved later in the evening. when three junior members took part in a course of Kent Treble Bob.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Young Ringers Encouraged

Eleven young girls are learning to ring the six bells at Wallington. Five of these were keen enough to come to an evening practice meeting held there on June 6th by the Hert ford County Association. Each had at least two good trics at ringing in rounds, and for some this was their first time on unsilenced bells.
For the more experienced ringers methods were fitted in up to a course of London We were glad to welcome visitors from Croydon (Surrey) and Ashford (Kent).

Letters to the Editor

Ten Men went to Sow

Dear Sir.-What an excellent article by George W. Pipe! One can almost live through this wonderful experience, the more so when one is able to recall many of the places of interest described.
Doubtless the whole team will have had an experience. the memory of which will b. with them for the rest of their lives. And what a topic for ringers' mectings and conversations. Congratulations.-Yours faithfully, J. R. COTTERILL, J.P.

Great Barr, Birmingham.
Note. We thank other readers for their appreciative references.-T. W.

First Handbell Peals in America

Dear Sir. - I noticed in 'The Ringing World of June 12th that four of the ringers who recently visited the U.S.A. rang a peal of Plain Boh Major on handbsils at Wash ne. ton. D.C.. and claimed that they had rung the" 'first handbell peal in U.S A.
This claim. of course. is incorrect as the first handhell peal in U S.A. Was three method; of Doubles rung at 217. Highland A venue. Tarrytown. N.Y.. on May 10th. 1950. conducted by me. The peal was rung to comm:morate the centenary of the first neal rung in the U.S.A.. namely Grandsire Triples at Philadelphia, Pa. on June 9th, 1850.
We also rang another handbell peal of Doubles six davs later at the same address which was. at the time. the home of the late Bcrnard H. Swinson. Both these peals were published in "The Ringing World" at the t'm? and are recorded in the annmal report of the Durham and Newcastle Association for 1949 50 . Incidentally the three ringers whe took part rang eight neals of Doubles at Caracas, Venczuela. in 1948-49. thus ringing neals on both the North and South American continents. These peals were also nublished in - The Ringing World at the lime and are recorded in the relevant reports of the Durham and Newcastle Association.

I shall be obliged if vou will give nuhlicity to this matter so that the incorrect claim can he withdrawn.-Yours sincerely.

ROLAND PARK.

Darlington.

Note.-We also thank Mr. Kenneth Arthur for similar information. He adds that the recent peal may well be the first of Major in U.S.A.-Ed.

A Protest from Lavenham

Dear Sir.-May I. through . The Ringing World. register a protest against companies who. on their annual outings, inflict on local inhabitants the most shocking noises - I dare not call it ringing.
I have been ringing for over 40 years and realise that learners should be given every encouragement. but surely a strange tower is not the place to let them practise and make such a horrible din?
The late Arthur Symonds taught me and a great many others and we were not allowed 10 ring. even in our own tower. until we could really control a bell.
The last two Saturdays have been the worst in my experience and hope this letter will be taken in good faith by the leaders of the companies.-Yours sincerely.
$F$. TURNER.

Broadcasting and Ringing

Dear Sir.-Having recently been privileged to broadcast on B.B.C. Home Service on the subject or̀ bells and ringing. I was particularly interested in the report of the Central Council's Committee on broadcasting presented at Truro. Mr. Sanger is right to suggest that ringers and those interested in listening to bells should write to the B.B.C. I would add. whether they like how any broadcast of bells or ringing is treated, it does not matter. The important thing to those responsible is to know just how many people listen or are interested in particular programmes.

I would hazard a guess that in a year the B.B.C. may receive about a dozen letters regarding ringing, but they do receive hundreds of letters regarding other musical subjects. The different-producers have a definite job to do. the chief aim being to interest and entertain the general public. Minorities and special subiects appear to get consideration in proportion to any interest shown, and requests or crilicism they may receive.

Personalities we know have a degree of sway. I was rather concerned to see in print in the 'R.W: that sometimes officers or producers leave or change their jobs, and that means that someone has to start all over again to educate his successor. This was not very nicely put: if I were in the B.B.C. I may like to he introduced to something. or advised on what a minority may have to offer. a nroper approach and attitude of mind is always necessary.

Regarding the inclusion of ringing when a church service is broadcast. 1 understand that a certatin number of minutes are allocated to the complete service, and the incumbent can more or less decide how thes: minutes (on seconds) are used. I have always thought that we ringers should try 10 publish in Ringing World a notice of an intended or possible item on bells heing heard: in my case recently the date and time were not known in time for nublication. althong'y I could have got confirmation from "The Radio Times' if 1 had looked!
Just in case any listener had the idea that my lalk was about me instead of bells. I would explain that I was fulfilling a request to 'look back' over my years of ringing and sneak of the attractions of our art, and differing rings of bells. My claim that the hells of Chewton Mendip, in Snmerset. are somehow superior to any other ring of eight of their approximate weight has not been disnuted. so I assume that this has now become generally accepted.-Yours etc.
W. H. COLES.

Identity of Bells wanted

Dear Sir,-On Sunday June 14th. the topic of the programme 'About Religion' on I.T.V.. was 'Bow Bells."

Si. Thomas' ringers waited eagerly to hear the new 12 being rung. but trie only bells heard. at the beginning and end of the programme, were a slow and what seemed to be a heavy octave.

Could any ringers who saw the programme identify them?
I think I would be correct in saying that those broadcast were not Bow bolls. and that we have been deceived !-Yours etc..

St. Helens. Lancs.
J. HEDGCOCK.

First Ladies' Peal for Bath and Wells

Dear Sir--Regarding the peal of Grandsire Doubles recently rung at Dinder, and stated to be the first peal hy all ladies for the Bath and Wells Association, whilst not disputing this claim. I would remind readers that a peal of Grandsire iriples was rung t:y all ladies at Portishead as long ago as 1915. Presumahly. this peal was credited to the Ladies' Guild: although on the commemorating peal-board it is headed 'Bath and Wells Association' and the Ladies Guild is mentioned in smaller letters below.

All the ringers taking part in this peal were. in fact, members of the Portishead tower and I wonder whether this feat has ever been emulated outside of Portishead? These ladies repeated their performance thre years later. again at Portishead. when a similar peal was rung. On this occasion all were local ladies. except the tenor ringer. who was Miss E. K. Parker (now Mrs. Fletcher).-Yours truly.

An East Anglia Broadrast

Dear Sir.-On reading the Central Council's Broadcasting Committee's renort. I noticed that in East Anglia's region nothing of interest has occurred in the last year.
However, while on a cycling sour of the area. around Norwich and Great Yiarmouth. members of Manchester University Guild apneared on the B B C is East Anglia Regional News. A pre-recorded film showed us cycling up to St. Edmund's. Kessingland. enterine the tower and actually ringing. Here the B.B.C. made a slight crror. As we were ringing on the screen. a recordine of Grandsire Doubles could be heard Unfortunatelv Plain Boh Minor was actually being rung! The film was followed by a live interview with our tour organiser, John Paldwin, and our secretary. Miss Jean Allen. The whole item tonk about five minutes of viewing time at $6.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. I nersonally would consider this 'interesting' but then I am biased-I was on it.-Yours sincerely,

DAVID J. BAKER.

Grandsire Triples (page 397)

Dear Sir-In the two interesting touches of Grandsire Triples by Brian D. Price, I respectfully submit the foomote should read:

In and Out of Course

Dear Sir.-Further to Mr. J. C. Baldwin's diagram !pag? 340), it has always been apparent 10 mc that if the number of places away from home of each bell is totalled and is a multiple of four then the bells are in course. otherwise not. The diagram seems to confirm this. Am I right?-Yours, etc..

SIOWMARKET'S APPEAL

Dear Kinging triends, -1 do not see how it is possio.e, save inrough ine courtesy of your uwa eagerly scanned periodical, to reach we many rongers 1 nave met-in carty aays as a ringer, and, later on, as a rang.ng clerac. wur llatertity, whicn sheds its nappy fellowsap over tower and tea at ms mecangs, turning in the sweet old belis which glaaden the anetlioon, has that quanty aoout it whien enccourages me to sope inat 1 mignt win your mutrosit. Is this onty a sentimental aream? Wil ye, inere is another hope, that 1 mignt wall your support! you may have guessed inat arready! my old kector used to say that the rignt epitapn for any ciergyman was this: And the Deggar died: (Kead il how you will!)

Now 1 am begging for bells, so perhaps you will read on-our bells at Stowmarket, eight of them. the tenor cast next after the famous Lavenham bell (which fact will indicate their beauty) but which are threatened with silence unless completely overhauled.

Ke-n spirits, led by our captain, Mr. O. G. Barnard, and ladies of the parish, have raised $\pm 500$ in the last three or four years in a parish heavily committed financially. I have offered to sit by the south porch of our church on July 2nd. for the day, receiving donations from all who will give.

What I wonder is this. Will the Jacks and the Georges, the Franks and the Freds, the Bills and the Charles, and many another who I have known in that wide stretching circle, and the bands with whom I have enjoyed a ring, will they send something to me for the fund ? This way, I believe, no other equally deserving cause would suffer. If they would send this weekend to: THE VICAR, 1HE PARISH CHURCH. STOWMARKET, SUFFOLK, then the postman on his rounds would drop off the letters at the porch and. I hope, Anglia T.V. might think it worth a newshlash to be there when he leaves them.Yours in the fraternity.
A. ARTHUR MUXLOW.

The Vicarage, Stowmarket.

OUTING  HURST, BERKS

For fneir annual outing. Hurst ringers chose East Anglia. Leaving Hurst at 7.30 a.m., Thaxted was reached at 10.30 and after inspecting this noted church touches were rung on the fine ring of eight.
After passing through some lovely villages of North Essex we arrived at Sudbury, where after lunch we rang the heavy eight at All Saints' Church. Then came the famous ringing village of Lavenham. where in that magnificent tower we enjoyed an hour's ringing on the glorious eight, ringing methods up to Treble Bob Major assisted by Mr. Maurice Symonds. Long Melford another fine church and a pleasant ring of eight. and Clare, with its heavy ring rung from the ground floor. were also visited. A last call for refreshment was at Baldock and Hurst was reached at $12.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. after a total journey of 220 miles.

The average age of the band was $17 \frac{1}{2}$ years. They would like through 'The Ringing World' to let their Stacey, and Penny know how much they joyed their holiday. They how much they ensincerely and also all the local ringers and incumbents who made them welcome.

ALAN PINK'S WHITSUN TOUR

On Friday, May 15 th, at 10 p.m., Alan was joined by Christine and Dennis Bowen, Jennifer Sceeney, Chris Clarke, Ted Venn, Jim Linnell and Giles Shedden at their headquarters for the week-end, The Check House, Seaton, Devon. The only incident on the journev down was the hitting of a pheasant, which ran in front of Chris's car and which a passing motorist picked up. During the meal we decided that we would try to ring a different Surprise method at eight-bell towers. This meant diaries were brought out, in some cases, and methods had to be learned.

On Saturday the first lower was Beer (5), where we met the last member of our party. Janet Woodman. The bells were originally hung at Braywood Church, Berks, which has now been demolished but where most of our party had rung. The bells were very noisy and the ropes were very long, but they went very well and well-struck Doubles was rung. The next port of call was Sidbury (8), where a local ringer joined us in ringing up and in a touch of Kent Treble Bob. The first Surprise method rung was Cambridge. At the next tower, East Budleigh (8), we were joined by a local ringer when he heard us ringing. The front two were very light set at hand stroke and caught the unwary at first. Besides the plain methods rung Yorkshire was rung.

The first tower after lunch was Woodbury (8), where a local ringer joined us in ringing These bells were heavy and the tenor was not always pulled of at the right time. The Surprise method rung was Superlative.

At Ottery Si. Mary (8) the only method wall struck was Bristol. The church itself was very much admired and we had an audience, as there were many visitors looking round.

After tea, on the way to the next tower, Honiton (6), Giles' navigator showed them more of the countryside than was planned and therefore they arrived a quarter of an hour after Chris' ca! There was no light in this tower but luckily it was not very dark. We were joined at both the Honiton towers by a ringer from Ottery. The eight at Honiton were a complete contrast to the heavy six, and the first touch of Double Norwich was rung. Surprise method was Lincolnshire. This was our last tower of the day, so we returned to headquarters for our dinner and then a walk round Seaton.

A 6 a.m. DIP
At six o'clock on Sunday morning two of our party were creeping out of the Check House and down to the beach. Iennifer had said the night before that she had her swimsuit wich her and was going swimming. The others wanted a witness to go so someone kindly volunteered to get up at that early hour. According to the witness she only stayed in five minutes.

The first stop Sunday morning was Taunton (12), where we joined in the service ringing. Grandsire Cinques was rung but Stedman Caters did not go so well. Janet was unable to be with us on the Sunday.

The next three towers were arranged at short notice by Mr. Langley. They were West Monkton (6). Thurloxton (5) and Creech (6). We joined the local ringers in Lyme Regis for service ringing and were very pleased that we were able to ring with Canon C. Carew Cox. We rang Yorkshire and Superlative. Then back to Seaton for dinner, where we joined the other guests for the first time.

Monday morning we collected our bags and left the headquarters for the last time. At Seaton (8) we were again joined by Janet and. for the day. Harry Keeley and also a local ringer from Beer. The first method rung was Ashtead and then Bristol. At the next tower Colyton (6) we noticed a large object in the cofner when we walked in, which on closer inspection was seen to be an old chiming apparatus. After ringing we turned the handle of the machine and rounds were struck. The local ringer said that it was a few hundred years old and was not used nowadays. At Axminster, we were joined by Mrs. Powell. These bells were of very good tone and we rang London and Bristol.

The first tower after lunch was Kilmington, where half the party had to wait as the tenor ringet stood on the trap door. Some Spliced Minor was rung and also London and York Surprise.

The next tower. Chard (8), was our last tower of the week-end. When we were not ringing we sat outside on chairs and sunbathed. A touch of Plain Bob called by one of the ladies failed to come round when she called tou many 'Befores.' Otherwise all the other loushes came round. The Surprise method rung was Southall. After an excellent tea we all returned from whence we came.
We would all like to thank Alan for organising this tour and also to thank the incumbents who allowed us io ring their bells and also to all the local ringers who met us and made us feel so welcome.

A STRIKING DAY IN BERKSHIRE

To quote Mr. W. Viggers . . . What more could a man want than to sit in peaceful surroundings on a fine day in May and listen to church bells ringing for his benefit!

As joint adjudicator with Major E. J. Bragg. Mr. Viggers opening comment at the Sonning Deanery Branch striking competition typified the friendly air of this annual event. Both judges, who travelled from Aldershot, were impressed by the improvement in striking ability made each year and shown by the decrease in fault finding.

The competition. held at Hurst on May 9 (is, was different from past contests by the more telaxed attitude of the teams and any tension. if present at all. was certainly not apparent among the teams waiting their turn to ring.
Ringing on the back six of Hurst's eight (tenor $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) was a precedent which had less effect than was perhaps anticipated-perhaps more credit to the teams who found the long draught and a certain springiness in the ropes a greater challenge in the production of good striking.

Hurst were complimented on their excellent ringing and declared winners with 11 faultsfaults which the judges thought perhaps would never come as this team started of with perfect rounds and changes. Easthampstead were awarded second place with 22 faults and Sandhurst third 130 faults).

Saxitby. Lincs, ringers would like to apologise to the ringer who called on Sunday evening. June 14th. For the benefit of any other; who may think of calling on Sundays they wish to point out that Evensong is not held in the Parish Church on the second Sunday in each month.

LANCASHIRE'S OUTING TO DERBY'SHIRE

Once again the second Saturday in May found the Rochdale and Bolton Branches holding their joint annual outing. The day dawned bright and sunny, and continued so for the rest of the day. The 41 -seater coach was filled to capacity. everybcdy was at the respective picking-up points on time and so we sped out of industrial Lancashire, had a look at part of the beautiful Cheshire countryside (the driver took a wrong furning), and urrived at our first Derhyshirz lower of Youlgrave exactly on time. The glorious old eight (26 cwt.) were soon sounding forth to various methods ranging from Plain Bob various methods ranging

The next tower should have been Matlock. but unfortunately we had been informed the previous evening that we could not ring there. However, thanks to . The Ringing World: we had managed to arrange a substitute. Perhaps you have sometimes wondered why the telephone number of 'Jafus " anpeared each week in the 'R.W.'? The reason is so that he can be quickly contacted and persuaded to obtain permission (so readily granted by the Rector and tower captain) to allow Darley Dale bells to be rung at extremely short notice. It should also be mentioned that the Rector of Darley Dale also happens to be president of the Lancashire Association! Various methods were rung on the delightful eight (even Stedman came round!) and the 2.000 -year-old yew tree (was it really planted by 'J.f.s.'?) was admired by all.
A chicken lunch was followed by ringing on the grand eight at Ashover, the light six at Clay Cross (where we interrupted a striking competition) and the 16 cwt . eight at North Wingfield.
Tea at Chesterfield was followed by an hour's ringing on the fine ring of 10 . Mr. Sam Scattergood made us very welcome and Grandsire and Stedman Caters. three leads of Oxford T.B. Royal and half a course of Cambridge Surprise Royal were all brought round successfully. The ringing closed with the fising of the 10 bells in honour of the birthday of Mrs. E. M. Silcock, a member of the local band who had worked extremely hard to restore the ringing room to its formet condition. following the fire in the church a short time ago.

And so, with an uneventful (to some) journey home, ended a perfect day. Our thanks are extended to incumbents and locia ringers for making us so welcome. and to the organiser-in-chief. Mr. Geoffrey Cheetham.

WILLINGDON, SUSSEX

The beauties of Kent on a lovely sunny afternoon were seen by Willingdon ringers on May 30th. when their fourth annual outine was held. With them were the Vicar and ringing friends from Eastbourne, Bexhill, Warbleton and Westham.

At the first call. Hawkhurst. some of the young ringers had their first experience of heavy bells. Mr. G. Russell met us at Lamberhurst, where the ring of six was recently rehung, and the ancient church completely renovated. Our ringers found the bells more to their liking, apart from the newness of the ropes. as they are accustomed to six bell ringing.
Horsmonden look some Itinding. But Mr. R T. Lambert was waiting for us and Stedman and Double Norwich were rung. We renewed acquaintance with Mr. T. E. Sone at Brenchley through the unexpected failure of a peal attempt at Maidstone. With his help a course of Cambridge Surprise Major was scored.

With the sun sinking we made our way to Tunbridge Wells. where an excellent dinner was served at the Castle Hotel. The Vicar (the Rev. W. Greenfield) thanked those responsible for the arrangements, and Willingdon was reached at 10.30 p.m. R.W.R.P.

CHRIST CHURCH, ERITH

Warm sunshine. wonderful scenery and delightful churches, with bells to match, were features contributing to another successful outing of the ringers of Christ Church, Erith.

On May 30th at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. a convoy of six cars, carrying ringers, families and friends, set off through the lovely Kent and Sussex countryside to the ittractive sandstone church at Turner's Hill. where we spent 45 minutes of indifferent striking on the handy eight (tenor $13 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ ).

Next came Slaugham's easy-going eight ( $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cw}$ ). which are very tuneful. Here the striking improved somewhat and a fair course of Douhle Norwich was rung. Pulborough bells proved to be very similar to those at Turner's Hill, good tone, easy to handle and worthy of better ringing than we produced.
After a good lunch at Arundel. We visited St. Nicholas Church for an hour. Another $13 \frac{1}{2}$. cwt. tenor. bells clear and good. but again the ringing left much to be desired. Full justice was, however, done to Petworth bells. a grand ring with 18 cwt . tenor. Tea on the lawn at Amberley was very welcome and. well refreshed. We made our way 10 Horsham. Here is a grand ring of bells (tenor 25 cWt ). all easy to handle. and after settling down the last 20 minutes produced the best ringing of the day. And then home, with memories of a wonderful, satisfying day, well organised by tower captain Mr. A. G. Hill.

LONDON RINGERS TO MEET AT CRICKET.-The friendly rivalry which exists between those two ancient London Societies. the College Youths and the Cumberlands. is to be extended from the belfry to the cricket field. The former have challenged the Cumberlands to a match, and, naturally. the challenge has been accepted. This game will. we are sure, excite much interest, and, as it is 10 be followed by a social, there will doubtless be a big gathering of London ringers in the evening.

Cowbridge Sunday service band. which includes four boarders from the local Grammar School, have established a new record for the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Guild with 46 Doubles methods/variations. In the peal was Chris Ricketts, just turned 13, who with three peals to his credit must be the youngest peal ringer in South Wales. The peal was to the memory of Mr. R. E. Coles, former Master of the Guild, who died on June 1st, 1963.
Five members of the local band participated in the peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major at St. John-the-Divine, Leics, on June 10 th. Mr. R. Kingsley Mason, the conductor, is one of them.
Withycombe Raleigh, Devon, ringers will miss Miss Valerie Taylor. who for the past three years has been a student it Rolle Teachers Training College, Exmouth. She is shortly leaving for her first appointment at Newton Ferrers.
Capel belfry was left open in connection with the Guildford Guild Summer Festival. Mrs. Penfold, of 6, Greenside, Capel, informs us that a cap was left behind. She is prepared to forward it to the owner if he notifies her.
A cosmopolitan band met one short for a peal of Stedman Cinques at Reading, but the services of the local tenor man were pressed into use, and a very pleasing peal was rung. Incidentally, it was the tenor man's first peal on 12 bells and John Napper's first of Stedma. 1 Cinques.

In regard to the peal at Painswick, published this week, it was intended that it should be an attempt at Stedman Cinques. Unfortunately one of the band failed to appear and Mr. Walter Judge, from Oxford, kindly offered to stand down. A good peal of Cambridge Royal was rung.
Hampshire ringers who travelled over 70 miles to attend the Bristol Ringing Festival, write enthusiastically of their memories. They also hit the headlines on page one of a local paper. They only wish that other cities would follow Bristol's example.

Mr. Colin A. Lewis, present Master of the University of Wales Society, has accepted the post of assistant lecturer in geography at University College. Dublin. The U.W.S. wish him all the best of luck. Watch out, Dublin!!
With his past associations with the University, Canon K. W. H. Felstead will note the 100th peal rung for the University of Bristol Society on June 6th.

A story of unlucky 13 comes from Bridgwater, where the local branch lost is peal of Grandsire Triples after $2 \frac{3}{6}$ hours when the tenor clapper broke. The date was June 13th.
Inadvertently Twerton was substituted for Tiverton in a belfry gossip column that appeared in our issue of June 6th. Mr. Tudor P. Edwards asks for a correction.

The peal by the Bristol Cathedral School Guild at the Cathedral on June 12th was rung by one master, three pupis and four old boys.

Miss Hilary N. Kippin received a vote of thanks from the band who rang a peal at St. Michael's, Basingstoke. for filling a last minute gap that necessitated cancelling a previous engagement.
Going for the first peal on the bells at Tickenham. Somerset, on May 23 rd, the performance had to be curtailed after six extents because a resident complained of the length of ringing.

Wendy Griffin. from West Hill. Wandsworth. should be associated with the quarter at Southwark Cathedral on June 7th. She kindly stood out after the band had met one short for Caters.
We thought we were reading the 'Irish Bell News ' when we came across the following paragraph in 'Ringing Towers.' 'Who was the Sydney ringer who recently rang up a number of people late at night so that she could find out the telephone number of the house she was staying at?" The teason for this was so that she could ask a friend to put out the key in order to avoid drawing attention to her late homecoming.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION  Biggleswade District

Despite the threat of thunderstorms there was a good attendance at the meeting of the Biggleswade District at St. Swithin's, Sandy. on June 13th, when Mr. D. Saunderson was ringing master. Ringing continued throughout the afternoon on the 12 cwt . six and the methods rung included Ifereward Bob.
Mr. P. Rogers played the organ at a short service. conducted by the Rector, the Rev. D. B. Warren. At the business meeting. which followed tea. 22 ringers were present. The president. Mr. A. E. Rushton, took the chair and three new members were elected The venues for the next three meetings were chosen, and a request was made to members to pay their subscriptions as quickly as possible. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Rector and those who had prepared tea.
Ringing during the evening ranged from rounds to London and Norwich: the standard of striking was generally better than usual.
Next meeting: July 11 th, Henlow.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Tradition was hroken at Caston on May 30th. when the Western Branch held its business meeting in the churchyard owing to the summery weather. The chair was taken by Rev. G. Galley, and after the minutes of the last meeting were read some discussion took place about the desirability of holding a monthly practice meeting. It was decided to do so and the first of these meetings will be held at Necton on June 171 h and the second at Fakenham on July 15th

The service, which preceded the business meeting. was conducted by Canon King.

The chairman expressed thanks to Mrs. Hall who entertained us to tea and all the ladies who helped. Evening ringing was at Griston (5) as well as Caston.

RIGHT-PLACE SURPRISE MAJOR METHODS INCIDENCE OF FALSENESS

Reviewed by Maurice Hodgson

IN a sense, the collection of Right-Place Surprise Major Methods, published by A. S. Hudson and J. W. McClenahan in October, 1963, and quickly sold out, was complete in itself. However, it left to the user all the labour of working out the falseness of the methods.

This task is not unduly onerous for a single method, but a decision to ring a new method usually involves selecting the best from several differing so slightly that when one has been chosen the rest will be discarded. One factor governing the suitability of a method is the quality of peal compositions that can be produced for it which, in turn, depends on its false course heads and their incidence. Foreknowledge of the amount of falseness would enable unsatisfactory methods to be rejected early in the scarch. Moreover, when falseness has been derived by one person or by one procedure, an independent verification is a comfort, especially when performed by an untiring computer.

There is a school of thought which deprecates publication of the false course heads of methods on the grounds that false peals may be rung if the information is misused. This objection hardly applies when complete data is quoted, but to do this for more than 5,000 methods in a book of practicable size and price presents a formidable problem since some of the methods have more than 40 items of falseness. It is greatly to the credit of Hudson and McClenahan, joined in this project by H. E. Bishop, that they have condensed the essential data on each method into one line of typing which can be readily expanded into the full list of falseness by means of simple tables.

If this were all they had done, they would still have produced a worthwhile companion to the Collection. But the work goes further than was necessary to fulfil its main purpose and includes, in effect. a ready reckoner for obtaining the falseness of any Major method on the treblebob principle. Another section, contributed by Mr. Hadley Hunter, extends the system to spliced methods, and is presumably the first published exposition of inter-method falseness in the Surprise Major field.

The authors have used throughout the algebraic treatment introduced by the present writer. Of the various extant half-lead systems of proof, this treatment is best suited to computation and to a concise notation. When performed without external aids, the procedure entails three manipulations of rows-two transpositions and a substitution-type permutation. The Table of Ratios eliminates the second transposition and the permutation, thereby reducing the manipulations and the risk of errors by twothirds.

Two obstacles are encountered when attempting to abbreviate the data on falseness by quoting only one course head. The difficulties arise in those groups of false course heads which contain more than one set, where it is consequently necessary to indicate the relationship between the incidence parameters of the different sets. This can be done by providing tables of modifiers, but since any course head in a group may be the first to be derived, as many as eight lists of modifiers would be necessary in some groups to enable the full list of falseness to be correctly transcribed. In addition, the values of the modifiers depend on whether the falseness is due to like or unlike rows, which doubles the number required.

The authors have overcome the first difficulty by arranging that the typical false course heads quoted in the Main Table of method falseness and in the Table of Ratios are always members of the same set in a group; modifiers based on the remaining sets are then unnecessary.

They have overcome the second difficulty by a subtle adjustment of the basic falseness formulæ. Thus, they use parameters $\mathbf{x}$ and $\mathbf{y}$ which are related to my $\mathbf{m}$ and $\mathbf{n}$ in that $\mathbf{y}=\mathbf{m}$ for like rows, but $\mathbf{y}=\mathbf{m}$ for unlike rows. with $\mathbf{x}=\mathbf{n}$ in both cases. By this alteration, masterly in its simplicity, the values of the modifiers are not affected by the nature of the rows, and a second version is not required.

There is little to complain about in the volume, although it seems incongruous that a mathematically-based treatment should perpetuate the archaic term 'in-course, instead of using the natural and descriptive term 'even.' Also, a little more explanation of 'modulo 7 ' would have helped potential users who are unaware that adding a positive number to negative one involves subtraction. The main defect is that the printing leaves something to be desired: incidence parameters are occasionally indecipherable, though they can be restored if needed by using the Table of Ratios. In view of these misprints, an explicit indication of clean proof scale would have been psychologically better than a blank opposite a method number. which raises an uneasy suspicion that the computer or the duplicator might have forgotten to deal with that method.

The trivial shortcomings do not detract from the value of the book, which is a welcome contribution to the technical literature of the art. (Price 12s. hd. post free, from A. S. Hudson, Clare College. Cambridge.)

A.N.Z.A.B. COUNCIL MEETING IN HOBART

'THE third. and best yet, Council Meeting of the Australian and New Zealand Associa tion was held in Hobart. Tasmania. on the Queen's birthday weekend, June 13th-15th. It was preceded by some peal ringing the previous week when a band of four Sydney ringers, three Adelaide ringers and one from Melbourne. met in Hobart on Sunday. June 7th. On that afternoon a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major on the delightful Taylor eight at St. David's Cathedral. came to a halt after 4.820 changes because of a miscalculation in timing resulting in over rinning an Evensong in the church below The consequent disappointment was largely banished the next afternoon by the success of a 5.200 of Plain Bob Major, conducted by Tom Goodyer. on the 118-year-old eight at Holy Trinity and the promise of another chance to go for the Double Norwich again the following Monday. On that occasion there were no interruptions and Tom called his second peal of the week
On the holiday weekend, June 13th-15th. a large gathering of inter-State visitors descended on Hobart from the skies till by the middle of Saturday afternoon the Tasmanians had on their hands 28 visiting ringers, logether with wives and families. Eighteen came from Melbourne, representing St. Paul's Cathedral and City Hall and St. Peter's. Ballarat: six from Sydncy representing St. Mary's Basilica and St. Jude's. Randwick: and four from Adelaide. representing St. Peter's Cathedral and St Andrew's. Walkerville. The influx ought to have reached its peak five hours carlier but fog at the Melbourne airport and engine trouble delayed the arrival of the contingent from Victoria.

A NEW PRESIDENT

Fifty-five persons sat down to an enjoyable dinner on the Saturday evening at Carolside. an old house in the suburbs. and these festivities preceded the actual Council meeting. Tom Goodyer did not stand for re-election to the presidency and Enid Roherts was elected the third president of A.N.Z.A.B. with acclamation. The other officers were re-elected for another year-Graemc Heyes as secretary, with Anne Cowling as his assistant : Ken Minchinton as treasurer: Bill Pitcher as peal secretary and cditor of 'Ringing Towers.' The treasurer's report revealed a considerable accumulation of funds and with no foreseeable heavy expenditure it was decided to reduce subscrip tions by half. Bill Pitcher reported that Ringing Towers had made a slight profit and the circulation had risen to 186 copies per issue. He paid a tribute to the help he had received from David Bleby and other co-opted assistants.
Other matters raised included consideration of designs submitted for a badge, deciding on Melbourne for the 1965 Council meeting and discussing the possibility of New Zealand for the 1966 mecting. A discussion ahout Great Adventure II took place and Bill Pitcher reported on a revised proposed itinerary which is to be passed on immediately to Tom Lock for comment.

EXTENDING REPERTOIRES

The whole weekend showed again what beneficial shot in the arm" these gatherings are to Australian ringing. Apart from forming new friendships and renewing old ones and talking as only bellringers can, everyone made progress, ringing new methods and generally extending their repertoirc. The learners received advice and encouragement from the more experienced ringers who in their turn stood to the ropes 10 iry something new. For them one of the satisfactions of the mecting was that apart from ringing in boh courses of London Minor and Cambridge Major at least ten ringers took part in the six or seven courses of Superlative Surprise Major that were rung, five of them ringing the method for the first time
We were reminded that the Exercise is not without its dangers when at St. David's Cathedral a stay was broken and Ethel Lloyd. a Ballarat ringer, was carried into the air and sustained a chipped elbow bone as well as being badly shaken when she fell to the floor Apart from this unfortunate accident it was a highly enjoyable weekend and wound up on the Monday with the success of the peal of Double Norwich at St. David's and the ad journment to the Waterworks Reserve for what seems to be becoming the raditional barbecue. where in an attractive woodland setting with the sound of handbells coming from the scrub the Hobart ringers reminded us once again, as had been evident throughout. that they were the best possible hosts, untiring in their attention to their guests and providing almost unlimited time on the bells as well as very good weather. To them the Association owes a great debt of thanks.

HILLINGDON CELEBRATIONS

The culmination of $4 \frac{1}{2}$ years work in the raising of 211.000 in the parish of St. John the Baptist, Hillingdon. Middlesex. was celebrated. approximately enough. on SI. John the Baptisi Diy. June 24ih. This sum covered the cost of refacing the stonework on the tower, and the building of new vestries on the north side of the chancel. The dedication and hallowing of the work was performed by the Bishop of Kensington, the Right Rev. R. C: O. Goodchild. at a service of thanksgiving in the evening. attended by a large congregation including the Mayor and Uxbridge Borough Council
During his address. The Bishop referred to the sorrow thzy all felt at the absence of the Vicar. Rev. F. C. ## A Great Handbell Achievement  Last week we announced that a new record in Spliced Surprise handbell ringing was established at the residence of the conductor, Mr. John R. Mayne. at Headstone Lane, Harrow. The peal consisted of 18 methods, and in it there were 134 changes of method.  This great achievement beats the previous record of 16 Spliced Surprise Harold Cashmore which has stood since October 25th, 1952. Mr. Christopher W. Woolley was in both peals, the latter was his 100th peal of Surprise on handbells.

56 YEARS' SERVICE IN ONE TOWER

To the list of those who have given a halfcentury"s service in one tower must be added the name of $\mathbf{M r}$. Raymond Addison. of 21, Russell Street, Stockton. Yorks, who this year celebrates 50 years as a ringer at St. Pauls Church. Thornaby.
In honour of the event. Mr. Addison took part in a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Paul's Church on June 13th. The band included two of his pupils-David Dawson. who rang his first peal, and Margaret Wilkinson. who was ringing her first in the method. They both rang faultlessly. There had been two previous attempts to score it.
A strong family connection exists with St. Paul's Church. His father was associated with the Sunday School for 50 years as pupil. teacher and superintendent. His brothers older than Raymond. were bell-ringers and it was as a boy of 13 he desired to emulate them and became fascinated in ringing.
He still rings regularly on Sunday mornings at Stockton Parish Church, and in the afternoons at Thornaby. Much of his time is occupied in training youngsters. For more than 10 years he was vice-president of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association. He is also a member of the Yorkshire Association.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Although the attendance was below average the bells of All Saints*. Edmonton, were put to good use in standard and Surprise methods at the North and East District meeting on June 13th.
Preb. S. G. W. Knight conducted the Association's form of service and extended a warm welcome to his church. Mr. Ernest Grove accompanied at the organ and Miss Sheila Moore, an un and coming member of the local band, read the lesson. Tea followed in the Charles Lamb Institute and Miss Newcombe and her helpers, as usual. provided an excellent repast
At the subsequent husiness mecting reference Was made to the passing of the Bishon of Willesden. The Rt. Rev. George Ernest Ingle. a vice-president of the Association. whose funeral had taken place that day the members standing in silence for a few moments.
Confirmation of the provisional election of the following as non-resident life members. nrior to participating in peals. was made:Philip J. Rothera (Chelmsford). Dennis Ellisdon (IIford). Gillian Syms (Letchworth). Robert Harris (Bognor Regis). Jean Lavender (ThornIon Heath) and Ann P. Robinson (Elstree). Mr. T. G. Fox. formerly of Stepney and now living at Horsham. was ilso elected a life member. whilst Miss Louiso Gallini. of the St. Augustine's. Kilburn band, was clected as a ringing memher.

Under the guidance of Mr. Charles Ward a new band has been formed at Barnet, and it is gratifying to learn that the bells are now ringing regularly for Sunday services. Eight members of the band were now up to change ringing standard and were elected as ringing members. viz. Mrs. M. L. Paternoster, and Messrs. R. Derry. R. Adcock. K. Record. S. Taylor. M. Hulleti. E. J. Paternoster and J. R Paternoster
Before closing the proceedings the chairman expressed the thanks of the meeting to the Vicar and all who had contrihuted to the success of the gathering.

IN YORKSHIRE WITH FRANK C. PRICE

ON $\begin{gathered}\text { Saturday. June 6th. at Doncaster, I } \\ \text { joined Tom and Kath Lock (North }\end{gathered}$ joined Tom and Kath Lock (North (North Stoneham). Mimms), David Forder (North Stoneham).
Cyril and Frances Low (Hampton). Bert Gogle (Norwich). Tom and Margaret Chapman and baby Chtis (Bishopstoke). Dick Price (Sheffield). Ruth Foreman (Hendon). Dennis Knox (High Wycombe). Frank and Sheila Price and baby Fiona (Crowthorne) for the start of Frank's annual week - this year to be in Yorkshire. Our transport included the 32-year-old Chapman Rolls. which was a constant source of interest. though on one occasion stopping its $2 \frac{1}{2}$ tons gave some of us an anxious moment.
Eric Critchley met us at St. George's and when we had climbed the many steps of the huge tower we found that the method for the first peal attempt of the tour had been changed in Bristol. That didn't worry Dennis. who. after those not pealing had sampled the 30 cwt. ring of eight called his own composition to a good peal. On to Wakeficld in the evening to $\mathrm{H} . \mathrm{O}$. at the Strafford Arms Hotel in time for dinner and a handbell evening.
On Sunday we were privileged to ring Treble 12 and Stedman Cinques for morning service at St. Peter's. Leeds ( $42 \mathrm{cwt}$. ) and to ring at Sheffield Cathedral (12-40 cwit.) for Evensong. This latter tower is for ever associated with Charles Hattersley and that wellknown figure at Central Council meetings, the late Sid Palmer. Between this service ringing. Dick Price took us on a tour of the heauty snots in the Pennines on the borders of the West Riding with Cheshire and Derbyshire. with lunch at the 13 th centurv inn at Strynes. A few spare minutes allowed us to ring on the pleasant light eight at Dore, where Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey was once churchwarden. Handbells in the evening ranged from 720 of Plain Bob Minor. with singles only, to attemnts at Cambridge Rnval and we were glad to be joined by Wilf Moreton

A MISCHANCE

A good start was made on Monday. in lovely weather. and excellent ringing for two hours of Yorkshire Major on the fine eight (22 cwt.) at Howden. By one of those mischances which take the certainty out of peal ringing the conductor had then to call Stand. so what might well have been the first struck peal of the week was not. While the remainder of the party had gone on to Selby, Kath had prepared a picnic lunch for the peal band. We all met at Selby in the afternoon for a pull on the ten (251 cwt .) at this glorious Norman and early English Abbey. A fair course of London Royal No. 3 was followed. with apparently more difficulty, by Stedman Caters. Ossett (10-27 cwt.) was reached in time for the evening practice, which the local band had kindly given up to us. This time an almost perfect course of London Royal made a local ringer wish he had his lape recorder. Camhridge Royal. Stedman Caters and Little Boh Royal concluded this very pleasant hour after which at H.Q. Dick showed his coloured films of last year's Devon tour and of his own boating holiday on the Broads.
At Tadcaster ( 8 - 20 cwt .) on Tuesday morning. four-spliced went well after the conductor had been persuaded to start again and not to call changes of method when the treble was at the back. It may have been just as easy for him. but it caught most of us unawares. The programme then said afternoon free in York, which was true for some. But five of us returned to H.Q. to ring Bob Royal in hand. After an hour a clapper fell out. so now some of us have suffered this hoth on tower- and handbells. Later on. however, we felt better. When Wilf Moreton called a good peal of Stedman Cinques at Wakefield Cathe dral ( 35 cwt.). after which we were all ready for a drink and a meal

ROPE TROUBLE

Wednesday brought mixed fortune. Tw towers in the morning--some good five-spliced at Birstall (8-22 cw(.), in spite of the Yorkshire tail ends: and among other methods at All Souls'. Haley Hill Halifax (8-25 cwt.) was Oswald Major, its parentage heing Kent and Cambridge. In the afternoon it was my turn to call Grandsire Cinques on the 28 cwt . 12 at St. John's. Halifax. After splicing one rope. we rang as far as the third lead when another broke. That spliced we reached the fourth lead and still another rope came down.
Having no faith in the remainder we reluctantly abandoned the attempt for what had promised to be a good peal. The early finish allowed time for a tower grah at East Ardsley (8). but in the second touch here yet another rope broke. Five of us evened up the score a little at H.Q. in the evening with a peal of Plain Bob Royal on the handhells. on which the late J. A. Trollope had rung many of his peals
If you ever get a chance to ring at Sprotborough on the new eight ( 8 cwt .) don't miss it. For their weight and note they are perfect and at this. our first tower on Thursday. Frank made double-handed tower bell ringing look easy by ringing 7-8 to a course of London. Look out for a peal of Major there one day by four ringers only! A pull at Conisbrough (8) preceded lunch in Rotherham and an extra tower (Whiston-8). We spent a pleasant hour drinking tea at Dick's home at Thryburgh where the sight of the week was Bert Gogle and Tom Lock industriously weeding the garden.
In the evening we were joined at Rotherham hy Norman and John Chaddock for a peal of London Royal. When the tenor would not clapper up. we thought that Wednesday" jinx had followed us. hut Norman removed the clapner counter-balance and all was well. The peal. conducted hy Tom Chapman on this fine ten ( 34 cwt.) was a little like the curate's egg-some if it was excellent. Those not in the peal tried the six at Thryburgh hofore returning to Wakefield and enjoying Mrs. Moreton's hospitality.

HOMAGE TO SNOWDONS

Dennis had to leave on Friday to get back in time to ring a few more changes on the High Wycombe outing. but the rest of us enjoyed the finest weather of the week. In the morning we rang at Ilkley ( $8-18 \mathrm{cwt}$.). which was the tower of the Snowdon family. where the father of Jasper and William and the grandfather of Miss Margarct. was Vicar. The stained glass window, with bell motif. subscribed for by the ringers of England to the memory of lasper. was much admired. Although he died at the age of 41. he yet had had time to establish the Snowdon series of text books. Until the evening peal we were free and spent nleasant hours at Bolton Abbey in the heart of lovely country. Fred Mundav met us at Bradford Cathedral (10-25 cwi.) and Cambridge Royal, called by David, brought our deal total for the week to five
That evening our thanks were expressed tanoibly to Frank for arranging the tour and to Dick for his heln with local knowledge and influence. and to all the incumbents and local ringers for their help and. by me on. helieve it or nol, my first ringing tour. to all the old stagers for theit company. including especially haby Chris and hahy Iiona.

Ladies With 500 Peals

This week we record the fact that Miss Joan Beresford, of Dartford, the honorary treasurer of the Ladies' Guild. has rung her 500th peal. This took place at Holy Trinity Church, Guildford, and was a peal of four Spliced Surprise Major methods. The peal was rung for the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and was conducted by Miss Beresford's brother, Dennis, who is Master of the Society.
Miss Beresford is the sixth lady to hold this honour. The others are :
Mn. Amy Thomas, of Hinton-on-theGreen, Worcestershire. the widow of Mr. Jack Thomas;
The late Mrs. Phyllis Poole, the widow of Inspector Harold Poole, of L, eicester:
Mrs. Marcia Marshallsay, of Bournemouth;
Miss Muriel Reay, of Birmingham ;
Mrs. Claudia Critchley. wife of Mr.
G. W. Critchley, of Kncbworth, Herls.

GOLDEN WEDDING OF MR. AND MRS. L. A. TIDY

I IMPSFIELD Chart. Surrey, had something really to celebrate on June 20th. Relalives and friends came from all parts, with greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Len Tidy on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

The day began with Holy Communion. celebrated by the Rev. Philip Haynes. The first changes of a quarter peal began as the couple left the church to be photographed at the same rose-hung porch as 50 years ago. In the band was one representative of the ringers of St. Peter's. Limpsfield. and another from nearby Westerham-only two of the dozens who have learnt their ringing from Mr. Len Tidy over the years
Late afternoon was the time for everyone to gather in St. Andrew's Hall. There tables were spread for an appropriate feast, and in the midst of all were Mr. and Mrs. Tidy senior, and the anniversary cake. A toast was drunk to their continued health. proposed by Mr. Wilfred Tidy on behalf of the immediate family and numerous nephews and nieces. Mr Jack Weller expressed thanks and good wishes on behalf of the guests. Mr. Len Tidy could find words for only part of what he had to say. In the ringing which followed, six of the Tidy family took a rope : three generations of ringers. an age range of 16 to 82 . The day was rounded off with another quarter peal.
Fifty years ago St. Andrew's Church was a comparatively young church. Already Len Tidy was amongst the very keen ringers. and has been tower captain since 1913. The couple. who were married at St. Andrew's in 1914. are still very much with us. in the hearts of the generations that have come to ring at The Chart since then

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE, YORK

Members of the College Society visited Stillington a three bell tower, with a $5 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$ tenor, on June 3 rd and spent a half-hour ringing rounds and call changes. Mr. J. Hutchinson took the members to his home to inspect his scale model of a ring of six bells. These and handbells were rung. Later an hour was pent on the light eight at Easingwold, ringing rounds. Doubles and call changes. Refresh ments with the president of the Society and handbell ringing concluded the outing.

The Everest Band

Dear Sir,-In these days, when we move so rapidly from one excitement to another, it is good to be reminded of great events, whether of long past or of recent date. All of us, therefore. will surely welcome the photograph of the band that rang the 40.320 at Loughborough. There cannot be anything but sincere admiration for this band of young men, who tackled this stupendous task in a spirit that was both cavalier and determined, enduring a physical and mental ordeal that demanded great courage and steadfastness.

1 may not be alone in wishing that a more worthy reproduction of the portrait of the band had been made available to commemorate this historic feat. The paper on which our journal is printed is obviously capable of better reproduction, and much. therefore. must depend on the quality of the original photograph. Whatever the difficulties, however, I feel that it would be well worth while to take trouble to perpetuate in first-class style something that will he treasured both by the members of this gallant band of adventurers and hy future generations of change ringers.Yours faithfully,

Warminster EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.
Note, The original print and negative was Note- The original print and negative was very indistinct and was exceedingly poor material for the block makers to work on. We hope if the hand ever reassemble a photograph worthy of the occasion will be taken. A photograph of this band should go down to nosterity-te republished and retained in the archicves of the Central Council.-Ed.

Making Visitors welcome

Dear Sir.-In regard to the annual outing of the Bolsover ringers to the Peterborougit district on June 6th. I should like to express my own appreciation of the very warm welcome at each of the towers visited during the day.
Onc often reads of difficulties about finding keys to towers and although the party arrived early it Tichmarsh. it was refreshing to find the elderly incumbent already on the lookout, and he and his wife were obviously pleased to hear the bells. It was a most pleasant surprise for the whole party to be invited into the small Rectory cottage for cups of tea and biscuits.

At Warmington two of the local ringers were present and at Woodston the Curate-incharge (formerly of Howden) and two young ringers showed very great interest in the visitors.

At the last tower. Castor. the visit coincided with the local practice (unusual to see so many people prepared to meet on a Saturday evening) and I was most impressed by the nuw wooden floor (the work of the local ringers) and the excellent condition of the bells and ringing room. Here again the incumbent visited the tower and several of the local ringers joined in some excellent ringing. As the coach left Castor it was most gratifying to be told by an old gentlemare that it was the best change ringing he had heard in his life!
In conclusion. I would like 10 thank my friends from Bolsover and district for a very enjoyable day amongst excellent bells and pleasant company - Yours faithfully.

Peal withdrawn

Dear Sir.-I have to perform the very reyrettable duty of withdrawing. on the conductor's behalf, a peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Biggleswade on August 171h. 1963. owing to falseness in the composition which I overlooked when checking it before it was rung.

May I also express heartfelt regrets to the rest of the hand-Yours faithfully.

Ringing in South Africa

Dear Sir.--You want the bells-I got 'em' is one of my husband's pet clichés, but for once I am 'one up' on him. I am at present enjoying the delights of three months' holiday in sunny South Africa and after experiencing the thrills of a visit to the Kruger Game Reserve, a trip of nearly 3,000 miles to the Eastern Cape Province with its wonderful mountain. lake and coastal scenery (between times staying with a friend Eetween Pretoria and Johannesburg). I am now spending a fortnight in Durban.
As there are two churches with bells here, Pat wrote urging me to try and have a pull, so although I haven't rung in England for several years I felt I shouldn't miss this unique opportunity. I contacted Mr. Cyril Chambers (who came out here from Worcestershire in 1939) and found that Colin Stevenson. from Harlington, who is now studying at Salisbury University, S. Rhodesia. was also in Durban on holiday and had been making enquiries about ringing. Unfortunately there is no regular ringing now at either church. on account of the usual shortage of enthusiasts. but Mr. Chambers rustled together four other 'locals' and we were able to ring some Plain courses of Boh Minor on the back seven of St. Mary's. Greyville (a fine ring of 10 by J. Tavlor tenor 18 cwt .25 lh .), hefore service on Sunday evening. June 7th. Then the same hand (with one addition) mit together the next evening and enjoy som: Grandsire Triples and Boh Minor. This was the first time any Triples had been possible for five or six years, but Mr. Chambers is now hoping to arrange a practice for us one evening at the Cathedral Church of St. Paul (8). Which unfortunately cannot muster enongh ringers for Sunday service ringing. I believe the last time these bells were rung was on New Year's Eve.
I should like to express my appreciation to Mr. Chambers and his co-ringers for making it nossible for me to rine in Durhan. In addifion he and his wife also kindly ralled for $m y$ friend and I and trok us with Colin Stevenson for a scenic drive outside the city and entertained us to tea. It is wonderful that this camaraderic amone ringers is apnarent all over the globe. Our visit even gat ned a short notice in the Durhan Daily News !

On June 2lst I am hoping in start on an eight-dav tour to the Kariba Dam and Virtoria Falls and as I shall have two days in Salishury S. Rhodesia. Col'n is kindlv arransing for me to sample the hells of the Cathedral (10) there. So if I'm lirky hefore I return to Encland in July. I shall be three un ${ }^{\circ}$ on Pat.
Best wishes to all ringine friends at home. SYLVIA C. CANNON (Mrs.).

An East Anglian Broadcast

Dear Sir.-I must apologise 10 David Baker and members of Manchester University Guild who did not receive mention for their ringing at Kessingland, in the Central Council's Broadcasting Committee's report. Of course their broadcast was of great interest and it well deserved mention. I am the contact for this area for C.C.B.C.. and unfortunately did not see the broadcast, nor did anybody happen 10 mention it to me.
As usual. I inquired of both B.B.C. and 1.T.V.. about any hroadcasts of ringing. etc.. hut I do not think they could he hlamed for not mentioning it. as it would be very difficult for them to keep tapes on every news item. Perhaps anybody who shares in. or sees or hears, anything of this kind in this area in future would kindly advise me-and the same might well apply in the other areas. I aluays have a special interest in Kessingland ringing. as it was partly becau:c of a very long meeting of their Parochial Church Council with me, that they spent their money on rehanging and augmenting their fine hells. instead of a ghastly electronic imitation!Yours sincerely. GILBERT THURIOW'

'Spike' Stays

Dear Sir.-Your Winchester correspondent asks (June 19th) about stays in the form of metal 'spurs' or 'spikes' such as were fitted at St. Laurence's Church. I cannot say who originated this type of stay. but it does seem to have been quite common a hundred or more years ago.

At Mappowder in Dorset, the tenor 113 cwt. in G) of the 'unringable ' ring of five has such a stay, while the other four bells have never been fitted with stays at all! The bells are all 18th century and were rehung in their present frame when the church was restored in the 19th century. (They are wildly nut of tune but otherwise appear to be serviceabie.)
Two out of the ring of three bells at Wroxall. in Warwickshire, are fitted with these stays. The frame here is 17 th century but the stays are probably 19 th century revlacements. A single bell (hy one of the Rudhalls) hung for ringing on the roof of Berrington Hall. Herefordshire, also has a 'spike ' stay

If someone could devise some way in which this type of stay could 'give.' when necessary. without being pulled out of the headstock by its screws. I feel that it would be a far simpler and neater alternative both to the cumbersome traditional system of stays and sliders and to the Hastings-tyne stay-on light bells, at any rate.-Yours faithfully.

CHRISTOPHER DALTON.

Leigh, Surrey

Dear Sir,-In connection with Mr. W. O Haythorne's Ietter (page 416). there is a complete ring of bells fitted with this type of stay at All Saints. Carshalton Surrey. The bells are a Mears 'six.' tenor 12 cwt . in G. cast in 1704. with two trebles added in 1840. since when the bells and frame have had no maior attention.

The bells were condemned as practically unsafe and unringable about 50 years ago, but have been rune off and on ever since, and last year the Beddington band rang several quarters of Surprise Major on them. The bells were still ringable up to a month ago. when one of the tenor's gudgeons snapped. It is hoped an appeal for a new frame and filting mav be launched in the near future.-Yours faithfully.
R. J. TALBOT.

The Cornish Pasty

Dear Sir.-The Rev. John Scoti's odd ode of the Cornish Pasty is most apt as I. too. after having made its acquaintance at Truro. had cause to meditate on the characteristics of this creation. Surely it is the Cornishman's secret weapon. a subtle invention io overcome an unsuspecting enemy! What English (foreign) invader could stomach a fight after partaking of such local produce?

Of course many of the 'occupied ' regions of the British Isles have produced similar devilish devices. The Scots have that fierresome beastie the hages, which can strike instant terror into any Sassenach's heart. while the Welsh have the "rarebit which is no less notent. And apart from Harney. the Irish have their 'poteen' and their stew. which have renelled many a foreign onslaugit.

I now retire to a safe distance into my slit trench to withstand the bombardment!
Joking (and pasty!) aside, however. I would like to add my congratulations to the Truro Diocesan Guild on their arranpements for the recent C.C. meeting and to thank them for the warm welcome to the delegates.-Yours sincerely.

All Ladies' Peal

Dear Sir.-I send my apologies. The footnote to the peal rung at Dinder. Somerset (page 368). is incorrect. There was one peal rung before for the Bath and Wells Association by an all ladies band, this was in January, 1915. at Portishead.-Yours, etc

Extraction of False Course Heads and Their Application

BY JOHN $R$ KETTERINGHAM

On a number of occasions $I$ have been asked to explain how a composition is proved s.nd this article is the result. The draft has been submitted to a number of people so that the article should be intelligible to all classes of ringer; it mav, therefore seem very elementary to some people. I should like to acknow ledge the many suggestions made.

We have first to find the False Lead Heads against the first lead of the Plain Course. Write out the first lead of the method (in this case Yorkshire) marking in the position of the treble and if in course (positive) or out of course (negative). Signs are changed when a set of places is made but not if a double set is made as in Cambridge.

Now take the two rows with treble in same place and having same sign and transoose the first row (a) in same way as the relationship of the 2 nd row (b) is to rounds. The false lead head is in heavy type.

Having now found the False Lead Heads against the first lead of the Plain Course, the False Lead Heads for the remaining six leads must be produced and then next to transpose False Lead Heads to False Course Heads. I have set out the complete

CAMBRIDGE AT CRICKET

On June 11th a cricket match was played between the Cambridge University Guild and the Trumpington Elders (a team of local ringers) at the Selwyn ground. Brown and Smith opened confidently for the Elders against Cooke and the guile of Threlfall who, carefully calculating the trajectory, bowled Smith with a high full toss. Hayes then got rid of Brown (caught to the surprise of all, by Rogers), Gıpson, whose bucolic swipe missed completely, and Pearson. Thoday. captaining the side. came out. immaculate in his white Hannels, surveyed the lield and was bowled first banl. The position was restored by Murfet and Lucas who attacked the unortnodox bowl ing with shots all round the field. A collapse occurred in the final overs and the innings closed at 90 for 8 wickets.
For the Guild. the Master and Miss Slow, in her tirst game of cricket, opened cautiously aganst Brown's slow lobs and 'Thoday's fast bowling, but the Master was soon out, blaming his eyesight. By the fifth over, Miss Slow had scored two and had lost four partners, all for ducks. the secretary losing ine ball in the clouds, and Hudson forgetting to move his bat. Cooke looked dangerous until Lucas bowled him with a professsonal looking breakback.
Miss Dillamore then joined Miss Slow and so appealed to the gentlemanly instincts of Murfet and Thoday that they bowled as tamely as possible. The ladies stayed in as Thoday bowled faster and faster. The stalemate was halted in the 17 h over by Miss Slow's retirement to a party, but, after a bright knock by Hayes, it took Bishop's bodyline full tosses to cause Miss Dillamore's retırement, a most ungentlemanly piece of play according to the spectators. Nutton and Rogers had a vociferous partnership until Rogers, exhausted after running three, was bowled by Lucas. Threlfall came in past his wife fielding at mid-on, and left at once without damaging his newly oiled bat by contact with the ball. The Guild were all out for 49 and lost by 41 , although even this is uncertain because of the non-appearance of the scorer. Both sides were grateful to the impartial umpiring of Messrs. Dennis and Ridgman and hope to hold a return fixture next year.

Scores: Trumpington Elders 90 for 8 (G. Lucas 41, D. F. Murfet 20, G. Pearson 10, H. F. Brown 9).

Cambridge University Guild 49 (R. W. H. Hayes 12, J. B. Cooke 10. Miss C. Dillamore y ret. Miss H. F. Slow 7 ret.).

A NORTH COUNTRY PAGE

Harold Walker writes on Whitwell-on-the-Hill, North Yorks

'YHE efforts of the St. John's College Bell Ringers' Society in attempting to get the bells rung in silent towers are no doubt commendable but one wonders whether or not its work at Whitwell has been worth while. It is reported (page 378) that the bells were lung for the induction of the new Vicar but they are not safe for quarter or peal attempts but are all right it rung in short touches by touring teams.

If the bells are not safe for a quarter peal how can they be safe for short touches? My question is, are they safe for regular Sundiay service ringing? So far as I am concerned, the answer is a definite 'no, and touring teams would be advised to keep away.

The bell founders submitted reports and estimates in 1939 and 1949, and in 1956 my assistance was solicited in getting the bells ruing on the occasion of a further bell founders inspection.
In 1962 I was asked by the York Diocesan Advisory Committee to report on the condition of the bells as the Vicar was seeking advice following the receipt of expensive estimates from two firms of bell founders.
The helfiy contains a ring of six bells. tenor 12 cwt . 1 qr . 14 lbs . by Warner, installed in 1859 when the church was built.

REDUCING FLOOR SPACE

Above the belfry is another floor which serves no useful purpose and one wonders why it was ever put there. Access to this floor is gained by a circular wooden stairway which takes up about a quarter of the belfry floor space. In consequence of this obstruction the hells have been sited in rather an unusual manner. The stairway takes up the north west corner, the treble and second bell take up the north east corner, and the fourth, fifth and tenor bells take up all the floor space on the south side. whilst the third hell hangs in a frame superimposed above the fourth and fifth. The third bell swings east and west and all the others swing north and south.
Although the bell frame is carried on stout pine beams. it is only built of light section timbers and is of poor design. Much of the ironwork is corroded and in 1962 several wheels were broken. When the bells were rung in 1956 considerable movement in the frame took place due to loose joints. lack of bracing and weak timbers.
The whole economy of the belfry leads one to the opinion that when the tower was huilt the architect gave no thought as to the method of hanging the bells or whether or not there was sufficient space available to house the bells properly. This matter seems to have been left entirely to the bell hanger.

A CALLOUS DISREGARD

Originally there was no tower clock and the bell ropes came down to the ringing Hoor in a fair circle. Although the ringing chamber is only 11 feet square. the ringers would have been able to ring in reasonable comfort
In 1891 a clock was installed to strike the hours on the renor bell and to show the time on a skeleton face on the south side of the tower, visible from the Malton road which runs close by. The works and cuse nere placed in the ringing chamber taking up about a third of the floor space. The clock case and weight shaft screens effectively block out daylight from the ringing floor.
The installation necessitated an alteration to the roping of the fourth and fifth bells. The fourth rope is now on the opposite side of the wheel and falls far too close to the second and third ropes. The fifth rope was brought down at an acute angle through a wooden chute a few inches away from the clock case and. in consequence, this bell can only be rung with difficulty by an experienced ringer. It is obvious the clock was installed with a callous disregard of the difficulties created for the ringers, and in my 43 years of ringing I have not seen anything of a similar nature.

NEWCASTLE ROYAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL YOUTHS

This Ringing Society was started in November. 1963, by three keen members of the Jesmond band-Andrew Craddock (first Ringing Master). Paul Shears (secretary) and James Sturrock (chairman). In school emphasis is on handbell ringing and already a few recruits are up to quarter peal standard.
The Society rang its first quarter on November 1st. Bob Doubles on tower bells, conducted by the Master. with Miss Esther Henderson, Central Newcastle High School. hunting the treble. Four quarters have since been rung, with Miss Joan Walker. Central High School, on the treble on two occasions. The first all R.G.S. quarter was on June $14 \mathrm{th}_{\mathrm{t}}$. when 12 -year-old John Pardoe rang the treble for his first quarter.
Mr. George $S$. Deas, Ringing Master of Newcastle Cathedral, gave an interesting talk to the Society on June 19th. his subject being The Art of English Change Ringing.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Barnsley, with 83 faults, won the shield contest at Penistone, near Sheffield, on June Friezland with 106 faults and other competitors were Shelley and Cawthorne. The judge was Mr. Harold Chant. and Miss Chinnery, of Royston, was the marker.
Mr. Noel F. Moxon presided at the business meeting. Eass Ardsley was selected for the next meeting on July 11 th, and the meeting on August 8 h to be joint with the Southern District. Yorkshire Association, at Royston, with Felkirk and Barnsley as extra towers.

NFWCASTLE UPON TYNE.-At the Church of St. George. Jermond, on June 14th, 1.260 Plain Binb Duuble:: J. P. 1. Pardoc (12, first quarter) 1. P. C. E. Shears 2. S. J. Pardoe 3. J. G. White 4. J. A. ## EAST RIDING RINGERS

This year the East Riding ringers held an additional outing (on June 20th) to enable a visit to the Loughtorough foundry.

Unlike some outings. which work on the most towers in the least time principle. this society wisely pursues the policy of visiting a few towers in the longest ume, so enabling a leisurely day to be enjoyed by all. The only sethack was the early departure hour. (It is helieved that some of the ringers had never hefore been quite so close to seeing the summer sun rise!)
Loughborough was reached by $11.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and i fascinating tour was made of the foundry under tne guidance of Mr. Paul Taylor. It had been hoped to borrow: some handbells for the day to make up for the forgetfullness of a Kirk Ella ringer, but they were otviously closely guarded! However. some Grandsire Triples were rung on the handbells found hanging in the Campanile ringing chamber. We also tried tapping out a course of Doubles on an upturned ring of six in for tuning. but this was unsuccessful.
ihe 6 cwi. ring of ten was a great experi-ence-although only the basic methods were ventured upon. A ladies band also set to work on the back eight.
Lunch was taken at Copt Oak and followed (after the traditional game of hunt-the-towerkey). by ringing the pleasant six to a variety of methods. Then on to Whitwick where the eight ran very nicely to Yorkshire and Double Norwich. Tea was provided by the local company, at Shepshed and was followed by an The monotony of the hand eight.
The monotony of the handbell-less trip home was relieved by an entanglement with new motorway roadworks and by the singing of Messrs. Ducker and Johnson-a marathon nonstop two-hour performance
So a 16 -hour trip, organised extremely well by Mr. K. Kirk, drew to its close. Thanks are due to Mr. Taylor and to the incumbents and Ringing Masters of the other towers visited.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Although the Chesterfield District's meeting at Creswell on June 13th was blessed by fine weather, the attendance. surprisingly enough. was only half that of last year when it was raining "cats and dogs!" However, some 25 ringers, representing some seven lowers in the district, together with welcome visitors from Darley Dale and Warsop. had a very enjoyable afternoon's ringing. before adjourning to the nearby Church Hail for tea.

After an excellent meal the business meeting began with a report of the District's striking contest which included the good news that two of our teams. Dronfield and Old Whittington, had come first and second in the final at Horsley. Ann Fletcher (Staveley) and Catherine Bradley (Dronfield) were elected new members. and an invitation to Chesteriteld for a meeting was discussed and agreed upon. subject to the final details.

The District Ringing Master. Mr. A. Keller, proposed the vote of thanks-to Vicar, local ringers and ladies for the tea. Further ringing was enjoyed until 9 p.m.
Next meeting: July 11th-Barlborough (6).

HORNCHURCH

A rather ambitious programme was attempted by Hornchurch this year in a visit to the Isle of Wight. The visit had a dual purposeto see Tom East and. of course. 10 ring on the island. Tom is now a resident therea district of ringing scarcity but oddly enough some good bells.

We left Waterloo on the 7.50 a.m. train and those who decry the Southern and Dr. Beeching please note that we were ringing in Ryde by 10.30 a.m. Brading. Newport, Carisbrooke and Godshill followed in succession.

Good meals, near perfect timekeeping. giving us ample time for refreshment, and a cheap coach, together with a fine day and some good scenery, gave us a wonderful time. The island makes a good day's outing, preferably early in the year; Tom will be overjoyed to fit you in.

Thanks Tom. good luck. we wished you well traditionally at both ends of the pier, on the train and finally at Waterloo. F.V.G.

TONBRIDGE, KENT

On June 6th Tonbridge ringers, together with friends from Edenhridge, visited towers in the lovely byways of Sussex. Unfortunately due to a dull rainy day the countryside could not be seen at its best.
Mayfield was the first tower where the difficult six called for all our resources to ring them reasonably well. After visiting Heathfield we came into Kipling country to the very interesting church of St. Bartholomew. Burwash, where an hour was spent ringing various methods which made us appreciate the enjoyable salad tea which followed.

We then made our way to Salehurst for some good ringing on the fine eight and also on the lovely eight at Wadhurst. which was our last tower.

A vote of thanks must be recorded to the incumbents, the local ringers who met us, and to Mr. L. T. Pope for his excellent organisation.

OUTINGS

ST. PETER'S SOCIETY, BRIGHTON

Choosing June 13th for the outing may well have caused the rain to fall. but the organiser could not be blamed for that. Apart from the weather, everything went well. This year we were pleased to have a fair sprinkling of Sussex University ringers among our 41 passengers. two of whom were seen to deposit a coffin-shaped box into the coach boot. Refreshments? Most unlikely.

So off to a prompt start. reaching Dartford where we rang Cambridge and other methods. Prior to entering the tunnel into Essex, a coach pulled abreast of ours, containing fellow ringers from Balcombe, also on an outing to Essex. Shouted greetings were exchanged at this coincidence. We made for Brentwood to ring the eight there, prior to an excellent lunch at 'Les Cuisiniers.' At Chelmsford Cathedral. two of our party were seen to deposit the aforementioned box. still heavily loaded into the churchyard. where a passer-by respectfully raised his hat.

Ringing the 12 bells was a new experience for many as we have no 12 in Sussex. Comntencing with rounds, we progressed to Grandsire and Stedman Cinques. three leads of K. T. B. Maximus, finishing with a wellstruck course of Stedman on the back eight ! On descending to the churchyard, rumour had it that a car was seen to have been driven away with the embarrassing box. In any case, it was the last we saw of it and certainly was not on board from then on. A hasty check revealed no missing members of our party.

At Waltham Abbey, another 12 (tenor 38. 3.21 ) the pattern of ringing was similar to Chelmsford, but it was here that one of our lightweight lady ringers gracefully lowered the tenor. albeit we were ringing rounds at the time. Refreshed by tea at Warren Patisseries, our homeward journey was broken at Stepney for a ring on the ten at St. Dunstan's. The final ring was at St. Mary's, Lewisham. Being

H M. the Queen's official birthday, it was appropiate that many flags were flying from the towers we visited. To the Honours List we would like to add the names of those who kindly gave permission for us to ring, those who gave up their time to greet us, and to our organiser who so ably did the arranging.

PORTISHEAD AND WRAXAILL

Fine. warm Saturdays have been scarce this summer, but we were favoured with one in mid-June and a full coach-load of ringers and friends made the very best use of it. Ringing commenced at Chewton Mendip. generally accepted as having one of the finest 8 s in Britain. It would be sacrilege to ring these bells badly, but we left the church without any feeling of guilt. Our visit to Mere was not our first. a fact which speaks for itself. The visitors' book reminded us that we had last called there during our outing of 1956: once again, we greatly enjoyed the experience.

We ate our sandwiches at Shafteshury before proceeding through some typically lovely Dorset country to Wimborne St. Giles. The bells are a very good-going eight, but a little noisy from the ringing chamber. Well, it was soon after lunch on a very warm afternoon and. frankly the ringing here was not as good as it should have been. We arrived at Dorchester "bang on time" for high tea at the 'Wessex., then followed some very enjoyable ringing at St. Peter's Church, in the company of Mr. R. H. Duke. The evening ringing at Crewkerne went like clockwork. the final touch of Stedman being a fitting top of the bill' to the day's proceedings.

Handhells. refreshments at Glastonbury and some lusty singing kept us all alive on the way home. We were privileged to have the company of the Rev. R. O. Fry, now a Portishead ringer, and because of him. the ringing was of a higher standard than hitherto.

The 81st birthday of Mr. Arthur Tomlinson, of Blackburn Cathedral. who is a life vice-president of the Lancashire Association, was honoured by a peal at Farnworth-withKearsley on June 21st. The peal had one of those unpronounceable names, Vyrnwy Surprise Major, criticised so strongly at Truro. It is really a variation of Superlative. By the way, I am told that Arthur Tomlinson has rung more peals for the Lancashire Association than any other member the last report giving his total as 670 . He has had three spells on the Central Council, the first starting in 1930.
The peal rung at Norton, Yorks, on Junc 6th was also for the Beverley and District Society.
Miss Susan Chaddock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Chaddock, of Rotherham, has obtained an Honours (Upper 2) Degree in Obtained an Honours (Upper 2)
Holiday-makers are reminded that Ottery St. Mary practice night is on Mondays. A hearty welcome awaits them, and also at the Sunday ringing.
As a peal of Spliced Plain and Little Bob Major rung at Sutterton. Lincs, for the Vicar's birthday unfortunately proved to be false, it is hoped that the peal of Yorkshire at Pinchbeck will prove an acceptable substitute.
The Peterborough Guild is grateful to Mr. Peter Newstead and the Yarmouth ringers and to the Norwich Diocesan Guild for permitting the Peterborough Guitd to achieve its first peal of Stedman Cinques; also to Messrs. J. L. Millhouse and G. B. Parker, from Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Ivin, from Bedford, for taking part.

It is many years since a peal was rung at Llangollen, and that rung on June 20th was a compliment to Chancellor Dr. Alun Thomas. Vicar of Llangollen and president of the North Wales Association, on completing 40 years in the ministry. Thanks are due to Mr. Bailey and members of the local band for providing an excellent tea, which Dr. Alun Thomas attended. Great credit is due to Miss Carter. who although feeling unwell after an hour's ringing carried on until the end.

In connection with the Rev A. S. Roberts' entertaining front page article (issue June 19(h), a correspondent points out that the coronation of George $V$ was in 1911 and not 1910. The year 1911 was marked by four important things (he adds): The coming of - The Ringing World,' a brilliant summer, the coronation and the winning of the cricket championship by Warwickshire!
ihe Suffolk Guild have new officers. Mr. G. W. Pipe is now Ringing Master and Mr. Andrew T. Beckwith. 76, Digby Road, Ipswich, general secretary and treasurer.
Mr. Norman Chaddock has already been booked for five talks on his Washington visit. He gave the first, which included tape recordings of Dean Sayres' farewell remarks and prayer prior to the peal, to Rotherham Rotary Club on June 17th.
Mr. Crawford T. Hillis, honorary secretary of Ashford District. Kent County Association. visited Mr. Ted Ruck, the sole surviving founder member of the Association in hospital on his 97 th birthday. Mr. Ruck still enjoys good health for his age.
Mr. R. A. Welton writes that the outing of St. Paul's, Burton, in Yorkshire on June 6th was the most enjoyable one day outing he had participated in. He congratulates Mr . George Rowbothom on the splendid organisation, which included the choice of towers and restaurants.

Mrs. A. P. Cannon, who writes about her experiences in South Africa in this week's issue, has had the pleasure of ringing at both St. Paul's and St. Mary's. Durban and at Salisbury Cathedral, Southern Rhodesia. where she met Mr. Colin Stevenson, late of Harlington. Middlesex. She is due home on July 17th.

In view of his distinguished services to the Guild. Mr. R. L. Roper, of Adderbury. was elected an honorary life vice-president of the Oxford Diocesan Guild last Saturday. Mr. Roper has resigned the office of honorary librarian as he is leaving the Oxford Diocese to live in Yorkshire near his daughter and son-in-law in Wakefield. A true librarian. Mr. Roper claims to have read every copy of : The Bell News' and 'The Ringing World.

THE LADIES GUILD Western District

A very warm welcome a waited the Western District at Banwell for their quarterly meeting on June 43 th. Local ringers were present to introduce them to these fine bells. The Vicar. the Rev. J Bromwich, conducted the service and gave a most stimulating address. The organist was there to accompany the singing. the ladies of the parish had prepared a really sumptuous tea, but the attendance was rather disappointing.
At the short business meeting the secretary pointed out an alteration in the circulated nrogramme - the next ywarterls meeting will be at Compton Martin on September 12th. while the December meeting will he at Beckington. The secretary also drew attention to the even ing practices to be held at Portbury on July 17 th and Kewstoke on August 17th.

It was agreed that Mrs Parfrey. Mrs. de Jong. Mrs Bennet and Miss Johnson should regresent the Western District at the annual meeting at Macclesfield.
As it would appear that a very warm welcome awaits the Ladies Guild at Compton Martin. it is to he hoped that all memhers will make a real effort to be present.

COMMEMORATING A CENTENARY

$\mathbf{M}^{\text {B }}$R. Frederick Sharpe's book on 'The Church Bells of Guernsey. Alderney and Sark' was intended to mark the centenary of the first book on English church bells, by W. C. Lukis. published in 1857. He had visited these Channel Islands twice, in 1952 and 1956. and on the second occasion made notes on the bells in 18 churches and took rubbings and photographs of most of them. His election as president of the Central Council in 1957. which extended over a period of six years. left him no spare time, and it was not until 1963 that he could complete the manuscript.

T \%o of our noted antiquarians-the Rev. W. C. Lukis and Dr. Amherst D. Tyssen -had made surveys of Guernsey bells. Mr. Lukis left behind details of 29 bells in Guernsey, and Dr. Tyssen, after a visit in 1907. left notes and rubbings of the bells in ten ancient parish churches. Of the 29 mentioned by Lukis. 45 per cent. have perished. and of 30 described by Tyssen. Mr. Sharpe records that 27 per cent. have been melted down. There are 62 bells in the 18 churches in Guernsey, and these come under the following classification: Rings of eight. six and four bells. one each: four rings of three bells: a chime of 11 bells: four chimes of three bells: one of two bells. and seven single bells. Chronologically, the classification is mediaval. 2: 17th century. 5: 18th century. 8: 19th century. 19: modern. 18: of uncertain age. 10.

The history of the Channel Islands is reflected in the bells. The oldest bell is in the Church of St. Philip. Torteval, and is dated 1432 and is thought to be of French origin for two reasons. Gothic characters used in the inscription were not in use at that time by English founders. and by the French word 'lan 'introduced into the inscription. The other mediaval bell is the treble of three bells at St. Pierre-du-Bois. This was cast in the mediæval Exeter foundry, and the book is enriched by a chapter written by the Rev. John G. M. Scott on this foundry. The bell. states Mr. Scott. belongs to the first group of coin-bearing bells and was probably cast by Robert Russhell between 1486 and 1504. There were also three Exeter bells in the Church of St. Michael. Vale. These bells were. however, recast by John Warner and Sons in 1891, making a ring of six with a tenor of $7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. A tablet in the church records the original inscriptions.

To the peal-ringing fraternity Vale is not an 'unconquered 'tower. A peal in seven Minor methods was rung here in 1959 by Messrs. A. P. Cannon. W. S. Deason. Robin G. Leale. Philip Mehew. E. J. Munday and John D. Rock. The same band had a second success on the island of Alderney by ringing a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor. Alderney was originally a Mears ring of six of 1849 . They were removed during the German occupation, the intention being to turn them into munitions. Happily, peace came: for a time the bells were hung in the churchyard and were struck for service. John Taylor and Co. recast the bells in 1953 to commemorate the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth 1I, and they were rehung in the central tower.

French bells are plentiful on Guernsey. Seven were cast between $1680-85$ by Paul Bowidon, whom Tyssen considers learned the art of bell-founding from a French founder. The conclusion is that he carried on his business in the island. but it is significant that 60 years before there was a J. Bowidon and Le Jeunne Bowidon casting bells in Normandy. However, the genuine French products are the 12 bells cast by Brocards of Lorraine in 1736, but the view of Tyssen was that the actual casting was done in Guernsey by a member of the firm. The Brocards had many noted bells to their credit: the bourdon of Poitiers Cathedral. the town bell of Rennes and at Bayeux Cathedral. A clockmaker. Nicholas Blondel, cast the bell for St. Sampson's in 1759. and it is similar in style, moulding and inscriptions to the Brocard bells.

The only ring of eight is in St. Peter's Church. St. Peter's Port. and these were cast by the Brocards. The tenor was of a ton and the treble as light as 2 cwt .3 gr . Dr. Tyssen. in his notes. comments that the trebles were cast far too thin and light for swinging bells and were more suitable for chimes and carillons. The bell rope circle is anti-clockwise and there is an Ellacombe chiming apparatus. A new ring of eight was recast by CornilleHavard, of Villedieu. France, in 1913. They have ornamental canons of the French type and the inscription bands are filled with ornamental borders.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are represented by a chime of 11 bells at the R.C. Church of St. Joseph. by three bells at St. Mary's. Castel, and as far back as 1778 they recast the three bells at St. Andrew's Church. There are also 11 from the Cripplegate foundry of Messrs. J. Warner and Sons.

The value of this book is enhanced by the extensive introduction occupying some 12 pages. in which the author summarises the history of bell-founding and the development into change-ringing. It is purposely included to add to the appeal of the book to the non-ringing fraternity, and we cannot recall having read better-made material for a lecture than Mr. Sharpe here provides. We feel certain that many of our readers will find it most useful.

This book is very well illustrated with 23 plates and 14 scale drawings. and is obtainable from the author. Frederick Sharpe, 'Derwen.' Launton, Bicester. Oxon: price 8 s . 6 d .

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL

MR. ROPER ELECTED A VICE-PRESIDENT-HIGHER STANDARD IN BELFRIES DEMANDED LEADERS SHOULD BE CHURCHMEN FIRST AND FOREMOST

LTHOUGH New College and Magdalene bells were not available because of bellhanging and Merton had a special function where only a picked band rung. there was as substantial list of towers avalable for the Oxford Diocesan Guild Festival on June 27h and the same large happy throng of ringers to take advantage of the facilities afforded.

As in recent years proceedings started with Corporate Communion service in St. Aldate's Church, at which the Master (Canon C. Elliot Wigg) was the celebrant. vice in the Cathedral was also conducted by the Master with the Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe) reading the Iesson. The choir of ringers. with the Guild's hanner held aloft. made an imprestive procession and the singing was full-throated. the team spirit of ringers heing well manifested.

Canon E. W. Perkins, chairman of the Eave Berks Branch and Rector of Slough. Was the preacher. As the father of a daughter who rang he denied emphatically that he commented on her ringing that she rang harder and faster than anyone else in the fower - 1 know it is a principle of your craft that you can never be a good hell-ringer uniess you have learned to ring with other peonle and learned the discipline of serving with other penple.

The loss of happiness through disobedience was one of the oldest things in their religion. The Bible began with an extraordinarily entrancing story of great truth and insight. The story of Eden was that there was one thing required in life-that they should be ohedient to the will of God. Then came the great temptation-the temptation that had heset man throughout history-the voice of the serpent. Don't helieve it. Why should you trust tim? Be independent. Live in your own right and be free.

ROSY APPLES OF TODAY

They were told by legend that it was a rosy apple that Eve offered Adam. Never hefore in human history has a section of mankind been surrounded by so many rosy apples as today. Man had hecome antagonistic and for the time being it was difficult to make His voice audible io mankind.
They were told that man was driven out of the garden of his happiness and at the entrance there was an angel with a flaming sword The New Testament told something different-that standing at the gate was a Saviour. conqueror of sin and death and there true happiness would he found in the performance and freedom in God's service.

Somebody said: Love God and do an you please. If you do love God. doing as you please will always be in performing Gods service.

THE MEETING

The meeting was held in the Chapter House with the Master in the chair. Presenting the printed reports the Master said they seemed to be the best ever in the way they were set out. He would like to thank Mr. Philip Walker for a beautifully produced report.

The Master in his report sitid young people today were accustomed to high standards of comfors and efficiency, both at home and in school life. In bell ringing. which was undertaken on a purely voluntary basis. there must therefore be a standard which they expect as a matter of course in their other activities. For example. ringing chambers should be comfortable. clean and properly heated in winter. The type of draughty. cold and dingy room. Which they sometimes encountered should never be tolerated.

The tower foreman should the able to rely on the incumbent and P.C.C. to see the ringers were properly housed. Eversthing then depends upon the leadership of the lower loreman and senior members of the band which must be imaginative and progressive Young Deople easils become bored if the ringing instructor was too stereotyped. 'Gimmicks designed to stimulate interest should not be despised. Progress charts, proficiency hadges. pen-friendships kept un between towers sharing the same name and dedication in different parts of the country, handhell sessions including tune ringing at carol services. frequent quarter peal attempts, the ohservance of an annual ringers' Sunday and many other ideas which the ingenuity of the leader could suggest should he faithfully attempted.

Suggestions also contained in the Master's report were training certificates to tower leaders who had undergone a course of instruction in leadership and an inter-hranch striking competition.
1.500 MILES ON GUIL.D'S WORK

The Deputy Master wrote that he had inspected and reported on the condition of bells and gear in 14 towers and in several instances on the structure and stability of towers. He had also inspected completed work where Guild restoration grants had been made. He had given nine lectures on hells and ringing in addition to talks on hells $t 0$ non-ringers and P.C.C's. The work had involved travelling just over 1.5010 miles of which 576 were for attending branch meetings.
In his experience the interest and activitiea of the Guild were well maintained. They were certain to have some "hlack spots. where litule or no Sunday service ringing took place. but it was surprising how a few keen place. but it was surprising how a few keen churchmen could alter such situations. The important point was to ensure that newlyappointed leaders were churchmen first and foremost. We have lost recently a number of that stalwart type. the ringer-chorister. May I appeal to the younger members to fill the ranks of these faithful servants of our Guild and Church?

MEMBERSHIP STANDARDS

The hon. general secretary reported a decline of membership which now stood at 1.888 (ringing 1.797. life 31. honorary 62) compared with 1,934 (ri: ging 1836. life 37. honorary 61 ). This might be due to the fact that all branches were now only returning the list of paid-up members. Certificates issued in 1963 totalled 181 and this should result in membership allowing for normal loss. The question had heen raised as io whether the Guild should set an "unofficial" standard the. fore accepting members. No one wished to see the return of the old rule of 120 changes on the treble. which led to the exclusion of regular churchmen who did no change ringing In addition the Guild had admitted 48 nonresident members and they had lost by death 12 members.
The University, College and Sithoal ringing ratieties continued to gain strength Both Culham College and Wallingford Grammar School had rung peals and other schools had quarter peals to their credit. Due to the encouragement of the Principal. a number of students at Cuddesdon Theological College were learning to ring. Rippon Hall had several students who could ring or were learning to ring
The report of the hon. general treasurer stated that the general funds of the Guild amounted to $£ 1.8364 \mathrm{~s}$. 3d. of whicrh $£ 1.584$ 15s. 4d. Was in the Restoration Fund.
The hon. librarian (Mr. H. L. Roper) reported thas 175 peals had been published as having been rung for the Guild in 1963. a number exceeded only by the Lancashire Association and Leicester Diocesin Guild. He proposed to move outside the Diocese and could not. therefore accept a further term of office. He and Mrs. Roper would like to thank all the members for the warm welcome they always received at the meetings.

ELECTIONS OF OFFICERS

There was only one change in the officershon. librarian. Canon C. E. Wigg was elected Master and Mr. F. Sharpe. Deputy Master. Thanking members for re-electing him hon. treasurer. Mr. A. D. Birmingham spoke of the hours he had spent on research and his pronosal that Mr. Roper be elected a vice-president was carried with acclamation.

Acknowledging the compliment. Mr. Roper said he had enjoyed the joh immenselv. He had access to all the hooks in the library. He was going to hoast-he had read from every pave of "The Rell News. first dated 1881 to the last page of "The Ringing World last Friday. There was a great deal of valuahle stuff in those old volumes and sometime. when he had time he was going in make an index.
Mrs. A, D Barker. A Diserens. Miss D. Fletcher E. E. Pearson. P. Walker and F. A White wero elected to the General Committee. Mr. P. Walker. report editor: Ernest Francis and Son. Reading. hon auditors.

The meeting confirmed the election of 172 new members. Miss Cross said that was not the complete list: others had heen elected by hranches.

Supporting a grant of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. heing made towards the expenses of the American tour Mr. Roper said those who went to Washington really dio something for ringing. They created great deal of enthusiasm and they all knew what the American's could do when they got enthusiastic. This Washington visit might be the heginning of change ringing in America.

LADY CHORISTERS
The Deputy Master said in respect of the service this year they had applications from several lady choristers to robe and join the choir for the Cathedral service. He saw the Deah who said that as far as he was con cerned personally he would not object. He could not give permission as it had to go before the Chapter. The Dean had promised a ruling in ample time for next year's ser vice.
The vote of thanks was proposed by the Deputy Master and included the Dean and Chapter and College authorities at Christ Church. the steward and domestic staff, Mr Philip Walker who had done the lion share of the ringing arrangements. the choir and people from Winslow who paid for the choir boys, and $\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{H}$. Langrish. the organist for the service

The Master called attention to Mr. Fredt Sharpe's book on the bells of Guernsey. Alderney and Sark which was being published that day for 85. 6d

THE LUNCHEON

The luncheon was held in the hall of Christ Church and attended by a company of 150 . The Master presided and among the guests were the Archdeacon of Oxford (the Ven. C. Witton-Davies) the Rev. M. Melville (Muster of the Southwell Diocesan Guild and Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson (Master of the London County Association).

The toast of Church and State was proposed by Mr-H L. Roper. who described the apeech as his swan song to the Guild. He said that but for the Church there would be no bells, and they were inclined to take it for granted that it was the Church's bells which they rang for their o:vn pleasure and enjoyment. But this privilege of ringing carried with it certain responsibilities-ringing regularly on Sundays and in training young ringers. and they all knew even with the best of bands what happened if youngsters were not being trained. Another responsihility they should be prepared to shoulder was the provision of hells for the future, Ringers often remarked that the responsibility was on the Parochial Church Council. It was up to ringers, he contended. 10 see that there was a belfry fund in every tower with a little put away each year against emergencies.

The Archdeacon replied
Miss Cross in proposing e the Visitors thanked Canon Perkins for bis inspired sermon. she welcomed Mr. Wilson as Master of the London County Assocaition the is also vice-president of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), and the Rev. M Melville.
Mr. Melville in his reply mentioned his meeting unexpectedly in Massachusetts with Miss Cross, and how they both happened to jump off the same train. In proposing the health of the Guild. Mr. Melville said he did not think any Guild was better served by its officers and stalwarts. That morning it was a delight to see Mr. Walter Judge steering a couple of 12-vear-old youngsters through course of Grandsire Cinques.

The Master replied
The company then dispersed for ringing and Mr. F. Sharpe took a party up Cbrist Church tower to see Big Tom.

Letters to the Editor

When visiting-Points to remember

Dear Sir-l was sorry to read of the complaint from Lavenham of the had ringing by visiting hands on their outings: Whatever the cause of this particular complaint 1 think the attention of tower captains and outing organisers should he drawn to the necessity (I put it no less) of their choosing lowers for their outing programme where the ringing of the hells is well within the capabilities of their band
It is a fact that only too often this requirement is either overlooked or disregarded. I would not for one moment discourige the desire to ring in fresh towers. To explore fresh fields is an excellent way to improve one's ringing but if such visits result in had performances no one gains.
The weight of probably all rings of hells in this country can be found in Woves so this need not be a prohlem in planning an outing. Information ahout go and lenpth of rope can usually be obtained from Arsoctation officials, who I have found, very often can help with useful suggestions for a managcabl: programme.

I have been arranging tower outings since the early 20 s and the number of times I have been refused a tower is so small that for practical purposes it could he said to be nil. This generous hospitality extended to my party has always heen respected and apprectated and this is the point of my writing this letter

Let us always rememher we are gucsts in other towns. The local inhabitants within earshot are our audience and we have no right to inflict had ringing on them. So many ringers forget this ;udience once they are in the ringing chamber in their eagerness to se: if they can manage this. that or the other $\mathrm{m}=$ thod. which sometimes means invoking the age-old but still regrettable device of putting all the biginners in one touch to get them out of the way. It is a pity that this vast audience outside the tower is not remembered on all ringing occasions.
The bells should always te raised in some sort of order to avoid unmusical clashings even if in the last resort this means raising them singly.

I consider it a good plan, too, to ensure that the first and last touch at each tower visited is well struck: the former will ease the unexpectedness of hearing the hells at unusual times and the latter will do much to leave behind a good impression of the visitors fothers may then be welcome). Some people will say that the public don't apprectate what is rung. This is arguable hut suffice to say at the moment that rhythmic striking is less jarring to the unappreciative listener than rough stuff." And. unless the ringing is reasonable. the same can be said of 'tenor hehind methods as opposed to 'tenor in All this might sound a bit restrictive but it isn't. Anyone who has been on our outing knows that and the reason, I think. is that the good ringing we seek to achieve on thes basis enahles us to hear the hells to their hest advantage and also avoids ruffled tempers either inside or outside the tower. - Yours P.S.- if some of your ringers have enjoyed ringing lavenham hells on outings as l have, don't forget the recent appeal for help there. Ivor Heath FRED. GOODIVIIOW

School handbell ringer at TV Studios

Dear Sir.-It was a red-letter day for the handbell ringers of St. Lawrences Junior School. Gnosall. when Burney Bamford. of the B.B.C.. paid a visit to the school to record items by the handhell ringers, with Glockenspiels and a Melodica.

As a result of this visit they were invited to the B.B.C. Television studio at Birmingham. where telerecordings were made for the programme 'Six-Ten." and further items for use in future programmes

It certainly was a great privilege and pleasurc to spend the afternoon in the studio. and the children (aged nine to 11 years) will long remember, and talk of cameras, lights, micronhones, etc.. to their less lucky and envious friends.

The staff and technicians of the B.B.C. were kindness itself to the children. and even when it was discovered that hy an oversight there was no piano in the studio there was no panic. and a new mini-piano was hired and in the studio within 20 minutes, and everyone was well satisfied with the results of the afternoon well satisfied on the set:" $B y$ the time letter appears in "The Ringing' World ' the recorded items for 'SixTen" may already have heen seen on iclevision. but others will appear in due course. vision, hut

In and Out of Course

Dear Sir-Unfortunately Mr. W. O Haythorne's methed of determining in and out of course changes tpage 432 is incorrect. Con sider 1432-this row is out of course. yet on summing the number of places away from homs of each hell, we have the number 4. Also consider 2431-this is in course. y't on summing we have 6 certainly not a multip!e of four
1 would be surprised to see a method easier than that of John David (page 346). - Yours sincerely

'Spur' stays in Kent

Dear Sir.-Mr. Haythorne's letter (p. 416). is of considerable interest. as there are several examples in Kent.
At St. Lawrence. Godmersham, a ring of five tenor 14 ewt. apnrox. cast by Christopher Hodson in the late 17 th century, the bells apparently retain their original fittings. including spur stavs identical with those on the Winchester hell. Unfortunately. these bells are in a very had condition, and half-buricd in bird debris. They are clocked.

The heautiful church of St. Mary. Westwell. has a ring of four tenor 12 cwt . with a similar arrangement. Unfortunately the No. 3 is cracked, and the remainder unringable, but well looked after.

There is a single ttay of this sort on the No. 2 of the unringable six. (Tenor $9 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt.1}$ at Eastling: here the tenor is cracked. but, as at Westwell. the remainder are swing-chimed. Here there is a very interesting set of 18 th centurv ringers" rules.

In Canterburv there are two churches with this sort of stay-but with a difference: the stay is vertical ahout one foot long. and enfapes with a horizontal slider half-wav down the frame. These are the churches of St. Paul ${ }^{2} 3$ 7 cwt.). of which the tenor was recast by S. B Goslin in 190?. when the arrangament may have heen mate. ant St. Martin, which were refited ahout 1920 . Here however the arrancement is in iron throughout. These bells 13: 7 cwt.). have some pretensions to being rincable.

Mr. S. H. Goulin tiso rast the trehle. 2. and 3 or St Alnhege. Canterhurv (s: 74 cwt ) in 1893-4 hut there are no traces of this arrangement there The bells were rehung laver but in th * original frame. His remaining hell in Canterbury, the trehle at St. Marmaret's 119021 a'ong with its two companions (Tenor 6 cwt ) is stayless.

There is anthher arrangement-a full stav but a half ulider-in wie on soma of the roush five 112 cwi.) at Newchurch. Kent.
If Mr . Havithorne foels ? double-tay -fiendish" he is risht: there is ne on the tern at Bridge. Kent. (3: 10 cwi.)-Yours faithfully DAVID I. CAWLEY.

Extraction of False Course Heads and Their Application

Here is a composition and its proof:
5,216 YORKSHIRE SURPRISE MAJOR 5ths M W B 4ths H 23456

To produce Natural Course Ends the transposition for a bob at 5 ths will be 274365, at 4ths 647253, Wrong 52436, Middle 43652. Before 35264, and Home 42356, therefore the table of Natural Course Ends for this composition is as follows:

It will be seen that the tenors are parted in this composition for the first four leads in each part. The bells in seconds and thirds are the same in each part so look for a F.C.H. are the same in eacme. There is only onc23547687 v 1; $2 \mathrm{v} 3: 3 \mathrm{v} 2 ; 5$ v $4: 4 \vee 5$ : 1 y 7 . Transposing the first row in each part by this F.C.H. gives row ' A.' Next look for F.C.H. which will bring 78 iogether. As the 7th is in 3 rds in N.C.H. table so third must he 7th is in 3 rds in N.C.H. table so the ME.C.H. are 24567387 v $1: 1 \times 7: 1 \times 4 ; 3 \vee 2 ; 2 \vee 3$
 1 v $6: 7 \mathrm{v} 7$. Transposing gives row ' B ' from the first and row ' $C$ ' from the second.
Set out helow is the table of falseness for the first four leads in each part. I have not see out the falseness for the remainder of the peal with the tenors together as this is a simple transposition hy 24365 . These four F.C.H.-24365, 2354768, 6745238 2456738-are the only ones of the 15 which are important.

It now remains to check each column of False Course Heads against the corresponding column of Natural Course Heads; if no repetition occurs then, of course, the peal will be true.

PEAL RECORD IN COUNCIL CHAMBER

The only peal rung in Devon as a token of respect to the late President Kennedy was one of Grandsire Triples at Buckfast Ahbey. The t:agic death of the President took place during the term of office of Mr. C. R. Northcott as chairman of Buck fastleigh UD.C.. a close friend of Mr. A. L. Bennett. To mark the event during his term of office. a beautifully prepared record of the peal, suitahly framed. has been placed in the Council Chamber.

1 hope the above is intelligible but it is a very diffizult subject to explain simply. Should anyone run into difficulties I shall be pleased to help on receipt of a s.a.e.

WEDDING PEAL AT GNOSALL

OBITUARY

MR. ROBERT FISHER

On the evening of June 23rd, Mr. 'Bob Fisher passed quetly away in his chair about 15 minutes after returning from practice in his own belfry at East Meon. He was 97, and had lived in the village nearly all his life.
Mr. Fisher helped to re-hang the bells at All Suints' Church after restoration in 1890 , and had been a ringer and chorister there for more than 70 years. A carpenter by trade. he started felling and sawing as a hoy, with his father: he loved the church and ringing and much of his trade had been followed in making and repairing things in local churches. Recently while at a meeting at Warnford Tower he proudly showed several points of interest on the Tower door which he had made just before the turn of the century.
This aged ringer was invited, and attended the veterans gathering at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, a week or two ago and was very happy to have enjoyed such an occasion. Had he lived a few more days he would have been made a life member of the Guild, at the Annual meeting held at Basingstoke by the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.

The funeral service was held on the following Saturday and the bells fully muffled were rung before and afterwards under the direction of Mr. Ronald Walker, Tower Captain. The Winchester and Portsmouth Guild was represented by Mr. C. E. Bassett, Secretary of the Alton and Petersfield District, and towers represented were Steep, Buriton, Petersfield, East Meon and Warnford.
A quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles followed the service in which Mr. J. E. Clark, a former Tower Captain at East Meon, look part.

THE REV. W. M. K. WARREN

We regret to record the death at Stourpaine. Dorset. on June 13th. of the Rev. W. M. K. Warren. the father of the Rev. H. F. Warren. of Exford, who is the Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. He also wes
Master of the Association from 1936 to 1948. Mr. H. J. Sanger writes
The quarter peal rung at Evercreech on June 26 th was a tribute to life and work, in the Diocese, of the Rev. W. M. K. Warren.
From 1936 to 1945 Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, he was a member of the "Wednesday band which met throughout the 1930 's and. of which. several of the band were members.

During his incumbency at Binegar. the old ring of three was restored and augmented 10 six. in no small measure due to his great effort. His was a delightful personality: he was held in the highest esteem by all ringers and the little gatherings at the Rectory were very happy occasions which will always be remembered

THE ORIGIN OF CHANGE RINGING

BY ERNEST WEATHERBY'

In the city of Cambridge, England, a monk in the Benedictine Monastery chimed the peal of three hells in the church of St. Benet for all of the services.

During the course of his ringing duties, he found it to be very monotonous continually to chime: 1 2 3, 1 2 3, all thetime. Therefore, he Yaried this hy chimins: $123,213,231,32$ 1, $312,132,12,3-$ six changes-all different; and these changes became known as the SIXES before the year 1600 .
In 1610. Robert Roan (the monk) extended these changes to be rung on four bells, and discovered that by one bell following the smallest bell (which he called the "Treble') he was able to chime 24 changes the extent of changes on four bells 1324.1342 , when the treble bell was leading.
In 1625 , he extended his chiming to be rung on six bells, following the same order of one bell to follow the treble bell 13 and I 3, and the other bells to make a dodge together 13 2546,135264 -therehy he was able to produce 60 changes.
According to his calculations, to find the extent of the changes to be rung on three bells (which was 6 changes). the extent on tour bells was 24 changes ( $4 \times 6$ equals 24): the extent on five bells was 120 changes ( $24 \times 5$ equals 120): and the extent on six bells was 720 changes $(120$ x 6 equals 720 ).

He then produced what he called a Bob" (which was made at the last lead of the treble bell 132546 . 123564 ). and by using 3 bobs he was able to produce 360 changes (or half the total); by using what he called a - Single ' 1132546 to 132564 , and then the whole repeated) he produced 720 changesthe extent of changes on six hells.

Robert Roan sent these 720 changes to the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1625.
He was followed hy Fahian Stedman who first produced the Grandsire method to be tung on five bells, and with the Tenor bell on six bells. He also produced the method for five hells which is now called after his name Stedman. and which is extended to be rung on eleven bells, and with a tenor bell, on twelve bells.

These changes composed by Robert Roan and now known as change-ringing were rung at the Dedication Ceremony of the Gloria in Excelsis Tower and Bells of Washington National Cathedral on May 7th, 1964

Mr. Arminger Trollope, when Editor of The Ringing world. found that the initials R. R. were those of Robert Roan. and that Grandsire Bob is now called Plain Bob.
NOTE:-Mr. Weatherby who now lives at Alhambra, California. U.S.A. sent a copy of this to Washington National Cathedral, Kent School and Groton School. In asking for this $t o$ be published. Mr. Weatherby states very few ringers know anything about Thomas Roan of Cambridge.

STOW-ON-THE-WOI.ID BRANCH

Members of the Stow-on-the-Wold Branch decided at their meeting at Bourton-on-theWater. on June 2Uth. to form a deanery band to provide ringers for silent towers through out the deanery. The suggestion came from the Rural Dean

The Rev. I. C: Heron. Rector of Stow-on-the-Wold. stressed the need for greater efforts to provide more Sunday service ringing, especially at towers which had no regular band of ringers. He said he strongly favoured the Rural Dean's idea that ringers should tour the deanery to ring on special occasions. such as confirmations and inductions
The chairman (the Rev. C. H. Pickthorn) supporting the Rector's view. Said that the scheme would mean that towers fortunate enough to have regular Sunday ringing would have to forego a week each month to help towers where there was no ringing at all. but as far as the tower at Bourton-on-the-Water was concerned he would not object to this.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Steps already taken to visit churches for bellringing were mentioned by the secretary ( Mr . L. C. Dowdeswell, Ringers from Stow. Long. borough and Moreton-In-Marsh met once a month and rang bells at Broadwell for morning service, he said. Efforts had also been made 10 ring on special occasions and some towers had been visited for harvest festivals. Two ringers from Longborough who rang the hells at Stow on Sunday mornings also went to Moreton-in-Marsh to help out at evening ser-

After agreeing unanimously to form a deanery band of ringers. it was further decided to seek reports on all "silent towers in the Deanery by the next quarterly meeting in September.
The Rector of Stow-on-the-Wold pointed out that the form of service as laid down by the Association was outdated and that the branch should write to the general secretary suggesting that the form of service be revised. It was agreed to do this for the next meeting at Moreton-in-Marsh. the Vicar there being asked to draw up his own form of service. A reply from Mr. Charles Rouse, the general secretary, states: That the question of revising the form of service will be put on the agenda at the Management Committee's meeting at Glouvester. in October: He also states that the branch could use their own form of service as drawn up hy local rectors.

A short service was held at $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. C. H. Pickihorn.
During the afternoon, under the direction of the Association Ringing Master, the Rev. and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung. Among the 40 ringers present were visitors from St. Albans. Wallingford. Southampton. Witney and Charibury. Local towers were represented by Bourton-on-the-Hill. Bledington. Bourton-on-the-W ater. Longborough. Moreton-in-Marsh and Stow-on-the-W ald. A tribute. dated June 25th. from the Rev. F. F. Rigby, Association Ringing Master. read;: The "touch " of Stedman last Saturday win live in my memory.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Dorchester Branch

Owing to unforeseen circumstances it was necessary 10 rearrange the Branch practice scheduled to be held on May 30th at Hilton and hold it instead on May 23rd. This was by special request by the boys of Milton Abhey School who maintain the ringing at Hilton. The bells of Hilton (6) were available from $2.40 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$ and the practice was attended by the Master of the Guild, the Rev. R. N. Longridge. the assistant secretary. Dorchester Branch. Miss B J Dyke. members of the Dorchester Branch, members of the North Dorset Branch and ringers from Milton Abhey School.
A shortened form of evensong was conducted hy the Rector (the Rev. G. A. Thomas), after which members were entertained to refreshments in Anstey Village Hall. Ringing was then resumed until about $8 \mathrm{~g} . \mathrm{m}$.

U'NISERSITY OF SHEFFIELD GUILI)

Fourteen members and friends of the University of Shetfield Guild spent the week-end of June 201h/21st visiting towers in Lincolnshire.

Saturday morning traffic queues at Newark delayed the start and cut short ringing on the fine six at Leadenham: nevertheless, the pleasant eight at Caythorpe and the six at Barkston were put to good use before lunch. Some excitement was caused by the odd sound and 90 foot draugh of the five bells at Helpringham. Then on to the light eight at Bicker, where justice was not seen to be done: time was short and the striking was poor. The unique 12 at Surfleet were enjoyed by all, and 'fears. about the leaning tower were quickly dispelled. At Kirton-in-Holland free pints were at stake for anyone able to set the tenor at backstroke. Ringing in the evening took place on the three sixes ad Fishtoft. Freision and Butterwick, where methods ranged from Original 10 Surprise Minor.

Saturday night was spent at an hotel in Spalding. In spite of the ' night before.' everyone had climbed the 185 steps at Boston by 10.15 a m . and enjoyed Stedman and Grandsire Caters on the fine ten. After lunch ringing at Nocton was curtailed when a rope broke, and whils this was teing repaired good use was made of a set of handbells found in the ringing chamber. Then on to Lincoln Cathedral, an excellent 12 and the highlight of the tour, A short ring on the six at Saxilby followed until it was time to move on 10 Gainshorough (a glorious eight). A flying visit to the six at Lea (by invitation of the Ringing Master) complered a very enjoyable week-end. Methods rung include Siedman Doubles to Cinques. Grandsire Doubles to Caters. London 10 Cambridge Major, Double Norwich down to rounds and call-changes.

Thanks go to incumbents for the use of the hells: to local ringers and the hard-worked drivers, particularly to the lady driver.

OUTINGS

WARMINSTER

Our annual outing on June 20th was blessed once again with three features we have rather come 10 expect-good weather. an excellent picnic lunch and a very pleasans ringing tour. The first. of course. is not at human command. but the second, in the hands of Mr. and Mrs. Norris, never fails to give both satisfaction and repletion. The ringing arrangements were made by Mr. C. N. Pearson, of Haslemere, and once again he succeeded in finding for us beautiful countryside and interesting ringing towers.

Our coach cartied us first 10 West Meon, where Doubles and Minor were rung on the pleasant six. From here we ran to Petersfield and took a meal very happily by the lake in the park. Now the resources of Mr. and Mrs. Norris were revealed in all their glory: and to cold chicken. pork pie. meat rolls, tomatoes. onions and cheese. we were able to add tea. lemonade or bottled beer, according to fancy. Fruit pies served to fill up the cracks.
On the run to Shalford we took in the vast curve around the Devil's Punchbowl, and were able 10 view that astonishing abyss from all angles. Shalford is on the Editor's doorstep. so to speak. and the pleasure we had from the lovely churchyard and the fine ring of eight would have heen enhanced if we had happened to find "the Press in attendance.

At remore Dunsfold we rang Cambridge Minor and some excellent Stedman. and at Witley, where the captain and vice-captain both met us, we hid some amusing neck exercises in ringing round the clock-pendulum case.

A splendid tea was provided for us at Haslemere by Mr. and Mrs. Pearson. The lonely Binsted was our last ringing cower. where Mr. Pearson joined us for a good touch of Boh Minor. And here we said farewell to him and his family with what perhaps sounded very formal thanks. but which were really heartfelt. for the kindness and generosity of our Haslemere friends surpass anything we have a right to expect.

On the heights above Stockbridge we halted by the rotdside for supper. and did our best to clear up the remains. We completed in comfort the remaining run of nearly 60 miles. and reached home satisfied both physically and mentadly, and very much at peace with the world.
E.C.S.

NORTH WEAI.I)

North Weald beliringers, having no bells of their own to ring, arranged at tour of other churches on June 6th: at 1.30 p.m. approximately 16 ringers and seven friends started out in six cars. At the first tower. Danbury. they found a fine ring of six and for about an hour livened up the village and proved that they had not lost the art. This was an interesting church, with three knights resting in niches under the walls. These effigies were carved in oak and are still in fair preservation.
The journe; to Southminster was through a very rural countryside. and here good linging was enjoyed. Tea was taken at Burnham-on-Crouch. and we were joined by Olly and Mrs. Reynolds. The hells at the Parish Church were voted to be the best of the day.

Despite tiredness, good ringing took place at Purleigh. On the homeward journey a call was made at the 'Army and Navy, near Chelmsford. All were pleased to meet again Wendy Bowak. one of the tower's favourites. They then made their way home. tired but happy.

Ringing in a quarter peal at Woodstone. Hunts. on June 28th to mark the 50th anniversary of the bells was Mr. Charles Hoare, who rang for the cedication in 1914 and in a 25 th anniversary quarter in 1939. Now 81 years of age. Mr. Hoare has been associated with this church for over 70 years.
When a recommendation of a grant for £5 5 s , be made towards the expenses of the American tour came before the Oxford Diocesan Guild annual meeting. Miss Marie R. Cross. the hon. general secretary who has been to Washington recently. denied emphatically the suggestion that it was towards her expenses. The incident caused much amusement.

 dedicated at Heather five was one of the new band of recruits was interred in the churchyard. While riding a scopter he came into collision with a lorry at lbstock which ended fatally. The lay-reader is captain of the band and despite this sad occurrence, hopes are entertained about the progress of the band.From Stow-on-the-Wold: ' I would like to congratulate "The Ringing World" as an advertising medium. We had six ringers from St. Albans, four from Southampton and two from Wallingford at our meeting.'
We were able to stop the publication of a false peal of Casslsbury rung at Drughlington for the Yorkshire Association, on June 18th. Mr. Henry Fielden, the conductor, sends his apologies.

DEDICATION

HEATHER. LEICESTERSHIRE

With the dedication service on June 24th, Leicestershire had another light ring of five. with a tenor of $7 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.. at Heather. The existing three bells had been recast and two new ones added. The church clock has been renovated and a plaque recording the work mentions generous gifts made by Mrs. E. Watts of Heather, before her death. Mr. W. Boobyer, of Vancouver. B.C. and the Barrow Bell Fund Local parishioners have tried hard to complete the scheme. but between $£ 250$ and $£ 300$ is owing

The dedication was assocjated with the Parochial Festival and proceedings started with Evensong at which the Rector, the Rev. J. L. Hamlet, the lay-reader. Mr. W. Atkins, took part. The lesson was read by a former curate. the Rev. R. F. Willis

The dedication was performed by the Ven H. Lockley. Archdeacon of Loughborough who also preached. In his sermon he allied the hells and clock to the life and service of St. John the Baptist as the herald of things to come.

After the service the opening touch of 240 Grandsire Doubles was rung by: A. E. Rowley 1; G. Ridgeway 2. W. Goadby 3. H. O. Over 4. R. Clifton 5: and then other ringers present. including recently recruited local learners were accommodated according to ability. All expressed, over coffee and biscuits in the Rectory afterwards. approval of the Go and tone of this augmentation.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The third Saturday in May found the St. Alhans District at Essendon, where the small Hertfordshire spire is supported by guy ropes! Mr. Fred Bamford, the local ringer, came to welcome us and hrought with him a hand of young girls whom he has taught without outside help. They are all up to ringing Grandsire and most of them stood in a touch for the first time. It seems the district may have a ready made hand 10 add to its numbers

As there was no organised tea. it was unanimously agreed to hold only a hrief business meeting in the tower. Mr. Keith Walpole handed out to those were interested a most lucid set of notes on conducting plain bob and Kent. which he had written himself. These were so clear that they genuinely could be understood by a beginner.
The notes were tried out the following week by ahout a dozen aspiring conductors at a conductors practice at St. Stephen's. St. Alhans.

OUTING

HIGHAM-ON-THE-HILL, LEICS

Higham ringers held their annual outing on June 6 th. when, together with friends from Burbage. Thurcaston. Earl Shilton and Sapcote, they visited the Worcester and Tewkesbury area
The first ringing took place at WoottonWawen (6). followed by another six at UptonSnodsbury where the long draught look some getting used to. After lunch at Worcester. we rang on the anti-clockwise six at St. Swithun's. Then came the most enjoyable ring of the day. the glorious 7 cwt , six at Stoulton. where we rang a very good course of Ipswich. We did not really do justice to the 12 at Tewkesbury but several members had a chance to ring on $\Gamma$ for the first time. Tea was taken at Great Malvern. and then on to the last ring of the day, at Cleeve Prior (6). Higham was reached at $10.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
Merhods rung were Plain Boh. Little Bob. Cambridge and Imwich Minor. Stedman and Grandsire Douhles. Girandsire Triplen and Caters. and call changes and rounds for learners

Many thanks to incumbents and tower correspondents for a very enjoyable day

RADLETT'S EXAMPLE COULD WELL BE FOLLOWED

By R. W. M. Clouston

THERE must be countless Victorian church towers up and down the country which have been condemned for years as being quite unsuitable for a ring of bells that could follow the example of Radlett, Herts, and so replace the often highly unsatisfactory contents of poor-toned single bells, gramophones and tubular bells.

When Christ Church. Radiett, was first built in 1864 a 5 cwt . bell by Warner's was presented. This bell seems to have been used till about 1907, when an octave of tubular bells by Harrington, Latham and Co., of Coventry. was installed and the Warner bell removed. About 1938 a gramophone and loudspeaker system was put in to supplement the tubular belis. By 1960 the equipment to make noises resembling proper bells was in a very poor state and had not been used for some time. A question at the annual vestry meeting asked for the situation to be examined and the present ring was the ultimate result.

The tower with spire is some 90 ft . in total height. and yet the bell chamber is only some 6 ft . 6 in . square across the walls. These are of brick with wide mortar joints, and are considerably weakened by a profusion of doorways. windows. other openings and alcoves, such that at least the lower part of the tower is much weaker than a casual inspection would suggest. The stone spire above does add some stability to the remainder, but with the lower walls a maximum of 2 ft . 6 in . thick, only a very light ring of bells could be contemplated.

A pre-war architect is reported to have stated that the tower was unfit for a ring of bells, and clearly this was so when one thinks in terms of a minimum tenor weight of $5-6 \mathrm{cwt}$. However. post-war progress in casting and hanging much lighter bells than hitherto has changed the situation appreciably.

Schemes were considered for a chime of eight bells and for a light ring of six (tenor $3 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.), and the latter was selected as one of the objectives for the celebration of the centenary of the church and parish. Even with a six of this size two bells had to be in an upper tier.

With such a weak tower either the bells could be separately supported inside on a subsidiary structure, as at Acle and Dover, or by the tower walls themselves after some strengthening and the filling in of one large unnecessary opening 5 ft . by 10 ft . high. So to see if the latter, and cheaper, solution would be satisfactory a 3 cwt . bell was hung in a temporary frame and swung $\mathrm{N}-\mathrm{S}$ and $\mathrm{E}-\mathrm{W}$.

The tower rock horizontally measured level with the upper tier of the proposed frame was found to be a mere $1 / 100 \mathrm{in}$. with frequencies of 160 and 200 cycles per minute respectively. So it was deemed that strengthening the lower part of the tower and mounting the frame on a reinforced concrete girdle set in all four walls would be satisfactory.

The belfry windows have been bricked up to the tracery on the inside, and the majority of the sound from the bells now emerges via four openings in the base of the spire and a series of smaller holes above, thus enabling the bells to be heard at a greater distance and yet be well-balanced and not too loud in the churchyard.

With a tenor of $3 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. the treble to six weighs only some $1 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., $16 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{i}$. diameter; yet all the bells are easy to handlo once one remembers that bells of these weights in ball-bearings require only the minimum of effort to ring. Of course, stays will get broken, especially when training a new band from scratch, and the design is such that $1 \frac{1}{2}$ in. square section ash is used on all the bells. The lengths vary somewhat but none is curved or tapered. Making a new stay only requires cutting the correct length and drilling a $\frac{\text { zon in . diameter hole near one end. }}{\text { a }}$

Due to space considerations the frame is a metal one and the sliders are in the form of a metal L with the top end pivoted to the side frame under the main bearing. The lower end moves between two stops on the runner board and the stay engages with the horizontal part of the L which is encased in timber.

Training a local band is now under way on Wednesday evenings and, thanks to numerous helpers from surrounding towers, quite considerable progress has already been made. It is hoped to have a band ready to ring for Sunday services by the autumn on this the lightest rinz in Hertfordshire.

DERBY ASSOCIATION AT BUXTON

CHARIES BARRIE DOVE.
The Yorkshire Association.
Once again the Yorkshire Association is represented in this series by one of its young members. Charles Barrie Dove was horn on March 18th. 1444. at Headingley. He was educated at Chapeltown Primary School and Harehills County Secondary School, Leeds. where he obtained his G.C.E. (O levels). At present he is employed in Local Governmen Education Department).

Barrie, as he is known. commenced ringing when he was eleven, at the Church of Si Matthew. Chapel Allerton. Leeds. He was the youngest ringer taking part at the dedication

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS-No. 17

by the Bishop of Knaresborough of the new ring of six on St. Matthew's Day. 1955. He was taught to ring by his father. Ronald $H$ Dove. Who is well known throughout the Exercise for his encyclopedic book on ringing towers. A Guide to the Church Bells of Britain.Barrie started Sunday service ringing at Chapel Allerton but later moved to Leeds Parish Church, where he is now conductor He also frequently attends St. Marys. Hunslet hefore morning ringing at Leeds. and at $S_{\text {: }}$ Francis". Holbeck, afterwards.

On May 16th. 1959, when he was 15 . he scored his first peal by ringing the treble to Plain Bob Minor at Chapel Allerton. the conductor heing Irvin Slack. A year later came his first as conductor. This was Plain Boh Doubles at Tong. Bradford.

These two firste peals were the heginning of a rapidly growing collection as Barric's total to date is 60 . Of this total he has conducted 43. including Plain Buh on all numbers, hoth odd and even. from Doubles to Royal, and it is interesting to note that the first peal of Plain Boh Royal which he conducted included eight ringers scoring their first peal of Royal.
Ringing Leeds tenor ( 42 t cwt.) to a neal of Boh Royal. which he composed and conducted. is Barrie's greatest achievement to date, and he claimed to be the youngest ringer to have done so. It is not surprising in learn that one of Barrie's ambitions is to turn this heavy tenor in to a peal of Surprise Major

An enthusiastic tower grabher, Barrie helieves he is also the youngest ringer to reach a total of towers now nearing 1.400). He is frequently handicapped by his exceptional height ( 6 ft . Sin.) when on tower grabhing expeditions. He overcomes the difficulty of low rones by either sitting or kneeline in ring. Good hunting. Barrie, and your Dove's will guide you to all the towers vou have not yet visited.

SUFFOLK GULLD CHANGE CHIEF OFFICERS

THE annual general meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Bury St. Edmunds on June 13 th , attended by over 70 memhers and visitors. including Mr. David Vincent. from Cheshire. The ten hells of the Norman tower of the Cathedral were available during the fternoon and evening and the sixes of Rougham and Great Barton in the evening. Divine service took place in the Cathedral where we joined the lay readers' festival.
The tea and business meeting took place at the Masonic Hall. The Provost (Rev. J. Waddingtonl joined the company and extended a welcome 10 the Guild. He was suitably thanked by Mr. L. E. Last (the chairman). The reports of the officers revealed that 55 peals had been rung during 1963 including an Alan peal at Lavenham. The number of districts had heen reduced from six to five by having only one central district in addition to the north east. south rast. south west and north west districts which. it was hoped. would improve the organisation of the Guild and improve attendance at meetings.

The accounts were most encouraging and an excess of income over expenditure of ahout $£ 6$ was a happy contrast to the large deficit of 196? Steps had been taken to improve this situation and legislation was passed during the year to increase the annual subscription from 2s. Gd. to 5s. as from January 1st last. It is to be hoped that this will enable the Guild to keep pace with ever rising costs. The first-evar striking competision was held during 19*? for which Mr. Hubert Mitson had very kindly presented a shield. This is to be an annual event: this year's contest will be at Buxhall. on September 26 h .

At the end of January. 1964. a weekend course was held at Belitead House. Imswich.
sponsored by the East Suffolk Education Committee. which had proved most successful and it was hoped 10 repeat this in the future. The tectinical adviser had neen husy again with his inspection of hells. Restoration work was carried out at Hartest during the year. Further restoration work was envisaged at St Mary's. Bury St. Edmunds, and Stowmarket.
Mr. G. W. Pipe was elected Ringing Master in succession to Mr. L. G. Brett. who had held the office for seven years, and Mr. A. T. Beckwith was elected general secretary and treasurer in succession to Mr. J. W. Blythe, who had carried out those duties for nine years. The chairman expressed the thanks of the members to both of the retiring officers for their efforts over a long period. Messrs. Brett and Blythe hoth thanked the members for the supnort they had received and expressed the hope that the new officers would the fully supported. The vice-presidents, the technical advser and the hon. auditor were all re-elected.
A proposal to increase the size of the committee by making the district chairmen ex-officio members and having iwo elected memhers from each district was approved. subject to ratification at the general meening so he held at Inswich in Seplemher.

It was agreed to make an effort to arrange as much ringing as possitile to mark the return to the Cathedral of the Cross and Arrows. which is at present touring the Diocese.

The chairman thanked the memhers for their attendance, Mr. &. Wright for making the arrangements for the meeting and the incumbents for the use of their bells. Mr Blythe thanked Mr. Last for acting as chairman.

One unfortunate absenice due to illness wa: the Rev. John Blick. curate at Radictt. who has done quite a hit of change ringine over the years. and who has been invaluable in the preliminary stenc in getting a local band of ringers established.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

Latest successes are from Cornwall. where three young members in one of the College Affiliated School of Ringing-St Uny's. Lelant-have reached the stage of ringing it: simpler methods and of conducting Stedman Doubles. They have qualified by the orescribed tests scribed tests :Tism I' in ringing. They are: Miss Viaci Enabeth Presswood M'ss Alberta Ruth Aston and Mr. Francis Malcolm Bowers. The last named has conducted a quarter peal of Stedman Doubles.
Another member of the school is one of the churchwardens. and all the nutils are makine good nrogress under the tutorshin of Mr. Harry Miles (College president) and Mis; Marion Lidgey. in charge of the school.

MR. THOMAS GEORGE DARCH
Although we had heard hints of heart trouble. ringers in Devon were deeply shocked when we heard that Iommy Daren had died on July 4 th. at the age of 61.

Thomas Darch was born in Yarnscombe. the son of a famous ringer and ringing judgc. Albert Darco. He became a farmer, and later moved to St. Giles-in-the-Wood. where he made a name for himself in farming circles: he was an expert in sheep-shearing and for years ran that section of the Torrington Show. Not long ago he handed over the farm to his son and moved into Torrington. but he was helping on the farm the day before he died. With his neat. stocky figure, weatherhrowned complexion and steady bright blue eyes, commy was a typical North Devon farmer, hut it was his voice which was most memorahle. Decp for a man of his build. rich and resonant in tone, his speech was the purest Devon dialect. hut most beautifufly enunciated: he was a gift to the HBC West Region, who often featured him in ringing items.

As a ringer he was a dedicated call-change ringer and his driving force was a constant search for nerfection. His car for striking was extremely fine, and his love for bell music was such that when ringing came up 10 his very high standard you could see enjoyment in every line of him. But two qualities in particular made him exceptional as a judge. One was the fact that as a seeker after perfection he would always give credit to anyone who was seeking it too. even if their search had a long way to go: he was just as quick to praise a good try as he was to criticise sloppy striking: the thing that really distressed him was to hear a bell striking wide or close for round after round without correction. The other quality was an astounding memory for ringing: he could look through his notebook and convert one of the through his notebook and convert one of the impeccably neat sets of dots into a detailed account of a peal which he had heard months or even years before, with literally hundreds of competition peals intervening, and if asked he would give out at the end of a competition not merely the marks of the teams but a careful analysis of each one's ringing. It was this ability not merely to mark ringing but to say exactly how the marks were incurred that made him the hardest-worked judge in Devon.
He was at the time of his death chairman of the Devon Association of Church Bell Ringers. an office which he had held for 12 years. When the suggestion first arose to seek affiliation with the Central Council. It was his wise and balanced words. coming from the conservative wing of the Association. which probably brought about the approval of the plan and he was one of those elected to the Council. Hindered by hay-harvest from coming to Stoke. Cardiff or Yarmouth. he made his first appearance at Truro, and the Council gave him a great welcome. He was method ringing. but his desire for perfect striking meant that he very seldom heard any method ringing which pleased him. and like most call change ringers he didn't like even-bell methods ar all.

I once heard him in a BBC interview refer in ringing as a lovely brotherhood '-1 only wish I could convey how he spoke that last word-and he did much in a quiet way to promote this. Quiet and modest, he never asserted himself. Dut he was a wonderful friend and a delightitul companion.
At Torrington. where he was tower captain for many years, he built up a fine tradition of good and regular ringing, and there they will miss him sorely. In the Devon Association and the whole worid of call change ringing his successor will he hard to find. for wisdom and experience. To his friends. I'm afraid. he will he quite irreplaceahle.

THE REV. W. B. CHAPMAN

By the death at Almondbury. Yorkshire. on June 29th of the Rev. W. B. Chapman. has passed on one who. during his stay in South Worcestershire. was always a gond helpful friend to ringers. He was Vicar for many years of the large combined parishes of Badsev and Wickhamford hut acting on medical advice he moved to the smaller living at Hinton-on-the-Green. where he was Rector until failing health retired him to his native Yorkshire.

He was always deeply appreciative for his hells to be regularly rung, and the writer recalls, with pleasure, his request a few months after his induction to Hinton, for honorary membership of the Association. proffering current and advance subscriptions. not for myself. but in thankfulness and gratitude for my. ringers:

Ashbrittle Bells ring out again

Dear Sir,-Owing to the recent dispute be iwcen Rector and parishioners at Ashbrittle ringing has been suspended for the past twelve months. The ringers have been active by helping out in other parishes.
Following the Rector's departure from the parish, ringing recommenced on Sunday. June $20 t h$, with a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles by the local band.
Sunday ringing will now take place and practices will be held regularly on Fridays at 7.30 p.m. when all visitors will be made welcome. Yours sincerely, Ashbrittle, Som.

Bow Bells, old and new

Dear Sir-I too saw the programme on I.T.V. on June 14th. about Bow Bells. Like Mr. J. Hedgecock and St. Thomas' ringers. I expected to hear something different from what was presented.
I consider that what I heard was a recording of the back ten of the old Bob 12 , tenor 53 or so. After a couple of whole pulls I lost interest, but it could possibly have heen the B.B.C. time signal although broadcast on I.T.V. My sense of pitch told me that it wasn't a $C$ peal that I heard and I helicve the new Bow 12 are in C natural and the old peal were in $B$.
As no one is infallible, however, I could possibly be wrong.-Yours truly.
G. J. HEMMING.

Gi. Hampton, Evesham.

Ringers' Service at Gnosall

Dear Sir.-I should like to pay trihute in those responsible for the excellent ringers' service at Gnosall. Staffs. on July Sth, and to mention the great pleasure everyone must have had at seeing and hearing the junior handhell ringers. After the service there was annther fine example of handhell ringing hy these youngsters who. I estimate. Were not more than an average age of 12 years.

The Rev. Tony Villiers was very apt in his address when he said: 'The exercise of hellringing requires patience and discipline. One cannot compare an adult ringer when one sees these boys and girls: they are the very essence of enthusiasm obedience and discipline.'

To Mrs. B. G. Key I would say thank you for your untiring efforts in teaching and training these youngsters and may you be well rewarded for your lahours.-Yours faithfully,

Secretary's apology

Dear Sir.-1 wish to apologise to anyone who may have turned up at the Harby/South Scarle meeting of the Newark District of the Southwell Guild on June 27th. It unfortunately had to be cancelled at the eleventh hour due to lack of support.-Yours faithfully.
B. N. REED (Mrs.).

Whitwell-on-the-Hill

Dear Sir-Reading Mr. Harold Walher's article on the hells and tower at Whitwell-on-the-Hill. I notice that he wonders why the circular wooden staircase and platform at the top were ever put there. Nearly sixty years ago my business took me into the village weekly, and into the homes of some of the ringers of that time.

This stairway and platform were then known as the 'Parson's Lookout, from which extensive views of the countryside, north. east, south and west. were to be obtained by looking through the windows, which are about halfway up the spire. and which are glazed with clear glass. I have known some of the locals go up to this vantage point to watch foxhunting when the hounds met in the district.
I agree with Mr. Walker that the structure prevents the bells from being hung on one level. In spite of the difficulties in the ringing chamber these bells were rung regularly for the services in the early part of the present century. during the incumbency of the late Rev. H. A. K. Hawkins. Amongst the ringers at that time were Whites. Woods. Stabler, Foden. Duffits, one of the last named being the leader.

The combined height of the tower and spire is 110 feet. The inscriptions on the hells read: Treble, Father Glory be to Thee: 2nd. Glory in the Blessed Son: 3rd Glory to the Spirit be: 4 th. Glory to the Three in One: 5th. As it was, is now, shall be: Tenor. Filling all eternity. On each bell, 'Cast by John Warner and Sons. London. '1859.' Also the Royal Arms.-Yours faithfully

Stillington. Yorks. J. B. HUTCHINSON.

Muezzin's call canned

Dear Sir.-The other day a mildly amusing piece of gossip came my way from someone who had just returned from a holiday in Tunisia. It would appear that the Christian Church. With its several rings of 'canned bells' is not the only religion to have succumbed to the modern trend of mechanisation.

At the new mosque in Monastir, as in all similar Moslem places of worship. the voice of the old muezzin can be heard monotonously chanting out his weird incantations from the top of the tall minaret. Belween the phrases, however. the hiss of a needle on a record can be clearly discerned.-Yours truly, London, W.C.

PETER DALE.

St. Martin le Grand

Dear Sir.-Mr. Weatherby (Belfry Gossip. July 10 (h) seems to have his family records out of order. St. Martin's le Grand is a City street which must be familiar to many thousands of office workers. for nearby stands the General Post Office. It commemorate a college of secular canons with a definite history starting in 1068. Queen Matilda brought certain rights over it to the Crown and in time is became a source of royal sinecures. By the sixteenth century. the standard of conduct in the college appears to have been unusually bad. and it was suppressed in 1547 .- Yours sincerely.

Bringing Canada up to date

Dear Sir-1 would like to take issue with the Canadian report published on page 394 in - The Ringing World of June 12th, since several inaccuracies seem to be evident.
Vancouver.-The reference to the rehanging of the chiming ring of eight bells in St. Jamer appears totally unfounded, unless one of the two foundries has been recently approached by one of the two members of the clergy of that church, who are at present in England. No one at the Church of St. James, we are informed, has ever heard of this proposition. Since at least $$ 50.000$ would be required to build a tower for the bells, quite apart from the expenses in connection with their rehanging, and the fact that there is no land available. make this possibility highly improbable. At present the bells are hung dead in a lantern at the apex of the roof over the nave--quite impossible for ringing both for access as well as structural stresses.

Montreal. We are not clear who the 'representative was who visited the towers there : however, from personal inspection. the ring of ten at St. Patrick's has an odd middle five hells rung by electric motors-hardly classifiable as ringable - and certainly new ropes and new wheels and stays would mostly be required. At Notre Dame. tho hours were spent trying to obtain permission to view the bells after which time urgent husiness elsewhere prevented examination. However. we were assured that all ten bells were rung hy electric motorswhich rules this tower out for all time. I would say!

Quebec City.-The reference in 'Dove' to the Holy Trinity ring being unringable is totally inaccurate. Reference was made to this tower in the report, hut one wonders why it does not iustify a heavy tyne heading as have the four in Wiestern Canada? Th's tower, it seems to me. has suffered injustice long enough -for not only is it the oldest ring in Canada. but is also the one closest to the old country:" and also is only ten minutes from the quay, where every passenger liner sailing between Canada and Britain docks on her way up or down the St. Lawrence River? Ringers attendine the 1962 Central Council meeting at Cardiff may recall my showing a short colour film taken in this church and tower. including the bells. which had been shot only the year before.

May I suggest that the convener. Mr. Pipe. contacts Mr. R. H. Dove. for my corresoondence with the latter gentleman of some three years hack, which I would hope to be still on file. Complete information on Canadian bells was contained therein. there seems to have been no changes, although Mr. Dove inaccurately reported the Quebec City lower unringable. for which I have had no explanation nor seen any correction.

Two further corrections:
Calgary, the weight of tenor is $8 \frac{1}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$. (not 14);

Quebec City - St. Matthew's, the weight of tenor is 8 cwt. (not 14).

Both facts were verified with the ringers in these two cities, and again these appear in my letters to Mr. Dove.-Yours sincerely.
A. J. M. COLLINS.

SWANSEA ELECT, ANOTHER WOMAN MASTER

I['HE 36th annual festival of the Guild was held at St. Mary's, Swansea, on June 20th. The extremely good weather helped to make the journey to Swansea worth while. Those present represented the Central District and the Southern District, but unfortunately the newly-formed Northern District was not represented.

The Bishop arrived late for the service, being delayed in a traffic jam. The tea was provided by the St. Mary's ringers, and the arrangements were under the supervision of Mrs. Whitworth. Many more attended than was expected. but this was soon overcome, and the thanks of all present were expressed by Mr. Stan Edwards.
The service, conducted by Canon H. C. Williams, was held in Holy Trinity Chapel. The Rev. E. Hunt, who gave the address, was at the business meeting which followed, and was congratulated by the Bishop, who presided.

Among the apologies was one from Mr. D. Stokes, who tendered his resignation as treasurer through ill-health. Mr. Saunders paid tribute to the work he had done during his term of office. and added the good wishes of members for a complete recovery 10 good health

PRESENTATION OF THE SHIELD
The Bishop. in presenting the shield, congratulated the winners, Neath. on their fine achievement ; he also presented certificates to the Cadoxton band who came second, and the Glasbury band who came third.

At this stage of the meeting the Bishop had to leave. and the chair was taken by Canon H. C. Williams.

The hon, secretary (Mr. J. A. Hoare) said unfortunately the Northern District was in a state of despondency. and this caused uneasiness. There was no record of subscriptions being paid and meetings had not been organised as planned. It was hoped that improvement would be shown very soon. Instructors were still required, especially in the Northern District.
In the absence of the ereasurer. Mr. Stan Edwards presented the accounts. which showed a small surplus on the Income and Expenditure Account. They were adopled.
The Ringing Master reported increased interest throughout the diocese. but Sunday service ringing was not as it should be. The ringing competition was a success. and they had to thank Mr. Gwyn Thomas for adjudicating. A report of the Central Council meeting at Truro this year was given by Mr. T. M. Rcderick.
In the absence of Mr. G. I. Lewis, a written report from him was read. An increase of eight peals this year over last was due mainly to a number of handbell peals, including one of 10,192 changes. and several new methods rung in the Swansea area. It was hoped that more ringers would attempt peals and quarters peals. as this was a sure way to improve striking. ihe Peal Book had been rewritten and about 250 new pages added. To date 220 peals had been rung for the Guild.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The new Master of the Guild is Miss Kathleen M. Watkins. of Sketty. Swansea, who was proposed by Mr. J. T. Williams and seconded by Mr. S. Edwards. Miss Watkins shankied them for electing her as Master, and hoped she would be able to carry out her duties as required of her.

Mr. Colin Lewis thought that a longer period in office of being Master would be beneficial to the Guild. Mr. Edwards suggested that the office should be filled from the Central and Southern Districts alternately.

The hon. secretary. Mr I. A. Hoare, was reelected, and Mr. D. H. Benneť, of Talgarth, Miss Kathleen M. Wathins is the youngest Master of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild, being only 19 years of age. She has been ringing for four years and is a past vice-president of the South Wales District of the Ladies ${ }^{\circ}$ Guild and a representative on the Central Committee of that Guild.

hathleen is a student at Trinity College, Carmarthen; her home tower is St. Paul's, Sketty, where she is vice-captain. She has severai peals, including one 'in hand;' to her credit. was appointed to fill the vacant office of treasurer A proposal by Mr. E. Morris to re-elect Mr. Stan Edwards as the auditor was carried. and Mr. G. 1. Lewis was again elected peal recorder.
A suggestion on holding an annual dinner revealed an absence of real support: the matter was dropped.
A notice of motion by Mr. S. Edwards, that the committee meetings of the Guild be held each year in the home town of the Ringing Masier. was supported by Mr. A. V. Protheroe and carried.

The 1965 annual festival of the Guild will be held at Brecon Cathedral at a date to be arranged later. The ringing competition for 1965 will be held at Bronllys and the alternative tower is to be Talgarth.

The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised $£ 3$ 17s. 6d. Mr. E. Sage was elected a ringing member. and the proceedings concluded with an omnibus vote of thanks.

Ringing throughout the day varied from rounds to Surprise Major. and continued until $8.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY

Sale of Ring of Six Deplored

$\mathrm{F}^{\mathrm{OR}}$ the second year rumning, the Society Evensong was held in the choir stalls of Lichfield Cathedral, and was conducted by the president, the Ven. Basil Siratton (Archdeacon of Stafford). The Dean addressed the gathering. and emphasised that although the Society always clashed with the Cathedral Friends annual meeting, he welcomed this, as the bells added to the atmosphere of the proceedings. The Dean included a brief history of the Cathedral in his address.

After the assembled party of over 120 had partaken of a bountiful tea. kindly provided by the ladies connected with Lichlield Cathedral ringers. the Archdeacon presided at the business meeting.

From the committee's report it appeared that the Society was nearing its greatest membership ever-nearly 300. Peal ringing is in a healthy state. with two Sunday service bands. Bilston and Gnosall, ringing their first local hand peals, and Brewood and Penn also. save for the conductor. No useful professional bell restoration could be reported, but Shareshill hells were now being rung again. The deplorable loss of St . Martin's. Tipton. bells (8) was reported as six of the bells had been sold. It was stressed that ringers should keep officials informed of such propositions so that the best solution for the church concerned and the art of change ringing can be sought. This is a point ringers everywhere are advised to watch for, in these times of church demolition. rebuilding, etc. Although late, the committee were glad to report that there is now a ring of five at Sandon, near Stafford, and that the fifth bell at St. Leonard's. Bilston has been recast. making the complete eight ringable once more.

The treasurer reported the Society's accounts to be in a healthy state, but said there was room for more co-operation from some towers in the prompt payment of subscriptions and peal fees.

It was agreed that the Saturday evening practice meetings would contifue on the last Saturday of a month, in which there was not a meeting, and that at least one striking competition be held during the next twelve months. Full meetings (subject to permission) would he: September Sth. Lichfield Diocesan Festival at Stafford: October 17th. Yoxall: January 19th. St. Peter's, Wolverhampton: March 20th. Sedgley; May 8th. Great Barr: and the A.G.M. at Lichfield on June 19th, 1965.

An alteration to Rule 7 was adopted. making it necessary for peal fees to be payable to the treasurer by the following meeting.

The following officers for 1964.65 were elected: Ringing Master, Mr. Michael W. Fairey; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. Philip G. K. Davies: hon. secretary, Mr. Clive M. Smith. - Roiselle." Walsall Road. Lichfield (tel. Lich 2124): honorary treasurer, Mr. John H. Allen. 8. Oriel Drive, Fordhouses, W'olverhampton : honorary auditor. Mr. H. Green: annual dinner secretary (for 1965). Mr. Charles Eyre.

The following new resident members were elected: Mrs. L. M. Griffiths. Miss E. Mould, W. Brotherton, C. Tabener. C. Tabener, sen.. all St. Peter's Wolverhampton: Miss L. J. Monk. Longdon: T. Greaves. Bilston: J. D. $\mathbb{P}$. Smith. Shareshill: $S$. White, Great Barr: $S$. Clamp. All Saints'. West Bromwich : R. Fairbrother, E. Fairbrother. F. Beech and Mrs. J. Beech, all Stafford.

The president closed the meeting by thanking all who had made it so successful.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY'S SUMMER TOUR

IVE finally collected together our wits and bicycles, and found ourselves on the train to Newport. Muscles already strained and hands blistered from furniture removing the previous evening. we sank back exhausted to enjoy our last taste of mechanised transport for another ten days. The summer tour. 1964, of the U.B.S.C.R. was to be in the Wye Valley and had been extended to last ten days instead a week.
Our lirsi visit was to All Saints. Newport. a very pleasant eight, and from there to turn out of Newport we arrived late but were unable to overstay our time because a wedding was to be held there at two oclock. We were told that these bells are the lightest ring of eight in that part of the country, and it hecame painfully obvious that the Society is not used to handling light bells when the stay on the second was broken in the rise. It was here that we made first acquaintance with the tandem. whose riders though hailing from a rival society we permitted to join our ranks for the society duration.

A horrible truth was then revealed to the secretary. Her lack of knowledge of Welsh place names had led her to confuse Llantrisant. where we were scheduled to ring. was 40 miles away. The latter. which was just up the valley, possessed two bells. Even the most ardent lower-grabber was deterred by this: a hasty phone call sorted the matter out and we were able, thankfully to struggle on to Chepstow Youth Hostel. We discovered that the nearest pub was a mile away, but inspired by rigorous pub was a mile away, but inspired by rigorous renderings of Tavern in the Town on the hoitel piano we were not daunted.

The next morning we cycled to Chepstow to join the local band of St. Mary's for service ringing on their lovely ten. After the service we went and looked over Chepstow Castle. we went and looked over Chepstow Castle. and then continued on to Mathern where we ate our packed lunches on a tombstone until thirst drove us afield. Alas, we arrived ten minutes after closing time.

After ringing on the six at Mathern, where we reached our highest venture by ringing a touch of Perivale which failed to come round until called into Plain Bob. we proceeded to Caldicot. By this time we were drooping with thirst and we had to beg a glass of water before we could even bear to listen to. Pick of the Pops." Having met and rung with the Rev. Roy Hallett and his band of young Rev. Roy Hallett and his band of young learners. we returned to Chepstow Youth Hostel.

HEAVEN'S GATE

On Monday we managed to force our expanding luggage into our shrinking saddlebags before setting out to ring at Tidenham, a lovely six. From there we had a seven mile drag to Lydney. where we were met by an officer of the law who unbuttoned his tunic to help us out in a good course of Cambridge Major. Then a long. long climb faced us to St. Briavels. At the top of the faced us to St. Briavels. At the top of the hill we saw a sign declaring Heaven's Gate. Could it be that we had come so far? We were not surprised. Giving St. Peter an airy wave we staried on the downward path. The view from St. Briavels is magnificent. but we had no time to appreciate it. The bells were in bad repair and we found them tough going. A postman came to meet us as we his country would greet us next? We wondered. We soon found out. When we arrived at Clearwell we learned that a funeral was about to take place. Of course, we were unable to ring, but the weather was beautiful and we sat by the village stream irying to make our icelolly sticks shoot the rapids.

All too soon it was time to move on to Staunton. After enjoying the six bells there we had a ten mile run back through the Forest of Dean to Mitcheldean Youth Hostel. where the food we discovered was magnificent and we were to be there for three nights. On discovering our prodigious capacity for drinking tea the warden had to dig out her largest teapot. With what joy did we then perceive that the nearest hostelry was a mere ien yards away. It possessed a piano which led us through an exhausting repetoire of song, ending with 'The Bristol Man. to the chagrin of our friends from another place

The bells at Mitcheldean have just been rehung and are one of the finest eights we have ever visited. After ringing there on Tuesday morning we freewheeled all the way down to Blasion and Wevthury-on-Severn. the latter having well sounding bells although their going was hard. He then swept round the curve of the Severn to have our lunch and ring at Awre. We had another very steep hill to climb to Littledean, after which we managed to stagger our exhausted way back to the hostel.

The next morning we arrived early at Newent, giving ourselves opportunity to buy postcards, icecream and the like. To our horror we discovered that the tandem had acquired itself a loud echoing horn which tlazed a trail for us miles ahead. But as the tandem. was inclined to overtake every vehicle in sight at rather more than average speed we realised that a horn was more of an asset than a liability. From the lovely six at Newent we continued on to Staunton, near Tewkeshury, a lone church set outside the village almost in the yard of a large farm. Bromesberrow was our next stop where we were met hy the Rev. F. F. Rigby. Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Guild. who, after ringing with us and conducting us round his neat little church, kindly provided us with tea in the Church Hall.

ACCIDENTS

On the way to the last tower of the day, Aston Ingham, our first accident occurred. A bumpy verge and faulty brakes caused two people to entangle themselves and their bikes, but there was no damage apart from a few bruises and a buckled wheel. Aston Ingham hells were very light and our Master disgraced himself by breaking the first stay of his ringing career. And so hack to our last night at Mitcheldean. A delicious meal was ready for us. hut we were too full to make the most of it. although not many plates were left unlicked.
On ihursday morning we said good-bye to the warden and her lovely children, voting this the best hostel we had ever stayed at. The memory was to linger with us nostalgically for the rest of the tour. We had another good-bye to make: to Maria, who had to leave us much to our regret. Our first tower that morning was Longhope-it was an experience to go downstairs to ring instead of up. The Master arrived late again, but for once he had a valid excuse: he had. so it seemed, somersaulted his handlebars in a desperate attempt to avoid hitting a stationary car. We continued to Wieston-under-Penyard where the more 'musically" inclined tried to find the easiest way to ruin yet another harmonium. We then moved on to Ross and enjoyed the beautiful eight. though our standard of methods and striking was by now abysmal. The sky was an ominous yellow but so far we had been fortunate with the weather and our luck held. In our exhausted state all we could do was to stagger to a cafe. where the wax on the candles had accumulated 10 form malignant looking growths. before going on to ring at Goodrich. Castle spotters were able to add yet another name to their list. and we saw the River Wye for the first time ©. this tour was supposed to be in the Wye Valley. Wasn't it?....). we had a hilly track to climb to Welsh Bicknor Youth Hostel, where we were intrigued to find besides the Warden and his family an assorted collection of animals, including a tame crow To reach the nearest pub we had first to brave a field of steers and irespass over a disused railway bridge hefore walking a mile along the opposite side of the river. hut the men at least seemed to think it was worth it for the sake of the beautiful barmaid.

DEEP IN ROOKS' NESTS

The next day Timothy discovered that he was not feeling well. so we left him behind at was not feeling well. so we left him behind at Llangarton, where we were met by the Vicar, and after this St. Weonards. Here yet another horrible truth was revealed: the secretary had again sullied her reputation by allowing only one hour in which to cycle five miles and have lunch. However. we were only too glad literally to shake the dust of St. Weonards from our feet: the stairs to the belfry were in places ankle deep in rooks' nests and we dreaded what we might arouse by walking over them. The bells too were hard going: so we pressed on hurricaly to have lunch before ringing at Skenfrith. But the Furies were hounding us today: the rope on the third slipped and Roger still had a coil in inis hand. The Vicar very kindly drove him to the hospital and he appeared later, his little finger hroken. For the rest of the tour he rang one-handedly. The rest of us had a lovely downhill run into Monmouth, where the rain began to pelt down just as we reached the shelter of St. Mary's Church. The bells were some of the hest we had encountered though I doubt if they felt the same about us. After this most of the party were keen to get back to the hostel : some of us could not face another eight mile drag without a break so We had some coffee before returning to Welsh Bicknor.
Saturday morning dawned bright and beautiful. unlike us. The strain was telling. We struggled up the long hill to Ruardean, arriving 55 minutes late so that we had time merely to ring up. have a quick course of Grandsire Triples and down before travelling on to Linton. a lovely six. We had lunch conveniently during a rainstorm after which we enjoyed the best rise of the tour at Upton Bishop.

MUSSELS AND FRIENDSHIPS

In a depressed mood we moved on 10 Dymock. a heavy and not a very easy-going six. We were delighted to meet here the Tyndale-Biscoes, no longer travelling tandemwise. They came with us as fur as Much Marcle but we were unable to ring here as no-one came to let us in. We then made our way to Rushall Youth Hostel. No advantages here, we thought. Meals served on cold plates and the pub a good half-hour's walk away (or ten minute run, depending on the strength of your thirst and your legs). But the cider was draught and bread, cheese and onions were served on the house. A jar of mussels were served on the house. A jar of mussels friendships, but peace if not order was resumed as we weaved our happy way home.
The next day. Sunday we had an uphill journey to ring at Woolhope. We stayed to Matins, the Vicar having kindly asked us if one of us would like to read the lesson. In the afternoon we rang at Fownhope where we were welcomed and entertained by the Rev. H. G. Sell who brought his family up to the belfry with him to watch us ring. He then directed us to Kings Caple up a very steep hill which made the muscles in our calves and shoulders sing. This next tower we viewed with some apprehension as the letter of acceptance had relieved the Vicar of all responsibility for any damage caused during our visit. Wishing that we had taken out insurance nolicies before embarking on this horrible venture we bravely seized hold of the ropes. We soon discovered that these were so long that it was easier 10 ring sitting down. The ringer of the second had to stand beneath an open trapdoor through which. if you didn't mind getting your eyes full of dust. you could see the bells swinging high above. It was now turning cold and it was a long way to Rushall but in spite of our exhaustion we found no difficulty after supper in returning to our lovely pub.

On Monday we had another late start so that we unfortunately only had time for a short ring on the lovely eight at Ledbury before moving on to the lighter eight at Colwall. We then made the mistake of waiting till wa got to Coddington before having lunch. We arrived to find that this village consisted of a church. two houses and a post office which sold nothing but stamps. Most of us blazing sun to find a public house and so we lay limply in the churchyard until, after receiving several visits which became more and more pointed, the little woman in the post office suddenly produced a bottle of lemon squash and jugy of water. This could not have been more welcome, and was yet another example of the kind hospitality we received throughout the tour.

Having enjoyed the bells we rode on to Bosbury. but though we waited a good time the tower was locked and no-one came to unlock it, so we pressed on to Stretton Grandison. a pleasant light six with an unusually close rope circle. We had a smooth run back along the Roman road to the hostel. This was our last evening and we celebrated it in the raditional style.

And so the final day had arrived when we never thought it would. Our penultimate tower was over the hill at Hampton Bishop (a pleasant ring), and then the beautiful six at Hereford Si. Nicholas:. We were able to hold our heads up in the end by ringing an excellent touch of London Minor followed by a good lower, and we wished we could always ring like that.

The secretary wishes to thank all incumbents and tower captains for allowing us the use of their bells and for meeting us and enduring our indifferent ringing. The kindness and warmth we received, not only in the tower but f:om everyone we met. cannot be forgotten. She also wishes to acknowledge the encouragement and advice she received from various members of the Society when things looked their worst. The hills were high and the cycling hard. and next year's organiser was sometimes to be heard muttering wildly to himself about minibuses and sailing boats. We certainly endured more knocks and hruises this year than ever before, and it is surprising that all the bikes survived even as well as they did. It seemed that everything worked logether to make this one of our most memorable tours.

OUTINGS

NORWICH, ST. GEORGE'S, COLEGATE
The St. George's ringers made an early start for their main outing of the year into Lincolnshire on June 27 th. Despite the holiday traffic and 'short cuts.' we managed to ring the first touch at Wrangle more or less on schedule. Early rising seemed to affect the ringing here but the bells were neatly lowered in peal. as indeed they were at most of the towers visited.
On to Bennington, where there was some furtive traffic in Eccles cakes and "pop" before ringing London. Plain Bob. Kent and a good touch of Stedman. We rang next on the six at Butterwick, a beautifully kept church. where Plain Boh. Oxford and Norwich were successfully brought round. Thoughts began to turn to the high point (in every sense) of the day. because we were due to ring at Boston before lunch.

It is impossible to do justice to St . Botolpn's within the close timetable of a ringing outing. but we hoped to be able to visit the church again some day. After getting our breath, we made a careful start with rounds and call changes on the fine ring of ten. Grandsire Caters. a plain course of Stedman. Bob Maior and Grandsire Triples followed. and we felt that we had not disgraced ourselves.

After a gargantuan chop suey lunch. the ringing on the 14 cwl . six at Freiston seemed to match the meal, but at Fishtoft we had some of the best ringing of the day. Teatime took us through Boston again and on to Frampton where we rang some competent Stedman Doubles and a course of London. followed by another good lower in peal. At this stage the Alvis in the narty almost disappeared under the weight of a grouo photograph before we moved on to the only octave of the day at Kirton.

The last two towers were Wigtoft and Algarkirk. the day finishing in good style with Plain Boh. Cambridge and London. Our thanks must include Peter Adcock. who thanks must include Peter Adcock. Who organised an excellent day.

MAUIIDEN, BEDS.

Eagerly looked forward to by the regulars. the annual outing of the Maulden ringers is always a popular event. and this year a visit was made to the Sussex area.
On this lovely day, June 20th, the natural beauty of this enchanting countryside showed up at its best. Dorking was the first stop. and here some of the party refreshed themselves with coffee whilst others were even more refreshed by another meeting with that dynamic local character, Pat Cannon!

The bells of the Parish Church were put to good use before we moved on to Henfield. whose excellent ring of eight gave everyone much pleasure.
Lunch at Worthing was followed by a visit 10 historic Arundel. where a solid brick wall divides the chancel from the nave, a lasting tribute to the nroadmindedness of a former Duke of Norfolk, who didn't mind what religious views people held. so long as they held them on the other side of the wall! The bells are, fortunately. in the C. of E. part of the church, and we enjoyed a ring on them.)

Further ringing look place at Pulborough. where an excellent tea was enjoyed.

Next came Petworth's quite outstanding octave. though perhaps a little odd-siruck-but there should be more bells like these!

The last tower was Chiddingfold, and a very pleasant ring. As we were about to leave Chiddingfold we realised we had provided a little interest for other people too (always very pleasant!). The coach in which we travelled was the centre of attraction. and though. to us, it seemed a perfectly ordinary coach, it came in for a great deal of notice. even from people who normally travel in Rolls Royces. probably due to the fact that it was parked outside one of England's most exclusive hotels !

Altogether a most delightful day's outing. and the sincere thanks of all are accorded to incumbents. Incal ringers, our organiser Ron Sharp. and all who helped to make it such a success.

A peal attempt for Bob Major which, had it been successful, would have been  BELFRY GOSSIP

the first on the 'Gabriel' eight, was made at St. Nicholas' Great Yarmouth, to welcome the new Vicar (Rev. Donald Holt), lately of St. Peter's, Croydon. Canon A. G. G. Thurlow joined the otherwise local band in this effort to give his successor a happy in-coming to the parish but a shift course after two and a the parish but a shift course after two and

We hear that Mr. Tom Myers has been recuperating at Bude. and conducted a short touch of Siedman Triples at Stratton. This was his first attempt at ringing since last October.
Sturry. Kent. ringers are proud of the quarter peal we publish this week. A year less three days ago, Mr. F. File took on the task of training a band from scritch and now they have scored their first quarter of Grandsire. A previous attempt was baulked by the clapper leaving the fourth.

With the peal at St. Peter's, Brighton, on June 27th, the conductor. Mr. John W. Euston, has fulfilled a wish of 30 years' standing to score a peal in this church. The peal was a silver wedding compliment to Mr. H. C Weaver, who rang the fifth, and his wife.

From 'Belfry News,' the Derbyshire Bellringers' monthly: 'When one considers the generosity of the American people in entertaining those representatives of English bellringers one shudders at the narrowness and paucity of imagination of the critics who argued against making donations towards the project.'
The bells of St. Mary's, Banbury, rang out merrily on June 24th, when a peal of Stedman Caters was rung in honour of the 93rd birthday of Mr. Fredk. Selwyn. father to the Banbury tower. His ringing career started at Bromesberrow. Glos, in the 1880 s and continued until he was 87 when the stairs defeated him Mr. Selwyn came to Banbury during world war one and for about 20 years he was sexton. He still fakes a keen interest in ringing matters. and Mrs. T. Cooke, rines at St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, has obtained a B.Sc. degree at Newcastle University, and Gillian, daughter of Mr. E. Pannell, who also rings at St Cuthbert's, has obtained a B.A. at Durham. Gillian does not at present ring, but having been mroduced to the mysteries of bell control may take up ringing at some future date.

Mr. David Walklate, of Derby, is going to Hong Kong for three years.

With the peal at Cosgrove, Mr. W. J Chester achieved an ambition to ring 200 peals. It was a good steady peal, just how Bill likes his ringing.

Kirby-le-Soken are holding their fourth Ringers' Sunday on July 26th. The support of visitors would be most welcome at this special Sunday for worship and general interest in our art.
Leatherhead. Surrey, bells which have been silent since last October, when the sixth bell fell into the pit, are likely to be heard again on August Bank Holiday, when the joint meeting between the Surrey Association and Guildford Guild takes place. Most of the bells are having new headstocks.

Four Yorkshire ringers aiming for their first and only peal of Minimus (in 10 methods) were rudely interrupted just 20 minutes from the end at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Stockton-on-the-Forest, nr. York, by an extremely annoyed individual who even put his fists up! Fortunately, he was removed from the church with considerable restraint by the ringers who will now have to make a further attempt on this delightful light ground-floor ring.

Congratulations to the Yorkshire Association band, conducted by Mr. W. F. Moreton, who with a peal of Spliced Surprise Royal in 32 methods have rung most methods to a peal of Royal.
In the peal at Askerswell on Jure 20th (see page 472) the ringer of the second was Joseph T. Barrett, and not Barnetl.

LINCOIN CATHEDRAI

The very good weather on June 20th made the annual outing of the Cathedral ringers into Worcestershire more enjoyahle. Bromsgrove was reached at 12.30 and ringing wa nrolonged by a quarter of an hour to ring a hride into church.

Excessive traffic meant a late start at Worcester Cathedral, where as most of the party were not accustomed to such heavy bells the ringing was not of the hest. hut the last half course of Cambridge Maximus went well More delay arose by parking problems as our coach was hemmed in hy cars. In consequence we had to miss ringing at Great Hampton is order to he on time for tea at Evesham Before rinoing at the Bell Tower we listened to a first class half course of Maximus hy some well known ringers who had heen unable to start for a peal at Tewkeshury hecause of broken clapper. Our ringing was most enjoyable. The highlight of the homeward journey was a spirited altercation between two drivers after a very slight collicion in the car park of a hostelry known as. The Herald of Peace.
Lincoln was reached at 11.30 pm. : it was day of happy memories.

About fifty members of the congregation: accepted the invitation of the ringers to visit the tower and watch the ringing in progress. One or two even ventured to try their hand under guidance from Mr. Dobbie and it is hoped that seeds have been sown for recruits. Supper was then enjoyed by the ringers in the Vicarage by kind invitation of the Vicar, Canon T. F. C. Bewes. and Mrs. Bewes.

Ide proved to have another ground-floor light six. After tea at othe Peamore Garage Cafe. Kenn (another good six rung from upstairs) was visited and a local ringer joined in some well-struck call changes

HALIFAX ARCHDEACONRY

A GENTLEMAN RINGER  By CYRIL A. WRATTEN

RECENTLY a slim, black-covered notebook came into my safekeeping. Inside its cover were written a name and date: G. H. Phillott. Jan. 1872.'

George Henry Phillott was born in 1852, the son of the Rev. W. H. Phillott. and spent his early years in Staunton-on-Wyc, Herefordshire. In 1871 he went up to Christ Church, Oxford, and in the following January he began to learn change-ringing. The notebook he started at this time covers a period of 16 years. and contains details of his ringing up to June, 1888.

It docs not disclose where he learnt to handle a bell; the first entry is dated February 6th and runs:

Several peals of Grandsire Doubles at Horspath. First time of going out to ring-J. E. Troyte. R. H. D. Troyte. Gardiner, W. H. Poole. H. du B. Hill. Bampfylde (and) G. H. Phillott, tenor.;
Gardiner I cannot identify further, and his name appears only once more in the notebook. but the others were all members of once more in the notebook, but the others were and members of known C. A. W. Troyte, who had written his 'Change Ringing" three years previously, and Phillott's association with the family, formed at this time. was to stay firm for many years. Together with C. C. Knollys, who was at Magdalen, this band rang regularly together at various towers in and around Oxford during the months that followed. About the same time they founded the Oxford University Suciety. "not so much with a view to bringing the art to any pitch of excellence' among undergraduates. which would be almost impossible owing to their short and intermittent stay in Oxford, as to promoting among them such a love for a knowledge of change-ringing as would enable them. when scattered throughout the land at the end of their University career. to spread the art and make it mere universally known and appreciated.'

Beneath a manuscript date of June 5th, 1872, there is pasted a cutting that reads:

> Oxford University Society of Change Ringers.-The above Society had a very successful meeting at Appleton last week, where some long touches of Grandsire Triples were rung. The ringers were as follows: Treble. C. C. Knollys. Magdalen; 2. G. H. Phillott, Christ Church: 3, F. G. Bampfylde. Magdalen ; 4. R. H. D. Trove. Triniev: 5. A. du B. Hill, Magdalen: 6. W. H. Poole. Magdalen : 7. J. E. Troyte. Christ Church ; tenor, A. W. A. Polleck. Brasenose : conducted hy J. E. Troyte.'
> Philiott's comment was: 'Suppesed to be 1st touch of Triples rung entirely by Gentlemen.'

The next report of interest is dated February 20th (1873), and runs:

St Thomas 3 Gen Grandsire Minor. Phillott trehle. Pridden 2. Hill 3. Bampfylde 4. J. E. Troyte 5. Poole 6. First touch of Minor rung by Society.
Eleven days earlier virtually the same band had rung a 720 of Grandsire Minor on handbells, single-handed, but as this was apparently for practice it evidently did not count as a 'first."
The notebook goes on to record more ringing at Drayton. Appleton. and St. Thomas'. Oxford, and for May 1 st there is an entry: 'A short touch of Triples at 5.15 a.m. at Magd.' The hand was a mixed one. with Phillott. Hill and Poole of the University Society, and the rest (Field. Mills, Rogers, Bayliss and Charles Hounslow) from the Oxford Society, which, to iudge from contemporary accounts in 'Church Bells.' was fourishing at this period.

From then until he took his B.A. in December, 1874, Phillott seems to have rung with two bands-the University men he had learnt his ringing with and the mixed band we first hear of at Magdalen on May 1st. The ringing was mainly Grandsire Triples and an occasional course of Stedman. In June. 1873. they apparently had an outing to Worcester, and at the Cathedrai rang 'a touch of Triples 330, with also some rounds on the ten bells with the Revds. H. T. Ellacombe and Cattley: the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe ringing treble.' The Rev. Ellacombe has left his name to posterity through his chiming apparatus, but Canon Cattley also did much for ringing. He was an old Oxford man. and was largely responsible for the augmentation of Worcester Cathedral bells to twelve, and was also instrumental in procuring for St. Paul's their 62 cwt. tenor.

The following year on December 19th, having taken his degree and appearing proudly in the report cutting as G. H. Phillott. Esq., B.A." he rang the treble at Kirtlington. Oxon, to his first peal. Holt's Original, conducted by J. Field: for practice the same band had earlier rung a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Witney. His comment about peal was: 'My first peal; true; deep snow.

In June, 1875, George Phillott came down from Oxford and moved to Cheltenham, where he was to live for the rest of his life. He seems to have done little ringing of particular interest that year. for the next entry is a report of 5.364 Grandsire Caters at Appleton on March 4th, 1876, conducted by F. Whitc. There followed Holt's Original at St. Mary's, Cheltenham, on July 21st, when he got his old friends Field and Hounslow to join him from Oxford, and on the 29th he went to London and at Bethnal Green rang his first peal of Stedman Triples with the College Youths-and what a band it was: Greenleaf, Matthew Wood. Mash. Muskelt, Horrex, with Cooter conducting.

Appleton was. it seems. a great love of his, and he often went there for the Ringing Day. In 1877 he stood in a 5.079 of Stedman Caters, conducted by the Rev. F. E. Robinson: the r:ngers of the treble and second in this peal, F. S. White and E. Holifield, were claimed to be 'the youngest ringers of Stedman Caters, on record, being respectively of the age of 14 and 15 years.' In 1880 an almost identical band rang 6,264 Stedman Caters there. a first clap peal and perfectly true.' George Phillott and the Rev. F. E. Robinson had already rung the same peal once, with the College Youths at St. Clement Danes' in the previous December. after an earlier attempt for the peal at St . Clement's in the July of 1879 had broken down after more than 6.000 changes had been rung. In 1882 they rang two peals over the week-end--the usual Stedman Caters on March 3rd, and then a peal of Grandsire Triples on the back eight three days later. In 1884 they rang 5.035 Stedman Caters, hut 1886 was not so lucky.
.Appleton, 4th of March. 1886 . No ringing owing in illnese of Mr. J. Wearing's children close to church. Also no dinner? What Mr. J. Wearing's children close to church. Also no dinner! What a 4 th of March!! The bells were first rung. a peal of 68 years ago. and such a 4 th of March has up to the prevent year never heen known-no ringing! ! and no dinner! !
It is perhaps little surprise that Mr. Wearing's children were ill, for he goes on to wrife:

Boys sliding in morning on pool at Appleton on 4 March ' 86 winter ever since Dec. 1885 . No sign of alteration at present. Snow still remaining in the drifts everywhere here in Chelt, and elsewhere. Trains arrived up in the North on 2d and 3d of March. starting in Chelt. on March (presumahly Februarv was meanti 13 15 and 17 .

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH GUILD'S TRIBUTE AT A.G.M.

 TO MR. F. W. ROGERSTHE 1964 A.G.M. of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild was held at Basingstoke on June 27th. Despite the repeated warnings of our old friend. George Pullinger. that much more favourable weather conditions occur on the first Saturday in July (the traditional date for the A.G.M. for many years). the last Saturday in June had been chosen. and proved to be a fine and warm day.
Ringing started at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. at the extreme ends of two separate routes which converge at Basingstoke. thus giving a choice of a dozen or so lowers for ringing hefore the business of the general meeting. scheduled for 2.30 pm . The meeting. held in St. Michael's Church Cottage, was opened by the chairman. Canon K. W. H. Felstead. Master of the Guild, with a welcome to the 70 members and visitors present. The Master's welcome was necessarily tempered with a degree of sadness hy the recent death of the Guild's Immediate Past Master. Mr. Frederick W. Rogers. The Master asked one of our oldest. long-serving memasked one of our oldest. long-serving memhers. Mr. George Pullinger. 10 say a few hers. Mr. Gcorge Pullinger. to say a few words in appreciation of all the valuable and loving service which Fred Rogers had given to the Guild and ringing over many years.

MR PULLINGER'S TRiBUTE

Mr. Pullinger expressed his deep regret at the passing of one of the Guild's most faithful and devoted servants over so many years. Born in 1902. Fred Rogers was a choirhoy at St. Mary's. Portsea. and used to sit up in the lower watching the Sunday service ringing. With him were the two sons of the tower captain. Mr. E. J. Harding, and as soon tower captain. Mr. E. J. Harding, and as soon as the three boys were big enough Mr. Harding taught them to ring. Fred made rapid progress, ringing his first peal. Grandsire Triples. at the Church of St. Thomas a Becket. conducted by Frederick A. Burnell. in June. 1919. Fred soon attracted the attention of such well-known conductors of that day as George Williams. Keith Hart and A. H Pulling, and was soon a regular member of their Surprise peal hands.

In the early $1920^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$. Mr. Harding retired from the post of Portsmouth District secretary of the old Winchester Guild and Fred was elected in his place. Thus started what proved to be a period of over 40 years' continuous service to the Winchester, and later the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. in many and varied offices.
Later as captain of the St. Mary's. Portsea. band. Fred huilt up a very fine record with one of the finest Sunday service bands in the country. Many ringers rang their first peal under his conductorship. and the Spliced Surprise Major practices at Portsea were a feature of the Porismouth District for many years.

IN OFFICE FROM 1926

Fred was elected Guild peal recorder in 1926. followed by Guild general secretary in 1931. which office he held for 25 years, before being elected Guild Master in 1956. Fred retired from Mastership in 1962. though still retired from Mastership in 1963. Though still continuing to serve as one of the Guild's Central Council representatives, with a record of untroken service in that office from 1932 until the time of his death. He was the last surviving member of the Guild Commitree which had served continuously since mittee which had served continuously since the days of the old Winchester Guild. and so another link with the past is hroken.
As mentioned earlier. Fred was in office at the time the old Winchester Guild was split up and the Guildford Guild formed in 1426. and he gave valuable assistance in re-forming the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. He later piloted through the Guild's 1939-45 War Memorial and the George Williams Memorial Library shemes.
Fred was a ereat ringer and safe conductor : taking part in a number of ringing tours in his eafly days he became well known to many throughout the British Isles. Altogether Fred rang 672 peals. his lase being Spliced Surprise Major in four methods at his home tower of St. Mary's, Portsca, on December 7th. 1963.
His passing means a great loss to the Guild and ringing. We appreciate his great love and work for our art, which will never seem the same without him.

The chairman thanked Mr. Pullinger for his kind appreciation. and added that he was sure the words spoken of Fred by the Vicar of Portsea at the funcral were echoed hy all who knew him-He was a gentleman in every sense of the word.
The Master then went on to say that this last week we had lost another old memher. Who was to have been elected a life member of the Guild at this mecting-Mr. Rohert Fisher. of Eass Mcon. who had died at the age of 9?
the assembly then stood for a few moments in silent prayer as a mark of respect to these two past members.

OFFICERS REPORTS

Continuing the husiness of the meeting, apologies were received and the minutes of the last A.G.M. read and confirmed. The general secretary. Mr. R. R. Savory. read letters of thanks reccived from the Parochial Church Councils of Eling and Sopley for grants received from the Guild towards rehanging and augmenting these bells respectively.
The treasurer's report, presented hy Mrs. T. Chapman. was received showing a fairly steady financial balance. Ihe peal recorder's repori. presented hy Mr. D. T. Matkin. stated that fewer peals were rung in 1963 (56) than in 1962. although there was a good variation in methods and plain and Surprise continued to he achieved. Four new Surprise Major and three new Surprise Royal mathods had been added to the Guild's list, including the first peals to he rung of Christchurch Surprise Major and Royal. Of particular note was the Warnford Sunday service hand's achievement with a peal in 14 methods of Douhles. conducted by Mr. C. E. Bassett Seventeen members rang their first peal. and in one Mr. B. R. Walton conducted his first peal.

The librarian's report, presented hy Mr. D E. House. showed that all hooks were in good condition. A copy of all Central Council publications was now ohtainable from the Guild library. It was agreed that in future the libratian present a written report. which would include an up-to-date lihrary list. The Guild handhells were in good order and being put to good use.
Rule 17 of the Guild was then discussed and an alteration passed. which would enable the activities of December in any year to be includcd in that year's District report. instead of. as previously, having to complete reports by mid-December
Grants to hell restorations were considered from Titchfield. Curdridge. Kingsclere. Fawley and Winchester Cathedral: the first four for rehangings and the fifth for hanging a newly acquired flat bth bell. Donations of $£ 10$ to each of these appeals were granted.

The 1964 striking competition will be held on October 31st. Si. Michael's. Southampton. heing probably the most suitable venue. Canon F. A. Sanders rose 10 ask whether the band of St. Michael s. Southampton, wouid he entering a team this year, When informed that they would not. he agreed that the venue chosen was probably quite suitable!
In recognition of unbroken membership of over 50 years. Mr. Gearge Noice was elected a life member of the Guild.

The 1965 A.G.M. will the held on the first Saturday in June at Christchurch Priory. upon the kind invitation of the Christchurch District.

Abstract

POSTAL. TROLBLES With the uncertainlies of post, this has heen a difficult week for 'The Ringing World.' Fortunately those who obtain their copies through newsagents time. It was not until after mid-day last Friday that the Postal Authorities informed us that they were prepared to accept the journal at letter rate.

Unfortunately the weight was a shade over one o7. and necessitated 41 d . postage. There was no time to trim the copies as they were all bundled ready for franking. This involved. The Rizging World in an extra $£ 20$ but we felt in view of the continued generosity of readers we could not let them down: we regarded it as nur duty to do everything possible to minimise any delay in distribution.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

Coleshill was the venue for the quarterls meeting of the St. Martin's Guild. held on July 4ih. The very fine crocketed spire is a landmark for miles around. and contains a ring of eight bells. hung anti-clockwise. The Vicar conducted the Guild's form of service in the chancel. Which was followed by tea and the meeting in the Town Hall.
Miss Rosemary Tailhy, of King's Norton. was elected a member of the Guild and the tower elections. as life members. of Kenneih 3. Hesketh1 (Liverpool) and Geoffrey Pearson (Cambridge) were duly ratified.
The secretary reported that the memorial tablet to the late Albert Walker was now complete and would shortly be fixed in S . Martin's tower. Notice would be given in. The Ringing World to enable anyone who wished to attend the unveiling ceremony.
The Master referred to the Guild's Tuesday evening practices. and regretted that in recent weeks they had been poorly attended. One reason for this might be that St. Martin's bills were not easy to ring. but the practice had served a useful purpose in the past. and opportunities still existed for ringers desirous of taking advantage of them. The secretary was of the opinion tnat learners would profit hy learning to master the handling of awkuardly going hells. and advised them not 10 stav anay from the practice hecause the hells did not run perfectly.
It was decided to erperiment by holding a monthly practice at various towers in the diocese. in an endeavour to interest ringers "ho did new normally attend meeting, of the Guild.
The meeting closed with a vore of thanis to the Vicar for the use of the hells and for conducting the service, and to the ladies who provided an excellent tea.

A COLLECTION OF DOLBLES METHODS

Compiled by  GEOFFREY K. DODD and ROY H. JONES

Many of the names have been duplicated and several methods have more than one name Where possible the original name bas been traced and used. We hope that conductors will not be offended because the name they used has been disregarded

Mr. Percy Amos sent many of the 'Saints Methods and his names have been used. In formation regarding. names which has appeared in "The Ringing World 'has been acted on.

Our gratcful thanks to all those ringers who were kind enough to send their Douhles Meth ods or information to either of us. Withour their help this collection would have been impossible.
We hope that some of the confusion with regard to "names" and "composition " will be ended by this collection. It is hoped also that it will be of use to ringers of Doubles.

Letters to the Editor

East Anglian Television

Dear Sir.-One further East Anglian item that appeared on television has not yet been mentioned. A short film was shown on the day after the birth of the Queen's fourth child on the East at six-ten programme on B.B.C. There were pictures of Gresham's School boys ringing handbells in a cart which was towied round the town of Holt and a recording of Boh Doubles on handbells.
The ringing took place on a moving cart which toured the town as the parish church in Holt has but two bells and although these were raised and rung. it was felt that the music of eight handbells was probably better -Yours. etc.,

Jasper Snowdon had the Answer

Dear Sir.-Your correspondent, writing about the nature of rows. seems to need sledgehammers with which to crack very small nuts.

Eighty odd years ago Jasper Snowdon settled this matter very simply in "Treble Bob,' Part 1. Just write out the row to be tested and bring it hack to rounds one pair at a time. Only a few exchanges are needed to do this. and generally the nature of the row hecomes evident before the job is completed. Perhaps this is unscientific.-Yours sincerely, Il caviley, Stockport.

Robert Roan

Dear Sir.-I would he grateful if one of your more crudite readers would confirm or dispel my suspicions that the article on the origins of change ringing by Mr. Ernest Weatherby contains several inaccuracies.

Firstly, I can find no mention in uny of the historical and topographical works I have consulted of the existence of a Benedictine monastery in Cambridge. The Church of St Bene't was, for a time, the chapel of Corpus Christi college. The nearest religious house to Cambridge appears to have been Barnwell Priory, which was Augustinian.
The last of the monastic establishments was dissolved in 1540, so that Robert Roan must have heen a veritable Methusalah if he was still álive in 1625, assuming, as Mr. Weatherby implies. that he was the monk in question

According to Trollope. Robert Roan was oworn Clerk of the Pantry under the Board of the Greencloth (Lord Chamberlain's Office), joined the College Youths in 1647 and was Master in 1652. Thomas Roan was Master in 1689-Yours sincerely.

Harhorne. Birmingham.
Dear Sir.-Re the origin of Grandsire Douhles by Ernest Weatherby. I think that Armiger Trollope would turn in his grave if he could read it.
I have not read anywhere that there is any evidence to suggest that Robert Roan was a monk, hut even if he was I find it hard to accept the fact that he sent the figures of Grandsire or Plain Bob to the College Youths 87 years after the suppression of the monasteries.

Really. Mr Editor. Mr. Weatherby makes the most telling statement in his last paragranh, when he states that very few ringers know anvihing ahout Rohert Roan. You're telling me' -Sincerely yours.

Stowmarket Appeal

Dear Sir,-I thank you most sincerely for the help given through . The Ringing World, to the Stowmarket appeal. On July 2nd I sat at the south porch of our church from $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to $7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. for what was to be one of the most memorable days of my life. At $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The first caller brought a signed promise of a covenant scheme which would bring in f100-a fine worm for an early bird! We never looked back! I had callers at the rate of two a minute, on average. for most of the day until about 6 p.m. About noon the postman hrought the letters-from as far away as Scotland, Ireland. Bath and Lewes. I cannot mention more. It was as exciting reading out the messages and announcing the donations to the little crowd who had gathered as the best man's duty at a wedding! We were thrilled! Among letters coming before and since were collecied donations from the home tower," where I learned the art as a hoy, and from the tower where I was curate and often rang with the band. These most moving and heart-warming replies echoed in every letter.
The callers from the town filled fourteen pages of a book with their signatures. People from the surrounding villages came. too. I had a wonderful time playing an old phonograph with its round record of hell accompaniment, to the joy and amarement of many old hand's as well as the young and curious!
There were smiles all round-the hroadest on the faces of the ringers and the church officials. What a day! There was everything. from hun pennies to five pound notes and $£ 10$ cheques, and the total now stands at $£ 245$ for this appeal. What a checring experience! If you wish to share it with your readers please do. They deserve it. Yours sincerely.

Striking Competitions

Dear Sir.-Following up Mr. Halls letter about judging striking competitions ( $\mathbf{R}$.W: June 12th). I feel sure readers would welcome an informative article on the subject from one of our Devon or Cornish call change judges. who could give us the henefit of his experience, and explain the principles on whicis their system is based.

These competitions are obviously gaining in popularity. which is a good thing, but whilst most ringers have their own ideas on judging. information from an area where good striking is an established tradition could provide a useful pointer in formulating general principles. especially for Branches who may he considering the introduction of striking competitions in the near future.
Perhaps one of our estimable C.C. representatives in the area migh. he ahle to do a little missionary work on our behalf?-Yours sincerely,

JOHN BRAIN

Old Peals

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. F. C. W. Knight (page 464) the peal containing 194 bobs and 46 singles was of course a Bob and Single peal. most likely Taylor's or Vicar's. and the other one with 98 bobs and ? singles called from the second would doubtless be Holt's Ten-Part.-Yours faithfully.

'Spike' Stays

Dear Sir,-Those of us who make a habit of visiting ancient and dilapidated belfries are all conscious that 'spike' stays are by no means unusual. Sometimes they were used when the space is particularly confined.

Even more strange are the stays on the three bells at Stratford Toney, in Wiltshire. These are of conventional pattern, but roped and nailed to the wheels. At Winterbourne Gurney, in the same county, where two bells occupy an ancient three bell frame, the bells still have $\frac{1}{2}$ wheels (but I think these are modern copies of their predecessors). One of the bells has a stay six foot long protruding from the centre of the headstock. Why? I can only guess that it is to prevent the be being rung up too high.-Yours sincerely.

Tooting Graveney, S.W.

Doubles Methods

Alvaston-Plain Boh with Plain Bob hobs and Old singles. (I have a note of this being rung at Alvaston in 1956.)

About 40 members tried their handling on the long draught eight at Urchfont on July 41h. when the Devizes Branch held their quarterly meeting there. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. H. Owen. a full choir attended and the organist was a local ringer
After an excellent tea, the business meeting was conducted by the chairman, Mr. N. Knee. The members stood in memory of the Rev, S. L. R. Sharp, late of Bishop's Cannings. who had always been a great friend of the Branch.
The chairman drew attention to slack ring ing habits which were creeping in among some of the junior members and appealed to everyone to check them whenever they appeared. The next meetings were fixed for Bratton, Upavon and Bishop's Cannings. subject to confirmation. After the votes of thanks ringing was continued.

Salisbury Branch

The practice meeting of the Salisbury Branch, held on June 27th at Britford, was made the eccasion of a striking competition This was the second organised by the Branch. but unfortunately entries were down on the previous year. Results: 1 Fittleton (Grandsire). 2 Wilton (Stedman), 3 St. Thomas' Salisbury (Grandsire). We are most grateful to the Rev. R. Keeley. Messrs. N. Knee and G. Harding for their help as judges.

DURHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

This year's annual outing was held on June 2uth, when five towers in Northumberland were visited. Rothbury, a town beautifully situated amongst the hills in the north west. was the first tower. Coffee was taken betore ringing on the bells-a fairly good sounding 13 cwt . eight. It was a pleasant route over the moors to Bamburgh, where we had lunch. Some were daring enough to defy the cold wind and venture into the sea; others went for a brisk walk along the beach and admired the magnificent castle on the headland. Later the bells were raised in peal and a pleasant hour's ringing was spent on this good 13 cwt . eight. A coast road was taken to Newton Hall. where it was planned to ring for three-quarters of an hour. It turned out to be a mission church withous a tower and one small bellthere is another Newton Hall in the county. A relaxing hour was spent on the beach sunhathing. As we left Newton Hall there was a wet dress flapping from the sun-roof. II hasten to add that the owner had been - paddling and was now suitably garbed in a large raincoat.)
The bells of Embleton (6. 11 cws ) did not prove to be as interesting or as beautiful as the church. The tenor rope broke as they were being lowered and this caused a 20 minute delay while it was spliced. Tea was taken at Alnwick, and then came the excellent eight at Morpeth Watch Tower, where the bells were rung for an hour. At Cramlington, the last tower, the Vicar allowed us to ring fully-muffled in view of the late hour from 8.15-9 p.m. Our thanks to incumbents and those who met us.

MEDIAEVAL BELL FOUNDRIES OF NORWICH

By I. A. BEVIS

FLEW mediaval bell foundries were equal to 200 years, through the excellence of its products, particularly from an artistic point of view, was in great demand with ecclesiastical authorities far and near.

The BRASYER family were largely responsible for the evident popularity of this flourishing business for in the course of its existence it had many managers. Members of the Brasyer family enjoyed eminent positions in the civic life of Norwich city, and it is gratifying that a number of bells from this establishment can still be heard above the hustle and bustle of Norwich and over the Norfolk and Suffolk countrysides.
The earliest Norwich founder. WILLIAM DE NOKWYCO (also said to have Dractised under the name WILLIAM BRASIERE DE NOTTYNGHAM) was admitted to the Freedom of Norwich in 1376 . He is credited with bells at Hellesdon, Barford, Little Melton, Thurne, Connington and one which hung in the cupola of the old St. Andrew's Hall, Norwich (removed in 1863). This bell is now to be seen in the St. Peter Hungate Museum of the city of its origin.

Following William de Norwyco's death, the business was continued by JOHN SUTION, BELEZET, who in 1404 was admitted to the liberty of the city: unfortunately no bells have as yet been associated with Sutton as his work. The first accepted connection with the Brasyers-THOMAS POTTER-followed Sutton, the former name indicative of one who manufactured pots as well as bells, and whose manufactured pots as well as bells, and whose trade-mark depicted a three-legged vessel. He also employed two very distinctive sets of lettering for his bells, both alphabets different to those used by the Brasyers.

The Brasyers or Brasieres (various spellings) were an old and esteemed Norwich family, and appear to have trodden in the footsteps of RICHARD BAXTER, who cast bells between 1416-1424. They are accurately recorded from as carly as 1386. Robert Brasyer. a city bailiff. is mentioned for 1391, 1398 and 1403, the latter year in which he was chosen to be one of the city's first sheriffs. In 1410 he was elected Mayor and Burgess, and represented Norwich in two Parliaments-1st and 5 th of Henry V.

Robert Brasyer, whose probable occupation Was that of a mercer, directed in his will that his remains be interred in the Chapel of the Blessed Mary on the north side of St. Siephen's Church. Norwich.

PETER BONDE BRASYER (Sheriff in [45ఫ) is thought not to have been a bell-founder. but a worker in brass. RICHARD BRASYER. who was admitted to the Freedom of the City in 1424 was without any doubt a founder. In the "Free Book of Norwich, is recorded - Rics. Brasyer Goldsmith. Robert Brasyer Helzes. In that entry there is an element of doube as to whether he was admitted as ${ }^{3}$ bell-foundier or goldsmith. In 1450 it was decreed that the admissions should be entered under the various trades: consequently Richard is listed as a bell-tounder and goldsmith. This man was an eminent figure in civic business, serving as Sheriff and Mayor in the latter instance. twice, in 1456 and T 463 ). He served Norwich well and in 1452 received the city's thanks for his diligence.
Richard Brasyer devised all his tenements called 'lez werkhourse in the Parish of St . Stephen, to his son, who received all tools and instruments appertaining to the trade, except pots and bell-metal, which the father called "pot-metal." and the pots newly made. these to be sold. Richard junior had also inherited his father's prowess in civic affairs and was duly elected to the offices of Sheriff and Mayor. His will directed the executors to place $s$ marble stone displaying his arms and an image of both him and his wife above the tomb, and also a stone for his father's tomb. The Brasyer establishment was situated at the north-east corner of St. Stephen's parish. A triangular plot of ground bounded by Red Lion-street and Rampart House-lane and Little Oxford-street in the King's. Map of Norwich. 1766. is marked 'foundery': it is also referred to by Blomefield as 'A Workhouse.

Specimen of lettering and foundry marks

Norwich has about nine bells by the Brasyers: four at the cathedral, one at St. George, Colegate (and the crown of another), one each at St. Giles and St. Julian and two at St. Catherine, Mile Cross (according to information received).

Concerning this well-known enterprise, Walters (Church Bells of Essex) says: A surprisingly large number of these beautiful Brasyer bells. are to be found in East Anglia. In Norfolk, out of over 300 ancients, at least 137 are by these founders Raven reckons about 100 in Suffolk, and there are two in Cambridgeshire, and one at Ford Abbey, Dorset.

The Brasyer alphabet is an admirable example of artistic skill practised by a craft at a time when bells performed a more useful part between Church and laity than perhaps they do nowadays. The beautirul lettering employed by them is rarely surpassed; it may be seen in various sizes-the lurgest type generally used for large bells. There are at least two different shields displaying three bells. a crown and ermine, and sometimes sprigged. Another mark used by the foundry was that of a lions head. sometimes incorporating a cross (see illustrations).

Insiriptions on Brasyer bells are also worthy of note. All of course, are in Latin, a few translations being:

I have the name of Gabriel sent from Heaven.
May thy offspring. Anna, feed us with The sound of Giles rises to the vaults of Heaven.'
I am, when rung. called Mary the Rose of the world."
May Nicholas
Christ on high ! ' May this ring be blessed. by the function of the Baptist," etc.
When the last of the Brasyers had died the business was taken over by William Barker (bells cast hetween 1530-1538) who used his predecessors' moulds and type. Thomas Lawrence. who, it is believed, had connections with the celebrated Culverden, acquired the Norwich premises after. Barker's death in 1545. Lawrence expired in 1582 . the foundry passing into the hands of John Brend who crowded his bells with the initials of subscribers and parisfioners, and whose lettering is large and clumsy, and arabic numerals very misleading.' Brend died in 1582. "greatly indetted to diverse men in diverse sums of money.
Finally the ancient establishment was removed by William Brend to the parish of All Saints. Thus the remaining link with a renowned medieval bell-foundry-the birthplace of fine Gothic bells for fine Gothic churches -was completely severed.

MEITON MOWBRAI

A happy choice of good towers was made by the Melton Mawbray ringers and friends for their annual outing. Leaving Melton at 7.45 a m . an hour was spent at the first tower. the old Norman church of Melbourne. Derbyshire. Inen came the beautiful eight at Uttoxeter, where the ringing was very good. An excellent lunch at the Meeting Point Restaurant preceded our visit to Stafford. where we had the pleasure of ring for a bridal couple. Alrewas bells (8) gave pleasure. and after a tea break a move was made to Atherstone. where there is a new eight, which are a delight to ring
A warm welcome awaited us at Chilvers Coton the last tower. from Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beamish, their daughter and lady ringers, who took part in the ringing. Melton was reached about 10.15: the excellent arrangements were by Mr. R. E. Manton.

PETERBOROUGH

An enjoyable day was spent in Derbyshire on June 27th by ringers and friends of St . John's Church, Peterborough

The coach left at 8.15 a.m. and Derby Cathedral was reached on time. The beautifyl 10 were thoroughly enjoyed by all. and was the initiation into 10 bell ringing for some of the younger members who handled very well indeed. We than took a short walk to St. Alkmund's Church and spent half an hour on short louches of Double Norwich. Plain Bob and Stedman: We had lunch at Youlgrave before climbing the tower steps to lackle the heaviest ring of the day.

Then on to Ashover. Darley Dale. Matlock and. finally. Heanor: a kelcome awaited the party at each tower and in tho instances we found the helis raised. On the homeward journey. one call was made for hard-earned refreshments, and Peterborough was reached by $11.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

We extend our thanks to our Branch president. Mr. J. H. Bluff, and to all who helped to make the trip so enjoyable. G.S.B.

OUTINGS

OTTERY ST. MÁRY, DEVON

Not blessed with this year's usual fine weather but nevertheless in high spirits, two coachloads of ringers with their families and friends departed at 8 a.m. on June 6 th for the annual outing.
This year it was to Somerset, with Bridgwater as the first stop. We did not really get to grips with this fairly heavy ring of eight and the striking left a lot to be desired.

Promising to do better at the next tower. Wrington, we certainly did on the very fine ten. with the aid of the local ringer who rang the tenor and kept things moving. A reasonable touch of Gfandsire Caters (one of the best of the day) was brought round by Cyril.

Mr. Price, the tower captain, met us at Yatton and our thanks to him for conducting a very musical touch of Stedman Triples. A most enjoyable hour was spent ringing on the magnificent eight bells even though the Oxford Treble Bob Major came to grief.

Thank goodness the rain had stopped when we reached Weston-super-Mare. No ringing had been arranged here. and most of the party seemed quite pleased when we were on our way cowards Taunton. Here, at St Mary's. several of the local ringers were present and had kindly raised the back four.' With some help a plain course of Grandsire Cinques just about came round. A few more touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and it was time to lower for the last time.
The programme said we were due to leave Taunton at 9 p.m., but should we go on and leave the Arbury brothers and Edward behind? Eventually they arrived-apologies for taking the wrong turning-complaints about distances between church. 'pub' and coach-but your correspondent suggests that Jim had got involved with one of his fishing stories.

Our thanks include the organiser. Charles Turner. who once again produced an outing with first class bells, immaculate time keening and good company.

COALBROOKDALE, SALOP

The weather was beautiful as we left Coalbrookdale for the annual outing, on Independence Day. At Ledbury, the first tower. we had to wait while a funeral procession passed. and then while the Little Aston and Lichfield ringers rang. They made a far better job of their Cambridge and Plain Bob than we did of our Grandsire. The large amount of free rope rather disturbed our ringers.
We had lunch at Ross. but. owing to lack of time. had to leave the glorious eight after a course of Plain Bob Major and some Grandsire. Monmouth was a long climb for quite a reasonable eight. and we gave our non-change ringers some practice, and also rang Stedman Iriples. Another long climb was necessary to the rather loud but fine ten at Leominster. where the only decent ringing was a course of Stedman Triples.

After dining at Leominster our last tower was Eardisland. As generally happens, the best ringing of the day was enjoyed on the very fine light eight. It included Plain Bob Major, Stedman Triples and our promised course of Kent.
We thank Graham Rich for a well organised outing: also the incumbents.

ASHCOTT, SOMERSET

An enthusiastic party of Ashcott ringers and friends enjoyed their summer outing to Weymouth to sunbathe on the beach and take the first dip of the year. On the journey down a halt was made at Evershot ( $6,8 \mathrm{cwt}$.) to ring touches of Grandsire. All Saints and Plain Bob.
After Weymouth, the delightful village of Upwey was visited. Here we were greeted by the Vicar and a local ringer and the pleasant six bells were ably handled. As the bells were ringing others of the party made their way to drink of the crystal-clegr waters of the famous wishing well. More ringing took place at Maiden Newton and there was a stop at a fish bar at Ilchester to renew acauaintanc: with former Ashcott people. Mr. and Mrs. K Prime thank all those who made the day so successful and ask for their support next year.

Those who rang the peal at St. Michael's Cornhill. on Saturday. July 11th, would like to associate with it the name of the Society's senior Past Master, Mr. Albert A. Hughes, whose 79th birthday anniversary fell on that day. Mr. Hughes was for many years a regular Sunday ringer at Cornhill.
After an absence of 30 years Mr. Walter L. C. (Bill) Barlow's name is back in the peal columns with a peal by the Society of Windsor Youths. He was one of the band taught at St. Andrew's, Enfield, in 1930, by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher. Are any more of the band still ringing?

The peal in 21 Doubles methods at Whitney-on-Wye, for the Hereford Diocesan Guild (see page 423), was rung on Sunday, May 31 st, in 2 hours and 42 minutes, now writes Mr. Colin A. Lewis.

A subscriber is asking for information concerning the Ernest Morris stained glass window which tas to have been placed in St. Margaret's Church. Information from Leicester friends would be welcome.
On July 18 th a party of German visitors from Darmstadt visted Chesterfield Parish Church for an organ recital by their organist. In honour of the occasion the Chesterfield District of the Derbyshire Diocesan Association were invited to ring the bells as a welcome to the visitors.
The Rev. Peter N. Bond writes expressing grateful thanks to many friends in Somerset for help and kindness during his recent holiday at Clevedon. He specially mentions Mr. and Mrs. Michael Horseman for ringing arrangements and hospitality, and Mr. Yates and ringers at Exeter Cathedral and St. Petrock's.
The meeting at Orton, near Penrith, on July 18 th was the first meeting of the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association in the tower for at least 40 years. With the help of two ringers from Kirkby Stephen. 15 miles away, the new Vicar has got the bells going again and they have taught a band of young ladies. The Vicar's car travels 60 miles every Monday night.

During a South Midlands Peal Week. organised by Mr. Cyril A. Wratten, 12 peals were rung out of 18 attempts. Peals lost included seven Spliced Surprise at Usk after $2 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' good ringing. Conductors were Robert C. Kippin, George E. Thoday, D. John Hunt and Cyril A. Wratten.

Holt's Original was rung silent and nunconducted at Harrow Weald. Middlesex on July 16 h .

Mr. Gordon A. Halls, who is bell consultant to the Derbyshire Association, is to be appointed adviser on bells to the Diocesan Advisory Committee.
Mr. Norman Chaddock writes with knowledge on English handbell ringing in the current issue of the American magazine 'Overtones.' Another valuable article, with music. is 'Westminster Chimes ' by Harry A. Sykes, First Christian Church. Galesbury, Ill., U.S.A.
The yuarter rung at Ebbw Vale on June 28th was a farewell to both Canon Oliver Davies, B.A., who was largely responsible for the instaliation of the bells, and Mr. R. Stephens, and as a tribute to FI . T. Stephens, who has retired after 25 years as tower Master.

If the person who lost a black silk headscarf at the Chesterfield District's meeting at Creswell on June 13th would care to contact the District secretary, Malcolm Phipps, 18. Dowdeswell Street, Chesterfield, Derbys, if will be returned.
A peal of Grandsire Caters was rung as a farewell peal for Malcolm M. Powell and a farewell peal for Malcolm M. Powell and Southampton Universjty this year and are now leaving Hampshire. They have both learned quite a lot about ringing during their stay in Southampton and returned this "in kind ' by very regular attendance for Sunday service ringing at St. Michael's, Southampton. The latter has been much appreciated by a local band which is currently at a low ebb through recent losses caused by ringers leaving the area. Our best wishes go with Malcolm and John, in their future careers and in their ringing, writes P.R.S.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE

 BELLRINGERS' SOCIETYFreedom from exams in the last week enabled the Society to enjoy a week of relaxaion and ringing. On June 19th, six members revisited Hunsingore (6) to hear from the active 80 -year-old verger that a team from Bradford Cathedral had visited the tower recently without much success! The College team fared probably worse - part of the second's wheel rim came of and the tenor's rope broke (fortunately, later, time was sufficient to allow a revisit and to effect the necessary repairs). At Kirk Deighton (6) a noisy tenor put some of the members of their stride.
On June 21 st. the silent ring at St. Leonard's. Malton (8). was rung for an hour in the evening. The pre-war station wagon which the team were using caused a look of incredulity on the face of a sweating Malton policeman as it passed him on the way 10 Whitwell-on-the-Hill (6) where the recently restored six were rung in short bursts for nearly an hour. The team were then nobly entertained by Mr. Fox. the churchwarden. and his wife and daughter.
On June 22nd. six members attempted to score a peal of Plain Boh Minor at Bramham. The amazing thing was that the attempt started off without hitches and was going quite well until.... approx. 2.800 changes and 'stand. So it's up to next year's members to try and score the Society's first peal.

Finally, seven members and two non-ringing friends had an aftemoon and evening tour on June 24th. The first tower visited was Wyeham (5). where the bells hang in a detached tower, which also acts as a gatehouse to the churchvard. Then to Scalby (6), where the Ringing Master failed miserably in trying to call a quarter peal in five Doubles. After an hour in the sun by the sea at Scarborough, the steps to St. Mary's Church were climbin and. joined by Bert Sutton and three of the Scarborough team: the eight bells were rung for an hour. Then came the run to Kirkby for an hour. Then came sallies upset the ring ing. A drink at the Black Swan" and fish-and-chips finished off a most enjoyable day (and also very active first year). M K

OUTINGS  KINGSTON'S WEEKEND IN  SHREWSBURY

The perennial Kingston week-end opened in Shrewsbury this year, under the guidance of Margaret Lewis. At Wroxeter (6) on Saturday morning we collected Michael Bangham and his non-ringing mother who, plunged into campanologistics, contracted out by falling down and retiring temporarily to hospital. Irrepressible Fred Dukes and his family augmented us to 24 at Coalbrookdale, and the date echoed back our Double Norwich Caters on these attractive bells. Ambition thus whetted and lunch-time thirsts slaked. four-spliced Surprise Major was rung at Madeley before fitting five lowers comfortably into as many hours. Perhaps the most outstanding visit was to the largely Rudball eight at Much Wenlock. Culturally however, the crown went to Stokesay and its 13 th century fortified manor house next to the church.

Kingston Treble Boh Minor was dutifully rung at Hope Bowdler. Here Stanley Crouch's newly-affianced Pauline and her Horsell (Woking) contingent showed us what Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Bob Doubles meant. Not so similarly, Tony Bishop made us demonstrate later what could be done with Surfleet Devious entertainments followed supper. handbells being amongst the more commonplace. But an early start on Sunday morning was rewarded by a ring on Shrewshury's fine en and iwelve bell rings at St. Mary's and St. Chad's-surely the highlights of the trip. Lunch at the Red Lion outside Wellington was preceded by half an hour's handhell ringing on the lawn in brilliant sunshinc. and then we made for the six at Tong. with its $2 \frac{1}{2}$ ion Bourdon bell. We were now homeward bound. and brought the evening to a colourful close with six-spliced Surprise Major for service at Shirley. Warwickshire. Thus from Doubles to Stedman Cinques. the range of methods had heen full enough for everyone's desires.
Our sincere thanks are due to Margaret Lewis for her organisation. and we wish her well in her new lower. Farnborough (Hants). We are also indebted to the incumbents and hands of all the towers visited, for a thoroughly enjoyable week-end. W.H.J.

ITCHINGFIEI.D. SUSSEX

St Nicolas: Itchingfield. ringers and their friends from the neighhouring lowers of Billingshurst. Warnham. Horsham and West Grinstead chose East Sussex for their first outing this year. As we have only a light five hell tower, we were grateful to have a numher of experienced ringers with us and. in fact. the ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise methods.
Our 41 seater coach was somewhat delayed by traffic and was unfortunately a little late at the first and best tower of the day at Wadhurst. However. We left late rather than curtail our ringing time, and made up lost time on the way to Bodiam Ressting the temptation to see over the castle. we eventually found the picturesque little church, with its light six.

Our able secretary. Mrs. K. Hoare, had arranged tea at Batemans. the National Trusi owned home of Kipling. Alas. we lost about half the party here temporarily, the attractions of Kipling's home proving irresistible to he less bell-struck of our party. The remainder adjourned to Burwash Church. where some of the hest ringing of the afternoon was had.

At Heathfield the long draught caused a little difficulty. and Mayfield. the last lower, was not really suitable for heginners. but the more experienced met the challenge with couple of fairly good touches. Certainly. these two towers taught our younger ringers that there is a big gap in experience between the ability to make pleasing music on one's own bells and that of heing able to strike a strange bell well.

We look forward now 10 our main outing on Seplemier 19th, which will be a full day in Kent

The second quarterly meeting of the Branch was held at Compton Dando on July Ith. Ringing started at $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. after search parties had been formed to locate the whereabouts of the Ringing Master who. after leading two of his comrades three miles up the wrong lane. was last seen walking across a field toward the wrong church. On his arrival some 15 minuse, later. ringing maintained a somewhat steadier pattern culminating in an excellent service touch at 4.30

The Rev. A. J. Frith conducted the service and tea followed in the village hall. At the business meeting six lowers in the branch proposed eleven rew members and nine non-res. dent life mem'sers were put forward for elec. tion. all being accepted

Members then stood in silence to mark the passing of the Rev. W. M. K. Warren. pait Master of the Association. The annual general meeting was fixed for Midsomer Norton, all facilities being available. M:. F. Savage in proposing the usual vote of thanks specially mentioned Mrs. Frith and her helpers for an excellent tea. Ringing on handbells and in the tower then continued until 8.30 p.m

CHURCH BELLS-WHAT DO THEY SAY?
An S.P.C.K. leaflet sets out what the Society considers are the proper occasions on which bells should be rung. then goes on- In old and careless times church bells came to be rung on occasions where there was no though of God-at sales, fairs, wakes, or feasts. where drinking and swearing, lust and all ungodliness and folly prevailed. as they do sometimes still. This cannot be right... It is to prevent the wrong use of church bells that the care of them is entrusted to the clergy. man of the parish, and he will gladly allow them to be rung on any occasion which is to the hono:r and glory of God

CLERGY AND RINGERS

J. R. Jerram, a correspondent, asks: "As a matter of curiosity, may I ask what is your opinion of a parson who neither knows or cares about change-ringing; subscribes about $30 /-$ annually to the ringers' fund: never enters the belfry at ringing times; gives several suppers and breakfasts to the ringers in the course of the year; likes to hear the bells on festivals, but thinks that ringing for practice at any other time all "bosh" (though he does not prohibit it); is very particular about the liquor question. takes a great interest in the choir and attends weekly at their practice; dislikes his ringers ringing anywhere else than at home, and objects to any nonparishioner being a ringer; thinks money spent on repairs to bell-gear all wasted; never comes near the ringers even at the suppers of his own providing (except once a year when the choir are included); expects all his ringers, nevertheless, to be model churchmen: thinks chiming much better than ringing, and consequently regards the steeple-keeper as the only one of the company of any real use?'

Tenor 32 cwt .-not mentioned, but. of course, at St. Mary-te-Tower.It will be seen that the above is no great skilful performance. but it is recorded merely to show the progress made since the formation of the Company about 12 months ago, at which time they were scarcely able to ring a course of Grandsire Triples. but through the kindness and perseverance of the old members. several young bands have been raised thap are now able to acquit themselves creditably in various methods: so that, at last, it seems probable that this fine ring of 12 betls will have autacted to them a good band of ringers which they so richly deserve. .

A GENTLEMAN RINGER

By CYRIL A. WRATTEN (Continued from last week)

But to return to 1877 . Five days after the peal of Caters at Appleton seven members of the Oxford University Society-J. R. Keble. F. A. Milne, C. D. P. Davies, H. W. Ellicott, W. C. H. Burne, the Rev. F. E. Robinson and Phillott-were joined by Charles Troyte, who had been at Cambridge, and rang there 'the first peal ever rung by members of the two Universities without the assistance of any other persons." The Editor of 'Church Bells' commented:

The above unprecedented band regret to have been as it were obliged to ring in Lent; they might never again have the opportunity of pulling all together. for after Easter each would be scattered. one to this place and another to that, and therefore permission was yielded.'
and Phillott added: 'A peal but not well struck, the 5 th being almost unpealable. The hardest job I ever had or ever wish to. In December of that year. Phillott, together with C. D. P. Davies, who was living in Cheltenham at that time, circulated all the Gloucestershire clergy, informing them that it was proposed to form "in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol, an association of Church Change-Ringers. similar to those already established in Devonshire, Durham and Norfolk. The inaugural meeting was held in the Cathedral Chapter Room at Gloucester on Tuesday, January 8th, 1878, and the notebook contains a lengthy cutting about the new Association's first -annual meeting, held in Bristol during the following July.

Not content with such a 'first,' Phillott participated in another in August, when he was one of the party that met at Huntsham Court, the Devon home of Charles Troyte, for the first Ringing Week. A cutting from a local Devon paper makes interesting reading.

Huntshem ringing party did not expend all their energics in the Hunisham belfry: they paid a visit to Dunster, Somerset. and in Tiverton. Mr. Troyte driving his guests there in his brake. for the "Squire of Hunisham " can handle "the ribbons" quite as well as "a bell rope." and 10 get "a team" nicely through our Devonshire lanes is quite as intricate a matter as to find one's way through the mazes of "Treble Boh" or "Superlative Surprise "! The neighbouring village of Oakford was also enlivened by musical strains, the result of the amateurs' efforts. There the good folks can boast of a peal of eight bells, and a still finer Rector, who gave the ringers a hearty welcome, and proved to the strangers that a west country parson is made of the right stuff. We wish we could have recorded some peals on (Exeter) Cathedral bells. as all Devonians know there are 10 bells in that fine old tower unsurpassed in all England in size and musical qualities: hut until the hanging and fitting are seen to. there will he no ringing there worthy of the name, nor can those who ring for pleasure be expected to patronize the Cathedral belfry.
One peal was rung during this week-Kent Treble Bob Major at All Saints". Huntsham. conducted by Joseph W. Snowdon and credited to the Ancient Society.

On November 9th that year the new ring of twelve at St. Paul's Cathedral was opened. A cutting records that at 10 minutes to 6 the bells rang out a merry peal under the well-trained manipulation of the Society of College Youths. The Cathedral was crowded to the doors, and a large number of persons collected outside in the churchyard on the Ludgate-hill? One of those listening was obviously Phillott, for he comments:

A touch of Stedman Cinques was rung. but no one in the Church-yard could tell scarcely what was being rang. the hum of the bells being so great. The large bells are fine hells, the trebles and some of the small bells

The year 1878 was obviously a busy and interesting one, as the above shows, but no explanation can be found for a cutting which appears without comment opposite the report of the St. Paul's opening. In spite of its non-ringing nature, I will venture to repeat in case any members of the Ladies' Guild find it of interest (and value, perhaps?):

The Uses of the Lemon-A piece of lemon bound upon a corn will relieve it in a day or so. The free use of lemon-juic: and sugar will always relieve a cough. A lemon eaten before breakfast every day for a week or so will entirely prevent that feeling of lassitude peculiar to the approach of spring. Perhap: its most valuable property is its absolute power to detecting any of the injurious and even dangerous ingredients entering into the composition of so very many of the cosmetics and facepowders in the market. Every lady should subject her toiletpowders to this test. Place a teaspoonful of the suspected powder in a glass. and add the juice of a lemon. If effervescence take, place it is an infallible proof that the powder is dangerous. and its use should he avoided, as it will ultimately injure the skin and destroy the beauty of the complexion.'
Over the next few years Pates rang in thirty or more peals of Grandsire. Stedman and Treble Bob. They included the first Oxford University Society peal, Stedman Triples at Drayton in 1882. Henry Johnson's last peal, Stedman Caters at Aston in 1884. and. two years later. the first peal of Grandsire with clergymen ringing the seven "inside" bells, at Prestbury, near Cheltenham. This last was originally intended to have been a purely clerical peal, but two failures the previous day had put paid to the idea as the Rev. A. D. Hill was unable to stay for a further attempt. and Phillott rang in his stead. It was at Prestbury. too. that in the following year. 1887. he called his one and only peal as conductor. This was the first peal on the bells by a local band. and the composition was Taylor's bob-and-single Grandsire Triples.

Most of the peal cuttings have "true peal" or "very good and true peal " written against them, but occasionally there appears " bad finish and not true peal," "not true-a shift course," "a true peal, but might have been better striking' or, simply, "rough." Some of the footnotes, too, make interesting reading:

- Rung on the occasion of the mustering of the Royal Glouce tershire Hussars for their annual drill ' (Grandsire Caters at Cheltenham in May, 1885);

Rung on the occasion of the opening of the New Water Works for the borough of Cheltenham. Dinner was provided for the ringers by the Mayor " (Treble Bob Major in October, 1886. also at Cheltenham).
Then in 1887 the Cheltenham ringers decided to try to beat the College Youths' record peal of 11.111 Stedman Caters rung at Fulham four years before. On Whit Monday. May 30th. they started for 12.345 with Phillott ringing the second, only to lose it after ringing some 8.500 changes in 5 hours 12 minutes when there was a trip in the Slow. The College Youths were even more unfortunate that same day: they lost 10,030 Stedman Cinques at Cornhill in the very last course.) Quite undeterred by this failure, and by another on Boxine Day. when the same band only managed to ring between 5,000 and 6,000 changes, Phillott made his usual March journey to Appleton in 1888, and on the 5th of that month he rang the second there to a 12.041 conducted by James Washbrook: his comment is terse and to the point - excellent peal." "The Bell News" was apparently a little doubtful about the truth of the peal, a composition of Washbrook's:

The figures of the peal have been forwarded for publication. and they will be published next week. but we fervently hope that nothing will be found amiss with the composition. because it must he confessed that the talented conductor has heen somewhat remiss (Continued on page 520 )

RECORD LENGTH OF DOUBLE NORWICH C.B. MAJOR

Bv BRTAN J. WOODRUFFE

$\mathrm{I}^{\mathrm{N}}$a hollow heneath the stately hulk of the Brecon Beacons stands the solitary Church of St. Meugan. Solitary, because the majority of its parishioners have a good half-mile's walk to worship along a rising country lane. But the church is not forgotten. not by ringers at any rate, for in the last month it has witnessed four peals by four different hands.

Why, though. should such a peaceful spot at Llanfeigan. overlooking the pleasant and picturesque Usk Valley and the wooded slopes of the more distant Black Mountains, be chosen for a long peal

The reasnns are straighsforward: several oreliminary visits by scouting members of the band indicated that her: was a very easygoing ring of eight bells ttenor 15 cwi .) in a cool yet comfortable helfry, situated well away from any residential areas. And so. the operation of making plans for an attempt began. Permission to ring was applied for and obtained.

SELECTING THE METHODS

Ail that remained were the band and method. Neither was simple. The ringers of the extent of Maior were given the first choice only four look the plunge again and we welcomed three more experienced long pealers and a newcomer. David Llewellyn. of Cardift However. the final team uas not settled until about two weeks before the attemnt. due to late alterations.

Then the method: originally Bristol. its fortunes wavered then from 1 ondon to Belgrave and Yorkshire, hack through two long peak until D.N.C.B. was finally agrees upon. The lenath was also indecisive. Alt we wanted reallv was to brsak the 60 -year-old record of 17.104. but then it seemed a pity not to complete the half-extent of Major (20.160). Then having reached here, why not the churchhell record in changes 12.4 M ) or in time. 12 hours 58 minutes ( 21.600 Bristol). It almov: seemed we should end up attempting 40.320 D N.C.B. : Our target was finally set at 23,072. if all went well : if not to reduce as necessary.

THAT HORRIBLE FEELING
Early on the morning of July llth, threr cars departed from the Maesllwich Arms at Glashury-on-W: and joined the string of West Walen huliday traffic almost to Brecon hefore turning off into the the country, and so on to Llanfergan A quick photograph for TWW. we believe, few minor arrangemenis to ropes and $w=$ were all ready to go Once again that horrithe feeling before long peal of not wanting to ring but, at the same time. a longing to heat another record. After tbrec to four hours this feeling subsides and ringing becomes automatic, almost unconscrous

We set off in changes at $8.19 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. prepared to ring for about 13 hours if necessary. However, the ringing was a little faster than anticipated and the end of the first part showed that it would take 12 hours 40 minutes for the 23.072 . The first 5.040 came up in ? the 23.072 . Tinutes. the 10.080 in 5 hours $30^{\circ}$ minutes and 15.120 in 8 hours 17 minutes.

SIGNS OF STRAIN

From then on. the ringers on the back found the pace a little too exhausting and the ringing slowed up. The strain of 10 and a half hours continual dodging wa, beginning to show, and a relative deterioration in th: ringing ensued. Under these circumstances. it was hard to foresee a return to the earlier standard and therefore the bob at 6 in the loth part was omitted thus allowing the bells to run into rounds at 20.160 after 11 hours 6 minutes.
So we part:ally achieved our target. leaving the church bell record for another day Slighty disappointing for some not to have rung the clock round we must do what the Vicar of Llanfeigan (the Rev. I. L. Davies? asked us, ary that is to return and ring longer next year. We Icft Llanfeigan returning thence 10 dinner at Glashury. and spent the remainder of the evening ringing handbells and replenishing the liquid content of our hodies.

ANOTHER PEAL NEXT DAY

The following day. we rang for service at Glasbury. and to add a new county to our peal records rang a peal of Lincolnshire in the afternoon at Clifford. Herefordshire. So ended a pieasant. liring yet enjoyahle week end. and we hope that now Llanfeigan is wellmarked on the ringers ${ }^{*}$ map. if not on the Ordnance Survey ones

Our thankis go out to the Vicar of Ilanfeipan, to Colin A. Lewis of Glasbury for making the arrangettents at Llanfeigan and a the hotel and lastly to the manager and Stalf of the Maesiluch Arms for their co-operation. olleration and attention.

50th ANNIVERSARY AT BRISTOL
On June 25th. 1914, a peal of Grandsite Minor was rung at the Church of St. John on the Wall, Bristol, as a compliment to Mr. George Stadon on his 78th birthday. The peal commemorated on a peal hoard in the tower. Taking part in this his first peal under the conductorshin of Mr. Edgar Guise was Mr. A. York-Bramble. then a student at Bristol University. He had learnt a great deal of his earlv ringing from the conductor at Emmanuel. Clifton and St. Siephen's.

This was some thirty years hefore the foundation of the University of Bristol Society, but when the Society eventualls got under way in th: middle 1440 s . A.Y-B. hecame one of its very first non-resident life memhers
The osiginal peal was probahly the very first of many peals rung by memhers of the University with City ringers. thus instituting a happy relationship which has continued right through to the present day. With this in mind the Society felt it should mark the 50th anniversary by a peal in the same tower.
Mr. York-Bramble had hoped to be present but unfortunately was prevented from doing so hy ill-hcalth. However, a good peal in four Minor methods was duly rung, and after wards. thanks to Mr. York-Bramble's genprosity: a fine meal was enjoyed at the Hole-in-the-Wall Tavern. During the evening glasses were naturally raised to the band of fifty years ago and to A.Y.B. and his return to good health. It is hoped that the anniversary peal will be commemorated by a framed peal card hung beneath the neal board.

FLNERAL OF MISS C. C. GOLDEN

A LUCKY ESCAPE

Faulty Lightning Conductor

$I^{\mathrm{T}}$WAS a fairly pleasant morning when the six of us met outside St. Stephen's hurch, St. Albans. to attempt a peal of Minor. on th: morning of July 18 th. After two false starts we eventually settled down to a comfortable pace only to be disturbed again in the second extent by ominous rum blings from the now not so p'casant weather The storm seemed to be right overhead. and at times we could hardly hear the beils because of the rain and thunder. It was after one particularly loud bang that the conductor was heard to remark to the ringer of the third: I hope that wasn't the bell frame shifting!
Alas. not only the ears that were meant to hear this dd so, for only a few changes later our ringing was b-cughi to a very unharmonious and abrupt endirg as the towel was struck by lightning. We were all of $u_{s}$ deafened. and one or iwo half blinded by the sparks that shot through us. Leckily no on: wa; hurt and it was pe:haps as well that our dulled ears never heard the noise of the treble. 4th. Sth and tenor as they were hurriedly lowered in what was .ertainly not any regular order. The treble ringer in fact ad that h's repe had been cempletcey whip oed out of his hand. and the rieger of the Sth also informed us that hic had felt a distinct shock through the rope and h's fect.
We had no time to worry about things like that: the lightning called the bob, and all 6 bells ran out. closely followed by the ringers! Despite the fact that the main fuse had taken our light away, we were fortunately not left in complete darkness, as the bells are rung from the ground floor, and are not in their own closed room A cursory examination revealed that no damage appeared to have been done. but it was thought wisest to summon the fire brigade to check fully that there was no danger of fire. The Rector was informed that an appliance. would be sent to the church immediately. despite his modest request for nothing more than a fire officer. and we were shortly rewarded with the sigh rand sound) of a large fire ensine headed towards the church. After a full inspection of the wooden tower. it was decided that no danger of fire remained. but we fourd o!!! one rather sobering fact
This forms the moral of what could have heen a serious event. The lightning conductor from the top of the spire terminated in a oint to the frame by the treble bell. and there was no proper conducting path to earth from this point. (The frame in this case is a steel one.) We were thus provided with the exdlanation of why our treble ringer lost his rone. It appeared that the only escape for the lightning was through the conduit pipe of the electric ligat supply. and also through the tock wires and the clock. which is earthed by virtue of being mounted in the stone floor helow. The clock wires pass very close 10 the rone on the Sth bell, and I suppose this is why the ringer felt a shock
While the ringing of the bells is supposed traditionally to drive the thunder away. I would surgest to all intending ringers of peals. and the like. that they make sure the tower where they are ringing is adequately protected against lightning damage by having proper conductor. when it seems bikely thev will be ringing during a storm. We certainly will ! It is no fun being so close to so many volts. and we are all thankful that the only casualty was the clock. which for some unknown reason slopped. although it is weight driven. We can also feef thankful thas we have not lost the talents of Mr. Joha R. Ketteringham who was ringing the treble and also those of a well-known Christine. R.E.H.

KENT RINGERS' RALLY

For some years it has been the custom of the Kent County Association 10 organise a dinner in each of the six districtes of the Asso clation in turn. In som: of the centres it is becoming increasingly difficult to find a place with adzquate seating accommodation where a meal can be provided at a price sufticiently economic to appeal to the large and widely scattered membirship. especially the increasing numbers of young people that the Association is happy to count within its ranks
It was therefore a happy thouwht on the part of the octogenarian chairman and vicepresident of the Asscciation. Mr. J. Willis o Folkestone. that as no suitable place could be found in the Ma dstone district for a dinner there should instead be a Ringers' Rally centred on Maidstone at a tme when mem bers could lake advantage of a long summer cvening. At its annual meeting on Easter Monday the Association dec ded to adopt thi idea and on July 4 th 140 ringers of al sorts and sizes from all over the county and heyond at down to tea in the Tovil Work ing Men's Institutc at Maidstone.
Ringing commenced in some tificen lowers in sh: district carly in the afiernoon and continued until after 9 p.m. excent for a most inspiring service in Maidstone Parish Church and tca afterwards. The service was conducted bv the Rector of Bredgar. the Rev. Stanley Evans, who was tatight to ring seme years ago by Mr. Walter H. Dobbic.
Rochester Cathedral was to have been amongst the towers available for ringing but permussion had to be withdrawn owing to repair work to the tower. At one time it looked as if Maidstone was also to be a casualty as the tenor clapper had broken. However, due to the initiative of Mr. Trevos A. Cross. the Maidstone district secretary, and the professional skill of Mr. E. J. Beer, so well-known to the older generation of Clim berlands, it was possible to get the clapper repaired in time
At tea Mr. Willis expressed the sincere thanks of all the members to all who had wo.ked hard in making the arrangements and particularly Mr. T. A. Cross. As a mark of appreciation he handed suitable gifts to Mr and Mrs. Cross. The Rev. Stanley Evans was thanked most sincerely for his help in taking the service and it was announced that the offertory. amounting to $\& 510 \mathrm{~s}$.. would be donated to the Bredgar bell restoration fund

'Spur' Stays

Dear $S i r$, -I was interested to read the letters of Messrs. Cawley and Knight in the R.W." : I write to make corrections and additions to the former, and to mention some points of interest concerning the latter.

First. with regard to the 'spur' stays in Kent. I have notes on the bells at Westwell, and beg 10 differ with Mr. Crawley. The treble and 2nd bells here have traditional wooden stays and sliders (the former, however, being attached to the same side of the headstock as the wheel). while the third bell has no trace of stay of slider. The tenor has the remains of a stay, but no slider. I agree with Mr. Cawley that the third bell is split, and the others unringatle, but I would hesitate to substantiate his paradoxical remark that the bells are in good order.

I have also visited the church of St. Lawrence. Godmersham, I did not find the bells waist-deep in debris (although 1 did find a dead snake in the bell-chamber-has anyone had a similar experience ? !). I do not remember anything unusual in the fittings of the hells. hut I did not take detailed notes, and I will check when I am next near the church.

Other examples in Kent include the complete ring of 8 at Mersham (restored by Mears in 1880). 5 out of 6 at Brabourne, and 4 out of 5 at Kingsnorth. The ten bells at St. Barnatas: Pimlico. S.W.1. are all equipped with thesd stays (installed by Mears c. 1850).
io correct Mr. Cawley's reference to the hells of St. Alphege, Canterbury. Only the 2nd and 3rd bells were cast by S. B. Goslin. The treble was a 17th or early 18th century casting which was adaptcd by Goslin and subsccuently usid in the ring, originally it was uninscribed, but Goslin incised an inscription upon it. It would be interesting to know exactly where Mr. Goslin practised his trade, and whether there are any complete rings of bells by him. He would appear to have done some of his work at Warners, as he describes himself as of the Crescent Foundry, London. Besides those mentioned by Mr. Cawley, his only other examples in Kent were two hells at-Sellindge. cast in 1906 These were. however, such poor bells that they had to be recas! when the ring was augmented is 6 in 1909.

Regarding Mr. Knight's inquiries, the 'Institution for Change Ringing in Quex Park. Isle of Thanet' was founded in 1819 hy John Powell Powell who built the famous campanile, and cquipped it with a light ring of twelve bells in this year. Apparently Shipway was in the band of Cumberland Youths who rang the first peal on the bells at their opening. and was subsequently employed by Powell as a rutor to his band; they rang many peals in neighbouring towers, most of which were conducted by Shipway. The peal at Margate must have been the first on the bells, as they were augmented to 8 in 1823. They also rang the first peal at St. Peter's, Sandwich. in 1823, and the first peal on the ten bells at Canterbury Cathedral in 1824. I have no information as to the calling of the peal but it may have been one of Shipway's compositions. The calling of the other peal at Margate in 1885 may possihly be found in the K.C.A.C.R. report for that year if the neal was rung for the latter association.Yours faithfully.

Robert Roan

Dear Sir,-It is unfortunate that Mr. Ernest Weatherby on page 466 should have got his facts concerning Robert Roan all mixed up with Richard Duckworth and Stedman, and more so that he should have sent it to Washington and Groton, because as was said in these columns recently corrections never catch up wih mistakes.

Robert Roan did not invent changes, he had no connection with Cambridge, neither was he a monk.
On pages 117-119 of 'Grandsire.' in a long and interesting account of Roan and his achievements, the late Mr. J. A. Trollope tells us that Roan's great contribution to ringing was that he composed the first 120 of Grandsire Doubles, and then goes on to explain how he adapted the calling of this to give us the standard 720 of Bob Minor. As Mr. Trollope rightly says ' It is quite safe to say that no man has had his compositions rung so much as Robert Roan.'
It is 100 much to ask you to reprint all Mr. Trollope tells us but perhaps you can spare me space for the first paragraph.

Robert Roan spent the whole of his working life in the service of the officers of the Green Cloth, the government department which had charge of the royal palaces, and for some time he was sworn clerk of the pantry.

Charles I was king when he began his service but the Civil War and the Commonwealth made little difference to the permanent officials, or indeed to the ringing societies which flourished while Cromwell ruled the country. When the Restoration came however, Roan lost his job. He was promised as compensation $£ 50$ a year board wages, but that fell into arrears. and was afterwards reduced to $£ 25$. So be petitioned the King more than once for redress.. but though the treasury hooks record his petitions they do not tell us what happened to them.-Yours sincerely. E. BARNETT,
10. Kings Close, Crayford.

Old Peals at Margate

Dear Sir-It should have been obvious to Mr. F. C. W. Knight (page 464) that the peal of Grandsire Triples Shipway called at Margate in 1824 was either Tavlor's or Vicar's Boh and Single. from the number of bobs and singles given on the hoard. and the hell he rang.

Regarding the 1885 peal, practically all the compositions of Grandsire Triples ex sting at that time were Holt's Original. Holt's six and ten parts. Penning's one part, one or two one parts by Parker, two or three five parts, and the bob and single peals.

This. coupled with the fact that the number of calls is also given. and Mr. Willshire called it from the second. leaves no doubt whatever it was Holt's ten part.-Yours sinrerelv.

> F. BARNFTI

10, Kings Close, Crayford.
The Editor also thanks Mr. W. J. Whitmore. of Raunds. for his reply. While Mr Whimmore is of opinion that the 1824 pesl was $\mathbb{E}$ Taylar's it could have been any of the old three lead course peals that have the same number of hots and singles with the 6th observation. such as Annable's or Vicar's.

Miss Joan Beresford Congratulations on 500 Peals

Dear Sir,-Some people do an awful lot of work and spend an awful lot of time in doing it-but dividing these people into categories one soon gets to knaw those who like to broadcast their achievements, those tho will talk quictly and passively about them and still those who hardly ever make any reference about them at all,

Miss Joan Beresford, who learnt to ring in Lichfield. Staffs, and now resides in Dartford. Kent, would come in the last-named group, for while she may remain in one place at her work she is here, there and everywhere at ringing, as evidenced by reading the columns of this journal. Along with many others. our names used to be found in the front half of the paper and although progress in our modern age has promoted these names to appear in the back half. this major operation has challenged us to greater successes in our activities, but we are not out for publicity or self-praise.

As Joan is fully engaged in Sunday service ringing, and in teaching young recruits; as she travels literally miles and miles for her ringing: commits herself to engagements at various places taccessible and inaccessible). some of which I am sure the Duke of Edinburgh would not fulfil in his helicopter: is obliged to refuse invitations in peal attempts from time to time: is, on certain occasions. in one place when it is thought she would be elsewhere, she understandably forms the subject of quite a complicated problem! But, wherever Joan is she can be relied upon to do her best and never to let the team down. This brings to mind some qualities of a good ringer-high standard of performance. reliability. punctuality, team spirit. Joan possesses all these. and with a character of seriousness. In addition to her activities mentioned above and the fact that she is a far-ahove-the-average performer on handbells. having rung several peals of Spliced Surprise Major, her official positions as honorary treasurer and Central Council representative of the Ladies' Guild mark her as complete a ringer as most people can he. May I plead on Joan's behalf. however, not to be invited in such places as Bath Abbey. Launton or Pershore Abhey-she would enjoy the ringing hut not the approach work!

My object of penning this "half-column is an attempt to offer Joan congratulations on achieving the high total of 500 peals. made up hy an extremely wide and varied range of methods (including up to 30 Spliced Surprise Major) and on all numbers of bells, coupled with an appreciation of her services to the ringing Exercise and to wish her continued success with the good work. - Yours. etc.

Composition of Unusual Quality

Dear Sir.-Those interested will have noticed that the composition of Cornwall on page 476 contains the 18 combination courses and the sixth the extent home in 24 courses only. a tight squecze. 1 should be interested to know of any other compositions with this quality (and no singles). It is admittedly a composer's composition. though perhaps the music is quite suitable for the method - Yours sincerely, Bilston. Stafls. I. G. K DAVIES.

Not to take any risks about the rejection hy his Guild of hus first peal as conductor. a letter was sent to the Guild general secretary to verify the membership of one of the hand It took him two months to secure confirmation. as the secretary was in America.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Marlborough Branch

Following the successful June meeting at Great Bedwyn and St. Katherine's (Savernake Forest) the Marlborough Branch met at Ch.sledon on July 18th, and there was again a good company present.
Members were present from St. Mary's (Marlborough), St. Peter's (Marlborough), Aldhourne. Everleigh and, of course the home tower with visitors from Gloucester, Axbridge. Swindon, Lyncham. Huckingham, and Weymouth. Ringing in the unavoidable absence of the Ringing Master (Rev. Roger Keeley) was under the joint direction of Mr . George Brown (assistant secretary) and Mr. George Newman (chairman), and ranged from rounds and call changes to Cambridge Surprise Minor. The bells, an easy going and mellow-toned six. were raised in peal at 3 pm . and, with an interval for service and tea, were kept going until 8 pm .
The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon I. W. A. Collins) with Mr. W. Drewitt at the organ, and a sumptuous tea followed in the Elm Tree, annexe, provided by Mrs. Court, sen., and her helpers.

Mr. G. Newman presided at the business meeting and thanked all who had helped to make the day a success, and welcomed the visitors.
Mr. Newman announced, with very real regret, that Mr. T. A. Palmer (honorary secretary). who was injured recenily while at work, was not progressing as rapidly as had been hoped. Although out of hospital he was still in some pain and discomfort, and had asked that Mr. Brown should run the Branch for the time being. Members expressed their sympathy and hopes were voiced that he would before long be quite recovered.

Next meeting (August): Burbage and Milton Lilbourne (suhject to permission): Branch outing, September, probably Chichester area.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD  West Lindsey Branch

The weather was kind on the last Saturday in June when the West Lindsey Branch had their annual outing. The venue was Coventry, suggested by our very youngest member at the annual meeting, and a very enjoyable day it proved to be.
Our first call was at Enderby where several touches were rung on an eight with a very pleasing tone and our second call, at St. Andrew's. Shilton. gave us six that were very light. the tenor being $6 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{\mathrm{cw}}$.
Enjoying a pienic lunch en route we carried on to Stoke, Coventry, where our arrival coincided with a wedding and we were able to ring as the bridal pair left the churchyard. A local ringer kindly met us and several methods were rung on the nice sounding eight.

At Coventry we had time to visit the Cathedral and some were privileged to witness one of the Mystery Plays in the old ruined Cathedral. We all met again at tea in the Cathedral Refectory. On the homeward journey we called at Monks Kirby where the eight were a joy to handle and to hear. Our final tower was St. Mary's. Bitteswell, a light six. Some of our regular members were not with us and they were missed. but nevertheless we had a most

MR. PERCY SWINDLEY

With deep regret we record the death of Mr. Percy Swindley, at his home in Chester on July 15 th, at lie age of 64 years. He had been in poor health for the last two years, during wnich time he had not been able to 60 any ringing.
Percy $>$ windiey learned to ring during the first world war. but did not take a sarious interest in the art until 1928, when he rang his first peal at St. Mary-within-the-Walls, Chester. Since that time, however, he became one of the lead.ng ligures in the chester Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild and did mach to advance the standard of ringing in the area.
He succeeded his father as captain of the Handbridge St. Mary's and Cathedral ringers in 1951, and he will be rememb.red for his patience with learners, the welcome he extended to visitors and his unassuming nature. 1 is achievoments in the ringing sphere were manly and varied and while the exact number of peals he had rung is not known. it must be in the region of 500 , and included Surprise Major, 1 riples in many difterent methods and the first peal in many different plain Major methods. He was a capable conductor, an excellent striker and heavy bell ringer.
By Irade he was a blacksmith and sp:cialised in ornamental ironwork, latterly taking over the family business, which had been in existence for several generations. Unfortunately his was the last link as his uncle predeceased him the previous week and there is now no oric to carry on the family tradition. He was an expert craftsman and there are many examples of his work to be found in the county. including the fittings fot electric lighting at Pulford. Runcorn and Shotwick Churches. He also adapted the fitings at St. Mary's, Handbridge, when the lighting was converied from gas 10 electricity. For the last four years he had given instruction in ornamental ironwork io students of Chester College.

The funeral service was held at St. Mary's, Handbridge, on July 18th. and was conducted by the Rector. the Rev. W. N. D. Thomas, and the lesson was read by the Rev. A. J. H. Scott. Members of the local company. the Chester Branch of the Chester Guild and the North Wales Association attended. The bells were rung half-muffled.

His passing will leave a gap which will be hard to fill and he will be sorely missed. but we give thanks for the example of a very fine ringer and craftsman, and for his achievements in a full life.

MR. S. J. ORCHARD

Mr. Sidney James Orchard, chairman of the Chiltern Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and foreman ringer at St. John the Baptist Church. Litele Missenden. Bucks, died suddenly on July 81 h .
It is difficult to praise too highly the value of the work Sid had done for ringing over the past 40 years, both in his own tower and elsewhere in the Chiltern Branch. His enthusiasm and painstaking efforts in training beginners made it possible to build up and keep in existence a ringing band at Little Missenden Church for many years.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUHD  Banbury Branch Without a Secretary

Although Mr. Roper had warned the Branch last January that he would not seek re-election to the post of honorary secretary and treasurer in view of his proposed move to Yorkshire, there were no candidates for the vacant post at the annual mecting at Deddington on July lith. It is hoped that someone will come forward soon and in the miantime Mr. Roper is caretaker.
After the service. conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. H. Patmer: and the usual Deddington tea (first class), Miss Cross, general secretary of the Guidd, look the chair in the absence of the Branch chairman (church fete) and got through a long agenda as expeditiously as possible, although not in her record time of 15 minutes.
The Rev. J. Goddard was re-elected chairman, Mr. C. C. Clarke as Rınging Master and Mr. R. A. Keeves as deputy, and in future the deputy is 10 succeed the Ringing Master each yeur. Messrs. W. N. Genna and C. C. Clarke were elected to the General Committee and Mr. C. Wightman as honorary auditor.
It was agreed to hold a Branch striking competition, the winning tower to go forward to the Guild competition later in the year, and it was agreed to revise the rota of towers for quarterly meetings.

Next meeting: Hanwell, October 10 th.

The peal of Seven Surprise Minor methods (page 471) was rung at ihurlaston and not Highaston, and the same error appears in Higham-on-the-Hill outing (page 475).

OBITUARY-S. J. ORCHARD (Contd.)

A loyal and wholehearted churchman, in addition to his ringing activities, he served the parish for a long period as churchwarden and treasurer. and has his permanent memorial in the helfry, where his name appears in the casting of the new treble bell. added to the ring after the last war and during Sid's term of office as churchwarden. At his request. the bells were rung unmuflled at his funeral and again when a quarter peal in his honour was rung at Litttle Missenden on July 14 th.
He will be sadly missed by very many friends.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Opposition to Striking Competition

'THE summer quarterly meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held on July Ilth in the Market Harborough District. This is the smallest of the six Districts with a membership of about 50 . but a very good day had been arranged by their District Committee.

During the afternoon the bells at Oxendon. Foxton Lubenham and Great Bowden were available, as well as the octave at Markel llarborough Parish Church At 4.15 a ringers ${ }^{*}$ service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon D. A. Adams), in honorary member of the Guild. Tea had been prepared in the Old Grammar School by Mr. and Mrs. R. Binley and other helpers.

At the business meeting there were a numher of apologies (due largely to the Lad:es" Guild annual meeting). After the presentation of certificates of membership and the reading of the minutes of the annual general meeting. the election of the following 22 members was confirmed:

£ 40 \text { GRANT }

An application had been received from Heather for assistance in the rehanging of the existing three bells. the provision of two irebles and the addition of a frame for a future treble. The committee had decided to make a grant of $\pm 40$-the largest such grant - ever made by the Guild.

The committer had decided to confer upon Mr. H. Wright. of Earl Shilton, the distinction of honorary life membership in recognition of his service to ringing not only in his own tower but in the diocese generally.
After many months of protracted and fruitless discussion. the committee had come to the conclusion that no definite use could be made of the Archdeacon of Loughhorough's offer of making All Saints Church, Leicester, a Guild church for ringers.

PRINTING COSTS

The next item concerned the cost of printing the annual report. As this has continued to rise over the last few years, the committee had decided that reports would be on sale to resident members at 2 s . each 155. to othersh but each tower with members would receive one free copy.
The committee had also discussed the interpretation of the deletion of Rule 3 which had been made at the A.G.M. The rule would the deleted 35 from the date of the A.G.M.. 1964. Concerning membership. the committee also decided that membership of the Guild would cease on December 31st in the year that a subscription was not paid.

A proposal had been received from the Leicester District suggesting that a Guild striking competition should be arranged. In view of there being some strong opposition to such a proposal it was agreed that aich District should discuss this matter and report back at the next meeting. which would be held in the Melton Mowhray District on October 17th.
The secretary reminded members that the Guild dinner would he held in the Shakespeare Hotel, Braunstone. Leicester. on November 14 th , at which the chief guest and speaker would be Mr. John Freeman, vicepresident of the Central Council. Tickets would be on sale at 17 s . 6 d .
In any other business Mr. T. C. Belton suggested that the Guild might do more to implement Object No. 5, which was to provide instructors for those towers which required them.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

A beautiful day and a first-class lunch added to the enjoyment of the Hunts District ringers on their annual tour on July 4th. Together wih a few friends. they journeyed to Leicestershire, where the first stop was at the Loughborough Bell Foundry. Here a personally conducted tour by Mr. Paul Taylor was most instructive and entertaining. We almost feel now we know how it's done. After a not too successful session on the Campanile bells, we made our way to the War Memorial where an inspection of the carillon was followed by a most enjoyable recital.

At Hathern after lunch we were to join in the church garden party, and many prizes and trophies were evident in the bus after this. We were unable to do justice to the beautiful bells in the short time at our disposal. Cambridge and Grandsire went well on the octave at Kegworth, but at Diseworth after tea misfortune befell us when the Ringing Master discovered there was no stay on the rreble. (At least that's his story.) Here the Vicar very kindly gave us an informative history of this ancient church, now undergoing restoration due to the ravages of the dreaded death watch beetle.

Shepshed. the last tower, provided the best ringing of the day. St. Clement's. Kent. and Stedman heing successfully rung on the beautiful eight. The local fair provided entertainment for our younger members tand some who are still young in heart). Grateful thanks to all incumbents for permission to ring their bells, to ringers who met us, and to Paul for the excellent organisation. A.J.D.

EMMANUEL (PLYMOUTH) MEE'

 TOM MYERS AT SEATONFrom a weather point of view. ringers of Emmanuel Church, Plymouth. had a dreary start at $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on July 11 th , but by the time they reached Honiton it was perfectly dry. and by lunch time at Seaton it was a glorious day.

Before ringing commenced at Honiton, the Rev. Hayman. Assistant Priest at Emmanuel. led the party in prayer. We then left the hurly burly of the main road and headed for Seaton. Again there was very good ringing. and Mr. Tom Myers who we were delighted to have with us, joined in a short touch of Stedman Triples, ringing being on the ground floor. An innovation this year was a hot lunch: it was so much appreciated that there is no doubt that it has come to stay.

At Colyton (the heaviest six in Devon) we ran into trouble, first the rope of the second jumped the wheel and 'got stuck.' Mr. Sims. captain of Emmanuel ringers. went up and put it right: it went again. and was sorted out a second time: then the same thine happened to the treble. By now our time had almost gone, and Mr. Sims decided we would have some rounds on the five so that all could have a ring.

Our ringing during the day was very good. but at Woodbury it was really the best. set off by a beautiful rise.
We had tea at a cafe in the Cathedral Close at Exeter where we were joined by Mrs. McCabe and her two sons. Mrs. McCabe's husband (unable to be with us) is priest in charg: at St. Stephen's, and was formerly Assistant Priest at Emmanuel. The meal was followed by ringing on the grand eight at Heavitree, and at St. Thomas: at the latter church the Secretary. Mr. H. H. Thomas, was a member of the band for three years. rang his first peal of Grandsire Triples in 1927, and married in 1929.

Our sincere thanks to the incumbent and local ringers who welcomed us.
H. H. T.

Histon, Cambs, have an enthusiastic young band, which, under the leadership of Mr. M. W. Carter, have just rung their first quarter. With one exception, they have had less than 18 months' instruction. Their ambition lies also in another direction-to have the present six recast and two bells added. This will cost approximately $£ 1,200$; a fund has been opened and about $£ 56$ received. Ringers who would like to be associated with this venture are asked to send their donations to Mr. M. W. Carter, 78, Mill Lare, Histon. Cambs.
Mr. George Seth, who rang the treble in a peal of Minor in six methods at St. Peter's, Bedford, on June 20th, will be 76 in a few weeks' time.
After an unsuccessful attempt for a peal at Steep, Hants, in which four service ringers took part, a quarter peal was rung as a tirst birthday compliment to James Edward Snelgar. son of the Vicar, the Rev. D. J. Snelgar.
A correspondent in Sussex, whose name appears in the local town guide under 'Campanology, was recently shaken by a phone call requesting information on nearby camping sites, 'S'true!
Before leaving Stoke Bishop, Bristol, the Rev. D. Sansum had the pleasure of conducting his first quarter of Minor. He has been installed Vicar of Stechford, Birmingham. Unfortunately, this is a church without a ring of bells.
There were six Old Boys and two members of the present school (Geoffrey Foster and Christopher Forster) in the peal of Grandsire Caters rung at St. Albans Abbey on July 18 th to mark the retirement of the beadmaster of St. Albans School, Mr. W. T. Marsh. He had been at the school for 33 years.

A letter marked 'Urgent' from Mansfield took 11 days on its journey to Guildford. There have been others in the 12 day category. Despite the disruption, we were delighted to receive from St. Ives, Cornwall, a letter franked at 6 p.m., the following morning.

The ringers who participated in the silent peal of Holt's 'Original' at Harrow Weaid, on July 16 th . would like to express their thanks to Mr. Syd Bailey, who rang the treble for two previous abortive attempts and who had to staral down from the successful third attempt owing to a prior engagement. A competent substitute was found, however, and Mr. George Hart is thanked not only for his reliable treble ringing but also for placing Harrow Weald bells at the disposal of the band.

Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton acknowledges with thanks the great help of Mr. John F. Mayne in the multi-method peals he has rung in identifying methods and checking names.
The last peal on Truro Cathedral bells before rehanging took place on July 18th. It had the distinction of being the first on the front six.

Mr. W. H. Raxter had the pleasure of conducting Mr. Len Parry, a regular Sunday service ringer of the Worcestershire and Districts Association for 49 years, through his first peal at Leigh on July lith. He had previously limited himself to a quarter peal.
The band who rang the 'Micnael' peal at Great Tew, Oxon, on July 18th would like to express their appreciation to the Rector for providing liquid refreshment after the peal. With the temperature in the 80 's for most of the day, it was more than a welcome gesture.

Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward informs us that his recent operation is proving to be most successful and already he has had a rope in his hand. He would like to thank all friends who sent letters to him while in hospital.

An attempt for a quarter pzal at Withyham. Sussex, to celcbrate the wedding of Jean Barnett and James Woolford unfortunately came to grief in the last course. The attempt was arranged by the vice-captain in the absence of the captain. A peal failure also occurred at St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, where the conductor called halt after two hours' ringing.
