in the structure of some of those compositions he has lately sent for publication. The one in question, however, is upon no intricate plan.'
And indeed the peal was perfectly true.
Two months later, on Whit Monday, May 21 st, the Cheltenham men again went for their long length and again Phillott rang the second. This time they were successful, and rang 13.054 changes in 8 hours 16 minutes. The peal was particularly noteworthy. too, for being the first of Stedman Caters called by W. T. Pates, who was for many years to be the Ringing Master at Cheltenham. Phillott was unusually enthusiastic in his praise of the ringing: 'True and first-class peal; splendid striking throughout excellent and could not be surpassed.'

And on that note of success the notebook ends. Most of Cienrge Phillott's later ringing career until his death in September, 1926, in a Cheltenham nursing home can be traced through back numbers of 'The Bell News, and "The Ringing World.' He lived through one of the most stirring periods in ringing history; when he learnt to handle a bell, the standard methods were Grandsire and Stedman; Diocesan and Territorial Associations were unknown-and he was instrumental in forming some of the earliest: there were no ringing tours-within six years of learning to ring he was one of the pioneers. How much do we all owe to such as George Phillott, Esq., B.A.?

We hear an encouraging report from St Andrew's. Whitchurch. Devon. Here Mis D. A. Bray has been teaching Grandsire since Chrisimas to five hoys between the ages of 14 and 17. Two of the band rang their first quarter on July 21st and it was well-struck and practically faulsless. This is believed to he the first quarter on the bells. The rest of the team hope to ring their 'first soon.

RINGING FARCE AT STOKE  \section*{CLIMSLAND. CORNWALI}

On 14th Feb.. 1878, a ringing match was held on the fine ring of eight bells at the pa-ish church. Great interest was taken in the contest, the church and churchyard being crowded during the compelition.

The Editor adds a note saying that the competition was a waste of money and utierly uscless in the way of bedfry reform and progress in winging proper.... As for prize-ringing, the parsons are to blame for allowing, that... Fancy " fifty-four cross changes" being called a "capital peal "! he concludes there can be no objection io "ups and downs and rounds and rounds " before services, they are more after the ancient practice than change-ringing, which is a comparatively modern introduction. What we object to is the offering of prizes for any ringing. All the best ringers in England confess that pleasureringing for money never made out anything. It must be studied and practised as a labour of love.'

WHERE ARE THE FINEST BELLS?
A Lover of Good Bells' writes, 'It would be a great advantage to some of your readers to know where the finest bells really exist in this country. Far myself. I think the ring at Lavenham, Suffolk. especially the tenor and treble, the most beautifut I have yet heard.'
This brought a number of observations duning the succeeding weeks

A Lover of Good R nging and Good Bells thought the finest bells were at Holbeck. Yorks. The whale ring of 8 is the most beautiful I have heard.

Charles P. Davies, of Pembroke College. Oxford, after explaining how difficulk it was 10 make a decision. mentioned the ten at Magdalen College. Oxford: the eight at Magdalen College. Oxford: the eight at Pershore. Worsestersh re: and the last ten of the Painswick twelve. He added. Why are so many of our tenors made disproportionately thick, so that even in rounds and "tenor behind " they come with a slight crash on the rest, and when "turned in "absolutely drown them?
'College Youth' said that East Retford. Notts (tenor 24 cwt.). Si. Mary's, Sheffield ( 25 cwt.). St. Peter's, Nottingham ( 25 cwt.). and Youlgreave. Derbyshire ( 26 cwt .). are acknowledged by all who have heard them to be the finest rings in the Kingdom.

Then: A Lover of Good Bells returns with a long lecter which ends. 'I know a ring of ten. having a fair repute. cast by an eminent frm. the scate of which. being pus upon a rod shows itself to the of the very worst description: a large. thick. fluty treble. third description: a large. thick. fluty treble. third and fourth within a quarter of an inch of the same size. the fourth being hacked to pieces to flatten it to something like its note: the ninth and tenth swice the proper distance apart they should be. to correspond with the eighth and ninth: the ninth very fluty: and the tenth crazy in the extreme!"
These views of his were strongly condemned by later correspondents.
Hervev Reeves writes: 'It is the prevailing opinion that the mase musical ring of twelve is at St. Michael's. Cornhilh, which vies with St Peter's. of Norwich. in heauly of tone.
For a ten he eives $S t$. Mishael's. Covenmry. For a ten he eives St. Mishael's. Coventry. Wiestm:nster, and it. John South Hackney Ot Livenham. he says. "I have frequently heard of Lavenham bells. the tenor of which is said to the a most extraordinary thell; but, her companions not coming up to her standard. the exceedingly beautiful tone of the tenor is somewhat marred.' He also mentioned the eight at St. Helen's, Worcester, 'said to be a maiden peal.
H. Dains. Royal Cumberland Youths. thought St. Peter Mancroft. Norwich, superior to St. Michael's. Cornhill: St. Andrew's. Holborn, was his choice of any eight in Londen

Another correspondent asked, "Who is to judge or tell, for who has heard all the rings in England? Or who is able to retain the sounds of one ring in Scotland and another in Cornwall, for comparison? Or who has the musical ear to appieciate fully all tones and harmonies?'

ST. MARY'S. NOTITNGHAM

- Centenary of the great piad of 10.260 Grandsire Caters rung at this church, March 3 rd, 1778 , in 7 hours 22 minutes. Conducied by W. D. Crofts. Solicitar.

On 7 Mar., 1878, the ringers of St. Mary's commemorated the event by ringing 5,219 Gnandsire Caters in 3 hours 27 minutes (tenor 34 cwt .), the company all having been (tenor 34 cw .). the company all having been taught to sing by the conductor. W. Widdowson, his last peal.' The correspondent regretted that the ringing should have taken place during Lent. but it was to celebrate place during Lent. but it was the centenary of the great peal.

WIGAN PARISH CHURCH

23 Mar., 1878, the ringers of chis church rang their first peal. Holt's Ten-Part Grandsire Triples, 3 hours 12 minutes. Tenor 28

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION OF CHANGE

 RINGERS22 April, 1878, the Easter meeting was held at Leeds. Leeds. Holbeck and Hunslet bells were rung. During the morning a peal of 5.040 Kent T.B. Maximus in 3 hours 50 minutes was rung an the Leeds bells, the first of Maximus on the bells, 'which have lately been put in order by Mr. T. Mallaby, of Marsham. Tenor 36 cwt .

THE LADIES' GUILD  Eastern District

Twenty-three members and friends of the Eastern District of the Ladies Guild journeyed hy coach on Iriday. July 10th. to Ashhourne (where we stayed for two nights) to attend the annual meeting of the Guild at Macclesfield. Those who had been allocated lodgings in the Old Parsonage were not at all well received when they mistakenly arrived at the Vicarage at 11 p.m.. but otherwise the journey was uneventful.

Saturday morning proved somewhat hectic. A funeral at the first, tower. Bollingion, and broken fifth and tenor ropes at Nether Alderley made our visits to these fowers and to Presthury and Chelford hasty. in order that the ladies on the Executive Committee might be in Macclesfield as near to I p.m. as possible. During the afternoon and evening most of the narty managed to ring at the most of the narty managed to ring at the three Macalesfield towers as well as attend the service and excellent tea. On the way hack to Ashhourne we rang at Gawsworth. Sutton and Congleton, and made a detour in order to visit. The Cat and Fiddle (the highest inn in England).
The journey home was less tiring. beginning at $9.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Sunday. We rang for. and attended, Matins at Si. Alkmunds. Derhy. and after lunch went on to Loughborough Parish Church (where we failed to do justice to either the hells or ourselves). Silehy (where to either the hells or ourselves). Silehy (where we redeemed ourselves somewhatl. Rothwell. and Kettering. where we joined the local hand in ringing for Evensong. A meal in Kettering put us in good voice for the 100 miles sill. ahead of us, which were somn covered thanks to our very efficient driver. covered thanks 10 our Gunner (also a ringer).
We are all most grateful to Alice Leiter for arranging the trip and look forward to a reneat performance next year. Easthourne. here we come! I.. R. P.

BETJEMAN - A POET OF ECCLESIOLOGY

By PETER CAME

JOHN Betjeman's love of churches, their architecture and furnishings, is well known from his many articles, poems, broadcasts and from the book he edited: 'Collins' Guide to the English Churches.' He is in fact one of the few interesting and sophisticated writers on the subject and seems to discover aspects about any church that both please and amuse him ; things that the average person would overlook.

Again, Betjeman's familiarity and deep affection for English ecclesiology is only too apparent from his 'Collected Poems.' The reading of these gives one the impression that he has much more than just an interest in matters ecclesiologicar; he is fanatical about them. Anything from musty hassocks to a great piece of architecture like Westminster Abbey gains his attention. This interest is of paramount importance to his life and his enthusiasm for things ecclesiastical has perhaps come down from Gray. of 'The Elegy in a Country Churchyard,' who seems to be Betjeman's true poetic ancestor.

In 'Before the Anæsthetic' or 'Real Fright' are found many ecclesiological terms as well as other terms that are obviously analogous with those in campanology, together with the author's apparent fear of death. In this poem many terrifying thoughts are conveyed to him through the noise of the bells. The bells at first call softly and gently and finally become hard:

Now hard and new as pitch pine stalls.
Now full with hope from ages past,
Now dull with death and hell at last.
Swing up! and give me hope of life,
Swing down! and plunge the surgeon's knife.

1. breathing for a moment. see

Death wing himself away from me
And think, as on this bed I lie,
Is it extinction when 1 die?
After his doubting during the fright. the hells ask him whether he has known the Lord. He replies:

St. Giles's bells they hear me call
I never knew the Lord at all.
Oh not in me your Saviour dwells Your ancient. rich St. Giles's bells Illuminating missals-spires-
Wide screens and decorated quires-
All these I loved. and on my knees I thanked myself for knowing these.
Once again this poem shows only too clearly Betjeman's love for churches. They delight him and however pathetic or depressed he feels he knows that there is something to live for: 'I thanked the Lord for knowing these.'

Betjeman has studied Victorian architecture with great diligence

On villa'd hill and on Sir Gilbert's spire

So new, so high, so pure, so broached, so tall.
The author can appreciate that the spire of '.. . Christ Church. Swindon,' has qualities as a piece of architecture : it is tall and broached and is as pure a Gothic as Sir Gilbert Scott could make it.
Betjeman's pursuit of things Victorian, if he is being serious, is well brought out in the poem 'Hymn,' referring to ' The Church's Restoration in eighteen eighty three,' of which he sings the praises :

Worthy persecution
Oh dust! O hue divine !
O cheerful substitution,
Thou varnishéd pitch pine!
Church furnishing ! Church furnishing !
Sing art and crafty praise !
It seems that Betjeman finds something aesthetically beautiful in Victorian architecture which other people perhaps fail to appreciate. He has a very deep feeling for it. which may be either religious or sentimental, as conveyed to us in 'St. Saviour's, Aberdeen Park. Highbury, London, N.' :

Great red church of my parents cruciform crossing they knew -
Over these same encaustics they and their parents tred
Bound through a red-hrick transept for a once familiar pew
Where the organ set them singing and the sermon let them nod
And up this coloured brickwork the same long shadows grew.
As these in the stencilled chancel where I feel in the presence of God.
Lord Birkenhead in his introduction to 'Collected Poems.' quoting John Sparrow, has described Betjeman as - a landscape peet' (though he does not completely ignore his ecclesiastical interests). This description does not do justice to Betieman's true interest. There are few of his poems in which one does not find mention of the "broached spire.' the 'Victorian tower.' the tombstone or even the noise of bells. He is obviously so aware of churches, their architecture and furnishings, that he rarely fails to leave them out of any of his writings. Even in 'The Licorice Fields at Pontefract' he has to include :

From various black Victorian towers
The Sunday evening bells
Came pealing over dales and hills :

Centenary of a Leeds Parish

The peal recorded in our columns at St. Mary's Hunslet. Parish Church (Leeds) to commemorate the centenary of the church was a send off so the Anniversary. Week which commenced on July 12 th . Records of the installation of this ring of eight bells in the parochial Church Council minutes are practically non-existent
The report in the minutes on the recast hells in 1939 by John Taylor and Co. state that they were cast hy John Warner and Sons. 1863. A peal record book. in beautiful copperplate writing exists, which gives the first peal in this tower. Oxford Treble Bob Major, in 1871 . In all 16 peals were rung up to 1922. J. W. Snowden. founder of the Yorkshire Association. conducted three peals in 1876 and 1878 ; as far as I can ascertain only 4 have been rung since. Amongst the past incumbents who attended this anniversary was the Rt. Rev. E. M. Gresford Jones, now Bishop of St. Albans, who was the vicar from 1939 and through the last war years
This church with spire is in a district in the suburbs of the city of Leeds: the district is older than the city itself, and is set amidst engineering works and industry where such firms as Hunslet Engine Co. and Towlers Tractors produce diesel engines and tractors for many countries of the world today

One wonders about the future of this chur:h and parish as the population is fast disappearing under the steam roller of Leeds Corporation slum clearance programme? But one closely connected cannot help but have affection for this of Jim's.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK W. ROGERS

An Appreciation
Mr. E. A. Barnett writes:-
I was glad to read the trithute paid by Mr Genrge Pullirger to Frod Rogers at the an nual meetine of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. Il seemed wrong that the passing of such a ringer shoutd have gone almost unnoted.

I first met Mr. Rogers in the earlv 1930. For several years he and his great friend. Aif Greenwood, spent a week or so peal ringing in this area, and Crayford. which in those days was something of a Mecca for peal ringer: frequently figured in the list. My grandfather, who was no mean judge. once desrandfather, who was no mean perfect striker, a distinction he accorded in my hearing at least. in one other ringer only, Mr. Reuben San ders. I aloo recall visits around that time to St. Mary's. Portsea, during tamily tolidays in the area. and being smuggled afterwards into -The Salutation: having fortunately the height. if not the years, to carry it of Among Fred's numerous ringing distinctions was that he rang more than fifty seals at St . Peter's: Brighton, although living manv miles away. One memorable sour in which he took part was in South Wales in 1932 along with Keith Hart and Oliver ringers of the dayKeith Hart and Oliver Siopetts. Charles W Roherts and Wilfred Williams among them It is rather sad that of the eleven whose photograph anpeared in. The Ringing Wor'd afterwards. five are dead and only Don Clifs and Wilfred William: are now active ringers. Fred Herved the cause of ringing in many ways and his passing is a great loss.

WRATTEN'S WRINGERS, 1964

ATURDAY, July 4th, dawned bright as ringers from Swindon, Bristol. SouthampIon and East Anelia made their wav in Colwall. in Herefordshire, for the start of the second annual peal tour of Wrattens Wringers. The first peal attempt of the week was delayed to enable a number of the ropes io be replaced and. more importantly, to allow the tenor man to satisfy himself that England were going to lose the third Test. These preliminaries over. the band settled doan to ring a good neal of Stratford Surprise. the first in the method for all. By eight oclock the week's headquarters. the Great Western Hotel. Chelrenham. had been reached, and three more members of the party collected.

An early start was made on suncay by thoce staying at the Wratten estabtishmant, who rang at Charlion Kings 18.17 cwt.). before joining the local band and the rest of the pany for ringing at St. Mary's, Chelienham with Cambridge Royal, Stedman Cinques and I ittle Bob Maximus. Sufticient lime remained hefore lunch for the Bristol contingent to bee: The Rest 9-8 at football
When we arrived at Hanbury is 12 cwt.' for the afternoon deal there was no sign of Brian Bladon. the last full-timer of the Darty, and Chris Kippin was persuaded to take his place. The conductor havine learnt a new composition of Aldenham, a good peal was duly rung. Outside Brian was waiting for us. having repaired the mechanical trouble to his car, and shortly afterwards the non-pealers returned rom ringing on the ten at Kings Norton.
NO MONDAY MORNING FEELING
There was no sign of the Monday morning feeling, about the attempt lor ciamoriuge Minor as Ripple. Worcs. ( 6,13 cwt.), but unfortunately a broken rope put paid to it after $1 \frac{1}{4}$ houts ringing. Meanunile the rest of the party were more fortunate with a firstclass lons length (5.216) of Lincolnshire at Malvern Link ( $16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwi.). Claines ( 10.14 cwt .) was the afternoon tower, and hesre twoit hours-rather too fast for these easv-going bells. and it was suspected that the cricketing tenor-man was imbatient to know the outcome of the Test match.
One car-load managed to "grah * Strensham (6. 11 cw 1 ) on their way back to Cheltenham afterwards. Once back at headquarters, it soon becarme apparent that Cheltenham's famous Promenade had been taken over by teenapers (quite legally, as part of Cheltenham's Music Festival), and after tea various members of thr* party joined the throng. The sight of six of them standing in a circle on a zebra-crossing and solemnly going ihrough the motions of ringing a zouch of Minor on tower-bells caused considerable interest, and it is expected that the Twist may soon be replaced by another dance that may seem rather familiar to thnse who know something of ringing Tursday morning's programme called for Minor at Greal Barrington ( 8 cwt .) and Superlative at Kingham 48, 12 cwt.), but again the Minor didn't go, this lime because of a shift. Once more the eight-bell peal was luckier After the fast peal here. Pudney was rung in what ceemed a very stately pace a: Kirilington (R. $16 \frac{1}{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{CW}$. .) in the afternoon while site nonringers disoppeared to the cinema in Oxford. With haze hanging round the Malvern Hills the next morninf eight made their way to Ross-on-Wue $(8,25 \mathrm{cw}$.) for a peal of York-Ross-on-Wye $18,25 \mathrm{cw} .1$ for a peal of Yorkshire. Some of the bells have a tendency 10 drop here. and a fair amount of hard work was called for. After two houra sunle of men appeared in the belfry and, to the ennfuctor's consternation. made their way towards the bells. Fortunately they had only come to wind the clock, and the peal was concluded without further incident. Meanwhile six more had gone to Aston Ingham (6, $5 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ ) for what turned out to be tre only successful attempt for Minor during the week. A guod knowledge of Minor splicing enabled thirteen methods to be rung, rather to the surprise of the Bristol member of the band, who was sure he knew no more than seven or eight methods altogether 1

The afternoon attemnt was on the fine eight at Usk. Monmouthshire (14 $\frac{1}{2}$ cwi.), but unfortunately 7 -Spliced was lout through it shift after 21 hours with only one more part to go. Spirits were soon revived on returning to Cheltenham, where the non-drivers showed that :here was nothing to it." albeit only in dodesms (surely a misnomer!) at the fairground
CAMBRILGE AS AN ALARM CLOCK
Thursday morning started for Chris Kippin with Cambridge 'in hand over his bed. as eflective as any alarm clock. Later. Bisley ( 8. 37 cwt .) proved a surprising handfut, and at thee end of the peal of Rutland the refreshments provided at the Rertory were extremely welcome. After well over two hours' ringing at Tetbury 88.17 cwl ) the conductor set un an attempt for Whitminster, when it became clear that something was wrons. The 'something' burned out to be the composition, which would have been one of the most musical yet rung. having the sixth 16 courses in Gins ?

Two ringels were found in he missing upon descending from the tower. They returned in the early hours of Friday morning from. of all places. Birmingham, where they d scored a 'bonus: peal of Royal at the Cathedral.
Two good peals were rung in the vale of Evesharp on Friday-four-Spliced at Bretlorion (8. 9 cot.) in the morning, and Whitminster at Hinton-on-the-Green (8, 10 cwt ) in the afternoon. making up for the previous day's failure. The non-ringers took to golf for the afternoon, with varying degrees of success. In the evening the usual celehration was held at an unsuspecting inn. the highlight being Chris Kippin struggling to master an antiquated accordion. By the end of the evening he had become quite adept and we were able to fulfil musical requests from the public bar to everyones satisfaction.
Alas, the erid was now in sight and the pace telling. On Saturday morning a tenors-parted "emposition of Camtridge Major was lost at edbury (8. 22 cul .) after an hour hecause of a shift. and in the afternoon Minor in the method at Tirley ( 6.12 cwt ) didn't last bevond the firsi extent. Fortunately the afternoon's elpht-nell band managed to ring a peal of Ashtead at Watermoor, Cirencester 18. 193 cwt. . so we could still hold up our heads.
Qur appreciation and thanks are due to Cyril and Margery for the excellent arrangements and accommedation during the week. and also to all the incumbents and ringers who made the week possible and us all so welcome. It only remains to say: Roll on next year ${ }^{\circ}$ rie.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Ashford District

About twenty visitors were present for the service and tea at Cheriton on July 18 th . Unfortunately the meeting coincided with the Hythe and Lympne outings, and these towers sent their apologies, as did Mr. B. Marks of Brabourne.

The service was conducted by the Rector. (the Rev. C. Munt). Mr. W. Chandler, choirmaster and hon. secretary of the Cheriton ringers, was at the organ. and the choir was in attendance. The Rector, who is himself a change-ringer. gave an interesting address rea was afterwards enjoyed at the Church School. served by the ladies of the Cheriton ringers.
At the business meeting it was reported that uork was to start on rehanging the bells at Pluckley about the middle of August. Ringing at Brabourne has finally had to stop until a major restoration can be undertaken. A new frame is needed, which, it is hoped, will make provision for eight bells. This thinly populated parish has already raised $£ 4,000$ for the restoration of the church, and is now faced with this further heavy expense of $£ 2,000$. Brabourne has eight enthusiastic learners. recruited by Mr. Marks (who is also organising the Bells Appeal Fund). In the meantime they are continuing to practis at Stowting. They ranz every Sunday until the ban was imposed. The historic bills of Mersham will probably be taken to the foundry at the end of the year. The report on the tower at Ashford has been received. but it is not yet clear whether or not the ring will be augmented to ten.
Eight new members, three adults and five juniors, were elected to the Association. Mr Alan Berry. the Ringing Master. voiced the thanks of the visitors to the Rector, to the organist and the choir and to Mr. A. East mad. captain of Cheriton ringers, and his helpers for making all the arrangements.
Some useful practice continued for about an hour on the light eight. The old tower, spiendidly situated, and with its Saxon window and doorway, has been much improved by its new ringing floor. Ringing continued until ahout 9 oclock at St. Nicholas'. Newington where the ringers were joined by visitors from Chelsfield. Greenwich and South Wales

A LAYMAN ON A BELLRINGERS' OUTING

$\mathbf{I}^{\text {F }}$F you are not doing anything on June 27th care to come on the ringers' outing? My son casually put the question across the table one morning some months ago. "And do you think you could do a piece for "' The Ringing World," you know, the layman's point of view? I thought for a moment what I would have in common with the number of lusty (vigorous and healthy connotation) young lads and lasses who make up the band at St. Mary's of Beddington. Ale! It has been my experience that wherever there is a church so there would be a pub. I have often wondered which was there first, a church or a pub. While the ringers sampled the bells, I could sample the local brews - an arrangement which should bring pleasure to all concerned.

Altnough not being a ringer I am not entirely ignorant of the profession. I know that Grandsire is pronounced to sound like Grantser, that a touch is not an attempt to borrow half-acrown. that a spliced double is not a mixture of spirits, that a canon, besides being a Church dignitary, is also a part of a bell and that if one wishes to upset a ringer call him a campanologist.

And so on June $27 \mathrm{th}, 35$ ringers and nonringers set out for the Ithames Valley. It was sucn a day which old and middle-aged talk about nostalgically when discussing their youth. Warm. clear-skicd, peaceful, apart from the hundreds of maniacs hurtling along the roads at breakneck speed. Past Kempton Park, of unhappy memory (never did any good there), we left the main roads and twisted and turned through the lovely quiet lanes of Berkshire. lanes green and hedges high. through gaps in which one could see the rolling. wooded hills stretching towards the horizon. Past the White Hart at Sonning, the sight of which made me lick my lips-this coach-riding was thirsty work $\rightarrow$ to Shiplake. the square tower peeping over the tree-tops, which at that time were wreathed with mist.

The coach stopped outside the PIowden Arms (not yet open). Alighting. we crossed the yuiet country road. along a tree-tunnelled lane, where diminutive. rriangular flags were being draped in preparation for the afternoon's fete. past a board which informed us that Tennyson was married at the church and that the church was at least 12 th century, to a spot where time appeared to have stood still for at least a couple of hundred years. My brochure informed me that the tower has 8 bells ( 9 cwt. tenor), but for me the joy of the church was a really heautiful memorial in the form of a clock set on the west wall of the building. facing the pulpit.

Coming out of the church I happened to glance over the hedge and thought for the moment the standing figure was of a lady wearing one of the new topless dresses. Being thoth short-sighted and embarrassed I nudged my companion, who reassured me it was a piece of classical statuary in a garden. I immediately repaired to the Plowden Arms for a little something to assist my recovery from what had been quite a shock. Sitting outside the bar on a wooden bench. My back against the wall, a pint of good ale. drawn from the wood, in my fist, the sun blazing down and the sweet sound of the bells one felt that the England of our ancestors had not entirely vanished in the fumes of diesel. petrol and burning rubber and the cacophony of juke boxes and portable wireless sets.
And se to Dorchester. Topping a hill, across the green flat fields one saw again a square. stone cower topped by a gaily waving crossed flag of Sr. George. Sweeping round the hend in the road at theh entrance to Dorchester, passing on the right the ancient-looking Fleur de Lys, a coaching inn, and stopping outside another charming white-faced hostelry, the White Hart, we alighted and walked back over the pavement of rounded stones-in modern thin shoes. most uncomfortable to traverse. Through a most imposing entrance to the church, with the museum on the left, one enters the grand old Abbey. as it once was. For me at least it was all rather spoilt because of the bustle of preparing the church for a concert. I was invited to see the ringing room, and large and important it was. Continuing up the narrow, twisting. steep stone stairs (with visions of becoming jammed and spending the rest of my life stuck on the stairs) I rather reciklessly entered the bell chamber. I now know just how the poor unfortunate in Dorothy Sayers" "The Nine Tailors' must have suffered. There they were -a nest of bells, brazen ihroated and iron tongued-the large ( 16 cwt .) bossman in the middle. surrounded by his ever-decreasing satellites, turning over and over, roaring and bellowing their message over the surrounding countryside. To assist my eardrums to recover. I adjourned to the hotel across the road to imbibe in the quiet of the bar beer from a pewter pot. Whether it was the bells or the warmith of the day the ale tasted superb.

After the excellent lunch, on 20 miles to Bampton ( 8 bells, with a 25 cwt. tenor). With its extraordinarily high needle-like spire, the church set on a rising mound appeared not only a fortress against evil but against marauding bands of raiders of long ago. The stonewalled houses with their slate roofs flanking the wide roads seemed to have stood tirere for ever. Where the inhabitants were I do not know. but the place appeared to be deserted, even the roads were so empty that I could stand in the middle of the main road and take photographs without having to make frantic leaps sideways to avoid traffic-there just wasn't any. If anyone is seeking employment, not particularly highly paid but obviously leisurely. Bampton is seeking a clerk to the council-£60 p.a.. plus a further $£ 20$ for looking after the Graves Register.
On a further 15 miles to ancient Abingdon. Another tall spired church set beside the river (10 bells this time, with a 20 cwt . tenor). To describe adequately the treasures of Abingdon Church would take up much more space than I am likely to be allotted-the old chained Bible, a rare Breeches Bible (I know of another at Rye), the velvet covered pews for the Mayor and other civic dignitaries. A pause beside the river-to see a large carp flirting with the bait of an outraged angler and the excitement when he thought he had a 'good 'un' only to find he had hooked into a large sunken tree.. Tea in the High Street and on another 20 miles to Reading ( 8 bells and a $25 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. tenorl. The church being locked I was forced to make a tour of some of the local inns, and I can only hope that the church was more impressive than Reading's pubs. The paper seller outside the church was not. - fear. cither a ringer or a lover of bells. After having difficulty in hearing which paper I required and giving me the correct change from a sixpence he grunted something about "bloody row every Saturday night,' and looked as if I were responsible.

And so along the darkening roads. with one further stop to perm the thirsty ringers to remove some of the dust of Reading Church from their throats. we made our way back to Beddington. tired but happy and satisfied ringers, and at least one not tired but very happy. satisfied non-ringer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR A Gentleman Ringer

Dear Sir,-Mr. Wratten's article recalls several names which were well-known to the Shepherd family of Exeter in the early years of the Devon Guild, and Mr. G. H. Phillott was no stranger to the county. At 39 he was a member of the Central Council (1891) and the names of Troyte, Ellaçombe. Field. Houn slow and Rev. F. E. Robinson were also associated with change ringing in Devon.
Regarding Ellacombe's chiming apparatus I prefer to remember him best for his wonderful work as a West Country historian.
Canon Cattley is a new name to me, but it is news that he was largely responsible fo Worcester Cathedral having a ring of 12 , and also plocuring a 62 cwt . tenor for St. Paul's Cathedral. Taylors cast a peal of 13 for Wor cester in 1876 and the ring was designed by Lord Grimthorpe. who had a wide influence for big bells. including St. Paul's Cathedral in 1878. The tenor is inscribed Presented by The Corporation of the City of London '; in fact all the 12 were presentations or gifts.-Yours sincerely.

Peals withdrawn

Dear Sir--I wish to withdraw the following peals conducted by myself. the composition of which is false and offer my sincere apotocies to all who took part.
The peal is 5,008 Plain Boh Major. atti: buted to the late Mr. G. Hughes, of Wednesbury, and this was rung at: Broseley (Hereford Guild). June 24th. 1961: Eardisland (Staffs Society), November 26th, 1962; and Brewood Society), November 26th, 1962: and (Stafts Society). October 5th. 1963.

The figures were given to:me with the inseription: This is an excellent peal and contains some good music, I have called it several times. I regret to say I have done the same. -Yours faithfully,

BARNABAS C. KEY.

HANDBELL ARCH AT RAVING RINGERS' WEDDING

On July 4th (Independence Day) Mr. Anthony L. Mann and Miss Heather Oakley were married at St. John's Church, Aldenham, Herts. In the morning a peal of Plain Bob Major was rung at Bushey by fellow members of the Society of Raving Ringers.

The bride wore a full-length dress of white brocade and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony, while the couple were heing photographed beneath an archway of handbells, il cascade of rose petals descended on them from the lowes.

The reception was held in the Memorial Hall. Letchmore Heath. The couple afterwards left for Northern Ireland, where Tony has been posted by the Air Ministry Police.

In the evening the Ravers joined three members of the local band in a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Aldenham. H . O.

HANDBELL RECITAL AT CATHEDRAL

The Launton Handbel! Ringers gave a recital to the Friends of Hereford Cathedral on July 4th in the nave of the Cathedral. The music included items by classical and modern composers, mediæval, foreign and traditional English carols.
Seventy-six handbells were used in the recital. They form part of the collection of 207 hells which Mr. F. Sharpe has acquired in an effort to include examples of the work of all known English belifounders from the time of Charles II until the present day. All the bells have been tuned and fitted with leatherwork by him and are in first-class order. Examples of the work of seven founders are required to complete the collection.
The ringers were first entettained to Junch by the Dean of Hereford (the Very Rev. R. P. Price) and afterwards attended Festal Evensong. Mr. Frederick Sharpe then gave a lecture and the company of over 500 were present at tea in the Bishop's palace garders. The recital followed.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Western District was held at Collingham on June 20th.
The business meeting was held in the church. This probably accounted for the subdued behaviour of those present and the speed at which the business was conducted. Before the election of officers took place it was leamed with regret that Mr. T. W. Strangeway wished to resign from the General Committee. The vice-president. Mr. W. Barton, spoke warmly of the many years' active and faithful servize he had given to the Association.

COWBRIDGE SCHOOL RINGERS AT WHITECHAPEL

On July 7th Mr. 1: Davies took ten of the school's belliringers on a trip to London to visit the famous bell foundry of Mears and Stainhank at Whitechapel. At 8.30 we all piled into Mr. D.'s van and commenced our journey to Cardiff, where we arrived at the station sately.
On the journey in the train the back six of our 12 handbells appeared and a course of Plain Bob Minor ensued. While standing in the corridor Mr. D. heard two ladies remarks; about our ringing. One said: ' Doesn't that sound lovely!' while the other said: 'Coo! Get away from this lot!' and proceeded to do so. During à sourse of Cambridge . Evs. let out a cry of Hi ! I'm trsing to get a snap at lead! to which remark Gareth Jones replied: You haven't got a chance." Which was the truth.
After a satisfying lunch we made our wasy to Whitechapel. At 2.15 we entered the foundry and a very enjoyable tour followed. We saw most of the aspects of bell founding ex. cept the bell being actually cast. We went to the handhell shon and saw the way Mears finish their handbells. 'Ken' then played 'Hyfrydol., an old Welsh tune, on the back six of 16 bells for Cape Town Cathedral. W the delight and amazement of our guide.
We returned to the station after visiting St. Paul's, and caught the 7 n.m. train to Cardift After fish and chips at Canton we crept into school at about 11.15 thus ending an enjoyable day.

OUTINGS

LUTON, BEDS

The annual outing of the Luton Parish Church ringers look place on July 4 th, when they visited Lichfield. Walsall. Wolverhampton and Reduitch.
After a stop for coffee en route, Lichtield Cathedral was reached in good tumi., and the fine ring of ten much enjoyed, as were the architectural features of this venerable pile.

An excellent lunch was followed by the short, run to Walsall where an enjoyable hour was spent on the easy-going iwelve at St. Matthew's. The nohle Parish Church of St. Peter. Wolverhampton, has a fine ring of twelve, and a very pleasant hour was spent here- What a pity that, through lack of ringers, these bells are seldom heard! One hopes that soon those residents of Wolverhampton who possess ringing potential will wander into the belfry!
Approaching Redditch the scenery became very attractive, though the roads became narrower and narrower, retarding our progress, but allowing more time to admire the view! After a pull on the light eight at St. Stephen's, full justice was done to a most adequate tea, and the homeward journey. through Stratford-on-Avon and Banbury was quite delightful, on this pleasant summer evening.
It was a great privilege. and one that was much appreciated, to ring at all these interesting places, and the grateful thanks of all are accorded to the Dean of L'chfield and the incumbents of Walsall. Wolverhampton and Redditch. and to the local ringers who were so kind. May I say, 'So nice to meet you!' from all of us.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Barnsley and District Society made a 7 a.m. start for their annual outing on July 25 th so as to reach St. Andrew's. Kildwick by 9.30 . A memory of this eight-bell tower is the gravestone in the churchyard representing an organ. At Skipton we had the privilege of ringing for a wedding, and some of it was very delightful. Julia will remember Skinton, not only for the lunch at the Midland Hotel, but where she lost the sole of her shoe! Providentially, one of the ladies had brought along two pairs and all was well.
A hymn tune was reing rung by a ringer as we climbed the steps of St. Andrew's Church, Gargrave (8). Our third St. Andrew's tower of the day was Aysgarth ( 6 ). where we had good ringing and visited the falls. High tea was waiting for us at the Blue Lion, Witton. and afterwards we found the six bells at St. John's Church a little tricky. Opportunity was taken by some of the party to see Jervaulx Abbey.
Happy memories remain of this well-organised outing by Mr. Christopher Moxon, and of the skilful driving of Mr. Eric Stainrod. Incumbents and those who met us are thanked.

EASTBOLRNE, SUSSEX

Leaving Eastbourne on the traditional second Saturday in July. St. Mary's ringers. with some friends and neighbours. 3et out for a quick tour of Kent. The coach was soon weaving along the smugglers roads to Lydd. and on this excellent octave the best performances of the day took place - Double Norwich and Grandsire Triples. From Lvdd we counted the Martello towers to Folkestone. Where a heavier eight with newish ropes demanded more attention. and we added Kent and Stedman to our repertoire.

After lunch at Ramsgate. the unorthodox entrance to St. Laurence's tower caused some comment. Cambridge and Grandsire Caters came round, but Little and Plain Bob Spliced failed before moving on to Faversham. Here St. Clement's Major and Bob Major were included.

The final tower was Marden. where the tiring band rang more Grandsire, Plain Bob and Double Norwich. On the way home we fought paper battles. stole Jane's shoes, named a new method for three bells Spong Sorrowand decided NOT to submit it for publication. The day's achievements also included Paul's first and second touches of Bob Major, and Harold's discovery that a certain bell was very deep set. due to the slider being in the next pis.

IITTLE ASTON, WARWICKSHIRE

Celebrations were not only being held throughout America on July 4th. I ittle Aston. too. Was aroused from slumber in she early hours of the morning as local ringers and friends piled languidly into the coach, whicl: was waiting to take them on the annual out-ing-this year to the Wye Valley. Welcome additions to the party came from the Cannock and Lichfield bands..

The prospects of a day's good ringing and fine. sunny weather lay before us as we set out tor the first of the seven churches, Ombersley, After a ring on the 16 cwh. six, we moved on to Ledbury and spent a most enjoyable hour ringing the very pleasant eight there 10 a variety of touches including a half course of Cambridge Major. Then, after a coffee break. there followed a long drive through delightful countryside to Symond's Yat, a beautiful corner of Herefordshire on a bend in the River Wye. An unexpected opportunity of having our packed lunches while "cruising down the river' was seized without delay The boatman. however, despite enthusiastic requests, disappointed some by refusing to shoot the 200 ft . long rapids-a drop of a mere eight feet.

During the afternoon ringing took place at Longhope Church and Norton, and from here we went into Tewkesbury for high tea. Afterwards we took the opportunity to look around the Abbey and admire its floral decorations.
On our homeward route we stopped at Dumbleton (a pleasant ring of six), where a touch of Six Spliced Surprise Minor was accomplished without undue difficutty. The last towet of the day contained the eight at Norton, Evesham. where, after touches of Siedman and Little Bob, a respectable course of Yorkshire completed the day's ringing.

Despite the earlier misgiviniss of our organiser. Kay Moore, all concerned agreed that it was a most successful outing. Thanks must be given to those who made the arrangements. and to the incumients and ringers of the churches visited.

OUTINGS

ALDRINGTON, SUSSEK

With perfect weather on June 27 th, we welcomed ringers and friends from several local towers on our annual outing. Arriving a little late at the first tower; we enjoyed our ring at St Mary's, Staines, and ate our refreshments. At Bray we admired the beautifully decorated church and splendid panoramic view from the top of the tower. Lunch was at Maidenhead followed by ringing at Twysord and then Wargrave. where a course of Cambridge Major was attempied; meanwhile several of our visitors became engrossed in looking for the tomb of Madame Tussaud, but were unsuccessful.

We found Henley preparing for the beginning of the Royal Regatta and enjoyed the tone of the bells. After a splendid tea at Bagshot we made our way to Pirbright; unforsunately we were late owing to flower purchasing! As we are used to 6 bell ringing the behs were not 100 bad and we managed a course of Kent Minor and touches of Siedman Doubles.

We wish to thank two of our honorary members. Pam and Diana Gough, from Guildford, for kindly inviting us to have refreshments in their garden. After this pleasant climax we arrived at Aldrington at $10.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Our thanks go to the incumbents and the ladies of the band for organising the refreshments.
S.G.R.

LYMPNE OLTING

Lympne bellringers made up a party of 27 for their annual outing on July 18th which included friends from Burmarsh and Foikestone and rang in seven towers in that delightful area to the east of of Canterbury.

Ringing at the heautiful old churches of Bekesbourne and Sturry was followed by al picnic lunch on the banks of the Stour during which the company were entertained by handbell ringing by Folkestone's Richard Hough, his sisters and friends who came drifting down the river in a boat.

Those charming villages (and churches), Wickhambreux and Littlebourne, were visited followed by the stately towers of Wingham and Ash where some excellent touches of and Ash where some excellent touches of Grandsire Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung.

Finally to the seemingly remote and pleasant church at Goodnestone and so home.
At each tower except Ash where time pressed. louches in various methods were rung by the ladies in the party.

Thanks are due to the incumbents and ringers at the lowers visited for their hospitality which helped to make the outing so enjoyable.

ELSTOW, BEDS

On June 27th the Elstow ringers, with friends from other Bedfordshire towers, spent a happy day in the Surrey area

St. Margaret's, Uxbridge (an excellent eight), whetted our appetites for things 10 come, and it is surely an indication of true British fortitude to say that Stanwell failed to damp the enthusiasri of the party, thotigh the bells here were generally vote-hm!I forget what I was going to say!

After an excellent lunch we entered Surrey and the very fine six at Ottershaw were considered a ringer's dream-after the Vicar had been persuaded to leave his sylvan retreat and let us in.

Some enjoyable ringing took place at Chobham and Old Woking. A little difficulty uas experienced in finding St. Mary's, Send, but the pleasure of a pult on the fine ring of six and the joy of lingering awhile in this charming and peaceful spot were well worth the effort. Horsell (another good six) was the conclusion of the day's ringing, which ranged from rounds to London Surprise, and the journey home was broken for the usual convivial half-hour.

Sincere thanks to our hosts in Middlesex and Surrey, and to our organiser. M'ss M. Pettitt.

Central Council of Church Bell Ringers

Hon. Secretary and. Trbasurer: E. A. Bannett, 26, Iron Mill Lane, Crayford, Kent. Telephone: Crayford 24982.
Hon. Librarian: F. W. Pbrrens, 68, Warwick Avenue, Coventry.

Editorial Committee:
R. S. Anderson (convener), 76, Dimsdale View, Porthill, Newcastle, Stafis.
Frank I. Hairs,
J. Frank Smali.wood,
W. G. Wilson.

Editor: T. W. White.

According to "The Irish Bell New;, Derek Jones is taking a peal ringing band to Northern Ireland at the beginning of August; Robert Smith a band of long-lengthers to Dublin for a week-end's peal ringing at the end of September: the University of Wales Society visit Southern Ireland at the beginning of October.
The memorial tablet to Mr. Albert Walker, in St. Martin's ringing room, will be unveiled by Canon Bryan Green immediately prior to the 11 a.m. Matins, on Sunday, August 9th, ringing from $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.
The peal at Exhall-by-Coventry on July 20th was arranged to enable the Rev. M. C. C. Melville and Mr. Arthur Rowley to ring a peal together there after a lapse of oves 30 years. It was at Exhall where Mr. Melville lived as a boy, and learnt to handle a bell.

On two consecutive Tuesdays at Lowdham, Notts, a well-known lady broke the stay on the same bell when she missed the sally during peal attempts. Unfortunately both attempts were well over half way. G.A.D. inquires if this is a record?
Mrs. Beatrice Morris writes fully endorsing the request for information concerning the proposed memorial window at St. Margaret's, Leicester. to the late Mr. Ernest Morris.
Fancy being dead 2 years and 4 months and nothing done-not even a memorial peal on April 28th-well only one.' She also deplores the indifferent service ringing on Sunday evenings (only three or four bells) and regrets that with all the talent in Leicester recruits are not being taught at St. Margaret's.

The band who rang the peal at Si. Neots, Hunts, on July 18 th would like to associate John Gipson and Harold Peacock with it. They were both in a previous atiempt on June 20th which came 10 an abrupt end when the 7 th bearings completely dried up with ahout an hour to go. The conductor and the rest of the band also wish to thank Joe, Chamberlain and George Bonham for their hard work in cleaning and oiling the bearings. Whict made this attempt possible.

In answer to Mr. W. L. C. (Bill) Barlow's query as to other members of the band taught by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher in 1930 at Enfield. Mr. George B. Collins of Colchester, writes as one of the band to say that he is still ringing, his name appearing intermittently in the peal columns. He has been in hospital for some months but expects to be active again soon. As a tailpiece he adds: Does 32 years to ring one's first 50 peals qualify as a record for slowness?'
Another member of this band is Mrs. E M. Bagworth (nee Greenall), who has never left off ringing and frequently participates at St. Clement Danes', St. Margaret's, Westminster. and elsewhere as available.
The hospitality of the newly-inducted Vicar of Surfeet, the Rev. D. F. Button, and Mrs. Button after the peal of welcome on July 13th was much appreciated. Surfleet has had a great ringing parson in the past who unhesitatingly laid down the law when the occasion demanded.

Caps. Marybelle Nissly, a member of the U.S.A.F. stationed near Huntingdon, and already well known to many ringers in this country, attempted and was successful in ringing her first quarter peal at All Saints', Huntingdon on July 12 th as reported in our last issue. The conductor. Mr. H. S. Peacock. who first introduced Marybelle to tower bell ringing, was very pleased at the performance. and looks forward to the ringing of more quarter peals, and then a peal.

Eight girls of St. Elphin's C. of E. Public School for Girls. Darley Dale. Derbyshire, rang the bells of Bakewell Parish Church for their annual service for scholars and parents their annuat service for scholars and parents on July 18 th . The girls had been trained to ring at St. Helen's. Darley Dale, and had assisted in the Sunday service ringing there during terms. Only rounds were rung at Bakewell, but several of them can ring Pla!n Bob on handbells as the girls come from all parts of the country We hope they will continue to ring at their own churches; many of them are daughters of clergymen.

MEARS & STAINBANK, BISHOPSGATE 2599.

beTJEMAN-A Poet of Ecclesiology

and in ' Bristol'
Ringers in an oil-lit belfry-Bitton? Kelston? who shall say?
Smoothly practising a plain course, caverned out the dying day
As their melancholy music flooded up and ebbed away.
By the tall embattled church-towers of the Bristol waterside.
And an undersong to branches dripping into pools and wells
Out of the multitudes of elm trees over leagues of hills and dells
Was the mathematical pattern of a plain course on the bells.
It is apparent that John Betjeman can be more aptly described as 'a poet of ecclesiology ' and it is appropiate that the Central Council of Church Bellringers is approach ing him to become an Honorary Member of that body-a branch of ecclesiology in which I am sure he will be pleased to share and has unwittingly shared, as for example

MR. CLAUDE RUSH DELVES INTO 'CHURCH BELLS' Vol. XI, Advent, 1880 - Advent, 1881

ST. PAULS CATHEDRAL. LONDON The bells will be rung on the following days throughout 1881 :- January 1. New Year's Day: January 25, Dedication Festival: April 17, Easter: May 24, Queen s Birthday: May 26. Ascension: June 5. Whitsun: June 20. Queen's Accession: November 1. All Saints Day: November 9. Lord Mayor's Day; December 24. Christmas Eve: December 25. Christmas Day; December 31. New Year's Eve.

Eleven Tuesday eveninss are listed for practice.

Latel. - The Dean and Chapter have decided to have the grand ring of 12 rung every Sunday before Divine Service in the morning and afternoon to commence on Easter Sunday.

Looker-on in India, writing from Calcutta, expresses the view that there should be a new hour bell at St. Paul's- It should be E flat below the present tenor. If it had two wheels. it could be raised and would then give such a sound as has sarely been heard. I need hardly say that it should be offered for competition the world and the best bell should be chosen.
In March. 1881. Canon Robert Gregory, treasurer to the Dean and Chapter, wrote: - The Dean and Chapter are anxious to obtain 2 large Bourdon bell. Many City Companies have generously responded to our appeal. Owing to the very low price of bell metal we can secure a good bell, but not quite so good a one as we desire, for the money we have or have had promised. If we had $£ 600$ more we helieve that St. Paul's would have the finest hell in England. We have determined to delay sending the order for a short time in the hope that some citizens of London or some of the Corporations which have not yet contributed will be tions which have not yet contributed will be moved with a public-spirit determination that Si. Paul's shall have the finest ben in England.
We are now being perpetually urged to ring our bells more frequently. while no complaints reach us of any being annoyed hy them. Before they were hung we continually heard of the fears of those living in our immediate neighhourhood.

ST. ANDREWS. WELLS STREET.

- This new ring of 8 hells has been presented to the church by a mother in memory of a beloved daughter. They have been cast by Mr. T. C. Lewis, of Shepherd's Lane, Brixton. and are what is called amone bellfounders "a Maiden Peal." none of the thells having required any kind of tuning since they left the moulds. The whole ring weighs 76 cwi . The weight of the tenor is 21 cwt . its note is E. flat. Given by Susanna Imbert. Terry in memory of Antoinettac Catherinae Imbert-Terry, died 1878. aged 18. Didicated by a solemn service after Evensong on Si. Andrew's Eve. 1880.

Tubal Cain: asked in the next issue of Church Bells - A maiden ring of eight bells is a wonderful turn-out from a bellfoundry. Will Mr. Lewis tell us how manv of the castings failed before he obtained correct eight virgin hells? later A Another Tuhal Cain wrote. Everyone connected with "Church Bells" has learned to "ring in the irue" in connection with all reports of skill and practices. and would be very glad to see an answer by Mr. Lewis to the query lately but by "Tuba! Cain . to the repori of his doings as a bellfounder. knowing fim to be clever at organs and architecture. How many bells did he make or have made. so as to pick out his octave of maidens: and how many maidens hearts has he broken. or has he in stock with useless inscriptions for other places or suitors. resulting from his selection? Will he answer?
Then. later. Ed. Matthews, of Macclesfield. wrote. 'I see from the tone of one or two of your correspondents that they seem io douht the existence of a " maiden " ring of bells. Without entering into the controversy as to how such a ring is got out, I will just state that we had a maiden ring of ten bells. case in 1777 by Rudhall, in the tower of Chfist Church here; seven of which are now in the tower, the other three-the 1st. 2nd and 9 th-being given in exchange for the present seventh in place of the then rih which got broke in 1815. I see no reply by or .on behalf of Mr Lewis.-C.R.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION

The Church of St. Lawrence, Cucklington. with its six bells rung from the porch and extensive views of Somerset and Dorset to be seen from the churchyard, was chosen for the summer quarterly meeting of the Cary Branch on July 25th. Members were joined by ringers from the Salisbury Guild and visitors from Bedford and Newhury.
The service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. R. G. Harewood, the organist was Rev. G. S. Robinson (Branch chairman), and the lesson was read by Preb. O. H. Skipwith (vice-chairman).
After tea. in the Village Hall. those present stood irs silence in memory of Rev . W. M. K. Warren, a former Master of the Association.

The chairman presented Association certificates to eight members from Cucklington, two from Bruton and two from Castle Cary.
Plans for the Branch outing were announce

HIGH FINANCE

0NLY two classes of people. said the Professor cryptically, "ever made money out of bellringing: bellhangers and insurance companies; and of these only the former ever made enough to extract a living!’

We were talking about various aspects of ringing when the subject of payment came up. The Professor had, apparently, fairly strong views on the matter. Not that this was. in itself, surprising; his views about anything are usually fairly strong.

- Nobody should expect payment for the privilege of ringing church bells, whether the ringing be done for divine service or for non-secular purposes. In the days when people were desperately poor and the Church was comparatively rich there may have been some justification for the practice, but now the position is in many cases reversed. How often does the ringer come to church in his car while the P.C.C. struggles (like the sausage manufacturer) to make both ends meet ?'
'I remember,' I said reminiscently, 'how as a youth I used to look forward to the half-yearly payments of 10 or 15 shillings which. at that time, was equal to a month or six weeks' pocket money. I used to share it with my mother and no doubt it was a welcome addition to the family budget. The ringers had devised a system of fines for non-attendance with the surplus returned to the "kitty" for a further share-out. but I was seldom penalised. I am horrified in retrospect to think that the band at one time threatened to "strike" because an absent-minded parochial treasurer didn't produce a cheque at the appointed time!'
'In the past." said the Professor. 'when money was scarce. payment of ringers led to some rather doubtful. if not pernicious. practices. I was talking to an old ringer not long ago who told me that when he was learning to ring it was customary to demand that before a ringer was admitted as a member of the team he had to ring. unassisted, a 720 on an "inside" bell. The old hands. well aware that another full-time member meant a reduction in their income, took good care that their number did not grow to an inordinate size. Of course, the young aspirant was given his opportunity but it was surprising how generous everyone could be with his advice if the learner made the slightest hesitation or evinced the least sign of uncertainty.
' On the other hand if, with confidence and aplomb, he marched ahead until the end was in sight, some catastrophe seemed unaccountably to overtake the venture. The conductor would miss the last "Bob" or the oldest and safest member of the band would get lost doing a sevenpull dodge in the last lead but one, something that had not happened before in living memory. So it was that a ringer would often have to wait several years for his full membership and was then promoted often only after one of the older members had died, or left the district. or both!'
'But surely.' I said, bringing him back to his original statements, "if organistṣ and choristers receive remuneration then ringers should be given similar treatment?'

Not necessarily. The organist in larger churches and cathedrals is, in any case, a professional musician. Often he is also the choirmaster and is in charge of the choral scholars or the choir school, and his connection with the church can be regarded as part of his normal work or at least an extension of it. With the organist of the smaller or village church this is not so, but it must still be remembered that behind him are often years of training for which he has had to pay. With most younger organists the "salary" is used to assist in paying for further studies or for purchasing musical scores.'

But the choir.' 1 argued. 'is more or less on the same footing as the ringers and they,' I concluded triumphantly, "have their choir trip?'
' Well.' admitted the Professor, ' there is a closer parallel here. Nevertheless, many choristers give their services voluntarily and often the money for choir trips is raised by their giving concerts or through similar efforts. All this however. doesn't affect my original arguments. It should be a matter of personal integrity or conscience that money is not accepted for ringing!
' What about weddings?' I demanded with some asperity. 'Surely these should be regarded as one of the legitimate perquisites of ringing ?

- Could be! Although I maintain that at least some of the money should find its way into the parochal coffers. Of course ringers should be reimbursed for loss of wages or great inconvenience, but in some towers. I know. the money thus raised is put into a fund in order to defray the cost of outings or subscriptions to ringing societies, or is allowed to accumulate to bear the cost of new ropes or the redecoration of the ringing chamber. This I think is making better use of the money than simply putting it into the ringers' pockets.'

We argued for a long time. but I came home far from convinced. What is your opinion? H. C.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY'S SUMMER TOUR

THIS year's summer tour of the Society was organised from l.ondon mainly by ndergraduate members and took place in the first week of July. To lessen the cost, many people camned or staved in youth hostels. and transport was by car
Our ringing during the week was generally of a higher standard than we achieve in London: the explanation for this is quite beyond me. Ringing at eight-bell towers usually tollowed the pattern of rounds, Grandsire. Siedman. Yorkshire with London, Bristol or Rut land and Spliced Surprise Major. We also attempted Spliced Surprise Minor.
The tour commenced. one hour late, on Saturday. July 4th, at Bridgnorth. We rang first at St. Mary's, where the Vicar seemed a trife unsel or the ease with which we found the well-hidden belfry key. As the week went on. indeed. we became quite adent at key finding. a field of endeavour in which I feel we showed more enterprive than members of a certain other University Society. After lunch we continued ringing further alone Bridgnorth's main street. first on handhells outside St. Leonard's and then on the eight bells in the tower.
Then through the zountryside. pausing onlv for ice cream the first of many such pauses) to Bewdev. Here we found that a thoughtrul local council had provided road signs. swaying in time with the hells, iust outside the church. The last tower of the day was Cleohury Mortimer (a fine Rudha'l six). There folfowed a desperate search for an elusive camp site and an even more elusive youth hostel, where we arrived by car ten minutes after it c!osed. nerhaps the crisps in the sleeping bag which I hired were the warden's revenge.

LATE ARRIVALS

On the follow ne day. Sunday, nur numbers were further jugmented bv the long-awaited arrival of Flizaheth Birmingham. Tim Pett and Jeremy Salter. Their explanation of their lateness was that Tim"; car deciding that it did not like the look of a hill, had stonped at the foat of it and cefused to budge, so that the uniorlunate occupants were forced to spend the night in a field tluckily ther had tents with them). After this the week was punctuated by encoubters with Tim's car stopped in some country lane.

Ringing activities that day began with the heavy eight at Ludlow, which we rang for morning service. The remainder of tire day was spent on the Welsh border. At Leintwardine we had an aobreciative audience of three little girls. who stood in a garden near the church and clapped continuously. We then went on to the nice eight at New Rad nor and finished a day of eights with some quite good ringing for Evensong at Clun.

DEFEATED AT WORCESTER

Monday's ringing began with two sixes. Clif-ton-on-Terme and the heavy six at Powick. Personally. I was quite satisfied with just one ring on these bells but perhaps they were ir.tended as a practice for what was to come next. There can be no doubt that Worcester Cathedral boasts heautiful hells. but I am afraid that we failed to do them justice. though in all fairness 1 must add that they have defeated many who have come before us. Attempt: were made at Grandsire Cinques and Cambridge Royal, but the only satisfactory ringing was achieved in rounds.

We continued an interesting day's ringing at the renowned Pershore Abbey. which we found most disappointing-we were not at all scared! However. we were sorely tempied to drop dennies in the font from the ringing platform lor perhaps cage would be a heiter word). Our day ended with the ten at All Saints" Worcester

On Tuesday morning an attemot was made in ring a peal of Yorkshire Maior at Presleime but this : fired out after one and a half hours ringing. during which we never seemed to setlle into a rhythm. Meanuhile hack at $K$ ington the remainder of ous company, having riag on the siz bells there. were gorging themselves on large quantities of food while the "peal" hand had to he satistied with or without sandwiches and darts.

IN SEMI-DARKNESS
After lunch we rang at Pembridge, where the five bells are housed in a detached tower. which is a roughly conical structure reminis cent of a dovecote. Unfortunately the elec tricity had been turned off at the mains and we had to pick our way in semi-darkness between the beams searching for rones. Havine found them we rang rounds and Doubler methods. including St. Simon's on what turned out to he guite a nice five From Pembridge we went on to the excellent Taylor ring at Eardisland and then to the good ten at Leo minster. where before ringing we were treated to an interesting polted history of this farge church. That evening Mary Taylor arrived and we knew that neace was shattered: in no time peonle were nlaying darts and cating jellied eels. mussels and pickled onions.

On Wednesdav we set out from Ludlow for the last time. Marden was found after many wrong tumings. From there we went to dodge with the beams at Herefo:d Cathedral where we got through a half-course of Camhridge Royal After an afternoon of wandering around the Cathedral and writing postrards we went on to ring on the fine new Taylor six at Chodoik Church (the only chirch of this dedication). From here we went en io Aberguvenny: our centre for the second part of the week. It proved to be a wise choice ds it possessed a good fish and chin shop where we dined everv evening. and also a nub where our constant darts playing was tolerated

IN SOUTH WALES

Thursday was another day of eights. Mary, Pauline and I instified our oresence in a youth hostel hy walking all of three-quarters of a mile to the first tower. Llangattock. where we raised seven of the eight hells (including the 14 ewt. tenorl hefore the arrival of the rest of the compiny Thee industrial low $n$, of South Wales followed: Aherdare, where there are eight nice hells and also a good Chinese restaurant: an excellent erght at Pentre: and then on to Pontvoridd and Bedwellty. a bleak spot on a mountain with a ring of heils which is reputed to be the highest in Wales. ## PUBLICITY FOR LADIES' GUILD ANNUAL WACH year there seems some special feature 1. at our annual general meeting. This year the keynote seemed to be publicity. There were small paragraphs in the national daily papers informing readers we should be meetiog at Macclesfield: there was a reporter wating at the Parish Church to greet us: a photographer from the local press (he never did see eve to eve about the hest nose-should we pretend in ring and so have our faces hidden by ropes and arms, or should we app:ar in our full and arms, or should we app:ar in our full marks of other ringers?): and then the high:light, the representative of the B.BC.. whon recorded our ringing and had an interview with Madam President. Those who were up in time In hear the first edition of "Today" on the following Monday mornine renarted thas nur Part of the programme came ovar well, hut our

DOLBLE NORWICH RECORD

Though little can be added by way of an Umpires Report to what has already been said of the peal of 20,160 Double Norwich Court Bob Maior at Llanfeigan by its conductor. I would like 10 add a few words from the outside.
The weather was periaps ideal for long neal ringing, heing cool. overcast and somewhat breezy with intermittent preciditation.
A number of people came up during the day to listen to the ringing-all of them passing favourable comments on its quality. and most expressing horror at the idea of the band (and me) starving als day. Among the visitars were several ringers from the 3urrounding district, including Jack Pryor from Cardiff (who taught Boh and Frank to ring), Lord Brecon and Boh and Frank to feigan to whom I pwe the Vicar of Llan the-lunchtime sack the gratefu thanks for The Press phoned the nub down the road vert the hours and incuired as to the state of the proceeding, un the hil!.
The old record wis passed at about 5.30 ?.m.-after 9! hours rineing, which continued intil the end of the loth part where the omision of the shunt at six allowed the bel. Io run round at 20.160 ) changes.
It is interesting to note that the arrangement of the composition used on this occasion produced alternative $56^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$ and $65^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$ at the part. ends and this. coupled with the fact that adding such shunts nut one hack in the peal made it very nearly imnossible to shorten save in two places-an indication perhaps of the conductor's intention not to ring a shorter neal? This is unlike the arrankement used for ine 18-, 32- and $40.000^{\circ}$ s of Plain Bob, in which the end could be brought up from any position in a very few courses.

Letters to the Editor

High Hoyland Bells

Dear Sir.-We would like to draw attention to an article which appeared in the Huddersfield Weekly Examiner' of July 4th. The newspaper speaks with reference to the bells of High Hoyland Church, All Hallows', as follows:

The 219-year-old bells, and what to do about them. will be on the agenda at a Clayton West and High Hoyland parish meeting, and will also be considered by the Church Council next month.
The Rector, the Rev. E. A. Crowe, comments: "The bells have been recognised as being dangerous for a long time. but nothing has been done about them. Now some action will have to be taken. but we don't know what to do. The principal alternatives seem to be either to take the bells down or put to be either to take the bewlis to stop the hells falling.

We have been told that it would be more expensive to take down the bells, one of which weighs about a ton.' said Mr. Crowe. 'It would apparently be cheaper to put in the girders, but even this would cost hundreds of pounds.'

On consulting ' Dove's Guide' we find listed: Hoyland. High, W. Yorks, 6, 8 cwt .-Unring able. ${ }^{1}$
Having read the Central Council Truro meeting report, in which advice to churches on bells is mentioned as heing in increased demand. we feel that some advice here would be welcomed. even if only on the removal and disposal of the bells.. Surely the value of the bells 10 some other church, or to the bell founders, would cover the cost of lowering the hells.-Yours faithfully.

PAUL EBSWORTH,
LAURENCE TEBB.

Stravinsky and Bells

Dear Sir--Recently, while browsing through a book. Private lives of the great composers.' I came across this quotation by Igor travinsky
He was driving through London with a friend and stopped the car as he was passing St. Paul's Cathedral while the hells were ringing. He said: This is the only ideal way to make music. A man pulls a rope, and far away at the opposite end a sound is born, entirely independent of the man's doing. Ihe way he pulls does not make any difference to the bells. he cannot make them ring softer, louder, slower, quicker. The music is not his: it belongs to the bells. He pulls the rope and the bells sound forth.

An interesting summary of bells as musical instruments from one of the greatest musicians of the age.-Yours faithfully

A Protest

Lear Sir.-Having just sat outside Cirencester Parish Church and listened to a visiting band ringing. I felt I must protest against tour organisers who plek towers their band cannot organise
It was obvious to me. as 1 iistened. that the visiting band could not handle this tower's bells. The striking was awful the rhythm non existent. Why. why. I axk myself, do people who organise outings let themselves, therr bands and the Exercise down so badly? therr bands and the

'Latchet' Stays

Dear Sir-Mr. N. J. Davies' letter in the issue of July 31 st is worthy of some comment. Mr. Davies will find it unnecessary 10 * substantiate' my 'somewhat paradoxical comment' that the hells at Westweh are 'in good order* hecause I made no such comment. I simply said that the bells were well looked after. which is correct; the belfry is in fact a good deal cleaner than many towers where the bells can still be rung.

I regret the erroi I made about the above lower, and also about the treble bell at St . Alphege. Canterbury. Unfortunately there is no indication at all in the belfry that the treble is an 18th century bell which Goslin adopted. Mr. Davies' comment about the had tone of Goslin's bellis is certainly justrfied. A well-known Canterbury ringer was heard to remark ahout one of his bebls 'It sounds like a cannon going off."

Mr. Davies may not find yet another dead snake in Godmersham belfry but he will find latchet stays (this is the correct term). He will also find them on the now unringathe six at Elmsted, which bott he and I omitted from our lists. At one time there was quite a bit of ringing done at the latter tower. Are there any older ringers who have rung there? -Yours sincerely, DAVID L. CAWLEY.

The London Mospital.
P.S.-I am informed that kichet stays are still fitted in towers where space is confined.-

Eryri Major

Dear Sir-I think Eryri Major is rather a pleasant method, hut as far as I know there is only one composition availahle at present :

I should like 10 ask. through the medium of the R.W:. whether any of our composers can produce some further compositions. Incidentally, having rung the ahove last year. I think an improvement could be made If it is possible to insert more courses like the first two. which are rather musical. and to have only the 4,5 and 6 in sixths.

The optimum qualities of the above would tno doubt be realised by ringing it as initially conducted by the composer in 1935: commencing with the last hob to give only 4. 5 . mencing with the last hob to give on 6 and 3 in sixths.-Yours faithfully.

Holt's Original and an Umpire

Dear Sir.-I was interested in the nonconducted peal of Holt's Original. rung at Harrow Weald on July 16ih last, and it should like :o congratulate the hand.

I am surprised to see the peal puhlished without an "umpire." and assume there is some explanation for this.-Yours sincerely.

Ernest Morris Memorial Window

Dear Sir, -The reason for the long delay in placing the Ernest Morris Memorial Window in St. Margaret's Church. Leicester, is the difficulty in getting a suitable design.
The first design received was rejected hy the Council for the Care of Churches, another design was obtained from the same artist, and the P.C.C. decided to get a second artist also to submit : design in the hope that one or the other would be accepted.

A meeting was hekl a month ago with this artist. who has promised to get to work on it immediately but, as he says, these things do lake time, and agrees with us that the window should be worthy of the man.

The fund now stands at over $£ 400$ from all sources. which we hope and believe will he sufficient for the work.
I will keep ' Ringing World' readers informed on progress and hope they will be as natient as we are trying to be.-Yours sinserely,

GORDON A. OLLIFFE.

Bells of Smethwick Old Church Sold

Dear Sir. - Older ringers of the Black Country will he interested to hear. with mixed feelings. that the bells of Smethwick Old Church were sold, excent for the trehle, towards the end of 1963 . They were cast in 1897 hy Charles Carr of Smethwick. but wete replaced with another ring in 1899.

The inscription on the trehle reads: 'Peal of 8 hells erected to commemorate 60 years' reign of Queen Victoria hy Public Subscription. Let us hope the dear old lady wasn't extravagant.

By a twist of fate the business of Charles Carr has akso been sold, the site being roquired for new development hy the local authority.

Another bell in the tower. cast in 1732 by Joseph Smith of Edebaston, has also been retained.-Youths faithfully,

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Northern Branch

Honingham was the venue for the quarterly mecting of the Northern Branch on July 18th. The service was condacted by the Vicar the Rev. A. Hodgron). who also played the organ.
At the businers meeting the chairman (M). G. Sayer) spoke of the loss of Miss Christine Golden. at the age of 18. who had always heen bright and cheerful and very popular. On hehalf of the meeting he expressed sympathy with her parents and sister Hilary. Mrs. Lofty, of Hethersett, had also passed auay at the age 87: she was the mother of Raymond. and, although not herself a ringer. had always gone out of her wav to make ringers welcome when visiting Hethersett. Members sood in silence as a iribute to their memory. Alan and James Minchcliffe, of Honingham. were elected ringing members
The chairman expressed thanks to the Vicar, to Mr. and Mrs. B. Willgress, the two Mesdames Hinchclific. Mrs. Hohl for arrange ments and serving tea, also to James Hinchclifie for howing the organ.

Ringing was at Mattishall after the meeting.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The July meeting of the St. Albans District was held on a glorious (though not for ringing) day at Kimpton. It was quite a relief to go into the cool church for the service, at which the Vicar, the Rev. K. Martin, gave an inspiring address. Robert Hardy from the Warford District was the organist. Tea was served in the Memorial Hall by the local ringers wives.
the Vicar was in the chair for the business meeting, at which it was agreed to accept the Northern District suggestion that King s Walden and St. Paul's. Walden, be transferred to the St. Albans District, subject to the local ringers approval. C. Hewitt and D Keen. of Harpenden, were elected probationary members, and N. Perrins, of Si. Stephen's Si. Albans, and Anna Mary Johnston. of 4 heathampitead were raised to the status of ringing members
Next meeting: August isth at Welwyn

BALDOCK OUTING

The Baldock ringers and their friends enjoyed a tour of bells in three counties on June 2uth. Despite heavy tratic on the cireat North Koad, Grantham's lovety ien were reacned eariy. 1 hese bells have tone and blend, but some fittle distance away they are almost inauusle. Iate rain fell, but weather improved tater, and we went on to the pleasanc heavy eignt at Bottesford, lunch and zime ior expluration or shopping in Nottingeam before ringing at St. Peters. the otner ten were not avalable because ot a music festival. but we were pieased will these, even if one or two bells were rather odd-struck. Some Iisteners in the croud outside were mosi disappornted that there was no bride to see!
Next was Basford, pronounced Base-ford (a $14 \frac{1}{6}$ CWt. Octave inat sounds much heavier than tiths). Back to tea at the Ashbourne Cate, and then to Radchtle-on-trent. The top ot the tower here is most unuswal, being a thed saddleback. The last tower ot the day was also unusual in its architecture, for ColstonHassett's tower is on the N.E. stae of the chures, and for a comparatively short tower it has quite a complicated route past the chancel, round the organ and up steep stepy to the ringing chamber.
Our thanks to Mr. E. G. Buck for a most successful day's outing, and to those who allowed us to ring.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Dorchester Branch

The summer quarterly merting was held on July 14th. at Wool, where the last meeting was held in 1957. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. F. C. Whitter, and tea, generously given by the churchwardens and P.C.C.. was served in the Villag: Hall by the ladies of the church to a company of 35 members

The meeting was conducted by the Branch Chairman, Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. New members were elected as follows:- R. Pearce. P. Lathan. D Cunard. J. Lloyd (Hilton: Milton Abbey). A. Brown. E. Brown, R. Burr, V. Baker. K. Burt and L. Dodge (Wool).

Branch practices were arranged as follows, subject to confirmetion:-August Eth Chas. minster. August 22nd Maiden Newton, September 5th Lition Cheney. September 19th Frampion.

OUTINGS

M.U.G.S. IN DFRBYSHIRE

At 8.30 a.m. on June 13th, bleary-cyed member, of the Manchester University Guld met for the now annual day's outing after the weather, but the gocs, were to be on our side. After a few navigational errors. All Saints, Glossop. was reached. with eight which needed a hit of triking. We were pleased to be joined in the r.nging by tre Ian Maycock and his fiancee. Ann. and the lazier menbers of the Guild. The local organist. although drowned out, was quite friendly and told us a lot of local history.
Casticton (8). with its multi-coloured sallics. was our next stopping place and a quite disastrous one. In the second touch. one of the girls broke a stay and a second ringer stepping back to avoid the fiying rope knocked a vase of flowers over. Having got this sorted out, ringing recommenced. but within seconds there was another clanging crash. On investigation, we found the tenor clapper had dropped out. Deciding we had wrought enough havoc, we lowered the bells and departed hastily to have some lunch

In the afternoon, we had a break from ringing and the party, except for two who got lost in Castleton. went down the Speedwell Cavern. This is a Hooded lead mine and we had a very interesting tour, transported by hoat which was propelled by a man walking on the roof of the mine. The mine passageways led into a natural cavern which we were told was the deepest accessible cavern in the country. The water going through this cavern went into * the hottomless pit." an underground lake estimated at one sime to be over 500 feet deep.

When we had reaccustomed ourselves to the light of day, we drove to Darley Dale, where a good course of Bristol was rung. We were welcomed at Si. Helen's by the Rector. the Rev. St. John Smith.

The cars now made their way to our last tower, St. Peter's. Fairfield. Huxton. However, before ringing, there was another very important item on the agenda. a Chinese nosh." and 16 hungry ringers packed into "The Mandarin Chinese Restaurant.

Eventually the Guild got itself to St. Peter's and were welcomed by the tower captain and his wife who joined us in some ringing. The highlight here was a touch of six Spliced Surprise which mistakingly went on for twice as long as it should. The journey back to Manchester was broken at. The Cat and Fiddle. a puh situated right on the top of the hills hetween Buxton and Macclesfield

The outing. I think. was one of the most successful the Guild has had It was helped by reasonable weather, marvellous scenery and a fair standard of ringing. I would like 10 thank all incumbents for allowing us to ring.

> D. J B.

COWRRIDGE. GI.AMIORGA.
A party of 25 , of whom 18 were local ringers from town or school. Lelt Cowbridge in a chartered bus on July ilth for a trip to West Wales.
Our first tower was Sketty, Swansea, where the pleasant eight 113 cwt.) went welf to Grandsire Triples. We then proceeded io Carmarthen where, after ant excellent lunch and a further wait of half an hour we were admitted to the tower of St. Peter"s. The somewhat rough eight $\left.$ 15 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cw} 1.\right)$ which ialas) are not rung regularly nowadays, were raised and Trioles was tried with scant success. Howevel. Plain Boh Minor came round on the back six.

The day"s hest ringing came on the delightful vix $111 t$ cwi.) at I.landeilo, where the enormous clock-pendulum in the middle of the ringing circle is not such a hindrance to ropesight as one might think. Grandsire. Stedman. Plain Boh Doutles and Plain Bub Minor went nicely here. Our thanks go to the incumbents and those who welcomed us at the towers where we rang: and especially to Mr. Bert Thomas, who made the arrangements.

THE YATES TOUR OF NORTH DEVON

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$N July 16 th, 17 ringers mainly from South Northants travelled to Mere, Wiltshire, for the annuat tour arranged by Mr. W. A. Yates. It was a pleasant ride down and we made a slight detour to see Stonehenge.

All the lowers were octaves. deep in the heart of call-change and competition ringing country, so we were especially conscious of the raise and lower in peal. and the opening musical touch of Stedman before venturing to turn the tenor in.
Friday dawned slorious, sunshine and at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Mere's 23 cwl . ring were spiralling Lnwards with great precision. Stedman, good Yorkshire, indifferent Camhridge and London were rung hefore the fine ride to Gillett's excellent-toned ring at Wincanton. which are similar to our own Wicken. The Vicar said a short prayer hefore a gond raise and some Stedman. Bristol went well. and fast Yorkshire. but four-spliced wouldn't go.

A long ride brought us to the similar ring at Huish Episconi for rhythmic Yorkshire io echo from the tall rusty coloured tower, and unfortunately for Sunerlative to nile uo. The Vicar met us al Curry Rivel. our first tower after a sumpluous lunch. The go was good for fair Stedman. scintillating Superlative and choppy Double Norwich on the 18 ewt. ring.

EERIE BELLS

Journeying via Taunton brought us 10 Wiveliscombe, where the bells are pecularly out of tune. The treble and tenor were added in 1829 to the rest. which were cast in 1750 . The tenor is a maiden bell and the treble is very flat. Mears, we understand. are to retune them shortly. Stedman was cung, and patchy L.ondon was made up for bt a good cuurse of York,hire. It was atmost cerie 10 hear a well-struck wuch of Double Norwich which Mr. Young, who met us. rang in. We all admired his ovely garden with a trout stream running through it.
From Somerset into Devon at last, and after tea South Molton proved to be the best ring of the day and, as was later agreed. the tour. Superb Siedman on the fahulous 25 cwt , ring preceded six-spliced with a rich heat, excellent Yorkshire, and Bristol which immoved as it went on. A Yates inspired touch of Grandsire for the henefir of our call-change host; pleaved the locals very much, and we rehuctantly finished the hour's ringing at 9 n.m. 10 journey to our hotel in Barnstiple.

A L.OVEI.Y SETTING

Saturday again was fine. though not hot, and after a little difficulty we found the 14th century chursh at Tawitock, nestled on the side The 17 cwit . ring sounded here, twisting lane The 17 cwi. rine sounded hetter outside than $i r_{\text {, the }}$ belfry, which was reached by an outside turret, a walk along a wooden gantry and a six foot ladder both overhan ing the church. Stedman went well and Bristol far outshone Yorkshire. Four-spliced ended the ringing here, and so through Bideford with its picturesque tidal harhour, to Northam (14 cwt.) --Chris 1,200th tower. London went better here: Cambridge and three leads of Grandsire were rung hefore an early finish to get hack to the lovely 17 cwi . ring at Bideford for good Yorkshire and Rutland.
Lunch and shopping completed. we left for Great Torrington. a church with a spire insead of the iypica! West Country massive tower. Where the clankin! about in London couldn't have dote our reputation much good. There were even mistakes in Bristol. and it look Superlative to show these hells at their hest hefore a noor lower by our standards.
David, armed with ars Ordnance Survey map, aptly oroved that the shortest journey to Chulmleigh wasn't the quickest - Jim and Charles declared their cars had never seen such narrow, steep hills! A thatcher met us here. where the 22 cwit ring. done up by Tay. lors in 1957. hang in a dark, solid lower. The ie ils were cast by Gillett and Johnston, 1924 and Evans of Chepstow, 1718.) They are slow. lurning 'men's bells - not for tired men pulling on very long ropes.

BEST SCIENTIFIC TEAM

Tea fo.lowed, then a look at local thatching skill and an early arrival at Witheridge for liquid refreshment. There were long ropes here again, but the raise in peal was good. and Stedman on the 24 zwt. ring was excellent. Several lozals iusi back from sompetition ringing adid our first touch was a pretty neal. L.ondon was good and Bristal even better. Another touch of stedman was firstiss and we were acclaimed the best scientific team that's heen here for a lone ume.
And so through the drizzle to Chittlehampton. our last scheduled tower. The course of Yorkshire here contained some of the best Surprise ringing of the tour. A 317 of sixspliced Surprise went well and a decent fall ended our ring on these rhythmic bells.
A grab fo:- Sunday morning ringing at St. Brannock's. Braunton (a handy 16 cwt.) was our last ring. The Vicar gave us an enthusiastic welzome and the locals kindly gave uD their ringing to us. A bobbed course of Stedman. Double Norwich and half a course of Cambridge ended vet another tour-except for a 2(X)-mile journey home!
The ringing was always good, but seldom nerfect. The long rones the call-change ringers seem to cherish had a deprading effect on our rotiking. They liked our Trinles and tolerated our Maior and handstroke leads. We thank them for meeting us and allowing us to ring Bill Yates for arranging it all so and also Bill Yates for arranging it all so well. R.H.R

DEVONSHIRE GUILD'S ANNUAL MEETING

THE annual meeting of the Guild of Levon* shire Ringers was held at Exeter on June 20th. It was notable for two events. the dedication of a memorial tablet to a former president, and the retirement of a devoted honorary secretary.
The memorial tablet to the late Prebendary E. V. Cox in the ringing chamber of the Cathedral was dedicated by the Dean of Exeter. It takes its place below that to another great name in the Guild's history, the Rev. Maitland Kelly, and records briefly Prebendary Cox's twenty-eight years as president. The gift of members of the Guild as an expression of affection and gratitude will convey to succeeding generations of ringers something of the place which Prehendary Cox held among the ringers of Devonshire.
One unwilling absentee from the ceremony was Mr. Maurice Atkins, honorary secretary of the Guild, kept at home by the ill health: which also compelled him to decline re-elec. tion. The Guild can have had no more faithful officer. His competence was matched by his ȩnthusiasm, and every detail of the Guilds affairs was his care. It was a satisfaction to him to be able to hand over a going concern to Mr. D. J. Roberts, the secretary of the Mid-Devon Branch. The President made reference to his devoted service to the Guild, and the meeting elected him a vice-president.

At the service in St. Mark's Church the preather was the Bishop of Plymouth, the Rt Rev. W. G. Sanderson. Once again the Guild had a warm welcome from the Vicar and ringers of St. Mark's, and the ladies of the parish provided an excellent tea. The bells of the Cathedral and of the city churches wire open to visitors. The committee's recommendation that the following year's annual meeting should be at Plymouth was for the second year in succession rejected hy the meeting. which voted for Exeter again.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

A recent practice at Leicester Cathedral was recorded for the B.B.C. Stedman Cinques and Surprise Maximus were rung and some of the ringers were interviewed by Kay Webb. It is hoped that this recording will appear in - Woman's Hour' on Friday. August 14th, between 2 and 3 p.m.

During the refreshments that followed an excellent meal of New Cambridge Surprise Royal at Swindon on July 25th. Mr. Walter Jedge made the younger generation sit up when he disclosed that when his band of spliced experts were practising. changes of miethod were called at the half-lead! Has any composition been evolved using this system? asks the conductor. There were congratulations to Shirley Little on the way she rang her first real on 10.

A wide circle of English friends will join resident members of the Irish Association in congratulating Mr. William H. Wilson. president of the St. Patrick's Cathedral Society, and Mrs. Wilson on their golden wedding anniversary on July 20th. He has been a member of the Cathedral Society since 1907 and rang regularly until a year ago when as a result of an illness he was forbidden the long climb to the ringing chamber. Both Mr. and Mrs Wilson are enfoying good health and activity A congratulatory greeting was rung on St. Patrick's bells on July 19th.

The farewell quarter-peal to Mr. Harry E. Good on July 26th was rung with the sincere good wishes of his fellow-ringers at Ewell, Surrey, on his departure for South Milford, Yorkshire, where his daughter resides. Coming from Charing. Kent, where he was nne of is family of ringers. Harry Good has been attached to various towers for 55 years, twentynine of them at Ewell, where he will be greatly missed. - His nearest bells will now be at Sherburn-in-Elmet, where he hopes to continue his ringing career.

His many friends will be pleased to learn that there is considerable hope that Mr. George Cross, now living at Chardstock, near Axminster. will regain all his faculties after his paralytic seizure of about six years ago. His wife gives him untiring care and can now take him for little outings in their car, writes Canon C. Carew Cox, who visited them recently Finends of Wells Cathedral have voted the sum of $£ 1,000$ for the renovation of the Cathedral bells.

Who was the St. Albans District ringer who rang Sherborne Abbey tenor with one hand and held his trousers up with the other?
During the First World. War ringers in America were unable to receive their Ringing Worlds. Reason? The local censors thougits that all those figures must contain a code!
Who is the youngest ringer to take part in a multi-method peal? Stephen Hall and Michael Roberts, of Shepshed, both aged 12. rang 'inside' bells to a peal of 31 doubles methods at Heather, Leicestershire, recently.

A correspondent points out that the Cat and Fiddle' is not the highest inn in England. If the Eastern District of the Ladies Guibs travel to the head of she Arkengarthdale, Yorks, they will find there the Tan Hill' Inn, which, at 1,732 feet, is some 42 feet higher.

A peal of Yorksbire at Clare which came round after 3 hours eight minutes was found in be two courses short. It will have to be third time lucky, for the conductor, Mr. George E. Thoday. who has now conducted the method there for six and a half hours without success.

A successful peal week was held in the South Bucks area recently, with eight peals scored out oi nine attempts. The one which was lost was :in attempt at Hitcham on the Friday morning, where Hitcham Delight wouldn't seem to go. Sale of zinc oxide plaster must have been at a neak towards the end of the week.

Four visitors from Surrey and Essex combined with two local ringers to ring a quarter peal for the wedding anniversary of the popular Ringing Master of the St. David's Guild and his $w$ ife. It is good to notice that the Rector of St. Florence is one of the first local ringers to score a quarter on this new six, logether with Mr. M. E. Lewis, tower captain. Ringers on holiday in this lovely rounty of Pembroke will not find many bells but will find a really warm welcome.

The Campingologists' peal tour, 1964, is in Derbyshire, starting August 15th.
St. Peter's, Nottingham, ringers, while on a visit to Bedfordshire, saw a horse tied up in the churchyard with two bell ropes (complete with sallies). This is an eight-bell tower but only six bells were being rung for the wedding. "Now we know why they are only ringing $s i x$; commented one of the visitors as he glanced at the grazing horse.
Gardening and ringing often go together Mr. Stuart Bonnett, last year's president of the Herts County Association, has a write-up in "The Citizen," Letchworth, under she heading Garden " Paradise" for only $£ 2$. The preture of the back garden of 6 , Chiltern View, Letchworth, is most attractive, but then Mr. Bonnett has been a keen gardener for more than 40 years.

An example of Christian unity comes from Buckfast Abbey. The Lord Abbot has agreed to the request of the Devon Guild to hold their service in connection with the ringing meeting at Buckfast in the Abhey on September 19 th .

Miss Janice Morris, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris, of Burghill, Herefordshirc, will be leaving London Airport on August 25 th to take a situation as nannie to a family of four young children at Montclair, New Jersey, U.S.A. At present she is a staff nurse at Droitwich Children's Residential Nursery. During her school days Janice was a Girl Guide, a member of the church choir and a bellringer.

OBITUARY

MR. PERCY COX

Although Mr. Percy Cox, of Pitney, Somerset, had been in very ooor health for some considerable time. he had recently been able to take un ringing again and his sudden death on July 28th came as a great shock to all who knew and respected him.

Perce." as he was affectionately known. learned to ring over 40 years aco on the five bells at Pitney and soon became a keen method ringer. For the past 12 years he had been a member of the Langport hand. He was always welcome in any ringing fun-tion. for besides being a safe ringer and a good striker, he had a sense of dry humour and a friendly persanality which endeared him to all who met him. Cne of his greatest attributes was nossibly the fact that a promise was a oromise and he would never intentionally let a band down. He was laid to rest in Pilney Churchyard, and by his passing the world is a poorer nlace. E.T.P.F.

RACHEL ELIZABETH FIDLER

It is with regret that $I$ report the passing of Rachel Elizabeth Fidler, on August Ist. 1964, after a long illness but most patiently borne. At the same time. however, what a privilege it is for me to put pen to paper to express. though inadecuately, a most sincere appreciation of her life and work for the Church. and particularly on behalf of ringers.
Ringers' wives are of that breed where every consideration. Iolerance and forbearance are most essential attributes and these were certainly evident in Mrs. Fidler. Her consideration for ringers was shown bv the fact an empty hed was invariably kedt at the ready for stranded ringers who were always welcome and her willingness to assist the other ladies of Loughborough in preparing leas for visiting ringers. But more especiallv her tolerance and forbearance were shown hy the loneliness she endured during the time her husband had to be away on ringing business. but without complaint and particularly with the illness she had to hear during the past 12 months.
May the examnle she set during her lifeiime he followed by those who come after and may Gorl grant her eternal rest. To Jack and her family we offer our most sincere condolences.

MR. ALBFRT A. HUGHES

With deep regret we announce the death. peacefully in his sleep early on Tuesday morning. of Mr. Albert Arthur Hughes, J.P. of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. London. He was 79 years of age.
Mr. Hughes was taken
Mr. Hughes was taken ill on Sunday night and was admitted to the London Hospital on Monday. Mrs. Huzhes was summoned to the hospital early on Tuesday and was with him when he died.
He led a life devoted to the art of bellringing, in its many facets. His services were recognised by the conferring on him of life membership of the Central Council. He had been honorary treasurer of The Ringing World since its acquisition by the Council He was one of the greatest stalwarts of all He was one College Youths.

The sympathy of the Exercise and bellringers the world over is extended to his widow and two sons in their bereavement.

A memoir will appear in our next issue.

ALBERT ARTHUR HUGHES

$\mathbf{R}^{1}$INGERS in many parts of the world will share the sorrow of Mrs. A. L. Hughes and her family at the passing to higher service of Albert A. Hughes, head of the world-famous Church Bell Foundry in Whitechapel. He was held in highest affection by ringers everywhere, and was one of the best-known figures for over half a century. He was a true Londoner, always at pains to preserve and enhance the high and ancient traditions of that great city, and he played an important part in its civic affairs, receiving many honours during his long and active career. In 1919 he was admitted to the Livery of the Worshipful Company of Skinners, and in 1958 was presented with the honorary Freedom of the Founders' Company. He had been chairman of the board of governors of Sir John Cass College in the City of London and chairman of the 17 th century Davenant Grammar School. Whitechapel, also a lay magistrate in the Tower Division, London, and General Commissioner of Income Tax for the same division.

For many years he was warden of the Corporation Church of St. Lawrence Jewry, by the Guildhall, and churchwarden of St. Botolph's. Aldgate.

As a ringer he possessed outstanding qualities. Bcing a pupil of the famous Matt. A. Wood, it is not surprising that his standard of ringing was very high, and older College Youths will well remember his achievements. The Society will greatly mourn his loss, for he was one of its most loyal members. Elected in 1903, he became Master in 1914, and served in that capacity during the whole of the First World War. He served as its representative on the Central Council and for 40 years as hon. treasurer. The Central Council at its last meeting in Truro presented him with its greatest honour and elected him as a life member. It is sad that he was not able to enjoy this honour for very long.

Albert Hughes was a very quiet and unassuming man who endeared himself to all. He was solid and sincere with a depth of character which is an example to us all: and we shall remember him for his warmth and friendiness. Whatever he did he put his best into it. and his influence for good was very great.

We shall also remember him for his work in maintaining the work of the famous Bell Foundry - often through most difficult limes, particularly during the Second World War when the foundry was damaged many times by enemy air raids. Throughout these most trying and dangerous times both he and his wife continued to live on the premises, and were near death on many occasions. They carried on bravely and came through safely.

As Albert Hughes carried on the business on the death of his father in 1916, so now his two sons, William and Douglas. succeed him; and the whole Exercise will extend to them and to Mrs. Hughes its heartfelt and deepest sympathy in their great loss.

May he rest in peace.
JAFUS.

EXETER CATHEDRAL BELLS

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott is an authority on Exeter Cathedral bells and Exeter Foundries. Recently in Mr. Frederick Sharpe's hook on the bells of the Channel Islands. Mr. Scott contributed a chapter dealing with Exeter Foundries; he has now written a booklet on the bells of Exeter Cathedral which also appeared in the 34th annual report of the Friends of Exeter Cathedral.

There is a magic about Exeter Cathedral bells; until Liverpool Cathedral bells were dedicated, "Grandisson." weighing 721 cwt . was the king of all ringing tenors. the ambition of all young males even just to strap it to a peal. "Grandisson's " predecessor was mentioned on the Fabric Rolls of 1.372 and of the eight listed by the Commissioners for Church Gonds in 1552 there is Bishop Graundson's" hell.

In 1625 Thomas Pinnington was ordered to recast "Grands. son " and two other bells in the south tower. and Mr. Scott gives us confirmation that the present bell and her predecessor both bore the impression of a medal bearing the head of Archbishop laud. The story of Thomas Purdies work on the hells some eight years after the Commonwealth is entrancingly told. The bells were traditionally cast in the Deanery garden and the casting was regarded as Purdue's masterpiece. He writes: "What Purdue's -Grandisson" was like we shall never know, for she has since been twice recast but "Peter." "Stafford " and "Cobthorne." are superh. "Stafford." in particular, heing reckoned by many to be one of the noblest bells in the kingdom."

William Evans, of Chepstow, was given the job in 1729 to provide a proper ring of 10 . "Grandisson " and iwo other hells were cracked and these were recast. They remained like this until 1902 when, because of the difficulty in ringing. Messr. Taylor of Loughborough. were called in. "Grandisson " was not only recast. but a half ton of metal was added to increase her power. A full ring of 12 came in 1923 through the gift of Mr. A. C. Thomas and in recent years the Loughborough foundry has rehung the three back hells on ball bearings. The 13 bells of today are the product of four different centuries and six different founders and as the author concludes: "Each seeks perfection in his own way. and together they make music the finer for their diversity."

The illustrations are well chosen. "The Bells of Exeter Cathedral ${ }^{* *}$ is obtainable. price $1 /$ - porst free. from the Friends of Exeter Cathedral. 1 The Cloisters. Exeter.

ALBERT ARTHUR HUGHES: A MEMOIR

MR. ALBERT ARTHUR HUGHES. whose lith in the London Hospltal was briefly recorded in our last issue, will be remembered as one of the pillars upon which the art of bellringing has been built throughout the world. It was not only with the wh techapel Foundry that links Elizabeth I with Elizabeth II that he made a notable contribution to the advancement of bell music, but by his liaison with the public at large. From hotl sides of the Atlintic people came to White-chap:l-journalists, writers, lovers of hellsto meet him be inspired by all that beils mean to the community.

Albert Hughes was horn iato the bellringing business and in the bedroom at 34, Whitechapel Road, where he normally slept. He was here when he was taken to the London Hospital on his last illness. In fact, except for a period from 1910 to 1918 when at the foundry His father. Arther his life took over the foundry in $19(1) 4$, and a Hughes. able day for him was when George $V$ and Queen Mary visited the foundry. Arthur died in 1916 during World War 1 and Alberi. then a young man of 31. succeeded him. Although he spent three years in the City after leaving school, it was an innate love of bells that made him decide upon his vocation in the family business

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS
It was as a youth that he learned to Green, and came in contact with many Collece Youths. Another of his tutors was Mr. W. D. Smith. who was to become his father-in-law, at the old church at Hackney, He joined the Ancient Society in 1903 at the age of 18, and in those days established a reputation as heavy bell ringer: he was invariably to be found at the hack end. His prowess is indicated by pulling un all the bells at Bow, Cheapside and ringing the 52 cwt tenor to a peal. Other tenors he rang to peals during that period were at Cornhill, Southwark Wrington and Stenney, and his total of peals is thonght to be $2(\mathrm{~N}$. His first peal was rung at Upper Clapton in May. 1906. It was Holt's Original and was called by Mr. Challis Winney He called his firs peal-Holt's ten-part of Grandsire-from the third at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, on June 16th. 1909.

The College Youths elected him a; their Master in 1914 and throughout those wi years until 1918 he remained in office. The Society oued much to bim-for 40 years until 1956 he was the treasurer. and he was one of their representatives on the Central Council from 1915 until 1930. He did much 10 guide the destinies of this great Society to the unique position it holds in ringing today. In World War II, when the headquarters of the Society were bombed and many of the records destroyed. it was the Whitechapel Foundry that provided them with headquarters for almost weekly meetings under dire conditions. Even in those years. when Whitechapel seemed an inferno with the constant air raids and the foundry was damagid on more than one occasion. he r.solutely refused to budge. and Mrs. Hughes tinically rema'ned hy his side. Throughout their life together Mrs Hughes has been an essential part of the foundry. Upon her has devolved the payment of wages and attending to P.A.Y.E.. During the climbed on to the roof of the foundry and extinguished inzendiary bomhs.
Of later years since the death of Mr Alexander Young in 1956-at College Youth dinners he had given the toast of Fragrant Memory of Masters of 300 . 200 and 100 vears ago. The College Youths, their history and tradition. was very much a part of his life. THE CENTRAL COUNCIL
Mr. Hughes was one of the best loved members of the Central Council. He was a trustee of Carter's Ringing Machine. and also erved as an auditor of the Council's account. His biggest job, however, was as honzrary treasurer of "The Ringing World: in which he was appointed in 1952. Mr. Hughes was one of the original committee formed in 1942 to take over the iournal and his attention in the financial side of its affairs had been most assiduous. Most of the meetings of the commince were held in his home at Whitechapil he seemed more than appropriate that at the last Central Council meeting at Truro the Councils greatest honour of hife Unfortunately an injury to his leg prevented him from attending the meeting. Mith Mrs. Fletcher he shared the honour of being the senior member of the Council.

IN THE CITY

Throughout his life he took a great pride in the City of London. its churches and its customs. He uas admitted to the livery of 1917. and in 1958 he was presented with the honerary freedom of the Founders' Company He took a deep interest in the Lord Mayor's Church. Si. Laurence Jewry. In 1927 he fo:med a band at this church and these bells were rung regularly every Sunday until 1939 For many years he was churchwarden here an office he held at the time of his death One of the proud moments of his ife was the dedication of the ring of eight beils in the restored church. He was also a churchwarden at St Botolph's, Aldgate. Mr. Hughes tas a Freemason and a past master of the Pellipar Lodge No. 2693.
Technical education appealed to him and he was a governor and for many yea:s chairman of Sir John Cass College. resigning this office only last year. He was also chairman of the Davenant Grammar School. Whitechapel. which was founded in the 17th century. A Justice of the Peace. he sat for many years in the Tower Division of london. He was also a general commissioner of Income Tax for the same division.

FOUNDRY PROSPERED

Under his leadership the Whitechapel Foundry has prospered. One of the first things he did when he took control was to introduce modern harmonic tuning with a subdued minor third. The foundry has n'lyed no small part in the replacement of war damaged bells in the City of London. A notable casting was that of the new Bow tenor. witnesued by the Lord Mayor of London and the sheriffs. The frieze of London Pride on his bell seemed most filting. Prohably his higgest joh was Liverpool Cathed:al. The concrete bell frame was his special design and this idea has been incorporated in the frame of Washington Cathedral Throughout the world-in Canada. United States. Africa, Australia and New Zealand-the products of the Whitechapel Foundry are to be found. But he was also the champion of the small parish with belland lent a sumpathetic ear to the person in difficulties. Many a time where major work was necessary he would undertake a repair job to get the bells going and to keep cost within the limited resources available.

HANIDHELLS

An important side of the Wbitechape Foundry relates to handbells and during the days of dollar shortage in Britain these proved to be an exceedingly valuable export to America. The craftsmanship in these bells is highly prized in the Siates. The American League of English Handbell Ringers is a virne organisation. Eight times Mr. Hughes had crossed the Atlantic to visit U.S.A. and (anada. The annual handhell festival of the lague had heen attended by him and Mrs lfughes on more than one occasion. Mr: Hughes was in the forefront of handbell soloists and her services at the festivals were much enjoyed
Mr. Hughes married in 1910 Miss Annie Lilian Smith. daughter of Mr. W. D. Smith of Hackney. On the occasion of their silver wedding they were presented with a silver salver by the Ancient Society of College Youths. Their golden wedding was an oc cosion for presentations from the staff and family. Mr. Hughes was looking forward to his diamond wedding in 1970, which would be the quater-centenary of the foundation of the foundry. Their two sons, William A and Douglas, have been master founders since 1950 , and have the knowledge and by Robert Mot, 1570. Their daughter is the wife of Mr. H. G. Stokes. of Woodbury Exeter.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral service was held at Si. Law ence Jewry Church, next to the Guildhall where M. and Mrs. Hughes had worshipped regularly for many years and where he was a churchwarden. This was the first funeral service to be held in this church since its 18 building in 1957, although there had been a number of memorial services
The bells were being rung at the corlege arrived to Stedman Triples. The band consisted of: Ernest J. Rowe 1. John Chilcott 2, Rodney B. Meadows 3. Jack A. Waugh 4. John H. Crampion 5. Philip A. F. Chalk 6. John Phillips 7. Trevor N. J. Bailey 8. The coffin was received at the church door by four of the churshwardens-Messrs Russel! Wilson. Steele. Douglas Ckarke and Tom Collett-who escorted it to the entrance of the chancel. Behind the family mourners came members of the foundry stafi. many of whom are known all over the country as hellringers

The Rector, the Rev. J. F. D Trimingham. conducted the simple service. Psalm xxiii was read. and the hymn. How sweet the name of of Jesus sounds "was sung. The lesson from Revelations was read by the Rev. Derek Harbord. of St. Botolph's, Aldgate, where Mr Hughes was also a churchwarden. Miss Mar garet Cobb was the o:ganist.

FALSE COURSE HEADS AND THEIR APPLICATIONS
There were two points which I failed to make when dealing with the above subject. After having compared the rows with treble in the same place and having same sign 'up' against down (page 440) it is necessary to compare down against up therefore the F.L.H. for ? + and $4+$ will be as follows:-

After having checked the courses with tenors parted as shown on page 465 it is necessary to check the courses with tenors together for fakeness against the courses with the tenors parted. As 7th is in thirds in these courses look for an F.C.H. with 7th in thirds and compare with each course with tenors together. Take lead two the only F.C.H. with 7 in thirds is at 2734568.6 as tenors are together in lead 6 this can be disregarded. The same F.C.H. occurs false against lead 3. Look at table of N.C.H. and it will be seen that 26435 is the only course in the first part where there is anv chance uf falseness but transposing gives 2764358 so as this course end does not occur in the peal it is still true. Similarly in the other two oarts. The third lead also only has 2764358 but 4th, 5th. 6th, 7th and 1st lead have 6745238. Look for 2nd in 6ths in N.C.ii. table this does not oceur so the composition is still true.

A great deal of care is needed in proving compositions with tenors parted-1 cannot stress this too much as I have recently been caught out in one of my own compositionsluskily the oeal broke down! I should like to thank John Mayne for his comments upon which besc notes are based.

SUFFOLK GUILD N.W. District

On August 8th th: N.W. District ringers held their quarterly meeting at Horringer. when ringers from a great distance jained them: Two came from Bradford. itwo from Birmingham and the Misses Burchnall from Sutton, Notts. Mr. George Pipe, the rew Suffolk Guild Ringing Master, and Mr. A. Beckwith, the Suffolk Guild general secretary, brought ringing friends from Ioswich and district and a great varisty of rethods was enjoyed. Bristol Surprise Majer. Stedman, Double Norwich. Kent. Oxferd. Grandsire and other methods were rung.

At 4.30, when the ringers should have enjoyed a dicnic tea in Ickworth Park, the long awaited rain came so cars became eating rooms. The service was taken by th: R:c or, and Miss Joan Ivings was at the organ.

The meeting was brief. Mr. Wright being in the chair and Mr. A. Balham the Disirict secretary. No evening meating will he held in September.

Next meeting: October 8th. Barrow, Sultolk.

GOLDEN JUBILEE RINGING DAY AT SOUTHEND-ON-SEA

On Saturday July 18 th. the Southend and District Guild held a ringing day as their part in the the Golden Jubilee celebrations of the borough of Southend-on-Sea.

During the afternoon ringing took place at Great Wakering and Prittlewell. The Guild service. held at Prittlewell, was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Wareing and the address was given by the Ven. W. H. Welch, Archdeacon of Southend.

Afterwards over 60 ringers and guests satdown to a cockle and shrimp tea. The gucsts included the Archdeacon, local clergy and Mr. R. C. Heazel, Master of the Essex Association.

Visitors came from Suffolk. Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire and the ages of ringers ranged from 12 to 90 years.
After tea ringing took place at Leigh. Thorpe Bay and Pritilewell. ranging from rounds to Yorkshire Major and Grandsire Caters.

LADIES' GULLD AT DARTMOUTH

The quarterly meeting of the Devon Branch was held at Dartmoutis. Ringing to $=k$. place on the light six at St. Petrox Church in the afternoon. Several visitors took advantage of a short boat trip to visit this church which adjoins Dartmouth Castle at the mouth of the river Dart

The service was held at Si. Clement's Church. which is near the Naval Training College. and was conducied by the curate (Rev. $D$ R Hooper) The six bells were rung before and after the service.
A delicious tea of cold meat and salad. strawberries and Devonshire cream was provided in St. Clement's Church Hall. This was followed by a business meeting presided over hv the vice-president (Mrs. D. R. Bould). In the absence of the secretary (Miss Y. Porter) the minutes were read by Mrs. Bould. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Ottery St. Mary in October with ringing at Sidbury in the evening. Miss $V$. Cross droposed that a quarter-peal attempt shot"- 'e arranged in the near future. Mrs P. Tham was elected assistant secretary. A new zember from Trignmnith (Miss S Powell) was elected.

WEEK-END AT MOOR PARK COLLEGE

FXCELLENT weather, an historic building in magnuficent grounds, a cordial atmosphere and ample. well prepared food combined to make the Guildford Diocesan Guild s first week-end course most enjoyable. From July 17th to 19 th some 40 students and lecturers occupied this 17 th century house set in its 65 acres and iransformed its: peace and tranquillity into a somewhat typical ringers ${ }^{\circ}$ gathering with the handbell ringing of the keen. the reminiscences of the older the shrieks of the younger and the loud voice of another.

The Warden, Dr. Grimwood, in extending a warm welcome, briefly mentioned the historical interest of the house. Whilst some were impressed to think that part of Darwin's - Origin of the Species was written at Moor Park others were interested in the love letters written by Dorothy Osborne to Sir William Temple. the first owner.
Many questions were provoked by a well balanced talk under the heading of Bells, littings and maintenance by Mr. Douglas Hughes. His splendid illustrations were very helpful. Before returning to London he played part of the Washington peal on his lape recorder. The remainder of the evening was spent with handbells.
Mr. W. H. Viggers began Saturday's lectures with one on Sirking. The per onal experiences, which he used so eflectively to illustrate his points. and his original ideas were much appreciated. Mr, A. D. Barker later gave a talk on bell handling, using a rope hanging over a door for illustration. The remaining lectures of the day. and indeed the course, were most ably given by Mr. W. G. Wilson. Method building. splicing. composition. conductirg. place notation, falseness and kindred subjects were all explained: many of those present Were all explained: many of those pr-sent ideas. Practical ringing at Seale and Firgham and on handbells was under the guidance of the day's three lecturers.

Holy Communion preceded and followed by a course of Gr.andsire Triples in hand in the College chapel hegan Sunday's official programme. After breakfast the company dispersed to five neighbouring churches for merning ringing and reassembled at noon for the final lectures.
An opportunity was given for views on and criticism of the course to be aired. Although a few modifications were suggested it was generally agreed that the week-end had been most enjoyable. Not everyone shared the obvious enthusiasm of the girls who, feeling that the 16 -hour days were 100 short. thundered up and down stairs for a couple of hours each night and morning.

At $i t$ per head rafter County Council subsidy) the course was perhaps the most expensive of its kind but this did not prevent every available place being booked well in advance. A valuable week-end and the first of many no doubt.

Mr. G. Hughes' 5,008 Bob Major

Dear Sir,-I was very sorry to read on page 528 of 'The Ringing World that Mr. B. G. Key has had to withdraw three false peals of Plain Bob Major but I should like to inform you that the composition which he mentions, a 5.008 by the late George Hughes. is perfectly true, if called correctly.

Here are the figures.-

This peal has the full combination of 4.5.6 in 56 at the course-ends. and, after the two introductory courses, the 2nd is never in 5,6 or the 3rd in 6 hss at a course-end.
This is a simple and highly musical peal, perhaps one of the best on the plan. and is perfectly true.

Unfortunately, a false 'variation' of this peal exists, in which the singles have been moved from the last Wrong in each half-peal. to the last Home. This alters the part-ends, and makes the composition false, causing changes in the first course to repeat with changes in the 24th course, as follows:-

$\frac{1 \text { st Course }}{2345678}$

S 3257486

7826345
How this false 'variation " came into being I cannot say. but it appears in the Midland Counties Association Report for 1937. page 109. peal 4810, and no one appears to have noticed its obvious falseness. If a peal of Plain Bob Major is commenced with a single at Wrong, the course-end 3245678 must not be followed by a bob at Wrogg uhder any circumstances, as repetition is bound to occur It cannot he too strongly emphasised. that any alterations of true compositions should always be carefully proved, and never attempted by those who cannot prove their efforts. Whoever was responsible for this alteration has caused disappointment if at least four bands. and two conductors. al sorry state of affairs. and most distresssing to any conductor who innocendy makes use of figures purporting to be the work of such a talented composer as the late Mr. George Hughes.Yours sincerely. CHARIES W. ROBERTS. Waltham Abbey.

Essendon's Girl Recruits

Dear Sir.-For many months now Mr. F. Banford. Ripging Master at Essendon (Herts), has been struggling to get a band of ringers up to a reasonable standard!

He has five girl learners who have made much progress since they started ringing.

Iust recently two ringers from Wheathampstead have been helping Mr. Banford in his excellent attempt as the girls could only ring Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles. Now by verbal tuition by Mr. M. J. Sherrick and Mr. K J. Walpole, they can ring inside to short touches and have made attempts to learn and ring many new methods with outstanding success.
After a short time all the girls should be up to the stapdard for full ringing membership of the Herts County Association. The writer. who wishes to remain anonymous, asks Mr. F. Banford. Mr. M. J. Sherrick and Mr. K. J. Walpole to keep up their excellent work.-Yours, etc.,
R.M.F.

Village Celebrations

Dear Sir. Whilst the Rev. Robert Kilvert was curate at Clyro. Radnorshire, the following event that involved. the local ringers took place on June Day, 1870. This entry is taken from Kilvert's Diary, 1870-1879," edited by William Plomer

- Going out to the school at 10 found Mary Rrooks. the Vicarage housemaid, at the door just going to ring. She had run down breathless with an open letter just received in her hand to announce that Mrs. Venables (the Vicar's wife) was confined of a nice little girl at $1.5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. yesterday. Three cheers, the news flew through the village like wild-fire. Charlie Powell. Richard Brooks and John Harris rushed to the church and the bells were soon in full peal.

Hannah Witney, standing at her dcor knitting, heard the bells ringing and asked - What has God sent her ?' The hells ringing at intervals all day. Mrs. Price of the Swan. sent the ringers a gallon of beer. I sent another gallon, and went to the belfry to see them ringing ...-Yours sincerely,

PETER J. CAME.

Surprise Minor Peals

Dear Sir,-Could any of our friends who maintain records please inform me of the following: -
What is the greatest number of Surprise Minor methods rung in a peal at their ona tuwer, by a Sunday service band? and where was it rung?
How many peals, under these conditions, have there been of over fourteen methods ?Yours truly,

Farnborough. Hants

St. Peter's, Wolverhampton

Dear Sir,-Reading the report of Luton ringers' outing on July 4 th ('R.W.' 2781) to Lichfield, Walsall. Wolverhampton and Redditch. I nearly choked on reading that St. Peterts. Wolverhampton, bells are seldon heard through lack of ringers. As a $m: m$ ber of the band at St. Peter's, I hotly deny that this is so. A year ago, this would have been true. but it certainly is not now. There is a list of ringers up in the church porch (thirteen altogether), and we ring from 10 to $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and 5.45 to $6.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on Sunday and practise on Monday frem 8 to 9 p.m. It is rare now for the back eight not to be rung for Sunday service. The band has too many treble ringers, but six months ago the treble ringers could only ring call chapges. Nevertheless, we can ring Grandsire Triples. Plain Bob Minor. Stedman Doubles and Triples, and usually ring call changes on ten and occasionally on the twelve for service.
It will got be long now before we will be able 10 ring a peal on our own bells, with members of the service band, and it will be a good one.-Yours sincerely

ELIZABETH TIMMINS.
Tettenhall. Stafis.

Peals withdrawn

Dear Sir, -I wish to withdraw the following peals which 1 conducted. the composition having recently been found to be false. The peal is 5.008 Plain Boh Major composed by the late George Hughes of Wednesbury, Staffs I conducted this composition at St. Andrew's. Litchurch, Derby on December 28:h. 1937 and also at St. Andrew's Netherton. on July 23 rd. 1960 . These peals were rung for the late Midiand Counties Association and Staffs Society respectively My sincere apologies to all who took part. I also took part in this composition at St. Martins, Tipton. on December 28th. 1929 and am withdrawing it from my total was my first peal of "Major." Yours faithfully, Blakenhall. Wolverhampton.

HITCHIN'S TRIUMPH OVER DESPAIR

By TREVOR A. BEVIS

YISUALISE a great Perpendicular church yard, law the midst of a well-kept churchbrook overlooked by attractive terraces, and one becomes familiar with the pleasant Hertfordshire town of Hitchin.

St. Mary's Church has stood in this agreeable acre for over 600 years. A noble pile of buildings' was erected on this site as long ago as 792 A.D., founded by Ofta, King of Mercia.

Misfortune fell upon the Benedictine monastery in the relentless form of fire which destroyed in so thoroughly a manner that the brethren were obliged to join their fellow monks at St. Albans. Out of the ruins came forth a church of modest dimensions

The site, however, seemed fated. for the church was subjected to destructive forces in the form of lighening: even an earthquake in 1298 shook the walls to such an extent that the centre of the building collapsed and all of one side was no more. The year 1304 witnessed the fall of the roof, irreparably damaging many relics and monuments of antiquity

Resurgam ' was the watchword for the day At the third attempt in 1305 another church materialised from which has developed the present large building, the iatest addition being completed just before the Reformation. It presents Hitchin's triumph over despair.
l'here are many interesting features to see at Si. Mary's. and the most notable of all exterior objects is the massive tower of two stages. Its great sprawling bulk somehow reminds one of the forbidding appearance of a castle keep. It is fortunate that the tower remaıns. for right from the beginning of its nistory this part of the church has given trouble. In 1301 and again in 1311 there were alarming settlements which threatened a new lease of disaster to the fane.

After much wrangling with the bishop of the diocese, the parishioners under threat of -anonical enforcement and under pain of excommunication eventually agreed that the swallow amgle pilasters at the western corners of the tower be overlaid by two pairs of formidable buttresses. ten feet in depth. By their weight the buttresses arrest the outward lean of the tower and their impressive proportions add considerably to the sentinel's squat and heavy appearance.

The tower contains a heavy octave (tenor 25-2-26). Earliest mention of bells at Hitchin is made in 'Church Bells of Hertfordshire.' In 1552 the "Church of Hytchin possessed the rather unusual number of vj great bells in the steeple. The six great bells thus described were recast in the year 1689.
These bells were again recast in September, 1762 and two trebles added by Joseph Eayre of St. Neots. In 1784 the tenor was reintroduced to Edward Arnold's furnace, and further recasting was found unnecessary until 1901 when the treble was refashioned by Warner's. who also rehung the remainder in the present substantial steel frame. The treble at that stage was inscribed

With louder bells my voice I raise
To swell the great Creator's praise
Recast John Warner & Sons I.ondon, 1901
Recast by Subscriptions raised by Choir
L. Hewsley. Vicar

Wim. Onsiow Times Shillito . Geo. E Spurr. Churchwardens
H. G. Moulden Organist Oct. 1901.

In 1927 the three heaviest bells were hung in ball bearings. and in 1939 the complete ring was retuned and rehung (all on ball-bearings) hy John Taylor & Co.. who also recast the treble.

ST. MARI'S CHCRCH, HITCHIN.

INSCRIPTIONS

Treble.-That our sound might again go out Treffect harmony to Thee honour and glors 0 God most High; I was recast and the whole Peal was rehung

Towards the cost $£ 170$ was given and col lected by the Ringers themselves: O. C. Mears captain. W. L. Mackennal, C. J. Widdows, A. E. Beck, J. A. Males, churchwardens.

Second-At proper times my voice I'll raise and sound my subscribers' praise. Sept. 24th (1762).
Third.-John Pilkington Morgan. Vicar, Joseph Margetts Pierson, John Everitt, John Collinson, churchwardens.
Fourth,-We the sacred nuptials joyous proclaim and every sound and every vaired peal call smiles of transport from the happy pair. Anno Domini. 1762
Firth-Laudo Deum Verum. Plebem Voco. Congrego (Clerum)? Defunctos Ploro. Pestum Fugo. Festa Decoro. 1762.
Sixth. Omnia Fiant ad Gloriam Dea Joseph Eayre. St. Neots cast us all eight. Anno Domini (1762).
Seventh.-Pilkington Morgan. Vicar. John Everitt. John Collinson. Joseph Margett Pierson. Churchwardens. 1762.

Tenor.-Rev. W. T. Morgan. W. Chapman W. Powers. T. Goodman. Churchwardens Edward Arnold. St. Neots . Fecit. T. I to the Church the living call, And to the graves do summon all.

The fourth is a maiden bell
The Rev. John Pilkington Morgan, whose name is inscribed on the third, was instituted Vicar on August 18th. 1755; he died on July 16th. 1788. aged 72. and is interred within the church. It seems that the name W. T Morgan. inscribed on the tenur (1784), is an error: it may refer to a curate, but certainly not a Vicar at that time.

37 PEALS

A short ascent brings one to a tidy and commodious ringing gallery, from which 3 good view of the church interior can be obtained. Approximately 37 peals, including Hitchin Surprise, have been rung, the earlies by a local team of ringers on February 20th. 1782, comprising 5.040 changes of Plain Bob Triples. Another "local' peal materialised on May 12th. 1933, and those who took part were W. J. Houghton, Rev. R. F. J. Routh. A. E Symonds. W. Houghton. T. R. Scolt. H. W. Else, C. V. Hare and L. Fidler

In pre-war days a very keen band of ringers existed at Hitchin. and the ringing of Bristol Surprise on practice nights was a regular thing. Nowadays a few adults and several young people keep the bells active.

Mr. H. D. Trigg (lower secretary) explained various points of interest to the writer. one of which was a tower clock already ancient when repaired by John Briant, of Hertford, in 1792 ; it continues to give reliable service. A floor between the bells and the gallery contains a disused tune ringing machine made in 1885 by Gilletts. It has an interesting renertoire, including 'The Bluebells of Scotland.'

MR. S. 3. POUND
The Bath and Welks and Salisbury Guilds have lost a valued member by the death on August 3rd of Sidney John Pound after a short illness. He was 88 and had been a keen change ringer for nearly all the years of his long life.

Residing in earlier years at Ditcheat, then at Sioke Trister, he was a regular service and practice ringer at these towers and at Wincanton nearby. For the last nine years he had resided at Templecombe where in spite of advabced age he was still as regular as possible at practices and service ringing. His last ring was in a Sunday morning service touch six weeks before his passing.

The funeral took place at Templecombe on August 7th when several ringers from surrounding parishes attended. The service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. R. S. Jones. The interment was in the churchyard and immediately after the service a half-muffied quarter peel was rung as a tribute to his memory.

It was in three methods (Stedman, Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles) and the following ringers took part: P. Jeanes 1, F. J. Hazzard 2, J. Ralph 3. Mrs. D. J. Howcutt 4, H. P. Sparks (cond.) 5, E. Priddle 6.

The ringers of the 3 rd and 6 th were from Gillingham and Stourton Caundle and represented the North Dorset Branch, Salisbury Diocesan Guild, of which the deceased was a life member. P. N. H.

MR. JACK PAICE

We regret to hear of the death on August 11th of Mr. Jack Paice. of Croydon, who was trained as a carillonneur in Belgium and held the diploma. For some years he worked for Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and later for a short time with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. He was a lovable character and loved bells and ringing, writes a correspondent.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK W. ROGERS

 AN APPRECIATIONMr. B. P. Morris of Ashbourne writes:-
1 would like to write a few lines in tribute to my old friend Fred Rogers.

It was about 1931 when I first met Fred at Peterborough. on August Bank Holiday Monday at a district annual meeting, with Alf Greenwood. Charlie Roberts and Wilfred Williams, where they tapped off four "spliced where in this magnificent church Fred had an ring.

For several years during the early thirlies, I spent my holidays at Southsea and was always made welcome at St. Mary's, Portsea, where in this magnificent church Fred had an excellent ring of bells and a band that could ring same.

We spent some very good times together. I recall one peal of Superlative at Shoreham with Keith Hart and Oliver Sippetts. One Sunday evening we went to St. Peter's. Brighton, where Keith Hart really made the most of half an hour's Sunday ringing - no time wasted.

Although Surprise ringing at St. Mary's, Portsea, was then at a high level, Fred never neglected learners, but there was no halfmeasure in his teaching, nothing slip-shod would do.

The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild have lost a loyal and faithful servant in Fred Rogers who for years was general secretary and later master. I think George Pullinger paid an excellent tribute to him at the Guild's annual mecting, and I think it would have been a nice gesture if the recent peal at Winchester Cathedral had been rung as an 'in memoriam' to so prominent a member of the Exercise.
May he rest in peace.

MR. P. WESTON

Denby, Derbyshire, has lost an outstanding personality by the death in Derby City Hospital of Mr. Percy Weston, of Breach Road, Denby Village, aged 79. All his life had been spent at Denby and his service to St. Mary's Church included choirmaster for 71 years, bell-ringer and in charge of the bells for 65 years and verger and sexton. From 1937 until 1963 he was a member of the parish council and also manager and trustee of the village school.

At the funeral service the Vicar, the Rev. Jonn Tranter, said in an address: Percy Weston joined the choir at the age of nine and served God and his fellow men faithfully up to the time of his death. He loved the church and its fabric: he cared for the bells and the ropes, and his bell-ringing extended to many other churches in Derbyshire and the adjoining counties.

The bells of the parish church were rung half-muffled on the day preceding fas funeral as a tribute to his memory.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Despite the long draught, the meeting of the Bingham District at Langar was a success, with 11 towers being represented and visitors from Melton. Yorkshire, Hull. Newark, Leicester and Nottingham District. The District padre, the Rev. F. W. Stephenic, conducted the service, and tea was prepared by the District's ringing ladies. Ringing continued until 8 p.m.
September meeting. Radcliffe, to be followed by the first District ringers dance in the British Legion Hall.

BELFRY GOSSIP

ster, was married at Warminster Parish Church on August 8th to Mr. John Spencer, son of the Rev. E. Spencer, Vicar of St. Christopher's, Springfield, Birmingham. The bride has been teaching at Marlborough Gram mar Schnol for the past two years and her husband is a master at Solihull School. The bells of the Minster Church were well rung for the service but unfortunately a quarter peal in the evening was lost in the last few reads
A cockle and shrimp tea was provided by Southend and District Guild to mark the Golden Jubilee of the borough.

Miss Lynda Challinor is the new secretary of St. Peter's Church. Woolton, Liverpool. Her address is 10 . Dominic Close, Childwall, Jiverpool 16.

Mr. Edward W. Martin. of Great Bowden, had the pleasure of steering through their first neal the rest of the band who rang a peal of Doubles at Marston Trussel on August 3rd.
Mr. Peter S. Bennett thanks Mr. R. D Hart for standing in the peal at Arley on August 3rd at very short notice and great personal inconvenience

The ringer of the 3 rd in the peal of Stedman Cinques at Lincoln Cathedral on April 23 rd , 1964, was Peter A. Sharp and not Norah M. Randles as published.

In the peal of Grandsire Triples at Thurcaston, Leics, on Whit Monday, Raymond Benfield should have appeared instead of J. Richard Perkins. The conductor sends his apologies.
Mrs. A. Salter, of Hyson Green, Nottingham, writes thanking all ringers who visited her husband while in hospital. She is pleased to say that he is now at home at 64, Randal Street, and is progressing slowly.
Mr. J. E. Jeater will be away from home from August 20th to September 5th. Will all changes ot address, remittances and other correspondence be sent to the Editor of ' Ihe Ringing World 'Juring this period.

For more than 200 years oscillation of Magdalen Tower, Oxford, has been prevalent. The bells have been lowered 40 feet and are now housed in the old ringing chamber. The bell frame, put in by Mr. F. White's grandfather, was found to be in a perfect condition despite the fact that certain parts of the beam removed from the tower were riddled with 'death watch.' A new ringing chamber, 14 ft . 11 ins . high, has been provided and there is a clock chamber above that before reaching the bells.

The bells of Weldon, Northants, have been rehung by Mr. Frank White, of Appleton, and are now ringing again after a silence of two years. The treble and tenor ( 8 cwt .3 qr . 26 lbs.) have been recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.
We thank a Kent ringer for meeting onehundred and twentieth of the $£ 60$ extra entailed in our endeavours to get the journal to readers during the postal dispute. He adds: - I hope that all postal subscribers appreciate your action as much as I did, and will reimburse you for the expense incurred.'
'A ringing belle' from a Derbyshire tower asks if Darley Dale dropped a clanger:

- Noveniber the thirtieth,

St. Andrew's Day to a Scot,
Is also Winston's birthday,
Juby 29th is not.'
During a recent Tuesday practice at Wimborne Minster. five Bishops rang in a touch of Grandsire Doubles. They were not blackgaitered gentlemen but members of the Bishop family of Wimborne, and included two brothers, one son, one daughter and a niece. The top six. were rung on this occasion with a friend ringing the sixth.

Long Eaton public library has ordered three books on change ringing. A sudden demand for literature on bellringing? No, the librarian is a ringer and why should he buy books when the ratepayers can do it for him? The librarian is Mr. C. Browne: he is learning to ring at Breaston and is making good progress with Bob Doubles. - The Belfry News,' the newspaper of the Derbyshire bellingers.

ALL SAINTS', SHEFFIELD
12 Nov.. 1880 - A ring of 8 (augmented by Warners, the gift of Sir John Brown, dedicated. These bells are fitted in an iron frame instead of wood on account of insufficient space in the spire.

HURSLEY, NEAR WINCHESTER

The bells of Hursley, the home of John Keble, have been augmented and rehungDec., 1880. The five old bells had been badly hung many years previously. now hung by Hooper and Stokes, of Woodbury, Devon. New treble by Mears and Stainbank, and ringing chamber raised in height and put into order Mr. Seage's apparatus fitted.
Rev. A. D. Hill, The College, Winchester, writes, Will any ringers help me to make up a side capable of ringing 2 or 3 six-bell methods on the occasion of the re-opening on 14 Dec. 1880.'
On that day a party of 9 College Youths went for the reopening, but it was postponed at the last minute. However, they rang at Winchester College and the Cathedral instead.
Hursley bells were eventually rung by Winchester Cathedral ringers 11 Feb., 1881.
ST. STEPHEN'S, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE 17 Nov.. 1880. - New ring of 8 opened. Tenor 30 cwt . in D. Cast by Taylor's, Loughborough. Ellacombe chiming apparatus fitted. The renor can be raised by one man and rises true

A REVIEW OF RECENT COMPOSITIONS

By P. G. K. DAVIES

WHEN the study of composition is keen and intelligent, then practical ringing flourishes; when it has been languid, then practical ringing has declined.-J. A. Trollope.

The frequency with which compositions are published in 'The Ringing World' means that over several months quite a collection gathers together, and as often only the composer concerned judges their merits, a few comments might be appropriate.
Firstly, false peals still occur quite frequently. I think it should be a general rule that one competent person, other than the composer, checks any new composition before it is rung. This is particularly important when the composer is inexperienced or difficult splicing is involved. If this rule is not adhered to, disappointment is certain for some of the bands who have rung. Instances in the recent past can easily be quoted.

It has been pleasing to see that someone other than Mr. Pitman is tackling 'all the work' Spliced Surprise Major in several methods, and Mr. Richard Crosland has produced some very original work. The layman may not appreciate the fantastic complications involved in 'all the work' which is not, however, so difficult in the three-lead course stuff-especially up to eight standard methods. The middle lead is usually true and Rutland will go if London won't.
Compare Mr. R. Baldwin's five-part of the standard eight spliced ('R.W.' 3-4-64), with similar peals produced some years ago by Messrs. A. J. Pitman and W. E. Critchley. The thing to aim at would be to produce a peal simpler in calling than the previous ones. and with better, or equally good, distribution of methods. But Mr. Pitman has only 80 bobs to Mr. Baldwin's 105. and the method distribution is similar, except that Mr . Baldwin has only one lead of Pudsey per part (rather little). The later peal is similar to the others and where it differs it is really inferior.

The introduction of New Cambridge, according to C. D. P. Davies, quoting Sir A. P. Heywood, was to reduce the falseness of the parent method and get a change from Middleton's. What purpose is there in ringing this in spliced? Most people would agree that this is an inferior method, and its presence implies that the composer couldn't manage to get Cambridge in. I assure Mr. E. F. P. Bryant (15-11-63) that all the work compositions of Cambridge, Yorkshire and Rutland, with similar changes to these in his peals, are possible. In any case, this composition is on the same plan as that used by the late $\mathrm{J}_{\mathrm{p}} \mathrm{L}$. Morris in 1956, for the same three methods.

Whilst on the subject of spliced, I am pleased to see some original work by Norman Smith, using mixed long and short courses.

It amazes me that Mr. W. Eric Critchley thinks that the 5.088 Peterborough Surprise (25-10-63) could be original. The identical peal occurs in the Central Council Collection of Double Oxford. page 262, No. 16. by H. W. Wilde.
Another very unoriginal peal is that of 5.024 Llanfihangelrhydeithon Surprise (6-4-64) attributed to C. J. Sedgley. which is by Henry W. Wilde and was published in the issue of September 8th. 1911.

The first two parts of the Cleveland Surprise Maior, by J. R. Mayne (27-12-63), are Pitstow's well known three-part of Superlative, and surely originality cannot be claimed for the last part, which is wrong and three twice repeated, with a shunt bob at middle to produce the requisite part-end. With great respect to Mr. Mayne, whom I much admire as a ringer, the peal should be Pitstow's (or some other early composer of Superlative).

It is, of course, desirable that figures should be published if they are not readily available, but why republish figures when they are in recent collections? The peal of Putney (3-1-64) is in the 1950 Collection, page 29. No. 28; the peal of Hounslow by A. Knights ( 26664 ) is in the same collection, page 30 , No. 25. and the peal of Gloucestershire ( $4-10-63$ ) is Washbrook's London (C.C.C., page 47, No. 1). All that was necessary in these cases was the page reference given together with the appropriate place notation, instead of wasting space writing out the composition; this is done as I suggest by Mr. Mayne on page 534 (7-8-64) when he refers to a composition in another issue.

The question of claiming clean-proof scale Surprise Royal raises many doubts in my mind and there is much to be said for the custom amongst certain eminent conductors, not to mention any composer (as happens with Maximus). Clean-proof scale Royal is excellent practice for the beginner composer as it is one of the easiest things to compose, but it is doubtful if most are not variations of peals rung 50 or more years ago to Plain Royal. The Pudsey Special (31-7-64) is really just calling the fifth right, wrong, right, three times (as in Bob Minor) with blocks of three added to make up the 14 courses. The same simplicity applies to long lengths where no falseness is involved. All one has to do is add the necessary number of blocks of three.

It is clear that a certain amcunt of confusion is occurring. It is much worse in Association annual reports where some composers put their names to almost anything and nobody is available to correct. For example. I see a peal of Plain Bob credited to a well-known ringer which is by John Reeves, 1788. Other compositions are passed from conductor to conductor without publication. Perhaps someone should collect the commonest of these and expose them (with reference to the original composer.)

Finally may I suggest that a clearing house for compositions is necessary to help the editor. A committee could be appointed to whom compositions should be submitted for comment, still leaving the final decision in the hands of the editor. This committee would not have authority to stop publication if the composer still considered his peal meritorious. This system would at least prevent gross blunders and be an advisory centre for the young composer who sends his efforts to the editor. only to find after publication that they are worthless. The trouble nowadays is that it is almost impossible for the learnercomposer to produce anything worthwhile. and a long apprenticeship must be served. Never before has there been such a demand for the expert composer. Several bands have reopened vast territories in Spliced Surprise Royal and Maximus, hardly touched by the composer. Gone are the days when the composer could put out simple compositions of Plain Bob and Superlative! This clearing house would also save the embarrassment of writing and reading the correcting letter. and anyway corrections often don't catch up with errors. The difficulty would be finding competent people to serve since some of the biggest names are the worst offenders. How about it, Peals Collection and Editorial Committees?

EAST RIDING'S PANTEC HNICON-CYCLING TOUR

THIS year the East Riding Ringers' 'PolyGold' tour was held in the GioucesterWorcester area, rich in fruit production and especially apples thus giving rough cider and explaining why we were in this area at all!). As usual a furniture van was employed to convey the bikes and their riders to the starting point. Stratford-on-Avon. Here we helped to p-oduce the proper atmosphere of Shakespearean England for the American tourists by ringing the bells of Holy Trinity Church for an hour. It was only at this late stage that the fact struck many people that they would now have to cycle 20 miles in a head wind before having another ring and a bed for the night

This 20 miles in fact proved a testing ground for many people: the Master of the Manchester University Guild (an honoured guest !) found he had a perished inner tube and after mending four punctures in as many minutes he gave the task up and started walking. He was very lucky however, and after walking for a mere hour was picked up by a passing van and conveyed in luxury to Stow-on-the-Wold where a new inner tube awaited him.

Meanwhile Ron Ducker cunningly managed to get his chain entangled in his back wheel. so locking it while travelling downhill. Thus by the time he stopped the road had worn a nice hole in his tyre casing. Here we were. able to make a temporary repair however. which got him to Moreton-in-Marsh where a new tyre was procured. Although one or two sthers suffered punctures the majority had only to contend with exhaustion and for those who reached Stow in time the bells were well worth it.
Stow Youth Hostel is sandwiched between two pubs and every other building in Stow seems to he a tavern-sn the reader can probably guess how the older ringers spent their evening.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING

On Sunday (August 2nd) the party of 39 split up to fill 39 vacancies in Sunday service bands in the area and to stay for the servics. The five who went to Upper Slaughter thought that they would try a simple quarter peal of Grandsire. This somehow came to grief. however, at the end of the first 240 when the conductor for some inexplicable reason called This is all: We joined a party of Girl Guides from Bushey for Matins and were entertained to a bellringing sermon by the Vicar who explained the difficulty he had had in Bath after the war in trying to stop anti-hell movements among his parishioners and quoted the old 18 th century rhyme that had been sent to him:

Ye rascals of ringers-ye merciless foes,
Disturbers of all who seek calm repose.
How I wish for the peace and the good of the land
Ye would wind round your neck what you hold in your hand.
Another group went to attempt a quarter at Broadwell but one of the band fell off her bicycle at the bottom of a steep descent and unfortunately had to be taken to hospital suffering from concussion etc.

Randall (Warwick), G. Blackborn (Goole) D. Swan, I. Stevens (Selby), S. Royal (Kenilworth), D. Whitehead (Selby).

In the afternoon various towers were visited including Adlestrop. Here the ropes fall within inches of the wall so causing the treble ringer to be very unsociable and stand facing a corner. The tenor ringer also found it easier to stand facing the treble and nier over his shoulder at the 4 th. Three quarters were attempted in the evening but all came to grief. Cambridge at Stow half way through, Grandsire (it was to have been Stedman but the conductor had to be abandned in the wilds with a damaged back axle) at Kingham neas the end and ope of Doubles at Broadwell in the last extent.
August Bank Holiday Monday started with a ride over the Cotswolds to Broadway, where the six proved rather difficult to handie. Then after lunch to the glorious 8 at Mickleton and the 12 at Evesham. To the latter we unfortunateiy did not do justice although the holiday makers seemed reasonably pleased to hear the bells ringing out. The other towers of the day were Hinton-on-the-Greeen and Dumbleton. From Dumbleton the road dragged uphill almost continuously for eight miles to Cleeve Hill Hostel. The warden was obviously unused to ringers and hadn't anticipated that we would still he struggling in for 7.30 supper at 8.45 . Later in the evening a few climbed down a mountain for some cider.

CHURCHYARD EPITAPH

Tuesday dawned another glorious day for the downhill rides to Prestbury where we were amused by the local ringers rhymes on the walls. Thence to the splendid 12 at Cheltenham where we were met by Cyril Wratten. It Was generally agreed that this was the best ringing to date and even our course of Maximus went well. We noted a churchyard epitaph which could perhaps be adapted to ringing by someone(!):

Here lies John Higgs
A famous man for killing pigs,
For killing pigs was his delight
Both morning. afternoon and night
Both heats and colds he did endure
Which no physician could ere cure
His knife is laid, his work is donc:
I hope to heaven his soul is gone.
At lunch in Charlton Kings we were regaled with the experiences of the motorised brigade at their Cheltenham hotel. It was stated that one member had been seen crawling down the entrance hall at midnight mumbling 'I'm not drunk.' This was, no doubt, somewhat exaggerated.

Charlton Kings bells went very well after lunch and, since none of the rings in Gloucester were available for a variety of reasons. we rang at Barnwood instead. It had been thought that we would be able to join in at the practice at the Cathedral in the evening but this was not to be and after a lot of messing around we had a ten minute ring at $S t$. Mary de Crypt.

CONFIDENCE AT TEWKESBURY
Wednesday started with a ring at Bishop's Cleeve where the ringing chamber is reached by a Tudor staircase and was followed by the pleasant five hung in an Elizabethan wooden tower at Tredington. Lunch was enjoyed on the lawn of the Odessa Inn on the iewkesbury road where a variety of foods was available, and members were observed eating cockles, mussels and $\frac{1}{4}$ chickens. The 12 at Tewkesbury went extremely well and we confidently rang our complex (three consecutive bobs !) touch of Kent Max. Tirley and Eldersfield, both sixes, followed and a small group cycled on to grab Castle Morton-a light six with a very long draught. The youth hostel at Malvern Wells was the best on the tour but the warden tended to have the cares of real hostellers more at heart.
Thursday it rained. That would perhaps normally be enough to explain the whole day but we had some really splendid rings in front of us. The first tower contained the excellent 8 at Malvern Link with a perfect Taylor (c. 1900) circle. At this stage one cyclist, after resoling his shoes all week with puncture repair outfits, decided to buy some new ones at great expense ( $19 / 11 \mathrm{~d}$ ). Then. via a couple more punctures to the six at Leigh (pronounced Ly) before lunch.
After lunch came the highlight of the tour for many, Worcester Cathedral. Here we found the hells easier going than anticipated and managed reasonahly well. The elght at St John's followed and we were able to show a couple of young girls from the town the in tricacies of ringing-perhaps they ll take it up in later years. After a good course of Lincolnshire Surprise we cycled on in the rain to the light ten at Claines. Time was cut short here because of the weather and so we dragqed back through Worcester thus crossing it for the fourth limel in the rush hour to the very heavy six at Powick. The weather men had obviously decided by this time that a heavy drizzle was not enough and so on the way back to the hostel the heavens really emptied down on us. It was too much to expect that we could get through a whole summer tour without a real soaking. We had heard during the day, however, that our casualty of Sunday had left hospital and returned home ; obviously the fruit and flowers we had sent the day before had done a power of good!

CONVIVIAL EVENING

A convivial evening was spent in the Railway Inn' and singing included such famous ringing songs as She'll be ringing Grandsire Triples when she comes, calling "Bob. Bob, Single, Single, Bob". (to the tune of Shell be coming round the Mountain ') and 12 good ringers, ringing Maximus well and if one good ringer should overturn his bell. there d be 11 good good ringers, ringing Cinques well (to the tune of ' 10 Green Bottles').
The first tower on Friday was Longdon where we found that the six bells are normally clocked-an appalling practice. Here we suffered our only broken rope of the tour. A long cycle ride took us to Eckington where our special method was Wells Surprise before we moved on to the famous ringing chamber at Pershore Abbey. One or two of our party decided not to risk the caged-in chamber suspended frem the roof whilst others bolted rapidly after ringing, suffering from various stages of vertigo. We would like to apologise to Paul Cattermole for, due to a misunderstanding. we ang for rather too long to enable him to complete his peal attempt (started after we had finished) before Evensong.
Some ringers then took the wrong route to Bishampton (and also suffered from a puncture) but all arrived eventually to be met by Vicar. a great enthusiast. who was himself responsible for the installation of this pleasant ring of six in the ' 30 s . The last tower of the day was Salford Priors and here the old sixth hell of 1735 is preserved in the church and was replaced in the tower by a Peace' bell.

NOTORIETY!

From Salford it was only two miles to Broom Y.H.A. where it seemed that our reputation (or was it notoriety?) had arrived long before us. Even the local publicans had been told to expect us by the Youth Hostel warden!
The last official tower of the tour was Bidford-on-Avon (a pleasant Rudhall six to which two indifferent trebles had been added). However (thanks to the assistance of the temporary incumbent of Bidford) the Vicar of Welford-on-Avon. himself a ringer. kindly allowed us to ring on the first rate light six at his tower before returning to Stratford to pick up the furniture van. As the bikes were loaded it started to pour with rain again and "so we were pleased to have escaped it.
Thus ended a splendid tour, ably organises by łan Goldthorpe, bat due in great measure of course to the kind co-operation of incumbents and Ringing Masters of the towers visited and the wardens of the youth hostels.

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUILD ROMANCE

Two former officers of the Manchester University Guild. Mr. John Harry Seanes, of Gorleston. Norfolk, a former Matter, and Miss Nancy Robins, of Brixham, Devon, a former secretary, were married at All Saints former secretary, were married at All Saints Church. Brixham. on August 15 h. The best man was the present Master. This is the sixth marriage between Guild members in three years, and these include four ex-Masters and three ex-secretaries.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

The Mansfield District held their bi-monthly meeting at Sutton-in-Ashfield on July 25 th. Notice of this failed to reach the R.W: owing to the postal dispute, and only District towers received reminders. Nevertheless, a pleasant afterngon and evening's ringing was had by all. The final of the Crawford Cup contest will be held at Cuckney on the next meeting date-September 26th. D. J. B.
'TANFIELD' REGAINED

Thought of revival first sprang to mind when perusing the columns of some 19 th century editions of 'The Bell News, where it was reported that in 1896 the ringers of Tanfield challenged the ringers of Newcastle to a game of cricket and a right royal battle ensued on the village ground
Notion became fact in 1957, just over 60 years after the first match, when the then president of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association issued a challenge for a return contest to the then Vicar of Tanfield, who readily accepted, and a most enjoyable sacial cum-ringing occasion resulted. The success of the venture called for repetition and Tanfield 'took its place in the local ringing calendar on the third Saturday each July until 1961, when St. Margaret's belis were pronounced unringable owing to the discovery of a destructive fungus in the woodwork of the tower.

Thnee seemingly interminable years then followed when the sounds of bells and hat on ball were silenced, but with the advent of a new Vicar, who is a ringer, hopes for a restoration of ' Tanfield, rose hign. The Vicar, the Rev. A. J. G. Eliery, soon showed that these hodes were not in vain, for within 18 months of his induction we were able to arrange for another. Tanfield,' complete with newly rehung and refitted bells, on July 18th, 1964.

The day dawned the wettest of the summer and prospects for play looked grim. Ringers. like actors, however, are good troupers and the show must go on whatever befalls. So it was that over 50 ringers turned out, some from as far afield as Ripon, in Yorkshire, in order to keep the appointment. The president, Mr. E. P. Rock, was unfortunately unable to be present, owing to iblness, and Mr. K. Arthur, the Ringing Master, was deputed io act as captain of the president's team. A slight easing of the downpour raised hopes for the match and after an inspection of the wicket, which had been prepared on the Vicarage lawn, it was decided to defer the decision to start until after tea and to limit play to 12 overs a side. Meanwhile, full opportunity was taken to try out the newly restored bells in the tower and at 4.30 p.m an adjournment was made to the nearby Peacock Inn, where a sumptuous tea had been prepared by the local branch of the Mothers' Union.

Following a short business meeting, a return was made to the church. where the Vicar conducted a ringers service, in which handbell ringing and the ringers' hymn ( A . and M .) were featured. Then having been physically and spiritualy refreshed and with the improvement in the weather being maintained, a general movement was made to the field of play, and after a brief consultation the captains agreed to make a start using a matting wicket. The local men won the toss and put the visitors in to bal-and the battle was on The result? Well, without going into detail it will suffice to say that the tables were turned and for the first time the men of Tanfield carried the day-the scores being President's XI: 30 for seven wickets;
Tanfield XI: 51 for nine wickets.
Hightights of the game were some big hitting by a certain ringer from Teeside, including one swipe which was 'homed, on to the church tower: a superh catch on the boundary by a 'fielder who turned out to be a spectator: and some stubborn batting by the Lanchester contingent, which turned the game in favour of the home side after an apparent collapse, when the score stood at 0 for theee wickets. Mr. Arthur congratulated the winners on their success, saying that the change in the result was no doubt due to the enthusiasm of the new incumbent.
To round off another 'Tanfield.' further ringing was enjoyed by manv until 9 p.m.. while other devotees got together in the "historic' surroundings of the Peacock to mull over the day's proceedings and to regain the climate of the occasion.

A BRISTOL UNIVERSITY WEDDING

The wedding took place at St. Peters, Dorchester. on July 4th, of Mr. Royston Blackler and Miss Jane Tuffin. Both are members of the U.B.S.C.R.. the bridegroom a Past Master, while the bride is well known to many resident members. having graduated in 1963. Thy best man was Mr. John Mackie, also a member of the Society, while the two charming bridesmaids were the Misses Myra Savage and Anne Kemp
The ringers at St. Peter's, the bride's home tower, rang before the wedding and despite heavy traffic in the town the bride arrived on time. Sunshine greeted the happy couple after the ceremony and the bells were rung out merrily by ringers from Babbacombe, where the bridegroom learned to ring.

At the reception at St. Peter's Hall there was a large number of friends. including many from the U.B.S.C.R. Naturally the following extracts from John Mackie's speech were received by them with enthusiasm. John said of Royston: He taught me to "ring the changes" for as you see, he is no "Plain changes" for as you see, he is no "Plain Bob." However he has now become a "Steady-man" and we think this is "Grandsir." This " touch " " "course" of - Doubles ". is a "Royal ffair, With his he got through without "Erin."

Jane and Roynton are making their home in Nottingham

More Computer Methods

Mr. Hugh Bishop, of 29. Grange Road Cambridge. has recently obtained some Surpri.e methods from the University computer. They are based on the same possible place notation of the Hudson-McClenahan collec t:on, except double changes have not been included. Wrong places are allowed but only methods with no false course heads are printed. There are only 311 methods, but many of these should be well worth ringing.

5,184 Whempstead Surprise Major BY STEPHEN IVIN

Rung at Benington, May 30th, 1964.

Letters to the Editor

Non-conducted Holt's Original
Dear Sir,-The members of the band who rang the above on July 16 th will. I am sure, wish to thank Mr. T. E. Sone for his congratulations. He was surprised that the peal was 'published without an umpire.' We are equally surprised at his surprise.

The Central Council's conditions for peals require an umpire in the case of a peal rung to surpass previous peals of 6,720 changes and upwards. There is no other requirement for an umpire, to my knowledge. The only differences between the non-conducted peal and an ordinary one were (a) a welcome relief from chatterers and (b) the need for finding six people who could learn the position of the calls. No need to find a 'conductor'-by the nature of the performance there can be nothing to conduct.

With Bill Birmingham's figure picture of the calling it was a simple matter of memory, especially for the younger ones, to learn the calling. Nobody suggested an umpire when we rang Parker's one-part similarly last year. There could be far more need for one when one of our experts in belfrymanship is using a composition unknown to the rest of the band.

In the same issue of the 'R.W.' there were 47 other peals. One was a record length and had an umpire. In the others 334 ringers took part and the need for an umpire to prove that they rang what they claim is not suggested.

A postscript.-At a previous attempt we did have an umpire (quite fortuitously) and every time we saw him tick his figures we had the reassurance that we were still right. Surely moassurance truly 'silent without that!-Yours sincerely,

WILFRID G. WILSON.
London.
Dear Sir,-I was recently invited hy the hand who rang Holt's Original at Harrow Weald to umpire this peal, hut unfortunately I could not be present. A few weeks previously I umpired an unsuccessful attempt hy the same band and enjoyed about two hours of beautiful ringing.

One of the band after this attempt remarked that an umpire like me was quite useful, because I was taking such an obvious interest in the matter when calls were imminent, and looked so relaxed at plain leads: next time I must do it Harry Withers style!Yours sincercly,

BILL COLES.

Hillingdon.

Dear Sir,-In addition to Mr. T. E. Sone I, too, congratulate the band who rang the non-conducted Holt's Original at Harrow Weald on July 16th. As no umpire is mentions it is a query who called 'Go' and 'That's all': if by one of the band it would not be absolutely silent.
I well remember ringing the same composition silent at St. John's, Waterloo Road, London, S.E., on June 4th, 1898, with Fred Perrin (nicknamed Derf Nirrep) as umpire, who called 'Go' at the commencement and 'That's all' at the end, not a word being spoken by any ringer.

During the last 700 there was loud knocking on the belfry door. Fred ejaculated. "We shan't be long "; this did not disturb the band. -Yours, etc.,
G. E. SYMONDS.

Ipswich.

20,160 Double Norwich Court Bob Major

Dear Sir-It is with mixed feelings that I read the news of W.W.'s masterpiece being surpassed at last. W.W. was a man of many parts, but with Double Norwich he was supreme. On Sunday evenings when he had brought round a spectacular touch he would jump off the tenor box, rush across the belfry, fling open the door and say, 'Hark! buckets full of music rolling down the stairs.' And he was right: far superior music to what is produced from these fancy-named Surprise methods of today.
Many an evening practice in the dim light of the smoke, after a couple of L.B.M.'s, he would describe the drama and glory of the Wigston peal-of whether to call it round or not, and the uncertainty of whether he had won or lost. In one mood he would claim the Wigston tenor was 261 lb . heavier than that at Llanfeigan. It has, however, taken 60 years to lower the Wigston record.-Yours, etc.,
A. FLAT.

Ringing Courses

Dear Sir,-As I receive frequent requests for dates and information about bellringing courses pending. it would help me if I could be given such information by those organising courses in beMringing

I should he grateful if those concerned would be so good as to let me know of any courses that are planned.-Yours, etc..

Cambridge Royal Peal

Dcar Sir-In case no one else has pointed it nut. the composition of Cambridge Royal on page 540 of the 'R.W.' for August 7th appears in my collection as the property of the Rev. E. Bankes James. Unfortunately I have not recorded where I found it so am unable to give 'chapter and verse.' No doubt someone else will oblige, if necessary- Yours faithfully, STEPHEN IVIN.

Houghton Conquest, Beds.

Enderby Surprise Major

Dear Sir-The list of 18 f.c.h.s for Enderby was most impressive: hut would it not have been shorter to print just one member from each group, or better still to say 'falsencss: groups D, N. O. T.' The information is useless anyway, without incidence, as the method is obviously not pealable in full courses.Yours faithfully. D. J. MARSHALL.

Long Eaton, Nottingham.

Dear Sir-We have, on page 550. 'R.W.' August 14th, in the report of the peal of Enderby S.M., a prime example of the futility of publishing false course ends (or heads if you prefer it) without including their incidence.

At first glance one is much impressed by the ingenuity of the composer in producing a peal in a method with 18 f.c.es. Visions of a complex tenors parted peal arise.

However, on proving the method the truth dawns. One is tempted to ask whether it is coincidence that the length of the peal is 40 courses with a Before in each, such courses, being clean proof.-Yours sincerely, being clean proof.-Yours sincereiy,
Eastleigh, Hants.

A Washington Visit

Dear Sir -On a recent visit to my daughter and son-in-law in America I was extremely fortunate to be able to spend two days in Washington and whilst there I quite naturally made a special point of visiting the magnificent Cathedral Church of St. Peter and St. Paul.
After numerous preliminary inquiries I was introduced to the assistant cberk of works. Mr. J. Fanfani, who for the summer months is Acting Ringing Master, and be quite readily agreed to conduct me to the recently dedicated lower for an inspection of the bells, the spacious ringing room and the carillon. As the bells were already silenced for practice I was privileged to ring up one of the bells, and the ringing conditions were certainly most impressive. Mr. Fanfani invited me to assist at the weekly practice on Saturday morning, but our schedule did not ablow for a longer stay and I had to be content with a silent ring.

My wife and I were most thrilled to be conducted around the wonderful Cathedral of which the foundation stone was laid in 1912 and is still only partly completed. I was most grateful to receive from Mr. Fanfani a copy of the magnificent coloured brochure produced in connection with the recent dedication of the Gloria in Excelsis Tower. Circuldtion of the brochure has been very limited and my copy was inscribed by Mr. Fanfani as follows:

Presented with the compliments of the Washington Cathedral Rineing Band.'
It was made abundantly clear to us what a wonderful impression was left behind the English ringers and we shall always cherish the memory of our visit. - Yours faithfulhy.

Kirk Ella, East Yorks.

'Bottling up' the sound

Dear Sir.-I recently came across another tower where sound control is inadequate due to the local church council's knowledge that to do so would imperil the tower by 'bottling up the sound

In my opinion less and less rings of hells will be available in the future for practices. meetings, tours and peals unless sound control is introduced widely. One of the obstacles to introducing sound control is this misconception on 'bottled up sound.'

It would be a great heln if the Towers and Belfries Committee would issue a statement which would convince people that the sound from bells, bottled up or otherwise, has absolutely no deleterious effect on the tower structure.-Yours faithfullv.

Derby.

Yorkshire Royal in Herefordshire

Dear Sir.-Whilst congratulating the band that rang the Deal of Yorkshire Royal at Hereford Cathedral recently, it is not the first peal of Yorkshire Royal in the county. One was rung at Leominster on Aoril 7th. 1956. -Yours faithfully, Lichfield.

First Handbell Peal in America

Dear Sir.-I wish to amend. through the columns of 'The Ringing World.' the fontnote to the handbell peal rung in Washington. D C.. U.S.A.. on May 7th. 1964.
The footnote should read: 'First neal on eight handbells and of Major in U.S.A.

I am obliped to Messrs. Kenneth Arthut and Roland Park for writing on the subject and trust that the foregoing is acceptable for record purposes. - Yours sincerely.

OBITUARY

MR. ALBERT A. HUGHES AN APPRECIATION
With the death of Albert A. Hughes the London ringing scene is deprived of another inspiring and stalwart character.
Although he was known to have given generously of himself to church and civic life, he may well be best remembered by College Youths for his services as an officer of the Society and for his always genial companionship.

Throughout a membership of over sixty vears he had enjoyed the full confidence of his colleagues. His Mastership during the 1914-1918 war was a memorable one and, without the generous hospitality he and Mrs. Hughes extended at the foundry from 1941 until 1954 it is hard to believe that continuity in the Society's activities could have been maintained.
Bert Hughes was a City liveryman and, quietly, over many influential years, he caused the College Youths to absorb something of the best in City tradition. The Society's proceedings today owe much to his example and by maintaining the simple dignities of the anniversary dinnens, the Society will help to perpetuate the standards he valued and exemplified.

Always forward-looking and youthfully enthusiastic, he was also a valued link with ringing heroes of the past. His early ringing career was greatly influenced by the famous Matthew A. Wood, and it was at Bethnal Green that he learned to delight in good striking of the simpler methods. His apprenticeship on the rough-going East End rings enabled him later to tackle successfully many notable heavy bells and, although he did not aspire to the most complex heights of change ringing, he had taken a place with the best in Stedman Cinques. He was proud of having rung in the 1918 Thanksgiving for Victory peal at St. Paul's Cathedral, conducted by Mr. William T. Cockerill, and, until incurring a shoulder injury in the late 1950 's, he regularly joined in the Sunday morning Siedman Cinques at St. Michael's, Cornhill.

Many will remember his conviviality. He loved the company of ringers and, ensconced in the meeting room with hat, pipe and stick, would talk happily with young friends and old, often regaling his companions, in convincing West Country style, with tales of the legendary Bulling-Hesse-Coleridge ringing tours.

The wise counsels of this kindly gentleman will be greatly missed, and all ringers will regret that to the roll of names such as Wood, Pettit, Cockerill, Lewis and Peck, the College Youths must now add, sadly but proudly, the name of Albert Arthur Hughes.
J. E. C.

Mr. William Shepherd (Addlestone) writes:-
Bert was a fine personality and carried on the business with striking efficiency. Like his father, Arthur Hughes, he was a great friend of ringers, was a good practical ringer and certainly we have lost one of the best shining lights of the Exercise. My deep sympathy goes to Mrs. Hughes and the family.'

Rev. St. Bartholomew has not been left out. The plain course of Thurlby is made up of Grandsire Singles. Such a 'plain course ' is usually called 'Rev. St. Bartholomew.' Warning.
Before calling methods in Part D to peals (or quarters) please check them even if they have been named. Those in Part D under the heading false have been called to quarters and. perhaps, to peals although we have not seen them in a peal column.
Some named methods in Part D could be another way of writing a method which appears in Part C: cf. Warkton and Charlton with Oxford and Honeysuckle.

JOINT MEETING AT HARROW

ihere was a good attendance, with over 50 members present, at Harrow-on-the-Hill for the joint meeting between the North and East Districts of the Middlesex County Association and the Central District of the Ladies' Guild on August 8th.

From 3 p.m. onwards the bells ( $8,19 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) rang out to a variety of methods, including Spliced Surprise: the ringing being of good standard. $\Lambda_{n}$ all ladies touch of Stedman Triples showed that the services of the gentlemen were not really necessary, even to handle the heavier bells. The roof of Harrow Church is easily accessible from the belfry, and many took the opportunity to have a look at the latest acquisition to London's skyline, viz., the new Post Office Tower, near Tottenham Court Road.
The service was conducted by the Rev. Guy Whitcombe, vicar of St. Mary's, who gave an enjoyable rêsumé of the history of bells throughout the ages. Mr. White accompanied at the organ. An excellent tea then followed in the adjacent Church Hall.
As most of the ladies present were members of the Middlesex Association, the business of that Association was first on the agenda. At this meeting Mr. M. Miller (Stanmore), Miss Susan Jenkins and Mr. C. Brundrett (Harrow Weald) were elected as ringing members, and Miss Christine Rimmer (St. Albans). Peter Joyce (Farnborough), Julia A. Fellows (St. Albans) and Malcolm M. Powell (Bristol) added to the list of non-resident life members Visitors present included Mr. M. J. Hallett, secretary of the S.W. District of the Essex Association, and Mr. H. Heath, secretary of the Chippenham Branch, Gloucester and Bristol Association.
Before tha Middlesex members returned to the belfry. Mr. G. Hart thanked all who had contributed to the success of the proceedings: Miss Lorna Simpson for making the arrangements and other members of the local band and Mr. Rose for an excellent tea. Mrs. T. J. Lock expressed the thanks of the Ladies Guild for the arrangements made for a joint meeting at rather short notice.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM LINTER

We regret to record the death of Mr. William Linter, of 16, Uplands Crescent, Fareham, on August 15th. aged 74.
Mr Linter came of a bellringing family and rang with his father and brothers at Swanmore. Hants. For many years he was a Church Army officer and worked in various centres.
After settling in Fareham, he took an active part in local ringing, ringing in peals at various churches. He served the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild faithfully as treasurer and also as chairnhan of the Portsmouth District, and when unable to take an active part maintained his contact with the Exercise through 'The Ringing World.
Mr. Linter was one of the ringers who took part in 'The Great Adventure' to Australia and New Zealand in 1934.
The funeral service was at Fareham on August 19th and was followed by interment at Swanmore. There was half-murled ringing on the ten bells at Farcham after the service.

MR. P. SWINDLEY

Regretting the passing of Mr. P. Swindley, of Chester, Mr. B. Harris writes: Though a controversial figure in Cheshire ringing, he had given a great deal of encouragement to many. including myself. He had a clever knack in selecting simple new methods for inexperienced bands and there were several of us ringing with him round about 1950 who had rung only very few peals, but in a great variety of methods.
Though a capable conductor and tenor man, he was always ready to hand over these duties to others to encourage them. He was always ready to help out with train fare or non-resident life subscriptions for those of us who were then still at school.

WILBURTON, ELY, CAMBS.-On Aug. 5th, 1.260 Plain Bob Minor: Mrs. A. Payne 1. G. Markwell 2. Miss J. Conk 3, D. Murfett 4, J. Causer 5, A. Payne (cond.) 6. Rung half-muffled in memoriam Mrs. H. M. Boswell, wife of Rev. H. M. Boswell (retired). Vicar from 1946-1958.

OUTINGS

CHARING AND LITTLE CHART, KENT
The success of the outing of Charing and Little Chart ringers and friends on July 25 th justifies the hope of making it an annual event.

Sussex was entered after ringing at Sandhurst (6), and Burwash and Heathfield provided eight-bell ringing to which a large proportion of the party were unaccustomed. Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were, however, achieved. Ringing at Warbleton (6) followed a picnic lunch. The afternoon's towers were Hailsham (8) and Westham (6), where Stedman provided the best ringing of the day.

An hour was spent on the beach at Pevensey and then came high tea at Sedlescombe. At the church a rope was broken. Ringing ended at Northiam (6), where a course of Cambridge was rung. Incumbents and ringers who met the party are thanked for their kind co-operation.

HARSTON AND DISTRICT

Cars from Harston, Haslingfield and Meldreth, nine in all, took ringers and their families to visit some Bedfordshire sixes on August Bank Holiday.
Ringing started at 10 a.m. at Henlow, then the party went on to Arlesey. The next move was to Haynes for five bells and a picnic lunch in the churchyard. Here it was discovered that two junior members of the company were no longer with us. However, they were speedily recovered from police custody in Arlesey.
The interval before tea at Sandy was pleasantly filled by calls at Silsoe, Elstow and Cople. Half an hour at Potton rounded off a most successful day.

We are all most grateful to the local ringers and to Brian Threbfall for his efficient organisation.
H. E. B.

A SOUVENIR

We feel certain that the silver and blue ash or pin tray which Mr. W. H. Viggers is now marketing specially for those with an interest in bells will meet a demand from ringers and their friends. The bell which forms the centrepiece, is modeHed from Bow tenor. Details were advertised on p. 571 of last week's issue.

Editor: T. W. Whirs.

The 92nd birthday of the G.O.M. of the Dunster Branch, Mr. Jack Pugsley, was duly honoured on August 15th by a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples on Minehead bells. For many years Mr. Pugsley was conductor of this tower, and also Ringing Master of the Dunster Branch of the Bath and Wells Association. There was a late completion of the band, and Messrs. P. J. Mallock and C. J. Clegg, of Ashton-underLyne, and Mr. F. C. Arscott, of S.lworthy, are thanked for their services.
Mr. Frederick Sharpe asks for photographs of cracked towers, especially those split vertically. His address is ' Derwen,' Launton, Bicester, Oxon.
Two eminent Sussex ringers taking part in a recent peal attempt found that a third hand would have come in useful to hold up their self-supporting' trousers.
Mr. Peter Brid3e, of Long Ashton, met with a cycling accident on August 9th, receiving head injuries. He is now recovering in White Ward of the Bristol Royal Infirmary, after having been unconscious for several days. His friends wish him a speedy recovery.
We hope that 14 -year-old Lesley Britton, one of St James', Taunton, teenage ringers, whose name appears in our quarter peal column, will be able to continue her ringing at Slough. Her father, who is a schoolmaster, was a lay reader at St. James'.
The 75th birthday of Mr. Charles Geary, of Long Eaton, was not only commemorated by a peal on Long Eaton bellus on which he rang the fifth on the actual day, but with the presentation of a pipe and tobacco afterwards in 'The Queen's.' This is reputed to be the first building Charley entered when he came to Long Eaton over 50 years ago.
On a recent Yorkshire peal week, Kenneth B. Sissons, of All Saints', Sherburn-in-Elmet, rang his 100th peal for the Yorkshire Association, being the fifth ringer from this tower to do so during the past seven years. Also Alan Sheppard and John Potts rang their 100th peal logether, being the second pair from this tower to do so during the same priod.

grandson Christopher, aged 14 years. It had long been Henry's ambition to ring in his grandson's first peal and this was achieved at the first attempt. Inese three generations have rung in a 'first' together before at Cardigan in August, 1962, when Christopher rang his first quarter at the age of 12 .
A correspondent who read with great interest Mr. Peter Came's article comments that Mr. John Betjeman entitled his autobiographical blank-verse peom, 'Summoned by bells.'
Mr. P. D. Chapman informs us that Miss Janct Gamble is the first lady taught in Walthamstow tower to ring a quarter peal there. Her twin sister hopes soon to ring her first quarter there.
R. Offen, aged 11, of Tenterden, writes regarding 'spur stays, that he has found another tower in Kent with a complete set-at Egerton ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.). These bells are rung regularly.
Mr. F. A. Salter, of St. Peter's, Nottingham, has recently left the City Hospital, where he underwent a major operation. His many friends in and around the Mansfield district wish him a speedy recovery, and look forward to ringing with him again before long;
The so-called Battle of Hastings, 1964; did not hinder the ringing, at the first attempt, of the first peal on the new Taylor eight at St. Clement's, Hastings. Three of the ringers in this peal have now completed the 'hat-trick' by ringing peals at the three Hastings towers on successive Bank Holidays.
The Percy twins-Susan and Charles-childiren of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. R. Percy, of Willington, Sussex, rang their first quarter at Bobbing, Kent, on August 10th. Father and mother and sister Janet, who conducted, also rook part. Tenor man was Mr. F. J. Cheal, with whom the Percy family had a very enjoyable holiday. Ringing was at Rainham, Milton Regis, Hartlip and Hoo.

BELLS - A NUISANCE

By MICHAEL R. MEADOWS

$\mathbf{A}^{\mathrm{R}}$RE you a nuisance? Do you annoy people? When you ring bells do you realise your harmonious changes may be nothing more than an irritating clatter to others? Do you know this might also be a legal nuisance actionable in the courts?

Have you considered what inight happen if Mrs. Sm th complains the noise keeps little 'Johnny' awake in the evening or the music teacher across the way alleges that the sound of the bells drowns the dulcet tones of her soft pedal? No problem arises if the complaint comes directly to you or the Vicar. particularly if you have a 'ringable' Vicar; just a few sympathetic words and a short lecture on the purpose of the exercise and nothing more. But what happens if the courts are a ked to decide whether you were justified in ringing that last peal or practising for two solid hours last Fr.day in addition to ringing for weddings on Saturday and twice on Sunday for services?
The law permits you to make as much noise as you l ke provided it does not interfere substantially with anyoue else. But if your noise becomes unreasonable or excessive then it is possible you will be committing a legal nuisance and ordered to stop.
Clearly some noises will never constitute a legal nuisance. If the village busybody complains because ringing for Matins ruins his lie in on Sunday morning, the courts will have no sympathy for him. Conversely, if a team of ringers was to attempt a leng length peal starting in the dim light of dawn. this would obviously make a difference. It has been held that the loss of one night's sleep through excessive noise is an actionable nuisance. The test is when did you ring or how long did you ring?

The law only protects the average or reasonable man. The music teacher cannot complain because she reqụres an exzeptional amount of peace and quict. She is not an average person and cannot rely on her sensitivity as an excuse to s'op the bells.

The question is really one of 'live and let live' or 'give and take.' Are you so enthusiastic you are expecting the rest of the community to tolerate rather more than the common man can be expected to endure? What is the purpose of your ringing? Where are you ringing? Can you prevent the noise? All these factors are important. The courts would certainly regard it as reasonable to ring the bells to call pzople to worship on Sunday or to announce the birth of a Royal son. It might also be reasonable, if not essential, to practise once a week for an hour or so lest the noise be even more unpalatable. But what happens in the case of peal ringing where the object of the exere:se is to show off your prowess and skill? The courts would take note of the world of difference between ringing for events connected with the Church and ringing purely for pleasure. You might justify a peal rung on the occasion of a wedding. but have great difficulty in convincing anybody that a peal rung to mark the end of summertime was anything but excessive ringing, particu'arly if it had rained most of the year. The more weird and wondsrful your excuse. the more likely is it going to be unreasonable in the eyes of the law.

What may be a nuisance in one parish may not be so in another. You can ring as many thousand changes as you w sh in the remote fastness of an unoccupied island, or in one of those parishes where the residents "love the sound of the b:lls.' Try the same in the middle of the city with offices. shops, schools.
houses and perhaps a library within audible distance of the church and your activity would certainly bring a storm of legal threats about your ears.
Furthermore, you must always try to prevent excess noise if practicable. Some towers install adjustable shutters in the louvres, others ring the bells fully muffled simply to minimse interference on those occasions when it is not essential that the bells be heard throughout the neighbourhood. No one would expect the shutters to be closed on Sundays or for that Royal peal. It might be unreasonable, however, to expect the whole population within a two-mile radius of the church to sit back and enjoy five hours assorted ringing while the local distrizt society holds a meeting at your tower. That the society comes once in three years is irrelevant.
All these factors of time, place and purpose are interrelated. It will not be necessary to install shutters in every tower, this will depend on locality. Similarly in certain places no one is going to care whether you are ringing to congratulate the vicar's warden on re-election or to welcome the new year. It all depends on the inhabitants. If they complain then the courts will want to know when, where and why you were ring ng Would it be reasonable to expect you to cut down noise on certain occasions; all practical and factual problems which will differ from belfry to belfry.

Who can complain and who will be held responsible? A person can complain only if he is the owner of land or has a legal interest. such as a tenancy in land. the enjoyment of which is being interfered with. A guest who has the temerty to complain has no remedy. On the other hand, whoever is responsible for making the noise is liable to those who have a right of action.
What can you say to defend yourself if accused of b:ing a legal. or should one say an illegal nuisance? If your no se has annoyed the same person for twenty years or more and he has slept on his rights. you may acquire a right by prescription to go on being noisy with impunity. However, you cannot say Mrs. Jones came to the nuisance hecause she bought the house next to the church.' The old argument of 'the bells were here first is not as sound as most people imag ne. Neither can you say 'the nuisance has only arisen because Dr. Jekyll has decided to uise the hut at the bottom of his garden as a surgery. whereas if he stayed inside the house he would not be disturbed. "The law permits every man to enioy the use of all his land. That the noise does not disturb him in one corner of his estate is irrelevant if it is unendurable in another.

Finally, if three or more people are suffisiently disgrun I-d and present a petition to the local authority. under the Noise Abatement Act 1960. the authority must require a Justice of the Peace to abate the nuisance.

Next time vou decide to : rattle off 'five thousand and for $y$ Plain Bob Minor or Surprise Maximus, have a few defences ready in case anyone complains. Remember. the prescrip ive right is always a good weapon against the oldest inhabitant. On the other hand. in this day of the 'Mersey beat' and other assorted noises, when people prefer the monotonous claptrap of the bingo club, the nightly pandemonium on the television or the insidious blare of the transistor radio, it would serm unreasonable that they are unwilling to tolerate the only loud noise made to the Glory of God.

MR. FRED PRICE GOING TO WASHINGTON AS INSTRUCTOR

Mr . Fred Price of Bournemouth is flying to Washington oh October 14th to assist in leaching change ringing to the band who ring on the Gloria in Excelsis tower at Washington Cathedral

Mr. Price wrote to the Dean and offered his services for four months if his expenses could be paid. His offer has been gladly accepted.

Many of our older readers will recall that Mr. Price was a member of the St. Martin's Birminghanı, Sunday service band from 1927 to 1935. during which period he took part in most of the broadcast ringing from the Cathedral church on the old ten: all ringing at the Cathedral was then undertaken by St Martin's ringers
He resigned from the St. Martin's bandwith some regret-in 1935 to honour a promise made 10 years earlier to return 10 Aston if. and when, the bells should be restored Aston had then a new ring of 12 bells by the addition of two new trebles and presented a great opportunity for the enthustastic instructor. Soon the 12 bells were being regularly rung for one hour before Matins and Evensong every Sunday. and it is on record that a peal of Stedman Cinques, conducted by Mr. Price. Was rung in 1939 by the Sunday service band, it being the first peal of Stedman Cinques for no less than seven of the band.
Mr. Price has been assured by Mr. Wayne Dirksen that plenty of recruits, eager to learn. wait him, and he is confident that his success of 30 years ago can be repeated.

LAVENHAM BELLS NOW AT FOUNDRY

The famous Miles Graye tenor at Lavenham, cast in 1625. was safely lowered on August 21st by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. prior to its removal with the other bells in the tower to Loughborough. The ring of eight is to be retuned and refitted.

Experts have agreed that the time has come for the medieval bell frame of oak. often repaired with wood and iron. to be replaced before it becomes really dangerous.
New cast-iron framework with a foundation of rolled steel girders will replace it, and the estimated cost of the restoration work is estimated at $£ 2,500$. Towards this $£ 1,400$ has already been subscribed by visitors to the church and Capt. G. A. D. Cooper, treasurer for the bell frame fund. of Yaxley Cottage. High Street. Lavenham. hopes donations to meet the balance will be sent to him or the Rector, Canon H. W. S. Cotton, without having to launch a special appeal.

REMEMBER YOUR PARACHUTE:

Miss Ethel Lloyd, of St. Peter's, Ballaarat, had the misfortune at the meeting of the A.N.Z.A.B. at Hobart to be carried up when a stay broke and fell heavily. Her injuries included a chipped elbow bone, fractured collar bone and fractured vertebra: Ringing Towers ' states that the Cathedral insurance policy will indemnify her.
Thanking the St. David's Guild, Hobart, for the many kindnesses to her whilst in hospital. Ethel writes: 'A word of advice I pass on to all ringers. " Remember to fasten your parachute before entering the ringing chamber

COMING-OF-AGE OUTING

Ten ringers from Christ Church. Swindon, went to Kent on August 15th to meet Miss Rosalind Roworth in Rochester to celebrate her coming-of-age. A good quarter of Grandsire Triples was rung at St . Margaret's, Rainham. hy Miss J. Davidge 1. Mrs. J. Minchin 2. Miss S. Little 3 M. Penney 4. Miss R Rowarth 5, A. G. Wells 6 M Stanley (cond.) 7. E Sutton 8 . Further ringing took place at Chatham. Thanks are accorded Messrs Sutton and Cheal.

MR. J. FRANK SMALLWOOD

who is known as 'Jafus' to his friends, celebrated his 80th birthday last Tuesday. $\mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{e}}$ has been nominated as a life meniber of the Central Council in honour of his services as convener of 'The Ringing World' Committee.

CREWE'S VISIT TO WALES
Crewe's annual visit to Wales on August 15th attracted 40 ringers and friends who travelled by coach and more followed in Doreen's bus. At $9.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$, the party were ringing on the rather unmusical ring at Ellesmere.
Mid-morning refreshments were taken at The Coach and Dogs,' Oswestry, and then, after queueing through Welshpool, we were enjoying the delightful eight at St. Beuno S , Berriew. It can't honestly be said that the ringing was as good as the bells merited, but it was a warm day and the local hostelry was a distraction. However, we did try

A quick run to Newtown for the ample lunch and all were appreciative of the long and restful journey through the hills 10 Dolgelly. Lovely bells-they ring themselves ... well, almost. and a very good course of Cambridge Major was easily, the best ringing of the day.

Ten miles of narrow twisting road meant we were late at Barmouth. Hopes of hearing the bells of St. John's Church- the finest eight in Wales, (rumoured to have been quoted by a famous ringer of the past)-were soon dashed. Raising a bell which only speaks halfway up is somewhat puzzling. Investigating, we found the bells muted, the clapper having been tied to one side. about one inch from the bell. Unfortunately the full-throated sound from these bells has brought forth complaint. which has led to this muting. This is a great pity since the resulting sound is a very poor substitute for open bells.

After an evening meal we set off through the pouring rain to Llangollen, arriving at 10 p.m. In view of the long journey home it was probably a blessing in disguise that there was only half an hour for refreshments Crewe was reached at 1 a.m. I.R.N.

PIPE'S PILGRIMS HAD A MIDLAND PILGRIMAGE

Young men and maidens. old men and children,-Praise him upon the well tuned cymbals.'
TIHIRTY of us from thirteep counties were eventually safely housed in the luxurious comfort of the Station Hotel. Dudley, and with an age range from 14 to 74 were certainly a broad cross-section. Jim's recipe for an enjoyable tour-good friends, good food, good bells, good weather and various other goods were with us for the greater part of the week. We rang in seven counties-Gloucestershire, Leicestershire, Northamptonshire, Shropshire, Staffordshire, Warwickshire, and Worcestershire. covering 47 towers with tenors ranging from $3 \frac{1}{2}$ to 25 cwt .: methods extended from Bob Doubles to Spliced Surprise Major and Cambridge Maximus.

DAILY HIGHLIGHTS

Picking highlights is a problem because of individual preferences, but these are mine:-Sunday-Meeting A. J. Pitman at Leamington: and the grand 10 at Solihull where time was all too short.
Monday-Listening outside at Tewkesbury and Hallow, and the grand tea at the Mug House at Claines (no comments please).

Tuesday-Much Wenlock, where a well struck course of London was accomplished after Norman Bagworth had done a grand job raising the tenor in peal (I'll agree it's no great weight but that rise is one of my memories).

Wednesday-A day full of grand memo-ries:-Penkridge ringing Stedman and listening to Yorkshire and Cambridge: Brewood for a grand eight: Tettenhall where we made a poor show on what I think were good bells: Penn where four married couples rang Grandsire: Claverley where my young friend Patricia Lockwond was in charge of the ringing.

Thursday-A course of Pudsey at Sutton Coldfield: at Tamworth the rise and fall of the back six was a pleasure to listen no. This was a day of good ringing and good bells and the only day it rained.

Friday was rock and roll day-most of the lowers visited did either one or the other. Ron Edwards replied to someone who asked if the bells were on ball bearings, I dont know. Surprise at Northfield-what a lot of noise from such a dainty piece of femininity?

1 must tell the truth about Lye-have you ever met a dumb bell at both ends of ropeit happened to me on the 5th, not a sound save the raucous comments of those not ringing. But a good course of London was rung.

PRESENTATIONS

On Friday evening in the hotel lounge Arthur Barker introduced his wife Gladys who made a presentation of a garden chair to Jim and a wheeled basket to Sylvia as a token of our appreciation for organising the tour. Jim replied in his usual entertaining manner and presented our driver with a pair of cuff links on our behalf. Next year's tour was discussed and I've a feeling we're heading West to where the cider apples grow.

Saturday's six towers were good. but we weren't. The rot started with yours iruly miscalling Grandsire on the cack-handed eight at Coleshill. Others did their best to redeem things but with little success.
On behalf of the 'Pilgrims' I would like to say thank you-to all incumbents and local ringers who met us, to our driver, to Norman Goodman who acted as pilot on many occasions, to Mr. and Mrs. Beamish who guided us to Chilvers Coton and for the rest of the day. and finally to Jim and Sylvia for organising another grand week.

For those who like all the details here is a full list of the towers: Bewdley. Brewood. Bridgnorth (2), Bromsgrove. Broseley Chilvers Coton, Claines. Claverley, Coleshill Dudley. Erdington, Halesowen. Hallow, Handsworth. Harlebury, Hiph Ercall Hinckley Knowle, Leamington, Lye. Malvern Link Market Draycon. Madeley, Much Wenlock Monks Kirby Netherton, Northfield Northampion. ## ROVING

THE 1964 iour started on Saturday, July 25 th, in Salisbury, and finished in Bristol on Saturday. August 1st. Touring members came from Essex, Surrey, Worcester, Devon. Willshire, Herffordshire and Bristol. Despite traffic conditions around Salisbury we had a surprisingly good attendance at the first lower. St. Paul's.
Our first full day commenced with ringing for morning service at St. Thomas's,s Salisbbury. In spite of the springy ropes we drew a favourable comment from a member of the congregation. of how much she appreciated the bell music. After lunch. during which time some members rang handbells whilst paddling in the Avon, we rang at Downton, and thence to Cranborne, stopping at Fordinghridge for tea. It was on the way to Cranborne that the first puncture occurred-to the same person or the same afternoon as la,t vear : After ringing on the pleasiant eight at Cranborre, followed by dimner in the hostel. we aired Fred's handbells on the village green.
It was a great disappointment on Monday to. learn that. due to a service, Wimborne Minster bells were not available; but the substitute. Wimborne St. Giles', proved to be well worth the detour. A good course of Yorkshire was rung here. A long ride brought us to Poole, where we were glad to eat and drink before ringing. Restoration work was being carried out and after an alarming noise whilst attempting to ring up the treble, it was discovered that ladders were occupying three hell pits. A compromise was reached with the workmen, who retired to the 'local' for an hour while we rang.

BRAVE ONES BATHED

The maiority of the party took the ferry from Sandbanks en route for Swanage, oul last tower of the day, but several of the younger ones cycled via Wareham. Swanage proved to have an excellient ring. though we did not really do it iustice. That night was spent at a Swanage hostel. which was up a hill too steep for even the kowest gear. After dinner the party divided. the braver onesmainly girls-went for a dip. Richard encountered a female acquaintance, while Rusemary and Geraldine found the dodgem cars a relaxation. Unfortunately. 'all in' at the hostel coincided with 'all out' at the 'local.' which resuked in the girls being smuggled back into the hostel via the men's washroom!

Tuesdav took us first in Wareham, via Corfe, where those with sufficient enerxy and time struggled un to the castle. Kent went well here. On the heavy six at Bere Regis is zood course of Oxford Treble Boh, and also Beverley, one of the special methods, came round successfully.
The long climb to Okeford Fitzpaine was rewarding by the magnificent view. At attempt at George's 14 Spliced Minor and Doubles was unsuccessful. By now the bicycles were beginning to feel the strain, and more mechanical troubles were developed this year than in Cornwall last. It was a relief to reach Marnhull. and after quick refreshment we tackled the 19 cwt , six, the second heaviest of the tour. Unfortunately the young man on the fourth slackened his backstroke. causing his rope to slip the wheel, and valuable time was bst searching for the key to remedy this-it was eventually discovered hanging behind a photograph in the ringing chamber : During dinner at the hostel. Roger remarked that he had consumed eight pints that day, which was realistically interpreted as cycling at the rate of 37 miles to the gallon! It was, in fact. the longest day's run of the tnur!
On Wednesday we headed for Milborne Port, the church having a considerable amount of Saxon and Norman architecture in evidence. No electric light could be located in the vast ringing chamber. so ringing was conducted in semi-darkness. In view of the adverse conditions ringing was below standard.

Recalling the words of one of John S's new songs- 'We're coming, we're coming our brave little band -we entered the belfry of Sherborne Abbey determined to do iustice to the magnificent ring. We were not disappointed. We had some of the hest ringing

RINGERS' 1964 TOUR

Tourers not in the pieture: Don and Sally Cobb. George and Janet Evenden. Alan Tubb and Rosemary Blyth (who look the photograph).
ihe week-enders: Michael and Kathle:n Chilcntt, David and Kitly Beacham. Derek and Marilyn Astridge, Peter and Jean Min. chin. Martin and Marv Brwater, Cyril and Daphne Deem, Michael and Monica Horseman, Bill and Hilda Kingcott, Frank and Eunice Lewis, Ron and Audrey Short, Brian and Haze: Stirland. Albert and Frances Tyler, Sue Secker. Chris Webb. Genebeth Mooring, Michael Austin. John Brain and, when clerical duties alkowed. Roger Fry. of the tour. including a slow well-struck touch of Stedman Triples. Our sympathy was extended to the back-enders, who did a grand joh, especially as this was the heaviest day of the tour. Yeovib must surely be in the top ten! But, though beautiful for tonc, inside and out, we were unable to strike them as perfectly as was desirable, but a course of Double Norwich Caters was again a success. Ten miles further north, at Somerton, we were met by the Rev. Chris Marshall, Vicar of Long Sutton, one time curate at Leatherhead. Surrey, and well known to the Surrey head, S tourers.

LIFE RATHER PRIMITIVE

The sight of the hostel after a day st cycllng was alwavs a great relief, and Street. after the long final hith, was no exception. Life here was found to be rather primitive. Goats were kept to provide milk, and hostellers were kept to pump water. Those who saw the goats milk being strained through a sieve did not tackle their 'morning sunshine' with quite the usual enthusiasm, while those voluntatily conscripted to pumn water found the action rather familiar. Handbell ringing provided after-dinner entertainment and Stedman Triples was welt rung hy Adrienne, Fred. Don and Roger. The distance to the 'local' and the prospect of the return uphill drag did not deter many from venturing out Thursday was a circular tour, returning lo Street Hostel. Chris Marshall's own church. Long Sutton. was the first of the day. The bells are a splendid six augmented from five by Mears. The bells were rung half muffled as mark of resnect to one of the local ringers interred that day. After coffee we cycled in Martock. The heaviest eight of the day and the most difficult to strike well. The arrangement of rooes here of the chiming apparatus was undoubtedly a spider's masterpieces.

D-avion was the first after lunch. A short nush on the pedals brought us in Iangnort. where, after tea. Chris Marshal! ioined us again. A neat toush of St. Clement's Minor had the ringino off to a good start and we ended with Grorge calling a wellstruck touch of Spliced Plain, Little and Singh Oxford Minor.

Without expending another nunce of energy we free-wheeled into Huish EDiscopi, where Fred C. joined us again on his way home from holidaying. Spliced Stedman and Grand sire was attempted here, and was good until one ringer omitted to complete his Stedman six. The ringing down of the bells wa probably the best we achieved. Diversity of opinion on the best return route to Street split the party. George and Janet on their tandem, believing theirs to be the best, shot off the main road along a narrow lane, only to reappear some two minutes later cycling madly round the next corner towards us!
$\mathrm{O}_{\mathrm{n}}$ Friday, hostel chores completed. the mystery of Roger's sleeping bag unsolved, we sped downhill to Street Parish Church. The bells were difficult to strike, particularly as the front four hecome inaudible to those ringing the back four. As we descended the staircase an S.O.S. came from Adrienne. stranded with long loaves of bread for half the party's lunch, and unable to mount her bicycle. Gallantly John $S$. went to her rescue. A short ride took us to Glastonbury, past a most pungent-smelling sheepskin curing factory, to the glorious 13 cwt . six of St. Benedict's. The ringing here was good and the bells ran like clockwork. The ladies proved their worth with a well-struck touch of Plain Bob Minor called by Adrienne from the tenor.

FIRST AND LAST

The ride to Mark was somewhat of an ordeal: 13 miles across bleak but somehow heautiful moors. Traversing this barren scene we realised the significance of the sign outside the inn appropriately named the "First and Last.' The tower contains a very old cight with some of the bells dating back to the 17th century. The last eight of the day were the excellent ring at Banwell, where we had a good course of Yorkshire. A short distance from Banwell was Hutton and the hostel. This being the last hostelling night, soirits were high. Personal memories are sufficient to record the events of that night out.

Saturday morning began with ringing at Congresbury, where we were greeted with a rather painful smile from John $S$, who, unable even to attempt breakfast, had set of some time before the main contingent, and much to everyone's surprise had successfully steered his way across country. Thank you. John, for leading the singing so lustify that night! Congresbury bells do not "go' well, and we wnnderer how this 35 cwt . eight was ever put into the tower. A short trip to Yatton's lovely ring with a tenor of 21 cwt . The seventh bell is dated 1451 . Yorkshire went well, and the influx of werkenders heined to raise the standard of striking. At the attractive Norman church of Clevedon, Superlative went wehl. Then on to Portishead Roger Frv's parish and the last tower before the Bristol week-end. John H. at last called a successful touch of Stedman. The fina nine-mile stretch into Bristol and the hotel reminded one of the straw that broke the camel's back the climb to Abhot's Lejeh bcing almost the last straw. At the hotel, across the bridge. a scramble for baths ensued.
Now joined by the last of the week enders, a narty of 50 rincers sal down to a weicome dinner. During the evening the customary short business meeting was held. It was unanimously decided that next vear the tour should stils he arranged to coincide with Augist Rank Holidas. Later, those still with in insatiable thirst remedied it. others went to admire that fine example of Brunel's work, (Continued on page 593)

Letters to  Sunday Service and Multi-methods  Doubles  Dear Sir,-The following peals of Surprise

 Minor were rung at St. Mary's Church, Lamberhurst, Kent, by the Sunday service band, all resident in Lamberhurst parish: February 6th. 1930, 21 methods: May 15th, 1930, 26 methods: March 2nd, 1935, 32 methods.At the time it was rung it was thought that the 32 methods was the most that could be rung in seven $720^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$.

The late Mr. A. G. Driver supplied the figures for the peak.-Yours faithfully, Lamberhurst.

Note.-Mr. E. A. Barnett gives the band who rang the first two peals as follows: Ernest who rang the first wassett 2, B. J. Luck 3, A. Marshall 4, J. Waghorn 5, A. Reife (cond.) ©.

Dear Sir,-The Sunday service band of Shenfield, Essix, have rung the following Spliced Surprise peals in their own tower: April 20th, 1954, 18 methods; December 27th. 1960,14 methods: November 25th. 1961, 28 methods: November 24th, 1962, 34 methods.

As opportunities for peals here are not tou frequent, the same band have rung peals as follows: Twenty methods, February 18th, 1961 , at Rettendon; 25 methods. May 20th, 1961, and 31 methods, July 21 ist, 1962, both at Downbam-Yours faithfully,

Peal Ringing a Sport

Dear Sir, - It was interesting to read Stravinsky's summary of bells as musical instruments (' Ringing World.' page 544). have a newspaper cutting from the 'Observer' dated August 28th, 1927, in which Bishop Frodsham, then Vicar of Halifax, expresses his views on bellringing. He was speaking at the dedication of a peal tablet to mark the record length of 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob Major at Heptonstall on April 18th, 1927.
He said: 'Peal ringing demanded bodily strength: it required mental concentration and concerted action of a high order by eight men all alert, prompt and exact. There was no room for a stupid, selfish or self-indulgent player at such a sport-for bellringing was a diayer at There was no team of footballers or cricketers who were so united as a first-class team of bellringers. There was one great difference between them and other sportsmen -bellringing had a very close and intimate connection with religion stretching back into comnote antiquity.?
While I think it odd that a member of the clergy, or indeed anyone, should regard belsringing as a sport, it is useful to note what ringing as a sport, people think of our art. I should like to see people think of our art. ' hat the people say. Yours faithfully,

Why Non-Association?

Dear Sir.-I sce on page 569 that the Southern District secretary of the Coventry Diocesan Guild rang and conducted a peal in his own tower and that it was rung nonAssociation.
I presume that he had a reason for not ringing it for the Coventry Guild.-Yours. etc.,
M. C. HUGHES.

Visitors' Ringing at Cirencester

Dear Sir,-To Mr. Land, who protested against mediocre ringing by a visiting band at Cirencester I say 'piffle and poppycock.'
Let us rejoice in that there was a band willing to 'have a go,' and that the tower was blessed by visitors, which is a very different story in a great many instances.
Is Mr. G. W. Land such a perfect ringer that naught but perfection will suffice? Why didn't he stir his bones into the tower and give such enthusiasm his expert advice and refrain from publicly criticising them?
In answer to his question, I'll telk him why. Apathy by the experts who criticise rather than advise. Those who stand at the foot of the belfry steps and refuse to ring 'with a bunch of amateurs.'
We at Bushbury cannot claim peal proficiency but we can claim keenness and a service ringing record attendance socond to none. We can only manage plain course Grandsire Doubles but, believe me, the ringing is well meant for service, and not personal satisfaction only.
I'm a learner. Mr. Land, and have been for two years, and until there's a change of mood by the experts I look like remaining so for quite some time yet.-Yours faithfully,
M. R. BUCKHAM.

Bushbury, Wolverhampton.

Dear Sir,-The complacent tone of the Jetter from Mr. G. Land is amazing. It is noted from an article in the same publication that this gentleman has rung in 100 peals, and it is presumed that he must consider himself really somenne!

However, there are many who are unable to spend quite so much time 'ringing, and, although quite sincere, cannot come up to the perfection of Mr. G. Land. To an outsider and non-ringer. like myself, the efforts of the 'duffers' in Cirencester may have sounded beautiful indeed, and keen novices are entitled to the same facilities as the experts. or how are they ever to achieve efficiency? Surely ringing is a Christian exercise. and tolerance and encouragement are likely to help the cause much more than scathing and unpleasant criticism.
H. EVANS.

Hitchin Tower: a War Memory

Dear Sir, - Mr. T. A. Bevis' article on Hitchin was most interesting. Perhaps you will Dermit me to add to it.

During World War II I had an enforced stay at Luton and the hospitality shown to me there. and throughout the Beds and Herts area, will long be a cherished memory.

Prior to the ban being lifted I came 10 know of handbell ringing at Hitchin. Despite the ban the ringers met regularly for Evensong (then in the afternoons). The congregation was always rung in by handbells from the walcony ringing floor. I much enjoyed the pleasure and privilege of joining them in several splendid touches of Grandsire Caters.
It was a great treat, when the ban was lifted, to take part in some excellent ringrig on the fine eight. Thanks again. Hitchin.

High Hoyland Bells

Dear Sir, - The letter in :The Riaging World, about High Hoyland bells will no doubt cause some interest so a few details about the parish and church should not te out of place.
AH Hallows ${ }^{\circ}$ High Hoyland, has an ancient foundation, 1250 , with the present short tower built 1697, in which are six bells, the treble by T. Mears of London, 8822 , and the remainder by E. Sellers of York, 1745, the tenor being $36 \frac{1}{2}$ ins. in E flat. Owing to an increase in population, a new church was built nearly two miles away at Clayton West in 1875, and a few years later All Hallows' was closed except for burial services, as the only burial ground for the two villages was, and stils is, at High Hoyland. The lowal newspapers at the time contained many letters complaining hitterly about the closing of the old church hut to no avail.
About 1909 a surprising event took place for, considering the church was practically closed, the nave was publed down and completely rebuilt, one good reason being that the axisting nave was a 19 th century monstrosity and a building more in keeping with the tower was erected. During the excavations many ancient stone works. were discovered which set back the history of the church by over 300 years. About 20 years ago monthly services were commenced at All Hallows', gas heating has recently been installed and with the fixing of the new notice board the old church is Jiving again, due in no small way to the care of the verger, Mrs. Clarkson.
All Hallows' stands on a high ridge $1 \frac{1}{2}$ miles from Cawthorne, and in 1933 we took ropes to the High Hoyland tower. repaired some whrels and, by some great effort, rang a few changes. I do not think that the beils have been since raised to the set position. We visited the tower a few years ago, but the condition of the wheek was too bad to attemot any ringing. The third bell is cracked but the others are quite tuneful and the frame is not in the bad condition as suggested by the newspaper article. There is also an old clock movement. early 18 th century, derelict but more or less complete: the dial was removed some 50 years ago and was rsplaced in 1954 by a sundial!
The Clayton West Church Council are reluctant to spend money on the bells at All Hallows', and as a last hope I suggested that the third be recast and Ellacombe chimes fitted, but there is a strong desire to sell the bells. Some years ago the Friends of All Hallows' was formed with the object of caring for the old church, and much has been done in repairs and renewals, but of course nothing can be attempted without the approval of the Church Council.
Now the position is made clear, perhaps some guidance from the Central Couricil will be helpful to the people concerned: an estimate has been ontained that the recasting of the third be3l and Ellacombe chimes can be done for under $£ 300$, so I am passing this information to the secretary of the Friends of All Hallows'- Yours faithfully.
Cawthorne, Barnsley. N. F. MOXON.

A DURHAM APPEAL

A band of young ringers formed in 196 ? have made the three bells at St. Mary the Virgin's, Shincliffe Village. Co. Durham, safe to ring. Unfortunately the bells need new fittings, cleaning and retuning. With the Rector's nermission. they have opened a bell fund for this work to be done and two more bells added. as the frame is good and will take them. So far they have raised $£ 23$ in one year. They ask those who would like to help them to send donations to Mr . Thomas Jopling. 8. Willow Tree Avenue. Shincliffe Village. Durham.

LETTERS-Continued

St. Peter's, Wolverhampton

Dear Sir,-I am sorry indeed to hear that my remarks re St. Peter's (' Ringing World.' August 7th) had the effect of causing Miss Elizabeth Timmins nearly to choke, and can only hope that she has sustained no permanent injury!
If my information was a little out of date the fault lies not with me but with my informant, who apparently wandered a littee from the truth! I am, however, delighted to know that the ringing strength is increas lig, and am looking forward with immense pleasure to the promised peal by the local service band. -Yours sincerely,

Luton.

A. E. RUSHTON.

The Rev. R. Cattley

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}-\mathrm{My}$ statement that Canon Cattley was largely responsible for the augmentation of Worcester Cathedral bells to twelve, and was also instrumental in procuring for S:Paul's their 62 cwt . tenor, was a quotation from a contemporary report of the tenth anniversary meeting of the Oxford University Society, hold at Drayton in February. 1882. That the first part is true is beyond doubt. but evidence of the latter part is less conclusive.
Canon R. Cattley, M.A.. was an Honorary Canon of Worcester Cathedral, and became the first vice-presid:nt of the - Association of Change Ringers for the Diocese of Worcester (later the Worcestershire and Districts Change Ringing Association), when it was formed in August, 1882. Taylors cast the twelve bells for the Cathedral in 1872 (not 1876), and on August 10th that year a band from the St. Martin's Society visited the Cathedral and rang the first touch of Stedman Cinques on the new ring. The Church Bells' account reports that they were met by the Rev. R. Cattley, the indefatigable originator of this grand scheme of twelve bells, with clock. .. Ellacomhe's simple chiming hammers. . (and) carillons by Gillett and Bland, of Croydon.
Work on the carillon wasn'। finished until the December of that year, and in a lengthy report on the apparatus and its workings the - Worcester Journal for December 28th congratulated last, certainly not least, the Rev. $\mathbf{R}$. Cattley, upon the full accomplishment of a work in which he has taken such a zealous interest. . . The reverend geatleman is to be heartily congratulated on the success which has attended his efforts to furnish the Cathedral with a magnificent ring of bells, and to develop their excellence to the fullest possible extent."
At this time there were only twelve ringing hells in the tower, and the Rev. Cattley set to at once to raise the money to add two semi-tone bells to the ring. As has already been remarked in Mr. Claude Rush's excellent series of extracts from. Church Bells ( ( R.W.' July 24th. page 507), he succeeded in obtaining some $£ 5,000$ in all.

Canon Cattley's association with St. Paul's is by no means as clearly documented (at least as far as I can discover, although someone with closer associations with the Cathedral may be able to help). It is. however, quit? clear that when it was decided to obtain a ring of bells at St. Paul's the new ring at Worcester was very much in everyone's mind. At the meeting held in the Mansion House on November 2nd. 1875, to launch the appeal for the necessarv funds the then Dean of St. Pauls, the Very Rev. Gregory. said. inter alia. that "St. Paul's only desired to be put upon an equality with Worcester Cathedral, which had a splendid new ring of bells, and later Sir E. Beckett Denison. Q.C., described the ring at Worcester as 'the finest in England.' Later, in 1882, after Great Paul had been cast, tests were made at Loughborough in the March to check the striking of this huge bell. Present at these tests were Dr. Stainer, the organist at St. Paul's and closely associated with everything to do with the Cathedral bells. Mr. F. C. Penrose, the Cathedral architect and surveyor, Capt. Troyte, the Very Rev. Lord Alwyne Compton, Dean of Worcesterand the Rev. Cattley.
Perhaps someone can help to fill the very obvious gaps in this last part of the story. Certain it is that the twelve bells at St. Paul's were, as Mr. Shepherd says, all presentations or gifts: the treble and 2nd were given by the Drapers Company. the 3 rd, 4 th , 5 th and tih by the Turners Company and Lady Burdett-Coults. the 7ith by the Salters' Company. the 8th hy the Merchant Taylors, the 9 th by the Fishmongers. the 10 th by the Clothworkcrs, the 1th by the Grocers, and the tenor by the City Corporation.-Yours sincerely, Cheltenham.

Ringing Courses

Dear Sir-As I receive frequent requests for dates and information about bell ringing courses pending. it would help me if I could be g.ven such information by those organising courses in bellringing.
I should be grateful if those concerned would be so good as to let me know of any courses that are planned.-Yours. etc.,

OBITUARY

MR. JAMES TAYLOR

It is with great regret we report the death. on August 10 th, of Mr. James Taylor, of Haslingden. Lancs, at the age of 58 years,
Jim. as he was familiarly known, had been in failing, health for the past twelve months or so, prior to which he had been a staunch stalwart at Haslingden over the past 40 years.
The manager of a large local cotton concern. the endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact by his quiet and cheerful disposition, and this was reflected in the large congregation which assembled at St. James's Church. Haslingden, for the funeral when the local ringers rang the bells as their tribute to an old friend.

MARKET DRAYTON REVISITED

August 22nd saw the return to Market Drayton. Shropshire, for just a few bours of Mr. William J. Chester, now of Helmdon, Northants. Mr. Chester. who was accompanied by friends from South Northants and North Bucks, lived here for many years between the wars. The occasion was a day's outing.

During the day we rang at five eight-bell towers, Hinckley and Atherstone in the morning, Brewood and Cheswardine in the afternoon. and after an excellent tea, ably arranged by Mr. Fred Price '1arket Drayton in the evening. where we : pleased to be joined by the loca band.
Before the long journey home we partook of refreshment which enabled Mr. Chester to renew friendships made in this district so many years ago.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Marlborougk Branch

Visitors far outnumbered the members when the Marlborough Branch held its monthly meeting at Burbage and Milton Lilbourne on August 15 th. This was partly due to the holiday season and to the claims of the harvest taking priority.

Ringing commenced on the five at Burbage, under the direction of the Branch Ringing Master (Rev. R. Keeley), who also took the Guild service. Amongst those remembered in prayer was Mr. Albert Hughes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, who was buried the previous day. Mr. Peter Steele was the organist.

A sumptuous tea had been provided in the Church Hall by the wives and friends of the Burbage ringers. Everyone was pleased to see Mr T. A. Palmer (honorary secretary), who, although not yet fully recovered from his recent accident, was nevertheless making steady progress. The Rev. R. Keeley announced that the annual outing would take place in September and was to be in the Chichester area. Thanks were expressed by the chairman (Mr. G. Newman) for the use of the bells, the hospitality shown and to all who had helped in the day's arrangements.
This was the last meeting that Mr. Alan Keen. of Aldbourne, would attend for some time, as he has gained entry to the Northern School of Music, Manchester. While congratulating him on his success, the Branch will be sorry to lose such an able and enthusiastic young ringer.
After tea a move was made to Milton Lilbourne and the tuneful six of medium weight was in constant use until $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. At one time during the evening there must have been at least 40 ringers awaiting their turn at the ropes. ropes.

the Clifton Suspension Bridge, unde floodlight. while the remainder talked far into the night.
On Sunday morning we rang in Bristol, st St. James (Horsefair) and Christ Church with St. Ewen, where half a course of Cambridge Royal was successful, despite the difficulty of striking these rather old bells. Ringing in the afternoon was at the Cathedral. after a delayed start while the key was still in the verger's pocket. Evening ringing was arranged at St. Stephen's and St. Mary Redcliffe. It had been hoped that a quarter peal of Stedman Cinques might be rung at Redcliffe after Evensong, but owing 10 an 11 th hour decision by the powers that be this was not possibke. Instead a few good touches were called bv Michael C. Frank record:d part of the ringing and the final lower on his tape recorder, which was always with him.
Three towers were arranged for Bank Holiday Monday: Long Ashton, Backwell and Wrington. After ringing concluded, the maiority were pleased to accept, Hilda and Bill's invitation to a cup of tea,' and were astonished by the large spread which constituted a "cup of tea.' Bilb expressed a desire to air his handbells, and several methods were rung. In this informal manner the tour was brought to an end.
Our grateful thanks to all incumbents, tower captains and those who met us and arranged for us to ring, and especially to Don and Sally for their very capable organisation. Lastly, but by no means least, our thanks to Fred, our Master, for ably catering for all tastes. J. L. H., D. J. P.

EASTBOURNE RINGERS' 700 MILES TRIP

Some of the party outside St. Lawrence's Church, Snaith.

Abstract

A party of Eastbourne ringers, consisting of P. Howard, Pat Weller, L. Weller. A. Baldock, G. Francis, D. Slater, D. Smith. F. Hicks, H. Reynolds, Ruth Reynolds, Valerie Howard, Janet Slater and Evelyn Hicks, had a week-end in Yorkshire. starting on June 19 th. travelling in all 700 miles.

On the outward journey calls were made at Surfleet. Newark, Rotherham and Conisbrough. Headquarters was at Selby. Another full dity was Saturday, starting at Northowram. followed by Bradford Cathedral, where 10 -year-old Stephen Munday rang with the visitors. At York Minster Verdi's Reyuiem Mass was being rehearsed and because the tympani thundering out Dies Irae drowned the sound of bells in the ringing chamber, no more than rounds was attempted on the 12 and the best touch was Cambridge Major, with Leslie Weller on the $59 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. tenor. Beverley Minster. St. Mary's and Herningbrough were visited before thankfully sitting in a Chinese nosh bar.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

In the absence of Mr. F. W. Cooke, who is on a visit to Canada, the chair was taken at the annual general meeting of the Southern District at Staindron on August 22nd by Mr. P. Rock. Mr. Cooke was re-elected District vice-president. but Miss J. Warwick, of East bourne Road, Darlington, succeeds Mr. E. Thompson. who retired from the secretary ship. The chairman thanked Mr. Thompson for his past services.
The methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Bristol Major, together with a short touch of an irregukar Minor method which was found hanging on the belfry wall. It was suggested that this should be sent 10 the Professor ${ }^{\text {' for identification. J. W. }}$

Sunday started with Communion at Selby Abbey and ringing with Mr. Foster's band. Then the homeward journey began. Snaith bells were rung and lowered in time for Matins and Oundle's during ringing for Evensong. Here the local band invited us to handle the eight to Bob Major.

Turning on to the M. 1 and, looking forward to a speedy homeward run. the carburettor float on the mini-bus decided to part company. The efficient breakdown machinery ground into action and we were towed to an all-night garage. Only after several hours did one come to light and we sped on to the cheers of the gang. We arrived home at an hour when only burglars, milkmen and ringers on tour were about.

Much of the credit for the success of the trip goes to: F.H. H., who combined the offices of boss and general factotum with his usual bonhomic. (Abridged.)

SUSSEX UNIVERSITY GUILD

The Sussex University Guild of Change Ringers was formed at the end of last term and the following officers were elected : Master, Peter J. Came: secretary. Michael J. Bew, Hestercombe, Carlton Road, Harpenderı, Herts ; treasurer, Catherine M. Powell.
At the inaugural meeting the coming year's programme suggested was a summer ringing tour preceded by occasional day outings and a dinner in February or March. The first peal for the Guild is eagerly looked forward to and with regard to this the Society is for tunate to have the great experience of Roger Baldwin, who is at the University for a year completing his post-graduate course.

The help and interest of our friends of the Sussex County Association has been of great encouragement, especially at Si. Peter's. Brighton, where we have been made very welcome both at practices and service ringing.

The hon. secretary would be pleased to hear of next year's freshers.

OUTING

SLEAFORD AND GRANTHAM DISTRICTS

A beautiful sunny morning greeted the ringers as thev set out on their long journey into Bedfordshire on August 3rd. Seven towers were visited, viz: Potton (6), Sandy (an excellent 6), Cople (6). Cardington (a glorious eight), Northell (6), Biggleswade (8) and Old Warden (6).

A wide variety of methods was rung, including

Doubles: Plain Bob, Grandsire, Siedman and Reveise Canterbury.

Minor: Ptain Boh, Double Court, Single Court. Double Oxford, Single Oxford. Little Bob, St. Clement's, Kent and Oxford I.B, and Cambridge Surprise.

Triples: Grandsire and Stedman.
Major: Plain Bob, Little Bob, St. Clement's, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise (a little doubtful).
It was an enjoyable outing with a good standard of ringing throughout. Thanks to Mr. Edgai Cole, who arranged the outing. and to the incumbent and kind friends who met us at the churches. J. A. M.

UNEXPECTED HUMOUR IN HIGH PLACES

By JOHN P. FIDLER

IIN 'The Electric Magazine,' Vol. 13-14, page 658. 1871, the Rev. H. R. Haweis, M.A., wrote an arcicle headed 'Our Belfries.' He did not intend that any part should raise a smile for his article was a serious criticism of belfries in general. Some of his comments certainly were forthright and to the point, and many of them could apply to quite a number of towers today, but others show his lack of knowledge and expose his ignorance.

He commences in grand style and the reader thinks here is someone who knows his stuft : - The foot sinks into black dust at least an inch thick' is the commencing line. (I have not seen much black dust in a tower, but have seen plenty of bird droppings; perhaps he meant this, but by virtue of his office he turned them into black dust.)

A startled owl sweeps out of the old belfry window; the shutters are broken, and let in some light and plenty of wind and rain in winter. The cement inside the steeple has rotted away, and the soft stone is crumbling unheeded. Some day the noble old tower will be proclaimed unsafe, and if no funds are forthcoming twenty feet will be taken off it, and the peal of bells will have to come down.

- Everything is already rotting and rusting. The inscriptions of the six or eaght great bells are almost illegible; the beams which support them have lost their rivets' heads, and all are loose, probably unsafe; the unpainted wheels are cracked, and every time the bells ring the friction from mere rust and decay is very great.' (If the wheels are in the condition he says they are, how could the bells be rung!)
Then the reverend gentleman asks, "Why are mighty dust-heaps and vagrant owls almost invariably to be found in the belfry? Alas! because the belfry is one spot in the church which is hardly ever visited. When a rope breaks or a wheel gets out of order, someone climbs up and mends it.' (I should imagine that the particular ring he refers 10 had no gudgeons and bearings so there was no need to go and lubricate them )

When an antiquarian wishes to see some famous peal, or copy the legend on some bell, he gets permission to ascend the towerperhaps this may happen once a year. Yet the bells are often the most interesting things about the church.' (This must have been one of those towers where the 'Peal Grabbers' go to; so long as they can get to the ringing room, they are satisfied how things are above is no concern of theirs.)

But who is to stumble up the old decayed stairs or plunge into the dust and filth of centuries, at the risk of breaking his neck? anly poor bellhangers and suchlike or a few enthusiasts. who are powerless to help the poor bells in their rust, and the poor towers in their rottenness.' (The poor bells in their rust, eh? these must have been steel bells and they would be poor or else the critical gentleman must have been colour blind and could not tell the difference between the patina, bird droppings or rust.)

The notion that there is nothing to do up in the belfry after the bells are hung, but to let them swing and everything else rot, seems to be a very prevalent one.' (Now our friend is talking sense and strange to relate the same notion is prevalent today.)

SKELETON IN THE HOUSE

Thousands are spent annually upon the outward decorations; every Gothic detail is carefully replaced, every mullion reparred; the interior is rehabilitated by the best architects; all is scrupulously clean about the nave and chancel, and the side aisles and sacristy, and not even an organ pipe is allowed to get out of tune; but there is nevertheless a skeleton in the house-we need not descend into the vaults to find it-our skeieton is in the belfry. His bones are rotten timbers, his dust is the indescribab.e accumulation of ages-the vaults are clean in comparison with the belfry. Open yonder little door at the corner of the nave and begis the dark ascent; but before you have gone far you will sigh for the trim staircase that leads down to the vaults.' (Methinks some of you on your outings have struck stars like these and listened to the oh's and other ejaculations peculiar to the female of the species.)

Enter the windy, dirty, rotten room where the poor bells that cannot die are allowed to mildew and crack for want of a little attention, until they ring the tower down in the angry resonance of their revenge.

If the care of belfries and tower walls were a mere affair of sentiment, there might be room for regret, but hardly a matter for protest. But, indeed, thousands of pounds might be saved if the anything but silent ruin going on inside our churen towers all over the land were occasionally arrested by a few pounds' worth of timely cement, or a new beam or rivet, just enough to check the tremendousiy increased friction caused by loose bell machinery.' (That's it, let the local joiner and blacksmith loose on your bells as he suggests, then open a Bell Fund.)

The other day we ascended the tower of one of the most beautifully restored cathedrals in England. It was by no means as badly kept as many; we therefore select it as a good average specimen to describe. The tower and spire of red sandstone, massive, but soft, and therefore specially dependent upon good cement and protection from the weather. the shutters were, as usual, old and rotting; large gaps admitted rain and wind, whose action was abundantly manifest upon the flakes of soft stone that lined the interior of the spire: in places the old cement had complecely fallen out, but the spire may still stand for another hundred years or more, after which it will have to be taken down and replaced at enormous cost. The bell machinery, like every machinery intended for mere peals (not carillons), was of course the roughest kind-the old primitive wheel, and nothing more. This simple, and at the same time cumbrous apparatus, never can work smoothly on a large scale, and more complicated works, which would save half the friction, might easily be devised: but then who cares what the works up in the belfry are like? The wretched man who pulls the rope may sweat and fume. but nobody sees him, and besides, he is paid for it.' (I do not know what to say about this outburst, but as there are wild comments it is perhaps as well to say nothing at this juncture.)

IN A CATHEDRAL

- There are ten bells in L-... Cathedral, of which I am speaking, the largest weighing if tons. ihese bells are in pretty constant use. On examining the wheels, I found them all to be more or less rough, rotten and split. Each wheel, of course, swung between "two stout beams." There was a rest for the axle of the wheel provided upon the surface of each beam, whilst a piece of wood kept fast by a movable rivet was fitted over the indentation in which the axle-tree worked, so as to prevent the wheel from rising and jolting in the beams when swung. I had the curiosity to go round and examine each socket. In every case the rivet was out, lying on the beam or on the floor or lost: consequently, whenever the peal is rung, the jolting and creaking alone must, in the long run, injure the lower greatly. Indeed, I feel convinced that, in nine cases out of ten it is not the sound of the bells so much as the unnecessary friction of the neglected bell machinery which ruins our towers and shakes down our church spires. (Well, well, this seems a case for the want of a nail, the battle was lost. So the little wooden peg that held down the flat wooden bearing caps b.comes a most important item and causes jolting and creaking. Even today there still are little wooden pegs that are not in their rightful place, but lying somewhere amongst the rubbish on the floor. When rivets were referred to before in connection with wooden beams I wondered what the writer was getting at, now I know, he means wooden pegs. Be patient there is still some more material of a similar sort and you can laugh or cry according to the mood you are in.)

Let architects remember that the towers are not only good for bells, but also for lovers of scenery; and let them repair the staircases. Unless the staircase is decent, safe and clean, the neighbouring panorama of hill and dale, land and water, will be lost to all but a few adventurous climbers. Then the better the ascent, the more chance there is of the belfry being visited and cared for." (Perhaps if you ask them kindly, those who climb the tower for the scenery will oil the bell bearings whilst they are up there!)

But here are the bells; why should they be covered with rust?' (Yes, I have come to conclusion our clerical friend was colour blind: had he said they were covered in some sort of white substance I would have agreed with him, but rust! never.)

The Belgian bellfounders take a pride in sending out their bells smooth and clean. The English bell-founders send them out sometimes with bits of iron and rough metal sticking to them from the mould, and full of pits and flaws. Well they know that none will care for the bells, or notice their condition, until they finally crack or tumble down. Why turn them out clean, when they are never to be clean again?
(I wonder what the bellfounders thought of that libellous statement. Seems to me that our friend was one of these Englishmen who condemns everything British and praises the work of the foreigner.)

THE BELLS OF OLD BAILEY

By CHARLES BROWN (Churchwarden of St. Sepulchre's)

When will you pay me? Say the bells of Old Bailey.?

FOR centuries English children have been singing 'Oranges and Lemons,' the rhyme about the church bells of London. Here is the best-known version :

Oranges and lemons,
Say the bells of St. Clement's :
You owe me five farthings,
Say the bells of St. Martin's:
When will you pay me?
Say the bells of Old Bailey:
When I grow rich,
Say the bells of Shoreditch;
When will that be?
Say the bells of Stepney;
I do not know,
Says the big bell of Bow.
Here comes a candle to light you to bed,
Here comes a chopper to chop off your head:
The last, last, last, last, last man's head.
That is a fairly late version of the rhyme, but its antiquity is clear enough from the allusion in the last lines; the chopping off of heads refers to the execution of traitors, which was a common enough event in mediæval England.

The rhyme did not appear in print until 1744, when it took this form :

Two sticks and apple,
Ring ye Belhs at Whitechapple,
Old Father Bald Pate,
Ring ye Bells at Aldgate,
Maids in White Aprons,
Ring ye Bebls at St. Catherines,
Oranges and lemmons.
Ring ye Bells at St. Clemens,
When will you pay me. Ring ye Bells at ye Oid Bailey,
When I am rich,
Ring ye Bells at Fleetditch,
When will that be?
Ring ye Bells at Stepney,
When I am old,
Ring ye Bells at St. Paul's.
In all the versions, with their many variations, the bells of the Old Bailey appear. Thev are the bells in the tower of St. Seoulchre's Church. For years they had a sombre connection with the nearby Old Bailey, which was built as a prison in 1770 . There was another prison close at hand, too. for Newgate, one of the City gates, had served as a prison for countless years. "When will you pay me?" is no doubt an allusion to the numerous debtors in the prisons. "When will you pay me?' is still a pertinent cry. for the famours hells have been silent since 1940 and their restoration will be a costly undertaking.

FIRST RECORD

There have been bells in the tower of St. Sepulchre's Church for hundreds of year:. The tower itself dates from the 15 th century and there was evident!y an earlier tower before that ime. The first known reference to a bell in the tower is a 1345 Ordinance of the Spurriers Company:

No one of the trade shall work loneer than from the beginning of the day until curfew ring out at the Church of Si.
Sepulchre's without Newgate.'
Curfew rang at 8 p.m. The name comes of course from the French courre-feu, instituted by the Norman conquerors to ring the Saxon serf to bed at dusk. The ringing of curfew ceased to be mandatory about the year 1100 . but the name stuck to the bell rung for Vespers in church at about the same hour. Sometimes it became known as the eight oclock bell and the name still lingers in narts of England to this day. though in places it is stifl rung as 'curfew.' In mediaval times hells not only called people to worship, but they also marked the hours of the day and the seasons of the year, while the tolling of the 'passing bell' marked the end of a man's $\because f e$ and called for prayers on his behalf.

Up to the 16 th century little can be deduced about the bells in St. Sepulchre's, except that there seems to have been a large one called Baynard's Castle. The first date of importance is 1539, when the church acquired six fine bells. They came from the nearby Priory Church of St: Bartholomew on the surrender of the possessions of the Pricey to the Crown. There were 11 bells in the Priory; six went to St. Sepulchre's-whether by gift or by purchase is not clear-the other five are stiv! in the Church of St. Bartholomew the Great. All 11 were almost certainly cast by Thomas Bullisdon about the year 1510 .

We next read of the hells in the Churchwardens' Inventory made for the Edwardian Commissioners in 1552:

Item one greate bell callyd baynardes Castell that servyth the Clock with syxe other belles in one Ryng and one santes bell."
Baynard's Castle had hung in the tower for years. It was almost certainly the bell referred to by Robert Dowe, a merchant taibor, who in 1605 gave the sum of $£ 50$. for ringing the greatest bell of St. Sepulchre's Church on the day the condemned prisoners in Newgate were executed, and for other services for ever concerning such condemned prisoners." The spiritual plight of the poor prisoners was keenly felt by Robert Dowe, for one of the - other services, was the ringing of a handbell (preserved in the church) outside the condemned cel? in Newgate on the eve of execlltions, with an exhortation to prayer and repentance. The 'greatest bell (whether Baynard's Castie or, later on. the tenor bell) continued to ring from 6 to 10 oclack on execution morning, until the late 19th century, though by that time the lolling was for a shorter period. It is uncertain when the great bell was last tolled at an execution: the probability is that the gruesome custom went on until about 1900. In earlier times, before executions took place at Newgate, the condemned prisoners were taken in the cart ${ }^{\text {* }}$ to Tyburn and as they passed up Giltspur Street beside St. Sepuichre's Church, the Parish Clerk was to stand by the church wall and to say.

All good people, pray heartily unto God for these poor sinners, who are now going to their death, for whom this great bell doth toll.'
There are few records of the bells in the middle part of the 17 th century, though this is presumably because the Puritans disliked bells and forbade their ringing. An Ordinanze of the Lords and Commons of 1644 ordered the removal of organs from parish. churches, but bells were not so casy to take down and fortunately they seem to have escaped the Puritans' zeal in many cases. But altbough the bells of Old Bailey may have been silent during the Commonwealth, they undoubtedly rang out again at the Restoration. In. the Churchwardens' accounts for 1660 we read of them being put in order for ringing:

To Mr. Turner, the Bellhanger, for work done about the bells $£ 4.15 .4^{\circ}$
In 1665 , just before the Great Fire, we read again in the accounts of the 'great bell' clearly used as the curfew bell:

- For mending the clapper of the eight a Clock Bell $£ 1.6 .0$.

THE GREAT FIRE

The Great Fire of 1666 gutted the church but left the walls and the tower standing. The heat of the fire melted the bells and the molten metal cascaded down, mingled with lead from the roof. There is however, evidence that the "greatest bell" (which hung in a turret apart from the others) was not destroyed. Thi Sanctus bell, too, seems to have remained. Ford, writing in 1667 , the year after the Fire. has these lines

A lofty pile (now humbled) next appears,
Once christened 'twas St. Sepulchers,
Which, since it felt the all-interving flame,
The Saint lost, kept its empty name.
They tell us here of one unmelted Bel:
That toll'd condemned Felons knell.
This Rumour heard, hang still. said she, to do
That work for London Fauxes too.:
(Londoni quod reliquum).
The Churchwardens were not dismayed by the catastrophe of the 'dreadful fire.' They were impatient to rebuild the parish church and at once set to work making contracts with the masons without waiting to consult Sir Christopher Wren. who had been appointed to rebuild the churches. One of the first things they did was to restore the bells and this they did in a surprisingly short time. On September 21 st , only 17 days after the fire. they decided to seareh for the bell metal in the ruins. In the following month arrangements were made to clear and cleanse the bell metal melted by the fire.' The Churchwardens' accounts show a payment of $£ 22$ 18s. 6d. "to the Refynor for melting the bell metal.' Enough seems to have been rerovered to cast three bells, for in Desember we read in the Vestry Minutes:

Bell metal to be taken up and delivered to John Hodson of Bishopsgate. Carpenter he giving his bond to cast the same into three sound and tuneable bells.
Three other new bells were cast by Hodion at the same time. Why the Minutes ca!? Hodson a carpenter is not clear. John and Christonher Hodson are known to have been active bell founders between 1653 and 1690.

The work must have gone ahead fairly quickly. for on February 13th following there is a Minute that:

The Churchwardens do take order . :
for providing wheels and other necessaries for the hanging up of the bells against they shall be brought in from the Founder: and later, on March 16th:

John Hodson to make a good and substantial frame to hane the six bells.'
Once the bells were un, numerous amounts were spent on their maintenance. Here are two typical Dayments from 1670:

- For a bell rope for the 6th Bell 9s. 0s.
"To Mr. Allon Bellhanger for ye sth Bebl Clapper 18s, 6d.'

There are also many records of payments to the ringers at this time.

But soon, alas, Mr. Hodson's bells seem to have given trouble. On March 21st, 1671, the Vestry decided:
'That the Doctor' (i.e., Dr. Bell, the Vicar), 'Deputy CC, Churchwardens or any five of them, treat with Mr. Hodson the Bellfounder regarding the bells that are faudty and make such arrangement with him as they shall think fitt.'
What they did 'think fitt' is not clear from the Minutes, but apparently they got grander ideas about the bells, for the following month it was decided to increase the ring to eight bells: Thus on April 17th, 1671, we read:

Mr. Wyse to make clock and chimes the Iron Barrell to be for eight bells.
$\dot{N}$ evertheless, it was another six years before the eight bells became a reality. The final decision was taken on January 28th, 1677:

That two new bells shall be made with convenient speed and the bell and lead about the Turritt at the top of the steeple be sold in order to defray the charge.'
This bell in the turret must have been the old sanctus bell mentioned in the 1552 inventory. As it was at the top of the tower it may well have escaped the fire, as did the " greatest bell.: That the sanctus bell did survive seems clear from an entry in the 1670 accounts:

For a rope for the Sancts Bell 8s. Od.'
The two new bells were cast by Mr. Darby, though the parish records do not help in establishing his identity. He may have been John Darbie of Ipswich, th founder of the 1671 bells for nearby St. Vedast, Foster La.ze. On the other hand he may have been Michael Darbie, an itinerant bell founder, who is known to have been active at this time and whose work was of poor quality. The Minutes certainly indicate that the new bells may not have been of the very best. Thus We read on August 5th, 1678 :

That Darby the Bellfounder be paid 110 more money till he hath made good the first bell.'
Again, on December 10th, 1678 :
That Mr. John Branson, Churchwarden, do pay to Mr. Darby, Bellfounder, what is due to him on his former accompt for casting the two Jeast bells and also for what mettal he hath added to the bell last cast. And as to his accompt for new casting the said bell, the Vestry do suspend, the same till the bell be better approved.
From this it would seem that one of the old Hodson bells must have been recast.
Now we come to an event of some importance. On January 17tin, 1690 , the College Youths rang touches of the first recorded Grandsire Tripkes on the bells. The Rule Book of the Ancient Society of College Youths indicates that it was a proper peal, rung in $3 \frac{3}{4}$ hours, but some autborities have disputed the accuracy of the entry.
Soon, however, there were yet more troubles. In 1695 the "great bell" was cracked and had to be recast. The work was done by Thomas Povey, who does not seem to have been a well-known founder. The 'great be!l' was evidently not the tenor of the ring but the old Baynard's Castle, the execution bell, which had certainly done very good service. We hear of it again a few years later.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD'S TOUR

A rather 'clapped' Capri estate car sped out of Southampton on July 4 th carrying it happy cargo of seven ringers with full baggage. 10 enable some of the party to warm up for the 46 towers of our tour in Cornwali, a peal was attempted at Stoke-subHambdon, Somerset, with Malcolm Powell driving the glorious 17 cwt . tenor. This was unfortunately lost after one and a half hours. Before arriving at the Globe Hotel, Truro, we had already eaten one batch of Oggies.
Sunday was a lazy day, with the afternoon spent on the beach, handbell ringing at St. Michael's Mount.

Tony Davidson, later known as 'Barsham Davidson, joined us on Monday, when we were quickly broken-in, to Cornish ropes as two or three of the seven towers had knots instead of loops in the tailends, much to the displeasure of . Hertfordshire, Jose Harris. Two towers stood out during the day, Kedruth, because only the ringer of the second could hear the bells properly and then only if he pressed his ear to the pipe jutting out of the wall by his head; and Newlyn East, because the tailends were three feet too long and without loops. The remaining bells of the day were rung with enjoyment and were generally good.

A full programme was arranged for succeeding days, including joining in the practice at iruro Cathedral. (Space prevents us from reporting the activities in detail, but the concluding day is a sample of activities.-Ed.)
We left on Saturday, joined by Fran, determined $10^{-}$make the most of our lasi day's ringing and as a result the standard of ringing was perhaps at its highest. Mullion was quickly followed by Landewednack, Manaccon, St. Anthony-in-Meneage, and Mawgan-in-Meneage. It was with regret that we closed the door at Constantine, our last tower, as it had without doubt the best ring of six wa met in Cornwall. Before our journey back to Southampton the following morning, we had one thing left to do and that was to conquer our 100 th 'Oggie,' and even this was achieved, in the company of Alan Carveth at a pub in Penzance.

After such an enjoyable tour in the 'land of the Oggie,' we extend our thanks to the incumbents and local ringers for making us so welcome, Tony Davidson and Peter, from Leighton Buzzard, for enabling us to increase our repertoire of methods, also to John Taylor, for his perfectly-timed programme and skilful driving.

BATH RINGERS IN CORNWALL

During recent weeks a project long discussed. of a holiday in Cornwall combined with some ringers, by five members of the Corston, Bath, company, was brought to fruition. Our days were spent mostly on the beach, and our evenings at various towers in the Penzance area, Sunday service ringing took place at Paul, and we were privileged to join in practices at St . Mary's, Penzance (twice), specially arranged by Mr. H. Miles, Gulval' (twice), Paul, Carbis Bay and Lelant. An evening's ringing was arranged for us at Phillack by the Rev. A. S. Roberts, some of which was recorded by a non-ringing visitor who happened to be present. We were also joined by two of the local band. Another pleasant evening was spent at Madron, where we were made welcome by Mr. G. Taysom.

On the afternoon of Saturday, August 1st, we visited Sennen, Zennor and Towednack. On most of these occasions we were joined by Mr. E. Langley, late of Taunton, now residing in Redruth. and by Mr. F. V. Gant. To these gentlemen, to the Paul ringers who accompanied us, to the tower masters whos: practices we joined and to the incumbents who gave us special permission to ring, and not least to Mr. H. Miles and the Rev. A. S. Roberts our grateful thanks are due. We hopz to repeat the experience in the not too distant future. L.R.G.T.

MR. CLAUDE RUSH DELVES INTO 'CHURCH BELLS

Vol. XI, Advent, 1880 - Advent, 1881

CHRISTCHURCH, NEW ZEALAND
19 Nov. 1880.-Meeting to form a Society of ringers. Resolved to form a society on the basis of Ancient Society of College Youths to be known as : The Society of Christchurch Cathedral Bell-ringers. Some good changeringing on the Cathedral bells as soon as tincy are ready for use is promised.

CEFN COED, MERTHYR TYDVIL.

20 Dec. 1880.-New ring of 6, tenor 9 cwt. in $A$, opened. Cast and hung by Llewelin and James, Bristol. Funds by public subscription.

MUFFLED BELLS
Our opinion is asked how bells should be muffled. The great beauty arises from the second blow being, as it were, the echo of the first-to proauce whicn the clapper is muffled on the side opposite the pulley or the fillet: if changes are rung they should be in whole-pulls, as recommended and practised by Squire Troyte at Huntsham. and a few other places: the effect is most touching.

CLERICAL RINGERS AT WILTON, NORFOLK
3 Jan. 1881.-By invitation of the Rector, Rev. W. W. Hutt, several clerical ringers of the Norwich Diocesan Association met at Wilton to try a ring. Seven clergymen are named. They rang three methods of Doubl-s and two of Minor. Next day Mr. Hutt took his guests to reighbouring Methwold. 'to ring and hear the fine-toned bells of that villag:. Here they rang 720 Oxford T.B. Minor in 27 minutes. Tenor 14 cwt . 'This is believed to be the first 720 of T.B. Minor ever rung by a company composed entirely of clergymen. and we may gather from this that art of ringing is gradually becoming esteemed and practised as it deserves.

> CHALFORD, GLOS.

5 Jan. 1881 .-Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan meeting at Stroud. One band visited Chalford .where there is a ring of six steel bells, but if they are no better than the ringers report them to be, it will be a long time before steel will beat the good old-fashioned metal of our towers.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD OF  CHANGE-HNGGERS

17 Jan. 1881.-General meeting at Oxford. Great disappointment was felt that no ringing could take place owing to the refusal of the College authorities to grant permission for the use of their bells on this occasion. It was finally decided to admit a round-ring $r$ as a probationer. and on payment of $1 /$ - to grant him all the privileges enjoyed by a grant him all the privileges enjoyed by a change-ringing member, exception having been taken by the Bishop at the world " pelforming member" which, he said, savoured too much of a street organ and a monkey, so the word "change-ringing-member" was substituted. Several paid their two guineas which entitled them to life membership.

SHREWSBURY. HANDBELLS
24 Jan. 1881.- 630 Grandsire Triples containing 24 bobs and 6 singles were rung by tapping on handbells by D. Davies and called from a MS. by D. H. Davies, in 25 minutes.

ST. OSWALD, COMPTON ABDALE.

GLOS

The 4 old bells have been recast by Warners into a very pretty ring of 6 and hung by Savory and Sons. of Painswick. The timber for the frame was presented by the Earl of Eldon. Dedicated 14 Jan. 1881, before a crowded congregation. Old tenor 12 cwt . 1 qr .
14 lb . G New 14 lb , in G. New tenor 8 cwt . 5 lb . in A flat.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY

1 Feb. 1881-The 6 bells, tenor 36 cwl.. rung for a wedding. 'Church Bells' remarks: - There have heen rumours of late that the fine ring of 6 was to be augmented to 8 . It would be a great improvement.
PETERBOROUGH PARISH CHURCH: INVITATION TO KEEP A CENTENARY The Vicar, Rev. H. S. Syers, announced that on 15 Mar. 1881, they would keep the centenary of the death of Matthew Wildbore (or Wyldbore) who left $£ 5$ to the ringers annually for a peal to be rung on the anniversary of the day of his death. He did this for the encouragement of bell ringing in nis native parish. For 99 years the gift had been earned. Now the Vicar writes, May we ask some of the brethren to come and help us observe the day with such eclat as may give a stimulus to the scrence and art of ringing here in Peterborough. Will anyone form a team to come and ring; will any Priest who is a lover of ringing give us a sermon at our special service on that day; and will anyone give a public lecture on Ringing'? We have a fine ring of 8 and we ofler a hearty welcome and hospitality to any of the craft who will volunteer to come.

On 15 th the bells rang at an early hour and continued during the day Fifty dined a the Falcon Hotel. Rev. D. W. Barrett said that when he was a boy he could stand on a hill near his home at Christmastide and hear no less than 15 sets of bells ringing in the neighbourhood. He stressed care to be taken of the ringing-chamber, and not let it become a storehouse for coal, candle-ends, pieces of rope and other rubbish. "I here are 40,000 church bells in England and each has a rope with a ringer at its end.

Rev. Mr. Syers referred to the Peterborougl founder. Willam Penn, and to 'Bell Dyke' by Bridge Street, where bells were floated down the river to be taken away un waiting barges. He also said that the metal of Peterborough l'arish Church bells was a portion of the great bell of Leicester Abbey which, at the Dissolution, was purchased by the churchwardens of Peterborough and brought by road by teams of horses to the city in Henry VIlis reign.

STANDARD METHODS IN THE ART OF CHANGE-RINGING,  BY JASPER W. SNOWDON-

ALL SAINTS', MAIDSTONE

7 Feb. 1881.-5.040 Grandsire Triples, 3 hours 2 minutes. Tenor about 30 cwt . in C . - Rung on the first 8 bells, the 9 th and 10 th not being in ringing order for so long a peal... the first peal of its kind ever rung on these bells ... and not one of any kind for more than 60 years.

SEEND, WILTS

More than a year ago (to 1881) one of the bells gave way at the canons and. in falling. troke the treble. Last autumn the parishoners agreed to have the broken bell recast and the whole ring rehung in a new cage. The munificence of a lady in the parish enabled them to add a new bell. making 6 . The casting was by Mears and Stainoank and the hanging by Alfred York. of Bristol. Reopened 17 teb. 1881. The Vicar. Rev. A. B. Thynne. having himself taken to ringing with a gocd nill, gave the first pull at the new treble.
SS. MARY AND NICHOLAS, SPALDING R. Mackman writes, 26 Feb. 1881, Mr Jerram says that the weight of the tenor 15 cwt . I have been told it is 18 cwt . The 15 cwt . I have been told it is 18 cwt . Would any of your readers tell me the weight of the bell from that measure.
Mr. Jerram replied, It is nonsense to attempt to calculate the number of cubic inches in a thing of irregular thickness and snape. Had he given the exact diameter at the mouth, and the thickness of the soundbow, and the note, perhaps someone might have been able to answer his quary. (I see no further reference, but today : Dove shows 15 cwit. i yr. 12 ib. in F.-C.R.)

CHRIST CHURCH. BRAY. CO. WICKLOW.   IRELAND

   IRELAND}We are adyancing in the practice of Bellringing in Ireland, and the hanging of bells in our parish churches is becoming more common. On 10 Feb. 1881,8 bells are to be dedicated in Bray tower-entire weight 113 cwt. 14 lbs., tenor 28 cwt .3 grs. 6 lbs., " raised by one man and clappering truly." Ellacombe hammers fitted. The two largest. D and E, are maiden bells... Towards the cost of $\not 1,000$ the following sums were contributedLord and Lady Brabazon, $£ 200$; Lord and Lady Meath, $\pm 90$; Mrs. Symes, $\pm 60$ : Mr. Breslin, £10): Mr. Jackson. £50; Rt. Hon W. E. Gladstone. £50. The '. Daily Express said. "The art of Campanology is one which for many years has been too much neglected iti Ireland ... and Bray now promises to enter the strife (i.e. vieing with other towers). We hope the day will come before long wh.n Irishmen will take the field against Englishmen in this and other rivalries and challenge the ringers of Lancashire to a fritndly contes of skill with a not too presumptuous hope of victory.

NOTICE.- Wanted for the parish of Bray, an experienced instructor in the art of change-ringing. Remuneration, 10/- per week with additional $10 /-$ until employment has been obtained, which would probably be found quickly by a good and steady tradesman or mechanic. Copies of testimonials to Rev. J. G. Scott, Rector, Bray

ST. BARTHOLOMEW, DUBLIN
12 Feb. 1881.- A splendid ring of 8 bells shortly to be hung in the belfry of this beautiful church.

T. GEORGE'S, DUBLIN

26 Feb. 1881.-Grandsire Tr.p.es were rung at Bray. 10 Feb. 1881. We should be pleased to report some day the same style of scientific ringing from St. George's, Dublin. where we understand, they they do notning but callchanges.

HANDBELL MUSIC.

BY W. GORDON, of STOCKPORT

We have bien favoured with a copy of this clever production and strongly recommend it. We are sorry to see that the author styles himself "Teacher and Conductor of the Stock. port Campanologian Band," a horrible mongr. 1 word which we desire to stamp out, preferring plain Engling Ringing instead.

Later, the paper published this noticeCampanology. We would suggest to our corespondents to discontinue the use of this mongrel word. Campanology, and use plain English Bell-ringing instead. The word is as absurd as Bellology. Some p:ople like to use long and grand-sounding words: but there is nothing like calling a Spade a Spade.
(In a previous volume I had noted that the Editor of 'Church Bells" had said that Campanology was half Low Latin and half Greek and therefore mongrel.-C.R.)

HANDBELL RINGING
19 Mar. 1881.-Holt's Ten-part Grandsire Triples has been recently rung. with an interval between each part. by tapping on handbells by a convalescent. without a caller, or help of any kind. Total time 3 hours 42 minutes.

ROTHWELL. YORKS

19 Mar. 1881 -Recently Benjamin Walker. one of the oldest inhabitants of the town and a noted ringer, passed away in his 83 rd year. He rang at the parish church, and assisted in ringing fifty-three midnight peals on as many consecutive Christmas nights.

ST. DUNSTAN'S, STEPNEY, LONDON
5 Mar. 1881.-Ten Ancient Society of College Youths rang 5,007 Stedman Caters in 3) hours. Tenor 31 cwt . in D. Church Bells' adds, 'We are sorry that our College Youths friends should have set an examp!e of pleasure-pealing in Lent.'

ELSTREE, HERTS
2 Apl. 1881-Lately Warners have cast a ring of 6 for this church. tenor about 7 cwt.. where the Rector and the curate are taking muck interest in the ringers, the latter being one of them. Mrs. Bedford has added a treble. 'Quarterly Notes' of the parish states, - Under the able instruction of Mr. J. R. Haworth we hope to ... astonish the natives with some touches of Doubles and Minor and other mysteries of the art.'

ST. EDWARD S, ROMFORD, ESSEX ACCIDENT TO A RINGER
29 Mar. 1881.-One of the ringers, G. Roughton, went to the belfry with another ringer named Perkins to get the bells ready for weekly practice. The usual signal having been given, Perkins left Roughton and the ringers began to raise the bells. Roughton staying to turn the clappers.

All bells were raised and then one of the ringers, seeing Perkins enter the ringingchamber. pulled off the 7th bell just as Roughton was going to turn the clapper. The rim of the bell caught his left heel and ctushed it between the beam. cutting almost all the flesh off the bone, severing his shoe completely in half. The ringers knew nothing of what had happened until they saw blood dropping down near the door and looking up. saw Roughton descending as best he could the ladder which leads from the bells, which runs quite straight up the wall. It was found necessary to put 6 stitches in the limb...

CHERITON, KENT
Easter Monday, 1881 -New ring of 6 by Mears opened at Dedication Service. Subscribed for as a memorial to the late Mrs. K. Hugessen, wife of the Hon. Sec. of the Kent County Association and formerly Rector of Cheriton. Tenor 17 cwt . 1 qr. 5 lb . Hung by Messrs. Finn, of Mersham.

EYE, SUFFOLK

Easter Monday, 1881.-Ringers' anniversary ringing from 10 a.m., continued throughout the day 'with great spirit' and kept up until a late hour. Also on handbells. 'Several clergy and gentry visited the town for the purpose of hearing the bells... Tenor 24 cwt. in E flat by Miles Graye, 1640.' (This tenor was recently found to weigh under 19 cwt!-C.R.)

CARE OF BELFRIES

In April, 1881. W. Wigram urged all who had charge of church towers to examine the bell cage at once and tighten all nuts. The East wind will have searched every joint, and will have moved every atom of wood which drought can affect, and many bolts will be found to be so loose that they can be moved with the fingers. Every tower should be provided with a powerful screw-hammer ready for such times because loose work means useless wear and tear."

Messrs. Moore, Holmes and Mackenzie wrote that they fitted an iron frame at Weybread. Suffolk. in 1879, and now, 'two years later. the nuts and bolts are still tight, nothing having been done to them in the meantime although the bells have been rung 2 or 3 times almost every week and still go to perfection.
It had been suggested by Mr. J. R. Jerram. bellhanger of Spalding, that iron expands and contracts with heat and cold. and so constant attention is necessary to keep the nuts tight. ' Can Mr. Jerram say as much for any bells he ever hung in wood?' they ask.
Mr. Jerram replied at length and ended. 'It should always be borne in mind that bells may be sadly neglected, and everything should be arranged to allow, as far as possible, for this.

CRAWLEY, SUSSEX

Easter Sunday. 1881.-7 a.m. Several sixscores of Grandsire Doubles on the first five of the eight bells, cover bells and the two tenors behind. The Rector, Rev. J. B. Lennard. was on 5th. The first peal ever rung by the Crawley Society which has only been in existence since Dec. last. Until last Oct..

Crawley, which has a fine tower, possessed no bells to ring.'

ROTHERHAM, YORKS

Easter Monday, 1881.-Sixtieth anniversary of the opening of the bells. 6,006 Royal and Caters in $4 \frac{1}{4}$ hours. Tenor 32 cwt. C. H. Hattersley, composer and conductor, on 6th. This is the first performance on these bells.

YALDING, KENT

1881.     - The Round-ringers of this place have disgraced themselves in the eyes of all right-feeling people throughout the kingdom by ripging at intervals all through Good Friday -taking advantage of the absence of the Vicar

They may well be ashamed of their conduct, and deserve to be excommunicated from the County Association or not admitted as members when they apply.'
DEATH OF LORD BEACONSFIEID:
FUNERAL PEAL
26th April, 1881.-5.003 Grandsire Caters in 3 hours 26 minutes at St. Clement Danes ${ }^{\circ}$ Strand, London. Tenor 24 cwt. Half muffied. Rung while the funeral took place.
Much ringing to his memory took place up and down the country. At Cheltenham they rang Stedman with the bells 'deeply muffled, then rang out his age. "The ringing out of the age is not generally understood. It is, however, when well done, very effective and solemn in sound. The execution is by ringing all the bells round, backstroke and handstroke. then all the bells stand while the tenor strikes twicecounting the two strokes for one year. The Union Jack hung from the steeple half-mast high on this accasion.'
At Castle Donington, Leicestershire, 'the large bell of the parish, church was tolled at intervals during the day.'

ST. CLEMENT'S, CORNWALL
April. 1881.- Four new bells have been supplied by Warners-two ancient bells having been exactly reproduced as to stamp and inscriptions. The firm supplied instructions for a new cage to be executed by a local artican, but he thought he could improve the design and therefore added to the expense.

The quarter at Dagenham this week owes its beginning to Brian Downey, of Birmingham, who 18 months ago while under a course of training took in hand 12 teenagers and one adult from scratch. When he left, after six months, Mr. J. Armstrong and his wife continued the training. Now the first hurdle has been cleared, there are hopes of more frequent quarters.
The peal of Grandsire Cinques at St Giks', Cripplegate, in memory of Mr. A. A. Hughes, was the first peal in that method on the bells.
The ringer of the third in the peal at Wootten Wawen on July 4th (see page 569) was James West and it was his first peal attempt.
A yellow woollen scarf was found in the West Wycombe belfry after the joint meeting there on June 20th. The owner should contact Miss Doreen Hague, 6, Stompits Road, Holyport, Maidenhead.
An Abraham Rudhall bell of 1710, which formerly hung in Gloucester Prison, has been presented to ciboucester Museum. It was rung vigorously when a prisoner escaped and tolled mournfully to mark an execution.
We are informed that the peal at Holt. Wilts, on August 15th, was only the second of Surprise Minor on the bells and was rung on the 18th anniversary of the first. All the ' inside, ringers were members of the local band.
Congratulations to Stephen Hall, of Shepshed, Leics, who, at the age of 12, rang in two peals on August 18th viz., a peal in three Minor methods at Packington and the treble to a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at the Loughborough Bell Foundry. He is probably the youngest ringer to ring two peals in one day.

Until the Rector recognises the keenness of the young band of ringers now learning at Chartham. Kent, and obtains some new ropes, the ringers from surrounding towers will be disinclined to come to their practices to help them,' writes Mr. Colin H. Cook, in forwarding a quarter peal rung on these bells. ihe last, he states, was rung at least 16 years ago.

The quarter peal at Ottery St. Mary was rung after an attempt for a peal of Oxford Bob Triples broke down. It was 12 -year-old Miss Margaret Retter's first peal attempt. Don't worry, Margaret, it won't be long before you score your first peal. Though she is an ardent fan of the Beatles, Margaret would sooner miss one of their performances than miss a chance of ringing anywhere, such is her enthusiasm.
Mr. L. Stilwell ' circled' St. John the Baptist Church tower, Egham, on August 20th. His first peal at this tower was in 1927.

David J. Hopkins made an auspicious stall to peal ringing. Participating in Akan $G$. Payne's Lincolnshire Peal Week, he rang his first two peals in six and a half hours.

The band who rang the wedding peal at Ludgershall on August 16th are grateful to the Rev. and Mrs. Oliver for their hospitality afterwards.
We are now informed that the peal it Sempringham (see page 552) was rung for the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and not the Lincoln Guild.
The quarter peal at Leigh, Surrey, is believed to be the first on the bells for at least 30 years but unfortunately there seems no means of checking, writes a correspondent.

The peal rung at Kingham on Aug.st 8t? (see page 583) was for the Worcestershire and Districts Association and not for the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

A Ringing Belle' takes up her petr,
To correct a fault once again.
She hails from fair Notts' lovely vales
And not from Derby's hills and dales.
Would all intending visitors to the Lichfield Diocesan Festival on September 5th please note that Lapley bels are not now available, and that the time of ringing at Gnosall is 7.15 until 8 p.m. sharp.

Mr. Arthur Cole, of Great Bromley, rang a quarter peal on his 80th birthday. He learned to ring at Ardleigh in 1900. He moved to Bromlev in 1919 and has been captain of that tower for the last 25 years

RINGS OF FOUR IN SHROPSHIRE

By P. R. JOHNSON

Having done a little research into th: small:t rings of bells in Shropshire, I would like to sive my experiences. Some of the rings are mention d in Dove, a few are not. Acton Buinell, St. M:chael (4). Here there is a wooden Barwell frame, probabiy put in when the back two were recast. The 2 nd was cast by T. Clibury in 1651, and 3. 4 were by Barweli in 1889. The tenor weighs 5-1-14. The treble is. I believe, uninscribed. I have no information as to their condi ion. Baschurch, All Saints 14). These were re ast by Taylor about 1912, and put back into what was probably the old frame, which contains pits for six bells. The tenor weig's about pits for six bells. The fopes fall in a straight line acros the belfry and the bells 'go w 11 considering that they are rarely rung. Tho tone is good, and the Vicar is cnly too gad to have them rung.

Bourton, Holy Trinity (4). These are all by A. Rudhall in 1700 . one year after the four at Bobbington, in Staffordshire. The tenor weighs about 2 cwt. The Vicar is very reluctant to give p:rmission for ringing. believing that the wooden tower would rot stand the strain. This is probably untrue. However, the tenor stay is so leng that it catches on the clo.k hammer. which cannot he pulled off so. inless a bit of work was done. the hells could not $b$ : rung. The wheels and frame are quite sound.
Cardington, St. James (4). Here again, the hells are sunposed to he unsafe. owing to th. condition of the frame. which is an old triancular ne. The trebie and the 3 rd are hy Parwell in 1887 the ?nd either $W$. or $T$. Clihury, in 1626 and the tenor bv A. Ruidhall in 175? I very mulh douht wh th r nermission could ho nbtain-d to ring the $m$. hit the tower rertai-ly rou'd not be bl-med for th's. as it i- easilv big anough to ase mmodate auite a large ten. The ropes here fall in a ctraight lipe.
Diddleburv (4). These were rast by $J$ Martin. of Worcester between 1665 and 1 170, and rehung about 1910 . They form Nos. 1. 7. 45 of a ring' of five. and 'go' quite woll. They are rung only hy the very fow visitors they receive but are in gond condition. There are nits for six hells. The tenor weighs about 12 cwt .
Ditton Priors (4). Here the two trebles are uninscribed and obviously old bells: the 3rd was hy Clibury and the tenor by Char es Carr, of Smethwick. They are hung in a laree wonion frame. with a slantwise part in the middle for the t'nor. I can see no reason for this. The tenor weighs about 8 cwt . The Vicar will not allow ringing, and it is not hard to see why: the wheels are in an advanced stage of deray. and the wooden tower would probably not stand the strain of rineing bells anyway.
Hopesav, St. Mary (4). The front three are by John Rudhall in 1822. and tre tenor. which weighs ahout 5 cwt . hy J. Finch. of Herford in 1862. The bells here are hung dead. Hughiley (4). Cast by A. Rudh?ll in 1701. The tenor weighs about 4 cwt. but I have no other informatinn as in their cond tion Kemberton (4). The treble was rast bv $T$. Clihurv in 1671. the 7nd rv A. Rudhall in 1735. the 3rd hy H . Oldfield and the renor rabout 7 cwt : by W Clib"ry. Th- ren"s fall in a straioht line. The bells are ingabee hut the wheels are simewhat rotien and the clannors are vory !oose. This maties them seem as if the hearines are octaron'l.
Munslow, St. Michael (4). Trible by R. Oldfield in 1632. Second by T. Merrs in 1822. Third is an old bell cart around 1450 . and the tenor is by W Clibury in 1623: it weiphs about 12 cwt . The bal's are supposed to be unringable.
Onibury, St. Michael (4). The treb'e is by J. Rudhali in 1824 . The 2nd and 3rd are 14th century and the tenor. which weighs about 6 cwt ., is by H. Cliburv. There is an old triangular frame. dated 1626 . The arch:lect has pronounced iudgment upon the tower. so there is very little likelihood of the bells being rung again, unless the tower is strengthened.

Stoke St. Milborough, the Priory Church of St. Milburgha (4). The treble is by W. Clibury in 1622. and the rest are by T. Clibury in 1637. The wheels are falling apart, and the fittings are genzrally in very bad shape. The bells are chimed in Minimus, with scme short pieces of rope ted to the clappers. The tenor weighs about 10 cwt .
Stottesdon, St. Mary (4). Originally a Rudhall five in 1752. The 2nd became cracked and was sold to cefray the expenses during the first world war. The tenor weighs about 9 cwt., and the bells are swing-chimed for service.
Wentnor. Dove gives this as a ring of four. but the front three have disappeared. They vere originally hung ' dead,' and the remaining bell is probably just for the clock to chime on.

If anyone is interested in rings of three in Shropshire. they are invited to write to Philip R. Johnson. 3, Lansdowne Avenue. Codsall. Staffs. Can anyone supply me with information on rings of three and four in Staffordshire. as I hope to supplement the abov: list by Staffordshire rings of four in the near future.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT IN AUSTRALIA

The Australian ringing scene is constantly changine ant improving, reports the current issue of 'Ringing Towers." There are new bells (10) at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Sydney: recast bells at Bendigo: rehung and retuned bells at Melbourne; restored bells at Adelaide Town Hall. For the future, a tower a Bathurst Cathedral for 1970. the centenary of the diocere. for six bells lying idle: rehanging at Ballaarat. including the two trebles at present hung dead: possible rehanging and augmentation to eight at Parramatta.

RING OF TEN FOR SYDNEY CATHEDRAL

An anonymous gift of $£ 10,000$ has been made to St. Andrew's Cathedral, Sydney. for the purpose of installing a ring of bells in memory of the donor's late husband.

Ringing Towers states that it understands that for some time the Cathedral authorities have been considering acquiring a ring and had a certain amount of money in hand. The bequest meant that they could go ahead. and John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have secured the order for a ring of 10 bells. With tenor of 29 cwt .

Comments 'Ringing Towers': This is wonderful news. A ring of ten in the heart of Sydney.

SUFFOLK GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the N.E. District was held at Aldeburgh on August 15th. Ringing took place in the afternoon and evening The Rev. R. J. Stanford. of Friston, conducted a short service, followed by a business meet ing, presided over by the chairman, $\mathbf{M r}$. R Bickers.
Next meeting: Saxmondham and Benhall, Saturday, November 21st.

JOINT MEETING AT ROYSTON

Good relations between the Southern District of. the Yorkshire Association and the Barnsley District Society were maintained at a very enjoyable joint meeting held at Royston on August 8th, with ringing also taking $p$ ace at Felkirk and Barnsley.
The proceedings were not entirely uncventful as ringing on the six at Royston look place minus a stay in the treble, the fifth stay fell out at Felkirk and a rop: broke at Barnsley after the bell: had $b=e n$ lowered. After tying the secend rope to the rcpe down to the church. John Seager tugged at it to test his handiwork, the rope broke, so dit his spectacles and he finished splicing and threading the rope through a complicated route just in time to miss gitting same wallearned liquid refreshment

Miss Sheila Connery, of tie local company, was in charge of catering and kept up the high standard of the Barnsley Society in that direction. Tea was followed by the Southern District's quarterly business meeting and at this stage members welcomed Rev. J. E. K. Law, Vicar of Royston, who kindly undertook the duties of chairman and opened th: meeting with prayers.

Ten now members were elected: K. J Hesketh. Liverpool: D. J L'ewellyn, Bury W. R. Parker. Lincoln: Miss Margaret Wi:ytn and Miss Pat Stafford. Sheffield: Haro'd Johnson. Adwick-le-Street: Rev N. Webb. curate of Rovston: P. S. Wood, Bradfie'd: M ss Joan Book and John Hiner. Rawmarsh.
It was pronosed that the next quarterly meeting be held at Handsworth on Noventer 21 st . The $5 u m$ of 19 s . 6 d . was collected for the Be!! Repair Fund. The meeting end -d with a vote of thanks hv Mr. R. J. Sandersen to all concerned in this surce sful mee:ing, which was seconded by Mr. J. Seager.

CHANGES THROUGH THE YEARS

JUST 100 years ago a clergyman, at a meeting of clergy, advised that on no excuse should permission be given for ringing on Sunday. 'Ringing,' he said, ' is an intellectual and scientific enjoyment, as much so as chess or violin playing . . . and we know what view we should take of Sunday chess players or Sunday concerts.' In a climate like this-and to combat such opinions within the Church the modern territorial associations were formed, the movement growing during the last quarter of last century. The older ones among us are fond of telling the young that in our time we sat in the ringing chamber and waited to be asked to ring. Encouragement was the last thing we expected. The late J. Armiger Trollope has told how he and his school friends fared. With Troyte's book and permission to ring on an unused six at Norwich they taught themselves to handle the bells and then to ring changes. With handbells made from the old-fashioned bells that hung in the servants' quarters, they learned double-handed ringing. And still they were not readily accepted in the towers of Norwich.

By contrast let us consider the position of the new ringer today. He has a local Association to encourage him and to arrange practice meetings at which he can make progress; he is welcome in almost every tower, either as a beginner anxious to learn or as an addition to the local band; judging by the numbers rung, peal ringing facilities are as good as they ever have been, and of course travel is much easier: day or week-end courses of instruction are held, at which well-known ringers are found to impart their knowledge to anybody willing to listen. This is a big changel from the days when a man kept his hardwon knowledge to himself. Central Council and other publications, though not numerous enough to satisfy some, are available for private study, written by ringers only too willing to share their expertise. To come nearer home. - The Ringing World ' exists to focus all these activities by publicity, by notices, peal reports and willingness to publish suitable articles, whether technical or historical. about our art.

Like organ playing or choral singing. our service to the Church has a secular aspect, and it would appear that this secular side is flourishing. In spite of many other attractions, more and more young people are seen at meetings and courses and in our towers. One wonders, however, whether the attention being given to this side of our art overshadows to some extent the fact that we are, or should be. primarily church workers and as such should be active members of our Church; in its worship and its other activities. From time to time one hears that an incumbent is in conflict with his ringers because of their non-attendance at church. Often there are explanations. Perhaps the ringers worship at another church, without bells; perhaps they go on to ring at another church with a later service; and so on. The recent ringers' festival at Kirby-le-Soken showed the bright side of the coin. The bells were rung before and after three services, most of the ringers joining at least one of the large congregations. A ringer travelled many miles to preach and others similar distances to read the lessons. Equally inspiring are the annual gatherings of some of the territorial Associations referred to. Christ Church Cathedral. Oxford, for example, resounds annually with the hearty singing of the ringers of the Oxford Guild.

The writer's experience is limited to his own area, and it may be that in other parts of the country the position is more encouraging. But one has a feeling that often the ringers are not as closely-knit to the Church as both parties should desire. As ringers we must admit that we owe almost all our opportunities for indulging in our hobby to the Church, and also that basically the service of the Church is our raison d'être. What more can we do to bring ringers and other church workers into close contact where it does not now exist? Most Association meetings are held on Saturdays and they often include a short service. But those services are by their nature exclusive. Would it not be possible for Association or District officers and the more active members all to meet occasionally on a Sunday by arrangement to help ring at one of their less-flourishing towers, and then all to attend the service as an act of corporate worship? No doubt the incumbent would be happy to make reference to the event during the service. Our readers, with their extensive col ${ }_{-}$ lective experience, will have their own views on what can and should be done to bring our work closer to the Church. and we shall welcome their ideas. No doubt the members of the Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee of the Central Council will also be glad to hear their views.
W. G. WILSON.

LOCKED IN ST. MARY-LETOWER

An awkward predicament confronted ringers at St. Mary-le- Tower, kpswich, at the conclusion of their practice on August 31 st. The helfry door was locked against them. It has been customary to open the belfry door with a key which is left in the lock.

The first to leave could not open the door. About a dozen ringers were like rats in a trap: one suggested the fire brigade (that useful institution when in trouble). another, endowed with a fair amount of initiative. recommended firing the back eight. This brought the caretaker to the churchyard. and he was asked to tie a screwdriver and hammer on a bell rope, let down from a window The tools were hauled un: after a lot of hard work the screws were removed and the whele lock tak:n cff, occupying about hate an hour.
A late arrival at the practice noticed two or three lads loitering near the porch: it is supposed they climbed the 30 steps locked the door and decamped with the key. Th:y probathy thourht it a huge joke, but the ringers did not!
Now the stable door is being locked after the horse is stolen.

FIRST LADY TAUGHT IN WALTHAMSTOW

Mr. W Shepherd. of Addlestone. writes repeating Mr. I. D. Chapman's statement, that Miss Janet Gamble was the first lady taught in Walthamstow tower to ring a quarter there In the spring of 1907, he states. Miss C Beasley, a Walthamstow ringer, scored her first quarter there and this was recorded in first quarter there
Mr. H. Rumens writes that Miss Sonia Coles. daughter of Mr. C. T. W. Coles and granddaughter of the late Mr. C. T. Coles, learned to ring at St. Mary's, Walthamstow. in 1948 and raing in several quarter peals, including Grandsire Triples. Caters. Stedman Triples and Boh Minor. Going back before 1914. Miss Clara Beazley was taught at St. Mary's and was the young lady who rang the tenor to the first 'all ladies' peal at Cubitt Iown.

80th BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS

The heartics of congratulations go forth from the Midland District of the Ladie, Guild to a member who was the first VicePresident of the District when it was formed in 1946. She is Miss 1. B. Thompson who celebrates her 80th birthday today-Sept. 11 th. For 14 years Miss Thompson held the position of Vice-President in the District, but during the whole of her ringing career her support for the Ladies' Guild. her Church and all ringing has always been readily given After 52 years in the Guild it was our nrivilege to make Miss Thompson an Hon Life Member and she continues to serve on the General Committec. Many of the older peneration will remember Miss Thomoson as Treasurer of the old ' M.C.A.' as affectionately known in the Midlands.
Ringers everywhere will join with us in offering our congratulations in her new-frund retirement.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The St. Albans District held a full meeting at St. Mary's, Welwyn. for the first time on August 15th. We were met by the tower captain. Mr. Steer, who showed us his set of new ropes, bought not a moment too soon. Two were on hy evening!
The new Rector, thic Rev. Mr. Walsh, took the service and gave a most interesting address on the history of one of his bells. which bears the inscription, 'Down with enthusiasm.' Is it just hear:av that this bell cannot he rung to a peal? Tca was arranged by the local to a peal? Tca was arran band at a cafe in the town.
A business meeting was held in the churchyard. Mr. Rcx Agg, the Association secretary. presiding. The meeting was pleased to hear that it had been reoresented at the funcral of Mr. A. A Hughes. Thelma West was elected a probationary member and Paula Healey and Peter Dale ringing members.

MR. A. PAT CANNON RINGS HIS 1,000 th PEAL

The congralulations of many friends will be extended to Mr A Hai Cannon, of Dorking. the Master of the Surrey Association, who rang his 1,000 th peal at Pilton. Devon. on August 26th. He has reached the goal of 1.000 peals at the age of 51
It has taken him 34 years 1 month to reach this total. His first peal was ringing the tenor behind to Stedman Triples at St John's. Deptford, London, on July 19th, 1930 and his first as conductor at St. Olave's, Har Street. London, in 1933.

All his peals have been rung on tower bells and they have included no fewer than 750 different towers in 60 counties, in ali four countries of the British Isles and the Channel Islands. The list includes 42 first peals on the hells.

Tenor ringing and new towers have always appealed to him and he has 'turned in 584 different tenors to peals.
He has had the pleasure of ringing peals in many rare towers, including Queen Camel, Derby St. Luke's, Fairford, Southampton Holy Rood (now demolished). Newark, Oxford St. Mary the Virgin. Wells St. Cuthbert's Eastbourne St. Saviours, Bridlington, Bid:ford, Pilton, Wexford, Cork, Inverness. Dun blane and many others at which few peal; have ever been rung.

OBITUARY

MR. J. E. S. MORETON

The ringers of All Saints' Church, Chilvers Coton, Warwickshire, have suffered a severe blow in the sudden passing to higher service of their oldest member. John Edward Spencer Moreton, at the age of 67, on August 24th.
He came of a ringing family and fir-t lear:1s1 10 ring in 1910. From 1923-1952 he was captain of the band and also tower keeper for a great part of the time. He rang about 100 peals. In his capacity as a carpenter and joiner he. together with the late Ernest Stone, made and erected oak panelling in the ringing room to the memory of Mr. G. J. Lewis, father of Mrs. D. E. Beamish, a staunch worshipper at the church for many years.

The funeral service on August 27th was attended by the majority of the local ringers together with Mr. F. W. Perrens, Mr. A. J. Hinde and Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward. representing the Coventry Diocesan Guild, of which Jack had been a member for 50 years.
The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the interment and a quarter peal was rung in the evening. Prior to a quarter peal on the Sunday morning following a minute's silence has observed and the captain, Mr. A H Beamish, offered a short prayer and hoped that the band would gain inspiration from the life of Jack Moreton and render the same loyalty to the church that he did.

THE SELECT BAND

With Mr. A P. Cannon completing his 1,000 peals, there are now 26 ringers who have rung 1,000 peals. Of these nine are alive. Their names are :

MADELEY RINGING JUBILEE

The diamond jubilee of ringing service in one tower. St. Michael's, Madeley, Salop. was in July reached by Mr. Thomas Pritchard. of Court Street, Madeley.

During the past 60 years Mr. Pritchard has been most dedicated in his church, not only as a bellringer, which included 28 ycar; as tower caplain. but as a sidesman, deputy warden and churchwarden. As a bellringer his only absences from Sunday service and practice ringing were during the two world wars and while the bells were being recast and augmented to eight ; except the occasional day of ill-health

In 1907. after only three years as a ringer. he taught the complete band change ringing as he was the only experienced change ringer there. Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at Whitsun. 1962. and to mark the occasion presented an electric clock for the ringing chamber

During the past six months $\mathbf{M r}$. Pritchard unfortunately has been very poorly and in hospital, but he is now making progress.
To mark the diamond jubilee. the local company rang a auarter peal of Grandsire Doubles, with 4, 6, 8 covering, on August 13th. Many of the band had long service in the tower, details being: J. Tranter (one vear first quarter) 1. T. S. Wilkes ( 38 vears) 2 Miss P. Alford (2 years) 3. J. L. Stanier ( 56 years) 4. F. W. Jones ( 18 years) 5. A. J. Molinoli (one vear) 6. H. Tranter ( 32 years. conductor) 7, H. Hyde ( 54 years) 8.

MATT. WOOD, OF BETHNAL GREEN

In their tributes to Mr. Albert A. Hughes your recent contributors have referred to h.s learning to ring under Matthew A. Wood of Bethnal Green. Mr. E. E. Holman, of Walthamstow, has recently presented to th: London County Association Matt. Wood's peal books-five small notebooks in good con dition and written in excellent copperplate. As a matter of interest and for the beneit of future historians of our art, I give brief palticulars of these books and at the same time express thanks to Ernie Holman, for his kindness in presenting them, and for the care with which they have been preserved.
Book 1.-Contains 105 peals of Grandsir: Triples, including his first ncal in 1846, and his last, conducted by A. A. Hughe, in 190\%. Forty-one of these peals were conducted by Matt. Wood and they include four on handbells.
Book 2.-Eighty-five neals of Stedman Triples (conducted 16) from 1847 to 1907. It is noticeable that Matt, was at home anywher, 'round the circle. though in not cne of these peals did lie ring the tenor behind He rane 5-6 to the first peal of Stedman Triples in hand in 1854 and, in the same year, $7-8$ to the same methed, non-conducted. In 1906 the name of 'A. A. Hughes, junr. first appears in these books-he rang the tenor at Bethnal Green Book 3.-Rerords 68 peals of Major, brtween 1846 and 1908, the majority of them Kent Treble Bob, with 8.448 in 1870 at Spitalfields: 8,896 at B thnal Green in 1890 and a record length. 15.840 . in 1868 . Peals of London. Cambridge and Superlative are included in this section.

Book 4.-Records 82 peals of Caters and Royal between 1848 and 1902. including four of Stedman Caters in hand. that in 1851 being the first such performance.
Book 5.-Records 40 peals of Cinques and Maximus between 1848 and 1901, meluding the first of Stedman Cingues 'in hand in 1854, rung for the St. James Society. These peals also include the then record lengths of Stedman Cinques- 7,524 at Crimplegate in 1851 and 8,589 at Cornhill in 1861
At the end of this volume there are summaries of these 380 peals. a considerablo total for those days: and a list of names of all the ringers who tock part in them, which reads like a roll of honour of famous London ringers, with distinguished visitors, of the last century.

A note ahout Matt. Wood with nhntogranh. anpeared in 'R.W' for Augus! 30th. 1940. He came nf an old rineing family, his grandfather and great uncle being notable early members of the Cumberlands. He was born in 1826 and lived from 1829 until his death in 1912 in Church Row. bv St. Matthew's Church where he succeerled his father as steeple-keeper.

OUTING

DEVIZES, WILTS

The ringers and friends of St. John's. St Mary's and St. James'. Southbroom, held their annual outing on August 29th. The coach left St. John's Church at 1 p.m., the first tower heing Wilton. where we were met by the Rev. C. A. Witcomb and Mr. A. Trimby. At Fordingbridg: Mr. Marlow met us and everyone rang on the eight bells.
Bournemouth was reached al s p.m.. and after tea Mr. Colin Comway and Rev. David Haslam met us. We enjoyed our hour's ringing on these fine bells. The homeward lourney was through the New Forest and Lyndhurst, to Salisbury, where there was a half hour halt. Devizes was reached ahout
II. 45 p.m.

DOUBLE-HANDED PEAL OF MAJOR

The 3-4), Frank T. Blagrove (5-6) Tony Price (7-tenor).

Having rung the triple-double-handed peal at Preston Candover in 1961, thoughts turned to a peal of $B$ ob Major with four ringers. Tom Chapman was the obvious choice for the fourth ringer. and the only problem was a suitable tower

Two attempts were made at Atherstone, Warwickshire, in 1963, but both were stopped about half-way due to bells crossing. This did, however. give us much valuable practice.

The third attempt, at Balcombe, was successful at the first try. The first half was good, although the time of 85 minutes was probably too fast, resulting in a few patches in the third part. A few words from the tenors to "Slow it up " led to some gocd ringing in the last part; time for the second half being 94 minutes. In this attempt we rang Pritchard's Four Part instead of the handbell composition used in the other attempls. The greatest difficulty in all-double-handed ringing is the difference in weight of the two tenors. The success of the peal was undoubtedly due to the skill and ease with which Tony rang them.
After the peal, welcome refreshment was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Laker and we express our appreciation to Mr. Laker and the Balcombe ringers for the peal arrangements.

BATTLE RINGERS IN HERTS

Regarded by some as a rash decision, Battle ringers held their annual outing on August Bank Holiday. It turned out. however, to be a glorious day and the arrangements went surprisingly smoothly. For the first time. the Dean accompanied the party.

It was a long ride into Hertfordshire for Cheshunt (an easy-going ring), our first tower To start with we did not do justice to the bells, but later on some well-struck Grandsire and a half course of Cambridge were achieved. The unusual happened at Hertford (10). The stay of the third was bent, but a Heath-Robinson operation put things right with the 'supporting bar,' consisting of the original bent stay plus wedge and various lengths of rope. Funnily enough, nobody dared to set the bell.
After lunch ringing at Baldock was spoiled by trying to ring the bells too fast. At Hitchin, the heat of the day seemed to be telling itself and ringing was confined to standard methods. A most enjoyable salad tea at the Cavalier Hotel evenage, was followed by a narrow lane $r$ ite to Wheathampstead. where 36 feet of unguided rope proved a problem to some who were not so agile with their footwork. At the last tower. Aldenham, Stedman and a half course of Yorkshire were rung.

Some still awake attempted to ring hand bells on the journey home. However, this soon ceased and the coach drifted into moderate silence, with the back seat. of course, occupied by, . ... Ob do move over a bit. Colin.'

Mr. John Betjeman and The Central Council

Dear Sir,-Readers of Mr. Peter Came's leading article on Mr. John Betjeman in your issue of August 7th may like to know that in reply to my letter inviting him to allow his name to go forward for election as an honorary member of the Council, Mr. Betjeman replied: "I am honoured that my name should be considered as an honorary member of the Centrat Council of Church Bell Ringers. It is some years now since I handled a bell and when I did I never rose to method ringing. call changes were all I could manage, but the sound of bells and the joy of the exercise are things which are dear to me. I am thoroughly in agreement with the aims of your Council.'
I have sent him a copy of the above issue. -Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT Hon. Secretary,

More Yorkshire Four-bell Towers

Dear Sir,-Recently fresh information has come my way on some Yorkshire four-bill towers:

Bossal (near York). -The ring here has now been declared unsafe owing to excessive movement in the frame and supporting floor. This is a pity as efforts had been made to restore the ring in the old and baautiful church.

Badsworth (near Pontefract).-Recently I had the pleasure of joining the Hemingbrough band in ringing for a service. Despite the necessity of resplicing the tenor's rope the 'go' of the bells is quite good. The tone is decidedly odd and I cañt understand why they occupy the four largest pits in the six hell frame, for they are certainly not tuned to be a back 4 of a 6 .

Filey.-St. Oswald's Church has a chime of 4 bells hung 'dead.' Except for the treble. all are old bells with canons and Latin inscriptions. The tenor about 12 cwt .. is dated 1689 . the 3 rd 1700 and the 2nd 1675. These 3 bells, originally hung for full-swing ringing and then later for swing-chiming. were hung 'dead' by Taylor's in 1928 and a new treble was added at the same time. Insufficient money meant that a ring of 6 or 8 wasn't forthcoming. Although there are 4 bells in the tower, the present treble, 3 rd and tenor form a chime of 3 bells and the 2nd (a semiton: hetween the treble and 3 rd) is used as a service bell. The bells hang in a frame reputed to be of pre-Reformation ship's timbers and are well cared for. In the ex-ringing chamber is preserved the wheel of the tenor.-You-s sincerely.

MICHAEL KING.
Wentworth, Rotherham.

A Disappointment

Dear Sir,-A peal attempt of Bob Major was lost at Bletchingley. Surrey. on August 29th after two hours and 50 minutes ringing: If successful, this would have been a "first" as conductor for Richard Stevens and a welcome for Alison Streeter who contrived to be born a few hours before the attempt commenced. The happy father was ringing the treble; Richard's handling of the "not so easy" tenor was worthy of note.-Yours faithfully, Croydon.

Stravinsky and Bells

Dear Sir, - I came across a mention in a lewspaper, about two years ago, of the same Stravincky incident as Dr. Price relates in ycur issue of August 14th. My own clue led to Eric Walter White's book 'Stravinsky: A Critical Survey,' where the telling is even more pointed:

Despite its possibly apocryphal origin and faulty logic, the following anecdote is typical of the composer both in its line of argument and the dogmatic nature of its utterance. It is said that one morning in London he was with a friend in a laxi when, just as they came to Ludgate Hill, the bells of St. Paul's began to ring. He leaned forward to listen and tapped on the window for the driver to stop. Then he turned to his friend and said: "That is really the ideal way to make music. A man pulls a rope: but what happens at the other end is of no importance to him. He cannot make the bells ring more softly or more loudly; he cannot atter their rhythm, nor increase or diminish their tone. He has nothing to do except pull the rops-the bells do all the rest. The music is not in him: it lives in the bells. The man at the .. rope is the prototype of the ideal conductor ${ }^{*}$ :
Granted that Stravinsky is. as Dr. Price says, one of the greatest musicians of the age. he does seem to have acquired his notions of College Youths ringing from something like the Coronation Scene in the opera Boris Godunov. or perhaps the bell-clanging antics in the film. Femmes de Paris. One hardly likes 10 spoil by further comment th's delightful piece of utter hosh.-Yours faithfully
London.
R. B. MEADOWS.

High Hoyland Bells

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read the letter about High Hoyland bells in your issue of August 14th.

The P.C.C. have decided that the best thing to do is to remove the bells and we are in process of applying for a faculty to do th s.
It may be that another church would be interested in buying them. It does seem to be a pity that they should be sold for scrap a pity metal.
Five bells are dated 1745 and the treble is dated 1822 (by Thomas Mears). The tenor weighs 8 cwt.-Yours faithfully.

Clayion West, Huddersfield.

Clarification wanted

Dear Sir,-Could I appeal for scme clarification of the notations of the following methods published recently as the information seems inconsistent:
Rothley S.M.: The notation given does rot produce 1352 . . . with 2 nds, if the halflead were to be 18 then 2nds would give 13 but there would have to be another exira 2nds in the grid for this to obain.
Hunslett B.M.: The notation given dues not produce $164 \ldots$. What are the missing places ? It is interesting that Hunslet is Leed s classic slum area: perhaps the method is a slum too?
Bombay S.M.: There is a transit missing (presumably when the treble is in 5-6 the places should be - 2 - and not as printed, with the 1458 at the cross section?).
Now that all the Doubles variations have been exposed. could I appeal for a complete list of the irregular Minor methods, as well as a list of all those with built-in singles. not all of those rung have been given I think. Perhaps one of our Barnsley and District friend; would oblige? -Yours sincerelv

Naming Doubles Methods

Dear Sir,-Would you please insert this in the 'R.W.' to try to find the names of the following Doubles variations (if they have been named):
(a) Plain Bob, Reverse Canterbury, St Simon, St. Martin, St. Nicholas. Winchendon, St. Osmund and St. Remigius, all of which have a London Single as the Bob.
N.B. - Not an extreme.
(b) Grandsire P.C. with a Grandsire Bob and an Antelope Single as the single.
Grandsire P.C. with a Grandsire Bob and
P.L of All Saints as the single
(c) Methods which have New Bob (or Grandsice Extremes each lead end) at the back and front work. which is th: front work of St. Simon, Winchendon, St. Remigius and St. Osmund, e.g., New Bob which has St. Simon's front work. The call being a P.L. of Plain Bob or Rev. Canterbury.
(d) P.C. is St. Remigius with an Old Doubles Single as the single and half lead of Original as the bob.
(e) St. Osmund with a P.L. of All Saints as the single
St. Remigius with a P.L. of All Saints as the single.-Yours faithfully,

THE BELL STOKER

Now is the time for the steeple-keepers to sit up and take notice, for the man who knows it all goes on: "But the bells should have thear otficial, like the clock. He should be called the Bell-stoker. He should rub his bells at least once a week; then they would never rust, the inscriptions would be preserved, and the surface of the bells protected from disintegration, the sound would be improved, and the bells would be less liable to crack.' (I am sure that if the steeple-keepers cannot find time to rub the bells as suggested they have only to contact the Mothers Union who, I am sure, will be only 100 delighted to do the work for him.)

The stoker should keep every rivet in its place; the wheels and beams should all be varnished or painted regularly. I have visited many belfries at home and abroad, but never have I seen a bit of paint or varnish on one yet.' (Bellhangers always make a special point of placing the bells in such a manner that it is impossible to carry out most of the suggestions. He may argue that he is limited for space, don't believe him. he can always make more room by pushing the tower walls out.)

The shutters should be kept from swinging, with their flanges sloping downward, so as to keep the wet from driving in, whilst allowing the sound to float freely out and down upon the town. But a far more radical change is required in the machinery of bells. In these days of advanced mechanical appliances, it is disgraceful to reflect that exacily the same machinery is now used to swing bells as was used in China a thousand years ago.' (I always thought that it was the Russians who discovered the art of ringing.)

A wheel with a rope around it-that and nothing more." (What! no headstock.) - The bell-works might occupy much less room, and the friction. by some of the simplest mechanical appliances might be reduced to almost nothing.' (The bellhangers would not like this. they would not be able to make things awkward for those who have to look after them or for the clockmakers who have fix clock hammers.)

The belfry should be cultivated. 'Ihe belfry should look like a fine engine room in a first class factory. It should be a pleasure, as well as an instructive lesson, to go into. When all was in motion, everything should be so neatly fitted and thoroughly olled that we should hear no sound save the melodious booming of the bells themselves. At present, when the bells are rung the belfry appears o go into several violent convulsions, corresponding to the herculean efforts of the poor ringers below. At last the wheel is induced to move enough for the clapper to hit the bell an indifinite kind of bang-an arduous operation. which may or may not be repeated in some kind of rhythm, according as the ringer may or may not succeed in hitting it off with the eccentric machinery up aloft. We shall have to return to this subject at the close of our article.' iI have heard various explanations as to what happens when a bell is rung, but this one should take first prize.) Our critic devotes himself to quite a number of pages on the out of tuneness of English bells, but I do not propose to bore the reader with this and will proceed to the subject at the close of his article.

Meanwhile we cannot help repeating in more detail a suggestion made at the commencement of this article, and which occurs to us whenever we enter a dilapidated belfry full of creaking wheels and rotten timbers. Before we think of keyboards and barrels, let us supply some simple machinery for the common ringing of the bells. We hear about towers being run down by the vibrations of the bells; but it would be truer to say that they are rocked down by the friction ot coarse machinery. If all the bellowing of the Prussian guns failed to make any matejial impression upon the fragile stone filigree work of the Strasbourg tower, it is not likely that the sound of bells has much to do with the ruin of brickwork and masonry.'

LONDON'S BELLS

In that part of the article on the out of tune-ness of bells, which I have not repeated, Mr. Haweis says, Great bells in London are generally considered an insufferable nuisance. Une church with a daily service materially injures house property in the adjoining streets. (Now this does want sorting out: in cne breath the sound of the bells damages neighbouring property and in the next breath he states that the sound of bells is not likely to ruin brickwork and masonry. Prussian guns may not have made much impression on strasbourg tower, but he should have seen what bombs did.)

In connection with the swing of a heavy bell there must always be considerable strain upon the tower. But the friction might be indefinitely diminished if the bell machinery worked smoothly, and the labour, at present herculean. of the poor bellringer might be reduced to almost zero were that machinery a little more scientific.' (I think the Editor and others that we know will agree, but read on.)
-When it is once understood that an improved system of tolling the bells would save Deans and Chapters all over the country enormous sums of money, by suspending the wear and tear which now goes on in all our cathedral towers, we cannot help thinking that little opposition will be raised by those who have to pay the damages.. Bellringers are doubtless the most obstinate of men' (hear. hear); 'but if they were paid the same for working machinery which produced twice as much effect with less than half the labour, they too would soon give in to a better system. That ungrateful and harbarous rope and wheel, whose action upon the bell is now as uncertain, would probably disappear' (and so would the ringers. methinks) and give place to something like a handle, a piston, or even a keyboard and a set of wheels and pulleys. There is no reason whatever why, with a better tolling mechanism, one man might not ring half a dozen bells, instead of as at present, half a dozen men being often set to ring a single big bell. We make these suggestions with the more confidence because they have been favourably entertained by the heads of one of the most eminent firms of horology in England. We are glad to say that in accordance with our suggestions these gentlemen have promised to give their attention to the development of better mechanism for the tolling of bells.' (Oh. dear, this chap does not seem to know the difference between ringing and tolling: anyhow, from the above it would appear that it is only the ringers at cathedrals whose heads are to be chopped off, you who ring at parish churches are to carry on sweating in the traditional manner.)

In conclasion, let the reader try and remember the mechanical improvements which have been already realised, and let him by a stretch of imagination realise those which have in the foregoing pages been suggested. We shall then, indeed pity him if he is able to read the following narration without emotion.

THE DOOMED BELL

When BIG TOM at York has to perform the arduous operation of striking the hour, a truly heart-rending spectacle is said to occur. A strong man, who has, doubtless, long since grown insensible to the sufferings of his victim, ascends the tower and, advancing towards a mighty hammer, raises it often to a most cruel height above the bell, and bangs out the hour with a ferocity more than enough to shatter the constitution of even Tom.

We are credibly informed that bronze fragments of this doomed bell lie thickly scattered beneath him. An old bell which has gone cracked or out of tune has no real objection to be melted or recast-nay, it of bin bears the fact proudly inscribed upon its regenerated front. but to be deliberately pulverised by the brutal and irregular assaults of a remorseless destroyer, that is indeed too much for any bell to bear. We say it with shame and sorrow, Poor Tom of York, formerly called Great Peter, and weighing ten tons 15 cwt., is being literally beaten to death.'

According to the wife of one of the York ringers, who has ceased to beat his wife, first practised on Peter
I like that bit about the ungrateful and barbarous rope and wheel' and it gives one an idea: why not tie the obstreperous ringers to the wheel by the ungrateful and barbarous rope-how Dorothy Sayers could have made a story out of that.)
Well 'The Ringing World' has published some bilge in its time and I have read some articles in various books and magazines, but never have come across such utter tosh as this one on 'Bells and Belfries' by the Rev. H. R. Haweis, M.A. It is more likely than not that because of this particular article. the reverend gentleman would be considered an authority on bells.

This is meant to be a museum piece and not an historical record.-J. P. F

THE BELLS OF OLD BAILEY

Next, in 1698, comes another momentous event, for it would seem to have been in that vear that the ring was made up to ten. Two new bells were cast by William Eldridge of Chertsey, a well-known belffounder this time. Of these two behs, the smaller one remains in the tower to-day as a sacring bell. It hangs in a little frame of its own above the main frame and is regularly rung during the consecration at Holy Communion.
In 1699 the Vestry Minutes contain a puzzling entry:

Mr. Richard Castleman, Mr. Peter Bradshaw and Mr. Elisha Mason appeared in Vestry and made a proposal to take down ye 9th Bell and new cast it and to bring it home and sett it upp again at their own charges in six weeks tyme and yt the same should be made useable and tunable. The Vestry accepted their propositions and referred it to the Ch. Wardens to see the said Bell taken downe and delivered to ye persons weighing the same out and in: they the Church Wardens then taking Sureity from the persons for ye performance of the matter proposed and that they be obliged to return the bell of the same weight and goodness of metall as it now is or better. And if any of its weight should be wanting that they do pay to the Ch.W. the value thereof. And that they doe not chip or cause any damage to the other bells.'
The Minute illustrates the considerable amount of detailed care which was lavished on the behs (though they were not quite so favoured as the organ, which boasted a con:mittee for ye affairs of ye organ'). But who were the 'three persons ' and what was wrong with the ninth bell? Elisha Mason later became a Churchwarden, and presumably the other two were parishioners. The ninth bell would have been one of the Hodson bells of 1667: possibly it had become cracked.
Before long there were yet more recastings. In 1701 the second hell (one of the two new Eldridge ones of 1698) was recast and yet another of the ring in 1712, when the Treasurer Churchwarden reported that 'a new bell was cast and hung up for approbation.' At the same time we hear the last of the 'great bell." which had been taken down and laid up in the church. Its days were now numbered, for on December 17th, 1713, we read in the Minutes:

Ordered that the great Bell that hangs in a Loft of the Steeple by itself and hath for some time been taken downe be sold by the Churchwardens to the best Chapman and applyed to the use of the Church and the Bells.
It was perhaps a rather sad end for such an old friend, despite the gruesome associations it had with those fearful executions.
For a few years all seems to have gone well and the ten bells rang merrily. They must have been well cared for and the Churchwardens accounts show numerous smail amounts speni on ihem. including such items as sand and sweet herbs for the belfry.

THE RECASTING

But now was to follow the greatest event in the bells' history. The Churchwardens had at this time considerable amounts of money at their disposal for the unkeep of the church fabric and it was a period of continued repairs and alterations. In 1738 came the momentous decision to recast the whole ring of bells. The Vestry Minute runs:

Ordered that all the bells except the old Treble, being nine bells in number, be taken down out of the steeple and new cast. And also that a new bell be cast to make up the said nine belk to Ten Bells to go together in Peal.
The work was done by the great founder Samuel Knight, whose foundry was in the neighbouring parish of $5. Andrew Holborn (probably in Shoe Lane). Six of these bells survive to-day, among them the niath. which fortunately bears the inscription recording the work:

- Samuel Knight cast us and William Cathin made the frame and hung us all 1739.'

William Catlin's massive oak frame remains to this day, as solid and sound as the day it was made William Catlin must have been closely connected with Samuel Knight, for we know that Robert Catlin succeeded Knight as a founder, so perhaps William was Robert's father.

The parishioners were rightly proud of their new ring of ten. Indeed it was not long before the bells achieved fame. On April 7th, 1741, members of the Society of Eastern Scholars, a ringing Society founded in 1733 rang the first known peal of Tieble Bob Royal on the bells. But this peal was afterwards found to be false and on May 30th in the same year the College Youths came to the tower and, as recorded in the ringing chamber, rang a true peal of Treble Bob Royal.
The Knight bells gave excellent service and little was done to them until 1804. when No. 7 was recast by the elder Thomas Mears at the famous Whitechapel bell foundry. Three years later he also recast the treble.
It is interesting to note from the accounts the occasions on which the bells were rung at this period. Taking the year 1818 as an example, we find that they were rung on the following days: New Year's Day, the Queen's Birthday, Easter Day, St. George's Day, on the Churchwardens, etc, being sworn in, on the occasion of a Charity Sermon King Charles' Restoration, the King's Coronation anniversary, the King's Accession anniversary, Gunpowder Plot and Christmas Day-an odd mixture of sacred and secular. On each occasion the sum of $£ 111 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d}$. was paid out to the ringers.
In 1829 there was another disaster. On Lord Mayor's Day the bells were gaily ringing the Lord Mayor past the church when suddenly the tenor fell down with a terrific crash. As far as we know, nobody was hurt. The parish records draw a discreet veil of silence over the whole affair. Things were soon put right and the following year the damaged tenor was recast by the younger Thomas Mears at Whitechapel. At the same time No. 6 was also recast. The weight of the new tenor, 31 cwt ., was slightly more than the old one.
Since that time there have been no tecastings. In 1886 John Warner and Sons re-hung one of the bells and Nos. 3, 4 and 5 (all Knight 1739 bells) were 'quartered' or turned on their headstocks so as to bring a fresh part of the sound bow under the blow of the clapper
Finally, in 1905, the whole ring was rhung and new fittiugs were provided by Mears and Stambank. who also put No. 8 on ball bearings at a later date. Otherwise the bells have not been altered since. They have not been rung since 1940. Before they can be rung again the tower will have to be strengthened considerably and the bells themselves restored and rehung. This would, of course, involve a very large expenditure and the money would have to be raised if the work were to be considered. But perhaps one day, after ahl these years of silence, the famous bells of the Old Bailey will ring out unce again over the roofs of the City-the City which brought them into being and which 1.0 doubt will help them to ring again

LEAPING AND SKIPPING

Dear Sir,-For about 300 years change ringing has remained basically unchanged. Techniques and theoretical knowledge have been developed to near perfection, but the basic idea of bells weaving their patterns by the interchange of adjacent bells remains unaltered.

Possibly this system originated because in the early days of ringing it was very difficult to move, with accuracy, more than one place at a time. Now, however, with modern bellhanging and bell-control technique, such a system seems needlessly restrictive
I should like, therefore, to put forward two new basic systems both of which are related to simple plain hunting.

The first is as follows:
12345678 This system contains 35172846 exactly the same changes as 31527486 a block of plain hunting.
57381624 Each bell leads and lies be-53718264 hind a whole pulb, but in 78563412 proceeding from lead suc-
75836142 cessive steps are made to 86745231 3rds, 2nds, 5ths, 4ths. 7ths,
87654321 6ths and 8ths place ; the re-
64827153 verse order being used on 68472513 leaving behind.
42618375 I propose that this system
46281735 should be termed a 'leaping,
21436587 as opposed to a plain 'hunt.
24163857 It should be noted that 13254768 the work of Plain Bob can 12345678 be applied at the treble lead, the net effect then being to short-circuit a section of the hunt instead of to dodge. I would name such a method Leaping Bob.
My second system is formed simply by omitting alternate rows in the plain hunt system viz:

24163857
46281735
68472513
87654321
75836142
53718264

It contains, therefore, just half the changes in a block of plain hunting. There is no leading or lying and the blows are made successively in $1 \mathrm{st}, 3 \mathrm{rds}$, 5 ths, 7 ths, 8 ths, 6 ths, 4 ths and 2 nds place In this case of Plain Bob, lead ends are substituted, places are made instead of dodges. (Such sudden near cessation of movement amid a whirl of activity should be attractive to the ear and call for finesse in bell control.)
This system I would propose to call a 'skipping hunt and its method counterpart Skipping Bob.

Dare I hope that some brave hearts will try these systems out on the bells? After all, what better time to start than Leap Year?-Yours sincerely,

PHILIP H. WHITAKER.
Coleraine, County Derry, N. Ireland.

On Sunday, August 30th, at Rotherham Parish Church prior to Evensong, a farewell presentation was made to Ian Tilling, who having recently obtained a B.Sc. degree, is sailing to Africa to take up work in Uganda. His fellow ringers presented him with a leather writing case, in appreciation of his loyal service as a ringer over a period of 8 years. A farewell quarter peal of Grandsire Caters followed.
The first peal on the new eight at Thorncombe was marked by three lirst pzal a first - inside and a first as conductor.

Mr. John W. McClenahan, of St. Albans, has left for Philadelphia, U.S.A., to study for the degree of M.Sc.. during the next two years.

At the eighth attempt and after twelve years Mr. Alan Carveth, the president of the Truro Diocesan Guild, has succeeded in ringing a peal at Helston.
In the peal of Stedman Cinques at Lincoln Cathedral by Cambridge University Guild on June 13th (page 582) the seventh was rung by L. R. H. Smith and the eighth by M. Press, and not as printed.

We are happy to announce a belfry engagement of two ringers from St. Anne's Parish Church, St. Annes-on-Sea, Lancs-Miss Carol Pickup, daughter of the Vicar's warden, and Mr. Alex Maitland.

Mr. George E. Symonds, of Ipswich, now in his 90 th year, stood in a peal of Grandsire Caters at Stradbroke, and rang the third in his usual masterly style, for the birth of his fourth great grandchild.

Ten-year-old David A. Lawrence was taken to Grafton Underwood to ring his first quarter on August 30th. His own bells at Great Addington were thought to be a little too heavy for him. The visit was successful.

Four Cowbridge Grammar School ringers at this year's school camp at Llangorse, Brecknock, rang a quarter on the four (tenor 10 cwt . approx.) at Llangasty, on the edge of Llangorse Lake. This was the first quarter of Minimus by all, and the first quarter rung by a band consisting entirely of boys from the school.

Encouraging additional orders have been received by Mr. W. H. Viggers, of 37 , Highfield Gardens, Aldershot, for bis ringers' ash or pin trays which were introduced to the Exercise three weeks ago. Specimens are available. See advertisement in this week's issue.

Omitted from Mr. A. P. Cannon's vital statistics is the note that his 1,000 peals have been rung in 67 counties
Mr. A. Patrick Cannon beat Mr. J. W Cotton, of Overseal, by a short head for his 1,000 peals. When Pat rang his, Joe was six behind! Another happy event is pending!

It is regretted that the place names for the London County Association meeting on September 11 th were transposed in the notice Afternoon ringing is at Bethnal Green and evening ringing at Stepney-see revised notice.

Will any 'old soldier ' who wishes to stand in a peal attempt on November 11th contact Mr. T. E. Sone, Castle Hill, Brenchley, Kent or Mr. L. Stilwell, 34, Bramber Road, Wor thing.
Mr. Colin H. Cook suggests that the last quarter peal at Chartham, Kent, was at least 16 years ago. Mr. F. C.' W. Knight tells us of 1.800 of Minor on August 9 th, 1963, and Mr. W. Ring of a quarter of St . Clement's College Bob on August 8th, 1962.

The energy of Douglas Snoswell in improving the 'go' of Ditchling, Sussex, bells during the past year is commended by a correspondent. For his 19 th birthday a complimentary quarter was rung on the bells on September 2nd.

The quarter peal at Camborne on September 2nd was not only a welcome to Mr. E. H. Langley to Cornwall for which he expresses his thanks. It celebrated also the birth in Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, of a son to his daughter Sylvia
On August 29th Mr. H. Milborne climbed the stairs to the tower at All Saints' Church, Castle Cary. Although this was his 92nd birthday and his sight is failing, he joined in ringing rounds with the other ringers present. He has been a ringer for over 50 years and this was his first ring for ten years.

THE MAN IN CHARGE

T'HAT bright little news sheet, ' The Belfry News,' coming each month from the Derbyshire Bellringers, can invariably be relied on to provide an entertaining and sometimes provocative editorial. The July-August number of the journal devotes its front page to some consideration of that important official of church and belfry, the Tower Captain, and the main theme of the writer is a review of the ills that result from the permanent occupation of the post of leader by the wrong kind of man.

We are reminded here that once a Tower Captain is appointed there is often no change in the office for a very great number of years, one usual reason for this being that no one is ready to offend the holder of the post by suggesting any change. It is agreed that if the man so installed is of the highest quality in leadership and ringing ability then permanence is all to the good, and it is indeed easy to quote the names of men who have held the office for long periods of time with nothing but benefit to their towers and the Exercise. It is also pointed out that where the Captain is a poor ringer and an indifferent instructor, the teaching of beginners, one of the vital tasks in the belfry, will not be carried out with the correct approach to technique so necessary for the making of a good changeringer.

The Tower Captain who has no plan for his learners, the man who discourages his students from visiting other towers and acquiring more proficiency than himself; the one who tries to shut his tower to visiting ringers: all these, we are reminded. still exist in some districts; and the writer is driven to conclude that some routine change, a yearly, biennial or triennial election may be the solution to the problem of the obstructive or stagnating Tower Captain.

The article is fresh, forthright and outspoken. and it has the merit of leading us to other thoughts about Ringing Masters and Tower Captains. There is nothing new, of course, about leaders of genius and leaders of little minds. When. some 70 years ago. John Day wrote his criticism and deep appreciation of the eccentric William Chattell. he was at pain to point out two things: one, Chattell's extraordinary skill and enthusiasm as an instructor, and two (by way of contrast), that many of the old ringers tried to make things as mysterious and difficult as possible. We have all met the incompetent Instructor and the selfish Tower Captain, but of the former it may be said that his persistence and patience are based on a devotion to tower and church, and of the latter we may surely say that the number of such grows less and less.

The important thought that comes to mind as we read this interesting article is on the other side of the question, that is, not what is due from the Tower Captain to us but what is our duty towards the Tower Captain. How easy it is at a meeting to propose, second, and elect this man, and how easy it is to go away and forget the responsible position in which he has been placed and the onerous duties attaching to that position. It is his prime duty to see that the bells of the church are rung at the times demanded by the church offices, and for this purpose he requires support, not with the words of our lips but with the work of our hands. For the maintenance of an ample supply of ringers he must needs teach, and in the teaching he wants not our sympathy and our interested inquiry but our active help.

The first thing, therefore, that the Captain has a right to demand from his ringers is regular attendance for ringing on Sundays. To the belliringer who regards his ringing as a serious part of his Sunday observance there is no need to offer such an observation; to one to whom ringing is a piece of casual entertainment, to be indulged in or omitted as whim or fancy dictate, there is much that might and ought to be said on this matter. Let it be argued. as has sometimes been done, that our work is voluntary. The answer to this was bluntly and pungently expressed in another connection, thus: the only thing voluntary about a voluntary organisation is the joining of it; thereafter its demands are there to be met.

The second thing the Tower Captain has a right to require is that his band take steps to keep themselves in training so that, as our belfry prayer says, 'our skill may be increased' to the greater glory of God's name. No choir can perform its work without regular rehearsal; no ringing band can make a worthy offering without constant attendance for practice together. How often do we allow some triviality to interfere with this most pressing duty ! And yet we require the Tower Captain to be ever present and never-failing in his duties.

As for the learners, let us grant that they are entitled to the greatest care and attention we can give them. But they, too, have a duty to perform in regular attendance for instruction, in keeping a mind open to the teaching, and in performing assiduously the tasks, at home or in the belfry, necessary for their progress. This they will do all the better in towers where the older ringers themselves show practical loyalty to their Captain by regularity, punctuality and unshaken support of the man in charge.

So while we cannot but agree with "The Belfry News." we should also recollect that many men are Tower Captains and Ringing Masters because no others will tie themselves to the responsibilities of such posts. We may all ask ourselves once again if we are as grateful and helpful as we might be.

MR. A. P. CANNON'S TOUR OF NORTH DEVON

100 Per Cent. Tour Success and Visits to 45 Towers

After last year's successful tour in North Wales, North Devon was chosen for this year and owing to Robin Leale's indisposition the arrangements were left to the writer, wbo had been the original organiser of this tour from 1950 to 1959
The choice of venue enabled the party 10 visit a comparatively unspoilt part of this county, new territory to most of them, and in addition to ringing peals they were able to visit many of the delightful villages whose churches contain some tunetul and goodgoing sixes. All the towers for peaks were very kindly arranged by Mr. Aubrey L. Bennett, of Buckfastleigh, Leaving home early on Saturday. Augus 22 nd (in some cases very early), the nine ringers, travelling in four cars, arrived punctually at 1.30 p.m. on the village green in front of the fine church at Long Sutton. Somerset. They were greeted by the genia!
Vicar, the Rev. Chris Marshall, who joined Vicar, the Rev. Chris Marshall, who joined them for London and Cambridge on this 'oldstyle six, and also with the local captain ringing the tenor to Stedman Doubles. The next place. North Curry, has an octagonal tower with a ringing chamber close to the hells. We rang Cambridge and Bristol while the Vicar the Rcv. G. T. Rogers, sat in the ower and watched us. A drive of 18 mile, brought us to Wiveliscombe. where the writer was delighled to see Mr. H. V. Young (late of Leatherhead) and Mr. W. A. J. Knight. They joined us for London. Cambridge and Yorkshire, and afterward 'Brig' Young led us "up and over' the steep hill to Waterrow where he and Mrs. Young kindly entertained us to tea in his delightfully situated house on a bend on the main road, with an inn next door! Reluctantly we left this charming spot, hut we were due at our headquarters, the George Hotel, South Molton. in time for dinner at 7 p.m. We still had one more tower to visit, at the remote village of Rose Ash.

THE LANES TO LYNTON

For Sunday morning service we rang on the magnificent Taylor eight at South Molton where the three tape recorders were soon registering Yorkshire. Bristol and Stedman Triples. The church is situated on high ground, and the 105 ft tower is a Landmark for many miles around. The Vicar of South Molton is also in charge of the sixes at Charles and High Bray, and to reach these villages. situated on either side of a valley. we had to climb gradients of 1 in 4! Continuing to Kentisbury, we found a very good six. rehung by Gillett and Johnston in 1953. There is a direct route to Lynton from here, hut George Thoday decided to go as near the coast as possible! With Colin Harwood and the writer, we travelled along numerous roads." barely more than cart tracks. and eventually came to a dead end in a farm yard! However. we had plenty of time and soon met up with the others for an evening service ring at Lynton, where the bells are rarely rung owing to lack of ringers. There is little now to show of the flood disaster of 1953, and after a visit to Lynmouth. a drive uo Countisbury Hill (someone was having a vicnic in an 'escape' road) and a short call at Simonsbath on Exmoor, we returned to Gouth Molton.

TWO PEALS AND TWELVE VILLAGE

On Monday. August 24th. we started the more serious business of peal ringing. Philip Mehew. his narents and Christine Rimmer were waiting for us at Witheridge, where the church stands on the north side of a large quare. The bells, retuned and rehung by Taylors in 1957. boom out loud and clear. and the writer was delighted to call a peall of Cambridge, with excellent striking, in the slow and steady time of 3 hours 32 minutes and Mr T. Kingdom. Hocal, captain, whio had rung the tenor to Grandsire Triples (first on the bells) said that since the bells had been re-hung, the local band had become the champion eight-bell team in the competitions run by the Devon Association for the last two years, and proudly showed us the shields in the church to prove it. Brig' Young and Christopher Daws (Kingswood. Surrey) joined us for tower hunting in the afternoon, and we visited Washford Pyne. Thelbridge. East and West Worlington, Meshaw and Romansleigh, mostly above average rings of

On Tuesday, August 26th, our peal tower was the very fine Taylor ring at Uffculme. The Vicar met us in the churchyard and we rang a good peal of Superlative from a ground-floor ringing chamber. Lunch consisted of bananas and pears, before going over to Washfield. where • Brig ' and Christopher again met us. Mrs. Balment was waiting for us and we noted the peal board recording Grandsire Doubles rung by the local band in 1926, in which she and the rest of the company rang their first peal, a very creditable performance at that time. Afterwards we visited Calverleigh, Rackenford, Knowstone, Bishop's Nympton (G. and J., 1948, and the best six of the week) and Mariansleigh, where the Rector, the Rev. H: G. Tucker, with three rings of six under his control, showed an amazing knowledge of North Devon bells. At 11.20 p.m. Robin Leale arrived hy car. having left Teddington in the late afternoon. so that he could join the writer in his big day on the morrow.

THE 1,000th

The opportunity to ring a peal on the famous bells at Pilton was very much appreciated, and it was a most suitable place for the writer's 1,000 th. Only two other peals have been rung here-Stedman Triples in 1921 and Rutland in 1961, and it was important that a high standard of striking should be maintained. As we could not start until 10.30 a.m. we had a short ring at Filleigh on the way and were met at Pilton Church by Mr. A. Griffiths. Peter Lawrence, our tape recording expert, was detailed to get a good recording here on all three recorders. The recording here on aldse a fine "oldstyle' ring which have been eight since 1853, but they certainly require ringing, and plenty of perspiration was ost by the end of the neal! Norman Mallett, of Exeter, had been specially invited, as he used to live at Barnstaple, and it was a pleasure to have Tom Sone, who called the writer's fourth peal in November, 1931, and Robin Leale, with whom he has rung 101 peabs, taking part. The usual congratulations from the band ended a rather tense morning!
After lunch and a farewell to Robin: who was returning immediately to London (it was his first peal since September. 1963) we decided to abandon the peal attempt at Braunton in the afternoon. It was such a hot day that we confined ourselves to a short ring and spent the time on the beach at Saunton Sands. and later at Croyde Bay. In the evening, at the George Hotel, South Molton, the landlady specially requested us to ring handbells in the lounge bar and to play a recording of some of our ringing for the benefit of the customers. It was a joy when Mr. James G. A Prior, who was staying at Exford, came into the bar at $10.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to offer his congratulations and, of course, enjoy a drink: He took part in the writer's first peal as conductor on December 2nd, 1933, at St. Olave's, Hart Street, London

CHULMLEIGH AND SIX MORE TOWERS

Our venue for August 27th was at the yery fine church and tower of Chulmleigh. Phil Mehew made a good job of the tenor to York shire at a brisk pace and the lower in peal was favourably commented on by several listeners. We drove over to the Fountain Inn. North Tawton. for lunch, where we were very pleased to meet Mr. Aubrey L. Bennett. who had travelled up from Buckfastleigh to spend the afternoon with us. We knew lwo days beforehand that we could not attempt a peal at North Tawton, owing to the sudden death of a cousin of the local captain. Mr. R. J. Bennett. Howevet, we were able to get Aubrey two new towers, Down St. Mary and Colebrooke. and also rang at Zeal Monachorum, before saying farewell to him Yeoford Station at 6.45 p.m.. with many thanks from our band for all he had done for us. Then we contined to Bow, Ladford, and finished the day on the very fine Taylor six at Chawleigh. Incidentally, the belfry at Down St. Mary is overflowing with shields and certificates from striking competitions, as they have been the champion six-bell team of Devon for many years.

APPLEDORE AND BIDEFORD

For August 28th we were booked for two very fine Taylor rings at Appledore and Bideford. Appledore has a ground-foor ringing room and we decided to leave the door open leading to the churchyard. For this comfort we had to endure plenty of noise and talking from men working outside in spite of a notice pinned on the door! However, a good peal of Rutland was scored and we rushed back to Bideford for a hurried lunch so as to be outside Bideford Church at 3 p.m. This is another tower where only three previous peals had been rung, Double Norwich in 1921, Grandsire Triples in 1935 and Bristol in 1963. Mr. F. H. Parsons met us, and Phil Mehew proved for the fifth time that he can call this composition of Lincolnsthre! Bill Deason scored his 200th peal and we were all delighted to ring a peal at such a rare tower. We had a quick ring at Weare Gif fard, and returned to our headquarters to meet the photographer of the Echo and Expres.

CHITTLEHAMPTON AND SEVEN MORE TOWERS

The end of a busy week was approaching and as we had scored 100 per cent. so far it was decided to ring Bristol on another excellent Taylor ring, which is hung in Devonshire's most decorated tower. With young David Hilling conducting in a confident manner, David Leach was able to complete his first three peals of Surprise Major in a week, justfying the confidence placed in him. After lunch at the local inn, we visited Atherington, Yarnscombe. High Bickington (very long draught), Burrington (the writer's 2,575th tower), Ashreigney, King's Nympton and Warkleigh. We returned home via Chittlehampton to record the Pilton ringers on their outing, having heard them ring at Chulmleigh as well.

On the way home on Sunday, August 30th, we enjoyed a ring on the wonderful Taylor bells at Tiverton

Thus ended a very successful week in which all enjoyed themselves, and we split up to continue our various ways home. We would like to thank all the incumbents for giving us permission to ring. both for peals and touches Tom Sone and the writer called in at the George Hotel. Taunton, to wish 'Good luck to Tom Lock and several of his party, who were starting their annual peal week, and we arrived back in Dorking at $7.30 \mathrm{P} . \mathrm{m}_{\text {., }}$ little tired, but contented.
A. P. C.

OUTING

ROTHERHAM PARISH CHURCH

For this year's outing Rotherham Parish Church ringers decided to travel by private cars instead of the usual coach and combined a visit to the Shakespeare Exhibition at Strat-ford-on-Avon with ringing at three towersSouthwell Minster, Wigston Magna and Strat ford-on-Avon.
The respective gond qualities of all these bells were thoroughly enjoyed and the ringing inctuded Grandsire and Stedman Caters and various standard eight-hell methods, including Yorkshire, Cambridge and Superlative.

All our hosts were most helpful in the ar rangements they made for us-Mr. Foster al Southwe!!. Miss Joy Watkin. Mr. Carter and Mr. Smith at Wigston, and Mr. Steed a Stratford-on-Avon. We are grateful for the facilities made available by rinem and the various church authoritles conceined, all of which combined to make a happy and mem orable day.

OBITUARY

MR. L. A. GOODENOUGH

To his many ringing friends the news of the death of Mr. Lewis Albert Goodenough wil have come as a great shock.
Born at Aldbury, in Hertfordshire, in 1891 he lived for some years at St. Albans and here, at the Cathedral, his ringing career started.

Having learned to handle a bell, he spent some three years as a tenor man, covering to Triples and Doubles.
Realising the beauty of change ringing, he gradually developed a determination to get 'inside,' but it was not until he settled in Luton, during the first world war, that he really fourd an outlet for his great talent. At that time Luton Parish Church had a keen and progressive band of change ringers, who soon discovered that this newcomer had possibilities as a conductor, and in 1918 he became tower captain. a position he held for 45 years. In 1919 , he called his first peal at Luton -Thurstans' Stedman Tripkes. This was followed in 1920 by a peal of Double Norwich.

In the next year or so Cambridge and Superlative were added to the list and in 1925 a peal of Bristol was scored. All these peals were the first in the methods by in entirely local band, and the Bristol was the first in the county. In 1931. after several attempts. a peal of London was rung and this missed being the first in the county by only a few days - it was the first in the county by a local band !

In 1932 he called the last peal on the old eight at Luton, and in 1950 he cabled the first peal (Stedman Caters) on the new ring of ten.
Unfortunately, no complete record of his peals has so far come to light, hut should it be possible to compile one it will be published later. He was for nearly 50 years a most regular Sunday service ringer at the beautiful Church of St. Mary, Luton. For the past two years his health had been perceptibly failing, and he died peacefully at his home on August 25th.

AN APPRECIATION
Lewis Albert Goodenough. born in the beautiful village of Aldbury in Hertfordshire, was a man who had a fine sense of civic pride and became very attached to Luton the town of his adoption, and where he spent all his life, from early manhood.
A man of parts, he was, among other things, a keen horticulturalist. His exploits in the art of changeringing are well known but he was perhaps most distinguished for the faithful maniner in which he carried out what he always held to be a ringer's first duty, that of ringing for Sunday service. A

BELLS

Eight ringers climb the twisting stair, Out of the evening's freezing air, They climb the steps up to the tower To see the bellropes hanging there Each takes his place beside a bell. The sally grasps: all study well In order due the bells ring out. Their sound is heard n'er hill and dell The master calls. the bells go round. High oier the town their voices sound A change of peal now fil's the air. Heartens the traveller homeward bound. So. week by week for church they ring. At times for weddings they will sing A funeral knell they sometimes toll.
In ioyful days glad tidings bring.
. POLLARD.
Elland, Yorks
superb bell-handber, he was never late either for service or practice ringing, and prior to his last long illness (about two years) he was one of the ever-presents.

His loss will be more keenly felt than words can express.
On August 28th a service in Luton Parish Church preceded cremation. Luton Crematorium stands on the hill to the eastern side of the town and well back from the busy Hitchin Road. It is a place of beauty and has an atmosphere of quiet repose and of peace. and it was here, in the presence of the devoted wife whose tender ministrations brought him comfort through his long illness that we said goodbye to the mortal remains of Lewis Goodenough. The solemn words of committal were followed by soft music'Jesu, joy of man's desiring.'
As the mourners. including a strong representation from Luton belfry and also of his employers, moved reverently through the doors and into the clear sunlight, one recalled the words of St. John the Divine- And there shall be no more death. nor sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain.
A. E. R.

WENTWORTH RINGERS AT FOUNDRY

On September 5th a coach party of ringers and friends from Wentworth. Rawmarsh and Bradfield. Yorks, visited the Bell Foundry at Loughborough. We arrived there in good time despite early morning fog north of Nottingham. Mr. Paul Taylor showed us round, and amongst other things we saw the Lavenham tenor, a carillon for Newcastle and a five from Molland (Devonshire) awaiting attention. We failed to 'bong ' out a course of Grandsire Double on these bells! We enjoyed the experience of ringing on the foundry bells and agreed that they were far too heavy for us
On to Ashby-de-la-Zouch for lunch and a ring on the eight bells of St. Helen's ( 16 cwt .) The long draught of rope did not deter us from enjoying these bells whilst the nonringers had a look round the delightful churcin and castle grounds. Two more towers were visited in the afternoon-St. George's, Ticknall ( $6,11 \mathrm{cwt}$ ) and Melbourne (8, 15 cwt .). At Ticknall we aspired to the heights of Cambridge Surprise Minor: The ringing encouraged the old ladies in the nearby cottages to venture out and they waved us off afterwards. (I wonder why?) At Melbourne ringing took place in the church-this is one of Derbyshire's finest churches.

We took tea at Derby in a Chinese restaurant and then on the way home we visited Ripley (All Saints', 8, 16 cwt.). Here we enjoyed the best bells of the day and the ringing included Spliced Kent and Oxford. Little Bob and Grandsire as well as Plain Bob, rounds and call changes
A short break was made on the way home for fish and chips, etc., and we arrived in Wentworth at 10 p.m., tired, but having enjoyed the day.
The ringers and non-ringers missed the cheerful face of 'Dan' Archer, who is unfortunately in hospital.
Our sincere thanks ${ }^{2 \mu-}$ extended to Mr Taylor at the Bell Frinity, locas incumbents for the usc of the bells, to the ringers who kindly met us at the various places, and Mrs. King, who organised the meals. to the non-ringers for not being late, and the coach driver, Mr. Lindley.

INFORMAL OUTING IN

LONDON

For those not on holiday, August is a slack month for ringing, so an outing does not come amiss. This year we went to London on the 29th, many from North Hertfordshire but some from farther afield-St. Albans, St. Neots, Cambridge and Saffron Walden. Some of the party made such excellent progress that we were able to start ringing St. Dunstan's magnificent ten early. We included Cambridge Roval in the methods rung here, then went to the highlight of the tour-Mears and Stainbank's Foundry. There we saw and heard the new carillon for Fortnum and Mason, and visited the workshops to see both tower and handbells, and the Mears Museum. How many knew or would have realised if they had not been told. that we had walked through the template of Big Ben?
We were early at St. Vedast's, Foster Lane, inconspicuous until you looked up to see the little spire, and went through the beautiful Wren church to climb to the springy-roped six. Meals are not easy to arrange in London for an unknown number, so it was 'fend for yourself." Those who had brought their own meal were able to enjoy the sunshine, others had varying luck nearby

Walking down Gresham Street to St. Lawrence Jewry we heard faint sounds-hand-bells-being rung in a sunken garden. Some people were not wasting good ringing time ! St. l.awrence Jewry belk are fine and we had some passable Bristol.' Perhaps the fascination of the bells was to blame. but we overstayed our time and had to hurry to St. Matthew's, Bethual Green. Those with gaod navigators or local knowledge-were able to time it so that the bells went up just as the clockwinder came to do his job. . . However, that did not delay us very long and we did our best to get some good ringing; certainly we entertained some of the local children.

The one-way street system is like a maze. you can see your objective, St. John of Jerusalem, Hackney, but to get to it may be a different matter. Neither is the way up to the ringing chamber straightforward, and the kettledrums behind the organ case marked the passing of various members: when you get to the ropes they are parted by gigantic beams across the floor. The treble was unmanageable unti) the clock hammer had been encouraged o stay clear of the bell-there are advantages in having experts with you!
Tea problems were mush the same as for lunç. but everyone was back in good time at St. John's, Hackney, to await the man with the key. We waited, and waited ... so we abandoned Hackney and went to the final fower, St. Anne's, Stamford Hill, and finished by ringing the fast, light bells the: e.

Thank you, Mr. Rowe, for arranging the towers and for guiding us round the Foundry; score of ringers had a yery pleasant day.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The pleasant, warm afternoon of August 29th was ideal for the meeting of the Chertsey District at Send and Ockham. Some 40 ringers turned up and enjoyed methods up to London Minor at Send, tib a broken tenor rope brought the afternoon ringing to a halt about 20 minutes before service time. The service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. C. E. Sylvester

Following the usual excellent tea, the Guild Master, Mr. D. A. R. May, took the chair for the business meeting. One new junior member from Old Woking was elected and two from Chobham Ringing was resumed at Send and Ockham. the ringing being brought to an early con clusion by a broken slider on the tenor. R.C.

Bellringing Finds in Excavations

Dear Sir,-One of the greatest archaeological 'finds' in the history of campanology in this country (Note: similar discoveries have been found abroad) has just been discovered at Winchester, where the site of the tenth century cathedral is being excavated.
Beneath the floor of the tenth century building, which had not previously heen disturbed. was found a bell casting pit. with remains of furnace nearby, and inscribed portions of bell-moulding copes, charcoal and bell metal.
At the invitation of the Ministry of Public Works and Buildings I visited Winchester recently and inspected the site of the excavations, and examined the 'finds.' Work will proceed very slowly and if sufficient parts of any particular moulding cope are discovered they will be pieced together. The metal will be analysed. Meanwhile special attention is being given to the site. The discovery is of especial interest as Saint Ethelwold, who was especial interest as Saint Ethelwold, who was largely responsible for the rebuilding of the cathedral in the tenth century, is known to have been a bellfounder.-Yours sincerely,

FREDERICK SHARPE

No Comment

Dear Sir.-Some little time ago a peal of Surprise Mijor was rung with the footnote $\mathbf{X}$ Surprise Major is not the extension of $\mathbf{X}$ Surprise Minor,' or words to that effect. It was the first peal in the Major Method. The Methods Committee have made no comment. Methods Committe

An Explanation

Dear Sir,-Your correspondent, Mr. Hughes, is quite correct in his presumption. Part of Rule 15 of the Coventry Diocesan Guild states: "No peal shall be accepted as a Guild peal unless each ringer taking part in it has paid his subscription for the current year.' One of the ringers in the peal to which he refers had not paid the subscription for 1964 and had no wish to do so for private reasons. Thus it was impossible to ring the peal for that Guild.
The peal could not have been rung for any other Guild or Association for two reasons.
Firstly, it would have shown a marked absence of good taste and good manners, and secondly, there is no other Guild or Association to which the entire band belong.

I fail to see what my secretaryship of the Warwick Archdeaconry District of the Coventry Diocesan Guild has to do with the matter. The peal was arranged and rung by the local hand for a definite reason, as indicated by the footnote in the peal columns.-Yours faithfully,

PETER S. BENNETT.

Stratford-upon-Avon.

High Hoyland Bells

Dear Sir,-With reference to recent correspondence regarding the bells of High Hoyland: After the first letter was published in The Ringing World' the convener of the Towers and Belfries Committee wrote to the Vicar saying the services of the Council were at his disposal if he wished.-Yours faithfully.

Wrong Impression Overseas (?)

Dear Sir.-More and more frequently the Ringing World ' contains news of the spread of interest in our Exercise overseas. It therefore follows that an increasing number of copies of our journal will go to all parts of the world and be read by Australians, New Zealanders. Africans and Americans.
With this thought in mind I feel that some of the writers who describe outings and tours in our paper's columns should be a little more careful about the image of the English Church bellringer which they convey to these distant countries. Protest has been made before against the use of Christ an ri:mes in thesz articles but I am more concerned about the impression one gets, sometimes, of ringers. tours and outings being no more than glorious pub-crawls.
It has taken years of patient hard work by cur Guilds and the Central Council to raise the recognised status of the bellringer. I feel that the writers of these articles should read and re-read their work before submitting it for publication; in these writings they have an opportunity to convey a ward picture of our English countryside, of the picturesque and historic churches they visit. and of the bells they ring. This is so much more interesting than some of the antics of their members which may have been amusing at the time. but which tend to appear somewhat dull later on in print.
I hasten to add that the above criticism does not apply to all the articles which appear -some of them are of a very high standard and a joy to read.-Yours faithfully.

Bournemouth

Worcester Cathedral Bells

Dear Sir,-There seems to be some confusion of dates and historic material here. My notes record that Taylors cast a ring of 13 in the year 1868, quite different from 1872 or 1876, as given in Mr. Wratten's letter, but I may be wrong. My notes also record that Sir Edmund Beckett became Lord Grimthorpe in 1866 and he actualby designed the ring of 12 at Worcester Cannedral. He had a strong belief that bells to be of good and superior tone should be heavy of metal, also thick in the casting, but few people cared to contradict him during the time big rings were being called for.

Church Bells ${ }^{\text {d }}$ devoted but kittle space to ringers and ringing and much interesting material sent by contributors failed to find space.

A Quarter at 11 years

Dear Sir.-I notice 'Belfry Gossip' has frequent references to the achievements of the young. I wonder if you would hatch something for Angela Quick of Lyme Regis. I recently called her first quarter thinking her to be 13 or 14 years old. The following week at practice she told us it was her 12 h birthday, so she was only 11 when she rang the quarter peal. This made me look through my own records for I thought she must be running me a close race for the youngest Lyme ringer to do such a thing. In fact the resord showed that I was six weeks older when scoring my first quarter. Congratulations to Angela. It was a pleasure to conduct the touch for the one who now holds the new record.-Yours sincerely. ROGER KEELEY.

Suggestion for Muting

Dear Sir. - Ringers are aware that the 15 cwt . bells of Dolgellau Parish Church are rehung and are regularly used on Sundav and for practice; progress abbeit is very slow.
I had heard that for reasons of public relations the Barmouth bells have to be rung muted and I have developed a very simple and effective method of muting ours which may be of use to other towers. A $5 / 16$ th in. diameter nylon cord with a spliced slip knot is passed around the clapper, which is drawn back to give exactly one inch clearance between it and the belb.

The rope passes through $\frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}$. diameter alkathene pipe pressed into a piece of wood the same height as the bell, the pipe being 3 ins. long and hooked over the lip of the bell. The nylon rope passes through the timsen at least four times and is finally clip-hooked to a lug welded to the, washer securing the clapper and the headstock. The effect is to mute the bell effectively enough to stop complaint but not enough to stop accurate ringing when the hells are up.
1 stake no claims to originality abou' the method but can claim to have compsetely eliminated all chafing and worked out a way to mute a ring of eight bells effectively in a matter of five minutes

So far the citizens of Dolgellau have been tolerant enough not to require their use.

After initial fitting, the rope mutes require no adjustment and being nylon, are completely rot-proof.-Yours faithfully,
E. W. K. WALTON,

Dolgellau. Merioneth. Tower Captain.

'Not All in our Favour'

Dear Sir-May I express my appreciation of the article by Michael R. Meadows-'Bells - Nuisance.

It is right that we enthusiasts should perhaps be reminded that all is not in our favour. Nevertheless we shall no doubt go on ringing away merrily. or madly, however the listener away merrily, or mards it.-Yours faithfully.

Epitaph to an Old Ringer (?)

Dear Sir.-Prompted by the suggestion of P. B. M. in the 'Ringing World' of August 28th (page 574) to adapt the quoted epitaph to a certain gentleman 'John Higgs, found in the churchyard at Cheltenham. perhaps wer one to search long and diligently the following might be discovered. But perhaps not!Yours faithfully.

Dereham. Norfolk.
Here lies Cornelius Picton Pells,
A famous man for ringing bells,
For ringing bells was his delight
At morning afternoon and night
His raising. ringing and his fall
Drove many laymen up the wall:
Around his name a tale is spun
That he could 'turn-in' seven ton.
Though other ringers had careers Within the art he had no peers
Knock off all comers he could spots
With ' Bourdons ' up to 'tinny pots,"
Both 'Queens' and 'tittums' he could call And even ring 'Original
Fre destiny caught in its sieve,
A hundred years saw 'Picton' live,
When Gray wrote of the parting knells
The ringer was old Picton Pells.
Behold 'tis said that in his day
(And none there are disputing. Nay.) Composing had him on his toes.
Now all he does is de-compose.
No one could ere surpass his fame
So, passer-hy. revere his name.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES: THE MAKING

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

Considering the vast quantity of touches of Grandsire Triples appearing in text books and ringing papers it is surprising what a limited number seems to be current in belfries and how unenterprising so many conductors are in a field that offers such variety of calling. The following notes have been compiled with the object of awakening some desire to explore the possibilities of this very Hlexible method, giving the normal tower captain an interest in expanding his change ringing education and an opportunity to know the joy of introducing some novelty into his own belfry.

Nothing deeply scientific has been altempled here. Emphasis has been laid on the need for paper work, but there is nothing in these paragraphs, we venture to think, that may not be understood and proceeded with if approached with desire and pursued with a little patience.
BEFORE any attempt can be made to construct touches, the student must make himself familiar with two important processes. The one is the writing out (or pricking, as it is sometimes called) of blocks of changes by the treble leads; the other is the method of proof. Both these matters are touched on here, but if the reader is already competent to deal with both he may skip this bit, with the generous recollection, we hope, that there are others not so well informed Pricking changes by the treble leads needs some little practice before facility and speed are attained, but with regular and patient attention to the process the student wilb soon be able to proceed at a good rate. And it must be emphasised here that such knowledge and ability are absolutely necessary if the would-be conductor wishes to achieve the dual aim of understanding the touches provided for him in the text books and making up touches for himself.

If a plain course of Grandsire Triples is examined it will be seen that from 1234567 a plain lead produces a lead 1253746. Experiment would show that a bob lead from 1234567 would produce 1752634 , and a single instead of the bob would give us 1572634. These three facts we may set down as under:

| $\overline{253746}$ | $-\overline{752634}$ | S $\overline{572634}$ |

It wilt be noted that we have not troubled to insert the treble, for this bell will always be at the beginning when we prick the leads.
If 253746 is produced by a plain lead from 234567 then it is clear that if another plain lead is rung from 253746 the bells will be changed about in the same way that they were from 234567. In detail this may be stated:

EFFECT OF A PLAIN LEAD

The 2nds.-Place bell stays in 2nds place. The 3rds.-Place bell moves to 4ths place. The 4ths.-Place bell moves to 6ths place. The 5ths.-Place bell moves to 3 rds place. The 6ths.-Place bell moves to 7ths place. The 7ths.-Place bell moves to 5ths phace. So just as a plain lead from 234567 gave 253746, so a plain lead from 253746 will give 275634, and a plain lead from 275634 will give 267453 ; and so on until we get back to rounds.

It is exceblent practice for the student to prick out a large number of plain courses, starting from leads far removed from the plain course. Such courses as 345267,534627, 764532, will provide practice in transposing by the lead ends; and if a return is not made to the starting point in five leads then it may be certain that a mistake has been made in the pricking. After some practice the student will find that he can get along quite quickly, but he will always have to check over his work to ensure that no mistake has been made.
Alongside the acquisition of facility in pricking plain leads, attention must obviously be given to the pricking of bob and single

- 752634 sion will bring rounds again. and it will be easy to get 752634 plenty of practice in writing 467352 out these little touches, 234567 starting from any chosen after three leads
The student may then experiment with single leads, and find out for himself how many successive singles may be pricked hefore rounds appears again.

The question of pricking by leads having heen examined (not unprofitably, we hope) we must now touch on the matter of proof. The full explanation of what follows must be sought in one of the Grandsire text books or from someone willing and able to explain. Here we state briefly how the truth or falseness of a touch of Grandsire Triples may be established with certainty.

1. If the touch contains hobs only, then if all the backstroke leads of the treble are different, the touch is true.
2. If the touch contains singles as well as bobs, write out all the handstroke and backstroke leads of the treble and make sure they are all different.
It will be seen that touches in which singles are used require more attention in proof than those having bobs only. When bobs only are used in Grandsire Triples no backstroke lead of the treble can recur at handstroke in another part of the touch. Where singles and bobs are used it is quite possible for the handstroke of a treble lead to occur again at backstroke.
Here is a simple example of the falseness than can occur in a touch of Grandsire Triples where both singles and bobs are used. If the two leads marked $F$ are

S 756243
725364
S 526347 examined it will be seen that the backstroke of the first one is repeated in the handstroke of the second one and that the backstroke of the second one is the same as the handstroke of the first one.

A further interesting and instructive point may be made here. If the student has the curiosity to write out

OF TOUCHES

532764 F every change in the bead 573426
547632

Portion of a

- 532764

etc. following 1532764 , and to write out every jow in the lead following 1746523, he will find that he has written out the same rows in the reverse order. So, not only are the handstrokes and backstrokes of the treble bead repeated, but a whole lead of changes is repeated.

Note that this falseness can occur without being apparent by inspection of the backstroke leads only.

The other example of falseness occurring through the use of singles is shown in simple form here. It arises when the handstroke lead of the treble is repeated at handstroke somewhere else in the touch, and once again the falseness will not be revealed by an examination of the backstroke leads only.
If the handstrokes of both leads marked F are examined, it will be seen that they are identical; but the difference between this and the previous case is that in this instance the only repetition is one handstroke-quite sufficient, however, to rule out the touch altogether.

The would-be composer should make a note of this kast revelation, for it may prevent him from falling into an error that has trapped more than one person. Following a plain lead, in no circumstances must bob, bob, single, be called in succession in Grandsire Triples.
Despite the above rule it must be noted that there is not the same objection to single, bob, 234567 of calls may often be used of cabls may often be used 7526341 effect, as will be seen later 467352 when we examine the plan of 324567 1s certain touches. The student 243567 4 may now like to study 432567 S.B.B.S. and find out why this 234567 4s succession is permissible, while B.B.S. is forbidden. And in this connection he may like to find out why the touch given here is not false, although it begins with bob, bob, single.
The examples of falseness given here are only two of the ways in which the introduction of singles will provide possibilities that must be guarded against, but the only proofs needed are these two:

1. Where bobs only are used, the truth of the backstroke leads of the treble ensures the truth of the touch.
2. Where singles are introduced the truth of alb the handstroke and backstroke leads of the treble will ensure the truth of the touch.

CAMPINGOLOGISTS" PEAL TOUR

Compared with the low level of previous years, the campingologists this year reached lofty heights, thanks to Mr. Rowbottom, on whose farm we stayed for the week. There was a tent as well. but who would forgo the airy comfort of a loft with its smooth floorboards for the sloping ground in a draughty tent? Three out of every 13 campingologists would!
But we had come to ring peals and have a good time socially as well; we passed out with honours on both counts, we thought, with an oh so slight bias towards the latter.
After ringing the initiatory peal of Yorkshire Major at West Hallam on Saturday afternoon it was the turn of $F$. Hector Bennett to come into his own by giving us his expert opinion of the local brew, which he expert as being excellent both for taste and strength.

Sunday dawned with everyone eagerly awaiting the arrival of one of the greatest composers who ever lived-namely P. G. K. Davies ; but it was not until that same evening that the pop-pop of his iwo-stroke was heard entering the farmyard. Incidentally John Robinson made a point of contending that the former was the greatest composer ever, though whether his tone of voice was sportive or not could not be ascertained.
Ringing for morning service was at Derby Cathedral, and consisted of Yorkshire Royal and Stedman Caters; for evening on the peculiarly fine ring of bells in the town where they have their own brand of tart-Bakewell.
By this time an air of seriousness and anticipation for the tasks ahead showed itself in the faces of the ringers, and the timetable so expertly arranged by our organiser, David Friend, was duly made known and accepted with fervour

A DISAPPOINTMENT

What a disappointment then that the first peal on Monday morning should he lost through the sixth bell losing its tongue! And with only five courses to go Cambridge Major at Belper ended thus. However, the morale of the party was boosted by the unsuspected success of a handbell peal of Bob Major in Darley Dale belfry and fully restored by a good peal of Aldenham in the afternoon at this same tower. so much so afternoon at this same tower. So murch so further successes during the week

Our ringing appetites whetted and our drinking ones wetted too. we went off on Tuesday morning in our two designated bands. which, by the way, were not the same every day-ithis state of affairs tends to lead to an - A. team and a $\mathbf{B}$ team. The first band deep-sounding bells of Ashover: : the method was Double Norwich. The afternoon band were successful in an attempt for Lincolnshire Major on the light ring at Fairfield.
In case the reader should be wondering at this stage how two separate hands for Major can be found from thirteen campingologists, it shall be explained. The fact is that there were less ringers this year than usual. and our numbers were supplemented from day to day by lan M. Holland. Geoffrey N. Goodall. Gordon A. Halls and Christopher Hughes, ali local ringers.
On a suggestion from P. G. K. D. spliced Plain Bob and Cambridge Major was the order at Ripley on Wednesday morning, and this was successfully rung. Meanwhile another peal of Bob Major was achieved on handhells after meeting two short for Cambridge Maximus. The loft was chosen as the place where the attempt should take place, so that the rats might be frightened away from our cornflakes and other foodstuffs.
A peal of London Major was brought round in the afternoon at llkeston. though it will jot appear in the peal columns. The conductor called a bob one lead prematurely (i.e. at Vths) and not until the next lead head were the bells right again. This decision that the peal should not be counted was arrived at by a democratic vote by all the members of the band.

Thursday was a black day-lost were Rutland Major at Staveley and nine Surprise Minor at Etwall. These abortive attempts were due in part to over-indulgence the previous night and to the antics of our only two members who were called to the bar early in life. The culprits' names? Easy. Their antics?

dare not.

Although come Friday everyone was feeling the cumulative and enervating effects of lack of wholesome and regular meals, short sleeping hours and blistered hands, nevertheless it was our most noteworthy day, three peals being hrought round-Cambridge Royal at Duffield in the morning and Yorkshire Major at Matlock and Cambridge Major at St. Luke's, Derby, in the afternoon.
This last named peal is worthy of special mention, since the slender tower has the effect on the bells of making them either 'drop 'on the ringer or nearly go over, and without any warning.
Weary now Saturday morning, we cancelled the programmed peal at Greasley. More the surprise then that the peal of Yorkshire Royal at St. Mary's Nottingham. should be a fine effort, taking the mixed band that it was into consideration.
Our tour virtually ended here at St. Mary's (of 'Part ends are such sweet sorrow'), half the party returning homa that same evening and the rest the following day.
Our thanks go to Mr. Roobottom in particular for his kind and generous hospitality. and two sons, for their help in all matters.

Thank you, clergy, for letting us ring your bells: thank you local ringers. who met us and saw us suited.
L.G.

FINEDON BELLS REHUNG

The bells of St. Mary the Virgin, Finedon, Northants, have been rehung on ball hearings by Taylors, of Loughborough, and a special service of thanksgiving was held on August 29th. The service was conducted by the Vicar of Finedon. the Rev. J. R. Gill, and the preacher was the Rev. W. C. Knight, of Bozeat, the local branch chairman of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.
Several ringers had travelled considerable distances to be present, and the bells were kept ringing throughout the greater part-of the afternoon and evening. The ringing ranged from rounds to London, and many comments were passed on the excellence of the cight and the fine joh of restoration which has been done. In fact Finedon practice night, which is Thursday, looks like becoming very popular with ringers throughout the county.

MR. WHITAKER'S SUGGESTIONS

Mr. W. G. Wilson writes
It is perfectly true that in the early days of change ringing it was difficult to move with accuracy more than one place at a time, hut I suspect the real reasons why change ringing has been based on the movement of the bells by one position at a time are that it started on two, three or four bells only and also that it is natural to move one step at a time. Try going up (or down) your tower staircase more than one step at a time.
It might well be practicable to ring in this manner, without spoiling the rhythm, on a well-hung ring of eight or ten, but difticulties would come when you met short and had to ring six. The distance moved each time would then be up to half the compass or span. Mr Whitaker's first example seems to be a mixture of the two systems, in order to keep the whole pulls at front and back he has had to turn the hunting into a dodging hunt with a varied movement of 1,2 or 3 positions. It would be very difficult in these circumstances to preserve the rhythm.
His second system is much more regular and logical, so long as it remains a skipping hưnt. If I understand him rightly, however, his plain bob lead end would be 13527486 , obtained by making all the bells above second place lay still-something that has never found favour among ringers.

I know of nothing to stop a band of ringers trying either of these systems--except that they won't ! Much more regular and likely variations of our normal method ringing have been introduced in the past only to remain forgotten by the Exercise. There have been double and treble dodging hunts. Erin is rung for the novelty of it and then rejected. Duffield, a theoretically perfect principle, has proved too monotonous to hold a band's in terest. The Alliance methots, a logical mixture of Plain and Treble Bob, are only used because they provide additional methods for multi-method peals of Minor.
On eight bells and more there are thousands of methods available, based on the standard techniques of change ringing and providing more than adequate variety for those bands able and wishing to use them. If simple Plain Bob type methods are desired. then in addition to the Reverse, Double. Little and Gains. borough versions, the ringing can be varied by using different bells as the hunt bell or by interchanging the hand- and backstrokes. Not nearly as easy, this, as it sounds.
But Mr. Whitaker should continue his investigations and extend them to the fruitful field of composition. He will add to his knowledge of our art and, who knows, may well succeed in finding a modern equivalent of Middleton's peal of Cambridge Major, or Parker's 12-part Grandsire Triples or Thurstans' 4 -part Stedman.

DALHAM BELLS RUNG AGAIN

For approximately 25 years the five bells at Dalham. Suffolk, have not been rung. An inspection by Mr. R. Clouston in February. 1963. reveaked a most interesting and unusual mediæval frame, or bell cage, 13 ft . 10 ins , high by 16 ft . square in plan. with all the belts sound and apparently in a ringable state. (Tenor $13 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.)
In July some ringers from Fordham (Cambs) visited the tower and spent some time in cleaning, greasing, tightening up and fitting ropes. After another visit it was decided to take a band of ringers and, joined by Mr. Clouston, they were successful in ringing the five bells to call changes and Bob Doubles. The general opinion was that the bells po quite well and have a fine tone.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX

 A meeting of the Guild was held on September 5th at St. Matthew's Church.Northowram. Ringing commenced at 2.30 after the marriage of local oarishioners, until 4.30, when the Rev. T. A. Wharton conducted Evensong. During tea, ably provided by the local ringers, we heard a recording of church bells. We were happy to welcome visitors from Todmorden, Brecon and Scotland. Ringing, including Oxford and Kent Spliced. Double Norwich, Oswald Delight and rounds by an all-ladies band, was enjoyed until nine

WEST COUNTRY OUTING

On Saturday, August 29th, the Surprise practice band of East Somerset and West Wilts took a trip to Gloucestershire and Warwickshire. The organising genius of M:. Norman Knee brought together a party from Warminster, Frome, North Bradley and Melksham at a very earby hour, so that before 9 a.m. we were ringing at Painswick. Stedman Cinques would not go, but Yorkshire and Grandsire Caters went excellently. Greatly encouraged by this, we moved on to Salferd Priors, where Cambridge, Rutiand and London were competently tapped off.
The pretty village of Tanworth-in-Arden stands high on a wooded spur of the Arden country, complete with village green, a mag. nificent chestnut tree, a bovely church with a delightful bucolic spire and a beautifully mellow ring of eight bells. Here we were privileged to ring Stedman for a weddinc. and this was followed by Cambridge and Bristol.
At Solihull we were met by Mr. J. C. Dale, the Ringing Master, and most of the local band, including that fine old veteran Mr. William Leeson, whose service to Solihull Church now runs to more than 60 years of unselfish devotion. The fine ring of ten provided Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Plain Bob Royal and a good course of Rutland.
The pleasant run of 13 miles to Warwick passed all too soon, but it was a pleasure to come again to St. Nicholas' Church to meet Mr. Garner-Hayward, Mr. Frank Perrins and Mrs. Perrins. The fine ring of eight responded kindly to our treatment, and the ringing included a course of Bristol. Teas at the Warwick Cafe were of two kinds, 'penny plain and twopence coloured,' but either kind at this pleasant little place can be recommended. Northleach was our last call and here the ringing was rather mixed. Cambridge, Yoikshire and London gave no trouble, but Bristol was obstinate and had to be abandoned. Despite this last setback it was agreed during the merry run home that the ringing had been of a high standard throughout the day. The hospitality received was much appreciated.

' BLUEBELL LINE' COUNTRY

Following last year's outing, another party of ringers and friends from Hertfordshire, Sur1ey and Hampshire again visited Bluebell Railway Land on August 30th. A start was made at Maresfield, where half an hour's ringing on the light ring of six before proceeding to Newick. The journey from Newick to Fletching was enlivened for two cars by a disastrous error in navigation, giving the passengers a second view of Newick Green before reaching Fletching, where we found a church perhaps unique in having a chancel wider than its nave. Here in 1264 Simon de Montfort spent the night in vigil before the Battle of Lewes. Being 700 years later, our tastes differed, and Grandsire and Stedman were the order of the day, while our clerical member decided that this would be his choice of parish in ten years' time.

Thence to Sheffield Park and the railway trip-our old friend of 1963, 'No. 27,' resplendent in S.E. and C.R. livery was one half of the motive power, while the rear of the train was brought up by ex-S.B. and S.C.R. 'Terrier' Fenchurch, recently acquired from British Railways after spending recent years around Hayling Island. After the journey, tea was enlivened by our cleric's stories about bishops, boatmen and bullocks, and by various light engine movements taking place on adjacent tracks. A pleasant halfhour was spent photographing the various locomotives and rolling stock 'on shed,' again the 'Dukedog' and 'Stepney' proved the biggest draws-the latter causing a firm supporter of the works of Sir Nigel Gresley in the party to show signs of admiration for this creation of William Stroudley's genius, while the sight of the 'Dukedog's' firebox gave rise to a feeling of awe in the heart of our exfireman.

Time was pressing as we travelled across to Lindfield via the windmill at Chailey and the pleasant ring of eight enhanced our touches of the standard methods and the courses of Cambridge before departing.

SHROPSHIRE FOURS

Dear Sir,-Your correspondent Mr. P. R. Johnson (page 607) is wrong in thinking that the Baschurch bells were recast in 1912. They were rehung by Taylors in plain bearings about then but they were not recast.

This is fortunate as the second bell here is noted by Walters in his survey of Sbropshire bells (page 238) as quite the most interesting bell in the county. The inscription is in Flemish and can be translated as:

Mary. In the year of our Lord MCCCC and XLVII (1447) an Van Venloe.,
The bell is beautifully ornamented with foliated patterns, and with the present fourth at Great Ness is said to have come from Valle Crucis Abbey. The inside of the soundbow is flat from the lip for some distance. and then, after a ridge, follows a more normal profile. The tone is only moderate, the main pitches being 932, 715, 552, 430, and 240 cycles per second.

As has been mentioned in your pages before, founders were often gun founders in the Middle Ages and as there was a national need to encourage the latter, foreign bells are quite rare in England. In fact one list only gives 16 examples. Jan Van Venloe also cast a bell which was at Vowchurch in Herefordshire but was recast last century. Another bell which could be by him is the single bell at Whitton, just outside Ipswich, dated 1441. The lettering on this bell is rather smaller than that at Baschurch.

Of the other Baschurch bells the treble is by an unknown founder about 1500 and the two tenors are by Thomas Clibury II. of Wellington, Salop, 1662.-Yours faithfully, Radlett, Herts. R, W. M. CLOUSTON.

Dear Sir,-P. R. Johnson's excellent article bears out my own findings very well. These and details of the 3 -bell towers in the county were published in the 1962 Shropshire Association Report. One small point: there were certainly four bells hung dead at Wentnor when I saw then two years ago, so the other three must have been disposed of since that time.-Yours faithfully, H. POYNER.

Retford, Notts.

During an outing ably organised by the Branch Ringing Master Mr. H W. Knight, Somerset ringers on September sth pulled up in peal the 12 bells of Exeter Cathedral. This is an achievement rarely performed, and our correspondent, who considers that the publication of names would be an embarrassment to some, feels that he must men tion that Mr. Knight 'trebled up' wonderfully in a 'not too bad an effort, altholigh far from perfect.'

We thank R.B. for his contribution to meet the extra postage during the postal dislocation

Would peal statisticians please note that the report of a peal rung at Helmshore for the Lancashire Association on June 6th, and appearing in the 'R.W.' of July 3rd (p, 455), is duplicated in the issue of July 10th (p. 471)
There are still a few vacancies for the Grant ley Hall, Ripon, training course from $25 \mathrm{th}-$ 27 th September, and applications should be made to the Warden at the Hall (Tel Sawley 259). Ripon and two other towers will be avail able for practical sessions.

During the recent Lancashire peal week two peals of Seven Spliced Surprise Major were lost in the last half-hour due to a shift course. By a strange coincidence both peals were lost in exactly the same change--in the first attempt $2-3$ crossing and in the second attempt 4-5 crossing.
The holiday of Mr. Jeater has meant that there has been a delay in dealing with subscription renewals and new subscriptions during the past fortnight. A notice in the 'Ringing World' announcing his holiday was not apparently observed. Will anyone who has not received his 'R.W.' please communicate with the Editor.
Mr. Aubrey L. Bennett arranged another of his half-day excursions on September 9th, when Buckfast Abbey proved to be a popular venue. Three members of the community joined in the ringing. Pleasure was expressed at the presence of Mr. Tom Myers when he took part in ringing after tea at Broadhempston and Abbotskerswell

The Tyneside and Birmingham Ringers' Peal Week was a far more successful event than indicated by the three peals recorded on page 622. In fact, 10 peals were rung, the additional seven appearing in this issue. It was a week of good ringing, good company and good food. The non-appearance of the remainder was due to the Editor being on holiday and those dealing with the make-up not realising they were part of the original section.

At the annual general meeting of the National Police Guild on September 26th, the first tower open is now to be St. Giles-in-theFields and not St. James', Clerkenwell, as shown on the circulated list. Time unaltered.

Because of circumstances beyond control, it has been necessary to postpone the quarterly meeting of the Derby Diocesan Association from October 3rd to October 10th. Details will be announced in the 'Ringing World' as soon as possible.
Owing to increased charges and also that the guest of honour, the Dean of Guildford, (Bishop G. Clarkson), has shingles, Guildford, Diocesan Guild decided on Saturday to postpone their annual dinner fixed for October 3rd at the Stoke Hotel. Guildford. It will be held at Newlands Corner Hotel on November 28th.

Mr. R. Batton of Sturry, Canterbury is attempting to trace the history of the bells of St. Nicholas' Church, Sturry. He would appreciate any information readers could supply concerning the 2 nd bell of the ring of 5 in the tower prior to 1710 . since this would either be a Joseph Hatch beli installed in 1622 with the other 4 or would be of more ancient origin.
In honour of his 81 st birthday, Mr. John Willis. chairman of the Kent County Association, 'stood' the tea at the Ashford District meeting at Saltwood on September 5th. He was applauded on both counts. Among business transacted was a proposal, in conjunction with the Kent Education Committee, to hold a course on ringing. The collection at the service was for Brabourne Bells Restoration Fund. Mr. D. H. Gower, secretary of the local band, organised the tea.

MARRIAGE OF MR. J. EERRY
Mr. Jack Berry, the well-known tower captain of Wallingford, Berks, and Miss Pat Best were married on August 29th. Jack is well-known in the North Berks area of the Oxford Guild, and Pat's father was formerly a ringer at Wallingford and is now organist at St. Leonard's, Wallingford.
Wallingford ringers were unable to ring for the happy couple, as Wallingford bells are at present silent, owing to extensive structural repairs. All join in wishing the happy couple their sincere good wishes.

SOME WISDOM AMID ABSURDITIES

By The Rev. J. G. M. SCOTT

TTHE disease of pontificating on matters about which they knew little was an occupational one to many Victorian clergymen, and the Rev. H. R. Haweis was no exception. We can smile often at his' absurd remarks about 'rusty' bells and 'rivets' in timber frames, and at his apparently complete ignorance even of the very existence of the art of change-ringing.

But isn't it all the more remarkable that at the same time Mr. Haweis happened on some facts which were then little thought of by far more knowledgeable men, and which still need all the emphasis we can give them? And has not Mr. Fidler done Haweis an injustice and the Exercise a disservice by laughing at Mr. Haweis whether he was right or wrong?

Mr. Fidler supposes that the bells described by Haweis had no gudgeons or bearings, because the belfry was hardly ever visited. But some of us are finding nowadays that when bells have been fitted with ball-bcarings which need attention only once in ten years or so, the other little jobs that used to get done when the plain bearings were oiled don't even get noticed.

The better the ascent, the more chance there is of the belfry being visited and cared for,' says Mr. Haweis. And Mr. Fidler uses this remark as a basis for one of his little jokes; has he, with his huge experience of belfries, never noticed how true this statement is? Has he never marvelled at P.C.C.'s which expect one of their churchpeople, often out of the goodness of his heart. to look after their bells, and expect him to risk his neck and ruin his clothes every time he does it? Has he never stood at the bottom of a crooked, wormy ladder and known that it's ten to one that the bells at the top haven't been properly looked after? Three rousing cheers for Mr. Haweis, say 1, and if Mr. Fidler had abated his determination to be funny at all costs I know he'd say it too.
The very idea of calling anybody a "bell stoker" is ridiculous, of course. But has Mr. Fidler never been filled with helpless rage to find a belfry which he left ten years before 'like a fine engine room in a first-class factory," looking like a corner of the municipal dump? And can't he give Haweis the credit for some wisdom in spite of all his ignorance, when he urges regular painting? It was nothing like so grave a problem in 1871 ; but now iron and steel frames and gear which cost thousands of pounds to install are rotting away because people still won't heed Mr. Haweis's warning.
Again, when Haweis wrote his article, there was a very strong body of opinion among architects, clergymen and others that most of the damage to masonry in towers was caused by 'vibration' from the actual sound of the bells. This idea is still not dead : people still believe that timber frames are better than wood because they 'don't carry the vibrations to the stonework like metal does.' When Haweis speaks of the Prussian guns not damaging Strasbourg Cathedral it is the sound that he is talking about : the impact and blast of bombs is quite beside the point. When he speaks of "injury to house-property" - not 'damage': that is Mr. Fidler's word - he means the lowering of value, not structural damage; this issue, too. is not by any means dead. And he is ahead of his time when he tells us that towers are 'rocked down by the friction of coarse machinery'; although 'friction' is not quite the word we'd use today, the fact remains that many towers in his day were being rocked down by loose or badly-designed frames. and many are still undergoing the process every Sunday in 1964.

By all means let's laugh at Mr. Haweis's silly mistakes and at the way he lays down the law with so very little knowledge at his command : but do let's do him justice too ; some of the lessons he taught are still taking an awful lot of learning.

MR. WILFRED WILLIAMS TAKES AN ELITE PEAL BAND TO YORKSHIRE

$\mathrm{N}^{\mathrm{E}}$EARLY 20 people's names appear in the pea! reports, and on an average there were 14 of us on tour. The menu provided us with 15 peal attempts, 11 of which proved successful, and with a good selection of Yorkshire's wonderful treasury of churches and bells, not to mention other welcome commodities. A well-known film was being shown at a cinema in Bradford, and that gave us an idet for this year. It was to be "a hard day's night' (eight times repeated).

The first night was spent at the Midland. Leicester. On the Saturday morning being unable to ring at St. John's, Leicester, we started off with a.pea! of London Royal at the loughborough foundry. This year we had six tens on the list, and lovely ones, too. Three peals of London Royal were scored into the hargain. We had some lovely eights as well. The first was at Bottesford, Leics, where we rang Yorkshire. This church has a chancel which might well be mistaken for a mausoleum.

There were two chaplains in attendance throughout the tour. Clearly someone feit they were needed. Confidentially, they needed chaplains themselves, but this was hardly a - retreat.

That night we found our way to the Northgate Hotel, Bradford. Lecals tried to misdirect us! One man was standing in the North Gate but didn't know where the North Gate was. I wonder if be knew where the nearest Bass house was. It was not long hefore we located a nice large red triangle A good sign!

On Sunday morning those of us who wen: to the $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Holy Communion at Bradford Cathedral were treated to a sermon. All of us then descended on Mr. Barton and his ringers, who kindly albowed us to ring their bells for the 10.30 service at Pudsey. Back at Bradford. We took full advantage of the week-end emotiness of the city by ringing a neal of Yorkshire Royal at the Cathedral. Our thanks are due to Gillian Schofield and her father for their hospitality on this and other occasions.

Monday mornings are Monday mornings The writer nearly missed his breakfast. Nevertheless we made our: way un to Heptonstall through - the Yorkshire mist and rain and while some of us admired the church eight trusty men tapped out London for one of the best peals of the week. Here they have been spending it $£ 30$, (r) 0 legacy on modernising the interior of the church. It is a striking example of how well modern furnishings designed according to modern liturgical principles can. fit into an older church. And the Rectur's wife kindly treated us to coffee.

PROVOKING FATE

We can recommend the 'Queen' at Huddersfield for a good lunch. We can also recommend Marsden bells. Marsden. however. was the scene of the week's tragedy. On Monday afternoon we seltled down to Pudsey Royal, and after 31 hours we had rung some 4.920 changes, with three leads to go. Then. wham!-and the writer stared speechlessly at a pile of rope in front of him. The moral seems to be this. Never make irreverent remarks about your Yorkshire tail-end before starting for a peal. It only provokes fate !There's plenty of rhubarb in this part of Yorkshire. Ralph told us that they sell it in France in exchange for champagne. We nassed several fields of thubarb on the way to Liversedge on Tuesday. Here we rang Lincolnshire on a pleasant 0.1 eight. The reverend back-enders nearly insisted on making the rest of the band subscribe to the Clerica! Guild, ringing the peal for them. Meanwhile the rest of the party went to Thornhill (6) with Mr. Fred Hodgson.

After a good lunch at Cleckheaton, we said goodbye to Stan Mason and went on to Oisett to ring the second peal of London Royas of the tour on the grand 10 there. Three of us went on to Leeds for a meal in the company of Mrs. Ella Edwards. As if we couldn't have enough of good Taylor bells. we went to Rothwell to join the local band at nractice. The hells are a beautif!? eight, recast 13 years ago Mr. Tom Strangeways and his band invited us to join in. and we rang in two courses of the most beautifully-struck Double Norwich Major that one could wish to hear.
On Wednesday morning the method at Batley was Glasgow, but this was abandoned after a course or so. Spliced proved equally difficult for some unknown reason. At a halflead in London. Wilfred was surprised to see Peter making sevenths under him. while Ralph obliged by making " sixth:" If you ever visit this lower. read The Requien of the late Three Bells of Batley Church.' inscribed on the tower wall. Here is the last verse:

- And now our changes all are rung. Here end; our dying song:
Our last! our final peal is done
Farewell! Farewell ! Ding Dong."
Suitable thoughts for the end of a peal tour?

But we had not finished our tour by any means. On to Doncaster for a peak of London Major on the modern 30 cwt . eight.

THE DREAM PICTURE

We stayed that night at the Beverley Arms, Beverley, where the landlord went off to bed leaving us with a bucket of beer on a sale or return basis." (We did both!) Wilfred fell asleep in the lounge and. unbeknown to him, was photogranhed with the bucket on the table in front of 1 im , surrounded libellously by empty glasses, with a picture of Beverley Minster above hi i: (the subject of his dreams?). a large chrysanthemum in his buttonhole and a giant model poodle in his arms. All had been cleared away again before he awoke.

Thursday dawned, and we were all getting teed up for the hig job of the week. But first a visit to Hedon, a fine, karge church with a splended organ which Roger proceeded to put through its paces, while the band upstairs joined in Anglican chants while raising the bells in peal. A peal of Bristol was successfully rung on the fine eight here, and then we really got down to business. Beverley Min ster is probably as fine a church as England possesses, and the bells are in keeping. In the South Tower hangs • Great John." all seven tons of him, while in the North rower hane, the famous ring of ten with a tenor of $41 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt. We settled down to a good peal of Pudsey Royal, which we felt was the climax of the week. Wilfred's dreams of the night refore were fulfilled.

RESIDENTS REASONABLE
We then iransfisred our headquarters to the Windmisl Hotel. York, and on Friday morning rang another peal of Rristol at Norton, just outside Malton. The bells are loud outside and there were some local residents outside afterwards who felt that three hours was too much. However. they were quite reasonable and we venture to express the hope that some wellwisher will do something to reduce the volume of sound here, as has heen done so well in many towers

At Bridlington Priory, a fiaseo developed similar to the one at Batley. Some of these bells are "benders," so perhaps 35 minutes was enough. That evening Mr. Harold Walker and some of his hand welcomed us to York Minster, where we rang touches of Stedman Cinques and a half-course of Cambridge Maximus, which made a good finish to the day's ringing.

By now the weather lrad shown marked improvement, which made our journey all the more pizasant on Saturday morning when we went up to Robin Hood's Bay, passing on the

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE LADIES' GUILD

The Ladies' Guild made history on Septen: ber 12 th by ringing a peal of Stedman Cinques at Leicester Cathedral. This was the first 12bell peal for, the Guild : there was an unsuccessful attenipt at Cardiff Central Counctl meeting in 1962 at St. Woobos Cathedral. Newport.
The Guild president (Mrs. Olive Barnett) was represented by her daughter, Mrs. Jean Woolford. It is interesting to note that Jean"s grandmother, Mrs. F. I. Hairs, rang in the first 10 -bell peal by the iadies-Stedman Caters : St. Clement Danes' on January 20th, 1926. Participating in that peal was Mrs. Emma Deal, who scored the double event by ringing again on this occasion. As a grandmother her performance is particularly meritorious.
The Guild treasurer, Miss J. Beresford, who this year rang her 500th peal. conducted, and the Guild secretary. Miss D. Colpate, rang the tenor. There were three District secretaries participating-Miss Sheila Doblice (Kent), Miss S. Chesterton (Maidstone) and Mrs. J. S. King (South Wales)-and a past president, Mrs. Jill Staniforth.

THE LADIES' GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Compton Martin on September 12th. A warm and sunny day emphasised the attractive setting of this Somerset village, anci the welcome afforded to the members was no less warm. Ringing in the afternoon included a ladies touch of Stedman Doubles.
The service was conducted by the Rector the Rev. R. N. Bathgate, who gave an interesting address. This was followed by an excellent tea in the Church Hall. prepared by local ladies. After the customary vote of thanks by the vice-president. Mrs. Parfrey, a short business meeting was held. Practive meetings are to be held at Yatton on October 20th, and Farmborough on November 16th and the next quarterly meeting is at Beckington on December 12th. Miss J. Battin (Cor (ton) and Mrs. D. Weeks (Warmley) were reelected members way the Early Warning station at Fylingdales which presents a strange sight in the middle of - the moors.Fylingdales Church possesses a light ring of eight: bells are noisy inside. Having dinned Suberlative into our brains for two and-a-balf-hours we finally succumbed to the last-but-one course, when a major trip occurred. A pity. In spite of the noise the ringing had its moments.
Further ringing with the gentlemen embraced a wide variety of methods.

We drew the conclusion that it is fatal to have two Edwardses in any peal attempt. Both were in all four failures. But they redeemed themselves in- the afternoon at Whitby, when the tour ended with a good peal of London Royal.
We have left till last the celebration of Wilfred's birthday. On Friday night we presented him with a travelling bag containing the famous photograph of himself, suitably signed by the band. And this seems the right point in our story to express our thanks to our organiser for what seemed to us to have been the best tour yet. Thank you. Wilfred. And thank you, too. all the elergy, fingers hoteliers and others who gave us such a warm welcome to Yorkshire.
Sunday took us our various ways. after ringing at Tadcaster in the morning. 'A hard day's night was over. But it will not be the last one! G.C. G./R.O.F.

REV. R. O. FRY - A RECTOR
His many friends in the Bath and Weils Diocese, where he was a former general sec retary of the Diocesan Association, will con gratulate the Rev. Roger O. Fry on his appointment as Rector of Portishead with Clap-ton-in-Gordano and curate-in-charge of Wes-ton-in-Gordano.
Roger was ordained a deacon in 1958 and served his title at Yeovil. He was senior curate at Portishead. His institution by the Lord Bishop of Bath and Wells took place last Tuesday

JAM JARS AND OLD IRON PAID FOR RESTORATION

The deal rung at Bishampton, Wores, as a farewell tribute to the retiring Vicar, the Rev Thomas Wilkinson. on September 4th, recalls how he tackled the raising of over $£ 1,000$ for the restoration of the tower and bells.
Shortly after his appointment in 1932 te launched an anpeal for the money by saving old jam jars, old iron and rags. Ringers from all over the country supported his efforts. It was a proud moment for him in November 1937, when the $B$ shop of Worcester performed the act of rededication of these bells, which date from 1690.
After the peal Mr. Ralph Perks and Mr Andrew Jopp thanked the Vicar for his loyal help during the 32 years of his incumbency, and wished him and his wife every happiness for the future in their retirement at Fladbury.

A WEYMOUTH VETERAN

Mr. F. Stedman, whose 90 th birthday was commemorated by a quarter peal at Wyke Regis (see page 641), was born at Dewchurch Herefordshire, and started ringing at the age of 14. His early ringing was at Hereford and Monmouth, later moving to Swansea, where he was well known in peal-ringing circles.
He came to Weymouth in 1925 and joined the Wyke Regis tower. Since 1947 he has been tower captain. Despite his age. he is in his place every Sunday morning and evening and seldom misses a practice

BROMLEY RINGER A BRIDE

The marriage took place on September 5 th at the Church of St. Luke. Bromley Common. of Miss Rosemary M. Jenkins, a well-known ringer from the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association, and Mr. Brian D. Lanawav. Rosemary has for some years been a member of Bromley Common band, and has also been of great assistance to the band of Bromley Parish Church.

The bride wore a dress of silkk brocade, with long veil and coronet of orange blossom She was attended by her two sisters and the bridegroom's sister, who wore pale blue, and by her niece, who was dressed in pink. Appronriately the theme of the address was the hells and their similarity to marriage

The bells were rung before and after the ceremony by members of her own hand and by friends from the Lewisham District. and the following day a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at Bromley Parish Church to mark the occasion by F. Gates I. Sheila Copping (cond.) 2, Maria E. Kirby 3, P. J. Spice 4, R. T. Newman 5. M. G. Fostcer 6.

WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL NEWS

During the summer a number of us from Washington have come into contact with several ringers, and have learned just a bit of what a close and wonderful group make up the ringing world. Mr. Wayne Dirksen visiting England with his wife for a few days this summer, was honoured to stand in with the band at St. Michael's. Cornhill, for a few rounds, and to visit with John Chilcott and his wife for the afternoon. The Dirksens kater spent an evening with George Pipe and his wife in Ipswich.
One of our hoys, Howard Vickery, has beer bicycling through England this summer and am sure that he has met a number of ringers.
Four ringers travelling through the United States stopped to visit our tower. They were Mr. E. Clarke Walters (Staffordshire), Mr Downey (Birmingham), Mr. Eugene Bray (Suffolk) and Mr. Moredaunt (Oxford). Each came on a day when there was some ringing and offered many valuable comments on our ringing, for which ive are most grateful.
We are now eagerly looking forward to the arrival of Mr. Fred Price, of Bournemouth. who is coming next month to instruct our band. He plans to he with us until February. and we are certain that he will prove of the greatest assistance to us.

WORCESTER AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION

Western Branch

On September 12th the Western Branch paid its first visit to Shrawley for a meeting. St. Mary's Churoh is a typical Worcestershire village church, its 12 th century walls built of the local red sandstone. The tower contains a ring of six be:ls cast by members of the Rudhall family. The bells hang in plain bearings on the old wooden frame and are not an easy ring: however, some good ringing was heard including London Surprise.
About 40 ringers took their places in the 18th century box pews for the service, 10 others robing with the local choir. At this his first experience of a ringers' meeting. the Rector told us of the pleasure he felt whenever he heard the Shrawley beyls, this being his first church blessed with a ring.
Tea, followed by a meeting, was held in the Village Hall, and before the business began, Mr. R. G. Morris referred to the work of the late Bill Lewis, of St. John's, Worcester. While he was captain at St. John's all ringers were sure of a warm welcome from him. A fine ringer himself, he was always ready with a word of encouragement for a young learner. The meeting stood in silence in memory of a well-loved friend.
Several new members were elected, including the captain and members of the Shrawley team. A vote of thanks was pronosed io the Branch secretary. Mr. A. Jopp (inzluding his wife and three "under secretaries") for and the work they had done for the Branch, and also to Mr. Westwood. the local captain, for organising the meeting.

Ombersley's fine-toned six were rung in the evening.

POULARD BELL ROPES
Owing to a big rebuilding scheme in Bristol affecting their works. Messrs. Joseph Bryant Ltd. have decided to discontinue the manu facture of Poulard hell ropes.

Letters to the Editor

To the Four

Dear Sir.-Please permit me to offer congratulations to the four who rang Pritchard's Bob Major.

We in Bures have given very careful though to this peal and we all regard this as th very highest achievement: it cannot in any way be compared with double-handed handhells.

Some of us witnessed Bill Simmonds rin? a pair of tower bell's at Coker to Stedma'r Triples and the conductor called the mos: difficult touch possible for these two but coul. not catch him out so what about Royal is add a bar to their deserved medals!
I wonder if Tony scowled if by any chanc? the seventh failed to tuck in at backstroke?Yours sincerely,

LESLIE D. MILLS.
Bures. Suffolk.

The 1,000th Peal

Dear Sir-It happened that on August 26th I picnicked with my family about a mile from Pilton Church. We were treated while we were there to some of the best Double Norwich I've heard in a long while, rung on an eight which are by no means 'boys' bells,' on a sweltering hot day.
It was a. great pleasure to hear later that this was Pat Cannon's 1,000 th peal: it was really worthy of the occasion, a milestone in the career of one who has perhaps had more fun poked at him than anyone else in the Exercise, some of it having been contributed by Yours truly.

Clawton Vicarage, Holsworthy, Devon.

Rudeness-a Protest

Dear Sir, - I am very surprised to see the remark by Mr. G. B. Thompson in your issue of September 11th about Hunslet Bob Major. While he may be Hunslet Bob Major. While he may be justified in questioning the notation, his comment on the method itself is quite uncalled for and ought not to have been made. Even if he disapproves of a Reverse Canterbury type of method, which is what Hunslet is, he could say so without being rude-Yours sincerely, WILFRID F. MORETON,

Hon. Gen. Sec. Yorkshire Association.

Quedgeley Surprise Major

Dear Sir,-The composition of Quedgelcy Surprise Major on page 619 of 'The Ringing World is the reverse of the one by Derek Ogden on page 814 (December 6th. 1963), with the shunt bob moved. It is atso true to F.C.H.'s 65432 and 53624 , irrespective of in-cidence.-Yours sincerely,

NORMAN SMITH.

Burnley.

Peal at Thorncombe

Dear Sir.-None will dispute that our county boundary gets a bit twisty down in the Chard area. but if our friends down there claim Thorncombe is in Somerset many more times (first a quarter peal and now a peal) we shal! have to assume they have successfully annexed it from Dorset.
If they aren't careful we shall hend the boundary a fraction more and pinch Sherborne: we've had our eye on the heaviest eight to go with Queen Camel and Wells
Cathedra? for a long time!-Yours sincerely. Cathedra: for a long time :-Yours sincerely.

Backwell. Somerset.

More Doubles Queries Answered

Dear Sir,-The method $X$ rung to a peal at Lowdham (page 569) is St. Helen. This method is known also as St. Ippolyts, St. Ann, St. Francis, Piddington and others too numerous to mention.
In the following peals methods have been incorrectly named:
I. Walton-le-Wolds (page 569): Shropham should be called Somerville; Mikham should be called Magdalen; St. Andrew should be called Lapley. (It is doubtful if the St. Andrew in the C.C. Collection was rung.) Norwich should be called Nuffield: Walsingham should be called Wadham.
2. South Newington (page 605): Shropham should be called Somerville: Mileham should be called Magdalen; Norwich should be called Nuffield: Walsingham should be called Wadham: Besthorpe should be called Hudibras: Costessey should be called Campion; St. Andrew should be called Lapley.
3. The Bell Foundry (pages 519 and 594)) Shropham, Mileham, Norwich, Walsingham. Besthorpe and Costessey are incorrect (see above).
4. Newtown Lindford (pages 519 and 594): St. Andrew is incorrectly named (see above). I would be obliged if the conductor of the peals at Newtown and the Bell Foundry would inform me as to the 'composition' of Newington, a variation rung in these peals (Newington being another name for Rushall and Newborough as well as being the names of two other variations). Also I would be pleased to learn the 'compositions of Zennor and Minster rung in the peal at the Bell Foundry. (I misume they are of the New Bob. Huntspell, St. Vedast group. but I have four variations bearing these names.)

The variation, Grandsire-Grandsire Boh with 5 th 4 th-5th-Antelone Single, called by me St. Gregory (page 597) should be called St. Anne. Other names include Lavender, Minster, St. Benedict and St. Raglan.

The majority of the following methods were rung to peals at Newtown and the Bell Foundry. Many ringers have asked what they were and it is hoped that the table below meets with their approval:

Law of Nuisance

Dear Sir.-1 was interested to read Mr Michael R. Meadows' article on the law of nuisance as applied to church bells. However, I feel that ho omits some points which should be mentioned.
Private nuisance is a Common Law tort, that is to say, a civil matter, of which the Criminal Law takes no notice. Mr. Meadows tells us who can sue whom but fails to mention what the purpose of such an action is. Normally, the plaintiff seeks an injunction to restrain the further commission of the nuisance. It may be that he also seeks damages for the harm suffered by him in the enjoyment of his property. Naturally an action for damages is unlikely to be brought by someone who has merely mised his Sunday afternoon nap. but an hotel. for instance, whose business suftered as a result of ringing might well require compensation.

Mr. Meadows further omits to tell us that not only the ringers would be liable in an astion for public nuisance: the incumbent is responsible for seeing that no nuisance arises on $h$ is premises and could be sued in any action for a nuisance caused by ringing, unless a hand rang without his knowledge or permiss:on.

Clearly some noises will never constitute a nuisance, says Mr. Meadows. I doubt the accuracy of this and, incidentally. of the Central Council's Legal Report, published in the C.C. Handbook, which states that there is " no reported case in which an injunction has been granted to restrain the ringing of bells of a parish church.' Any noise is capable of interfering with people's enjoyment of their property, even Sunday service ringing. The Australian case of Haddon v. Lynch [1911] V.L.R 230. is an example of the granting of an infunction to stop service ringing in the morning before $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. There are also several American cases.
It may be that in England there is a difference between Church of England churches and others in the matter of ringing bells. The Book of Common Prayer orders the tolling of a belb before divine service, and it may be this gives quasi-statutory protection against actions for nuisance. Whether this rubric covers half-an-hour's ringing on eight bells is another matter, however I can find no authority on this point.
Finally, Mr. Meadows draws no distinction between public and private nuisance. The latter is a criminal offence defined by Lord Justice Denning (as he then was) as follows:

A public nuisance is a nuisance which is so widesoread in its range or so indiscriminate in its effects, that it would not he reasonable to exnect one person to take proceedings on his own responsibility to put a ston to it, but that it should be taken on the responsibility of the community at large.
The offence covers such diversities as brothelkeeping, obstructing the public highway discharging oil into public rivers, etc. While - The Ringing World ' is no place for legal technicalities, it should be mentioned that the C.C. Legal Report bases its comments on public nuisance on a case which is largely discredited on this point. Solton v De Held (2 Sim. N.S. 133) (the reference in the report is wrong). This case is certainly an authority for the proposition that there is no such thing as euuitable nuisance, but on the facts the Vice-Chancellor's argument is kargely in valid. Ringing. he says. must annoy some neople but not everybodv. therefore cannot he a public nuisance. With respect, there :s no requirement that the entire population of an area must be annoyed. The odours emanating from a perfume factory have been held to be a public nuisance, and there is no difference in princiole between this and the noise of church hells. If a public nuisance is found to exist. anyone specially aggrieved has a separate action in tort for damages
Despite the possibilities of legal action which exist. I must agree with the C.C. repor that it is unlikely, so long as ringing is kept to a reasonable level. However. I think it does no harm for ringers to he aware that it lawsuit is by no means impossible, and that they should do everything possible to avoid annoying others.-Yours faithfully

Amersham, Bucks.

A Memory of J. W. Washbrook

Dear Sir,-The account of the double handed lower bell peal of Bob Major at Balcombe on page 615 has revived a happy memory of J. W. Washbrook many years ago.

In 1910 the Great Western Railway advertised an excursion to Ireland leaving Paddington on Friday evening returning on Sunday morning giving 14 hours there and including optional visits of about four hours to Arklow, Wicklow and the Vale of Ovrea.

I saw in this the opportunity to achicv? something I had long wanted to do, viz.. to meet Mr. Washbrook, and went. When I called on him he made me very welcome, and invited me to have a ring, sending the youngest of his three gifted sons to round up two locals.

We met seven at the tower and rang a touch of Grandsire Triples, Mr. Washbrook ringing 3 and 4 after which, at my request, we rang a touch of Bob Major with him ringing 7 and 8 .
was amazed at the accuracy of his striking but I was more amazed when I realised he had been turning the 22 cwt . tenor in with his left hand, which in most people is the weaker. In these days of dear railway fares it is interesting to recal how much my trip costit was $17 / 6$ return from London!-Yours sincerely.

OUTING

WOOTTON WAWEN

There were more than the usual number of misfortunes when Wootton Wawen. Worcs, and their friends had their outing into Gloucestershire and Wiltshire on August 22nd. At the first tower. Avening. Glos, a rope broke when the bells were caught in Queen's at the end, there was trouble with springy ropes at Chipping Sodbury and after lunch on the ground Hoor ring at Hilmarton the fourth rope parted as we were ringing-up. During the rope splicing, handbells were borrowed and the Grandsire Triples sounded very nice.

Many of our ringers were not used to the slower pace of the heavy ring at Purton. where the Vicar is a ringer. Finally at Clanfield, Oxon. we were really pas! the effort of eight bell ringing. The best ringing of the day was at Wickwar in the morning. A duck supper was organised by Miss H. Arrowsmith at Chipping Norton. Those thanked included Tom, the driver. Mr. D. Baker, the organiser, and all who helped to make the day a success.

MR. JACK C. M. PAICE

It was with deep regret that I heard of the recent death of my friend Jack Paice, at the age of 67. Although he did learn to handle a rope when he was young, he was not a ringer, yet his whole life was devoted to bells.

Mr. Paice gained great distinction by being one of the very few Englishmen to obtain a diploma in carillon playing. After studying on the Continent under Meester Jef. Denyn, he was awarded the Diploma of Carillon, Playing of the Belgian National Carillon School at Mabines in 1933. He was employed for a number of years by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. When the Croydon foundry closed he went to work for Messrs. Mears and Stainhe we

During his time at Croydon Mr. Paice gave the trial recital on most of the new cariblons destined to be sent overseas, and spent many holidays in Holland and Belgium playing the great Continental carillons. I remember ore memorable evening some years ago when both he and Mr. Clifford Ba!l, the Bournville carillonneur, played the new Aberdeen carillon which had been erected in the Croydon foundry.

Jack Paice always regretted the fact that there was not a large caribion in the London area. However, he managed to keep in practice and gave recitals on the Bond Street carillon, playing carols each Christmas, and for several years he gave recitals on the chime at All Hallows', Barking-by-the-Tower. There can be few chimes of bells which Jack Paice had not played at one time or another. He developed an amazing ability to play intricate. close harmonies on a very smat range of bells, which he could make sound like a full carillon. As the compass of each chime often varied considerably, this frequently involved hours of work at his dulcitone arranging the music for each separate recital. One of his most recent public appearances was at the inauguration of the chime of 12 bells at the dedication of the new Holy Trinity Church, Hounslow, last year.

Over the last few years he became increasingly lame, but such was his enthusiasm that this did not deter him: he would often arrive at a tower an hour before he was due to give a recital in order to make the ascent. He possessed several octaves of hells, mounted on a frame, which he played with felt-covered sticks, and he was in great demand each Christmas giving recitals on these for various charities.

A DEVON DAY

Despite a wet morning and holiday traffic at its worst on the homeward journey, the cuting on August 15th arranged by Mr. A. L. Bennett for Devon ringers and a lady visitor from Broadstairs was enjoyed. The area visited was the borders of Devon and Somersel. Towers visited were Kentisbeare Burlescombe, Sampford Arundel, Rockwe!! Green. West Buckland and Wellington (where Mrs. E S. Powell and D. T. North joined in ringing Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major).

Iust a week before his death I was able to send him good wishes from his friends of the Amsterdamse CariHoncommissie, given after a recital at the Westeroren in Amsterdam. He did much to foster greater understanding between the ringing and the playing of bells, and between Britain and the Continent. Nothing was too much trouble to him; he was always ready to instruct the amateur in the art of chiming or to demonstrate and popularise his beloved instrument. His enthusiasm for the carmlon was infectious. For many years we shall her clock chimes and tunes played by automatic machines set by Jack Paice, cariljonneur.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The pleasant little eight at Maulden were perfectby suited to the warm, sunny afternoon of September 12th, when the Biggleswade District met there. Under the direction of Mr. R. J. Sharp. the Ringing Master, the bells were kept going throughout the afternoon to a variety of methods, the best ringing being, a course of the special method. Ealing Surprise Maior.

The business meeting, which followed an enjoyable tea in the Village Hall, was reduced to a minimum as the Vicar of Silsoe was awaiting our arrival there before commencing Evensong. After the short service, at which Mr T. P. Harris, the local tower captain, played the organ, the ringers adjourned to the tower to ring on one of the lightest sixes in the county. Mr. Harris, the Ringing Master for the evening, had a hard job to satisfy the many and varied requests of the fairly large company, the highlight of a good evening's ringing being a touch of Spliced Surprise Minor.

We come now to the construction and calling of simple touches, and the beginner may well start his investigations by considering touches based on a definite observation bell. For convenience it will be well to take the $7(1)$ as an observation bell to begin with. although it will be clear as we go on that any bell may be made to serve in this capacity..
Consider for a start the following callings :

has dodged 4-5 down,
D.- "Before and Wrong.' This is 'Before" followed by another hob.
E.- Before and Home.
F.-.' In and Out.' The 7 th is called into the Hunt for one lead only.
Some points about these callings must be noted and clearly understood. The first thing we see is that the hob 'Before' does not shorten the course, but that all the others give a short course of four leads. The reason is, of course, that the bob ' Before ' does not alter the work of the observation belk, but in all the other callings the observation bell is thrown forward one lead.
The second point to note is that both C and F will produce a course end. . 567 but that one has the front hells 342 and the other 423 .
These six callings are now presented here in the form of a table of course ends, and 23456 B W H he student should have no difficulty in comparing this form of setting out with that labelled A to F. The 7th, being at home at each course end has been omitted.
Each of these callings will of its own accord provide a touch. If the 7th is called Before continuously a touch of five courses. 350 changes, will be produced. It will not be a very interesting touch or a musical one, but it is good practice to write it out. The calling Before and Home gives a course end 53624. and if the calling is repeated the bells come round. giving a touch of 112 changes. Once aguin the music is not particularly impressive. All the others will repeat twice and will each give a touch of 168 .
The student here should note a musical elfect in D (Before and Wrong). The first lead end has the pleasant musical effect, 253746 At the course end 4. 6, and 7 come into their rounds position. It is therefore certaln that the first lead end of the second course will also end in 746, and so will the first lead end of the third course. This feature makes D perhaps the most musical of all the touches that can be got by repeating the callings given above.
By the use of the table of course ends it is possible to construct touches of any length Here is a short specimen made from this table, and the student may like to work out how many changes it contains. It will be seen that the 6 th has been left undisturbed with the 7th, and so there are a great number of leads (and other rows) ending in 67.

We can see, therefore, that the table given will enable us to construct touches, and even quarter peals. But working from this table alone will give us but a limited range of touches, and certainly will not allow us to explore to the full the musical properties of Grandsire Triples. To get the best out of the method we must remember that rows ending in 67,74 , and 46 will give the most satisfactory results, and if we can get these terminations at double dodging the effect will be increased and the music enriched. For variation, the inversions of these, namely, 47, 64, and 76, wili provide a certain satisfaction, although generally speaking their impact on the ear is not so good as 46,74 , and 67. To these musical pro,erties may be added the effect of 5,6 and 7 coursing in different orders, and a great deal may be done in the way of inventing touches by keeping $5,6,7$, logether, but varying their coursing order. This we shall deal with presently.
First let us consider musical touches using rows ending in 74, 46, and 67. The best anproach to this matter will be touches is the secret of mastery and the snurce of much pleasure and profit, and the conductor who can go to the tower with a fresh short touch to try out will give great satis. faction to himself and will at the same time provide welcome variety for the ringing band. Nothing is more dull and destructive of enthusiasm than a monotonous repetition of one or two standard touches, and it is surprising what little variety one finds amone conductors of a method like Grandsire, which is equalled only perbaps by Stedman in the scope it offers for novelty.

Having thus digressed for a few moments bet us return to the touch of 210 and examine the same touch in another lifferent musi changes, but has entirely efrects Theoretically the two touches are identical, but in practice their effects are different.

If the student likes to experiment further with this set of figures let him write out the touch starting with the first single at the third lead, then spacing the succeeding bobs and singles as in the touches given here. If all goes well with his pricking, the plain course will appear (246375) at the second single and rounds wili follow the next lead. But he will find a touch of a vastly different musical quality from those we have demonstrated here, although theoretically the touch is absolutely the same.

Before leaving this interesting touch let us squeeze a little more juice out of it. Here is

234567 \text { mother variation of it, a }

$\begin{array}{ll}234567 & \begin{array}{l}\text { another variation of it, a } \\ \text { much shorter one: } 357246 \\ \text { brought is up in three leads, and }\end{array}\end{array}$ from there a single four leads 253746 from there a single four leads later brings 753246 , from which, as we have already discovered, a single at 1 will put us in the plain course. The student will do well to make a note in his note book of this useful lead 753246 . It is one of the landmarks of the method: not only is it ikely to occur in musical know that we have a ready a bob and nothing more. Let the student start from rounds and call a bob. He will get the lead 752634 . Let him likewise start from rounds and call single, bob, bob, single, and he will still arrive at 752634 , but he will have rung four leads instead of one lead. So, from any row, calling S.B.B.S, will produce the same row as calling bob, but three leads will have been added to the touch.

Now look again at our touch of 210. The second call is a bob and it produces 537246 with double dodging. Instead of this bob let us call S.B.B.S. At the first single we shall now ring 357246 (the Queen's Change), at the second call 623457. at the third call 746523, and at the next call, the second single, we get 537246 . Then on we go. We have now added three leads to the touch and hat duced a splendid fresh lead. 357246 .

It will now be apparent that the same thing can be done at the second bob (375246), and again at the third bob (753246). and on each occasion three leads can he added to the touch and the musical effects considerably increased. So the touch. standing as it does at 210 changes. can be made into a touch of 252 or 294 or 336 , just as the conductor wishes.
Now note another possihility. The last single of the touch brings the bells intn the plain course. By calling a hob immediately after the single the lead 342567 would be pro duced. Then by calling the 7th Home iwice more we could add two courses to our touch. Or, alternatively, if time did not allow for two courses to be added. we can call another single immediately after 267453 and bring up the course end 432567. Calling the 7 th Home with a single will then produce rounds, having added one course to the touch.
We must emphasise again at this noint that any value gained from the reading of these notes will be largely lost unless the student gets busy with pencil and paper. writes out these touches and droves to his own satisfaction that what has been said really happens. Continual experiment in trying to make means of getting into rounds
In the composing of touches in three leads. In the composing of touches exploiting tead his composition 10753246 , and then he is free to get into the plain course if he wishes.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

A rise and fall and 3 fol changes was the test for the District Cup Contest held at Hovlandswaine, near Sheffield on September 12th. Mr. Harold Chant was the judge and Miss Sheila Chennery the marker. Shelley won the cup with a loss of 27 points, the cun being received by Trevor Tarbott. There were ash trays for each member of the team. Wentworth won the rise and fall. Other competitors were Meltham, Cawthorne. Barnsley and Sandal. Three new members were efected. Next meeting: Elland, October 3rd.

THE NOMADS REVISIT TADLEY

The Nomads. mainly recruited from Bristol, Gloucester and South Wales, for the third year in succession based their tour on Tadley where the Rector happens to be a ringer. It was really a long weekend starting on September 4th.
Improvements were noted at Padworth where in 1962 the path of the second rope was obstructed by the organ. The rope-way has now been resited and an amplifier enables the bells to be heard in the ringing room. The thunderous roar of 20 jet aircraft prevented the bells of Theale being heard and there was a retreat to the tranquillity of a Pangbourne tea shop. The ropes in the tower were springy. Afterwards at Mapledurham we joined in the practice and met the Rev. E. B. Wood. who accompanied the tour next day.
After three light rings on Saturday came the much anticipated highlight. All Saints'. Basingstoke (11). With four of our best strikers absent even rounds damped our enthusiasm for these bells. At Odiham (a long-draught six), the third lope broke before we could go into changes. St Michael's Basingstoke, was really enjoyed and the day concluded with a social evening at Tadley.

A celebration of Holy Communion just next door in St. Saviour's Church failed to arouse some of the sleeper. An afternoon service at Dorchester Abbey necessitated a change of plans, but local ringers guided us to Warhorough for a short ring. To our hosts at iadley and at all towers visited we offer a very big thank you.
G. M.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

The Oswy Street Memorial Cup was competed for on August 29th at Laxton. It was won by Derby Cathedral with seven faults and a penalty of 10 faults. Other competitors were Friezland, 25 faults and 20 penalty: Warsop, 44 faults and 10 penalt 9 . The cup was presented by Mr. H. Denman to Mr. G. Halls, of Derby.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

Southern District

Thanks to the visitors from the neighbouring diocese, the meeting at Cefn Coed on September 5th was an excellent social gathering of singers, who indulged in ringlng methods ranging from Plain Bob to London Surprise.

At the service in St. John's Church the Vicar (the Rev. O. Morgan) gave a very warm welcome.

In spite of the weather being unkind, 35 ringers and friends sat down to an exceblent meal provided by the local parishioners. Miss Kath Watkins, the Master, suitably thanked those concerned.

The meeting stood in silence in remembrance of the late Mrs. Stitch, widow of Mr. Ernie Stitch, who died 18 months ago. An experiment of Sunday afternoon ringing at St. Marys, Swansea, is to be introduced from October 4th. The District annual meeting will be held at Sketty on December 5th. The votes of thanks included the Vicar and the organist, Mr. Leslie Evans.

Permission had been previously granted ?o ring at St. David's, Merthyr Tydfil. After fixing a rope to one of the belk they were rung to several methods without the tenor, which was unringable. J. A. H.

AT EXETER CATHEDRAL

A party of North Somerset ringers visited Exeter Cathedral on Saturday, September 5th, and, under the leadership of Mr. H. W. Knight, on the treble, raised the 12 in peal with $\dot{G}$. Prescott 2, C. Bishop 3, H. A. Rice 4, R. Cole 5, W. Rice 6. J. Owen 7. P. Gardiner 8, J. Brain 9, S. Smith and C. York 10. L. Derrick and J. K. Baker 11, W. H. Kingcott, E. Lee and M. Ball tenor.

After touches of Triples, Caters and Cinques the 12 were lowered in peah single-handed

The efforts were very favourably commented upon by local ringers present, who say this is the first time the 12 have jeen pulled up ' in peal."
The afternoon was rounded off by enjoying the 10 at Cullempton to varying methods. B.

CRICKET CHALLENGE ACCEPTED

We in the Western District of the Hertford County Association normally take things pretty steady, but when our neightours in the St. Albans District challenged us to a game of cricket, action was called for. August 29th was the date, a beautiful afternoon, and they must have been confident of beating us, since they had allowed us to find a pitch of our own choice: they also brought along two girbs. who played rather better than some of the men.

St. Albans were put in to bat and were going quite well at 40-1. Steve Darvill went on to make 39, but a collanse followed and they were all out for 80 , mainly due to excellent bowling and fielding by our captain. George Reading

The Western District scored the 81 runs required for the loss of four wickets and went on to make 141 (Keith Shephard 49). M Sherrick, the St. Albans cantain, after a rather comic opening over, took 5 for 36 , but it wás all in vain.
We in the Western District just take these things in our stride

IN RUTLAND AND AROUND

Participating in a five-day tour in and around Rutland, which started on August 15th. were Philip Gay, Roger Gay, Ruth Gay, John Queen, Dave Midgley, Ann Fellows, Andy Jobson and Max Haymann. The tour was cutstanding for its sheer spirit of camaraderie and for the sustained quality of the ringing. They deprecate the phrase 'methods from Grandsire to London were rung' and prefer - a great many Doubles and Minor methods and some Surprise.

A peal in five Minor methods was rung at Exton and a quarter at Loughborough Campanile after being conducted round the foundry and offered for sale a 50 cwt. swinging bell! The practice at Melton Mowbray was enjoyed by the five who attended. Thanks are extended to Philip Gay for a most successfully organised and conducted tour.

The Rev. Arthur Cuman, Rector of Murston, Bapchild, Kent, informs us that the - News of the World ' has presented his church with a ring of five bells. A faculty has been granted for their installation. The parish has also a Big Bells Fund' which has received also

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung at 'Sutton-on-Trent on July 24th has appeared on pages 551 and 603 . Will those who keep records please note.

The first comment of Miss Sue M. Heyworth on ringing her first peal at Brightwell-cum-Sotwell was Look! no blisters!!' In her first quarter she acquired double figures (in blisters) on each hand.

It was in unexpected pleasure for the band who rang at Havant for the birth of a granddaughter to Mr. Morgan Marshall, the ringer of the sixth, to be so hospitably entertained to tea at the successful conclusion of the peal.

Geoffrey K. Dodd, of Woolton Hill, near Newbury, is seeing signs of progress in his area. Four peals have been rung and there were five firsts in the method in a peal of Kent T.B. Major at Aldermaston.

In the peal of Keni Treble Bob Major, at Bridlington recently, the asterisk for the first peal of Kent Major against the name of David S. Johnson should have been placed against Richard D. Gibson.

The bells of Holy Trinity Church, 'Lane End, Bucks, were taken to the Loughborough Bell Foundry in July to be retuned, and are to be rehung complete with new fittings. It is hoped that the bells will be ringing again soon after Christmas.

Who was the lady from Kent who at the meeting of the Furness and Lake District Branch at Ambleside on September 1?th called Stedman? Writes our correspondent, who is a veteran: " I have never come across a lady who could call it like her. I was much impressed by her performance. One of the chaps in the car going home said she had red hair, but I was too absorbed in the way she called the Stedman to notice!'

With the peal at Coalbrookdale on August 28th, Mr. C. W. Woolley becomes GOSSIP only the fourth person to ring 100 peals for the Cambridge University Guild. The others are Messrs. E. M. Atkins, A. H. E. Boughey. and W. H. J. Hooton. This peal was also Miss Susan Jackson's 50th for the Guild.

Mr. Brian Pattison, of Bedford, hopes to be in England shortly.He is with the Cosmic Ray Laboratory at Oorgaum, Mysore State, India.

Eleven year old Ian Bell rang his first peal on the bells of All Saints', Somerby, Leicestershire, on September 12th. He is the youngest ringer in Melton District to ring a peal.
Calling aftention to the duplication of the peal at Chipping Nonton (pages 623 and 603 ). Mr. P. Gerald Mcllhone states that the error was due to a misunderstanding. He apologises for any queries that may have arisen because of the mistake.

Due recognition, we hope. will be given at the annual meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild to Mr. J. Keyte, who has resigned the secretaryship of the Chipping Norton Branch of the Guild after 42 years. His 74 th birthday and long service were honoured by a quarter peal on August 31st, at Chipping Norton.
Mr. George Seth, of Elstow, Beds, who was 76 a few weeks ago, rang in a quanter peal recently to celebrate the event. He is looking forward to his next peal. having rung one this year, and eleven in all, not commencing change-ringing before he was nearly fifty.

The band who rang in the quarter peal at Woolton. Beds, would like to send their best wishes to the Rev, and Mrs. R. E. Thorp and family, who left the parish in July and especially to John Thorp who was mainstay of Woolton ringing. A peal attempt as a farewell was unfortunately last.

Miss J. Armstrong has been asked by Morpeth Borough Council to ring the Curfew Bell at the Watch Tower every night at 8 oclock. She writes: The slight of the Curfew is still going on. the latest being on Thursday, September 10th. I, am waiting for my Ringing World " to read all about it.'

April 1881.-Two new trebles with new fit tings in new cage by Warners

BROMBOROUGH, CHESHIRE
Easter Monday, 1881. - New ring of 8 by Taylors opened. Tenor 24 cwt . in E. 7,000 changes rung during the day.
TESTIMONIAL TO HENRY HUBBARD
Meeting of Yorkshire Association at Bingley 23 rd April, 1881. The urgent necessity of making public recognition of the services of $\mathbf{M r}$. Hubbard to the art and science of bell-ringing, was brought up. He has, for many years, been quite incapacitated from work and is now a confirmed invalid, suffering from asthma and totally dependent on others for support. He is now in his 74th year.' Jasper W. Snowdon undertook to call a meeting of Hubbard's Leeds friends for help. Assistance from anyone was welcomed.
By 24 th April (the next day!) the committee were able to make Mr. Hubbard an dllowance of 5 s . a week-the balance being put in the Post Office Savings Bank. Mr. Troytc gave $£ 5$. However, Hubbard died at Hunslet. Leeds, Sunday, 9th October 1881. He was born in Norwich but had lived in Leeds since 1856. He was buried at Woodhouse Hill Cemetery, Hunslet. 12th October. Grandsire Caters was rung over the grave and there were muffled touches on the bells of St. Mary's Church.
By 29th October, 1881 £21 had been subscribed towards his testimonial. The committee undertook his funeral expenses and it was hoped that enough would still be in hand to erect a plain and simple headstone to his memory. He had agreed to this.

Easter Monday, 1881. - Anniversary of reopening of the bells. 'The bell-warden, Mr. Geo. Rochester, with great liberality entertained the party about 40 , at dinner.

NOTE BY THE EDITOR :-
A vicar asks if he has the right to forbid the use of the bells, to which we reply that a parson cannot legally order bells to be rung on any occasion without the consent of one churchwarden, but he has a veto in every case If, as in his case, the ringers do not attend the services of the church, the more their shame and the more the parson's duty to teach them better. The custody of the key of the tower belongs to him and not the churchwardens. A few years ago a churchwarden in Somerset got himself into woeful trouble by admitting ringers to the belfry without the consent of the parson.

BELL RINGING AS A SPORT  By WILFRID G. WILSON

0N the very day that Mr. Meadows' letter appeared (' R.W.,' Sept. 4th) commenting on Bishop Frodsham's remark that 'bell ringing was a sport,' I had been scanning pages of the 'R.W.' for 1942 and realising once again how interesting those war-time issues were, in spite of the ban, and mainly because of the amazing knowledge, industry and capabilities of the late J. A. Trollope.

By one of those coincidences that seem to happen much more frequently than by coincidence, I had been particularly interested in reading correspondence on this very subject of sport. It started (Sept. 18th, 1942) with a seemingly innocuous little letter from Mr. E. W. Marsh, of Plymouth, who asked 'Does the ringing Exercise look upon their calling as a sport or work for the Church?' This of course gave a perfect lead for our late Edifor. who had to produce a weekly journal with practically no ringing news. His leader on September 25th was based on this question. Mr. Trollope, as many well know, had the habit of making extremely provocative statements (some would call them outrageous, but they were the result of long experience and deep thought) in a way that would make other people think and would inspire them to write letters to the Editor, often disagreeing with him violently. One recalls the statement which was slipped, almost parenthetically, into a front page article early in the war, that 'the tenor was the only bell worth ringing to Stedman.'

Mr. Trollope wrote: ' When we study the history of the art of change ringing there cannot be the slightest doubt that it began as a purely secular sport and remained for centuries as a secular sport. Nor is there any question that it can be, and is, a first class and most fascinating sport . . . . this will hardly be denied by anyone though some may shy at the use of the actual word "sport." When we turn to those men who form the body of the Exercise . . . . we shall find that they look upon change ringing just in the same way that a golfer looks upon golf or a cricketer looks upon cricket . . . A peal rung at Quex Park .... is in no wise different from a peal rung in a parish church, nor is a handbell peal rung in a tavern different in character from a peal rung on bells that have been dedicated to the service of religion. Thus the answer to half of Mr. Marsh's question is that the Exercise does and always has looked on ringing as a sport.

By his use of the word "or" Mr. Marsh seems to suggest that if ringing is a sport it cannot be work for the Church. It must be one or the other . . . . Perhaps we can.... put his question in another way. Which should be the dominating motive in a ringer-love of ringing as a sport, or the desire to serve the Church? Which should come first, sport or Church work?
' When we put the question like this it raises issues which most profoundly affect a man's life and character there are, we feel certain, many ringers who find in the wish to serve the Church a sufficient incentive to practise the art; but of the great majority we say definitely, and with a full sense of responsibility for what we are saying, that it is natural and right that ringing as a sport should come before ringing as Church work.

- This may seem to some a hard saying .... However that which comes first and is most in evidence is not necessarily that which in the long run is the most important. Between change ringing as a sport and change ringing as Church work there is no antagonism and the man who follows it mainly for the sake of the one can quite easily better serve the other.'

As it was meant to do, this leader brought forth mixed opinions from readers and Mr. Trollope returned to the subject in his leader for October 16 th, which I consider is equally well worth quoting at length.

The first great truth is this. The bells in our steeples are there to minister to the glory of God and the service of His Church. No use of them can be justified which does not ultimately serve these ends.

The second great truth is that change ringing is a sport ; a first class and most fascinating sport ..... was invented as a sport, has lived through the centuries as a sport and, except as a sport, has no chance of survival. "ny reader "who prefers it can substitute the word "recreation" . . . . but it is better to use the term which expresses the reality in the directest and starkest manner.

The third truth is that the furtherance of the glory of God and the service of the Church will best be served by ringers continuing to do what as a body they always have done-treating and enjoying change ringing as a sport.

This is not a contradiction, nor a paradox, nor the sacrificing of higher ideals to lower. It is an expression of a profound and important truth. It is one of the conditions under which God gives gifts to men, that the gift must be loved and followed for its own sake, before it can be made worthy to be used in His service The musician . . . . who would add to the beauty of divine worship, must first love music for the sake of the music and enjoy its practice for itself. Nor must he ever lose the love of music for the sake of music. What would a choirmaster think of the man who came to him and said "I have no interest in music as music, but I do wish to serve the Church and am quite willing to come and sing in your choir." Yet this we are told .... is the way the great majority of ringers look on their ringing. We do not believe it. If it ever became the general opinion, the result would be a plentiful supply of prigs and a great dearth of good ringers.

LINCOLN GUILD'S GIFT TO CATHEDRAL APPEAL

THE dinners of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild are quinquennial functions, and the 65th anniversary dinner, held at Moor Lodge Hotel, Branston, on September 19th, was a happy function with the Master, Mr. Jack Bray, adroitly holding the reins. The happy relationship between the Guild and the Diocese was exemplified by the presentation to the Dean (the Rt. Rev. Colin Dunlop), who retires next November after 17 years in office and is president of the Guild, with a cheque for $£ 100$ from the ringers of the Diocese to the Lincoln Cathedral Appeal

Making the presentation, the Master said they wanted to thank the Dean for all he had done for the Guild. In reply, the Dean said the gift came to him as a great surprise. The fund for the Cathedral now stood at over $£ 216,000$. Thanking the ringers, the Dean said: 'Since I have been in contact with the Cathedral bellringers there has never been anything remotely resembling a difficulty; ald that has been done has been done in mutual respect and love.'
After the loyal toast, Mr. E. T. Chapman, of Spalding pronosed 'The Diocese of Lincoln.' A Suffolk man. Mr. Chapman, with only five years' residence in Lincomshire, submitted that he was not qualified to propose the toast. What impressed him was the loyalty to the Diocese and how in South Lincolnshire little country churches were raising magnificent sums towards the Cathedral raising magnificent sums towards the Cathedral Appeal.

The Bishop of Lincoln (the Rt. Rev. Kenneth Riches) in his reply spoke of the ancient custom of the ringers greeting the Bishop when he came home from afar by ringing the bells of the Minster. One could not fail to feej humiliated when they rang out their welcome: but he felt deeply grateful to the ringers.
Dr. Riches came to Lincoln from Suffolk and he maintained, with the country in danger of becoming overcrowded, that these twn counties were the last two where men could live in freedom. The beauty of the countryside of Lincolnshire was the beauty of a good economy. There was a beauty of its own as they drove over the Wolds; he also loved the beauty of the Fens, where man had worked with nature to level out its resources.

EIECTRONICS

The Rishop implored the comnany never to have anv part in that thing called broadcast bells. He went to a church in Oxford 10 preach and when he arrived the bells beating down made a ghastly noise. He was met by two churchwardens who told him that they had just introduced electronic bells. 'Wil! none of you ever give a penny for electronic bells,' he said. 'I would rather hear a church with one bell than this hated noise.'
Speaking of the Cathedral Appeal, Dr. Riches said in the first year of the appeal ending on May 7th they had raised $£ 200,000$. It was a tremendous testimony to the affection with which Lincoln Cathedral was held. On one occasion he went to a little pub in the Wolds because they wanted him to receive personally $£ 20$ for the appeal. There was a confidence throughout the diocese and the county that this greatest monument of Gothic architecture in Europe should remain.
It was important for the soul of the country that the bells should ring out. Sometimes people might not hear them but nevertheless they were there. There were times in human life when the ringing of a bell was the olle thing that reminded them that life had not ended but was only just beginning.

The Master said they had only one suriving member of the foundation year, Mr J. B Hallifax. of Fleet. near Spalding. who was 90 . At the last Guild dinner there were two members present who joined in the foundation year. Mr. Hallifat then said that that would be his last dinner. They were delighted to have him with them and they hoped to see him in five years' time if they were spared. (Appkuse.)
Canon Gilbert Thurlow, president of the Central Council, pronosed the toast of 'The Lincoln Diocesan Guild of Church Bell former Secretary of the Guild, who succeeded the late Mr. J. A. Freeman as Master.

Ringers.' He recalled that his first ringing week was spent at Surfleet with Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson, and what an enthusiast the Rev. Law James was. As a fledgling he was instructed to keep people out while the peal progressed and along came two charming genIlemen whom he kept out who happened to be churchwardens
From their last annual report he learned that of 180 rings of bells in Lincolnshire only 13 were unringable. It would be most wonderful if the 13 silent parishes managed to desilence their bells. He congratulated Jack Millhouse on ringing 1,000 peals, also Messrs. Scott and Budd on ringing their first peal at 85 and Mr. Hallifax on still ringing.
As with the Christian Church so with ringing -one of the most important things was growth. and how delightful it wis to read of the Rev P. M. Freeman's work at the Bishop's hostel in interesting ordinands in the Exercise. They would not have the fate of the Vicas of Fitzpaine, who was cut in two, or repeat what a Vicar did on going into the belfry after a peal attempt had gone on three hours and five mhinutes to congratulate the band on the standard of ringing and make them lose the peal.

GLAMOUR

They were living in an age of statistics, and he did not see anything in their report about young ringers and the number of new members. It might be a good thing in the annual report to welcome new members. He preached recently at Se . Mary's. Southampton, and it was heartening to see the number of glamorous teenagers who had taken up ringing and getting on splendidly. It was a thrilh to find out how much young life there was in ringing. They heard so much on television ahout theological professors trying to make out that Christianity was dead: the thing lost sight of was what the Church was doing-it was terrific.
There was a terrific spirit of unity at the conference at Nottingham and on the Vatican Council and many things of a like nature in the local situation for which they should thank God.

In their worship they had got away from the idea that the congregation was an audience: they had now the idea that the congregation was a family united in service. and that was precisely what a Diocesan Ringing Guild should be.
God bless the Exercise. God bless this splendid Guild with its splendid centre ; God bless these people living here and inspire them,' he concluded.
The hon. secretary of the Guild. Mr. John Freeman, who is vice-president of the Central Council, responded. He said this was onky the third occasion the Guild had held a dinne? and on each occasion it had been graied by the president of the Central Council. The first was Mr. E. H. Lewis, with his knowledge of towers and hell restoration, coupled with a quiet ability to control meetings; secondly Mr. Frederick Sharpe, with his sense of dignity and profound knowhedge of bells and bell ringing: and now a worthy successor in Canon Gilbert Thurlow. with a sense of humour that would prevent them from taking themselves too seriously.
In reply to Canor Thurlow's observations about youth, Mr. Freeman said they were fuliy aware of the value of youth to the diocese They in the diocese owed a debt to youth and, generally speaking, the standard had been raised, whereas in the past it was concentrated in various centres.

Mr. J. L. Millhouse, in proposing The Visitors,' said they were proud to have with them the president of the Central Council, Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, Frank and Gwen Bloomfield, Miss Lemare (who travelled 70 or 80 miles for an evening practice), their friends from the Southwell Guild and ringing's best ambassadors-Mr. and Mrs. George Pipe.
Replying. Mr. Pipe said he had the great privilege of taking part in a neal of Stedman Cinques on the beautiful bells at the Cathe dral. He was in Australia for seven years representing his firm. Ransomes. While there he was approached by the representative of Ruston and Hornshy to see if they could do something together for Lincoln Cathedral Appeal. Together they raised $£ 150$. Of the Washington trip. he said they sent there the best they could: they were all first-class.
During an interval a recording of Washington Cathedral bells was played, and after the speeches coloured slides of the Washington trip were shown by Mr. John Freeman, who was one of the visitors.

16 PEALS RUNG DURING TOM LOCK'S TOUR IN SOUTH-WEST

TOM LOCK'S peal tour, the 14 th, returned South this year and commenced on August 29th. Somerset and Dorset being the counties chosen. Two peals were rung in the afternoon: Cambridge Major at Wincanton and Yorkshire Major at St. James', Taunton, where John Hunt registered his 300th. At the former, newcomer Margaret Bould, from Tavistock, rang her first peal of Surprise. At the latter, heavy traffic between Bristol and Taunton delayed Arthur Pearson, who arrived ten minutes after the start (Arthur H. Reed having stood in) and had to be content with kistening to the peal from his car. Unfortunately, he had to return home immediately as he was off to Czechoslovakia on business three days later. The headquarters were at the George Ho:el.

Sunday morning ringing took place at Stapisgrove (a very pleasant six), on the outskirts of Taunton, and at St. James' and St.
George's. A handbell neal of Plain Bob Maior was rung in the belfry of St. James' in the afternoon. The rest enjoyed the sun in the delightful Vivary Pirk close to the hotel, where four, representing North and South, had a round of putting, the latter, takes the 'ashes.' St. Mary's for Evensong.

For the next five days we had a coach at our disposal with a different driver and vehicle on all but one day. Monday dawned another beautiful sunny day and everyone seemed raring to go. Two cars were pressed into additional service and conveyed a band to Mark, where a good peal of Yorkshire Major was rung. The coach called first at Milverton for an hour's ringing and then on to Wellington, where a band was left to ring Kent Major. Brian Bladon motored down from Swindon ( 90 -odd miles) for this peal and returned home immediately after lunch. The rest then went on to Minehead. Eventually everyone irrived in Minehead and several sampled the
peal of Cambridge Royal (the only ten-bel! attempt of the week) was rung here in the afternoon and the rest of the party went on for an evening ring at the lovely picture posicard village of Dunster.
Tuesday began another good day for weather. A hand. which included Norman Mallett (Heavitree), was left at Therncomte to ring London Major. It was the first peal of Surprise on the hells and also the first in the method as conductor for lan Holland. another newcomer to this tous. The rest of the party then rang at Axminster. The ringing was enjoyed on these good bells but here we suffered our only casualty of the week. At suffered our only casualty of the week. At the final chime of the run down there was an almighty crash. That stalwart. Bill Rogers. from Hildenborough, was assisted, dazed and grazed, from a heap on the iloor. The rope had jibbed at his weight! Some say this was justice for his remarks about a certain tenor justice for his remarks about a certain tenor on last year's tour! Possibly the jungle telegraph had been at work? Fortunately he suffered no serious damage. After lunch in Lyme Regis. a peal of London was rung on the musical eight. An attempt for a peal in seven Minor methods at Uplyme came to grief after an hour's good ringing. Possibly the two-mile uphill climb in the heat for four of the ringers had something to do with this. It was the first loss of the week. Brian Bladon joincd us again for this attempt and stayed for the rest of the week. A third peal attempt this afternoon. at Whitchurch Canonicorum, was successful. It was Superlative Major, being the successful. It was Superlative Major, being the first in the method for two of the ladies, Ruth Foreman and Margaret Bould.
Wednesday saw the lirst clouds in the sky but they were few and far between and the temperature if anything was getting hotter. At Curry Rivel, Rutland Major was lost after about two hours with a missed bob, but Pudsey Major at Drayton was successful, this being Martin Lock's first in the method. The depleted ranks then went on to Barrington for a ring on the good but rather loud six and were met by the Rev. Chris Marshall, from Long Sutton. After lunch in Langport, a band was deposited at Huish Episcopi-where do these names come from?- and successfully rang Lincolnshire Major. This was another first in the method for Margaret. The rest of the party then rang at Langport and joincd the Rev. Marshall at his own church. Long Sutton, for a ring with him on his lovely six. in what could be described as a miniature cathedral. After tea in Somerton, we rang on the heavy but melodious six. On the trip back to headquarters, the driver stopped for a couple of bottles of the local brew, to keep Huish band was then picked up for the return to H.Q. A handbeh peal of Kent Major at the home of Mr. R. Bealc. the St. James; captain, was lost in the evening after two hours' ringing.

SCRAPPED

Before setting out on Thursday morning we said goodbye to George and Doris Fearn, who were returning to the Midlands. We soon ran into a shower of thundery rain. This was the only rain of the tour and lasted less than an hour before the return to the usual azure blue skies. A band was left at Shepton Beauchamp (apparently pronounced 'Beecham') to ring London Major. Unfortunately, this was lost through a miscabl after an hour and ten minutes. If successful, it would have been the first peal of Surprise on the bells.
In the meantime, the rest of the party rang on the recently installed ring of six at Ilton. Here we were welcomed by the Vicar and some of his new band of struggling learners, who were as pleased to meet us as we were them. When the Vicar arrived at this parish, he found the old ring of four lying in the churchyard and was told they were about to be sold. He suggested to the Church Council that they should be rehung and this was evenlually carried out. Ile was then instrumental in getting two trebles added, hut the cost was £ 150 more than if the ring had been originally augmented. These bells are well worth id visit but about $£ 450$ is still needed to defray the cost.
After lunch at Ilminster, we were joined by Frank Price, who conducted London Major in three and a half hours. This was Fred 'Lofty ' Ross' 200th peal. In the meantime an attempt for Bristol Maior was made at Crewkerne and the remainder enjoyed a ring on another excelkent light six at Merriott, where the ringing chamber is most beautifully kept. On returning to Crewkerne for fea there was silence and we learned that the peal was lost after only three-quarters of an hour. Holy Trinity, Taunton, was visited in the evening and this was the second "non-Dove ' tower of the day. Here there is a six with a tenor of 44 cwt . in E flat. Apparently the fittings were made and the bellhanging done by the poal Boy Scouts. The writer arrived as the bells were being run down but was told that they are rather difficult to handle. Ron Bullen was the first person to turn the tenor in here and there has been only one $p$ " us visiting band. local restaurant during the evening when they had the unexpected pleasure of being invited to join the manageress for speciality coffee in a private room, as the result of Philio Mehew finding a fried filter tip in his meal! How long has he been working for the Ministry of Food?

Friday, the last full day of the tour, started with a peal of Lincolnshire on the Jight eight in the lovely quiet village of East Coker. The rest of the party went on to Beaminster, where a peal of Yorkshire Major was rung, being Ron Sharpe's 500th. After picking up the East Coker contingent-who were lying in the sun after a lunch of French bread, Cheddar cheese and nickled onions suitably washed down and with a game of darts thrown in (the only customers in the inn)-afternoon bands were deposited at West Coker, where Cambridge Major was successful, and Martock, where Seven Spliced Major was also successful. We agree with the Roving Ringers, that the arrangement of ropes of the chiming apparatus is a spider's masterpiece at the latter. At the former, that grand old gentleman, Len Stilwell. from Worthing, was pressed into service for his second peal of the day. Was he practising for Australia ? The remainder had to be content with a pienic tea-very good, mind you, and excellent value at 3 s . a head-in the coach, through no cafe being available in Martock. The West Coker contingent was then collected and a call made at Yeovil. We did not really do justice 10 this fine ten but with the hectic week behind us and several of the heavy men stil! at Martock, it was not realby surprising. However, it was nice to enjoy a short ring here. After picking up the Martack contingent we finally arrived at H.Q. about 9.30 p.m.

MARG'S SPECIAL

The meeting was held in the residents' lounge of the hotel. Other residents, if there were any, had left it completely empty. Alick Cutler thanked Tom for once again organising a wonderful tour and presented him with a travelling bag with everyone's thanks. Tom thanked all for their support and was glad to have some new faces on tour and hoped they would be with us again. 'Marg's' usual doem caused many a good laugh and Dennis Knox read the part she had 'lost.' Tom thanked Arthur Reed for his very great help locally and also for the help of John Hunt, a fellow tourist just off home territory. Next year's tour was suggested as Norfolk and South Lincolnshire, to start on the usual date despite the later August Bank Hołiday. As Tom would be very busy with the Austrat an enterprise, his family would do the organising for him.

Of the 20 tower- and two handbell attempts, one hand- and five tower bell peals were lost. This was a much better record than last year. Grateful thanks are accorded to all incumbents for permission to ring and also to alts ringers who met us. We certainly had a most enjoyable tour, and no wonder when we had the pleasure of meeting such stalwarts as George Coles, George and Marjorie Cross, George Gaylard, William A. J. Knight and Herbert Young. One person it was nice to have with us for the second year was young Michael Maughan, from Newcastle. My! how he's grown from last year and his rinein. ability has certainly grown with him. In quietness he makes up for his neighbour, who will now have to watch his p's and a's, as there isn't much to choose in size.

On Saturday morning, all had departed by 9.30. Some went to St. Stephen's, Bristol, for a final peal of Stedman Caters, which unfortunately came to grief. Apparently Bils Rogers hadn't had enougly ringing, as he stayed on in Bristol for another week and rang in a different tower each day. The writer spent the week-end in Yeovil and grabbed Preston Plucknett for Matins on Sunday.

A Challenge

Dear Sir,-With reference to the report on page 614 (R.W. 11.9.64) of Mr. A. P. Cannon having rung his 1,000 th peal, I cannot allow the claim to go unchallenged and to pass without some comment.
Quite frankly, Mr. Cannon's effrontery in claiming this milestone amazes me. If Mr . Cannon examines his conscience and is honest with himself, he must admit that many of his so called peals will not bear much investigation. Doubtless many other ringers will have similar thoughts, on reading the report.
The occasions on which peals conducted by Mr. Cannon have been rigged, or allowed to continue to their conclusion, instead of being stopped, and of which the writer has personal knowledge, are too numerous to mention here. The following incidents will however be remembered by those who took part. On a tour of Shropshire in 1954, D.N.C.B. was attempted at Church Stretton. At about half-way the ringer of the treble appeared lost. 'Come along Fred.' said Cannon, 'the treble does not dodge in Do jble Norwich.' This 'was the signal for the beils to 'fire,' which they did for seyeral courses. Several of the band called uppn Mr. Cannon to call ' Stand,' but his voice was heard to shout above the confusion, 'Keep goingI'm not slogging my guts out here for nothing.' Subsequently, rounds came up at handstroke, and the ringing continued. This so called peal was published in R.W.

There was also the well known occasion when attempting Bob Major in Wales, with the late Mr. Clement Glenn in the band, and a learner on the treble, whose hell was bobbing up and down throughout, like a yoyo, When the bells eventually came into rounds and 'Stand ' was called, Mr. Glenn said, 'You don't call that a peal. do you. how many blows did the treble strike?' Quick as a flash Mr. Cannon replied. ' 5.040 as far as I am concerned. Mr. Glenn. Needless to say, the peal was recorded and published.
Many other instances could be quoled, hut suffice to say, Mr. Editor, that I call upon Mr. Cannon to expunge all doubtful peals from his records, amend his standards, and start again. After all, industry and mere numbers never had much in common, certainly not as far as the writer is concerned anyway. -Yours faithfully,
K. R. HOLTOM.

Westhorpe, Byfield, Northants.

Note.-The correct procedure is for a challenge immediately on publication. Then it can properly be dealt with by the Peal Analysis Committee. Unless the composition is false if the report is accepted by the Council the peal in question stands. Whatever a personal opinion may be, a complaint 10 years after is too late for an inquest.-Ed.

Chartham

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Frank C. W Knight and Mr. W. Ring, I apologise for stating that the recent quarter peal at Chart ham was the first for 16 years. I was, I thought, reliably informed by the secretary of the ringers that this was so.
Mr. Knight's 1,800 Minor in 1963 was in fact a peal attempt called round and was not of normal QP length. Of Mr. Rings QP I can find no mention in past issues of 'The Ringing World.'
Mr. Knight's hand consisted of one local inger who regularly rings peals with him The five boys who came from the :urrounding area were ringing either their first or second quarter peals.--Yours sincerely,

COLIN H. COOK.

'Bellringing in Schools To-day'

Mr. Michael King, of Wentworth, York shire, is kindly presenting (through the Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee) the original copy of his study under the above title, to the Central Councis Library. He wrote this whilst a student at St. John's College, York, and deserves to be congraulated on a first-class and informative piece of work which is beautifully arranged and illustrated and will be of great interest to anyone associated. with bellringing or handbell ringing in schools.
This study has called for much researcr correspondence and many gersonal visits, and those who know Mr. King are aware that he Is welb qualified to make such a study, being himself well experienced in the activities of school and college ringing societies. Moreover. he himself is a keen and capable changeringer and tune ringer.
The 15,000 word study is well illustrated by diagrams and photographs of handbells, church bells, ringers and towers, and it contains information about ringing in various primary, secondary and puhlic schools, including change ringing on tower bells and change-ringing and tune-ringing on handbells.
For the benefit of the non-ringing college authorities, a glossary of terms is included, also a short history of bells, handbells and ringer.
As far as possible detuils of abl British school ringing societies, their personalities, activities and methods have been included. though further information continues to arrive.
In his conclusion Mr. King estimates that, although the number of school ringing societies is not high (around 50 ), 1,000 towers would fall sikent to-morrow if all ringers still at school or who have left school within the last two years were to cease to ring. In addition some 50 per cent. of the remaining towers at present fully manned would be in difficulties.
Mr. King intends to circulate his orignal study to the correspondents who. in giving lum much valuable information. also requested to read his study. After circulation it will the presented to the Central Council library later this year.
Further information can be obtained trom Mr. King at Wentworth Rectory, near Rotherham, Yorks.

Christ Church, Epsom

Dear Sir,-Owing to pressure of work and other commitments: Mr. W. Parrott has had to resign as captain of the tower at Epsom Common, Surrey. This has come as a great shock. as Mr. Parrott has done so much for the ringing at this tower, but we are pleased to say that he has not left us altogether. At a meeting of the Guild the ringers elected Mr. Richard Fentiman to take his place as captain. Will visitors note that ringing times have been altered. Practices on Wednesdays will now be from 7.45 to $9.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and Sunday service ringing $8.50-9.25 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and $5.50-6.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. -Yours sincerely,

Worcester Cathedral Bells

Dear Sir, - Clocks Watches and Beils' by Sir Edmund Beckett, Bart. (Sixth Edition, 1874), gives the date 1869 for the Worcester bells.

Lord Grimthorpe was formerly Edmund Beckett Denison and became Sir Edmund Beckett when he succeeded his father as the fifth baronet in 1874. He was raised to the peerage in 1886
Your readers will find 'Lord Grimthorpe, 1816-1905' by Peter Ferriday, very interesting -Yours faithfully,

Tower Captain's Criticism

Dear Sir,-I wonder how many ordinary service ringers read Mr. W. G. Wilson's leading article with as much astonishment as I did.
There is indeed a secular side to the Exercise, and it is nowhere more apparent than in the pages of "The Ringing World.' In this tarified atmosphere one cannot avoid the impression that the Church is an excuse for bellringing. The immense amount of space it devotes to pseudo-scientific trivia, to the lives and careers of thousand-pealers and towergrabbers is intensely boring to the vast majority of service ringers whose main concern is to sec that the bells of their parish churches sing tunefully and regularly to the glory of God and to summon their congregations to worship

Oif far greater interest to us than Mr. A. P. Cannon's thousandth peal (presumably he rings for seivice somewhere, though there is no indication of it) are the tucked-away stories of great old ringers who have served their churches through their lifetimes in many parts. the peals and quarter peals in relatively simple methods by service bands to celehrate great ozcasions. in their parish life and the historical features which show how over the centurie been an integral part of the life of the Church the arts of bellringing and bellfounding have from wrich they spring

To the vast majority of ordinary service ring-ers-busy people old and young who can jusi about spare enough time for their weekly practice in addition to ringing on Sunday-there is no problem of integration. The Church is part of their lives and their bells are part of their Church. In my own parish of Stoke D'Abernon two of the band are parochial church councillors, two are sidesmen, three are Sunday school teachers and nearly all are linked to the Church in some other service than that of the tower. Ringers do not attend every service for which they ring and there are from time to time those among the younger ringers who, passing through the days of adolescent confusion which affect us all, do not attend service for long periods: of these a reasonably enlightened Rector considers that their service to the tower preserves with them some connection with the Church at a difficult and questing time. The activities of the hellringers are integrated with the needs of the Church in the same way as the activities of the choir. the servers, the Sunday school, the Guild and the other bodies which function around and serve the wider purposes of the Church.

In my experience we are typical of the great body of ordinary ringers, who enjoy the service they have been called upon to perform, seek to increase their skill at it as far as time and opportunity permit but could not possibly regard ringing as an end in itself.
My advice to Mr. Wilson and other eminent ringers like him is to come out of their ivory towers and get a little closer to their parish lives and the lives of run-of-the-mill ringers. They will find that most of their problems in church relationships are either imaginarv or created by their own peculiar view of the Exercise
And for heaven's sake, let us have a little less space devoted to Mr. A. Pat Cannon and people like him and more to news and features really interesting to ringers.- Yours sincerely,

BERNARD ASH,
Tower Captain.
St. Mary"s, Stoke D'Abernon.

MR. WILSON REPLIES

I am not sure why Mr. Ash read my article with astonishment. The fact that everything in the Stoke D'Abernon garden is lovely is a matter for congratulation, but it does not follow that there are no neglected gardens. He should share my experiences of London towers and ringers some time. He would soon find that they were not "Pvory towers," either.
Of course there is a secular side to ringing and of course 'The Ringing World' reflects this. It is a secular paper-the official iournal of the Central Council of Church Bel? Ringers. which is a secular body. But that is not to say that both 'The Ringing World' and the Central Council should not be very closely associated with the Church and its work.
Perhaps people who live and work and play in small towns and villages are to be envied. but the other places still exist.

WORCESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS

Dear Sir.-In view of the number of inaccuracies that have occurred in recent tetters upen the above subject I hope that the following may help to clear up some of the confusion and be of interest.

Originally the Cathedral tower contained a ring oi eight by a variety of founders, the tenor being about 21 cwt . During the restoration of the building it was discovered (on May 24th, 1863) that the second had been stolen-it was never recovered. The Minor Canon, the Rev. R. Cattley, who took a great interest in clocks and bells, wrote to the local newspapers in August that year proposing that a ring of ten bells (tenor 36 cwt . in D), a clock bell of four tons in A and a large and powerful clock be provided to replace the original eight. He had contacted several influential people to form a provisional committee and he estimated the cost of the whole job at $£ 2,000$.

In October, Cattley announced that he had been in contact with the Astronomer Royal - and Mr. E. B. Denison, Q.C., who is one of the greatest authorities in these matters and he will afford us every help.' Cattley launched his appeal for subscriptions on March 5th, 1864, and Denison came to Worcester on March 26th and gave a lecture 'On Clocks and Bells' to a capacity audience at the Guildhall. It would appear that Dennison was not only responsible for the design of the bells and clock but the frame as well.
The remaining seven bells of the old eight were removed from the tower and sold to anyone interested-four of them went to Didlington, Norfolk. Nothing else of any interest occurred between this time and 1868 except that it was decided that the bells should be a ring of twelve (tenor 50 cwt . in D flat) with a flat 4th for the top note of the Westminster quarters. The Bourdon bell was to be $4 \frac{1}{2}$ tons in $B$ flat.

The Bourdon bell was cast on August 28th, 1868 (it was 6 ft . 41 in . in diameter, 6 in . thick at soundbow), and on Christmas Eve it arrived in Worcester and was later hung in a frame in the North Transept of the Cathedral where it was tolled for service for the first time by Denison on January 17th. 1869. The tenor was cast in May, 1869, and the 13 bells were sent to Worcesier on December 13 th and 14 th, 1869; they were taken into the tower in the first week of January, 1870, and the Bourdon followed them in February. The bells were first rung on May 25th, 1870, to test the sound insulation of the floors. The ringing chamber was still full of scaffolding which made ringing very difficult but the neighbourhood was crowded with people anxious to hear the peals.' The official opining took place on December 13ıh, 1870.
The clock, however, was not started until late 1871 and in December, 1872. a carillon machine, the gift of a local industrialist, J. W. Lea, was started. Two more bells, flat 6ith and flat 8 lh , were added in 1875 by his son. C. W. Lea.

The cost of the bells alone was $£ 3,041 \quad 18 \mathrm{~s}$. $5 \mathrm{~d} .$, and the whole work cost nearly $£ 6,000$.

Whether Denison became a friend of Cattley before or through the Worcester clock and bells project. I do not know, but they certainly got on very well together Denison was born on May 12th. 1816, at Newark, and was educated at Eton and Trinity College, Cambridge. He was made Q.C. in 1854, succeeded his father as 5th baronet on May 24th, 1874, and was created Baron Grimthorpe February 17th, 1886. His legal career occupied him for only about 5 months a year, which allowed him to pursue a variety of sub-jects-clocks, beils, locks, watches, architecture, medicine, theology and church restoration, to mention only a few. His specialised knowledge in the law relating to civil engineering projects, i.e. railways, roads, waterworks etc., earned him a great fortune. His will was proved in 1907 , at $£ 2,111,715$ gross; $£ 2,076,567$ net. His advice in connection with his hobbies was always given free and he refused to patent any of his inventions. For details of his autocratic nature see Lord Grimthorpe-18161905, by Peter Ferriday (publishied by John Murray).

Unfortunately, I have very little information on Rev. Catlley except that he was born on February 3rd, 1820 , of a Yorkshire family. He entered Worcester College, Oxford, where he obtained his B.A. in 1848 and was ordained in 1849. He held curacies in the Diocese of York and at King's Lynn, he was made Minor Canon of Worcester in 1855, Honorary Canon in 1880. He was frequently consulted in connection with clocks and bells and also took a great interest in charitable and philanthropic works. He died at $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on Thursday May 4th, 1903, at his home in Worcester.
I would be very much obliged if anyone who can enlarge on any of the above, or who has any recollections of ringing on the bells before being recast in 1928, would communicate with me privately.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN C. SI.ATER

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The attendance was a record with visitors coming from all parts of Devon as well as Cornwalb and Somerset when the Mid-Devon branch held its quarterly meeting at Buckfast Abbey. The bells were kept going with standard methods throughout the afternoon.
All the seating accommodation was occupied for the service conducted by the Rev. Father Paulinus Angold, captain of the Abbey ringers, with Father Gregory Burke as or ganist. An inspiring address was given by the Lord Abbot (Dom Placid Hooper).
After tea in the car park cafe, the usual business meeting followed in the Parish Hall, with Mrs. D E. Hood in the chair. The meeting stood in silence as a token of respect to the late Mr. E. Maurice Atkins, of Teignmouth. a former general secretary, whose funeral had taken place that morning.

A welcome was extended to Mr. B. Shingler, the new Branch secretary, and to Mr. T. G. Myers, of Plymouth, who had recovered from a long illness, whilst hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Lord Abbot of Buckfast and the Abbey ringers for all their efforts towards the meeting.

A certificate was presented to Mr. A. T Caffey, of Babbacombe, and one new member, Mr. D. G. Redwood, of Paignton, was elected.
The Branch annual meeting will be held at Totnes with Dartington on January 9th, and a joint meeting with the South Devon Association at Babbacombe on October 17th Ringing took place at Buckfastleigh and Dean Prior Parish Churches in the evening.

OUTING

KIRKBY-IN-ASHFIELD, NOTTS
On September 12th a band of 12 Kirkby ringers set off early to begin their annual tour. We first headed towards Golden Valley in Derbyshire, where, despite the navigational errors experienced by one of our parties, we kept to a tight schedule, as we did throughout the day.
After a ring on the light bells at Denby we suw the Vicar at Horsley during a long varied ring. At Breadsall we were met ty one of the ringers, who joined in with us, and we also found some excellent handbells, some of which were used for a quick course of Plain Bob. A wedding had just finished whelt we arrived at Ockbrook, but the only hitch was to start ringing, thinking the tenor was the treble. After having a pienic lunch by the road we had the best ring of the day at Sandiacre, followed by a ring at Stanton-byDale.

We then returned to Kirkby to ring for a wedding and set off immediately afterwards towards Leicestershire, ringing first at Woodborough, East Bridgford and, after a picnic tea, at Cropwell Bishop. Langar followed where the very long draught produced bad striking. We had a good ring at Orston and went on to a heavy four-bell ring at Barkeston where we were met once again by a local ringer.
The tour finished with a very short ring at Granby after an enjoyable day which had included rings of Little Bob, Kent. Spliced Doubles and Spliced Minimus methods.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES: THE MAKING OF TOUCHES

We must now look at what can be done by varying the coursing order of 567 , keeping these bells well together so that we have a ready means of returning to rounds. The plain course coursing order is $6-7-5$, and the natural course end is 567 , and it is fairly easy to vary this coursing order (and the course end) and to return to it when we want. I.et us examine some specimen plans.

An examination of $G$ and $J$ will show that the calling has merely turned over two of the three back bells, so that in one case

765 , and in the other case 567 has become . 576 . It should be clear, therefore, that if these callings are repeated we shall return to a course end
567. To repeat $J$ would result in in immediate return to rounds. To repeat $G$ would lead to something more extensive, for we should have a touch of six courses with the following course ends: 423765,342567, $234765,423567,342765,234567$, and this makes quite a respectable touch of 336 changes. But mark this. If in the third course we called a bob instead of the single at 1 , we should change back 5 and 7, and instead of 234765 we should get 234567 .

An example of the extended use of $J$ is shown here, only one, of course, of the many possibilities. By simple means we have moved from 324576 cabiing $J$ once again we have reversed 5 and 7 and produced a course end with the back bells in the order 567 At this point we have printed 'etc.,' for the student should now be able to produce rounds in one course or in two courses just as he pleases by means we have indicated earlier in this essay.

To look a little closer, et us observe that in this touch 65 are on the front at the first bob in each course (after the first). Suppose we decided to call a single instead of a bob at this point. Immediately we should produce make our touch run in this form for a while if we wished. At any time we desired we could turn . 675 back to we desired we could turn front together, and from . . 576 we know how to get . . . 567 without any difficulty.

To digress again for a moment. This manipulation of 567 and the turning of it into various forms is a much used device for the construction of touches, not only on paper, but extemporarily in the tower. The experienced cabler of Grandsire Triples often uses the turning courses given above, and other devices for altering the coursing order of 567 , sometimes composing the touch as he goes along. sometimes varying a standard touch by the introduction of a single to change over two bells, knowing quite weil how to get back to . . 567 when he wishes. Only long experience can bring facility in this ant, and the only sound approach to the matter is continued experiment in making touches on paper and trying to call them in the tower.
Now that of calling H. It is a very interesting and useful one, for not only does, it give the pleasant tittum position with the belk coursing in the order 5-6-7. but it we shall get a course end 324756 , and we have thus two jumping-off points for making touches. Two methods of procedure will carry the touch further and still keep 756 in this position. The two means are shown here working from 423756, and from this it will! be seen that the same callings applied to 324756 would produce either 243756 or 432756.

Now how are we to get . . . 756 converted back to . . . 567? Looking back at H and J we can see that calling $H$ would turn our 756 to ... 675, and that a further use of the same calling would bring our . . . 675 to 567 . Similarly, the use of calling $J$ would bring . . 756 to . . 765 , and we aheady know how to convert 765 to 567 .

There is, however, the more direct and more interesting process of reaching 234567 from . 756 by bringing the bells round at handstroke. To understand this thoroughly it is necessary to examine a course in which 567 are in the order 657 and have a coursing order of 5-7-6.

If the course shown here is examined it will be found to exhibit a curious property. The lead running from 357264 contains the same rows as the last lead of the plain course of Grandsire Triples, and rounds occurs at handstroke as the row before 325476 . It follows, therefore, that if the lead 357264 is followed by a plain lead, rounds will inevitably occur at handstroke. This placing of 567 is sometimes called the Inverted Home or Handstroke Home position because the rows 567 occur at handstroke. It is common in Caters and Cinques, where very striking musical effects can be obtained by using it. In Triples it has not the same musical value, but it has a certain attraction, and without doubt provides a useful and interesting means of bringing the bells found.
A look back at our turning courses will show that the position . . . 657 can be obtained quite easily from . 756, from . . 576 or from ... 675. Here are two specimen touches, constructed expressly to demonstrate how easily the bells may be turned from one position to another. The first touch is given complete, and the student should note that the figuring has been given right up to the course end 342657. This is to helo to make clear the complete plan. but the bells come round, of course, at $\mathbf{A}$. lead before the course end.

The second toush ilhustrates the use of the very simple device in which a single just turns over 6 and 7 and very easily converts 756 to 657. From 234657 this second touch proceeds just as the first touch does from the same row.
It might perhaps be said that the key row to bringing the bells into rounds at handstroke is 357264 , because if we can bring our touch to this row. either by plain, bob or single, rounds will follow at handstroke the next lead. This row is therefore worth recording in our notebook and learning by heart so that we knew the sound of it and readily recognise it when we hear it. It is, of course, the Queen's Change with 4 and 6 reversed. and the fact that 357246 is so nearly 357264 should make us realise the possibilities of using the one to lead to the other.

For study purposes three specimens of turning from 357246 to 357264 are given here In each case the principle is simply to turn over 4 and 6 , in two cases by the use of a single on 46, and in the third by the use of calling J.
The first two examples are interesting and important illustrations of the fact that things are not always what they seem. The first on clearly produces rounds from 357246 in a very short time and, at a pinch, can be used for this purpose. But it will not provide a true touch, for the row before rounds, that is. the row before the treble leads, is 2135476 , and this we had at the very start of the touch. This reminds us of a vital rule. If Grandsire starts in the normal way, then the bells cannot come home at handstroke at a cald. The only way in which 234567 can be secured at handstroke at a call and still preserve truth is for the bells to go off from rounds into changes at backstroke. There is no reason why this should not be done, and, indeed, peals have been rung with this start. But it is not at all usual, and the consideration of its possibilities cannot be discussed here.
The second touch manages to arrive, at 325476 with a call, but this time there is no falseness, for the handstroke of 325476 in this case is 324567. This little touch of 181 is a very useful and amusing one. The third one runs to only 121 changes, but is well worth keeping in mind. Note the lead 537246 and remember that by calling S.B.B.S. at this point you could add three leads, one of which is 357246 .

To conclude, let us sum up a little.
First. these notes have been put together. not so much to provide touches for the young conductor as to indicate how touches can bi adapted or composed. Volumes could he written on this subiect, but it must suffice to say that here we have given only some of the principles governing the composition of short pieces. The general idea has been to show how some interesting use may be made of the bells and how they may be returned to rounds. Three basic methods have been touched on:

1. The use of some standard calling: having the 7th as observation bell.
2. The use of certain devices to turn 567 into various positions and to return them to the rounds position
3. The use of singles to turn over a couple of bells
There is much more for the earnest bob caller to study. There is the theory of Odd and Even rows, the principles of transposition, and many other associated matters. How far he advances in these studies will depend on his enthusiasm, hut we would repeat here that the making of simple touches is not difficult and we would very sincerely urge its practice. Whether or not the results are original does not seem to us to matter very much; the joy of taking something homemade ' into the belfry and calling it there is very great, and the study attaching to the work of producing it is productive of a larger education and a deeper insight.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  North Dorset Branch

This year the Branch visited Askerwell, Lyme Regis, Musbury, Kilmington and Thorncombe. Sufficient time was allowed for the 31 ringers to have their pull and for touches of standard methods to be rung at each tower. Methods up to London Surprise Minor were attempted and for the most part came round. the usual menu consisting of Plain Bob, Kent, Double Court and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles at the six-bell towers, with Grandsire Triples and a course of two of Plain Bot Major at Lyme Regis. At Thorncombe the loss of the tenor clapper in the middle of the first touch of Grandsire Triples rather curtailed matters and some Minor on the front six, covered by the seventh, was no real substitute for the octave. Apart, however, from this misfortune (and better to have happened then than during Sunday ringing or a psal), the day went well, the weather was kind, a good tea was made at Axminster and so far no complaints have been received from any parishioners.

West Dorset Branch

The Branch held its quarterly meetirg at Thorncombe on September 12th. Eight towers were represented with visitors from Yeovil, Cattistock, Staple Fitzpaine and St. George's, Wilton. The Guild service was conducted by the vice-chairman. the Rev. Mr. Syer, Vicar of Whitchurch Canonicorum, who also presided at the meeting in the unavoidable absence of the chairman. We were pleased to see Canon Cox and to know he is still able to take a rope for a short touch. He was unable to stay for the tea and meeting.
Tea was provided and served by the local ringers and their wives in the new hall.
Meetings were arranged as follows: A.G.M. at Bridport, November 28th practice meeting: Broadwindsor, November 11th, and Beaminster, December 9th.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Chesterfield Visit Oxfordshire
This year's District outing was to Oxfordshire on September 12th at the request of one of our older members.

Altiough slightly late, due to heavy traffic, at our first tower, Banbury, the 17 cwt . ten were much to our liking and when one or two had got used to the long draught we managed some Bob Major and Little Bob Royal. After an excellent lunch in Deddington we unfortunately arrived at Chipping Norton at the same time as a wedding party, but Mr. J. Newman came to the rescue by taking us on a brief tour of various places of interest in the county.

Another of our ringers, Mr. P. Attwood (Percy), had lived at Great Tew for almost 50 years and after numerous envious glances at his former olde-world cottage we spent an enjoyable hour on the splendid 22 cwt . actave. Reluctantly leaving Great Tew, we returned to Banbury for tea at the Winter Gardens before the company of some 38 members and friends started the journey home. Our grateful thanks are extended to the clergy and local captains and to our driver, Bob.

Next meeting: October 10th, Clowne (quarterly).

THE BELLS

Belfry's captain, full of bliss,
Said ' You don't know what you've missed,' Cobwebs, woodlice, belliopes, too.
With ancient bells that you can view.
$f$ ing in the New Year, ring out the old
What historical New Year have you told?
Made in the foundry, rung and set,
How many bellropes have you met?
Deep and meHow, an octave, eight,
What peal or quarter have you rung of late?
Then to the foundry once again
To smelt down to a smaller ten.
PATRICIA K. MOSS (15).
Note.-Written five years ago and dedicated to Chalfont St. Peter's ringers and especially Mr. E. G Swift, the captain.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The autumn meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was beld at Beverley on September 19th, when the attendance was not as large as usual although 15 towers were represented.
Tea was served in the Cross Keys Hotel, Beverley, followed by the business meeting, presided over by Mr. H. Walker, vice-president, who welcomed the general secretary of the Yorkshire Association (Mr. W. F. Moreton) and his wife. Five new members were elected: Messrs. Andrew Dickinson, Philip Hawkins and David Burnett, of Bridlington, and Mr. H. L. Roper, of Gateforth.
It was decided to hold the December meeting at Snaith and Carlton, subject to permission being obtained. A vote of thanks to the incumbents, local companies and to Mr. N. Castle for the arrangements was carried. Good use was made of St. Mary's ten bells and also the six at Waikington, afternoon and evening.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Western Branch

A warm day favoured the Branch quarterly meeting held at St. Mary's Church, Gressenhall ( 8 bells) on August 29th.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. E. G. Dodson), who read an article, 'U.S.A. Acclaims British Bells, by Canon Thurlow, from the 'Norwich Chuichman' instead of the usual address. Tea followed in the school.
At the subsequent business meeting the chair was taken by the Diocesan Ringing Master, Mr. F. C. Goodman.
After deciding upon Gaywood for the next meeting some interesting discussion took place about ways of mairtaining interest in practice meetings and of encouraging regular service ringing.

A Surrey Valuation Court at Guildford last week reduced the assessments of 16 houses at Queen's Drive, Stoughton, because of the ringing of a bell for Holy Communion on Sundays, at 8 a.m. The ringing was described by one man as 'deafening and incessant' and another complained of 'its ghastly tone.' The Vicar, the Rev. Basil W. Hazledine, said it was only a very small bell and was rung for three minutes.

The first named peal of the Ladies' Guild is contemplated by Margarets. They hope the attempt will be at Stratton St. Margaret.

Miss Penny Howebls, of Claines, rang ner first quarter peal of Minor at Church Lencl!. and in view of their reputation as to theil go' she is to be congratulated.
We have heard many favourable comments on the broadcast in the Home Service on Sunday of Kaye Webb's talk to the bellringers of Leicester Cathedral entitled 'Ringing the Changes.'

Mr. and Mrs. Colin Tester took part in peals with the Lincoln Diocesan Guild at Hull and Walesby. Unfortunately they were described as Lester on pages 638 and 639 when the reports were pubbished.

When the captain of Rewe, Devon, bellringers was married he took his wife to the car, then went back to the belfry and helped to ring his own wedding bebls. Nearly 30 years Jater, his son was married in the same church and when his father should have been in the vestry signing the register, they found him in the belfry ringing for his son's wedding!
Miss Christine L. Mason, vice-captain at Chilvers Coton. Nuncaton. writes that the man in charge ' ('R.W.' 18-9-64), who is the new president of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, is the tower captain. Mr. A. H. Beamish. She regards him as a superb example of a true and loyal tower captain and adds: "Although, at times, we young, "imps" may mar the changes, our captain's patience and tolerance, his firmness, and method, his unchanging friendliness, bear with us and move us to trying to do better next time.

The patron of the living of Portishead, to which the Rev. Roger O. Fry was inGOSSIP stituted on September 22nd, is Mrs. M. N. Briggs, daughter of Preb. H. W. Jukes, Rector from 1903 to 1938. As Miss M. E. N. Jukes she rang in the first peal for the Ladies' Guild at Cubitt Town in 1912. She paid a special visit to the belfry, apart from her duty of presenting the Rector-designate to the Bishop at the service. The Rev. R. O. Fry took the opportunity of ringing with the local band and visitors before and after the service.
Seventeen items of livestock, the gifts of local farmers, and 100 other miscellaneous items were sold at an auction at Gisburn Auction Market to raise money for the recasting of Gisburn, West Yorkshire, bells.

We are surprised that Mr. Bernard Ash, as tower captain of Stoke D Abernon, had not heard of Mr. P. A. Cannon's association with St. Martin's Church, Dorking, and his position as Ringing Master of the Surrey Association.
Organised by Pat Bird and Tudor Edwards, Bristol University Society had a successful tour of the Welsh-Borderland from August 27th30th. The tour finished in Liverpool, where ringing took place at the Cathedral, Woolton, and St. Nicholas' towers.

We regret to announce the death of Mr . William Henry (Bill) Lewis, Ringing Master of St. John's, Worcester, since 1932, and also a member of the Cathedral Guild for 47 years, which took place on September 6th in his 79th year. A memoir will appear in our next issue.
We hope our friends in the Norwich piea eventually received their 'Ringing Worlds' of September 18th. Just as the Editor was leaving for a brief holiday in Holland, a frantic message was received that a consignment of 70 copies for Norwich were lost in transit by rail. Fortunately we were able to dispatch flom reserves the copies required by post that night-and the Editor also caught the night boat at Harwich.

A BRIDE FROM PUBLOW

The wedding took place at Publow, Somerset, on September 19 th of Miss Mariorie M. Mogford. eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mogford, and Geoffrey A. Hemming. of Bristol. The service was conducted by Rev. A. J. Frith, of Compton Dando, and the Rev. D. V. Claiworthy, of Publow

The reception was at The Hall. Pensford, and over 80 guests, including ringers, attended. The bells were rung before and after the service. A peal (Surfeet, Beverley. Cambridge Minor) was lost at Publow after 2 hours 55 minutes, but one at Compton Dando was successful.

THANKS

Miss Idd B. Thompson, of Nottingham, writes expressing her sincere thanks through The Ringing World' to the Ladies' Guild (Midland District), the Leicester ladies and all ringers and friends for the lovely flowers, birthday cake, cards and expressions of good wishes for her birthday, all of which combined to make a very happy day. The peal of Stedman Cinques by the Ladies' Guild in honour of Miss Thompson's 80th birthday was published on page 654.

BELL RINGING AS A SPORT

- The Exercise . . . . has a sport or recreation which can supply to the limits all the interest and all the relaxation .... which is the proper use of a recreation: it can be a mental and intellectual stimulus and, unlike any other sport, it can be brought as a gift to the service of the Church. It takes a place here alongside the great activities of the human mind, music and painting, sculpture and architecture... Only those men who love and follow change ringing for its own sake can ever be sufficiently good ringers to make what they do really worthy of the service of the Church... Change ringing can be, and should be Church work, but it must first be a sport and it must not cease to be a sport.'

To conclude, may I recommend the younger members of the Exercise, and those of my generation who, because of other duties, missed so much in those interesting war-time 'R.W.s." to beg or borrow codies when they can-1hey are full of interesting and useful articles.

E. M. ATKINS

When Maurice Atkins left his devoted band at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, and settled in Teignmouth, the Guild of Devonshire Ringers knew that it had acquired a fine and enthusiastic ringer, but some of the younger among us had to find out from visitors just how great was his reputation, for you would never learn anything from Maurice himself of his achievements. When he came he found a church, St. Michael's, to which he gave the full allegiance of a most devout Christian; but the bells were seldom rung, there was nol regular band, and the branch in which it lay was one of the Guild's weakest, with hardly one tower possessing a full band. During the fourteen years which followed, St. Michael's began regular Sunday change-ringing, followed by Babbacombe, Townstal, and Torre, while the Buckfast Abbey monks took up changeringing and joined the Guild as well, so that now this is one of the keenest branches in Devon.

It was for his teaching and encouragement of learners that we shall best remember Maurice. He came to us with a notable record as a peal-ringer, composer and conductor. but unless someone searches the back-numbers of the 'Bell News' and 'Ringing World' we shall never know just what that record was. To him, peals were rung to celebrate some festival or event, to improve the standard of ringing, or to give experience and encouragement to learners; how many he personally had rung was not of the remotest importance to him. We do know that he learnt to ring at the age of 16 in the church of which his father was Vicar; that he became a leading member of the C.U.G. soon after his arrival at Cambridge; that he conducted, in 1909, a peal of Bob Minor with a band having the average age of 16 -at that time probably a record; that after serving in the Royal Engineers during World War I he rang in the Officers' Peal of Grandsire Caters at Croydon; and that with the Guild of Devonshire Ringers he rang some 40 peals, most of which he conducted.
When E. J. Taylor died in 1956, we felt it almost impossible that any man could adequately fill his place as General Secretary; Maurice stepped in and as usual without any fuss maintained the standard as high as ever it had been until his health forced him to resign last year.

An unmistakable and striking figure with his fine head thrust purposefully forward. Maurice concealed behind a manner which at first sight seemed pessimistic a young-hearted gaiety which made him delightful company and a driving perseverance and faith which never admitted defeat. Those of us who took part in the many attempts to get the first peal of Surprise Major by a resident Devon band will remember well how after each failure Maurice would come out with his characteristic. 'Oh, I don't know....-and then start arranging the next aftempt. In the end we got it, but we would never have got it without him. There was nothing dramatic or showy about his ringing or conducting, but he had an uncanny knack of knowing when a 'rabbit' was going to get lost just before it happened, and if a jiffle developed his seemingly abstracted state would vanish and the directions would come fast, clear and concise. For this reason he was unsurpassed at getting people through their first peals; if it were possible to keep them right he would do it, but nothing was said above what was needed.
The combination of rich knowledge and experience, deep concern for the Exercise and unshakable loyalty to his Church must have made him a most valuable member of the Central Council, on which he served with one short break from 1921 to 1953, first for the Central Northants Association and later for the Cambridge University Guild. We tried once or twice to make him representative for the Devon Guild, but typically he insisted that younger ringers should go.
The youthful buoyancy which characterised him made it hard to take him seriously when he told us that he was over 70; but last year his health became really serious and after an operation this spring he never recovered. He leaves behind him a wife and son who with generations of ringers at Cambridge and Kilburn, and one generation of Devon ringers who perhaps needed him more than any, will remember him all their lives with gratitude and pride.
J. G. M. S.

Mr. G. S. Valentine, of Duston, Northampton, writes:-
'As one of the very few remaining old ringers who learn to ring at Isham before 1914-18 I knew E. M. A. very well. He was a good instructor to all who tried their best; and when we settled down after the war we had some very good times ringing. We could ring seven Surprise methods - then quite an achievement - and, with his assistance, regularly rang Cambridge for Sunday services.
All through the war the bells at Isham were kept ringing by the two or three men left and the young ladies taught by Maurice and believe me they could strike their bells.

I like to remember him as I last saw him at a Central Council meeting, when I was with the late G. W. Jeffs and W. Rose. We went and came home together. My happiest memories are of the ringing I had with the old ringers from London and about the country.'

Mr. W. G. Wilson writes:-
'I was deeply grieved to hear of Mr. Atkins' death. He lived at Kilburn when J. A. Trollope was teaching Ernest Turner and me to ring and was always ready to make the fourth for a handbell peal. I can see him now, sprawled in an armchair. legs outstretched. eyes closed. but all the time knowing just where the hells should be

MR. SHARPE PLANNING A NEW BOOK

Mr. Frederick Sharpe has started on his next book on county bells- The Church Bells of Herefordshire.' There are some 250 towers in the county and he has already started his list and at Fawbey has discovered a 14 th century bell.
His four-day visit is the subject of a feature article in 'The Hereford Times ' by Marjorie Craddock, headed Mr. Bells Comes to Hereford. She writes: At Brampton Abbotts Mr Sharpe was delighted to find that he could get into the tower, since the bells had previously been described as "inaccessible."

- This is a word which doesn't daunt him. 1 was defeated by a tower in Cardiganshir for many years until a naval man living nearby cast a line across a heam, hauled up the lightest man of the party-who happened to hy the Vicar-and he was able to make firm a hosun's chair for me to go up in.
-I've been up some 2,000 towers and really that means 2,000 stories.
- I was once defied by an owl which was nesting there-and at close quarters an owl can look pretty ferocious. In one of the Hercfordshire towers this week we had to clear jackdaws' nests from the stairs before we could get up. It is often from the twigs these birds and others bring into towers that infestation of beetle first comes." (His companion on his tour has heen that well known Herefordshire ringer, George Cousins, with whom he has stayed in Ross.)

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION AT NORTHAW

The present Church of St. Thomas of Canterbury. Northaw. is a comparatively modern building. having been rebuilt in 1882 following a disastrous fire which destroyed its predecessor. A church has however, been in existence on this site since Norman times. Despite the fact that the tower rises to a height of 73 feet. ringing takes place from the ground floor.
The meeting of the North and East District on September 12 th was scheduled to commence at 3.15 p.m. but unfortunately the bells were not raised until nearly 4.30 p.m. The attendance later improved and ringing continued until late in the evening. A picnic tea was held on the village green, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Kilby producing a more than sufficient quantity of sandwiches and, home-made cakes. Cups of tea were provided by Miss Janet Heather, of the local company.
Votes of thanks were proposed by Mr. H. G. Hart to the Rev. Max Bryant. Vicar. and to all who had contributed to the success of this rather unique meeting.

Welcome visitors included Mr. William A. Stote, of Coventry, and Mr. B. J. Ongley of Holmes Chapel, Cheshire.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Through the initiative of Caot. Read, the S.W. Branch held their quarterly meeting at Galmpton near Kingshridge. on September 26th. with Marlhorough and South Milton beHs also available. Some 60 ringers were oresent, many from Cornwall and others on holiday. The Vicar, the Rev. F. J. Hawkings. conducted the service, Mrs. Read and helpers provided a high tea, and Mr. H. H. Thomas presided at the business meeting.
At the outset the chairman paid a tribute to the memory of Mr. Maurice Atkins, who was secretary of the Guild for 14 years, and the members stood in respectful silence. A welcome was extended to the Branch secretary and Ringing Master. Mr. T. G. Myers. and all trusted he would soon be a fit man again. An encouraging proposition came from Mrs.
Bray, of Whitchurch. near Tavistock. to affiliate the Whitchurch band. and five young member:-George Mudge. John Mitchelmore. Ernest Cann. Ian Sweet and Michawl Roherts $\rightarrow$ were clected members. The Misses $H$. and $\vec{R}$. Julius were alio elected. and Guild, certificates were presented to Mis; P. Sims (Emmanuel, Plymouth) and Miss Ruth Cundy (Lamerton) on behalf of her father, who was unable to be present. A comprehensive vote of thanks was moved from the chair.

M.U.G. SCOTTISH TOUR

THIS year the Manchester University Guild had intended to visit Ireland but were prevented from doing so by various difficulties with car hire and accommodation.
A tour of Scotknd was arranged instead. which started on August 28th, when two cars. one containing lan Goldthorpe, Dick Plaisted, Marcia Nott and David Miles, the other containing John Pilkington, Brian A. Tomlinson and David J. Baker, set out to meet in Kendal. The first group were fortunate enough to ring at the Morecambe practice on the way. Saturday was occupied by the journey to Glasgow, but there was time to ring at two towers before crossing the border.

At Glasgow Mike Young, Jean Allen and Roger Shea joined us, but not hefore David Miles had taken us on a conducted tour of the city... by Blue Train and Underground. On Sunday morning Neil Bennett and Christine joined us at St. Mary's Cathedral for service ringing. In due course all members of the party reached Paisley for afternoon ringing, and we then proceeded northwards via the Erskine ferry and spent the night at Cruachan.

INVERARAY

After breakfast and the journey back to Inveraray, much time was spent in finding keys and various other means of access to ihe chambers in the tower. Ropes had to be fitted and several clappers were greased before ringing commenced. The floor of the ringing room caused some concern, heing most insecure near the eighth, ninth and tenor ropes. Wooden bushes in the rope-holes of the floor above had come adrift, and this resulted in an occasional piece of concrete being brought down by a rope, but even this could not detract from the pleasure of ringing on such excellent bells. Some good courses of Boh Royal, Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples were rung.
Knowing that the bells are only rung very infrequently, we thought it a good idea to investigate local reaction to our visit. The first victim was the waitress who served us with lunch.
Ringer: ' Do vou know why the bells were ringing? '
Waitress: 'Someone comes once a year from England to ring them.'
Another ringer: -Haven't they enough beliringers in Scolland, then?
Waitress: Oh, but it's an English church.
On, then, to Fort William. stopping on the way to admire the scenery. which was at its best in glorious weather. Another full hostel at Glen Nevis killed any possthility of goins up the Ben 'the following morning.
The night was spent at Loch L.ochy, and the tower next day was in Inverness. We were made to feel more than welcome at Inverness, where it was learned that there might be a good possibility of training a band of ringers if only some instructor could go and stay theic for long enough. The Rev. Roger Fry, who happened to be in Inverness at the time. mads a welcome addition to our band, and afte: ringing we were entertained to an excellent tea by the Precentor of the Cathedral. The night was spent at Aviemore.

A journey through the wild Cairngorms via Tomintoul. Braemar. Devil's. Elbow and Glen Shee led us to Dundee, in time to ring at the Cathedral. Here. another unexpected but welcome guest, David Manton. found us, and we proceeded to the Old Steeple, to which Peter T. Dale was attracted from an examination room by the sound of our ringing. A visit to the offices of the 'Dundee Courier,' instigated by the publicity-seekers among us, resulted in a 10-line report in the following morning's edition.
On Thursday morning the bells of Dunblane got us off to a good start, though here, and at Alloa, the rising in peal left much to be desired. Since this was the day hefore the opening of the Forth road hridge, a visit to Queensferry was called for before continuing to Edinburgh to join the practice at St. Mary's Cathedral. Friday was a free day, and returning from a tour of the Trossach:, handbells were runs in a car whilst crossing the Forth road bridge. (Is this a record?)
Our last day in Scotland began with ringing on the delightful five at Fetters College. After celebrating with Oriental food and various wines we procesded to St . Cuthbert's, where Mr. Wilson and the Edinhurgh ringers once more made us welcome and rang with us. We abso appreciated their assistance in leading the way to Leith, our last Scottish tower and certainly not the easiest of bells to ring.
Not everyone approved of rising at 6.30 a.m. in order to ring at Newcastle for Sunday service. but those who did not rise were certainly awake at that unearthly hour. They were, however, doomed to misfortune later in the day when a mecharical fault immobilised the Goldthorpe car. whike the others were ringing at St. Stenhen's, Low Elswick and Newcastle Cathedral.
In conclusion, we wish to thank the of ganisers, who did a great joh at short noticc. and all the ringers and incumbents in both England and Scotland who made us 0 welcome

PEAL AT YORK MINSTER

Congratulations to the York Minster Society of Change Ringers on ringing a peal of Plain Boh Maximus on the Minster hells on Saturday. The last time a peal was rung on these hells was on November 9th. 1892.
The band consisted of S. H. Steel 1. B. Holland 2, D. Pearson 3. M. Straniforth 4 A Leggatt 5. Margaret E. Wilkinson 6. H. Walker 7, r. Groome 8. N. Maskell 9, John Chaddock in. C. Reeves 11, J. A. D. Woolford 12 .
The time taken was 3 hrs. 49 mins. and the peal was rung to the glory of God and to welcome the new Dean

STRIKE 'EM! IN SUFFOLK

Buxhall, a pleasant ocattered village the heart of the delightful Suffolk countryside. Was the venue for the Suffolk Guild Annua Striking Competition on September 26th. Seventy people enjoyed the sound of the fine ring of six from various strategic positions in the environs of the lovely 14th century church.

The test piece was 240 Bob Minor but most of the bands took full advantage of the two minutes unmarked rounds which were al!owed. and ringing was maintained at a steady pace. few wishing to hurry the 15 cwt . tenor.

The last band finished their touch in good time for commencement of Evensong, which was conducted by the Rector the Rev. C. N. Kendall).

Tea at the Village Hall was enjoyed by 80 people, and the Ringing Master (George W. Pipe) opened the proceedings by welcoming the judges and saying how delighted he was to see such a large number in attendance. representative of practically every corner of the county.
The judges (Frank Lufkin and Walter Arnoid, Essex Association, and F. Charles Goodman, Norwich Association) had prepared an analysis of their marking. Frank Lufkin remarked on the high standard of ringing throughout the afternoon.

OBITUARY

MR. W. H. LEWIS

Worcester has lost an outstanding ringing personality by the death on September 6th of Mr. William Henry (' Bitl') Lewis in his 79th year. Until his illness, a month or so previous, he was doing a full day's work as a blacksmith and turning out regularly for Sunday ringing and practice, winding the church clock and hoisting the flag.
In his younger days he was a keen athlete and sportsman and excelled in football, crisket and rowing and he held a championship cur for single scults. It was not until he was 28 that he was taught to ring by the late William Page, at St. John's, Worcester. His first peal was Grandsire Caters, rung in 1918 at All Saints'. His peal total was about 160 , the last being in his favourite method, Stedman Triples, at St. John's, and rung for his 70th birthday.
He became Ringing Master at St. John's about 1932 and remained so until his death. He was also a member of the Cathedral Guild for 47 years and rang in several peals there, including the first with the tenor turned in, and, when he was nearly 50 , he rang the 50 cwt. tenor himself behind Grandsire Cinques.
Many poople attended the funeral service at St. John's Church and then joined the cortege to travel the short distance to St. John's Cemetery, where the half-muffled bells could still be faintiy heard as the coffin was lowered into the grave. After the committal a course of Grandsire Triples was rung in hand over the grave by G. E. Evenden 1-2, R. G. Morris 3-4. D. Beacham 5-6. R. Ashmore 7-8, all members of the Cathedral Guild.
In the evening a half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Trippes was rung at St. John's and the following evening a half-muffled tribute was rung on the Cathedral bells.
In his address at Evensong on the Sunday, the Vicar of St. John's, the Rev T. M. H. Richards, paid a moving tribute to Bill Lewis, who was, as he so rightiy said, ' a good man. How we shar miss old Bill.
D. B.

MR. CHARLES SHARPLES

Mr. Charles Sharples, well known in Lancashire ringing circles and beyond, passed away in the Victoria Hospital, Blackpool, on September 13 th . aged 88.
Though not a particularly prolific peal ringer, during his many years he took oart in some noteworthy efforts, including a handbell peal of Bob Major on board S.S. Barrapool in the South Indian Ocean on December 10th, 1934, during 'The Great Adventure,' in company with J. S. Goldsmith, R. Richardson and the Rev. E. B. James.
A great stalwart of the Lancashire Association the writer remembers him best for his willingness to assist beginners and learners. His own ringing record goes back to March 10th, 1897, when he rang his first peal of Bob Minor for the Lancashire Association at Oswaldtwistle, the p:ace of his birth. His last at Manchester Cathedral, Kent Royal, on April 17th, 1948: between these two dates he had taken part in at least one long length and one unconducted peal and peals on the Australian Tour of 1934 For the Lancashire Association he rang 103 pc
During the last few yea Charles was unable to ring, partly because of his deafncos, though during the latter part of his career lic gave a great deal of help in the Blackpool and Fylde district, and so the Exercise is the poorer for tis passing.

INDUCTION DIFFICULTIES

The Suffolk Diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich is celebrating its jubilee this year and in connection with this a booklet has been on sale giving certain facts concerning the diocese. Included are some of the memories of a former Bishop and two former Archdeacons. One of the latter, the Ven. Hugh R. Norton, formerly Archdeacon of Sudsury, writes:

One of my frequent duties has been the induction of new Vicars and Rectors, During my time there have been 175 inductions in the Archdeaconry and 1 have officiated at nearly ait of them. During this service the new incumbent is required to toll the church bet! There is an oid superstition that a priest will remain in his parish the same number of years as the times he rings the bell. I have always listened with inferest to the number oi rings given: whey have varled from three to 20 . Once the new Rectol rang the Angelus: on another occasion he failed to produce any sound from the beHl at all in spite of the mast vigorous pulls: and at another church the omininusus silence was only broken when the Kural Dean rushed forward seized the bell rope and rang the bell himself.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Wimborne Branch

The quarterly meeting of the Branch, held on September 26 th at Canford, will be remembered by most people for an unusual and amusing sermon preached by the Vicar, the Rev. P. F. Unwin. He took as his theme a set of belfry rules of Canford Church dated 1873 and was able to shed interesting light on ringing at that time.
Prior to the service, ringing took place on the six bells and methods ranged from Plain Bob to Cambridge. Visitors were welcomed at the meeting from Hambledon and Liss, and five new members were elected, who included Mr. Fuller and family, late of Sussex. who have moved to Swanage.
Next meeting: Witchampton, November
14th; annual, Wimborne. January $23 r$ d.

North Dorset Branch

Thirty ringers and visitors attended the quarterly meeting at Thornford on September 19th. Standard methods were rung on the well-going six ( 10 cwt.), with rounds for learners, up to the Guikd Office, when the Branch was welcomed by the Rector (the Rev. L. Chesterman. At the business meeting later three new members from Lillington were elected-Miss Janet Higgins and Mr. and Mrs. Trevelyan. A proficiency certificate was awarded to T. Bleathman, of Okeford Fitzpaine. A suggestion was made that, in order to raise the standard and scope of the Branch's ringing, the Saturday fortnightly practices should be graded, so far as possible, to the maximum ability of those present. to work up through Single, Oxford. Double Oxford Cambridge to Beverley and Lomdon Surprise Minor. This suggestion was readily agreed to and ringers were encouraged to attend Saturday practices.
Tributes were paid to the late Mr. S. J. Pound, for a great many years a member of the Guild, and to the late Miss Ivy Fanner. who had captained the Compton Abbas ringers and whose early death had been a great loss to that parish.

The annual meeting was arranged for December 12th at Gillingham, subject to the usual consents. Ringing continued at Thornford and Yetminster.

Letters to the Editor

The Rev. H. R. Haweis

Sir,-Is not Mr. Fidler a little hard on the Rev. H. R. Haweis?
The worthy gentleman was one of a series of scholarly, sincere and earnest clerics who graced the early and mid-Victorian eras, and being appalled at the apathy and squabor of the contemporary Church set to work to do something about it. He was writing, not for English bellfounders and ringers, of whom he had rather a poor opinion, but for the solid middle and upper classes of Victorian society who would normally have considered themselves contaminated had they entered a belfry and mixed with such dreadful examples of the "lower orders' as ringers then were, in an endeavour to rouse their interest in the Church and its ornaments, and it is only to be expected that his language is florid, not technically correct.
He was very keen on the carillon rather than change-ringing and a strong advocate of Belgian rathei than English bells. Perhaps his views are not so ridiculous after all when one considers a Flemony bell of Amsterdam and those of later founders of the Low Countries against its English fellow of the 17 th century and later. Even to-day Francis Flemony's tuning of small hells stands unmatched.
An interesting picture of Haweis emerges from the Reminiscences of Lady Dorothy Nevill.' published in 1906, when the author was nearing the end of her long life (18261913). She appears, from her writings, as a lively, intelligent woman of great personal charm: this impression is borne out by the fact of her having been on friendly terms with most of the eminent Victorians from the Queen's 'dearest Albert' downwards. I quote:

- At one time I saw a good deal of the Rev. Mr. Haweis, at whose parties one used to meet all sorts of different kinds of people.' She goes on to tell of meeting General Booth and also describes the first public demonstra. tion of the newly-invented phonograph. remember its being a complete failure, for through something having gone wrong, no coherent sound whatever issued from the mouthpiece, much to the dismay of the exhibitor (Haweis).

Mr. Haweis was a most amusing little man, very devoted to music. His sermons were quite unlike any others 1 ever heard and totally devoid of those ponderous quabities which render these discourses a sad trial to many an unfortunate congregation. He would preach on all sort of unconventional subjects. One of his last sermons was on the cruelty of leaving cats untended in London houses while the owners were away and some remarks he added aroused tittering in the congregation, and he exclaimed,
What I have just said may possibly be amusing, but I will tell you one thing, it certainly would not make a cat laugh."

A great authority on musical instruments, he was especially learned about bells and knew all about the manner in which they were cast. I wished to have a bell set up at the entrance to my garden in the country, and he gave the address of an excellent bellfounder at Louvain (Severin Van Aerschodt). Mr. Haweis composed a motto to be inscribed on this bell which ran:

Nevile velis-as I swing.

Ne velis vile-so 1 sing.
Welcome to all, nor wish them ill,
My Lady Dorothy Nevill."
This bell of excellent sound and tone was duly cast by the 'foundeur des cloches whom I have mentioned and became an object of great interest in my Sussex garden.'

Lady Dorothy then relates how Haweis designed a sundial, which she never had made. She describes his plan and gives the verse he proposed putting on it Look you upon my face without the sun. I shall not mark the course that he has run, So let the dark days unrecorded be.
But number every glowing hour like me.' She concludes:
' Mr. Haweis never recovered from his wife's death which, I think, really broke his heart, for he did not survive that sad event very long, dying quite suddenly one Sunday. A man of very broad (some people said unorthodox views), he created something of a sensation by entertaining Renan went to a party given in his honour at the Amber House, where Mr. Haweis lived, the exterior of which, in accordance with his unconventional nature, he had caused to be painted a bright amber colour.

I believe Haweis had a hand in the installation of the Cattistock carillon in 1862, most unfortunately destroyrd by firs in 1940 . Boston in 1865 and pos ibly others.-Ycurs sincerely,

'On the Spot

Dear Sir, In his challenge to Mr. A. P. Cannon questioning the validity of some of his 1,000 peals, Mr. Holtom has 'put on the spot ' not Mr. Cannon only, but also numerous ringers who have participated in peals of which he was the conductor. It would be interesting to know whether both Mr. Holtom and the late Mr. Clement Glenn deleted the peals instanced from their own personal list. Mr. Cannon's integrity has been challenged, leaving both himself and his fellow pealringers in an invidious position. No doubt there are many participants in his peals who can vouch for the truth of them, but where their correctness is questionable few people would be willing to give the facts for two reasons:
(a) Participants, once a deal has been puhlished and not repudiated, would probably have recorded it in their own list, and (b) even if they have not, they would, out of charity to Mr Cannon, be reluctant to defame bis character by exposing him as a cheat.
Perhaps we could hear Mr. Cannon's views on the two peals quoted by Mr. Holtom by the customary right to reply and leave any other 'dirty linen" in the linen basket.
As you, sir. pointed out, it is too late now for inquests-but if there were one, and Mr Cannon were found guilty, his associates, too, would be stigmatised for aiding and abetting. This whole subject is most unpalatable and best ignored.-Yours faithfully,

Stoke Poges, Bucks.

'Much for the Exercise

Dear Sir.-I feel that I cannot allow the contents of Mr. K. R. Holtom's letter (page 664) to pass without comment. Whilst this gentleman is entitled to his opinions, I do feeb that his method of voicing them is rather obtuse. I have had the pleasure of heing acquainted with Mr. A. P. Cannon for very many years and I find it difficult to realise that such an attack has been made on one who has done so much for the Exercise. I am not in a position to comment on all Mr. Cannon's peals, but 1 must say in his defence that I have rung in various attempts with him which he has stopped for one reason or another, the most recent heinz early this year. Many ringers, including myself, have a very high opinion of Mr. Cannon as a ringer. a gentleman, a staunch member of the Exercisc and, above all, a feHow being and a Chrislian. Never. has any other ringer had so much 'Michael' extracted from him only to come up smiling every time, enjoying the joke made against him.
Mr. Holtom has opinions to which he is entitled but I am grieved to know he is so lacking in Christian charity as to air them in a public journal.
Carry on with your 'press-ups' Mr. Cannon, and I know your skin is thick enough to accept this lack of Christian charity.-Yours sincerely,
F. C. W. KNIGHT.

Outings not Pub Crawls

Dear Sir,-In reply to A. V. Davis' letter (' The Ringing World ' p. 632) suggesting that we are giving the wrong impression of English bell ringing to overseas readers, 1 wonder whether he would consider substituting the word 'British' for 'English': and would it be in order to consider also the feetings of our Irish friends?
I have never read an account of an outing which suggested that it had been a glorious pub crawl. Indeed I could name many ringers who would clamour to get on next year's outing if they had ever read such a thing.
So far as presenting word pictures of the English and Welsh and Scottish countryside is concerned, there are excellent period:cals printed for this precise purpose-and moxt of them are available overseas. It is not the function of 'The Ringing World' to act as a glorified tourist brochure.
Whilst some of the antics of the ringers might afterwards appear dull in orint to persons not connected with the outing. it must be borne in mind that most accounts of outings and tours are, to a large extent, only of interest to those who take Dart and their immediate circle of friends. It is. for the most part, a 'local event,' and whilst we in Somerset are not at all interested in the fact that a character 200 miles away missed a bus, it will also bring smiles to the lips of many who read it who know that this particular character is prone to this hazard. We must remember that we are all locals.
Apart from the 'Washington' article, which was surely in a chass of its own. the one good article that one immediately calis to mind was written in recent months by a non-ringing father who accompanied his son on an outing. He listened to most of the bells from various neighbouring pubs and his descriptive writing was a joy to read. Many ringers have praised this article and probably the only impression it would give overseas readers in that non-ringing fathers spend their days in pubs.-Yours faithfully,
M. HEYMANN

Chilcompton, Bath.

'Changes through the Years

Dear Sir--Readers of your main article of September 1lth. 'Changes Through the Years.' will have read the observations on ringers and worship with great interest, and the sentiments expressed by Mr. Wilson call for our utmost support.
No doubt we could all cite instances of clergy who appear to have little or no interest in the ringers and. on the other hand. know many who value the services of those. who give so much time and energy in the activities of the Exercise.

As ringers. whether in cathedral or village church, we should all be a part of the worshipping community; indeed, as Christians. we must know this to be true. We are often reminded that our ringing is a service to rod and that we are His servants in the nerformance of our art. None of us should fcel that we attend a service just to pacify the Vicar or because it looks good to see the ringers in the ringers' pew, but it is incumbent upon us to join the worshipping congregation. as and when we can. to ofter praise and thanksgiving for the bencfits conferred upon us.

Ringers ${ }^{\circ}$ services. specially arranged, are usually well attended and anything that can be done actively to encourage a more regular worship by the ringers should be applauded. and the outcome will do much to heal the breaches which may exist in some quarters, and be to the ultimate good of all.
There are many-not only ringers-who need just a little encouragement and leadership to remind them of their responsibilities and it will be interesting to see what ideas are offered as a means to this end.-Yours truly.
Hinchley Wood. Surrey.

A BISHOP AND HIS FLOCK IN CORNWALL

0N the night of August 21 st four cars converged on Castle Cary, containing between them 11 ringere, many of whom were unknown to each other. When everyone had finally discovered just who everyone else was, either by introduction or deduction, most of us retired to bed, to prepare for what we knew would be a strenuous week.

After breakfast the following morning we made our separate ways to Taunton, where we made quite a good start to the week on the casy-going eight at St. James'. It was there that the organiser, Tony Bishop, finally joined us, together with Gill Simms. Meaks throughout the week were left to the choice of the separate car parties, so we met again after lunch at Wiveliscombe. There we were delighted to meet Mr. M. Young, formerly of Leatherhead. Ringing was reasonable, but much better on the lovely six at Bampton. After South Molton we had our first glimpse of the sea, at Stratton, and produced some reasonable Stedman and Cambridge on the fine eight. We reached Tintagel, our base for the week, at 9.30 p.m.

BOYS AND GIRLS!

Sunday was to be a kazy day. We rang for 11 o'clock service at the Parish Church, where our ringing was at least noticed, since after church some local people were overheard saying: Did you know they were boys and girls ringing the bells this morning?' (Average age of party 23 !) In the late afternoon we rang at St. Thomas', Launceston and for evening service at St. Mary's (8), including cal! changes with some local ringers.

Monday was our only rainy day, but we were still out of the hotel by 9.15 in order to ring at Perranzabuloe. It was there that we embarked on the first of the methods, Ipswict, which we had been ordered to learn by Tony. Gwennap was one of the few really difficult towers that we visited, and we were glad to leave for lunch in Falmouth, in which we were disappointed through traffic congestion. At Mawgan-in-Meneage (6) we rang Doubles until the others arrived and Alperton Alliance. We went on to Manaccon (6). The last tower was Mullion (6), before tea, and then to Wendron, Illogan (detached tower) and Crantock Rural, where we achieved our airn of splicing Little Bob with Alperton.

INTO DEVON

Tuesday was another day of sixes. Peter Tavy, our only tower in the morning, had another ground-floor ring. Most of the party went on to Walkhampton for lunch and then rang at the local church, where we first encountered the police. They were suspicious and obviously thought we were some form of diversion to cover the escape of 'Angel Face.' After ringing at Meavy and Shaugh Prior we crossed the new Tamar Bridge to ring the heautiful bells at Saltash, where we managed a good course of Cambridge. St. Stephens-bySaltash produced the first good fall of the tour, which we somehow managed to repeat on the very difficult six at Callington.

Wednesday was the day we visited Land's End. We enjoyed the fine six at Uny Lelant and did the bells justice with a good fall.

Zennor (6), the first ' $Z$ ' for many of us, fo: lowed lunch, and this inspired us to produce some of the best ringing of the week in good touches of St. Clement's and Original. Sennen's turned out to be an easy and pleasant six. A mad dash for time brought us to Paul, where we certainly did not do the beautiful bells justice, and after tea in Hale rang at Phillack and Redruth, both eights.

PLEASED BABY'

On Thursday morning we arrived eatly at Bridestowe, for the first of yet another day of sixes. To fill in time we rang handbells, to the delight of a baby, who flattered us by crying loudly when we stopped. The ringing on tower bells, however, cannot have pleased him so much, but we made up for this at Belstone. Here a local ringer joined us in ringing very fast and near-perfect call changes. This was followed by a touch of St. Clement's almost as good. Most of the party then spent the spare time in the afternoon bathing and walking near Belstone. We all met again in the early evening at Bow. We did not, however, enjoy Exbourne bells so much. After this, some mistake on Tony's part left us a quarter of an hour to go ten miles down Cornish lanes to Beaford. We therefore arrived bate and were sorry to see an old gentleman apparently waiting for us outside the church. Tony asked:

Are you Mr. Heard?
Eh?'
'Are s'ou Mr. Heard?' (loudly).
Silence.
'ARE YOU MR. HEARD ?
' Oh no !.'
(Apologies to Mr. Heard and a citizen of Beaford.) Perhaps our amusement accounted for the poor ringing. This being the last tower of the day, we were able to indulge a previously expressed wish to have a turn on the village swings before returning home.

HOWLING

The first tower on Friday was Bradworthy (6) followed by Clovelly (6). Our ringing here was not as bad as the howling of a local dog might have suggested. In fact Ipswich went better than it had done all week. At Abbotsham we found the church full of ladies and flowers-preparations for a wedding were in progress. Here the tenor was so deep-set that Michael was left hanging from the sally long after the others had pulled off. We all had a pienic lunch together in a field overlooking the Torridge estuary, to the music of Pat Cannon's peal-ringing at Appledore. At Westleigh, we managed a good course of Cambridge.
After tea in Barnstaple we rang at the Parish Church and found the bells very hard to handle, although fine in tone. The second proved to be so deep-set that 'young' Elizabeth, having inadvertently set it at backstroke, was left hanging from the tail-end. We managed a good rise here, but found ourselves exhausted after call changes and Grandsire Triples. The last two towers were Tawstock and Atherington, the latter being Tony's 1,000 th tower. This was a very suitable ending to a most enjoyable week.
During the week we also rang York, Dur. ham and Hayes Alliance.
We would like to thank the incumbents and those ringers who met us.
V.R. and E. Z.

Another very fine handbell performance has taken place at Harrow-20 methods of Spliced Surprise Major, which is a new record. Dr. D. E. Sibson acted as umpire and checked the lead-ends throughout the peal.

The neal at Accrington on August 28th (see page 656) was rung at the Church of St. James and not as stated.
More than 3,000 ringers have rung a peal this year-an indication of the healthy state of the Exercise to-day. It cannot be said that peal ringers are just a clique.
The peal of Plain Bob Major at Dronfield, Derbyshire, was the first local peal on the eight halls There were three deals on the old six, but, writes G. N. Goodall, they were rung over 100 years ago. A composition by Amburn Wilson, who rang the seventh, also helped to maintain the local flavour.

Mr. Jesse Davis, hon. secretary of the West Dorset Branch, writes to tell us that Thorncombe is in Dorset, near the county boundaries of Devon and Somerset. The peal rung on August 30th by the local Sunday service band was for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. Confusion arises from the postal address being Thorncombe, Chard, Somerset.
We feel certain that all their old friends in Salop and Guildford will congratulate Mr. and Mrs. E. Weatherby on their diamond wedding anniversary on September 21st. The folbowing day was Mr. Weatherby's 93rd birthday. They are living at an old people's home, Plumb Hall, Alhambra, California (P.O. Box 2085) and were presented with a large celebration cake which they shared with the other 40 residents.

In aid of the Bell Restoration Fund of St. Mary the Virgin Church, Brabourne, Kent, a production of 'Son et Lumiere' will be nresented for a fortnight from Monday, Octobe: 19th, to Saturday, October 31st, at 7.30 p.m. Seating is limited to just over 100 . Tickets: 7 s . 6 d . reserved, and 5 s . unreserved, with 1 e duction for parties, from the Rev. K. A. Sheekey, The Rectory, Smeeth, Ashford; Kent. (Tel. Sellindge 2126.)

BELFRY GOSSIP

Some encouraging progress has taken place at Alton, where Mr. Rex J. Corke is conductor. Four of the local band rang their first peal (Grandsire Triples) on September 20th. These included Mr. L. J. Noakes, who has been ringing regularly for over 40 years.
The next annual meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild will be held in London on May 15 th.

The 'Cheshire Ringers' have just concluded a four-day tour of Ireland and scored five tower bell peals from six attempts, including a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin.

Canon Gilbert Thurlow sincerely thanks those who made it possible for him to ring with them recently on the Isle of Wight. If going there, contact Mr. Lester Baiky. Greensmead, Church Road, Godshill, and you will receive a warm welcome.

Messrs. John Taylor & Co.. are due to start work on dismantling Daventry bells and frame on November 2 nd. There is to be a new metal frame, three bells recast and two new trebles added to increase the ring to ten. The local ringers are raising the cost of recasting the present treble and second bells.

The week-end course at Grantley Hall, Yorkshire, was filled to capacity and several late applicants had to be turned down. A particularly keen group gathered and the weekend activities included several new features. The demands for more and longer courses indicated students' abvious enjoyment and satisfaction. Already the next course (No. 6) has been booked for July 23rd, 1965.

Readers may have noticed the frequency with which Daventry has appeared in the peal columns this year. Twelve have been rung, and one lost due to a broken rope, and two more are to be attempted before the bellhangers start work next month. Although there are several houses very close to the tower, inconvenience to residents is minimised due to an extremely efficient system of sound control installed a few years ago to Mr. F. Sharpe's specifications.

KIMPTON CUP COMPETITION

The sixth Kimpton Cup competition was held at SS. Peter and Paub's, Kimpton, on September 26th. The competition, open to Hertfordshire towers, was rather poorly supported this year-only five entries from a possible 70 or so towers affiliated
Two neighbouring towers were open during the afternoon-Codicote, a pleasant six, and Welwyn, a light eight, which unfortunately shout down' into the High Street of this Best Kept Village.
Following the competition, over 40 ringers sat down to a salad tea served by local ladies in the Village Hall. Would tea be more er:joyable if the results were announced beforchand?
After tea the Vicar of Kimpton, the Rev K. G. Martin, welcomed the ringers once again to Kimpton and thanked them generally for their service to the Church in their various places. He hoped that the new towns would reakise the value of the bells and consider making provision for them in the new churches. The Rev. Mr. Martin then asked the judges, Mr. A. P. Cannon and Mr. C. H Kippin, for their comments and results. Mr. Kippin said the general level of ringing was good, and if Sunday service ringing was up to this standard we should not have much cause for concern. A large number of fauls were caused by bad leads. A poor lead often resulted in several faults in that row. The treble ringer in several teams was too quick and did not give the larger bells enough room Tenors were also criticised in some cases for forcing too fast a pace. Considerable amusement was caused by Mr. Kippin's imagined description of the treble ringer of one band, He pictured a fair young damsel ringing the bell and the conductor reluctant to shout at this pretty young thing as she made faul after fault. The gentleman from Baldock who was actually concerned appeared to be a little embarrassed but look it all in good part.
Mr. Cannon supported Mr. Kippin's comments and said that most of the faults were caused by the trebles
The results were as follows: 1 North Mymms (Cambridge), 127 faults: 2 Kings Langley (Plain Bob). 147: 3 Baldock (Cambridge), 157: 4 St. Stephen's, St. Albans (Kent), 238. Kimpton (Plain Bob Doubles) were disqualified for not completing 360 changes due to a miscall.
This made the 'hat-trick" for North Mymms, Mr. G. Spencer receiving the Kimpton Cup on behalf of the band from the Rev Martin
The judges were each presented with an ash tray as a memento and token of appreciation. This gift prompted the query from one of the judges as to whether it was a Mears or Taylor bell depicted on the ash tray
In general discussion that foblowed, it was agreed that the date of the next competition should be September 25th, 1965, at Kimpton. The committee for the 1965 event are as follows: Messrs. B. M. Barker. E. G. Buck, J. G. Cull, P. Fells and D. C. Price.

MERTON COLLEGE, OXFORD, SEPTENCENTENARY

By PHILIP WALKER

SEVEN hundred years ago, on September 14th, 1264, Walter de Merton, afterwards Bishop of Rochester. obtained from Henry III and the Bishop and Chapter of Winchester permission to establish 20 scholars at Oxford or at some other university. In 1270 the plan was further enlarged and in 1274 a final set of statutes was drawn up whereby the College was definitely established in Oxford.
The Chapel is the largest in the University and the first to be built in a college. The choir was begun in 1290 but the tower was not completed until 1450. The tower is situated at the west end of the Chapel and had the intended nave ever been built it would have been a central tower.
The eight bells which were cast in 1680 are all by Christopher Hodgson and are the oldest complete ring by one founder in existence. Mr. F. Sharpe, in his book The Church Bells of Oxfordshire, tells us that the bells are mentioned in the Bursar's rolls as early as 1288. Anthony Wood rang at the college in the 17 th century and records that the tenor bell was reputed to be the finest bell in England. The five bells were recast by Michael Darbie into a ring of eight in 1657 . Unfortunately these bells were not a success and as one would expect the founder was blamed for their poor quality. However, we must remember that casting a ring of eight bells in those early days was purely an experiment.
Christopher Hodgson visited Oxford to recast Great Tom at Christ Church. Merton College authorities, taking advantage of his visit. asked him to recast the college hells. They still remain as Hodgson made them. They hang in an oak frame made by Messrs. White, of Appleton, towards the end of the 19th century.
The bells were originally rung from the ground floor of the Chapel and it is clear that this must have been extremely arduous. The ropes were obviously very long and bellhanging in those days was very primitive. Today the bells are rung from a gallery 60 feet above the floor of the Chapel. The tenor weighs approximately 26 cwt .

Ringing at the College is now confined almost entirely to ringing on special occasions such as the Queen's Accession Anniversary, etc. These special rings are undertaken by members of the Oxford Society.
Peal ringing at the College over the years has not been very prolific. The Oxford Society's records list eight peals rung on the bells. The first, Grandsire Triples, is dated October 5th, 1817, and was conducted by J. Tagg. Between December 24 th, 1888, and December 28th, 1896, six peals were rung, three of Stedman, two of Grandsire, and one of London. This group of six peals was all conducted by J. W. Washbrook, who was very active as a conductor in and around Oxford at this time. On September 6th, 1945. a peal of Cambridge was rung by the following members of the Oxford Society: V. J. F. Bennett 1, W. F. Judge (cond.) 2, A. H. Reed 3, F. A. H. Wilkins 4, C. F. Andrews 5, W. Williams 6. Rev. C. E. Wigg 7, J. E. Spice 8. This is the last peal to be rung at the college to date and seems to have been the cause of trouble with the college authorities. It appears that the organiser, when he made the arrangements, omitted to make it clear that a peal on these bells would take three and a half hours to ring. We understand that a determined effort was made to stop the ringing but it was found impossible to force an entry by way of the door which had, of course, been locked. The ringers were therefore able to complete the peal without interference in 3 hours and 33 minutes.
To celebrate the actual date of the College's 700th anniversary the governing body requested the Oxford Society to ring for half an hour on Monday, September 14th. 1964. The opportunity was however taken to suggest that the occasion warranted something more than what amounted to an ordinary ring and the college authorities were asked to consider giving permission for a peal to be attempted. It was however, eventually decided that an hour's ringing was all that could be allowed. It was then regretfully decided that a quarter peal was all that could be attempted. The quarter was successful and produced some of the best ringing to be heard on these bells for a very long time. The details are as follows: At Merton College, Oxford, on Monday, September 14th, 1964. 1.260 Stedman Triples was rung by members of the Oxford Society: P. Walker 1. W. F. Judge 2, J. R. Chaundy 3, E. R. Venn 4. B. R. White 5 , E. J. Smith 6, S. J. Ivin (cond.) 7. F. A. White 8. The conductor was recently a member of the College.
The ringers made their way down from the tower to find waiting for them the Warden of the college in company with the Domestic Bursar. Pleasure was expressed by them as to the quality of the performance and, remarking that it must have been thirsty work, they took us along to the Hall for liquid refreshment. This gesture was much appreciated by us all.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION Non-Association Peal Protest Criticised

The first general meetıng of the Yorkshire Association for many years at Birstwith was held on September 12th. For the first time at a September meeting there was ringing in the morning when the fine new eight at St. Peter's Church, Harrogate, were enjoyed as well as the six at Beckwithshaw. Birstwith bells are a known attraction and despite the unfortunate clash with two other ringing meetings in Yorkshire a fairly representative company gathered for some good ringing. Evening Prayer was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. R. C. Capel-Cure, who joined the ringers at tea in the Station Hotel.
The President of the Association. Archdeacon C. O. Ellison, presided at the business mecting. Mr. E. Hudson in p:oposing a vote of thanks to all those who had co-operated in holding the meeting mentioned specially the wish of the late Jackson Ewbank that a Yorkshire General Meeting be held at Birstwith Mr. H. Walker, seconded this proposal and commented on the good lead the Vicar had given in the singing at the s.rvice.

Three new members were elected: Mr Gordon Pearce (Huntington). Miss Ka'herine Witson (Guiscley) and Mr. Rick Dirksen (Washington Cathedral), who rang his first 720 on the lass day of the Washingion trip in May.
Mr. Roger Lumley raised the yuestion of the peal levy. doubting whether the issucs were clearly put at the Annual General Mecting in May. The Presid nt said he thought there had been no confusion and that mombers had had full opportunity 10 reject both a $6 d$. and a 1 s . levy. He criticised very strongly the footnote to a recent Non-Association peal report • Rung as a protest to the peal levy.' He thought this a gross misuse of bells meant to be used for the glory of Got. Mr. Vernon Bottomley supported the President stating that he thought it was the intention of the Doncaster meeting that there should he a peal levy. Mr. Lumley intimated that he would propose next May that the new rule be rescinded.
The next gencral meeting will be on January 16th. probably at Halifax
Immediately after the business an interesting talk on the Washington trip by Mr. Norman Chaddock was much appreciated. Further ringing at Birstwith and Beckwithshaw and also it the six-bell tower of Kirk Deighton followed.

THE RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD

The favourable conditions prevalling for the Guild's autumn meeting at Cambridge, en September 26th. helped considerably to make the programme for the day very satisfactory, both in ringing and travelling.
The chief guent was the Mayor (Alderman P. J. Warren), who visited the tower of Great St. Mary and watched ringing in progress. in his words of welcome to Cambridge, he stated that he was very impressed with what he saw in the belfry.

The number present was a great improvement on the last meeting. All regions were represented. but the Masters of the North Eastern and the Eastern Regions were unable to attend and were among the 18 apologies received.

Ringing commenced at St. Bene 'ts'. and other lowers visited were Great St. Mary (12), Our Lady (R.C.) Church (8), St. Mary's. Trumpington (8) and St. Andrew's (8). Weddings at two of the churches upset th: schedtule slighely.

At the short business meeting Mr. Sid Foskett asked that the hon. sec. should write a letter of condolence to Mr. and Mrs. W. Hollands on the recent loss of their son-in-law.

Arrangements for the 1965 annual general meeting at London and the autumn meeting at Swansea were already in progress, and memhers were asked to note the dates of both. Four new members were elected.

In the vote of thanks Mr. Frank Stenson thanked the incumberts concerned for the use of the bells, and Mr. Charles Bassett for the excellent programme.

A SHROPSHIRE TRIANGULAR FRAME

Dear Sir.-I may be able to add a little to Mr. Johnson's interesting article (Sept. 4th) on four-bell towers in Shropshire

At HUGHLEY the bells hang in a timberframed brick bell-cot. Instead of being supported from the floor by heavy oak posts (as in so many churches in the South-East) the whole weight of the bell-cot is carried on gak beams spanning between the nave walls. The hells are at present fitteri with cords instead of ropes and would need considerable attention before any attempt was made to ring them.

ACTON BURNELL hells hang in a small Victorian north tower which, in spite of its size, contains a first-floor ringing room. The bells are fitted with proper ropes and are ringable although normally chimed from the ground floor by means of an apparatus.

The bells at STOKE ST. MILBOROUGH hang in a really massive 17 th century oak trame but this has been damaged by boetle in places and the fittings are in very poor shape. The bells are not good in tone or tune: numbers 1. 3 and 4 are approximately a major three and the 2nd is a semitone! The tenor is G-sharp.

CARDINGTON'S iriangular frame can, I think, be dated approximately by the 2nd bell (1626) which would make it nearly contemporary with the similar frame at Onibury.

It spans the tower from north to south and all four hells are roped on the same side of the whecl hence the straight rope circle.
"The bells are rung from the ground floor. giving a long draught, but the ropes are good and the bells appeared to he ringable when I saw them last January. I understood then that they had not been rung for Christmas but that they had been rung on occasions in 1962-3. I doubt if the frame shakes enough to cause any harm. In view of the rarity of triangular frames your readers may be interested to see the enclosed photograph. The bell- wete sefited and two of them recess by Barwell in 1887, two years betore Actan Burnell. The note of the Rudhall tenor is $\mathbf{G}$.Yours faithfully, CHRISTOPHER DALTON. Leigh, Surrey.

The triangular frame at Cardington, Salop, approximately 1626. All four bells are roped on the same side of the wheel. hence the straight rope 'circle.'

Tower Master's 80th Birthday

The 80th birthday of Mr. Hadley S. Gregory, cower master of Emmanuel Church, Clifton, on October ist. was commemorated by a peal on Emmanuel bells by a representative band of old friends. This was followed by a tea in the Church Hall, at which the Vicar (the Rev. R. M. Brettelth and Dr. T. G. Faulkner (churchwarden) were among those offering congratulations. Mrs. McDowall provided an excellent tea, including a cake adorned with 80 candles.

Mr. Gregory has been a ringer for 55 years He was tower master at St. Andrew's, Clifton from 1930 until the church was destroyed by enemy action in 1940. Since then he has been in charge of Emmanuel bells and is untiring in his efforts to keep both hells and ringers in order.

ANOTHER 1,000-PEALER

Mr. Joseph W. Cotton, hon. secretary of the Midland Counties Association, rang his 1.000th peial on Uctober 6th at his own tower, Overseal. The method was Overseal Delight and it was conducted hy Mr. Brian G. Warwich.

Shropshire Fours - Baschurch

Dear Sir.-A correction is necessary to my letter on the ahove (page 635). Though the fine Flemish hell and the third by Thomas Clihury II, lifo? remain as cast. Taylors tell me that they did recisis the treble and tenor in 1909, as they were both damaged. My apologies to Mr . Johnson for only having halt the story.-Yours faithfully,
R. W. M. CLOUSTON.

Radlett, Herts.

A CANNONADE OF INDIGNATION

'Not Fiddled
Dear Sir.-Congratulations to Mr. Hol'om on his most amusing, albeit rather pathetic letter.
I have never had the misfortune of ringing in a peal with Mr. Holtom but, having seen him pertorm at the end of a rope, the prospect of having to drag him through even a touch of Bcb Major would be enough to fill me with alarm and despondency. Pat Cannon is to be congratulated on his patience and perseverance in having given Mr. Holtom the simple pleasure of a peal or two: but then A.P.C. has' always been a good man with the learners and. in his ustal quiet and modest fashion. would probably decry any thanks for his efforts.

\text { I have rung in over } 100 \text { peals with Pat Can- }
$$ non and I don't suppose that i shall ever forget any of them, for various reasons. However, I think I can say with virtual certainty, and in all seriousness. that he has not 'fiddled or otherwise illegally adjusted a single one of thent. They have included most of the best peals that I have rung. and all of the most eniovable. To me, at any rate, the Exercise would be a very much poorer place without him.-Yours faithfully

ROBIN G. LEALE.

Teddington.

Another Tower Captain's Criticism

Dear Sir.-With reference 10 - Tower Captain's Criticism,' it is even more astonishing that the captain of Stoke D'Abernon does not know that his District Ringing Master ring; regularly at Dorking. Does he imagine that peal ringers and those who enjoy a day's ringing outing are not regular service ringess. or that they are not better ringers for the extra effort and time they devote to the Exercise?
In our District, there are a good number of 'ordinary service ringers' who find the time to attend meetings, so attempting to support both the Guild and District Masters in their efforts to improve the standard of ringing and in the encouragement of the towers where the beils are not often rung.
Mr. Ash's limited experience clearly shows lack of participation in his Guild activities. since Mr. Wilson devoted a complate week-end in July to members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Those attending found the lectures very enlightening and encouraging and have no doubt that Mr. Wilson, who also teaches learners. does not live in an ivory tower: we can only assume that Mr. Ash is trying to diso credit someone he has never met.-Yours sincerely,

PETER AND ANGELA SMART.
Ash, Surrey.

A Quote from Sibelius

Dear Sir, -1 was bath sorry and surprised to tead Mr. Holtom's letter. Such criticism, whether iustified or not, could scarcely come from a more incongruous source. in view of Mr. Cannon's patient and long-suffering attempts to instil the art of elementary change ringing into the infamous Mr. Hollom.
Before the situation has time to degenerate further, however, I should like to draw atlention to a few well-chosen words uttered by Sibelius after he. 1oo. on one occasion had heen subjected to heavy criticism: "No nue has ever erected a slatue to a critic:- Yours faithfully.
Hampton. Middlesex.

Ten Years Too Late

Dear Sir,-1 consider Mr. Holtom's letter to be most despicable and am amazed that it was published. What have these relics of the past to do with the 1,000 th any more than the 600th, 750 th or 8501 th peals which were claimed as such? As you stated. sir, a complaint ten years after the event is too late. Did Mr. Holtom not have the strength of his convictions a decade ago? Mr. Cannon restricts his conducting mainly to the standard methods and I often wonder whether this is the basic reason for the unkind digs made at him. From my own experience in the dozen or so peals rung with him the striking has in general been exceblent, and often better than in peals rung with more revered conductors.
Surely if Mr. Holtom is not exaggerating. some of the members of each band would have objected in having their names associated with the peals? It would only have needed one person to refuse to let his name be published. If Mr. Cannon was satisfied with the performances and Mr. Holtom was not. then it is quite clear to me with whom the fault lies and it would be more prudent at this stage for him to refran from hanging his own dirty washing on Mr. Cannon's line. He prewashing on Mr. Cannon's line. He presumably took part in the peal of Plain Boh in Wales-or did he receive the report second or third hand? - which would indicate that he had a laose of memory which he has subsequently regained.
In Surrey, where he is Master of the Suriey Association and a District Ringing Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, Mr. Cannon is abways welcome in our midst. His help to everyone, both at meetings, praciices and peal ringing, has made him very popular and I am sure the common feeling in this part of the country is, Congratulations, Pat!' Yours sincerely.

Old Woking, Surrey.

Untiring Tower Captain

Dear Sir.-With reference to the critical remarks of Messrs. Holtom and Ash in their respective letters re Mr. A. P. Cannon, may I suggest they visit St. Martin's Church, Dorking, one Monday evening. where for several years now Mr. Cannon has been the untiring captain battling against difficult odds with a struggling band of young ringers. It is an exception if he does not attend a practice night and his patience and encouragement must be witnessed to be appreciated. He also finds time to carry out successfully the duties of Master of both the Surrey Association and the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Guild, rarely missing a meeting of either.

So. correspondents, instead of voicing hostile judgment. which achieves nothing. be more virtuous and refrain from commenting until such time as more meritorious remarks are forthcoming.-Yours faithfully, forthcoming.-Yours faithfully, A SURREY RINGER

Torment, not Sport

Dear Sir.-Change ringing is not sport: it is a disease, at least to those performers who are meationed in "The Ringing World."
As to peal totals, we heard and read rete same about the Rev. $F$. $E$. Robinson and otheis. I have always found it easier to maintain a good band where tis are a few pealringing members. And it is your duty to singing in a pembers. for them if they have riven you ioy in learning the methods. After standing in a peal and the conductor says Yours faithfully. $\wedge$ FLAT.

Local Bands' Backbone

Dear Sir.- The issue of October Ist contained more than its fair share of critical correspondience, but the letter from Mr. Ash is typical of the sour grapes attitude adopted by many second-rate ringers who, because they are either incompetent or unpleasantly eccentric are not invited to take part in peals arianged by people who find very great joy in the ringing of peals. They usually finish up by putting themselves on a pedestal and calling themselves 'Ordinary Sunday Service Ringers,' thereby inferring, if not actually saying, that peal ringers are not also service ringers.
li's high time this lie was nailed. Of course there are a dew who let the side down, but on the whole it is my experience that peoplc who are or who have let the side down, but the backbone of the local hand, where it is a keen. competent and progressive one.
I'm not sure that I agree with Mr. Wilson in thinking that everything in the garden is lovely at Stoke D'Abernon. It seems a little too good to be true-in fact I would say that the smig attitude of the lower captain suggests the presence of a serpent !-Yours sincerely. PATRICK J. CHAPMAN.

Ringing Master-Holy Cross, Daventry.

Peal on Unrededicated Bells

Dear Sir.-I was very surprised to hear that a peal had been rung on the as yet unrededicated bells at Skeffington in Leicester shire. I was even more surprised when I read who had rung the peal. Even though I know the conductor quite well I'm afraid it doesn't alter my view, and that of other loca' ringers, that this sort of thing rather goes against the grain, especially as local ringers (not including myself) who had been asked - assist in forming a band were hoping to be able to have rung the first peal on the newiy rehung belis, and hadn't dreamed of atpproaching the Vicar for permission until after the rededication.
Secondly, we recently had a request from the local university for the use of Thurnby bells on a weekday Permission was duly granted and when the time came three ringers arrived to ring six bells. Fortunately for them, one of our married lady ringers met them and they were able to ring three badly struck courses of Bob Minimus. If a nonringer, i.e., the Vicar, had met them, would they have rung three bells and still crossed the tower off in 'Dove
I'm not against tower-snatching as such, as I have indulged in it myself. but I think certain rules shoald be observed. Namely, that the bells should be rung for at keast ?0 minutes and that five-and six-hell towers should be fully manned.-Yours faithfully.

Thurnby, Leics.

Chartham

Dear Sir,-The peal at Chartham was called round as stated and I must accept the blame for this. My ringing on this occasion was very unstable as a result of a serious illness from which I had not completely recovered. Mr. Brian Woodruffe was the conductor and I presume the local ringer referred to was Mr. Dennis Chapman. Mr. Nicholas Davies was Inso included but I cannot remember the names of the other two. I don't know who The tive hoys were 10 whom Mr. Cook refers. hut they were certainly not ringiug at Chartham on this occasion.-Yours Sincerely

A Washington Practice

Dear Sir,-When H.M.C. Decoy visited Baltimore recently I was fortunate in being able to ring at the Saturday morning practice at Washington Cathedral on September 12th. At the same practice was Bob Mordaunt, of Oriel College, Oxford, who was on a tour of the U.S.A. Despite having read George Pipe's article, 'Ten Men Went to Sow, the ringing chamber was an awe inspiring sight, not only on account of vastness but also furnishings.
For the first hour and a half the bells were rugg muffled and plain hunt on eight with the tenor behind was successfully attempted. A fair part of this time was devoted to learners. The bells were lowered in order to take the muttles off and then raised again afterwards. in each case it was the front six. then the back four. As the ten bells pealed out straight afterwards and settled into rounds. the wonderful tone of these bells was really aporeciated. I was asked to call changes on the ten and this went very well. imagine my surprise at a round of applause for calling the changes. All too soon the time came to lower the bells again and the front six were brought down in grand style. The team got some well deserved praise and applause for this from the other rincers.

Considering the short time they've been ringing, the progress of the Cathertral team is enormous. There is a spirit of keenness and determination in the tnwer which I'm sure will make them into a really great team. They are eaperly lonking forward to the forthenming visit of Mr. Price, of Bnurnemouth, who is geing over as instructor for four months.
Mv thanks apain to the Washington team for the grand rine we had that morning, and I wish them all the best for the fiture.

James W. Washbrook

Dear Sir,-Items to "The Ringing World hy Mr. Fdwin Bornett are alwavs of great interest and especially when they relate to ringing piants of a nast aqe. Of his memorable vis:' to Arklow. Mr. Barnett mentions his amazement at the arcuracs of the striking, when James W. Washhrook rang the tenors in a touch of Bob Major. It is on record that Mr. Washbrook once attempted to ring these two bells to a neal in the methnd. which failed around the halfway mark. One wonders if nur old friend, Mr. William Shepherd, was in this attempt.

Besides ringing towether on tower bells. the family of Washbrook freauently rang touches on handbells. At Tunstall. Staffs. in March. 1917., a coirse of Grandsire Cinques was rung:

Rougham, Suffolk, Ringers' Outing

Accompanied by their Rector and churchwardens, Rougham ringers and friends enjoyed their outing into Essex on September 19 th. Towers visited were Sible Hedingham, Wethers. field, Great Bardfield, Finchingfield and Gestingthorpe. Four young ringers were in the party and rang rounds; others enjoyed Stedman, Cambridge Kent, Oxford and other methods. Mr. L. Wright was thanked by the Rector for the wonderful arrangements he made for the enjoyment of both ringers and

LOSSES TO AUSTRALIAN RINGING

MRS. JEAN IRELAND

The early death of Jean Ireland at the age of 28 is a sad blow to the band at St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, and to her many ringing friends in England.
She was born at Kingston-on-Thames, but moved to Clitheroe at an early age where she learned to ring at the church of St. Mary Magdalene. As Jean Dawson, she will be remembered for the prolific amount of ringing she did around Clitheroe, and later at Reading, where she gained a Science degree at the University. She was master of the Reading University Society 1957-8 and in 1958 married Frank Ireland. They lived for a while in Birmingham, and then for nearly two years in Burnley before coming to Australia in 1960 where Frank obtained a pcst at the Weapons Research Establishment, Salisbury, South Australia.
Jean joined the Adelaide Cathedral band and despite living 16 miles from the tower was a regular attender until increasing family commitments made it more difficult for her ts come. Her fourth child was born only a few months before she was taken ill, and rushed to hospital on Good Friday, suffering from leukaemia. Every one who knew Jean could not help but marvel at the tremendous enthusiasm she had for everything she undertook, including ringing. and throughout her illness this enthusiasm never waned. Members of the Cathedral hand were frequent visitors to the hospital, and Jean was very pleased that on occasions she could hear the Cathedral bells.
In July, having showed some response to treatment. she was allowed home for a few weeks. but returned to hospital late in Augu $t$, and there she died on September 22nd.

Before the funeral on Sedtrmber 24th the Cathedral hells were rung half-muffled, every member of the band being present at the short service held in the Lady Chapel. Jean's Finglish ringing friends were renresented by Ron Russ. Four of the ringers acted as pall hearers and Rev. W. W. D-vonshire. the new Bishop's Vicar. himself a ringer, paid tribute to her splendid example of service to the exercise. There was more half-muffled ringing as the cortege moved off to Centennial Park Crematorium. where the ringers were represented by their captain, Bill Pitcher.

Lincoln and Washington

Dear Sir,-I have been unfortunately misquoted in your account of the Lincoln dinner.
To imply that the very best were sent to Washington would be, to say the least. im pertinent! What I did say was that the Lincoln Guild had, in Mr. Freeman. a solendid ambassador and that during the relativelv short teaching time we had in America we did the very best we could.
Whilst on the subject. I have had one or two mild rebukes re the last paragraph of the Washington supplement which described the visit as the 'best tour ever!" This came about due to having to shorten and delete some of the latter saragraphs for available space: the implication being that it must have bsen 'one of the best Adventure and other tours will be ranked with this and I therefore anologise to anyone who fcels we have been a little presumptuous !! Yours, etc.

GEORGE W. PIPE.

Bells and Nuisance

Dear Sir,-In my letter published in "The Ringing World on September 25th, the word "public' should be omitted from the third line of the third paragraph. The names of the case on public nuisance should be Soltau v. de Held. I am sorry if these errors were due to my inadvertence.-Yours faithfully.

JOHN CAMP.
Amersham, Bucks.

Jean had a fair number of peals to her credit, but no record of these is available. Her first was a notable one, Oxford Treble Bob Royal. She had only gone to listen, and the band met short. Her last peal, and the only one she rang in Australia, was Grandsir Triples at Adelaide Cathedral on February 20th. 1963. It was the first peal on the bells. conducted by Enid Roberts, a great friend of Jean's.
A half-muffled quarter of Grandsire Triples was rung to her memory at the Cathedral on September 29th, and the Exercise will extend its sympathy to Frank and the children.

May she rest in peace.

MR. WILLIAM SMITH

The death occurred in hospital on September 30 th, after a long illness, of Mr. William Smith, aged 74 years, for many years a ringer at St. James' Church. Turramurra, New South Wales.
A native of Leicester, where he learned to ring. Mr. Smith arrived in Australia in 1911 He served as lieutenant in the 14 th Field Company Engineers and 53rd Battalion Infantry Ist A.I.F. in World War I
A builder by trade, he left many fine examples of his craftsmanship in the Turramurra district. He had been a parish councillor at St. Swithun's, Pymble, and a member of the Sydney Diocesan Synod for some years.

Welb known to all ringers in Sydney. Mr Smith was one of those responsible for the strong revival in change ringing therc following World War II, and his enthusiasm served as an example to the ringers at St. James' until his illness early this year. Under his guidance Treble Bob methods were again being rung at St. James' for the first time in several years.

Mr. Smith had made two return visits to Britain in peace-time. the second in 1961, when he made many new friends in towers there, including meeting again his long-time correspondent, the late Ernest Morris.
The funeral service was held at St. James on October 2nd, followed that evening by half-muffled touches of Plain Bob Minor. He is survived by his son, Wing Commander James Smith, R.A.A.F., and his brother, Ted. W. K

MARLBOROUGH BRANCH OUTING

Nearly all the towers in the Branch were re presented at the annual outing on September 26 th , which was organised and directed by the Rev. Roger Keeley (Branch Ringing Master). The party of 65 was accommodated in two coaches.
The first objective was the Cathedral campanile at Chichester, which was reached at $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Ringing here was much enjoyed although the 82-step climh defeated some of the older members. A pleasant hour was later spent at Feltham, where we met Mr. and Mrs Wake. A picnic lunch was taken at Bognor Regis in the warm sunshine. We reached Lyminster as a wedding had just ended, and the happy couple received an extra send-off with some good Wiltshire ringing for an hour. The party divided at Washington, one coach remaining, and the other proceeding to Storrington. Some good ringing took place at both towers. After a short stop for refreshments at Winchester home was reached abou 11 r.m. Miss Winifred Keys is thanked for helping in the programme, and ako the Ringing Master, incumhents and tower captains.
W. A. E. non-ringers.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY ASSOCIATION HAVE HUNTING HORN

Tudor Edwards, who, with Pat Bird, was joint organiser of the Bristol University Society's tour of the Welsh Borderlands which started at Cound on August 27th, purchased a hunting horn. Whether it was to rally the party or to enliven fired spirits the report does not state.

Among the unusual incidents were the snapping of the clapper of the tenor halfway through the first touch at Ellesmere; at Whittington ringing Whittingtons in some Devonstyle call changes: at Ruabon a local ringer was heard to say: 'I see there is a paper called "The Ringing World."
Sunday ringing was organised by Tudor Edwards and after motoring separately we assembled near the Runcorn-Widnes bridge before proceeding to ring for and attend Matins at Halewood. We rang some Bristol on this pleasant light eight. At the next tower, Childwall, as might be expected, we rang a touch of Childwall and, after lunching in the Chinese manner, we met at Liverpool Cathedial. After the luxury of a lift to the bells we verified that two double-decker buses could indeed be driven between the bells and the lower walls.
We had several unsuccessful attempts a Major on Woolton bells, but we managed a good touch of Stedman Triples, The tour finished on a good note with several touche, of Cinques on the delightful bells of St. Nicholas', Liverpool
We should like to thank Pat Bird and Tudor Edwards for their work in organising the tour, and also all incumbents and local ringers for allowing us to ring their bells.
C. M. and E. G. M

DAVENTRY, NORTHANTS, HALF-DAY

Daventry ringers enjoyed a half-dav outing 10 four Bedfordshire octaves on September 19th. The fine bells at St. Owen's, Bromham, which stands in a beautiful parkland setting, were the first attraction: the unique dedication was the source of much speculation. Here we discovered that our coach driver was a ringer and a member of the Naseby band. A run through Bedford and the country lanes beyond, with a glimpse at the airship hangar: a! Cardington and the Maypole, at Inkwell Green, brought us to Biggleswade, where we had tea after a pleasant session on the Gillett and Johnston eight.
Although the springy new rope on the tenor at Clifton put off some, we managed, with the help of Messes. Mays and Bywaters, to produce some passable ringing on the tuneful! little eight. A 12 -mile journey (plus diversions) through Clophill (notorious for murder and black magic), Maulden and Ampthill, where we waved madly at David Hoare, who failed to recognise us, and we came to Woburn to renew acquaintance with the Mears bells and some old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Spavins and the Vicar. By not attempting anything more difficult than Cambridge we managed our best ringing of the day. At Towcester we refreshed ourselves for the last short journey home.
We would like to thank those who allowed us to ring and those who met us, yet again confirming that ringers can always depend upon a welcome in Bedfordshire. N.C.

SHROPSHIRE RINGERS IN THE LAKE DISTRICT

Included in the picture are Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. F. Beech, Miss Marian Cotton. Messes. E. V. Rodenhurst, Michael Wycherly, George Morrall, Ian Friends and Peter Morris.

$\mathrm{N}^{2}$IHNE Shropshire ringers and friends from Staffordshire left for Ambleside on August 29th in a minibus driven by Dick Morris and spent a happy week in the Lake District. On Sunday there was morning and evening service ringing at Ambleside and a tour of Lake Coniston in the afternoon.
The best touch of the tour was rung at Workington on Monday (Double Norwich). Other towers visited that day were Cockermouth, Aspatria and Keswick. The great love of people for their bells was evident at Keswick with a ringers' corner in the graveyard directly under the bell tower. The panoramic engraving of surrounding peaks and ancient ringers' orders here were interesting.

Four eights were in Tuesday's programmeat Egremont,. St. Bees, Hensingham and Cleator Moor, a fine heavy eight which turned over slowly. The Latin inscription on the wal behind each rope at Penrith (visited with Appleby on Wednesday) was a novelty.
Thursday was spent in the Lancashire part of the Lakes, with ringing at Broughton, Bar-row-in-Furness (difficult to handle), Alverston and Hawkshead. On Friday Bowness, Kendall, Ambleside and Langdale were visited. Thanks are due to Marian for her organisation, and also to incumbents and local ringers.

OUTING

TWERTON-ON-AVON

More than half of the 27 ringers participating in the Twerton-on-Avon outings on September 16 th were under 15 , and it was perhaps appropriate that at the first tower, West Overton, near Marlborough, where Captain T. Mansfield-Robinson is head ringer, the bells are rung regularly by a band of school!children. Hungerford bells, augmented to eight in 1927 by Nears and Stainbank, were easy to handle, and the ten at Newburg really worth a visit. The inspiring thing here was the way the bells were rung by youngsterstheir good beat in call changes rather showed up the seniors' Caters.

After lunch, Mr. Hebert and his son were waiting for us at East Ilsey, the lightest eight in Berkshire. Ringing at Wantage was curtailed by a wedding. Faringdon, with its beautiful octave, hung by Taylors in 1926, has the shortest central lower we have seen. We had here a really topping pull, ending with Queen's at the bottom. Our only tower after tea was the five at Great Cowell. The bells, which have not the best of reputations, had been specially oiled for our visit, which coincided with a farewell to the Rector (the Rev. E. Wicks). As we had two organists with us and a host of choir members, we finished here with 'The Halleluia Chorus' from The Messiah.' We conclude with grateful thanks to all who helped to make the outing so enjoyable.

Cowbridge Ringers at University

The Doubles peal band who have been aclive at Cowbridge Glam., this year attempted a final peal at Llanblethian before two of their number departed for University. Trouble with a pulley wheel limited the ringing to at quarter of Plain Bob Doubles, called from the tenor by Lew Groom-his first as conductor. Best wishes from all local ringers to Gareth Jones at St. John's College, Cambridge, and to Paul Evans at Birmingham University.

Mr. Shirley Burton is the fourth Leicester ringer to complete the century of peals of Surprise Maximus, the others being Peter J. Staniforth, Herrick B. Bowley and William J. Root. Will anyone interested in ringing a peal at Leicester Cathedral, who has rung 100 Surprise Maximus peals, please contact Herrick B. Bowley, 108, Anstey Lane, Leicester, who is endeavouring to find 12 ringers who have completed this century.
We are informed that the peal at Curry Mallett (p. 669) was rung on September 19th and not August 19th.
The peal at Harrow Weald was also rung to celebrate the birth of a son to the Vicar and Mrs. D. Bond.

Husborne Crawley, Beds. have a promising young ringer in Lunda Templeman. aged 12, who handled her bell very well in her first quarter on September 27th.
Blaby, Leicestershire, ringers are very proud of ten-year-old Steven Thompson who, reports the conductor, "rang the treble superbly' to his first quarter on October 4 th.
Miss Sian Evans, who is leaving Cardigan for Bristol to train as a physiotherapist, rang in her farewell quarter. She learned to ring after Cardigan bells were rehung in 1961 and has so far rung in nine quarter peals.
The ringers of the 9th in the peal of New Cambridge Royal at St.-John-the-Divine. Leicester, on September 5th ( R.W.' page 654) was Brian S. Chapman and NOT Brian S. Cope, as submitted.
One of the oldest tower foremen in the country is Mr. Fred Foster, of Bosbury. Herefordshire. His 90th birthday was marked by a quarter peal on September 25 th.

We regret to learn that Mr. Albert J. Dunk, of Stockbury, has undergone a serious operation at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, Rochester. His many friends in the Rochester District wish him a complete and speedy recovery.
Ringing the tenor to Grandsire Triples at Monken Hadley, Middlesex, on October 4th was Mr. W. Langley, whose 84 th birthday was the previous day. He has rung at this scwer for 40 years.

Congratulations to Mr . Edgar C. Shepherd on completing 50 years this month GOSSIP e writes: Despite all that has as a ringer. He writes: Despite all that has our ringing as a sport. We did not perhaps think of it very carefully at all, except that it was a very desirable thing to do; but our being in the belfry at all was a natural consequence of our being attached to the church, having had years of choirboy work, and we just as naturally took this as part of our church observation.
Mr. R. Kingsley Mason inquires, 'Was Mr. John Jelley sweating as much as I was on the afternoon of October 3 rd'?

Mr. George E. Fearn's peal week in Hampshire and Dorset was very successful with 10 peals being rung. Another peal was secured at Oxford en route.
On May 10th, 1939, the first peal was rung at Willingdon, Sussex and taking part was Miss Betty Rayfield. age 16 years. Eastbourne's first lady bellringer. On October 3 rd, 1964,25 years lates her daughter. also aged 16 years, conducted a peal of Bob Minor in the same tower.
The members of York Minster Society wish to associate the name of Frank Atkinson with the peal of Plain Bob Maximus rung on October 3rd. Frank is now 82 and has been a Minster ringer for 36 years. He has talked of retiring from ringing but is still a regular attender.

Ringing at St. John's Church, Longton, North Staffordshire, has been disrupted by further education. Michael Colclough has gone to London University, Christopher Tunnicliffe to Birmingham and Sheila Woodward to New-castle-upon-Tync. They take with them the best wishes of the band and hope to ring with them in the holidays.
Mrs. S. M. Beck, of the Vicarage, Church Crookham, Aldershot. is encouraged by the response so far received in selling Christmas cards on behalf of Guildford Cathedral Bell Fund. Her subject is the photograph of the Madonna and Child at the West End of the Cathedral. She is charging 5 s . per doz. for the cartis, including envelopes.

DEGENERATION IN CHURCH TOWER DESIGN

By T. A. BEVIS

Bellringers are fondly familiar with those substantial. seemingly indestructible Gothic structures from which bells have entreated and exhorted the faithful for many hundreds of years.

In the past decade concern has arisen in varying degrees over the future of church towers. Since the mid nineteen forties the desirable Gothic bloom, a consistent challenge to architects forever developing progressive upward thrusts and magnificent vaulted spans representative of poetry and prayer, undeniably symbolic of our island race and admired by men the world over . . . began to fade. In its place by small, apologetic beginnings, arose contemporary structures-airy, web-like sentinels among which may be seen conical and triangular designs, adhering to the current architectural trend.

Any future possibility of these buildings accommodating rings of bells is, to a large extents, inconceivable. Glass is substituted for louvres and loudspeakers for bells. At the press of a button the miracle of electronics sets in motion gravel-like vibrations in keeping with what many, rightly or wrongly, consider to be rootless foundations of the abstract age.

Some 12 months ago it was stated that ancient church towers cannot be expected to last for ever. History's unwritten rule remains consistently unconservative: the old must give way to the new. And, if care is not shown, the suffocation of valued traditions well ensue.

Nowadays it would seem that some lack of forethought between ecclesiastical authorities and architects is prevalent. Church architecture is again experiencing a revival. The last time a major revival occurred was five centurics ago-but it retained the practical element. Not so today.
An artist of the 20th century is not expected to paint what he outwardly sees: the resultant image is the product of psychological inspirations. There is no shape nor depth. Qualities by which good pictures are recognised are no longer visible.
Modern architecture follows much the same pattern free-flowing vision aided and abetted by new and cheaper materials, unfortunately heavily backed by economical difficulties. It all harmonises with changing spiritual conceptions to suit the age in which we live. And what have we? An increasing number of church 'towers' of a style out of this world. The perforated minaret at Stevenage New Town is a classical example of an expensive yet virtually useless ornamented substitute for a bell tower.

Unwittingly or deliberately something good and worthwhile is being sacrificed. Towers are becoming mere ornaments and without bells they are purely symbolic and therefore of no practical value.
It is frequently alleged that an increasing number of architects advise against the installation of bells in modern towers. Such advice, naturally, is strongly supported by the preponderous financial problems involved. Taperecordings are much cheaper-and convenient.
How refreshing it is when at least one architect displays concern for the future of the art of bellinging.
Brian Austen, writing in the ' Ely Diocesan Gazette,' asks Are we in danger of forgetting bells in our contemporary church building?
He suggests that the absence of bell towers in new church building is largely due to the fear that they would involve too much expenditure. 'In some new churches the provision of a tower is therefore dismissed entirely, and the architect completes his design without it.'
In other cases a tower might be regarded at a later stage in the building of the church. ' but this is unsatisfactory for both architect and client. as the chances of a tower actually being built are usually remote.'
Mr. Austen writes that these fears of cost are to some extent exaggerated. He concludes: 'It is no longer necessary to build huge towers to take heavy rings of bells: light rings can be easily accommodated in simple structures, provided there is close co-operation between architect structural engineer, bell founder and bell hanger at an early stage in the design.'

The issue is divided between cost and waste, with a fair dabbling of the psychological senses to add an unusual flavour. One feels that the writing is on the wall. The day of the Boston vision is over.
Is not the time opportune for authoritics in the ringing fraternity, ecclesiastical realm and architectural circles to view what would seem to be an urgent matter in our light, at every conceivable angle? All material things are subject to the future. Church towers and bells are an integral part of English Christian heritage. It would be a pity to see bells placed on record as a communicative art of the past. and towers degenerate to mere shapes and fancies of the mind-and be finally omitted from church building in future years.

CAMBRIDGE YOUTHS AND NELSON'S DEATH

MR. T. R. Dennis. of Cambridge, forwards us the following extract copied from the records of Cambridge Youths concerning the death of Admira! Lord Nelson, October 21 st, 1805.

This Society, from the day of its institution. 1724. has continued no less anxious to give the holiest intimation to the town of Cambridge of the arrival of news respecting the signal victories accomplished by British valour than it had been occasionally foremost in deploring the loss of not only such as havo bcen inembers of this Society but of the most eminent personages in this nation, such characters more especially in the military station who have universally merited the ap plause of their country.

- In a series of events which have benefited every Englishman. and garnished their Navy with the laurels of victory that time itself can never wither, all will readily perceive that this note is allusive to the many brilliant successes achieved by the immortal Admiral Nelson, whose Jife was lost on the 21st Octo ber. 1805, in the gain of a most glorious victory of Cape Trafalgar near Cadiz over the combined fleets of France and Spain, a victory most complete and, considering the alarming crisis of political affairs, the most important that ever dignified the annals of war.

It was on the arrival of the melancholy tidings of the loss of this luminious gem from the constellation of the British Navy that this Societv immediately caused the bells of Great St. Mary's tower to be invested with the trappings of sorrow and a mourning peal concluded the solemnity of that night in which every inhabitant participated. The like awful ceremony in the same tower was repeated on the 19th January following the evening of the hero's lamented funeral in St. Paul's, London. where his ashes were consigned to peaceful oblivion whilst his memory liveth to be admired and his example imitated by future generations.'
Mr. Dennis thinks that this may have been written by John Bowtell, a bookseller and benefactor of the famous Aldenbrookes Hospital. or Thomas Steers, an ingenious mathe matician who is believed to have comnosed the extent of Bob Major. Bowtell was elected in 1773 and Steers in 1787

- The Cambridge Youths have had a chequered existence over its 240 vears of service to the public and University, writes Mr. Dennis, and curiously there are no entries of Sunday service ringing or festivals of the Church. There is another entry, which is rather intriguing, in 1845, when the bells were rung all day (probably with breaks for lawful refreshment) for the opening of the railway from London to Cambridge, but in keeping with Mr. Wikon's article the bells of St. Marys were never rung for Sunday services until some where about 1930, hut of course chimed by variou: steeplekeepers in their line of succession.'

CHRISTCHURCH RINGING FESTIVAL

The assembly point for Christchurch Ringing Festival, held in beautiful weather on September 26th. was at Ringwood, and after ringing on the 'eight hells at the Parist Church the party travelled to Wimborne St. Giles. The beautiful church, standing at the entrance to the picturesque St. Giles' Park. the country seat of Lord Shafteshury, hoasts of a melodious ring of eight.

At Wimhorne's ancient Minster Church (10) hells), the belfry was crowded with ringers who enioyed some excellent ringing. St. Peter's, Bournemouth, bells (8) were availabie for an hour and a half and full use was made of them before moving to Christchurch. where the ladies of the Christchurch District of the Guild had prepared tea. All were ready for some refreshment and a little rest hefore ascending the Priory tower for more ringing on the 12 bells.
Another successiul and enjoyable Festival Was over, but not before hearty yotes of thanks had been accorded to incumbents and the ladies who prepared tea.

THE 27th 1,000 PEALER

MR. JOSEPH W. COTTON

$\mathrm{T}^{\mathrm{H}}$HIS week we are happy to publish the 1,000th peal of Mr. Joseph W. Cotton which was rung at his home tower. Overscale, Derbyshire, on October 6th. Apptopriate!y the method was Overseale Surprise Major.
The peal was arranged and conducted by Mr. Brian G. Warwick, who in February 196i. had the honour of doing a similar service for the late Ernest Morris' 2,000th veal (Morriston Surprise Royal).
Joe had picked a band of friends for the occasion. Arthur Rowley came from lbstock to ring the treble: Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hart made the long journey from Harrow: Richard J. Clifton (Packington) is a member of the Tuesday band: Roland Beniston (Whitwick) and Derek P. Jones completed the band.
As was to be expected, a good peal was rung. At the conclusion, Joe's daughter. Joan. came into the tower and photographed the party. A lovely supper had been prepared at Joe's home by Mrs. Cotton and Joan and Was a happy gathering to have participated in the fulfilment of a lifelong ambition.
The Exercise sends its warmest congratulations to the secretary of the Midland Countias Guilu on becoming the 27 th ringer to ring 1.000 peals.
B. G. W.

N.W. SUFFOLK BELLRINGERS  AT BARROW

A very warm welcome was made to the N.W. Suffolk ringers and friends when they met for their annual meeting at Barrow on October 10th. The Rev. J. R. M. Wright (Rector) met them and with Mr. P. Rawlings said how pleased they were to hear the ringer: Evensong was taken by the Rector, with Mrs. Foulsham as organist. A wonderful tea was provided by Mrs. Rawlings. Mrs. Wright and helpers. Music followed-tunes on handbells by Mr. Rawlings and his voung band.
Mr. L. Wright presided at the business meeting and the members stood in silence in remembrance of Mr. William Rickwood, a West Stow ringer, who died last month.

Officers elected were: Mr. L. Wright chairman: Mr. A. Ballam, secretary: Mr. Richard Rose, Ringing Master: and Miss G. Reeve. Press secretary. Mrs. Ivings and Miss D. Reevt: were elected representatives on the Guild Executive. The following comprise the District Committee: The chatirman, secretary, Ringing Master, Mrs. Ivings. Misses G. and D. Reeve

Quarterly meetings for 1965 were fixed as follows: Elveden, January 9th: Newmarket, April 10th: Mildenhall. July 10th: West Stow October 9 th. Evening practice meetings Great Burton. November 14 th : Ixworth Great Barton, November 14th: Ixworth December 12th.

Mrs. Ivings thanked all concerned for the excellent arrangements made for both service and tea.
Ringing was resumed in the tower until 9 p.m., when 12 Douhles methods were enjoyed.

THE ELITE SECOND ELEVEN OF COLLEGE YOUTHS IN THE MASTER'S COUNTRY

 '1HIS year Sangwin's Satellites dwindled to three (six was the original number), but this year could only be really counted as two as Brian White is courting and had plenty to do besides farming and ringingTwenty-five years ago this year the Ancient Society of College Youths rang the first peal on the bells at Tawstock, conducted by Tom Myers, but this anniversary, alas. he was unable to be with uis owing to his illness.
The original intention was to ring a peal at Bideford, but a few days before the attempt was due the Vicar stopped peal ringing, so at a moment's notice Derek Jewel got Tawstock. who saw the Rector and obtained permission for the attempt. The old Society rang a good peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted this time by Brian White, and including this year? Master of the Society who was thrilled to think that he had rung a College Youths peal in the tower in which he learned to ring and strike, and in which his dear old mother and father lie peacefully in the churchyard.

This peal was rung with happy thoughts by he writer and one or two of the older members of "Banker Taylor." who also learned to ring and strike in this tower, and whose father was also a ringer and village school master and is buried at the bottom of the tower steps. Also remembered was his dear Old Dad and Chris Walker, who were in the peal 25 years ago and have now been called to higher service.
Before departing we agreed to have a day's ringing on the Thursday the party being Charlie Sangwin. Fred Wilkins, the Master, Frank White, Rodney Cann and I. These six bell towers included the famous West Down. where we rang Grandsire. Stedman and Bob Minor without disgracing ourselves, but with the knowledge that it was not so good as West Down competition ringing.
A very pretty spot was Berrynabor, and here we also rang the six bells quite well. then on to the 'Pack of Cards, where we reminisced and waited for Derek Jewel to finish work. At Combe Martin we met Les Walters and Miss Boyle and rang a very good quarter peal of Grandsire Triples. It was a very happy day with the Master on top of his form, being in his own country, and the writer could not fault him in any way, even to the way he trebled up in the various towers.

On the Siturday. Rodney Cann rang his first peal, Grandsire, inside. and this indeed was a very good effort as Rodney is a professional soldier and does not hear a ring or handle a bell from one leave to another. and serving abroad his leaves are sometimes twelve or eighteen months apart. We were joined for this peal by Reg Hooper and Bryn Shackleton from Bristol and a very hapns week-end was spent ringing on the lovely eight at Stratton, the six at Week St. Mary and the lovely church at Launcells before departing for home.
Before starting the peal at Bridgerule the local foreman at Stratton asked that John Sangwin should be congratulated on becoming a grandfather, and as the peal was successful the haby's head was well wetted and the father of the Stratton ringers toasted with great enthusiasm.

The writer hones that when the Master makes his speech at the College Youths dioner at the end of the month, he wil revert to ordinary elocution and not to his native dialect, of which I am sure the cosmonolitan ringers that attend the dinner would fail to understand.

MINSTER PEAL BAND HONOURED AT SNOWDON DINNER

ITwas a happy coincidence that so soon after the successful ringing of a peal on the York should be the host for this year's Snowdon Dinner, which was held on October 10th.

The bells at the Minster (12), Acomb (6). Escrick (8), Huntingdon (6) and the Institute of Advanced Architectural Studies (6) were put to good use during the afternoon. Many visitors attended Evensong in the Minster, where the work of the Yorkshire Association was mentioned during the prayers.

A company of 135 assembled in the Windmill Hotel under the chairmanship of the presideni. the Ven. C. O. Ellison. Archdeacon of Leeds, and enjoyed a satisfying meal of roast beef and Ynrkshire pudding. The president apologised for the absence of the Archbishop of York: Dr. Alan Richardson, Dean of York (on account of illness): Canon T. H. Tardrew, who was at Evensong but had since been taken taken iM: the Rev. M. Walker (Escrick): the Rev. G. Lawn (Huntington): Mr. T. W. White (suffering from an attack of shingles): and Mr. Horace Morley (in York City Hospital, bu: making satisfactory progress). The president said he was sure all present would sympathise with the sufferers, and wish them a speedy recovery.

MINSTER RINGERS

The president thanked the Minster Society for making arrangement; for the dinner and offered his congratulations to the ringers of the first peal on the Minster bells for over 70 years. He asked the company to rise and drink to the health of the Minster ringers.

The toast of "The Church" was proposed by Mr. Wilfrid Moreton, "who said his father. a clergyman, sometime Vicar of Flamborough on the Yorkshire coast, thought alk ringers were mad.

What will Church, historia:: 3 say of the age we now live in? " asked Mr. Moreton. Would it be an age of reunion, reorganisation. rationalisation or realism? It would not he reformation or renaissance: he hoped it would be the Age of Reunion, or so far is the Church of England was concerned. the Age of Reorganisation.

We ringers must think of responsibility. We live on the generosity of past benefactors, and responsibility is something to be realised. The bells in most churches have been provided by past congregations, and perhaps their value is not realised. We must soon start to think of the finances of the Church.'

In the absence of Canon Tardrew, the Rev. A J. McMullen, Sacrist and Vicar Choral of York Minster, made a suitable reply and said he would convey the best wishes of the company to the Dean and Canon Tardrew.

Proposing the toast of Jasper Whitgeld Snowdon and Past Officers of the Yorkshıre Association.: Mr. N. Chaddock said that he could think of several reasons for these annual gatherings. Firstly. to revere past officer:secondly to seek impiration from them, and thirdly for mutual enjoyment of meeting old friends and making new ones.

Under the first heading he dealt in detail with the contribution of the Snowdon family Jasper, one of the founders and the first president of the Yorkshire Association. his hrother William who aided by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies. completed Jasper's celebrated ringing text books and also served as president ringine text books and also served as president for 25 years. Mr. Chaddock also refered to the work of William's wife and daughter in keeping the Snowdon books in publication.

RINGER'S NECK SQUARE
He produced a beautiful 80 -year-old silk ringer's neck square which belonged to Jasper Snowdon. Its design was based on church bells and the first line of Tennyson's poem 'Ring out the False. Ring in the True.' This had been presented to the Yorkshire Association a few days previously by Mrs. Winifred Turner, who now has care of the Snowdon series of text books

In a selection of past officers and the contribution to the Yorkshire Association, he mentioned Canon Marshall (president for 35 years), whose wife was present at the dinner, His motto was $\because$-Hard work and loyalty.' The great contribution of that fine ringer and singer at York Minster, William Horner Howard, was not overlooked. He chaired a!! the important early Yorkshire Association meetings and was one of the first Central Council representatives. Many other well. known figures, including Clem Glenn, Sid Palmer, Percy Johnson. George Lewis and the Hattersley brothers, were mentioned.

REPORT SUPREME

Times had changed, Mr. Chaddock said, and in these days it was not easy to find people prepared to do arduous and often thankless tasks year in, year out. The Association was. however, fortunate in still having talented and hard-working officers. The reputation of Yorkshire ringers and bells stood high and its annual report contained information valued by many ringers in other areas, one of whom had that very week said: -In this field, once again Yorkshire is supreme.'

However. though it had notable succerses, the Yorkshire Association was going through difficult times. as all the members knew. Mr. Chaddock asked 'Will a study of former leaders helo us?' In recalling the past, might we be inspired to devote ourselves to the even greater tasks ahead! These would call for loyalty, hard work and co-operation between all concerned.

There must be willingness to think afresh to discard some ideas and features if need be, and to retain others. Ringers who showed interest in Association work, especially young ringers, should be encouraged and their ideas and services welcomed and considered carefully.

STEDMAN CINQUES

The apt response to this loast was a bub course of Stedman Cinques on handbells by John E. Bryant 1-2, Robert E. Moulds 3-4. J. Henry Fielden 5-6, Wilfrid F. Moreton 7-8 Geoffrey F. Bryant 9-10, J. Neville Parkin 1112.

- Thi Guests and Kindred Societies ' was proposed by Mr. Harold Walker. The guests included the Rev. E. A. Flowerday (Vicar of Acomb and Rural Dean of York). Mrs. Flowerday, the Rev. A. J. McMullen and Mrs McMullen. Kindred Societies representer were the Oxford Diocesan Guild, the Oxford Society, the Essex Association, the Derby Diocesan Association, the Southwell Diocesin Guild, the Lancashire Association and the Ladies Guild.

The Rev. E. A. Flowerday replied on behalf of the guests and Mr. H. L. Roper (vice-president of the Oxford Diocesan Guild) spoke for the Kindred Societies. Mr. Roner said that on reading old copies of the 'Bell News, he thought the ringers of those far-off days were a pretty snooty lot. Reports were divided hetween metropolitan ringers and provincial ringers. Things were different these days and ringers mixed more freely and were more friendiy. The change had been due to the work of the Associations.
Mr . Christopher Groome proposed the toast of 'The President' and said the thanks of all members were due to the president for the work he did for the Association.

Musical items during the evening included a piano recital of Chopin by the Rev. A. J. McMullen and songs by Mr. Andrew Carter, accompanied by Mrs. Carter. Mr. Carter is a Minster Songman and also a ringer.

SOUTH DEVON ASSOCIATION'S FESTIVAL

Plympton St. Maurice, an ancient borough lying just off the main road into Plymouth, is noted as the birthplace of Sir Joshua Reynolds and having had Sir Christopher Wren as its one-time Member of Parliament. As the neighbouring Church of St. Mary was once the chapel of the old priory, so was once the 15th century Chureh of St. Maurice the chapel of the adjoining castle.

It was here on October 3rd that the Association met for the annual eight-bell festival with eight teams competing on the fine ring of bells (tenor 16 cwt .) After the service, conducted by the Rector, and while the captains drew for order of ringing, the three judges, Messrs. T. G. Daw, of Trplepen, and H. G. Edwards and F. J. Stephens, hoth of West Alvington, made their way to their hide.' a summerhouse in the grounds of the nearby R.C. Convent, in the warm autumn sunshine.
Fout teams-Babbacombe, Plympton St ; Mary, Plymstock and Widecombe - went in ; hefore tea-an excellent half-crown's worth as ussual-and Witheridge, Ashburton, Tavistock and Kings Teignton (in that order) afterwards. Witheridge had the misfo-tine to break a stay and this upset Ashburton w 10 followed them. in that they almost turned the bell (the second) right over at the commencement of the peal just after they had come out of 'Queens.' However, in spite of these misfortunes, therc was some excellent ringing.

A 'rush around:" just, as the light was failing, procured a
Tilly, lamo to enable the judges to mark Kings Teignton-the last of the day-which even to lay 'ears almost required no judging. Tavistock would have been higher up the table ' had they achieved a better rise into peal. The results were Kings Teignton ( 501 faults). Plymstock ( 62 ) Plympton St. Mary (84), Tavistock (107), Babbacombe (142), Widecombe (190), followed by Witheridge and Ashburton.
After the results had been declared, the Association's thanks were expressed to the Rector, the Rev. K. A. Newing, his ringers under their captain. Mr. D. Farnham, and their ladies for the tear.
The Association joins with the Devonshire Guild in the deep sense of loss at the recent death of its general secretary. Maurice Atkins, whose friendship knew no ringing frontiers.

Some Wisdom amid Absurdities

Dear Sir.-When I made my comments upon the article 'Our Belfries' by the Rev. H R. Haweis, I was tempted to omit the fact that it was written in 1871 because as the Rev. J. G. M. Scott so rightly points out there are quite a number of points which are as prevalent today as when the article wa written. On second thoughts I resisted the temptation otherwise there would have been a number of fruitless searches in 'Crockford for the Rev. H. R. Haweis; then I would have been in real trouble.
I know full well that I ran the risk of a slating when the article was published: that is an occupational hazard, but I did not reckon on a 'rocket' from the Rev. Gentleman from Devon; none but he could have fired a better one and there is a lot of truth in what he says.
No I do not think I did Mr. Haweis an injustice by writirg as I did-when he said The notion that there is nothing to do up in the belfry after the hells are hung but to let them swing and everything else rot seems a prevalent one' 1 commented 'Now our friend is talking sense and strange to relate the same notion is prevalent today.' I think this also gives him credit for some wisdom when he draws attention to regular painting
Yes, Mr. Scott. I have stood at the foot of ladders youl describe and climbed them with some trepidation knowing full well what should find at the ton; also stood on. and gone through, rotten floors: then years later after the bells have heen restored and gond access provided found conditions a disgrace

It always has been a puzzle to me why so many ringers have little or no interest in the maintenance of the bells they ring on. True there are some steenle-keepers who take a pride in the care of their bells and frame. consequently it is a pleasure to visit their towers. Routine maintenance is not demand ing. especially after a ring has been rehung the accumulation of years of rubbish has been cleared out and everywhere is clean. It costs a lot of money to achieve a nice clean bellchamber so why not keen it tidy, a regular visit does not take up a lot of time and the result is well worth it.

The number of times when adverse reports have heen made on maintenance are legion hus how often is advice acted upon? Rarely 1 am afraid. So when I first read 'Our Belfries' I had the germ of an idea that ridicule might have more effect than a formal comment. but will it? In this mechanical age there is less excuse for neglect than in the days of the horse (and candles) so I can only hone that the attention Mr. Scott draws to the wisdom amid absurdities bears fruit.-Yours

Dedicate the time spent in a Peal

Dear Sir.-In these modern days when bells have become so much a part of the Church's activities, I wonder how people can write and refer to bellringing as a soort. By doing so they straightway bring the sacred dedicated down to the level of a cricket bat or a football. All men have their gifts of craftsman shid, whether it be in metal. wood or stone and bellfounders are giving the best of their skill. bestowed upon them by God, to the many cathedrals and churches

I've just heen reading a little criticism of peal ringers who ring their numerous peals hut never ring for service. If there are such people I would sav to them, the next time you attempt your 5,000 -odd changes, quietly stand by your belb rope and dedicate your coming three hours' effort only to the glory of God with an ever-thankful heart for your skill and ability, as many a cripple laid aside would love to have your chances and skill.

With these thoughts uppermost. far greater ioy wilb be reaped at the end of the peal than if it is done just for dersonal pleasure, whether it is your first or 2.000 th peal.-Yours sincerely,
A. BETSWORTH

Grandsire Triples

Dear Sir,-I have followed with much en joyment and interest the articles by Mr. E. C Shepherd on the making of touches of Grandsire Triples. They have shown me a number of interesting possibilities I had not considered in this most versatile method.
There is one point, however, which I feel Mr. Shepherd was wrong to omit in his las article in discussing the Handstroke Home position. This is the simple fact that if the bells are to come round at hand then an odd number of Singles must have been called whereas if they are to come round at backstroke tben an even number of Singles must have been called

This, of course, happens because until a Single is called in Grandsire Triples the rows are alternately odd and even at hand- and backstroke, respectively, the sequence being reversed by each Single. This determines where rounds-an Even row-can occur

This fact is doubtless not so important to the person trying to compose touches on paper at home, although it is a helpful piece of knowledge. But to the conductor in the towe: trying to extemporise a touch. as Mr. Shepherd rightly suggests should be done, it is absolutely vital.
For example, the experienced might try the following :

| 234567 |  |
| :---: | :---: |
| S 572634 |  |
| 567423 |  |
| S 435267 | Calling H of |
| 423756 | last article. |
|  | $B$ and $W$ keeps the |
| 674523 | Tittum position. |
| 356274 | 7 In and Out at two |
| 325467 | produces |
| - 743625 |  |
| 764532 |  |
| - 235476 |  |

This calling makes the largest three-bells course 5-7-6, and calling 7 In and Out will keep them in this position. and one might hope that by continuing to call 7 In and Out rounds would occur eventually at handstroke.
It will not; but if the second single of calling H' is made a hob, a well-known and musical touch results.-Yours faithfully.

Memories of J. W. Washbrook

Dear Sir.-My congratulations to the four who rang the double-handed tower bell peal at Balcombe. Like Mr. Barnett, I well remember visiting Arklow many times between 1904 and 1909 during which neriod I rang seven peals with him. In two of these he rang 3-4 to Bob Major and Stedman Triples, feats which startled the ringing world and caused doubts in the minds of many ringers regarding the truth of the peal of Major in December, 1904, the sole point being nobody could ring two bells for over three hours. In the fol lowing May the Rev. F. E. Rohinson and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn went over for a peal of Stedman, with Washbrook again on $3-4$ and all doubts sank into oblivion when the peal was duly recorded.-Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD

Shropshire Fours

Dear Sir,-With reference to letters about rings of four in Shropshire. I would like to say that much of my information was obtained from the 1961 annual report of the Shropshire Association. However, I have had to rely on other people, although I have visited many of the fours in Salop. If my information on Wentnor is incorrect, then I beg someone's pardon, but I was told quite definitely that there is only one bell at Wentnor now.-Yours sincerely.

PHILIP $R$, JOHNSON.

Badsworth, Yorks, Bells

Dear Sir,-In view of the two recent letters by Michael King on Yorkshire four-bell towets, I may be able to throw some light on what evidently puzzles him about the bells of Badsworth, near Pontefract.

These bells were examined in late August by John Sykes, of Pontefract, and myself. They are a minor four, their notes being $A$-sharp, G-sharp, F-sharp, and E, the tenor weighing I should think, about 13 or 14 cwt . Therefore, if they were ever intended to be a diatonic ring, they would be Nos. 2 to 5 of an 8, with a tenor of about 45 cwt . in B. This seems to me very unlikely,

They are hung in frame for 6, and the two spaces are for smaller bells than those already there, but ther: is nothing in the records to show (1) whetler there were another two. or (2) where they are now if there were.

The inscriptions and dates are interesting, although we could find no founders' name. Any marks which there were, were unrecognisable :

Treble.- 1536 - Let the sweet voice of Gabriel reso:ind through the heavens.
Second.-1675 - Gloria in excelsis Dco. I.H. H.H. W.B. Wardens.

Third.- 1669 - I, sweetly tolling men do call 10 task on Meate that feeds the soule.
Tenor.-1582-Glory in the highest to Jesus our God. Anno Domini 1582, the figure 2 being upside down.
The bells were recently rung by Mr. Fred Terry's hand, although the wheels, etc. arc not in very good shape.
It is a local legend in Pontefract that these hells, together with one from St. Botolph's, Knottingley. once belonged to All Saints' Pontefract, when All Saints' is reputed to have had 12 bells. Whether there is any truth in this, I do not know, but they certainly have no connection with the present ring at: All Saints", whcih are 'Taylor's, 1863 and 1905. I would be grateful, however, if anyone could shed any light on this matter.-Yours faithfully,

London, N. 14.

An Appeal from Southern Rhodesia

Dear Sir.-The half-yearly meeting of the Mashonaland Diocesan Guild will be held at the Cathedral in Salisbury, Rhodesia, on Sunday, November 8th, at 3 p.m. Ringing will start after Matins (about 11.45) and will continue. with intervals, till Evensong at 8 p.m. We have lately heard of one or two ringers who are in the area but have nol heard of the activities of the Guild. We should therefore be very grateful if readers of "The Ringing World" would write to any ringers or ex-ringers they know in Rhodesia who may still not be in touch with us and tell them the date. For anyone who cannot attend, may I point out that there is a weekly practice in Salishury on Wednesdays from 5.30 p.m.. and ringing for Evensong on Sundays from 7 to 8 p.m. Visitors of any standard are always welcome.-Yours sincerely,
J. R MILFORD.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION Biggleswade District

Unfortunately, the monthly meeting of the Biggleswade District had not been advertised and consequently there wals a very poor at tendance at Meppershall on October 10th Despite the fairly long draught some good ringing whs obtained on the five bells ftenor 12 cwt .), which are rung from the middle of the aisle.
After a short service. conducted by the Rector the few ringers present adjourned to the Village Hall for an enjoyable tea. At the short business meeting which followed. one new memher from Meppershall was elected Mr. P. Rogers was Ringing Master for the evening and. with the arrival of several more ringers, Plain Bob and Grandsire were frequently rung together with the special method. Stedman, and rounds.

Next meeting: Stotfold, November 141 h.

DOVE'S SUMMER TOUR, No. 2

A very futl lour embataing 115 owers from Chiddingly, Kent, to Cirencester was organised by Mr. C. Barrie Dove duriag early August. Traftic chaos prevented three of the party from Yorkshire arrived at Chiddingly in time for the peal attempt and two quarters wer substituted. The Worcester party joined us here before going to Eastbourne.
Sunday was a day of rest before the storm, with service ringing at Dallington, Brightling and Brede and in between bathing and beach cricket. Thirteen lowers in Kent were planned for Monday, the highlights bsing Goudhurst. Horsmonden and Tonbridge. Tuesday saw us in Romney Marsh. where the first tower was the unique campanile of Brookland. After 10 towers some of the party finished the day at the practice at All Saints'. Hastings.

The coast was left on Wednesday and 13 towers on the northern border of Sussex visited, the highlights being Edenbridge and Fairwarp. Thursday was another fruitful day with 11 towers in Surrey. Ringing at Godstone and Cranleigh was a joy but the real attraction was the 10 at Haslemere and the excellent tea. On Friday we moved into Hampshire, Curdridge being the obvious choice for the best of the day'; although these bells vied with Brookland for being the loudest of the tour.
Bank Holiday Saturday found us hovering on the borders of Sussex and Hampshire and finally working towards Newbury. On the Sunday we rang at Thatcham and Newbury and finally rang handbells in Swindon Town Gardens, thereby obliterating (we hope) the shadow of the hoax peal there. Christ Church, Swindon, bells were regarded as probably the best of the tour.
On Monday we rang at an 'unringable tower, Coleshill, Berks, in our tour of the Vale of the White Horse and in the evening met Mr. A. R. Peake at Stratton St. Margaret. The last day was Tuesday; the lovely six at Purton. the beautiful church at Cricklade and the 12 at Cirencester are happy memories.

Thanks are accorded to incumbents and lower captains for their co-operation, our drivers - John Weaver, John Whittall and Jeffrey Fox - and the organiser, C. Barrie Dove, who worked so hard on the project.-

BECKENHAM, KENT, RINGERS' OUTING

The fine eight at Wrotham made a fitting start to Beckenham's outing on September 19th. After well-struck touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge, a very good course of Bristol broke down in the last lead, much to everybody's disappointment, but the fine Taylor ten at Maidstone soon restored our spirits and produced some good touches, finishing with Cambridge before lunching at a nearby restaurant.
Horsmonden Church was a little hard to find, but the bells proved to be much more difficult and the bad "go" daunted even the most enthusiastic. However, the delightful six at Lamberhurst made up for all this and striking was good, even though some people were unused to ground-floor rings with corresponding long rope lengths. Equally enjoyable was the eight at Withyham, and here methods included Duffield, which, by tradition, is an 'outing spectal.'
The last two towers were the sixes at Limosfield and Limpsfield Chart, where the Minor enthusiasts showed their skills in a variety of methods up to London.

The serious business now over, we retired to Westerham for dinner, and this proved to be a most satisfying conclusion to a thoroughly successful day.

TAUNTON RINGERS IN CORNWALL

foILLOWING the success of a week-end tour last year based on Stratton, Cornwall, and enjoying the hospitality of Harry and Rene Stacey, Taunton ringers had no second choice this year. Three full days started on Friday, September 11th, with ringing on the light six at Ide followed by Moreton Hampstead with its very deep set tenor-the first few rounds being only on seven bells.

Lunch was taken at the Ring of Bells. Chagford, where the landlord's Indian temple bells were of interest. At the church we met Fred Langley, formerly of our area, but the ringing was not as we would have wished. We had to wait until after a funeral to ring at South Tawton: Holsworthy bells were a joy to ring and the 45 minutes passed all too quickly. Upon arrival at Stratton we rang in a half-muffled service touch and following dinner had a pleasant evening's ringing at Bridgerule.

FIRE

Saturday was spent with fine hells. St. Stephen-by-Launceston made an easy start, the height of Linkinhorne did not upset the handling, and although St. Ives bells were viewed with mixed feelings Cambridge and Reverse Canterbury sounded quite well. There was some good striking at St. Germans, which was visited after lunch and almost on the Devon horder we were joined by the Rev. G. Reeming at Calstock. An element of excisement arose when Nigel found his car surrounded by smoke and flames. He succeeded in reversing from a patch of burnt grass. The only damage was four blackened shoes and hairs on Mr. Young's legs singed.

Over the border at Tavistock we were welcomed by Ray and Margaret Bould and some good Stedman and Double Norwich were heard. Another fine dinner at Siratton was followed by a visit to Poughill and a good course of Cambridge.

After service ringing on Sunday across the road farewells were said to our host and his family. An enjoyable potter through Devon led us to Exmouth and Frank Mack. Ninety minutes of intense concentration followed and the end product was not quite 120 of Grandsire Doubles. Most of us finished with a great respect for Frank's achievement. Service ringing at Witheycombe Raleigh rounded off a thoroughly enjoyable week-end. Thanks are due 10 Nigel, Harry and Rene Stacey, and all who met and joined us and allowed us to ring.-

Crantock, Cornwall, Ringers' Outing

Crantock ringers and friends held the 1 r annual outing on September 26th and were pleased to have with them Derek after his long spell in hospital.
Towers visited were Lanivet, Liskeard, Menheniot, St. Stephen's-by-Saltash. Plympton St. Maurice and Plympton St. Mary. Our thanks to incumbents and tower captains and to R. A. S., who made the arrangements for us over the border.

E. M. ATKINS

AN APPRECIATION

With the passing of E. M. Atkins we have lost a ringer who for well over 50 years rendered valuable and devoted service to the Exercise. Although an excellent method ringer and a composer and conductor of exceptional ability, he was one who always held that our first duty was to the Church, and for most of his bife he was the driving force behind a service band, for many years at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, and latterly at Teignmouth. Possessing almost unlimited patience and being naturally kindly and tolerant, fe taught many of both sexes to ring, and no matter how many 'gave up was always ready to welcome fresh recruits.
He will, of course, be sadly missed by the Devonshire Guild, for whom he was general secretary for several years, but probably his memory will live longest with the Cambridge University Guild, of which he was an outstanding member ever since he came up to St. Catherine's in 1909. From that time onwards he played a great part in its development and progress, especially in the years immediately preceding and succeeding the 1914-1918 war. He was Master from 19101912, calling his first Guild peal in February, 1911 ( 5,024 Plain Bob Major on handbelis). For many years handbell ringing formed the major part of the Guild's activities and - E. M.' rapidly became an expert, especially in Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich, while in 1912 he conducted the first peal of Little Bob Royal ever rung.
After the war, in which he served with the Royal Engineers, he became a civil servant, working at the Patents Office in Holborn, and in the early 1920 's paid many visits to Cambridge to help the residents through many peals. Possibly his most useful contribution has been his peal of 5,040 Plain Bob Major. known as 'Taspaataapaa.' a simple composition based on a familiar four-course block which has done duty for many a 'first deal on handbells.' From 1927 to 1953 he represented the Guild on the Central Council. having previously served a term for the Central Northern Association. Had he so desired he would have continued to hold that office, but he preferred to let someone else have, a turn. In all he took part in 155 Guild peals, several of them 'landmarks' in its history, conducting 73.

Those who maintain contact with the C.U.G.C.R. after leaving the University do so mainly through the annual 'Week' and in this connection 'E. M.' certainly did his full share. Not only was he a regular participant but on three occasions be was the organiser-in 1921 and 1927, with the centre at Isham. where his father was Rector, and in 1953 at Newton Abbot. Last, but by no means least, the warm welcome and hospitality which was always to be found with him and Mrs. Atkins will not quickly be forgotten.

MISS C. E. BANKS

Miss Charlotte Emma Banks, of Gedney Dyke, Spalding, Lincs, who died on September 27th, at the age of 90 years, was the firs lady to join the Lincoln Diocesan Guikd, the first to ring a peal for the Guild and a member of the Ladies' Guild since 1929. In 1911. at Gedney, she rang the treble to a peal of Grandsire Doubles conducted by Mr. J. B Hallifax. who had taught her to ring at the Hallifax. Who had tower at Fleet in 1909

On the evening of October 8th the Gedney ringers, accompanied by Mr. Hallifax, rang touches of Grandsire Doubles, half-muffled. as a token of respect to one who throughout a very active public life had worked hard for her church and its bells. It was largely through the effort of Miss Banks that a treble was added to the bells of Gedney Church.

MR. JOSEPH A. ATKINSON

From Dublin we regretfully learn of the passing of Mr. Joseph A. Atkinson on September 20th. Mr. Atkinson was taken ill whilst travelling to England on holiday last August and, returning home, underwent an operation on September 18th. Some ringers visiting him on September 20th found him in good spirits but, alas, he died kater that afternoon.
Born in the precincts at St. Patrick's Catheciral, Joe came into the belfry as a barekneed boy': throughout his life he remained a boy at heart-kind, irrepressible and generous.
He learned to ring under Gabriel Lindoff in the company of those who founded the tradition of change ringing at St. Patrick's and he maintained with vigour the standard which they had established; his striking was precise, his change ringing was exact. His forte was a heavy bell. In earlier years he had rung 11 peals, all round the back end. However, during his 50 years ringing it was on service ringing that he placed emphasis.
Mr. Atkinson had varied interests - the British Legion, the Conservative Club (of which he was a trustee), Freemasonry (he being a past master of his Lodge and a past officer of Royal Arch). A keen swimmer, he bathed a: the exclusive 'Fortyfoot', a 'men only' cove near Dublin. His untimely death caused a profound shock to his friends but his name will always be associated with change ringing at St. Patrick's, where his loss is inestimable.
The Cathedral bells were rung half-muffled for the burial service, the interment taking place at Dean's Grange. The attendance inchuded Mr. and Miss Dukes, representing the Irish Association

MR. W. SMITH

The bells at Long Clawson, the Leicestershire village where he was born, were rung half-muffled on October 5 th by members of the Melton District, to the memory of Mr . William Smith, of Pymble Sydney, N.S.W. His passing was recorded in our last issue.

A peal was rung at St. Five peals of Surprise Michael's, Cornhill, on Octo BELFRY GOSS/P Major in five different ber 3rd by members of the methods with five different Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and Ancient Society of College Youths as a compliment to Mr. W. R. Winterton, former treasurer of the Cumberlands, during his year as Master of the Worshipful Company of Drapers. The Drapers Company are the patrons of the living of St. Michael's. This year is the 600th anniversary of the granting of their first Royal Charter.
Ashford (Kent) bells will be silent from the New Year until about October.
We are sorry to learn that Mr. H. S. Morley, of Selby, Yorks, is in hospital. Friends wish him a speedy recovery.

The peal of Dorchester (page 672) for th3 Sussex County Association on August 10th was, rung at Easebourne, and not Easthourne as was inadvertently published.

The peal of Spliced Surprise Minor rung at Little Aston on September 21st (see page 686) was the first peal of Surprise Minor for the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society and the first by the local band.
With the peal at Bradford Cathedral on October 3rd, Barry Schofield has now' circled the tower to peals. At St. Michael's, Ashton. on September 17th, Frederick Shallcross completed peals on all 13 bells in the tower.
Olympic Doubles has made its appearance. It was first rung at Handsworth on October llth. The method is St. Martin's with a Plain Bob bob and an Old single (see page 530 ).

Ringers ad Caerphilly will be interested to read that Mr. C. R. P. Broughton scored his first quarter peal on October 4th at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, when he rang with the University of Wales Society.
Of note in connection with the peal at King s Norton, the first on the bells for nine years, is that this year is the 200th anniversary of the casting of the seventh and tenor. They have not been touched by a bell hanger. R.K.M. writes, Even St. George's, Bristol, go well compared with these. Mr. Cannon and Squire Edwards take note!'
conductors were rung by the same band on Saturday, October 10th, at the Bell Foundry Campanile. Loughborough. The total ringing time was 11 hours 59 minutes. There were variations in time from 2 hours 16 minutes for 5,088 Yorkshire to 2 hours 35 minutes for 5,088 London.
The peal rung at Potterspury, Northants, was also rung to the memory of Mr. E. M. Atkins, of Teignmouth.
St. Swithun's bells, Worcester, will not be available on the occasion of the Worcestershire and Districts Association's annual dinner at Worcester on October 24th, because of the arranging of a special service.
On Sunday. September 27th, at St. Patrick's Cathedral Dublin, Miss Gillian Graney, Master of the University of Wales Society, rang the treble. Ringing beside her, on the second, was Mr. R. Anthony Vere Hodge, Master of the Dublin University Guild.
The peal at Isleworth on October 7th marked the 30th anniversary of Mr. O. L. Rogers' first peal, and the 20 th anniversary of Mr. C. T. Richards' first. Mr. Harold Rogers kindly stood out to enable Mr. Wilson. who was in the 1934 peal, to call this one.
' Bill' Brotherton, who rang his first peal at Shifnal, Salop, on October 3rd has accomplished much during his first year of ringing. He can also ring Double Norwich C.B. Major and Stedman Caters. The peal was also the first time for 25 years that Roger Hawksworth and Cyril Taberner had rung a peal together.

A Sunday morning quarter peal attempt at Portishead on October 4th came 10 an abrupt ending after a quarter of an hour by one of the band settiog his bell and hastening out of the ringing chamber. He happened to be the chief of the fire brigade and had heard the siren above the sound of the bells. Mr. E. Skipsey, who was conducting, had motored 20 miles to Portishead for the purpose.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

About 40 people were present for the service and tea at the annual general meeting of the Ashford District at their home tower of St. Mary's on October 3rd. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. G. Chesham. who gave a heartening address, and Mr. A. Butcher was the organist.
Tea was enjoyed in the Church Hall and was served by the Mothers' Union under Mrs. Wickens, and kindly given by the Ashford ringers. It was preceded and followed by recordings of the ringing at Washington Cathedral. lent by Mr. H. Parkes.

The hon. District secretary's regort and halance sheet showed an improvement on last year, hut still fell short of previous years, when the Ashford District led the Association. Apart from Lympne, and the young ladies who rang the peal at Cheriton, peal ringing appeared to be in the doldrums.
Mr. Alan Berry was re-elected as Ringing Master, and Mr. C. T. Hillis as hon secretary. The Rev. P. T. Robbins was elected as one of the District representatives in place of Mr. Berry. Miss Violet Relf, whose organising genius saves pounds for the Association every time they meet at Tenterden. was re-elected as the other District representative.

The chairman, Mr. J. Willis, proposed the vote of thanks, mentioning the clergy, the Mothers' Union, Messrs. H. Parkes and 1 . Cullingworth for the ringing recordings, and Miss Margaret Jones (secretary of the Ashford band) for making all the arrangements.

THE LADIES' GUILD  Devon Brapch

The Devon Branch held a successful meeting at Ottery St. Mary on October 3rd, when the event was well patronised.

Ringing included touches of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples and two well-struck courses of Plain Bob Major. Owing to the absence of the Vicar, no service was held, bui an excellent tea was served at the Kings Arms Hotel.
Mrs. D. R. Bould, the vice-president, presided at the business meeting, and two new members (Mrs. Robertson and Miss M. Weston, of Newquay) were elected. Subject to permission, the annual meeting will be held at St. Budeaux, Plymouth, on February 27th, with a visit to Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, in the evening.
Ringing at Sidbury in the evening included a touch of Grandsire Triples by an all-ladies. band conducted by Mrs. Bould, and an unsuccessful attempt for a course of Cambridge Surprise Major.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

A quarterly meeting of the East Devon Branch was held at Stockland (near Hoaiton) on October 10 th, when some 40 ringers were present. A service was held in Stockland Church conducted by the Rev. R. D. Drury.
At the meeting, presided over by Mr. J. in memory of Mr. E. M. Atkins, the former general secretary of the Guild.

Certificates were presented to Mrs. $P$. Netherway and Miss S. Netherway, of CotJeigh.
The next quarterly meeting will be held at Broadhembury on February 13th, 1965. Monthly practices at Shute, Sidbury, Sidmouth. on second week in each month.
A brief report on Stockland bells was given by Mr. Sage. It was decided to ring a peal (by officers of the Branch) in memory of Mr. Atkins. A quarter peal was rung after the service.

Thanks were passed to all concerned in arrangements for the day,

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Dorchester Branch

The annual quarterly meeting of the Dorset Branch was held at Wyke Regis on October 3 rd and was attended by 31 members
The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Canon F. F. Pratt), who took as the theme for his address the word "Thanks giving. The lesson was read by the Branch chairman, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. Tea was served in the Church Hall by a band of ladies of the church.

In opening the meeting, the Branch chair man congratulated Mr. F. B. Stedman, captain of the Wyke Regis ringers, who bad recently celebrated his 90th birthday and was still a regular ringer on Sundays and on practice nights. He also congratulated Canon Pratt on his recent appointment as Rural Dean of Weymouth.
Branch practices were arranged as follows (subject to confirmation): Preston. October 17th: Cattistock, October 31st; Abbotsbury, November 14th: St. Peter's, Dorchester, November 28th: Fordington, December 12th: Charminster, January 2nd
Next meeting: Annual, St. Peter's. Dorchester, January lfth.

OUTING

FRAMSDEN AND DISTRICT

This year's outing of the Framsden and District ringers on October 10th was into Bedfordshire. Cardington was most disappointing as only the back six could be rung owing to a defective chiming hammer and it was impossible to see the hells to investigate. The six were. however, good practice for Elstow's six of Bunyan fame. Maulden proved most pleasing and here Willoughby E had his long wish satisfied. The handy eight at Clifton completed the tour. To those who met then: and Mr. L. Bywaters, for his helpful information the ringers refurn sincere thanks.

LOVING INVITATION

Sermon preached to the North Staffs Association at Uttoxeter Parish Church by the Rev. P. G. Hardy, R.D., on September 19th.

'MAY their membership in this Association tend in some measure to build up Thy Church.' Those words of the prayer we have all. just used remind us all that the skills we use in the belfry are very far in intent from selfexhibitionism. Those of us who merely listen to the bells certainly never fail to admire your years of practice and patience and painstaking effort which result in such ringing as we have been privileged to enjoy this afternoon. At the same time, and I speak in all humility, we realise that not one of you gathered here for this festival would ever have continued faithful if you had not appreciated the purpose of God's calling to you, to help in some measure to build up His Church.

Accordingly, when next Sunday you begin to ring out what the prayer on your service sheet happily terms the 'loving invitation,' will you bear in mind the sort of people who will be at the listening-end. Not being a ringer, I cannot be expected to know what goes on in your minds when you assemble in the belfry whilst the congregation is assembling in the church below. But you can be sure of one thing-that they are at one with you in your work to help build up the Church, and that they are probably praying for the very people on whose ears your ringing falls. With your necessary concentration, too, on the actual ringing it would not make sense to deflect your thoughts in the belfry from the mechanics of that process. Yet, ultimately, your very purpose in that ringing is directed at the souls of other people, that you may help in some measure to build them into God's Church.
The achievement of this purpose depends partly upon the actual skill you possess in the art of ringing - there is nothing so compellingly attractive as a firm and confident peal but also in the sort of person you are. As in any profession or industry a man's progress is determined not merely by his abilities but also by his character, his soul. so also effectiveness in the belfry is measured by the prayerfulness or otherwise of the ringing.

Therefore, pray first of all for all who are obedient to God's call to worship. It is most important to support with your prayers those who are gladly heeding your efforts. Think of the Christian already on his way to church as your bells ring out; think of the encouragement you are giving him; think of the sense of Christian fellowship you are engendering in him; think of the very real joy in worship anticipated by him through your bells. Pray, too, for those obedient to God's call to worship, but who by sickness or other hindrance are unable to get to a church service. Do remember that they will all be listening for your first pull on the ropes, listening for the prayerful joy your ringing will effect, listening probably in a nostalgic manner for the sense of prayerful fellowship which the bells will induce in their souls.

We members of the Christian Church have also to bear in mind that the Church is the only society in the world which exists for its non-members. Hence, secondly, your ringing must reach out to those who have lost the obedience they once had to God's call to worship Him. This loss of purposefulness in life is a sad spectacle which must cause distress to God and certainly does to all of us trying hard to recall such people to their sense of Christian responsibility. Think prayerfully of such a man who will be disturbed in conscience at your ringing; one man will be aroused by sheer nostalgia; another will be awakened out of the torpor of his now meaningless Sundays; all of them can be moved into renewed obedience of soul by way of your prayers for their recall as you ring for them.

Thirdly, your ringing must be understood as directed also to the pagans of this country, to those who appear unmoved by the ministrations of the Church, to those who refuse to be moved by appeals either to commonsense or reason. Their souls have somehow to be touched; your ringing is the only feature of Christian Church life they ever can notice; your responsibility to them is therefore tremendous. Hence, in all humility, my advice to you is this: in praying for such folk, select one or two people known personally to you and, as you ring, pray for them by name individually; pray that they may begin to understand that it is you and your skill being used by God to declare to them His Glory; pray that they may begin to realise that your ringing is for their benefit, that they may be drawn into the true happiness of life on carth, obedience to God's Commandments: pray that the sound of your hells may reach right into their souls to convince them of the reality of the Love of God for them.

We clergy are appreciative not merely of your skilful efforts to bring people into the fold of Christ's Church, nor of the faithfulness with which you come along Sunday by Sunday to 'send forth the loving invitation ' to worship, but also of the prayerful example which you set by your diligence in the belfry. So may I conclude with this simple thought: it is not needful to recruit more ringers for our belfries, but it is highly essential to recruit more men of prayer as ringers.

ALL WERE LONG PEALERS IN JOHN WORTH'S IRISH PEAL TOUR

ONE of the most pleasing sides of ringing is the opportunity it affords of visiting fresh parts of the country. This was the case on Friday, September 25 th, when ten ringers arrived in Dublin to make the most of a long week-end and to attempt six peals. All the party were long pealers but no long peals were attempted. although thoughts in that direction were occasionally voiced. This time concentration was placed on six heavy rings and peals long in time rather than changes
Mr. Fred Dukes had us moving fast early on Saturday morning to Drogheda, 30 miles nerth of Dublin, where we were to attempt Bristol. Drogheda, an historic town situated on the River Boyne and between the counties of Meath and Louth. contains at St. Peter's Church (C. of I.) a ring of Taylorised Rudhall bells (tenor 22 cwt . in E flat). Three and a half hours later we and the bells were richer by a slow peal of Bristol and we were hustled out of Drogheda and the Boyne Valley and back to Dublin or Baile Atha Cliath as the road signs alternatively show.

FRED'S FULFILMENT

St. Patrick's National Cathedral was our venue for the afternoon and early cevening. rounded in 119), with a massive square 14ih century tower and 18th century sire, the Cathedral dwarfs its humble surroundings and is hew seen from the litlle park on the north side provided by the Guinness family, who also paid for the restoration of the Cathedral in the $1860^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$. The Irish publicity department have been at work here and we were hard pressed to clear the belfry of reporters and photographers hefore embarking on four hours of Cambridge Surprise Maximus. Naturally, Gabriel Lindoff provided the composition and its due completion gave Fred Dukes his first of Cambridge Maximus and the fulfilment of the Cambridge ladder.
On Sunday morning, while two of the party returned to St. Patrick's to ring a half-mufted in memoriam quarter of Grandsire. the rest of us sampled Christ Church Cathedral, a superh building architecturally, hut with a heavy-going ring of ten. which we managed heavy-going ring of ten. which we managed to turn in to London. Afterwards we visited the Augustinian Church of St. John, another ten. but this time hung anticlockwise in a rectangular helfry. We were attracted by the highly ornate interior of the church, an attraction quickly dulled by the seemingly perilous ascent to the belfry.

London Surprise Major was the music for the aftenoon peal at St. George's, Dublin, and a slow sleady peal was rung, enabling A. P. W. to call his first of London. Later in the evening an attempt for the first handhell peal of Surprise Major outside England collapsed after 35 minutes of Yorkshire: we afterwards selaxed to eight spliced and Stedman Triples.

ODD-STRUCK

Kilkenny was the first peal tower on Monday and we got off to a late start, and we were an hour late at St. Canice's Cathedral. However. we were soon in the tower with little time to spend to view the 13th century Cathedral or the round tower close to the south transept. The tower is massive and squat with stepped hattlements and the bells are hung on the roof. directly above the ringing chamber. The bells are loud. most are odd-struck. the four back bells all swing the same way, and it is therefore as well that we rang Lincolnshire here. But it became very apparent throughout the peal that, whilst once, first impression of the bells was not pleasant, after a few courses to sort out the uneven striking the earlier discomfort ceased and a peculiar sense of satisfaction was gained. A tower-grabbing band would never get the same satisfaction out of the bells as a peal band.
Leaving the city of Kilkenny, with the fin: 200 -foot tower of the R.C. Cathedral standing watch over the narrow winding streets and the now slumbering fortress of the castle. we turned eastwards in the direction of the Wicklow Mountains. Our destination was Arklow, 60 miles away. Fast driving was necessiary and as we went across country, past the sentinel of Mount Leinster, the whole rural life of Ireland greeted us-cows, sheep, poultry, donkeys, horses. . . and delayed us! At Arklow a late start was inevitable and perhaps the bells did not approve of nonWashbrook compositions, especially as the method was London, because our luck was out after an hour's quick ringing. So Arklow became the first tower in Ireland to owe us a peal, but patience is always rewarded and there is always something to return for. The hells are line and as musical a 22 cwl . as will be found anywhere: combined with this the church, a beautiful example of Gothic Revival architecture, built in 1900.

GLORIOUS ENIDING

Our final peal was on Tuesday morning at Christ Church. Bray. The two older members of the party left the youngsters to do battle with Bristol, and disappeared rapidly upstream to detect the source of the prevalent odour that results from the brewing of lreland's national drink. The youngsters rang a good steady neal in 3 hours 43 minutes. What bells! Taylor's, cast in 1880 and rehung in 1950, they have the breadth, tone and go second to none for their weight. hut have perhaps as their equal for tone St. Finbarse's Cathedral. Cork. Anyway, they were a glorious end to a most enjoyable week-end
We parted ways at Bray, the Cheshire men flying back to Manchester and the South Wales contingent returning to Rosslare for the night boat. We must thank Robert Smith for organising that week-end from the Cheshire end. Fred Dukes for the Irish end and local ringers and incumbents.
We are happy that the ringing gave us an opportunity not just to collect more peals and towers but to experience a little of the hest that Ireland can offer-grand. unspoilt scenery, a unique Celtic history, a happy people, and. everywhere. warm hospitality and an enthusiastic welcome.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Bingham District meeting, held at Gedling on October 10th. was well attended, over 60 ringers being present during the afternoon and evening. Canon C. H. B. Watson (Vicar) gave a very inspiring address at the shortened Evensong. Tea was in the Glebe Room. where local ladies had prepared an excellent meal.
We were sorry 10 learn that the chairman of the Southwell Guild (Mr. W. Midwinter) was in Newark Hospital and all wished him speedy recovery

HESSE WEEK-END AT WRINGTON

The life and work of Major J. H. B. Hesse was remembered once again at Wrington during the week-end of October 17th-18th.

Both peal attempts were successful this year; on Friday evening Plain Bob Major was rung at Chew Magna, and on Saturday Stedman Caters was scored at Wrington. Mr. Rodney Hesse came specially to the tower on Saturday to express his appreciation and to say how much this annual event meant to the family. Similar sentiments were also expressed by Mrs. Hesse at the tea which followed, which she kindly provided.

Mr. H. Sanger, on behalf of the company, thanked Mrs. Hesse for her hospitality, and in reminding those present of the example of ringers who had served us well and had now passed on. he coupled with the name of Major Hesse those of Mrs. E. Knight and Mr. A. A. Hughes, the master founder, whose work at Wrington will always be remembered.

Those present were Mrs. Hesse, the Rev. R. O. Fry, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chilcott, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kingcott, Mr. and Mrs. F. Onkshott, Messrs. H. Bird, J. Brain, L. Derrick, E. Lee, G. Prescott. G. Pullen, H. J. Sanget and S. C. Smith.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY

An encouraging number of over 50 ringers and friends sat down to tea during the recent meeting held at Yoxall, near Burton-on-Trent. on October 17 th . Ringing had taken place previously on the six bells (tenor 13 cwt .) and this had been followed by the service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. O. Nichalls), who made the Society most welcome to one of the few meetings ever held there.

Tea over, the honorary secretary asked that all the towers should pay any nwing subscriptions to the treasurer as soon as possible. It was announced that the Ringing Master would be forming a team of volunteer ringers who would be willing to help in towers where assistance was badly needed. The appointment of Mr. D J. Bates, 151. Red House Lane Aldridge. Staffs (Tel. Aldridge 51333), as assilstant honorary secretaty, was unnounced.
The following new resident members were elected: N. J. C. Bowen. P. C. Bowen. Mr. and Mrs. R. Twigg (Lichfield Cathedral), R D. N. Collins (Longdon), R. J. Wright (Yoxall), R. W. Barker (Cannock). G. Peters (Haughton) and P. A. Southgate (Shenstone). Our thanks are expressed to all at Yoxall who made us so welcome, especially to Mr . and Mrs. Wright.
Next meeting: St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, January 16th.

Tonbridge District

The Tonbridge District held its annual meeting on October 3rd, at Sevenoaks. Ringing began at 3 p.m. before a very interesting service conducted by Rev. E. M. T. McLellan (Rector), at which he spoke of the modern teenage problem. Teat was taken at the Parish Hall, and provided by members of the Sevenoaks band to whom we say "thank you" for their good hospitality.
At the husiness meeting Mr. P. A. Corby presided. The secretary's report and interim statement of accounts was adopted and four new members were elected. The officers for the coming year elected were: SecretaryTreasurer. Mr. W. H. Dobbie: District Reps., Miss D. Colgate and Mr. S. Jenner; Ringing Master, Mr. L. Pope: R.W. Correspondent. Miss M. A. Ladd. It had previousiy been decided to hold four quarterly meeting with no by-meetings in 1965. the four towers were chosen by the members, i,e. January Ind: Hadlow: Aprit 3rd: Hawkhurst: June 26th: Seal and Seat Chart; October 2nd: Tonbridge (annual). The question of holding a dinner in the Tonbridge District next year was considered. Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m.

Bells-the Church's Most Effective Conscience Pricker

Peterborough Guild Dinner

THHERE was only one thing lacking at the nnual dinner of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild held at Northampton Town Haki on October 17th. The speeches were excellent and witty, the dinner was well chosen and well cooked, the band for dancing was in good form, but for some inexplicable reason the attendance was considerably short of the two previous dinners. Those who attended had an enjoyable evening
Canon G. F. Turner, the president. was in the chair He was supported by the Archdeacon of Northampton (the Ven. B. R, Marsh) and Mrs. Marsh. Mr. F. W. Perrens and Mrs. Perrens, Canon K. W. H. Felstead, Mr. P. I. Chapman (Past Master). Miss S. R. Colbins (Master) and Mr. E. Billings (secretary and treasurer).

The toast of ' The Church' was proposed by Mr. P. I. Chapman, who said that it was only since the emergence of the much publicised South Bank religion and the publication of the reports of the conversations with the Methodists and with the subsequent criticisms and discussions that many, if not all of 1 hem , have really become aware that the Church of England, though always in modern times reasonably tolerant, embraces to-day a wider variety of religious conviction than ever before in its chequered history.

BETTER HEART

Changes and toleration of these changes were obviousty essential factors in the modern Church -even the hitherto intransigent Church of Rome showed signs of recognising that. On the whole, we thought that the Church was in better heart than ever before-at least in their lifetime. It was at last being realised that she must keep up with events, that Christianity must be taken to the people and not merely 'made available ' in the parish's ancient monument once a week on Sundays in a form almost unintelligible to modern ears !

- Whatever changes there mav be they will most likely have their effect upon our ancient art of bellinging, but that is comparatively unimportant. I believe, however, that the art of ringing is well worth preserving for its own sake. I also believe that it is a useful means of propaganda for the Church. As long as people complain about the nuisance of bells on Sundays it will be worth ringing for service. They are the most effective conscience-prickers the Church possesses!
The Archdeacon of Northampton said it was a pleasure to hear their pledge of loyalty Church. like everytbing else, depended upon the Church. like everytbing else, depended upon the Press and what they read in the Press was not always the whole of the story. What they read was about the newsy worth and that invariably meant trouble. There was a great deal going on in the Church throughout the world which was funtastically revolutionary, such as what was taking place in the Vatican Council. but few realised how the Church of England was in 1964 a revitalised church

I am very proud to belong to the Church of England and I do not agree with people who say she is a chronically sick old lady. The Church is growing and is set on putting its things in order. In my present job I see a great deal of this diocese and the more I see my confidence grows. This diocese is having a share in the many forward things in the future. future.

The Archdeacon said he had been given charge of St. Peter's Church and it had, so be understood. the earliest bells in Northampton and one of the finest. and the first peal was rung there in 1739. Unfortunately most of his life had heen spent in places where there were no bells-in Australia few of the churches had bells but were dependent on recordings. Bells were very much a part of English life: they summoned the faithful to worship. As he went round the villages he found churches which had bells and needed help in training new bands; there were other vilkages where there were not funds to place the bells in order. In these matters the Guild could help. THE DUEL
Mr. F. W. Perrens, librarian to the Central Council, proposed the toast of The Peterhorough Diocesan Guild.' In doing so he hrought to them the hearty greetings of one of their friendly neighbours-the Coventry Diocesan Guild-the Guild he had been most closely associated with during the 50 -add years he had been interested in ringing. Yes, they were still friendly although they won the duel for entertaining the Central Council next year. It was won when their Master told the Council that the Peterborough Guild general secretary was associated with a brewery!
They were very pleased last year to welcome their then Master, Mr. Chapman, and some of their ringers to the Coventry Rally. They had a matter of some 600 ringers and friends at the service at the Cathedral. They were very sorry that they could not arrange for them to have a ring at the Cathedral, because they knew the 14 hells were hung dead. He knew they would sympathise with them because at their own Cathedral at Peterborough they had no ringable hells. It was a pity that at the Coventry Cathedral the bells had not come up to the standard of the beauty of the Cathedral or the wonderful services they had, but it might be helter in due course.
Theis efficient secretary had sent them a copy of their last annual report and from that he noticed that some of the branch secretarles were disappointed that they did not get more members at their meetings. He thought they would hear the same complaint in many other Guilds.

FULL COMPLEMENT

The success of any Guild depended not on the officers but the success of individual bands. and first and foremost that success depended on having a full complement of members. What could be done about increasing the membership of those bands that were short. If each and every one coubd introduce a new recruit it would go a long way in meeting the deficiency. They had a wonderful example at Cosgrove-a six-bell tower with 30 membershe had never heard of anything jike that before.
The Central Council recognised that it was essential they must recruit. To help in this the Council had issued a leaflet which could be hung in church porches calling attention to bells, the hours of service and practice ringing and to whom those interested should apply for information. These could also be hung in churches in the vicinity giving information of the nearest church with ringable bells. Concluding. Mr. Perrens said he would like to congratulate the present Master, Miss Collins. As far as his recollection went there had never been a lady as Master of a Guild of this size. He wished her a very happy and successful year in her mastership.

The president, in reply, said they were always proud in their Guild that they had so many of the younger clement and ladies as members. It had been said that it $v$ as an unusual thing to have a lady as Master, but in Miss Shelagh Collins they had a dedicated person: she was not only dedicated to bellringing but also to the Church and service of the Church. He wished her well. They were also fortunate in having Mr. Billings as their secretary. They having Mr. Billings as their secretary. They knew of the excellent arrangements be made for that function, the annual meeting and the summer festival. In him the brewery company of that town had an excellent representative in the Church. In regard to the Central Counci! meeting in Northampton next Whitsuntide they had already made certain arrangements and he boped it would be a big success. The details would be circulated in the near future.

PETERBOROUGH CATHEDRAL

Regarding Peterborough Cathedral, he said all his life he had been connected with the Cathedral and he remembered, as a choirboy, when the bells were rung. For many years the bel! fiad not been rung. It was not for lack of interest by the Dean and Chapter but because of the structural condition of the Cathedral, which is undergoing continual repairs; so far they had not been able to tackle the question of the hells. I never let a meeting pass without mentioning this fact and I hope that we shall one day have the bells ringing as I remember them as a boy.'
In the diocese, continued the president, the Guild uas in a very healthy state with between 900 and 1,000 members, and a great proportion of those members were active. doing a splendid job. As he went about the diocese on various errands it was always a joy to hear the bells ringing and he thought when they heard him coming they always put a little more pep in their ringing.
The loast of "The Guests" proposed hy the general secretary (Mr. W. S. Billings) and acknowledged by Canon K. W. H. Fekstead, of Southampton, who mentioned his predecessor as Rural Dean of Southampton was Bishop Spencer Leese, who became Bishop of Peter borough. Dancing followed.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Striking Competition Final

The successful teams from four Branch competitions met in the final of the Lancashire Association's striking competition on October 10th. Our hosts were the members of the Preston Branch, and in order to save time the eight-bell and six-bell sections were rung at the same time, the former at Higher Waltort, the latter at Walton-le-Date.
In the eight-bell section the judges (Derck Butterwarth. Derek Ashton and Neil Bennett placed the three competing teams in the fot lowing order: 1 St. John's. Preston; 2 Emmanuel, Southport; 3 St. Michael's, Ashton-under-Lyne.
In the six-bell section the judges were John Booth. John Robinson and F. Reynolds, who placed the teams as follows: 1 St. James; Leyland; 2 St. Peter's, Burnley; 3 Adhington: 4 Accrington: 5 St. Michael's, Ashton-underLyne: 6 Coppull.

This event appears to be growing in popularity, and thanks to some good organisation a very enjoyable afternoon was spent by all.

Letters to the Editor

A Go-ahead District

Dear Sir,-A few words of praise and encouragement are these to the go-ahead ringing members of the Alton and Petersfield districe of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.
Great efforts have been made in the last 12 years in mastering different methods and improving striking and this is very noticeable at Liss. where there is a keen loyal band of service ringers who, incidentally, won the cup in last year's striking competition.

I have been a member of the Guild for over 30 years now and I think it is true to say that we have never had it so good in this district. Many young ringers are being taught ands some older members have persevered and got on to Surprise methods.
On October 17th a peal of Plain Bob Major was attempted at Liss, an all local effort. Unfortunately this was lost after just over an hour of beautiful ringing. Not to be dismayed, it was decided to try a quarter peal of Stedman Triples and, once again, the ringing was really first class, equal to many much more experienced bands I have heard; unfortunately this too was lost in the last course. I had the pleasure of recording these efforts on my tape recorder and what joy it is to play this back and hear such beautiful ringing on this grand Mears octave.

How has this been achieved? My mind goes back to the early 1930's when Charles E. Bassett did a tremendous amount to foster change ringing and he still does. After the war came along Reg Jones and his wife, both dead, but they were keen and top class ringers and started what I would call the great revival.
Among those inspired by his efforts were Mr. Rex Corke and his wife, at Alton, who have fostered a good band. Another stalwart is my old school friend Alan Betsworth, captain at Liss who, like myself is a pupil of Charles E. Bassett. He went to Liss just before the war and got a band of change ringers going and encouraged such promising youngsters as David Hughes and Brian Walton, who are now conducting and instructing others.
Keith Sansom and Ken Tipper, at Petersfield, mo.e disciples of C.E.B. and Reg Jones, are doing great work there. An excellent band is at Warnford, the work of these great pioneers and so it continues, a district that is really flourishing and getting ahead.

I think it is quite probable we shall see a Surprise band in the Alton and Petersfield district one day, the first ever. To all I would say, keep it going.-Yours faithfully.
Hawkley, Hants. CHARLES A. POUND.

Iron Spur Stays

Dear Sir--Revertiug to the correspondence on stays which started with Mr. Haythorne's letter about St. Lawrence's bells in Winchester, at St. John-the-Baptist's Church in the same city tare five bells which are probably more unringable than St. Lawrence's ever were. Here the iron spur stays project sideways from the top of the headstock, to engage with intriguing vertical iron sliders (like pendulums) fitted to the frame posts below the bearings. The frame and fittings appear to date from the 17 th century, the tenor ( 16 cwt . in F) being dated 1654.

Rev. A. Clayton's stays at Stratford Tony, allached to the wheels with rope, are parallelled at Tarrant Monkton. Dorset (3, feno: cracked). Beckleton. Worcestershire (3, tesioi abou! 7 cwt. in A) and Tugford, Shropshire. about 7 cwt. in A) and Tugford, Shropshire. century five with really rustic fittings (mostly original) and still capable of being swingchimed. In ali these cases the rope or string is no doubt a repair, the stays originally being jointed, pegged or nailed to the wheels. It does seem that in the old days a stay was not something to be broken!

I wonder if anyone can beat. Tarrant Crawford, Dorset, where the treble of the three has a normal stay projecting downwards from the headstock. to engage with a slider attached to the tower roof!-Yours faithfully.
Leigh, Reigate. CHRISTOPHER DALION.

Leicester University Outing

Dear Sir,-May I be allowed to comment on the rather uncalled for comments by Mr. J. J. Pawley ( $p$. 695) ? As the ex-Ringing Master of the "local university society" referred to, I would like to point out the following:
(1) On the actual day of our outing, twa members were prevented from attending after an accident on a field-course which caused a broken wrist to one girl, and very severe lacerations to the other. A third member, who was to have attended, was unexpectedly called for an interview with the bursar and joined us later.
(2) Nottingham University was also to have sent a band to join us, but an unfortunate examination timetable prevented this.

We, at Leicester, have had enough trouble to keep going over the last three years without having these extra misfortunes to contend with. I think I explained the situation quite clearly to the local lady who met us, and we were all grateful that she came to ring with us, albeit humble and poorly struck Bob Minimus. We dic out best with the resources availableno one can do more.

However, as so often happens, it appears that the story got changed on the way of passing from mouth to mouth, and I am forced to make this defence for our Society.

I hope. Mr. Pawley, that you will not take these remarks personally ; but do please enquire carefully into reasons before firing your bullets at people who may be innocent of offence. Next time we have an outing, let ust hope that there will be enough to ring five, six, yes even eight bells. We have done it before and it can be done again, unless the face of fortune sees fit to look the other way once more.-Yours faithfully,

ROBERT E. HARDY.

Moseley, Birmingham.

Old Rings of Bells

Deay Sir, - I read with interest Phillip Walker's article about the bells of Merton College, Oxford.

I am not quite sure what he means by the eight bells being 'the oldest complete ring by one founder in existence, ' but here at Coulsdon there is a ring of five, all of which were cast in 1675 , by John Hodson.
They have been rehung. quarter turned: and retuned, but not recast, so they are by five years ant older ring than those of Merton Col-lege.-. Yours sincerely,
D. G. LITTLE.

Coulsdon. Surrey.

Morpeth Watch Tower

Dear Sir,-Just what is the 'slight' of the Curfew to which Miss Armstrong refers in her letter about Morpeth Watch Tower ('Belfry Gossip ')? If it means that permission to attempt peals or quarter peals has been given-attempts which extend across the time for ringing the Curfew-then surely the matter rests with those responsible for the bells in this lower, presumably the Borougly Council this tower, presumahly the Borougly Council itself! It is open to all ringers to apply for the use of the hells at a certain time. and if permission is given then they cannot he blamed for going ahead with their ringing. If Miss Armstrong has any real grounds for complaint, then this should be made to the local authorities and not to ringers generably-unless they have in fact been ringing without dermission, which I would very much doubt. The whole matter seems to be one which should be settled locally by consultation with those who have charge of the tower and its bells, whether these be the clergy of the Parish Church (some distance away up the hill) or the Borough Council.-Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD IHE autumn quarterly meeting of the Guild was held in the Melton Mowbray District on October 17th. During the afternoon the bells of Waltham, Eaton and Croxton Kerrial were available as well as the 10 at Melton Parish Church. The Ringers' Service was conducted by the Vicar, Canon C. M. S. Clarke, which was followed by tea in (the Melton District Secretary) and other helpers.
The business meeting followed. After the President had welcomed the 80 members, visitors and friends (Melton always attracts a large number!) he thanked the Melton District offi cers for the arrangements made. Six certificates of membership were presented.

The election of the following 37 members was confirmed
Canon D. A. Adams (Market Harborough), P. Humphrey (Nottingham), M. Stayley (Burton Latimer), Rev. F. W. Brown (Peckleton), Christine Mason (Chilvers Coton), L. F. Cobb (Rinewood), P. N. Tubbs (Winchester). J. Hartless (Southampton), F. L. Harris (Lyminginn). R. Kiopin (Farnborough), R. Haines (Salisbury). M. J. Best (Winchester). Carol Urry (Rugby). Anne Fellows (Birmingham). D. Midgley (Newcastle-u-Lyme). A. Jobson (Abingdon), R. Gay (Beaworth), P. Gay (Bris tol). J. Queen (Petersfield), J. W. Lowe (Ouorn), P. Hutchinson (Evington), R. Plowman (Evington). A. Dockerty (Evington). G. Reynold (Unpingham), D. Baxter (Grantham). K. Hesketh (Liverpool), D. Llewellyn (Barry), J. Nelson (Manchester), L. Melton (IDswich), J. Pannett (Leicester). H. Hammond (Lutterworth). G. Pearcev (Lutterworth), W. Dobbie (Tonbridge). J. Woolford (Tattershall). Rev. Giles Galley (King's Lynn). Barbara Dobson (Shepshed). Jennifer Cook (Birmingham).
The President reminded members that the annual dinner would be held on November 14 th at the Shakespeare Hotel, Braunstone, that Mr. John Freeman (Vice-President of the Central Council) would be the chief speaker.
The winter quarterly meeting would he held in the Syston District on Feb. 13th at Birstall. Mr. Peter Staniforth was to be asked to show the 50 -minute film he took while on his visit to Washington at the conclusion of this meeting.
The next item nroved to be the most contentious Mr. G. W. Mason pronosed and Mr. S. Harrison seconded a motion that an annual striking competition be held on a Guild basis to improve the standard of Sunday service ringing. After much discussion the motion was eventually carricd hy 35 votes to 19.
The committee had appointed Mr. T. C Belton as press serretary in record items of news for insertion in the Diocesan Leaflet.

OUTING

SOUTH EAST WALES

More than 20 ringers from Cardigan. Pembroke, Tenby and St. Florence travelled to Breron and Monmouth for the St. David's Diocesan Guild annual outing on October 3rd.
At the first tower. Devynock, the six bells were rung to Doubles, Kent and Cambridge Minor and rounds. Everyone enjoyed ringing on the beautifully-toned ring of eight at St . Mary's, Brecon. Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman were rung with a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples coming to grief just before entering rounds.
An excellent lunch preceded ringing on the eight bells at Lkanfeigan. This pretty little church, which has recently heen restored. is a considerable distance from the village and is apparently the Mecca of many peal ringers. Unfortunately the ringing here did not do justice to the tuneful bells.
A short run took us to another eight at Llangattock. where the long draught tended to upset many of the company-the striking left much to be desired.
The wonderfully mellowed bells of St. Mary's. Abergavenny, were voted as the ring of the day. After a bad start a plain course of Grandsire Caters came round, which pleased us considerably. only two of the ringers having rung on ten before. This was followed by Original on ten, and rounds.

The party now split up. half returning home whilst the others went on to Blaenavon to ring on the delightfub cight.
A. F.W.

St. Katherine's Society's Week in the Lake District

OV Saturday, September 5th, nine ringers crammed into a Morris 1000 and a clappedout Humber Hawk, and converged at ten oclock on the Priory Church at Pamber, near Basingstoke. After three-quarters of an hour's struggle' and a look over the bells and frame we were finally convinced that, as far as we were concerned, the ring of four with its 50 feet of unguided rope was unringable. Ah, welh, not to worry! Next came a long drive to Leamington, where the elght at Ali Saints' were sampled, and then to Lichfield, where, joined by Anne Horsford in her Sprite, we rang for Evensong on the glorious ten at the Cathedral. These bells were by far the best of the tour. We then pressed on to Buxton, where some managed to eat Chinese before ringing at St. Peter's, Fairfield. The length of the ropes brought Tony to his knees but we managed to strike a course of Kent fairly well. Ah, well, not to worry !

ENTRANCED

On Sunday. after a drive over the Pennines, where we first experienced the type or roads we were to meet for the rest of the week ( - Stone me, it must be 1 in $3!-N o, 1$ in 4 at the mosi'), some of us managed to reach Leeds in time to ring for morning service on the fine 12 bells at the Parish Church. Some also rang for service at St. Francis of Assisi's (R.C.) before moving on towards the lakes. $\mathrm{En}_{\mathrm{n}}$ route, eight of us rang at Giggleswick (the name had entranced a certain young lady ringer in the party), whilst the other two moved on to munch pork pies hy the side of the road, ultimately being the first to arrive in Keswick, which was to be our home for the week. The rest arrived just in time for a short ring at Crosthwaite before the service, which we attended, hearing a sermon given by the Bishop of Pontefract. After the service, at Mr. Brownrigg's suggestion, we rang the bells again, and the more energetic admired the view from the lop of the tower.
On Monday the grabbing started in earnest. Before hunch we enjoyed the new 7 cwt . eight at Hawkshead, where we were joined by Tom Metcalfe, rang Alperton Alliance (what, four lots of fourths?) at Broughton-in-Furness, and went on to ring at Millom, during which time the Humber had managed to have an argument with a Triumph owner who owned the white line down the middle of the road. We returned to Broughton for lunch, and went on to ring an almost perfect touch of Single Oxford on the light six at Kirkby Ireleth. three leads of Original Royal and a course of Cambridge Major at Dalton, and a course of Double Norwich at Barrow, where the fourth sounded to be hung in the staircase turret (wo don't know where the other bells were). After tea we rang at Ulverston and at Tom Metcalfe's home tower of Flookburgh with its calfe s home to fine 16 cwt . six.

GOOD AND BAD
On Tuesday we went east, first to the delightful Taylor four at Lazonby, where the ropes hang in a straight line along one wall, which made Erin and Kent more interesting. This was followed by several touches on the somewhat difficult bells at Great Salkeld. At Penrith we were told a story about Mr. A. Patrick Cannon and, despite the organiser failing to recognise her, were joined by Hilary Swallow, who had come up from Tonbridge by coach overnight. We procceded to ring Superlative and Stedman on the fine ring of cight. After lunch we rang at Appleby, and then moved on to Kirkby Stephen, where three new ropes on a 60 ft . draught defeated our efforts to strike the bells. Ah, weH, not to worry! Orton bells, where the second had no stay. were sampled before tea, after which we rang at Kirkby Lonsdale.

On Wednesday morning we lost a peal of Cambridge at Arlecdon, but rang a quarter of Bob Triples instead, a 'first' for seven of the participants. Ah. good! Lunch followed at Whitehaven-fine church, but no bells. At Hensingham the third bell was a bit sticky due to an extra long stay, but we managed to ring Superlative. St. Bees' belfry proved to be the 'Black Hole,' but after a light switch had been found, a touch of Bob Major came round at hand (of course it's false). Ah, well, not to worry! Then to Egremont, where, after ringing, the magnificent tea laid on for us in the Church Hall was greatly appreciated. The evening was occupied by only one tower, Clator Moor, where some good Double Norwich and an excellent bob course of Stedman were rung.

LANCASHIRE HOT-POT
On Thursday we went south into Lancashire, visiting Silverdale in the morning, where we rang Double Oxford (what, 65's at backstroke). and Morecambe after lunch, where more rope than bell was heard. At Lancaster came a heavy eight at St Mary's, and an indifferent ten at St. Peter's Cathedral. After tea came Hornby, Melling and Milnthorpe, ending up on our finest six at Heversham, where Cambridge, London and Spliced Minor were rung.

The next morning, Friday, we rang quite a good peal of Grandsire Triples at Keswick and, after lunch, worked our way up to Carfisle via Cockermouth, Workington, where the tenor weighs $12 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt., feels like 15 cwt and sounds like a ton, and Aspatria. After some delay following tea we rang at Carlisle Cathedral, where we seemed unable to strike the bells, although a course of Cambridge was reavonable.
On Saturday we altempted a quarter at Kendal hut, owing to the speed at which we rang, mistakes were hound to occur and, of course, did. During the afternoon we rang at Bowness-on-Windermere and Crosthwaite, and after tea we joined the local Association in ringing on the fine 32 cwt . eight at Ambleside. Then to Langdale, where the delightful light six produced the best-struck Cambridge, London and Oxford of the tour. Back at Keswick our thanks were voted to the organiser, Colin, and the whole party got on the sofa to have their picture taken (Ah, good), followed by bed.

TIIL NEXT YEAR?

An earby start was made on Sunday for the return journey. The Sprite chose the M6M1 route and joined in ringing at Blackburn Cathedral, eventually arriving at London Bridge at 4.45 p.m. The Morris and the Humber, having chosen the Al route, were warmly welcomed at Bradford Cathedral for morning ringing. The Morris finally arrived at London Bridge at 5.45 , but the Humber was having a rather eventful journey. It having 'given up the ghost' near Biggleswade, the occupants decided to push it oft the road, and succeeded in manceuvring it masterfully into a ditch. Ah, well, not to worry! Not long after, due to the overzealousness of a passer-by, two police squad cars, a fire enghe, a breakdown vehicle and an ambulance arrived on the scene. However, a few cheerful words soon put things to rights, and, having got the ghost back again.' the car was restarted, arriving at London Bridge at 8.20.

MR. ALBERT J. DUNK

There were many sad hearts in the Rochester District of the Kent County Association folbowing the sudden death of Mr. Albert J. Dunk, of Stockbury. Only the previous Saturday he had attended the Rochester District's first dinner, which he had organised. The following Wednesday evening, after ringing practice at Stockbury Church, where he was captain, he presided as chairman over the Stockbury Parish Council meeting. During the evening he was taken ill but recovered sufficiently to start his homeward journey, but collapsed on the way. On Friday he was rushed to hospital and had an emergency operation, from which he did not reoover, and died on Friday, October 9th. His wife was at his bedside during his last hours.

Albert J. Dunk, aged 55 years, was well known in the Kent County ringing circies as Bert, and to many young ringers as 'Unche Albert.' He was horn at Greenwich and moved to Stockbury as a young boy. Educated at Stockbury School, he had lived in the village for nearly 50 years.

Among his many village activities, he was chairman of the Stockbury Memorial Hall. A good churchman, he had served on the Church Council and also as a sidesman and churchwarden. For seven years he represented the Rochester District on the Kent County Association and he will be missed by all who knew him.

The cremation service took place at Vinter's Park, Maidstone. on October 13 th, which was conducted by the Rev. Stanley Evans. There were many ringers and friends present. and villagers from Stockbury. Much love and sympathy go out from us all to his devoted wife, Dorothy.
The bells at Stockbury, Newington and Rainham were rung half-muffled at a tribute. F. C.

OBITUARY

MR. E. M. ATKINS  AN APPRECIATION

"A Flat' writes:-
"I first met "E. M. A." on December 28th, 1911, when he rang our tenor to a peal of Minor in seven methods. Between then and 1919 we saw a good deal of him in the Leicester District as his uncle or grandfather was Vicar of St. Nicholas', Leicester, and chaplain at Wyggeston Hospital. Whenever he called at St. John's a good practice night ensued. I rang five peals with him during that period and was in several other attempts.
' One at Stoney Stanton was quite a comedy. There was "W.W." and one of his daughters, myself and brother, Maurice and three Cambridge pals. We went for Double Norwich Court Bob Major. When we inad rung a plain course to a good beat, "W. W." wanted to know what was the game. W. D. James said he thought Maurice was calling it. We restarted and rang for well over an hour when someone called "Stand! I have missed a bob."

- Maurice was an enthusiast and did not mind toiling Although I don't recall having seen him since 1919. I have followed his career. *All the better for knowing him " is my verdict.'

YaTTUN, SOMERSET.-On Oct. 8th, 1.260 Grandsire Triples: Mrs. C. Porier 1. P. Gifiord-England 2. G. Pullin 3. S. G. Smith 4. F. Sandy 5, E. A. Price 6. H. A. Price (cond.) 7, J. K. Baker 8. Rung half-mufled in memoriam Ray Lewis, vicar's warden.

WGRTHING, SUSSEX.-On Oct. 4th, 1,260 Siedman Triples: E. Jane Sibson 1. H. Weaver 2. J. R. Wilson 3. R. P. Wood 4. Derek Sibson (cond.) 5, H. Buter 6. L. Stilwell 7. R. Cox 8. With best wishes to R. Wood, sen., on his 80 th birthday.

MR. J. W. UNWIN

We regret to record the death at the age of 81 of Mr. John W. Unwin, of Canterbury, which occurred yesterday in a Canterbury hospital. Born at Chesterford, near Cambridge, he spent all his working life in the Post Office, with periods of service at Penshurst, Tenterden, Towcester and finally at Canterbury, retiring in 1946. He was awarded the Imperial Service Medal after 40 years' service. It was at Penshurst that he met his future wife, who was a daughter of the Jate Mr. W. E. Spice. They celebrated their golden wedding in 1959.

Mr. Unwin was a member of the Cathedral company, being elected in 1922, was made treasurer in 1944 and captain in 1946; he held both offices at the time of his death. It was in his own parish of St. Stephen's, however, that most of his work for the church was done. He was a member of the choir and church council and during his retirement spent many hours doing both manual and clerica! work. He revived the ringing band there. A member of the Kent County Association for many years, he had served as a representative of the Canterbury District

Post Office representatives, ringers and friends filled St. Stephen's Church for the choral service, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. C. Desch), the lesson being read by the Archdeacon of Canterbury (the Ven. A. Sargent) and the Blessing pronounced by Bishop Rose. Following the service quarter peals were rung at both the Cathedral and St . Stephen's.

He will be sadly missed by his ringing friends and his church. To the many messages of sympathy already received many will be added by those who knew him. B. J. L.

The peal rung at West Stow, Bury St. Edmunds, on September 5 th was for the passing of Mr. F. W. Rickwood, and not as stated.

The bells of St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, were rededicated on October 4th and a contingent of Sydney ringers were present. Miss M. Collins, from Adelaide, who visited Malbourne a week later writes: 'They go like tops and sounded delightful on TV the other night. The circle is now almost perfect and smaller. The ringing chamber has been painted and the whole looks very clean, fresh and spacious.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

Sheffield University Guild have rung their first quarter of Triples.
It was Pat Bird and not Tudor Edwards who purchased the hunting horn to rally members of Bristol University on tour.
The peal at Leigh, Surrey, on October 17th, is claimed to be the first on the bells for 34 years.

The place notation of Sedgley Surprise Major, No. 21, appears at the foot of page 704. We are asked to state that this was a composition by Mr. C. J. Sedgley.

Ted Rochester's ringers during their weekend in Bath and the West explored the Hot. Baths, Royal Crescent and Lansdowne Road. ' Naturally, mist shrouded all the views,' adds our entertaining correspondent.

The quarter peal at Saxilby on October 10th. was rung by the brider and bridegroom, two of the bridesmaids, the best man and the bride's father. All are members of the Sunday service band.

Mrs. F. E. Collins, who came to listen to the peal attempt at Painswick of Stedman Cinques, kindly stood in when the band turned up one short. In some respects the Painswick Youths scored a lucky peal as the clapper of the tenor fell out as the bells were being lowered.

We feel that Mr. J. A. D. Woolford, who rang the 59 cwt. tenor at York Minster and conducted the peal of Bob Maximus on October 3rd, deserves to rank among the tenor kings of the country. It was a fine performance. A friend informs us that Mr. Woolford was the first to turn in Liverpool Cathedral tenor to a touch. His ringing career will be watched with interest.

The fine performance of Mr A. Lawton in ringing in a peal at Broughton, Staffs, where he is tower captain (see page 696), was actually a double occasion. The peal also honoured the golden wedding of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fortnam, of the Rudge Farm, Ashley.
In regard to the Ancient Society of College Youths' peal at East Coker, Somerset, on October 17 th , it was the first time that any of the band had rung the full extent $(5,600)$ of Middleton's composition of Cambridge Surprise Major.
Back in ringing and back in the headlines is Mr. James Bennett, of Grundisburgh. He not only rang a quarter peal, but called it. Jim wants one mora peal for 1,300 and is going to have a jolly good try to get it. We wish him luck for his good old English pluck.

The peal of Grandsire Cinques at Buckfast Abbey on October 10th is only the second 12bell peal by residents of the Guild, the first one being at Exeter Cathedral on January 9th, 1926, which was composed and conducted by the Rev. E. S. Powell, who was at the time Vicar of Holbeton, near Plymouth. The conductor (Mr. F. E. Day) wishes the name of Mr. T. G. Myers, Captain of St. Andrew's, Plymouth, ta be associated with this peal because without his help, guidance and enthusiasm, the peal would not have been attempted. It is interesting to note that the peal was composed by 'Knights' and conducted by 'Day.'

As we go to press we learn with regret of the passing of a veteran ringer, Mr. W. H. Clarke, of Leicester, who succeeded Mr. Wm. Willson as Master and steeplekecper of St. John the Divine's Church in 1936. At 86 years, he found it impossible to climb to the linging chamber. Another notification of death concerns Mr. Sidney Alfred Paice, who died on October 11th, aged 78. A native of Horsham, he was secretary of the Horsham Society for many years and hon. treasurer at the time of his decease. Obituary notices will appear next week.

Quarterly Meeting at Clowne

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$ a rather cold but fine October 10th, the Association's autumn quarterly meeting at Clowne was very well attended with almost 60 present from over 20 towers and visitors from present from over farmay as Birmingham and Leicester.
During the afternoon ringing took place at Balborough and Clowne-both 6 -bell towersafter which the Rector of Clowne (the Rev. W. S. Willcox) conducted a shortened form of Evensong. In his opening remarks as chairman of the business meeting, which followed an excellent tea, the Rector told the company he felt rather like the bridegroom who, with one hand on his wife's shoulder, rose to make a speech at his reception with the words: 'Ladies and gentlemen. this has been forced upon me...! He thanked the Association for the grant towards repairs to Clowne belfry.
The financial position showed an excess of expenditure over income of $£ 34$, which was almost entirely due to the unusually large number of unpaid subscriptions. The treasurer warned members that there was very little margin for error and so urged them once again to remember their voluntary donations when paying subscriptions.
In contrast the Bell Repair Fund was in a healthy position with a balance of $£ 230$ and only 2 out of 73 P.C.C.s having failed to pay their affliation fees for 1964. Following the committee's recommendation Mr. J. Moreton was elected an architectural adviser to the Bell Repair Consultants as obviously the services of a qualified architect. who is alsor a ringer, will he a great help in that direction. Reporting on the work of the consultants, Mr. G. Halls, the secretary, said they were advising Charlesworth (a one-bell tower) on the installation of a light ring of six.
Following the election of Messrs. R. Smart (Sandiacre). W. Barwell (Sawley) and H. Money Clowne) the proposed new Association badge -in the form of a bell and headstock-was accepted. The collection for the Bell Repair Fund amounted to $£ 215$ s, and advance notice was given that next year's annual dinner was to he at the Odeop. Chesterfield, on February 20th. Further ringing was enjoyed at Creswell 8) as well as Clowne. Next meeting (Chesterfield District): Old Whittington (6), Nov. 14th

Wilton, Salisbury, Ringers' Outing

An 8 a.m. start was made by Wilton ringers for their outing into Somerset on October 10th. By coffee time they were at Pilton. but there was ringing on this pleasant six before indulging. arrangements having been made by our efficient organiser. Raymond Haynes.
Deeper into Somerset. to ring at Dinder before lunch at Wells and then through the Chew Lake Valley to Burrington. As we arrived at Bath we heard the Abber bells in full ten and hope to see the peal published. The evening tower: were Kecvil and Steeple Ashton
Our sincere thanks to incumbents and those who met us.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY IN OXFORD

'IHE Society's annual tour, held between September 19th and 24th, was based on Oxford. A regretted absentee was the Master as the tour proved to be as successful as its two predecessors. On Friday evening we were welcomed at the practice at Old Marston
The tour began on Saturday morning, with a touch of Cambridge at Cumnor (6), followed by a rather better one of London. In Appleton's incredibly small tower for the ring of ten we rang some quite acceptable Plain Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters. At the next lower Abingdon. we wished our band was at ful strength to do justice to this fine ring o ten; we only managed Grandsire und Stedman Caters.
The Rev, and Mrs. Dixon kindly entertained us to lunch at the Vicarage, a gesture very much appreciated. In the atternoon we rang Spliced Cambridge and London at Mifon, but a good rhythm defied us at Harwell During our hour at Wantage, we decided that the bells went better to Triples than Major; some good Stedman was rung.

FULL SUNDAY

On Sunday we were privileged to join the ingers at Christ Church Cathedral to ring for morning service ; afterwards members went to St Aldate's, St. Giles' and All Saints'. In the afternoon we joined the practice at Radiey, where Miss Cross made us very welcome. For Evensong we joined the band at High Wycombe on thefr excellent twelve
Monday singing started at Wheatley, a recently rehung six. We experienced considerable difficulty here, as the clock case is in the centre of the circle and interferes with a ropesight. At Great Milton we were met by Mr Allen, who congratulated us on taking such a good band into the countryside. Although it must be admitted that a course of Bristol and a half course of Yorkshire went well on these excellent bells, we felt that we did not deserve such high praise. Little Milton followed and constcrnation was caused at 'The Lamb by an order for twenty-eight rounds of sandwiches. Due to a tremendous piece of foresight on someone's part the order had been placed before we started ringing and sD all was ready by the time we finished. After lunch we visited Brightwell Baldwin, Ewelme, Benson and Dorchester Ahbey

SHAKESPEARE AND BELLS
The cultural needs of the party were satisfied on Tuesday by a visit to the Royal Shakespeare Theatre, Stratford, to see Hepry IV, Part 2. Our route allowed time for ringing eights at Woodstock and Chipping Norton and the six at Whichford. Lunch was taken at Brailes, and we were met at the church to be told that the tenor clapper had broken the previous Sunday. A great disappointment : but due to the hard work of the tower captain the other damage had been repaired and we were able to ring the front five. Thence to Stratford, where we had been fortunate enough to be given permission to ring on the excellent ten.
Wednesday began with two fives, Stanton St. John and Beckley. The eight at Thame were to our liking, but were not quite what we expected from such an imposing exterior After lunch, another cack-handed eight, this time at Long Crendon. Although courses of Yorkshire and Bristol came round; we did not ring as well as we would have liked to have done. Wotton Underwood bells were a pleasant find, right out in the country. With our morale restored we went on to Piddington, but found the tenor hadly cracked in the crown and the third slightly so. The day ended at Brill

CONCLUDED WITH A PEAL
Three enjoyable rings on Thursday morning finished the tour. At Eynsham we were impressed by the striking competition certificates on the wall of the belfry. We hope our performance was up to standard. St Mary's. Witney, bells are very fine and it was a great pity that we were now reduced in numbers again. However, a course of Yorkshire was rung. and we were a little late at North Leigh. In the afternoon we rang a peal of Plain Bob Major at Kirtlington.
Wo include in our thanks everyone who met us at the towers and added that little bit more interest to a very successful week. R. J.S.

SPOTS BEFORE THE EYES

MRS. HOOKWAY'S sitting room looked a very pleasant place in which to spend the afternoon: the lounge suite was comfortable, and there was an electric fire to warm our toes on a nippy autumn day; more important to us, the window looked right across to the tower of St. Giles-in-the-Wood Church about 100 yards away, and a short trial peal showed us that we could hear every blow loud and clear, so long as that youth with the new Honda didn't spend the whole afternoon riding it up and down the village street. So Mr. Drake and I got out our notebooks and ruled them neatly. sharpened our pencils and our cars, and settled down to our job.
There are only two of us judging this Torridge Vale Guild festival, because Mr. Jack Harris hasn't been able to make it, and I feel the weight of my responsibility lying rather heavily on my novice shoulders, for my notebook only records one previous experience of judging a competition, and then I was one of four. What's more, I'm here this afternoon in place of no less a man than the late Tommy Darch, and I only hope that his spirit will aid me: his instruction certainly will.

Mr. Drake, I'm glad to see. has a fat notebook well stored with judging records, and I find that he is one of the North Tawton band, who gave ringers all over England such a thritl with their superb striking in the Christmas broadcast in 1950. We have nine teams to iudge, five from the Guild itself, and four for the open class; I've already seen some of the Down St. Mary and West Down ringers, and High Bickington are here under the redoubtable Herbert Pidler-me judging him; that's a bit daunting.

A tinkle of the treble -here we go, eyes down and wait for the pitch. There it comes, and we start marking, a dot for the first round. another for the second. each one a quarter-fault. and then as the tenor gets under a full fault every round for no fewer than fourtcen: this is a pretty rough rise, and by the time the bells are un there are alreadv 26 faults marked. They settle into reasonable rounds, but when the changes begin they are losing marks all the time. with three or four bad rounds after almost every change. and once a real jiffil (very rare in call change ringing) with two bells clashing for a couple of rounds. Here's the lower beginning now. unsteady all the way: we total up and strike the average, and find the score $92 \frac{1}{2}$. Not very bright, that one, but everybody has to learn somehow Tinkle again. wait for it. and we're off again. starting with several full mark; for a rather rageed pitch. However, this one is better than the last once the bells are double-tonguing. and although the top ringing is a trifle stiff at 32 a minute the changes are very clean and a very fair lower gets them down with a score of $57!$. Mr. Drake opens a bottle of brown ale for cach of us, and then our pencils are at it again.

This is thel best pitch so far. but the rise loses marks when the treble man lets out too little rope and his handstroke blow comes in under the tenor's backstroke for several rounds. Still. it's the hest rise to date for all that. and we hope for some really good ringing. In this we're disappointed; although these chaps know what they're doing. they give themselves too little time to settle down: no sooner are they up than they're called into "thirds' and into the changes. and as a result all the top ringing is choppier than it might have been. Thev regain a little ground with a very gond lower on which they only lose six marks by my reckoning. and make their total $86 \frac{1}{2}$.

Peal number four goes off verv well. though the 3 and 4 get over for a few blows in the rise. Once up, the treble gets penalised until he gets his bell clear of the tenor, and the top ringing is fair, though these people seem to have difficulty in setting down after each change. even when the change itself has been made cleanly. Some marks are going down all the way along. but it's still the best ringing yet and even when the lower had been marred by the treble's getting under for three blows near the, end, and one more mark lost with a "chitter" after the rest had stopped. their score is no more than 47.

One more peal before tea, and it's the best of the five. This lot pitch the bells as clean as a whistle, and the rise is only marred by a couple of rounds with the treble just under the tenor. Their rounds and opening changes are rung at a pitch a triffle too low-lower, anyway, than this band can be certain of striking them. But later they stiffen up and the striking improves, and we give them $40 \frac{1}{2}$.
Mrs. Hookway meanwhile has been busy, and as soon as we.ve checked that tally she comes in with a two-tiered trollev completely covered with food. Three kinds of sandwiches, splits-and cream. buttered splits, and four plates of assorted cakes-there's enough here for a couple of six-bell bands, let alone two judges. and all of it as delicious as a Devon housewife can make it. Mr. Drake and I make what impression we can on this spread, and by the time we're sitting back hoping that after it we can keep awake for another four peals, the treble rings her warning and the first of the four it about to start.

As soon as they pitch the first round, we know that these ringers are experts. The bells go up swift and clean, and there's no feeling about for the pitch of the bells, going up a little bit too high and then coming down to the right pace, as most bands do: these chaps just put the bells straight up into the right slot and off they go, a shade over 34 rounds a minute and the changes so crisp and clean that they might have been cut with a razor blade. By the time the top ringing is finished, this band's row of dots is only just over half-way across my page. and even the most critical judging can find occasion for only eleven more in a lovely, smooth, slow lower, the bells singing their way down in glorious harmory with the tap-notes running in and out through the hum, swift and light like elves' dancing. This is call change ringing at its very best. a pleasure to judge, sweet to the ear and light on the pencil.

By contrast the next peal is a disastrous one: it loses more on the rise alone than the last one's total of $15 \frac{1}{2}$, and this treble man makes the same mistakes as an earlier one of going into changes before the rounds had settled down. Commenting on this peal. Mr. Drake and I afterwards remark on two facts: first. that even with 103 faults peals like this get away lightly, for althoush they may incur two quarter-faults every round the four unmarked bells in that round are often striking unevenly enough to be marked in a peal as good as the previous one: second, that whereas one of the most important bells in a rise is the 2 nd ; which has the task of setting the interval for the rest to follow, in changes a very great deal of this responsibility seems to develop upon the bell in 5th's place; in this peal the striking was noticeably sloppy in 5th's. and as a result the rhythm suffered severcly. I myself have noticed this in method ringing-that bad striking on the back can destroy the striking quite as badly as unsteadiness at lead.

The last two peals are both very good: No. 8 has an excellent rise and an even better lower: the top-ringing is good too. but here again marks might have been saved if the rounds had been allowed to settle before the changes were bgun. Nineteen faults here. though. and the second best of the day. No. 9 has an even better rise: bv my marking it was the best of the lot-a nire clean pitch. 'smacked in tight': the treble's handstroke coming in after the tenor to perfection on about the third round. and all the bells double-tonguing within seven or eight ,and then the real delight of a good rise, with the bells swiftly 'spreading out.' at Tom Darch used to say, "like a flock of birds." In contrast to

GUILDFORD CATHEDRAL'S RING OF TEN ORDERED

$A^{N}$order has been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for a ring of 10 bells for Guildford Cathedral. The Bishop (Dr. George Reindorp) has asked for the bells to be installed for dedication on May 17th. 1965, the fourth anniversary of the consecration of the Cathedral. At the same time it is hoped to dedicate the Chapter House, he South Garth and the new organ case.
The announcement has come as a pleasurGuild. It is made possible by a thank-offering gift of $£ 5,000$ by Brigadier and Mrs. Derek Schreiber, of Bellasis, Dorking, for their daughter Susie's miraculous escape in a motor car accident last September. Oiber donors have recently contributed four bells and there are two other memorial bells in the Cathedral - the Alfred H. Pulling and Margaret Cleeve bells.
In addition each of the four districts of the Guildford Guild is striving to provide a bell. This was at the behest of Bishop Reindord who two years ago asked the Guild to accept responsibility for providing the complete ring. This they considered was beyond their compass and their activities were accordingly limited to the present targets. Between them the four Districts have contributed $£ 750$.
The happy announcement of being in a position to place an order was made personally by the Bishop to the Master of the Guild (Mr. D. A. R. May) and also to his immediate predecessor, Mr. C. W. Denyer. Discussions had previously taken place with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank by the architect. Sir Edward Maufe. as to the weight of the bells. It has finally been decided to have a $30 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. tenor, which is in accordance with the wishes of the Guild.
When the bells are installed it is hoped to move the Guild library to the Cathedral. This is to be named after Mr. A. C. Hazelden. the founder and first librarian.

${ }^{6}$ BERKSHIRE BELLS

COMPLETED AFTER 25 YEARS

 WITH the publication this month of the 8th part of - The Church Bells of Berkwhre. Mr. Frederick Sharpe completes a 25 years task. This was not intentional. The original idea in 1939 was to complete thework in four parts. Even after the war the nublishers, the Berkshire Archaological Saciety, could only manage to produce one small part a year. It is a pity as Berkshire is an interesting county with many examples of the work of the great medizval foundry at Wokingham and the later Reading foundryto say nothing of such treasures as the inscribed 13th at Enborne, Sonning, Cholsey and Challow. Also the great achievements of the White family at Appleton.

The final part is of particukar importance as it deals with the bells of Windsor Castle. Of the seven illustrations relating to the Castle's bells the most intresting are ihose concerning the Russian bell in the Round Tower, which was brought from Sebastopot, as a war trophy in 1855 . It weighs 17 cwt . 1 qr .21 lb . and is tolled at the funeral and deaths of British sovereigns.

This bell, which was cast in Moscow, circa 1750, has moulded canons and is richly ornamenied with figures of the Madonna and Child and symbols the Holy Ghost. The original clapper is retained and is curiously positioned out of centre.
Most of the rings described- the volume deals with the 'W's' of Berkshire-have treasures to delight the antiquary. Wokingham (All Saints') still retains two originals from Samuel Knight's foundry at Wokingham 1703-1704, while at Little Wittenham there are two by Henry Knight 1 of Reading 1620, another by Ellis and Henry Knight III 1676 and the tenor by Joseph Carter 1607. Older still is the third at Winkfield ( 1591 by J. Carter), but a small bell in S:. Peter's. Woolhampton. was cast at the Wokingham foundry cirea 1360
Many of the pictures in this well-illustrated voluthe are by the author. The price of the part is $2 s$ 6d.. post free but copies are only reserved for those who have previous parts.

EXTENT MAJOR RINGER MARRIED

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$N Saturday, October 3rd, the wedding took place of Mr. John M. Jelley and Miss Monica Moore at St. Mark's Church. Wood Green, London. Monica is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Moore, of West Beech Road. Wood Green. and John the only son of Mrs. F. M. Jelley, of Wigston, Leicester. and the late Mr. Ernest Jelley

The bride's father gave her away and her bridal gown was of white embossed satin cut in the princess style with a train and headdress trimmed with guipure lace. She had a fulllength veil and carried orchids. freesia and cyclamen. Monica was attended by her sister Margaret as bridesmaid. The best man was Mr. Peter J. Staniforth, of Leicester.
A large congregation gathered at the church in beautiful autumn sunshine to witness the ceremony which was conducted by the Rev. Fr . Suter. In the congregation were many of Monica's friends and relations: some had travelled great distances to be present. John was ably supported by a large Leicester contingent who travelled down with him on the Saturday morning-a group of them joined with some of Monica's friends and rang a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at All Hallows . Tottenham.

After the ceremony the reception was held at the Alexandra Palace and then they travelled to St. Pancras (where a good send off was given) to board a train for an unknown destination. Actually, celebrations started early for John as his car was beautifully and most appropriately decorated by office colleagues on the Thursday prior to the wedding but he was a little more successful in concealing the identity of the hotel where they were to sond their honeymoon.

If the send off was good the welcome home was even better for they were greeted by a very cleverly decorated house said to have been the work of an Austin owner and his name also suggests that he is a member of the B.M.C. groun. Captions adorned windows, directions to tradesmen were displayed on large cards and old boots and streamers completed the decoration.
John and Monica are now residing in Coshy I.eics, and the loss to Christ Church, Southgate. band, where Monica was captain, will be the gain of Leicester Cathedra where she will join her husband. May we offer them our sincere congratulations and many years of spliced happiness. P.J.S.

REDEDICATION OF MELBOURNE CATHEDRAL BELLS

() N October 4th a large congregation, including many visiting ringers, was present when the Dean of Melbourne, the Very Rev. T. W. Thomas. rededicated the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral. After an absence of a year, during which they were in England being retuned and refitted they have now been rehung in a new steel frame and are ringing The occa
The occasion of the rededication was given wide publicity by the press, radio and TV and this attracted Peter Swan (Bristol), Ron Johnson (Manchester) and Robin Turner (Durham and Newcastle). who turned up to try the "new" bells. In addition there were 17 ringers from Sydney, one each from Adelaide, Bendigo and Canberra and 7 from Ballaarat, making a total of 59 including those from the two Melbourne towers. During the afternoon it was proved that the bells were capabse of ringing everything from rounds of Suderlative and Lincolnshire Surprise Major.
The rededication of the bells marked the first completed work in the extensive restoration of the Cathedral now in progress, and the opening of the second phase of the restoration appeal.

JOINT MEETING AT HILLINGDON

'ITHE joint meeting of the Ladies' Guild the Oxford Guild and the Middlesex Association at Hillingdon on October 17th attracted about 70 ringers and friends. This vear's highlight was a talk by Mr. Frank C. Price on the recent trip to Washington. He illustrated his most interesting talk with many first class colour transparencies, and, through the courtesv of Douglas Hughes and the help of Bill Coles, a tape recording of some of these fine bells was heard. It was remarkable to hear the spontaneous cheers and adplause from the large crowd around the Cathedral when the bells came into rounds.

The ringers' service was conducted by the Vicar. Rev. F. C. Tyler, and the chour and organist led the singing. Mrs. Sexton and Mrs. Goodfellow and their noble assis'ants prepared and served a sumptuous tea and supper and thoroughly deserved the compliments accorded to them.

The ringing practice at Hillingdon and Iver had its ups and downs but amongst some of the gnod striking was an excellent course of London Royal.

Some old friends were absent and among the apolopies received wer- those frnm Mrs. T. J. Lock. Mrs. Savory. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Collins and Mr. and Mrs. S. Honor, two hnnorary members who have not missed a Hillingdan Joint' since the war. So here's to next time.

Oh. ves. the time-hnnoured annual reirket match during the evening (not under MCr ruies ? was amain won bv the Oxford fuild and 'the cup' was handed to David H1ling.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION MEET IN THE CITY OF LONDON

The North and East district visited the Metropolis on October 10th and ringing took place at two City churches.
In the afternoon the pleasant six at st Vedast, one of two churches in England bearing this dedication to a French bishop. attrac ted quite a few ringers. Evening ringing was at St. Botoloh's, Bishopsgate.
A short business meeting was he!d in the ringing chamber of the latter tower at which confirmation of the provisional election of the following as non-resident life members was made: Russell S. Morris, A. James Poynor. and Herrick B. Bowley, of Leicester: Robert B. Smith. Marple, and Dan S. Pont. of Wood house Fiaves.
The incumbents and Mrs. E. E. Davis were thanked for their help and co-operation.

EXPLORING SOMERSET WITH RAVING RINGERS

THE EIGHTH annual tour of the Society of Raving Ringers was held in Somerset. Some 14 Ravers assembled on Juiy 25th at Sherborne where one of the Hertfordshire ringers, who wishes to remain anonymous, lost his trousers while ringing the tenor for a wedding. Meanwhile in a quiet lay-by near Aylesbury four other Ravers were cursing a mini-bus, fully loaded with camping equipment, which had broken down.
The camp was at Staple Fitzpaine five miles south of Taunton. Service ringing was at St. Marys. Taunton. on Sunday. In a lay-by near Burford was the ill-fated mini-bus and whilst the bulk of the Ravers had rung in two cowers. Chris Clarke had 'runp, in two new A.A. boxes. It was not until $5.40 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.- the main party spending the day at Wells, Wookey and Cheddar Gorge-that the stranded four having transferred equipment to a grocers van. joined the rest outside Chewton Mendip Church. Ringing here ended with a short touch of Bristol and most agreed that the bells were everything they are said to be. Tents were unloaded on the camp site and the four latecomers left for Taunton for a meal of chicken and chips and a noggin of ale

EXCITEMENT

Ringing on Monday was towards and on Exmoor and it was not without elements of excitement. For example, at Bishop's Lydeard the wooden frame was thought to wander about the tower whilst ringing was taking place (and Yorkshire too!) and at Luxborough whilst ringing spliced Grandsire and Stedman Doubles it carpet sweeper became entangled in Ted Venn's rope and after sailing up in the air finally clobbered Ken Darvill on the back of the neck. After an excelient six at Carhampton came an hour on the glorious ten at Minehead, ringing ending with Stedman Caters and a half course of Cambridge Royal. The evening ringing was at Dunster (rather tricky) and Monksilver.
The difficult six at Pitminster were first on Tuesday's programme. The belfry at Nynehead was in a disgusting state. The trapdoor to the bell chamber had been left open so birds had invaded the belfry. A ladder had been placed across the headntocks of the fifth and tenor and prevented them from heing rung. When the debris had been removed from the belfry the bells were raised in peal and after several courses of original Minor quickly lowered in Somerset style. A comment heard afterwards was 'Ah! t'were a good peal, Ted.'

Before lunch a course of Bristol was rung at Wellington. and afterwards the Devon border was crossed to ring at Uffculme. thought by some to be up to Chewton Mendip standard, ringing including Erin Triples and Yorkshire. Following a picnic lea came Howard Oglesby's 'Golden Egg - Rockwell Green was his l.000th tower. On this very good six ringing was mostly Surprise Minor. West Buckland and Churchstanton completed the day's programme.

RASCALI.Y RINGERS

There were fears of a 'washout' when the rain came down on Wednesday. but we reached West Monkton where the fifth manages to slip wheel frequently. The village stocks are in the churchyard and here we placed our rascally ringers - Ied Venn. Howard Oglesby and Chris Clarke. Removing their shoes we were able to tickle their feet! The majestic eight at Bridgwater followed.

The well-loved method of Hitcham Delight Minor was rung at Berrow at the request of the South Bucks contingent. At Burnham-onSed the annual dip of the Society (or baths as the case may be) had fo be cancelled because the tide had gone out. Instead at pass-ball Jim

Linnell's team beat Chris Clark's 'Clobbers.' Evening ringing was at Burnham and North Petherton.

Dorset was visited on Thursday after Chard's awkward bells and lunch. Thorncombe was at one time the heaviest ring in the county but thanks to local enthusiasm the bells have been augmented to eight. They go extremely well, but unfortunately are odd struck. The official tour phetograph was taken by Nigel Maggs at Crewkerne-a fine eight.
After tea came Hinton St. George. Kingstone and Ilminster. At Kingstone the ropes come down in the middle of the church and here Rev. B. J. Davies gave us an address.

MET ROVERS
Friday was rather a slack day with only six towers. At Street we discovered that the Roving Ringers had been there previously and Glastonbury we saw several of them leaving St. Benedict's. In this tower we held our first striking contest. Jim Linnell acted as judge and we put three teams into ring. Six members of the premier Guild, all residents of Oxfordshire, won casily, with Hertfordshire second and Berks and Bucks (combined) third. St. Cuthbert's. Wells, were found rather heavy going. Our final tower that day was Ashcott and as we arrived the bells were being rung by the local band to Grandsire Doubles. Saturday was the busiest day of the tour with nine towers vistted. At Fivehead Howard Oglesby attempted to call spliced Hitcham, Oxford and Kent and some 20 minutes later successfully brought it into reunds. A miscall was suspected and argument arrie as to whether to ring it for the Bath and Wells Association or the Society.
Lunch was at IIminster and later in the day came another striking competition at Ash-in-Martock with Ted Venn as judge. The test was a course of Kent Minor. Herts just pipped the premier county (Oxfordshire) with Berks and Bucks third. As the Oxfordshire contingent came second and not first bribery was immediately suspected.

FINEST SIX
At Long Sutton we were informed that a local ringer had died recently and that the bells were half-muffled. The incumbent, the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall, and Mr. Paul Field met us and they took purt in the ringing which included St. Clement's Minor. We were extremely impressed with the bells and some of us rated them as one of the finest sixes.

On arrival at camp, we immediately changed and went to a ringers sacal at Staple Fitzpaine Village Hall in aid of a ringers' outing. The Ravers truly helped the party to go with swing and social events included handbell ringing and dancing

Snores from Bob Reeves' ten proved to be a useful alarm clock and enabled seven of us to get up at 7 am . On Sunday to ring for 8 a.m. Communion at Staple Fitznaine. A missing key restricted the ringing to 10 minutes on this delightful five. Morning service ringing was on the eight octave at Wilton and in the afternoon at Norton-sub-Hamdon and Montacute. The final tower of the tour was Yeovil Parish Church (a glorious ten). Here ringing was majnly restricted to Grandsire and Stedman Caters, although Little Bob Royal was rung. Over dinner at Taunton we discussed next year's tour and reunion. August Bank Holiday came round all 100 soon and so ended another Ravers tour.

We thank all incumbents and tower captains and from our own ranks Chris Clarke, Howard Oglesby. Frances Proctor and all who belped in the organisation. Next year we hope to visit Lancashire and West Yorkshire.-M.W.C.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Kings Norton-by-Gaulby, Leics.

Dear Sir.-The publication of the peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at this church on October 3rd, and the 'note ' in Belfry Gossip, recalls personal memories of this Church and its belks before my 'emigration' from Leicester over 30 years ago. I well remember ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples on November 2nd. 1929, arranged by the late Ernest Morris, who also invited me to conduct the peal, but after only the first few leads I let Ernest know that I should have quite enough to do to ring the 7th without also conducting. He therefore took over the calling and we rang Parker's 12part in 3 hirs. 16 mins. The band was Ronald Russell 1, Ernest Morris (cond.) 2, J. Geoffrey Geary 3. Josiah Morris 4, William H. Clarke 5. Ernest H. Bagworth 6, A. Norman Geary tenor. At about that time the Sherwood Youths rang a peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by the late Albert Coppock. on these bells, but I cannot remember whether their peal was before ours in 1929 or after
I am quite sure that it was sobely due to the work of the Geary brothers from Billesdon in repairing wheels, etc., that the bells were then ringable. The Sherwood Youths peal was rung in commemoration of a visit Squire William Doubleday Crofts and his band had made for a peal there a long time before (I think the first on the bells).
My recollection is also or the bells being hung with the three trebles in a separate frame from the back five, and hung at least 10 or 12 feet above them.
The local legend too was that these bells were originally a ten, and it was found that they were too much for the tower, so the two trebles were taken out and used as two of the six belk at the adjoining village of Gaulhy (which incidentally have not been rung for the past 50 years, and I believe was one of the few towers in the county that Ernest Morris did not ring a peal at. Church Langton (8) was another).

The peal band of October 3rd last are to be congratulated on ringing their peal of Cambridge Major on these bells, and although it was not claimed to be the first of Major on them I helieve it was so.

One more point. Staunton Harold bells (8) were about the same weight and age I believe. but compared with Norton-hy-Gaulby's, Staunton Harold's were quite poor in tone. Does anyone know if Staunton Harold bells are still there and ringable?-Yours. etc..
Wimbledon. NORMAN S. BAGWORTH.

A Farce?

Dear Sir.-It now anpears certain that the Methods Committee have no objection to a Maior method heing given the same name as a Minor method if it is specifically stated that the one is not the extension of the other. This seems a ridiculous state of affairs.
I therefore state categorically that Burslem Deligit Minor has no legal extension. and presume that 'To Be Named' Delight Major may now apoear in official records as "Burslem Delight Major.' Whether the law on extension is right is another matter. My argument throughout this wrangle has been directed at the rules. not at the Committee's interpretation of them.-Yours faithfully.
Retford.
H. POYNER

Spur Stays

Dear Sir--Readers may be inlerested io note tbat All Saints', Wandsworth, bells have the snur stays and vertical slides described in Mr. Dalton's letter on page 728, and these bells were rehung as recently as 1922. We (at Wandsworth) find them just as satisfactory as ordinary stays and sliders.-Yours sincerely.

Putney. London.

Quarrington Surprise Major

Dear Sir.-The method published in your
Ocue of October 23 rd is No. 3857 in the H issue of October 23 rd is No. 3857 in the H the peal refers to No. 3858. Could we he sure the peal refers method was rung? - Yours faithfully, which method was rung ?OHours faithfully.

WILLIAM HENRY CLARKE
On Sunday, October 18th, William Henry Clarke, veteran of St. John - the - Divine. Leicester, passed very peacefully to his rest aged 86 years.

Mr. Clarke, an active ringer under the leadership of the late William Willson at St John's for many years, succeeded Mr. Willson as Master and Steeplekeeper in 1936.
The bells received the same care and attention with Mr. Clarke as his predecessor. They received the weekly attention as is necessary with plain bearings. Those who have rung there will appreciate this

A joiner by trade, much of his work is to be seen in the ringing chamber.

Although handing over the position of Master and Steeplekeeper to the writer in 1946. he still attended regularly for both Sunday and practice ringing until undergoing an operation a few years ago. This, together with advancing age, made it impossible for him to climb the steps to the ringing chamber. However, he still came to listen to the bells, thus remaining faithful to the last.
He died as he lived: 'everyone's friend
The funeral service prior to cremation took place at St. John-the-Divine on Thursday. October 22nd.
In the evening a half-muffled quarter peal was rung to his memory.

MR. CHARLES DALE

Mr. Charles Dale, Ringing Master of St. Alphege Parish Church, Solihull. died in hospitab on October 27th after a short illness, at the age of 72 .

His devotion to his Church and service for others was mentioned in a tribute to him by Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd published in "The Ringing World ' after his 70th birthday.
Charles, Dale was a boy chorister at the Parish Church, Coleshill. Warwickshire. At a quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild held at Coleshill earlier this year when the ringers were sitting in the choir stalls during the service, Mr. Dale said to the writer sitting with him 'Do you know, I was sitting in this very seat as a choirboy over sixty years ago."
Later Mr. Dale became a bellringer and :o this calling he had been a constant and loyal servant. He was elected Ringing Master at Solihull Parish Church in 1957 and remained in that office until his death. A great friend to all his ringers, he always maintained their loyalty and respect. In addition to his regular attendance for service ringing and practices he gave many hours to teaching learners. Patient and kindly to everyone, and never a bad word spoken of others. His Christian way of life was an example and inspiration to many.
Many of the improvements in the ringing chamber in recent years have been due to his energies, and these will be a lasting memorial to one who will be truthfully missed. Of him it can be greatly said-' He was a gentleman.' T.J.W.

MR. S. A. PAICE

The death on Octoher 11th of Mr. Sidney Alfred Paice. at the age of 78, has left a gad in the band of Horsham Parish Church bellringers which will be sadly noticed.

He had been ringing at Horsham for over sixty years. For very many years he was secretary of the Horsham Society and was treasurer at the time of his death. He was a faithful Sunday service ringer, a regular altender at practices and taught scores of lcarners to handle a bell. Although a capable ringer, he had not rung many peals, those he did being mainly at Horsham.

At his funeral service at Horsham Parish Church the Vicar spoke of his life-long connection with the Church. The bells were rung half-muffled for the service by his ringing friends. They were L. Stilweh (Worthing), Denis Mitchell (East Grinstead). E. Fosbury and Harold Wood (Billingshurst), W. Beeson (Cranleigh), G. Francis and M. Turner (Warnham). L. Bourne, C. Denyer, T. Fox. E. Rapley and D. Smith (Horsham). An attempt was made the following day to ring a half-muffled Deal. but this, unfortunately, came to grief, but an excellent quarter peal was rune
T.G.F.

MR. J. W. UNWIN
AN APPRECIATION
Jack Unwin, who passed away on Oct. 7th in his 81st year, was truly a great churchman It is said that no one can replace his devotion; he had held nearly every lay position at St. Stephen's Church, Hackington, Canter bury. He instigated the revival of the band of ringers in February, 1961, at that church.

His connection with ringing in the Canterbury District began in May, 1921. when he became a member. Since then he became an integral part of the ringing fraternity: a mem ber and then captain of the Cathedral band

Many members paid homage to him at his funeral at St. Stephen's on October 12th. The Ven. A. Sargent, Archdeacon of Canterbury, read the lesson, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Rose gave the blessing, and the Rector (Rev. R. C Desch) gave the address.

Both the Cathedral and St. Stephen's bands rang half-muffled quarter peals in the evening.

MR. H. T. WILSON

The Essex Association lost one of its oldest life members with the passing of Mr. Henry T. Wilson. on October 13th, in his 89th year.

Tom Wilson learned to sing at Quex Park around 1890 and came to Essex at the turn of the century. A shop fitter, he lived at Walthamstow for a time and then moved to Southend; where for many years he was with St. Mary's. Prittlewell, under the leadership of the late Wilkiam Judd.

He came to Brentwood during the last war and was a member of the local band until disabled in a cycle accident eight years ago
A competent ringer and striker on all num bers of bells and an able conductor, he kept no record of his peals but they ranged from Doubles to Maximus.

The funeral was at St. Paul's, Bentley Common, on October 20th when he was buried with his wife. who died about 10 years ago A half-muffled quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rune to his memory at Brentwood in the evening by Miss J. F. Woods (first of Stedman 1 J. H. Sitch 2. H. Turner (cond.) 3. E. W. Furbank 4, A. E. Pryke 5 E. T. Sitch 6, B. C. Hines 7, H. Flanders 8.

'OVERTONES' NEW EDITOR

Mr. James R. Lawson. carillonneur of the Riverside Church. New York, has been suc ceeded as editor of 'Overtones.' the official Dublication of the American Guild of Hand befl Ringers, by Mr. Raymond K. Hollinger 20. South Prospect Sireet, Hagerstown, Mary land, U.S.A.

The current issue of 'Overtones' is a tentl) anniversary special, the Guild of American Handbell Ringers being formed in 1954 with Mrs. Margaret Homer Shurcliff as its president. There is a memoir to Mrs. Shurcliff who as Margaret Nichols, was elected a mem ber of the Ancient Society of College Youths of 1902 and was the first lady 10 ring a peal of Stedman Triples "in hand.

VISIT TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

Mr. W. H. Lloyd, well known in the Here ford Diocesan Guild. has just refurned from Vancouver Island, where with his wife, he visited their daughter and son-in-law (Dr and Mrs. Bruce Laing). It was no surprise. there fore, that the family party found themselve a) Christ Church Cathedral. Victoria. B.C on the first Sunday morning of the visit Ruby Laing (herself well known as a ringer before her marriage) introduced her father whereupon Mr. Izard, the Master Ringer, at once 'offered a rope, to the delight of two small grandsons! Memorable occasion, and one of the highlights of a wonderful trip!

WRAXALL, SUMERSET.-On Oct. 4ih, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: H. W. Knight 1. M. Clark 2 Sandy 6. R. Cole (cond.) 7, N Buil 8. For Harvest fentival.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Canterbury District

The annual meeting of the Canterbury District was held on October 17 th , at St . Dunctan's, Canterbury. Over 80 members attended including visitors from other districts. Three towers were open on the day-the Cathedral, St Alphege's, and St. Dunstan's.

The service was held at St. Dunstan's and Canon A. L. Lawler officiated, the choir being supplemented by ringers: the organist was Trevor Pinnock. Tea was provided in the Parish Hall.
Mr. J. A. Russell was chairman for the business meeting. The secretary read his report, noting that membership was down by 11 to 269, compared with last October's figures, the average attendance over six meetings was 52. Christ Church College students were helping to keep the local bands up to strength.
The balance sheet shows a slight decline but, comparing the figures of last October, the collection of Fred Mitchell Memorial Fund outweighs the difference. With the expenses of $£ 517 \mathrm{~s}$. 7 d . a balance is left of $£ 462 \mathrm{~s}$. 11 d .
A 4 officers were nominated, with the exception of the Ringing Master. Mr. F. C. W. Knight was put forward and elected and Mr D. A. Chapman was proposed Assistant District Secretary, with responsibility for all meetings in the absence of the Secretary.

The returning Ringing Master in his report stated that 18 peals were rung. He hoped the striking competition in 1965 would improve the standard of ringing and handling the beils. Seventeen new members were elected, 9 from Chartham

Mr. John Willis brought to the notice of members the need of regular Sunday service ringing. He sounded the meeting regarding the possibility of support for a course on ringing, to be held in the county. After much discussion it was felt that the most opportune lime would be just after Easter.

The church collection for the day was donated to the Organ Fund of St. Stephen's, in memory of Mr. J. W. Unwin.

In closing the meeting the chairman thanked the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury, the Rector of St. Alphege's and Canon Lawler respectively for the use of the bells, and the ladies for providing the tea. T.C.P.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY GUILD

Seven members of the Dublin University Guild-the Misses A. Sadler, Mr. BernardSmith and S. Dukes, and Messrs. A. KereHodge, A. Pike, P. Vesey and M. Davis-took part in is ringing tour of North Wales oul October 24th, at the invitation of the University of Wales Society, several of whose memhers joined us.

The towers visited were Portmadoc, Bangor, I landegai, Llandudno, Abergele and Beaumaris. and methods rung included Plain Bob and Kent Minor and Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and several Minor and Doubles methods. We were accompanied throughout the tour by a non-ringer named Alexander, a skewbald rabbit, who seemed to enjoy himself as much as we did! Thanks are expressed to the incumbents of the churches visited, especially to the Welsh ringers for the arrangements. and to Mrs. Bernard-Smith for the generous way in which she supplied the transport.

60 Years in One Tower

MR. H. J. GRAVETT

On October 11th Burgess Hill ringers rang a quarter peal to mark the completion of 60 years' selvice to the tower by Mr. Henry J. (Hariy) Gravett, elder brother of the bati Arthur Gravett, of St. Peter's, Brighton.
Harry's membership of the Sussex County Association dates back io 1905 . Of his 24 peals. 13 have been rung at Burgess Hill. He stood in an attempt to ring 8,000 Bob Major uhich broke down at 7,000 changes.
During these 60 years he has been a devoted member of the band, helping learners and setting a good example in punctuality. We were all proud to take part in this small tribute to a much-loved and respected member, K. C. K.

THE ROCHESTER WEEK-END

(YHIEFLY of note in the Rochester outing to Bath and the West, arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Short, was the warmly companionable atmosphere of the hard-working group from Hertfordshire, and Ron Short and his two friends. They strengthened the band and added to the good company.

The list of towers on Saturday was formidable :

Bradford-on-Avon, Holy Trinity (8), 30 cwt . (little Saxon church nearby not to be missed) Westbury-on-Severn (8), 35 cwt . (lunch at the Cedar Hotel, Warminster Raad); Frome. St John-the-Baptist (8), 27 cwt. (George Massey was here discovered by some old friends): Mells, St. Andrew (8), 26 cwt . (broken guides in the clock chamber are apparently necessary to reach the clock mechanism! A local ringer arrived in time to brush aside our concern as groundless. Apparently it was!); Chewton Mendip, St. Mary Magdalene (8), 24 cwt.
Break here for tea. Secretaries, attention! Mrs. Baber, Barrow Farm, Chewton Mendip, Somerset, is the wife of a keen ringer, has been brought up in the tradition and miraculously - likes housing and catering for ringing parties. Hats off to Mrs. Baber and family.

On the wheel again for: Blagdon (8), 19 cwt. and Chew Magna (8), 28 cwt . This was the last ring of the day and wo thankfully turned into the Angel Hotel, Bath, where we were looked after a great deal better than we have been at some more star-spangled hotels.
We mixed with Twerton-on-Avon's keen young band in ringing for the Parish Commumion on Sunday. After breakfast at The Angel, we rang at Bath Abbey (10), 34 cwt. (Dr. Dobbie found some friends from her Birmingham ringing days joining in her Sunday Matins touch).
In the afternoon to Batheaston (6), 18 cwt . and after tea quickly glossed over at Malmesbury to our final tower, Newbury St. Nicholas (10), 16 cwt ., where wo rang for evening service
Our only disappointment was that Audrey Short, who with her husband arranged our outing, was in hospital. It was a wonderful weekend, Audrey, and your arrangements were just perfect. We hope you smelt our best wishes for recovery with the flowers which have reached yout by now. You can look on the weekend, with an average tenor weight of 24 cwt., as a huge heavyweight success. Thank you.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Frome Branch

A bitterly cold day with occasional heavy showers did not deter numerous members and friends from attending the autumn branch meeting at Doulting. Some 55 people were present at the service conducted by the Branch Chairman, the Rev. A. G. Durston.
At the meeting members stood in silence in remembrance of Mr. Charles Harvey, of Compton Dando. who recently passed away Two new members from Wanstrow were elected along with 11 non-resident life members.

Mr. G. Massey in proposing the vote of thanks, made special reference to Messrs. Arthur Kingston and Jack Metcalfe for making the local arrangements under very difficult conditions.

Ringing on handbells and in the tower then continued until 8.30 p.m.
Branch annual meeting, Shepton Mallet, January 9th, subject to consent.
D. T. H. R.

Chew Branch

The bells were kept going in a variety of methods when the Chew Branch held their quarterly meeting at Winford' on October 10th. The Rector (the Rev. W. J. Penny) gave an interesting address at the service and afterwards joined the company, of about 30 , for tea at the village hall.
At the short business meeting the Secretary reminded those present that only nine towers had so far paid their subscriptions this year, and asked that those outstanding would contact him without delay, as it was necessary to complsie totals before the annual meeting.
Mr. G. Masters, of Winford. was elected a member.

November meeting. Easton - in. Gordano; anrual, Stanton Drew, with Chew Magna after tea.

Monmouth Branch at Usk

The Monmouth Branch meeting, held at Usk on October 10th, proved to be a most enjoyable and memorable occasion. All the Usk ringers were early in the tower to welcome warmly some 50 visitors.
The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. L. Davies, Mrs. York was at the organ and Mr. Reuben Clench read the lesson. A bountiful tea, prepared by ringers' wives, was afterwards waiting at the Usk Memorial Hall. The Rev. Ivor Richards expressed the sincere thanks of the visitors to the Usk ringers, and also to Mrs. York.

New members were elected from Blaenavon, Newport and Usk. The Master, Mr. Jack James. reported progress from Monmouth where a new band was being formed. Mr. David Pike reported progress from Caerleon where many learners were being taught. Mr. Trevor Roderick spoke of the renovaton work done to the Usk ringing chamber by the Usk ringers themselves. He considered that they had saved the church many hundreds of pounds and that a contractor could not have done a better job.
The Vicar proudly confirmed and said the parishioners were very proud of the efforts of the ringers.
Good wishes were expressed to the Rev. Ronaid Lucas on his ordination and warm birthday wishes were given to the genial Usk tower captain. Mr. Lionel Jones, Mr. Jack Jannes thanked the Vicar for his welcome to the Branch and for so ably conducting the business.

THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the Guild was neld at Shirley on October 17th when the Guild's form of service was conducted by the Vicar in the Parish Church of St. James-the-Great.
At the commencement of the meeting, the Master (Mr. R. C. Ingram) referred to several notable events which had occurred since the last meeting. On August 9 th, the Rector of Birmingham (Canon Bryan S.' W. Green) unveiled the memorial tablet to the tate Albert Walker in St. Martin's belfry. In addition to the members of the Sunday band, Albert's son and daughter were present, and the presence of Mr. and Mrs. John Chilcott and Mr. John S. Mason, who had journeyed from London specially for the occasion. was appreciated.
For Mr. Frank E. Haynes this Sunday was memorable as it was his 才ast day as a member of the St. Martin's Sunday band before leaving for Cambridge. Frank was the recipient of a bookcase from his ringing friends of the - Bull Ring' tower in appreciation of his 35 years' service in St. Martin's belfry.
Tower elections of the following life members were duly ratified: Mrs. Diana M. Frost (London), Michael Maughan (Newcastle-onTyne), Martin L. J. Jordan (Tewin, Herts), Robert E. Hardy (Elstree, Herts), E. J. Gower (Cambridge).
It was formally pronosed and agreed that the Henry Johnson Commemoration dinner be held on March 6th, provided that sultable accommodation can be found, at a reasonable price.
A suggestion that a striking competition should be held among the towers within the diocese will receive further consideration at the next meeting. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar, for conducting the service and for the use of the bells.
Next meeting (annual) St. Martin's Hall, January 2nd.

Capt. Marybelle Nissly is the first lady member of the American Forces to ring a peal and maybe the first member of the Forces. This took place at Huntingdon on October 22nd. It was Marybelle's first attempt; she was ringing the treble to Plain Bob Minor. Although, states the conductor, suffering from a heavy cold, she rang very well, and afterwards received the congratulations of the band
The peal at Weedon Beck (see page 639) was rung on Friday, September 4th.

The peal at Andover on September 26th was Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Randle's 300th 10 gether.

The peal of Stedman Cinques at Oxford on October 3rd was 5,115 changes not 5,15 ? as published.
This year the Kent County Association propose to hold their Easter Monday meeting at Canterbury.

The peal rung at Painswick, Glos, of Stedman Cinques (page 333) was for the Painswick Youths and not the College Youths as published. The error is regretted.

From Mr. Ralph Edwards we hear that Mr. Jim Woolford was not the first to 'turn in' Liverpool Cathedral tenor. Obviously it was the one and only 'Tenor King'-Mr. A Patrick Cannon. He rang it to three leads of Treble Bob Royal.
Some 50 ringers attended the autumn festival of the Penzance Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild at Crowan on October 10th with evening ringing also at Camborne, Gwinear and Wendron. The Vicar (Rev. J. E. Beckerlegge) conducted the service.
Mr. Frederick Sharpe is troubled with whooping cough. He was unable, in consequence, to attend the dinner last Saturday of the Ancieni Society of College Youths, the first he had missed for 31 years. His friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. E. Barnett writes: I am sure Mr. Walker was perfectly correct in describing the bells at Merton College as 'the oldest complete ring by one founder in existence." A complete ring is an octave, anything less is

Mr. Arthur V. Pearson, of Wombourn, Staffs, who is a member of the Claverley hand, is in Czechoslovakia, having been sent by his Midland firm of engineers on prestige work, of some importance to the foreign trade of this country. He anticipates being in Czechoslovakia until February with a three week break at Christmas. He sends his best wishes to all ringing friends.
The peal of Grandsire Triples sung at Shifnal on October 3rd (page 720) was for the Stafford Archdeaconry Society, not the Shropshire Association.
The incomprehensible Irish! Dublin University Guild took with them during their tour a rabbit named Alexander who seemed to enjoy himself as much as they did!
Church Lench bells, Worcestershire, installed between 1868-1870, have not been rehung since that date. The peal on October 18 th was the first on the bells since 1912.
South Wales College Youths rang the first peal of Stedman Triples on the augmented hells at Newton Nottage, Glamorgan, on Oct. 23 rd as a compliment to Mr. Jack Phillips on completing his year as Master of the Society.
In the recent peal of Doubles at Bradfield, Yorkshire, there were two first-pealers. The 14-year-old ringer of the tenor, Philip Wood, had only been ringing for 11 months. He is the first member of the recently revived local team to ring a peal.
Mr. Michael King, of Wentwortb Vicarage, Rotherham, writes that his 15,000 thesis on school ringers will not be available for the Central Council Library until March. 1965. He would be grateful for any extra information and thanks all who have assisted in the project.

Fl./Sgt. John Sankey, who is a member of flight crew, arrived back at Lyneham from Singapore on Sunday, September 20th. After a few hours' sleep he took his place in the tower to ring a peal for the 24th anniversary of the Battle of Britain. It was a delighted but very tired man who stood the Ireble after the peal to his first peal of Doubles.

SPOTS BEFORE THE EYES-(from front page)

the previous band, who pushed the bells along at about 34 or 35 a minute. this lot get them up high and stay there; Mr. Drake and I agree that it will take good men to strike them at that pitch. a bare 32. but these are good men, and they ring a good peal for 311 faults.
There's time for a peal before service, so with our notebooks firmly in our pockets and our lips (so far as the results are concerned) sealed Mr. Drake and I make our way to the church and sample the very pretty six for ourselves. And then, the service over. and the cup. shield and certificates ready on the table, we announce our verdict. 'First. peal number 6,' calls Mr. Drake. and Mr. Poolc, the secretary, replies. "West Down. Nobody's surprised to find that No. 8 is Down St. Mary, and the rest follow: 3rd. Swymbridge: 4th. High Bickington; 5th, and w iners of the shield for the Guild towers. Torrington-Tommy will be pleased about that. 6th. Tawstock: 7th. Littleham good for them. for their bells were silent till two years ago; 8 th. Monklcigh. and 9th. Dolton.

Nobody seems to want to assassinate us, so we can't have done too badly: we ve got spots before the eyes heaven knows, we've made getting on for 2.000 of them in our books this afternoonand I find my ears literally aching with listening so carefully for four hours: but what better could you listen to, and how better can you learn what makes or mars good striking than by listening to Devon men making it. and sometimes marring it, and setting down those rows of dols?

TAYSOM TRAVELLERS IN DEVON

ON October 23rd the 'Travellers' assembled for their annual week-end in Devan. The party consisted of Rita and Bill Lampard, Diane and Ken Weeks, Elizabeth Webb, Derek Smith, Brian Metcalf (Warmley), BarDerek Smith, Brian Metcalf (Warmley), Bar Barnett Terry Milsom, Jean and Alan Lee (Twerton) and Henry Taysom (Frampton Cotterell), who, as usual, drove the mini-bus. Lustleigh, the headquarters, was reached at a late hour after driving through heavy rain. The weather, however, proved to be very good and on Saturday morning we were pleased to have Aubroy Bennett, Margaret and Roy Bould (Tavistock) with us for the day.

Drewsteignton, the first tower, had a rather heavy six (tenor 17 cwt .) rung from the ground floor. The long ropes made handling a trifle difficult and the tenor must have been rung by a giant judging by the height of the sally. On to Cheriton Bishop, where we were met by the Rev. G. Lewis, who said prayers before we sampled the six bells This ring was rehung locally and are really worth ringing.
Tedburn St. Mary stands some way from the village. The bells are very good but the second casts wheel frequently and needs strong handling. At Whitstone both the Rector (the Rev. B. Brown) and tower captain (Mr. R. V. Netherway) met us and after prayers we had a good pull on the 12 cwt Although this is now a call change tower, a peal of Grandsire was rung here in 1890 by a local band Rewe ( 6 bells) was first on the list after lunch. The bells are a very pleasant groundfloor ring restored by Gillett and Johnston We were sorry to hear that these and Stokc Cannon's 6 rour pext tower) were not often rung. On to Pinhoe, where we really en joyed the lovely six.
The first actave of the day was the groundfloor ring at Exminster (tenor 18 cwt .). The Rev. D. J. Taylor welcomed us and informed us that the ropes were not in good condition. but they lasted our ring. After tea we had one more tower, that of Chudleigh, a lovely 13 cwt. octave that taps along at a merry speed. The day had been an extremely pleasant one and ended with a good meal kindly arranged by Mr. Bennett: afterwards we had the pleasure of playing Roy's handbells to both tune and method ringing.
Methods rung during the day: Grandsire Plain Bob. Stedman and 4 -spliced Doubles, Plain Bob. Double Oxford, Kent, Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge. Beverley and London Minor, Grandsire, Plain Bob and Sted man Triples, Bob and Grandsire Major and call changes. On Sunday morning we had the pleasure of ringing at Lustleigh: since our kast visit the bells have had new bearings and clappers and are very good except that the second still tends to drop. On our way home we were pleased to join the ringers at Bishops Hull for evening ringing.
Our week-end over for another year ; 300 miles covered, good bells, good company, and our thanks must go to Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and Miss Gay for looking after us so well to Mr. Bennett for his arrangements and to Henry Taysom, who drove the mini-bus through some very difficult country roads.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

About 40 ringers assembled for ringing at the Chertsey District meeting held at Weybridge on October 24th. One or two scored their first of Double Norwich and others of Kent Major. The Rector conducted the service and gave the Guild a warm welcome. A magnificent tea was provided by Mrs. Luxford and helpers
The Guild Master (Mr. D. A. R. May) presided at the business meeting when a sibent tribute was paid to the memory of Miss Nora Shorter. All were delighted to see the Grand Old Man of the District-Mr. W. Shepherd. The committee is to arrange a striking competilion and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Godfrey of Addington were elected non-resident members.
Evening ringing at Oatlands Park included Cambridge and Superlative.

INTROVERT OR EXTROVERT?

Man of thought or man of action - which is the true ringer?

BASICALLY the man of thought is an introvert; the man of action an extrovert. The introvert is the perennial student. He is quiet and sensitive. He keeps his emotions to himself and examines his conduct and motives. He is the backroom boy who thinks up the plans and ideas that the man of action puts into practical use. He is enthusiastic but does not demonstrate except in sympathetic company. As a ringer he thinks first and rings afterwards. He also thinks all the time he is ringing.

The extrovert man of action, in the extreme manifestation of his kind, is the thick-skinned, back-slapping, whatho type. His mental vision sees pictures in clear cut black and white. He makes quick decisions. As a ringer he can best be described as energetic, losing more peals than he rings. He possesses all the ruses of the belfryman, his methods of tower grabbing, etc., are questionable, though he always manages to keep on good terms with those who find him out.
Arriving at a meeting he will park his car with a screech of brakes right across the entrance to the church, and hearing a single bell being pulled off will sprint the 50 yards to the tower into which he rushes with a more than audible greeting to all and sundry, and is on the tenor box before the Ringing Master can stop him.

The foregoing is, of course, exaggerated, but any ringer of experience will recognise the type.

By contrast the man of thought, will turn his car before backing into a proper parking place, he will quietly walk around the church before entering the tower, noting all points of interest, and will stand in the ringing chamber observing all that goes on, unobtrusively he will correct erring beginners, and by the time he is asked to take hold will know which bells, if any, are odd struck, and will react accordingly.

Again he is a recognisable type. Almost all games and sports are great revealers of character, none more so than the art of bellringing. And the revelation is not confined to the tower. The bar of a pub can be equally enlightening.

The man of action will talk in a loud voice of his conquests. In a less exaggerated version of his kind he will be akin to the dedicated self-made man who will use people to suit his own ends, taking a perverse delight in the criticism which his actions incur. His passion for the 'bigtime' is such that he rarely descends from the lofty heights and the vast reservoir of experience accumulated in reaching the 'top' remains comparatively untapped. He will have few real friends, will be the object of awe, perhaps of admiration, but seldom one of respect.

For the most part the man of thought listens. When asked a question he will answer but his reply is apt to be tentative because he realises that he has incomplete knowledge of the subject. Above all he is modest about his ringing, knowing its difficulties and uncertainties. He is as ready to take a rope in an advanced method as to assist the beginner through his first peal. In consequence he will enjoy a high degree of popularity, and will be universally respected.

Both man of thought and man of action derive enormous benefit from their ringing. The former gets some much needed exercise and is able to apply his questing mind to a set of problems totally different from those encountered at his work. He enjoys his triumphs, and one studied and planned for will make his day.

The latter. by the free use of his abundant energy, shakes the frustration out of himself, thus counteracting the baneful effects of his 'civilised' life. If ringing were not his hobby he would probably play tennis and squash or hit golf balls as hard as possible.

It takes all sorts to make up the ringing community. Every single one of us is a mixture of these two types but very few are $50-50$. Those who are will be the dullest of us and perhaps the least successful-and that goes for our non-ringing lives as well.
D. G. C.

327th Anniversary Dinner, Ancient Society, College Youths

CONCERN OVER STANDARD - TIGHTENING RULES OF MEMBERSHIP - NO DOUBT ABOUT COLLEGE YOUTHS' PEALS BEING TRUE, SAYS MR. FRANK HAYNES - MASTER'S GOOD WORK

I'HE West of England and Wales were strongly represented at the 327th anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths held at the Bridge House Restaurant, London Bridge, on October 31st, partly because of the close association of the Master (Mr. J. Phillips) with that area. The Master is equally popular in London and he received a great ovation when he entered. accompanied by his officers. Mr. R. B. Meadows (senior steward) and Mr. J. D. Rock (junior steward). Other officers this year are Messrs. J. E. Chilcott (secretary), C. G J. Watts (hon. treasurer) and E. G. Fenn and J. F. Smalhwood (trustees).
During the evening the Master look wine with his officers and Past Masters and with those with 60 years' membership - Messrs. George E. Symonds (1898), Ernest G. Fenn (1899) and James W. Chapman (1902) - and also with 50 or more years' William J. Rawling: (1914).

As is customary. the Master proposed the toast of "The Church." He commented that last week in - The Ringing World' a friend of his wrote that if he talked in his Devonshire dialect no one would understand him. He asked his friend to remember that there were others than Devonians in the room.
It was a pleasure to see such a splendid gathering and it went to show that the College Youths were prospering, at least in numbers. The College Youths in the past had maintained a high standard of ringing and wherever they went they were held in the highest esteem. He trusted they would keep up that reputation in the future.
They owed their very being to the Church and without it the art of bellringing would be non-existent. The Church was still fulfilling her work which she had carried on for centuries, and without her teaching they would be in a sorry plight to-day. The Church's services, whether in a cathedral or the smallest parish church, were carried on with reverence and dignity.

ST. PAUL'S RINGING

We do in London try to maintain a high standard of ringing wherever we may be but especially at St. Paul's Cathedral. We ring twice on a Sunday, and may I say when the scroof gets to work woe betide the man who makes a mistake or a slight hesitation. If looks could kill he would drop dead.

Our art may be a mystery to the outsiders and maybe it's a mystery to some of us (laughter). I have spoken to some clergy and tried to explain it. They say "Yes" and "No " and then walk away without the slightest idea. We have to remember the purpose for which bells are hung in our churches and our first duty is to see that they are rung properly for the service of the Church.
The Master paused and then to the expectant faces in front of him said: Gentlemen, sweat." Such delightful candour given in rich Devon brogue caused the greatest laugh heard at a College Youth dinner for many a year.
Introducing the Archdeacon, the Master said he would like him to know how much they appreciated the support and co-operation of the clergy. In the City of London they were grateful to them for allowing them to ring peals and hold practices. There were two who lived almost within the tower and when they went away when peals were rung it was not because they did not like bells, but because they did not like answering the telephone when the complaints come during the ringing.

NEW ZEALAND CONVENTION

The Archdeacon of London's reply to the toast was rich in story and anecdote. He said the Master had emphasised the right relationship between the Church and its representatives, the clergy and the ringers. You have great advantages over the ordinary members of the congregation,' he said. 'When you have finished ringing you can sit upstairs.

THE MASTER

MR. J. PHILLIPS

I have had associations with ringers hefore I came to England ' (the Archdeacon was in New Zealand) for many years. In New Zealand we have members of the Ancient Society of College Youths. A few years ago Mr . Nelson Sban came here and made contact with ringers all over the country through "The Ringing World." Wherever he went he was made most welcome.
$\therefore$ I hope the Church always stands fast by its ringers. as week by week people are not only called to worship, but in our cities and villages men and women are feminded of the eternal verities.'
Mr. Frank E. Haynes. in proposing the toast of 'The Society,' said three were three or four reasons why he was proposing that toast with more enthusiasm than was usnal for some toasts. One was that most of them were followers of the cult of Bacchus without indulging excessively. Another was that it was an all-male gathering and he could remember occasions when members of the Society had reduced those of the opposite sex to tears by describing the incapabilities of their ringing.. Another was to follow the advice of the preacher in Ecclesiastes: - The thing that hath been. it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done.' That could be applied to St. Paul's, where they had the ultimate of bellringing-Stedman Cinques rung perfectly and confidently. The Collige Youths set a high standard and endeavoured to set a high standard of membership. He believed the question of membership and new members had been recently under revision and an effort was being made to keep up the old standard and make sure that the name of College Youths should maintain its reputation in the Exercise. Wherever one went the in the Exercise. Wherever one went the Youths, expected something from them and a particularly high standard in the matter of peal ringing.

STANDARD OF PEALS

I don't wish to raise any controversial question, said Mr. Haynes, but we have heard questions raised as to the number of peals people have rung. I myself have rung approximately 700 hut in that 700 there are one or two in which there is a bit of a doubt. I am not sure that Queens did not come up iwice, but there are 20 to 25 for the Society, and of those I have no doubt. If all those peals had been rung for the Conege Youths no one could dare write to "Th Ringing World.

Mr. Rodney Meadows, the senior steward, deputised for the secretary, Mr. John Chilcott, in reply. He said the College Youths was is large Society and the London part was only a small portion. That night they had an attendance of 189: it had been larger but the: thought that the lowering was duc to a change in the date.

APOLOGIES

Mr. Meadows announced the following apologies: Messrs. F. Sharpe (first in 31 years, due to whooping cough), D. G. Clift Hervey Bagot (Canberra, Australia). P. 1 Chapman E. T. Floyd Ewin, Henry Hodgetts, F. W. Perrens, J. Rea, G. Nelson Sloan (Christchurch. New Zealand), Rev. J. F, D. Triningham, A. Tyler, A. York Bramble, R. J. Bowden. Harry Miles, F. D. Mack, B, J. Wylde and C. T. Clarke

The company stood while the list of those who had died since the last dinner was read: E. Maurice Atkins (1911) James Butler (1924) Frank E. Corfield (1954), Leonard Fidler (1930), Joseph S. Hawkins (1901), William Hoggett (1901), Albert A. Hughes (1903), Harry C Jones (1945), William Linter (1932). Alan R Macdonald (1910), Sidney James Orchard, Frederick W. Rogers (1928), Charles Sharples (1925), Henry Stalham (1920) and Cuthbert White. Mr. Meadows said Albert Hughes was very much in their thoughts that evening. New members during the year totalled 54. There had been 25 peals rung as follows: Stedman Cinques 7, Stedman Caters 1, Stedman Triples 4, Grandsire Cinques 1, Grandsire Triples 1, Yorkshire Surprise Maximus 1, Cambridge Surprise Royal 1, London Surprise Royal (No. 3 Version) 1, Surprise Major 6 , Surprise Minor 2.
Continuing, Mr. Meadows said their country meeting was held this year at Cardiff and they had a magnificent welcome mainly due to the affection with which the Master was held.

MEMBERSHIP ELECTIONS

One of the items at their business meeting, was the consideration of new rules. This wits brought to a draft form and was subject to the test of opposition. He thought they could be confident that what would emerge would be a great improvement. The biggest change would be in the election of new members. There was no change in the qualification, but they did intend in the future to look closely into the nomination. There was to be a fourweek gap between nomination and election. Belfry elections were out. The country meeting was to be held at Exeter on May 29th, and the dinner held on the first Saturday in November.
Concluding. Mr. Meadows said: I can assure you that John Chilcott is not flagging because he did not present the report. He was just keeping himself in form for a long haul. No one works harder for the Society than he.
A course of Stedman Cinques was then successfully rung by P. A. F. Chalk 1-2, W. T. Cook ${ }^{3-4}$. S. Kimber S-6, M. Chilcolt $7-8$. John Chilcott (cond.) 9-10. Michael Moreton 11-12.
Proposing The Visitors and Kindred Ringing Societies,' Mr. J. A. Waugh gave a specta! welcome to Mr. W. C. Winterton. who is Master of the Drapers' Company, which was second in order of precedence among the City Companies. It was over 600 years old and had given London over 100 Mayors and Lord Mayors. Mr. Watts said he was one of the very few who could claim to have had his head smacked by one of the principal guests. Mr. Winterton's father was headmaster of Bancroft School.
The Rev. E. Rogers, Vicar of st. Giles. Cripplegate, replied, and sajd his father was a boy at Bancroft School. For the Kindred Societies, Mr. D. Beresford, Master of the Cumberlands, replied. He said it had often been said how much relationship between his Society and the College Youths had improved and lhis was as it should be, but it did not mean any diminution of the rivalry, and this was also as it should be. Problems did arise as when the daughter of a Cumberkand asked permission to marry a College Youth. The father, in his wisdom, gave his consent provided that the children were brought up in the Cumberland faith (laughter).

MASTER'S GOOD WORK

The ringers of London owed a great deal to the College Youths' Master, who had done much to improve relations between the Socieries in the sharing of towers. It could be postufated that compared with territorial associations, nationa!'societies had no place but it was quite obvious that national societies were playing a great part in providing gatherings where they cou!d meet and promote the fricudly spirit that existed.
The evening concluded with the toast of ' The Fragrant Memory of the Masters of 300, 200 and 100 Years Ago,' which was submitted by the Master. In 1664 the Master was Thomas Brookes: said Mr. Phillips. He joined the Society in 1657 but nothing seems to be known about him. No record was preserved of the Master of 1764.'

Mr. George A. Muskett was elected Master in 1864 and was one of the most prominent College Youths of the second half of the 19th century. It was said that his real name was not Muskett, but he took this name when he was ringing as he was a respectabic husiness man in the city. This was a time when hellringing was not regarded as a fitting pursuit for a gentleman. He joined the Society in 1856 and became Master at the age of 27. Later he was secretary for many years and then a trustee. He was an honorary member of St. Paul's Cathedral band and took part in the first peal on the bells at the Cathedral. He rang about 65 peals for the Society, the first being Grandsire Triples at South Hackney in 1856. He rang at Cornhil? in the long peab of Stedman Cinques and in the first peal in Ireland at Waterford in 1872. Mr. George Symonds knew George Muskett in 1896. He died in 1907.
Fraternising and handbell ringing concluded the evening.

PHILLIP CROSSTHWAITE The Lancashire Association

The Lancashire Association with its wealth of ringers of all ages provides the next number for this series.
Phillip Crossthwaite, who was born at Preston on April 18th, 1949, is now in the Sixth Form at Preston Grammar School and is studying mathematics, physics and chemistry for 'A' level after having obtained bis G.C.E. in eight subjects at ' $O$ ' level.

At the early age of 11 , under the watchful eye of his father, Mr. Cyril Crossthwatte, Phillip started his ringing at Preston Parish Church, where a very high standard of ringing is maintained and Sunday service ringing is regular. It is not surprising, therefore, that he soon became a member of the Sunday service band.

Progress was made by Phillip at a good pace and he scored his first peal less than two years later at the age of 13 , when on November 28th. 1962, at the Church of All Saints. High Walton, he rang the second to Bob Major, which was conducted by his father.

This was the start of a very exciting and noteworthy collection of peals, which totals 59 to date, and includes Spliced Surprisc Major in four methods (all the work), 7: 8 . 9 , 11. 14 and 17 methods. Also peals of Lindon. Bristol. Ealing. Wembley, Southgate aid Cornwall Surprise Major. Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Royal. Phillip has jus: started to take ar interest in conducting and has so fai conducted a number of quarter peals.
For most ringers peal ringing has fits amusing moments and for Phillip this is no exception. During a peal of Minor rung near Great Yarmouth a well-known Irish ringer almost caused the loss of the peal, when in the fourth extent his trousers became noticeably insecure, and he had to spend the rest of the peal trying to keep them in place to save the lady ringers undue embarrassment.
This brilliant young ringer is not unconscious of the fact that a great deal of his success is due to the help he has received from his father and mother, his sister Mary and the many friends who have invited him to take part in peals.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION  Cary Branch

Ringers from many parts of the Diocese and visitors from Enfield, Kent, Newbury, Portsmouth and Trowbridge came to ring on the anti-clockwise ring of six, at Charlton Mackrell on October 24th, for the autumn quarterly meeting.
The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. T. W. Rhys, an associate member) assisted by the Branch Chairman (Rev. G. S. Robinson). Mrs. Buckland was at the organ. the Master of the Association (Rev. H. F. Warren) was welcomed by the Chairman at the business meeting and new members from Castle Cary, Chariton Mackrelb and Ditcheat were elected.
A donation from the widow of Mr. S. J. Pound (a member of the Association for many years) and also his 'Ringers Handbook had been presented to the Branch. It was decided to sel up a Branch Bell Fund with the donation and place the book in Templecombe tower for the use of the ringers there.
Ringing ranged from Rounds to Plain Bob. Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain and Double Court Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, and Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

A SUFFOLK SILVER WEDDING

The bells of Euston could not be rung in October. 1939, when Winifred Baker and Henry Ivings married there, but amends were made on October 31st, when they selebrated their silver wedding.
Ringers from N.W. Suffok. Central Suffolk, Norfolk and Deddington. Oxfordshire. combined to ring out their congratulations for two hours in a variety of Doubles methods

The ringers were later entertained at the Ivings residence: handbell tunes were rung by Mr. and Mrs. Ivings, their son John and the best man (Mr. William Ivings, of Deddington). Some method ringing was also enjoyed. A peal was rung at Finborough, Suffolk. on Friday evening, in which Mrs. Ivings joined All their ringing friends wish them well and hope they will have an equally good ring on their golden wedding anniversary. G. R.

Shincliffe Bells

Dear Sir--On September 4th (page 592) you published an appeal for the augmentation of the three bells of Shincliffe to form a ring of five. Since the three hells were made ringable Shincliffe have formed a company strong enough to ring call changes at a nearby eightbell tower which has no resident band.
Last winter they started visiting other towers for change ringing practice and some of them took to it readily. At his sixth practice 15 -year-old Francis Martin was invited to have a try at a quarter peal. Due to summer holidays it was not until October 18th when the attempt was arranged at Lanchester. After a tria! plain course and a false start he rang the treble quite creditably to a quarter of Plain Bois Doubles. It later turned out that it was only his eighth trial on more than three belks. and his last change ringing on five bells had been three months earlier
As he has rung regularly at Shincliffe for two years, many ringers will have rung quarters with fewer hours of ringing, but I would he interested to hear of any comparable feat in the gaining of pure ropesight.-Yours faith fully,
H. B. THOMPSON.

All Saints' Doubles

Dear Sir,-As I read 'The Ringing World I notice that the All Saints' Doubles method is being rung in various parts of the country in peals and quarter peals nearly every week. This is a very easy method for beginners and the request for free copies (as advertised under Publications each week) has been great and encouraging. I would very much appreciate comment on this method. for or against, through The Ringing World.'-Yours truly, 1? High street WILLIAM H. CAVILL. 1. High Street, Ashcott,

Unexpected Support

Dear Sir-I draw your attention to the first issue of "Practical Electronics " (No. 1, Vol. 1. November, 1964), where, on page 20. there is a small section headed : Slow Toh. Please.
The author of this column, John Vallence. although an 'electronic type,' appears to support our old-fashioned (?) method of calling folk to worship.-Yours faithfully,
Jaic, Cheshire

Duke of Edinburgh's Award

Dear Sir,-Earlier this year you published an inquiry from me about the number of boys and girls who had chosen ringing as their pursuit for the Duke of Edinburgh's Award. I am very grateful to those who replied: the letters showed that at least 32 were working for or had passed one or other of the three standards.

One instructor commented that be felt the standard set was too high and that it placed at a disadvantage people in an area where ringing was not of a very advanced standard. He felt that the syllabus was far harder than most others open to hoys (he is engaged in cadet training) and that it ought to concentrate more on selting out a course of activilies to be followed. This, he considered. would be more in line with the objects of the Award.
I should he glad to know whether other instructors or candidates share this view, and if so to receive any suggestions for amendment. The various stages were drawn up in 1958 by myself in consultation with Mr. W. G. Wilson. the first being based on that set for the Girb Guides' Badge: they were required rather hurriedly and I am sure that it would be a gond idea to have some fresh thoughts on the matter.-Yours faithfully,
E. A. BARNETT.

Hon. Secretary, C.C.

Complete Rings of Old Bells

Dear Sir, Mr. Philip Waker's and later Mr. D. G. Little's reference to complete rings hy one founder was of interest to me also, and a complete ring of eight must be a great rarity. hut hanging in a small narish church near my home are three bells identified as the work: of Robert Norton, who was practising as a hellfounder in Exeter around 1390-1430.

Incidentally, these bells were saved from heing replaced by a gramophone at a consistor: court by a member of the Central Council Towers and Belfries Committee who happened to know of them.
They have now been rehung. retuned and are arranged to be safely swing-chimed. They are of good tone, sound and complete with canons : the largest is $6 \mathrm{cwt} \mathrm{w}^{2}$ qr. - Yours faithfully.

'Very much Alive

Dear Sir.-My husband and I read with interest the letter in last week's 'Ringing World ' header 'A Go-Ahead District' from C. Pound While feeling very flattered by the nice things said about our help in advancine the ringing when we lived in the Alton and Petersfield district, we were at the same time shocked to read that we are both dead

On the contrary, we are very much alive. and although owing to health reasons I am not an active ringer now. my husband is, and is a Ringing Master of the Salisbury Branch.
We have followed with great interest and pleasure the continued progress of the Alton and Petersfield District and wish them every success in the future. - Yours faithfully. JOAN M. JONES.

Salisbury, Wilts

Dear Sir,-I was pleased to read the few words of encouragement from Mr. Charles Pound for the Alton and Petersfield District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. (Page 728 'A Go-Ahead District.')

I feel sure, although certainly their names have not appeared in 'The Ringing World' recently, that Mr. and Mrs. Reg Jones have only moved to another district and have not moved on to higher service as Charles' letter would seem to infer.

Perhaps Reg can reassure his many friends that he and his wife are still alive and kicking - Yours sincerely, DAVID M. HUGHES.

Liss, Hants.
P.S.-I would suggest the removal of the romma and the three words but they were from the sixth line of the fifth paragraph Ihis would suit Mr. Pound's letter admirably.

Unbreakable Stays

Dear Sir,-Mr. Dalton, in his letter, remarks that in the old times stays were not something to be broken. This is quite literally true

Where I was brought up in the 1890's in S.E. Cornwall, all the rings were or recently had been Pennington Fours. They bad in stays and you were brought up the hard way If you let your bell go over, you had to go up and pass the rope by the light of a tallow candle and pay 6 d.

Bells were rung from the bottom and returned there at the end of each 'peal,' and woe betide the offender who let his bell speak after the captain had stamped his foot to finish. I believe it is still the best way to learn. You do learn rope control, which stands you in good stead later if you take up change ringing.

Stays came in when the then modern methods of Mears and Stainbank and John Taylor began to replace the old fours with sixes. And those ringers who rang on them found that there were advantages in heine able to set your bett. We called in the local carpenter and he fitted our wheels with stays. As they projected only a few inches they couldn't break without carrying away the wheel. The sole object was, and should be, to enable you to set the bells. As we had all learned to control our bell all the way up and down there was never a question of a bump: and the whole outfit lasted until Mears and Stainbank augmented the ring to six in 1914.

Since World War I T've never heen able to take nart in a good rise and fall. There is so much to teach and it's so hard to maintain interest that in many towers there just isn't time. How delightful. therefore to hear n band of experts during the Central Council meeting raise a rinf of eight perfectly before going for their peal.
But I still think of old Tom Stephens at my old tower: 'Now then, let's have a little moosic, and down would come his foot. A round of complete silence and then $1,2,3,4$. -Yours sincerely.
C. F. JERRAM.

SAWBRIDGEWORTH EIGHT

Wednesday, November 18th. 8 p.m., has heen fixed for the rededication service of Sawbridgeworth bells by the Bishod of Bedford. These bells, which have been ringing for almost int, vears, have been quarter-turned and retuned. The tenor ( 25 cwt . and cast bv J. Bryant of Hertford in 1795) was found to be cracked and was recast with one cwt. of added metal. The full eight have been set uo with new fittings. cast iron headstocks. wheels and ropes-these latter from John Nicoll.

Inhn Taylor and Co., of Loughborough were commissioned to carry out the restoration.
The tower's own ringing band undertook the job of clearine sawdust, 18-24 inches deep. from the pits This had probably lain there since the bells were last given a major overhaul in 1871. The timbers and frame were treated against the destructive beetle and the frame showed itself still to be in very good condition. The soundproofing was replaced with fibreglass wadding, hut this has not proved ultogether successful. Further soundproofing is necessary
An open afternoon and evening will be beld on Saturday. November 21st. There will also he a service followed by tea and a meeting of Bishop's Stortford and District Association. Sawhridgeworth stils faces a debt in connection hoth with the bells and with the restoration of the ringing chamber, and any goodwill offerings by visiting ringers will be most warmly appreciated. Donations, however small, shoukd he sent to Mr. C. J. Searle, Barclays Bank, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE A.G.M.

ARED-LETTER day in the life of any ringing secretary is when the number of people who turn up for tea coincides with the number of names received beforehand. The annual meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association held in Newcastle on on October 3 rd was one of those rare occasions
In one other aspect the day was less noteworthy for the general standard of the ringing was not as high as it was on the previous visit to Newcastle in 1962. Ringing in the evening would probably have benefited if an eight-bell alternative tower had been available near the Cathedral. St. John's. back in the programme for the afternoon, were not available in the evening and Gateshead, a tradifionally hospitable tower, has suffered the misfortune of having its seventh bell badly cracked by a departing clapper. Jesmond obligingly tried to fill the breech but was probably a bit too far away for some ringers at the end of the day. In the afternoon St. Stephen's, which like St. John's has completed tower repairs since 1962, was open and Fenham completed the list.
The service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Provost, the Very Rev. C. C. Wolters, assisted by the Rev. R. W. Goundry and the organist was Mr. J. L. Keen. The Provost spoke of the development of bells as instruments for calling people to prayer and reminded those who rang the bells that the message applied to them as well. The Association's handbellis sounded very well as they were rung after Psalm 150.

The business meeting was held in the Cathedral Library and the attendance was just over fifty. The President. Mr. E. P. Rock, took the chair and welcomed members and visitors from Yorkshire and the local universities, He made pleas for the proper maintenance of bells and a sustained effort in recruitment. SUBSCRIPTION INCREASE Reports were presented on the year's work and these were adopted. The Treasurer's statement showed that the financial position had declined and, while there was no cause for alarm, the Committee felt that the time had come to take action to raise the subscription from 4 s . to 5 s . from September 1 st , 1965. The secretary said that the acknowledgments that he received after informing the members who were given Life Membership showed that the award had given much pleasure to the recipients. Unfortunately, one of them, Mr. F. Sheraton, had died during the year and a remarkable membership spanning over 70 years had been brought to a close. Tanfield bells had been restored and the cricket match had been revived in spite of forrential rain earlier on that day. On the debit side there had been the accident to Gateshead's seventh. The Association's handbells had been renovated and a new box for them had been provided by Mr. N. I. Wright and insurance cover had been obtained against lois and damage. It was intended that the hells should be available on ban with suitable safeguards and a charge to defray the insurance preniums.

Instruction collectively and individually was the dominant theme in the Ringing Master's renort. Collectively there had been another successful one-day course at Lumley Castle, where the numbers attending and the range of classes had reached new high levels. Individually assistance had been given to the towers of Newburn and Tanfield. Other items included contact with the two theological colleges at Durham and some advice on bells and sound control. He was pleased to note that his pleas at Winlaton had not fallen on deaf ears and a fund had been launched to restore the bells. The general standard of ringing at meetings had been quite good.

39 PEALS

The peal report recorded 39 peals ( 5 on handbells). 69 ringers had taken part with Messrs. A. R. Patterson and F. Ross the leaders with 19 each. The leading conductors were Messrs. J. A. Ainsworth 6, and E. N. Harrison and A. R. Patterson 5 each. There had been 5 first peals and Mr. M. Maughan had scored his first as conductor, 19 Minor methods in hand set a new record and Double Norwich rung silent at Darlington was another noteworthy peal. The meeting expressed its appreciation of Miss M. E. Murcott's very fine effort in bringing the peal record up to date by typing well over 400 reports in the new style that had been introduced to replace the elaborate hand-written records of the earlier peal books.

The officers were re-elected en bloc and the list for 1964-65 is therefore: President, E. P. Rock: secretary, D. A. Bayles; treasurer, E. N . Jarrison: ringing master, K. Arthur; ditorial secretary, Miss M. E. Murcott: auditor, F. Ainsley; trustees, T. Cooke and N. I. Wright.

District officers were confirmed as follows: Northern, chairman G. S. Deas, secretary Miss I. Thomson: Southern, chairman F. W. Cooke, secretary Miss J. Warwick; Eastern, chairman R. Bell, secretary W. F. Sheraton; Western, chairman W. Tyson, secretary H. P. Thompson.
Meetings arranged for 1965 were: Social. Chester-le-Street, January 2nd: Ringing Course, Lumley Castle, March ioth: Halfyearly, Gosforth. May 29th; Annual, Darlington. Sentember 25 th.
Thirteen new members were elected, four coming from Jesmond, and three from West Hartlepool and one each from Benfiekdside, Chester-le-Street, Consett, Darlington, Fenham and Tanfield.
The Committee decided to grant five guineas from the Bell Restoration Fund to Winlaton and to do the same for Shincliffe if the proposals there go ahead. D.A.B.

TORRE, TORQUAY, RINGERS' OUTING

Thanks to excellent arrangements made by their captain, Mr. K. E. Fursdon, the Torre ringers had an enjoyable outing into East Devon on October $3 / \mathrm{st}$, when they were accompanied by friends from Babbacombe, Buckfastleigh and Topsham.
Ringing took pkace at Sowton (an eight rather difficult to handle), Whimple, Talaton, Feniton. Buckerill and Awliscombe. A sumptuous tea was provided at Honiton, which was followed by ringing at St. Paul's Church, Honiton.

OUTINGS

ST. JAMES', TAUNTON

For their annual outing into North Devon and Somerset, St. James'. Taunton, numbered 27 ringers, there being two absentees. Seventeen were between the ages of 10 and 15: of the 12 ladies, eight were under 15. There were three complete families and with the exception of the curate and his wife, all were being taught by the captain (Mr. R. Beale) and all were members of St. James Church.
Concerning the outing, J. H. M. writes:
The band rang at Dulverton, Exford, 'Tiniberscombe, Luccombe and Selworthy. With names like these one can almost see the well-worn towers set in old-world churcisyards. The sad thing is that one can almost smell the faint mustiness, too, for often the voice of the bells is unusual in these days. . . . Ringers have died and no one will train the youngsters. But the lure and affection for the bells was unmistakable: the locals said Luvly to yer um again ... they baint rung much now, and the visitors came to tell us of towers in Wales and London and to ring Grandsire or so with us.

TO WOOTTON BASSETT ONCE AGAIN
Every October Ottery St. Mary ringers visit Wootton Bassett, Wilts, to meet again that: - Old Otteregian,' Louis A. Wilson. Although he left Ottery during the 1890's, Louis stilt regards Ottery as his own tower and his records have been kept up to date in the tower record books.

Despite his 88 years he rings regularly, atthough he was knocked down by a car a few weeks ago. His strong character and will power gave him strength to partake in the ringing connected with the recent Wootton Bassett broadcast.
On the outward journey there was ringing at Shepton Mablet and Bradford-on-Avon and at Devizes and Castle Cary on the return. Arriving at Wootton Bassett. there was the familiat figure with his stick waiting to greet us warmly, together with the tower captain (Mr. F. Brooks) and the Vicar. Following ringing. which included a touch with our old friend we were entertained to tea-a really good spread-by him.
Our sincere thanks to those who met lis and made us so welcome at each tower visited and to our Vicar (the Rev. D. Rufus Price; for ohtaining the various towers.

OBITUARY

MR. W. T. HOLDING
With regret we record the death in hospital on October lith, after a short illness, of Mr. William T. Holding, of Crewe, Cheshire.
After having been a member of the band at Christ Church for 60 years it was with reluctance that he retired from active ringing in January, 1960. He served for 30 years as treasurer of the Crewe Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild, and although he had only rung 18 peals he took a keen interest in the activities of those to whom this aspect of our art appealed.
In his attendance for service ringing he provided an example of which the Exercise in general, and the Chester Diocesan Guild in particular, may well be proud. Throughout his 60 years of ringing he was never late or absent from service ringing on Sunday mornings and evenines.
His service to the Church extended bevond the field of ringing, for he taught for many years in the Sunday School and had held offices of sidesman, parochial church councillor and churchwarden. It was a mark of the esteem in which he was held when so many of his friends from tinging and other circles were present at hls funeral, which was conducted by the chairman of the Crewe Branch, the by the chairman
Rev. W. S. Pears.

His genial presence will be sadly missed. particularly at the Branch annual meeting at which he always undertook the duty of proposing the vote of thanks. We are privileged to have known a Christian gentleman; we thank God for the example of his life, and pray that his soul may rest in peace. W. K.

MR. CHARLES DALE

Many friehds from numerous voluntary organisations with which he had been connected attended the funeral service for Mr. Charles Dale, Ringing Master at St. Alphege s Church, Solihull, on October 70th. The Rector (Canon Harry Hartley) conducted the service and in a tribute spoke of Mr. Dale's unbounding energies and his high qualities as a churchman and citizen. As the cortege left the church for the interment at Robin Hood Cemetery a course of Grandsire Triples * in hand was rung by V. W. Rigg, G. E. Fearn, R. C. Ingram (Master, St. Martin's Guild) and C. W Bragg. On Sunday evening the bells of the Parish Church were rung half-muffed to the memory of a beloved Master.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Marlborough Branch

The October meeting of the Marlborough Branct was held at Collingbourne Kingston on October 24th, when the attendance was considerably Jower than at recent meetings. In addition to the home tower, six others were represented and, under the direction of the Rev. R Keeley (Ringing Master), good use was made of the bells. The Guild Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. G. F. Kidd) with Mr. Colin Ward playing the organ. Tea was taken in the Village Hall, the company being the guests of the Collingbourne ringers, the meal being organtsed by Mrs. R. Ward and Mrs. A. J. Walker.
At the meeting Mr. George Newman (chairman) paid a tribute to Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, of Marlborough St. Mary's, who are leaving the district for Berksnure. Mr. Brown has served as assistant secretary for the past year and his help has been invaluable during the indisposfition of Mr. T. A. Pabmer. Both he and Mrs. Brown have been a tower of strength in Marlborough ringing circles, and best wishes from their many friends go with them to their new home.

Mr. Newman also mentioned the loss sustained by the departure of Mr. Alan Keen, of Aldbourne, who had galned a place in the Manchester School of Music. Congratulations and best wishes to Alan also, and to the Ringing Master on scoring his 150th peal, were voiced by the chairman.

Friends will be surprised to see that Mrs. Hairs, who in her younger days was a polished exponent of handbell ringing, is again in the news by ringing in a peab of Stedman Caters. It is 20 years since she, last rang Stedman Caters to a peal 'in hand,' and while she makes no secret that she has passed 70 years of age, we are creditably informed that it was a good performance.
Dr. Peter E. North, a ringer at Rotherham Parish Church, is leaving to take up an appointment at Scunthorpe Hospital.
University of London Society of Change Ringers claim to have 15 members on the Central Council.

If $O$. A. M. will send his name and address to the Editor his letter will be considered for publication.

Mr. Charles A. Pound asks us to make a correction to his letter 'A Go-Ahead District, (page 728). Mr and Mrs. Reg Jones are still alive and live in the Salisbury district. The phrase should read: They are dead keen ringers.'

The G.O.M. of Cheadle, Cheshire, is Mr. A. Frost, who rang in the quarter peal for his 80 th birthday. He is still very active, ringing twice on Sundays and practice nights, and also travels around to Guild meetings. He has completed well over half a century of ringing.
In honour of the Queen Mother's visit, a quarter peal was rung on October 27th at Pembroke, which is believed to be the first on the bells. It is certainly the first on the bells by the Sunday service ringers as there was no change ringing in the tower before the present band was formed about four years ago.
To help pay for the restoration of Brisley Parish Church tower, Norfolk, four of the 17th century bells have been sold to John Taylor and Co. The bell which is being kept is dated 1621 and hears the name of Alice Brand, the woman bell founder. The restoration will cost about $£ 3,300$, towards which the Historic Churches Preservation Trust are making a grant of E 1.500 .

An unfortunate accident took place at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, arising from the bolt of the tenor clapper breaking, and in falling hitting the crosspiece of the ${ }^{*} H$ ' section of the 11th bell, which was broken. Only the 'Gabriel $8^{\prime}$ will be ringable for some time but visitors are still welcome on Monday evenings and Sundays. Messrs. Taylor bave the matter in hand.
Congratulations to Mr. James Bennett on ringing his 1.300 th peal. His friends rejoice to see him peal ringing again after his recent infirmity.
Mrs. Camidge, a member of the Ampthill band, and her husband have returned to England after $3 \frac{1}{2}$ years in Northern Rhodesia. A welcoming quarter was rung on October 28th.
Mr. Ian V. J. Smith informs us that there were two inaccuracies in the peal at Keswick footnotes (page 717) It was Miss Katharne Guy's 25th peal and not Mr. Colin Cook's, and the first peal of Grandsire for these two fingers.
The band who rang the peal at Ringwood on October 28 th wish to associate with it Mr. G. 'Ted ' Turner. Shortly before the peal he suffered an accident. The ringer: thank Mrs. G. Marshallsay for taking his place at less than 24 hours' notice.
The handbell tune ringing introduced into the B.B.C. Midland Regional Home Service programme "Today " on November 5th, was by the former Leigh Sinton Handbell Ringers, Worcs. They were using a diatonic ring of 12 bells in D21. The narrative was by Mr. Frank R. Barnett and all the team are members of Worcestershire Association.

Friends of Mr. Leonard Rodmell will be pleased to note that he took part in a quarter peal recently, after being supposedly retired from active participation in ringing, due to ill-health, some two years ago!! We've a -neaking feeling he still gets up at Patringten occasionally, too--you can't keep a good mar: down! And we were very pleased to have him with us.-R.D.

THE VALIDITY OF PEALS

THE Professor, who is an extremely busy man, takes a bit of nailing down these days; however, I managed to catch him in his cell last week and thereby succeeded in sorting out one or two things which had been troubling me.
I referred to the recent peal 'controversy' and sought his opinion upor the validity of a peal.

- I never look through the peal columns,' he said. ' without wondering by how many the actual number of changes rung differs from those stated at the head of the peal.'
I was shocked.
'Surely,' I protested, ' you are not suggesting that peals which ringers know to be false are published week after week in "The Ringing World.",

You make the mistake that most ringers make of accepting the number of rows as equivalent to the number of changes. After all, it can be argued that if a single mistake occurs in which two bells clash and are not heard distinctly then at least one particular change has not taken place and the 5,040 . say, becomes at once a 5,039 ! By standards such as these most peals which are published are automatically eliminated as few peals are guiltless of an odd misblow, and so the acceptance of a peal is based upon two factors, (a) tradition and (b) conscience. These two factors, unfortunately, vary from Society to Society, district to district. tower to tower and, in the case of (b) from person to person.'
'The final choice,' I pointed out, ' is quite often that of the conductors.'

Yes, and with this peculiar species, standards are vastly different. I can recall a peal of Double Norwich on handbells, when the ringing was almost perfect until the last " single " which brought the bells into the plain course and where the two bells making the "single" went the wrong way. The conductor quickly spotted this and in a few violent changes had the bells back in their proper coursing order after which episode the venture was brought to a victorious conclusion. But the conductor rejected the peal almost as vociferously as a few minutes previously he had saved it. "Two bells were crossed for at least half a lead," was his verdict.'

That seems rather drastic.'
Perhaps: at any rate I know many conductors who would have included it in their totals with an unruffled conscience.'
'I know of a conductor,' I offered, not to be outdone, ' who called a peal of Spliced Surprise and who discovered afterwards as he was writing out the composition for the benefit of his Society's peal secretary that he had inadvertently substituted a lead of one method for that of another in the composition, which had a similar name and the same lead-ends. I understand he spent several anxious hours and forfeited much sleep in proving the composition. Fortunately it turned out to be true!'
We spent quite a time reciting similar incidents uneasily aware that we were quoting the exceptions to the general rule.
'In the peal on handbells you mentioned carlier,' I said; 'you stated that two bells were crossed. What are your opinions on this subject?'
'Well, of course if two bells are crossed in a peal on any number of bells below eight there must be a repetition of changes, although, as I have already inferred, there could be the correct number of rows. With eight or more, even though it is possible in certain cases that there may not have been a repetition of rows, the changes have not been produced according to the laws of change-ringing and therefore the touch is false. Now I know that some conductors have self-made rules (or traditional ones) such as: so long as the bells are changed back before the treble leads again, or before the two bells go down to the front. or before the next bob is called, or before the course-end is reached, then the ringing can be allowed to continue. The length of time between the two bells being crossed and put right again is proportional to the sensitivity of the conscience of the conductor, or the tradition of the locality. It shouldn't of course, depend upon either seeing that a "swop " of two changes is just as bad as a "swop" of two courses-both are false!"
"What are you trying to do-make more space in "The Ringing World "?"

- No, just state the truth. I think that most of the peals which appear are of a reasonable standard although I do know of certain ones that have been brought round with the injunction," This should be all"!'
'I hope you have never rung in such a one!'
No, I have no patience with a ringer who takes part in a peal and then complains afterwards either that it was badly struck or that he knew it was "on the fiddle." The answer is, literally, in his own hands-he should set his bell and say why he has done so.'
' I can't imagine such a ringer becoming popular.'
'About as populan as one who complains afterwards in "The Ringing World,", remarked the Professor dryly, ' But. peal ringing can easily degenerate into a selfish hobby in pursuit of which, therefore, we must at least endeavour to continually keep our standards high.'
With which noble thought and divided infinitive, echoing in my mind. I left him.

Worcestershire and Districts Association's Annual Dinner

THE 27th annual dinner of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held on October 24th at the Co-opera. tive Hall in Worcester: The attendance was a little disappointing this year, being down to 85 , which is a hig drop from the 200 of a few years ago or last year's 130.
In the chair was the Association's president, the Dean of Worcester (the Very Rev. R: L. P. Milburn) supported by the Master, Mr. W. R. Cartwright, and clerical vicppresident, the Ri. Rev. C. E. Stuart (Assistant Bishop of Worcester)

Following the loyal toast, the chairman called on the principal speaker of the evening, Mr. F. W. Perrens, hon. librarian of the Central Council. Mr. Perrens first of all conveyed to his hosts the fraternal greetings of his own Guild, the Caventry Diccesan Guild, and said how happy he and his wife were to have the opportunity of visiting Worcestershire once again and meet some of his old friends and. he hoped, make some new ones.
He then recalled his early ringing days in the towers around the WorcestershireStaffordshire border. There were some first-class Surprise bands in this area and his only hope of standing in a

HELFIRY MAINTENANCE

 Perrens said that these ringers set a very high standard which the younger ringers of to-day must try to maintain.Turning to the activities of the Central Councib, Mr. Perrens said that they were not only concerned with peal ringers, as some people thought. One of the most active committees was the Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee. The Cotincll's pubhication, 'The Beginners' Handbook,' was a best seller.

The latest publication was a tecruiting leaflet and Mr. Perrens produced a copy and said that be had brought a supply with him and hoped that anyone interested would obtain one. A tower should aim to have twice es many ringers as belk, and this leaflet, exhibited in the right place, had already brought in many recruits.
Mr. Perrens once again thanked the Association for their kind invitation and hospitality and then proposed the toast. The Worcestershire and Kindred Associations.

The response to the toast was made by Mr. John C. Eisel, Ringing Master of the Northern Branch, who thanked Mr. Perrens for lis kind remarks towards the Association.
The toast of • The Chairman 'was proposed by Mr . W. B. Cartwright, who sald how pleased the members were that the Dean was able to be with them that evening. The Dean was not just a figurehead but was very interested in the Association and its affairs.
In reply, the Dean thanked Mr. Cartwright for the kind things he had said. He then asked if the members knew why they were called campanologists and traced the derivation of the word for them. Turning to present day events, he said that he was glad that there werc so many young people now learning the art. So long as this continued then there was little chance of the human element in hellringing being replaced by an electronic one. It was a good thing that the Exercise, through the Central Council, had been taking positive steps such as the recruiting leaflet.

Following the speeches the company was entertained by professional artistes. Robert lunn and Edna mystified the company with sume dazzling jllusions, and amusement was provided by Bernie Landy miming his own business.-

MR. FIDLER'S reference to the above in his recent letter, in which he expresses surprise at the little interest so many ringers take in bell maintenance, prompts me to submit these notes. Perhaps others may have useful ideas to contribute and so stimukte interest further.

Where bells are used a lot, raised and lowered two or three times a week and have a fair weight, rope maintenance is a regular task. Ropes need to be moved an inch or two. frequently, to avoid excessive wear at the garter hole. and eventually the few feet of rope which bend sharply over the pulleys, to and fro, become limp and need cutling out. When this is done it is a good idea to Insert a short length of nyton or terylene (two or three feet) to cover the area normally worn bv the effect of the garter hole. As nylon fibres are very smooth, it is advantageous to brush on some copydex at the splice.

Whilst long splices are better where a rope goes ovet a pulley, they take un more rople than a short splice. If a short splice is smoothly tapered it will run smoothly over pulleys. To taper a short spliee. do three threadings on all three strands in both directions, then cut off one-third of each strand: do one more complete threading, then cut of half of the remaining sttands and do final threadings.

If the rope is very tight it is sometimes difficult to thread the strands and I have made myself a special spike for this purpose. The end opposite the point is hollow and when using it 1 push it almost through the rone then insert the strand to be threaded into the hollow rear end and null the spike through from the pointed end. The strand is thus easily threaded through the tightest of ropes. Spikes can be made to suit any size of rope, and for threading complete tail ends. First obtain a length of seamless metal tube of suitable length. Saw a : $V$; out of one end so that the end is somewhat like a clothes nea Now close the two parts of this " $V$ ' in a vice or by other means and have the point brazed or soldered logether and filed up smooth. The end will now he a flattened point somewhat like a longish hird's beak. This is now a light and useful tool in rope maintenance.

PIGEON MENACE

Another problem faced by many steeplekeepers is the presence of pigeons or other birds. In a large town pigeons are often a real nuisance. Some local authorities have pigeon traps installed on public buildings. Some traps consist of a small box with a strong wire grill hinged at the top of two opposite ends of the box. The grill can swing iriwards but not outwards. Thus once inside the bird cannot usually escape. Corn is used for bait. A karge trap about six feet by six feet by three feet high made of laths and wire netting is, I helieve, used by people who may need to trap various species of birds. Birds can fly in downwards througb an onening but a thin strip of wood. sloping at 45 degrees; prevents their escape. The disposal of trapped birds is a problem. Ringed ones can be returned to the owners from whom they have strayed, but wild ones present humane and legal difficulties.
If copper mesh and galvanised iron wire griks are installed, the pigeons often transfer their affection from the lower to the warme: parts of the fabric and by their filth disfigure the fabric. Feeding by misguided peovle enceurages more pigeons. A constant battle must be waged by destroying nests and eggs to prevent breeding.

1 have known pigeons to be driven away from their favourite roosting places by having an old flshing net draped over the area and tacked to the wall at the hottom. Here again it snould not he possible for pigeons to be injured by the net for humane and legal reasons. The principle is the same as cotton over lettuce seeds to deter birds. It is very effective. A few pigeons can be tolerated but if they number several score obviously some thing has to be done.
Other problems face the steeplekeeper and I hope shortly lo write about that of sound Toliuos

Unflagging Zeal made Mr. J. W. Cotton the 27th to Ring 1,000 Peals

Tuesday, October 6ith, as already reported Joe Colton, the well-known and well-loved Midland ringer, and secretary of the Midland Counties Guild since its formation in 1946 achieved his 1,000 th peal, of Overseale Surprise Major, at his home tower, Overseale Derbyshire, where 44 years earlier he had rung his first peal.

Mr. Cotton began his ringing career when the new war memorial octave was placed in Overseale tower in 1919, and learning to handle a bell at nearby Netherseale, the new team made rapid progress, and the first peal December 20th. 1920. only a year later, was by the lowat band, being Grandsire Doubles with cover bells, all except the conductor William Clayfield, having learned to ring since the new bells were planned.
At this time Joe lived at Gresley, and would cycle several hilly miles twice each Sunday to join the team. Three years later he rang his first peal of Triples inside," under the conductorship of Maurice Swinfield (thus providing a link with the famous Wednesday Band, ringing six peals with the veteran James George). In 1927 he conducted his first peal, at Netherseale (Grandsire Doubles) and in 1932 Overseale was again the scene of his first of Triples as conductor.
Joe was by no means a young man when his more prolitic and ambitious ringing carcer came to fruition, and those who know and have rung in his comnany acknowledge with admiration that his unflagging zeal to arrange peals of an advanced standard in an area not casily accessible from the main ringing centres of the present day has brought the personal success it richly deserved, and has given great encouragement to many a young ringer wishing to improve, with consequent lasting benefits to the cause of ringing in the Burton-on-Trent district.

His work as District secretary of the old Midland County Association and above al his enthusiastic work as hon. secretary of the new Guild, and its Central Council representalive from its inception, having attended every Central Council meeting. have augmented the benefits of his actual ringing to all concerned and it is unthinkable to imagine the M.C.G without Joe, though the Guild hopes to look forward thankfully to his warm personality at the helm for many years to come.

OTHER CHURCH DUTIES

He has not allowed his ringing to crowl out other Church duties, for he was for several years verger and clerk to Overseale Church. then became a parochial church councillor and sidesman, and treasurer of the Church Hall funds. He has been secretary of the Overstale tower from 1923 to the present day, and erganised many enjoyable outings for the tower and friends before the last war. He has a wife, son and two daughters who are able to ring, and the tower could raise a Cotton band if necessary!

The list of 1,000 peals contains an interesting selection, including the rare achievement of the Alphabet to Surprise Royal and, almost, the letter ' U' being unfortunately missing. the same to Surprise Major. Though not a prolific conductor. he has a respectable totas of 57 , and more than half of these are in the realm of Triples, which is found so inscrutable by so many of our present-day conductors born and bred on even-hell methods' The peals were rung in 110 towers, and the totals in some in the M.C.G. area, where he has "circled some towers several times, are notably high. particularhy 286 at the Bell Foundry Campanile, a total exceeded by very

MR. JOSEPH W. COTTON.

Mrasham and 35 at Whitwick. He has runz 11 peals in 10 lrish towers, and had a pull at all the towers in Northern Ireland, and nearly all in the Repurlic. His most distant outing was long ago in 1931, when he joined the memorable Menin Gate Tour. Other noteworthy peals were: Three peals of London Surprise Major in three counties in one day: four-in-a-day at the Foundry; and the privilege of ringing in the late Ernest Morris* 2,000th pal. Morriston Surprise Royal, at Loughborough. Three false performanies were ulso completed in addition to the 1,000 peals.
Als will join in congratulating Joe on his determined and faithful achievements, and wish him many a happy peal to come; his straightforward sincerity and warmth of personality continue to bring pleasure to all who have the nrivilege to know him and ring in his company.

LONDON UNIVERSITY AND THE FUTURE

Miss Elizabeth Farrow has edited and produced for the University of London Socicty of Change Ringers an attractive annual report and a list of members

The president (Mr. David Martin), in his report covering 1958-64. writes: 'For me the biggest surprise of my five and a half years of office is that at the end of it London University is still constituted pretty much as I! was at the beginning. It is a great tribute to English conservatism, but I doubt whether it will hang on much longer, especially as we are now in the nost-Robbins era Indeed, we now know that Northampton C.A.T. is to become a separate university next year and a split up into two or more universities in London in the near future seems to me to be inevitable. This will obviously nose problems for this Society and I will gladly leave these to my successor.

King's Norton-by-Gaulby Peal

Dear Sir,-I, too, would like to congratulate the band on ringing Cambridge Major at the above church, as they were a rough lot in 1926. As my friend Norman Bagworth comments (page 744), the Sherwood Youths rang a peal there on Saturday, December 4th, 1926. 5,040 Stedman Triples. in three hours and five minutes. The band stood as follows: Fred Blood 1, Albert Coppock 2, Ernest Morris 3, Walter Whitehead 4, William Clarke 5, Frederick Salter 6, Frederick Bailey 7, Perceval Bruce 8. Conducted by Albert Coppock. The footnote: Specially arranged and rung to commemorate the 150 th anniversary year of the first peal on these hells by the Sherwood Youths on May 28th, 1776. Only one other peal has been rung on these eight hells, viz., June $4 \mathrm{th}, 1816$, by the Leicester Scholars.

Of the Stedman band of 1926 only three re-main-W. Whitehead, F. Bailey and myself.Yours, etc.

FREDERICK A. SALTER
St. Peter's. Nottingham.
Dear Sir,-Without wishing to appear ultracritical, I would like to correct a small detail in Mr. Norman Bagworth's letter. On November 7th, 1956, a peal of Braunstone Surprise Major was rung in 3 hours 23 minutes in which the writer was privileged to have been included.
The band was: B. G. Warwick 1, W. Thornley 2, E. Morris 3. J. A. Acres 4, B. S. Chap $\operatorname{man} 5$, S. J. Haines 6, E. J. Jelley 7, J. M Jelley 8. Unfortunately the two Ernests are no longer with us, namely, E. Morris and E. J. Jelley.

I apologise in advance if this letter gives the impression of belittling the peal of October 3rd and the band who obviously had to work for this one. Believe me, any peal scored on these gloriously-toned belks is carned, they are not 'kids' stuff.'-Yours, etc.,
S. J. HAINES.

Wigston Magna, Leics.

Peal at Geddington

Dear Sir-I was interested to read the account of the peal at Geddington (page 752) rung by members of the Southwell Diocesan Guild. Knowing these bells extremely well, I venture to query the time taken- 2 hours and 27 minutes.
The bells are rung from the ground floor and there are no sally guides. They are a very fine ring of five and sound at their best when rung at a steady pace. Peals on them in the past have taken about 2 hours and 50 minutes.

There has been no regular service band at Geddington for a number of years, and the last time I rang there the bells (whid) were last rehung about 1905) went quite well, but not all that weh for a good peal to be achieved in the time reported.-Yours truly,
B. F. MORRIS.

Ashbourne, Derbys.

Memorial to Albert Walker

Dear Sir,-Reading through "The Ringing World of November 6th, I notice that the memorial tablet to the late Abert Walker bas now been unveiled.
I am sure it would be very interesting to other old ringing friends of Albert's, as well as to myself, if the wording on the tablet could be published as I doubt if many of us will ever see this memorial.
May I also ask what amount of money was donated; also, have all the donors received their receipts?-Yours sincerely,

HECTOR G. BHRD.

A Go-ahead District

Dear Sir,-Having read Mr. Pound's lettein your recent issue, one is tempted to consider what has prompted him to eulogise the activities of the Alton and Petersfield District to such a degree.

Whilst it is good to see commendation of certain members mentioned in his letter, it is perhaps of moderate interest only to ringers nationally, and one cannot help but feel that if Mr. Pound is going to bring the activities of his District to the attention of ringers everywhere, he should at least present a more balanced view.

There is no doubt that Mr. Bassett's name is widely respected, and all of us who have rung with him are indeed appreciative of his efforts, particularly in encouraging young ringers and guiding them through peals, etc. It is unfortunate on the other hand that Mr. Pound makes no mention of the fact that for a considerable time there has been no regular band in his own tower at Hawkley, and that in fact the bells are generally rung by visiting bands for peals and quarter peals.

Again, whilst it is greatly to the credit of the Liss ringers that they have struggled valiantly against village opposition-opposition encouraged considerably by an incumbent who has in the past told me exactly what he thinks of his ringers and their bells-it is a pity that Mr. Pound does not present the other side of the picture in mentioning the case of East Meon. Here we have another local tower but which rarely, if ever, receives assistance from neighbouring ringers who, having been helped themselves through rounds and Grandsire Doubles, are now more concerned with Surprise ringing and peals than with helping others through the initial stages. At East Meon there is an enthusiastic but small young band. The bells are a heavy octave, becoming increasingly difficult to handle, but to hear ringers from some of the towers mentioned in Mr. Pound's letter remark that it is a waste of their time to go to East Meon, since the band is going to pjeces there, making one wonder if these same ringers are as concerned in making their District as go-ahead as Mr. Pound would have us beheve.

I agree entirely with all that Mr. Pound says, and endorse his commendation of the ringers mentioned, but in fairness I think at should ako be mentioned that the District is not without its 'I'm all right Jack' attitude in certain quarters, with a regrettable tendency to leave a sinking ship. - Yours faithfully,

JOHN E. CLARK.

An Apology

Dear Sir,-I very much regret that I said hurtful and perhaps incorrect remarks to Mr. Ian M. Holland at Dronfield practice on Tuesday, November 3rd, and wish sincerely to apologise re the same and thank Mr. I. M. Holland for his great calmness and advice.

Hoping this will prevent any misunder-standing.-Yours very sincerely,

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

A well-attended meeting of the Archdeaconry of Staffordshire Guild, held at Arrnitage Bridge Parish Church on November 7 th . was representative of all age groups. Mr. P. Birkelt presided. Mr. E. Hudson thanked the local ringers and their helpers for the excellent tea provided. He in turn was congratukated on gaining his 400 th tower. The meeting appointed Messrs. P. Birkett and D. Smith as delegates to help form the proposed Joint Council of Yorkshire Societies of Ringers.

Ringing included St. Oswald, Woodbine and the more well-known Minor methods. W. M.

Worcester Cathedral Bells

Dear Sir.-With reference to the recent correspondence on the bells of Worcester Cathedral. I have in the last few days unearthed some data on the old and new rings of 12 hung in the Cathedral tower. This data was given to me some 15 years ago by the late C. A. Binyon, O.B.E., who introduced me to the art of bellringing.
On page 665 of R.W., Mr. Slater tells us in his interesting letter on Worcester Cathedral bells that, after the sale of what remained of the original ring of 8 bells, nothing else of interest happened until 1868. However, the data below quotes the casting dates of the 6th and 9 th of the old ring of 12 as being 1864. So if one assumes that this information is correct. perhaps the initial response to the appeal launched by the Rev. Cattley in 1864 proved sufficient to start the recasting work-or was it as a security for the founder? Perhaps we shall never know the answer to this one.

The details of the old and new rings, together with data on the semi-tone and bourdon bells, I have shown below, since a comparison of the two rings with their very different designs may be of some interest to readers.

Old Peal

Yours sincerely,
R. ROGER SAVORY.

MOLLAND'S BIG DAY

M
OLLAND is one of those delightful, sequestered little Devon villages which time seems to have passed by. The church is famous for one of the most perfectly-preserved earlyi8th century interiors of the country, with 1ts box pews. 3 -decker pulpit with a huge sound-ing-board topped by a gilded angel, its balustered gallery under the tower, clear glass and plastered ceilings. The tower contains one of the most interesting rings of bells in the county, too; the old five had a mid-15th century Bristol tenor, a very fine bell of about 13 cwt : a 3 rd by Thomas Geffries, also of Bristol. early 16th-century: a 2nd whose inscription was made with a squeeze from a monumental brass reading 'Here lies Master John Cooke backwards, dated 1595 and cast, so the Wardeos' Accounts show, hy one William Proshew in North Molton; a 4 th by Wroth of Wellington. dated 1709 and reproducing a pre-Reformation inscription (probahly at the behest of the Courtenays, whose arms it hears, the Roman Catholic Lords of the Manor), and a treble by Mears and Stainbank. all hung in a fine oak frame by Frank White. of Appleton.
But even if time has passed by Molland in its fold of the Exmoor foothills, life has certainly not. The pub has quite an extensive 200 whieh anyone may walk round for nothing: und the village has a liveliness and energy which many towns might envy.
for the past year or so this life and energy has been focused on the bells, and all came to a triumphant climax on Octoher 38 th, when the Bishop of Exeter came to dedicate the new treble and to rededicate the whole restored ring.

If has cost Molland about $£ 2,000$ to have the foundation-timbers of the frame replaced by steel girders. the bells rehung in iron headstocks. the old 3rd (cracked by a rusted ctown-staple) recast, and a new treble added. As there was not foom for six on one level, nor headroom for one bell above the frame, the 4 th has been hung in an iron and steel frame below the rest and she speaks out surprisingly well from that position.

The people of Molland (there are only about 250 of them) made a wonderful day of it. The church was crammed to the doors when the Bishop rededicated the ring and the Knowstone ringers chimed them round; there was a huge marquee in the old school playground, with stalls and sideshows and skittles: a wonderful team of ladies served hundreds of splendid teas in the Church Hall, and Devon's newest six rang throughout the afternoon and evening to the admiration of ringers from near and far. By the end of the day the people hoped that they would have got the last $£ 200$ -all they needed for the work. The rest they had raised since September of last year.

Some knowledgeable people are in the habit of talking about our dying rural communities.: They will find that for generations to come the bells of Molland will be testifying to the fact that in 1964 this community was very much alive.

SOLIHULL'S NEW RINGING MASTER

On November lith a meeting of the Solihull Church ringers was held, at which the Rector of Solihull (Canon Harry Hartley) was present. Owing to the lamented death of present. Owing to the lamented death of a new Ringing Master. Mr. Thomas J. Warner was unanimously chosen to fill this officeMr. George E. Fearn was appointed Deputy Ringing Master. Mr. Vincent W. Rigg was re-elected secretary (an office performed by Vincent for the past 19 years) and Mr. Richard Cann was re-elected towerkeeper.

The oldest member of the band, Mr: William Leeson, has now completed 64 years as a ringer at Solihull.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham District

The annual meeting of the Lewisham District was held at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Farningham; on October 24th, and attfacted some 50 members and friends.

Mr. David Manger was in charge of ringing in the afternoon and under his guidance courses and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor and Cambridge and Norwich Surprise were rung. The Vicar of Farningham, the Rev. D. Campbell, conducted the service, and Mr. Edwin Barnett read the lessờn.

After a splendid tea, tables were cleared and the company tearranged themselves for the busincss meeting, chaired by Mr. E. A. Barnett. The secretary's report showed a small decrease in membership compared with 1963, and some 50 members less than the 1962 total. It was particularly disturbing to note that the number of junior members had fallen from 33 in 196 ? to 12 . A total of 26 peats rung in the District was reported, including 37 Spliced Surprise Minor and Stedman Caters at Cudham. Kemsing and Cotswold Surprise Major were rung for the first time. The number of quatter peals increased from 41 to 49.

Miss Mary. Ardrews was unanimously reelected District secretary, and Miss Freda Cannon and Mrs. Olive Barnett were returned as the District's representatives. Mr. Tony Lewis and Mr. Paul Smith were nominated for the office of Ringing Master, : and on a show of hands Mr. Lewis obtained a comfortable majority and was duty elected. Mr. John Fairclath was efected 'Ringing World representative. The meeting closed with the usual rotes of thanks.

Ringing was then resumed with the new Ringing Master ensuring that all tastes were catered for, and a discerning passer-by would have rècognised Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Single Oxford, Cambridge, London and a final touch of Spliced.

Here, without doubt, is the perfect present for every true bell enthusiast. E. C. Shepherd, a well-known contributor to these pages, has at last written a book ranging over the whole field of bell-ringing. Quite apart from his expert knowledge this is no ordinary book. It is, in fact, a book which has added a further dimension to reading - the dimension of sound. Each book contains a high fidelity recording of pcals from both famous cathedials and humbler towers, including the famous first peal of Stedman

Caters rung at Washington Cathedral. In 108 knowledge-ably-written pages (including eight full-page illustrations) Mr, Shepherd covers the origins and evolution of bellringing, and also deals with hand-bell ringing and the art of the carilloneur. Here is a book no bell-lover can afford to miss. The cost is $25 /-$ (plus 1/- postage and packing). Please send cheque or p.o. with your order to

725 MILES PER TOWER or Canadian Campanologists' Convention

(IANADA is a very long way from Texas, where everything is supposed to be 'The Biggest,' but nevertheless distances between cities in this country tend to be great. It was, therefore, with no small amount of apprehension that four ringers from Calgary set out on a tower grab to Vancouver, some 700 miles to the west across the Rockies. The date was Friday, October 9th, 1964, the time 7 p.m., and the transportation a 1958 Ford station wagon. Fortunately, three out of the four held driver's licences and were able to take turns at the wheel. Thus we were able to keep moving throughout the night. with only periodic stops for gas (sorry, petrol) and coffee.

Vancouver was reached ahout 10 a.m. next day, much to everyone's relief, and we made tracks for the beautiful home of Jeff White where we were greeted with an abundant supply of yet more coffee, and allotted to our various accommodation for the stay. Wasting no time, we were ringing at the Cathedral of the Holy Rosary soon after 2 p.m. These bells are somewhat of a mixture, some being French in origin. However. considering that they are hung on plain bearings, they go exceedingly well. and are a credit to those responsible for their maintenance.
They did prove to he rather a handful for two of our number from Calgary, who are unied to our own light eight, especially as this was the first opportunity that either had had to ring outside their home tower. Methods rung here included Grandsire Triples, Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford Bob Triples (for some reason known only to the Vancouver band) and of course rounds. Supper on Saturday was taken at the Barkworth residence, and since this was. Thanksgiving Week-end. this naturally consisted of roast turkey, and most acceptable it was too

MISSION CITY

Sunday dawned fine. much to the surprise of the contingent from the Prairies, all of whom firmly helieve that it rains far more frequently in Vancouver than it does in England. Hy $1031 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. we were once more at work on the hells of the Holy Rosary. ringing them for half an hour before the 11 a.m. Mass. following this we set course for Mission City to try our hand on the ring of 10 which is to be found there, at Westminster Abbey, This is a monastery set on the top of a hill in the Fraser Valley, and commanding a most glorious view. From the ringing chamber window the Fraser Valley can be seen stretching away to the north-east, with the river of the same name winding its way to the sea. On either side of the valley are the Rocky Mountains, crowned in the south by the snow-capped peak of Mount Baker in the States. The hells that hang in this cower are an cqually finc ten. which are probably the only hells which are rung to changes every day. The monks have their own band, which is under the able leadership of Father Dunstan, and they ring every day before Mass.
We were met on arrival by Father Dunstan and conducted on a tour of the building, and it was during this that we realised that we were in the presence of an exceptionally talented man. for most of the art work to be found there is of his hand. It does not matter if he is painting a picture, designing and casting concrete blocks for a ceiling. making potlery figures to decorate a firenlace, or confucting a touch of Grandsire Triples. Father Dunstan is in his clement. We had the privilege of ringing here an for hour and a half, and this time the ringing also included Grandsire Caters. We made an attempt at Stedman Triples but this was not to be, as the writer found that an absence of $2 \frac{1}{2}$ years from the method is sufficient to make one forget the difference between 'Quick' and 'Slow.
Sunday was brought round by a get-together at the home of Jeff White, where we sat and talked ringing. listened to tape recordings of the hells of Christ Church. Calgary, and St.

 excellent turkey until the early hoursA start was made on the long road home at 9 a.m. on Monday, and we finally made it by 11 p.m., all somewhat tired and exhausted, but having enjoyed every minute of our stay in Vancouver.

It now only remains to thank publicly our hosts, the Vancouver ringers in general, and in particular Jeff and Jean White, Mary and Delia Barkworth, and family, and Ron and Edith Hyatt who provided the accommodation, and to remind them that there is a dozen of beer to be provided by whichever tower, Vancouver or Calgary. which does not score the first peal. We in Calgary are going to enjoy drinking it.

THE SOUND OF BELLS

A comprehensive study of hellringing unique in character has been published by Record Books, Limited. This book, entitled. The Sound of Bells,' written hy Edgar C. Shepherd, incorporates a completely new dimension in sound as vell as vision-by linking the book to a record which in this case demonstrates different rings of bells. some from famous cathedrals, as well as an indication of the art of the carillonneur, and of tune ringing on handbells. The book is in four parts and covers the history of bells and bellringing. the growth of change ringing, eye witness accounts of notable occasions and a description of some well-known ringing towers

The author, Mr. Shepherd, is the former Master of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham and convener of the Literature and Press Committee of the Central Council. He is a man well versed in the art of bellringing, having had over 50 years' experience. At present he reoresents the Salisbury Diocesan Guild on the Diocesan Advisory Committee on Facultes and the Care of Churches.

Northern Branch

Members and friends of the Northern Branch in numbers visited Reepham on October 24th. After the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. H. Hurst), the Buttery seemed to expand its wal!, at teatime as over 41 ) tried to sit down ( 30 booked). It was. nevertheless, enjoyed

Two new members-Alan R. Buxton and David House-were elected. Mr. W. R. West reported that four bells were being obtained from St. Nargaret's, Norwich, to increase the ring at Holt to six. Difficulty was being experienced in moving these bells as it would pessitate splitting the organ.

The president said he had a pleasant and instructive week-end at Grantley Hall: it was hoped a similar one could be held in Norfolk in the not too distant future.

Fiethersett had been offered the annual general meeting in January if Wymondham Abhey was not available.

ROCHESTER DISTRICT TOUR

CTOBER is usually an ideal month for ringing outings and it was no exception his year on the first week-end in October, which was the time chosen by the Rochester District, K.C.A., for their coach tour to Somer set and the Bristol area. Leaving Sittingbournc at 6.30, our stopping place for the Friday night in Reading was reached in three hours.

The first tower of the week-end was Hungerford, and the other tower of the morning was the beautifully-toned 17 cwt . six at St. Mary's, Marlborough. A good lunch was enjoyed in the Pump Room in Bath.

We had heard so much about the majesty of Chewton Mendip that some were almost prepared for an anti-climax-but be soon found out for ourselves that everything we had heard was true-our only regret was that we didn't have longer to enjoy the bells. Gough's cave in the Cheddar garge was inspected and all were duly impressed, although the gorge itself was to most people, more outstanding. After a ring at Cheddar, we moved on to Congresbury where we were privileged to ring from the brand new belfry floor, which must be a great improvement on the old ground floor ringing chamber. The 35 cwt . eight proved rather too heavy for some, but all agreed that the tone is excellent. Clevedon, the last tower of the day, has light and easy going bells. A touch of Stedman here provided the best ringing of the day. Afterwards a short service was conducted by the Vicar.
The night was spent at Bristol. After bicakfast (very rushed by some), everyone was collected on time to ring at Emmanuel, Clifton prior to a service of Holy Communion, held especially for us by the Rev. Rees. A long and picturesque drive through the Cotswolds brought us to Cirencester for lunch. Faringdon. (8, 17 cwt .) was the first tower of the afternoon and the scene of the only ladies' touch of the tour. A run through the Vale of White Horse brought us to the the last official tower, Harewell, where the church was most beautifully decorated for Harvest Festival. Cambridge was the best touch here, but in seemingly no time we were heing summoned back to the coach again. Tea was partaken by the river at Henley-onThames, where afterwards some of us were privileged to ring for Evensong with the local hand

We thank sincerely all incumbents for the use of their bells and local ringers who met us: to Wally Smith who drove so efficiently and above all to Laurie Mitchell, whose meticulous organisation ensured that the tour was an outstanding success.

FIRST 720 ON KENT FOUR

For years visitors to St. Bartholomew's Church, Waltham, near Canterbury, have concluded that there are only two bells as two very decrepit ropes hang down on the ground floor of the little oblong central tower.

Stahlschmidt's 'Church Bells of Kent " gives four bells, and an unlocked trapdoor enahled the writer to confirm this. Later in the year the bells were inspected and although the third's wheel was broken they were rung up singly and proved better than expected.
On St. Bartholomew's Day (August 24th) the bells were rung in peal for the first time for 30 years, and in October a 720 was rung there in 23 minutes by A. Davies 1. M. Ostler 2. C. Beeching 3, D. Cawley 4. It is hoped that when proper ropes can be purchased regular ringing can be arranged.
All the hells are by Joseph Hatch. The No. 3 bell. however, bears his father's mark and is dated 1602. The weights are approximately 4 f cwt., 5 f cwt ., 6 cwt . and 8 cwt . in bout A .
The following four-bell towers in Kent are now ringable: Alkham ( $6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), East Langdon (7 cwt.), Newnham (7t cwt.), Plumstead 17 wt. 1 qr. 18 lb . in A ) and Waltham ( 8 cwt . in A). There is a possibility that the four at Fordwich are also ringable, but the Vicar isn't! The four steel bells of Bicknor could be rung (with chiming ropes-tenor $2 f \mathrm{cwt}$ ). Recently news has come that the four at Ickham ( 7 f cwt.) are to be rehung and the No. 3 recast.

A SUSSEX VILLAGE RAISING MONEY FOR ITS BELLS

THE Sussex village of Billingshurst is faced with a big task in raising funds to restore its bells. Pictured here is a scene on the village green where a parish councillor, Mr. J. H. Leaman, makes his donation. Watching is the Vicar, the Rev. R. Evan Hopkins (who will be recalled for his fund-raising activities on behalf of Bow bells), Messrs. Geoffrey Rex, George Francis, Leslie Weller and David Smith. (Photo by Ronald G. Oulds.)

The present bells at Billingshurst date back to 1812, when the six bells were recast by Mears and Stainbank. In 1897 two trebles were added. Trouble started last summer when the sixth disintegrated during practice and two months later the seventh, again on a practice night. While the crash was alarming, it was fortunate that no one was injured. Signs of trouble are patent in two other bells, one of which is cracked, and it is a 'must 'that these four bells should be recast, the estimate being £500.

This is the subject of the immediate appeal. A gift day was held, the Vicar sitting beside the papier maché replica bell on the village green. The replica was skilfully made by pupils of the Weald Secondary School, and Mr. Leslie Weller, who is hon secretary of the fund, and the other ringers pictured above gave performances of handbell ringing during the day.

The Vicar has raised about $£ 105$ and the ringers $£ 70$. The next effort is a Christmas market.

Mr. Weller is, however, apprehensive about the other two of the 1812 six. Messrs. John Taylor's representative recently inspected the bells and confirmed Mr. Weller's opinion that the whole six should be recast. This will mean raising about $£ 1,200$ if Billingshurst is to have a ring of eight in perfect tone to call the village to worship from the picturesque shingled spire.

Billingshurst is a popular tower among Sussex ringers and Mr. Weller feek that those who have an affection for the village will come to their aid by sending gifts to him at Flagstones, Andrew's Hill, Billingshurst.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The St. Asbans District held their October meeting at South Mimms, which is in Middle. sex until next year. Ringing on the rather tricky six, which are rung from the vestry. covered the standard methods.

Evensong, with full choir and organ, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. P. Clare. Tea, which was attended by the Vicar and Mrs. Clare, was prepared by the bocal lady ringers under the direction of Mrs. Fost. Miss Julia Fellows proposed all the necessary votes of thanks.

Evening ringing ranging from shaky rounds to well-nigh perfect Bristol took place at Monken Hadley, a tower that Hertfordshire will lose under the Greater London scheme.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

Joint Meeting With Crewe Branch

A very successful joint meeting between the North Staffs Association and Crewe Branch of the Chester Guild was held at Newcastle (Staffs) on November 7th, being the first of its kind.

About 60 ringers sat down to tea in the Parish Hall, where speeches of welcome were made by the retiring chairman of the North Stafts Association, Mr. G. W. Biddulph, and acceptance by Mr. W. Kerr, of the Chester Guild.

Tea was very ably prepared by a band of pretty 17 -year-olds who ring at Newcastle and nearby Wolstanton, and who were too shy to take a bow when thanked for their efforts by Mr. D. R. Whalley.

In the course of the afternoon a committee meeting was held by North Staffs members at which Mr. C. S. Ryles was appointed chairman of the Association. The retiring chatrman, Mr. Biddulph, was thanked for all tne hard work he had put in during his term of office by Mr. R. S. Anderson.

After tea more members arrived and ringing was continued until 9 p.m. with more or less the whole range from rounds to standard and Surprise methods.

A PETERBOROUGH WEDDING

Peterborough ringers were delighted to add their merry sound to the festivities on September 12 th, when Wendy Hollowell, a ringer a: St. Mary's Church, was married to Raymond H. Daw, the secretary of the Peterborough Branch of the Peterborough Guild. The wedding took place at St. Mary's Church and was solemnised by the Vicar, the Rev. J. H. Butcher. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. J. C. Hollowelb, and was attended by Miss Valerie Daw, the bridegroom's sister. Mr. Brian Harris was best man.

The bride, wearing a full-length white brocade dress with an elbow-length veil and carrying a bouquet of orange roses and lilies of the valsey, looked very beautiful.

The reception was held at the New Inn. Peterborough, the couple leaving for a honcymoon at Woolacombe.

After the ceremony the bells of St. Mary"s were rung and two peals were rung in neighbouring rowers during the following week to mark the occasion.

On return from their honeymoon the couple entertained ringers from the Peterborough area at the Prince of Wales Hotel, Castor. After ringing on Castor bells the assembled company did justice to the fare provided and joined once more in wishing Wendy and Ray all the best.'

MR. CHARLES DALE An Appreciation

Charles became a regular member of the Solihull band some 20 years ago, and never did a belfry secure a more loyal or valuable worker. He rang the four standard methods very competently, but we always thought that he enjoyed Stedman Triples more than anv other experience. This was clearly the result of his association. more than 50 years agu, with some of the great Birmingham exponents of the method. Bernard Witchell. Fred Cla.. ton and others, whose influence was felt on the Coleshill and Erdington side of Warwickshire.

When Charles was elected Ringing Master at Solihull Church he was manifestly overcome by what he sincerely held to be a great honour and privilege. His facing up to his responsibilities and his brisk response to the calk of the time showed once again that the Church had here a true Christian servant, and we all realised that we had a lower leader with vision, wisdom and a quiet persistence that invariably carried his point. He succeeded in establishing ringing at three services each Sunday. and in addition to his attendance in the belfry at each of these periods, it was his custom to attend the $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Communion and the 6.30 Evensong.
These things have left their mark upon the belfry at Solihulh, but what we treasure in our recollections of Charles are his unfailing good nature. his cheerfulness and something indefinable about him that made us feel that he was perpetually grateful to be abse to enjoy so many things. Indeed, it was only gradually that we learned how this trait in his character had found expression in the many good and charitable works in which he was so quielly but intimately involved.

Most of all perhaps we shall treasure memories of those little social gatherings when Charles loved to sit back and listen to ringing gossip and tales of obd times: and it was then that he would tell us of his days at Colesbill, of the brilkant but irascible Fred Clayton and of many of the goings-on that never appear in ringing papers.

Here was a man who loved deeply and was deeply loved, and his work will not have heen in vain.

MR. G. E. SYMONDS LOOKS BACK

STILL secretary of St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich. of which he has held the position for 43 years, Mr. G. E. Symonds has been delving into the past after 78 years a ringer, and member of the College Youths for nearly 67 years. His 'novelties,' as he calls them, are:
Called 40 of his first peals on tower and handbells.

Called peals of all numbers up to and including 5.184 in the following Major mothods: Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Treble Bob.
Called all the odd numbers of Stedman Cinques from 5,001 to 5,021 , also peals of Triples and Caters on tower bells.
In 1926 called Forward Maximus, Duffield Maximus and short course of Bob Maximus, calling 448 bobs and six singles in the three peals.

Called peals on tower bells and handbells from Major to Maximus in the following methods: Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, the last being the first Oxford Maximus for 112 years (on handbells), also Grandsire Triples, Caters and Cinques. Plain Bob on $5,6,7,8,9,10,11,12$ bells, probably a record.
Called all numbers of Treble Bob Hunt Maximus from 5,040 to 5,280 .

Called Treble Bob Maximus in 5, 6, 7 and 8 courses.

Called peals in 15 different Maximus methods in which Mr. C. J. Sedgley and himself rang 15 peak of Superlative Surprise Maximus, presumably a record.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting of the Luton District, held at Leighton Buzzard on October 24th, attracted a very good attendance.
The bells (10) were raised at 3 p.m. and ing in great variety was enjoyed until 4.30 , when about 40 people sat down to an excellent tea, provided by the local ladies.

The district chairman, Rev. R. O. Osborne, presided over the short business meeting, which was followed by a showing of the instructive and enjoyable film 'Ringers Wanted!'

This film, wheih shows how the problem of recruiting ringers was tackled at Vancouver Cathedral, proved so popular that it was found necessary to have a 'second house.' Hearty thanks were expressed to Mr. T. C. Clapp for his work in obtaining the film and operating the projectors. Afterwards, further ringing from rounds to Cambridge Surprise was enjoyed until 8.30.
Miss V. Willard very kindly acted as ringing master, and visitors were present from places as far apart as London and Lincolnshire.
A.E.R.

SUFFOLK GUILD

When the Central District visited Wickhatı Skeith and Thornham Magna for their quarterly meeting on October 31st members were interested to note the many records of peals rung in these famous towers over 50 years ago. The Rev. F. A. W. Cornish welcomed us at a short service at St. Andrew's Church, Wickham Skeith, and an excellent tea prepared by members of the Women's Fellowship Guild was served in the Village HaH . The chairman. Mr. H. Leather, presided at the business meeting. Mr. R. Lester, Ringing Master. reported on the success of the recent striking competition held at Buxhall, and Mr . A. Beckwith, the Guild hon. secretary, explained the effect of resolutions passed at the last general meeting of the Guild. Ringing continued in a good variety of Minor methods at Thornham Magna until 9 p.m. R.E.L. vost of Wakefield (the Very Rev. P. N. Pare) and as the happy couple left the Cathedral the 12 bells were rung by the rest of the company. A quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung on the following day with the very best wishes from all their ringing friends in Wakefield and district.

THE LADIES' GUILD  Central District

Members of the Central District visited Croydon Parish Church for the quarterly meeting on October 30th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and continued unti] 4.30 p.m.. when the Vicar (Canon W. Warren Hunt) conducted the service.

After the excellent free tea, provided by Mr, and Mrs. F. E. Collins, the vice-president. Mrs. Lock, thanked the Vicar, the organist, Mrs. Collins and her helpers. The men present then left and showed that they were domestically well trained by kindly washing up.
At the meeting the Misses Joyce Barton and Ruby Myllys were elected members and it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting on May 29th at either Reading or Stoke Poges.
Members and visitors then seturned to the belfry and ringing continued to 8.30 p.m. in methods ranging from rounds to Cambridge Royal and Stedman Cinques.
Next meeting: District annual genera: meeting at Wood Green on January 30 th.

HUTTON RINGERS' OUTING

Hutton ringers with friends from neighbouring towers selected Kent for their annual outing this year, the Thames being crossed by the Dartford-Purfleet tunnel. Ringing started at Faversham with call changes and Bob Major. A look round Canterbury and a picnic lunch followed. The lovely tone of Wickhambreaux bells pleased all. Treble Bob methods were rung on the heavy six at Herne, and a fish tea was enjoyed at the Bay Cafe, Herne Bay. Our final tower contained the six at Whitstable.

20th June, 1881. - The gudgeons of the 18 cwt. tenor of the ring of 6 broke during ringing. the bell falling wedged between the timbers. This bell is well known to Suffolk bers. This bell is well known to Suffolk people and to strangers as being a very finetoned bell which, considering her being only 18 cwt., is nearly equal to Lavenham.

JASPER W. SNOWDONS BOOKS

On 2nd July, 1881 he wrote. 'Ropesight should be in the hands of every beginner: 'Standard Methods ' in the possession of every ringer ; Part I of the 'Treatise on Treble Bob in the hands of everyone who aspires to prove or compose a peal and is not already thoroughly qualified to do so; and Part II is absolutely necessary to every Treble Bob composer or conductor who wishes to test the originality of any composition.

CHESTER CATHEDRAL AND  \section*{COMPOSITIONS}

25th June, 1881.-The Chester Cathedral Society of Change-ringers met, by arrangement. Rev. C. D. P. Davies from the parish church. Whitchurch, and rang 2,520 Grandsire Tripies in 1 hour 45 minutes. Tenor 33 cwt. in C. This is the first occasion upon which a minister of the church has taken part in change-ringing on the Cathedral bells and it is hoped that many more will follow his example.
Charles A. W. Troyte attacks Mr. Freeman Ball, of Chester. about the composition rung at Chester Cathedral. I should be inclined to call it a more or less ingenious adaptation of my old friend 'Holt's Ten-part.' I do not think it fair to call this sort of thing a composition. A man might as well call himself the composer of a piece of music because he had written out Handel's Messiah begin ning at the second part and ending up at the end of the first part.
Mr. Ball refuted this and called Mr. Troyte's manner anything but courteous . . . and he must have been very angry when he wrote his letter.' He said that his composition was the result of about 8 years' study. 'Surely we have at the present day as clever composers and ringers as ever in the days of Holt; as. for instance, we have Lockwood of Leeds, Johnson of Birmingham. Haley of London, Snowdon. Hubbard Sottanstall and others too numerous too mention, and I trust that when my friend takes up his mighty and wieldy pen to strike he will do so with courtesy.
Jasper W, Snowdon wrote that he did not think Mr. Troyte 'could have mentioned such a glaring instance of reproduction in a more courteous manner... the very same variation had already appeared in print, in. The Clavis nearly a hundred years ago.

HEDON, NEAR HULL

9th July, 1881.-Rev. H. L. Clarke, Vicar, reports that $£ 700$ has been spent on restoring the church. The 6 bells 'one of the best rings in the East Riding of Yorkshire,' need to be rehung and the cnimes to be repaired. This will cost betwern $£ 60$ and $£ 70$ and he asks for financial assistance for this.

SOUTH LINCOLNSHIRE CHANGERINGERS ASSOCIATION

MOTiRAM-IN-LONGDENDALE   CHESHIRE

   CHESHIRE}MONUMENT TO WILLIAM HARRISON
2nd July, 1881. -The monument over the grave in the churchyard was unveiled about 3 o clock. A large number of ringers and others met in the Market Place and walked in procession round the village to the church for a short service at which Rt. Rev. Bishop Kelly, Archdeacon of Macclestield, gave the address. The collection came to $£ 6$ and this, with the money in hand, covered the cost of the monument-about $£ 40$. Then the assembly gathered round the monument. Jasper Snowdon addressed those present, alsuded to William Harrison both as a practical ringer and a composer, and then unveiled the monument. Tea in the National School.

BRADNINCH., DEVON

25th June, 1881.-6 bells reopened after rehanging and refitting by Hooper and Stokes, of Woodbury. Eight six-scores of Grandsile Doubles were rung by ringers from St . Sidwell's, Exeter ... The Parish Round-ringers also rang their peals of ups and downs.
REDENHALL, NORFOLK BELL-FOUNDRY
A local newspaper ' The Diss Express,' reparts that, during July, 1881, they visited this foundry, run by Moore, Folmes and Mackenzie, and saw a ring of 3 bells cast for Westmeston. Sussex, for chiming only. The old 3 bells had been found to be cracked and ot inferior casting and design. New metal had been added and some of the old had to be purified before re-use. As the bells are only to be used for chiming, they are provided with ordinary clappers and not with the ingenious clapper patentcd by the firm, which has been so successfully applied at Weybread (Suffolk), Blotield (Norfolk), Southwold (Suffolk) and Tunstead (Norfolk) and the great tenor bell at the University Church. Cambridge.

EDDYSIONE LIGHTHOUSE.
23rd July. 1881.-The new Eddystone Lighthouse is to be provided with two big bells and Trinity House has commissioned Messrs. Gillett and Bland to cast them. Their dimensions are-height from shoulder to tip 3 ft . 8 ins.; total height from tip to upper surface of the mushroom suspender 4 ft . 6 ins.: diamerer at shoulder, 2 ft . 10 ins.; diameter at lip 5 ft . $1+$ ins. In the foundry at Croydon on 12th July. 1881. a large number of visitors witnessed one of the bells, already cast, undergoing the process of bright turning of the upper part. Presently it will be turned bright along a portion of the lower part for the sake of ornamentation. When this has been done, the bell will be up-ended and tuned to a perfect note . each bell weighing about 42 cwt. answering to the note of $\bar{C}$.'

ST. CLEMENT DANES', LONDON
14th July. 1881. -The parochial ringers of the church had a meeting with friends of the parish. Mr. Ex-Churchwarden Worpell invited them 10 supper and though he could not attend himself several gentlemen of the parish did so. Mr. Bankes, one of the ringers, with his 3 talented daughters, entertained the company with a selection of handbell music on their fine ring of 40 bells

ALMONDSBURY, GLOS
2nd July, 1881.-St. Stephen's, Bristol, ringers had their annual meeting at Almondsbury where the 8 bells had just been rehung, and the cracked 6th recast by Llewellin and James, Bristol. The 6 th weighs 14 cwt , and the tenor 25 cwt.

GREAT BROMLEY, ESSEX

ST. JOHNS, FORD END, ESSEX
14th July, 1881.-Bells recently augmented from 3 to ' 5 by adding 2 tenors: opened by band of the Essex Assosiation. Tenor 5 cwt. Bells all by Warners.

ST. MARY-LE-BOW, CHEAPSIDE

30th July, 1881.-Announcement that two rebles have been ordered of Mears and Stainbank. 12th Nov., 1881.-The two trebles added, making 12. Weight 8 cwt . 21 lbs , angd 8 cwt . ar. 16 lbs.

ST. MARTIN'S. SALISBURY

30th July, 1881 --Six bells lately rehung by Messrs. Jerram and Blackbourn, of Spalding. The tone now comes out more clear and distinct. One bell was cast 1582 and three in the following century at Salisbury.

Si. NICHOLAS. NEAR CARDIFF

5th August, 1881. - Cardiff ringers opened the bells which have just been rehung and two trebles added by Llewellin and James, Bristol.

ST. MICHAEL'S, CORNHILL, LONDON

7th May. 1881.-Twelve College Youths attempted 10,000 Stedman Cinques but, owing to a slight accident to the tenor ringer, they only rang for about 3 hours. Another attemps to be made in the autumn or winter, when the weather is more surted for a long peal.
ST. MICHAEL'S, HUGHENDEN, BUCKS.
27th August, 1881.-An important advance has lately been made in connection with the works of improvement at this church in memory of the late Earl of Beaconsfield, two new bells having been added, making 8. The new bells formed part of the original intention of the promoters of the memorral, but when coniributions were invited, Mr. Robert Warner of John Warner and Sons offered to carry out the portion of the design at his own cost. The 2 bells have arrived and are now being placed in position. They weigh about 12 cwi . each is inscribed, In Memory of Earl Beaconstield. Presented by Robert Warner, Esq. Bell-founder to Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

Two of the former 6 bells are very ancient dating, as is supposed, from the reign of Eduard III, two more were cast in 1663 and the other two 1875.

BELL LITERATURE

In 'Church Bells' of 3rd September, 1881. and 4 subsequent issues of the same volume (XI), \{tiot concluded at the end of the volume and therefore I have not a complete list), Rev. H. T. Ellacombe gives a list of books on bells. There are 115 foreign books named. and this list is, apparently, complete. Then 53 English are named. This, unfortunately, is where the list ends in this volume. Presumably it is contInued in Vol. XII, but I have not that to refer to
The earliest English book I see is 'Orders of the Company of Ringers in Cheapside, MS CXIX in All Souls ${ }^{\text {© }}$ Library, Oxon, dated CXI

The earliest foreign book shown is Rhodiginus (Lud Coel) Lectionum Antiquarum Libri fol. Venet. 1416

In No. 147 of the list, the founding of Dells is minutely described and the author is supposed to have written about the year 1200. No. 74: Montferrand (A.R.) Description de le Grande Cloche de Moscou, folio. Paris, 1840. Showing the mode by which the bell was removed from the pit in which it was cast in 1773 and placed on the stone pedestal on which it now (1826) rests in Moscow.

ST. PETER'S, JARROW-ON-TYNE, DURHAM
30th August. 1881.-A new ring of 6 by Warner opened. Tenor 8 cwt . in $\mathbf{B}$ flat.

Later, a correspondent. G. J. Clarkson, asks it the church belongs to the Church of England as in that case other Church of England companies in the district would like to know why they were not invited.
ALL SAINTS', NAFFERTON YORKS. 24th September, 1881.-Up to 30 years ago this church had 3 bells and about that time the tenor cracked. A recent gift of $£ 100$ has enabled a new tenor to be provided, the others quarter-turned and work done to the frame and flooring. The tenor is about 15 cwt . and its note $F$ sharp.

SURPRISE ROYAL COMPOSITIONS

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD'S STRIKING  COMPETITION

The Guild's fourth Siriking Competition was held on October 31st at St. Michael's. Southampton Seven teams took part, viz.: Fareham (Triples), Liss, Winchester Cachedral, Eling. Warnford and Ringwood (all Doubles), and Fordingbridge (call changes on six).
Mr. Tom Francis was the judge and Mr John Hartless acted as belfry marshal. Mr. Francis, unfortunately, had to leave before tea but before he left he congratulated the ringers on some very excellent ringing and handed his findings to Canon Felstead, Master of the Guild Ringwood were successful in winning the Alliston Cup at first attempt and Liss, the holders. were runners up. The cup was presented by Mr. A. W. Alliston, the donor, to Mr. W. E. Cheater, who was congratulated on the very fine performance of his young team.

Mr. Roger Savory, hon. general secretary, said that he was not surprised at the Ringwood ringers winning the competition, for only on the previous Wednesday he had heard best part of an excellent peal of Grandsire Triples at Ringwood which was conducted by one of the junjor members of the team. He felt that they all would wish to add their congratulations to Mr. Cheater, not only upon his team's success that day, but also upon the excellent general progress being made at Ringwood.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Striking Competition Committee. the ladies for arranging the tea, and to Canon K. W. H. Felstead for all his work and for the use of the bells.

The quotation given in the footnote to the peal at St . George's Colegate, Norwich, rung on Guy Fawkes Night of 'the happy deliverance . . . . from the most traiterous and bloody-intended massacre by gunpowder' is taken from the heading to the Form of Prayer with Thanksgiving, formerly appointed to be said annually on November 5th. but now no longer to be found in the Prayer Book. The quaint spelling 'traiterous ' appeared in the old Prayer Book, writes David Cubitt.

Tha well-known Rotherham ringer, Mr. Stuart Armeson, has now ' circled the tower ' to peals.

Melbourne ringers have from the beams of the old St. Paul's Cathedral frame made some very fine bookends, shaped like a bell and have sold them to swell the coffers of the Restoration Appeal.
Ex-Sgt. C. Willmington, of the Metropolitan Police, is the new president of the National Guild of Police Ringers, taking office in the New Year. His address is 79, Wallwood Road, Leytonstone.
From this week's Australian mail we learn that a number of ringers from Adelaide and Sydney are planning to join coileagues at St . Paul's, Melbouine. on November 21st in an attempt to christen the refurbished bells there with a peal of Grandsire Caters.
Mr. J. Fondo, writing from P.O. Box 4. Kilifi, Kenya, says that he and his ringers recently had the pleasure of John and Blanche Hunt's company, on their way home to England from Mauritius, Any instruction or even a temporary visit from an experienced ringer would be more than welcome.

The many friends of Mr . W. B. Kynaston, of Swindon, will regret to hear that he has had to enter the Savernake Hospital, Marlborough, for an internal operation. He is making a good recovery but it will be some weeks before he is able to take his place again in the tower.

Two Sydney Australian ringers, the Misses Wendy Nichols and Audrey Peters, are going to Canada on January 2nd and plan to make Vancouver their headquarters.

The peal at Castle Eaton, Wilts, on page 736 was rung for the Gloucester and Bristol Association and not the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, as printed
To commemorate the opening of Christ Church. Canterbury, on Oct. 28th, the College Bellringing Society rang both before and after the thanksgiving service in the Cathedral.
Sandra M. Pitman, age 12, conducted her first at Canford Magna, Dorset, on November 1st. Congratulations. Few girls have started carlier.

Expressing his apologies, Mr. R. W. Pipe informs us that the ringer of the tenor at Netherton, Worcs, on October 16th was J. Alan Ainsworth and not Clifford A. Barron, as published.

An interesting Hawkhurst and district peal was at Sandhurst on October 31st which was the first since the rededication of the bells by the Archbishop of Canterbury. Mr. L. W. Jarvis last conducted a peal in 1936 and this was Mr. Herbert Pope's first peal since 1939.
Mr. George Waterman, vice-president of the Essex Association, participated in a peal at Harwich for his 79th birthday. He is remarkably fit and it is the hope of those who rang that they will assemble again next year to ring for his 80th

The in memoriam peal to Mr. Leonard P. Fidler, former captain St. Mary's. Hitchin, rung at Loughborough Borough, was in his favourite method, Double Norwich C.B. Major. It was under Mr. Fidler's captaincy that the conductor learned to ring and many excellent quarters in Double Norwich were rung at Hitchin.

HERTS RINGING CAR RALLY

The car owning fraternity of the St. Albans District are for the second year running indebted to Amy Coburn and John Cull for organising a superb car rally. Nomansland, the traditional starting place of such ventures, was bitterly cold on the afternoon of October 241h when 14 cars with 36 occupants assembled to try their skill.

We followed the advice of Horace Greeley though we had no compass until our journey's end. Those who knew their history were at an advantage: who was president in 1935, of the Hertford County Association they meant, but we didn't know that: who opened the MI and when (it wasn't Marples and it was longer ago than you might think): when did Stedman write 'Tintinnalogia' (we didn't really need to know this but it helped to tell us which houses we were looking for at Flamstead). There used to be plenty of water at Friars Wash but now they must stay black (vaque connection with Blackfriars Bridge) for Luton has pumped away our water.

We had to he good at spelling to find the sign-post errors. Mr. Bunn was not the baker but the cucumber grower. The worst clue of all. which only the winner answered (I think) said "The piper plays the tune, but "you" may be in the hand. How many? Most people put • 3 as we were oy a three bell tower. There were twelve yews in the churchyard. Errgh! A chicken farm was most unappropriately called Shangrila.

A good tea was provided by the Axe and Compasses at Edlesborough despite the fact that they thought that we were coming on Sunday. After tea John gave his comments and read out the results in reverse order-very tantalising. Fourth. Reg. Darvill: third. John Ewer: second, Jonathan Chamberlain. and first Geoff Dodds. Three mystery towers were visited to round off the day for the more energetic and some very good ringing at all levels up 10 but not quite including. Soliced Surprise was enjoyed. The towers were Edleshorough, Eaton Bray and Totternhoe: many thanks to those who met us.
Finally a very big 'thank vou' must be put on recc-s to the organisers, who this year included Peter Coles. but most espeeially to John and Amy for their hard work in advance of the day.

FILLING THE GAP IN RINGING LITERATURE

THERE is a shortage of books on bells and the history and art of bellringing. True, the county series continue to expand through the labours of Mr. Frederick Sharpe and Mr. Ranald Clouston, but these works are more confined to the bells, their inscriptions, weight and date, and do not cover the extensive field embraced by the words, 'The Exercise.' The late Ernest Morris made a useful contribution towards this end with his works, but they are out of print, and also such works as those by J. A. Trollope, particularly 'The College Youths.'

The gap has now been filled by Edgar C. Shepherd, one of the most versatile ringer-writers in the Exercise, in 'The Sound of Bells ' ( 25 s . net. Record Books Ltd.). The book makes a dual appeal - to the 40.000 ringers who might be regarded as within the fold, and secondly to the non-ringers who derive pleasure in bellringing and like to read about and hear bells. The unique feature of this book is that included with it is a double-sided microgroove record giving the music of some of the famous towers.

Among the public at large there is extreme vagueness about a bell and change ringing and only this week our attention was called to an expert in the field of vibrations who did not realise that a bell mounted on a wheel revolved 360 degrees. In non-technical language a bell is explained and a clear exposition given of the skill of the founder from the monks and itinerant bell-founders to the two great firms-Messrs. John Taylor and Co. and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank - who uphold the prestige of the craft today.
While Mr. Shepherd devotes a chapter to the principles of change ringing, the book does not extend over the border to become a text book, although the author has to his credit noted treatises on Grandsire Caters and Double Norwich. Indeed, it is just sufficient to give an indication of Plain Hunt and the ever-expanding number of changes as the number of bells employed increases. A more interesting side is, however, developed by tracing the historical progress of change ringing from Stow's reference in his Survey of London. And this growth has a fascination to all followers of the art. There was 'Tintinnalogia' the first text book, a joint effort by Richard Duckworth and Fabian Stedman in 1660, which gave to the world 'Grandsire,' described as 'the best and most ingenious peal that was ever composed,' a phrase surely treasured by the Rabbits' Guild in this era of 'Spliced Surprise' ringing!
Ten years later Stedman published 'Campanologia' which showed a remarkable advance-including the introduction of the Stedman principle which has no hunt bell. It was not until 1715 that the first peal was rung, a method we now call Plain Bob Triples, composed by John Garthon, but then given the name of Grandsir Bob Triples. The story of the Norwich Scholars' achievement is told on a tablet in the ringing chamber of St. Peter Mancroft : 'The most incomparable peal' and of the performance 'not one bell misplac'd or out of course.'

Expansion was rapid. Grandsire Triples came in 1718, at Norwich, but Grandsire Caters had been rung a year before at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, with the first peal of Major the following year. The latter was by the Union Scholars, and was called 'Union Bob.' The figures, Mr. Shepherd points out, show the peal to have been Oxford Treble Bob. It was not until 1725 that the College Youths scored their first peal-Grandsire Cinques at St. Bride's. With Annable as a leader, the College Youths produced the first peals of Bob Major, Bob Royal and Bob Maximus. From Norwich in 1740 came the first peal of Stedman Triples, born amid intensive rivalry between the St. Michael's, Coslany, band and those of St. Peter Mancroft. Fisticuffs took place during the time of ringing and, says 'The Norwich Daily Press' of that day, the offenders were 'sent home to their shame with bloody noses.'
Naturally, with his extensive knowledge of Birmingham ringing, the author brings into the picture the achievements at St. Martin's and the great contributions of Isaac Lates and Thomas Thurstans, whose famous four-part of Stedman Triples was first conducted by Henry Johnson. It was not until 40 years later that Sir Arthur Heywood gave the complete exposition of Stedman Triples.

How ringers will revel in reading the story of achievement, the long lengths and the rivalry, the genius of Washbrook, the domination for nearly 40 years of William Pye, of G. N. Price who rang Exeter Cathedral tenor singlehanded to a peal of Stedman Caters, and being introduced to those who contributed so much to method construction, like the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, W. H. Thompson, Henry Hattersley. John Carter, the Rev. E. Bankes James, Gabriel Lindoff and George Baker.
The contribution of the Central Council founded by Sir Arthur Heywood receives recognition and also the part played by the ringers' own journal founded by the late Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and now the property of the Council. But after tabulating the wealth of record performances spread over more than two centuries the author sagely observes: "The future of the Exercise and the survival of change ringing will rest, not on the great ringing performances of today, but on the enthusiasm of the missioners and the skill and devotion of the instructors.' The

Strong Lecture Team at Grantley Hall Course

G
RANTLEY HALL courses continue to meet the needs of a number of ringers and fifth to be held at Grantley, is some indication of the increasing popularity of the course. Those present were: Messrs. J. M. Chaddock (Rotherham), C. J. Groome (Huntingdon), J. K. Herdson (Harrogate), E. Hotine (Grimsby) C. P. Moxom ind N. F. Moxom (Barnsley), T. Turbott (Skelmanthorpe), G. A. Town
(Halifax), C. Finlay (Bradford), B. Greasley, J. Greasley and J. D. Ree (Derby), ©. T. Jones (Wakefield), A. C. Banten (Tadcaster), I. G. Campbell, K. Goldthorpe and D. Johnson (Kirk Ella), A. R. Douglas (Rotherham), C. M. Mouley (Harrogatel P. Mohew and D. Sanderson (Herts) and E. Hudser (Ripon), ham), S. Crossley (Wath-on-Dearne), N. J. Nissly (Pennsylvania), E. Peace and S. Peace (Kirkburton). L. M. Riley (Northowram). S. E. Thompsion (Huntington) and N. Golden (Norwich).

Miss Nissly is a captain in the U.S.A. Air Force and is making excellent progress in and deriving much delight from our traditiona! English att.

The course began on Friday evening with Fred Sharpe giving his well-known lecture on - Bells-History, Casting and Tuning.' With his travelling disolay of handbells, tuning forks, slides and photographs Fred is the compizte and ever welcome lecturer.

Students were offered choices of talks on Saturday morning. For the first session the choice lay between 'Stedman, a study of the method,' by Norman Chaddock, the capabie and versatile leader of the course, and "A study of some methods worth ringing by Nolan Golden, who was paying his first visit to Grantley. This lecture inspired the writer of this account to attempt to summarise his main noints in the verses below. After the coffee break Norman continued his theme with a talk on conducting Stedman Triples whilst Fred Sharpe gave excellent advice on the maintenance of bells and their fittings.
In the afternoon some of the party rang new methods successfully on the six at Kirkby Malzeard whilst others attempted touches of Stedman Triples at Sharow with unison conducting. The ringing at Sharow was rounded off with a good course of Cambridge Major.

After tea all were delighted by Norman Chaddock's lively and well iHustrated th'k on his experiences during the Washington tour. Dinner over, an hour was spent ringing on the ten bells at Ripon Cathedral, when all were given an opportunity of sampling this fine ring. Handbell ringing and discussion of ringing topics, grave and gay, continued until a late hour. Students on a parallel course on photography displayed considerable interest in and made pictorial records of our activities.
A short service which included some good handbell ringing on the heavier of Fred Sharpe's collection of handbells was held in the entrance hall after breakfast on Sunday. Again a choice of lectures was forthcoming:
Tune Ringing by Fred Sharpe or Conducting by Norman Chaddock, and later an all too brief talk by Nolan on composing methods and peals, During the afternoon the versatike Nolan delighted us with excerpts from his private, anthology of "The Bell in Prose and Verse.

In the final discussion before tea thanks were expressed to all who had made the course so happy and successful and, with admirable foresight, plans for the next course were discussed.

If you enjoy good food, good weather, yood company and good scenery, join us at Grantley Hall next time.

THE MERITS OF METHODS

We Grantley students would support
Nokan in praising Double Court,
It gives delightful music when li's rung on six or eight or ten
And Nolan is the proper person
'To eulogise the Norwich version. Original should interest alt
But it is somewhat hard to call.
Stedman's appeal will never die,
We all know where its merits lie.
A principle to this akin
And well worth ringing is Erin.
Yorkshire six-bell ringers skilful
In choosing methods are most wilful.
Dover Delight should meet their needs
When rung with closed or open leads. Untuneful cadences arise
In Major methods called Surprise.
We northern ringers much prefer
To ring melodious Yorkshire.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

 Biggleswade DistrictThe November meeting of the Biggleswade District was leld at Sotfold on November 14th, ringing being under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. D. R. Saunderson.

After a short service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. H. Bullock) at which Mr. P. Rogers played the organ, the 17 riagers present adjourned to the local school for lea. At the business meeting a new member from Campton was elected and it was decided to hold the annual District meeting at Biggleswade on January 9th.
With the arrival of more ringers during the evening many methods were rung including rounds for learners and the special method, Evening Star Delight. The bells were finally rung down just before 9 p.m. after a fairly buccessful meeting.
Next meeting: Northill, December 12th.

NATIONAL POLICE GUILD IN LONDON

The annual general meeting of the National Police Guild took place in London on September 26th. Ringing started at St. Giles-in-the-Fields at $11.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and continued until it was time for parabers and friends to adjourn to the Euston Tavern, where an excellent luncheon was enioyed by 52 members and their guests.

Before lunch. Mr. T. Butler, the president, called attention to the passing of ex-Sgt, E. C. Turner, of Leicester, and ex-P.C. Burley Walshaw, of Manchester. The company observed a short silence as a mark of respect.

There were 31 members present at the meeting which followed. Ex-Sgt. C. Willmington (Metropolitan) was elected president to succeed ex-Insp. T. Butler (Liverpooh) in the New Year. Mr. Willmington thanked the members and paid a tribute to the retiring president. In his reply Mr. Butler said that he hoped to close his term as president with a successful peal attempt. The committee was re-elected en bloc with Mr. Butler replacing Mr. Willmington, ex-P.C. Knight replacing ex-P.C. Woods (why did not wish to stand) and Insp. J. Pryor filling the place made vacant by the death of ex-Sgt. Turner. Twenty-one new members were elected and this was commented on by the president as being a good omen for the future. These new members brought the strength of the Guikd up to a very healihy level.
It was reported that a life member, ex-P.C. Joe Wilson (Manchester) has just celebrated his golden wedding, and the meeting asked the secretary to convey the congratulations of the Guild to him and his wife. The meeting decided that next year's venue be at Hereford on Saturday, September 25th.

Ringing took place during the afternoon and early evening at the following towers: St Clement Danes': St. Andrew's, Holborn: St Vedast, Foster Lane: St. Giles, Cripplegate : St. Lawrence Jewry: St. Mary-le-Bow: and St Michael's, Cornhill. Thanks were accorded to Mr. Jack Phillips, as without his help this extensive programme could not have been carried out. The day was completed by a "get-together' after ringing at the Euston vided in addition to the more stimulating matter which was consumed.

This was one of the most enjoyable meetings in recent years, and to all who helped to make it a success we send our thanks.

REDEDICATION AT PLUCKLEY

The recently restored ring of six bells (tenor 16 cwt.) of St. Nicholas', Pluckley, near Ashford. Kent. were rededicated by the Right Rev Dr. Alfred Rose (retired Bishop of Dover) on November 12th in the presence of a large congregation. The service was conducted by the Rector. the Rev. J. L. Pittock, assisted by the Rev. P. T. Robbins (District Representative to the Association and Vicar of Charing) and the address was given by the Bishod.

Ringing for the service was by local ringers. who have been learning under the direction of their cantain. Mr. G. Homewnod, and Mr. A. Waddington of Egerton. Afterwards ringers from the congregation had the onportunity of samnling the restored bells, and found that the 'go" is now excellent but the second bell sounds muffted.
Records show that there were 'five hells and a sacring hell in the steeple in 1553. and the tower has one of the oldest six bell rings in the district, but it has always had the rodutation of being difficult: There has never heen a peal on the hells (which makes them almost unique for ringable towers in Kent), and only one quarter neal has heen known.

The charmine little village of Pluckley, with its heautiful 14th century church atop a ridge where the winding road follows an ancient Saxon track is well off the beaten track. Now that the bells havo been rehung on ballhearings in a new frame, the tower strengthened and a new floor put in. it is hoped they will become better known, not only to the villaeers (who have worked hard to raise most of the $£ 3.500$ necessary to pay for the restora(ion), but to ringers throughout Kent.

Scholars Entertain at Stafford Archdeaconry Dinner

MEMBERS reserved the date of Saturday， November 7th last，for the Society＇s an－ nual dinner held at Cannock．Ringing was available during the afternoon at Bushbury， Shareshill and Cannock，prior to over 100 members and friends sitting down to an ex－ cellent meal．The chairman and president of the Society，the Ven．Basil Stratton，proposed the loyal toast．Mrs．L．Reid，M．B．E．，a well－ known public figure of Willenhall，then pro－ posed the toast of ．The Church and State．＂ stressing that the two could never be divided． The reply was given by the Rev．T．Villiers， of Shifnath in which he said the Church to－day was far from dead，as too many people seemed to think，but it needed re－forming as a united Church．in which bellringers could play an important part．
As an interlude the Penn handbell ringers， gave a demonstration of Caters，＇lapped．＇ Our chief guest，and a past president，the Bishop of Shrewsbury，proposed the toast of The Society，＇saying that he felt that this active ringing society could be held as an example to other less enthusiastic ringing areas．Mr．G．Askew，of Brewood，suitably replied．
Mrs．B．G．Key said it gave her great pleasure to prooose the toast of＇The Visitors，＇ among whom they had Mr．and Mrs．F．Ben－ nett（Claverley）．Mr．and Mrs．D．J．Tranter and Mr．and Mrs．P．J．Staniforth（Leicester Cathedral）．The Rev．V．J．Crane，curate of Penn．who replied，said he was learning how important the work of ringers was．
The evening＇s entertainment then proceeded with a most enjoyable recikal of music given by the Si．Lawrence＇s Junior School，Gnosall， team of handbell ringers，led by Mrs．B．G． Key．As well as handbells，items were ar－ ranged to include glockenspeils，a Victorian bebl－toy，and recorders．
Later Mr．P．J．Staniforth showed his most interesting and educational colour film taken during his recent visit to Washington Cathedral．
The thanks of the Society go to all who helped in any way to make this such an en－ joyable evening，especially to Mr．and Mrs． B．G．Key for alk their arrangements．

Letters to the Editor

Early Peals at King's Norton

Dear Sir,-Further to Mr. Bagworth's Jetter, I have records of the following peals at King's Norton-by-Gaulby, rung before 1881

May 28 th, 1776, 5,040 Grandsire Triples rung by the September 3rd, 1781, 5,040 Grandsire Caters rung by the Leicester Scholars in 3 hours 9 minutes.

June, 1816 , 5,040 Grandsire Triples rung by the Leicester Scholars in 3 hours 20 minutes.
The Nottingham Society is undoubtedly tbe same as the Society of Sherwood Youths, as also, no doubt, the Junior Nottingham Society, who sometimes called themselves the Hopeful Youths.

The record of the Grandsire Caters peal was found by the late Ernest Morris in one of the old Leicester papers, but the Leicester Schokars' books contain no reference to it. There is also a legend that the King's Norton treble went to St. Margaret's, Leicester. but this is almost certainly not correct.
At the other King's Norton, in Worcestershire, I have records of the following peals rung before 1881 by the Birmingham ringers:
December 7th, 1811, 5,040 Grandsire Triples by the St. Martin's Youths in 3 hours 3 minutes.

August 11 th, 1839, 5,040 Gandsire Triples by the St. Martin's Youths in 2 hours 58 minutes. October 24th, 1852, 5,040 Grandsire Triples by the St. Philip's Society in 2 hours 57 minutes.

November 28th, 1852, 5,088 Kent Treble Bob Major by the St. Philip's Society and St. Martin's Youths in 3 hours 9 minutes.-Yours sincerely,

Disguised Attack?

Dear Sir-One cannot help thinking that D.G.C. 's article 'Introvert or Extrovert,' is a hiased account of what should be an impartial rationale.

Men of action, he says, are impulsive, thickskinned, inconsiderate. loud-mouthed, frustrated, what-oh types whose passion for the hig time causes them to use people to suit their own ends. On the other hand he gives a glowing account of the men of thought (who park their cars correctly), the observers, the unobtrusive correctors who realise their knowledge on the subject is incomplete and are modest about their ringing.

This classification, it is submitted, is erroneous. To describe even the extreme introvert and extrovert ringer as such is nonsensical. There is a subtle difference between saying that a particular inconsiderate (etc.) tenorhell ringer is an extrovert and saying the man of action, the extrovert ringer, is an inconsiderate (etc.) tenor-bell ringer. Similarly a man of thought might be an introvert. but not all men of thought are introverts.
D.G.C. concludes that every single one of us is a mixture of the two types but few of us are $50-50$ which, in effect, is saying we are all very nearly one or the other. Most nsychologists accept this latter idea. We are fundamentally either extrovert or introvert.

A fortiori. the only conclusion to be drawn from the article is that there are basically two types of ringers: extrovert men of action, as portrayed thercin, who are seldom respected. and introvert men of thought, as portrayed therein. who will be universally respected. It is suggested that this is no more than a disguised attack on the talented and perhaps overenthusiastic. tower-grabbing. tenor-bell ringer from the viewpoint of the subdued introspectionist - Yours faithfully,

MICHAEL R. MEADOWS.

Sir Winston Churchill's Birthday

Dear Sir,-November 30th is the 90th birthday of the great war leader, Sir Winston Churchill. Last Thursday a letter appeared in - The Times ' requesting that where possible hells are rung in towns and villages to honour this almost unique event. The following day the 'Yorkshire Post' in an article commended the suggestion to all concerned.

I feel ringers should be acquainted with this, who have not already heard of it, as I think the idea is a good one and shows that the Church takes an interest in the affairs of State.

We are also hoping in our own lower to ring on the evening of Monday week.-Yours sincerely,

Elland, Yorks.

PAUL BIRKETT.
Note.-We have also received a letter from Mr. King, of Wentworth, York. commending the same suggestion. It was mentioned at the Central Council meeting at Truro that Sir Winston should be honoured hy the ringing of peals following his retirement from Parliament.

Christianity and Bellringing

Dear Sir,-With reference to the leading rticle and the letter of A . Betsworth in "The article and the letter of A. Betsworth in "The Ringing World' of October 23rd. 1964, I wouhd like to ask: How many ringers regard ringing as a form of worship? Surely the majority of ringers regard campanology as a hobby, just like philately or ornithology.

Granted it is a tradition for a church to have a tower in which there are bells but why follow the masses? Why not build churches without towers and build separate places-for bells to be hung? In my opinion Sunday service ringing is a tradition and people do it out of sheer habit. therefore it is not in any way connected with the Church and the worship of God.

I myself am a very keen ringer who travels around quite a lot, and from what l've seen and beard you couldn't call campanology a Christian movement. People are always falling out with each other and often refrain from turning up to ring for several weeks cin end. Many go into sechusion for as long as six months. You couldn't really associate this behaviour with Christianity, where one must love his neighbour.

From this stems my final question: Does: one necessarily have to be a Christian to be a campanologist? I very much doubt it. Yours sincerely, Atheist.

No Farce!

Dear Sir.-We must thank Mr. Poyner tor at last admitting that the method rung as Burslem Delight Major is not an extension of Burslem Delight Mir.or. Perhaps he will now agree to the Councib's request and change the name of the Major method.

There is no regular Minor method called Salisbury Surprise. Therefore the title Salisbury Surprise Major could have been used for any method. The same applies to Hatfield Surprise Major and Luton Surprisc Royal. Salisbury, Hatfield and Luton Surprise Minor do not have Plain Bob lead ends. Therefore the Methods Committee had no need to comment on the silly footnote to the peal of Salisbury. The Decision of the Council relating to method extension applies only 10 methods with Plain Bob lead ends.
If Mr. Poyner finds something wrong with the report on extension why did he not make an attempt to get an alteration to it when he was a member of he Council? He could easily have done his, every time that the Methods Committee presented its annual report. since nearly every year the question of extension is brought up.-Yours sincerely,

FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

A PEAL WEEK IN KENT (For Identities see page 565)

THIS peal week in Kent took place at the end of July and as the result of an advertisement in "The Ringing World the party assembled at Kemsing Youth Hostel for their second tour. The first ring was for Sunday service at Ightham, where some demonstrated how much their ringing had improved during the past year, and others how they hadn't. Seal was visited for evening ringing.
The 'fastest thing on two legs' exhibited how he thought bad-going tenors ought to be rung in a peal of seven Minor methods at Seal on Monday morning, in which he called most of the bobs! Our illegal youth hostellers did not arrive in time for the promised peals at Westerham. However, to satisfy the desires of the tower grabber, a atick ring was arranged at Limpsfield before the advertised time of arrival at Crookham Hill Y.H. Due to flies, the handbell peal planned for the evening was postponed.

Cambridge Major was attempted at Edenbridge on Tuesday. but after an hour and a half surprisingly good ringing, the tenor rope broke. Cowden hells proved uninspiring in the afternoon. 'Does anyone want to carry on ?. 'No.' A long leisurely ride was enioyed through newly afforested areas to Goudhurst Y.H. The fanatics attempted their usual handbell peal, but with the usual success.
At Brenchley, the Edenbridge Cambridge hand assembled and rang an "educational" peal on Wednesday. 'Well. it was a hot dav. an' somenne was burning grass outside an' ${ }^{\prime}$. The afternoon band set off for Shiphourne leavines the dipsomaniacs at Brenchley. still feeding the juke box. Both the tower bell attempt and the fanatics' handbell attempt were inst. During the night the phantom walker discovered that he could fly directly on to the bunk below.- Happy landing.'

A gond peal of Yorkshire Maior was rung and enioyed at Wrotham on the Thursday, Giles Thomoson ringing the tenor "like he was born under it. ' A peal was attemnted at Mereworth but. due to lack of strength, inspiratinn and the conductor thinking he had miscalled it. the attemnt was lost. A quick ring was arranged at Wateringbury en ronte for Dordington. The mammnth cycle ride tested allegiance even to breaking noint. The attemot 10 find an inn was again lacking in success, so the narty had to cortent themcelves reading Huxley and drinking orance iuice in the common room-' $O$, brave young world!
Succoss came to an attempt for 14 Minor methods at East Sutton on the Friday-the youneer and more agile-minded representatives of the hand rineing this At Leeds Trevnr Cross was a welcome additinn: hnwever the attemnt for Boh Roval finished just under half way. the seventh dodging home at a middle, and the back bells doing likewise ! A carnival evening was spent. it being the last oathering of the party before setting off for home.

Thanks go to our leader. Mister Thnmpson. for apain arrancing a not so lucrative neal four hut an tninyable rincing holidav. It is rimomed

OUTING

BARTON AND SILSOE HALF DAY

Barton and Silsoe ringers with friends had a very enjoyable half-day in Leicestershire. on Sept. 26th. Towers visited were Woodhouse Eaves. Cop: Oak. Whitwick. Oaks in Charnwood, Markfield and Anstey.
Highlights of the day were ringing after a wedding on the lovely mellow bells at Whitwick: the sumptuous tea prepared for us at Markfield, and the surprisiagly good ringing there after such a feast: and due to a mistake we had a considerable wait outside.
Our thanks are specially given to George Pickwell, who made all of the arrangements from his new home in Leicestershire. and to Peter, who arranged transport.

Old ring of 5 augmented to 8 by addition of new tenor ( $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and two trebles, to be opened 28 Sept. 1881. Bells by Warners. Mr. Mallaby, of Masham, put in a new frame and 'tuned and quartered' the old bells.
PROGRESS OF SCIENTIFIC RINGING IN CORNWALL
A band of 12 ringers are working assiduously at this delightful though difficult art. On 8 Sept. 1881 they rang a quarter peal $(1,260$ changes) of Grandsire Triples in 50 minutes at Penzance the only town in Cornwall which has advanced thus far... Although Cornwall has several fair rings of 8 in more-or-less bad order for scientific ringing, there is no ring of 10 on which those more advanced can practise. St. Andrew's, of Plymouth, has a grand ring of 10 which should have two trebles added to make 12 and then it would indeed be the ring par excellence of the 3 Western Counties. Ihe steeple of Calstock is the only one in Cornwall adorned with a board recording a peal of Grandsire Minor rung some 15 years ago.
PRESIDENT GARFIELD-ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL, ETC., MUFFLED RINGING 26 Sept. 1881 .--St. Paul's, by Ancient Society of College Youths, in memory of the late President Garfield. 'The open space in front of St. Paul's and the approaches thereto were thronged with a sympathetic crowd, who listened with mournful interest to the sound of the heavy muffled ringing of the 12 bells (tenor 62 cWt .) which reverberated through the air, and produced a feeling of deep sadness upon the vast assemblage.'
The same day, at Chester Cathedral there was a deeply muffled peal (both sides), then the curfew (muffled) was rung for 10 minutes after which they were unmuffled one side, then rung 40 minutes.
At Huntsham, Devon, they rang half-muffled and the changes were in whole-pulls.
At St. Peter's, Liverpool, they rang 5,093 Grandsire Caters, $3 \frac{1}{2}$ hours. Tenor 25 cwt ., for President Garfield, the bells being open apparintly.
GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL RINGING ASSOCIATION
12 Sept. 1881.-Meeting at Chippenham. The ringers would recommend the churchwardens, when they have new sopes, to procure the best make, and not allow their ringers to cut any part below the sallies off, or tie a knot in the end of the rope to hold by."

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION, MEETING AT BOLTON
29 Oct. 1881. - Rev. B. Winfield, B.A. (Manchester), said there was a proverb which ran 'A house-going parson makes a churchgoing people.' He would be inclined to change it and say * belfry-going parson makes a church-going ringer,'

Here, without doubt, is the perfect present for every true bell enthusiast. E. C. Shepherd, a well-known contributor to these pages, has at last written a book ranging over the whole field of bell-ringing. Quite apart from his expert knowledge this is no ordinary book. It is, in fact, a book which has added a further dimension to reading - the dimension of sound. Each book contains a high fidelity recording of peals from both famous cathedrals and humbler towers, including the famous first peal of Stedman

Caters rung at Washington Cathedral. In 108 knowledge-ably-written pages (including eight full-page illustrations) Mr. Shepherd covers the origins and evolution of bellringing, and also deals with hand-bell ringing and the art of the carilloneur. Here is a book no bell-lover can afford to miss. The cost is $25 /-$ (plus 1/- postage and packing). Please send cheque or p.o. with your order to

OBITUARY

MR, HERBERT C. EDWARDS AN APPRECIATION
With the untimely death on November 10 th, n Northampton General Hospital, of Mr . Herbert C. Edwards, the tower of St. Giles' Stony Stratford, has, lost a captain and friend of the highest order.

Bert, as he was known to one and all, started his ringing in 1908 at the nearby church of Calverton. He rang in many peals, some of them being landmarks in the history of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, of which he had been a member for 50 years.
His working life was spent as a body maker at the London North Western Railway maker at the Lolverton works. He excelled in wood carving, especially oak. A peal board he carved is in St. Giles' tower and is a fitting memorial to him. Another pastime was his allotment where he spent many happy hours growing his beloved chrysanthemums: his plot is now in gay profusion with the heads of the blooms seemly dropped in sorry.
We at St. Giles will miss for a long time his smiling face and happy disposition. We shall always remember nim, as indeed will all North Bucks members and many in other branches of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

MR. CLAYTON E. PARNELL
The Norwich Diocesan has lost one of its oldest members by the death, on November 2nd, of Mr Clayton E. Parnell, in his 90th year.

A native of Beccles, he rang there under the tuition of Mr. Geo. E. Symonds, who was also residing there at the beginning of the century, and he rarely missed ringing for services, or a practice, until he left the town about 1928 for a short stay at Fakenham.

After two years he returned to the Eastern District. residing at Gorleston. and was a regular attender both there and at Great Yarmouth before the war. until failing health stopped him climbing the stairs. A quiet, unassuming character, he was always willing to assist in training learners. He rang 35 peals for the Association.

MR. H. W. (HARRY) SHARP

The Ely Diocesan Association has lost its oldest member, by the death, at the age of 90 years. of Harry Sharp of Wilburton. Cambs. His death occurred on November 15th at the home of his daughter at Cottenham.

He was probably the last surviving foundation member of the Ely Association, and rang fifteen peals for it. Last July he took part in a quarter peal attempt on his 90th birthday. Until the death of his wife, and his removal from Wilburton. he was a regular member of the local band.
His funeral took place at St. Peter's Church, Wilburton. on November 17 th. The Ely Diocesan Association was represented by Mr. C. W. Cook and his fellow ringers from Wilburton, who rang the bells he had loved as the cortege left the church. A peal of Rutland Surprise Major was rung at Burwell on November 18 th . by members of the Association to his memory.
C.W.C.

MR. HARRY WYRE

Mr. Harry Wyre, of Cradley, Worcestershire, uho died at his home on November 4th at the age of 72. had been a regular ringer at Cradley for 54 years, and was held in high esteem by the members of St. Peter's band of change ringers.
A man of varied interests, he was closely associated with the Sunday School in earlier days, he had a long association with the Boy Scout movement and received a distinction from Lord Baden-Powell for his services. For very many years he served in the Special Constabulary, rising to the rank of inspector.

The funeral service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev, H. L. Davies. As the cortege left for the burial in the family grave the bells were rung by the members of the local band, assisted by members of the Worcestershire Association and Dudley Guild of Change Ringers.
H.J.S.

CANON CLEMENT LEEPER

With regret, we announce the death of Canon Clement Leeper, Chancellor of Southwell Minster, which took place at Nottingham General Hospital, on Nov. 12th. He was 82 years of age.
An honorary vice-president of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, he was tremendously keen on ringing, although he was never a change ringer. Since his retirement in 1952. he had hein a regular Sunday service ringer at the Minster. and it was mainly due to his articles in the press that Southwell Minster had its ring of 12 in 1961
A tireless worker for youth, Canon Leeper ran two youth clubs and two football teams and delighted in bringing his club members up the tower on practice nights, as a consequence of his recruiting efforts, Southwell had one of the youngest call change bands in the county.
It was fitting that at his funeral on Nov. 14th there were 70 young people under the age of 18 at the service, and six of the ringers came from his youth clubs. A halfmuffted quarter peal was rung in the evening, and one of his young people rang the tenor to his first quarter peal. We shall all miss him: he was truly a Christian gentleman.

MR. L. J. WILLIAMS

With regret we announce the death of Mr. Laurence J. Williams, aged 73, who had completed 50 years' service ringing at Church Kirk, Lancashire. He died at his home on November 18th after a long illness.
The funcral service took place at Church Kirk last Saturday.

ANOTHER BORDER INCIDENT

What would. in diplomaitc circles, be described as a threat to world peace occurred on October 17th, when a strong raiding force from the Bedford area penetrated several miles into the south-east corner of Northamptonshire. The invaders are reported to have been led by Stephen of Houghton (no doubt looking for naoher conquest!) and supported by De Jongh (pronounced Dee-Jon) of Bristol. Alf of Luton and practically the whole of Masiken!
The success of the entire enterprise was largely due to the fifth column work of Arthur of Rushden who joined up with the main attacking force at the village of Tichmarsh. The invaders set up temporary headquarters at the parish church, where, after securing the doors to prevent interruption, they pulled furiously on the bell ropes and rang some 5,000 variations on a theme by Ivin.

After this performance the hostile band made a determined attack on the peaceful town of Raunds, where again the church seemed ta be their main objective, Here, Arthur left the party, in favour of an evening at a square table! The arrival of Robert of Bedford, how. ever, restored the force to its original strength, and the bells soon announced that the spirits of the band were good.

The number of variations rung however. were much fewer than at Tichmarsh, though William of Raunds had the unique experience. as he thought, of seeing eight bells struck to a course of London Major by seven' ringers and seven ropes!

The explanation was that Stephen, considering the 'draught , a little too long, had ascended the tower to a point a few feet below the bells, where, ringing with the bare rope, be kept in place. though the other seven ringers, two floors below. were neither audible nor visible! This performance brought forth loud cheering.
Satished with their day's work, the invaders withdrew to the neighbourhood of Bedford as rapidly as they had come, no doubt to plan further depredations, but where will the next attack fall? Peace lovers, look to your independent deterrents

PROVIDING BELLS FOR A WEDDING

THOSE who record bells will find the experiment of Mr. R. G. West, a radio and television engineer of North Lopham, of interest. According to "The Diss Express" he was asked to reproduce bells ringing for a wedding at Wortham Church, Suffolk.
He obtained a record of the eight vells at Thatcham, Berks. After playing the record through on to a tape recorder he realised his problems were only just beginning. 'I had to get the record on the tape leaving off the start and finish to make it synchronise.

To overcome this difficulty he rigged up twin turn-tables with intermediate switching and a mirrored lens on a tripod through which he could see the grooves on the record To make two touches of $12 \frac{t}{t}$ minutes' duration, with a short break in the middle and a three-misute toll at the end. Mr. West had to play the record through several times, carefully taking it off at a point before the end and restarting it in exactly the same spot a few grooves in from the beginning. The recording took Mr. West five hours to perfect and he admits, several times i nearly gave But Mr. West's first disc " was immediately voted a 'hit' and now he receives ' bookings at other churches without beHs. If the bells at other churches without behs. If the bells free, but if they are for a wedding I make a charge to cover my costs,' he said.

TAUNTON SOCIAL

Over 100 ringers with their wives and. in some cases, ctildren, came to the Taunton Deapery Social, held in the Parish Hall, Wellington, on November 14th. It was a new venture, planned originally as a 'get-together, over a glass of beer and some bread and cheese. But suggestions had flowed in to the Committee, so that the Ringing Master, Mr. N. Maggs, after welcoming the company, started us off with a quiz- 3 a-side-Taunton v. Wellington. It must be said that general ringing knowledge was rather poor, and Mr. Maggs had his work cut out to get results. In the end Wellington won by one point.
We were greatly indebted to Mr. W. Coles who organised the showing of slides and the recording of part of the peal rung in the Cathedral at Washington, U.S.A. Mr. Coles gave the commentary, and the Rev. D. F. Morey, Vicar of St. Mary's, Taunton, the Branch Chairman, worked the projector. The slides were lovely, and the spontaneous enthusiasm of the listening crowd when the bells came at last into rounds made us gasp.

Mr. Frank Mack, of Exmouth, brought his ring of six bells, complete with frame, wheels and ropes. The bells were old horse bells, the rest he had made himself, even to the tiny sallies. At home he rings them over the examination pit in his garage, the ringers sitting on the edge. We tried to ring them sitting on chairs-I say 'tried' because even a wellknown ringer like Mr. H. V. Young was told -That is the way not to ring them.' It is said that a visiting band. good ringers too, took two hours to get a touch of 120 Grandsire Doubles. The ring was fascinating, and very much admired
The Association's Master, the Rev. H. F. Warren, came down from his Exmoor rectory, and the Rev. C. Marshall was welcomed from Long Sutton. Mr. A. H. Reed, the branch secretary, speke of ringing in the deanery half a century ago. with some interesting details from old records, and thanked everyone who had worked to make the evening a success.
Refreshments, bread and cheese. mince-pies and apples, were organised by the Wellingion ringers, and the Sampford Arundel band ran a small but well patronised bar. E.M.W.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The first peal has been rung at Morval, Cornwall.
The peal at Poynton, Cheshire, on November 14th, was the first by the Sunday service band since the bells were cast in 1887.
Five Cumberlands from Essex and another flive from Lincoln joined forces to enjoy a peal of London Surprise Royal at Bedford. on Sunday. November 15 th.
We note tho progress of Kenilworth Sunday service band who put on a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor for Sunday Evensong, on November 15th.
Wallasey, Cheshire, is proud of 14 -year-old Allison Smith, who, apart from a first with her first 720 , has another as the first-ever by a lady member of the tower to ring a quarter.
Whitchurch, near Tavistock, Devon, recently reported their first-ever quarter. Their second is to hand this week. Enthusiastic leadership soon produces results.
In the peal at Esher, rung for the Middlesex Association and reported on page 787, the ringer of the second was Miss Joan Spreadbury and mot John Spreadhury, as printed. Sorfy Joan!
Repairs have started on the bells of St. Mary's, Wroxham, Norfolk. They are to be quarter turned and rehung on ball bearings. It is hoped that the work will be finished by Christmas.
The Peterborough Guild, in their plans for the Central Council's meeting at Northampton next Whitsun, hope to encourage car drivers not to tag along behind the coaches by putting out an alternative programme.
Mr. Bill Stote, of Coventry, had car trouble when he attempted to go to Sapcote for a seven Minor methods attempt on November 2 nd. Fortunately Mr. B. L. Burrows was an efficient deputy and the peal was scored.
Few ringers can claim to have rung and conducted their first peal-but David Fenton of Bramley, Leeds, did this in 1955. Now nine years later he has rung his second-before taking up an appointment in Geneva.
The hand who rang the peal at Swinderby would like to thank Mrs. Drury for so kindly entertaining the band to supper, both on November 3rd, when they repaired four stays (all Hastings type), and following the peal a week later.
From Hobart. Tasmania, Mr. Gordon Robertson writes, telling of the warm invitation he and his wife have received from Mr. F. E. Collins. to join the band at Croydon Parish Church. They hope to be back in this country in the New Year.
A verv gond friend of Lincoln ringers is Canon V. I. Dalby, R.I., of St. Giles', Lincoln, and there was genuine regret at the news of his departure to St. Helen s, Boultham. A farewell peal of London Surprise Major was conducted by Mr. J. L. Millhouse.
The quarter peal at Okeford Fitzpaine. on November 14th. was a birthday compliment to H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, and to the conductor (Mr. W. C. Shute). It was preceded by the a snual committee meeting of the North Dorset Branch. S.D.G.R.. at which the Rev. R. N. and Mrs. Longridge kindly entertained the members to tea.

New Parish for Lincoln Ringer

The appointment is announced of the Rev. P. M. Freeman, M.A., Vicar of Messingham with East Butterwick, Scunthorpe, Lincs, to be Vicar of Goxhill, Barrow-on-Humber, Lincs. Mr . Freeman is the younger son of the late Mr. J. A. Freeman, Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, and Mrs. Freeman, and brother of Mr. John Freeman, the vice-president of the Central Council and honorary secretary of Lincoln Diocesan Guild. He is a practising ringer. All Saints', Goxhill, has a ring of six bells, the same as Messingham.

Failure Redeemed

Mr. Donald Clift, who lost a peal of Stedman Caters at Carbis Bay in August, returned there specially on November 14th, and was rewarded with a good peal. He has called two pea's of Stedman Caters in Cornwall within 13 months, the other being at Truro Cathedral in October of last year. Previously only two similar peals had been rung in the county, one conducted by the late J. S. Goldsmith on the occasion of the Central Council's visit to Plymosth, in 1932, and the other by the late Frank Bennett, in 1938. Both these peals were at Truro.

Waltham Abbey

Recent visitors to Waltham Abbey will have noticed the effect of the $£ 40,000$ restoration of the church. The final phase of this work was a rededication service, attended by Princess Margaret, when the Abbey bells were put to good use, with ringing on the 12 by the local band, both before and after the service. A peal of Stedman Caters was rung during the afternoon, after which the band was pleased to meet the composer of the peal, Mr. Charles W. Roberts.

The End of the Season

The last of the half-day excursions arranged by Mr. A. L. Bennett, for Devon Guild memhers, took place on November 11th, the party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Bould, Messrs. A. L. Bennett, K. E. Fursdon, H. F. Myers and R. A. Southwood. The first tower was Buckfast Abbey, where swo of the Community joined in the ringing. After a sumptuous tea at the Coffee House, Buckfastleigh, two six-bell towers-lisington and Lustleigh-were visited. Ringing was in the four standard methods. Thanks were subsequently accorded to the organiser.

Jack A Napes

To complete their collection of Doubles methods, Mr. G. Dodd and Mr. R. Jones require the figures of Jack A Napes or Jack on Both Sides Doubles. 'These names,' writes Mr. Dodd, of 7. The White City, Woolton Hill, nr. Newbury, ' frequently crop up by critics of method naming, but none of our informants has any information about them.'

Sussex U.G. Welcome The Queen

Members of the Sussex University Guild of Chango Ringers rang the bells of St. Poder's Church. Brighton, to wetcome H.M. the Queen as she passed by on the occasion of her visit to open the new library at the University on November 13th.

A Cenerous Cift

The Editor and the Editorial Committee desire to thank Messrs. John Taylor & Co. and Messrs. Mears & Stainbank for generously placing the space $_{e}$ occupied by their respective halfpage advertisements at the disposal of the paper and at the same time continuing their payments to 'The Ringing World.'
This substantial increase in reading space is much appreciated. 'The Ringing World ' Committee have expressed to the Editor a wish that Belfry Gossip should be extended to fill the whole page. To meet this request will necessitate many more contributions from representatives and readers. If all play their part, this page of items of interest about ringers, ringing and bells can be the most attractive feature of the journal.

Festival in Rhodesia

Writing from Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia. Mr. F. T. Blagrove informs us that the first week in November is observed as a Festival week at Salisbury Cathedral, and the bells were rung every day from 5 to $5.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Ringing was on the front six, except for November Sth. when rounds were rung on ten. This day, apart from being Guy Fawkes Day and Referendum Day, was the anniversary of the dedication of the bells. The week finished with the halfyearly meeting of the Mashonaland Diocesan Guild on the Sunday, when the first touch of Major was rung on the bells, first call changes on the ten and the first eight-bell quarter peal in Central Africa.

First of Minor in Seven Methods?

At Bramford, near Ipswich, where the tenor is to be recast and there is a talk of an augmentation to eight by the addition of two trebles. Mr. George E. Symonds informs us that a peal board in the ringing chamber records that on January 1st, 1817, a peal in seven methods (Grandsire Bob, Oxford Treble, New Treble. Double Bob, London Court, New London, and Cambridge Surprise) was rung. New Treble, explains Mr. Symonds, is Kent T.B., and he asks: 'Could any of our historians who dabble in the past say when the first peal of Minor was rung in seven methods?

Three Start Peals

Three young members of St. Mary's, Southampton, band have rung their first peals within a fortnight. On Oct. 31 st at Soberton, Karen Faithfull (12) and Colin J. Butler (14) scored their first, and now at North Stoneham on November 13th, Joy Butler (12) has joined them. The father of Joy and Colin. Mr. Maurice J. Butler, rang in both peals. Friday, the 13th, was certainly not an unlucky day for Joy.

Grandfather's Peal

Mr. John B. F. Clark, of Harrogate, is anxious for information concerning his grandfather, Mr. Thomas Clark, of Sharow, Ripon. He understands that his grandfather rang in a peal at Ripon Cathedral on August 25 th, 1886. which started at $5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The peal was to mark the millenary of Ripon Cathedral. Is there any documentary evidence of the peal?

Visitors Help Turramurra

Advantage was taken at Turramurra, New South Wales, of two visitors (Miss Suzette Wright and Mr. Tom Goodyer) to score a quarter peal on October 16th. The band needs outside stiffening for quarters as it is difficult to get younger ringers to progress beyond Plain Bob Doubles.

The Ringing Family

At a recent Old Whittington practice night with only ten members (reports:The Belfry News ") there were in the tower
Two fathers and daughters,
Two brothers and sisters,
One husband and wife,
One father and son,
Ond pair of brothers.
One pair of 'in laws.'

- Nepotism?' queries 'Tombstone.'

faithful conductor and instructor in the village tower is often playing a bigger part towards posterity than he imagines in change ringing.

Another interesting chapter is headed 'The Eye Witness.' This is a collection of dramatic stories of our art, stories that will be read and reread, like Washbrook conducting London Surprise at Merton College and ending with 'The greatest of all,' the account of the ringing of the extent of Major by the conductor, Robert B. Smith. This is a story that will live all the time change ringing remains and succeeding generations of ringers will digest it with youthful enthusiasm.

We have previously mentioned the record that accompanies this book. Its value is greatly enhanced by the background to the ringing-supplied by the author-and his comments on the standard and style achieved. The selection is wide: there are the famous Bow Bells (the old and the new 12) ; Stedman Triples from Westminster Abbey, Lavenham and Portsea; a bright light eight ringing Bob Major at St. Mary's. Hampton ; a sample of tens with Lichfield Cathedral and Washington Cathedral (the, bells were only opened last Ascension Day) and the 12's at St. Paul's, London, St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, and St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham. But the immaculate striking in the 'cartwheel' ringing at Friezland will hold all Minor ringers spellbound. It reached a great height and is rarely heard in other parts of the country. The record also gives a sample of handbell ringing by the American Guild of Handbell ringers (perhaps one day we shall have ar record of Mr. Frederick Sharpe's Launton ringers) and also of carillon playing at Loughborough by Mr. W. E. Jordan.

We feel that Mr. Shepherd has given to the Exercise a book that will be treasured and regarded as a 'masterpiece' in many ringing households. It is beautifully illustrated and a splendid example of modern typographical art.

MASHONALAND DIOCESAN GULLD

The half-yearly meeting of the Mashonaland Diocesan Guild of Bell Ringers was held in Salisbury, Rhodesia, on November 8th, from $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. until $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. To open the meeting ringers attended Matins in the Cathedral and lent strength to the singing. Rounds and call changes were rung afterwards until it was time to move over to the Ambassador Hotel, which provided an excellent 5 -course lunch for only 12 s .6 d . per head. Fines coHected over the last few months from ringers who have failed to stand their belts easily covered the tips!
Unfortunately the bells had to be silent from 2.30 because of a Shona Evensong. This cut short the beginners' practice, so handbells were rung instead, including 2 courses of Grandsire Caters, until the business meeting at 3 p.m. 17 members were present at the meeting, hut unluckily illness prevented anynne coming from Que Que, the other tower in Province. At the meeting plans for the future were discussed, including the formation of a Provincial instead of a Diocesan Guild, and the perennial question of finding new reFrank and Monica Blagrove were officially welcomed, and at a tower meeting. held immediately after the Guild one. Frank was welcomed again by heing elerted tower cantain. This is in blace of Colin Stevenson who will he away for 4 months over the Christmas lone vac. and felt that he could not usefully continue.
After some welcome tea, change ringing was resumed: the difference made bv the arrival of two experienced ringers ipcluding one experienced condurtor is shown hy the number of the ringing firsts on the bells dur ing the day. These included call ehanges on in and the first touch of Bob Major. neithes of which is easy to heas because the hum in the fower makes it difficult to hear the lighter hells from some parts of the belfry. A conrse of Double Cnurt was rung and hreak and one false start. a guarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung for Evensong: it was the first quarter on eight hells in the inwer. and the first nuarter on 8 for three of the incal ringers. This rounded off a hard hut satisfying day's work

SHOWING THE ROPES TO "MUM"

By EVELYN MASON

MY newest child was in the pram, the world's most beautiful babe (so claims every mother). She lay shadow boxing with her dear little dimpled arms and hands. A million miles from mind was any thought that one day those limbs might be my tutor! And a billion miles off was the idea that they would want to initiate me into a craft as strange as the one represented by the little noticed background sound of church bells regularly wafted bur way on Sundays.
That was nigh twenty years ago. Now, the infant who ' boxed ' to bells is 18 and a manipulator of the very instruments she heard from the pram. I replied to her sudden fireside suggestion that I, her not-so-young 'mum,' should try to ring. and we set out to where our parish church rose like a black iceberg from the pitch black sea of night. My apprehension equalled that prefacing a visit to the dentist and was deepened by the ominous and eerie quiet of our situation.
The belfry switch produced an instant oasis of light as welcome as a beacon in the nocturnal gloom. The bell ropes were draped away to the walls like strip curtaining-with one exception. A solitary length (depending from the 'seventh.' I was told) awaited me. All at once my uneasiness touched off a nightmare. The ringing room was an execution chamber, deadly silent and grim! A noose dangled ready for my throat, and my own child in hefitting black (her workaday clothes) stood behind it all set to be my hangman. Every ghost and demon that ever was laughed hollowly around me. 'Look at her, trying to ring! The silly "old" woman! Watch her go up with the rope! She'll strangle herself!'
The mood of the incubus changed. I was back in childhood. tugging hard and slanting-wise on the multi-coloured 'sally' of a swing-boat rope at the annual fun fair in my home town.
The 'gas' of imagining began to wear off. I came 'round' to hear my baby-turned-coach rap. 'Mum. this is serious! If you don't act properly you may get this rope about your neck, and perhaps not accidentally, either!'
Instructed. I grasped the end of the cordage with both hands (right atop of left), leaving a protruding tail-piece of a few inches which. I understood. was all that separated me from the loss of this 'halter" thing! There followed a grip of the sally (a lovely blue). and a long, strong, straight draw ending in an undignified bending of the knees ( 1 thought).

But my first thrill came with the lift of the backstroke (I was starting to cotton-on to terms!). Oh! that exhilarating and exercising pull on the torso! Here was something more flattening than a power-net foundation! I was sampling a new slimmer the corsetry of campanology for melting the middle-aged midriff! I felt tall and shapely as never quite before. Something in me responded with peculiar delight and satisfaction to the persuasive unseen bell above. 'Come on! Up! Up!' it seemed to lure. My arms reached to it with gladness and willingness. It was like a wooing. And I wanted to go with it!
I could see it was a potent courtship advisable in limited doses at first. The ardour and effort of giving myself to a bell for the first time left me hot, trembly, a little limp. excited, but also bewildered. Then (mind you), in this state of spent energy, my daughter-mentor rebuked her mater-pupil for too strenuously paving court to the new bell love !
By now, the floor was sprinkled with black, crawling, lilliputian bodies. My opening rounds of bell-fire had shot down the hibernating nccupants of the upper regions-the last. drowsy flies of summer. Our Gulliver-feet squashed them out of their pathetically slow struggle to escape.

Rather oddly, I found myself withdrawing from the belfry backwards, with a shaky feeling of reverence-cum-peaceful elation, as if I was retiring from some holy-of holies where I had met and given obeisance to a gentle yet powerful deity of metal, hid from view, but very present.
I brinked on falling in love with a new being before whom I must only stand in worship, whom I -must address with hands. arms and mind. and who answers this necessarily silent honour with a voice of tintinnabulation which for ages has drawn. fascinated, soothed. cheered, and held many disciples from many places and many callings. And the latter-day "missionary' of a once baby-in-a-pram could wir another convert. cven her mother.

ONE RINGER'S SUNDAY

T EERE was beginning to be a certain awareness. Something had been going on for a long time. Something awful. I tried very hard to sort it out. Was I a tortured soul in hell? Had it been an ignorant dream that at worst hell was the everlasting grave?

Oh! the agony of it. I thought I could see something. No. whatever it was it came right up to me and through. I could hear something ! Someone was saying. 'You must only stay a few minutes.' Ah. now I knew. I was coming round after an operation. A major operation following torturous weeks of complications and mental exhaustion.
My mother had died. swiftly followed by the death of my brother without even a farewell. Our 'strapping' twelve-year-old son had fallen victim to a rare and swift acting germ which called for drastic surgery and then a long. long wait to see if the miracle of everybody's prayers had saved him from being crippled.

And then my slim. little, well cared for body. which had climbed any belfry stairs and pulled any bell I happened to fancy. had become desperately afflicted with all sorts of trouble and that when the final blow came I had travelled so far along the road that I was prepared to leave it. putting my family into God's keeping. knowing I would never have to suffer pain again

Please. God. take that terrible weight off my hand.' And then I saw the face of my dear husband and his hand on mine The next instant it had gone. The agony was getting worse and I began wondering if anvthing really had been done for me. What looked like an angel was leaning over me and then I felt a merciful jab and the pain was bearable.

I tried to sort out what seemed to be a heavenly view from mv window. Hill after hill climbing to the sky and fine elegant spires pointing to the heavens. Or was I having hallucinations? And then I heard them. The bells. A gorgeous. melodious rumbling in the hills. and there was no mistaking that. It was an ordinary Sunday morning and the hells were ringing somewhere. It was all over and I was going to get hefter

There was a tap on the door and a sister of mercy came in with the most exquisite bouquet of flowers I have ever seen. tied with a massive bow of pink ribbon. I whispered. 'It is not mv birthdav.' 'No.' she said. 'but you have a daughter who is 24 years old today and it will be her way of saying "Thank you. mother."
During the next few weeks I had plenty of time in my solitude to think. and I wondered if this experience had been for just that I was a static Christian. not a progressive one. So many of us can easily find a good excuse for walking out of the church service after ringing: for not holding out a heloing hand to those in need. when the truth is in both cases we prefer to do somethine else. Manv of us answer the cries of the hungry of this world with erumbs and then snend 'real money on unnecessary

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Kent Branch practice meeting, held at Turistall on November 14th, was attended by 13 ladies, who were ably supported by some of the Rochester District male ringers, making approximately 30 in all. A short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. P. V. M Allen) and after tea Mrs. Mitchell held a brief meeting during which she told members of her visit to Macclesfield for the Guild A.G.M. and explained the change in the subscription rates whereby $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$, will now entitle is member to life membership. An appeal was also made for new members.
Apologies for absence were received from Mrs. Barnett, Mrs Dobbie and Miss Colegate. The ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

things whích give us pleasure, but alas, no spiritual happiness. How many of us, subconsciously perhaps, keed our lives cosily separated from the world of sick, suffering and lonely. We enjoy and admire the good souls among us. but we do not take a lesson fiom them or exude any goodness ourselves.
I thought of the example of those men who have devoted their lives to ease the suffering of women: of their fellow companions on call day and night to make sure of the safe delivery of difficult children.' some of them knowing they will never have a son or child of their own, yet harbouring no bitterness.
Sisters of mercy, who after acquiring high qualifications dedicate their lives to the sick regardless of their helief or disbelicf. and who spend half their lifetime in the cold dimness spend half their lifetime in the cold dimness of the night in a lonely vigil over the sick and helpless. And when they. have a minute to spare, day or night. they slip into the Holy Room and pray for their patients.
Yes. When 1 see these examples around me I reatise that my efforts to be a real Christian hase heen practically non-existent. I wonder If have heen given a second chance.

SOUTHWARK DIOCESAN  RINGERS' FESTIVAL

1URING the past year the bells of Southwark Cathedral have been rung Sunday by Sunday hy different bands from the churches within the Diocese. On November 22nd Diocesan Ringers' Festival was held at the Cathedral. The bells were available from 3 to 5 p.m.. and the continually crowded belfry must have given great pleasure to the organisers. At 5 p.m. about 100 ringers attended Evensong. The music was beautifully led by a cholr from a church in the Diocese. The lessons were read and the intercessions conducted by diocesan ringers-Messrs. J Euston. A. Winn and the Rev. A. Clayton. The Provost of Southwark preached a fine sermon.
After thr service tea was provided in the Chapter House. In a speech after tea Mr J. Fuston told how this festival had brought 1o fruition the hopes of many years. Not only his own hopes, hut also the hopes of some now dead. He reminded all of the importance of their art. 'Our bells reach many poople who can never be reached by a sermon in church.' he said.
The whole occasion was most memorable and enjoyable. It must surely have prompted many minds to think that there should be a Southwark Diocesan Guild of Ringers Perhaps then we might get a solution to the conflicting territorial claims in the Diocese of Southwark
The grateful thanks of all go 10 Mr . Aubrey Winn, Master of Snuthwark Cathedral, to the Succentor and the Provost for arranging such an enjoyable occasion. We look forward to next year's festival, which is to include the rededication of the Cathedral bells after rehanging.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Chertsey District

The nomination meeting of the Chertsey District at Chobham on November 21st was very well supported, more than 70 ringers turning up. Of these 36 notified for tea, but 62 came along! All were fed. Ringing, under the direction of Mr. F. E. Hawhorne, ransed from rounds through Spliced Triples to Cambridge. The Rev, O. R. Acworth corlducted the service, and Mr. Hugh Privett was at the organ.
Mr. A. D. Leach and Mr. R. Canorn inndicated that they would not he reeking reelection. Nominations were: District Master. Mr. F. E. Hawthorne: assistant. Mr. C. D. J. Wehb: District secretary. Mr. R Collins: auditor. Mr. D. G. Blows. Mr. Collins reminded the meeting that nominations may still be sent in by post.
Mr. J. F. M. Maybrey asked if the Guild Master would reconsider his decision not to tand next year in view of the fact that the Cathedral hells were to be installed. Mr. May said he could now be prepared to stand, as a number of peoole had asked him to do so. This was very well received by the meeting.
The Vicar in welcoming the Guild. said he hoded hefore they came again Chohham would have a more musical ring to offer. There was some dismay at the prospect of the Cathedral library being housed in the ringing chamber.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD STRIKING COMPETITION

MMBERS of the Oxford Diocesan Guild mlght have misunderstood me if I had headed this note " The Oxford Guild learns to strike. But all this summer the many strike.

But all this summer the many of this large Guild. embracing the Branches of this large Guild, embracing the counties of Oxfordshire. Berkshe competitions inghamshire, have held Branch competitions on various rings of six bells. On October 24 th the winning bands from eight of the Branches held semi-finals and finals to decide the destination of three beautifully illuminated certificates, designed and delineated by Mr. E. Gosling, of Maidenhead

Bands from Warborough. East Ilsley, East Hagbolurne and Adderbury competed at Cowley in the afternoon, with Mr. R. F. B. Speed as the adjudicator. At the same time teams from Hughenden, Hurst. Quainton and Eynsham were at Sunningwell, where the judge was Mr W. G. Wilson

With the results of the semi-finals still unknown all the teams, and other members went on to Radley for an excellent tea, or ganised by Miss Cross and her helpers. To ensure a full attendance, it was not until aftor tea that the judges were allowed to announce, with their comments, the names of the two teams from each semi-final to take part in the final. held in Radley tower after tea. The four chosen were East Hagbourne, East IIsley, Eynsham and Hughenden, who proceeded to demonstrate in no uncertain manner why they had got through so far. Messrt. Speed and Wilson combined to iudge the final and were agreed on the excellence of all four teams.
After comments and congratulations on the ringing by Mr. Wilson for the iudges, the result was declared as follows: 1 Hughenden. who rang Plain Bob Minor and had 17 faults: 2 East Ilsley, Grandsire Doubles, 21 faults: 3 Ey:2shain, Grandsire Doubles. 43 faults: and 4 East Hagbourne. Grandsire Doubles, 48 faults. Certificates were presented by the Guild Master, the Rev. C. E. Wigg, to the first three. Mr. F. Sharpe, Deputy Master, thanked all concerned in making the event such a success. Rumour has it that next year will he the turn of the cipht bell bands they will have to he very good indeed to surnass the standard set by the four finalists at Radley.

RINGERS' SUNDAY AT HIGHCLERE

FOR the third year in succession, Ringers Sunday was observed by the Highclere team of ringers on November 22nd. Ringing preceded the 8.30 Communion service. and there was also a full team present for $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Matins

The ringing of a peal in the afternoon is also in the annual programme. A good peal of Grandsire Triples was scored in 2 hours 50 minutes, the band including visitors from Thatcham. Bucklebury and Overton and the local company.
Several visiting ringers attended the special ringers' service in the evening. These included Canon F. A. Sanders and his wife, who loined in the rincing Ior service. Later Canon Sanders breached a much appreciated sermon. Handhells were introduced by six ringing choir members. who accompanied on handbells the singing of the hymn. 'Abide with me.' Two ringers-Mr. G. Dodd and Mrs. Green-read the lessons and ringers acted as sidesman for the collection

In the ringing that followed the service, a demonstration frush of Grandsire Douties was rung for the henefit of members of the tongregation. Proceedings concluded with light refreshments :it the Rectory: once again it was a Bellringers" Sunday to he remembered. G. D.

St. John of Jerusalem will be a Ringing Tower

PPICTURED above is the Chtreh of St . John-of-Jerusalem, Sourh Hackney, and its bells. It has been without a band of ringers since pre-war days-the last war left the spire unsate, but even when a oew copper spire replaced the old stone one and the bells were rehung ribgers were not forthcoming.
At the beginning of September Mr. J. E. Eyre started iostructing some young people and, within a month a band was well under way and the cower. once well known for peal ringing, was again sounding out each Sunday for services and on Tuesday evenings for practice.
Saturday, November 21st, was the 116th anniversary of the opening peal rung on the bells in 1848. To mark the occasion the young ringers made a tour of six local towers.
Starting at St. Matthew's. Upper Clapton, where one of the ringers met us and gave advice to the young members, ringing followed at St. Joln-at-Hackney. St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, St. Mary's, Bow, Christ Church, Isle of Dogs. and All Saints', Poplar.
Ringing went well at each tower and the only difficulty experienced was finding enough boxes for the smaller ringers to stand on!
New recruits are still coming at a steady pace and Mr. Eyre, the Ringing Master, hopes it will not be too long before some new names are to be seen in the peal columns.

Here, without doubt, is the perfect present for every true bell enthusiast. E. C. Shepherd, a well-known contributor to these pages, has at last written a book ranging over the whole field of bell-ringing. Quite apart from his expert knowledge this is no ordinary book. It is, in fact, a book which has added a further dimension to reading - the dimension of sound. Each book contains a high fidelity recording of pcils from both famous cathedrals and humbler towers, including the famous first peal of Stedman

Caters rung at Washington Cathedral. In 108 knowledge-ably-written pages (including eight full-page illustrations) Mr. Shepherd covers the origins and evolution of bellringing, and also deals with hand-bell ringing and the art of the carilloneur. Here is a book no bell-lover can afford to miss. The cost is $25 /-$ (plus 1/- postage and packing). Please send cheque or p.o. with your order to

Is 108 Stedman Triples Impossible?

Dear Sir,-It was a great pleasure to meet Mr George E. Symonds again at the College Youths ${ }^{\circ}$ dinner, and to read your column about him in 'The Ringing World' of November 20th.
In 1917, 'The Ring10g World ' published a series of touches of Stedman Triples provided by Mr. Symonds, for all numbers of changes from 100 to 206 inclusive except for 108 ; against which was printed 'Stumbling block.' On September 28th, 1917, a letter appeared from Mr. H. W. Fright, once of Ashford, Kent, in which he said that for reasons which he gave a louch of this length was impessible.
This has never been challenged and so is presumably correct, but perhaps some of the present-day mathematicians in the Exercise, of whom there are infinitely more than in Mr Fright's time might like to look into the matter and, if they confirm his findings, say why such a length is unobtainable.-Yours sincerely,
E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

First Peal at Sandhurst

Dear Sir.-With reference to the item in Belfry Gossip ' in your issue of November 20th about the recent peal at Sandhurst, Kent, hy the Hawkhurst Guild, I wish to state that it was not the first on the rededicated bells I conducted a peal for the Sussex Association there on August $10 t h$. 1963, the method heing Plain Bob Minor.-Yours faithfully,

Maintenance Tips

Dear Sir,-With regard to Norman Chaddock's article about belfry maintenance, I hope it will be of interest to readers to know what I have done at Bolsover.
In most belfries it is necessary for some of the ropes to pass through chutes, at an angle. in order to form a good circle in the ringing chamher. I came to the conclusion that these chutes serve no useful purpose as the rope still passes over sharn corners, and if the sally enters the chute this can causc difficulty. I removed the chutes and fitted a roller where the rope passes through the ceiling and where it enters the small pulley hox. This has saved a lot of wear on the rones and made them easier to handle.
I have recently read of two cases where clappers' have fallen out of bells. I suspect one of the reasons for the lack of maintenance on clappers is hecause they are difficult in put hack after removal for inspection. I have recently experimented with an idea to make this easier and it has proved most surcessful.

I removed the split pin above the nut which is screwed on that part of the clapper which protrudes through the headstock. I then sawed down from the end of the thread, in twn places, at right angles to the split pin hole. Saw just past the hole then saw the nther way to remove these two nieces. This le:ives : niece of solid metal in the centre with a hole in it. Do not remove too much nietal or the solit pin will not serve its purnoct afterwards.
When removing the clapner a diece of ktrong thin wire is dassed through the hole, the nut is removed and passed on to the wire and the clanoer is lowered from above When renlacing the clapper the nut is put on the wire. the end of which is passed through the headstock and bell It is then fixed to the clapper which is pulled back into position from above.
All the person in the uncomfortable position under the bell has to do is guide the screwed end into the headstock. - Yours sincerely.

Peals at York Minster

Dear Sir,-Now that a peal has been rung at York Minster applications are being received for further attempts. May I clarify the position?

In the past permission for a peal was only granted for very important occasions. There was an attempt on the middle eight for the coronation of H.M. the Queen when in fact a half peal was rung. In more recent years the late. Dean actually curtailed normal ringing a little.

The Chapter gave permission for the recent peal as a fitting welcome for the new Dean, who has been most appreciative of the work of this Society.
The Dean and Chapter are willing to allow very occasional peals in the future $v$ hen events of sufficient importance justify an attempt.

Any application, whether made direct to the Dean or through this Society, should state the reason for the peal and the name of the conductor if other than the writer.-Yours sincerely,

M. E. WILKINSON (Miss),  Hon. Secretary.

Central Council's Collection of Minor

Dear Sir,-I would like to bring to the attention of Minor ringers an error which anpears in extents $3071-311$ inclusive by C . K.
Lewis on page 122 of the C.C.C. of Minor Lewis on page 122 of the C.C.C. of Minor Methods. The method preceding the single at thet lead head 23645 is a 6ths place method and appears to be wrong. If a 6ths place method is rung then the lead head would be 32654 and of course the pant end would not be 34256 as printed.
I was also wondering if any other errors in the collection have been brought to light and if they have ever been published in "The Ringing World.'-Yours sincerely.

College Youths' Elections

Dear Sir.-Your excellent account of the Ancient Society of College Youths dinner could not, of course, include everything that was said. Since my speech contained some remarks about the revised rules covering election of new members to the Society, perhaps you will allow me to make it clear, as I did at the dinner, that in deciding the suitability of candidates we shall rely more than ever on the written recommendations sent by our reliable and respected members in the provinces. The change is that, between nomination and election, four weeks will clapse. for consideration, Neither from London nor from elsewhere will applications go through, as it were, 'on the nod.-Yours faithfully,

The Peal at Geddington

Dear Sir. With reference to the peal at Geddington (pages 776 and 752 ). surely any experienced change ringer should know that the difference in time taken to ring a peal on a very long draught could be anything up to 30 minutes according to the methods rung. (Place making or dodging.)

We always choose the method to fit the bells, and someone always says it was a very fair tap.

We have never been chased out of town, and we have never been afraid to drop in the local after the success or failure. Finally, we have never been afraid to ask for the use of the bells at a later date.-Yours sincerely,
M. W. HARRISON.

Worcester Cathedral Bells

Dear Sir, - Further to the letter on the subject from Mr. R. R. Savory on page 776, I think it extremely unlikely that the 6 th and 9th were cast in 1864

At a chapter meeting on June 29th, 1864 . Cattley made an application to remove the old bells from the tower. This application was refused and he was ordered to supply details of his proposed scheme and the reports and certificates of twe independent architects that the tower was of sufficient strength to carry the bells. Cattley did not produce the necessary documentation until the chapter meeting of November 23rd, 1864, when the scheme was formally approved. He had. however, to arrange for a bell to be rung for services. All the seven bells were removed from the tower in January, 1865.

Early in 1864 the Restoration Committee decided to include the tower in their programme and work was started about October or November, 1864, and extensive building operations continued until 1868, during which time the top 30 feet of the jower was taken down and rebuilt.

Denison's amended specification for a ring of 10 . tenor 38 cwt . in D , is dated August 18th, 1865 , but it was not until November 20th, 1867, that Cattley applied to the chapter to modify the scheme to 12 bells. The specification by Denison) for the $12,50 \mathrm{cwt}$. in D flat, is signed by Cattley and John Taylor and is dated January $8 \mathrm{th}, 1869$.

This was the ring rhat was subscquently crected. From this it is obvious that if the 6th and 9th were cast in 1864 they would be the 5 th and 8 th for a ring of 10 , and that if they were incorporated in the iwelve then the 6 th would be a semitone sharp.

If these two bells had been cast in 1864. Taylors had very little time to cast them: the tower was in an unfit state to hang them: and the local newspapers (which give very accurate details on the progress of the scheme) would have made some mention and if they did not then Cattley would certainly have written a very long letter to them about it. Additionally, Cattley wrote to "The Worcester Herald " in May, 1869. saying that he had visited Loughborough and seen the tenor which, he said. was the first of the ringing bells to be cast.

Mr. Savory's letter, and other previous correspondence, suggests that some of the old eight were recast, but this was not the case. The 1869 twelve were completely new. there was no recasting or augmentation and none of the inscrintions from the old bells were reneated on the new ones. Also the Bourdon bell was not recast in 1928, but retuned from $B$ flat to $A$.

The weights of the old semitone bells are as follows: Flat 4th, 9 cwi 2 yr. 4 lb.. 1869 : flat fih, il cwt. 18 gr. 6 ih. 1875 : Fat 8th, 18 cwt. U qr. $14 \mathrm{lb} ., 1875$. -Yours sincerely, JOHN C. SLATER.
Worcester Cathedral.

Rings of Four in Kent

Dear Sir.-The article by D.C.L. on rings of four in Kent makes interesting reading. and I am delighted to learn that Waltham bells are in hetter condition than they appeared to me at a cursory glance a few wecks ago: lct us hope that regular ringing becomes possible there.

The list of ringable fours given omits that at St. James. Isle of Grain. These bells are in good ringing order, the tenor being between 6 and 7 cwt ., and they are hung in a wooden frame with pits for two additional bells. The four at Plumstead are mentioned as being ringable, but to the best of my knowledge this ring was restored fairly recently by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and hung dead for chiming only.-Yours sincerely.

PETER N. BOND.

King's Norton-by-Gaulby

Dear Sir.-I would like to thank Messrs. Haines, Bagworth and Salter for ottering their congratulations to the band wha recentiy rang a peal at tne above mentioned tower.
it is interesting to note inat eight peals have been rung on these bells, namely Grandsite Triples in 1776 (the tirst on tne netis); Granasue Iripies in 1816; Stedman 1 rıpies in 1y26; Grandsire Trıples in 1929; Grandsire Doubles (on back six, two on renor) by local band, aoout 1931; Plain Bob Major (turst Major on the bells), about $1934 ;$ Braunstone Surprise Major (hrsi Surprise on the bells), 1956; Cambriage Major, 1964.
Nichols" 'Church Bells of Leicestershire tells us that Wm . Fortrey, Esq., gave a peal of 10 belts when he completely rebuilt the churen in 1760 , but nnding the weight dangerous he reduced them to eight. He aiso gave a ring of six to Gaulby in 1741 (tenor recast 1740); a treble to Houghton-on-theHill iwhien is in a sadly decayed and unsate frame); two new trebles to Si. Margaret's, Leicester, recasting the trebles to the existing eight and rehanging them in a new oak frame in 1738.
From the above dates, Mr. Bagworth's assumption that the trebles from Norton went to Gaulby is ruled out.
Another point, the late Ernest Morris did ring a peal at Gaulby, over 40 years ago when he turned the tenor in to Bub Minor (the only peal on the belis). Incidentally, these belis are in a 'ringing' state, but are detinitely not allowed to be rung due to the insecurity of four very tall and slender pinnacles on the top of the tower
Getting back to King Norton, the dates and founders of the dells are as follows: Ireble, 2nd, 3rd and 5th. Thomas Eayre, 1760 ; 6th, Ihomas Eayre, 1761; 7th and tenor Joseph Eayre, 1764; and the 4th is one of the previous ring dated 1641

The frame is in a reasonable" state and the bells hang in two tiers-five on the bottom and the three trebles on the top Of the eight, six swing in the same direction (including $0,7,8$ in a row) and treble and 4th in the other direction.
If any ringer or ringers should be in the vicinity of King's Norton ( 7 miles S.E. of Leicester), it would be a journey well rewarded to see the church in one of the most picturesque settings in the county.

Mr. Bagworth will be pleased to hear that Staunton Harold bells are still in the tower, but are not allowed to be rung because of the hall being acquired by the Cheshire Homes and some dribble about the frame being un-safe.-Yours faithfully,

> R. KINGSLEY MASON.

LEEDS VISIT NORTH-EAST

CUASP

FOR their autumn outing on October 10th, Leeds Parish Cnurch rangers were able to have a inree years old ban on visitors lifted at renxaik, near 1 uirsk, wnere the $\delta$ cwi. tenor couta pass for 18 cmt .
ine dan had arisen decause a broken rope or ropes, lett after a meeting held there, hat given rise to the report that visiting ringers und damage.

1ne Kector had warned us that one of his bells • gave a cracked sound,' but we were scarcely prepared tor the sound or rather the lack of sound of Sedgefield tenor. There is more ringing in a dusidin lid-but the beat' of a ring or nee with an inaudible tenor is quite interesting.
the remainang six towers visited contained excellent octaves from Whitechapel, Croydon and Lougnborough.
vinicuity in linding St Ignatius', Bishopwe:armouth, whicn is stluated in a poorer ytiarter of Sunderland, and having located it a sult further delay in finding tne key, reduced ringing time botll here and on the sister ring at St. Mishael's. the motner church of Sinderland.
inere is. alas, no ringing at the former church-a lovely building and equally lovely tells-the sight of a motor coach outside and the sound of the bells attracted a swarm of utchins hoping to see the bride.

At st. Aidan's, West Hartlepool, the musical Taylor eight are now ringing again after some months' silence. And what a snare for the unwary was the extra deep set of the seventh.

At. St. Hilda s, South Shields, Charlie Lea s light eight tapped round to Original, and perhaps the best ringing of the day was our Little Bob at Houghton-le-Spring. These bells are literally a delight in both respects-sound and 'go.' A 'special' eight. chey were on exhibition in their frame at the Croydon Bell Foundry in 1928.
At Snildon, our last tower, considerable local interest had been created by our visitthe youth club turned up in strength to see how it was done. Welcome refreshments were provided, and an invitation to come again was pressed upon us. These bells have been rung very rarely in recent years but efforts are now being made to form a band. A board records a peal of Grandsire Triples sixty years ago, conducted by the veteran John H. Lenton, who. now nearing his four score years, is stili actively ringing at Pontefract.
If anyone should be singled out for thanks for the undoubted success of this outing it should be the coach driver. R.H.D.

LONDON UNIVERSITY AND THE FUTURE

The author of the problems confronting London University Society, mentioned on page 775 was Mr. David Martin's predecessor as president. Mr. Philip Gray. - I am the legatee of the problems, continues Mr. Martin. He and his predecessor. Dennis Layton, were founders of the Society 19 years ago. As their first pupil. perhaps I might add that the present standing the Society enjoys is due largely to early foresight and coritinuous devotion.' The problcm is the creation of the Northampton C.A.T. as a separate university next year and a split up into two or more universities in London in the near future.

OBITUARY

MR. FRED BLACKLIDGE

Members of the Preston Branch of the Lancashire Association were shocked to learn at their meeting at Tarleton on November 14th, of the sudden death that morping of Mr. Fred Blacklidge.
Fred had been a member of the Associa. tion for more than 40 years, and although not a prolific peal ringer (his total was 44), he was justly proud of being the last surviving member of the Sunday service band of St. James', Brindle, which rang a peal of London Surprise Minor (the first for the Associa(ion) in 1931.
In recent years Brindle has unfortunately lacked a regular band, but Fred, along with others, had lately been teaching some learners. and was hoping to get the bells ringing regularly once more. He was a man of quiet disposition, a capable ringer, who was as happy when standing behind a learner as when taking part himself. He will be greatly missed by the Preston Branch.

The funeral look place at St. John's, Whittle-le-Woods, on November 19th, and the Whls were rung half-muffled by Branch members both before and after the interment.

A quarter peal of Plain Bob Mihor was rung at Bripdle, and a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Chorley St. Laurence's.

MRS. JOAN PANNELL

Mrs. Joan Pannell, wife of Mr. Ernest Pannell. a ringer at St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, passed away on November 23rd.
She was born in Haxtford, Huntingdonshire, and learnt to ring in that area before moving to Darlington in 1951.

Ill-health prevented her from taking part in the ringing at Darlington, much as she would have liked to. She bore her illness bravely, assisted by the loving care which her husband and family bestowed upon her. She was taken to hospital a few weeks ago, suffering greatly, and there she ended her days. The widower shares his bereave ment with a son and daughter. May she rest in peace.

'BEGORRA! SURE IT'S INDEED TO GOODNESS

University of Wales Abroad

TH

IS year the University of Wales Society

 was very ambitious and held its tour in Southern Ireland at the beginning of October.The main party disembarked at Rosslare at 7 a.m. on the Wednesday morning and knocked up a local hotel for breakfast after having deposited their luggage in a building in the harbour car park. The ' advance party and the cars arrived at 9 a.m. and we set off for Wexford.
We had been told that the bells of the R.C. Church of the Immaculate Conception were out of action, but all that is required are 3 ropes and they are a very gond 10 . We had only one spare rope and so were only able to ring the back eight.

Two more joined us at Waterford bringing our numbers up to 14 . The ringing here started well but was brought to a sudden stop when someone standing in the gallery in the ringing chamber grabbed a moving rope and caused the bell to set! Luckily no harm was done.

After a quick lunch we went out to Kilkenny to St. Canice's Cathedral where we found a light airy ringing chamber and the bells in a box' on top of the very squat tower. Due to tiredness we couldn't strike these bells well, but we managed to pull ourselves together for the light six at Doneraile and Stedman and Cambridge went well
We found a good Chinese restaurant in Cork in the evening which provided a table for 14 and good food and wine. We returned there on the Thursday evening as well.

NONE KISSED BLARNEY STONE
Most of the party slept late on Thursday morning and as the bells at Rosscarbery are out of action we had time to visit Blarney Castle. None of us kissed the Blarney Stone! We had an enjoyable ring on the good 6 at Bandan and then we went back to St. Finntarre's Cathedral., Cork. for a peal attempt. After about an hour and a half of Plain Bob Major a rope slipped wheel and jammed. That evening we rang some sensible methods and some "party games" on the handbells.

The next morning we set off for Limerick. At. St. Mary's Cathedral we found an anticlockwise eight which went very well to Cambridge. We moved on to Mount St. Alphonse, where we found an excellent ten. The priest who met us here had been in Carmarthen for some years and greeted us with the Welsh Croeso.' Back to Dublin for the night, where we nearly lost our Welsh nationalist in a demonstration by Irish nationalists in O'Con nell Street.
Our first tower on the Saturday was Blessirigton where a considerable amount of effort was required to ring the bells. The Vicar and local ringers here are keen to have the bells restored.

REAL IRISH BOG

The road to Arklow took us via Glendalough and the seven churches, a very beautiful place. The party in tha Opel stopped to take a walk and landed up to their ankles in bog. Arklow bells are a very good eight which we did not do justice to even with a course of Duffield.

Tha bells at Bray are excellent and we enjoyed our ringing there. Then we went on to Drogheda for an evening's ringing with Mr. Fred Dukes and his band. This is a very good opportunity to send our thanks to Mr. Dukes for all he did to make the tour the success it undoubtedly was. Thank you. Mr. Dukes, come and see us in Wales some day!

The Sunday saw us ringing for services $\mathrm{i}_{1}$ Dublin. We were allowed to ring the bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral before Matins and so after ringing the 12 to rounds, a good quarter peal of Plain Bob Triples was rung on the middle eight. We rang for a short time at the R.C. Church of St. John's Lane and in the afternoon at Christ Church Cathedral.

We had been invited to meet the President of the University of Dublin Society of Change Ringers, Professor Vokes, at his home. Here we were treated to a marvellous tea and were able to chat to the U.D. ringers.

Now there was only one tower left in Southern Ireland which we hadn't visited. St George's. Dublin. Half of the party rang here for Evensong: the other half (in the Opel) couldn't find the church

And so to Dun Loaghaire, a calm crossing to Holyhead and after a nightmare of a journey for those of us going to Aberystwyth we were back home ready for another term to begin. G.C.. K. M.

IN AND AIBOUNI

TrHILE the manœuvring Army played soldiers outside and the last of the season's holidaymakers passed unheeding through a Dorset town, four ringers could have been found in the bar of a quayside inn quaffing pleasantly potent cider and discussing tours past and future.

The plans conceived here reached fruition on October 31st-after some difficulties owing to an unprecedented amount of movement among the clerical profession, leading in one instance to a refusal from a tower in Susiex -bringing together in the south-west corner of Wimshire ringers from that county, Middlesex and Dorset.

At the appointed time the band's four cars gathered below the four hells of Donhead St. Andrew, which were soon sounding out over the splendid autumn gold of the countryside. These bells were rehung in 1953 and the tenor is by Wasborough Hale of Bristol. better known perhans as a manufacturer of steam engines.

From four to six, and after a brisk trot around the village by two members of the parly, access was gained to Hindon St. John. the bells of which gave some interesting ringing. The next tower was Barford St. Martin, containing a 14 cwt . six, rung from the centre of the church.

Lunch was taken by the plutocracy-being branch officers of the Salisbury Guild-in civilised luxury in Salisbury, while one section took to the fields and the other apparently to Old Sarum.

SALINIBUIEY PPLAIN

Spliced Minor in the porch at Winterslow and then a ring under the brooding eaves of East rytherley, one of two eights on the tour and where with the aid of Southampton a young band is being taught. A mile or two away at Lockerley-vintage Taylor's-some youngsters helped us out.

The well-known pienic spot of the Pepperbox was the venue for tea, and although this tower is without bells-one of the party was seen to be scaling it. doubtess in an attempt to confirm this it was duly circled! Sustained by this tea, the 22 cwt . tenor of Downton posed few problems and Plain Bob Major was ruing in spite of spectators weaving in and out of the ropes halfway through the touch. The tout was conc'uded with two more sixes-Coombe was conciuded with two more sixes-Coombe
Bissett and Broadchalke. the latter heing partieularly enjoyed and the source of som: amusement when it was found that there was nothing for one of the youngest tower grabbers (age nine) in the Exercise to stand on. Down went a gallant gentleman and the young lady. supported on his back, gained another tower.

Minimus, Stedman and Cambridge also featured in the repertoire and having completed an almost full if rather elongated circle the band dispersed homewards.

HANDBELL CAROLLING

Some Tips by T. Ogden

A BOUT this time of the year I am as to how to go about playing carols around their parishes at Christmastime, and as his may be of interest to a great many readers, here are a few practical hints and tips.
A minimum of 12 handbells is needed. preferably with a tenor size 15 C , but a set with tenor 18 G or 19 F would do just as with tenor 18 G or 19 F would do just as that can be played with a set of 12 notes, but if a few more bells are available, logether with one or two shops or flats, the range of tunes can be considerably increased. With two bells to each ringer, six to eight ringers, and two or three others (who need not be actual ringers) are needed, the latter to hold the music for the ringers when playing out of doors. Paste or glue your music sheets on card or hardboard, and cover it with transparent polythene to protect it from the weather.
It your journey takes you over unlighted country roads. two or three paraffin pressure lamps will be handy, and-most importanttie each ringer's bells at the ends of a 4 ft . or so length of stout string and loop this over their shoulders, their bells can then be released for a few minutes if needed without any fear of them being damaged by dropping on the ground. Handbells are very expensive to replace, and your set could be put out of action for many weeks by just one bell being dropped on a concrete road or path-Safety First!

Take a collecting box with you, the name of the organisation for which you are collecting should be on it, and you will find that if this box is presented by a pretty young lady with a pleasant smile it is surprising how much more goes in it!

All your regular churchgoers will appreciate you calling on them, but also call on others, and do not forget the old gentleman who was perhaps a ringer manv years until his age kept him from the belfry. or the old lady who may have sung in your church choir many years ago, and who still loves good music. as well as those people better off than most of us.

Especially if playing outdoors, strike your hells loud and clearly, nothing sounds better on a clear. frosty evening, and you will be pleasantly surprised at the enjoyment you, and your audiences, will experience.
Everyone will be glad for you to call, and miany will surprise you with the welcome and warm hospitality they will extend to you. I know. I have experienced it myself!

With every good wish for Christmas and the New Year to ringing friends everywhere.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District

The two most outstanding features of the meeting of the Newark District, held at Winthorpe on November 2lst. Were the good attendance and the obvious pleasure of the Rev. Dilwyn Davies at our visit.

A touch of Bob Minor by an all-ladies hand preceded the service, and afterwards both the Vicar and the organist joined us for test in the Village Hall.

The Vicar also presided ovar the business meeting, and opened it by asking everyone to stand in silence to the memory of Canon Leeper. of Southwell, an honorary vice-president of the Guild. who had recently died at the age of 82 .
Mr. A. E. Chilton proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and the organist, and to the local ringers for their arrangements.
Visitors were welcomed from the Bingham District and from Lincolnshire, and although at times it was difficult to pack everyone into the very small belfry the ringing was much enjoyed.

MR. CLAUDE RUSH DELVES INTO 'CHURCH BELLS'

TOTTENHAM PARISH CHURCH, MIDDX All Saints' Day, 1881.-The rich and beautiful ring of 6 bells has been improved by the addition of two trebles, provided by a few friends as a mark of esteem for their Vicaropened on All Saints' Day, 1881. New bells weigh 6 and $6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. and are by Warners, who also repaired the old gear. Tenor 19 cws . in $E$.

NORTH CHINA-HANDBELLS

SS. Simon and Jude's Day, 1881.-Anniversary of consecretion of Dr. Scott, Bishop of North China. About 400 circulars sent to various well-known ringers in England asking for funds to purchase and send out to Bishop Scott a complete set of handbells with case and all books and music thought requisite at is price not exceeding $£ 25$. The Chinese have bells but are ignorant in the art of raising and ringing a bell and are entirely unacquainted with change-ringing. The proposed handbells will primarily be used for the pur pose of calling the people together to heat the preaching of the Gospel, as in other missions a cornet or a drum has been used with good results.

Besides this, however, it is believed that, from the interest the Chinese show in theis own bells and from their mathematical acuteness, they will soon master changes and become, before long, formidable rivals of English change-ringers. No subscription to exceed 5s. The Committee will gladly receive subscriptions from ladies interested in handbell ringing. A subscription list showed that, within a few weeks, (i.e. by the end of Nov., 1881) nearly $£ 8$ had already been received.

SS. PETER AND PAUL, SWANSCOMBE, KENT

24th September. 1881.-Opening of bells after rehanging. Had been out of order for considerable time but through the kindness and liberality of Mr. J. B. White and brothers, they were rehung and new ropes added

ST. MARY'S, CHELMSFORD, ESSEX
3rd November, 1881.-Opening of these 8 bells-tenor 22 cwt. in E flat, recently rehung by Warners.

NORTH WINGFIELD PARISH CHURCH,

 DERBYS.5th November, 1881. - While bells were being raised for practice. gudgeon of 4th broke and let bell down into framework, breaking the wheel and doing other damage. Only repaired in 1878 when new fourth was cast and all rehung.

DEATH OF JOHN FRIEND

15th October, 1881, at Hythe. Kent, aged 77. A College Youth. On his occasional visits to London a select hand always met the "talented countryman" as he was termed, having performed on every ring of 10 or 12 hells in London. He rang in peals of 10.304 at Ashford and 13.440 at Hythe, etc.

GLINTON, NORTHANTS

11th November, 1881.-On the 80th anniversary of the opening of the 6 bells, tepor $16 t$ cwt.. a gathering of ringers took place. A 720 of Oxford T.B. Was attempted but jumbled out in the last 12 changes.' A knife-and-fork tea, was provided at the Blue Bell Inn. Ringing went on all day from 9 a.m. and the evening was spent in listening to Mr. J. T. Hollis playing tunes and tapping of change-ringing on handbells-224 Kentin capital style.

ST. MARY'S. HORNSEY, MIDDX

13th November. 1881.- 720 Grandsire Minor in 28 minutes. Tenor $17 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. "supposed to be the first ever performed on the bells of this

ST. NICHOLAS, GREAT YARMOU'TH. NORFOLK

15th November, 1881-5,040 Holt's Tenpart Grandsire Triples. 3 hours 25 minutes. Tenor $30 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. by 8 members of the Yarmouth Company and members of the Norwich Diocesan Association. This is the first peal of the company and the first in Yarmouth for ${ }^{27}$ years and by a Yarmouth company for 35 years.

ACKWORTH PARISH CHURCH, YORKS.

18 Dec., 1880. The six bells, silent for 20 vears immediately prior to 1880 , reopened after overhaul. Jasper W. Snowdon In charge. Tenor 14 cWt . cast by Warners and all rehung by T. Mallaby of Masham, at the cost of Catherine Alice Peel, of Ackworth Park.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES, DURHAM

- Since the reorganisation of the Society of Ringers in connection with the parish church as a branch of the Durham Diocesan Association, the progress of the beautiful art of change-ringing has been so steady and satisfacory that this company are in a position to rank themselves for proficiency with any 6 -bell Company in the Northern Counties, having on Christmas Eve, 1880. completed the hundredth peal, 90 of which have been rung entiraly by their own members ... The capacious and well-built tower of the church is well adapted for 8 or 10 bells which, in the hands of the present company of ringers, would soon receive ample justice.' (They have a 21 cwt . tenor to ring of 10 today.-C.R.).

ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST, RANMOOR, SHEFFIELD

Christmas Day, 1880: 8 bells opened-tenor 14 cwt. James Barwell. Birmingham, founder. hangers and fitters, James Shaw and Sons, Bradford. Bells presented by William Smith, Esq.

DRAYTON, BERKS.

27 Dec. 1880,-8 College Youths rang 5,120 Kent T.B. Major in 3 hrs. 6 mins. Tenor 91 curt, rung by Rev. E. Robinson. 'This is the finest peal in this method ever called by an incumbent on his own bells.'

FIRING THE BELLS

15 Jan. 1881.- An aged gentleman writes from a Cathedral town complaining of the hideous firing of the bells on New Year's Eve. We have always disapproved of such a practice: there is neither music nor science in jt and it must be an intolerable nuisance to the neighbours. Our advice to our aged correspondent is to complain to the Dean and Chapter. who ought not to allow such a practice. Should that fail. to apply to the Lord Chancellor for an injunction.
In a later issue, We are yery sorry to hear that the bells of Ripon Cathedral were fircd on the eve of the New Year - twelve blows to mark the midnight hour. That would not be so bad as the continuous hideous firing complained of by an aged gentleman in another Cathedral town. We think the midnight hour is much hetser marked by twelve slow and sober knclls with the tenor only.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

The sympathy of ringing friends will be extended to Mr. E. Sherwood, captain of Ash, Surrey, ringers. He has been discharged from hospital, but is still not fit.
Miss Winifred Keys was unsuccessful in her attempt to call a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Lower Beeding, Sussex, last Saturday. We are informed that the band was not strong enough for the occasion.

The many friends of Ernest G. Pearce will be sorry to learn he is ill in Felix Ward, East Suffolk Hospital. Anglesea Road. Ipswich. The writer is sure Ernie would feel better for a writer is sure ernie would feel friends.
The handbell peal at County Hall. S.E.. on November 16 th was made possible by the kindness of Mr. Douglas Hughes, who provided a set of bells at very short notice, when it was discovered that none of the band had remembered these would be required!
Cadet Gordon Dickins, of M.V. Bendigo. stood in an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples at the City Hall, Ballarat. The failure was partially redeemed by a successful quarter of CJmbridge Surprise Major, in which he rang his first of Major.

An air mail letter, as we were going to press, informs us that the first peal on the rehung hells of St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, was rung by ringers from Melbourne, Adelaide and Sydney on November 21st. It was 5,201 Grandsire Caters, conducted by Tom Goodyer, and participating in the peal was Robin Turner, who recently arrived in Australia. Inadvertently, in our review of Edgar $C$. Shepherd's book. The Sound of Bells, we gave credit to G. N. Price ringing Exeter Cathedral tenor to a peal single hunded. This was one of the great performances of William Pye during the nearly 40 years in which, to use the author's words. the dominated the Exercise. Those who pointed out the error Exercise.
are thanked,

Author on T.V

Mr. Edgar Shepherd, author of "The Sound of Bells, appeared on Granada Television show - Scene at Six-Thirty, on November 18th. Before he was interviewed a touch on handbells was rung by E. A. Barnett. T. Lock, A. D. Barker and E. C. Shepherd. Questioned about ringers having "bats in the beliry" Edgar denied that ringers were slightly mad about bells. 'It's probably as big a disease as golf,' he added. - Once you've caught the liking for it I don't think you ever get rid of it again.' We hear from the publishers that their advertisements "are pulling well." Edgar deserves it-it's a good book.

Provincial Honours

By ringing at Irton, Cumberland. on Novemher 13th, Mr. Ronald H. Dove, of Leeds, has now rung on every ringable ring in the Province of York, which comprises 13 dioceses and covers the six northern counties, in addition to Nottinghamshire and Cheshire. We feel certain that no one will challenge this provincial honour for Mr. Dove. It nust be unique.

At the "Woolpack"

There was a happy gathering at "The Woolpack.' Beckington, Somerset. On November 21 st, following a peal of Stedman Triples on the bells of St. Gieorge's Church. The occasion of the peal was to honour the silver wedding of the tower captain (Mr. L. Alan Fear) and his wile. The hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Fear was very much appreciated.

Colden Bells at March

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Leeden, of March, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, and local ringers honoured the occasion with a quarter peal on Sunday, November 22nd. Aged 76, 'Bill' rang at St. Wendreda's Church for about 30 years until ill-health forced him to retire. He rang a peal with March ringers a few years ago-the first by a local team since 1819 -and has taken part in a great many Sunday quarters over the past 14 years. He was able to hear the bells at his home a mile away.

To Mr. Chris Wallater

It is learned with regret that Mr. Chris Wallater, of St. Giles, Willenhall, who is one of the oidest ringers if not the oldest in the Archdeaconry of Stafford, has been unwell for sonve weeks. His many friends in the ringing world and, in particular, his fellow ringers at St Giles: wish him a speedy return to good health. Mr. Wallater will be 82 on Christmas Day

North Wales to Devon

Ringers from Wrexham were invited to Dolgellau on November 21st to ring a quarter peal of Stedman Triples, and to join the local ringers at a dinner arranged to bid farewell to their captain. Mr. E. W. K. Walton, who will shortly he leaving Dolgellau to take up duties at the Roval Naval Training College at Dartmouth.

Corrections

R.D.B. informs us that the length of the peal of St. Clement's C.B. Major at Sutterton Ipage 709\% on October 3rd, was 5.008, and not 5.088 as printed.

With apologies Mr. J. M. Donald Betjeman writes regarding the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Walsden. Yorkshire, on November 8th. that the composer was John Millett and the conductor Derek Butterworth.

Long Length Lost

The attempt for the long length of Grandsire Caters at Worsley, on November 21st, lasted only $30-35$ minutes, when the clapper of the 8 th bell came out. On examination, the crown staple was found to he broken. Mr. Tudor Edwards reports: "This was not obvious heforehand as everything had been checked and we would not have lound this in a month of Sundays. We shall be trying again, probably next May. The whole Exercise will commiserate with Mr. Tudor Edwards and his band.

Benefactor Wanted

Mr. John A. Hilton, of 19, Lonewood Way, Hadiow, Tonbridge, informs us that "it is no longer possible to ring the bells of St. Mary's, Hadlow, owing to their bad condition. The headstock of the 4 th has split, and the bellfounders have advised us that it is no longer passible to ring them. The estimated cost of the repairs is $£ 591$; unfortunately the Parochial Church Council cannot find this sum, owing to other heavy commitments. Meanwhile, if there is a generous benefactor

Showing the Ropes to Mum
The writer of the front page article has an 18 -year-old daughter who is the vice-captain of All Saints: Chilvers Coton, Nuncaton. The article is the outcome of a challenge-to at least 'try '-to ring a bell. Mrs. Evelyn Mason writes: 'I am in middle life, but I was moved to accept her dare. Although I do not know if I shall be able to go on from there, the mere act of trying seemed to open up a new world of endeavour and interest . . . and also prompted the enclosed reactionary write-up.' We are sure the Editor was not alone in enjoying the graphic picture of her experiences that Mrs. Mason has presented to our readers.

Police Honour President

Honour, in the appropriate ringers' fashion by a peal, was paid at Farnworth. Lancashire on November 21st, to Ex-Insp. T. R. Butler. who relinquishes the presidency of the National Guild of Police Ringers at the end of the year. after three years in office. Thurstans five-part of Grandsire Triples was selected by the conductor, Ex-P.S. Peter Crook. Now in his 80th year and despite "gammy" legs, he made an excellent job of this multi-bob and single composition, which is thought to have more calls than any other peal of Grandsire Triples.

American Appreciation

Dr. Harry O. Whipple, of Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, New Mexico, and his wife attended the annual meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild at Cambridge. He visited three towers, including a run out to Trumpington, and joined the Guild at dinner. In a letter to the Master, Mr. W. Frank Stenson. acknowledging copies of 'The Ringing World.' Dr. Whinple writes: © One of our fondest memories of Englan. 1 will be that Saturday in Cambridge with the Railwaymen's Guild. I was interested to have the material of Lincoln Cathedral. Did you know that Margery and I had been there. in fact attended a mid-week service of Holy Communion in the Ringers' Chapel ? You will be pleased to know that I have entered a subscription for "The Ringing World.

Sow Littered as Peal Started

As the peal of Yorkshire started at Edenham, Lincolnshire, on November l6th, Mr. Cyril R. Burrell's favourite sow decided to have a litter of piglets. Of course, the peal had a more complimentary purpose, being an occasion for three other members of the band. For Wendy Daw it was a 21 st birthday compliment. to George W. Massey, the 22nd anniversary of his joining the R.A.F. and it was on the eve of Shirley Harris' birthday.

Rivalry at Epsom

Practically all the publicity at Epsom regarding ringing has been captured by Christ Church, Epsom Common. And now St. Martin's, Epsom. has again appeared. The quarter peal we publish this week is the first by a local band for at least 15 years.

Five Firsts at Chiddingly

Chiddingly, Sussex, has again entered the picture as a peal ringing tower. Except for the conductor (Alan R. Baldock), all the band were ringing their first peal. The last time any members of the local band took part in a peal was in 1920. The ringers included the Vicar (the Rev. Gerard Summergood), and the peal was being rung in honour of the birth of a son to him and his wife.

One Ringer's Sunday

In the Editor's long experience of newspaper work, few articles he has handled have made such a deep impression and painted such a pictule of stark reality as the contribution of E.D.K.' Some readers might question what the article has to do with bells and ringing. The writer was until recently an outstanding personality in the Exercise, an accomplished peal ringer, whose name frequently appeared in our columns and an officer of the Ladies' Guild. Many old friends we are sure will, on reading this, send her their love and sympathy and wish her a complete recovery.

Salisbury, S.R.

Last week we had much to say about Salisbury Cathedral. Southern Rhodesia. From the Church Information Office we are told that on December 20th this silver-grey granite cathedral will be opened for worship in its complete form with a celebration of the Holy Eucharist by the Bishop oi Mashonaland. A feature of the cathedral, apart from its ten bells, is the font. a pooi large enough for immersion through which water continually flows. The first cathedral was a wattle and daub building put up in 1891. A brick church came two years later, and the chancel of the present structure was completed in 1914.

Kent is her Family

Miss Shelagh R. Collins, Master of the Peterborough Guild, by taking part in a peal of Kent T.B. Royal at her home tower. Kettering, on November 21 st, has completed the Kent family from Minor to Maximus. The Guild and her friends in the U.A. will congratulate her.
Cheshire Bells for Canada
A tape-recording of Hyde., Cheshire. bells has been sent to Port Arthur. Ontario, Canada. It is to be broadcast from a tower at Christmas. The tape, made by members of the Sunday service band, includes some Stedman Triples.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Marlborotigh Branch

Encouraging reports were presented at the annual meeting of the Marlborough Branch on November 21 st at Marlborough. Mr. T A. Palmer, secretary, said good progress had been made Ten monthly meetings were held and a successful outing to the Chichester area.
The Ringing Master (the, Rev. R. Keeley) reported that two peals and 16 quarters had been scored. Sunday service ringing had been revived at Ogbourne St. George, and threc successful outings had been arranged, mainly to give younger members practice in other towers.
Mr. Keeley said he hoped it the coming year to increase these rheetings. encourage better striking, persuade younger members to take up conducting and if the necessary financial support could be found to send younger members on a course of instruction
Miss Jennifer Green, of East Kennett, was presented with a proficiency certificate Officers elected were: Mr. G. Newman, chairman ; Mr. T. A. Palmer, secretary; the Rev. R. Keeley, Ringing Master; Captain J D Mansfield-Robinson. Brahch representative and assistant secretary; Mr. D. Lee. vice-chairman. Thirteen new members were elected. The business meeting followed tea in the Church Hall. which was prepared by the ladies of St. Mary's belfry. The service in St. Mary's Church was conducted by Cainion F. Browne, a lesson being read and a shrort address given hy Mr. Keeley. Ringing was resumed after the meeting until 8 p.m.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Ashford Distritt

About 30 people were present for the service and tea at High Halden, with its 13th century all-wooden tower, when the Ashford District met there oh November 21st.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. R. Gore-Brown), who gave an address. Mrs. K̇night was at the organ, and the choir gave their services. Tea was enjoyed in the Village Hall, where the cost was largely bothe by Mr. Surden, captain of the local ringers, and the catering done by Mrs. Burden.
Mr. J. Willis was chairman for the business meeting. Members stood in silence for a moment out of respect for Mr. Walter Everett. captain of the St. Mary's. Ashford, hand for over 60 years and District Master for 30 years, who had died that morning. Seven new members Were elected to the Asto ciation. It was decided to look up particular methods for future meetings, and Little Bob was agreed for the next one.
Mr. Bernard Marks reported that the bells of Brabourne had now gone to the foundry, and that $£ 700$ was raised by the church Son ef Lumiere Festival in aid of the Bell Restoration Fund-a magnificent effort for such a small village. Mr. Marks also expressed the thanks of the visitors to the Rector, the nrganist, the choir and Mr. and Mrs. J. Burden.
Afterwards ringing continued on the six hells rtenor 13 cwt until 9 o'clock, under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. Alan Berry

RINGERS AND RINGING IN THE ## EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

By CYRIL W. HANCOCK

HAVING noticed in 'The Ringing World' recently that the Annual Dinner of the Society of Rambling Ringers would take place on December 5 th, it occurred to the writer that some inquiry into the activities of their predecessors of exactly 230 years ago might be interesting and rewarding. I refer, of course, to the Rambling Club of Ringers who flourished in London. 1733-35.
Some account of this club is given in the late Ernest Morris's 'History and Art of Change Ringing' but as this book has been out of print for some years, these notes may be of interest. There is still preserved a manuscript account of the activities of the club. compiled by William Laughton. one of the members, and, by courtesy of the City of London Guildhall Library. I have perused this. It is a slim volume about 9 inches by 6 and the handwriting somewhat crabbed, being probably done with a quill pen, and entitled 'Remarks on a Rambling Club of Ringers and their performances giving an account of all their meetings from first to last. wherein may be seen the famous exploits which have been done in the art of ringing by that worthy body of men.'

The flyleaf bears the inscription of James Wakefield, of Romford. Essex. having apparently come into his possession on October 28th, 1799. There is what Laughton describes as a 'Diddication' to Mr. George Carbory, another member of the Club, stating that a Company made an agreement to 'ring at all the peals of $3-4-5$ and 6 in the City of London, likewise to ring upon eight bells and divert ourselves with a peal if our fancys should lean that way.' The Club was founded with seven members at the 'Bell' in Angel Alley. Little Moorfields, in 1733 and grew to 42 at the time of its dissolution on March 8th, 1735. All their names are given including three 'odd' members, one of whom is described as 'Gunsmith in Ordinary to the Company.' One wonders what his function could have been! It would have been interesting to have known the trade or profession of each member, but unfortunately this is not given.
There were fifty meetings in all, each of which is described by Laughton in what one can only call doggerel verse. a sample of which is as follows:
'St. Olave Hart Street next comes in
Two 700s we there did ring
One College Single. the other Plain
Bob. if so please. that is the name.
In spite of his execrable versifying. William Laughton was obviously quite an intelligent man. as in some of the accounts he gives a description of the church they were visiting and its monuments. Not all the meetings were for ringing some were merely social occasions and. as will be seen later. a good time was had by all. It is not possible in a short article to include all the meetings. so reference will only be made to those of more than usual interest.
At St. Peter le Poer. Broad Street (demolished 1896), the ringers were 'by a saucy sexton vex't' - a lady who is described in terms which I regretfully decided would not escape the Editor's blue pencil. However, they 'brought her haughty stomach down" by seeking the churchwarden and getting the keys from him. Actually, ringing was not confined to the City and excursions were made into what were then outlying villages.
On one visit to St John at Hackney, they found that the hells went very badly and ropes continually slipped wheel but they did not reckon it a waste of time, as there was no church near town in such a delightful setting of gardens, orchards and cornfields. This reads strangely today but it is a fact that many wealthy City merchants had houses in this district.

Very different was a journey to St. Mary, Rotherhithe (6). when the band took boat and returned in the same way. At this date there were hundreds of Thames watermen plying for hire with their wherries from the various stairs. Here 700 of Plain Bob were rung and eighteen score of Treble Bob, after which the company refreshed themselves at Milk Alley. Wapping, with bacon and beans and leg of mutton with 'colly flower. Then, according to custom. they drank a dram and smoked a pipe and each man told a tale or sang a song. It must have been a convivial scene.

On another occasion they rambled to Walthamstow across Hackney Marshes by footpaths through fields of rye, wheat, peas, beans and oats, the rye in places growing higher than their heads ${ }^{*}$ There must now be many hundreds of acres of wonderfully fertile soil lying under bricks and mortar. A few fields away from St. Mary's, Walthamstow. was a gentleman's country seat, about which Laughton waxed almost lyrical in describing the orchard of apples, cherries, pears and plums, with "apricocks' growing against the wall. The ringing here consisted of two 700s of Plain Bob.

Another rural expedition was to Mitcham where their venue was the 'Stag's Head.' Dinner consisted of beef, bacon. cabbage, etc. and each man had a half quartern of brandy to his stout. after which 700 Cambridge was rung. They must have had strong heads in those days, as after ringing there was a return visit to the 'Stag's Head' before finally setting off for home. We are told that on reaching Streatham two members of the party were so fatigued that they lay all night at the "Five Bells' - one suspects that they were the worse for wear after so much solid and liquid refreshment. The remainder trudged on through Brixton, though two were fortunate enough to get a lift in a gentleman's coach an early form of hitch-hiking?

Christ Church. Spitalfields, a fine church by Nicholas Hawksmoor, was a favourite tower, as no less than six visits were paid. Here. says Laughton. we were among the Frenchmen, a reference to the Spitalfields weavers. many of whom were of Huguenot origin. On Christmas Eve, 1734. the band rang 700 Cambridge on the back six, the first they claimed since the bells were hung in the steeple.

They were again at Christ Church on December 27th, 1734. when 720 Morning Exercise was the method and the chronicler aptly remarks "There's nothing like ringing of a peal. to prepare a stomach for a meal.'

On St. Dunstan. Stepney, his comment is: "The bells were charming, smooth and nice, not "ruff" and hard like Spitatfields." At Holy Trinity. Minories, which had three hells. they rang fourteen dozen of sixes and raised and lowered without a stand. We are told that here the ropes were so small that they cut the ringers' hands, and as there were no sallies they had to be marked with chalk in order to know where to catch. All Hallows. Tottenham. bells received favourable comment. the tenor being "as good a bell as e'er was made' and cast by Philip Whiteman in 1696 . Regrettably. we are told that whilst six want to ring, five others went to a "boozing ken' where thirteen quarterns of gin were consumed. Here they met two charming girls 'but their mothers kept a watchful eyc. That none should slip out bye and bye,' which was very wise of them, as in view of Laughton's further candid verse. the ringers' intentions were scarcely honourable. It would appear that hand (Continued on page 831 )

Guildford Cathedral Bells a Farsimile of Washington's

The ten bells ordered for Guildford Cathedral are to be a facsimile of those installed at Washington Cathedral this year. This was announced at the annual dinner of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, held at Newlands Corner Hotel on November 28th

The principal guest was the Dean of Guildford (Bishop George Clarkson) who was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Braithwaite. In order that the Dean might hear the bells of his Cathedral. the Master (Mr. D. A. R. May), who presided, presented him with a copy of Edgar. C Shepherd's book. ©The Sound of Bells." The bells of Washington Cathedral are included on the record that goes with the book. The Master was accompanied by his wife and with them sat the Immediate Past Master (Mr. C. W. Denyer) and Mrs. Denyer. Mr. F. E. Collins, who acted at toastmaster, and Mrs. Collins, who acted Harold Pitstow. who was one of the ten ringers who crossed the Atlantic to ring at Washington Cathedral. A company of 120 was present.
The Dean proposed the toast of "The Church and the Ringing Exercise, and said that since their last dinner they had received an extremely nice gift so that they had been athe to give the order for the bells. They had received a guarantee from Messrs. Mears and Stainhank that they would he able 10 ring the bells on May 17th, and he hoped Guild members would ring them. because it would be disastrous if they had the bells and no ringers.

Later he would discuss with their Master the arrangements for the bells to be rung on that occasion. The Dean said he understood that with their bells the people of Guildford would hear the same sounds as those made by bells rung in Washington Cathedral. 'I am not too pleased,' said the Dean, 'about marching side by side with America in all things. I have no doubt that Mr. Wilson will put things right when he goes over next week.'

RINGERS RAISE $£ 1,500$

The final gift was one of great munificence fo: mercies given to Brig. Schrieber and his family. It means that we can get the bells quicker. You have raised $£ 1.500$ towards the making of the peal, and for that we cannot express our grattude too highly. But what is as important as the gift of money is the way the ringers of the diocese have been behind the idea of the ring of bells and been very active in working for them.

In the modern way people think about the Church, they say the bells are a luxury and why waste money on a thing like them? I am quite certain if it had not been for the enthusiasm of the ringers we should never have had a ring in the Cathedral. Support has come from all over the diocese, and I have never been in a position before to say to the ringers: "I am grateful to you for your cnthusiasm and support behind this which has heen so successful." So we shall ring with great joy, and we hope the Diocesan Guild will carry on until we can train a band of our own and that will take a long time.'

CATHEDRAL FINANCES

About the Cathedral itself. Dr. Clarkson said they would like to know the present position. Speaking in round figures they had spent $$ 900,000$ on the building, which was at one time guaranteed to cost not more than $£ 250,000$. They had done it in 30 years, but for a lot of that time. because of the war and the housing problem afterwards. they did nothing. Of that $£ 900,000$, they had horrowed, sometimes with interest, $£ 26,000$ : some by mortgage with the Church Commissioners $£ 30.000$ : and with a bank overdraft of $£ 20,000$. In May. 1963, they asked for $£ 300.000$ to be raised in five years: now 18 months after they were asking for $£ 160,000$. They had moved fairly quickly.

They were now slowing down hecause of the winter and also funds. They were hoping to find someone to build the great north garth. Next May they hoped to dedicate the Chapter House and the south-West porch. They: would also dedicate the organ case which would make it look more handsome-it was given by the same person who gave the organ. The Chapter House had also been given hy one person.

So that the Dean of Guildford will be able to hear his bells in advance, the, Master (Mr. D. A. R. May) presents him with the record book 'Sound of Bells," written by Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd.

We are on the move: we are optimistic and we are getting on quite nicely. We have some wills which have been made in our favour, but thank God we don't wish for deaths so soon as we did a few years ago."

The Dean said his sister and himself remembered the village where they were born. They lived opposite the ancient church that had three crazy, cracked, toneless bells. Finally, they were replaced by eight splendid bells. some of the best that had ever come from Taylors of Loughborough. They all felt, with the new bells, that they were in a new church and many more people were gathered into the congregation and came to worship God.

PRESTIGE AND CONFIDENCE FROM BELLS

- I am sure our experience is the experience of others that where the equipment of the tower is good and the bells are manned by a proper team, it gives the church some sort of prestige and gives the people some sort of confidence. To all you ringers the Church is tremendously grateful that you are willing to submit yourselves to ringing regularly on Sundays and practices.' he said. Ringing was a physical exercise that made men look strong and girls look slimmer, but above all that it was is splendid service to God.
Mr. F. G. Sherwood, of Ash (Guild auditor). in reply, said it was a great pleasure for them to welcome the Dean and Mrs. Braithwaite to their dinner for the first time. He hoped they would meet them both much more frequently once the Cathedral bells were installed. Their title. 'Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers,' was a constant reminder that they were an integral part of the Church and were bound: by its teachings. Without the Church their art would be completely non-existent.
Their Guild was formed about the same time as the diocese, and it would be fair comment to say that although it had had its ups and downs, it had never really looked back. This had been due to the skill and enthusiasm of the founder members and officers over the years. It was also due, in no small measure, to the encouragement and support the ringers received from the clergy, and this was reinforced by a Bishop who actively supported his ringers and enjoyed bells.

With regard to the Cathedral bells, he understood they were very similar to the ten that had recently been opened at Washington. - The Ringing World' had been full of praise for them. so they were hoping that in addition to being the heaviest ring in the diocese they would be one of the finest tens in the country. As a generyl rule courses and touches on ten hells took rather longer than on six or eight. They, therefore. hoped that there would be sufficient time to ring for services.

A GOOD STANDARD

Mr. Sherwood suggested that. they should ring for a Sunday afternoon service, since it might be some time before they had a resident band at the Cathedral, and this would enable ringers to get back to their own towers for Evensong. We will endeavour to set a good standard of ringing, but this can only be accomplished by regular practice preferably with some peals thrown in. At the same time we must not prevent the younger and less experienced ringers fiom having a pull since it is only by encouraging the young that the Guild can consinue to progress.
The Guild secretary, Mr. S. Russell, proposed the concluding toast. "To the Memory of John S. Goldsmith and Other Officers and Members of the Guild.
Besides the book presentation to the Dean a houquet was presented 10 Mrs . Braithwaite by Mrs. Jill May.
Mr. F. E. Collins proposed a vote of thanks to the Master and his committee for arranging the dinner. A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Major E. Brage $1-2$. K. Williamson 3-4, T. Page $5-6$, W. H. Viggers $7-8$. The evening concluded with dangers.

FIRST PEAL ON REHUNG

BELLS AT MELBOURNE

After being away for more than a year, the retuned and rehung bells at St. Paul's Cathedal. Melbourne, Victoria, were rededicated on October 4th. At the invitation of the captain of the St. Paul's Society, Graeme Hayes, two parties of ringers from inter-state converged on Melbourne on November 2lst and together with some of the local band rechristened the bells with a peal of 5,201 Grandsire Caters.
Two ringers came down from Sydney-Enid Roberts and Tom Goodyer (who conducted the pcal)-and four came across from Adelaide -Brian Cox, Ron Russ, David Bleby and Bill Pitcher. The other four in the band were Ken Minchinton, Robin Turner (an English ringer recently arrived in Australia), Haroid McDonald and Hervey Bagot (who has moved to Melhourne from Canberra). The bells went very well indeed and sounded well with masses of good Cuters music being introduced in each part. The following two points are of interest: it was Harold McDonald's first louch of Grandsire Caters and David Bleby had never seen more than eight ropes in a tower before he stood in the peal.
The following day the visitors and some of the Melbourne ringers, joined by Gordon Dickins. a visiting seafaring ringer off the M.V. 'Bendigo, drove up to Ballarat (it was on the way home for the Adelaide party anyway). A peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at the City Hall, but fortune was not with us and it came to grief. This failure was partially redeemed by the success of a quarter of Cambridge Surprise Major (conducted by Tom Goodyer), rung after the breakdown of the Stedman.

The visitors would like to thank their hosts in Melbourne and Ballarst for a very enjoyable week-end, and in particular Graeme and Beverley Heyes and Warne and Wilma Wilson for the hospitality they extended us in their homes.
W. P. B.

RINGERS AND RINGING IN THE 18th CENTURY

bell ringing was also indulged in, as they met at the 'George, Houndsditch, were several courses of Caters and one of Triples were rung but the method is not stated.

A second visit was paid to St. John at Hackney, where the bells were found to be in much better order and 700 Cambridge was rung in memory of Queen Elizabeth's accession and Queen Mary's death. After dining at the 'Rising Sun,: the ringers set off at 10 at night. with two links before them to give them light. A halt was made at Spitaifields for further refreshment but they got into an argument with the French landlord and his wife about the reckoning. Two shillings a pint for brandy and 3d. a pot for beer was considered excessive and after some squabbling they paid what they thought proper and continued on their way.

At St.-Bartholomew the Less, another threebell tower, they rang seventeen dozen and a half of sixes and adjourned to the Cock and Crown." This was a famous housc for birds (the feathered variety), the landlord being a noted breeder and cages hung everywhere over the heads of the customers. The cruel practice of keeping wild birds in cages was very prevalent at this time.
The hells of St. Lawrence by Guildhall earned high praise- For no hetter bells can be found. were you to search all England round '-700 College Single were rung on the back six. Then to another merry evening at Angel Alley till 1 am. for 'to break up before that time is scorned. Some of the Ramblers were certainly married and one wonders what their wives' reactions were to this behaviour.

Conditions in the belfry of St. Giles. . Cripplegate, were evidently somewhat primitive. as the band had to ring by the light of candles stuck to the wall with daubs of clay. Laughton makes the very sensible suggestion that every steeple should have a branch of candles hung in the middle, to advance higher or lower with a counterweight.

Un Shrove 1 uesaay. 1735, the Club rang their last peal of 700 Union Bob at Christ Churen, Spitatields. They had evidently incurred some criticism from other ringers during ineir existence, for treyuent reterence is made in Laughtopis journal to snaring cratics. chietly one gatners for introaucing vartety of methods and ringing at ditferent towers each time.

I neir titterth and final meeting took place at the Bell in Angel Aliey, where it all began. William Laugnton was the host on inis occas.on and records that he gave for supper .assied shoulder of veal and two plum puadings. Ihe veal weighed $18 \frac{1}{2}$ pounds and was stutted with the common sort of stutfing. We may safely assume that this nostalgic event followed the usual jovial pattern
In addition to the metnoas already mentioned, the following were rung at various (Imes: Girandsire, Ola Doubles, New Doubles, - Simonas Doubies, Cambridge Delight, Court Hob and Oxford 1 reble Bob. The only full peals rung were three of 5.040 Plain Bob Major at St. Mary Magdalen's. Bermondsey. St. Andrew's, Holborn, and St, Giles', Camberwell, respectively.

Among the City churches visited. several have ceased to exist vil: St. Benet Fink (6) demolished for the building of the new Royal Exchange, St. Mary Axe (6) date of demolition unknown, All Hallows, Staning (6) demolished 1870 except the tower, and Holy Trinity, Minories (3) closed 1899 and destroyed by enemy action in 1941.
No doubt the members of the Rambling Club are open to criticism by present day standards for incir preoccupation with food and drink and their general behaviour, but I do not think we should judge them too harshly. They were enthusiasts and there was a spirit of comradeship amongst them, much as exists today.

Here, without doubt, is the perfect present for every true bell enthusiast. E. C. Shepherd, a well-known contributor to these pages, has at last written a book ranging over the whole field of bell-ringing. Quite apart from his expert knowledge this is no ordinary book. It is, in fact, a book which has added a further dimension to reading - the dimension of sound. Each book contains a high fidelity recording of peals from both famous cathecirwls and humbler towers, including the famous first peal of Stedman

Caters rung at Washington Cathedral. In 108 knowledge-ably-written pages (including eight full-page illustrations) Mr. Shepherd covers the origins and evolution of bellringing, and also deals with hand-bell ringing and the art of the carilloneur. Here is a book no bell-lover can afford to miss. The cost is $25 /-$ (plus 1/- postage and packing). Please send cheque or p.o. with your order to

Challenge of Atheist

Dear Sir,-It was with regret that I received my copy of 'The Ringing World' of November 27 th, and read the letter on page 800 headed 'Christianity and Bellringing, and signed Sincerely, O. A. M., atheist.
I should like to ask this sincere atheist to be sincere and to have the courage to admit who he is, instead of signing the letter in this anonymous fashion.
For centuries bells have been part of the worship of the Catholic Church and have proclaimed to all who hear them that the sacred hour or moment has arrived and is calling them to the common worship of Almighty God. It is obvious therefore that Almige who ring them are performing to the best of their skill an act of worship acceptable to Almighty God, much the same as that given by choir and servers.
Sunday service ringing is a tradition, a Christian tradition, and an act of worship. I'm quite sure that those who ring the bells of my own parish church Sunday by Sunday are sincere Christians ringing the consecrated are sincere the glory of Almighty God, the maker and creator of all men.
With regard to the second half of this letter. Has O.A.M. considered the possibility that these people whom he claims are for ever falling out might be fellow atheists? I'm surprised that he is even able to come to a conclusion about this, he appears to he traveling around such a lot.

No Christian claims to he perfect, hut just human. Jesus Christ Himself was alone perfect. Perfect God and perfect man: every Christian strives to follow the example of his Saviour and to love his neighbour as himself. Christ came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentence.

You may not need to be a Christian to ring bells, but you do need to believe in God to worship Him in ringing bells consecrated to His glory.-Yours in the faith of Jesus Christ,
Lewisham, S.E.

Christianity and Ringing

Dear Sir,-O. A. M. answered his own question: Does one have to be a Christian to be a campanologist,' for he says he is a keen ringer and signs himself 'Atheist.' But he is in error in thinking that because people fall out with each other-to use his own words-they cannot then be involved in a Christian movement. Alas, the history of Christianity itself disproves it, from St. Paul right through the centurics to our present unhappy divisions.
It is no wonder, therefore, that activitics connected with the Church should be prone to similar strife, bickering and disagreement amongst their members. The work of Christ is carried forward by imperfect instruments, but we are all He has.
Regarding ringing and worship, if I may quote from a letter I wrote to you on this subject more than 25 years ago: True worship has God as the central figure, and organ, choir and ringing are meant but to prepare our minds thither. However sincerely we. as ringers, strive to live up to the pattern are centred on the method and the striking, the co-ordination of mind and muscle in an agreeable pursuii.
In this sense, ringing is not worship in itself, but those of us who profess and call ourselves Christians ought to strive to be better people, and therefore to be better bricklayers, chemists, labourers-and ringers.
Finally, and with all charity, I hope O A. M. knows plenty of rich atheists willing to build separate places for bells to be bells, which have been dedicated to the glory of God.-Yours faithfully.

Porthkerry: Glam L. J. MALINGS.

Read with Horror

Dear Sir,-I read Atheist's letter in your issue of November 27 h with horror, and if I thought that his statement that ringing is not in any way connected with the Church and the worship of God' to be true I would give up church bell ringing tomorrow.

I may not have his talent or experience, but have no ,hesitation in saying that 99 per cent of my ringing colleagues are good, practising Christians, who are proud of their calling.

We have recently had a ring of six bells installed and dedicated in our church here, and a young band of ringers have been recruited from members of the church: heaven forbid that they should be indoctrinated with Atheist's view-if he wants to ring for the local bingo session let him do s 0 .
Church bells and church bell ringing is a particularly British tradition-is there any other country in the world like it? No. sir we are proud of our country, its churches and its bells, and I hope that churches to be built in the future will be in traditional style and materials. with provision made for bell towers.
In conclusion, I am proud to be a member of that large and happy fraternity who ring for the Church and to the glory of God Further, I am not ashamed to sign my name. -Yours faithfully,
Radlett, Herts. DONALD A. FRANKS.

Would prefer 'Rabbits

Dear Sir. - Your 'Sincere Atheist' seems to jump to the conclusion that most ringers are like himself, out for amusement only. Figures would be more convincing and might surprise him.

Of course church bell ringers regard their art as a hobby (dictionary gives 'a favourite pursuit or subject '), otherwise they would not devote sufficient time to it to become proficient. This does not preclude their regarding it as a form of worship.
believe there are only very few ringers who do not belong to one of the affiliated Guilds, none of these can honestly deny the purpose of his membership.
Bells did not get into church towers by 'tradition,' but by the generosity and devotion of our forbears. who felt it their duty to dip into their pockets to ensure that worthy praise was given to God, for a long time ahead.
O.A.M. suggests building secular towers for campanologists.' Very well, where are the funds? True, there are a few secular rings ( 10 in Dove against 5,438 church rings), but there doesn't seem to be any glut of new building of more.

As to the criticising whose who through human weakness fall out (devout and think ing people are the most likely to disagree). your correspondent is careful to cite only instances where the miscreants eventually returned. Perhaps O. A. M. would read the parable of the 'Prodigal Son., and draw an appropriate conclusion. I know something of the heartsearchings brought about by clashes of personalities. having. for some years been the secretary of the band of one of our great cathedrals. (This letter is not to be construed as having any connection with that office, which I relinquished more than a year ago.) All I am trying 10 emphasise is that it takes conviction to retrace once's steps away from any community There is quite a plain answer to your correspondent's last paragraph. Simply 'No, but of what use are campanologists who are without purpose? I would rather work with a bunch of inept but faithful 'rabbits' than with the most skilled of campanologists who care nothing for the God whose cymbals they presume to clash.-Yours faithfully,
W. O. HAYTHORNE.

Thornhill, Southampton.
P.S.-There was once a tower called Bahel was there ever a peal rung there?-W.O.H.

Bells for a Wedding

Dear Sir , -In respect of the article on page

 802 , if people want bells for their wedding, let them get married where there are bells and pay the ringers.If they merely want a wedding on the cheap. why not have a standard gramophone record of the whole outfit and save the fees of the parson, clerk, organist, choir, heating and lighting and flowers, and bells!
Why pick on synthetic bells
"Ply?-Yours

Peal at Geddington

Dear Sir-With reference to B. F. Morris letter (page 776) it has occurred to me that either a printing error has resulted in the reporting of the peal, or that the above mentioned has no right to question the word of such a worthy conductor. I have had the good fortune to ring with the conductor and I am sure his high standard has not deteriorated in such a short time, and that any ring of five would not prove too much for Maurice $W$. Harrison and his worthy band.-Yours faithfully

Sturry, Kent. P. A. HARRISSON.

Corrections to Touches

Dear Sir.-I would like to make a few corrections to the touches submitted by Mr. G. E. Symonds on page 781
(a) The second quarter peal of Bob Major has 1,280 changes.
(b) The first touch of Stedman Caters has 87 changes.
(c) The second touch of Stedman Caters has 213 changes.
(d) The second course of the 287 Grandsire Caters should read 42563879 - 2S. 3.
(e) The first course of the 377 Grandsire Caters should read $63254-1,4 S$; and the third course ( 24563 ) - 9 in 3.
In making these corrections may I appeal to all those who send copy to 'The Ringing World 'to read through and check everything before posting. One is becoming tired of reading almost every week that "Mr. X. rang the third in such and such a peal and not Mr. Y., as published.' Just as irritating are the minor errors, such as a wrong tenor weight. Most of these errors are of no great importance, but they are unnecessary, are very annoying to those concerned, and make for inaccurate records.-Yours faithfully.
Isleworth, Middlesex.

SUFFOLK GUILD

A most enjoyable meeting of the SouthEast District was held at Ashbocking on November 28th. The delightful ring of six was rung to a wide range of methods during the afternoon. Probably the most encouraging aspect to the 45 present was the large proportion of youngsters of school age ringing methods up to Cambridge Surprise. Evensong was condacted by the Rector (Rev. H. W. Johnson), and the singing was accompanied on the organ by Miss Anne Beecroft. A bountifut tea prepared by the local ladies followed.
At the business meeting nine new ringing members were elected: five Ashbocking, four Bramford, and three being reinstated after a lapse of several years. Five new ringers from Holbrook were elected as probationers. It was agreed that the meetings for 1965 should be held as follows: March 13th. Henley (A.G.M): June 12th. Blaxhall and Tunstall: September 11 th. Coddenham: December 11th. Holbrook and Stutton.
The District Ringing Master (Mr. Howard Egglestone), replying to a remark that there had not been many practice meetings recently, said he felt that the learners in the District were now being well catered for in their own towers and that methods were being rung which were the extent of their capabilities.

The Guild Ringing Master (Mr. George W. Pipe) mentioned the importance of ringing on Christmas morning and said he hoped that members would make a supreme effort to man as many towers as possible at this time.

After votes of thanks, ringing was enjoyed at Otley until 9 p.m.

RINGERS' SUNDAY IN SUSSEX
Nov. 15th was a red letter day for members of the Northern Division of the Sussex Association, with special ringers'. services.
At Withyham there was an hour's ringing before Matins, and this was shortened by the Rector (the Rev. P. L. Scott) to allow Mr. E. A. Barnett to give an interesting and instructive address on the origin of bells and the birth of progress of change ringing. During the talk demonstrations were given on handbells, and afterwards the congregation were invited to visit the belfry and see ringing in progress.
Danehill held its annual ringers' service (the fourth) in the evening. The bells were rung from 5.30 to 6.30 p.m., and the service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. I. Paton Hunter). Mr. E. A. Barnett and Mr. R. Johnson read the lessons. During the service a course of Stedman Caters was rung by Mrs. F 1. Hairs, E. A. Barnett, F. 1. Hairs, W. Dobbie, Mrs. W. Dobbie, followed by the singing of the ringers' hymn. In his address, the Vicar welcomed the ringers, and then came a course of Grandsire Caters rung by a resident band of Sussex (Mrs. F. I. Hairs, E. Rapley, L. Weller, G. Francis, F. I. Hairs).
An enjoyable hour followed in the Village Hall. Refreshments were served and Mr. A. Butcher, the local captain, was congratulated on another successful occasion. Fifteen Sussex towers were represented; also present were ringers from Kent, Yorkshire, Surrey and the East Grinstead Guild.

MR. FRANK ATKINSON RETIRES

Mr. F. Atkinson, who was 82 last August, has been a ringer for 60 years- 36 of them at York Minster. However, he has decided to retire from ringing and also to give up his duties as a Minster steward.
To mark his retirement it was decided to make him a small presentation and during a short ceremony on Advent Sunday morning he was presented with a purse of money as a token of the esteem in which he was held by his fellow ringers and the Dean and Chapter.

The presentation was made by Canon $R$ Cant, Canon-in-Residence, who said how much the Dean and Chapter appreciated Mr. Atkinson's services to the Minster. Tributes were also paid to him by the Rev. J. A McMullen. chaplain of the Minster Society, and oy Mr. H. Walker.
Frank started his ringing at Wragby (a six bell tower), and became a member of the Yorkshire Assaciation in 1906. He has not been a great peal ringer but he has recorded all his 720's and quarter peals in beautiful copper plate handwriting.

On the afternoon after the presentation he rang his first quarter peal of Grandsire Caters. H.W.

Wratten's Wringers' Wreunion Weekend

TT HARDLY seemed five months ago that following a successful peal week around Cheltenham. Wratten Wringers had arranged to meet in Bristol on the last week-end in November for a reunion.
A full programme was prepared, and straight to business on Friday evening with a peal of Derby S.M. at the Cathedral. enabling Mick Hobbs to realise his ambition (hy 19 days), in completing the Surprise Major alphabet before his 21 st birthday. Also pleasing was the fact that Pete Bridle's name is hack in the peal columns for the first time since his accident.
The party had arranged to meet in the Mauretania, and the organiser was a little concerned to learn that four members of the party did not have their cars with them, leaving a rather desperate transport situationfears which later proved to be unfounded
A hectic day was promised for Saturday with four peals arranged. Another first for the Association was scored by ringing Southgate on the good-toned but rather noisy eight at Almondsbury, whilst at the same time the other eight people rang Lincolnshire at Olves ton. Into Bristol for a hasty Chinese meal before the party split again. Ten went to St. Stephen's where a fast peal of Yorkshire Royal was rung, at great expense to the energy of the tenor ringer, who needed several cups of tea to revive him. Eight more were fortunate enough to be standing in a peal at St. Philip's-a rare Bristol eight-where a first class peal of Rutland was scored, with Drugged Dick. dreaming his way through. following a bout of tonsilitis.
W.W.s' (and I don't mean Wilfred!!) success continued in the evening when they soundly beat the Bristol City skittles team by 30 pins. The City say it was because they had too many members of the Ladies' Guild in their team (at least that's their excuse!)
Sunday morning the party dispersed to four Bristol towers for service ringing. One band went to Bedminster where they found that a previous visiting party had broken the rope of the treble. so just to prove they were not to be ontdone they hroke the rope of the 3rd during a touch of Doubles.

The highlight of the week-end was a peal attempt on the 35 cwt . ring of eight at Congresbury. The Leicester train was due to arrive in Bristol at 1.12 ; however, at 1.45 there was still no sign of Mr. Kings(ley) Nortoncould it be that he had developed an attack of 'cold feet,' following the news that the so called 'Squire' of Long Ashton had announced that he would be waiting at Congresbury ready to carry him from the tower. Anyvay he eventually arrived and after a quick dash the peal was started late and finished just 7 minutes before Evensong. As promised. Ralph was outside the tower, waiting to compliment Kingsley on a creditable performance. Several members of the party expressed regrets at not having taken advantage of Chris Kippin's offer to run a book on the outcome of the peal. Also listening to the last hour were the rest of the party who had scored a somewhat quicker (though apparently no less energetic) peal of Rutland at Barrow-Gurney. The remark was passed 'You lot will get the credit, but we had the henders
An exhausted but smugly satisfied party of Wringers grabbed some quick liquid refreshment before departing to their various destinations with remarks of 'See you at Cheltenham next year, if not before. The week-end was particularly pleasing to the organiser, in that it was 100 per cent. successful, bearing in mind the 100 per cent failure week-end last Whitsun.
Sincere thanks are accorded to the five Bristol ringing families who so kindly contributed to the enjoyment of the week-end by accommodating the party at their homes.
D.J.H. G.M.H.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Western Branch

A goodly company presented themselves at Gaywood on November 21 st for the last meeting of the year. The service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. G. R. Phizackerley. and the lesson was read by Mr. J. Coston (a Gaywood inger), with the chairman, Rev. G Galley, at the organ. An exceptionally good (and free) tea was served at the Church Rooms.
At the meeting a welcome was extended to two new members from 'foreign' partsRev. M. C. C. Melville and David Cawley. Two interim evening practice meetings were arranged, details of which will be published later.

Among those present was Mr. E. Barker. of Shouldham. who was also present at the dedication of these bells, well over fifty years ago, and Mr. W. B. Duncan, of Yarmouth. who rang in the tower in the early days.
The lovely sounding and good going six were fully employed during the afternoon and evening. All present enjoyed the day and were impressed by the welcome extended by the Rector and his ringers. We felt inspired by the general 'aliveness' of the church in Gaywood.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Two of the Branches of the Guild have amalgamated-the N.W. and N. Devon Branches. This took place at Clawton on November 14th, when the annual meeting of the N.W. Branch was held, with the Vicar and Branch chairman (the Rev. J. G. M. Scott) in the chair. The new title is the $N$. and N.W. Branch.

All the present officers were re-elected, but from the N. Devon Branch Miss B. M. Boyle, of Combe Martin. becomes assistant secretary. and the Vicar of Westleigh joint chairman. Six new members of the Guild were elected -five from Shebbear College and one from Westleigh.

The secretary read a satisfactory report. which included 26 quarters and three peals (two Double Norwich C.B. Major) rung for the Guild. The treasurer's report was also satisfactory. A tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. E. M. Atkins, former general secretary of the Guild.

Next year's meetings: Holsworthy, July 24th ; annual, Westleigh, November 13th.

The service was conducted by the chairman, and the ladies who supplied the tea were thanked by him

OBITUARY

MR. L. J. WILLIAMS

The funeral service for Mr. Laurence J Williams, head ringer for over 50 years at Church Kirk, Lancashire, took place in the church he served so faithfully on Saturday. November 21st. His death on the previous Wednesday came suddenly although he had not heen well for the past two years. Many ringing friends of the Lancashire Association were present. Half-muffled touches of Stedman and Double Norwich and the whole pull and stand were rung in a dignified manner which was fitting for the occasion.

It was just before the first world war that Laurence came to live in Church Kirk, having learned to ring at Willenhall. Almost at once he had to join the Army, so his ringing career began in earnest after the war. In March, 1919, he rang his first peal, the second peal on the old six bells at Church Kirk. The next peal on the bells was his first as conductor, and he conducted all of the subsequent eight peals on the bells before they became unringable in 1923. Whilst the bells were out of action. Laurie' was busy training a band at Rishton, at the same time pressing for the restoration of Church Kirk hells. In November. 1926, the new ring of eight was dedicated, and Laurie made sure that they were used well. His enthusiasm for peal ringing did not exceed that for Sunday service ringing, and it was his efforts which inspired the local band until they were ringing Cambridge Surprise Major for service in 1931 .
Laurence was the first to acknowledge that his progressive enthusiasm gave rise to many a lively argument. He had little sympathy with those whose outlook was 'dormant.' and on several occasions he noted in the record hooks that the Church Kirk Society was evidently not loved by the (Blackburn) Branch.' However, with such a character in its midst, the Branch could not remain dormant for long, and Laurence not only hecame president and bell adviser of the Blackburn Branch, but also a committee member, vice-president, and Central Council representative of the Lancashire Association He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and helped to initiate the Gratefully Acknowledged ' column in 'The Ringing World.
Even in later years, he was still keen, and only ten years ago he started afresb to train young band at Church Kirk. With only one other experienced local ringer, and a little help from neighbouring towers, he successfully achieved his objective.
He was the most punctual and regular attender in the band, even though for two years he had to walk two miles every Sunday to get to the church-a fine record for anyone at the age of 70. Unfortunately, his health failed about two years ago, and his greatest pleasure then was to be visited by his ringing friends, and to recall the amusing incidents in his life. The death of Laurence J. Williams, at the age of 73 . is a great loss o the Exercise, but he will be remembered for many years to come.

SS. PHILIP & JACOB'S, BRISTOL

After nearly two years of silence ringing restarted in this tower in October. Origin of the trouble was the snapping of the wires holding the clock weights, which crashed through the ringing chamber floor. This in itself could have been put right in a short time but an examination of the tower revealed that the stairs were unsafe and whole sections had to be replaced. The work was completed in time for the bells to be rung for harvest festival.
Mr. Edwin J. Brown has retired as Ringing Master and steeplekeeper, a post he has held with much devotion for 38 years. Only two of the original St. Philip's band are still active, and the bells are kept going from the Bristol Cathedral Sunday afternoon band. Grateful thanks are due to St . Ambrose's for the losn of ropes.

BELFRY GOSSIP

BIG DEMAND FOR RECORD BOOK
Record Books Lid.. the publishers of Edgar C. Shepherd's book . The Sound of Bells," are exiremely pleased at the demand for the book from 'Ringing. World' readers. Orders are being dealt with in strict rotation and as expeditiously as possible. Those who have had to wait for their copy are assured of delivery in due course.
A new clapper has been fitted to the tenor at Painswick.

Ali points out that the peal rung at Seal (pages 565 and 800) was in actual fact rung at Seal Chart.
So successful was the East Berks and South Bucks dinner at Windsor on November 28 th that the date of next year's function is already in members diaries. All being well it will be held on Siturday. November 27 h . With much pleasure we welcome David Clark of Whatton, Notts, back to the quarter peal columns after his recent illness and we look forward to his early return to the peal columns.

Help from ringers of the Bridgwater Parish Church made it possible for ringing to take place at Durleigh, Somerset, on Nov. 22nd when the Bishop of Taunton conducted a service of thanksgiving and rededication following extensive restoration of the church.
The ringers of the peal at Raunds. Northamptonshire, on November 28th, would like to associate the name of John R. Mayne with this peal. He is not the first. and will probably not be the last, to arrange for more ringers for a peal attempt than there are bells.
From Southend we hear that a dog will probably be in the peal totals for 1964. for she has already heard 24 peals complete this year. We look forward to hearing more about her if she hears another!

Liverpool Cathedral Peal Attempt

The peal attempt for Grandsire Cinques at Liverpool Cathedral on Saturday, November 29th, failed after four hours' ringing due to one of the ringers having to give up. The ages of the band in this attempt extended from 17 to 70 . This, our correspondent states, was the third attempt. The two previous attempts at the Cathedral came to grief, he believes, througth a miscall and broken clapper respectively.

Conducted First Peal

The paragraph in Belfry Gossip concerning Mr. D. Fenton conducting his first peal at Bramley, Leeds, has brought forth an interesting coincidence. Mr. J. S. Eastwood of Walsail, Staffs, learned to ring at this tower under the late Mr. G. W. T. Holgate, and writes: - I also rang and called my first peal (Kent) at this tower in February. 1927, this being the first peal on the eight bells installed in 1924 and am now the sole survivor of the band at the time of the installation.'

Another Youngster Launched

Shortly before her 12th birthday, Frances Dodds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Dodds. of St. Albans, rang her first quarter to Grandsire Caters, at St. Clement Danes', London, on November 29th. Comments father: - Young Frances is now launched on the "slippery slope": Few young ladies have starled their quarters in such a distinguished company. Happy birthday, Frances!

Aubrey's Birthday

The band who met at Buckfast Abbey on November 28th to attempt a peal of Grandsire Doubles in order to complete the circuit in the method on the bells were doomed to disappointment as the bells had to be called around at half way owing to indisposition of one of the band. Those who rang, however, were entertained to a birthday tea by Mr. A. L. Bennett afterwards, a very pleasant evening being spent.

Oddfellows' Peal

That great and enthusiastic Oddfellow. Mr. Frank Stenson, of Crewe, will read with interest the honour conferred on Bro. Eric Roughley of Davenport. Stockport, during his year as Provincial Grand Master of the St. Helens District. Fellow Oddfellows rang a peal to mark the occasion at Chelford, Cheshire. Participating were two Past Provincial Grand Masters and also a Past Grand.

Relief

Fear, the scare of the bare passage.
The tall hard walls and the empty Echoingly hollow stair Leading down from the boom of the bells above.
The shadowiless passage harsh
In the glare of the staring light. And the swinging weights
Here, there : there, here.
The fear throbbing from the walls And swelling out the narrow passage. Then the opening door, The warm brightness, the joy of it. Recognition.

WIMBLEDON.

Churchill Surprise

The ringing room at Westerham is on the ground floor open to the church. Members of the Kent County Association were therefore somewhat overwhelmed on arriving to ring in a new Surprise method for Sir Winston Churchill's birthday to see powerful television lights set up. The peal was started in the full glare of the lights and some five courses had been rung before the lights and other equipment were finaliy removed and the ringers were allowed to complete the peal under more normal conditions. An excellent peal was rung and we understand some readers may have seen shots of the ringing on ITV before the peal was completed.

Sir Winston's country home is at Chartwell in the parish of Westerham and the ringers of Kent were anxious to pay a worthy tribute by ringing a new method. Mr. John Mayne had kindly looked out a suitable method and had confirmed that the name Churchill had not been previously used. Thanks are due to the new Vicar. Canon A. Chapman, and the local ringers for their enthusiastic co-operation.

Ringers' Wedding at Bridport

Unfortunately, and contrary to severai reports in the local press, a quarter peal of Stedman Triples, attempted at St. Mary's, Bridport. on October 31st, was not successful. The occasion was the wedding of Miss Valerie Hallett to Mr. Michael Stone, of Bridgwater, and the attempt was made by ringing friends from Bridgwater and Ebbw Vale. Bridport ringers rang immediately before and after the wedding service. After a honeymoon in Scotland, the couple were welcomed to their new home near Bridgwater by a quarter peal of St. Clement's Minor on the bell of their home tower at Wembdon.

Will Ring at Christmas

We have received a cheery card from Mr. W. B. Kynaston of Rodbourne Cheney. Swindon, stating that he is now out of hospital and going on very well. While it is a case of no tower bell ringing yet, he hopes to do a bit before Christmas.

For Records Committee

Another fine achievement has come from Yorkshire. Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton conducted at Holy Trinity Church. Kingston-upon-Hull, a peal of Spliced Surprise Royal in thirty-six methods, the most methods to be rung to a peal of Royal. Congratulations.

From Rounds to Stedman

Meeting short for their peal attempt of Stedman Triples at Dorchesier Abbey, on Nov. 28th, Douglas Exon was summoned from his baker's rounds to ring the - Tenor. He had only, time, so he puts it, 'for half a fruit loaf, hefore starting the peal. While all precede their peals by rounds. Doug Exon's experience might be without precedent. At any rate the peal was a success and Doug was duly thanked.

Earliest Hastings Stay

Mr. Michael King. of Wentworth, writes concerning the peal of Minimus on the four bells at Stockton-on-the-Forest that the bells were equipped with the Hastings stay in 1896 by Taylor's. Are there any other rings with such a fitting fitted earlier than 1896 ?

The Alexandra Ring  The peal of Stedman Caters rung at the former Imperial Institute on November 14th was only the fifth peal on the Alexandra ring of bells which were installed in 1895 to be rung on Royal and State occasions. The last peal, also Stedman Caters, was rung by members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths on April 23rd, 1924, 10 mark the opening of the British Empire Exhibition.The bells are now rung on eight dates each year and, for several years past, bands for these occasions have been arranged by Mr. William J. Rawlings. It was appropriate, therefore, that the recent peal enabled Bill to complete his first century and congratulations were extended accordingly.

100 Peals on Crawley Bells

On November 14th. Mr. Alf Bull of Horley, Surrey, rang his 100 th peal 'on Crawley bells and Mr. W. Beeson of Cranleigh, his 50th. (See page 807) The first of the 100 was Worcester T.B. on Oct. 3rd, 1920, and Messrs. Bull and Beeson are the sole survivors. The time taken for both peals was the same 3 hrs. 5 mins. After the peal a splendid tea was provided by Mrs. Jennings. Photographs were produced by George and there were many reminiscences. To the peal not a few footnotes could have been added as. In memoriam Oliver Sippetts and other members of the 1920 band.' Also for 'E. G. Talbot, the friend we miss so much, writes John Euston. Over half of Mr. Bull's 100 peals were in Surprise methods and were mainly under the conductorship of Mr. Sippetts.

A Prittlewell 21 st

A popular member of the Prittlewell tower is Miss Janet Rowe and her 21 st birthday on November 23 rd was marked by a peal on the 22 nd . On her birthday at the Prittlewell tower practice she was presented with a present on behalf of the band by the Master. Mr. Bernard Sadler. Afterwards everybody went round to her home where plenty of good eats and drinks were available-a truly happy hirthday. Janet is now going to live in London. Prittlewell ringers wish her well and hope she will find a happy tower to receive her.

The Arscott Family Does It Again

Congratulations to the Arscott family, who are scattered about the Batt and Wells area. There was another family reunion on Nov. 14th at All Saints Church, Merriott. Somerset, when a peal of Minor was rung. This is the second peal in recent years.

Christmas Issue

Our Christmas issue with a special message from Canon C. Carew Cox former Master of the Salisbury Drocesan Guild will appear next week. Our popular feature, Chrisimas Greetings, will also be included and we have already received messages from overseas. We are hoping that the following issue will be on sale before Christmas Day. This will be printed on the Monday. Because of the time lag over Christmas mails, will secretaries wanting Notices inserted in the issue of December 25 h please forward as soon as possible. If uncertain of arrangements use the word "provisional." It is not too early to send these Notices for New Year's meetings in at once. Finally, Notices may be phoned Guildford 5311.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GULLD

The Guildford District's nomination meeting on December 5th at Wonersh and Bramley attracted representatives from nine towers. A nomination was received for each office. Mr. W. Savill, of Stoke, was proposed as Ringing Master, but made the request that $\mathbf{M r}$. L. Hunter. who was absent owing to illness. should be urged to reconsider his decision not to stand again for this office. The new hon. secretary, and treasurer is Mr. J. H. Payton. who is now tower captain at Chiddingfold.

OBITUARY

MR. GORDON LEE

On October 18th, the Billesdon ringers received the tragic news of the death of Mr. Gordon Lee at the comparatively early age of 38 . Although he had not been well for a few weeks, his death came as a great shock.

Gordon was a very reliable, regular service ringer and his presence will be greatly missed. The bells were rung half-muffled in his memory on the following Thursday evening after the funeral.

MIDLAND COUNTIES FIRST DINNER IN LIVING MEMORY

T${ }^{\top}$ HE first dinner of the Midland Counties Guild in the memory of any living member was held at the Midland Hotel, Burton-upon-Trent, on November 18 th, and over 70 members and friends from the counties of Stafford, Derby, Leicester. Warwick and Salop attended. It is hoped to make the event an annual fixture.
Unfortunately neither the president, Mr. Ben Worthington, of Pontiland, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, nor the Vice-President, Rev. W. V. G. Griftiths, Vicar of Burton. could attend and Mrs. Griffiths, the wife of the latter, pre sided.

The toast of "The Church and State was proposed by Mr. D. J. Leach, of St. Paul's, Burton-upon-Trent, who said there was a close and deep association between the Church and the State-a closeness which was apparent in everyday life. The campanologist derived great satisfaction from bell ringing and because of its close association with the Church, the spiritual aspect gave full meaning to any labour demanded of bell ringers,

In what is termed a material world we have knowlegdge of what is meant by the welfare state and the practical facilities obtained. Old Age Pensions, medical attention and other government legislation in which care was given to the children were examples but the full effects of these benefits could not be measured in their entirety unless people had the moral support of the Church.
Nothing was perfect, he said. and in these days where one reads of violence and other matters which contravened man-made laws, there could only be expected improvement in both worldly affairs and the domestic issue providing advantage was taken of the spiritual and moral uplift which could be gained from the Christian Church.
The Rev. T. Villiers replied and said that the Church was not dead despite what people said but there was a restlessness which was a nealthy sign of an active Church. He emphasised that this restlessness must be directed into the right chanaels so that people could be brought to realise fully the importance of God.

He instructed the bell ringers to carry on ringing, for as people heard the bells ring out they knew there stood a house of God as a continual reminder that God was among his people. He said if they worked togetherand he was sure they would-they would provide a country where both body and soul were cared for.

The toast of 'The Midland Counties Guild was proposed by Mrs. T. Pryce, the wife of the auditor to the Guild and long standing member of St. Modwen's. Burton. Mrs. Pryce pointed out that this was the first time members and friends of the Guild had gathered together for a dinner and she hoped it would Inot be the last. She pointed out that the Guild needed the full support of all its members and also welcomed new ones. It was most important for the bell ringers to show their loyalty and let people know there was a Church there, and it was alive.
Replying to the toast Mr. G. Roobotham, a member of both Sudbury Parish Church and St. Paul's, Burton, said the old Midland Counties Association was formed about 1875 by the present president's grandfather. Mr. W. H. Worthington. After quite a long life, that association was dissolved and the present one formed and from what information he could ohtain this was indeed the very first annual dinner of either Guild or Association. He was very pleased to see so many people present and thanked the bell ringers, widows and/or widowers (Saturday afternoon and evening or perhaps two evenings per week) for faithfully supporting their partners. He also thanked the honorary members and many other friends of the Guild for attending on this occasion.
After dinner entertainment was provided and included some excellent handbell ringing by Kingshury ringers, led by Mr. G. H. Lane

Wationd District Awakes

A very well attended meeting was held at Rickmansworth on November 28th. This was very heartening as it followed a general meeting the previous month to discuss the future of the District. It appears, however, that the District is far from dead but has just been asleep.

The awakening was enjoyed by all who attended. Ringing ranged from counds to Cambridge Royal and Spliced Surprise Major At the meeting it was decided to hold a practice meeting at Bushey on January 9ih and a full meeting at Elstree and Aldenham on May 1st. Evensong was attended after the meeting and ringing followed up to $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
During the evening we had an influx of members from the Western and St. Albans Districts who were feeling the effects of football match in the afternoon. This influx led to an impromptu darts tournament in the nearby hostelry, but the writer is unable the report the result as he left after the defeat of the home District.

CHRISTMAS PEACE AND GOODWILL

$I^{N}$N a variety of ways, by Christmas cards and through the medium of 'The Ringing World:' most ringers will be exchanging greetings at this time. It is nice to be remembered; and that fellowship with one another, however far apart we may be, is something to be treasured and extended. That is why God sent His Son to be born into human life. "That they all may be one. Jesus Christ was born to be the centre of the human race, that all life should draw its inspiration from Him and all people be drawn together in Him. There lies the main truth which Christmas ought to bring home to everyone.

But in this twentieth century, widely as Christianity has penetrated through the world. how very far yet we seem to be from achieving unity amongst ourselves, among States and races! Events point to the unwelcome fact where peoples are granted independence, and the more they seek to be self-governing the less are they ready to become more peaceful, or brotherly, or willing to advance in the understanding of one another.

So, year by year, how urgently we need to be taken back to first principles; to the origin of the Christmas we profess to celebrate: to the nature of the God we profess to worship. For that alone will give the real character and the sincerity to our greetings.

While we may, naturally, be primarily concerned with the keeping of Christmas in our homes our gatherings together, thinking too of absent members, ought to result in the deepening of family ties, of the family feeling; the more so if we share, as a family, in the worship of the Church on Christmas Day. It should be impossible to conceive of any wrangling, or exhibition of selfish temper; indeed anything that breaks the fellowship at such a time. And if not then, neither at any other time. For the essence of Christmas - as Christian people are expected to have learnt it-is something to be implemented, carried into action. in all succeeding days and years. Which means the conscious unceasing cultivation of all things that are honest. true, pure and lovely in our own and other people's lives. There is no other way by which animosities can be buried. disagreements resolved and peaceful situations brought into being. There is no other same but that of Jesus Christ, given under heaven, whereby man i.e., the world of men-can be reconciled and saved. So St. Peter, by his complete faith in the Incarnation and his intimate knowledge of its consequences. could say to the impotent man at the Beautiful Gate of the Temple. "Silver and gold have I none. but such as I have give I thee: In the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk.' And, as it came to pass, was not that like new birth for that man?

Welt then. what other aim ought we to have as we give our Christmats greetings: as we call people by the bells to the worship of the Son of God. than just this? To spread the knowledge of the Prince of Peace. to prove the fact of His birth and its outcome, not only in our immediate circle; but by our faith. Drayers and example to create a new outlook for all who make for tension and strife. as also for all who are suffering under conditions of helplessness. ignorance. sorrow and fear?

One must emphasise that if our Lord demands anything from His servants. from ringers, or associations of ringers. it is nothing less than that self-restraint which characterised His childhood and subsequent Ministry: nothing less than submission of will which did nothing to lower His dignity. but enhanced the value of His example and teaching everv moment.
"Such as I have give I thee!' Can one imagine a more significant greeting than that? Something I have to give which no money in the world can huy. That particular control, or in.
fuence, by which, somewhere, somehow, I can make all the difference between bitterness and happiness, between greed and contentment, between despair and hope. between impotence and active service, between strife and peace, between animosity and goodwill. From whence then is this which. as a Christian, I have to give; which can change the outlook for anyone today and tomorrow? And the Christian answer down the centuries is the Christmas revelation, ever new and wonderful as ever. 'Unto you is born this day . . a Saviour which is Christ the Lord.' 'God so loved the world that He GAVE.'

Among all the worldly distractions of Christmas festivities nothing could be more profitable than to contemplate and grasp anew the Truth as it was in the beginning; to think back to the centre where all spiritual energy is generated-for radiation to all sorts and conditions of men: where the Love which is God flows out in fullest measure as the source of peace and goodwill everywhere. It will follow, therefore, that when, say, controversies arise they can be conducted without acrimony: where something regrettable is spoken, or written, in the heat of the moment an apology can quickly result: when any breach occurs it is never unhealable. Christmas Day can, and should, make that very sure. not only today but for all time 'until the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea.'

With all that in mind our heartiest wishes go out to all our readers for a truly happy Christmas and a New Year full of spiritual health and bright promise.
C. C. C.

'THE RINGING WORLD'

YOUR committee seldom trespass on the limited space of "The Ringing World,' for at all times your Editor finds himself with more copy than can be compressed into the pages of a normal issue. At intervals it is necessary to reduce the accumulation of peals and news by a 'twenty-four page' paper, but the number of such issues are restricted by economic conditions. These, however, are normal administrative problems, and the purpose of now claiming your attention goes rather deeper-the economics of carrying on the paper without or with as little loss as possible. At all times these days in our ordinary everyday activities. we are beset with increasing costs; be it in business or at home and "The Ringing World, is no exception to this inflatory spiral.

The Printing Trade Wages Agreement of 1962 provided for increases of wages in January, 1964, and January, 1965, the latter coupled with the granting of a third week's holiday and a large Cost of Living bonus. Our printers advised your committec that printing costs for 1964 would not be raised but they now inform us that unfortunately the further extra costs to he met from January 1st. 1965. cannot be absorbed by themselves and a proportion of these additional expenses must be passed on to their customers.

This addition to our outlay is not the only one with which we are faced. as the Government has already announced that postage rates must go up. but as yet no indication has been forthcoming as to the size of this increase, although it is also anticipated in January next. Further, it is quite within the bounds of probability that there may be an increase in the cost of paper.
One of the axioms of prudent business economics is to anticipate possible losses but not profits and it is along these lines your committee have considered the position now presenterl. In the (Continused on page 846) light of known and possible contingencies they have reluctantly come to the conclusion that the price of 'The Ringing World' must be raised by one penny to ninepence per copy, with proportionate adjustments for postal subscribers. The new charges will operate from the first issue in January, 1965 , and particulars of the rates for postal copies are set out on page 851 .

THE RINGING WORLD

Whether or not the additional charge will cover the extra outgoings depends on the new postage rates, but the position will again be reviewed before the meeting of the Central Council at Northampton, when the opportunity will be taken to make any further announcements required on the basis of figures then available.

The Ringing World ${ }^{\text {' }}$ is a specialised publication with a limited circulation and your committee once more stress that the scale of an extra 1.000 copies per week would go far to resolving many financial problems. Readers themselves could do much to publicise the advantage of taking 'The Ringing World and if only one in five secured a new regular subscriber our 'thousand could be achieved.
The committee thank all our regulars for their support and again appeal to those who look over' to get their own copy: Ringers generally must realise what a serious blow the Exercise would suffer if 'The Ringing World ' was to go out and after all the weekly World was to go ou cost is very modest.
For yourr support in the past you have heen thanked, for the present we now thank you and for the future we hope to thank you.

AN INTERESTING FOUR AT LINCOLN

St. Mary-le-Wigford Church. Lincoln, has four bells over 300 years old and here on November 29th a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minimus was rung by S. D. Etcell 1 D. M. A. Noble 2, J. Clarke 3, A. W. Froggatt (cond.) 4.
As far as can be ascertained, writes A. W. Froggatt, there have been no previous peals or quarters on the bells. The treble and second were cast by George Oldfield in 1636 and 3 and 4 by Henry Oldfield in 1616. They are the front four of a six, but again there seems to have been no more than four bells at the chiturch.
They were rehung, tuned and quarter turned by John Taylor and $\mathrm{Co}_{\text {o }}$ in 1932. The old wooden frame is still in the tower some eight feet above the present level. Th: tower is Saxon and is approximately 1.000 years old. The weights of the bells are given as treble $4 \mathrm{cwt} .26 \mathrm{lb} .:$ second. 4 cwt .24 ct .14 lb . third. 5 cwt. 2 qr. 26 lb .; tenor, $6 \mathrm{cwt}, 1 \mathrm{qr}$ 17 lb . (note A).

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Oxford University Society held its annual meeting on December 1st when the following now officers were elected:- Master: B. H. Wakefield (Pembroke) : secretaries, Miss H, F. Pardoe (St. Anne's) and R. M. Heyworth (University) : treasurer. P. A. Brand (Magdalen): steeplekeepers. T. J. Burchell (New College) and A. P. Foster (St. John's)
The proposed amendment to rule io (b) did not gain a two-third majority and was therefore defeated. The result is that people not matriculated at the University cannot hecome full members of the Society. in that they cannot ring peals for it. Many people felt that so open membership to those at affiliated Colleges would he to destroy the Society as a University Socicty.

FREEDOM CONFERRED ON ABERGAVENNY VETERAN

The Honorary Freedom of the Borough of Abergavenny, Monmouthshire, was conferred upon Mr. William Horsington on December 3 rd.
Mr. Horsington has been a ringer at St Mary's. Abergavenny, since 1898 and soon afterwards became a member of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association. He is now one of the oldest members of that Association His asscciation with the Abergavenny Town Council dates since 1913, when he was elected a councillor, for several years he was an alderman and three times Mayor of the Borough. Though he no longer serves on the Councll he is still in business as a builder at the age of 83 .
Members of St. Mary's band were amongst those who witnessed the ceremony in the Town Hall. Well deserved tributes were paid by the Mayor, the Town Clerk and the President of the local branch of the Builders' Association. Tribute was also paid on behalf of the ringers by the Rev. I. J. Richards, Rural Dean of Raglan and Treasurer of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association.
He referred to Mr. Horsington's long service to the belfry at St. Mary's, Abergavenny, and how he had maintained his close connection with the Church despite the many claims of responsible public life.
In his younger days he and his brotber and their friends formed a handbell band and provided much pleasure with tune ringing at concerts in villages surrounding Abergavenny. Later his son was a member of the handbell band and is also a ringer at St. Mary s. Some may remember their broadcast in 'Country Magazine' several years ago. Recently he was proud to ring on the bells of St. Mary s with his son and granddaughter. We congratulate him on his long and loyal service to his church and tower.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD

On November 28th, members of the Southampton University Guild of Change Ringers were joined by several past members and visitors in a day of ringing at various churches in and around Southampton. After a service at North Stoneham Church, conducted by the Rev. John Pibworth, they made their way to the • Mayflower Room,' Royal Pier, Southampton, where the fourth annual dinner was held.
After an excellent meal. the Master of Ceremonies. Mr. A. J. Luxford, proposed the loyal toast. The Guild secretary. Miss R. J. Kemp, welcomed Canon K. W. H. Felstead and the Rev. John Pibworth, and expressed the Guild's thanks for their help and cooperation during the past year. She then proposed the toast of "The Church.
In reply Canon Felstead, Master of the Winchester and Portsmoutn Diocesan Guild. spoke of the link between the church and those who rang the bells and emphasised the Christian duties of ringers

Mr. P. J. Joyce proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' and said how pleased he was to see so many people at the dinner. Those present included representatives from Sussex University, from London, Manchester and Nottingham, as well as past members of the Guild and local ringers.

Mr. M. J. Thomas replied to the toast and said that local ringers were grateful for the support of the S.U.G.C.R. in Sunday service ringing in Southampton. He then proposed the toast of The Guild.

The Master of the Guild. Mr. M. D. Trigg. gave his report of the Guild's activities during the past year, including the summer lour in Cornwall during the first week of July.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY REVIEW OF 1964

In the six years following the College foundation (1956) the introduction of week-end residential courses in ringing (one of the main objectives of the College) had been successfully accomplished-largely through co-operation with local education authorities. And it was becoming clear that the interest in, and successful running of, these courses was such as could be maintained by local ringing organisations, with such co-operation. In these circumstances the College has retained its practical interest in the week-end course as far as giving advice and help to local ringing organisations in planning their own
This has given the College more freedom to concentrate on its other objectives. These include, on the practical side, advising and helping with one-day courses for insiructors and with the initiation of serial courses (ten to twelve weeks) for beginners, with tests in bell control and elementary change-ringing. The literary side continues the compilation of - Parts' of the 'Ringers' Manual of Reference, the long-term programme of which includes some nine such parts.

SCHOOLS OF RINGING

Of those affiliated to the College it is a pleasure to report, particularly, upon the St Uny, Lelant (Cornwall) school: where it senior lutor, who is also the College President, has maintained a steady output of trained beginners, including three qualified tutors. in recent months. The Administrative Committee thanks all Tutors and congratulites all active affiliated schools on their good work in the Exercise.

WORLD-WIDE REPRESENTATION
Recent requests from Australia for copie of Part I of the College Manual have ic sulted in the provisional appointment of a representative of the College at Ballarat (Captain of St. Peter's), Victoria. The College now has representative officers in Ireland Scotland, Wales, most counties in England and overseas in Africa, United States of America and Australia. It is probable that in the New Year the College will be represented in the Cathedral Society at Christ church. New Zealand. The College is gratified by the widespread appreciation of, and thanks for. the advice and tuition given in the Manual. This more than makes worthwhile our (entirely voluntary) efforts. During the year there appeared in The Ringing World a feature article commending Part I of the Manual. And a significant recent order is for six further copies of this work on - Bell Handling and Control: for the County Lihrary (Norwich) of the Norfolk Education Committee.

OFFICERS AND GOVERNORS

These being triennial appointments are (with one sad exception as below) the same as for the previous year, and as listed in the 'Ringers' Diary, at the end of the list of Ringing Associations, etc. We are pleased to record that our Vice-President and senior Chaplain. Canon Gilbert Thurlow is currently the President of the Central Council. The sad exception referred to above is that of our severe loss in December last by the tragic death of the brilliant young Registrar of the College, David Jones, B.A. The College Administrative Committee is sympathetically grateful to Mrs. Edna Jones, his mother, for having stepped into the breach. The Committee regrets the forthcoming loss of service as Press and Public Relations Officer, hy Drgoing back to New Zealand. His work and interest during the past five years on hehalf of the College are greatly appreciated.

THE MORNING A TOWER FELL DOWN

By T. A. Bevis

There aie some farmers in Fulbourn They i.ave lately sold bells what was not their own;
They have sold the bells, likewise the church.
And cheat the poor of twice as much. And $O$ ! you Fulbourn farmers $O$ !
A T FIVE oclock on the morning of Trinity Sunday. 1766, the small town of Fulbourn, Cambs, Was prematurely awakened by a vibrative rumble, not unlike an carthquake of minor proportions. and songbirds which for the previous half-hour had united their usual musical welcome in increasing crescendo to a bright new day abruptly ended that dawn chorus, darting away at all points of the compass.

Sleepy residents in the vicinity of All Saints' Church, confused at the creaking of overhead timbers. became aware of dust which seemed to infiltrate through every nook and cranny of their dwellings. Excited voices outside inspired those who continued to sit in bed to hurl dull stupor to one side: white faces pressed against leaded windows and a score of eyes beheld the ruins of a once-lovely church. gaunt and strangely unsymmetrical in the strenz'hening daylight.

Some estate there was left. and all for the poor.
They have robbed them of half and something more:
Such dirty tricks will go hard on their sides.
For the $d-1$ will have them and sirge their hides.

And $\mathbf{0}$ ! you Fulbourn farmers 0 !
On the Saturday before this unexpected incident occurred Ful-proudly possessed two bourn proudly, possessed two churches-but now, only one-St. Vigor's-remained.

It transpired the steeple of All Saints had, over many years, progressively weakened, with the result that the old hells to which the inhabitants were so attached were unceremoniously deposited on the floor of the nave. One or two hells, like the church. were hadly broken. Nevertheless, the poor parishioners, fearful that the bells would he illegally removed. frequently mounted guard watching over them in the evenings, armed with cudgels, blunderbusses and pitchforks.

But fears subsided: their devoted interest temporarily waned: the watchers withdrew to the comfort of their homes and the warm'h of the local inns, preferable by far to the cold and comfortless shell of a fallen-down church. Thus in the dead of the night. the churchwardens approached two of the hells, hoisted them on to a wageon conveniently placed in Monk's Barn. nearby, and transferred them to the Cambridge wageon en roule in st. Neols, arriving there hefore morning light: when they were delivered into the hands of Edward Arnold, the Priory founder. Th: warden farmers. who are said to have given the proceede of the illegal' sile lowards renairs at St. Vigor's Church. managed in avnio the anery accusations and remonstrations of the agerieved narishioners of All Saints

Before the bells they could be sold.
Thev were forced to swear, as we ve been told:
They foreswore themselves-then they cried
For this my boys. we will be tried
And O! you Fulbourn farmers 0 !
The ruination of All Saints Church eventually brought about an Act of Parliament: this Dasced on May ? 111 d .1775 for the purpose of uniting the parish of All Saints with thar of St. Vigor. The Act enabled the Vicar and wardens to sell the bells and materials, the proceeds to be used in the repair of the latternamed edifice. As already stated two bells had already been removed : the other three with two existing bells at St. Vigor's were recast at St. Neots, and the complete ring of six was hung in the cower of Fulbourn's remaining church-rededicated to St. Vigor and All Saints-on May 9th, 1776.

Subscriptions amounted to $£ 141$. The bells cost $£ 262$ 2s. 3d. . the frame on which they are suspended $£ 45$. six new ropes $£ 115 \mathrm{~s}$., in all a total outlay of $£ 30817 \mathrm{~s}$. 3d.

The bells were inscribed:

1. BY AN ACT OF PARLIAMENT OBTAINED IN 1775
2. THE RUINS OF ALL SAINTS CHURCH WERE TAKEN DOWN
3. AND THE PARISHES UNITED. EDWARD ARNOLD FECIT ME 1776
4. AND THESE SIX BELLS CAST BY SUBSCRIPTION IN 1776
5. EDWD. ARNOLD OF ST NEOTS CAST THIS PEAL OF SIX BELLS ANNO DOMINI 1776
6. EDWARI) ARNOLD OF ST NEOTS FECIT 1776
I In THE CHURCH THE LIVING ANI) TO THE GRAVE DO SUMMON ALL
There is old Twigg, and young Twiggthe whining dissenter,
Says one to the ofner, this night we will venture
And says little Gibble-Gabble. I long for to go,
But first I will call on my neighbour Swingtoe.
And 0 ! you Fulbourn farmers 0 !

Exactly a year had passed between the instigation of the Act of Parliament and the casting of the new bells, the Act itself being conducted through both Houses of Parliament by Mr. Edward Hancock, the Rector's warden, and Sir John Cotton, the latter attending to the matter in its various stages in the House of Commons. The passing of the Act inspired a Fulbourn resident, William Rolfe, to write a hallad which is reproduced in this article.
The inhabitants of Fulbourn displayed unusual enthusiasm at having a brand new ring of six bells, which having arrived in the vicinity of the town were hauled by villagers a furlong or more before horses could be hitched to the waggon. On arrival at the tower a Mr. Edmund Andrews Salisbury sat astride the tenor bell when it was drawn up to its permanent place in the belfry. By a strange coincidence his was the first death for which this hell wats tolled.
A peal was rung on the hells on Decemher 7th. 1789, the author of which was Charles Dawson. It comprised 720 changes and wass called with 154 hobs and two-singles.

In the dead of the night this thievish Broke into the church as other thieyes do For to steal the bells and sell them all.
May the d-l take such churchwardens all.
And O! you Fulhourn farmers $\mathbf{O}$ !
Foomote.-The tower of St. Vigor and All Saints now contains a ring of eight bells, tenor 12 cwt .

Letters to the Editor

Non-Association Peals

Dear Sir,-The non-Association peal at Trumpington, Cambridgeshire, which appears on page 822 , prompts me to write regarding such peals generally.
I have considered for a very long time that ringers who participate in non-Association peals act in a most irresponsible manner in not recording their performances for the Guild or Association in which they are rung. If the Yorkshiremen in this particular peal could not afford the Ely Diocesan Associacould not afford the Ely Diocesan Association's life membership fee why not ring it in tion's life membership fee why not ring it in their own county? Could not College Youth and non-geographical societies record their performances as rung by that Society for the Association or Society in whose area the peal is rung.
Whilst on the subject of peals, I consider the time is long overdue for all Guilds and Associations to levy a peal booking fee, similar to the present practice of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. Central Council representatives were told at Truro this year that 'The Ringing World ' is again facing financial trouble and further increases in charges were to be expected. Surely the time has come when all peal ringers must take a responsible attitude towards their publication and not expect those not so interested in peal ringing to subsidise their indulgence.-Yours faithfully,
Heavitree, Exeter.
N. MALLET.

Directions to Churches

Dear Sir,-Could I please make a request to Guild and Association secretaries who put notices of ringing meetings in "The Ringing World'? It would be very helpful to people who do not know the area where the church is, to be given the name of the road it is in, 'Dove's Guide,' for example, only gives road names of inner London towers and a road map usually shows five or six churches in the area with no indication of the name.-Yours faithfully,

JULIE S. ARMSTRONG.

Leeds Ringers' Outing

Dear Sir.-I would like to make a comment on the second paragraph on page 817 of 'The Ringing World ' in the article reporting the outing of the Leeds Parish Church ing the

The so called ban at Felixkirk was not because "visiting ringers did damage;" hut because 'change ringers did damage.' Quite a difference when one considers that it was a non-change ringer who passed the comment, and so convinced the Vicar.
As regards the visit to Shildon: here again 1 regret to say that the beils have not been rung due to the attitude of the Vicar towards hells and ringing, and not as result of any apathy by local or surrounding ringers. In fact. had it not been that a short while ago Mr. T. Cooke. of Darlington, repaired broken stays, properly threaded the ropes, and did a few more odd jobs in the tower, I fear the Leeds ringers would have been unable to ring the bells.
However, I was pleased to know that R.H.D. and his band of visiting ringers were well received all aropnd. I can assure him that hospitality is not usually lacking in these parts.-Yours faithfully,

Sandhurst First Peal after Rededication

Dear Sir-With reference to the letter from Mr. Alan R. Baldock. of Eastbourne, in your issue of December 4th. the hells of St. issue of Nicholas'. Sandhurst, were rededicated by the Archbishop of Canterbury on Tuesday, Aeptember 15th, 1964.

Mr. Baldock's peal: August 10th, 1963.
Our peal: October 31st, 1964.
The item in Belfry Gossip is, therefore. correct-Yours faithfully.

Tower Caprain, Sandhurst.

Carols on Handbells

Dear Sir,-While I agree with your correspondent that 12 bells minimum are preferable for tune ringing, I hope this should not deter those who have an octave. For the first three years I have interested members of a Boys' Brigade Company in tune ringing on an octave of bells. Quite a number of hymn tunes and carols have their melody contained within a diatonic octave, and by a simple substitution of octave notes where this does not upset the sense of melody several more can be adapted
For those who don't quite know how to set about tune ringing, I number the bells one to eight, one becoming the highest note as in change ringing. Tonic sot-fa timing is adopted. each bar in quadruple time being sub-divided by a short vertical line. A colon, a full-stop and a comma correspond to minims. crochets. quavers and semi-quavers of staff rotation. For triple time the bar is subdivided first in three parts by colons, then each of the three in half by a full stop and further (if required) by the comma. The correct spacing of 'notes' is also important, as this gives a useful guide to 'quick' and 'slow' notes.
With regard to harmony playing, we find that until some considerable practice has been done in playing the melody only, there is no point in trying harmony, as the bells must be struck with absolute accuracy so that the notes in harmony sound absolutely simultaneously. The only way to do this is to watch the other ringers out of the corner of one's eye. so that the bells move and strike together.

I have not tried to adapt this system to more than eight bells, as that is all we have available at the moment. I feel. however, that for larger numbers of bells the use of the tonic sol-fa names would be-preferable to using numbers since double figures (such as 10. 11 and 12) could be confusing when written in quick succession. Semitones on smaller numbers of bells could be added and referred to by an encircled number.
Those who are musicians in other fields will. of course, not require it. but there may be some who have an 'ear for music' but have no knowledge of written music systems and would therefore be glad of some simple infor-mation.-Yours sincerely,

Lincoln,

Dear Sir.-Reading your- item re handhell carolling with interest. I think I can go one better, as we have always rung four bells each, which I think you can control hetter than two, and the simplest way I think to learn is by ringing Queen's and Whittingtons which gives you plenty of confidence leading uo to tune playing.
We had the honour of being the first handbell ringers in the county to broadcast handhells away back in 1924, four bells each and four in number which was a perfect transmission from 5 IT New Street, which was then the Birmingham Studio.

Four bells are rung by striking the toD two outwards and the bottom two downwards and this calls for regular practice together. We spent one night a week all the year round, change ringing and tune playing: we were ready for anything, and believe me. we got olenty of engagements. My advice to young handbell ringers is to get going with four bells each. which makes tune playing more compact and worth listening 10.-Yours truly,
R. H. MANSELL.

King's Norton Tenor

Dear Sir.-During the recent correspondence concerning King's Norton hells, nohody has mentioned that the tenor has a rather unique slider mechanism.
Apparently the bells were originally never fitted with stays and sliders. When these were fitted only the tenor presented a problem because there was no room for a slider; in fact the clapper flight has a slot in the floor boards to allow it to swing. The problem was overcome by making a wooden channel with a sliding hlock of wood running in it.-Yours faithfully,

The Toast this Christmas is "The Old 'Uns"

M[R. JOHN EUSTON, that great worker on behalf of veteran bellringers, sends us this photograph of the veteran bellringers at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, as a reminder to the Exercise of how much they owed to those who during the first 25 years of this century paved the way for a better life for us all. Most of those portrayed have given over 50 years' service, often to a local church, and with others have been responsible for passing on the art to the next generation. And this Christmas let us all have a toast to 'The Old 'uns' and trust that as many as possible will be present next June to enjoy the good tea Mrs. Davis and her helpers provide.

TOURING TAUNTON AREA

On November 28th, a score of ringers from the Axbridge, Bridgwater and Chew branches of the Bath and Wells Association spent an enjoyable afternoon and evening in the Tauncon area. Ringing at Hillfarrance, Nynehead and Langford Budville preceded a very welcome tea at Hillcommon.
Further touches on the good little five at Heathfield and on the melodious six at Brad-ford-on-Tone were followed in true Somerset style by a social gathering at "the local.'

The great improvements, including redecoration of the beltry, at Nynehead (although the young lady rising the second still received a shower of twigs), was noted and also the callchange cards of Grandsire at Hillfarrance entitled. The bells of Hillfarrance Changes 'Methods Committee please note !
-Thank yous' are extended to the respective incumbents and those who met us at the towers.
G.R.M.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

There was a better attendance when the Bingham District held its meeting at Whatton on November 14th than on the previous occasion, and all members and visitors enjoyed it Bingham was proposed for the annual District meeting on January 9th. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Harrison, who specially mentioned the Rector and the ladies responsible for the good tea.
Next mecting: Holme Pierrepont. December 12th.

WORCESTER AND DISTRICTS

The annual meeting of the Western Branch, held at Wychbold on December 5th, attracted an attendance of about 60 ringers. During the afternoon, the six bells at St. Mary-de-Wyche were rung in rounds for the beginners and in methods up to London Surprise. A pleasing feature was the large attendance of younger members and if their enthusiasm is encouraged, there should be no worries for the future of the Exercise in the area.
Evensong was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. 3. R. Hunter-Bailey, and members of the Association robed to form a choir. The Vicar in his welcome told of the pleasure he found listening to Wychbold bells on the rare occasions on which they were rung. At the present time. the bells are silent on Sundays through lack of ringers, and he hoped that our visit might stimulate some interest in the village.
Tea at the 'Bowling Green' was immediately followed by the meeting. The officers were re-elected including the Master, Mr. J. Clements, and the secretary. Mr. A. Jopp, both of whom were thanked for their work. The dates and places of the meetings for 1956 were arranged. New members were elected from Upton Snodsbury, where Mr. S. T. Holt is training a young band to ring on an 18 cwt . six with a very long draught of rope and a repu:ation for difficult handling, from All Saints", Worcester, and from St. Swithun's, Worcester, which now has its first members for about 50 years.

OBITUARY

MR. W. J. COPE

Mr. Walter James Cope, who died in St. Andrew's, Hospital. Norwich, on December 1st, at the age of 80 , was for 60 years a ringer at Lichfield Cathedral.
His 72nd birthday was marked by a dinner in his honour and a presentation by the Dean of lichfield as a tribute to his services to bellringing at the Cathedral and Alrewas.
Although a regular service ringer and one who rarely missed a practice, it was not until he was well over 60 that he rang anything other than Grandsire. After being associated with teaching Peter. Dennis and Joan Beresford, the opportunity came to ring more advanced methods. He rang in a peal of Double Norwich Major in honour of his 70th birthday, and went on to ring a peal of Cambridge. Major and also to practise and ring a variety of the more advanced Doubles, Minor and Major methods. He rang in the first peal on Lichfield Cathedral bells after they were recast in 1947, and took part in ringing for all royal events, covering the reigns from the time of Queen Victoria so the birth of the present Prince of Wales.

At the age of 69 . and on the death of his wife, he moved from Lichfield to Alrewas, where he set about teaching a band.
During the last few years of his life when he lived with his eldest daughter at Fakenham. Norfolk, illness prevented him from doing any active ringing. Almost to the end he read The Ringing World, with keen interest.
He was burned at Fakenham on Dec. 5th.

REDEDICATION

SKEFFINGTON, LEICS
The bells of St. Thomas a Becket, Skeffington. Leics. were rededicated, after rehanging. by the Bishop of Leicester, the Rt. Rev. R. R Williams, during the Harvest Festival service on Oct. 25 th . The cost of rehanging was met by Major R. B. Collie M.F.H., in memory of his wife Jennifer. who was tragically killed in the hunting field.
A local band is now being formed under the guidance of Messrs. Norman and Geoff Geary, of Billesdon.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Rochester District

Some 70 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Rochester District held at Rochester Cathedral recentiy. Many took advantage of ringing on the Cathedral's bells before Evensong, at which the Dean welcomed the Association.
Following tea at the Crown Hatel, the Rev. Peter N. Bond presided at the business meetu ing. Tribute was paid by Mr. L. Mitchell. District secretary, in his report, io Mr. Albert Dunk and Mr. George Eastman. of Sittinghourne, whose deaths were recorded with regret.
Officers elected were: Mr. Mitchell, secretary; Mr. Len Crouch. Frindsbury, Ringing Master; and Messrs, T. Barton and $F$. J. Cheal, District representatives to K.C.A. Mr. Christopher Osenton, the retiring Ringing Master, was thanked for his services, and also the Dean. Ringing followed until 9 p.m.

By-Meeting at Frindsbury

The by-meeting was held at the new Ringing Master's home tower, Frindsbury, in wintry weather. Despite this some 30 faithful members had an enjoyable meeting. A warm welcome came from the Vicar (Rev. T. G. S. Prentice). who conducted the church service. and an excellent tea was kindly given by local ringers. The votes of thanks were proposed by Mr. L. Mitchell, and ringing continued to a late hour.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Chew Branch was held at Stanton Drew on December 5th. Ringing in a variety of methods preceded the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. D. Russell. About 40 members and friends were served with an excellent tea by the local company at the Church Hall. after which the Vicar took the chair for the business meeting.
The secretary, in his report, made a plea for outstanding subscriptions to be paid before December 31 st in order to complete his records.
A total of 12 new members were elected; Kingston Seymour 2, Portbury 2, Easton in Gordano 1. Back well 1, Stanton Drew 1 and Wrington 5. Subject to permission, meetings were arranged as follows: Quarterly (April 1lth). Backwell: practice meetings: Japuary, Tickenham: February, Yatton; March, Publow. The striking competition for 1965 will be held during May at Dundry, and the subcommittee was empowered to appoint the judge. A suggestion that the lest piece should include a fall was favourably received, but it was pointed out that the extra time involved would tend to make the proceedings rather drawn out. In the circumstances. it was decided that the idea was not at present practicable.
A suggestion that the service touch at quarterly meetings should be rung by a band to be chosen by the Ringing Master was supported on all sides, and will take effect forthwith.
Officers elected for 1965: Chairman and Ringing Master: Mr. H. W. Knight: vicechairmen: Messrs. C. Bishop and L. Derrick: secretary. Mr. D. G. Yeo: seporter: Mr. J. Brain.

Following the usual votes of thanks, ringing took place both at Stanton Drew ( 5 ) and Chew Magna (8) Chew Magna (8).

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT

The December meeting of the Society was held at Ecclesfield on Dec. Sth. About 20 members braved the weather for the afternoon ringing, and methods from Plain Bob Minor to Cambridge Major were rung. Twenty-five members sat down to an excellent tea, and the business meeting followed. with Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert in the chair. Votes of thanks were passed to the local company for the excellent arrangements made After tea ringing consinued until about 9 oclock, when a good standard of ringing was maintained.
Next meeting: Sheffield Cathedral on January 2nd.

BELFRY GOSSIP

With the ringing of a peal at Pluckley on December 5 th there have now been peals rung on all ringable rings in Kent.

By ringing a peal of Kent T.B. Major at Finedon on November 28 th. Murray A. Coleman, of Rothwell. completed the Kent 'family from Minor to Maximus.
The quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles at Henlow. Beds, was arranged as a farewell to W O. F. Mitchell, who has been a great help to Henlow tower whilst stationed in the neighhourhood. He is now posted to Norfolk.

We are asked to state that the composition used in the peal at Elveden, on page 821. Was by T. B. Worsley. It was also the 50 th peal together of G. E. Thoday and Alan M. Barber.

With deep regret we record the passing. on December 5th, of Mr. Harry Broughton, who since 1903 had been associated with ringing in Leicester. A memoir will appear in our next issue.

Apologies are offered to two "unknown. visitors to Romford. Essex. tower on Sunday. December 6th, who were unable to gain access to the ringing chamber as a quarter peal was in progress.

The peal attempted at Holme Pierrepont. Nottingham, for Sir Winston Churchill's birthday had to stop at the end of the fourth 720 hecause of a technical fault with the second bell. Thanks to the prompt service of Messrs. Taylors. of Loughborough, ringing was resumed at the week-end.

Kessingland, Suffolk, has lost a popular Rector by the departure of the Rev. T. Drury. During the eight years of his incumbency. many improvements have been made to St . Edmund's Church, the most interesting from a ringer's point of view being the rehanging. recasting of the tenor and augmentation of bells from five to six in 1960-61.

Sir Winston's Birthday

This week we publish a page of peals rung to honour the guith birthday of Sir Winston churchill. Inere are also hosts of quarter peals boih in last week's and this week's issue, all testitying to the esteem and affection with wnich this great war leader and statesman is held.
I wo new methods have been added to the list of surprise methods in his honour. Mr. John $R$. Mayne conducted the first peal of Chartwell Surprise Major at Harrow Weald and Mr. Philip A. Corby the first of Churchill burp:ise Major at Westerham. We hope that other Surprise bands will keep these methods evergreen before the ringing public.

His Old Constituency

In honour of Sir Winston's S. Churchill's $90 t h$ birthday, three quarter peals were rung in the towers of the new London borough of Redbridge, part of which was Sir Winston's old constituency of Wanstead and Woodford. Two quarters of Bob Minor were rung at Wanstead by local ringers whilst at Barkingside a quarter of Stedman Triples was scored At Woodford, where the local band rang a short touch at 7 a.m., they unfortunately lost a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples in the evening.

Youth's Tribute

Of the many quarter peals rung in honour of the 90 th birthday of Sir Winston Churchill. that at Accrington calls for special comment as the conductor, R. Helliwell, is only 11 years of age. Mr. Roger Leigh writes that he rang the ili cut. tenor very well, but needed a little assistance with the conducting. The g]warter was a tribute of youth as three others were 15 and only two of the band middle aged.

Mr. Peter Laflin's 75th

A happy family party was held at 25 Hallam Street, Stockport, the home of Mr. Peter Laflin, on December 5 th, for his $75 t h$ birthday. After tea, the birthday cake, surmounted by a small golden swinging bell and bearing seven candles, one for each grandchild, was cut to the singing of 'Happy Birthday' and the toast was 'Many Happy Returns.
Handbells were rung to rounds and call changes by ewo of Peter's grandchildren, William (aged 7) 1-2, Elizabeth (aged 9) 3-4, daughter Frances 5-6, and Peter hımself 7-8. Son and son-in-law also joined in the ringing.
A. H.

Brightness at Rotherham Rotherham is being floodlit and illuminated on a bigger scale than usual this year. The tower of the parish church and spire are illuminated by a concealed floodlights on the roof, a total of about 20,000 watts being used. The illumination of the town centre for the Christmas period is centred on the Parish Church. The suitch-on of the new installation was marked by a quarter of Stedman Caters.

The Bride Must Wait

The brother of an Oxford University ringer has postponed his wedding. writes a University correspondent so that he can ring in a peal attempt, but his fiancee refuses to postpone it a second time so as to allow him to attend the University's Easter tour.

82 and Still Coing Strong

On November 28th friends of that grand old ringer from Merseyside, Mr. Lester Gray, of Wallasey, were able to join him in ringing a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at St. Mary's, Liscard, to celebrate his 82nd birthday. This peal was rather later than originally inlended as a peal of Grandsire Cinques at St. Nicholas', Pier Head, Liverpool, on his actual birthday was unfortunately lost after three hours ringing. On both occasions Lester belied his years and rang as well as any of the band. Unfortunately, the second peal could not be attempted at St. Nicholas', but those who rang on both occasions wished him all the best and expressed the hope that there would be many more Lester birthday peals. Lester was presented with a pipe to mark the occasion, and the large number who joined in the festivities after both peals showed the high regard with which he is held.

Rope Breaks in Wedding Peal

With only 104 changes to go, a peal of Stedman Triples was lost at Milton-nextGravesend, on December 5th, through the treble rope breaking. It was for the wedding that day of two local ringers-Miss E. K. (Beth) Goddard and Mr. David Cole. De:pite the mishap, the ringers wish Beth and David health and happiness. The band was $F$. J. Cullum 1, C. Ossingden 2, E. J. Beer 3, S. Sandford 4, S. Rayfield 5, H. E. Audsley 6, G. J. Butcher (cond.) 7. J. Eden (conductor) 8.

To Be Ordained Next Sunday

A well known Surrey ringer, Mr. J. Tomsett. of Cheyne Hill, Surbiton, is to be ordained a deacon at Southwark Cathedral next Sunday. He took the Bishop of Southwark's three year ordination course for business men, studying in the evenings. He is to be a curate at Surbiton. Many friends, we are sure, will remember him in their prayers.

Bingham District Happenings

A certain young boy attempted a peal
On a very rough five whicn were hard to wheel. He pulled and he tugged as the blisters grew fatter,
The conductor looked grim and started to natter.

The boy on the fourth said, ' I'm feeling quite sore.'
You'll have to stick it, my lad, there's not many more.
Sixteen minutes to go and then a good feed,
A pint of old ale, that's all you need.
The poor lad's hands began to bleed,
He said he felt like a chopped up weed.
He was nearly on his knees as though getting down to pray
When his prayers were answered in a most peculiar way.

A sudden noise like thunder, and a subdued voice was heard to say,
'I've lost my ruddy clapper, but I haven't broke the stay."
TIT FOR TAT

Sevenoaks Improvements

The Parochial Church Council at Sevenoaks have budgeted for the rehanging of the bells in a new iron frame and the recasting of the 6th during 1965. The go of the bells has deteriorated considerably in recent years, but the ringers felt that in spite of this they wanted to play their part in the general cclebrations in the parish to mark the Rector's brathons in the parish to mark the Rector's 25iversary in the ministry and ten years in the parish by ringing a peal. The Rev. E. M. T. McLellan has always shown exceptional kindness and encouragement to the ringers, who could have provided from the local band sufficient numbers to ring a peal but were glad to have the assistance of Mr. R. W. Hinde to ring the 7 h . A good peal was rung.

Feet on the Ladder

Cranbrook ringers are proud of their progress. The touch of 168 Grandsire Triples rung for Matins on November 29th is believed to be the first ever recorded by a local band. Another progress step was 120 Plain Bob Minor rung on December 1st, as a tribute to Sir Winston Churchill, following his 90th birthday. Soon we hope to record the local quarter. Good luck!

Musical Uproar

A reader culls the following from 'The Autocar,' Nov. 27th, Disconnected Jotting, by the Scribe. It lends interest to journeys, and is not too distracting to enjoy odd names, activities and loads on commercial vehicles. A particularly noisy truckload in Wandsworth had a musical uproar. It was laden with fragments of broken bells, church type.?

Ceographical Mix-up

A correspondent from Hampshire writes: Re peal of Bob Major rung on Nov. 14th at Mickleton (page 821), Mickleton is not in Warwickshire. It is in Gloucestershire, although in the Diocese of Coventry-and to complete the confusion, the tower is affliated to the Worcestershire and Districts Association.

Local Ladies' Peal on Men's Bells

The first peal by a local band on the bells of Whatton-in-the-Vale. Notts, took place on Nov. 30th and congratulations are due to the three ladies (two first pealers) on ringing a peal on what are generally regarded as men's bells. Best wishes are extended to Miss C. Ward on her birthday, a day she shares with that most illustrious gentlemar, Sir Winston Churchill.

A Continental Tower Snatch

Stephen Etcell, of Sincil Bank Secondary School, Lincoln, who started to learn ringing last May, heard bells ringing at Zell-am-See. Austria. while on holiday last August. He went to investigate and found four bells hung one above another and rung by four men on the ground fioor to rounds and plain hunting. He joined them in rounds and hunting and in lowering the bells. The bells were rung in English style, but the ropes had no sallies and several coils had to be held in the hand while ringing. The only way of reaching the bells was by an external ladder fixed to the wall.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Stow-on-the-Wold Branch

The Rev. L. W. Potter, presiding at the annual general meeting of the Stow-on-theWold Branch held at Stow-on-the-Wold on Dec. 4th, complimented the branch on having successful year. Paying tribute to the secetary's report he was pleased to note that there was an increase in membership and that the meetings had been well attended. He was also pleased that the requests for ringing on special occasions hiad been carried out and hat every effort had been made to visit towers where no regular ringing took place.
The branch's proposal to the Association That the form of service held at meetings throughout the Diocese should be revised was confirmed and that the Association gencral secretary be advised of the form of services that took place in the Branch giving full particulars of prayers and hymns that were used.
To give full publicity of Branch meetings the Rural Dean said that he would insert in the Deanery Magazine notification of forthcoming meetings. It was also decided that clergy who wanted their bells rung for special occasions were to contact the Branch secretary.
Elections: Rev. L. W. Potter, R.D. chairman: Mr. L. C. Dowdeswell secretary and reasurer for the fourth time: Mr. A. W. Wright, of Bourton-on-the-Water, Branch ringing master: Mr. L. Joynes, of Longhorough, his deputy. Mr. John. Hickox, of Moreton-in-the-Marsh was appointed 10 represent the Branch on the Association Management Committee
A short service was conducted in the afternoon by the Rector, the Rev. I. C. Heron, who in his address spoke of the services that the bellringers were giving to the church. He stressed that bellringing was not a a hobby and that the ringing of church bells should be regarded as praise to God and not as an enjoyment for the ringers themselves.
After tea further ringing took place when some excellent 'touches' of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. For the first time two eight bell towers were available and the meeting concluded with a visit to ring the bells of St. David's, Moreton-in-Marsh. At this tower 'toushes' of Bob Major and Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. D.

LECKHAMPTON'S RINGING CURATE NOW A VICAR

The Rev. John Homfray, for the last seven ycars curate of St. Peter's, Leckhampton, was inducted to the living of Staverton and Boddington, Gloucestershire on December 3rd. Mr. Homfray, who is the Secretary of the Cheltenham branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Guild, has been very active training young ringers during his stay at Leckhampton and there is now a strong young hand ringing regularly for Sunday services. On November 28th the ringers met at the church to present to Mr. Homfray an oak chiming clock as a token of their appreciation of his services to the tower. After the presentation was over an attempt was made to ring a peal of Grandsire Triples but whether the ringers were affected by their mixed emotions on Mr. Homfray's preferment or by the fact that at the last minute Mr Brian Read, who was to have attempted his first peal, had broken his toe and had to stand down is not known but neither a peal nor cven a quarter peal which was subsequently attempted would 'go.' The ringers taking part were: D. A. Newcombe, W. A. Farmer, A J. Newman. A. C. Newman, T. N. Stephens H. Read. A. Pendlebury and Rev. John Homfray.
Though bitterly disappointed the ringers were determined not to allow the occasion to pass unmarked and on the evening of Mr. Homfray's induction, there being no bells at Staverton. they rang a quarter peal at Leckhampton starting at the same time as the induction service. 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung in 41 minutes by $\mathrm{A} P$. ## CAMPANALOGIA - 1702

By R. ROGER SAVORY

BELL-RINGER 1700 A.D." This must surely have been a somewhat onerous title to bear in public in those days, for there were undoubtedly many slurs cast upon the Exercise during that period (some probably not without foundation). To take up the Art must therefore, for many a man, have needed considerable persuasion. This latter fact is evidenced by the preamble contained in a Campanalogia of that day. for the authors of this intriguing little book spend considerable time and effort in attempting to persuade their uninitiated readers that the many objections voiced against ringing were but illfounded.

It is my good fortune to possess an original (though not complete) copy of this Campanalogia of 1702 . written by J.D. and C.M.. and probably printed in Cambridge. Should any reader be able to supply more comprehensive information about this book. I would be very pleased to hear from him.

Several of my ringing friends who have seen this Campanalogia have derived a great deal of amusement from the preamble; beside expressing wonder at some of the very "unorthodox" methods described, such as Jumping Doubles (none of your simple one step at a time changes of position as used today. but leaping from lead to 3 rds to 5 ths to 3 rds and back to lead in 4 blows!).

However, of far more general appeal I feel would be a few extracts from the worthy authors' persuasive preamble which. in their valiant defence of the Exercise, conjures up much of the life of 250 years ago.

I feel sure that many of the 'Objections' which the authors quote as being representative of public opinion of that day may be heard, if in somewhat modified terms. even today. Perhaps some of the authors' counters might be of use today also! But let the words of 1702 speak for themselves.

NONE MORE DIVERTING

Amongst Diversions and Recreations practiced by. and delightful to. the Inhabitants of this Island, none is more diverting. ingenious. harmless and healthful than the Art of Ringing used and practiced with Discretion. And although it be esteemed by the Generality of People to be a mean and mechanical Exercise yet. were it to be duly weighed and considered by a Judicious and Impartial Person, it would be found to be very artful. and not to be attained to its highest Perfection but by an ingenious and thoughtful Undertaker. (!)

It is convenient and requisite by way of Preamble to say somewhat in Opposition to what is offered and laid down by a company of brainless and unthinking Persons (who nevertheless think their Judgements to be universal) . . . and make out what they so irrationally and partially have spoke and uttered in Disgrace and Disparagement of the Ingenious Art. which has so worthily deserved the Praise and good word of all People."

And first. tis objected against as mean and mechanical because 'tis followed by Persons whose course of Lives (as reported) has been infamous; and also by Persons whose Subsistence is gained by painful and hard labour; and therefore not fit for one that has been genteely and handsomely brought up and educated.

To this we Answer. That there is no Exercise or Diversion whatsoever, followed or used by the Nobility or Gentry, but is used and followed by the Common Sort of People, and with whom they at some time never scruple or think it beneath their Dignity to make them their Fellows and Glass or Pot Companions.

The same Objection may be made against a Person of Quality whose delight is in playing on the Violin or any other Common Instrument of Musick: because many poor and silly Fellows get a Livelihood by going from Door to Door and House to House playing, their unpleasing and tuneless Musick, and bear the name of Scrapers or Fidlers.

But as Musick is made more genteel and harmonious by Consorts composed of the most Skilful of Musicians. so is the Art of Ringing made the like by a skilful number of Persons incorporated into a Society, sober and subject to Rules consistent and coherent with Civility and Genteel Behaviour. Several very eminent Masters of Musick have followed and diverted themselves much in Ringing... an Exercise and Diversion by them much esteemed to be very harmonious, and not in the least inferior to the Melody of the Most Musical of Instruments.

Another Objection made against the Practice of this Art is, That it withdraws and alienates Men's minds from the Business by which they obtain and procure Subsistence for themselves and Families, making them Drunkards, neglective of their Occupations and Trades, and consequently bring utter Ruin and Impoverishment on themselves and all that depend upon them.

In Answer to this we say, That there is no Exercise or Diversion whatsoever but will bring and reduce a Man to Necessity and Penury, unless used with Discretion, Prudence and Moderation. Nay. though he has an Estate to support his Extravagancy and Profuseness for a time. yet in the end it concludes with such Estate spent. Imprisonment to himself and want for his whole Family, as appears by daily Examples! Whereas, on the contrary. it never was known that any Person ever brought himself to Penury by following this Exercise. but if at any time a Ringer has failed and come to want, it will be found, upon a strict and exact Examination of the matter, that his undoing was occasioned by his following Gaming. Horse-racing. Cockfighting or some such mischief.

And now to shew that no Inconveniences arise or happen to the Business and Imployments of Men who exercise and recreate themselves in this Ingenious Art (especially such Men that are incorporated into a Society and subject themselves to the sober and civil Rules and Orders thereof). For the time usually set out and appointed for the Practice and Excreise of this Artful Diversion is in an Evening, when all sorts of People leave off from their Business and Occupations, and disperse themselves some to one place. some to another, to recreate themselves with some Diversion or Sport. thereby to sweeten the Cares and Fatigue of a multiplicity of troublesome (and sometimes unprofitable) Business or Work. Therefore it may as well be thought that those leisure hours Men spent in the Enjoyment of the Bottle and their Friends should be (at least) as hurtful as the leisure Hours spent in this Exercise.

A third Objection made against Ringing is. That it is too laborious and painful to yield or afford any Pleasure or Diversion. Further, that Ringing occasions so great Heats and Sweatings that a Man subjects himself to catch great Colds, whereby he endangers his Life, and further, begets more damage to his Purse for Recovery of his Health than he receives Pleasure and

BRISTOL CITY'S ANNUAL

-The annual general meeting of the City Branch always takes place on the first Saturday in December, sometimes at Redcliffe and sometimes at Si. Stephen's. This year it was at St. Stephen's and we were able to absorb the beauty of this lovely church now nearing its quincententary and much enhanced in the last few years by cleaning and reconstruction of the altar and organ in a most fitting and tasteful modern style. St. Stephen's is a 'must' to see for anyone visiting Bristol.

The fluent readings of the minutes of the last annual and quarterly mectings by John Hunt passed without much comment. A spate of reports from the officers revealed that the Master thinks that the standard of ringing in Bristol is higher than anywhere else in the south-west (points south and west, please note!): that the ringing activities of the Bristol Branch have bucked up a bit lately: that the attendance at Saturday afternoon meetings is abysmal and that at other general meetings nearly as bad: that the attendance and enthusiasm at the special Monday evening practices recently started are most satisfactory: that the membership of the Branch has risen this year (just) for the first time for a few years and that the entire administration of the Branch costs the princely sum of about $£ 3$ for a whole year. The chairman put forward the interesting theory that all a general meeting should do is elect its officers and then leave them alone to organise things how they please, though he did add that if the officers made a hash of it or. worse still, were just indolent they should have to answer for their sins to a full meeting.

Despite these heresies, and to his own surprise, the chairman was re-elected without opposition. So ton was the new Master, though in his absence but with his connivance. Pat Bird had asked to stand down after two years excellent work. The secretary and the Management Committce representative are much too good to lose and were sentenced.

Anticipating their election, the officers had met the previous Wednesday after Z-Cars and produced a suggested programme for 1965. which they hoped that they or their successors would effect. Having been elected, they were therefore able to say that they would: (1) arrange one or two instruction courses at towers where ringing was really. strugeling: (2) continue to have learners nractices at St. John-on-the-Wall from 6.307.45. followed by Surnrise Royal practices at Christ Church from 8-9 on the second and fourth Mondays of every month: (3) hold a 12-bell pradtice at Redcliffe every $0^{+ \text {ther }}$ month on a Thursday: (4) hold a striking competition sometime in the summer: (5) have two business meetings for discussion of activities sometime hetween now and the next A.G.M.: (6) have two Corporate Communions during the year: and (7) not have any more general Branch ringing meetings on Saturdays or any other day. Diher ways of visiting the various towers in the Branch would be sought. To this programme Albert Tyler offered to add a shert course on "What is a method and how to ring it for learners sometime in February or March. This was most gratefully accepted as were several other practical and helpful suggestions. So watch out for the secretary's handbills if you live in or around Bristol: they will give all the details.

Following this we had a somewhat turgid discussion ahout the Association's new set of rules now in some sort of draft form. Matter, of principle and noints of order were raised and the only motion put and carried was that we should pass on to the next business. That we did.
This was A.O.B. and it was mercifully short. It was suggested that the meeting should be reported in The Ringing World and that the chairman had so much to sav that he ought to write it. Hence this. More important than this was that Dick Bowden expressed the thanks of us all for those who had laboured to put on this meeting and 10 feed us so satisfactorily

GOLDEN WEDDING OF CHATHAM COUPLE

T
HIS Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norris, of 39 . Dale Sireet, Chatham are Nobrating their golden wedding. Mr. Norris celebrating their golden wedding. Mr. Norris is one of the colourful ringers of the past with a wonderful record of service. 61 years being spent at St. Mary's. Chatham. and 42 years at Rochester Cathedral.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Norris were born in the services. their respective fathers serving in the Royal Marines - Charles at Chathan in September. 1889, and his wife at Lewes in November, 1891. Mr. Norris was educated at the R.M. School. Chatham. St. Mary's School, Chatham, and finally at St. Mark's, Gillingham. He was apprenticed as a boilermaker to an engineering firm at Strood, Kent, and completed his time in 1910.

Mr . Norris went into the belfry at St . Marys, Chatham, from the choir in 1903. He remembers seeing the hells from John Warner's hoisted into the lower-a ring of eight. 25 cwt. in E flat. Chatham had a stoney bard until 1906, when the late F. A. Holden joined the Royal Marines and took the band in hand. He was a very good tutor and they were joined by anc!her ringer.

The 1964 tour found the Society in the Peak district and the Yorkshire dales. Ringing and striking were very much up to and, more often than not, above the par expected. in keeping with the weather which. apart from one or two days in the middle week. was excellent. Derhy Cathedral was the first tower of the tour and Northallerton the last. having visited between-time: Sheffield. Bradford. Keighley. Ripon, Middlesbrough and West Hartlepools. The company was not great in number at any one time, but sufficiently large enough to ensure a reasonable variety of methods on all numbers of bells. Methods ranged from Grandsire 10 10 Soliced Surprise Maior and Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal. Friction among the party there was, but it was far outweighed by the high degree of conviviality and camafaderie that the Society enjoys. All in all the tour was successful.
The reunion was held on December 5th in Derhy, and the ringing was plentiful and the standard high. After an excellent meal, the annual meeting commenced and the following officers were elected: President. D. A. Frith: Ringing Masior. M. A. Lindsey: Deputy Ringing Masters, D. Mottershead and K. Fleming (recently back from sailing the high seas): secretary and treasurer. W. A. Lacey: peal secretary, M. Vernon.
The 1965 tour will be once more in the West Country-but the starting date has been advanced to Saturday, July 3rd, from August, although the duration still remains three weeks. Apologies from absent friends were acknowledged and past officers were thankedfor their hard work in keeping the Soctety ticking.

THE SOCIETY OF RAMBLING RINGERS

The band picked up Grandsire Triples and Boh Major, and Mr. Holden called the first peal by a local in March, 1910 -Holt's Original with six first pealers. Many good men joined the services about 1911. including Jim Bennett. George Gilbert, of the Royal Engineers, and two men of the Essex Regiment, Cpl. H. H. Bonney, who was killed on the Somme. and Fred Souter, with whon he rang a peal of Grandsire Caters at Rochester Cathedral after the war

In November. 1914. Mr. Norris enlisted in the Royal Artillery and was trained as an A.A. gunner. That Christmas he was married. He was in France from January 1st, 1916, until March, 1919. After demobilisation. he returned to his trade as a boiler-maker and in 1935 went to the Naval Yard at Chatham. At Rochester Cathedral he has served under six deans and three archdeacons, and at Chatham under eleven rectors. He is a great believer in Sunday service ringing and has rung about 185 peals. His two sons both do a hit of ringing at times. I have no regrets in my 76th year. savs Charles. a good wife, two good sons and four grandehildren.

To Answer this we declare. That we never have known or heard (though we have made it our business to enquire of the oldest of Ringers) that ever any Person received the least damage to his Health by Ringing (unless rash and inconsiderate Persons have been careless of themselves). But on the contrary tis well known by experience to he very healthful Exercise, moderately and with Di,cretion practised and us d . For, by moderate Sweatings, all ill Humours and corrupt Moistures are dispelled from the Body.
As io its being supposed laborious and painful. 'tis no such thing. For tis perfectly done by Flight. else how could a Man be able to stand for an Hour or two (or more, as has been done) and be, as this Exercise requires, all the time in continual motion. But this Flight is to be obtained only by practice and by observing Ancient Practitioners.
The more ingenious. innocent and recreativ? any Diversion is, the more it ought, according to Reason. to be followed esteemed and loved by those Persons who. for the sake of their Health or with intent to drive away melancholy Thoughts and sooth the worldly Cares and Crosees they often meet with, spend their vacant and leisure Hours in the practice of some Sport. Art or Diversion. Non: whereof can be more suitable than the Practice and Use of this Art."
Although *Ringer $1964^{\circ}$ does not have to hear the burden of the 'Obiections of 1700, probably he has acquired others to take their place. such as Noise Nuisance which. in the days of 'Cockfighting or some such mischipf. apparently did not rate too highly on the list. Perhaps the public of 1700 did not dare tangle with the nractitioners of such a mean and mechanical Exercise

DEREK JONES WRITES ON NORTHERN IRELAND

WIFTEEN ringers and a fellow traveller climbed the steps of St. Nicholas' Church at Liverpool Pier Head on the evening of July 31st, with the Ulster Prince berthed nearby, shortly to sail to Belfast and adven ture around the towers of the Northern Counties of the Emerald Isle. The car had already been loaded on to the Ulster Spinner, and two further ringers had found their separate ways to Ulster. The opening ringing on the fine 13 bells was encouraging, and further encouragement came when Jack Brown worked miracles in finding nearly everybody sleeping accommodation on the crowded ship.
After a rush to disembark the car and secure breakfast. and the puzzle, to be repeated several times, of fathoming the way through the one-way maze of Belfast City. we located St. Donards, where the proceedings opened with a curious concoction which was afterwards understood to be Grandsire Minor The old stagers of the party, with one of the youngest members on the treble ringing his first peal in Ireland. then warmed (literally due to a liny ringing room) to a brisk peal of Bob Minor upon the tuneful light six Afier a hurried lunch and the spectacle of an Orange procession (with fife bands, banners and bright uniforms) the fine light ten of St. Mark's, Dundela, ware soon pealing to cirandsire Caters: this proved the first dis appointment, for a miscall came with only two courses to go after some excellent ringing Not yet finished with hells. we repaired to Holywood on the southern shores of Belfast Lough, and after finding a fish and chip shop which proved a larity is 1reland, we met John Dunwoody who introduced us to a series of touches on his pleasant newly rehung octave It was a great pleasure to meet the veteran Walter Pratt. Most of the party were staying at guest houses in the area, and a well earned res! after, a strenuous day was now most welcome.

The weather remained drizzly for most of Sunday, but we collected a Minibus, our main transport, augmented by another car kindly supplied by David Vincent, with his friendly canine companion. After assisting the ringers of Se. Thomas for morning service, we crossed the steen hills heading north to Antrim and to Ballymena. An houi was spent upon the grand cight, several local ringers turning out to weicone the party, and one car-load nearly mised the tower altogether, encountering another typical Irish Institution, a mile-long funeral procession! The fishing experts now repaired to the vast expanse of Lough Neagh and were rewarded by the first-and lastfishing success of the tour six perch! At last, after many cooiourful miles, dappled sunlight breaking through to light vistas of far patchwork quilt horizons where County Down sweeps up to the blue peaks of the Mourne Mountains, we all found our way south again to Neiveasilc, where Slieve Donard, 2.796-icot monarch of the range. sweeps down to the sea. Two nights were to be spent in nice quarters in this lively seaside resort.

TELEVISED

Monday brought a big surprise: on arrival :at the rural church of Aallylesson, a friendly lad informed us that ouv ringing was to be televised! The cameraman took numerous shots, and all hopes of completing a peal were shaken. but a quarjer was rung on the very good six: that evening it was a thrill to see our efforts on the silver screen looked very expert, and the ringing sounded much hetter than we thought if would: On arrival at the beautiful Church of St Malathi, Hillshorough. we found as peal already under way: misdirected prayer soon out an end to that, and the rest had a pull on these magnificent Rudhall bells before leaving the pealers to get on with it. Derek Jones took the view that they did not need him to conduct every peal. and as he had rung one there some years before, and the TV show was a must' fo: once in a lifetime, he left the rest to 'fire out ' three hours later. David meanwhile had the primus on he go on the lawn behind. and a good cup of tea soothed many sorrows. The inquest was still continuing at midnight at a kerbsid_ brew-up outside the Donard Hotel in Newcastle
Tuesday was a day of big distances, and we nastencd into Caunty Armagh, and on the heavy bells of Lurgan. in their steeple at oae end of the busy shoppin! centre, we rang a good determined peal of Lincolnshire, breaking our bad run of tailures: by the time the ing our who had been exploring the Silent Valley in the Mourne Mountains, had had a pull. the local force of law and order, whose H.Q was just beneath the tower, were not a little disquieted. We were not arrested however for disturbing the peace. We had another grand ride across the mountains to Rostrevor and found the six very good. but the second rope was very difficult to keep on the wheel so the six who had stayed to attempt a peal of Doubles contented themselves with a quarter. We completed customs formalities in the interesting town of Newry, with many fine steeples. and set off across billowing drumlin hills. a brilliant patchwork of colour in the golden sunset, to the border, crossing into Monaghan town for a well-earned supper. On westwards into County Fermanagh and wilder lonelier country in the dusk, not seeing a sonl for miles on end. Midnight saw us it Enniskillen. with ten miles still to go on the south shore of Lough Erne to the delightful guest houses which were to he our abode for the night. There was a great welcome despite the late hour.

A SATISFYING PEAL

A never-to-be-forgotten vista met our gaze the next morning: a great sheet of shining water stretching mile upon mile away to distant blue hills and studded with myriads of wooded islands: helow our window a bright garden dipping away to the wooded shore in al meadow of unbelievable green never seen outside of Ireland. It was a morning free from ringing, and the fact that it was a typical soft morning did not deter the explorer for Irish rain does not seem so cold and wet as its English November counterpart. A good dinner put us into form for St. Macartan's Cathedral, Enniskilien, where, after ap abor tive start, and stern words from the gaffer. a good peal of Cambridge Royal clicked into a beat almost from the start: the fine ten. though loud within the ringing room, certainly have a tale to tell, and it was a very satisfying experience to ring them. Handbell tunes, apple-pie beds and other frolics contributed to a convivial evening in this haven in the wilds.
The glories of County Donegal awaited the tourivts on a day free from ringing. for there are no rings of bells in this north-west corner of Ireland. Instead. rocky coasts. golden beaches. wild mountains, and scattered crofting townships, where the land is so bleak and the soil so thin that a living seems impossible. awaited exploration. The little fishing harbours of Kill h.rs and Burtonport wers visited, and some 102 tea at Sweeney's name like thal). Two stalwarls herended the misty heights of Slieve League, where : mountain has been cut in lwo by th: encro:tches of the Atlantic rollers. and the clifis plunge sheer almost 2,000 feet to the silvery beach below: they braved the dizzy One Man's Path to attain the summit, and avowed that it was the High spot - -literally -of their holiday. Most of the party followed some miles of indescribably bad road across desolate wastes ceneath the quartzite cone of 2,466 feet high Mount Errigal, looking down into the dark Poisoned Glen with its abandoned church tower: The long roads it last led to civilisation in the shape of the historic city of Londonderry.

IN LONDONDERRY

Friday was a busy ringing day, and we were welcomed to St. Columb's Cathedral by the Dean (the Very Rev. L. R. Lawrenson), and he inser:ed an account of our visit in the local cvening paper. While the mysteries of the cl aing hammers were being unravelled so that the 32 cwt. tenor could he raised, touch was rung on the very tuneful middle cight (9th as tenor) after some confusion over which semitones to be used. A very enjoyabl: peal of Boh Royal was rung without incident and produced a wealth of music from these grand bells from the Croydon Foundry. Only just time for a cup of tea before dashing to Coleraine, where we found a lovely cight which were a joy to ring, at St. Patrick's pinnacled tower
One of the younger members was the only one of the party not to have achieved a peal in Ireland during the week, so Bob Major was chosen to erable him to ring the treble. The peal was not withou: incident: after a false start, in which a very experienced ringer made fifth's and up. we set oft again at a much brisker pace, and duly brought it round. David's usual map-reader having had a difference of opinion with the canine listener-to-peals, Raymond was detailed to guide the eteran o Cushendall, our last stopping place, where the Glens of Antrim reach the north-east coast. The minibus had gone on ahead, and the gaffer's party had a scramble in the dusk over the weird hexagonal columns of the famous Giant's Causeway, before taking a wrong turn in Ballycastle and getting completely lost, eventually attaining Cushendall at midnight by way of a desperate road over the great plateau.

FEAST AT CARRICKFERGUS

We arrived the next day at Carrickfergus. in deluge. There were three surprises here: first, the gatehouse tower, the unique edifice which houses the bells, iransferred from the now unsafe old toyer of the church; second, a truly delightful little 'musical box' of an octave, where touches up to Spliced Surprise were enjoyed : and last, but not least, a feast laid on in the schoolroom by Mrs. Young and her fellow ringers, where we actually got all the party under one roof at one time, after temporarily losing Jack.
Sorry ic leave Carrickfergus: time was now running out fast, and after a further battle with Belfast's one-way streets to deposit the (wo youngest at St. Thomas' to assist the locals with a wedding ring, we sped round the Lcugh to the busy seaside town of Bangor, where the tinal successtul peal of the tour, Yorkshire Surprise, was rung in a red sandstone tower. All too soon farewells were bei:ig sand at Donegal quay to those who had tc, make for home aboard the "Ulster Prince, leaving the lucky few to linger on for further happy days in 'Ireland of the Welcomes,' revisiting Lough Erne, and then on to Connemara and Killarney before a final ring at Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin. Kindly arranged hy Billy Lynch a week later. not to mention a tour of the Wicklow Mountains generously provided by Charlie Reede.

All fourteen ringing towers in the counties of Ulster had welcomed us, thanks to the good otlices of Fred Dukes and John Dunwoody. We thank all the clergy and ringers we mel with a special 'Thank you' to Carrickfergus.

Letters to the Editor

A Code for Outings

Dear Sir,-Due to changing circumstances, such as the increase in car ownership and longer holidays amongst the ringing fraternity, there has been, over the recent years, a substantial increase in the number of day ringing outings and ringing holidays. These no doubt have been still further increased by the publication at the beginning of the year in ${ }^{\text {t }}$ The Ringing World ' of a 'Tower Grabbers' List,' most likely to be repeated in the new year as the first appeared to show a fairly widespread interest in the pastime.
First. let me say that I am not against visiting other towers in an organised party: in fact I can see nothing but good coming from it. provided that the visiting ringers and in particular the organiser of the party behave in a manner that is above reproach and befits visitors, similar to the good manners that we would show in visiting someone else's home. Therefore I think a standard procedure or code could be formulated to assist in particular those organising their first outings so that bad feeling may never be generated in the towers visited and as a result no tower closed to all visiting parties.
May I suggest the following procedure in the hope that more experienced organisers may improve on it where it is lacking:-
(1). The organiser should draw up a provisional programme of the towers he wishes to visit allowing a minimum of half an hour and a maximum of one hour at each tower with sufficient travelling time between towers. Extra travelling time should be given in areas of known dense traffic and for parking some distance from the church. possibly in large towns. Ringing would naturally be limited to between $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and $9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$
(2). The organiser should then write to the incumbent or tower secretary of the churches to be visited requesting permission to ring on a certain date, the bells of the named church fto cover the eventuality of the incumbent having more than one church), stating the exact time at which he and his party would like to arrive and also when they would finish ringing. Give his name and address clearly (not just an illegible signature) in the letter and a phone number where it may be possible to contact him in an emergency that requires the visit to be cancelled. Enclose a stamped addressed envelope or card for the reply (I prefer the latter, for the person replying does not even have to find paper to reply on-it has been known for them 10 reply on the back of the request-and in any case it is slightly cheaper). This letter should be sent not earlier than 3 months, and not later than a fortnight before the proposed wit.

2 (a). If the reauest letter has heen sent more than 4 weeks before the visit then a reminder card should be sent a few days before the visit.
(3). On the day, start and finish ringing at the lower not more than five minutes from the time requested. If met, the organiser should make himself known to the 'local' and thank him at the conclusion. The member of the party in charge at the tower should ery to persuade any local ringers present to join with them in at least one ring. If not met then disengage any clock hammers and nole which hells are up and those that are down. At the finish leave the hells as they were found. re-engage clock hammers, and turn of all lights. Make a note to write and thank them for the use of the bells. The firsd and last touches including ringing up and down should be performed with a competent band as well struck initial and final ringing leaves a good impression. Reasonably well struck ringing should be maintained throughout the the visit for it is better to ring good rounds the visit for it is better to ring good rounds than bad Surprise. particularly on difficult bells.
I feel that it is only in exceptional circumstances that an arranged visit should be cancelled. or the times altered and that never should a tower just be missed out. In the case of a visit to ring a peal. then the length of ringing should be clearly stated in the initial request. otherwise most of the above applics.

Ultimately I would like to see a Central Council committee set up with terms of reference to include:-
(a) The setting up of a register of all people who wish to organise ringing outings. ringers would have to apply to be on this register, agree to the rules of the committee and perhans pay a small returnable deposit, which may be kept if the person is "struck off ' the register.
(b) Publication of a standard procedure.
(c) Hear any complaints from towers visited by parties of ringers
(d) To censure ringers that repeatedly transgress the procedure-this could be simply the publication of their names in The Ringing World.
(e) To look into the possibility of collecting sixpence per ringer per tower visited (not to include visits to join local ringers on practice nights or for service ringing). The moncy. which might amount to $£ 500$ a year, to be used to buy ropes and assist in repairs at many "poor" towers, in liaison with the Towers and Belfries Committee.
If this committee were set up I believe that the ringing Exercise would gain in strength, due to the increase of outings, and as a result the improvement of the standard of ringing not only of the visiting ringers but also of the visited, without the friction or misunderstandings that are at present occasionally genera*ed.

Cambridge University Guild's  Fine Performance

Dear Sir,-With Mr. J. E. Camp. of the Oxford University Society. I jointly "umpired the silent peal of Stedman Cinques rung at High Wycombe on December 5th by members of the Cambridge University Guild.

I am pleased to confirm that the peal was rung strictly 'silent and non-conducted,' that the calls were observed with no trace of hesitation and that the method was rung accurately and with conviction throughout.

Former 'silent' peals of Stedman Cinques have been the infrequent Derformances of long-established twelve bell bands. The twelve who rang at Wycombe were not of such a company but, since this was not evinced in thejr ringing, they are the more to be congratulated on a very good per-formance.-Yours faithfully.

Hawley.
JOHN CHILCOTT.

Oxborough, Norfolk

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read Rev. Peter Bond's letter about my article concerning Waltham bells. He will be interested to know that they do go quite well and when I get back to Kent I shall hope to have the pleasure of welcoming him there. I am glad that the Isle of Grain bells are ringable.
Presumably they were crected c. 1902, when the tower was built by Edward VII. Stahlschmidt only mentions one bell here. With iegard to the four at Plumstead. I was informed about four years ago by a well known authority on Kent bells. Mr. N. J. Davies, that they were rehung by Mears and Stainbank in 1957 and were ringable.

May I use your columns to make a query? At a recent practice at King's Lynn there was much discussion about the hells of St John much discussion about the hells of St. John the Evangelist. Oxborough, Norfolk. Although - Post-war Losses of Ringing Peals in the Guide. they were lost in 1948 when the tower and spire, 150 feet high, collapsed. There is rumour that, although ringing had not been permitted for many years owing 10 the plecarious state of the tower, they were in fact rung very shortly before the calamity, and there has heen much speculation on this noint. Can any ringer remember ringing at Oxborough at any time, and what are his memories of the bells? They were a six. tenor about $9 \frac{t}{c}$ cwt., and with the clock bell were sold after the tragedy. for funds to were sold after the tragedy, for funds to glorious church had been destroyed - Yours sincerely, Hunstanton.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

There will be a variety of ringing provided by the Christmas Day broadcast at $9.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. introduced by John Snagge.

Greetings start with Grandsire Triples from Lyme Regis, followed by the eight at Wigston Magna, Leicester. The six at Drumbo. Co. Down. will be ringing Doubles, to be followed by Double Norwich C.B. Major from Alloa, Clackmannan. Triples will be heard from St. Andrew's, Hornchurch, Essex, and Caters from Llandaff Cathedral. Lincoln Cathedral has been again selected after its disappointing experience in being cut off recently. They will be ringing Stedman Cinques as they approach the turning course. As usual the recording ends with the bells of the Church of the Nativity. Bethlehem.

Ringing 'Mainly Secular'

Dear Sir,-As expected, howls of protest have followed O.A.M.s letter in the 'R.W.' of November 27 th.
Of course, in a local tower where the standard of ringing is low, and a sense of duty ('What can I do for the Church?') rather than interest in the art motivates the ringers. most of the band will be churchgoers. If they were not. they would never have taken up ringing. However. in the higher echelons of the Exercise, there are not many whose main object is to serve the Church. A large number indeed, feel a duty to ring on Sundays as a 'payment for being allowed to use the bells at other cimes. This is hardly the spirit indicated by the replies to O.A.M.s letter. No one can deny that excellent ringers exist who are devoted to the Church, but they are few and far between.
As for dissension in the Exercise, there is probably no more or less than in any socicty from a political party to the local barbilliards league. Nevertheless, there is more backbiting and off-stage mancuvring than one would expect from people who are. we are told. - 99 per cent good, practising Christians.' How often do we hear that $X$ refuses to ring with Y; while $\mathbf{Z}$. a pleasant chap but a negligible ringer, is regarded as a lesser being by his more proficient brethren?
The $\cdot \mathbf{R} . \mathrm{W}$. itself contains letters hardly notable for their Christian charity.
Personally, I make no criticism of these facts: everyone has his own views. Most ringers know that ringing is primarily a secular occupation. Why the outcry when this is stated publicly?-Yours faithfully.
Amersham, Bucks. JOHN CAMP.

OBITUARY

MR. HARRY BROUGHTON

The Leicester Cathedral band deeply regret the passing of Mr. Harry Broughton, in hospital after an operation. on December 5th, in nis 77th year. He was better known among the older members of the Exercise as a staunch and reliable peal ringer during the period between the two wars. He first learned to ring at St. Mary-de-Castro Church, Leicester, in about the year 1903, and when the bells became unringable some 10 years later, he joined the SI. Martin's band.

On the outbreak of war in 1914 he joined the Army, serving mainly in the Middle East. Returning to England at the end of the war, he continued his ringing at Si. Martin's and was soon elected secretary of the St. Martin's Society, which involved him in a prolific amount of correspondence, arranging peals or outings almost every week. In fact, he soon organised a system of 'fixture cards for the year which enabled every member of the band to know what dates and places were positively booked well in advance.

In 1939 he immediately offered his services again to the Army, being appointed an instrucfor to the Home Guard. During the hot summer of 1940, while training his recruits, he collapsed and remained deeply unconscious in hospital for many weeks. His recovery seemed hopeless, but seemingly by a miracle he slowly made headway.
In 1945 he again became a regular Sunday service ringer, but only stood in peals at rare intervals until his last peal in March, 1959. This was Stedman Triples at Gilmorton, rung as a first anniversary tribute to the memory of Mrs. Phyllis Poole. Harry asked to take part in this, but made the upusual request that it should be published as his final peal, as indeed it was.
His peal total includes 218 for he old Midland Counties Association and 13 for the Leicester Diocesan Guild, many more being rung for other Associations, of which we have no record.
The funcral service on December 9th was at Leicester Cathedral in the presence of a large congregation, when Canon Pratt made moving references to Harry's loyalty and devotion during over 60 years of employment with one firm. and over 50 years as a ringer at the Cathedral. As the service ended a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Herrick B. Bowley. Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth and John M. Jelley.

THE HISTORY OF HATHERSAGE BELLS
By R. E. RASTALL (Tower Captain)

$A^{T}$T a special meeting of Hathersage, Derbyshire, parish, in 1898 it was agreed that the estimate of Messrs. Shaw, Sons \& Co. (Bradford) for putting the bells of St Michael's, Hathersage in a thorough condition at a cost of $\pm 6^{\circ}$ be accepted. Further that a special subscription list be opened for procuring the necessary funds by means of a house-to-house collection and by other appeals. No details of the work carried out are available.

There is no record of any further major expenditure until 1958, when a local firm was employed to lift the bells, adjust the bearings, fit new gudgeons to one headstock, repair the wheels, remove any faulty timber and replace it by steel joists. This action permitted the bells to continue in service and they are still safe to ring. But the deterioration of the framework, bearings, gudgeons clappers, etc obviously increases, and some of the bells call for real manual effort to operate.

It is realised that little more can be done with the installation as at present and on behalf of the Church Council the specialist bell firms were invited to examine and report. Both reports are now to hand ana they agree in their recommendations on the following lines: - The oak frame should be replaced with a modern one, consisting of iron casting and steel girders. The bells be dismantled and sent to the bell foundry for cleaning and the fitting of new headstocks, gudgeons and ball-bearings, New wheels to be provided. The bells have cast-in staples which, being of iron, rust and are the usual cause of bells becoming cracked. These should we removed and independent staples fitted. The bells should be turned to bring a fresh surface into contact with the clappers and be retuned. New wrought-iron clappers should also be provided.'
The result of the recommendations would be an entirely new and modern installation to accommodate the existing six bells. The estimated cost is practically the same from both firms. In addition a new floor for the bellchamber would be required and a certain amount of other work by builders and clock makers. The total cost would be about $£ 1.700$ and both firms would place our order on their waiting list for 1965 .

All this information has been passed on to the Standing Finance Committee to discuss ways and means but unfortunately there are various other major items of expenditure already on their books. As a consequence if we are to do all that needs to be done in the church, it seems likely that we may have to find about $£ 3,000$ in three years. However, I have every hope that some positive action will be taken before the year and in the meantime we are continuing to ring the bells for Sunday morning services, and most Fridays for practice.

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual general meeting of the North Staffordshire Association was held on December 5th at the Church of St. Peter ad Vincula, Stoke - on - Trent. Despite the inclemency of the weather, a fair proportion of ringers arrived to ring the pleasant sounding and easy going eight. The service was conducted by the Rector (Preb. F. A. R. Chapman).

During the business meeting, Mr. C. S. Ryles, the new chairman, thanked the tower captain (Mr. J. G. Burton) for welcoming the Association on behalf of the Rector, and proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies who prepared an excellent free tea, and to Mr. Burton's team of ringers who had enabled the meeting to be so successful. The president the Archdeacon of Stoke-on-Trent (Ven. G. Youell), in welcoming Mr. Ryles, paid tribute to the great amount of work put in by the retiring chairman, Mr. G. W. Biddulph, during his term of office
The hon. secretary. Mr. G. Beech had left the district, and it had not been possible to hold a further Committee meeting to appoint a successor. Until the Committee meets, Mr David Midgeley had agreed to act as secretary.
A minute of silence was then observed in memory of the previous president of the Association. Ven. P. Hartill, Archdeacon Emeritus, who had died earlier in the week The bells which had been half-mufled for the occasion were then rung for the remainder of the evening under the capable supervision of the Ringing Master (Mr. W. H. Pickett).

West Dorset Branch

The Mayor and Mayoress of Bridport (Councillor and Mrs. V. S. C. Keech) at tended the Guild service, when the West Dorset Branch held its annual meeting at Bridport on November 28th. The Rector (the Rev. J. P. Hinton) officiated, and a warm welcome was given to the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. W. Longridge).

Following tea, prepared by local ringers and lady helpers in the Church House and enjoyed by 45 members, the Mayor welcomed the ringers to Bridport at the business meeting. He mentioned that he had been a ringer since youth and a member of the local tower. The chairman (Mr. C. W. Powell), in reply said he thought it was the first time the Branch had been welcomed by a Mayor at its annual meeting. The Mayoress was presented with a bouquet by Miss A. Qnick.

The secretary's report showed that steady progress had been made in change ringing and three peals and ten quarter peals had been rung. Much benefit had been gainad through monthly practices and membership stood at 126.

The following officers were elected: Chairman, Mr. C. W. H. Powell: vice-chairman. Rev. G. V. Syer : honorary secretary. Mr. J. Davis: Ringing Masters, Messrs. H. W. D. Bishop, G. S. Morris, H. G. Keeley.

Next meeting: Bradpole, Saturday. February 27th. Practice meetings: Loders, January 13th: Symondsbury, February 10th: Bridport, March 10th. All subject to permission.

ST. NEOTS FOUNDRY - By T. A. BEVIS

TOSEPH EAYRE. who has been described as $\int_{a}$ • first-rate founder of dish bells,' is well and truly recorded in historical data of the Huntingdonshire town of St. Neots. This man of-metal whose father was a clock-maker at Kettinging proved to be a considerable benefactor to St. Neots. He cast bells in a building known as . The Priory -not unlike a bell in design-said to have been the most prominent structure in the town.
The founder., in addition to casting bells. manufactured fire engines and also erected a pump for the use of the community of the parish in which he plied his trade. He is generally rated as having been a good bellfounder. but others were inclined to differ in that respect. Eayre's ring of six at St. Michael's Church. Stamford. inspired the following comment: '. . . indeed the din of St Michael's bells is so intolerable to those who Michael sells is so intolerahle to those who live in their vicinity that they will readily helieve that there is no devil in his senses but will get away as fast as he can as soon as their clamour begins.
Eayre cast approximately 40 bells for Huntingdonshire and several of his products are still to be heard in neighbouring counties After his death in 1772 the St. Neots foundry was jointly managed by EDWARD ARNOLD and THOMAS OSBORN. the latter having been engaged as Eayre's foreman. However the partnership between Arnold and Osborn was short-lived, the latter departing for his native town. Downham Market, Norfolk, where he established his own prosperous foundry husiness.

It would appear that Edward Arnold understood very little about the casting of bells, and he engaged a capable foreman. Islip Edmonds, who was employed at a London foundry in the early 1760's. The 'back six' of St. Mary's Church. Ely, are recognised by helltingers ats a notable Arnold ring. Indeed the musical vibrations from this old ring are very good, but it is fairly certain that Islip Edmonds can be credited with their melody despite Arnold's name which is inscribed on the metal. Arnoid later set up a foundry in Leicester but he continued at St. Neots long enough to introduce ROBERT TAYLOR : man who had his part to play in the establi,hing of the world-famous bell-foundry Loughborough.
The St. Neots premises was removed from The Priory 10 Cambridge Strect shorily after Taylor had entered into wedlock with a Miss Fowler, whosic father ran a brewery adjoining the site of the original foundry. It seems that Mr. Fowler, who desired to expand his business, had calculatively eyed his young neighhour's property, and as it happened the resultant marriage betwixt beer and bells indeed proved to be a tac'ful and heneficial move
Thomas Osborn was undoubtedly a firstrate founder. His premises at Downham Market were situated in the vicinity of the parish church, and some residents still rememher the old walls of the foundry which have been incorporated into other buildings.
Osborn, a joiner's son, cast Godmanchester's musical octave (1794). He is renresented on a grand scale in West Norfolk and North Cambs. Many of Osborn's bells were cast for Fenland churches: they were usually conveyed from Downham to their destinations by harge via the man-made network of rivers and drains which abound in those parts. Downham bells can be heard at Terrington St. John, Emneth. Hilgay and Walsoken sweetly echoing over and beyond that land of magic. The Norfolk founder cast the musical ring of six at March. Cambs. each bell of which is inscribed THOMAS OSBORN, DOWNHAM, NOR.

FOLK. FECIT 1802: his name also appears on six hells at Marham. Nortolk. of the same year and sharing identical inscrip:ions.
Accerding 10 one authority Osborn died on December 6th. 1800, while another historian writes that the founder expired in 1806. Should the former date be correct, then March and Marham bells and other bells bearing Osborn's name after 1800 are in reality the work of his grandson WILLIAM DOBSONa partner-who apparently cast bells for a time in his grandfather's name. Dobsen upheld Osborn's reputation for high-class work, continuing in business until 1832 when owing. to financral difficulties he disposed of the Downham foundry to Mears of Whitechapel
After this transaction Dobson lived at London and was zmployed in lawyers office. He was made a hoother of the Charterhouse. and there in 1842 he dicd and was buried. His wife rests in Downham Marke churchyard.
Dobson cast a fine ring of 10 bells for the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Wishech. Cambs, but his finest solitary example was surely that of the $29 t$ cut. Tenor hell at Si. Neots-incidentally his last-which al'hough recast in recent years continues to acclaim in sonorous tones the good merits of its original maker. and appropriately so, for it rings near the site of the parent foundry which had such a far-reaching effect in modern-day bell-founding.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

The last meeting of the year of the Loughhorough District was held at Hugglescote on December 12 th and, although only seven towers of the District were represented. good use was made of this beautiful octave in many methods.

Evensong was conducted by the Vicar, and included two hymns sung unaccompanied and a forthright and inspiring address. An ahundance of good fare awaited the company at the Church School, and at the meeting it was announced that Mr. G. D. Hadfield (an old member of the local band and now incapacitated from aetive ringing) desired to act as host and hear the cost of the tea. The offer was gratefully accepted.

Mr. A. E. Rowley thanked the Vicar for allowing the use of the bells and for taking the service.
The chairman (Mr. H. O. Over) extended a warm welcome to visitors who came from St. Paul's. Burton-on-Trent. Tamworth. Coleshill and Eckington (Lincs), and then intimated that having held this office for three years, he wished to vacate the position. He asked memhers to consider a successor for election at the annual meeting in January at Loughborough.
Mr. J. Harris of Hathern, thanked the chairman for his work and suggested that in recognition he should be transferred to the Guild's list of honorary life members. It was agreed that his name and that of Mr. C. Harrison, of Loughborough, should be submitted to the next General Committee meeting for this purpose.

SUFFOLK GUILD

About 25 ringers attended a quarterly meeting of the N.E. District held at Saxmundham and Benhall on November 21 st, among them the Ringing Master and Gen. Secretary of the Guild. Mr. C. Doolan. of Beccles. W:S elected atı hon. member. Mr. Pickup, of Lowestoft, a ringing member: Mrs. Willgress, of Honinghaim. an hon, life member

Next meeting: February 20th, 1965, at Beccles.

IATE NEWS

We regret to learn that Mrs. Melville. the mother of Mrs. C. H. Kippin. of Cove, is in St. Peter's Hospital, Chertsey, suffering from a fractured femur.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

An uninformed itinerant ringer in Barnet on November 21 st might well have kept clear of the St. Albans District meeting at the Church of St. John the Baptist, thinking that a first class peal band was performing. Of course, not all the ringing was in this class but even the inexperienced people seemed inspired to do their utmost. Was it the grand tone of the heavy eight. the thought of the shoppers outside or the example of the experts ringing a sately and perfectly struck course of London? All combined to make this one of the most successful meetings in recent months. It was a pity no tea could be provided to follow Evensong, taken by the Rector.

A short business meeting was held in the tower, at which Mr. Johin Mayne took the chair. It was decided, with regret, that the words . No name no tea would have to be inserted in future meeting advertisements as the South Mimms ringers reported that at the October meeting the number of eaters had been twice the number of names and everyhody had gone short accordingly.

The finishing touch to the evening was put by a touch of spliced called by the Ringing Master, Mr. Gerald Penney
J. D. C.

MR. WILLIAM H. DOWSE'S  200 PEALS

Mr. W. H. Dowse is the fourth Marple ringer to reach the 200 peal mark. His peals have been rung in 85 different towers and 23 counties, involving visits in England, Scotland Ireland and Wales. Details:

BELFRY GOSSIP

Four Randalls took part in a quarter at Warwick-a father, mother and two sons.
The Remembrance Day quarter peal at Eltham was conducted by Mr. G. Clarke and not P. Clarke as printed.

Mr. Gerald Hemming informs us that the peal of Spliced Surpritio rung at Hanbury, Worcs, on November 29th was for Sir Winston S. Churchill's 90th birthday.

The Kent County Association hope 10 organise a one-day ringing school on May 1st. Although arrangements have not been made it will probably be held at Leeds, near Maidslone.
Making his debut as conductor. by calling seven Surprise methods of Minor at Chilcompton, Adrian P. Beck is assisting his father, 2. G. Beak. in the initial stages of the latter: lifth century. It was, incidentally. his 405 th peal.
Will Miss R.J. Kemp, formerly of Dereham. Norfolk, please send her address to the Editor as her copy of :The Ringing World has been returned to this office after going to Hemel Hempstead.

We commiserate with the Bristol band who had to call 'paid to the peal of Yorkshire Royal at St. James'. Bristol, on Dec. 1?th after $$$ hour's ringing. The clapper of Jim Taylor's bell crashed-and then we were nine Two noted ringing parsons have been elected Proctors in Convocation-Canon K. W. ## Oxford Honours College Youths' Master

Oxford University Society have marked the election of Mr. Rodney B. Meadows as Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths by ringing a congratulatory peal to him at Kirtlington. While Cambridge University can claim to have produced worthy Masters of the Ancient Society, we believe that Mr. Meadows is the lirst Master from the University in ithe past fifty years. About 18 years ago Mr. Meadows was most assiduous in advancing the art of change ringing at the University. This issue contains Cambridge University's contribution of distinction-a peal of Stedman Cinques rung silent and non-conducted. Something for Oxford to think about!

Hilary's 21 st

To enable Oxford University Society to honour the 21 st birthday of Miss Hilary Pardoe by a peal at Hinton Waldrist, one member of the band had to be unceremoniously removed from his bed. Nevertheless, the peal was successful. Later that day as the band were wishing her farewell at Oxford station, it was generally agreed that she ought to be 21 more often.

Bell Work in Kent

Apart from the big job on the bells at Sevenoaks, mentioned in our last issue, Kent is helping to keep our bell foundries busy. Ashford bells are to be rehung. The bells of Mersham are at the foundry and in their absence the lower is being restored. The work is not expected to be completed until 1966. Brabournes are being rehung and two new trebles added, and it is also hoped to hang two new trebles at East Malling. Because of the state of the tower, Queenborough bells cannot be rehung. A big restoration scheme is in hand to remedy defects in the lower and towards the cost the K.C.A. have promised a grant of $\pm 25$.

The Gate Crashers

Unwelcome visitors to any meeting are the band that attempt a peal and lose it and then inflict themselves on the nearest meeting after tea, writes a Sussex correspondent. Having monopolised the tower for is practice in the method of which they are not proficient enough to ring a peal, they then retire (without thanks and never a thought to help the less advanced ringer!).

Bellfounders Thanked

The prompt action of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank enabled the peal of Caters at Newhury to be rung on December 5th. Five minutes before the end of the Monday practice the headstock bolt of the 9th clapper broke, and late on Friday the bell was still clapperless. The bolt arrived in time and a good peal was scored. Peal attempts at Nenbury are now restricted to two a year.

A Copy for Mrs. Kennedy

Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of Bangor, Wales. Mr. Albert of Hughes, of Bangor, Wales. ing memorral ringing to the late President Kennedy to his nephew in California. After the copy had been perused by his immediate friends, it was sent by the nephew to Mrs. Kennedy, from whom he had an acknowledg. ment and a letter of thanks.

Marple's Young Peal Ringers

Marple, Cheshire, has a reputation for producing accomplished peal ringers. Mr. William H . Dowse, who is now 21, is the fourth Marple ringer to reach the total of 200 peals in the last five years, the others being Bernard F. L. Groves (now at Maidstone), Frank Osbaldiston and Robert B. Smith. Mr. Dowse has rung in one long peal-10,000 Double Norwich Court Bob Major-which he rang at the age of 14 .

Convener Lectures

Mr. R. B. Anderson, convener of 'The Ringing World Committee, gave a talk on bells and bellringing on December 10th to a men's organisation at Alsager. With the assistance of two colleagues, a demonstration of change ringing was given on handbells. Another popular inclusion was the playing of the record. 'The Sound of Bells,' published with Edgar Shepherd's book. The talk was enthusiastically received by a company of 45 .

The 1965 Diary

William Viggers and Maurice Hodgson have introduced a number of improvements to this year's diary, which is again in popular demand with an order list of 1.100 before a copy was received from the bindery. The first peals and record lengths section is now attractively tabulated. Method blank pages have been taken out and more method diagrams introduced. An innovation of Mr. Viggers is blank method cards with the path of the treble marked out ( 2 s .6 d a dozen). These can be transferred from diary to diary without rewriting. Four new Triples methods are introduced on the cover.

Memorial to Mr. F. M Mitchell

The Kent County Association hope shortly to place an order for a suitable memorial to the late Mr. F. M. Mitchell, who for more than 50 years was captain at Milton-nextGravesend. It will be a tablet in bronze, and will be erected in the church he served so faithfully. Mr. Mitchell held key positions in K.C.A. for many years from 1928 , first as secretary-treasurer and later as treasurer. He was also a Past Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and died in 1960.

Following Washington

I was very pleased to hear that Guildford is to follow the Washington design, writes Mr. John Seager, of Sheffield, as the bells there impressed me when I visited them The radial frame was simple and rigid, with no tendency to twist the tower. There was enough weight to sound well, and the "go" was so good that any competent ringer could handle them without undue effort

Electric Clock as Memorial

For 60 years the late Mr. Joseph Gilson was a regular service ringer at St. Mary's. Melton Mowbray. On December 8th an electric wall clock for the belfry, the gift of his family. was dedicated by the Vicar, Canon C. M. S. Clarke, who paid a tribute to his faithful service to the church and belfry. Mr. H. Clayton, tower captain, also spoke of his devoted service and thanked the family for their gift.

'Arran Chief'

The Earl of Arran devoted the main part of his feature article in the London Evening News, on Dec. 16th to "The Ringing World. We feel that the many ringers living in the Home Counties have enjoyed his pawky humour. As a compliment one of our enthusiastic bellringer-gardeners has decided to order 'Arran Chief 'instead of "Majestic ' for his main potato crop next year!

The Presents List

The Earl thanks * The Ringing World for solving his Christmas present problem and makes these suggestions: What more acceptable gift than "The Church Bells of Guernsey, Alderney and Sark,' 8s, 6d. from Mr. F: Sharpe ? Or " Ropesight " (the case for capital punishment?). Or a Bell-ringer's Car Badge (" where the hell do you think you're going? Ooops . . . sorry, old man, didn't know you were one of us. Ding-dong !"'). Or " Grandsire" (surely the book for Grand-dad ?)."

Four W's

Those four Ws-' Wratton 'Wringers' Wreunion Week-end' in Bristol came in. and rightly so for what the Earl termed "Raw Facts." A quiet occasion?' he asks. 'Not on your neliy. One group went to Bedminster where they found that a previous party had broken the rope of the treble. So not to be outdone they broke the rope of the third during a touch of Doubles. The day before (a hectic day) another group were at St. Philip's where a first class peal of Rutand was scored with " Drugged Dick" dreaming his way through. No wonder that several members of another party " expressed regrets at not having taken advantage of Chris Kippin's offer to run a book on the outcome of the peal":

Tea Obsession

What surprises his lordship is what he described as bell-ringers' obsession for tea as displayed in the meeting announcements. He commends his neighbour, Mr: Baker, of King's Langley, for his forthrightness 'No names, no tea and adds: Quite right, Mr. B. You can't have nameless people coming and noshing-up at your expense. After all, they might be a rival gang!
The article concludes: Happy ringing, chums ; . . and don't get dragged up to Heaven.

A Warwick Anniversary

The fifth anniversary of the recasting and rehanging of the bells of St. Nicholas. Warwick, was commemorated by a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major on December 5th in which four of the local band participated. On the following evening the regular band made their contribution by a quarter of Bob Major. In this four of the Randall family participated -father. mother and two sons.

From Surrey to Wiltshire

Surrey-Kent ringers had a successful trip into Wiltshire on December 5th to ring the bells of St. Andrew's. Chippenham. for the 230th anniversary of the bells. A good peal of Yorkshire Surdrise was rung: special congratulations to Miss Jean L. Lavender, on her 50th peal.
