TO THE BELL-RINGERSBy the Rev. W. Basil Williams, Vicar of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester.

HOW frequently, throughout the long centuries, have the poets of Old England, its writers and its sages, paid gracious tribute to your Sabbath day skill! How very often has the sonorous music of church bells inspired them! Such music. declared Charles Lamb, is "nighest bordering upon heaven", as indeed it truly is. Time and again, l imagine, as your bells sing out over the far countryside. or wing their Sabbath message through tiny hamlet or bustling town, your thoughts must surely accompany them in their summons to the call of faith. Deep, sonorous, harmonious. emerges that summons, as you in your belfries apply the skill and the ardour that motivates the metal monsters. Obediently they respond to your orders, and bring forth the music of the angels.

As you manipulate the bellropes and. manlike, may sometimes entertain a lurking doubt whether all this effort, all this prodigal expenditure of physical energy is justified after all, take heart at the word-poem of immortal Thomas Moore:

Those evening bells! Those evening bells! How many a tale their music tells Of youth, and home, and that sweet time When last 1 heard their soothing chime.
Or the familiar lines of gentle William Cowper:

> How soft the music of those village bells Falling at interludes upon the ear In cadence sweet.

One is indeed justified in looking upon you all as the winged messengers of the Church, whose melodious call to arms, Sabbath after Sabbath day. serves as a reminder of man's duty to his Creator. Your professional experience is such as to enable you to recognise instantly any deviation from the purity of a bell-note. You have learned from that long experience to appreciate flawlessness. "Sound as a bell". "Clear as a bell-note", mean just what they say. Flawlessness!
So it is with human beings. Some there are, "sound as a bell". men and women who elect to tread the path of honesty and uprightness: who prefer to walk in the steps of the Master. Automatically, happily, zestfully, they respond to the call of the bell. They look upon church going not as a chore, not as an ordeal, but because deeply sensible of the vital truth that without a spiritual background their lives would be aimless. utterly without purpose. How comforting it all is, to realise that only twice in England's story has the voice of the church bell been silenced. Once, &f those far-off anxious days when the armies of Napoleon threatened to invade our shores; and as recently as a couple of decades ago, when our churches were ordered to unmuffle their bells only in the event of an enemy landing. By the blessing of Almighty God that unhappy eventuality did not arise; the ban of silence was lifted on that unforgettable Sunday in November, 1942, when the church bells pealed joyously again to celebrate the Libyan victory.

And ever since, the bells of England have pealed triumphantly, winging their deep-toned call to prayer to the devout, to the faint hearted, to the doubters, to the misguided men and women who appear to measure life by the yardsick of hard cash; who approach religion with a "what"s-in-it-for-me" altitude that will get them nowhere. To them and theirs church bells fall upon occluded ears. They grumble at what they call "this Sunday morning racket"; the chiming disturbs their tardy Sabbath rising. Probably they are people, so to speak, at loggerheads with God, conveniently forgetting that most of the ills that befali them are troubles of their own making. The message of the bells is wasted on them. The Sabbath call to prayer is to them just a nuisance--no more, no less. Anyhow, their sentiments were unshared by the eminent Housman, whose "Shropshire L.ad" poem sings pleasantly of the music of the bells:

> "Oh, come you home of Sunday When Ludlow streets are still And Ludlow bells are calling To farm and lane and mill.
> Or come you home of Monday When Ludlow market hums
> And Ludlow chimes are playing "The conquering hero comes".

Take heart, then, in these tributes in the not-so-distant past to the skill, the devotion, the ingenuity of such as you, to whose belfry summons respond the godly, the thoughtful, men and women of every rank and every station, who sense the influence of the Almighty on every moment of their lives. You, I repeat. my friends, may rightly regard yourselves as the winged messengers of the church.

From your vantage-point beneath the steeple, and with the skill and the knowledge begotten of experience, yours is the Sabbath day call to arms; the awareness to man of the eternal verities, May the Almighty God continue to bless the work of vour hands, and preserve you in happiness and health to serve Him in tonal harmony in all the happy years that lie ahead.

Let us, with immortal Tennyson
Ring out old shapes of foul disease
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold
Ring out the thousand wars of old
Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Change Ringing in the Newcastle Area

By RODNEY A. YEATES

ST. CUTHBERT'S, BLAYDON-ON-TYNE (Six bells, 6 chit. 27 lb .)
The Victorian Parish Church of the industrial town of Bladon, has a ring of six cast in 1876 by Blews' of Birmingham. The local ringers were affiliated to the A:sociation from 1885 to 1892. They seem. however, to have taken little interest in it and to have done little change ringing. This was changed in 1898, when Joseph Pattison, a keen enthusiast. who had done some ringing with the St, John's band. moved from Wirilaton to Bladon. He became Ringing Master and tutor of the Society. Progress is indicated by 19 local 720 s being rung in 1900 and the bells being rehung the following year. In 1902 the indefatigable E. E. Ferry was called in to assist the band and regular joint Saturday. practices between Winlaton. Bladon and Whickham towers took place. In 1904 Pattison died. From 1906 until the beginning of World War I only Plain Bob could be rung.
Due to the bad "go," the bells were silent after the war until they were rehung in 1929. Then James Cliff started a young band, and a band was kept in being until World War II with some help from Newburn. Methods up to Treble Bob were rung.
After the war little local ringing was done. Mr. R. W. Leighton, a veteran local ringer. has attempted, without success, to start a band.

ST. NICHOLAS', CRAMLINGTON  (Six bells, 19 cwt 1 qr .18 lb.$)$

In 1873 a ring of six donated by Edward Potter, cast by Taylor's, was installed in the village of "Cramlington. The bells were of poor "go": a call change band was estaislished until 1896. The organist of the church invited R. S. Story. of Whitley Bay, to visit Cramlington with his ringers. The result of Storey's efforts were that the local band became attached to the Association in the next year. Oswald Simm (died 1948) became the most prominent local ringer and perhaps the only one who regularly travelled into Newonly one who regularly travelled into Newcastle to ring. The progress of the band was no doubt hindered by the remoteness of Cramlington and by the bad "go" of the bells. in spite of Story's efforts. Up until 1921 the band remained static, never advancing beyond Plxin Bob. Then the band lapsed into call changes. Until World War II there was a regular band: almost all the ringers, however, were old. In 1934 the bells, after "long being painful to the hands and ears." according to the Association report, were recast and rehung. The ringers, however, dis not improve

The local Society was revived in 1945. An apathetic call change band was kept up until perhaps 1962. A local attempt is now being made to start a band.
ST. MARY THE VIRGIN'S, GATESHEAD (Eight bells, 15 cwt .)
A ring of six was installed in this ancient church in 1730, the principal contributors being Newcastle Corporation and Newcastle Trinity House. In 1788 they were recast and augmented to eight by Mears. The Union Society of Newcastle and Gaieshead (somesimes referred to as just of Newcastle) is said to have been formed at this time (Ernest Morris) and rang its first peal (Grandsire) at Gateshead in 1790, the band including three local ringers, The Society rang other peals of Grandsire at Gateshead in 1794, 1829 and 1850.
When the Association was formed in 1878 most of the Newcastle ringers belonged 10 the Union Society, then calling itself the Old Society, and it seems probable that they also were in charge of the ringing at Gateshead. The "go" of the bells after a time greatly deteriorated and except for call changes nothing was done. Change ringing took a new lease of life in 1902, when the bells were rehung and quarter-turned. A local band was started, the tutors being A . F . Hillier, of St John's, and Joseph Keen, of North Shields. Among the new band were John Stuart, who eventually became captain, and Robert Pattinson. Plain Bob and Grandsire seem to be the methods practised. In 1927 the bells were rehung on ball-bearings and quarterturned. Stuart resigned the captaincy in 1930 and Pattinson succeeded him. In 1931 the band appealed for instruction: W. H. Barber came to help and so invigorated the band that in 1934 they rang a peal of Grandsire with a completely local band. except for Barber, who did not conduct it. It was the first peal for four of the ringers. In 1936 Erin was practised. Stuart died in 1938, aged 74.

After World War II a numerous, if not perhaps skilled, band was collected under Pattinson. Attendance was, however, erratic, and by 1958 all local ringing had stopped. In 1962 a new band was started under Mr: Norman Elliott. Recently the seventh was badly cracked and as there is no money to recast it ringing continues on the front six.

ALL SAINTS', GOSFORTH  (Ten bells, 22 cut. 23 lb .)

All Saints Church, Gosforth, was built in 1887 and a tower added in 1897. A ring of eight bells was installed here in 1961 bv John Taylor's, being the gift of Mr. Cecil and Miss B. Cochrane in memory of their mother. The new band was tanght hy R. S, Story and John Foreman (Cathedral). Considerable assistance us also given in the next few years by C. L. Routledge, E. E. Ferry and W. H. Barber. With such attention the band advanced well and a peal of Plain Bob Triples. conducted by Ferry in 1902, had seven local first pealers in it. Many new methods were mastered and a number of local peals rung. including Forward Major. In 1906 at a meeting the view was expressed that two trebles were desirable.
Due in part at least to the moving of Ferry, Routledge and Barber to other towers, the band collapsed in 1911 and never fully recovered. By 1914 Triples was occasionally rung, although Minor was more common. In July, 1916. R. W. Falconer, a Gosforth ringer. was killed on the Somme. Through his will the local hand received two additional trebles, which were dedicated in October, 1920.
The band at Gosforth remained in beine until the Second World War. but ten-beli ringing was recorded on only one occasion. All the same. the band reached third place in Ferry's Sunday Service Ringing list in 1925 and 1932.
Immediately after the war the Churen Council approached Mr. John Anderson to ceach some ringers. which he did. Later the Association visited Gosforth once a week with little success. In 1960 the Rev. Ian Tinkler, the curate, taught some ringers. and the present local band consists mainly of learners under Mr. W. G. Hedley.

ST. ANDREW'S (PRESBYTERIAN),

 HEBBURN
(Six bells, 19 cwt

The industrial town of Hebburn has the only ring of bells in a Presbyterian church. In 1873 a ring of six was installed in this new church and were opened by the Cathedral ringers (it would be interesting to know whether this was with change ringing). In 1886 the local ringers applied for admission to the Association. The question of this application together with that of the ringers at St. Mary's R.C. Church, Blackhill, Co. Durham, was passed on to the two Bishops. The Bishop of Newcastle thought there was no reason why the ringers should not become attached to the Association, They should, however, inquire of the clergy who took an active interest in it. The Bishop of Durham thought it was better to keep the Association Anglican. This was accordingly done. The result of this is that Blackhill R.C. and Hebburn join Berwick and St. Andrews. Newcastle, as the only rings never to be attached to the Association,

There may have been some local change ringing done after this; there does not seem to have been anything except call changes after World War 1. There is no record of any Association instructor belping the singers, nor has there ever been a peal in the tower: the writer has never met an Association member who has even rung here. In 1939 the bells required rehanging: there was, however, no money. The rest of the story is clear. A number of former ringers still live near the church
CHRIST CHURCH, JARROW-ON-TYNE (Fight bells, 17 cwt . 15 lb .)
Very prominent in the new lown centre of industrial Jarrow is Christ Church. founded in 1868. Here in 1883 a Taylor's ring of six was installed. The band, like St. Peter's, wa organised by Frederick Harrison and advanced to ringing a number of methods. This, however, lapsed later and by 1898 only Plain Bob could be rung. In about 1906 there was a revival in method ringing but this collapsed and by 1914 little change ringing was done. After the war until 1925 the band was not attached to the Association. It seems however, to have remained in existence and to have been able to ring standard methods with J. Brewis as the leader.

For the 50th anniversary of the church the hells were augmented to eight in 1923 . In 1925 R. S. Russell moved from St. Peter's and inspired the band with his enthusiasm. Due to ill-health. however, he soon had to retire from ringing. A standard methods hand was kept up until 1939. After the war the bells were unringable and were last rung for VJ Day in 1945. Recently there has been talk of a rehanging but it has come to nothing. (To be continued)

ST. MARY'S, GATESHEAD

Dear Sir.-The clapper fell out of the seventh hell at St. Marys. Gateshead, and cracked it during a peal attempt at the end of June, 1964 . We have had an estimate of $£ 900$ to recast the bell concerned and other small repairs to the other seven bells.

Many ringers from all over the country have rung here either while on tour or for peal attempts. We hope some people who have rung at Gateshead may like to make a donation, no matter how small. to the address below. made payable to the Si Mary's Bell Fund. At the moment our Bell Fund stands at $£ 54$ Ss. Yours faithfully,

MARGARET A. THOW (Miss).
WILLIAM N. THOW, Secretary.

THE PEALS OF THE LATE

A. PADDON SMITH

Alfred Paddon Smith rang his first peal at the age of 15 at Handsworth, Birmingham, on Fehruary 6th, 1897. He was proud of the privilege of taking part in a peal at St. Paul's Cathedral, also the first peals at Exeter and Buckfast

His last peal was Stedman Cinques on handbel's. on April 22nd, 1951. This was rung in the Lord Mayor's Parlour during the time when he was Lord Mayor of Birmingham. The last occasion when he rang a tower bell was at the dedication of the recast ring ar Handsworth. He rang the treble, which he had given in memory of his wife.

But throughout his ringing career his chief interest was at St. Martin's. He was a regular worshipper and ringer at St . Martin's for about 45 years and rang 112 peals on these bells. He loved ringing Stedman Cinques and always averred that this was the finest music that could be produced on bells.

A half-muffled peal of Stedman Cinques was attempted at St. Martin's on December 14th but was unsuccessful, and another attempt will be made on January 4th.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

Considering the very bad weather the annual general meeting of the North Staffs Association at Stoke Church on Dec. 4 th was well attended by representatives from 18 rowers, namely. Biddulph, Brown Edge. Bucknall, Chesterton. Darley Dale. Draycott, Gnosall. Gonctrey. Hanley, Keele, Kingsley. Little Aston. Newcastle. Norton, Stoke, Swynnerton, Tunstall and Wolstanton. Ringing commenced at ahout ? p.m. and continued in the standard and Surprise methods until about 9 p.m. A seivice was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Venetable G. Youell, who ulso gave a very inspiring address. An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall by the lady members of the Stoke band.

The Archdeacon presided over the meeting, at which the following officers were elected: Messrs. C. S. Ryles (chairman), D. Midgley (secretary), A. D. Steele (treasurer). L. Sbenton rauditor). W. H. Pickett (Ringing Master), R. S. Anderson and C. S. Ryles (Central Council representatives).

After discussion, a recommendation of the committee to increase subscriptions was carried, viz: Ringing memhers 5 s . per year; junior (under 18) 3s. 6d. per year; non-resident life 7s. Kd.
It was specially stressed by the chairman that secretaries of towers must in future forward the subscriptions to the treasurer before September 30 th of each year to enable the treasurer to present a true picture of the Association's finances. The treasurer stated that the sum of $£ 114 \mathrm{~s}$. had been subscribed to the Harthill Memorial. and the committee had recommended the purchase of a gavel in the shape of a bell with a silver mounting. The meeting agreed that this purchase be made and the balance, if any, be given to the fund being raised for the Parish Memorial. Two new ringing members were elected, and two members of the Biddulph band. Mr. 1. Stanway and Mr. L. Higgs. were made life members after so years' membership.

The secretary was requested to make inquiries into the porsibility of holding the Diocesan Festival at Uttoxeter in October, 1966.

Letters to the Editor

A IINK OF NFARIY SIXTY YEARS

 SNAPPEDDear Sir,-This will be my last letter to "The Ringing World," so that any comments hereafter will not be read by me. I shall be giving up the paper at the end of this year: ninepence is too much for the interest 1 derive from it now that 1 am an old man, and most of my old ringing friends are dead. When one considers that I have taken the paper continuously since the tirst issue of 1911, and before that the " Bell News " from 1906-I remember when 1 was a young constable at Walthamstow the time when every Thursday morning Frank ("Deafy ") Hill used to push the week's issue of "Bell News" on a coster's barrow from the printing works at Walthamstow to the publishers in the City-my giving it up is to be regretted.
I am satisfied that during my active years I did as much as most to further the art. When one considers the installation of the eight bells at my home tower of Anstey, Leicestershire. in 1906, the rehanging of the bells of St. George's, Southwark, and later the rehanging of the tenor at Toddington, Beds, in all of which I played an active part, it is tragic that I should be hooted out of ringing by a few self-centred folk.
1 must also take you to task, Mr. Editor, for describirg me by, to me, the derogatory term of "Disgruntled." 1 am not disgruncled. but bitterly and unutterably disappointed and disillusioned in what I have found amongut some ringers and in the Church and its clergy generally You also, sir, saw fit to delete some of the more important passages in my letter: that is the usual attitude of the Church, to save the face of the "faithful," not to expose the truth.

With regard to the "Abbot of Seend." I realise I have missed something in not knowing him or he not knowing me, in so far as 1 know, because it is obvious that he is a most truly wonderful Christian. I would tell him in passing that although my "chin is still sticking out." not one whisper has yet reached me from Canterbury, the cradle of Christianity.

1 should also like to take this opportunity, if I may, to thank all those people, from a very wide area. who have written to me personally and to give me words of comfort. O yes. Mr. Abbot, I still have some friends.Yours faithfully,
W. BOTTRILL.

Luton.

Note.-This correspondence is now closed. In losing a reader of sucti long standing the liditor regrets that he misinterpreted his letter and used "disgruntled " instead of "disillusioned."

GREAT BRITAIN NOT BRITISH ISI.ES

Dear Sir,-In reply to the letter of Mr. Robert E. JJ. Dennis. I bow my head and acknowledge his superior geographical learning My claim regarding the peals at Landewednack and Sennen should, of course, have been that they were at the southern and western extremities of Great Britain, not the Britush Isles. I challenge a band to ring a peal on the same day at each of the most easterly and northerly towers in Great Britain! - Yours sincerely.

Truro, Cornwall.
ALAN CARVETH.

GOLDEN MEMORY OF ENGLISH RINGING

Dear Sir, - On May 30th my tour of duty at R.A.F. Alconbury ended, and with it, woe is me, my bellringing activities in England. The time that has elapsed since then has only brightened the golden memory of the friendliness. the patient helpfulness and genuine interest demonstrated by many people in the wonderful ringing world of England, who helped me to learn about the glorious ancient art of change ringing and helped to cultivate in me a small budding skill for the Exercise. This experience provided me with $=0$ much joy, dismay, frustration and fulfilment in its challenge that it is one 1 will never be able to match or forget.
I would like to express my deep gratitude to all those who contributed to this unfo: gettable experience of mine. If this entire planet could be a "ringing world." operating with " methods" acceptable to all. and with the same friendly interchange between countries as there is between towers and ringers, it would be a "swinging "world.
I hope that all tower captains and riugers will continue to press forward with new and better ways to interest and teach the young so that the art of change ringing will prosper through the years. As a visitor from a country thit provides very few opportuiaties for ringing, I can see how important it is to have many towers with different practice nights and experienced ringers to ring with in the course of learning.

Thank vou for being hospitable ringers and I hope the hells will ring out a very happy New Year for every one of you.-Very sincerely.

KENT FOLK ARE KIND AND HELPFUL

Dear Sir.-May I, in reply to Mr. Bottrill's letter (p. 795, 1965), say all organisations. all people, all counties and even you. Mr. Bottrill, have their faults. The Canterburv District has always been a quiet part of the county for peal and change ringing. In the last couple of months we have heard some of the bad side of Kent ringing: now let us look at the better side.
Last year there were 143 peals rung by the Association in methods ranging from Plain Bob to London Royal Of these peals. 62 were Surprise Major and nine Spliced Surprise Major. Twenty-six members rang their first peal. I believe this year's figures are well up on last year's.
A meeting held by the Lewisham District at Bexley last January attracted some 9) ringers from Kent. Ringing at the meeting was of a high standard and methods ranged from rounds to Yorkshire. London. Bristol, Superlative, Cambridge and Spliced.
As far as Kent ringers are concerned, 1 do not think you could find more helpful. kind and pleasant folk. We all enjoy a good ring, but we do not mind helping a learner through his first touch.
I have always been told that Mr. Boutsill is good at criticising other people's ringing hut does not do anything to help improve it. In a nutshell, I suppose this was his last attempt to upset as many people as he could before returning to his butterflies. Yours sincerely, Chislehurst, Kent.

A MIDDLESEX SUGGESTION TO KENT
Dear Sir,-Reading between the lines of your correspondence columns I rather get the impression that the general standard of striking in Kent is not too good at the moment May I suggest, however, that instead of continuing their present pointless correspondence and lurking behind bushes, they attempt a more constructive approach. To this end I would like to draw attention to our experience in S.W. Middlesex.
Over the last few years we have faced a steady decline in the attendance and quality of our Saturday meetings. To try and improve this situation we have recently introduced a series of mid-week practice meetings held at various towers on their practice nights. Initial results have been very encouraging from two points of view. Firstly, those who find Saturdays inconvenient for regularly going out ringing are often willing to come out on a week-night. Secondly. but even more important, peal ringers who are generally active on. Saturdays also come along and give a hand By strengthening the attendances in this way we are hoping to build a stronger framework in which our learners will find greater opportunities for advancement than have of late existed in the area.
Although I appreciate that the population distribution in Kent makes their problems somewhat different from ours, 1 feel that they might well find it worth considering a similar scheme in selected areas. - Yours sincerely,

Hampton, Middlesex.
W. S. DEASON.

AN INVITATION

Dear Sir,-Some years ago when I was a younger man and welcomed the opportunity to be included in a peal attempt, I felr especially honoured when the band included such perfect strikers as Mark and Bert Lancefield, Tom Cullingworth, Fred Huckstepp and Wilfred Ring. The quiet efficiency of the last named always aroused my admiration.

It is therefore with considerable sadness that I find that Wilfred has degenerated into a sort of campanological picador, when his talents deserve a much more creditable outict.

I doubt whether anybody was ever goaded into improvement, but if such methods, combined with "lurking," produce improved striking in the district, so much the better.
However, Wilfred, why not get around and join us on practice nights or for Sunday service ringing? It is much more chummy than " lurking " outside on a cold night, and you know you would be welcome.-Yours faithfully. W. P. GARNER.
Willesborough.

TWO DAVID J. MARSHALLS

Dear Sir.-I would not like to be associated with the views on Grandsire expressed bv David J Marshall in his letter in "The Ringing World " of December 17th. I should explain, therefore, that there are two David 3. Marshalls; this one rings at Sawley and likes Grandsire and Surprise. - Yours faithfully.

Long Eaton, Notts.

"NUTS "

Dear Sir--I believe that volumes could and may be written in answer to Mr. D. J. Marshall's letter on "Grandsire," but my own inclination this festive season is restrained to just "Nuts."-Yours sincerely,
A. F. WARREN.

Duties and Responsibilities of the Tower Captain

Substance of a lecture given by N. Chaddock at the Derby Association Week-end Course at Lea Green, November, 1965.

THE designation "Tower Captain" implies a wider responsibility than that of "Ringing Master," a more modern term, and will, therefore, demand a wider range of experience and ability than is needed for the latter office, which could, for instance, only involve the control of ringing at a District meeting.

The function of a Tower Captain is to create or maintain a tower organisation where the bells are rung regularly, punctually and effectively for Sunday services, special Church occasions and at other appropriate times. I he occasions and at other appropriate times. conditions favourable to its future continuance. There should be happy relationships and mutual respect among the members of the organisation and with the clergy, church memhers and officials and with the general public. The more closely the ringers are associated with the life of the Church the better, and ideally the ringers should be well represented at church services. It is an advantage for the Tower Captain to be a member of the parochial church council and enjoy good ielatoonships with the clergy and church officials.

The time, energy and abilities necessary to produce all the conditions leading to such a happy state of affairs may well be beyond the capacity of one man or woman, especially at a church with a large number of bells o: where initial conditions create difficulties.

TASKS SHARED

In the interests of all, not least the Tower Captain, it is necessary that he should possess good powers of organisation so that either he himself carries out the duties and respor:shilities attributed to his office, or competent colleagues undertake these duties which the Captain himself cannot do

Indeed. it is an advantage for many of these tasks to be shared, to give others a sense of responsibility and train them for future office, whether it be in the field of conducting teaching bell control or splicing a rope. In short, though the Tower Captain may not be able to do everything himself he is responsible for co-ordinating efforts to bring about the desired resules.

An important part of the Tower Captain's responsibility is the contral of the ringines. Idally, this should be perfect at all times, hut human limitations, physical conditions and the need for progress and raining at all stages prevent the ideal being achieved. A balanie or compromise has therefore to be made. so that all are given a fair opportunity. having regard to their ability and so that the hest is obtained from the band. This mav mean some restriction on individual wishes from time to time for the good of the whole. The Captain will, however, as far as is sensible, try to meet individual aspirations of various members of the band. Obviously, the ringing should be at its best when the audience is greatest, e.g. when nearing service time.

TRAINING ALL THE TIME

In crganising the ringing, however, the Captain has to consider the overall picture over a long period of time, having in mind future needs and prospects of the band. It is necessary, therefore, to formulate a definite policy having all these considerations in mind. His policy must take account of future contingencies such as impending loss of ringers due to academic trairing, mobility of labour, marriage and normal wastage. He must try to ensure that other ringers become competent to fill potential gaps. Training must go on all the time at an intensity which will vary with the current situation and prospects. It is necessary, of course, to retain the interest of the more advanced ringers by providing opportunity to enjoy the most advanced ringing of which the hand is capable. There should be parallel efforts to secure the progress of each individual ringer and of thie band as a whole. An urge to progress should be present and a sense of stagnation avoided.
Of course, progress may be made lowarils more advanced methods, longer lengths in a particular method, or better striking in rounds or in any method. It may be progress is pulling off and quickly settling to good rounds, in call changes, in better raising and falling in peal, or in assisting the progress of some promising young conductor. A wise Captain will ensure that touches called are graded to the capabilities of the band, or individuals, for in this way the same final success is often achieved more quickly and much had ringing and frustrating breakdown: avoided.

It will obviously be the duty of the Captain to call attention to faults in the ringing. eitser of the band or of the individual. Criticism should always be constructive and given in such a way that it is likely to briag about an improvement having regard to the temperament of the person to whom it is *ddressed. Any who find advice or helpful criticism irksome may content themselve with the thought that as one's efforts become more effective, constructive criticism becomes unnecessary and disappears.
Persistent nagging on too many points and frequent and repeated ambiguous exhortations to "listen to them," without reference io any particular defect, have little value. [he Captain should endeavour to speak cleall and rele ${ }^{-}$his advice to the particular bells and hlows which are most faulty. For instance. "Give a clear open lead with the second at handstroke, please." or "Bring the eighth on at backstroke over the little bells, please" is much more helpful and constructive to ringers leas than expert than "Come on, listen to them."

RESPONSIBILITIES

So far, we have concerned ourselves mainly with the Tower Captain's responsibilittes whilst ringing is in progress. He has other responsibilities which are concerned with providing flourishing conditions and environment to promote such ringing. These involve
1.- The physical conditions in which ringing takes place, such as the state of the ropes, the sound of the bells inside and outside, the "go" of the bells, the light. warmth. velltilation, cleanliness and general attractiveness of the linging chamber and its approaches. Seldom are all these ideal, and murual efforts to promote improvement can stimulate the ringers and create added interest.
2.-Administration of the tower in such matters as belfry prayers, personal relationships, records of attendance, handling of any moneys re weddings, etc., tower records and ringing literature.
3.- Initiating various social activities which do so much to engender a friendly atmosphere in the band, e.g., annual outing. dinner, joint visits to other fowers and ringing meetings.
4.-Good relations with the church and outside bodies. A good status for ringers and ringing. Liaison with vicar, choirmaster, churchwardens, etc., regarding the ringing cf the bells.
5.- Recruitment and training-A balanced band snould be aimed at which will usually include people of both sexes of a wide range in age and occupation and drawn from a wide area It is worth remembering that the right temperament can be a more valuable quality than sheer ability alone. Training is a subject of its own and should include encouraging suitable ringers to support and take their place in the wider ringing organisations outside their own tower. Every tower shouid have a regular weekly practice which should have as one of its main aims the improvement of service ringing at that church. Whatever the attendance, the Captain should endeavour to turn it to advantage If small, beginners may get a better opportunity than normally possible. The practice should be purposeful towards improving Sunday ringing, providing for the future and tnwards maintaining interest and progress The Captain should vary the sequence of types of touches to encourage punctual attendance by all As far as possible all the band should be present from the start, the experienced ringers to helo with the learners and the less experienced to leain by watching.
Is is evident that many qualities are needed to become a successful Tower Captain, some of which nave already been indicated. He must be able to secure the loyalty and respect of the band. It is obvious that some standard of discipline must be demanded, remembering that. ulrimately, ringers will fall off if a sense of enjoyment is lost. The two things. discipline and enjoyment. are not. however, incomnatible.
Finally, the Tower Cantain needs loval support and co-operation from all members of the hand and encnuragement from the clergy and laity if the hells are to fulfil their purpose.

The Rt Rev Gordon D Savage is Bishop of Southwell. and not Southall. as inadvertently stated in December 17th issue (page 857).

The Editor thanks Miss Elaine Crabtree, secretary of Clitheroe Parish Church Bellingers, for sending a postal order towards our funds. She states that it should have accompanied a quarter peal rung last June but one of the ringers lost the postal June

LETTERS-Continued

Dear sir BELL ROPES

Dear sir.-An important consideration with cower bell ropes is the many variations in conditions they are subjected to. Factors harmful to ropes will almost certainly be prevalerit in areas of industry, i.e. polluted atmospheres of high sulphur content and grit, to say pothing of 40 th generation low-class pigeonry. A tower subject to these conditions could be filthy to work in, consequently less maintenance, no ropemanship, and as a resuli -costly belfry and or silent tower.
Without doubt, the first clue to impending trouble will be from rope examination by the garter hole. Now let us get this straightthe garter hole is the hole the rope passes through in the soling on its wav to the high spokes of the wheel. Fillet hole and garter hole are one and the same thing.
To continue, the first sign of trouble will he noted at the garter hole, when by pulling the rope through the soling towards the bell side and examining the strands, the presence of powder will denote rotting of fibres, or with d darker interior, a sign of mildew. A preventive measure for this problem is an application of Russian tallow on good ropes and this is for two prime reasons: (a) it has waterproof qualities and (b) it is reckoned to be salt free. Weight for weight. price for price, it is cheaper than some other concoctions. To apply, first get your Russian tallow, then select a comfortable position on top cill of bell-frame. Take a handful of the stuff and allow the heat of one's hand to soften it. Take rope in same hand and ruh it well in and well down to ringing room cetling, then wipe vigorously with linen-type Jag (not wool) to remove surplus. This last operation will prevent the tallow forming a cumbersome candy-like coating on the rollers in their boxes. When purchasing Russian tallow it will be cheaper in 7 lb . or 141 b . tins. and don't be put off by the smell. Domestic lard, similar in appearance, contains salt, so te warned.
The general weakening of the bell ropes is mainly concentrated in areas (a) in contact with rollers-this is internal friction. and (b) the garter hole-this is external friction. In case (a) more wear will be noted with drawn" sones: i.e. use of double rollers, than with single ones of plumb fixings, and will be accentuated where additional floor rollers are fitted. Possibly this may be the cause of trouble as at Kenilworth (page 776). With these thoughts in mind. consider also the service and clock bells, raised and lowered between services for chiming (what a bind!) may cause them to give up sooner than the rest of the set.
Then again there are probably quite a nurnber of rings of bells where the cenor has the ingle roller for ease of handling whilst the penultimate grinds along with a "double." Almost a pity considering this one (with oddbell method ringing) can be the most overworked hell. as it is as much a "beat "keeper is its neighhour.
The mention of beat keeping is an interesting subject for I believe that all rings of bells have a " natural " speed that, when attained. enables all the bells to coast along attained. enables all the bells to coast along with the minimum of effort and wear. good heat may bs economical.
Now here is something to think about. It will he observed in the case of the handstroke up "position that the rope is bent from the garter hole towards the top of the bell wheel and the total binding surface on the wheel soling of the rope is about one-eighth of its circumference. whereas the backstroke down" position from the garter hole is about five-eighths of its circumference. So what! Well, in practical ringing operations It is a fair guess that the majority of strains of backstroke are absorbed in the soling and not at the garter hole position. I maintain it may not be at all a bad idea if the handstroke side of the garter hole be given a radius of about the same as its roller. within the wheel frame to bear on, as feel this would cut down considerable rope failure at this spot. I am well aware this idea will produce an clongated groove and possible local weakness structurally in the wheel, but could he overcome with specially strengthened shrouding (flanges) about this spot.
The upper quadrant of the soling opposite the garter hole is untouched by the rope (broken stays excepted) so in the event of going to town with sandpaper, save some effort by omitting this section. (See "Ringing World," page 816, 1965).

Now here is something else to ponder over. A "hawser laid" three-strand rope will bear a greater strain in comparison with its size than any other of the same material, whilst fourstranders are about one-fifth weaker than threestrand. Normally, four-strand ropes are shroud laid " around a central core, but in bell ropes the core is absent. In consequence these ropes can have a tendency to collapse. losing their roundness at the garter hole. Even so, they are really first class to handle: "a case of gaining on the swings what one may have lost on the roundabout."
It will be observed that bell ropes have a right-hand lay or as we used to say. "with the sun.' and for this reason it seems right-handed singing (tail-end in left hand) is a smoother operation than the left-handed way, due to the tendency of the rope to go round with itself coming down from backstroke. In other words, ringing left-handed will tend to kink the rope each time due to the tail being captive.-Yours sincerely.

Swindon, Wilts. PETER MINCHIN.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The 500th peal on the bells of St. Mary's, Willesden, was rung on December 16th. Miss Joan Beresford has rung in 100 of them.

The peal at Long Crichel. Dorser, putlished last week. was a 21st birthday compliment to the Misses Ruth A. and Mary E. Elines, of Wareham.

The four ringing members of the Corby family, of Sevenoaks, rang their 25th peal together at Westerham on December 11th. It was five-spliced Surprise.
In memoriam peals to that great ringer. Reuben Sanders, have been rung at Erith, Kent. Streatham, Shalford, Surrey, and Balcombe, Sussex.

Miss Valerie Humphreys will be missed at Sleaford. Lincs, where she is a keen church worker, as she is leaving to take up nursing as a career. She rang in her farewell peal af Silk Willoughby on December 11th.

Three of the ringers in the quarter peal at Ardleigh spend most of their time abroad, and two further ringers are away at college most of the year. A chance to ring a quarter on Boxing Day was therefore too good 10 be missed.

The 60 th anniversary of the first peal at All Saints' Church. Great Horkesley. Essex. was marked on December 9 th by ringing a peal in the same methods. Alan $R$. Andrews rang the second; his father participated in the first peal.
In ringing his first quarter the Rev. $P$. Gallup. Rector of Buriton. becomes the first incumbent in the Alton and Petersfield Dis. trict to ring a quarter at his own Parisb Church for many years.

The peal of Rutland Surprise Major rung at Shepton Beauchamp on December 4th ("Ringing World." December 24th (page 869) was the first of Surprise on the bells, writes John Cornelius.

B.B.C.'s CHRISTMAS BELLS

Mr. Claude Rush, of Felixstowe, writes: Surely everyone will say that the 1965 Christmas Day's broadcast was a very good programme.
Having heard it. I am more inclined than ever 1 was to think that, unless it is a very heavy ring of a higher number, an octave sounds better than any other number if bells - on a record or over the radio, at any rate.

Most likely the striking of the twelve at St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth, and the ten at St. Paul's, Bedford, was very good, but the individual bells did not come out sufficiently clearly that the "tune" could be followed and appreciated. Bedford's 8th, 9th and tenor and Yarmouth's 11 th and tenor were outstanding, and I think this latter tenor gave the best sound of any bell, which could be clearly heard, in the programme.
St. John's, Cleator Moor (8), were well struck. It would have been even nicer to have heard them "come home" as did St. Nicholas', Carrickfergus (8), which were also well struck though they sounded rather harsin -perhaps the position of the microphone caused this.

I suppose one would say that the six at st. Gwendoline's, Talgarth, gave a typical light six Doubles performance. The cartwheei call changes of the six at St. Calixtus', West Down, were so very, very regular that one might imagine that they were not "hand made." Open leads would have made a great improvement here-improved the "tune" and cancelled the monotony.
But to my mind St. James', Paisley (8, the programme, although there were a few $"$ clips" ; and mentioning "clips" leads me to add that sometimes one or two "near misses "-not clashes-can even improve a performance when it is listened to from the musical angle though. I agree, not from a ringing angle. I would like to hear Paisley again. and for a lot longer.
May I add, happy New Year, ringers, and to you, Mr. Editor.

SIR ARTHLR HEYWOOD COMMEMORATION

April 19th next year is the 50th anniversary of the death of Sir Arthur Heywood. In memory of this great man. who was instrumental in the formation of the Central Council and responsible for many authoritative publications on the architectural and engineering as well as the practical aspects of church hell ringing, the Derbyshire Association are setting aside April 25th as a special day of remembrance.
The main event of the day is to be a service of thanksgiving for the life and example of Sir A. P. Heywood at Duffield Parish Church, where he was a ringer for most of his life.

Prior to the service, and also afterwards, it is planned to have as many towers available for ringing as possihle. All ringers. particularly current Central Council niembers, are invited to join with ringers from Derbyshire in these activities in memory of a great man. G. A. H.

RELiben SANDERS AND ALL SAINTS',

 FULHAMOne of the favourite London towers of the late Mr. Reuben Sanders was All Saints', Fulham. He rang several peals there, including the two that were rung for the opening and closing of the Festival of Britain. On Sunday evening. December 19 th , ten ringers met for a commemorative quarter peal of Cambridge Royal, but after only a few minutes of ringing the attempt had to be stopped when the clapper of the seventh bell broke. After making sure that no damage had heen done. six of the company rang a quarter peal of 1.320 Cambridge Minor on the top six. They were: Alison M. Mann 1, M. J. Uphill 2, A. N. Stubbs 3, R. Ashmore 4, A. E, Bagworth 5, A. R. Patterson (conductor) 6.

COURSES BY STAFFORD ARCHINEACONRY SOCIETY

The Stafford Archdeaconry Society held its second course for instructors at Wedneshury on December 8 th and at Willenhall on December 13 h . This course dealt with starting change ringing in both change ringing and non-change ringing towers. In the latter the instructors, Messrs. P. G. K. Davies and ${ }^{\text {the }}$ M. W. Fairey, recommended that a start be made on a small number of bells. emphasising that the learner should think of the total number of bells he is following (i.e. place he is in), and must avoid learning pambers. Common mistakes of learners in striking were mentioned to guide the instructor in correcting these. The evening concluded with general ringing.

WEDDING BELLS AT NOTTINGHAM

Four weddings or wedding anniversaries were commemorated by the peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Marys, Nottingham, on December 18 th . The first was for a member of the band, Miss Barbara Mary Crage, the daughter of the verger, whose wedding to Mr. Anthony HFieldhouse took place in the church that day. Associated with the peal were the Lincoln couple, Peter Sharp and Joyce Gurnhill, who were married at St. Giles'. Lincoln, the same day. It was also Brian and Chris 'Mills' first and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Gobey's 31 st wedding anniversary, Mr. Gobey at last ringing a peal at St. Mary's after many failures.

MANCROFT GUILD OF RINGERS

At the annual general meeting of the Mancroft Guild of Ringers, held on November 20th, the following officers were elected: President, the Rev. W. J. Westwood: Ringing Master, Mr. Nolan Goiden; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. David Heighton; secretary. M: Master, Mr.
David
Cubitt; Bird.

ANOTHER RECORD

The Dulwich Handbell Ringers, led by Mr. Arthur H. Coombs, have for the 19 th consecutive year been out ringing carols in the Dulwich streets and collecting for the Greater London Fund for the Blind. The collection this year was the result of touring the district for 18 consecutive nights and amounted to the record sum of $£ 250$. Every house in every road is knocked at and they now will have handed in $£ 4,750$ in all.

SUFFOLK CHRISTMAS SOCIAL

At Bramford we are very proud To entertain a merry crowd
Of ringers from the district here And other friends from far and near. We hope you all enjoy the fun, From oldest to the youngest one.'
These words opened the entertainment at the Suffolk Guild soctal held at Bramford on December 18th, and the 80 or so ringers and friends from Suffolk and Essex did enjoy the fun. The village hall was gaily decorated, there was tood in abundance and a great number of people took part in the entertainment, where, as list year, we again had the opportunity to laugh at ourselves.

Some witty songs by the Bramford ringers made a good start, and this was followed ty two excellent handbell arrangements played by the Henley ringers. Allowing themselves plenty of licence, Alice Lester and Lawrence Pizz:y gave a report on the Guild's activities during the year. There were lots more: Cleveriy altered nursery rhymes by three Bramford girls, a monologue and song by Bramford girls, a monologue and song by Jim Pipe, and several short sketches by the Henley ringers. One of these deserves particular mention. For a few very funny minutes Laurence Parry was our Ringing Master, George Pipe coping with all the forgetful members of the Guild, only to be shown as forgetful, and trouserless, bimself !

The gathering could scarcely do justice to the superb array of food which was provided by ringers and ringers' wives and mothers during the interval. At the end of the evening Mrs. George Pipe picked the 19 lucky tickets for the prizes in the St. Mary-le-Tower Beil Fund draw. Tickets had been sold all over the country, and one prize went as far as Yeovil.
The social committee and all who helped to make the evening so successful are thanked for their hard work. May we have many such gatherings in Suffolk in the future.
A. E. J. L.

ORDAINED 50 YEARS AGO

On St. Thomas's Day at St. Mary-le-Wigford Church, Lincoln. the Rev. William Thomas Dredge celebrated the 50th anniversary of his ordination. The occasion was marked by an evening Sung Eucharist attended by the Bishop of Lincoln (the Rt. Rev. Kenneth Riches) and members of the congregations of St. Mary's, St. Martin's and St. Faith's Churches.

Born in New Tredegar, Mon, Mr. Dredge was ordained by the Bishop of Llandaff in St . Woolos' Cathedral, Newport. Remembered with gratitude is his 13 years. ministry at Port Talbot and 24 years as resident chaplain of Rampton State Institute, near Retford. Since retiring in 1957 he has lived in Lincoln and assisted at the three local churches mentioned above.
A quarter of Bob Minimus was rung before the service. and afterwards in the adjoining Church Hall refreshments were served The Vicar, the Rev. Colin Evans, presented Mr. Dredge with a cheque from the three congregations as a token of their appreciation, and read letters from St. Agnes", Port Talbot, and Tredegar.

OUR NEW BOOK

From the Rev. F. F. Rigby, Rector of Bromsberrow in the Diocese of Gloucester, and Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

AFEW weeks ago I was asked to review for a quarterly review the excellent new book " Change Ringing," by Wilfrid $G$. Wilson, and published by Faber and Faber at $63 /$-. It was with great interest, therefore, that I read Wilfrid Moreton's review of the book in "The Ringing World " and also a letter published later by the author himself. My purpose in writing this article is not to attempt to review the book again, for Mr. Moreton did that very well, but to follow up a -oint that he raised and that the author referred to in his letter. This concerns the economics of book production.

In the production of a book of this sort, which by its very nature is bound to have a limited appeal. both publisher and author run a considerable financial risk. I must say that I was rather surprised, but pleased, to learn a year or so ago that one of the best publishing houses in the country had decided to publish a book for us, for they knew that if the book did not sell they stood to lose a fair amount of money. Further-and I make this point as an author myself-if the book did not sell, then Mr. Wilson, who must have spent hours writing the book, would have had little financial reward for his labours, for his royalties depend upon the number of copies sold. In fact, the book is selling well, though I should imagine that both publisher and author have been pleasantly surprised by this. It will continue to sell well, if in smaller quantities, through the years. The reason for this is simple; it is a book that ringers need.

In his review, Mr. Moreton said he thought it "a pity that space could not be found for a study of the process of composition." In his letter commenting on this, Mr. Wilson agreed that much had had to be omitted from the book, but he also stated that if he had put in all that he had wanted then its price would have been ten guineas and the book would not have been published. This is a most important point about the economics of book production which ringers need to understand. The size of every book is determined by a lot of factors, one of which is the cost of production. In fact, the book contains more than enough for most ringers, and the very mathematically minded ones who want the really advanced information can get it elsewhere. My own view is that we are very lucky to have a book so well produced and so clearly written.

Mr. Moreton makes the point that those ringers who do not want a copy of their 'wn (though he thinks most ringers will soon want a copy) should see that one is available in the local library or tower library. I should imagine that most librarians will want a copy of the book. for it fills a gap on their shelves for them, though it may be necessary for the book to be brought to their notice. I am not happy about Mr. Moreton's suggestion that there should be a copy in the tower library, for tower library books are so often monopolised by one person.

The book is obviously meant to be used as a text-book at home, and it is difficult to be so used if a ringer does not possess his own copy. Mr. Moreton's review seems to suggest that the price is high. For a book of this sort it is not. Why is it, I wonder, that people are prepared to spend the earth on most things, but think that books should be cheap? If the book is compared with an advanced mathematical text-book, which presents similar difficulties in expensive typesetting, the prices will be found not to be dissimilar.

Personally, I look at a matter like this through the eyes of an amateur musician. Music is one of my hobbies and on instruments I have spent large sums of money, and during the course of any one year I spend on music far more than three guineas. But ringers get their musical instrument, namely a ring of bells, for nothing, and the amount they need to spend on ringing books is negligible. With Mr. Wilson's book any ringer will possess something which will last him a lifetime, unless he foolishly decides to lend it; and with pencil and paper and the will to study he can be sure of many hours of happiness before him in his own home in the pursuit of his hobby.

I am concerned both as an author and as a ringer that we should understand the significance of what has been done for ringers by the publication of this book. My wife's hobbies are gardening, embroidery and bird-watching; she has a large number of books on all these topics and is continually buying new ones. Ringers have few books on which they can spend their money in the pursuit of their hobby; certainly there is no single book containing so much as Mr. Wilson's "Change Ringing." Ringers owe a debt of gratitude to both publisher and author; they took a risk in publishing and writing, but no purchaser need think he is taking a risk. Here is a book, as many have already discovered, of real value: a pearl of great price.

ST. PETER'S, JARROW-UPON-TYNE

 (Six bells, $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.)In 1881. Warner's installed a ring of six in he new Church of St. Peter, Jarrow. The nitial band (it is not clear who started it) broke up after about a year at Grandsire Doubles. One of the learners, Frederick J Harrison (a railwayman, who died in 1901), became an outstanding ringer and conductor: and helped to revive it. In 1885 the band, logether with Christ Church's 'r ngers, rang tifty $730^{\circ}$ s in six methods. Altnough ine standard varied, a change ringing band was maintained until 1909 . Then there appears 10 have been some quarrel; four of the ringers moved to Chrit Church and the connection with the Association was severed. In 1911 there was evidence of a new rand. Unti) 1425 (when Russell moved to Chilst Chuch, note) it was attached to the Association, but never advanced beyond Plain Bob.

The St. Pcters ringers were again attached to the Association from 1929 to 1932 and 193.5 to 1939. Little change ringing seems to have been done and it is not clear to the writer even whether the band had a continuous existence. During the war the tower was damaged by a bomb and the bells were said to be unringable. $\ln 1960 \mathrm{Mr}$ C. N . Lea, Ringing Master at South Shields, resiored the bells and started a band, which did not last more than about a year.

ST. MICHAEL AND ALL ANGELS*, NEWBURN-ON-TYNE  (Six bells, 16 cwt . 1 qr. y lb.)

To the west of Newcastle lies the old village of Newburn. In 1888 a ring of bells, cast by Taylor's and donated by a Spencer of Newburn Steel Works, was installed in the Norman church. In 1895 the local ringers became attached to the Association. Little advance was made and the connection was severed in 1903.
In 1921 E. E. Ferry, of Newcastle Cathedral. succeeḑed in injecting some enthusiasm into the band. On September 30th, 1924. the band rang a peal of seven Minor methods, with Ferry the only outsider, which was conducted by Edward Lowery. In about 1930, however, there seems to have been some quarrel and the band split up. Edward Lowery rang at Blaydon for some time.

After World War II Robert Swann. a local ringer since 1897 (this implies a continuity uf the hand), kept up a Plain Bob band. This declined and petered out in about 1959. Swann died in 1962. Recently the Association has been successful in starting a band with Mr. Alan Taylor as Ringing Master.

ST. JOHN'S. NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE (Eight bells, 11 cwt. 5 lb .)
In about 1130 it was found that the fast expanding town of Newcastle was too large for St. Nicholas' Church. An extra church, St. John's, was accordingly built. Now St John's is in the middle of the shops, hotels and cinemas. In the i3th century tower is a superlative ring of eight.

A ring of six was installed in 1706, either by Phelps of London or Samuel Smith of York. In November, 1879 , through the efforts of the Vicar. the Rev $\dot{W}$ E. Houldley, and his Sunday School teachers, a band of change ringers was started. Francis Lees, a member of the old Society, was appointed instructor and remained a ringer at St John's until his death in 1897. He started by rehanging the bells and by 1883 the band was one of the most prominent six-bell companies in the area The treble was recast in 1881. in 1884 it was again recast and the bells augmented by Warners. One of the local ringers at this time was C. L. Routledge, who later becarre Ringing Master of Newcastle Cathedral.

Despite a lapse (1887-1890) the band soon became the nucleus of the local peal ringers. In the periad 1892 to 1902 a number of the hand transferred their attentions to the Cathedral, especially when ( $1900-02$ ) St. John tower was closed due to structural weakness However, after this the ringers returned and a London Surprise band was established. In 1905 the brilliant William Barber (d. 195 !) moved to St. John's From 1912 to 1926 the St. John's band almost all rang at the Cathedral also. In that year, however, due to a dispute with the Rev Noel Hudson, the Vicar (later Bishop of Newcastle. then of Fly), the band stopped ringing at St. John's. In the same year the oells were recast and the tower strengthened. The remaining local band, with Robert Welsh (d. 1948), a former churchwarden, cutstanding. and tutored for a time by $\mathbf{J}$. E. Keen. never advanced far

After the war there was no local hand until about 1953. when H. P. Cliff started one. This, however, collapsed on his death in 1958. Unili recently the bells were ruing on a Sundav by the Cathedral ringers. The Newcastle University Society has been revived $(1965)$ and now organisces the regular Sunday service ringing.

ST. JAMES AND ST. BASIL'S. FENHAM.

 NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE (Eight bells, 14 cwt .10 lb.$)$ (Also nine chiming bells)In the prosperous suburb of Fenham, next to the Town Moor, lies the Church of St James and St. Basil. This was built in 1931 by Sir James Knott in memory of his sons James and Basil, killed in the first world war On June fin. 1931. the hells were dedicated by the Vicar. the Rev. S. Redman. Unfortunately Mr. Redman was not verv enth siastic about ringing and it was with great difficulty that he was nersuaded to allow a local band to be formed. This was done in 1933 hy Messrs. J. Anderson and W. J. Davidson of Newcastle Cathedral.

The band quickly advanced. In 1934 the first local 720 was achieved. A peal of Minor with a local band was rung in 1937. Other local peals have been rung.

After the war a high standard was maintained. A local peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 1956 . Numbers of local eight- and six-bell quarter peals have been continually rung, although there has heen some falling off recently. The Ringing Master is Mr. E. N. Harrison.

ST. GFORGE'S. JESMOND.

 NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE ((Eight bells, 18 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb.$)$In 1883 in the residential suburb of Jesmond. St. George's Church was built. A Taylor's ring of eight was donated by Charles Mirchell, a partner in Lord Armstrong's works and he also paid for the church. The bells were dedicated on February 23rd, 1889. The local band was tutored first by Francis Lees for seven years and then hy William Holmes. Both these men were from St John's The band was never really successful. In 1893 a local quarter peal of Triples and some 720 's were rung. A decline then set in and in 1899 the band severed its connections with the Association.
In 1904 the local ringers are mentioned as only ringing call changes. However the rang regularly for services and held a practice The band was mext attached to the Assoctation in 1914. This was due to the work of the Rev. 1914. This was due to the work of Master of the Cambridge University Guild. and of C.
L. Routledge. After the war, E F. Ferry L. Routledge. After the war, E F.. Ferry over of his young recruits was contint:ous. Nevertheless, in 1923. a peal of Plain Bob Major, conducted by Ferry with W. H. Barher the only outsider, was rung. In 1924 Treble Bob Major was rung. Shortly before his death in 1932 Ferry transferred his attention to Durham Cathedral and soon afterwards the band gradually fell apart. In 1936 the attachment with the Association was severed.

After World War Il until about 1951 a poor apathetic band of ringers was collected by the verger, Mr. Herbert Kennedy. Call changes or poor Bob Doubles at the best were rung. Early in 1957 Mr. (now the Rev.) Philip 1. Addison started up a band of ringers which has endured to the present day. Under Mr. A. C. Bolton, and then Mr. A. G. Craddock, the young hand has advanced. R"c ntiv a tower bell peal attempt of Bob Tr ples lasted one and a half hours of good ringing; three local handbell peals have bein rung.

ST. JAMES'. BENWELL, NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE

In the old residential suburb of Benwell is the Victorian Church of St James, which contains a ring of six by Messrs. Carr and Sons of Smethwick, installed in 1897. Unfortunate!y they were not installed by a proper bellhanger and at first were almost unringable due to an enormous draught of rope. Due to the interest of the area's ringers, among them $T$. T. Gofton and E. E. Ferry. the bells were made more ringable and a local Society formed (1898). In 1900 a 720 of Plain Bob Minor under Ferry was achieved. By 1902 they were at a standstill and Ferry was called in to help. By 1907 they had a fairly strong band, if only for Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles. but in the next few years the hand improved and before World War I several Minor methods could be rung.
A continuous period of mediocrity set $m$ after the war. By 1928 the band was still struggling with Plain Bob. Perhaps the bad go of the bells, especially the tenor and fourth, was in part the cause of this. The next year the band received instruction from W. H. Barber and improved somewhat. In 1933, the best year for a long time. two quarter peals of Grandsire were rung.
After the war, under Mr. R. Stuari Mallaburn, the band greatly improved, In 1946 one quarter of Grandsire was rung: in 1947 four quarters and a peal. This was conducted by Mr. Mallaburn and was the firs for all the band By 1949 the band had still not advanced beyond Grandsire but was ringing regular quarter peals of that. In 1952-54 the band improved and methods such as Double Court were rung on a Sunday. After 1957, however, the standard dropped considerably and there has been no local ringing for perhaps

Conductor's Notes on Record Length of Yorkshire

$M^{18}$R. NEIL BENNETT, the conductor, has provided us with the following notes on the record length of 17.258 Yorkshire Surprise Major rung at Accrington on December 18th. We feel certain the Exercise will join us in congratulating the band on a fine performance.
The start of the peal was delayed whilst a normal rope, borrowed for the occasion from Ashton, was put on the fourth bell to replace the Yorkshire-style rope with its green sally and red luft which is favoured by the local ringers at Accrington. This done. the bells went off into changes exactly half an hour later than the eight o'clock planned, and after some initial unsteadiness, due. it is suspected, to nervousness, the bells settled down to a consistent rhythm which was maintained throughout the peal. The speed of ringing remained remarkably constant at between 31 and 31.7 changes per minute, speeding up to exactly 32 only in the last part.

There was momentary uncertainty after about 8.000 changes or so wher one of the band seemed likely to succumb to cramp, but happily he recovered very quickly, and the rest of the peal passed without untoward event. the bells coming into rounds after 17,248 changes and 9 hours and 6 minutes. This peal surpasses the 15.520 Yorkshire Surprise Major rung at Loughborough on December 8th, 1962, and in changes though not of course in time. the 16,920 Yorkshire Surprise Royal rung at Worsley on December 23rd. 1961. and is the second longest peal of Surprise. It is not, however, the longest peal by the Lancashire Association; that distinction is held by Edward Jenkins and his band with their 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob Major at Heptonstall on April 18th, 1927
The thanks of the rest of the band are due to Richard Parker for standing in at short notice when John Fielden had to drop ou! for personal reasons, also to the three umpires, who between them checked every call throughout, and to the local ringers and incumbent fo: allowing us the use of the bells.

It says much for the efficiency of the sound lantern above the bells that we were able to ring a nine-hour peal in the midst of a shopping cenire only a week before Christmas without apparently incurring anyone's displeasure.

INTRODUCTION TO LONG LENGTHS

Two of the band had not previously rung a long peal: Jeffrev Brannan is 19 years of age and a member of the St. Michael's, Ashton. band. His neals total about 70, of which he has conducted about 10 . and he has been ringing for four years. He works as a clerk with the Refuge Assurance Company in Manchester
Alan McFall, who rang the 6th, is 27 years of age, recently married, and is vet another of the ringers who began their ringing careers at Marple under the leadershij of Jack Pryor. He has rung about 150 peals, quite a number on handbells, and has conducted about 20. Alan is an accountant by profession with Granada Television

The composer of the peal. Richard Parker, rang the 2nd. He is 19 years old and now in his first year at Birmingham University reading metallurgy. He has rung one previous long length, 10.080 Yorkshire Surprise Major, at Accrington earlier this year, when he conducted his own composition. Richard has been ringing for about five years now. is a member of St. Peter's, Burnley band. and has conducted about 15 of his 130 peals to date. His most notable peal is probably that of 24 Spliced Surprise Major at Bilsborrow in 1964, which established the present Lancashire Association record for Spliced Surprise.

Ine last line of the second part (56423) and the second line of the third part (56342) should be interchanged. and the bracket " $A$ " should include only the 12 courses ending 64523 .

CIIRISTMAS BELLS

Dear Sir.-May I use your columns in order to thank the B.B.C. and all the ringers at the towers where the bells were ringing from on Christmas Day. I have been a bell ringer for over 40 years at our villag: church at Drighlington in the West Riding of Yorkshire, but two years ago I had to give up ringing nwing to a chronic illness, so you can understand the pleasure I got when I heard the hells on Christmas Day morning. There must he a lot of old ringers up and down the country like me, who will never ring again owing to illness or some disability, and I hope that they got the same fleasure as I did on hearing the bells.

1 hope this will he a yearly event. There must be a lot of work in organising a programme like this, hut I am sure that I can safely say, on behalf of myself and others ike me, that it was well worth it.
Thanking you all once again for the pleasure that it gave me.-Yours faithfully,

MAURICE BROWN.
Drighlington, Yorks.

Dear Sir-Once again I take the opportunity of listening to the "Christmas Bells" broadcast which. I am delighted to say, came over with perfect transmission, particularly the new ring of eight from St. Nicholas', Carrickfergus, Co. Antrim, which came through with absolute rhythm. I should like to make at this moment a special request for next "Christmas Bells" forecast to hear Liverpool Cathedral bells, which, with the Nativity bells, Bethlehem, would make a perfect setting.-Yours truly, Handsworth, Birmingham.

BRISTOL SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir.-In "The Ringing World" of December 17 th Mr. Mottershead asked fol the figures of peals of Bristol with under 50 hobs. I enclose a peal which I obtained some time ago, in two parts, having 50 bobs in 17 courses.-Yours faithfully,

DIARY REPRINT

Dear Sir ,-The demand for the "Ringer, Notebook and Diary" has risen unaccountahiy and we have decided to reprint. The extra copies will be in plastic covers, price $6 / 6$ each. or $6 / 3$ each for six or more to one address.

Before making the decision, money had already been returned to a number of customers. Will these people please order again immediately if they still want copies. It would be a help in estimating next year's requirements if they, and others ordering the reprint, would state whether they would have preferred the leather-covered version.

Chesham.

IN DFFENCE OF GRANDSIRE

Dear Sir,-I must take issue with Mr. D. J Marshall concerning his letter "Grand-sire-a waste of time" published in the edition of December 17 th .

He implies that it is the ultimate ambition of every ringer to ring Surprise methods, when in actual fact this is very far from being the case: the majority of ringers do not ring Surprise methods because they lack either the ability or the inclination or both, and are quite content with their so-called plain methods.

Secondly, I would not agree that it is injurious to a learner to instruct him in Grandsire: I was reared on Grandsire Triples, and certainly did not find this to be a disadvantage when I began ringing Plain and Treble Bob Major methods.

Finally, there is the question of the music produced by the bells, and I am sure that most ringers who listen to what they are ringing, would agree that there is little to better the sound of a well-struck peal of Grandsire or Stedman Triples.

There are two ways of appreciating a peal: one is by listening to it, and the other is by looking at it in the peal columns; any ringer who truly enjoys his art must surely prefer the former method.-Yours faithfully.

East Hagbourne, Didcot.
P.S.-I hope the Daventry band enjoyed their peal of Grandsire Royal: if they leave the tenor behind next time and ring. Grandsire Caters I am sure they will enjoy this even more.-M. B.

MR. A. J. PITMAN'S REGRETS

Dear Sir,-I had intended to be present at the meeting at Sketty on December 4th, also to attend the installation of the memorial to the late J. W. Jones at All Saints', Newport, hut regret that I was taken ill shortly before the time came for me to visit Wales and had to stay in bed for a couple of weeks.
However, I shall he glad of an opportunity to mention in "The Ringing World" the help and encouragement I received from the late Mr. Jones in fixing up the bands for many of my peals and in keeping me interested as regards compositions, etc.
I am pleased to report that I am now on the mend. bilt afraid ringing will be out of the question for a while.-Yours faithfully,

GRANDSIRE PREDOMINATES IN DEVON
Dear Sir.-I would like to make a reply to Mr. David Marshall's letter on Grandsire.
Grandsire may well be a stepping stone for some people to Surprise methods, but in parts of England Grandsire and Plain Bob are nearly the only methods rung. I have been ringing for two years and have now mastered Grandsire Triples, but in my part of Devon I have little or no chance of learning much else but perhaps Plain Bob Major (which is quite rare) and Stedman Triples.
! believe Surprise methods are rung on practice nights at Heavitree in Exeter, but that tower is weli gttended and as I know no one there. 1 ,ather 1 would have little chance of learning anything.
Even Exeter Cathedral rings little besides Grandsire and Plain Bob on larger numbers of bells.

So, until perhaps when I leave school and leave Devon, I am stuck on a stepping stone (according to Mr. Marshall) and presumably am in danger of falling in the water and drowning-i.e. losing interest in ringing.

However, I do not think this is the case, for there is much to be learnt about Grandsire and Plain Bob. The Thompson papers show this. Also, when I see the few very good tingers of the Guild having to lower themselves to ring some well-struch Grandsire Doubles or Triples, I feel that Grandsire is not such an irrelevant method.

Concerning the peal of Gran re Royal rung at Daventry-an utter waste $f$ time as far as Mr. Marshall is concerned since the ringers were all perfectly capable of ringing Surprise Royal-isn't it nice to have a change from Surprise methods and try something unusual?-Yours sincerely,

JULIAN M. PORTMAN.

DERBY'S WEEK-END COURSE

Dear Sir,-I would like to reply to Mr. Scattergood's letter on page 864 (Dec 24th).

I attended the course concerned, which lasted from Friday evening, November 12th, to Sunday afternoon, November 14th, and was told that it was for people who would be likely to have at some time or other the responsibility of becoming a tower captain, or teaching people to ring, or would-be conductors. I was told that the course was to be held on the dates quoted beecause no others were available.
Finally, I once attended a meeting held some time ago and heard the phrase "incidence of falseness" used with reference to Cambridge Major. Being ignorant of the subject. I aspired to ask another ringer present, who told me that he had never heard of it. However, my second inquiry yielded fruit, a humper crop in the form of a confusing two and a half hour lecture which had no illustrations: because of this lecture I missed the best ringing of the day and a tea which everyone else enjoyed. Furthermore, the lecture I received confused me more than ever and was hardly as lucid as those given by Messrs. Chaddock, Marshall, Carlisle and Messrs. Chaddock, Marshali, Carlisle and Halls at Lea Green, who had obviously taken much time and care in preparing their lectures.

REPLY TO MR. SCATTERGOOD

Dear Sir.-The letter by Sam Scattergood, the Ringing Master at Chesterfield is the second in the year which seems to be aimed solely at provoking the whole of the Derbvshire Association, and me in particular, by betittling the efforts made to improve the state of ringing in this part of the country. Why he has embarked on such a policy i cannot think.

To answer factually Mr. Scattergood's allegations: Firstly the quality of the ringers attending the course at Matlock for ringing masters and instructors. Of the 15 or so students attending. at least seven were official ringing masters, viz., those from Long Eaton, Breadsall, Stanton, Scarcliffe, Sawley, Sandiacre and Old Brampion.

Mr. Scattergood must be over inflated with his own importance if he thinks that the presence of himself at a course of this nature is a measure of its value or success.

Secondly. Mr, Scattergood only displays his own ignorance by such statements as "the knowledge imparted could just as easily have been obtained by asking, pertinent questions at any monthly meeting., I have no doubt that Mr. Scattergood could transmit every bit of his limited knowledge under such circumstances, but not so the much more well-informed lecturers on the course in question. One of the oft-repeated comments from the studerts on the course was "I never knew such things existed." Mr. Scattergood's letter seems to say the same thing.
To answer Mr. Scattergood's final point, it is indeed unfortunate that the holding of such a course results in ringers being away from Sunday morning service ringing. I these ringers were missed, this only underlines the problems which part of the course was aimed al providing a solution to.

I, and many others in the Exercise, believe that the best method of improving the standard of ringing is to improve the quality of men taking on the job of Ringing Master. There is a desperate need for men who are able to teach, because they earn and hold the respect of their fellow ringers. The days are respect of thered. Mr. Scattergood, of the Ringing Master who restricts the progress of his bant by confining his limited knowledge to him-self-no matter how well he keeps his bells and his belfry.-Yours sincerely,
G. A. HALLS.

Littleover, Derby.

PUBLIC SCHOOL RINGING

Dear Sir, I read with interest the lefter "An Old Blue Recalls" (December 10th). Mr . Godfrey writes of the difficulty of getting official approval for practising the art while still at school. At Dauntsey's School. West Lavington, however, the authorities are most sympathetic towards such useful extra-mural activities, and give would-be ringers every encouragement to purstie their chosen interest.

Every Tuesday evening we are allowed to go to All Saints' Church, West Lavington, where we put in an hour's practice under the tuition of the local ringers. At the moment of writing there are seven of us, five of whom are beginners. We hope to achieve a standard of ringing such that we can ring as a band for the school Matins, which is held in the Parish Church. I feel that Dauntsey sets an excellent example in this respect. which other Public Schools might do much worse than 10 follow.-Yours faithfully,

HUGH N. LAWRANCE.
Enford Vicarage, Wilts.

MR. A. PADDON SMITH

Dear Sir,-It was a pleasure to watch the late Mr. Paddon Smith manipulating a rope and I well remember a sharp contrast in styles provided by the late James H. Shepherd and Paddon Smith.
It was a peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's in 1932, with Shepherd ringing the 10th and Paddon Smith the 11 th.
Shepherd, shoeless, as usual when peal ringing. working like a horse and requiring a lot of space for his broad beam end 10 operate, while Paddon Smith, perfectly erect, was gliding the llth along without any apparent effort. Both ringers were getting the same results but the methods of obtaining those results were very different.

I would describe Paddon Smith's handling of a bell rope as majestic.-Yours faithfully, W. B. KYNASTON.

OBITUARY

MR. REUBEN SANDERS

AN APPRECIATION

It was with deep regret that I read of the passing of Mr. Reuben Sanders. His ringung career was a long and splendid one. He ral:e 378 peals with the late William Pye, meluding the first peal of Cambridge Royal in London. 15,264 of Bristol at Hornchurch, and 7,392 of Cambridge Maximus at St. Mary-le-Bow, when the tenor was 54 f cwt . and the beils whent badly. At Exeter he rang the 11 th to Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maxımus. He also to $火$ part in the only peals of Middlesex Surprise Royal ever rung.
I had the pleasure of knowing Reuben for 40 years, and found him one of the kindest and most unassuming men 1 have ever met. He retained a quiet manner in whatever task he accomplished. I shall always remember my last peal with him. which was Stedman Cinques at Southwark. I can picture him now. ringing the tenor and putting it on the dot with that superb style of handling which was truly his own.
I shall retain all these memories until my own turn comes to say "That is all ". PYE

MR. JOHN WOUDMAN

Blythburgh, Suffolk. ringers are in mourning over the tragic death of Mr. Iohn Woodman, who for the past two years had been helping them with their ringing. John was an assistant engineer at the new power station at Sizewell and on December 27 th he had a fall from the gallery in the boiler room at the power station and his injuries proved fatal.
John and his wife. who is also a ringer, both managed to get over from their home at Westleton for ringing at Blythburgh. The former had recentlv taught some youngsters to handle a bell at Theberton with a view to starting a hand. The deepest sympathy of many ringing friends is extended to Mrs. Woodman and their two little children.

MR. JOHN W. WARD

On Christmas Day Jack Ward died at Hauxton Mill, near Cambridge, aged 59. Born at Snaith he came to Sheene Mill. Melhourn, with his parents. He had had his voice trained and when young was in the choir and learned to ring at Melbourn about 1913. The war came, but his asthma prevented him going abroad, and subsequently he was invalided out of the Army. After the war he had plenty of leisure and sperit good deal of his time ringing.
H : was very friendly with Fred Dench and with: the Ipswich ringers: it was there that he learned most of his Surprise ringing, and rang many peals for the Suffolk Guild. He rang also at Saffron Walden, at Hitchin. when the Surorise practices were held. and became a College Youth, ringing at St. Paul's practices He , visited his uncle in Sheffield, and probably rang there as well. He was a member of the Cambridge Ynuths and also one of the Ely Diocesan Association. He was married for a while and leaves a son and married daughter

He rang nearly 300 peals, most of them on higher numbers, many first of Surprise. and his last peal was of Stedman at Bourn. about three years ago. During the past year he had been on a strict diet. when he made a joke about holding a pint mug of lime juice instead of the accustomed beer. Apart juice instead of the accustomed beer. Apart from that he was still active, attending recent District meetings, and ringing at Melbourn only a week or so before he died. At Trumpington recently he admitted that he thought he had rung his last peal, a remark which was proved true when two ringers visited his caravan at Christmas
He was cremated on January 3rd at Cambridge, when there was a large number of ringers present. The bells of Melbourn were rung half-muffled in a quarter of Plain Boh Minor in his memory in the evening by J. Gipson. J. Sanderson. C. Gouldthorp. Reed, D. Pepper and F. Harper (conductor). today. work.

His many ringing friends will regret to hear of the passing of Mr. H. F. Ashley, of Bulkington, Warwickshire, on December 28th at the age of 77. His ringing goes back to the days when St. James', Bulkington, had only four bells He was the prime mover in getting them augmented to six, and the six were rung for the first time at his own wedding, and finally he was instrumental in petting the six augmented to eight, as they are

All his life he was associated with St. James' Church, as a ringer and also as a churchwarden for many years. He had rung about ten peals, most of these being on the old six bells. Unfortunately, a heart attack about ten years ago forced him to give up active ringing, but he never lost his interest in ringing matters and looked forward to his Ringing World" each week. He was a member of a number of Guilds and Associations, among which was the Ancient Society of College Youths.

The Coventry Diocesan Guild was represented at his funeral at St. James', Bulkingion. on December 31st by the president. Mr. A H. Beamish, and Mrs. Beamish. Messrs. E W. Perrens, P Stone, E. Gower and the general secretary. Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward. logether with many members of the local band. Mr. Ashley will long be remembered both ir Bulkington and the Coventry Diocese. and will be missed by us all J.L.G.H.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

The damp, dismal weather of Decemher 18th was soon forgotten in the warmth of the welcome extended to the St Albans District at Radlett. This was the first meeting to he held at Radlett since the installation of Hertfordshire's lightest ring, of bells. Called by some a "musical box," this seemed an apt name for these delightful and surprisingly easy to handle bells.
Ringing began at 3 pm . and continued in various methods until $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$, when a short service was taken by the Rev. John Blick, a member of the Radlett band. The address was given bv the Vicar, the Rev Christopher Newton, R.D. Tea was taken in the adjacent Church Hall, and was served by the local band. led by Mrs. R. Clouston.
The chair at the husiness meeting was taken bv the Rev. John Blick. who thanked the St . Albans District for their heln during the formation of the band at Radlett. The annual District meeting was announced for Januarv 15 th , and good attendance asked for. Mr. R Brown. District secretary. also reminded memhers that careful thought in the nomination of offizers was essential to the success or otherwise of the coming year's programme of

The meeting closed with a very hearty vote of thanks proposed by the District Ringina Master. Mr G. Penney, to the local band fothe splendid arrangements, and especially to the ladies for the excellent tea.

LONDON VISIT BY MIDLAND SCHOOL PUPILS

0N Friday, December 17th, "half a coach " left Redditch County High School, Worcestershire. at 8.30 a.m., with a party of 15 pupils, two staff and the wife of the writer. The route lay through Warwick, Southam and along the M1 with London being the destination.
After a short coffee break on the M.1 the lunch destination was reached-Edmonton Courty Grammar School. Enfield-where the writer formerly taught. Here Margaret and Anne-pupils at Edmonton-ably saw to the lunch requirements of the traveiling party
By 2 o'clock the Whitechapel Bell Foundry had been reached after negotiating some minor traffic hold-ups! A most interesting hour was spent here-a pity it could not have been longer- but, alas, the timetable had i(1) be adhered to. The coach went along the Embankment io the Houses of Parliament, where the 334 steps of the clock tower wert: climbed-quickly to begin with, and then slower and slower as the dizzy heights weris reached! The guide explained the clock: mechanism and the history and details of the bells, and at 3.45 the clock struck whilst the party was among the bells The timetable, and the fear of the coach following in the tracks of a Londen Transport double decker bus to a police compound, made it impossible: to stop to see Big Ben itself struck. but it was heard as the party descended the 334 step:3 to the ground level. (At least, someone who had the energy and breath to count the steps proclaimed triumphantly that there wer: 334 !)
The Science Museum in Kensington was the next stop, where Mr Hughes had very kindly laid on a demonstration of the Carter Ringing Machine. Here a most interesting ansl instructive hour was spent. Plain Bob Minor and Grandsire Cinques were rung on the machine

- From Kensington the driver braved the traffic conditions of the West End and the Christmas lights were viewed in Oxford and Regent Streets as well as Piccadilly Circus. It was remarkable that traffic was so light in density at this time on a Friday evening.
The return route was made. like the out. ward one, via the M. 1 and Warwick. and Redditch was reached at 10.40 p.m. In spte of tiredness, the staff were entertained to song ${ }_{3}$ on the return journey by the pupils
Our grateful thanks go in particular to Mr. Douglas Hughes, for without his assistance the: excursion could not have taken place. Every. one appreciated his, thoughtfulness and worl: he had put into the day. Our thanks go also to the authorities at the Palace of Westminster, the school authorities at Edmontor and to those ringing oupils there who saw to the lunch arrangements
It is hoped this will be the first of many outings by these pupils who are learning tio ring at St. Stephen's, Redditch. They are in fact now helping man the bells every Sunday evening, where formerly they had only been chimed, from all accounts. for very many years. For those who know Redditch. it will years. For those who know Redditch. it will teach learners. for the bells are most difficult to handle, and consequently progress has beeu slow.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY  ASSOCIATION

A meeting with a difference aptly sums up the visit of the $N$. and $E$. District to St. Lawrence Jewry, the Guild church of the Corporation of London, on December 18 th . A company of 45 members and friends it the service heard the Vicar, the Rev. J. F. D. Trimingham, in a short address outline the history throughout the ages of this famous church. Mr. Douglas Birkinshaw accompanied at the organ.

During the brief interval between service and tea, held in the staff luncheon room at she Guildhall, the beadle on duty found a ready audience for a short tour of this nistoric building. Ringing , was of a satisfacto ${ }^{-v}$ standard and Mr. John Mayne, Master, saw that everyone had an opportunity to ring on the delightful eight.
At the business meeting reference was made to the passing of Mr Reuben Sanders at the agz of 91 . Mr. J. R. Mayne and Mr. T. J Lock paid tribute to this great ringer and members stood in silence in respect 10 his memory.
Miss G. McKinley, of the St . John at Hackney band, was elected a ringing member. whilst the provisional elections of Miss Nina B. Thomas (Harpenden), Kenneth Warner (Walthamstow) and Walter G. Knight (Turramurra, New South Wales) as non-resident life members were ratified
Thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting a success were proposed by Mr. J. R. Mayne with a special word to the ladies who had prepared the tea under difficult circumstances. Evening ringing was at St Andrew's, Holborn

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The Cheltenham Branch held its annual general meeting at I eckhampton on Decembir llth. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and during the afternoon and evening some 40 ringers attended. As usual, the standard of ringing was somewhat varied ' But manv different souches were rung, from Doubles to Surprise Major.
At 5. Evensong was sung and conducied by the Rev. F. F. Rigby. Master of the Association. and the address was given by the Rector of Leckhampton, the Rev, John White, who said how much the work of the ringers was appreciated. and that it was done to the glory of God. Arthur Lawrence, a ringer from Bishop's Cleeve. played the organ.

Tea was provided by the ladies of Leck. hampton and the Master of the Association took the chair for the meeting. Mr. W. A. Farmer was unanimously elected chairman of the Branch in succession to Mr. C. Wratten. who felt that it was time for his serm of office to come to an end-to the regret of other members. The main item of discussion was the proposal. coming from Stow Branen. that the fowers of Blockley. Chipping Campden and Ebrington should be transferred from Cheltenham Branch. It was agreed 10 refer this to the Management Committee

It was a happy meeting; it was particularlv nice to have so many visitors and also to have present two new members from Blockley. have present two new members from Blockley, the Rev and Mrs. Peter Newing. J. B. T. H.

JOINT MEETING AT CLAY

CROSS

Over 40 members and friends from 12 towers were present when the annual meeting of the Chesterfield District of the Derby Diocesan Association was held jointly with the East Derbys and West Notts Association at Clay Cross on December 11th. During the afternoon the delightful six were put to good use in quite a wide variety of methods. The Vicar, the Rev. Wynford Phillips. conducied a short service during which be welcomed both Societies.
After an excellent tea in the Church Hall the East Derbys members returned to the tower whilst the Chesterfield District held is business meeting. In his report the Ringine Master, Mr. C. J. Hughes, said that there had been a very laige increase in the range of methods rung at meetings and a gratifying improvement in the standard of striking The latter was, he was sure, a direct result of th: annual striking compettion and was moit acceptable.

Presenting the annual report, the secretary Mr. M. Phipps, was pleased to state that meetings had continued to be well supported. with on average an attendance of over in each month. There was, however, still room for improvement. particularly from towers where change ringing is limited due to experienced ringers being in a minority.

Outstanding activities during the year mad included the unqualified success of the annual dinner at Chesterfield, which was attended by over 230: an attendance of over 70 at the striking contest and a record number of 14 new members In contrast there was. however. the very poorly supported annual outing oo East Yorkshire and the loss through removal to other areas of two tower captains and several other experienced ringers.

Officers elected for 1966 were: Chairman. Mr. J. Price (Clay Cross): vice-charman. Mr. J Newman (Old Whittington): committes. Miss M. Yarnold (Staveley) and Mr. J Arkwell (Oid Brampton): Ringing Master. MC J. Hughes (Old Whittington); and secretar Mr. M. Phipps. 23, Walton Drive, Chesterfield.

Next meeting: Barlborough (6). January 15th.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

For the last meeting of the year the Eastern Branch visited Gorleston on December 4th. The service was conducted by the Rev. W J. Sayer. who welcomed some 25 ringers and gave a most appropriate address.
Miss D. Lidbetter (Branch rhairman) presided over the business meeting following tea. and extended a vote of thanks to Mr Sayer. the organist and the ladies for tea arrang:ments. Mr. T J. Newell was elected a ringins member and the belfry election of the following prior to a peal were ratified: Messra D S. Johnson, H. C. Palmer. R. Ducker and R D. Gibson Members stood in silence io the memory of Mrs. E. K Fletcher, who had died since the last meeting. the chairman paving a tribute to her Forthcoming meetings. P-actice. Carlion Colville. January 15 th annual. Lodden. February 12th.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION Bath Branch

The annual meeting of the Bath Branch was held on January lst at St. Michael's Broad Sereet with Bath Abbey bells avallable in the evening. The service, which was fully choral. was conducted by the Rev. Russel Kinsey. the preacher was the Rev. Edwin Jones. and the lesson was read by the local secretary.
Eighty-five sat down to tea, after which the business meeting was held under the charmanship of the Rev. F Pollard (Rector of Freshford) The secretary, in his report, stated that membership had risen by 23 and now stood at 170 . one of the largest totals reached, and 12 peals had been rung. including two in memoriam Sir Winston Churchill. The beginners' practice, introduced in 1905 , had been very successful and many were learning new methods. Bands were in the process of being instructed at Dunkerton. Bathford and Wellow. so instructors were being kept busy.

Officers elected were: Chairman. Rev. F. Pollard (Freshford): vice-chairmen, L. R. G. Taylor (Corston) and G T. Hawkins (St. Michael's): secretary and treasurer, Alan $F$. Lee (Twerton-on-Avon): Ringing Masters, Harold Parfree (Corston) and John Owen (Abbey): Fifteen new members were elected (Dunkerton 6, Keynsham 4. St. Mary's, Bathwick, 3, Freshford 2).
Mr E. Naylou proposed that the Branch hold a striking competition and this was supported and will be duly arranged, as will the Corporate Communion, only on a new date just betore Advent instead of Maundy Thursday as in the past.

Visitors were welcomed from 15 parishes from Taunton in the west, to Peasmore (Berks) in the east from Lewds in th r!! to Dorchester in the south

ST. WENDREDA'S, MARCH

Fourtcen hel'rinpers of St Wendreda's, March, enjoyed their customary Christmas outing on Dicember 15th-their 15 ih festive tour to date. Joined by four young friends from Whittiesey and Chatter1s. the party from Whittiesey and Chatteris. the party an hour. Godmanchester church has a fine octave and the ringers enjoyed to the full the ethereal rend tions produced on this easvgoing though heavy ring An excellent course of Cambridge on the back six sounded particularly tine A Christmas-style tea was taken in the homely atmosphere of an oldworld establishment at Huntirgdon. after whic's the little bells of All Saints were rung. At Brampton the ringers had the opportunity of ringing an augmented six : these bells "go" well and ex:ellent louches ensued. St. Marv's. Whirtlesev. was the final call. and the octave sounded well above the surrounding Fens for three-quar'ers of an hour Throughout the day enthusiasm was the keynote, and a happy cime was exnerienced as usual. Plain Bob. Uxford T.B.. St Clement's, Grandsire and Cambridge were methods rung.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Few towers can claim the privilege of ringing a peal on the 200th anniversary of their first peal. This took place at St. Albans Cathedral on December 19th.

The peal of Plain Bob Minor at Long Crichel on December luth consisted of seven different 720 's with $5-6$ right way throughout and not as printed.
Looking at Wilfrid Wilson's new book, a six-year-old daughter in Cumberland asked: "Mummy, why does Daddy want to change ringing?
A party of handbell ringers led by the Rector of Buxhall, the Rev. C. N. Kendall, raised $£ 335 \mathrm{~s}$. for the Church of England Children's Society in Buxhall and surrounding villages.
A step forward in ringing in the Lake District is the first peal of Surprise Major rung by a band of resident members of the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association. This was at Cockermouth on December 18 th.
Miss Valerie Ware rang her first 720 and conducted it on Christmas Eve at St. Mary's, Willesden. She had not previously called a bob, With the distinguished company that assemble at Willesden weekly she has every chance of rapid progress in our art.
Two of the learners at King's Somborne helped in the ringing out of the Old Year. They were Leonard Evans and Fred Boyce. Mr. W. C. Perry, the tower captain, thanks ringers from Crawley, near Winchester, who helped out with the Old Year ringing.
Janet Blake is another young East Grinstead ringer to begin peal ringing in fine style. The hand who rang the peal at Hammerwood on December 1 fith are much indebted to Frank Hicks for his perseverance in teaching them all to ring.

GOLDEN WEDDING BELLS

Tomorrow is the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Hairs, of Norman Cuttage, Park Corner, Groombridge, Sussex. and they propose to attempt what thev achieved on the evening of their wedding day-a peal. We are sure that all our readers will join with us in wishing them every happiness on this day and the years ahead Both have been real stalwarts of the Exercise and both are still serving loyally in various capacities-Mrs. Elsie Hairs as hon. secretary of the Northern District of the Sussex retary of the Northern District of the Sussex Association and Mr. Hairs as a member of the Editorial Committee of "The Ringing World" and as a member of the Central Council since 1939.

ST. JOHN'S, CARDIFF, TELEVISED

A feature in the New Year's Eve programme of B.B.C. Wales was the introduction of television shots of St John's, Cardiff, bells that evening. The practice was interrupted by the arrival of the television camera team, and owing to the limited space it was only possible to take shots of four back bells. Viewers saw the intent faces of Tim Yeomans. Nick Simon, David Llewellyn and Jack Pryor taking part in the opening touch.
Next, the interviewer had a short talk with T. Yeomans (towerkeeper) on the subject of bells being rung for the New Year. The interviewer. who had been taught to handle a bell by the towerkeeper 15 years ago but had not persevered with it. now expressed a wish to ring some rounds. Quickly briefed by Don Clift. who stood by him, he managed a few good rounds.

The camera was then taken up to televise a bell in action, and this being the end of the programme a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples was rung. conducted by David Llewellyn, Ringing Master of the Association.

LOOKING BACK THREE GENERATIONS

A paragraph of interest to Kentish ringers appeared in the "Kentish Express" of December 17th concerning Mr. L. Head, of 41. Stotton Street. Wye. An issue of the "Kentish Express" of 1865 referred to his great-grandfather and stated:
"When the bells of the fine old church rang out their merry Christmas peal, few of the inhabitants were probably aware that the ringers of that moment were all members of one family. Mr. Thomas Head and his seven sons, we are told, constituted the happy eight; and the old man., it is said, looked as young as he was happy."

PLYMOUTH GOLDEN WEDDING

A member of St. Andrew's, Plymouth, hand for 55 years and still retained on the books as an honorary member, Mr. A. Mitchelmore and his wife celebrated their golden wedding on December 26th. The congratulatory quarter of Caters was rung on the 26th in the same church in which they were married.

THEIR CHRISTMAS BOX

The band at St . George's, Doncaster, gave themselves a Christmas present by ringing a quarter peal of three-Spliced Surprise Major on Christmas morning at St. Mary's. Sprothorough, under the leadership of W. Eric Critchley. This was the first quarter peal of Spliced Surprise by a local band.

THREE CLERES PEALS IN A DAY

Three previous attempts have been made to ring peals on the bells of the three Cleres in one day, but although on one occasion two of the attempts were successful it was not until Boxing Day that all three achieved success.
In 1958 a strong band assembled and seven methods in the morning went well, but Biddenden Surprise at Highclere was brought to an untimely end by the clapper of the seventh falling out half an hour from the finish. The evening peal at Burghclere was then abandoned.

At the next attempt, in 1960, Bob Minor was ruing at Burghclere and Bob Major at Highclere, the four-method Minor peal at Kingsclere coming to grief in the second extent.

Even less fortunate was the attempt in 1961. The three-method Minor peal at Burghclere was successful, but Minor at Kingsclere again did not go beyond the second extent. and Major at Highclere was miscalled after two hours' ringing.
With the augmentation at Kingsclere of two trebles, another attempt was fixed for Boxing Day and instead of three different conductors, as on previous occasions, it was decided to have just the one and this tims success was with us-three methods: Minor was successful at Burghclese, Grandsire Triples at Kingsclere, and Bob Major once again at Highclere. Three good peals resulted and the same band rang in all three attempts, less two at Burghclere.
All were pleased that it had at last been done and for all but two of the band it was the first time they had rung three peals in one day.

"TOWER GRABBERS*

Mr. Barrie Dove, of 26, Sycamore Avenue. Leeds 8 , is anxious to tabulate the leading lower grabbers of 1965 . Those who have rung during the past 12 months in more than 100 new towers, please send total for year and grand total of towers rung in to him.

CHURCH WILNE, DERBYSHIRE

I recently visited Church Wilne, near Sawley, Derbyshire, writes Mr. Derek P. Jones, where there is a large tower and four bells which do not seem to be mentioned in the supplement to "Dove's Guide," unless the entry there as "Draycott " refers to them Draycott is the nearest main settlement. I was unable to ascend the tower to inspect their condition, but they seem to be chimed nowadays by an Ellacombe apparatus for the summer-only services. The note of the tenor would suggest about 12 cwt . Details of four bells are given in "Churches of Derbyshire," 1877, by the Rev. J. C. Cox.

50 YEARS' RINGING AT SYSTON

At the annual New Year's Eve supper given by Mrs. Payne at her home, 6, The Green, Syston, Leics, Mr. Ernest F. Payne was presented with a copy of "Change Ringing' by the Vicar, the Rev. Colin E. Wall, on behalf of the ringers of Syston Parish Church, to mark the completion of 50 years as a ringer and 15 years as tower captain.

PORTSMOUTH GOLDEN WEDDING

Golden wedding bells were rung at Portsmouth Cathedral on December 27th in honour of Mr. and Mrs. T. Rayson Taylor, of Copnor. Participating in the ringing was Mr. Taylor, now 73, who earlier in December had been made an honorary life member of Portsmouth Cathedral Guild and is also Ringing Master of St. Mary's, Portsea.
He has been ringing since the age of 16. when he joined the Essex Association, being a member of the band of St. Nicholas' Church, Harwich, and it was at this church that he and his wife were married. His working life has been spent as a shipwright in dockyards, first at Harwich, then at Sheerness and later at Rosyth. He came to Portsmouth Dockyard in 1920, later being chargeman of shipwrights, and retired in 1958. Wherever his work took him he found a tower, and in Scotland he rang at St. Cuthbert's Church and at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh.

The golden wedding tribute began with 756 Stedman Triples, conducted by Mr. Taylor. Later came a quarter of Grandsire Triples by Mrs. E. Jones I. W. F. J. Cope 2, A R. Cope 3, T. R. Taylor 4. Mrs. K. Baldwin 5, 'A A. J. Buswell 6 R. Baldwin (conductor) 7 , R. E. Hoodless 8.

The "Porismouth Evening News" end their report by Mrs. Lily Gertrude Taylor's joking comment when asked what it was like being a bellringer's wife, "He gets the peal, I get the pip!'

YORKSHIRE BELLS HEARD IN  NEW LEALAND

A recording made of the bells of West Tanfield, near kipon, was used to greet in the New Year at Kawhia, a township on the west coast of New Leatand. A churchwarden of West Tanfield, Mr. John Robinson, on holiday in New Zealand, was asked for a recording of these bells and, knowing of the recording in 1963. sent for it. Whe the request was received, West Tanfield ringers decided to make a new recording but owing to the illness of their captain, Mr. Henry Gale, were unable to complete it in time, so a copy of the original recording was sent out, which is being used. When conditions are ot their best, the bells can be heard five miles away, and their welcome sound is appreciated by residents and visitors alike.

TAUNTON LADIES' FIRST IN NEW YEAK The customary ringing in of the New Year at St. James', Taunton, was performed ty eight of the tower's 15 ladies. It followed immediately after the 11.30 p.m. watchnight service. Those participating were Miss E. Fisher 1, Miss J. Searle 2, Mrs. N. Mardon 3. Miss K. Harewood 4, Miss G. Salter 5 Mrs. R. Beale 6. Mrs. D. Drowley 7, Miss J. Lunn (vice-captain) 8.

ST. PAUL'S, BEDFORD

The announcement in the Christmas Day broadcast regarding one of the bells of St . Paul's, Bedford, is not correct. The present ninth was cast in 1744 hut was recast in 1945 and was first rung in November of that year. It was nicknamed by the Vicar, then the Rev. St. G. Colthurst, "The Victory Bell," writes Mr. S. Foskett, who for 30 years was steeplekeeper a! St. Paul's.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX

There were some well-sounding touches of Woodbine and Yorkshire rung on January 1st when the Guild held its annual meeting at Brighouse. The ringers' service was conducted by the vice-president the Ven. J. I.. Lister, Archdeacon of Halifax), with Mr. V. Nulton at the organ The local company and staff were thanked for an excellent tea.

The secretary, treasurer and Ringing Master all reported well-attended meetings and steady progress in ringing. The officers re-elected were: Chairman, Mr. P. Birkett: secretary, Miss W. Mortimer. Miss W. Mortimer: treasurer, Mr. A. W. Bond: Ringing Master, Mr. R. Senior: auditor. Mr. A. Rogers; commirtee, Mr. H Ouarmhy. Mr. D. Smith and Mr. E. Lord The representatives to the Joint Council of Ringing Societies were asked to serve for a further two vears. Mr. E. Hudson stressed the need for continuity in the Council's members to establish it more firmly. He also announced the one-dav course for learners to be held at Selhv on March 19th There will be graded classes and experienced ringers were invited for the practical work during the afternonn The pleasant evening's ringing was rounded off at 9 o'clock.

IATE NEWS

During the night of January 8th. Hove Town Hall was gutted hy fire. A preliminary inspection (by binoculars from the police harrier) shows the clock and the Gillett and Johnston carillon to have fallen into the tower.

THE VALUE OF GRANDSIRE

By DAVID E. HOUSE.

M[R. D. J. MARSHALL'S letter on "Grandsire" ("R.W." p. 859) deserved a reply, but I feel Mr. Southwood has left much of Mr. Marshall's argument unanswered. Mr. Southwood implies that so long as striking is good, the method rung is immaterial, yet the recent letters of P. J. Wycherley and C. Crossthwaite show that many ringers show concern for the quality of the methods they ring, even if they are not sure how to discern this quality! While it does little harm for us to be reminded of the more basic issues of ringing, there are undoubtedly good and bad methods, and Mr. Marshall is attempting to discriminate between the two.

In doing so, he confuses two separate questions-the value of Grandsire as an introductory method and the value of the method itself. The first question has received constant attention, and I wish to add nothingl to the usual arguments. Plain Bob is more obviously useful in the learning of many of the more advanced methods, including Surprise, but I have yet to be convinced that those who fall by the wayside in the early stages of ringing do so because of Grandsire, rather than the difficult step from rounds to changes, a transition often attempted with inadequate instruction and supervision.

This is the only positive aspect of Mr. Marshall's criticism, and it comes from his misguided generalisation "the ringing of a plain method today should be a 'stepping-stone' from the plainhunt to Surprise .. the beginner is going to derive no benefit whatsoever by, being taught to ring a method bearing little or no relation to Surprise." Such a statement implies that the plain method itself is of no value, but is merely to be used as the basic material through which more complex methods may be learned, and may be left behind as soon as Surprise has been mastered. I would prefer to think of the process of learning as the gradual extension of one's repertoire, always using experience gained from the simpler methods, which nevertheless retain their own value. A hymn tune is less complicated than an operatic aria, but the good musician sees this as no reason to belittle its quality or value.
Although progress in method-ringing provides much of the fascination of ringing and is an indication of the well-being of the Exercise, I feel that there is also a place in our ringing for methods mastered long before, rung simply to produce a glorious sound. That others are of the same opinion is shown by the frequent choice of Stedman as a service touch at meetings, often when the band is quite capable of ringing spliced. The music of odd-bell methods is completely different from that of even-bell methods, though not necessarily less. pleasant. There is much good music to be had in the shortest touch of Grandsire Triples, which can be called round or extended absolutely as desired. I can think of no other method which can be exploited to such good effect and yet maintains such a degree of simplicity. The band faced with either Plain Bob Major or Grandsire Triples in its service ringing can make only one good choice. Grandsire Caters is of even greater note, possessing many of the beauties of Stedman Caters with the extra quality of a coursing order sustained from front to back in each lead. Music here does not come only from a few odd changes at lead ends, but continues throughout whole leads. Peals of Grandsire Caters, with many outstanding compositions available. need never be dull, and the ringer whose ears remain deaf to this music possesses a strange sense of values.

Whilst many ringers enjoy ringing Surprise methods, this is no reason to gear the whole of our ringing to it. Much can be done with the simpler methods, even Grandsire, which need not be entirely reserved for beginners. If we were to ring only those methods with a direct bearing upon Surprise, we should be much the poorer for neglecting Grandsire and Stedman. We should endeavour to preserve, and even widen, the rich variety of methods at our disposal, even if each and every one does not prove to be of some obvious use in learning the next one. It would be a one-sided and, therefore, incomplete ringer who rang only Surprise methods, a condition to which, I trust, Mr. Marshall does not aspire.

GRANDSIRE-A WASTE OF TIME By NORVING

THE first thing I said after reading Mr. Marshall's letter was "What a load of rubbish." The late George Gilbert would have said "Anyone can ring Surprise, but it takes a good ringer to ring a peal of Grandsire Triples."

What a pity it is that we have in the Exercise ringers-so called-who fail to appreciate the years of patience and hard work of our forbears, who discovered and gave the ringing world its first methods.

Jasper Whitfield Snowdon's enlarged edition of "Grandsire." published in 1905, consists of 240 pages, so I presume that in the opinion of Mr. Marshall this valuable book contains 240 pages of rubbish. I very much doubt if Mr. Marshall knows sufficient about the method to form an opinion anyway.

A TOWER THAT BREEDS LEADERS

Oswestry Parish Church is distinguished in having no fewer than four Ringing Masters concurrently in its Sunday service band, Pictured left to right are: Harold Hughes, Master of the St. Oswald Society, whose father was Master before him; Roger Powell, Master of the University of London Society; Roger Morris, Master of the Shropshire Association and a member of the Central Council; and Derek Williams, Master of the University of Bristol Society.

RINGING ON NATIONAL SERVICE

Mr. R. J. Cook, of St. Mary-the-Virgin's, Beddington, contributes to "Morgan's Magazine," the house journal of Morganite Carbon Lid, and associated companies, an interesting article on bellringing. While the article gives an outline of the principles of our art, it is largely a personal narrative. Mr. Cook is on the staff of Morganite Carbon Ltd.
When his practices were interrupted by National Service, Mr. Cook states that he found himself in Scotiand, some 30 miles from the nearest tower. He adds: "But when I managed to get over one week-end I found the same welcome which is extended to fellow ringers everywhere. I was even invited to spend the week-ends with these new-found friends, and thus managed to get away from Army life much more than I could otherwise have done."
Of his own tower, which has 20 ringers of ages from 13 to 60 , he writes: "We have been fortunate in having a very good band of ringers there for the last few years, but we always make sure that we have several beginners coming along to replace those who move away or retire. This is the only way to keep the bells ringing and to ensure that the fascinating and enthralling science of campanology will continue to flourish."

OLDEST COMPLETE RING

Are the three bells (tenor reputed to be almost a ton) in the tower at Saxton Parish Church, near York (close to the A. 1 at Aberford), the oldest cast by one founder? They were all cast by a John. Danyell of London in 1468 and are still believed to be in their criginal framework. Turned by Gillett and Johnston in 1937 and fitted with a chiming mechanism, they now hang silent owing to the weakness of the tower which awaits repairs.

RAVING RINGERS' REUNION

THIS year's reunion took the form of an experiment. Whereas in previous years the Society has visited the home county of a nuclens of its members, this year the whole of the Society travelled up to Leicester.
The majority of Ravers journeyed up on the Friday evening and rang either at Wigston Magna or St. Margaret's, Leicester. Later, some, in spite of the Master's scorn, visited a Chinese restaurant.
The first tower on Saturday was Aylestone, where the Society was met by Mr. A. James Poynor. A respectable course of London Major came round and thus set a standard which was ralsed continually over the weekend. The delightful five at Blaby came next, where a course of Carter's (which, according to tower blackboards, seems very popular around Leicester) was rung At South Wigston eight spliced was scored, and many of the tenor ringers finished with skin missing from ther knuckles due to a low clockcase beam.

After lunch, visits were made to Oadby and the two Leicester towers of All Saints' and St. John's. At the former city tower more spliced came round, whilst at the latter an enjoyable half-course of Yorkshire Royal was achieved as well as some good touches of Caters. At Belgrave, appropriately, a course of Belgrave was rung

The annual dinner was at Rowans Hotel and a feature was a taped message from Ron Russ, whirh included recordings of Australian bells and ringing. Suitable replies were added to the tape ready for posting back to Ron. A message was also received from Merrilyn Chambers, of Perth Cathedral. Social activities followed until midnight.

After early service ringing at Enderby, members ioined the local bands at St. John's and St. Margaret's, Leicester. Kirby Muxloe was the first tower after lunch It was here that Chris Clarke circled the church twice and then looked behind the organ before he found the

Syston District

The annual general meeting of the District was held at Syston on January 8th. During the afternoon the eight bells were kept ringing until 4.15 p.m., when the Vicar, the Rev. Mr. Wall, conducted Evensong. Tea was served in the Red Cross Hall.

Opening the business meeting, the chairman thanked the Vicar, Mr. Holmes (the organist) and the ladies who had prepared tea. He also welcomed the Ladies' Guild, all other visitors and the Billesdon ringers. For most members Billesdon is probably the most dithcult tower to get to as it is on the far edge of the District.

The secretary (Mr. M. D. Barsby) reported that 1965 had seen 12 new members. The average attendance at Saturday meetings was 27.3. At the evening practice meetings the number was variable but they were achieving their aim. It was interesting to note that other parts of the country were now holding these. Concluding, he urged members to support their new officers and encourage the younger ones since they would eventually take responsibility.

The Ringing Master reported a rather hectic year. Ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise, most of the work having been done in Plain Bob and Grandsire. A feature had been in teaching learners and in this respect ringing plain hunt was not a waste of time. It was hoped that 1966 would see further progress. One very evident fact was that they had exported several able ringers. District membership at the meeting was increased by nine, the Vicar of Barrow-upon-Soar being made an honorary member.
Election of officers: Chairman, Mr. J. Morley; secretary, Mr. F. Faulkner; committee, Mr. M. Kirk and Mr. M. White. The election of Mr Faulkner is unique since he is the first Syston District secretary to come from a three-bell tower. Within a short space of time he has become proficient in ringing on both six and eight bells and has rung peals on both numbers.
A programme for 1966 was accepted.
Mrs. P. Staniforth thanked the retiring officers on behalf of the Ladies' Guild. The retiring chairman thanked all those who had turned up and rang at his wedding the previous Saturday. The vice-president Mr. Cook) was welcomed by the president.
After closure of the meeting, ringing continued in the tower.
helfry door. Next, to Groby, where many could not believe their eyes at the ingt of such a slim tower. At Ratby the Sociely was met by the Rev. Peter Blackman. London and Pudsey were tapped out as well as a short touch of Erin, which by popular request was not called by Ted Venn (see "Ringing World" Vol. LXI, page 879). Finally to Markfield for service ringing.

Thanks go to the organisers, Jennifer Sceeny and Ted Venn, and to the incumbents, tower captains and local ringers for giving the Society permission to ring and for meeting the touring ringers. Many new members were introduced at the reunion, including. Peter Heritage, who had a large part in keeping the party going.

RINGING IN SCHOOLS

By Canon Gilbert Thurlow

ScCHOOL activities are today wider in scope than ever before. Ringing has come to the fore as a recognised school activity during the last 30 years, and the number of schoois taking to it is constantly increasing.
It takes longer to become a competent ringer than to shine at cricket or football. so ringing in schools does not always maintain quite such a consistent standard as some other activities. Even so, some schools have had a gooj band of ringers for several years. The founding and maintaining of a school ringing society depends on a keen ringer coming to the school, as master or mistress, or as boy or girl.

Gresham's School has had some remarkable ringers in recent years. The present ringing tradition there began about five years ago under the leadership of Mr Billy West. of Holt. captain of Wiveton ringers for 40 years. and through whose energy Wiveton bells were rebung in 1932. Boys used to make (and still make) the journey to Wiveton to practise the art.

PAUL CATTERMOLE'S ENTHUSIASM

Then, as recently as January, 1964. Paul Cattermole. of Oid Buckenham, came to Gresham's as a student master. His enthusiasm for ringing was so infectious that in the one term he was there he collected a number of hoys together, rehung with their help he silent tells at Bale nearby, and started a tradition of ringing among Gresham's boys and Bale. residents which continuses today.
He soon discovered that Holt Church possessed two bells hung for proper ringing, and taugit Gresham's boys the elements of managing a hell there. Some of these boys have become really brilliant ringers. Last vear Paui Rovds-Jones. Richard Bower and Peter Mackley were ringing peals on handbells in a remarkable variety of methodsa mos. unusual achievement at their age. The first two are now in London: Mackley is still at Gresham's
With all this going on in Holt, a proper rine of hells there was an ohvious necessity. How was it to be acquired? Norwich. alas! has the frim distinction of possessing other English town The five at St. Margaret's were never rung. So four of them have been acquired by Holt, and Taylor's. of Loughhorough, are carrying out a scheme of rehaneing and adaptation, as a result of which Holt will soon possess a delightful ring of six hells. which will he dedicated at a snecial service on Sunday evening. Fehruarv 6th. We look forward to a ringing tradition being established there amongst Gresham': bove and local people led by Billy West.
Meanwhile a keen ringer is joining the stafl of Great Yaimouth Grammar School. We look forward to his enthusiasm spreading there. The keen and competent band of ringers at St Nicholas will warmly welcome Grammar Scheol people 10 ring with them. and this should onen a new chapter in the cultural activity of Great Yarmouth.

TYPRCAL

This is typical of what is happening elsewhere. To quote a few examnles it random -Winchester College. the only mutlic chool with its own ring of hells, has a highlv competent hand of ringers amongst the hoys: they ring both on their own bells and at the Cathedral
Shebbear College. Devon. has a keen hand of 30 ringers, who are helping to rehang Shebbear bells and who travel widelv in the neighhourhond to ring elsewhere Radlev College bovs ring at their parish church, and on July 3rd, 1964. rang a quarter peal together with hoys from Groton School, U.S.A.- the first time that Fnglish and American schoolhov ringers have rung like this together. (I am indehted to Mr. King, of Wentworth, for some of these details.)

DUBLIN STUDENTS AT  LIVERPOOL

A smali band of homeward-bound Trinity College, Dublin. students spent an enjoyable day in Liverpool The tour really started when the party lett the North Wall to mount the gangway of "The Munster "' On boarding we were given a warm welcome. One of our members had arranged visits to the engine room, the bridge and the wireless room. Then it was time for hed and the ladies found hotwater bottles and apples in their bunks.
At Liverpool Station Anne Freeman met us and escorted us to our first tower-St. Peter's, Woolton. Several other Liverpool University students joined us to ring a touch of Bob Major and Stedman Triples.
Carefully packing ourselves into Terry Fitzferaid's car, we moved to the Cathedral. the highlight of the trip There we were supported hy local ringers for rounds. Bob Maior. Grandsire Cinques and a bob course of Kent Royal. The visit left us with many never-to-be-forgotten memories
After a quick lunch we went to Birkenhead Church and rang St. Simon's, Bob Minor. Kent and Camnridge quite happily in spite of three missing stays.
At Tuebrook we rang Kent and Single Oxford. Then a fleeting visit to St. Francis Xavier's, followed by a good ring at St. Nicholas', where we joined the resident band for their practice Ringing finished with Grandsire Cinques and Bob Maximus.
To complete the day we were pleased to entertain Terry at the "ringers" pub. Also we would like to thank Jeff Fox for arranging the trip. We look forward to seeing the Liverpool ringers in Dublin.

Letters to the Editor

"" TOWER CAPTAINS" COLRSE

Dear Sir.-Mav 1 assure Mr Sam Scattergood that the guest lecturer (myself) at the recent week-end course at Lea Green Youth and Adult College. Derbyshire, was not misinformed as to the status of the ringers attending. The course was for tower captains and instructors, but no one on the course made claim to any status whatever, so far as 1 was aware We all met as fellow ringers in an effort to enlighten each other on ways and means of stimulating progress and improvement in ringing at just such struggling towers as that to which Mr. Scattergood belongs.

The organisers of the course, themseives extremely competent ringers and officers of the Derby Association, are keen to improve Sunday service ringing in their area, and this course was just one phase of their efforts towards this end. It is important for potential tower captains, if need be, to make themselves zompetent. in many aspects of ringing (teaching, conducting, maintenance, leadership, etc) and we can learn much from each other. I learned some new ideas at Lea Green as I do on every course I attend, and Mr Scattergood would do well to note this. We cannot rest on the glories of the past and on other people's endeavours. but must make our own contribution for continued success.

As regards the date of the course (Rememhrance Sunday), the organisers probably had little choice excent to take the date offered by the College There is great pressure by a multitude of organisations on the accommodation such colleges offer. I probably had far ther to travel than most, but had ample time to get back to my own church to ring in a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters prior io Evensong.

The important thing arising from Mr. Scattergood's letter, and my reason for replying, is to emphasise that the course was a commendable and well-organised effort at promoting an improvement in service ringing. I hope it will be the first of many in the area and can recommend ringers seeking help and guidance to attend any future such courses. I hope Sam will take a new look at things and attend the sext course. 1 am sure he would enjoy himself and find it to the advantage of himself, his tower and to the mutual benefit of ringing in North Derbyshire. Yours sincerely,

NORMAN CHADDOCK.
Rotherham.

BEAUTY OF GRANDSIRE ROYAL

Dear Sir,-I was amazed that an undergraduate at a well-known seat of learning in a democratic country and a member of a democratic Exercise should .seek to condemn a peal of Grandsire Royal as "a sheer waste of bells, time and effort."

Surely the ringers involved were the best judges of that, and I cannot help but feel that the last paragraph of David J. Marshall's letter was in the worst possible taste.

May I venture to suggest that the writer would prefer a "police" state. where groups would prefer a "police" state, where groups of people are no doubt told what to do with their own time?-Yours sincerely.

EDMUND MALIN.
Penkridge.

MOST APPRECIATED OUTSIDE THE TOWER

Dear Sir--I wonder which methods ure most appreciated outside the tower-Surprise or Grandsire. Probably Grandsire, as it is usually better struck.
"The beginner is going to derive no benetit whatsoever. by being taught to ring a method bearing little or no resemblance to Surprise." This statement trom Mr. Marshall's letter. as well as being complete nonsense, is giving the beginner the false impression that the only methods worth ringing are Surprise. The result of this is plainly heard inside and outside the tower as they struggle through their Cambridge or Yorkshire, usually terminated with a tew minutes of "firing" and then discouragement as they realise they are unable to ring 0 : strike it.
I do not condemn Surprise, but surely plain methods deserve the merits which they contain, one of which is to teach good striking without having to concentrate so much on the method. Surely our aim should be perfection in the most musical methods, many of which are Surprise, but Grandsire, too. can produce first-class music.
As regards Grandsire as an even-bell method, very unkindly described as "rubbish." I suggest an experienced band would not ring a peal of this, thinking it were a waste of their time. So why not come down to a more reasonable level, Mr. Marshall, not every ringer is able to ring and strike Surprise well immediately, so why not something a little simpler (but still musical) to help him on his way?-Yours faithfully,

ROGER E. PECKHAM
Keymer, Sussex

"BILL" BOTTRILL

Dear Sir,-As you know where I have been for three weeks, including Christmas, I know you will forgive me for being late, with my correspondence relating to "Bill", Bottrill, whom I have known for a long time. The results of the correspondence, including "Bill's," is that he must be a very sick man who has got himself sadly out of proportion. I have always been impressed by Bill and can fully sympathise with him.
I have taken a few hard knocks in my time, but have always come up smiling; the worst, I think, was when the late Tom Groombridge jun. wrote in "The Ringing World "t that my criticism of peal grabbing was like a street organ grinder criticising Dr. Thalban Ball playing a Bach fugue (he really meant the organ grinder's monkey). Eventually we found there was little or nothing in our differences and we resolved them. Whe,1 Tom passed on I wrote to "The Ringing World" and asked if it were possible to love someone one had not seen. I got the answer from that beautiful hymn " 0 Saviour, precious Saviour, Whom yet unseen we love.
So Bill, don't. for goodness sake, give up your "Ringing World "after all these yearsyou could not possibly live without it. Forget all that is past and, although late, start afresh; get back "home"-where you so rightly belong-and I am sure everyone will forgive and forget and you will soon  whole pull right."-Yours faithfully,
W. FRANK STENSON.

B.B.C. CHRISTMAS BELLS

Dear Sir, -In reply to the letter from Mr. Claude Rush, in which he states that it was a very good programme but immediately begins to criticise almost every effort, I agree with nim in his first statement, for I have always thought that an octave produces sounds better than any number above.
Now Mr. Rush, I leave all the others except one to their own respective towers thoughts. I am a little concerned about the reference to the cartwheel of the six at St. Calixtus, West Down, in which he states was "so very, very regular," and then "open leads would have made a great improvement, improved "the "tune" and cancelled the monotony."

I beg to let Mr. Rush know that as he has never heard Minor cartwheel as is rung by the Halifax and Barnsley Association companies in their competitions. he has never heard monotony cancelled and a better "tune" with open leads.-Yours faithfully, Friezland.

JOE BURGESS.
Dear Sir,-Having read Mr. Rush's comments on the Christmas Day broadcast. I can only say "I wish he would get his values in perspective." The sheer impertinence of suggesting that the call change band of West Down should have rung with open leads staggers me May I suggest that Mr. Rush spends his next holiday in Devon, listening to the local bands ringing. He may then not be so indignant towards our West Country friends.
For me, the ringing from West Down was the best I have heard on the air. As for the remainder of the towers, good ringing was spoilt by bad recordings. Why don't the chosen towers record tieir own ringing and submit it to the B.B.C.? I am sure we would hear a great improvement.-Yours sincerely, Cambridge.

G. E. THODAY.

Dear Sir,-I made a tape recording of the Christmas bells broadcast. On reading Mr. C. Rush's letter (page 8) I played it through again and I wonder how he dares to suggest that open leads would have improved the ringing from St. Calixtus', West Down. That kind of ringing needs no improvement, and many towers would do well to emulate the striking of these ringers.

I never cease to be amazed by the number of ringers who regard open leads as the only way to ring. For eight to twelve bells it is the most satisfactory way, but for six bells it is just one of the ways. Cartwheel is the other, and whilst most ringers will express a direct preference for one or the other a direct comparison between the two is irrelevan:
I have rung in Yorkshire, Co. Durham and Kent. I have rung both open leads and cartwheel and though I prefer open leads I have found that a band experienced in cartwheel ringing can usually produce better striking or six bells than a hand experienced in open leads can.-Yours faithfully.

CHRISTINE M. SAVILLE.
Westerham, Kent.

GOOD STRIKERS

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}_{1}$-In appreciation of Mr. Garner's letter "The Ringing World," January 7th), I would like to add three more names to his list-Marry Parks, John Cooper and Mark Marshall. When they used to come to Wye for a peal, which was quite often, 1 alway's got a great thrill.
The ringing was also appreciated by the late Rev. N. Wells, who was then our Vicar. late Rev. N. Wells, who was then our Vicar. I only wished I could have been as good a ringer to have been ringing with them. Their ringing was always of the very best.-Yours faithfully. faithfully.

IN NiEMORIAM AND OBITUARY

WILLIAM JUDGE

On January 2nd after evening service a very happy hour was spent in the famous kelfry of Kidlington, it being the occasion of the dedication of two peal boards-one to the memory of Sir Winston Churchill and the other to William Judge, to whom eulogies can be written, but only 10 interest ringers, and not the world. William Judge was a ringer at this church for 60 years and for many of his later years he was forman and taught dozens of youngsters, many of whom went away and became well known. His most famous pupil was, of course. his brother Walter, to whom he gave sound advice when ringing commenced after the lads came back from the 1914-18 war.

Walter became the leading light of the Oxtord Guild and in fact for some years the most prominent conductor in the Exercise, and, talking to him the other evening, one realises the foundation of his success was due to his brother Bill; Walter, thank God, knows that.

The writer can speak of 40 years' pleasant acquaintance with Bill, and there is one peal in particular of which he was very proudStedman Caters at Magdalen College, Oxford, called by Walter. In this peal were several well-known ringers at that time-Ernest Morris and his brother George, C. T. Coles of London, and the writer's "dear old dad." and Bill was as good a ringer as any of those on the floor.
Members of the congregation and several of his old friends and young ringers who knew him only by name met in the tower to give thanks for the life of this good old country ringer. A hymn was sung and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Walter Judge 1-2, V. Griffen 3-4. W. Hibbert $5-6$. Frank White $7-8$. After the final Blessing the bells were magnificently raised in peal. and two courses of lBill's favourite method, Stedman Iriples, were admirably struck Then a ring for everyone and a course of Cambridge Major and the hells were lowered, and thus ended, as stated above, a very happy (not sad) hour. W. H.

MR. E. A. ETHERIDGE

Guildford has lost its oldest ringer by the passing of Mr. Edward Allen (Ted) Etheridge on Chrisimas Day at St. Luke's Hospital. He was 84. He was associated with St. Nicolas' Society, joining about 1905, and was secretary aboui 1911. When membership of the Soclety began to dwindle he was always waiting on the town bridge below the tower in case enough turned up. He was cheerful and encouraging and well loved.

The funeral service was at St. Nicolas' Church on December 31st. There was half muffled ringing to his memory at the same church on January 11 th.

MR. REUBEN SANDERS

As one of the younger generation, having known Reuben only in the last ten years, I would like to express the gratitude of a!! young ringers he had taken an interest in, and by his example and personality shown how easily good striking can be attained and heavy bells rung. Many of his peal performances are famous, including 50 peals on the tenor at Southwark Cathedral. In his later years he derived equal satisfaction from the quarter peals he rang in for Sunday services. We shall all miss his cheery and dependabie Wresence in the belfry.
hove town hall bells
In the early hours of January 9 th, fire gutted the Town Hall at Hove, Sussex, leaving an empty shell. Although at the time of my visit the ruins wete unapproachable, the central tower appears to be completely burnt out. The clock and carillon machinery have been destroyed and it is improbable that the chime of 12 bells, tenor 36 cwt ., by Gillett and Bland, have survived

As a period piece the Town Hall will de irreplaceable: architecturallv. it is no loss, being designed by Alfred Waterhouse in 1882, in his most brutal red brick Gothic style.

A PROMISING START

Mr. Barrie Hendry is very proud of the band he has trained at Harpole, Northants. Last Easter, apart from himself. not one of the band could ring. They are now a promising team of 11 ringers and Barrie hopes to be sending more quarters (and peals) in the not too distant future.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD

The day's ringing which preceded the annual dinner on November 27th got off to a wet and windy start. Romsey Abbey was the first tower and after braving the perilous ascent everyone enjoyed ringing there. The sun came out as we crossed the toll bridge to Eling, the next tower, so that the drive through the New Forest to Lymington was very pleasant. After a short break for lunch the convoy of three cars and minibus set off for Milford-on-Sea. From there we went on to Hordle, Brockenhurst and, finally, to Lyndhurst, where we were warmly welcomed by the Vicar and where the service was held The dinner was held at the Montagu Arms, Beaulieu. Canon Felstead, the president, performed his duties as master of ceremonies with a lively flow of highly amusing and appropriate jokes. The meal itself was generally pronounced splendid and all the speeches were entertaining and not a minute too long. David Forder proposed "The Church." which was answered ably by the Rev. John Arnold, the University chaplain Miss Heather Walters proposed a toast to "The Visitors," which she did with great charm. She expressed the Guild's satisfaction to see so many friends there, past members, local ringers and members of other Universities. Chris Kippin replied on behalf of the visitors and proposed a toast to "The Guild." The Guild's Master, Michael Trigg, replied, reviewing the Guild's activities during the past year and his plans to make the coming year a record one in the history of the Guild.

Altogether the day was a great success and thanks are due to Peter Joyce and Michael Trigg for making it so

BELFRY GOSSIP

According to a Press report in a local newspaper the next Central Council meeting will be held at Bath on Whit Tuesday.
The sum collected by Dulwich Handbell Ringers last Christmas was $£ 350$, and not $£ 250$ as stated on page 8 (January 7th issue).

Miss Ann Brewer, who rang the treble to a peal of Grandsire Doubles at Llangarron, Herefordshire, on December 18 th , is believed to he the first Ross woman to ring a peal.
The Syston District's new secretary, Mr. F. Faulkner, comes from a three-bell tower. He has, however, rung peals on six and eight bells.

We are sorry to learn that the Rev. Malcolm Melville is in hospital at Nottingham. Wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to him. especially from members of Great Adventure II.
We are indebted to Mr. Gordon A. Halls for "The Ringing World" advertisement for new readers which appeared on page 19 . It is his idea and, what is more, he bears the cost. May he have a bumper result.
A quarter peal attempt at Sturry, Kent, was nearing its conclusion on January 2nd when a "well meaning" choirboy flashed the lights and left the ringers in darkness. The quarter was unavoidable fired up. The choirboy's excuse, "just testing,"
The Bath and Wells Association band who rang the peal of Stedman Caters at Evercreech on December 18th would like to thank one of their members, James Topp, of Frome, for the composition especially composed for the 75th anniversary of the Association.

A pleasing coincidence took place at the Maidstone District meeting at Wrotham on January 8th. Forty names were submitted for tea and there were exactly 40 present, although it was noted that all whose names had been sent were not present.

500 PEALS RUNG AT ST．MARY＇S，

 WILLESDENThe first peal on the bells of St．Mary＇s， Willesden，a peal of Minor in seven methods， was rung on August 1st，1892，conducted by C．W．Tucker．Twelve peals of Minor were rung before 1913，when the bells were aug－ mented to eight by Mears and Stainbank． The first peal on the eight was Grandsire Triples，on January 8th，1916，conducted by Harry Kilby．
The following are the peals rung：Fourteen Minor； 10 Grandsire Triples， 11 Stedman Triples： 9 Bob Major， 12 Double Norwich Major， 2 Double Oxford Major，six other plain Major methods， 11 Kent T．B．Major， 7 Oxford T．B．Major，one of Oxford and Kent Spliced T．B．Major， 1 Duffield Major．

Three hundred and fifty－nine of Surprise Major have been rung in 212 different methods（ 130 new methods）and 57 peals of Spliced Surprise Major from two to twelve methods，which include all the work for all the bells in each method from two to ten methods．
The following have rung over 50 peals on the bells：A．Cutler 325，T．J．Lock 270 （con－ ducted 11），A．J．House 204，J．R．Mayne 199 （123），C．E．Lankester 198，G．W． Critchley 127 （21）．R．F．B．Speed 119 （ 69 ）， Claudia A．Critchley 110，Joan Beresford 100， D．Knox 90 （15），C．W．Roberts 82 （63），J． Hill 71 （1）．Out of the old hand who were ringing neals before the last war，G．M．Kilhy rang 177，Harrv Kilby 164 （9），J．A．Trollope 90 （31），G．R．Pye 80 （14）．William Pye 64 （46），C．T．Coles 62 （26），C．V．Ebberson 59，all of whom have now passed on．L．H． Bowler rang 80 peals．T．A．Francis 51 ，James Bennett 51 （5）and M．Hodgson 50．Four hundred and seventy－five peals were rung for the Middlesex Association．

ALICK CUTLER．

ST．MARY＇S，BATTERSEA

When so many London towers are silent，or three－quarters silent，it is good to record that St．Mary＇s．Battersea，now has a thriving and largely local band．The bells are a complete octave cast at Thomas Janaway＇s Chelsea foundry，just across the river，in 1777．Quaint in tone they go well，having heen completely overhauled by Taylors in 1938.

The Monday practice has been becoming increasingly popular，and many have learned or advanced their change ringing under the watchful eye of Mr．Ernie Dodds，Ringing Master．Although there is always room for more，Battersea is fortunate in the help given by experienced ringers from outside，es pecially Mr．Monty Meyer，and in the keen－ ness of its secretary，Mr．Bob Cooles，who spends much time and energy in organising Sunday and other ringing．

Sadly，a quarter peal attempt by Battersea ＂regulars＂for the Sir Walter St．John＇s School carol service on December 21st was halted by outside interference after some 20 minutes＇good ringing．The band stood as follows：Sandra Thexton 1．Jean Henderson ？ R．J．Cooles 3，Rev．A．Clayton 4，C．J．N． Dalton 5，L．C．Way 6，C．M．Meyer（cond．） 7．F．A．Benn 8．Monty Meyer and Laurie Way especially are thranked for giving up their lunch－hours at short notice to enable Grand－ sire Triples to be rung instead of Minor．

YORK＇S ANCIENT RING OF SIX

The recent correspondence on the oldest ring of bells should not be allowed to lapse without the mention of the six bells hung for ringing at the Institute of Advanced Architec－ tural Studies in York．Formerly the Church of St．John the Evangelist，Nicklegate，the building was restored to its present use after the war and with it were the six ancient bells hung in a quaint bell turret．Only two of the bells are dated but it is known approxi－ mately when the others were cast．The dates of them are as follows：Treble，17th century； 2．14th century： $3,-1633$ ：4， 16 th century ： 5,15 th century；tenor， 1408 ．They are hung in a new framework much lower down and are rung from the ground floor．

When the St．John＇s College Bellringers＇ Society was formed in 1963 these mainly silent bells were taken over．Unfortunately about a year ago supporting buildings were de－ molished and the Director of the Institute forbade ringing until fresh support to the walls could be given．Let us hope that the ancient．although not very musical，ring of six will once again be able to be rung．

NEWARK＇S MISS CHILTUN

Newark Parish Church is justly proud of 19－year－old Margaret Chilton，who was taughi to ring in this church in 1958．When she rang her 100 th peal at Mansfield Woodhouse in September last year，she was the youngest girl in the county to achieve this distinction．But her greatest ringing suecess to date is the peal of 135 Doubles methods／variations at South Collingham．which established a new record， far exceeding that set by Hambledon of 113 methods in 1960．Other peals she particularly treasures are Double Norwich Court Bob Major at St．German＇s Abhey，Cornwall： Grandsire Caters at St．Mary＇s．Nottingham： and Stedman Cinques at Southwell Minster， Margaret is employed by the National Provin－： cial Bank Lid．at Newark．We feel certain that many ringers，in addition to Southwell Guild members，will follow her career with great interest．

HYMN TO ST．ANTHONY

Founder of Monastic Life．First Saint asso－ ciated with sacred bells．Circa A．D． 325. Words：Percy Amos．Music：E．H． 212
Today we raise the anthem strain，
A Holy One from Egypt came
A call from God to hold and lead，
His flock the bread from Heaven to feed．
His garnered corn the fruitful vine．
The consecrated bread and wine
The flesh crucified for sin we tell．
The pierced side the springing well．
The Saintly Anthony＇s faithful guide，
The cross on which our Saviour died： In prayerful retreat his Lord he found， A sacred hand the Sanctus sound The still small voice Angelic call，
The ear to hearken one and all：
At sacramental feast，at Litany，
Resounds the priestly Tantony．
First sung at Matins on January 17th， 1965 （St．Anthony＇s Day）in St．Peter＇s Church， Westo． 1 Favell．Northants．The tune to it is known as＂St．Patrick＇s Breastplate．＂

DORSET BELLS PEALABLE

After an hour or two of work＂up top＂ on the ropes，bearings，etc．，bands drawn chiefly from the Avon Valley were able to put two of Dorset＇s Warner sixes through their first peals last month．The bells of St． Mary＇s，Long Crichel，are normally rung twice a year and date from 1863，except for the tenor $\left(12-12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\right.$ ．in G），which was cast by John Wallis of Salisbury in 1621．Wallis＇s bells，incidentally，are still plentiful in Dorset and，although generally thinner than this one and rather rough castings，most of them are excellent in tone and tune（notably Chesel－ bourne and Sturminster Newton tenors）．
After 102 years with apparently no major －and precious little minor－attention．Long Crichel bells go remarkably well and a good peal of Plain Bob was rung in 2 hours and 42 minutes on December 10th．The bells are rung from the ground floor without rope－ guides，and the ringer of the 4 th has to stand in the main doorway to the church！
St．Martin＇s Church，Bryanston，was built by the second Viscount Portman in memory of his parents and stands on the site of the old mansion in a lovely parkland setting． The grand ring of six，one of Warner＇s best （tenor 19⿺⿸⿻𠃋丿又丶 cwt．in E flat）was cast in 1898 and hung in an iron frame for eight．It is a pity that his lordship did not complete the octave：there is little hope now that two trebles will ever be added．The boys of Bryanston School pack the church on Sun－ days but have not as yet formed a ringing society，so the hells are seldom rung．For their age and weight they go remarkably well hut they are exceedingly noisy in the ringing room and the peal here was inevitably harder work than that at Long Crichel．Three ex－ tents of Cambridge and four of Plain Bob were rung in 3 hours two minutes on Decem－ ber 18 th．

GROTON IN SUFFOLK

The last peal to be rung during the Great Adventure II was Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Groton，U．S．A．In the issue of January 7th Mr．Russell Young，of Groton School，has published two principles on nine bells，which no doubt will be investigated by some experts．
Groton is a Suffolk village， 14 miles went of Ipswich and 63 miles north－east of Lon－ don．From this place John Winthorp emi－ grated to America and became Governor of Groton．Mass．．1630－1649．establishing the township．A party of six persons celebrated the writer＇s 90th birthday with the host of the Fox and Hounds，Groton，Suffolk．G．E．S．

A DEVON ACHIEVEMENT

With a visit to Denbury on December

 29th Mr Frank D．Mack completed ringing on all ringable rings of five or more bells in Devon，a total of 352．There are 20 ings at present declared unringable，which he will no doubt visit as soon as the opportunity occurs His first Devon tower was Hartland in 1952，and it has been the privilege of many fellow ringers，experienced and learners，to help hini scote the remainder，sometimes on organised tours and sometimes on a short notice round－up of his own tower members． Congratulations．Frank．and the best of luck in your next target．which it is understood might be Dorset．Frank＇s tower cotal，ia－ cidentally，is 1,249 ．D．A．W．

A BRISTOL AFFAIR

$\mathrm{R}^{\mathrm{E}}$ECENTLY in Bristol a rather strange affair has occurred which throws some light on the workings of Associations. Though this particular story concerns Bristol and the local Association there is no reason to suppose that it could not, and does not, occur elsewhere.
Nearly a year ago one tower on the fringes of adjacent areas of two Branches decided that it wished to transfer its allegiance from one to the other. Some months later another tower, similarly placed, followed suit. Their reasons for doing this were, no doubt, many and various and fully known only to themselves. Whatever the reasons, one cannot deny them the entitlement of making up their own minds and in each case the decision was a majority one of their members, if not unanimous.

The Branch to which they applied to join, feeling somewhat flattered by the compliment, agreed to have them. It was noted that these towers had been more often represented at recent meetings than others of more long-standing membership. The other Branch. perhaps feeling somewhat slighted, declined to release them and started writing to the Association general secrelary about it. Before long the hapless general secretary found himself with a rapidly thickening dossier of correspondence about it from both Branch secretaries; the thickening accelerated by dragging in allusions to the annual subscription, peal booking fees and other topics. The secretary replied as best he could.

A consistent feature of this rather curious dispute throughout has been the search for a definitive decision as to whether the two towers should be allowed to transfer or not. From many lips have come the questions "What did the A.G.M. say?", "What did the Management Committee decide?", "What does the general secretary think?", "What do the rules say?" The last question has been a particularly fruitful field for the lawyers as throughout 1965 the Association had two complete sets of rules to be consulted, those in force to the end of the year and those to be in force thereafter-they were not always in complete agreement with each other. Despite much debate, none of these wise sources could say positively and finally what was right and what was wrong. Indeed the affair had uncovered a weakness in Association thinking.

Whatever else a ringing association is, it is not a legal institution. It is no part of its function or its competence to tell its members what they can or cannot do or, indeed, to pass judgment on what they do do. Neither the person nor the property of its members is at stake and it no more has to defend them than it has the right to confine or define its members' actions. Membership in no shape or form can be compulsory. Put one single point of law to any sort of ringing body and you are inevitably asking for an inconclusive answer. As a voluntary association of people joined together to help one another, the infinity of activities it can arrange to that end alone are real.

If there are any basic issues involved in this affair, it is the one to which most ringers subscribe: "any ringer is always welconte in any tower." Furthermore, tiresome though it sometimes is, we subscribe to the view that any ringer is entitled to ring where he pleases. These are principles infinitely worth preserving. There may yet be further majority decisions to come in this Association or any other about matters of this sort, affirming that towers should belong to one Branch or another. If they conform with a de facto situation they are unnecessary, if they do not they are ineffective. One cannot envisage such decisions altering the course to which a ringer bends his steps. P. G.

A HECTIC FEW MINUTES

IT was 8.45 as $I$ passed the church tower and listened to the merry peal of bells. I hesitated and then went into the church, intending :o await my fourteen-year-old daughter and escort her home. 1 tripped gaily up the well-worn steps, pushed open the door and entered the warm and cosy belfry where, rather to my surprise, I found my daughter in action-pulling the bell ropes in quite a professional manner-and, quite amazing, she appeared to be "in the groove." I could see there was method in this madness and as the numbers were called out and the ringers responded, a familiar sequence rang out. It was clear these youngsters knew their ropes.
It was now 8.50 and the session was obviously coming to an end. One or two of the younger fry put on their coats and departed. I chatted awhile with my cousin. the tower captain, and due to his honeyed talk. rather reluctantly agreed to try and ring a bell. Obviously there was nothing to it and 1 hadn't had much sympathy for our schoolgirl when sie had taken up campanology-all those aches and pains and complaints of stiffess-she needed more exercise!
There were two ropes attached to each of these six bells. One was plain-such as we used to climb in the gym when I was a girl : one with a sort of chenille Union Jack wrapped around it kept disappearing through the ceiling.
I was rather hazy as to whether to grab the Union Jack, but on being told to pull the other one-a six-ton bell was at the end of it -I did so. I knew at once that I hadn't the strength but nulled and pulled hard. The rope went slack and I altered my grip. The Union Jack appeared and disappeared and my rope began to pull me! As my feet left the floorboards. I heard someone say, "Leave go!" I could not I was petrified and my hands were glued to the rope. The rope was stronger than me-it was comparable to trying to hold a furious barking dog who sees a hated cat making off with his dinner. That rope was alive and kept stretching me towards the ceiling: I couldn't hold it and I couldn't leave go for a while, "Leave go or you will go through the roof." The truth of this was plain to my panic-stricken mind. I abandoned the rope and dropped with a thud to the floor.
My heart was thumping like a sledge hammer, my hat was askew, my coat cuffs were above my elbows, and one or two other garments hadn't been equal to the strain. Oh dear, oh, oh dear! If only the floor would open up and drop me into the peace of the church below. A hastily stiffed titter made my cheeks redden-I "could predict my daughter's reaction "Mam, you looked a right nit."
It was only 8.55 and I'd endured torture for what had seemed an age. I turned a bright smile on the grinning teenagers and mentally took my hat off to them whilst delving deep into my pocket to reassure myself that my nylons would not turn into ankle socks before their eyes.
Slowly and carefully I made my way down the uneven steps-how easy to break a hone on them-and we were out of the church before the clock struck nine. What an age of experience I had undergone.
As 1 stretched out in bed that night-muscles which had not been used for years aching and heart still exceeding the speed limit-I wondered about all those church hells-all over Britain-all over Europe-there must be thousands of them! However did they all get themselves rung every Sunday! There must be some gifted people for whom I now have a wholesome respect for their power of mastery over these metal monsters-and believe it or not, I slept as sound as a bell.

NOTE BY THE TOWER CAPTAIN

The vivid account of the effect of a few pulls at backstroke was written down some days later and is sent in almost unaltered. It was, however, a 6 cwt . bell, not a 6 tonner.

Rang Peal Together on Wedding Day and 50 Years after

SATURDAY, January 15 th, saw a gathering of some 50 old and new friends at Tunbridge Wells to celebrate the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, of Groombridge. The day started well-despite adverse weather conditions-with Mr. and Mrs. Hairs repeating a performance of 50 years ago at Abbot's Hospital, Guildford, by taking part together in a handbell peal of Stedman Caters. This took place at the residence of friends in Tonbridge, who also recorded some of the peal. The afternoon saw the successful completion of tower bell peals in honour of the event at Tunbridge Wells and Withyham.
Despite dire threats by forecasters, only two of those invited were unable to attend (and they through ill-health). The evening festivities consisted of dinner at the Royal Mount Ephraim Hotel, followed by a social evening, during which Walter Dobbie played back part of the handbell peal and the band rang a short touch in the same method. Entertainment was also provided by Mrs. Gladys Bennett (sister-in-law of Mrs. Hairs) with three songs, and Ray Large and Colin Osbon with songs and monologue respectively, as well as a splendid duet (Offenbach's "The Bold Gendarmes").
Both Mr. and Mrs. Hairs lead active ringing lives. Mrs. Hairs rang some 75 handbell peals, including six of Stedman Cinques, before learning to ring tower bells. Her peal total is now about 320 . In 1923 she was the first lady ringer to ring a peal of Surprise "in hand" and she was also the first lady to take part in a peal of Cambridge Maximus. A founder member of the Ladies' Guild. she was for some years secretary of the Central District. For a number of years she was peal secretary of the Sussex County Association and during that time wrote up the Association's peal book. Mrs. Hairs is at present the secretary of the Northern Division of that Association and represents them on the Central Council. She is now the only lady member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, to which Society she was elected in 1917. Mrs. Hairs particularly appreciated a letter of greeting from the Anctens Society of College Youths. It was the first time in the history of the Society that two members have celebrated their golden wedding.

Mr. Hairs learned to ring at Clapham about 1904 and has rung nearly 600 peals, some 250 of which have been with his wife He was Master of the Sussex Association for many years and represented them on the Central Council from 1939-1950, since when he has been an honorary member. A member of the Standing Committee since 1945, he has been on "The Ringing World "Committee since 1951. Since going to live on the Kent/Sussex border Mr. Hairs has built up a local band at Withyham and though now in his 78 th year he has far more energy than many a younger man.
Their many friends will wish them continued good health and best wishes for the future.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual general meeting was held at Barnsley on January 8th, when 13 towers were represented. The Rev. P. F. Keeling conducted the service and Mr. Nocl F. Moxon acted as organist. An excellent tea was followed by the business meeting, with Mr Keeling in the chair. At the next meeting-Penistone on February 12th-nominations for president, secretary and treasurer will be received for the adjourned business meeting in March. Mr. Irvin Slack, Horbury, proposed the vote of thanks.

A composition of the bride's father, Mr. Henry O. Baker, general secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild, was rung at St. Mary-Within-the-Walls, Chester, as a wedding compliment to Miss Anthea Baker and M:Bryan Ccoper. The bride was formerly a ringer at this church

BRAY RINGERS' ANNUAL DINNER

The Hinds Head Hotel at Bray is reputed to be one of the most exclusive in Berkshire. where royalty, the nobility, film stars and other celebrities come to "dine and wine." Jan. 15th they were none other than the Bray bellringers, who he'd their traditional annual dinner at this famous hotel. Invitations to this excellent evening are greatly sought after, for, from past experience, one is assured of a wonderful meal and a very enjoyable evening.

A company of 52 ringers, their wives and friends, which included the Rev. S. W. Doran (Vicar of Bray). Mrs. Doran, Canon Nash, the Rev. S. Kromburg (a former curate), Mr. F. W. Clark (churchwarden) and invited guests from Cookham. Clewer. Cranford, Boyne Hill, Heston, Hitchin and Marlow sat down to an excellent meal of turkey and plum pudding.
The Rev. S. W. Doran, who opened the short speeches with a very humorous story, proposed the loyal toast "The Church and the Queen." He was followed by Mr. R. Clark, who after praising and thanking Bray ringers for their work, and loyalty to their ringing and to the Church. proposed the toast "Bray Bell Ringers." Mr. John Norsworthy (Bray Ringing Master), in his reply, said how fortunate Bray ringers were in having a Vicar and churchwarden who were so interested in them and who joined them in their activities. The Rev. S. Kromburg suitably replied for the guests.

The meal over, everyone adjourned to the hotel annexe, where dancing, games and competitions were held under the direction of Doreen Hague. Bray handbell ringers entertained with tune ringing. Refreshments and drinks were served throughout the evening with the compliments of Bray ringers. So this enjoyable evening, so ably organised by Doreen and Joh.n, came to a close all too quickly just before midnight.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The president (Canon A. L. Woodard) presided at the annual general meeting of the Cambridge District at St. Andrew's Hall, which followed a large tea provided by Mrs. Martin and helpers. The service was held in the afternoon at Great St. Mary's, conducted by the Rev. I. Ogilvie.
Mr. B. D. Threlfall, the secretary, reported that the District had maintained activities, had visited 20 towers, had about 100 members, despite the loss by death of Mr. J. Halls (Duxford) and Mr. J W. Ward (Melbourn) gratifying result of the August meeting was the attempt now being made to build up a band of ringers at Whittlesford. A list of all the towers, with details of bells, a guide to condition and ringing times, had been circulated to all incumbents and towers. There are far too many unringable towers in the District. Arising from this came a stirring call to action by the president. The donors of the bells that hang unrung and unringable in 21 towers surely intended that they should be heard, reminding people of the Church's' acivities. Only 17 out of 50 are rung at all regularly.
Elections: President, Canon A. L. Woodard : Ringing Masters, G. Pearson and S. Brown ; secretary/treasurer. B. D. Threlfall; District Committee. E. W. Bullman, H. F. Churchman. J. Gipson. D. W. Newman and others ex-officio: District Representatives, E. W. Bullman. B. Horrell; Belfry Repair Fund treasurer, B. Pratt.

ON TEACHING STRIKING

(Extract from an Evening Course by the Stafford Archdeaconry Society.)FEW will deny that striking is of more importance than method ringing, but in many towers thas is still the most neglected aspect of our art. Striking correction is necessary right from the first time a learner rings rounds, and he needs to be taught how to strake just as he is taught to ring methods. Some conductors will tell a learner when he is wrong but will not say anything abou: striking, when the effect may be the same-a clash or a bad blow caused by either going wrong or merely by bad striking. The latter, moreover, is more likely to be continuous (Of course, the conducto: mav be a bad striker himself and does not want to be so hypocritical as to tell others. All the more reason for having conductors who can strike!)

Too often a learner is pushed into rounds before he can handle a bell and pushed into changes before he can ring rounds, and nevel taught to strike at all. He may then be left to clatter around for the rest of his ringing life unless helped by some kind, experienced ringer or by his own ambition and ability. But the advice of the former may be resented if the learner has never had striking correction in his own tower, A really keen learner will ask about his striking faults and make an effort to correct them next time he rings. The learner's own ability may not be sufficient to cope with faults which are all the more deeply ingrained by habit.

A learner thus should be given as little as possible to master at a time. So often a learner is given the task of struggling with handling his bell, of learning ropesight, of learning leading, of leerning to strike-all at once. It is no wonder so many farl the attempt. When possible, then, the faults mentioned below should be corrected in rounds or call changes. For example, one can learn to sirike clearly over a large bell in call changes, no: when one is struggling with ropesight. Call changes have the additional advantage that the change is repeated and the learner has time to ascertain whether he is striking correctly or not.

These are some of the roints for an instructor to look for when instructing a learner:-
(1). At the front end. A very common mistake is clipping or even striking at the same time as the back and middle bells, The light bell should strike quite clearly over the large nell without any tendency of the notes to merge. Sometimes a learner clears the tenor but clips the middle bells. This is to be avoided also. At a later stage a ringer may overcompensate when following a large bell with a little bell. making sure that he is not clipping. This results in dragging of the front bells, a more advanced fault in front-end ringing.
(2). On any bell, but particularly on a heavy bell, a common fault is to be too quick on the way up and too slow on the way down. The cause is not making sufficient allowance for the different speeds of hunting up and down.
(3). On a hack-end bell-not being close enough to the light bells. This is usually caused by waiting for the rope of the light bell to go before pulling. when the bells should have been pulled at about the same time. This is more pronounced when there is a wide difference in weight between the front- and back-end.
(4). Also on a back-end bell, clipping the little bells. particularly in hunting up. Some back-enders seem to think that the little bells are there merely to be belted. This may happen in 2nds place when a large bell is leaving the lead-though sometimes it is the fault of the other bell for being 100 slow on the handstroke lead.
(5). Dodges not struck cleanly. Failure to pull in sufficiently in up dodge and to hold up before and after it. Similarly, failure to hold up sufficiently at down dodge and to pull in before and after the dodge. Making fourths at a 3-4 up dodge, or making thirds at a 3-4 down dodge, or merely two blows in $3 \frac{1}{2}$ 's place
(6). Dropping one stroke, particularly back-stroke, i.e. allowing the rope to come down only partially under control.
(7) Slow in 2nds coming cff lead.
(8). Slow in last hlow behind, or on leaving back
(9). Consistently slow or quick at one stroke. This may be due to the add-struckness of the bell which the ringer has not taken into consideration. or may be because of a handling fault-e.g. too quick at hand because the sally is being caught 100 soon, or may be the result of an earlier handing fault now corrected, but the striking remains the same.
(10). Incorrect leading usually means too quick at handstroke if the learner has beer. encouraged not to drag on the way down. Having hunted down quickly the learner needs ro leave a gap at handstroke wide enough for one imaginary bell ringing at the same pace. On the other hand the learner may be too eager to leave a snace and give 100 wide a handstroke gap, but this is usually a fault in more experienced learners
All these faults are caused in ringing by following the ropes with he eves and not using the ear. The learner should try to place his hell correctly in the rhvthm, hut of course if many of the above faults are present there will be no rhythm anvway, so the first thing to do is to see about correcting these faults.

THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD FOR THE DIOCESE OF BIRMINGHAM

$\mathrm{A}^{\mathrm{T}}$ the annual meeting of the St . Martin's Guild, tributes were to the memory of that very fine ringer, Alfred Paddon Smith. Mr. Frank Haynes and the chairman (Mr. Richard Ingram) both referred to his work tor the Guld, which included 20 years as hon. secretary, and his exceptional ability to handle and strike both a small or a large bell Tributes were also expressed to John Bragg, a ringer at Solihull for 60 years, Graham Palmer (Solihull), Herbert Langdon (London) and Keith Taylor (Coleshill). The members observed a moment s silence in respect to their memory. New members included the Rev L. B. Hutchings, Mrs. L. M. Hutchings, Miss B. Sawden. G. Cox and T. Kedge, of Knowle, Miss P. Fearn, R. Aldington, M. Jones and E. Spence, of King's Norton, Miss S. Chapman, of Yardley, Miss J. M. E. Dixon and Miss M. Pryor. The tower elections, as life members, of the following ringers were duly ratified: J. D. Chamberlain (Lichfield), J. Alexander (Coventry) and R. C. Stevens (Croydon)

The annual accounts, presented by the secretary. disclosed a healthy financial position and the number of new members was encouraging.
The name of Mr. John Pinfold was added to the list of vicepresidents in recognition of his work for the Guild, which comprised several years as Ringing Master.
The following officers were re-elected for 1966: Master. Mr. R. C. Ingram; Ringing Master. Mr. J A. Ainsworth: trustees, Messrs. S. O'C. Holloway and B. D. A. Woolley: auditors. Messrs. H. H. Fearn and S. OC. Holloway; Central Council representatives, Messrs. G. E. Fearn (re-elected) and J. A. Ainsworth in place of Mr. F. E. Haynes, who has left Birmingham to live in Cambridge : ibrarian. Mr. W. G. Chaplin. elected instead of Mr. D. R. Ingram. who wished to resign due to his absence from Birmingham whilst attending Nottingham University: secretary, Mr. G. E. Fearn.
Many divergent opinions were expressed concerning a proposition that Guild members should have a distinctive badge, and the matter uas left in the hands of a small committee to consider a suitable design.

For the next meeting the Guild received an invitation to Aston, to take place on April 2nd.

Letters to the Editor

THE BOOK

Si:, - Now that we have had the expert critical reviews of Mr . Wilson's book "Change Ringing," will you allow me to express the views of a very ordinary, ignorant ringer of many years' standing and still of no importance !
My first reaction after I got to the and of it was that, if only we had had it 60 of 70 years ago, I might have amounted to something. It is the most fascinating book on any academical subject that I have ever come across. and holds its interest from beginning to end.

We have had, and still have, many bits and pieces, and as a general text book of course we had Troyte. But most of them leave me, anyway, with a sense of bewilderment and the feeling that it is all too difficult for my limited brain
I do not know how it will strike the superexpert, some of whom seem to set themselves out to make it all more difficult by using expressions and signs which only they, and presumably other experts, can understand or guess the meaning of. But for 99 per cent. of ringers and non-ringers interested it is invaluable.

From fage one onwards it takes you forward step by step, each of which can be understood by any ten-year-old until he finds himselt conducting, in theory, the most complicated of peals.
Compare Troyte's "explanation " of In and Out of Course, which he dismisses by saying that must must accept the fact that changes are of two natures, hut that he has not the foggiest notion as to what they are, with Wilson's clear and admirable summary.
1 am not sure that your latest reviewer is right in saying that there should not be a tower copy because it would remain in the hands of one man. I think myself that a brief glance through it would make every ringer determined to possess a copy of his own. To anyone who takes any interest in ringing at all, whether learning or teaching or both, a personal copy is a must.

SPLICED KENT AND OXFORD TREBLE BOB MINUR
"The 720 of Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor rung at Holme-on-Spalding Moor. Yorks, in a 20 -method peal on December 29th was the first I have seen with these two methods spliced properly with the change of method at the lead-end," writes Mr. W. F. Moreton. "It is not possible to do this with bobs alone, but singles seem to be the accepted thing in Treble Bob nowadays. The singles are made in 456. I have an idea that Mr. C. K. Lewis produced a similar 720 some time ago, but he never showed anyone the figures, so far as I know."

BACKGROUND OF GRANDSIRE OPINION
Dear Sir,-In view of the recent letters on Grandsire sparked off by David Marshall, I am prompted to write on the subject. Knowing David personally, I respect his views but $1 t$. does not follow that I agree with him.

David was taught at Daventry under the influence of Mr. Put Chapman and was termed "a star pupil" in those days. He has blossomed into an expert ringer and conductor of Surprise methods besides the standard methods. To the best of my knowledge he was first taught to ring Boh Minor and Major and Grandsire and Stedman Triples followed.
The choice. 1 think, depends on the nethods practised in the tower at the particular fime one is learning change ringing. If Grandsire is the predominant method then this will of course be the first obstacle.
When this- is mastered, other methods, whether odd or even, Plain or Surprise, will come within your grasp.
I was reared on Grandsire Triples and my first two peals (Triples and Caters respectively on the same day were both of Grandsire. As one of the band that took part in the peal of Grandsire Royal at Daventry, I will be quite frank and say that I was not keen on an odd hell method being adapted to Royal, especially having to lie behind for six blows at a call.

I think the other ringers would prefer to ring another method but now that it has been achieved it is over and done with.
Personally, having rung one peal of Grandsire Royal. I am satisfied to leave it at that, but I should welcome further invitations to stand in for Grandsire Caters. I like the method.-Yours truly, Staverton, Daventry.

STANLEY F. WEBB.

RECORDED BELLS

Dear Sir.-With regard to the Christmas broadcast, I feel that while the standard of ringing has greatly improved in recent years the programme itself is now a sham. After all, the programme is entitled Christmas Bells, and the impression contrived by the announcer is that their message is being rung out then and there-not recorded one month previously and carefully edited. Of course, it requires a lot of trouble to make the programme livebut there seems to me the point-it's Christmas morning and a lot of people are taking a lot of trouble to ring bells for a nation-wide broadcast. When this was so, I found it a most moving programme despite frequent bad ringing and the exasperating intrusion of the announcer's voice. Now the programme is clinically efficient but without inspiration and in my opinion should be discontinued if it cannot be done live.

Apart from inspirational programmes of the Christmas Bells type, however. I believe there is a place for ringing as music and in this field recordings can be of great value and give great nleasure. I certainly hope that recordings like "The Sound of Bells" and "Washington Peal" will continue to be made. Personally I should like records to be available. each consisting of a collection of complete touches or of a quarter peal. These would preferably have all the necessary information about the bells, ringers and composition printed on the record sleeve and spoken commentary would be avoided. For such records, of course, the recording, ringing and bells all need to be first class, but if they were available at a similar price to the "Washington Peal "I should certainly buy--Yours sincerely,

CLAPPERS DROPPING OUT

Dear Sir,-With reference to a letter in - The Ringing World " recently from Miss Margaret A. Throw, of St. Mary's, Gateshead, relating their misfortunes in having a clapper drop out, and the expense of repairing the resulting damage. I find that I can recall several instances during the few years in which I have been ringing, including one at my home tower only a few weeks ago, although not causing such extensive damage.
Many people I have spoken to are also able to recall similar instances of clapper fall-out. In my experience the failure (with metal headstocks) has been one of shear in the crown holt attaching the clapper hinge to the headstock.
I started giving thought to the reason behind such failure, but ran almost immediately into difficulties by not knowing certain component properties These included moments of inertia of bell clapper. headstock and wheel, individual weights of hell, headstock and clapper. Also frictional components, which perhaps one could legitimately ignore. I would be pleased to know if anyone has had similar thoughts on the matter and whether they would be willing to let me see any calculations which they may have produced.
I note in the "Steel Designers" Handbook" that the single shear value of a five-eighths inch diameter black bolt is 1.53 tons, but that this value coukt be reduced depending on the tension developed in the bolt while tightening. It would appear to me that the design of the crown holt should be all important when such extensive damage is possible as a result of its failure.-Yours faithfully,

DATE TOUCHES

Dear Sir,-With the New Year comes, inevitably, a selection of date touches. and thes $r$ prompt questions as to what rules should bind them.

A date touch is both less than a peal and a comparatively rare occurrence. so there are probably no conditions specifically imposed on them. However, I think that it would be perfectly reasonable to expect them to conform to one particular rule applied to other performances, namely. that on less than severt bells a performance should come round only at the end of each extent, and at the end of the performance.
This was certainly not the case in the performance at Sharnbrook ("Ringing World," page 24) or at Wollaton last year, for instance.

I am well aware that there are difficulties attached to the composition of touches of a specified length, though less so for an even year, and that these difficulties are often added to by a need to use only fairly simple methods. Although I am by no means an exponent of orthodoxy, I think that it would be more heartening if those ringers who thave the initiative to ring something out of the ordinary would try to follow some of the rules, and in so doing display a little more enterprise. Yours faithfully.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Quarterly Meeting at Ilkeston

Despite the somewhat foggy weather over 40 members and friends from 12 towers, including visiting ringers from Loughborough and London, were present when the Association's winter quarterly meeting was held at llkeston on January 8th: Under the supervision of Mr. D. J. Marshall (Sawley) the pleasant octave were put to good use, and the Vicar, the Rev. A. G. Robertson, conducted a short service.

After tea, excellently prepared by the wives and friends of the local company, the busines meeting, with Mr. E. Fletcher (flkeston), vicepresident, in the chair, began with a moment's silence being observed in memory of Dr. P. A. Micklem, the former Provost of Derby, who was the Association's first president.

The Education Officer. Mr. Marshall, gave a resume of the Lea Green ringing course. which, despite the recent criticism, proved to be an unqualified success. Giving details of the Association's annual dinner, which is to be held at Chesterfield on February 19th, Mr. M. Phipps urged members to obtain their tickets as soon as possible, particularly as this year marks the 50th anniversary of Sir A. P. Heywood's death, in whose honour the dinner is being held..

Reminding the company of the Association annual general meeting the week prior to the ringing festival on April 23 rd to commemorate the actual anniversary of St . Arthur's death, the general secretary, Mr. B. P. Morris, said that nominations would be needed for the three Central Council representatives, one of whom, Mr. A. Mould. was not seeking re-election. In a tribute to Mr. Mould, Mr. G. A. Halls said he had served the Association faithfully and well for the last 12 years. Those who had heard his wonderful reports on the Councrl prozeedings would agree that the Association would be very hard pressed to replace him.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

An informal visit by the Mayor of Colchester enlivened the annual meeting of the N.E. District on January 15 th. Although there are three rings of bells in the town, se said he never seemed to hear them owing to traftic and other diversions.

Mr. Frank Lufkin resigned as Master after three years. and Mr. Peter Pitt, of Si. Leonard's, Hythe, was appointed his successor.

The hon. secretary, in his report, read out the names of five members who had rung their first peal, and seven who had rung their first quarter during the year. Thirty-three peals and 25 quarters had been rung in 1965. mostly by District bands, 75 per cent. being on six bells. The most active band had been that at St. Leonard's. Colchester, who had made great progress.
Ringing membership was up from 125 to 130, but four members had died during the year. Nine new members were elected.

A service was held ac St. Peter's, where the lesson was read by Raymond Talbot, ringer and lay reader of Langham.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Officers elected at the annual general meetian of the Biggleswade District at Biggleswade on January 8th were: $P$. Mehew, chairman: K. Fleming, secretary: J. Mayes, Belfry Repair Fund: Linda Ellison, Press secretary: committee, Sheila Smith, A. H. Smith, M. Lockey, $R$ Sharp; organists, P. Rogers and M. Lockey.
M. Major and L. Bywaters agreed to arrange the District outing. After tea the Ringing Master, A. H Smith, catered for all capahilities, including a ladies touch of Bob Major.
The Rev. Mr. Dominey conducted the service, and tea was served in the Memorial Hall. Next meeting: Clifton, February 12th.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Maidstone District

The first District meeting of 1966, at Wrotham, attracted 40 to the tea-the same number as had written to the captain, Mr. R. L. Sills. The Vicar (the Rev. V. G. Nicklass) in his welcome at the service likened ringers to an advertising agency. When ringing for service the ringers told the whole populace that something was about to happen, that divine worship was about to start.
The Vicar presided at the business meeting, when Mr A. Waddington gave a report on the committee meeting at Gravesend. New members were elected from Harrietsham (3) Snodland (1). East Farleigh ( 14 junior, 7 adults). Ightham (9). This brings Ightham and East Farleigh back into union with the Kent County Association, a gratifying result of the efforts of the District secretary. Mr M. Howe.
Looking ahead. the District soctal will be at St. Michael's Parish Hall, Maidstone, on February 19th

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

It was the turn of the mother church of the Frome Branch, St. John's, to play host for this year's annual general meeting held on January 8th. Ringing prior to the service was under the direction of the Ringing Master. Mr. Ron Beck, who, as is customary, arranged a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples for a servic: touch. The Vicar (the Rev. P. Cowley) conducted the service, during which he welcomed every one to Frome and thanked the ringing community as a whole for their excellent service to the Church. A short walk to the Parish Hall gave all present sufficient appetite to eat the enormous tea, supplied by the local ringers at the staggering charge of 1 s . per head.
With the Rev. Mr. Durston in the chair, the meeting commenced with ringers standing in silence in respect of Mr. J. T. Dyke and Mr. B. Bond, who both passed away during the year. Much business followed, during which time all the officers were re-elected, the secretary and treasurer both reported an excellent year, three new members wer: elected and details of meetings for the New Year arranged.
The Rev. Mr. Ainger, in his comprehensive vote of thanks, especially mentioned Mr. R. Baker, who organised the function. D. T.H. K.

SUFFOLK GUILD

A large gathering of 70 members attended the quarterly meeting of the South East District at St. Matthew's (6), Ipswich. From the age of nine to 70 plus, they enjoyed ringing from rounds to Surprise methods under the watchful eye of Mr. George Pipe in the afternoon and Mr. Harold Egglestone in the evening.
The service, taken by the Rev. M. C. Russell, preceded tea provided by St. Matthew's ringers' wives and friends. They were accorded special thanks by Mr. George Pipe.
Mr. G. Goodship at the meeting suggested that the annual general meeting should be moved from March to the end of the year, as it would help the Suffolk Guild secretary to have complete particulars at the end of each year.
Thanking all who had given donations to the St. Mary-le-Tower bell fund, Mr. George Pipe felt the support could be much better for the only 12 bells in Suffolk. He was hoping to break into $£ 300$ by the end of 1965.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Branch Meeting at Dartmouth

The Mid-Devon Branch annual meeting at Dartmouth on January 8th attracted a large number of members as well as visitors from other Branches and Somerset, among the latter being the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, of Tatworth, a former assistant priest. Ringing took place at St. Saviour's as well as the iwo six-bell towers, this being followed by a service at St. Saviour's conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. T. Urwin). After tea in the Regency Café, the business meeting followed with Captain A. R. Poyntz in the chair until the election of officers.

The secretary's comprehensive report, which was unanimously adopted, showed that ringing had been maintained at the Branch towers and that three peals and ten quarter peals had been rung during the past year. Membership had fallen by two to 82 . Mr. A. L. Bennett was congratulated on organising his tours.
The election of officers resulted in Miss Mary Russell, of Newton Abbot, being appointed Branch chairman, two other nominees having withdrawn, whilst Mr. A. B. Shingler was re-elected secretary and treasurer, and Mr. W. Siminonds Ringing Master. Messrs. A. Goss, B. E. Bartlett and K. E. Fursdon were elected to serve on the General Connmittee. New members elected were four from Townstal, one from Babbacombe 'and one unattached.

OBITUARY

MR. G. A. PECK

We regret to report the death of Mr. George Arthur Peck on January 9th at the age of 97 , as a result of pneumonia contracted on his return from the Hastings Chess Congress. He died peacefully in his sleep at 35, Warren Road, Rugby

He was a regular bellringer up to the age of 87 , having been associated with towers at Saltburn-by-the-Sea, St. Mary's, Nottingham. Esher and latterly at St. Andrew's, Rugby. To his disappointment he had to give up in the summer of 1959 due to a heart condition. He had been a reader of "The Ringing World" almost since its inception. - A scholarly and friendly man. he was adored by countless ringers and chess players his mental alertness, even in his advanced years, won the admiration of many friends.

MR. R. H. YOUNG

With regret we record the death of Mr . Robert Harry Young, of Holt, Norfolk, who passed peicefully away on January 13th.

He Mad taken "The Ringing World" for some 50 -odd years and until ahout eight years ago was a very enthusiastic bellringer. During the latter part of his life he looked forward with great interest to reading about the ac tivities of some of his old associates via "Tre Ringing World."

He commenced heilringing at the early age of 12 and travelled hundreds of miles in tis quest for peals, and was assoriated wirh William and Ernest Pye.

He had an operation some six years ago, which meant that he could no longer ring bells or climb towers, and, writes his son, Mr. P. R. Young. "I would like to take this opportunity of thanking your journal for keeping him in touch with the Exercise."

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Chertsey District

The A.D.M. of the Chertsey District was held at Oatlands Park on January 8th, when ringing up to Cambridge preceded the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. B McKitterick). After an excellent tea served by the Oatlands lady ringers in the new Church Hall, the Master, Mr. D. A. R. May, took the chair for the business meeting.
The retiring officers were re-elected without opposition. The District officers reported a successful year, with membership up by about a dozen and an average of 43 ringers attending the eight meetings held. The District Master reminded members that a big effort would be needed to maintain the position. He also asked for support in arranging the District's turn at the Cathedral on second Sundays.
Further ringing up to Yorkshire was enjoyed by the 50 ringers attending.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal of Foulness Surprise Major at Spalding was Mr. George W. Massey's 50th. different Surprise Major method to a peal.
The name of the conductor of the peal of Minor rung at Ossett on December 27th was Ian North, not as stated in "The Ringing World " (page 36).

Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston is working on survey of Perthshire bells. In this large county he has found some very early Celtic handbells over 1,000 years old.
The peal at Cockermouth on December 18th (page 30) was a compliment to Brian and Marjorie Street on their recent marriage. Marjorie was present in the belfry throughout the peal.
The address of the Grasshopper Group is now c/o L. S. F. T., 24, Shelton Street, L.ondon, W.C.2. Bookings for the educational film "Ringers Required" (30/- a day) are made to the Film Librarian of this Group.

The Ancient Society of College Youths' peal at Warwick on December 4th (see page 869) was not the first of Stedman Triples 10 be rung on the bells, but the first "since rehanging."

A collection was taken among Bristol ringers who knew the late Mr. Alfie Reeves, who died during October, and a sum of money was presented to Mrs. Reeves on Christmas Day. Mrs. Reeves writes expressing her sincere thanks to the friends who contributed.

The report of the peal of Lincolnshire at St. Nicholas', Chislehurst (page 31) contains two errors. It was the 25 th peal together of Andrew $J$ Corby and lan $H$. Oram, and Tony Lewis's first peal in the method, and not as printed.

CHRISTMAS RINGING IN THE LLANDAFF AREA

To crown a record breaking peal year for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association a successful two weeks' ringing was enjoyed before and after Christmas. Ten out of twelve peal attempts were completed and several were significant steps forward. Perhaps most noteworthy was the Yorkshire at Merthyr, which was the first peal on the bells since 1928. Much preliminary work was done to get the bells pealable, and special thanks are due to the ringers of St. John"s, Darlington, who provided two ropes. The bells now go very well. The peal of St. Clement's Triples at Aberavon was the first by all the band-as was the eleven Minor methods at Sully.
Stedman Triples is never easy to get and so all were pleased when it came round at Caerphilly; however, to underline the method's capriciousness, a peal of it was lost after two hours at Bridgend the next day. To muke up for this disappointment, a very good peal of Grandsire Caters was rung at Llandafl Cathedral on Wednesday. Rutland was lost next day at Cardiff but this enabled the B.B.C. to televise ringing to be shown on New Year's Eve. Besides filming and recording some ringing, the B.B.C. interviewed Mr . Thomas Yeomans, the tower captain.
On Friday afternoon a peal of Yorkshire was rung at Pontypridd. On such excellent bells the ringing could not be but good and we hope that Mr . Thyer, who sat in the ringing room for the whole peal, enjoyed it. Next day R. W. Pipe's new composition was again rung. this time on the difficult hells at Llantrisant. Tea was generously provided by the Vicar.
This concluded the Christmas ringing (but certainly not Llandaff peal ringing) and a year in which much progress was made in South Wales. The area for too long has not heen highly regarded in ringing circles: theie are now many good. keen young ringers determined to alter this.

FIRST PEAL IN 1966

Those who rang in the peal of Bob Major at Burwood. on the outskirts of Sydney, are submitting a claim that it was the first peal in 1966 . This peal started at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Australian time and finished at $12.30 \mathrm{n} . \mathrm{m}$. Arcording to Greenwich mean time this would be starting at 11.30 p.m. on December 31 st and finishing at $2.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on New Year's Day. St. Paul's, Burwood, was one of the Sydney towers where, because of the proximity to the hospital, Mr. Tom Lock's party were not allowed a peal attempt. They were allowed, however, to ring a quarter peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, and a very good quarter it was, 100.

THIRD ATTEMPT TO HONOUR A BIRTHDAY

At the third attempt, local ringers were successfal in ringing a peal for the birthday of Dr. C. J. Grimes, priest-in-charge of Alwalton, Hunts. The first attempt was made for hi, 83 rd birthday, but this was abandoned due to complaints regarding noise. The second hroke down. but the attempt on New Year's Day resulted in a good peal being rung. Dr. Grimes was most delighted and really appreciated the efforts.

MR. AND MRS. SHEPHERD HAVE A WONDERFUL GOLDEN WEDDING DAY
Over 70 greeting cards were received and nearly 70 visitors called on Mr. and Mrs. William. Shepherd, of 12, Chapel Grove, Addlestone, on the occasion of their golden wedding on January 12th. A fine array of lovely flowers and presents was received. In the evening three tape recordings from distint kin who could not be with them were heard.
Mr. "Bill" Coles, whose works are in the next road, was present in the afternoon, and in the evening it was a case of standing room only for some. The last caller was at 10.30 p.m. a nephew and his wife from Maidenhead. Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd retired to rest at 11.45 p.m. after a wonderful day.

Ringing was represented by W. H. Coles (in person). Frank and Elsie Hairs (card and message), Mrs. Sullivan (Alice White) (air mall letter) and T. W. White (card). Others represented were British Legion, Oddfellows, M.U. and Darby and Joan Club. The youngest visitor was one year seven months old and the oldest was a "boy" who commenced ringing in 1893 at Exeter, now barred from ringing on account of disability.
Comments Mr. Shepherd: "I still think Grandsire Caters is the best Caters method, Stedman for Triples and Double Norwich Court Bob for Major, but some would not agree."

A FULL LIFE

Mr. Shepherd was taught to ring by his father, Mr. Ferris Shepherd, in 1893 at Exeter Cathedral. He left for London in 1900 and entered the accountants' department of the L. and S.W.R. Of his peal total of 311, the performance he is most proud of is the record length of 19,738 Stedman Caters "in hand " at Guildford in 1912. By the time he was 39 he had fulfilled six ambitions, viz: 100 peals on tower bells, 100 on handbells, 100 of Stedman. 100 conducted, 100 of Triples, 100 on even bells. His membership of the College Youths goes back 65 vears, and he has served on the Central Council.
He has had other interests beside ringing. Twice he served as District Grand Master of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, for 20 years he was on the Surrey Insurance Committee and was chairman of the local T.B Committee. During World War I he served with the Devons and the London Irish Rifes.
Mrs. Shepherd is also a ringer, having rung in a number of towers: she is also a good in a number on the trebles.
Friends will join us in wishing them every happiness in the years ahead.

MET FORMER ARCHBISHOP

Mr. John C. Sawtell mentions in his report of a New Year's Day tour, which commenced at Manston in North Dorset, that beneath the tower of St. Andrew's, Trent, a recently augmented six, some of the band were introduced to one of the village's newer residents, Lord Fisher of Lambeth, the former Archbishop.
Thirteen towers were in the programme, viz: Manston (5). Marnhull (6). Buckhorn Weston (6), Silton (5), Bourton (6), Corton Denham (5), Trent (5), Nether Compton (5). Over Compton (4), Bishop's Caundle (5). Leigh (5), Melbury Osmund (5), and Rampisham (5). An extra was added to this list, Holwell, adjacent to Bishop's Caundle.

PEALS IN 1965
Up to our issue of January 21st the leading Guilds for peals in 1965 were:
Oxford Diocesan Guild
Lincoln Diocesan Guild
201

Will conductors who rang peals in 1965 which have not been published please send details without delay to this office to enable the Peals Analysis Committee to complete their report.

FOLKESTONE'S NEW YEAR PARTY

The ringers of SS. Mary and Eanswythe's Parish Church, Folkestone, held their first New Year party on January 4 th . Besides the local hand the company of 35 included friends from Cheriton and Lympne, church officials and Canon J. C. Hough and Mrs. Hough.

After a general get-together and a quiz involving general knowledge, games, energetic and otherwise, were enjoyed, followed by a wonderful array of delicious eats and a large bowl of punch, aptly described "Spliced Surprise Royal," made from a recipe given by the oldest member of the band (no prize for guessing his name!?. A colourful and interesting National Trust film. "The Stately Homes of England." gave much pleasure and this was followed by carols and community singing by candlelight.

Mr. J. Willis proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Alan Berry and Miss Rachel Sinden end all their helpers for organising a most enjoyable party. There was something for young and old and never a dull moment. The evening closed with a prayer by the Vicar and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."
M. V.G.

CHRISTMAS AT WENTWORTH

Over the Christmas season four quarter peals were rung, and with the one on December 12th the local band has rung each of them with a different conductor. The handhell ringers have also been busy. Firstly, on December $18 t \mathrm{th}$, they visited Eastwood. Rotherham. After ringing St. Stephen's eight bells for 45 minutes they went to the Salvation Army Citadel nearby and "topped the bill" at a Christmas concert, ringing 19 tunes on their 27 bells (eight ringers). With one ringer less, they next toured the village on Christmas Eve. including a ring inside the two "packed-to-the-doors" public houses. Another shorter tour, to outlving houses, with an old cart to carry the bells on, eventually realised a final total for the two nights of £16 Gs.. given to the Belfry Fund and Christmas Aid. Finally the tower bell ringers learned with great pleasure of the engagement of their tower captain, Michael R. Meadows, to Miss Elizabeth Snell, of Wolstanton, Staffs. He is shortly to take his final exams in Law. Good luck!

PRACTICALLY SELF-TAUGHT

Mrs. D. V. Sennett, who rang the 2nd in the peal of Bob Major at Berkhamsted on New Year's Day. practically taught herself to ring at a much later stage in life than most people. at a much later stage in instrumental in keeping the bells going for Sunday ringing. This was her first peal. Prior to the peal she had rung Bob Major three times, the longest touch being between two and three courses. She was warmly congratulated after the peal by the rest of the band.

LISTENING AND STRIKING

" 1 HE curse of modern simes," declared the Professor, "is that more people hear without listening than ever before."
I have noticed that he is very fond of these cryptic statements. "People," he continued, "switch on their radios, transistorised or otherwise, in cars and kitchens, store and state rooms, public highways and public houses, in factories and by firesides, where the sounds produced form a background to conversation and general activity. As a nation we are rapidly losing the art of listening at all-we simply hear!"
"It is very nice. Herr Beethoven," I murmured, "to have your music as an accompaniment to conversation, the rattling of pots and pans, or the grinding of gears!"

He ignored my profound offering.
"The first thing. therefore, that a novice has to learn when he starts bellringing is to listen; the next thing is what to listen to!"
"And what is that?"
"Two things: (a) His own bell, and (b) his own bell in relationship to the others. Dealing with (a) he must first of all be able to recognise the sound of his own bell in the midst of the others, and to the beginner this is not always as easy as it sounds seeing that the problem may be further complicated by two factors:
(i) The time-lag between the pulling of the bell and the sound of it as it reaches the ringer.
(ii) The musical ability (or otherwise) of the ringer.

By musical ability I don't mean proficiency in playing some complicated musical instrument such as a tin whistle or a pipe organ, but merely enough innate musical sense sufficient to enablo him to sing, or whistle, simple melodies in tune, with perhaps the additional accomplishment of being able to 'harmonise' by singing alto, tenor or bass-and I know fairly good instrumentalists who cannot do this."
"Doesn't Snowdon have something to say on this subject?"
"Quite a bit." He reached his "Ropesight" from the shelf. "In fact he has a whole chapter 'On the Attainment of Accurate Striking' which 1 suspect has more than once been used as a basis for talks or lectures on this subject. With regard to the difficulty of distinguishing one's own bell he says: 'In fact, if he (the novice) will listen, only to the front bells when in front, and only to those behind when there, he will find his difficulties gradually disappear; and following this out, he will soon pick out Kís bell even in the mid positions.'
"I think." observed the Professor, "that the operative word here is 'gradually.' However, once the 'time-lag' is realised and mastered it can prove of great value in recognising the position of the bell in time even if it cannot be musically recognised in tone."
"Having learnt to recognise his own bell what is the next step?"
"First the development of a good memory and secondly the acquiring of a good sense of rhythm. A good memory is essential in the early stages when the ringer has to note whether his bell strikes near or wide of a given bell at hand or back and make the necessary adjustments, remembering, so far as is possible, having found it, the correct interval required. By experience he learns to place his bell, whether 'odd-struck' or not into the rhythmic scheme, but until this becomes almost automatic the learner will have to make more conscious and practical efforts to strike his bell. Where these memorised intervals are relied upon a dodging method is easier than a 'running' one (e.g., a Treble Bob method easier than a plain one), as a misblow can often be corrected two blows later when the dodge is made, whereas with a plain method the correct adjustment can easily be forgotten by the time the same bell is met again on the same stroke."
"Do you think that call changes assist in learning to strike?"
"Yes. I think they do. The learner has several blows in which to adjust his interval over the same bell, and not having the method to consider (indeed he may not even have reached that stage) he is able to concentrate on rhythm and striking."
"Do you consider that it is impossible to teach tone-deaf ringers to strike properly?"
"No! More difficult perhaps for reasons I have already mentioned. but certainly not impossible. So much depends upon the standard of the striking of the local band and the tuition given by the captain. Anyone who has listened to, say, Wilfrid Moreton advising and correcting a learner both before, during and after ringing, will realise what is meant by a good standard of instruction."
"Do you think that contest ringing is conducive to raising the standard of striking?"
"The late John R. Brearley always maintained that the standard of striking in the Barnsley area improved after the introduction of contests in the $1920^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$. In North Notts it may be that the standard of such towers as Old Whittington, which has improved tremendously, has been accelerated in their efforts to overhaul Warsop' Perhaps if we had more contests on eight bells we should not have to endure listening to some of the leading towers in the country ringing out on the radio as though they were in two groups of four ringing from different towers!"

DEATHS OF OUTSTANDING RINGERS

MR. PETER CROOK

Peter has gone from us, and this means that one of our leading lights of Lancashire has run his course. He was an old man when most of my generation first met him, but he seemed to go on and on through the years until we learn that he was 80 when he died in hospital on January 16th, having been there just two days.
He had a great delight in getting a young ringer through his or her first peal and I'm sure there are hundreds of ringers (and some not restricted to Lancashire) whose first ne called. He would travel miles for a peal and even in his 70's he travelled far. One of his most treasured possessions was a gold medallion presented him by the Lord Abbot of Mission City in Canada, B.C. (Westminster Abbey) in recognition of his services in helping to train the monks to ring. few years ago the writer and Peter went off to London for a peal attempt, which unfortunately failed.

Peter was for 35 years secretary of the Bolton Branch of the Lancashire Association and this service was recognised by the gift of a peal record book to him by the members of the Branch.
One of his most memorable peals was one of five fathers and five daughters, which took place at Manchester Cathedral; another was Stedman Triples rung silent and unconducted at St. Paul's. Walkden. His diary was always full and he would go out of his way for ringing. I think it was this full diary which kept him young and hearty. A good churchman, he never failed to attend service. Always in good time in the belfry he would sometimes say Evensong with the parish priest at the tower he had gone for an evening peal attempt.
The Lancashire Association recognised his services by appointing him a vice-president after service as hon. treasurer of the Association. For two periods he represented the Association on the Central Council-from 1927 to 1929 and from 1939 to 1950. His association with Holy Trinity Church, Bolton, went back many years and he held the offices of sidesman and churchwarden.

The funeral service took place on January 20th at Holy Trinity Church, Bolton, where Peter had been Ringing Master for 47 years. The bells were rung half-muftled before and after the service. Interment took place at the Church of St. James, on the outskirts of the town. Many friends were represented from all walks of life, as Peter was once a police constable- and later a station sergeant. He was very well known and was also an usher at the Borough Sessions Court. Among the floral tributes was one in the form of a cross from the very young band of boys and girls now learning to ring at Holy Trinity.
His last peal was in March, 1965 (Grandsire Triples), at Farnworth, which he also conducted, and was to celebrate his 60 years as a ringer. He leaves a son, also named Peter, and a daughter, Annie (now resident in Canada). and we offer them our heartfelt sympathy. We can truly say "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the fullness of the Lord.'

THORNLEY.

MR. ALFRED E. PITSTOW

The death occurred at Saffron Walden on January 18 th of Mr. Alfred E. Pitstow at the age of 90 . He was the eldest son of the late Frederick Pitstow, who conducted the "Surprise" peals on the local bells between 1890 and 1900 , and Alfred Was the last survivor of that band. He became Master of the Saffron Walden Society on the resignation of his father through old age in 1926, and held that position until 1944, when the 52 steos up to the belfry became too much for him. He conducted many peals of Surprise between the two wars, most of these being London Major. He conducted the first peal on the 12 bells.
Mr. Pitstow was probably the last survivor of those who joined the Rev. F. E. Robinson's peal tours of the West Country in 1897 and 1898. He was a fine handbell ringer.
In 1899 he volunteered for service in the South African War and served as a sergeant for two years in the campaign. On his return he received the Freedom of the Borough of Cambridge. Appointments he held at Saffron Walden were collector of taxes for the area, and sanitary engineer and surveyor of the Saffron Walden Rural District Council. He was responsible for the building of all council houses in the 33 parishes under his council and for the many water schemes linking up various villages. He retired in 1947. A most genial companion, he will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

The funeral was held in the Parish Church on January 22nd in the presence of a large congregation and was conducted by the Vicar. As the cortege left the church the bells were rung half-muffled by the local ringers.

FORDINGBRIDGE, HANTS.-On Jan. 6th, 1.260 Doubles (Plain Bob and Grandsire): T. Verity (firss quarter) 1. Sarah Byford 2, J. Miles 3. H. Juhkental 4, R. N. Marlow (cond.) 5, R. Sparey 6. First quarter on the bells by a local band. Rung in memory of Mr. Harold Barnaby, a ringer at this, church for over 40 years, who was interred this day.

MR. HERBERT PRATT

We regret to announce the death of Herbert Pratt, which took place at the age of 78 in St. Helier Hospital, after a short illness, on January 13th.

Bert learned to ring at Chediston, Suffolk, as a young man, and came to live in Croydon, where he joined the band of St . John the Baptist Church, Croydon, in 1924. At this time the old eight bells were a very heavygoing iot, and being quite a capable ringer and blessed with the physique required to deal with those bells, he immediately became a valuable asset to the band. When the bells were augmented to 12 he quickly adapted himself to the new conditions and became quite proficient as a 12-bell ringer. He continued to serve Croydon Parish Church as a regular Sunday service ringer for 40 years, until about two years ago, when age began to take its toll.

He had rung several peals in his younger days but his greatest interest outside Sunday service ringing was tune playing on handbells, and he had spent many hours helping to entertain at old people's homes, hospitals and the like and in this direction his charitable services were greatly appreciated. Herbert Pratt was one of those regular attending and willing ringers who are invaluable to the successful working of a Sunday service band. He will be much missed by his colleagues, who held him in great esteem.
At the funeral on January 17th, as well as the family mourners, there were members of the Parish Church band and of his handbell party. A half-muffled quarter peal was rung on the Parish Church bells to his memory.

MR. T. ROGERS

The sudden death of Mr. Tommy Rogers, of Wallasey, at the age of 62, on January 9 th , is a great loss to the Chester Guild and to St. Nicholas', Wallasey, where he had been tower captain for the last 30 years, and learned to ring there over 40 years ago. For the past 19 years he had also been Ringing Master of the Wirral Branch.
Over the years. St. Nicholas', Wallasey, had built up a reputation for good striking and. as captain, he ensured that this was maintained. He rang in the first peal of seven Surprise Minor methods for the Guild by a Sunday service band, and approximately 100 peals.
Most of his free Saturdays were spent in attending meetings in Lancashire and Cheshire, never failing to enliven the proceedings with his ready wit. He was completely insuppressible and "out of order" to the end. He will be remembered for the outstretched hand, the touched forelock and the zest for life. In midwinter he would wear an openneck shirt and no overcoat. Tenoring behind with swea: rag in position. he would hiss at the least slip.
His love of ringing was shared with an enthusiasm for brass bands, and for many years he played the trombone in the Wallasey Silver Band.
His funeral service on January 14th was largely attended. The Wallasey. Silver Band accompanied some of the singing, and the Vicar (the Rev. J. R. Ellison) paid a tribute to the great service he had rendered to his church and touched on many facets of his character. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service and for an in memoriam peal in the evening by members of the Wirral Branch.

The following day at the Branch meeting the president (the Rev. P. J. Pasterfield) conducted a memorial service in place of the Guild Office.

THE STATISTICS OF TENOR BELLS

DROBABLY it is surprising to learn that the average weight of a tenor bell in England, according to the calculations based on weights given in Dove's "Guide to Church Bells of Britain," is just over $12 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. The fact that London is the county with tne highest average tenor weight is less surprising, but the placings of some of the counties in the following list are not always what might be expected.
London
Bristol
Northumberland
Lancashire
Somerset Cumberland
Dorset
Yorkshire
Durham
Middlesex
Kent
Wiltshire
Worcestershire Surrey.
Cheshire Westmorland
Buckinghamshire Bedfordshire Staffordshire Huntingdonshire Hertfordshire

| 12.8 | Hampshire | 11 |
| 12.8 | Rutland | 10.8 |
| 12.7 | Cornwall | 10.5 |

These are some of the facts which arose from a statistical survey which I made in connection with a college course. All figures used were taken from Dove's "Guide," noting only hundredweights.

Referring to the list shown above, it is interesting to note that London and Bristol head the list, and that there is a tendency for northern counties to come near the top. It may also be noticed that, in several cases, adjacent counties are also close together, i.c. Essex, Cambridgeshire and Suffolk; Derbyshire, Lincolnshire and Nottinghamshire; Buckinghamshire, Bedfordshire, Huntingdonshire and Hertfordshire; Oxfordshire, Shropshire and Herefordshire.

Other results were also obtained from this survey. The average weight of tenor for each number of bells was prabably much as might be expected.

Rings of five bells .. .. 10.2 cwt .

| " twelve ", | .. | .. | 22.6 |
| 3.9 | cwt . |  |  |

This leaves many questions about the reason for some areas tending to have heavier rings than others, whether there is a definite link between counties with heavier averages for instance, the strength of towers allied with the local type of stone, or the wealth of the county at the time of casting. It also makes me wonder if there is any connection between the weights of individual rings and various factors, such as the date of original various factors, such as the date of original installation of the bells, or the original founders.

If anyone could send me such information about their own or neighbouring bells I should be grateful to receive it. It would be a help if they could send me any of the following facts:
(1) Church and dedication.
(2) Date of original installation of the bells.
(3) Original weight (if known to be different from present weight).
(4) Founders.
(5) Any facts about who paid for the bells. DIANE M. STREET.

OBITUARY

MR. STANLEY WEBB

The sudden death of Mr. Stanley Webb, aged 68, of 7, Lancaster Drive, Hull, occurred on January 21st. Although Stanley had not rung regularly for some years, for health reasons, he still retained a keen interest in ringing.
He learned to ring at Burstwick, East Yorkshire, moving to Hull later, and to ring at St. James', Sutton-in-Holderness. He rang only eight peals-all Doubles-but conducted seven of these. He continued his membership of the Yorkshire Association, which he joined in 1909, up to his death. A slightlybuilt man of quiet disposition with almost a perpetual smile, he was a respected member of the St. James' band.

A half-muffled quarter peal of 1,440 Minor ( 720 Kent, 720 Oxford) was rung on the day of his cremation, at St. James', Sutton-inHolderness, by the following: H. Rodmell 1, Linda Sherwood 2. T. W. Thirkell 3, Vivien Richardson 4, C. R. Robinson 5, R. Ducker (conductor) 6.

The Art and Science of Change Ringing on Church and Hand Bells WILFRID G. WILSON

"The need for a modern textbook on change ringing fit to put into the hands of the latest recruit and acceptable to the progressive ringer has been felt by instructors for a long time, particularly during the last twenty years as the Exercise reestablished itself after the war and the ban on ringing. The wait has been worthwhile, for Faber's invitation to Mr Wilfrid G. Wilson has resulted in a volume on the theoretical and practical aspects of our art as valuable as any yet written... Here is a book to be recommended most strongly"- The Ringing World

A. REX AGG,General Secretary,Hertford County Association,

INFORMATION WANTED OF NORWICH TOWERS

Dear Sir, - 1 am seeking information on the Churches of St. John the Baptist, Maddermarket, and St. Andrew, Norwich. The former my mother attended, and the latter my relatives until they moved away from the district. I understand that both rings are unringable. Is there any possibility of these bells being put into a state of ringing and could anyone inform me of the date when the bells were last rung?-Yours faithfully,

H. M. MONTGOMERY.

7. Priory Close,  Dudley, Worcs.

" WHAT IS WANTED"

Dear Sir,-Please may we have a more adequate account of the restoration and augmentation of the bells at St. Peter's in the historic city of Nottingham. Surely some local ringer can put pen to paper and tell us something of the history of the bells, their weights and notes and the circumstances in which the present augmentation came about.

Some years ago "The Ringing .World" had a number of local correspondents appointed by the Guilds and Associations. I would that these good folk would busy themselves and let us have the real news of ringing since 1 do feel that restorations particularly are neglected in the columns of the paper.

We could also do with more news abou: people, written in a staighforward style, if only by way of relief from the interminable goings-on of the enigmatic participants in tours and ringing outings-the "Freds" and the "Tonys" and "Busters" and "Butches," all of whom are no doubt well known to their travelling companions but who by their the readers of "The Ringing World."-Yours truly,

TOWER CAPTAIN AND BAD STRIKING
Dear Sir,-How much I agree with Mr. G. A. Halls that one of the most desperate needs of the Exercise today is trained and capable teachers. In spite of improved facilities for travel, it is still the individual tower captain who makes or breaks a band.
In our area there are many towers where ringing is of a very low standard mainly because of a lack of competent tower captains. The main trouble seems to be that learners are taught to handle badly, and this proves to be a serious handicap throughout their whole ringing career. In addition, the tower captain may have little idea of striking himself and is thus unable to impart it to his pupils.
To give an example, we have a ringer regularly attending our own tower for practices who was "taught" at a tower not far from us, where ringing is in a really sorry state. His bad handling has been a real drawback, both to his striking and to obtaining ropesight, and the progress he has made is due only to his persistence and determination. He still rings with his own band for Sunday service and recently went up to their practice. He found two boys being taught to handle, but had to leave as he felt sure one of them was going to get hung!
Our band was requested to help at another tower, where they ring only call changes or plain hunt on six. After several visits by three or four of our ringers, they were able to get the brighter members of the band through a course of Bob Minor, but here again the whole trouble was atrocious striking owing to bad handling. At first the only thing our ringers could do was to make the band ring call changes, pointing out the faults and trying to improve the handling and striking, but once a bad style has been established it is extremely difficult to correct.
What is the best way of helping in cases such as these, or, indeed, at the many " silent " towers? If the Central Council or local Associations could run throughout the country courses such as the one recently held in Derbyshire it should do a lot of good. In the case of a tower with ringing of poor quality, it is not possible to go and help unless requested, but the tower captain might tactfully be persuaded to go on a course, assuming he was a suitable student; otherwise some other member of the band might be sent. who would then take on the job of teaching others to handle.
In the case of a silent tower, who would come forward to go on a course? One suggestion is that if a course were being arranged the clergy of "silent" but ringable towers in the area should be circularised, requesting them if possible to send anyone who had previously done any ringing. This might not provide very good material, but it would at least be an attempt to get a silent tower ringing again.-Yours faithfully,
R. J. PALMER.

PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED

Dear Sir,-I should like to point out that the composition of Lessness Surprise Major (" Ringing World," "page 19, 1966) was rung to Uxbridge Surprise Major at Finedon, Northants. on June 5th, 1965 , under my name. -Yours faithfully,

RINGERS' MANUAL OF REFERENCE

Dear Sir ,-We regret to have to disappoint some of your readers in advising them that the second (revised) edition of Part I of the above series has now been sold out ("Bell Handling and Control," etc.). Consequently no further remittances for this book should be sent in for the present.

We understand that copies of the book are being "circulated" in some towers and that its value is appreciating. This would seem to indicate that there may be a further demand, especially as there is an expanding influx of beginners to the art. If there is sufficient positive indication to the publishers (College of Campanology) of a potential substantial demand, the Administrative Committee will consider the issue of a still further edition of this Part, with its unique treatment of the subject.

Meanwhile the issue of Part II on " Method Structure" is going ahead, and will shortly be advertised in these columns. It has been very favourably reviewed.-Yours faithfully,

ANDREW LAWREY,
S/Capt. (D), R.N. (Rtd.),

GRANDSIRE ROYAL

Dear Sir,-The ringing of a peal of Grandsire Royal seems to have started an ininteresting discussion in "The Ringing World." I never heard any Grandsire Royal rung so have no opinion on it, but 1 did hear the only peal of Grandsire Maximus rung in this century so far as I know.
It was rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham, early in 1910, and figures in the late A. P. Smith's list of peals published recently. The late Harry Withers and myself stood in the Bull Ring and heard it all from start to finish, during which time Harry scribbled industriously in a book, and at the end had the composition jotted down. How many could do this?

At this distance of time it would be foolish if I made any attempt to size up the method as heard, but I do know that it was beautifully struck, the small bells "pinking" between the big ones without touching, and can remember the curious effect as the tenor and other large bells, having made "knocks behind." suddenly turned down among the smaller bells. Mr. Withers' remark at the end was: "It was worth doing once, any-way."-Yours sincerely.
P. LAFLIN.

HOVE HAD NOT A CARILLON

Dear Sir,-I was under the impression that a carillon was an instrument of 23 or more bells, tuned in a chromatic scale. If this assumption is correct, then your correspondent is incorrect in saying that Hove Town Hall had a carillon of 12 tells.

I think that clarification on this terminology is needed. I would suggest that mechanisms of under 23 bells, either arranged chromaticallv or diatonically, are in fact chimes. I would therefore state that a carillon is an instrument of 23 or more bells, tuned chromatically. This would mean that the statement in "Bells Through the Ages" by Nicholls is incorrect, because although there are 24 bells in that tower, judging from their respective uses, and weights, they are not tuned chromatically. Similarly, the statement that the 13 Taylos bells at Bradford Town Hall comprise a carillon is incorrect as these bells are in a diatonic scale.-Yours faithfully.

LETTERS-Continued

GROTON AND GROTONIAN
Dear Sir-Is the answer to Russell Young's letter in your January 7th issue as simple as it appears, namely, that since both principles are basically Stedman, both principles are basically "proven" (if "proven" means "true to a plain course ")?
Mind you, I'll bet Russell Young would have some fun watching some of us Stedman fans, who are not au fait with Stedman Sixes' construction trying to ring his principles as "simple old Stedman."-Yours faithfully, W . H. JACKSON.
Kingston upon Thames.

"AMERICAN STEDMAN"

Dear Sir,-Regarding Mr. Russell Young's two principles, both run to 18 sixes giving a plain course on each of 108 changes. Boin seem to me to be true as far as this.
Except as a short service touch, when, say, filling in an odd five minutes or so, the P.C. alone is not of much use. The principles would have to run to 5,000 changes or more to be acceptable.
Mr. Young does not say how he would do this, but it is usual to introduce a call which varies the course of the bells from their normal P.C. and prolongs the ringing to any length required.
It is here where proof becomes a problem. Repetition can occur and this is a falseness which is not tolerated in the Exercise on any account. Both Groton and Grotonian have defects which can lead to this.
In Groton it is seen that when changing from one six to the next the changes are only triple and not quadruple as they are in the rest of the six. At the dividing line the bells in places 1, 4,9 stand still. One six is incourse and the next out-course and so on alternately.
Again, in Grotonian it is seen that the hells $5,8,7,9$ remain in the behind positions for 12 changes and that $1,3,2,6$ remain in the front positions for 12 changes.
Both the above defects create a liability to falseness and one has to be vigilant in proving to detect the same. From my experience it takes a lot of time and spare paper and, of course, study before you start. W. G. W.'s new book helps and so does Trollope's "Stedman.". There is, too, plenty of practice each week in "The Ringing World" proving the new peals found therein.
Yes, Mr. Young, there is merit in both these inventions of yours. It ever they catch on over here I think they would become known as "American Stedman."-Yours sincerely.

REDDITCH BELLS

Dear Sir,-In the report of the Redditch County School outing it was stated that the Redditch bells had only been chimed for very many years. This is not correct. occasionally pass through Redditch on Sunday evenings and have heard the bells ringing for Evensong with the Salvation Army band providing some opposition near the church. Just over a year ago 1 took part in some ringing with the local band on a Sunday evening.-Yours faithfully,

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

 St. Albans DistrictIn spite of the bitterly cold weather, ringers from all parts of the county "dropped in" to the annual District meeting held in St. Albans on January 15th. The eight bells at St. Michael's and the ten at St. Peter's were both rung open during the afternoon. St. Michael's under the direction of Mr. Keith Walpole and St. Peter's under Mr. Gerald Penney.

The Rev. Andrew Bradley led the service at St. Peter's and the Rev. Mr. Woodlay (who occasionally "went up for a pull") gave the address. Afterwards about 55 ringers sat down to tea in St. Peter's Institute.

Mr. Brian Barker, the Association president, presided at the business meeting. Mr. George Austin said a few words about the late Dudley Wellington, of Hatfield, and those present stood in silence.

Minutes of the last annual District meeting and the secretary's report were read, and the statement of accounts approved. When discussing the Voluntary Bell Fund. Mrs. Amy Coburn reminded everyone that, with the in creasing cost, a far larger fund is needed nowadays in order to give a substantial amount.

Election of officers: Mr. Roger Brown reelected District secretary, Mr. Gerald Penney Ringing Master, and Miss Julia Fellows "Ringing World " representative the District Committee re-elected en bloc; Mrs. Coburn and Gerald Penney were elected General Committee members.

The list of towers and methods for 1966 were approved and it was regretted that the Abbey was unavailable for the next meeting on February 19th. The proposed District outing to the Carter Ringing Machine was discussed, the resolution going forward that the secretary should find another tower to ring at if it was not possible to visit the machine. The secretary replied in that case he would like names and 10 s. per head by the next District meeting

A resolution to hold further courses and more practice meetings was approved; a higlı standard course in the form of a symposium would possibly be held shortly.

Votes of thanks concluded proceedings and evening ringing at St. Peter's included Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Marlborough Branch

The first monthly meeting of the New Year was held at West Overton when, despite a bitterly cold day, a fairly good attendance of members resulted. Visitors included two from Isleworth and one from Enford.

It was not possible to arrange tea at West Overton, but the Guild service was held there with the Vicar officiating. After tea at a Marlborough cafe the party adjourned to nearby Mildenhall for the evening ringing.

Thanking the Vicar of West Overton and Capt. Mansfield-Robinson for their efforts in somewhat difficult circumstances, Mr. George Newman (chairman) expressed the hope that the illness in the Captain's family would soon be a thing of the past.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Ashford District

Over 80 people were present for the service and tea at the first quarterly meeting of the Ashford District at their home tower of St . Mary's, Ashford, on January 8th.

The service was conducted by the Rev. W. G. Chesham, the lesson read by Mr. D. Rundle, captain of the Ashford ringers, and Miss Anne Barber, of Folkestone, was the organist. The offertory, given to the Tower Restoration Fund, amounted to $£ 315 \mathrm{~s}$.
After tea the film on "Washington Cathedral" was shown by the generosity of Mr. Willis and was much appreciated by all.
The hon. secretary's District report and balance sheet showed 183 resident practising members and 35 honorary members. Receipts were $£ 522 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d . Membership remained almost the same as the previous year. There were nine meetings and average attendance showed an improvement to 42.

Mr. D. L. Cawley, one of the distinguished visitors, thanked the curate and the organist for their services, Mr. Willis for providing the film and Mr. A. Berry for operating it, and Miss M. Jones and Mr. Rundle for making all the arrangements.
Ringing on what is now one of the finest rings of eight in the county continued until 9 o'clock and ranged from rounds to Surprise Major under the direction of Mr. N. J. Davies, the Ringing Master. Willesborough and Great Chart bells were also rung during the afternoon.

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY AT NEWCASTLE

On the afternoon of Friday, November 26th. a minibus and a car left Manchester to attend the Northern Universities' meeting at Newcastle. Depth of snow and lack of time prevented us from ringing at Middleham and the first tower was at 7 o'clock at Barnard Castle. We spent the night as the only guests at the local youth hostel. The next morning it was snowing and the journey to Sunderland was difficult. However, the minibus was determined to reach the tower and arrived in time to listen to the cease
After re-raising and ringing on the front six we went to Newcastle and rang at St. John the Baptist's. At Gosforth (10) it was the first time the whole of the party (19) were together, a second car having delayed its start due to the weather. After oushing the minibus out of the snow we went on to Fenham and from there to Newcastle Cathedral. Some of the party rang at Chester-le-Street.
At York Youth Hostel we rejoined the Nottingham contingent. One Manchester car had two punctures and never reached the hostel! Ringing next day was on the 12 at York Minster and thz party again split up. some staying to the service and others ringing at Huntington. The six at Bramham in the afternoon was a tower grab and, after ringing, the Nottingham folk went on their way. The route back to Manchester was via Pudsey for evening service ringing, and Todmorden for liquid refreshment.
Our thanks to Durnam University for organising the Saturday towers, to incumbents and local ringers and to our never (!) tiring drivers.

Northern District

In spite of cold weather, 50 members attended the annual District meeting of the Northern District at Braintree on January 15 th. During the afternoon the bells of St. Michael's were rung until, Evensong.
After a splendid tea, prepared by local ringers and friends, the meeting opened with a speech of welcome by the chairman of Braintree Urban District Council, Mr. E. Brand; this was thought to be unique in the history of the District.
The Master's and secretary's reports showed that Sunday service ringing and membership had been maintained during the year. After a ballot, Mr. R. J. Lindsell was elected District Master, other officers elected being: secretary, Mr. P. Wood; committee, Messrs. A. R. Syder and R. Suckling.

The Right Rev. F. D: V. Narborough, who had been Bishop of Colchester until his retirement, was nominated a life vice-president of the Association.
$\mathbf{M r}$, R . Suckling gave details of arrangements for the District social to be held at Bocking, on February 26th.
After votes of thanks further ringing took place on hand- and tower bells. P.W.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Despite the discouraging weather, the Ladies ${ }^{\text {G }}$ Gild (Kent Branch) held an enjoyable meeting at Eynsford on January 22nd, joint with the Kent County Association (Lewisham District).

Ringing on the eight bells began at 3 p.m. and continued until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar. A delicious tea followed, provided by the ladies of the Lewisham District.
At the short business meeting, with Mrs. Mitchell in the chair six new members were elected, four being juniors. Mrs. Mitchell thanked the company for attending, and several ladies joined the gentlemen in the tower for further ringing.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Rochester District

Evidence of enthusiasm was an attendance of 55 at the Rochester District meeting at Frindsbury on January 15th, when snow and cold easterly winds were blowing over the Mediway area. Frindsbury showed its appreciation by a full choir for the service, ant inspiring address by the Vicar (the Rev. T. G. S. Prentice), providing an excellent tea, and a variety of methods in the well-kept belfry.

The business at the meeting, presided over by the Vicar, was local in character. Eight new members were elected: a coach is to be provided for the Kent County Association annual meeting on Easter Monday; meetings were fixed for 1966 :and a report presented by Mr. D. Osenton of the Association's committee meeting. Thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting such a success were expressed by Mr. F. J. Cheal.

SALISBURY

DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch

The second annual meeting of the Devizes Branch was held on January Ist at Devizes, with the bells of the town's three churches available. The service in St. John's Church was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. W. Williams, and the lesson was read by the captain of St. John's tower, Mr. Davidson. Sixty-five sat down to tea, after which the business meeting was held under the chairmanship of Mr. M. Knee.

The meeting stood in silence to the memory of Mr . Brown, a ringer for over 50 years at Westbury and a former secretary of the Branch.
The secretary, in his report, stated that membership stood at 234 . The attendance at the 11 meetings held during the year had shown an increase and 23 peals had been rung. Two peals had been rung that morning to give a good start to 1966 . These 23 peals were rung in 14 towers with 14 different conductors Forty quarter, peals were rung, including ten half-muffled in memory of Sir Winston Churchill.
Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. N. Knee; vice-chairman, Mr. A. Weeks: secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. Knight Ringing Masters. Mr. E Morris, Mr. D. Nibbs, Mr. C. White. Twelve new ringing members were elected-Holy Trinity, Bradford (two). Corsley (five), All Cannings (one), Bromham (one), St. Mary's. Devizes (three).

Next annual meeting, Bradfrird-on-Avon (provisionally). Next monthly meetings, Holt, Bishop's Cannings and Bromham.

Wimborne Branch

The annual meeting of the Wimborne Branch took place at Wareham (8) on January 15 th and was attended by 40 ringers including the Master of the Guild, the Rev. R. N. Longridge. Ringing on the eight bells ranged from rounds and call changes to Stedman Triples and Cambridge Major. The Rector, the Rev. J. C. Wallis, gave a most interesting address at the service.
After an excellent tea a long and lively business meeting followed. Officers elected for 1966 were: Chairman, Mr. L. J. Lockyer: vice-chairman, Mr. D. R. Fuller: secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Robertson. Ringing Masters, Mr. H. I. Pitman and Mr. R. G. W. ters, Mr. H. I. Pitman and Mr. R. G. W.
Robertson: committee members, Mr. G. Grant and Mr. P. Keough.

The secretary reported that there were 86 ringing members but few of these found themselves able to support ringing meetings. Forty quarter peals had heen rung and fortnightly Minor practices at the Lytchetts had been useful to the faithful few who had attended. It was hoped to organise more social activities in the coming year in order to encourage more members to take an active interest in the Branch, and these included a Branch dinner. cricket match/barbecue and a skittles league.

It is hoped to get the ten bells at Poole ringing again and Branch members have agreed to support weekly practices there on a rota system. Quarterly meetings for 1966 are as follows: April 16th. Wimborne St. Giles and Gussage: July 9th/16th. Swanage and Kingston: October 15th, Lytchett Minster and ston: October 15th. Lytchett Minster and Corfe Mullen; annual, January 21st, Wimborne.

Dorchester Branch

The annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on Saturday, January 15th, when 35 ringers and friends attended.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. K. W. Meiklejohn, the lesson being read by Mr. Richard Duke and the address given by the Rev. H. Brayford. The organist was Mr. Harvey Easton.
An excellent tea was provided in All Saints' Church House by lady helpers, and at the business meeting the following officers were elected for 1966: Chairman, Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth; vice-chairman, Canon E. B. Brooks; Ringing Master, Mr. J. W. Rose; Deputy Ringing Master, Mon, secretary Mr A. J. Slade; assistant hon. secretary, Miss B. J. Dyke: committec members, Miss P. Boalch and Mr. G. Goringe.

In his report for 1965, the hon. secretary stated that membership of the Branch stood at 140 , a slight decrease on the previous year. Quarter peals had been rung at six different lowers, Puddletown bells had been rehung but unfortunately a crack had been discovered in the tenor bell at Fordington. Eighteen new members were elected at the meeting, including ringers from Upwey tower, who had applied for reaffiliation.
Quarterly meetings during 1966 are (subject to permission) at Preston, Puddletown and Piddletrenthide, and also a joint meeting with the Wimborne Branch. Branch practices: Litton Cheney, February 12th; Puddletown. February 26th: Cattistock, March 12th; Piddlehinton, March 26th: Charminster, April 16th; and Maiden Newton, May 7th.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Guildford District

A suggestion at the annual meeting of the Guildford District on January 17 th , held in the belfry of St. Nicolas' Church, Guildford, was a competition to find the most promising a competition to find the most promising committee

Mr. W. Savill, District Ringing Master, presided and the meeting stood in remembrance of W. Beeson (Cranleigh), Leslie Hunter (Shalford) and E. A. Etheridge (St. Nicolas', Guildford). Other losses were four Surprise ringers from Holy Trinity who had left Guildford, and Miss Pam Warren, of Merrow, who had gone to Australia.
The District accepted responsibility for ringing the Cathedral bells on the fourth Sunday in each month.
District officers elected were: W. Savill, Ringing Master: Miss Diane Sireet (Godalming), hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. J. Payton (Chiddingfold), Assistant Ringing Master.
The service in St. Mary's Church was conducted by the Guild Master, Mr. D. A. R. May) and ringing took place in the three central Guildford churches.

Farnham District

The expected pep talk was forthcoming at the annual general meeting of the Farnham District on January 22nd from the District Master (Mr. Tom Page). In forthright terms he complained of lack of support at meetings and practices. "If you don't support me, I and practices. have no duties to perform. To sum up, I am becoming a little bit tired of being captain with a crew of deserters."
The retiring secretary, Mr. D. P. Elsmore. was thanked for the able way he had carried out his duties over the past four years, while attending elasses three evenings a week. The secretary reported that two towers in the District were dead, with no ringing. Twelve peals had been rung and the average attendance at meetings was 39.6 .
Most of the officers were re-elected. The new secretary is Miss Beryl Simpson, 45, Southwood Road, Cove, Farnborough, and Mr. C. Champion is the Assistant Ringing Master.

The Rector, Canon Hedley Wilds, conducted the service. The theme of his address was "Unity" with special reference to "the Brotherhood of Ringets

Change Ringing in the Newcastle Area

By RODNEY A. YEATES

ALL SAINTS, NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE (Eight bells, 19 cwt.$)$
The fine, though now derelict. Church ot All Saints hes on the site of an older building. This was constructed in $1150-1190$ It is recorded that in 1688 metal from a statue of James II, recovered after being tossed into the Tyne, was used partly towards All Saints', and partly towards St. Andrew's bells. I! is not clear how many bells there were then in the church, but in 1696 a ring of five cast by Christopher Hodshon was installed. In 1790, however, the old church was in such a poor state that it was destroved and a new one built on the site.

Here in 1797 a Whitechapel ring of eight was installed. In the same year they were rung to a peal of Grandsire by the Union Society in celebration of Admiral Duncan"s victory at Camperdown. Further peals of Grandsire followed in $1830,1842,1848$ and 1849.

When the Association was first started the bells were rung occasionally by the St. John's and Old Society ringers. In March, 1883, the first 5,040 in the city since the decline of the Union Society was rung on them. In about 1887 owing to the support of an enthusiastic incumbent a local band was started, but did not seem to progress very far. In 1890 the bells became unringable after deteriorating for years.

In 1892 they were rehung and a band started by C. L. Routledge. Under William Holmes and then F. J. Harrison some change ringing was done In about 1899, however, there was a lapse into call changes.

The next change ringing by a local band here was in about 1937. Grandsire Doubles was best rung and George Cross was the winging Master. Soon after the war the R church was burnt out. the bells fell to the ground and were broken. They have not been replaced.

ST. MATTHEW'S,

NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE

\text { (Eight bells, } 31 \mathrm{cwt} \text { I } \mathrm{qr} \text {.) }

St. Matthew's Church lies in the worst ares of Newcastle's slums. On Tuesday, October 22 nd , 1895, a new ring of bells was dedicated in this new parish by Bishod Wilberforce of Newcastle. The bells. a Taylor ring, were bequeathed by Miss Margaret Naters. Even at the opening it was noted that the tower oscillated far too much for comfort. However, a band was soon started under William Holmes, William Story and other St. John's ringers The most prominent ringers were Samuel O. and Ernest E. Ferry. E. E. Ferry was an engineer, locksmith and belihanger by profession, and hence particularly useful as a ringer. By 1897 the band rang 15 720 's and a quarter peal. In 1899 a peal of Plain Bob Triples, with only two outsiders. was rung at Hexham. However, in the same year the architect pronounced the tower unyear the architect pronounced the tower unsafe and ringing was stopped. The Ferrys moved to the Cathedral.
The bells have not been changed for a lighter ring due, it is said, to the fact that they are a legacy. They may be chimed; at present even this is not done, due to a lack of servers.

ST. ANDREW'S, NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE

 (Six bells, 18 cwt .)In Newgate Street, one of the main shopping streets of Newcastle, is the old Norman Church of St. Andrew, founded in 1175-85. The bells were hought by public subscription and cast by R. Phelps of London in 1726 . In 1826 two local ringers published a pamphlet to the general effect that the bells were a very fine ring. It is recorded in the Cathedral that a St. Andrew's ringer took part in one of the Union Society peals.

A: the time of the general revival in 1875 the Old Society rang a 720 Grandsire Minor here, said to be the first in 16 years. In 1879 an unsuccessful attempt to start a band here was made (it is not clear by whom). George Potter (later of Gosforth), a future Association secretary, was taught here. The bells lapsed into disuse. In 1881 the tenor and in 1884 the fourth were cracked by "clocking. In 1890 they were described by C. L. Routledge as "perfectly unringable, and in fact no one alive has rung on them.

Recently there has been talk of a restoration. It seems, however, that only a carillon will be installed. It is said that Major Anderson (of Cathedral fame) left money for two trebles (for which there is room). The churchwardens, however, turned this down on the ground of the supposed instability of the tower.

ST, HILDA'S, SOUTH SHIELDS

(Eight bells, 9 cwt .1 qr .15 lb .)
In the centre of the large industrial town of South Shiclds is the ancient Church of St. Hilda. This is probably on the site of a religious house founded by St. Hilda in 648. A ring of six was installed here in 1764 by Lester and Pack of Whitechapel. In 1847 the tenor was recast and about 1877 a change ringing band was started here, by whom it is not clear. If there were any really old Tynemouth ringing records extant, these, I suspect, would provide the clue. This new band in 1878 rang about 100720 's and in 1885 broke Stockton-on-Tees Association's record of 111720 's in 16 methods in a year by ringing 134 720's in nine methods. In 1886 the band followed Stockton's example and had their bells augmented. Two attemots for a local eight-bell peal in 1887 just failed. Towards the end of the century, however, the band flagged and in 1892 were receiving help from North Shields. In 1901 they left the Association.
From 1901 to 1910 there seems to have been little local ringing. Then a photographer called Warren taught some ringers, among them Mr. William Robson. After the war Mr. Robson took charge of the tower. Untul 1933 he had only a poor band, capable of Grandsire Doubies and Plain Bob Minor, but then, thanks to his fund-raising efforts, the bells were rehung. The standard of ringing improved soon after. By 1938 a well-established Minor band, up to Cambridge, was attached to the church. After World War II the band continued to advance. On February 1st, 1953, the local band rang a peal of Grandsire Triples. On Mr. Robson's removal to Newcastle in 1953, Mr. C. N. Lea took charge. At present the standard has somewhat fallen.

Bells silenced for William Pitt

Under the heading " 200 Years Ago" the following appeared in "The Western Gazette"
Oi: Wednesday the Rt. Hon. William Pitt, Esq. favoured the town of Taunton with his company, and a great many gentlemen of the first rank dined with him at the Fountain tavern. The bells of both parish churches were rung on his arrival but were soon silenced and ordered not to ring at all this time.

After a lapse of many years an old custom was revived at Ross-on-Wye by ringing the bells of the Parish Church half-muffled on Holy Innocents' Day. The muffles were left on to ring out the O!d Year, and taken off at five minutes to midnight to ring in the New Year
The recent peal of Cambridge at Sunbury-on-Thames. Middlesex, in which six of the hand were local ringers, was rung to pay tribute to Westminster Abbey on the 900th anniversary of its foundation. particularly as it was on land belonging to Abbot Dunstall of Westminster that Sunbury was founded in 962.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Kent County annual general meeting will be held at Bexley.
The peal published on page 49 rung at Huish Episcopi is a duplicate
The ringer of the treble in the peal rung at Halling, Kent (page 51), was Christıne M. Webb.
The treble ringer in the peal of Grandstre Doubles rung at Llangarron. Herefordshire, on December 18 th was Ann Butcher, and not Ann Brewer, as stated.

With the peal at Brockworth, Glos, on January 1st, Miss Valerie Willard completed the Grandsire "family" on both hand- and tower bells.

Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston has just been elected a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries. He writes that there seems to be four of them who ring. With one more it might be worth going for a peal of Doubles at St. Bartholomew-the-Great or St. Lawrence, Ipswich.
Susan R. Restall will long remember her first peal attempt, one of Plain Bob Minor at Catherington, Hants. Until the peal started she was under the impression that she was going to ring a quarter peal. After two extents she lost her glasses through the rope catching them. However, she continued to put up a very good performance.
Congratulations to the Humphrey Perkins School Campanological Society, who rang their 100 th peal at Birstall on January 8th. The method was Plain Boh Royal (" in hand ') and it was rung by past scholars of the school as a compliment to Mr. B. Stedman Payne. the conductor. who taught the remainder of the band to ring handbells.

IPSWICH BELLFOUNDERS

Trevor A. Bevis, a valued contributor to "The Ringing World," has written a booklet "The Ipswich Bellfounders," which John Hilton of Hadlow, Tonbridge, has published. price 2s. The book is a gift to the restoration fund of St. Mary-le-Tower. Ipswich, and copies can be purchased from Mr. George Pipe, 8, Lansdowne Road. Ipswich.
Introduced to the reader are Juhn and Michael Darbic, of the 17th century, and Alfred Bowell. Michael Darbie was a true nomad and a third-rate founder, who gained unenviable notoriety by recasting the bells of Merton College, Oxford. His brother John is described as " a fairly good craftsman, no worse than average, and on rare occasions outstanding." Between 1658 and 1691 he alone cast 158 bells for his native county.
In 1964 "The Ringing World" published the life story of Alfred Bowell-written ty Trevor A. Bevis-and it is handy to have the salient features of a busy and varied life in heok form. Much of his work was in Northamptonshire, but in Ipswich he did rehang the 30 cwt . tenor at St. Mary-le-Iower. It was in this tower he rang his first peal "in hand " and his first on lower bells. A part of his business was renovating and rehuilding church clocks, and from 1896 until the year of his death he carried out the maintenance of the carillon machine at St. Clement's Church.

ENTICING THE VISITOR

The January issue of "Coming Events in Britain" has a most knowledgable article on ringing by John Camp entitled "The Music of the Bells." It is illustrated with appropriate pictures-the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral revolving, an old bellringer at Headcorn. Kent, a company standing at the ropes waiting for the signal to start a quarter peal at Newdigate, and finally one of the lofty majesty of Boston Stump, possibly selected because of its association with Boston, Mass.
There are. however, two little slips. The writer suggests that even a six-bell peal takes over three hours and that the Cumberland Youths Society was founded in 1671. Trollope, in "The College Youths." gives the date as September 6th, 1747 , and incidentally dismisses as a pretty tale London Scholars ringing peal at Shoreditch to welcome the Duke of Cumberland home in 1746 after the Battle of Culloden. It would not surprise us to hear of many overseas visitors coming into our belfries this summer lured by the delightful picture of the Exercise John Camp has presented.

MID-DAY SNOOZE

Villagers of Colne Engaine, Essex, were mystified by the tolling of the church bell. The church was locked but the bell tolled on and on until the Rector, the Rev. F.J. Griggs, arrived home. He at once went to the church and found that a workman, who went there for a lunchtime snooze, had been locked in. While he slept, the Rector, before going out, had locked the church for the day.

HIS OWN GREAT ADVENTURE
Mr. W. J. Moorey. of Elstead, a well-known Guildford Guild ringer, has been touring Australia, having crossed from Perth to Sydney and rung in the principal towers. He writes to his Guildford friend. Mr. W. Savill, from Bunbury, W.A. He sails for Fingland on February 24th, arriving on Easter Monday (April 4th).

HEAVITREE PARISH CHURCH BELLS, EXETER
The eight bells of Heavitree Parish Churcls are at present being dismantled by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. of Loughborough and are to be rehung on ball bearings and supplied with new fittings.
It was hoped that the Church Authorities would have given serious consideration to the augmentation to a ring of ten bells, but unfortunately funds are at present unavailable for this work. This is to be regretted, particularly as Exeter's only ring of ten at St. Sidwell's was destroyed by enemy action during the last war, and it is not intended to replace it. The bells of Heavitree Church were cast by John Taylor in 1897 and were provided partly by private donations and partly by public subscription and were dediparted by public subscription and were dedishop of Crediton on Christmas Eve, 1897.
The cost of rehanging is in the region of $£ 500$, and any ringers who would care to make a contribution towards the renovation of this famous ring are asked to send donations to the Vicar, Preb. E. Royle, The Vicarage, Heavitree, or to the Ringing Master. Mr N. Mallett, Blaisewood, 61 , Butts Road, Heavitree. It is hoped to have the bells back by the beginning of April, and a date will be announced later when the bells are to be reopened.

LIN-CAMPANOLOGY

A new word has been coined by the Lincolnshire Canners l.td. in selling their procolnshire Canners litd in selling their proor the art of till ringing.
Thoughts of Tennyson came to Albert E. Garbett as he read the advertisement:
"Ring out the old " (Campanology).
"Ring in the new " (Campanology).
Ring bells and tills across the snow,
'Tis profits make the old world go.

CLOSED SHOP POLICY

The new incumbent of a church in the Fly Diocese has found a new band of five ringers with a new Ringing Master, so the bells are ringing again after several months of silence. A notice in the parish magazine states that no other ringer or ringers must enter the tower without the permission of the Ringing Master or the Vicar. "I wonder," writes N, "what sort of a Christian way of life this particular parson is trying to teach."

MR. NORMAN CHADDOCK'S HOME

 TOWERBy calling the neal of Spliced Little Bob Royal at Rotherham on December 31st, Mr. Norman Chaddock completed 75 peals on Rotherham bells. Of these he conducted 501 Many were predominantly local band peals and included many "firsts" and "firsts in the mettod." There were also peals of Caters, Royal, Surprise Major and Stedman Triples by bands who were exclusively his own pupils from handling a rope.
"Ruston News," the works newspaper of Ruston and Hornsby Ltd., Lincoln. has a double-page feature article describing the Kolokol, the great bell of Moscow, and a visit to Mears and Stainbank's.
Mr. Andrew G. Craddock informs us that the length of the handbell peal of Double Bob Major rung at Gosforth (page 36) was 5,088 changes and not 5,008 as submitted.

PEAL INACCURACIES

We are asked by a member of the bands to make the following corrections to the reports submitted by the conductor:

Ringer of 3rd at Stotfold (page 49), 4th at Litlington (page 50) and 3rd at Wallington (page 51), Robert D. Bellamy.

Peal, Litlington, following extents: (1), Kent T.B., (2, 6) Cambridge Surprise, (3) St. Clement's College Bob, (4, 5, 7) Plain Bob. Peal; Amersham: Methods rung Norwich York, Durham, Ipswich, Beverley, Surfleet and Cambridge.

Peal, Wallington: Following extents: (1-2) Grandsire; (3-6) St. Simon's Bob: (7-22) Plain Bob; (23-26) Grandsire; (27-42) Plain Bob.

THREE GENERATIONS AT MAIDS MORETON

Three generations took part in a quarter of Grandsire Doubles at Maids Moreton, Bucks, on January 6th. Grandfather W. H. Yates, now 70, rang the tenor, his son, W. A. Yates, conducted from the fourth, and the latter's conducted from the fourth, and the latter \& son, Richard, who is nine years old, rang his first quarter from the treble. Others in the quarter were $G$. $W^{\prime}$ Holland 2, $G$ Orchard 3, and H. Stopps 5.

MR. R. H. DAW'S 100

Mr. R. H. Daw, Ringing Master of St. John's, Peterborough, who recently completed the Surprise Maior alphabet. has now rung his 100 th peal. His list reads:

Caters: Grandsire 1. Major: Plain methods 9. Treble Bob 1 Surprise 51 (38 methods, 2 and 4 spliced. conducted 1) 61. Triples: Grandsire 2. Minor: Plain Bob 6, 2-7 methods 19 (conducted 1), 8-18 methods 9,34 . Doubles 6 and eight methods 2. To:al 100 (conducted 2).

A LIVERPOOL TOWER

Th : Childwall Mail" has in its January issue an article on Childwall (Liverpool) bells whose Ringing Master is Mr. M. E. Dodd a Customs official. This tower has one of those pleasing mixtures of society that is one of the attractions of ringing. The Assistant Ringing Master is a graduate apprentice with the Automatic Telephone Company. and other members are a solicitor, a member of the Central Electricity Board staff, a student apprentice with G.P.O.: another apprentice. four secondary schoolboys and Miss Helen O'Connor, a secretary.

Childwall is justifiably proud of its old board in the ringing room, which reads:

If for to ring a man comes here,
Ringing sacred, its laws revere.
These ringing laws must be well used,
That ringers may not be abused. If ringer wears his spur or hat, One quart of ale he pays for that. If while he rings, his bell o'erthrow, Sixpence he pay before he go. But if he's heard to swear or curse, Demand one shilling of his purse If to these laws he doth conform, The ringer's part he may perform.
We hope the appeal in the newspaper for help towards the $£ 100$ required for urgent repairs will be forthcoming.

"DE MINIMUS NON CURAT LEX" (The Law Does Not Concern Itself With Trifles)

By D. J. DERRICK

THE right to ring church bells is an ever-recurring topic of conversation. I have looked into several tomes of law on this subject and the following is what I have gleaned:
The control of church bells belongs to the incumbent, but to constitute an ecclesiastical offence it is not sufficient to allege that the ringing complained of took place without his consent; it must be against his wishes either expressed in a general or particular prohibition.

The property of the bells and bellropes (no mention is made as to wheels, pulleys, etc.) is vested in the churchwardens as a quasi-corporation, but their care is transferred to the parochial church council, though private individuals may have rights. The churchwardens must allow the bells to be rung in connection with divine service under the direction of the incumbent. They have jointly with the incumbent a control as to the time when the bells may be rung, though in the case of Martin v. Nutkin (1724) an agreement entered into as to the ringing of church bells was held enforceable by the injunction by a vestry against the incumbent and succeeding churchwardens.

People complaining about the ringing is by no means a modern malady as can be seen in the case of Evans v. Lisle (1835) in which in an action for placing lighted brimstone in a church tower, whereby the plaintiff, who, with others, was ringing the bells, was annoyed by the fumes. The defendant pleaded the general issue, and that the plaintiff was wrongfully in the church tower making a disturbance, and that the rector requested him to depart. and that as he would not the defendant, by the command of the rector, placed and lighted the brimstone, to cause the plaintiff to depart. Held, that to support the special plea, evidence must be given of the request to depart and also of the rector's authority to the defendant to put the brimstone; also that to entitle the plaintiff to a verdict on the grounds of the general issue the jury must be satisfied that the plaintiff sustained some substantial damage from the fumes of the brimstone.

The use of bells as sanctus bells is illegal and the courts have refused by faculty alterations to enable one of the bells of a church to be used from the interior of the church as a sanctus bell (see the Rector and Churchwardens of Capel St. Mary, Suffolk, and Packard, 1927). I cannot find any ruling as to the Pudding Bell or Pancake Bell. A sexton and his assistants (if any) may have included in their duties the ringing of bells.
Lastly I come to the right to ring church bells. In the Book of Common Prayer it states that the curate that ministereth in every Parish-Church or Chapel, being at home, and not being otherwise reasonably hindered, shall say the same in the same in the Parish-Church or Chapel where he ministereth, and shall cause a Bell to be tolled thereunto a convenient time before he begin.
There is, however, an authority in the case of Soltaus v. De Held (1843) where an injunction was granted by a court of equity after a trial by law to restrain the ringing of the bells of a Roman Catholic church, so as to occasion any nuisance, disturbance and annoyance to the plaintiff who resided very near to the church.

I am unable to find any definite directions as to change ringing, ringing of peals, practice nights, etc. The law of nuisance could well apply, indeed the above case was brought in this tort. The only satisfactory way to find out would be to ask the Court to make a Declaratory Order, stating also the amount of ringing which is reasonable, though costs involved would be high.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

Cathedral Bells Conditions

THE Coventry Diocesan Guild held a very successful quarterly meeting at Rugby on January 15 th. Although it was an extremely cold day the turn-up was most gratifying, but the standard of ringing (to say the least) left much to be desired. No doubt the very cold atmosphere had something to do with it.

The service was, as one had come to ex pect of the Rector, the Rev. D. M. Davies, most unusual, and was much enjoyed by all present. He opened by asking which form of service they preferred-Evensong or their own as in the handbook. Having decided, he then asked which hymns they preferred, and then proceeded with the service. He invited Patsy Harris, of Brinklow, who is only eight years old, to read the lesson, which she did very ably with promptings from the Rector of some difficult words. In a short address he welcomed the ringers to St. Andrew's for a very special reason-the continuous ringing would frighten the pigeons away from the church and he hoped they would stay away (the pigeons, not the ringers) for good, as they did an awful lot of damage.
The business meeting, which followed tea at a self-service cafe, was held in the ringing chamber. Before dealing with the agenda. the president, Mr. A. H. Beamish, referred to the deaths of Mr. Ashley, of Bulkington, and Mr. Peck, of Rugby. The company stood as a token of respect.

Coventry Cathedral bells was the first item on the agenda. The general secretary said he had previously been assured by the Provost that, provided a satisfactory scheme could be prepared, he would give all the help he could to support them in their efforts to get the bells ringing. He wanted assurance on three points: that there would be no damage to the tower; that sound control would be introduced so that the bells when rung in practice would cause no annoyance locally; and that the cost would not be a charge on Cathedral funds. It was felt that these assurances could be given provided that the bells could be hung below the groined ceiling: to this the Provost had agreed to give his support.

The secretary also stated that Holy Trinity, Coventry, bells would shortly be sent to the bell foundry, but it could be some years hefore they would be back in the tower as a serviceable ring as the spire had to be rebuilt before the bells could be put in. He had also learned that Alveston bells were to be augmented to six in the very near future.
Five new members were elected from Wolvey, two from Rugby, one each from Chilvers Coton, Corley and Dunchurch, and one non-resident. Mr. D. E. Beamish and Mr. H. Windsor were re-elected for a further term on the Central Council.
Leamington Spa was proposed as the place for the annual general meeting in April next, with Allesley as the alternative. The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks and the evening ringing was much improved on that of the afternoon's.
J. L. G. H.

SUFFOLK GUILD

A very well attended meeting of the N.W. Suffolk ringers was held at Elveden memorial tower. Mr. C. Hancock, the new chairman, was welcomed, and two new members proposed. An evening meeting is to be held at Great Barton on February 12th, and another on March 12 th at Easton. Mrs. J. Paul and helpers were warmly thanked for providing tea. Evensong was conducted by the Rev. Newton Gates, the lesson read by Mr. George Pipe, and Miss Joan Ivings was the organist.

PERTH'S OLDER BELLS

By Ranald W. M. Clouston, B.Sc., F.S.A. (Scot.)

FROM the antiquarian point of view St. John's Kirk, Perth, has one of the very hest collections of ancient bells in the whole of Britain. In all there are eight which date from pre-Reformation times, a total more than in any other church in the British Isles, so a few comparisons may be of interest.
The oldest is one of about seven cwt., which hangs in the apex of the side belfry on the north side of the spire. The inscription is in fine ornamented Lombardic capitals with an initial cross, saying in Latin: "Hail Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with you." It dates from the 14th century, probably the first half, and bells of this age in Scotland are comparatively rare. Other known examples of this period are two at Lochmaben cast about 1300 and the Skellat bell in Kirkwall Cathedral. These three bells are, however, comparatively small, being less than a third of the weight of the Perth bell. The older Lochmaben bell is said to have been given to the church by King Robert the Bruce, and like the Perth bell was probably cast in England.

Next in point of age is a bell of about two cwt. inscribed with one exception in a black letter small alphabet in Latin: "Behold the Lamb of God," with ornamental cross, a shield, a crown and a cock. This bell dates from the 15 th century and is also probably English. It is to be seen on the floor of the south aisle.

THE BOURDON

The bourdon or largest bell in the carillon is dedicated to St. John the Baptist and was cast by Peter Waghevens at Malines or Mechlin, now in Belgium. in 1506 . This bell weighs 21 cwt . 14 lb . and is more than double the weight of any other existing pre-Reformation bell in Scotland
On the waist there is a fine statuette apparently of St. John the Baptist and the founder's mark and floral ornaments. Above and below the inscription are lace-like ornamental bands and the faces of the loops on the crown are ilso decorated. This is the only bell so far discovered in Scotland actually bearing Peter Waghevens' name, but it does appear on an enormous cauldron at Lacock Abbey, Wilts, dated 1500 . Gloucester Cathedral has a clock bell of about 58 cwt . of medizval date, and the Hereford Cathedral tenor of 34 cwt . is pre-Reformation, but this Perth bell must be just about the next largest pre-Reformation bell in the British Isles.

The north porch contains a chime of five bells cast in Malines in 1526 , probably by Peter van den Ghein I. The largest weighs about $1 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{\mathrm{c}}$. and they sound the five lower notes of an octave in the key of $B$ flat. Originally there were six bells to sound the half hours and another to sound the hourall of the same date. The three larger bells are inscribed in Flemish: "I was cast in the year of Our Lord 1526," and on the smaller bells with less room for the inscription the words "of Our Lord" are omitted.

ONLY TWO OTHER PRE-REFORMATION RINGS IN BRITAIN

The interest here is that there are only two other sets of five pre-Reformation bells remaining in Britain, one at St. Bartholomew-the-Great, Smithfield, London, cast by Thomas Bullisdon about 1510, and the other at St . Laurence's, Ipswich, by three founders, all 15 th century.
The bells have been somewhat corroded internally by the action of the sulphurous fumes from coal fires on the copper in the bronze, but there does seem to be evidence that the three lighter bells have been turned in some sort of boring machine a long while ago, to remove metal to flatten the strike notes. If this can be confirmed then we have an extremely early example of tuning sy this method, which is common enough now, but which was not used in England till the end of the 18th century, though we know the Hemony brothers of Amsterdam had such a machine about 1650.

Only the large bell of 1505 is still used ard it is much to the credit of the kirk autborities that the others have been nreseried as examples of the bellfounder's work of long ago. From the Chronicle of S:. Jot:n's Kirk, Perth.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

T
THE 60 members present at the genera! meeting at Guiseley on January 15 th heard with regret that their president for the last 16 years, Archdeacon C. O. Ellison, had decided to retire from office. Mr. William Barton expressed the feelings of all when he said how disappointed members were at the news. He commented on the great amount of time the Archdeacon had given to the work of the Association during his period of office, a time which recalled many happy memories He wished the president good health, es pecially after his recent operation.

Mr. Vernon Bottomley was nominated for election as president in April. If elected then, his wife, Jeanne, will take over as treasurer fol the last of her husband's three-year term Mr. Eric Critchley was nominated as peal secretary for the next three years, and a ballot to decide the four Central Council representatives for 1966-1969 resulted in the election of Critchley, Mr. E. Hudson and
Mr. Critchley,
Moreton.

An invitation from Mr. Hudson to go to Ripon, probably on April 30th, for the annual general meeting, was welcomed and accepted. The Association decided to go north later in the year, too, when Mr. A. Bashforth reported on the possibilities of holding the Snowdon Dinner at Northallerton on October 15 th. (Since the meeting Mr. A. Bashforth and others concerned with the arrangements for the Snowdon Dinner on October 15 th have decided to make the venue the Bridge Hotel. Catterick Bridge, rather than Northallerton.)

A report on the progress of the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies was made by its chairman, Mr. E. Hudson, and he gave news of the one-day course for tower captains, ringing masters and instructors to be held at Selby on March 19th, as well as of the festival in Beverley on May 21st. Mr. C. Moxon announced that the Joint Council's duplicated report would be ready by the end of the month

New members elected were: Susan Mitchell (Huntington), Fiona Dempster (Pudsey), Anne Barker (Scalby), Gillian Scholey (Scarborough). Robert Cater and Gail Blackburn (Wakefield Cathedra!), Alice Baldwin. Michael G. Dodson and Geoffrey Cooper (Leeds University) and two non-resident members. Patricia Rogers (Isleworth) and Mrs. Beryl Hartley (Leicester).

PEALS ON MEETING DAYS

A motion by Mr. Trevor Tarbatt that "The Association regards with disfavour the ringing of peals in a District which is at that time holding its quarterly or annual meeting "was proposed briefly. Mr. W. F. Moreton, proposed briefly. Mr. W. F. Moreton, seconding it, said that there were several ways seconding it, said that there were several ways in which the Association functioned. One of these ways was through its meetings, a way ordered by the rules. Peals were another recognised way, but if the two clashed, the peals should clearly give way. Two of the purposes of meetings were to conduct the business of the Association and to bring ringers into closer relationship. A peal during these aims, and it implied both rudeness to the ringers of the tower where the mecting was being held and to the officials of the District. He concluded with the point that election to and membership of any Society meant obligation to it, and that people whu rang peals on meeting days were either selfish or rebellious.
Mr W Barton supported the motion, pointing out that there used to be an unwritten rule that there would be no peals on meeting days unless there were some special reason for a peal. But he thought it unfarr if the Northern District, for example, could not ring a peal on a Western District meeting day Both Mr. Barton and Mr. Bottomley said that the feeling there was against these peals should be publicised. the latter speaker intimating that the committee's report should emphasise it.

The president also added support and thought the motion could be strengthened with the words " and hopes that every effort will he made to discourage it." The proposer and seconder agreed to this addition.
Mr. N. Chaddock thought that there was scope for the Joint Council to try to coordinate the monthly meetings of the District Societies so that tewer Saturdays in the month were booked up automatically. He said it was a difficult decision for young ringers to make when invited to a peal on their own District meeting day. Mr. W. E. Critchley said that some co-ordination between the District Societies was sadly needed, but thought it very often when there were special occasions for peals.
No one spoke against the motion and it was carried unanimously.
Four towers were available for ringing: The eight and six at Rothwell and Chapel Allerton respectively during the morning: the octaves at Guiseley and Otley during the afternoon and evening. The service at Guiseley was conducted by the Rector, who joined the ringers at tea afterwards, and a vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting. especially to the local company, was preposed by Mr. W E. Critchley. Mr. A. Walsh, in reply, spoke of the long connection his lower had had with the Association, and said he was very pleased everyone had come.

MR. WILLIAM S. HIGGINSON

We regret to record the death of Mr . William Samuel Higginson, aged 61, which occurred suddenly on January 11 th at his home, 5. Grange Cottages. Ellesmere. Shrodshire. Until he had a serious illness some years ago, he was a regular ringer at St. Mears's Parish Church. Ellesmere. A good striker, he had rung 24 peals in the standard methods.

An engineer by trade. Mr. Higginson was a prominent member of the Ellesmere Oddfellows and also belonged to the Fire Service. He is survived bv his father, Mr. William Higginson. also a ringer, who, incidentally. became 89 an January 9 th, and is still ahle to ring at occasional meetings, etc. The deceased also leaves a brother, Mr. Paddy Higginson.
The funeral took place on January 15 ih. the service at St. Mary's Church being conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. N. A. Fenn, with Miss Enid Roberts as organist.

Bill, who had lived in his native Ellesmere all his life, was of a quiet, friendly and reliable disposition and his passing is greatly mourned by all who knew him. T.R.B. mourned by all who knew him. T.R.B.

MR. G. A. PECK

AN APPRECIATION
We at St. Andrew's, Rugby, have lost an esteemed old friend by the passing of Mr . George A Peck. A retired Post Office civil servant of Kingston on Thames and No:tingham, he was a devoted chairman and a staunch followe: of Surrey and Notts cricket. His wife predeceased him many years ago. leaving him spare time to devote to his hohbies, among them being bellringing, which he did not adopt until he was 40 years old. He was m his element in multi-method Doubles touches and splices, but he called a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples in celebration of his 88 th birthday. A couple of years after, however, his doctor advised him against climbing our steep belfry stairs. So acute were his faculties, nevertheless, that he took part in two national chess tournamenis each year; in fact it was on his return from the international chess congress at Hastings that he was taken ill rermily, having drawn one game, at the age of 97 !

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY

Rising high above a modern large town is the Church of St. Bartholomew, Wednesbury. The Vicar, the Rev. G. Owen, after welcoming the Society on the occasion of the recent meeting held on January 22nd, spoke during his address of the ancient treasures to be found in this church, parts of which date back to pre-Norman times. These include two carved screens, an alabaster panelled chancel, a preReformation lectern depicting a tighting cock and a painting of "The Descent from the Cross," by the 17 th century French artist, Jean Jouvenet. Of more recent times there is the excellent ring of ten bells, which was made full use of by members during the dav. A ring of eight, the bells were recast and augmented to ten by $C$. and $G$. Mears in 1854, but we now enjoy the bells as supplied by Gillett and Johnston in 1912 with a renor of 24 cwt 18 lb . in E flat.

After nearly 80 members and friends had partaken of a bountiful tea kindly provided by the Wednesbury ringers, the honorary secretary announced that a Society library was soon to be opened and appealed for any unwanted ringing books that members might like to donate. This was to be operated hv the assistant secretary, Mr. Peter Barker, and would be housed in Lichfield Cathedral Ringing Room. The eight-bell striking competition will take place on April 30th next, and the two test pieces would be either a plain course of Grandsire Triples or a bob course of Plain Bob Major. Entries to be in writing, please, by the next full meeting, at Rushall, on March 19th.

The following new members were elected: Miss C. Slater (Tettenhall) Miss H Bulla and Miss A. C. Richards (Little Aston). Mrs. J. Jones (St. Peter's, Wolverhampton), Miss C. Green (Rushall). Mrs. J. M. Sturrock. P. L. D. Grove and S. C. Matthews (Walsall). Three life members were also elected: Miss H. F. Pardoe (Wolstanton). L. Goodal (Dronfield) and G. Pratt (Bulkington). We most sincerely thank all at Wednesbury who made this another successful meeting.

MIDDLESEX COUNT

The usual warm welcome awaited the North and East District when they visited Stanmore on January 15th. Although the weather was bitterly cold. it did not deter the regular stalwarts from turning, up for an enjoyable afternoon and evening's ringing.

Following a service conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Stephen Kemp, at which Ted Leversuch read the iesson and Bob Hardy played the organ, tea was served in the Church Hall, prepared by the local ringers. A short business meeting followed at which Mr. G. Collins, of Southgate, was elected a ringing member: the provisional election of Mr. Michael J Uphill, of Putney, as a nonresident life member was ratified. Mr. H. G. Hart, chairman, proposed the usual votes of thanks.
E. H. K.

MR. C. RADDON

We regret to report the death of Mr. Cecil Raddon, on January 24th, at the age of 76, after a short illness.
He was a keen and enthusiastic bellringer up to the time of his death and had only retired from his employment as a fitterboilermaker seven weeks previously
Cecil was born in Wiltshire, where he first learned to handle a bell. In the early 1920's he moved to the north-west to reside in Runcorn, and, later, Stockton Heath, where he passed away.
The Saturday nearest to January 5 th, his birthday, was usually set aside for a peal attempt, after which those taking part, along with their wives, were invited by Mrs. Raddon to tea and a pleasant evening.
He was an excellent organiser and for 20 years arranged the annual outing of the Grappenhall Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild. In that time some 120 towers in Lancashire, Yorkshire and Staffordshire were visited, and only one tower visited twice. For 12 years he was secretary of the Branch, a position he only relinquished at the annual meeting in December, so a good friend to many ringers has passed on.

THINGS AINT WHAT THEY USED TO BE

Dear Sir, - On opening my "Ringing World" of January 28 th 1 was surprised to see a "peal" of Stedman Cinques " rung at Leicester Cathedral, on New Year's Eve published in your peal columns. I listened to a good amount of the ringing-I could to a good amount of the ringing- 1 could have heard more but iny nerves couldn' stand it!

The conductor had obviously lowered his so-called "standards" to absolute rockbottom to allow such rubbish to go on for over three hours.
The tenor ringer was "putting" his bell in any place from $10 \frac{1}{2}$ to $13 \frac{1}{2}$ and some of the ringers seemed to be having a race to see who could get down 10 lead first, and how fast they could throw in their leadsespecially the backstrokes.

From outside the tower it sounded to n:e that. at the most, only four or five of the band could strike on 12 bells properly. One ringer's comment at the conclusion of the "peal" was: "It ought to have been stopped hefore half an hour had gone by." Surely, if the ringing deteriorates in a peal it is just as much the individual's right to ask the conductor to stop the peal as the conductor's.

During the past year or two the standard of peal ringing at this tower has dropped and dropped and crashed! Not so many years ago the band there used to ring peals in many different Maximus methods, including spliced 12 -methods and the only two peals of Bristol Surprise Maximus ever rung.
1 appeal to the conductor-withdraw this peal from the Leicester Guild records, and to the majority of the band-take your fingers out and carry on the good work of your forbears. I find it extremely annoying when some Leicester ringers are doing their utmost to put Leicester back on the map, as it were, when others are doing just the opposite.
In writing this epistle, it is not my intention to cause any friction between any of the ringers in that peal. or between them and myself, but just an effort to make them realise what a low ebb things have got to in our city as regards good ringing.
May I. in concluding, quote Kipling:
"It ain't the individual, nor the Army as a whole,
But the everlasting teamwork of every blooming soul."

Yours faithfully,

R. KINGSLEY MASON.

THE GROCERS' HALL BELL

Dear Sir,-Further to the correspondence and to the leading article on old London bells, I have now discovered the Qhereabouts of the Grocers' Hall bell, formerly the treble of All Hallows, Staining, following the destruction of the Hall by fire.
The bell was luckily not destroyed, but it is cracked from crown to lip, and has been removed to the Whitechapel Foundry. understand that it is not to be recast but to be refitted and hung. Obviously the noise emitting from it will be unsatisfactory, but the regard of its custodians for antiquity is most laudable.-Yours sincerely, DAVID L. CAWLEY.

ADVICE TO BRISTOL

Dear Sir,-Re Bristol affair. No problem here-just move the tower. They have been known to have altered county boundaries. Yours fathfully,

GRANDSIRE ALONE WILL KILL A BANI)
Deal Sir,-I have followed with interest the recent correspondence on the subject of Grandsire. While admitting that Mr. Marshall s remarks were to a certain extent taitless, I would suggest that this opinion is expressed among ringers much more frequently in private, and is usually taken for granted

There is, I think, no reason for condemning Grandsire on æsthetic grounds-the music is superb-but the great difficulty lies in the application of the method.
At a tower near my home practically nothing hut Grandsire has been rung for 200 years. The band now is reduced to six or possibly seven, and the bells are rung for about ten minutes on Sunday mornings. There is no weekly practice. A few years ago there were several promising learners and one or two ringers who had moved into the town came to practices. Despite this influx. Grandsire continued to be the only method rung. What happened? The visitors went elsewhere and the learners lost interest. Sooner or later this band will die. Young people are not going to start ringing and continue with nothing to hold their interest, no matter how a vinal rany may be. There are 100 many counter-attractions.

The ringer who has been brought up only on Grandsire is at an immediate disadvantage He may be adventurous and go to a meeting: he hears the Master call for Plain Bob: he (the visito:) never knew that there was anything else but Grandsire. There are some, even, who never even reach the stage of going to meetings.

The middle paragraph of "Norving's" letter (page 41) illustrates, I think, the prevailing attitude among certain sections of the Exercise. If this point of view were to be applied to almost any other kind of discipline it would immediately be condemned. Even ringing must be adapted to the needs of an age. The immediate reaction to "Norving's" statement is "So what!" Does he expect us to worship till Doomsday at the shrines of Stedman and Snowdon? This is the trend of antiquarian prejudice which would fortid progress. Moreover, this is the kind of reaction that people expect when they say outrageous things-a holding up of hands in defence of respectability. (Nor do I expect for a moment that Stedman or Snowdon would wish this.)

Mr. Marshall. I think, has drawn attention to what is really a problem, and succeeded in providing "The Ringing World" with an entertaining series of correspondence.-Yours sincerely.

MINOR METHODS ALPHABET

Dear Sir,-In the addenda to his admirable Collection of Minor Methods. Mr. Chant has omitted Bootle Delight ( $x 56 \times 16 \times 56$ $\times 36 \times 34 \times 36$. 1.h. 2nd, 42635), which was pealed at Addington, Surrey, on November 25th. 1964, and appears in "The Ringing World," issue 2779.
Secondly, the figures of Finchampstead Delight, as originally published in "The Ringing World," issue 2809 were ( $x 34 \times 16$ $\times 12 \times 1236 \times 14 \times 56$. 1.h. 2nd, 64523) and not as published in the collection.-Yours, etc.,

INSTIGATOR OF GRANDSIRE ROYAL
Dear Sir,-As instigator and bob caller of the infamous peal of Grandsire Royal, I would like to make some comments on the spate of correspondence.
Firstly, for the benefit of our slower witted brethren, let me point out that Mr. Marshall's letter was a legpull. He wanted to be in the peal but, most regrettably, was away at college preparing for higher things. So he had his bit of fun. The pompous asses, who abound in this art as in most, rose most beautifully, and even you, sir, publish two of their effusions on your front page.
Of course, Mr. Marshall is right in many ways, for teaching beginners method ringing, Grandsire is a positive hindrance, and many bands are stuck in this eternal rut of Grandsire and Stedman.

As regards music, Grandsire on even numbers is a trifle odd, although I doubt if many of your correspondents have sampled its delights beyond possibly a rather shaky plain course. Having rung an enjoyable peal at Beddington some years ago it seemed about time to ring another
In conclusion, to keep the record straight, the peal in question was not very good in spite of the magnificent band.--Yours sincerely,

RICHARD SPEED.
P.S.-All references to Mr. Marshall are, of course, to "the one from Daventry."-R.S.

TAKES EXCEPTION

Dear Sir,-I do not wish to enter the controversy over the Grandsire method except to plead for the omission of comments such as contained in the last sentence of "Nor" ving's" article on the front page of your issue of January 21st.
Norving clearly does not know of Mr. Marshall's ringing ability or knowledge and should refrain from such comments, Mr. Marshall and Norving are entitled to their opinions and should be able to sfate them without any mud-slinging.
The last sentence of Mr. House's article is capable of the same interpretation, and should perhaps have been rephrased ac-cordingly.-Yours faithfully,
P. J. HALL

PRESBYTERIAN RINGS OF BELLS
Dear Sir,-I write to correct two recent false claims in "The Ringing World."
In a recent issue a certain ring in England was claimed as the only ring of bells in a Presbyterian Church. The ring of eight in St. Cuthbert's, Edinhurgh, the ring of eight in St. Mary's, Dundee, and the ring of eight in the High Kirk at Dunblane are others that come to mind.
In a recent issue, Canon Thurlow claims Winchester as the only public school with its own ring of bells. He has forgotten the lightest five in the world at Fettes College in Edinburgh.-Yours faithfully.

"RINGERS REQUIRED" ARGUMENT

Dear Sir.-Permit me to explain that riy seemingly late reply to Mr. Chaddock's letter of December 3rd, 1965, is due to the one month it has taken for that issue of "The Ringing World "' to reach Canada. Little wonder that Mr. Chaddock is unable to understand my "December" dissatisfaction if I tell him that my letter was written following the full column of "free publicity" he obtained in the name of his committee. on another film last July 9th!!
For many years it has appalled me that the official journal of the Central Council is almost exclusively orientated to fancy " peal ringing " and particularly the fraternity who are skilful in just this one aspect of the many in our hobby. Little or no encouragemen: is given to the thousands of struggling ringers. and particularly their harassed teachers, wha have not only in many cases to combat erratic attendance, uninterested clergy, poer belfry maintenance and other problems within the Church, but also public opposition to the noise " of bellringing Therefore my reason for dissatisfaction goes back to July. 1965, when it was observeo that the Education Committee had presumably purchased a print of a film solely aimed to entertain At no lime have I received any letter. ether from the Central Council or its Education Committee, enciorsing any value in "Ringers Required" to the Exercise, nor was any verbal statement made at Cardiff that could be implied as such. If any had been made, then it would have appeared in my advertisements years ago. In fact the A.G.M. report of June 22 nd. 1962 . shows the only complimentary remarks being made by Mr. R. S. Anderson and Mr. G. Dodds: I was not aware that their remarks were official. Thus the hundreds of ringing groups throughout Britain, for whom the film was specifically made, have been left to decide for themselves fo- three past years. whether to spend 30 s . on the film rental or not, being able to base their judgment solely on what 1 write in paid-for advertisements. 1 am afraid that I entirely discount the pro. position that some hundred or so people who saw the film in 1962 can in any way be seriously influencing the groups who need it most in 1966!! The lifeline of the Exercise is entirely in the hands of those who teach learners: if no learners are taught, who in 25 , vears" time will be ringing all these "fancy ", peals? Most of my own ringing activity in Britain and Canada has been spent in the task of teaching. and I have two now active towers in Canada (out of the total of six) 10 prove this point. Therefore in both countries I have been acutely aware of the years of discouragement and difficulty facing the struggling band, and it was to them that I directed in a more universally useful way (than I could ever achieve in my own person! a motion picture sound film. coupling encouragement, education. puhlicity methods, entertainment and, I 3 m told, even emotion. into one.
Mr. Chaddock's unfortunate implication is that i am ohtaining a vast income at the expense of the ringing fraternity when, in truth, no Education Committee could ever have been so lucky to have heen supplied with an audio-visual ald for the use of the with an andio-visual ald for the use of the Exercise in Education at no cost whatever to themselves. My precaution in depositing the film with a responsible film library, which inspects the film after each use, revealed after one such use by a ringing group that the first 30 feet of the film had heen ruined by careless projection. Since the original negative had been cut in order to make the shorter television version, it cost me $£ 40$ specially to make a duplicate negative from which the first 30 feet could only be reprinted. I san assure him that I have yet to recover the £35 cost of the original print, let alone this additional burden!! Also, Mr. Barnett wil confirm that 1 offered both in writing and verbally to pay for the hire of the projector at Cardiff. used also for another commercially made film the same evening.

There was no "secrecy" in the making of Ringers Required "-how could there beevery ringer in Vancouver participated in it. As soon as Mr. Chaddock made it known 18 these pages that the Central Council was interested in a film on ringing I immediatelv wrote to him. in order that some six months later his committee and others who should be interested in such decisions could ascertam for themselves whether the Council needed :o get involved in the complexities of film production. I would go so far as to say that in these circumstances it was the duty of the Education Committee to pive a film offered without "strings attached" the very best screening it could at a general meeting in order that it could properly appraised. Since Mr. Chaddock, in his letter of November 1st, 1961, actually invited me to submit my film for viewing at Cardiff, I assume that he was aware of and in agreement with this responsibility.

It is asked of what am lissatisfied? It is simply the lack of consideration to the official endorsement of $a^{3}$ useful educational film, by a committee now bent on providin? films of entertainment! A film which has, moreover, heen certified as of educational value by your British Ministry of Education :! I ask for nothing more. I find nothing ungentlemanly about justified criticism: but can anything, be more tactless that to look a "gift horse" in the mouth?-Yours very truly.

Ottawa, Canada

Mr. E. A. Barnett writes: Mr. Collins was good enough to offer to accept half the charge for the hire of the projector at Cardiff (his letter to me of May 24th, 1962) and this offer was gratefully accepted.
The Editor disagrees with Mr. Collins that "The Ringing World " is almost exclusively orientated to fancy peal ringing. The Education Committee is part of the Central Council and the Washington film was purchased as a stimulant to ringing. Warm appreciatton was forthcoming at Cardiff when "R Ringers Required "was shown: so high was the regard that the committee dropped the idea of making its own film. Never before has so much attention been given to the training of those who leach learners.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

 Chesterfield DistrictDespite the snow and the bitterly cold weather over 40 members and friends from 12 towers were present when the Chesterfield District's first meeting in 1966 was held in Barlhorough on January 15 th.
The Rector, the Rev. D.J. Edwards, welcomed the District to Bariborough and congratulated the large number of young ringers for making a noble effort to attend on such a day. This sort of enthusiasm was very encouraging to the older ringers and augured well for the future.

Giving details of this year's striking competition provisionally arranged for Old Brampton, the District Ringing Master, Mr. C.J. Hughes (OId Whittington) said the committee would like to see the shield travel around the District rather than at present. With this in mind they proposed to add a new rule wnich, whilst preventing any one tower from wir:ang the shield for more than two consecuive years, would still allow that tower to compete in the contest fo a place in the Assuctation's tinal. This was passed unanimously, as was the election of seven new members, viz: Wendy Stubbins. William Stubbins, Maurice Stubbins. Keith Pitkin and Arthur Parry (Scarcliffe) to, ether with John Wilcox and David Bradley (Clowne).

Advance notice was then given of the forthcoming Association annual dinner at Chesterfield on February 19th, the rincipal glests including the Lord Bishop, the Mavor and the Archdeacon.

Mr. F. Adams (Staveley), a vice-president, proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks. Further ringing included the special methods of Norwich Surprise and Double Court.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

The controversial question as to the venue for the annual general meeting of the Essex Association on Whit Monday gave rise to discussion at the annual meeting of the South Eastern Division at Goldhanger on January 15th. Hitherto the meeting had been held at Chelmsford. as Cathedral town and geographical centre of Essex. Three ptopositions were considered and it was decided to recommend to the General Committee that the annual general meeting on Whit Monday be moved out of Chelmsford 10 another Essex ringing centre one year in three.
The secretary (Mr. J. P. Brandon) in his annual report stated that it had been a satisfactory year; six meetings had heen held with an average attendance of 50 ; Danbury won the striking competition

Two retirements from office were receivedMr. E. W Roast as District Master for 14 years and Mr. Brandon as secretary. Appreciation of their good work was expressed by Mr. P. W. Saltmarsh, the Association's honorary secretary. Officers elected were: District Master. Andrew S. Hudson: District secretary, lan R. Parton; committee, Richard J. Harrison and Robert Leavett. In his vote of thanks Mr. Roast mentioned the services of the Rev. Mr Timmins in conducting the service and presiding at the meeting, Mr. Brinkley, the organist, and the ladies who had prepared tea.

Next meeting: Danbury (6), March Sth.

SEVENOAKS BELLS TO BE RECAST

The restoration of Sevenoaks bells has been somewhat delayed, as it was discovered when the bells reached the Whitechapel foundry that not only was the sixth cracked-this had been known and allowed for when the bells were examined in the tower-but the treble, third and tenor also manifested hair cracks when the headstocks were removed. It would have been possible to -rehang these three bells and it might well have been some year before their tone was seriously affected but there would always have been the prospect that a rapid deterioration might take place, necessitating urgent and expensive action.

After careful thought the parish has decided to face the additional cost now of having all eight bells recast into a lighter ring with a tenor of $16 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in E. Already a number of donors of individual bells have come forward and in this way it may perhaps become possible for the required extra money to be found without undue delay. The founders have in any case been instructed to proceed with the work and it is hoped that the new ring will be ready by about May.
The bells were originally a fine eight by Pack and Chapman, cast in 1769, when they were hung in an oak frame made from timber from Knole Park, the nearby seat of the Sackville family. There was a major restoration in 1892, when Nos. 2, 4, 5 and 7 were recast by John Warner and Company. It was always considered that on this occasion Messrs Warner, who did not enjoy a particularly good reputation as founders, provided satisfactory replacements and maintained the fine tone of the Pack and Chapman ring.
The present work includes the provision of a new metal frame and a new floor under the bells. The church clock is to be converted to electrical operation and the ceiling height in the clock room will be reduced by some three feet, allowing the new bell frame to be fitted in the thicker part of the tower below the offset in the stonework on which the previous timber frame rested. The layout of the framework will be approximately similar to the old frame but turned 180 degrees in the tower so that the rope circle in the ringing room will be correspondingly altered.
It is an eerie experience now to stand on the clock room floor able to look up through the gloom to the tower roof with a completely empty space for some 40 feet and high up one wall a door opening, which will eventually lead once more to a bell chamber Perhaps a sad thought for ringers is that for just one overdue major restoration of this sort there are dozens of others, which, alas, will never be undertaken.

Bishop Narborough

A number of quarter peals have been rung in respectful memory of the Right Rev. $F$. D. V. Narborough. who recently retired from the office of Suffragan Bishop of Colchester. He was a vice-president of the Essex Association and a great friend of all bellringers. Before or after taking a service he made a point of visiting the belfry and speaking to the ringers. He was always especially interested in young people.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Despite other meetings close by, the A.G.M. of the Newark District at Newark on Jan. 15th was nevertheless quite well attended, with over 30 at tea and the business meeting. A weilstruck touch of Stedman Caters was the highlight of some generally pleasant ringing at the Parish Church. Evensong was conducted by the curate, the Rev. Mr. Fearn, and tea was served in St. Mary's Rooms by local ringers and wives.

The District chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter, presided over the business meeting, and in his welcome made special mention of the two members from Coddington, whose bells have recently been rehung and augmented. He also asked Miss, Grace Burchnall to convey the meeting's sympathy to her sister, Miss Katharine Burchnall, who was not well, following a recent eye operation.

The secretary's report for 1965 showed one or two new spots of activity, and the statement of accounts a welcome increase in members' subscrintions. It was pointed out that as from January 1st, 1966, the annual subscription was 5 s .

The election of officers for the coming year progressed smoothly at first, with Mr. F. W. Midwinter and Mrs. C. W. Reed re-elected as chairman and hon. secretary respectively, but several nominations for Ringing Master and committee member resulted in an increase in tempo. Finally elected were: Joint Ringing Masters, Messrs. David Parsons and Peter Wakefield; committee member, Miss Margaret Chilton.

The rest of the business continued in the same lively fashion, until the meeting was finally closed with a vote of thanks from Mr. Brian Hough to all who had helped to make the meeting a success. Several more visitors swelled the numbers for the evening ringing B. N. R.

Bingham District

Ten towers were represented at the annual meeting of the Bingham District at St. Mary's, Radcliffe-on-Trent, on January 15 th, when all the officers were re-elected on the proposition of Mr. Lygo. seconded by Mr. Bradley. Three new members were elected: David Lazyerini (Shelford), David Birny and Miss P. Carter (Radcliffe). The service was conducted by the Rev. C. L. Widdowson.
February meeting, Bingham; March meeting, Orston.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual meeting of the Salisbury Branch was held on January 22nd at St. Martin's. Sarum. The Guild service was conducted byo the Rector, Canon A. D. F. McKenzie, and the lesson was read by the Rev. R. H. Longridge. Master of the Guild. Tea and business followed in the Church Hall, presided over by the Master of the Guild.

Mr. H. A. Roles (chairman) said the Branch was pleased to have the opportunity of ringing at St. Martin's again now that repairs had been carried out on the bells. Presenting the annual report, the secretary (Mr. G. A. Trimby) regretted that attendances at meetings were down on the previous year and hoped for hetter support during 196 K . Officers elected were: Messrs. H. A. Roles, chairman: R. C. Mundy, vice-chairman: G. A. Edwards, auditor; Ringing Masters, A. Haines, R. Haines. R. Jones and L. Page, together with J. Baverstock and A. Newman on the committee. Ringing continued afterwards at St. Martin's and St. Thomas' towers.

PLYMOUTH BELL AS FISHERMEN'S GUIDE

A bell dated 1787 from the Church of the Ascension. Crown Hill, Plymouth, is being restored and sent to Plymouth, Tobago, West Indies, where its tolling will provide a guide for fishermen at night.

Tobago, which was flattened by Hurricane Flora in 1964, is rebuilding its church by the sea. The bell has not been rung for a dozen years and is being sent out to help this rebuilding project.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The ringer of the treble in the quarter peal of Plain Bob Royal at Dalton-in-Furness (see page 62) was Ronald Monro, and not the name submitted.
The peal of London Surprise Royal at Bradford on December 27th (page 65) was Maurice J. Thurmott's first in the method, An asterisk should have been against his name. and not an obelisk, in the peal report.
Writes Ivor Goulter, of Norton, Gloucester, in appreciation of P. G. K. Davies' article "On Teaching Striking": "By alternately reading and thinking about every sentence several times over, we can all benelit tremendously." (See page 59.)
The peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal rung at St. Margaret's, Leicester, on January 29th, was John Bramley's first peal for nearly four years, and this year is the 21 st anniversary of his first peal. We hope to see him in many more!

Walkerville Surprise Major was the appropriate method rung at Bristol as a wedding compliment to Brian Cox, of Adelaide. During his sojourn in England, Brian, who is a solicitor, made many friends. Walkerville is a suburb of Adelaide.
Congratulations to Angela Quick, of Lyme Regis, on scoring her first peal at the first attempt on January 29th. A hurried look through records after the peal showed that she is the same age as the conductor (Rev. Roger Keeley) was when ringing his first peal -13 years and 5 months.
Mr . Alan $\mathbf{R}$. Pink has resigned his post as secretary of the Oxford Diocesan Board of Finance to become secretary and treasurer of a new company, Diocesan Trustees (Oxford) Ltd. The company will deal with all trust matters affecting the Diocese of Oxford and its parishes.

NORFULK BELL STOLEN

The Church of St. Andrew at Saxthorpe, Norfolk, now the possessor of a lovely modern light six, has in its parish the ancient Church of St. Peter, Corpusty. This building has been disused for some years and is rapidly falling into decay. Its future is a problem. Recently, unwelcome visitors took advantage of its redundant state to remove the bell from of its redundant state to remove the bell from dismantled from its headstock and thrown out of the belfry windows, doubtless being damaged en route. It has not been recovered. but police are investigating. Any church in a lonely position should take warning from this and make sure that access to belfries is this and make sure that access to belfries is strictly locked, so that intruders who dare to desecrate God's house may be discouraged.
Two other Norfolk one-bell towers have been in the news recently. At the beginning of December the 14th century tower of All Saints'. Wighton, collapsed westwards, but the bell was saved whilst the eastern half was demolished before it, too, collapsed. Finally the 240 -year-old bell at St. Mary's, Old Hunstanton, has been rehung-for the first time in its life!

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The autumn term, 1965, was, as in previous years, a busy time for the Ashton-underLyne Grammar School Handbell Ringers. At the beginning of November they had the privilege of playing twice in Ashton Town Hall. The first occasion was at a concert given in aid of the Leonard Cheshire Homas. and the second time was at the inaugural meeting of the Ashton Music Society. This latter event was a highlight in the musical life of the town, and the concert. given by the Halle Quartet and the Grammar School Handbell Ringers, was attended by a large civic party headed by the Mayor and Mavoress. The standard of playing was certainly in keeping with the occasion.
At Christmas the ringers played as usual at the school parties, the local hospital and at the school carol service. This service provided an unusual opportunity for the tower bell ringers in the school as, for the first time ever, it was held at Ashton Parish Church. The opportunity was not missed and the 12 hells were rung in rounds by seven pupils, three ex-pupils and two members of staff. The ringers were Janef Lownds. Trudy Seipel. Eileen Cross, Helen Lumb, Hazel Schofield. Margaret Humphreys (pupils), Christine Andrew (ex-pupil), Gordon Tarran (pupil), Margaret E. For:, John P. Partington (memMargaret $E$. For: John P. Jeffrey Brannan, Frederick Shallcross (ex-pupils).

FIFTY YEARS AT BARCOMBE

There was a surprise at the annual general meeting of Barcombc, Sussex, ringers for Mr. Fred Smith, who was presented with a small silver cup by the churchwardens in recognition of his 50 years' faithful service to the tower. The cup was inscribed "A 50 -year ringer. F. Smith. S.F.M. B.E.W." (the churchwardens' initials).

When Fred started ringing at St. Mary's, Barcombe, he had to stand on two hassocks. Another early memory of his was being pulled down by the seat of his pants when hanging on to the rope at the wrong time. S.B.

FOURTEENTH BELL AT WAKEFIELD CATHEDRAL

At the beginning of Evening Prayer on the Sunday before Christmas the Provost of Wakefield dedicated the newly-hung 14th bell, a bell which had been recast from one which came from Holy Trinity Church in the city. This church was pulled down about nine years ago and the bell of four to five cwt. was placed on the floor of the Cathedral towar; the parish of Holy Trinity was amalgamated with the Cathedral Parish of All Saints.
The work, undertaken by John Taylor and Co., consisted of making a new pit into which the second of the twelve has gone, moving the old treble into the old second's pit and putting the new bell into the old treble's pit. The old third has been reroped so that the ropes are spaced evenly

The result is a very pretty front ten, using the flat sixth, with a 14 cwt . tenor, and a "by-product "" in the light front six. The 13 down the scale do not sound so odd as might be imagined, but no sextuples have been rung on them yet. It is believed that St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, is the only other church with a light ten

MUCH-TRAVELLED HANDBELLS

Capt. (Quartermaster) P. Tocock, writing from another continent: ": Temperature here is a humid 85 degrees $\dot{F}$., comparatively cool for midwinter. Unfortunately there are no bells to benefit from the frost-free conbells to beneft from the frost--free conditions, although the Stedman and Grandsire ditions, although the Stedman ats Caters of St. Margaret's, Westminster, pour forth, very much canned, from our minaretlike tower for Sunday service.
"In the meantime my set of handbells are hridging the gap. and together with other Mess memhers are practising a few simnle tunes for forthcoming Mess functions. We have a ringer in the Mess who learned at Hereford Cathedral, so hope to recruit bim for change ringing in the near future.

- My set of handbells is now well travelled -Suez Canal Zone, Germany twice and now Aden, apart from stations in the North and South of the U.K. They were heard twice on the British Forces Broadcasting Service in the Canal Zone-to tune ringing and ringing out the Old Year and ringing in the New Year to 120's of Grandsire Doubles. They have also been instrumental in collecting moncy for Wireless for the Blind and carols and Christmas hymns."

A POSTAL MYSTERY

There is something radically wrong in recent months over postal distribution in Somerset and Wiltshire. Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd has more than once complained about the delay in the Warminster copies, and Mr. P. J Hall, of Weston-super-Mare, writes: "Over the past 12 months my 'Ringing Worlds have been severally misdirected and re-postmarked, among the places visited being Bath. Hereford, Westbury (Wilts) and. incredibly, Norton-sub-Hamdon (Som.). How on earth is it possible to get to Norton-sub-Hamdon, a tiny village near Ilchester, before being redirected I do not know. This is entirely the fault of the Post Office, since the paper is invariably accurately and clearly addressed."

The dispatches from Guildford have heen normal on Wednesday afternoons. Perhaps a question in parliament might enable a better service to be supplied.

14th CENTURY BELL GOES HOME
The Loweswater bell which has rested on the most eastern window sill in the south aisle of Crosthwaite Church, Keswick, for about 50 years, has been returned to its original home It is one of the oldest bells in Cumberland and was probably cast in the middle of the 14th century. The old Chapel at Loweswater was its original home.
It was discarded, discovered as waste, by Canon Rawnsley, and hung outside Crosthwatte Parish Hall. As it was not well seen there he decided to substitute a modern bell and to place the old one in the church, where it has been admired ever since.
In May, 1965, the Vicar of Loweswater asked if we would graciously return tt , as nis churen lacked the many historic attractions of Crosthwaite. The Church Council, with some sadness. felt bound to agree; the Chancellor of the Diocese gave his permission for the bell to be installed in Loweswater Church, and 11 left Crosthwaite for its original home in December, 1965. Farewell to a bell.
J. W. B.

BOXING DAY OUTING

A party of ringers from Harpenden and surArctic conditions on Boxing Day in the wilds rounding towers had a full programme under of Berkshire. At Windsor Parish Church the ringing indicated that most of the party inad had a good Christmas. The eight at Bray were found rather difficult 10 strike. After lunch at the Three Ringers, brilliant navigation took the party to Boyne Hill, where a course of Yorkshire was probably the best ringing of the day.

A pleasant tour of Bucks, including Burnham Beeches. brought the party to Wooburn, where the ringing was fairly reasonable, and then High Wycombe. Here the Plain Bob Maximus was the first for many of the band but some good Grandsire Caters was followed ty Stedm:an Caters which was going well until there was a sudden rush to join a young lady from Harpenden with the slow. Finally at Hughenden there was a good course of Yorkshire. and Rutland at last came round as well as Spliced Yorkshire, Cambridge and Plain Bob, which did not get very far.

SELBY ABBEY TOUR

It was a cold. foggy day when 18 Sunday service ringers left at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$ for their outing on January 8th Chris Moxon met the party at Penistone and escorted them for the rest of the morning. Yorkshire tail-ends were met at Penistone (8) Ringing at Cawthorne was followed by hot chocolate from Dr. Simons. The pleasant six at Shelley preceded lunch at Scissett. We did not do justice to the eight at Kirkhurton. Then we crawled through thick fog to Thornhill (6). where the back four were a bi: difficult, but ringing included Cambridge Surprise and Double Oxford. The light eight at Horbury also had some awkward bells.

Arriving at Ossett, we ate a packed tea in the cars before ringing on the lovely ten. Good ringing included Plain Boh and Kent Royal. Grandsire Caters and Double Oxford Major. On arriving at Selby we all went to a young ringer's home for a lovely supper. Our thanks to incumbents and local ringers. especially Chris Moxon, to Dr. Simons and to our own Master, who made the outing such a success. M. W.

OLDEST COMPLETE RING

By RANALD W. M. CLOUSTON.

ITT is interesting to speculate on which is the oldest ring of three or more bells cast by one founder. It seems that Saxton Parish Church, near York ("Ringing World" page 42), is about a hundred years too late to claim this title.

The late H. B. Walters made up a list of pre-Reformation bells in England for the Council for the Care of Churches before the last war. This was based on published accounts of bells and on his own extensive knowledge of bells in areas which had not been surveyed. Of course changes are always taking place by way of augmentations, etc., so it is difficult to be right up to date with such an analysis; however, the following may be of interest:

Rings of Three by One Founder.

(1) Clapham, Sussex.-Cast about 1350 but bearing no founder's name.
(2) Old Walsingham, Norfolk.-Cast by William Silisden, 14th century. The two tenors bear his name.
(3) South Elmham St. Peter, Suffolk.-Cast by William Dawe, of London, in the period 1385 to 1408 . The two tenors bear his trade medallion.
(4) Manby, Lincs. (5) Waith, Lincs.-Both rings cast by the same local founder, whose trade shield appears on a bell in the Lincoln Guildhall, cast in 1371.
(6) Holton, Somerset.-From the Salisbury foundry about 1400 .
(7) South Somercotes, Lincs.-Cast by an unknown local founder who used a really magnificent set of capital letters. The tenor is dated 1423 .
(8) Bartlow, Cambs. (9) South Elkington, Lincs.All the bells bear the shield now attributed to William Chamberlain, of London, who was working in the period 1426 to 1456.
(10) Brinsop, Herefords. - From the Worcester foundry, about 1450 .
(11) Thornbury, Herefords.-Also cast about 1450.

Rings of Four by One Founder.

Northleigh, Devon.-All by a founder whose initials were I. T., casting in the 15 th century at Exeter.

Thurlbear, Somerset.-Also from the 15 th century Exeter foundry.

Rings of Five by One Founder.

London, St. Bartholomew the Great, Smithfield.-By Thomas Bullisdon, of London, about 1510.

If one removes the one founder restriction then the scope is much wider. St. Lawrence, Ipswich, has an earlier ring of five, all 15 th century, the treble from the Bury St. Edmunds foundry, the second by William Chamberlain, and the three tenors by the Brasyer family of Norwich, tenor 12 cwt . Iken, Suffolk, Spetchley, Worcs, and Torbryan, Devon, have pre-Reformation rings of four.

Iken, St. Lawrence, Ipswich, and St. Bartholomew the Great, London, are ringable and there may well be others which are.
There are quite a number of towers which incorporate three or more pre-Reformation bells with others of more modern date. Those with as many as four seem to be at York, Institute of Advanced Architectural Studies; Whimple, Devon; Gloucester Cathedral, including of course the 58 cwt . pre-Reformation bourdon Great Peter; Banham, Norfolk; Didlington, Norfolk, bells from Worcester Cathedral; Norwich St. George Tombland; and Norwich Cathedral. By comparison St. John's Church, Perth, Scotland, has eight pre-Reformation bells and Utrecht Domtoren in Holland seven.
Our English bells do not of course compare in age with, say, the Chinese Wei Hui chime of five bells datable to 482 B.C. (see "Ringing World," 1965, page 359).

CUMBERLANDS REACH A HIGHER STANDARD

MASTER APPRECIATES GREAT IMPROVEMENT-SILENT AND NON-CONDUCTED PEAL OF SIX SPLICED MAJOR - ST. MARTIN'S GIFT OF HANDBELLS TO SOCIETY-A RECORD ATTENDANCE

U
NDER the inspired leadership of Mr Dennis Beresford, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths has reached an exceedingly high standard, and at the annual dinner at the Church House Restaurant Westminster, on February 5th, references were made to the two recent fine performances of the Society-a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus and the first peal of Six Spliced Surprise Major rung non-conducted and silent. Neither is the art of handbell ringing neglected, and a touch of Yorkshire Surprise Royal was rung with a facile rhythm that delighted everyone.

The dinner was a great social occasion with a record attendance of 195 . From Nottingham and Lincoln in the north to Plymouth in the west support was forthcoming. Ringing during the day was on the twelves at Southwark Cathedral, Cornhill St. Mary-le-Bow and Cripplegate, and a peal of Stedman Cinques was rung at Croydon Parish Church. The Rev, Austen Williams, Vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, was attending his first Cumberland dinner and he announced that in recognition of the Society's services to St. Martin's the church was presenting them with a new set of handbells.

The Master's officers this year are: D. E. Sibson, hon. secretary: K. Newman, senior steward; J. S. Barnes, junior steward: P Beresford. ireasurer; T. H. Francis and J. Millhouse. trustees : and Mrs. O. Tester and B. Jeffrey, auditors.

The Master, after proposing the loyal toast, extended a warm welcome to the assembly. They were delighted to have with them the Rev. Austen Williams. Vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields. The Society had had its headquarters at St. Martin's for over 100 years and had a great affection for the church and an extremely happy relationship with the Vicar. There was also a personal welcome for the Rev. Norman Mottley. Vicar of St Michael's, Cornhill, and the Rev. Richard Thompson, the new Vicar of St. Leonard's, Shoreditch.
Mr. E. A Barnett proposed the toast of "The Church "and on behalf of the "other ranks" of the Church expressed their pleasure in having "the commissioned officers" with them. He was particularly pleased to see the Rev. Peter Bond. whu was with the Missions to Seamen. "No longer did Peter climb the belfry stairs but now went up the companion way and looked out of the porthole."
It was some years since he proposed the toast of "The Church." and what a turmoil it had been in ever since. He recalled the troubles of "Honest to God" and other troubles from Woolwich. There was a member of the Convocation trying to get into the House of Parliament under an ancient statute and the same gentleman pestering the Archbishop not to appoint this or that Bishop.

Mr. Barnett said he well remembered in 1933 going into a church in Norwich and somebody had written: "Dear Sir, Are you aware you are breaking the law of the land by using the new and revised prayer book? No wonder there is so much crime in this city."

The Rev. Austen Williams. in his replv, confessed that he had been at St. Martin's for ten years and that was the first of their dinners that he had attended. He thanked them for their welcome. Referring to the toast. he said he found it an exciting thing to speak for the Church of England because of the immense difficulties and bewilderment of the Church today: it seemed to him to have that tiresome feeling and noise that always occurred when one was waking up. He hoped that in the next few years the Church would leave the bed on which it had been repining and find a deeper purpose because of having been compelled to think again about what it was doing.

HAUNTED BY BELLS

The Vicar said ever since his birth he had always been haunted by the sound of a bell. "The bells colls: it tolls for thee," wrote John Donne. If on a Saturday afternoon he heard the bells ringing he got into a frenzied state and wondered if he had forgotten a baptism, marriage or memorial service. The bell seemed to induce into his mind a kind of mental instability

Their purpose as ringers was to bring the Church into existence and they had been doing it for centuries. When the sanctus bell at St. Martin's rang out over the fields that no longer existed, as the parson was celebrating the host, the workers in the fields would stop and there was silence and that magic act of drawing people to God took place. There were other bells that rang to bring the people to church.

Bellringing was an indissoluble unit of the Church and the. Church depended on them and the way they rang the bells. "When the bells ring I think of God and of people, and I trust that when you ring you will remember God and the people."
Concluding, Mr. Williams made a happy announcement, that he would like St. Martin's to present to the St. Martin's band a set of handbells, because he understood that they wanted a new set Thanking the Vicar for the gift, the Master assured him that St. Martin's would receive full support from its ringers. Appropriately. at this stage the handbell selection was introduced. It was a touch of Yorkshire Surprise Royal and its successful accomplishment was received with great enthusiasm. The ringers were E. A Barnett, Miss Joan Beresford, the were E. A Barnett, Miss Joan Beresford, the D. E. Sibson.

MOST NOBLE ORDER OF THE BELL

A well-known Sussex ringer and member of the Society. Mr. W. Leslie Weller, proposed the toast of "The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths." He said the Society was one of the oldest ringing societies and was steeped in history and tradition, which was being carried on by the officers and members in such a way that the Society was held in the highest esteem by ringers throughout the country. They were all aware of the standard the Societv now set, but it had not always been so. In 1766 one Christopher Wells found there was no room for him in the peal band. He conducted a peal of Grandsire Caters at Shoreditch and then the company organised themselves into a kind of parody of freemasonry and called themselves the Most Noble Order of the Bell.
There was on record narticulars of a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus being rung at Birmingham. The ringing was excellent and the peal seemed certain. when the tenor man set his bell and sat down. saying he was tired and would not ring any more. Some of the band, however. knew that he did not like ringing with men from the Ancient Society and were sure that he had stopped because he did not like to score a peal with them.

Today they had a Society of the highest order with method ringing and striking surpassing the highest traditions of the Society. The reason was their Master, who for five or six years had been building up the Society, starting on eight bells. going on to ten, and now Maximus on twelve. In that week's issue of "The Ringing World" they would see a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus and a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in six methods rung silent and non-conducted containing all the work of each method for each bell. This was done for the first time and they desired to congratulate the band that rang the peal. The Society owed a great debt $10^{\circ}$ their present Master and also to therr secretary, Mr. Derek Sibson, for his support. The Master, who replied, said he hoped that the standard they had set in London had met with the approval of the members He remembered having a talk with Tom Francis, who said he would like to propose him as Master. "I replied that I would only consider it if we agreed to set about improving the striking in London, and that is what we have been doing since then.
" I think it is true that the ringing today has been of the highest standard at any dinner. We put up some very good pertormances of Maximus and Cinques." The at tendance that night was 195. which was very considerably up on last year, and they hoped people would continue to support them 11 this way. They had people from Plymouth. Lincolnshire, Sussex, a large contingent from Newark and also representatives from Leicester.

PROGRESS BY ANY STANDARD

The Master said it was his pleasure to re. port the progress they had made by any standard. At the last dinner Teddy Barnett said they ought to look more closely to the number of new members they elected. In 1965 they elected 26 new members and they hoped these new members would give the Society their support and interest. Another thing was the increasing number taking part in the Society's peals. This vear there were 64 people taking part, which was 20 more than in the previous year. The first peal of four-Spliced Surprise Major with all the work of each bell had been rung. Their friends in Lincolnshire had many fine performances and three-Spliced Surprise Major had been rung by friends in Sussex.

The practices had been well attended and they catered for many people. They had achieved Londinium Surprise Maximus. The finances of the Society were extremely encouraging. They were building up the balances so that the Society could give support in good measure to any work needed at port Martin's or Shoreditch.

TWO PROMINENT LOSSES

They had lost by death their revered Past Master, George Cross, and they paid a tribute to him at the memorial service. He would also like to mention the passing of Mrs Fletcher, who was a prominent member about 50 years ago. When George Newsome died in 1882, the Society went down until James Parker. Mrs. Fletcher's father, came along and revived the Society. They proposed to provide as a memorial to George Cross a table in the belfry of St . Martin's. which was being made by Walter Dobbie and would he dedicated at the summer meeting. More subscriptions were needed to meet the cost and he would welcome contributions.

They hoped to hold a country meeting on the first Saturday in April. possibly in Leicestershire. They had received an invitation from the Dean and Chapter of Westminster Abbey to ring a quarter peal at one of the services connected with the 900 th. anniversary. In connection with the Abhey they had with them that night Mr. Arthur Mason. who rang in the first peal at the Abbey-one of Bristol Surprise Major.

SEVEN RING MORE THAN 100 TOWER BELL PEALS

is a native of Bristol, having been born in 1939 and educated at Bristol Cathedral School. He rang his first peal at the 13 th attempt-Grandsire Caters at St. Stephen's. Bristol, in 1958. Present peal total 454 (conducted 176). Offices-Ringing Master Bristol Cathedral, secretary Bristol City Branch of Gloucester and Bristol Association. Occupa-tion-cost accountant for the Anglo-French supersonic airliner (Concord) at B.A.C.

GILLLAN M, HUSSEY

Born is Bristol some 21 years ago, Gillian started ringing in November, 1957, at St Ambrose's, Bristol, where she is now Ringing Master. Her first peal was Grandsire Caters at St. Stephen's, Bristol, in September, 1959 and her peals now total 215 (conducted two). Occupation-research assistant in bio-chemistry laboratory of the Imperial Tobacco Co. Bristol. Educated at Rose Green High School, 1956-63.

The year 1965 showed another increase in the number of active peal ringers- 3,284 men and 697 women took part in tower bell peals; 152 men and 33 women in handbell peals. Of the handbell ringers, 22 men and seven women rang no tower bell peals. (It is interesting to note that only one of the seven women who rang no tower bell peals was Miss Hazel Way, of Swansea, who rang 71 " in hand.") This means that a total of 4,010 people ( 3,306 men and 704 women) took part in peals. compared with 3,668 during 1964. Thus the ratio of men to women is almost $5: 1$ ( 82.5 per cent.- 17.5 per cent.). so take heed you men who want a pealringing wife-it's a seller's market.

More than half of the 4,010 rang only one peal and almost a further quarter rang two. The lists of leading peal ringers contain 232 who rang 25 or more tower bell peals and 15 who rang 15 or more handbell peals. The tower bell list is once again headed by Birmingham, with seven members of the Thursday night band in the top ten. The year 1965 includes seven who rang 100 peals or more: in 1964 there were none. The handbell list also shows the same band at the top as in 1964-although the number of peals rung by the South Wales band decreased. It will be noted that if Brian J. Woodruffe's handbell peals were included with his tower bell peals his total would have been 121 .

Complete details are published on page 110, but the following are the leaders in the re spective divisions:-

HOW THE DETAILS WERE COLLECTED

 A large supply of 80 column computer cards was collected and one card was used for each ringer. Men's names were written on green cards, women's on white cards and handbell peals were entered on yellow cards. These were filed alphabetically according to surname and then Christian name in wooden trays. When "The Ringing World" arrived the first operation was to put a red mark to the right of each conductor's name. as 3 safeguard against forgetting them. One of us would then call out the name of each ringer in turn and the other would find the card and pass it over for up-dating Peals rung were shown in blue biro and the number conducted was recorded underneath in red biro.At the beginning of the year, when many new cards had to be written, it took 40 to 45 minutes to analyse one page of "The Ringing World." This gradually decreased until at the end of the year we could get through, a page in 20 minutes. Peal tours and batches of peals with the same participants were always a welcome sight. The biggest nightmare was the Sir Winston Churchill memorial issue-particularly as it occurred so early in the year. The nine pages of peals took about six hours to complete.
The final analysis required some thought as we did not want to disturb the order of the cards. because they are being passed on 10 Cyril and Marjorie Wratten at Cheltenham. who have undertaken to record 1966 peai

MARTIN D. FELLUWS, who is coleader with D. John Hunt, was born at Stourbridge on April 21st, 1945, and to date has rung 336 peals. Closely behind is his brother, M. J. (known as "The Kid"). Another brother, David, aged 12, is learning to handle a bell.

Educated at King Edward VI Grammar School, Stourbridge, where he helped to found the Ringing Society, Martin works as a solicitor's clerk with the Town Clerk of Birmingham, hence his peals at Birmingham Cathedral, which include the record peal of Maximus and an 11,520 Yorkshire Surprise Major ringers. So instead of extracting the cards of those who had rung 25 or more peals we had to examine each eard and post names on to a separate set of cards. The final operation was to compile a list from the duplicate cards. There was a very useful sample of leading peal ringers at the Bristol University Dinner, and the opportunity was not missed to ask them all how many peals they had rung during the previous year as a check of our accuracy. Three or four people also sent their totals to the Editor. It was quite gratifying to us that of the 38 people who cold us their totals only one disagreed with our cards-by one peal.
However, we realise that there are bound to be errors, and we sincerely apologise to those whose totals are incorrect. A certain amount of guesswork was required when initials or Christian names differed from the cards, and we also suspect that there were several errors in names, and duplicated peals which were never corrected in a later issue. We had 56 cards for the surname "Smith" so if your name is Smith or David J. Marshall there is a good chance that your total might be wrong! We hope that Cyril and Marjorie Wratten will g:t as much pleasure and satisfaction from the task of 1966 as we did from 1965.

RECORDING A STANDARD PRACTICE,

Dear Sir,-1 must say my own feeling about recorded B.B.C. programmes is different from that of your correspondent (page 60). A programme of hymn singing, for :nstance, sounds no less well to me on Sundav for having been recorded the previous Tuesday. The same principle applies to the Christmas bells, in my opinion; surely most people accept this as standard practice by now? Furthermore, I found it to be an unforgettable experience, the year I was privileged to be a member of a band taking part in the programme, to be able to listen to the broadcast.

But there are wider issues involved. Bad ringing is quite rightly frowned on these dars, and is clearly not to be tolerated in this programme. Therefore, if the broadcast is to be live. the risk of bad ringing has to obviated by going only to the select few towers where no mistakes are going to be made. To avold undue strain on the B.B.C: 's resources, these few towers will no doubt have to be further narrowed down to the b!g towns. This will destroy what I myself regard as one of the chief charms of the programme, that small and remote towers are, in present circumstances, able to contribute.
Perhaps 1 may go on to advance some objections to the general form of the programme which I myself have regarded a valid for several years now. It is almos: true to say that the 25 minutes of this broadcast is the only period in the whole year devoted specifically to our Exercise. There should be much more: but that is for the moment another story. Now of the 25 minutes, one or two are taken away by the quite unnecessary inclusion of sung carols I love carols myself, but there are enough of them in other programmes at Christmastide. Then there is a grave defect in the announcing. I have nothing against the announcer personally, My point is that he should not be a "layman" as regards ringing. The programme should be introduced by a representative of the Exercise, in words of his own framing.

This would confer a much better air to the programme as a whole. It should be possible to state in each case the tenor weight as well as the number of bells (without needing to employ a tone of awe if that weight were 30 cwt., as the announcer did in the last programme, when one tenor weight only was mentioned): and to state also the method being rung. I know very well that keen ringers will have looked un the tenor weights in "Dove" beforehand, and will very ofter in Dove always. for the recordings on large numhers are sometimes had) be able to recognise the method. But this broadcast is in a sense the Exercise's annual shop window before the nonringing public. It is my experience that many non-ringers actually like to hear bits of the (to them) mysterious vocabulary that we use : 10 them. if not to some of the correspondents in "The Ringing World." "Grandsire in "The Ringing worles ", sounds just as well "Cambridge Maximus." And I think that the public ought to be told what most of them do not at present realise-that there is a difference between change and call change ringing: and that both are different from the "ringing of Bethlehem (no disrespect to the last-named). of Bethlehem (no

SURPRISE AT LLANTRISANT

Dear Sir,-I am afraid that my colleagues who rang the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Llantrisant on New Year's Day are almost 34 years too late in their claim to have rung the first peal of Surprise on these bells.

LONG LENGTH ATTEMPT

Dear Sir,-I hereby give notice that I have started to solve a jigsaw puzzle of 2,000 pieces. A candid appraisal of my progress so far reveals that I should have begun a less time-consuming pastime, say pricking out the full extent of Bob Royal or Stedman Cinques. (If anyone can prick out Royal at ringing pace he's a better man than 1 am, Gunga Din.) I think now that those composer people who take a few Q -sets, round blocks and bob blocks and string them together into a peal and think they have been very patient and persevering should have a go at a jigsaw puzzle and see what patience really is.
The Original a model of patience and perseverance? Oddsfish and oddsblood, sir. I uill wager a pony to a monkey in guineas that Holt never tried to put the correct heads and tails on a pack of hounds, sir.

A one-part. odd bob peal of Stedman? Cor, chase me eighteen stone Aunt Fanny rahnd the gas works, yer just ain't wiv :t, cock. Ever tried puttin the kerrect plates o' meat on a crahd of abart fifty people and then puttin' their proper tit-fer-tats on? The extent with the tenors together in a Surprise method with four false course heads to the plain course? Get aloft. you lubber! and assemble the mainyards and fighting tops of Nelson's "Victory" and mind you don't get the running ringing mixed up with the standing rigging or Ill give you a touch of a rone's tail, and it won't be a Yorkshire tail, either. By the time you've finished you'll bc wishing to splice the mainbrace, several mainbraces, in fact. Please remind me to give a further progress at about Easter time. Yours. etc..

OLDEST COMPLETE RING

Dear Sir,-In correction of your correspondent (page 42) regarding the ring of three bells at Saxton, near Tadcaster, the bells were not quarter turned when Ellacombe chimes were fitted by William Potts and Sons (not Gillett and Johnston).

As to the reputed weight of a ton, the tenor measures 38 inches and the note is roughly A, so that the weight cannot be above half' its local reputation.-Yours, etc., Leeds.

GRANDSIRE-A PART OF BRITISH

 CHARACTERDear Sir,-I was very distressed to note a young member of Durham University say harsh words about Grandsire, which is part of the great tradition we have in ringing. As a resident of Durham I would like to say that we should do all in our power to guard such a valuable part of the character of Britain.-Yours sincerely.

TOMMY ROGERS

Dear Sir,-How sad it was to learn of Tommy Rogers' death! No one who met him could forget his bubbling spirits, his tolerance with raw recruits and his continual striving for good ringing. The love which he bore towards his fellowmen shone for all to see, and I know that many will join in giving thanks for his life and influence.Yours faithfully,

LETTERS-Continued ORIGIN OF BOB AND SINGLE

Dear Sir, -1 feel certain that I am not the only member of the Exercise to profess an interest in the history of its technical terms; nor am I less certain that much of what follows may be found, in the judgment of those better versed in these methods than I. .misguided wrong or even both. Nevertheless, here are some investigations and queries made during the course of a search for an answer to the question "Why Bob?"
(1) Has the term "Bob" any relevance to its accepted definition? No; we cannot extract from the word any reference to its altering the course of three bells any more than the fact of its altering the course of two bells can be extracted from the term "Single."
(2) Is the term " Bob" in origin a word of movement, or are "Hunt" and "Course"? My own answer-with all due deference to those who do hold the opinion I questionis an emphatic " No," for two reasons:
(a) Surely, when two such complementary terms as "Bob" and "Single" are under consideration, it is reasonable to suppose that if the one is a word of movement, the other must connote movement also. But what would be the hoots of derision if anyone were to suggest that the term "Single" derived from the "set and turn single" of English folk dancing! It is far easier, in spite of appearances. to suppose both to share some connotation unconnected with movement.
(b) A bob, in its normal English use, is an up-and-down movement. In a change ringing context this could be interpreted to mean a zigzag in the Blue Line: thus we come to a conclusion: $\mathrm{Bob}=$ Dodge. But is a Bob a Dodge? Let us consider the case of Plain Boh. At a plain lead-end the making of seconds place creates dodging in 3-4 and 5-6. At a bobbed lead-head the making of fourth's place-the making of the bob-creates dodging in one position only, 5-6, and causes the 3-4 dodge to be by-passed, and permits hunting in 2-3. To those who counter, ." Well, what about Treble Bob?" I reply that, while extra dodges are undoubtedly involved at a bobbed lead-end. the bell engaged in making the bob is actually engaged in making a place (or places).
(3) If the term "Bob" (and for that matter the term." Single) bears no relation either to its definition as laid down today or to the movement of bells among other bells, to what origin are we to describe it?

Here is my own conclusion:
To find the origin of the terms used to describe and differentiate our calls, we must ge back to those early davs when the possibilities of five bells were being explored and steps taken towards the achievement of a six-score. In the course of experimentation, two types of "special call" became standard. The first. which permitted the simultancous changing of two pairs of bells, i.e. a double change, was for this reason named a Double; the second. which permitted the changing of one pair of bells only, i.e. a single change, was named a Single. An examination of the bob-and-singlechanges in Grandsire Doubles will make my meaning clear: the making of the bob does not interrupt the progress of double changes, while the making of the single causes two consecutive single changes.
In course of time the word "Double" yelped sharplv and used hard became worn down: the second syllable lapsed altogether, the first consonant assimilated itself to the second, and the Exercise was left with something that snunded a good deal more like Bob than Double-and so became, inexorably, Bob. The word "Single" being made of phonologically sterner : tuft remained, and remains to this day "Single."

Tradition demanded that the terms should stay static; the Exercise, however, was not standing still, and changes were rung and touches called on increasingly higher numbers of bells which made nonsense of the original meanings of "Bob" and "Single." But cusfom had familiarised them: "Bob" was a handy little word and "Single" sounded sufficiently diffierent from "Bob" to avoid confusion; therr original significance-due to the change in Bob's form-had been completely forgotten; there was no reason for alteration, and unaltered they stand.

BELLS OF INDIA  AND PAKISTAN

As to the use of the word "Bob" in the nomenclature of methods, the application of the above conclusion-that Bob is a corrupted form of Double-will provide an answer. J. W. Snowdon in "Ropesight " remarks at the nutset of his exposition of the Plain Bob method that changes on four bells produced by this method are strictly Doubles and Singles but, for the sake of brevity, are generally known as Bob Singles. Not surely, I add, because the changes are produced by the application of the Plain Bols method and must there fore be called Bib something or other, but because the word "Bob" is itself the word "Doubles" in a worn-down form. It is easy to see how the title "Bob Singles" became misunderstood: Singles-oh, that means there are single changes in the method: Bob-well that must be the name of the method. Right ! Let's apply this Bob method to five bellsdouble changes, so we'll call it Bob Doubles And. what about seven bells? Triple changes, so that'll be Bob Triples. And so on and so on.
Q.E.D.?? All comments and refutations gratefully received.-Yours faithfully,

OBITUARY

MR. F. F. SIMMONS

Fred Simmons, who died on January 19th at the age of 83 , had been a ringer at Charlton Kings for over 60 years. During that time he had rung the Passing Bell for four Sovereigns-Queen Victoria, King Edward VII. King George V and King George VI. Although advancing age had prevented his climbing the steps to the belfry for the last three years, he will be sadly missed.

A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung as a last tribute to his memory on the day of his funeral.

West Lindsey Branch

Special methods for the annual general meeting of the West Lindsey Branch at Gainsborough on January 15th were Bristol and Gainsborough Little Bob, and Mr. G. E. Feirn, the District Ringing Master, saw to it that those who had looked up the methods had an opportunity to ring them. The many round ringers present all had a pull.

Canon J. E. Roberts conducted the service and a local ringer, Mr T. A. Gilbert, was the organist. Tea was served in the nearby medixval hall. The officers were re-elected and the reports and balance sheet approved. The Bingham Cup was presented by Mrs. Batters to Mr. Denton, tower captain of Stow-in-Lindscy. Evening ringing was at Lea. Next mesting: Saxilby, February 19th.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

District Secretary Retires After

13 Years in Office

At the annual general meeting of the Northern District, held on January 29th at the Methodist Hall, Hitchin, the members regretfully accepted the retirement of their District secretary, Mr E G. Buck, of Baldock, who has held the office for 13 years. Had it not been for his excellent work during this time. the District would have been in a very poor state indeed. Mr. Buck, who is retiring on the authority of his doctors, is wished by all members a speedy return to good health and his normal ringing practices.
Prior to the meeting, ringing took place a: St. Mary s, Hitchin, and methods ranged from Pla'n Bob to Bristol. The ringers then gathered in the heautiful redecorated St. Andrew's Chapel for a short service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Roland Meredith)
Probably due to changing the original date of the meeting. only just under 30 people enjoyed tea prepared by Mrs. Agg, Mrs. Buck and helpers.
Officers elected for 1966 at the meeting: District secretary, C. M. Orme; District Ringing Masters, J. R. Castiedine. T.' Hatchett M. Trigg and Dr. Gullick: "Ringing World " and Press representative, Mrs. J. K. Orme: General Committee, J. R. Castledine and E. G Buck: District Committee, Mrs. A. R. Agg, A. R. Agg. T. Hatchett, D. Taplin and C. Worboys; trustees, J. S. Dear and A. C. Harris.
Two scholars at Baldock Secondary SchoolChristme Hutton and Richard Pettitt-were elected rirging members and also Miss E. M Fearn. It was decided to hold the next annual general meeting at Hitchin on January 7th next year, and the next quarterly meeting at Baldock on April 30th.
Ringing recommenced at St. Mary's and continuid until 9 o'clock. As several visitors joined the members five Spliced Surprise was attained.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

Northern Branch

"Bellringing must always be done as an act of worship," was the point emphasised by the Rev. F. A. Stone, who condusted the service at the annual general meeting of the Northern Branch held at Hingham on January 15 th. Thirty-six members itunded.

The chairman. Mr 6. Sayar, and the hon. secretary Mr. C. Bird. were re elecred and Mr. D. Cubitt and the Rev. W. F. P Kelley were appointed to the Standing Commiitee, and Messrs. R Duesbury, D. Mntto.k L. W. Pardon, G H. Huilin and J. H. Tinsey ic the Branch Committee. Elected ringing members were M. Taylor (Mulharton), Janet Bagley, Angela Wright (Norwich) :ind S. Reynolds (Barnham Broom) : probationers, Mr. and Mrs. G. Baillie, Isob-1 Baillie, Valerie ciilmore and Geraldine Skoulding (all Burnham Broom).
The chairman in his vot? of thanks mentioned the work of Messrs. Filiott and Peel for loral ar!angements. The presid $\pm n$ :. Mr. F. W. Golden, was unable to att.nd through illhealth: all' wished him a speedy recovery.

On Calling up Rounds from Random Positions on Six Bells

By MICHAEL S. BRUCE
1 AM awar: that calling round is not nowa days widely practised, and so that the value of this exercise as practice for con. ductors should not be totally overlooked. I thought it worthwhile to make these few notes on the simplest system of calling round any regular Minor method.

(a) IN-COURSE POSITIONS

When the bells are in-course, and not in the plain course (coursing-order 5-3-2-4-6). the coursing-order will consist of two "coursing pairs" and a "loose bell. "Coursing pairs" are pairs of bells which course together in the plain course: the "loose be!'l" is that bell which courses between two bells, neither of which courses with it in the plain course.
Example:

If the loose bell be called to make a boh, the bells will come into the plain course. and rounds will eventually occur either at hand- or back-stroke:-
(Bob Minor)
235
Where rounds occur at hand-stroke they do so one lead after the lead-head identical to the first lead-end of the method: in Boh Minor, 11 chankes after 132546: in Kent, 23 changes after 124365, and so on.

Example (Bob Minor):

\begin{aligned}
& \text { Lead-head } \\
& \text { Loursing-order } \\
& \text { Coursing pairs } \\
& \text { Loose beli }
\end{aligned}

- 32546 round at hand in 11 changes

In Bob Minor, of course, the procedure is simple. The bob must be called when the loose bell is coursing next but one before the treble. An inexperienced conductor mighi miss the lead at which that bob is due: in this case, call a coursing pair to run in and on? once or twice, i.e. one or two bobs. as necessary, when the treble is coursing between the pair
To see the coursing-order and identify the loose bell requires, of course, more experience and skill in a more complex method It remains true, though, that no in-course position is ever more than one call away from home, and the principle by which the bells are brought round is the same.
(b) OUT-OF-COURSE POSITIONS

When the bells are not in the plain course, and the coursing-order does not conform to the pattern of "two coursing pairs and a loose bell" the bells are out-of-course. In the majority of out-of-course positions. 100 , only one single is needed to produce roundthough some conductors may find it easier to put the bells in-course with an arbitrary single, and apply the procedure as in (a). However, five out of the six out-of-course positions are only one single away trom home. and can be simply dealt with. In these positions. there are two coursing groups: a coursing pair and a group of three bells.
Example: Lead-head
Coursing-order
6-5-4-2-3
Coursing-groups $\quad 6-5$ and $4-2-3$
It is evident that by reversing the bells at the ends of the 3 -member group. the pla:n course is produced This is easily done by calling a single on these bells when the bell at the centre of the group is in 2nds (6ths in a 6ths place method), and when the coursing pair are in 5-6 (or, in a 6ths place method, in 2-3)
Example (as above-Bot Minor):
4563
56432
63524
32645
There remains the one position which needs two call, to produce rounds. This is the ott-of-course position in which no bell courses with either of its plain-course partners: from course-head 54236 . or its reverse, 45326 . The coursing-order is $6-3-4-5-2$ or $6-2-5-4-3$, and to bring uo rounds call any bell W and H with a bob and single for in a oths place method. Oitt and $\operatorname{In}$ I Since the conductor can use his own hell as the observation, there should be no difficulty

Examples:

Apart from its obvious use in bringing round $d$ rouch which has gone astray, the system is usefu! in other ways. It can be used to sharpen the wits of a band's conductors by playing the "calling game." where one ringe cal's up a position at random, and anotier endeavours to produce rounds as soon as possible With the system in mind. no one can be at a loss for a touch: he can make calls at will and be sure of bringing up rounds al pleasure and the hatit thus formed of watchinf, the coursing-order. and seeing how the bells work logether, is the best possible training for conducting on any number of bells

Change Ringing in the Newcastle Area

By RODNEY A. YEATES

TYNEMOUTH PARISH CHURCH:
CHRIST CHURCH, SOUTH SHIELDS
(Ten bells, 16 cwt .1 qr .18 lb. )
In this Restoration building hangs a fine ring of ten. In 1787 a ring of six was installed by Whitechapel and in 1807 the tenor was recast after cracking̣. There seems to have been no change ringing on the bells until about 1874, when a local change ringing society was started. In July, 1874, a new treble and tenor were added, partly paid for by the money of John Joicey. of Newton Hall, and of John Straker. and partly by public subscription. The leading spirit in this was William Reed, a solicitor, and it would be interesting to know how he acquired his knowledge of change ringing
Under Reed, the band advanced far. In 1877720 of Grandsire Minor was achieved. In Oztober, 1878, due to the generosity of Maria Wheatley, the bells were augmented by Mears to ten and a hand able to ring Caters and Royal was established in the next few years.
In 1877 the inaugural meeting of the Durhan and Newcastle Association was held at Christ Church. Reed became the lirst president, although the real leader was the secretary, G. J. Clarkson, of Stockton. In the next year the first peal for the Association was rung by seven North Shields ringers and one from Darlington. This was Grandsire. conducted by Reed.
At about this time Joel Hern, later to become local Ringing Master, moved from Hurworth-on-Tees to Tynemouth. His brother. Johnson E. Hern, was the first person to reintroduce change ringing into Northumberland ind Durham. The Herns had learned to ring in Norfolk and had started change ringing at Hurworth in about 1873. Although there had been earlier change ringing at Newcastle Cathedral. Bishopwearmouth and St. Cuthbert s. Darlington, it had died out. This was the first revival.
In about 1885 William Reed gave up ringing for organ playing. He died in 1918 at the age of 78 . Perhaps partly due to this departure the band began to collapse. In 1888 the Old Society was broken up and a new one formed. In 1891 the largely young band was ringing mostly Minor. In 1893 a 4.560 of Plain Bob Major was achieved. In the same year, however, the parish had no more money to pay the band, and ringing was stopped. The difficulty, however, seemr to have been solved and in 1897 the local fand rang a peal of Grandsire Triples. This was conducted by Joseph Keen, later Ringing Master of the Cathedral. He died as recently as 1957. Up to the first world war under Hern and then T. A. Teasdale. a very good band was maintained. In 1905 the band rang the then record length of Double Oxford Bob Major (7.232) at Tanfield. Io 1906 thev rang two peals of Stedman Caters. one of Triples and just failed to ring one of Double Oxford Royal. In 1903 S. O. Ferry's Sunday service ringing points scheme was started and Tynemouth was consistently in the top three.
After World War I a collapse in the standard occurred. A revival took place in ahout 1924 with Edward A. Hern. Joel's son. and a very able conductor, as leader. Up until the second world uar a very reliable hand, high in Ferry's lists, was maintained. The death of Hern in 1935 was a setback. Although in the later part of this period the band was short of ringers, it may he noted that in 1937 the average attendance of the members was 93 per cent:! In 1938 the bells were rehung on ball-bearings.
After World War II there has been very little 10 -bell local ringing. Nevertheless, some ocal quarter peals CGrandsire and Stedman Triples) have bern rung. After the death of G. W Dix in 1951. Mr. Jack Scott hecame Ringing Master. a nosition he still holds. It is interesting to note that he is the great-grandson of Zacharias Scott, the ringing sexton of Winlaton, a founder member of the Association.

ST. MARY'S, WHICKHAM  (Six bells, $6+$ cwt.)

On a small rise away from the main street of the little town of Whickham stands the Norman church. The first bell was installed here in 1657 and at some time later two others were added. In 1888 three trebles were installed by Whitechapel and paid for by $A$ D. Carn C. L. Routledge and Williarn Holmes helped to start a band by dint of regularly walking the distance from Newcastle. A good local society developed. number of 720 's in assorted methods were rung: in 1893 71, and two 5.040 s. By 1898 however, the standard had lapsed to Doubles

In 1904 Mr. Stephen Thompson took up ringing Until 1914 Boh Doubles was mainly rung, although an occasional 720 was possible. After the first world war there was, as in many places, a sharp fall in the standard In 1922 R. E. Atkinson took over from Jonathan Nicholson as captain. There was a recovery but Plain Bob remained the stock method until the early thirties. In 1931 the front three bells were recast by Gillett and Johnston and the whole ring was overhauled. Mr. Thompson took over from Atkinson as captain in that year
There followed a period of great progress On December 12th. 1931, Mr. Thompson conducted a peal of Bob Minor with four other local ringers, all first-pealers, in it. In the few years up to the second world war a number of other peals based on Whickham and Blaydon, with Mr. W. J. Davidson of the Cathedral, were rung.

In 1944 Mr . Thompson conducted the first peal of five local ringers. However, in the early fifties the band fell apart. Mr. Thomp son has made continuous attempts to train local ringers. At present (though the bells are temporarily unringable) there is basis for an excellent band.

ST. PAUL'S WHITLEY BAY

(Eight bells, 17 cwt . 1 qr.)
In the popular holiday resort of Whitley Bay lies the Church of St. Paul, built in 1864. When the church was constructed, six bells cast by Taylor's were donated by the Palmer family. In 1883, R. S. Story, a St. John's ringer (d. 1911) moved to Whitley Bay A few years later he introduced a belfry re form, improved the ringing conditions and started a new band. All but one of the old call changers had left in protest. One of his recruits was Richard A. Gofton (d. 1891). In the next few years his five sons became the main members of the band. These were Thomas (d. 1931). Joseph (d. 1933). James (d. 1958). Robert (d. during World War 11) and Alder (alive. ringing and active, aged 87). Some of the achievements of the band were:- Various 5.040 's in plain and Surprise Minor in tower and hand.
1906. Peal of 14 Surprise Minor.

1911 In thi, year the 41 Surprise Minor were rung for service to 720's. Twelve of these were previously unnamed

In 1913 the bells were recast and augmented to eight by Taylor's. The trebles were donated by T. T. Gofton in 1931, and in 1933 the hand's achievements were Bristol and London Surprise Mejor rung regularly for Sunday service. Peals of London and Bristol in the tower.

The first-ever peal of Spliced Surprise Major (Cambridge and Superlative). Peals of London Maior and Stedman. Cinques. "in hand." Practices of Cambridge Royal "in hand.

The sons and daughters of the brothers took up ringing. At one time. of the 15 Association members at St. Paul's, 11 had the name Gofton! One of the other four was the name Gofton! One of the other four was the brothers brother-in-law. S. W. Stratford. Prominent were W. L. and Richard A. Gofton, Alder's sons.

After the death of T. T. and J. A. Gofton the band soon recovered. In 1948 another local peal of London Major was rung. At present the standard has fallen somewhat. The Ringing Master is Mr. Richard A. Gofton.

ST, PAUL'S, WINLATON

In the old Durham village of Winlaton is the Church of St. Paul, built in 1828. On its erection a ring of five, cast by Watson's of Newcastle, was installed. It would be interesting to know if these are the onlv bells they cast. On these bells "called peals of Grandsire Doubles" were rung, i.e. I suppose Grandsire with the order changed not continuously but on command. In 1864 a new treble was installed at the expense of the parishioners, cast by Warner's. At this time one of the leading local ringers was Zacharias Scott (d. 1915), the local sexton. His ringing notebook still exists.
Winlaton was a founder member of the Association in 1878. In 1886 the first-ever local 720 was rung. Up to the turn of the century the band continued to improve and to ring more complex methods. In 1902 a 5.040 in seven methods was rung by them. In the next few years the standard greatly dropped and in 1906 the bells became unringable

By 1909 the money to restore them had been raised, and they were re-opened under W. C. Bennett sen. (d. 1929) and a change ringing band was maintained. After his death the band had no conductor and standards fell. After the war a regular service band has been maintained, although at present this is not caprible of change ringing. The Ringing Master is Mr. W C. Bennett, jun

Mansfield District

The annual meeting of the Mansfield District was held at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Mansfield, on January 22nd. The Rev. A. M. P. Wilson officiated at the ringers* service and later he and the local ringers, ladies and helpers were sincerely thanked for: their part in the day's success.
Arising from the business meeting was a decision to hold an evening practice in the months alternate to the usual meetings, when the emnhasis each time would be on two preselected methods. It was also proposed to hold a District outing this year.

The secretary spoke against the practice of re-electing officers en bloc. However, in the absence of further proposals. the following were once again returned: Chairman, $S$. W. Fossey: secretary, D. J. Beach; Ringing Master. H. T. Rooke. Mr. B. A. Richards was elected to serve as the committee member, also as Assistant Ringing Master for 1966.
A wide variety of ringing was enjoyed on this tuneful ring of eight during the afternoon nd evening with an overall attendance of between 50 and 60 .
Next meeting: Edwinstowe, March 26th.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH dIOCESAN ASSOCIATIOP

At the annual general msoing of the Menmouth Branch at Ebbw Vase 3 favourable report for 1965 was presented. Subscriptions had been paid hy 151 penple and ibere was a ecord number of 47 new memhers from 1 -1 towers. Patricia Davies and Riciard Salkad, of Chepstow. were elecied members and merition was made of the enthusiasm of the :nachen ringers.

Meetings lixed for the coining vear were: Dingestow, May 14th: Machen, July 9th: Chepstow, Octover 8th: Marshfield, Jantiary 14th.
The Branch Master. Mr. Lionel Jones, thanked Mr. R. B. Parry for his expert chairmanship, the Vicar (the Rev. W. H. Lewis) for the service, and Mr. Reuben Clench thanked those who had provided the bountiful tea for the 50 ringers and friends present.

CUMBERLANDS' DINNER-Contd.
night the Cumberlands had travelled an average of 47.7 miles and the visitors 32.7 miles.

Mr. John D. Rock, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, who replied, said although he was jointly speaking for a vast number of visitors, he realised he was there primarily as Master of the College Youths. He was happy to state that there was now between the two Societies what they could call "a peaceful co-existence." Nevertheless. there was a very healthy rivalry. In recent years their standard of ringing had been of ton quality and he congratulated the Master.
Mr. Rock said he started to ring when he was about ten in a small village in Herefordshire, and London was then a long way away. He read of those exploits of the two Societies in London and never thought he would aspire to the great heights they had reached. He, used to puzzle how could they be "ancient" and "youths." and pictured them as a lot of wizened old men. On the other hand, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths rang at St. Martin-in-the-Fields, which was the Parish Church of Buckingham Palace, and he thought then that that was the best place to ring.
Mr. P. A. Corby, secretary of the Kent County Association, also replied.
The Master, in introducing Mr. P. A. Corby, said it had become their custom. to invite leaders of territorial Associations and prominent members of the Central Council to join in the response to the toast to the visitors. Mr. Corby was well known to them as secretary of the Kent County Association. Mr. Corby said he followed the activities of their Society with interest and in particular he had been very honoured to umpire the various attempts that some of their memhers had made in silent ringing Mr. A. J. Pitman's peals of Spliced Surprise Major with all the work, of which they had now scored peals in four and six methods. He wished them luck with further attempts in higher numbers of methods. He also congratulated those who had taken part in that evening's performance of Yorkshire Royal on handbells.

THIS BELLE WANTS BELLS

TO enable this bride, Miss Jean Orton, and her ringer husband, Robert Rivers, to continue their service in North Hinksey, Oxford, tower will cost $£ 990$. The bell frame is too weak and unfit for regular ringing, and the treble and second bells need to be recast in tune with the third and tenor. Jean, when she handled a rope at her wedding, was one of the last to ring there before ringing was stopped.

In a little over a year a committee with Mrs. J. Rivers, of 149, Southern By-pass, Botlev, Oxford, as secretary, has raised $£ 140$ through private donations, whist drives, car rallies and coffee mornings, and they now appeal for suggestions as to how the rest can be raised-fast. Is it possible that any churches whose bells are not rung might be willing to part with one or more of them to help this good cause knowing that they would be put to proper use? This is their plea.

PEAL BOARD MEMORIAL TO MR. F. W. ROGERS

A peal board memorial in the ringing chamber of Portsmouth Cathedral to Mr. F. W. Rogers was blessed and dedicated on February 5th, the ceremony coinciding with the Portsmouth District annual general meeting. A Past Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, Mr. Rogers served in various Guild offices for over 40 years and was also tower captain at St. Mary's, Portsea.
The in memoriam peal was one of Grandsire Caters, rung half-muffled at the Cathedral on June 13th, 1964, and it was contributed to by the Guild's Central Council representatives. The work had been executed by Mr. A. Davis, of Southbourne, most satisfactorily.

Mrs. Rogers and her two son, Allen and Christopher, were joined by many ringers and friends at the service. These included the Master, Canon K. W. H. Felstead, and a Past Master, Mr. G. Pullinger. Officiating at the service were Canon Lowman of the Cathedral, the Master and the Vicar of Portsea (the Rev. Mr. Temple). The act of dedication was performed by Canon Felstead, who in an address told how Mr. Rogers always strove for perfection in ringing and in the conduct of Guild affairs.
At the husiness meeting ten lapsed members were called for formal deletion from the list of members and seven new members elected. Two other members were transferred from compounding to ringing membership and one member transferred from the Southampton District. One compounding member was elected.
The secretary's annual report showed that attendance for ringing at the majority of District towers had improved since 1964, but more efforts must be made to improve the standard of ringing, especially in the more advanced methods.
Officers elected for the next triennial period were: Chairman. Mr. H A. Nobes: secretary, Mr. L. D. Duguid: Ringing Master, Mr. W. Cope: auditor, Mr. A. York Bramble. Executive Committee representative. Mr. A. Burbidge.

THE LADIES' GUILD Central District

An enjoyable meeting was held at Edmonton on January 29th Ringing was of good standard throughout. and methods ranged from Grandsire to Surprise. A service touch of Stedman was rung by eight members.
At the business meeting Mrs. T. Lock indicated her desire to relinquish the office of vice-president, and Mrs. Savory was elected o succeed her The members thanked Mrs. Lock for the sterling work she had done for the Guild as vice-president for so many years.
Great satisfactiont was derived from electing 13 new members, and a special welcome given to three from Australia. The warmth of welcome extended by Miss Newcombe and five delightful young ladies of the local hand was very gratifying, and they also entertained the gathering to a sumptuous tea. Thanks to all who attended to make such a happe meeting. including the gentlemen, who managed to avoid the washing-up!

HATHERN RINGERS' KEENNESS REWARDED

February 3rd was a memorable day for Hathern (Leicestershire) Ringers. Since November, 1961, they had been striving to raise funds for the augmentation of their bells from six to eight. On that day the two new bells were cast at Messrs. John Taylor and Co.'s foundry at Loughborough.
A distinguished company witnessed the ceremony. It included the Bishop of Leicester (the Rt. Rev. R. R. Williams), whose name and date of consecration (1953) is inscribed on one of the bells, the Rector (the Rev. C. R. Ball), the tower captain and the ringers' secretary (Mr. R. A. and Mrs. V. M. Carter), the president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild (Mr. B. S. Payne), the District chairman (Mr. L. W. Stevens) and other ringers and friends.
Undeterred by the Parochial Church Council being unable to give financial help towards the $£ 500$ approximate estimate, Hathern ringers contributed regularly week by week and visiting ringers helped, including the collection at District services held in their church. A considerable sum was raised by a ringers' festival in May, 1964. when 30 towers were open and teas served at Hathern.

When the half total was reached in late 1964 the Church Council agreed to underwrite the balance upon a promise to repay and also gave two donations. The estimate had now risen to $£ 622$ and with prospects of rising prices it was decided to get on with the work as soon as a faculty was received. Acknowledging the help of many friends, Hathern ringers state that the balance underwritten is now $£ 160$ and they hope soon to be in a position to repay this.

The ringers here pride themselves on ringing twice on a Sunday and on special occasions. A ringers' Sunday is a regular feature in the church's year and handbells are introduced at the service of Nine Lessons and Carols.

BELFRY GOSSIP

It is expected that a second edition of "Change Ringing " will be necessary, thanks to the wonderful support of the Exercise.
The in memoriam peal of Grandsire Triples at Holy Trinity, Bolton, on January 27th, for Mr. Peter Crook, was the same composition as he called for his 500 th peal.
Conducting a golden wedding peal for Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Slack at St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, was Mr. Thomas Cooke, and ringing in it were his wife and two daughters. Incidentally, all four learned to ring at St. Cuthbert's-Mr. Cooke first, then his wife and two daughters.
Mr. Tom Jennings, of St. Sepulchre's, Northampton, commenting on a quarter peal he rang at Weston Favell, at 86 years of age, said he felt as fresh at the finish as at the start! Mr. Jennings does not look a day above 70, and rings regularly every week in one or more churches.
It was an auspicious occasion when the Rector of Hemington (the Rev. A. G. Durston) rang his first peal on January 22nd. It was conducted by his daughter, Jennifer, as a compliment to her grandparents on their golden wedding, who are parents-in-law of the Rector. Have we any other record of an incumbent ringing his first peal on his own bells conducted by his daughter?

Those knowing the recent propensity of the clappers at St. Peter Mancroft to break will not be surprised to learn that a peal attempt on January 29th came to an early end through the clapper of the 11th breaking; nor will it astonish them that this bell was being rung by David E. House.

HEREFORD CATHEDRAL

Hereford Cathedral central tower of rosered stone is now in a web of steel scaflolding awaiting a "face lift.". An inspection to determine necessary repairs is proceeding.

Originally there was a wooden spire, which was removed by architect Wyatt after the collapse of the Cathedral's west end in 1786. The tower is 146 ft . 6in. high and has 215 steps. It houses a clock and ring of ten bells. The tenor is 331 cwt . in C. diameter 59 in ., and cast in honour of St . Cuthbert.

The front four bells are by Abraham Rudhall dated $1697-8$, as is also the seventh, hut the treble was recast by Mears and Stainbank in 1892. The old eighth was also by Rudhall. 1697. by recast by T. Mears in 1810. The original fifth was a pre-Reformation bell recast by Mears and Stainbank in 1865. The sixth, ninth and tenor are Bristol 15 th century.

MANCROFT GUILD

The Guild dinner, held at the Flixton Rooms, Tombland, Norwich, on January 26th, was attended by 51 members and guests. The Guild's president, the Rev. W. J. Westwood; was in the chair. The toast of "The Guests" was proposed by the Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. David Heighton, in the unfortunate absence through indisposition of the Ringing Master, Mr. Nolan Golden.

The ringers' jug, given by John Dersley in 1749, together with an inscribed pewter flagon of 1764 and pewter mugs of 1821 , remnants of the property of the Norwich Scholars, adorned the top table and were later put to their proper use.

36 YEARS TOWER CAPTAIN AT CALNE
Mr. Herbert Burry, who for the past 30 vears has been tower captain at Calne, Wilts, has resigned through ill-health. In appreciation of his long and valued services he was presented with an armchair by the tower members. Canon D. O'Hanlon (Vicar) spoke of his services to the church and tower, and Mrs. O'Hanlon made the presentation.

Mr. Burry moved to Calne in 1919 after service in the Canadian Army to take up the post of verger at the Parish Church in the days of the late Archdeacon Boddington. In 1922 he took up bellringing and received his initial lessons from the late Mr. Tom Knight.

After this he practised on his' own and quickly became proficient. When the bells were rehung in 1929 he was appointed captain of the Calne tower-a post he has held ever since

YORKTOWN PEAL

The peal at Yorktown on January 1st (page 66) was a farewell to the Vicar, the Rev. A. W. Franklin, who has left for Pool-in-Wharfedale, Yorkshire, and also a 77th hirthday compliment to the senior ringer, Mr. F. J. Farr. who has been a ringer at Yorktown for 59 years. The ringer of the fourth was Michael J. Church, and not as printed.

STAMFORD RINGERS TELEVISED

The bellringers of All Saints' Church, Stamford, are to be seen and heard on a television programme on A.T.V. called "Today." The film was taken on February 2nd but a definite date for the showing has not been given yet. The producer suggested it might be on February 11th or 18 th at 6.15 p.m.

HOLT CHURCH BELES

There was a miller hale and bold,
Whose mill was near to me.
He worked and sang from morn till night. No better man was he.
A peal of bells, said he, I'll have before I die.
And hang them in the belfry
Of Holt Church standing by.
We'll get the people one and all
To help us pay the bill,
And I am sure that none will fail
My task to help fulfit.
The money came from rich and poor, For few did say him nay,
And soon the bells within the tower Were ready for the day.
The Bishop came in regal gown,
The deans and parsons too,
All journeyed to this little town, And crowded in the pew.
To bless the bells they all had come, The Bishop rang them true. They sang and praised just everyone, For Billy West they knew
Had got his bells but said that he On this his greatest day,
Was sick in bed and could not be With them to sing and pray.
So write on these, the Holt Church bells, Engrave it if you can,
We rang and sang for Billy West, Who's more than twice a man.

RANG WITH THE REV. F. E. ROBINSON

The suggestion that the late Mr. A. E. Pitstow was one of the last surviving ringers of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson's tours of 1897-98 is questioned by Mr. Peter Minchin. He notes in his cony of "Among the Bells" that Mr. L. A. Wilson, of Wootton Bassett, who is still alive, rang in several peals. We should like to hear of any other survivors.

HOVE'S TOWN HALL BELLS

A special crane from West Croydon was employed to move the 12 bells from the fire-gutted Town Hall at Hove to the Corporation depot. Difficulty was experienced in moving the three largest bells from the steel joists and charred timbers about 20 feet below the top of the 92 foot tower Big Tom, the heaviest, about $2 \frac{1}{2}$ tons. is cracked and distorted. According to "The Brighton and Hove Herald " the bells are to be recast.

ST. PETER'S, NOTTTNGHAM

Dear Sir,-Mr. P. A. Corby is correct in pointing out the inadequacy of my account of the augmentation of St. Peter's, Nottingham, bells. However, it is intended to write a full account of all restoration work at St. Peter's when this is completed later in the year. Property development and road widening have entailed the moving hack of the churchyard walls and, in conjunction with this, the interior and exterior fabric is being renovated. Work in the belfry is not yet complete but ringing has recommenced and visitors are always welcome - Yours faithfuliy.
D. STAINSBY,

Ringing Master.

ASHBY FOLVILLE RINGER MARRIED

A ringer and Sunday School teacher at Ashby Folville, Leics, for about 17 years, Miss Elizabeth Ann (Betty) Smith was married to Mr. Anthony George Woodcock on February Sth. Ashby Folville bells were rung by local ringers, including some she had taught at Ashby and Gaddesby. In the afternoon 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung by D Lowe 1, Mrs. M. Stimson 2, F. J. Stimson 3, Mrs. D. Day 4, J. H. Cook 5, J, L. Day 6. R. H. Cook (conductor) 7, L. Lowe $$$

WORTH $\mathbf{1 , 7 0 0 ? ~}$

Liddington. Berks, P.C.C. asks is it worth $£ 1,700$ to restore to the village the sound of their five bells, which have been silent since the 1939-45 war? Before the bells can be rung, the massive supporting beams-one dated 1604-would have to be renewed and work done to the bells. In the meantime it is hoped to raise a team for the church's handbells.

DAGENHAM-FOUR FIRST PEALERS

There were four first pealers in the peal of Plain Bob Triples at Dagenham on Januarv 22nd. Writes the conductor. Mr. John Armstrong: "It was creditably struck and with hardly a mistake throughout. For the four it represented the results of two years' hard work in which the rudiments of change ringing had to be learned with little outside help. On this occasion we were very grateful to have visitors from Hornchurch and Shenfield. without whose able assistance we should not have been able to ring such an enjoyable peal."

TENOR BELL WELDED

The tenor bell from Bramford, Suffolk. which had been to Denmark for welding, is back in this country. At the time of writing it is being retained at Harwich for Customs clearance. One of the ringers from Bramford visited Vejle in October last year and saw the welder, Mr. August Nielsen and the bell. It was hoped that the welding would be in progress at the time of the visit. but the welding was put back until November. J.C.

LADIES MAKE HISTORY IN AUSTRALIA

The Ladies' Guild should note that the first all-ladies' quarter deal to be rung in Australia was achieved at St. Paul's, Burwood. N.S.W.. on January 23 rd. The method was Plain Bob Triples. A week earlier an attempt was lost after 1,130 changes had been rung. In it were Margaret Goodyer and Janet Smith, of Turramurra.

NEW ZEALAND SCHOOL WANTS HANDBELLS

Miss R. Willis, of the Samuel Marsden Guild of Ringers. Marsden School, Karori. Wellington. W.3, New Zealand, writes that their group, formed in 1963, was very popular in the school. It operated on a set of 36 bells loaned by the Blind Institute, Auckland. The bells have had to be returned, and to continue activities they want to purchase a set of about 36 bells. They are in a position to pay in sterling.

COLLECTION OF DOUBLES

By G. K. DODD and R. H. JONES SUPPLEMENT - APRIL, 1965
Since "The Collection of Doubles" was published last year much information regarding Doubles methods and variations has been received. This information has corrected names and compositions in "Part $C$ and in Part D of "The Collection" and has added to the number of methods already published. It is hoped that this," collection of Doubles is now "up to date."
Some methods with 20 changes to their plain course have been added, but only for information. These have a separate section so as to avoid the confusion which was caused when such methods were published with those of 30 or 40 changes to their plain course. It must be understood that the Central Council ruling on methods with 20 changes to their plain course has led to a transfer of names.
Corrections to Part C or Part D are denoted by the prefix C or D .
With the publication of this Supplement it is believed that there must be very few methods left which have not been compiled.
We would like to thank all ringers who have sent information to either of us. Any further information would be appreciated.
N.B.-Before ringing any methods, please check that they are true.

PART A
These are methods which have not been published or have parts used in other methods.

TECHNOLOGY AND CHRISTIANITY CAN LIVE TOGETHER

By CANON GILBERT THURLOW

[From a sermon preached at the dedication of Holt, Norfolk, bells.] THIS is a highly technical age and some people question whether a faith which began in simple surroundings can inspire a technical society. What is the use, such people say, of quoting words like "I am the good shepherd" to men whose life is in mine or factory, who are lost in mass production, inspired by the power of the crowd alone? But Christianity began in a technical age. The Wise Men's gifts were the fruits of technology. Herod's new temple was a technical achievement, and Paul's travels depended on a technical organisation. And the proclamation from this tower at Holt is the fruit of technology through six centuries proclaimed in Christ's name.

One of the bells we hear tonight was cast by Thomas Potter in Norwich, in a highly skilled, technical and dangerous operation, which he accomplished 600 years ago. It has proclaimed the Gospel since then; first in the tower of St. Swithin and then, when that tower was taken down in 1881, it was transferred to St. Margaret's. That parish has now lost its population and in consequence the bell has come here to take a new lease of life, which may last as long in the future as it has in the past.

Thomas Potter inherited a technical skill already at least four centuries old in England and only last summer men were digging up at Winchester the furnace and moulds used for casting the bells for the Saxon Minster in which the Kings of Wessex were being buried 1,000 years ago. The technical achievement which cast Thomas Potter's bell has been gradually improved, so that today English bellfounders, like those who have rung Holt bells, are more skilled and have wider connections than ever before. In the last two years English founders have sent magnificent new rings of bells to the Cathedrals at Washington, Sydney, Capetown and Guildford. So much for the dying Church and the inconsistency of Christianity and technology! These two can live together and the City of God is in Coventry-the city of constant strikesas much as in Jerusalem which killed the prophets.

The Gospel is best preached in simplicity-Christ said so himself. Intricacy is not inconsistent with simplicity and we must learn not to let the one banish the other. The bells illustrate this so well. Bell tuning, hanging and change ringing are each an intricate science and I must compliment both the local ringers and the Gresham boys on what they are achieving. But the result of all this work is, for the average listener, a challenge-simple, compelling, penetrating the souls of all who hear it. The sound of bells is wordless, so it is not subject to the limitations of words. Bells do not state a croed so they are not subject to the limitations of a creed. We are subjected to constant discussions about Christian belief, but the bells sound with a voice as simple as "Follow Me, My peace I give unto you," and one cannot turn one's back on a simple call, as one perhaps can when Christianity is reduced to a mere subject for discussion. A wordless call has no limits. There it is.

When people work together God's power is realised. These bells are the fruit of the working together of many people of goodwill, each for all and all for each. Not only have there been the technicians of whom I have spoken, but there have been besides so many here who have shown such splendid leadership and such fine cooperation, in raising the money. Let us encourage them by giving towards the sum still needed-by spreading interest and goodwill, and by doing all kinds of technical works here, either at cost price or for nothing.

It is usually invidious to mention names-but there is one very much in our minds, Billy West, to whose splendid leadership this achievement is so largely due. At this moment he is ill in Cromer Hospital, but he will have the satisfaction of knowing of the climax of his achievement, even though he cannot personally join in it.

Working together will continue here in the future. It will be the working together of men and women, boys and girls, who in days to come learn to ring, will teach others, and will maintain the bells and the ringing tradition in union with the 40,000 other ringers in this and other lands, which will keep the proclaiming of the Christian Good News from this tower as a living fact.

There is much talk today about the need for training the laity for work in the Church. But ringing is just one example of the fact that the laity have for centuries been quietly doing their work without talking about it. The quiet sincere leadership and team work among thousands of ringers is an example of lay work of which the Church can be proud.

So as Holt's bells ring tonight and in years to come, allow them to remind you of the three facts of which I have spoken: technology and Christianity are not inconsistent, each can be of great help to the other; the Gospel is best preached in simplicity, deep though its origins, its philosophy and its implications are: and it is when people work together as a team that God's power is released.

REDUNDANT NORWICH BELLS PROVIDE HOLT WITH RING OF SIX
HOLT Parish Church, Norfolk, was packed on February 6th, when the ring of six was dedicated at a special service at 6.30. Some local churches had closed down for the evening so that their people could be present. The dedication was performed by the Bishop of Lynn, and the address given by the president of the Central Council.
There is an interesting example of "bells moving with the people "behind this new ring. Holt has for long possessed two bells hung for ringing, on which Gresham's schoolboys and others have learned to handle. Their frame was intended to be adaptable for a larger ring at some future date. But how were four more bells to be obtained?

St. Margaret's, Norwich, is one of many "redundant churches" in the centre of that city. It possessed a ring of five hung "dead," consisting of three taken from the redundant St. Swithin's next door, when the tower of that church was taken down in 1881, with two others recast from older bells in 1908. These seemed likely never to be hung for ringing in St. Margaret's. So, when it transpired that Holt wanted a ring of six a happy arrangement was made, by which four of the St . Margaret's bells were made available for Holt. Taylor's of Loughborough have made a very good job. They have retained the two Holt bells as 3 and 6, the old St Margaret's 3 and 4 are now 4 and 5 in the new ring, and the two St. Margaret's trebles are recast into the two trebles at Holt.
A great deal of local interest was stirred up. The lead in this was magnificently given by Mr. Billy West, captain for 40 years of Wiveton tower nearby. He, together with many others, has given unsparingly of his time and talents, so that much of the work has been done free or at cost price. Indeed, the one most disappointing feature of the evening was the absence of three people-Billy West himself, who has knocked himself up with overwork in this matter, and was then in Cromer Hospital, the Rector of Holt who is unwell, and the president of the Norwich Diocesan Association. Mr. Nolan Golden, who was away for a similar reason.

The form of service was planned round the dedication itself, which was preceded by a bidding prayer and the sermon, and followed by the opening plain course of Bob Minor rung by ringers from Wiveton, Aylsham and Reepham, and prayers, anthem (Purcell's "Bell Anthem ") and hymns, during one of which a collection was taken to help pay off the still considerable debt on the work. A number of ringers attended, and many more were welcomed at the meeting held there on February 12th.

A tribute to Mr. Billy West appeared in cur last issue.

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS-No. 26

MISS MARGARET E. CHILTUN The Southwell Diocesan Guild

The Southwell Diocesan Guild, through this series, proudly presents to the Exercise a brilliant young member of the fair sex in the name of Margaret $E$. Chilton.

Born in Newark-on-Trent, Notts, on March 20th, 1946. Margaret is a great-niece of the late Arthur Andrews, of Billingborough, Lincs (who stood in the first peal to be rung on the old five at that tower), and daughter of Arthur E. Chilton, the towerkeeper at Newark, and so carries on the tradition of a great ringing family into the third generation, Educated at Newark Technical College and School of Art, Margaret passed seven commercial subjects and G.C.E. and is now em-

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

All the officers were re-elected at the annual general meeting of the Cary Branch at Evercreech on January 22 nd . About 70 members and friends were present and they stood in remembrance of the following who had died during the year: H. Milborne. R. Stuckey, Furing the Jead, Jewport and J. T. Dyke.
The chairman (the Rev. G. S. Robinson) presented Association certificates to four mempress from Barton St. David. two from Castle Cary, five from Evercreech and two from North Cheriton. New members were elected from Bruton (three). Evercreech (four), Castle Cary and South Cadbury (one each).
Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar (the Rev. A. C. A. Sellick) for conducting the service, Mr. J. Kinley (organist) and Mr. H. J. Sanger for making the arrangements.

Peal at Corfe, Somerset

Dear Sir,-Congratulations to the band who rang the peal at Corfe, which I think was the first since 1936, but I am afraid it was not the fastest peal for the Association. I have rung in two at Dunkerton which were faster, 2 hours and 15 minutes on February 27 th, 1960 , and 2 hours and 16 minutes on February 11th, 1963, and also one in 2 hours and 21 minutes on February 11 th, 1961.
The little six will go very fast indeed if required and there could possibly have been some rung faster again. but it is interesting to look back and find that 1 have rung peals here in almost $2+$ hours-one extreme to the other, but nevertheless equally enjoyable. Yours truly.

Bath.
ployed by the National Provincial Bank as a cashier
As an 11 -year-old schoolgirl, complete with pigtail, she climbed the 92 steps to the Newark belfry and learned to handle a bell under the guidance of Mr. J. W. Raithby, Master of the Newark Society, and Mr. W L. Exton, who is now general secretary of the Southwell Diocesan Guild.

After scoring her first peal by ringing the treble to Doubles at Elston, Notts, on October 29th, 1960 , conducted by J. R. Pratchett Margaret has continued with a busy life of peal ringing, having taken part in 108 successful attempts, 101 of which were for the Southwell Diocesan Guild. Happiest when ringing Caters but equally at home on any number of bells, her achievements include several multi-method/variations of Doubles.

Apart from peal ringing. Margaret has wide interest in other fields of the Exercise and has taken full advantage in this day and age of modern transport and willing teammates, having rung in 299 towers covering 27 counties and is a member of six Guilds or Societies, one of them being the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

Although Margaret enjoys ringing, she also plays an important part in looking after other ringers' interests, being hon. treasurer of the Newark Parish Church Society and an Executive Committee member of the Southwell Diocesan Guild.
Six months ago Margaret said that she had two ambitions in her ringing life, one was to be the youngest person in the South well Guild to ring 100 peals, and the other was to be another lady to ring 500 peals. The first ambition was realised in September, 1965.

The future is always uncertain but, fired with the enthusiasm of youth and surrounded by a goodly company of ringing friends, she will surely be well on the way to the next target and inspire many young ringers in doing so.

An excellent and noteworthy record from a most brilliant youngster, deserving heartiest congratulations from the whole Exercise.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

The Andover District elected a new team of officers, following retirements at the annual District meeting on January 8th at Andover. The chairman is Mr. G. Dodd (retiring secretary): vice-chairman Mr. A. W Alliston: hon. secretary Mr. J. Wimlett : Ringing Master Mr. R. Crook: Deputy Rınging Master Mr. P. Murdock: treasurers Mr. and Mrs. Tarrant.

The secretary reported a successful year with 18 peals. which included the firsts of Highclere Surprise and Longparish Doubles and first for the Guild of Glasgow Surprise. The secretary is to draw up a rota of monthly practices and the Ringing Master hopes to organise advanced practices.
Next A.D.M Andover, January 14th. 1967, and quarterly meeting, Amport and Abbot's Ann on April 2nd.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

A company of over 40 sat down to the bountiful tea provided by the wives of St Leonard's ringers at the annual general meeting of the Bridgnorth Branch at Bridgnorth on February 5th. The Rector (the Rev. D. Allen) conducted the service at St. Leonard's Church. At the ensuing meeting Mr. A. Jones (Ringing Master) and Mrs. Joan Bennett (secretary-treasurer) were thanked for their services and duly elected for another 12 months. Ringing took place at both St . Leonard's and St. Mary's Churches.

UNIQUE KENT RINGING RECORD

Dear Sir,-When, some years ago, I first decided to try to trace my family history, I knew that my great-greatgrandfather, Henry Down, was a ringer at Hythe, in Kent, and was born there in 1805. It was known, ton that his father, another Henry, was also a Hythe ringer
Having established more recent relationships through Somerset House, which has birth, marriage and death records back to 1837, an examination of the Hythe parish registers was obviously the next step. These confirmed the young Henry Down's birth in 1805 and also that his father's name was Henry. But although the older Henrv lived in Hythe and owned property and carried on a business there, there was no sign of his baptism in the atherwise complete registers; clearly, he had been born somewhere else. but where?
It was at this point that 1 decided to look in the ringing chamber. You can imagine my delight when saw a framed silhouette of my great-great-great-grandfather hanging on the wall and under it the caption "Henry Down, a celebrated ringer of Hythe. Born at Saltwood 26th May, 1757. Died at Hythe 11th June, 1849." This silhouette the towermaster very kindly allowed me to have photographed. To add further proof of the relationship between the two Henrys and of the birth date of the elder, a peal board commemorating 5,040 Bob Triples in 1832 showed "Henry Down (Junr.)" on the treble and Henry Down (Senr.), aged 75." on the 4th.
Thanks to these clues 1 now know that the elder Henry's father was named Edmund Down, that he was a "husbandman" (a farmer), and that he was married in the charming little Marshland church of Old Romney in 1746 at the age of 29 . The search continues, but that is another story.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Northern District A.G.M. at Southwark

It was announced at the annual general meeting of the Northern District, held at Southwark Cathedral on January 29th that a recommendation to invite the Central Council to hold its 1968 meeting in the London Borough of Croydon would be submitted to the Association's annual meeting in May.

Seventy ringers ( 44 resident of the District) were present and 14 new members were elected. The committee reported that the system of instructional courses was beginning to show a small return for the monthly visits of instructors to less experienced bands.

On being elected Master. Mr. W. Jackson said that his policy would be to keep the business meetings as short as possible and to spend more time in the belfry. Other officers elected were: Hon. secretary. Mr. N. Steere: assistant secretary, Mr. B. Bull; committee, Miss A. Mann, Rev. A. Clayton and Mr. C. Mew . auditor, Mr. R. F. Layton.

Further ringing followed, including Surprise Royal.

Southern District

Despite the rather damp afternoon a large number of ringers attended the annual general meeting of the Southern District at Merstham on January 22nd. The Ringing Master, Mr. T. Bird, supervised the ringing before the excellent service. The tea propared by the ladies was most satisfying. The meeting followed, at which 12 new resident members were elected.
The following officers were elected for 1966: Ringing Master, Mr. A. Streeter; sec-retary-treasurer, Mr. K. Game: assistant secretary, Mr. I. Wickens; auditor, Mr. M. A. Northover; "Ringing World" representative, Mr. I. Wickens.

Ringing was resumed at St. Katharine's with methods ranging from Oxford Bob Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

I do not know when the elder Henry began ringing, but he was of some standing by 1802 (probably Hythe rowermaster), for in that year (according to Stahlschmidt-" The Church Bells of Kent," 1887), his name was cast into the tenor of a new ring by Mears of London. A family story has it that he went up to London for the casting and was fool enough to throw a guinea into the molten metal! The first record : have of one of his peals, though there must have been some earlier, is of 10,080 Bob Major at Hythe in 1818. in which he rang the 3 rd . He rang many later peals and in fact remained active 10 a great age; he was certainly still ringing at the age of 88 .

The elder Henry must have been proud to have lived long enough to see his son ring the 2 nd in the long peal of 13,440 Bob Major at Hythe in 1846. Morris records this peal in his "History and Art of Change Ringing," and I believe it remained a record length in Kent for many years.
I would like to think that I might one day match my predecessors' prowess. However my friends at Christ Church. Erith, would probably agree that there is still a long way to go yet!
It would be interesting to see if any other readers have ringing forbears of this vintage. Is there an Annable, a Snowdon or a Thurstans anywhere today? Finally, may I use your columns to say that if anyone has any further information on my ancestors, especially if they know of the whereabouts of any notebooks belonging to them. I should be delighted to hear from them.-Yours faithfully,

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The annual meeting of the South-West Branch was held at Lifton on January 29th. The ringing included rounds, Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. M L. Thornwill), who, after welcoming the Branch, in his address appealed to the ringers to dedicate themselves more earnestly than ever in sharing the struggle of the parish churches to call the people back to he Church. Between 50 and 60 people at down to tea, which was served by the ladies of the church.
The business meeting was presided over by Mr. H. H. Thomas. There were several changes in the officers elected, Mr. George Mudge (of Whitchurch) and Capt. Read (of Galmpton) were new to the General committee, the third member being Mr. Roy Bould, Ringing Master. Mr. R. Southwood, Plympton, was elected hon. secretary and treasurer. Miss Sylvia Sims. Press officer. Mr. Owen Thomas, auditor, and Mr. Roy Bould, Ringing Master, were re-elected. Mr. T. G. Myers (St. Andrew's, Plymouth) succeeds Mr H. H. Thomas, who ciid not seek re-election as charman. He was thanked for his efforts on behalf of the Branch over the past 15 years, having been elected chairman in 1951. The resignation of Mrs. Bould as hon. secretary and treasurer was received.
A recommendation to the General Committee that $£ 25$ be donated to Whitchurch Bell Restoration Fund was carried.

New members elected were the Rev. Eric Hayman. Lynn Murkin, Linda Le-Tissier and N. A. G. Rowe (Emmanuel, Plymouth) and the Rev. Roy Harris, Vicar of Emmanuel, as an honorary member

The votes of thanks were proposed from the chair and included one to Mr. Brimicombe and local ringers.

Next practice meeting: St. Budeaux, March

Letters to

LEICESTER CATHEDRAL PEAL STANDS
Dear Sir,-It is not my intention to enter into correspondence with Mr. Mason through the columns of "The Ringing World," but as my integrity as a ringer and my competency as a conductor have been questioned, $I$ wish to speak to the Ringing Exercise in general in defence of both.
Over many years 1 have made a host of friends throughout the country and they have accepted me both as a ringer and a person commanding as high a standard as the band itself allows. These people will appreciate that the discretion I used as the conductor of the peal at Leicester on New Year's Eve and as to its validity requires no challenge. Therefore I have no hesitation in stating that the peal shall stand as one that should remain in the records of the Leicester Diocesan Guild.-Yours faithfully,

Leicester.

MIGHT NOT REMEMBER ?

Dear Sir,-From his letter ("The Ringing World," February 11 th) it is to be assumed that Mr. Mason's peals are always of a very high standard. Perhaps he always follows his own advice and asks the conductor to stop the ringing if he considers it too bad to proceed. But no! He might not want to remember a recent visit to a Somerset 10-bell tower in the light of what he has written. Or is his reputation at stake and the thought of the tenor-kings who have rung that certain tenor in recent years! Come now, what's fair to one is fair to another-Yours faithfully
(Name and address supplied.)

KING EDWARD SURPRISE

Dear Sir.-I can see little point in changing the name of a Minor method that has already been established, as in the case of King Edward Surprise recently rung at Kilndowis. Kent, on January 8th, when it was renamed Keston Surprise
Surely the situation was already sufficiently complicated-the "Minor Alphabet" recently published contained over 1,000 names, some of the methods having two. three, four and even five names.
Although published as King Edward in the "Bell News" in 1907 it was probably rung under that name before publication, and my records show that it was rung at Wath-oriDearne and Felkirk in the 1920 's as King Edward, although it was probably rung elsewhere is well.
In any case it already has a duplicate name, Crown Bob. Why tack on a third?-Yours sincerely,
H. CHANT.

Ryhill, near Wakefield.

REDDITCH BELLS

Dear Sir,-The correspondence on Redditch was interesting. St. Stephen's possesses a musical ring of eight and its spire is a landmark for many miles in a picturesque part of Worcestershire and Warwickshıre.

Some remarks in the report of the County School outing were not quite accurate. was privileged to conduct a quarter peal on the back six at the commencement of a week of festivities to celebrate the centenary of the borough charter in July, 1955 . Four of the company were local ringers and as far as I know the hand has been active for many years since.-Yours faithfully,
V. A. HEMMING.

WEST DOWN CAPTAIN ON CHRISTMAS BELLS
Dear Sir,-May I, through your paper, sity thank you to P. R. M. for the nicely-worded report on the death of my uncle, Mr. William Phillips, of Newport, which is more than 1 can say for the report by Mr. Claude Rush on the B.B.C. Christmas Bell Broadcast.
What we have beeen striving for all our ringing lives. "good striking," he writes off as "monotonous" and would be improved by "open leads," "clips" and "near misses." Blimey !
Should Mr. Rush take C. E. Thoday's advice to spend his next holiday in Devon he will do well to learn this little verse that hung on the wall at the school I attended:

A wise old owl sat in an oak,
The more he saw the less he spoke.
The less he spoke the more he heard,
Why can't we be like that old bird?
because, he will meet quite a few, who can " zend 'em around a bit viddy like."
On behalf of the ringers at West Down I extend to him a hearty invitation to join us if ever he is down our way.-Yours faithfully,

MERVYN PHILLIPS.
Captain, West Down, Ilfracombe.

" THANKS, PETER CROOK "

Dear Sir,-In Peter Crook's records are two peals rung in Cornwall in July, 1938. He rang them with a Cornish band. One of those ringers was a 12 -year-old boy, who now says "Thanks, Peter Crook." Of that band only four can now claim to ring at all regularly, and only two of those are left in Cornwall, but Peter's example of keenness still hears fruit amongst those remaining in the Exercise who came into contact with him 10 that part of the world.-Yours faithfully.
E. V. WILLIAMS.

THE PEOPLE'S RIGHTS

Dear Sir,-Re the peal of Grandsire Royal at Daventty, if I may give a verdict it is to say that people have a right to please themselves what they ring in the name of true changes and without David J. Marshall's (or anyone else's) permission just because he or they don't like the method rung. The hest answer to Mr. Marshall I consider came from Mr. Edmund Malin-particularly that last paragraph asking if he wants a "Police State " in ringing.

I have not rung a peal of Grandsire ten and doubt, with health and advancing years. whether I now shall, but I have rung (and enjoyed ringing) two peals of Grandsire Major, as well as three (maybe four) of Grandsire Minor. "What is all this nonsense. anyway, about "boredom" of having to lay six blows behind at a call-does not the tenor man to a peal of Triples have to lay 5,040 blows behind?

To get the tenor behind for six blows does add music to Grandsire, and takes away some of the "cartwheel" stuff we so often hear to even-bell methods with no open leads, as many of the peals I've listened to have been!-Yours sincerely,

Weston Favell,
Northants.

IN SUPPORT OF GRANDSIRE

Dear Sir,-Having read with interest the varied controversy in "The Ringing World" concerning Grandsire, I would like to express an opinion as to its merits as a method. In my early days of ringing, having been brought up in a five-bell tower, Grandsire was very much practised but I have never had any regrets for having had such a grounding in one method.
Forty years ago Grandsire and Stedman were very much the methods of the day and if one was not interested in either, let alone not able to strike them to perfection. you got very little encouragement to attempt any other method more complex. Today we too often find a ringer has had too little time spent onl learning to handle a bell, mastering rounds efficiently. followed by a good grounding in the elementary stages of change ringing, including Grandsire.
After all, Grandsire and Stedman are two of the main foundation stones to the drt of change ringing. Instead, a beginner is often hurried on to Surprise ringing; in consequence we often find inferior and very second rate striking. It is much like teaching a pupil at school to learn algebra and geometry before he has fully grasped simple arithmetic. Grandsire for its musical qualities ranks high, with scarcely a bad change whether in Doubles or Caters, with Stedman a very close second; perhaps some would reverse this order.

Looking back a good number of years. when we used to tour our District around Christmas with handbells and visit a large number of houses, I particularly remember an old gentleman (a tue bell lover, but not a ringer), who always expected us and gave us a great welcome. We would ring in the soacious hall, table changes, either Grandsire Caters or Plain Bob Caters: he would invariably single out Grandsire Caters and maintain it was perfect bell music. So from this point of view I wonder how the listening public classify our efforts to put over our hest effects of bell music. Is it Surprise ringing or Plain? Is it odd- or even-bell ringing which appeals most? Whichever way it is, I feel we owe a deep sense of gratitude to our forbears in handing down to us such a rich legacy as Grandsire.-Yours faithfully, C. T. H. BRADLEY.

Folkingham, Lincs.

LESSNESS SURPRISE

Dear Sir,-After reading Mr. Jenner's letter (page 76, 1966) I must write in defence of Mr. Wycherley, under whose name the composition of Lessness, to which he refers, appears. The composition was sent in by me against Mr. Wycherley's advice because it is particularly suited to the Uxbridge/Lessness type of method and because it had not to my knowledge been published previously. No blame can therefore be attached to Mr. Wycherley.-Yours sincerely.

NURSES' PEAL BAND

Dear Sir,-I wonder whether it might be possible to get an idea of how many trained nurses there are in the Exercise. Although 1 know of a few student nurses who are learning to ring in this area I do not know any other trained nurse ringers. I imagine there must be a few somewhere, and wonder if a peal band of nurses could be raised.Yours sincerely.

CLAPPER FAILURE

Dear Sir,-If we assume that failure of a clapper invariably occurs as the result of the sudden shock as it strikes the bell, the problem, posed by Mr. Hayns, in " The Ringing World of January 28th, becomes more readily analysed.

At that time the bell is practically stationary, so that it is only necessary to consider the effect on the clapper of the blow it receives as it meets the soundbow. Wherever this arresting and impulsive blow is applied on the etapper there must be a parallel impulse in the bearing to stop the rotation. Given the lengths from the clapper bearing to its centre of gravity to the point of contact with the soundbow and of the equivalent simple pendulum, together with its weight and actual speed as it strikes the bell, it should be possible to deduce the magnitude of these two impulsive forces, and hence compute the shear in the staple bolt.
However, the snags arise in determining the speed of the clapper at impact. This is related to the speed of the ringing, the natural speed of the bell, whether she is early or late struck. and whether she rings "right" or "wrong." I feel that these last are probably connected, but the speed problem seems extremely complex. Last November Messrs. King, McClenahan and Threlfall reported their investigations into the clappering of a bell ("Ringing World," November 25th, 1965. page 744) and, as their problem was also associated with the relative speeds of bell and clapper, they may be able to shed some adciapper, they may be able Incidentally, the failures reported by M : Hayns would have been aggravated by the tension in the bolt due to the centrifugal force instantaneously in the clapper as it strikes the bell, together with that tension due to tightening the nut.

Could it be also that the area of the bolt might have been reduced through wear through ringing whilst it was slack for want of maintenance? Alternatively the strength of the holt of a well-used bell might have been reduced by fatigue, being subject to some two and a half million stress cycles in a period of ten years.
Whatever the conclusions 10 which Mr . Hayns ultimately comes for the general design of clapper staple bolts, they can be of little immediate aid to any tower without substantial rehanging funds, as they could involve redrilling for larger bolts or providing rebalanced new clappers. New rings, however, will have an assurance of greater freedom from the disconcerting results of losing a clapper.-Yours faithfully, Birmingham 17.

OBITUARY

MR. W. T. BEESON

AN APPRECIATION-HIS PEALS

William T. Beeson, who passed on last July, had a ringing career lasting over 51 years. At the beginning of this span the opportunitus to practise ringing demanded far more effort from the individual than today. From his records it is evident that Bill grasped every avarlable chance and took pride in doing so For example, a notebook reveals, "October 20th, 1914. 720 Oxford. 1st of Treble Bob," and "May llih, 1915. A course of London Surprise inside, also first course of Woodbine inside."
Taught to ring by his father at Godstonc, Bill rang his first peal (Plain Bob Minor) at Burstow in April, 1914. The second, over five years later, was of Grandsire Caters. In his third peal the conductor was Oliver Sifpetts, and from then until 1950 Oliver's name appears with Bill's freguently. Many outstanding ringers have stood in peals with Bill, among them being Frank Bennett, Canon Coleridge, William Fussell, George Gilbert, Keith Hart and Alfred Pulling.
Many of his peals were of outstanding merit and of interest to the historians of the Exercise. Of spectal note are the first of Spliced Surprise Major ever rung (June 1lth, 1927), the first of London Surprise Major by a "Willuam" band (October 18th, 1924), the first in any Surprise method by a band of police officers (May 25th, 1929), 9,600 Double Dublin Surprise Major (April fith, 1931), the first non-conducted peal by a same name band (Stepney, on May 10th, 1958).
Bill rang 873 peals altogether for 24 Guilds or Associations. Of the total, 486 were of Surprise Major in 59 different methods. with 25 peals in up to Six Spliced. His friends tried to help Bill to complete the alphaber but "M" eluded him. His other peals wers Cinques 1, Surprise Royal 39, Plain Royal 5, Treble Bob Royal 8, Caters 33. Treble Bob Major 36, Plain Major 85, Triples 95. Minor 72, Doubles 6. "In hand"

I tirst rang with Bili shortly after his first serious illness. Although often far from well he was always eager and ready for a peal. He never minded losing an attempt but became most outspoken when the striking fell below his conception of "g good." In many hours of travelling to and from towers I learned to respect Bill as a man greatly concerned about the future of this country and the Church and interested in a variety of subjects as well as his beloved gardening.
Mr Tom Lock writes: " Bill was a safe and reliable member on ringing tours, and would prefer not to attempt any method or methods unless he was quite sure In this he showed a true sense of team spirit. Again, he would ring any bell to suit the rest of the band. but preferred to be around the back end. He never attempted to exercise the authority of a policeman but he would demonstrate the qualities of one by remaining calm and unruffled. His country brogue and dry humour were both appealing and fascinating, for one could tell that he enjoyed life in a quiet way.

He was always a pleasant companion on tours and was really entertaining when he tours and was really entertaining when he opened up.' The members of his regular touring party for about ten years missed his burly figure and congenial presence after his tirst illness and were in hopes of his return, but it was not to be.

MR. W. C. WARD

The funeral took place at Great Dalby, Leics, on February 2nd, of William Coley Ward, who died in St. Mary's Hospital on January 28th, aged 80.
He learned to ring at Kirby Bellars, his native village, and worked on the Midland Railway at Trent Junction and Shirebrook and joined the ringers at Old Sawley. He served in the Royal Artillery in World War I and on his return settled in Asfordby. He had rung three peals for the Leicester Guild. ## MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION

The splendid new earish hall at St. Peter's, Staines, made a very pleasant setting for the $S$. and $W$. District annual meeting on February 5th. Ahout 35 members attended, and ringing at hoth Staines towers preceded the business meeting.

The accounts showed a similarity to those of 1964, with 172 ringing members paying subscriptions. The secretary drew attention to the sum donated to the Bell Restoration Fund. which was rather on the low side, and said he hoped that 1966 would produce far better results. To this end he had invested in a Bell Restoration Fund collection box, which would be left much in evidence at ali future meetings. He hoped that before long the Association would be in a position to make grants for sound controlling purposes, since this was hecoming ever more vital as the population density of the district increased. The peal and quarter peal ringing activities had been on the quiet side, with only eight peals. The highlight of the year, however, had been the introduction of the weekday evening meetings and the response to the three meetings held had been most encouraging. After a discussion, all speakers sgreed that weekday evening meetings possessed many advantages over those held on Saturdays. and a proposal was unanimously passed that after March, 1966, the Saturday meetings be reduced to three business meetings per year. The officers are to decide when these would be held, with February (A.D.M)., June and September being the probable choice. In future the A.D.M. would be held on the second Saturday in Fehruary to avoid clashing with the Cumberlands dinner. Weekday meetings would be held once per month. and joint meetings with other Associations would continue unaffested.
All the officers were re-elected. Mr. R. G. Leale was elected to the Central Committee in place of Peter Ruch. Six ringing members elected were: P. Venn and J. Smith (Hillingdon). J. Porter and Miss S. Davies (Ealing), R. Renn and Miss S Bradley (Staines). Five non-resident life members were also elected.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The bourdon bell of Perth（see page 90）is $28 \mathrm{cwt}, 14 \mathrm{lb}$ ．and not 21 cwt .14 lb ，as ap－ pears in the article＂Perth＇s Older Bells．＂
Miss L．Valeric Bird，of Selby Cottage， Melling，via Carnforth，Lancs，inquires whether there are any week courses for be－ ginners during August．She prefers her own area or Wiltshire／Dorset．
Listeners to I．T．．V on Saturday，February 12th，had a background of bells to two broadcasts－during the wrestling those of St． Helen＇s．Trowell，and in an intervie⿴囗十丌 with the Rhodesian Premier，Salisbury Cathedral．
The members of All Saints＇Society，Great Addington，who participated in an in memoriam peal at Brigstock，Northants，for Frederick E．Tooley，thank Mr．J．Clipston， the local tower captain，for the cups of tea he provided after the peal．
With the exception of the conductor（Mr． Neil Bennett）all the ringers in the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal at Ashton－under－ Lyne on February 11th were members of the local band．Six were ringing their first peal of Surprise Royal．

The band who rang the peal of Grandsire Triples at Overton，Hants，on February 5th are indebted to Mrs．Sanders，wife of the Vicar，for standing in at a minute＇s notice and putting up a very creditable performance by ringing the treble to her first peal at the first attempt．It had been intended to ring，a 6.144 of Bob Major，but the same morning Reg Rex was taken ill with flu and although he turned out he was persuaded to go home to bed．The band wish bim a speedy recovery．

THE GOSPORT PEAL

After a lapse of 28 years another peal has been rung at Holy Trinity Gosport. It was Bob Major-the same as the previous peal. The bells are a very tricky eight and the peal was not rung without incident. A gradual introduction to the sound of bells was arranged in this built-up area. Last September the long silence, because of fears for the tower's safety, was broken by a short ring. Later came a quarter peal and then an open day with two laurs' ringing in October. Finally, on January 30 th, the successful peal attempt.
The tenor at the last peal was rung by Reg Reed, of Eastleigh, the "tenor king" of those days, and he afterwards claimed that the 3 hours and 8 minutes ringing nearly killed him. Pat Cannon accepted the invitation to be tenor man on this occasionthe easiest bell in the tower! The frequent shouts of "Get up" we considered were a put up job, writes G. D. The bell did not drop as much as some of the others and when the conductor reminded Pat that he was ringing the easiest hell in the tower his reply was: "Well, if this is the best bell I feel sorry for you lads."
The main worry, however, was of a rope breaking. Fortunately all "went well, and 2 hours 55 minutes later "That's all", was calied, and all the band felt satisfied with their efforts. David Hughes, of Liss, is thanked for the loan of two ropes, and Charles Bassett for three more. It is now up to the Bassett for three more. It is now up to the eight seecondhand ropes if they wish to have their bells rung.

There have only been three peals on these hells. The first was Stedman Triples on January 12th, 1897, conducted by Arthur E. Tomkins. and another on March 12th, 1938, Plain Bob Major, conducted by Frederick W. Rogers, the January 30th peal being the third.

CANADIAN IN AUSTRALIA

The first Canadian ringer to visit Australia, to the knowledge of Sydney ringers. is Geoffrey White, of the Holy Rosary Cathedral, Vancouver. He rang in a quarter of Plain Bob Minor at St. Mary's Basilica, on January 30th, to welcome Prince Charles to Australia, und this was his first quarter for more than five years and his first of Minor. There was another quarter for Prince Charles -at Turramurra, where Cambridge was scored for the first time, although short touches have betn rung sporadically here for 15 years.

FIRST OF THE SEASON

Under the supervision of Mr. A. L. Bennett, a number of members of the Devon Guild held their first outing of the year on February 12th. the route chosen being alongside the River Teign. The first two towers visited were Coombe-in-Teignhead and Stoke-inTeignhead, two six-bell towers, where little o: no Sunday service ringing is done now. Thence across Shaldon Bridge to Bishopsteignton, another six rather difficult to handle. where the ringing included a course of Kent Treble Boh Minor. After tea in Teignmouth the final tower visited, St. James', contained a restored octave.

WEDDING PRESENTS

A pleasant surprise awaited the secretary, Mrs. F. 1. Hairs, at the annual meeting of the Northern Division at Cuckfield on February 5th. Before the business proper the Master (Mr. R. Johnson) announced that ne had a pleasing duty to perform and presented Mrs. Hairs with a gilt Sheaffer pen in case, two golden wedding cards signed by over 100 members from the four Divisions of the Association and a large spray of flowers. Her husband was also presented with a Sheaffer pen. After recovering from her surprise, Mrs. Hairs expressed her grateful thanks.
The business meeting took the now familiar form. The secretary's report and balance sheet was received with enthusiasm, as it showed the largest balance for some years. The hon. secretary and the auditor were reelected and the committee now consists of F. I. Hairs and H. Burton, and the new Ringing Master E. Knapp in place of $G$. Francis. Mrs. Hairs continues as C.C. representative.

After discussion it was decided to start practice meetings at 6 pm . Another discussion related to helping beginners and it was agreed that the most useful thing would be for them to get ont and about.

The Vicar (the Rev. H. C. N. Lawson) was thanked for conducting the service.

WITNEY BRANCH DINNER

Canon C. Elliot Wigg, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and Mrs. Wigg attended the annual dinner of the Witney and Woodstock Branch held at Witney on February 4th. The Branch chairman, the Rev. P. Wilkins, presided, and the Master, in proposing "The Witney and Woodstock Branch," spoke in appreciative terms of the activities of the Branch.

The social which followed was ably controlled by Bob Clow, of Tackley, the programme including tune ringing by the Northleigh handhell ringers, Plain Bob Minor by David Floyd, James List and Peter Holden, and lapping Grandsire Doubles by Susan Cantwell, Alec Cantwell and David Floyd Games and dancing continued until 11.15 p.m.

ST. MARY'S SCARBUROUGH

A promising outlook was presented at the first annual meeting of St. Mary's, Scarborough. on February 9th. The Ringing Master, Mr. W. Fay, reported that there had been three outings and the handbells had been used for change and tune ringing. While two or three ringers had left the band, thev had six keen youngsters, one of whom had already rung her 720 to qualify for the Yorkshire Association.

Mr. Fay was re-elected Ringing Master with Mr. S. Wright as his deputy. Mr. E King, of The Coltage, Manor Farm. Muster, near Filey, is the hon. secretary, and all correspondence re visitors and peals should be addressed to him.

It was decided to start a new belfry fund. to have the handbells overhauled and to order a new set of ropes. The Darlingion area was chosen for this year's outing. The Vicar (tine Rev. J. Keys Fraser), who presided. thanked the ringers for their services.

HAPPENINGS IN CORNWALL

Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have recently dismantled two rings of six in Cornwall. The first was at St. Dominic's, where the bells had not been rung for a few years owing to their bad state. This is a complete ring of six cast in 1773 by John Pennington during the incumbency of Thomas Horndon, who was Rector of the parish for 48 years: his name is inscribed on the tenor. The bells are now to be completely restored in new frame and fittings, and these in a parish church which borders the banks of the Tamar will be an acquisition to ringers of South East Cornwall. The tenor is said to weigh 10 cwt.

The second ring of six dismantled was at Manaccan, this church being noted for the fig tree which is growing out of the south wall and is said to be two centuries old. Until 1902 there were three bells in this tower, the tenor having been cast in 1765 by John Bennet, a local founder at Helston. These bells were then recast and three more provided to commemorate the coronation of King Edwaıd VII, but were hung for chiming only owing to the unsafe state of the tower. In 1910, when the tower had been restored, the bells were hung for ringing and were opened on August 25th of that year. The work was done by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The tenor weighs $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. This ring is being rehung in the same frame on ball bearings and with other necessary renewals.
At Newquay Parish Church, to which a large bequest was left a few years ago for the provision of a tower and ring of bells by the late Rev. W. P. St. M. Michell, a retired naval chaplain, the tower was commenced last autumn and work has progressed to just beyond halfway, having passed the second string-course of the proposed four-stage tower. This is to be proportionately buile to reach a height of 100 feet or more. Reconstructed stone is being used throughout to match the local stone with which the church is built. This tower will be a fine addition to the church and will dominate Newquay, hut how long it will be before the proposed hells will be installed cannot be ascertained: the provision of the tower is a costly under: taking. The original suggestion was that a ring of 12 with a semitone bell would be installed.

MR. ROLAND H. COOK REACHES 200 PEALS
Peal secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, Mr. Roland H. Cook. of Asfordby, rang his 200th peal on January 8th. They were rung in 92 towers, in 14 counties and for 14 Guilds or Associations. He conducted 50 .

OBITUARY

MR. H. WALTER SMITH

Essex ringers and many from more distant parts will be saddened to hear of the death on February 4th of Walter Smith, of 11 . Causeway, Great Dunmow, Essex, at the age of 80 years.

For 62 years. Walter had been a ringer at St. Mary-the-Virgin's, Great Dunmow. His regularity of attendance, both for services and practice nights, was notable. He was also a regular member of the congregation.
In 1909 he rang in the first peal on the bells, when the ring was one of six heavy bells. When the bells were rehung, and augmented to eight in 1926 by Taylor's of Loughborough, all the masons' and carpenters' work for this conversion was done as a labour of love by an enthusiastic band of ringers in their spare time. Such wonderful sacrifices of time and skill are rarely seen these days. No record of the number of his peals is available but their total must have been considerable. Walter set the greatest store on Sunday service ringing and it was a matter of pride that he was always there. He was ringing until about eight weeks ago. He was ringing until about eight weeks ago. set a splendid example. He was also always ready to teach anyone keen enough to learn. He had endless patience and put up with the disappointment of losing a pupil with Christian resignation.
We in Dunmow will miss him but we cannot fail to be better for his example as a man, a ringer and a Christian. L.S.C.

MR. B. H. REES

Members of St. David's Guild were shocked to hear of the sudden death of their auditor, Mr. Benjamin H. Rees, of Burryport, in January. A retired civil servant, he was a churchwarden at Burryport for many years and was keenly interested in ringing, although not a ringer, being a founder member of the Guild.
His generosity in many ways is especially remembered by the gift of a badge of office for each Guild official. A genial character, he will be greatly missed by all. As a token of respect the Guild officers, together with the local tower captain, met at St. Mary's, Burryport, on February 12th, to ring a balfmuffled peal. Unfortunately this was lost when a fifth of the way through and, instead, a quarter peal of Doubles was successfully hrought round. To his wife and family we offer our deepest sympathy in their loss.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

When the Barnslev District Society met at Penistone, near Sheffield, on Fehruary 12th, the new Vicar, the Rev. R. I. J. Mathews, took the chair. They learned that the Vicar's wife had an ambition to train a band of ladies to ring and had about 16 recruits. We wished her success, and also Mr. Arthur Champion, who had been struggling for a long time to keen the bells going.

Three new members were elected and Mr . Christopher Moxon proposed the vote of thanks.
Next meeting: Ossett, March 12th: adjourned annual, Barnsley, April 9th.

WILLIAM

The original Leeds firm

"The Ringing World" was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

THE BELLS OF CARDIGANSHIRE

SOME might regard Cardiganshire as of little interest to the change ringer as there are only two towers which figure in the columns of " The Ringing World "-the eight at St. Padarn's, Llanbadarn Fawr, a happy centre for enthusiasts at the nearby university college at Aberystwyth, and the six at St. Mary's. Cardigan, a tower with a blend of John Rudhall and the Whitechapel foundry as recent as 1961, and a band of keen ringers who against nine teams in the St. David's Diocese won the Bishop Prosser Shield in 1962.

The 143 bells in the county have provided the basis of a very interesting book from the pen and camera of Frederick Sharpe. The author from his long experience knows the art of producing a book of interest to the general public and ringers alike. The evolution of the bell through the ages, the founders of the bells, St. David's Diocesan Guild of Ringers who come of age this year, and a wealth of local history and legend make this a most comprehensive book. The illustrations are good-many of the photographs apart from the towers give fine views of the Welsh countryside, and there are plates of founder's mark-a fascinating study.
Above all, the story of the bells of this county provides romance and adventure. It was at the Church of St. Tygwydd, Llandygwydd, with its beautiful background of trees, that on July 25th, 1935, the author was married to Miss E. J. M. Evans. There is a chime of six bells by John Taylor and Co. here with a tenor of 13 cwt ., and a wedding peal of Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor was chimed on that occasion by Canon C. Elliot Wigg, the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The church also contains a service bell hung for swing-chiming going back to the end of the fifteenth century. The canons are retained and it is hung on an elm headstock.
There was also adventure, and Mr. Sharpe tells of his experience last August at Rhostie, where there is a bell in a central enclosed turret. Two clerics carried a ladder across the fields to this isolated church. The floor above the vestry was reached, but as the author placed his hands on this floor to heave himself through the hatchway the decayed boards collapsed. Fortunately the supporting joists were sound. From the space above the vestry access was gained to the roof space above the porch, high above which could be seen a small hatchway leading to the bell turret. but the decayed ladder used for gaining access to this collapsed. By standing on the main tie-beams supporting the roof, the hatch was raised revealing a rare fourteenth century bell only a few feet above.

Standing on the tie-beam, with his head through the opening, Mr. Sharpe made his notes of this rare find while one of his companions made rubbings of the lettering and marks. This bell, the author considers, dates from circa 1350 and came from the Bristol medieval foundry which supplied by sea many bells to the West Country and South Wales.

And from the sea comes the legend of a cargo of bells being lost at sea. Verwig. a parish in South Cardiganshire, has a little stump tower. According to "The Western Mail" of February 21st, 1949, a local legend tells of when the tower was being built a cargo of bells to be housed in it was wrecked near the Telfi Estuary. The tower was taken no higher, but sailors approaching the coast on stormy nights could hear the bells being wildly rung as a warning of danger by the spirits of the drowned.

The author heard more about this legend in 1926 from Mrs. Llewelyn Davies, of Ashleigh, Cardigan. Her version of the legend was that after the ship was wrecked on the rocks of the Pembrokeshire side of the Telfi Estuary their solemn tones could be heard by people on Pen Cemmaes at midnight when the moon was full and the tide out.
Cardiganshire has only four medieval bells (14th century to 1540) and two in the transitional period (1540-1600). The 14th century bells s.re at Llanrhystid and CiliauAeron and the 15 th century ones at Gwnws and Llandygwydd. The founders of these four bells have not yet been identified. The percentage of $2 \frac{3}{4}$ medieval bells compares, states the author, with Flintshire, where Mr. R. W. M. Clouston found under one per cent. in 1949. Radnorshire, surveyed by Mr. Sharpe in 1947, had over $9 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Other percentages quoted were Monmouthshire $3 \frac{1}{2}$ in 1940, Oxfordshire $4 \frac{1}{2}$ in 1953, Worcestershire $5 \frac{1}{2}$ in 1930, Wiltshire 6 in 1927, Suffolk and Dorset 15 per cent. Another unusual feature was that no saunce or sanctus bells were found by the author.
In a foreword the Rev. R. W. Thomas, Master of St. David's Guild, mentions that this is the first book to be published dealing with the bells of West Wales. The inspection of the bells had been a very exacting undertaking and "this interesting volume contributes a great deal to the historical annals of the Diocese."

THE BELLS OF POONA, INDIA

By P. G. BELLAMY-KNIGHTS

of the Madras Christian College.
LAST Christmas I decided to utilise the first week of the vacation in going about 600 miles north from Madras to Poona. I had the good fortune to have a fellow teacher from Madras Christian College coming with me, Ian Manning, an Australian. Although he is not a ringer, he had been following with interest the news of Great Adventure II in my copies of "The Ringing World."

We had kindly been offered accommodation by the Cowley Fathers, and arrived at St . John's Mission House in the evening. I had anticipated that a whole morning at least would be required to locate the Church of the Holy Name-listed in "Dove" as containing a ring of eight. We were, however pleasantly surprised to be taken by Father Bishop a two-minute walk to the church.

The tall, slender, red-brick tower is detached from the church. It was erected some years after the 19 h century Church of the Holy Name. Ian noted that the architecture of the tower had a marked Venetian flavour, with its flat overlapping roof.

We were informed by the pastor that, by order of the police, no one was allowed into the tower, since a siren warning apparatus had been installed therein during the time of the national emergency due to the IndoPakistan conflict. The following morning, however. found us back at the pastor's house -this time with a note from the Assistant Commissioner of Police, permitting us to be allowed into the tower to see the bells.

The eight bells are hung in a metal frame at a height of about 60 feet above ground level and are reached after climbing up past three floors. Access to each bell is easy due to a three foot gap between the floor of the bell chamber and the frame. Well above the frame a narrow wooden gallery round the four walls of the tower affords a good overall view of the bells. Here was the ideal position for a photograph, but unfortunately we had been asked to refrain from taking any photos while inside the tower.
All the bells have the same inscriptions" John Taylor and Co;, Founders, Loughborough, England-1893;" around the crown and "JESV around the waist. The bells themselves are in good condition although tattered ends of ropes hanging from the flights of the clappers indicate clocking. At the moment only the seventh is clocked for services. We were told that in past years tunes were clocked out at Christmas and the National Anthem on Independence and Republic Days. This information was confirmed by the rows of figures chalked up on the louvres of the otherwise bare ringing chamber All the stays are intact but all the ropes are missing (that by which the seventh is clocked not being a proper bell rove). Sixty years of weathering have had their effect on the frame. The wheels are rather loose and, as was to be expected, the bearings certainly need some lubrication.

I should say the bells could he rung after a certain amount of overhauling such as could be done by ringers themselves. Father Bishop, however. expressed doubts concerning the strength of the tower to sustain the bells being rung up at their present height in the tower. Again, it could be some years before free access to the tower is permissible although the Tashkent Declaration has struck a hopeful note for the future.

From Poona we proceeded to Goa. This delightful old Portuguese colony is replete with Roman Catholic churches. Many, such as the Minor Basilica of Bom Jesus (in which are kept the relics of St. Francis Xavier), date back to the 16th century. Our guide book says of the Cathedral in Old Goa: "The church has a huge bell which is supposed to be one of the best in the world." The campanologist is assisted by the fact that the bells are usually visible from outside the church, as the photo of the Church of Our Lady of Immaculate Conception. Panjim, illustrates. Unfortunately time did not permit? a thorough investigation of the bells which the area deserved and we refurned to Madras having spent a very interesting week.

Note.-I should be glad to hear from any ringers in India (if any !).

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION  Southern Branch

The Southern Branch held its annual general meeting on February 5th at Saxlingham. About 50 members and visitors were present and enjoyed ringing on this light and easy-going eight.
The service was conducted by the Rev. S. Merrifield, who also gave the address. The organist was Dr. D. Heighton, and Mr. T. Simmons read the lesson.
At the business meeting, presided over by Dr. P. Jonason, the secretary's report showed that the past year had been a successful one for the Branch. The only change in the officers was the election of Mr. J. Mowle to otficers was the election

The chairman in his vote of thanks mentioned Mr. H. Howlett, and the ladies for arranging the tea.
It is hoped to visit South Lopham for the next meeting.

THE EDENBRIDGE WEDDING

Brian Jeffrey-Betty Tester

The sun shone hrightly and the bells rang merrily on February 19th at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Edenbridge, on the occasion of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth (Betty) Tester, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Tester, of Southborough, to Mr. Brian E. Jeffrey, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Jeffirey, of Edenbridge.

Given away by her father. the bride wore a white embossed brocade dress, with train trimmed with roses, round neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her veil was full-length held in place by a headdress of roses and lilies of the valley, and her bouquet was of pink roses, white freesias and lilies of the valley.
The bride was attended by her sister-inlaw, Mrs. Olive D. Tester, and Miss Margaret A. Ladd (who also made the bride's and chief bridesmaid's dresses), in long dresses of turquoise satin milano carrying white crescents of freesias. carnations and lilies of the valley. Also in attendance were Miss Lynne Albrow (six-year-old goddaughter of the bride) in a long dress of white velvet and turquoise ribbons, and Master Steven Albrow (three vears) in black velvet trousers and white blouse. The best man was Mr. Raymond A. Large. The marriage ceremony. conducted by the Rev. D. H. Bartleet, was followed by Holy Communion.

The reception for 100 guests was held at St. John's Hall, Edenhridge. and the honeymoon spent in the Scilly Isles.

The bridegroom is captain of the Edenhridge band of ringers and popular chairman of the East Grinstead and District Guild: the bride is a committee member. A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at Edenbridge preceding the service. We wish them hoth all good health and happiness in the future.

THE BELLS OF ST. JOHN'S, WAKEFIELD   BY DAVID CUBITT

   BY DAVID CUBITT}THE erection of a second church in Wakeiield was mooted in 1723; but for various reasons, including the opposition of one paricular Vicar of Wakefield, who feared for his parochial rights, it was not until 1791 that the requisite "Act for Building a new Church in the Town of Wakefield in the West Riding of the County of York and for providing a proper Burying Ground, and making Provision for a Minister to officiate at the said Church" was passed. The church was built in the north of the town, in an area favoured by the more superior townsfolk, in the middle of a square which was bounded on two sides by a terrace of late Georgian three-storied red-brick houses. The foundation stone was laid on November 3rd, 1791.
The original architect was John Hope, of Liverpool, but he was quickly replaced by Messrs. Lindley and Watson, of Wakefield, whose plan was adopted on April 19th, 1792 : The building was completed in 1794. It was of stone, in classical style, with a small apsidal east end and with vaults beneath. The no th and south sides, of five bays, were relieved by coupled pilasters with a round headed window between each on the upper storey (above the level of the gallery) and smaller arched windows on the lower storey. The principal door was in the centre bay on the south side. The tower was square for its lower two-thirds. the upper third octagonal, with a domed top surmounted by a vane.

Regrettably, in restoration work a hundred years later, when the gallery was removed and only replaced at the west, the furniture replaced and a rectangular chancel added. the symmetry was lost by adding a further bay on the south side and vestries on the north, and the external appearance further spoilt by blocking up the south door and the lower windows.

BELLS COST $£ 743$

In May, 1793. Charles Watson, one of the architects. was ordered to inquire the price of a ring of eight bells and in August was empowered to order them "at Mears' Foundry half a Note sharper than the Bells in the Parish Church of Wakefield." Mears' bill, dated September 15th. 1794, reads:

The bells bore the inscription "Thos. Mears. of London. fecit. 1794." Mears' account was paid by instalments, the first, of $£ 150$. on December 19th, 1794, the last, of £212 8s. 2d., on December 24th, 1796.

ST. JOHN'S YOUTHS

A Society of ringers calling themselves the St: John's Youths was formed. They received their first payment of $£ 918 \mathrm{~s}$. Od. on August 5th. 1795: thereafter they received £6 5s. nd. each quarter. In 1819 the quarterlv payments became $£ 6 \mathrm{I} 1 \mathrm{~s}$. 3 d . and in 1828

27 1 s .3 d . The last payment at this

rate was on March 13th, 1830 , and the Society seems then to have gone into suspended animation for a couple of years, when the only payment for ringing was $£ 1$ a quarter to the verger.
Foremost among the St. John's Youths was William Woodhead, but after the new ring of ten was opened at the Parish Church in 1817 he transferred his allegiance to that tower, taking others with him. His place was taken by Benjamin Thackray-or Thackrah. as he preferred later to spell his name-the author of a book on ringing, and then by Procter William Hewitt. The Society remained in existence until about 1850 . A list of peals rung at St . John's is set out at the end of this article, but is not claimed to be complete.
In 1859 the tower was found to be in need of repair. John Hewitt, whose father was Procter William Hewitt, recorded visiting the ringing chamber in August of that year and. finding it in a dilapidated state, he was told: "This chamber, Mr. Hewitt, was not in th!s state when your relatives attended here and men of science rung these bells." Hewitt noted that the bells were then chimed by two lads.

TOWER DEMOLISHED

In 1879 the architect employed to plan alterations for the church discovered the tower was cracked, Chiming, or rather clocking, which resulted in the sixth being cracked. continued until 1883. In December, 1883. Taylors, of Loughborough, were employed to remove the bells from the tower to the vaults and it was decided to take down the upper portion of the tower: but the damage, which may originally have been caused by lightning, was apparently more extensive and the tower was pulled down completely. Work on rebuilding started almost immediately the foundation stone being laid on April 18th. 1885, and the tower was built in the former style with much of the old stone: but only to the heighs of the church roof, and in this stunted form it remained for ten years. On July 31st, 1895 , a further inscribed stone was laid in what would be the ringing chamber, and the upper part of the tower rebuilt to the original design, but of brick faced with stone.

In 1900 Mears and Stainhank recast the sixth, an additional inscription being placed on it, rehung the eight bells, dead, in a new frame and supplied a chiming apparatus. In this state they remain today.

THE SANCTUS BELL

Dear Sir.-Mr D. J. Derrick is to be coneratulated on his lucid and, I am sure, useful editorial in which he refers to an action for nuisance caused by excessive bellringing brought against a Roman Catholic church in the 19 th century.

It is. however, to be hoped that in these more enlightened days, and in spite of the case noted above, the Anglican Church may soon be legally permitted to use a sanctus bell as an outward sign of worship. -Yours faithfully.

Trowbridge, Wilts.

Letters to the Editor

OLD RINGS IN WEST COUNTRY

Dear Sir,-Mr. Ranald Clouston and others may find interesting some comments from the South-West on his article on "The Oldest Complete Ring.
The Exeter founders are very difficult to distinguish from one another, as they used the same stamp for generations, and one has to take note of moulding wires, etc., as well as lettering-stamps and crosses. The four at Northleigh have a tenor by "I. T."-he left his thumbprint on one word of the inscription, but we still do not know his name-bu: the other three are by a slightly later 15 th century founder, who impressed coins, here and elsewhere, in the head-moulds of many of his bells
We have Excter threes probably by the same founders at Huish and Moreleigh, and incorporated into rings of five or six at Payhembury, Monkleigh and Monkokehampton. Brushford has a three by William Dawe of London; this is probibly the oldest complete ring in the county, but alas the treble has recently been cracked through clocking; Wolhorough preserves one complete bell and the inscription bands of two others by Bird of London; they are lovely castings and well worth a look as they are in the church and easily seen. Townstal incorporates three by William Chamberlain.

Mixed Exeter threes are abundant-Loxbeare. Wembworthy, West Ogwell (still threes) : Churston Ferrers, Gidleigh, High Bray, Honeychurch (the treble here from the time of Mary I): Manaton (one Exeter bell and two lovely London bells by Joanna Hille). Torbryan (three Exeter and one 16th century bell by an unknown founder) and Luppitt (two Exeter and one by Roger Semson of Ash Priors, c. 1560) are also of great interest: Broadwindsor, in Dorset, has one bell by Robert Norton of Exeter, another later 15 th century Exeter bell, and another early isth century Salisbury bell. There are probahly a number of mediaval threes in Somerset which I have yet to see.
It is beginning to appear likely that Devon has more mediæval bells than any other county: what is more, the Exeter foundry, with bells as far away from the centre as Dorchester-on-Thames, Upton Magna (Salop) and Guernsey, may prove to have as many surviving bells as any pre-Reformition foundry in the country I have seen over a hundred, and I think 1 may be halfway throug! them.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN G. M. SCOTT (Rev.)
Clawton, Holsworthy.

THE KINGSLEY MASUN PRUTEST
Dear Sir.-Having read Kingsley Mason's letter in the issue of February 11th, may 1 say that as far as 1 am concerned when the name of Peter J Staniforth appears at the bottom of a peal that in itself leaves no doubt in my mind thas the ringing was good enough to be called a peal.

Those not acquainted with the circumstances existing between most Leicester ringers and Kingsley Mason are unaware of an unpleasant incident at the Cathedral and other towers in which he is not welcome. I wish that I had never had the misfortune to ring in Kingsley Mason's first peal.-Yours sincerely.

Marple, Cheshire.

IN DEFENCE OF WARNER'S

Dear Sir-May I suggest that the sweeping statement P. A. C. made about Warner's in the February 11 th issue is only his own opinion. In my opinion, it was their engineering and not their founding that was at fault.
Most Warner rings cast in the last quarter of the 191 h century were among the finest cast by anyone at that time and are still hard to be faulted today Apart from their distinctively individual character they were made to last-anyone who really listens knows shis.
Jo illustrate my point I have drawn up a list of Warner rings I rave had the pleasure of ringing on and listening to in my travels.

Here they are. listed in their counties. Berkshire: Boyne Hill. St Paul's, Wokingham: Devon: Withycombe Raleigh; Essex: Chelms ford Cathedral, Galleywood. Harlow Town, Loughton, St. Saviour's, Walthamstow. Broomifield; London: Bethnal Green (all except Mears' modern tenor), St. Mary's Holloway Road, Immanuel, Streatham; Middlesex: St. Mary's, Ealing, St. Peter's, 'Staines, Shepperton: Northants: St. Mary's, Peterborough: Surrey: Oatlands Park; and, last of all, in my own county, Kent: Chatham, St. Nicholas', Chislehurst, Walmer and, finally, one of Warner's lasi rings at my own tower, Christ Church, Erith. cast during the first world war-their only attempt at modern tuning as far as I know, and a delight to hear.-Yours faithfully.
Crayford. GEOFF P. HUCKSTEP.

THERE'S A "BRISTOL AFFAIR " IN CIIESTER GUILD

Dear Sir. - 1 read with great interest your leading article on January 28th, "A Bristol Affair," as during the past 12 months exactly the same thing has happened within the Chester Diocesan Guild.

At the beginning of 1965 the members of the tower at which I ring decided that they would like to transfer from one branch to another, and by doing so caused quite a disturbance amongst Guild authorities. After extensive negotiations, hoth at the Committee and Guild annual meetings in 1965, no final decision was attained, but the general feeling was that certain officers were against the idea.
Since then our own ringers decided that in a voluntary organisation, such as the ringing fraternity, a tower has a right to belong to whichever hranch it desires, and so paid our subscriptions via our intended branch.
Recently, however, I have been informed that the Master of the Guild has instructed the general secretary to repay the contributions through the original branch, is Rule 14 of the Association had been broken, which states that the committee only can decide to which branch a tower must belong. In conclusion, we have decided that if the General Committee fail, this year, to grant the transfer, no further subscriptions will be paid. In my opinion, after paying voluntary subscriptions to a voluntary organisation the ringers themselves should have the right to state to which branch they wish to belong, and should not be dictated to by any conlmittee, as this contradicts the democratic principles of a Christian organisation.

Finally, I should like to hear what the general opinion is in such matters as these.Yours faithfully.

CHRISTOPHER J. JONES.
Knutsford, Cheshire.

HEREFORD CATHEDRAL

Dear Sir,-Just for the record, if F. M. is the man his initials lead me to suppose, he should know that the eighth was recast again at Whitechapel in 1953. There may be some doubt about the sixth being a 15 th century Bristol bell, although for long supposed, with the ninth and tenor, so to be. It could well be older, for it differs in shape considerably from the other two and is inscribed "Stephanus Banastre Me Fecit."

There was, and doubtless still is, a 12 th century hook in the Cathedral library with an inscridtion in 13 th century script to the effect that it was given to the Minor Brethren "for prayers for the soul of their Lord Stephani le Banastre." The inference is that S.B. was Custos of the College of the Vicars Choral, and as such would have responsibility for things "musical and "Our Lord" to his minor brethren, but unfortunately the records of the College are not sufficiently complete to verify this.
If there is no founder on record as Stephanus Banastre nor real evidence of Bristol origin, then it seems reasonable to suppose that the two S.B.'s were one and the same man and that he cast or had the bell cast at least as early at the 13 th century. Perhaps Mr. Sharpe during his current investigations in Herefordshire may be able to find out. toons in Herefordsh

MR. COLLINS' COMPLAINTS

Dear Sir.-ln view of the smokescreen and red herrings produced by Mr. A. J. M. Collins in the issue of February 11th, may I repeat that from October 24 th , 1961, to March 31st, 1962, he insisted on absolute secrecy, concerning the film "Ringers Required," and that he personally wished to arrange its distribution to the ringing public.

He is under a delusion that his film, issned four years ago, has received no endorsement from officials of the Central Council. was well received and commented upon favourably by numerous Central Council officials, including myself. at the Cardiff meeting in 1961, when it was introduced. Since then, in replies to some of the many people who write to me for information abouit instructional material, I have recommended his film and given details of where it can be obtained.
It is obvious that his dissatisfaction has only arisen since the Washington film became available five months ago and this is borne out by his statement - My reason for dissgatisfaction goes back to 1965 (not 1961). "when it was ohserved that the Education Committee had presumably purchased a film solely to entertain."

At the last Council meeting (in 1965) in recommending the Central Council to purchase the Washington film. Mr-C. K. Lewis referred to its value, in the high status accorded in the film to bells, ringers and bellringing, in connection with church services.
The film. though not one on ringing instruction. includes excellent detailed shots of bells and ringers in action, is excellent propaganda for the art and certainly is enjoyable.
Instead of adonting a dog in the manger attitude, Mr. Collins should realise that the two films are complementary and not competitive. Shown together, as they have been on several orcasions. they provide an interesting programme and 1 know that buth films are in good demand and booked up well ahead.-Yours, etc.,
N. CHADDOCK.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT RINGING SOCIETY

The annual general meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society was held at the Churches of St. Andrew, Kirk Ella, and St. Mary, Beverley, on February 12th. The at tendance was affected to some extent by ill ness and adverse weather conditions but 6? members and visitors were present.

The afternoon ringing took place on the six bells at Kirk Ella, followed by a service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. C. H Wilson, at which the preacher was the Bishop of Hull, patron of the Society. Handbells were rung during the singing of Psalm i50, and the lesson was read by the secretary, Mr. A. B. Cooper. The bells of St. Mary's. Beverley, were rung in the evening

Tea was provided in the Memorial Hatl, Kirk Ella, by wives and parents of the Kirk Ella ringers, and before the business meeting the Bishop of Hull presented the Albert Sellers Memorial Cup to Mr. R. H. Sharp. representing All Saints', Hessle, band, who were judged to have made most progress in church service and method ringing. Under the expert guidance of the Rev. F. Ross, senior curate at Hessle, a very young, enthusiastic band has been trained in a remarkably short time and one member, Robert Hawtree, rang two peals of Surprise Major and one of Minor in seven methods within only 14 months of learning to handle a bell.

The president. Mr K. Kirk, was in the chair for the business meeting, and the annual report and financial statement were formally approved. Ten meetings had been held with an average attendance of approximately 50 members, a feature being the proximately 50 members, a feature being the enthusiasm of an encouraging number of greatly improved by a bequest of $£ 10$ from the will of the late Mr. Fewster, a former ringer at Patrington. During the year 1965. 45 members took part in 17 peals, and 79 members rang in 53 quarter peals. Some towers, however, are silent and several others require reliable recruits. Society members supported activities organised by the Joint Counci: of Yorkshire Ringing Societies, and Counci. of Yorkshire Ringing Societies, and festival to be held at Beverley next May.

The Society president, vice-president, secretary and assistant secretary. Mr. K. Kirk. Mr. N. Castle, Mr. A. B. Cooper and Miss J. Gray, were re-elected. Mr. D. S. Johnson resigned from the office of Ringing Master and was succeeded by Mr. R. Ducker, with the Rev. F. Ross as Assistant Ringing Master. A vote of thanks to the Society officers was proposed by Mr. F. Parker (Bridlington), and Mr. A. Taylor (Beverley) thanked the incumhents and all who heiped in the arrangements made for the meeting. The ladies were complimented on the substantial tea provided at a very reasonable cost. Mr. N. Castle thanked the Bishop of Hull for his address and interest in Sociely activities.

Dinner Day at Bristol University

A RECORD attendance was expected at A this year's Dinner, as nearly 200 tickets had been sold which, incidentally, makes the Bristol Dinner far and away the biggest University dinner in the country: and now. for many people throughout the land, the fourth Saturday in January is synonymous with the Bristol Dinner.
A number of traditions concern Dinner week-end, ard one of the oldest is that people in Bristol on Friday evening and, of course, attending the Dinner, should go to the Volunteer No one knows why-the public house is surely one of the roughest in the city-but, as with all Society traditions, it will never be changed, and certainly part of the charm of the Society lies in its often illogical, always unalterable, traditions. What other University, for instance, has a Cupid, or head- and under-gardeners or, for that matter, a grandmother? However, to return to the point, everybody enjoyed Friday evening in spite of the heaving throng, and were in good spirits for the next day.

AN ORGANISER'S DREAM

With 25 rings of bells to choose from, Bristol is an organiser's dream, and so it was not a difficult task to arrange for 12 towers to he open at various times of the day to accommodate everyone. Bristol has more towers per icre than anywhere else, but one wonders where anywhere else there are so many bad rings. However, the general standard of ringing was quite good and for most people the unique charm of the centre of Bristol more than made up for any deficiencies in the bells. Two peals were also attempted, but because of feckless organisation neither was successful. Grandsire Caters at St. was successful. lost after two hours, while Stedman Triples at St. Philips started two hours late and was lost after 20 minutes. Certainly Dinner Day attempts seem ill-fated: a peal has not been rung for over three years.
As has been customary in the past, a Society meeting was held in St. Michael's Church Hall towards evening. a service following at the church. Unfortunately, the heating apparatus was not in working order and the church was icy cold-so cold in fact that the organist was at times unable to play

ELEGANT TOP TABI.E

For the second year running the Dinner was held in the Senate House, and can these rooms be bettered? A new departure this sear was the autocratic decision by the Master that dinner suits should be worn on top table, which provoked much adverse comment among prominent non-resident members -though whether it will be repeated next year is very much open to question.
The speeches began with Miss P. BlighCheesman proposing in fluent style *The Visitors." She was delighted to report that this year there were more than ever before. and the more who came the better. A certain other Society seemed to be trying to limit numbers by an inflationary price increase: this she thought wrong, and she hoped that Bristoi University Society would alway: warmly welcome visitors.

Next followed a presentation on behalf of the Society, by Mr. P. J. Bird, of a set of sherry glasses and tray to Professor K. Brocklehurst, the retiring president. Mr. Bird spoke of the tremendous amount of hard work done by the Professor for the Society-he was, for instance, largely responsible for having the Society represented on the Central Council. The Society was tremendously grateful for this and he hoped that the gift would be some token of the esteem the Society held for the Professor.

In reply, the Professor thanked the Society for the gift: he was sure he could put it to good use. Far from being hard work, he had enjoyed the presidency greatly and he was sorry that he had at last to relinquish the post. In retirement, he hoped to find the time to master more complicated methods of ringing hells: however-in reference to a recent letter in "The Ringing World "-Grandsire must never be derided. He had derived a great deal of pleasure from this method, even though it was a relatively simple one.

CUPID HAD TO RESIGN

After "The Society" had been competently proposed by Mr. K Darvill, of Cambridgo. the Master (Mr. D. B. Williams) replicd. He regretted that as yet no peals had been rung by the Society in the current year hut that was not a sign of weakness. A peal was a transitory thing which might or not be creative. With 30 members to cater for, time was valuable and there were few opportunities to go for peals. However. eight quarters had been rung in one term. in five different towers. with 20 people taking part. These did indicate the strength of the Society, and what augured well for the future was that 19 of those 20 would be returning next year. The Society was nandicapped by the bells it had to ring on; he hoped that someone would donate new rings for St. Michael's and Christ Church. As far as the social side went, Cupid had not been at all successful; in fact he had had to resign. It was to be hoped that his successor would prove more fortunate. In conclusion, he spoke of the need of the Society to look to the future if it were to flourish: if it failed to, it deserved the epitaph given to Casar by Hamlet.

Thus concluded the speeches. the rest of the evening being pleasantly spent in the sumptuous lounge. This Dinner was certainly one of the best ever. N.W.H.G.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Marlborough Branch

An encouraging feature of the Marlborough Branch meeting at Ramsbury on February 19 th was the number of learners and young people present. The Rev. Roger Keeley (Ringing Master) supervised ringing activities.
The Vicar (Canon H L. Philp) conducted the service. and an excellent tea was provided by the ladies of the parish. Mr. Gi. Newman (chairman) proposed the vote of thanks.

OBITUARY

MR. SYDNEY A. CHAMBERS

Members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild were shocked to hear of the sudden death on February 17th of the secretary of the Central Branch, Mr. Sydney A. Chambers. Mr. Chambers, who was 48 , had rung as usual at Lincoln Cathedral and 'St. Giles' the previous Sunday and at Monday practice.
Mr . Chambers was a member of St. Giles' Church for over 40 years and began to ring in 1935 with the writer under the tuition of Mr . Harold Marcon, now of Loughborough, in preparation for the bells which were to be hung in the new Church of St. Giles. He joined the Lincoln Cathedral company in 1946 and was most loyal and regular in his attendance.
He rang his first peal in July, 1939, and had rung a total of 123 peals, mostly for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. He was a good method ringer and an excellent striker and took part in the first peals of many Major, Royal and Maximus methods for the Guild. One of Mr. Chambers' notable achievements was a peal in 32 Spliced Surprise methods.
Sydney Chambers gave varied service to the Church: he was a member of St. Giles' Parochial Church Council for 20 years, a server, sacristan, and he worked for the Church Union in Lincoln. He had been a prison visitor for many years. He was secretary of the Central Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, an office he had held for six years.
The Guild, the Cathedral and St. Giles' have lost a valuable and faithful member and we will miss his friendship and reliability. His sense of humour, too. and his telling of stories on Cathedral outings were a joy.
May he rest in peace.
J. L. M.

MR. RALPH MOORE

Cogenhoe. Northants, ringers are mourning the loss of their tower captain. Mr. Ralph Moore, whose death was unexpected although he had been ill for several months. He will he sadly missed. For much of the 35 years he had been a ringer at Cogenhoe he had been captain and steenlekeeper. Another office he had held was that of churchwarden for about ten years. Like many other places, the ringers came and went but Ralph seemed to go on for ever He only rang one peal in his life. his main object heing Sunday ringing, and in this he never failed. B.E.F.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Ringing under the management of Mr. G. Maves was of a good standard at the Biggleswade District meeting at Clifton on February 12 th .
At the husiness meeting it was decided to send a get-well card to Mr. A. E. Rushton, the Association's president. and also to visit Old Warden on Easter Five. April 9th, as the Vicar was in full agreement.
Next meeting: Campton and Meppershall, March 12th.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

The annual general meeting of the Llandafi Branch was held at Aberavon on February 14th, the chair being taken by the Rev. Derek Ford, of Newton-Nottage, in the absence of the Vicar.

Subscriptions had been paid by 154 members, a figure lower than usual due to a few rowers being in arrears. Thirty-four new members were elected during the year.

Progress was reported from Coity, where the entire band has joined the Association under the leadership of Mr. D. J. Godfrey Porthkerry, where methods up to Cambridge Minor are rung for Sunday service: and Newton-Nottage, where Stedman is again rung following the loss of many young ringers from the area.

A very successful vear for peal ringing was accomplished. The Branch rang 54 peals in which 13 ringers rang their first peal.

Mr. Christopher Ricketts, at $14 \frac{1}{2}$, became the youngest Association member to call a peal of Major, also James Clatworthy had the distinction of ringing his first peal to Stedman Trinles.
The Branch was unanimous in its election of Mr. Iolo Davies, of Cowbridge, as Ringing Master for the coming vear-a firting tribute to his untiring interest in the affairs of the Cowhridge Grammar School Society.

Following a long and interesting discussion the members agreed to exneriment with holding only a half-yearly and annual business meeting. The alternate meetings would then be ringing. service and tea only, leaving it to the discretion of the secretary th call husiness meeting at these times if the need arises.

Meetings for the year were arranged for: Merthvr. June 11th: Crity. Sentember 10th: St. Athan. Novemher 12th: Newton-Nottage Fehruarv 11th. 1967.

Mr. Cuwn Lewis extended the hest wishes of the Branch th the secretary. Mr. David J. Llewellvn. and Miss Penelone J. Welch, whn are to he marrier on March let at Llandaff Cathertral. Mr B. Thomas thanked the ladies of Aheravon for providing an excellent tea for the 53 memhers present. Mr. R. John Thomas renlien, savino how welcome rinoer were to visit the church at any time. D. J. L.

LADIES' GUILD

Mrs. B Jones and Sally Guest (Usk). Miss Jovec Pennerall (Fhbw Vale) and the Misses Patricia and Jacaueline Black (Chepstow).

Fifty ringers and friends were present. Canon Knight conducted the service, assisted hy the Rev. Terrance Palmer. and Mrs. V. Innes and the Monmouth ringers. who pro vided an excellent tea, were thanked by Mr . T. Stephens Next meetings (nrovisional): Whitchurch May 21st; Ross-on-Wye. October 22nd.

Devon Branch

The lately restored bells at Teignmouth were kept going throughout the afternoon of February 19 th for the annual meeting of the Devon Branch, and touches of Stedman Doubles and Triples and Plain Bob Major and Minor were rung. Capt. J. C. Styler, assistant priest, conducted the service, and a snack tea was served in the Parish Hall.

Miss M. A. Bould, vice-president, presided at the business meeting. Arrangements for the national meeting at Exeter on July 2nd were discussed, and the Misses B. Duck and J. Bryant were elected members.

Officers appointed for the ensuing year were: Vice-president, Mrs. H. Boobier (Exeter); secretary and treasurer. Mrs. $P$ Burnham (Dartmouth): Ringing Master, Mrs. G. E. ## BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal at Hawkhurst on February 12th was the first on the bells by a local band for 28 years.
Will the correspondents submitting peal copy please write quarter peals on separate sheets and not on the back, to avoid copying.
Mr. R. F. Anscott writes regarding the peal at Corte, Taunton (page 97), the footnote should read: "Believed to be the fastest peal of Minor for the Taunton Deanery," and not as stated.
Another milestone on the path of progress was passed by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths at Sittingbourne on February 20th, when a peal of seven Spliced Surprise Major was rung silent and non-conducted.
Behind the peal at Pylle, Somerset, there is a story of an obliging Vicar. The band intended to make the attempt at the neighbouring village of Pilton, but on arrival found that the sound-proofing had been "kidnaoped." Hearing of their disannointment. the Vicar of Pylle kindly allowed the attempt on his easy-going six.
In connection with our report of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths' dinner, we are asked to make two corrections. In Mr. Barnett's speech, "pestering the Archbishop" should read "pestering the Prime Minister," and the ringer of $7-8$ in the touch of Yorkshire Surprise Royal was Roger Baldwin and not Peter Beresford.
An evening practice at Farnborough, Hants, on February 19th attracted an excellent attendance of both District members and visitors. A wide variety of methods was rung including rounds and plain methods. Yorkshire, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major. The Dractice was supervised by Mr. Tom Page, Farnham District Ringing Master.

THE FIRST GIRL TO RING A PEAL
The first lady to ring a peal, Mrs, Sullivan (nee Alice White) sends the following letter to Mr. William Shepherd, of Addlestone, written from Galt, Ontario, Canada

In one of *The Ringing Worlds note you put in a word for Dora and me; I was the first girl to ring a peal-at 15 years of age-even though I had to contend with an injured spine, which was caused by a bull tossing me. Bellringing was not hard when the bearings were kept well oiled, and I remember Father taking a bottle of castor oil if we were going to a tower which had no effficient caretaker.
"I have a picture of myself, with Dora, which was taken for the then "Bell News." I was then 17, and Father rigged up the ropes in the studio-twice. It was all ready the first time and I suddenly had a bad hemorrhage: even at the second attempt Father was kneeling on the ground holding me up. I am sending the photo back to Harold to be kept in the family.

SOMFRSET'S FAST PEALS

Mr. G. W. Massey, peal secretary in the Bath and Wells, has, in consequence of the false claim of the peal at Corfe as the fastest for the Association (it was, however, for the Taunton Deanery), been looking into the times of peals.

He writes that there have been nine faster peals for the Association, the record being shared by two peals rung at Dunkerton, near Bath, in 2 hours and 15 minutes, viz: February 20th, 1960, six Doubles methods: July 28th, 1962. Plain Boh Minor. Other peals in less than 2 hours and 21 minutes have been rung at Corston. Farmborough, Bathampton and Ash-in-Martock.

ROUGHAM BELLS AT THE FUUNDRY

"The East Anglian Daily Times" in its issue of February 19 th had a fine picture of one of the six bells at St. Mary's, Rougham, near Bury St. Edmunds, being lowered preparatory to going to the Loughhorough Fou:1dry for overhauling The oldest bell here dates back to about 1410 and is thought to have been cast by John Bird of London. Its Latin inscription can be translated: "I, being rung, am called Katherine, the rose of the world." This bell is to be one-eighth turned. It is badly worn where the clapper strikes and the metal there is in danger of cracking.

Three of the other bells are by John Darbie -two 1661 and the other 1678 . The tenor of 1790 was cast by Thomas Osborn of Downham Market and weighs about 16 lb . The youngest was cast by John Warner and Son in 1894. The estimated cost of the work is about $£ 7.000$. Mr. Claude Rush informs us that the 1553 Survey showed four bells.

TWO IRISH RECORDS

The name of Mr. John T. Dunwoody, of Holywood, Co. Down. should have been included in the handbell peal table for 1965. He rang 17 peals "in hand" (conducted 16). His total of peals for the year was 31 (conducted 25). Both figures are a record for the Irish Association.

The peal of Ealing on January 22nd, 1966 (page 98), was rung at St. Peter-in-Thanet, Kent, and not as printed.

STRIKING COMPETITION AT BURGESS HILL
For the third year running a striking competition was held at St. John's, Burgess Hiil in conjunction with the Mid-Sussex Arts Festival. Eight towers entered-the same number as in 1965 -and once again A. P. (Pat) Cannon was the adjudicator.
Those taking part were: St. Leonard's, Ald rington: St. Mary's, Balcombe: St. Peter's, Brighton: Good Shepherd, Brighton: St. John's. Burgess Hill; St. John's. Crawley: Holy Trinity, Hurstpierpoint; SS. Damian and Cosmos, Keymer.
St. Peter's, Brighton, were declared the winners with 82 faults, and have thus won every time since the competition started

About 60 peopla sat down to tea and to hear the adjudicator's comments on the standard of ringing which, unfortunately, was not up to the level of previous years. Following tea, Pat Cannon gave a brief but interesting talk on his recent trip to Australia. Ringing then continued until 8 p.m.

The competition seems to be maintaining its interest amony local towers and, after three years, is acquiring an air of permanence. This must surely be to the good of ringing and ringers, as it not only brings about an awareness of what constitutes good striking but also, by its link with the Arts Festival and the attendant publicity, brings the art of hellringing to a wider (and possible more appreciative) audience. A further comnetition will be held in 1967.

61 YEARS AS CAPTAIN

On February 15th Mr. William Lawrence was re-elected captain of the St. Nicholas', Stevenage, band for the 61st year. He began ringing in October. 1900, and has been in charge of the belfry since 1906. Except for war service in 1914-18 and the enforced silence in World War II he has rung morning and evening on Sundavs with only very rare absences because of illness.
Ringers are well known for longevity and faithful service, so Stevenage does not claim this as a record, but Mr. Lawrence's term of office must be amongst the longest-and still continuing to the joy of all his colleagues.

SPLICING THE MAINBRACE FOR

JAMES BENNETT

Many of the old school will remember Jim Bennett, who went into the Royal Marines in 1905 and later rang many peals with the late William Pye.
Apart from "the screws" in the arms, Jim is hale and hearty and as upright as ever. and still enjoys a touch on Sundays and practice nights. It is a pity he could not stand in the peal of Grandsire Caters on the evening of his 79th birthday, but the ringers were glad to join him to splice the mainbrace after the peal.
Jim sends best wishes to all old friends.
BROTHERS FATHFRS THE SAME DAY
The two brothers. Geoffrey and Brian Pratt, achieved a remarkable distinction on January 28th by both becoming fathers for the first time. Geoffrey and Margaret's baby was a hoy (David Charles) and Brian and Jill's a girl (Helen Anne). All four parents are ringers and all are from Cambridge. although Geoffrey and Margaret now live near Nuneaton.

"A COLLECTION OF SURPRISE COMPOSITIONS"

This book, by Cyril A. Wratten, has made a significant addition to the small but gradually increasing amount of published technical data. It is intended for the conductor who has neither records of methods and compositions published in "The Ringing World' nor the time or know-how to derive falseness and compose peals.The book is divided into sections dealing with Major, Royal and Maximus. In each section all Surprise methods rung and published up to and including October 22nd, 1965, are listed by name, together with leadheads and falseness groups. These lists of methods are followed by compositions, grouped by leadheads, with the falseness groups to which each composition is true. The Major section is by far the largest, containing over 600 methods and 119 compositions.

The user has merely to look up the leadheads and falseness of the method for which he needs a composition and then look through the group of compositions with the appropriate leadheads to find the ones which are true to the method's falseness.

As in any book of finite size, there are limitations: because the falseness of the methods and the "truth" of the compositions are given without incidence, no compositions will be found for a small proportion of methods. such as Hitchin, which have falseness to which no composition is true for all incidence.

A final section contains a selection of peals of spliced in up to 30 methods: these have been chosen so that the same composit'on can be used to a wide range of methods.

At five shillings, this well-printed book is a bargain. It provides compositions for over 700 named methods and. if used in conjunction with Hudson and McClenahan's publications, compositions for several thousand more methods become available.

DAVID J. MARSHALL.

RANG WITH THE, REV. F. E. ROBINSON Mrs. Sullivan (neee Alice White), who was born in 1880 and rang her first peal at the age of 15 , rang peals with the Rev. F. E. Robinson. She now lives at Galt. Ontario, Canada.

Mr. William Shepherd writes that he rang three peals with the Rev. F. E. R.-nt Hersham in 1903 and two at Arklow. Ireland, in May, $1905 . \mathrm{He}$ also rang a peal with Mr. Louis A. Wilson at Putney on November 25th, 1901, and with Mr. A. E. Pitstow's father, Frederick Pitstow, at Waltham Abbey on January 25th, 1919

WESTBURY PEAL'S TIME

Dear Sir.-The band which rang the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Westbury, Wiltshire, on January 29th, 1966, have no desire to be credited with the crime of ringing the fastest peal on these glorious bells. It was a goed peal rung in the reasonable time of 3 hours and 29 minutes, and not as published on page 121.-Yours sincerely.

GEORGE MASSEY.

ON THE ORIGIN OF BOB AND SINGLE

IFF those pioneers of the Exercise responsible for providing it with its basic terminology have left us no explanation of their choice of terms, it must remain a matter for conjecture. Nevertheless, in attempting to trace the origins of such terms, we must first take cognisance of all available facts, for only when we have exhausted those may we justifiably have recourse to surmise.

Unfortunately, I have no easy means of access to the early works on Change Ringing. Perhaps someone who has may be able to provide material that will shed more light on the subject. In compiling the following notes I have consulted that monumental and extremely reliable work, the Oxford English Dictionary.

Elizabeth M. Barber's letter (p. 109) poses interesting problems. However, her derivation of the word Bob, ingenious as it is, cannot possibly be correct. In 1677, Stedman (Campanologia, p. 82) writes of Grandsire Bob and College Bob, mentioning single and double courses ( $=$ leads?). In 1702 (Camp. Impr., p. 26) we find: "The word Extream we must confess is the most proper Signification, in regard to the Change, but there is now and for some time has been a word called Bob, instead of Extream, upon what account the word was chang'd, we know not." Now, had the word Double, with this meaning. existed in 1677, it is reasonable to suppose that it would be found in Campanologia; moreover, in 1702 we are told quite clearly that Bob has replaced Extream, and there is no mention of Double!

Apart from this, there are grave phonological difficulties against Elizabeth Barber's deriving Bob from Double. If she were right, it would be to say that, in a couple of decades, a word newly coined for a specific purpose had undergone a process involving three phonetic changes (one perhaps unprecedented). Such a drastic transformation is unparalleled in the history of the language.

If it is true that the early terms of our art have a common source, I would suggest that it may be the popular sport of hunting, especially as hunt and course must have arisen first. The evidence is as follows:

Hunt (first recorded thus $1684^{\circ}$ in O.E.D.). In 1688, we find this definition: "The first, or Treble Bell, it is termed the Hunt, and the second Bell the half Hunt, because they run from the round Ringing, through all the change of Bells backwards and forewards, before they (the other bells) come to round Ringing againe" ( $R$. Holme, Armoury, III, 462/2).
Course. One meaning is hunt or follow, which is exactly what bells do when they course one another. It also means a race (as in Shakespeare) and so a complete circuit, i.e. the circuit completed by each bell (compare Stedman's use in 1677, loc. cit.).

Bob. It is less easy to be sure about Bob. In almost all of its many senses in O.E.D. it is of obscure etymology. Even so, its meaning in our sense seems to me best explained (so O.E.D.) as ultimately from Bob, verb ${ }^{3}$, to rebound. This describes the movement of the bell actually making the bob in, say, Stedman Triples, Grandsire or Plain Bob: it bobs back, or rebounds, sooner than it would in the normal course of ringing. Our definition, describing the effect of a bob on the coursing order, is a later development. If this is related to the other terms in origin, it perhaps stems from a deer's bobbing back on its own path.
(Treble Bob is less easily explained, for the treble dodges and then pursues its original course. Nevertheless, it does bob back to dodge where normally, in a plain hunt, it would not be expected to do so.)
Single. (O.E.D. noun, sense 3: not recorded with its present meaning except as "a term . . ") It is found in Campanologia (loc. cit.) and in School of Recreation (1684): "Another way of Ringing Twenty Four Changes Doubles and Singles on Four Bells." We should note O.E.D. single, verb", sense 2: "To separate (one deer, etc.) from the herd-pick out and chase separately." (Cp. single out.) Thus, the bell making the single is singled out to perform a special function, producing an effect which l cannot be obtained by a bob. Note, too, single, noun, sense 1 b : the tail of a deer.
Change. Finally, we may consider O.E.D. change, noun, sense 9; Hounds taking a fresh scent are said to "hunt change."

Great Adventure II Reunion in London

MEMORIES of the five weeks of active sight-seeing, ringing and hospitality in Australia and New Zealand were revived on February 26th, when all those who participated in the tour assembled at Western Australia House, Strand, for a most success ful reunion.

Australian ringers in England were the guests of the tourists. These were Mrs. T. (Perth), Miss J Murphy (Melbourne), W. G Knight (Turramurra), Dr. H. J. Rossell (Perth) and Miss B. Bennett (Ballarat). A Canadian ringer, Mike Simpson, who is in England for three weeks from Calgary, was also present with his mother, who lives in Lincolnshire.

Others present were Mrs. L. Stilwell, Mrs A. P. Cannon, Mrs. C. W. Pipe, Mrs. T. J. Lock and Mrs. A. G. Mason, wives of the tourists, and Mrs. Sarkar, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mason. Miss Ruth M. Foreman, who undertook the financial arrangements for the tour, Mr. Philip M. Gray, the Central Council representative of the Australia and New Zealand Association, and Miss tralia and New Zealand Association, and Miss E . Stevinson, of Godalming, a friend of Dr Rossell, were also present It was regretted that Mrs. A. Richardson, of Surfleet, was unable to make the journey.

The leader, Mr. T. J Lock, welcomed the company on arrival, many of whom having previously met at St. Lawrence Jewry, where the bells were available in the morning. Signatures were taken to send greetings by air mail to all towers visited. The main feature of the afternoon was the film of the tour, exhibited by the Rev. Malcolm C. C. Melville and taken by him. This pictorial record was an excellent coverage. Supplementary transparencies were provided by Tom Locke and Pat Cannon, and Anne Holford had her collection of some 200 slides with her. Recordings of some 15 rings of bells were also available and were played to the assembly. These included such famous bells as those at Melbourne Cathedral, St. Andrew's Cathedral, the new ten at Sydney. St. Mary's Basilica, Sydney, and Adelaide Cathedral. During the proceedings a telegram was read from Bill Pitcher, the hon. secretary of the Australia and New Zealand Association, and the Editor and "New Zealand Association, and the Editor of "Ringing Towers, their journal, whica Adventure II reunion."

THE PRESENTATION

Dinner followed at the Strand Palace Hotel and after an excellent meal the party adjourned to an ante-room, where three presentations in appreciation of his leadership were made to Mr. Tom Locke from members of the party. These were a film projector screen, a Parker 61 pen and an electric jector
The Rev. Malcolm Melville said he had been given the task. as representing Great Adventure II, to thank their leader, Tom, for all he had done for them. They had many times expressed appreciation for his tireless efforts in shepherding them right round the world and also for organising that memorable reunion. When travelling, they found it impossible to make a presentation, and that evening they asked him to accept these tangible gifts of their appreciation. At
Mr. Melville's request the gifts were handed Mr. Melville's request the gifts were to Mr. Lock by Mrs. Kathleen White.
After thanking the party for their generous gifts. Mr. Lock said it had given him the greatest pleasure to arrange the tour and there was no doubt that due to their splendid cooperation and closely adhering to the pro-gremme it had been a great success. He gremme it had been a great success. He had no grumble to make. "You all did magnificently," he said.
Mr. Lock said he very much appreciated the generosity and hospitality extended to them: the Australians did everything they could for them. It was, as he said before, the tour of a lifetime. They would never forget what the Ausiralians did for them. They knew what they wanted and laid it on for them. As far as he was concernec, next Great Adventure would have to be Australians coming to this country, and he could assure them that they would give them a hearty welcome and whilst in this country enable them to take advantage of what the Ringing Exercise could offer them. Ringing was so organised here that there was no reason why they should be in the cold.
The leader also thanked Miss Anne Horsford for providing peal cards of the tour. These were being sent to towers visited The membres of the party were the leader Mr Lock), the Rev. M. C. C. Melville, Mr. and Mrs Shirley Burton, Mr. and Mrs. T.
White, Miss Anne Horsford, Messrs. A. P. White, Miss Anne Horsford, Messrs. A. P.
Cannon, R. Mark Damerell, A. G. Mason, C. W. Pipe, L. Stilwell and Wilfred Williams.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The Shropshire Association held its annual general meeting on January 29th at Shrewsbury, when there was a good attendance, with ringing at St. Chad's and St. Mary's.
At the business meeting the Ringing Master regretted that he was unable to carry on with his duties and asked to be relieved on with his duties and asked to be relieved of his office; Mr. E. Willcocks was elected Ringing Master and Central Council representative. Mr. Willcocks thanked the meeting for showing their confidence in him and said that he hopad to attend most meetings but was unable to promise to get to them all. A proposal that the treasurer should be peal secretary was carried unanimously.
A proposal to change the date of the annual general meeting was also carried, the new date being the second Saturday in July The secretary and treasurer were re-elected Without opposition.
The treasurer's.
balance and it was prow show a good that $£ 75$ should be invested in five per cend Defence Bonds.
Mr. E. Willcocks proposed a vote of thanks to the Bishop of Shrewsbury for his address, to the Vicars of St. Chad's and St. Mary's and to the local captains for the use of their bells, to the ringers' wives and friends for the tea arrangements.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION AND LADIES' JOINT MEETING

Eynsford, in the winter, is very dead, but not on January 22nd. Despite wind, rain and peals, some 60 members attended the quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District held jointly with the Ladies' Guild. After the service, conducted hy the Vicar, an enjoyable tea was supplied by ladies from Bexley and Crayford.
Mr. E. A. Barnett took the chair at the business meeting, at which 16 new practising members were elected, five from Bromley Parish Church, five from Biggin Hall and six from Chelsfield In welcoming them. the chairman said "We hope they will get a lot out of the Association, and put a associate member and four non-resident life members were also elected. Tony Lewis was elected "Ringing World" correspondent.

Ringing continued on the recently rehung bells until 8 p.m. under the Ringing Master, Mr. Paul Smith.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

A record number of 13 new members was elected at the East Devon Branch meeting at Feniton and four certificates were presented. Mr. J. Sage gave a talk on the history of the local bells. Arrangements were made for the first Branch dinner to be held at Honiton on March Sth, and for an outing to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. The Rev. G. S. Bussell, Vicar, conducted the service.
After the meeting an in memoriam quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles for G. C. Woodley, former Branch chairman, was rung by B. F. Coles 1. A. J. Holway 2, Mrs. R. C. Woodley

MIDDLESEX COUNTY

ASSOCIATION
THE 18th century Church of St. John at Hackney was a popular choice for the annual meeting for the N . and E . District on February 19th. The present church is the successor to the Church of St. Augustine built in the 13 th century on an adjacent site but only the tower of this building now remains. The bells, a ring of eight with a $16 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. tenor, were removed from this tower in 1854, but following a disastrous fire in 1955, when the church was extensively damaged. were recast and hung lower in the tower
A company of 40 attended the service conducted by the Rector. the Rev. G. H. Mc Kinley, with the Rev. Colin Hodgetts as organist.
At the start of the business meeting Mr J. R. Mayne referred to the passing of Mr. Roy Wilkinson, a member of the Harrow Weald band. He had a long record as a Sunday service ringer in the Pinner, Bushey and Harrow areas, and members stood in silence in tribute.
In submitting his report the secretary stated it showed a satisfactory state of affairs. Eight District meetings had been held with an average attendance of 33 , whilst joint meetings has been held with the St. Albans District of the Hertford County Association and the Central District of the Ladies' Guild and the South West District of the Essex Association. Nineteen new ringing members had been elected and eighteen non-resident life members. It was noted that during the year the 500 th peal on the bells of St. Mary's. Wil lesden had been accomplished, whilst among the list of quarter peals recorded, were a number rung half-muffled in remembrance of Sir Winston Churchill.

All the officers were re-elected for a turther 12 months with the exception that Miss as emmittee representative man, Mr. H. G. Hart: Master, Mrs. H. G. Hart: Deputy Master, Mr. T. G Hawkins: secretary, Mr. E. H Kilby; assistant secretary, Mr. D. T. C. Smith; auditor, Mr. J. R E. Newcombe, Messrs. D. E. R. Knights and C. F. Neal.

Miss M. Cruickshank (Finchley) and David Grove (Upper Clapton) were elected as ringing members, whilst the ratifications of the provisional election of Michael $\mathbf{N}$ Bland (Kilburn) as a ringing member and $R$. J. Talbot (Beddington) as a non-resident life member were confirmed. The Rev. G. H. McKinlev Rector of St. John at Hackney, who is also a ringer and assists in the belfry when duties permit, was elected as an honorary member.
The chairman thanked all who had contributed to the success of the meeting with a special word for Miss French and other members of the local band for arranging a splendid tea. Further ringing then took place until 8 p.m.
E. H. K.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The ground-floor six at St. Stephen's, St. Albans, was the tower for the District meeting on February 19th. The mild weather encouraged visitors from as far afield as Lincolnshire, and methods up to Wells Surprise were rung.
The service was taken by the Rev. HartSynott, who also played the organ. Tea was held in the local Cavalier Hall.
Mr. Anthony Kench was elected chairman for the business meeting. It was announced that Hatfield was not available for the May meeting and it was decided to go to Kimpton instead. Mr. John Cull, of Kimpton, mentioned that at the May Day festival on May 7th, ringing was to be one of the activities. The tower would be open from 3 p.m. until 8.
Mr. Roger Brown, the secretary, said that he would like as many names as possible for the outing on March 19 th, plus 8 s , a head, by the Saturday before at the very latest. The coach would leave St . Albans at 1.30 p.m.

MK. GEKALI) ARNOI,D

AN APPRECIATION
1 was very sorry to read in "The Kinging World" of the passing of Gerald Arnold, for it was with him I rang my first quarter peal of Grandsire Triples af St. Thomas' Church, Lymington, Hants in 1905. A tablet recording this is in that tower. We had a very keen band in those early days and had two practices a week, one open and one with fixed clappers, thanks to that grand veteran of Christchurch Priory, Mr. George Preston. and several of his ringers, who used to cycle over to Lymington ( 12 miles) each Monday in help us.

Through ill-health, Gerald Arnold had not done any ringing for a long time, hut was able to follow the interests of the Christchurch District of the Winchester Guild. I wis glad to read a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Lymington by a com bined hand from Ringwood and Wareham. C A. H.

MR. S. A. CHAMBERS

AN APPRECIATION
It was with great sorrow that the Lincoln Cathedral company of ringers learned of the passing of one of their most respected mem)hers, Mr. Sidney A. Chambers. "Sid," as he was known to all his friends, had been a member just on 20 years and during that time he had been a most loyal. very efficient and most regular attender both for Sunday service rineing and for practice. No words that I can write will quite express how much he will he missed, his place so hard to fill: his genial manner endeared him to all.

On the day of his death the Cathedral bells were rung half-muffled and towards the end of the ringing the Very Rev. the Dean (Ven. M. D. Peck) came into the belfry and said a fiw short but moving prayers as a mark of resnect of our beloved colleague and friend. The attendance at the funeral at St. Giles Church was evidence of the great respeet in which Sid was held and we of the Minster company find it hard to believe that he has passed from our midst at the age of 48. We express our deepest sympathy to his father, brothers and sister in their very sad and sudden loss.

MR. EDWARD EARNSHAW

With deep regret we report the death on February 24th of Mr. Edward Earnshaw, of Meltham, past president of the Halifax and District Association of Change Ringers. Fo: over 30 years he was president of the Association and throughout that time was only once absent from a meeting. His devotion to his duties as an officer of the Association and to his church at Meltham could not be surpassed. He was a friend to everyone and all were welcome at his home.
During the 14 years that I was secretary of the Association his advice and guidance were always there when I asked, and these qualities endeared him to all who came into contact with him. I shall certainly miss him, and so will every member of the Association. Now that I am president, the responsibility seems greater without him.
On behalf of all our members, past and present, our sincere condolences go to his widow and the ringers of Meltham in their and our, sad loss
God rest his soul. he has earned it.

MR. J. A. WILTON

We have received notice from his younger son Frank of the death of Mr. John Albert Wilton on January 21 st . He was a ringer at St John the Baptist's, Whitwick, Leics, and also Si. Margaret's, Leicester. R.I.P.

OBITUARY

MR. J. W. G. HARWOUD

Great Yarmouth's oldest ringer, Mr. J. W G. (" Billy ") Harwood, died on February 1st, aged 88 years. He had been a member of Si. Nicholas company since 1905 , its secretary for 30 years, and also for 20 years se-retary of the Eastern Branch of the Norwich Association. When he retired from the latter office he was elected a vice-president of the Association.
"He set a splendid example to all ringers by bis regular attendance at his own towes and at Distret meetings. He was a genial character, loved by all with whom he carne in contact and a credit to the Exercise." writes H. W. B.
Canon Gilbert Thurlow offictated at the funeral service on February 7th at St. Nicholas' Church. Interment in the cemetery was next to his ringing friend, Mr. W. Lee A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung E. R. Goate, $G$ by Messrs. W. B Duncan, E. R.

Mr. Ben Thompson, of Lowestoft, writes
His ringing career began in 1902 at St . Nicholas' under the wing of the late Denison Hayward. He did not progress very quickly, but keenness and patience eventually enabled him to ring standard methods. He rang 59 peals for the Norwich Association, having been elected a member about 1905.
A skilled engineer fitter, he worked with the Cobholm Engineering Company. of which the managing director was the late Arthur Webber, a very skilled ringer. When the tenor at St. Nicholas' hecame unringable it the mid-twenties Mr. Webber undertook to do the rehanging: he and Billy did the job complete with new iron headstock. It wa, such a great success that the late W. Pye said to me that it was the best-going bell of its weight he had handled.
Many holiday visitors to Yarmouth will remember with pleasure and cherish the memory of "Billy's" geniality.

REV. GEORGE STORER

The passing of the Rev. George Storer, chaplain to the Beverley and District Society. is deeply regretted by a wide circle of ringing friends. He was 83 years of age.

For 38 years he was Vicar of Hutton Cranswick, retiring in October, 1964. His ambition was to augment the three bells in his church to a ring of six, and this was accomplished in 1950. The anniversary of the dedication was marked each July by the Society meeting at Hutton Cranswick, when the members were most hospitably entertained to tea by Mrs. Storer.

At the funeral service on February 25th at Hutton Cranswick the bells were rung halfmuffled, two of the ringers being Harry Rodmell (86) and Len Rodmell (83), who were members of the band who rang the first touch on the bells. Also present were the Society's president, Ringing Master, secretary and assistant secretary.

ANOTHER ROBINSON VETERAN

To the mention of those who rang with the late Rev F. E. Robinson must be added Mr. F. A. Ranson, who now rings with Mr. Wr. G. A. Wilson at Ealing. He took part in a peal of Stedman at the Norman tower. Bury St. Edmunds, on June 18th, 1907.

MR. S. H. SYMONDS

After a short, severe illness, Mr. Stedman Harry. Symonds, of Lavenham, died at St. Mary s Hospital, Bury St. Edmunds, on February 23 rd. aged 77. He was a worthy member of a great ringing family, having rung at Lavenham since the age of 11 . He had been Ringing Master since the death of his father, Mr. Arthur Symonds, in 1938. His peals exceeded 200 and many of these he conducted. His only son, Dennis, is a member of the Chelmstord Cathedral band.

Many ringers attended the funeral service on February 26th. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave by A. Turner On the Sunday a quarter of 1,260 Plain Bob Major, one of the deceased's compositions, was rung with the bells half-muffled by M. T. Symonds (cond.) 1, A. Turner 2. W Jarvis 3 , $R$ Chambers 4, R. M. Clousion 5. A. R. Knight 6, L Pryke 7. D. A. Symonds 8.

MR. TOM VALLENCE

Mr. T. H. (Tom) Vallence passed away suddenly on February 19th at the home of his daughter, 27. Wykın Lane Stoke Golding, Nuneaton.

He learned to ring in 1910, when two trebles were added to the present four at Stoke Golding

After several years he left the village to reside in Leicester and joined the band of St. John the Divine's under the late Mr. W. Willson. He rang a number of peals for the Midland Counties and the Warwickshire Guild. When he returned to Stoke Golding in 1931 he was presented with a clock from the ringers of St. John the Divine's. Another ringer he admired was the late Fred Dexter

He had not done much ringing during the last few years as he found it difficult to get up the steps. A good churchman and also a member of the choir, Tom was greatly r spected in the village and beyond. H.H.

A joint meeting of the Society with the Derby District of the Derby Diocesan Guild was held at West Hallam on February 26th. thanks to Dr. G. Futers and the Rector (the Rev. G. C. C. Spencer), who made it possible. Every one was welcome. Owing 10 the Southwell Diocesan Committee meeting the same day the attendance was affected. The Rector conducted the service.

Letters to the Editor

WINCIIESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIU. CESAN GUILD PEAL HEES
Dear Sir-The peal fees required under Rule 18. Guild Rules, have not been pand for the following three peals reported in "The Ringing World," and these peals are not therefore eligible for inclusion in the Guild Records and Triennial Report to be published this year:

Cambridge Surprise Maximus. at Winchester Cathedral, on September 25th, 1965. Conductor, John Worth.
Ludgate Surprise Royal, at St. Michael's. Southampton. on October 2nd, 1965. Conductor, Dennis Beresford

Victoria Surprise Major, at Hawkley, en November 28th, 1965 . Conductor, Robin Leale.

AN OLD FUUR IN NORTHANTS

Dear Sir,-Where is the oldest ring at bells-are we to recognise threes and fours? There was a cime, 100 years ago, when nothing less than eight was eligible for a peal-there are in fact some people today who argue that there is no such thing as a peal of Minor or Doubles: hut now that the Central Council has recognised four bells for a peal I would suggest that Fawsley, Northants, near Daventry, has possibly one of the oldest rings anywhere untouched since being ca by Henry Jordan between 1442 and 1470 .
Vandals have unfortunately from time to time got up to the tower in the isolated church (with less than 30 inhabitants) and made it so that these four bells (tenor approximately 11 cwt.) cannot be rung, mainly through wheel trouble. All the bells have dedications to saints-St. Mary, St. Botolph, St. Gabriel and St. Katherine - with decorations
The church is situated in a park with lakes near an old manston once the seat of Sir Charles Kingsley. whose fannily memorials adorn the church
Fawsley's small population could not, hy themselves. raise the money necessary to restore these bells.
At different times I have come across other very old bells-one at Cold Ashby, 1317, one each at Slapton and Winwick of like period, and one at Great Billing of circa 1370-a line 14 cwt. bell by Johannes de Yorke. A sanctus at Harringworth and one of four at Yarwell, near Peterborough, are reputed to be by John de Colsale, circa 1410. And nearby, at Chesterton and at Orton Longville are bells by John Walgrave, circa 1420 in addiion to one of four at Newton Bromswold. near Wellingborough, circa 1430.
These are only odd examples and not complete rings like Fawsley's. - Yours faithfully,
P. AMOS.

Weston Favell, Northants.

SOUTHREPPS

Dear Sir,-No one seems to have noticed hat the method published in your issue of January 14th. 1966. as Southrepps Bob Major is in fact Canterbury Pleasure Bob Major. This was first rung to a peal on December 17 th , 1888 , at Warnham, Sussex. The lead17th, is also given incorrectly-it should be end is also given incorrect

THE GOSPORT PEAL

Dear Sir -With the ringing of the recent peal at Gosport, 1 presume we have reacher the end of the chapter. It began last Sen Iember with mucla publicity in "The Ringing World " and the local Press regarding the activities of Mr. G. Dodd and a team of amateur bellhangers. Their object, it was stated, was to get Gosport hells ringing again and. according to the Portsmouth Evening News," "to form a resident team of ringers $t 0$ ring for Sunday services. However, Mr Dodd in "The Ringing World " for September 24 th , wrote " a word of warning: these hells are not for beginners." It is significant that no niention was made about who was to teach beginners on bells nor suitable for heginners-or were we 10 assume that Mr Dodd and his merry men would regularly travel to Gosport to teach the beginners?

We in this district were aware that the Vicar of Gosport did not want the bells rung and that the hells were entirely unsuitable for beginners. We also knew that during the last few years the Gosport campanile has been engulfed by four blocks of multi-storied flats, by several smaller blocks of flats, and by many new houses and shops. Is it surprising that letters of protest appeared in the local Press after a guarter peal had been runs and that protests at the recent peal resulted in the Vicar having the ropes removed to prevent any further trouble with his parishioners?

If it was genuinely intended to get Gosport hells ringing with the object of raising and training it resident band, the obvious way to go about it was (a) to approach the local District officers to see why they had not don anything in the matter, and (b) to get the approval and co-operation of the Vicar to see what could be done about raising the money to have the bells made ringable for heginners and also to modify the campanile to restrict the noise factor to a minimum.

The way in which Mr. Dodd and/or his colleagues approached a churchwarden in the absence of the Vicar and the events which followed and which culminated in a peal seem to m : to be quite unethical. I would suggest they should restrict such activities to towers in their own districts, and preferably to towers in the country. where they are less likely to antagonise the general public.

Apart from other considerations, it is sheer hynocrisy to write and talk about getting bells ringing for the benefit of the Exercise when the real object is to ring a peal on the bells.-Yours faithfully,

RINGERS' SERVICES

Dear Sir,-The General Committee of the Leicester Diocesan Guild has asked the Provos of Leicester to draw up a form of service to use at quarterly and annual meetings of the Guild. He has graciously agreed to do this, and has asked to be furnished with material for this from other Guilds and Associations.
I would be most grateful if your readers would send to me copies of ringers' hymas and prayers or copies of their own Associaion services

These would be returnable and would help us to choose from a wider variety of material. Yours faithfully,

ROUNIDS AT HANDSTROKE QUESTIONABLE

Datr Sir,-1 was interested to read Mr. Bruce's letter on page 111 concerning calling up rounds from random positions, and I would like to make a few comments on it.
Mr. Bruce says, quite correctly, that if two coursing pairs can be found logether as they would be in the plain course, then a single boh would produce plain course coursing order, and ultimately rounds. He suggests, however, that these rounds may occur at handstroke, but this will never be the case.
To produce rounds at handstroke requires " "mirror image" of the plain course coursing order, and this would be obtained if the two pairs of bells found to be coursing together in a similar manner to the plain course were actually coursing backwards (i.e. in the case of $2-4$, if 4 came to lead immedialely before 2, rather than after).
Producing rounds at handstroke is a quesionable practice. I personally-and I am prepared for a lot of people to disagree-consider it undesirable, on the grounds that the last whole lead before rounds will have been alse to the plain course, first lead, and ringing false touch goes against the grain.
I think it worth while to try to avoid this, and for the case mentioned earlier-that of wo coursing pairs reversed-1 suggest the following solution. Simply call the bell coursing immediately before the "loose" bell (see Mr. Bruce's article) to make a bob. It will then always be found that there are two pairs of bells coursing as in the plain course, with a new "loose" bell between them. We now have the situation described at the beginning of Mr. Bruce's article, and calling the new loose bell to make a bob will give the required plain course coursing order. It will always be found that the new loose bell is the one which was coursing two places in front of the last one we called to make a bob, and this tells us that the second bob will be just two leads after the first in every case.
For example, if the coursing order 4-5-3-2-6- came up, then $3-5$ and $6-4$ should be recognised as coursing pairs reversed, with 2 as the loose bell. 5 should be called to make the first bob, and then, two leads later, 4 should be called. In this case we will get rounds on backstroke as the last bob is made. (The rule of calling the second bob two leads after the first only applies to methods with lead ends in the same order as Plain Bob.)
What I have written does not contradict what Mr. Bruce has written, and I was glad to read his article and to have the opportunity to think about this aspect of the Exercise.-Yours sincerely,

CHANGE RINGING IN NEWCASTLE AREA

Dear Sir,-I have been interested to read vour recent series "Change Ringing in the Newcastle Area" and I am pleased that you have been able to give prominence to ringing in this otten-neglected part of England.
Having said that, however, I must make it known that many errors and omissions occur among these potted histories and I trust that present readers and future students will not accept them as standard works of reference. It is obvious that your contributor has not made his researches in sufticient depth and has relied mainly on hearsay and even guesswork in certain instances.Yours sincerely.

WIDEN THE ART

Dear Sir, l l should like to add one or two points to W. G. Wilson's letter of February Ilth on Grandsire I am convinced that it is immaterial whether Grandsire or Plain Boh is taught is the basic method. The danger lies in the fact that it often remanns the only method rung. In my own tower for various reasons, the band, although keen and lively, can ring little more than Plain Bob. After two or three years of this, the one or two of us capable of ringing up to Surprise Minor are understandably bored with inis one methor. ind ai one inive we neariv loor members as a result.

Going to a mecting, it is not only possihle metloods which will be runge. Youl know the Oene in mean Without fail Yout ony chance en rome mech thes is to take the diagram with you and hoone that your friendst will hally round Again, after a year or two of these methods. it is easy to be bored.
So why not ring the occasional peal of Grandsire Royal if it makes a change from Caters? Let us have some real variety if the methods are musical, and this is something a man may judge lor himself ; if a ringer does not tike the music he neced not ting the method whether it be Grandisiere or cambridece, sol te thim make his own decsion.
I should like to wish the very best of lock to all thoce who ate trying to keep up The incterest and chalienenc of of our art. Whethert they chooese to extend the vast ranges of Doubles, varaiuons, to pioneret in the feeid called eniresulare, Minor methods., thave everev incerion of soining their number:Youls fuitrtuly.

GRUTON AND GROTONIAN

Dear Sir,-I rave ,had quite a few replies on the "pealability" of Groton and Grotonian, notably from Michael Bruce in Walsall, Staftordshire, and E. W. Martin, of Great Bowden. It seems that hoth principles are O.K., at least in Caters. and I do hope some of Groton's friends will get together to attempt a peal.
It might be of interest to your readers io know how the whole experiment came about. Last June Frank Price and I went on a ringing jaunt in the Guildford area. At one tower John Chilcott, the Kippins and others were ringing a, superb touch of Superlative 1 was struck hy the beauty of the dodging in front and back and when Frank explained the structure of the method I wondered 1 if a similar arrangement couldn't be devised :or Triples and Caters. That week-end in Win-chester-in the garden of friends who teach at the college. and thus in the shadow of the great Cathedral-I struck upon Grotonian. Not satisfied with its stagnancy $\mid$ continued :n work at it off and on throughout mv Fnglish stay, and in Utrecht the first night on the Continent with the boys, came up with Groton, athiously the more interesting of the two principles, and the easier, I think Neither mav ever be rung very much in English oowers hut anything at all capable of being called the "American Stedman" is all honour to the school.

As I wrote to Mr. Martin, I. being more of a musician than a mathematician. feel that a certain degree of "stagnancy" is not undesirable. Repetition-or in change ringing. near repetition- is for me an essential part of the esthetics of the Exercise. If I mav yuote Michael Bruce, "You'll gather 1 don't think much of Grotonian. but Groton's musical potential imoresses me more every time 1 look at it It's almost worth while ewimming the Atlantic to join the peal attemptjust to listen to the music." I wish there could be a peal attemps here but we're iusr not quite up to it-Yours sincerely.

THANKS TO MR. MALCOLM PHIPPS

Dear Sir.-Thirty-five members and friends from the Peak District who attended the 14th anntual and Sir Arthur Heywood Memorial Dinner on February 19 th at Chesterfield. calling at Baslow and Old Brampton en route, wish to express their thanks for a most delightful and successful evening to Malcolm Phipps and all who took part in organising the speeches, dinner and dance.-Yours sincerely,

NURSE RINGERS

Dear Sir,-Mr. Fitzgerald wonders how many trained nurse ringers there are in the country. At first I thought there must be dozens, but on further thought I've only met two in all my travels. Are there many of us?

NURSE RINGERS' PFAL ATTEMPT

Dear Sir,-I was very interested in the letter from Terence Fitzgerald with regard to a possibility of a " list " of ringers who follow the nursing profession.

Because of duty hours I would suggest that the probability of getting a peal band rogether might cause a "major" headacke, as I imagine that any such ringers that exist must be very widely scattered.

However, 1 admire Mr. Fitzgerald's enthusiasm and would respectfully submit my own name lor his "register," though being somewhat douhtful as to my capabilities in the peal ringing class, never yet having attempted one!-Yours sincerely,

FREDERICK WILLES.

West Ewell. Epsom.

Mr. Albert Wiften informs us that there are two nurse ringers at Braintrec, Essex-Mrs. Pat Lindsell. S.R.N.. Ringers, London Road, Braintree, who has rung two quarters of Plain Bob Major, and Mrs. Marion Wood, S.R.N., wife of the District secretary, of 10 . The Causeway, Finchingtield, Essex, who has rung several peals of Surprise Major and Minot.

RFDDITCH BELLS

Dear Sir.-May I make a reply to two letters, which appeared in " The Ringing World" since the publication of my report of the pupils from Redditch County High School and their visit to London.

At the end of my report i, said the pupils were halping man St Siephen's hells on Sunday evenings, where formerly the bells had been chimed, from all accounts, for many vears I did use the words "from all accounts." hut my observations as a "local" were obviously not quite correct. Mr Kynaston said he had heard the bells ringing for Evensong and had even rung with the local ringers. I suspect thar he might have heard chiming on some occasions and he did not say whether he had helped to ring five or six of the bells of the octave !!
Mr. Hemming. in issue 25/2/66, savs he rang a quarter peal with four of the local ringers in 1955 on the back six. This was for an important occasion and vet only six of the bells could be rung. with the lown having a population of over 32.000 ! The hand has remained so active since then. that loday there are four ringers and the captain. I uill say no more but let readers guess the test of the story.
The four ringers are quite wonderful in the help they are giving me, and my prase could not be too high Perhaps some time in the future the eight bells will be ringing to changes regularly-that is certainly my hope and the hope of the four regulars. Needless to say there are difficulties which many towers and bands do not experience, and publicising them does not help !-Yours faithfullv.
M. V. WHITE.

Studley, Warks.

A SUFFOLK REHANGING

THHE bells at St. Mary the Virgin, Rougham, have recently been removed to the Loughborough Foundry for their first major overhall since 1895. when the present treble was added to the existing ring of five and the whole rehung some 15 to 20 feet lower in the tower in a fine oak frame by George Day and Son of Eye
The bells are a pleasant six by various founders, the particulars being as follows:
Treble.-" Cast hy John Warner and Sons Lid., 1894 . Hung by G. Day and Son, Eye. Ave Maria.
Second. " John Darbie made me, 1661 ""
Third.-"John Darbie made me, 1661 . William Maning. C.W.
Fourth.-(Figure of bell) 9 thrice $\dagger 13$. Sinn Rosa pulsata Mundi Maria Vocata
Fifth.-"John Darhie made me, 1678."
Tenor.-"John Martin, Churchwarden. Thos Osborn fecit 1790. Venite Exultemus." 16 cwt.
John Darbie flourished hetween 1658 and 1691, during which period he cast some 1611 bells in Suffolk churches alone. far exceeding those of Miles Graye the elder: Canon Raven in "Church Bells of Suffolk: surmises that Darbie married Ann, daughter of Miles Graye, and we know that he worked a Ipswich for some time.

Thomas Oshorn, of Downham Market, born 1741, was the son of Richard Osborn, joiner of that town. and was huried in the churchyard there in 1806. He was for a while partrer of Arnold, of St. Neots, also of Robert Patrick, of Whitechapel. and cast between 60 and 70 bells in Suffolk.

The fourth, a pre-Reformation hell, dates from between 1408 and 1418 and is attrihuted to John Bird, a member of the Bellmakers Guild in London.

Messrs John Taylor and Co. are now to rehang the bells on hall hearings and the fourth is to be one-eighth turned, all being retuned.

PRESENT CHURCH 13th CENTURY

There has been a church at Rougham since Saxon times, when hoth church and manor were in the possession of the powerful Abbey of St. Edmundsbury, and in the 19th century three coins of Canute were found in the churchyard. After the dissolution of the monasteries in 1539 hoth the patronage and the manor passed to the wealthy and influential local family of Drury. The present church dates from the 14 h century, when it was rebuilt in the Decorated style. Curiously enough, it stands in the middle of a spacious graveyard surrounded by open fields of harley and sugar beet, the only adjacent buildings being the Rectory, the village school and the sexton's cottage, for after the Black Death in 1349/50 the village was abandoned and reestablished half a mile away.

The bells hang in a magnificent 15th century flint tower some 100 feet high with interesting decorative panels on the parapet. The inscription on the south side is "Pray for the sowle of John Tillot," "whilst on the north side appears the name "Drury," thus commemorating the two families responsible for its building. The Tillots were evidently still here in the next century, for the name anpears frequently in the Subsidy Returns of 1523.

The nave has a fine hammer-heam roof, the beams being carved with angels-now unfortunately all decapitated by the Puritan imagebreakers in their misguided zeal.

The population of this scattered village is not much above 1,000 , but during the five years of the present incumbency some $£ 3.000$ has been raised for church purnoses. With the excention of a grant of $£ 150$ from the Barron Bell Trust, the cost of rehanging the bells must be borne by the parishioners. No snecific appeal is heing made in this connection, but should anv reader who knows Rougham or the Suffolk countryside wish to send a donation. of whatever amount. it will be most gratefully received and acknowledred hy the Rector. the Rev. G. E.Jarrold, The

Bingham District

The Bingham District held a very good meeting at Bingham on February 12th, when the rather heavy eight were well employed. The Rector (the Rev. H. A. Kirton) acted as organist to his curate, who conducted the service. which was noted for its singing.
At the business meeting, which followed tea Mr. W. L. Exton thanked all for the good response to the Bell Repair Fund collections during 1965 but pointed out that more widespread support was needed if they were to help at least three towers in the District with new bells. Mr. S. Rippon, of Gedling, was elected a new member.
Next meeting. Orston. No meeting April (Easter Saturday). May meeting. Willoughby-on-the-Wolds (Crawford Cup Contest).

JOINT MEETING AT STOCKTON-ON-TEES

Over 40 ringers from a wide area attended the joint mecting of the Durham and Newcastle Association (Southern District) and Cleveland and N. Yorkshire Association (Northern District), held at the 18th century church at Stockton-on-Tees on February 27th.
The musical ten bells at this church are housed in a brick tower 80 feet high. The tops of the ends of the pews are finished half-round and during the years many of them have been carved and ornamented in memory of eminent citizens. The most interesting of these is one carved in a leaf design in the centre of which is a bell in the up position, complete with its frame. It is in memory of "Geo. I. Clarkson, who raised the peal from six to ten. 1915."
The peal boards in the ringing chamber record this ringer's activities in the latter end of the nineteenth century and the early part of this, when most of the peals were conducted by him from the treble position.
After an excellent tea provided by Mrs. P. Rock and her excellent cake-making helpers, a vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. T. E. Hudson (Yorkshire Association) and the thanks to the Vicar and wardens by Mr. J. Roach (Cleveland Association). Evensong was conducted by the Rev. P. R. Heselton.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Southern District

An enjoyable afternoon was spent on February 19 th . when the Southern District held its first quarterly meeting of 1966 at Wentworth and Ecclesfield. Ringing for tastes from call changes to London Scholars' was enjoyed for 100 minutes at Wentworth. Tea was taken at the Gatty Hall, Ecclesfield, and Mr. N. Chaddock presided at the business meeting.

After much discussion, it was decided that the annual general meeting be held at Tickhill and another lower on May 28th.
Messrs. R Nalliah (Wentworth). J. Wood, R. Harper, T. Holliss and Miss Ruth Gordon (All Saints. Rotherham) were elected new members, and A. Coldwell and G. Sharpe, of Ecclesfield, were re-elected to the Association. Two ventures being undertaken by the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies were also discussed-the one-day ringing course at Selby on March 19th and the festival on May 21 st .

Further ringing was enjoyed at Ecclesfield.

A Minimus Farewell

A farewell presentation of a clock to the Rev Colin R. Evans, Vicar of St. Mary-leWigford, Lincoln, was preceded by a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minimus on the bells of his church. He is zoing to a group of parishes south-west of Lincoln, which includes two six-bell towers-Bussingham and Norton Disney. There will certainly be better opportunities for his $11 \frac{1}{2}$-year-old son, John, who started learning to handle a bell last who start

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Tony Lewis, of Chislehurst, informs is that his peal total for 1965 was 35 , and not as printed.

The ringer of the third in the peal of Kent Treble Bob at Aldermaston (page 130) was Miss Margaret A. Wilson.
The tenor bell of St. Andrew's Church, Scole, Norfolk, which dates back to 1665 , is to be recast. The original inscriptions are being reproduced.
Many old ringing friends will congratulate the Rev. Ernest J. Orland on ringing his first peal as Rector in his own parish church at Gayton, Northants.

The first peal of Surprise Royal "in hand" for the Middlesex Association was rung on February 25th. It was a product of the Bushey stable conducted by Mr. John R. Mayne.
Congratulations to the veteran Yorkshire ringer, William Barton, who for the 50th anniversary of his first peal rang the same method in the same tower. The method was Superlative-an omen that has come true.
A regretted absentee from the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at St. Mary s. Portsea, on February 26th, was Miss E. Winifred Keys. The band wish her a speedy recovery from her illness.
Through "The Ringing World " Mr. and Mrs. W. Shepherd, of Addlestone, wish to say a big thank you to Mr. G. K. Dodd and his band, who rang a peal of Royal at St. Nicolas', Guildford, as a golden wedding compliment.

FINDING COMPETITION JUDGES

The Editorial of "The Irish Bell News" deals with striking competitions which have been in operation for the Murphy Cup just over 30 years. "There has hardly been a year in which somebody has not complained about the judges' decisions. In the Districts there are some people who are competent to judge the striking contests who have refused point blank to act due to two reasons: (a) the complaints which have been made by the team or teams that were defeated, and (b) because, in their opinion, the associate judges were wrong in their decision.
The article suggests establishing a panel of judges and, before any member of the panel is permitted to judge, a mock competition be held. when all candidates be asked to judge the striking of one or more teams and set down the faults and remarks.
It is pointed out that those who profess to he the best change ringers or conductors are the most suitable persons to act as judges. Also. some of those "who know all the methods" and who can conduct, are very often not good strikers and have a poor sense of hearing and rhythm.

LADIES AT YORK MINSTER

Members of the Ladies' Guild will note the quarter of Plain Bob Major at York Minster on February 61h. It was the first time five ladies had been in a quarter on the Minster bells. Could this mean that we will see a quarter peal by an all-ladies' band at the Minster in the future, inquires the conductor. Mr. G. Pluckrose.

THREE FIRSTS AT FLOORE

Two girls-Ruth M. Thomason and Bridget Butes-who only began ringing after last Easter, rang their first peal at Floore, Northants, on February 19th. They are the first two of the new band at Harpole to reach peal ringing stage, although, states Mr. Barrie Hendry, "we have several more on the way." Ringing in the Floore peal was Paul Mattacola on the fourth. Only 11 years old, he made an excellent beginning and was a great credit to his teacher, Mr. W. Collins, of Lower Heyford.

FIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD TOWER CAPTAIN

One of the youngest tower captains in the country is David Hacker, who at the age of 18 has succeeded Mr. Bert White at St. Andrew's, Heddington, Wilts, a post he had held for a quarter of a century.

David comes from a bellringing family. His grandfather was captain of the ringers at Broad Minton Church, and his father. Mr. W. Hacker, who started ringing at Broad Hinton in 1927, in these days rings at Calne and Heddington. He is the present chairman of Calne Branch of the Salisbury Guild, and was previously Branch secretary/treasurer for 16 years.

At the age of 10 David received his first lesson from Mr. Bert White. The Heddington band consists of his aunts, the Misses Bessie and Margaret Hacker, his brothers. Phillip (15) and Brian (12), Christopher Clifford (18). Malcolm Wheeler and Alan Haines (both 12) and Graham Haddrell (11). Practices on this light six (tenor 93 cwt.) are on Tuesdays. A Queen's Scout, he attended the World Jamboree in Greece two years ago.

MR. AND MRS. SPEED'S RETIREMENT
Since 1958 Mr. Richard F. B. Speed, with the assistance of his wife, Anne, has been hon. assistant librarian to the Central Council, and fulfilled the onerous duty of being responsible for the storage and despatch and sale of all periodicals. The time has now come with the demand on his leisure by employment and family to relinquish the post, and his duties are now being undertaken by Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward. of Lowfold. Ashorne, Warwick.

When it became necessary for M: Frederick Sharpe to relinquish the librarianship, Mr. E. H. Lewis at the 1957 Central Council meeting mentioned Mr. F. W Perrens, who was then in Uganda, as a successor. Upon his return to this country Mr. Perrens agreed to take over the librarianship providing help was forthcoming from someone living near him. Mr. Speed agreed to take over the sale of publications if Mr . Perrens was elected hon. librarian. This took place at the Central Council meeting in 1958. and Mr. Speed immediately took charge of sales, and with the aid of his wife has continued to do the ever-increasing work involved.
Mr. Perrens has kindly provided us with the following statistics indicating the growth of the sales department: The average number of publications sold per year during the six years 1952-1957 inclusive was 1,030 , with an average income therefrom of $£ 92$, whereas the corresponding figures for the six years the corresponding figures for the $1959-1964$ were 4,425 and $£ 275$.
These figures indicate better than any words the debt of gratitude the Exercise owes to Mr . and Mrs. Speed for the tremendous amount of time they must have devoted to the job since mid-1958, especially when it is remembered that mosi of the publications have to be packed and despatched by post. In addition, the Exercise is grateful to them for storing the ever-increasing stock of publications during these years.
Concluding, Mr. Perrens writes: "Naturallv we are sorry to lose the valuable help and co-operation of such willing workers on such an important branch of the Central Council's work, but Mr. and Mrs. Speed quite rightlv feel that family commitments must take precedence."
Mr Speed, who is an electronies expert is a Past Master of Cambridge University Guild (1946-1947) and was elected to the Central Council as a representative of the Middlesex Association in 1954. He was elected to honorary membership in 1958. Mr Speed learned to ring at Radley in 1943 under the tuition of Miss Marie Cross. With the famous Willesden band he developed his ringing and today, as a ringer, conductor and composer. he is in the forefront of English ringing. His wife, nee Miss Anne B. Stockdale, is also a noted ringer. They were married in 1952.

To Mr. Garner-Hayward the Exercise extends its best wishes for a happy tenure of office.

THE LONGEST SERVING MEMBER

Mr. A. D. Barker, who was not re-elected to the Central Council by the Oxford Diocesan Guild last July, has been elected a member as representing the London County Association. His membership of the Council goes back to 1924, and he is now the longest serving member.

STOWMARKET OVERHAUL

The bells of SS. Peter and Mary, Stowmarket, are to be completely overhauled and rehung with modern fittings. In addition. the second and fifth bells, which are of poor tonal quality. are to be recast. The remainder will be retuned. The oak frame, which was made by Bowell of Ipswich. who rehung the bells in 1894, is in sound condition and is to be retained. The work has been entrusted to the Loughborough foundry and is expected to be commenced soon after Easter.

MR. IIARRY BAKER RESIGNS CAP. TAINCY OF FRITTENDEN

The resignation of Mr. Harry Baker from the captaincy of the tower at Frittenden comes after 65 years of ringing in the parish. During this time he has served under nine Rectors. has taken part in 382 peals and has taught over 60 to ring. As captain of the belfry he has cared most efficiently for this lovely ring of eight bells-a favourite with the bands of ringers who come round to ring a peal or "just a touch" while on a summer outing in Kent.

Mr. Baker does not intend that his resignation should in any way mark the end of his ringing career and he is carrying on as hon. secretary of the Frittenden Ringers.
His wife, Mrs. Alice Baker, has been her hushand's unfailing companion in all his ringing, and has herself taken part in the ringing of 234 peals.

PLAIN HUNT

It appears that the letter previously published on February 25th under the pseudonym of "Plain Hunt" has unwittingly incriminated a certain Bristol ringer. It is now realised that an "All Star" signature

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Twe well-attended week-night meetings in January and February serve, we hope, as good omens for the rest of the year. There were about 25 present at the January meeting to enjoy the fine ring of eight at Bishop's Cleeve, where there were methods for all, from rounds to Yorkshire.

More surprisingly, perhaps, there were over 30 present at the February meeting at Swindon Village, ringers coming from as far away as Bishop's Cannings, near Devizes, and Ross-on-Wye. The "home band" were present in force-they are a band very keen to get on. but could do with more outside help on other Monday nights-other Branch members please note!
Next mecting: March 15th at Charlton Kings (8). The half-annual will be on July 2nd, based on Welford. J. B. T.H.

GUIDE BOOK TO COMPOSITION"
Dear Sir,-It has been brought to my notice that there are several errors in the recently published book by Giles B. Thompson "A Guide Book to Composition." A sheet giving a list of corrections is now in the course of preparation and will be available to those who have purchased the book.

I can only tender my apologies that these errors should have been allowed to pass the proof reading stage.-Yours faithfully.

JOHN A. HILTON,
Publisher.

A FIRST IMPRESSION OF BELLRINGING IN ENGLAND

By WALTER KNIGHT

HVERY overseas ringer has an ambition to visit, one day, the Ringing Isle. What, then, are the first impressions gained by one fortunate enough to realise this ambition?

Coming from Sydney, the largest ringing centre outside the British Isles, and the only place apart from Britain where it is possible to ring regularly every day of the week, 1 found the amount of ringing and the number of towers in relatively close proximity to one another quite amazing. To be able to ring at ten towers in one day seemed unbelievable, and to have the choice of several towers to visit on each weekday evening in the London area has been an unprecedented luxury for me. The preponderance of 8 -12-bell towers is another contrast to the Sydney I bave known, as it is only since I left there in July that the magnificent 10 at St. Andrew's Cathedral has been installed, and three of the four eight-bell towers had previously been unavailable for some time for eight-bell ringing.

Whenever I have visited English towers, I have enjoyed the marvellous hospitality for which the bellringing fraternity is famed worldwide. It seems almost universal that a favourable response to the question "Do you ring?" gains immediate acceptance by any band, however poor a ringer one may be.

I immediately noticed the much higher standard of ringing and striking in England, not only in peal ringing by select bands, but for service ringing. Even such mundane methods as Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles are expertly and beautifully rung, especially in the smaller country churches I have listened to. The higher standard is a result of the greater extent of ringing here, and with the resultant greater number of ringers who progress to the more advanced methods. Much greater opportunity exists here for an eager ringer to become a skilled conductor or composer than is possible in Australia.

The widespread ignorance of the significance of bellringing in Australian communities accentuates the difficulties of maintaining bands in the few places where change ringing towers exist. There is not the tradition of ringing changes-tunes chimed or amplified seem more acceptable-and the change ringer even finds his art considered a form of eccentricity. Even the clergy in charge of parishes with bells find the bellringer a baftling person-he rings for, and probably attends, services, but his horizon lies beyond his own parish (still not always regarded as a healthy sign) and he belongs to a nonsectarian bellringing association with no tangible links with the Church, but which is dependent on the Church of its very existence. Little wonder that the loss-rate of learners is so extraordinarily high: and when a competent ringer moves to a distant parish without bells, and this is by no means an uncommon occurrence, the loss is acutely felt.

Peal ringing, too, has not only been inhibited by high summer temperatures, but also by social pressures, although it seems that Great Adventure II has played a significant part in reducing the animosity of Australian communities to bellringing.

The organisation of ringing here is so much grander, and seemingly more efficient. Geographical factors contribute to much of this, with the diocese as the basis of determining the size of each guild or association. The active participation of so many of the clergy in the running of the bellringing organisation is a great encouragement to ringers. By way of contrast, A.N.Z.A.B. spans 5,000 miles, covering not only different dioceses with widely differing views, but two countries; Anglican, Roman Catholic and secular towers; and all with little direct participation in its direction or operation.

I have been privileged to attend a meeting and a dinner of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and several other branch meetings here, and the proficient organisation was most impressive. The relative lack of politics between towers and association branches is also refreshing. Politics are most damaging in any organisation, and I fear that distance in a large country tends to create an unhealthy breeding ground for regional dissension. The efforts of A.N.Z.A.B. have moderated the regional influence in Australian ringing in recent years, and a harmonious relationship exists despite the vast distances between branches.

In Australia we are unable to call upon the personal services of the bellfounders and hangers, although their written advice on such matters is always sent promptly and is exemplary. Bells requiring refuning or recasting have to be sent to England, and this is not only very expensive but the absence of the bells to practise on whilst they are away jeopardises the future of the band. The magnificent fund-raising efforts of the All Saints', Parramatta, band to get $$ A 5,600$ to ship their bells back for attention illustrates the enthusiasm which Australian ringers bold for their art. Extremes of climate play havoc with wheels, ropes and timber frames, and all maintenance has to be done locally at minimum cost, and mostly by calculated guesswork. Stay-making is a minor craft in its own right in Australia! So it is not surprising that the maintenance and "go" of bells here is generally better.

There is one affliction affecting ringing here which is fortunately almost unknown in Australia. It is a result of the high standard of ringing, and causes what I will call, for want of a better name, the "Professional Ringer." This person was taught the art by patient instructors in his local church, but having acquired and mastered the art to his satisfaction he deserts his own tower and rings only for his own pleasure. Service ringing, the primary reason for change ringing, is forsaken. usually because it occurs at the most inconvenient times, and the "Professional Ringer" tours the country instead, ringing peals, without much thought for the local bands in whose towers he enjoys himself, and finally from his exalted position criticises the very people and methods that were the basis for his own competence. I have even met one ringer who baulks at ringing anything less than Surprise Major, and certainly won't count peals of less than Major.

If it was in my power, I would subject the "Professional Ringer" to a sure cure-a lengthy term at an isolated Australian tower, and I am sure that at the end of that time the Exercise would have a more valuable and humbler member.

The welcome I have received from English ringers since that grey day, now so long ago, when my ship arrived at Southampton, has been overwhelming, and 1 do thank all those who have made my introduction to English ringing so enjoyable and memorable. My ringing standard has improved appreciably since my arrival here (I am even learning to handle a bell properly after 13 years' ringing), and when finally return 10 my home tower at Turramurra I hope to be able to pass on to my fellow ringers the knowledge and added skill I have been able to acquire here in the home of ringing.

THE SPIRIT OF HENRY JOHNSON LIVES ON

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD HAVE STILL THE QUALITIES—INTEGRITY. INNOVATION AND A KINDLY SPIRIT -John Chilcott.

BETWEEN the St. Martin's Guild and the Ancient Society of College Youths there is a close affinity, and to mark the retirement of Mr. John Chilcott from the secretaryship of the Ancient Society he accepted their invitation to take the chair at the 78th Henry Johnson annual commemoration dinner at the Imperial Hotel, Birmingham, on March 5th. John, who was accompanied by his wife, performed his duties with dignity and charm. Three other past masters of the Ancient Society and the Master of the Cumberlands were present to honour the occasion.
Sitting beside the chairman were the Master of St. Martin's Guild (Mr. R. C Ingram) and Mrs. Ingram, and the secretary, (Mr. G. E. Fearn) and Mrs. Fearn. Nearby was the Ringing Master (Mr. J. A. Ainsworth). Clerical friends of the Guild present were Bishop G. Sinker (Provost) and Mrs. Sinker, the Archdeacon of Birmingham (the Ven. Guy Woiman) and Mrs. Worman, and the new Vicar of Aston, the Rev. E. E. C. Smith. and Mrs. Smith. Others on the top table were Group Captain J. S. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. D. Beresford. Messrs. J. F Smallwood, F. W. Perrens, J. L. Garner-Hayward, R. G. Edwards and the Editor of "The Ringing World."
Others present were Mr , and Mrs. P. Border. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. G W. Critchley, Mr. and Mrs. S. O'C. Hoiloway, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Collins. Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Harding Mr. and Mrs. B. D. A. Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cole, Mr. and Mrs P. Handley.

Mesdames J. Beresford, G. I. Bloomfield, the Misses J. Beresford, I. Thompson, J. Flynn, Schofield, B. Millhouse, M. Reay, C. Stockdale, E. and V. Ellis.

Messrs. B. C. Ashford, A. B. Ashford, J. E. Anderson, R. B. Meadows, J. L. Milhouse, H. H. Fearn, E. N. Harrison, D. J. Marshall, F. W. Walker, J. A. Green, 'P. Beresford, M. D. and M. J. Fellows, R. W. Pipe, A. W. T. Cleaver, A. Crabtree, P. Fidler, T. Warner. N. J. Goodman, R. Aldington. R. Holt (secretary National Police Guild), W. Bolton and R. Palmer.
Submitting the toast of "The memory of the late Henry Johnson," the chairman said it was a privilege and honour to be entrusted with the toast which he appreciated very much and to see there so many of his friends of his earliest days of ringing, especially Mr. Smallwood.

It was impossible to find something original about Henry Johnson. Reading the report of the 1916 dinner, when that toast was proposed by Mr. Paddon Smith, he saw that on that occasion there were 21 present who knew Henry Johnson. When he was present in 1948 49 there were still one or two there who had a link with Henry Johnson, but now there was no direct link. Today it was impossible to speak of the man. they could only speak of the origin of Henry Johnson and the qualities he demonstrated throughout his life.
In the toast Mr. Paddon Smith proposed, he described him as a man of integrity, and in 1951, when he proposed the toast again, as an innovator, as he was the first to introduce the turning course in Stedman Cinques. The same theme as an innovator constantly occurred, and lastly there was his kindly nature.

These qualities were to be found in the St. Martin's Guild today and were responsible for its success. In the matter of integrity no other Guild could better St. Martin's in maintaining a high standard in its ringing, and it had resulted in the Guild being recognised as a leader in that sphere.

As far as innovations were concerned, the Thursday night band had introduced the single in Surprise Maximus and it had become the accepted thing. He understood the latest was in Cambridge Royal, with a single at four and a half, so the example of Henry Johnson was still being followed. He thought there was no greater tribute to his memory than in the many leaders of ringing today in Birmingham.

The chairman said that at the 1916 dinner Harry Withers rendered a touch of Erin Caters on the dulcimer and, afterwards, the national anthems of all the Allies
The customary touch of Stedman Cinques was then rung "in hand" by Frank E. Perrens 1-2, Miss Joan Beresford 3-4, Dennis Beresford $5-6$, John Chilcott 7-8, Peter Beresford 9-10, Peter Border 11-12. This was the 50 th anniversary of the first peal of Stedman Cinques "in hand " in which Mr. F. W. Perrens and Mr. J. F. Smallwood took part.

ASSOCIATION WITH LICHFIELD

Mr. Dennis Beresford proposed the toast of "Continued Prosperity to the St. Martin's Guild." He said it had always been his ambition to attend a Henry Johnson dinner When he started ringing at Lichfield there was a photograph of Henry Johnson in the telfry and he called the first peal on the bells there. He found out later that Henry Johnson was born in Lichfield.
He was particularly glad to propose that toast. It was an excellent thought on their part to invite John Chilcott to occupy the chair in this year of his retirement from the secretaryship of the College Youths. He was from a different side, and whether he was the leader of the Opposition or the Prime Minister he would say how high was their regard for Mr. Chilcott's secretaryship of the College Youths, which had been in accord with the high traditions of its great secretaries.

St. Martin's Guild had always had a tradition of the highest order of ringers and it would be invidious to single out any, but they had great ringers like John Carter and Albert Walker, and fine secretaries like Paddon Smith, Thomas Reeve and lastly that invaluable servant, George Fearn. They endeavoured to impress on young ringers the importance of good striking. Henry Johnson once wrote to Hattersley: "If there were any indifferent ringing I should set my bell. We in Birmingham have set our faces against bad ringing."

Mr. Beresford said he would like to mention some of the performances of the past year. There had been a large number of peals of Maximus and the firsts of Londinium and Lambeth. They also rang the record length of Cambridge Maximus, which was a very fine performance by Peter Border following his peal on the tenor of Exeter Cathedral the previous week.

The Master, Mr. Richard C. Ingram, replied, and said the only way " continued prosperity" could be maintained was through recruits. It. was fine to see their experienced ringers giving timue to training, and Alan Ainsworth, their Ringing Master, had this in view. Particularly pleasing was the attendance at the Tuesday night practices at St. Martin's.

Mr. Ingram mentioned with pride the recent peal at Aston, where there were four ringing their first peal, one a first "inside", and a young conductor calling his first peal. The striking was not all that could be desired, but at the end he impressed upon them that the striking must improve with the next and succeeding peals.
The toast of "The Visitors" was proposed by the Archdeacon of Birmingham, the Ven. Guy Worman, who was formerly Vicar of Aston. Bishop George Sinker, Provost of Birmingham, replied and said he was always sorry when the last bell of a peal sounded and there was silence. He was in India for 32 years and they could imagine his pleasure in hearing bells. He had the pleasure of taking one of their ringers to the Holy Land and the Bishop said when his back was turned, he started ringing the bells of Bethlehem.
"RINGING WORLD" FINANCES
A touch of London Surprise Major was then rung by the three members of the Beresford family and Peter Border on the tenors.

When the toast of "The Ringing World " was submitted the chairman said for 50 years "The Ringing World" had been the only ringing paper. "The Bell News" finished in 1916, and Mr. Paddon Smith at the dinner that year urged ringers to support the journal and deprecated buying just one copy per tower.

Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward, who proposed the toast to the journal, said in a recent issue there were 57 peals occupying four and a half pages and the amount of money from those peals acknowledged was $£ 1$ 19s., which worked out at $8 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{~d}$. a peal. On the other side there were 64 quarter peals occupying one and a half pages and their contribution was $£ 57 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d ., or an average of 1 s . 8 d . per quaerter peal. He felt that those who rang peals should make a better contribution.

The Editor said one of the problems of the year had been the record number of peals rung. He hoped readers realised how mucir they were indebted to the two bellfounders who donated a page. The extra page often saved many a difficult situation. Nevertheless, accumulations of peals forced them to 24page issues, and already they had had two this year. New printing prices were being introduced and a 24-page issue would cost an additional $£ 53$. He suggested that the wealthy associations should make themselves responsible for either the cost or half the additional cost of the extra pages for one issue. An excellent example had been set by the Oxford Diocesan Guild in approximately meeting the extra cost of one issue, and the Bath and Wells by half the cost.

The Editor said that despite his visit io Australia there was an increased profit on the year and although the actual figure was not yet announced, he could assure them that the journal should be in a position to carry the all-round increase of just aver three per cent. without an increase in the selling price. This was, of course, based on the assumption that the same generous support was frrthcoming. He had often heard ringers described as mean people. His experience as Editor was to the contrary. They had a large number of most generous supporters to whom he desired to make a public acknowledgment of his gratitude.
Mr. John A. Anderson, proposing "The Chairman," said Mr. John Chilcott was one of the most popular persomalities in the Exercise and a man who had done much to ratse ringing standards since he first handled a bell at St. Leonard's, Heston, in 1944. At the age of 17 he was invited to ring in a peal at St. Paul's with some of the best ringers in the land. His potential did not go unnoticed by the elder statesmen of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and in particular Mr Horace Belcher and Mr. Herbert Langdon.

Mr. Anderson mentioned that Mr. Chilcort was now one of the country's authorities in composing Stedman Cinques: that in 1953 he conducted the Coronation peal at St. Paul's Cathedral and in 1958 was elected conductor of St. Paul's Sunday service band. In 1957 John was chosen to be the secretary of the Ancient Society, a job he had carried out with dedication and devotion until he was forced to retire at the end of last year when a change of address left him 100 far from the city to continue the work to his satisfaction. Last year he was chosen to lead the party to open the new ring of ten bells at Washington Cathedral. Concluding, Mr. Anderson said John had approached as close to perfection as anyone of his generation in all spheres of ringing.

Modestly thanking the company for the toast and the flowers to his wife, the chairman said in 1948 he rang his first peal outside London-Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's. Birmingham, and in 1950 his first composition of Cinques at St. Philip's Cathedral. He came to their area again in 1951 to ring his first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus. There was the usual programme of ringing arranged and some of the visitors ${ }^{\circ}$ were included in the band that rang for a wedding at St. Martin's A peal attempt at St. Philip's Cathedral was lost through a mechanical defect after two hours' ringing.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX

A well attended meeting of the Guild was held at St. Mary's Church, Longwood, on March 5th. Ringing began with a learners' touch of Bob Major, and an excellent tea was provided by Mr. Ian Roberts and the young ladies.

At the business meeting members stood in silence in respect of the late Mr. Edward Earnshaw, who will be sadly missed in Meltham and neighbourhood.
The Longwood ringers. a new, youthful team, were congratulated on the success they have achieved by their diligence and persistence, which could make them into a leading band in the near future. The whole band, along with Miss Gail Brown, of Southowram. were elected to membership.

LINCOLN GUILD

West Lindsey Branch

The large village of Saxilby, six and a half miles from Lincoln and bounded on the south by Nottinghamshire. was the venue for the first District meeting of the year on February 19th. The fine, light and well kept church of St. Botolph dates from the 15 th century and has tracery of this period in the chancel screen. The tower was rebuilt early this century and the ring of bells was augmented to six (tenor $12 \mathrm{cwt}, 1 \mathrm{qr} .10 \mathrm{lb}$.) after the last war.
A number of Nottinghamshire ringers supported this meeting and helped Branch members ring practically everything from rounds to the special method for the meetingLondon Surprise. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. J. Dight, the singing was led by the church choir, and Mr. J. Blackie was the organist. He and several of the choristers are also very keen ringers.
A first-rate tea was laid on by the local ladies. At the business meeting the company stood in silence as a token of respect to the late Mr. S. Chambers, the secretary of neighbouring Central Branch.
Next meeting: Belton-in-Isle of Axholme on May 21 st .

CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  West Dorset Branch

The Langford-Beams-Cox memorial meeting was held at Bradpole on February 19th, when these three ringers were specially remembered for their work and instruction in change ringing. Seven towers were represented and the visitors were made welcome. The Guild service, with the choir leading the singing, was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Barrington-Woods. Thirty sat down to an excellent tea provided by the local ringers and lady helpers.
Next quarterly meeting: Netherbury, April 16th. Practice meetings: Symondsbury. April 13th: Beaminster. April 27th; Evershot, May 11th; Bradpole, May 25th.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Cottered Visited After Many Years

The fact that the bells of Cottered had not been open to the District for many years possibly accounted for the attendance of over 40 at the Northern District evening practice there on March 5 th. Ringers were present from as far afield as Slough, Kettering, Amersham and Bedford.
In the absence of a ringing master, the District secretary (Michael Orme) took charge and methods ranging from rounds and Plain Bob to Stedman were rung until ringing finished at 8.30 p.m.

After such a successful gathering it is hoped that attendance will be just as high at the quarterly meeting at Baldock on April 30th.

Letters to the Editor

MR. KINGSLEY MASON SUMS UP
Dear Sir,-It would appear that Mr. Stantforth's head was so high in the clouds that he obviously failed to understand my previous letter and what I was criticising. I did not question his ability as a ringer, conductor, etc., just the "quality" of the peal at Leicester Cathedral. He still does not make any comments about the peal. Perhaps he might be embarrassed if he was truthful about it !

Mr. Robert Smith seemed to be lacking in the right information and is very incorrect with some of his statements. Looking through my peal book, I did not see his name in my first peal-it was in the second one. Perhaps now he can sleep at night and not wake up screaming about the horrible nightmare of ringing in my first peal.

Mr. Smith also refers to an unpleasant incident concerning myself, which is supposed to have taken place in Leicester Cathedral belfry. Wrong again! When I used to attend practice evenings as this tower my behaviour was always that expected of any visiting ringer.

I am not aware that refusing to ring in a peal was an unpleasant incident-perhaps Mr . Smith has other ideas. Needless to say, I was banned from ringing at the Cathedral for daring to speak my mind and for calling a spade a spade. Even so, Mr. Smith is five years one month late reporting this amazing news. He also gives the impression that no one gets on with me in Leicester; hasn t he got my name mixed up with someone else?

To conclude, as you are so familiar, Mr. Smith, with the history and scandal in Leicester, tell me how many ringers at Leicester Cathedral learned to handle a bell there? How many people has the Ringing Master or Mr. Staniforth taught to handle a bell? I notice that you did not mention anything about the bitter rows that are always going on at practice night amongst the Cathedral ringers. You do not know half of the truth, do you?-Yours faithfully,

GRANTHAM ROYAL

Dear Sir,-I was surprised to see the name chosen by the band (or conductor) for the method rung at Hillingdon recently. Something to suit the name would need an essence of London Royal, a dash of Grandsire Royai, an intent of Superlative, a fragrance of the music of Double Norwich Caters, the grace of Stedman, the authority of Plain Bob

I have always felt that discerning ringers were for zsthetic reasons leaving the name a vailable until such a method had been evolved.

You are, of course, entitled to call your method by any name, or even names, but shame on you-must you have called it "Grantham Royal"? - Yours faithfully.

ASSOCIATION SECRETARY'S VIEW

Dear Sir,-Mr. Christopher Jones invites opinion on the question of whether Guild officers and committees should "dictate" as to the transfer of a tower to another branch if they so wish. My personal opinion, and not necessarily the view of the Association of which I am secretary, is as follows:-
Mr. Jones uses the term "voluntary organisation " and "democratic principles." I have come across his argument before-that because we are performing a voluntary service and belong to voluntary organisations we are therefore free to do as we please, this being a "democratic principle." With this I do not agree. People these days seem concerned more and more with their "rights" and ignore their obligations.

When people join an organisation voluntary or otherwise, they agree (implicitly at any rate) (a) to support the objects of that body, and (b) to abide by its rules and decisions, and in accepting membership they have a duty to do so. If, subsequently, they find themselves in disagreement with objects or rules, then there are two courses open to them-either to seek to make changes in a truly democratic-way through recognised procedure and accept the decision of the majority, or to resign their membership. What they should not do is to take the law into thear own hands. Thus, if Mr. Jones and his band disagree with the rule affecting them, then they should seek to have it changed, but if it is not the general wish to make changes they should accept it.

Unless these principles are adhered to, the way is left open for complete disorganisation, with everyone pleasing himself in accordance with his "democratic rights."

In the matter of Branch boundaries there are three major factors to consider and these are the views ot the tower concerned, the Branch to which it belongs, and the Branch to which it wishes to transfer.-Yours faithfully,

DAVID BEACHAM.
Worcester.

BRANCH TAKES PRECEDENCE

Dear Sir,-Mr. Jones tells us that his tower's application to be transferred from one branch to another was considered by his Guild annual meeting and by its committee and that no final decision was reached. This is regrettable. There is nothing more frustrating than procrastination in a governing body-but it may mean that the Guild's committee is aware that it must make the right decision for the right reasons, and perhaps it is not satisfied that the right reasons have been put forward in this case. Again, we must remember that whilst the individual is important, the benefit to the branch as a whole must take precedence.

The idea that a tower has the right to belong to any branch it chooses is a novel one and as a general assumption could surely could not be considered seriously. There have been cases of towers transferring from one branch to another within a Guild and these have been agreed to on geographical grounds-I would think that any other reasons would be difficule to sustain. It rather surprises one that the treasurer of the lucky branch to which Mr. Jones wishes to transfer should have taken his subscriptions without reference to the Guild.-Yours faithfully,
M. H.

SEVEN REASONS AGAINST

Dear Sir,-I disagree with every word of Christopher J. Jones' letter about a tower belonging to whichever branch it chooses. My reasons are as follows:

1. If this principle were accepted there would be no logical reason why a tower in Yorkshire should not join a branch of the Kent County Association, with consequent administrative chaos.
2. When a person joins an association of any kind, be it professional, trade or voluntary, he accepts the rules laid down by the association. Indeed, it is usual to fill in a form beginning "I' agree with the aims and rules of the association .
3. If the idea were accepted, ill feeling would develop against branches which were successful and spread too far. Active branches with many social functions would suck away towers until the small branches died. "The Ringing World "would be filled with eyecatching adverts from branches, urging goahead towers to transfer their membership to the "X" branch!
4. It would be discouraging for a branch if towers could break away and join another branch whenever they felt like it. The strength of an association does not lie in total membership alone, but in keen and efficient local administration also. I see in this proposal the germs of conflict.
5. Boundaries have been laid down in the past by fellow ringers with the best interests of the Exercise at heart. Admittedly revision may occasionally be necessary, but the proper place to do this is at an annual or special general meeting at which the views of all parties may be heard and assessed.
6. The "dictatorship" charge is typical of all in any association who do not get their way! It is, of course, quite illogical, since the committee and officials are all ringers who can be elected or deposed at meetings. The association is the members, and any "dictatorship" is merely the committee carrying out the express wish of the majority as laid down in rules made over the years to meet such situations as Knutsford find themselves in. Therefore the charge that because a cower may not join any branch it wants to falls down, since this decision was itself taken by democratic procedures. If members desire the privilege of joining an association, they must abide by the rules.
7. This squabble reflects a common failing among those who call themselves Christians -the elevation of the organisation above its purpose, which is service to Christ. When Jesus commissioned his disciples, he did not set up any committees or organisations. It may be true for us that organisations are necessary, but let us keep them in their place and remember our first duty is to extend Christ's kingdom and prepare for His coming again.-Yours sincerely,

Otley, Yorks.
B. W. ASHURST.

" SURPRISE" MINOR

Dear Sir,-I wonder if some of your correspondents would spare a thought for our band and thousands of similar ones? To us, "Surprise Minor" is what we experience if a plain course of Plain Bob is brought round without mishap.
By the way, we love Grandsire.-Yours faithfully,

BELL ROPES

CLAPPER FAILURES

Dear Sir.-Mr. Hayns' letter regarding the shearing of clapper bolts will probably be commented on by more learned than I in the effects of stress. However, these thoughts from a practical angle may help.

Bearing in mind that the prime job of the staple bolt is to act as the anchor for the whole clapper assembly it seems that this bolt is amply proportioned for its function, provided that due to unequal tightening a proportion of the weight of the bell is not added. This could have the effect of stretching the metal until a failure occurred.

Another cause could be that due to neglect or undertightening the staple bolt is continually flexing during ringing and eventually this movement could lead to breakage from metal fatigue. Under normal lightness the heavy casting of the clapper hinge would absorb any stresses resulting from the movement of the clapper. With the use of washers and packing it seems that it may be difficult to avoid any movement, for the effect ot weather and belfry conditions has to be taken into account. A. possible solution might be to arrange the clapper bolt assembli in suck a way as to remove all possibility of placing any part of the hell's weight on this bolt. There are probably many difficulties to this, and the writer feels that some crixicism, would be constructive.

Another cause of shearing, covering all parts of the clapper, may be due to faulty preparation of the forgings. This could result from the gradual centralisation of producers, and consequent dispersal of the older craftsmen at the smaller production centres. A case illustrating this was quoted by Holcroft in his autobiography, where he was forced to concede that the dispersal of the foundry men at Ashford Works had resulted in the loss to the Southern Railway of valuable " know how" in their techniques, largely based on instinct rather than formule.
Like Mr. Hayns, I have no knowledge of the happenings at Gateshead leading up to the damage to the bell: Ashtead, howeven had been carefully maintained over a period of years, with the snag that a fair amount of water had seeped into the tower and was dropping in part on to the tenor. Perhaps we can have some more information about the state of things at the other tower.

THE SANCTLS BELE.

Dear Sir.-Your correspondent. Mr. John C. Sawtell. seems rather confused ahout this matter. He writes (page 147) "that in these - more enlightened, days it is to be hoped that the Anglican Church may soon be legally permitted to use a sanctus bell as an outward sign of worship.'

Enlightenment for whom or for what? Does he not know that a sanctus bell has no place whatsoever in the worship of a Protestant church?
It signifies the sacrifice of the Mass, which a Roman doctrine.-Yours faithfully,

SHIRLEY E. RUDDLESDEN  The Peterborough Diocesan Guild

A senior member of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild hit the nail on the head when he said "the modesty of many of our youngsters must make the search for material for this series very difficult." It certainly is most difficult, but very rewarding when one is put into touch with such a youngster as Shirley E. Ruddlesden.

Shirley, born at Badby, Northants, on May 1st. 1950, is the first young member to represent the Peterborough Guild in this serles. She is now at the Notre Dame High School, Northampton. This year she is due to take the G.C.E., but has not yet made up her mind what to do. Her ringing career started at Kingsthorpe, Northampton, when she was 13. under the watchful eye of her father. Three months later she was taking part in a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor for Evensong. On this occasion she rang the second. Surely great credit is due to her and to her father for this early success.
On March 7th. 1964, and two months before her 14th birthday, Shirley scored her first pead. This was when she rang the treble to a peal of seven Minor methods at Cranford. Northants, and which was conducted by Graham Paul. On the eve of her 14th birthday she rang the treble at Turvey, Beds. to a peal of Grandsire Triples, which was conducted by George Roome, and thus proving once again that this great Triples method. and also Plain Bob, is considered by most tutors as a "must."
Shirley was a regular Sunday service ringer at Kingsthorpe until a short while ago. when she moved with her family to Culworth and so once again one tower's loss is another tower's gain. Attending practices at Daventry is a very great help to Shirley and will go a long way to help her fullil her father's wish, which is to take part in a peal of Cambridge Muximus. an all-ladies' peal and, finally, to conduct a peal. Her own ambition at the moment is to ring as many peals in as many methods as she possibly can.

During the summer of 1964 Shirley's father resumed acquaintance with Barry Hendry, who is responsible for her introduction to Surprise ringing. Again this brilliant young lady progressed rapidly. gaining her first peal of Surprise on December 27th, 1964 . This was a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Olney, Bucks, conducted by the one and only Pat Cannon. The following day, for good measure, Shirley took part in a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Easton Neston. In January last her total of peals had reached 28, her most recent being Cambridge Royal, in which she rang the third. Her total includes peals of Cambridge. Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, Rutland and London, also eleven methods to a peal of Minor. For one so young and living in a country district where opportunity to "get on" is not so easily forthcoming this is indeed a brilliant performance.

At the age of 15 , it is fairly safe to assume that Shirley is the youngest member of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild to have rung in a peal of London-certainly the youngest female. Well done. Shirley, the Peterborough Guild should be mighty proud of you. May you quickly fulfil your father's wishes.

NORVING.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Eastern Division

A possible monthly news sheet, combined practices and a Divisional social were subjects discussed at the annual general meeting of the Eastern District held at Bexhill-on-Sea on February 26th. It was preceded by a service conducted by the Rector (the Rev. M. D. Townroe, R.D.). The Master of the Association (Mr. R. V. Johnson) presided and thanked the Bexhill ringers and their Rector for their hospitality. Replying, the Rector said he was pleased to see campanology revived so enthusiastically.
In his first annual report Mr. Geoffrey FitzHough said the standard of ringing in the Division continued to maintain a reasonable level and there was a gradual increase in the number of methods rung. Seven peals and 37 quarter peals were rung.

The meeting agreed to recommend Fastbourne as the venue for the Sussex annual meeting in 1967. A sub-committee was formed to consider arrangements.

Officers re-elected were: Secretary, Mr. Fitzhougl, (Uckfield): Ringing Master, Mr. A. R. Baldock (Westham); auditor, Mr. J. Hill (Heathfield): committee members, Mrs. Percy (Willingdon) and Mr. T. Barlow (Eastbourne). Mr. A. W. R. Percy was appointed Central Council representative. Eleven new members (Willingdon 5. St. Mary's Eastbourne 4., Westham and Uckfield one each) were elected.

ON TEACHING ROPESIGHT

By PHILIP G. K. DAVIES

ROPESIGHT is the key to all method-ringing without it little progress can be made into the realms of the more difficult methods. However, ropesight is an acquired skill and few beginners find they can pick their way through the ropes without much practice. There are many methods of teaching this. and my purpose is to re-examine and revalue the effectiveness of these methods.
We may assume that a learner handles his bell without any serious faults which may develop into habits, and has practised rounds and call changes and can lead. The next step in some towers (if the above steps have in fact been taken) is for the learner to be put on the treble to try Grandsire or Plain Bob while someone tells him the number of the bells to strike over. This is sometimes called ringing by coursing order, but is in fact simply ringing by numbers. The learner may cotton on to this "coursing order," i.e. learn the numbers. The inevitable stage comes when a bob is called, or the method changed, and the learner is lost-thus proof that ropesight has not been achieved.
Why has he not achieved ropesight? Because he has never been taught ropesight. Telling a learner the numbers to follow is merely glorified rapid call changes, because the essential nature of call changes is that the changes are called, i.e one is told the number of the bell to follow. Call changes are excellent practice, but the advantage of call changes is that the change is retained, and the learner can learn to strike after the different bells. Some conscientious pupils, driven to desperation by the number method, may even learn by heart courses other than the plain course, but still not acquire ropesight.
Some instructors feel that the learner must count his place, and explain this carefully, but throw all their good work away when the learner goes wrong, and what is he told? -the numbers! The tutor might as well not have explained about plain hunting. Some instructors feel that it is all right to learn numbeis to start with and later go on to ropesight, but it is difficult for a learner to get first into the habit of ringing by numbers and then be asked to ring by position. Why not teach position right from the start? If a pupil is told the numbers to follow, he can be expected to achieve just that-the ability to follow a bell when told (and ropesight only if he is lucky). Ropesight is not acquired because the learner can only ring certain changes in certain methods. It may he eventually acquired this way with perseverance, and by eventually noticing the place-but the operative word is "eventually."

It is difficult to compare the speed of learning without two identical learners taught by different methods, and it is impossible of course to have two such identical learners, and to conduct such an experiment ; but what can be noticed is the fantastic time taken by people of intelligence and willing to gain ropesignt when taught this way.

Also the intelligent learner who rings by numbers will find out sooner or later that this is not the right way, and that he is making no real headway into change ringing. because he hasn't that necessary key-ropesight. This is a sure means of discouraging him, which the instructor does not want to do. Numbers may perhaps keep the learner happy to start with, but the wise instructor looks a little further ahead.

Other methods of learning are based on following the bell that followed you on the way up, and various alternatives on the way down. Unlike the above-mentioned number method, this does in fact teach ropesight. But following the bell that followed you does not impress upon d learner the place he is in. He needs to be made conscious of this place. Furthermore there are difficulties to be encountered when hunting down. One can follow the same bells that one followed on the way up, but this does not work for all methods, and is back to number learning again. When hunting down, learners are sometimes told to "keep one bell between you and your course bell," or "follow the bell that followed your course bell." These
(a) Noting one's course bell, which on the treble will be different in each lead, making the learner liable to forget.
(b) Watching one's course bell and the bell that followed it, strike over this bell, and be instantaneously ready to do the same thing again.

In my view, this is too much for the learner to think about at once. Considering a learner has not yet learned to see where his own bell is, he can hardly be expected to find the position of his course bell. Or again, one is told to cut under the bell one followed. The sense of rhythm required to do this (i.e. ring your bell just before the place you expect that the bell you followed to ring) would be denied the average experienced ringer, let alone a learner, and in any case it is easier for the learner to find his position from the bells that have gone before him, and not from any that might be following him.

This method of hunting down (cutting under the bell which one followed last time) may be explained as allowing one bell to pass behind you, and striking over these in front -which is a better guide.

Alternatively one can follow the last of the bells that one has not struck over on the way into lead. This is satisfactory if the learner does not concentrate on remembering which bells he has struck over, and does remember his position.
All these guides may be useful when a learner is progressing, but when he is plain hunting for the first time I feel he should be asked to remember one thing and one thing only. Thus the rest of his energy can be used in picking out the ropes, and listening. But methods based on following the bell that followed you are usually too complicated and ask the learner to have too much in his mind at once.
I suggest a learner be told the place he is in; but I do not think it a good thing to tell him 3rd's place, 4th's place, 5th's place. This will involve him in a simple subiraction sum, because 4th's place means that he has to follow three bells, admittedly quite a simple sum, but the extra thought process involved will hinder him concentrating on learning his ropesight. Why not then tell him to follow "three bells, four bells, five bells," and so on? It may be objected that he cannot see these-of course not-that is the skill which he is being taught to acquire.
Ideally he can be started on handbells (see Mr. N. Chaddock's article, "Ringing World," May 23rd, 1958). This will give him the principle of hunting, and can be taught when the pupil is still in the early stages of handling a bell, then he can try it on three tied bells. going from there on to a larger number. Another preliminary exercise is to make the learner think in terms of the place he is in is "ropesight call changes." Instructions are given to follow three bells, for example. so that in call changes a learner can be thinking in terms of the number of bells he is ringing after, and not which actual bell he is following. This can be varied by telling him to follow a certain bell, and then asking him how many bells are striking before him in that row. (Having acquired ropesight, the pupil will have little difficulty in realising that following two bells means being in third's place.)
If a complete band is to be taught from scratch, they must start on three bells (or even two), emphasising that they must follow either one or two bells (it does not matter which one or two), and must avoid learning the numbers. Others can be occupied covering.

In a strong change ringing tower a good learner. well prepared, can start on five or six bells. If there is any danger of his learning the numbers, stop this by frequently changing the method (Double Court, St.

Clement's), or by frequent use of calls. It is sometimes objected that you can try and teach learners by place, but they always learn the numbers anyway. In my experience this does not happen unless they are told or overhear remarks such as "It's 24653, you know" ; then, of course, the damage is done. But if numbers are never mentioned, then they don't think of them.

A tower with eight or more bells may not want to ring six, but a learner taught this way will ring properly on eight sooner than by clattering around indefinitely on the higher numbers, not knowing what he is doing. He should progress on to eight reasonably quick!y, and if he can't manage six, it will be no use trying on the larger number anyway.
I am prejudiced in thinking that the best way of avoiding the obstacle of being without a bell to lead off when starting on an even number of bells (assuming that the learner has been started with a covering bell), is not to have a covering bell in the first place, i.e. start on an even number. But this is not always possible.

When a learner has reasonable ropesight on six, by following a certain number of bells, then other guides can be given (such as mentioned above), so that perhaps a combination of metiods is used, or that the pupil (no longer a raw beginner) can use the method which suits him most. But at the very beginning, one method only is best used, because a learner should be expected to carry one train of thought only, i.e. the number of bells he is to follow at the next stroke. A combination of methods gives the learner too much to think about at once.

Once a person has acquired ropesight, of course, it does not matter if he is told the number of the bell to dodge with or , even follow if he is lost-but this is only when he has acquired ropesight. Before ropesight has been acquired it is dangerous to mention numbers at all, because you are distracting the pupil from his train of thought.

To sum up, what is emphasised here is that the learner should be introduced to ropesight by following a certain number of bells; that the instructor should speak to the learner in the way that the pupil is expected to think (i.e. not tell him the numbers and expect him to count his position): and that the instructor should appreciate the beginner's difficulties by reducing to a minimum the number of stages met at one time, and the number of thought processes he is expected to go through whilst actually attempting to plain hunt.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal of Rutland Surprise Major rung at Skipton on February 19 th was Mr. C. B. Dove's 100th peal for the Yorkshire Association.

At the foot of our front page article, "The Bells of Cardiganshire" (issue March 4th), there was an inaccuracy as to the price. The book costs one guinea, plus 1 s .10 d . postage.
Mr. William Lawrence has been a ringer at Sievenage for 66 years and captain for about 42 years. Mr. W. Brown has been his vice-captain for 40 years. A wonderful record of continuity of service.
Miss Gwen B. Bidgood desires us to make the following corrections in the peal at Whitchurch, Glam (page 155): Ringer of tenor, William Dare; date of the Rev. W. A. Winton's induction, February 15 th.

Mr. York-Bramble has just added yet another type of audience to his lectures on "Campanology." This time an all-ladies" group-the "Fareham Modern Wives' Club." His interested listeners kept "Question Time* going long after the end of the talk.
Inadvertently the weight of the tenor at Rougham (page 152) was printed as 16 lb . and not 16 cwt ., and the cost of the work is about $£ 700$. We are asked to assure Frank Mack that Rougham has no intention of competing with his "garage ring" at Bapton Lane. Exmouth.
A bout of flu prevented Mr. H. D. Harris from hearing the peal of London Surprise Major rung at Woburn on March 5th for his 9 lst birthday. This is his 70th year as a member of the Bedfordshire Association, and he has been ringing at Woburn for more than 60 years.

IS BELLRINGING MUSIC?

This pertinent question is asked by Hervey Bagot, president of the Australia and New Zealand Association, in the current issue of "Ringing Towers."
Whet us ask ourselves as change ringers: What is it that is uppermost in our minds as we enter a belfry prior to ringing? Is it the hope that we shall make some new conquest in the complexity of our ringing, or quest in the complexity of our ringing, or or general, relating to length or, perhaps, speed?
"On the other hand is it the simple desire, regardless of considerations of method, we shall as a team be able to create something beautiful-something which, when completed, is followed by a feeling of satisfaction in both ringers and audience?

In brief, do we go into a belfry to make music. or do we not? When we listen outside a tower to the efforts of others, do we expect to hear music or not? By true objective standards, all our efforts as change jective standards, all our efrorts as change benefactors futile) unless we have as our primary objective above all else the creation of good music. Complexity of method and other theoretical considerations have the status only of interesting foomnotes when the results of our efforts are assessed Could it be that sometimes we are guilty of intellectual snobbery -how often do we look down on a band that can only ring Grandsire Doubles? How often do we refer jokingly to some tower or other as a stoney tower?
" Honest self-evaluation by individuals or groups or by belfry bands is a need that runs parallel to the execution of practical functions : only by active self-criticism can standards be maintained. It is all too easy for the quality of ringing to suffer through confict of interests in a team, but all the time art requires dedication and, in the case of bellringing (method or not), this involves the subjugation of self to the purpose of the whole band. Are we true artists-musicians? Let ' music' be our watchword and let music flow from every belfry in the land."

SHEBBEAR COLLEGE SOCIETY

The Shebbear College Society now numbers nearly 50 members, 35 of whom enjoyed a day's ringing outing in the Plymouth area on February 27th. A quarter peal was rung to get the day off to a good start. Ringing took place at Lydford, Milton Abhot, Shaugh Prior and St. Andrew's, Plymouth. Senior members were able to test their skill at Grandsire Caters at St. Andrew's, and other methods rung included Plain Bob Doubles and Minor and Stedman Doubles. Junior members also acquitted themselves well on unfamiliar bells.

HULL NOW ORGANISED

Student ringers at present attending colleges and University in Hull have formed the "Hull Colleges Ringing Guild." Membership is open to past and present members of these institutions. A programme of activities for the summer term has been arranged and the following officers elected: President, John R. Joyner: Ringing Master. Geoffrey W. Randall: secretary. Peter Church, Downs Hall, Park Lane. Cottingham, East Yorks. At present, members join St. Mary's, Beverley (10) sent, Wedsesday evenings for practice.

PROPOSED AS NEW GENERAL, SECRETARY OF CENTRAL COUNCIL

For the first time, we believe, a nomination has come from the Standing Committee of a Yorkshireman for the post of general seca Yorkshireman for the post of general secretary and treasurer of the Central Council. retary and treasurer of the Central Council.
The choice is Mr . Vernon Bottomley, of 45 , Westercott Lane, Northowram, Halifax, who not only has full professional qualifications for the post, but in his own county has been selected to succeed Archdeacon Ellison as president of the Yorkshire Association on April 30th next. This in itself is an indication of the respect with which he is held among Yorkshire ringers.

Vernon's professional background is: Qualified as a chartered secretary in 1939, and the following year he was in the Army, where he remained until 1946. In 1947 he qualified as a chartered accountant, and in 1951 he became a partner in the firm he had served since 1936. His association with the Central Council dates from 1960, when he was elected as a representative of the Yorkshire Associaas a representative of the Yorkshire Association. He has spoken at the Central Council, chiefly on financial matters relating to investments.

His ringing career goes back to 1936, when he learned to handle a bell with the then "stoney" band at Haley Hill, Halifax. He subsequently progressed under the guidance of the late William Ambler, of Queensbury, From 1955 to 1961 he was Ringing Master of the Western District of the Yorkshire Association and elected Association treasurer in 1961, a position he will hold until he assumes the presidency.

His wife, Jeanne. E.. has accompanied Vernon to Central Council meeting and is well known to a wide circle of friends. Although it was as recently as 1960 that she was taught to handle a bell by Vernon, who had previously taught her 10 drive, she has made rapid progress. Each claims that her learning to ring is testimony to his/her patience?
They have runs over 100 peals together including 42 Spliced Surprise Royal and Pitman four, five and six spliced "silent." They ring at Dewsbury, where they have trained a band on bells which had been silent for many years. Jeanne contributed , feature article to "The Ringing World" on the methods they employ.

INVITATION TO EXFIFR

Come on Cannon. you poor old thing. Let's see vou earn the title "Tenor King." Exeter hells have now been rehung,
And single handed Maximus has been rung.
A peal here is something really great.
And the tenor bell is one you can't underrate, Only twice has one man ever rung this bell', And only one is living who the tale can tell. That you can do it we are all sure.
But the effort to attempt it is really much more, Only a brave man would ever make a start. An Cannon's the bravest with a very strong heart.
So silence your critics, go all out for the kill. And well be beside you in strength and in will.
And should you fail. pray never fear,
The effort to try was at least good to the ear.
So all you Tenor Kings, wait for the shout. Whatever Pat tries will be good without doubs, No man as yet so many big ones has rung, And ring it or lose it, his praises shall be And ring it or lose it, his praises shall be sung.

A DECADE OF RINGING AT WEST BRIDGFORD

Ten years ago, on March 22nd, 1956, the present ring of eight bells at St . Giles', West Bridgford, was dedicated by Bishop J. R. Weller. Before then the tower contained three bells-two dating from 1500-but the frame and fittings had deteriorated rather hadly and they had not been used much for 30 years. The old bells might have remained there still if the late Canon R. F. Wilkinson had not been appointed Rector in 1940. Being a keen ringer-he was later to become chairman of the Southwell Diocesan Guild-it wat natural that he should make an effort to get the bells ringing and increased in number. War-time and other more pressing needs caused some delay but eventually he was able to start making plans. He was helped by being able to purchase five bells from Perlethorpe. where they could no longer he rung. Two of these form the third and fourth bells of the present ring. The others, together with two of the old West Bridgford bells (the other is preserved in the church), were melted down and used in the casting of six new bells by John Taylor and Co. to make up a light ring of eight with tenor $9 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt
In the ten years since their dedication the hells have rung out with their traditional message three times every Sunday, for numerous weddings and on many other occasions. Five peals.have been rung and there has been quite a large numher of quarter peals, usually for Sunday evening service. Visiting ringers from all parts seem to have been impressed by the easy "go" of the bells and their clear tone. They have also been impressed by the care devoted to the comfort of the ringers by Mr. Wilfred Ratcliffe, the towerkeeper. The tower must be one of the few in the country with fitted carpets in the ringing room and up the stairs.
The lower will be open for ringing on Tuesday, March 22nd, the tenth anniversary of the dedication, from 7 to $9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., and all are welcome.

HANDBELL RINGERS' DIAMOND JUBILEE

Throughout North Lancashire and the surrounding counties the Silverdale Handbell Ringers are well known performers. The ringers held their diamond jubilee dinner at the Woodlands Hotel. Silverdale, on February asth. The meal was followed by an oldfashioned party.
The president, the Rev. J. F. N. Coleman. nresided and gave the toast to "The Queen and the Belles (ladies)." The toast of "The Bells " was given by the conductor. Mr. Tom Bolton. who told how the team came to be formed. "It was," he said, "on February Gith. 1906, that Dr . Colyer and the Rev. W Sleigh met in a local hotel to create the Society, which has progressed through the years. The team now consists of 14 ringers and has given concerts in over 40 villages and towns throughout the North." The event was organised hy the secretary, Mr C. G.
Dyson, Mr. S Letcher and Mr J. F. Bolton.

ANOTHER NURSE RECRUIT

Miss Valerie R. Humphreys, of The Nurses: Old Home, Manchester Royal Infirmary, Manchester 13. asks if. as a student nurse, she is eligible for Mr. T. M. Fitzgerald's proposed peal attempt. She writes: "I have had some experience of peal ringing and would he happy to make another attempt in a simple method.'

OBITUARY

MR. ALFRED CLAYTON

With regret we report the death of Mr. Alfred Clayton, of Beddington, Surrey, at the advanced age of 89 years.
Over a period of 60 years he was a valued member of St. Mary's, Beddington, though there was a break when his work took him to Appleton. Berks. His love of ringing and regular attendance at service ringing made him a shining example to all.
The funeral took place at Carshalton on March 15th.

HANDSTROKE HOME

THE correspondence columns of our journal may usually be relied upon to supply some interesting material. Whether informative, reflective or contentious, the letters that appear week by week will almost invariably include something that will start a train of thought and turn us to reflect on some of the things we take for granted. Such a letter is that from Mr. Bruce Warne in the issue of March IIth. In discussing the calling round of the bells; Mr . Warne expresses a general dislike of the custom of bringing the bells home at handstroke, and bases his objection (we are bound to assume from his letter) on the inevitability of falseness when the bells are brought into rounds by this method.
An objection to the practice based on this cannot, of course, be maintained, for it is well known that innumerable touches and peals are brought into rounds at handstroke without any danger of falseness. It is true, nevertheless, that certain methods will not lend themselves to the process, and it should be noted that, given a normal start, Plain Bob cannot come home with truth at handstroke; nor can Grandsire, going off into changes in the usual way, come back to rounds at handstroke at a call without the falseness Mr. Bruce points out.

But now that the subject has been raised we may perhaps with interest look into the question of Handstroke Home, see how it began, and how it developed. Up to the iniddle of the 18th century Cater ringing (and this meant chiefly Grandsire Caters) followed the pattern popuJarised by the great Annable, and all peals and touches, having run a required number of courses in the Tittums, came home at backstroke with a variety of homing. courses, many of them clumsy and unnusical. Then a certain Francis Roberts hit on the plan of getting the bells into rounds at handstroke ly a much simpler and shorter plan. We learn from "Clavis" that the innovation was received with enthusiasm, and men hegan not only to use it for Cater ringing but to inquire into the possibility of its being adopted for Triples and Cinques. When the question of seven bells and eleven bells came to be considered it was quickly comprehended that nothing could be done unless the bells could be got "out of course" this; they quite well knew, could be done only by the use of the Single, and the Single, at that time, was regarded as a rather disreputable ally. It was left for a later generation, emboldened by the genius and enterprise of Shipway, to introduce, without reserve, the Single and its manifold benefits.
"Clavis" printed among its touches a curious 350 Grandsire Caters, composed by a Mr. John Frazier, one of the Cumberland Youths, and brought it round " at hand." It is the oldest touch of its kind in existence, but it is a strange muddle of bell music, and, as the book says, "the bells are thrown into such cross positions that few practitioners choose to ring it." In this same volume is to be found a series of peals of Grandsire Caters by John Reeves. They are all on the long-course plan, which seems to have been the convention of the time, but they are fine pieces of work of their type and it is worthy of note that they come round "at hand" by means of our familiar " 9 in and out at 2."
For a long time the Tittum position remained unchallenged as the quintessence of Cater ringing, and if it was not absolutely de rigueur, the influence of Annable and the fashion he set probably precluded any other experiment. The blocks of the peals were exclusively Tittum but the bells could be, and were, brought home at handstroke. It was left for Henry Cooper, the Birmingham composer, 10 dare to introduce a few courses of Handstroke music, four courses only, at the end of his fine 5,003 composed in 1816. The ice was now broken, and men began to find in the Handstroke Home, with its grand roll-ups at handstroke and its succeeding 7.9.86, a musical manifestation that delighted and bade well to rival the Tittum position. The use of Handstroke Home for large portions of peals is now, of course, commonplace, and what began very cautiously in Grandsire has taken hold in Stedman, Erin, Double Norwich and a host of odd-bell methods. The simple turning course used by Reeves for Grandsire has its parallel in the easy 2.95 of Stedman Caters and the facile 2.13s.15s of Stedman Cinques brought out by Hattersley and popularised by John Carter.

The bringing of the bells into rounds at handstroke normally involves a peal or touch of an odd number, but it is of interest to note that compositions can be obtained, by going into changes at backstroke, where the bells come round "at hand" in an even number of changes. We recollect a peal at Walsall some years ago where a level 5.000 came round in this way, and a few vears ago Mir. Frank Lufkin conducted a 5,040 Grandsire Caters on this plan.

The Handstroke Home has provided all of us with a great deal of musical pleasure, and we may well agree with the welcome "Clavis" gave to it in these words 200 years ago: "This is so great an improvement in Caterringing, that too much cannot be said in commendation of it or its author.'

Cathedral Bells Main Business at Guildford Guild Annual

A MEMORABLE year was reviewed at the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held for the first time at Guildford Cathedral on March 12th. The annual report regarded the dedication of the ring of ten bells at the Cathedral as the most important event in 1965 and probably the most important in the history of the Guild. In 1933 the Guild took its first step towards providing a ring of bells for the Cathedral by establishing a fund to which the sum of one guinea was to be transferred annually from the General Fund. This was a very small beginning and, but for the generosity of Brig. and Mrs. Derek Schreiber and other people, there is no doubt that the aspirations of the members of 32 years ago would not have been realised for several years.

The meeting attracted an attendance of approximately 150 . The Lady Chapel was too small for those wishing to attend the Guild service conducted by Canon A. C. G. Oldham at which the retiring Master, Mr, D. A. R May, read the lesson, and Mr. S. G. Ponting was the organist. Tea followed in the Refectory Hut, organised by Mrs. C. W. Munday. wife of the secretary, and her helpers.

At the meeting, presided over by the Master, a minute's silence was observed for those who had died during the year. These included Mrs. A. C. Hazelden, Mrs. Melville, Messts. W. T. Beeson, L. C. W. Hunter. E. Etheridge, W. M. Stone and E. Hunt.

The Executive Committee's report stated that the president (the Bishop of Guildford) had said several times that he wanted all ringers in the Diocese to take part in ringing the Cathedral bells, and accordingly the officers invited all members of the Guild to join a Cathedral Society, which would be responsible for inging d lo. $b$, is on Sundavs. Some 80 members volunteered and since the dedication the bells had been rung every Sunday, although. at times, the standard was not as good as it might have been. They were grateful to Mr. Ponting for notifying members when it was their turn to ring. Last November the Cathedral Societr decided to abandon the current scheme and asked each District to be responsible for ringing on one Sunday each month. Mr. David Tubbs was elected captain of the Society.

MORE PEALS

The Guild rang more peals in 1965 than for many years past. Peals totalled 42 and were rung by 128 members in 21 different methods or numbers of methods in 25 towers. There were 16 conductors, the Master being the leading conductor with 11 peals. Eleven members rang their first peal and 70 their first in a new method.

Supplementing the report. Major E. J. Bragg, the peal secretary, said the Master rang most peals (15), followed by T. Page (14), S. H. Ponting and D. Blows ( 13 each), Five peals were rung out of six attempts at the Cathedral. The total of peals rung for the Guild was 1,172 , and peals in 41 different Surprise methods had been rung. No Delight methods peals had been rung. The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. M. Harbott. seconded by Mrs. Beeson.
H. Kippin and were presented by Mr. C. H. Kippin and showed a balance in the General Fund of $£ 47$ 6s. 6d. (against $£ 358 \mathrm{~s}$.) on the Cathedral Bells Fund $£ 302$ 12s. $8 d$., and on the Benevolent Fund $£ 155$ 19s, 7d. resigned at the end of the vear, was thanked for his services and Miss Y. Eloie was welcomed as his successor.
Officers nominated for 1966 were: Master. Mr. P. G. Smart (Ash): secretary, Mr. C. W. Munday (Ewell): treasurer. Mr. C. H. Kippin (Farnborough): auditor Mr. P. G. Sherwood (Ash).

BOTH TRAINED AT MFRROW

The retiring Master, before installing Mr . Smart with the badge of office. snoke of his pleasure in succeeding Mr. C. W. Denyer. their third Master. the others being Major Hesse and Mr. Albert Harman. He was sure that Miss Pam Warren, of Merrow, now in Australia, would be very pleased to hear that the second of her pupils-Peter Smart-had been elected Master. He (Mr. May) was another of her pupils. A coincidence was that the previous Guild secretary had come from his tower and it was exactly the same at Ash.
There had been some disappointments during his term of office-one was a ringing dispute at the Cathedral, when two people walked of never to return. "I was more hurt about this than anything else," said Mr. May
On the other hand, he continued, there had been many occasions of great happiness. One was when 90 of their members went to the All England Festival at Coventry Cathedral. The greatest excitement was the dedication of the Cathedral bells, when he had the doubtful privilege of choosing the band to ring at the service. The week-end course he was instrumental in introducing was another exciting thing He concluded by expressing his thanks to the Bishop and Dean and the clergy.
Thanking the Guild for his election, Mr. Smart said he hoped he would be able to lead the Guild as ably as Mr. May had done in the past four years

Mr. Roy Collins, secretary of the Chertsey Distric:, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr and Mrs. May for their work. Mr. May raised the office of Master to a higher level than ever before, was his comment.

Mr. May thanked the Guild and said there were two out of the very many he would like specially to thank-Mr. Charles Denyer and Mr. Stanley G. Ponting.
A ballot took place for the election of four representatives to the Central Council. The four retiring members were elected-Messis D. A. R. May, J. F. M. Maybrey (Esher), S. G. Ponting (Guildford) and W. H. Viggers (Aldershot).
A constitution of Guildford Cathedral Society was submitted to the Guild and approved for submission to the Dean and Chapter
The meeting also agreed that a part of the Cathedral Bell Fund be used to provide facilities for housing the Guild library in the Cathedral belfry and to provide other fur nishings. Also that the disposal of the balance of the fund be considered at the next annual general meeting.
The meeting concluded with votes of thanks in which the chairman made special mention of the services of Mr C . W. Munday, the general secretary, during the year.

LLANDAFF ASSOCIATION MASTER MARRIED

The marriage took place on St. David's Day (March 1st) at Llandaff Cathedral of Mr. David J. Llewellyn, Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association and secretary of the Llandaff Branch, and Miss Penelope J. Welsh, deputy leader of the Cathedral band. Both the bride and bridegroom are very well known amongst the ringers in South Wales. The bridegroom rang in the record peal of 20.760 Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Llanfeigan on July Ilth. 1964.
The service was conducted by the Dean (the Very Rev. E. S. Thomas). The hride was given away by her father and attended by Andrea West. a niece of the bridegroom. As it was Lent, the Dean gave special permission for the Cathedral bells to be rung before and after the service.
The reception was held at the Cedars Hotel, after which the happy couple left for their honeymoon. which is being spent on a cruise in the Mediterranean.
Their future address is: 1, Mathew Road, Rhoose, Barry, Glam. M. . P.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Leatherhead District

The annual general meeting of the Leatherhead District at Leatherhead on February 5 th attracted 36 members and eight visitors, including Mr. H. V. Young, of Wiveliscombe, a former District Master
The District report for 1965 showed that membership increased by 14 . Seven peals and 31 quarter peals were rung. The bells of Guildford Cathedral featured prominently in the report since the District agreed to accept on a trial basis responsibility for ringing at the Cathedral on the third Sunday of each month. Also, two members of the District were recently elected joint steeplekeepers at the Cathedral. The striking competition at Leatherhead was won by Ashtead.
District officers elected were: Master, David J. Herschell (Epsom Common); secretary, Martin Morris (Ewell): auditor, Ralph C. Spittle (Ewell): Guild Executive Committee, Roy Mills (Ashtead). The new secretary's address is: 28, Seymour Avenue, Ewell, Epsom. Surrey.
The Vicar of Leatherhead, the Rev. K. Ball, conducted the service. M. M.

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY ANNUAL  DINNER

SATURDAY, February 26th, began with peal ringing in the district While the cream of the band departed to Bottesford to ring Rutland, colleagues from Manchester with supporting cast split up between two towers to attempt peals of Minor. The day was one chapter of accidents, however. All had been planned to perfection but the unknown quantity, the stranger in Nottingham, had not been reckoned with. Two traverses of Nottingham to collect ringers were fraught with mishaps, tut the worst was yet to come; attempting to reach the village of Stanton-by-Dale, the intrepid band, ably misguided by a local ringer, found that the building of a motorway since the drawing up of the local ordnance survey map had resulted in the closure of a road. Nevertheless, they reached their destination in the end and the remainder departed to Breaston for the other peal, arriving in time to prevent the other three ringers, who had been waiting the best part of an hour, from ringing down and departing in disgust. A successful peal was rung here, but our commiserations go to our Manchester colleagues, who. like our own band, were unable to overcome the jinx that has frequently afflicted peal attemots at Stanton. Some compensation was gained by the ringing of a quarter peal.

The afternoon's programme took the form of ringing at various towers: we began at Sawley with the bells half muffled. Long Eaton was the next stop, followed by Attenborough, where we were joined by the Bottesford contingent, fresh from a successful peal. Ringing was concluded on the fine new twelve at St. Peter's and the ten at St. Mary's, Nottingham.

The dinner itself, probably a better draw than the ringing earlier, took place in the University at Derby Hall. Our guest of honour, Mr. Paul Taylor, president of the Society, voiced the sentiments of all in thanking us for a very fine dinner. Next, we heard from out up-and-coming Fresher rep., Ian V. J. Smith, who made the first speech welcoming the visitors from other Societies, getting the evening off to a good start by spicing his dissertation with a couple of extremely witty anecdotes.

He was followed by a well-known visitor from Durham, David J. "Grandsire" Marshall, whose speech in return developed into a diatribe deelaring the perils of Grandsire ringing-those present will recall extravagan references to a police state where Grandstre ringing, accompanied by the threat of losing clappers through the tower louvres, is treated as a capital offence.

The toast of "The Nottingham Society" was proposed by Miss Kathleen Higgins, strangely styled as "Master" of the Sheffield Society, in a pleasant speech, in which a request for a speech that was "short, to the point and earthy," was evaded with ladylike dexterity. Finally, our Master, John Coleman, replied with a speech which proved to be modesty epitomised, for a very able speech followed to round off the evening very well.

All reassembled again for the last ring on Sunday morning before departing for home universities after an extremely good week-end, thanks to the efficient organisation of our committec.

WINLATON BELLS RESTORED

On November 20th, 1965, Mr. D. A. Bayles. the general secretary of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, opened the annual sale of work at Winlaton, County Durham. He was invited to do this as part of the proceeds were to be used to complete the fund for the restoration of the bells. The Western District arranged its meeting that day in the neighbouring parish of Blaydon, and several ringers attended the sale and had tea there before going down the hill to ring at Blaydon.
On Saturday, February 19th, many ringers, including the president ( Mr . W. Tyson) went to Winlaton again and on that occasion they were able to stay there for their ringing.
In the interval between these visits Messrs. John Taylor and Co. had brought the bells back from Lougnborough and completed the work of restoration. The bells have been tuned and equipped with new fittings. While the existing frame has been used, the roping has been altered to give a much better circle. The bells are now a very pleasant six and go extremely well. At the time of writing they are too noisy in the ringing chamber but it is hoped that attention to a dilapidated trap door will counteract this fault.
The service of rededication on February 19th was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. B. J. G. Fox, assisted by the curate, the Rev D. Hawkins The Bishop of Jarrow, the Rt. Rev. A. K. Hamilton, performed the rededication and preached the sermon. The Bishop spoke of the pleasure given to many people by the sound of church bells and went on to remind the congregation of the purposes for which church bells were rung. He particularly emphasised the call to worship and stressed the importance of worship in the church.
After the service, lea was served in the school and short speeches were made by the Bishop, the Rector and the president. Thanks were expressed to the ladies for an excellent tea.
During the evening the bells were put to good use by the visitors. Some slides on the production of bells were shown and a brief demonstration of ringing was given $t 0$ the newly-confirmed in an endeavour to stimulate recruiting of an adequate band to keep the restored bells ringing.

The weather was very wintry but this did not deter the visitors, the younger element appearing to delight in the snow. There was a note of sadness in the day's proceedings due to the absence of Mr. Tom Butlerwell in hospital, and best wishes were expressed for his recovery.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

At the annual meeting of the Sheffield and District Society held at Ranmoor (10), Sheffield, on March 5th, Mr. J. Seager resigned from the office of secretary, a post he nad filled for ten years. He was warmly thanked for the efficient way he had carried out this work. His successor is Mr. Andrew King, of Wentworth Vicarage. Rotherham.

The Vicar (the Rev G. Needham) presided and the following officers were elected: President, Mr. H. Rooke; president-elect, Mr. M . King: secretary, treasurer and "Ringing World " correspondent, Mr. A. King: assistant secretary, Mr. J. Seager : peal secretary,
Mr. D. Armstrong; Ringing Master, Mr. J. Mr. D. Armstrong: Ringing Master, Mr. Mr. J. Chaddock: auditors. Mr. C. Rusby and Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert: Central Council representative, Mr. N. Chaddock; Joint Council of Yorkshire Societies. Mr. M. King and Mr. J Chaddock. Another retirement was that of peal secretary. Mr. N. Chaddock, who had held this office reported that the peal book was now up to date.

New members elected were: Richard Fletcher, Dennis Haigh. Neil Leatherland. Irvin Smith, John Scholey (all of St. Mary's. Walkley), Andrew Deakin (Warsop). Andrew Jobson (Dore), Mrs. Wendy Taylor. Miss Pamela Allan and Miss Pamela Smith (Ranmoor)

It was decided not to make any changes to the cup contest rules until after this year's contest.

Ringing in the afternoon was at Ranmoor and on the newly restored six at Walkley, and after the meeting at Ranmoor until 9 p.m. An excellent tea was served by the Ranmoor company in the Church Hall.

Letters to the Editor

THE GOSPORT PEAL

Deat Sir,-I should like to correct a few wrong impressions given by Mr. Cope in his letter of March 11 th in his criticisms of v:y handling of the Gosport peal.

I understand that at the annual meeting of Portsmouth District on February 5th a member of that District made a statement that the ropes were removed at the Vicar's request because of complaints made to the Vicar about the peal. This is not true. Requests had been made two months previously fbr the return of the ropes; the peal was arranged with this purpose in mind that whether successful or otherwise the ropes would be returned to their rightful owners
We therefore cannot blame Mr. Cope for this misstatement. I have written privately to the offender acquainting him with the true facts.
I had hoped the dispute between myself and the Portsmouth District had been happily solved last Octoher, when I received the first official letter from them: unfortunately this is not the case.

My partner in crime was asked by two Portsmouth District members at the annual meeting at Christchurch in July if he had looked into the possibility of ringing the bells at Gosport; my help was sought, but because of the distance involved I was not very enthusiastic and left the preliminary survey to him.

Eventually a journey down to Gosport in early August and an inspection proved to our satisfaction that the bells could be rung. Before permission was given the Vicar was consulted and indeed the full Parish Council had already passed a resolution to try to get the bells ringing again. The architect was also consulted and passed the tower as fit for ringing and it was not until an article appeared in the Portsmouth "Evening News" on September 8th that the Portsmouth District took any interest in the proceedings.
This was largely on my recommendation after a phone call from the verger, who said because of the ringing on August Monday the police were called out and the squad cars had rushed to the scene thinking that somebody was locked in the tower.
It was then decided that the newspaper be informed of the next ringing, on September 12th. with an account of what we planned to do, and it was three points in this newspaper report that were objected to and that were the subject of some correspondence bitween myself and the District secretary. These were:
(1). The satisfaction of knowing that the bells can be rung for their true purpose, that of calling the residents to worship: we have every hope that at Gosport this will soon be the case and that a resident team of ringers can be formed to ring the bells.
(2). It is hoped to arrange an open day for ringers with a special Sunday service at the church.
(3). If the experiment is satisfactory the bells will be rung later for a more prolonged period further to test their capabilities.
This was the spark that set the Ports mouth District kindling. Their points were: No. 1 was a rash promise which I could not follow up; No. 2 that any open day would be up to the Portsmouth District to arrange : No. 3 that prolonged ringing would be inadvisable in a built-up area.
I sent back a letter of apology, explained that until we knew whether the bells could be rung properly, it did not seem necessary to inform the District, offered them the chance of running the open day, and assured them that no peal would be atiempted without the backing of the church authorities.

Needless to say, they did not accept my offer of running the open day, but many turned up, including the chairman and secretary. The question of teaching a band did not arise but I rather gathered that at least the Portsmouth District members did not intend doing any teaching. Our friend the verger seemed fairly confident that some of their own church-people would be capable of teaching others. 1 had hoped that neighhouring towers might help, and with the College of Campanology just across the water what tower could wish for a better start?

Finally Mr. Cope, in his letter, would like to give the impression that we have closed the tower because of our peal. This certainly is not correct nor his statement that this was the only purpose why we spent the hours we did among the pigeon dung working on them. The Vicar was very cordial when I returned the tower key to him after the peal; he had some complaints but, in his own words, no more than could be expected. A set of ropes had been offered by Mr. Park, of Darlington, but the offer was not accepted by the Gosport authorities. Who can do more?
I regret that a private dispute had to be made public: I hope that it will now be forgotten by Mr. Cope and his friends as it has been done by me, and if any Portsmouth District ringers like to get up among the pigeon dung I am sure they will receive as much support at Gosport as I have done, or would they prefer to see these eight bells lie silent again for another 38 years!!-Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY K. DODD.
Highclere.

WASHINGTON PEAL

Dear Sir, - Having listened to the Washington peal several times, I feel it is a magnificent L.P. record. No doubt the striking reached perfection, and the trip by the ringers was well worth while.
I should say the Washington, peal coupled with the long peal at St. Philip's Cathedral on May 15th, 1965, were brilliant examples of second-to-none ringing. To reach such a standard calls for plenty of practice.

Wishing the band of ringers all the luck in future events, I have also something here which will interest St. Martin's band.
The first time St. Martin's broadcast, through the good offices of SI.T., New Street, Birmingham, was on Sunday, May 25 th, 1924. I was detailed to send a report to the Rector, who at that time was Canon Grose Hodge, which I managed very well. The band at that time comprised the fol lowing: T. Russam 1, A. Walker 2, J. H. Reeves 3 , A. E. Norman 4. J. E. Groves 5, M. J. Morris 6. W. Kent $\dot{7}$, A. P. Smith 8, E. Mansell 9, G. F. Tendall 10, J. Neal 11, W. J. Froggatt 12. ## LADIES AT YORK MINSTER

Dear Sir-Your account of the quarter peal at York Minster in which tive ladies took part ("Belfry Gossip," page 168) has reminded me of an incident there during a visit by the late Mrs. Edith Fletcher (then Miss Edith Parker) many years ago, which was related to me by Mr. Horace Morley, of Selby, in 1933

1 expect many ringers in Yorkshire $1 \mathrm{e}-$ member Mr. John W Moorhouse, who was prominent in the first 30 years or so of this century as a composer and conductor. He had a daughter who was also a good ringer and when Miss Parker was staying with them the two girls went to York Minster practice. During a touch in which they were both ringing, a verger came into the heifry and saw them. Next day he reported this to the Dean, who sent for the ringer in charge and asked him to explain. The ringer was told that in future no women were to he allowed in the tower under any circumstanzes whatever !-Yours sincerely,
E. BARNETT.

PEAL REPORTS

Dear Sir-I am astounded to note that you are still publishing peals rung in 1965 On behalf of all who have to keep Association records I appeal to conductors to ensure that peal reports are submitted immediately after the peals are rung. Surely after travelling many miles and ringing for three hours it is not asking too much for the conductor to spend ten minutes and submit his peal to you for publication.
These delays cause quite unnecessary work to the peal recorders, and it must be maddening to produce an Association Report in February only to find a couple of peals for the past year published the following week. Fortunately this has not yet happened to me, but a delay of even a few weeks can play havoc with the sequence of peal books, etc. 1 appeal to all conductors to co-operate in this matter.-Yours sincerely,

M. J. PRYOR, Hon. Secretary,

Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Assn.

CHIMING/ RINGING

Dear Sir,-The bubble is burst and my confidence shattered. For 46 years 1 have fondly imagined that I could distinguish chiming from ringing, but Mr. White has ruined the illusion. However, I am taking steps to prevent such tragic errors in future. I am arranging for a C.R.S.R. (Chiming-Ringing Selective Rectifier) to be incorporated in my deaf-aid.-Yours faithfully,
W. B. KYNASTON

LINCOLNSHIRE PEAL AND PITSTOW'S
Dear Sir,-If the composition W. $3 \mathrm{H}: \mathrm{W} .3 \mathrm{H}$ : 8.2H:, which is the one usually understood as Pitstow's, was used at Ringwood, Hampshire, on February 26th, a false peal will have been rung. That composition is not rue to Lincolnshire Surprise.-Yours sincerely,

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The Eastern Branch held its annual meeting at Loddon on February 12th, with an attendance of 30 , including the oldest member, Mr. R. E. Browne, who is 94 . Canon C. R. Ninham conducted the service and gave the address, Mr. J. Forder read the lesson and Mr. P. Kindred deputised on the piano.
Officers elected were: Chairman. Miss D. Lidbetter: secretary, Mr. N. P. J. Cossey: Ringing Master, Mr. J. B. Pickup: Standing Committee, Mr. A. Crowe and Mr. T. J. Brock: Branch Committee, Messrs. A. W. Bird. C. Bailey, J. Forder, J. B. Gorrod and P. Kindred.

Meeting dates for 1966 were approved as May 21st, October 3rd and December 3rd, with February llth. 1967. for the Branch annual. The following new members were elected: Miss J. F. Groome, Mrs. A. H. Roberts and Mr. G. W. Townshend (probationers) and Mrs. A. Copling (honorary member), all of Loddon.

Members stood in silent tribute to the memory of Mr. J. W. G. Harwood, of Great Yarmouth, who died on February 1 st , aged 88. The five bells at St. Mary's, Haddiscoe, are to be rehung in a new frame: this, together with ncessary tower restoration, is to cost £1.500.

Votes of thanks were accorded to Canon Ninham, Mr. P. Kindred and the ladies for the tea arrangements, Forthcoming meetings: Whterton, April 2nd (practice); Pakefield, May 21st. N. C.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Methods ranging from Grandsire to Cambridge were rung at the spring quarterly meeting at Trull on March 5th. About 35 members attended the service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Evans), and tea was served by Trull ladies.

The programme ahead occupied the short husiness meeting. A Branch social is to be held at Wellington in November. Practice meetings: Milverton, April 23rd, $7 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.. Norton Fitzwarren, June 25th, 6.30 p.m. and Combe Florey, September 10th.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The Chertsey District meeting, held at Horsell on February 26th, attracted an exceptienal number of young people. Of the 40 who sat down to tea, at least 26 were teenage and all those present, except one, came from the District. In the absence of the District Ringing Master, proceedings were directed hy the Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. D. G. the Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. D. G. Blows.

With so many learners present, the humbler methods took up most of the ringing time on the pleasant six cast by Robert Catlin.
Five new members from Send were elected and one from Hersham.
The Guild received a warm welcome from the Rev. J. Cresswell. though his remark that those who rang and did not go to church were hypocrites met with some disapproval.
A very pleasant meeting was the general
R.C.

JIVERGIV DF LONDO

THE 21st annual dinner of the U.L.S.C.R was held at the Church House, Westminster, on February 12th. A full day's ringing preceded the dinner, towers open being St. Olave's. Hart Street. St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, Southwark Cathedral, St. Lawrence Jewry, St. Vedast's, Foster Lane, St. Giles", Cripplegate. St. Clement Danes' and St. Margaret's, Westminster.
A record attendance of nearly 120 sat down to dinner, and a very good meal it was, too. The president (Mr. David Martin) was in the chair. After the loyal toast, Mr Philip Gray, vice-president, proposed the toast of "The Church." He first expressed the hope that on future occasions of this nature the ringing would be of a higher standard: less ambition and a greater concentration on striking were needed to produce a standard of ringing consistent with the City traditions. Mr. Gray took as his theme "The World as our Church." and from his many and varied experiences made a witty exposition of his subject.
In the regretted absence of the Rev. Tony Clayton, the Rev. Maurice Dean. Rector of Hart Street, replied. Narrowing down on Mr. Gray's theme. Mr. Dean spoke in particular of the Anglican Communion, and upon the subjects of the Ordained Ministry and the subjects of the Ordained Ministry and Unity. He emphasised the shortage of candidates for the ministry, and expressed the hope that members of the Society would always encourage those with a vocation to the priesthood. Speaking about unity, Mr. Dean particularly called the company's attention to the aptness of Westminster Abbey's tion to the aptness of Westminster Abbey's 900 th anniversary theme- One People."
The toast of "The Visitors" was submitted by Mr. Derek Elderkin, who, where others had succeeded in dispensing mirth with words, succeeded equally well with silence and a versatility of facial expression. He regretted the unavoidable absence of the Rev. Tony Clayton and of Canon Mortlock, but welcomed particularly the Rev. Maurice and Miss Dean, the Rev. A. Powell-Miller (former Rector of St. Olave's), the Masters of the College and Cumberland Youths, and Masters and representatives of the University Guilds of Bristol, Cambridge, Oxford, Southampton and Reading. Mr. John Rock. Master of the College Youths, replied, and in a very lively speech took up some remarks made by an erstwhile Master about the Society "helping out the locals at St. Paul's." Mr. Rock commented upon the happy relationship existing between the College Youths and the University Society, many of whose resident members were College Youths.
In proposing the toast of "The Society," Mr. Derek. Williams, Master of the University of Bristol Society, waxed poetic, and quoted Shakespeare at length. He also expressed the hope that ringing in cities would be geared to meet the needs of newcomers, at the same time providing a consistently high standard of ringing. He felt that as the U.L.S. had an annual intake of at least 6.000 freshers they could similarly bank on an annual intake of at least five competent ringers from the same source, thereby ohviating the necessity of training learners, Mr. Williams concluded with the thought that the rivalry of the two Societies of Londen and Bristol was essentially one of friendship, and that the former Society, in not letting success go to its head, had added feathers to the learned's wing, And given grace a double majesty. U.L.S.C.R., in his reply, felt that the bells at the headquarters, St. Olave's, were oddstruck enough to make pure ropesight ringing impossible: in this way it was excellent ground for consolidating the striking of standard methods before going on to those more advanced. The sort of ringing the Society had provided could be gauged from the fact that 11 addition to the regular Sunday ringing and practices at Hart Street. there had been a monthly practice at Snuthwark Cathedral, 100 per cent. success with quarter peals at St. Clement Danes', with methods from Stedman and Grandsire to Yorkshire, and the Sunday morning hand had scored iwelve quarters at St . Vedast's from Doubles to six-spliced Minor. A variety of peals had heen rung, the most noticeable being Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal, eight-spliced Major, and up to 31 Surprise Minor, all the Minor peals being conducted by Roger Ba:ley. Certainly the most notable personal achievement was Robert Dennis's first peal as conductor. Stedman Caters, at Prittlewell. The summer holiday in Devon and Cornwall had provided some 40 towers and three peals; and in visiting other Universities they were gaining new friends, many of whom they were glad to see there at the dinner. In concluding, the Master thanked Mr. Dean and Canon Mortlock for the continued use of their bells and expressed the hope that this record attendance was indicative of the strength of the Society.

OBITUARY

MR. F. W. COOKE

Members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association were grieved by the death on March 14th of Mr. Frederick William Cooke, of Darlington.
Mr. Cooke, who was in business as a plumber, was a ringer at Holy Trinity for many years, and for the past six years had been vice-president of the Association's Southern District. He was an unassuming man, who made no claim to eminence as a ringer, but he was a most friendly man, who was happy in his ringing and liked others to be happy too. At District meetings he had a cheerful welcome for everyone and was careful to see that the beginners were not forgotten. Almost a routine at these meetings was a short touch of London Minor called by "Billy."
In business he earned a first-class reputation: in his leisure time he was an enthusiastic cyclist and, with his family, he toured much of the Continent, as well as this countrv, awheel; and he was active in the life of Holy Trinity, where he was for a time a church warden.
He will be remembered with affection and respect by those who knew him.

MR. E. EARNSHAW

The passing of Mr. Edward Earnshaw, of Meltham, has created a gap in the ringing of his own tower and in Yorkshire generally. About 200 people attended the funeral service for him at Meltham Parish Church on March 1st, the towers represented being Cawthorne, Friezland, Huddersfield, Kirk heaton, Longwood, Meltham, New Mill and Roughton

The bells, fully muffled, were raised in peal by local ringers at 2 p.m. and the tenor tolled 68 times, once for each year of his life. Meltham ringers then retired into the church and a band comprising ringers from New Mill. Kirkheaton and Friezland rang until the funeral cortege arrived. The Vicar, in approving of the arrangements, authorised the church flag to be flown at half-mast, a signal honour only previously shown to members of the Royal Family and Sir Winston Churchill

The Vicar (the Rev. P. Spivey) conducted the service and in a tribute said Mr. Earnshaw was known and respected throughou the township for his cheerfulness, his dedica tion to his church and the art of campanology. He was one of the most regular attenders at services of worship, and the Vicar felt deeply the loss to his congregation. He appealed to all present to endeavour to emulate the good example set by Edward in his work and worship.

Rounds were rung until the cortege left for the Crematorium, and afterwards touches in various standard methods.

MR. MARK LEE

The sudden death of Mr. Mark Lee, captain at Church-Oakley, Hants. for over 30 years, and a member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, came as a very great shock to the members of the Basingstoke District. He was only 50 and will be greatly missed.

Always very modest as to his status as a ringer he was a good teacher and kept the bells at Oakley ringing regularly for Sunday service. He was a pupil of Bill Hunt, one of the old stalwarts of the Basingstoke District and a former captain at Oakley. J.C

BELFRY GOSSIP

The five bells at St. Mary's, Haddiscoe, Norfolk, are to be rehung in a new frame. This and the tower restoration will cost $£ 1.500$. The ringer of the treble ir the peal at Holywell, Hunts (page 171) was Martin R. Hickman, and not as published.
Another 18 -year-old tower captain is Robert Sawyer, of Haresfield, Glos. He is teaching 18 people to ring, of whom only two or three are over 16. Albert is also recruiting for another tower.
Congratulations to Miss Judith M. Corby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Corby, on conducting her first peal of Stedman. She will rank among the youngest to have called this method

To save extra work and also postage, will those ordering Central Council publications from Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward, Lowfold, Ashorne, Warwick, please send cash with order. This is a must.
To commemorate the first anniversary of the bells, a quarter peal was rung at Gaddesby, Leics, on March 6th. A new band has been taught from scratch and two of the ringers rang their first quarter (three methods). Others are progressing.

The Leicester handbell band send most sincere congratulations and best wishes to John Mayne and his band on ringing their first peal of Surprise Royal. No doubt the forerunner of many more fine achievements to be added to the long list already completed.
Mr. R. B. Smith, of Marple. would like o hear of any person who would be willing to umpire the attempt for the record peal of Stedman Cinques at Birmingham on April 16 th, as people who have previously umpired their long peal attempts are unable to officiate on this occasion.

CONTEMPORARY CHAPEL AT

BUCKFAST ABBEY

Another milestone was reached at Buck fast Abbey, Devon, on March 9th, when a new chapel of contemporary design was consecrated by the Roman Catholic Bishop of Plymouth, the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Cyril Restieaux. The stained glass east window, with other stained glasswork, was designed and made by one of the monks in the Abbey workshops.

Earlier in the afternoon two of the community ringers joined in two well-struck extents of Plain Bob Minor: Rev. W. P. Dowling 1. D. R. Bould 2, T. G. Myers 3, Rev. D. P. Angold 4, K. E. Fursdon 5, R A. Southwood (conductor) 6. A course of Kent Treble Bob Minor and a six-score of Stedman Doubles followed.

NOT MISSED ONE :

The recent peal at Willingdon, Sussex, realises a rather ususual and possibly unique achievement by Mrs. Betty Percy. Unly six peals have ever been rung on the bells, and Betty has taken part in all of them. She has also (by careful attention to her records!) "circled the tower." The latest peal, a birthday compliment to Betty and to the mother of the ringer of the third, was arranged by a local Sunday Service hand. When one of them was unable to ring, Mr. H. Reynolds, who also rang with Mrs. Percy in the first on the bells on May 10th, 1939, stood in.

A WELCOME QUARTER

The quarter peal at Ealing on March 13th was a welcome to England to Miss Jennifer Murpty, of St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne. Yet another link between Melbourne and Christ the Saviour's, Ealing. It was also the first attempt by Terry Walters, who has recently left the care of the Rev. J. G. M. Scott at Clawton. Devon, to live in London. and it was a birthday compliment to the conductor, Mark Stacey.

LEICESTER RINGER SCORES QUARTER AT 88

Leicester Guild members will congratulate Mr. T. F. Briggs, of Somerby, Melton Mowbray. on ringing a quarter peal at the age of 88 on March 9 th. It was intended to attempt Triples, but through a misunderstanding the band was one short. A successful compromise was achieved by ringing a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor.

FAWSLEY FOUR TO BE REHUNG

Mr. P. Amos informs us that since the appearance of his letter (page 164) he has been told that Messes. John Taylor and Co. have the rehanging of Fawsley bells in hand New fittings are to be provided in the old frame. The mansion in the park was once the seat of Sir Charles Knightley, not Kingsley, as printed.

OCTAVE FOR EASTHAMPSTEAD

Reporting on the progress of the Easthamp stead, Berks, appeal fund, Mr. S. G. Scott, tower captain, of Linden, Skimped Hill Bracknell, Berks, writes that Easthampstead's $8 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt. six, of uninspiring quality, nine months ago suftered a sheared gudgeon on the tenor, causing much damage and rendering the bells unringable. An appeal was launched in "The Ringing World" by Mr Frank Price, which was followed by the sending of hundreds of letters to all parts of the country and abroad.

This appeal was the birth of our project; after negotiations and meetings with the Rector and P.C.C., it was agreed that, due to the present extremely heavy commitments of the church, the ringers should be responsible in raising the necessary funds to recast the six bells-outside the parish!! Estimates had been obtained and the faculty applied for A committee was formed to raise money by whist drives, jumble sales, home knitting raffles and anything and everything to make people aware of our task and to show their appreciation by dipping, however modestly into their pockets. At the same time ringers and friends everywhere were sending in their donations following Frank's appeal and their names added 10 the list for entry into a bound book which it is hoped to display at the dedication.
Approaches were made to industry in nearhy Bracknell, grams applied for from Branch and Guild, and the resulting sums were gratefully received, as were the two bobs, ten bobs and guineas. The truly combined efforts of the nine ringers, among them old age pensioners and young apprentices, have succeeded in raising so far $£ 700$ in eight months-not by anv single fat cheque but by an accumulation of effort and small sums.

The time has come. however, when the beat " has slowed and the really hard task of gathering energy and wits logether to comolete the job of raising another $£ 300$ at least, has reared itself to defy, or try to the mos: optimistic of us. We are lucky, as a band, to have members with aqility, strength, band, to have members with agility, strength, time to spare and the "know how" to carry out much of the work themselves, thus enabling the estimates to be at a minimum. With safety first and foremost. the bells have been lowered and despatched to the foundry. The next stage, adding two nits to the existing frame, has been started. I must add here a warning to hands placed in similar circumstances, not to attempt the lowering or handling of bells without the presence, at all times, of a person qualified or who has satisfied the foundry of his experience of controlling such a project Insurance. too, must not be ignored.

Since the fund was opened it became more and more apparent that it would be almosi foolish to go so far in casting six bells from the old metal and not complete the octave The progression of ideas has now led us, with the progression of ideas has now led us, with and hung. The bells are to be cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and dedicated by the Bishop of Oxford on June 11th.

Hopes are still with us that many reader who have received letters and momentarilv mislaid them may still respond in the manner of those who in the early days showed their sympathy and understanding of the unselfish service my members are doing for the Church and Exercise.

50th ANNIVERSARY OF DEATH OF

C. C. FOUNDER

To mark the 50th anniversary of the death of Sir A. Percival Heywood, Bart., the founder of the Central Council, his composition of 6,048 Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung at the Bell Foundry Campanile on February 28th.
The conductor, Mr. Derek Jones, writes that this might be the first time the composition has been rung in full without shortening (C.C.C. D. Norwich, 1908, No. 45). He thought it fitting to do something out of the ordinary and also to spring a ${ }^{4}$ surprise" on the band by not announcing the length till after it had been rung. At first the band were incredulous as the peal had not taken much longer than the usual 5,040 ( 2 hours and 35 minutes) on the Bell Foundry bells and assumed that it was a 5,376 or thereabouts. They were agreeably surprised to find they had unknowingly achieved, in the case of six of the band, their longest length: a notable "first in method "for Ron Hughes.

A DELAYED TRIBUTE

The peal of Little Bob Major at Sutton-on-Trent was rung as a compliment to Canon R. T. Keal, who has now completed 25 years as Vicar of this parish. It was originally arranged for last November. but unfortunately was delayed by a series of accidents. Miss Grace Burchnall had an accident and broke several bones in her hand: then Miss Katharine Burchnall had to enter hospital for an eye operation. It was a great pleasure to welcome them back to peal ringing. With this peal Bill Midwinter completed the "circle," and it was also a birthday compliment to Harry Poyner.

POST OFFICE QUARTER

An interesting quarter was rung at Great Horwood. Bucks, of Grandsire Doubles on February 24th, in which all taking part were connected with the G.P.O. On the treble was Miss V. Hall from the Sub Post Office, Linslade. Ringing the fourth was the postmaster of Winslow, Mr. E. Wood, and the remainder were from Post Office Engineers Dept. Bletchley. viz.: F. Daniels 2, J. Vickers 3, F. G. Edmans (conductor) 5. T. Clare 6. The captain of the team (Mr. F. G. Edmans) wonders if this is the first P.O. party to ring logether as a band.

AIPPHABET IN ROYAL AND MAJOR

Mr. Joseph W. Cotton, secretary of the Midland Counties Guild, completed, with a peal of Uttoxeter Surprise Major at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, a rare distinction. Although he had rung over 1.050 peals, which included the alphabet in Surorise Royal methods, and almost the same in Surprise Major, the "U" was missing. The peal of Uttoxiter completed the second alphabet.

ALSO WITH THE REV. F.E. ROBINSON
Mr. H. S. Humphrey, of 29, The Churchlands, New Romney, Kent, who will be 85 on April 19th. informs us that he rang in the Rev. F. E. Robinson's 990th peal, one of Stedman Triples, at Woolwich on June 6th, 1905.

WHO SAYS CHURCH BELLS A NUISANCE?

By Canon Gilbert Thurlow,President of the Central Council

CHURCH bells are sometimes a nuisance. The reasons alleged for this are often contemptible. Said one old verger to me years ago: "If we start ringing here, people will want to know why we have not rung before."
A new resident in a Norfolk village complained that the five small church bells "frightened his children." Their "image" of the faith must have been primitive indeed! But the village children, proud of their 1,000 -year-old tower, thought differently.
Last year, some tycoon, having settled down to enjoy for the first time the "peace" of the countryside in a Midland village, sought to silence the bells of the ancient church. Again, village pride through the centuries showed him that money does not always talk.
But such absurdities apart, it is true that church bells are sometimes a nuisance. Usually this is because they are hung in the tower in such a way as to sound too loudly in the immediate vicinity, either by being hung on the level of the belfry windows or because the windows are too large, or for both reasons.

Confronted by this simple fact, the clergy often show an odd lack of imagination. "Shall we ring or shall we not ring?" "Shall we disregard complaints, or shall we forbid the bells to ring, disperse the ringers, and lose a valuable band of church workers?"

But there need be no such dilemma. In every case the obvious thing to do is to continue to ring, but to quieten the sound of the bells. This is quite easy. It need not cost much. It need not disfigure the tower windows. All that is necessary is to brick up the belfry windows inside, to a point where the sound of the bells becomes reasonable, and which can be determined by experiment. A similar result can be obtained by a different method, if it becomes necessary to rehang the bells. It is usually advantageous to replace the bell frame some 20 ft . below the window sills.

This lessens the strain on the tower and its consequent movement when ringing, and at the same time it mellows the sound pleasantly. An important constructional improvement, when doing this, is to bond into the walls a strong reinforced concrete girder all round the inside of the tower, holding it firmly together. This is particularly important in counties like Norfolk where the flint of which towers are built bonds together so badly, and cracks apart from time to time. Had this been done years ago at North Walsham, Oxborough, Tivetshall St. Mary, Wighton and elsewhere, these towers might have been standing today.
So, if you think your church bells are too loud, or if you are plagued by others who think so, worry no more! Say no more - "What a nuisance are my bells" - and think no evil thoughts about your fellow church workers the ringers! Instead, invite those who complain to help you make the bells more pleasant.
This is an important pastoral matter. The challenge of the Gospel is meant to sound with power and persistence, but its sound should bring peace, not unnecessary exasperation, and it should comfort rather than madden. Frequenters of a famous market place will know the old tale, "Don't the bells sound lovely?" "I can't hear a word you say, for the noise of them . . . bells." This need happen no longer.

UTRECHT DOMTOREN, HOLLAND

THE LARGE SWINGING BELL "THE SAVIOUR"

By W. E. BOX.
Apropos the remark by R. M. Clouston on the bells of Utrecht Domtoren, Holland, these were cast in 1506-7 by Gerard Van Wou' possibly in Utrecht. The largest is reputed to weigh $8 t$ tons, probably an exaggeration, but she is certainly hefty. They are swung on national holidays, festivals, etc.
The lower, of gigantic proportions, soars to 338 feet and, since the nave of the church was wrecked in a storm in 1674, has stood ulone. It was erected between 1321 and 1382 The "tolling bells," as they are called, hang in the second storey.
In the uppermost section is the beautiful carillon of 44 bells (bourdon. 90 cwt.). cast in Amsterdam in 1663-64 by Francis Hemony (1609-1677) and his brother, Pieter Hemony (1699-c 1677). probably the most able bellfounders the world has known, who gave us what is loosely and wrongly called "Simpson" tuning of bells. The tonal clarity of this carillon and its audibility is remarkable considering it is hung so high in the tower, a fine memorial to the master founders of three centuries ago-the amazing Hemony brothers It is tempting to go on writing about their personalities and achievements, but space is limited.

The Van Wou family founded at Kampen on the east side of the former Zuider Zee. their work being mainly chimes of ten and eleven bells in pre-carillon days. The last, Gaert Van Wou, died in 1527 .

READING UNIVERSITY WINTER TERM OUTING

Meeting beneath the forbidding twin towers of Wantage Hall on February 16th, 14 inwardly excited but outwardly calm members of the Reading University Society clambered into a decrepit minibus, which moved away with ominous difficulty.
The first two towers of the afternoon were the sixes at Arborfield and Finchampstead. Diverse Minor methods were rung and the climax of the afternoon was the eight at All Saints', Wokingham, where the elastically sprung ropes proved to be a new and startling experience for some of the band. Yet the standard of ringing improved surprisingly, finishing with a good course of Cambridge Major.
On the way to Binfield, the first tower after tea, what little confidence we had in the minibus was finally annihilated when the electrics departed for other worlds. Undaunted, we walked the remaining mile to Binfield, while the driver made desperate efforts to resuscitate the senile and doomed minibus, Two good eights, at Hurst and Twyford, where we joined the local practice and rang London with the help of two local ringers. concluded the day. Margaret Wilson is thanked for her efficient organisation.
R. E. S., M. G. I.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Two five-bell towers-Campton and Mepper-shall-were the venues for the monthly meeting on February 12th. Although members at tea were not many, numbers picked up at the meeting held in Meppershall Church and again during the evening. Mr. P. Rogers, diary in hand, called the changes as Ringing Master, incorporating everyone's tastes and abilities.
Next meeting: Old Warden. April 9th.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Chesterfield District

On a bright but breezy day some 30 mem bers and friends from 11 towers were present when the monthly meeting of the Chesterfield District was held at North Wingfield on March 12 th. Under the supervision of the District Ringing Master, Mr. C. J. Hughes. ringing to suit ${ }^{2}$ wide variety of tastes took place on the 18 cwt . octave.
After tea, excellently prepared by the ladies, a short business meeting was held with the Rector, the Rev. N. Joyce, a ringer, in the chair. Following a warm welcome to North Wingfield from the chairman, details of the proposed outing to Derby on April 16 th for the Association A.G.M. were discussed. Two new members-Philip Robinson (Chesterfield) and Anthony Grant (Killamarsh)-were elected.
Advance information was also given of the ringing festival the week following the A.G.M. which is being held to commemorate the 50 th anniversary of the death of Sir A. P. Heywood. Bart. the founder president of the Central Council. In addition to ringing at over 12 towers, a special memorial service is to be held at Duffield. at which the preacher will be the Rev. D. St John Smith, president of the Clerical Guild.
Mr. F. Adams (Staveley) sincerely thanked all those who had contributed towards the recent presentation which marked his retirement after 17 years as District chairman.
The secretary (Mr. M. Phipps), on behalf of the District, wished Mr. A. Sallis every success in his new post as tower captain at North Wingfield.
Next meeting: Striking competition. Old Brampton.
M. P. P.

BASLOW. DERBYS.-On Feb, 24th, 1. 260 Doubles (Grandsire and Plain Bob): M. Hemm (first quarier) 1, S. Davis 2. E. Hearnshaw 3. K. Hemm 4, T. Wylie (cond.) 5 .

LADIES' GUILD Western District

The annual meeting of the Western District took place at Portishead on March 12th. On a pleasant spring afternoon a good number of members and friends gathered to enjoy ringing here before the service, which was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. R. O. Fry. In his sermon the Rector spoke of the ways in which the Ladies' Guild could help ringers and ringing at the present time.
After a sumptuous tea in the Church Hall, prepared by some of the ladies of the parish. a vote of thanks was proposed by the secretary to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting-the Rector, the organist and choirboys, the tower master, Mr. R. Gale. and those who had prepared and served tea.
At the business meeting, members were particularly pleased to welcome Mrs. Briggs, who had taken part in the first Ladies' Guild peal at Cubitt Town, and who now lives at Portishead. They were also pleased to receive a message of greeting from another long-standing member of the Guild, Miss N. Williams, of Bath, now unable to travel to meetings.
The officers were re-elected: Vice-president, Mrs. Parfrey ; secretary, Mrs. de Jong; committee, Mrs. Bennett. Mrs. Eyles, Miss Johnson and Mrs. Smith; representatives for the Guild annual meeting, Mrs. Bennett and Miss Battin. It was decided to try to hold quarterly meetings (subject to permission) at St. James: Bristol, and either Kelston or Marksbury, and to hold evening practices at Pilton, Swainswick, Colerne. Hemington, St. Philip and St. Jacob's, Bristol, and Frampton Cotterell. Two new members were elected Mrs. Carey (Chippenham) and Mrs. Parsons (Wraxall). M. de J.

LIIERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY'S ANNUAL DINNER

THE fifth annual dinner of the Liverpool University Society was held on February 26th. As usual, the week-end's festivities really began on Friday evening with the arrival of many life members and friends in time to join the, practice at St. Nicholas'. where a Society touch of Stedman Caters was rung at Mr. Birkett's suggestion.
Only two of the five peal attempts arranged for Sunday morning were successful. Due to a change of both conductor and county, the Society managed to score its first Dinner
Day peal-Yorkshire Surprise Major at New-ton-le-Willows. This great event received due publicity from the local Press, who interviewed and photographed the band. In the afternoon, general ringing took place at Walton, West Derby, Everton and St. Francis Xavier's Dinner was served in the Bradford Hotel, Liverpool, with a company of 75 members and friends. The Master (Mr. J. J. Fox), having proposed the loyal toast, welcomed the visitors, without whom the dinner would not be possible. In reply to Mr. Fox's toast Anglican chaplain in the University, remarked that he had first discovered the meaning of "the invisible church " when he became incumbent at a church with a ring of bells. He referred both to those who slipped silently into the back pews and those who slipped equally silently out to slake the most righteously acquired thirst it is ever possible to acquire. Ringers, he said, were privileged, as he was, to officiate at the greatest occasions of human life, marriage and death.

VISITORS FROM EIGHT UNIVERSITIES

Mr. D. G. Wilford, proposing "The Visitors," said they could be divided in several ways. There were university and non-university visitors, and there were the old faces and the new faces. One "old face" which was missing this year was that of Tommy Rogers Wirral Branch Ringing Master, who had died recently. Amongst the others who had faithfully supported every dinner they were glad to see Mr. Lester Gray, two honorary members, Alex Martin and Tudor Edwards, and friends from Wirral and Lancashire. The contingents from the Midlands and Essex seemed to have grown even larger. Among the new faces, perhaps lured by the prospect of ringing at the Cathedral, were those from the Universities of Bristol, Cambridge, Hull, Leeds, London and Oxford, and those from East Anglia and Wales.

Mr. A. J. Martin, secretary of the Wirral Branch of the Chester Guild, replied and thanked the Society on behalf of himself and Tudor Edwards for electing them honorary members, Referring to his misquoted re marks when he spoke at the Society's first dinner, Mr. Martin said that, with the guidance of Tudor Edwards, and the arrival of some very good ringers at the University, the Society had avoided the trap of pushing learners on too fast. He was, however, of the opinion that peal attempts on Dinner Day were not a good idea. Those who were staying with him had gone off reluctantly to ring. saying "See you in an hour" to the girl-friends who were not ringing. Either the peals or the late evening in the Pig should be cut out. But perhaps the Society's success in the morning showed that this view was unfounded.

The Society " was proposed by Mr. D B. Williams, Master of Bristol University Society. His statement that the northern universities were stringing along behind the southern ones was not well received by the many members of northern universities present.
Replying. Mr. V. D. Jenner refuted the idea that Liverpool in particular was copying any southern university. As is customary, his speech took the form of ${ }^{2}$ report on the year's activities. The morning's peal success, he said, was due to a change of conductor. he said, was due to a change of conductor. rung, including the first of Caters and the first in seven methods by the Society, and a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal had beeri lost a few weeks ago. There had been a good intake of freshers this year, and Cupid (we don't call him anything else; Liverpool believes in calling a spade a spade) had had a successful year. Mr. and Mrs. C. K. a successful year. congratulated on their marriage (an excuse for a Society reunion) and Messrs. P. Bennett, J. Fielden and M. Phillips on their engagements to the Misses Marion Panton, Maryl Crossthwaite and Muriel Hastings respectively.

The Master was accompanied on the top table by the Rev. G. G. Bradshaw, Messrs, A.J. Martin and D. B, Williams; Mr and Mrs. C. K. Cooper, the Misses M. Crossand M. Williams, Messrs. P. Bennett, J. Fielden, D. Jenner. M. Pilgrim, M. Phillips, R. Shea and D. Wilford.

The following morning there was a sur prisingly large turn-out for service ringing a St. Nicholas', St. Francis Xavier's and Everton. The week-end was brought to a climax when, by kind permission of the Dean and Chapter and the Ringing Master, Mr. J Ridyard, we were allowed to ring for Evensong at the Cathedral. Two of the country's leading lady. peal ringers rang the tenor to a touch.

The Oxford University Society Dinner

ONCE again the first Saturday of February marked the holding in Jesus College of the annual dinner of the Oxford University Society of Change Ringers.

While the young and imprudent were exhausting both themselves and every available ring of bells in Oxford, good and bad alike, the connoisseurs and elderly ambled gently through the city, pausing now and then to pay a gracious call at the superior establishments of Merton, Magdalen and the Cathedral. The day's ringing was finely rounded off by the ponderous six at the University Church of St. Mary the Virgin.
The Society's newly found penchant for matrimony deprived this year's Dinner Committee of much of the fun of their own special treat-the devising of the seating plan. With so much fidelity about, their natural malevolence had little scope for expression; one disgruntled organiser gave up altogether and retired to the neutrality of High Table.
After the meal the Society's president, Canon C. E. Wigg, proposed the loyal toast, which was followed by toasts to "The Church," "The Visitors" and "The Society." Father Hooper, the kindly guardian of the Society's home tower, is a speaker greatly admired for his intrepidity in still daring to brave a roomful of ringers after what must have been a grim ordeal of many O.U.S. dinners in the past. The guest of honour was Mr. Wilfrid Wilson, who spoke all too appositely about the folly of devoting too much positely about the foly of devoting too much of one's time as an undergraduate to ringing. truth of the caution. The third guest-speaker, Mr. K. Darvill, Master of the Cambridge University Guild, was. of course, hampered in his task of wishing the Society prosperity by the fact that such a sentiment would be a

Southern District

Further hazards forecast for church bellringing, if Christian Unity becomes the main feature in our churches, were mentioned by the Rector of Neath, the Rev. F. T. Williams, in his address at St. Thomas', Neath, on March 5th.

It was the first meeting of the year for the Southern District, and the attendance was a fair representation of the church towers in the area. Tea was served in a very pleasant room in the Church Hall, and the appreciation for the excellent meal, served by the ladies of the parish, was expressed in full by the hon. District secretary.

Ringing throughout the day ranged from Grandsire to London Surprise, also handbell ringing by request.

The statement of accounts for 1965 was presented and concern was expressed over the considerable drop in paid-up members since 1962. It was hoped that every effort will be made to enrol new members.

It was agreed to visit Newton Nottage for the September meeting. Three new members were elected
In reply to a vote of thanks by the Master, the Rector expressed his willingness to welcome the Guild when they again decide to visit St. Thomas', Neath

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Sixteen towers were represented when the Barnsley District Society met at Ossett on March 12th. The Rev. A. Smithers, curate, presided at the business meeting, at which a silent tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. Edward Earnshaw, of Meltham, a member for over 30 years. Mr. C. Moxon reported on the recent meeting of the Yorkshire Council, Allen Newbould, of Rothwell, was elected a member, and Mr. Harold Chant proposed the vote of thanks, mentioning the excellent tea. The curate's reply was most appreciative.-." Come again.

direct travesty of his very raison d'êtreto be as rude as possible to the Oxford ringers short of actual libel. Mr. Darvill not only kept on this side of the law but also approached so near to being nice to us that there emerged among the Oxford ranks a dangerously radical element urging the view that our Cambridge counterparts are not such bad fellows after all.
But ultimately the first prize must go to the home team. It took Oxford minds to realise that intelligibility has no part in afterdinner speeches. With this in mind one could only congratulate the three Oxford speakers for going on so long. It may be a long time before we hear again a speech of such calibre as that with which the popular Master, Mr. Roger Heyworth, so brilliantly broke up the happy gathering
The rest of the evening was spent in the college bar. One of the most pleasurable experiences of Dinner Day is to sit, with one's pint stoutly before one, watching the world wag by. And, above all, with what fascination of horror does the observer realise on renewing some old acquaintance the awful ambiguity of the indispensable, terrible cliché, "He hasn't changed at all"

ON TEACHING ROPESIGHT

Dear Sir,-For many years I have been teaching youngsters method ringing and the method I use is the reverse of that used by Mr. Davies

The first thing I teach them (Plain Bob) is the coursing order 24653 and tell them twice round and lead again starting with the hell you finish with and stick to this until it can be well struck; when this can be done you then start him counting his places, 2nds, then start him counting his places, 3 nds,
3 rds, 4ths, 5 ths, 6ths, 6ths, 5 ths, 4ths, 3 rds, 2nds lead.

Now able to strike and hunt, the nex: stage is a bob at tine end of each course, having explained to him the coursing order 43652, 32654. When he has mastered this he is ready to learn method ringing.

This stage can be mastered in a very short time. All you have to do is to stand behind him and explain to him that, going up, he follows the bell that follows him, the last bell being his course bell going down, to follow the bell that follows his course hell; on six bells, take away himself leaves five bells. his course bell leaves four bells, the one before his course hell leaves three bells, so with only three bells to watch you will find that very soon he will be doing this without any help at all.

My latest recruit rang his first rounds on Christmas Day. At present he knows nothing about method ringing, orly coursing order and counting his places. At the moment he is ringing three courses of Bob Minor and three courses of Bob Major easily also plain courses of Little Bob Minor and Major.
My recent successes include Michael Bryan, who rang his first peal a year ago at the age of 13 , ringing a peal of Minor "inside " to Cambridge, St. Clement's and Plain Boh, and the same week "inside" to a peal of Bob Major. He can now ring Cambridge Major, Bob Roval, Stedman Caters and Grandsire Caters. He has also rung a quarter of Double Norwich, all "inside."

Last November at the age of 11 David Gagen rang the treble to a neal of Minor and can now ring St. Clement's and Litlle Bob "inside" without any help, and has almost mastered Cambridg, Minor. He can ring Little Boh Major, Plain Bob Major and Bob Royal "inside" and the treble to Grandsire Caters.
My first success as an instructor was in 1932, when at Downham Market with a band of heginners, all service ringers. we rang a peal of Bob Doubles, first of Doubles by all and my first as conductor: later in the same vear with the same band a peal of Boh Minor, their first of Minor, mu first of Minor as conductor.-Yours faithfully.

A CANADIAN VISITOR

Dear Sir,-A young lady from Canada is making her first visit to this country in May and is very anxious to join a "tower outing while she is here.

The most suitable dates and areas to fit in with her itinerary are as follows: Saturday, May 14 th, any tower in Oxon, Wilts, Somerset, Hants or Dorset: Saturday, May 21st, Eastern Counties.
Should any tower in these areas have an outing arranged for those dates, and has room for an extra "passenger," perhaps the organiser would kindly get in touch with me. -Yours faithfully,

THE BRISTOL AFFAIR

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. Christopher J. Jones' letter in your issue of March 4th, while this and the "Bristol Affair" are purely matters for the hodies concerned, various facets of the question present themselves.
The argument, if carried to its logical conclusion, would result in illogical confusion. If one tower in a Branch felt it would like to change to another Branch, then as many more as felt like it would be perfectly entitled to do so, and that would go for all the other towers in the other Branches and the Branch secretary would have to be constantly revising his records of who had gone where, and who had come in from whence.

No thought appears to have been given to the Branch officers, and particularly the secretaries, who have to carry on the administration and who probably do far more "voluntary" work in a "voluntary" capacity, in a "voluntary" organisation than any individual member.
It Mr. Jones, and any who support him, do not like the faces of their Branch officers. they have the power to sling them out and elect ithers to replace them. If there are other reasons, then it should not be beyond the capacity of the Branch and/or Association officers, with a little goodwill and sweet reasonableness on both sides, to sort matters cut.
In addition to being voluntary organisations, our Guilds and so forth are democratic organisations, and democracy (to which so much lip-service is paid in so many walks of life) is very easily hedevilled by muddled thinking and the " non-return valve" or "one wav (my way) street " type of mentality. So much emphasis is laid upon rights and upon privileges which, through the modern grasping attutude, have come to be considered as rights, that our obligations are apt to receive scant, if any, attention.

NURSES PROVIDED BELL

Dear Sir-I have in the past taught quite a few student nurses to handle a bell, and at one period we could have raised a service band here composed entirely of nurses. However, either through marriage or the search for pastures new in the field of nursing, most of these have drifted away and at the present time there is just one other male nurse besides myself who rings here.

I was wondering whether Mr. Fitzgerald would think it worthwhile to put an article in "The Nursing Mirror"; it is possible that he would contact some ringers in this way who have stopped taking "The Ringing World" or some who have stopped ringing altogether: it could be a means of rekindling their interest.

Another point of interest to nurses who ring is that the second bell of our ring at Charminster was donated in 1962 by nurses and staft of Herrison Hospital.-Yours sincerely.

ERNEST H. AMEY.

NURSES-WHY NOT THE MEDICAL GUILD :

Dear Sir,-Have Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Willes never heard of the Guild of Medical Ringers? This has been in existence over ten years, and nurses are eligible as associate members. I have rung in at least two peals for the Guild with several of them, and 1 am sure the hon. secretary (address in the "- Ringers" Diary ") would give a list of nurse members to any organiser of a peal attempt.
The Guild would welcome applications, from any member of the nursing profession who is a ringer, for membership. Al least two meetings are held annually.-Your: sincerely, D. J. NEAL SMITH,

Master,

CALLING ROUND IN MINOR

Dear Sir,-I was glad to see that my article on calling round has provoked some interes!. Mr Warne's letter raises one or two points which deserve to be pursued further; in particular the use of other calls on the "loose bell" besides 4ths.

I cannot agree with the strictures on handstroke rounds-a touch which has to be called round is probably false anyway-and I personally have no objection to 65's at backstroke. This is obviously a matter ol opinion. but Mr. Warne's next point is one of considerable interest. To produce the plain course, or its reverse, the loose bell can be called:

\begin{aligned}
& \text { (a) } 4 \text { ths } \\
& \text { (b) } \mathrm{W}, \mathrm{H}+(\text { (d) } 0,1 \\
& \text { (c) } \mathrm{H} . \mathrm{W}

The callings marked " + "turn a handstroke position into a backstroke one (or, of course, vice-versa). Depending on the method, one or other of the four alternative callings can often be used to bring a touch round more quickly than is otherwise possible. In Bob Minor it is often quicker to call a coursingpair twice before (i.e. the loose bell $\mathrm{H}, \mathrm{W}$ ) than to wait until the loose bell is in a position to make the bob. For instance, take lead 42356, c/o 65-2-4-3. This comes round in six leads if the loose bell is called to make the bob; in only three where the coursing pair 4. 2 are called twice before.

Different methods have different characteristics and to call up rounds in the fewest changes requires a study of the lead-order of each method in order to choose the best call or calls for the occasion.
Finally, may I say how pleased I was to see that this ancient branch of our art is again receiving some attention after long neglect. It is especially satisfying that the interest comes from one of the universitiesa good omen, I feel, for the next generation of conductors.-Yours faithfully,

Walsall.
M. S. BRUCE.

ST. ALBANS DISTRICT OUTING

Instead of a March meeting, the afternoon of March 19th saw members of the St. Albans District and friends leaving for London. The Science Museum was the first stop and, joined by a few more ringers, we wandered around, the hour and a half going very quickly. Then, after tea, the coach moved to the first tower, Fulham. Having been locked out of the grounds, we eventually got up for a ring. Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Royal were enjoyed. It was a quick walk to Putney, and a long wait before ringing on the lovely eight. Methods from rounds to London and Spliced Surprise were rung, and then once more back to the coach and home. Sincere thanks were passed from the District to Mr. Roger Brown, the secretary, for a very enjoyable day.

CLAPPER

Dear Sir,-With reference to the letters of Mr. J. L. Hayns ("Ringing World," January 28th) and Mr. J. S. Boothmun (February 25th), while I have had no first-hand experience of such a failure, it is nevertheless an engineering problem and the following would be my approach as a professional engineer.

I have not had a chance to make any measurements on a particular bell but have done a few " back-of-an-envelope" calculations on estimated dimensions, which I believe 10 be typical, with the following results.
Firstly, centrifugal force: The Central Council publication "Preservation and Repair of Bells" gives the maximum centrifugal force plus, presumably, the dead weight of the bell) as equal to four times the weight of the bell. My own rough calculation gives three times, but the figure of four may be more accurate. The clapper travels only slightly faster than the bell so the maximum force can be taken roughly as five times its weight. Obviously this force would be far too small to cause failure in direct tension by a single application; for a $6 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. bell I have estimated the total clapper weight to be 33 lb ., 18 of which is in the ball (this checks with the ratio of $1 / 40$ th of the weight of the bell). Thus the maximum direct force is of the order of 165 lh . Assuming the clapper bolt to be $\frac{3}{3}$ in. diameter and to be made of mild steel of 28 tons per square inch ultimate strength, a load of 12 tons would he required to cause breakage and a load of some six tons would be required to cause yielding.

Secondly, consider the impulsive force of the clapper striking the bell. On my estimated dimensions, the centre of gravity of the clanper would be about three-quarters of the length from the point of suspension to the centre of the ball, but a slight reduction in the estimated shank diameter would place the centre of gravity almost within the ball itself. which I feel may well be the case. The centre of percussion will therefore almost coincide with the centre of the ball. If so, one can use the analogy of a hammer, the action being similar. The calculation of impulsive forces is always difficult, since the instantaneous deflection of the contacting surfaces must just be determined or estimated. With i hammer, however, which is swung in roughly a circular arc (as also is the clapper), the force transmitted to the hand is quite small although the impact may be very large. The same principle applies to the clapper. Thus it is not likely that this is the cause of failure, since whatever the force of the impact at the ball, due to the majority of the energy being concentrated at this point, and almost none at the hinge, the force at the hinge will be quite low.

Thirdly, it is a common fallacy that the initial tension in a bolt aggravates the loading (to use Mr. Boothman's term). The theory of holt tension due to externally applied loads can be found in "The Design of Machine can be found in The Dents by Spotts (published by PrenticeHall). Briefly, if kh is the stiffness of the bolt and $k p$ is the stiffness of the part or parts through which it passes (expressed as parts through which it passes (expressed as libs. load required to produce one inch de-

flection) the increase in bolt load due to an externally applied force of $F \mathrm{lb}$. is given by $F \times k_{h}$
F!ner $=\frac{-k_{b}}{k_{b}+k_{p}}$ Since in most cases $k p$ is large compared with $\mathrm{k}_{\mathrm{b}}$, the increase in bolt load is small. This assumes that the initial tension is greater than the external load.

This, then, 1 believe, points to the most probable cause of failure, namely that the holt has failed because it has not been tightened properly in the first case. It is considered good practice to tighten a bolt 10 80 per cent. of its yield strength. say. in the case of mild steel, to a stress of ten tons per square inch, or as tight as it will go usine a normal length spanner (without any extension in the form of tubes slipped over the end). If a torque spanner is available, bolt manufacturers will provide information as to the recommended torque for a given bolt size and material.

Vibration is always liable to cause threads to slacken off and the vibrations of the hell mey well do this. A constant check shotid be made, particularly on new bolts, to see that this does not occur. If the bolt is allowed to become slack, movement will take place, giving rise to fretting and an ultimate fatigue failure. In this respect the musical vihrations of the hell mav well give rise to high frequency reversals of stress. which may he far more important than any of the forces discussed above.
(It is my belief that failure of the clapper shank itself may be due to resonant vibration set up while it is in contact with the bell. Has anyone investigated the natural frequency of vibration of 3 clapper supported at the hinge and the ball I wonder? My guess is that in some cases it could be very close to the frequency of the bell.)

If it can be proved in a given case that the clapper bolt is not strong enough, the best solution, rather than boring out the hole larger, would be to make a new bolt to the old dimensions but in a stronger material. say an zlloy steel stuch as BS970; EN16R In doing so, care should be taken to avoid sharp corners at the junction of any larger section and the bolt diameter. The radius section and the bolt diameter. The radius stress concentrations.-Yours faithfullv.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Rochester District

Over 50 ringers and friends went to the Rochester District by-meeting on March 5th in the pretty village of Hartlip, with its wellkept church. Good use was made of the six bells. The Vicar, the Rev. J. Green, is a ringer, and he conducted the service. The singing was led by Mr G. R. Bone, the 85 -year-old organist, who was formerly headmaster of Rainham School. An excellent tea was provided by local ladies. and Mr. T. Barton proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks. A welcome visitor to his native village was Mr. T. E. Sone, who was accompanied by Mrs. Sone.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY TOUR

On March 12th twelve members of the Liverpool University Society went on tour in the Cheshire district. The first tower was Neston (8), where the bells were found to be odd-struck, and at Bunbury, the next tower, the bells appeared to be very similar. Over the county border into Shropshire to visit Whitchurch, where there is a slightly heavier eight ( 19 cwt .) and then back to Cheshire for the quite pleasant sounding six at Audlem. The long, journey to Crewe proved io be very rewarding, for here the Society enjoyed what was probably the best ringing of the what was probably the best ringing of the day on the ten ( 20 cwt ) at Christ Church. This was also the best attended of the towers. for here the original party was joined hy numerous other members. Middlewich (8) was visited on the return journey.
The Society would like to thank the towermaster and incumbent at each of the above mentioned churches for use of the bells Due to their kindness, and the fine weather which nrevailed. a thoroughly good time was had by all participants.

OBITUARY

MR. CHARLES McGUINESS

Lincolnshire Diocesan Guild has suffered its second loss within a short time. Charles MeGuiness died in hospital on March 16th at the age of 66 after a long and difficult illness. Charles was an active ringer for more than 40 years, widely known in the Exercise and widely experienced in tower and handbell ringing.
He began to ring at St. Peter-at-Arches Lincoln, and his first peal was Grandsire Triples, rung there in 1922. This was a first peal for several members of the St. Peter's company. When the Lincoln Cathedral bells were augmented to 12 Charles McGuiness joined the Cathedral company, after preparing himself during the period of waiting for the restoration of these bells, by going to Sheffield to practise on the nearest $12 . \mathrm{He}$ took part in the first peal on the Cathedral 12; this was Cambridge Surprise Maximus.
In the early 30 's he and his wife. Hilda were received into the Church of Rome, but Charles remained an honorary member of the Lincoln Cathedral company until his death. Charles and Hilda loved the social side of ringing, too, entertaining many ringers and travelling throughour the country to dinners. meetings. and joining the Universities Association ringing tours and attending Central Council meetings.
Among the peals Charlie was proud to have taken part in were Edward Jenkins' first peal of Cambridge Royal at Beverley Minster, Cambridge Surprise Maximus for the Cumherlands at St. Martins-in-the-Fields. Stedman Cinques at Buckfast Abbey, the first peal of London Surprise Major for the Lincoln Dincesan Guild and the record length of 14.144 changes in this method, peals of Spliced Minor to 125 methods, and Spliced Surprise Major to 22 methods. He also rang many of the "firsts in hand" for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. In 1951 Charles and Hilda moved to Newcastle and were as popular with the ringers there as they had been in Lincoln. joining in all their ringing activities.
After returning io Lincolnshire to live in Boston in 1959. Charles' health deteriorated and although he attended meetings and took part in practices locallv and at Surflect, he was unable to take part fully as he would have liked.
Al their friends will be sorry to know that after years of devoted nursing. Hilda was herself taken ill and had to go into Wyberton West Hospital. Boston, where she is still a patient. All our sympathy goes to her.
Requiem Mass and funeral service were held at St Mary's, Boston, on March 19th. Many ringers were present. including the Master and secretary of the Guild. members from the Central. Eastern, Elloe Deaneries, the West and North Lindsey Branches of the Guild. and Charles' lifelong friends. Mr. and Mrs. H Marcon Many friends from church and from his employers. Messrs. Fisons. attended. May light perpetual shine upon him.
After the interment a peal of London Surprise Maior was rung at the nearby Church of St. Margaret, Sibsey. The composition was the same as that of Charles' first peal of London Surprise Major. J. L. M.

MRS. E, L. MELVILLE

The nassing of Mrs. Melville at the age of 93 recalls my many visits to Guildford for handbell peals. I first met her in July, 1921. when she saw her husband take part in a peal of Grandsire Triples. After the peal she spoke of her ambition to ring a peal "in hand and within two monthe she rang 7-8 to her first handhell peal. This was nearlv 45 years ago and she was highly pleased seeing her age at the time would be 48 It was a good peal of Triples, still a popular method throughout the land.

MR. G. L. HEWITT

We regret to record the death of Mr. G. Leonard (Len) Hewitt at the home of his niece at Stoney Stanton, Leics, after a short illness, on March 18th. Most of Len's ringing was done with Hereford, Shropshire and. Leicester Guilds previous to his coming to Gloucester, where he joined the Cathedral and St. Mary de Crypt's ringers, and was a regular and punctual attender. From 1945 to 1956 he represented Shropshire Association on the Central Council.

He enjoyed a peal, Grandsire and Stedman Triples being his favourites. His peal total was about 100 , and although he was always willing to leave the conducting to others, he had called a few peals.
The last time the Gloucester ringers rang with him was last October at Stoney Stanton, where he had made arrangements for us to have tea and spend a couple of hours with him and his brother and niece, to whom we extend our deepest sympathy.
L. B.

MR. E. E. HUDDLESTONE

A regular service ringer and chorister at St. Peter's Church. Wymondham, Leics, for over 40 years, Mr. Ernest E. Huddlestone died in St. Mary's Hospital, Melton Mowbray, on March 10th. He was a member of the Leicester Diocesan Guild and also the Framland Society. The funeral service was on land Society. The funeral service was on Mareh rung half-muffled in his memory.

MARCH 4th, APPLETON

THIS year's Appleton Reunion was held on Saturday. March 5th, and, once more, was a very happy occasion with ringing friends from far and near: Pat Chapman, from Peterborough, George Cousins, from Hereford, a host of friends from London. Brighton. the Bristol contingent with Derek Jewell, lots of ex-Varsity ringers and. of course, the twins from Hinton Waldrist.
The traditional peal of Grandsire Caters was rung, whilst the second eleven went over to East Ilsley and also rang a peal, much to the delight of Fred Wilkins and the writer. who both think this is one of the ringing days when everything should go well.
At 6.30 p.m. about 120 sat down to a sumptuous feast and. after Grace, the Rector of Appleton opened the proceedings by proposing the loyal toast, which was acclaimed with enthusiasm.
The speeches at Appleton are always looked fcrward to, as they are short, sharp, sometimes witty but always to the point. This year, although several old stalwarts had been relieved of "toast duty" the newcomers were well received, everyone of course eagerly awaiting the reply of Frank White to the toast of "The Anoleton Society," ably proposed by Canon Elliot Wigg.
Bill Coles (who already thinks he's one on 'em) pronosed "The Church," responded to by the Vicar of Sutton Courtney. Ted Drewitt, always a cheerful chap (hope he gets awav with his "dangerous driving" charge) proposed "The Visitors" in a delightful manner. and George Cousins suitably replied.
Then Fred Sharpe came into his own. opening the "Grand Concert" with the old Appleton song written by the village schoolmaster over 100 years ago. and thenceforward acted as chairman of the entertainments.
Songs from Fred Sharpe. Sir Basil Blackwell, Harry White and the C.O.S. from Basingstoke helped the evening along, hut the tithit was a lapped touch of Stedman Caters by the White family, also some tunes by them and some Worcester lads. who were, too, most entertaining.
For some unknown reason at 11 n.m. the concert ceases, a choir is formed, and beautifully sung in harmonv are hymns. psalms and lovely nld country ballads, and when it is really time to call it a dav the "Nunc Dimittis" is sung with great charm and dignity, and so ends another 4th of March.
The peal band would like to take this opnortunity of thanking Frank White's sister, Phyllis, for a lovely lunch after the peal.
Once more we thank Frank White for organising such a delightful day and to see the family so united and able to rino the handbells as well as they do. We wish Frank many more years as the "boss man" on March 4th. a very wonderful day in the ringing calendar.

BELFRY GOSSIP

In the peal at Compton Bishop (page 153) Geoffrey Hebden was ringing his first peal and not his first as conductor.

A bell removed from the $R C$. Church of the Sacred Heart. St. Helens, because it was unsafe, has been stolen from the presbytery yard.

The Suffolk Guild peal of six Minor methods (page 187) was rung at Dennington, and not Derrington. The possible excuse is imperfect handwriting.

The ringer of the second in the quarter peal of Spliced and Mixed Kent and Oxford T.B. Minor at Se. Thomas', Oxford. on February 20th (page 176) was J. P. Coad, not S . K. Thompson, as submitted.

The secretary of the Eastern District of the Sussex Association is Mr. Godfrey M FitzHugh, and not as printed in issue of March 25th. Error regretted.

Cedric Rovle. who rang his first peal at St. Peter's, Derby, on March 5th, was the snih nerson for whom Mr. D. K. Walklate, of Derby. had called their first peal. A fine record!

Congratulations 10 Mr . Keith Young and Miss Maureen Howard upon their marriage at Rainham on March Sth. Keith has been a ringer at St. Margaret's. Rainham, for seven years.

Messrs. Harry Parks and Arthur F. Lewry who had carried out the rehanging of the bells at Burgh-in-Marsh. Lincs, in a new frame, took part in the first peal on the bells after the rededication service.

SALISBURY, RHODESIA

Faces continue to change here. Jennifer Emms, of Prittlewell, has visited the tower whilst on holiday in Rhodesia. Robert Harris has dropped in from Grahamstown. Bob was formerly at Cheshunt, and was ordained deacon on December 19th in Kimberley Cathedral. He is now at St. John's, Mafeking. Another welcome visitor was John Butler, formerly of Romford, now at Johannesburg. John recently brought out to Africa a silver tea service, presented to his father, Ernest Butler, by the South-Wes! Branch of the Essex Association in the 1930's. Also passing through was John Thorp, of Hertingfordbury: John is at present teaching at Mathapha, Swaziland.
After four years at U.C.R.N., Salisbury Colin Stevenson has returned to the U.K. He was presented with a suitable drinking vessel before he left, in appreciation of all his hard work in helping at the Cathedral. Russ Read and David Brown have finished their one-year course at U.C.R.N. and have returned to Zambia, where they will be teaching,
May we appeal for any spare copies of "Ropesight " to be sent to K. S. Cross, P.O Box 765. Salisbury. They will be greatly appreciated here and at Que Que and Peter house.

A BELOVED RECTOR

This week we record the in memoriam quarter rung by Leckhampton, Glos, ringers to their beloved Rector, the Rev. Edgar John White. Also in the band was a former curate, the Rev. John Homfray. The late Rector was a ringer, although in recent years he had not been able to participate. Leckhampton's Sunday service band is some 17 strong and this position in many ways is the result of the patient training by Mr. Homfray and the strong encouragement of the late Rector. All would have liked to have taken part in the memorial quarter, but those in the band represented all the different generations of ringers of the church.

LOUIS A. WILSON'S 90th BIRTHDAY

The quarter peal rung at Wootton Bassett, Wilts, on March 19th, was the first since the bells were rehung on ball bearings a few weeks ago, and was a compliment to Louis A. Wilson, of Wootton Bassett, who celebrated his 90 th birthday on March 17th.
Although Louis left Ottery St. Mary, Devon, during the late 1890's he still regards Ottery St . Mary as his home tower, and the Ottery and East Devon ringers were delighted to make the journey of 200 miles there and back to ring this quarter in his honour

Until eight or nine years ago, Louis alwavs came to Ottery St. Mary for his annual holiday, but since he has been unable to make the trip each year a party of ringers under the leadership of Charles J. Turner have made the journey to Wootton Bassett to meet an old friend, and the one ringer who can remember Louis in his "younger" days, John Arbury (77). has made the trip each year. and took part in the quarter this year and also in the peal rung for his birthday three years ago.

According to Mr. Wilson's doctor, we shall be making this "t pilgrimage" for at least another ten years or so. and judging by the way Louis put the fourth through a course of Grandsire Triples prior to the quarter peal we have every reason to believe this will be so, writes our correspondent.

NEW MASTER OF GUILDFORD GUILD

MR. PETER G. SMART

Born at Guildford, 1941, learned to ring at Merrow, 1956, under Pam Warren; also did a great deal of early ringing at Clandon under George Grover. Married at Bramshott, Hants, 1962, and moved to Ash: elected tower captain at Ash, 1964. Rung 29 peals. Occupation, electronics engineer at peals. Occupation, electronics engineer at studying for H.N.C. (Higher National Certificate) this year.

MELTON MOWBRAY DINNER

The annual dinner of the Melton District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held at the Ann of Cleves Cafe in Melton Mowbray on March 19 th, when 56 ringers, wives and friends sat down to an excellent spread. The Vicar of Melton Mowbray (the Rev. G. H Codrington) and Mrs. Codrington were guests. Also present was the Rev. A. G. L. Lancaster, the Rev and Mrs. L. Loader. Mr. B. G. Warwick. Mr. T. C. Belton and Miss Belton The Vicar proposed the toast "The Leicester Diocesan Guild." After dinner a social evening was enjoyed, organised by Mrs. D. Day and Mrs. E. A. Woodcock
The arrangements for the dinner were in the capable hands of Mrs. M. Stimson (District secretary). Mr. J. H. Cook (District chairman) acted as M.C.

DFFSBURY IN THE NEWS

Dewsbury is again in the news with the first quarter by the new band of Vernon and Jeanne Bottomley. Five first quarters-and Bob Major, too is a good start and the band hope to "bombard" us regularly with quarters and even a peal or two.
Statistics of the new hand are: Increase of membership to the Yorkshire Association. eight: increased subscription to "The Ringing World." three: sales of "the Book," two. One of the band takes W. G. W.'s book regularly to work (and possibly to bed) and "a more grubby, much-read. beloved book you never saw. I am only surprised he has not read the print off it," concludes our correspondent.
"THE. COMPLETE, STRANGER" WRITES
From Brisbane, Queensland, the Editor has received one of those pleasurable letters from Mr. T. Roache, of 27, Hall Avenue, Norman Park, who writes that though he never had the pleasure of being a ringer, his purpose in writing " is to let you know how much I enjoy the paper which comes each week like a faithful friend.
"I must congratulate you on the excellent editorials which always appear on the front page, and the January 7th issue had such a wonderful article by the Rev. W. B. Williams, as well as one by Mr. Norman Chaddock, that I have read them both twice and they are surely masterpieces. "The Ringing World : always has something good for me, and ringers in Britain are most fortunate in having such a fine paper.
"I am a Londoner, so I do know what bellringing is like, for 1 heard much before I came to Australia more than 50 years ago. Incidentally, I have made several pen friends at home, who all write lovely letters to me. We have only one tower in all Queensland, at Maryborough, 167 miles north of Brisbane. Our Cathedral of St . John here has a light eight, but are not turned by wheel. Four ringers have two ropes each, and the bells are fixed. Nevertheless, they produce some fine ringing. Other churches have a mechanical set, played by a small keyboard, and it produces the effect of a glockenspiel, a poor substitute for pealing.

From time to time I have read correspondence in "The Ringing World" which does not always sound pleasant. I refer io letters in which somebody has complaints either about ringing or the organisations and even personal matters, some not very inspiring and rather unchristianlike. . . If some of those dissatisfied ringers would come to Queensland to live, where there is no ringing, how would they feel, I wonder? I sincerely hope that all who are working for the Church, God's work, will see to it that no malice or evil surmising will enter their minds, but remember that even if they cannot ring "They also serve, who only stand and wait."

BROUGHT LIFE TO CRANBROOK

Cranbrook's was a "dead" tower when Michael Legg married and went to live there some six or seven years ago. He set to work on the bells, which would certainly qualify as "men's bells," and with great enthusiasm started to teach a band of young ringers. This was the more commendable as Michael was not himself at that time very experienced as a change ringer.
For some years the Cranbrook ringers have attended meetings and outings almost every Saturday and have made every effort as a band to improve themselves. Michael is not very keen about ringing peals himself but is very gratified that two members of his band have now rung peals and are probably the first Cranbrook ringers ever to have done vo. Anthony Leeves rang the treble to a neal of Surprise at Rolvenden on February 26th. and Richard Weeks did likewise at Frittenden on March 19th. Both rane very well and this step forward in their ringing should be a great encouragement to them.

"EASTER"

By the Rev. P. M. FREEMAN

THE other day I came across a sentence in a sermon upon "The Resurrection of the Body." It read as follows: "Then we find a firm and abiding answer in Christ crucified, risen and ascended, in whom God has brought and will bring his whole creation to a perfect consummation. The Christian hope of the fullness of eternal life has its foundation and its only foundation in the redeeming act of God in Christ." I went back and read those words again because I found a certain unreality in them-unreality in the sense that they did not mean anything to me personally. I could not understand what "a perfect consummation" meant-or, for that matter, "the fullness of eternal life."

Does this seem a terrible admission from one who has to minister to those who are bereaved? The truth is that sometimes it is very easy to say words to individuals which have no truth and meaning for ourselves and certainly none for those who listen. How easy it is to use a phrase like "the fullness of eternal life," knowing that no one will dare to ask what it really means for fear of admitting their ignorance. What is the use in speaking in such a way? If I am to minister to the bereaved then I must try to help them to understand what Easter Day and the Resurrection are about. The place to start, therefore, is at my own understanding of what they mean to me.

What are the facts of the case? What happened during those few days in Jerusalem? Jesus was killed; and then on Easter Sunday and the days following the disciples met and talked with Him. What tells most with me is the transformation in the disciples themselves; frightened, bewildered, doubtful men and women at one moment, they became sure, courageous, dedicated to serving God in the face of all kinds of adversity. The first thing then is that Jesus died and lived again physically. He did not "pass on " nor did He return as a "spirit." His death was as real as any human death; His new life is attested by the lives and witness of His followers. The question is-is this the kind of experience that lies in front of us-to die and to rise to a new kind of life as Jesus did? Certainly this is what Jesus promises-that life after death is not just a living on of the spirit, but that the whole personbody, mind and spirit-is raised to this new life.

If we think about the world of nature for a moment, we can see how much of it is a process of "dying" and "living." As I look out of my study window the whole of nature is bursting into life: the daffodils, the budding trees, the lawn needing the mower, the ploughed field over the hedge. What has for months been "dead" is coming to life again. The natural world speaks to us of "dying" and "rising " to new life.

Think also about our experience of living. We can best sum this up by one of the sayings of Jesus: "Whoever seeks to save his life will lose it: and whoever loses it will save it and live." We all know that this is true. We grow older and our ideas of life change. If we were to cling on to our youthful ideas we should perhaps stagnate and die: but, because we can let old opinions die, new ones are born to take their place. Take another example-the world of technological change. Such change means death to old industrial methods, but new life to industry itself. If the change is resisted, then industry cripples itself and dies. Over and over again we are faced with this experience of "dying " and "living."

Sometimes perhaps, when we are in the midst of this process of "dying," we want to protest to God. Perhaps it is the death of someone we love very much or an experience which destroys our confidence in ourselves; perhaps it is a change of job which takes us away from wellloved and familiar surroundings or the coming of retirement after long years with the firm; whatever the situation. there are times when we ask ourselves-and God-"Why me?" What I think we forget at those moments of protest is that the experience is not only that of "dying"painful as that can be-but also that in the "dying" the living begins. "As dying, and behold we live "-the one fades imperceptibly into the other.

What I have to do at those moments is to remember the love of God; to remember that Jesus, as He dies on the Cross, shares all the moments of pain and agony that I have ever known. He does so because of God's love for men and women. What I have to remember is that Christ dies in order to help me cope with my own sinfulnessand He lives again to give me the assurance that this is possible. He does this because God loves us-and all the people who have ever lived.

The crucial test as far as I am concerned is God's love for the world as I see it in Jesus and in the lives of loving men and women. This is much more important to me than whether there is any discrepancy between the Gospel stories or conjecture about who moved the stone. It is

By FRED L. FLEETWOOD

THE Church of All Saints, Barwick-in-Elmet, was probably built about 1100 A.D. and replaced an earlier structure. Originally of Norman architecture, considerable modificitions were made in the 15th century, when north and south aisles were added; now only the chancel remains in its original state. The first known rector held the living in A.D. 1190. and a fairly complete list of rectors exists from this date.
The rower, which probably replaced an earlier one, was built during the incumbency of Richard Burnham, B.D. (1432-1457) and was partly constructed of stone from the Huddlestone (Tadcaster) quarries. The remainder of the tower was completed with local stone. The Huddlestone quarries, of course, provided the stone for both York Minster and the York City walls.
The tenor bell was cast in 1604 and remains in its original state. The rector at this time was Timothy Bright, M.D., who achieved fame as the author of several books on both medical and church matters. He is also believed to have invented shorthand. The bell, which is reputed to weigh $15 \mathrm{cwt.}$, is now known to be 12 cwt . 3 qr. 8 lb . in F sharp, bears the shoulder inscription "In Jucunditate soni sonabo Tibi one et in Dulceoine Vocis Cantabo tuo ane $1604^{" 1}$ in beautiful characters. Over the date is the founder's mark, a bell with a cipher "W.O." in a shield. The mark is that of William Oldfield, who had a foundry at Nottingham with branches at York and Doncaster.
The present No. 5 originally weighed 11 $\mathrm{cwt} .3 \mathrm{gr} .19 \mathrm{lb} .$. and prior to recasting bore the inscription "V Venite Exultemus Domino 1668." It was recast in 1844 by Mears of London, when the weight hecame 12 ewt. 1 ar .14 lb . The rector in 1668 was Thomas Dalton. D.D., who was also a prebend of Durham Cathedral. The present weight of the bell is 11 cwt . 3 qr .8 lb .
The present No. 4, the old treble, originally weighed 8 cwt . 1 qr . 26 lb . and is believed to have been installed in 1668 . It was also recast in 1844 by Mears, and prior to the recasting bore the inscription "Fac Tibi Baptista Sit ut Acceptabillis ista" (with a head. probably that of John the Baptist). The weight now became 8 cwt .0 gr .6 lb . There is, or was. a similar bell to this one, with the same inscription, at Church Fenton, near York. The present weight is 7 cwt .2 gr .27 lb .

The rector in 1844 was William Hiley Bathhurst, M.A., who huilt the old Church of St. James (now demolished) and village at Manston. A generous benefactor, he gave away several thousands of pounds, including $£ 500$ towards a new road from Scholes to Seacroft. He also wrote two hymns, namely: 272 ( $A$, and M.), "O Saviour, may we never rest," and 278 (A. and M.), "O for a faith that will not shrink."

Up to about 1900 it was customary for the pancake bell to be rung on Shrove Tuesday Also about this time there was a complicated method of tolling the bells to announce a death. This was as follows:-

\begin{array}{ccc}
\text { Treble } & \text { No. } 2 & \text { Teno1 } \\
\text { Strokes } & \text { Sirokes } & \text { Strokes }
\end{array}

\begin{array}{lllrr}
\text { Girl } & \ldots & 6 & 7 & 8 \\
\text { Boy } & \ldots & 7 & 8 & 9 \\
\text { Woman } & \ldots & 8 & 9 & 10 \\
\text { Man } & \cdots & 9 & 10 & 11
\end{array}

A simpler system is now used.
When the present Rector, the Rev. Normat. Butcher, arrived in 1959, the bells were practically unringable. Thanks to his initiative. the Parochial Church Council agreed to the installation of a steel frame to accommodate six bells, the overhaul and rehanging of the three existing bells.

The opportunity to add a further three bells was too good to miss and a subscription list was opened to raise the necessary funds. Most of the money was promised by means of covenanted subscriptions. the last instalment being due in March, 1966.

The old bells were removed from the towel in November, 1960, and the new frame was installed along with the six bells, which wer dedicated at Evensong on Palm Sunday, 1961. by the Archdeacon of Leeds, the Ven. C. O.

LEEDS TOWER AMID CHIMNEYS  All Saints', Barwick-in-Elmet

Ellison. The whole work was carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. of Loughborough.
The weights of the three new bells are as follows:-

> | Treble | $4 \mathrm{cwt} .0 \mathrm{qr} 15 lb.$. |
| :--- | :--- |
| No. 2 | $4 \mathrm{cwt} .3 \mathrm{qr} 19 lb.$. |
| No. 3 | $6 \mathrm{cwt} 0 qr .4 lb.$. |

All three bear the inscription "Norman Butcher-Rector."
There has been one peal on the bells, on Whit Monday, 1961, but due to the close proximity of dwelling houses to the church peal ringing cannot receive favourable consideration. Visitors wishing to ring for shorter periods will always be welcome.
Practice takes place on Thursday evenings, and at present there is an enthusiastic band of 12 local ringers. Progress in method ringing was slow. mainly due to the absence of experienced ringers in the locality. Recently two ringers with experience have joined the band and some progress is now being made.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Marlborough Branch

The monthly meeting of the Marlborough Branch at St. Katherine's (Savernake Forest) and Great Bedwyn on March 26th was well attended. there being 25 members present and visitors from Swindon and Southampion.
Under the direction of the Ringing Master (the Rev. Roger Keeley), ringing in the standard methods, with rounds and call changes, was enjoyed until 4.30 p.m., when the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. Curry). A splendid tea was laid out in the schoolroom by Mrs. Tilley and helpers, and in appreciation a collection was taken. half of which was given to the school funds and half to the Great Bedwyn rope fund.
At the business meeting, with Mr. G. Newman in the chair. a silent tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. J. Vockins, an Ald. bourne ringer who had died earlier in the week.
Mr. A. Palmer (hon. secretary) presented the balance sheet, which showed an increased balance in hand over the previous year of £6 7s. 2d. Membership stood at 84. The accounts were unanimously adopted with thanks to Mr. Palmer.
Subject to permission, the next three monthly meetings are to be held at Chilton Foliat, Pewsey and Chisledon. Arrangements ar to he made for a party to attend the Guild Festival at Fordington. Dorchester. on May 14th. Ten new members from Pewsey were enrolled.
In his report, the Ringing Master mentioned that rehanging with ball bearings was taking place at Burhage, and a request for instruction had been received from Ogbourne St. Andrew's. Proceedings concluded with the chairman's thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting such a good one. W. A. E.

"Coursing Order  By D. BUTTERWORTH

MANY ringers believe that Stedman Triples is one of the easiest standard methods to ring but one of the most difficult to conduct. Unfortunately, Stedman Triples has the peculiarlty that even so-called experts tend to be easily displarticularly in the slow when a trip occurs, particularly in the slow work. This has meant that many peals bave heen lost because the conductor has been unable to correct mistakes when they have occurred. Thus only those conductors wno have exceptional memories, or exceptional oands, have been able to cope with this method.

The following description of a "coursing order" technique should open the field of conducting Stedman Triples to many conductors who would normally avoid this method because of its lack of coursing order.

DERIVATION AND USE OF THE  " COURSING ORDER"

The principle of Stedman is the combined effect of ringing alternate quick and slow three-bell sixes with the remaining bells dodging above 3 rd's place. This results in the breaking up of the natural coursing order within each course. Nevertheless, a cyclic order exists in which the bells follow eac: other into the quick or the stow work. This order, which 1 have called "the coursing order for Stedman Triples." is 7165234, using the 7 th as the starting point in the cycle in the plain course.

Examples:

(a) If 6 goes in quick, 5 is the next quick bell.
(b) If 4 goes in slow, 7 is the next slow bell.
If a fixer bell is now chosen (I have chosen the 7th as this is usually the fixed bell in compositions of the method) and the "coursing order " written without it, then the following may be derived from the plain course and extended to apply to any course.

The "coursing order" with the 7th as fixed bell is 165234 .

Let these six numbers be divided into three pairs and name them "First" pair, "Quick" pair and "Last" pair respectively, viz:

| 16 | 52 | 34 |
| First | Quick | Last |

Now in any course of Stedman Triples, without calls. the following facts apply. IIn each case given below, the bells which refer to the plain course are given in parentheses I suggest that a copy of the plain course is usert to help comprehension.)

1. Order of Dodging.

The 7th dodges with the other bells in the order:

in Stedman Triples

" First " "Quick " after quick work
"Ouick". "Last" after slow work Ourick
(5234).
2. Order of "Passing" Bells.

The 7th passes the other bells (i.e. 3-4 up, 5-6 up, 5-6 down, 3-4 down in the order: "Last," "First" (3416).
3. Quick Work.

When the 7 th goes in quick the two hells in the slow work are the "Quick" pair (52).

4. Slow Work.

When the 7th goes in slow, the slow bells on the front are the "Last" pair (34). The quick bells whion enter during the 7 th's slow work are the "Quick" pair (52), and the slow bells which enter are the "First" pair (16).
From the above it will be realised that a ringer who knows the coursing order of any particular course of Stedman Triples which is being rung is potentially capable of checking the ringing and correcting, if necessary, any trips that may occur. This is of course assuming the ringer is capable of applying the information given
It now remains to describe how transposition of the "coursing order" may be carried out when bobs or singles are used

TRANSPOSITION OF * COURSING ORDER '

The greatest difficulties associated with the transposition of "coursing orders" in Stedman are that the factors are complicated and two different types are required cone for quick and one for slow sixes). If one limits the comoositions used to those which work on a twin boh plan, then each nair of bobs may be transposed together, resulting in easy transposition factors.
A table of factors for twin boh peals is given below. It will be noticed that once the four bells which are affected at a iwin bob have been isolated the transposition function is always the same. ( 1234 becomes 2143.)

\begin{aligned}
& \text { Bobs at } 3.4 \text { (S) transpose by } 214356 \\
& \begin{array}{lllll}
\text { " } & \text { " } 5.6(\mathrm{H}) & \text { " } & \text { (L) } & 132546 \\
" & \text { " } 12.8 \\
\hline
\end{array} \\
& \begin{array}{llll}
\text { Singles } & 12.13(Q) & 9 \text { or } 14(V) & \text { " } \\
2 & \text { ". } & 6123455 \\
\hline
\end{array}

Using this or 2 or coursing order of any twin bob peal of Stedman Triples may be followed throughout
The amount of mental effort required in transposition may be reduced by limiting the type of composttion used to one which is hased on a three-course block plan. By the use of these $\mathrm{CO}^{\prime}$ nositions only five numbers need be transposid and the number of trans* positions may be reduced by transposing adjacent twin bob pairs together.
As an illustration of the above, a Thurstans' block is given showing firstly how only five bells need be transposed, and secondly how twin bob pairs are transposed together.

TRANSPOSITION OF THURSTANS' BLOCK

Let the coursing order of a course, before calling Thurstans block, be 162345; then transposition of this block is as follows: 162345
3.4613245 Note the path of the 6th 7.8612354 through the coursing orders. 3.4163254 , If this is committed to memory If 136524 then the following transposi$\begin{array}{ll}12.3 & 316542\end{array}$ tion factors may be used.

Bobs dt 3.4 (S) transpose by 13245
" " $5.6(\mathrm{H}) \quad$ " $7.8(\mathrm{~L}) \quad 12435$
Singles " 2 or 11 " $11 \quad$ " 2135
Note the effect of a single on the position of the 6th as given in the full peal composition given later.
If adjacent twin bobs are transposed to gether, then

\begin{array}{lccc}
3.4 \text { and } 5.6 & \text { transpose by } & 13425 \\
3.4 \text { and } 7.8 & \text {.. } & 12354

If these are used care must be taken between calling positions not to apply the wrong coursing order. For compositions such as "Thurstans' reversed " or Brooks' variations, then the five-figure transposition factors will have to be determined for these compositious The factors given are suitable for the following compositions: Thurstans', Dexter's No. 1 and No. 2 variations of Thurstans' and Washbrook's variation. (This is not the usual composition associated with Washbronk.)
An example of how the coursing orders are transposed throughout a peal is given below. If 5 -number transpositions are used, then ignore the 6th, and if adjacent twin bob patrs are transposed together. ignore the coursing orders which are in black type figures.

Once the basis of this coursing order technique has been mastered, extensions of its usefulness may be developed. As in standard Maior methods the coursing order may be utilised to predict those bells which will be affected at the calls and to facilitate the actual calling of the bohs and singles, so, too. the coursing order in Stedman may likewise be used. These will. however, become evident to those who require them by the use of pencil and naper and clarification is not necessary therefore.
The great advantage of using the coursing technique outlined is that the progress of the ringing may be checked constantly throughout with about the same amount of mental effort required to conduct a peal of Surprise.

LEICESTER REVISITED

Dear Sir.-Some 20 years ago when opportunity in this area for advanced peal ringing was less favourable than now. 1 travelled from Rotherham to Leicester to ring my first peals of Bristol and London Surprise Major, Yorkshire Royal Cambridge Maximus, Stedman Cinques and my one and only handbell peal, Bob Royal, mannly with the Cathedral ringers. who sometimes promoted week-end hospitality in their homes. I shall always be grateful for those carly opportunities.

In recalling those happy occasions, it was a great pleasure to visit Leicester Cathedral a few days ago and ring my first peal of Stedman Cinques as conductor, especially as the peal was rung in memory of Mrs. Phyllis Poole. who died eight years ago.

Many of the familiar friendly faces were there to greet $m$ : on arrival outside the Cathedral. I enjoyed the good striking and almost complete absence of mistakes throughout the peal on these lovely bells.

Thank you, Leicester, for your continued hospitality. enjoyed so often on previous occasions.-Yours sincerely.

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

CORRECTIONS FROM SALISBURY

Dear Sir,-The two Minor compositions on pages 604 and 620, "Ringing World," 1965 , are not new. The composition on page 620 is hy the late A. G. Driver and is the same as his well-known composition of six Surprise methods. Nos. 36 to 41 . Mr. Driver called these compositions Composite Courses, and anyone analysing his comnositions of this type can easily reproduce all such extents, including that on page 604.

The method published as Groton Caters has been going round on paper for the last 15 years under the name of Prittlewell. In the Triples stage it is a double method, viz. : Triples: $3,5,147,3,5,3,5,3,147,5,3,5$. Caters. 3, 5, 149, 3, 5, 3, 5, 3. $149,5,3,5$. Cinques: $3,5,14 \mathrm{e}, 3,5,3,5,3,14 \mathrm{e}, 5,3,5$.
In view of my first paragraph, I feel I must ask for any prior claims to the following onepart extent of Ipswich. Cambridge and York Surprise Minor. It can be rearranged to include Norfolk and Primrose Surprise.-Yours sincerely.

NORWICH BELLS

Dear Sir,-Mr. Montgomery's questions on the bells of St. Andrew's and St. John-in-Maddermarket's, Norwich, seem to have gone unanswered in your columns (page 76), so perhaps I can be of assistance in answering them.
St. John's bells are a complete Lester and Pack six and were opened in 1766 . I have not been up to them myself but am informed that the fittings are fairly sound; but to judge from the appearance of the tower, attempts to ring the six in peal might not be advisable. I ventured as far as the former ringers: gallery and found four ropes of considerable antiquity attached to the bells for swingchiming, and I understand that some two or three years ago these four bells were raised and rung singly; but when the last ringing was done I do not know, but the organ, which has been there for some time, obstructs the fall of the two ropeless bells.
St. Andrew's are a mixed ring of ten and are totally unringable. They are a mixed lot: treble and second by Thomas Mears, 1825; third by Henry Pleasant, 1705; fourth and ninth by Thomas Newman, 1713; fifth by John Draper 1634 : seventh by Michael Darbie, 1661 ; whilst the Norwich foundry is represented by the sixth, eighth and tenor (18 cwt. in E). dated 1623,1617 and 1621 respectively, and which were cast by the Brend family, whose mark-AB/W-they bear on their crowns.
The frame is hexagonal below and above this is an unbelievable concoction which contains the remaining bells, all of which must have swayed violently during ringing: a drawing is given in Canon Thurlow's excellent book on Norwich bells. The fittings are badly weathered and decayed, and all the wheels have been removed. The bells are sounded by an Ellacombe apparatus and also hy the clock. When they were last rung I do not know: it must have been a difficult joh considering that the sopes fall ${ }_{1-3-2-7-}$ 0-5-4-6-9-8. but it was on these bells that the first ceal of London Major was rung, on November 17th, 1835. conducted by Samuel Thurston. and recorded on a tablet in St. Giles-on-the-Hill. I believe that Canon Thurlow, when Vicar, attempted without success to have the bells rehung.-Yours sincerely,

DAVID CAWLEY.

THE DOUBLES COLLECTION

Dear Sir,-I have been checking some of the Doubles methods which have appeared in "The Ringing World' over the last four weeks, and would like to make the following points.
" Jack of Both Sides" (page 135), when called as given, is false. Repetition occurs no less than six times at the handstroke leads, and 1 strongly suspect that there can be no true extent.
Chevasse, Maltby and Callender (page 135) are not true when rung with the second as the observation bell. Rounds are struck on the handstroke of the second bob, as in Wainfleet. However, there seems $t 0$ be no reason why this should not be possible, provided that the understood bob is completed in the first lead.

Also, there appears to be a misprint in the first lead of Huntley (page 125) in the first lead. According to my figures the row of treble's first hlow in fifths place should read 23541.

I should like to congratulate Geoffrey, Dodd and Roy Jones on forming what promises to be a very line and long overdue collection. should also be interested to hear from any Doubles enthusiasts who may possibly be going as freshers to Durham University next October, or who may be passing through East Yorkshire during the summer.-Yours faithfully,
C. J. EASTON.

N.B.-I must add that I have not yet examined all the Doubles methods so far published.-C. J. E.

OXFORD BOB TRIPLES

Dear Sir,-I am writing to inquire whether any ringer can send me or have printed in "The Ringing World". a peal of Oxford Bob Triples which contains Grandsire Triples singles and not Holt's Bob singles. I have a peal in this method but with Holt's Bob singles in it, and the ringers in the band who are ringing are not familiar with such calls. -Yours faithfully,
I. WICKENS.

Lyndhurst, Rectory Lane,
Charlwood, Surrey.

EASTER-Continued from front page. because I am certain of God's love that I can thin's hopefully of what will happen to me when I die. Such certainty is best expressed by tha story of the country doctor, who habitually went on his rounds accompanied by his faithful and aged spaniel. At each stop his taithful and aged spaniel. At each stop one occasion the doctor was visiting a dying man at a small country cottage, and the patient was asking the doctor about "life after death."
How do you know what it's like?" he asked. This nonplussed the doctor until he heard his dog whining at the door and scratching to get in. "Can you hear my dog trying to get into this room?" the doctor asked. "He's never been in here before. But he knows it will be all right because his master's here. In a way that's how I think about "life after death.' I know it will be all right, because the Master's there."

TWO FRIENDS DIE AT BATH

 RICHARD J. COUSINS-EDMUND KING We in Bath have lost two of our oldest members by the deaths of Richard Cousins (aged 85) on March 8th, and Edmund King (aged 82) on March 17th. These two spent uncountable hours together ringing and cycling.Richard came to Bath from the Taunton area in about 1905 and rang many peals 11 and around Bath, his last peal being in 1956 at the age of 75 on the octave at Upper Weston. "Dick," as we called hım, took his ringing very seriously, but outside the tower he was a cheery man, with his red cheeks and warm smile, and he loved to smoke his pipe. His eyesight began to fatl and he had been confined to home for the last two years. He passed away in St. Martin's Hospital as he was being prepared for an operation.

The funeral service was conducted by the Archdeacon Emeritus of Bath (the Ven. E. A. Cook) on March 14th at Upper Weston. In the evening a half-muffled quarter peal was rung on these bells, conducted by Alan $F$. Lee.
Edmund learned to ring in 1901 at Sherborne Abbey and came to Bath shortly afterwards. He toured the area on his bicycle for Sunday service ringing until he was 77, when the doctor advised him to give up his cycle. He then joined Twerton and he would walk over a mile from his home to tower for early Communion ringing, stay for service, ring for Matins and walk home. He also walked in every Tuesday for practice. He worked by the clock and would time himself walking, and one remembers him saying "Did it in 25 minutes tonight." He was over 80 before he would accept a lift in a car. His last quarter peal was at Twerton on his 80 th birthday. He then suffered a stroke that almost finished his ringing activities, but he did ring again during the stimmer of last year.
The funeral service was held at the Church of the Ascension, South Twerton, on March 24th, and as there are no bells, handbells: were rung as the coffin left the church by Mrs. Jean Lee 1-2, Leslie R. Taylor 3-4 and Percival $R$. Young $5-6$. He was interred at his native home. Sherborne. It was his wish that he should have the Ringers ${ }^{\text {© }}$ Hymn at his service and that the bells at Twerton should be rung open, so a peal was rung to both of these grand old ringers on March 19th.
It is estimated that Dick and Edmund cycled thousands of miles together in search of ringing and did such things as scoring their first peals of Boh Major together at Twerton on 3, 4, in 1908, and joining the Salisbury Guild together before a peal at Colerne in 1914, when they rang side by side on 5, 6 . It was side by side that they were called to their rest A.F.L.

UPPER WESTON, BATH.-On March 14th. 1.260 Grandsire Doubles ( $7,6,8$ covering): N. V. Witsshire 1. Mrs. E. Pothecary 2. K. C. Brain 3. A. F. Lee (cond.) 4. T. W. Harris 5. S. Dolan 6. G. Pothecary 7. M. G. Messer 8. First quatter 6. 9 and 8. Rung hatf-muffled in memoriam Richard J. Cousins

MR KENNETH SNELLING
We record with deep regret the death of Mr. Kenneth Snelling at the age of 58.
A pupil of the late Oliver Sippetts, Ken was a member of the fine Crawley band that rang in the 1930's. With them he rang in the first peal of Spliced Surprise by a local team. After the war he married Gladys Apps, daughter of the late George Apps, of Cuckfield, and became a member of the Cuckfield band, with whom he rang until ill-health prevented him.
Ken was a very fine ringer in every waysafe, reliable, a splendid striker and method ringer, always modes: and a friend of all who knew him. He rang a total of 500 peals in a great variety of methods. His many triends will remember him with great respect and affection

North Dorset Branch

Thirty-four ringers attended the quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch at Stourpaine on March 26th, including visitors from Northumberland, Yorkshire, Hampshire and Somerset. There was some good ringing on the recently rehung and augmented six up to London Surprise, under the direction of Mr. W. C. Shute The Guild Office was conducted by the Branch chairman, the Rev. R. G. Chaftey Moore, and vice-chairman, the Rev R. A. Wells, and a ringing member, Mr. G. Spencer, accompanying on the organ.
An excellent tea was given by the parish, organised by Mrs. Martin while Mr. Martin, captain of the Stourpaine ringers, made all arrangements for the miceting. Four new members were elected-Miss B. White, Messrs. M. Angell, R. Angell and R. Ricketts. Guild proficiency certificates were awarded to N . Lewis, of Okeford Fitzpaine, and to Miss A. Dibben, of Shroton Ringing continued later both at Stourpaine and at Durweston.

ST. ALBANS DISTRICT RINGING COURSE

An advanced level ringing course was held on March 26 th in Wheathampstead, the first of its nature to be run by the District Eighteen ringers from four counties sat down to hear the lectures.

John Mayne gave the first, on Method Extension. He explained clearly the different processes of extending methods and outlined various aspects of the Central Council handbook of method extension. After a few questions and thoughts, he continued with the next lecture, which was proof of a method next lecture, which was proof of a method This was approached from two aspects, John Mayne dealing with it by comparing rows of changes directly, and Roger Baldwin continuing by deriving a formula for producing false course-heads by transposing changes and then lead ends.

Then there was a hreak, and the tea certainly was very welcome!
Roger. Baldwin, in the evening spoke on Composition of Surprise Methods. He had only a comparatively short time to tackle a wide subject. He transposed course-ends and used $\mathrm{M}, \mathrm{W}$ and H callings only, showing how a peal can be built up without falseness. Then both he and John answered final questions. Geoff Dodds thanked both John and Rog'r for an extremely helpful and worthwhile afternoon. Our thanks also went to Mrs. Amy Coburn and those who made the tea. A touch of spliced on handbrlis followed. and then the tower was open for general ringing from 7.30 to 8.30 . A. F.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Church of All Hallows, Tottenham, a church which has a medley of styles and materials with walls of flint, brick and stone and tiled roofs, was visited by the North and East District on March 19th. The pre-service ringing was augmented by a number of friends from the Guildford area, who were enjoying a day's ringing together.

Following the service. conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. A. E. Horsfield) and assisted by the Rev. F. C. Humphries. members were entertaised to tea at The Priory, a venerable old house dating back to 1620, by the Vicar and Mrs. Horsfield.

With one of the shortest agendas for some time. the business nleeting was soon over, the time. the business neeting was soon over. the Vicar's dachshund following the chairman's vote of thanks, to outdo single-handed (or perhaps single-voiced would be more appro priate) the efforts of the company showing their appreciation in the usual manner.
Ringing continued in a variety of methods after tea. when a welcome visitor was Vicar of St. Ann's, Lambeth.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

 Southern DistrictThe ground-floor eight at Bletchingley tower were selected for the District meeting on March 19th. The rather gusty day may have been partly the reason for the disappointing attendance, but despite the lack of ringers the ringing was exceptional. A 360 of Cambridge Surprise Minor was attempted. and two courses of Cambridge Surprise Major were rung. followed by three courses of Double Norwich Court Bob Major. As tea-time apNorwich Court Bob Major. As tea-time approached, some ringers departed, leaving eight, who sat down to a very enjoyable tea. After this, Mr. A. Streeter, the Master. thanked the ladies for tea, and Mr. Pa
Cannon gave a piano recital.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

The Northern District meeting at Stebbing on March 19 th attracted an attendance of

BELFRY GOSSIP

Wakefield Cathedral band has now four married couples. Any flves or sixes?
We have received a request for the campositions of the recently published date touches.
A late entrant for the tower visitors ${ }^{\text {( }}$ list of 1965 was D. E. Rothera, of Hendon, whose 231 new towers last year (total 349) would have placed him third in the published table.

The two Worcester schoolboys, D. G. Franklin and L. J. Haines, who rang in the quarter of Surprise at Rock on March 19th, had never struck a blow in Yorkshire Surprise before.
The latest news from Norwich is that Mr. F. N. Golden president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, is out of hospital, and Mr. B. Gogle has had his second eye operation. Both are progressing.
Mr. David Floyd, who has documented all peals rung by the Witney and Woodstock Branch since it was formed in 1902. is resigning the office of Branch Ringing Master. Mr. Ted Patching, the hon. secretary, is not seeking re-election.
In the peal of Minor rung at Findon, Sussex (page 172), it was the first of Minor for Susan M. Main and the first "inside" and of Minor for Roy M. Cox. Our correspondent's apologies.

In a cheery letter from Accra. Bunny Godfrey writes: "It gives my husband (Chris) and me great pleasure to read of news of our friends back in cold Great Britain via The Ringing World. May they continue to contribute the latest gossip I

The quarter peal rung at Old Brampton, Derbyshire, on March 9 th to honour the birth of Roy Arthur Stedman Mould was heard by his mother, Christine Mould, from the local maternity home This was achieved by leaning from an upstairs window, to the considerable amusement of the night sister on duty at the time!

WHISKED ALOFT DURING FIRST

LESSON

While learning how to control the six cwt. second bell in Stowmarket Church tower on March 24th, 15 -year-old John Haylock was whisked high in the ringing chamber. He found himself clutching the rope until he neared the floor again, states the "East Anglian Daily Times.
John let go of the rope and in landing on his feet fell forward and fractured his left wrist. He received treatment at the Ipswich and East Suffolk Hospital.
Mr. Oliver Barnard, captain of the Stowmarket ringers, was giving John and another boy a first lesson. The treble's clapper had been lashed to stop it sounding. Suddenly the lashing snapped and the loose end wrapped itself around the slider bar. There was then nothing to stop the bell turning over.

Mr . Barnard said that in 43 years as a ringer he had never before known an incident like this. "One moment John was standing by my side and the next moment he was gone," he said. "If he had not then hung on so tightly he might have been more badly hurt."

John. whose home is at 17, St. Mary's Road, Stowmarket, is a chorister at the Parish Church. The accident will not stop him playing the lead part, Ralph Rackstraw, in a playing the lead "part, Ra. Pinafore" at Stowmarket Modern School next week.

All eight bells in the tower will shortly be taken away for recasting and retuning and will not be rehung till next year. The church still needs money to pay for the work.

CHRISTMAS CARD BELLS!

Mr. Ted Patching, of the Witney and Woodstock Branch of O.D.G., addressed an adults leaders' week-end course held at Thamesfield. Henley, run by the Oxford County Youth Service. Great interest was shown in his lecture on ringing, in which David Smith's model of a church bell in its frame was shown. Believe it or not. some truly thought shown. Believe it or not. shurch bells were like those shown on Christmas cards! Let's hope that some of the good seed sown will germinate.

" THE SENTINEL"

Through the initiative of $\mathbf{M r}$. Trevor A . Bevis, the Ely Diocesan Association has now its newsletter, "The Sentinel," which it is proposed to publish three times a year, price 1s. 3d. The Bishop of Ely sends his good wishes for the venture, and adds:
"Bellinging is still one of the loveliest sounds of the countryside, and all those who hear the bells cannot fail to be reminded of the purpose of the Church from whose towers the joyful ringing of the bells sounds forth."
The first issue is brightly written and full of interest, with an attractive illustration on the cover of the Early English bell tower at West Walton. Here is one little gem:

Next to Godliness? At a certain village in South Cambridgeshire a week's course of concentrated ringing instruction had just taken place. The mother of one of the younger ringers spoke to the Vicar on Sunday: 'Im sure it's good for him. He's washed his neck before going out every evening this neck before going out every, week, without being reminded."

RINGING SOOTHES RHEUMATISM:

When Mr. William Riddle, aged 54, took up bellringing just over nine years ago he discovered it helped his rheumatism.
"I used to be troubled with rheumatism quite a bit in my arm and since I started bellringing it has certainly brought me a good deal of relief," he told the Salford and South Lancs News Service.

Now Mr. Riddle, who lives in Overdale Crescent, Flixton, near Manchester, has been made chairman of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association, he having joined the Association in 1957. His own tower is St. Michael's, Flixton.

His job as an electrical engineer takes him all over the country and gives him plenty of opportunity to visit different churches. In fact his list of towers visited exceeds 250 and includes St. Paul's Cathedral, London.
"In most places a 'campanologist' is always welcome in a local belfry so long as he is proficient. If he isn't, he is soon found out." he said.

Mr. Kiddle is also a member of other Associations throughout the country, including Cheshire and Devon.

EGHAM'S TWIN TOWNS

Egham Sunday service band are grateful to Christopher Hill, of the R.A.F., for standing in at the last moment in the pral to mark the twinning of Egham with the towns of Joinville-le-Pont. France, and Bensberg. Western Germany. He took the place of Stephen Elliott, who was taking part in the actual ceremonies during the week-end.

"KENT AGAIN"

Mr. Richard G. Crosland. of West Wickham, Keat conducted his first peal at St. Mary Cray. Kent, on March 10 th, the method being Kent T.B. Minor. Not onlv was it his first peal of Minor in the method, but he also got four voung Kent ringers throurh their first peal of Kent. Well done, Mr. Crosland, and thanks

HEAVITREE BELLS

The bells of Heavitree Parish Church, Exeter, have now been rehung by Messrs. John Taylor and Co, and will be officially reopened and rung for morning service on Easter Sunday. The Vicar, churchwardens and ringers are grateful to all who have kindly subscribed towards the cost of the work. It is still hoped that in the not too distant future the ring will be augmented to ten, but this would be entirely dependent on generpus donations.

With the absence of Heavitree bells, the ringers have been actively engaged in visiting other towers, including Sunday service ringing at St. Thomas' and St Mark's Churches Members joined with the Woodbury ringers on one occasion for ringing, a skittles match and refreshment, and also visited Cheriton Bishop and Tedburn St. Mary one evening before joining Mr. and Mrs. Fuller at the King's Arms Hotel. Tedburn. for handbell ringing and refreshment. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller have recently moved to Devon from Kent, where they were active ringers.

Work has recently been completed on the large bell which hangs in the tower of the Sacred Heart R.C. Church at Heavitree. John Taylor, when working on Heavitree Parish Church bells, also carried out these repairs, the bell having been silent for nearly two years.

PEAL CELEBRATES RUGBY VICTORY

The peal of New Cambridge Surprise Major at Pontypridd, rung after the Wales and France Rugby International to celebrate Wales winning the championship for the third year in succession, was in fact arranged in ant:cipation of a Welsh victory
"Last year a similar peal provoked some very pompous replies," writes Mr. N. W. H. Simon. "However, I see no harm in ringing a peal for a secular occasion-though, as someone wrote, for a Welshman, rugby and religion are one and the same.' Anyway, what's the difference between ringing a peal for someone's birthday or for a Rugby International? Both are secular events.

TOWER MISTRESS

A correspondent writes adding to the list of tower captains of 18 years or under. This time it is a tower "mistress." Anna Sadowska in charge at Bishop's Cleeve, who is $17 \frac{1}{2}$ and has held the office since last September. She is teaching six learners and is also studying for her advanced G.C.E Anna has been ringing nearly four years and calls quarter peals regularly. Her name also appears in the peal columns.

CIDER AND RINGING

"The Western Gazette" in its "News from the Past-200 Years Ago," states: "On Tuesday the bells in churches in the Western counties, some incessantly the whole day. were rung in celebration of the proposed altera. tions in the duties imposed by the Cider Act. Men will again become free men, which is the highest and noblest blassing of human nature, for those who were liable to have everv corner and the most inward secrets of their dwellings violated and searched at any hour by the will of another, or who pay an annual composition to secure themselves from such violation, cannot be called otherwise than slaves."

THE FENS AND RINGING

THROUGH the good services of Trevor A. Bevis, readers have been given an introduction to noted churches in the Fens during recent years. It is estimated that 400,000 people visit the Fens each year-an extensive area embracing parts of the counties of Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridgeshire, Huntingdonshire, Lincolnshire and Northamptonshire. The reason is not hard to find as Trevor Bevis gives as its chief attractions the matchless churches, displaying styles of ecclesiastical architecture renowned throughout the world.

To help visitors to get a better understanding of this corner of England-" an island within an island" it has been described-Trevor Bevis has written a "Guide to the Fens and Fenland Churches" (price $4 /-$ ). The book is profusely illustrated with drawings by the author, and the Guide is planned along the principal highways such as Cambridge to Ely, Ely to Wisbech, King's Lynn to Spalding, Spal ".ng to Boston, Boston to Bourne, Bourne to Peterborough.

Because of its adherence to conditions of modern transport, the Guide is a useful companion to those on ringing outings in these counties. It is not a guide to bells-although they are mentioned-but for those who have not one-track minds the wealth of ctail concerning places traversed makes it a very useful companion for travellers in this area.

Wherever travelling in the Fens, one is not at any time far away from dykes, rivers and drains. Boating facilities exist-a 200 -inile system of waterways gives endless variety to those who enjoy exploring these rivers and "cuts." There was a time when the Fens had nearly 700 windmills, but their number was substantially diminished by the advent of steam power, which in these days has been abandoned to make way for giant diesel and automatic electric pumps which are set in motion when rising waters reach a certain level.

The Church has been closely identified with making the Fenland more habitable by initiating drainage. The monastic remains at Ramsey, Thorney, Crowland and the cathedral at Ely all testify to "the former worldly glory of the mediæval Church." All ringers have heard of Croyland, on the road from Spalding to Thorney-where the first ring of bells was provided. These bells were among the first to be broadcast and they have the longest ropes in the land ( 90 feet), according to Mr. Bevis. Implores the author: Visit Crowland and sample a little of the past, but do not take too seriously the old saying:

> "In Holland in the Fenny lands
> Be sure you mark where Croyland stands.
> Croyland wine is but so-so,
> Sedge instead of hay doth grow.
> A bed like stone whereon to lie,
> And so begone without "goodbye,"

Another equally familiar church is St. Botolph's, Boston. For over 500 years its tower of perfect symmetry has thrust $272 \frac{1}{2}$ feet into the sky. Centuries ago it was used as a beacon, and no wonder, as one-third of Lincolnshire is visible from it, including the triple towers of Lincoln some 30 miles away. In the belfry are 25 bells-ten ringable which were cast from a former eight at the joint expense of the people of Boston, Mass, and Boston, Lincs, during the restoration of the church in the 1930's. To quote the author: " The church is a melody in stone one can never forget-nor the Bostons of the old and new worlds."

The west gateway to the Fens is Peterborough-not a beautiful place but having plenty to show visitors. The Cathedral cannot be compared with the Romanesque dignity of Fenland's great church at Ely, but it is the only cathedral in the country with a Norman roof; and the west front, built 700 years ago, prompted one learned man to comment: "The noblest conception of the old Greek translated into the speech of Christendom." Perhaps one day the Cathedral might have a ring of bells on which ringers can display their art.

We have mentioned before that this book has little to do with the practical side of ringing, but there are many readers who, when reading about peals and quarter peals rung in areas unfamiliar to them, like to visualise the churches and the surroundings. This is what the book supplies: and in these days of high costs of print and illustrations it is the best four shillingsworth we have come across. But then the author is a craftsman in print and drawing, and with such added assets is able to give the reader good value for his investment. We hope that many exploring the Fenland will do so aided by the eyes and pen of Trevor Bevis.

RINGING MEETINGS: THEIR FUNCTION & ORGANISATION

THE RINGING MASTER'S JOB

By NORMAN CHADDOCK

IN considering the organisation of ringing meetings, responsible officials will probably bear in mind the following points:-
(1) The desirability of meeting regularly on a fixed date known well in advance and adequately publicised.
(2) The need to get round a good range of rowers within a specilied length of time.
(3) The convenience of particular towers or tower for a particular occasion. Their selection and times of ringing.
(4) Inter-tower transport.
(5) Tea arrangements.
(6) Business meetings. Chairman should be au fait with proceedings past and present. and although it is desirable to welcome the local clergy they are not well informed to do this task.
(7) Arrangements for service.
(8) Arrangements for ringing masters when several towers are available.
There are other details of organisation to be considered, tut before discussing the function of ringing meetings I thought it appropriate to take into account not just my own ideas, which. like many long stending Association officials, might tend to be preconceived, but ulso the ideas of casual attenders at ringing meetings.
At a recent ringing meeting I therefore interviewed. on tape, as random cross-section of the 35 to 40 ringers who attended.
The same group of questions was asked of all those intorviewed. who ranged from a beginner attending his second ringing meeting to an experienced tower leader and tutor who an experienced tower leader and rutor who for many years had attended meetin own Guild and others round about.

There was general rgreement on the following lines:-

I Meetings are an opportunity:

(a) To meet other ringers socially and enjoy each other's company and exchange experiences.
(b) To keep in touch with what other 1 ingers and towers are doing and learn from each other.
(c) To try other rings of bells. appreciate their relative merits and extend one's experience.
(d) To improve one's ability, especially beginners and those from struggling rowers. To progress in methods rung.
11 Whilst some experts regularly supported meetings, many did not. mainly on account of peal ringing activities.
III When simple methods were being rung there were usuatly too many learners in together, detracting from the value and standard of this ringing. Some thought learners had a fair chance, others that one ring in it hours. as often happened, was insufficient.
IV The ringing master should primarily look after beginners, as experts can look after themselves.
$V$ Patience. firmness, ability and affability are important qualities needed in a ringing master, who should know the abilities and needs of regular attenders at ringing meetings.

V1 Business meutings are essential but should be conducted in a brisk and efficient manner.
VII Some thought it best to have more than one ring of bells available.
VIII Most thought once a month a suitable interval between meetings in one locality and some that there was need for co-ordination re dates of meetings of adjacent Societies.
One thing that struck me about the answers uas that only one ringer stated clearly and directly that the ultimate purpose of ringing meetings was to improve Sunday service ringing in the area, though no doubt most of them would have agreed with this.

YORKSHIRE EXAMPLES

Scrutiny of the report of the Yorkshire Council of Ringing Societies (ten in Council of Ringing number)
Societies (ten in following main functions of meetings: Large attendance, high number of towers represented, conrests, stimulating ringing at the towers in the area, social activity (outings, etc.) enjoyment. opportunity for young and inexperienced ringers, encouraging Sunday service ringing, especially at struggling towers, opportunities for co-ordinated efforts, and peal ringing ractivity.
All the foregoing deals with the function and organisation of ringing meetings as they are, and the situation with which the ringing master is ${ }^{\circ}$ faced in handling the practical ringing aspects. At our present traditional ringing meetings the ringing master has to control the ringing so that all are given a fair opportunity, having regard to their ability. This may mean some restriction on individual wishes from time to time for the good of the whole. Some effort must be mad? to meet individual aspirations and retain the interest of the more advanced ringers. Touche's should be graded to the capabilities of the band or individuals. The ringing master must, if necessary, intervene if a band is too weak for what is being attempted, if necessary having two touches on courses with fewer "improvers" in. He should discreetly call attention to serious faults in the ringing and aim at getting the best out of those present and at overall progress.

TWO TYPES WANTED?

To the majority of ringers, meetings seem to have two main functions, (a) social and (b) training. The first appears, to he well catered for and the second fairly well. considering that only about one-third of those present can be ringing at anv one time if only one tower is available. If more than one tower is available there is often a lack of balance between them. From a training point of view, therefore, over half one's time at ringing meetings may be ineffective, particularly as elementary touches tend to be overloaded with "improvers." In view of the low proportion of towers with competent Sunday servire bands and the need for intensifying training, can we afford to be so inefficient in our can we afford to be so inefficient in our training methods? Is there a case for two tyaining methods? of meeting, one essentially a social gathering where ringers ring what they can ring well, and where the business of the Association is conducted, and another type where the ringing is organised on a purely training basis on the lines of half- and one-day courses, with ringers organised in specific courses, uith riners organised in specitic a progressive series. Possibly the iwo types could be combined, the time being halved between the two.

There is a case for some rethinking about these matters with a view to improving the effectiveness of meetings from a craining angle.
The function of a ringing master at the latter type of meeting would be to organise the talent and ability "to greatest, effect in securing progress of " improvers" at their various stages. Ringers attending would need to be . prepared to accept a measure of direction beyond what is normally accepted at a craditional ringing meeting. and those not actually ringing would be watching either to learn or to help others.
Such meetings would need to be purposeful and planned in detail and have a guaranteed and specific attendance.
IFrom a lecture, given to the Yorkshire
Ringing Societies' Course at Selby on March 19th.]

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Branch was held at Wrington (10) on March 19th. Ringing preceded the service, which was conducted by the Rev. B. Lee, and afterwards the Rector and his wife joined the company for tea at the Memorial Hall.
At the short business meeting the following programme was arranged: Quarterly, Clevedon St. Andrew's (June): Practice meeting, Portbery (April): Annual Striking Comperition (to be judged by the Rev. J. G. Scott), Kingston Seymour (May). An invitation to visit Ubley for the annual Corporate Communion in June was accepted but, remembering the poor attendance last year, it is hoped that this year's service will receive the supporz it deserves.

The secretary reported that an annual dinner has now been agreed to in principle. and details would no doubt be available at the annual general meeting on Easter Mondav.
This concluded the business, and ringing continucd until 8.30 p.m.

BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSIT":  SOCIETY

The annual general meeting of Birmingham University Society was held on March 16th in The Union, Edgbaston, when 13 members were present. The meeting was opened by the chairman, Miss Rosemary Tailby. The officers' reports were read and the chairman reported on a general improvement in the society. This was partly due to the experience of some of the freshers and also because weekly practices had been held at F.dgbaston. Handbel! ringing had also improved under the guidance of Mr. Rupert A. Clarke.

In the absence of the Ringing Master, the deputy Ringing Master, Mr, R. A. Clarke, reported that the weekly practice at Edgbaston had provided valuable experience for the less experienced members. and he hoped that this regular practice would result in a high standard of ringing on the tour to be held in North Devon at Easter. tour to be held in North Devon at Easter.
Miss Ruth Gay (treasurer) was abbe to report that the Society was at present in a financially favourable position. A motion combining the offices of chairman and Ringing Master was carried, and Mr. R. A. Clarke was elected Master for the ensuing year. Other officers elected were Mr. J. R. White (secretary) and Miss Carol Johnson (treasurer). It was also agreed that the Society should hold an annual dinner and arrangements are to be made for this to be held in November.

OBITUARY

STEDMAN H. SYMUNDS-1889-1966

A TRIBUTE

In the heart of West Suffolk lies Lavenham, scarcely changed since medizval times. A pretty place, rich in history, almost every house one of age and beauty. The scene is dominated by one of the finest churches that man ever built-its massiveness, symmerry and proportions symbolic of the age in which it was created.
Out of Lavenham have come many famous men and into the Ringing Exercise in the closing years of the last century came Stedman Harry Symonds. Born 1889 with, 1 daresay, the sound of the Miles Graye tenor ringing in his ears: died February 22nd, 1966. Seventy-seven years gone in the twinkling of an eye and yet a life of fullness, generosity, bindliness and contribution.
Stedman Symonds came from an old ringing family from the "noble stem of Jesse" one might say, for that was his grandfather's name. His father, Arthur Symonds, dominated the Lavenham scene for nearly 60 years and taught his son to ring at the age of 11. What a delight this boy must have been to his father, for such ability as Stedman showed in those days of limited opportunity was a rare thing indeed,
His first peal, in 1906, when he was 17, was quickly followed by another 99, of which he conducted 91. He rang 239 peals in all, conducting 192 on both rower- and handbells. His versarility in our art was astonishing. No mean exponent in the tower, he nearly always called one-part peals, non-observation. Handbclls presented no problem and tuncringing, too. was second nature.
How many times are we rempted to say of a man ". If only he'd had the education what wouldn't he have done?" Stedman Symonds' knowledge of composition and method structure was very wide and yet he never sought publicity. His touches, quarters and peals were prodigious in the extreme and every effort will be made to preserve these. He is known to have produced over 1,500 service rouches of Stedman Triples-a parsicular favourtie of his.
Lavenham's ringing was at its peak beween the two world wars, and Stedman conducted the first peals of Kent, Oxford. Double Norwich. Stedman. Superlative and Yorkshire Court Major by the local company. Another interesting performance was a peal of Double Norwich at Stowmarket by eight Symonds in 1935.

When the Suffolk County Association was formed in 1021 he was the first Ringing Master. In fact Lavenham plaved an imporcant part in its formation, for long and loud was the resentment at the desired breallaway from the Norwich Diocese and in this town the new Guild was formed.
After the death of Arthur Symonds in 1934. Stedman took over the leadership at Lavenham and maintained this until 1964. when he handed over to his nephew. Maurice. Stedman's son, Dennis, has carried on the name and is a member of a well-known Essex peal band.
One might think that our art was Stedman's only interest. He was, it is true, so much part of Lavenham and its ringing activities but there was hardly a subject in which he did not show some interest and could speak with authority. Horticulture in particular, since he was gardener at the Old Wool Hall, and ornithology were his favourites. A member of the Over Sixties Club. he often entertained at local functions, and when the Wilfred Pickles show came to Lavenham he made a very popular appearance.
So many attributes; a Suffolk gentleman through and through. That was Siedman Harry Symonds. Nay he rest in peace.

A "RABBIT'S" GREAT ADVENTURE I

By HUGH FALKNER

There is nothing unusual about a rabbit going "down under." But for a rabbir 10 do a Great Adventure down under is quite something! It's all very well for the big boys with their Kent Treble Bob Maximus and Majors galore, but for a rabbit who can only muff through Plain Bob, Grandsire and Siedman and who never learned call changes the trip was indeed ambitious.

The journey started in Kingston, Jamaica West Indies, where, as a rabbit. I was considered to be a bellringing expert. This was not surprising, since there were no ringable bells in Jamaica. During my six years there the Whitechapel Foundry produced a rine of eight, later making it ten plus two semitone bells, all hung dead. This was a great disappointment to me, but I suppose it Has what they were paid 10 do, and it avoided me ever exposing'myself as a rabbit

I flew to Massachusetts, U.S.A., where repeated telephone calls put me in touch with Groton School and its bells. I thought all was lined up nicely, but on the day when 1 got there it was one of those peculiar public holidays which only the locals seem to know about. The school was on holiday, but & kind gentleman showed me up to the ringng chamber, further up to the bells, and further still to admire the view. So much for the U.S.A.!

After devious routes, I reached Vancouver, and was able to attend a practice night at Holy Rosary Cathedral. i had burrowed my way into Holy Rosary three years previously, so knew the ropes. The following Sunday Mission City gave me a chance (alheit all too brief) to ring for service. Later, a vist to Vancouver Island and the Cathedral in Victoria enabled me to "pull off a bell " and ring my own clianges on one bell. So much for Canada

On. then, so New Zealand. Bells are hard to find there, but eventually I got to Christ church and received a royal welcome for Sunday morning service ringing, a little of everything, and most enjoyable.

So to Australia-Sydney the first stop. I had no idea there were so many rings thereabouts. My first was at Burwood, after which the locals (amidst hospitality) completely organised my stay in Australia-and did it very well. The next night was at Turramurra, the next day off, but the next Sunday was a day of full employment. St Mary's Cathedral for service, followed by a quarter peal of Bob Minor. Two foreigners took part in his-Jeff White. of Vancouver, and myselt, of no fixed abode. Even the rabbit bad to course properly with Tom Goodyer in charge ! From there to St. Benedict's It would be a pity to describe the scene and bappenings there lest $1 t$ spoils the pleasure of surprise for others visiting at some future date. But it really was the joke of the day, and 1 nearly split with laughter One gentleman (name: less) required 16 whole pulls after "Stand" was called before he set his bell-but this is not to be interpreted that he was another rabbit! No, no!

The following night was practice night at both St Andrew's and St. Mary's, and two days later on to Melbourne. At the Cathedral, the only 12 -bell tower outside the British isles, there was : ringers' meeting on the Saturday so 1 was able to step right in, and also the next day for service ringing at St. Patrick's Cathedral (with the outside ternperature over 100 degrees F.). Two days later I was ringing at St Peter's in Adelaide. and the following week-end for Sunday service at St. George's Cathedral, Perth-with a practice sight later in the week.

Now 1 suggest this is all good going for a rabhit and 1 tell my tale for two reasonsGne, that rabbits are taken in hand by all these folk with a welcome and understanding that couldn't possibly have been exceeded for the Great Adventure boys and girls: and secondly, that whilst it is not likely that many rabbits will have the good fortune to make such journeys, they should he encouraged to grasp any opportunity for ringing which might occur overseas and not feel that it is only for Great Adventurers. I have refrained from mentioning names lest 1 omitted any of the people who were helpful in so many wavs. It was interesting, as I visited the various towers to see the signatures in the visitors' books of the Great Adventurers who travelled from West to East. Being a rabbit, it will be noted that 1 went from Fast io West! Note. The author sends us this report from Kuwait, in the Persian Gulf. He hopes shortly after Easter to be back in his old liaunts at Cirencester. Crovidon and Salisbury. -Ed.

IS BELLRINGING MUSIC?

Dear Sir, -Mr Henry Bagot raises the interesting question is the issue of March. 18th whether our primary requirement in ringing is to produce good music, exclusive of any other consideration. This will depend, surely, on whether you wish to argue the case as a musician rather than a ringer.

The prime requirement in the belfry is first-class striking, irrespective of method, and once this is achieved the merits of what is being rung can be argued. When we talk of music, it must be remembered that we are limited to producing variations in a musical scale of from five to twelve notes with any harmony rigorously excluded. Method construction was the logical step forward but this, one of the mainsprings of our art, is not primarily concerned with what is pleasing to the ear.

This is the poin: at which opinions differ. Those who place the main emphasis on music will naturally prefer odd-bell methods, when the composer's skill is used to produce rouches and peals most akin to musical scales, and obviously these will give this particular class of ringer the greatest pleasure. But the ringer wants something more than this to exercise his skill. We ring Caters for enjoyment but Surprise for advancement, and if the roll-uns are less frequent, they can give just as much pleasure.

Choral music has its parallel. There is a world of difference in the style and approach of say, Gilbert and Sullivan and Vaughan Williams, but if the works of the former are easier to assimilate and enjoy, the latter canrot be decried on the grounds that the listener finds it difficult to understand their musical construction. It depends. of course, on what you find musically satisfying.

The same contrast exists between odd- and even-bell methods. If hoth are perfect!y struck then they are cqually acceptable, however easy or intricate the method.
By all means let there be music in our belfries, but if the ringing is good my experience has always been that the listening public is surprisingly discerning, and will compliment a good performance whether the tenor is turned in or not.-Yours sincerely.

JOHN BRAIN.

A GOSPORT EXPERIENCE

Dear Sir,-I do not wish to enter into the Gosport peal "controversy" except to say that when I approached the Vicar last month to see if I could bring a band to ring there. at very short notice because bad weather had prevented us from crossing to the Isle of Wight as planned, I gained the impression that we would have been very welcome if we had brought our own ropes. So Geoff Dodds peal cannot have done the harm suggested hy Mr. Cope.
I understood from the Vicar that the ropes lised for the open day, peal, etc., were on loan and had had to he removed by the ringers and returned; certainly they had not been ordered off by him.

It has taken much determination and energv to bring Gosport bells hack to life again; one can only hope now that the parish will provide some ropes and the local Branch of the Guild adopt a more positive attitude.-Yours faithfully,

Leigh, Reigate.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD Peal Fees
Dear Sir,-The fees due for the peal of Ludgate Surprise Royal, rung at St. Michael's, Southampton, on October 2nd, 1965, have now been paid. and this peal is accepted by the Guild.

For the information of conductors of peals rung for the Guild, Rule 18 is as follows:

An account of each peal rung entirely by members of the Guild, together with sixpence per ringer, shall be sent to the Honorary Recorder of Peals within one month of the peal being rung, otherwise it will not be recognised or published in the Guild Report. the conductor being responsible for fulfilling this Rule."-Yours trulv, Hon. Peal Recorder.

ABRAHAM GREENFIELD

Dear Sir,-In the current issue of "The Ringing World" I noticed a quarter peal of Stedman Triples rung at Netherton in memoriam Abraham. Greenfield, whom I knew very well and rang many peals with in the years between the wars. He was a very able conductor in what we used to call "the fou: standard methods."
Diring the slump, when he was unemployed tor a considerable time, I used to pay Fis train fare to enable him to come to Shropshire to conduct the peals arranged at that time.

1 recall " rather amusing incident which occurred when 1 visited Tipton " pepper box" (Staffs) on November 12 th , 1924. Abraham called a peal of Stedman (Carter's No. 9); Reuben' Hall was ringing the tenor, and nearing the end of the peal his trousers came down and he rang the last 20 minutes with them round his boots. Fortunately he was wearing round his boots. Fortunately he was wearing
The band was James George treble. John Perry 2, Benjamin Gough 3, Alfred Rowley 4. John Jagger 5, Yours truly 6, Abraham Greenficld 7, Reuben Hall tenor.

They, were al! good old ringers of the "old school." which is why I mention their names. as if may awaken memories in the minds of those who knew them.

Abraham Greenfield gave up peal ringing in the mid-1930's and I doubt whether he did any ringing in recent years.-Yours truly,
E. V. RODENHURST.

P.S.-The footnote to the 1924 Tipton peal stated: "Rung in honour of the veteran ringer of the Midlands, Mr. William Rock Small. who attained his 85th anniversarv on November 12 th .

MURE ABUUT CLAPPERS

Dear Sir--Referring to Mr. Boothman's letter of February 25th, I feel that he is misstating the facts somewhat. At the time of impact a force of high magnitude acts between the bell and clapper, but this is not necessarily opposed by a similar force at the necessarily opposed by a similar force at the clapper pivot. In fact, if the point of impact on the clapper could be selected at will, a point could be found where the force acting at the pivot would be zero. This ideal point of impact is known as the "Centre of Percussion." and is located such that if the distances from the centre of gravity of the clapper to the pivot and to the centre of percussion are $a$ and $b$, then $a b=k^{2}$, where $k$ is the radius of gyration of the clapper about its centre of gravity.

The clapper flight, if correctly proportioned. will give the same effect by adjusting tl:F position of the centre of gravity, and I think it likely that in the case of a bell which persistently breaks clapper bolts, the trouble probably arises from a badly proportioned clapper. If the bolt is subjected to a high shock load at every stroke it will be liable to fail eventually due to fatigue.

Incidentally, a fatigue failure, even in wrought iron, has a very brittle crystalline appearance, so do not blame the fault on "bad metal."
A further effect of the clapper flight is to reduce the bending moments acting on the shank, but I do not think that a condition giving minimum bending moment is compatible with one producing zero shock loading at the pivot.
In practice, the clapper strikes on a plane Which is not quite parallel to its axis so a slight shock tension will occur in the clapper shank. However, if the clapper bolt is preloaded to a stress higher than that which would be produced by this shock load, no effect will result. as the stresses are not additive as implied by Mr. Boothman. This preloading can be achieved simply by keeping the nut firmly tightened.
It is interesting to speculate how the clapper flight came into existence, as they were in use long before the theory of centres of percussion was proposed. In fact I think they were in use even before Isaac Newton produced his laws of motion.

Was it a pure accident, or the result of laborious trial and error, or did some blacksmith or hellhanger produce a flash of inspired intuitive thinking?
Perhaps someone could give us some information on clappers through the ages. Yours faithfully.

Wilmslow.

USF FOR SILENT BELLS

Dear Sir.-There must be hundreds of church bells that have been hanging silent for many years for various reasons The most common reason must surely be that either the clergy or the parishioners, or both. are not sufficiently interested in them to try to keep them ringing.
Wouldn't it be wonderful if all these unwanted bells could be collected up and set in hell towers way out in the countryside, where ringers could ring without causing disturbance. purely as a hobby and quite apart from religious application.
I wonder what the parishioners would say if asked to surrender their bells they tu dislike for this purpose?-Yours truly,

MARY W. WHALLEY.
Hawkshead. Ambleside.

THE LEARNER PROBLEM

Dear Sir,-Previous correspondence upon the relative merits of Grandsire as a method for tower bells has only confirmed that Grandsire Triples and Caters can produce some of the best music upon tower bells, but threefifths of our ringable bells are of six or five bells. In these towers and, unfortunately, in many of our eight-bell towers, Grandsire is interpreted as Grandsire Doubles. I would not wish to compare the musical qualities of Doubles methods, but I would sympathise with the bands who, we read, afe unable to drag themselves away from stagnation of this one method. I can only think that such constant repetition would make practice nights dreary affairs and would eventually drive away the more intelligent ringers, and these are the most vital members if the band is to progress.
However, the subject of progress is the responsibility of tower captains, and I would prefer to comment upon what is to me the far more important matter of instruction for the beginner. This instruction is only half complete when a pupil can handle a bell. and instruction must now begin in the theo:y of change ringing. The many instructional manuals at present on sale appear to arrange this instruction in the following logical order:
Stage 1.-System of pricking changes, showing that the extent is produced on three bells.

Stage 2.-The application of place making to produce the extent on four bells.
Stage 3.-The extension to five bells, showing that the extent is not produced.

Stage 4.-The application of "bobs" to produce the extent on five bells.
1 would re-echo the statement frequently made in these instructional manuals that no tower captains should allow ringers to participate in change ringing until they have individually carried out the above on paper. 1 would go further and suggest that the vast number of amateurs should not consider indulging ir: their ill-planned instruction until they take the trouble to learn the slight amount of simple arithmetic indicated above.

The four theoretical tables above are much more readily applied to Plain Bob than 10 Grandsire and, in my opinion, make the former Doubles method tar easier to learri, from the learner's point of view, and 1 will try to itemise my reasons:
Stage 1.-On paper the final method is irrelevant. In practical ringing, Grandsire has the advantage that :wo learners may practise plain hunting at once during a plain course.
Stage 2.-On paper, Grandsire does not produce the extent on four bells: Plain Boh does. Also most instructional manuals use " seconds place" as their example of place making.

Stage 3.-Neither method has an advantage on paper. In practical ringing, the plain course of each will be equally difficult. It might be slightly easier for the learner to "plain hunt initially, rather than dodge initially. However, the "plain course" of intially. However, the plain course of to the learner since he can learn by heart to the learner since he can learn by h all the numbers of the bells he follows

Stage 4.-On paper the extent of Grand sire cannot be obtained with "hobs." What is, at this stage, an additional complication uf "singles" must be introduced. In Plain Bob the latter can be left until the extension of Bob Minor is required.

In practical ringing it is common practice to first extend the learner's ropesight by calling him "observation." This is easily performed in Plain Bob towers by calling him "home" three times. It is equaliy possible to do this in Grandsire by calling him "before" three times, but most Grandsire bands are able to ring only the PBPBPS variations and the learner must be pushed through " the touch

Even if the learner is limited to "bobs" only in Grandsire. he has far more 10 remember about their effect on his bell than in Plain Bob Doubles. In the latter method two of the calls merely cause him to continue plain hunting and carry out that work next lead. This is easier to remember in the early stages. Touches of Plain Bob can be talled in which the learner is "home and run in " or "home and run out " or "home and make the bob." Grandsire is less adaptable.

My final argument for the cause of Plain Bob is that the place making is at second and the dodges are at backstroke. Thus a learner can logically extend to the wide range of similar Doubles methods to Bob Minor, and eventually to Kent and Cambridge. In addition, the effect of "bobs" is exactly the same as in Bob Doubles. The only logical move from Grandsire Doubles is to Stedman Doubles, which is as confusing to the learner as making a start on a method with backstroke dodging

I am well aware that many of us find Roth Doubles methods equally easy. However, many of us have forgotten how difficult it was in those "dark ages" of our introduction to the Exercise. and the flood of learners leaving our ranks is proof that it is no easier for them these days. A wellplanned system of instruction is required, as is found in many books but few belfries, with is found in many books but few belfries, with the chance of success at regular intervals. The chance of success at regular intervals. and much more encouragement from the established ringers. Someone once took a great deal of trouble teaching us, and many bands had to suffer our initial fumblings in method ringing. Are we repaying this with method ringing, Are we repaying this with the time and effort we spend on our learners? the time and effort we spend on our learners
-Yours sincerely DEREK C. JACKSON.

Use of the table.
To find the FCH of a method with the aid ot the table, write out the first half-lead and divide off the four sections. Then examine the places made within each section and note the pairs of bells involved. Finally read off from the table the FCH group generated by these pairs.

As an example, the proof of Broadwater Surprise, the notation of which appeared on page 327 of the 1961 "Ringing World,"

Conclusions.

Even in its present, incomplete, form this system provides a quick and easy way of determining the FCII of the majority of treble-bob hunt Major methods. Its chief advantage is that it obviates the need to check the in- and out-of-course nature of the rows, the comparison of pairs of rows, and the various forms of numerical transposition essential to the more comprehensive systems.
On the other hand it does not attempt to irdicate the incidence of falseness, and it is unable to deal with a certain proportion of possible Major methods. Further work may well provide answers to these shortcomings.
The basic principles can of course be extended to cover Royal and Maximus methods, but the increasing prevalence on the higher numbers of places separated by more than one crossing pair will limit its usefulness here.

THE IDENTIFIGATION OF F.G.H. $\cdots$ A NEW APPROACH

By CYRIL A. WRATTEN

THE recen: need to produce a list of Surprise methods rung to date, together with brief details of their falseness, has prompted a fresh look at the problem of extracung false course-heads (FCH) from treble-bob hunt methods. All methods of doing this ot which I am aware-whether they are halflead or full-lead systems-involve a fair amount of rather tedious numerical juggling, and I found it took me roughly five minutes after writing out a half-lead of a method to produce its FCH. Multiply this by several hundred, and any short cut becomes welcome!

Then it was pointed out to me in the course of a conversation that if a pair of hells that are in Plain Bob coursing order make contiguous places in the plain course of a treble-bob hunt method, an FCH of 24365 ensues. This prompted an investigation inta the relationship between the bells involved when any places are made within a section and any FCH that section may have. The study was limited to Major methods.

Pairs.

In a Major method there are seven working bells It is possible to arrange the numbers 2 to 8 into 42 different pairs. of which one half will be reversals of the other half. Thus. for example, 32 is a reversal of 23 . There are therefore 21 unique pairs. These can in turn be arranged into three groups.

The first group ("A ") consists of bells that are in plain Bob coursing order. In the second ("B") the bells are separated by one in the coursing order, and in the third ("C") they are separated by two. The three groups are as follows:-

\begin{array}{ll}
* \mathrm{~A} & 24,46,68,87,75,53,32 \\
\because \mathrm{~B} & 26,67,73,34,48,85, \\
& \mathrm{C}
\end{array}

Contiguous places.

Now, if contiguous places ( $1-2,3-4$ or $5-6$ ) are made by an "A" pair. FCH 24365 auto matically ensues. Faling Surprise will serve as an example of this: 8 and 6 make 5ths and Gths while the treble is in $3-4$, and the method's only FCH (24365) comes from the 3-4 section as a result.
If however the contiguous places are made hv a "B"pair, then the associated FCH is 32546. And if they are made by a "C" nair, there is no associated falseness (c.p.s. This means that any method starting $x 34 x$ the ohvious examples-must have FCH $3254 h$. for the first nlaces will he made hy 3, 4. which is a " B " pair. On the other hand no falseness arises from the 5-6 and 3-4 places made in Ashtead because in the firs: half-lead they are made by 63 and 38 respectively, and these are both " $C$ " pairs.

1-4, 3-6, 5-8 places.

The vext stage is places senarated by two crossing bells-in the case of Major, 1-4, 3- 5 and $5-8$. In these places two pairs of hells are involved-one pair making the places. and the other crossing between them. Thus. in the $1-2$ section of Bristol Surprise, where Sthe and sths are made. the nlace-making pair is 67 , and the crossing pair 58:-

> 12345678 21436587 12346857 21438675

We therefore have to think in terms, not of one pair as in the case of contiguous places. but of two pairs.
There are 105 different wavs of pairing our 21 unique pairs. Fortunately, when the results are associated with the FCH thev generate, a pattern soon emerges. The results are best summarised in tabular form:-

c.p.s or Group $\dot{R}(45623,56234,35642,62534)$, c.p.s. or Group $O$ (52643, 36524, 65243, 46532).
c.p.s, or Group N $(34562,62345,46325,54263$ ).

It makes no difference which of the paits is making the places and which crossing-the outcome will be the same in either case.
Each set of two pairs can generate only one FCH group. Thus the pairs 58,67 in the example of Bristol above are always c.p.s.; ther can never give rise to a Group G FCH. How then is it possible to distinguish, for example, between two " $\mathbf{B}$ " pairs that generate FCH $G$ and two that are c.p.s.?
Experiment shows that there are two logical chains" into which the seven members of each " $A$," "B " and "C" group can he arranged, and two only. The same is true of the combined " A " and " B ," "A " and "C." and "B " and "C " groups, although here of course the "chains" consist of 14 pairs. As an example. the two "chains" for the (i) pairs are:
(i) $25-84-37-62-58-43-76-25$.
(ii) $25-37-58-76-84-62-43-25$; To stress the cyclic nature of the "chain. the first pair is repeated at the end in each case.

Each of these "chains" will generate one, and only one, FCH group., All neighbouring pairs in the first "chain" above will give tise to FCH G . while all neighbouring pairs in the second are c.p.s. And since the two pairs in the first $1-2$ section of Bristol, 58 and 67, are neighbours in the second "chain." they are c.p.s.
It is however a rather tedious business looking along these "chains" to discover which FCH any two particular pairs will generate. Therefore, rather than give the other ten "chains" in full, the results will be summarised in a quick-reference table.

1-6, 3-8 places.

But before giving that, let us look at the only other places possible within a section of a treble-boh Major method: 1-6 and 3-8. In each case three pairs of bells are involved, one pair making the places and two pairs crossing.

Of these places, 3 rds and 8 ths can be made only when the treble is in 1-2. Here the number of sets of three pairs that can he involved in the places is severely linited by the fact that the first section of every method must start with rounds. This has the immediate practical result that all methods

I 1-2, 1-4, 3-4, 3-6, 5-6, 5-8 places.

 No such generalisation is possible tor methods with 1 sts and 6ihs made when the treble is in 7-8. Here the possible number of sets of three pairs has become very large (315), even when only the 21 unique pairs are considered. In practice, however. reversals can no longer be ignored, and all 42 pairs are as a result involved. It becomes a gargantuan task to tabulate the possible sets and their associated FCH's, and it consequently seems that no short cut is possible here.

Exceptions.

We are now apparently in a position to extract the FCH of a method purely by examination of its first balf-lead, noting the parrs of bells involved in any places made within each of the four sections; the only exception is when $1-6$ places are made in the 7-8 section
There are however two other circumstances in which the system cannot always be used. The first is in cases where four simultaneous places are made within a section, as for example the 1258 places made in the $3-4$ section of Cambridge. As such places involve three pairs of bells the complexities of correlating the possible sets of pairs with FCH are the same as for 1-6 places.
The second is when two or more sets of places are made in succession in a single section. An extreme example of this is Turvey Surprise, where it occurs in all four sections. In practice such successions of places will not always generate the same FCH's that the individual sets of places will when examined independently of one another.

Summary of results.

Let us now see what is possible within these limitations. The following table summarises the position. Note that as FCH always come in groups, a Groun letter is entered rather than the actual FCH. These letters are those used by Mr. Maurice Hodgson for his grouping of the 60 FCH , and are in fairly general use. The members of each Group will however be found listed after the table. The figures along the top and the left hand side of the table are the pairs. If only one pair is involved in the places, i.e. the places are contiguous. the FCH are given in the first row and lor column: if two pairs are involved, the FCH appears where the row and column headed by those nairs meet (e.g. nairs 37, 45 give rise FCH N). In the table c.p.s. is indicated by a dash.

BELFRY GOSSIP

An all-ladies' quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at Thorington on April 1st, conducted by Miss Jennifer Andrews.

The peal of Verulam at Chatham (page 20) was rung on March sth and not the date submitted in copy.

Correction sheets have been completed by the puhlishers for "A Guide Bool to Composition.

Mr. Antony R. Kench rang his 100th peal of Surprise at St. Stephen's, St. Albans, on April Ind.

There was a family quarter neal rung $x$ St. Nicholas'. Warwick, on March 27tl. when Mr. and Mrs. Randall rang with their three sons.

Included in the band ringing the first peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Roval in Hampshire at Southampton on April ind was Mr. R Roger Savory after his American visit.

The first peal on the hells of Magdalen College. Oxford (one of Stedman Caters) since rehanging was rung on April And. It was conducted by Mr. Walter F. Judge.

Mr. Tony Cleaver's book. "The Thenry of Change Ringing." has heen sold out. The nublisher. Mr. John A. Hilton, informs us that the last 18 conies have gone to Washingion Cathedral bookshon.

Another fine achievement in Spliced Surprise Major ringing is reported by Mr. Anthony R. Peake. At Longlev a peal in 53 methods was rung on April and. the greatest number of Surnrise and Major methods rune in Gloucestershirs and for the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

CANON THURLOW HAS IDEAS FOR A RING OF BELLS AT NORWICH CATHEDRAL

Canon A. G. Thurlow, through whose initiative Great Yarmouth was provided with a ring of 12 bells, makes practical suggestions in "The Norwich Churchman" for providing Norwich Cathedral with a ring of, bells.

It is time Norwich Cathedral came into line with the other cathedrals of England, and proclaimed its purpose by ringing bells again, he writes. This could very easily be done.
The old bells and clock in the tower could remain as at present, and a new ring-perhaps transferred from a redundant city church -could be hung over the Dark Entry. in a position similar to that at Christ Church, Oxford.

This need not mean an expensive tower. At Oxford the bells were acquired first, and afterwards the present low and elegant tower was built around them. Of course such work could not be allowed to detract from the primary and urgent task of roof restoration, but if someone chose to give bells as an individual gift. as was recently done magnificently at Guildford, it could easily be done and the Cathedral would look outward done and the Cathedral would look outward and catch the ear of the public, as it has not and catch the ear of the done for a long time.

CONGRATLLATIONS, WASHINGTON

It will give immense pleasure to the ten Fnglish ringers who went to the opening of Washington Cathedral bells and to Mr. Fred Price. of Southbourne, who spent a winter season in training the band, to learn that the Cathedral Society rang its first quarter of Stedman Triples on March 26th. A significant pointer was that it was the first quarter of pointer was that it was the first quarter of Stedman by all the band. including the conStedman by all the hand, including the conductor, Rick Dirksen. With a completely local quarter of Stedman now in the bag, we can expect rapid progress from Washington.

AUGMENTATION AND RESTORATION OF ALVESTON CHURCH BELLS

Through the generosity of two of the parishioners, Messrs. H. G. Tucker and W. G. Farrer, two new bells were added to the existing four at Alveston Parish Church. Stratford-on-Avon. making a pleasant ring of six

The existing four bells (tenor 10 cwt .) are dated 1616, by Henry Farmer: 1658. by Henry Bagley: 1729 , by Richard Sanders; and 1912, given by Ludford Docker. Esq. They were rehung with new fittings and the two new bells added by John Taylor and Co., of loughborough. the cost of rehanging being defrayed by the Parochial Church Council.
On March 27 th a service of rededication, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. G. Burcess, was held, and the Assistant Bishop, the R1. Rev. John McKie. performed the dedication and gave the address.

After the service. ringing was enjoyed by the local band and a plain course of Bob Minor was rung by visitors from surrounding towers.
Tea was provided by the local band of ringers and served to their guests by the ringers' wives and friends in the new Church Hall.

A LOSS TO LINCOLN CATHEDRAL.

In the presence of every member of Lincoln Cathedral company a farewell presentation was made in the belfry on Sunday, March 27th, to Mr. and Mrs. Randles. The gift, a copy of "Change Ringing" by Wilfrid G. Wilson, was given as a token of respect and in appreciation of their services to the company.

They were invited to join the Cathedral company by the late Master of the Guild and Cathedral Company (Mr. J. A. Freeman). Mr Randles accepted the invitation and became a member, and Mrs. Randles an honorary member. The Cathedral Company were fortunate in obtaining the services of such competent ringers, who have served the Lincoln Guild so well in atterding meetings and ringing in many peals in a vast variety of methods. one of their highlights being Londinium Maximus at the Cathedral. Not only in peal ringing did they tuke part, but most of all Sunday service ringing; although living six miles away at Scothern this was never neglected.

Monday, April 4th, saw their departure from Lincolnshire, where the Cathedral Company will be the poorer for their change of residence after almost 13 years in the county Good wishes for many happy years of retirement accompany them from all the company to Gresford, Denbighshire, the village where Mr. Randles was born, which will be their future home.

Mr. Randles replied in a well-chosen speech and said how much he and Mrs. Randles had enjoyed their ringing They were struck by the friendliness of all and would always remember those years of residing in Lincolnshire with many happy memories of their ringing with the Cathedral Company at Lincoln.

HUNTINGTON PROGRESSING

Once again an attempt by the band at $\wedge l l$ Saints' Church, Huntington, Yorks, to ring a peal of Plain Bob Major was foiled. The cause was a broken rope, as after 360 changes the rope on the tenor suddenly parted company and brought an abrupt end to the attempt, which was going very well. However after a quick change of rope, a nother attempt was begun but due to the need to finish by 9 p.m. it was terminated halfway. after some very well-struck ringing.

The band here are progressing well and can now ring Treble Bob methods competently and are advancing into the field of Surprise and multi-method Minor ringing. A quarter of Kent was stopped on the Sunday because of some indifferent striking but it should not be long before the band achieve some good "Surprise" performances !

PUSHING C.C. PUblications

Hertford County Association find their sales organisations of books, mainly Central Council publications, very effective. Last year the librarian. Mrs. Joyce Dodds, sold books to the value of $£ 1413 \mathrm{~s}$. Perhaps other Associations might follow Mrs. Dodds' example by taking copies to meetings. She writes in the annual report: "Perhaps the concise approach of the C.C. publications has more appeal to young ringers than the older books, which require more leisurely study."

ROVING RINGERS' REUNION

Iriday, February 25 th, heralded the start of the Roving Ringers' week end in Nottingham. The majority of the party managed to arrive at the hotel in time to revive their "spirits" after their long journey, and in fact occupied the lounge till well after midnight, exchanging news and views and generally creating chaos by inadvertently leaning against the push buttons on the walls, which caused an irate porter to come running.
We awoke early on Saturday morning to the call of British workmen drilling the road outside. West Bridgford and Wollaton towers were the first of the day, after which "Admiral Rodney" proved to be extremely popular. On to Basford (8) and Bulwell (8), where five spliced was easily accomplished. At St. Mary's, half a course of Yorkshire Royal highlighted a good day's ringing.
Back at the hotel chaos ensued when 30 people all tried to have baths at once! At dinner "Supergut" was conspicuous by his absence. We were informed that he was unable to live up to his name and had retired to bed feeling very sorry for himself. Needless to say, the female members of the party kept him entertained throughout the evening.
At a short business meeting the president, Frank Lewis, thanked the retiring Master, Gearge Evenden, for running such an excellent tour, and Don Cobb, the retiring secretary, for organising the tours, and Sally for looking after the female angle. Roger Ashmore (Grotmore to his " friends ") was elected Master, and Adrienne Gibson and Roy Mills as secretary/treasurer. Suggestions for the tour included Yorkshire and Norfolk and Suffolk, the latter being chosen due to lack of youth hostels in Yorkshire.
Unfortunately the ringing at the first tower, St. Peter's, on Sunday morning rather reflected the events of the night hefore, hut by the afternoon heads had cleared and ringing at Hucknall (8) included a good course of Bristol. On to Southwell Minster, which was a fitting end to a very good week-end's ringing.
Our thanks must go to all incumbents and tower captains, and especially to Roy Blackler for making all the arrangements.

A PAKISTANI WHO RINGS

Mr. Ward B. Sachem, of Durham, inquires whether any peals have been rung in his own country, Pakistan. There are no tower bells hung for ringing in Pakistan. We have no record of a handbell peal. Similarly, regarding the West Indies, there are no lower hell rings of bells but we believe that a handbell peal has been rung there or very close to the Carribean in Venezuela.

Mr. Sachem concludes his letter: "I really think your country is truly wonderful, and I thank you for all the great time I have had on your bells. I have now learned to ring Grandsire Doubles and I think it is really Grandsire Doubles and think it is really could complain about it."
