"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

This unique work, second in the series entitled

is complete in itself. Its subject is treated both for beginners and for advanced practical ringers. It is not a textbook on specific methods, of which several exist but it shows for the first time, the detailed structure of the general plan of change-production, by types of methods, traced from 3-bell (basic) to 12-bell stages

Well bound in an attractive stiff cover in blue with gold lettering the book measures 8" x 6½" x 1" and contains nearly 300 of such large pages with some 80 figures or diagrams, also 8 double-page and 5 single-page "charts" included are series of "definitions" and "axioms" listed to serve as an index. Paragraphs throughout are numbered for ready cross-reference Chapters close with test-questions and indication of answer-location

This book is very highly commended, especially by leading members of the Exercise, including the Rev. Canon Gilbert Thurlow M.A., Fredk. Sharpe, F.S.A., and E. C. Shepherd. (See "Ringing World" 1966 pp 339 and 490). Much of the work was hitherto unpublished in book form.

The whole book has been planned for issue at minimum cost of production, being thereby cut from pounds to shillings so as to be within the reach of all The price, packing and postage included, is only 17/- (seventeen shillings) and your copy comes by return of post from: College Publications 40, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea Hants 897

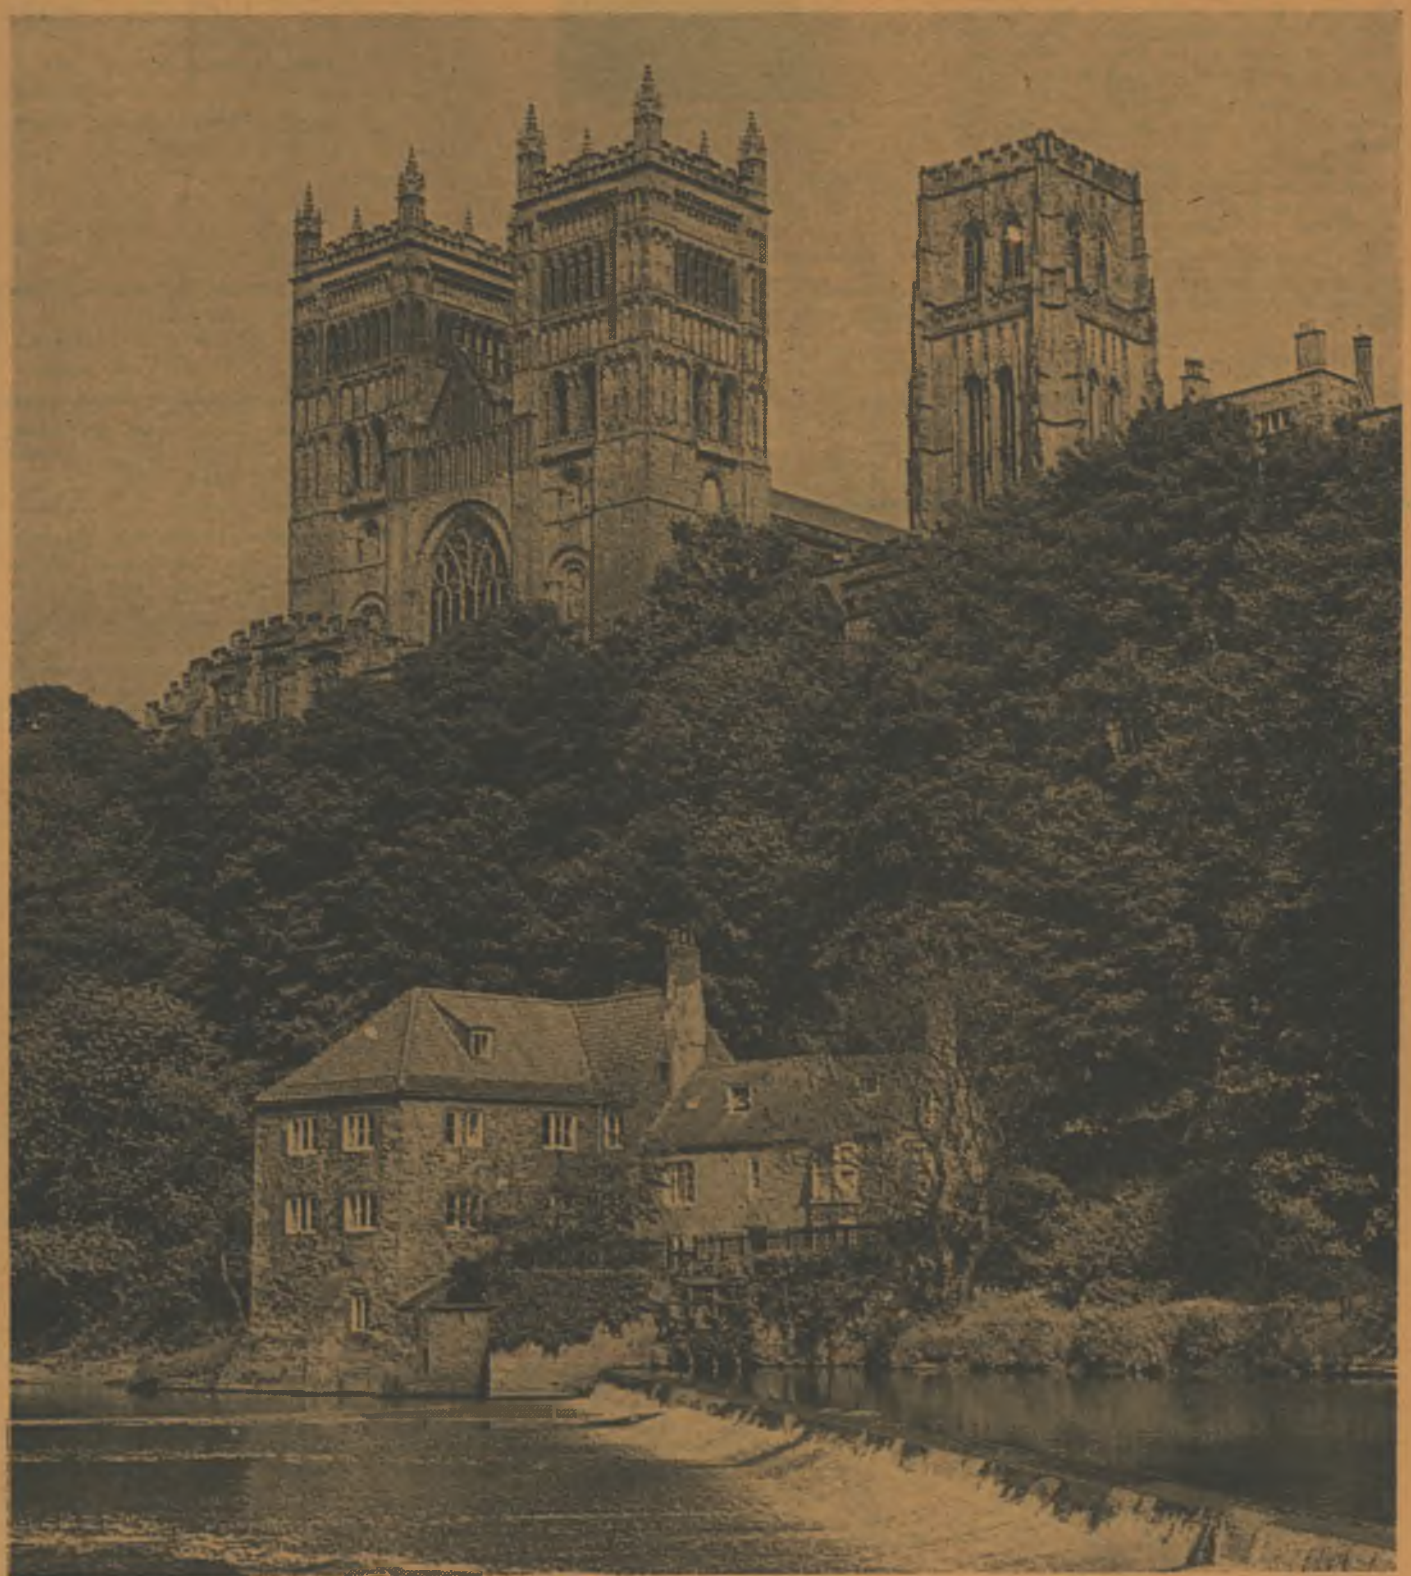
THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2921 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1967 9d.



A FLASHBACK OF 90 YEARS

Durham and Newcastle Association's Anniversary

Grey towers of Durham
Yet well I love thy mixed and massive piles
Half Church of God, half castle 'gainst the Scot,
And long to roam these venerable aisles
With records stored of deeds long since forgot.

THESE words were written by Sir Walter Scott on the occasion of his visit to Durham for a banquet given by Bishop Van Mildert in honour of the Duke of Wellington. The verse is inscribed on a stone let into the approach to Prebends' Bridge, from which general direction the world-famous view that graces our front cover this week would be taken.

One deed which is not being forgotten occurred in the Song School of Durham Cathedral on August 17th, 1877, when the Durham Association of Ringers was founded. Later, when the Newcastle Diocese was formed in 1882, the title was expanded to the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association to cover the two dioceses embracing the original territory.

PEAL IN 1790

There is evidence of earlier ringing societies in the area, one of these being the Union Society of Newcastle and Gateshead, which had recorded peals as having been rung as far back as 1790. The great wave of feeling for belfry reform that swept through the country in the latter part of the 19th century brought with it the formation of many of the present territorial bodies and the Durham and Newcastle Association is one of the oldest of them. The only older bodies of this type are those for Devonshire, Yorkshire, Lancashire and the Diocese of Norwich.

The Association had stated among its objects the promotion and improvement of church bell ringing, especially scientific change ringing for divine service. The qualification for membership was the ability to ring rounds to the satisfaction of the committee and the subscription of a performing member was one shilling per annum.

The first annual report for the year ending September, 1878, was published as a broadsheet, and it was reported in "Church Bells." It took the form of a review of previous Associations and activities in the District, and continued with a report of progress since the inauguration.

The report also contained a mention of a distant feeling amongst the ringers at Durham, and quite plainly belaboured the Cathedral men for their refusal to co-operate with Association members, even to the extent of debarring them from the Cathedral belfry. A footnote to the report gave the news of the first peal by the Association, Grandsire Triples, at North Shields.

BELFRY REFORM

The earliest reports, whilst detailing the events of the year, placed great stress upon the need for yet more and more belfry reform, and contended in one case ". . . if the once familiar pipe, the jug of beer, or the usual associations of a tap room are indulgences strictly forbidden by the self-imposed rules of ringers, then this Association produced a beneficial effect."

The insistence upon this side of the Association's aims did not prevent many frequent exhortations to improve the quality of ringing, and the advancement into more complex methods.

Due to the sparsity of ringing towers in the North Country, a great difficulty to be surmounted in those early days was the distance between towers, making it anything but easy to gather mixed companies for practice, but the enthusiasm and abilities of the first leaders and their colleagues were responsible in a large measure for the spreading of the Association's activities, and meetings as far afield from Newcastle as Chester-le-Street were attended by Newcastle men, whose means of transport was frequently by road on foot.

The President, Mr. W. Tyson

Early office bearers, holding the positions of president were William Reed, of North Shields, the brothers R. S. and W. Story, and C. L. Routledge, of Newcastle, and the first secretary was G. J. Clarkson, of Stockton, whose period in office lasted from 1877 to 1898.

A copy letter book by G. J. Clarkson has recently come to hand. This contains copies of 128 of his letters, all associated with the restoration of bells. It is hoped to give extracts from this book in a series later in the year. Much of the interest derives from Clarkson's style of writing, and paraphrasing or drastic condensation would spoil that interest.

The towers at North Shields, Stockton and St. John's, Newcastle, had companies of enthusiastic and competent ringers, who rang some of the earliest peals for the Association.

PIONEERED SPLICED SURPRISE

The talented Gofton family, of Whitley Bay, pioneered Spliced Surprise Minor in the North, ringing 14 methods in 1906, and later accomplished peals of the first Surprise in Scotland, London Surprise Major and Stedman Cinques on handbells, and the first ever of Spliced Surprise Major, Cambridge and Superlative, at Whitley Bay in 1924.

At Sunderland, St. Ignatius' (a most competent six-bell company) were ringing Surprise Minor in many methods during the early part of the 1900's and from Joseph W. Parker, of this band, came such a flood of brilliant compositions as to place him amongst the most honoured of the Exercise's composers.

At a later time, the mantle of Surprise Minor fell upon the Darlington Holy Trinity band, who took the score to 21 methods.

The Newcastle Cathedral ringers under William H. Barber, whose conducting of difficult compositions of Stedman excited the admiration of the ringing world, took Erin Triples and Caters as "firsts," but were forestalled for the Cinques by the Birmingham men.

The augmentation of the Newcastle Cathedral ring to 12 opened a new field, and full advantage was taken by the ringers of the district.

KEENNESS

Great strides in new methods have been a feature of peal ringing of recent years, and there is a keenness in the district which gives every confidence for the future.

Training and encouragement of ringers is very much part of the Association's outlook upon its responsibilities and, under the Ringing Master, Mr. Kenneth Arthur, supported by a competent panel of instructors, one-day courses of instruction in many aspects of the art have been held annually at Lumley Castle for four years.

The Durham and Newcastle Association enjoys the patronage of the Lords Bishop of Durham, Newcastle and Jarrow, the Dean of Durham, the Provost of Newcastle and the Archdeacon of Northumberland, and it earns the respect and co-operation of the clergy in both dioceses.

Its president is Mr. W. Tyson, a member of a well-known ringing family, and he enjoys the support of a membership of 220 serving 34 active towers in Northumberland and Durham.

OUR PICTURE

Durham Cathedral of Christ and Blessed Mary the Virgin from the south-west, above the wooded slopes of the River Wear, is one of the most memorable views in the country.

In its strength and grandeur the building, which was finished in 1133, remains unsurpassed. The twin western towers are Norman to the level of the nave clerestory and then raised in the Early English period. The lofty central tower, built about 1465–1490, impresses with its great height and quiet design.

The great stone screen of 1372 contains 107 alabaster figures in beautifully pinnacled niches. The bones of the Venerable Bede lie under a plain tomb in the Galilee Chapel near the west end. In 1370 his shrine was encased in plates of gold and silver, states an old record.

A visit to Durham Cathedral is a lasting memory; so perhaps is the long climb to the ringing chamber, where there are eight bells with a tenor of 30 cwt. in D flat.

UNIQUE FACILITIES FOR ENJOYABLE HOLIDAY DURING CELEBRATION WEEK

THE outline programme of special events is advertised in this issue. The rally at Lumley Castle is envisaged as a mainly local event, for the accommodation is rather limited, but the other events are designed to attract visitors or to give them opportunities that do not normally occur.

Ringing at Durham Cathedral is severely limited by the architects, and most visitors who have rung there in recent years have done so as part of the Sunday ringing. Change ringing is very limited during the summer when the University students are on vacation. It is hoped that by providing a band of change ringers on these three Sunday afternoons some visitors may be enabled to add Durham to their lists of towers. Perhaps a holiday in Scotland may be contemplated this year, and the idea of ringing at York Minster in the morning, Durham Cathedral in the afternoon and Newcastle Cathedral in the evening on one of these Sundays, with St. John', Newcastle, as a bonus, while on the journey north, should be quite attractive. In the reverse direction, Newcastle in the morning, Durham in the afternoon and a Yorkshire tower such as Selby Abbey or St. George's, Doncaster, might be found convenient and attractive.

The celebrations will culminate in Durham on Saturday, September 23rd. On that day there will be ringing in the area around Durham before Evensong in Durham Cathedral. The preacher at that service will be Canon Thurlow, president of the Central Council. At 6.30 for 7 p.m. there will be a special dinner at St. Aidan's College, Durham. The Bishop of Durham, Canon Thurlow, the Master and other College Youths are among those who hope to be present and, with the enthusiasm already evident among resident members, it is confidently expected that the capacity of the dining hall, set at 200 for this special occasion, will be fully taken up, and early application for the tickets (priced at £1 per head) will be essential. St. Aidan's College is an attractive modern building, designed by Sir Basil Spence, standing on high ground with a commanding view of the city. Overnight accommodation can be provided by the College for any visitors at a cost of 27s. 6d. per person per night for bed and breakfast.

COLLEGE H.Q.

Ringers who have not visited this area might be interested in a tour in the week preceding this dinner. If demand is sufficient (minimum 20 to maximum 40) the option on the accommodation at St. Aidan's College can be taken up and the detailed arrangements made in due course. Any individual or group interested in this idea should communicate with me as early as possible. In outline the full tour would commence with ringing prior to dinner on Saturday, September 16th, and conclude with breakfast on Sunday, September 24th. During that time it would be feasible to ring on just about all of the ringable bells in the Association's territory, as shown by recent experience with London University and Universities' Association tours. The totals would be about 500 miles and 50 towers, with some fine scenery in many parts. The cost of accommodation at St. Aidan's College for the eight nights (dinner, bed and breakfast and including the special dinner) would be approximately £14 per head. This would not include transport, for which it would be expected that there would be sufficient cars.

Ringers who are not able to visit the Durham and Newcastle area on these occasions might find themselves in it at some other time, such as in the course of business. Visitors are always welcome and for their convenience a list of practice nights in the more populous centres and telephone contacts for further information about them are given below:

PETERBOROUGH'S EASTER

Roy W. Spencer tells us of the busy Easter Day of St. Mary's, Peterborough, band. Assembled at St. Mary's at 7.30 a.m. for ringing for 8 a.m. service; then travelled five miles to Alwalton and ringing for the 9.30 service, which all attended.

Another band of seven rang at St. Mary's from 9.30 to 10.15 for the Parish Communion. Handbells were rung for 20 minutes outside the daughter church of St. Michael, which is without bells, for the 11.30 service. The usual ringing from 5.45 to 6.30 for Evenson at St. Mary's concluded a happy day of service.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY DINNER

The annual dinner fell on February 4th, and was again held in Jesus College. The day's ringing began at noon at Carfax. All the Oxford towers were available except St. Thomas', which the organisers felt would scarcely attract even the most inveterate grabbers. However the Master of the Sheffield University Society refused to take this good-natured hint and insisted on ringing a quarter peal there the next day.

Despite the crowds however, one of our members managed to find time to introduce a foreign visitor to ringing, although unintentionally. Congratulations are certainly due to the beginner for initiative and observation in ringing three strokes alone before inevitably breaking the stay. Ringing, apart from this episode, was painfully unoriginal as is only to be expected where bells are more numerous than easy. Magdalen's, some of the easiest bells, probably produced the best ringing.

After Evensong at the University Church of St. Mary the Virgin we moved to Jesus College where the Dinner Committee's seating plan came under the usual critical review. More worrying, however, was the crisis of numbers which was only solved by the fortunate absence of some guests. This prevented the Committee from saving their money by dining on fish and chips. Instead they were present to hear the President, Canon C. E. Wigg, propose the loyal toast and introduce the other speakers.

Brevity was to be the major theme of the evening in which the three Oxford speakers excelled. An interruption by the ex-Master during one speech suggested that secret orders were perhaps responsible for this. "The Church" was proposed by the secretary, Mr. Stephen Royal, in an amusing speech, recalling the mission which was ending in Oxford that night, and its purpose. The Rev. Phillip Martin replied for the clergy but emphasised that the Church included laity as well as clergy.

Mr. Brand then welcomed the visitors despite expressing some doubts about the purity of their motives in coming. We were pleased to have Mr. Peter Border as guest of honour to defend the visitors and he promised not to be absent from Oxford for such a long time again.

As usual the Master of the Cambridge University Guild, the experienced Mr. Stephen Darvill, was forced to sing for his supper by proposing the toast of "The Society." The secret orders about brevity had not penetrated to his end of the table but his kind advice to the new officers was well received.

The Master replied with the traditional résumé of the year's events recalling with glee the various accidents which had befallen his fellow members. Members and guests then adjourned to the beer cellar which, though small, appeared to serve its purpose. V.R.

SOUTHWELL GUILD'S 8 per cent MEMBERSHIP JUMP

THE attendance at the 21st annual general meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, held in the Bingham District on April 1st, was most encouraging. During the afternoon ringing took place on the six bells at Granby, Orston and Whatton-in-the-Vale, and on the eight bells at Bingham. Evensong was held in Bingham Church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev H A. Kirton), Mr. Peter Else playing the organ.

A most enjoyable tea, prepared by the ladies of the Bingham District and their helpers, was partaken of in St. Mary's Church Hall, Radcliffe-on-Trent.

The business meeting, attended by 130 resident members, was presided over by the Guild chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter, supported by the vice-chairman, the Rev. F. W. Stepheni, the hon. treasurer, Mr. J. W. Raithby, and the hon. general secretary, Mr. W. L. Exton.

The meeting was opened by prayers, led by the vice-president, and a minute's silence for five members who had died since the last A.G.M., namely Messrs. J. W. Coleman (Nottingham, St. Peter's), H. M. Turner (South Anston), S. Pinder (Basford), Mrs. C. M. Crawford (Rampton) and Mr. C. Randall (Mansfield).

Mr. J. D. Clarke, chairman of the Bingham District, gave a very warm welcome to the Guild on this their first visit to the District.

The minutes were approved and the annual report, which had been in circulation for some two weeks was, with one or two queries, accepted on the proposition of Mr. J. D. Clarke, seconded by Mr. B. M. Buswell.

UNPRECEDENTED INCREASE

The hon. general secretary reported that despite an increase in subscriptions, with its consequent loss of several members, membership had risen by an unprecedented amount of nearly 8 per cent., and for the first time in its history the Guild had a membership of well over 500 members. Noteworthy increases were amongst the younger age groups and for the first time four clergymen who were also practical ringers were members.

Lectures on bells and ringing, with handbell demonstrations, had been provided by members through the Rural Communities Council, and the Further Education Department had during the past year exceeded 25, with a result that over 600 people now knew a little bit more about bells and ringing.

The year 1966 also proved to be a busy year on the bell restoration side: the bells at Eastwood (8) were rehung, the five at Sturton-le-Steeple were augmented to six and the three at Sutton-cum-Lound were rehung in a new frame for six. To each of these a donation of £50 had been given by the Guild.

RESTORATIONS

New ground was broken at Shelton (2) and Whatton (6), where close co-operation between the P.C.C.s, ringers and bellfounders resulted in the bells being rehung on ball-bearings by local labour, this resulting in a substantial reduction in the final cost of the completed work. Restoration work was also undertaken at Sibthorpe (4) and Nottingham All Saints' (8), where broken wheels and other minor defects were repaired. Inspections carried out and reports submitted amounted to 14 in various parts of the diocese. The income to the Bell Repair Fund was down by £26 1s. 11d. to £151 15s. 2d. and donations at £168 14s. 5d. were slightly above the income, but a balance of £213 10s. 2d. carried forward was considered satisfactory.

The hon. treasurer reported that the increase in subscriptions and peal fees had resulted in a satisfactory balance sheet, the profit on the year's working amounting to £39 3s. 10d.

MORE PEALS

The peal committee reported that with a total of 123 peals in 1966 (not including the peal of 5,319 Doubles rung at South Collingham on November 29th, which they rejected) they had exceeded the previous record set in 1964 by two. Seventeen members rang their first peal and ten of the 19 1965 first pealers rang further peals in 1966. Not one peal bore the footnote "First as conductor," but all save one of the 1965 crop called further peals in 1966. Leading conductors were W. L. Exton 16, G. A. Dawson 13, Ruth Blackshaw 10, H. Poyner 9 and S. Humphrey 8.

The 117 tower-bell peals were rung in 53 towers, 43 (out of the total of 92) in the county and there were three independent handbell centres. The conducting was shared among 26 people; there were 165 involved, 11 (21 per cent.) of whom were resident members of the Guild.

Coddington and Harby bells have had peals rung on them for the first time. Balderton has now reached 25 and Greasley 100. The peal at South Collingham on January 24th, in 44 extents of Doubles with 54 plain course methods and 126 variations, is the largest number of methods/variations yet rung to a peal.

Quarter peals were down, only 76 against 134 were rung in 34 towers, the list being headed by Kirkby-in-Ashfield 9, Holme Pierrepont 7 and Wollaton 6.

OFFFICERS RE-ELECTED

The retiring officers were thanked for their services to the Guild during the past year, and as no nominations had been received they were re-elected to serve for one more year. The vice-chairman (the Rev. F. W. Stepheni) and the hon. treasurer (Mr. J. W. Raithby) both gave notice that they would not be standing for re-election next year, and the hon. general secretary gave notice that next year nominations would be required for the election of Central Council delegates for the period 1969–1971.

An amendment to the Crawford Cup rules, proposed by Mr. H. Poyner and seconded by Miss R. Blackshaw, that the following should be added to Rule 6: "No ringer shall ring for more than one team in the final contest," was carried unanimously.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S VISIT

The hon. general secretary reported on the arrangements that had been made for the forthcoming visit by the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers to Nottingham at the end of May. He gave details of the ringing, including the ringing tours and the social arrangements already in hand, and gave out a short résumé to the District secretaries for issue to tower captains so that everyone would know his or her part in the arrangements. Following a few questions, Mrs. B. N. Reed proposed a vote of thanks to the hon. general secretary and the officers for all the arrangements they had made. This was carried unanimously.

Details of the arrangements already in hand for the Three Counties Festival to be held at Derby on September 16th were also given. It was interesting to note that amongst the members present there were ten old M.C.A. members.

Mr. S. W. Fossey, the Mansfield District chairman, proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to the officers, the incumbents for the use of the bells and for the service, the ladies for an excellent tea, and to the Bingham District in general for the way in which they had entertained the Guild that day.

The chairman declared the meeting closed, and said that further ringing was now available at Bingham (8), Radcliffe-on-Trent (8), Cotgrave (6), East Bridgford (6) and Holme Pierrepont (6). Further visitors during the evening swelled the attendance during the day to well over 150.

OBITUARY

MR. S. BROMFIELD

The Lincoln Diocesan Guild has lost yet another member of long standing with the passing of Stephen Bromfield. He had done almost all his ringing in North Lincolnshire, starting in the early part of the century in the Barton-on-Humber area.

After the first world war he resided in Grimsby and was a member of the band at St. Andrew's. The church was later destroyed and he then joined the band at the Parish Church of St. James. In 1956 he returned to Barton-on-Humber in his retirement, where he was greatly valued by those ringing at the two beautiful old churches.

A most reliable ringer with a quiet, unassuming manner, he was greatly respected by all. His peal total is not to hand but the writer would say that he had rung about 80 in the standard methods.

A number of ringers attended the funeral service on March 28th and in the evening a quarter peal was rung half-muffled on St. Mary's bells by the local band. J. B.

MR. HORACE MORRIS

It was with shock that the villagers of Wootton (Oxon) learned of the sudden death of Mr. Horace Morris on Easter Saturday.

Horace was 65 years of age and was due to retire from his job as gardener at Blenheim Palace this summer. His wife had died eight years before him, and since then Horace had lived by himself.

He was tower captain at St. Mary's Church, where he had rung for 52 years. In that time he had taught many villagers to handle a bell. For years Horace looked after the clock and bells, a job he did with pride.

The funeral was on March 30th and was attended by nearly all his fellow bellringers. Interment was in a shady corner of the churchyard, within sound of the bells he loved. St. George's flag was flown at halfmast from the tower all day, and in the evening the bells were rung half-muffled to a quarter peal by the local band.

May he rest in peace. We shall miss him very much. E. R. V.

WOOTTON, OXON.—On March 30th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: J. Venn 1, D. Cleaver 2, B. Hoare 3, J. Buggins 4, E. R. Venn (cond.) 5, A. Cleaver 6. Rung half-muffled in memoriam Mr. Horace Morris, interred this day in Wootton Churchyard.

OBITUARY

MR. T. G. MYERS

His countless ringing friends throughout the country will mourn the passing of Thomas George Myers, of Plymouth, to whom death came suddenly on Easter Monday after a prolonged period of suffering and ill-health.

Tom a true son of the West Country, was born in Plymouth on September 29th, 1906, and at a very tender age was introduced to the delights of bellringing by his father, the late Harry Myers, who was at that time captain at Emmanuel Church, Plymouth. So determined was Harry that his three sons, Tom, Will and Fred should become ringers that the brothers had no option but to follow in their father's footsteps, and indeed a non-ringing male member of the Myers family would have been regarded as a black sheep.

Tom very quickly showed himself to be a born ringer, and on July 19th, 1922, at the age of 15, he rang the treble to his first peal—Grandsire Triples—at St George's, Stonehouse, conducted by his father. In all, Tom rang 243 peals, conducting 96. His last peal was one of Plain Bob Minor at Kelly on July 6th, a peal in which the writer was privileged to take part, and which was conducted by Roy Bould, who started his change ringing career as a pupil of Tom's.

It was not only in the field of peal ringing that Tom showed his capabilities; for over 20 years he held office in the South West Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers at various periods as chairman, Ringing Master, secretary and treasurer. He represented the Guild on the Central Council and in later years was accorded the honour of a vice-presidency of the Guild in recognition of his loyal and devoted service over so many years. He was a member of 14 other Associations, among them the College Youths, the Truro Guild, the St. Martin's Guild, the Irish Association and the Durham and Newcastle Association, to mention but a few.

To Tom, there was no place like Devon, and one of his great joys was visiting, with his friends, the many lovely village churches with which the county abounds, and ringing on bells that are rarely rung to half-pull ringing. He made many friends among the call change ringers of the county and would enjoy sitting in the "local" with them after ringing, with a pint of mild and talking, naturally, of bells and ringers.

Tom was a Christian and a practising churchman who recognised the value of his branch of the ministry within the Church, and he had little time for a ringer who was not prepared to take his place for regular service ringing. He laboured unceasingly in the training of young ringers at St Andrew's, Plymouth.

It is due to his efforts also that the fine old ten at St. Andrew's were kept in good ringing order and it would be impossible to estimate how many hours he spent among these bells, so beloved by him. If it was not for his attention to detail in ensuring the louvre shutters were closed these bells would have crashed to the ground when the church was gutted during the blitz of the last war; as it was, the sparks from the blaze were unable to drift up through the louvres and the tower was saved intact.

The funeral service was held at St. Andrew's on March 31st prior to cremation at Efford. Tom's beloved bells were rung before and after the service half-muffled to rounds and touches of Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples. The coffin was borne by six members of the South West Branch of the Devon Guild and at the close of the service handbells were rung over the coffin by four members of the same Guild. During the service the Vicar of St. Andrew's, the Rev. J. K. Gavell, paid warm tribute to the devotion and loyalty Tom had given his Church during his lifetime and pointed out that his life was a shining example of true churchmanship that would for many years leave its mark not only on St. Andrew's but on the whole of the Devon Guild.

So passes from our sight one of the great ringers of the West Country, and we who are left thank God for the privilege of having known him and for the countless hours of pleasure in his company.

May God grant him eternal peace. R. A. S.

MR. A. E. HINMAN

Ringers of the Melton District were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mr Alfred E. Hinman at his home at Kirby Bellars, Leicestershire, early on March 16th at the age of 54 years. Although he was in hospital about three years ago for a heart operation, he still attended ringing practices at Great Dalby and Gaddesby; in fact he had been to Gaddesby on the previous evening.

He was a member of the Leicester Diocesan Guild and the Framland Association. He had also been Vicar's warden for five years. A man of a quiet and friendly disposition, he was very fond of ringing and had rung 52 peals in all. He leaves a widow and a son and daughter.

The funeral at St. Peter's, Kirby Bellars, on March 20th was attended by a large congregation, which included workmates from the Ordnance Depot at Old Dalby, and Melton District ringers. The Vicar, the Rev J. G Frostick, conducted the service and an address was given by the Rev G. Slater. Interment was in the churchyard under the sound of the bells he loved.

A half-muffled quarter peal in three Doubles methods was rung by Mrs. B. Woodcock 1, Mrs. M. Stimson (District secretary) 2, J. H. Cook (District chairman) 3, H. J. Bonshor (conductor) 4, C. E. Cooper 5.

MR. J. W. PRICE

It is with regret that we publish the death on March 21st of Mr. John William Price, tower captain at Clay Cross, at his home at the age of 63.

Until his illness, Mr. Price was an active member of the ringing circles in North East Derbyshire and chairman of the Chesterfield District of the Derbyshire Association. Although he was never a great peal ringer, he was always ready to welcome and encourage young ringers.

He was a member of the East Derbyshire and West Notts Association for the past 40 years and served the Association very well, being secretary for a number of years, Ringing Master and president, and was a vice-president and life member until his death.

The funeral took place at Clay Cross Parish Church on March 23rd, followed by cremation. Before the funeral service several touches were rung on the half-muffled bells by members of both the Derbyshire Association and East Derbyshire and West Notts Association. A memorial peal was rung on the bells at Clay Cross on Saturday, March 25th, and a memorial service at Evensong on April 19th was attended by many ringers. E. J. S.

BEXLEY, KENT.—On March 22nd, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: Miss P. A. Fox 1, K. Medhurst 2, Miss J. R. Cox 3, M. Bridges 4, Miss M. R. Andrews 5, E. A. Barnet (cond.) 6. In memory of David Connolly (age 19), a ringer at Bexley, who died on March 18th as the result of a road accident.

MR. H. D. HARRIS

The death of Douglas Harris on March 21st, at the age of 92, marked the end of an era that was begun in Woburn in the last century by the man who introduced change ringing into Bedfordshire, namely Charles Herbert.

Douglas was born in Nantwich, Cheshire, on March 1st, 1875, and was confirmed at Ashton. He moved to Woburn at the age of 17 and went to work in the estate office of the Duke of Bedford in Woburn Park. When he retired, after 47 years' service, he was head accountant. He was founder and secretary of the local football, tennis and bowls clubs, in all of which he had taken part.

Charles Herbert taught him to handle a rope in 1895. He also taught him to ring handbells. He rang his first quarter, of Plain Bob Major, in 1896, and joined the Bedfordshire Association the same year. His first peal was on the eight bells of Woburn old church in 1897. His first on handbells, Plain Bob Royal, took place in 1902 at the house of Mr. Herbert, where many more were to be rung including one of Plain Bob Maximus "in hand" in 1903; this was the first for all the band, for the Bedfordshire Association and in the county (this has not yet been surpassed). He rang about 50 peals in all, about half of which were "in hand."

He was a vice-president and trustee of the Bedfordshire Association. He sang in Woburn choir for 50 years and was Vicar's warden for seven years, after which he served as a sidesman and on the Parochial Church Council. He was tower captain for some time, following Mr. Avis, and always referred to the bells as "his bells."

In 1931 he went on a ringers' pilgrimage to Belgium, and it was on this trip that he met the late H. J. Poole. He rang 9–10 to a touch of Grandsire Caters during a service at the Menin Gate: the rest of the band were: Raymond Philpott 1–2, Redvers F. Elkington 3–4, Alfred H. Pulling 5–6, and Harold J. Poole 7–8. Rather unique, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on the border, with 1–2, 3–4 in France, and 5–6, 7–8 in Belgium. Peals of Stedman Caters and Grandsire Triples were also rung. His favourite method was London Surprise Major, and on at least three occasions a peal in this method was arranged at Woburn, but, alas, much to Douglas's disappointment, the attempt was never made.

When he was 82 he was knocked down by a car and sustained a dislocated shoulder. This put him out of action for a time but not for long. We lowered the tail-end of the 4th (his favourite bell) and he soon got going again. He rang tower bells until he was unable to climb the steps, but he was able to ring London "in hand" to celebrate his 90th birthday.

He was meticulous in everything he did; he kept a day-to-day diary up to the end of his life.

The cremation took place at Bedford on March 25th. At his request there was no fuss and no flowers. A memorial service was held in Woburn Church on April 11th. K. G. S.

Letters to the Editor

INFORMATION OF PEAL ATTEMPTS

Dear Sir.—I wholeheartedly support Mr E. Cribley's plea on page 200 for information to be published as to where and when what might be noteworthy peals are to be attempted. It is right and proper that regular peal ringers should constantly be aware of the possibility that there may be a number of critical witnesses of their performances. Such an awareness can do much to maintain and improve standards.

To provide this information is a news service that you, sir, might consider offering your readers. Perhaps a paragraph every week on the Bell Founders' page entitled "Forthcoming Peal Attempts" would be appropriate, provided that peal arrangers supplied the necessary details.—Yours faithfully,

J. A. AINSWORTH,
Ringing Master,
St. Martin's Guild for the

Note.—Space will be allocated.—Ed.

BELLS OF THE MOSCOW KREMLIN

Dear Sir, — Apropos the article by "C. A. W." ("Ringing World," March 31st, 1967) on the clock and bells in the Saviour Tower of the Moscow Kremlin, according to "Palaces and Churches of the Kremlin" (Progress Publishers, Moscow, 1965), the clockwork which sounds the peal was installed by Christopher Galloway, and on another page he is quoted as joint architect with Bazhen Ogurtsov of the superstructure which crowns the tower, in 1624–25.

The "Pelican" publication, "Russian Art" (Tamara Talbot Rice, 1949, page 91), describes him as an "English architect" and responsible for the erection of the clock.

Apart from the above, I have no further information on Christopher Galloway but as there was considerable commerce between the Moscow Principality and London in the 16th and 17th centuries he may well have gone to Moscow by invitation to supervise the erection of the clock and casting of the bells —in effect a 17th century Lord Grimthorpe, although doing no actual bell founding himself.—Yours faithfully,

W. E. BOX.

Harborne, Birmingham.

SYMONDSON HANDBELLS

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. J. Whitmore's letter concerning the Symondson handbells, I have an octave of theirs which I have overhauled. The late Mr. Ernest Morris told me they were nearly 200 years old.

The inscription on the tenor is:

Symondson
and Son, Founders
N-1- Tottingham
Court Road
London
Penge Union.

"Penge Union" is also on the sound bow. It would be interesting to know about Penge Union.—Yours, faithfully,

W. WAGSTAFF.

Ickwell Green,
Biggleswade, Beds.

P.S.—Tottenham is spelt Tottingham.

Miss Brenda Arnott, of Thame, writes that a friend of hers has a set of handbells with the address inscribed on the tenor: Phillip Symondson, Bell Founder, 30 Clerkenwell Close, London. She asks if there is any connection between Henry and Phillip Symondson.

INTEREST IN PEAL COLUMNS

Dear Sir,—May I take up the point made by the Wrattens in their article "Leading Peal Ringers of 1966" (page 129) that, judging from the number of people who only ring one or two peals a year, the peal reports must be of interest to a large majority of your readers.

The same conclusion can be obtained from the figures they have produced as follows. These show that the 235 ringers who rang 25 or more peals have scored a total of 10,491 individual performances. The average is 44.7 peals each. If we suppose the average band for a peal numbers halfway between 6 and 12, i.e 9 (and ignore the fact that some peals were "in hand"), the 235 ringers make up 235/9=26.1 bands, which at 44.7 peals each could ring a total of 1,167 peals.

So we have shown that in the thousands of peals rung in a year, the leading peal ringers have accounted between them for the space occupied by about a thousand peals in the reports. Therefore, of the total number of peals rung, the great majority are rung by people who score fewer than 25 in a year.

I suggest that this clearly shows that the peal columns are not merely of interest to those who ring large numbers of peals, but to the Exercise in general.—Yours faithfully,

R. J. COOK.

Beddington, Surrey.

SILENCERS

Dear Sir,—Regarding the use of silencers in Barry Couzens' article, we at All Hallows', Twickenham, use wooden bars to hold the clapper central. These are hinged at one end, made to drop over the lip of the bell and then held together at the other end with a simple window sash clamp. This has the advantage when the bell is up that there are no loose pieces (nuts or bolts) to fall inside the bell.

Perhaps a better method still is that invented, I believe, by Geoff Dodds, of St. Albans, of using pieces of old car tyres This enables the muffled striking to be heard.—Yours sincerely,

ANNE HORSFORD.

165 METHODS PEAL RECORDING

Dear Sir,—Mr. James R Taylor has compiled a tape recording lasting 30 minutes with extracts ranging from 14 to 165 methods from our recent peal series. Anyone interested in obtaining a copy should contact him at 15, Greenacre Road, Whitchurch, Bristol 15, to make arrangements. For those with more time to spare, Peter Bridle has three complete peals recorded plus extracts from others.

In reply to Mr. Cribley, may I point out that we have never kept any of our attempts secret and, judging from the ringers who have turned up to listen to some of these attempts, the news has circulated quite well without taking up valuable space in compiling lists of future attempts in "The Ringing World."—Yours faithfully,

ANTHONY R. PEAKE.

MANCROFT GUILD

The annual general meeting of the Guild was held on March 20th and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Ringing Master, Dr. D. Heighton; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. M Cubitt; secretary/treasurer, Mr D. P. Mortlock; steeplekeeper, Mr. C. Bird.

SINGLES IN SURPRISE

Dear Sir,—Mr. T. J. Lock is not quite right when he says that the St Martin's Guild were the first to introduce the single into Surprise; a peal of 5,090 Cambridge Surprise Major was rung on January 18th, 1947, at St. Michael's, Southampton, using a single in the same way as in Surprise Maximus. The composition, by Mr. Brian D Price, keeps the tenors together throughout and is a useful alternative to Middleton's, though no improvement on it.

However, it seems that Mr. Price was not the first to explore the possibilities of using a single in Cambridge Major in this way, for in the report of the Central Council meeting for 1948 Mr. H G. Cashmore disclosed that he had produced two peals, a 5,058 and a 5,090, some 15 years previously. At the time Mr. Cashmore was seeking to produce something which would have been an advance, musically, on Middleton's, but he subsequently realised that all the composition, except the last two rows, would have had to be contained in the orthodox 25 courses, and no improvement would therefore be obtainable with the single in that position. He went on: "Having failed in what I set out to achieve I threw the figures into the fire and I think Mr. Price would have been well advised to have done the same with his, not because he had used a single, but because the peal was no advance on Middleton's."

Happily for us, Mr. Price did not throw his figures in the fire and the peal has been rung a few times since It seems a pity, therefore, that Mr Cashmore's two compositions were not published as the variety of compositions of Cambridge Major with the tenors together is very limited

Whether any improvement on Middleton's is obtainable by using a greater number of singles is an interesting question which perhaps one of your readers could answer.

I append Mr. Price's composition for those who may be interested.—Yours faithfully,

Cove, Hants. ROBERT C. KIPPIN.

RINGERS IN TWO CATEGORIES

Dear Sir,—Whether or not it was his intention, Mr. H. I. F. Muncey's critical comparison of peal ringers against service ringers does give one the impression that, broadly, he supposes all ringers fall into one category or the other. This point of view is not new. It has been brought out in letters to you, sir, on previous occasions.

I have often wondered, with some concern, why attempts are made, from time to time, to divide us in this way. It is certainly true that some of us ring regularly for service and some of us, unfortunately, do not, but it is equally certainly untrue that those who do not are mainly peal ringers.—Yours faithfully,

KENNETH LAWSON.

MR. DOUGLAS BURNETT
(the retiring Master)

THE 1967 annual general meeting of the Truro Diocesan Guild was held at St. Austell on March 4th and was attended by about 70 ringers. The president, Mr. Alan Carveth, opened the meeting by ringing the Guild bell and reading the objects of the Guild. Prayers were led by the Vicar of Kenwyn, the Rev. A. J. Vincent.

The treasurer, Mr. S. J. Robinson, reported balances of £48 in the general fund and £39 in the badge account, and the accounts were formally adopted.

NOT A CHANGE RINGING SOCIETY

In his Ringing Master's report, Mr. Douglas Burnett remarked that the Truro Guild was a Diocesan Guild and not a change ringing society containing rounds ringers, call change ringers and change ringers. Fortunately the Guild was big enough to include these differing types of ringers and to try to unite them in one cause for the Church. It was the responsibility, he maintained, of the Guild officers to hold the interests of these types of ringers and he realised that this was no small job The duties of the Master of the Guild were not laid down and for the benefit of his successor Mr Burnett gave an account of the many varied duties he had been asked to perform, including attending meetings, lecturing, recommending a tower for Christmas broadcasting as well as being expected to have a good knowledge of bellringing, trends in prices of installations, etc., ringing weights and times and being able to ring with all types of ringers. During his 13 years as Master he had worked with one president, one treasurer, one Assistant Ringing Master and three secretaries, all of whom he thanked for the support they had given him over that time. To his successor he wished him well, and to the members of the Guild he trusted they would back up the new man as they had backed him up.

LOSS TO LAUNCESTON

The Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. Wilfred Boucher reported the loss by death of Horace Hicks, who was the Launceston Branch secretary and whose place was being taken by Mr. W. F. Moss One of the highlights of the year in the northern end of the Guild was the peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Mary's, Launceston, in honour of Mr. A. Wroth's 60 years as a ringer.

TRURO GUILD HAS A NEW MASTER

The peal secretary, Miss Marion Lidgey, reported on the 12 peals rung during 1966, of which four were by entirely local bands, and three ringers rang their first peals.

Mr. Boucher gave an account of the Central Council meeting at Bath and, on behalf of the librarian, Mr. Derek Trethewey, the chairman gave a brief account of the workings of the Guild library during its first year as a lending library.

The election of officers followed and Mr. Burnett took the chair to receive nominations for president. Mr. Carveth was elected to a further term of office and, as Mr. Burnett was not seeking re-election due to his imminent departure for a theological college, a new Master had to be elected. After considerable discussion Mr. Wilfred C. Boucher, of Launceston, and Mr. Anthony Locke, of Kea, were elected Master and Assistant Master respectively. The remaining officials were re-elected and Mr. Burnett was elected a vice-president.

A GUILD DINNER

The meeting then discussed the recommendations of a Standing Committee. The Report Sub-Committee was given discretionary power over the recommendation to alter the mode of distribution of the reports but the meeting approved the suggestions to chase up the towers whose subscriptions were not properly paid, and also to hold a Guild Dinner to mark the 70th anniversary of the Guild's formation, this to be held at the Red Lion Hotel, Truro, on October 14th, and Mr. Harry Miles suggested a service be held during the afternoon.

It was decided to hold the Summer Festival at Stratton on July 8th (if convenient) and the 1968 annual general meeting at Launceston on March 2nd.

Under the generous heading of any other business, several matters were dealt with. Silent tribute was paid to the members who had died since the last meeting—Canon F. Boreham, H. Hicks and P. Spargo. The elections during 1966 of the following non-resident life members were confirmed: J. H Taylor, J. P. Coad. P. J. Daniel, J. C. Mitchelmore and R. H. Jones. A letter from Mr G. W. Pipe of "The Ringing World" Committee asking for front page photograph material for "The Ringing World" was read to the meeting, and the chairman urged members to comply.

Mr. Burnett was presented with a brief case and a book token by the president on behalf of the Guild, and appreciation of his work for the Guild and well-wishing for his future were expressed by the chairman and Mr. H. Lander, who for many years had worked closely with him in the Mid-Cornwall Branch.

The meeting was then closed and followed by tea, for which the St. Austell people were thanked by Mr. Locke, after which the bells of St. Austell, St. Mewan, Luxulyan, St. Stephen in Brannel and St. Dennis were put to good use. A. J. D.

FOR THE BEGINNER

"KNOW YOUR PLAIN BOB MINOR"

By N. CHADDOCK

Answer these questions on a separate sheet of paper, then check your total score.

1. Write down the sequence of the dodges as they occur after 2nds place over treble has been made.
2. Write down which of the following is correct: "In Plain Bob, treble is met one place sooner after each dodge." "In Plain Bob treble is met one place later after each dodge."
3. In what place when hunting down is treble met (or struck over) after the following dodges. Say also at what stroke you strike this blow over the treble: (a) 3–4 down, (b) 3–4 up, (c) 5–6 down, (d) 5–6 up.
4. What dodge do you do after striking over treble (when hunting up) in the following places: (a) 6ths, (b) 3rds, (c) 5ths, (d) 4ths,
5. How many changes in (a) one "treble lead" of Bob Minor? (b) How many leads in a plain course? (c) How many changes in a plain course?
6. When treble leads at backstroke what are all the bells (except one) doing?
7. What is the sequence in which the bells come to lead in Bob Minor? (a) disregard treble. (b) What is the sequence called?
8. Write out a course of Plain Bob Minor, one bell at a time.
9. (a) What dodge puts you into 4ths place at treble's backstroke lead, (b) into 3rds place, (c) into 6ths place, (d) into 5ths place?
10. (a) What will be the first dodge of No. 6 bell in a plain course, (b) of No. 2 bell, (c) of No. 4 bell, (d) of No. 5 bell, (e) of No. 3 bell?
11. What do we mean by course bell? Is it (a) the treble, (b) the bell that takes us off lead, (c) the bell over which you strike your first blow in 6ths? Where else do you strike over her?
12. In a plain course, which bell is No. 2's course bell?
13. Which bell courses after No. 6?
14. If, for one lead, you course the treble, what dodge do you do in that lead?
15. When starting the course of Bob Minor, which three bells start by hunting up and which 3 by hunting down?
16. Can the following two change rows be consecutive ones in Bob Minor:

    1 3 2 6 5 4

    If not, why not?
17. When hunting up or down, what must you always do all the time, in addition to looking and listening?
18. If we call the time interval between the two consecutive bells in one change row a "beat," (a) How many beats between your own bell striking in 2nds and then in 3rds, when hunting up at handstroke with open leads, (b) at backstroke, (c) when hunting down at handstroke, (d) when hunting down at backstroke?
19. Write out a course of Bob Minor by the places you strike in, thus: 1, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, (6), 6, 5, 4, 3, [4] (3), 2, 1, 1, 2, 3, 4, etc., to the end.
20. Now ring those blows which are over treble, and box in those which are dodges, as shown.
21. Which blows are quick ones, hunting up or hunting down?
22. Another name for hunting up is hunting . . . .
23. Another name for hunting down is hunting . . . .
24. If we make a 2nd consecutive blow in the same place we are said to be . . . . that place.
25. To lead means to strike in . . . . place.
26. To lie means to strike another blow in . . . . place.
27. If we are on the front we are near to . . . . place.
28. If we are on the back we are near to . . . . place.
29. When hunting up we should only look at the bells . . . . us.
30. When hunting down we should only look at the bells . . . . us.
31. When hunting up we must follow the bell (rope) that followed us on the . . . . . .
32. One way in which we can hunt back to lead is to follow the bells in the . . . . . as when we hunted up.
33. When hunting up we follow each of the other bells . . . and . . . only.
34. When hunting down we follow each of the other bells . . and . . only.
35. Only three bells are affected by a bob. They are:
    (a) The one which should . . . . but does . . . . instead.
    (b) The one which should . . . . but does . . . instead.
    (c) The one which should . . . but does . . . . instead.
    The lead after (a) does . . . . . .
    The lead after (b) does . . . . . .
    The lead after (c) does . . . . . .
    unless another bob is called next lead.
36. (a) At a single, the bell which should make 2nds . . . .
    (b) At a single, the bell which should dodge 3–4 down . . . . and does . . . . next lead.
    (c) At a single the bell which should dodge 3–4 up . . . . instead and does . . . . next lead.
37. A bell which makes 4ths at a bob or single always . . . . next lead.
38. If you have made 3rds at a single, what will you do next lead if a bob is called?
39. When making 4ths at a single, what is the bell over which you strike these two blows in 4ths doing?
40. If you make 3rds at a single, are these two blows over the same bell or a different one? At what strokes are these two blows in 3rds—hand and back, or back and hand?

LONDON COUNTY ASSN. DINNER

THE London County Association dinner, held at the Chatham Rooms, Victoria, and presided over by the Master, Mr. H. W. Rogers, on February 25th, proved to be an extremely successful function. In welcoming all members and friends, the Master referred to various groups and individuals.

Firstly, all those young people who had entered the Exercise since the war. Secondly, all those "young" pre-war stalwarts who were present and who, with others of similar calibre, had been the backbone of the Association for so many years. The bright future of the Association lay in the hands of these two groups: the first to provide enthusiasm and new ideas, and the second to provide the mature and tolerant influences so necessary to the success of the products of youthful enthusiasm. They did not necessarily want "the mixture as before" for 1967, but the best of the old spliced to the new ideals. With them that evening were two recent Past Masters of the Ancient Society and, as was expected, three Past Masters of the L.C.A.

After making suitable references to achieving a genuine 1967 interpretation of the objects of the Association generally as outlined in the recent "R.W." report of the Association's annual meeting, the Master talked of the need for the influence of the Association to extend to all quarters of its territory and to do all possible, in harmony with the overlapping Associations, to strengthen the weaker towers. In this connection he was very pleased to have Dennis Hewitt as his Deputy Master and he felt quite certain that he would make sure that no aspect of East London was overlooked.

After doing their work well, the members were entitled to their fun, and since the fun of peal ringing had a direct plus of improving the standard of participants for Sunday service and other general ringing, he hoped that a good number of peals would be rung during the year. Both himself and the Deputy Master would like to hear from ringers who would like to take part in these.

A West London singing group, led by Ian Cooper, entertained and, judging by the applause was greatly appreciated. Other activities were a guitar recital by Tony Caldwell and handbell ringing by members.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

Long Ashton was chosen for the quarterly meeting of the Chew Branch on March 18th, and various methods were rung before the well struck touch of Stedman Triples which preceded the service.

The Vicar the Rev. I. F. Westmacott, welcomed those present, after which the company adjourned to a nearby church hall, where an excellent tea was enjoyed, prepared and served by ladies from the local band.

The chair was taken by Mr. H. W. Knight, who expressed regret at the illness of Mr. D. Yeo, the Branch secretary, and invited Mr. J. H. Gilbert to deputise for him. Mr. Horseman gave details of the striking competition to be held at Clapton-in-Gordano in May, to be judged by Mr. W. B. Kynaston.

A welcome visitor was Mr. F. C. Mogford, of Pensford now making steady progress after his bad accident. Despite his two sticks, Cecil climbed the belfry stairs and took part in several touches.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Service touches and quarter peals rung at Lympne, Kent, during 1966 totalled 62,279 changes.

The quarter at Lyng, Somerset, on March 30th, is believed by the conductor to be the first on the bells.

Mr. W. H. Raxter, of Droitwich, completed his 100 peals with the peal at Hallow, Worcs (page 268). Congratulations!

The ringer of the tenor in the three-method peal of Doubles at Benhall, Suffolk, on January 23rd, 1967, was Harry Archer, and not Harry Draper, as submitted.

The peal at Christ Church, Oxford, on Saturday, March 11th, was rung as a farewell compliment to Henry and Elizabeth Rossell, who were leaving for Australia on April 5th.

The tower captain at Saxmundham, Mr. H. Archer, thanks the company at his tower who rang the bells for his daughter's wedding on Saturday, March 25th.

The peal of Minor at Potterspury, Northants, on page 224, has been erroneously credited to the Oxford Diocesan Guild; it should read the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Arthur G Mason rang in a peal of Stedman Cinques at Winchester Cathedral in honour of his 75th birthday. Happy birthday. There are still oysters in the month!

Mr. W. Shepherd, of Addlestone, has returned home from hospital and is assured by his doctor that if he goes very steadily there is every prospect of a return to normal health in the near future.

The peal in five Minor methods rung at Hinton Waldrist on March 4th was rung for the Oxford University Society, and not the Oxford Diocesan Guild as printed in "The Ringing World" of March 31st.

Mrs. Deborah Bishop calls attention to a slip by the sender of the quarter peal at Owslebury, Hants (page 218), calling her by her maiden name. She has been Deborah Bishop for the past six months.

His many friends in and around Leicester will be pleased to know that Mr. H. L. (Les) Wykes is making a satisfactory recovery from an appendix operation, after being rushed to the General Hospital early on Easter Sunday morning.

APPRENTICES TO THE RESCUE

The tenor bell in St. John the Baptist Church, Boddington, near Daventry, has been repaired and now runs smoothly, thanks to the good services of three apprentices at the British Timken works, Duston, Daventry.

An inspection of the bells revealed that the bearings of the 14 cwt. tenor were so badly worn that the bell had become almost immovable. In addition, the headstock and stay were infested with woodworm. An estimate for repairs was too costly for church funds.

The three apprentices undertook the repair in their normal training schedule. The bells were removed to the apprentices' workshop. Peter J Gardner, a 20-year-old technician apprentice, with the full co-operation and approval of the technical dept., designed a new Timken bearing-equipped housing to replace the older bronze type.

The actual machinery and assembly of the housing was the work of Trevor Tulley, another 20-year-old apprentice, and Barry Bearman, a carpenter apprentice, shaped a new heavy oak headstock. The rehanging was done by the three apprentices.

Boddington has six bells but only five are used for change ringing.

MR. C. F. WILLMINGTON IN HOSPITAL

For many months members of the Essex Association and Police Guild have watched the increasing immobility of Charlie Willmington, never ceasing to wonder at his courage, perseverance, and, above all, his cheerfulness —the inevitable reply to the question as to the state of his health always being "Not too bad"

Charlie is at present in Dressmakers Ward of the Middlesex Hospital, where last week the operation on one of his hips was performed. The information at the time of writing is that he is as well as can be expected and that recovery is following its natural course.

It is the sincere wish of everybody, Charlie, that this operation will be a complete success and that very soon you will be taking a rope for a service quarter—standing up. You tell 'm Charlie. Good luck. H. V. G.

NOW IN NORWICH

The best wishes of the local band and indeed of the Essex Association are extended to Andrew Salisbury as he leaves Hornchurch to take up an appointment on the mathematical staff of the Training College for Teachers at Norwich.

Andrew was taught to handle a bell by Fred Freestone way back in 1948 and, apart from the years in National Service, has been a loyal and regular member of the local band since—in fact, part of the local scene.

If we might be forgiven the cliché, the loss to Hornchurch is indeed the gain of Norwich, for with his ringing he has combined a high degree of churchmanship. Good luck, Andrew.

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPTS

April 15. St. Peter's, Nottingham, 5 p.m. Surprise Maximus by St. Martin's Guild.

CUPID AT BRISTOL

The report of the University of Bristol's dinner on January 21st is to hand this week A capacity attendance of 200 was present in the Senior Common Room. Our correspondent writes: "The meal proceeded smoothly and during it the Master and the secretary rose to take wine with their predecessors in office."

They were followed by Cupid, that unique Society figure, resplendent in new wings and brandishing aloft his ceremonial bow and arrow who, after similarly taking wine, announced that he had to resign from his post. The presence of a certain young lady at the dinner had made it obvious to all and sundry that he no longer fulfilled one of the most important requirements of the tenure of the office, that of impartiality towards the charms of the female of the species. Cupid reported that he had had a negative success rate during his term of office, for in the two matches which he had initiated the cankerous worm had gnawed the young bloom of love, causing it to wither prematurely, and he reluctantly had to admit defeat.

Judging from the records of former Cupids this state of affairs must be almost unprecedented. Cupid IX nominated Mr. John Parsons as his successor, and wished that he might be more lucky in his efforts, and also avoid his own darts, which are known in the Society to have a distinct tendency to backfire! Mr. Parsons, reluctantly accepting the office, said he hoped that he would succeed in his task, and that he would not give Mr. Zobel as much trouble in this field as he had in another!

The Master, Nicholas Simon, told us that again the Society had gone from strength to strength. Only one member had left at the end of the last session and it was anticipated that he would be seen frequently in Bristol, as he retained a great interest in one member of the Society at least!

This year there was a very strong and loyal third year, and it was hoped that progress would be maintained when these people left, as numbers would be greatly depleted then. The Society had rung more peals than ever before recorded during the last academic year, including one of the record number of Minor methods for the Society. The bells of St. Michael's had been rung regularly for Sunday services during the last year, but had been out of action for most of the first term of this year as the tower had been under repair It was now restored. Practices were held regularly at Christ Church, and more recently had been held at St. Stephen's on the first Friday in each month. There had been two outings each term in different areas around Bristol, which had been most successful.

WOOTTON WAWEN DINNER

The annual Wootton Wawen bellringers' dinner was held at Stratford-on-Avon on March 11th, when 40 ringers and friends sat down to roast beef and horseradish sauce.

Wootton Wawen tower captain, Dr. A. Collings, expressed the delight of the company that Peter S. Bennett and Marion Panton were to be married at Chelmsford Cathedral on April 1st. On behalf of the ringers from Wootton Wawen, Stratford-on-Avon and Henley-in-Arden he presented Peter Bennett with a clock and wished him and Marion every happiness and good fortune in their new life.

KEEPING THE EXERCISE ALIVE

Mr. W. B. Cartwright, as Master of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, comments on our journal in his notes attached to the 82nd annual report of the Association. He writes:

"I know there are quite a number of our members who do not take the paper and it is to them chiefly that I am writing. Whatever may be your reason for not taking 'The Ringing World' one must admit that if the Exercise is to be kept alive it needs some means of communication, some means whereby one tower knows what the other towers in different parts of the country are doing, and the only means of such communication is 'The Ringing World.'

"Where should we be if one morning we woke up and found we had no newspapers or wireless? We might not agree with all the paper contains, but we still buy it and read the stuff with which we don't agree, thereby ensuring its circulation, so let those who do not buy the paper make a belated New Year resolution to start at once. Only continued and increased support for 'The Ringing World' will ensure the success of the paper. Borrowing another chap's copy is not quite fair, is it?"

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND WEST NOTTS ASSOCIATION

RINGERS from 18 towers attended the annual meeting on Easter Monday at Clay Cross. The very fine-toned six bells were put to good use in the afternoon. The usual ringers' service was held in church.

Some 46 ringers and friends attended tea and the business meeting, at which all officers were re-elected with the exception of the Central Council representative. It was unanimously decided that the present secretary (Mr. E. J. Sterland) should take up this post.

Swanwick ringers were presented with the Jubilee Shield, being the most progressive tower during the past year.

Ten new members were welcomed into the Association. Further ringing took place after the meeting until 9 p.m., with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. J. W. Price, a ringer at this church, and past president and secretary of the Association, who had recently passed away. Also to the late Mr. Thomas Clarke, Past Ringing Master. The attendance at this was even better than at the afternoon session, many members being present from outlying districts at a very enjoyable meeting.

Next meeting: Heanor, April 15th. E. J. S.

TWO WEDDINGS AND A FUNERAL ON THE SAME AFTERNOON

Wentworth, Yorkshire, ringers had the unusual experience of ringing for two weddings and a funeral on the same afternoon. Ringing for the second wedding concluded at 2.50 p.m. and by 3.05 the bells were being raised half-muffled. The bridal party had not left the church grounds before the solemn, half-muffled ringing was heard for the funeral service of the 90-year-old Dowager Countess Fitzwilliam, who in her lifetime had been hostess to King George V at Wentworth Woodhouse.

AU REVOIR AT CHRISTCHURCH

The quarter peal rung at Christchurch Priory on March 9th was "au revoir" to Alan Price and Dick Prime. Alan's bank promotion has taken him to the St Helier, C.I., Branch of the Midland Bank, and Dick has a new R.A.F. posting from Sopley to a station in Middlesex.

SOCIETY OF RAMBLING RINGERS
1967 TOUR

This will take place in S.E. England from July 22nd to August 6th.

The tour will be planned to fit wherever possible with the youth hostels.

The tour is arranged at the pace of a cyclist, but this should not deter people in mechanised transport from taking part.

May I warn all past and present members and those wishing to join that this may well be the last tour unless better support is forthcoming.

Those wishing to join should write at once; the tour has to be planned and cannot be until actual numbers taking part are known.

In the past we have been a very strong and able touring society. This must not die! I ask those who have been on tour to think again and to join this year's tour. It is also very important that the actual time that members can be on tour is known.

The subscription of 5s. is now due. Those wishing to join, and I hope there are many, please contact: R. Kingsley Mason, Hon. Sec., 446, Welford Road, Knighton, Leicester. 1306

WOULD any ringers who work for Barclays Bank please let me know (must be in the London area). Send, via H.O. letter bag, to Miss Spiller, Economic Intelligence Department, Head Office, stating name, branch, and what you ring, etc. 1352

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2922 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1967 9d.

OUR MOST DISTANT BELLS

FOR 85 years the bells of Christchurch Cathedral, New Zealand, have rung out Sunday by Sunday giving their message; and the story of the bells is vividly told in "Bobs and Singles," a history of the Christchurch Cathedral Society, written by Patricia Ward, the wife of one of the ringers and a former Master of the Society.

The donor of these bells was Mr. R. H. Rhodes, and his desire was to have eight bells of the same weight as the recently hung ring in St. Paul's Cathedral. Mr. A. Troyte, regarded then as the leading authority, suggested a ring of ten instead of a heavy eight, and to this the Cathedral authorities agreed, but when the sanction arrived Messrs. John Taylor and Co. had already made the moulds for the eight. The two trebles were added as the gift of Mr. E. P. W. Miles. Before leaving England the bells were inspected by Dr. Stainer, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral, and Mr. Troyte and pronounced to be a magnificent ring.

> Through all the ROADS of life, the best
> We'll strive to be your guide;
> And let our notes do your behest
> By tolling far and wide.
> We've crossed the seas to this fair land,
> To do God all the honour;
> From clime to clime we'll ring our chime,
> And tell of Rhodes the donor.

Not to be outdone the story is continued by the following verse on the trebles:

> We, two little bells to complete the chime
> Were nearly left out too late.
> When MILES to the rescue, but just in time,
> Added us on to the eight.

The Society of Christchurch Cathedral Bell Ringers was formed on November 19th, 1880, with Mr. T. B. Hall, an experienced English ringer and a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, as the first Master. Practices were held on the light bells of St. Paul's, Papanui, which had been installed that year. The blessing of the Cathedral bells took place nearly 12 months later, on October 31st, when some 150 people crowded into the ringing chamber having mounted the spiral staircase. The ceremony was performed by the Bishop of Christchurch and Primate of New Zealand (Bishop H. J. C. Harper).

The service of consecration of the Cathedral took place the following day, the architect being Sir George Gilbert Scott. The Mayor declared the day a public holiday, and the bells were rung at intervals from 6.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m. The first evidence of change ringing recorded was 120 changes of Grandsire Doubles on August 27th, 1882, and in June of the following year came the first 720 of Grandsire Doubles and on December 16th 1,200 Grandsire Doubles.

In May, 1890, it was reported to the Cathedral Chapter that the ninth bell, used for daily services, was cracked. The architect suggested that further damage might be stopped by having a hole drilled in the metal above and below the crack, then cutting it off from the uninjured metal. The crack was through "clocking." This bell was sent home to be recast and the eighth with it to test the pitch, tuning forks being unknown in those days. The work was most satisfactory and the ninth became the best-toned bell in the ring.

The Society went ahead during the Boer War and scored its first peal—Grandsire Doubles. The arrival in Christchurch of T. W. Biddle from Ballaraat influenced ringing considerably. He was self-taught through reading Jasper Snowdon's books. A personality in the tower was W. Jones, who for 30 years rang the tenor. At the word "go" he would turn his face to the wall and maintain a steady pull. A peal of Bob Triples was scored on the light eight in January, 1903, to be followed later in the year by a peal of Grandsire Triples. That year was notable for its ringing activities, in all 43,000 changes being rung—Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Bob Minor, Triples, Major, and Caters. Stedman Triples was not introduced until 1908.

The arrival from Birmingham of G. H. Clayton in 1911 had a big influence on the Society and in his reminiscences later in life he comments that he was amazed at the all-round competence of the men, who could all ring Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman. On various occasions Mr. Clayton was Master, and it was a pleasure for Mr. T. J. Lock and the Editor to meet him in 1965. For many years he seems to have been the mainstay of the Society.

"The Great Adventure" party to visit New Zealand in 1934 consisted of Messrs. W. H. Fussell (Slough), G. Martin, J. Hardcastle (Bradford), R. Maude (Pudsey) and W. Linter (Fareham). The week spent at Christchurch was marked by extensive ringing practices and hospitable entertainment. Two attempts were made for a peal of Bob Major. The first was lost after 70 minutes due to a rope jumping on the fifth, and the second when in sight of home two bells changed course after ringing for three hours and 13 minutes. The band consisted of G. Nelson Sloan 1, S. H. Barnett 2, W. Linter 3, J. S. Wilde 4, C. Charge 5, W. H. Fussell 6, B. Shaw 7, G. Martin 8.

And G. Nelson Sloan was still ringing with enthusiasm when Great Adventure II went to Christchurch in 1965. But Nelson during the interval had travelled far; he had toured England visiting 55 towers and had been elected a member of the College Youths. During the Second World War he kept the Society together, and it is an indication of patriotism that, out of an active membership of 12, nine served with the Forces and all returned home safely.

Worcestershire and Districts Association

THE annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association commenced as usual on Easter Monday with ringing on the ten bells of All Saints', Worcester, followed by the annual service. In the absence of the Association's chaplain, the service was conducted by the Rector of All Saints' the Rev J. G. Barnish, M.A., who used the Association's form of service. During the course of the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by M J. Fellows 1–2, J. C. Eisel 3–4. J. D. Johnson 5–6, and D. Beacham 7–8.

Following the service, members transferred to the Cathedral Chapter House for the annual general meeting, the Association's president, the Dean of Worcester (the Very Rev. R. L. P. Milburn, M.A.) being in the chair.

This year it had proved possible to send the annual report to members in advance, thus giving them a chance to read the officers' reports and accounts beforehand. This, however, did not prompt any members into asking questions when the reports came up for discussion. In his report of the recent Central Committee meeting, the general secretary, Mr. D. Beacham, mentioned that a grant of £50 had been promised to St. Thomas's, Stourbridge, bell restoration scheme and that arrangements for a one-day ringing course were being considered.

POSTAL VOTES REJECTED

Before proceeding to the election of officers, the president stated that some postal votes had been handed to the general secretary immediately prior to the meeting. The president said that as the rules of the Association did not say this method of voting was permitted, then, in his opinion they could not be taken into account. This ruling was contested but accepted by a majority after a show of hands.

This year there were again two candidates for the office of Association Master, namely Mr. W. B. Cartwright and Mr. M. D. Fellows. Following election speeches and voting by show of hands (a proposition for a secret ballot having been rejected), Mr. W. B. Cartwright was re-elected by 43 to seven votes.

The remaining officers were all returned unopposed, viz.: General secretary, Mr. D. Beacham; treasurer, Mr. G. Westwood; peal secretary, Mr. G. Bowen; chaplain, the Rev. H. L. Davies; librarian, Mr. C. W. Cooper. The auditors, Messrs. R. W. R. Sheppard and A. D. Cook, were also re-elected. Mr. A. J. Brazier was elected as the Association's fourth representative on the Central Council.

The remainder of the business concerned two motions to alter the rules. The first was to correct an omission when the rules were revised last year by making it clear that only paid-up ringing members were entitled to vote at meetings and this was passed nem con. The second sought to limit the duration of the Master's term of office to three years and also make him ineligible to stand again until a further three years had elapsed. This motion, however, was rejected by a large majority.

The remainder of the day was spent ringing at Stoulton. Pershore, Strensham, Earls Croome and the Cathedral. At Pershore, owing to the restricted access to the "bird cage" ringing chamber, a one-way system had been devised following our experiences the last time this tower was available. Unfortunately this did nothing to prevent a broken stay and a broken rope!

PEAL SECRETARY'S REPORT

The peal secretary reported that 62 peals were rung by 155 members in 31 towers; of the peal ringing members 77 were resident and 78 non-resident. Six members rang their first peal and there were three new conductors.

Peals worthy of note were the non-conducted peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Brierley Hill; the peal of Grandsire Triples at Clent, in which the librarian and the new "freeman," Mr. C W. Cooper, rang at the age of 80; and, at the other end of the scale, the peal of Bob Minor at Stoulton, which Andrew Jopp (aged 13) conducted, with his brother Paul (aged eight) ringing the second.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Marlborough Branch Meeting

There was an excellent attendance at the Collingbournes on March 18th, when the Marlborough branch met at St. Andrew's, Collingbourne Ducis, or its monthly meeting. Members were particularly pleased and honoured by the presence of the Master of the Guild (Rev. R. N. Longridge) and visitors were also welcomed from East Ilsley, Hagbourne, Portsmouth, Wroughton, Purton, Stratton St. Margaret and Cossingham (Som.).

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. G. F. Kidd). The Lesson was read by the Master, and Mr. Colin Ward was the organist. Tea, in the nearby schoolroom, was much enjoyed, the company of over 30 being the guests of the local ringers. It was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. R. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. R. Barlow, and in appreciation of the hospitality a collection was taken for church funds.

At the business meeting Mr. T. A. Palmer (hon. secretary) presented the balance sheet for 1966, which showed a credit balance of £8 2s. 9d., an increase of some £2 on the year's working. Details of the last Guild committee meeting were given by the Rev. Roger Keeley and it was decided to organise a strong contingent to attend the Guild Festival, at Melksham.

Mr. Fred Read (vice-chairman and ringing master), who presided, thanked all who had contributed to a most enjoyable meeting, and extended a warm welcome to the Master and visitors. The Master suitably replied.

April meeting, Shalbourne with Great Bedwyn (provisional); May, Pewsey. Ringing was then resumed on the heavier six at Collingbourne Kingston.

Among those who have served Christchurch well is Albert J. Lancefield. His keenness for peal ringing brought results during his two years with the Society and a life membership was conferred on him. The good work of Mr. Lancefield was carried on by Mr. R. H. Idle, who was elected Master in May, 1960, and is still in office. Three days before the Great Adventure II party the first peal on the heavy eight (Grandsire Triples) was rung. Taking part were J. Dunn 1, Miss L. Stevens 2, G. N. Sloan 3, J. Gardner 4, N. F. Reeve 5, R. G. T. Bennett 6, R. H. Idle (cond.) 7, C. H. Ward 8.

The Master was invited by Mr. T. J. Lock to stand in the peal of Plain Bob Royal on the Cathedral bells by Great Adventure II party, which was successful. The band consisted of Cecil W. Pipe 1, Shirley Burton 2, Arthur G. Mason 3. Rev. M. C. C. Melville 4, Raymond H. Idle 5. Leonard Stilwell 6, W. Mark Damerell 7, Thomas J. Lock 8. A Patrick Cannon (cond.) 9, Wilfred Williams 10. This was the first time the 32 cwt. tenor had been turned in for a peal.

With such a tradition behind them we feel certain that Christchurch Society will continue to be one of the big centres of change ringing in the Southern Hemisphere. We can recommend "Bobs and Singles" for a place on a discerning ringer's bookshelf. The price is 7s. 6d. post free from G. Nelson Sloan, 9, Hanson's Lane, Upper Riccarton, Christchurch 4, New Zealand.

WILLINGHAM-BY-STOW, LINCS.—On April 2nd, 1,320 Plain Bob Doubles: Irene Bramford 1, Janet Hudson 2, J. F. Underwood 3, B. J. Bull 4, M. A. Rose (cond.) 5.

Llandaff and Monmouth Association

THE 74th annual general meeting was held at Llandaff on Easter Monday and was attended by about 100 members and visitors During the afternoon the bells of St. John's, Cardiff, Whitchurch and Llandaff Cathedral were put to good use.

The service was held in the Cathedral, conducted by the Dean, and the organ was very well played by a visiting organist, Mr. Graham Elliott, of Abergavenny. The Dean, in his address, said people who offered their services as ringers found themselves tied to commitments for both regular practice and Sunday service ringing and this called for a high measure of faithfulness to their local bands as the completeness of any band was so dependent on each and every member being present when required Any such person must be dedicated to his Church and should make every effort to take his or her place in the congregation at least once each Sunday.

Tea was served by the Cathedral ringers in the adjacent Prebendal Hall and Mr. D. J. King thanked them for the excellent tea.

BUSINESS MEETING

At the bu iness meeting the chair was taken by the Dean supported by the Master, Mr L. Jones. The meeting stood in silent tribute to members who had passed away during the year; these included the Dean of Brecon and A. J. Pitman (both vice-presidents), H. Cassells, of Llanbradach, and Mrs. R. Alsop, of Ebbw Vale.

The hon. secretary, M. J. Pryor, in his report, paid tribute to the work of the late A. J. Pitman and Joe Lovett to the Association Once again a member had received recognition from another Society, in that Nicholas W. H. Simon had been elected Master of the Bristol University Society. It was pleasing to note that Tudor P. Edwards had now returned to work in the area and his presence would be a great asset. Geoffrey J. B. Stickland, a Llandaff ringer, was ordained in September and was now curate at Sandfields, Port Talbot. They wished him well in his new calling.

The new badges were proving very popular and a large number had been purchased. The badge had been designed by Miss Sheila Salkeld, of Chepstow. The Monmouth Branch held a very successful film evening in January, when the Washington Film was shown to an audience of nearly a hundred. A grant of £20 was made to Bedwellty for work on their bells and the ringers there were congratulated on their efforts to raise funds.

The membership at the end of the year was 348: this shows a slight decrease of 15 since the publication of the last full list of members two years ago.

HIGHER STANDARD

The standard of ringing in the area continues to rise and the list of peals rung indicates the very wide range of methods now being rung. Particular mention was made of good progress at Coity and Lower Machen. Porthkerry and Whitchurch; an all-local band at the last-named tower rang a peal to welcome their new Vicar.

Several ringers passed personal milestones with their peal ringing, but pride of place this year must go to A. William Gibbons, of Bridgend, who rang his first peal at the age of 73 In conclusion the secretary thanked those who had assisted with the production of the report at so little cost, particularly Mr. Iolo Davies and his helpers from Cowbridge Grammar School, who duplicated and stapled some 8,000 copies.

The hon. treasurer's (the Rev. I. J. Richards) report showed a healthy state of affairs due to the fact that none of the Association's officers claimed any expenses for their work either in the area or at Central Council meetings.

The hon. librarian, Mr. L Bainham, reported that the library at Newport was now well established and housed some 30 books as well as bound copies of "The Ringing World" from 1910 until 1916, and arrangements have been made with "The Ringing World" to supply a bound copy at the end of each year. Mr. F. J. Hannington had presented a fine collection of books to the library.

All the reports were adopted and thanks given to the officers concerned.

NEW MASTER

Mr. Iolo Davies, of Cowbridge, was elected Master for the year and installed in office by the retiring Master, Mr. L. Jones. The remaining officers were re-elected to their various posts.

Mr. D. J. Lewis, of Cadoxton, was elected an honorary life member. He started ringing before the turn of the century and in addition to giving loyal service had a son and grandson whose names appear frequently in the peal columns.

A motion to hold the annual general meeting on the Saturday following Easter Day was carried. The next will be held at All Saints', Newport. The 75th anniversary of the Society next year is to be marked by a dinner and social evening on October 12th, 1968.

An appeal to return "The Ringing World" questionnaire was made by the hon. secretary. A show of hands indicated that 40 of the 100 present took "The Ringing World" regularly. The rest were strongly urged to follow their example.

MR. ROBERT BELL

Mr. Robert Bell, of Sunderland, who died in hospital on March 23rd, after a short illness, at the age of 61, had been a member of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association since 1927. He started to ring at St. Michael's, Bishopwearmouth, Sunderland, in 1925, and had been the tower secretary for many years. It is largely due to his efforts that there is still a change ringing tower in Sunderland He was regular in attendance at meetings and had been chairman of the Eastern District since 1962. A retiring manner tended to obscure his competence as a ringer, but all who met him knew how helpful he could be. He took part in 26 peals for the Durham and Newcastle Association.

At the funeral service at Bishopwearmouth on March 28th prior to cremation the Rector (the Rev D. N. Goldie) paid tribute to Bob's good work in the belfry. The bells he loved so well were rung half-muffled at the service and also to a quarter peal to his memory on March 30th. The Association was represented by the Ringing Master, Mr K. Arthur.

Bob will be missed by the Association in general but by Bishopwearmouth in particular He leaves a widow and two daughters, to whom our sympathy is expressed. R. C.

ELSTOW, BEDS.—On Good Friday, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: A. D. Norman 1, Miss S. Y. Fowkes 2, Miss M. F. Pettitt 3, S R. Huckle 4, R. F. Law 5, M. J. Marriott (cond.) 6. Rung half-muffled for morning service.

TRIBUTES TO THE LATE Mr. T. G. MYERS

From A. L. Bennett.

By the death of Mr. Tom Myers during the Easter week-end after a trying illness, the South West of England has lost one of its most outstanding ringers, and he leaves a wide gap which will not be easy to fill.

As a ringer, whether on a light or a heavy bell, his handling was really superb, and he was equally superb as a conductor, not forgetting the fact that he always expected a very high standard of striking.

His peals, it is believed, numbered 243 and they were rung in many parts of the country and on all numbers of bells. I am subject to correction, but he had completed the circuits in at least four methods, viz., Plain Bob, Stedman, Kent T B and Cambridge Surprise. In addition to ringing peals at Buckfast Abbey, the most westerly 12 in the country, he had also rung a peal on the most northerly 12, at Newcastle on Tyne.

Another of his peal ringing experiences was taking part in the first resident peals of Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Oxford Treble Bob Major, and his passing now leaves me the only survivor of that band.

At the time of his death he was captain at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, and he had served the Guild of Devonshire Ringers truly and faithfully, having been the South West Branch secretary for 19 years and during the past 12 months its chairman. He had also been a Central Council representative since 1949, and it was only in recent times that he was elected a vice-president of the Guild.

Tom is no longer with us, but his memory will always remain with those of us who knew him so well, and I think it would be quite fitting if some form of memorial could be erected in the church he served so faithfully and so well.

From N.W. Branch, Devon Guild.

"We have lost with the death of Mr. T. G. Myers a great ringer who rarely missed a meeting in our Branch and who also visited us on other occasions. He was of a cheerful nature and a great deal of change ringing was learned from him

"In association with the Sangwin brothers between 1930 and 1939 he conducted 22 peals in succession without losing one—a remarkable achievement. Most of the peals were rung at Bridgerule tower the fine bells being his favourite eight in the district.

MR. GEORGE CLARKE

With the passing on March 30th, at the age of 81, of Mr George Clarke, of Clanfield, the Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild has lost its oldest member. He leaves two sons. Until last year he was foreman at the tower, in which he had been ringing for 62 years.

The funeral service was at Clanfield on April 4th and was attended by Branch members and representatives from Faringdon. The Vicar (the Rev. R. J. Siderfin), who conducted the service, spoke well of Mr. Clarke's ringing activities and of the innumerable people he had taught His first peal was rung in 1905, and the first peal by an all-local band in 1907. The Vicar concluded his remarks with "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Later that evening a quarter peal was rung with the bells half-muffled by Alec Cantwell 1, D. Floyd 2, L. Oliffe 3, T. Hester 4, J. List 5, J. Coggins (conductor) 6, D. Smith 7, A. Hicks 8.

Letters to the Editor

WHY SOME METHODS ARE RUBBISH

Dear Sir—Would it be of any advantage if some person of knowledge were to write an article or series showing just why some methods are rubbish? Why places in 7, 8 are so shocking, etc., and what constitutes something worth ringing and why?

If one "invents" a method in these days it is almost certain to have been already invented or is classified as rubbish or both, yet it is fairly easy to produce something short and much more musical than standard methods but which cannot go to an extent. Are they necessarily rubbish because they are not pealable? To the ignorant one would imagine that musical quality was the criterion, and long-drawn out dodging would be boring. Yet Double Oxford is a standard. Never having heard it rung, I do not know as to its music, but it looks deadly dull!

As to peals, I am not a peal ringer, five in 85 years, I think, but I take off my hat to those who are. In my experience they are always extremely helpful to the ignorant, both in tower and correspondence and we would be much poorer without them. Many a country tower only realises what first-class ringing can be when visited by a peal band. Long may peal tours be with us.

WESTCOUNTRYMAN.

IMBER BELLS GOING TO EDINGTON PRIORY

Dear Sir,—Further to my letter on page 148 regarding the disposal of the Imber bells, it was finally decided at the P.C.C. meeting at St. Francis Church, Salisbury, to give the five bells to Edington Priory, which is to become a ten-bell tower.

The Council agreed that it was more important to complete the interior of the unfinished church rather than pay £2,000 for the recasting and hanging of the bells at present. Also the bells had been stored at Messrs. Mears and Stainbank's for some considerable time and were taking up valuable storage space, which was another reason pressing for the disposal of the bells.

Meanwhile the interest at St. Francis' has not completely diminished. By gentle persuasion of the writer, one member of the P.C.C. has realised the importance of bells in church worship, who in turn suggested that one bell should be hung in the tower, with the idea that when the church is complete a new light ring of six bells be installed. This was generally agreed. So the sound of bells should come from the tower of St. Francis' Church yet.—Yours faithfully,

N. SKELTON.

P.S.—I fully agree with Allan E. Cook (page 200) when he says one tower he had in mind had its bells rehung only four years ago. —N. S.

TEACHING BEGINNERS

Dear Sir,—I must congratulate the writers of the articles for beginners.

There is one other thing which I consider most important, that is, when the beginner is ringing rounds should his bell get out of control, he should be able to bring it under control, as this will frighten any beginner.

Triumph. At last he is ringing a bell by himself. With an intelligent pupil this should be in less than ten minutes.

ANOTHER INSTRUCTOR.

Dear Sir,—I am, unlike Mr. Jones (letter, page 216), apparently "not conforming to modern standards" (T. J. Lock, page 179) since I ring 'left over right." Though, Mr Jones, in your argument I fail to see any connection between handling ropes and handling cricket bats.

In my tower the instructnor, quite rightly, lets the beginner decide which is his/her strongest and most comfortable way to handle the bell rope. To determine this, the beginner is subjected to a short tug of war, using the tail-end of the rope. The result of this experiment usually shows the beginner to be most comfortable employing "left over right." (I consider this to be right-handed, as do most tug of war teams!)

Since our present concern is that of handling ropes (and not bats) I feel a comparison with a tug of war team more relevant. Now, applying this in Mr. Jones' argument, this proves nothing.

Finally, it is interesting to note that the majority of "right over left's" have to swap the tail-end from their left hand to their right to tie the rope; also, the more advanced "right over left" ringer uses his right hand to ring single-handed!—Yours faithfully,

London, N.W. M. C. F.

"LONG TEN"

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read Mr. Cook's letter referring to the "long ten." I came across the practice a few years ago, when I often attended Evensong at Chippenham, Cambridgeshire. I do not recall the name by which it was known there but as far as I can remember it was terminated by the calls "five in" and "four in" at successive treble leads after a suitable length, usually five or ten minutes. These calls in effect produced the other two leads of Grandsire, thus bringing up rounds.

I do not see why this form of ringing should bridge the gap between call changes and method ringing better than normal plain hunting (I am anti-"learning the numbers") but I think it is more probably of interest in studying the evolution of method ringing. Cannot we learn something of the way our predecessors thought from these old practices? —Yours faithfully,

JOHN A. HARRISON.

Twyford, Berks.

PIPES OF PAN

Dear Sir,—Unlike some of your correspondents, I do not think that any special action is called for by the recent hoaxes. I remain optimistic that the passage of time will take care of this—unless we should happen to be hoaxed by Peter Pan!—Yours faithfully,

DENIS A. BAYLES.

Chester-le-Street.

DOUBLES NAMES

Dear Sir,—I should like to name the following Doubles methods thus:—

Plain Course	Call	Name
Antelope Single	Plain Bob P.L.	Kingstone
Antelope Single	Old Bob Single	Felton
Antelope Single	Rev. Cant. P.L.	Ullingswick
Antelope Single	Grandsire Extreme	Ewias

Yours faithfully,

MICHAEL V. POWELL.

SINGLES IN CAMBRIDGE

Dear Sir,—I have been very interested in reading about singles being used in Surprise methods. About 1930 and just before, we at Kempston, Beds, rang 720 changes of Cambridge Minor, two singles, Wrong, bob, right, twice repeated. I do not put that in for peal ringing as I was advised by several first-class ringers against doing so; it just was not done! We also put singles in several Treble Bob methods on practice nights. Were we the first to try that way of conducting on church bells?—Yours sincerely,

E. P. INSKIP

Bromham, Beds.

PEAL OF MAXIMUS NOT ACCEPTABLE

Dear Sir,—I have been asked by the president of the Yorkshire Association to consider the position of the peal rung at Halifax, Yorkshire Surprise Maximus, on December 27th, 1966, and reported in "The Ringing World" of March 24th, 1967, on page 205.

I regret that this peal failed to conform to the rules of the Association and therefore is not acceptable as a performance by the Association.—Yours faithfully,

W. ERIC CRITCHLEY,
Hon. Peal Secretary.

PEALS OF 5040 MAXIMUS

Dear Sir,—The compositions of Londinium Surprise Maximus in your issue of April 7th by Messrs. P. Border and R. W. Pipe bring to my memory the first two peals of Surprise Maximus (probably the only two) containing only 5,040 changes, both rung at St. Marvle-Tower, Ipswich.

On April 12th, 1930, in 5,040 New Cambridge Surprise Maximus, the first lead was Primrose, thereby bringing up the Wrong at the first treble lead, cutting out 240 changes. The other on November 26th, 1932, was 5,040 Cambridge Surprise Maximus, calling the first course 6ths, Out, 7ths, followed by seven further courses, composed and conducted by C. J. Sedgley. The former peal was conducted by me.—Yours truly,

G. E. SYMONDS.

Ipswich.

LONDON SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. P. J. Daniel's letter on London Surprise Minor (page 216), there are probably dozens of touches for his requirements. I enclose two unoriginal touches which may be of interest

Cambridge Univ. Guild's Bright Evening

FOLLOWING the Guild's new trend for grabbing fresh colleges, the annual dinner was held in Emmanuel College on March 4th —once again, by chance, the day after the Cardinals Ball. Sadly, many people at the dinner appeared still to be recovering from the after-effects!

Both peal attempts on Saturday morning were, unfortunately, lost, despite the care taken to ensure that none of the Friday night's revellers were in the band. Those who did manage to get up in time rang at St. Bene't's, followed by Great St. Andrew's and then Chesterton, where some wandered along down the river in beautiful sunshine to watch the Lent Bumping Races. Meanwhile ringing continued on the 12 at Great St. Mary's, with the glorious bells of the Cathedral Church as a grand finale to the afternoon's ringing.

The dinner in the Old Library in Emmanuel was presided over by Bill Ridgman. After an excellent meal, and during the ceremony of the Loving Cup, a non-conducted touch of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by J. M H. Hunter 1–2, S P. Darvill 3–4, V. Nutton 5–6, F. E. Haynes 7–8, B. D. Threlfall 9–10, F. C Hobson 11–12.

The president, after proposing the loyal toast, welcomed the guests and introduced them to the company—Jim Quinney and his son, Ian (Cambridge Youths), the Vicars of Great St Mary's and Great St. Andrew's and the Masters of the Oxford and Sheffield Universities Societies.

The toast of "The Guild" was proposed by Brian Threlfall, who, dismissing reminiscence as boring, took a brief look into the future with a little star-gazing The Master, Stephen Darvill, in replying, waxed somewhat more eloquent.

Agreeing wholeheartedly with Mr. Threlfall that looking back at past activities was a boring topic for a speech, he began in characteristic style by reviewing the Guild activitjes during the year. Alas, he cried, so indolent, corrupt and incompetent had been the administration, most especially at its head, that regular items in the Guild calendar, such as the outing with Oxford University, had unfortunately been overlooked; definitely many lessons for future Masters were to be learned from this year's. They had, however, enjoyed two outings with Sheffield University, and the ringing standards and social life continued from strength to strength.

Sunday service ringing had got off to a good start this year, but as winter's icy winds began blowing in from the East many members had shown a reluctance to forsake their hot-water bottles. The formation of a Guild Action Group to drag members forcibly from their beds had, however, considerably improved the situation. Concerning belfry maintenance, the steeplekeeper had devised some brilliant sprung stays, none of which, unfortunately, worked: though bits of wood sawn off last year's Rag-floats were doing excellent service at St. Andrew's Proposing the toast of "The Visitors," the secretary, Ellis Thomas, felt he must comment on the arrival of visitors from that terrible place "The North" Several visits in that direction by the Guild this year, plus rumours that there were actually bellringers up there, were slowly undermining the conviction, long held in the Guild, that all the land north of a line between King's Lynn and Aberystwyth was covered by a vast ice cap, and was, therefore, completely uninhabitable.

Richard Tibbetts, Master of Sheffield University Guild, in replying, rushed to the defence of "The North," producing anti-Welsh anecdotes and cunning misquotes from Rupert Brooke He added that he had not wanted to journey south to the Cambridge dinner initially, but the fluttering eyelids and persuasive charm of his Vice-Master, combined with the lure of a free dinner, had proved too much for a man to withstand!

The company, well wined and dined, then adjourned to the relaxed atmosphere of the College's new J. C. R. bar for the rest of the evening. There we chanced to meet the Emmanuel College Boat Club, who, fresh from their own "end-of-races" Bumps Supper, promptly abducted one of our young lady visitors from Sheffield . . . . or was it perhaps the other way round?

LADIES' GUILD
Western District

The annual general meeting of the Western District was held at Weston-super-Mare on March 11th The service, preceded by ringing from 3.30 to 4.30, was conducted by the Rector, after which tea was taken in the Church Hall, provided by members of the Guild. Ringing at Worle followed the meeting

Officers elected for 1967–68 were: Vice-president, Mrs. M. de Jong; secretary. Miss B. Johnson; committee, Mrs. Parfree, Mrs Eyles, Mrs. Lampard, Miss Hallett and Mrs. Chapman; new members Miss S Tiley, S. Hebden, S. Walker. L. Brennan, V. Frewin, J Fairley, N. Drew and Mrs. Gay.

Members would like to place on record their appreciation to Mrs. Parfree and Mrs. de Jong for their work for the Guild during their term of office together, and to welcome Mrs. de Jong in her new role of vice-president.

Next meeting: Thornbury, Friday, April 21st, 7.30 p.m. B. J.

MIDDLESEX MEETING AT ST. GILES-IN-THE FIELDS

Holborn's most interesting church is undoubtedly St. Giles-in-the-Fields, which has grown from the chapel of a lepers' hospital founded by Queen Matilda in 1101, the present church dating from 1734. With its 160ft. spire it still stands supreme despite the numerous modern buildings which now surround it.

With a meeting in Central London one always looks forward to visitors and on this occasion ringers were welcomed from Bath, Sturry (Kent), Woking and Eling (Hants), together with a number from the Greater London area.

The Rector of St Giles', the Rev G C. Taylor, who is also president of the Middlesex Association, conducted the service and afterwards joined the company at tea in the spacious vestry.

At the short business meeting Mrs. Sheila Spreadbury (Wood Green) was elected as a ringing member. The very good news was received that Miss Mabel Prockson, a valued and respected member, had left hospital that day and the good wishes of all members present were extended E. H. K.

SHEFFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY

THE last meeting of the Sheffield and District Society was held at Conisbrough and possessed most of the ingredients of an excellent meeting, i.e a pleasant ring of eight, good company, hospitality a high and interesting standard of ringing, opportunity and progress A few learners in the elementary stages would have been welcome and could have been well catered for. A good number of towers were represented and it was pleasing to have visitors from Uppingham, Lincs and Beverley.

The writer cannot recall such a large variey of Major methods being rung at a meeting. In addition to touches in the standard, plain and Surprise methods the ringing included five Spliced Surprise Major, seven Spliced Plain Major and touches in four different principles (Original, Forward Treble Bob, Stedman Triples and Duffield).

Tea was taken in the Church Hall, followed by Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters on handbells by Messrs. N. Donovan, J. J. G. Gilbert, S. Armeson, N. Chaddock and J. Chaddock.

Pudsey and Rutland Major will be special methods for the meeting at Dore on May 6th, when learners will also be especially welcome. A good gathering is desired as the Vicar (the Rev. Garth Heawood, formerly of Norfolk) retires the following week. During his stay at Dore he has been a great encouragement to the ringers, his son and daughter both taking up the art during his incumbency.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD
Newark District

A very successful meeting was held at Southwell on March 18th. This was the first meeting the District had held there since the Minster bells were augmented to 12, and the primary interest was to fan interest in the Guild's activities in the members of the newly-formed band. It was, therefore encouraging to see most of them taking part in the ringing and also attending the business meeting.

Almost 50 ringers swelled the congregation for Evensong in the Minster, which was led by the Provost, the Very Rev. H. C. L. Heywood. Tea was afterwards served in Trebeck Hall by Newark ringers and wives. Five of the local band were elected to membership.

Rededication of Wittersham (Kent) Bells

IT was cold and blustery on April 2nd, when the bells of St. John the Baptist, Wittersham, Kent, were rededicated by the Rector (the Rev. E. C. Lucey) during Matins.

The church was beautiful with the Easter decorations, lilies in the Sanctuary, daffodils, primroses and other flowers elsewhere. At the entry to the belfry steps there was a large bowl of multi-coloured polyanthus and smaller jars of the same flowers in little niches on the stairway. In the belfry one was greeted by the sight of red, white and blue sallies suspended above the red floor covering (kindly given by Mrs. Chester Beatty), and two arrangements of daffodils and forsythia.

General ringing for about an hour preceded the service. After singing the bellringers' hymn the Rector and choir, together with the family and friends of the man to whom the bells were to be rededicated, and the many ringers present, proceeded to the base of the tower, where the Rector rededicated the bells "to the glory of God and to the memory of Herman Anton Andreae."

Present at the service was his daughter, Lady Mallett (a member of the local band of ringers), at whose instigation the work was carried out and who was also responsible for having the ringing chamber floor repaired.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Graham-Harrison, a retired clergyman from Northamptonshire, who has recently come to live in Wittersham, and who took as his two-fold text "They work—to the glory of God." He spoke along the lines that whilst bellringers were members of their own band or team, they were also members of the band within the whole Church.

After the service the ringers, numbering about 40, returned to the belfry for further ringing. The bells have been retuned, turned and rehung in a cast iron frame, with provision for two trebles to be added at a later date, and they now run in a clockwise direction. We were very sorry indeed to learn that the bellhanger from Taylor's foundry, Mr. Fred Thorold, had been ill and absent from work since he left us last December, and the Rector referred to this during his prayers for the sick

Apart from the local band, those present included the Ashford District secretary (Mr. Alan P. S Berry), former Ashford District Ringing Master (Mr. John Cooper) and ringers from Appledore (Kent), Battle, Sussex, Bethersden, Folkestone, Hothfield, King's College (Cambridge), New Romney, Rolvenden, Sevenoaks, Stone (Kent), Sturry, Tenterden and Winchester School. We were very pleased to receive as non-ringing visitors in the belfry Sir Victor Mallett, Lord Dunboyne and Mrs. Chester Beatty.

THE BELLS

The second, third and fourth are now the only bells existing in Kent by Josephus Carter, and are referred to in "Church Bells of Kent" as three of the finest bells in the county. The whole ring was restored and rehung, and a new treble added, in 1937, the gift of Mr. A. Max Wilkinson, churchwarden, and was rededicated on Easter Sunday, 1938. The fifth became cracked in August, 1938, and was recast in 1951 by Gillett and Johnston, and was rededicated on May 6th, 1951.

Tenor.—"John Wilnar made me. I. B. G. F. C. W. 1629. Weight 16 cwt. 2 qr. 20 lb.

Fifth.—Shoulder: Thomas Mears and Son, London Fecit 1808. Waist: Recast 1951 by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon. "O be Joyful in the Lord all ye lands: Serve the Lord with Gladness, and come before His Presence with a Song." Weight 13 cwt. 2 qr. 15 lb.

Treble.—Shoulder: Mears and Stainbank. 1937. Waist: "In Joyous Sound—Remember Kenneth Maxmillian Wilkinson, Commander R.N. 9 Nov. 1936. Aged 43." James Fischer Wilkinson, M.C. Major R.F.A., France and Flanders. 1914—29 Oct. 1918. Aged 23.

A peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung on the bells on April 2nd, conducted by Crawford T. Hillis.

WARWICKSHIRE'S OLDEST CHURCH

News from Wootton Wawen, the oldest church in Warwickshire, is that there is an active young band with 12 of 16 or under. Three have rung quarter peals, nine more are eager to, and one has rung a peal.

FROM DERBYSHIRE

The Chesterfield striking contest to be held at Clowne on May 13th was discussed at the well-attended monthly meeting at Creswell. North Wingfield, Wingerworth and Creswell are hoping to enter a team for the first time for several years. The contest should prove more interesting than last year, when only four teams competed Mr. D. Davis, the new District Ringing Master, supervised the ringing.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

The Andover District enjoyed the delightful little six at Longparish on April 1st. The Rev. K. S. P McDowall conducted the service, and the ladies of Longparish belfry provided tea The highlights of the evening at Longparish and Barton Stacey were touches of Cambridge Minor and three courses of London Surprise.

CHELTENHAM BRANCH NEWS

There has been a change ringing band at the difficult five at Swindon for many years, and the Church Council is now considering providing a treble. There is a pit for this and no difficulties are apparent apart from minimum costs.

The neighbouring eight-bell towers are quite a contrast, one light and fast, the other slow and sonorous. There was a satisfactory attendance at both, methods being varied up to Bristol.

Meetings will be further afield a little later as the area is very long and narrow, the most distant necessitating Saturday meetings.

BELFRY GOSSIP

St. Uny Doubles rung at Lelant on April 3rd consists of plain course Stedman, Single, Grandsire Single in quick six. Composition: two singles, 60 changes apart.

"The Child's Guardian," the official magazine of the N.S.P.C.C., has in its March issue a fine picture of a group of students from St. John's College, York, giving a handbell recital in York for the N.S.P.C.C.

The Huntington Guild had a most successful Easter with five tower bell and two handbell peals, all conducted by A. Colin Banton. Also operating in the area was A. Martin Thorley, who conducted another three during the same period.

The Bath and Wells Association at its annual general meeting on Easter Monday abolished the compulsory contribution of 6d. per rope for a peal to "The Ringing World." In its place the Association will make a contribution out of general funds to the journal.

Three of the local band took part in the peal of Stedman Triples at Liss to honour the wedding of Bernard S Gambrill, the vice-captain, and Miss Sheila Knox. This was the first of Stedman on the bells and our correspondent asks if it was a coincidence that the previous evening's last touch for Evensong, conducted by the bridegroom, contained all "singles."

Mr. Alan R. Pink and Mr. Christopher C. Clarke rang their 100th peal together at Daventry on February 25th.

One of those very rare events took place at Haresfield, Glos, on March 19th, when the whole band rang their first quarter peal—Grandsire Doubles. Congratulations to all concerned.

Regarding Mr. John R. Mayne's letter about conductors making sure their notations are accurate, his observations did not apply to Pendeen Surprise Major, as the correction was published a week before his letter. Regrets that the reference was not deleted.

Which leading composer composed a quarter peal of Plain Bob Triples that was two courses short of the usual quarter peal length? Which leading peal ringer called it on Easter Sunday without realising the error until it was pointed out to him afterwards?

Ringwood Sunday service band made history on April 3rd by ringing a quarter of Spliced Surprise Major (London, Bristol, Cambridge, Superlative and Yorkshire). It was the first quarter of Spliced Surprise Major ever rung by resident members of the Christchurch District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.

ST. ALKMUND'S, DERBY, BELLS RUNG FOR LAST TIME

The bells of St. Alkmund's, Derby, were rung for the last time on April 8th, the day of the annual general meeting of the Derby Diocesan Association. The church passed over to Derby Corporation on April 3rd but our correspondent believes that services are being held there until April 26th.

The future of the bells is unknown; an assurance has been given by the diocesan authorities that the ring of eight will not be broken up but, apart from that, the Vicar and P.C.C. are non-committal.

The views of Derby Association have been conveyed to the Bishop and a letter from the Association is going to the local Press as it is hoped that a home for the bells may be found at a Derby church or one in the diocese.

The proposed extension and redevelopment of Derby is likely to make several churches in the centre redundant. Recently St. Andrew's Church was considered to be a liability in view of the population movement. It is suggested that a smaller church be built but nothing has yet been settled. St. Andrew's houses a ring of ten.

WOMEN RINGERS' TRIBUTE TO SUFFOLK M.U. PRESIDENT

St. Mary's, Offham, Suffolk, bells, augmented to six by Messrs. Taylors in 1959, was chosen by Mothers' Union branches in the Bosmere Deanery for the ringing of a quarter peal in honour of Mrs. Cashmore, wife of Bishop Cashmore, who has retired after 12 years as president of the M.U. in the Diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich.

A change in the band through two experienced ringers becoming expectant mothers necessitated the ringing being limited to changes. One of the ropes was taken by 12-year-old Judith Atkins, and others participating were Mesdames Joyce Lester, Brenda Lavers, Winifred Lockwood, Janet Perry and Monica Green.

IN NORTHERN IRELAND

A profitable week-end in Northern Ireland was spent at the beginning of April. Peals were rung at Hillsborough, Carrickfergus and Holywood of two Spliced Surprise Major conducted by Robert C. Kippin, and Yorkshire Surprise Major by George E. Thoday.

ROCKETS AND BELLS ON CHRISTMAS EVE

Unusual features at St. Mary's, Bathwick, on Easter Saturday, were the ringing of a quarter peal for the first Communion service and the firing of rockets from the church tower to denote the commencement of the service. Fr. Beaumont, of 20th Century Mass fame, devised the service.

SUDBURY'S PLIGHT

"It seems a shame that this town with so many bells should so seldom hear one of the most famous sounds of England," says the Sudbury Group Magazine.

The towers at St. Gregory's and St. Peter's have been declared unsafe for their bells to be rung but All Saints has the finest ring of bells for miles around, with a 25 cwt. tenor. "However," concludes the report, "the town cannot muster eight ringers and the bells are silent for most of the year."

PROMISING YOUNG DEWSBURY RINGER

Ruth Richardson has recently taken part in her first quarter peal of Double Norwich before celebrating her 12th birthday. Ruth was taught to handle a bell by Jeanne and Vernon Bottomley two years ago and rang her qualifying 720 for the Yorkshire Association in December, 1965. She has become a reliable and steady ringer. Stedman is at present her favourite method. She is a neat handler and os ever present and never late.

Ruth has joined wholeheartedly in the present Dewsbury project to train a band to ring the bells of neighbouring Cleckheaton, which have been silent for many years, and it is gratifying to hear her drawing her pupils' attention to handling faults.

She is a very busy young lady—amongst other activities is her membership of the local Girl Guide Company. Her crop of badges includes the bellringer's, of course.

A USEFUL PAMPHLET

Based on its unique experience of 80 years of accident risks, the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office Ltd. has produced a useful "Stop Accidents!" pamphlet calling attention to accidents arising from churches and halls.

Of church bells, it is stated "Church bells are seldom in other than careful and competent hands. Accidents happen when rules are broken or when inspection and maintenance fail. Bell accidents are serious. Some of the worst have resulted from failure effectively to keep visitors out when the bells are up."

A picture calls attention to "Dark steps are a danger," and asks "Consider controlling lights by key or time switch. When steps are hidden behind a door, keep it locked when practical and show a warning notice." Even experienced ringers with many towers to their credit have been known to slip on dangerous stairs."

The E.I.O. gave helpful assistance to a lady who slipped when visiting a church last Christmas and fractured her ankle. She is still incapacitated and E.I.O. are standing by her. It cannot be over-emphasised the importance of bellringers being protected for the modest premium of one shilling a year paid by the P.C.C. in their cover with E.I.O. The inquiry is well worth while.

BELLRINGING INTRODUCED TO A FRENCH GIRL

"And what do we do tomorrow?" Françoise, my pen friend, asked me on Saturday night. "Go ringing, of course," I replied automatically.

"Ah, yes, you have written to me about this, I have not understood."

I was appalled—surely my French wasn't that bad? "You know, ringing, like this . .." I gave a vivid demonstration of my hobby, upsetting a tea cup and a vase of flowers in the process, but she didn't know.

Thus Sunday morning found us arriving at Lanchester Church, gaily making introductions and running lightly up the stairs to the ringing chamber. At least I was running lightly up the stairs before I realised that all I could hear of Françoise was a grunting sound several stairs lower.

"You have many, many stairs," she complained. I acquiesced without bothering to rub in the fact that there are only 35. Soon we clambered into the belfry. "What's this?" Françoise asked, grabbing at a sally, and thanked us profusely for the French flag we had wrapped around it for her benefit.

And so, on that memorable day, we gave Françoise her first ringing lesson in a mixture of French and English which was a travesty of both languages — "Pullez la belle plus hard," "All quatre fingers sur la corde," etc. etc.

She learned quickly and before long I could take her to visit other towers, which she seemed to like (a) because of the young masculine ringing specimens in the area; (b) because of the teas; and (c) because of speeches which usually referred to her presence in a complimentary manner.

One speech made by a noteworthy local ringer (no names mentioned. Mr. Tyson), following a cricket match, ringing and a truly magnificent tea, bound all three together as typical of England, and included the following remark: "They may have De Gaulle, but they've nowt like this!" And Françoise sadly agreed. A.

CALL CHANGERS JOIN SCIENTIFICS IN STRIKING CONTEST

A striking competition in which call change ringers competed with change ringers took place at Clyst St. George on April 1st. Each of the nine teams was required to pull out the bells from a "set" position, to ring a set piece taking at least 10 minutes and then to set the bells again.

The tea break was followed by a dignified service taken by the Rector (the Rev. D. H. Large). The Rev. J. G. M. Scott made some useful comments before announcing the results and presenting certificates to the first three teams.

Results: 1 Withycombe A (Grandsire), 60 faults; 2 Otterton (call changes), 79; 3 Whimple A (call changes), 90; 4 Pinhoe B (call changes), 98; 5 Pinhoe A (call changes), 99; 6 Withycombe B (call changes), 117; 7 Lympstone (Plain Bob), 121; 8 Colaton Raleigh (call changes), 126; 9 Whimple B (call changes), 130.

Six teams came from towers owing their main allegance to the Devon Association. The competition was organised by the Guild of Devonshire Ringers (Aylesbeare Branch).

"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

This unique work, second in the series entitled

is complete in itself. Its subject is treated both for beginners and for advanced practical ringers. It is not a textbook on specific methods, of which several exist, but it shows, for the first time, the detailed structure of the general plan of change-production, by types of methods, traced from 3-bell (basic) to 12-bell stages

Well bound in an attractive stiff cover in blue with gold lettering the book measures 8" x 6½" x 1" and contains nearly 300 of such large pages with some 80 figures or diagrams, also 8 double-page and 5 single-page "charts." Included are series of "definitions" and "axioms" listed to serve as an index. Paragraphs throughout are numbered for ready cross-reference. Chapters close with test-questions and indication of answer-location.

This book is very highly commended, especially by leading members of the Exercise, including the Rev. Canon Gilbert Thurlow, M.A., Fredk. Sharpe, F.S.A., and E. C. Shepherd. (See "Ringing World" 1966 pp. 339 and 490.) Much of the work was hitherto unpublished in book form.

The whole book has been planned for issue at minimum cost of production, being thereby cut from pounds to shillings so as to be within the reach of all. The price, packing and postage included, is only 17/- (seventeen shillings), and your copy comes by return of post from: College Publications, 40, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea, Hants. 897

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2923 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1967 9d.

IN DAYS OF OLD

By JOHN P. FIDLER

THROUGHOUT the country there are many jingles about local church bells, similar to the old Cheshire one:–

"Over Peover kettles,
Lower Peover pans,
Knutsford's sweet music,
And Rostherne's deep drones."

I used to think that the reference to the Peover bells was derogatory but now I am of the opinion there is an element of a legend about such jingles.

Over the past forty years I have been asked very frequently, chiefly in out of the way places, "How did they manage to get the bells here?" a question not easy to answer when we consider that centuries ago wheeled transport was of the crudest and roads mere tracks. We might get a clue from local folk lore, for many of the stories that have been handed down for generations often contain a certain amount of truth and it could well be that the reference to "kettles and pans" has some bearing on the casting of the bells many centuries ago when an itinerant founder cast bells on the spot.

In the days of long ago many kitchen utensils were made of copper or latten metal, so what would be more useful to a bell-founder than the metal of unwanted articles of that nature? A modern example of scrap kitchen utensils proving useful was when the call was made for aluminium pots, pans and kettles to make aircraft during the last war. How often have we heard it stated "there is silver in our bells"? so here again that statement could be legendary as possibly when scrap was collected in a parish some silver articles would be handed over but the bell-founder would see that this metal would not get into the furnace —quite possibly it would be a bit of "bunce."

I suppose it will be a bit of a shock to the starry-eyed romantic to think that some of their precious bells were made from such scrap and may doubt it; however, the late Thomas North in his "English Bells and Bell Lore" makes reference to a document relating to the casting of a bell for Bridgwater in the 13th century (quoted in N & Q. 5th S. 111. p. 77). Apparently the document shows that in addition to the sum raised by collections in the parish, together with donations from strangers, 36s. 2½d. was received for three leaden vessels, two trivets, one bason with laver, pots and brass as well as 12 pence for a ring that was sold. The parchment bears the following endorsement which proves that those who did not subscribe in cash gave in kind:–

Is it not likely that many other parishes raised the necessary in a similar manner, of which there is no record? One thing is pretty certain and that is the casting of a bell within the parish would be quite an event and talked of for many a long day; there are places where it is firmly believed that one or more of the parish church bells were cast in the parish because the story has been handed down, stories that cannot be disbelieved off-hand. Mr. North, in his "Church Bells of Leicestershire," states that "during excavations in the churchyard of Scalford some years ago, indications of the former existence of a furnace for the casting of the church bells there were discovered and a mass of bell metal was found, which clearly had been in a state of fusion on the spot."

An unknown writer of a few centuries ago wrote a somewhat descriptive account of the casting of a church bell on the spot:–

"The Bellfounder crossed the portal in solemn state, and passing at once out of the courtyard made his obeisance to the company there assembled. Everything wore a festal air. The guests were in holiday attire, and the Bellfounder and his apprentices wore spick and span new leather aprons over their black suits. The work long in preparation was now to be completed, and that there had been much to do, everyone was now aware. In the court, beneath the pent roofed shed, there had been dug a deep hole—the moulding pit. All night long the great smelting furnace had been fired. Not one wink of sleep had the apprentices had. Now all was in readiness, and the completion of the work only awaited the decision of the Bellfounder, who, grasping an iron bar, takes stand in front of the furnace. 'In the name of the Blessed Trinity' spake he and as he spoke touched the gate-pin with the iron bar. Out poured the molten mass, hissing and seething through the runner down to the mould. Over the white glow of the heat there hovered a strange yellowish-green shining smoke and when the casting is over and the assembled guests have scattered, nothing remained for the Bellfounder and his lads to do beyond patiently awaiting the cooling of the bell."

THE MONTH OF MAY: ITS GLORIES, ITS HAZARDS

By P. AMOS

WHILST every month can be said to be a nature's month, May is probably the most outstanding of them all.

It is the month when the countryside looks at its best, when the flowers are in full bloom, the apple blossom shows its glories, the hedgerows are a picture, the birds are in full song and nesting (how I love to see the yellowhammers, goldfinches, greenfinches, blue tits and other colourful birds jumping the plantations and hedges), these and many other pleasures go to make May an outstanding month of the year.

It is an outstanding month for yet another thing—and this is where ringers should be on their guard, not only ringers but all churchmen and churchwomen, especially in old churches.

Look on your pews, on the floors, in the clock rooms, and up in the bell chamber, and if you see any almost round shaped earth or grouse colour insects about the size of a lady-bird, or cowlady as they are sometimes called, they are death watch beetles!

Their movement is as slow as the hands of a clock, and May is the month they come out of their hiding, where they have been living on your timbers—in the belfry or in the church roof.

When they drop on to the floors, the pew seats, or chairs kill them straightaway! If left they will sure enough bring disaster and cost you pounds in restoration work—that happened a few years ago to the roof of St. Neots (Hunts) Parish Church.

A lovely carved roof on Whiston (Northants) Parish Church a few years back became infested, and took quite a sum in treatment to save it.

Some—usually those who want their church the easy way—won't admit when they have got it until it gets beyond their grasp and they have reluctantly to dig deep into their pockets; such an attitude is stupid. But with the majority, the very name death watch beetle strikes terror and sends them hurrying for the architect, the bellfounder and the builder.

I recall a case of this kind in 1954 at Dean in North Beds. On one of my historical surveys I reported to the then Rector (who lived in the neighbouring parish of Yeldon, which, like Dean, had four bells), Do you know you have got death watch beetle up in Dean bell chamber? It is bad and, if left, will make the bell crash under their own weight! That did it. A P.C.C. meeting was hurriedly called, and a scheme put out to take the bells down. Later I persuaded them to add a treble when rehanging the old four. This they did in 1955 to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the oldest (the then second) bell, now the third.

There are several detergents for death watch beetle, and their makers might be persuaded to advertise in "The Ringing World" —it is not for me to be their unpaid agent. But those advertised for killing common wood worm (which does not eat into timbers so deep as the beetle) are not necessarily the best or ideal for killing the worst of the two pests. The beetle can render a timber like a piece of sponge, and I repeat—May is the month to find its presence!

Don't hesitate—look for it and report it straightaway if seen.

Lady to Lead Gloucester and Bristol Association

Statistics for 1966
Performing members	818
Branches	12
Towers with members	152
Peals rung	83
Total Funds	£1,260

HISTORY was made when the Gloucester and Bristol Association met at the Cathedral in Bristol on April 1st. It was the first time for a meeting of the Association to be held there. Well over 100 members attended and there were present also visitors from Lancashire, Somerset, Middlesex, Hampshire and Cheshire.

The meeting was held in the Cathedral School Hall, by permission of the headmaster, and was followed by tea, and the Association service in the Cathedral, taken by the Dean, the lesson read by the Rev. F. F. Rigby, and the sermon given by the Bishop of Malmesbury, who used the theme "Darkness and Light."

Apologies were presented on behalf of a number of members, there having been a large demand for ringing for weddings in a number of places—perhaps it was a mistake to hold a meeting on what is one of the most popular days to get married, so near the end of the Tax Year.

There was only one election needed for the officers for 1967, and that was another history-making item, Miss E. M. Bliss being made chairman by a majority of three votes over the Rev. F. F. Rigby. During his term in office the Rev. F. F. Rigby was the last of a long line of Masters and the first of a new line of chairmen—Omega and Alpha.

The honorary secretary had to apologise for a number of mistakes in the printed report, mainly due to the speed at which the report had to be produced in order to get it in the hands of the members before the meeting—a number of names were omitted and a line left out of the Stroud Branch report.

FEES AND SUBSCRIPTIONS THE SAME

It was decided to accept all of the recommendations of the Management Committee, and all fees and subscriptions remain the same as for last year. An invitation to visit Malmesbury on April 20th, 1968, for the next annual general meeting was accepted.

Congratulations were expressed to the peal ringers for the progress made during the year in the multi-method Surprise Major peals, starting on January 1st with 32 methods and finishing on December 31st with 150 methods.

Some concern was shown at the large sum of money invested, largely due to affiliation fees having been increased. "We would welcome more applications for grants to enable some of the bells to be made ringable, especially where there is a band that will ensure their being rung, but the applications must be made by the Parochial Church Councils." Grants were made during 1966 to Cromhall and Lechlade for work on the bells and to Hannington and Lechlade for instruction.

Good use was made of the bells in the towers that were open for ringing, and a social evening at the Crown and Dove was well patronised. Thanks were expressed to all those who had made the meeting possible.

MISS E. M. BLISS (the new chairman)

21 YEARS A RINGER

The new chairman, Miss E. M. Bliss, learned to ring at St. John's School of Ringing, Bristol, in 1946, when an undergraduate at the University of Bristol. Elected a member of the Gloucester and Bristol Association (Bristol City Branch) on March 1st, 1947, and was secretary of University of Bristol Society 1948–50.

After leaving Bristol in 1950 taught in Coventry, returning to Cheltenham in 1952 and is now senior mistress at Churchdown County Secondary School. Miss Bliss was secretary of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol for nine years from 1954, and then its representative on the Management Committee. Now a member of the Cirencester Parish Church band and teaching a band of young ringers from Rendcomb College at Rendcomb.

Apart from ringing she is a member of Winstone Parish Council, president of Winstone Women's Institute and secretary of the Parochial Church Council.

Surrey Association at Dinner

THE success of the Northern District socials prompted members of that District to press the Association to have a dinner. This was agreed by the members and a sub-committee was set up to do all the work under the leadership of Chris Mew, assisted by W. H. Jackson and Mrs. K. E. Chilcott and advised by Mr. John Maybrey, liaison officer from the Guildford Guild.

The event was duly held on April 8th at the Aerodrome Hotel, Purley, and proved an outstanding success. Ninety-nine members and friends were present with three guests, Mr. P. G. Smart, Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, with his wife, and the Rev. C. H. Carver, of Putney. A good meal was enjoyed by the company under the presidency of the Master, Mr. A. P. Cannon, who was accompanied by his wife. Under the expert guidance of the toastmaster, Mr. F. E. Collins, the Master took wine successively with the guests, the officers, the Past Master present and the whole company.

Speeches began with Mr. W. H. Jackson proposing the toast of "The Church and the Exercise," in which he dealt with many facets of our mutual work and relations and in particular emphasised the need for adjacent towers to get together more in mutual self-help.

The toast was replied to by Mr. Carver, who proved to be the orator of the evening. At the end of a speech, well laced with humour, the majority present did not know whether he was Welsh or Irish. However, we did learn that he had a Roman Catholic father and a Methodist mother, and he looks forward to the day when people's whole lives are so permeated by God that neither churches nor priests are necessary.

In a competent speech Mr. John Chilcott proposed the toast of "The Association" and mentioned the pioneering work it had done in the South of England. He stressed the value of peal ringing in aiding good striking.

Replying for the Association, the Master underlined the value of peal ringing and the need for expert bands to include novices in their efforts at regular intervals. In welcoming his colleague from the Guildford Guild he also informed the company that steps were afoot which it was hoped would settle once and for all the matter of boundaries.

Those present included:—

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Allen, Miss J. Armstrong.

Mr. A. E. Bagworth, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bance, Miss G. Baresel, Mr. P. A. Brand, Miss G. Broadhead, Mr. D. C. Brookes, Miss A. Bruce, Mr. M. Belcher, Mr. B. J. Bull.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Cannon, Rev. A. E. Clayton, Rev. C. H. Carver, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Chilcott, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chilcott, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Coatsworth, Mr and Mrs. F. E. Collins, Mr. R. J. Cooles, Miss R. Cotton, Miss C. M. Cobb.

Mr. F. E. Darby, Mr. R. Davies, Mr. D. Dawson-Taylor, Miss L. Eames, Miss J. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. L. Freeman, Mr. A. D. Flood.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Gosling, Mr. K. Game, Miss L. Hawes, Miss J. Henderson, Miss J. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Humphries.

Weddings that Interest Peal Ringers

PETER & MARION

JOHN & MARYL

RODERICK & GILLIAN

CHELMSFORD CATHEDRAL WEDDING

The wedding took place at Chelmsford Cathedral on April 1st between Mr. Peter S. Bennett, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bennett, of College Farm, Bearley, Stratford-upon-Avon, and Miss Marion R. Panton, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Panton, of 140, Broomfield Road, Chelmsford.

The Rev. E. Baty officiated. The bride, given away by her father, wore a full-length empire line dress of white crêpe and carried a bouquet of freesias and roses. Matron of honour was Mrs. Margaret Egglestone (bride's sister) and the bridesmaid was Miss Gillian Panton (bride's cousin). The best man was Mr. Maurice Hughes.

A reception for 80 guests was held in the Cathedral Hall and, as the couple left, 12 of the guests rang a quarter peal of Stedman Cinques on the Cathedral bells.

A cheque, a chiming clock and many other presents were received from their ringing friends.

TWO NOTED LANCASHIRE RINGERS MARRY

The wedding of Mr. John H. Fielden and Miss Maryl R. Crossthwaite took place at St. John's Church, Preston, on Easter Monday, March 27th, in the presence of relatives and many ringing friends from all over the country. The service was conducted by Canon J. M. W. Adam, Vicar of Preston, assisted by the Rev. Roger O. Fry, a close friend of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride wore a full-length empire line dress of white crepe, trimmed with Guipure lace, long veil and train, and carried a bouquet of arum lilies. Her matron of honour was Mrs. Susan Rothera and the bridesmaids were three cousins of the bride, Misses Christine, Ruth and Jacqueline Clarke. They wore dresses of tree bark satin, two in midnight blue, two in cornflower blue. The best man was Dr. Tudor P. Edwards, and the ushers were Mr. Philip J. Crossthwaite and Mr. Jeffrey Kershaw.

The reception, attended by 80 guests, was held at the Talbot Hotel, Chipping, and later in the day a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at Preston, conducted by Tudor P. Edwards. The honeymoon was spent in Jersey.

John is at present studying at the University of Manchester Institute of Science and Technology for M.Sc. in production engineering, and Maryl teaches at the Broughton Primary School, near Preston. They are now living at 1, East Cliff, Preston.

A COSMOPOLITAN WEDDING

TWO of the country's foremost ringing families were united on Easter Monday, when Mr. Roderick W. Pipe and Miss B. Gillian Schofield were married at Bradford Cathedral. The Provost, the Very Rev. W. H. Alan Cooper, officiated. The bride wore a full-length gown of Nottingham lace with drop pearls decorating the bodice, aind a long train falling from the waist. Her bouffant veil was held by a pill-box hat and she carried a bouquet of cream and gold roses, freesias and lilies of the valley. The bride was attended by Mrs. Brian Carr (cousin of the bride and a ringer), Miss Rita M. Jowett (one of the earliest "up and coming youngsters" along with Gillian) and Miss Sarah Pipe (niece of the bridegroom). The best man was Mr. John A. Anderson.

The bride was rung into church by a mainly Bradford band and the couple were rung out by a band drawn largely from the Birmingham contingent Several small incidents helped to make the day—for example, the bridegroom was alleged to be supported by borrowed braces; prior to a quarter peal attempt after the reception one of the groomsmen had to change in a small van (the rumour has not yet been confirmed that the remainder of the band were engaged breathing on the windows); and the best jewel of all, the quarter peal, composed by a Birmingham ringer, though not completed was found to be false! An indication, perhaps, that Bradford Cathedral is two bells short.

Letters to the Editor

FRINDSBURY PEAL QUESTIONED

Dear Sir,—Whilst freely admitting that the "peal" of Spliced Surprise Major rung at Frindsbury, Kent on March 25th, is a most ingenious composition. I must respectfully suggest that it should have been published as a "performance." The composer and the band who rang it surely knew that the definition of spliced peals excludes all constructions except where the methods are joined in complete units, i.e. leads in the case of treble-dominated methods (cf. Central Council Handbook, 1956, page 21). — Yours faithfully, W. ERIC CRITCHLEY.

Sprotborough, Doncaster.

A LOOK INTO THE FUTUtRE

Dear Sir,—With the advent of half-lead splicing, which has been rung by members of the Kent County Association, the next step we will have no doubt is mid-lead splicing. This may lead to the ridiculous situation where the following peal of "spliced" may be rung.

5,600 SPLICED? (8 to 2,800 Methods)

By C. Middleton.

23456	M	W	H
35264	2	2	3

Four times repeated.

Each half-lead is rung as follows:—

12345678
21436587 / 12463857	Yorkshire.
21648375 / 26143857	Aldenham.
62418375 / 62148735	Cambridge.
26417853 / 62471835	Primrose.
26748153 / 27641835	New Cambridge.
72468153 / 27648513	Putney.
72465831 / 74256813	Painswick.
47528631 / 74256831	Superlative.

Contains 8 "methods" with 2,450 changes of method.

N.B.—The composition is easily extended to give 2,800 methods.

Yours sincerely,

ROBERT B. SMITH.

Marple, Cheshire.

ACCURACY OF METHODS

Dear Sir,—I note with interest the letter from Mr. Mayne. I had been expecting to see correspondence from such a source for some time and I offer some further observations on method notation:—

(i) Lewes Surprise Major—the notation given on page 171 is incorrect. In any case, a peal was rung at Lower Beeding on August 7th, 1966, under this name, but that method is very different from the one rung at Clapham.

(ii) Bombay Surprise Major.—The notation previously given for this method is incorrect, and so far as I know the amended figures have yet to appear, in spite of a request from (I think) Mr. G. B. Thompson. Would the conductor oblige, please?

I fully endorse Mr. Mayne's remarks on the need for accuracy in such matters.—Yours faithfully, E. E. SPEAKE.

Woodsetton, Dudley.

THOSE FANTASIES

Dear Sir,—The front page leaders of February 10th and April 7th from the pens of Little John and Maid Marion must surely form some of the best entertainment provided in "The Ringing World" for years and is the sort of stuff which should both brighten and sell the paper.

I look forward in breathless anticipation to the appearance of another fantasy on the same theme from the pen of the Master—Robin Hood—himself.—Yours faithfully,

DONALD G. CLIFT.

Cardiff.

ST. MARY'S, CORK

Dear Sir,—Concerning St. Mary's, Cork, this church is at the moment undergoing a thorough restoration of the whole fabric inside and out, from floor to flagstaff, except for the bells.

The church authorities are committed to build five new churches around Cork City and there is no money to restore this Murphy octave.

On a recent visit I found the belfry to be not quite so bad as depicted in Mr. Box's letter. The rubbish has gone and the louvres are wired against birds; however, the chiming apparatus is derelict, most of the wheels broken and all the bearings are well and truly gummed up.

The Dublin bell foundry think that these may well be the only complete ring cast by Murphy but perhaps Mr. Fred Dukes can give an authoritative answer.—Yours sincerely,

VICTOR SHEPPARD

Brighton.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY AND APPLETON

Dear Sir,—I was surprised to read in the report of the Oxford University Society's Dinner ("Ringing World," April 14th) that "ringing began at noon at Carfax," since ten members of the Society had been involved in a peal attempt at Appleton during the morning. Possibly the writer of the report feels that her presence is a sine qua non of O.U.S. ringing.

As the report made no mention of this attempt, it also omitted to thank Mr. Frank White and the Rector for the use of Appleton bells, which has been granted to the Society on its Dinner Day for the past few years. This is greatly appreciated and I hope that the resident members of the Society realise how valuable the traditional connection between the University ringers and Appleton is to them.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN CAMP.

Aylesbury, Bucks.

POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS

Dear Sir,—Referring to Mr. J. R. Mayne's letter in your issue of March 24th drawing attention to the fact that Plain Major method C.C.C.368 had already been rung. I should like to apologise to the members of the band who rang in the peal at Buckley on January 28th for giving them the impression that this was the first peal in the method.

I have endeavoured to maintain a record of Plain Major methods rung to a peal for the first time, but apparently the ringing of Method 368 escaped my notice. It would be helpful if the numbers of the methods that have been rung could be printed in "The Ringing World." This would take very little space if no other detail than the numbers was given.—Yours faithfully,

J. W. GRIFFITHS.

Chester.

PLAIN BOB MAJOR

Dear Sir,—Mr. Philip Daniel, in his letter in the issue of March 31st, wonders whether 468's can be brought up sooner than in the 1,264 Plain Bob Major. The method he gives, by calling the tenor "In" and single "Before," takes almost a course before 468's are produced. In the following peal Queens is produced by calling single "Before" bob "Middle" from the course end 14532678.

5,024 PLAIN BOB MAJOR

23456	W	B	M	H
35264	—	1		2
32654	—			2
63254	3			—
53264	S
62354	2			2
32564	2			—
45326	—		—	—
357246		S	—
32645		2	—
	(—S)
36425	—			2
34265	—			2
23465	3			—
34625	2			S
63425	3			—
43526			—
537246		S	—
275346	—			S
24536	S	4		—
	(— — — S)
32546	—			3
54236	S			—
52346	—			2
43256	S			3	(— S —)
52436	—			S
23456	2

Therefore the calling of single "Before" bob "Middle" can be used when, at the preceding course-end, the 4th is in 2nds place and the 6th is in 6ths place.

A bob at "5ths" made from a course-end when the 4th is in 6ths place and the 6th is in 5ths place will give 468's. John Pladdys and Tom Chapman have been among the composers to use this calling in their peals (5,024 and 5,008 published in "The Ringing World" May 26th, 1961 and May 5th, 1961 respectively).

Among the many compositions of "split-tenors" Plain Bob that I have collected I have never seen singles "Before" used to part and reunite the tenors. Care must be taken to follow the single by a bob "Middle" otherwise 87's will occur at the next course-end—although I could never see the reason as considering 87's detrimental to the music. —Yours faithfully.

RICHARD J. COWLEY.

Wellingborough.

OBITUARY

MR. H. W. PRATT

An old respected member of the Huntingdon District, Mr Herbert W. Pratt, of St. Ives, passed away on Sunday, April 9th, at the age of 82 years. He had not enjoyed good health these past few years but his love of bells remained to the last. He learned to ring at nearby Hemingford Abbots, where he once lived, moving to St. Ives over 50 years ago.

The funeral service took place at St. Ives Parish Church on April 13th, ringers from the St. Ives tower and members of the Huntingdon District being present.

In the evening a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung half-muffled on the bells of Hemingford Abbots by a few of his many friends. H. S. P.

Mrs. Jill Staniforth

Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, daughter of the late Mr. Harold J. Poole, was elected president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild for its 21st year at the annual general meeting on April 1st at Leicester. She is a Guild trustee and former chairman of the Leicester District and also a former national president of the Ladies' Guild. The unsuccessful candidate for the presidency was Mr A. E. Rowley, treasurer of the Guild from 1946 to 1959.

Previous to the service in the Cathedral, conducted by the Provost, there was afternoon ringing at the Churches of St. John the Divine and St. Martin. The Rev. D. Goodman, Rector of Eastwood, Notts, who learned to ring at Leicester, preached.

An excellent cooked tea had been prepared by Mrs. Smalley and her helpers for the 140 present and they were thanked by the president (Mr B. S. Payne) in his omnibus vote of thanks. Ten certificates of membership were presented.

The hon. general secretary (Mr. A. J. Poynor) presented his annual report, which gave the membership as 552, with an extra 30 who paid their subscriptions early in 1967. Attendances at quarterly meetings had increased, the annual dinner was successful but the Guild striking competition received poor support.

EXPENSES SQUEEZE

The treasurer (Mr. J. M. Jelley) reported a balance in the general fund of £22 14s. 3d., which did not allow for the cost of purchasing 250 badges. Had this cost been shown, there would have been a deficit. He asked all officers to keep expenses to an absolute minimum.

The bell repair fund, with a balance of £447 16s. 7d., was in a far more healthy state, thanks to the response from P.C.C.'s, who had been very generous with donations from ten shillings to ten guineas. Two requests for grants had been received, £25 being sent to Gaddesby towards the cost of rehanging their six bells, and five guineas to Broom Leys, a new church near Coalville, towards the cost of hanging its one bell.

The balance sheet, said the treasurer, showed that the Guild was nearly £100 better off than it was 12 months ago, but the general fund must be treated with care.

BETTER PEAL YEAR

The peal secretary (Mr. R. H. Cook) presented a better report. Peals totalled 135 against 95 in 1965. There were 11 first peals, 32 different conductors, nine rang over 25 peals for the Guild compared with only two in the previous year. Twenty new compositions had been rung. One amendment reporting the omission of three Homes in Composition No. 3,742 was accepted and the report was adopted.

The confirmation of the election of 20 resident members and two non-resident life members was accepted.

The president expressed his regret at being unable to stand for re-election as Guild president for 1967-68 but hoped the Guild would go from strength to strength—especially as this was the 21st anniversary year of the formation of the Guild. He said he hoped many Leicester Guild members would attend the proposed Ringing Festival, centred at Derby as celebrations of the 21st year, on September 16th. All the other officers were re-elected.

Mr. G. B. Brown proposed, and Mr. S. J. Haines seconded, that at general meetings junior members should not be allowed to vote. This brought discussion both in favour and against the proposition—the most forceful seeming to be the speech by Miss Judy Cox, of Humberstone, who had 17 juniors from her tower present, and stated that they had not been rallied to attend this meeting, but who could not be kept away from any meeting, whether it was District or general meeting. When it came to voting, 19 members were in favour of the motion and a large number against, and the motion was defeated.

The second alteration was the rule governing the Bell Repair Fund, proposed by Mr. J. M. Jelley, seconded by Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, which was completely reworded, so that grants would only be considered at the committee meeting prior to the annual general meeting each year, and that 75 per cent. of the gross income only be granted—thereby building the fund up year by year. After discussion the motion was carried by 49 votes to 36.

NEW PRESIDENT RECALLS

The ballot for the presidency was then announced and Mrs. Staniforth took the chair. She thanked the members for giving her the honour of being president—especially in this 21st anniversary year. She thanked Mr. Payne for all the hard work he had done during the last two years and said how much courage it must have taken for him to stand down instead of carrying on for the accepted three-year term.

The president then went on to recall the first meeting of the Diocesan Ringers in November- 1944, when the Diocesan Guild was first discussed, and remembered some of the ringers who since then had done so much for their own towers and the Guild. Those mentioned included Mr. J. P. Fidler, who took the chair at the first meetings, and who has been and still is a trustee of the Guild since its formation; Mr. A. E. Rowley, Guild treasurer from 1946 to 1959; Mr. F. K. Measures, chairman of the Hinckley District, and president of the Guild from 1962 to 1965; Mr. P. J. Staniforth, president from 1959 to 1962, and a Central Council representative; Mr. J. H. Cook, chairman of the Melton Mowbray District and a vice-president; Mr. L. W. Allen, secretary of the Market Harborough District; Mr. W. J. Root, an auditor; Mr. S. Burton, peal secretary from 1948 to 1960 and a Central Council representative; Mr. R. F. Elkington, Mr. A. Disney, Mr. J. S. Carter, of the Leicester District, Mr. G. Newton, Hinckley District, and Mr. J. G. Geary, Syston District

Mr. F. K. Measures announced that for the quarterly meeting to be held in the Hinckley District on July 11th a large ringing programme was being arranged and the day would end with a social at Hinckley in the evening.

COPIES TO BE BOUND

Mrs. Staniforth then asked members if they would consider ways of paying for the gift of "The Bell News" and "The Ringing World" copies to be bound, the cost of which would be between £2 and £3 per volume. The ringers at St. John the Divine handed in a cheque, asking that the first volume be paid for by them. Mrs. Staniforth thanked them for this.

A collection was then made for Mr. J. A. Acres, peal secretary of the Guild from 1960 to 1964, who had had to leave Leicester because of illness and was now in a home at Chigwell. A portable radio was purchased and is being sent to Mr. Acres with the best wishes of the Guild.

Mr. C. Sturgess then complained that the ringing arrangements for this annual general meeting were very poor and asked if more towers could be made available. Mrs. Staniforth replied that the quarterly meeting day was a challenge in this respect, and said that if the members wanted a lot of bells available then this would be done in the future.

Ringing took place in the evening at Aylestone and a social evening, held at the Aylestone Parish Hall, was enjoyed by almost a hundred members. A. J. P.

Amateurs Film "The Nine Tailors"

On April 8th the Biggleswade District visited Willington and Cople, two new towers to come within our boundaries since the rearrangement of Districts. Afternoon ringing and a short service at Willington was followed by 37 sitting down to an excellent tea prepared by the local ringers.

During the business meeting the secretary (Mr. K. H. Fleming) presented the programme which the committee had drawn up of towers and practice methods for the year. Also Mr. A. S. Smith kindly offered to lead a nucleus of ringers endeavouring to help struggling towers at their own weekday practices.

After the business meeting, by kind permission of Mr. R. Giddings, we were all able to see an amateur production, made by the Potton ringers, of D. L. Sayers' "The Nine Tailors" on film. This unusual and very enjoyable diversion was followed by ringing at Cople.

REDEDICATION

HATHERSAGE, DERBYSHIRE

NESTLING in the rugged yet beautiful scenery of the Peak District National Park, the village of Hathersage attracts many visitors. The place is steeped in history—it is the "Morton" of Charlotte Bronte's novel "Jane Eyre," which book was written in the parish.

Hathersage is perhaps better known as the resting place of Robin Hood's lieutenant, Little John, and thousands visit his long grave every year.

Sunday by Sunday the bells of St. Michael's Parish Church have rung out, calling to worship residents and visitors alike. At one stage Hathersage could boast a team of change ringers but for many years now rounds and call changes have been the order. The only recorded peal, 5,040 Plain Bob Minor, was performed in September, 1963, by six members of the Derby Diocesan Association.

By this time the bells and their fittings had deteriorated and it became obvious that rehanging was necessary. A public appeal was launched to raise the necessary £2,000. This met with good response and was supplemented by other grants and donations, coffee mornings and other fund-raising efforts to build upon the £400 foundation from the Parochial Church Council. The bells were retuned, refitted and rehung in a completely new metal framework by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry early in 1967.

The rededication on Easter Eve (March 25th) was performed by the Bishop of Repton and attended by many ringers from neighbouring towers. In his address the Bishop stated that the bells would ring out to proclaim the message of the risen Christ, not only on the morrow but Sunday by Sunday throughout the year. They would call people to worship, be a comfort to those who through no fault of their own could not attend service and ring out a challenge to those who would prefer not to come.

The smallest bell in the tower is the sacring bell, known locally as Tommy Tinkler. It is rung during the Family Communion service. Dated about 1460, it weighs a little over half a hundredweight and bears a Latin inscription "Pray for the souls of Robert and Joan Eyre" together with the Eyre and Padley Arms.

NORTH NOTTS DISTRICT WINS SKITTLES TROPHY

At the meeting of the North Notts District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild at Dunham-on-Trent and East Drayton on April 8th the F. William Midwinter Bell Repair Fund trophy was on display. The Cup (similar in size to an egg-cup, but silver-plated and with handles) was unearthed by the donor from his attic. It has to date been the subject of two skittles matches. Players subscribe 2s. 6d. each entrance fee, and the winning District puts the total proceeds into its Bell Repair Fund collection. The rules governing the contests for the Cup are that any District may challenge the holders at any game whatsoever, otherwise there are no rules. There is also a trophy for which ladies may contend. This is held currently by the ladies of the Bingham District, and it is euphemistically described as a "plate." It is understood that the ladies of the Bingham District wish the ladies of the North Notts District to win this trophy from them before they have to face a challenge from the Newark District at rounders.

The secretary, H. Poyner, outlined a scheme for a ringing contest which might be held later in the year for the benefit of the Bell Repair Fund. In this contest teams would be required to ring a 360 in a method they had not seen until half an hour before beginning to ring. If the 360 was not completed then the team could not win, no matter how perfect its striking before the final "pile-up." The entrance fees, 30s. per team, would go into the Bell Repair Fund. It was agreed that this scheme be outlined to other District secretaries in the Guild and to bands outside the Guild who might be interested. H. P.

SUFFOLK GUILD

Four non-ringing visitors from Poland and Czechoslovakia visited the belfry during the N.W. Branch's meeting at Elveden on April 8th and were enthralled with watching and hearing ringing on both tower- and handbells.

It was a good meeting: a very fair attendance with a wide variety of methods, eight new members accepted (six from Great Barton), a bright service conducted by the Rev. Newton Gates, and tea served by Mrs. Paul and helpers.

Mr. C. Hancock presided at the meeting and proceedings opened with a tribute to Mr. Gordon Peck of Thetford, who died in March. Due to the tuition of Mr. and Mrs. R. Rogers, Great Barton has now a good team.

May evening meeting: Fornham St. Martin.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Ralph Edwards has undergone an operation for appendicitis and will be absent from ringing for six weeks.

The 90th anniversary of the founding of the Norwich Diocesan Association was marked by a peal of Spliced Surprise Major at Pulham Market on April 4th.

Correction: The peal at Lechlade-on-Thames reported on page 255 was rung for the Gloucester and Bristol Association and not the Bath and Wells as inadvertently printed.

After the peal at Attleborough, Norfolk (last one rung there in September, 1938) the ringers were able to listen to a tape recording of part of the peal taken by a churchwarden to send to his brother in Canada.

The ringer of the fifth to a quarter at Leigh, Lancs, on April 9th, Mr. E. H. Longley, now of Redruth, was married at Leigh 40 years ago last September and was revisiting the town for the first time in nine years. With his assistance the local band were able to ring a "welcome" quarter for the new curate in spite of some members being away for the week-end.

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung at Sapcote on April 8th by three sets of twins.

No fewer than 45 copies of the current issue of "The Ringing World" were sold at the Ringers' Rally of the Durham and Newcastle Association at Lumley Castle on April 15th.

Cranbrook, Kent ringers and friends had recently a conducted tour of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. Ringing afterwards took place at St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, and St. Vedast's, Foster Lane. Mr. John Hensley is thanked for providing transport.

Young Stephen Sudbury, of Gosfield, Essex, rang his first quarter on April 10th and ringing with him was the Vicar's daughter, Susan Burdon, who was ringing her first on an "inside" bell. It was indeed a very creditable performance from both, writes Miss H. G. Snowden, the conductor.

Mr. David Slater regards his first peal of Trioles at Coleman's Hatch, Sussex, as a lucky one. On a previous occasion, due to a mistake in transposition, he stood the bells when in fact they were correct. On this occasion the rope of the second broke as the bell was pulled off for lowering after completing the peal!

HEATHFIELD—A POSSIBLE FIVE NEAR TAUNTON

When Mr. Alan F. Lee and a band of ringers visited Heathfield, near Taunton, said to have a pretty little five, in March, it was only possible to ring a few rounds because of the terrible condition of the ropes. To remedy this a return visit was paid on April 8th, when two better ropes were fitted to the second and tenor, the others patched up and the bearings oiled. Although the ropes are by no means first-class, the bells can now be rung. Valuable help was given Mr Lee in getting the ropes fitted by Ian Cox and David Hawkins.

Visiting bands who may like to ring here will be made welcome by the Rev. John Butler, Oake Rectory, Taunton, and not Halse Rectory as given in "Crockford."

AN AGILE 80

A peal attempt at Hartest, Suffolk, specially arranged in honour of Mr. A. W. Rolfe's 80th birthday (April 15th), unfortunately came to grief but a good quarter of Surprise Minor was rung.

Arthur is a very agile 80 and is a frequent visitor to practice nights and meetings in N.W. Suffolk. He drives his own car, is always cheerful, is ever ready to help youngsters and thoroughly enjoys his ringing.

His many friends extend to him very best wishes for his 80th and hope he will continue in good health and visit our towers for many years to come. R. H. R.

SOUTHWELL GUILD'S PEALS

Regarding peals rung by the Southwell Diocesan Guild in 1966 (page 248) we are asked to state the conducting was shared among 26 people and there were 165 ringers involved, 111 of whom were resident members. This represents 21 per cent. of the resident membership of the Guild.

EAST BERGHOLT BELL CAGE

We learn that the 16th century bell cage at East Bergholt is in danger of collapse. The wooden baseplate of the cage is rotten and badly needs replacing.

An appeal for £20,000 to finance a four-phase plan to repair St. Mary's Church, East Bergholt, includes the bell cage. A gift day has been arranged for May 13th.

LOCAL COMPANY AFTER 40 YEARS

Horringer, near Bury St. Edmunds, has been without a local company for at least 40 years. Through the initiative of the new Rector, the Rev. H. Price Jones, a local band has been recruited and the eight bells are rung twice each Sunday. The tower has a company of 20 either handling the bells competently or under instruction Members of Great Barton band readily accepted the challenge to provide training. The leader at the Horringer tower is Mr. Robin Rogers. One member has already rung a quarter peal and others are showing promising ability.

WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL SOCIETY RING TWO QUARTERS AT KENT SCHOOL

Eight members of the Washington Cathedral Society had an enjoyable week-end at Kent School, Connecticut, making the journey by bus and train on March 31st. Accommodation was provided in the spacious alumni house.

Ringing started on the Saturday morning and, as the school was on vacation, permission was given to ring as we wished. The Kent bells took some getting used to and we realised that we had been spoiled by our easy-going bells at Washington. It was considered, however, that the light eight at Kent, on which we did most of our ringing, were a good deal more brilliant than our own.

Touches of Triples and Major were rung before lunch, after which an attempt was made for a peal of Stedman Triples. Some 2,600 changes had been rung when there began an insistent pounding on the locked belfry door. This continued for about five minutes and the conductor, fearing something serious had happened, called "Stand." It was merely somebody wondering if somebody else was up there. (He wasn't.) After a short rest a quarter of Kent T.B. Minor was rung and we called it quits for the day.

Sunday began by ringing for about ten minutes for morning chapel. Following the service we had a delicious breakfast in the school refectory, and then back to the tower and rang a quarter of Stedman Triples, which I am convinced would have won any striking competition. During the ringing the tower door was unlocked and several visited the belfry and they were good enough not to talk or cause a disturbance.

Farewells were then said to Father Beavan, our host, and the bus boarded for home, which was reached about midnight. It was a delightful trip, and we are most grateful to Kent School for the wonderful hospitality shown to us. R. S. D.

NEW RECORD IN MAXIMUS SURPRISE

A peal of Spliced Surprise Maximus in 30 methods, the most methods yet rung to a 12-bell peal, was rung at Halifax on April 15th conducted by Neil Bennett. This beats the previous record of 24 methods rung at Manchester Town Hall in December, 1966. Four new methods were introduced in this peal.

A SOMERSET FIVE IN THE NEWS

History was made at Hutton, a delightful old village situated on the slopes of the West Mendips two miles from the coast, where the River Axe joins the sea, by the ringing on Easter day of a quarter peal of Doubles. During the whole of this century the five bells have been rung only to call changes. Through age and illness the band has fallen apart and the bells have been silent for some time. Now the prospects of change ringing are good.

Inscriptions on the bells are:—

Second: "G.L.B.C.W. P.A.D. 1675." 4 cwt.
Third: "1627. Recast 1915." 6 cwt.
Fourth: "J. C. Bisdee. E. Hemmens. 1657." 8 cwt.
Tenor: "E. Bilbee cast me. 1708. Sam Harris. G. O. Jones. Wardens. When I do call com serve God all." 10 cwt., note G.

BEAMINSTER BELLS

The bells of St. Mary's, Beaminster, are now at the foundry of Messrs. Taylors, Loughborough, for one-eighth turning, fitting new headstocks, wheel and stays and fitting in a metal frame.

On April 5th Ralph Wightman, the famous broadcaster, who was educated at the Beaminster and Netherbury Grammar School, came with the B.B.C. television cameraman to watch the tenor being lowered through the tower. This was the last bell to be removed from the 200-year-old oak frame. Local inhabitants were there in large numbers—armed with cameras!

Mr. Wightman was met at the church door by the Vicar (the Rev. D. V. Galloway) and the chairman of the Bell Rehanging Fund Committee (Mr. W. B. Cross) and shown a piece of the frame—badly eaten by beetle and almost like parchment. (Although only measuring about eight inches by three inches, it was known to contain at least eight deathwatch beetles, and was typical of three sides of the lower part of the frame.)

A committee was formed last year to raise the £4,000 needed to rehang the bells. The fund at present stands at £730 in the name of the Ringing Guild Bell Rehanging Fund at Lloyds Bank with £1,000 promised from the P.C.C. and £200 also promised—both these "promises" are "earning" interest, making a total of £1,930.

During April a door-to-door collection in the parish has been organised by the committee the result of which will be made known on April 27th at a social evening at the Tindall Hall in aid of C.M.S. and the Bell Fund.

Money has been sent from all over the world, through the local newspapers and contacts with Old Beaminsterians. £100 was loaned for a talent scheme (some has been used) but not much enthusiasm has been shown for this.

We hope the bellhangers will be back here again in October and that we shall have the bells ringing again by Christmas! E. P.

FIFTY YEARS' SERVICE

Congratulations to Mr. H. Badger, of Headington, Oxford, on completing 50 years as a bellringer The event was remembered by a peal rung at Hughenden on April 1st. It was intended to commemorate the occasion by a peal at Marlow, Bucks, where Harry learned to handle a bell, but the bells were not available that day owing to weddings, etc. Harry is also an organist and has demonstrated his talent by playing at the Oxford Guild Festival at Christ Church Cathedral.

HERTS AND THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

To start a fund for the possible Central Council visit to Hertfordshire, the St. Albans District at its meeting at Essendon on April 15th raffled a cake which Mrs. Coburn had provided. Other members are asked to provide raffle prizes for District meetings. There is a practice meeting at St. Albans Abbey on May 2nd at 7.30 p.m. and a District meeting at South Mymms on May 20th.

READING PROFICIENCY

When a visiting band attempted a peal prior to Evensong one recent Sunday at St. Mary's, Reading, the locals went down the road to St. Laurence's and rang a quarter peal of Cambridge Royal. All ten who took part were members of St. Mary's band and it was only babysitting duties keeping two other members away that precluded the ringing of Cinques.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

I have received the following notice of motion within the time limit prescribed by Rule 14 but it is too late for inclusion with the Agenda recently published, and I am therefore publishing this as a supplementary notice:—

PROPOSED AMENDMENT OF DECISION

Peals which contain more than one method shall be called "Spliced," provided that methods are joined in the fundamental units of which they are constructed (i.e. the "leads" in treble-dominated methods, the "divisions" in the case of Stedman, Duffield and the like). In addition, where a peal qualifies as "Spliced" under the above definition, methods may also be joined at the half-lead, provided that where this is done only one of any group of methods differing only in the places made at the half-lead or the lead-end may be used in any one composition.

Proposed by: Ian H. Oram.
Seconded by: Stanley Jenner.

VERNON BOTTOMLEY.
Honorary Secretary.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2924 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1967 9d.

Our Picture — The Bell Tower, Evesham

BY GEOFFREY J. HEMMING

THE tower was built between the years 1533 and 1539 by Clement Lichfield, 55th and last Abbot of Evesham Abbey. It is built with blocks of oolite, a local stone from the nearby Cotswold Hills.

The base of the tower is 28ft. square and to the top of the battlements it is 110ft. high. A very fine view of the Vale of Evesham can be seen from its summit; it is a very solid structure, the walls being four feet thick.

Why it was left standing when the Abbey was destroyed is not clear but it is thought that the townspeople raised enough money to pay those engaged in pulling down the Abbey to leave it, and this could be true, as restorations have always been undertaken by the townspeople at large and the tower is still looked on as the property of the townspeople, although it stands on consecrated ground and is controlled by the Vicar of Evesham. The present Vicar (the Rev. Albert Webb) is a ringer and rang his first peal in the tower as Vicar of Evesham on January 14th, 1967. In the long history of the bell tower and churches (there are twin parish churches) there is no record of a Vicar of Evesham ringing a peal in his own tower.

THE BELLS

It is definitely known that a ring of six bells was in the tower in 1665 and later restorations proved that the tenor was in C sharp and weighed 28¼ cwt. and was dated 1631. In 1741 the front five were recast and two trebles added by Abel Rudhall, the 1631 tenor being considered to be of good enough tone to be retained. This ring of bells remained untouched until 1820 when, according to church records, "The tenor was cracked by a blundering carpenter named Jarrett while doing repair work to the woodwork around the bells." It is thus that the accident was described in the churchwardens' accounts of 1821. But one Evesham worthy made a note at the time that the eighth bell was broken by John Jarrett on purpose and was looked upon as an electioneering job.

Thomas Mears, of the Whitechapel Foundry, attended a vestry meeting late in 1820 to present an estimate for a new tenor of 31¼ cwt. This bell was placed in the tower on June 26th, 1821, and the old tenor was broken up and taken to the foundry and, when weighed, was found to be 29 cwt. 13 lb. At the time the new tenor was cast the then Vicar of Evesham, the Rev. Henry Portmore Cooper, was at loggerheads with the Mayor and Corporation and refused to have the Mayor's name inscribed on the new tenor. Thus the Church became severed from the State.

THREE MEN ON THE TENOR

Nothing was done to the bells from the installation of the new tenor until 1875, when they were rehung and rung for the first time after the rehanging on Christmas Day, 1875. This must have been a very poor job, as the College Youths rang the first peal in the tower on December 26th, 1889, only 14 years after, and J. W. Washbrook stood on two clock weights and handled the handstroke side of the tenor, and W. Jelf and Sidney Romans manipulated the backstroke. Other well-known names of that time connected with the peal were Murray Hayes, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Henry R. Newton, F. E. Dawe and Adolphus Roberts, and the method was Stedman Triples.

After the College Youths' peal the condition of the bells became worse year by year until by 1909 they were practically unringable. In 1910 another restoration took place, which included rehanging the old eight in a new iron frame and adding two trebles, to make ten, by Barwells of Birmingham. The work was carried out by James E. Groves, a well-known Birmingham ringer of that time, and the two trebles were tuned by Thomas Miller, another Birmingham ringer engaged in the industry. The first peal after the rehanging was rung by the St. Martin's Guild and, in all, 49 peals were rung on this ring of ten

"ONE OF THE FINEST 12's"

In 1949 preparations began for a major restoration to the tower and bells. The top of the tower and pinnacles were replaced with new stone where required, a new clock was installed and the carillon chimes restored. One local worthy caused eyebrows to rise by giving his opinion that such a tower as the bell tower was worthy of a ring of 12 bells. As the present ring of ten was the product of three founders, it was considered that a recast ring of 12 would be most satisfactory. This was entrusted to Messrs. John Taylor of Loughborough and dedicated by the Bishop of Worcester in September, 1951. The tenor of the new 12 is 35 cwt. 3 qr. 20 lb, and the old 1821 tenor when weighed was 29¼ cwt., which was only 43 lb. heavier than the 1631 tenor. Just over £8,000 was spent on the 1951 restoration and as the present tenor is in C sharp it is proved that the key of the bells in Evesham tower has never been changed in 300 years. They are a superb ring and one of the finest 12's in the country.

Those ringers having a copy of the Rev. F. E. Robinson's "Among the Bells" will see a description of the College Youths' peal in 1889.

Evesham has twin parish churches—All Saints' and St. Lawrence's— and the bell tower has a foot in each churchyard.

The original Abbey had three towers, of which this was the smallest!

COMMENT

THE ROUND TOWER AT HADDISCOE

BUILT originally as a retreat place against Danes and Norsemen, the Round Tower at Haddiscoe, Norfolk, is one of the most remarkable buildings in England. The five bells here have been rehung, and Canon Gilbert Thurlow, the president of the Central Council, performed the rededication and had something very appropriate to say.

The Canon said when the danger of the Danes receded, when England emerged as a powerful Christian kingdom, men converted the old defensive tower into a place of proclamation. They put grand bells into it, even though it had to be cut about inside, for it had not been meant for this purpose. So it became a place whence the good news was proclaimed all around.

"What has happened here lately symbolises something more. The bells must be maintained and brought up to date. So must the proclamation of the Gospel. A rusty Gospel is as useless as a rusty gudgeon. An insecure faith is as dangerous as an insecure bell frame. Bell without ringers are as mute as a faith without men living by it. So we have our new gudgeons, our new bell frame and our new ringers in many places and, I hope, here. All this symbolises the fact that the Christian faith today must be preached in a way consistent with modern knowledge.

But the ancient tower must be kept in repair also. Again a symbol of the fact that if a civilisation is to survive its faith must be nurtured. England today is largely throwing its faith away, supposing its enemies are no more. Distinctions between right and wrong are watered down. The struggle for right is not pursued. Honesty, duty, service, give way to lust, self-indulgence, indifference. We are becoming like a tower whose foundations are weakening and whose mortar joints are crumbling. One day we shall face a foe who has a faith strong and fanatical. It may be a false faith, but it will beat on us like a storm. If we have let our spiritual towers weaken, if we have by neglect silenced the proclamation of the Gospel, our towers will collapse and our life as a nation will end. This has happened often in the past, and for the same reason."

DERBY ASSOCIATION'S 21st A.G.M.

OVER 80 members and friends were present on April 1st, when the 21st annual general meeting of the Derby Diocesan Association was held in Derby. Prior to the service in the Cathedral, conducted by the Association's president, the Provost of Derby, ringing took place at the Cathedral (10) and at St. Alkmund's (8), which is shortly to be demolished.

Following the service, at which the singing was led by a choir of Association members, an excellent tea was served by the wives and friends of the Cathedral company. At the business meeting the chairman (the Provost, the Very Rev. R. A Beddoes), whilst congratulating the Association on another successful year, warned members of the dangers of becoming complacent and urged the company to keep up their enthusiasm at all costs. He was, in particular, most grateful for the efforts on behalf of the £2,000,000 Cathedral Extensions Appeal and congratulated the Association on having already realised £300 towards its £1,000 target.

Although there were more lapsed members —perhaps due to higher subscriptions—the general secretary (Mr. B. P. Morris) was pleased to report that the election of over 54 new members had compensated almost entirely for this and as a result the total membership of 378 was only slightly lower than last year (382).

Of the Districts, Chesterfield appeared to be the most flourishing with a membership of over 100 and good attendances at meetings. The Derby District had run evening practices but attendances at meetings were not very good, whilst the Ilkeston District seemed to prefer evening meetings. Although the Peak District had had a disappointing year as regards meetings, grateful thanks were expressed to the faithful few who were trying to keep the District going.

SPECIAL EXPENDITURE

In his report on the financial position, the general treasurer (Mr. J. C. Woolley) regretted that despite an increase of £42 in revenue, due to the higher subscriptions, the accounts still showed a loss of £32 over the year's working. This was due to the large expense involved in the commemoration of the 50th anniversary of Sir. A. P. Heywood's death (£27) and several other large items of expenditure, none of which would occur again for some considerable time.

As, in addition, a grant of £20 had been paid from the General Account into the Bell Repair Fund, the position was far from being unsatisfactory and a substantial recovery should have been made by the end of 1967. In contrast, the Bell Repair Fund finances were in a very healthy position thanks to the continued support of over 84 P.C.C.'s, and the treasurer (Mr. J. Stennitt) was very pleased to report that despite a record sum of £145 having been paid out in grants the balance was still well over £300.

Reporting on the work of the consultants, the Bell Repair Fund secretary (Mr. G. A. Halls) said they had been kept busy, having given advice and/or technical help to Bradbourne, Brassington, Heanor, Pinxton, Burbage, Balborough, Edensor and St. Alkmund's, Derby. On the restoration side, the ring of four bells at Ashford-in-the-Water had been augmented to six by the addition of two new trebles, the gift of Mr. D. Whittaker, in memory of his wife: a new ring of five bells had been installed at Pinxton and the six at Hathersage had been rehung in a new frame.

There would, unfortunately, be no further ringing at St. Alkmund's, Derby, as the church is to be used only for services until April 30th, after which it is to be demolished to make way for a new ring road. As the new church is to be built at the side of a hospital the fate of the bells, which it is hoped will be kept as a ring of eight and not broken up, hangs very much in the balance.

PEALS SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Presenting his first report as peal secretary, Mr. D. Friend said that 142 ringers took part in the slightly higher total of 58 peals rung, the conducting being shared by 21 ringers (five non-resident). Once again Gordon Halls was the leading peal ringer (21 peals), closely followed by Denis Carlisle and David Friend (18 each), the leading conductors being Gordon Halls (11) and David Walklate (10).

Congratulations were extended to the 18 members who rang their first peal and also to Edward Mould, Girling Rigby and Tim Wylie, who scored their firsts as conductors. Although only six 10-bell peals were rung—the lowest for several years—the appearance of four new Surprise Major methods was most refreshing, as was the welcome appearance of peals of Major "in hand." Two peals in particular deserved special mention, namely Bob Triples at Belper by an all-local band and Spliced Treble Bob Major "in hand."

All the officers were re-elected en bloc as follows: President, the Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes; vice-presidents, Messrs. F. A. Adams, J. Bailey and A. Mould; general secretary, Mr. B. P. Morris; general treasurer, Mr. J. C. Woolley; peal secretary, Mr. D. Friend; education officer, Mr. D. J. Marshall; Bell Repair Fund secretary Mr. G. Halls, and treasurer Mr. J. Stennitt; trustees, Mr. S. Walklate and Mr. H. Taylor.

Two new honorary life members, Messrs W. Steen and F. Forster, and 13 new ringing members were then elected before the meeting was concluded by the usual votes of thanks. Further ringing then took place at St. Andrew's (10) and St. Peter's (8) after a film had been shown on the work on the extensions to the Cathedral.

MEMORIAL SERVICE TO MR. JOHN WORTH

Ringers from many parts of the country participated in the memorial service for John Worth at Chester Cathedral on April 22nd.

The service commenced with the singing of the ringers' hymn, "Unchanging God Who Livest," which was followed by a welcome from the Dean in the following words:

"Brethren, we welcome you all, ringers and friends of ringers, this afternoon to the Cathedral Christ of Christ and the Blessed Virgin Mary in Chester, the Mother Church of our Diocese. We have come to remember before God our Heavenly Father, John Worth, Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers and to pray that God in His mercy will bring him and us to His eternal kingdom. At this service we shall have in our hearts great gratitude for all the work John did for the Guild."

Then followed the reading of sentences taken from St. John ii, 25 and 26; Job xix, 25 to 27; I Timothy vi, 6 and 7; Job i, 21.

Psalm cxxi was sung before the lesson read from I Corinthians xv The Easter hymn "Jesus lives! thy terrors now can no more, O death, appal us" preceded the prayers. The choir then sang the anthem "The souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, and there shall no torment touch them" (J. Nares, 1715–83).

The Rt. Rev. Eric Mercer, Bishop of Birkenhead, gave the address, in which he reminded us that although a memorial service may be a time for looking back, as Christians we should look forward and rejoice in continuing the work which others have started.

The final hymn was "Hark! hark, my soul, angelic songs are swelling," and was followed by the Commendation and Blessing. The service finished with a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells.

TOWER CAPTAIN KILLED

Fatal Demonstration

An appalling ringing tragedy took place at St. Nicholas', Uphill, Weston-super Mare, on Sunday, April 23rd, which resulted in the death of Mr. John Hall (24), the captain of the ringers.

At the time he was instructing a pupil, Michael Groves, who is serving in the R.A.F., and explaining to him the risks of clinging to the rope too long. The lesson was being given on the 10 cwt. tenor and John was caught in the rope when the stay broke and he was lifted 15 feet to the ceiling. He fell heavily to the floor and fractured his skull and received back injuries. He died in an ambulance while being transferred from Weston General Hospital to Frenchay Hospital

"It was all over in seconds," said the pupil in trying to explain the accident.

THE INQUEST

At the inquest on April 25th the Bristol Coroner, Mr. John Seymour Williams, returned a verdict of misadventure.

Evidence was given by Mr. Arthur Hall, father of the dead captain, that he went to the belfry after the accident. The stay, which should have held the half-ton tenor bell in an upright position, had broken into two pieces. When the stay broke the bell would have been in an upright position— ten cwt. of metal which would fall with all its force, he told the coroner. The rope would come down lashing about and anybody caught in that rope could be pulled up to the ceiling.

He had taken his son to the tower on Sunday afternoon and heard him commence his lesson with a warning to his new pupil, Mr. Michael Groves. The warning words were: "If anything goes wrong let go of the rope," said Mr. Hall.

FIRST LESSON

Mr Groves said he was having his first lesson in ringing and had watched Mr Hall swing the tenor bell into an upright position. The instruction was without incident until he and Mr. Hall started to work the tenor bell.

"Suddenly the bell rope moved very fast. One moment Mr. Hall was in front of me— the next he was on the ceiling," he said.

Mr. Hall struck a wooden chest when he fell back and lay crumpled on the floor. He made him as comfortable as possible and ran to the church gates and called for help to villagers down the hill and an ambulance took Mr Hall to hospital.

WHOLE PARISH AFFECTED

John had been ringing bells since the age of 13 and had been ringing at St. Nicholas' Church for 11 years. He lived with his parents at Westbury Crescent, Oldmixham, Weston-super-Mare, and was employed as a bank clerk. Recently he was transferred to a Bristol branch of the Westminster Bank, but he went home every Sunday to fulfil his duties as tower captain.

"The tragedy has affected the whole parish," said Mr. Michael Holt, churchwarden, to the Press. The family had been closely connected with Uphill Church for many years and, said Mr. Holt, "no one knew more about bellringing than John"

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

As is the custom the Society held its April meeting at Felkirk on the 8th, good use being made of the bells from start to finish

The attendance during the day was most encouraging, and so was the standard of ringing, which had deteriorated during the past months.

After cups of tea in the Church Rooms, Mr. Chant took the chair at the business meeting.

Next meeting: Cawthorne, on the second Saturday in May.

Suffolk Guild's Evidence of Progress

NEARLY 200 MAKE JOURNEY TO BECCLES A.G.M.

SURELY one of the greatest rewards of being an honorary Association or Guild officer is to see a really good representative attendance at the big event of the year—the annual general meeting. The Suffolk Guild resident membership at present is 367, and with Beccles being in the extreme north-east of the St Edmundsbury Diocese it was indeed very heartening to see a congregation numbering in excess of 170 for the service at the annual general meeting on April 1st.

The choir of Beccles Parish Church led the singing and was augmented by Guild members who are choristers. The Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich (the Rt. Rev. Leslie W. Brown), in an inspiring address, said what a great joy it was to him to see and hear the ringers' work being continued, after many years in India and East Africa, where he had often been greeted by the sound of drums. The lesson was read by the Guild Ringing Master, Mr. George W. Pipe. The collection realised £12 10s. An excellent tea was enjoyed at Beccles Conservative Club, to whose committee the Guild is particularly grateful. At the top table Mr. John W. Blythe, Guild chairman, presided, and was supported by the Guild Ringing Master, Mr. Andrew T. Beckwith (hon. secretary and treasurer), Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston (hon. technical adviser) and Guild vice-presidents. Guests of honour were the Bishop, the Rector of Beccles (the Rev. Malcolm D. Sutton), the Mayor and Mayoress (Ald. and Mrs E. H. Davis) and the chairman of Beccles Conservative Club.

The business meeting was presided over by the Guild chairman (Mr. John W Blythe), who opened the proceedings by welcoming members to Beccles and also visitors from Norfolk, Essex and Warwickshire.

Under matters arising from the minutes the Ringing Master said that the popularity of changing the venue from Ipswich or Bury had proved itself at Lavenham, therefore the committee had felt encouraged to go ahead with arrangements for the present meeting at Beccles.

WIDESPREAD TEACHING

The Ringing Master, in presenting his report, said it had been encouraging again to record an increase in membership, which was the result of widespread teaching. Nine teams had entered the striking competition held at Theberton and Beccles had carried off the shield with a "touch" containing 54 faults. Peals had totalled 73 including several of multi-Minor culminating in one of 148 methods, at the time the highest number of methods rung to a peal. First peals of Albanian and Lincolnshire Surprise Royal and Ealing Surprise Major were noted. Thirteen members had rung their first peal, the majority of them youngsters ranging down to an age of 12 years.

Mr. Pipe also commended the "circuit" system operating in the N.E. District and hoped that it would spread and enable bells in silent towers to be rung more often and recreate interest in otherwise moribund areas. The report was closed with thanks for past support and looking forward to a progressive year ahead.

The secretary and treasurer began his report by thanking members for visiting him whilst ill and assisting in carrying out the various duties. He had unfortunately missed the record A.G.M. at Lavenham but was present at the rededication of Rougham bells. During the year the tenor of the six at Bramford been welded and was now very satisfactory. The secretary also mentioned the visit of the Ringing Master and himself to the Bishop, who showed a keen interest in the affairs of the Guild.

On the financial side a satisfactory balance was recorded of £204 0s 2d, in the General Account, with the Restoration Fund standing at £172 8s. 10d A grant of £20 would be made in the coming year as the restoration of Stowmarket bells was now completed

The technical adviser moved the adoption of his report as printed, which showed inspections had been carried out at a further five towers, bringing the total to date to 309. Unfortunately ringing had had to cease at Swefling and Monks Eleigh, in both cases because of unsafe conditions of the tower. However, Clopton bells have commenced regular ringing again and have a new local band despite the poor "go" of the bells. The octave from St. Mary's, Bury, and the six from Hayland have remained at the Loughborough Foundry for a further year.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The following were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Patron, Mr R A. Vestey; vice-presidents, The Ven. T. R. Browne, Messrs. Bert Chilvers, C. E. Fisher, C W. Pipe, H C. Rush, C. J. Sedgley and G E. Symonds, chairman, J. W Blythe; Ringing Master G. W. Pipe; hon. general secretary and treasurer, A T. Beckwith; hon. technical adviser, R. W. M. Clouston; hon. auditor, J. W. H. Preastner. The present report editor, Mr. Roger Whittell, intimated his wish to resign from office and Mr. Lawrence R. Pizzey was elected to fill the vacancy. The present Pearson Handbell trustees, Messrs. George Symonds and Roger Whittell, resigned from office and Mr. Hubert Mitson and Dr. Stuart Harrison were elected on the recommendation of the committee. Dr. Harrison gave outline details of the bells, which numbered 55 in three sets of 26, 16 and 13. Repairs were being carried out to two sets and the committee had given assent to new conditions for borrowing.

The invitation from Mr. Oliver G. Barnard to hold the 1968 annual general meeting at Stowmarket was accepted.

Votes of thanks to the officers for their work during the year and to the many people who had contributed to the success of the meeting concluded proceedings.

Ringing had taken place in 12 towers during the afternoon and continued in a further three towers in the evening, plus the noble ten at Beccles campanile. A. T. B.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The March meeting of the Society, having been postponed one week from its usual date, took place at the eight-bell tower at East Ardsley on April 1st. Although some members still seem to boycott this tower on account of the heavy-going bells, the meeting was slightly better attended than the corresponding meeting last year, 15 members being present.

The following were nominated for office: President, Irvin Slack (Horbury); vice-presidents, Jack Gibson (Pudsey) and Alan Clifton (East Ardsley); secretary and treasurer, Ian North (Rothwell); Ringing Master, Miss Pat Lockwood (Ossett); P.R.O., Charles S. Naylor (East Ardsley).

Because of the absence of Mr. Robin Brown, the election of C.C. representative will take place at the annual general meeting at St. Chad's, Headingley.

STRATTON, CORNWALL.—On March 31st, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: F. Sangwin (cond.) 1, A. E. Bissat 2, H. Heard 3, J. Clark 4, C. Sangwin 5, H. Stacey 6, J. W Sangwin 7, O. Gittens 8. Half-muffled in memoriam Tom Myers, of Plymouth.

ROVING RINGERS PLAN THEIR 21st

The planning of 21st birthday celebrations is always relished—and the Rovers are no exception. It was with this in view that we publicised to all our non-touring members the 20th Reunion, to be held at the week-end of February 25th and 26th in Reading, where a good attendance was achieved

However, to make this the 20th Reunion at all a little manipulation had first been necessary, since the purists discovered (oh, horror!) that, although there had been 20 tours, there had only been 18 reunions! What better excuse for an extra "get-together"?

So a small but none the less official party met in Leicester last November and the 19th reunion was duly claimed.

Ringing was accomplished with some success at the Leicester towers, including the Cathedral and St. Margaret's, and at outlying Aylestone, Birstall and Melton Mowbray. We much enjoyed tapping out the changes on the sparkling little eight at All Saints' and also concentrating our efforts on striking the grand ten at Loughborough.

DEFEATED

On Sunday afternoon Kingsley Mason was kind enough to take us to two unringable towers, where many a bead of sweat was raised and many a hope was dashed. To anyone thinking of ringing at Gaulby or King's Norton we would say "Make it a peal starting just before opening time!" I think, all considered, we admitted ourselves defeated in these two towers.

And so we arrived, in February, at the real reunion of the year at Reading. Saturday's programme had evidently been arranged by one of the Society's waterways fanatics, since we followed a delightful course up the Thames, ringing at the riverside towers at Sonning, Wargrave Henley and Shiplake before finishing at St. Mary's, Reading. Our ringing was inspired, as we ranged through the standard methods in Triples and Plain and Surprise Maior before achieving six-spliced in the evening.

Dinner at the Ship was good, a fine conclusion to the day and an excellent start to the evening. Fifty-eight sat down to eat, including several illustrious non-touring members and two energetic candidates for future tours (though, as yet, under the age of eight!).

JOHN BRAIN—NEW PRESIDENT

At the meeting the year was reviewed and the election of officers for the coming year was held. Since Frank Lewis had completed his statutory three years as the Society's president (and very well, too), an election for this post was held and John Brain was appointed. Alan Elsmore was elected Master, Roy Mills continues the job he has been doing so well, with Sal Parrott as assistant secretary, while John Slater remains recorder. The finances were then put to right, and we should like to thank old members for generous contributions.

After due discussion, it was decided that the 21st tour should be held in the Welsh Marches, starting around Shrewsbury and finishing in the South-West Midlands (Worcester area). Cine films of previous tours were shown by Cyril Lewington and "we spent our evening as before, in soaking well our clay . . . and finished up with singing."

On the Sunday morning three towers were available—St Mary's and St. Giles', Reading, and Tilehurst while in the afternoon passable ringing was accomplished at Stratfield Mortimer and the long-draughted six at Theale. Ringing in the evening at St. Laurence's was good and included Yorkshire Royal.

Thus ended the last episode in the irresponsible youth of the Rovers. How we all look forward to a happy 21st and a long irresponsible majority. M. R. A./J. E. C.

BATH AND WELLS PEAL FEES

Dear Sir, — "Belfry Gossip" in "The Ringing World" of April 21st refers to the decision at the Bath and Wells annual general meeting to alter the rules about peal booking fees. Lest peal conductors should take your statement at its face value in advance of publication of the full annual general report, I should be glad if you will publicise the following points:—

(1) The peal booking fee remains at one shilling per rope and will not be reduced.

(2) The alteration to the rules takes effect from January 1st, 1968.

(3) The grant to "The Ringing World," at present exactly half of the peal fees, will be determined each year at the annual general meeting.

I anticipate that others may make the same points.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN H. GILBERT,
General Secretary,
Bath and Wells Diocesan Assn.

UNUSUAL CLOCK PENDULUM

Dear Sir,—In one of the towers at which we rang on an outing from Swindon I noticed a pendulum swinging on the wall of the ringing chamber, fitted with two fairly large jars of mercury for temperature compensation. My friend, Mr. T. R. Robinson, F.B.H.I., who is a turret clock expert, is most anxious to view, as he has not yet come across a tower clock so fitted. It might well be that there are more than one clock with this type of pendulum. Can anyone help us to locate this clock, please? — Yours faithfully,

JOHN T. SAWYER.

Highworth, Swindon.

A WIFE'S DEFENCE

Dear Sir,—Having for the past 27 years been married to a ringer I feel competent to write in support of the much-criticised peal ringer, who, it is erroneously suggested, does not do his share of service ringing. Here in this city our Sunday meal times are arranged to fit in with service times; for some of us holidays are taken from Monday to Friday, no Sundays included.

To ring twice each Sunday means travelling 20 miles, not all by car. Surely further proof of regular service ringing lies in the amicable relationship maintained between the clergy and the peal ringers. I am not suggesting that this applies only here, as from experience when meeting ringers from many parts of the country I find that it proves to be the rule rather than the exception. — Yours faithfully,

DORIS FEARN.

SINGLES IN CAMBRIDGE MINOR

Dear Sir,—In connection with the recent spate of singles in Cambridge (and they have spread to Minor in this area) and particularly with reference to the letter from Mr. E. P. Inskip (page 268), I hope that no band will be tempted to ring this 720, since it and any other containing singles is false. The lead after a single in Cambridge Minor is false with the preceding lead. The only time that a single can be justified in this method (and many others) is at the last lead-end of a touch, when the bells come round at the third row of the next lead.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN DAVID.

SINGLES IN TREBLE BOB MINOR

Dear Sir,—It is fortunate for Mr. Inskip (page 268) that it was not considered "the done thing" to ring singles in Treble Bob Minor methods in 1930, or he would have certainly rung a false peal. It does not appear possible to obtain any true extent of Cambridge containing singles, and this seems to be true for the great majority of Treble Bob Minor methods.

The only exceptions to this are certain methods containing adjacent places in every treble section, of which Westminster Surprise is an example. Whilst it is possible to write down the 720 changes in a mixture of 30 in and out course leads it is not possible to join these together using singles only. The longest touch obtainable on this plan is a 504, SSPSSPP, twice repeated. It is possible to obtain a 720 with singles only by splicing with irregular methods, and is probably possible to obtain one using bobs and singles, although I have not tried this.

When it comes to shorter touches, most methods can be persuaded to give touches with at least one single. I enclose two that have been rung to a number of quarters recently and give a length of 1,250 changes: 530 Cambridge, Beverley or Surfleet: 4ths, Home, Wrong, 4ths, Out, Wrong, Single Wrong. 530 London: Out, 4ths, Wrong, 4ths, Home, In, 4ths, Single 4ths. Both the foregoing touches come round at the treble's backstroke snap after the single. The latter may prove of interest to a recent correspondent (page 216), but if he doesn't like singles and has no objection to quarters of 1,248 changes, the simplest touch for his purposes is undoubtedly 3 times In, 3 times Home. — Yours faithfully,

R. D. BAILEY.

REDEDICATION OF HADDISCOE BELLS

The five bells in the tower at Haddiscoe, Norfolk, one of the finest pre-Conquest round towers in East Anglia, have been splendidly rehung by John Taylor and Co. and were rededicated by the president of the Central Council on Sunday, April 16th.

The church was packed and the congregation included 34 ringers from Acle, Blofield, Hapton, Gorleston, Kessingland, Loddon, Lowestoft, Norton Subcourse, Pakefield, Great Yarmouth Beccles, Bunwell, Thetford, Hethersett, Norwich, Wroxham and Wymondham.

Canon Thurlow in his address referred to the passing the previous week of George Bussey, Master of the bells for 30 years, who used to cycle many miles each Sunday for this church. "This is the kind of man England needs to keep up the tower of faith, to continue the proclamation of the Gospel and to keep our people strong. Without such men we shall not survive. Haddiscoe's best memorial to George Bussey is to continue the work he did so well."

Mr. Adcock, churchwarden, read the lesson.

The opening rounds during the service were rung by Norton Subcourse ringers as follws: A. I. Walpole 1, N. P. J. Cossey 2, J. W. Forder 3, G. G. Walpole 4, A E. Long 5.

A splendid tea was provided in the Parish Hall and the bells were available for the rest of the day.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Continuing the recent practice of combining two towers in one meeting, the Marlborough Branch had a very successful gathering on April 15th. The learner element in the afternoon found the somewhat tricky Shalbourne ring a little difficult to handle, and in the evening the heavy six at St. Mary's, Bedwyn, presented problems to the less experienced.

The service at Bedwyn was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Carrie) and for the tea in the Village Hall the company were indebted to Mesdames C. N Tilley, Hoare and Wells, who were thanked by the chairman (Mr. G. Newman). The beautiful weather contributed to an excellent meeting.

Gratefully Acknowledged

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Benefit from Increased Subscriptions

THE annual general meeting of the Hertford County Association was held at Hertford on April 1st. Ringing during the day was enjoyed at towers throughout the Eastern District, including Cheshunt, where, thanks to the efforts of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and the local ringers, a broken tenor clapper was replaced at 9 p.m. on the Friday evening. The service at All Saints', Hertford, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Reginald Haw, who, in welcoming those present, acknowledged that the clergy frequently omitted to record their appreciation of the service which ringers provide week by week. The lessons were read by Messrs. W. Ayre and K. J. Walpole, and a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells by Mr. T. J. Lock 1–2, Miss J. A. Fellows 3–4, Messrs. W. Ayre 5–6, J. R. Mayne 7–8 and J. A. D. Woolford 9–10.

Following the service 135 members sat down to tea before the business meeting was opened by the president, Mr. K. R. Dunstan. The meeting stood in silence in memory of those members who had died during the year; these included three life members—Messrs. C. E. R. Evans (Aldenham), J. T. Watkins (associate) and J. Wells (Kimpton)— and Mr. F. J. Spicer (St. Peter's, St. Albans) and Miss E. Wills (Norton).

The only matter arising from the minutes referred to the inclusion of advertisements in the annual report, an innovation which had been approved last year. This had not proved possible due to the economic situation.

Reading the report of the Management Committee, the general secretary (Mr. A. R. Agg) referred to the retirement from office of Messrs. E. G. Buck and H. V. Frost. Mr. Buck had served as secretary of the Northern District for 13 years and his enforced retirement would be deeply felt throughout the Association. Mr. Frost had held a number of offices, including those of District secretary, librarian, general secretary and, more recently, assistant secretary. In presenting his report, the treasurer (Mr. H. Collings) indicated an excess income of almost £20 due largely to the increase in subscriptions, this being the first balance sheet to reflect the changes. Nevertheless an income of nearly £15 was derived from interest on the Association's financial assets.

DROP IN PEALS

In the absence of the peal secretary (Mrs. C. A. Agg) the general secretary read her report, which showed a marked fall in the number of tower peals rung (63 compared with 85 in 1965), but an increase in the number of handbell peals to 27. There had been a general fall in the number of conductors, those ringing their first peal and new conductors. The librarian (Mrs. J. Dodds) reported that the sales of ringing literature, a venture introduced a few years ago, had fallen by £6 compared with 1965. This was due in some measure to saturation of the initial demand, but it was anticipated that sales would continue at a steadier rate.

The following new members were elected: Miss Margaret Evans (Hertford), Messrs. S. Jack (Hertford), B. Johnson (Watford) and D. Hooper (Abbots Langley). The following members were transferred from probationary to full membership: Misses J. B Edwards, J. R. Gibbs, J. M. Neal and Messrs S. J. Crawley and M A. Jackson, all of Hemel Hempstead.

NEW PRESIDENT FROM CHESHUNT

The meeting then proceeded with the election of officers. Mr. Ernest T. Newnham, of Cheshunt, was elected as president for 1967 and installed with his badge of office by the retiring president. In thanking members for the honour he had received, Mr. Newnham mentioned that his first reaction on being approached to accept nomination had been to decline. On reflection, however, he had reconsidered for two reasons: The improved state of ringing in the Eastern District, for which the District officers deserved recognition and encouragement, and the memory of his father, the late Mr. W. J. Newnham, who was affectionately known as the "little old man from Cheshunt." "Could he have been present today," said Mr. Newnham, "he would have been a proud man indeed."

The executive officers were all re-elected as follows: Mr A. R. Agg, general secretary; Mrs. M. A. Coburn, assistant secretary; Mr. H. Collings, treasurer; Mrs. C A. Agg, peal secretary; Mrs. J. Dodds, librarian; Messrs. Mercer and Hole auditors.

The final item on the agenda was concerned with the invitation to the Central Council to visit Hertfordshire The meeting was informed that the committee had agreed to advance the date of the invitation to 1969, since the venue for 1968 had been arranged outside London Thus a relatively brief meeting closed with Mr. R. E. Sheppard amply proposing a vote of thanks to all who had contributed to another enjoyable day's ringing.

Up and Coming Youngsters — No. 33

ALAN STANLEY BURBIDGE
St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham.

ALAN BURBIDGE is one of the many youngsters who has had the good fortune and privilege to start his ringing career with the St. Martin's Guild, known the world over as a great and active Guild and possessing many fine records.

Born at Birmingham on March 19th, 1948, Alan started his education at the George Dixon Grammar School He is now in his first year at Manchester University studying mathematics. When he was 11 he was introduced to ringing by his 16-year-old friend and neighbour, Donald F. Finnimore, who had himself been ringing for only one year. Donald gave up many of his evenings to teach Alan bell control. These lessons took place at SS. Peter and Paul's, Aston, a church with a notable ringing history, where great ringers such as John Carter and Henry Johnson took part in many peals.

Learning to ring in a flourishing ringing centre such as Birmingham enabled Alan to make rapid progress. Even so, he says that his first peal did not materialise at his first attempt, in fact he had 15 attempts before he scored his first peal, which was Bob Major, at Aston, in September, 1963, when he was 15. On this occasion he rang the second. His very first attempt at Grandsire Triples finished after 3 hours and 20 minutes in the order 12435678. Another hard luck effort for Alan was at Birmingham Cathedral when two bells crossed over in the last course of a peal of Cambridge Royal.

Alan's peak total to date is 30, of which he has conducted 13. His first as conductor was Yorkshire Surprise Major at Shirley, Birmingham, in November, 1965. His peal total includes 10,080 Plain Bob Major arranged and conducted by himself. Eleven of his peals have been rung with the Manchester University Guild since last November. One of his ambitions is to take part in good 12-bell peals. He believes that ringing attains its highest æsthetic value on 12 bells producing superb music when the bells are being rung at a high standard. He enjoys listening to 12-bell music from outside the tower, and has a wonderful opportunity to do this when in Birmingham now that there are regular Maximus peal attempts at the Cathedral.

Alan is interested in composing but so far has done very little beyond plain methods and Stedman. In this particular field of the art he has produced a peal of Grandsire Triples but considers it to be impractical because it contains 158 singles and only 60 plain leads. One of his productions is a date touch of Stedman Caters for 1966.

Alan also enjoys handbell ringing but has not yet scored a peal "in hand."

An excellent record and a fine example to all youngsters in the Exercise.

NORVING.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Dorchester Branch

Canon H. G. Green gave a warm welcome to 29 ringers and friends at the Dorchester Branch quarterly meeting held at Abbotsbury on April 8th. The easy-going six bells were put to good use during the afternoon and evening in various methods up to London Minor under the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. E. H. Amey.

The Guild service was conducted by Canon Green and the Branch chairman (the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth) read the lesson. Mr. Hutchings played the organ.

Tea was provided at the Flower Bowl Cafe, followed by a business meeting. A report on the annual Guild Committee meeting was given together with details of arrangements for the Guild Festival at Melksham in May.

Subject to approval, Branch practices will be held at Maiden Newton May 6th, Litton Cheney May 20th, Wool June 3rd, Charminster June 17th and Cattistock July 15th. Next quarterly meeting, Bere Regis, in July

Clerical Guild in Lincolnshire

THE annual tour of the Guild of Clerical Ringers takes place in the week following Low Sunday After two very wet and cold "Weeks" in Nottinghamshire and Sussex it seemed to be tempting Providence to select Lincolnshire as the venue in a year when Easter is unduly early. In the event the sun shone brightly on four of the five days, and apart from one wet day the meteorological hazard was a dust-storm in the Isle of Axholme!

A large party of clergy, wives and children converged on Bottesford, Leics, on April 3rd, many totally unaware of the glorious churches, varied and lovely scenery and splendid bells which lay ahead. Bottesford, though in Leicestershire, was a foretaste of the treats in store, and the standard methods were rung on the fine eight with a 22 cwt. tenor. Ringing on the ten at Grantham followed, but the party was not strong enough to attempt anything more ambitious than Grandsire and Stedman. The party then made its way along the limestone ridge to Lincoln, pausing to ring on the sixes at Leadenham and Brant Broughton—where the ringing unfortunately had to be curtailed owing to a death in the parish. And so Lincoln was reached, where the Diocesan Retreat House in the Old Palace made a splendid and comfortable H.Q. for the first three nights—even providing a chapel where our Corporate Communion was held the next morning and where Matins and Evensong were said. At St. Giles', Lincoln, in the evening, contact was made with local ringers, whose friendliness and welcome were much appreciated.

Tuesday was spent in the Wolds—the ironical cheer which was raised as we crossed the 50ft. contour being forgotten when later we found ourselves level with the top of Louth's magnificent spire. The highlights were our visits to Louth and Grimsby—where the ringing sadly came nowhere near doing justice to the lovely ten. These bells go perfectly and can be heard most clearly and so we had no excuse. At Waltham one of the churchwardens who is a ringer very kindly threw open his house to us at lunch-time and provided us with tea and coffee to drink with our sandwiches. Other towers visited were Wragby (6), Walesby (8) and Dunholme (6).

BEST SAVED FOR CATHEDRAL

The day was brought to a happy conclusion with a good ring on the lovely 12 at Lincoln Cathedral. Here Canon Thurlow, who had spent the day with us, and the vice-president of the Central Council were seen together, and a very unclerical looking Clerical Guild was photographed by the local Press. The bells were admired by all and the best was brought out of everyone, with the result that Stedman and Grandsire Cinques and Kent Maximus were rung and not just scraped through.

On Wednesday morning a good peal of Plain Bob was rung on the fine eight at Gainsborough, conducted by the president. The non-pealers, in visiting three sixes nearby, were astonished to find a kettle boiling in the church at Lea, and soon found themselves regaled with tea by the Vicar and his helpers. Willingham-by-Stow and Upton were also visited. In the afternoon Haxey bells (6, tenor nearly 19 cwt in D) proved difficult to strike, and one redoubtable tenor man maintained that the tower twisted when he went wrong. At Epworth we rang and ate tea in shifts, and applied rather more concentration to the latter than the former. We did better at Owston Ferry (a pleasant six in a beautifully-kept church), where the curious detected a total of 98 candles and sanctuary lights, and envious eyes were cast on the totals of communicants in the parish magazine. Evening ringing was at Washingborough, which included a breathless course of Cambridge Major at handbell speed.

The day came to a riotous conclusion in the Common Room, as an impromptu concert developed, and a well-known Canon and Rural Dean entertained the party with "Jimmy Law" which had the "Archdeacon" and 007 rolling uncontrollably on the floor, and everyone else helpless in their chairs. The lady warden came in to see what was afoot and was then treated to an encore, which reduced her to the same state of collapse as the rest. It is a pity that for security reasons we cannot reveal the Canon's name—for fear that he should be put under pressure to entertain the Ruridecanal Conference as a change from discussing the quota.

MISSED BOB

The Clerical Guild has never rung a peal of Royal, and a visit by ten determined men to Ewerby on Thursday morning did nothing to alter the situation In spite of fully half an hour spent adjusting ropes and tying knots, the ringing was never very good and a missed bob was welcomed by all the band as the best way out; the method was Plain Bob. Later on, after we had been provided with cups of tea by the Vicar and his ladies in the Village Hall at lunch-time, a half-course of Cambridge Royal was rung here The lost peal attempt enabled the pealers to join the rest, who had been ringing on the sixes at Branston and Harmston, and ring at Sleaford, where a course of Yorkshire Major was achieved.

In the afternoon there was ringing on the sixes at Tattershall and Coningsby. The former church—a truly magnificent building—was in the throes of extensive repairs, and so when the treble set itself at backstroke and the rope snapped beneath the sally there were ladders available to reach the forlorn rope, high in the vastness of the huge tower space.

At Horncastle one of our members, the Rev. A. C F. Davies is Vicar, and he and his ringers entertained us to a most sumptuous tea. Following some good ringing on the fine six we sang Evensong and then made our way to Woodhall Spa, where the last night was spent. Unfortunately, while looking round the church Mrs Longridge tripped and fell and cut her head and eye. She had to go to Lincoln for treatment and so we did not have her or her husband with us for the rest of the time.

NO TOWER FOR ABSENT-MINDED

On Friday we had two towers before we broke up. The 185 stairs at Boston proved that some of us are ageing more than we thought, and our ringing suffered accordingly. One of us left his coat in the belfry and was greatly relieved when a kind friend brought it down. It does not do to be absent-minded here! At Heckington (8), as successive carloads made their adieus, Double Norwich, not previously attempted, was just about rung. And so, with a good lower, the tour ended.

At the annual meeting of the Guild, held at the Spa Hotel, Woodhall Spa, on April 6th, all the officers of the Guild were re-elected, viz.: President the Rev R. D. St. J Smith; vice-presidents, Canons B. F Sheppard and K. W H Felstead; hon. secretary, Prcb. J. H. B Andrews; committee members, the Revs. I. J. Richards and J B. T. Homfray. It was agreed to hold next year's tour in Worcestershire if possible. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to all the incumbents and ringers who had, in most cases, very kindly welcomed us We shall long remember this pleasant county with its beautiful churches and noble bells. P. T. R.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

Frome Branch

Hinton Blewitt (5) welcomed the Branch on April 8th when the spring quarterly meeting attracted about 40 members. The Rev. Raynold Wilson conducted the service and Fred Andrews, who is Hinton Blewitt, led everyone in to a splendid meal provided free by the ladies and friends of the parishes concerned.

Having got rid of all their steam at the Bath and Wells annual general meeting, members found little to discuss, and after George Massey had given an excellent résumé of the Yeovil meeting, the only other business was a request from Camerton that all towers support their draw in aid of the Bell Restoration Fund. Philip 'ones ' thanked everybody for having us " and suddenly it was all over. Recovering from the shock of such a short (and quiet) meeting, members continued the ringing at Hinton and also Litton (6).

The story of the day was provided by a quite young boy who came from Bristol and walked the two good miles from Temple Cloud to Hinton to get a ring. He got a lift back, of course.

Striking competition on April 29th is at East Harptree. Please advise organisers of your team's requirements. M. H.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Mansfield District

The first bi-monthly meeting of the Mansfield District in 1967 was held at Greasley on March 18th.

Ringing was given over almost solely to the less experienced members and it was felt that a good deal of progress was made.

Tea was served in the Church Hall by the local company, followed by the business meeting, at which details of arrangements concerning the forthcoming Central Council visit were explained and discussed. Ringing continued during the evening until 9 p.m.

Next full meeting: May 20th, Hucknall (Cup contest). D. J. B.

NEW ROMNEY, KENT. — On April 19th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: Miss L. Terry 1, Mrs. R. Wratten 2, Miss M. Vantom 3, R. J Birch 4, R. A. Birch, jun. 5, R. A. Swift 6, R. Swift (cond.) 7, A. S. Phelips 8. To celebrate the 86th birthday of the tower captain, Mr H S Humphery; also the birthday of Mrs. R. Wratten.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal at Norton Subcourse (page 223) was rung on Sunday, February 26th

The Ashford, Kent, District, have recently printed a card for hanging in church porches giving details of ringing times and address of tower secretary.

Miss Margaret Roden is to be congratulated upon the way in which she rang the treble at Knebworth for her first peal of Major, writes Mr. P. Mehew, the conductor.

Found at the Surrey Association Dinner, April 8th—a lady's gold bracelet. Will the owner, please contact Mr B. Bull, 68, Gowan Avenue, London. W.6.

Mr. A. P. Cannon has reached an objective which started five years ago of ringing five Surprise Major peals in a day at different towers. The towers were Aldermaston (Yorkshire), Stratfield Mortimer (Lincolnshire), Thatcham (London), East Ilsley (Superlative) and Highclere (Cambridge).

In the quarter of Spliced Surprise Major at Ringwood (page 271) Mr. W. E. Cheater, the tower captain, informs us that only six of the band are Sunday service ringers at the tower in question.

In the peal of York Surprise Major at Goudhurst, Kent (see page 256), Doris Colgate was ringing her first peal in the method "inside." Tony Lewis his first in the method, and the remainder of the band first of Major in the method. It was also the 100th peal together for Tony Lewis and Ian Oram.

The ladies of the Coventry Guild made their mark by ringing a peal of Plain Bob Minor, their first attempt, at Shilton, Warwicks, on April 3rd. The band consisted of ringers from Kenilworth, Southam, Chilvers Coton and Wellesbourne. Four members, including the conductor, 17-year-old Shirley E. Jones, are still at school, working for their A levels this summer.

UPTON GREY—AN ENCOURAGING EXAMPLE

Since going to Upton Grey, Hants, just over a year ago, the Vicar, the Rev. John Franks, has had the tower repaired and has gathered an enthusiastic band of ringers under the leadership of Mr. J. Lewis. The bells, which in recent years had only been rung occasionally by visiting bands, now regularly ring out their summons to worship.

The Basingstoke District held its spring meeting there on April 15th. The easy-going and melodious ring of six (tenor 9 cwt.) attracted many visitors. After shortened Evensong, conducted by the Vicar, over 50 ringers sat down to a sumptuous tea in the Village Hall. At the business meeting which followed, 18 new members, including all the new local band, were elected to membership of the Guild.

THE PRACTICE AND AFTER

"The Irish Bell News" (3s. per annum, editor Fred E Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Whitecross, Drogheda, Co. Louth) has another attractive issue in which the Editor has some trite observations on bell practices. He emphasises the social side of a practice and quotes one place in England where the local innkeeper listens for the bells to be rung down and puts a row of pint glasses full of ale along the counter to await the ringers to arrive after their thirsty job.

Because of difficulty in attending practices he quotes one tower where ringers assemble one hour before Sunday services so that beginners may be helped, new ringers taught and more experienced ringers given an opportunity to conduct.

DAGENHAM LOCAL PEAL

The hallmark of a local company is its ability to ring a peal on its own. This has been accomplished at Dagenham Parish Church, the last all-local peal there being in 1937, before the bells were augmented from six to eight. Mr. J. M. Armstrong informs us that the band, with the exception of himself, are all between the ages of 14 and 18 and all are regular ringers at the church.

The peal itself was well struck from beginning to end and was rung at the first attempt. The four first-pealers in particular did extremely well and there were very few mistakes. The band are now looking forward to peals in more advanced methods.

EPSOM RINGERS' QUARTER OUTING

Organised by John Helder, 13 ringers from Epsom and neighbourhood had a quarter peal outing into Sussex on April 15th. Six attempts were made with four successes. Stedman Triples was lost at Horsham and Grandsire Triples at Chichester. There was something new for everybody. Successes were Plain Bob Triples, Billingshurst; Grandsire Triples, Petworth; Cambridge Major, Pulborough; and Double Norwich, Arundel.

STEEPLEKEEPERS' QUARTER

Six Bedfordshire steeplekeepers met at Houghton Conquest on April 18th and rang "at blistering speed" a quarter of 1,260 Plain Bob Minor. Participants were: Ian Knox (Houghton Regis) 1, N Pett (Toddington) 2, K. G. Spavins (Woburn) 3, D. W. Manton (Cranfield) 4, R. R. Churchill (Husborne Crawley) 5, Roy Ward (Houghton Conquest) 6.

A VETERAN OFFICER

C. WILLIAM COOPER

Mr. C. W. Cooper, who will be 81 this year, is one of the oldest members of the Worcestershire and Districts Association. He is also the longest serving officer, having been librarian since the library was begun in 1929.

Mr. Cooper, who was first elected a member in 1913, was elected a "freeman" of the Association in 1966 in recognition of his long and valuable services.

His peal total is 92, of which 47 have been rung for the Worcestershire Association, the last peal in which he rang being Grandsire Triples in December last year.

A LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY TOUR

Nine members of Liverpool University Society accompanied by three friends had an enjoyable outing into North Wales on March 11th, travelling by minibus. Mr. Joe Ridyard and two friends joined in ringing at Overton. The best towers visited were Oswestry, where Cambridge Major was achieved, and Llangollen. Compensation for the very rough ring at Ruthin was the short conducted tour of the fine 13th century church given by the tower captain.

BRISTOL'S "MARRIAGE BUREAU"

Having had an established "Society Cupid" amongst its honorary officers since the early '50's, Bristol University Society claims the greatest success as a "marriage bureau" amongst its members. Fourteen pairs have been married in the last 14 years, and with at least two more pairs soon to take the plunge the rate looks like being maintained. For the statistically minded the weddings involved five Past Masters, six ex-secretaries, five ex-tower secretaries, six ex-treasurers and four ex-first-year representatives, not to mention four past cupids whose arrows bounced!

THE TOWER GRABBER'S LAMENT

A serious student named Stencil
Made notes about towers, all in pencil.
He wrote of one bell
"It doesn't go well
And it sounds like a bedroom utensil."

100 PEALS AT BUNWELL

On Wednesday, April 12th, a peal of Minor in seven methods was rung at Bunwell, bringing the total to 100 and thus becoming the first six-bell tower in Norfolk to reach that number.

There were five bells here in 1740 and six in 1747, but unfortunately there is no record of how the increase was effected.

The inscriptions on the bells are:—

Treble: James Baldwin Rector. James Baldwin Jnr. John Blake. 1733 T N.

Second. Henry Pleasant made me 1669.

Third: Henry Pleasant made me 1669. John Blake.

The first peal was rung on April 30th, 1892, in 2 Hours and 59 Minutes, being three extents of Oxford T.B. three extents of Kent T.B. and one extent of Plain Bob. The ringers were R. Hutton (conductor) 1, G. Smith, sen. 2, J. Hilling 3, A. Dunnett 4, G. Smith, jun. 5, J. Hinchley tenor. The two G. Smiths were grandfather and uncle to the conductor of the 100th peal.

Ninety-seven ringers have taken part in the peals, with C. F. W. Phillippo and F. C. Arnold leading with 77 each, followed by T. C. Browne 52, W. G. Saunders 47, F. Pearson 31 and R. Burt 27. The leading conductors are C. F. W. Phillippo with 64 and R. Hutton 10, and over 20 have rung their first peal at Bunwell.

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPT

Chester Guild, Inveraray, Saturday, May 6th.

MORETON HAMPSTEAD—A GROUND-FLOOR RING

Moreton Hampstead, where the Mid-Devon Branch held a meeting on April 8th, has now a ground-floor ring. Despite the springy ropes, the bells were well utilised, ringing including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent T.B. Major. The Rev. N. McGee conducted the service and after a bountiful tea ringing took place at Lustleigh.

"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

This unique work, second in the series entitled

is complete in itself. Its subject is treated both for beginners and for advanced practical ringers. It is not a textbook on specific methods, of which several exist, but it shows, for the first time, the detailed structure of the general plan of change-production, by types of methods, traced from 3-bell (basic) to 12-bell stages

Well bound in an attractive stiff cover in blue with gold lettering the book measures 8" x 6¼" x 1" and contains nearly 300 of such large pages with some 80 figures or diagrams, also 8 double-page and 5 single-page "charts." Included are series of "definitions" and "axioms" listed to serve as an index. Paragraphs throughout are numbered for ready cross-reference. Chapters close with test-questions and indication of answer-location.

This book is very highly commended, especially by leading members of the Exercise, including the Rev. Canon Gilbert Thurlow, M.A., Fredk. Sharpe, F.S.A., and E. C. Shepherd. (See "Ringing World" 1966 pp 339 and 490.) Much of the work was hitherto unpublished in book form.

The whole book has been planned for issue at minimum cost of production, being thereby cut from pounds to shillings so as to be within the reach of all. The price, packing and postage included, is only 17/- (seventeen shillings), and your copy comes by return of post from: College Publications, 40, Parkstone Avenue Southsea, Hants. 897

WEST COUNTRY IDEAS ON SOUND CONTROL

I REMEMBER going a few years ago to help at the practice of a young band who had just started up with no really competent ringer to train them. One of their many problems was that the bells were very hard to hear, and in trying to remedy this they had opened both traps in the tower floors without any improvement. The curious thing was that as soon as one stepped out from the ground-floor ringing chamber through the open arch into the nave of the church the bells were far less loud—and perfectly clear.

In fact there are one or two towers in which the bells are so quiet in the ringing room that the conductor hardly has to speak above a whisper, yet there is no difficulty in hearing the bells, and there are many in which the bells are dreadfully noisy in the ringing room but hard to pick out one from the other. What matters, then, first of all, is not how much sound gets to the ringing room but what sort of sound it is. What one wants is sufficient of the strike notes to overcome extraneous noise, and as little as possible of the harmonics, which, unlike the strike note, are of long duration and therefore get mixed together into what some ringers call a "howl."

Extraneous noise most often comes from rope-rattle, and this varies enormously from one tower to another, but in my experience it is worst when the ropes pass through a fairly low floor above the ringing room which has no ceiling on its underside. Sally-guides can sometimes be noisy, but they should not be unless they are very loose in their clamps on the framework. The ideal seems to be a stout floor above the ringing room with a plaster ceiling below it, but this may be extensive to install, as new bosses will be required.

It was with some of these ideas in mind that we embarked last week on an experiment in our tower, which houses a ring of eight (tenor 13 cwt.), the three trebles hung above. The floor below the frame is of 2in. oak with ½in. spaces between the boards; the clock chamber is about 12ft. high with a plain floor of ¾in. pine, and there is no ceiling in the first-floor ringing room. When the two trebles were put in, a sound-tube was fitted to make them more audible, but it was later found that this was better stuffed with cotton wool. The bells are not unusually difficult to hear, but the little ones could be better, and when rising the back six in peal the third can get lost halfway up in the hum from the tenors.

Believing that, paradoxical as it may seem, the cure for inaudible bells may be to make them quieter, we set about sound-control. In the clock chamber was a good deal of sawdust put there for this purpose, but it was not possible to use much of it as anything but a thin layer would have come down the rope holes. Sawdust is good sound insulation, however, and it may be had for the fetching; the problem was to put enough of it up there without getting it in the ringing room.

The answer was a friendly farmer. Artificial manures nowadays come in one cwt. bags of strong polythene, and they are non-returnable. Most farmers find it quicker when loading their spreaders to cut the bags down the long side, but we had a friend who agreed to cut 50 or so across the ends. Two ringers with a van collected five cwt. of sawdust from a neighbouring sawmill, and two others spent two hours filling the bags and carrying them up to the clock chamber, where they were laid on the floor to form a covering of about three inches thick. As the bags were not very full it was not necessary to seal them; the open ends were left overlapping their neighbours, but it would have been very easy to clip them up with an office stapler.

The effect has not been startling but it is certainly noticeable. The boom from the tenors is less but the trebles chirp out more clearly; the ringing room is quieter, and the rattle of the ropes has been reduced to a clicking which is far less troublesome. If we had used twice the quantity of sawdust and filled the bags fuller it would seem that the effect would be even greater, but we do not feel that anything further is needed. The cost in man-hours has been five hours. The financial side works out as follows:

5 cwt. sawdust at 0s. 0d. per cwt.	0	0	0

You cannot have sound control much cheaper than that. What is more, I believe that with a little ingenuity one could apply the same principle to external sound control with very little more expense. J. G. M. S.

OUR PICTURE

HAMPTON-ON-THAMES

RECORDS show that a church has stood on this site beside the Thames for at least 600 years. The present church was built in 1830–31 replacing an earlier one of red brick construction with a tower containing a ring of six bells. The tenor of this old six was reputed to weigh about one ton, and the bells were rung from the ground floor.

Being so close to Hampton Court, there have over the years been many connections with royalty, and in the south porch entrance there is a monument to Dame Sibel Penn, Dame Sibel was nurse to Edward VI and lived in a house next to the church. Amongst the various mural tablets to be found on the walls are one to David Garrick, nephew of the actor, who died in 1795, and one to Susanna Thomas, who died in 1731. Susanna Thomas was the only daughter of Sir Dalby Thomas, Knight, Governor of the African Company's settlements, and it is to her tomb that Jerome K. Jerome refers in "Three Men in a Boat."

The present tower contains a ring of eight bells (tenor 12¼ cwt. in F sharp), all cast by Thomas Mears II. Prior to the 1939 war the bells were rung by a band of call change ringers, but after the war, under the guidance of the Middlesex County Association, a young band was taught and change ringing introduced. In 1960 the B.B.C. made a recording of the bells for the Christmas broadcast of that year, and subsequently the recording has been much used to open the B.B.C. Home Service on Sunday mornings over the last two years.

Although peal ringing has to be fairly limited on account of the nearby houses, the tower has had the distinction of recording two of the three peals of Scientific Triples so far rung. This rather intriguing principle and a composition for a peal were produced by John Carter in 1904, just one of the fruits of his incredibly active mind. Soon after the second world war a certain amount of interest in it was revived, and the late A. J. Pitman composed a second, and simpler, composition for a peal. This was rung at Hampton in 1958, and followed by a successful attempt, earlier this year, at John Carter's original composition. W. S. D.

Challenge Shield Gift to Middlesex

A novel gift was presented to the Middlesex County Association at its annual general meeting at Pinner, on April 15th, of a copper salver adorned with hand-painted lilies. It was the gift of Mr F. T Blagrove and came from Rhodesia, where the donor did yeoman service at Salisbury Cathedral. The plate will be held as the trophy of a striking competition. The present holders are Hillingdon and it will be up to any tower in the Association to challenge them. A challenge must be accepted within 30 days, and the judge will be the Master of the Association.

The president (the Rev. G. C. Taylor) thanked Mr. Blagrove for his gift, and Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, as captain at Hillingdon, said he welcomed a challenge from any tower. "These striking competitions are of great benefit and very enjoyable."

There was a good attendance at the service, which was conducted by the Rev. D. Ritchie, who was once a member of Oxford University Guild and he recalled in his address that while in Oxford he once rang in seven different towers on a Sunday morning.

The business meeting followed an excellent tea, and an act of remembrance of losses through death opened the proceedings. Those remembered were T. R. Dennis (Cambridge), J. E Grensted (Borden), W. H. Hewett (St. Margaret's, Westminster), A. J. Pitman (Leamington Spa), E. D. Smith (Leytonstone), F. J. Spicer (St. Albans) and R. Wilkinson (Harrow Weald).

Mr. W. S. Deason in his report as Master said John Mayne during his Mastership encouraged bands to get together and help one another. There was a great need for this. Another thing they had fallen down on was in quarter peal ringing. A lot more could be done in that direction as quarter peals were of great value to young members.

Mrs. Mayne asked if there was any evidence of towers not sending their quarters to "The Ringing World."

The hon. secretary: It may be there are towers without a conductor. As an Association we would like to hear of such cases. It is not a difficult job to put in a few bobs here and there.

Presenting the accounts, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow (hon. treasurer) said the Bell Restoration Fund showed an increased income due to Bill Deason's "little pig" collecting boxes. There was a balance of £81 6s. 8d. (grants paid Upper Clapton £25, Pimlico £25). The sum of £25 had been voted to Cranford. The Central Fund showed an increase in receipts, an outcome of the decision to raise the subscription. There was an excess of receipts over payments of £4 3s. 7d. (last year payments exceeded receipts by £32). Central Council representatives had not received expenses and there was no grant from the Central Fund for bell restoration.

POINTS FROM THE REPORT

Presenting the annual report, Mr. T. J. Lock said there seemed to be no marked improvement in the general level of Sunday service ringing, although there were still a number of members who conscientiously travelled a fair distance to give their assistance in this duty. The monthly practice meetings at St. Giles-in-the-Fields produced an average attendance of 23. The two Districts had shared in 13 Saturday meetings, 13 evening meetings, three joint meetings and five Surprise practices. Twenty-three ringing members and 19 non-resident members were elected but because of resignations the membership had dropped.

Mr. Lock mentioned that 108 quarter peals in 32 different towers included London Surprise Major on Westminster Abbey bells at the invitation of the Dean. Peals totalled 53 and 11 members rang their first peal. Mrs. M. E. Goodyer, who had now returned to Australia, rang her first tower bell peal. Two "peals" alleged to have been rung at Feltham and Much Hadham, appearing in "The Ringing World," were falsely reported and were not acceptable for the Association's records. A bookcase for use in the library had been presented by Mrs. E. Bradford, widow of a past member and mother of Mrs. T. J. Lock.

Miss R. M. Foreman, assistant secretary, presented the report of the dinner sub-committee, and the president thanked the committee for providing an excellent dinner.

MR. JOHN MAYNE HONOURED

The officers were all re-elected and thanked for their services. Mr. A. Cutler moved that Mr. John R. Mayne be elected an honorary life member. He well deserved the honour now that he had moved to St. Albans. Mr. W. H. Coles seconded and the motion was carried with acclamation.

Thanking the members, Mr. Mayne said he would always think of the Middlesex as his Association although he lived the other side of the border.

A report was submitted by the library sub-committee on the question of insuring the books. Many were irreplaceable and the committee was unable to place a value on them. A question was asked if they were covered by the general insurance of the church and the chairman replied that they were not listed. Another suggestion was that the irreplaceable books be photographed; money would be better spent that way than in insurance. The question was referred back to the committee.

An amendment of rules was submitted by Mr. F. T. Blagrove that life members be elected by the Association and honorary members by the Districts. This was referred to the Central Committee.

The next annual general meeting was provisionally fixed for St. Peter's, Staines.

Mr. W. S. Deason said the Association was coming up for its 70th birthday and he hoped that peals would be rung in honour of the occasion.

The president in his vote of thanks especially thanked the Rector, Mr. D. E. R. Knights (captain at Pinner) and Mrs. Bardsley and her helpers for preparing tea.

TALKING TURKEY AT TORRINGTON

LIKE a long-married couple who derive much of their zest for living from a series of recurrent rows yet need one another completely, West Down and Down St. Mary continue in a kind of love/hate relationship. The disappearance of either band from the peak of the Devon six-bell pyramid would be an irreparable loss to the other; yet should Merv Phillips suffer some disablement that reduced his efficiency in a rise by just one per cent. (no more), Down St. Mary would not be altogether prostrated with grief, and West Down might be almost relieved to hear that Tom Wright had lost just the smallest fraction of his ear for rhythm. The two teams get on wonderfully well in company, and this year they sealed this good friendly rivalry by dining together in Torrington on February 18th.

As was to be expected, the evening began in the tower, where the bells were kept going for over an hour. For once there was no competitive spirit at all there; they rang eight throughout, and each band that rang consisted of three from Down St. Mary, three from West Down and two youngsters from one tower or the other. As a result, they tell me, the ringing was not up to the usual Downs' standard, but what a very good principle there was behind it.

A turkey dinner was the next item, with 34 ringers and wives sitting down to it; Mr. Oatway, the president of the Devon Association was there, and each team had brought all its trophies with it, so that there must have been an assembly of ringing silverware such as had never before been gathered in one place.

The whole evening was such a rousing success that the two Downs are determined to make it an annual affair.

The "big league" fixtures of the Devon Association begin in April with the eight-bell competition at Newton St. Cyres on the 22nd. In May the North Devon six-bell will be held at Landkey on the 13th, and the South Devon six-bell on the 27th at Stoke Fleming, near Dartmouth. With its wonderful situation above Start Bay and a very fine six to listen to, this ought to be well worth a trip for anyone holidaying early in the best part of the Devon year.

The final will be at Ilfracombe on June 10th. The secretary of the Association, Edgar Cole, has put in the schedule this year some strong words on the matter of teams turning up in time for the draw: in the past at some competitions it has not been unknown to have only two or three teams there for the draw 20 minutes after it was supposed to have been made, the latecomers relying on their rivals being too sporting to claim their disqualification if they were unlucky enough to be drawn first. This is not fair, and one hopes that the secretary's words will be heeded.

We are glad to hear that Marwood are coming back into the picture again since they replaced their ringing-chamber floor. When the floor became unsafe many years ago they removed it and rang downstairs, and the bells never went so well like that; now we hear that they are a pleasure to ring on and the Marwood ringers have a new surge of keenness as a result. THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

On May 1st the following had not complied with Rule 8: Australia and New Zealand Association, Devon Association, Guild of Devonshire Ringers, Ladies' Guild, Oxford Society, South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association, Universities Association.

I shall be pleased to receive the affiliation fees from the officers responsible at an early date.—Vernon Bottomley, Hon. Secretary, 45, Westercroft Lane, Northowram, Halifax, Yorks.

LYMPNE, KENT.—On April 16th, 1,260 Doubles (three methods): R. P. Brotherston 1, G. Nellson 2, Elizabeth Todd (cond.) 3, H. P. Yates 4, B. Butcher 5, R. Gemmell 6. For Evensong.

A Day! — Five Peals in Different Towers

"THE Cream of the South" were gathered together by the invitation of Geoff Dodd on Saturday, April 22nd, to make what had to be the final attempt to ring five Surprise Major peals in five different towers in one day, as Geoff Dodd's wife had finally put her foot down to say "Definitely the last."

There was Pat Cannon (Dorking), who was going to show us how Mortimer tenor should be rung; David Hilling (Slough), who was making his first venture on anything like this, John Hunt (Bristol), who has done much to liven up the West Country; Philip Mehew (Stotfold, Beds), one of the old brigade who has joined in all Geoff Dodd's mad ideas from the first five in a day in April, 1958.

George Thoday had motored down from Cambridge on the Sunday night, and last came this way in 1963, when we were let down at Bucklebury; Brian Bladon, another old stager in at the first, who came direct from Swindon; and finally the two local men, Reg Rex (Thatcham), who was gamely tackling it for the third time with only one arm, and Geoff Dodd (Highclere), who can be talked into anything.

POLICE INVESTIGATE

A 2.30 a.m. meet at Aldermaston was on the programme and we were all there to the minute and at 2.50 a.m. were away to the start of the first one, Yorkshire, with George Thoday in charge.

All went well for an hour on the fully-muffled bells, when through the door stepped two policemen who wanted to know what we were doing ringing bells at 4 a.m. Pat explained what we were setting out to do and, seeming satisfied, they wished us luck and departed. This peal was successfully completed by 5.47 a.m. in 2 hours and 57 minutes, and after removing the muffles ready for an afternoon attempt of Spliced by Tony Peake's band, we set off for Mortimer.

A quick breakfast of sandwiches before the 7 a.m. start at Stratfield Mortimer. However, it was 7.5 before we got going but a good peal of Lincolnshire was rung without interruption, and then the dash to Thatcham, a good nine miles, for the third peal of the day.

We had been inspired by David to attempt London instead of the usual Rutland, despite one of our older members whose motto is "Simplicity means success," but our optimism was justified when a first-class peal on these fine-toned bells was rung with no worrying moments at all. We now felt that, with the London over, success was in our grasp and rushed the 12 miles to East Ilsley without any lunch but we were still 40 minutes late in starting, the 2.30 p.m. start being 3.10.

SECOND ATTEMPT

Whether it was a psychic reaction or that we were now feeling tired we will never know, but after two courses of Pitstow's Superlative a muddle developed and the conductor called "Stand"; a second start was made at 3.25 but the ringing did not come up to the standard of our peal of London. Nevertheless, we successfully concluded the peal at 6.12 and, after thanking John Hibbert and leaving him to let the tenor down, a lightning dash was made to Highclere for a late start for the final peal, the 14 miles being covered in record time.

We started the final peal at 7.12, shaking off the tiredness felt at East Ilsley, and setting off to a good beat with John Hunt at the helm completed a good peal of Cambridge at 10.7.

A loud banging on the door made us wonder what trouble we were in for; the organiser was sent down to make the peace only to find Sylvia Dodd and Gillian Hunt loaded up with bottles of beer, and for this we were most grateful.

The final parting of the ways came at the Highclere Red House an hour later; the publican here understands ringers, having done some himself at Thatcham years ago. We should like to associate Robin Leale, Jack Munday and Malcolm Cloke with these peals, all three having stood in a previous attempt when we rang four and lost the last one after two hours' ringing.

A RECAP

For the writer it gave personal satisfaction, after three previous tries, the first in 1958, when we lost the first attempt, rang three peals and abandoned the last; the second, in in 1960, when we rang four; an attempt in 1963, when we rang two, and then at Bucklebury found that the local captain had not notified the Vicar.

Thus we have finally managed it in 1967, this being mainly due to the persuasion and enthusiasm of Pat Cannon and David Hilling in having one more go and do or die.

We are grateful to all incumbents and tower captains for the use of their bells, especially David Wilcox and the Rev. S. Young, of Aldermaston, for the use of their bells on four occasions. Without Aldermaston none of the attempts could have been made, as there are few church towers that will allow their bells to be rung at 3 a.m. Thank you all.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.—Rural Branch.—Practice meeting at St. Werburgh's, Bristol East. Thursday, May 25th, 7.30 to 9 p.m.—R. H. Driver, Branch Sec.

AMALGAMATIONS IN THE COTSWOLDS PLANNED

The annual general meeting of the Stow-on-the-Wold Branch, which was held at Bourton-on-the-Water on April 2nd, was attended by the new chairman of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, Miss E. Mary Bliss, and the Association Ringing Master, P./Sgt. W. F. Scudamore.

To the very large attendance Miss Bliss spoke on the recommendations of the Boundaries Sub-Committee, that the towers in Stow-on-the-Wold District, together with the towers in the Chipping Campden Deanery would be amalgamated to form the North Cotswold Branch. These recommendations were being reviewed and would be implemented at a later date.

Mr. Scudamore suggested that the Branch should organise a Cotswold Ringing Festival to be held either in August or September. It is to be considered at the June meeting.

The officials were all re-elected, viz.: Chairman, Rev. L. W. Potter; secretary and treasurer, Mr. L. C. Dowdeswell; Ringing Master, Mr. A. W Wright; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. L. Joynes.

A resolution was unanimously carried electing Mr. Bernard Phillips and Mr. A. W. Wright as honorary life members. Mr. Phillips had completed a half-century of active ringing at Bourton-on-the-Water and when the Branch was re-formed in 1958 was elected Ringing Master. Mr. Wright had been a regular ringer at Bourton-on-the-Water for 55 years and was mainly responsible for teaching and maintaining a regular band that rang twice every Sunday. Since 1953 he had been Branch Ringing Master.

The Rector, the Rev. C. H. Pickthorn, conducted the service and after tea St. Albans ringers present rang a touch of Grandsire Triples "in hand" (Mr. R. W. Darvill, Mrs. M. Darvill, Miss H. Darvill and Miss T. Willis).

Yorkshire Association meet at Skipton

THE annual general meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held on April 30th at Skipton.

The programme of ringing started at 10.15 a.m. and included nine towers in the area, many of which were new to the members from the other side of the county. The towers were: Addingham, Bingley, Gargrave, Giggleswick, Ilkley, Keighley, Kildwick, Silsden and Skipton. Members would wish to thank the general secretary, Mr. Wilfrid Moreton, for the enormous amount of organisation as well as the incumbents and local tower captains for their hospitality and arrangements.

Ilkley is, of course, famous as the home of the Snowdon family. The window in memory of Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, with its pictures of almost every position of the swinging bell, must often have served to illustrate an explanation.

With so many towers available, some only for an hour, the ringing inevitably assumes the nature of a "tower grab", but by mid-afternoon ringers were converging on the glorious Taylor eight at Skipton. Heard in the street they are beautiful; in the ringing chamber overtones can be heard which one usually only associates with the "sing" of lowering in peal.

The service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. C. L. Martineau, who from the pulpit welcomed the ringers and spoke briefly on the theme of the ringers' hymn, which was also sung to its correct tune. Tea, attended by about 115 ringers, was served in the Millfield Hall, organised by Messrs. Christopher Lawson and George Dean. The former, at the Rector's request, replied to a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Michael Meadows.

Mr. Vernon Bottomley, the president, was in the chair for the business meeting. A very satisfactory balance was shown in the treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. Bottomley, who said this was due to having found a cheaper printer of the annual report. When Mr. Bottomley was elected president, his wife accepted the office of treasurer for the unexpired part of his term of office. She was warmly thanked by Mr. W. Barton and presented with a bouquet by Ralph Moreton, the younger son of the general secretary. Mr. Christopher Moxon was elected the new treasurer.

Other elections were: Auditors, Messrs. W. Barton and J. W. Gibson (no change); representatives to the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies, Messrs. E. Hudson and J. Chaddock.

The peal secretary, Mr. W. E. Critchley, reported over 200 peals for the Association in the year. The president thanked him and Dr. Spenser (assistant peal secretary) for their work. Mr. E. Hudson thanked the general secretary.

The president reported the death of Mr. Francis Ward, of Sheffield, who had been a member since 1902, and members stood as a mark of respect.

The president referred to Denholme bells, which have been removed from the tower. He and Mrr. Bottomley had seen the incumbent and advised him. It is hoped a light ring will be cast for the tower from the old bells.

The following forthcoming events were mentioned: June 17th, ringing festival at Halifax; September 16th, next general meeting at Whitby; October 21st, Jasper Snowdon Commemoration Dinner at Cottingham; December 8th-10th, Grantley Hall course; May 4th, 1968, annual meeting at York.

The president gave notice of motion for the September meeting, a recommendation from the committee to give a donation from the general fund to the York Minster appeal.

150 PEALS AT ST. MARY'S, PUTNEY

ON March 4th the 150th peal was rung on the bells of St. Mary the Virgin's, Putney. There is no record of there being any peals rung on the six bells which existed prior to 1836, when they were recast and augmented to eight by Mears and Stainbank.

PEALS

The first recorded peal was therefore Grandsire Triples on February 6th, 1837, rung for the St. James' Society and conducted by Thomas Tolladay. The next peal, which was also the first of Major on the bells, was Treble Bob (presumably Kent), rung on May 20th, 1839, for the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths; this was also the longest in changes, being 5,280.

One of the most active periods was from 1885 to 1906, during which time 72 peals were rung, including 14 of Surprise, the first of which was Superlative on September 19th, 1894. After the first war peals were infrequent and after 1923 there were only peals in 1925, 1934, 1945, 1949, 1953 and 1956. The bells were rehung in 1953 by John Taylor's and fitted with metal headstocks and ball bearings. From 1959 to date exactly 50 peals have been rung, the most being ten in both 1965 and 1966.

METHODS

There were 26 individual methods rung on the bells plus four of Spliced Surprise; despite modern trends, Triples account for half the total, there having been 76 rung.

The breakdown of methods is as follows:—Triples: Grandsire 42, Stedman 33, St. Clement's 1. Total 76.

Treble Bob Major: Kent 9, Oxford 1. Total 10.

Surprise Major: Alderney 1, Bristol 1, Cambridge 4, Eastcote 1, Glasgow 1, Hendon 1, Lincolnshire 4, London 7, Nechells 1, New Gloucester 1, Orkney 1, Putney 1, Rutland 1, Superlative 5, Westminster 2, Wight 1, Yorkshire 4. Total 37.

Total Surprise 41. Total Major 74.

There have been four first perfomances here—Orkney Surprise, Putney Surprise, Wight Surprise and Richmond, the latter being the first in the method on tower bells.

There have been some odd gaps in the method ringing. Cambridge was rung in 1897 and not again until 1956. Plain Bob was not rung until 1902, again in 1923 and not again until 1961, whilst Double Norwich was rung in 1930 and not again until 1963

The slowest peal on the bells was 5,088 of Double Norwich on January 21st, 1884, which took 3 hours and 20 minutes, and the fastest was 5,184 Plain Bob Major on June 12, 1965, in 2 hours and 36 minutes.

RINGERS

Many famous names feature in the peal columns and, in all, 464 different ringers took part in the performances, and there were 67 different conductors.

The top ten ringers were: W. E. Garrard 34, C. F. Mew 33, W. T. Cockerill 27, H. R. Newton 27, J. W. Driver 24, C. F. Winney 24, B. J. Bull 22, M. J. Uphill 18, E. H. Adams 17, A. R. Millidge 17.

The top conductors were: C. F. Mew 21, C. F. Winney 13, W. E. Garrard 12, H. R. Newton 8, H. Langdon 5, J. W. Driver 4.

In the 127 years (from 1836 to 1953) only two women rang peals on the bells—Miss C. A. Neville (1903) and Mrs R. F. Deal (1925).

ASSOCIATIONS

The peals were rung for 15 different Associations as follows: All Saints', Fulham, Society 5, Ancient Society of College Youths 56, Royal Society of Cumberland Youths 10, Devonshire Association 1, Kent County Association 1, London County Association 6, Middlesex Association 10, Norwich Association 1, St. Luke's, Chelsea, Association 1, St. Mary's, Putney, Association 5, St. James' Society 7, Surrey Association 40, University of London 2, Waterloo Society 4.

(Certain of the peals were rung for the local Society and a main Society jointly; these have been grouped under the main Society.)

Among the interesting peals rung was the first by a complete band of officers of the Armed Forces. This was 5,120 Kent Treble Bob on March 15th, 1919, conducted by Lieutenant Maurice Atkins.

More recently, on April 3rd, 1965, the only silent and non-conducted peal was rung, the method being Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original).

A final interesting note proving the long life of ringers was the case of Reuben Charge, who first appeared in the peals in 1899 and for the last time in 1949, a period of exactly 50 years!

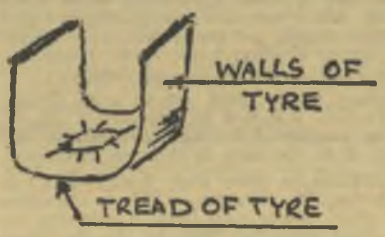
CLAPPER SILENCERS

By D. ELLISDON

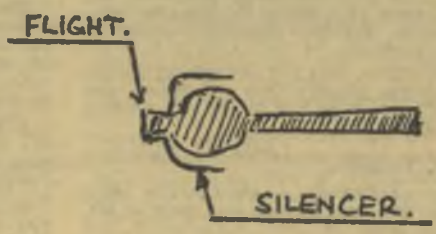
IN the majority of towers situated in built-up areas the reduction of noise, particularly when beginners are learning, is of prime importance and recent articles and letters in "The Ringing World" have described various forms of clapper ties which are in use, but apart from a brief reference in a recent letter no mention has been made of silencers made from old car tyres, and so the following notes may be of some use to the ringing fraternity.

The silencers are made from old car tyres and consist of pieces about four inches to five inches long with a two-inch to three-inch square hole cut in the centre as shown in Sketch I below.

SKETCH I



SKETCH II.



The silencer is forced over the flight of the clapper so that the walls of the tyre cover the ball of the clapper where it strikes the bell, as shown in Sketch II.

The hole must not be too large otherwise the silencer will slip around and allow the clapper to strike the bell unsilenced; in fact it should be a tight fit and I have found that several small cuts ¼in. to ½in. long around the perimeter of the hole enable it to be forced over the flight and will also enable the silencer to grip the flight. It also helps to make the walls of the tyre proud against the side of the clapper ball.

I found it best to cut away the wire edge of the tyre and used an ordinary wood chisel for this; indeed the chisel proved to be the best tool for cutting the rubber and enabled a set of eight silencers to be manufactured in an evening.

Of course this method has the usual crop of pros and cons and some of these are listed below.

ADVANTAGES

1. The silencers can be fitted very easily and at no expense.
2. For open ringing all that is necessary is to turn the silencer through 90 degrees; care must be taken to ensure the silencers are not too large, otherwise in the "open" position they may prevent the clapper from striking fully on the bell.
3. Learners get a true feeling of the bell with the clapper assisting in the balance of the bell when setting it.

DISADVANTAGES

1. Unless the bells are just above the ringing chamber the bells cannot be heard; this, of course, matters little when a single bell is being rung, but if rounds or changes are being attempted it creates a problem for hearing the striking.
2. If the bells are just above the ringing chamber the "hum" again makes hearing one's bells when ringing changes rather difficult. I have tried several experiments to reduce this hum, pieces of metal nailed to the tyre wall, holes in the wall, but have not yet been successful in reducing the reverberations. Any tips on this problem would be welcome from other towers who have adopted this method of "silencing" the bells.
3. Heavy bells tend to wear out the tyre wall fairly quickly but this problem can probably be overcome by using thicker tyres.
4. With a light bell the clapper tends to bounce slightly on striking the bell due to the resilience of the rubber and this again tends to make hearing each bell difficult

I hope that these brief notes will be of some use; we have been using them for practices for over two years, after hearing of their use in the St. Albans area, and have found them most satisfactory. We ring Triples and Major on the "silenced" bells and can usually tell if the striking is O.K. by the general rhythm. We have had no complaints from the neighbours and indeed our Vicar and one or two visiting clergymen have remarked how pleasant the bells sound outside.

Herts County President

Members of the Hertford County Association will be gratified to learn that their president, Mr. Ernest T. Newnham, is recovering at home after collapsing at work two weeks ago. His condition is not as serious as was at first anticipated and he hopes to be about again within a week or two.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

On Saturday, April 8th, ringers from both the Eastern and Northern Districts together with their friends gathered at St. Peter's Church, Benington, for what proved to be one of the most successful meetings held in the area for some time.

The Eastern District's Ringing Master, Mr. S. E. James took charge. Varying methods ranging from rounds and call changes to Cambridge were rung, together with an unsuccessful attempt at Yorkshire.

The Vicar of St. Peter's took the service and afterwards an excellent buffet tea was served in the Village Hall. The president of the Association, Mr. E. Newman, gave a vote of thanks to the ladies responsible.

Ringing was resumed under the Northern District Ringing Master, Mr. M. D. Trigg, a touch of eight-spliced being accomplished. At one time it was taking up to half an hour before any particular method one requested could be called, the requests for various methods being so great.

Ringing down at 8.30, the company joined other ringers who had felt compelled to have to adjourn somewhat earlier, and so the evening was concluded most congenially.

Letters to the Editor

GREAT ADVENTURE II GIFT TO TASMANIA

Dear Sir,—May I have space in which to thank the members of the "Adventure II" band for their most generous donation for the relief of victims who suffered in the disastrous fires in Southern Tasmania. A meeting of ringers will be called to consider how best the money can be allocated

The Governor's Relief Fund now stands at close to two million sterling, and the Commonwealth and State Governments have set aside several more millions for the rehabilitation of sufferers and a mass housing scheme is now under way. Therefore the feeling amongst us ringers is that the donation should preserve its identity in some specific object or article. Several country churches and their contents have been completely destroyed, and maybe a piece of furniture, a Bible or some other article, suitably inscribed, would be gratefully received.

The subscribers may rest assured that advice will be sought, possibly from the Bishop, and that their gift will be put to the best possible use.—Yours faithfully,

SIDNEY SMITH.

Hobart, Tasmania

Note. — Following a letter from Miss Mary Atkinson, an approach was made to Mr. Tom Lock, leader of Great Adventure II, and he approved of a collection being made among members of the party as a gesture of sympathy with Hobart ringers. The sum of £27 was forwarded.—Ed.

DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,—Reference Mr. R. Brown's letter ("Ringing World," page 112) and Mr. G. Dawson's letter ("Ringing World," page 164), I enclose the names of the New Bob, Huntspill and St. Vedast variations.

Plain Course	Bob	Name
St. Vedast	Grandsire S.	S. Breward
St. Vedast	Antelope S.	Stowey
St. Vedast	All Saints Pl.	Chippingham
New Bob	Grandsire S.	Hendred
New Bob	Antelope S.	St. Samson
New Bob	All Saints Pl.	St. Merryn
Huntspill	Grandsire S.	Radlett
Huntspill	Antelope S.	Oake
Huntspill	All Saints Pl.	Hadham

I would be grateful for the compositions of the following methods: Snowdrop, Little Missenden, Landcross, Northam, Littleham, Littleworth, Rickard, Southcott and Uphill.

In reply to many letters, St. Uny Doubles has a Stedman Plain Course. The call is made 60 changes apart in a "quick six." The call is a Grandsire Single.—Yours faithfully,

ROY H. JONES.

THE VOICE OF CAMBRIDGE

Dear Sir,—In his letter in the issue of April 28th, Mr. John Camp referred to certain omissions in the report of the O.U.S. Dinner. As a member of another University, I am in no position to comment on these omissions, but I feel I must take Mr. Camp to task for his remark that "possibly the writer of the report feels that her presence is a sine qua non of O.U.S. ringing." It is thoroughly petty and a prize example of the sheer nastiness for its own sake in which some of the ringing fraternity seem to delight.—Yours faithfully,

R. E. J. BUNKER.

Downing College, Cambridge.

DOUBLES NAMES FROM AN ANTELOPE SINGLE

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to tell Mr. Michael V. Powell that he is too late with his names to Doubles methods. These were all drawn up and named by me several years ago. Moreover they have all since been rung to peals Antelope Single plain course, with a lead of Plain Bob for a call, I named St. Matthias. Antelope Single plain course with Old Doubles calls I named St. Guthlac. I stood in the first peal in this method (rung by itself, no other method with it) in the Church of St. Guthlac at Passenham, Northants. It has since been rung in multi-method peals by other bands to whom I gave it.

The same applies to Antelope Single plain course with Reverse Canterbury plain leads for calls: this I named St. Philip, the first peal of which (again by itself) we rang several years ago at Grafton Underwood, Northants, on the Feast of SS. Philip and James.

Antelope Single plain course, with Grandsire extremes, I named St. Polycarp. This we rang to another full peal by itself on the Festival of St. Polycarp at Whiston, Northants.

In addition to these four, I also drew up and named St Perpetua. This is Antelope Single plain course with London extremes for calls—again rung by itself to the first peal at Isham, Northants, several years back on the actual Feast Day of St. Perpetua and her companions in martyrdom — a policy which unites ringing with the object of the Church, and to my mind is better than just ringing a peal any time or naming methods after towns and villages.—Yours faithfully,

P. AMOS

COMPOSITION OF 5,007 STEDMAN CINQUES FALSE

Dear Sir,—It has been brought to my notice by Mr. R. Dennis that my composition of 5,007 Stedman Cinques (No. 5) published in "The Ringing World" in 1963 (page 614), is false.

The falseness occurs in the first turning course S1, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 16, S18, 21, the last two sixes of which repeat with the course beginning 13245678E90. It can be corrected by calling that turning course 1, 2, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 16, S18, 20, S21.

I should like to tender my apologies for this mistake, particularly to Mr. M. V Chilcott, who called it first at St. Giles', Cripplegate, on August 17th, 1963, and again recently at Evesham. Also to the participants in these two "peals" and any other attempts which have been made.—Yours faithfully,

D. E. PARSONS.

THE RINGERS' HANDBOOK

Dear Sir,—Will you be kind enough to allow me to draw your readers' attention to the increased price of the Ringers' Handbook? I much regret this necessity, but the higher costs of paper and printing make it inevitable. The new prices will be found in the usual advertisement on the back page.—Yours faithfully,

MARY POWELL.

Dear Sir,—Correspondence resulting from the report of the proceedings at the recent Henry Johnson Dinner in Birmingham, with particular reference to what I am alleged to have said, requires at least an acknowledgment. I am sure I did not use the word renegade, and George and Henry are too well known to me that I should call them the Fenn brothers. It was my intention in proposing the toast to the St. Martin's Guild to include a little light-hearted chat and it was my opportunity to refer to handling and striking.

A few years ago I was told by a Birmingham ringer that a left-over-right-handed ringer could easily spoil good ringing as he would invariably be too quick at backstroke—note my reference also to clipping at backstroke. To my shame in the eyes of some of my friends from the Midlands, I let my pupils choose which way they would like to handle the rope!—so there really is no need for the left-over-right ringer to take my reference as not conforming to modern standards too seriously. Should the correspondent from Holt visit Birmingham for ringing he will receive a welcome and most probably receive some degree of instruction if his stay is, of course, long enough. I reckon he will be advised to keep his bell in at handstroke and to hold it off at backstroke—Birmingham's traditional open lead at handstroke is much shorter than most ringers are used to!

In respect of Surprise ringing, it was not my intention to claim for the St. Martin's Guild that they were the first to use or even introduce singles. I wanted to indicate they were progressing with the use of the single (even if it were to shorten the length of the peal!) And may I please add that I was born in Hampshire, so have no wish to overlook first performances by the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

Referring now to the Master's reply and his suggestions for a national ringing competition, this would involve a vast amount of organisation without means of ensuring adequate support. Nothing ventured nothing gained, but I do feel it may be better to follow the lines of the Blagrove Plate presented to the Middlesex County Association, in so far as the holder will be challenged by one or more challengers.—Yours faithfully,

T. J. LOCK.

FEET INFLUENCE IN PULLING

Dear Sir, — I should like to point out to M.C.F. (p. 268) that in a tug-of-war the motion and tugging is done by one's legs, the arms acting purely as a connection between the rope and body. The position of the hands on the rope is dictated by the position of one's feet. If the left foot is put forward then it is the left hand which is forward on the rope and vice-versa.

I am afraid, M.C.F., I fail to see any connection between the handling of a bell rope and one's feet during a tug-of-war. It is quite obvious that the uppermost hand on the bell rope must be the stronger hand, because this is the hand that is fully stretched during ringing. The other hand, a little lower on the rope, is not fully stretched.

The strongest hand is usually the right; this is the hand which holds a knife whilst eating, is used for throwing and is furthest away from the handle end of a cricket bat.

PAUL RODNES.

Frindsbury — Peal or Performance ?

POSSIBILITIES MOST EXCITING

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to see that Mr. Robert B. Smith has taken to writing fatuous letters in order to belittle ringing achievements in which he has not taken part.

So intent is he on showing the peal at Frindsbury in a bad light that he completely disregards the simple basic fact on which the whole matter hinges. Any Surprise method is defined completely by the changes in the first half-lead (apart from the technicality of the lead-end). It is therefore more reasonable to regard the half-lead rather than the full-lead as the fundamental unit.

Having so successfully neglected this important point, Mr. Smith tries to convince us that mid-lead splicing is the next logical step. Congratulations, Mr. Smith, on the non sequitur of the month. Mid-lead splicing would destroy the identities of the methods, which is not the case with half-lead splicing.

I must, of course, agree with Mr. Smith that the idea of associating places made at a particular point with a particular method is quite absurd. But then this has only been suggested by Mr. Smith anyway.

Peals of 165-spliced and 23-spliced all the work having already been rung, further progress in the field of Surprise appears well nigh impossible unless the Central Council alters its views with regard to splicing.

The possibilities opened up by half-lead splicing are most exciting, providing a new challenge to our mental capacities. I look forward eagerly to see which band will first ring a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in 330 methods.

What a pity the whole idea is such anathema to Mr. Smith. No doubt he will have nothing to do with it. We shall see.—Yours faithfully, JONATHAN S. N. PORTER.

London, W.

CONDUCTOR'S COMMENT

Dear Sir,—As conductor of the recent peal at Frindsbury, Kent, on March 25th, I should like to point out respectively to Mr. Critchley that the peal was not claimed as "Spliced" but Surprise Major.

I also agree with Mr. Smith, that to ring his example of splicing mid-lead is ridiculous with the type of methods he used. In time it could come, but I should hope that only contrasting methods are used as there is no achievement.

All five methods we used were completely different from each other. If you ring the method up to the half-lead you have rung the complete method, as we only reverse what has been done up to the lead-end.—Yours faithfully,

B. GROVES.

Maidstone, Kent.

KENT PEAL SECRETARY'S VIEW

Dear Sir, — How unfortunate that Mr. Critchley should rush into print before reading his "Ringing World" properly. It was due to the composer and conductor knowing that, under the present Decisions of the Central Council, this composition would not meet the requirements of a spliced peal, that the peal was published as "a peal of 5,088 Surprise Major" and not as Spliced Surprise. As I know all the participants, I feel sure that this peal was rung entirely in accordance with the conditions required for peals as set out on page 19 of the Council's handbook.—Yours faithfully,

IAN H. ORAM,
Peal Secretary, K.C.A.

Orpington, Kent.

PEAL COMPOSER REPLIES

Dear Sir,—I feel I should reply to Mr. Eric Critchley's letter concerning my composition involving method changes at the half-lead.

In the first place, I would suggest that he takes another look at the presentation of the peal announcement, where no mention was made of this peal being "Spliced" Surprise. Such a reference was carefully avoided, on account of the Central Council rule, which he clearly needs to re-read as well.

I should have thought it perfectly clear that the wording of this rule explicitly prevents my composition from being called "Spliced" (at the present time), but does not implicitly forbid method changing other than at the lead-end in T.D. methods, as a feature of compositions.

Indeed, if this were the case, there would be a large number of peals of combined "Kent and Oxford" which should be disallowed, since the method is changed with the treble in 3-4 down!

Therefore, I can see no justification for disallowing this peal as a peal of Surprise Major (provided it is not called "Spliced"), even if the proposed alteration to this rule is not adopted by the Central Council.

Mr. Robert Smith's letter raises a serious point somewhat frivolously, namely: "Where do we draw the line?" The proposed amendment more or less answers this point: "Thus far, no further", and in fact, under the present ruling, there is nothing disbarring the type of performance he suggests (other than ringers' integrity) except, of course, that it could not be called Spliced!

Finally, I should like to take this opportunity of publishing the accompanying composition, as an example of one way in which this mode of composition might be exploited. —Yours faithfully,

RICHARD G. CROSLAND.

W. Wickham, Kent.

ACCURACY IN PUBLICATION

Dear Sir,—I would like to endorse Mr. John R. Mayne's remarks about those people who submit figures, etc., and apparently do not check them when they are published, and apply them to the compositions published last year. A large number of mistakes occurred in compositions last year, some of which were corrected, and the following which were not:—

(1) 5,152 Yorkshire S. Major by Simon Humphrey, on page 308 (the second composition, with the tenors parted), is false as printed. In the last but one line the 3 bobs Wrong should be 3 bobs Middle.

(2) 5,152 Yorkshire S. Major by Simon Humphrey, on page 336. There should be no Middle in the third course.

(3) 5,080 Yorkshire S. Royal by G. Ronald Edwards, on page 716. The error of omission of a bob home was corrected but in the third last course the bob 6ths should be at Wrong, and this was not corrected.

(4) 5,040 Plain Bob Royal by Nicholas W. H. Simon, on page 716. The first course of the last part should surely have a bob at Home and not an X.

(5) 5,088 Yorkshire S. Major by Richard J. Parker, on page 868. The last line presumably should not have a bob at Wrong and should read Fifths, Before and twice Home.

It is the responsibility of everyone who submits copy for publication to check its accuracy when it appears and it should not be left to an "inspired guess" which may quite easily be wrong.

Incidentally, I am still awaiting an explanation to the compositions of Lincolnshire which I queried in a letter a few weeks ago.—Yours sincerely,

D. E. SIBSON.

Putney.

P.S.—In reply to Mr. Speake's letter, Bombay has never been corrected by the conductor, but it was assumed in the Records Committee's supplement to the Collection of Surprise Methods that the comment by G. B. Thompson was correct. The peal of Lewes S. Major recently published has been exposed as a hoax and a comment appeared to that effect the following week.—D. E. S.

SINGLES IN SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,—It is not surprising that Mr. Inskip was advised not to include his 720 of Cambridge Minor in peals. The reason was not as he suspects (i.e. "just not done") but that such a 720 is very false. This fact is readily illustrated by the touch of 117 given by calling one single at Before. This shows that the handstroke snap at the next lead-end is false with the lead-head four leads before.

This does not mean, however, that singles have no use in Surprise Minor. There have been several touches of London printed recently for use in quarter peals, and the following touch, coming round just after a single, may be of interest:

23456
34256	Out
35426	4ths, Wrong
52436	4ths, Home
(43256)	In, 4ths, 54ths.

In obtaining such a touch one has to bear in mind that the single causes falseness, the false courses in both London and Cambridge being 53246 and 35426. The above touch was given to me by Mr. Grue some time ago.—Yours faithfully,

R. D.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY TOUR, 1967

FROM a ringer's point of view, Lancashire has the advantage of containing many towers in close proximity to one another. Throughout the week of this year's O.U.S. tour one had a sense of having remained in the same place while someone had quickly rehung the bells, providing the only point of differentiation from the previous tower and town.

Perhaps this is unfair to Lancastrians; the writer's opinion may have been biased against Lancashire on the first evening, when a demonic Bolton driver tried to run his wife over, failing miserably. At least on Easter Sunday we knew where we were. There are few towers capable of inspiring quite so much terror as Liverpool Cathedral on first acquaintance, especially when one is double-dodging on 11–12 with a grimacing Peter Border on the tenor. We were all somewhat disappointed with the bells, which have never been renowned for their audibility in the ringing chamber. After a brief excursion to see the beauties of New Brighton in the afternoon we rang at St. Nicholas' in the evening and were impressed by the bells.

Doubtless the four-Spliced at Swinton on Easter Monday would have gone better if the writer had been elsewhere. It is a moot point whether it is better to put one's bell in the wrong place than to fail completely to pull it off, as Paul Brand did at Manchester Town Hall later in the morning. Some members rang at Salford while others "lunched," after which we succeeded in curtailing the ringing at Worsley by breaking a rope. Under David Darby's supervision another member was persuaded at Walkden to test the truth of the hypothesis that the treble had no stay. Application of the scientific method verified this.

Just to prove that not only could he put his bell in the wrong place, but also that the normal position for calling bobs, etc., was not sacrosanct, the writer called eight-Spliced at Prestwich on the Tuesday, which the other seven ringers brought round with great aplomb. A convenient funeral at Oldham forced us into the "local" until it was over. The arrival of Peter Border, Tudor Edwards and Roger Fry was of considerable assistance in ringing the front bells here. Having negotiated a snowstorm at Mossley, both towers at Ashton and an unscheduled excursion for Dr. Beeching's former right-hand man to buy a railway ticket at Denton, some members went to the practice at Hyde, a splendid eight.

At both Oswaldtwistle and Accrington on Wednesday Roger Heyworth caused complete disbelief by announcing "Go Stedman," having been asked to call Spliced Surprise. Further chaos ensued since Rodney Meadows thought it was a ploy designed to make him call the touch round. We had been joined by one of our old members, now president of the Leeds University Society, who apparently endorses Crabbe's remark "It must be right: I've done it from my youth." This resulted in another stayless bell being overturned at Warley. Burnley possesses one near-unringable ring, at Holy Trinity, and a fine eight at St. Peter's where we rang ten-Spliced.

By this time some members had had enough, and on Thursday and Friday we were not at full strength. The highlights of the last two days were the beautifully-kept church at Adlington, Glasgow at Whittle-le-Woods, and the sight of Bob Mordaunt endeavouring to get through a trap-door at Deane, which had not been made with him in mind.

The success of a tour depends on a number of factors—good organisation, for which we thank Bob Mordaunt, people's willingness to ring, which was not very much in evidence, and someone in charge of the ringing who will persuade others to look methods up, cater for less advanced ringers and generally goad people into being organised. One was left with the impression, without blaming any individual, that this was not done on the tour. The co-operation of tower captains and incumbents was much appreciated and we thank them all. J. E. C.

THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild was enjoyed by a large gathering at Solihull on April 8th. The service was well attended; the Rector of Solihull (Canon Harry Hartley) had inserted a notice in the local Press inviting everyone to join in the special service for ringers. The Canon, a good friend of ringers, gave an interesting address, which showed a keen knowledge of ringing and of those who rang.

Three young lady ringers of Solihull were elected members of the Guild—Margaret Busby, Elizabeth Dickens and Dinah Protheroe; also John Boothman of St Chad's and James R. White of Edgbaston. The following tower elections as life members were duly ratified: Messrs Gwilym Salmon, David A. Cornwall, David J. King, David J. Llewellyn, David J. Forder and David W. Friend.

The Ringing Master reported that the recordings of the long peal of Stedman Cinques had sold very quickly, only five remaining unsold. The Tuesday evening practices at St. Martin's were well supported and bands from Yardley, Erdington Abbey and Erdington Parish Church had arranged for a visit for practice in the near future.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr Richard Cann, the efficient secretary at Solihull tower, for making arrangements for the meeting, with special thanks to Richard's mother and sister for providing an excellent tea.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT

THE first meeting of the year was held on the borders of Yorkshire and Lancashire, four towers being open to members—Saddleworth (8), Friezland (6), Roughtown (4) and Mossley (8). Although the Association chose April 1st for the meeting, and judging by the ringing as a whole, there were no "April fools" present.

Ringing commenced at 1400 hours at Saddleworth but, owing to weddings, had to be curtailed at 1500 hours. Ringers then made their way to the famous competition tower at Friezland, being met by the local secretary, Mr. Jack Smith, who gave fair warning that he expected no rubbish, or into the nearby cut we should all go! Needless to say we did not swim back into Yorkshire via the Canal Tunnel! When everyone had had quite sufficient excellent Cartwheel Minor the Roughtown ringers took the assembled company a little further into Lancashire.

After all the beef and home-made cakes had been dealt with the business meeting took place with Mr. Farrand in the chair, who welcomed the Association to his side of the Pennines. The normal business was transacted with a note of dissension on part of the St. Martin's Guild's report in "The Ringing World," i.e. striking contest for Societies affiliated to the Central Council only. Mr. C. A. Moxon gave a heartfelt vote of thanks on behalf of all members present to the local incumbents and ringers for arranging such a marvellous day's ringing. The Association secretary seconded this with special thanks to Mr. M. Rigby, of Roughtown, who did most of the necessary work behind the scenes.

The annual general meeting and prize contest will be held at Liversedge on June 24th. T. T.

OBITUARY

MRS. L. G. BRETT

The Suffolk Guild mourns the passing of Mrs. Ivy Brett who died suddenly at Framsden, Suffolk, on April 20th. She was the wife of one of our best-loved and best-known ringers, Leslie G. (Lester) Brett and was herself connected with the ringing scene for nearly 40 years.

Their home at 109, St. John's Row was always "open house" to ringers, and many's the tea and supper that with her excellent cooking Ivy laid on for those hearty appetites that peal ringers seem to acquire.

She will indeed be missed and our sympathy goes out to Lester and son, Eric, and family.

The funeral took place at Framsden Church on April 24th and was attended by a large congregation of parishioners together with ringers and their wives from all parts of Suffolk and from Cheshire. The interment was close by the tower within the sound of the bells she knew so well.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Smith, of Tasmania, have booked their passage to England in August.

"Change Ringing," by W. G. Wilson, is now in a second edition. Congratulations to the author.

The Oldswinford peal of London (page 276) was the first on the bells but not in the method, as inadvertently appeared in copy.

The quarter peal of Goring, Oxon, on April 16th, was rung with the best wishes of the band for the speedy return to ringing of their long-serving tower foreman, Mr. L. G. Haines.

After failures at Kenwyn (twice) and Truro Cathedral and St. Keverne, Mr. Anthony J. Davidson has succeeded in ringing a quarter of Stedman Triples at Camborne with his Truro and West band.

So disgusted were the Cambridge University Guild with their performance at Leicester Cathedral on Saturday, April 22nd, that they returned home with all speed and rang a good peal of Stedman Triples at St. Andrew's, Cambridge, that same evening, as a consolation.

Our correspondent desires to correct the peal report that appeared under Oxford Diocesan Guild in the issue of April 28th. Kidlington was written instead of Kirtlington where the peal of Stedman was rung.

The following additions have been received to peal at Hanslope, Bucks (page 291): David Coxhill (first of Surprise), Anthony K. Fortin (50th peal for the Oxford Diocesan Guild).

"Congratulations on a greatly improved 'Ringing World' over recent months. I have always enjoyed it, but now even more so."—An encouraging message to the Editor from Gloucestershire.

Mr. Gordon I. Lucas, of Basildon, Essex, has started his eight-year-old son Kevin ringing changes. He reports a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minimus rung with him and wonders if any other father has had a similar privilege with a son of the same age.

Mr. Arthur J. Scott, of Maiden Newton, Dorchester, writes: "May I say how much I enjoy 'The Ringing World' each week? I have been taking it now for 31 years, and still look forward to it each week to read more about ringing affairs."

APPEAL FOR ST. ALKMUND'S, DERBY, BELLS

Mr. B. P. Morris, the general secretary of the Derby Diocesan Association, is doing his best to ensure that after St. Alkmund's Church is closed for demolition a home should be found for its fine bells either in Derby or where they could be hung for ringing in the traditional English manner or, failing that, at a church somewhere in the Diocese.

"We should very much regret if this fine ring was disposed of in any other way—e.g. to be hung 'dead' for chiming in the Continental fashion," he writes in a letter to "The Derby Evening Telegraph." The letter continues: "Many people, whatever their religion, like to hear the sound of church bells. When a ring of bells goes out of use for one reason or another it is often non-church-goers who miss them, and when an appeal is launched for a restoration, the response is often beyond all expectation. This Association, with its expert advisers, hopes that it may be able to help the Diocese in the re-establishment of the St. Alkmund's ring in a church in the Diocese and believes that this should be the first consideration in its final disposal."

ELY DIOCESE AND SILENT TOWERS

Another bright issue of "The Sentinel," the quarterly of the Ely Diocesan Association, has reached us, and Trevor Bevis, the Editor, to make it even brighter, has introduced colour to the front page.

In "Talking Point" the Editor comments on the number of unringable bells in the Ely Diocese and asks how many of these are prevented from being rung simply because wheels, stays and sliders are decayed or missing, bolts rusty and loose, uropes rotten and floor boards perished.

"Is it not possible for each Branch to explore the possibility of restoring the least 'unringable' of its inactive towers, and perhaps form a small band of handymen volunteers armed with spanners, saws and grease?

"Willingness to 'adopt' a tower or towers in this way could well stimulate Rectors and parishioners to raise a little cash to replace simple fittings, and Branch funds might well be employed in this direction. Thus we would be doing the Church and ourselves a service and the Association would would consequently benefit a great deal."

THE FIRST OUTING

Eighteen months ago Great Barton and Horringer, Suffolk, were silent towers. When the first outing, on April 15th, was planned most had only rung on their own bells (tenor 9 cwt.), so a variety of easy-going bells giving a cross-section of different conditions was imperative.

Ringing took place at Brampton, Hunts, Uffington, Edenham, Stanford Baron, Castor and Long Stanton (Cambs).

"What did we achieve?" asks R. H. R. "Six good rings of bells were sampled, providing a wealth of experience not obtainable in our own district. The ringing was generally confined to rounds, and the first outing was a success, with the 20 ringers always keen to take a rope and ring as many different bells as possible. We are richer in the fellowship of ringers amongst ourselves and with those who met us and gave us permission to ring."

And the question which brought joy to the organiser after 18 months of hard work was "Thank you for a wonderful day. When is our next outing?"

LONGPARISH MIGHTY PLEASED

Eyebrows were raised when it was known that Longparish, Hants (tenor 7½ cwt.), had obtained permission to ring at Exeter Cathedral on their outing on April 8th.

Previous to Exeter there was ringing at Taunton, West Camel, Ruishton and Pinhoe. G. D. tells the story at the Cathedral as follows: "A Guild practice at St. Mark's cut down the Cathedral ringers to two and after raising the bells and with only four of us with any experience of heavy bells, we were, indeed, apprehensive as to the show we would make.

"However, Mr. Wreford kindly allowed us to ring the tenor single-handed and the resulting two lots of rounds on ten were really good for the band concerned and filled us so full of confidence that we attempted and rang a course of Grandsire Triples on the back eight, which pleased everyone."

ROCHESTER DISTRICT STRIKING CONTEST

A company of 105 ringers and friends attended the Rochester District Striking Contest in the unspoilt village of Rodmersham on April 15th for the silver bowl presented by Mr. E. J. Beer, of Shorne.

Eight teams competed, the test being 240 changes of Doubles or Minor. The judges were Messrs. H. E. Audsley and A. P. Cannon, and the winners were a young band from Eastchurch with 46 faults, who rang Grandsire Doubles. Other placings were Hailing 57 faults, Tunstall 66, Frindsbury 67, Northfleet 78, Gravesend 78, Minster 93 and Stockbury. The trophy was presented by Mrs. Spencer, wife of the Rector.

At the business meeting a vote of thanks was proposed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the Rodmersham ringers and lady helpers for the excellent tea and to the judges. Fifteen new members were elected.

"D" DAY FOR NEWBURY DISTRICT

Newbury District ringers regarded April 18th as "D" Day or Dodds' Day, as Mr. Geoffrey Dodds with the "s" made the local arrangements for a visit to the St. Albans area, and his family joined in the ringing.

The programme started on the light six at Radlett, where Ranald Clouston met the party. London Major was rung at St. Michael's, St. Albans, and a half-course of Cambridge Royal at St. Peter's. There was an hour's service ringing at the Cathedral and finally, on the way home, a visit to Oxhey (8). Many thanks to all at St. Albans for your welcome. G. D.

A BENEFACTOR TO DOWNHAM

The quarter at Downham, Essex, on April 6th, was rung half-muffled in memory of Mrs. F. W. Keddie, who with Mr. Keddie restored the bells in 1947 as a memorial to their three sons killed in the Second World War. The four old bells were recast, a new treble and tenor were added, and the ring of six was rehung in a steel frame lower in the tower by Gillett and Johnston. The old wooden frame was later made into a lychgate.

LITTLE PULL AT ADDINGTON

In the write-up of the church annual general meeting in the parish magazine our tower captain is reported as saying: "Mr. Macve has made new strings for us."—N. G.

"TUITION TEASERS"

Beginning shortly, this new feature is intended to help tutors and learners alike with their problems in bell handling and control. It will take the form of "Answers to Correspondents" and will appear fortnightly for a start, experimentally. Space being very limited, the feature will normally deal briefly with only one query per issue, but it is hoped that all acceptable queries will eventually be answered. The scope of this feature will be confined to working from the introduction to the belfry up to the elements (only) of change ringing (not methods themselves as yet). The information given will be based on proved experience gained in ten years' work in this field by tutors of the late College of Campanology. (Its Manual, Part I. on bell control is out of print.) Questions should be written on postcards, as briefly as possible, with writer's full name and address, and sent to "Tuition Teasers," c/o The Editor, "The Ringing World," c/o Seven Corners Press, Onslow Street, Guildford, Surrey. Names need not be published, though essentially given.)

"TUITION TEASERS" No. 1

Q. No specific advice given about the stance in ringing. What is the correct position of the feet? (Anon.)

A. This is simply a matter of reduction of fatigue in leg muscles from the continual body balancing during prolonged ringing. Just broaden the base of balance by separating the feet a few inches sideways and placing one foot slightly in advance of the other. Relative position of feet can be changed at intervals, irrespective of which way the rope is handled—"right" or "left."

A MEMORY

September 24th last year was a memorable day for a party of Epsom and district ringers and they have asked to be recorded the three quarter peals they rang that day, viz.: Plain Bob Triples at Horsham, Plain Bob Major at Lower Beeding, and Stedman Triples at Brighton. There were three honours for conductors—Tony Skelton had his first of Triples, Geoff Stevens his first as conductor, and Adrienne Gibson her first of Stedman. Others in the party were Janet Crane, Peter Munday, Martin Morris, Richard Fentiman, Dennis Oakshott, John Helder, Martyn Harbott, Roger Peckham and Jim Hills.

BEAMINSTER BELL FUND

The Thomas Bilbie bells of 1765, from Beaminster, which were cast in the shed adjoining the churchyard, are now at the foundry. Latest news of the Bell Fund is that the half-way mark to the target of £4,000 has been passed. A house-to-house collection brought in £570 10s. 9d., making the total raised (including £1,200 promises) £2,553 8s. 3d.

There are seven ringers on the committee of 11 organising the fund, and a competition has been organised to guess the weight of the "28 cwt." tenor—which until now has never been properly weighed.

Events planned include a dancing school concert, May 20th; a film show of international prizewinners, June 6th; West Dorset children's orchestral concert, July 15th—all at Beaminster School, 7.15.

Mrs. Edna Pannell, 24, Gerrards Green, Beaminster in a general appeal to friends to rally in support, adds: "There are no short-cuts to money raising."

The touch of 169 is on a very simple plan. The 7th is called In Quick twice. The first bob will bring up a course-end 2431567. The second bob will produce 2143567. The single that follows immediately gives rounds. This touch was a favourite with the late Harry Withers, and he often used it to surprise a band not familiar with it.

Seeing that the single is used to turn over 5 and 6, this single could be made immediately after 2314567 (that is, at 1), or after 2431567. But the single at the end provides some small surprise

The other two touches are not difficult to remember, the isolated bob in each case being 23 behind.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2926. Vol. LXIII. FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1967 9d.

THE LITTLE DROP SHE HAD ON TUESDAY

By "INAN OWTKWIC"

SELDOM anything unusual happened in the little village of Upper Briston, just off the main road between Byminster and Welport. However, excitement prevailed when in October, 1909, the Bishop of the Diocese dedicated a ring of six bells which were installed in the village church tower, being a magnanimous gift by a local benefactor as a memorial to his departed spouse.

The secretary of the local Association, a very well known ringing worthy of the period, had been busy looking up past ringers living in and around the village. He mustered five. John, a carpenter, had rung at Wellow near Bath about ten years previously. Ben, the local postman-cum-telegram boy, hailed from Bergh Apton. Bert, a council employee and the village lamplighter came from Fownhope. There were two Thomases, Tom the thatcher from down Tavistock way, and Tom, a railway ganger, who boasted of always ringing the tenor at Saltburn-by-the-Sea in Yorkshire; he soon became known as "Tom the Tenor." John was a little more experienced than the other four; with someone stood behind him he could manage 120 Grandsire Doubles on the 5th. Consequently at a meeting, presided over by the Vicar, John was elected captain.

With the help of ringers from the neighbouring towers and by visiting those towers, the new band got along splendidly. One particularly youthful old stalwart took the new band under his wing, so to speak. He was "Billy," a blacksmith's striker in a ship repairing yard at Welport Billy, whose home was about four miles away, was by local standards a "crack ringer."

Came the day when Billy got his fledgelings through a plain course of Bob Doubles. This called for bread and cheese, pickled onions and—it was only 3½d. a flagon of strong in those days, in the local on the opposite corner to the church. Such was the celebration, that John deemed it expedient to put Billy up for the night, stabling Billy's boneshaker in the wash-house. Young Joe, John's son, was dispatched to inform Billy's wife that he had sprained his ankle and was being housed at John's for the night. This is where young Joe comes into the story. Youngsters needed to be taught to ring. The Vicar co-operated and six of the choir youths and boys came along. Joe, 12 years of age, was the youngest of the learners. John would take Joe and two of his pals up to the tower occasionally, other than on practice nights, when he had a half hour to spare and would put them through their paces. Soon Joe could handle a bell almost as well as his Dad. It was not long before they were ringing rounds and queens for Sunday service.

Now Joe, being the captain's son, had access to the tower keys. His father having to work away from home for a couple of days, Joe decided that he and his two pals would have a practice session on their own. Up the tower they go. No little bells for them, oh no, they tie the tenor (14 cwt.). Concerted effort got her up

"See if I can set her hand and back six times," says Joe.

Success first time, a credit to his father's tuition. Lionel's turn next. He could set her at hand- all right but not at back-stroke every time. Now Ralph's turn, the biggest of the three boys. He was all right for a few pulls, but he was ' umping the stay.

"Not so hard," yelled Joe.

But the warning was of no avail. CRACK and over she goes. Young Joe turned white and felt sick. Poor Ralph nearly passed out. They sat down looking up at the hole through which the rope end had disappeared. After the agony of their fright had subsided a little, they talked. Lionel and Ralph were for making a clean breast of it.

"That's all very well for you two but I am on to a good hiding, says Joe. "Now if you will listen to me we can get out of this mess."

Knowing Joe they were a bit dubious but finally he persuaded them.

"We have got to get the rope back down so that it will look as if nothing has happened," said Joe

He went over to release the clock hammer wire but it would not budge. More butterflies in the tummy. Up they went, with one little bit of candle. The gas had not been taken up to the bells. She had not quite stopped swinging and Joe, in trying to check the wheel, sprained his wrist. The stay had snapped off like a carrot and had become wedged between the frame and the clock hammer. Joe kicked it free with orders to the other two not to touch it. Down goes Joe into the ringing chamber to release the clock hammer wire, really to see if it worked properly, which much to his relief it did. Maybe it would have been better had he not done this. They proceeded to adjust the rope around the wheel, etc., and were getting along fine when the clock struck. Ralph almost fell off the frame and Lionel looked pale green in the candlelight.

"It's only the clock striking," said Joe, scared stiff and worried to death. He was afraid they would want to pack it in.

It was getting late and Joe knew his mother would be worrying about him, likewise the other two mothers. Joe sent Ralph to tell his (Joe's) mother that he was up at Lionel's helping him with his homework. They operated this errand triangularly and got away with it. They also replenished their candle supply during the exercise.

Try as they would they could not get the rope through the clockroom into the ringing chamber. They were contemplating having to unscrew the padlock staple to the clockroom, an operation which would have to be performed on the top of a ladder.

"Just one more go, I'll tie a stick into the last loop," says Joe.

Down she went as straight as a die. Sighs of relief. They tidied everything up as cleanly as possible. On the way home they agreed that "Tom the Tenor" was in for a shock. Suddenly Joe stopped dead in his tracks. Says he:—

"My gosh! There is one awful possibility. You know Tom nearly always goes up to give her a drop of oil before rising on Sunday morning. We have ot to prevent him doing this next Sunday. If he goes up there we are sunk. Now next to the tenor it is his garden so we have got to talk to him—onions, carrots, sweet peas, this year's flower show, anything to prevent him going up to the bells. I shall have to stand in the rise, then you two sit down away from each other and wait for it."

Sunday morning arrived, all the lads present, three in a state of intense expectation They had done their best to hold on to Tom, unwittingly they had everyone in the tower talking flower show and garden produce. Then Tom uttered those dreaded words: "I think I'll pop up and give her a drop, we've had a rough wind lately, dried her up a bit I expect."

The relief of Ladysmith ten years earlier could not compare with the feelings of those three boys.

They duly rise. Years afterwards Joe said it was like waiting for the order to go "over the top," at Ypres.

"STAND," called John The inevitable happened.

Tom, looking up with an expression on his face indescribable, mouth wide open, arms spread out, in an almost inaudible whisper: "Ye gods, I bin ringing man and boy for nigh on 40 years and never 'ave I knowed the likes of it."

After the confusion and consternation had simmered down a little the lads respectfully announced their retirement to the choir, leaving their elders to what must have been a very interesting inquest.

The choir had taken its place in the stalls, amongst them three angelic looking boys in cassock and spotlessly white surplice.

The Vicar announced the first hymn: "Hymn No. 379—'Now thank we all our God'"

The only casualty was Joe's badly swollen wrist. He played inside-half for his school team and blamed a kick in the previous Saturday's game for this.

Coventry Guild Have Highest Year for Peal Ringing

THE 60th annual general meeting of the Coventry Diocesan Guild was held at All Saints', Allesley, on April 15th, at which the attendance was very disappointing and much below average. The bells of All Saints' were kept going in a variety of methods until service time. The service was taken by the Rector, Rev G. A. Hughes, who in his address assured the Guild that they would always be welcome at Allesley. Tea followed in the village school, at which only 37 sat down.

The president, Mr. A. H. Beamish, opened the business meeting by welcoming those present, and said that looking back to 1966 we had more than held our own in all aspects of Guild activities, plenty of learners, meetings and good fellowship, but we must not be complacent. Let us spare a thought as we enter the 60th year of the founding of the Guild to the men and women who have so faithfully laboured to keep the Guild running smoothly. We also thank God for those members who have passed to higher service.

CATHEDRAL BELLS

Arising from the minutes, the general secretary, Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward, read a letter he had received from the Provost of Coventry Cathedral, referring to the proposed hanging of the cathedral bells for ringing, and suggested that as the Provost was at the moment in America and it had not been possible to meet him since receiving this note, there should be no discussion on this subject until the committee had had an opportunity of meeting the Provost. This was agreed to.

Reporting on the past year's activities, the secretary complimented Brinklow band on their efforts to get their bells in good order by doing most of the work themselves; also Alveston ringers on the progress they were making since their bells had been augmented to six. Kineton's had been overhauled, as also had Sherborne's. At Kineton lively interest was being shown by a strong band of learners. These bells had not been rung for many years. As to Sherborne, it was hoped that something would be done to get these bells ringing again regularly.

He congratulated Shirley Jones, of Kenilworth, on her success in conducting her first peal of Minor, by an all-ladies band at Shilton. This was the first peal by resident members of the Guild and from reports received the striking was of a high standard.

IMPORTANCE OF NEW MEMBERS

The Ringing Master, Mr. H. Windsor, in his report said that if we look around our diocese at the peal boards in many of the towers we see records of bands that have fallen during the past decades. They had become self-sufficient and found it unnecessary to teach with real enthusiasm new members. The steady production of new material must be our principal object, and the ringing of more peals and methods, regular Sunday service ringing in all towers and a stronger Guild will follow.

The treasurer, Mr. H. G. Summers, said that financially the Guild was in good shape with a balance in hand of £226. The Bell Repair Fund, which had £65 in hand, had not received any claims on it during the year.

The peal secretary, Mr. P. Stone, said that 63 peals (58 tower- and 5 handbell) had been rung, which was the highest number since the Guild's inception. There were ten first pealers and the conducting was shared by 17 members. Included in the handbell peals was the first of Stedman Cinques by an all-resident band.

Mr. Pete S. Bennett, giving his last report as Branch secretary of the Warwick Branch, said that 12 meetings had been held, covering in all 16 towers. In addition three special practices for Surprise methods had been held, and these had all been well attended.

Mr. A. G. Eveleigh, Coventry Branch secretary, reported that eight Branch meetings had been held. He regretted that members were very reluctant to send in their names for tea and sincerely hoped that the coming year would show an improvement in this, as it was very unfair to the organisers.

TWO NEW LIFE MEMBERS

All the officers and committee members were re-elected and Mr. R. Sherratt, of Southam, was confirmed as Branch secretary for the Warwick Archdeaconry Branch in place of Mr. P. Bennett who was leaving the District. Mr. S. Royal was elected auditor for the coming year. Mr. R. Edden and Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward were elected life members.

A lively discussion took place on competition ringing, and finally it was left to the committee to see what proposals would be made at the next committee meeting and to bring same to the next quarterly meeting. Four new members were elected.

Before closing the meeting the chairman thanked the Rector and the organist, Mr. Summers, junior. He also referred to the departure of Mr. Peter Bennett and asked the secretary to convey the good wishes of the meeting to him.

Allesley bells were made good use of until 8.30 p.m.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Witney and Woodstock Branch

There was a change of officers at the A.G.M. of the Witney and Woodstock Branch at Northmoor on April 22nd. Messrs. E. D. Patching (secretary) and J. F. List (Ringing Master) did not seek re-election and they were replaced by Mr. E. R. Venn (Wootton Woodstock) and Mr. D. Floyd (Eynsham) respectively. The retiring officers were thanked. Canon C. Elliot Wigg, Master of the Guild, was present, and the rehung bells, which are very easy to handle, were put to good use.

Next meeting, Bampton, October 14th; Branch outing, July 8th.

SONNING DEANERY STRIKING COMPETITION

Six teams competed in the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Guild striking competition at Warfield on April 15th, and heartening attempts and good ringing floated across the Berkshire countryside. Adjudicators were Major E. J. Bragg and Mr. W. Viggers, and results were: Easthampstead 8 faults, Hurst 35 and Twyford 36—a tussle for second and third places between neighbouring towers!

As in previous years the organisation flowed smoothly throughout, thanks to the capable Branch officers—and the excellent spread provided by the Warfield band ensured a steady "flow" of tea later.

TULIP TIME IN SOUTH LINCOLNSHIRE

Bells and tulips were in the programme arranged by 12 Epsom ringers for the week-end of April 22nd. A new minibus was driven alternately by John Davidge and Roy Mills, and the first night was spent at Wisbech.

On Saturday morning we got off to a good start with Stedman and Double Norwich at Spalding. A short trip across the tulip fields and over the "drains" found us at the "leaning tower of Surfleet," where a touch of Grandsire Cinques was successfully rung. A good course of Lincolnshire was rung on the light eight at Bicker.

After a lunch of beer and sandwiches at Swineshead, we arrived at Boston, and the long climb up the tower. Ringing here was of a fairly good standard, half a course of Cambridge Royal being a highlight. There was no excuse for the bad striking at Sutterton. We were all shattered after the drive through the rain to Long Sutton, but the ringing, which included Yorkshire, was good.

We rang for Sunday service at Wisbech, after which we travelled south to the hilly country and Cambridge, stopping at Ely on the way to look at the Cathedral.

At St. Andrew's, Cambridge a good course of Superlative was rung, as was Bristol, although nobody quite knows what happened to the back four. Eynesbury and St. Neots were the last two towers before making our way back home.

Those participating were: Hilda and Bill Oatway, John and Jill Laver, Roy Mills (the organiser), John Davidge, Peter Munday, Simon Mortimer, Tony Skilton, Martin Morris, Adrienne Gibson, Felicity Hamilton, Sally Parrott and Jill Oakshott.

ROCHESTER'S WEEK-END IN THE MIDLANDS

For the third time in four years the Rochester District of the K.C.A. has held a week-end tour. This year 35 ringers and friends participated on April 28th-30th.

The first night was spent at Leicester. We were impressed by the fine Taylor eight at Shepshed, our first tower on Saturday, and admired the redecorated ringing chamber at Sawley. While having lunch at Long Eaton we had the pleasure of listening to the end of a peal of Surprise Major. Then came Ashbourne, where the long draught made good striking rather difficult; the eight at Youlgrave were rather heavy going.

Following tea at Bakewell, we found the six at Ashford-in-the-Water delightful, and rang London Surprise Minor on the recently dedicated bells at Haversage. The size of the grave of Little John in the churchyard here surprised everyone. Travelling over the Snake Pass we had many breath-taking views before descending into Glossop, our last ring of the day. Our hotel that night was at Buxton.

Sunday was mainly a sightseeing day after we had rung the six bells and had gone to Sung Communion at Burbage. After lunch at Sutton Coldfield, we travelled to Daventry via Coventry, where we saw the new Cathedral. Ringing at Daventry included Grandsire and Stedman Caters. After tea at Tring we joined the local band on the eight bells.

Our thanks to Mr. Lawrence Mitchell for organising the tour, to Miss Joan Hayward for organising the ringing and to all the incumbents and ringers where we rang.

John Worth — An Appreciation

By E. JENKINS

IT was sometime in the late '20s that the writer, visiting Christ Church, Macclesfield, saw for the first time what a swaying tower could be like. Standing on the top of the tower and looking down on to the church roof he saw the ends of the roof timbers as the tower swayed away from it. There was the tower where John learnt to ring, a very difficult task at that time. St. Michael's (the parish church) bells had been recast and increased to 12 and their "go" was all that could be desired, and it says much for John's character that his deep affection for his own parish church absolved him from all temptation to join St. Michael's.

Under the tuition of the late William Gayes, John and his brother scouts made good progress and in June, 1929, they rang a peal of Grandsire Doubles, with ten different callings, which John conducted. Other successes followed, and of his first 25 peals John had conducted 14, no mean achievement for a youngster. On April 21st, 1930, William Pye took a band to Macclesfield and rang at St. Michael's a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus in what would be regarded today as the very slow time of four hours. John heard every change of the peal and realised that 12 bells could be rung in a clear and distinct manner, and that performance left a lasting impression on him and determined his standard of ringing for the rest of his life.

On November 11th, 1933, John conducted at Hazel Grove a peal of London Surprise Major, his 100th peal and 55th as conductor; and so the performances go on all the while improving and acquiring new skills. It is interesting to note John's contemporaries of those days: Ernest Bennett called 14 of John's first peals; other names occurring were Wilfred Stevenson, James H. Riding, J. C. E. Simpson, Charles H. Page, Harry Parker, Tom Wilde, Christopher Gudgeon and Thomas B. Worsley: already John was making a circle of friends well known in the Exercise.

500 PEALS PROBABLY WITH C. K. LEWIS

Of his next 100 peals, John called all of them except 14, by which time he had set his feet firmly upon the ladder of conducting. Shortly before the 200th peal the name C. K. Lewis is found, and this became the perfect partnership and Spliced Treble Minor developed, up to 84 methods being rung in one peal. C. K. Lewis has probably rung more than 500 peals with John. On December 6th, 1947, John conducted at St. Michael's, Macclesfield, a peal of Cambridge Maximus. Information on this is scanty but probably this was his first of Surprise Maximus and the first for the Guild by a resident band.

Circa 1937, Manchester Town Hall bells had been recast and of the 21 bells 12 had been tuned to make a ring of 12 with a sharp 2nd. At that time the tower had an active police band, and John rendered much assistance to them in their efforts and also gained experience in conducting Cinques and Maximus. With the '39–45 war over, the campanological landscape broadens and we find increasing variety of methods in Major, Royal and Maximus, but now and again we find a peal of Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor. John never forgot his humbler brethren and derived much pleasure from their much less professional performances

Hazel Grove now became a regular venue and on April 4th, 1935, he called a peal of 4-Spliced Surprise Major methods on the 3-lead course system, which led him to write a letter to the "R.W" enquiring why couldn't a composition be worked out with all the work for every bell in it. This led indirectly to A. J. Pitman's famous composition which is still being developed today by one or two of our most brilliant composers.

On April 4th, 1946, at St. Michael's, Macclesfield, a peal of Stedman Cinques conducted by him whilst not the first by the Guild was probably the first by a resident band. On November 11th, 1950, at St. Chad's, Over, Cheshire, 21,600 of Bristol Surprise Major, a truly great performance. The degree of concentration required may be gauged by the fact that John gripped the rope so hard that for many months afterwards his fingernails were black. On December 10th, 1951, at Worsley, Lancs, 15,480 of Cambridge Surprise Royal: this was another great performance.

IRELAND AND SCOTLAND

Two dates which are historical are September 4th, 1954, and November 6th, 1954, as on each occasion the company travelled by air. Both peals were Spliced Surprise Major — the first at Bray, Ireland, and the second at Paisley, Renfrew. Three silent and non-conducted peals: November 12th, 1950, at Warburton, Cheshire — London Surprise Major; March 11th, 1950, at Hyde, Cheshire—Bristol Surprise Major; and November 24th, 1950, at Frodsham, Cheshire.—4-Spliced Surprise Major.

In 1947 Christ Church, Macclesfield, bells were completely restored with new frame and fittings, two trebles added and the bells lowered 40 feet, making ringing much easier, though they can still be tricky. It appears John had rung 113 peals on them. The Chester Guild honoured him on several occasions by electing him as their representative on the Central Council and again in 1965 by the Mastership of the Guild.

He had a fine ringing career, his serene temperament suiting all occasions and his handling of men and matters being admired by all. In the most important event of his life, that of marriage, he was eminently successful. Spending an hour or so in his home was a rich experience: the unexpressed but deep affection of the family toward one another was an example of perfect unity. In February, 1962, John became ill and was out of ringing for seven months He made what appeared to be a good recovery, but gradually those of us who were intimate with him realised that all was not well. John took things much easier and looked well, but he knew that he must be prepared for any eventuality, and when it came we were not surprised but deeply shocked. Probably the last thing he saw was the Cathedral of Lincoln, as if beckoning him to higher service. It seems inevitable as one enters the evening of life that the lamps of friendship flutter and go out, leaving a void that cannot be filled. He would not wish us to unduly mourn him, but we can appreciate his life as an example of how a life can be lived.

OBITUARY

MR. F. WARD

Sheffield Cathedral Company have lost one of their oldest members by the death of Mr. Frank Ward on April 23rd, aged 82.

He learned to ring at Ranmoor, but joined the Cathedral Company in 1919 and was a regular ringer until two years ago, when heart trouble compelled him to give up this duty which he loved so well.

He rang 60 peals for the Yorkshire Association but he will best be remembered for his services to the Cathedral which he served so willingly. He rarely missed ringing for services and was a regular attender on practice nights and always punctual. He could ring a large variety of methods, including Cambridge Maximus.

By trade he was a sheet metal worker and a highly-skilled craftsman and for many years foreman

The Cathedral bells were rung half-muffled the day after his funeral and a quarter peal on the following Sunday. A service was held in the Cathedral on April 26th, followed by cremation at City Road.

LOXTON, SOMERSET.—On April 30th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: C. J. Hornett 1, R. W. Rice 2, Sue Walker 3, G. Robson 4, G. Hebden 5, W. S. Rice (cond.) 6. Rung by Banwell ringers in memory of P. J. Hall.

OBITUARY

MR. LEWIS JAMES BATLEY

The passing of Lew Batley was sad news for his many friends in Suffolk and South Norfolk. Lew had been a ringer and in the choir of Wingfield Church for over 30 years and attended the weekly practices for both ringing and choir For a period he also served on the parochial church council.

He taught and helped many ringers during those years. Lew was the "never absent, never late" type, and impressed on all beginners the importance of being early for service and practice ringing.

Quiet and unassuming, Lew was equally happy ringing a plain course of Minor with a beginner at Wingfield as ringing Surprise with the Leytonstone band.

Lew left the countryside, which he loved, in 1954, to live in West Ham with his sister who had then become a widow He joined the Leytonstone band and rang a few peals for the London County Association and in several quarter peals He was mainly a Sunday service ringer and had rung in 15 peals for the Suffolk Guild and a few peals for the Norwich Diocesan Association.

Two years ago an illness caused him to curtail some of his activities, and he did less ringing though his interest never failed. His last quarter peal was rung for the Norwich Diocesan Association while he was on holiday last summer

Early in March Lew suffered a stroke and was taken to the Plaistow Hospital. It was in the early hours of Easter Sunday morning that he was called to higher service, and he was buried in the West Ham Cemetery a few days before his 64th birthday.

There were many floral tributes from relatives, friends and neighbours, including his bowls club and from friends at Wingfield.

Sympathy is felt for his niece, Mrs. Lester, who lived near him and did much for him since he lost his sister some five years ago.

There was no muffled ringing as, in Lew's typical Suffolk dry humour, he hoped the bells would be "fired" instead. And so, as one of the many he taugh and helped with ringing, I remember with love and gratitude Lewis James Batley B. S.

FUNERAL OF MR. P. J. HALL

Widespread sympathy was expressed at the funeral service for Mr. Patrick John Hall (24), of 85, Westbury Crescent, Weston-super-Mare, whose tragic death, while giving a lesson in handling a bell, was reported in our issue of May 5th

The Rector of Uphill, the Rev. H. A. Birch, officiated assisted by the Rev. R. C. Adams and the Rev. G. L. Tuckermann. The address was given by the Rev. T. J. Fuller, first curate at St Barnabas' and now Vicar of St. Mary's, Crawley

A Requiem Mass was said earlier in the day at All Saints' Church, where Mr. Hall had been a regular server for three years. Interment was at St. Nicholas' Old Churchyard, Uphill.

At the conclusion of the service, a half-muffled touch of Grandsire Doubles was rung by Messrs H. Banwell, H Toogood, B. Williams, W Rice S Powell, G. Prescott. This was followed by a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor by J. Lambard, B Williams, Miss G. Webb, W. S. Rice, S. Powell and G. Prescott.

On the day of the funeral the bells of St. Martin's, Worle, were also rung half-muffled to 1,200 changes by W. Lovell, S. Lewis, J. Lambard, Miss G. Webb, R. Ballam and W. Kingsbury.

The many wreaths included tributes from the Axbridge Branch of the B. and W.; bellringers of Mark; Rector and P.C.C., Uphill; bellringers and people of SS. Peter and Paul, Bleadon; St. Nicholas' handbell ringers; ex-member of the handbell team, Connie Chick; ringers of Banwell tower.

Letters to the Editor

"LAMINATED"

Dear Sir,—Referring to the recent correspondence concerning the peal of Spliced Surprise with changes of method at the half-lead, I would like to point out that in Spliced (sometimes called "Laminated") Kent and Oxford Treble Bob the change of method occurs at other than the lead-end. The precise position of the change is not clear since the two methods are identical except in the first and last sections of the lead, but since the next most reasonable sub-division is the half-lead, it would appear that this system constitutes half-lead splicing, and it has been accepted without question for many years.

With regard to Mr. Smith's peal in up to 2,800 methods, it would be an idiot who would ring and claim it as such, but under present conditions the same idiot could quite properly ring a peal of Spliced with the same basic composition (Middleton's) by substituting Primrose for Cambridge in each lead preceding a bob, provided he rang his Primrose with fourth's place bobs.

It would seem that to produce regulations to guard against all such loopholes, while not restricting people who wish to try something genuinely different, would be so difficult as to be hardly worth attempting, and the wisest course might be to rely on the discretion of the individual. Anyone not showing such discretion would be immediately recognised as merely an exhibitionist.—Yours faithfully,

Wilmslow. NEIL D. LOMAS.

NO FIDDLE

Dear Sir,—Mr. Critchley seems to have seen something in the report of the peal at Frindsbury on March 25th that I have missed. Firstly, he says that it should have been published as a "performance": as far as I can see it does not contravene any of the conditions required for peals by the Central Council. Secondly, he implies that the peal was published as "Spliced" — my copy read merely "Surprise Major".

In the same issue, Bob Smith's letter, although, I am sure, at least partly humorous in intention does, nevertheless, give the impression that some sort of "fiddle" has taken place. I think that we should not overlook that this was a very fine "performance" by all concerned, whether one calls it "Spliced" or not.

Personally, I can see no logical reason for not calling it "Spliced" merely because it does not conform to a definition laid down when this sort of half-lead splicing was never envisaged.—Yours faithfully,

Tunbridge Wells. STANLEY JENNER.

CENTRAL COUNCIL LUNCH

Dear Sir,—I should perhaps explain the reason behind the request for names for luncheon at the headquarters hotel on Tuesday, May 30th, 1967 which incidentally applies both to members and visitors attending the Central Council meeting at Nottingham.

There is plenty of room, but the hotel manager will be putting a separate restaurant room and additional staff at our disposal, and in order to determine the room to use and the number of additional staff to employ it is hoped to supply him with some idea of the numbers requiring luncheon.

The result and the time taken to serve your lunch is therefore in your own hands, and we in our turn hope for a good response.—Yours faithfully,

W. L. EXTON,
Hon. General Secretary.
Southwell Diocesan Guild.

Dear Sir,—Observations on points such as this are always interesting and can, I believe, lead to better ringing, which is what we all desire. Nevertheless, in this instance, no one appears to have studied the subject, and such remarks as Mr. Locke's at the recent St. Martin's dinner can only cause embarrassment since we have several excellent ringers in Birmingham who ring "left over right".

The main point, which has so far been missed—and it relates to holding a cricket bat, a bell rope and tug of war—is the placing of the feet in relation to the position of the hands. (Right hand over left—right foot forward, if only slightly so, and vice-versa.) Try pulling in a tug of war with the left hand in front of the right, but the right foot forward!

It is amusing yet annoying, to observe the growing practice among younger ringers to stand with the wrong foot forward, even to the extent of tucking the other foot behind the one in front. The result may be rather more spectacular than the humdrum natural style, but I have yet to encounter such a ringer whom I could rate amongst the first-class strikers, particularly at the heavy end.—Yours faithfully, S. O. HOLLOWAY.

Smethwick, Staffs.

PLAIN BOB MAJOR

Dear Sir,—I was interested in Mr. R. J. Cowley's reply (p. 284) to Mr. P. J. Daniel's question on the quickest way to bring up backstroke 468s in Bob Major. Although Mr. Daniel did not make any particular specification in his question, one imagines he was interested in getting from rounds to backstroke 468s as quickly as possible. Mr. Cowley's method of Single Before, Bob Middle, requires the 4th in 2nds and 6th in 6ths at the preceding course-end to get to his backstroke 468s. Thus if one used this method from rounds it would be necessary to call a full course, e.g., with Single Wrong, Bob Home to get the course-end 45326. Then by calling Mr. Cowley's Single Before, Bob Middle, a 468 course-end can be produced with a total of 14 leads having been rung, i.e., one lead less than in Mr. Daniel's 1,264 quarter peal, which takes 15 leads to get there.

But was it worth it? Personally I don't think so, when one takes a look at what goes on inside the leads rung in the two systems put forward!

If one takes the trouble to look at the 9th lead (starting from rounds) of Mr. Daniel's quarter peal, one finds a 2468 brought up at handstroke — very nice music. Now look at Mr. Cowley's lead between the Single Before and Bob Middle. What does one find? 87 at backstroke.

I read that Mr. Cowley does not consider 87s at backstroke "detrimental to the music", and he is naturally entitled to his own opinion on that topic.

The point I am trying to make is this—course-ends (or course-heads if you will) represent a small percentage of the changes that are rung, and much good "internal" music may be lost if one composes merely to produce "good looking" course-ends and ignores what goes on between calls and between lead-ends.

I know which of the two methods I would use to get 468s at backstroke in Bob Major, and I'll venture a guess that I'd be in a majority!

I would point out that I have merely used the examples of Messrs. Daniel and Cowley to illustrate a point, and intend no personal criticism since I know neither gentleman personally.—Yours sincerely, ROGER SAVORY.

Marchwood, Hants.

ST. MARY'S (R.C.) CATHEDRAL, CORK

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Victor Sheppard's letter (April 28th), I confirm that the bells in St. Mary's R.C. Cathedral, Cork, form the only complete ring of bells in Ireland.

However, it may be of interest to know that the back eight bells of "John's Lane," Dublin, are all by Murphy and are an intact original ring of bells. Two trebles were added subsequently to form the ring of ten bells; they were cast by Charles Carr, of Birmingham.

The R.C. Cathedral of the Assumption, Thurles, has a Murphy ring; i.e., the front seven are hung for ringing but the tenor is a tolling bell—it is 57" in diameter. The ringers from Mount St. Alphonsus, Limerick, some years ago investigated the possibility of having these bells restored, without success. The chime of eight bells in St. Nicholas' (C.I.) Church, Cork, was a ring until about ten years ago, and was a Murphy ring cast in 1869.

In the R.C. Pro-Cathedral of St. Peter, Belfast, there is a chime of ten bells by Murphy, of Dublin, the largest of which is 62" in diameter. What a pity they were never hung as a ring They were cast and installed in 1884. The large bell hangs in the north west tower of the cathedral and the other nine are built into levels in the south west tower.

Regarding St. Mary's, Cork, the writer, aided and abetted by the late Gabriel Lindoff, made a number of efforts since 1934 to get the authorities concerned to have the bells rehung and in fact, to demonstrate the effect, we rang up the fourth bell without a rope. The effect was said to favourably impress the then R.C. Bishop of Cork but no money was always the response to proposed rehanging.—Yours sincerely,

FRED E. DUKES.

Drogheda, Co. Louth.

WASHINGTON'S SILENCERS

Dear Sir,—Miss Anne Horsford's letter (p. 250) commenting on Barry Couzens' excellent article "Suggestions for Instructors", and in particular on bell silencers (p. 184), has prompted me to bring to your notice the method used to "silence" the bells for practice at Washington Cathedral, U.S.A.

As far as I can remember, a silencer similar to that shown by Mr. Couzens' on p. 184 is employed. The major differences are that the silencer fits nearer to the sound bow of the bell and, in addition, a small iron hammer is fitted to each end of the silencer. The object of these small hammers is to tap the bell, one at handstroke the other at backstroke, so that, provided tower acoustics permit, the bell may be just heard in the ringing chamber. Outside the tower the bells are hardly audible.

Personally, it took only a few minutes' ringing with these "silencers" fitted to become used to listening to the small volume of sound produced by each bell. The big advantage was, of course, that normal change-ringing practice could be carried out with no disturbance to "the outside world".

Since the bells and fittings originated in the Whitechapel Foundry, could further information be made public on this type of "silencer" from that source? Or perhaps Mr. Richard Dirksen could help us out?

I regret that I did not take more careful note of the details of the Washington silencers as I am sure they would be of inestimable benefit to towers with a "public relations" problem.—Yours sincerely,

R. ROGER SAVORY.

BELL ROPES
JOHN NICOLL

A Week-End Around Sherborne

EIGHT London County Association members and friends set off at crack of dawn on March 4th for the mellow bells and peaceful countryside of North West Dorset. Three other members of the party had travelled to Sherborne the night before, which enabled them to get up at a more civilised hour and also to oil the bells in two of the towers on the programme. The first tower was at Buckland Newton, a dignified church on the edge of the Dorset hills. The sun shone brightly when we arrived and happily continued to shine for the whole week-end. The Immediate Past Master of the London County Association, when on the point of actually arriving early, managed to drive into a deep ditch near Mappowder, from which it needed the most powerful tractor in the neighbourhood to extract his large, green Rover.

Ringing on Buckland Newton's pleasant and easy-going 17 cwt. six—evidently much better cared for now than they were a few years ago—ranged from rounds to Cambridge. Our second tower was at Lydlinch, an attractive church surrounded by fields and elm trees, where we rang various Doubles methods on the rather plaintive, slow-turning Purdue and Mills five. We then adjourned to a pub in Stalbridge, where we were shortly joined by the Rector and P.C.C. secretary, who insisted on buying us all a drink between them—a splendid piece of Dorset hospitality. Duly sustained by pies and sandwiches (and some by fish and chips) we made our way up to the church and rang among other things a well-struck course of London. The Rector then showed us the bells—a mixed ring of six with the foundries of Purdue, Bilbie, Warner and Mears all represented.

TWO FOURS

The next two towers were opened concurrently, the organiser having not envisaged that there would be much support for four-bell ringing. This was not so, however, and the well-maintained four at Stourton Caundle were enjoyed by all. Three ringers from Ringwood joined the party here. We encountered the first and last bad-going bell of the day in the fourth of the five at Bishop's Caundle, where we were greeted by the tower captain and his many new recruits. Our ringing was not what it might have been at Holwell (a fine five cast by Gilletts in 1911—a year in which they did much work in Dorset).

Holwell was the scene of many group photographs, the tower and parish stocks providing a suitable background and foreground. We continued over the hill to Lillington (a lovely remote church with a pretty five restored by Taylors and hung by Doble of Taunton during the First War). The bells here and at Bishop's Caundle were the only light rings we encountered in a district where heavy bells, often in quite small churches, abound. Yetminster is a large village with a grand church; the six bells, as so often in Dorset, are a real mixture, and in this case sound it. Our efforts at Surprise ringing suffered somewhat from the presence of the organ in the ringing gallery, blocking the treble and tenor ringers from each other's view.

OWLS HOOTED

The Vicar greeted us at Bradford Abbas, where the bells (another six) sound pleasant, if a little thin; the bell frame is ancient but this scarcely excuses the way in which the front two ropes snatch. Hull was the special method here. Owls hooted while we hunted in vain for the tower key at Over Compton—an eerie spot after dark, the church standing between a tall and largely empty Victorian house up a long drive from the village. The Rector had left a note about keys for us at Nether Compton Church less than half a mile away. Some of the party then rang on the curious four at Over Compton while the others went on to arrive on time at Trent. Of the fine-sounding Warner-hung back five here no less than three are pre-Reformation bells (none alike); the tone and go of the recently-added treble leave something to be desired. Our somewhat exhausting day's ringing ended on the easy-going five at Nether Compton. Nine of the party then made their way to the Antelope in Sherborne for a very welcome roast meal and night's rest.

We were sluggish in making a move on Sunday morning and had to be content with touches of Stedman and a good lower on the back eight at Yeovil, perhaps the loveliest-sounding bells of the week-end. Here we joined the local company—such as it is—in ringing for the 10 o'clock Mothering Sunday service. We were made welcome at Hardington Mandeville (a pleasant light six with a strong local band).

A LOVELY VILLAGE—MELLOW STONE AND THATCHED

At this point there was a break in the programme, but this was filled by some with a visit to East Chinnock (a pleasantly lumpy anti-clockwise minor five!), where the tower captain kindly fixed us up. An excellent lunch had been laid on for us at the Helyar Arms, East Coker—a lovely village of mellow stone and thatch, stream, green and flowers, all beautifully kept without having become self conscious. The bells here are a pleasant light eight with an attractive, bright ringing room. After we had rung, Mr. Foot kindly welcomed us to his beautiful cottage to see a perfect scale model of a ring of ten bells.

A crosscountry drive followed to Charlton Horethorne, where Mr. Setter, from Yeovil, kindly joined us and made possible a professional touch of Stedman for the 3 o'clock service. The bells are a melodious mixed eight and go well considering that they have not been rehung since Warners augmented them nearly a century ago. Milborne Port bells—a real "old-style" heavy eight with a palatial ringing chamber—were much enjoyed and Tom Setter again helped us to achieve a good standard.

We returned to Sherborne for the climax of the week-end; an hour's ringing for Evensong on the queen of eights at Sherborne Abbey. Oddly enough the first touch—Grandsire Triples—was the best. The bells are very easy-going and seemed to need little getting used to. Our thanks are due to the two local ringers who joined us here, to all clergy, ringers and others who made us so welcome at their towers and to the landlord at the Antelope, who provided us with such congenial headquarters for the week-end.

BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY A.G.M.

The annual general meeting of the Birmingham University Society was held on March 8th, this year in the Students' Union. The activity of University Societies fluctuates considerably, but at the moment we seem to be on the crest of a wave with 25 members on the books. Twenty peals were rung during the year since the last annual general meeting and the Society's first dinner was held last November. The election of officers was as follows: Secretary, Mr. R. M. Chambers, University House, Edgbaston Park Road, Birmingham, 15; Master, Mr. James R. White; treasurer, Mr. H. J. Baker.

LUMLEY CASTLE RALLY, 1967

THE first of a series of events planned to celebrate the 90th anniversary of the founding of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association took place on April 15th, when a ringers' rally was held at Lumley Castle, Chester-le-Street. A programme with a definite social flavour had been organised to promote that "getting-to-know-you" atmosphere among members.

Shortly after mid-day, a company of approaching 70 ringers, representing most of the affiliated towers in the North East, assembled in the junior common room of the Castle, where the Ringing Master extended a welcome and outlined the day's proceedings. Lunch in the Great Hall then followed, and after a satisfying meal in gracious surroundings members dispersed to their various activities. While the peal bands departed by car for their scenes of exertion, the remainder of the party enjoyed an hour of siesta, during which time they were treated to an illustrated talk on ringing of general interest by Fred Hodgson and a résumé of the history of the Association, with reference to the recently-discovered Clarkson papers, by Peter Rock. Adjournment was then made to the nearby tower of Chester-le-Street Parish Church, where the bells were available for general ringing.

50 PER CENT. SUCCESS

Dinner at the Castle was scheduled for 7 p.m. and by 6.30 p.m. the long trek back from the outside events had begun. Results of the peal attempts were eagerly awaited by first arrivals, and the earliest news was disappointing when it was learned that Yorkshire Surprise Major at Houghton-le-Spring had failed through a shift course after 1 hour and 20 minutes. Brighter news, however, was reported from Tanfield, where a peal of Bob Major had been successful, and from Lanchester, where Minor in two methods had been recorded after one false start. The fourth and final result from Roker, however, also registered a "miss" when it was revealed that Bob Major had been lost after three hours' ringing due to a misunderstanding on the part of one of the ringers. Thus we were presented with a 50 per cent. tally in our attempts for commemorative peals.

The dinner came as a more-than-welcome respite after the efforts of the afternoon, and both the inner and outer man were in good humour for the post-prandial phase of the programme. Returning to the J.C.R., members participated in a social get-together with all the amenities of a liquid refreshment bar, until it was time to dim the lights and a film show, ably presented by Fred Hodgson, began. First came a supporting item, "The Royal County of Norfolk", which contained several shots of well-known bell towers, and this was followed by the main feature, "Ringers Required". Both films were well received by the audience, and on a call for "encore" Fred showed us his own speciality, "Modernisation of the Railways", in glorious technicolor.

By this time a tired but enthusiastic gathering had reached the "homing course" and there were more thirsts to be slaked. So, before calling "That's all" the R.M. paid due acknowledgment to everyone who by their attendance and co-operation had made the day so successful. In particular, he thanked the incumbents of the respective churches where the bells had been at our disposal during the day, and Messrs. D. A. Bayles, K. W. Cheeseman, E. P. Rock and F. Hodgson, who had been such willing helpers in organising the project. Mr. W. Tyson, the president, then had a final word in voicing the appreciation of members to the R.M. and his organisers for promoting such an eventful occasion for a spritely nonagenarian.

COMPOSITIONS DURING 1966

By J. A. AINSWORTH

I have based my comments on compositions rung to peals and compositions published in "The Ringing World" in 1966.

COMPOSITIONS RUNG

Triples:

J. J. Parker's 12 part continues as the most popular composition for Grandsire Triples, 61 of the total number of 84 peals being rung to this composition. The remaining 23 were:–

Davies' 5 part 1
Parker's 5 part 2
Thurstans' 5 part 2
Vicars' 5 part 3
Parker's 6 part 3
Taylor's 6 part 2
Carter's 12 part 1
Bruerton's 12 part 2
Holt's 10 part 2
Holt's Original 2 (called by W. H. Mayle and Geoff Clarke)
Compositions by A. J. Pitman, B. D. Price and A. Corrigan 1 each

The latter were, unfortunately, not described in any further details in the peal reports.

I have no statistics to support my belief that the stranglehold of Parker's 12 part is at long last being relaxed; it is a very good composition but there are a number of easier compositions of equal stature.

Sixty peals of Stedman Triples were rung, all but one being, as far as I could tell from the details given in the peal reports, twin bob compositions. Mr. William Butler called the one exception, John Carter's odd bob one part. I am surprised that contemporary Stedman Triples conductors are not more adventurous. They appear to labour under the misapprehension that an odd-bob composition is difficult to memorise and call; on the contrary there are a number of odd-bob compositions of simple calling, in five equal parts, which are easier than many twin bob compositions and are more interesting to the other members of the band in the unpredictability of their entering the front work as a slow or quick bell.

A young conductor has to search diligently through out-of-print publications and reports to find a selection of compositions of different types of both Grandsire and Stedman Triples in order to choose one which is most appropriate for the peal attempt in mind.

For example, for a local band with little peal ringing experience I might choose J. J. Parker's One Part or Six Part (in preference to his Twelve Part) for Grandsire Triples and J W. Washbrook's twin bob six part or G. Lindoff's twin bob equal five part for Stedman Triples. For a band of more experience wishing to tackle something more adventuresome I might choose B. D. Price's irregular eight part for Grandsire Triples and J. O. Lancashire's "Marvel" odd and even bob and single for Stedman Triples.

The absence of a composite collection of compositions in these popular methods represents a serious gap in the list of publications available to the Exercise.

Major: Cambridge

Charles Middleton's Five Part in its various forms was rung in 51 peals, while 31 peals using other compositions (albeit often containing sections of Middleton's peal) were rung and these were called by 28 different conductors. However, the simplicity of Middleton's, especially for a conductor when called upon to call a peal of Cambridge at a moment's notice, will keep it popular.

Spliced Surprise

Before the second world war one of the ambitions of an aspiring conductor would be to conduct either Holt's Original of Grandsire Triples, and/or Carter's odd-bob of Stedman Triples. These compositions are now rarely rung but I feel that their place, in the armament of today's conductor, has been taken by a number of compositions which are in some ways even more difficult to memorise and call than either Holt's or Carter's, namely the one part, "all the work" compositions in varying numbers of methods of Spliced Surprise Major by H. G. Cashmore, A. J. Pitman and R. G. Crosland.

The following conductors successfully called these compositions:–

Conductor	Compositions
R. Baldwin	Pitman's 4 and Pitman's 6 twice
N. Bennett	Pitman's 6 twice
D. Beresford	Pitman's 4 and 7
A. J. Corby	Pitman's 5 and Crosland's 6
P. A. Corby	Pitman's 4 four times
W. E. Critchley	Pitman's 4 three times, 5 and 6
M. J. Fellows	Pitman's 4
J Henry Fielden	Pitman's 7 and 8
B. F. L. Groves	Crosland's 10
S. Jenner	Pitman's 4, 7 and 8
R. C. Kippin	Cashmore's 4
G. Penney	Pitman's 4
R. W. Pipe	Pitman's 4 and Crosland's 6
J. E. G Roast	Pitman's 5
D. E. Sibson	Pitman's 4 three times, Crosland's 8

With these conductors should be mentioned those members of the bands from the Yorkshire Association and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths who rang silent and non-conducted peals of Pitman's 5, 6 and 9 and Pitman's 6, 7 and 8 respectively.

Yorkshire Association: Jeanne E. Bottomley, W. E. Critchley, W. F. Moreton, J. Henry Fielden, F. A. Munday, S. Armeson, V. Bottomley.

Cumberland Youths: Joan Beresford, R. F. Diserens, D. E. Sibson, E. A. Barnett, R. Baldwin, S. Jenner, D. Beresford.

In the field of multi-method Spliced Surprise Major the exploits of the West Country band under the leadership of Anthony R. Peake aroused admiration throughout the year as they leapt forward by leaps and bounds to their last record during 1966 of 120 methods.

Maximus:

Conductors from Birmingham have regularly called short peals of Surprise Maximus over the past five years, i.e. peals of 5,042 changes, coming round at the backstroke dodge of the treble in the 7th lead of the 10th course. Conductors from other areas are now following suit. Apart from peals by the St. Martin's Guild, 38 peals of Cambridge Maximus were rung, 17 5,280's and 21 5,042's, the latter being called by 18 different conductors.

The popularity of "short" peals over "long" peals showed a marked increase as 1966 went by, the proportion of short peals being much greater in the last few months of the year.

COMPOSITIONS PUBLISHED

A proportion of the compositions published are of particular interest to those who are wishing to attempt long lengths, new methods or multi-spliced touches and I shall not single any of these out for comment.

Amongst the compositions of general interest are the following:–

Cinques:

Edgar Shepherd's 12 part (No. 4) of Grandsire (page 22) is of a simple construction, the first 6 parts being of 87 Tittums and the second six of handstroke home. This seems to be a composition worthy of inclusion in a conductor's collection for a peal at a few moments notice.

5.103 Stedman by Michael V. Chilcott (page 229) is an interesting production for a Cinques band who wish to try something a little different. Three times during the peal the back bells are called into Whittington's position (E9780) within 12 sixes of a Tittums course end, producing at the short course end Whittington's change itself 531246E9780T, 531264E9780T and 123456E9780T. This was first rung at St. Michael's, Cornhill, but I noticed that D. Beresford called it at Buckfast Abbey in November.

5.148 Stedman (No. 2) by Andrew S. Hudson (page 852) should provide amusement to ringers, and anguish to the conductor, as it commences at backstroke. This is a basically simple composition in 3 parts with the back bells in the Handstroke, Tittums and Inverted Tittums (879E0) positions in each of the parts.

Royal:

Richard Speed's Yorkshire (page 144) is undistinguished save for its bare 5,000 changes, but his simple 5,040 Pudsey (page 168) in two parts with 6 x 65 course ends and 6 x 56 course ends using a total of eight singles is worthy of inclusion in the same category as Edgar Shepherd's Grandsire Cinques.

On page 175 another simple two part was published, 5,040 Cambridge by Roderick W. Pipe. From the experience of having called and/or rung this arrangement of the composition eight times in 1966 I can only say that, in my opinion, it has opened up the field of Royal composition in a way analagous to the introduction of courses of Handstroke Home music in Caters in 1816 by Henry Cooper. In this brilliant peal the composer gives us 6 courses of 8790 music with 5 and 6 in 5ths or 6ths place; 7 and 8 are transposed by the simple expedient of using singles at the half lead in the middle of the course (4½), this causes the bells (7 and 8) ending and beginning their 7-8 places to make 7ths and 8ths places instead of dodging, thereafter taking over each other's work. I recommend it to inexperienced bands for its simplicity and the way in which 2, 3 and 4 are kept coursing together, and to experienced bands for its wealth of Backstroke Home and Tittums music. Indeed I consider it to be such an important composition that I give it here again in this form for the benefit of those who did not previously make a note of it.

J. Henry Fielden's collection of both long and short course peals of London Royal on page 536 is a useful addition.

Another composition using three 568790 courses was G. Ronald Edwards' 5,080 Yorkshire (page 717), followed by R. W. Pipe's 5,120 London Royal (page 836) in short courses which has both 56 and 65, 8790's; the latter also uses singles at the half leads immediately before and after the course end, affecting the bells beginning and ending their 7-8 places.

Major:

T. B. Worsley's 5,280 Real Double Superlative (pages 7 and 128) will not be rung very often unless there is an increase in the popularity of this method with the stagnating effect of its 4 sets of five-pull dodges and the 4 sets of long places.

Throughout the year there have been a number of musical compositions of Yorkshire by Simon Humphrey, Roderick W. Pipe, Richard J. Parker and Brian Mountjoy. Some of these have been regularly rung since their publication and this is understandable as, with the use of singles, they give considerably more music than a composition without singles. I was surprised that no compositions of this type were published in the 1966 edition of the Central Council collection. The compilers say in the foreword that they have attempted to recognise changing tastes. Surely they recognise that singles in Surprise Major have come to stay and that their use represents an advance.

5,021 Glasgow by Roderick W. Pipe (page 836) provides a real sting in the tail for a confident band. The tenors are split, for the first time, in the last six leads, Queen's and Tittums are obtained, more bobs are called, and the peal comes round at a handstroke snap of the treble to everyone's surprise.

On November 25th a peal report records a peal of "all the work" Spliced Surprise Major in the four standard methods (LBCS) composed by Richard G. Crosland. This is in three equal parts and is a most important

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch at North Bradley on April 1st attracted 38 members, representing eight towers, with one visitor from Colerne.

The service was conducted by the recently-inducted Vicar, Canon C. E. Youngman, and the company was entertained to tea by the ringers of North Bradley.

The business meeting, which followed, was conducted by the chairman, Mr. C. F. Andrews (Melksham), with Mr. Graham Davis (Bradford) as secretary. Final details for the Guild Annual Festival to be held at Melksham on May 13th were settled. Monthly and quarterly meetings were decided upon as follows: June, West Lavington; July, Urchfont; August, Steeple Ashton; September, Great Cheverell; October, St. John's, Devizes.

A Press correspondent was elected (Mr. N. G. Knee) and it was decided to hold a striking competition in November, arrangements for this to be made by Mr. R. Purnell, Ringing Master.

Members from Steeple Ashton and Potterne joined in the ringing during the evening, with Mr. N. G. Knee as Ringing Master.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE

In spite of wet, cold weather, the Durham and Newcastle Association's Southern District meeting on April 22nd attracted well over 30 ringers to Barnard Castle, where it was pleasant to see evidence of more care being taken of the tower, and several new ropes, though the tower still has no Association members. Perhaps because of the improved conditions, ringing was better than it had been on previous visits and ranged from rounds and call changes for the numerous learners, to London and Bristol Major.

After a picnic tea the meeting moved on to Staindrop (a popular tower without Association members). An enjoyable evening's ringing compensated for the persistent cold rain.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Chertsey District

The third District striking competition, held at Horsell on April 22nd, justified its place in the District calendar. Six teams entered and were judged by Mr. D. A. R. May and Mr. P. G. Smart.

The judges placed the teams in the following order: Horsell 1, Egham 2, Hersham 3, Chobham 4, Thames Ditton 5, Send 6.

The day's programme also embraced a short service. tea provided by Horsell ringers, and general ringing.

IN UNSPOILT SHROPSHIRE

It was refreshing to find an unspoilt and remote village, where the Bridgnorth District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild held its spring meeting on April 29th. The remoteness probable accounted for the poor attendance (14), but those present were rewarded with a bountiful tea arranged by Miss R. Lamb. Chetton has a pleasant ring of six and a delightful old inn almost in the churchyard.

advance in the field, bringing "all the work" 4 spliced within the range of many more conductors.

On page 717 Cornelius Charge's well known peal of Bob Major, featured in the current C.C. Collection (No. 13), was published. I wonder why this old favourite was published at all, let alone incorrectly.

Overall the field of composition developed during 1966, especially with the use of singles in Surprise, with the promise of further developments in 1967.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The spring meeting of the South West Branch was held at Buckland Monachorum on April 15th. Ringing on the fine ring of eight bells was under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. D. R. Bould.

During the service, conducted by the Vicar of Buckland (the Rev. P. S. Stephens), a touch of Grandsire Doubles was rung on handbells by Mr D. R. Bould, Mr. R. A. Southwood (secretary and treasurer) and Mr. John Longridge. The organist was Mr. Michael Keck.

After a good tea the meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Rev. Eric Hayman in place of Mr. H. H. Thomas (deputy chairman), who was unable to be present. A minute's silence was observed for Mr. Thomas George Myers (late chairman of the Branch) and later it was discussed what form a memorial to him might take. As Tom was so well known throughout Devon the proposal was passed on to the Guild for its views.

The secretary asked for full support for the next meeting, to be held at Stoke Damerel on October 14th. The form of service at Branch meetings was also discussed. A social evening is being held on October 7th.

New members elected were: Mr. Ron Roberts (St. Columb), Miss Clare Maxwell-Jones (Stoke Damerel) and the Rev. Leslie B. Hutchings, Mrs. Loveday Hutchings, M.A., Mr. Richard A. Hutchings and Mrs. Merryn D. Hutchings (all from Modbury).

Mr. W. Myers accorded a vote of thanks and appreciation to the South West Branch for all that it had done on the sad death of his brother.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal of Stedman Doubles at West Hendred on April 15th, rung for the Oxford Diocesan Guild, was conducted by Christopher I. Rowson and not James R. White as printed.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Cripplegate on April 29th was a relief to the University of London Society as it was the fourth time in the past year that the Society had tried to get this peal.

The band who rang the peal at Tettenhall would like Mr. Philip Johnson, of Codsall, to be associated with it, as he was originally to have rung. Unfortunately he and Miss Gillian Smith were involved in a road accident, but we are pleased to learn they are well on the way to recovery.

Thursday April 27th, saw another attempt to encourage ringing together in the Southern District of the Surrey Association, when a combined practice was held at Redhill. As is usual on these occasions, the strongest contingent was from Old Coulsdon. Some progress was made and several people either attempted to ring or rang a new method. Next practice, Godstone, May 25th.

Mr. Fred Salter, of Nottingham, is in Mewstead Hospital, Nottingham, Ward 2, Room 16. He is as well as can be expected and would be glad to hear from old friends.

The wedding of two Perth, Australia, ringers, Margaret Johnson and Robert Cook, at Perth Cathedral on April 29th was the occasion for a wedding peal at Grundisburgh, Suffolk, on the same day. Great Adventure II received much hospitality from Margaret's parents.

Over 60 ringers were present at the spring festival of the Penzance Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild at Landewednack on April 29th. The Rector (Rev. E. E. Hodges) conducted the service, and the Vicar of Mullion (Rev. W. J K. Harris) gave the address. Local ladies provided an excellent tea, and other towers open in the evening were St. Keverne, Manaccan and Mawgan. Next meeting: Carbis Bay, October 28th (provisional).

DOINGS IN DEVON

There are no really catastrophic turn-ups in the Winter Knock-out Cup so far, and all except the Southern Area have got down to the last three. One feature, however, is the success so far of eight-bell bands competing on six—a thing which they very seldom do in the summer competitions. Although (we had better hasten to reassure readers) West Down, St. Mary Down and West Alvington are still right in there each in its own area, the other two teams in the North are both from eight-bell towers. High Bickington, led by the redoubtable Herbert Pidler (who earned himself a fine centre-page profile in the "Western Times" recently), have knocked out St. Giles-in-the-Wood, Burrington and, rather surprisingly, Swymbridge, while Pilton have disposed of Marwood, Alwington and, to all intents and purposes, West Down "B."

In the last case the meeting has not yet taken place, but West Down's "B" team includes two girls, who would be unwise to attempt competition ringing on Pilton's heavy back six, and West Down are planning to replace them with members of their "A" band in order to make an evening of it, but to give the result to Pilton in any case. Alwington also conceded a walk-over, we hear; we hear also with great regret that they have lost their immensely keen and charming captain, Frank Daniel. West Down "A" have disposed of Tawstock and Chittlehampton and have had one bye.

Mid-Devon has also seen an eight-bell band showing rousing form on six, for in the face of some stiff competition Witheridge, who also lost a captain recently in the death of that wonderful ringer Tommy Kingdon, are still there with (as expected) Talaton and Down St. Mary. From the South our news is not quite so detailed, but both the Plymstock bands are still in the running, and so are West Alvington and Widecombe.

SCIENTIFIC BAND WIN CALL-CHANGE CONTEST

The Ipplepen Deanery 6-bell competition was held at Churston Ferrers on April 29th. The Vicar, Rev. B. G. Burr, conducted a shortened form of Evensong and gave an address prior to the draw which was made at 3.10 p.m.

Eight teams entered and rang the customary 60 on thirds peal. The shield and first certificate were awarded to Babbacombe with 51 faults, and it is believed that this is the first time a scientific band has succeeded in winning a call-change competition. The other placings were Kingskerswell 55, Brixham 73, Stoke Fleming "A" 78, Stoke Fleming "B" 85, Paignton 102, Ipplepen 123, Churston Ferrers 125.

At the meeting which followed it was agreed to make a grant of 5 gns. to Marldon band, who have plans to augment their bells to six. Next year's Ipplepen Deanery competition will be held at St. Petrock's, Dartmouth.

MUSIC FESTIVAL PEAL

The Derby Association were asked to ring a peal at Long Eaton for the festival of music and the arts. This gained quite a lot of publicity in the local papers and the B.B.C. sent a reporter to cover the event. His interview with David J. Marshall and Gordon Halls was broadcast on the programme "Today" on May 1st. The interest seems to have been caused by the method named Long Eaton Surprise Major being derived by computer (the Hudson and MacClenahan collection).

MUSIC FESTIVAL AT RICHMOND, SURREY

The annual Music Festival at Richmond, Surrey, finishes each year with the ringing section, and this year was no exception. At Isleworth Parish Church no less than five teams entered the contest in the tower bell section. Each effort was listened to attentively by quite a large gathering of ringers, and the adjudicator for the occasion was Mr. Walter Ayre. Teams entering were Isleworth Parish Church (Stedman Triples), St. Mary's, Battersea (Grandsire Triples), The Riverside Ringers (conducted by Robin Leale, Stedman Triples), the London County Sunday Evening Service band (conducted by Monty Meyer), St. John's, Hillingdon (holders of the shield for 1966). Each team was allowed five minutes' practice and then had to ring a touch of at least 250 changes.

Mr. Ayre reserved his remarks and the declaration of the results until after tea, which was served in the church hall by ladies from Isleworth Parish Church. The winners were The Riverside Ringers, who gained an honours certificate with 96 marks out of 100 for what Mr. Ayre described as "an almost faultless performance which, if repeated in every tower, would stop any complaints about bell ringing". This mark, incidentally, was the highest awarded in the Festival in any of its sections this year. Isleworth Parish Church were runners-up with 91 marks, which also gained them an honours certificate and further congratulations from the adjudicator.

It was unfortunate that the handbell ringing contest had to be cancelled. Only one team entered the tune ringing contest and two for the change ringing contest and unfortunately, owing to absence or illness, the change ringing bands had to withdraw.

Tower secretaries and Association officials are asked to make a note of the provisional date for next year's contest, which will be on Saturday, April 6th, 1968, at Isleworth Parish Church.

D. J. NEAL SMITH,
Festival Chairman.

A CONCENTRATION ON SURPRISE

Malcolm E. Wade rang his 100th peal on January 17th at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough. The method was Yorkshire Surprise Royal, conducted by R. Kingsley Mason, with whom he has rung many peals.

Details: Surprise Maximus 6, Stedman Cinques 2, Surprise Royal 22 (eight different methods), Surprise Major 62 (24 methods), Major 2, Triples nil, Minor 6 (Cambridge 3).

CHIMING GIFT TO WIRRAL BRANCH SECRETARY

In recognition of his 21 years' service as hon. secretary and treasurer of the Wirral Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild, an attractive chiming clock was presented to Mr. Alexander J Martin at the Branch's monthly meeting at Bebington on April 29th.

Miss M Wendy Hodgson Jones, tower captain of St. Mary's, Upton Overchurch, the originator of the presentation, thought that the younger members should be told what the Branch owed to Alex. He started ringing, she said, 32 years ago at St. Peter's, Rock Ferry, then at St. Andrew's, Bebington, and now at St. Saviour's, Oxton. He also rang at Liverpool Cathedral, was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and an honorary member of the Liverpool University Society.

The way he had fulfilled his many duties as hon secretary, such as arranging tower meetings socials, annual dinners, tours, supplying reserves and the training of recruits, had produced a happy band of ringers and had made the Branch one of the best in the Chester diocese.

Miss Jones concluded by saying that she hoped the members would follow the example of Alex and by so doing would get much pleasure in return for their efforts, and she knew they all joined with her in wishing Alex and Mrs. Martin a long and happy life and the clock was a token of their sincere thanks for the excellent services rendered by Alex to the Branch.

The Rev L. Roy Barker, president of the Branch and Vicar of St. Mary's, Upton Overchurch, made the presentation, and Miss Jones presented Mrs. Martin with a basket of roses, sweet peas and freesias.

A LOSS TO RAINHAM

Rainham, Kent, parishioners have been in mourning for the passing of their Vicar, the Rev. James Clifford, who died suddenly on April 18th. During the week before and after his death the bells of St. Margaret's Church were rung half-muffled. Mr. Clifford had held the living since 1955 and took a very close interest in the belfry. He was an associate member of the K.C.A.

More than 500 people, including civic heads, attended the funeral service. In a tribute the Archdeacon of Rochester (Ven L. W. Harland) said, "He was a gentle man in every sense of the word. And he was a great believer in sympathy and love."

After the service a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles with rung, half-muffled, by the local band, with 7, 6, 8 covering: Miss H. M. Carter 1, Mrs. F. J. Cheal 2, Mrs. T. S. Wraight 3, F. J. Cheal (cond.) 4, R. E. Finch 5, K. Williamson 6, T. S. Wraight 7, N. Jackson 8.

AN UNUSUAL DOUBLE

By ringing the 9th at Daventry on April 14th, Mr. P. I. Chapman not only completed his 50th peal on the bells but also completed the "circle" for the fifth time. The attainment of this unusual "double" should have been achieved last year, but an eight months' absence from peal ringing, due to a prolonged illness, prevented it.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM BOUGHTON

The death occurred on April 30th of Mr. William Boughton, of Clent, in Blakebrook Hospital, Kidderminster, at the age of 82. He had been there since the amputation of a leg some time ago.

A ringer at Clent for more than 50 years, Mr. Boughton was also a chorister, coming of an old Clent ringing family. His brother Frank emigrated to Australia in 1912 and was for many years a member of St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, band.

He was contemporary at Clent with William H. Barber, his brother John and William Short, all Clent ringers. William H. Barber moved to Newcastle upon Tyne shortly after "Bill" Boughton joined the band.

The funeral was at Clent on Wednesday, May 3rd, the Worcestershire Association being represented by the Northern Branch secretary, himself a ringer at Clent since 1914.

SPIRIT OF UNITY AT DUBLIN

In preparation for the feast of Our Mother of Good Counsel, the bells of SS. Augustine and John, Dublin, were put to full use, thanks to the help and co-operation of the ringers from St. Patrick's and Christ Church Cathedrals, St. George's Church and the University Guild. Ringing took place on each of the four evenings of April 22nd–25th, plus Sunday morning and Wednesday morning for the High Masses, as well as the quarter peal on Wednesday, 26th. The Augustinian Community here deeply appreciate the help given, in particular by Charles Reede, Helen Hubert, Thomas Wilson and, of course, Colin Lewis for the quarter peal

A DEVON BORDER TOUR

Mr. A. L. Bennett conducted another of his successful tours on May 6th—this time on the borders of Devon and Somerset. Places visited were Holcombe Rogus, Nynehead, Hillfarance, Halse, Fitzhead, Stogumber (where recordings were taken). Crowcombe and Ash Priors. Mr. A. H. Reed joined the party at lunch at Cross Keys Hotel, Norton Fitzhead.

"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

This unique work, second in the series entitled

is complete in itself. Its subject is treated both for beginners and for advanced practical ringers. It is not a textbook on specific methods, of which several exist but it shows, for the first time, the detailed structure of the general plan of change-production by types of methods, traced from 3-bell (basic) to 12-bell stages

Well bound in an attractive stiff cover in blue with gold lettering the book measures 8" x 6½" x 1" and contains nearly 300 of such large pages with some 80 figures or diagrams, also 8 double-page and 5 single-page "charts." Included are series of "definitions" and "axioms" listed to serve as an index Paragraphs throughout are numbered for ready cross-reference. Chapters close with test-questions and indication of answer-location.

This book is very highly recommended, especially by leading members of the Exercise, including the Rev Canon Gilbert Thurlow, M.A., Fredk. Sharpe F.S.A., and E. C. Shepherd. (See "Ringing World" 1966 pp 339 and 490.) Much of the work was hitherto unpublished in book form.

The whole book has been planned for issue at minimum cost of production, being thereby cut from pounds to shillings so as to be within the reach of all. The price, packing and postage included, is only 17/- (seventeen shillings), and your copy comes by return of post from: College Publications, 40, Parkstone Avenue Southsea, Hants. 897

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2927. Vol. LXIII. FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1967 9d.

Welcome to the Central Council

ST. MARY THE VIRGIN, NOTTINGHAM,

the historic Mother Church of the City, where the members of the Central Council will take Communion before the Meeting

Nottingham — The City and Countryside

By W. L. Exton, Secretary, Southwell Diocesan Guild

THE coming-of-age of a ringing Guild is always a great occasion, and when this is coupled with the visit of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers this is indeed doubly so. It was therefore with great pleasure that we, the members of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, learned that the Central Council had accepted the invitation to visit our diocese in 1967.

Nottinghamshire, not one of the most beautiful counties of England, still manages to retain a peaceful rural atmosphere despite many setbacks. The great black scars of the coal mines and slag heaps on the western side contrast with the whites of the open-cast gypsum mines and their dust on the south and east, while through the centre flows the River Trent, on whose banks stand some of the largest power stations in the world. The title "Power House of the Midlands" is certainly no misnomer.

A tour round the county reveals many delightful spots to explore, with churches of every description and size, and there in the very centre we find Southwell. Our Cathedral here is unusual in many ways, with a modern Taylor ring, hung backwards in the central tower, the only backward 12 in England. Spend a pleasant hour in this quiet Minster town, marvel at the tranquillity, or sit in the Memorial Gardens and listen to the bells.

Visit Newark, a perfect blend of Early English, Decorative and Perpendicular architecture, overlooking the cobbled market place, the most complete remaining market square in England. Ten bells, again Taylors, but this time 1842, in fact the first complete ring of ten cast as a ten by Taylors who had at that time just moved to Loughborough. Spare time to walk round the church, see the beauty of the now restored interior and above the decorative ceiling.

Tour the villages of the Trent Valley, the Dukeries, or those in Sherwood Forest, each with a church, an endless variety of architecture, towers of all kinds, some with spires, some without, and even one with a saddleback roof. Each interesting in its own way, many with bells, a large quantity of which were cast within the county itself.

BELL FOUNDING CENTRE

It is appropriate that the Central Council should visit the city of Nottingham, which for over 400 years was a centre of the bell founding industry, so flourishing that at one time there were two foundries within the city. These, alas, have now disappeared, along with such thoroughfares as Bell Foundry Yard and Ten Bell Lane, which once graced the maps of Nottingham. Thankfully, many of these bells, recording much of our early history, still remain and ring out from our towers and steeples.

Nottingham, a city of contrasts; small narrow lanes and quaint buildings, surround the Church of St. Mary in what was once the old city centre. This church, a fine example of the Perpendicular style, with a large square central tower, built on a hill, still commands respect on the city skyline despite the appearance of many modern office blocks.

Less than a quarter of a mile away, down in amongst the busy shopping streets, stands the Church of St. Peter. This contains our city ring of 12, the second lightest 12 in a church tower, a small tower surmounted by a tall, thin spire. The tenor bell, upon which the clock strikes, is exactly an octave higher than Little John.

W. L. EXTON

Little John is the deepest-toned bell in the British Isles. The quarter chimes are perhaps the finest set of clock bells in the world. These hang in the dome above the magnificent Council House built in Portland stone in 1928, overlooking the old Market Square, now paved and gardened, thus setting a pattern for the remainder of the city, an open city with sweeping boulevards and tree-lined streets, interspersed with parks and gardens.

Many industries have their homes in the city, and even more owe their origins to Nottingham. Boots the Chemist, Players' Cigarettes, Raleigh Cyles, Ericssons' Telephones, Wheatcroft roses and, of course, Nottingham lace. Not only is the lace made here but also the engineering works to produce the lace machines exported to all corners of the world.

It is perhaps interesting to note that the first bank was opened in the city of Nottingham; this was in 1688 by one Thomas Smith, a city draper. The first provincial children's library was opened in Nottingham in 1875, and who knows what new decisions will be taken by the Central Council in 1967?

For these we must wait and see, but in the meantime we look forward to greeting you on this the first meeting of the Central Council to be held on the Tuesday following the spring Bank Holiday.

NOTTINGHAM WELCOMES THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

A hearty welcome to Nottingham and to the Diocese of Southwell. We count it a great honour to have the privilege of entertaining the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers for its Annual Conference this year.

As you meet our Diocesan Guild you will find great keenness, and enjoy superb Midlands hospitality. Throughout my ministry I have had wonderful friendship, co-operation and help from the great bell-ringing fraternity of our Church, especially at Marston, Oxford, in Buckinghamshire, and now in the Diocese of Southwell.

This Diocese consists of the County as well as the City of Nottingham. You will see our many fine churches and public buildings and some of you will visit the Castle, Wollaton Hall, the University and so on. You will be entertained by the Lord Mayor in our fine Council House. A "must" is a visit to the Cathedral of the Diocese, Southwell Minster, which celebrated its millenary in 1956; and I hope you will make a detour to see something of Sherwood Forest on the way.

It is a bitter disappointment to me that I cannot be with you on May 30th, but on that day I shall be returning from the Consecration of Bishops in Portugal and Spain, at which I have to represent the Archbishops of Canterbury and York. The Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese, so appropriately titled the Bishop of Sherwood, will be with you and personally convey my greetings.

You have my prayers and my blessing for your visit to us, and I hope you will all have a happy and interesting weekend, not least in the many fine towers put at your disposal.

A hearty welcome to you all!

GORDON SOUTHWELL.

A SALUTATION FROM THE LAND OF ROBIN HOOD AND HIS MERRY MEN

By F. W. MIDWINTER
(Chairman of the Southwell Diocesan Guild)

THE visit by the Central Council to Nottinghamshire for their annual conference at the end of May this year will be quite the most important occasion within the Southwell Diocesan Guild during the 21 years since it was formed.

Never before will such a galaxy of ringers, famous in their various ways for the part they play in the Exercise, have come together in our county at one time, bringing with them in the many dialects from whichever part of the world they come that atmosphere of goodwill which is the bond of bellringers throughout the land.

Being young in years, as Guilds go, we have as yet watched this great event from afar, and being surrounded as we are by the long-established ringing centres of Derby, Leicester, Lincoln and Yorkshire, we as a Guild, formed more or less from the fringe of other people's territories, had a great deal to learn in our formative years

Now, being firmly on our feet, we were delighted when you accepted our invitation to bring the conference to Nottingham this year.

The desire that every one of you will enjoy your visit to the full is in the hearts of all our members whether it be in the village towers of the Trent Valley or Sherwood Forest, in the towns or in the city of Nottingham itself, the latter renowned as "The Queen of the Midlands" and, incidentally, famous for its pretty girls! For those who discover Southwell Minster for the first time, there is a feast in store. The "Village Cathedral", the home of our Bishop and centre of the Guild, has a delightful rural atmosphere, with beautiful stone carvings unspoilt by the passing of time. Our ringers are ready to welcome you and we hope that you will enjoy their company and find pleasure in handling the various rings of bells, and when it is all over that you will take home with you happy memories of this land of Robin Hood and his Merry Men.

BEDFORD.—At St. Paul's Church, on May 7th, 1,260 Stedman Triples: Mrs. A. Ivin 1, Miss L. Ellison 2, S. Ivin 3, R. Sharp 4, R Piron 5, K. Fleming 6, M. Marriott (cond.) 7, R. French 8. Rung for Evensong, and a 21st birthday compliment to Rodney French.

Our Picture — St. Mary's, Nottingham

ALTHOUGH not the earliest church in Nottingham, this fine example of the Perpendicular style, set high among the lace market (i.e. lace factories), in what was at one time the city centre, is nevertheless, the mother church of the city. The building operations were in progress from 1386 (a commission of inqury) to 1517 (completion of the Rood).

The history of the bells follows very closely the history of the Nottingham bellfounders, many of whom, along with their families, lie buried in St Mary's churchyard. One of the earliest reputed bell founders in the city, William Brayser de Nottingham, was a prominent figure towards the end of the 14th century, but whether he cast any bells for St. Mary's is not recorded. Later, in 1433 Richard Redeswell was casting bells in the city and amongst others he cast a bell for St. Peter's (Nottingham), but whether he cast any for St. Mary's is not known, but we do know that he and his partner, who is not named, were sued for not having paid for their bell metal.

In the late 15th century the Nottingham Bell Foundry passed into the Mellours (or Mellers) family, and then via the Quarnbies to the Oldfields, who cast an enormous number of bells between 1530 and 1747, and finally into the Hedderley family before being sold about 1800.

TOWER OVERTHROWN

The inventory of church goods in 1553 states that there were five bells and a sanctus at St. Mary's, and tradition has it that during the great storm of 1558, the six bells were cast to the outside of the churchyard, and the tower of St. Mary's was overthrown on to the chancel, and from the churchwardens' accounts it would appear to be nearly 20 years before the bells were set up again.

The first definite mention of recasting the bells is in 1590, when it is recorded that "the greate bell" was set up, this was taken down by one John Sheppard and his men, and carried from "Maister Quarnbies" (presumably Robert) and taken up again by John Sheppard.

Robert Quarnbie had no family and took into his business Henry Oldfield (ii). This is probably one of the earliest recorded mergers in the business world as Henry Oldfield (ii) (sometimes referred to as junior), was the son of Henry Oldfield (i) who himself is recorded as casting bells between 1545 and 1580.

In 1595 Henry Oldfield (ii) recast the fourth bell (i.e. the present 9th). This magnificent bell (the only one which has subsequently not been recast) shows the detail and craftsmanship of the Oldfield firm. It has three rows of decoration and finely stamped lettering, including the circular mark of Henry Oldfield which he reserved for his more important work, amongst which was Great Tom of Lincoln, cast in 1610.

1605 saw the 3rd (predecessor of the present 8th) recast by Henry Oldfield (ii), and this was followed by the treble in 1613. Sometime about 1625 the bells were rehung in a new frame as at this time there was in the churchyard "timbers which was the old frame on the bells of St. Mary's." In 1637 the tenor was recast by Oldfield, probably George (i), and in 1690 the second was recast again (Oldfield, this this George (ii)), and in 1699 a treble was added.

A RINGING FEAT

One can imagine the difficulties of ringing this 34¼ cwt. six which, up to this time, were some 22 ft. higher in the tower than the present level (i.e. only 20 ft. from the top) and rung from the ground floor some 60 ft. below the existing ringing chamber, in the centre of the church.

During this time the six bells were rehung by one John Crow, and in 1708 the geometric bell loft was erected in the church; this put the ringers in full view of the congregation, but at the same time reduced the draught by some 30 ft.

Deering's Nottingham, published in 1751, gives the inscriptions of the six bells present at that time, and it would seem to indicate that the two trebles to complete the octave must have been installed between then and 1761.

In 1757 Daniel Hedderley, who had now taken over the Nottingham foundry, recast the broken tenor bell, and this started another spate of restoration work.

DIFFUSE BRITISH HARMONY

The following appeal was issued on August 3rd, 1761:—

"The Twenty-fecond of September next, being by Authority appointed for the Coronation of our illuftrious KING and his intended ROYAL CONSORT, it is propofed, at St. Mary's Church, to ufher in the Morning of that diftinguifed Day, with the lievly, melodious, and moft extenfive Music of RINGING BELLS: at which Time, by the Addition of Two Sprightly Trebles, her Peal will be fully compleated; Ten being to Ringers, and all Lovers of Mufic, the moft harmonious of all Peals. What Mufic fo capable of circulating our fpreading Joy, on this and all other grand Occafions? Surely none! unlefs the roaring of Cannon be fo called. To what Diftances from our exalted Situation, fhall we revive, and welcome the wearied Traveller, with our Heart-chearing Sounds. Tis ours, now to emulate our Brothers of Derby and Leicefter, in the diffuive Britifh Harmony. This noble expreffion of Gladnefs fhall be made anniverfary, and our Succeffors will blefs us, for this delightful Completion of the Peal.

"We beg Leave in this Manner to acquaint our worthy Subfcribers, that they will be fhortly waited upon for their refpective Subfcriptions: and thofe Gentlemen and others, who have not been called on, that they alfo will be folicited for their kind Aſſistance, towards the well finifhing this laudable Undertaking, this everlafting Honour and Ornament of our Town, by their

Obliged and thankful Servants,
THE COLLECTORS.

For the Firft BELL

This is the Day on which we beg to ring,
Our earlieft Peal of Thanks; God blefs the KING

For the Second BELL

Plenty and peace at Home we glady fhare,
Conqueft abroad: God blefs the Royal Pair."

We can assume that the appeal was successful, for in 1761/2 two trebles were added by Lester and Pack to complete the ring of ten, and it is interesting to note that this is the first mention of any bell founder other than a Nottingham bell founder working on the bells, and this probably reflects the beginnings of the Nottingham foundry.

The resulting augmentation was obviously not all that could be desired, for in less than four years, in 1765, Lester and Pack were recalled to recast the 3rd, 4th and tenor. Where the money came from is not recorded, but the inscription on the 3rd bell is traditionally supposed to record that that one was paid for by the Sherwood Youths, who were at that time a very active ringing society.

10,260 GRANDSIRE CATERS

The work must have given satisfaction and the "go" of the bells considerably improved as we find that after a series of long lengths the culminating effort of ringing 10,260 Grandsire Caters in 7 hours and 22 minutes was achieved on Tuesday, March 3rd, 1778, by the Society of Sherwood Youths. Two men were required to ring the tenor, but the ninth was rung single handed by one William Doubleday Crofts, perhaps the most famous ringer ever produced by Nottinghamshire. This was of course rung from the ringers' loft some 30 ft. below the existing ringing room floor.

This performance brought to St. Mary's the famous set of Cup Handbells, given by Squire Fortrey, now thankfully restored to their former place by the late Mr. E. H. Lewis.

Two other recastings are recorded between 1765 and 1935, the treble being recast in 1852 and again in 1856, this time by C. & G. Mears. Over the intervening years odd bells appear to have been rehung at various times, for example in 1803 the 9th was rehung by Thomas Turner when the "canons" were entirely cut off.

In 1934 it was discovered that death watch beetle had attacked the frame in no uncertain way, and that the tower stone work was in need of desperate restoration, and despite the depression of the 1930s no less than £12,000 was found to complete this work. The bells were removed to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's works and were all recast with the exception of the Henry Oldfield 9th, which was only cleaned and tuned.

The bells were rededicated on November 2nd, 1935, by the Vicar, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Neville S. Talbot, and the sermon was preached by the late chairman of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, the Rev. Canon R. F. Wilkinson, and amongst the clergy present is mentioned the Rev. A. Inglis (assistant priest), now Canon A. Inglis and Rector of St. Peter's.

The size of the tower and ringing room can be judged by the fact that the new low sided A frame is placed diagonally across the tower, and the dedication service was held in the ringing room, the sermon being preached from the tenor box. Despite the attendance of over 100 ringers at the service there was still plenty of room to ring the bells in the dedication rounds.

"I will sound and resound unto thy people, O Lord,
With my sweet voice, and call them to thy word,
I tole the tune that douleful is to such as live amiss,
But sweet my sound seems unto them who hope for joyful Bliss."

IRISH ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the executive council of the Irish Association was held at Bray on April 22nd In the unavoidable absence of the president, the chair was occupied by Mr. Cyril W. Galbraith, vice-president.

Before business commenced, those present stood as a mark of respect to the members who had passed away since the previous meeting—William H. Wilson (life member), John Worth (non-resident life member), R. Elliott (Enniskillen).

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mr. A. F. Bogan (Cork); vice-presidents Messrs. C. W. Galbraith and H. Johnson and Miss E. M. Young; librarian, Charles J. Reede; Master and badge secretary, John T Dunwoody; general secretary and editor of "Irish Bell News", Fred E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, White Cross, Drogheda, Co. Louth; auditor, Miss Elinore Buttimore.

Points of interest from the annual report and statement of accounts, which were adopted, are as follows:

The stock of badges became exhausted and a modified type on the same lines was ordered. The cost remains at 3/- plus postage. A total of 24 peals was rung during the year; seven members scored their first peal and 28 members took part The total membership stands at 747, viz.: 18 life, 1 honorary, 345 fully-paid and 43 in arrears and 340 non-residential life members. The total is an increase of 25 over the previous year.

The financial position remains virtually unchanged, with a credit balance of £63. The Bell Restoration Fund stood at £227 capital and £54 available for grants.

The Dublin University Society appears for the first time as an affiliated body. This Society's members are rendering a real, practical and useful service to ringing in Ireland in general and Dublin in particular.

The attendance shield was won by St. Mark's, Dundela, Belfast, with an average of 98.8% attendances at Sunday services in 1966.

The report of the "Irish Bell News" revealed that as a result of increased costs of material and more news items coming forward, the annual subscription was increased from 2/6 to 3/-. The circulation stood at 217 copies per issue.

The Council decided to:

(a) Increase the capital of the Bell Restoration Fund to £250.

(b) Adopt rules for peal ringing, which make it necessary for persons ringing in peals to become members of the Irish Association before peal attempts commence. Visiting ringers must become non-resident life members on the payment of 5/-.

(c) Hold a ringers' festival, organised by St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, in Limerick in September, 1968, on the occasion of the 800th anniversary of the founding of the Cathedral.

Congratulations and good wishes were extended to Fred Dukes on having completed 25 years as general secretary. He had been assistant secretary to the late Gabriel Lindoff for four years previously and next year will complete his first 40 years as a bellringer!

At the conclusion of the meeting the contest for the Murphy cup was held on the bells of Christ Church, Bray. The contestants were: St. Mark's, Dundela, Belfast; St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, and St. George's, Dublin

The judges were Messrs A. Cortin, J. Lindsay and R. Henly, and the Ringing Master was Mr. J. T. Dunwoody, assisted by Mr. D. H. T. Taylor, Eastern District Ringing Master.

St Mark's Belfast, were declared winners with 41 faults, and St Mary's, Limerick, had 47 faults. The cup was presented to Miss Rosemary Thompson Master of St. Mark's, by Mr. C. Galbraith, vice-president.

BRADFORD PEVERELL, DORSET.—On May 2nd, 1,260 Old and Plain Bob Doubles: Miss M. K. Collins (11, first quarter) 1, P. R. Board (13, first "inside") 2, Miss E. J. Gill (13) 3, J. P. Cooper (15) 4 T. F. Collins (15, cond.) 5 Believed to be the first quarter for the Dorchester Branch by an under 16 band.

Behind the Scenes of Nottingham Visit

WILLIAM L. EXTON

General Secretary of the Guild.

WILLIAM (MICK) EXTON, an assistant executive engineer in the Post Office engineering planning department, was born in Lincolnshire in 1932. It was not until moving to Newark following National Service in 1953 that he took up ringing seriously, and it was here under the guidance of Jim Raithby that he learnt most of his early ringing. His Guild offices have been Ringing Master, Newark District, 1953 to 1955; Newark District secretary, 1956–1959; and from 1960 general secretary of the Guild.

He rang his first peal, four Doubles methods, at North Muskham on January 2nd, 1954, and ringing alongside him was Bill Midwinter. He conducted his first peal the same year, Bob Minor at Barnby-in-the-Willows on September 30th. To the end of last year he had rung 262 peals (conducting 139), and of these 239 were for the Southwell Guild and 123 were rung with Bill Midwinter.

In 1960 he moved to Whatton-in-the-Vale where, with his wife Brenda, also a Sunday service ringer he took part in the rehanging by local labour of the bells, and it is in the field of bell restoration that his main interest lies.

F. WILLIAM MIDWINTER

Chairman of the Guild.

BILL MIDWINTER was born in Nottingham in January, 1914, and has spent most of his life in the villages of the county before settling down in Newark in 1952.

His early interest in ringing was cultivated in the 1930s whilst living at Elston, but it was not until 1946, whilst resident at Southwell, that he rang his first peal — the tenor to Grandsire Doubles at Elston on February 16th, conducted by Fred Milner.

In 1952 he was elected the chairman of the Newark District a post he has held continuously since and in the same year he was elected vice-chairman of the Guild. He succeeded to the chairmanship on the death of the late Canon R F Wilkinson in April, 1963. He is also secretary of the Newark Parish Church Society of Ringers.

His peal total to the end of 1966 was 239, all of which were rung for the Southwell Diocesan Guild and with this total he is the joint leading peal ringer for the Guild.

Perhaps his finest achievement was on Easter Monday, 1960, when he rang the tenor at Newark to the first peal on the bells for 63 years. He is married to a patient and understanding and non-ringing wife, "Dulcie."

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Leading Peal Ringer a Lady

THE Manchester Branch were our hosts this year and once again the weather was kind—we had a beautiful, warm spring day on April 29th There was plenty of ringing laid on from early morning, but even this was not enough—some unscheduled towers were grabbed.

As there was Evensong at the Cathedral during the afternoon it was decided to hold our own service following this. Time was by then rather short and Canon Wright took a very brief form of service, but his welcome on behalf of the Cathedral authorities was nevertheless warm.

The annual meeting was held in the Unitarian Chapel, rather unusual surroundings, but rooms are not easy to get in the centre of the city About 110 enjoyed a splendid buffet tea and, following a few words from the Dean, the meeting began. The president, Canon Hodgson could not, unfortunately, attend, and Nick Newby took the chair in his stead

GRANT TO MOORSIDE, OLDHAM

Under correspondence, a letter from the ringers at Moorside, Oldham, was read, in which they appealed for support in getting the bells overhauled. The committee had previously decided to donate £25, and this was accepted without comment by the meeting.

Due to good work by the ringing secretary (Mr. J. B. Partington) the annual reports had been circulated in good time and the reports of the general and ringing secretaries were taken as read.

The treasurer (Mr. J. F. Wood) commented on the balance sheet, which showed the finances in quite a healthy state in spite of rising costs

There having been no opposition, the president and treasurer were declared re-elected, and the ringing secretary had been reappointed by the committee

Members were reminded of the annual dinner (those who were not present, please note), October 28th at Preston.

Cyril Crossthwaite proposed the vote of thanks to the Branch Committee, the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral and all the other incumbents who had made the ringing possible

The meeting had been quiet and uneventful and only lasted about three-quarters of an hour.

The evening continued with ringing at the Town Hall and the Cathedral.

POINTS FROM REPORTS

The general secretary reported a rather noticeable drop in membership, although this appeared to be partly due to some towers straightening up their affairs and deleting those with overdue accounts.

The deaths were reported of Peter Crook and Annie McDermott (nee Potter), of Bolton; John Hall, Bispham; W. H. Ratcliffe, St. Annes; J. H. Gartside, Chorley; J. Taberner, Higher Walton; and George Brown, Bacup.

A belfry repair fund had been started and a payment had already been made to Newhey. The fund was intended to support major repairs (ropes and smaller items being left to Branches).

A look through the tower record cards showed a state of affairs that could be a lot better. Of nearly 200 towers they had no members in about one-third, although only 15 were reckoned as unringable.

The ringing secretary reported 179 peals rung by the Association, an increase of 15 over last year; 19 were on handbells and the 160 on tower bells consisted of: Maximus 12, Cinques 1, Royal 9, Caters 3, Major 84, Triples 15, Minor 32 and Doubles 4. Twenty-nine members rang their first peal, 42 shared the conducting (six their first as conductor). Leading conductors were Neil Bennett, Derek Butterworth (16), Kevin M. Price (15); leading peal ringers Margaret E. Fort (48, first lady to be leading peal ringer), Derek Butterworth (47), E. Jenkins (44).

An officers peal was rung in memoriam Peter Crook, former Association treasurer. Special mention was recorded of Norman Smith's band, who progressively rang all the work peals of 16, 19, 21 and 23 Spliced Surprise Major. Another peal of special note was 24 Spliced Surprise Maximus at Manchester Town Hall.

MORTLAKE LONDON.—On April 30th, 1,280 Plain Bob Major: Diane Mullins 1, Kaye Lynas 2, D. Pickett 3, R. K. Russ 4, C. F. Mew 5, A. R. Millidge 6, J. Britchford 7, C. Stevenson (cond.) 8. First of Major in U.K. for 2 and 8. For Evensong.

NAILSEA SOMERSET.—On April 29th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: H. Hardwidge 1, L. Derrick 2, L. Childs 3, J. Lott 4, C Kortwright (cond.) 5. A wedding compliment to Mrs. Wainwright.

Letters to the Editor

NOT THE WHOLE METHOD

Dear Sir,—I have been following with interest the correspondence regarding half lead "splicing" and would like to make the following observations.

Firstly, half a lead of a treble-dominated method is not the whole method, nor does it contain all the information required to construct the other half-lead. In the first half-lead there is no information as to the places made whilst the treble is leading and, conversely, in the second half there is no information as to the places made when the treble is behind.

Secondly, two half-leads "spliced" together make one single non-symmetrical method which should be named as such. Although these methods turn out to be irregular, only a purist can object to ringing them "spliced."

Another possibility for peal compositions is of ringing spliced with method changing at the half-lead only; this would give complete leads of symmetrical methods, apart from the first and last half-leads of the peal, which could be of the same method. This intermediate step has not yet been explored by composers, but I think it might lead to some interesting results.—Yours faithfully,

N. J. DISERENS.

Woodley, Reading.

"NO SOUR GRAPES"

Dear Sir,—It was inevitable that somebody like your correspondent, Mr. Jonathan Porter, would think that my letter about the Frindsbury peal was a question of sour grapes! I would like to point out that I get a great amount of pleasure from the reading of the performances of Bernard Grover which appear in "The Ringing World." (I know of all his peals before they ever reach "The Ringing World.") This does not mean that I must agree with everything he does!

In 1961 we were going to ring a peal of half-lead spliced (Yorkshire, Surperlative and Bristol) but it was explained to me then why it was undesirable to do so and we refrained from ringing the peal. Half-lead splicing does not improve the music available in the way that singles at the lead-end have done. If a band wants mental exercise, only one band has rung 165 methods to a peal and there is plenty of scope on 10 and 12 bells!—Yours sincerely,

ROBERT B. SMITH.

Marple, Cheshire.

THE FRINDSBURY PEAL

Dear Sir,—I was glad to read Mr. Critchley's letter in your last issue and to realise that our peal at Frindsbury has aroused some interest. May I, however, point out that we ourselves did not consider our peal as one of spliced, as the regulations stand at this time, and that you were kind enough to publish it merely as a peal of "Surprise Major". We did, however, consider that we had rung a peal, since we began and ended in rounds and rang more than 5,000 changes with repetition. —Yours faithfully.

R. W. H. HAYES.

Chiddingstone Heath, Kent.

LEFT-OVER-RIGHTER'S EXPERIENCE

Dear Sir,—As an unrepentant left-over-righter, may I add to the controversy? Basically there is no reason why this particular habit should impair bell control or striking.

Mr. Lock's suggestion that left hand uppermost might lead to clipping at backstroke is surely only tenable if he can also show that the natives of Birmingham have right arms about six inches longer than their left! Again, Mr. Rodnes' point about stronger right arms can be answered provided a ringer holds the tail-end correctly and grips the sally with all his fingers. In any case, right-handedness is more a matter of habit than of differences in strength.

Having said this though, I must admit that in my experience the left-hander does suffer from two slight disadvantages. The first is that, after pulling off at handstroke, the rope may not always unloop cleanly to backstroke. This seems to be due to the fact that ropes, especially old ones, get set in their ways. Perhaps it also has something to do with the direction in which ropes are twisted when they are made.

On balance I think it just worthwhile trying to persuade learners to accept the conventional hold.—Yours faithfully,

Erith, Kent. PHILIP R. DOWN.

PEAL OF UXBRIDGE SURPRISE MAJOR FALSE

Dear Sir,—It has recently come to my notice that the peal of Uxbridge Surprise Major rung at Kirtlington, Oxon, on February 14th, 1966, by the Oxford University Society, and conducted by myself, was false.

I must therefore withdraw the peal and tender my apologies to the band, to yourself and to all concerned with the keeping of records.—Yours sincerely. F. JOHN NELSON.

Whitefield, Manchester.

AN APOLOGY TO THE LADY

Dear Sir,—I feel Mr. Bunker of Cambridge is guilty of some exaggeration in his comments on my letter about the Oxford University Society's dinner. I had no intention of giving offence, although I realise that the remark in question could be read as though I did so intend. I apologise and admit I should have reworded the letter.

Whether Mr. Bunker's method of commenting on a "prize example of sheer nastiness" by giving further examples is consistent, I should not like to say.—Yours faithfully,

Aylesbury, Bucks. JOHN CAMP.

THE 13 NOTES IN TUNING

Dear Sir,—I am sorry not to have replied before to Claude Rush, who asks ("R.W.", February 10th, 1967, p. 96) for more details about the "thirteen different notes which a bell gives" in my article in the January "Norwich Churchman" quoted in the "R.W." of January 27th, 1967, p. 60. My authority for this statement was a brilliant article on bell tuning by Michael Howard, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and which he lent me several years ago. I did not keep details of the article, but it should be possible to trace it in the British Museum Library.—Yours faithfully,

Norwich. GILBERT THURLOW.

SINGLES IN TREBLE BOB

Dear Sir,—The group of Treble Bob Minor methods which will accept singles, referred to by Mr. R. D. Bailey (p. 302), have one basic requirement which he did not mention. In each section the pivot bell must always be in the same positions relative to the treble; that is, it must not make places within the section and must dodge when the treble dodges. This ensures that in all the false lead heads the pivot bell is in the same position as it is at the lead head and end, and that therefore all the changes can be grouped into 30 leads so long as all the leads with the same bell as pivot are of the same nature.

There appear to be only nine possible paths for the pivot bell, and only four of these are followed in methods given in the "Collection of Minor Methods"; the others occur in irregular and single change methods.

The touch Mr. Bailey gives for 530 Cambridge Minor appears to produce rounds after 216 changes.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN DAVID.

Peterborough.

ALL TIE IN STRIKING COMPETITION OF 80 YEARS AGO

Dear Sir,—The striking competition at Horringer, near Bury St. Edmunds, on May 6th, reminds me that striking competitions are not new to East Anglia. About 80 years ago one was held at Stockton, Norfolk, near Beccles. On this occasion the late Mr. Henry Hopson, who was the instigator in getting Beccles' ten bells rehung in 1909, was elected to judge the striking of the five bells. After the match he gave the results, and strange enough all teams tied; there were no arguments or animosity, so all adjourned to the "Black Boy" to celebrate.

Mr. Hopson told me of this event in the early years of this century; his father, William, rang in a peal of 5,040 Bob Royal in Beccles at the accession of Queen Victoria, 1837. There is a stone tablet in the campanile. — Yours truly,

G. E. SYMONDS.

Ipswich.

CORRECTIONS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Derek Sibson is indeed correct in the point he makes about my peal of Bob Royal (page 716). I'm afraid that the error escaped me at the time of publication and I thank him for revealing it.

Perhaps I should also add that the peal at Llandaff in "The Ringing World" of May 12th, 1967, was rung on April 8th, 1967, in 3 hours and 17 minutes. Also omitted from the report was the fact that this peal was also rung as a "belated 21st birthday compliment to the conductor" (myself).—Yours, etc.,

NICHOLAS W. H. SIMON.

Redland, Bristol.

EVESHAM BELL TOWER

Dear Sir,—I would like to make one or two corrections to my notes on Evesham bells. The first peal in the tower was rung by the College Youths on December 27th and not 26th, Henry L. James, who afterwards became the Rev. H. Law James, partnered Francis Jelf on the tenor at backstroke and not Sidney Romans, as he rang the third, and the other member of the band was Charles Hounslow, of Oxford.—Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY J. HEMMING.

Gt. Hampton, Evesham.

WITH ANGELA IN AND AROUND PLYMOUTH

THIS year's tour began, perhaps appropriately, on April 1st. The party numbered 16 and our base was a guest house on the Hoe at Plymouth overlooking Drake's Island.

Our first tower was at Ottery St. Mary, the first of many fine rings of eight which we were to sample during the week. Then on to Totnes (8), where we were joined by Mr. Aubrey Bennett, whom we had the pleasure of meeting several times during the tour. The Hoe at Plymouth proved difficult to find in a car. The rebuilding of the city centre with the creation of pedestrian precincts has made driving quite an art, but we finally found our hotel, and after settling ourselves and having dinner, the handbells, which had kindly been lent by Kingston on Thames, appeared.

On Sunday we awoke to the sound of heavy rain. We rang for Matins at St. Andrew's, Plymouth. The afternoon had been left free for sightseeing, but when it was still raining after lunch we took ourselves to the bowling alley and spent a most enjoyable afternoon learning the finer points of ten-pin bowling. The rain had stopped before we drove out to Tamerton Foliot to ring for Evensong.

AT BUCKFAST ABBEY

By Monday the man who organises the weather had realised that the tour had begun and produced fine weather which was to remain with us for the rest of the week. During the morning we rang on the two very good eights in Plympton and the minor eight at Ugborough. We ate a picnic lunch beside a clear, fast-flowing stream typical of the Devon landscape and then went to Dean Prior (6) before ringing the fine 12 at Buckfast Abbey, where we were met by Fr Paulinus who rang with us despite a swollen wrist. We were much impressed by the new chapel at the east end of the Abbey and particularly by the beautiful modern stained glass. A Devonshire cream tea followed and then ringing at Churston Ferrers.

The drive from Churston Ferrers to Brixham was interesting, since one car whose occupants possessed an ordnance survey map passed another car which didn't, going in the opposite direction, and were pleased to arrive at the next church a full ten minutes earlier. Brixham bells were recently augmented to ten, and touches included a course of Yorkshire Royal.

MINOR MISHAPS

Tuesday was a day of minor mishaps. At Tavistock ringing on the very fine eight was unfortunately curtailed, firstly by the fact that the key to the tower was not immediately available on our arrival, and secondly because of a service. A breathtaking drive cross Dartmoor followed, but one of the cars had to make two attempts to get up the hill out of Dartmeet—on the second occasion without passengers. We rang next at Widecombe-in-the-Moor where the Vicar rang with us but where, unfortunately, the clapper dropped out of the fifth. After another picnic lunch we rang at Bovey Tracey (8), where the "blue line" eluded someone during the last lead of a course of Bristol.

At Lustleigh, which was our next stop, we had some difficulty when trying to raise the fourth. On investigation the stay was found to be too long and fouling the tower wall. An energetic member of the party took it off and, having found out from the Vicar who had made it, took it to the local carpenter to be shortened. By the time we had finished ringing the stay was ready and we refitted it before leaving. At Moretonhampstead we were unfortunate enough to break a stay—the first ever on one of our tours. Ringing at the last two towers of the day, Okehampton (8) and Lydford (6), was without mishap, so obviously the bogey had left us.

Missing: Chris. Rowson.

Wednesday was a half-holiday, and after ringing at Menheniot (6) and St. Cleer (6), where an attempt for a quarter of London failed, most of the party set out for Bodmin Moor. A pleasant drive by the River Fowey brought us to Jamaica Inn, where we refreshed our brains on smuggling lore, our thirsts on the local brew and our appetites on Cornish pasties. Thus fortified we set out for Brown Willy, 1,373 feet, the highest point on Bodmin Moor. The ascent was completed by all but one and handbells duly rung on the summit —another first?

AN IGNOMINIOUS RETREAT

Our first tower on Thursday was Callington (6), followed by Lezant, where the Vicar kindly arranged for us an extra tower, St. Stephen's-by-Launceston. We enjoyed ringing on the fine Taylor eight before making the short trip to St. Thomas', Launceston. Short at least except for the car that attempted to ford the river by the church and, having failed to mount the far bank, had to reverse ignominiously. While most of the party enjoyed a leisurely lunch hour, a few keen types climbed Rough Tor, second in height to Brown Willy. On their late arrival at Davidstow, the next tower, they found that in the absence of their incomparable expertise another stay had been broken. However, this breakage was probably due as much to the withdrawal of the woodworms who had undoubtedly been holding it together as to mishandling. Nevertheless, this second blot on our hitherto untarnished escutcheon was sincerely regretted.

A cross-country drive to Tintagel followed, where after a brief look round the castle we enjoyed ringing the pleasant six. We liked the "fillets" which were gold with white bands. Bodmin's was the final tower of the day with another fine eight by Taylors.

A VIRGIN RING

Friday's ringing began at St. Germans, at the old Saxon cathedral, followed by Talland, where we admired the altar candlesticks fashioned from old clappers, and Lansallos, where a brand new first certificate for round ringing was on display. At St. Veep we found the bells of good tone, and read with interest how the founder, Pennington, "jumped for joy" when he discovered that he had cast the ring in tune. Investigation by the sceptical confirmed the virgin state of the bells.

At the next tower, at Lostwithiel, we admired the church with its decorated lantern spire and enjoyed ringing call-changes with an octogenarian member of the local band, and one of the B.B.C. team at that! Lanlivery's bells we liked rather less and considered the bearings very plain. However, the bells at Tywardreath were more to our liking and we rang with two of the local band before going to Fowey, the last tower of the day.

On Saturday we rang at Buckfastleigh before concluding the tour at Wolborough.

Chester Guild had a Good Year

THE Annual Festival of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Macclesfield on May 13th. Attendance this year was considerably down on last year's number but the inclement weather no doubt had something to do with this. Ringing during the morning was interrupted for various reasons—a wedding at Prestbury, broken stay and rope respectively at Bollington and Gawsworth, and no bells at Congleton, as they had just been taken down ready for rehanging on ball bearings!

The business meeting commenced at 2.15 p.m., apologies for absence being received from the Bishops of Chester and Birkenhead, the Dean of Chester and the Archdeacons of Chester and Macclesfield. In addition, a number of the regular attenders had sent apologies due to other pressing commitments. With his letter of apology the Bishop of Chester expressed the hope that all would enjoy the new "form of service" which had been specially prepared for bellringers' worship. This would be the first occasion that the new form would be used.

The minutes of the last annual meeting, held at Oxton on May 14th, 1966, had been circulated and were taken as read, together with the statement of accounts for 1966.

Mr. C. K. Lewis then presented the annual report for 1966, which was briefly as follows:—

During the year we had lost through death three life members of the Guild—Mr. Harry Lewis, Mr. Albert E. Richards and Mr. Cecil Raddon.

Performances.—1966 was a record year for the Guild—183 peals were rung, 150 on tower bells and 33 on handbells; 161 resident members and 91 non-resident members took part. There were 33 first pealers and 73 rang a peal in a new method or methods. There were 42 conductors, three of whom called their first peal. The Master (Mr. John Worth) had conducted the first peal ever to be rung by members of the General Committee (Grandsire Cinques, at Macclesfield). The longest peal of Maximus on handbells, 10,032 Plain Bob, was rung by the Guild, and a Guild band rang the first peal of Surprise Maximus at York Minster.

General.—Two meetings of Branch secretaries had been held and very fruitful discussions had taken place. One result was the issue of a circular commending recruitment to all incumbents, which also appeared in the Diocesan Leaflet.

MR. A. R. ELKINS—NEW MASTER

The election of officers then followed. Due to the untimely death of the Master, John Worth, an unprecedented problem had arisen. His nomination had been the only one received by the General Committee, and it was recommended to the meeting by the General Committee that the post for this year should only be filled by a Past Master or Deputy Master, nominations for next year being received in the usual manner. Mr. A. R. Elkins, as a previous Deputy Master, was elected unanimously.

The following officers were then elected: Secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. O. Baker; report secretary, Mr. C. K. Lewis; peal recorder, Mrs. C. K. Lewis; librarian, Mr. P. Laflin; auditor, Mr. S. Jones; Press reporter, Mr. R. B. Smith.

The date of the annual dinner and dance was given as October 14th and the venue is to be the same as last year—the Assembly Rooms at Bowdon.

The Annual Festival for 1968 will be organised by the Chester Branch.

The meeting ended shortly before 4 p.m., in sufficient time for members to make their way to the Parish Church for a 4.30 p.m. service. The new form of service was enjoyed by all present, as was the sermon, preached by the Bishop of Stockport.

After tea, ringing was enjoyed at the three Macclesfield towers, Chelford and Sutton. At the last-named tower an all-ladies' band rang some Plain Bob in fine style. Ringing continued until a late hour, catering for the needs of all. R. B. S.

TARRINGTON TOUR

On April 1st the Tarrington ringers went on an evening tour of West Herefordshire. The first tower visited was at Stoke Lacy, where the light ring of six bells proved rather difficult to handle for the learners. The fine six at Stretton Grandison were much enjoyed. At this tower we were met by the Vicar of Bosbury, the Rev. D. E. Green, whose tower we next visited. Here two friends from Ledbury joined us and a course of Cambridge was brought round. The party later called at the "local," appropriately named The Bell, for refreshment.

At Coddington we had to ring by candlelight and a course of Kent was rung here despite the bad "go" of the tenor. The last tower was at Ledbury, where touches of Major and Triples were rung. R. D. H.

LYMPNE, KENT.—On May 7th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: Judith Brooks 1, R. Birch 2, Elizabeth A. Todd 3, R. P. Brotherston 4, G. Neilson (cond.) 5, B. Butcher 6.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

TWO minutes' silence was observed at the start of the annual general meeting of the Bedfordshire Association at Leighton Buzzard on May 6th in remembrance of Mr. D. Thompson and Mr. H. D. Harris. The president (Mr. A. E. Rushton) said of these ringers that they were both very outstanding in their own different ways and would be a great loss to the Association.

After receiving the apologies for absence and signing the minutes, the statement of accounts was presented, which showed a very good balance and a healthy number of ringing members.

Mr. A. E. Rushton was elected to serve another term as president. The general secretary and treasurer for the past four years, Mr. A. S. Smith, will also serve another year in office. Mr. Anthony H. Smith was chosen as the new peal secretary, and it is hoped that all ringers will note the change when ringing peals for the Association. Mr. M. J. Lockey was elected to replace the late Mr. H. D. Harris as one of the trustees. The other officers remained as in the previous year.

After discussion, Felmersham was selected for the next annual general meeting on May 4th, 1968. The Belfry Repair Fund investment was debated at length and it was left to each District to join the general fund of the Association if they so wished.

Mrs. S. I. Smith was chosen to organise the Association striking contest to be held in November.

All members were asked to make it known that the Towers and Belfries Committee was willing to help any church within the Association which asked and all P.C.C.'s will be advised of this body.

The Central Council motions were discussed and the representatives, Mr. A. E. Rushton and Mr. J. H. Edwards were enlightened on the views of the Association.

A magnifying reading glass has been purchased for the use of any member with failing eyesight to use for as long as is wished to keep abreast of ringing reports, etc.

The secretary made an appeal to all ringers who do not take "The Ringing World" to avail themselves of a copy which was available in the hall in the hope that they may take this essential paper every week in the future.

After the election of four new members the president thanked everyone concerned in making the day such a success, all officers for their unfailing work and the clergy for giving us the use of the bells during the year.

Ringing took place during the day at a number of towers with bells ranging from five to ten and methods to suit every ringer.

Peterborough Wants A New Look

To Reduce Silent Towers and Improve Finance

THE 1967 annual meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, held in the Kettering Branch and centred on Rothwell with its fine-toned eight, was a veritable paradise for tower grabbers (sorry, visitors), over 20 towers being open during the day. There was an attendance of well over 100, together with visitors from Bedfordshire, Essex, Huntingdonshire, Leicestershire, Lincolnshire, Staffordshire and Lancashire.

The Guild service was held in Rothwell Parish Church and the address was given by the president, the Rev. Ernest G. Orland. After an excellent tea served by the ladies of the Rothwell band the annual meeting opened with the president welcoming all the visitors.

Then the company stood for a few moments in silence as a tribute to the following deceased members: W. Atterbury (Northampton), R. S. Cowley (Northampton), B. Edwards (Nassington), H. Hackett (Wellingborough), Mrs. W. W. Halley (Wilby), W E. Hargreaves (Wellingborough), R. W. Lawrence (Kettering), R. Moore (Cogenhoe), F. Newman (Collingtree) and W. R. Parker (Northampton).

The president brought up the matter of the donation sent by Canon G. F. Turner (past president) and the recommendation was for inquiries to be made with a view to purchasing a Master's badge.

YOUNG RINGERS

The Master (Mr. J. H. Bluff) in his report stated that the influx of young ringers had again been a marked feature during the past 12 months. It had been a great pleasure to have to attend meetings and practices where the majority of those present were under 20 years of age. He appealed when some juniors asked for Plain Bob or Grandsire for volunteers.

The general secretary (Mr. E. Billings) in his report stated generally, with the exception of peals, 1966 had been a year of little or no progress, with only three Branches reporting any advancement. A review of membership over the last six years indicated a decline in numbers. The approximate total was 950 ringing members compared with 1,150 in 1961. Service ringing was also declining and figures submitted by Branch secretaries showed that less than 35 per cent. of their bells were rung regularly on Sundays.

ONLY TWO UNPAID PEAL FEES

Peal ringing had been their most successful activity. Fees from only two peals remained unpaid; the income from the 93 paid-up peals had realised £17 8s., and was a very valuable addition to the finances.

The general financial position had improved by approximately £20 during the year and the general fund balance was now £123 16s. 7d. The main item of expense, the annual report, continued to rise and the cost was now 3s. 3d. per copy. Income from subscriptions advertisements and sale of reports just covered the report's publication. Without the affiliation and peal fees "we would gradually run out of money to pay our other expenses." The balance in the Bell Restoration Fund was now £822.

"To conclude," reported the general secretary, "1966 has not been a very successful year. We must endeavour to attract and properly train more members and to set the silent towers ringing on Sundays. Possibly what we need is what 'The Ringing World' already has—'a new look.'"

The present officers were re-elected: The Rev. E. G. Orland, president; Mr. J. H. Bluff, Master; Mr. E. Billings, general secretary; and Mr. G F. Roome, auditor. It was decided to make grants from the Belfry Repair Fund to three towers in the Peterborough Diocese for proposed augmentations.

Three important coming attractions were announced—the Summer Festival on September 2nd in the Guilsborough Branch; the Guild Dinner on October 21st at Towcester; and the 1968 annual meeting in the Towcester Branch on May 25th, 1968.

The meeting concluded with an omnibus vote of thanks ably proposed by Mr. R. H. Daw, the secretary of the Peterborough Branch. As the business had been despatched without any dawdling there was an extra half-hour of ringing and this was gratefully received by all those who are hoping for a place in the 1967 list of tower . . ; as Koko said—"The task of filling up the blanks I'd rather leave to you."

DEATH OF MR. FREDERICK PAGE

After a long illness the end came peacefully for Frederick Page on May 9th at the age of 78 years. A member of the Manchester City Police from 1910, he joined the band of ringers at the Town Hall until his retirement in 1935. During that period his peals totalled 236, and, on retiring to Sussex, he added a further 124 before illness intervened.

He rang his first peal at Wolstanton, Staffs, in 1907, later becoming a leading light in the Manchester area. Among his achievements was that of conducting Stedman Cinques on handbells. His contemporaries included such well-known names as Harold Poole, the Pye brothers and William Bottrill, with whom he rang several peals.

To mark his retirement from the Police Force, he conducted a peal of Kent T.B. Major by fellow police officers at Gorton, Manchester, on January 8th, 1935. One also calls to mind the peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Margaret's, Leicester, in 1934, the first peal of Cinques for the National Guild of Police Ringers. His last peal for the Guild was conducted by him at Manchester Town Hall on July 1st, 1939.

On arriving in Sussex he joined the Shoreham and St. Peter's, Brighton, band, ringing peals with the Surprise bands of Keith Hart and Oliver Sippetts. Of his total of 360 peals, 17 were rung for the National Police Guild, one being the first on handbells, another the first police peal outside London.

Thus ends the career of a splendid ringer. He had what the daughter of the late Rev F. E. Robinson recently described as the three essentials for a good ringer—patience, perseverance and humility.

The funeral took place at Brighton Crematorium on Monday, May 15th. A. W. B.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The A.G.M. of the Society was held at two Leeds towers—Chapel Allerton (6) and St. Chad's, Headingley (8)—on April 22nd. Once again Leeds Parish Church was not available.

After a varied programme of ringing at Chapel Allerton in the afternoon tea was provided by the company of St. Chad's, Headingley. The business meeting then took place and the following officers were elected unopposed: President: Irvin Slack (Horbury); vice-presidents, Jack Gibson (Pudsey) and Alan Clifton (East Ardsley); secretary and treasurer, Ian North (Rothwell); Ringing Master, Miss Pat Lockwood (Ossett); Central Council representatives, Guy Cox (Rothwell) and Robin Brown (Rothwell); P.R.O., Charles Naylor (East Ardsley).

Mr. Ian North, in his annual report, stated that the Society was spending more than it received, and there were only two answers to this problem: more subscriptions or more donations. The latter were generally preferable, and the secretary announced that he would donate one shilling per meeting, in the hope that others would follow his example. Many of those present agreed to this.

The number of regular attenders remained low, as many ringers seemed content to ring with the Society only when the Society visited their own towers. It was sincerely hoped that they would reconsider this attitude during the coming year.

The Society extends a welcome to any ringers who live in the Leeds or Wakefield areas. Come and join us on the last Saturday of every month; to ring anything from rounds to Surprise Major. C. S. N.

WITTERSHAM, KENT

Dear Sir.—Your correspondent, P. F. D., in the admirable article on the bells of Wittersham (page 271) unfortunately has the weights of the bells wrong; the ones he quotes are those in the ringing room—compiled before the recent retuning by Messrs. Taylor, which now makes the weights as follows:—Treble, 6–1–5 in C sharp; 2nd. 7–1–19 in B; 3rd, 9–1–2 in A; 4th, 11–1–27 in G sharp; 5th, 13–2–6 in F sharp; tenor, 16–2–8 in E. Keynote of bells was unaltered. Messrs. Taylor have also done another job recently in Kent, namely adding a new treble (2–3–21 in G sharp) to the minor five at Thanington Without, giving a ring of six (tenor 6¼ cwt. in C minor). Although dedicated last September, this was not mentioned in your columns. —Yours sincerely,

DAVID L. CAWLEY.

Whitstable, Kent.

The Nottingham University Society has given a cordial invitation to members of the Central Council and their friends to join the Society for service ringing at Beeston on Sunday, May 28th, from 9.30–10 a.m. and 5.45 to 6.30 p.m. The invitation is also extended to any who may stay in Nottingham until Wednesday to visit the practice on that evening between 7.30 and 9 p.m.

BELFRY GOSSIP

After 11 months' silence the bells of All Saints', Fulham, now ring out with the completion of the tower restoration.

Mr. A. W. Rolfe rang in a congratulatory quarter for his 80th birthday at Mildenhall, Suffolk.

A large number of towers in Oxon, Berks and Bucks rang in connection with the National Folk Dance Week sponsored by the English Folk Dance and Song Society.

The peal at Drayton, Somerset, was rung to celebrate the birth of a son, John David, to the Rev. and Mrs. David Hoare, of Ampthill, Beds, and as a 60th birthday compliment to Mr. Tom Locke, Tower Master at Drayton.

Correction.—The band who rang the peal of Doubles (eight methods) at Marston, Oxford, on April 8th (page 311), was: Stephen Buck treble, David E. Pullin 2, Roy H. Jones 3, Leonard R. Porter 4, Alec Gammon tenor.

At a recent ringing school a well-known Kent peal ringer was heard to remark: "I would like to get my hands on the bloke who says peal ringers don't help learners—I have spent all the morning ringing the 5th and 6th to rounds!"

When Her Majesty the Queen paid her first visit to the county of Rutland on May 12th she went through Oakham, Preston and Uppingham. The bells at all three places were rung to welcome Her Majesty, and a peal of Minor was rung at Preston in the evening.

The Misses Caroline V. Harris and R. Jean Osbon, of the Withyham, Sussex, band, rang their first peal of Surprise on May 7th. The conductor reports that they rang very creditably. By ringing the 4th Mr E J. Ladd, of Tunbridge Wells, "completed the circle" at Withyham for the fourth time.

A HANDBELL RECORD

Conducted and arranged by Cyril A. Wratten a handbell peal in 27 methods was rung at Cheltenham on May 4th. This constitutes a record number of Major methods yet rung to a true peal "in hand." The previous record was 26 methods by the Lincoln Guild on May 15th, 1950. Mr. Wratten makes his claim with considerable diffidence, as 14 of the methods were only variations of St. Clement's and Crayford College, and the peal was much easier to ring than the peals of the Lincoln Guild band in the early 1950s and again in 1960. These were rung in up to 50 methods, but all those above 26 methods were later, unfortunately, found to be false.

CANON THURLOW ON CATHEDRALS

In the Pitkin Pride of Britain Books Canon Gilbert Thurlow has made a valued contribution in "Cathedrals at Work" (price 2s. 6d.). Today millions of people annually visit our cathedrals, but relatively few know the inner workings of a cathedral, and it is to meet their need that Canon Thurlow has written the story of the cathedral's development from earliest times.

The Canon is ever true to his office of President of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, and there is a section devoted to towers, bells and ringers. He summarises our art as follows: "Change ringing requires fitness of mind and body. It is a popular exercise as well as a religious activity. It is practised today by far more people, old and young of both sexes, than ever before, and every English Cathedral, Norwich alone excepted, has a ring of bells in or near it, in use for change ringing."

FROME BRANCH STRIKING COMPETITION

Eight teams took part in the second annual striking competition held by the Frome Branch on April 29th at East Harptree. Safely ensconced in a nearby pub with the window open, Mr Albert Tyler again made notes and jotted down faults, finally coming to the conclusion that a well-struck touch of London by Chilcompton "A" team had won the day, with Farmborough coming second.

It was particularly gratifying to have two new "learner" teams this year, and we sincerely hope that they will persevere and join us again next year.

Our thanks to all who made the day a success; to the Rev. J. Ainger, who presided at tea, and to the ringers and helpers at East Harptree. M. H.

NEVER FORGOTTEN

In connection with the quarter peal at Ruardean in honour of the 84th birthday of Mr. W Beard, Mr. W. Rees did not know until the bells were up that he was conducting. He called his last quarter 20 years ago and admitted afterwards that "he had to think a bit".

A pretty young lady called Ro'
Just couldn't get Stedman to go!
The dodging perplexed her,
Her Quick became "Quicker,"
And she could never get out of the Slow.

A HALF-CENTURY AT CHILVERS COTON

The colleagues of Mrs. Dorothy E. Beamish at All Saints' belfry, Chilvers Coton, Nuneaton, have presented her with a lovely standard lamp in white and gold to mark the completion of 50 years as a ringer at the church. The presentation took place at the home of Mr. G. A. Bell, a member of the band and formerly captain of the Prestwich, Manchester, ringers.

A peal of Stedman Caters had been attempted earlier in the day but had come to grief halfway. Those who took part, together with the remainder of the Coton ringers with their wives, enjoyed a pleasant evening which included handbell ringing and a film show.

PROTESTS JUSTIFIED

A peal attempt at St. Gabriel's, Pimlico, came round after 2 hours and 20 minutes due to a shift course "The band," writes John Pladdys, "cheerfully ignored violent hammering on the belfry door and ceiling during the last 20 minutes as irate neighbours tried unsuccessfully to gain admittance, and bellowing dire threats Because the area is so built up it is unlikely that permission will be given for a further attempt. This is believed to be the longest length on the bells for over 60 years."

Except on national occasions, peals should not be attempted in built-up areas unless the bells are muffled. The attempt indicates a sense of irresponsibility and lack of regard to a protesting neighbourhood.

SHEFFIELD UNIVERSITY GUILD

The University of Sheffield Guild of Change Ringers has moved its annual general meeting to the first week of the summer term. The following were elected to the offices for the coming year: Master, Miss Patricia Rogers; deputy Master, Mr. John Eborall; secretary and treasurer, Miss Carole A. H. Patey, Guild of Change Ringers, Sheffield University Union Sheffield, 10.

ONE-DAY RINGING SCHOOL AT WEST WICKHAM

The Lewisham and Tonbridge Districts combined on May 6th to present a one-day school based at West Wickham. Proceedings commenced with prayers in St. John's Church, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. K. W. Wright. The company was then divided into four groups. Walter Dobbie and Tony Lewis gave instruction on bell handling and ringing rounds, while Philip Corby explained plain hunting. Stanley Jenner conducted a group at Hayes in elementary methods and Ian Oram led another group through the mysteries of elementary conducting in the vestry at St. John's.

It was not possible to provide communal meal arrangements, so after we had refreshed ourselves in our various ways we resumed activities with more rounds and hunting at West Wickham, elementary methods at Bromley Common and conducting practice at Addington, Surrey. Throughout the afternoon all present had an opportunity of learning rope-splicing under the tuition of John Cannell and William Hughes.

A discussion followed, during which general satisfaction was felt with the day's events, though a section for more advanced ringing would be welcome in future.

Grateful thanks are extended to the lecturers, the incumbents and to local ringers.

FIRST PEAL BY KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

On St. George's Day (April 23rd) a pleasing ceremony took place in the belfry at Frittenden, when a new board recording the first peal rung by the Kent County Association was dedicated by the Rector, the Rev. A. Baxter-Shawe. A representative gathering of ringers began ringing at 2 p.m. and were met at the tower by Harry Baker, on whose initiative this very worthwhile project had been put in hand.

The Rector said the prayers of dedication before the afternoon service, and the many ringers present provided what the Rector regarded as a pleasant augmentation of the usual village congregation.

The board records that on October 31st, 1881, there was rung in 2 hours and 50 minutes a peal of 5,040 Bob Major by G. Payne 1, F. G. Newman 2, G. Baldock 3, G. Potter 4, T. Taylor 5, T. Potter 6, W. Brattle 7, T. Daynes 8 Conducted by T. Daynes. The weight of the tenor is given as 13 cwt. in F sharp. This, of course, was on the old ring of bells, which have since been replaced by a fine ring cast by Gillett and Johnston in the 1930's.

Thomas Daynes was an active peal ringer and his name appears on various other boards in Frittenden belfry. His name was perpetuated in Kent ringing circles by his grandson, George H Daynes, who was captain at St. Nicholas', Deptford, and, after the bells became derelict, remained very active in other towers in the Deptford, Greenwich, Eltham and Lewisham areas and rang many peals for the Association. He called Holt's Original at Eltham when over 80 years of age—no mean feat.

One of the ringers present at the peal board ceremony was Mr. Ernest J. Ladd, of Tunbridge Wells, whose grandmother was named Daynes and came from Frittenden. Unfortunately Mr. Ladd has no knowledge of any relationship his grandmother may have had to Thomas Daynes, but there is likely to have been a connection.

Present at the service with her husband was Mrs. Harry Baker. Although they have not rung any peals for some years now, they were the first man and wife to ring 200 peals together. Both were members of the active peal ringing band inspired by Mr. Thomas E. Sone, which between the wars rang many peals in various towers around the Weald of Kent. P. A. C.

SALISBURY GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at the popular seaside village of Burton Bradstock on April 22nd. Six towers were represented and visitors were most welcome ringing a fairly wide range of methods. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar Rev. C. H. Ridler. An excellent tea awaited us in the nearby church hall, provided by the local ringers and lady helpers. At the business meeting, with Mr. C. W. Powell in the chair final arrangements for attending the Guild festival were made.

Next quarterly meeting, Loders, Saturday, June 24th. Practice meetings: Whitechurch Canonicorum June 5th, and Melbury Osmund, July 12th, all subject to confirmation. J. D.

Conductors You Have Met !

All ringers are familiar with the idiosyncracies of conductors. In our novel competition readers are asked to fit each caption to its appropriate cartoon.

A Now should that have been a single?
B Very first as conductor.
C Clip me once more and I'll . . . .
D Ba-a-arb.
E Roll 'em up.
F This is all.
G Improve this striking.
H Bup.
I Two more leads to go.
J Get down!
K That's come up twice.
L Where am I?

In our previous notes on singles in Surprise methods we gave a 1,250 of Yorkshire Major. This touch not rung true to Cambridge.

We print here three more touches, which come from the collection of Mr. Roderick W. Pipe. The Cambridge Royal and Cambridge Major both come round two changes after 253749680 in the Royal and 2537486 in the Major

It is interesting to note that in the Pudsey the Wrong lead is 2347586. As distinct from Cambridge or Yorkshire the going off in Pudsey involves dodging in 3–4 immediately, and this will produce the necessary rounds two rows after the lead-end.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2928. Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1967 9d.

PERSEVERANCE REWARDED

A New Name on the Ross Shield

NEARLY twelve years ago I wrote of a fairly new eight bell band in Devon, which made its name when it achieved second place in the South Devon eight bell competition in 1955. The local band it was on that day who, to everyone's surprise, put up the best top-ringing of the day and took second place to Kingsbridge over the heads of such (at that time) noted teams as Upton and Dartmouth.

Since that time the Kingsteignton ringers have been pegging away, doing some excellent ringing and winning a good many certificates. Yet one trophy eluded them—the Ross Shield, the all-Devon eight bell—and when they came to practise at Newton St. Cyres for it there was no doubt that they were after it in earnest.

The only band which the listening ringers tipped as likely to beat them was North Tawton, who did some very fine ringing indeed in practice, in spite of having lost their captain, Jim Bennett, recently. North Tawton take their ringing very seriously; they tape every practice peal, and there was no doubt that in their practice they were improving all the time.

Many tourists know Newton St. Cyres, the pretty cob-and-thatch village between Exeter and Crediton; until a few years ago there was more cob and thatch, the county council did a road widening scheme (very well to be fair) one side, and the pub and two cottages went up in smoke the other, but it's still very pretty and the church, with its handy little ring of eight, is a delight. The local ringers had been busy trying to get the bells into perfect order, their wives and mothers had stocked up with mountains of food; the organist had learnt the Devon Association's hymn, and, although April 22nd dawned less fine than the preceding few days, at least it was not raining streams and not too cold for people to stand about and listen.

The singing was, as usual, almost frightening in its vigour; the judges retired to the Vicarage; the draw was made, and up into the tower went Witheridge to start the ball rolling. They didn't do terribly well; this was another band which lost its captain recently, and in spite of some stiffening from outside they didn't really get the pitch of the bells. Chagford, who followed them, are a very popular band for, in spite of all their shortcomings, they'll always have a go and if their approach isn't so dedicated to winning as that of North Tawton they're certainly dedicated to ringing and they enjoy themselves enormously. They didn't ring a good peal—in fact they came last—but they brightened the place up no end.

Tavistock's peal was marred by their besetting sin—a late treble, especially noticeable in the rounds at the end of their rise. So far we hadn't had a really good pitch in the rise, but Chittlehampton sent the bells up in very good style only to spoil it when they got there with some rather choppy stuff in the early part of the top ringing. We went to tea with nothing on the books better than Witheridge's 72 faults, but the draw had kept the favourites till last, North Tawton and Kingsteignton being drawn 8th and 10th.

Down in the Parish Hall the ladies watched in awe as pasties, cut rounds and cream, egg, ham and cheese rolls and cake melted away before their eyes; they also had a tussle with the equipment, for our Parish Hall is badly laid out for catering, and providing tea for 120 is hard work all the way with no short cuts. We came out from tea to hear the bells whirling along to 31 rounds a minute; the ringing was far from perfect, but it was pleasant to listen to because of the fine rhythm and drive in it. This was Withycombe Raleigh, a Guild band who normally ring "scientific" and who had not been able to practise together on the bells. They decided that with a team of comparative novices a really brisk pace left less margin for error than ringing the bells stiff; this meant that some of the changing was a bit shaky, but Bill Harvey on the tenor kept them thrusting along to such good purpose that their 86¼ faults gave them seventh place—and much credit.

No band led by Herbert Pidler can be left out of the reckoning, and High Bickington, after a poor rise, gave us some nice top ringing. By contrast with Withycombe it sounded quite stiff, though in fact it was only one round a minute slower. It was "cleaner" ringing, but perhaps a trifle wooden, so that one noticed the "dots" more when they came

The last four teams, Highweek, North Tawton, Pilton and Kingsteignton, were pretty sure to contain the leaders, and so it turned out. Highweek, like Witheridge, had some stiffening—Tom Wright from Down St Mary on the 5th and Alfie Rice on the tenor—but they had not been able to practise here, and Tom, who was trying to keep them straight, was unfortunate in his choice of bell, for the bells as a whole are probably harder to hear from the 5th than from any other. This may explain why Tom didn't like our sound control measures, while other ringers mostly said that the bells were much easier to hear than before.

All ears were pricked when North Tawton gave their warning "ting" on the treble, but they got two bells under in the rise, which was quite an expensive one. Still, the top ringing settled down to a very high standard, and until the very end the lower was a delight. Pilton did what nobody else could do, and put the tenor up too fast: for anyone used to Pilton tenor this is easy to understand but it spoilt a rise which was pitched very well. Their top ringing was just a trifle stiff; the trouble with this very clean-cut, rather overpulled ringing is that if you do have a "dot" it stands out like a thistle in the middle of the centre court at Wimbledon and the judges can't help marking it, whereas with the more suant kind of ringing, a little quicker and with the bells in less of an iron hand, there's more pleasure to the ear and more forgiveness perhaps in the judges' pencils.

Kingsteignton went up last, and from the start they sent their chances soaring, for they gave us one of the few really good rises of the day, before settling down to just that suant, easy tapping top ringing which delighted us in October, 1955. Their changing is still exceedingly clean, and before they started the lower we knew that nothing but a shipwreck coming down could keep the shield from them now. So far from a shipwreck, they had a beautiful lower, and when the judges and the scrutineer emerged from the Vicarage the only real question was what was the marking.

In these all-Devon "big league" competitions the D.A. has instituted a system which prevents a judge from being tempted to mark heavier or lighter to conform with the others. On this occasion, Harry Brewer, Jack Harris, Chris Ridge and Arthur Tapper handed their figures after each peal to Courtenay Thorne, the scrutineer, and until the end only he knew how one judge's marking had compared with another. In the church, where Mrs. Scott stood ready to hand out the shield and certificates, Mr. Thorne read out the marks of each peal, while Edgar Cole, the secretary, called out the name of the band concerned. "First peal number ten," called Courtenay: "Kingsteignton," called Edgar, and the beam of triumph on the Kingsteignton captain's face as he walked up the aisle made it seem that twelve years' trying was worth it after all.

The results: Kingsteignton, 42½; North Tawton, 50½; Pilton, 54; High Bickington, 64½; Witheridge, 72; Highweek, 80½; Withycombe Raleigh, 86¼; Chittlehampton, 94½; Tavistock, 111; Chagford, 139½.

ACCIDENTS IN THE BELFRY

By WILFRID G. WILSON

THE banner headlines in a popular national daily which reported what you, sir, on page 299, have rightly described as "an appalling ringing tragedy" at Uphill on April 23rd, prompted "The Ringing World" Committee to ask for an article on the subject of accidents. The wholehearted sympathy of all members of the Exercise is most certainly with the relatives and friends of Mr. John Hall in this tragic occurrence.

No words in our journal can now, alas, help in this case, but it may assist ringing and ringers if we can first recover a sense of proportion over these tragic events and second if we can put all ringers, beginners or experts, on their guard for the future.

My dictionary describes an accident as (i) an event proceeding from an unknown cause or (ii) the unforeseen effort of a known cause or (iii) something unexpected. It is plain to see that the many events which in our daily lives we call accidents fall into one of these categories. Let us first get ringing accidents into perspective.

We are told there are some 40,000 ringers in this country, most of whom must ring once or twice every Sunday; many of them must ring on at least one evening each week; and many also spend their Saturdays ringing at meetings, outings or peals. Often in strange towers when it could be said they "don't know the ropes." So it must be that bells are being rung for very many thousands of hours every week and for millions of hours every year. And yet serious accidents in the tower are so relatively few that we are appalled when one happens.

By contrast, we get so used to hearing of motor accidents or, even more numerous, accidents in the home, that unless we are personally involved, we only notice those of exceptional magnitude. So, reader, if you are a teacher of ringing, or a beginner about to start, or related to either, my first plea must be that you should not be put off by the thought of the danger involved. You are likely to be far safer in the belfry than outside it.

All this is not to say that we can act in the belfry as if accidents will never happen there. We must be on guard all the time to see that we do not get careless ourselves, or less watchful over our pupils. Most accidents in the ringing chamber are, I suppose, caused by bad handling of the rope, which results either in a stay being broken and a bell turning over, or the rope is allowed to become so slack that it catches on some part of the body or the clothing of the ringer or a bystander.

Hence the first two rules of bell handling, which cannot be repeated too often, must be (a) keep the rope tight and (b) get the arms up. You will achieve (a) if you always draw the hands right down when you pull the rope and never raise your arms until the rope in your hands takes them up. And for (b) you must always catch the rope high on the sally at handstroke and always have a short rope at backstroke. Then your body weight will come into play as the bell reaches the balance and you will never break the stay.

If you are an instructor you must emphasise these points over and over again to your pupil so that he does not have a chance to develop bad habits. And you must watch him all the time. It is tempting often to have two beginners learning at the same time, but unless you have another capable ringer to help, you must confine your whole attention to one beginner at a time. To risk having to leave one to help the other is asking for trouble and will not inspire confidence in either.

Other points about which I am called fussy include: I dislike necklaces which dangle in front of my lady ringers, often including a heavy ornament and I always suggest that if they won't remove them they should at least twist them round so that they hang down the back, out of the way of the rope. Scarves and sashes and men's ties hanging loose can also involve some slight risk of catching in the rope.

In the normal belfry, where people sitting out are fairly close to the ringers and their moving ropes, I always insist that the sitters out keep both feet on the ground. A swinging foot could be caught in a rope and while the result might only be undignified, it could be far worse.

The next place of possible danger is in the bell chamber and we have unfortunately read of some accidents occurring there in the last few years. The "don'ts" in relation to this seem so obvious that they hardly need quoting, except for emphasis: Don't go among the bells when they are up. If you must, at least first lower the ones you have to be very near to. And don't go up there at all, with bells up, unless someone downstairs is on watch to see that no ropes are touched. Whether the bells are up or down, don't go among them on your own, without telling someone that you are going to do so and how long you expect to be. You could be taken ill; you could fall into a bell pit and hurt your leg or back, and be there for days before help came. Don't put muffles or silencers on with the bells up unless this is the only possible way.

If electric light is not available among the bells, use an electric torch—not a candle. A church tower acts like a chimney if a fire is once started.

If you must take visitors or beginners up to see the bells, make sure that you do not take more at a time than you can watch comfortably. They will be curious to see everything and may well be unaware of the dangers of carelessness. If you suspect that they don't like ladders, or heights, then accept this and don't over-persuade them to go climbing.

Many readers will think of other "do's" and "don'ts" from their own experience, but to all beginners I would say—do not be dissuaded from learning to ring and from all the pleasure, as well as service to the Church, which can be yours, by fear of accidents. We can none of us live in a glass case—it would not be living. If you are careful, if you heed your instructor, and always treat the bell you are handling with the respect due to any moving machinery, you will speedily make a good ringer.

COMING-OF-AGE OF MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

IN the stately Church of St. Paul, Burton-on-Trent, noted throughout the Exercise during the latter part of the last century for its pioneer band of Surprise ringers, who included the Rev. J. H. Fish (Vicar), Messrs. J. Jagger, J. Austin, J. Griffen and the Wakeley brothers, the Midland Counties Guild held its 21st annual general meeting on May 13th.

Ringing preceded the short service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. B. Wooley), and tea, a much-needed meal, was prepared by ladies of the church.

The president (Mr. B. Worthington) was in the chair for the business meeting and said it gave him great pleasure to be present at the 21st birthday meeting of the Guild. Congratulating the Guild on a successful year, both from a financial and peal ringing point of view, he expressed the hope that a few more members would show keener interest in the peal ringing side of their art.

Apologies were received from Mr. G. H. Lane (Ringing Master) and Mr. D. P. Jones. One honorary and three ringing members were elected. Members stood as a mark of respect to the late Mr. A. B. Beadsmore of Ashby.

The statement of accounts presented by the treasurer (Mr. J. H. Brittan) showed a small debit balance on the year's working. Grants to Horninglow and Kingsbury for restoration left a credit balance in the Bell Repair Fund.

The secretary reported a membership of 17 honorary and 128 ringing members. Forty-six peals had been rung during the year, but only one member rang a first peal; an increased number rang a first in new methods. Five Royal and five Major methods were rung for the first time. Leading peal ringers were J. W. Cotton and A. E. Rowley (non-resident) and leading conductor was D. P. Jones (27). Personal milestones were 200th peal for D. P. Jones, 100th peal for the Guild.

The officers were elected as follows: President, Mr. B. Worthington; vice-president, Rev. W. G. V. Griffiths; chairman, Mr. R. A. Welton; Ringing Master, Mr. G. H Lane; treasurer, Mr J. H. Brittan; secretary, Mr. J. W. Cotton; assistant secretary, Mr. J. K. Smith; auditor, Mr. T. Pryce. Committee, Messrs. J. K. Smith. W. J. Leach, G. L. Roobottom and D. P. Jones.

The president appealed to all members to support the Three Counties Festival to be held at Derby on September 16th, 1967.

Thanks were expressed to the president for making the long journey from Newcastle on Tyne to be present, to the Vicar, the ladies who prepared tea, and local members for splendid arrangements.

"MIXED" STUFFING

Dear Sir,—The landlady of the Crooked Billet at Ham Green, on the Bicester/Aylesbury road, was t'other day preparing a chicken for lunch.

During the preparation she took a packet of mixed stuffing (manufactured in Oxford), and when preparing the contents of this packet for use, an Oxford Diocesan Guild badge was found as part of the "mixed stuffing."

Answers to the following are required to solve the mystery:—

(a) Who is the owner?
(b) Was the badge used to reduce the contents of the stuffing to manageable proportions?
(c) Was the badge used as part of a machine for chopping the ingredients?
(d) Is this a publicity stunt?

(1) Badges are to be worn, to be seen and not to be disposed of furtively as stuffing.

(2) The medical profession is, I believe, overworked.—Yours sincerely,

CYRIL H. KINCH.

No Berlin Wall Across Surrey

Meeting for the first time at Guildford Cathedral for its annual general meeting on May 6th, the Surrey Association grappled once again with the thorny subject of its relationship with the Guildford Diocesan Guild.
An attempt was made by Mr. W. H. Jackson to clarify the position by submitting a motion to set up a committee to decide on the relationship between the Association and other bodies.

An amendment by Mr. W. Parrott, the general secretary, and Mr. Murray that the motion should lie on the table was defeated, and Mr. Jackson proceeded with his argument that the Surrey Association should consist of member towers and that there could only be one boundary with the Guildford Guild, namely the eastern boundary of its diocese. This meant that the title of the Association would have to be changed, since it covered only a part of the present county.

Mr. C. Mew said the whole idea of putting up a Berlin Wall across Surrey was monstrous. Ringers were not interested in boundaries.

It was obvious a compromise had to be reached, and Mr. C. W. Munday, secretary of the Guildford Guild, submitted the following amendment:—

"That a sub-committee be set up by the General Committee to investigate the relationship between the Surrey Association and the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and other neighbouring bodies, and to report on the matter. Pending the outcome, it shall not be the policy of the Association to hold meetings in the Guildford Diocese at other than at towers with active members."

Mr. A. Bagworth seconded and the amendment was carried.

Mr. A P Cannon proposed that members of the Surrey Association who resided in the Guildford Diocese should be allowed to elect whether they be resident or non-resident life members and pay subscriptions accordingly This matter was referred to the sub-committee for consideration.

SUBSCRIPTIONS RAISED

Mrs. Kathleen Chilcott presented her final report as treasurer, which showed a drop in the balance of £31. Her proposal to increase the annual subscription to 5s. was not regarded as adequate, and an amendment by Mr. H E. Pitstow for a 6s. subscription was carried to operate from 1968. A non-resident life membership subscription at the same figure was also carried. The District levy is also to be raised by two-thirds.

Points from the hon. secretary's report were: Membership now 384; 31 peals rung in 1966 and 19 first-pealers—no mean achievement when compared with its membership. Addington again topped the year's list of 196 quarter peals with a total of 43 and Charlwood were a close second with 40. With the amalgamation of the post of hon. secretary with hon. treasurer grateful thanks were expressed to Miss Kathleen Chilcott for her work as hon. treasurer for a number of years.

Mr. Jackson, the librarian, reported that the library had been moved from Redhill to Kingston, and borrowings now far exceeded those for the previous five years. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Oatway had presented a bound copy of "The Ringing World" for 1966, and the Rev. A. Clayton loaned 18 books on ringing.

Officers for 1967–68 elected were: Master Mr. F. E. Darby in succession to Mr. A. P Cannon, who thanked members for his enjoyable period of office; secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. Parrott; assistant secretary, Mr. C. H. Cook; auditor, Mr. M. V. Chilcott; liaison officer to the Guildford Guild, Mr. W. H. Jackson. Seven new members were elected and the election of three non-resident life members ratified.

The hon. secretary thanked Mr. Stevens for his kind offer of Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson's book "Change Ringing," to be given each year to the most promising young ringer in the Association The first award would be made at the next annual general meeting, at Merstham.

There was ringing on the Cathedral bells under the supervision of Mr A. P. Cannon during the afternoon, which was followed by tea in the Refectory attended by about 100 members. Evensong by the Cathedral choir made a deep impression on the visitors The canticles were sung to modern Latin-American chants and the anthem was Benjamin Britten's "Jubilate Deo." In welcoming the Surrey Association the Dean (Bishop George Clarkson) mentioned how marvellous it was to have so many ways of making music to the glory of God—instancing in particular the bells and the singing of the choir. He thanked the Guildford Diocesan Guild for ringing at the Cathedral Sunday by Sunday, and also others for their service throughout the diocese. The meeting was attended by the Master and secretary of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, who were welcomed by Mr. Cannon, who presided in the early stages of the meeting.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Chesterfield District

Despite almost torrential rain, over 60 members and friends were present when the District's fifth annual ringing competition was held at Clowne on May 6th. Seven towers entered teams and the test piece was 240 changes in methods. These ranged from Surprise Minor to call changes.

A short business meeting followed tea and commenced with a silence being observed in memory of Mr J. Price, former District chairman and a founder member of the Association. Stratford-upon-Avon was chosen as the venue for this year's annual outing on August 5th and two new members, Mr. D. Bunting (Clay Cross) and Miss A. Lawrence (Old Whittington) were elected.

The competition resulted as follows: 1 Old Whittington (Cambridge) 240 points; 2 Bolsover (Plain Bob) 230; 3 North Wingfield (Mixed Doubles) 219; 4 Wingerworth (Grandsire) 209; 5 Staveley (Plain Bob) 205; 6 Old Brampton (Plain Hunt) 197; 7 Dronfield (call changes) 190. Whilst complimenting Old Whittington on some first-class ringing, the judge, Mr. H T. Rooke (Warsop) said congratulations should also be extended to the younger and less experienced bands who had entered a team and so made the contest very worthwhile. Old Whittington, Bolsover and possibly North Wingfield will represent the District at the Association final at Horsley on June 10th. The District shield was presented to Mr. Lawrence, captain of the winning team.

Next meeting: June 17th, Ashover (provisional).

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY ANNUAL TOUR

Last year, Ann and Mike Pilgrim offered to arrange the 1967 tour in South Wales, and they were as good as their word, the outcome being the most successful tour the Society has had for some time. We met at Chepstow on April 5th, and after slaking the dust from our throats we proceeded to ring touches of Grandsire Caters and Plain Bob Royal at the parish church. Then on to Usk (8, 14¼ cwt.), with its very fine belfry, and Llangybi, where we were very clever and guessed correctly which bells had no stays!

Our moving in to the accommodation (at Cardiff Training College) was accompanied by the usual festivities including the misappropriation of the deputy Ringing Master's luggage: but after it was recovered we went off for a good reunion and the first of many Chinese meals.

The next day we set out in force, armed with a minibus and several cars. In the morning we rang at Radyr, Llantrisant and Pontypridd, three eights of 10–12 cwt., and in the afternoon at Cefn Coed (6), Merthyr Tydfil (8), where the hostelries close at 4 p.m., and Aberdare (8). At this last tower we were joined by a well-known denizen of the Rhondda Valley, who kindly guided us over the wastes to his home tower, Pentre, at 27 cwt. the heaviest bells in Wales As well as usual formalities, the evening ended with several rousing choruses of "Cwm Rhondda", which probably caused every Welshman within earshot to blanch.

Friday started well with Cambridge Royal at Llandaff Cathedral, whence we proceeded to Caerphilly (8) and Newport All Saints. At Blaenavon in the afternoon we aspired to some more spliced and wound up the day with the extremely impressive bells of Abergavenny (10, 25¼ cwt.) and those of Ebbw Vale, where it is almost possible to become hypnotised by the rev. counter which they have fitted to the tenor. The climax of the day, however, came with the "Winnie-the-Pooh" readings to which we were reduced by midnight.

On Saturday we started at Cardiff St. John (10) and travelled westwards to Penarth, Sully, Cowbridge Coity, St. Bride's Major (who, like Newport, were kind enough to let us ring with no prior notice) and Newton Nottage, a lovely little eight Saturday, with two sixes, was a great day for the Cornish; but although they humoured him by ringing some call-changes they drew the line at keeping their fellet-strokes (hand-strokes to you) home!

On Sunday morning we went to Newport, where we were very impressed with the recently-rehung 12 in the Cathedral. A ride around Cardiff Docks was followed by ringing for Evensong at Llandaff. En route one of our number was unlucky enough to catch a box of eggs thrown from some upper window, right on the bonnet of his vintage Austin (at the last report it was making a steady recovery).

After Llandaff we dispersed (a little sadly and making frantic arrangements for future trips), to save money from our meagre student grants to enable us to have a similar tour in 1968. The tour was a great success and thanks are due to the organisers, the incumbents and bands of all the churches we visited; Geoff Pullin, who drove the minibus so steadily through all our songs without scratching it; and finally the Welsh for putting up with us, our ringing and our intolerable singing.

Letters to the Editor

ST. ALKMUND'S, DERBY

Dear Sir,—The bells of St Alkmund's have now been dismantled and have been placed into store An account in "The Derby Evening Telegraph' of the final services gave a rather misleading account of the bells, in which it said they were to be stored until the new St Alkmund's Church was built. This was contradictory to my letter, and I tried to contact the Vicar and although he was not available his wife said that this was completely untrue—the new church would not have a tower suitable for a ring of bells, and even if that was so, its close proximity to a hospital would greatly restrict ringing. However, what I did learn was that negotiations were in progress to sell the ring to a church in the U.S.A.

I immediately sent another letter to "The Derby Evening Telegraph" denying the report on the bells being stored for use in the new church and expressed regret that the ring should be sold to the U.S.A. The editor has since replied that he is officially informed that it is not true that "negotiations are in progress to sell the ring to a church in the U.S.A.." and that the Bishop and his advisers are still considering the future of the bells.

A report is out today on the future of Derby churches, in which sweeping changes are proposed Among the churches becoming redundant are St. Werburgh's, whose ring of eight bells was sold as scrap about ten years ago, and St. Andrew's, which posseses a fine ring of ten.

Of St. Andrew's, the report says the church is very large for the community it now serves and would need a considerable sum to carry out a restoration. "We recommend that there should be consultation with British Rail as to how best the church may maintain its association and serve the growing railway industry in Derby. We recommend that the church should be demolished when the proposed major parish is formed.

It is proposed that the neighbouring Church of the Holy Trinity should merge with St Andrew's, to be known as "Holy Trinity and St. Andrew's." The Holy Trinity Church has a brick tower, but is opposite to the Derbyshire Royal Infirmary. It is doubtful whether this tower would take a ring of bells such as that at St. Andrew's.

Between the two world wars and, I believe, prior to the 1914-18 war St. Andrew's had a very famous band, and even in recent years they were getting a reasonable band together but to have it broken up by a recent incumbent. Maybe he broke the parish up, too. I rang my first quarter there for Solemn Evensong for the Patronal Festival in 1957; it was quite a good parish then The Holy Trinity Church being C.P.A., has an entirely different tradition.

It is hoped that when the time comes for St. Andrew's Church to be demolished a home will be found for the bells.

What is happening in Derby may well happen in other large towns and the future of other churches with rings of bells may well be in jeopardy It may perhaps be a case in which the Central Council may wish to take an interest.—Yours faithfully,

B. P. MORRIS,
Hon. Secretary,
Derby Diocesan Association.

THE LESSON FROM UPHILL

Dear Sir,—I was dismayed to read of the tragedy which has cast its shadow over the ringing fraternity in the Weston-super-Mare area. I spent two years in this area, and during this period I and many others from R.A.F. Locking enjoyed the excellent hospitality so freely given by members of the Uphill band It was during this period that Mr. Hall learned to ring at this tower, and I can remember on occasions assisting with his handling practice before the Sunday afternoon ringing. However, at no time then were any of the many learners instructed to ring on the tenor and I am prompted to think that here perhaps is a lesson for us all.

That tragedy has struck once is frightening, but that it occurred to an experienced ringer should clearly indicate that none of us is immune from the unexpected and inexplicable accident. No doubt there are many theories concerning this occasion, a slight inattention, a failure to correct a handling mistake, but my point is that if this can happen to a capable instructor how much greater is the chance of a repetition with the many inept and unsuitable instructors who each week, in ignorance provide their pupils with every opportunity for assassination.

I would suggest that 50 per cent. of our instruction in the Exercise is performed in far more dangerous circumstances than those exercised by Mr. Hall, and frequently the recipients are quite young scholars. Mr. Hall was fortunately instructing a learner 34 years old (an age which many of us regard as unsuitable for mastering such new physical techniques), but had this been the more usual 13-year-old, how much greater would have been the tragedy! If we accept then that 50 per cent. of our instruction is performed with young children in an atmosphere of negligible safety, is this not the occasion to look to our standards, and perhaps even to our insurance?

The performances that are enveloped by the term "teaching" are frequently such as to give members of the teaching profession bad dreams for a year, but unfortunately the teaching profession contains some of the worst "staybenders" in the Exercise, while our leading ringers and conductors frequently show abysmal ignorance of learning processes in manipulation and theory Perhaps the directive issued to Mr. Chaddock by the Central Council concerning an instruction manual may clarify the issue but the only hope of ensuring a standard of competence in instruction was lost when the College of Campanology ceased to issue certificates after its dissolution. Is it not time for the Central Council to initiate replacements? As a final thought, if a parent required confirmation of the safety standards in another belfry in your vicinity, would you feel able to provide a testimonial for your neighbouring ringers? This type of accident will occur again. Let us hope it will be with less tragic results.—Yours sincerely,

D. C. JACKSON.

STEDMAN TRIPLES TOUCHES

Dear Sir,—Three touches of Stedman Triples by E. C. S. appeared in "The Ringing World' of May 12th (page 336).

May I suggest that these touches consist of 171, 105 and 105 changes respectively, and not as printed.—Yours sincerely,

HARRY MILES.

A 20 YEARS AGO INTRODUCTION

Dear Sir,—In his interesting survey of compositions rung during 1966 Mr. Alan Ainsworth mentioned a 5,021 of Glasgow Surprise which comes round at the treble's first blow at lead The inference seemed to be that this was the first of its kind in any method although I may have read more into Mr. Ainsworth's comment than he intended However, just to keep the record straight and without in any way belittling Mr R. W. Pipe's achievement, perhaps I may mention that the first composer to exploit this particular possibility of certain methods was Mr Maurice Hodgson about 20 years ago. A 5,021 of Spliced Bristol and Peterborough Surprise by Mr. Hodgson ending from 34625 with (almost) six leads of Peterborough, with bob at the 4th and 5th leads, was rung at Willesden in December. 1948.—Yours sincerely,

E. A. BARNETT.

ST. UNY DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—A variation of Stedman Doubles was rung at Lelant on April 3rd, when a Grandsire single was made in quick sixes, 60 changes apart, instead of the more usual, modern form of lying still in 4-5, and was given the name of St. Uny Doubles.

If Harry Miles had anything to do with it, surely he must have been aware of the original publication of the method. In Stedman's "Campanalogia," 1677, page 130, it says: "The extream to be made according to the general rule, viz., the first extream may be made by any two bells that are in course to make a change within the compass of the first sixty changes of the peal, and the second extream must be made according to this rule. Whatsoever two bells are dodging behind at the first extream, when the same two bells come to dodge there again, is a certain warning for the second extream to be made."

He thus states that the "lying still" of two bells occurred in the front work, either in a quick or slow six, leaving the dodging pair unaffected. In the 120 shown as an example, the "extream" is made on the last change of the plain course, thus giving a "Grandsire single," as we now call it, i.e. as in "St. Uny."

He also called the link between divisions the "parting change" and was aware that the method could start at any row, even on the "odd' rows, to give "backward dodging" in 4-5, or, as he termed it, "cutting compass." Further, on page 90, defining the call 'extream." two bells must lie still instead of changing, leaving a "single" change only (remember, this is Doubles). He emphasised that the "single" was not the important part, but was only the remaining part, of the "extream." Apparently it was coming to be called a "single" even in his day.

Finally, I wonder when the modern single came into use for Stedman Doubles?—Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY DODDS.

St. Albans.

CLAPPER SILENCERS

Dear Sir,—Thank you for publishing my short article on "Clapper Silencers." I hope it will be of some benefit to the ringing population I think it would be worth pointing out that the "silencers" should be fitted when the bells are down, as a considerable amount of force is needed to push the silencers over the clapper flight if they are to be a good fit, and this could be very dangerous if the bell was up.—Yours sincerely,

D. ELLISDON.

JOHN NICOLL

And So to Ireland — By Jacqueline King

AS so many things do. this all started as a joke! In a pub we were—in Abergavenny after a peal. "Let's ring in Ireland" said Jim. 'Right." said Reuben. More chat followed (waste of breath, I thought!) Any way. Spenser Kear got to hear of this. "Fine idea for an Usk ringers' outing," said he And so it snowballed—Mrs Reuben Clench and Mrs David Hughes were both in favour—poor Reuben was pressed into opening a special deposit account with the National Provincial Bank in Usk Weekly contributions were received, plans made and remade. (More wasted breath. thought I!)

Then Peter Kay, organiser initially, flew off to America and David King was pressed into making arrangements. Then dates were fixed, towers fixed and flights booked Jim said he would only go if he could dip the oil and David Hughes check the tyres! More contributions flowed into the account—Reuben was talking in terms of drinks with the interest! Plans still being made over the telephone and over the beer! (More wasted breath? I was not so sure—it looked as if we really would be going!)

Mr. Dukes got operational—letters flowed between the Cedar Tiles and Drogheda, itineraries were typed, the plane tickets arrived, cars were hired—on Friday, April 28th. we would be off!

Finally Bristol Airport saw this unusual departure of Gwent bellringers for Ireland. David Hughes and Jim both found that they were were braver than they thought, and their chests expanded visibly!

13 A LUCKY NUMBER

And so to Dublin! To a warm and hearty welcome from the local ringers and from every local person one chanced to meet. Although our number was 13 this proved indeed lucky—the weather was perfect. food perfect, fellowship perfect. I would say bells perfect—but—we tried our best at Blessington and our efforts were unmentionable!!!

The gentlemen (needless to say, really) spent Friday afternoon going around that famous brewery and after their mile walk most certainly enjoyed their free samples! Then they joined the ladies to view the "undecomposed" remains in the crypt of St. Michael's Church. Lionel could certainly have done some business there—however, all shook hands with the famous Crusader.

A pleasant evening followed at headquarters the Four Courts Hotel, all the party now together and David Hughes enthusing over the "Liffey" water!

Mr. and Mrs. Dukes arrived early at headquarters on Saturday morning and we were soon all aboard the cars. Mr. and Mrs. Dukes, Lionel and Mrs. Jones and Jim Fitzgerald in the lead, followed by car number two with David and Jacqueline King, Spencer Kear, Frank Hobbs and Don Clarke. Bringing up the rear that "Knight of the Road" himself, David Hughes, and Mrs. David, Reuben Clench. Mrs. Reuben and Julie

A grand journey to Blessington—heavenly colours—blue sky, green, so green everywhere, golden gorse and violet Wicklow Hills away in front. All so beautiful, words failed us and we just gasped at the beauty, until one lady of the party said: "I can't see many of those cows that the Irish bacon with the shamrock comes from." At this car number two nearly burst with laughter and we all thought Spencer would choke!

Well, we did try on those six bells at Blessington, but oh dear! Don Clarke said "Treble's going" and it certainly went—straight down! Mrs. Hughes saw the way things were and quietly crept downstairs. However, the Vicar, Canon R. W Lowe, stayed with us and gave us warm words of encouragement. Afterwards the Canon and Mrs. Lowe so kindly revived us with coffee and biscuits Then some tunes on the Dukes handbells and sincere goodbyes to the kind folk at Blessington Rectory.

Another ride through glorious country—roads empty—just a man with a donkey, a tramp or two, a postman, some children and friendly waves from all!

BREATHTAKINGLY LOVELY

Then to the Wicklow Gap—so breathtakingly lovely! The most beautiful valley I have ever seen—crystal clear water over smooth stones, soft violet mountains, and again the golden gorse! and peace, "perfect peace"—no other cars. people. lorries or ice cream vans! How our cameras clicked and the cine film rolled. We all felt we could stay there for ever in that warm sunshine.

But Fred Dukes ushered us on, this time to Glendalough and the famous round towers, virtually one of the first seats of learning. What hours we would have spent there listening to legends and absorbing the peace and beauty But on again through the Vale of Avoca to the Meeting of the Waters, Tom Moore's Tree and thence to Arklow After lunch a warm welcome from the tower captain and touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Oxford Bob Triples and Bob Major on the lovely eight. Then a gathering up of the ladies from the shops and an unforgettable ride along the coast road to Bray. The beaches looked so inviting—how we longed to relax on them—but Fred kept up a fast speed and we were soon ringing in Bray Here we could use only seven bells as the tenor clapper had broken. Still, Triples and Cambridge Minor were much enjoyed.

Yet another gathering up of ladies from the shops and back to the hotel for dinner. Afterwards a peaceful sit-down in the lounge "Liffey" water for David Hughes, enthusiastic discussion of the beauties of this "Emerald Isle" and finally sincere votes of thanks to Fred and Mrs. Dukes, who had indeed "made the day."

And so to Sunday—away we went to join the friendly band at St Patrick's Cathedral for service ringing. We were delighted to meet Mr. Reed and all the others, too numerous to mention but all such delightful people. Although most of our party are not used to 12-bell ringing everyone tried hard and gave of their best. Then down again and off to the Augustinian Church known as "Johns Lane." Oh, the tales we had been told of that staircase! Anyway, taking my own courage in my hands (and David Hughes doing the same) up we went. The congregation were reciting the Nicene Creed so I joined in and kept my eyes fixed firmly upward! At last—the top—David Hughes quite elated—general verdict, not so bad, really. Mrs. Clench went up and down without a tremor—she certainly deserves a medal.

Anyway, call changes here with the local band and touches on the eight bells, then a rush for lunch followed by touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters at St. Patrick's. Down the stairs again and off to Christ Church, here to meet Mr. Billy Lynch, a great favourite with the ladies. Call changes followed on the ten bells and then Triples on the light eight, brought to a sudden end when a rope broke.

By this time we all felt that we were walking on our knees but we made a final effort to ring at St. George's—here again many of the local ringers joined us and all enjoyed the various touches.

Time. as usual, was "flying" and it was time for us to think of "flying" with it. Mr. Reed and Mr. McGregor so very kindly ferried us and our bags to the bus terminal. After several "flaps" to gather up all 13 persons we were safely aboard the bus for Dublin Airport and a welcome cup of tea. Travel sickness pills were handed round but Jim Fitzgerald discovered they were "Sea Legs" and uproar followed!

Then on to the plane, extreme comfort and a perfect flight. Spencer managed to obtain the flight report. autographed by the captain. This, I understand, is to be framed and hung in Usk tower.

And so back to Bristol Airport To complete the laughs. two cases went astray to Street in Somerset. but were to be returned in due course.

Thirteen so very happy bellringers returned. tired but full of praise for the beauty of Ireland. for the friendliness of the people and of our brother bellringers and, as Reuben kept sayin, "You know, we really must do this again!"

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham District

Dating from the 13th century. the church at St Mary Cray was the venue for the Lewisham District's quarterly meeting on April 22nd. when several of the 60 members present were interested to see that a ringing floor had been erected some 15 months previous. which makes for easier handling of the pleasant-toned six, recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in 1913.

The Association's form of service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. J. N. Kemp, whose wife acted as organist; the lesson was read by the local captain. Patrick Braund.

A buffet tea was provided in the Church Hall, and thanks were expressed by Arthur Richards to the local company for its generosity. The Vicar took the chair for the business meeting, at which fourteen resident and six non-resident life members were elected A lively discussion was provoked by a proposal by Paul Smith that there should be some qualification for membership—the present rules do not give any requirement save that the bells shall be rung to the satisfaction of the incumbent and churchwardens; despite members being reminded that they belonged to an Association of "change ringers" as distinct from "church bell ringers," a recommendation to alter the rules was defeated.

After the general ringing a 720 of Cambridge Minor was rung at the request of the Vicar, finishing just as the wedding of Graham Upcraft, a former organist at this church, and Miss Macdonald was about to commence at University Chapel, Toronto, Canada. Those taking part were P. G Braund 1, Miss S. P. Nicholson 2, D. P Smith (cond.) 3, M. H. O'Callaghan 4, I. H. Oram 5. T. Lewis 6.

Next meeting: July 22nd, St. John's. Deptford (alternative Woolwich).

Salisbury Guild's Annual Festival

The Guild Festival and annual general meeting was held at Melksham on May 13th. On this beautiful, warm, sunny day the white shirts of the men were very prominent. Twenty-six towers in the Devizes Branch were available during the morning and evening.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar of Melksham, the Rev. W. A. M Langdon. The lesson was read by the Rev. Roger Keeley and the address given by the Master the Rev R. N. Longridge. During the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by H. G Keeley 1–2, C. W. Powell 3–4, G. S. Morris 5–6, Mrs. C. W. Powell 7–8. The collection for the Edwards Memorial Fund amounted to £9 6s. 9d.

A meat and salad tea was served in St. Michael's Hall by wives and friends of ringers in the district, the number sitting down being 150. Councillor and Mrs. K. Elms with the Vicar of Melksham graced the top table.

CHAIRMAN'S COMPLIMENT

Mr. W. C. West, president of the Guild, presided at the meeting, which the Master opened with prayer. Councillor Elms, chairman of Melksham U.D.C., welcomed the Guild to Melksham, saying it was a go-ahead town of which he was justly proud. He hoped they would spare time to have a look around. He enjoyed the service in church and the company at tea and complimented the handbell band on their performance. He knew that ladies were coming to the front in most things, and he noted that the lady in the band carried the heavy bells!

Mr. West suitably replied for the Guild, after which the guests of honour took their departure.

Apologies for absence were received from: Revs. C. Brinkworth and Chaffey-Moore, Messrs. E. Spearey. D Powney, H. Roles, R. Duke and St. Peter's ringers, Dorchester.

Silent tribute was paid to the following who have passed to the higher life: S. Cockell (Melksham), T. Mallard (Warminster), K Burden (Semley), J. Brown (Wilton), G. Whitemoore (Lyme Regis), F Norris (Burton Bradstock), R. Dennett (Loders), C. F. Wills (Sturminster Newton), F. Hart (Shillingstone). The president spoke a few words about S. Cockell, who was vice-president at Melksham for many years.

LATE PUBLICATION OF PEALS

The secretary-treasurer's report was taken as read, seeing that the annual reports had been in members' hands some 14 days. Extracts from a letter from the auditors was read concerning late payments of annual subscriptions and peal booking fees Also the publishing of peals five and six months after being rung.

The Master thanked Councillor Elms for his welcome and the town for its hospitality He mentioned the tragedy at Weston-super-Mare and implored all to take safety precautions, not forgetting emergency lighting saying that even the candle would do very well provided that it was remembered to light it! He urged members to make use of all possible time at practices and meetings and regretted that Branch secretaries had complained about the poor attendance at meetings. He asked all to play their part and to say belfry prayers before ringing.

The election of officers took place and resulted as follows: Master, Rev. R. N. Longridge; vice-president, G. H. Harding; secretary-treasurer, F. Slatford; assistant secretary-treasurer. N. Knee; peals secretary, C. F. Andrews; hon. auditors, C F. Andrews and J. S. Weeks; committee members, G. S Morris, W. C. Shute, E. C. Shepherd and Rev. Roger Keeley.

With the new office of peals secretary came the small alterations to Rules 2 and 5.

A grant of £15 15s. was made towards the restoration of Beaminster's bells and new frame.

It was agreed after some discussion to pay necessary expenses for Central Council representatives. The insurance of six belfry inspectors was also agreed to, and that the parish requiring the assistance of a belfry inspector should pay his expenses for travelling, etc.

The Master closed the meeting with prayer

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Central District held its annual meeting at All Saints' Church, Harrow Weald, on April 29th.

Miss V Ware was elected vice-president in succession to Mrs. E. Savory; Mrs. J. Hooton continues as secretary District committee: Mrs. R Fardon. Mrs. H. G. Hart. Mrs C. E. Lankester, Mrs. E. Savory; central committee: Mrs. F. E. Collins, Mrs. C. E. Lankester. Six new members were elected, viz.: Mrs. A. Spreadbury and Misses P. Brereton, L. Ellison, M. Sears, M. Smith and T. L. Willis.

A ladies' touch of Grandsire and a course of Stedman preceded the service, conducted by the Rev. D. Bond. Local ringers provided an excellent tea for a company of 37.

Next meeting, July 29th; A.D.M., March 30th, 1968.

SPALDING FESTIVAL

A week of thanksgiving for the flower and bulb industry was held at Spalding, utilising music, tableaux and flowers. This began on April 29th with a united service, at which the preacher was the Lord Bishop of Lincoln. The eight bells at Spalding Parish Church called members of all denominations to this inaugural service, which was very well attended. Ringing preceded both thanksgiving services on the Sunday and each of the evening concerts held throughout the week.

Visitors from far and wide made their way to the ringing chamber on the final Sunday, May 7th, and most of them were able to take part in a short touch of one kind or another The main purpose of their visit and the highlight of the week as far as ringers were concerned was the final concert at 3 p.m. A handbell recital of music given by the Launton Handbell Ringers, conducted by Frederick Sharpe, F.S.A., was a fitting climax to a memorable week. It included traditional English, foreign and mediæval carols, classical music by Handel, Brahms and Tchaikovsky, music composed specially for bells and well-known hymn tunes.

Mr. Sharpe gave a brief description of the unique collection of 76 bells, which date from 1690 to the present day, and the music, which was scored in bell notation using the mediæval mode After the concert, ringing in the tower continued until the 6.30 p.m. service

Local ringers who took part throughout the whole of the Thanksgiving Week had an opportunity to ring on 12 occasions in nine consecutive days. Congratulations to those with a 100 per cent. attendance record.

Memorial Board at Lavenham

On May 13th 50 ringers from a wide area assembled at Lavenham tower when the Rector, the Rev. R. Bird, dedicated a memorial board to the memory of Stedman H. Symonds, who learned to ring in this tower at the age of 11 years and continued to do so till a few days prior to his death at the age of 77 years, holding the position of Ringing Master for 26 years.

Following the dedication, a plain course of Stedman Triples was rung by M. T. Symonds. L. Pryke, W. Jarvis, C. Poulson and A. Haynes, of the local company, F. A. Poulson (the sole survivor of the Lavenham band that rang before World War I), L. D. Mills (District Guild chairman) and L. G. Brett (a Past Master of the Suffolk Guild).

In his address the Rector paid tribute to Stedman's ringing career. After the closing prayer the local ringers rang a short touch of Plain Bob, then the bells were placed at the disposal of the visiting ringers. M. T. S.

OBITUARY

MR. RICHARD A. GOFTON

North Country ringing circles sustained a severe loss in the death on April 19th of Richard A. Gofton, of Whitley Bay. He underwent an operation last year and seemed to be recovering well but was taken ill again suddenly and died in hospital at the age of 63.

Dick was a member of the famous Gofton family. His father and uncles formed a company which attained a high standard of performance in Surprise Minor in the early part of this century, when Whitley Bay had only a six-bell tower. A few years after the augmentation of the bells to eight Dick and his younger brother Bill joined the band and great strides were made, Surprise ringing for divine service being regular. They rang the first peal of Premier Surprise and the first ever of Spliced Surprise Major, Cambridge and Superlative in 1924.

Dick Gofton showed remarkable ability at a very early age and joined with members of his family in peals of London Surprise Major and Stedman Cinques on handbells. Although he rang his first peal at the age of 15 he did not become a prolific peal ringer, for his total recorded for the Durham and Newcastle Association is only 101. He had little inclination to conduct peals, for of those 101 he conducted only two. One of those was a noteworthy performance as it was London Surprise Major by the local band at Whitley Bay just after the war and he had done a great deal in the training of the ladies who augmented the family circle at that time. The small totals are no measure of his ability for he was a skilled ringer who could always be relied on to place his bell accurately and ring without suspicion of a mistake throughout.

He had been a member of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association for almost 50 years and was elected president from 1953 to 1956. His term of office included the visit of the Central Council to Newcastle in 1954. The Association sent a floral tribute and was represented at the funeral by the Ringing Master, Mr. K Arthur, and the secretary, Mr. D. A. Bayles. They were joined by Mr. W. J. Davidson to ring changes on handbells in measured time as the cortege left the church for the crematorium.

The funeral service held at St. Peter's, Monkseaton, on April 21st. The church was built by his father's firm and has been closely connected with the Gofton family. It was filled to capacity by a large congregation, which included friends, business associates, Freemasons (he was a Past Master of his Lodge) and bellringers, besides his widow and the family mourners. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. F. Bateson, assisted by the Revs. W. Hatchley and P. Lister.

Dick Gofton was a friendly man, who held a warm feeling for his colleagues. He conducted himself in a quiet, slightly reserved and dignified way and he was held in the highest esteem by all with whom he came in contact. On May 10th an attempt was made to ring a half-muffled peal of Stedman Triples at St. Paul's, Whitley Bay. This unfortunately came to grief with only seven courses to go after some very good ringing. Reading University Society

Thirteen members were present at the annual general meeting of the Society on May 11th, when the following officers were elected: Ringing Master Mr. M. G. Ingram; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. R. E. Stillwell; secretary, Miss Elizabeth Webb; treasurer, Mr. G. J. N. Colborne.

It was decided not to hold a dinner this coming years because of last year's failure.

Herts County Association

The Northern District had a successful two-tower meeting on May 6th, first at Cottered (5) and then at Ardeley (6) Here a highlight of the evening was seeing Tony Price ring 1–2 to London and put the secretary right as well.

Welsh Girl Chorister-Ringers at Flint

St. Mary's Church, Flint (a light eight with a tenor of 7 cwt.) has a band of chorister-ringers ranging in age from 10 to 17 years. On February 26th the bells were rung for the first time by an all-girl team. At the moment, writes the captain (R. T. Williams) ringing is limited to call changes but hopes are entertained that with the help of more experienced ringers progress can be made in method ringing.

The girls in the picture are Rosalind Ley, Janet Ley, Barbara Wynne, Maria Lambert, Irene Hewitt, Irene Lynhurst, Michelle Jones and Pat Durham.

Whitechapel Bell Foundry Outing

Saturday morning, April 29th, at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry was not the start of another day's work but the rendezvous for the staff and friends, destined for their annual outing.

Once clear of London, it was full steam ahead for Melbourn, where a good standard of ringing set the trend which was to continue throughout the day. The rest of the morning was spent at Trumpington where, after ringing on the light eight, everyone gathered for an excellent lunch.

The afternoon in Cambridge provided an opportunity for exploring the town before ringing at St. Mary the Great and on the heavy eight at the Roman Catholic Church which produced some good ringing. The last tower of the day was Ickleton, with some well struck call changes. A welcome stop was made for snacks and refreshment at Great Chesterford.

The general improvement in the variety and standard of the ringing since last year's outing reflected the value of the regular practices held throughout the year.

Norwich Diocesan Association

A splendid tea was provided free of charge by Mr and Mrs. J. B. Gardner, when the Eastern Branch held their April meeting at Catfield (the first there for 15 years). Appreciation was shown by a collection for the Church Window Fund, which realised £4 11s. The suggestion that the Branch should hold a joint dinner with the North East District of the Suffolk Guild was enthusiastically received.

Members stood in silence to the memory of Mr. J Cable, of Thurlton (an honorary member), and Mr. T. G. Bussey, Ringing Master at Haddiscoe for many years, a tribute being paid to them by Mr. G. Walpole.

The chairman, Miss D. Lidbetter, proposed a vote of thanks, which included the Rector (Canon H. Wake), who conducted the service.

BELFRY GOSSIP

In the quarter peal at Great Missenden (page 335) the ringer of the 2nd was Sara Woolley and the ringer of the third was Louise Evans.

Mr and Mrs. Howard Oglesby went to Slough on May 17th with two of their young Hitcham ringers who were being confirmed by the Bishop of Buckingham, and took part in a quarter of Plain Bob Royal rung prior to the service.

Some good ringing was enjoyed on the six bells at Northaw, where the Eastern District of the Herts County Association held its May meeting. Mr. George Austin presided at the business meeting, when the main topic was the District outing into Suffolk.

After a complete rest from all activity lasting over three months, Mr. Donald Clift has recently learned that he has avoided the necessity of a major operation, and on Saturday, May 20th, was able to celebrate this good news by taking part in a peal at St. Laurence's, Reading. In ringing this he has now joined that small circle of ringers who have rung peals in each county in England and Wales.

Bath ringers owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. John Euston, who arranged an excellent day in London for them on April 22nd. Ringing started on the old-fashioned octave at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, followed by St. Olave's, Hart Street, where Timothy Pett met the party. At St. Margaret's, Westminster, an added pleasure was ringing for the wedding of the organist, and at St. John's, Waterloo Road, Mr. Grainger was in attendance to tell how he rehung the bells himself. St. Andrew's, Holborn, and St. Clement Danes' were also visited and enjoyed.

After some years as an associate member, the Vicar of Henstridge (the Rev. J. H. Swingler) is now a full member of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. His election took place at the Cary Branch quarterly meeting held at Babcary on April 22nd. There were some other elections—three from Henstridge and one from Barton St. David. The Rector, Rev. J. H. Hopkins Williams, who conducted the service, welcomed the company. South Devon was chosen as the venue for the autumn Branch meeting.

JOHN MASEFIELD AND LEDBURY'S BELLS

When Ledbury ringers rang a half-muffled quarter peal on the back six of their beautiful 22 cwt. eight on Whit Sunday as a tribute to the late John Masefield, they were ringing on bells which were not only greatly admired by the Poet Laureate, but which were also rehung some 16 years ago largely through his generosity.

Born in Ledbury in 1878, he spent his childhood there, acquiring a deep and sincere love for the town, its people and its church. Of the church, he said: "More than I can describe, I loved its voice, the magical great musical voice of its bells . . . . that rang such glorious peals on occasions, such as Christmas such strange muffled peals for the Holy Innocents, and such wonderful and dangerous volleys known as 'firing' for certain weddings." Later, he wrote three long poems "The Widow in the Bye Street," "The Everlasting Mercy" and "The Daffodil Fields," which were set in and around Ledbury, and which contained a number of accurate allusions to some well-known local characters. Through his simple but descriptive style we can see the true personality of the town and its inhabitants.

In 1951, when the sum of £1,700 was being collected for the rehanging of the then anti-clockwise octave, Masefield wrote two books, "The Ledbury Scene" and "St. Katharine of Ledbury," and the proceeds from their sale were devoted to the fund. "The Spanish proverb speaks of the three good things in life," he writes in the former; "good air, good water and good bells . . . . Ledbury was rich in all three, but excelled in her bells." These bells he mentions a number of times in his local poems. In Ledbury we feel honoured by such praise and thankful for all that John Masefield has done for us; we hope that we shall be able to continue to ring on the bells which in the past drew such admiration from him, and that their sound will ever move men's hearts as it did his.

"So they shone and sang till twelve,
When all the bells ring out of theirselve;
Rang a peal for Christmas morn,
Glory, men, for Christ is born."

["The Everlasting Mercy."]

AN ESSEX WORTHY'S 80th BIRTHDAY

Mr. Ernest W. Furbank celebrated his 80th birthday on May 8th, and in connection with this two peals were rung He took part in one of these at Bentley Common on May 13th. He has now rung 409 peals in 100 different towers, the details being: 151 Surprise Major (including 24 of London and 96 other Major methods), 48 Triples (including 30 of Stedman), 29 Caters (including 27 of Stedman) 40 Royal (including a 12,740 changes), 2 Maximus, 5 Cinques, 29 Minor and 9 Doubles.

His first peal was at South Weald, Essex, on July 23rd 1921 Between the wars he was very active with well-known ringers, ringing under the conductorship of G. R Pye (50), W. Pye (26), T. W. Taffender (18). Most of his ringing has been done around his home in Essex, ringing 65 peals at Brentwood, 46 at Prittlewell and 43 at Romford

A real titbit of his life in recent times was the honour of receiving the Maundy Money from the Queen in Chelmsford Cathedral. It is to be hoped that he will maintain his usual good health for many years to come and give us the benefit of his kindly character in the belfry.

CHRISTCHURCH BRANCH SECRETARY MARRIED

Mr. Lewis Frank Cobb, secretary of the Christchurch Branch of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, and his bride, Miss Elizabeth Gwendoline Kitney, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kitney, of Devizes. Their wedding on May 13th was at St. Thomas', Lymington, where the bride is a member of the band.

The bride, given away by her father, wore her mother's bridal dress of ivory satin brocade with train, a crystal and diamante tiara with three-tier, full-length veil, and carried a Bible and single tiger lily. Mr. John W. Blackwood, former Wareham ringer, was best man.

Mr. A V. Davis, on behalf of the Christchurch Branch, presented the happy couple with a clock, and with a flower stand from the St. Thomas', Lymington, band.

Ringing took place prior to the wedding, and bride, bridegroom and best man rang immediately after the ceremony before the Ringwood ringers rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples to mark the occasion.

BRISTOL'S CUPID

Dear Sir,—"Research Student" has done some admirable work and must have conclusively proved the existence of Cupid in the University of Bristol Society to any doubters.

However, the present incumbent, Mr. J. T. Parsons, seems unable to shoot straight in spite of his new bow and arrows and his new wings, ceremonially presented to him at the dinner in January by the retiring holder. In short, he has been a signal failure in spite of some obvious targets.

I, a successful ex-Cupid and an observer of the current scene, implore him to "get shooting" if romance is not to depart from St. Michael's; if other people are too difficult shots for him, let him begin with an easy one —himself (it's about time?).—Yours, etc.

A FORMER CUPID.

"TUITION TEASERS"—No. 2

Q. In respect of the ringer's stance (Teaser No. 1) you advised as to the relative placing of the feet; but did not say how to stand in relation to the rope itself. (Anon.)

A. Three points to be noted: (a) Direction of facing; (b) Nearness to rope; (c) General posture.

Facing: The point here is to direct your angle of view, particularly in change ringing, so as to take in the whole "circle" of ropes, if possible, by movement sideways of the eyes only. Turning the head, and more so of the body and feet, cuts off more or less the "away" part of the field of vision, impairing ropesight. Technically your line of sight lies normally along the bisector of the angle formed by your own rope-fall and that of the ringer on either side of you. In all but very irregular rope "circles" this angle includes a sight of all the other ropes. With correct facing you are looking diametrically across the ringing room at eye level, and "through" your own rope, swinging the eyes sideways and "easing" the head as required.

Nearness: With rope hanging free of the floor (end tied up), stand with front of the body at one palm-width (about 3 to 3½ inches) away from the rope. In actual ringing, the hands must then travel up and down the line of the rope-fall (bending wrists, elbows and shoulder joints) quite close to the body; the degree of control being proportionate to this nearness.

Posture: Stand upright but relaxed. Do not bend forward on pull-strokes as this causes out-throw of the rope and lessens control. Occasional extra "pull" can be exerted by bending the knees a little—sometimes called "dropping by the knees." Use full arm extension at top and bottom of stroke, especially on heavier or badly-going bells.

These points are basic for the acquisition of skilled handling and control.

THE HAMPSHIRE HOGS WITH THE DOVES

For the past two years Ronald Dove and his son Barrie have been entertained in North Hampshire towers; their invitation to a return visit to Leeds on May 6th was most gladly accepted and Albert Green's familiar grey van made the journey. A 1 a.m. phone call brought Barrie out of bed to be told of their arrival!

While the majority of the Hampshire party were ringing at towers outside of Leeds, two of them stood in a good peal of Plain Bob Royal dedicated to the memory of John Hall, of Weston-super-Mare. Barrie made a good job of the 42 cwt. tenor at Leeds Parish Church, turning it in in 3 hours and 31 minutes. ("A. P. C., watch out," writes G. D.)

On that Saturday some 11 towers in and around Leeds were sampled before camping outside the Police Station at Chapel Allerton. On Sunday morning there was ringing at St. Mary's, Hunslet and Holbeck R.C. Church, before travelling 90-odd miles to Burton-on-Trent to ring on the steel bells at Horninglow (6), followed by the heavy five at Mancetter (20 cwt) Later came Monk's Kirby (24 cwt.) and service ringing at Claybrooke, and, finally Cropredy, near Banbury, and Mollington. Before saying farewell, thanks were expressed to the Sunday tower organiser, Chris Dalton, and also to Ronald Dove.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2929. Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1967 9d.

NOTTINGHAM—A FIRST IMPRESSION

A NEW era in the history of the Central Council opened at Nottingham with its 70th annual meeting. Holding the reins of office for the first time was Mr. Vernon Bottomley, as chief executive officer, and he came through his ordeal with flying colours and at the conclusion richly deserved the congratulations bestowed on him by his predecessor for 14 years, Mr. E. A. Barnett.

And what a 21st birthday the occasion was to the Southwell Diocesan Guild, formed out of the old Midland Counties Association and still having some 50 members of the parent body in its ranks! Perhaps the happiest way of celebrating a birthday is in giving pleasure to others, and the record attendance of 167 members enjoyed to the full the fine programme of ringing arranged in the area of the Guild and beyond, and the fellowship of Guild members headed by Mr. W. L. Exton, the secretary, and his chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter.

A portent of a long and serious meeting was the fact that the Standing Committee was in session the previous evening until after 11 p.m. Perhaps one of the happiest outcomes of their deliberations was the resolution passed concerning the British Government's proposed gift of a tower and carillon to Canberra costing £250,000. It was a request on behalf of the Central Council, representing the ringers of the Commonwealth and the English-speaking world, that eight or more bells in the carillon should be hung for ringing in full circle in the English manner. A unanimous resolution is going from the Council to the Minister for the Commonwealth, Mr. Herbert Bowden, the Australian High Commissioner, and the architectural advisers to this effect. From Sydney a similar appeal has been made on behalf of Australian ringers. The bell tower proposed is to be erected on an island in Lake Birley Griffith. Canberra, Australia's capital, has no bells hung for ringing, but the changes are heard Sunday by Sunday at St. John's Church, where Col. Watch operates the chimes.

There was general approval to the change in order in proceedings which enabled Notices of Motion to be dealt with earlier in the day, thus avoiding debate being either curtailed or held before a tired house. The first motion dealt with the condemnation of hoaxes which have been a plague to the Editor's life during the past year. The subject was ably dealt with by the two speakers of the London County Association. The Council revelled in the strong terms of their condemnation, and while from one quarter there was a dissension against associating certain of the outbreaks with a particular university, the motion was carried with only one vote against.

The motion that there should be two styles of publications of peals in "The Ringing World"—those if accompanied by a contribution of 2d. a word in the present style and others like quarter peals—gave rise to an interesting debate. The ugly impracticability of the style suggested by the motion was obvious to the Council as a whole, but what emerged from the discussion was an emphasis on some sort of contribution. It has been in being for years, but the majority who ring peals fail to respond to this voluntary appeal, so different from the attitude of quarter peal ringers in their regard to "The Ringing World". Had a vote been taken we believe that Mr. Cecil Pipe's idea of ringers paying voluntarily two shillings a rope, of which 6d. would go to "The Ringing World", would have been passed. The final decision was to refer the matter to "The Ringing World" Committee. Our "Gratefully Acknowledged" column is still open to peal ringers and we hope that in the coming weeks it will reflect a more generous attitude towards the paper.

All these debates were pianissimo in character compared with the reception of the report of "The Ringing World" Committee. The resignations from the Committee of Mr. Dennis Beresford and Mr. G. W. Pipe were handed in to the Standing Committee that evening and came as a surprise, particularly as the implications of the census have not yet been received. This they promised to complete. Both made speeches to the Council complaining of unfair treatment and lack of co-operation from the Committee. They received ovations from the members of a warmth accorded to heroes. The scene was reminiscent of the days of Percy Johnson. There was a thirst for knowledge of what had really happened and what was contained in their report. At one time it seemed that there would be other resignations. However, the report was accepted, and the 1967 report is expected to contain what is desired. The remaining four members of the Committee had a "confab" outside the hall while other committee reports were being considered. They did not resign; neither did the convener nor other members of the Committee reply to the observations of their former colleagues but confined their remarks to subject matter of the report.

As far as "The Ringing World" is concerned the Editor will endeavour to continue the progressive policy that has been in operation since Bath. Already there are definite signs of increased sales and many letters of appreciation have been received. With goodwill all round, readers can look with confidence to the future. The Editor feels that, although there may be dissensions, at heart all have an affection and love for "The Ringing World".

The Central Council

Nottingham—A City Where Bell Founders Were Mayors

NEW PROCEDURE ADOPTED FOR GIVING MORE TIME FOR DEBATE.—WITTY SPEECHES AT OPENING WELCOME.—"RINGING WORLD" PROFIT £855.

THE bells of Nottingham rang out in welcome to the Central Council and in honour of the 21st anniversary of the Southwell Diocesan Guild during the spring holiday week-end. Early on Tuesday morning the bells of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin were rung, summoning the members of the Council to Holy Communion, at which the Vicar, Canon R. Feaves, was the celebrant.

The second session of the 26th Council was opened in traditional style at the Victoria Hotel later that morning, and it was a pleasure for Canon A. G. G. Thurlow, the president, and members to receive greetings from the Lord Mayor (Coun. A. F. Roberts), who was accompanied by the Lady Mayoress, the Bishop of Sherwood (the Rt. Rev. Kenneth G. Thompson) and Mr. F. W. Midwinter (chairman of the Southwell Diocesan Guild).

The Lord Mayor, in a very sincere welcome to the Council, said there was a very close connection between the bellfounders of Nottingham and its Mayors. The first reference to Nottingham bellfounders was in 1437, when William Langton and Richard Redeswell were casting bells. John Selyoke, who cast a bell for St. Peter's, Nottingham, was Mayor in 1497, 1498 and 1505.

Another bellfounder Mayor was Richard Meller—Mayor in 1499 and 1506, and on his death in 1509 he was survived by his wife, Agnes, who founded the Free School at Nottingham in 1513. Richard's two sons, Robert and Thomas, were both aldermen, and Richard, a bellfounder, was Sheriff in 1511 and Mayor in 1521, while Thomas was Sheriff in 1509 and Mayor in 1514, 1515 and 1529.

Humphrey Quarnbie married Elizabeth, daughter of Alderman Robert Meller. He was Sheriff in 1534, Mayor in 1542, 1549. 1555 and 1562 and was also M.P. for Nottingham but, added the Mayor, with a twinkle, "I have it on good authority that he was not representing the Labour Party."

A nice tribute was paid by the Lord Mayor to the Southwell Diocesan Guild and he congratulated them on their 21st birthday. It was to them that they owed the Central Council meeting being held this year in Nottingham and he was sure that the officers of the Guild were pleased that their invitation to hold their proceedings in the city was accepted. His only experience, however, of the art of bellringing was when he was married at St. Peter's Church. "The bells told that tale," he added, to the delight of the audience.

The Bishop of Sherwood also gave the Council a warm welcome on his own behalf and also on behalf of the Bishop of Southwell, who could not be present as he was visiting Spain and Portugal on a unique mission to help in the consecration of a Bishop. They knew how much he was looking forward to their visit from his letter to "The Ringing World."

DAUGHTER RANG AT CAMBRIDGE

"I welcome, honour, respect and love all those things you stand for," said the Bishop. "It is first and foremost a British occupation as you stand man to man and ring changes. I remember when my daughter was at Cambridge that she wrote home and said she had been ringing with the College Youths at St Bene't's. I understand that you were ringing at 7 a.m. this morning, and it was a great joy to hear those bells.

"I am especially aware of the extraordinary good fellowship, understanding and willingness to help others, which are characteristics of ringers. I was Vicar of Hucknall for 16 years and some of you remember when there were only three bells in the church. When those bells rang, the young people used to say 'Come to church.'"

The older generation, however, commented "Old Brown's Cows" after a local farmer, who used to turn his cows into the churchyard to graze. It was his good fortune to put eight bells in that tower and, through the wonderful spirit of co-operation, by the time those bells were ready there were two teams of ringers in the parish.

Another welcome came from Mr. F. W. Midwinter. It was a great joy to them, he said, to see people come to life who were just names in "The Ringing World." To them in the Southwell Guild it was a great occasion and he could imagine them saying "Fancy, old so-and-so; I never thought he looked like that." They were also pleased to see in "The Ringing World" such names as "Little John" and "Maid Marion." He apologised for the absence of the Sheriff, but added that the Robin Hood country had made amends for that by inviting Bishop Thompson, who was their nearest approach to Friar Tuck (laughter).

The president, in his words of thanks for the welcome, congratulated the Lord Mayor on his research into the history of bell foundries in Nottingham. The only other occasion when Mayors had welcomed the Council with historical references to their art was at Yarmouth when he was Rector. The Mayor then gave a speech full of history which he (the Canon) had written for him. He congratulated the Bishop of Sherwood on restoring a ring of bells. He had restored one ring but was not a bishop yet. Here, however, was a "ringing" example of one way of getting to the top (laughter).

REPORT AS TO MEMBERSHIP

The hon. secretary reported that 60 Societies were affiliated with 164 members. The rules provided for 24 honorary members, and there were seven life members, making a total membership of 195. There were two vacancies among honorary members Subscriptions were all paid.

APOLOGIES FOR ABSENCE

Apologies for absence were received from: Mr. F. Bogan, Miss B. M. Boyle, Messrs. D. Burnett, C. Crossthwaite, G. W. Fletcher, J. G. Gipson, F. I. Hairs, Mrs. F. I. Hairs. Messrs. G. H. Harding, B. E. Jeffrey, Rev. R. Keeley, Messrs. G. I Lewis, J. P. Partington, H. T. Rooke, H. J. Sanger, E. J. Sterland, L. Stilwell, C. J. G. Watts and R. S. Wilson.

APPLICATIONS FOR AFFILIATION

The following applications to affiliate to the Council were received: (a) The Railwaymen's Guild, (b) The Beverley and District Ringing Society. Both applications were voted upon separately and declared elected.

NEW MEMBERS

The following members were presented: Messrs. E. Naylor (Bath and Wells Diocesan Association), R. Ducker (Beverley and District Ringing Society), A. R. Elkins (Chester Diocesan Guild), A. J. Martin (Chester Diocesan Guild), G. Tembey (Cumberland and North Westmorland Association), D. R. Bould (Guild of Devonshire Ringers), Rev. M. Hart (Hereford Diocesan Guild), E. J. Franklin (Railwaymen's Guild), E. F. Willcox (Shropshire Association), H. Poyner (Southwell Diocesan Guild), T. N. J. Bailey (Suffolk Guild), A. J. Brazier (Worcestershire and Districts Association) and J. Seager (Yorkshire Association).

CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

The president announced that suggestions had been made for the better conduct of business. In future the president would welcome new members and ask them to stand up. Their names would be read out and they would be welcomed in the name of the Council. That would be introduced next year. Regarding obituaries, they would continue as heretofore, with all respect and reverence, to keep a minute's silence and prayers but there would be no tributes.

Alterations in the order of the agenda were approved whereby the notices of motion came before the reports of committees.

ELECTION OF HONORARY MEMBERS

Mr. Frederick Sharpe proposed the election as honorary members of Mr. G. W. Pipe, Mrs. R. F. B. Speed and Mr. F. A. White: Mr. F. W. Perrens seconded, and this was agreed to.

LOSSES THROUGH DEATH

The president reported the deaths of the following members and past members of the Council, the members standing in silence:

Messrs E. G. Fenn (Ancient Society of College Youths, 1939–56), T. R. Dennis (Ely Diocesan Association, 1913–32), A. J. Pitman (Swansea and Brecon Guild, 1927–32; hon. member 1953 onwards), P. Page (Romney Marsh and District Guild, 1933–39), G. Pullinger (Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, 1933–59), F. W. Lack, Ely Diocesan Association, 1951–59), J. Worth, Chester Diocesan Guild 1951–53, 1960–62, 1965–66), T. G. Myers (Guild of Devonshire Ringers, 1948–59), S. G. Coles (Bath and Wells Diocesan Association).

Mrs. Lewis, widow of former president of Council.

TRIBUTES

Canon K. W. H. Felstead said the death of Mr. George Pullinger was a great loss to the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. He was a wonderful man; he overcame his disability and set an example to all by the way he struck his bell. He was a very fine Master of the Guild.

Mr. D. Hughes paid a tribute to Mrs. Lewis, the widow of Mr. Edwin H. Lewis.

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott spoke of Mr. Tom Myers as one of his pupils at St. Andrew's, Plymouth.

Mr. T. M. Roderick referred to Mr. A. J. Pitman; Mr. A. J. Martin to Mr. John Worth; Mr. W. Williams to Mr. E. G. Fenn, who served for seven years as Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

The hon. secretary said Mr. Reginald Dennis had made a bequest to "The Ringing World" of £90, which had been received by "The Ringing World" treasurer.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING

The hon. secretary proposed the adoption of the minutes of the 1966 meeting, which had been published in "The Ringing World," and also the amendment. Mr. Walter Ayre seconded.—Agreed.

HON. SEC. AND TREASURER'S REPORT

IT would be ungracious of me to start my first report without reference to the excellent condition of everything handed to me by my predecessor and to the kindly help and encouragement of the President. My wife and I spent many profitable hours with the files to familiarise ourselves with the situation. We reaped the benefit when the Newton-le-Willows incident received nationwide publicity and advice was offered in relation to the Noise Abatement Act. More recently there has been a case in my own county, at Sedbergh, which gave rise to much undesirable publicity, but an offer of assistance to the Vicar has been ignored.

A letter to "The Church Times" which sought to clarify a misconception of the terms of the Noise Abatement Act and offered the services of the Council to those with an excessive noise problem produced two inquiries which were referred to the Towers and Belfries Committee.

A representative of a large group of hotels came to Halifax to sell the idea of a competition to be sponsored by his company in London. Since a condition of entry was the acceptance of a "package deal" of rail travel and week-end in one of the group's hotels, albeit at reduced rates, it was concluded that the competition was unlikely to attract effective support. A suggestion that a festival based upon similar arrangements might prove popular appeared to have been pursued with lukewarm enthusiasm by the group.

There has been a steady flow of inquiries of many kinds from the public and many requests have been received for information about the Barron Bell Trust. One applicant for a grant has told me that the Trustee has written that he is "inundated with applications."

I thank all those who have sent me copies of publications.

Vernon Bottomley.

Presenting his report, Mr. Bottomley said he had had a reply from the Vicar of Sedbergh: he wrote to him in December and did not receive the letter until April. The Vicar replied that the complainants were now talking to him and would the secretary send him literature. He sent him the "Preservation of Bells" booklet and asked him for 2s., but by the time he received it it would have lost something by inflation! (Laughter.)

Mr. F. E. Dukes seconded and the report was adopted.

THE ACCOUNTS

The consolidated balance sheet gave the Capital Accounts as follows:—

"The Ringing World" ..	£10.645
General Fund	£975
Clement Glenn Fund	£908
Total	£12,528

The assets were: Library £10, Stock of Publications £1,109. Debtors and payments in advance £1,198. Investments at cost £10,962, Cash at bank and in hand £2,191 16s. 6d., making a total of £15,471. From this must be deducted sundry creditors £1,143, amounts received in advance £1,799, giving net assets £12,528.

The Council's Income and Expenditure Account showed an excess over expenditure of £43. Expenses came to £110, of which committees required £40. Affiliation fees were £82, and the profit on the Publications Account £72.

The Publications Account showed sales at £455; purchases were 1,000 "Major Compositions" £132 10s., 750 "Surprise Compositions" £109 10s., 500 "Preservation of Bells," etc. £44, 1,000 Handbook leaflets £3 15s., and 10,000 "Beginners' Handbooks" £392 3s. 6d.

"THE RINGING WORLD"

The Profit and Loss Account showed receipts of £10,873 (£10,728), made up of Rolls Publishing House £2,967 (£3,028), postal subscribers £5,428 (£5,221), donations £612 (£676), advertisements £552 (£583), notices and peal reports £813 (£729), sundry receipts £70 (£79), interest receivable £432 (£412).

The expenditure was: Printing, blocks, wrappers, addressing and despatch of copies £8,137 (£7,874), editorial office expenses £1,317 (£1,245), accounts department £295 (£294), miscellaneous £87 (£21), audit and accountancy £45 (£45), taxation £137 (£151). Total expenses £10,018 (£9,630). Profit £855 (£1,098).

The accounts were presented by Mr. V. Bottomley, who said the Standing Committee agreed that Mr. Barnett should have the typewriter at its valuation in the accounts. In the Income and Eexpenditure Account the position was not wholly satisfactory as the affiliation fees had not covered the housekeeping expenses, and the Publications Account was having to finance it. This sum ought to be ploughed back to help the librarian. Thev would notice in the Publications Account that once again the sales were a record.

Turning to "The Ringing World" Account, Mr. Bottomley said the profit was not quite as good as last year; nevertheless it was quite reasonable. While income had remained static, expenditure had not increased much, but that state of affairs would not continue.

Mr W. E. Critchley seconded, and the accounts were adopted.

JOHN CARTER RINGING MACHINE

THE Trustees (Douglas Hughes and Frank E. Haynes) report:

This has been an interesting year, not only because of the behaviour of the machine, but more particularly because of the recruitment and instruction of operators so that the future use and showing of the machine is ensured.

Only one full demonstration was given, but the machine was run altogether on seven occasions. A fault had developed early in the year and its cause proved difficult to trace. It was, however, a simple repair once found, and since this was done touches have been successfully called in a number of methods, and the machine has run extremely well.

We still hope to provide new recording pens and suitable arms to carry them. Carter's original pens were put aside after the war because of damage and the difficulty of cleaning them. They were replaced with specially adapted stylo pens, but the plastic cases of these have not stood up very well. Now drafting pens have been tried, but owing to their bulkiness it is not possible to record two bells simultaneously. Further efforts will be made to overcome this, meanwhile we are recording on one pen only.

Five recruits offered their services as operators, and of them Messrs. Walter H. Dobbie, Alan Bagworth and John C. Slater have been able to continue. Not only have these gentlemen proved entirely adequate for the task, they have added considerably to the general interest by introducing many previously untried methods to the machine, which has digested them all without complaint.

Proposed by Mr. D. Hughes, seconded by Mr. F. E. Haynes, and adopted.

Letters to the Editor

LONDON'S "GENUINE NEW LOOK"

Dear Sir,—Readers have had the benefit of three articles written by Mr. Harold W. Rogers in recent issues, two of them (March 10th and April 14th) directly concerning the London County Association, to which he was elected Master in February.

Perhaps it would now be in order to inquire how, precisely, Mr. Rogers intends to implement the "genuine new look" and "1967 interpretation of the objects of the Association" about which he has said so much, both in "The Ringing World" and at London County Association meetings.

Nothing appears to have changed in the first quarter of Mr. Rogers' reign; the "weaker towers" remain weaker (and what about all the London towers—the majority in fact—where there is scarcely any ringing at all?), and where there has been recent progress (Lambeth and Deptford, for instance) this cannot be attributed to the London County Association.

One would dearly like to believe, as Mr. Rogers evidently does, that "the bright future of the Association lay in the hands of these two groups (young people and pre-war stalwarts); the first to provide enthusiasm and new ideas, and the second to provide the mature and tolerant influences so necessary to the success of the products of youthful enthusiasm" One has the impression, however, that such enthusiasm and new ideas as a few of the younger members have been able to engender have been slowly strangled by the "mature and tolerant influences" of a few of these "stalwarts," who have firmly entrenched themselves at the head of the Association.—Yours faithfully,

"LONDONER."

HELP TO KEEP THE TOWERS OPEN

Dear Sir,—In a discussion recently with some well-known ringers I was amazed to discover how reluctant they were to the idea of paying a small sum of money to the tower concerned for the use of the bells either for a ring during an outing or for a quarter or peal attempt. What other hobby can one follow without some expenditure for equipment and courts, pitches, etc.? Many people spend hours ringing and never spend anything; nor should they if it is service ringing or practising for that end in their own tower, but surely it is only right that they should pay something towards the wear and tear of the bells, ropes and fabric of the tower in exchange for the pleasure of ringing the bells there.

Many beautiful old churches have restoration appeals for large sums and if they do not get contributions then several rings (our own at Kidlington may be such a one) may be unusable due to weak towers and steeples. Surely, too, many parishioners would complain less about the noise and length of peal attempts if they knew it was, in a small way, helping the church.

Few ringers these days could not afford to pay, say, 2s. 6d. a rope for each tower visited on an outing and 5s. a rope for a peal attempt. Many a shilling is spent at the "local" in refreshment after such occasions. Why don't we have a little more foresight in keeping the old towers open for this traditional hobby? —Yours faithfully,

CLARE MASEFIELD.

Kidlington, Oxford.

SOUND CONTROL

Dear Sir,—Certainly the method of using car tyre sections as quick-acting bell silencers as described by Mr. D. Ellisdon in your issue of May 12th, originated at St. Albans, but the invention should be ascribed to Mr. T. J. Southam or Mr. H. V. Frost some years ago at St. Peter's. I have a feeling that they have been described before in "The Ringing World" but I cannot remember when.

Use a tyre with some tread left on; otherwise the silencer will not grip the neck of the flight firmly enough. Do not try to cut the wires; cut them off as complete rings—they are very tough. The length of section used should be just less than the clapper diameter. They are very good for teaching bell handling and can often be used for change ringing practice if the tower acoustics are right.

Another bit of sound control used in a nearby belfry was not originally intended as such. The steeplekeeper of South Mimms Church found winter work on the bell frame a very chilly business, so instead of merely putting up wire netting to keep out pigeons, he nailed up sheets of 2in. mesh "Claritex," obtainable from many garden suppliers. This is a wire mesh enclosed in a strong, clear plastic sheet, is reasonably cheap and easy to put up, being cut with ordinary tinsnips.

The bell chamber, now free of draughts, is much more pleasant to work in, and the bells, previously a little harsh around the churchyard, are now a little more mellow in tone, most of the harshness being removed. The risk of annoyance to neighbours is reduced with very little reduction in carrying power.—Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY DODDS.

A PEAL AT ST. MARTIN'S, GOSPEL OAK

Dear Sir,—Congratulations to the members of the University of London Society of Change Ringers, who on May 20th rang the peal at St. Martin's, Gospel Oak, N.W.5. This was, I think, only the third time the bells had been rung since their three-year enforced silence ended in April.

It is encouraging to see the U.L.S.C.R. extending its territory, having recently "opened" this tower for its annual meeting, and no doubt we residents of N.W.5 will be regularly called to Sunday worship at St. Martin's by this same band.

Perhaps it is surprising that the U.L.S.C.R. decided to attempt a peal so soon after the bells had become ringable again, especially as the surrounding high density housing development is increasing so rapidly. But maybe these non-resident ringers are rather too young to recall that it is only a couple of years since the tower became silent after local opposition, and to realise what the consequences of a peal on these bells could be.

One wonders whether George Hart, who is well acquainted with the new Vicar, and who was instrumental in getting the bells ringing again, or Ruth Foreman, who was tower captain at its previous demise, were consulted.

The Vicar said he was very pleased with the work "these ringers had done restoring the bells, especially the sound-control provided." I am sure there are many readers who would be interested in details of the attention given to the bells of St. Martin's by the U.L.S.C.R.—Yours faithfully,

WALTER KNIGHT.

Dear Sir,—Last week a letter headed "Left Over Right" caught my eye. In reply to the criticism made of the striking of ringers who ring the "wrong way round," i.e. tail-end in right hand, I myself ring this way for the simple reason that I was taught to ring in a tower where the bells (then) were hung the "wrong way round."

The tail-end in the right hand was thought (at that time and in good faith by my instructor) to provide a clear view to the left, in which direction was the treble. (Any ringing other than rounds was then never considered.)

Now, this thought occurs to me—at the "dawn of ringing time" most rings of bells were probably being hung in what we now term the "right" way round. Hence the majority of ringers with "right hand on top." What, I wonder, would have been the position if most bells had been hung the "wrong" way round? Would "left hand on top" be the "in" thing now?

I quite agree that when looking around a circle it is far neater and much easier on the eyes of the perfectionists if all the tail-ends are in the "correct" positions!

I teach all my hordes of learners the correct way, "right hand on top"—but this does not always work with the left-handed children (and there seem to be more and more of them as time goes on). Nor does it always work with the ambidextrous, who often finally settle for the "wrong" way as being the most comfortable.

Frankly, I don't see how the tail-end in one hand or the other can possibly affect one's striking as long as one is provided with, and can use, two good ears!

Again, I would say this—"Be not quick to condemn the ringer who rings the wrong way round." Find out if he is left-handed or learned to ring on bells hung the wrong way or perhaps his instructor merely had his own ideas!

Surely our only aim is "always to do our best, whichever hand holds the tail-end." It's the thoughts in our hearts while ringing which really matter.—Yours sincerely,

JACQUELINE S. KING.

HANDBELL RALLY

Dear Sir, — After the highly successful Handbell Rally held last October at Hazel Grove, Cheshire, another one has been arranged for Saturday, October 7th, at Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancs.

Tune ringing teams from various parts of the country (ringing in a variety of styles) will be present, and I invite any other interested team or persons to come and listen or, better still, take part I can assure anybody remotely interested in tune ringing that it will be a day long to be remembered.

I might add that teams with only a few bells, who can as yet manage only a single tune, will receive just as much applause and appreciation as the few teams with over 100 bells and a large repertoire.

A notice will be found on the "Notices" page.—Yours faithfully,

J. P. PARTINGTON.

OBITUARY

MR. P. R. C. WILLIAMS

Many will be sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Percy Richard Cromwell Williams, of Copper Hill House, Redruth, Cornwall, at the age of 66. Some 40 years ago Percy developed an interest in ringing at St. Uny's Parish Church, Redruth, when the six bells, hung in a frame for eight, were rather hard-going. In 1935, mainly through his efforts, the six were rehung and two trebles added by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. During these years a revival of method ringing had come about in Cornwall and in this Percy, by his interest and usefulness, always lent his aid. In those days he was one of the few who possessed a car, and he was always a willing tenor man. His peals were not many, but distances travelled are evident by the fact that he rang the tenor to peals as far apart as Altarnon, St. Martin-by-Looe and Towednack. He also rang Truro Cathedral tenor to a peal of Grandsire Triples, and of this peal he was justly proud.

Peter Williams was in business in Redruth as a baker and confectioner and when, after the last war, he disposed of this, he moved to Copper Hill House, which became well known to many ringers as a guest house of great hospitality, both to those who stayed there and to other visitors. He farmed the land attached to the house.

All who knew Percy will acknowledge that his great work was done for St. Uny's, Redruth. It was there that he continually laboured to maintain a band and to do this he was constantly teaching, but in addition to this he desired to see progress in method ringing, and some few years ago the Wednesday evening practice at Redruth gave an opportunity to learn and practise more advanced methods. With the help of some who came to live nearby he also developed a very capable local band. It is true to say that his work is established, for the tower has a full complement of ringers.

Percy's ringing came the right way—out of his churchmanship. For many years he had been a churchwarden and it will never be known what he did in a practical and silent way for St. Uny's. He loved ceremonial and gave the great example of regular worship.

Our most sincere sympathy is expressed to his widow and only son, Vivian. May he rest in peace.

THE FUNERAL

Redruth Parish Church was almost full on May 24th for the funeral service. A Solemn Requiem was said by the Rector, the Rev. J. Ruscoe, who in an appreciation referred to the many talents of Percy Williams. The interment followed when Percy was laid to rest in the churchyard under the window of St. Uny.

The chief mourners were the widow and his only son, Mr. E. Vivian Williams. The Diocesan Guild was represented by the Revs. J. Jose, A. J. Vincent and A. S. Roberts. Messrs. E. H. Langley and W. J. Sanders. Amongst the local band present were Dr. J. G. H. Ince (secretary), Messrs. E. S. Seymour, W. H. Seymour and others. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service.

BOWDON, CHESHIRE.—On May 11th, 1,264 Plain Bob Major: Mrs. E. G. Moore 1, Miss V. R. Humphrys 2, D. Cormell 3, J. Moore 4, D. A. Hogg 5, A. Twyman 6, A. J. Brown (cond.) 7, P. J. Hawcock 8. Rung in memoriam W. Clover, of Wymondham, Norfolk, interred this day.

MR. WILLIAM CLOVER

The news of the sudden death of William Clover was received by his many friends in the Norwich Diocese and the Suffolk Guild with deep regret. He had attended the annual meeting of the Norwich Association, had rung at Hethersett and in Norwich in the afternoon and appeared to be in good health, but passed away just before midnight at his home at Wymondham on his 73rd birthday.

We have lost one of our leading ringers, but, more than this, one of the most delightful men one could wish to meet. Quiet and unassuming in manner, but forceful when necessary, William Clover was beloved by all. Always willing to help in any way he could, his active support of the Association spanned over 50 years.

He took part in over 500 peals on all numbers and in a large variety of methods. He was a "safe" ringer and excellent striker, and while often content to leave the calling to others, he had nevertheless conducted many peals. For his services to the Association he was elected a vice-president. On the day before his death he was up in the majestic tower of Wymondham Abbey following the progress of the restoration work there and the massive concrete floor of the new bell chamber, ready to receive the recast and augmented ring of ten. He was, of course, looking forward to this event which would mark so splendidly his 32 years' captaincy in the tower.

William Clover joined the Norwich Association in 1910 as a member of the Thornham Magna (Suffolk) band, which was at that time one of the finest Minor bands in the country. The next year, on January 25th, he rang the treble to his first peal, one in three methods. This was followed at short intervals by others. His fifth, on December 9th, was "inside" to a peal in seven Treble Bob methods. In 1912 his 16 peals included Kent T.B. Major at Eye, Double Norwich at Diss, a 5,040 in 14 Treble Bob methods—these were in 360's—and a 10,080 in 14 Treble Bob methods at Thornham on Boxing Day. This was the longest peal of Minor rung for the Association and has not been surpassed in length on six bells by its members.

Returning to Thornham after the first world war, during which he had been "on active service," William Clover took up ringing again with his accustomed enthusiasm. Then, in 1924, he moved to Wymondham, where on December 27th, 1930, he married Miss Hartie R. Elvin, who, with his son and daughter, survive him and to whom we offer our profound sympathy.

The funeral took place at the Abbey Church, Wymondham, on May 11th, when in the large congregation, in addition to members of the local band, were ringers from Bunwell, Buxton Costessey, Hapton, Loddon, Lowestoft, New Buckenham, Norton Subcourse, Norwich and Saxlingham Nethergate. These included the Association president, secretary and Ringing Master and Mr. Ben S. Thompson, who took part in a peal with the deceased 55 years ago. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. G. Tansley-Thomas, who was assisted by the Rev. P. L. Johnson. In his address, the Vicar referred to the sterling character and devoted service of Mr. Clover and said that it had been decided to include his name in the inscription on the new treble bell. The address was followed by a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells. Cremation followed at Horsham St. Faith. Peal tributes have been rung at King's Lynn, Mulbarton and Hethersett. N. G.

RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD
Annual General Meeting

THE eleventh annual general meeting of the Guild was held at Reading on April 29th, when there was a very good attendance.

The programme, which included ringing at St. Laurence's (12), St. Mary's (8) and St. Giles' (8), was satisfactory and really sufficient for the time allowed.

The Regions represented were London Midland, North Eastern, Eastern, Southern and Western. Lunch and tea were enjoyed at the Co-operative Restaurant, in the town centre.

On the eve of the meeting a peal of Plain Bob Royal was rung on handbells at the George Hotel.

The Master opened the business and apologies were read from 24 members, also from Mr. S. G. Martin, secretary, Joint Committee, B.R.S.A.

The alteration to Rule 5, to read "the Master to hold office for three years," was not accepted: Mr. Foskett's proposal, that the rule as set out in the constitution be left as written, was carried.

Mr F. Hodgson was re-elected as Master for another term of office; the other officers were also re-elected.

The Guild had applied for affiliation to the Central Council, and in view of this Mr. E. Franklin was elected as the Guild's representative.

The 1968 annual general meeting will be held at Liverpool, and the autumn meeting at Beverley, East Yorkshire. J. A. H.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION
Chew Deanery Striking Competition

The fifth annual striking competition was held at Clapton-in-Gordano on May 20th. Mr. W. B. Kynaston, from Swindon, assisted by Mr. W. Trueman, judged the ringing of eight teams from the church vestry.

It being the day of the annual church fete, the ringers were able to take tea in the village school and thus contribute towards the final total made during the afternoon for church funds.

The main point Mr Kynaston made was that in some cases the striking suffered by people tending to ring as individuals rather than as a team. The final results were: 1 Wrington (9 faults), 2 Wraxall (11½), 3 Backwell B (12½), 4 Yatton (14), 5 Kingston Seymour (15½), 6th (equal) Portbury and Backwell A (18½), 8 Nailsea (25½).

Portishead and Clapton bells were available for general ringing during the evening.

MR. WILLIAM CLOVER
AN APPRECIATION

William Clover was an enthusiastic member of the famous Thornham band who in the early 1900's, before the first world war, helped to set new standards in multi-method peal ringing, culminating in a peal of 10,080 changes in 14 Treble Bob methods in 1912.

After the war, "Billy" married and moved to Wymondham, where he worked as a cabinet maker. He became a regular member of Wymondham Abbey band and an active peal ringing member of the Norwich Diocesan Association whilst retaining his close connection with the Suffolk Guild. He will be long remembered and revered by his many friends, not merely as a very competent ringer and conductor but for his most unassuming, modest and lovable personality.

After an in memorial peal at Thornham on May 23rd the ringers were hospitably entertained by Mr Fred Clover and Miss Abey in the bungalow by the church, where William also spent his boyhood days. L. E. B.

WINDFALLS HELP TOLLESBURY TO HAVE A FINE OCTAVE

For ten or eleven years the ringers of St. Mary's, Tollesbury, Essex, have been working towards augmenting their ring of six bells to completed the octave. Eventually it was possible to go ahead with the order, and Mr F. Collins, of C.C. Towers and Belfries Committee, visited the tower and made practical suggestions. Estimates were sought and it was decided to go ahead with Mr. Collins' plan.

Then came a windfall, when more than enough money came from a former patron. New ideas materialised and it was decided to rehang the "ancient six" in a new steel frame and so this meant more money-raising. Sadness came, and from this our Vicar's mother decided to donate a bell in memory of her late husband. The former patron sent more money to place a bell in memory of three former Vicars of Tollesbury and now all at rest in the churchyard.

Brains ticked over more quickly and thus it was that a frame to house ten bells and the rehanging of the ancient six after being tuned and fitted with new fittings, together with two added trebles, was ordered from the White chapel Foundry (a condition of the donors).

"TWO BABIES"

January this year saw the departure of Tollesbury bells. How they were missed! The bells were returned in April with the two "babies," and the churchyard seemed full of R. S. J.'s and frames, the fittings being taken into the church.

During the wait, the ringers had lowered the old frame, cut the necessary pocket holes into the tower walls and bedded pad stones in readiness for the return of the bells from the foundry. And now all were back, the R. S. J.'s were hoisted into the bell chamber. The ringers bricked them in and grouted as necessary.

Fate struck! Mr. William Theobold was taken ill and had to be taken to Chelmsford Isolation Hospital. Mr. David Wright worked like a Trojan, and the bells were ready to be tried out for a wedding on April 22nd. Ringers from neighbouring towers were invited, and as a bride and bridegroom left the church the eight bells were heard for the first time.

THE BIG DAY

The big day was arranged for May 20th, and Canon Gilbert Thurlow accepted the invitation to perform the ceremony. The church was packed with ringers from over 20 towers, including Mr. F. Collins, Mr. R. Heazel (Master of the Essex Association), Mr. Hudson (District Master) and Miss Whitlock, of Wisbech. The tower captain, Mr. R. W. Leavett, welcomed the ringers and congregation to the church on behalf of the local band and gave out the arrangements for ringing after the service.

The service went extremely well, the lesson being read by Mr. Heazel. Those in procession on arriving at the tower took their appointed places. Mr. T. Frost, the senior ringer at Tollesbury, requested the Canon to rededicate the ancient ring of six and to dedicate the new frame. Miss Coltart asked that the new treble be dedicated in memory of John Battersby, priest, William Carter, priest, and John Carter, priest. Mr. Thornton asked that the new second bell be dedicated to the memory of John Thornton. The dedicatory rounds were rung by: R. W. Leavett, Miss W. Elliott (Kelvedon), Mr T. Frost, Mr. Appleton (who had rung for the previous dedication 63 years previous and who is still a ringer at Goldshanger), Miss M. Whitlock (Wisbech), Mr. R. Griggs, Mr. W. Theobold and Mr A Palmer.

The sermon, based on the inscription on the second bell, "I will always give praise unto the Lord," was worthy of the occasion.

During tea in the nearby Parish Room the opening quarter was rung, Canon Thurlow ringing the new treble (see quarter peal report). Ringing continued until all were satisfied. Beer was provided from the ringers' jug. Once again the Whitechapel Foundry have produced an excellent splice. R. W. L.

STUART ARMESON
The Yorkshire Association

Once again a contribution to this series comes from the Yorkshire Association. Twenty-year-old Stuart Armeson was educated at Kimberworth Secondary Modern School and is now working as a turner at the firm of Messrs. Steel Peech and Tozer Ltd. Stuart lives at Rotherham and was taught to ring by Mr. Norman Chaddock at All Saints', Rotherham.

Most of his ringing is done in company with David Nichols and Neil Donovan, all three having learned to ring at the same time. At the present time he is Assistant Ringing Master of the Rotherham Parish Church ringers and of the Sheffield and District Society His first peal was on the treble at Rotherham to Cambridge Surprise Major, conducted by Norman Chaddock. His first as conductor was Plain Bob Royal, also rung at Rotherham.

Stuart's present total of 135 peals includes peals of Londinium, Yorkshire and Cambridge Maximus, Stedman Cinques and Spliced Surprise Royal, also A. J. Pitman's all the work peals of 4, 5, 6 and 9 Spliced Surprise Major methods, all rung non-conducted; on each occasion he rang the seventh. His total of 33 peals as conductor ranges from Doubles to Maximus and includes London and Bristol Surprise Major, London and Yorkshire Surprise Royal, Plain Bob Maximus and Grandsire Caters. His first of Bristol as conductor included four of the band ringing their first of the method on an inside bell. His first Spliced Surprise as conductor was A. J. Pitman's all the work in nine methods.

It is interesting to note that at the age of 18 this enthusiastic youngster turned in Rotherham tenor (34 cwt.) to Little Bob Royal, and a year later Sheffield Cathedral tenor (40 cwt.) to Cambridge Surprise Royal. His favourite methods are Bristol Surprise Major, Grandsire Caters and London Surprise Royal.

Stuart is very grateful to many Yorkshire ringers for the help they have given him, especially Norman Chaddock and John J. L. Gilbert. Apart from ringing he has other hobbies, including cricket, and is opening batsman for Steel Peech and Tozer in the Yorkshire Cricket League. A brilliant record, Stuart, and a shining example to all youngsters in the Exercise.

NORVING.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Just as we all expected, the Vicar, the Caerleon ringers, their wives and friends all worked very hard to give some 50 ringers a warm welcome to their tower and ancient Roman city on May 13th.

The eight bells were well used, especially in rounds by a group of six little ringers from Chepstow who, after sampling their first "new" tower, visited the museum and Roman amphitheatre. Proudly they announced they were bellringers and were consequently allowed in free! Their only misdemeanour of the day was to arrive at service time sucking "iced-lollies"—the sticks of which had to be smuggled into the bag with the minute book!

An enjoyable service followed, everyone sang up well and Mr. David Pike read the lesson. "A jolly decent sermon," commented that little connoisseur, Keith Bridge, aged ten!

After a wonderful tea in the new Secondary School Hall the members stood in silence in memory of Mr. J. Hall, so tragically killed in the belfry at Uphill, Weston.

New members elected were Ken Harris (Caerleon), Isobel Ford and Ian Donald (Monmouth) and Keith Bridge and Barry England (Chepstow).

Next meeting: Llangibby, with Penhow as an alternative. J. K.

HORSLEY CUP CONTEST

District heats for the Horsley Cup Contest of the Derby Diocesan Association have been completed and the following have qualified for the final on June 10th at Horsley:—

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

North Eastern District

The pleasant village of Tendring was selected for the District striking competition on May 13th. With the able guidance of Mr. Bob Leavett as M.C., five teams rang their 240 changes in an hour and a quarter. It was a sweltering hot day and the judges sat by a lily-pool in the lovely grounds of the Church House (adjoining the churchyard).

A service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. L. E. P. Griffiths, and a very welcome tea was provided by Mrs. Lufkin and helpers.

After tea the judges, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Syder and Mr. Walter Arnold, gave their report. Mr. Syder said that the standard of striking was very good all round, and that of the winning team was really excellent. Results were: St. Leonard's-at-the-Hythe, Colchester (32 faults), Kirkby-le-Soken (64) Thorington (96) (these three teams rang Minor), All Saints', Shrub End, Colchester (140) and Great Holland (167) (these rang Doubles).

So the first two teams go to Roydon on July 1st for the finals. F. H. E.

FALSE PEAL OF STEDMAN CINQUES

Dear Sir,—I find I called the 5,007 Stedman Cinques (D. E. Parsons' No. 5), which the composer found false in May 12th "Ringing World." I withdraw the peal number 4,398 rung at Lincoln Cathedral on October 31st, 1964, and published in the 1964 Lincoln Diocesan Guild Report. My apologies to all who took part.—Yours sincerely,

JACK L. MILLHOUSE.

CLAPPER PROBLEM AT GREAT ST. MARY'S, CAMBRIDGE

DURING 1965–66 there was a series of tenor clapper breakages at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge. The first of these was repaired at the foundry and subsequent mishaps were welded locally. An attempt to strengthen the stem by welding webs down the side failed as the clapper first broke above the ball, then the webs vibrated off and the clapper again broke along the stem.

After the last misfortune both bell foundries were consulted as to whether they could make a new clapper that would be less likely to break. Both replied that they could make us a new clapper but could not guarantee that it would last any longer than our previous one. The steeplekeeper then consulted the British Welding Research Association, who, after an inspection of the old clapper, produsced a new one milled from mild steel bar The stem is round in section with the ball welded on after completion of the stem. The bush is held in place at the top of the stem by an inverted wrought iron U strap.

British Welding Research Association carried out tests, after installation, on the bell and clapper The report of this states in conclusion that: "The results show that the range of stress in the bell is quite small; the variation of mean stress, although not of any significant magnitude, is of interest. Some of the variations may be due to the vibrations induced from the adjacent bells and it is possible that the action of individual ringers may have some effect. The unexpected behaviour of the clapper is of interest as the major stress was always tensile regardless of the side which struck the bell."

Some time after the installation of the clapper it was noticed that it had a slight tendency to bounce. At the suggestion of Mr. J. Gipson, of Meldreth, a pair of mini exhaust mountings (Part No. 88G345) were fitted to the stem of the clapper. The rubber buffer holds the clapper ball clear of the bell when the bell is at rest. This has cured the trouble and increased the resonance time of the bell.

Since the new clapper has been installed the bush has been replaced due to the old one cracking and the U strap has broken due to a securing bolt dropping out, which was not discovered until a routine inspection. The clapper has now given 17 months' service.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The meeting at Dore held on May 6th was a great success! Heavy rain in the morning threatened the attendance but the sunshine soon altered this.

The eight bells were rung to a wide range of methods, and the afternoon ringing was followed by an excellent tea. The business meeting was short and was followed by handbell ringing. In his vote of thanks Mr. N. Chaddock spoke of the work which the Rev. R. G. Heawood had done during his period at Dore in getting the bells at Dore running again.

A warm welcome was extended to Elizabeth Chapman (née Bates) and Dennis Chapman, of Bristol. who joined the ringers in the evening.

The cup contest will not be held in June, but in November at Handsworth. A. K.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Four teams entered for the Bingham District round of the Crawford Cup Contest at Granby, Notts, on May 6th. Mr. H. Poyner was the judge with Master Paul Mousey as marker. Placings were: Whatton (55 faults), Holme Pierrepont (71). Radcliffe-on-Trent (73), and Gedling (94). The ringing was fair.

Two new members—Mr. F. Barber (Cotgrave) and Miss A. Woodman (Holme Pierrepont)— were elected at the Bingham District meeting at Holme Pierrepont on May 13th. It was a good but not overcrowded meeting. The Rector (Canon R. P. Tinsley) conducted the service.

Next meeting: Hickling, June 10th. R. B.

STEDMAN ROUND AT HANDSTROKE

Dear Sir,—I was most interested to read "Old Ventures" in the issue of May 12th. Mr. Edgar Shepherd has indeed touched upon a most interesting subject, as bringing Stedman Triples round at handstroke is most refreshing.

It would appear, however, that the touches which Mr. Shepherd mentions, while being very simple and musical, do not contain all that they might do. For those who wish to venture a little further, I would suggest the following touch. Readers will see that it contains the three musical rows (i.e. Tittums in the six marked "a," Whittingtons in the six marked "b," and Queens in the six marked "c."

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Hervey Bagot has left Melbourne to take up an appointment at Canberra Grammar School.

By kind invitation of Mr. F. J. Cullum, a Past Master of the Cumberlands, a peal ot Bristol was rung at St. John's, Erith, by the College Youths on May 19th.

Thatcham won the Oxford Guild Striking Competition at Launton on April 29th with 15 faults. Other finalists were Hughenden (16½), East Hagbourne (35) and Hurst (35).

During the Annual Festival of the Australian and New Zealand Ringing Association at Ballarat/Bendigo a peal board will be dedicated at St. Paul's, Bendigo, commemorating the peal rung by the English ringers.

Mr. Harold Chant has been re-elected Ringing Master of the Southern District of the Yorkshire Association for a further term of three years. If he completes this he will have done 30 years' service in this office.

Arranged by Alan Buswell, captain of Portsmouth Cathedral band, the young band at Catherington, Hants, had their first outing on May 6th. The only eight-bell tower on the trip was at New Alresford, and it was the "first on eight" for most of the party. Other towers visited were Buriton, Steep, Sparsholt and Owslebury.

Advertising a free tea, Mr. Robert W. Sherriff, District secretary, Warwick Archdeaconry, had instead of the usual dozen replies no fewer than 51 names for the meeting at Napton-on-the-Hill. Actually, 61 members were seated and fed.

Dr. Geoffrey Davies, of Watertown, Mass, U.S.A., has undertaken research into the poems of Idris Davies, a native of Rhymney. Among the adjectives he applies to bells mentioned are Rhymney sad, Merthyr brown, Rhondda black, Blaenavon grim, Cardiff green, Wye silver, Neath loud, Swansea moist.

Following the wedding of a well-known local couple, ringers of St. Mary's, Fordingbridge, accompanied by friends from Ringwood, Martin and Damerham had a half-day's outing into Dorset. There was plenty of fun and ringing took place at Childe Okeford, Stourpaine and Corfe Mullen.

With the object of giving members from the south of the Branch an opportunity of meeting members from distant northern towers, the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association held a meeting at Willersey on May 16th. This object was achieved, but the most pleasant surprise was meeting ringers from Willersey itself, who were keen to learn more of the Exercise.

ST. AUSTELL BELLS OVERHAULED

The eight bells at St. Austell, Cornwall, which have not been touched for 65 years, have been rehung and overhauled by E. C. L. P and Co., who, through their managing director Mr Alan Dalton, offered to undertake the work and save the Parish Church £700 on the original estimate.

The fifth bell had been faulty for years and the engineers found that the bolts holding the bell to headstock and the clapper bolts were bent and twisted. Tests were made for metal fatigue and it was found that one of the clappers was cracked The old bearing blocks have been discarded and modern ball bearing races put in

The work on the bells started just after Easter and they were ringing again on May 14th and, according to "The Cornish Guardian," St. Austell ringers regard their bells now as one of the finest rings in the country.

ST. DAVID'S GUILD STRIKING CONTEST

The annual striking competition of the St. David's Guild was held at St. Elli's, Llanelly, on May 13th Six teams competed, two from Llanelly and one each from Cardigan, Pembroke, St. Florence and Tenby.

After an excellent tea, provided by the ladies of the parish, Mr. F. Sharpe gave his adiudication. Results: 1 Tenby (14 faults), 2 Llanelly "B" (18), 3 Pembroke (24). The bands from Cardigan. Pembroke and St Florence were composed entirely of Sunday service ringers, whilst each of the remainder had the help of a visitor. The test piece was 40 rounds — stand — 120 changes — stand — 40 rounds — stand.

Mr. Sharpe regretted that the Launton handbell ringers, who normally accompany him on these occasions, had other commitments. They sent their best wishes to all present.

HUNTS DISTRICT STRIKING COMPETITION

The judges, Messrs. J H Bluff and H. C Foster, reported an improvement in ringing at the annual striking competition of the Huntingdon District at Somersham. Results: 1 Brampton (63 faults), 2 St. Neots (82), 3 Huntingdon All Saints' (117), 4 Whittlesey 5 Huntingdon St. Mary's. Woodston failed to complete the course. It was a pleasure to see so many youngsters competing. In the Whittlesey band there were four young ladies who gave a very good account of themselves. Those present were the guests at tea of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ransome.

WANTS DUCK POND REMEDY

When the St. Albans District met at South Mimms on May 20th, Mr. Geoff Dodds, as one of the Central Council's representatives, asked for the District's opinions on the motions before the Council. The matter of half-lead splicing caused much discussion and there were one or two comments on ways to reduce false information in "The Ringing World." Mr Walter Ayre would like to deal with offenders personally—the duck pond still being the best remedy in his opinion!

The South Mimms ringers donated half the collection for tea to the Voluntary Bell Fund, and once again a raffle was held; a box of chocolates was the prize, and the money went to the "possible Central Council visit" fund.

The secretary, Mr. Keith Walpole, announced that he had still spare copies of the "Notes on Conducting for Beginners."

Next District meeting: Radlett, June 17th.

COLLEGE YOUTHS MEET IN NORTHAMPTON

On "Cup Final Day," May 20th, the Ancient Society of College Youths held their "country" meeting at Northampton. They set off by car from London to meet first at Daventry for an hour's ringing on the ten bells. The standard of the ringing here, which ranged from Stedman Caters to London Royal, set the tone for the rest of the day.

Lunch was had at the Wedgwood Restaurant, Northampton, a company of 40, including wives and friends, sat down to this meal. It was an informal gathering, the formal proceedings taking place after lunch in St. Giles' Church Rooms, where the Master, Mr. A. J. Frost, wearing his badge of office and supported by other officers of the Society, presided over a business meeting at which over 50 members were present, chiefly from London and Birmingham.

The Master began by welcoming to the meeting those members who do not often have the chance to attend London meetings, especially Mr. Smallwood, one of the trustees, and Mr. J. H. Bluff, the Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. Several apologies for absence were read including one from the Rev E. Orland, Rector of Gayton.

The main item of business was the election of new members. In this connection Mr Smallwood explained that the large number of members who had joined the Society in recent years from the area around Darley Dale was not due to any canvassing on his part; he just went around "talent spotting" and encouraged likely ringers to ask him how to go about becoming members.

At the end of the meeting the Master expressed the thanks of all members present to Mr. Patrick Chapman, who had been responsible for arranging the towers, the lunch and the place for the business meeting. Mr. Chapman, in reply, said it was a privilege to welcome the Society to Northampton and to the Peterborough Diocese, in which area the Society has about 30 members. He welcomed especially the Master, Mr. A. J. Frost, who had been initiated by him into the art of ringing.

Ringing followed at St. Peter's and St Giles' before leaving for Kettering, where the ten bells are housed in a steeple of fine proportions. Ringing finished here at seven o'clock, and the very enjoyable day concluded with a social hour in a nearby hotel, where members celebrated the predictable fact that a London team had won the Cup Final.

"A MINCHINTON SURPRISE"

From the May issue of "Ringing Towers" we read of a farewell supper and social at 24, Central Park Road, Melbourne, to Mr and Mrs Minchinton before their journey overseas to England on April 8th. During the evening Graeme Heyes presented on behalf of the Melbourne ringers a beautiful gold and opal brooch to Mrs. Minchinton and a gold and opal tiepin to Mr. Minchinton, saying that these were truly Australian souvenirs that they could take with them on their overseas holiday.

In thanking everyone, Mr. Minchinton recalled various evenings that had made history at Central Park Road, including the famous occasion during Great Adventure II.

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPT

Tewkesbury, Glos, Saturday, June 10th. 3 p.m., Cambridge Surprise Maximus; St. Martin's Guild.

BIGGLESWADE DISTRICT OUTING

Warwickshire. with its historic castles, wooded hills and undulating pastures, was the charming scene for this year's annual outing of the Biggleswade and District ringers on May 13th. After early mist the day became warm and, with all nature bursting into life, the countryside looked really beautiful.

The sound of church bells seemed a fitting accompaniment to nature's spring song. and ringing took place on the three splendid sixes at Harbury, Snitterfield and Wootton Wawen, the eights at Southam and St. Nicholas', Warwick, and finally on the fine ten at Stratford-on-Avon. Methods to suit all tastes were rung.

A call for refreshment was made at Banbury and the spot was well chosen, for there is a remarkable fluid, produced locally. which has often proved effective even in the most obstinate cases of that peculiar dryness of the tonsils which often affects ringers, the secret lying in the fact that it contains a moisturising ingredient!

For this excellent day's outing thanks are due to the incumbents of the churches where ringing took place, to the local ringers, who for a brief hour were our charming hosts. and to Philip Rogers for his splendid arrangements.

On this happy day there was only one regret—Mr. L. H. Bywaters, who for many years has organised this trip. was unable to be with us owing to the illness of his wife. We wish her a speedy and complete recovery.

YORK COLLEGE'S WILTSHIRE TOUR

St. John's College Huntington, had an enjoyable tour last Easter in Wiltshire. On one evening good use was made of the county's only 12 at Trowbridge, where standard methods on eight to twelve bells were rung. At Warminster the party was privileged to ring Stedman Triples with Edgar Shepherd. The movement of the beams at Eddington Priory caused alarm to some members. Other memories are the difficult eight at Melksham, Calne's mellow eight and the near perfect quarter peal of Bob Minor at Lyneham. Following this the whole band were invited to lunch by Mrs. Pluckrose, the mother of the previous year's Ringing Master. Lunch and homemade wine brought the tour to a suitable end.

UNIVERSITY OF NEWCASTLE SOCIETY

A quarter peal, the first length ever rung by the University of Newcastle Society, was brought round at St. John's, Newcastle, on May 9th. The University Society, although not strong at the moment, is improving fast, and next year should see the first peal. Any ringers coming to Newcastle University next term will be very welcome—whatever the level of their attainment—and they are urged to make contact at the Freshers' conference or keep a lookout for posters!

FIRST 100 PEALS IN TWO YEARS

Richard Parker's composition of eight-spliced all the work, which was rung at All Hallows', Tottenham, on May 22nd, was chosen for David E. Rothera's 100th peal. He scored his first peal (Plain Bob Major) at the same tower just over two years ago. A month ago, at St. Mary's, Barnes, David called his first peal, the composition being one of four-spliced all the work!

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2930. Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 1967 9d.

ST. PETER'S, NOTTINGHAM

BACKGROUND TO R.W. DEBATE

THE resignations of Dennis Beresford and George Pipe from "The Ringing World" Committee, accompanied by long speeches indicating that they found the atmosphere of the committee intolerable for harmonious working together, gave rise to widespread regret at the Central Council meeting and the feeling that there was something hidden which should be made public.

There is no denying the fact that the committee got off to a bad, one might even say a calamitous, start. Elected on May 31st at Bath, with a widespread feeling of expectation after George Pipe had announced his 20 points for improving the paper (which were undisclosed), it was not until October 8th that the committee held its first meeting at Derby. A month before the date George Pipe admitted to the Editor that his part was completed but he could not get the financial sections. Letters were arriving from a restive public making accusations of indolence. A meeting took place between the Editor and Mr. Beresford on September 19th, when the Editor unreservedly answered his questions and gave his comments on a mock make-up received that day from Mr. Pipe.

On the Thursday before the Saturday meeting the report arrived. It was studied by the Editor, but it must be admitted that not every member of the committee had digested it. There were accusations made by one member against Mr. Pipe and Mr. Beresford that the Bath debate had been specially engineered to create a new committee and in doing so Mr. Hairs lost his seat. George Pipe walked out of the meeting and did not return that day.

A sober committee made progress. It heard Mr. Beresford expound the Pipe plan, it made progress in planning the outline of the Mancroft issue of December 9th, it settled on the lettering of a new title from specimens prepared by George Pipe and accepted Denis Bayles' offer to write some light features and prepare a crossword. Most of the committee felt it would be disastrous at this stage if George Pipe were to leave. Individual appeals were made to him and to his credit he set about collecting suitable pictures for the front page, including that of the Christmas scene at Mancroft.

It must be remembered that apart from the six elected members, "The Ringing World" Committee has two ex-officio members—Mr. Vernon Bottomley and Mr. Douglas Hughes. Mr. Bottomley sent a personal letter to each member asking them to pull together for the good of the paper and when the second meeting took place on January 28th there was a better atmosphere. A policy was decided to produce a certain number of cover issues in relation to the printers' estimates, George Pipe went through his mock make-up and the Editor explained what he had incorporated and what was either impracticable or not advisable.

For example, the Editor adhered to a principle previously adopted that peals should open the second half of the paper to be followed by quarter peals, if possible, and notices. The majority of the committee agreed with this view, but Mr. Pipe thought better treatment would be narrower columns. He wanted a half page advertisement on second page of cover—so far not procurable—and notices on page 3 of cover—not possible because covers are printed earlier than the main paper and the notice columns are the last to close. But the Editor is appreciative of Mr. Pipe's efforts to introduce new contributors.

The birth pangs of the census, the idea of Mr. Beresford, were acute. There were four different drafts and in the end the Editor had to decide taking this and that from four different versions and pleasing no one. It was Mr. Pipe's idea that the census paper should be accompanied by a wonderful issue visualising the future—handbells, call changes, beginners' article, compositions, technical feature and, of course, news and peals and quarter peals. Frankly, it could not be done through two reasons: it would involve a sacrifice of news which, coming at a busy time of the year with many Guild annuals, was unwise, and secondly it was more than one pair of hands could tackle. At first the printers said they could not introduce the census inset and the cover in the same issue. It was left to the Editor to persuade them and secondly he wanted readers to judge what had been accomplished since Christmas with a series of very good issues and not a feature one in which news had been sacrificed.

In a sense the Editor is the nigger in the woodpile of Messrs. Pipe and Beresford, and there was a complaint to the Council about the Editor's prerogative. The Editor's view, and it has been backed up by some of the committee, is that the £10,000 capital accumulated during the 20 odd years of his Editorship should not be dissipated. This does not mean that no capital should be employed in its expansion policy. "The Ringing World" Committee has to plan what can be accomplished by a full time Editor and a half time editorial assistant, mainly employed on postal subscribers and wrappers. These tinted cover issues cost £40 a week extra and if the paper used on the first cover was employed it would be an additional £14. If for every one of these 20 page issues we could get 25 new annual subscribers we should be nearly meeting the cost. We want all those who have on their forms promised to find a new subscriber to get cracking—these new subscribers must be forthcoming. This will be the main channel of our new revenue. We also want somebody to accept responsibility for getting advertisements.

While the cause of resignations was incompatability to work with the committee, both admitted that they could not continue at the pace they were going for "The Ringing World" as they were facing increasing demands on the time of their official positions and were both Masters of important ringing Guilds. For their services and enthusiasm the Editor is truly grateful and their promise of continued help is acknowledged with gratitude.

The Central Council

Messrs. Pipe and Beresford leave "R.W." Committee

Unable to Work with Other Members

Reconsideration Appeals by Council Rejected

Messrs. G. W. Pipe and D. Beresford. the authors of the 13-page document for a brighter and better "Ringing World" and the originators of the census form have resigned from the committee because they were unable to work with other members Their decision was the main feature of the Council meeting.

They complained of the spirit of bitterness and resentment that pervaded at all meetings; the committee's report was classified by them as a second edition of the fairy tales of Hans Andersen; the Editor exercised his prerogative in not publishing an issue as they wanted it.

The convener refused to enter into an acrimonious debate. His report was adopted but with an amendment that at the next meeting a statement be made of the measures taken and plans made to widen the appeal of the journal.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE

THE Council will recall that at the last meeting a lengthy debate took place concerning the paper, its contents, and appeal, and the fact of the moderate but progressive increases in circulation.

Attention of the Council is drawn to the following average weekly circulation figures:–

1965	5,590 copies
1966	5,646 copies

In some quarters the view is held that given a "new look" more readers could possibly be attracted.

Additional members were added to the committee which met on one occasion before the end of 1966. At that meeting many angles were discussed.

Meetings are continuing, new features have been introduced, but it will be appreciated that careful consideration and planning is necessary before the introduction of major changes. Costs continue to rise and future policy must to a considerable extent be determined in the light of income.

At a recent meeting of the committee the result of the census was considered but Council will appreciate that the information derived from the census now requires careful and detailed examination.

Your committee continue to pursue their examination of all aspects of "The Ringing World" always bearing in mind the needs of the Exercise and this Council.

The committee also again wish to place on record their sincere thanks to the Editor, Mr. T W. White, for all his work for the paper. The committee also wish to thank Mr. White's assistant at Guildford and Mr. J. E. Jeater for continuing to deal so competently with the accounting work.

R. S. Anderson (convener).

NOT UNANIMOUS

Mr. R S. Anderson, in moving the adoption of the report, said he would like to say that while it was signed by him, it was a unanimous report of the meeting.

Mr. G. W Pipe: The committee did not agree unanimously to signing that report.

Mr. D. Beresford: The situation regarding this report is that at the last meeting of the committee the report was presented at which there was a very strong protest from George Pipe. Unfortunately the committee decided to accept the report and George Pipe and myself abstained from voting. The reason is there is nothing in it from which to dissent; indeed, there is nothing in it.

"I would like to say that the argument about 'The Ringing World' goes back at least to Northampton, where there was a strong move to get a brighter and better paper and this culminated at Bath, when 'The Ringing World' Committee was given a clear mandate of what to do.

13-PAGE REPORT

"George Pipe and I have had a lot of discussion with ringers all over the country in trying to put forward constructive views We put forward our views in a letter to committee members four weeks after the meeting at Bath for discussion before plans were laid The holidays prevented that meeting and it was decided to have a preliminary meeting in October. To that, George Pipe and I produced a 13-page paper which was a detailed study concerning form, finances, organisation of committee with responsibilities for certain sections, and new ideas, technical news, call changes. It covered a new set-up of scope and format—not rigid, but as varied as possible so that there is something weekly or fortnightly which we think people would expect to find. There have been two meetings at which it was discussed.

"I would like to mention that the reception by the Editor was a stimulating review, very well presented and detailed; by members of the committee as 'this rubbish and containing nothing new.'

VICIOUS ATTACK

"This spirit of bitterness and resentment has pervaded all the meetings. I don't want to wash dirty linen in public but George Pipe and I have had an unpleasant experience There was a vicious attack on the integrity of both of us as a result of the Bath debate This was a gross abuse of privilege in attacking and being allowed by other members present to attack members of a committee elected by this Council."

Mr Beresford also complained of the censureship of letters and particularly of a letter George Pipe wrote, which was refused publication "What George Pipe and I have done is to follow the mandate given by the Council. The Council elected the whole committee, not just George Pipe and myself, but there have been no new ideas from the other members whatever.

"Then we move on to the census, which was a tremendous encouragement to us. We had some very encouraging remarks. We wanted to publish a typical issue as George Pipe had planned. It was the Editor's prerogative to say 'No' In our view, the issue detracted somewhat from its value, but nevertheless it was a very worthwhile result.

800 CONSTRUCTIVE IDEAS

"From the census we have some very valuable views. As to statistical details, we had 1,400 replies, which represents 25 per cent. of the circulation. This is good from any standard and from a technical paper it would be good at 10 per cent. There were 800 different constructive ideas and views. All these are being sifted and the recommendations prepared. I am very grateful for all the help that has been given; these will provide stimulating ideas for a long time.

"George Pipe and I are not so naive as to think we have all the answers or the perfect solution or time These things cannot be done overnight. But with imagination, drive and the will to co-operate these things can be done, but these ingredients must all be present. However, this is not the situation this year, and George and I do not feel able to accept this situation for a further two years. I hope what we have done will bear fruit. I would advise the Council very strongly against any rash action in regard to the committee. Our only ienterest is in the future of 'The Ringing World' and it is essential that nothing should detract from this."

Mr G. W. Pipe said he would like to support Mr Beresford 150 per cent. I would like members to recall that at Bath I was sincerely grateful to the Editor and the committee for what they had done in the past. As Dennis Beresford had said, the Council had expressed a wish that "The Ringing World" needed a fresh look and that there was a lot of dissatisfaction.

NEEDED A FACE-LIFT

One of the mistakes he made at Bath was that he did not make clear to the Council what his 20 ideas were. He only mentioned them very briefly, as this was the most important aspect of the Council. It was the only paper of its kind and the only means of communication, and it needed a face-lift and a cover Even "The Times" needed a face-lift and when it had one it increased its circulation by 70,000. But he was told that it not only needed a face-lift but 24-page issues—and they could fill them.

Mr Pipe said he wanted to thank those people who had contributed by writing articles. They recommended an increase in advertisements and a half-page for call change ringers, with a special appeal to those in the West Country. He also wanted a column for handbell ringers and he had a letter from America offering an article monthly and guaranteeing a circulation of 100 copies extra. He also suggested a technical page.

"THIS LOT OF RUBBISH"

This report was described by a member of the committee as "this daub, this lot of rubbish." That took 100 hours of our time and not the design of the cover. Then there was a letter from Ronald H. Dove, accusing us of fooling the Exercise. "I am inclined to agree with him; the Exercise was fooled, but not by me. Our aim was to have a better looking paper. You members of the Council have not seen what we can do. We wanted a really special issue, but it was not produced."

As to the convener's report, "this was a second edition of the fairy tales by Hans Andersen" He enjoyed doing the work and working with Mr. Beresford. He wanted to do everything in his power to improve and help "The Ringing World," but not as a member of the committee.

Mr. J. Hartless (Winchester and Portsmouth): Can we know what other members of the committee think about this apparently misleading document?

Mr W. G. Wilson said the report of the committee was for 1966; most of what they heard was for 1967.

Mrs Staniforth thought the report should cover 12 months. The census mentioned in the report was not done until 1967. Some things have been vetted which should have been printed.

Mr. R. Diserens: May I propose that we adopt the report but ask the two dissentients to present a minority report to be presented at the next meeting? He felt that their work should go on record.

The President: Mr. Beresford and Mr. Pipe had had an opportunity to present a minority report and that is just what they have done.

Mr. Philip Gray (Australian and New Zealand Association) said he thought the feeling at Bath was to ask the committee to have a jolly good look at "The Ringing World" and see what could be done to improve it. At one stage in the debate it was proposed that they should have a separate committee to do just that. That was not approved because it was rightly felt that it should be done by one body—the committee. "We come to Nottingham and we are where we started; we still have not had a report from those who form the committee as to what can be done."

COMMITTEE ASKED TO REPORT

Mr. Gray continued that he would like to suggest that the Council consider an amendment:

"Whilst accepting the report presented, this Council request "The Ringing World" Committee specifically to include in its report to the 1968 Council meeting a statement on the measures it had taken and the plans it has made for widening the appeal of "The Ringing World" to all sections of the ringing community."

The Rev J. G. M. Scott seconded Mr. Gray's amendment. He said it was quite clear in electing the committee, which they did, they were asking for some ideas to be put forward for improving "The Ringing World." This seemed to be regarded as criticism and offended some members of the committee, who took the presence of the two new members as an insult to themselves. If this was so it was a terrible pity. He hoped that their ideas would be put on paper.

SMOTHER SOMETHING

Mr. Bernard Ashford (Worcestershire and Districts Association): It seems that there is some attempt to smother something. In the old days what we have heard today would be sufficient to set the room on fire.

Mr. John Seager (Yorkshire Association): Messrs. Beresford and Pipe have gone to a lot of trouble to put forward ideas. I propose that they prepare a minority report.

Mr. W. J. Wilson: People who have resigned cannot be asked to present a minority report when they are no longer members of the committee.

Mr A. V. David (Winchester and Portsmouth) asked if the Council accepted the resignations. "Do get together, chaps; you were elected for three years. I ask the old brigade to listen to the younger. I ask you for the sake of 'The Ringing World' to withdraw your resignations so that next year we shall have not two reports but one report from a committee that has got down to it."

Mr. N. Chaddock (Sheffield and District Society) then came to the platform and recited the ringers' prayer.

Mr. J. R. Anderson said he told the Standing Committee the previous evening that he would not indulge in an acrimonious debate. The committee was elected at the wish of the Council for three years and the two members were accepted. He would like to say in self-defence it took from the Bath meeting until late October to fix the committee meeting.

The firs committee meeting was not entirely harmonious, nevertheless there was work done despite the absence of one member. The second meeting was in January and the main topic was the census. The census, as they had been told, had been successful as regard replies—25 per cent.

At the last meeting of the committee the report was adopted and it dealt with affairs until December 31st, as was the custom of the Council. A brief résumé of the census was given to the committee by Mr. Beresford and as to what they were going to say they would have to wait until they got the final result.

MUST CONSOLIDATE

One cannot alter the face of any publication overnight. They had worked for some years to make it progressive but they must consolidate as they went. They would see from the report that there had been an increase of 56 copies during 1966, but at least they were regular subscribers. Most of the progressive work had been done in 1957.

"I have been accused previously of submitting long reports and making it a meeting of shareholders. I tried to avoid that this time."

Mr. Gray's amendment was then read out to the committee and Canon Felstead asked if they could expect the withdrawals of the two resignations before they voted.

Mr. G. W. Pipe: All I will do is to repeat the last half of the comment I made just now. I am prepared to work just as hard in the interest of "The Ringing World" and the Exercise. I will continue to collate articles and information and pass them on to the Editor, but I am not prepared in any way to reconsider my resignation.

Mr. Beresford: I will only repeat the last sentence of my resignation. I do not see any change in the attitude of the committee and I wish to tender my resignation.

The Council then voted on Mr. Gray's amendment, which was carried, only 12 voting against.

Mr. E. A. Barnett: Surely we have accepted the report by passing the amendment.

The report with Mr. Gray's amendment was then put to the meeting and carried by 85 votes to 25.

Mr. W. Butler asked how many letters were withheld from publication and for what reason.

The Editor replied that in a normal week three or four letters were not published. During the time before the committee met he received instructions from the convener that letters on the subject should not be published.

NEWS BEFORE FEATURES

It must be remembered that in whatever was planned the Editor's decision was final and what appeared was governed by circumstances during the week. News was the vital thing and it had to have priority over features. For example, there might be a page of deaths or an extra page of peals and the consequence would be that one of the features Mr. Pipe wanted would have to be held over. Where possible, suggestions made by Mr Pipe and Mr. Beresford had been fitted in. "The Ringing World" today was very different from what it was at Bath. The circulation was rising and some weeks exceeded 5,800.

Mr. P. A. Corby (Kent County Association) stated that he was one of Mr. White's supporters, but his remarks were not entirely a full representation of the events of last year. Letters were published on arguments going on to improve the paper. Replies should also be published. He wrote a letter not provocative, asking that letters against should also be published. The Editor told him that the letter had been sent to the convener. He could only conclude that letters were sent and not published.

Mr J. Seager: Next year we ought to know what was done so that we can get both sides before us.

The President: It has been suggested to me that you raise this under "any other business."

Mr. N. Harding (Norwich Diocesan Association): We are surely dealing with a serious matter and we are not dealing with it in a proper way. We have not heard in detail from other members of the committee. This Council has a right to know why Beresford and Pipe are not agreeing.

Mr. J. M. Jelley (Leicester Diocesan Guild) asked that the papers of Messrs. Beresford and Pipe be published in "The Ringing World" so that all could study them.

Mr. F. E. Dukes (Irish Association): Last year we agreed to have six members on "The Ringing World" Committee. We have now two vacancies.

Mr. J. S. Mason: Having disposed of the report I move that we pass to 8 (c). (The next committee report.)

Mr. E. Hodson (Yorkshire Association) asked if it was the responsibility of the Council or the committee to fill vacancies.

Mr. R. S. Anderson: If the Council has any confidence with the remainder of the committee we are prepared to continue and do our best if the Council will give us permission to co-opt. (Cries of "No, no.")

Mr. Anderson: If the Council has no confidence we had better resign en bloc

Mr. J. Barrett (Salisbury Guild) asked who accepted the resignations.

The president replied that if a member resigned they could not compel him to remain. Perhaps it would not be in the best interest to fill vacancies just because they became vacant.

There was a return to "Ringing World" affairs under "any other business" to consider Mr. John Seager's proposal that Messrs. Beresford and Pipe prepare a minority report.

Mr. Diserens said they would then have two reports side by side with "The Ringing World" report for the next meeting.

FRIGHTFUL CHAOS

Mr. Philip Gray: I am dead against it. The committee have to advise us how it is to be run. It is not for us. If we have two reports we shall be in a frightful chaos.

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd: There is nothing to prevent anyone putting forward views provided they could get them printed in "The Ringing World."

Mr. C. K. Lewis supported Mr. Gray's view. Messrs. Pipe and Beresford could circulate views as private members at their own expense.

Mr. J. M. Jelley said they could not be expected to vote intelligently on something they knew little about. It should be published in 'The Ringing World."

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott: This information was handed to "The Ringing World" Committee, therefore in the possession of the committee. All we are asking is to put it in our own possession.

Dr. E. V. Woodcock (North Wales): Have we no Standing Orders about the filling o vacancies? If not, the Standing Committee should consider some procedure.

Mr. F. Sharpe: There is a vast difference in filling vacancies by death and by resignation.

Dr. Woodcock: There should be some procedure either by permission to co-opt or some other way.

A FINAL APPEAL

Mr. F. E. Perrens: I still feel the simplest and most acceptable way is for the two members to reconsider their decision.

Mr. A D. Barker (London County Association) supported Mr Perrens.

Mr. G. R. Pipe: Both Dennis Beresford and I appreciate the point about working outside the committee. We did not ask to be elected but it was the Council's wish. We tried very hard to work inside. We had three meetings and an intense bitterness prevailed. Here is the 13-page document. We are in the process of analysing the results of the census, and we shall make it available. We have thought about it; it is not a rash decision, but we cannot work within the committee

The President: I think we ought to offer our warmest possible thanks to the committee and also our warmest possible thanks to Mr. Pipe and Mr. Beresford for what they have done.

The motion of Mr. Seager's was then defeated.

Footnote.—The Editor feels that there was a misapprehension over his answer to the question on letters not published. While in a normal week there might be three or four, very many letters were held over on two subjects—the contemplated report and the cover design. Some weeks we could have filled our reading space with letters to the exclusion of ordinary news. Letters must be kept brief. There are still another four pages of the Nottingham meeting to come so other news and letters will have to be abbreviated.

We learn that the learners' practice at Buxted on May 20th was very successful, with an attendance of about 40—about double the usual number at Southern Division, Sussex Association, practice meetings.

False Information Strongly Condemned

THERE was a sympathetic Council when Mr. W. G. Wilson submitted the first motion:

"That this Council deprecates most strongly the deliberate submission of false information for publication in 'The Ringing World,' and asks all Associations and individual ringers to do all they can to stop this practice before serious harm is caused to the Exercise and its journal."

Mr. Wilson started on a personal note recalling that it was 30 years ago that he made his first speech to the Council; he was very nervous indeed. He imagined that everybody in the room would agree with the terms of this motion and believed it was the Council's duty to give a lead in things which should be done and should be very firm in things which should not be done.

The whole of the Exercise was based on truth—in their records and performances and what they put in about them. It was up to them there and their leaders in their Associations to see that a code of truth was maintained. This irresponsible attitude which had grown up would undermine much they stood for.

Giving incidents, Mr. Wilson mentioned the peal at Great Milton, when the names of three well-known ringers and five Rolling Stones were submitted. Some of those names had lately appeared in police court proceedings.

Last autumn there was the Eleanor Spriggs affair and the name of a member of his Association (London County) was linked with it. The story was actually in print when a chance telephone call to the Editor about half an hour before going to press enabled the report and other things to be cut out. They considered libel action but decided for the good of the Exercise not to proceed. The two people concerned offered to put an apology in "The Ringing World." Unfortunately "The Ringing World" Committee decided against giving them extra publicity, and regarded it as a childish prank, and that if they did not give publicity hoaxes would cease.

"I will not give you any names," continuned Mr. Wilson. "I was criticised when I sent this motion in because 'The Ringing World' Committee had decided not to print the apology. This action cannot be regarded as a childish prank as the persons concerned were not children, but were receiving higher education at our expense."

Within a few weeks there was a peal rung in Norfolk composed by a non-existent person. Inquiries by the Peals Analysis convener showed that it was a true peal but the composer's name was not. The same man's name appeared in the visitors book of the Society concerned with this motion.

Since then there had been further hoaxes. There was one at Much Hadham and there was a handbell peal in which the names of characters from a publication called "Private Eye" appeared. The Editor got a letter suggesting he ought to have recognised the names. When he was young he had neither the time nor the money for "Private Eye," and now certainly no inclination. Another letter received stated: "What appals me is that our paper should have been linked with such a blatant, anti-Christian and lewd publication."

Other hoaxes had been picked up by the Editor. They were also using the names of well-known ringers. A man could get into serious trouble when it was alleged that he was somewhere else.

"This has to be stopped; but can it? You can stop it, and my seconder, Mr. Rogers, will deal with that. We could stop it at 'The Ringing World' end by insisting that every item is vetted by a responsible officer of each Association. It might cost us £800 a year or £1,000 a year but it could be done. I don't think you want 'The Ringing World' Committee to do this as it involves delays in publication, but if it continues it must be done as a last resort.

"It may be that these hoaxes have come as a part of a sniping campaign against 'The Ringing World.' If it continues it will affect the Peals Analysis Committee and the Records Committee In 'The Ringing World' this week we are told, sir, of your latest public address in which you have taken the opportunity, as we have come to expect, of stressing the Church side of our art. In my writings I have tried to do the same But how can you or I or anyone else do this when these disgraceful occurrences continue?"

Mr. H. W. Rogers (London County Association) said they must face facts and not hide behind these people. "Some of us ring peals and believe what we read in 'The Ringing World' to be true and complete peals. It needs brains, though twisted, to do these things The sensible way is for Association officers to see that the culprits are expelled from membership of their Associations and the facts stated in 'The Ringing World.' This must be completely and unreservedly condemned Some of these are known to Association officers and when it comes to taking action against them do not be influenced by old school ties or the colours of a university in the action you should take I hope we shall get a completely unanimous vote in our condemnation of this disgusting action."

Asked if the peal with a false composer was included in the analysis, Mr. Walter Ayre said he wrote to the person who was supposed to have conducted the peal but got no reply Mr. White had been in touch with Mr Nolan Golden, who said it was a true peal and it would therefore be included in the analysis

Mr. W. Cook, of the Ancient Society of College Youths, said he was vaguely aware of this but it seemed to be more widespread than he realised. How many peals were there? Did they come from a small group or were they widespread?

Mr. Nolan Golden (Norwich Association) said he inquired about the Saxlingham peal and its composition which was sent to him. It was known to everyone. He also inquired of the local ringers and they said it was truly rung. Only the conductor was not a resident ringing member of the Norwich Association.

Mr. H. L. Roper supported the motion and asked if the names of the people were known. If so, they should be published in "The Ringing World."

Mr. W. Parrott (Surrey Association) said if all peals submitted to "The Ringing World" were sent through the Association secretary they would be spotted before they got into "The Ringing World."

Mr A D Barker thought the Council should give a lead

Mr. D. A. Bayles: If I had been the perpetrator of a hoax I would have obtained great satisfaction from this debate. I propose we move on to the next business.

A voice: It is a coward's way of proceeding.

Mr. F. T. Blagrove objected to dragging in names and also those of a Society, although he was in favour of the motion.

Mr R A. Anderson: I suggest on a point of order it should be put to the meeting

Mr. P. A. Corby: Tell us why it is out of order.

Mr. Bottomley: It should not be moved by someone who has just made a speech.

Mr. R. F. B. Speed moved, and Mr. G W. Pipe seconded, that the Council move to the next business.

The Rev. K W. H. Felstead: Does it mean that it falls to the ground?

The President: No, it means that we shall vote on the motion.

When the motion was eventually put to the meeting it was carried, there being only one vote against.

Record Sales of C.C. Publications

HON LIBRARIAN'S REPORT

ONCE again I am able to report a record concerning the sale of publications—the number sold this year reaching a record total of 6,700, of which more than half were "Beginners' Handbooks."

During the year we have had a reprint of 'Preservation of Bells" and "Beginners' Handbook" and the new collection of "Popular Major Compositions"—the sales of which are promising—became available in September. The Exercise owes a deep debt of gratitude to the members of the Peals Collection Committee for compiling this most useful collection of compositions.

May I appeal to members of the Council to help us by persuading ringers, when ordering publications, to write their names and addresses in block capitals.

The thanks of the Council are due to those concerned for the following presentations: Photostat copy of E. H. Lewis's work on Towers and Forces, D. Hughes; Church Bells of Cardiganshire, F. Sharpe; Change Ringing, W. G. Wilson: Australia—Maurice Berry. St. Paul's Cathedral Society of Bell Ringers, Melbourne: Method Structure in Change Ringing Part II, A. E. C. York-Bramble; Copies of Irish Bell News, F. E. Dukes.

Thanks to the co-operation of Mr. W. Pitcher we now have a centre for the sale of our publications in Australia. We are indeed grateful to Mr. Pitcher and trust that his help will be a real benefit to our fellow ringers down under.

No doubt all members of the Council will realise that Mr R. F. B. Speed has now relinquished the sales section of the Library, but I wonder how many realise how indebted the Exercise is to him and his wife for the tremendous amount of work and time they must have devoted during the past nine years in disposing of over 36,000 of the Council's publications involving a turnover of over £2,400. We must say the heartiest possible "THANK YOU" for the work they have done so efficiently during these years, during which time the yearly sales have increased by well over 400 per cent and the income therefrom by nearly 400 per cent. I am most grateful to Mr. J L. Garner-Hayward for taking over this section of the Library, a job which entails almost daily attention.

Frank W. Perrens, Hon. Librarian.

Peal Reports and Voluntary Contributions

Drastic action with the object of producing a regular income for "The Ringing World" was the object of a motion proposed by Mr W. Butler, which read:

"That all peal reports will continue to be published in 'The Ringing World' but only those accompanied by a peal fee of 2d per word will be published in the present style."

Mr. Butler said he felt rather diffident about this motion because we had had several motions that charges be made for peal reports and these had been rejected by the Council.

"I have heard it said by a great many peal ringers that as they buy 'The Ringing World' they are entitled to have their names published. I, personally, do not agree with this. An argument is that records kept would not be complete if peals were charged for as some people would not send them up. Another point is that peals are news, but when peals are published in a local paper they are set very differently. Those that appear in 'The Ringing World' are set in the form of an advertisement and I think people should pay for it.

"Who is going to suffer by such an arrangemen.? The Editor, he would have to register the peals Secondly, those who compiled the peals analysis and would have extra work to do. Thirdly, the people who ring peals and like to see them in print.

"Who will benefit? First and foremost everyone would benefit. With rising costs, the cost of producing 'The Ringing World' will rise in the coming year. That cost must be obtained somewhere and any increase in the seliing price is offset by the decrease in the number of subscribers."

Mr. Butler said he had been told that the scheme was impracticable. He had examined a large number of peals and the average price was very much the same, 8s. for six bells, 9s. for eight bells, 10s. for ten bells and for 12 bells, plus money for footnotes. The average cost today to print a peal in the present form was from 10s. to 16s.

Seconding, Mr. N. Diserens, also of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, reminded the Council that "The Ringing World" was their paper and it was up to them to decide how it was to be run and financed. The accounts showed a profit of about £800, and of that £600 came from donations. He would like to see the paper run on a more businesslike footing. Possibly in the next two or three years the price of production would have increased and it would mean that either the price would be put up or peals printed in smaller type, like quarter peals. "I do not think we should wait until 'The Ringing World' is in the red. I feel that the time to act is now."

Mr P. Walker (Oxford Diocesan Guild) said his immediate reaction was that the proposal would not work. To set all peal reports in two different types and to expect the Editor to check each peal before he could print it was quite ridiculous. He would like to propose an amendment:

(1) That all peals should be published in the form of a paragraph but kept under the headings of Associations.

(2) That the sum of 2s. 6d. should be sent with each peal report.

In the Oxford Guild peals were published in paragraph form. At first he did not think very much of it. It is now accepted and there were no complaints. From a financial point of view the normal amount would be £9 a week or £450 a year.

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott seconded the amendment and said the Guild of Devonshire Ringers discussed this at its meeting on the previous Saturday. He put forward a similar motion last year to a very tired Council after the reception. He knew then, when he got on his hind legs, that he had no chance, but they would go on trying

Mr. G. Dodds (Herts County Association) wondered if Mr. Ayre would find his work on the analysis more difficult if the peals were in paragraph form. Certainly in his Association, where they were printed in paragraph form, they found it difficult. He would personally prefer the peals to be printed as at present.

Mr. Brian Threlfall (Cambridge University) said the point he wished to make covered the original motion and also the amendment. He felt that in asking the Council to make a decision they were tying the hands of "The Ringing World" Committee. He did not think they should elect such a committee and tell them what to do. He thought it was time they had a fair system of charging for peals and quarter peals.

Mr. W. Moreton (Yorkshire Association): The recent census which has been carried out may give some indication.

Mr. D. Beresford (Society of Royal Cumberland Youths: From the recent census over 70 per cent would not like to see peals in quarter peal form.

Mr. D. R. Carlisle (Derbyshire Association) said his Association had a peal booking fee and very nearly 100 per cent. of peals were paid for. He thought "The Ringing World" Committee could handle this if they made a recommendation for a peal fee without any mandatory requirements. It would be a good compromise.

Mr. C. E. Pipe (Suffolk Guild) said if "The Ringing World" needed further financial assistance to print peals, at the end of the year each Association should send a donation of, say, 6d. per ringer of each peal. He thought that each ringer standing in a peal should pay 2s. Of this, 1s. would go to the church and 1s. to the Association, and at the end of the year the Association should send 6d. to "The Ringing World."

Mr. F. E. Dukes (Irish Association) said some years ago the "Irish Bell News," of which he was editor, published peals in the present form. For economy reasons they reduced the peals to paragraph form. Now they put them in in smaller type and they occupied about a quarter of the space. He mentioned this because the Irish ringers wanted to see more news than peals.

Mr. Trevor Roderick (Llandaff and Monmouth Association) suggested that the resolution was too loosely worded. Would there be a maximum amount?

Mr. H. L. Roper moved an amendment that consideration be left to "The Ringing World" Committee and if necessary a report be submitted to the next meeting.

This was carried by only about eight votes

Mr. S. Ivin (Oxford University Society) asked if it would be possible to have some vote in favour of a charge or not.

Mr. R. S. Anderson asked if Mr. Roper would accept the comment in "The Ringing World" report to save time next year.

Mr. Roper: I think it might be included in the report.

Miss M. R. Cross (Universities Association) asked on a point of order if the amendment should not be put to the meeting.

Mr. Eric Critchley (Yorkshire Association) supported Mr. Ivin, stating it would be a valuable lead to "The Ringing World" Committee.

About half voted for and half against.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S CARILLON GIFT

There was unanimous support for a resolution asking both the British and Australian Governments to include bells hung for ringing in the English manner in the £250,000 gift from the British Government of a tower and bells for Canberra to mark its 50 years as capital of Australia.

Introducing the subject, the president said the president of the Australian and New Zealand Association had written to them asking for support to their plea that bells be hung for ringing in the carillon. Letters had passed between him and the Minister for the Commonwealth, the Deputy High Commissioner for Australia and their architectural advisers.

Mr. F. Sharpe said the matter was discussed by the Standing Committee the previous evening and a draft resolution had been suggested in these terms. He thought everyone would agree that it would be highly desirable if they could influence a change both at Westminster and Canberra. The resolution reads:

"The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, representing all the ringers of the Commonwealth and the English-speaking world, unanimously support the plea that eight or more of the bells of the Canberra carillon are hung for ringing in full circle in the English manner."

Mr. Philip Gray (Australian and New Zealand Association) seconded the resolution and said Canberra was a very delightful city. The carillon was to be placed on an island in Lake Birley Griffith. There were no bells hung for ringing in Canberra, the nearest were at Yass, 35 miles away.

Mrs. Staniforth (Leicester Diocesan Guild) said the Minister for the Commonwealth, Mr. Herbert Bowden, lived within the Leicester Diocese and she suggested a personal approach.

Mr. T. J. Lock, leader of Great Adventure II, said an enthusiasm already prevailed in Canberra for ringing bells. There was a church in Canberra where the ringers chime changes of London, Superlative and Stedman. He was sure if the facilities were provided there were enough people in Canberra, under the leadership of Col. Watch, who would soon be ringing the eight bells.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

NEXT MEETING

It was left to the Council to determine the date of the next Council meeting, at Worcester. Mr. D. Beacham secretary of the Worcestershire & Districts Association, said immediately the Council accepted their invitation to come to Worcester they set about making preliminary arrangements He moved that the date be the Tuesday after Whit Sunday (June 4th).

Mr. W. B Cartwright seconded.

Mr. P. A. Corby: If we accept this perhaps the next meeting could be on a Saturday.

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott considered that it would be a very dangerous thing to change to a Saturday, as it would preclude a large number ringing in their own tower on the Sunday.

The date was agreed to.

1969 MEETING

The secretary said that last year there was an invitation from the Hertford County Association to visit them in 1971. They would now like to bring forward their invitation to 1969.

Mr. Walter Ayre: It gives me the greatest pleasure to invite the Council to Hertfordshire in 1969

Mr. R. G. Bell seconded.

There were no other invitations and the Council accordingly agreed to accept the invitation.

I. Week-end and Day Courses:

During the year several inquiries for advice about course organisation have been dealt with and in the following courses this committee has had a good deal of responsibility:

1. Course/Conference for Instructors and Tower Captains, at Selby in March, when Mr. W. F. Moreton was one of the joint organisers. About 70 ringers attended.
2. The fourth annual week-end course at Hereford, organised by Mr. Moreton and the Hereford Guild. Attendance was approximately 35.
3. The seventh annual week-end course at Grantley Hall, Yorkshire, organised by Mr. N Chaddock. About 35 attended.
4. The first week-end course in Lincolnshire (Brant Broughton College and Youth Centre), organised by Mr. H. Radley and Mr. N. Chaddock and the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. 37 attended.

Courses 1, 2 and 3 above are definitely to be repeated this year and details will appear in "The Ringing World."

In all the above courses emphasis has been on "learning and teaching" aspects since we are convinced that the greatest present need is a larger number of competent tutors.

II. Washington Film:

This film has been out on hire ten times since the last Council meeting. Requests for it tend to be concentrated in the winter season of Association dinners. The charge for hire has been increased from 25s. to 27s. 6d. to cover recent increases in postal charges. It is still in excellent condition for both sound and vision

Now that it is almost paid for it is suggested that its use by Association officials on propaganda visits to Theological Colleges be allowed on payment of postage dues only, subject otherwise to the usual conditions of hire. Anyone interested should write to the convener.

III. Proposed Tutors' Handbook:

Shortly after the last Central Council meeting the convener invited those interested to submit suggestions regarding material thought suitable for inclusion in a "Tutors' Handbook," either direct to him or through "The Ringing World" columns. As the response was relatively small this request was later repeated. The aim was to obtain as many different views as possible on methods of initial instruction. Most contributions made available were limited to the teaching of bell control.

Since the proposed handbook, though relatively small, would involve a good deal of preparation, Mr. W. F. Moreton has underta en to write the first part which will be devoted to learning and teaching bell control, and Mr. N Chaddock to write a chapter on raising and lowering, and the second part which will be devoted to learning and teaching elementary change ringing. At a later date a third part on elementary method ringing could be added.

Work is proceeding on the above and it is hoped to have something ready to show the Council when it meets in Nottingham in May.

IV Theological Colleges:

Our main aim in regard to Theological Colleges continues to be to ensure that a lecture on the various aspects of church bells and ringing is given in as many colleges as possible, annually, or every few years.

In order to maintain liaison between this committee, Theological Colleges, and people concerned with lectures (actual and potential), a good deal of correspondence is involved. By taking over this responsibility Mrs. Jill Staniforth has, during the past year, relieved the convener of a heavy responsibility. This field of activity often seems unrewarding but, in the long run, it is very worthwhile and fruitful

Contact has been made with 28 Theological Colleges during the year. A new development in this work during 1966 is that five training houses for women have been approached by Mrs. Staniforth and their reactions are indicated below.

The following replied in friendly terms although it has not been possible to arrange talks so far:

The Church Army Training College, Blackheath,

Dalton House Bristol;

Gilmore House, Clapham;

St. Michael's House, Oxford.

No response has yet been received from the Josephine Butler Memorial House, Liverpool.

In men's Theological Colleges the programmes mostly seem to be rather full and principals or wardens more often felt unable to accommodate a talk during this academic year. A summary is given below of the situations at the time of this report, so far as is known.

St Aidan's, Birkenhead.—There is now an enthusiastic ringer in residence with whom the principal has been in touch.

Westcott House, Cambridge.—Two active resident student ringers.

Cuddesdon Oxford.—Has a flourishing team of ringers who are well looked after by the Diocesan Guild.

Durham St. John's.—Enthusiastic ringers already active in the college.

Edinburgh—Coats Hall.—Regular talks given by Miss Branson and happy relationships with the ringers of St. Mary's Cathedral.

Lincoln —Lecture due by Mr. J. Freeman in November, 1967.

Llandoff.—Bi-annual lecture due in 1968 by Mr. J. Pryor

Oak Hill, Southgate.—Possibility for lecture in the future.

Ripon Hall, Oxford.—Active student ringers.

Rochester.—Contact with Cathedral ringers continues.

Salisbury.—Lecture due in 1967 by Rev. R. Keeley.

St Boniface College, Warminster.—Student ringers active.

Worcester.—Mr. D. Beecham may give a talk next year.

St. Augustine's College, Canterbury. — Possibility of a talk this summer.

In the case of the following colleges it is not possible to report any further progress: Queen's College, Birmingham; Tyndall Hall, Bristol; Ridley Hall, Cambridge; Bishop's College, Cheshunt; Chichester; Clifton, Bristol; Durham St. Chad's; Kelham; St. David's College, Lampeter; London College of Divinity; Mirfield; St. Stephen's House, Oxford; Wycliffe Hall, Oxford; Wells.

If any members of the Council are able to offer help with regard to one or more of the above-mentioned colleges, or at any college not mentioned in this report, will they please write to Mrs. J. Staniforth, 150, Narborough Road South, Leicester.

V. Miscellaneous Items:

The convener's "postbag" has been a heavy one this year with a wide range of inquiries. They include: Advice for talks in connection with recruiting drives—3; Advice for lecture in a Theological College—1; Ringing films, filmstrips and visual aids (including one from Australia and one from South Africa)—6; Teaching bell control—40; Sound control (dealt with by Mr. F Sharpe)—2; Teaching new band—2; Syllabus for evening institute course—1; How to introduce tune ringing on handbells into school—1; Inquiry re Scout Badge—1; Inquiry re Duke of Edinburgh's Award—1.

In connection with the above, a good deal of prepared duplicated material has been distributed. Useful contact has also been maintained with Washington Cathedral.

Mr. F. Sharpe has given eleven lectures to Societies and Church Organisations, in addition to making a major contribution on the Hereford, Grantley Hall and Brant Broughton courses.

College of Campanology:

"The Ringing World" of November 11th, "Report on the winding-up of the College" stated that points from its teaching experience and results would be available to this committee on application to the principal up to December 31st, 1966.

The principal (Mr. A. York-Bramble) was asked by the convener to include such details in the portfolio of papers which the college intended handing on to the Central Council archives. This would ensure their availability at any time in the future.

Wilfrid F. Moreton.

Moving the report, Mr. Chaddock referred to the "Tutors' Handbook," which was in two parts. Mr. Moreton was writing on bell control and he was dealing with elementary change ringing They hoped to publish it before the end of the year.

Mr. W. F. Moreton seconded.

Mr. A. V. Davis said the committee had not their own film. Visual aid was very useful when speaking to groups of people. They had at present one Canadian and a Washington film. It should be possible to produce a short film for 35 minutes' duration.

Mr. Philip Gray: My company has just made a film which lasted 25 minutes. It cost £24,000.

Mr. G. Dodds asked if the committee was doing anything about the Duke of Edinburgh's Award and the Guide and Scout badges.

Mrs. Rogers said quite often it was possible to borrow a projector from the local education authority without cost.

Mr. Chaddock replied that a few years ago the committee investigated the film position and it would cost thousands for a professional film. It might be possible to make an 8 mm. film in an amateur way They had had inquiries about the Duke of Edinburgh's award and Scout and Guide badges. He asked if anybody felt like making a record of good striking on six, eight, ten and twelve bells to let him know

Mr. W. G. Wilson mentioned that he had been asked to write a book on Scout and Guide badges.

The report was adopted.

NOTICES OF MOTION

The hon. secretary said he would ask next year for approval of an amendment to Rule 17 that notice of a motion must be given four weeks before the meeting instead of five as at present.

A RECORD ATTENDANCE

The hon. secretary reported:—

	Present	Absent
45 Associations fully represented	115	—
12 Partly represented	28	18
5 Not represented	—	5
Life members	6	1
Honorary members	18	4
Grand total	167	28

This, said Mr. Bottomley, constituted a record of 167 out of a possible strength of 195. Last year the attendance was 159.

Comprehensive Survey of Ringing Overseas

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

HAVE you noticed nowadays that you cannot open your "Ringing World" without seeing two or three items of overseas news? Time and time again it is the departure from Britain of talented young people going to a sunnier and fuller life, and for us it is exciting to see the burgeoning of their enthusiasm as news comes in of first performances in far-off towers. They are our ambassadors bearing the high standards of those who taught them in the "Old Country" and the practical encouragement of their youth to the limits of the world of ringing. Long may they prosper.

AFRICA. REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

Cape Town Cathedral (10, 25 cwt.). This site is now in the hands of developers and the Cathedral extension has priority, consequently the tower, designed as a detached campanile, has been deferred for at least ten years

Woodstock (8, 11 cwt.) is going through a difficult period. Learners have fallen away and regular Sunday ringing has ceased.

Durban (10 18 cwt.—Wednesday) has a regular band ringing call changes and Grandsire. Two articles appeared about them in the Press, but the useful publicity in "S.A. Panorama," a glossy Government information magazine, was unfortunately marred by a contrived picture of two lads dangling from a rope

At St. Paul's, (8, 14 cwt.) the energetic Cyril Chambers holds two practice nights to cope with the spate of learners. At the moment their enthusiasm outstrips their skill. Both of these towers join forces to ring for weddings and have received much encouragement from passing visitors.

Grahamstown (8, 25 cwt.) has one of the oldest rings in Africa. Practice here is on Sunday afternoons during term time by pupils of the Theological College.

RHODESIA

Que Que (4, 5 cwt.) A quarter peal of Minimus in April was a fine achievement in this remote tower

Salisbury (10, 24 cwt.). The Wednesday practices are enjoyed by a small but strong band and one peal and one quarter were scored. Half a dozen visitors have passed this way and the bells rang out for all but two Sundays during 1966—a very commendable record The local Press published an unusual worm's eye view of the band. Taken through a wide-angle lens at floor level, it gives a comprehensive view of all the ringers in action.

AUSTRALIA

When related to the achievements of the past five years the total of ten peals for A.N.Z.A.B. is a fairly average figure. Turning to the field of quarter peals we can observe the beneficial effect of the English Adventurers, for the total of 85 was a 30 per cent. gain over the 1964 figures. Performances of special note—all firsts in Australia were quarter peals of Brentford, Superlative, Quantock, Quedgeley, Kentish and Francis Genius, and from Sydney the first peal on the new ten at St Andrew's. Of particular interest was the quarter, first by a ladies' band, at Burwood, handbell peals of Ashbourne and Double Norwich, and the extra territorial peal rung by A.N.Z.A.B. members attending the 1966 Council meeting in Somerset.

With a total membership of 150, the strength of A.N.Z.A.B. was apparent at the annual festival held this year in Sydney. The striking competition for the Joyner Cup was won by N.S.W. and an original and outstandingly successful social evening was held on board a ferry boat cruising round Sydney Harbour At this meeting Bill Pitcher was elected president of the Association to mark his services to ringing, which include four years as editor of that informative and lively quarterly "Ringing Towers." well worth five bob a year. In "The Ringing World" attractive articles have appeared from Margaret Goodyer and Walter Knight recording their impressions of swinging, ringing England.

Adelaide has chalked up first quarters by a local band at the Town Hall (8, 13 cwt.) and at St Peter's (8, 41 cwt.), the second heaviest eight in the world.

Ballarat.—St. Peter's (8, 12 cwt.—Tuesday) Has had a thoroughgoing rehang, including a recast seventh a new frame and correct sound control. All the work was carried out by the ringers under Graeme Waldron; a truly magnificent achievement. Ringers at City Hall (8 22 cwt.), alternate Wednesdays, have scored a quarter peal

Bendigo (8, 14 cwt.—Wednesday) are active with quarter peals by the local band.

Burwood (8, 11 cwt —Thursday) was the scene of a memorable first quarter by a ladies' band in Australia—Bob Triples, conducted by Enid Roberts

Darling Point (8, 8 cwt.—Thursday practice)

Hobart.—The Cathedral (8, 14 cwt.) band practise on Monday, and at Holy Trinity (8. 9 cwt.) on Thursday.

Maryborough (8, 21 cwt.) has an active call change band

Melbourne.—St Paul's (12, 31 cwt.) practise on Wednesday.

Parramatta (6, 10 cwt.—Wednesday). This band is making a determined attempt to become an eight-bell tower. and during 1965 they rang for 144 weddings to swell their augmentation fund.

Perth (8, 22 cwt.—Wednesday). Although a remote tower, St. George's has a flourishing band of 20 ringers, of whom half are pommies. An appeal has been launched to make this into a ten-bell tower.

Randwick (8, 20 cwt.—Tuesday). These Naylor Vickers steel bells have had ten peals rung on them since 1864. Ringing is enlivened by the clapper flight of the third catching the rope of the second.

Sydney.—St. Andrew's Cathedral, formerly a 10 cwt. six, now rejoices in a new Loughborough ten (29¼ cwt. in C sharp). The first peal, Grandsire Caters, was duly scored by eight Sydneysiders with the captains of Melbourne and Adelaide Cathedrals. Practice is on Monday, with tied bell instructions on Saturday mornings. St. Benedict's (6, 6 cwt.—Wednesday by arrangement). St. Mary's R.C (8, 25 cwt.—Monday). Christ Church 6, 13 cwt.) While the tower of this historic landmark undoubtedly requires strengthening, some responsibility for the silence of the bells seems to lie with a non-ringing architect.

Turramurra (6, 9 cwt.—Friday) is active with quarter peals.

Walkerville (6, 12 cwt.—Wednesday).

West Maitland (6, 14 cwt.—Monday) also has a ring of steel bells.

NEW ZEALAND

The 21 members of A.N.Z.A.B. in New Zealand hope that Christchurch will be the venue for the 1968 meeting of the Association.

Auckland (8, 18 cwt.). The tower here has been cracked for many years, in fact the bells were last rung up about 65 years ago. Nowadays they are clocked for service.

Cambridge (6, 15 cwt.). These Vickers Armstrong bells of 1883 are almost the last steel bells to have been cast. Hung in two tiers in the small wooden tower, all but one swinging the same way. it is not surprising that the spire is unsafe. Stays and sliders and part of a wheel are missing and struts prevent the tenors from rising, even the drum chiming machine set for three leads of Grandsire is derelict.

Christchurch (10. 32 cwt.—Tuesday). This active band of 20 enjoy service ringing up to Grandsire Caters and Bob Royal. A successful quarter of Stedman Triples contained no less than seven firsts, but a peal of Bob Major was unfortunately lost halfway. We note with regret the passing of George Claydon, a past Master of the Society, with over 40 years' service to ringing in New Zealand.

Hamilton (8, 20 cwt.). Ringing is maintained with six-bell methods in this handsome belfry.

Napier. In spite of representations by A.N.Z.A.B., the Cathedral has installed a chime, since they considered swinging bells were too risky in such a bad earthquake area.

Papanui (5, 6 cwt. in a wooden tower). These Warner bells of 1880 are an insurance replacement for those lost at sea off the Cape of Good Hope. Ringing is being maintained by the local band, and a peal attempt unhappily came to grief.

CANADA

The strong fraternal feelings common to ringers everywhere were experienced by Peter Mackie in Canada, and his article in "The Ringing World" outlines the hazards of low temperature ringing when lubricants solidify and any job "up top" is a major effort. 1967 is Centennial Year and we look forward to plenty of ringing to mark the celebrations. Calgary's peal and Victoria's quarter show they are limbering up.

Calgary (8, 8 cwt.) is active with many Canadian learners and the bells are in good condition. Congratulations on a successful peal—the first for 20 years.

Mission City (10, 21 cwt.). The band of 20 strong is drawn from the Benedictine monks of the Abbey Grandsire and Stedman Caters are in the repertoire.

Quebec City. Holy Trinity (8, 16 cwt.) Here, in the first Anglican Cathedral to be built outside the British Isles, is the oldest rings of bells in Canada. St. Matthew's (8, 8 cwt.) is quiescent. In this great French-speaking city English style ringing is faced with great difficulties.

Vancouver (8. 16 cwt.—Tuesday). Whilst the bells are in good condition, the fabric as a whole is undergoing a complete survey. Standard methods are rung for service by a dozen members of the band, who entertain hopes for a centennial quarter. They were broadcast ringing in the New Year, and also twice visited Mission City. It is interesting to note that all but two of the band at this Roman Catholic Cathedral are Anglicans.

Victoria (8, 29 cwt.—Tuesday). The Master of 19 ringers here is predominantly of English origin Led by the redoubtable Mr. Izard, these bells have been rung regularly since their installation 30 years ago. Nowadays standard methods are practised and very recently the first quarter of Stedman Triples in the Dominion was scored.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

George Pipe's account of the Washington dedication was entitled 'Ten Men Went to Sow" and in the short time that has passed we can see how that seedling has grown into a vigorous sapling. Peals and quarter peals are beginning to come forth and the first steps have been taken towards the formation of a North American Association, with their own magazine.

Groton (10, 18 cwt.). This school tower is a must for any visiting band. During the year Russell Young took his band to visit Kent School and will be bringing some of them to Britain during the summer of 1967.

Kent (10, 24 cwt.) This school is a bright example of American enthusiasm, for they practise daily during term time and their instructor ha the official rating of "faculty adviser." The 18 members of the band are looking forward to visiting Washington to participate in the third anniversary of the dedication of the great Cathedral.

Washington (10, 32 cwt. — four afternoon practices weekly). From the beginning, in 1963, when 14 stays were broken in two weeks, the Guild of the national cathedral has expanded three-fold to embrace one-fifth of the entire upper school plus some adults. The first peal for the Guild has been proudly recorded as well as first quarters of Stedman,

Towers and Belfries Committee Consulted by 108 Churches

DURING the year 1966 advice on bell and tower restoration, and kindred matters, was given in a total of one hundred and eight churches. This is ten less than in 1965, which was an all-time record. If, however, the 62 churches in Herefordshire visited by the convener during the year were added to the total the result would be much higher. In the latter verbal advice on repairs and maintenance was given and without doubt if these visits had not been made some additional requests for inspections and written reports would have been made to our committee.

Also the year 1966 has been exceptional in the amount of correspondence with architects, Diocesan Advisory Committees, and Parochial Church Councils, following reports and advice given in previous years, and on many occasions the convener has been hard pressed in dealing with these; so that in all 1966 has been a year of great activity.

OVERSEAS—Continued.

Oxford and Kent, also two lost peals, one of them uniquely, in competition with the 54-bell carillon on the floor below. All in all a year of solid achievement We note with regret that the projected tour of North America by a British band has had to be postponed on account of the restricted travel allowance.

INDIA

Poona (8, 25 cwt.). At the instigation of this committee the Bishop of Bombay is having a survey made of the installation in this detached tower For this purpose a questionnaire was prepared. At present only one bell of this 1893 Taylor octave is chimed daily.

ITALY

Rivoli Veronese. A correspondent reports an active band practising whole-pull ringing on this 12 cwt. five, cast in Verona about 1900

* * * * *

The committee would be glad to receive items of news and corrections for the record. Prospective travellers are invited to make use of the information in our collection.

We cannot close this report without bringing before the Council the expressions of fraternal greeting by ringers the world over to the church bell ringers of Great Britain.

My sincere thanks go out to all faithful correspondents, without whose help this report would not have been possible

A. Victor Sheppard (Convener),
3, Palace Place,
Brighton 1, Sussex.

Mr. V. Sheppard moved the report and said that the tower of Christ Church, Sydney, had now been strengthened, and St. Paul's was receiving attention.

Mr. G. W Pipe seconded and commended the tremendous work Mr. Sheppard had put in. The peal of Stedman Triples by the local band at Washington was a fine performance and he suggested the Council congratulate the band.

Mr. E. A Barnett said it would be a fitting gesture for the Council to send its congratulations, and this was agreed to.

Mr. F. C. Price (Oxford Diocesan Guild) said another ten boys were coming from Groton this year to this country. This was their fourth visit and he would like to thank Mr. Pipe for the arrangements he had made for their visit to Suffolk.

The report was adopted.

As in former years this report is compiled from statistics sent to the convener by individual members; and, of the 108 requests for advice, 19 were dealt with by correspondence. Members of our committee visited 89 churches, only two less than in the peak year of 1965.

The churches where advice was sought may be analysed geographically, thus: Bedfordshire 3, Berkshire 8, Buckinghamshire 6, Cambridgeshire 6, Cornwall 3, Carmarthenshire 1, Cheshire 4, Devonshire 10, Dorset 1, Essex 8, Glamorgan 1, Gloucestershire 1, Herefordshire 3, Hertfordshire 1, Huntingdonshire 1, Kent 3, London 1, Middlesex 1, Northamptonshire 3, New Zealand 1, Northumberland 1, Nottinghamshire 4, Oxfordshire 10, Pembrokeshire 1, Surrey 6, Sussex 2. Somerset 13 Staffordshire 1, Shropshire 1, Wiltshire 2, Warwickshire 1. Total 108.

It is impossible to comment in detail on individual towers and bells in a report of this nature, when one considers that a full report on bells, gear, tower and acoustics normally covers from six to eight closely-typed pages. An analysis of the reports submitted by individual members of our committee has been summarised and reveals the following:

MORE ADVICE ON RECASTING

Twelve parishes sought advice on augmentation of existing rings a decrease of one on the previous year, but still well above the average The number of towers seeking advice on the recasting of bells increased this year to sixteen. Fifty-four churches sought advice on rehanging or were advised by members of our committee to completely rehang their bells: and the number seeking advice on repairs and/or maintenance decreased to 44. Forty parishes sought advice on sound control, and these were considerably more interesting and varied than in former years, and covered a much wider area of the country. Inquiries regarding tower oscillation, and requests for advice where extensive damage had been done to masonry, amounted to 21, only half last year's total.

No outstanding problems occurred during the year, and a noticeable feature of the reports was that there was a decrease in the number of requests for advice on the total number of sections into which the summary of work has been sub-divided. The requests from the parishes this year have been mainly for some specific section, or sections.

NEW BOOK HELD UP

The committee has not met during the year to consider in further detail the proposed new book on bell towers, bell hanging and maintenance of bells and gear. Some of the blame for this must be credited to the convener, but he has been hard-pressed with routine inspections and correspondence, and has further had his available time restricted by reason of his wife's serious illness. It was resolved at the last meeting that each member of the committee should prepare a draft of a section of the proposed work and submit it to our vice-president who would then write the introduction to the work.

During the year Mr. F. E. Collins has given several lectures on bell hanging and maintenance, and the convener has given over twenty lectures to diocesan organisations and committees, architectural institutes and societies, kindred professional organisations, Parochial Church Councils and adult education colleges, and it is a matter for satisfaction to note that the interest of these organisations, in all matters connected with our art. continues to increase.

We do not wish to conclude without reference to the sudden death of Mr. John Worth, although this took place in 1967. and is strictly outside the scope of this report. Mr. Worth's valuable contribution to our art is well known and we welcomed him as a member of our committee in succession to Mr. J W. Clark a few years ago. He was a most useful member whose advice was greatly valued in the north-western area of the country. The day before his death the convener wrote to him asking for his contribution to this report, and he must have received the letter on the day he died, and compiled his contribution straightaway, for his daughter found it on top of the papers on his desk. Our sincere sympathy is extended to the members of his family and his many ringing friends.

Frederick Sharpe, F.S.A., F.I.O.B. (convener), Derwen, Launton, Bicester, Oxon.

B. Austin A.R.I.B.A.; F. E. Collins, M.I.Inst.E.; J. Freeman, M.I.Mun.E.; A. J. Frost, A.R.I.B.A.; T. M. Roderick; H. J. Sanger; Rev. J. G. M. Scott, M.A.; B. D. Threlfall, M.A., A.M.I.C.E.

Moving the adoption of the report, Mr. F. Sharpe said a tremendous amount of work had been done by the committee and if any member had a question he had ten volumes of files in the boot of his car. He would like to express his thanks to members of the committee who had helped him during his wife's illness—Mr Fred Collins, Mr. Alan Frost and Mr. Brian Threlfall.

BELLS IN NEW CHURCHES

Mr Martin (Chester Guild) said his Guild was concerned about new churches. Had anything been done to provide suitable campaniles?

The Rev. J. Scott said the matter was dealt with by the committee a few years ago. The problem seemed to arise before we or even the Diocesan Advisory Committee had been consulted. It started when the clergy discussed the question with the architect. If ringers knew of a case they should tell the P.C.C that it could be done fairly cheaply.

Mr. Edgar Shepherd paid a tribute to the work of the committee. Three times he had approached them and he was very impressed with their detail and thoroughness. It was meticulously done.

Miss M. R. Cross thought knowledge about bells and ringing could be spread through diocesan magazines.

Mr. Sharpe: I have read excellent articles in "The Norwich Churchman."

The general secretary said reprints of the article "Bells. True or False" had been sent to diocesan advisory committees and they had been very cordially received. This was through a strong request from Col. Jerram, a member of a diocesan advisory committee.

Mr. Brian Threlfall called attention to the untimely death of Mr. John Worth and moved that Mr. Henry O. Baker be elected to fill his place.

Mr. F. E. Collins seconded and this was agreed to.

The report was then adopted.

Broadcasting and Television Committee

BELLS appear to have been broadcast or televised to a lesser degree during 1966 than in previous years, that is. if the accounts which are sent to us are any indication; and we are dependent very largely on what is sent to us by the ringers themselves for inclusion in this report Most of the ringing which has been heard over the air has come from the West Region and from Ireland

In the West Region the bells of St Mary's, Southampton, were broadcast on May 13th in the World Service prior to the University Arts Festival On June 26th Modbury Devon, bells were heard on the Home Service, as were Shedfield Parish Church, Southampton. on August 14th. Tewkesbury Abbey bells were heard briefly prior to the Midnight Service on Christmas Eve.

B.B C Bristol featured the Bristol Ringing Festival in the Light Programme on October 31st. This programme included the bells of Westbury-on-Trym, Horfield and St Mary Redcliffe, and Philip Gray was interviewed by Mark Puckle of the B.B.C. West Region staff in an extremely lucid and well-informed manner. There was a brief reference in the "Points West" programme to the Festival with shots of a few towers.

This programme also gave good coverage on November 16th to a somewhat unique occasion, it being the 90th anniversary of the murder of P.C. Nathaniel Cox at East Coker, Somerset. The occasion was marked by a gathering of members of the National Police Guild. A short service in the church was followed by the laying of a wreath on the grave of P.C. Cox, and later, in the tower, a peal of Grandsire Triples. Shots of the ringers in action and ringing prior to the peal with other items of proceedings were seen and heard on television.

An extremely co-operative B.B.C. engineer produced a first-class recording of the bells of Wells Cathedral for the Christmas Bells programme, and the Cathedral ringers did well to give such a good performance.

From Ireland we learn that the bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, were heard from Radio Eireann following the carol service on Christmas Eve. The same medium broadcast the bells of Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, on New Year's Day; St. Peter's, Ballymodan, and St. George's, Dublin, before divine services; and also a topical talk relating to the Canada Centenary, 1967, and made a special mention of the part bells will play in the celebrations.

Mr W. Patterson appeared on Ulster Television in a bellringing feature. The B.B.C. broadcast the bells of Holywood Parish Church before a divine service, and St. Donard's, Belfast, in the Christmas Bells programme. The bells of Carrickfergus were one of the two from the Christmas Bells broadcast selected for the 7.50 a.m. broadcast on Sundays. They were heard on the air on a recent Sunday morning.

In a sponsored programme on Radio Eireann. Miss Ida Graham devoted "Woman's Viewpoint" entirely to the part ladies take in the belfry.

The North Region reports that on Easter Sunday the morning service on B.B.C.TV came from Boston. Lincolnshire, and was introduced by good rounds on the back eight. Two TV services from other regions were noted where bells were included, viz.: Cirencester (B.B.C., March) and North Mymms (ITV, September). Tyne-Tees Television recorded the enthronement of the new Bishop of Durham and the bells were heard, but unfortunately only part of the ringing down.

On the occasion of the peal attempt at York Minster in July, the president of the York Minster Society, Mr. Harold Walker, was heard in "Voice of the North." He was introduced with the sound of the bells.

In the Christmas broadcast it was hoped to continue the policy followed in recent years of selecting a tower from one of the main societies of the region which had not been represented previously.

Once again the checking of recorded results proved to be of value. Mr. Wilfrid Moreton was invited to assist and advise on this matter and the result was certainly a good recording of the immaculate cartwheeling, whatever one's personal likes and dislikes may be about this type of ringing. It is hoped that in the 1967 programme a tower from the Derby Diocese will complete the representation of all Societies of the region in these broadcasts

The Midland Region has little to report. There have been several instances of services being televised from churches whose bells would have enhanced the broadcast had the ringers been asked to co-operate. We stressed the point in our report of last year that directly it is known that a church has been selected for radio or television its ringers should approach their incumbent with a view to getting the bells included in the programme. It is very unusual for the broadcasting authorities to refuse such a request provided it presents no technical difficulties.

On March 19th a service from Solihull Church was televised and no mention of the bells was made in the original programme However, the Rector. who is interested in his bells and ringers, requested the B.B.C. to use the bells as a prelude to the service, with very satisfactory result. which clearly illustrates what can be done

East Anglia is another region where there appears to have been very little broadcasting activity amongst bells. At Holt, in Norfolk, the dedication of the bells on February 6th by the Bishop of Lynn was televised for transmission at a later date. The president of the Central Council preached and took part in the ringing. Anglia Television Limited transmitted in February a news film showing bells being removed from Rougham Church, Suffolk. for conveyance to Loughborough. The oldest bell in the ring dated back to the early 15th century.

Bells were featured twice in the B.B.C.'s "Look East" programme—on May 9th a film of members of the Suffolk Guild at their annual competition, and on December 8th a film of girls from March High School practising at St. Mary's Church, Whittlesey, near Peterborough.

In the London Region only three items of broadcasting have come to our notice—the "Songs of Praise" service from Saffron Walden Church was introduced to the sound of the bells. Westminster Abbey bells were seen and heard over the air on the closing day of the 900th year

An interesting film was made in the belfry of All Saints' Church, Kingston on Thames, for the children's programme "Blue Peter." It was intended to arouse interest in bellringing among children. and to show them that it is something which they can learn to do safely and with interest. The presenter, John Noakes, was shown being taught to ring, and the local ringers, led by Bill Jackson. also appeared in the film.

Scottish Region reports that the ringers are on friendly terms with the staff in the religious section of the B.B.C. Scottish Region and have been able to meet all their requests for ringing.

This committee was invited again to select the towers for the "Christmas Bells" programme and the convener was pleased to accept the producer's invitation to be present at the editing of the tapes.

Mr. H. N. Pitstow, in proposing the adoption, said three broadcasts by Mr. Sharpe had been missed, also two in the Midlands and one in the Welsh. He proposed that Mrs. King be added to the committee to act for Wales.

Mr. D. A. Bayles seconded with the addition of the name of Mrs. King.

The report was adopted.

Biographies Committee's Activities

THE first year of the triennial period naturally directs the Committee's attention and work to new members. In this category there were 33, and whilst most of these have complied with our request by filling in the appropriate biography sheet, we are still awaiting others but in the hope. of course, that the remainder of the sheets will be handed in at this meeting. Photographs seem still to be at a premium, although without a picture we surely all agree that the biographical record would appear to be quite incomplete.

The Committee's new system of distributing the blank forms to new members has met with some success and we intend to continue this method for a while, although additional expense is incurred.

A further aspect of the Committee's work is to keep up to date with members' activities. "The Ringing World" is, of course, the chief source of information and during the past 12 months there seems to have been a concentrated influx of achievements, movements and records which it is our pleasure and duty to note.

The following members and past-members have died during the period under review:—

G. L. Hewitt, Shropshire Association, 1946–1956. Died March 18th, 1966. (Attended five meetings.)

D. H. Bennett, Swansea and Brecon Guild, 1939–1950. Died May 1st, 1966. (Five meetings.)

E. G. Fenn, Ancient Society of College Youths, 1939–1956. Died July 14th, 1966. (Three meetings.)

T. R. Dennis, Ely Diocesan Association, 1913–1932. Died August 2nd, 1966. (Nine meetings.)

A. J. Pitman, Swansea and Brecon Guild, 1927–1932, honorary member 1953 onwards. Died August 16th, 1966 (Ten meetings.)

G. Pullinger, Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, 1933, 1959. Died October 23rd, 1966. (22 meetings.)

F. W. Lack, Ely Diocesan Association, 1951–1959. Died November 29th, 1966. (Eight meetings).

In addition, the names of P. Crook (Lancashire Association) and S. H. Symonds (Suffolk Guild), although included in last year's report, are repeated here to accord with the honorary secretary's statement made in Council.

The work of Albert J. Pitman, especially in the field of composition, will be of everlasting value to the Exercise, while the immense influence of his active ringing career can only be estimated.

George Pullinger, although a one-armed ringer, was a very loyal and consistent supporter of local tower. Guild and Council activities. and his ability, character and personality were outstanding.

T. J. Lock (Convener),
North Mymms, Hatfield, Herts.
W. Parrott,
W. H. Viggers,
J. Willis.

Mr. T. J. Lock proposed the adoption and asked new members to hand in their papers giving particulars as soon as possible.

Mr. W. Viggers, who seconded, called attention to members keeping records of peals they had rung.

OUR PICTURE—St. Peter's, Nottingham

FOR nearly 800 years St. Peter's Church has been a place of prayer and praise. It now stands completely surrounded by commerce and traffic, but still a haven of peace and quiet. The building has no outstanding architectural features but its beauty largely consists in the way in which a variety of styles from many periods blend into one. It suffered much devastation in the Civil War (1642–43). The Church of St. Nicholas, which lies close to the Castle, was completely destroyed and a gallery was built in St. Peter's to accommodate its congregation, but this was removed in 1877. The church contains many examples of modern craftsmanship, notably the font cover, two magnificent chandeliers, the new pulpit and two stained glass windows in the north aisle, the first two of a series of four.

In 1961 Messrs Marks and Spencer began negotiations so that work begun in 1964, whereby part of the west side was dedicated to the Corporation, enabled the pavement to be widened and the main entrance moved to the north side, giving easier access. To ensure stability of the church foundations 436 piles were driven in on the west and south sides—a tedious and hazardous task. Ultimately, by 1969, Marks and Spencer's extension is expected to be a single storey block, the roof being level with the churchyard. It will lie behind the hoarding seen on the photograph The churchyard is being replanted with trees and shrubs. The whole project will have re-emphasised the intrinsic merits of St. Peter's as a characteristically city church.

A WASHERWOMAN'S BELL

The earliest reference to the bells appears to be in 1440, when there were at least two, and the Gild Book of St. George in the church contains many references to the ringing of the "great bells" between the years 1479 and 1545. Margery Doubleday, who died in 1544, left the rent of a small close on the south side of Broadmarsh, the value of which was then 20s. a year, to the sexton of St. Peter's Church on condition of his ringing a bell, which she bought for the purpose, every morning (except Sundays) at 4 o'clock to arouse the washerwomen of the town to their labours with a greeting and prayer with which to begin their arduous day. Perhaps Dame Margery Doubleday was once a washerwoman!

There would then probably have been a ring of five, for an indenture record states "Fyve bells, on one accord and a saunce bell and a clocke." In 1625 some alterations were made to the tower and the bells, which had been rung from the ground floor, were henceforth rung from a ringing loft. In 1635 two of the bells were recast, probably by the first George Oldfield, one of the long line of Nottingham founders. In 1666 George Oldfield recast the treble and six years later two bells were given by the Society of Northern Youths, the predecessors of the Society of Sherwood Youths.

RECAST AT WHITECHAPEL

In 1771 the bells were consigned to the melting pot and recast by Messrs. Pack and Chapman of London, the weight of the ring being increased by 21 cwt. to 88 cwt. The inscriptions on the old bells were fortunately preserved by the historian Deering:—

Treble: In perpetvam memoriam societatis irvenvm Borealivm. 1672.

Second: As treble.

Third: God Save the King.

Fourth: God Save His Church.

Fifth: God Save His Church. T. Hvnt, I. Wilson, wardens. 1635.

Sixth: Iesvs be ovr Speda.

Seventh: Ave Maria of you charitie for to pray for the sole of magere dubbyleay. (In black letters.)

Tenor: Robert Sherwin, John Cawton, William Freeman, Richard Wellah, aldermen.

The new bells were first rung in 1771 In 1858 the third was recast by George Mears of London. More work was necessary in 1897 and this restoration, which was part of the celebrations for Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, was carried out by Messrs Taylor of Loughborough, as was the recasting of the seventh in 1902.

In 1919, H. R. Cobbin, a ringer and notable athlete, gave two trebles. Three of the old eight were retuned and the treble and third were hung in an iron frame on top of the old wooden frame. During the war the bells were removed from the tower as a precautionary measure and were afterwards rehung, all on ball bearings.

In 1965 urgent repairs provided the opportunity to augment the ring to 12, and the old wooden frame, now in a poor state, was removed and replaced by a two-tier steel frame. The old ten were overhauled and the fifth, seventh and ninth (of the 12) were hung in the top tier The clock, which since 1840 had occupied all the west wall of the ringing chamber, was removed and replaced by an electrically-motivated mechanism by Messrs. Smith of Derby, thus providing the room for the new rope circle. Messrs. Taylor, who had carried out the restoration and augmentation, must be congratulated on a fine job and their effective use of so limited a space.

The inscriptions on the bells are:—

Second: Est Deo gratia. Angus Inglis, Rector Charles E. Cox, Sidney Stockdale, wardens. 1965. Dia. 24¼ins.

Third: To the greater glory of God. St. Peter's Church, Nottingham. H. R. Cobbin gave me. 1919. Thanking God. Dia. 25ins.

Fourth: As third. Dia 26½ins.

Fifth: I was given by the Society of Northern Youths in 1672 and recast by the Sherwood Youths.
In 1771. Pack and Chapman fecit. Dia. 31ins.

Sixth: I was given by the Society of Northern Youths in 1672 and recast by the Sherwood Youths in 1771.
Pack and Chapman fecit. Dia. 31¼ins.

Seventh: G. Mears, founder, London. 1858. Dia. 34ins. Previously inscribed:
Our voices shall with joyful sound
Make hills and valleys eccho rond.
Pack and Chapman fecit.

Eighth: We celebrate th'auspicious morn of which the Son of God was born. 1771.
Pack and Chapman fecit. Dia. 35¼ins.

Ninth: To honour both of God and King Our voices shall in concert ring.
Pack and Chapman fecit. Dia. 39ins.

Tenth: The bride and groom we greet in holy wedlock Joind our sounds are emblems of hearts in love combind.
Pack and Chapman fecit. Dia. 40¼ins.

Eleventh: I was given by Margery Doubleday about the year 1544 and recast with the other bells in 1771.
Pack and Chapman fecit. Recast in 1902, the year of the Coronation of King Edward VII, by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. Dia. 44¼ins.

Tenor: The fleeting hours I tell. I summon all to pray. I tell the funerall knell. I hail the festal day.
Saml. Martin, Rector, Jno. Alleyne and Frans. Jones ch:wardens. 1771. Pack and Chapman of London fecit. Dia. 49¼ins.

First references to the actual ringing of the bells appear to be in 1479. The first recorded peal on the bells and the only one to be rung on the old eight before recasting in 1771 was on October 3rd, 1768, which was Grandsire Triples by the Sherwood Youths. This was conducted by William Doubleday Crofts, one of the notable ringers of this time. (See "Ringing World," December 5th, 1924.) In 1774 he conducted a long length of 7,040 Oxford Treble Bob Major which is still the longest length on the bells. Records compiled by Mr. F. A. Salter, until recently Ringing Master at St. Peter's, show that the peal total is now 179. After over 40 years' service to St. Peter's it is unfortunate that ill-health has prevented Mr. Salter enjoying to the full Nottingham's ring of 12

SOUND CONTROL

Dear Sir,—Recently the bells of All Saints' Church, Coddington, were completely restored, a new frame was erected and a new treble added to make a ring of six Then on the advice of an architect the louvres were boarded up, the idea of this being to keep out the rain, etc. However, not only did this keep out the weather but also kept in the sound and it was not long before we had complaints that the residents of the village could not hear the bells ringing. What a refreshing change from constantly reading and hearing of complaints that church bells make too much noise! So it was then decided to put some slides in the boards. This was done, and now, by means of a rope over a pulley and down through the floor to the ringing chamber, we can have the slides up or down as required. It has proved most successful and prompts me to ask how many towers have sound control and in what form? —Yours sincerely,

J. R. KINTON.

Coddington, Notts.

ST. GABRIEL'S, WARWICK SQUARE

Dear Sir,—With regard to your comments in "Belfry Gossip," concerning our peal attempt at St. Gabriel's, Warwick Square, I hope you will allow me to make one or two of my own

In the first place, full permission was given for the attempt. Secondly, the bells were muffled. Finally, I doubt very much whether ours was the first peal attempt to be interrupted in this way by members of the public, nor the first in which such interruptions were ignored.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN PLADDYS.

London, S.W.

IT HAPPENED 35 YEARS AGO

Dear Sir,—May I first of all correct an unfortunate typographical error in my recent letter to you. My point was, of course, that the Frindsbury peal was rung without repetition.

My real purpose in this letter is, however, to draw the attention of your readers to a peal rung over 35 years ago. In the Kent County Association report for 1930 I recently found the composition of the first peal of spliced rung for the Association, at Crayford on May 3rd, 1929, and believed it might be of some topical interest. The footnote to the composition, one of 5,120 "Spliced Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major" (sic) reads as follows:—

"Ring Superlative for first 48 changes, when a Bob is made (tenor makes 4ths from treble behind): ring Cambridge from this point to 16 changes after the course-end 7453628, when another Bob is made (tenor again makes 4ths from treble behind); ring Superlative to the end from here. 2,560 changes of each method in two distinct blocks is thus spliced."

What was good enough for the distinguished ringers of that time is good enough for me.—Yours faithfully

R. W. HAYES.

Chiddingstone Hoath, Kent.

PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,—Following the letter from Mr. D. E. Parsons in your issue of May 12th, page 322, I must withdraw the peal of Stedman Cinques rung for the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths at Chelmsford Cathedral on February 20th, 1965.—Yours faithfully, DENNIS BERESFORD.

Bexleyheath, Kent.

WANTAGE RINGER ORDAINED

Mr. David John Stoter, a member of the Wantage, Berkshire, band, was ordained deacon by the Bishop of Oxford, the Rt Rev. Harry Carpenter, at Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, on Trinity Sunday.

David attended the Church of England Boys' School and King Alfred's Grammar School, Wantage, where he was head boy in 1960–62; he was captain at cricket and hockey. At both games he played for Berkshire Schools. Later, at King's College, London, he was captain at hockey and vice-captain at cricket.

Since leaving London he has been at St. Boniface's College, Warminster. While at Warminster he did quite a lot of ringing under the guidance of Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd; this included a quarter peal of Cambridge on the bells at Queen Camel, Somerset, and an attempt for a peal of Stedman Cinques at Trowbridge. He is now assistant curate at St. Giles' Reading, where he is hoping to get regular ringing.

The Wantage ringers went for a quarter peal on the day of his ordination but unfortunately this failed. However, on the following Sunday a quarter peal was rung. David's younger brother, Ian, is also a ringer at Wantage and Great Carleton, near Blackpool, where he is training for the teaching profession.

CRAWFORD CUp SURPRISE AT MANSFIELD

There was a surprise in the elementary round of the Crawford Cup for the Mansfield District, in which three teams competed A shift in the last few changes of Warsop A team's immaculately struck Cambridge Minor failed to bring rounds with the resulting disqualification. Likewise, a shift in the last extent of Greasley's Grandsire Doubles brought a similar result. This left Warsop B team as the winners with a well-struck 360 of Grandsire Doubles duly completed.

At the business meeting Mr. David Marshall, of the Derbyshire Association, was thanked for judging the contest at rather short notice, and local ringers were also thanked for excellent tea arrangements.

Next meetings: June 24th, Bolsover (evening practice); July 22nd, Cuckney.

SIXTY YEARS AFTER

Sixty years ago, on May 20th, 1907, eight College Youths had a "ringing" day at Sherborne, ringing altogether over seven hours for the first peal of Stedman on the bells owing to the 2nd persistently slipping wheel. Nearly 60 years later, on May 13th, eight College Youths went to Sherborne to commemorate the achievement, but failed after 3 hours and 20 minutes.

However, the writer was not too disappointed as it was not the actual date, but on the next Saturday, May 20th, a good peal of Grandsire Cinques was rung at Reading, and the ringer of the 3rd remembered those stalwarts of 60 years ago; and the treble man, Henry Hodgetts, is still with us.

The band on the first occasion was: Henry Hodgetts 1, W. Gifford 2, S. Macey 3, G. N. Price 4, Challis F. Winney (cond.) 5, A. B. Pack 6, James George 7, H. T. Hibbert 8.

A UNIQUE PERFORMANCE IN KENT

The original boundaries of the county of Kent contains some 213 rings of five bells and upwards, of which some 200 are pealable. Over the years, eight members of the Kent County Association have gradually been ringing peals in as many towers as possible. By early 1966 Arthur Richards had reached 99 different towers, and the idea of attempting a peal with eight ringers who had reached at least 100 different towers was suggested.

An attempt was duly fixed for June, 1966, at Goudhurst, but was unfortunately lost after two hours' excellent ringing through a miscall. A second attempt took place on June 3rd, when a good peal of Yorkshire was scored at Selling The band would like to associate with this peal the name of Andrew Macve, who has also rung peals in over 100 Kent towers and has been residing in Derbyshire for over 18 months

All arrangements have been made, most efficiently, by Ian Oram, who has been responsible for many of the band ringing in the different towers during the last ten years.

The county record is held by Ralph Bird with 187, a fine effort, and is closely followed by Ian Oram with 182. Tom Cullingworth and A. Patrick Cannon have also had the pleasure (not always!) of having rung over 120 different Kentish tenors.

It would be interesting to know if any other Association could produce a band to equal this record in any other county. Good luck, if they try. A. P. C.

THE UPHILL TRAGEDY

The memorial peal rung at Clevedon for Mr. John P. Hall and published last week was by a group of ringers who, under the able organisation of Mr Edgar Skipsey, had been making remarkable progress in ringing peals and quarter peals in a number of Surprise methods. John was a member of this group, and the method chosen for the peal was the next on the list of those planned to be rung The ringers would like to associate the name of Brenda H. Boyce with the peal, as she was unavoidably prevented from taking part.

LISS, HANTS

Liss bellringers and friends enjoyed a tour of Sussex for their annual outing on the spring Bank Holiday. Ringing, though not very advanced, was of a good standard and was a very useful experience to the newer members of the band.

Towers visited were Lodsworth and Findon (both rings of six augmented from four in recent years), Arundel, Slaugham (an excellent eight), Rusper (a difficult eight which can be encouraged to go well when rung at the right pace) and Shipley (a good six).

The organiser thanks all incumbents and tower captains. D. M. H.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY

On May 16th at the annual general meeting of the U.B.S.C.A., the following officers were elected for the session 1967–68: Master, Mr Michael G R. Zobel; secretary, Miss Gillian M. Brearley; treasurer, Miss Mandy McCallion; tower secretary, Mr. Michael A. Gilbey

All correspondence to: Students' Union, Queen's Road, Bristol 8.

TUITION TEASERS—No. 3

Q. Recently there have been comments in these columns—not entirely in agreement—on rope-handling, "right or left." Is there a preferred way to be adopted?

A. Yes—that which may be described as "natural." It has been so proved, in over ten years of organised instructional testing It is based on the personal physical condition known as "right or left handed." Of the ringer, the hands and arms are preferably to be regarded not as "left" and "right" (which terms are, of course, fixed for every individual person), but as "upper" and "lower," which terms are alternately applicable, conditionally, from person to person. In the actual ringing, one hand—the lower in fact (sometimes referred to as 'static")—remains fixed at the rope's end, while the other—the upper or "mobile" hand—is continually shifting its position from rope's end to sally and back again, grasping the rope just above the lower hand each time The question is—which is to be the upper hand and which the lower band in any given learner's case?

It is natural that the more "handy" of the two arms and hands should incline to take up the action that is the more mobile (the shifting grip) and thus become the "upper," while the less "handy" takes up the less mobile (or static) grip, and thus becomes the "lower." So that in the ordinary way a right-handed person (learner) has his right arm and hand as "upper"." with his left hand and arm as "lower," and a left-handed learner will normally take up the reverse holding, i.e. left hand upper, and right hand lower, grip.

Theoretically, the two hands should grip the rope at a point (at both sally and rope's end) to avoid a divergent "pull," but as this is impracticable they grip the rope, one above the other, in contact—the little finger of the upper hand resting lightly along the first finger of the lower hand, whichever way the hands be designated and placed.

The placing of a particular foot slightly in advance does not depend upon a specific rope-holding i.e. left or right. Recently suggested analogies in these columns of tug-of-war holdings and cricket bat grips are, unfortunately, demonstrably false. If either of the two combinations of foot-placing and rope-handling is not entirely comfortable, then the foot displacement is too great.

DARBY DRAW

A plot is being hatched to get Frank Darby the new Master of the Surrey Association, into white flannels on July 22nd. Close by Beddington Church, where he rings, Frank will be invited to lead a mixed non-cricketing team of Association officers versus The Rest. May honour and his middle stump prevail!

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUILD

Officers elected for the following year by Manchester University Guild are: Ringing Master, E A. Harrison; treasurer, A. S. Burbidge; steeplekeeper, D. Ley; secretary, C. L. D. Munday Correspondence should be addressed to: The Secretary, Guild of Change Ringers, Pigeon-hole C, University Union, Oxford Road, Manchester.

OBITUARY

MR. F. BARRACLOUGH

It is with deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr. Frank Barraclough, Ringing Master at Manchester Cathedral.

Frank was born at Penistone, Yorkshire, in 1908 and was educated at St. John's School and later at Penistone Grammar School. He left school at the age of 16 to commence work at the Penistone Steel Works, where he remained until 1930, when the works closed down. Being out of work, Frank came over the Pennines into Lancashire and found employment as a crane driver at the Irlam Steel Works (now the Lancashire Steel Corporation) and settled down to live in Eccles, where he was married four years later.

Following in his grandfather's footsteps, he learned to ring at St. John-the-Baptist's, Penistone, in 1924, where he became a member of the Sunday service band. He also rang his first peal there, Plain Bob Minor, on March 12th, 1927. When Frank came to live in Lancashire he joined the band at St. Mark's, Worsley, and rang there for services until he had an accident at work in 1940, when he had to have his right arm amputated.

After a long illness Frank returned to work at the Irlam Steel Works, being re-employed as a wages clerk, and was later encouraged to take up ringing again by the late John Potter, of Walkden. He then joined the band at Manchester Cathedral, where he rang regularly until he became ill in October of last year. In 1948 he was honoured by the Manchester Branch when he was elected Branch chairman, and in 1963 he was elected Ringing Master at Manchester Cathedral in succession to the late Derek Ogden.

Apart from his interests in ringing, Frank was a member of the Freemasons, and in March of this year he was elected Worshipful Master of the Bridgewater Lodge.

The funeral service was at Eccles Crematorium on Wednesday, May 17th, conducted by Canon F. S. Wright and Canon H. Hodkin (sub-Dean of Manchester). Many friends from the Lancashire Steel Corporation, the Bridgewater Lodge and the Manchester Branch gathered at the Crematorium to pay their final respects to their friend and companion.

The Cathedral bells were rung half-muffled on Whit Sunday. A half-muffled quarter peal was rung on the following Thursday evening by members of the Cathedral band and some of Frank's closest ringing friends. The method was his favourite—Grandsire Caters.

MR. S. GEORGE COLES

It was with regret that at the Central Council meeting in Nottingham the members heard of the passing of Mr. George Coles, of Taunton, Somerset, who died suddenly that morning.

A prominent member of the Wilton (Taunton) band for about 50 years, he took part in many then famous performances and conducted peals of Surprise Minor and Major. Details of his peals, etc., will be available later; in the meantime we join with many in various parts of the country who have sent condolences to his widow and family.

MR. J. H. EDWARDS

The St. Mary's, Salehurst, Robertsbridge, ringers regret to announce the death of Mr. J. H. Edwards at the East Sussex Hospital on Monday, May 22nd. Harry Edwards was 83 years old and had been a ringer at Salehurst for 65 years; he was also a member of the Sussex Association.

On October 20th, 1919, Harry rang the third bell in the first peal, Grandsire Triples (5,040 changes) to be rung at Salehurst by an all-Salehurst band; it was his first peal on eight bells.

Harry will be sadly missed by his many friends in the Salehurst belfry and the Sussex Association.

G. W. F. C.

May we hope this picture will serve a good purpose? We see the Rev. Stanley Moore extending a welcome to Bob Fisher (aged 97), of East Meon, when he joined the many noted veterans at their reunion at Bishopsgate on June 20th, 1965. Bob passed away on the following Tuesday and at his funeral service the Vicar emphasised Bob's long service to the Church—83 years as chorister and 73 years as bellringer! This may be a record.

This year the service and reunion will be held at Bishopsgate, London, on June 24th. All veterans are welcome; there will be no need to wait for an invitation. Just send your name to John Euston, 28, Fairmile Avenue, Streatham, S.W.16.

MR. J. WEAVING

Ringers around the Newbury area of Berkshire will be saddened to learn of the death on May 18th, at the age of 77 years, of James Weaving. He had for many years been a ringer at St. Mary's Church, Hampstead Norris, until he and his wife went to live at Welwyn Garden City.

For the past few years James Weaving had been a member of the band at St. Peter's Church, Tewin, where he was able to give his assistance to the band in their many activities. The bells of Tewin Church were rung half-muffled on the evening of the funeral.

James was a regular member of the Church of Christ the King, Welwyn Garden City (only one bell), where his body remained throughout Tuesday night. A Requiem Mass was said early the following morning. The funeral took place later that day, May 24th, at which local ringers were represented.

D. S. H.

MR. FREDERICK PAGE

Dear Sir,—I was sorry to read of the death of Mr. Frederick Page. Although I knew him personally only during his years in Sussex, his name was a very familiar one through his membership of the fine handbell band at Stockport, who rang many peals during the late '20's and in the'30's under the conductorship of Allen F. Bailey, whom many will remember as one of the famous Leiston family.

I suggest that A. W. B., in his tribute to Mr. Page, has been slightly misled by looking through his peal book. The Pye brothers to whom he refers were not the incomparable William and George R. Pye, both ringers of nearly 2,000 peals, but two policemen of exactly the same names from the Manchester area. This double duplication was even more remarkable than those of the John Freemans, J. H. Fieldens and Margaret Woolleys of today.!—Yours sincerely,

E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Four Corbys and four Pipes rang a touch of London Surprise Major at Melton Mowbray.

Letters received, making allegations, that are not accompanied by the name and address of the sender are consigned to the waste-paper basket.

The post of Cupid with the U.B.S.C.R. will be held in abeyance, since the present Cupid leaves at the end of his third year without there being an eligible male to take over!

During the past month Jeffrey Ladd (aged 14), of St. Peter's, Ash, Surrey, has rung his first peal, "inside" to Bob Minor, conducted his first quarter peal, also of Bob Minor, and rung "inside" his first quarter of Surprise.

The organisers of the peal at Shiplake, Oxon, on May 29th, are very appreciative of the help given them by Mr. Alf Street, and hope that the local band's outing, which took place on the same day, was a great success. It is also worthy of note that this was Bill Gilks' first peal for 11 years.

We regret to learn that Mr. Alan R. Pink has been ordered to bed, through heart trouble, by his doctor.

The quarter of Glasgow Surprise Major at Chewton Mendip on May 25th was rung within minutes of the great soccer win at Lisbon. The performance was purely coincidental.

Donald G. Clift, who had a period in hospital earlier this year, was able to take part in a peal at St. Laurence's, Reading, on May 20th, and in doing so has now rung a peal in every county in England and Wales.

British Railways are responsible for the fast peal at St Peter's, Bournemouth, on May 27th (2 hours and 41 minutes on a ton eight). The train, scheduled to arrive at 1.45, arrived at 2.15 from Birmingham. By the time its passengers reached St. Peter's, 3 hours and 5 minutes were left to ring the peal and lower the bells. The tenor was rung in true Birmingham fashion and the bells were down with a quarter of an hour to spare.

RINGERS' NOTEBOOK & DIARY, 1968

Most ringers will have been aware of our difficulties in producing the 1967 Diary, and to correct matters our binders are asking for the printed sheets much earlier than previously.

To enable us to do this we must invite the co-operation of all Association secretaries asking them to send lists of officers and dates of A.G.M.'s, dinners, etc., by July 7th, latest. Most Associations hold their A.G.M.'s before Whitsun, so the information should be available. If no amendments are notified we will assume that the 1967 lists remain unchanged

No reminders can be sent this year
W. Viggers, M. Hodgson.

COMMENT

DARE YOU?

THE time is fast approaching when hordes of enthusiastic ringers will invade other towers on their annual outings. The value of these excursions to the individuals taking part will no doubt vary from one person to the next. I suspect, however, that the value to the towers visited is usually nil. Be that as it may, the alternative which I am about to suggest can only appeal to the young ringers for two reasons. Firstly, the time element will preclude those who must earn their daily bread; and secondly it requires that enthusiasm which belongs only to youth.

Dare you, then, accept this challenge—to set out this summer and either teach some ringers for a silent tower or teach a few extra ringers for your own tower? You must, of course, know how to teach basic handling; but in my own tower we have two young people who regularly teach others, so this knowledge ought already to be yours, too! Any venture of this sort would be undertaken on bells with tied clappers and you must at all times act with responsibility, being aware of the injury which could befall the learner and tutor, and also the damage which could be caused to the bell and its fittings.

If you are still keen and interested (as I hope some of you will be) how best to set about it? Should the venture be local, approach the incumbent of the silent tower and your own tower captain. The latter must give his approval before you start teaching more ringers for your local band and it will help if he will back any negotiations you make to teach ringers for a silent tower. In the case of the silent tower the local incumbent can usually find lots of young people who would like to learn the art. There is also the possibility that you may get permission to camp, either in tents or, say, the Church Hall, in some seaside or country village. Should this idea appeal, do get in touch with the local ringing organisations, as a little tact will go a long way.

Having settled the general details, make your "rules" and stick to them. For example, suppose you are working in groups of three to six tutors, decide how many pupils you can control per session (no more than two pupils to one teacher, perhaps), how long each session will last and how many sessions per day. Make these details known at the outset and adhere to them rigidly! Should any cleaning be necessary in the tower where the bells have been rung infrequently, try to inspire the learners to clean it before starting to teach. I am convinced that a well-maintained belfry usually contains a well-maintained band.

Use all the aids to teaching you can muster. Take all your books on ringing as advertisement and be sure to take along "The Ringing World" for your learners to see. Records of bells and tape recordings are invaluable here; if the recording is of good striking, emphasise this, and if the striking is bad or indifferent use it to illustrate where the bad blows are being made and why. The most important thing to let your learners see is enthusiasm and what a joyful task bellringing really can be.

If possible try to follow up the idea by supporting (or leading) practices at the new tower. It will make interesting reading if, when you have tried this venture, you write to "The Ringing World" telling the results of your work. Remember, ten men achieved something on these lines in America and, whilst they had a wealth of experience, they did not perhaps all (figuratively speaking) have that cherished possession, youth.

OUR PICTURE

SILEBY PARISH CHURCH, LEICESTERSHIRE

By REV. R. J. HUNTING

THE Parish Church of Sileby, Leicestershire, dedicated to the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, was founded about c. 1150 by Robert Bossu, Eearl of Leicester, who also founded about that time the Augustinian Abbey of Leicester, some six miles from the village.

The church was enlarged to its present massive structure in the next century by its patron, Baron Nicholas de Segrave, who fought by the side of Simon de Montfort at the Battle of Evesham in 1265 and, during the Eighth Crusade, captured Nazareth. Patrons of the church have been distinguished soldiers, statesmen and the Earl Marshal of England. The record of incumbents begins c. 1220.

PARTICULARS OF THE BELLS

Second: Weight 5 cwt. 1 qr. 25 lb. Diam. 30 in. 1945.
At the close of the Second World War £356 was donated by the parishioners for the purchase of the two bells, made by John Taylor and Co.

Third: Weight 6¼ cwt. Diam. 33½ in. 1934.
In 1934, £127 was raised to restore the belfry and add another bell. Inscribed "O Prosper Thou our handywork," it was made by John Taylor and Co.

Fourth: Weight (approx.) 10 cwt. Diam. 38 in. 1745.
It is inscribed "In honorem gvlielmi evbriae avcis rebelles Scotos victricibvs armis debellantis 1745." Donated by the villagers after the defeat of the Scots by William Duke of Cumberland.

Fifth: Weight (approx.) 12 cwt. Diam. 40 in. 1590.

Sixth: Weight (approx.) 13 cwt. Diam. 41 in. 1622.
It bears the Latin inscription "Celorvm Chrste Platiat Tibi Rex Sonvs Iste 1622," that is,
"O Christ the King of Heaven,
Be pleased when this sound in given."

Seventh: Weight (approx.) 18 cwt. Diam. 46 in. 1707–8.
After a century and a half, when the church was served only by curates, the parish gave this bell to mark the return of a Vicar to the church. It is inscribed "Henry Penn made mee, 1707–8."

Tenor: Weight 22 cwt. 2 qr. in E flat. Diam. 50 in. 1622.
This bell has the Latin inscription, "Cvm Sono Si Non Vis Venire Nvnqvam as Precse Cvpies Ire."
"If you are unwilling when to prayer I call,
You are not willing to come at all."
The tenor and the sixth bells were made in 1622 by Hugh Watts of Leicester. Hugh was churchwarden at St. Margaret's in 1615, and Mayor of Leicester in 1633.

An interesting advertisement appeared in the "Leicester Chronicle": "TO RINGERS, To be rung for at Sileby, Leicestershire, on Tuesday, May 28th, 1822, FIVE HATS and TEN SHILLINGS for the second set. No less than three sets to ring, and each set to ring three separate hundreds. Umpires will be provided.""

In 1967, our young group of handbell enthusiasts. "The St. Mary Ringers" are widely known and have weekly engagements all over the county. Part of their repertoire from the film "The Sound of Music" was heard on the B.B.C. Home Service recently.

KENT, THE LEADING COUNTY FOR PEAL RINGING

Peals Analysis Committee's Report

THE year 1966 showed an unexpected decrease in the number of peals rung, for, according to our records, tower bell peals are down 183 to 3,039, with handbell peals up by 14, with 287, giving a total of 3,326.

This does not include five peals for the Salisbury Guild, rung in July/August and published in "The Ringing World" of March 3rd; nor two peals sent to "The Ringing World" on March 13th, though rung in December. We wonder why there is such a slackness about! Is it that it takes all this time to decide whether they were rung well enough or what?

We do not publish "League" tables, but here is the position attained in the annual list; and it will be noticed that congratulations are due to the Kent County Association for their continued efforts which have brought their reward.

The first ten places are filled as follows:-

	Tower	Handbell	Total
Kent County	172	35	207
Yorkshire Asso.	200	—	200
Oxford D. (1 in 1965)	199	—	200
Chester Guild	150	33	183
Lancashire Asso. ..	160	19	179
Lincoln Guild	116	27	143
Leicester Guild	112	22	134
Bath and Wells	128	—	128
Southwell Guild	116	7	123
Essex Asso.	104	—	104

These ten rang 48.13 per cent of the total.

The analysis breaks down as follows:-

TOWER

	1966	1965
Maximus	88	89	— 1
Cinques	59	62	— 3
Royal	226	193	+33
Caters	95	104	— 9

Triples	184	248	—64
Minor	826½	886	—59½
Doubles	286½	274	+12½
Minimus	2	3	— 1
	3,039	3,222	—183

HANDBELLS

	1966	1965
Maximus	15	3	+12
Cinques	5	—	+ 5

Caters	14	4	+10
Major	125	96	+29
Triples	6	9	— 3

Maximus	—	—	—

Outstanding performances must include the magnificent performance of ringing Liverpool tenor single-handed for Maximus by Peter Border; together with the excellent co-operation of the other back-enders; the 3 peals of Stedman Cinques rung simultaneously by the College Youths—organisation as well as ringing strength; the raising of the record number of Minor methods on tower bells by the Essex Association and the Suffolk Guild; the Stedman Cinques record by the St. Martin's Guild; the perfectly marvellous performances of Spliced Surprise Major, under the conductorship of "Tony" Peake; the 24 Surprise Maximus by the Lancashire Association and the nine Surprise Major methods, rung silent and non-conducted by the Yorkshire Association. On handbells we note the wonderful efforts of the band who rang the Spliced Surprise on handbells—a great feat.

We wonder if our friends throughout the Exercise could help in finding out the perpetrators of the many "hoaxes" which are being received by the Editor; if they could then drastically deal with the same, it would give great satisfaction to the other members of the Exercise.

DISCUSSION

Mr. Walter Ayre, in moving the adoption, said in paragraph 2 it should read "nor three peals sent to 'The Ringing World' on March 13th, though rung in December."

Mr. H. Poyner asked how they got half peal of Minor and half Doubles.

Mr. G Dodds inquired whether peals with singles at half-lead and lead-ends had been included.

There was also a question as to the number of hoax peals and also about other ringers in the peal at Liverpool Cathedral mentioned in the report

The convener replied and said he was not going to work out the percentage of Minor and Doubles in the peal. There were no hoax peals as far as he knew. Regarding the Liverpool peal, he had extraordinary sympathy with the man on the eleventh but he admired the lot. He was no decider about peals but enjoyed peals with singles, but they occurred in the front and that was why they were in

Mr. G. Dodds: They could be interpreted as two forms of singles.

Canon K. W. H. Felstead supported Mr. Ayre. In tabulating these and keeping the records there was no opportunity to delve into such fine points.

THE PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE

THE committee has had no work to carry out on publications of compositions.

The convener was assigned the task of examining the books and papers of the late Mr. Albert J. Pitman. He has looked through all of them and found that much of the material is disappointingly of little value, though his figures provided some insight into the methods by which Mr. Pitman worked on Spliced Surprise Major. A large part consisted of largely disconnected jottings, and illustrated the very many types of composition in which he was interested, ranging from Spliced Doubles to Surprise Maximus.

Scattered throughout the books were found worked-out sets of false lead-ends between various Surprise Major methods. It was surprising to note that Mr. Pitman apparently had not realised that he could have almost halved his work by reversing such tables; for instance, a whole page of figures on "Pudsey Against Yorkshire" is followed a few pages later by "Yorkshire Against Pudsey." Despite the fact that the convener prefers to use false course-ends rather than false lead-heads, he was pleased to find correlation between his and Mr. Pitman's figures in all the popular methods used for splicing.

As these useful figures are so scattered in amongst others not so valuable, one possibility might be for them to be abstracted; the books number about 20 in all.

The committee wish to place on record their appreciation of the work which Mr. Pitman had done for the Central Council since he became a member of the Peals Collection Committee. Whenever work was in progress on a new collection he was always very willing to undertake a large part of the proving of any kind of composition, and, together with Mr. W. Barton, shared almost the whole of the proof of the collection of Stedman Caters and Cinques published in 1961. As regards Surprise Major, his compositions, particularly the "all the work" peals of Spliced, will stand for ever as a fitting memorial to an unassuming genius.

Signed) W. E. Critchley (Convener),
28, Brompton Road,
Sprotborough,
Doncaster.

Mr. W. E. Critchley moved the adoption.

Mr T. Roderick asked why Mr. Pitman was not aware of reversed tables.

Mr. Critchley said he went on the paper work he had done.

Mr. C. K. Lewis commented that it was nothing against Mr. Pitman and he might have been aware of it. He had written down both so he might or might not have known about reversing tables.

The report was adopted.

METHODS COMMITTEE

Mr. C. K. Lewis said he had nothing to present.

The president: So no one will second it!

LONG LENGTH ATTEMPT

Mr. Simon Humphrey gives notice of an attempt for 19,936 Yorkshire Surprise Major at the Loughborough Bell Foundry on July 1st starting at 9 a.m. Composition next week.

Methods Committee to Investigate Half Lead Spliced

Mr. Ian H. Oram gave notice of the following proposed amendment of decision:—

"Peals which contain more than one method shall be called 'Spliced,' provided the methods are joined in the fundamental units of which they are constructed (i.e. the 'leads' in treble-dominated methods, the 'divisions' in the case of Stedman, Duffield and the like). In addition, where a peal qualifies as 'Spliced' under the above definition, methods may also be joined at the half-lead, provided that where this is done only one of any group of methods differing only in the places made at the half-lead or the lead end may be used in any one composition."

Moving the motion, Mr. Oram said first of all why was such an amendment necessary? The present rule required that a peal which contained more than one method should be called Spliced. When the original rule was made, no half-lead splice was known.

In the new rule they wanted to retain the requirement that methods be joined in fundamental units. If methods were only allowed to change at the lead-end it would disqualify Kent and Oxford. If they accepted calls at half-leads, why not methods?

Mr. Stanley Jenner (Kent County Association) seconded and said they ought to look at it from a commonsense point of view and not be bogged down with technical details. Spliced was called spliced because that was what actually happened.

The President: We are advised by our legal adviser that it is competent for the Council to consider this although it is not on the agenda paper.

The Council agreed to continue the discussion.

Mr. N. Chaddock suggested that if they called it half-spliced it would solve the problem.

Mr. B. Threlfall: It seems to me that the main object of this motion is to allow a peal already rung to be recognised.

Mr. Oram: So far as I am concerned a peal has been rung. It was published as a peal of Surprise Major. What they wanted was for it to be recognised as Spliced Surprise Major. The 5,000 changes were rung properly.

Mr. W. F. Moreton: I think there is no doubt that the peal can be accepted as it stands. The only question is wether the word "spliced" can be used.

Mr. E. W. Critchley commented that in this peal, of which he was filled with admiration—it included half a lead—neither Yorkshire nor Superlative was actually rung.

Mr. P. A. Corby: May we be reminded of the decision of the Council at the 1955 meeting as to what it constitutes as acceptable by the Central Council. At that meeting at Bristol the late Mr. Harold Poole and I proposed and seconded a resolution that any peal where the changes are true would be accepted by the Council as a peal.

Mr. C. K. Lewis said in 1955 there were two motions before the Council and he was the person who proposed the motion that they would accept Bob Triples and any other method that the Council would accept as a true peal.

Mr. E. A. Barnett said no one was suggesting that this peal should not be counted as a peal. What the motion proposed to do —and they had been going off at a tangent— was to alter the definition of a peal of spliced.

Mr. N J. Diserens said so long as a true peal was rung it stood, but half a lead of one method made it a different method. They ought to go away and think about it.

Mrs. Staniforth proposed that the motion be referred to the Methods Committee, and Canon Felstead seconded.

Mr. F. T. Blagrove: The Methods Committee is in the happy position of having nothing to do with peal ringing. Don't refer it to the Methods Committee.

Mr R. J. Anderson said it was a question of whether it was spliced or a new method. He supported Mrs. Staniforth's proposal.

Mr. C. K. Lewis remarked that this was not something new but as old as the hills. Snowdon's book, back in 1890, had something of the Yorkshire Court that was now being called Spliced Shipway's Court. He suggested that the people who proposed the motion should look into their histories and look backwards. There was a lot in "The Ringing Worlds" of 1936, 1937 and 1938 about spliced. He had sympathy with those who rang the peal as he knew of it long before it came into "The Ringing World." He would advise them to think of another name than spliced. They were worshipping at the spliced shrine and thought of it as the acme. It was much harder to ring a peal when the conductor did not remind one every 32 changes of what he proposed.

Mr. N. Bagworth: Surely with a change every half-lead they created a new method. Why not call it "Miscellaneous Surprise"?

The amendment referring the motion to the next year was carried with only seven voting Methods Committee with a request to report against.

Mr. D. E. Sibson, seconding, said Basing Surprise Major was found to be false and was not included in the records.

Mr. J. A. Ainsworth (St. Martin's Guild) asked if the committee considered compiling records of peals of record lengths.

Mr Blagrove replied that they were not aware that it was considered to be part of the Records Committee work

The report was adopted and later in the proceedings Mr. J. A. Ainsworth was elected to the committee.

The Literature and Press Committee's Review

IT is right that the impact of bell ringing on the public should cause us concern, whether that impact be favourable or such as to arouse antagonism. Three instances quoted during the year strike us as worthy of serious thought. In July "The Hertfordshire Advertiser" publicised a complaint from tennis players at Radlett, who declared that the ringing of bells near their courts marred their games. The Vicar was able to assert that the ringing was at reasonable times and of reasonable length. In August, Mr. S. F Stapleton, living at Norton, Herts, succeeded in getting the rateable value of his house reduced on the grounds that the neighbouring ring of bells constituted a nuisance. Subsequent correspondence in "The Pictorial" seemed to show that the cause of complaint was exaggerated, but it should be noted that the Hitchin Valuation Committee was sufficiently impressed to agree to a reduction of £16 a year.

A more curious, and perhaps significant, case arose at Newton-le-Willows, Lancs, in September, when Mr. P. Marriott sought an injunction against the Vicar to restrain him from allowing the bells of the local church to be rung for a practice meeting. Important papers like "The Times" and "The Guardian" gave considerable publicity to the matter, and the Noise Abatement Act was freely quoted in the discussions that followed A letter in "The Church Times" from Mr. Vernon Bottomley pointed out that Mr. Marriott's interpretation of the law in relation to church bells was in error. Our secretary added that the Central Council is able and ready to supply expert advice on sound problems and difficulties arising from noisy bells. The inference to be drawn from this paragraph (and the previous one) would seem to be that there is nowadays a greater need than formerly for care in the choosing of times for ringing and for restraint in the exercising of the privileges we get.

"The Norwich Churchman" provided during the year three challenging articles—"Who Says that Church Bells are a Nuisance?"; "Bells—True and False"; and "Action Not Words in the Belfry." The first two, by Canon Gilbert Thurlow, gave respectively a lively defence of ringers and their art and a warning to the lay world on the falseness and sham of imitation bells. The third article, by Giles Hunt, emphasised the Christian fellowship arising from the work of church bell ringing. It would be impossible to exaggerate the importance of these three articles, addressed as they are chiefly to non-ringers.

The year 1867 was marked by the unification of Canada, and the centennial celebrations bring us to the very interesting reminder of the link between Canada and the Irish missionaries of long ago. At the request of Canada the New Year ringing in many Irish churches was associated with the rejoicings across the Atlantic, and the occasion received wide publicity in the Irish Press.

POPULAR ARTICLES

The popular articles that came our way during the year were on the whole very well done. "The Nottingham Guardian" gave a substantial account of the Beeston handbell ringers and emphasised the work of Miss I. B. Thompson over a period of 40 years. "Ruston News" published an anonymous contribution on bell casting and tuning, and "The Southern Evening Echo" in a very pleasant, if conventional, essay entitled "Ringing Out for Rejoicing" heralded the approach of Christmas. Olive Nelson's "Swinging Bell Ringing" in "The Cambridge News" was based on a visit and interview with Mr. Brian Threlfall at Harston Parish Church, and gave us an example of sensible reporting Ann Gardner in the magazine of the National Cathedral School, Washington, wrote exuberantly of her enslavement to bell ringing and of the joy of achievement. A very unusual contribution to our literature was found in the Russian magazine "Ogonek and translated and presented to us by "C. A. W." It tells of the old bell at Cape Khersones, Sevastopol, and how it was stolen by the French in 1864 and restored to the Russians in 1913.

In January, 1966, "In Britain" presented a well-illustrated article by John Camp. It gave a survey of bell ringing for popular reading, and was accompanied by a fine photograph of Boston Stump and an excellent picture of the ringers at Newdigate, Surrey. From Liverpool "The Childwall Mail" gave us a lively account of the Childwall band and a stimulating picture of Mr. Michael Dodd and his young people at handbell practice.

The visit of Mr. Richard Dirksen of Washington to this country in the summer aroused more than ordinary interest. The peal of Caters he rang with Mr. Chaddock at Rotherham was noted in "The Star, Sheffield," and America's interest in ringing attracted the notice of the larger national Press. "The Daily Telegraph" gave prominence to Mr. Dirksen's visit and commented on the U.S. Servicemen learning to ring in Suffolk. "The Daily Mail" published a photograph of the transatlantic learners with Mr. Bedford at Aldeburgh, and quoted from a letter from Miss Ann Gardner of the Cathedral School, Washington.

It is a pity that the rather hoary theme of ringing as a dying art should have crept into the article in the "Express and Star" in relation to ringing at Darlaston Parish Church. The report deals fairly with the current difficulties in maintaining bands of ringers, but it is clear that the reporter has seized on the wrong emphasis. As Mr. Bennett of Claverley pointed out by letter, ringing at the native town of the famous John Carter is active and flourishing.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

Among the new publications of the year we have had a fresh edition—"A Collection of Compositions in the popular Major Methods" and "A Collection of Surprise Compositions" by Mr C A. Wratten, both books now in the Central Council list of publications. To supplement these Mr. H. Chant's "Method Splicing Minor Methods" appeared in the summer. In the middle of the year there came also Mr. York-Bramble's "Method Structure in Change Ringing," a massive and searching work, and one which must (as Canon Thurlow said) be studied seriously. Mr. Frederick Sharpe continues to add to his long list of County books, and "The Church Bells of Cardiganshire" has been followed surprisingly quickly by "The Church Bells of Herefordshire."

Two new quarterlies made their appearance —"Bells and Bellringing," which is devoted mainly to the historical side of the bells, and "The Sentinel," a news sheet published by the Ely Diocesan Guild. We have referred here only to new publications. but it must be remembered that the various local quarterlies play an important part in the life of the Exercise and among the non-ringing public. Our thanks are due to those whose patience and persistence produce thse journals year by year.

In response to a request for material from overseas, we have noted the comprehensive history published in November about the Christchurch Cathedral Society of Bell Ringers, New Zealand. The author, Patricia Ward, has fully covered the life of the Society in fine detail. On the front page of the 326-page "The Seattle Times" there was a Yule card in the form of handbell ringers dressed in Dickensian garb. The ringers were from St. John's Evangelical Church (Lutheran). The bells of the Benedictine Westminster Abbey, British Columbia, are mentioned in the publication "Beautiful British Columbia." It says that visitors are welcome and that change ringing is to be heard on the ten bells daily.

Mr. E. C. Shepherd moved and Mr. F. E. Dukes seconded and the report was adopted.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

THE Guild of Devonshire Ringers held its annual general meeting at Buckfastleigh on May 27th, when upwards of 90 members attended, this being the first time that a county meeting has been held in this area.

Eleven towers were open for ringing and the service was held in the chancel at Buckfast Abbey, this being conducted by the Rev. Father Paulinus Angold, the captain of the Abbey ringers, who, in the course of an eloquent address, warmly welcomed the visitors and hoped that they would come again. The lesson was read by Mr D. J. Roberts, the general secretary.

After a buffet tea in the Buckfastleigh Town Hall, the business meeting followed. There had been a loss of five members by death during the past year, including Mr. T. G. Myers, of Plymouth, and the meeting stood in silence as a token of respect.

As the reports were still in the hands of the printers the secretary's and treasurer's reports were taken as read.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Preb. J. H. B. Andrews; secretary, Mr. D. J. Roberts; treasurer, Capt. G. J. L. Read; auditor, Mr. J. W. Perkins; peal secretary, Mr. W. Simmonds; adviser on church bells, Rev. J. G. M. Scott. The vice-presidents were re-elected with the addition of Mr. A. L. Bennett, and there were five nominations for one vacancy on the Central Council. On a show of hands Mr. D. R. Bould was elected.

Arrangements for a joint meeting with the Devon Association at Exeter Cathedral in aid of the funds of the Cathedral Restoration were left in the hands of Mr. B. E. Bartlett and the general secretary.

For the annual meeting in 1968, the meeting agreed with the general committee's recommendation that it be at Bideford, with Torquay as a second choice.

A suggested memorial to the late Mr. T. G. Myers was discussed, and a small committee consisting of Messrs. R. A. Southwood, N. Mallett, G. J. L. Read and D. J. Roberts was appointed to look into the matter.

New members elected were five from Newton St. Cyres, 20 from St. Luke's College, Exeter, and two non-resident members from Australia.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Lord Abbot of Buckfast, Father Paulinus, Father Sebastian for the arrangements at Buckfast Abbey, to the general secretary for his services.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Trouble over Annual Report Cost

The 82nd annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association was held at Christ Church, Eastbourne, on May 13th. Once again a full robed choir was provided by ringers for the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. D. G. Newman. The Archdeacon of Hastings, the Ven. Guy Mayfield, also attended.

Mr. T. Barlow catered for the tea held in Christ Church Hall, which was attended by a company of 140, and help came from ringers at St. Saviour's and Christ Church. The Archdeacon and Vicar and the Rev. W. Greenfield of Willingdon were welcomed as guests and the Master (Mr. R. V. Johnson) thanked those who had arranged the tea, and the Eastern Division Committee for the meeting.

The Master presided at the meeting and before the business started a silent tribute was paid respecting George Pullinger of Willingdon and Hampshire and K. Snelling of Cuckfield.

In his report the Master mentioned that two trebles had been added at Lodsworth, and Midhurst bells had been rehung. Two ringers' services had been held, at Willingdon and Danehill, and had been well supported. Striking competitions had been held at Burgess Hill and Thakeham. Mrs. Elsie Hairs had now relinquished the office of hon. secretary of the Northern Division. They recorded with deep appreciation the good work she and Mr. Frank Hairs had done for the Association.

The treasurer reported a slightly better position than last year, subscriptions were approximately £60 down, due to the first year of individual subscriptions, and some peal fees were outstanding at the year end. (Note new rule: Peal fees should be sent to the peal secretary with the full information, and not to the treasurer.)

33 FIRST PEALS

The peal secretary reported 86 peals for the year, including 29 of Surprise, five of Caters and three of Royal. (Midhurst, Hove, Worthing, Lewes and Dorking Surprise were the first peals in the method.) Thirty-three members rang their first peals. Full details appear in the report.

The hon. general secretary in his report said there was a lack of ringers in some areas; they should go out of their own towers, find out what was wanted and ask ringers to come and help.

The Divisional secretaries' reports, which appear in the annual report, were adopted en bloc.

Twenty-seven new members were elected from Eastbourne, Danehill, Slaugham, Henfield, Upper Beeding, Shoreham and Steyning; also four non-resident life members.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

The president and vice-presidents were elected en bloc. Mrs. Stella Knight suggested the Archdeacon of Lewes be approached for election as a vice-president. The Master, treasurer, general secretary, peal secretary and hon. trustees were re-elected. Messrs. D. Smith and G. Francis were elected auditors, the retiring auditors, Messrs. A. Bond and A. Riddington were thanked by the Master for their valuable services to the Association over a number of years.

The new form of service has been accepted by the Bishop of Chichester. Estimates for printing, with hard covers, had been received (£15–£17). It was agreed to use the present duplicated sheets until the Association could afford to reprint with hard covers.

It has been agreed to hold an Association dinner in Brighton on October 28th. Mr. A. V. Sheppard is trying to obtain the Dome; details will be given in the near future.

A grant of £25 will be made to Midhurst for bell restoration. Mr. Charlton thanked the Association for the generous gift and for the help given by Mr. R. Wake and family in teaching the band change ringing.

Very little headway has been made towards a ringing course at Lodge Hill. Divisional secretaries were asked to bring this up at their next Divisional quarterly meeting and send their decisions to either W. L. Weller or George Frances, who are endeavouring to make the arrangements.

ANNUAL REPORT

The following resolution had been sent in by the Western Division: "The members of the Western Division view with concern the cost of producing the annual report and feel that every effort should be made to reduce the cost and stimulate additional revenue from sales and advertising"

The treasurer (Mr. W. Weller) offered to have the report printed by his firm but pointed out that it would not be up to the present standard but the cost would be about half.

The general secretary pointed out the snags in such an arrangement. Numerous suggestions were made and the general secretary, in reply to a question, said the economic price of producing the report was 15s. a rope.

The report is to be discussed at the committee meeting in October and findings sent to the Divisional secretaries before their annual Divisional meetings in February.

"THE RINGING WORLD"

Mr. A. V. Sheppard asked whether members were satisfied with the "new look" "Ringing World." It was agreed that the Association was gratified with the results so far achieved.

Finally came more complaints about the present report, mostly printer's errors, and that only members who had paid their 1966 subscriptions were listed. (This will be discussed at the next committee meeting.)

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

South and West District

Harefield (the only tower in its area where cows graze across the churchyard wall) was the venue for the June Saturday meeting of the District. All tastes in six-bell ringing were satisfied before adjourning to the Church Hall for an excellent tea prepared by members of the local band and their wives.

At the business meeting which followed, the possibility of holding bi-monthly Surprise Royal practices was discussed and it was agreed that if suitable arrangements could be made they should be tried Mr. A. R. Hale, of Harefield, was elected a member, and Mr. S. George, a churchwarden at Harefield, was made an honorary member. The election of Miss Pauline Walters of Harlington, at a practice meeting, was confirmed. The secretary reported on the continued success of the evening practice meetings and of the Surprise Major practices and on 10 bells (including the first on the bells at Harefield and the first since 1953 at Heston) and 18 quarter peals rung in the District during the first five months of the year.

A larger gathering at Ruislip in the evening found the bells rather tricky because of the poor "go" and the long draught, and in consequence justice was not done to them.

OBITUARY

MR. SYDNEY GEORGE COLES

With the passing, on May 30th, at the age of 76, of Mr George Coles, of Taunton, the Taunton Branch of the Bath and Wells Association has lost one of its most outstanding ringers; his leadership and guidance in the Branch will long be remembered.

He was taught to handle a bell and became a member of the Wilton band in 1913, which he so faithfully served for the whole of his ringing career—some 54 years. He was a "safe" ringer, an excellent striker, and the example he set to others in his Sunday service ringing, and to Branch support, was something that every ringer should strive to attain.

During his life as a ringer he must have taken part in more than 100 peals, and many of these were of the more advanced methods ever to have been rung in this part of the country. He was a vice-chairman of the Taunton Branch and representative to the Diocesan Association, and from 1945 to 1959 he was a Central Council representative. Upon his retirement from this office he was elected a life member of the Bath and Wells Association.

The funeral service was held at Staplegrove on June 3rd, when in the large congregation ringers were present from all parts of the Diocese, and immediately following the committal a quarter peal, with the bells half-muffled, was rung. He would not wish us to mourn him but we can appreciate his life as a dedication of how a ringer's life can be lived.

A. H. R.

MR. J. H. COX

Mr. J H. Cox, who died after a short illness on May 31st, aged 80, had been ringing for approximately 50 years—first at Cradley Parish Church, Worcs, then from 1930 he was honorary secretary of the Halesowen Parish Church bellringers. He was a regular attender for both Sunday service ringing and practice until 1962, when he had to forgo ringing owing to illness.

"Joe" Cox was always helpful to anyone with whom he came into contact. He was a just man and set us a fine example of Christianity—a life of devotion to others. May we endeavour to follow his example.

He had recorded for the Worcestershire Association 25 peals, three of which he conducted.

The funeral service was on June 3rd and the bells of Halesowen Parish Church were rung half-muffled. Amongst those present were: W. B. Cartwright (Ringing Master) and B. C. Ashford (secretary), representing the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association, also F. V. Nicholls, C. W. Cooper and R. Smith (Stourbridge), H. J. Shuck (Cradley) and members from Halesowen.

MR. G. W. JOHNSON

While a quarter peal was in progress at Hilgay Church, Norfolk Mr. George William Johnson died at Kelling Hospital. For over 60 years he had been a ringer at this church and he was also a chorister for many years.

George was a regular Sunday service ringer and could always be relied upon to attend practice nights and also the monthly District meetings. He had also rung a few peals. Interested in most sports, bowls was his favourite and he had recently been playing for the Hilgay Bowls Club. He was a member of the Downham Branch of the British Legion, having seen service in World War I. On the day of the funeral a half-muffled quarter peal was rung by those who practised with him each Monday night.

Letters to the Editor

SAFETY IN THE BELL TOWER

Dear Sir,—Mr. Wilson's list on "Accidents in the Belfry" (page 374) is fairly comprehensive and I would like to reinforce his advice by additional suggestions. First I would like to quote from my own notes on "Learning and Teaching Bell Control":

"Safety Measures.—Reference has already been made to safety precautions for the pupil's safety. Never take anything for granted and always keep a careful control over the proceedings. When not in use (at bell control practice), bells which are up should be set at backstroke.

Control of electric light switches and the existence of an emergency light is important, since failure could lead to a nasty accident. There should always be more than one electric light in a ringing room. If necessary, fit a two-way adaptor. Young people are impulsive, and accidents not connected with the actual swinging of the bell should be guarded against (care about ladders, steps, trap doors, etc.).

Never ring a bell fully up with a coil round the hand. Display warnings when bells are up. Regard a bell as being up, unless sure, one way or the other. When ringing from a box do not let the toes protrude over the edge of the box Care must also be taken of the bells and fittings by precautions regarding clock hammers, chimes, etc."

Other points worth mentioning are: When ringing is taking place, and at all times, young children should be in the physical care of some responsible person(s) in the ringing room who are not themselves taking part in the ringing.

The bell chamber should be kept locked. Normally, a tutor should be an adult. When watching a swinging bell, not only should the watcher be safe from the bell rope but also from a flying clapper in case of breakage, i.e. stand out of line of its swing.

Regarding Mr. Jackson's reference to the Central Council issuing certificates of competence to tutors (page 376), perhaps the Council could debate this next year if there is time after "The Ringing World" debate. Perhaps it would be more useful to ensure that a bold notice is displayed in every ringing room, setting out the precautions to be observed for the safety of all concerned. This could be done by an inset in "The Ringing World." Copies could also be sent out by the librarian with publications purchased and the cost met from the Clement Glenn bequest, with a footnote asking the recipient to ensure that a copy was pinned up securely in his own tower and any visited. Incumbents of churches with bells should also be made aware of their indirect responsibility in the matter —Yours sincerely,

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

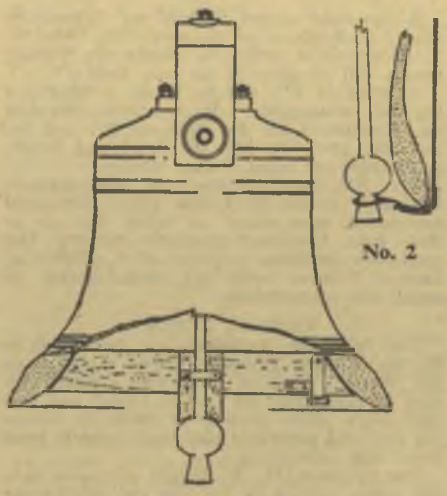
Rotherham.

A SERVICE WHEN THE BELLS SHOULD HAVE BEEN RUNG

Dear Sir,— The Cathedral Church of St. Philip, Birmingham, is well known for its record of peal ringing. Yet on Trinity Sunday, when the Bishop was ordaining deacons and priests to the sacred ministry, the bells were silent. Surely at this, one of the most important of the Church's services, the bells should have been ringing out to summon the faithful to witness this important service. Is not this a glaring example of wrong priorities? In our coachload of worshippers at this service we had seven bellringers and could easily have brought the other five to make up a band. We might not have been able to ring a peal but at least we should have been able to summon the faithful to God's house to witness the ordination of His deacons and priests.—Yours faithfully,

JOAN M. COLEY.

The Vicarage,
Rowley Regis.



No. 2

Launton No. 1

WASHINGTON'S SILENCERS

Dear Sir,—I am happy to supply the information called for by Mr. Savory in his letter published on May 19th.

These silencers and another simpler type were devised by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who has had the No. 1 pattern in use at Launton for 33 years. This is the pattern we supplied at Washington, and the appended sketch illustrates the principle.

A normal clapper stay is fitted with a miniature clapper at one end, and the back stop can be adjusted to vary the volume. This "clapperette" strikes the bell at each stroke, and even allows of raising and lowering in peal.

The No. 2 pattern uses the full size clapper, which is held captive one side by a piece of light rope looped round the flight, protected over the lip by a piece of leather, and tied up to the headstock. The width of the gap between the ball and the bell varies the volume.—Yours sincerely,

DOUGLAS HUGHES

London, E.

HALF-LEAD PEALS

Dear Sir,—I am sorry that I misread the heading to the peal at Frindsbury—I'd bet its defenders enjoyed replying! But they need not be on the defensive on my account as I had no intention of denigration. I shall certainly look forward to the debate on the motion concerning this topic at the Central Council meeting, though there is not really a great deal to discuss—either one is for or against the principle involved.

At the risk of incurring further wrath, an alternative idea occurred to me before I "rushed into print" for a second time: can the composer claim that the leads which are joined at the half-lead are indeed two methods, or are they neither method? The definition of a method, amongst other requisites, states that each division (or sub-division in the case of principles such as Stedman) must reverse true to itself, and reversion is defined so that all places counted from the beginning of the lead or division should correspond with places counted from the end of the lead or division upwards. Unless this definition is revised, it might be argued therefore that a half-lead of Yorkshire joined with a half-lead of Superlative can be given neither name—perhaps it is a pity that the term "hybrid" has already been used in another sense.—Yours faithfully,

W. E. CRITCHLEY.

THE DEATH WATCH—BE WATCHFUL BUT NOT ALARMED

Dear Sir,—We feel that Mr. Amos' article about the death watch beetle may have caused perhaps undue alarm in the minds of some of your ringers.

What is important is that if any church member sees the signs of deathwatch, which may be the little beetle, its tiny bun-shaped pellets, which are the excreted wood particles of the grubs which do the damage, or the one-eighth inch almost perfectly round flight holes, which the beetles make when they emerge, they should inform a member of the Parochial Church Council, the Vicar or one of the churchwardens. They can then call in the necessary timber experts to examine the whole of the timbers of the fabric.

The death watch beetle is slow in its work, great beams will and do stand centuries of the borings of the grubs. Only if overlong neglected could there be any possibility of structural collapse of timber, and such collapse will only take place after decades of woodworm attack.

By all means be watchful; go up with a torch and check over the old beams in the bell chamber as Mr. Amos suggests. But don't be alarmed.

Be watchful, bellringers, but go on ringing.—Yours faithfully.

"SEMI-LEARNERS'" GRIEVANCE

Dear Sir,—As a group of "semi-learners," we feel forced to say that we find the behaviour of some of the more experienced ringers often upsetting They seem to expect us to progress in one jump, from badly-struck Plain Bob to perfect Surprise Major, and this can be very difficult, especially if one comes from a six-bell tower.

Surely they were once learners themselves and felt the need for a little encouragement (which we have found on occasions to be completely lacking). We feel that the displays of temper, with which they treat learners in their first attempts at Surprise Major, do nothing to inspire learners with further confidence.

What makes is worse is the fact that they do not often ring in simpler methods to improve striking; neither do they stand behind progressing learners to help them.

We would like to ask these experienced ringers firstly to be available to less expert ringers who wish to make progress through peals or meetings, and secondly to be a little more helpful and encouraging to the learners, who, after all, are the ones who are to maintain the standards of ringing in the future.—Yours faithfully,

RINGERS' NOTEBOOK & DIARY, 1968

Most ringers will have been aware of our difficulties in producing the 1967 Diary, and to correct matters our binders are asking for the printed sheets much earlier than previously.

To enable us to do this we must invite the co-operation of all Association secretaries asking them to send lists of officers and dates of A.G.M.'s, dinners, etc., by July 7th, latest. Most Associations hold their A.G.M.'s before Whitsun, so the information should be available. If no amendments are notified we will assume that the 1967 lists remain unchanged.

No reminders can be sent this year.

LETTERS—Continued

THE U.L.S.C.R. PEAL AT GOSPEL OAK

Dear Sir,—As a member of the band that rang the U.L.S.C.R. peal at Gospel Oak, I feel that Mr. Knight's letter in last week's "Ringing World" calls for comment.

It is gratifying that he should take an interest in our activities in this tower; we and the Vicar were glad to hear the bells again after their long silence. The Vicar especially was "delighted" and gave us a big welcome after the peal. There had been no complaints then (hardly surprising, since the bells are now permanently muffled and are very quiet outside). Indeed, an old lady living near the church opened the window so as to hear them better.

Regarding George Hart and Ruth Foreman, who, Mr. Knight claims, should have been consulted before the peal, neither David Cawley, the secretary of U.L.S.C.R., nor the organiser of the peal had heard of these people, let alone that they were connected with St. Martin's tower. In applying for permission for the ringing for the annual dinner and for the peal they applied direct to the Vicar. It seems strange that he also omitted to consult Mr. Hart, in spite of being "well acquainted" with him.

Meanwhile, Mr. Knight is surely not serious in suggesting that every time a peal is rung in an otherwise "silent" tower the band should feel obliged to ring regularly on Sundays in that tower. We in the University Society have our own towers to ring in on Sundays and must leave Gospel Oak to the residents of N.W.5. One cannot help asking, though perhaps one had better not ask, why these residents should be unable to carry out this task, in view of the new Vicar's extreme willingness that the bells be rung.

Finally, I find it a trifle incredible that "many readers" of "The Ringing World" should be interested in the supposed restoration work carried out in St. Martin's by U.L.S.C.R. Somehow I feel that this subject can have little fascination for the ringing fraternity at large. Whether or not this is so, I am sorry to report that, to my knowledge, no such restoration work has been done or claimed to have been done. We did adjust a few ropes and call attention to two broken stays, indications of the neglect and misuse which the bells have suffered recently.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN C. HUTCHINSON,
King's College.

Sevenoaks, Kent.

NOTES IN A BELL

Dear Sir,—In reply to Canon Thurlow's letter ("Ringing World," May 26th, 1967), the article by Michael Howard to which he makes reference appeared in Volume 2 of the magazine "Hi-Fi News," Nos. 2 to 6 (July–November, 1957) as a five-part serial. I have a copy of the first four parts (the fifth concerned carillons and I regret now that I did not copy it) which Mr. Rush may like to borrow if he is unable to attain access to the original.

In a cursory perusal I can find no reference to 13 tones of a bell: the maximum considered is 10, although there is a passing note that great bells may have "a dozen or more." Mr. Howard considers in detail the location in the bell of the various vibrations that produce the different tones (called partials), and also shows how the thickness and shape-proportions of the bell can affect the relationship between their actual notes. There is also an interesting "sound spectrum" showing how the first five tones die away at different speeds after the bell has been struck, thus giving a continuously changing harmonic balance between them, which in turn affects what we hear, and additionally a diagram of the carrying power over distance of the first five tones, along with many more technical details concerning nodes of vibration, etc. —Yours faithfully,

ROBERT E. HARDY.

HOAXES

Dear Sir,—Whilst to write hoax letters to "The Ringing World" are very childish actions, they have had the effect of making the paper more interesting, at least to those in the know I think, therefore, that you ought to expose all such letters as soon as you know about them, and it is the duty of every member of the Exercise to assist you in this. I think you ought to know that the letter signed "Walter Knight" was in fact written by a well-known Plain Bob composer and conductor, a man of many pseudonyms.

To associate the name of any particular Society with the recent spate of hoaxes is grossly unfair. In the Society hinted at there are a large number of members who have had nothing to do with any hoax letters and who do not condone such letters. The person(s) concerned with the letters is/are also members of other Societies, and so if one Society is to be held responsible for the actions of its members, then so should the others.—Yours sincerely,

HAROLD LAWRENCE.

Lewisham, S.E.

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPTS

Dear Sir,—Might I add my support to those who have recently expressed views that they would like "The Ringing World" to publish forthcoming peal attempts.

I know there is a surprising number of ringers (and, I suspect, non-ringers), who would welcome the chance to hear some good examples of ringing on all numbers of bells, even if this entailed travelling some distance and expense.

In a feature "Forthcoming peal attempts" I suggest the following be the minimum information required: Date and time of start, tower, method, and in addition some idea of who will be participating, i.e. either Association attempting the peal or the name of the conductor, arranger or your correspondent.

Those of us who try to teach learners not only to handle a bell but also to strike properly might find taking these youngsters to hear how it should be done very useful. In addition this would help any tape-recording enthusiasts who might wish to "capture" some worthwhile ringing on a good ring of bells.—Yours faithfully,

CLIVE M. SMITH.

Lichfield, Staffs.

SURPRISE COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,—I would like to draw the attention of conductors to Cyril Wratten's collection of Surprise compositions and to give a warning. This thoroughly useful publication contains no peals with singles and it is important that conductors should realise that the notes in the collection apply only to such compositions. For example, the note: "All 'tenors together' compositions of Yorkshire (Major) are true (to Aldenham)" is not true for peals containing singles. Indeed, since the purpose of singles in Yorkshire is largely to give both 56 and 65 course-ends, such compositions are very likely to be false to Aldenham, where the middle lead of the course 23465 is false against the middle lead of the plain course. An article on the changes involved in using this type of composition for different methods would be very welcome.

I was very pleased to see Richard G. Crosland's peal of Surprise Major with method changes at the half-leads. Since his first composition on these lines appeared I had looked forward to seeing the one without bobs and singles.

The correspondence it has caused has been an even greater source of pleasure. Mr. Smith has a point, but I think the following equally logical development is a little nearer being a logical conclusion. This is not only irregular but, if the sections are written out in reverse for the next half-lead, following the "convention" that cross-section places are determined by the previous (and not the following) section, then it is unsymmetrical and the 7th makes three blows in 8ths. Would these qualities be acceptable because the conductor has to say something every four changes?—Yours sincerely,

BELFRY GOSSIP

Congratulations to Mr. Fred Bennett, tower captain at Ossett, Yorks, on his appointment as Mayor of Ossett.

The methods rung in the peal at Hothfield (page 238) were London, York, Bourne, Norwich, Beverley, Ipswich and Cambridge.

Descending Tintinhull, Somerset, tower after ringing a peal (page 381), the band found that the lock of the tower door could not be freed and they were trapped inside. Fifteen nerve-racking minutes followed until the lock was finally freed.

Placings in the Salisbury Branch striking competition at Shrewton on May 27th were: Fittleton (Grandsire) 26 faults; Wilton (Grandsire) 35; Broadchalke (Grandsire) 44; Enford (Bob Minor) 48; Sarum St. Thomas' (Grandsire) 51. Judges: Messrs. H. Gummer and D. Bailey.

Lt.-Col. C. F Jerram, who was G.S.O.I. to the old 46th (North Midland) Territorial Division, which included the 139th (Sherwood Foresters) Brigade when it stormed the "unbreakable" Hindenburg line, capturing 4,000 prisoners and 70 guns, sends greetings and peaceful ringing to those who are left and their children.

Mr. Harry P. Thompson, secretary of the Western District of the Durham and Newcastle Association, is going abroad for a spell. Mr. William Davidson, 27, Ross Avenue, Dunston, Gateshead, is the new District secretary, and Mr. Alan C. Walker, of 6, Ford Street, Lanchester, will be tower captain at Lanchester.

Found at St. Peter's, Nottingham, after C.C. week-end, one pair lady's white gloves. Apply to D. Stainsby, 376, Loughborough Road, West Bridgford, Nottingham.

The wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett is June 13th. It was not that they had forgotten the date, as is suggested by their silver wedding announcement in the issue of June 9th, but a much regretted typographical error.

The meeting of the East Grinstead and District Guild at Nutfield on June 10th, which was attended by over 30 members, was memorable for two things—the hospitality of Miss Kempsall in inviting the members to tea at her cottage, and the presentation to the popular secretary, Miss Margaret Ladd, and Mr. Raymond Large of a wedding gift.

Mr. Peter S. Abbott, of Brampton, Hunts, expressing his regret over the fate of the bells of St. Alkmund's, Derby, calls attention to near where he lives there is an excellent four, containing two examples of the beautiful work of Joseph Eayre. This church is to be demolished and a new one built nearer the village. "I wonder if any provision has been made to retain these bells, but I think I can guess the answer."

An extremely good impression was left by one outing of ringers who recently visited Derbyshire. The organiser thoughtfully left a postcard in each tower, thanking those responsible for permitting the visit and use of the bells. A suggestion perhaps for other organisers!

DISCOVERED AN UNKNOWN FIVE

During his research into the bells of Dorset Mr. C. Dalton found a ring of five steel bells the existence of which even the Vicar was unaware and which had not been listed in "Dove's." It was only with the loan of a long ladder from a farmer that he found it.

The prospect of ringing the bells was conveyed to Mr. G. K. Dodd, who with a party from North Hants set out on June 4th to ring at nine towers en route. The new-found bells are at Toller Whelme, near Beaminster, a village consisting of two houses and a church. Mr. Dodd reports that the bells were cast by Naylors and Vickers in the late 1800's and the tenor appeared to weigh 3 to 4 cwt. The wheels also are of steel and there are no stays or sliders. Each bell is in an independent steel frame and this forms a perfect rope circle.

Ropes were fitted, improvisations made and the bells raised individually. Much practice was needed before perfect rounds were rung on the floor immediately below the bells. The noise was terrific; there was no cotton wool available for ear plugs.

Outside, the bells are a pretty ring although the third and fourth are on one note, rather similar to Ampney Crucis, Glos. The two and a half hours spent here were much enjoyed and a second visit will probably be planned. It has been said that the bells were rung to changes early in the century by a Beaminster band. Can any Beaminster ringer verify this?

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

The annual general meeting was held on May 6th in St. Olave's Church Hall, and the following officers were elected: President, David Martin; vice-presidents, John Seagar, Derek Sibson, Alan Thirst; Master, Robin Churchill; secretary, Christopher Starbuck; treasurer, Lawrence Hanney; committee, Audrey Alexander, Graham Elmes and Timothy Pett. All communications should be sent care of the vice-president, Alan Thirst, 15, Clifford Grove, Ashford, Middlesex, who will forward them to the appropriate officer. Proposed amendments to the constitution were accepted by the meeting. Please note, therefore, that all nominations for officers must now be with the committee at least one week before the meeting. C. P. S.

ESSEX TRIBUTE TO FREE CHURCH MINISTER

The six bells of St. Mary Magdalene's, Wethersfield, Essex, were rung half-muffled on June 7th after the funeral of the Congregational minister, the Rev. A. Ray. Mr. Ray must have been one of very few Non-conformist ministers ever to have attended a District meeting of the Essex Association. He was one of those rare people who ever thanked the ringers for their efforts and loved especially to waken to the sound of bells on Christmas mornings.

CONDUCTORS YOU HAVE MET

This competition proved to be more difficult than anticipated. The correct solution was: 1H, 2L, 3E, 4G, 5J, 6I, 7A, 8B, 9D, 10K, 11C, 12F. The best entry was from Miss E. M. Emmett, 1, Blenheim Road, Redland, Bristol, who is awarded the prize of 10s. Other near efforts were from Mrs. H. Chapman, 20, Edward Avenue, Bishopstoke, Hants; Mr. P. D. Dawson-Taylor, 2, Auckland House, Waterloo Road, Sutton, Surrey; Mr. A. J. Davidson, Tyneholme, Barrack Lane, Truro.

MR. E. P. DUFFIELD—A MAYOR

The new Mayor of Colchester is Mr. E. P. Duffield. The occasion was not allowed to pass without a tribute from the bells, a quarter peal being rung at Bures. Our correspondent writes: "In 1950 an idea was born to complete the octave at Bures, but before it could be achieved it was necessary not only to convert the P.C.C. but to educate parishioners into some of the mysteries. Mr. E. P Duffield was one of those whose support was most valuable in obtaining permission for the trebles to be installed."

A CHELTENHAM MEMORIAL

Cheltenham Parish Church now has a permanent reminder of the long service of the late Mr. William Dyer. Before Matins on June 3rd the Rector, Canon H. A. Evan Hopkins, dedicated a carved plaque which reads:

"In memory William Dyer, a ringer at this church for 41 years. Captain of the ringers 1930–1950. Died 20th May, 1965. Aged 80."

In addition to the ringers, the widow, their son, daughter and their families were present, as well as Mr. J. Pouncet, verger, and Miss M. Bliss, chairman, Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

This is the third tablet to be placed in the tower, the others being for J. H. Philott, 1876-1926, and W. T. Pates, 1873-1936.

BATTERSEA RINGERS IN THE SOUTH DOWNS

Not only did everyone arrive, but everyone arrived on time! On that unprecedented note Battersea ringers set out for Sussex on May 20th.

South Harting Church (6) in its fine setting, was much enjoyed and the unusual experience of ringing at the foot of the chancel delighted many. The effects of ringing immediately after lunch made themselves felt at Chichester Cathedral, but on the fine ring at Arundel (8) the ringing was consistently good. After a saunter round the town and tea we headed over the Downs to Pulborough. Though our ringing was not too bad, it provoked a severe storm and we hurried to Reigate along flooded roads. The climax here was a quite respectable half-course of Cambridge Royal.

A KENT RESTORATION

Bredgar, Kent, bells were taken to Whitechapel in March, where three of them were cast in 1579, 1692 and 1842 (the other two having been cast by John Wilnar of Borden in 1620 and 1634), and recently a dozen parishioners saw two new trebles being cast from the metal of the old tenor of 1842. It was a thrilling sight! They also saw and heard the four old bells which have been tuned to form the back four of a ring of six in the key of G.

"We hope to have them all back and hung in a new frame some time in the autumn," writes the Vicar, the Rev. Stanley N. Evans. The restoration will cost over £2,000, towards which £1,560 has either been given or promised. A special effort was a fair on June 10th.

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPT

Ottery St. Mary, Devon, Cambridge Surprise Major, Saturday, July 8th, 9.30 p.m. approx.

MRS. BARNETT'S FIRST TOWER BELL PEAL

The very large circle of friends of Olive and Teddy Barnett will have read with great pleasure of Olive's first peal on tower bells, this being, incidentally, her 25th peal. The story behind this peal will be of interest and perhaps of encouragement to many.

Although she learned to handle a bell towards the end of the war and first attempted a tower bell peal about 20 years ago, Olive had no great liking for ringing on tower bells, although she was, of course, a very competent performer on handbells, on which she has rung several peals. About five years ago she joined us at our practices in London and such has been her persistence and determination to reach the standard set that it is now commonplace to see her striking her bell in perfect rhythm with the others in methods as difficult as Glasgow, Yeading and the like. A particular point is that these complex methods rung at practice are always learned by Olive with meticulous care.

It has given many of us a great deal of pleasure to see this peal achieved. We look forward, following the accomplishment of this milestone of the first tower bell peal, to many others in the complex methods she rings so well. D. B.

MEMORIAL TO MR. E. H. STONELEY

Many branches of public life were represented at the Boys' Club, Stoke Golding, Leicestershire, when a memorial plaque was unveiled to the memory of Edwin Harry Stoneley, one of the county's outstanding personalities in many walks of life, not the least as a bellringer, being a member of the old Wednesday afternoon band formed in 1923 by Charles Draper and Maurice Swinfield of Burton-on-Trent. His peal total is thought to be between 550 and 600.

About 200 people squeezed into the Club, which was founded by Harry and run solely by him for several years. Speakers paid tribute to the various talents of this remarkable man, including Tom Belton, who spoke of his abilities as a bellringer.

Between the speeches, entertainment was provided by the school choir and orchestra and the Earl Shilton handbell ringers.

Harry's miniature handbells were produced, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by George Newton, Mrs. Jill Staniforth (president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild), Alfred Ballard and Tom Belton.

It was an evening of reminiscing and we came away feeling we had many reasons for being thankful for the life of Edwin Harry Stoneley. T. C. B.

BELLS A LEGEND IN MIDLANDS

The first quarter of Major for more than 20 years was rung at Darlaston on May 11th. The condition of the little rung bells has been something of a legend in the Midlands. Chris Bainham regarded the tenor as the most difficult he had rung to a quarter. It is hoped that the bells will soon receive attention but in the meantime the ring is available for any courageous souls who are prepared for hard work.

ANOTHER LANCASHIRE 10-BELL TOWER

St. James', Accrington, is in the process of having a ring of ten. The headstocks of treble, second and third have been taken to the foundry. Ringing is reduced to the back five until late August, when St. James' will become a 10-bell tower.

TUITION TEASERS—No. 4

ROPE FLY-OUT

Q. What is the handling error which causes the rope to fly out in front of the ringer as the sally rises to handstroke? (From the Rabbits' Guild.)

A. To understand easily this "rope-throw" we need a diagram, but in its absence (cost) we may consider an analysis of the complete backstroke, i.e. consider what precedes the "sally rising to handstroke," as you put it. It is, of course, the "sally fall," and this is preceded by the pull-off part of the backstroke, when the rope comes downwards from the highest position attained by the rope's end. The crux of the whole matter is that this downward movement of the rope, from the boss or rope-hole in the ceiling (or guide frame) must be "straight down," or vertical. So that if the learner is (see "Tuition Teasers" Nos. 2 & 3):

(i) Standing correctly in relation to the rope-fall, and

(iii) Pulling correctly with all arm joints flexing, the sally will pass down then up again, within about three or four inches of the front of the body. There will then be no "fly-out," to use your expression.

But our analysis shows that there are four factors that may, either singly or in varied combination, upset this rope-fall. Three arise from faulty performance or handling error, while the fourth is functional or mechanical. (The remedy is given in each case.)

(1) Fault. Stiff arm action, i.e. elbow and wrist joints not flexing.

(2) Fault. Shoulders (and therefore arms) brought forward by undue bending movement from the hips. In either case the effect is the same: pull is not vertical close to the body but in an arc of a circle (more or less), out and away from the ringer. (Remedy for these two in "Tuition Teaser" No. 2.)

(3) Fault. "Tipping the sally." This is infrequent, but does occur. Pupil is over anxious about catching sally, and too soon releases his upper-hand hold on rope's end (see "Tuition Teaser" No. 3), his opened fingers "tipping the sally" to swing out of its vertical line of travel. Remedy is to retain upper-hand grip to bottom of stroke (straight arms), transferring it to sally when latter has turned from "down" to "up."

(4) Functional. The source of the trouble is known as "drawing" of the rope and occurs occasionally, the rope's line of travel being "drawn" out of the vertical, between on the one hand the guide-wheel (or pulley) and boss in the floor of the bell chamber, and, on the other hand, the same in the floor of the room below. This "drawing" of ropes is done to make a satisfactory "rope circle" in the ringing chamber below; but the "drawn" line of travel of the rope tends to continue (after passing through the ringing room ceiling boss) in the direction of the draw. This may be in any direction round the full 360 degrees from the ringer as centre. In circumstances where this malfunctioning is marked, a single boss only will be found to be employed; in what is both the ceiling of the ringing chamber and the floor of the room above it, combined. When, however, there is a separate floor immediately above the ringing chamber ceiling, two bosses are employed, and their vertically spaced setting usually corrects any rope-throw induced by the rope-draw above. In cases where the drawn effect is passed on to the ringer a more or less effective remedy is for him to shift his normal standing position slightly in the direction opposite to the rope-throw, when his normal handling will tend to correct it.

A Day In London

Arranged by Madge and Peter Ashby, a party of ringers from Barton-le-Cley, Beds, visited London on June 3rd. Mr. Douglas Hughes conducted them around the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, where the ten bells for Wymondham Abbey were among the interesting exhibits.

A picnic lunch in Battersea Park preceded ringing on the new ropes at St. Mary's, Battersea. The next tower, St. Anne's, Highgate, necessitated crossing London. Here after ringing we joined in Evensong, conducted by Father H. Whittingham. An excellent tea was prepared in the Church Hall, Gospel Oak, by Mr. and Mrs. Jennings, and the best ringing of the day was at St. Martin's (6). Home was reached at 11 p.m.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The two six-bell towers at Market Weighton and Nunburnholme were made available for the Eastern District annual general meeting on May 20th.

A warm welcome was accorded Mr. and Mrs. V. Bottomley and companions from Dewsbury and Mr. Stoat from Coventry. Mr. H Walker was also present, being fully recovered from a recent operation.

The business meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Mr. Alan Sheppard. Proceedings were rather prolonged due to balloting for the election of D. S. Johnson as the new District Ringing Master and the six committee members: Miss J. Gray (Walkington), Miss Wilkinson (York), Mrs. E. Johnson (Kirk Ella), L. M. Woodhead (Goole) J. Potts (Sherburn) and W. Stoker, Hemingbrough). Five new members were accepted: R. Carey (Holme-on-Spalding Moor), E. Oliver (Walkington), N. Hildred (Huntington), N. Paling (Cottingham) and A. Bridges (student, Holy Trinity, Hull.

Howden was proposed for the August meeting, together with Eastrington. An invitation from Mr. C. Brown to include a visit to the four-bell tower at Bubwith was also accepted.

Southern District

The Southern District annual general meeting was held at Tickhill on May 20th, where Mr. H. Chant organised touches from call changes to Surprise Major. Mr. Geoff Pilkington proposed the vote of thanks to Canon Guy Cook, the Rector, and the ladies for the excellent tea.

At the annual general meeting, with Mr. M. Meadows, vice-president, presiding, Mr. Chant was re-elected Ringing Master, and Messrs. J. Seager, A. Staveley and T. Tarbutt to the Association and District Committee. Messrs. J. J. L. Gilbert, G. Pilkington and R. Sanderson were also appointed to the District Committee. New members elected were the Misses Joyce and Susan Laidlow, Rosaline Eslick, Irene Royston (all of Sprotborough) and Carol Ellison (Whiston).

50 YEARS AT LANGPORT

When the Ilchester Branch held its quarterly meeting at Langport on June 3rd over 40 ringers present saw the Master of the Association (the Rev. H. F. Warren) present an illuminated scroll to Mr. H. Westlake to commemorate 50 years of faithful service as a ringer and members of All Saints', Langport, tower. It was the gift of his colleagues.

The company stood in silence to honour the memories of Mr. George Coles of Taunton and Mr. John Hall of Uphill. New members elected were Messrs. J. Stone and Francis (Drayton) and Robin Geard and A. Strickland (Montacute). Thanks were expressed to the Vicar (the Rev. W. E. L. Houldon), who conducted the service, and the ladies who provided a splendid tea.

Ringers were invited by Mr. Gordon Rendell to two events at Montacute—Parish Communion, June 25th. 9.30 a.m., and induction of the Rev. R M. Bevan to the living on July 31st; bells 6–7 p.m.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The South Wales District was fascinated by the tenor counter when a meeting was held at Ebbw Vale on June 3rd. This recorded on a dial every blow of that bell. At the end of the evening calculations were made and it was discovered that the tenor had been struck 3.192 times.

The Rev. W. R. Lewis conducted the service and Mr. Reuben Clench, on behalf of the adults. thanked the ladies for the lovely tea, and Master David Parfrey, aged seven, from a chair, offered thanks for all the children.

In the absence of the vice-president, Mrs. Betty Parfrey presided at the business meeting, when three young members from Chepstow were elected—Patty Williams and Sandra and Anne Mattey.

SOME NOTES ON THE FOUNDRY OF BILBIE

By M. G. MESSER

SOMERSET is a county known for its tall and beautiful church towers. It is equally famous for its bells. The number of bell foundries that have existed in the county eclipses that of any other county except Yorkshire. Although none of these foundries lasted long, one family of founders stands out from the rest, namely that of Bilble.

The foundry of the Bilbie family was begun in 1698, when "old Edward Bilbie" (as he styled himself) established the business at the village of Chewstoke, nestling under the Mendip Hills. The foundry flourished so well that later on a branch was opened at Cullompton in Devon. "Old Edward Bilbie" died in 1732, but not before his successor's name occurs, for as early as 1719 we find a Thomas Bilbie mentioned. Thomas seems to have died in 1754 and was succeeded by another Thomas, who is last heard of in 1790. The last owners of the foundry were Abraham Bilbie (1768–1773), William (1775–1790) and James (1793–1814).

The bells of this foundry are many, especially in Somerset itself, where the Bilbies' rivals—the Rudhalls of Gloucester—were almost kept out entirely. The branch at Cullompton lasted until 1813, when it was taken over by William Pannell, who subsequently moxed to Exeter.

The inscriptions on the Bilbie bells are often lengthy and very often amusing. At Cullompton on a bell dated 1746 was cast this inscription:

"Bilbie the Founder. Bush the Hanger.
"Heathfield's the man that rings the tenor."

A rival of the Bilbie family was Evans of Chepstow, who, upon casting the fifth at Backwell, Somerset, put this inscription on the bell:

"Bilby and Boosh may come and see
"What Evans and Nott have done by me."
(Boosh probably refers to Bush.)

Bilbie was not to be outdone, however, for he also had another rival in the form of the Cockey family, the first of whom went by the name of Mordecai. We gather from a bell of Bilbie's cast in 1732 at Dunkerton, Somerset, that the earlier operations of the Cockey family were not very successful:

"Before I was broke I was as good as any
"But when that Cokey casted I near was worth a penny."

At Corston, near Bath, Thomas Bilbie cast a bell which was regarded with suspicion by the locals. Their remarks did not escape the foundry at Chewstoke, and so the churchwardens' accounts for the year 1754 read as follows:

"October 22nd, 1754.—Whereas a suspicion has been conserning ye goodness of ye bell lately cast by Thomas Bilby he doth hereby oblige himself that if ye said bell should be slot or otherwise hurt by faer ringing or towling within one year from ye time it was hung up he will cast ye said bell again without any expenses to ye parish, as Witness my hand.—William Bilbie."

This guarantee it seems had great effect, for immediately following the above statement this receipt occurs:

"October 22nd, 1754.—Received of Mr. John Humfris the sum of seven pounds three shillings in ful for last payment for casting the too Bell for the use of Thomas Bilbie. Received by me—William Bilbie."

OUR PICTURE

ST. MARY'S, PRITTLEWELL, ESSEX

By PETER AND DAVID SLOMAN

"When sweetly rings this bell
From the tower of Prittlewell,
Let Jesus Christ be praised."
1895.

THUS reads the inscription on the fourth bell at Prittlewell, whose beautifully proportioned Perpendicular tower stands overlooking both the estuary and surrounding countryside.

The importance of bells in the tower was shown in 1548, when in order to supply a bell frame, much of the church plate was sold. Subsequently, in 1553, the first five bells were hung in the tower, the tenor bell weighing 25 cwt. These, by 1603, had become unringable and were recast by Richard Holdfield, a Cambridge founder, through a bequest by William Ayliffe, a London merchant. The Holdfield tenor weighed approximately 20 cwt., and was recast in 1682 by John Darbie of Ipswich, by which time its weight was down to some 16¼ cwt. Later the fourth bell fell from its fittings and it was recast in 1772 by Pack and Chapman. In 1806 Thomas Mears added a treble bell to complete the six.

There has never been a lack of keen ringers at Prittlewell. So keen were those in 1840, when Dr. Nolan was the Vicar, that he had considerable difficulty in persuading them to commence ringing at 8 a.m. instead of 5 a.m.! After brandishing a carving knife over their heads, the Vicar eventually besieged the ringers with pistols. This resulted in the imprisonment of one of the ringers and, in turn, an effigy of Dr. Nolan was burned in the parish. Fortunately, today relations with the clergy are less strained!

All the bells except the treble were cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1872, and in 1895 they added two more trebles. The tenor at this time weighed 17¼ cwt. The ring as it is today was completed in 1902 by John Warner of London, who added two trebles, recast the tenor (18¼ cwt.) and hung the ten bells in a new frame with new fittings. Details are:

Treble.—26¼ in. 4 cwt.
Second.—28¼ in. 4 cwt. 2 qr.
Third.—28¾ in. 4 cwt. 3 qr.
Fourth.—29¾ in. 5 cwt. 1 qr.
Fifth.—30½ in. 5 cwt. 3 qr.
Sixth.—32½ in. 6 cwt. 3 qr.
Seventh.—35¼ in. 8 cwt. 3 qr.
Eighth.—37½ in. 9 cwt. 3 qr.
Ninth.—42 in. 14 cwt.
Tenor.—47 in. 18 cwt. 1 qr. 15 lb. in E.

The ten were rung for the first time on May 30th, 1902, to celebrate the coronation of Edward VII, after whom the tenor is named.

The treble proudly proclaims:

"A Royal peal are we
We ring o'er land and sea
From Prittlewell belfry."
1902."

The record peal of 12,740 Bob Royal was rung at St. Mary's in 1950, composed and conducted by Frank Lufkin, the then Master at Prittlewell.

"We are three jolly ringers from Prittlewell tower,
We ring and we ring for hour upon hour" goes the opening lines of a song written at the time.

It was Frank Lufkin who, because of the rather isolated area around Southend, created the Southend and District Guild. The aim of the Guild, which has been going for 17 years, is to help young ringers in the area who are unable to travel the distances necessary to attend other meetings.

The Guild is holding a Ringing and Flower Festival at Prittlewell in July. This will be the last time that the bells will be available before they go to the founders for rehanging and possibly recasting. P. & D. S.

A New Master for Essex Association

THE 88th annual general meeting of the Essex Association was held on the spring Bank Holiday, May 29th, at Chelmsford.

Probably due to the fine weather, the numbers were well up on last year, approximately 120 members and friends being in attendance. Ringing on the bells of Chelmsford Cathedral preceded the service and a touch of Stedman Cinques was brought round. The service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Provost, the Very Rev. Hilary Connop-Price, who also preached an impressive sermon.

The business meeting followed in the Chapter House with the Master, Mr. Robert C. Heazel, in the chair, and after adopting Standing Orders the visitors were welcomed.

MR. F. B. LUFKIN
(The new Master)

FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES

The treasurer, Mr. P. J. Eves, commenting on the statement of accounts, said that it had not been a very satisfactory year for the General Fund. The main financial problem was the increase in the cost of printing the annual report. The printer, who up until this year had produced the report, had unfortunately gone out of business, which necessitated the Association having to find a new printer. The running costs of the Association were also continually rising but the subscriptions were remaining stagnant. Mr. J. Chalk observed that it was pleasant to note a reduction in the amount of arrears outstanding compared with last year.

ANNUAL REPORT

With the task of finding a new printer over, Mr. C. K. Cooper, the report editor, was thanked for all his efforts in producing such a splendid report and also for seeing that it was produced in time for the annual meeting. A few suggestions to improve the report were received from various members.

In the annual report, the Master reflected over the last 14 years and noted the many changes in the structure of the Association which formed a direct and continuous line of progress. The members who had retired from honorary offices during the year were thanked for their hard work.

A ringing competition had been held and, for the second year in succession, St. Leonard's, Colchester, gained first place. The Association had once again been requested to assist by ringing each evening at the Cathedral for the Festival Week and, as a result of this, four quarter peals and one peal were successfully completed. Membership had risen by some 29 ringing members, bringing the current ringing membership up to 874. Meetings had been held throughout the Districts regularly with an average of some 35 members at each meeting.

STANDARD OF PEALS MAINTAINED

During 1966, 104 peals had been rung, with 179 members taking part, including 14 first pealers. Worthy of mention were the peals of 116, 136 and 145 Spliced Minor, conducted by Mr. J. E. G. Roast. The South Eastern Division rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus with entirely their own members, and two peals of Cinques had been rung at Waltham Abbey with bands mainly from that tower. The leading peal ringer was Mr. J. L. Towler, who rang 37 peals for the Association, and Miss J. A. Quilter led the ladies by scoring 23 peals.

INCREASED FINANCIAL RESOURCES

It was decided after some discussion that the ringing subscriptions should be raised from 3s. 6d. to 5s. Mr. L. J Clark said that in 1919 the membership cost 1s. 6d. per year, and since that date the cost of living had risen some three to four times and, going by the law of averages, 5s. was not an unreasonable amount to pay in 1967. The subscription for honorary members was also raised to not less than 5s. and the levy on peal ringers was increased from 6d. to 1s. per ringer.

The meeting was then adjourned for lunch in the Cathedral Hall, the catering and serving of the lunch being ably carried out by members of the South Eastern Division. It was regretted that the Master's wife could not be present due to an operation in hospital, and the wishes of the meeting were conveyed to Mrs Heazel for a speedy return to health.

The meeting was resumed after lunch with the main business outstanding of the election of honorary officers. Mr. Heazel, to the regret of the Association, did not seek re-election as Master, and Mr. Frank B. Lufkin was elected.

While the votes for Master were being counted, Mr. Heazel looked back over the years since he first came on to the committee of the Essex Association. He praised Sunday service ringers, saying it was a great service to God, the Queen and the country. He thanked the members for all their support in the past and asked that they should support the new Master with the same enthusiasm and vigour.

Mr. F. B. Lufkin then also thanked the members for their support and said that he realised what a great responsibility the job entailed and hoped that he could carry on in the footsteps of Mr Heazel, who had many qualities which he himself did not possess.

The other honorary officers were: Secretary, P. W. Saltmarsh; treasurer. P. J. Eves; auditors, Miss V. Cross. G. H. Isgar; trustees, J. Clarke, P J. Came and D. A. S. Symonds

A vote of thanks was given by Mr. Heazel to all those who had been concerned in the arrangements and who had assisted at the meeting

The meeting was then closed and ringing was resumed at towers surrounding Chelmsford until 9 p.m.

ASHFORD & CANTERBURY DISTRICTS RINGING SCHOOL

The attractive village of Wickhambreaux was the centre for the ringing school organised jointly by the Ashford and Canterbury Districts on May 20th. The 50 pupils with lecturers and instructors were welcomed by the Vicar and the day began with prayers.

The morning lectures took place in the Village Hall, and after a practical session on rope splicing led by Alan Berry the company divided. Donald Niblett explained Bob Doubles and Minor to the majority, whilst Derek Car instructed a select group on conducting and method splicing.

Following the lunch break the towers of the neighbouring villages were put to good use. Rising and lowering was practised at Preston-next-Wingham, while a session on bell control was run at Wingham. The bells at Wickhambreaux were in use, where the theory of the morning was put into practice.

An excellent tea was provided at Wickhambreaux, after which prizes were presented to Lesley Harwood and Ruth Hewson for rope splicing and Keith Butler for the "Name the Tower" competition. The prizes were donated by Mr. John Willis. Bert Luck was warmly greeted after his illness and thanks were expressed to the three incumbents for the use of the bells, to the many instructors and helpers, and particularly to Keith Davies and Alan Berry, whose hard work had made the day so successful.

During the evening Mrs. Betty Robbins explained a little of the mysteries of handbell ringing in an excellent talk with demonstrations and practice for pupils.

BAWTRY RINGERS VISIT EAST YORKS

Although the weather was not too good, Bawtry ringers had an enjoyable day on May 27th, when they visited East Yorkshire. Towers visited in the morning were North Ferriby, Hessle and Kirk Ella. We were in Hull for our packed lunches and returned there for tea at the Manor Cafe. Ringing at Hedon and Withernsea occupied the afternoon with evening ringing at Cottingham, Walkington and Market Weighton.

Our thanks are extended to incumbents and ringers who welcomed us and to Mr. D. V. Stipetic for helping with the tea arrangements.

CLECKHEATON BELLS RING AGAIN

DURING the past few months much effort has been expended teaching a band for Cleckheaton, Yorkshire, and clearing the belfry and ringing room of the accumulation of years of neglect and also reducing the sound output from the belfry This labour reached fruition on Sunday, June 11th, when many of the new ringers rang their bells "open" for the first time for the occasion of the civic service, the new Mayor having been a ringer at Cleckheaton when the bells were last rung regularly, some seven or eight years ago.

The idea was born when the Vicar of Cleckheaton, the Rev. G. M. Rider, wrote to Mr. V. Bottomley asking whether he knew anyone who would teach a band for his church. Vernon asked his ringers at Dewsbury, whose own ringing experience varied from six months to three years, if they would like to take this on as a band The enthusiasm of the Dewsbury ringers was such that within a week or two of that first letter 15 recruits poured into Dewsbury tower to see ringing in action. It was arranged that the party be split into two groups. the first group to have silent practice from 3.15 to 4.45 p.m. on Sundays. All the handling was taught on Dewsbury bells, the local band taking off the clapper stays for service ringing at 5.45 p.m. The intervening hour was spent "polishing" some new Dewsbury ringers who had been ringing for about a month!

When the first group were handling alone their practice took place from 4.15 to 5.40 p.m., whilst the second group learned to handle from 2.45 to 4.15 p.m. With so many tutors progress was made quite quickly and after about ten lessons many were attempting "silent" rounds.

Meanwhile Vernon Bottomley and Wilfrid Moreton had examined the bells and found that there were a few minor repairs needed and a lot of cleaning and painting required (in addition to the sound-proofing). In due course a joiner effected the boarding up of the louvres, the Vicar, some of his bellringing recruits and the usual hard-working helpers who always rally in such circumstances, cleaned and painted the frame and ringing chamber, and Mr. Moreton did the repairs and advised generally.

The civic service was now the target towards which all efforts were directed. On the previous Wednesday work was found to be in a sufficiently advanced state for a silent practice to be held at Cleckheaton. This enabled the local band to get the "feel" of the bells and also to take the stretch out of the newly-washed ropes.

Sunday, June 11th, dawned fine and sunny. At 2 p.m some two dozen ringers gathered in the ringing room which was built to accommodate about a dozen in comfort. At this stage only four of the Cleckheaton ringers had rung "open"; however, bands took it in turn to ring rounds with two or three Cleckheaton ringers in each "touch," the bands then being made up by the Dewsbury ringers and Wilfrid Moreton. The ringing went as well as could be expected and many of the parishioners remarked how nice to hear the bells again. Mrs. Rider then provided a marvellous tea on the Vicarage lawn.

All the ringing will be "open" now at Cleckheaton, and the Dewsbury ringers will continue to teach and help their new friends as long as they require assistance.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

There was a gratifying preponderance of younger ringers when the Marlborough Branch held at meeting at Pewsey on May 27th. Canon F. Browne, a former Rector of Marlborough, conducted the service, Mr. F. Read supervised the ringing and Mr. Wakefield and helpers provided the tea. Six towers in the Branch were represented.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION

A New President

OVER 60 members and visitors attended the annual meeting of the North Wales Association held at Dolgellau on June 3rd. There was ringing in the afternoon before the service, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. Elwern Thomas, who gave a very appropriate address on bells.

The company then retired to the Church Hall for tea and the business meeting, at which the Vicar presided, supported by the Ringing Master, Mr. F. R. Evans.

An apology for absence was received from the president, Archdeacon D. E. M. Glynne Jones, who requested the secretary to convey his best wishes to the members and also wondered whether he should continue as president now that he was residing in Montgomeryshire and "off the beat" covered by the Association.

The balance sheet was presented by the treasurer, Mr. W. Cathrall, and adopted as correct. A credit balance of £34 3s. 1d. was considered satisfactory.

The Rev. A. L Cooke, M.A., Vicar of Hope, was elected as the new president of the Association. Three new vice-presidents were also elected—the Revs. J. Ivor Rees, Vicar of Llangollen; J. Ll. Jones, Vicar of Wrexham; and J. Elwern Thomas. All other officers were re-elected.

Machynlleth was chosen for the next half-yearly meeting, to be held on Saturday, September 2nd, and the annual meeting in 1968 at Hope on June 15th.

Dr. E. V. Woodcock, Central Council representative, presented her report of the C.C. meeting at Nottingham, and was congratulated by the chairman for a very interesting and lucid account of the meeting.

Under any other business the Ringing Master spoke of the success of the recent day school held at Llangollen under the tuition of Mr. C. Kenneth Lewis, and suggested a similar course be arranged for ringers in the Bangor Diocese Portmadoc was chosen as the possible venue.

Mr. D. H. B. Millward proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and to the ladies and Dolgellau ringers for a most enjoyable tea and for their hospitality.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

Three Veterans Honoured

THE annual general meeting of the St. David's Diocesan Guild was held at St. Peter's, Carmarthen, on June 10th, with representatives from ten towers being present.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Hywel Jones, the lessons read by the Rev. R. W. Thomas (Master) and the address given by the Bishop of St. David's (Dr. John Richards).

In his address the Bishop asked if we had ever thought, when ringing, that bells were what the Church should be like, each an integral part of the whole and all in harmony one with another. After the service an excellent tea was provided in the Church House by the ladies of the parish.

The Bishop presided at the business meeting and the Master appealed to all towers to have a recruiting campaign to ensure that the bells will be rung for many years to come.

A new venture for the Guild was the first annual report in the form of a four-page leaflet (editor Mr. D. P. Griffiths), which contained a variety of items of interest to members, the accounts for the year and the Ringing Master's report. He said he had little to add to this except to appeal for more quarters to be rung to encourage the youngsters and to express his grateful thanks to Mr. W. G. Thomas, of Tenby, for conducting the peal of Bob Major rung in Pembroke on December 31st.

The treasurer was pleased to report a ringing membership of 130. All the officers were re-elected for a further term of office.

It was unanimously agreed that the three oldest founder-members—Mr. H. Jenkins (Tenby), Mr. R. Scudamore (Llandeilo) and Mr. W. Williams (Carmarthen)— be made life ringing members for their long and faithful service to the Guild. Mr. Jenkins suitably responded.

A notice of motion to alter the competition rules to include rising and falling was defeated.

Ringing was then resumed until 8.30 p.m.

Guildford Guild Summer Festival

June 3rd was a fortunate choice for the date—a gloriously sunny day in the early summer for a drive through some of the most beautiful country in West Surrey and ringing on very pleasant bells.

The start was made in Guildford, with Stoke (6), Holy Trinity (8) and St. Mary's (8, recently available again after major restoration work on this ancient church). The Cathedral bells were unfortunately not available owing to a male voice choir festival, neither were Albury bells, where repairs to the fabric of the church are in progress, so the next stop was at Shere (8). There was a delay here as the local captain had omitted to leave either key or instructions; however, all managed to enjoy a ring and a look round this interesting old church—St. James'.

Then over the hills and through leafy lanes of the unspoilt Hurtwood to Ewhurst (8). After the lunch-break came Wonersh (another fine 8, another old church in a beautiful setting, once a gentleman's park), then Bramley (6, with a small ringing room) and, along still narrower lanes, to Hascombe (5, tenor 3¼ cwt., and just about elbow room!) Here unfortunately the tenor stay was found broken, and there are no local ringers.

More country roads to Dunsfold (a heavier 6, with a long draught, rung from the nave); and so to Chiddingfold, where the church fete was taking place. After an hour's ringing we had tea at the fete and then the festival service conducted by the Rector, the Rev. E. C. W. Knight. (What happened to half the ringers? The attendance at the service was disappointingly small, after the secretary had told the Rector we might expect 80 or more!) As for those who were a bit sceptical of village fete teas and preferred to bring their own—they missed the best we have had for a long time, as much as we could eat and drink, and all for eighteenpence, in aid of the church funds.

The evening ringing continued with Haslemere (10), Witley (8), Godalming (8) and finally Shalford (8) and St. Nicolas', Guildford (10) until 9 o'clock.

A good number of visitors joined in for part of the day—from Brighton, Warwickshire, South Wales, Mr. Burles from Barrow-in-Furness, who was holidaying in the south, and Angela Newing's party, who were having a reunion in this area for the day.

LINCOLN GUILD

West Lindsey Branch

A Branch meeting was held at the quaint little town of Glanford Brigg on May 20th. The Parish Church is somewhat unusual, the tower being at the east end and constituting the main entrance. Older ringers claim that Brigg at one time possessed a ring of eight bells, but nowadays the tower houses a good six (tenor 8½ cwt.).

The usual order of Lincoln Guild ringers' service was conducted by the Vicar of Wintringham and afterwards a cafe provided an excellent tea. At the short business meeting tribute was paid to the local ringers for making all the necessary arrangements for this successful meeting.

STRIKING CONTESTS

Thatcham's Day of Triumph

April 29th was a fine spring day, and Middleton Stoney, near Bicester, was an ideal place for the Oxford Guild striking contest, set as it is in a park, access being gained through an impressive gateway.

There were five teams in the semi-final—St. Mary's, Reading (Reading Branch), Hurst (Sonning Deanery Branch), Thatcham (Newbury Branch), Eynsham (Witney and Woodstock Branch) and Banbury (Banbury Branch). Bill Parker, from Sandhurst, was the judge.

After ringing, we all went to Launton, where the results were to be announced after tea. Here we met the other semi-finalists, who had been ringing at Brill. Competing there were Hughenden (East Berks and South Bucks Branch), East Hagbourne (North Berks Branch), Headington (Oxford City Branch) Aston Clinton (Chiltern Branch) and Stony Stratford (North Bucks Branch). The judge was the Master of the Guild, Canon C. Elliot Wigg.

Bill Parker gave his assessment of each team, commenting on the fact that all the teams had rung Doubles. The faults were: St. Mary's, Reading, 55 faults, Hurst 51, Thatcham 46, Eynsham 65, and Banbury 93. In the other semi-final all the teams rang Grandsire Doubles with the exception of Hughenden, who rang Cambridge Minor. The faults announced by the Master were: Hughenden 8, East Hagbourne 7, Aston Clinton 32½, Headington 17, and Stony Stratford 44. The teams that would be ringing in the final were East Hagbourne, Hughenden, Thatcham and Hurst.

COMMEMORATING WATERLOO

Before the teams moved over to the church Mr. Sharpe gave an interesting account of why Launton has such an unusual entrance to the ringing chamber. The 5ft. by 2ft. door is about 25 ft. up on the north wall of the tower, access being by a nearly vertical iron ladder. The reason for this entrance dates back to the beginning of the last century, when the Rector's son distinguished himself at the Battle of Waterloo. Every year on the anniversary of this battle he would celebrate with a barrel of beer in the belfry. When his father died, in 1837, the new Rector decided this must stop and adopted this means of access to the ringing chamber to prevent it.

We moved off to the church and drew for ringing order. Hughenden were drawn first and ascended the ladder to the belfry. Some impeccable rounds were followed by a 240 of Cambridge Minor rung in the usual Hughenden fashion—very well. They made no mistakes and only had a few barely perceptible changes of rhythm, thus setting a very high standard for the rest of the teams to follow.

Second to ring were Hurst, and it seemed to me that their ringing held an air of tention. There were no mistakes and only a few hesitances and changes of rhythm could be detected. Our band was the next to ring, and as we mounted the ladder I could feel the air of tension. We were welcomed by Cyril Kinch, who was acting as Ringing Master I draw a discreet veil over our performance, save to say that I thought it was quite good.

We were followed by East Hagbourne, who rang a very good 240 of Grandsire Doubles. Another good touch though not, in my opinion, good enough to beat Hughenden.

Canon Wigg announced the results in the church as follows: Thatcham 15 faults, Hughenden 16¼, East Hagbourne 35, and Hurst 35.

We had won! Delighted looks were exchanged by our ringers as Canon Wigg went on to say that the standard of ringing had been very high by all the teams, some of the striking by the first two teams being amongst the best he had ever heard.

Ringing then continued at Launton till later that evening, so ending the 1967 Oxford Diocesan Guild ringing contest. W. B.

WEST DOWN AGAIN DEVON CHAMPIONS

West Down kept up their unequalled bell-ringing record when they retained possession of the Ross Shield at Holy Trinity Church, Ilfracombe, on Saturday, June 10th. There was a good attendance from all over Devon, and in lovely sunshine they were able to sit in the churchyard and listen for five hours to the ten teams in the competition.

Uncle Bill from West Down was there to give his lads a pep talk before starting.

Let the treble start the race,
Let the tenor set the pace,
Let the second set the space.

In 15 years of this county championship West Down have now won the trophy nine times, taking runners-up place on the other six occasions. Down St. Mary were awarded the Shelley Cup for second place. Last year this trophy was won by Talaton.

Placings: West Down 15½ faults, Down St. Mary 19, Swymbridge 23½, Plymstock 25, West Alvington 33½, Kenn 34½. East Portlemouth 47, Kentisbeare 47½, Talaton 49½, Stoke Gabriel 61. L. W.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Over 70 members and friends were present when the Final of the Association's sixth annual ringing contest was held at Horsley on June 10th.

The results were: 1 Derby Cathedral 251 points, 2 Old Whittington 247, 3 St. Peter's, Derby 245, 4 Bolsover 238, 5 North Wingfield 219, 6 Sandiacre 217, 7 Sawley 215, 8 Breadsall 213, and 9 Baslow 211.

Following the presentation of the Horsley Cup to the Cathedral team for the second year in succession by its donor, Mr. J. Else, the proceedings were concluded by Mr. G. Halls proposing a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar, the judges, local company and ladies for providing the tea. M. P. P.

BRISTOL CITY BRANCH

According to the judges, Messrs. F. Sharpe and Arthur Reed, the ringing was of a high standard at the Bristol City Branch striking competition at St. Mark's, Bristol, on June 3rd. The test was 240 changes either of Plain Bob Minor or Grandsire Doubles. Each of the six teams rang Grandsire. The results were announced after tea in University Hall: Stoke Bishop 9 faults, St. Michael's (University) 12, SS. Philip and Jacob 14, Cathedral 21, St. Ambrose's A 30½, St. Ambrose's B 43, Winning team: A J. D. Bentley 1, Mrs. E. Oxenham 2, J. G. Rose 3, S. Bendle 4, P. M. J. Gray 5, H. H. Baguley 6. A tape recording of the entry was played to the assembly by Mr. E. F. Hancock, who was the witness in the tower.

SUFFOLK GUILD

Twelve teams entered for the Suffolk Guild striking competition held at St. Leonard's, Horringer, near Bury St. Edmunds, on May 6th, about 120 members attending. The test piece was 240 changes of Minor and the judges were Mr. Frank Lufkin and Miss Hilda Snowden. Placings were: 1 Central District 42 faults, 2 South East 43, 3 South East (Bramford) 62, South East (Sproughton) 62, 5 North East (Aldeburgh) 92, North West (Ixworth) 92, 7 North West (Great Barton) 94, 8 South East (Henley) 109, 9 North East (Beccles 116, North West (Rougham) 116, 11 Central (Barking) 163, 12 South East (Offton) 201.

The Hubert Mitson Shield was presented to Leslie Brett, as conductor of the winning team. Votes of thanks were expressed by the Ringing Master (Mr. G. W. Pipe) for the exxcellent arrangements and the hard work put in by Robin and Janet Rogers and the young bands from Great Barton and Horringer.

A shortened form of evening prayer was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. Price-Jones) and a suitable address given by the Rural Dean. The splendid homemade tea was much enjoyed.

THE TAYLOR SHIELD

Nine teams took part in the fourth annual striking competition of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, which was held at St. Denis' Church, Silk Willoughby, on June 17th.

The judges, Messrs Jack Bray and George Feirn, in their comments made three main points:

(1) More time spent in ringing rounds before going into changes would help teams to settle into rhythm.

(2) Get a learner to lead well and he is halfway to being a good ringer.

(3) That Plain Bob, from the judges' point of view, is a good method; as we all carry the sound of it in our minds it is much easier to hear mistakes.

Results were: Barrowby (Plain Bob) 25 faults, Grantham "A" (Plain Bob) 29, Bourne (Norwich) 37, Folkingham (Plain Bob) 41, Stamford (Cambridge Surprise) 52, Silk Willoughby (Plain Bob) 54, Horbling (call changes) 72, Grantham "C" 215, Grantham "B" retired.

The winning team was: H. L. Squires 1, F. W. Pinchbeck 2, R. W. Morant (cond.) 3, W. H. Dale 4, V. P Evans 5, T. A. Relf 6.

STAPLEGROVE, SOMERSET.—On June 3rd, 1,260 Doubles (three methods) F. Avery 1, D. Sheldon 2, Mrs. B. Bindon 3, H. Churchill 4, R. F. Arscott (cond.) 5, R. B. Cullen 6. Rung half-muffled in memory of Mr. S. George Coles, ringer at St. George's, Wilton, for over 50 years, by the St. George's band, assisted by H. Churchill from Trull.

Letters to the Editor

ANOTHER LEFT-HANDER

Dear Sir, — Like most ringers who are naturally left-handed, I ring with the tail-end in my left hand, and I was surprised to read Mrs. Jacqueline King's comment that this doesn't always work with left-handed children because it seems to me the most logical thing to do. Indeed I have often wondered why right-handed people, generally speaking, do not do the opposite. Perhaps Mrs. King is right in supposing that it is because "right hand on top" usually affords a learner a clearer view of the bell he is following.

Incidentally, I was glad to learn we are on the increase. Our value was recognised in Biblical times; the Book of Judges, iii, 15-23, records how "a man left-handed" was used to murder somebody. And though we may be a nuisance on the cricket field, we save a lot of moving about round a shove-ha'penny board!—Yours sincerely

E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford.

QUARTERS AT NEWCASTLE

Dear Sir — While congratulating the ringers of the first quarter peal rung by the University of Newcastle Society, I should like it to be noted that four quarter peals were rung by the King's College, Newcastle, Guild of Change Ringers in 1959 and 1960 before King's College became the University of Newcastle. Three were rung at St. George's, Jesmond (Bob Minor, Bob Doubles and Doubles) and one at St. Mary's, Gateshead. In the first quarter peal no less than four of the ringers scored their own personal first quarter. Congratulations and best wishes to the new University of Newcastle Society. I look forward to reading about their first peal.—Yours sincerely,

NICHOLAS WEBB.

Wakefield Cathedral.

BASING SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,—It has been pointed out to me that the composition used to the first peal to be rung of Basing Surprise Major, conducted by myself at All Saints', Basingstoke, on April 16th, 1966, is false to this method. The composition, a 5,088 by the late E. W. Tipler, was published in "The Ringing World" on May 20th, 1966 (page 336).

I have personally expressed my regret to the other members of the band and we hope to ring a true peal in the method in the near future. I now apologise to the peal recorders of the Central Council and the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. — Yours faithfully,

ALAN R. PINK.

Oxford.

ST. AUSTELL BELLS

Dear Sir,—I read with interest that the eight bells at St. Austell, Cornwall, have been "rehung and overhauled by E. C. L. P. and Co." and therefore saved the parish the task of raising £700.

May I, with all due respect, ask who will be responsible should the St Austell people require the bells recasting.

Will E. C. L. P. and Co.'s managing director be one of the first to pick up a shovel (spade down here!) and dig in the churchyard in a "do-it-yourself" bell casting experiment?

Perhaps if this occurs he will let me know so that we can watch him.—Yours truly,

VICTOR M. DAWSON.

Calverley, Yorks.

FAST PEAL AT ST. PETER'S, BOURNEMOUTH

Dear Sir,—Whilst I do not doubt that the recent peal of Rutland rung at St. Peter's, Bournemouth, in 2 hours and 41 minutes was a good one., well knowing the calibre of the three back-bell ringers, I would have preferred that the 15 minutes they had to spare at the end could have been added on to the time of the peal. A peal at this speed on this particular ring of bells may give the bands with less experienced back-enders wrong ideas. As a well-known Cheshire ringer once said, "Take it steadier and let the harmonics get clear!"—Yours sincerely,

A. PATRICK CANNON.

Dorking, Surrey.

SOUND CONTROL

Sir,—In reply to Mr. Kinton's letter (June 16th), we did this at Talland, Cornwall, in 1914. Louvres on the Venetian blind system worked by a lever to the ringing chamber.

It has advantages: (i) They can be completely closed against rain and sound, (ii) opened down for normal ringing, or (iii) opened up to send sound to a distance in fine weather.

I don't know what has happened to them since, but I would not recommend the idea except when there is certainty of proper upkeep. As can well be imagined, without this guarantee a bit of rust would soon put paid to it!—Yours sincerely,

C. F. JERRAM.

"A COLLECTION OF SURPRISE COMPOSITIONS"

Dear Sir,—Some time ago you were good enough to publish a list of corrections to the above Collection. One or two more have subsequently been drawn to my attention and a Corrigenda sheet is included with all copies of the book now being sold by the Central Council.

I would, however, be grateful if you could spare the space to print the following corrections for the benefit of those who bought their copies of the Collection directly from me:—

a. Delete (3) against Blackburn (p. 7), Harleston (p. 9), Quenby (p. 11) and Rothley (p 12).

b. Delete (7) against Branston (p. 7) and Kibworth (p. 10).

c. Page 13, Note 3: alter 79 to 77.

d. P. 18, peal 17: delete bob H in next to last course.

e. P. 34, peal 112: amend footnote to read "For c.p.s."

f. P. 35, peal 119: delete last 2W and add 2H to last course.

g. P 51: add "54263 2M. 2W. 2H. LBWWWWWBL" between 54326 and 62345 in a, b and c.

h. P. 53: i and j each have 5,376 changes, not 5,280.

Of the above, d is omitted from the C.C. Corrigenda sheet. My most sincere apologies are due to the Leicester Guild band who recently discovered this misprint the hard way, after having rung the best part of a peal of Huntingdon.—Yours sincerely,

CYRIL A. WRATTEN.

DERBY'S CHURCH PROBLEM

Dear Sir,—A remark by B. P. Morris in a letter published in the issue of June 2nd shows a misunderstanding of the problem of pastoral reorganisation in Derby.

His suggestions that a recent incumbent was responsible for the breaking up of the band at St. Andrew's, Derby, and of the parish generally, could not be further from the truth. The incumbent referred to in fact did a great deal of good work in the parish, both among the residents and in extending his ministry to the nearby railway works.

Like other parishes within the town, it has lost most of its resident population to the new housing estates, but has a very large number coming to work within it. The Church has thus quite a problem of reorganisation to face, having many large town churches with small congregations, many of whom do not live in the parish anyway. The Church in Derby is facing up to this problem, if a trifle late, with courage and realism, and the Diocesan Pastoral Committee has recommended some quite drastic changes.

The Derby Diocesan Association, itself a progressive organisation, should accept with a little more realism the fact that a lot of fabric including some fine rings of bells will become redundant, and that it may be a very difficult job to rehouse them anywhere. In exerting its influence the Association should realise that bells may not come very high on a P.C.C.'s list of priorities. But for the Association to permit an official to print unfounded derogatory remarks about an incumbent above its name is not going to help its case one little bit.—Yours faithfully,

D. G. ASTRIDGE.

"ST. UNY DOUBLES"

Dear Sir,—Mr. Geoffrey Dodds in his letter (June 2nd) makes the point that this method was originally published in Stedman's "Campanologia" of 1677. Not having access to this book, this fact was not known to the local ringing fraternity until Mr. Dodds' letter was published.

As he states, Stedman Doubles was originally rung in this manner and, according to the late Jasper W Snowdon ("Standard Methods in the Art of Change Ringing," 1916 edition):—

"As certain of my readers may visit towers in which Stedman's Doubles are rung with a different single to the one which I have just described, I would here observe that several writers have fallen into error in their descriptions of the single on this number of bells.

"Although two bells are reversed by the single, they explain, it is not done in the customary and most symmetrical manner."

We can therefore assume fairly safely that the two forms of single were in use in the latter part of the 19th century. The modern one was presumably introduced in Troyte's time (say, 1850).

It would obviously confuse matters to retain the name of Stedman for this method, although it is as the method was originally composed. As Lelant ringers have taken the initiative, it seems best to call it "St. Uny Doubles."—Yours sincerely,

ROY HART.

THE BELLS OF INVERARAY

Dear Sir,—I was very pleased to see a peal of London was rung at Inveraray on May 6th. I should like to congratulate the band.

This poses the question of how many more peals will be rung there before decay finally calls "Stand." I feel it is sad that bands can be trained and enthusiasm engendered overseas, but yet when a ring of ten is hung on Loch Fyne-side the future of the bells is neglected. To the best of my knowledge there has been no Sunday service ringing since the bells were hung. The Scottish Association cannot even claim their first peal of Royal on these bells; it was rung instead on handbells in August, 1936, at Kilmory Knap, Argyll, the method being Plain Bob.

Oh, to hear the music of Stedman across that stretch of water! I have an awful feeling that, together with a host of others, I shall never ring or hear these bells.

The Exercise must have a duty to see that these bells do not end up in the scrap yard. They are there for a purpose and that purpose should be carried out.—Yours sincerely,

J. N. C. HOOTON.

Ardingly, Sussex.

MEMORIAL PROPOSED TO THE LATE TOM MYERS

Dear Sir,—At the recent annual general meeting of the Devon Guild, discussion arose regarding the raising of some form of memorial to the late Thomas George Myers of Plymouth.

It was felt that as Tom Myers was well known to many ringers throughout the country they may well wish to associate themselves with such a memorial, and we would like, through the medium of "The Ringing World," to extend an invitation to any who wish, to send their contribution to the secretary of the South West Branch of the Devon Guild at the address below. All contributions will be acknowledged and the fund will close on August 31st.

The form the memorial is to take will be decided after the closing date of the fund; it will, however, be something of a practical nature that can be used in St. Andrew's, Plymouth, either in the church or tower.

We feel sure the response will be such to provide a fitting memorial to one who laboured unceasingly to the benefit of the Exercise during a lifetime of ringing.—Yours sincerely,

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Northern District

The spring meeting of the Northern District was held at Great Bardfield, where the eight bells were rung to a variety of methods during the afternoon and evening. The service was taken by the Rev. B. Endicott, Vicar of Great Saling, and in his address he urged ringers to remember their duty to ring well and not to make a noise only.

At the business meeting, held in the Town Hall, six new probationers from Great Easton were elected R. T

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The weather favoured us again, and the Taunton Branch meeting at Creech St. Michael on June 10th was held in glorious sunshine. About 35 members and friends were present and attended the service in church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. K. J. Jones. Our very grateful thanks were given to the local ladies who provided a splendid tea.

The subsequent meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. M. Williams, vice-president. At the outset Mr. A. H. Reed spoke of the loss sustained in the recent death of Mr. George Coles, who had been an outstanding personality in the Branch and in the Guild over many years. Starting his ringing career at Wilton in 1913, always a staunch churchman and Sunday service ringer, Mr. Coles became in time a Branch representative on the General Committee, a vice-president of the Taunton Branch, and in 1945 for 14 years one of the Guild's representatives on the C.C His fellow ringers at Wilton remember with special gratitude his great efforts which culminated in the addition of two new trebles to the ring of six in that tower

Ten new members were elected from the towers of Holy Trinity, Taunton, Creech St. Michael, Bishop's Lydeard and Trull. The next meeting was arranged for September 9th at Lyng and Dunster. An excellent programme for the Branch outing to East Devon on July 8th was circulated, and early notice was given of the ringers' dinner to be held this year in Taunton on October 28th at the County Hotel. Mr. Keith Beale promised to produce plans for a striking competition at the next meeting.

An enthusiastic reception was given to Mr. R. Arscott and his band of handbell ringers, who delighted us with their varied repertoire.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Forty-two ringers, representing 12 towers within the Branch, as well as visitors from other Branches and from Somerset and Berkshire, met at Buckhorn Weston on June 10th. The Rector, the Rev. H. B. Snelgrove, extended a warm welcome, greeting members on arrival and opening the ringing with prayer; in his address later he told how much joy was given by ringers to people around, lifting up their hearts in gladness and praise. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore, Branch chairman, who gave the address Afterwards an ample tea was served in the nearby hall by ringers' wives and members of the Mothers' Union.

At the business meeting 13 new members were elected, six from Childe Okeford, five from Compton Abbas and two from Lillington. Congratulations were extended to John Knight and Martin Corry on ringing their first peals, and to the Okeford Fitzpaine band on ringing a quarter peal of Surprise—the first tower in the Branch to achieve this. Mr. G. Dennis was particularly thanked for his untiring help to beginners in the Branch. Mr. Ralph spoke with regret of the fact that the Master of the Guild, the Rev. R N. Longridge, who until recently was North Dorset Branch secretary, would be moving shortly to a parish just outside the Branch boundary Warm appreciation was expressed of his help in the past and a confident hope that he would still be an active member of the Branch, even though a non-resident one.

After the meeting, ringing continued at Buckhorn Weston and also at Kington Magna

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION HOLD A DAY SCHOOL

Thirty-four ringers from six towers attended a day school, the first organised by the Association, held at Llangollen on May 27th under the tuition of Mr. C, Kenneth Lewis.

A talk on instruction of beginners and correct bell handling was followed by the basic composition of four- and five-bell methods and the theory of transposition. Recordings of different bells and methods were also heard.

Tower work started with a demonstration of teaching bell handling to a complete beginner, who was able to control his bell by the end of the session. All ringers took part in rounds and dodging practice and, under the supervision of Mr. F Evans call changes and Grandsire Doubles, while the more experienced were being instructed in conducting. This was illustrated by reference to a quarter peal of Bob Major and followed by practical application on the tower bells.

Mr. F. Evans, on behalf of the Association, thanked Mr. Lewis for giving up his time, and the Vicar, headmaster and Llangollen ringers for their hospitality. W. C.

CHILVERS COTON BELLRINGERS' FESTIVAL

At Evensong on June 4th, All Saints' Church, Chilvers Coton, resounded to music by Handel, Bach, Brahms and Tchaikovsky, the Prayer of the Bedford Ringers (1668) and a composition arranged for Gloucester Cathedral chimes rung on a selection of 70 handbells by Mr. Frederick Sharpe and his band from Launton, Bicester. The occasion was the local bellringers' festival. Mrs. Peter Dodds, wife of the honorary secretary, joined the team, of which she was a member when living in Launton, although two and a half years had elapsed since practising with them.

Mr. Sharpe's sermon was much appreciated by the large congregation. The lessons were read by Messrs A. H. Beamish (captain) and G A. Bell, and at the close of the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on the set of handbells bequeathed to the church by the late Mr V. Nash. The ringers were: Mrs. M. E. Wood 1-2, Mrs. D. E. "A-RINGING WE WILL GO"

Four cars laden with "tower hungry" students emerged from Culham College on May 10th for an afternoon's ringing in Berkshire and Wiltshire.

After collecting three visitors from Abingdon we made our way to the first tower at East Hendred. After the initial difficulties of weight, draught and new ropes, the ringing soon settled down and the afternoon started with the Society's favourite method, Plain Bob. The intention was to ring a new method in each tower and this was carried out during the afternoon.

Uffington, with its fine central, octagonal tower, came next. The ringing was going well until one of our members decided that she would like to fly. With a quick flip of the wrist she caught the rope around her foot and ascended horizontally. After finding out that we were not made to fly she came down to earth at great speed. Luckily no damage was done, and by way of celebration we rang some Uffington Doubles.

Southrepps came round at Ashbury; at Stratton St. Margaret we managed some good Grandsire Triples. The best ringing of the day was undoubtedly the course of Plain Bob Major that greeted the shoppers at Highworth.

We were surprised when driving through Broad Blunsdon to see bell wheels fencing a garden. Our inquiry elicited the fact that they were from Thorverton in Devon. London Minor sounded well here and the day concluded with Cambridge Minor at Purton.

BALDOCK GUILD'S OUTING

A 6.40 a.m. start was necessary for the Baldock Guild's annual outing into Derbyshire on June 10th. The advantages of the M.1 enabled a coffee break a coffee break at Ripley, where good use was made of the eight bells in the somewhat cramped belfry. A short journey through beautiful countryside brought us to perhaps the best bells of the day at Ashover, which were beyond our wildest expectations.

Five miles of bottom gear slogging took us to Matlock for lunch and we then went over the border into Staffordshire to Alton. The easy-handled bells proved to be a great help to the many learners with us. At Uttoxeter we felt that the spire helped the tone of the beautiful eight both in and out of the tower. A happy choice was Meeting Point Restaurant for tea. The last tower was St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent, where Bob Royal, Grandsire and Stedman Caters were accomplished together with Cambridge and Yorkshire Major. Baldock was reached at 11.45 and our thanks must go to incumbents and, of course, to the organiser.

MANCHESTER CATHEDRAL OUTING

On May 20th ringers from Manchester Cathedral and St. James', Birch-in-Rusholme, with friends, embarked on their annual outing —the venue being Worcester.

The first tower visited was Pershore Abbey. Few were deterred by the somewhat difficult climb and the unusual ringing cage (one of the most enthusiastic being the oldest member of the party, who is nearly 80). Various methods were rung successfully before the party, glad to be on "terra firma" once again, set out for Hallow. In spite of the easy-going bells the striking left a little to be desired.

The highlight of the day was Worcester Cathedral, and the party were taken on a conducted tour of the building before ringing on the magnificent twelve. Methods rung here included Grandsire Cinques and Stedman Caters.

The ringing gave us all a good appetite and a most enjoyable meal was eaten before setting off on the homeward journey via Droitwich, where we stopped to ring on the superb eight at Dodderhill.

TAM, THE PONY, CAME TOO

Eight members of the Intwood ringing band set out on a mammoth tour of the neighbouring towers on May 27th. We were Peter Bowers, Ursula Stubbings, Jane Worthington, Marilyn Clark, Eileen Snoad and Susanna Pole from Keswick Hall College of Education, and Keith Wheeldon and Neville Burgess from Wroxham.

It was a bicycle tour as our funds had diminished to shillings and pence, although Jane was mounted more comfortably on her pony, Tam. Our first tower was at Ketteringham, where we had an enjoyable 40 minutes' ringing before going on to Tasburgh. The bells had not been rung since last autumn and were a little difficult to ring. We had our lunch here and Tam took a lively interest in the ceremony!

From Tasburgh we went to Tharston, from Tharston to Saxlingham. I do not know what the bells were like as I was riding the pony then and got caught up in a maze of fields and arrived too late. However, I did arrive in time for a marvellous and most welcome tea, at the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Howlett. They invited all eight of us into their house and made us feel thoroughly at home and I would like to thank them here once again on behalf of all of us.

Our next tower was at Shotesham, but as we were behind schedule we did not have time to ring there but went straight on to Brooke, where we were made very welcome. The six bells were perhaps the most beautiful we rang that day. The last tower was at Bergh Apton, and here we had a good ring to finish off the tour, even though No. 2 had no stay.

It was tremendous fun and a well worthwhile outing, not without humorous moments, either, as when one of our party misjudged a corner and cycled full tilt into a large ditch of nettles, leaving only a pair of feet showing to mark the spot! The pony enjoyed the trip, too, but she left us at Shotesham to make for home.

CORSTON, BATH

Mr. D. J. King, of Chepstow, organised the summer outing of Corston, Bath, ringers into Monmouthshire on May 20th. Towers visited were Caldicot, St. Woolos' Cathedral, Caerleon, Usk, Blaenavon, Abergavenny and Chepstow. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cinques, and at Abergavenny Cambridge Royal was rung by five members from Frome's outing and one from the Corston party.

LONDON.—At. St. John's, Deptford, on May 21st, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: A. J. Taylor 1, Miss J. Spurgeon 2, J. H. Lott 3, J. W. Bull 4, G. W. Shanks 5, M. R. Wycherley (cond.) 6.

BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY TOUR

THE annual tour was held during the Easter vacation, from Wednesday, March 29th, to April 5th, in the Wye Valley area. The party was centred at Abergavenny and daily excursions were made to neighbouring towers. Transport was provided in grand style by a 40-seater luxury coach, despite our only numbering 15.

Ringing commenced on the Thursday with visits to Usk (8), Chepstow (10), Caldicot (8), Newport (8), Caerleon (8) and Llanfrechfa (8). A few comments were made regarding the stature of the local ringers, since we invariably found that the ropes were too long, even for the average size members of the party. A handbell peal of Plain Bob Major was rung the same evening for the Universities Association.

The next day took us to Llangattock-vibon-Avel (6), Monmouth (8), Newland (6), Lydney (8) and Tidenham (6). The highlight of the day's ringing was at Lydney, where, to the best of my memory, Cambridge, Bristol, Rutland, Lincolnshire, Superlative and Yorkshire were spliced. Here we were joined for the afternoon by the peal secretary of the Lancashire Association, Mr. Partington. On returning to Abergavenny, eight of the party had a hurried meal and rushed off immediately to ring a peal of Rutland at Blaenavon.

Saturday's ringing was at Skenfrith (6), Llangarron (6), Goodrich (6), Ruardean (8), Weston-under-Penyard (6), Ross-on-Wye (8) and Bridstow (8). Some of the more interesting methods rung were Union Bob, St. Martin's Bob, and London, Norwich and Hull Surprise.

On Sunday morning we were invited to attend the service ringing at Abergavenny. We had been told many times already on the tour that we would enjoy these bells and indeed we were not disappointed. A peal of Plain Bob Major was rung for the Universities Association at Llanfigan that afternoon.

We rang again at Abergavenny on Monday morning before setting out via Llangattock (8), (a different one) to Bedwellty (8), Ebbw Vale (8), Merthyr Tydfil (8), Aberdare (8) and Pentre (8). We had been told that we were lucky to get the bells at Merthyr Tydfil as the church is due for demolition. However, this hardly excuses our Master breaking a rope before we left. We understand that Liverpool University's subsequent ring was not inconvenienced by this.

The last day took us to the Cardiff area, and the towers visited were Machen (8), Rumney (6), Marshfield (8), St. Mellon's (6), Caerphilly (8) and Cardiff (10). Rumney is the home tower of Mary Pryor, who came on the tour, and we were provided with an excellent tea at the home of her parents, to whom we are most grateful. The day's ringing was extended by our attending Llandaff Cathedral practice—a very satisfactory way to end the tour, though we owe apologies to the local band for not warning them of our visit.

It only remains to thank Mr. James R. White for his excellent organisation of the tour and his unending patience with the rest of us.

LEEDS RINGERS VISIT LINCOLNSHIRE

Organised by Mr. Irvin Slack, Leeds and neighbourhood ringers had an enjoyable tour into Lincolnshire on May 20th. Ringing started on the fine six at Brant Broughton, and after lunch at Heckington came the never-ending staircase as the famous Boston Stump was climbed. Touches of Caters and Royal were rung here with Miss Patricia Lockwood as Ringing Master. Tea and a walk along the promenade at Cleethorpes was enjoyed before going on to the last tower, at Barrow-on-Humber, where Mr. Alan Clifton was Ringing Master. On the journey home the Mayor of Ossett (Councillor F. Bennett) thanked the organiser, and cheers of appreciation echoed round the coach.

Correction.—Canberra is on Lake Burley Griffin and not Birley Griffith as inadvertently published on page 410.

St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, ringers invaded "the black North" for their annual outing and rang standard methods on the difficult Lurgan ring and the easy-going Hillsborough eight. The party lunched picnic style on the shores of Lough Neagh.

We hear that the Vicar of All Saints' Church, Huntington, Yorks, has been inundated with complaints following a peal being rung between the hours of 5.30 and 7.30 a.m. The outcome is a limitation on peal attempts to one a month.

Owing to ill-health, Mr. Eddie Buck missed the annual outing of the Baldock Guild into Derbyshire on June 10th. This was the first time for many years that he had been unable to be present. The company send him their best wishes.

The peal at Silsoe, Beds, on June 6th, was rung by five members of the Elstow Abbey band assisted by a former ringer. The conductor writes: "We are proud of the performance as it included three first peals. The same band had two more firsts and a first 'inside' in a quarter the following Sunday. Most of these firsts' are still at school."

Corrigendum.—The peal at Pencombe, Herefordshire (page 397) was rung on Saturday, May 20th, and not as published.

Mr. Frederick J. Sage writes regarding the article "150 Peals at St. Mary's, Putney" (May 12th issue) that one of the peals should have been credited to the Guild of Devonshire Ringers and not the Devonshire Association.

Three different peals of Surprise Roval were scored during the week-end of June 17th–18th in Suffolk. David P. Hilling conducted Superlative, Robert C. Kippin London and D. John Hunt Cambridge.

The marriage of Richard Dirksen, Bell Master at Washington Cathedral, to Elizabeth Sither on June 12th was honoured by the University of London Society with a peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 30 methods at St. Vedast's, Foster Lane.

After three years in Rutland as headmaster of Lyddington Primary School, J. Martin Thorley has been appointed headmaster of Laxfield Primary School in Suffolk and will be leaving Rutland at the end of the year. His wife, Paddy, is secretary of the Rutland Branch of the Peterborough Guild, and their two daughters are keen ringers, the elder (aged 11) having several quarter peals to her credit.

CENTRAL COUNCIL CONCLUDES

The concluding item on the agenda at the Central Council meeting at Nottingham was the votes of thanks.

The president moved a vote of thanks to the Lord Mayor, the Bishop of Sherwood, Canon Feaves, Canon Inglis and Canon Perkins. He also most sincerely thanked the officers of the Southwell Guild, particularly Mick Exton, the hon. secretary, on whose shoulders much of the work fell, David Clarke and Harry Poyner and David Stainsby and all steeplekeepers.

Mr E A. Barnett: May I say briefly that we congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Bottomley for the way they have come through the ordeal of their first Council meeting.

Mr. Bottomley: It it easy with such a president.

Mr. Anderson thanked the president.

THE CIVIC RECEPTION

The civic reception which followed the Council meeting was held in the magnificent Council House. The Lord Mayor (Coun. A. F. Roberts) and the Lady Mayoress (Mrs. Roberts) received the guests, and during the reception chatted freely with them. Canon Gilbert Thurlow, in light vein, expressed the Council's thanks for the hospitality so generously provided.

Later that evening the officers of the Council were entertained to dinner by the officers of the Southwell Diocesan Guild and District secretaries. Proceedings were informal in character but the opportunity was taken of expressing to Mr. F. W. Midwinter and Mr W. L. Exton and their team the grateful thanks of the assembly to the Southwell Guild and the happy memories all would take away from Nottingham.

CENTRAL COUNCIL ATTENDANCE

There were two errors in the published list of attendances at Nottingham. Mrs. R. F. B. Speed, hon. member, was present, and the third representative of the Surrey Association should read A. Streeter

ADMITTED TO YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION AT NINE

At the Western District meeting of the Yorkshire Association on June 10th, nine-year-old John Ineson of the Dewsbury Parish Church belfry was elected a member of the Association, having rung his qualifying touch of 720 changes some two weeks previously. John is believed to be the youngest member to have qualified in this way on tower bells. He has recently been occupied, with others of the Dewsbury band, in teaching some ringers for Cleckheaton Parish Church, the bells of which have been silent for lack of ringers for many years.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY

At the annual general meeting held on May 6th Mr. D F. Moore was re-elected Master of the Society. Also elected were Miss J. E. Lethbridge, secretary; Mr. J. R Coope, treasurer; and Mr. H. Dobbin, committee member.

The following dates were confirmed for 1968: A.G.M., Saturday, May 4th; annual tour (possibly in Somerset), April 17th–20th; annual dinner, Saturday, February 24th. After the formal proceedings a very lively flat warming party was held by kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hatfield. F. D. K.

ARTHUR C. WHITE

Mr. Arthur C. White celebrated his 89th birthday on June 11th by taking part in a quarter peal rung that day at Loughton, Essex. As an additional compliment, a peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major was rung on June 10th.

He learned to ring as a boy at Terling, Essex, and came to Loughton some 40 years ago. His first peal was rung at the grand age of 75. On Boxing Day, 1962, Loughton ringers were pleased to ring a quarter peal marking Mr. and Mrs. White's diamond wedding day.

His regular attendance over many years has been much appreciated by the band of St. John's, who look forward to his continuing support. F. W. T.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO, CHUM?

Proceedings at the East Grinstead and District Guild meeting at Nutfield on June 10th were interrupted by a gentleman who insisted that the bells be silenced as his daughter was studying for her "A" levels opposite the church:

GROTON BOYS HERE

Ten Groton boys, accompanied by Mr. Russell Young, arrived at London Airport on Friday, June 16th, and the same evening were ringing at Guildford Cathedral. Saturday was spent ringing in villages of the Berkshire Vale and on Sunday morning they attended St. Paul's Cathedral, London, to admire the Stedman Cinques. They later rang for Evensong at St. Clement Danes' and at St. Margaret's, Westminster.

From Monday to Wednesday they were at Stoke Poges and attended the Hillingdon practice. They they went to Suffolk, making their headquarters at Woodbridge. Mr. G. W. Pipe had arranged this side of the programme, and Mr. Frank Price the other, including being present at the Oxford Festival.

EAST BERGHOLT

At a flower festival at East Bergholt Church, the bells were being rung in their unique way After the ringing had finished, the cage was overrun by visitors eager to peer into the pits, tap the bells and ask questions. The following is a typical conversation which took place between a ringer and a visitor:—

Visitor: "How do you ring these bells No, don't tell me, I think you pull those ropes over there." (Indicating the chiming apparatus used when the bells are lowered during the winter.)

Ringer: "No, we stand by the bells."

Visitor: "Go on! You're having me on! You pull on those ropes, I've seen them do it at our church."

Ringer: "No, we stand by the bells and swing them round."

Visitor: "I think you're leading me up the garden path. You might stand by the bells, but you hit them with your (pause while he has a quick glance round) head, or something."

Ringer smiles, and Visitor, still not sure: "Where were these bells cast?"

Ringer: "I reckon they were most likely cast in the churchyard."

Visitor: "Oh, of local iron, I expect!"

With this I hurried away. D. J. D.

OUR LADY OF LOURDES, LEIGH-ON-SEA

The clock and bells at this church are a replica of those at the famous Catholic shrine at Lourdes and chime the "Ave Maria" at each hour. The bells (tenor 25 cwt.) were cast at Annecy in France, the largest bell foundry in Europe, and installation began on the very day in 1926 on which Parliament repealed an Act of 1559 forbidding the ringing of bells from Catholic churches.

The eight bells are an octave in F. Although hung for ringing, advice was given that they should not be rung for ten years until the tower had settled down on its foundations. Although this period has now passed, the bells are still rung from a keyboard of eight enormous ivory-topped keys. Touches of Major are rung every Sunday and feast day; hymns and even Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" have been successfully essayed.

The tower will be open for visiting ringers from 2 to 3.15 p.m. on Saturday, July 8th, and demonstration touches will be performed between these times by Mr. Mann, the local carillonneur.

ASSERTING CHURCHMANSHIP

"The St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich News of the Diocese" leads off its June issue about Suffolk's bellringers. Mr. G. W. Pipe's annual report as Master is quoted:—

"Neither must we be slow in asserting our churchmanship. It is high time that this nonsense of assuming that ringers just ring and then go to the pub opposite was dispelled."

"I am very proud of the fact that 75 per cent of our young bands are communicant members of the Church."

BELLS IN COLLEGE RAG

At the recent Norwich Rag Day the best decorated float from Keswick College of Education was provided by the bellringers. Netball posts had been borrowed from the P.E. department to support the bell ropes, and students stood by the ropes giving an impression of activity. Some 16 handbells on a frame were also a part of the decoration.

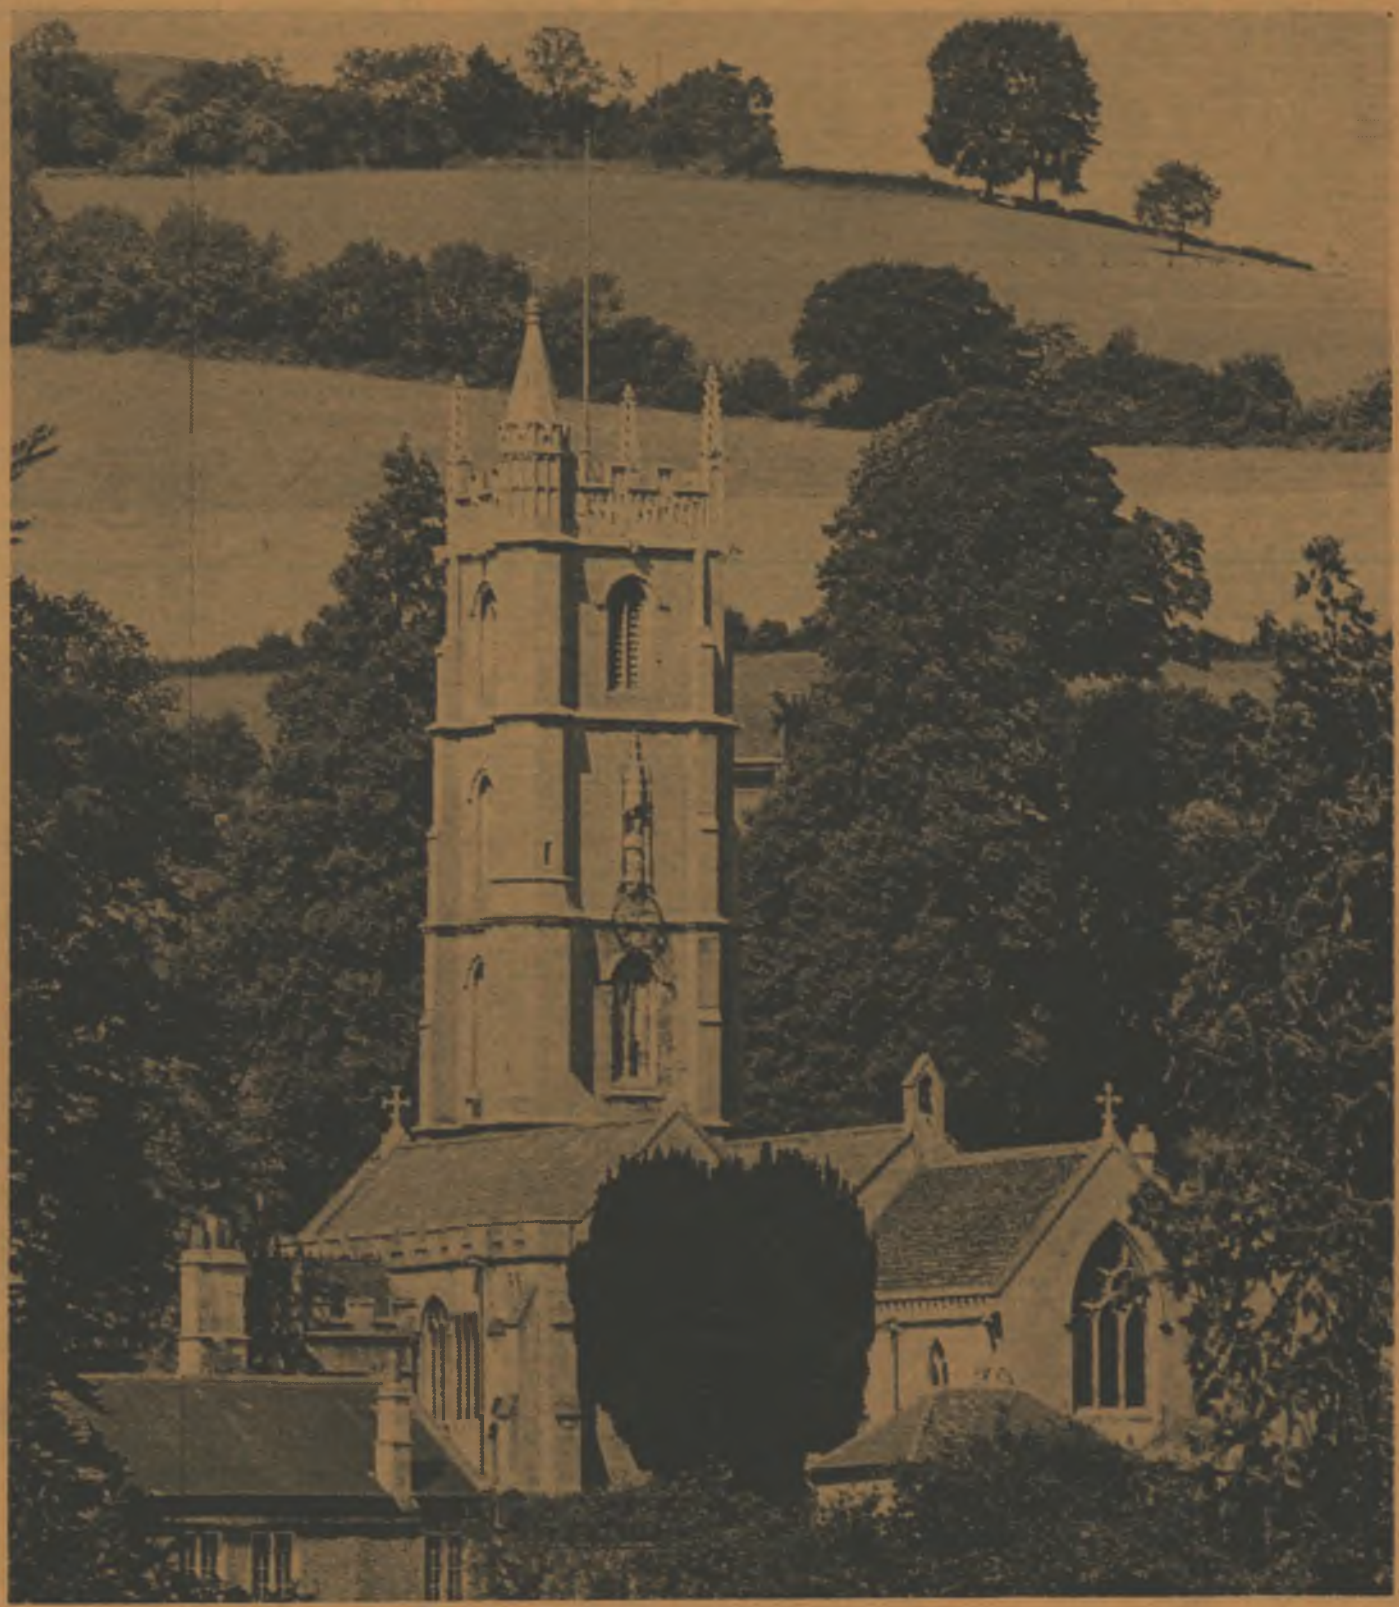
No. 2933. Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1967 9d



THE PROFESSOR DISCUSSES . . .

THE TASK OF A RINGING MASTER

THE Professor and I were discussing, as we were wont, many ringing subjects, and eventually the conversation channeled into the problems that beset a Ringing Master at a District meeting.

"As I see it," said the Professor, "the Ringing Master's main difficulty is to reconcile the two extremes that are likely to be present at the meeting, i.e., the complete beginner and the experienced expert. If both these go away satisfied, without listeners inside or outside the tower having had to suffer unduly, then I think the Ringing Master will have justified his existence."

"Do you think that such an accomplishment is within the bounds of human possibility?"

"It all depends on what ringers expect from a District meeting, the trouble being that quite often they all expect different things, from the novice who can barely handle a bell who wants his rounds and call changes to the expert who clamours for Spliced Surprise."

"Shouldn't it be possible to meet everybody's demands?"

"In theory, yes; in practice it is not always possible. Let us take a specific example which is fairly common. Along comes a charming young lady wearing a mini-skirt and a disarming smile, who asks the Ringing Master if she can have some Plain Bob Major. Alternatively, the head ringer or someone else from her own tower, who wants her to gain experience on bells other than her own, asks on her behalf. So that he won't buy a pig in a poke the Ringing Master asks a few discreet questions in order to determine the capabilities of the applicant, and accordingly receives a variety of replies, e.g.:

(a) She has rung the treble to a course of Bob Minor.

(b) She has rung the treble to a course of Bob Major.

(c) She has rung a course of Bob Major on the 2nd with Jim Thompson standing at her elbow and shouting in her ear.

(d) She has rung three leads on the 4th bell and has memorised the figures for half of the fourth lead.

(e) She is not bad 'inside' on Grandsire Triples, and can ring the 2nd for as long as you like, bobs an' all, providing you keep her in the hunt.

And so on and so on. Now, as Ringing Master, what should I do?"

"Simple," I replied innocently. "At the first convenient opportunity you ask for Bob Major, see that your charming young lady receives the bell she wants, ask her sponsor or some proficient ringer to stand behind her to guide her (or offer to do so yourself), select the most experienced of the participating ringers and ask him to call a short touch, and," I concluded triumphantly, "sit down and relax!"

"Spoken like a man!" said the Professor dryly. "That's theory! In practice things don't work out like that. The first thing that happens when Plain Bob Major is announced is that all aspiring Plain Bobbers grab the nearest rope, either of their own volition or urged on by their sponsors. You, recognising that the touch is not likely to get beyond the first half-lead, are left with several courses of action:

1. You ask all those grabbers whom you know are sub-standard to stand down, and replace them with labourers who are worthy of their hire. This device is not popular with those who have to stand down so you placate them by promising that you will have them in 'one at a time' in order that they have a fair chance. Realising that in order to do this you will have to spend the rest of the meeting ringing Plain Bob you fall back on to!

2. You decide to have the learners in two (or three) at a time and reorganise the team accordingly. Just after the touch has started and you are congratulating yourself on reducing the time spent on Plain Bob by half (or a third), you realise that in the general reshuffle your charming young lady with the disarming smile has been excluded and is now standing disconsolately in a corner.

"You could, of course, have retained your original plan and had all the learners in together, whereupon several things could have happened —."

"Yes, yes," I said hastily, knowing full well what could have happened. "One of the difficulties is, I think, being able to tell what a person is capable of ringing. These youngsters sprout so quickly and where meetings are held quarterly it may be three, six or even twelve months before the Ringing Master sees certain faces again, by which time not only has he forgotten what they could do but is in some cases unaware of their progress."

"Some ringers," I said, diverting the conversation, "maintain that a ringing meeting should not be a practice meeting and that only first class ringing and striking should be tolerated. What do you think to that?"

"Of course, good striking should be the ultimate aim of all ringers whether beginners or not, but to insist on ringing up to contest standards to the exclusion of everything else is, at a ringing meeting, neither feasible nor possible: indeed I am not sure that it is desirable because it would mean that certain ringers would never have a pull! It is a good thing to have at intervals throughout the meeting a first class band that can produce some good striking as this not only raises the level of the average standard but also serves to set an example, worthy of emulation, to the younger end. Contrary to some opinions, there are very few so-called experts who are not prepared to 'muck in' with the less advanced ringers. The old idea of the ringer who had his touch of Spliced Surprise and then disappeared is now almost extinct. There may be an occasional one or two here and there, but most of them are as willing to join in rounds or call changes if their help is wanted as they are to demonstrate their superlative abilities in other directions."

We further discussed various aspects of the problem until the early hours, but lack of space again prevents me placing all the Professor's views and opinions before the Exercise.

Finally the Professor asked me: "You yourself have been Ringing Master for quite a long time; what do you think of the job?"

"I quite enjoy it."

I didn't quite catch his comment as he was closing the door on me, but it sounded suspiciously like: "Fools rush in!"

OUR PICTURE

BATHEASTON TRIUMPHANT

With a Ring of Eight

THE earliest record of the church at Batheaston is a charter of 1136, whereby possession of it was confirmed to the Bishop of Bath by Theobald, Archbishop of Canterbury.

At the time of the Norman Conquest two estates at Batheaston were in the hands of the Church and the King respectively, and it is probable that the foundation dates from Saxon times.

Of an early church nothing remains. The oldest part of the present building is the 94ft. western tower of four stages, a fine if not outstanding example of the splendid towers of Somerset. It dates probably from the first half of the 15th century.

The building of the north and south aisles, and the rebuilding of the chancel in the 19th century provided a seemly edifice, encasing, as it were, the old nave, of which only the sepulchral slabs in the floor reveal the antiquity.

TROUBLE WITH THE FOURTH

The churchwardens' accounts, which date from 1667, provide an enthralling record of endless bits of bell maintenance and repair—new wheels were frequently required!—and small payments to the ringers on Gunpowder Day, May 29th, and occasions of national rejoicing. From these accounts it can be deduced that there were five bells until 1824, when a new treble was added. "Mr. Rudhall's bill" for casting this bell and recasting the (then) fourth and tenor came to £103.

There had been trouble before with that fourth bell, for at a vestry in 1726 "it was unanimously agreed on by all yt were presen yt ye fourth Bell wch is crackd shd be new cast or mended wth all convenient speed," and £18 was paid for "New Casting the Fourth Bell and all other Expense concerning the same." Before the end of the century it was cracked again, and reported each year at the visitation, with nothing done until the restoration of 1824. Of this, an amusing account by an old parishioner survives in the parish magazine for 1899.

> "My father he wor a ringer for 60 years. Them bells was rung fust time for his weddin. Why, there used to be only fower bells and a cracken one, and my father, he used to rottle this 'un during the service becos he wanted to make the parish get a new 'un. And so they did. . . This bell was then the fifth, now the seventh.

The second and third bells of the old six, dated 1634, were cast by John Lott, of Warminster. The fourth, a grand old veteran, is one of a small group of early London bells, cast by William Revel about 1350.

The bells were hung high in the tower, with resultant sway, and bad "go." Since a very nearly disastrous fire a few years ago charred the oak frame, movement was even worse. Ringing was tough, striking difficult, teaching a challenge and a heartbreak, but the bells rang twice every Sunday the standard method, Bob Doubles (known locally as "Batheaston Doubles"!). However, deterioration was painfully evident and prospects were bleak.

At the church meeting in March, 1966, Julian Newman, the Ringing Master, reported the very unsatisfactory state of the bells and urged a major restoration. The Vicar, Prebendary R. A. Evans, replied that he would be delighted to see the bells put into good order, but that any scheme would have to find entirely new money, as the church had nothing to spare after paying its current expenses and giving the customary amount outside the parish.

INTEREST-FREE LOAN

Soon came the offer of an interest-free loan of £3,000, to be repaid over seven years, and a gift of two trebles, the offer to remain open only for three months. The P.C.C. decided to take up the challenge, and it was agreed that only if two-thirds of the cost were given or promised before the closing date could the offer be accepted.

Then followed a period of enthusiastic, indeed, dedicated activity. It was hoped that enough seven-year covenants, on which income tax could be reclaimed, could be obtained to form the backbone of the fund Batheaston is not a rich village, but it was possible to choose about 60 parishioners—church members and others likely to be sympathetic—who could reasonably be expected to give a covenant. The appeal set out the need, the offer and the urgency, and asked for any contributions, but especially for covenants. The cry "If only we could obtain 60 covenants of £5!" proved very effective and may have been decisive.

The appeal was quickly followed up by a visit—senior ringers and a few church members did the work—and the springs of generosity were well and truly released, for the result exceeded the most daring hope. Came the last day, and 35 covenants were promised, most of them for £5; there were two gifts of £100 each, one of £50, sundry smaller sums, and an offer to pay for the two trebles by a covenanted gift, thereby adding a very substantial sum to the fund. There was no doubt of the answer—Batheaston bells could be restored and augmented in confidence that the sum of at least £4,500 (including the cost of the trebles) could be raised without laying a devastating burden of debt on the parish.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

So far, so good, so very good. A somewhat simpler appeal was then delivered to every house in the parish, about a thousand in all, and visits made as before—no mean task. The response was: a few curses on bells and everything to do with them, a good many sixpences and other small coin, some generous gifts and more precious covenants. "Once for all" giving at this stage added £215, plus promises of annual contributions amounting to £33.

There are now 48 covenants (including that for the new trebles) of total value £329, an additional £232 of income tax to be repaid—£561 annually for seven years. Donations brought £620 in all; in addition, the Bath and Wells Association made a generous gift of £50. Nearly 3 000 Christmas cards showing the church tower (cover) were sold at a profit of £32 (and reached exiled Batheastonians the world over). Kind supporters in the village held a whist drive, which made £10. Finally, the ringers exploited the mystery of the weight of Batheaston tenor in a guessing competition—another £12.

To summarise: if all, or most of the covenanters survive for seven years the goal is in sight. We know we have been lucky, very lucky, and have received great generosity from many people. This account is given in some detail to draw attention to a plan of campaign the seeking of covenants especially, which may interest others facing a major restoration.

"HARROWING OF HELL"

Five bells went to the foundry for retuning in November, the brave old fourth, now hung above the others as clock bell and for chiming, keeping a lone vigil in the tower. On January 30th, 35 parishioners and ringing friends journeyed to Loughborough to see the casting of the trebles and the new sixth. The experience will remain a vivid memory of excitement and delight: the diabolical grin worn by the Vicar as he poked and stirred at the sixth is photographically preserved for posterity, and irreverently known as the Harrowing of Hell.

The eight bells are hung in a cast iron frame, ten feet below the old level—space just and only just sufficed to pack them in. On June 4th the voice of the old fourth called Batheaston to church for the dedication, and rededication by the Bishop of Bath and Wells after the Family Communion. There was a large congregation, and a gratifying assemblage (at 9 o'clock!) of ringers, among whom was John Gilbert, secretary of the Association The Bishop said the dedicatory prayers and charged the churchwardens with the care of the bells at the tower arch, and his subsequent visit to the ringing chamber was much appreciated by the ringers.

After the traditional rounds, a course of Bob Triples was rung by local ringers, and if it was not impeccable, well, most of the band are inexperienced, and the few opportunities for practice were with clappers tied. There was ringing then for all-comers until Matins, and throughout the afternoon, some of it very good, with general agreement that the tone of the ring is excellent and the "go" of the bells incomparably better. Among the many who rang were Jesse Hallett, the only survivor of the band which rang the first peal on the bells, Grandsire Doubles in 1907, who, in spite of severe arthritis, climbed 36 rather steep steps for the first time in many years in order to ring, and enjoyed himself enormously; and Horace Taylor, whose service as Master, with his father's, together covered 53 years to 1950

It was indeed a great day for Batheaston ringers. As the hour for Evensong approached and the visitors gradually drifted away, eight of them remained, cheerfully ringing—better than in the morning, as the bells became more familiar—just Bob Triples, but full of ambition and hope for the future.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION'S HELPING HAND SCHEME

A BUSY and profitable half day was spent at Burnham and Stoke Poges on June 10th, where ringing at both towers catered for everyone, from those in the very elementary stages of learning to those in the advanced tages. Before and after the tower bell ringing the Association's set of handbells was put to good use. The handbells had a particular significance because they were just back from renovation in first-class style by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry; thus these very musical handbells, which were basically of high quality, are now in really excellent condition.

The invitation to the beautiful locations of Burnham and Stoke Poges originated from Mr A. D. Barker, who reminded us that it was nearly half a century since the Association had been there for an official meeting.

HELP TO WEAK TOWERS DISCUSSED

Although the business meeting was kept as short and brisk as possible, considerable objective discussion took place and the Standing Committee were left with a very clear impression of the way in which its activities should be directed in the months to come. From three separate and distinct sources came the urge for vigorous action to be taken to help those towers where the local company could benefit from additional competent support.

The Master (Mr H. W. Rogers) suggested that this could well be done if two main requirements were fulfilled:

(1). That the officers should be informed where and when help was required and that in fact it would be welcomed

(2). That individunal ringers would volunteer and form a nucleus of, say, a dozen strong, from which parties of three or more could be assigned to particular towers or groups of towers.

Naturally most of the officers and leading members were already doing this work, at least in their own towers, and as some recompense for the additional work the Master offered to arrange the occasional evening peal at suitable towers from this nucleus. Requests for and offers of help should be sent to H. W. Rogers, 53, The Grove, Isleworth, or by contact with any of the other Association officers.

Additionally, Association officers promised to provide instruction to ringers who visited them at: Chelsea or Isleworth on Friday evenings; Ealing, Christ Church, on Tuesday evenings; and Kensington, St. Mary Abbot's, on Thursday evenings.

"RINGING WORLD" LETTER

An anonymous letter had appeared in the current issue of "The Ringing World" principally on this subject, and the Master spoke appreciatively of the spirit which engendered this, but regretted the untrue twists which it contained, and chose to ignore these aspects of it. He naturally hoped that the writer and those associated with him would assist in the foregoing projected exercise. Why, however, should a writer hide his identity in among the eight and a half million people who can legitimately sign themselves "Londoner"?

Among the routine business which took place were the elections of Ronald Suckling, Miss Diane Mullins, Mrs. M. J. Foskett, Mrs. Sybil Aldridge and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Swift.

TONBRIDGE RINGERS' WEDDING

TONBRIDGE Parish Church was decorated with flowers and the choir and bellringers were in their respective places on June 17th for the wedding of Mr. Raymond A. Large and Miss Margaret A. Ladd. The bride who wore a long dress of white kafka and lace (jonquils design) with bracelet-length bell-shaped sleeves and long train of lace falling from a high waist line, was given away by her father, Mr. Ernest J. Ladd. Her three-tier veil was held in place by a crown of pearls, and she carried a spray of orange roses and stephanotis.

The very inspiring service was conducted by Canon T. F. C Bewes, who during his short address to the couple thanked Ray for his work in the tower and in the church. While the register was being signed the choir sang "Rejoice in the Lord alway." The bells were rung before and after the service.

Chief bridesmaid was Miss Sally Cosstick (a very close friend of the bride) arrayed in a full-length dress of orange kafka and carrying mixed white flowers; also in attendance was the three-year-old goddaughter of the bride, Elizabeth Bissenden, in a lemon kafka dress with a Gainsborough basket of mixed white flowers. The best man was Mr. Anthony Rogers.

Over 60 guests were at the reception, which was held at the Rose and Crown, Tonbridge, and a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by the bride and her father and Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs.

The honeymoon is being spent in Sweden, the bride travelling in a turquoise dress, coat and hat trimmed with cream.

The bridegroom is secretary of the Tonbridge Parish Church bellringers, and the bride is secretary of the East Grinstead and District Guild, and they received gifts from both.

In honour of the occasion a peal was rung at Edenbridge, but attempts at Tunbridge Wells and at Withyham were not successful.

The bride and bridesmaids' dresses were all made by the bride. Their future address will be: 25, Nursery Close, Tonbridge, Kent.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S 10th ANNUAL OUTING

ALL aboard for Abergavenny on May 20th at 5 a.m.—an unearthly hour, yes, but a bright, promising-looking morning to compensate the party for its valiant early rising. We were a well-assorted coachload—ringers, relatives and friends from Witney, Standlake, Eynsham, Wolvercote and various Oxford City towers. There was even a renegade from the O.U.S who'd got in somehow!

The weather became progressively less promising as the coach neared the Welsh border. On arrival at Abergavenny we stepped out into a comfortless combination of brilliant sun, patchy cloud and biting wind. What a spacious ringing chamber, and what glorious bells! Rounds went round merrily enough; Stedman Caters woudn't go at all; Grandsire proved far more amenable; and we finished up with a rousing touch of Bob Major.

Back to the coach and on to St. Mary's, Brecon. Here we were at the outset a little disturbed by a loud and intermittent thumping from somewhere overhead; the cause, fortunately, was nothing more formidable than an independent-spirited window, and we settled down with easy minds to our rounds, Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob.

The next item on the programme was lunch—a delectable meal of roast Welsh lamb at the Bishop's Meadows Restaurant; then on to St. Peter's, Carmarthen. From the coach-park the tower was plain enough to see, but how on earth was one supposed to get at it? By devious routes we eventually gained our objective and were able to enjoy a brief and eventful ring on the pleasant bright-toned eight—the very new ropes posing some interesting handling problems.

At Llanstephan we found a quiet, fast-going eight which seemed to exhibit a marked partiality for Stedman; the blue and gold sallies came in for plenty of admiration. Our last stop for the day was at St. Mary's, Tenby, where a rather weary party, alas, did not do justice to the bells. Rest and refreshment were by now our major requirements; abundant facilities for both were offered by our hotel, beautifully situated by Saundersfoot Bay.

The next morning, after a leisurely Sunday breakfast, we set off for service ringing—first at St. Florence, where we found the handy little six much to our taste, and were delighted to ring with the Vicar and two enthusiastic young members of his band, and then at Tenby, where, ringing with a band which has a formidable reputation for striking, we redeemed ourselves in, notably, some very nice Bob Major. There followed a bracing three-quarters of an hour during which we inspected Tenby in a howling gale. In true British fashion most of us strolled doggedly on the promenade, some even going so far as to venture on to the sand and fraternise with the gulls We returned, frozen and invigorated, to the hotel for an excellent lunch, after which—in a torrential downpour—we set off on the long journey to Llandaff, where we were to ring at the Cathedral. On these easy-going bells we brought our Stedman Caters round in reasonably good style When our official time was up some of us stayed on to ring with the local band for Evensong.

Homeward bound, we stopped at Chepstow to dine; then across the Severn Bridge in the half-light, and on to Tetbury for drinks; and then, amazingly soon, the coach was back in Oxfordshire and farewells were being said.

Sincere thanks are offered to the incumbents, to the ringers who met us, to the hotel staff, to our driver, who got us round and out of so many tight corners with such expertise, and last, but certainly not least, to Norman, the moving spirit. E. M. B.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

Hethersett was the venue for the meeting of the Northern Branch on June 17th, the eight bells being rung before and after the service to a variety of methods, including rounds to London Major. A demonstration of lowering and raising in peal was given under the able leadership of the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. M Cubitt.

The service was conducted by the Rev L. R Kingsbury, who emphasised that we as ringers must always bear in mind that the primary use of church bells is to the glory of God.

At the business meeting the chairman, Mr. G. Sayer spoke of the sudden death of Mr. W. Clover, who, he said, had been a member of the Association since 1910. The president, Mr. F. N. Golden, also paid tribute to Mr. Clover, saying that he had endeared himself to all who knew him. Mr. H. Tooke spoke of his wonderful ringing partnership with Mr. Clover, having rung together in 306 peals. In the month of January, 1938, they had taken part in peals of Kent Treble Bob Major from Minor to Maximus. The president also referred to the death of a former Hethersett ringer Mr. T. C. Crowe. Members stood in silence to their memory.

The Rev. E. G. Squires, Miss R. Sprunt and Miss J. Young, of Drayton, were elected ringing members, the Rev. and Mrs. L. R Kingsbury, Mrs. V. Alborough (Hethersett) honorary members, Miss M. Clarke Miss J Worthington, Miss E Slade (Intwood) probationers. The belfry election of Mr. A Salisbury was ratified.

The chairman thanked the Rev. L. R Kingsbury for conducting the service, Mrs. V Alborough for playing the organ, Mr. R. Lofty and his sister for arrangements made and serving tea, also the ringers' appreciation and thanks to the anonymous donor of an enjoyable tea. C. B

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The Marlborough Branch held its June meeting at Aldbourne on June 17th. Due to various causes, the attendance from towers within the Branch was very poor, only one Chisledon, being represented besides the home tower. A compensation was the number of visitors present, who came from Wootton Bassett, Rodbourne Cheney, Trowbridge, Micheldean, Farnham and Chobham.

The Vicar (the Rev P. Chapman) conducted the Guild service and tea was prepared and served on the Vicarage lawn by Mrs. Jones, assisted by Mrs. F. Read and Mrs. G. Newman.

At the business meeting, with Mr. G. Newman in the chair, arrangements were discussed for the Branch outing in September to the Bridgwater area. Subject to permission, the next three monthly meetings will be at Chisledon Overton and Burbage with Milton Lilbourne. The vote of thanks was proposed by the chairman and ringing resumed under the direction of Mr. F. Read, Ringing Master

ST. ALBANS WITHOUT A SECRETARY

Thanks for his services and wishes for good luck in his new job were voiced to Mr Keith Walpole at the St. Albans District meeting at Radlett on June 17th. In consequence of his new employment Mr. Walpole has resigned the office of secretary. Names for an acting secretary are asked for at the next meeting.

Three of the Radlett band were proposed as members — David Major (ringing member), Michael Donnall and Lynn Woodward (probationers).

The presidential office was discussed and the secretary announced that he had prepared a list of dates for forthcoming District activities. Tower details were asked for in connection with the Central Council meeting in 1969.

There were votes of thanks to the ladies for the enjoyable tea, and to the Vicar

Next District meeting: July 15th at St. Michael's and the Abbey, followed in the evening by a barbecue. T. L. W.

ANALYSIS OF QUARTER PEALS RUNG IN 1966

By ALAN A. J. BUSWELL

THE following analysis is taken from the quarter peal columns and contains the total number of quarter of each stage in county order, with a summary of the methods rung. These were rung in 1,603 different towers, of which 771 had only one quarter rung. In the Double and Minor stages I have had to generalise as it would be impossible to give the details of quarters rung in more than one method. They were mostly Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob and Another Minor. I have included Stedman Doubles in Other Methods as only 18 were rung.

Lympne (Kent) rang the most quarters with 43. With the exception of four, they were all Doubles up to 10 methods Addington (Surrey) were second with 42 Minor methods, of which only eight were Plain Bob. Of individual performances, the Marple band (Cheshire) rang 9-spliced Surprise Minor. Handbells are not included; a total of 29 was published.

Birmingham Cathedral's Bells

DANGER WITH SCAFFOLDING

Dear Sir,—It is unfortunate that an attack should be made upon the ringers of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, without the facts being ascertained.

Your correspondent no doubt noticed the scaffolding around the tower of the Cathedral and had she asked would have been told that the architect had forbidden the bells to be rung while the upper part of the scaffolding around the cupola was still in position. A trial was made three months ago when the scaffolding was first erected, and it was found that the upper section moved to a dangerous extent when the bells were rung. Accordingly, they will not be rung again until this section of scaffolding is removed.

The band at St. Philip's has a very good Sunday service record under the leadership of Mr. G. Fearn, and had it been possible to ring the bells, doubtless your correspondent would have heard the full 12 being rung by Birmingham ringers.—Yours sincerely,

Kingswinford, Staffs. JOHN C. EISEL.

A REGULAR BAND

Dear Sir,—May I reply to the remarks made by Joan M. Coley about Birmingham Cathedral and ringers ("R.W." page 436). There has been no ringing at the Cathedral for the last eight or ten weeks. The dome and cupola have been swathed in scaffolding and we were asked not to ring while repairs were being done to the cupola and cross.

Incidentally, many of our ringers are on the phone. Had the lady cared to ring one of us she could have found out why the bells were silent on Trinity Sunday. There is certainly nothing wrong with our priorities. We may be keen peal ringers, but we are also very regular service ringers. Many of us ring at both the Cathedral and St. Martin's on Sundays, when Cinques and Maximus can be heard in the city.—Yours faithfully,

MURIEL REAY.

Northfield, Birmingham.

AN APOLOGY TO ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

Dear Sir,—May I, through your columns, please extend to the members of the St. Martin's (Birmingham) Guild of Bell Ringers my sincere apologies for a very unfortunate mistake made by me in accusing them of failing to ring for the ordination service on Trinity Sunday. I admit that I was too hasty and that I should have made sure of my facts, and I ask them to accept my apologies for any distress caused to the members of the band. I sincerely hope that the bells will soon be usable again.—Yours faithfully,

JOAN M. COLEY.

Rowley Regis.

ST. PHILIP'S, BIRMINGHAM

Dear Sir,—Many of your readers will have noticed the absence of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, from your peal columns in recent weeks. Some of them may know the reason, but for the many that do not the fact is that the bells have not been rung at since mid-April.

Essential maintenance work upon the Cathedral roof was extended to that of the tower, and scaffolding was erected. There is considerable movement of the upper stages of the tower when the bells are rung, and the engineer in charge, after a demonstration, asked that the bells be not rung while the scaffolding was around the upper stages of the tower, for safety's sake.

This scaffolding is very obvious, and could hardly have escaped the notice of your correspondent. I am accordingly surprised that she wrote her letter without first attempting to find out all the facts, which would not have been very difficult.—Yours faithfully,

PETER BORDER.

Coventry.

Variety in Doubles

Dear Sir,—In 1964 the publication of the "Doubles Collection" was regarded in this area (and in most parts of the country) as the solution to problems limiting the progress of struggling bands. Too few of our tower captains realise that variety is the only carrot that encourages a band, and that indifferently-struck "Jack-a-Napes Doubles" or "Blunderbus Doubles" are more likely to maintain or increase the attendance of intelligent young people than is a weekly dose of immaculate "Grandsire Doubles."

Of particular interest to the young band in the Fawley area was the section of unnamed methods on page 530 in "The Ringing World," issue No. 2,784. It was determined to provide this "Bob Doubles" band with a specific target named "Fawley Doubles," and for obvious reasons an "All Saints" variation was practised. The encouraging result is that every member of the band is now able to participate in a touch of the method. However, it was with dismay that we found in the 1966 revised collection on page 183, issue No. 2,865, that the name "Sturdy Hill" had been suggested for this method. Perusal of the peal columns of "The Ringing World" published since then (a lengthy task) has yielded no mention of the name "Sturdy Hill," and subsequently a communication to Geoffrey K. Dodd has elicited the reply that there is no objection to our initial name of "Fawley Doubles." Hence a modest quarter peal was accomplished on June 5th, containing two "first quarter peals."

I hope that the Exercise will bear with our little foibles. I can assure everyone that many young ringers in a distant country tower have been encouraged by the above. No doubt there will be a sprinkling of dissenters who will write to suggest that it would have been more progressive to have "bashed" our way through "Cambridge and London." I will anticipate this by saying that a Sunday Doubles band might, given encouragement, "ring" a quarter of Surprise in the future.—Yours sincerely,

DEREK C. JACKSON.

Totton, Hants.

REPLY TO SEMI-LEARNERS

Dear Sir,—I was very interested to read the letter from five "semi-learners" in the issue of June 23rd. I know none of them, but I do appreciate that they have come upon a very trying stage in their progress.

I neither know nor want to know the people who are the cause of the grievance. Surely these are not names we see regularly in "The Ringing World"?

But to our five friends I offer some advice which I sincerely hope will be of use:—

Firstly, do not be put off—such ringers as these are, happily, in the minority.

Secondly, travel around more. If the tower you go to rings only S. Major don't go there if you are not happy on even S. Minor! If there are five of you it should not be difficult to get transport to enable you to find what I would call a good practice tower.

Finally, keep up your homework! All ringing should be by rhythm and hence if your Plain Bob striking is good, providing you know the theory of Surprise, etc., you will be able to strike that too!—Yours sincerely,

CHARLES F. POCOCK.

West Kirby, Wirral.

TRIBUTE TO EXPERIENCED RINGERS

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to hear that Shirley, John, Anthony, Paul and Delphine (page 436) have only come across experienced ringers who grumble and will not help learners and "semi-learners." All the experienced ringers I myself have met have been only too keen to help in any way that they can. Admittedly, some have shouted as if they were angry, but they very rarely are; it is just their way of helping a struggling beginner through an incomprehensible maze of ropes and numbers. If a learner is given nothing but praise, however bad the ringing, he or she will think "Oh, I'm marvellous. I don't need to improve my ringing. The occasional cross word in the right place helps enormously, though I do agree that too many cross words can be very discouraging.—Yours sincerely,

GILLIAN RICHARDSON.

Haresfield, Glos.

NOTES (OR TONES) IN A BELL

Dear Sir,—I am grateful to Canon Gilbert Thurlow and Mr. Robert Hardy for their letters ("R.W." May 26th, page 358 and June 23rd, page 437), which followed Canon Thurlow's article and my letter.

Recently, on the best authority, I was told that there is really no limit to the number of notes—tones—in a bell. Over forty were found in one bell and then the test was abandoned!—Yours sincerely,

CLAUDE RUSH.

Felixstowe.

MORE MARCH HARE MADNESS

Dear Sir,—As you may already be aware, I have a little bell fixed to the top of my hat. Yesterday, in one hour and twenty minutes, I managed to nod my head 5,040 times, and I was wondering if you could let me have a peal-card for this. For your records, the peal was composed and conducted by myself and, owing to membership difficulties, was rung non-association.—Yours faithfully,

"Toyland." NODDY.

TOLLER WHELME

Dear Sir,—Apropos the bells of Toller Whelme, Dorset, Canon Raven, "Church Bells of Dorset," 1904, from "Proceedings—Dorset Natural History and Antiquarian Field Club," page 61, gives: "No. 20: Toller Whelme, St. John. Four(!) very small bells placed in the church c. 1870."—Yours sincerely, Harborne, Birmingham. W. E. BOX.

The Truth About Gospel Oak

Dear Sir,—I must refute your correspondent Harold Lawrence's sensational exposé (June 23rd), for I am who I say I am, and it was my letter you published concerning the recent peal at Gospel Oak.

I find this Mr. Lawrence's dramatic, defamatory accusation intolerable, and I request an immediate public apology from your correspondent, whoever he may be, and from the publishers of "The Ringing World." As far as I am aware, no attempt was made to contact me prior to the publication of Mr. Lawrence's letter, despite the fact that I am a postal subscriber to your journal, am listed on the St. Pancras N.W.5 electoral roll and am shown as a member of St. Mary's, Hendon, band in the 1965–6 Middlesex Association annual reports.

I have never written to "The Ringing World" hiding behind a pseudonym; and if anyone dares to use my name for a scurrilous purpose I will take such action as is necessary to ensure that there is no similar repetition. Neither has any letter or article submitted by me to "The Ringing World" or any other publication contained deliberately erroneous or misleading information.

Sir, my previous letter, stating what I consider was an irresponsible and ill-advised peal at St. Martin's, Gospel Oak, was not a hoax, neither was it a fabrication of falsehoods.

I was invited to join a working party organised by George Hart and Ruth Foreman (who was tower captain at St. Martin's when ringing was discouraged three years ago) to check the bells and fittings prior to the bells being rung at the request of the new Vicar for his induction service. A lot of hard, grimy work was performed by George, Ruth, Dianne Gazeley and myself getting the bells into good ringing order. The ex-Hendon/Finchley ropes were adjusted, all bearings lubricated and loose bolts tightened, besides much cleaning-up. And being mindful of the local residents' opposition which had previously caused the bells to fall silent, we experimented with a number of temporary sound-reducing measures. Our final choice was gaiters of an old motor car inner-tube attached to the clappers with draw-strings and filled with various amounts of corrugated cardboard. We estimated that these would last for the half-hour of ringing prior to the induction service, and for a limited amount of Sunday service ringing afterwards by a team possibly recruited from other towers in the district. This is certainly not a case of the bells being "permanently muffled," as Mr. Hutchinson would have your readers believe in his somewhat pharisaical letter.

To my knowledge there are three active change ringers living within close proximity to St. Martin's; two are in the valiant little band that endeavours to maintain Evensong service ringing on the ten at St. Stephen's, Hampstead, and the eight at St. Anne's, Highgate. I joined Ruth Foreman's band at St. Mary's, Hendon, at a time when it was a predominantly ladies' band, and it was unreasonable to expect young girls to raise and lower the rather heavy-going 16 cwt. tenor for Sunday service ringing. Also, to be quite frank, I had come from Turramurra to England to improve my method ringing, and Hendon offered the greatest need to be fulfilled concomitant with opportunities to ring more advanced methods. So it is unlikely that an "instant" team can be poured into St. Martin's, but other North London towers will undoubtedly provide encouragement to the formation and augmentation of a team there.

Mr. Hutchinson states he "called attention to two broken stays, indications of the neglect and misuse the bells have suffered recently." We checked the fittings after the induction service and found them to be in sound condition. I understand that the only time the bells were raised between then and the ringing of the peal was when the tower was opened for the U.L.S.C.R. annual meeting, so I can only assume that the damage was done then. Moreover, Mr. Hutchinson's ignorance of the situation is illustrated in that it was the stay of the treble and the slider of the second that were fractured. These were removed at the Vicar's request by George Hart: I took them to the Whitechapel Foundry this week, collected them this morning and fitted them this afternoon. I shall be pleased to receive the nett material cost of the new stay and slider, £2 3s. 6d., from the U.L.S.C.R. or those persons responsible.

Sir, I am sorry to have had cause to write a letter such as this, and at such length, but I feel that this subject, having been plunged into a misleading smokescreen of correspondence, should be clarified as soon as possible, and my name redeemed.—Yours faithfully,

WALTER KNIGHT.

Note.—The Editor, in expressing his deep regret, apologises to Mr. Knight for any reflection on his character by the letter signed by Harold Lawrence, which he accepted in good faith. He trusts that the writer will have the courage to apologise publicly.

THE START OF THE BAND

Dear Sir,—As my name has been mentioned in two recent letters concerning the peal at Gospel Oak, I am writing to summarise facts known to me.

Firstly, for Mr. Hutchinson's information, I am Ringing Master at St. Mary's, Hendon.

A few years ago the then incumbent of St. Martin's, the Rev. St. Aubrey, approached the secretary of the Middlesex Association for an instructor for a new band at this tower. Mr. Lock asked me if I would take it on, in addition to Hendon, and I agreed to try. Dr. Neal Smith had done some work on the bells just prior to this, and with some help from the Hendon ringers and others a band was started.

The bells are a pleasant six, but very noisy outside. Many protests were made by local residents, with justification, and practice was restricted to one hour a week, from 7-8, with service ringing on Sunday mornings. Unfortunately most of the learners did not stick, although they were enthusiastic enough at one time to raise most of the sum of nearly £100 required to cover necessary repairs, etc., to the bells. To this sum, the Middlesex Association also made a grant.

Ringing at St. Martin's ceased about three years ago, but in April a new incumbent, coming from the Harrow area, was inducted. George Hart is steeple keeper at Harrow Weald and a District chairman of the Middlesex Association. Prior to the induction of the new Vicar, he and Walter Knight, together with myself and Dianne Gazeley from Hendon, spent two long evenings in St. Martin's belfry, greasing bearings, smoothing sliders and generally "going over" the bells and ropes (these ropes originally coming from the Hendon and Finchley belfries). Walter experimented with sound control, and finally utilised an inner tyre for this purpose. The bells were rung for the induction, to the Vicar's delight, the inner tyre being a great success. When we left the belfry there were no broken stays, but one or two ropes had stretched during the ringing. During this last week, Walter has had repaired the broken stay and slider, reported by the U.L.S.C.R., at his own expense.

I should like to point out that the foregoing are statements of fact, and are made in the hope of avoiding further acrimonious correspondence.—Yours faithfully,

RUTH M. FOREMAN.

Hendon.

GET BACK TO RINGING

Dear Sir,—Much has been said and written over the past few weeks about the problem of hoaxes, and I am reluctant to labour what must now be a well-worn topic. However, I hope you will allow me to make a few commonsense remarks.

In the first place, whilst one has to admit the utter childishness of these incidents, their great worry and inconvenience to the Editor, the fact remains that the great majority of ringers take absolutely no notice of these hoaxes; they were mildly amusing at first, but the novelty has worn off a bit now. The most sensible course of action is to ignore hoaxes; forget the whole thing, and allow it to die a natural death. As was pointed out recently, causing a song and dance about the occurrence of these incidents only encourages the hoaxers even more; it gives them the notice and attention they want.

I deplore the mass hysteria over the matter shown both at the Central Council meeting and in the "R.W." recently. In particular, there has been a tendency to associate individuals, or groups of individuals with the outbreak; the evidence is very much to the contrary. One such case was a letter by Walter Knight (a well-known ringer in this area, who has done much restoration work at Gospel Oak and other towers) claimed by a recent "R.W." correspondent to be a hoax, and attributed to a certain party, as far as I could see, without a shred of evidence. This kind of hysteria only worsens matters, encouraging the hoaxers, and raising all kinds of nasty, often ill-founded suspicions in people's minds as to those responsible.

So, please, let's forget all about hoaxes, and concern ourselves with the more important business of ringing.—Yours faithfully,

TED SHORT.

TOURS AND OUTINGS

ST. MARY'S ROUGHAM

THE ringers of St. Mary's, Rougham, chose for their outing this year the county of Somerset (so renowned for its magnificent towers with bells to match) with Yeovil for their base. Friday at 9 a.m. saw a coach-load of 38 leaving Rougham, including ringers from Thetford, Elveden, Barrow and Bramford, and non-ringing friends.

The first stop was to visit the grave of Sir Winston Churchill at Bladon, afterwards ringing at the adjoining town of Woodstock at the gates of Blenheim Palace. On Saturday, May 27th, an early start was made to the tour, and a Yeovil ringer, Mr. Farthing, kindly accompanied us all day as guide and made the journey more interesting with information on local history and personalities.

Our first tower was at Somerton, a town with a history going back to Saxon times and having a fine Warner ring of six. After passing Weary-all Hill, with its legendary association with Joseph of Arimathea and the Glastonbury Thorn, we reached St. Benedict's, Glastonbury (another six with a 13 cwt. tenor, which we noticed were very quiet both inside and outside the tower). The chancel here is noteworthy, having been recently renovated.

West Pennard was the next stop—a charming village with a fine Tudor manor house adjoining the Church of St. Nicholas. The 500-year-old tower is a very fine one and there is a good carved screen, also a fine example of the Royal Arms in freshly painted heraldic colours. The bells are a heavy six with a tenor of 24 cwt.

Onward to Shepton Mallet, a town with a traffic problem at holiday time, where after a satisfying lunch at the Red Lion Hotel, we felt ready to tackle anything. The market cross here is one of the finest in England. The Church of SS. Peter and Paul is magnificent with a beautifully-carved oak roof and good fan vaulting inside the base of the tower. The Vicar, who is himself a ringer, informed us with pardonable pride that the tower, dating from 1318, is the prototype for all the best towers in Somerset and the bells are a fine-sounding eight (tenor 25 cwt.).

Our next stop was at the very interesting Church of St. Thomas of Canterbury at Pylle—an old British word meaning a tidal creek. This is the Guild church of the Somerset Guild of Craftsmen, and practically everything, including the electric light fittings and the cross and candlesticks, was made in the village or vicinity. The bells were restored and augmented in 1953 to commemorate the Coronation of our present Queen.

We arrived at Ditcheat in heavy rain but ringing the well-known eight in a well-kept ringing chamber was a pleasant experience. A very welcome tea was taken in the skittle alley of the adjoining Green Tree Inn. This church is remarkable for the amazing record of the Leir family, members of which were successively Rectors of the parish from 1699 to 1891. The grand reading desk was made from their pew as a memorial.

The next tower, at North Cadbury, was one of the highlights of the tour. An avenue of beech trees leads to the 15th century church and the gabled Elizabethan house. The six bells (tenor 19¼ cwt.) cannot be hurried, and a steady beat brings out their majestic tone in all its beauty.

Our last call was at South Cadbury, where Cadbury "Castle" commands a view over half the county and has legendary associations with King Arthur. The next day being Sunday we rang for and attended morning service at Hardington Mandeville, where the late Rector of Rougham, the Rev. Paul Greaves, lies in the churchyard.

A start was made for home after lunch and a tired but happy party arrived at Rougham at 9 p.m. The organisation was admirably carried out by the indefatigable secretary, Leslie Wright, to whom suitable acknowledgment was made. C. W. H.

STOKE POGES

A learner on his first outing is entrusted with the task of writing the report of Stoke Poges ringers' outing on May 13th.

He tells of the scramble so that his wife and children reach the coach on time, and the homage at the grave of Sir Winston Churchill at Bladon. Ringing on the tower bells was not permitted, but an impressive course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside.

The long, steep ladder access to the ringing chamber at Tackley was a surprise. On leaving, someone found a tearful child at the top of the ladder, too frightened to move—"it had to be one of mine," adds our correspondent. Standard methods were rung at Deddington before proceeding to Great Tew for a picnic lunch and ringing. "My performance marred the Bob Major. This is a tower I must visit again," he adds.

The long, spiral stairs climb was worth it at Burford, where an immaculate touch of Stedman was rung by the elder brethren, but the Double Norwich was not so good. Tea followed here and Mr. A. D. Barker, the Ringing Master for the day, thanked the churchwarden, Mr. Hartley, for his assistance in bringing about the outing..

Evening ringing was at Witney and Eynsham. Next door to the latter church there is a pub. "Through those doors I am no longer a learner. Four members entertained us to tunes on handbells, followed by touches of Stedman and Grandsire. What a lovely end to a perfect day!"

TOTTERNHOE, BEDS

It is now 17 years since Jack Scott first arranged an outing for the St. Giles', Totternhoe, ringers. He has done this without once revisiting a tower.

On May 20th the towers visited were in the Mendip Hills, calling at St. John's, Devizes (a very nice eight of 19½ cwt. in a light and interesting church), on the way.

Our first Somerset tower was St. Gregory's in the pretty village of Beckington. After lunch at Frome, on to Mells (a 26 cwt. eight hung in a fine West Country tower). The back six were raised in peal and Yorkshire Surprise Major and Grandsire Triples followed.

The 15th century Perpendicular tower at St. Giles', Leigh-on-Mendip, has a ring of six (tenor 12½ cwt.), and a good course of London was rung here. A short ride over the Mendips brought us to Wells and tea at the White Hart Hotel.

A visit to the Cathedral (a superb example of English 13th century Gothic) and the Bishop's Palace was a much appreciated part of the schedule. Reluctantly we left Wells to ring on the musical six at St. Nicholas', Radstock, ending with a course of Norwich Surprise.

Many thanks to Jack Scott for making all arrangements and we hope the next 17 outings will be as enjoyable. J. S.

The peal of 5,056 Plain Bob Major rung at St. Mary's, Swansea, on June 10th, was rung for the centenary of the Church of St. James, Swansea.

ST. LUKE'S (CHELSEA) TOUR

THIS year's tour was held in Norfolk and Suffolk, with headquarters in Beccles. We were lucky to have as our organiser Helen Maltman, who, having a good knowledge of the area, was able to provide us with a most varied and interesting selection of towers.

Monday, April 3rd, was our first full day of the tour, with ringing at Thetford, Elvedon, Mildenhall and Ixworth, where a "ladies' touch" of Bob Minor was rung. Tuesday was a poor day weatherwise, but we managed to forget this whilst ringing at Quidenham, Diss (home tower of Mr. Bert Harrison, who joined us for most of the week), and South Lopham. A few members also managed to ring at North Lopham.

Porridge for breakfast on Wednesday worked wonders for "Jafus" and he joined the rest of the company in ringing at Pulham St. Mary (where we were also joined by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gogle), Lowestoft, Pakefield and Gorleston. Plain and Little Bob Spliced was conquered that day and in the evening the majority of the party went to join the Great Yarmouth ringers at their practice and were delighted to see George Fletcher looking so fit and well.

SHIVERING AT EVERY BLOW

Cotton was our first (and most unusual) tower on Thursday. This is a ground-floor ring with one side of the tower open to the point of the arch. Add to this a cold, rainy day, and the result was a group of overdressed ringers shivering at every blow and ranging in appearance from a Sandeman Port advertisement to "milking time down on the farm." Framsden, Debenham, Eye and Stradbroke were on the programme.

Our first towers on Friday were Redenhall and Fressingfield, where we were joined at lunch by the delightful old Vicar. In the afternoon we rang at Wilby and Worlingworth, where the Vicar joined us in call changes. A ring at Beccles itself was specially arranged for us on Friday evening, and hearty thanks are due here to Mr. Goate, who allowed us to change the time of ringing and who put up with us on two Sundays for service ringing. The most enjoyable ringing here was Jack Phillips' "Breakfast Touch No. 2" of Stedman Caters, composed over a bowl of cornflakes.

And so to Saturday, our final day, with ringing first at Saxlingham Nethergate, where our friends of old, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stimson, Glynis and Janet, joined us. St. John de Sepulchre's, Norwich, gave us our only chance to ring in the city and despite the quietness of the bells, good striking was heard. A magnificent lunch had been prepared for us by Mr. and Mrs. Maltman (Helen's parents) and our gratitude was expressed wholeheartedly to them.

A well thought-out route enabled us to get clear of the city quickly, and from here on the party split into two groups—one attempted a quarter peal at Diss, which unfortunately did not succeed, and the remainder went to Hethersett. Here, with the much appreciated help of the local ringers, our learners were put through their paces.

Saturday night was quiet, as several people were getting ready for an early start home on Sunday—Kate Branson to Edinburgh via Derby, and Jean Weddell to Cardiff. After ringing at Beccles for Matins, the remainder of the party set off for London, arriving in plenty of time to ring at Chelsea for Evensong.

Methods rung during the day included Plain Bob—Minor, Major and Royal; Spliced Plain and Little Bob; Grandsire Doubles Triples and Caters; Stedman Doubles, Triples and Caters; Double Court Minor; Kent—Minor, Major and Royal; Oxford—Minor, Major and Royal; Cambridge—Minor and Major; Yorkshire Major; and Double Norwich Major.

Finally, our thanks must go to the incumbents, local ringers, and not least to our hotel manager and his wife and staff at Beccles, who survived looking after us for the week.

M. R. W.

LYMPNE, KENT.—On June 18th, 1,280 Doubles (seven methods): M. J. Taylor 1, Elizabeth Todd 2, R. P. Brotherston 3, H. P. Yates 4, G. Neilson (cond.) 5, B. Butcher 6. For Evensong.

OBITUARY

MR. J. HOPE

A vice-president of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, Mr. J. Hope, of Fairford, Gloucestershire, died on June 6th, aged 90.

Mr. Hope learned to ring at Fairford in his early teens and saw the local band ringing Double Norwich during his term as captain. He collected the money needed to recast and rehang Fairford bells in 1927 and more recently collected the money needed to rehang Siddington bells while he was living there. He had rung and conducted a number of peals.

On June 9th a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled to his memory by G. W. Burge 1, H. L. Cooke 2, Mrs. J. Tucker 3, E. H. Jefferies 4, Mrs. W. A. Godwin 5, F. J. Lewis, jun. 6, W. A. Godwin (cond.) 7, R. G. Pearson 8.

MR. G. W. REED

The death has taken place in St. Michael's Hospital, Hayle, Cornwall, of George Whitfield Reed at the age of 59. George Reed was born and brought up at Cefn Coed, Merthyr Tydfil and learned to ring on the six bells there, his father being captain at the tower. Later he left for Surrey and was a member of the All Saints', Benhilton, band; he afterwards lived in London.

About eight years ago he moved to Carbis Bay to take over as maintenance manager at the Carrack Gladden Hotel, where he rang as often as duties permitted, but more recently he had been regular at both service and practice ringing. He had taken special delight to help with the training of several young ringers.

The funeral took place at St. Anta and All Saints', Carbis Bay, on June 17th, and was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. S. Roberts. The chief mourners were the widow and two daughters. Others present were Mesdames A. S. Roberts and T. Sullivan. Miss M. L. Lidgey, Mr. H. Miles and Kevin Lucock and Mr. F. B. Ditcher.

The previous evening, at the usual practice, when the body was resting in the church, touches were rung half-muffled by the local band assisted by Mr. E. H. Langley, and as the funeral cortege left the church the bells were again rung by Jill Temby, Kay Temby, Ruth Scott, Karen Lucock, Susan Copping, John Copping, Kevin Lucock, Mrs. T. Sullivan, Miss M. L. Lidgey and H. Miles. As the coffin was lowered into the grave and the Vicar recited the committal, the background of the half-muffled bells George Reed had grown to love so much gave their last farewell from the hands of several young people he had helped with the early stages of method ringing. May he rest in peace. A. S. R

MR. HAROLD A. ROLES

The ringers of St. Thomas's Church, Salisbury, regret to announce the death on June 15th of Mr. Harold A. Roles, captain of St. Thomas's ringers for many years.

Although he had been ill on and off for the last two years he always attended ringing when health permitted. Besides being tower captain he was chairman of the Salisbury Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and was at one time a Ringing Master. In other fields he did much work for the Eventide organisation in Salisbury and was a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

The funeral took place on June 19th at St. Thomas's Church, Salisbury, where the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. N. Longridge) read the lesson. The bells were rung before and after the service and a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled in the evening by members and friends of the local band. Our sympathy is extended to his widow and family in their loss.

THE LADIES GUILD

Devon District

Mrs. H. Boobier (vice-president) presided at the annual general meeting of the Devon District held at South Brent, which followed the Guild form of service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Vesey) and tea at a local hotel. Mrs. P. Pavey and Mrs. G. E. Retter are to serve on the Central Committee, and the other officers were re-elected. Miss C. Maxwell Jones, of Hartley, was elected a member. Diptford bells (another easy-going six) were rung in the evening under the supervision of Mrs. G. E. Retter (Ringing Master).

Future meetings: Newton St. Cyres in August, Stoke Damerel in November (subject to permission).

Western District

A quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Malmesbury on June 10th, when there was a good representation of members and friends. It was a pleasure to welcome Mrs. J. S. King, vice-president for South Wales District, who was invited to chair the meeting which followed the service and tea. Miss Elizabeth Davis (Bath) and Mrs. Gloria Wilshire (Warmley, Bristol) were elected members. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar, organist, Mr. Harold Blacker and Mrs. Billings and her helpers who had prepared tea.

Next practice meeting: Trowbridge, Wednesday, July 19th, at 7.30 p.m. Please see "Ringing World" for confirmation of all dates of future meetings. B. J.

JOINT MEETING AT KILLAMARSH

Despite the somewhat smaller than usual attendance, the joint meeting between the Sheffield and District Society and the Chesterfield District of the Derby Diocesan Association held at Killamarsh on June 3rd proved to be quite enjoyable with some quite good ringing on the ground-floor six.

After tea, excellently prepared by the local company, the Chesterfield District held a very short meeting, during which Richard Dexter and Steven Clarke (Wingerworth) and Patricia Mason (Staveley) were elected members. Advance notice was also given of the forthcoming District outing to Stratford-on-Avon on August 5th.

TOTTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL

A modest but none the less encouraging achievement on May 22nd was the completion of a quarter peal at Brockenhurst, Hants, by a band composed entirely of members and ex-members of Totton Grammar School. During the past few years several members of Totton Grammar School have been taught to handle at local towers and many are now able to participate in the weekly quarter peal attempts and in the monthly advanced method practices organised by Mr. J. Hartless, mainly at Lyndhurst.

The result of the former is to introduce many local ringers to multi-Doubles and Spliced Plain Minor ringing, and the letter has underlined the importance of Plain Bob methods saving several ringers initially from the depredations of Grandsire. A by-product of the latter was the introduction of the Lyndhurst captain, Mr. P. East, to change ringing in 1966, and a Fawley band were recently able to ring in his first quarter peal and congratulate him on his striking. The arrival of Mr. I. Trueman and his election as Romsey captain has coincided with an upsurge of enthusiasm amongst the younger members of his tower who have participated in these activities. The future progress of this tower seems assured.

In terms of statistics, over 52 quarter peals have been attempted by bands in these towers since 1966, including two sets of "four-in-a-day." In those successfully brought round 12 have rung their first quarter peal, there are 114 "first in the method," and 20 of "first as conductor." To maintain standards, especially with younger bands, the aim of constant recruitment and instruction has been implemented by the tower captains concerned. Against the successes must be weighed the overwhelming wastage rate. Amongst others, 22 out of 25 Totton Grammar School ringers have been lost from Eling, and seven out of 15 from Fawley, but the achievements and interest of those who remain more than outweight the transitory pangs at the thought of the hours of instruction wasted.

Much credit for the progress of the Grammar School ringers belongs to Mr. L. D. Smith, the tower captain at Fawley, whose cheerful and wholehearted encouragement has the tangible result of an average attendance of 25 at his weekly practice night. Members of Totton Grammar School are now regular Sunday service attenders here. D. C. J.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Next annual meeting of the Lancashire Association will be at Accrington on April 27th.

The economic price of producing the report of the Sussex County Association was not 15s. a rope, as stated in our report of the A.G.M., but 15s. per copy.

Mr. J. Wills, vice-president of the Kent County Association, is in St. Saviour's Hospital, Seabrook, Hythe, Kent. I am sure he would be pleased to hear from his ringing friends, who wish him a speedy recovery.

The band who rang the peal at Coleman's Hatch on June 24th is indebted to Martin Howe, who stood in at very short notice to replace a Kent member whose arrangements got in a haze.

There is a young man called Jack—
And there's but one thing of him I require,
That when I peal a bell,
My name he will spell
With "E, A" not "E, D" in the centyre!

Three generations of the Thorley family rang in a quarter peal of Doubles at Twywell, Northants, on June 27th. Three methods were rung—Stedman, Reverse Canterbury and Plain Bob, and the band was: Katharine M. Thorley 1, James Thorley 2, J. Martin Thorley (cond.) 3, Stephen B. Bell 4, Frank E. Coales 5. Although he rang his first peal 40 years ago, it was the first quarter of Doubles for grandfather on the second.

The ringer of the treble in the peal at Long Wittenham was Clive W. Temperton and not as printed.

There was an error in the caption of the Central Council meeting (page 431). In place of Mr. J. M. Jelley should read Mr. James R. Taylor (Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association).

We learn that Mr. "Bill" Pitcher, Adelaide, owing to pressure on his time, has given up the editorship of "Ringing Towers." All familiar with this journal will regret his resignation; he has done a wonderful job. "Ringing Towers" will now be produced from Sydney.

An appeal launched by the ringers of Great Glen, Leicester, to buy new bells and repair existing ones has been closed down after objections by the Vicar, the Rev. C. Turner, who said the church had "more urgent needs." The ringers were hoping to raise £1,500, and nearly £500 had already been donated. This, states a newspaper report, is being returned.

Mr. George Foster, late captain at Southwell Minster, who is now living in retirement with his daughter in London, is in Ward F.1, Brook Hospital, Shooters Hill Road, London, S.E.18, having suffered a slight stroke. He is making a fair recovery. The best wishes of all ringers in the Southwell Diocesan Guild are extended to him for a speedy recovery.

COLCHESTER'S MAYOR

In connection with our brief announcement of Alderman E. P. (Ted) Duffield being elected Mayor of Colchester for the ensuing year and, on the same day, elected an alderman of the borough a correspondent sends us the following interesting details of his association with the Exercise:—

A former Master of both the College Youths and the Essex Association, he was until recently a very capable performer on the heavy end, although he is equally at home on any bell. His peals must number several hundred, many of them rung with the famous Pye brothers of Essex and include the record peal of Cambridge Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne in 1929. A large proportion was rung on the higher numbers and he has rung a peal on nearly every 12-bell ring in the country.

A native of Norfolk, where his father and brothers were well-known ringers, he moved to Colchester in 1926 and joined the band at St. Peter's, being leader for many years. In spite of his "three score years and ten," Ted still enjoys ringing when time and his many other activities permit, and still rings a bell to a peal faultlessly.

Another field in which he has reached national prominence is that of croquet playing. Recently he was elected vice-president of the Croquet Association after holding office as chairman and member of the association council On the local scene he has been largely responsible for the development of the Colchester Croquet Club, now one of the strongest in the country.

A member of the borough council for many years, he is particularly interested in education and has been chairman of the education committee in recent years. As a token of esteem and in honour of his election as first citizen of Colchester, seven of his ringing friends joined with "Ted" in ringing a quarter peal of his favourite Major method, Superlative, at St. Peter's on June 18th.

THE AUSTRALIAN FESTIVAL

While the official report of the annual festival of the Australian and New Zealand Association held at Ballarat and Bendigo is not yet to hand, we learn that it was a great success and was attended by a company of 60 ringers. Proceedings started on the Saturday with the annual meeting and dinner at Ballarat and on the Sunday and Monday activities were transferred to Bendigo.

At Evensong at St. Paul's, Bendigo, the board, commemorating the peal rung by the Great Adventure II party, was dedicated. This was followed by a progressive dinner, starting from the home of Mr. Bill Robertson, captain of the Bendigo ringers and president of the Victoria Branch of the Association In 20 cars the 60 then descended on the home of John and Monica Collins, who had the assistance of another Guildford Guild ringer, Pam Warren, of Merrow After an hour the cavalcade headed for Travis Wilson's home for sweets and coffee and a social evening.

Monday was the boys' turn with a barbecue at Lake Eppaloch. A tent was provided for the wet canteen, four big gas barbecues cooked the chops and snags (sausages) merrily. Four tables were laden with goodies and another stove provided boiling water for tea and the soup kitchen. This was the first festival held outside a State capital and the "provincials" received warm congratulations upon putting on such a good show.

THREE MONTHS IN THE STATES

Mr. Geoffrey R. Marchant writes that his three months' stay in the States was made all the more enjoyable by very warm welcomes at Washington Cathedral and at Groton School. Rick Dirksen arranged a quarter peal attempt of Grandsire Triples on his first visit but unfortunately this was lost after about 20 minutes' ringing (on the "silenced" bells). Had the attempt been successful it would have been the first of Grandsire Triples for most of the band. Luckily they were able to score a success a few weeks later.
