THE TORCH—FROM REMEMBRANCE

By E. C. SHEPHERD

IT WAS said, not long ago, by one of our preachers, that there is little virtue in remembrance if it does not lead to action. Remembrance is active, not passive: is not static but dynamic. Recollection in tranquillity may be exciting, as of some great joy that has come to us; memory of some great achievement may rouse us and stir us to emulation; thoughts of those who have passed from us will be framed from the nearness of them to our own lives. But all these remembrances offer us a challenge and a call to action, and none more so than the last. At this time of the new year, when we look back at 1966, the names of those whose work is finished and who have gone from us stand before us as a vivid reminder of how great have been the gifts that have been given us and how heavy, in consequence, the responsibility we have inherited.

Among those who have passed from us are great exponents of the practical art, notable composers, officers and administrators of great ability, and a considerable company of lesser-known, sometimes self-effacing, men and women who are the very backbone of the structure of the Exercise and its church work.

The names of the great peal ringers link us inevitably with others of the front rank. That magnificent heavy bell ringer Reuben Sanders rang 378 of his peals with the great William Pye, taking part in long peals of Bristol and Cambridge and handling the eleventh at Exeter to Cinques and Maximus: January saw the passing of two fine ringers. Alfred Pitstow, a good handbell ringer and a capable Surprise conductor, toured the West Country with F. E. Robinson at the end of the last century. For his services in the South African War he received the Freedom of the Borough of Cambridge, and he held important posts in Local Government. Peter Crook, one of the grand old men of Lancashire, worked unceasingly for the furtherance of the Art, and one of his chief aims was to see learners through their first peals.

The year has taken from us the sturdy John Pinfold, one of the founders of the now famous Birmingham Maximus company and one of the most capable Ringing Masters the Exercise has had; the gentle Charles McGuiness, who rang in the 14,144 of London at Heydour; W. H. Wilson, the colourful character of Dublin, one of the contemporaries and admirers of Gabriel Lindoff; Hampshire's indomitable one-armed George Pullinger, whose bell control was a matter for wonder and whose work for beginners was earnest and lasting. His courage, his sincerity, and his church work combine to offer us matter for sober thought. The tragic death of Mary Bragg and the passing of Kathleen Lock have taken from us two ladies devoted to their church and social work. One was on the verge of grown-up life, the other looked back over a long life of activity; but both were capable ringers who sincerely devoted their art to assisting the worship of their churches, and both linked this service with their devotion to other good works. Mrs. Lock, a member of the notable Holifield family, was actively concerned in the rise to prominence of the lady ringers of more than fifty years ago.

Towards the end of 1966 the Exercise suffered the loss of the two veterans, William Hewett and Edward Ruck. The proximity of Westminster Abbey and the universal fame of the great building draw our attention away from the Church of St. Margaret that stands so close at hand. But St. Margaret's, too, is a notable church with a ring of ten bells, and here Bill Hewett rang for more than sixty years and here he gathered round him some of the finest ringers London ever produced. It was due largely to his forthright criticism of the neglect of the Abbey bells that this ring was restored and augmented to eight, and it was from him that there came the suggestion to add two trebles to the ten at Canterbury Cathedral.

Edward Ruck of Willesborough died in November at the age of 99. This astonishing gentleman had an active ringing career of 84 years, for he was learning to ring at the age of about 11, and he rang Minor at Willesborough on his 95th birthday. He was a founder-member of the Kent County Association, and the pride he took in this was equalled by his unflagging efforts to teach youngsters and further promote the art in his tower. It is said of him that his life and work never moved far from his own locality, but it is clear that there radiated from him an influence that extended far beyond his ken and (maybe) his understanding; for there is no limit to the effect of one good work, and his good works were many.

The two chief factors that make for the strength of The Ancient Society of College Youths are the high standard of ringing they require of themselves and the ability and strength of character of the officers. Ernest Fenn was Master of the Society for more than seven years, and these were years of war, when the existence of the Society was threatened by acute physical perils and by social exigencies. Ernest brought to his task the same calmness and skill that he exhibited so unerringly in his ringing, and it was due to the courage of him and his officers that The College Youths emerged from the valley of shadow unimpaired and even strengthened. For fifty years he was a member of the St. Paul's Cathedral band, and in this work he was as unsparing as in his duties to his Society. When he died in July last he was still a trustee of the Society and had been a member for 67 years.

When Harry Stoneley passed away at Stoke Golding in July last, Leicestershire lost one of its most accomplished and versatile ringers. Harry served with distinction in Flanders in the First World War and was awarded the Military Medal for bravery in the field. On active service he carried with him a tiny set of handbells, and with these in after years he often delighted ringing gatherings. He was a fine steady ringer and rang between 500 and 600 peals, many of them with the notable "Wednesday" band in which Maurice Swinfield showed such genius in conducting Stedman Triples. But the astonishing thing about Harry Stoneley was the number of things he was actively interested in and the time he managed to give to them all. He was indeed a practical demonstration of the saying that the busiest people have the most time. By trade a craftsman, he was scoutmaster, astronomer, beekeeper, jam maker, cricketer, footballer, bowman, boatman, and a worker among young people. With all this he was an earnest churchman, and it is said that each morning before work he repeated the psalm or psalms set for the day. Here surely is a life from which we may learn much.

If methods and compositions are the food of the ringing Exercise then the composers and method builders are the devisers and purveyors of that nourishment; and a retrospective survey of three hundred years may well amaze us by the solidity, the variety and the richness of the fare that is set before us today. In the ranks of those who have laboured lovingly and earnestly to enrich our diet Ernest Tipler and Albert Pitman will be always remembered. Ernest gave us a seemingly unending stream of methods and compositions, from which the Leicester Guild and

TOWER CAPTAINCY WITHOUT TEARS

AN ANONYMOUS SERIES IN FOUR PARTS

By Osram

PART I

THE purpose of this series of articles is to indicate one possible answer to a question that perplexes potential leaders in any sphere of life: how can you be a leader in a particular sphere without becoming a "dedicated crank"? How can a busy man live a broadly-based existence outside the belfry and still build up a good 6-, 8-, 10- or 12-bell Sunday service band from nothing?

By definition it is an article to make you stop and think and violently disagree; by definition, because it is mostly subjective opinion—and one man's opinion at that. But if it makes you think, it will have improved you; and if it makes you react in "The Ringing World" columns, it will have improved the writer.

TOWER CAPTAINCY WITH TEARS

You are reading this either because you indulge in tower captaincy with tears or because you don't indulge in captaincy, even though capable, for fear of tears. You, Fred, you've had enough. You've taught umpteen learners and just got them going nicely when they drifted off and left the belfry short of ringers again. You, Bill—you have spent extra evenings up there with tied bells, when you knew that you ought (but didn't want) to be elsewhere—and still the ungrateful learners have drifted away.

Your wife hates you because you've done nothing but concentrate on ringing for years, to the exclusion of a decent family life. "I wouldn't mind, but what have you got to show for it, George? Just what? They were ringing Grandsire Doubles six years ago." That last cruel sling goes home. To hell with it, she's right. Why should I go on slaving like this? Perhaps I should have taken her out a few times over the last year or two.

Often, in spite of all your efforts during the week, the bells will be silent on Sunday because there isn't a band to ring them. You are in an urban area, perhaps, and the other church, a mile or two away, has all the ringers and creams off any newcomers to the town—for the very reason (you have to admit it to yourself) that they know they will enjoy better ringing there.

Maybe none of this is true. You have built up a band, and in your sweating to keep it going have strangely gained the label "obsessed by bellringing" from all your non-ringing friends (and your wife).

Or are you at the other extreme? Are you, Jack, a potential leader who deliberately has chosen the easy way out—the shrugging off of responsibility for raising a local band, when it is easier just to go and be an ordinary member where the ringing is good already? In this way you can lead your life to the full—good ringing twice a week, plus managing directorship during the day and a James Bond reputation with the girls. But you know in your heart you are capable of more.

Well, have you recognised yourself somewhere there, reader? If not, go back to Belfry Gossip and don't waste your time here. It isn't your problem that we're discussing in what follows.

DRY YOUR EYES!

Those problems of a tower captain need never exist in any overwhelming degree. That is the nub of this exposition. They can be at least alleviated and at most removed by three pointers to solution.

A. Recognise a few basic principles.

B. Make a plan consistent with these principles and with set objectives.

C. Execute the plan with self-disciplined persistence.

It can be as simple as that. The whole of this series is merely an expansion of this paragraph.

A. RECOGNISE A FEW BASIC PRINCIPLES

There is nothing peculiar to bellringing about the nine principles that follow. They are taken for granted as ordinary principles of life outside the belfry. You are merely being asked to take them inside the belfry with you as well True, they might be expressed here in campanological terms, for convenience, but that is all.

PRINCIPLE 1. WHY NOT BE CAPTAIN?

You have often taken part in an activity under someone else's leadership, feeling frustrated because you could have been a far better leader yourself It was only perhaps reluctance to have all the responsibility that kept you from assuming the lead. Yet later it crossed your mind that the satisfaction of being a better leader could have far outweighed the frustration of seeing him lead badly.

So the first principle is (in belfry parlance)—balance the frustration of playing a good second fiddle to a bad lead fiddle, against the satisfaction of leading the band into a better state. Then accept captaincy—it will be offered to you sooner than later if you're suitable.

The huge advantage of being captain is that for one year at least (i.e. until the next annual meeting) you will have your chance to impose a plan which you believe to be right, even if necessary against the will of some of the ringers And this is fair enough surely—the acid test of success or failure and re-election or not are sufficient and reasonable controls A year is long enough to give a band a good indication of long-term prospects under your leadership, and replace you if you are not improving things.

PRINCIPLE 2. WHY GO TO THE BELFRY MORE THAN ORDINARY RINGERS?

The "ordinary" ringer (whom you secretly suspect of being apathetic because he never puts in any extra time to help learners, support the Association, or improve his own standards by peal ringing, nor does he support you by condemning non-attenders and latecomers to their face) rolls up for practice night and for Sunday service ringing—no more Relax! These men are the "stuff" of your present (and future, believe me) team. Accept them as they are (and always will be), and learn from them

They give an evening a week, and Sunday service. So you give an evening a week, and Sunday service. Hang it, you're the boss—why should you give up an extra evening teaching while your men are watching telly or playing with their family at Scalectrix racing?

There are serious disadvantages in putting in those extra evenings, too, when none of your other instructors does it. First of all, you become subject to the "martyr complex"—the old Martha and Mary story. A "martyr complex" takes away objectivity in your judgments as captain, and saps your cheerful confidence that would infect the rest of the band. Secondly, even though you only go up to the belfry for half an hour on that extra evening, you have written off the whole evening in effect. (It is unusual for a man, after a working day, to gear himself up for more than one special activity.) Thirdly, it ignores the wastage factor (see later). To spend an extra evening per week for six months on a learner who then leaves is psychological dust and ashes.

The answer may be to go up an hour or so earlier on your normal practice night (or Sunday) and give four learners a quarter of an hour each. You will rush your evening meal, admittedly; but since the evening is written off anyway, you haven't lost very much if they all pack up on you after six months.

If you have more than four learners, you need an extra instructor (see later under "Delegation")—not an extra evening.

[In the next article four more of the nine principles are examined, starting with the non-attendance factor.]

the ringing Exercise found not only new material, but also inspiration for further enterprise. The work of Albert J. Pitman was even more astonishing, and one looks with something like awe at the achievements of this remarkable self-taught man. Many will recollect seeing, some fifty years ago, the modest "A. J. Pitman, Port Talbot," at the foot of peals of Grandsire or Stedman Triples; and none could know that here was one of the great pioneers of Spliced Surprise. His early experiments in Triples composition provided him with exacting and patient tasks, for this kind of investigation can present problems as abstruse as those found in Surprise; and his notable successes in the splicing of Triples paved the way for his splendid achievements in Surprise Major. At the time of his death in August last it was remarked that Spliced Surprise would not have survived so well without him. He gave us peals in from four to thirty methods, compositions with all the work of every bell up to nine methods, and peals up to 13,440, which were for a long time unsurpassed.

We have noted here the lives and works of some of our leaders, and there are many more in their several spheres, lesser known perhaps, having seemingly little or no memorial, but no less in remembrance and no less worthy of our gratitude. True remembrance, as we have remarked, leads to action; and it is in looking back to those who have finished their work among us that we must find inspiration and a new urge to take over where they have left off, to receive from the hands of those who "falling fling to the host behind" the torch that has been so faithfully kept alight and which must not go out.

HEREFORDSHIRE BELLS

Bishop Praises Frederick Sharpe's Book

HEREFORDSHIRE has a greater proportion of mediæval bells than any other county where statistics have been kept, and the prospect of such a wealth of data gave an added pleasure to Mr. Frederick Sharpe in his researches and writing "The Church Bells of Herefordshire" (16s. plus 1s. 6d. postage from the author).

This was the last county in Southern England where an account of the church bells had not been written. The Walters collection contains details of 16 bells, whereas when the present volume was written Mr. Sharpe had visited 107 churches, and particulars of 60 churches—A B and C of the alphabet—appear in Volume I. The author hopes to complete the work in three or four volumes.

BACKGROUND

What is of great value to Volume I is the historical and technical introduction. Such a background that the author provides not only enables the reader to approach with an understanding mind but whets his curiosity. Even those members of the Exercise saturated with bell knowledge and lore will find something new. The author mentions in particular the itinerant bellfounder of the Middle Ages and places where there are still signs of the casting pits. Sometimes towers have been weakened by these pits being too near the foundations, as in the case of Mr. Sharpe's own church at Launton, Oxfordshire (1416), and Cardigan (1674).

These mediæval bells, according to the author were usually baptised, and accounts of these ceremonies reveal that the godparents played a prominent part, including meeting the bellfounder's bill. Mr. Sharpe, however, cites a very different type of ceremony. At Blewbury, when the seventh bell arrived in the village (1753), it was set upside down in a hole in the ground and filled with beer—resulting in much intoxication.

Reading through the records of the 60 churches reported upon, one is impressed by the large amount of business emanating from Bristol and Gloucester. First is the Norman tower of Abbey Dore (1147). What happened to the mediæval bells here is not known, but tradition is that at the Dissolution they were taken to Madley Church. Abraham Rudhall I of Gloucester supplied six in 1710-12 and there have been various recastings since.

15th CENTURY

Acton Beauchamp, which was once in Worcestershire, has two bells cast by Richard-le-Belyetere of Worcester, circa 1440. The initial letter of each word is surmounted by a crown. From this Worcester foundry also came the two largest bells of the derelict ring of four at Avenbury dated circa 1410. Instead of a crown the heads of King Edward III and Queen Philippa are employed as word stops. An example of early 14th century bells is at Aylton—long-waisted of cylindrical type and stirrup-topped clapper.

Those interested in types of clappers will find preserved in the tower at Clodock three mediæval-type stirrup-topped clappers and two 18th century tee-headed from former bells. The old five here were recast at Loughborough in 1953 and a treble added.

INSCRIPTIONS

The eight at Colwall contains six cast by Thomas Rudhall in 1778 and here one gets not only the canons but the homely inscriptions so typical of the age: "Peace and Good Neighbourhood"; "Fear God, Honour the King"; "Prosperity to this Parish"; "I to the Church the living call and to the grave do summon all" and "God send peace. Amen." The trebles (1896) are by Mears and Stainbank and a renovation was done by them in 1923.

A cautionary inscription to ringers is on the fourth at Burghill: "You ringers all observe my call." These were originally a Rudhall ring and to this day the canons remain. This was the parish of the Rev. E. G. Benson, who was for many years secretary of the Hereford Diocesan Guild.

ASSISTANCE

In carrying out his survey the author received much help from Mr. G. T. Cousins, the secretary of the Hereford Diocesan Guild. It is not a task that can be carried out single-handed. At times ladders have to be carried and hoisted in restricted places; hatchways forced open and stairways cleared. Another pair of hands is more or less essential, and Mr. Cousins was his companion on most of his visits.

The Bishop of Hereford, in a foreword, pays a graceful tribute to the author and to the ringers of the county. "There are few more delightful companies of people in the world than those who frequent our church towers," writes Dr. M. A. Hodson. "Our bells are very beautiful and we make every effort in the deepest countryside to keep them in good repair" Expressing the hope that the volumes will be widely read, the Bishop concludes: "I know that in many high places they will be treasured, for we are not likely to see such an authoritative work so beautifully produced again for several generations." What better commendation!

Letters to the Editor

PARISH MAGAZINE EDITOR JOINS IN

Dear Sir,—I should like strongly to support the Rev. J. G. M. Scott in his letter of the December 16th issue. His remarks about the use of the new heading with a block were fully justified in your issue of December 9th. That cover was delightful—but the photograph would have looked quite wrong with the old block heading.

I am sorry we are to revert to the old block even for our Christmas issue, and I do hope "The Ringing World" Committee will think very carefully in January, lest they decide to plunge us back into the 19th century!

For eight years I have edited our parish magazine and when we changed its format from an old style to a more modern one there were many prophets of doom. But in fact our circulation rises slowly but steadily. I think the same might well be true of "The Ringing World."

But of course, sir, what you, as Editor, must want is more support in the way of good articles. There are many ringers who can write interestingly and well on a variety of aspects of our art Somehow they must be prevailed upon to do so. You must often wish you could make a silk purse out of a sow's ear!—Yours faithfully,

JOAN GRAY.

Stoke Bishop, Bristol.

11-YEAR-OLD TELLS OF A CONVERT

Dear Sir,—When I started bellringing six months ago a lot of my friends made fun of me, especially one. This person has now started bellringing himself, and shows interest! I am taking bellringing very seriously and a lot of my school friends think I am going too far, except for one, who rings handbells.

I think a lot of outsiders think bellringing is just a matter of pulling a rope and a bell rings. People ask me "Have you gone up with the bell?" and I tell them it would be quite impossible.—Yours faithfully,

BRIAN R. GREEN.

Macclesfield.

P.S.—I am 11.—B. R. G.

Note.—Thank you, Brian, for a nice letter. Keep it up.—Ed.

WYCOMBE SURPRISE

Dear Sir,—I would like to point out to the conductor of the peal at High Wycombe, Bucks, on November 25th, 1966, that there is already a method called Wycombe Surprise Major, usually rung under its alternative name of Yiewsley Surprise

Therefore, to keep records straight, could I possibly suggest that this method's name be changed prior to its recording in the peal books, possibly to High Wycombe Surprise.—Yours sincerely,

R KENNETH WILLIAMS.

Ledbury, Herefordshire.

FIRST IN THE METHOD AT RUARDEAN

Dear Sir,—The peal of Stedman Triples rung at Ruardean, Glos, on November 27th, was not the first in the method on the bells. A peal of Stedman Triples, being the first in the method on the bells, was rung there on May 12th, 1934, by ringers from Ross and district, conducted by the late W. Poston, myself having taken part.—Yours faithfully.

J. J. WEBB.

Ross-on-Wye.

ODD VENTURES

Dear Sir — Re E.C.S.'s notes on Grandsire Doubles variations. The trouble is that the C.C allows only three sets of 240; one added recently apparently after some argument. I have never been able to see why anything should not be rung to a peal provided it produces the necessary number of changes and no more.

In order to get more variety, I did, some years ago, conduct a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles in a way I've never heard before, and it certainly eased the monotony. In a quarter peal one has the odd changes to make up the number, and they are usually called at the end. Call some of them at the start and then call all your 120's from there and finish with the rest of the odd changes. Carried to a peal, you can split the first 120, and you can continue to do this either by splitting in different places or splitting different callings. Any of these saves the conductor from going to sleep!

I submitted the idea to an expert, who considered it as legitimate as 240's, but it is really for the C.C. to decide. One supposes that they are afraid of cheating if they allow too much But if anyone wants to cheat in the average Grandsire Doubles peal, which is mainly for beginners, it is too easy, anyway! And a conductor who wanted to cheat is not likely to take up any complications. However, here is something I've never seen tried and no one seems to have realised the possibilities.

You can ring Grandsire in 50 different ways, thereby easily making your 42 six-scores all different, by using each bell in turn as hunt bell as there are ten callings of each, with two different observation bells and five hunt bells, making 50 callings. It should be noted that the "go off" is Plain Bob, because except when treble is hunt bell all the bells are in plain hunt positions. The one exception is when 2nd is hunt bell with 5th observation necessitating a call before rounds, but this could easily be one of the 120's discarded.

I have made a note book containing two 120's with each hunt bell, one with each of the observation bells

Any band capable of ringing Grandsire would find no difficulty at all and would certainly find interest. One supposes the only reason for not ringing it or other variations is that a band usually goes on to other methods

I think it was Snowden, in one of his books, who said there is nothing sacred about treble hunt—any bell can be used.—Yours faithfully,

C. F. J.

REAL NEIGHBOURLINESS

Dear Sir,—One is so often reminded when reading "The Ringing World" of one of the characteristics of the human species—that is, trying to prove one can do better than one's neighbour. This is healthy and even necessary, but when it becomes an obsession it becomes rather ugly and certainly not Christian, which is, after all, the root of ringing in the Western hemisphere.

How nice it is, then, to meet among the more accomplished ringers a clean and healthy combination of the fight for fame coupled to the true Christian spirit of "Love thy neighbour." We at Woolton Hill have good cause to be grateful to one who falls into the latter category.

Having lost the use of our tenor through its becoming cracked, we are very keen to have it restored so that she can give voice among her sisters on all occasions the bells are rung. G. K. Dodd is the one to whom I refer. He has in the past done a great deal to restore bells in a number of churches—to my knowledge at least four in our southern counties Now he is applying some of his great energy on our behalf.

He has organised a handbell team from his tower at Highclere to play carols among the local fraternity, collecting on our behalf.

May we of Woolton Hill, then, be allowed through your columns to say "thank you" to Geoff and his Highclere ringers for their truly Christian act and assure them that when our bells are in full chorus we shall be remembered by their voices of a truly noble act.—Yours faithfully,

A. H. G.

STEDMAN TRIPLES

Dear Sir,—We all like to think that unusual touches composed are original but this is not often the case. As soon as I saw Percy Whitaker's 120 of Stedman Triples with the special changes coming up in the order Tittums, Whittingtons and Queens I was sure it must be the same as a 120 I worked out some five years ago On inspection, however, it was not.

Seeing Mr. Whitaker's letter in a recent "Ringing World" I am prompted to enclose my figures. The only merit over Mr Whitaker's is that it is produced by fewer calls I am quite prepared to learn that this touch also is as "old as the hills" The only difference is the method of arriving at the six-end 1532467, fewer bobs, less musical changes!—Yours sincerely,

D. J. ROBERTS.

Torquay.

A LOSS TO CHOBHAM RINGING

BRISTOL'S CONTROVERSIAL PEAL

Dear Sir,—The letters from Mr. Simon and his flat-mate in Bristol, Mr. Zobel, concerning the Bristol University peal (page 841) bring yet again to the attention of ringers the problem of recognition of peals. I should like to disregard the trivialities of their correspondence and go straight to the heart of the matter which lies in Mr. Simon's words " . . . the peal was not of a sufficiently high standard to be recognised by the Society."

Without a doubt, much space in "The Ringing World" has in the past been devoted to the discussion of the quality of peal ringing and I want to outline briefly the reasons why I have defied the original declaration made by the committee of the University Society I am convinced that it is not striking alone which represents the quality of a peal. The special desire of each member of the team to ring the peal, the way in which the ringers co-ordinate their efforts and behave as a team, the response of ringers to instructions and advice from the conductor, and the enthusiasm and determination shown by first-pealers, are all factors which are very difficult to assess but which must be considered in determining the quality of the peal.

It is very difficult to define a minimum standard of striking acceptable for the recognition of a peal by an Association or Society; it is easy to discern particularly good ringing, but it is wellnigh impossible either to decide exactly how any other piece of ringing compares with perfect striking or to draw the line of acceptability at a specific and well-defined level On the other hand, it is certainly necessary to have some means of maintaining a standard of striking in peal ringing which can be regarded as acceptable to the Exercise in general The question "Who decides the quality of a peal?" must be answered (see Mr. Bird's letter, page 840). This question was put to a meeting of the Bristol University Society several weeks ago and the motion carried deals with the problem in a satisfactory way.

Having mentioned the three salient features of the Bristol University peal dispute, namely, on what factors should the quality of a peal be judged, what is the minimum standard of striking acceptable for peal ringing, and what person or group of persons has the authority to decide the recognition or otherwise of a peal, I should like to draw to the attention of readers the lengthy discussion which took place during 1963 on the Penn peal attempt and also to refer them to the leading article "Peals and why we ring them" of the September 6th edition of "The Ringing World" of that year. The Bristol University peal was rung entirely in accordance with the "Conditions Required for Peals," and there is no doubt whatsoever about the validity of the peal, nor is there any question of abnormalities in the calling. Unlike the case of the Penn peal, this dispute is solely concerned with the quality of the peal. As conductor, I have never tried to boast that the striking attained in the peal was perfect, or that it reached the standards upheld by expert peal bands. I am prepared to make allowances for the comparative inexperience of some of the ringers in an effort to give encouragement and inspiration where it is most needed.

Moreover, I know what is good ringing and what is bad, and would have had no hesitation in stopping the attempt had I thought it necessary.

Our Society exists to promote amongst other things the interest of undergraduates in change ringing, and I am distressed to see my correspondents' lack of forethought and commonsense in quashing the well-deserved sense of progress and achievement on the part of the less-experienced members of the Society who took part in the peal I wish both Mr. Simon and Mr Zobel every success in maintaining the high standards which they have now set for the Society.—Yours sincerely.

JOHN T. PARSONS.

Stoke Bishop, Bristol.

OBITUARY

MR. EDWARD D. SMITH

With the passing of Mr. Edward Smith, on December 13th at the age of 82, St. John's, Leytonstone, has lost a very loyal and respected member, also the last link with the band of ringers who in the late '20's were the pioneers of multi-method Minor ringing.

An operation in 1950 terminated his peal ringing but Ted continued to assist with regular service ringing until about six months ago, when rapidly failing health kept him confined to bed, where he passed peacefully away He is greatly missed by his fellow ringers, to whom he set a fine example by his kindliness, sense of punctuality and his service ringing was a devotion and duty to his Church.

Ted was born at Langham, Essex, where with his two brothers, he was taught to ring by his father. On taking up employment with the Great Eastern Railway he moved to Parkeston and developed his ringing experience in and around Ipswich In 1915 he was transferred to Stratford Locomotive Works and joined his three railway colleagues at St John's, where "Minor Mania" became the order of the day. A peal in 22 methods on March 24th, 1928, followed by one in 23 methods (conducted by Edward Smith) being the most methods rung to a peal at that time. He became tower master in 1931 and remained so for 35 years.

HIS PEALS

He rang a total of 242 peals, which included 113 for the London County Association, 86 for the Essex Association (of which he was a life member), 26 for the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and 14 for the Middlesex Association.

Triples 24: Grandsire 2, Stedman 22 (3).

Major 76: Cambridge 41 (17), Superlative 10, Kent 9, Double Norwich 6, London 5, Yorkshire 2 (1), one each Plain Bob, Norfolk and New Cambridge.

Caters 43: Grandsire 5, Stedman 38

Royal 32: Kent 18 (3), Cambridge 12 (2), Plain Bob 2.

Cinques 17: Grandsire 1, Stedman 16.

Maximus 6: Kent 4, Cambridge 2.

The funeral service on December 19th was conducted by the Rev. E. de Lande Jones and was attended by ringers from widely separated areas. Local ringers were joined by Messrs R Heazel and D. Cobb (Master and District Master respectively of the Essex Association) Mr J. Prior (College Youths) and Mr. J Euston (London County) in half-muffled ringing before and after the service After the interment a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung by Mrs. R. Deal 1, L. Fox 2, Miss P. Fox 3, C Hughes 4, D Cobb 5 R. Smith 6, F. Gant (conductor) 7, A White 8.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Smith, who has supported Ted in all his ringing activities throughout their married life C. E. W.

MR. CECIL EVANS
AN APPRECIATION

It was with feelings of great sorrow that we heard of the death of Cecil Evans, for some years Master at Aldenham.

A quiet, unassuming man, liked by all who knew him, he was first and foremost an Aldenham, Herts, ringer and churchman

His patience over the years in teaching and maintaining a Sunday service band in a tower situated in an area of scattered hamlets was outstanding and, although not a great peal ringer, his contribution to the Exercise will be greatly missed. During 1966 he completed 50 years' membership of the Hertford County Association and at Easter was nominated as president; he, however, regretfully declined the honour owing to his then spell of indifferent health.

Cecil loved an outing and was excellent company on these occasions, and until the last year or so attended many meetings, his big black car being a familiar sign of his presence. He had family ties with Oxfordshire and seldom missed the annual meeting of the Oxford Guild

His home was an open house to ringers and many have enjoyed his and his wife's hospitality Mrs Evans was a great backer-up of all Cecil's activities, and to her goes our sympathy and good wishes. R. G. B.

MR. E. BOOTHBY

Macclesfield has lost one of its oldest ringers by the death on December 28th of Mr. E. Boothby. Until recently he was tower captain at St. Peter's Church.

MR. A. J. BULL

We regret to announce the death of Mr. A. J. Bull, of Jesmond, 22, Queen's Road, Horley, on December 26th.

MR. JOSEPH A. FENTON

The death took place in Boscombe Hospital, Bournemouth, on December 5th, following a heart attack, of Mr. Joseph A Fenton, aged 74.

Mr. Fenton was well known in the Midlands (Rugby) between the two world wars and in addition to his considerable ability as a conductor on tower bells and "in hand" he had held the office of secretary of the Warwickshire Guild.

On retirement as a Ministry of Pensions official he went to live in Devon and Somerset, but finally settled in Verwood, Dorset. For the last two years he had lived alone, following the death of his wife, Mabel Their only child, a son, was killed while serving with the R.A.F. in World War II. F. P.

ROCHESTER'S BRISTOL SURPRISE

A VERY enjoyable week-end of ringing has been held back from these columns while hard feelings softened up.

The climax of a late autumnal Saturday/Sunday ring in nine towers was to have been Bristol Cathedral and in order to accommodate our Cathedral hosts we arrived at a time suitable for an afternoon pre-service touch. But somewhere a link had fallen out of the chain for "Reception of Ringers" and, instead, all attention seemed to be turned to "Reception of Military Band." We would have loved to have heard a service accompanied by a military band (Reg Hayden even went round to check that the music was properly scored and set out for this special occasion!). But indignation was with us. We were best away and have now put it down to "one of those things."

Shepherded by Ted Rochester and with a party of just ten ringers, our run of towers was excellent— due, as usual in this part of the country, to arrangements made by Audrey and Ron Short, not to mention Junior.

First St. Gregory's, Beckington (8, 16 cwt.). We appreciated the start to the day when the Vicar welcomed us with appropriate prayers. In good heart we set about touches of Plain Bob, Stedman Triples and Double Norwich. Unhappily we were scarcely awake enough for Cambridge or Superlative. (Ted always has to have Superlative on his outings and we have to get going early on if we are to achieve it!)

At St Andrew's, Cheddar (8, 23 cwt.), we rang Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, and at Axbridge (6, 19¼ cwt.) (short bell ropes and a wonderful decorated roof), we rang Kent, Bob, Cambridge and St. Clement's Major. Here Ted, rather than give in and spoil a touch, almost completely lost the use of his fingers, even until well into the next day, by cutting the circulation when he pulled in on the very short tenor rope.

At Brent Knoll (6, 21 cwt.) a local couple joined us, and the girl (a beginner) rang the treble to a touch very creditably indeed. St. Mark's (8, 19 cwt.) was next and, so far, five towers we were very glad to have rung in.

The itinerary now took us to the home of Audrey and Ron Short and the tenor king, Malcolm, then five weeks old. Family and friends welcomed and fed us, the tea was terrific, and we would like to say, in capitals, THANK YOU.

Next, at St. Mary the Virgin's, Moorlynch (6, 18 cwt.), we got some good ringing when we were able to tear our team away from the wall paintings. The church is delightfully set, away from the road and approached by broad, winding grass paths. It is high over the valley and the view is panoramic. It was here that our friend of many outings, Brig Young, told us he was about to put an end to his widowerhood. We were all absolutely delighted and take this opportunity of wishing him and his wife great happiness in many partnered meetings with us and other frends.

We spent that night at Bridgwater, where we were joined by John and Angel Keats and a friends of theirs just returning to Canada.

On Sunday morning at St. Mary's, Bridgwater (8, 25 cwt.), we had to put in two bands before getting clean Stedman Triples. Long draught, light bells and slow pace because of springy ropes were all a bit much for us first thing. A much more creditable effort was made at West Huntspill (6, 22 cwt.), where we rang for service with the local band.

All in all, eight delightful ringable towers and the best continuous run of good rings that most of us could remember having had on outings. After lunch at Bristol we set out on our maiden run over the new Severn Bridge and, just for devilment, took ourselves home around the near Welsh border back to Sawbridgeworth and district.

A very good week-end, Ted Rochester!

NEWARK MASTER REACHES HIS CENTURY

Mr. James W. Raithby, treasurer of the Southwell Diocesan Guild and Master of the Newark Parish Church Society, rang his 100th peal at Balderton, Notts, on December 17th. The method was Double Norwich Court Bob Major, and he was especially pleased that the band was made up completely of members of the Newark District, including his son, Paul, with all of whom he has rung several peals. It was also fitting that it was rung at a close neighbouring tower to his own, and conducted by the local tower captain, Mr. Colin Reed.

Jim has taken over 30 years to reach his century, his first peal being Plain Bob Minor at Elston, Notts, in 1934, but his list contains several points of interest, mainly that 52 of his 100 have been rung on 10 and 12 bells. He has also rung 43 of Stedman, 23 of them Cinques. The rest of the band wish him every success on the long road to his second hundred!

LIST OF PEALS

OXFORD.—ST. PETER IN-THE-EAST

Subject to faculty the ring of eight bells and the saunce in this tower will shortly be sold.

The bells comprise a ring of six cast at the Rudhall Foundry in 1700 (one recast 1753), with the addition of two trebles in 1891 from the Whitechapel Foundry. The tenor weighs approximately 9¼ cwt. (note A). The saunce is a Rudhall bell of 1777 and weighs approximately 1 cwt. The frame and fittings are thought to be useless.

"R.W." News Agency in Devon

One of the difficulties of reporting the call change ringing activities of Devon ringers is that the county is so big and the competitions so many and arranged by so many different bodies that it is very hard to give them adequate coverage. But now "The Ringing World" has been promised the help of four of Devon's most active call change ringers, who have volunteered to keep the paper up to date with the news from the call change ringing fraternity.

During the coming year ringers in Devon should be able to find more on this subject than this paper has ever published before, and ringers in other parts of the country will be able to follow the fortunes of towers which they have visited, and ringers whom they have met on West Country tours and holidays. We hope during the next month to be able to give our readers a list of the leading competitions arranged for 1967.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The light eight at Bengeo (tenor 8 cwt.) were put to good use and methods including Yorkshire Surprise were rung at the Eastern Branch meeting on December 10th. Mr. E. Newnham presided at the short business meeting. The venue for the next meeting, on January 14th, will be announced later.

St. Peter's, Tewin, ringers have officially transferred from the St. Albans District to the Eastern District.

REDDITCH HIGH SCHOOL AT LOUGHBOROUGH

A coach load of 20 pupils and staff from Redditch County High School visited Loughborough on December 14th. Almost a year ago there was a similar excursion to the Whitechapel Foundry. The journey was by road, and en route there was ringing at Hampton-in-Arden (6) and Astley (5), near Nuneaton. An unexpected pleasure was the coffee and biscuits prepared by lady ringers at Astley.

We were due to have a carillon recital at Loughborough and a talk by Mr. Eric Jordan, the borough carillonneur, at the War Memorial Tower. We arrived late, but Mr. Jordan was most understanding and, after dividing the party into two, he kindly explained to each group the working of the carillon. A staff member, who is an organist, was allowed to play the carillon.

Two hours were spent at the Bell Foundry after lunch. Unfortunately, we missed the casting, which had had to take place in the morning: we were, however, privileged to ring on the new light ring of five for Pinxton, Derbyshire, and a good time was spent on the foundry's ring. We felt it was quite an achievement for ten pupils to ring rounds on the ten.

The return journey was made via Groby and Coventry. At Groby we rang with the local Vicar and the captain, who was celebrating his 54th wedding anniversary that day. The school was reached about 7.30 p.m. after a most enjoyable day. Our thanks go to incumbents, Mr. Paul Taylor, the Loughborough Borough Council, Mr. Eric Jordan (the carillonneur) and the ladies at Astley.

HARRINGWORTH, RUTLAND

We have received a letter from Mr. P. Amos in reply to Mr. A. C. Scholes, tower captain at Harringworth, Rutland, regarding the decision of the P.C.C. on the advice of the church architect to confine ringing for one hour at a time until repairs to the church have been completed.

Mr. Amos writes: "As one who has known the steeple for the past 37 years and rung four peals there, why was this decision not applied to the peal rung there in 1964?"

The letter goes on: "Diocesan architects in the main do not know the first thing about bells or bellhanging—and this is a fact that has been stated in your columns, at Central Council meetings and elsewhere, yet P.C.C's (like the P.C.C. at Harringworth) look to them for "advice" . . . Knowledgeable persons will be able to tell Mr. Scholes and his P.C.C. that if a steeple will stand up to one hour's ringing it will to three! I would also like to point out that the tenor at Harringworth is 11 cwt. 24 lb., not 8 cwt., as printed in the last Guild report."

THREE TEASERS

The symmetry of Doubles methods makes it possible to define any such method with a minimum of information. I have used this fact to construct these three puzzles:—

(a) In the first half-lead of a Double Surprise Royal method the first four bells to pass the treble are 2, 4, 6 and 7, not necessarily in that order. If the half-lead places are 10, what is the first lead-end?

(b) In the first half-lead of any Double Surprise Royal method the bell whose work is symmetrical about the treble cannot be the 9th. Why?

(c) The information used to answer the preceding questions will enable you to state why no Double Surprise Royal method can be legitimately extended to Maximus.

Note.—Assume that there is no disturbance of the coursing order at front or back. There is absolutely no need to resort to "blue-line" diagrams in answering these questions.

Answers will be published in a later issue.

BELFRY GOSSIP

At the funeral service for W. H. Hewett handbells were rung by Mrs. Hairs 1–2, W. Wilson 3–4, E. A. Barnett 5–6, F. Hairs 7–8, T. Lock 9–10.

The band who rang Cambridge Maximus at Chelmsford on November 28th would like to record their felicitations for a speedy recovery to Judy Harrison, whose illness prevented her husband Dick, from standing in the band.

Mr. A. F. Hall, of Wirksworth, Ringing Master of the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association, writes thanking all the visiting ringers who made the Association's 10th anniversary celebration such a success on December 3rd.

A peal of Stedman Triples was lost on December 17th at St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, when the sixth clapper fell out after two hours' good ringing. It would have been the first peal of Stedman Triples by six of the band, writes R. E. J. Dennis.

The recent peal of London Surprise Minor rung by members of the Bath and Wells Association is only the fourth such peal to be rung for the Association in 76 years. This was Ron Beck's 120th different Somerset tower peal and it is interesting to note that he conducted the first peal of London for the Association in 1948. The last peal was rung in 1959.

CHRISTMAS DAY RINGING

For the Christmas Day broadcast of bells of the British Isles, recordings had been taken and these were edited by Mr. Harold Pitstow, chairman of the Broadcasting and Television Committee of the Central Council At the request of the B.B.C., ringing included six, eight, ten and twelve bells and also call changes. The programme presented was:—

Sketty, Swansea: Call changes on six bells. (We understand this was not the local choice; they would have preferred the Principality to be represented by a ten-bell tower.)

Belfast, St. Donard's: Another six, and again not the local choice.

Dundee, St. Mary's (or Old Steeple): Some very fair Stedman Triples.

Felkirk, West Yorkshire: A tower associated with Mr. Harold Chant. Minor was rung in the cartwheel fashion, typical of the area.

Allesley, Warwickshire: From Peter Border's tower; Superlative Surprise Major made very pretty music.

St. Michael's, Cornhill, London: Nothing but Stedman Cinques would have been expected, and was received, from such a tower, and the ringing itself was very good. Somehow one feels the microphones could have been better placed, as the trebles were most difficult to hear.

SCORED AT 12th ATTEMPT

The peal of Grandsire Triples at Wareham by a local band represents a great achievement coupled with much persistence. During the past four years four members of the band—John Blackwood, Christopher Brown, Graham Elmes and Ross Robertson—have all tried their hand several times at bringing peals in various methods round. Twice the band have gone the full distance only to find that the bells have managed to cross themselves in the last part, each time in a different method! The successful attempt, the 12th in the series, did in fact produce the best striking, the band settling down to a steady beat after the first quarter of an hour.

The members of the band would like to associate the peal with all the intended 21st birthday, engagement and silver wedding anniversary compliments, etc., missed in the previous attempts!

A BRIGHT ADDINGTON RINGER

Congratulations to 15-year-old Amanda Powell of Addington, Surrey, who conducted her 50th quarter peal for the Service of Lessons and Carols on December 18th. Amanda learned to handle a rope two years ago and, apart from one quarter peal for a wedding, all her quarters have been for Sunday services and include 17 of Surprise Minor in eight different methods. She is the sixth local ringer to conduct a quarter peal in the last two months.

IN HIS NATIVE VILLAGE

An interesting point about the peal of London Surprise Minor at Morton, Derbyshire, is that there is no regular band there, but Mr. William Swain, a native of Morton, achieved his first peal of London Surprise Minor within a week or so of his 70th birthday. This is all the more noteworthy since in recent years he has not had the opportunity of taking part in regular ringing.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AS SECRETARY

The completion by Mr. J. T. Locke, of Drayton, as Crewkerne Branch secretary for 21 years, the period coinciding with the life of the Branch, was marked by a presentation to him at the annual general meeting at Curry Rivel on November 26th

Following the service, conducted by the Rev. E. J. Burt, tea was served in the Village Hall, and a 21st birthday cake, suitably inscribed, was provided by the hosts. A toast to Mr. Locke, who was retiring from the secretaryship, was proposed by the chairman (the Rev. E. J Burt), and Mrs. Burt presented him with a brass lantern table lamp, given by fellow members of the Deanery. During his 21 years' service Mr. Locke missed only one meeting, and this was due to illness.

At the business meeting the following Branch officers were elected: Chairman, Rev. E. J. Burt; Ringing Master, Mr. G. Hartland; secretary, Mr. R. J Drew.

Subject to permission, meetings for 1967 will be held at Barrington, Winsham, Merriott and Shepton Beauchamp.

A vote of thanks was proposed to the hosts, and the Rev. E. J. Burt for the use of the bells. R. J. D.

A WORD FROM THE PROFESSOR

The Professor writes with regret that Minor methods, already diluted with single changes, have now been further debased by the introduction of fifths place without the treble behind.

He points out that, without these devices, and the assistance of so-called irregular methods the Spliced Surprise Minor record achieved by Mr. W. F Moreton and his handbell team, of 130 methods on May 26th, 1961, has never since been exceeded either practically or theoretically.

NO QUARTER TO TAKE TO NEW ZEALAND

Miss Kay Tremeer, of New Alresford, Hants, is shortly leaving for Palmerston North, New Zealand. Unfortunately a farewell quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at New Alresford on December 17th was lost through a miscall. The conductor (Mr. D. M. Hughes) hopes that before the return trip in two years' time a similar attempt in New Zealand will be more successful.

The band stood as follows: Prisca Hornby 1, K. Sansom 2, Lesley Read 3, L. A. Tremeer 4, Kay Tremeer 5, A. D. Tremeer 6, D. M. Hughes (cond.) 7, M. Palmer 8.

BELLS FOR JAPAN

"The Financial Times" recently had an interesting picture of a clapper being fitted at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry to one of three bells ordered from the foundry for St. Paul's High School Chapel at Saitana, Tokyo, Japan. The bells, of which the largest weighs 10 cwt., are the gift of an American missionary society The order for the bells was secured in face of stiff Continental competition, especially from Holland.

PRESTON BRANCH SOCIAL

From Preston, Lancs, we learn that there is a strong social sense among the young ringers of the Branch. On December 16th they organised a social evening at Samlesbury, which was very well supported. "All had a thoroughly good time," reports Mr. R. Barnes in thanking those responsible for the catering arrangements and helping in other directions.

LODSWORTH—AN ENTHUSIASTIC RINGING CENTRE

The new ring of six at Lodsworth, Sussex, has been made by the addition of two new trebles (3 cwt. and 3¼ cwt.) by Taylors to the four that were recast by Mears in 1891. They were dedicated on October 9th and, thanks to the hard work and kind hospitality of Mr D. A. Kirk, Ringing Master at Stedham, there was a local band able to ring them as soon as they were hung. With all local ringers standing in, the first call on the bells after dedication was Cambridge. The local band provided four ringers for the first quarter (Kent T.B. and Plain Bob Minor, conducted by D. A. Kirk) and for the first peal.

The Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Greene) and his daughter were two of the ringers both in this quarter peal and peal, and the son (aged 11) rang the treble for the first quarter peal of Doubles, which was rung by a band composed entirely of local ringers. Including these three there are 16 local ringers and, in addition, six girls from a nearby boarding school are learning to ring on the bells.

MR. GEORGE PULLINGER MEMORIAL QUARTERS

Following the memorial service to Mr. George Pullinger, the late Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, it was resolved that the various bands in the Guild would attempt in memoriam quarter peals. Quarters were successfully brought round at Bishopstoke, East Tytherley, Sherfield English and Lyndhurst, but unfortunately those at Eling, Fawley and Romsey Abbey were not successful. In the attempt at Eling the bells were brought round at 1,200 changes due to lack of time. It was at Eling that George first rang after the loss of his arm in Mesopotamia.

A LOSS TO ROTHERHAM

Mr. John N. D Chaddock, the son of Mr. Norman Chaddock, is taking up a new post at a C. of E. school in in Beverley. He will be greatly missed in Rotherham ringing circles, where he was the right hand to his father. Not only regular in attendance, for service ringing and practices, he has helped in the training of beginners and in the maintenance of the bells and ringing room. John has also served on the P.C.C. and, before taking up ringing about ten years ago, served as a chorister for seven years. Of late years he has succeeded his father as main tenor ringer. The good wishes of many friends accompany him to his new post.

LIVERPOOL LORD MAYOR VISITS CATHEDRAL BELFRY

At the invitation of Mr. E. C. Birkett, Ringing Master at the Church of Our Lady and St Nicholas, Liverpool, the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, Councillor H. M. Allen, visited the ringers of Liverpool Cathedral on December 18th. The civic party was welcomed by the Ringing Master, Mr J. Ridyard, and the Lord Mayor stayed for about 45 minutes while touches of Grandsire and Stedman Cinques were rung. He also went up by lift to inspect the bells.

The Lord Mayor and his family were impressed with the bells, the ringers and the tower; surprise was expressed that one man could ring Emmanuel, the tenor bell, as was being done that day by Mr. T. Fitzgerald, of Liverpool, and Mr. G. K. Austin, of Huyton. His Worship chatted informally with ringers not engaged with the bells and before descending in the lift to attend the Cathedral carol service expressed his gratitude for such an interesting visit.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2908. Vol. LXIII. FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, 1967 9d.

THE BORN RINGER AND THE MADE RINGER

WHEN I listen to well-struck 12-bell ringing I am always absorbed by the incredible skill. Not the skills that seem to amaze non-ringers—like "Fancy ringing all that time without stopping!" "Don't you get tired?" and "How do you manage without music?", but the skill of twelve people ringing all those varying masses of metal and placing them to such a degree of accuracy. The time intervals are so brief that they are barely perceptible.

Now I am not a born ringer, but a made ringer. Most of our finest "class" ringers are born ringers, but they seem to be no better able to explain their skill in striking than anyone else. A born ringer has outstanding innate ability, a made ringer has to work harder and more consistently. The born ringer is revealed in at least two important ways. To begin with, he can adapt very readily to ringing on higher numbers of bells than he is used to. Then again he does not need constant practice to maintain his standard—after a year or more out of the country or peacefully hibernating he can take his usual part in complex ringing of a high standard whenever he wishes. In this respect Richard A. Gofton of Whitley Bay, William J. Davidson of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and John McDonald of Birmingham are born ringers whose names spring to my mind. On the other hand, two babies and two years out of ringing reduces me to helpless inadequacy and frustration, unable to place my bell though still able to hear my appalling striking.

There are some obvious qualities necessary for the born ringer and some less obvious. An adequate memory seems a basic requirement, although the right approach to learning methods can make a considerable difference. The ability to observe and act on several things at once is a basic requirement for a conductor or anyone who progresses beyond the blue line stage. My own inadequacy in this should have been predictable by me since I know that an interesting train of thought when I am walking along a crowded street will leave me bumping into lamp posts and mowing down old ladies who cannot escape quickly.

The born conductor will continue an interesting conversation, steer me away from the old ladies, wave to a friend, and notice the price of articles in the shop windows, all at the same time. Then in the belfry, with training, he will ring his own bell, watch all the other bells, transpose the course-ends, check the coursing order, call the bobs and even blow his nose if necessary. I am barely able to swallow or smile without my ringing deteriorating.

But this is a different matter from striking well and even blue line ringers can strike well. In theory to strike your bell correctly seems a straightforward business, using ropesight and listening to your bell. If you hear a gap between your bell and the treble as you strike over the treble, then you remember to pull closer after the treble next time, and if you hear a clip when you ring over the 4th at handstroke but a gap at backstroke then you assume the 4th is oddstruck and you remember to adjust and keep listening and checking and adjusting constantly. But this is a long and laborious procedure, only possible in a long touch, and in practice it just does not seem to work.

"Rhythm," say the class ringers. "You must ring by rhythm." They suggest that you can pull your bell in and hold it up rhythmically, so that you could follow your path alone, even with no other bells to fit in. This suggests a rhythm of movement, a swaying to an inaudible beat. But this is not the whole truth—because when the bell at the lead hesitates these rhythm ringers will all hold up just the right fraction. If they were all ringing to strict tempo they would all pile on to the leading ringer. In fact, I suspect they ring as I do when I am on form and ringing with a good band. I listen to the bells and tap them in my head as I hear them—tap, tap, tap, tap, tap, tap, tap, tap. That is all I do.

My brain works out the rest. It is much cleverer than I am, though not so efficient as the brains of better ringers. It works out the interval and the relation between pull and sound, and all I do is to listen to the taps and pull my bell. As a check that I am not ringing consistently (and rhythmically) too quick each change or too slow, I have to note how I lead. If my lead is wide then I may be striking wide at every change so I must pull in a little. If everyone in a band rings with this sort of rhythm they can adjust to occasional irregularities without losing the beat. If everyone rings in this way it accounts for the fact that there may be some enjoyment to the ringers in a peal in which one ringer clashes about on a quiet or light bell. The other ringers can ignore him and ring to a beat with seven taps and a blank.

Where there is an inaccurate ringer on a heavy bell, however, everyone in the band is more likely to keep away from him, and they may even succeed. In this case the result from outside the tower may have no clips and no gaps and is likely to sound less offensive than the previously mentioned peal in which there may be a mistake in every change. Nevertheless, the second peal will probably seem to the ringers to be a continuous struggle by ropesight, lumpy and laborious with no rhythm.

There are other oddities about ringing and striking. For one thing excellent peal ringers often appear to disadvantage in short rough touches because they do not strike by ropesight. For another, great ringers are frequently bred in towers with badly-going oddstruck bells, rather than in the towers that seem best designed to encourage them—the smooth, humming, light rings. Perhaps this is because oddstruck bells are not conducive to ringing by ropesight, and heavy bells more easily promote the physical rhythm of ringing. George Fearn (a born ringer) rates bells by whether they have a "good strike note," not by the richness of their harmonics, and this, of course, emphasises the importance of the tap, the beat, the rhythm.

Born ringers undoubtedly have great advantages in all branches of ringing, not least the confidence which comes from success and which makes it easier to leave the precision of meticulous striking to the rhythm of the unconscious mind. Made ringers are more uncertain, tentative, dependent. Nevertheless, with perseverance, training, practice, the experience of well-struck peals, they can ring as well as a born ringer, and may even ring more conscientiously than some brilliant ringers. Their value to the Exercise is indisputable.

DEREK E. SIBSON REVIEWS THE PEALS OF 1966

FROM time to time, various articles on different aspects of peal ringing appear in "The Ringing World." Canon Helstead reports "Points from recent peals" at intervals; the analysis of peals is produced annually; and the Peals Analysis Committee's report is presented to the Central Council at Whitsun and subsequently published in these columns It is not the purpose of this article to steal the thunder from these various reports, but merely to make some observations on outstanding and interesting performances, and to review in a little more detail certain groups of peals without making it sound too much like a catalogue.

Since the Central Council meeting at Yarmouth, where the Overseas Committee was established, ringers in this country have become more aware of activities abroad. This was further enhanced by the opening of the Washington Cathedral ring and its full coverage in "The Ringing World," and by Great Adventure II. It would, therefore, seem fitting to begin with a look overseas. Probably the most exciting events here are in connection with the Washington Cathedral band. Three of their members, including their captain, Richard Dirksen, visited this country, and during their stay first peals were arranged for all of them. This was of great advantage to them for, six weeks later, they took part in the first local peal at Washington, and the band then contained three other first pealers. It is rare to see a peal from Canada, but the first for at least 20 years is recorded this year from Calgary, in April, and it is hoped that it will not be as long again before another appears. Understandably, not so many peals have been rung in Australia and New Zealand this year, but the first has been scored on the new ring at Sydney Cathedral. As a tribute to A.N.Z.A., a band connected with Australian ringing in this country rang a peal at Crewkerne; this band contained several who had returned from Australia and some who had taken part in Great Adventure II.

A YEAR OF RECORD PEALS

There is little doubt that 1966 will be remembered as a year for record peals. Most of these records have been in numbers of methods rung, but one record length has been achieved. The series started in January with a peal at South Collingham in 180 Doubles methods and variations. Through the latter months of 1965 and the early months of 1966 the Essex Minor band were gradually increasing the number of methods rung in their peals, culminating in the new record peal in 145 methods at Rayne in March. This achievement had obviously sparked off some friendly rivalry in the neighbouring county, for in the same issue was recorded a peal for the Suffolk Minor band at the beginning of a trail which took them to a peal in 148 methods at Ashbocking in July. It seems unlikely that the rivalry will stop at that point, as one of the band has told me that new extents are being produced by Harold Chant at not infrequent intervals, and that the record now possible exceeds 160 methods. Perhaps this year will see the achievement of this in one of the two counties.

The other record band would seem to have the field of Spliced Surprise Major to themselves, and the number of methods continues to increase. Every other week we read of a new peal and several new methods under the peal. The limit with Anthony Peake's band would appear to be one lead of each of 159 methods if they stick to short courses, and the writer, for one, looks forward to seeing this achieved in the coming weeks. With peals in these enormous numbers of methods the praise for ringing them is, quite rightly, considerable; but the composers of these extents of Minor and peals of Major should not be forgotten, for a tremendous number of hours of work are required to put the peals together and to prove them.

HANDBELL ACHIEVEMENTS

As in last year, the Bushey handbell band has been active. They achieved their original ambition of 25 Spliced Surprise Major in early May. Just to prove the point, they rang two peals on consecutive nights, and that is a fine achievement. The writer was privileged to umpire some of their earlier records, and it was a real pleasure to listen to their ringing. With this record behind them, they turned to Surprise Royal and, having rung some Cambridge Royal, they started on Spliced Surprise Royal. So far six methods have been rung, and it is hoped that it will not be long before once again their performances appear in the peal columns

Perhaps this would be a good point to say a little about handbell ringing this year. Up to the time of writing, 2,407 tower bell peals have been published, and 235 on handbells. Whilst the number on tower bells would appear to be slightly down on 1965, the handbell total is approximately the same. Last year a large number of handbell peals came from South Wales, but this year they are much more evenly distributed throughout the country. There are bands from Cheshire, Lincolnshire, Kent, Leicester, the Midlands, Hertfordshire and other areas, all ringing regularly peals in methods up to Caters, Royal, Cinques and Maximus. It is a very encouraging sign for this side of the art, and whereas handbell ringing of recent years has not been so plentiful, the wide distribution may herald a revival, and we look forward to seeing a further increase in 1967. One handbell peal of particular note was that to mark the 50th anniversary of the first 12-bell handbell peal in Birmingham, and Frank Perrens took part in both of them.

LOCAL BANDS

It is always a pleasure to read of peals rung by local bands So far this year at least 25 have been recorded. The methods rung range from Grandsire Doubles to 118 Doubles variations, Plain Bob Minor to seven Surprise Minor, Grandsire and Plain Bob Triples, and Plain Bob and Spliced Surprise Major. It would be invidious to single out any one performance, but congratulations are due to all these bands for their continued loyalty and perseverance. It would be even better if some 10- and 12-bell peals appeared with local band footnotes, and perhaps they soon will, for some of this year's are from 10-bell towers.

The variety of footnotes that appear to peals seems to become more varied every year Church festivals and local church occasions provide a number of these. Examples are the peals rung for the 900th anniversary of Westminster Abbey, and the first peal on the new bells at Easthampstead, which also marked the centenary of the church. The 200th anniversary of the first peal at Horsham was marked by the ringing of a peal in the same method. Ordinations, inductions and enthronements appear in footnotes with unfailing regularity, and it is a very fitting welcome to a new vicar for a peal to be arranged. The Southam Deanery of the Coventry Diocesan Guild celebrated the tenth anniversary of the enthronement of the Rt. Rev. Cuthbert Bardsley as Bishop of Coventry with a selection of peals. Historical events, too, have earned their place, and in particular the 900th anniversary of the Battle of Hastings was suitably commemorated in the right part of Sussex.

BIRTHDAYS AND ENGAGEMENTS

Birthdays have been complimented by 136 peals and 21st birthdays by a further 56. George Symonds took part in his 91st birthday peal, and the writer wonders whether this constitutes a record. It would be interesting to know who is the oldest person to have rung a peal. Another interesting birthday peal was that at Tenby celebrating the 100th birthday of Mrs. Kate Jenkins, the band containing her nephew, great-nephew and great-great-nephew. How "unofficial birthdays" come into the reckoning remains a mystery, but a peal at Clifton was thus described.

Engagement peals number 37, and wedding peals 156. It is very noticeable that prominent peal ringers always seem to manage to have several peals rung for them, and 1966 has been no exception! Wedding anniversaries, too, have featured regularly; three peals were specially arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Hairs' golden wedding, and they took part in the handbell peal, just as they had done on their wedding day. Only one diamond wedding peal is recorded, but what must be a very much rarer occasion is a 70th anniversary commemorated by a peal at Rogate.

In memoriam peals total 108, most of them being rung half-muffled, though some rung open at special request. Two prominent composers died during the year, namely Ernest W. Tipler and Albert J. Pitman, and it was appropriate that so many peals should be rung to their memory, using their own compositions as a tribute to their contribution to the Exercise. The widespread sympathy which the Aberfan disaster engendered was shown by the memorial peals rung, and one or two which were left unrung on that dreadful day.

PERSONAL MILESTONES

This year has not been unremarkable in the field of personal milestones. George Fearn rang his 2,100th peal and, shortly before this, became the person to have rung the most peals ever, surpassing Ernest Morris's total. In addition, he rang his 500th peal at Birmingham Cathedral, which is considerably more than anyone else has rung at one tower. Two other possible records were Pat Cannon's 800th tower for a peal and Wilfred Williams' 60th tower for a 12-bell peal. John Mayne rang his 200th different Surprise Major method and also his 100th peal of Surprise "in hand," and in both of these became only the second person to do so. Many other personal milestones have been reached, but it is impossible to list them all. However, a few firsts should be mentioned: There were three first pealers in a peal at Flore, four first pealers in a peal at Longparish, and seven first of Spliced in a peal at Gloucester. A Rector rang his first peal, conducted by his daughter, which must be a somewhat unusual situation, but an alternative position for the incumbent during a peal is to be on guard against protests, as happened at Mitcheldean.

Nineteen-sixty-six will be remembered for a very fine heavy bell performance. In August, Peter Border turned in Liverpool Cathedral tenor single-handed, and this must surely rank as one of the greatest heavy bell performances of all time. There have been several other interesting 12-bell peals during the year: Cam-

Tower Captaincy Without Tears

By OSRAM

PART II

IN the first article the suggestion was made that many of a tower captain's problems could be solved by first of all recognising a few basic principles

The first two principles were (a) Why not accept captaincy?: (b) Why put in more belfry attendances than the average ringer?

This week let us discuss four more principles.

PRINCIPLE 3. RECOGNISE THE NON-ATTENDANCE FACTOR

A band "on the books" is divisible into "steadies" and "casuals" very easily Steadies are those who come every session (except annual holidays) failing circumstances barely within their control (e.g. parents taking them away to visit relatives for the week-end) You can count on them to be there without specifically asking them You know who I mean. "Casuals" are the rest Now "casuals' in any other walk of life the like bonuses, aren't they—fine if they come and not critical if they don't So, belfry captain, be brutal with your wishful thinking Count up your "steadies." Forget the others Then subtract some (one third, say) for circumstances beyond their control. The answer? Your guaranteed Sunday service attendance In your tower that isn't as many as the number of bells you've got, is it? You wouldn't be reading this article if it were

So face the non-attendance factor objectively. This article posits one-third of "steadies" not attending an average session on the basis of the writer's experience. What do you posit? If it is one-third then to get all the bells ringing for every service you will need half as many "steadies" again as there are bells. And if you haven't got them then either (a) accept that it is your responsibility when you turn up short one Sunday, and smile, or (b) get them.

PRINCIPLE 4. RECOGNISE THE WASTAGE FACTOR

Take any hobby Stamp collecting: fishing; swimming; wife-beating. We've done them all at one time. Haven't we? And we don't do them any more. Do we? Nobody wept when we gave them up, because it is accepted that in our youth we were dilettantes, and tried anything. So why cry when a learner leaves the belfry? There are plenty more to take his place. Yes! Of course there are—read on. The practical action is to accept it as a fact of life which is not unduly unpleasant because there are more coming up in the pipeline.

What did your boss do when you changed your job last year? He got someone else, didn't he (promoted your subordinate?). Well, you're the boss now.

Why not budget for one-third of your learners leaving sooner rather than later? While, however, a learner is with you he's a potential "steady." Count up, then. You've 12 bells, three "steadies' (discount the 13 "casuals"), six potential "steadies." Since you need 18 "steadies" altogether (to allow for one-third non-attendance), then the 15 still to get will be produced by 23 potential "steadies." So having already got six, you need 17 more potential "steadies" (i.e learners). The man you've just replaced as captain wouldn't have believed it. That's why you replaced him.

PRINCIPLE 5. RECOGNISE THAT THE MAJORITY OF OLDER PEOPLE WITH KEEN OUTSIDE INTERESTS STARTED THEM YOUNG

Most people over 30 years of age with a hobby started young. Most people don't have two hobbies which they pursue with real interest. And most women don't have hobbies If you accept these premisses, why waste time and effort trying to persuade your friends to ring?. And why bother to chase the girls? Let them come if they want to, by all means —some girls are fabulous ringers fabulous swimmers, fabulous opera singers. But the dedicated will find it for themselves On the same principle leave your wife alone.

Recognise that your best potential ringers to go out and get are boys about 11 years old, and not either choirboys or Boy Scouts (you don't want two-hobby people).

Now, who are the experts in coaxing, attracting the attention of, making things attractive to 11-year-old boys? Parents of 11-year-old boys primarily. But they are difficult to find. Primary school teachers next. Why not go to them, therefore, to find recruits? There will be several primary schools in your area. Write to the headmaster and then keep phoning him until he gives you a few names and addresses to get rid of you. Better still, have a recruitment officer to do it for you (See later under "Delegation.")

This is true even for a heavy ring, you know. Generally learners are not contributing expertly to a tower's ringing until they have at least two years' experience. And by the time an 11-year-old is 13 he is getting quite strong and capable of moving round towards the medium-sized bells There is room for thought here moreover. You, reader, might be no more ambitious than to want a rounds band in the long term However, if you are looking for a Londinium Maximus band then think carefully before recruiting any old 11-year-olds that the headmaster offers Why not specify 11-plus-passers or near misses? You will be more surely laying intelligence up for yourself this way, and this could be fruitful later It all depends on the long-term standard you want

Principle No 5 is, therefore: direct your maximum recruiting effort where it will be most economically repaid, and aim at qualifications for them consistent with long-term levels required

PRINCIPLE 6. RECOGNISE THE CONFLICT WITH TIME

If you are to keep your own personal attendances down to "normal" levels, does this mean that more should be packed into available time? With 17 new recruits, it obviously does A skill like metal-working, or calculus, takes many many months of concentrated and devoted effort on the part of the individual and his teacher before he is able to employ it to the full. Is it fair to expect a ringing learner, surrounded by other learners, to learn the intricacies of campanology without the maximum of attention devoted to him? Yet out of two hours' practice and possibly two hours' service ringing per week, how many minutes does he get at the end of a bell rope? Twenty? Could this be increased?

Calculate your official tower ringing periods in a weekly total. Then one week when you're not ringing a quarter peal count the number of minutes the bells are actually rung for the week. Punctuality and reduction of wasteful non-ringing time between touches could increase ringing time by up to a third, perhaps If so, then surely this is of immense value to our learners.

By the same token it is a major disaster to omit any Sunday service ringing because there aren't enough local ringers available. One hour's potential ringing time lost is a large proportion in a week (quite apart from the consideration that Sunday service ringing is your main brief as church bellringing captain) Is it consistent to insist on punctuality and then gaily abandon an hour without extremely good reason, leaving three learners to miss valuable experience? Why not contact a neighbouring tower for "spares"? At the very worst, encourage your three learners strongly to go to another tower to ring.

Talking of punctuality, you are not late for work every morning. You don't keep your friends waiting after arranging to meet or you would not be their friend for long. So, as ringing boss, why should you tolerate lack of punctuality? It may be difficult with the old lags but a few well-chosen public words with the young learner goes a long way with everyone. (A band the writer knows once, between the wars, locked their doors the instant Sunday service ringing started and latecomers took the consequences. So, probably, did the band.) But every minute's delay in starting three-quarters of an hour's service ringing is over two per cent. of your ringing time gone The sixth principle, then, is to recognise the conflict with time. Why not think of what you're going to do next while the current piece of ringing has returned to rounds prior to standing? And why not risk offending and possibly losing latecomers by pointing out a few salient facts about the use of time?

[In the next article the nine basic principles will be concluded, ready for dealing with planning. The importance of delegation, referred to earlier, will be elaborated.]

bridge Maximus was rung at St. Paul's Cathedral for the first time for many years, and the first peal of Surprise at York Minster took place during the summer. To celebrate the City of London Festival, the College Youths rang three peals of Stedman Cinques simultaneously to the same composition at Bow, Cornhill and Cripplegate. Unusual performances provide special interest, such as the peal of Cambridge Maximus which was rung by six fathers and sons at Evesham; the peal at Accrington rung during a Cross procession through the town by all denominations, and the peal at Withyham on November 12th by a band of first world war veterans.

Peals as accepted "scientifically" are not usually associated with call change ringers but, for the first time ever, one has been accredited to the Devon Association. The integration of call change ringers and scientific ringers is long overdue, and now that they are represented on the Central Council and a peal has been rung by them it is to be hoped that the friendship will become much greater

150 MAJOR METHODS

In conclusion, what have we rung during 1966? The variety of methods and types of peal is enormous, and to list them here would not be very interesting. Minor records have already been referred to, but there are many other bands who regularly ring multi-method peals, though not aspiring to such heights The most surprising feature to the writer was that over 150 Major methods have been rung this year and over 120 of these were different Surprise methods. The Peals Analysis Committee report lists methods in which more than ten peals have been rung, and for the first time Glasgow will feature in the list. It is difficult to assess why there has been this sudden rise in popularity in what used to be considered a difficult method The use of singles in Surprise composition may well be considered controversial, but, whether one approves or not, it has opened up a new field of musical possibilities, as has been shown by the spate of compositions appearing. This is reflected in what has been rung, and it is encouraging to see conductors choosing the more musical compositions of Yorkshire and London rather than just the simple ones. It was for this reason that the writer considered peals of London this year in rather more detail. 1965 saw a tremendous increase in peals of London which has not been maintained so far this year; 1965 also saw the publication of a number of very good compositions of London by Roger Baldwin, Stephen Ivin and Roderick Pipe. The number appearing this year has not been so great and this may account for the falling off in the peals. However, of the 77 peals of London which have been published up to the time of writing, no less than 57 were composed by these three. It looks very much as though the days when Gabriel Lindoff's name appeared below the majority of peals of London have gone, and it will be interesting to watch the pattern of this side of peal ringing during 1967.

Letters to the Editor

OLD AND DERELICT BELLS AT POTT SHRIGLEY

Dear Sir,—Earlier this month Pott Shrigley (Macclesfield, Cheshire) Parochial Church Council finally decided to restore and retain the three old bells instead of recasting towards a new ring of six. There is room for a ring of six and the raising of funds should not have presented a serious problem according to members of the Council.

The three bells consist of the tenor, an Old field bell cast in 1607 and two other long-waisted undated bells cast by Robert Crouch (1439–50), which are so badly cracked as to render them not liable to ancient monument preservation. They were last rehung in 1890 and are now unringable, and the frame, wheels and clappers are in derelict condition.

There remains in the village a hard core of feeling in support of retaining these bells, which in my view is not justified. As far as I know, no one associated with the Exercise was involved at the final meeting. I suggest that those in favour of restoring the three were influenced by over-enthusiastic historians instead of listening to the Guild bell consultants who had been present at an earlier meeting of the Council. My object in writing is to invite comments either way on this matter.—Yours faithfully.

BRIAN SCHOFIELD.

PRACTICE NIGHTS IN KENT

Dear Sir,—Re the letter on page 856 by Mr. Easton. I would remind Mr Easton that "Dove" is not always reliable on the subject of practice nights. From the Kent handbook there are 23 towers in the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association of which one has no band and the bells of another are unringable. Of the rest, four practise on a Monday, five on a Tuesday, four on a Wednesday, three on a Thursday and five on a Friday. This shows that in this part of Kent the weekday ringing is quite well spread out.

I advise Mr. Easton to buy himself a copy of the Kent handbook if he intends to carry out this type of research. The handbooks are obtainable from the Kent general secretary, who is Mr. Corby.—Yours faithfully,

ROBERT EVEREST.

Chiddingstone, Kent.

AN EXAMPLE — A GOOD PEAL, A LETTER OF THANKS AND A ROPE FEE

Dear Sir,—Ring a bad peal or, as on outing correspondent, pass an opinion, and you can be sure of making the headlines in "The Ringing World."

For a change, I would like to congratulate the band who rang a peal at Hilgay on December 17th; I did not hear it, but several people commented to me how well the bells were rung and how they enjoyed listening to them. Also for a letter confirming the starting time, no objection to a rope fee, and a letter of thanks following the peal.

The Hilgay band includes about a dozen teenagers and the bells are rung for two services nearly every Sunday. On practice night (Monday 7–9 p.m.) with help we manage Bob Major and Triples and Grandsire Triples. Although the villagers never complain about our striking, it is nice to know they appreciate and know when the bells are being rung in peal fashion.—Yours sincerely.

"CHRISTMAS BELLS"

Dear Sir,—Christmas bells came through this year with equal splendour as last year, especially the heavy ten at Wells Cathedral and St. Michael's, Cornhill, London (12). I think this is an ideal way of commencing Christmas Day and shall look forward to hearing perhaps one of the following (as I have stated before): Liverpool Cathedral or a 12-bell tower from Birmingham such as Aston Parish Church, St. Martin's or St Philip's Cathedral.

Wishing you and "The Ringing World" prosperity in the coming year,—Yours truly,

R. H. MANSELL.

Handsworth, Birmingham.

CHALLENGE TO BRISTOL SOCIETY

Dear Sir,—Mr Rigby's recent letter has only stated what the object of the so-called Bristol Society is and not how one may become a member or who the officers are. In fact, if the "Society" has any officers at all they are remarkably silent.

It is just as well that Mr. Rigby said that the "Society" was "a group of fair-minded ringers living mainly in the Gloucester and Bristol Association's territory," because, if the report was correct, the peal that he rang for the "Society" was at Loughborough. Is one seriously to believe that the peal would have otherwise been rung for the Gloucester and Bristol, as the letter may be taken to mean? Perhaps it is just another way of evading the peal fee of the local Guild.

If this group of ringers are as democratic and fair-minded as the letter suggests, why don't they register their disapproval in the truly democratic way at the local Branch meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol, assuming that they are members? Failing this, there is always the annual general meeting, which provides them with an excellent opportunity for expressing their views, as it is very conveniently being held in Bristol this year.

Should their aim be merely not to ring peals for the Gloucester and Bristol, why not accredit them to the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association? This has been done in Bristol in recent years and the little financial support received from these peals would help an energetic Association. If this is not wanted, why not plain "Non-Association"? Perhaps if Mr Parsons had rung his much-criticised peal at St. Stephen's, Bristol, for the "Bristol Society" he would not have had any "officers" questioning its validity. — Yours sincerely,

A. TUBB.

Berkeley, Glos.

ODD VENTURES

Dear Sir,—May I be permitted to point out that the "240's" of Grandsire Doubles (page 352) may cause a little confusion. The first 240 and second 240, as printed, appear to be one and the same composition, and also that these compositions by Mr. B. D. Price first appeared in "The Ringing World" on March 2nd, 1962, with the following footnote: "These, with Morris's 3-part 240, are the only 240's in parts with each change at hand and back."—Yours faithfully,

OXFORD.—ST. PETER IN-THE-EAST

Subject to faculty the ring of eight bells and the saunce in this tower will shortly be sold

The bells comprise a ring of six cast at the Rudhall Foundry in 1700 (one recast 1753), with the addition of two trebles in 1891 from the Whitechapel Foundry. The tenor weighs approximately 9½ cwt. (note A). The saunce is a Rudhall bell of 1777 and weighs approximately 1 cwt. The frame and fittings are thought to be useless.

ONLY SOLUTION—AN ALL-OUT DRIVE

Dear Sir,—I have been noting with interest the correspondence concerning the state of "The Ringing World". I am amazed at the amount of criticism arising from the small changes which have so far been made to the paper. I am beginning to think that a lot of people take the paper just to look at the title on the front page.

Why do people take "The Ringing World"? I would like to make a few suggestions in answer to that question, if I may. I would suggest that it is the basic desire of some ringers to learn more of ringers and ringing outside their own immediate vicinity which provides the market for the paper rather than the attractiveness of the publication. I would estimate these ringers to represent about 15 per cent. of all ringers. A further five per cent. perhaps might decide to buy or not to buy the paper according to the assessment of its "attractiveness." The remaining 80 per cent. of all ringers do not have sufficient interest in the Exercise to want to increase their knowledge of ringers and ringing. Consequently they have no need of "The Ringing World."

I do not find this sort of argument at all surprising. After all, in every kind of activity or hobby we can think of we find people with varying degrees of enthusiasm.

In conclusion I would suggest that making the paper more "attractive" will not increase the circulation significantly. The real boost will only come by having an all-out drive to increase the total number of ringers, thereby increasing the percentage of those with sufficient interest and curiosity to make "The Ringing World" essential reading matter. — Yours sincerely,

DAVID W. FRIEND.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Biggleswade District

The long-awaited visit to Southill of the Biggleswade District on December 10th was a very happy meeting, with Mr. C. Mann acting as Ringing Master. It was a pleasure to welcome a party from Middlesex, who rang with us before visiting other towers in the district.

This was the first anniversary of the induction of the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Ashworth), and he conducted a shortened Evensong and took the chair for the business meeting. Tea was kindly provided by local ladies. A great encouragement was the presence of young learners from towers where change ringing is not in a very advanced state, to widen and extend their capabilities. L. E.

Memorial Service for Mr. G. Pullinger

A memorial service for the late Mr. George Pullinger was held at St. Mary's Church Bishopstoke, on December 10th. About 60 members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild were present to pay tribute to one of their greatest members, together with many of Mr. Pullinger's friends from Bishopstoke where he had been a ringer for over 40 years.

The service was conducted by the Rector the Rev. G. H. Rose, the lesson read and the address given by the Master of the Guild Canon K. W. H. Felstead. In his address Canon Felstead said that, in the passing of George Pullinger, they had lost a truly great man. A perfectionist in all he undertook George had also the gift of leadership which enabled many to benefit from coming under his wing as a teacher. Even with the disability of having lost his right arm in the first world war, his striking was immaculate and he expected the same from others. Above all, one knew where one stood with George Pullinger: he was honest and frank in all he said.

George gave continuous service to the Guild as an officer of the Guild for almost 40 years. He became assistant secretary in 1923 and was general secretary from 1924–1930, during which time the old Winchester Diocese was broken up and the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild founded, the formation of which was due mainly to the work of George Pullinger and George Williams. Mr. Pullinger became Master in 1949 and, on his retirement from this office in 1955, he was accorded the singular honour of being elected a life vice-president of the Guild.

Canon Felstead concluded by saying that in all he did George Pullinger's motives were right, they were those of a Christian in the service of God; the world was the poorer without him.

Following the service a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by a representative band.

A PERSONAL APPRECIATION

"It's no good, we tried it in 1923 ... it didn't work then and it won't work now!"

Such a remark was often heard from George at Guild meetings when some supposedly new topic came up for discussion. His knowledge and memory were unassailable features.

His early life was spent in the village of Upham, where he was introduced to the art. His interest in ringing was such that the challenge was taken up again after the loss of his right arm in Mesopotamia during the Great War. In the early '20's he began ringing at Bishopstoke and North Stoneham with the war exempted band of George Williams. Recognition of his ability was soon accepted by the Winchester Guild elders and he held every available office in the Guild open to him. He was not a prolific peal ringer—his interests lying mainly in beginners and the teaching of method ringing.

This preamble of course gives no real hint as to his character, and character is the right word as far as his methods were concerned. Learning to handle followed the straightforward pattern—practice, practice and more practice, during which time one would learn to live with his voice which no bellfounder could ever match with mere alloy. In the belfry his was undisputed; I remember the Rector and churchwardens asking his permission to enter! Having been Ringing Master for some 30 years probably had something to do with it!

As a learner I suffered under George Pullinger—his maxim I thought then could only be "I makes 'em or breaks 'em." He would instil the knowledge by the strange mixture of bellowing and poking the stump of his right arm at your shoulder. Listeners at the foot of the spiral could hear choice remarks such as—"Anything the matter with your ears?" ... I would tremble and stutter—"No," just waiting for the deafening gem of wisdom to arrive, "Well, use 'em then, can't you hear that you are slow at backstroke!"

On occasions the light would dawn and the hard graft disappear, and as soon as my interest matched his, oh, how things changed. Ringing books would appear in my jacket pocket and he would take me on long bicycle rides to meetings in far-flung districts of our Guild. Under his wing I was gradually introduced into the wider sphere of the Exercise until the inevitable day came when he had finished his teaching and I was free to go my own way.

Even after his retirement to Willingdon we would meet at least annually for the Guild annual general meeting and talk about old times.

He was a member of the Old Guard all right, dictatorial, forthright to the point of being misunderstood and would tolerate nothing second rate. But as usual this exterior concealed a surprisingly gentle man with a deep understanding. Hampshire will miss George Pullinger. I will miss him and be eternally grateful to him for giving me the chance; it seems very hard to believe that we will not meet again.

TOM CHAPMAN.

OBITUARY

MR. BERT GARRETT

On December 28th the funeral took place of Mr. Bert Garrett, one of the best-known ringers in North Hampshire, who died after a long illness just before Christmas, aged 70. The service was at St. Mary's Church, Overton, where he had been a ringer all his life and was conducted by the Rector, Canon F. A. Sanders.

The many friends present included the local band at the church. The Basingstoke District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild was represented by the Master (Mr. C. Osler), the secretary (Mr. J. Hill), the past secretary (Mr. J. Chesterman) and Mr. H. Balaam. The Mayor of Basingstoke, himself a ringer, who had been taught at the age of 13 by Bert, was also present and shared in the tribute of the bells, which were rung half muffled as the coffin was carried out of the church.

Bert Garrett was one of those men who are the backbone of the Exercise—no great peal ringer but one who was never away from the tower for practice or for Sunday ringing. His father before him, and then his brother Henry, had been captain and it was natural that Bert should keep on the family tradition. He was regular, too, at quarterly meetings and served on the Diocesan Guild Executive Committee. All knew him as a man of integrity, friendly, and with a wholehearted interest in ringing and ringers, linked to unswerving loyalty to the Church he served.

The day after the funeral a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled on the Overton bells in his memory. Three members of his family shared in it, with friends of long standing to make up the band. From beginning to end no voice was heard in the ringing chamber but Geoff Dodd making the calls. Outside, the striking (of the highest order) gave to the village and surrounding hills a message of memory and fellowship from the tongues of the bells Bert had for so long loved and rung. May he rest in peace.

MRS. ETHEL BARNES

Thornaby-on Tees has lost one of its oldest ringers in the passing of Mrs. Ethel Barnes on December 27th.

Born in 1904 at Whitby, she lived there until 1912 when the family emigrated to North America. She and her father (Mr. Frederick Barnes) mother and four sisters sailed on the ill-fated "Titanic". Her father was drowned, but the rest of the family eventually reached their uncle in America but were unable to settle down. Shortly after the end of the first world war they returned and lived in Thornaby, which was not far from their former home.

Ethel was a staunch churchwoman, and bellringing was only a part of her many services to the Church. She often attended meetings during the last four years although her doctor had forbidden her to ring. She was not an advanced method ringer, but an excellent striker, a quality inherited by all she taught.

Sympathy is expressed to her grown-up son and two daughters. She will be sadly missed by ringers in this area, particularly the older ones.

MRS. C. M. CRAWFORD

The death occurred early in December of Mrs. C. M. Crawford, of Rampton, Notts, an honorary vice-president of the Southwell Diocesan Guild.

Mrs. Crawford was the widow of Arthur Crawford, who in 1927 gave the Crawford Cup to the North Notts Association in memory of his father Charles, a noted ringer and local personality. The cup has been competed for continuously since 1928, barring a break during the war years, and was presented by Mrs. Crawford to the winning team on many occasions.

Members of the North Notts District attempted a muffled peal at Rampton on Tuesday, December 6th, but as this broke down too late to allow a second start, a well-struck 1,320 of Oxford Treble Bob was rung by S. Carnall 1, Linda M. Wilkinson 2, H. Poyner (cond.) 3, D. Chambers 4, S. G. Pick 5, H. Denman 6.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Despite the near approach of Christmas, the meeting at St. Andrew's, Enfield, on December 17th, was well attended and ringing in a variety of methods took place under the leadership of the Master, Mrs. H. G. Hart.

A most sincere welcome was extended by the Rev. Christopher Lamb as a preface to his short address during the service, which followed the pattern of the Association's normal form of service. Unfortunately everyone in church did not stop for tea, but those who did were well rewarded by an excellent repast prepared by the members of the Enfield band.

At the business meeting three enthusiastic young members of the local company were elected as ringing members, viz. the Misses Jane Darby, Glynis Perry and Christine Neville. Miss Iris Lemare and Mr. William Pye joined the Association and were added to the list of ringing members. The provisional elections of Keith J. Walpole (Wheathampstead) and Miss E. Winifred Keys (Chichester) as non-resident life members prior to peals of Hendon Surprise Major at Putney and Bob Major at Hackney were ratified.

Votes of thanks included a special "thank you" to Ron Wood, the local tower captain, and his helpers.

CROSSWORD POPULAR

Our crossword contest in the issue of December 9th was very popular. Fifty-five entrants sent in correct solutions and there were many unsuccessful. The first correct solution was submitted by Mr. M. V. White, of Avalon, 60, Lansdowne Road, Studley, Warwickshire to whom a 10s. prize has been sent. His comment was: "It makes it more interesting missing out some clues—well done —I liked it!" Correct solution:—

Across.—1 Terrington St. Clement, 5 Olveston, 8 Greenwich, 12 Melling, 13 Wednesbury, 14 Lutterworth, 15 Old, 17 Skilgate, 18 Malpas, 20 Idle, 22 Mells, 25 Road, 26 Drogheda, 28 Pylle, 29 Stoke Poges, 30 Yass, 31 York, 34 Ludgershall 39 Lea, 41 Ludlow, 42 Over, 43 Sheen, 44 Wymington.

Down.—1 Trowell, 2 Revelstoke, 3 Strensham, 4 Chelsfield, 6 Sunderland, 7 Newport Pagnell, 9 Wouldham, 10 Clyro, 11 Mold, 16 Brierley Hill, 17 Sleaford, 21 Okeford, 23 Leeds, 24 Fareham 27 Roos, 32 Ossett, 33 Halse, 35 Upwey, 36 Alton, 37 Ely, 38 Awre, 40 Ash.

J. J. Hill sends the following comment over Alton being described as in Surrey:

Ronald geography's all in a flurry;
He compiled our crossword in a hurry.
The good folk of Hants should now dust his pants
For thinking that Alton's in Surrey.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION
St. Albans District

Harpenden was gaily decorated with Christmas lights, and it is to be hoped that the bells added to the atmosphere as they rang during the afternoon and evening of December 17th for the St. Albans District meeting.

The Rector conducted a short service, during which a peal board was dedicated. The peal was rung in May, 1965, to mark the consecration of a daughter church in the parish, All Saints', and was only the second peal to have been rung by an all local band. The first peal was rung in 1913, and Mr. Arthur Day had the unusual experience of standing in both peals.

Tea was taken in the nearby Church Hall, and was prepared and served by members of the local band and their wives; hot mince pies proved to be very acceptable

The president (Mr. K. Dunstan) took the chair at the business meeting. The transfer of Tewin to the Eastern District was ratified, and the hope expressed that the Tewin band would continue to progress, and that its members would come to St. Albans District meetings as often as they were able.

The District secretary (Mr. Roger Brown) intimated that he would not seek re-election at the annual District meeting due to be held on January 21st. This news was received with regret.

Mr. G. Penney (Ringing Master) thanked the Rector for the use of the bells, Mr. Peter Owen (Tewin) for playing the organ, and the Harpenden band for providing an excellent tea. Members returned to the tower to ring until 8 o'clock. M. A. C.

RECORD HANDBELL PEAL

The longest length ever rung on 12 handbells was accomplished on Christmas Eve at Marple, Cheshire. It was 10,032 Plain Bob Maximus in 6 hours and 6 minutes. The band was Alan McFall 1–2, Brian J. Woodruffe 3–4, Robert B. Smith (cond.) 5–6, Neil Bennett 7–8, Gerald Moorhouse 9–10, B. Thompson 11–12. Picture and full story next week.

SUFFOLK GUILD

Encouraging signs of progress were mentioned by Mr. H. Eggleston, Ringing Master, in his report to the annual general meeting of the South East District held at Hintlesham on December 10th. He stated that Sproughton had started a new band under the tower captain, Mr. R. Kersey, and that 14 learners from Clopton and Orley were being taught by him It was encouraging to find so many youngsters in the district taking an interest in ringing.

The officers were all re-elected, and Mr. E. Pearce (the chairman) thanked all ringers and friends for their support.

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. R. H. Clayton, and Mr. A. Beckwith (the Guild secretary) was organist. Ringing in the afternoon was under the watchful eye of the District Ringing Master and extended from rounds to many Surprise methods. Tea, for a company exceeding 40, was served at the George. W. L.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Frank W. Croft rang his first peal for ten years at Stevenage on December 27th.

Mr. George E. Fearn, hon. secretary of the St Martin's Guild, rang his 250th peal of Stedman Cinques on December 22nd.

The passing of Walt Disney was commemorated by a peal at Norton Disney, Lincs, where his ancestor lived. During a visit to England in 1961 Mr. Disney visited this church.

In the peal of Pink's Doubles rung at Longparish, Hants, on November 23rd (see page 814) the ringer of the fifth was Reginald F. Crook, and not as published.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. J. Arthur Hoare, of Swansea, has now returned home from hospital after undergoing a major operation Best wishes from all friends.

Mr. A. P. Cannon and his band at Wilton, Wilts, had hard luck on November 19th, when a peal of Minor was lost with only two leads to ring through a rope breaking. This would have been the first peal of Minor on the bells

Her many friends will be sorry to learn that Mrs. M. M. Godley, of Yetminster, Dorset, is in hospital. She went in before Christmas and is now making good progress after an operation.

Their hosts of friends will send their felicitations to the Misses D. and K. Fletcher, of Beaconsfield, who this Christmas completed 40 years of happy Sunday service ringing together.

A band, all under 15, rang for the carol service at Stowe, North Bucks.

Paul Jopp, aged 9, of Stoulton, Worcs, called his first quarter peal on December 28th.

From Wadhurst, Sussex, Mr. C. A. Bassett informs us that his band collected £20 10s. this Christmas playing carols on handbells.

After the failure of the Westminster Abbey peal attempt Mr. Harold W. Pitstow was pestered by reporters. He was asked to say "who pulled his rope in the wrong place."

The Durham and Newcastle Association have arrangements in hand for a 90th anniversary dinner, to be held on September 23rd, 1967, at St. Andrew's College, Durham. Canon Gilbert Thurlow hopes to be present, and the new Bishop of Durham has also accepted an invitation.

The peal at St. Michael's, Bristol (page 845) should read eight methods in seven extents: Cambridge S., Kent and Oxford T.B., Double Oxford and Plain Bob, St. Clement's and Childwall, Grandsire and two Plain Bob. Conductor's correction.

An up-and-coming member of the St. Neots, Huntingdonshire, band, Christopher D. Corby, is believed to be the first to ring his first peal on Christmas Day. It was his first attempt and he rang very well. The peal was rung at Old Warden, Bedfordshire, and he rang the treble to Plain Bob Minor.

BELFRY GOSSIP

900th YEAR AT WESTMINSTER ABBEY CLOSES

The 900th anniversary year at Westminster Abbey closed on Wednesday, December 28th, when there was a large congregation for the concluding service. This, being the anniversary of the dedication, was one of the regular ringing days and for half an hour after the service the bells were rung. During this ringing, television cameras were busy and the film was transmitted in the evening programme of news. Good action pictures were seen of Jack Phillips and Michael Morton.

In the evening a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was attempted, which unfortunately came to grief after 2 hours and 20 minutes. A few changes of this ringing were put on the air, and Mr. Harold Pitstow (the head ringer) was heard on the radio newsreel speaking about ringing

Later the band were entertained by the Dean and Chapter in the Jerusalem Chamber to a buffet supper, at which there was plenty of good food and wine.

The Dean, in a few words, used the failure in the peal to point out that such a misfortune came to all at times, however practised they might be. After hearing what Mr. Pitstow had said on radio, the Dean said he felt that for the first time he understood a little of what was done in the belfry.

WISH GRANTED ON GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Christmas Day was the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Goodall Walker, of Brierley, South Yorks. This year they had a thrill, which was denied them on their wedding day, of hearing Felkirk bells ringing.

Mrs. Walker explained the circumstances to the "Barnsley Chronicle": "Although my husband and my two brothers were all ringers at Felkirk Parish Church and a team of ringers was standing ready to ring a welcoming peal as we left the church, the Vicar would not let them ring because he was not entirely in agreement with our wedding on a day of such religious significance."

HALIFAX GUILD PEAL

We rarely see the Archdeaconry of Halifax Guild in the peal columns, and when such an event occurs it is generally noteworthy. The Sunday service band at Longwood, Huddersfield, rang the peal for the centenary of the parish on December 17th. There were seven first pealers and among them was 14-year-old Steven Lunn.

CONSETT PRESIDENT RECOGNISED

The caption concludes: "The rare and signal honour of having one of its members as president adds dignity and gives distinction to Consett Parish Church in general and its tower in particular."

HANDBELL RINGING FOR THE BLIND

The Dulwich Handbell Ringers again toured the Dulwich streets at Christmas and raised the magnificent sum of £354 for the Greater London Fund for the Blind. This was their 20th year of this activity and an amount of £4,104 will have now been handed in, writes the leader, Arthur H. Coombs.

OLDEST LADY RINGER

One of the oldest women ringers is Mrs. M. R. Cross, who lives with her daughter, Miss M. R. Cross, at Radley. This week we received a copy of a peal rung in honour of her 90th birthday.

It was during the 1914-18 war that Mrs. Cross learned to ring at Twyford, she being a member of the ladies' band trained by Mr. F. Denty, the captain, to replace the men called to the Forces. Their presence caused consternation among some of the local clergy, who refused to allow them to ring in their towers.

One of their sad duties was to ring the bells half-muffled every time one of the village men was killed—and casualties were heavy. Mrs Cross has memories of the Reading ringers of that time, which means that she knew people who rang there 120 years ago. She also knew H. C. Wilder, the author of the Ringers' Hymn, and it was through a visit to his church at Sulhampstead that her interest in bells was aroused.

A FROME DIAMOND WEDDING

Frome ringers were pleased to record a peal of Grandsire Triples on Boxing Day, the diamond wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mills. Mr. Mills, doyen of the local band, has been a ringer for nearly 70 years, 52 of them at Frome He is still a very active ringer and regularly attends for service ringing at Frome and Marston Bigott and at the Frome weekly practice night (Saturdays). In fact he marked the anniversary himself by conducting a quarter peal at Marston Bigott whilst the peal was in progress at Frome.

A similar peal rung ten years ago to mark Mr. and Mrs. Mills' golden wedding anniversary is recorded on a plaque in the tower The method, composition and conductor were the same, and Messrs. E. Bray and H. Vennell also took part in both peals.

SAME NAME PEALS

Plans by Mr. G. Dodd to ring peals at all the Overtons in one day, as had been done for the Whitchurches and Twyfords, had to be postponed. One reason was the death of Mr. Garrett, a well-loved previous captain of the Overton, Hants, band. As it was, three peals were rung that day. Looking ahead, plans are to be made for ringing peals on one day at all the Draytons, the Farnboroughs and Dorchesters

FALL IN A TOWER

Miss Jean Sanderson, of Melbourn, Cambs. had the misfortune while on a ringing tour on the Tuesday after Christmas to slip while descending the tower at Linton, Cambs, and injured her left leg. Mrs. Threlfall drove her to Addenbrooke Hospital, Cambridge, where it was found that she had a cracked fibula and some bones in the ankle damaged. Miss Sanderson is now at home but the doctor considers that it will probably be another week or more before she is even a walking plaster case. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

WHAT WILL THE PROFESSOR SAY!

From a Yorkshire paper—Local people derived a great deal of pleasure on Christmas morning from hearing the bells of Felkirk Parish Church broadcast by the B.B.C. in the Home Service. The peal—a "Cart Wheel"—lasted for three minutes and came over very well indeed.

The Felkirk Christmas morning broadcast was by a composite team made up of officials and ex-officials of the Barnsley and District Society.

ISLEWORTH'S BELLS' 200th YEAR

Mr. H. W. Rogers, tower master and churchwarden at Isleworth, has produced an interesting pamphlet about his bells, which has been circulated with the Christmas programme.

This year eight of the ten bells at Isleworth will be 200 years old and some of the metal used in the 1767 casting was in fact in use in Isleworth tower in an earlier ring of six cast 100 years before. Five of the bells were installed by the Whitechapel Foundry as maiden bells. Isleworth have had a ring of ten since 1931.

The pamphlet makes an appeal for trainee ringers. Mr. Rogers gives this definition of bellringing:

(a) An important and interesting church work, calling the congregation on Sundays and reminding others of the Church's presence.

(b) A mental and physical exercise to just whatever complexity or degree you wish to pursue.

(c) A pleasing hobby or extra mural activity which can take you to interesting places all over the country, and enable you to meet in social fellowship, all sorts of varied and intriguing people. These range through the whole strata of social life from the unread labourer to the highest degree of professionalism.

In complimenting Isleworth, we would add that this is a most useful piece of propaganda, that could, with advantage, be copied.

PUNISHING BELLS!

From the "Ribble Staff Bulletin," Preston, Lancs, Geoffrey Humphrys contributes an amusing article entitled "All the bells on earth." In it he cites cases of bells being punished.

A bell at Uglich, near Moscow, in 1591 sounded the alarm when the son of Ivan the Terrible was murdered by the order of the Czar As a result the bell was sentenced to 300 lashes and 300 years in exile in Siberia. It was duly whipped and sent away and returned in 1892.

The bell of Oaxaca, Mexico, was condemned for sounding when it should have been silent. The sentence: To ring every quarter of an hour through all eternity! A clockwork device was fitted and it has already accomplished 200 years.

In 1685 at La Rochelle, France, a bell at a Protestant chapel remained silent when it should have been sounded. It was said to have helped heretics and was whipped and buried!

COLEGATE SOCIETY

The ringers at St George's, Colegate, Norwich, held their third annual dinner in December at the Abbey Hotel, Wymondham, being joined by Harry Tooke and Billy Clover, of Wymondham, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodman, David and Bridget Heighton and Jack and Miriam Clover.

The dinner was, as in other years, an informal affair, though Sam Mortlock, as arranger of the event, permitted himself a few words, mentioning those unable to be present, recalling outings enjoyed during the year and remarking on the virtues of a ringing society governed not by rules and officers but by enthusiasm and sustained interest. Tunes and changes were rung on handbells after dinner and the remainder of the evening was spent in the nearby Green Dragon.

COMMENT

ONE PLUS ONE = ?

By PHILIP GRAY

PEAL totals are puzzling. The idea of adding peals of Royal to peals of Minor, good peals to bad peals, Spliced peals to single method peals, long lengths to 5,000's or peals on heavy bells to peals on light bells always makes me think of my first arithmetic lessons. "You can't add apples to oranges," said the teacher. She had something, that lady; apples and oranges don't add up, they simply sit side by side and look at each other Sometimes you eat an apple, other times you prefer an orange, but you don't make a notch on the fruit bowl for each fruit eaten. At least, I don't. Yet we ringers notch up our peals with complete disregard for the rules of arithmetic and the asterisks and league tables spell out peals per year, 100th peal, 1,000th peal and almost every other combination you can think of.

Do our fellow musicians, the orchestral conductors, record somewhere their 100th performance of a symphony? Or do the concert pianists add up the number of pieces they have played in a year? Perhaps they do, but at least their public is spared having to read about this in the programme notes or the newspaper reviews. A peal, too, is a performance, is it not? It is a culmination of many years' training, a test of skill and endurance and an expression of pleasure in sound. It has to be planned, achieved, and may be savoured afterwards. So too, for that matter, a quarter peal or touch is a performance. In over 20 years as a ringer I have never known two performances the same and I bet you have not, either. We rarely feel that any performance was as good as we would have liked it to be; that is the reaction of the artist, not the statistician. Ringers are artists, but they do get into the habit of behaving like statisticians

Recently a front page leader pleaded for shorter lengths than 5,000 on the grounds of the nuisance to the public. Surely if the ringing of a peal is annoying to those living around the church because the bells are too loud the remedy is to make the bells less noisy, not to cut down the time of ringing. Three hours is not all that long. As it is, our Church is on the air much fewer hours each week than Radio Caroline. Even Birmingham Cathedral must have over 160 hours of silence most weeks.

No, I don't see that we have to be apologetic about ringing for three hours if that is what the performance requires. But the stipulation that a peal must have at least 5,000 changes, if nothing else, does seem to me to be an unnecessary straight-jacket. Who could deny that it would be sacrilege to ring anything but the whole 5,040 changes of Parker's wonderful 12-part of Grandsire Triples, but why should convention condemn us to plough through 5,056 of Middleton's Cambridge when the thing can be painlessly shortened to 2,880? Imagine a composer of a symphony trying to work to a requirement that it should have a minimum number of bars regardless of merit.

Come on you composers, show a little more courage and be less hide-bound. Concentrate on the music you are writing, not its length. We are the music-makers. Begone dull statisticians.

OUR PICTURE

LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL

SINCE the Central Council met at Cardiff in 1962 there has been a great interest in Llandaff Cathedral and its ringers. Indeed, the Llandaff and Monmouth Association holds an honoured place in the Exercise and the contribution of South Wales to the art of change ringing is one greatly treasured. It is not inappropriate that we should go to the Principality for the second of our front page pictures.

Nevil James has written a helpful booklet on the bells of Llandaff Cathedral, and from this account we learn that in the 13th century there was a campanile which contained one of the largest bells of that time—six ton "Great Peter." In 1484 this huge bell was taken to Exeter Cathedral in exchange for five smaller bells. "Great Peter" seems to have been rechristened "Great Tom" of Exeter. Probably John Scott can confirm, but there appears to be no record of the five bells arriving at Llandaff.

THREE BELLS

Three bells were cast for Llandaff Cathedral in 1628, and in 1660 the Cathedral authorities approved of the payment to James Jones of "40s. for his pains to keep the dogs out of the Cathedral at prayer time, and 20s. more for ringing the bells on Sundays and Holy Days so that the sexton the better might attend other necessary services."

There appears to have been a "great bell" in 1736, which was cracked while the sexton was tolling for evening prayers, and the bell was recast in 1739. According to the Cole Manuscript, this bell weighed 2,000 pounds and in 1782 it was recast by Thomas Rudhall of Gloucester, and this tenor of 20 cwt 1 qr. still rings out today.

Since 1879 Llandaff has had a ring of eight, the additional seven bells being cast by Mears and Stainbank. These bells were dedicated as a memorial to Dean Thomas Williams.

VICTORY AUGMENTATION

Two more bells cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank were given by John Thomas Duncan of Llandaff in 1919 as a thank-offering for peace and victory. These two bells are hung above the older eight and are rather more difficult to ring on that account.

During the 1939–45 war it was forbidden to sound church bells, except as a warning of invasion, and the war damage to the Cathedral was of such a character that it was considered unwise to ring the bells. Thus it was that from 1945 to 1952 the bells were only chimed on Sundays.

Early in 1952 the bells were removed to the Whitechapel Foundry for quarter turning and retuning. They were rehung on ball bearings as part of the 53rd (Welsh) Infantry Division War Memorial, which also includes St. Illtud's Chapel below the tower. This rehanging was completed on March 11th, 1953, but the problem of finding trained ringers was very real. Chiming for services prevailed until Christmas Day, 1953, when the bells rang out for services for the first time since 1939. It was, however, possible to find a team from surrounding towers to ring on the Coronation Day of Queen Elizabeth II. Today this Cathedral and Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul has a thriving band of young ringers, and our peal columns this week are testimony to the prowess of some of its members.

Christmas Eve Handbell Record

IT was a cold and frosty morning when six ringers and an umpire met in Marple belfry on December 24th shortly after 8.15 a.m. The start of the attempt was delayed until a little before 9 a.m. by a newspaper reporter and an accompanying photographer from the "Manchester Evening News," who said that it would make a good Christmas story.

According to the umpire's checking sheet we went into changes at 8.53 a.m. and each half of the peal took 3 hours and 3 minutes. From halfway the umpire added on 264 changes at the end of each course and, I am pleased to say, arrived at the correct total of 10,032 changes of Plain Bob Maximus at the end of the peal.

It is interesting to note that the previous long peals of Maximus on handbells—quite a number of them—were all 5,280 changes. This means that four of the band broke the old record twice in one week, as they rang 5,376 Kent Treble Bob Maximus on handbells at Marple on the Thursday following.

The report of the attempt in the "Manchester Evening News" appeared under the heading "They're on the eve of a record" and was accompanied by two photographs (one of the umpire and one of the band with the umpire). In the "Stop Press" of the football paper the same evening the success of the peal was given above the football results!

Biographical details of the band are as follows:

1–2.—Alan McFall (Marple). First long peal on handbells. Handbell total about 50, including nine of Maximus.

3–4.—Brian J. Woodruffe (Buxton). Now the only ringer who has rung over 10,000 changes of Minor, Major, Royal and Maximus on handbells.

5–6.—Robert B Smith (Marple). Fourth handbell peal of over 10,000 changes, but has yet to ring 10,000 plus of Minor on handbells.

7–8.—Neil Bennett (Ashton). Has now rung 10,000 plus of Major, Royal (which he conducted) and Maximus.

9–10.—Gerald Moorhouse (Prestbury). First long peal at 63! Returned to ringing peals two and a half years ago after an absence of 35 years. Happy on any pair both for odd and even bell ringing.

11–12.—Giles B. Thompson (Stretford). First long peal on handbells, although he has umpired a number of long peals on tower and handbells Handbell peals include five of Maximus

1966 Peal Records

Will all those who rang 25 peals or more during 1966 please let Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wratten, of 19, Ravensgate Road, Charlton Kings, Cheltenham, know the number of tower bell peals rung and conducted and the number of handbell peals rung and conducted.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD DINNER

The sixth Southampton University Guild dinner was held on November 26th at the Drummond Arms Hotel, Hythe. During the day there had been ringing at Eling, St. Michael's, Southampton, St. Mary's, Southampton, Bitterne Park and North Stoneham, after which a short service was conducted at North Stoneham by the Rev. J. Pibworth.

By just after 8 p.m. we all sat down to an excellent meal. (How many other Societies can claim to provide a five course meal for 21s. 6d.?) Canon Felstead (president) was in the chair and kept the proceedings running smoothly in his witty manner.

After "The Queen," the secretary, Miss H. Walters, proposed the toast to "The Church." This was very ably replied to by the University chaplain, the Rev. J. Arnold. The toast to "The Visitors" was submitted by Mr. A. Luxford, the Vice-Master, who thanked the visitors for helping to make this one of the most successful Guild dinners yet held. Mr R. Heyworth, the Master of the Oxford University Society, replied, and ended by proposing a toast to "The Guild."

The last speech of the evening was the traditional Master's report. Mr. R Partridge gave a brief report on the year's activities, mainly concerning himself with the summer tour, which was held in Leicestershire and had been an enormous success.

The rest of the evening was of a social character with handbell ringing, and many are looking forward to next year's reunion on December 2nd. H. A. W.

RINGS OF FOUR BELLS IN HUNTINGDONSHIRE

By PETER S. ABBOTT

BRINGTON.—The lightest ring of four bells in the county, with a tenor of 5¼ cwt. The bells were cast by C. and G. Mears in 1845 and are one of the only two complete rings in Huntingdonshire by the Whitechapel Foundry. The wheels have rotted away and the bells are swing-chimed by girders attached to the headstocks The are sounded in this manner regularly and are well kept, with a new set of ropes recently provided.

BROUGHTON. — An exceptionally heavy four, in fact the heaviest ringable four in the county, the tenor being 17 cwt., note F. The second and tenor were cast in 1616 and 1661 respectively by Thomas Norris. The treble is by Haulsey (1624) and the third by Joseph Eayre (1748). The tenor is of thick metal, with a beautiful tone. There is a large difference of weight between the second and third (6½–11 cwt.), which does not make ringing easier. The bells were rehung in 1902 in a metal frame, and the treble recast. They go extremely well if one considers their weight.

At present there is a regular card-change band of eight ringers There has been one quarter peal on the bells, on February 5th, 1966.

BYTHORN.—The tenor here weighs 11 cwt. and was cast by Thomas Norris in 1674. Toby Norris cast the third in 1620. The treble was cast by Henry Bagley (1682) and the second by Henry Penn (1711). The bells are hung in two tiers and are completely unringable, with most of the fittings decayed or missing. There is no question of the bells ever being rung again, as the tower has walls only nine inches thick, and part of the spire has already collapsed.

CATWORTH. — These are another very heavy four (tenor 17½ cwt.) The treble has a unique inscription: "Vox mea plene dulces laudes det magdalene." Robert Oldfield cast this bell. The third is by Watts, and the second by George Mears (1863). The tenor was cast by Robert Newcombe (1585). The second and third have the same note, whilst the tenor is a semitone flat of them! All four wheels are decayed, and the safety of the tower is questionable

There is a record on the tower wall of a "peal" rung after the first world war, although there are no Association records, and it is doubtful whether this was even method ringing. Whatever it was, two men were needed to ring the tenor.

COLNE.—These bells have a tenor of 8¾ cwt. cast by Draper in 1607 along with the treble Miles Graye cast the third in 1700. The bells had been unsafe and blocked-up for many years when, in 1892, the back three were placed on the church floor. The whole building collapsed in 1896.

The new church was built in 1900, and the bells hung dead with an Ellacombe chiming apparatus.,

EASTON.—Here the tower and bells are in a very unsafe condition, and it is thought to be dangerous even to chime. The second and tenor are by Newcombe. The tenor, which weighs 11¼ cwt., must have a very poor tone, for the soundbow is honeycombed with air-bubbles. The treble is a Penn bell (1718) and the third was cast by Robert Taylor in 1821.

ELLINGTON.—The tenor weighs 8¾ cwt., cast by Robert Taylor in 1788. The treble was cast in 1699 by R. Chandler, of Drayton Parslow. The second and third are both by John Walgrave. They are quite pleasant in tone, and are hung in a very substantial oak frame.

Unfortunately the churchwardens are rather anxious about the state of the tower, which appears to be sagging and bulging, and ringing cannot be allowed, although the bells are in fairly good order.

WANTS MEETINGS TO TALK ABOUT "RINGING WORLD"

Dear Sir,—I am sure you would welcome as many comments as possible regarding the "new look" "Ringing World," so that you may know the feeling of the majority of readers. It would be helpful if District secretaries put this question on their agendas to invite comments and forward them to you. I cannot remember the last time "The Ringing World" was discussed at a ringers' meeting. My own reaction to the "Mancroft" issue was one of complete satisfaction and I hope it will be found possible to delight us with more of these.

It was with some surprise that I read of the suggestion from the St Martin's Guild, Birmingham, that greater prominence should be given to 12-bell peals. I hope this will not provoke another round of correspondence supporting the importance of the five-, six- and eight-bell peals. We have had so much of this over the years that we all ought to judge the value of any peal on its merits and not on the number of bells involved.

I would be among the first to congratulate the ringers of a peal of Doubles, Minor or Triples where there were one or two "firsts" rather than a peal of Maximus with no footnotes. There must be pioneers in every field and we must recognise them all.

I was sorry to read of the passing of Ernest Bartram, of Melton Mowbray. His father and four brothers rang several peals together. They rang a peal of Doubles in two methods at Harby in 1924 on the ring of five, and Ernest rang with his father in the four fathers and four sons peal at Belgrave in May, 1927. They were Ernest and J. Morris, Charles and Richard Belton, Richard and John Grant, and Richard and Ernest Bartram. The only two survivors of this peal are Richard Belton and Richard Grant.

Finally, may I thank all Guild secretaries and others who sent copies of their Guild and Association service sheets to me early in 1966 as a guide for the Leicester Guild, which celebrates its 21st birthday this year. It is 30 years this April since the clock and bells at Leicester Cathedral were hallowed by the late Provost McNutt. How the years roll on! — Yours faithfully,

THOMAS C. BELTON.

Birstall, Leics.

"THE LITTLE MEN"

Dear Sir, — I would like, through your columns, to make a protest against the "little men" of the Exercise. I do so fully aware that I myself may be termed "little" in the same sense on account of certain recent verbal antics which have been perpetrated. These, I would stress, were intended by their author(s) as jokes and I make no apology for them.

No, the little men of whom I speak are those few ringers (a very small minority, thank goodness) whose chief pastime (apparently) is to stir up ill-feeling and spread misery in the belfry at which they happen to ring, by making adverse criticism, both in public and in private, of the good which other members of the band seek to do for the belfry as a whole. In so doing they show, in my opinion, an abysmal ignorance of the true state of affairs.

These people may be staunch pillars of the Church, good ringers or bad, learners or old hands. They may be regular attenders or, much worse, only spasmodic visitors to the belfry. Their motives may just conceivably, but misguidedly, be good—whatever they may be they are very little men!—Yours faithfully,

P. S. READING.

Kenilworth.

POINTS FROM PEALS

Dear Sir,—The first peal of Bedminster Surprise Royal was rung at Southgate on December 14th, 1963, and I am afraid that the method named Bedminster in the recent peal of Spliced will require renaming as the two methods bear no relation to each other. There would also appear to be a small error in the place notation for Lambourn on page 762: presumably there should be no full stop between 12 and 58.

The first peal of Wycombe Surprise Maximus was rung in 1962, and the method rung to the recent peal is the parent method, of which the Maximus method is the correct extension. Mr. Williams is quite wrong in saying that there is already a method called Wycombe Surprise Major usually rung under its alternative name of Yiewsley. That method when first rung to a peal was renamed because it was not the parent method of the Maximus.

In the issue of March 25th, Mr. W. Barton queries a composition for Lincolnshire, which has never been cleared up. In the issue for December 30th, page 861, there is another peal of Lincolnshire, this time rung to a 27-course block reduced. There are only 24 true courses to Lincolnshire with the tenors together, and therefore I would suggest that further information is required about the composition used, and also the one to which Mr. Barton refers.

Finally I would like to point out the duplication of a peal rung at Crawley, and published on pages 613 and 676, and of a peal rung recently at Eltham, published on pages 830 and 10 (1967).—Yours sincerely,

D. E. SIBSON.

Putney.

COMPOSITIONS IN POPULAR MAJOR METHODS

Dear Sir,—While studying some of the compositions in the recent publication "Compositions in Popular Major Methods" I noticed a small misprint in the second composition for Lincolnshire. The last bob in each part should be a Home, and not a Wrong as printed. This would be immediately obvious to anyone comparing the composition with those given in C. A. Wratten's "Collection of Surprise Compositions," but I think it is worth pointing out none the less. I hope that no one has done so already.

Incidentally, I see that the third composition of Lincolnshire appears in Mr. Wratten's book as well, but attributed to a different author. Is this simply a mistake, or is there some doubt about who is the genuine author? — Yours faithfully,

C. W. DAWS.

Kingswood, Surrey.

BACK TO ORIGINAL METHOD

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Taylor's recent letter concerning the method of presentation of peals in "The Ringing World," I would like to put on record that both my wife and I are in favour of reverting to the original method of presenting peals to the readers.

If merely changing the heading of the front page produced such a barrage of disapproval, how on earth did the original change take place?

Can it be that the Ancient Society were determined to head the list at all costs. . .!— Yours faithfully,

PAUL J. RIGBY.

Atherstone.

ALL PEALS AN ACHIEVEMENT

Dear Sir,—Why should St. Martin's Guild have more prominence for their 12-bell peals? I see nothing wrong with the present system of peal reports. All peals represent an achievement, and the way St. Martin's churn out peals of Surprise Maximus indicates to me that many more humble peals of Grandsire Doubles, Bob Major, etc., are a far greater achievement for the ringers involved. In the issue of December 30th there are four peals of Londinium Maximus, all rung in a fortnight by nearly the same band, i.e. six ringers were in all of them and nine ringers rang in at least three of them.

I do agree that record peals should be given more prominence, but otherwise if the present method is cheaper for goodness' sake keep it.— Yours faithfully,

BARRY CORBISHLEY.

Macclesfield, Cheshire.

TO SOME, BEGINNERS ARE A NUISANCE

Dear Sir,—When I first started bellringing, a number of years ago, one of the first things I noticed was friendly groups of people with whom I came in contact. Beginners were encouraged and great pains were taken to explain any difficulty encountered.

In more recent times there seems to be a certain amount of apathy appearing in the more experienced bands, beginners tend to be regarded as a nuisance, and I have heard it said: "There were too many at the practice tonight, we could not get any decent ringing in." I should have thought that there is no point in a "crack band," all of whom have rung peals in the method, ringing a touch, when there are learners eager to try their hand with an experienced band. I have also heard it said, when a peal is being arranged, "I'm not ringing Plain Bob; my New Year's resolution is not to ring any peals of it." These ringers probably had to be dragged through their first peal by an experienced band, yet they are not prepared to do the same for others.

There also appears to be a new "Association" called the grape-vine; its aim is not to promote better ringing or even more peals of Surprise Major, but to spread idle gossip or rumours.

In my opinion all these things are doing a great deal of harm to the Exercise. If we are to increase membership of the Exercise and flourish surely we must foster comradeship and encourage learners.—Yours faithfully,

D. H. McCORMICK.

Penwortham, Preston.

NEXT HEREFORD COURSE

Dear Sir,—The Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee with the Hereford Guild is arranging another course at the College of Education, Hereford, on April 14th to 16th, 1967. Details about it will appear fairly soon in the "Notices" columns. We hope to do two different things this years. One is to have a smallish group studying composition and conducting of a more advanced nature—for those who can at least compose and conduct Plain Bob. The second is to have a group practising change ringing on handbells for a large proportion of the week-end. This latter group will be subdivided so that we can cater for the complete beginner in this field and for those with a little experience.

Will anyone who is interested in joining one or other of these groups, or who wants more information about any part of the course, please write to me?—Yours sincerely,

WILFRID F. MORETON.

OBITUARY

MR. CHARLES BALL

One of the last of the old brigade of ringers in Northern Hampshire, "Charlie" Ball, as he was affectionately known, passed away on December 18th. The funeral service was held the following Wednesday, when friends from Longparish rang as the cortege left the church, and in the evening other friends rang in a 720 of mixed Doubles.

Charlie was associated with Barton Stacey all his life, and in November a peal of Bob Minor was rung to celebrate his 50 years as a ringer there.

He rang his first peal with the well-known Longparish band led by Leslie Trickey in 1937, this being Doubles. He later took part in the first peal rung on the Barton Stacey bells, Plain Bob Minor conducted by A. P. Cannon and in other peals on the Barton Stacey and Longparish bells until a year before his death, his last being in June last year.

A peal of Doubles was rung to his memory on December 28th by ringing friends from the Andover District. G. D.

MR. ALFRED J. BULL

We regret to record the passing of "Alf," as he was affectionately known throughout the Surrey and Sussex areas.

Mr. Alfred J. Bull started ringing at Horley Parish Church in the latter part of 1918, and continued up to the day before his death. He was a perfectionist, a perfect striker and worked very hard over the years training his always very large band of learners.

Owing to the unsafe condition of the tower at Horley Church, the bells had not been rung for a number of years, and Alf was looking forward to the day when they would be in action again. He was a very keen member of the committee for the restoration of the tower.

A quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, with the bells half-muffled, was rung at St. John's, Redhill, on December 30th, the day of his funeral.

From his records it would appear that he rang not less than 332 peals, made up as follows:—

Minor.—Plain Bob 8, Surprise 41; 49.

Triples. — Grandsire 18, Stedman 2, Bob Triples 2; 22.

Major.—Plain Bob 31, Kent 46, London 38, Superlative 34, Double Norwich 27, Cambridge 35, Yorkshire 4, Pudsey 2, Worcester 2, Norfolk 2, Canterbury 2, College Single 1, Rutland 1; 235.

Caters.—Grandsire 3, Stedman 1; 4.

Of this total 100 peals were rung at St. John's, Crawley.

BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN

During 1966 14,000 people, including many from abroad, visited the unique Bell Museum in Apolda, East Germany (G.D.R.), where the many famous chimes recorded on tape include Big Ben, the Kremlin bells of Moscow, the Gloriosa of Erfurt Cathedral in East Germany and the Sibelius tune from the Church of the Mount in Helsingfors, Finland.

A Much-Alive Midland Tower

By GEOFFREY M. COX
(Deputy Ringing Master, Knowle Tower)

RINGERS in the Midlands area will have probably been pleased to see on the B.B.C. television programme "Midlands Today" the handbell ringers of Knowle Church, who performed the carol "Mary's Boy Child" on the Christmas edition on December 23rd. This broadcast represented the climax of over a year's work in the field of tune ringing on handbells by the young band of Knowle ringers.

Seventy-five years ago the Knowle Parish Magazine recorded: "The handbell ringers have been disbanded, but the Vicar sincerely hopes that those who have been accustomed to subscribe annually at Christmas to the fund for which they collected when going round with the handbells, for the church ringers, will continue their subscriptions."

Since that time and the present day many ringers have revived the old tradition of handbell ringing in Knowle, the most notable of which was that of Anthony Upton about six years ago. However, when Anthony left to join the Church (he is now the Rev. A. A Upton, author of the book "A History of the Knowle Collegiate Church of SS. John the Baptist, Lawrence and Anne"), with him went the driving force behind handbell ringing, and again the bells fell into disuse.

Just under two years ago, after a short article in the Knowle magazine, which was later reproduced in the local "Solihull News" by the Rev. L. B. Hutchings, himself a ringer at Solihull Church, the Knowle tower was "invaded" by an unprecedented number of interested people who wished to learn the art of bellringing on the tower bells, at one time numbering 3 regular attenders! Two extra ringing nights were arranged (the bells were "tied" to help the local residents' nerves!) to teach the learners, who ages ranged from 11 to "over 21"!! (In fact at one time a mother and her two daughters were interested, the two daughters being the more athletic survivors of the rigours of ringing.) In order to help the ringers in understanding "rounds" and "plain hunting" the handbells were taken out and used by the learners.

Also, about this time, a group of about ten "experienced" ringers and "learners" decided to make use of the handbells to ring at Christmas Copies of music were procured, and the group embarked on the perfection of the art of tune ringing. After considerable practice the group toured the village and played carols to the delight of young and old alike. This part of the activity was to have been conducted in a non-profit making manner, although four of the older members of the band elected to play one night in a local nearby public house with such success that on later nights a tour of local "houses" was conducted, donations being taken for the bell fund.

It was realised that the bells were in poor condition, and the immediate reaction was to take the set to the John Taylor foundry at Loughborough to be retuned, recast and restrapped where necessary. The cost of over £80 had been foreseen, and the problem of raising the money was soon under discussion. The Parochial Church Council offered to help with the payment by loaning the complete sum, and only taking half back in payment. This still meant a sum of £40 being raised, but this has now been completed within the year by two methods—firstly, the ringers decided to pass on 4s. of the money received for wedding ringing into the fund and, secondly, it was decided to make use of the bells by ringing at Christmas, 1966, and other functions to raise the rest of the money.

Thirty-six bells were reconditioned, 12 being hung in the chamber for "method" ringing, and 24 being used for the "tune" ringing. Since the time of the recovery of the bells a team of ringers has regularly given up Sunday afternoons to practise on 12- and 15-bell tunes, and during the year the standard of ringing has improved enormously, culminating in the appearance on television, which was mentioned before.

The previous number of 33 learners has now dropped to about 15 regulars (the tower size is small, and it is often that at the Thursday night practice we cannot accommodate all the ringers in the ringing chamber at once, there being about 20 to 25 of our own ringers and visitors for the eight bells!). The handbell team is now almost entirely made up of these younger ringers, and the eight who appeared on television were all between the ages of 12 and 18, the "older" members "retiring" during the year.

Unfortunately there have been formed in the tower two distinctive schools of thought as to how the bells should be rung. The present leader, Tim Kedge, is of the opinion that the bells should be rung slowly, so that each note sounds clear, while I feel that the tune sounds better if the bells are rung quickly to bring out the resonance of the bells. (It has been likened to picking out a tune on the piano and playing it faster so that the notes run into each other.) I would therefore be pleased to hear from anyone who has views on this subject, and especially from other handbell teams.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The Mid-Devon Branch held its annual meeting at Brixham on January 7th and it was well attended by Branch members and visitors from other Branches.

Ringing was under the supervision of Mr. W. Simmonds, the Branch Ringing Master, and consisted of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and rounds. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. D. Hodkinson (Vicar), who extended to the visitors a very hearty welcome.

After a splendidly-prepared tea in the British Legion Hall, the business meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman (Miss Mary Russell).

The secretary's report was adopted, this showing that the Branch had 72 members during 1966, and that three peals and a number of quarter peals had been rung, one of these being prior to the consecration of the new chapel at Buckfast Abbey.

The treasurer's report showed an increased balance from the previous year

At the election of officers Miss Russell was re-elected Branch chairman, and Mrs. C. Pearson was re-elected secretary and treasurer. There were two nominations for the office of Ringing Master and, on a vote being taken, Mr. K. E. Fursdon, of Torquay, was elected. Elected to the General Committee were Messrs. B. E. Bartlett, J. Kelly and Rev. D. P. Angold.

It was resolved to hold a day for instructors sometime during the summer months, and after votes of thanks, ringing took place at Churston

Next meeting: Lustleigh and Moretonhampstead, in April, subject to permission. A. L. B.

Tower Captaincy Without Tears

(The third of four articles by Osram.)

PART II

Scientific tower captaincy has no room for tears. That was the theme continued in the last instalment of this series, when recognition of the non-attendance and wastage factors was discussed, together with the importance of recruiting youth and of making the most of available time. The last three principles are now to be put before you.

PRINCIPLE 7. KEEPING THE PLATES SPINNING

Were you one of those schoolchildren who were brilliant at reading French but who fumed and fretted every French lesson because the teacher always got the dullards to read (to improve them), and never gave you a chance to show your virtue? He was a bad teacher, of course—he didn't cater for every pupil's needs. Have you sometimes noticed how a perfectly usable new stretch of road can't be opened because one bridge on it still has to be completed, and they're still waiting for a girder? A badly organised job of course—not everything was progressed to come to fruition together.

When a juggler has thrown the first of six plates in the air, he doesn't forget it as the second goes into orbit—he supervises the progress of each plate in its different orbit all the time until his act is complete. You might agree that every good leader is, amongst other things, a good plate-spinner—he keeps all things going along a broad front, not letting any aspect of his province stagnate accidentally. If you do agree then as a ringing leader you will cater for everyone's needs in your team. You have 17 learning to handle, plus two who can ring rounds, plus three plain hunting, plus one ringing Bob Minor. So you don't let the Bob Minor ringer stagnate in plain hunting Sunday in, practice night out, do you? You make certain that regularly (you decide—and stick to it—how regularly) he rings Bob Minor and progresses to Bob Major or whatever, in due course. You would have left that French class if you had been able, wouldn't you, through frustration? Those road-building contractors would have paid a forfeit to the Ministry of Transport, wouldn't they? So is your bright young Bob Minor ringer going to stay with you when you ring rounds all the time "because that's all our band can do and we never get any visitors on practice night," and Middle Wallop's tower captain has promised him progress if he defects.

Consider all your team all the time—are they all progressing, or is one of them stagnating? How are you going to get that plate back into orbit? Perhaps by temporarily devoting a little extra effort to it, to the others' temporary detriment. Perhaps by taking him to a neighbouring practice? Perhaps by arranging for the requisite number of neighbouring ringers to come to your team's practice?

There is, of course, one important qualification. Some people don't want to progress. They have reached their level and they are content to be useful members of society at that level. You will quickly spot them. You arrange their Bob Minor by organising the requisite number of visitors on your practice night—and your protégés don't feel like catching hold. Just relax again, and don't organise any more visitors for them. They're happy, and useful for training learners coming up behind them. Why should you worry?

Recognise the plate-spinning principle. You're spinning the rest of your life on plates—i.e. you lead a full life. Why not spin the belfry on plates, too?

PRINCIPLE 8. WALKING AND RUNNING

When you go somewhere on foot, you walk normally, because it's comfortable and gets you there economically of effort. On occasions you have been seen to run—because the last bus is just pulling out and it will save you an hour's walk if you sprint for six seconds and spend five minutes panting discomfort in the bus.

Why be different in the belfry, when you're handling a band of people just like you—people who, wanting to go places on foot, normally walk there, but run for specific reasons at odd times?

Recognise that progress is made most comfortably and economically by "walking"; by ringing well within the capabilities of the band and not disheartening people by fire-ups. This is quite consistent with some one person in the band doing something for the first time (i.e. with progress being made); but why not let it normally be something just a little advanced over his past experience and supported by a first-class band for that particular exercise? The result—both advancement (another plate further into its orbit) and pleasure all round because of the reasonable striking.

Let that be the norm; but when should you make the band run? Perhaps never—you can judge your team best. But possibly you sense a need to throw caution aside one Sunday evening. Three Grandsire Triples ringers have turned up on a once-off visit to your tower; and you've got a learner who hasn't rung more than Grandsire Doubles "inside" before, plus three of your own ringers who know Grandsire Triples. He's the sort of man who you think might rise to the occasion, and you feel like risking it. Why not risk it? It might come off and give everyone a boost. These "running" sessions may admittedly be subjectively undertaken by you on the spur of the moment; but if you're not the best judge of that, who is? And why isn't he tower captain?

Recognise the basic principle of the balance between the walking and the occasional run for specific reasons. This is part of your responsibility for creative leadership.

PRINCIPLE 9. DELEGATION.

Do you try to do everything yourself all the time? Or do you let your wife buy the food, the bus driver drive you to town, the policeman catch your burglar? You direct your own life, don't you, taking advantage of the various services that various experts can render you? Well, why do you take on tower captaincy and then yourself train all learners, do all the tower correspondence, oil the bells, keep the finances straight, organise annual outings? Is it because you "know" that no one can do any of these things as well as you, and that therefore "I must do it myself"?

This isn't plate-spinning, is it? This is clay-mining, pottery, box-office management, plate-spinning and washing-up afterwards! Why not do what you're there for? Why not direct? A good managing director is quite busy enough directing without getting his hands dirty every day on the production line, or servicing customers. There are grave disadvantages in doing it all yourself. First, it starts your wife off. Secondly, you get a martyr complex. Thirdly, your team isn't learning to gel by taking responsibility for each other's well-being in various ways. Fourthly, what would happen if you fell under a bus? What service have you rendered to your tower if you leave it to collapse for lack of someone to take your place?

How can learners and youngsters possibly be secretaries, treasurers or steeplekeepers? Of course they can. They will make mistakes and they won't do it as well as you. They might even waste more of your time in supervision than if you'd done the job yourself—for a time. But it won't always be like that. Prod them, guide them, praise them, and soon they'll be doing your work-load to leave you free to do the ivory tower thinking and practical directing.

"Brian's only 15, and he's only been ringing two years. How could he possibly train someone else?" If you say that of a competent ringer you have yourself taught to ring, you may well be condemning yourself. Why haven't you trained Brian to train? You might be surprised how intelligent people rise to responsibility. With 17 learners to teach, you've got to choose between thrusting responsibility on suitable people after suitably preparing them, or being in the belfry three nights a week—a compulsive martyr. And you're reading this article because you wish to avoid just that, in order to keep a broad view of life.

Recognise the vital principle of delegation in the belfry. You might decide to train learners yourself to set an example to your other teachers in the band. But recognise that, if you do that you're putting on an operative's hat, and that you've at least temporarily ceased to direct, ceased to plan, progress, ceased to spin the plates. Do it if you must, deliberately—not on the "there's nobody else" principle. Get or train somebody else, and you'll be able to do your proper job better.

[In the final article the aspects of planning and keeping to the plan will be touched on as factors in painless belfry leadership.]

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF PURBECK YOUTHS CELEBRATE NEW YEAR

FOR the first time in many years, the A.S.P.Y. held its annual dinner in Wareham. Friday evening, December 30th, saw the gathering of the clans, with Saturday the big day, there being three peal attempts and the dinner in the evening.

The morning peal on Saturday was rung at Litton Cheney; Yorkshire was selected. The ringing soon settled down to as good as is possible on such bells. No 65's were spoilt, as Mr. B. O. Nam was on the fourth. However, after two hours of grinding, P.C.S. inserted one too many at home. After much wrangling the bands for the afternoon were sorted out, but unfortunately wheel trouble prevented a start being made at Lytchett Matravers. At Witchampton, in spite of the Vicar's genius for electronics, a fair peal was rung in fast time.

And so to the dinner. True to expectation, Lewis F.C. arrived in time for the third course, Christmas pud, brandy sauce and strawberry melba. (A mixture to be avoided, I can assure you.) However, in spite of this, it was a first-rate meal and inexpensive—A.S.C.Y. please note!

Next stop was the New Inn, which has a landlord with such a "liberal" outlook on life that the "Red Flag" was banned, but "Nonny Nonny" and "The Threshing Machine" were not. Tony Fortin played some Bristol on the piano, including a realistic fire-up! Malcolm and Lewis were at the piano for the rest of the time.

Thus properly prepared, up the tower to ring in the New Year with three fast leads of Bristol, and an even faster rush for the door to catch closing time (12.15).

Up very reluctantly on Sunday, to muster Little Bob and Grandsire for Matins. After this, and our nth cup of John's "cough mixture," lunch was taken at Kingston, followed by an inspection of the superb bells, unfortunately not in ringing order at the moment. From the top of the tower a glorious view can be had of the rolling countryside, over Corfe Castle to Poole Harbour.

Back to John's for the farewell ceremony or "Bonembating." Philip demonstrated the huge strength of his stomach, and George the huge size of his, followed by ten press-ups. Obviously in training for St. Neots tenor.

Tempus fugit. Home via Ringwood and Romsey Abbey. Not without thanks to the Wareham ringers, Mary and Graham in particular, for a first-class week-end, immensely enjoyed by everyone. Roll on 1968!

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. D. J. Derrick, of 56, Kensington Road, Ipswich, wants information concerning St. Agatha, patroness of bell founders.

A farewell peal was rung at Breadsall, Derbys, for Pamela Barton, who has gone to college at Cheltenham.

Mr. T. R. Flint, of Worksop, writes that the incident of hanging to which he referred occurred in 1913.

The ringer of the fifth in the peal at Southover, Sussex, on November 19th was John A. Howard and not Joan.

Correction.—The ringer of the sixth bell at Marple in the peal of November 19th was Gerald Moorhouse and not Frank Osbaldiston, as submitted by our correspondent.

In "Odd Ventures" (page 852) the 240 Grandsire Doubles was by Leslie W. G. Morris and not Ernest Morris as inadvertently published.

With the peal of Bob Maximus on January 7th, Mr. C. Barrie Dove has now conducted peals of Plain Bob from Doubles to Maximus on both even and odd numbers.

Another young starter is Graham Travers who, at the age of 11, rang his first quarter at St. Paul's, Honiton. At Sully, Glam, G. Whincup (12) also scored his first.

Among the Christmas peals one of special note—and congratulation—took place at Madeley, Salop. Here in a peal of Doubles (three methods) there were five first peals.

The New Year's Eve peal at Blackburn Cathedral was only possible by Miss Jane Reynolds standing in at short notice. The conductor, Mr. John T. Parsons, was truly grateful.

Members of the Midland Region, Railwaymen's Guild, rang a peal at Acton, Cheshire, on New Year's Eve to mark the birthday of Frederick S. Sutton. It was 42 methods/variations.

Coventry Guild had peal ringing activities during the Christmas holidays. Five peals were scored, conducting being shared by Geoffrey W. Randall, Stephen F. Royal and William H. Male.

The Billingshurst ringers would like to thank George Francis and David Smith from Warnham for standing in the first local peal on Billingshurst's recast bells when two of the locals had to withdraw through illness.

David V. Corrott and C. Victor Waite, both new members of the Burgh-le-Marsh, Lincs, band, rang their first peal at Willoughby on December 27th. Mr. Jack L. Millhouse hopes that more members of the new tower will soon follow with a peal at their home tower.

In honour of Pembroke's first lady Mayor (Cclr. M. M. Mathias) and 587th Mayor, a New Year's Eve peal was rung on the bells of St. Mary's, Pembroke. Afterwards the band were entertained in the Mayor's Parlour and were privileged to sign the visitors book.

MR. AND MRS. L. BOUMPHREY LEAVE FOR AFRICA

When Leslie Boumphrey decided to take a teaching post in Uganda, the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association lost not only the Ringing Master of the Western Branch, but also a most accomplished ringer and conductor. Accompanied by his wife, Margaret, also a very able ringer, and "Jackie," they flew away on January 1st, unfortunately not like the swallows to return next spring, but to remain abroad for at least four years.

During his stay in Cumberland over the past few years, Leslie has done great work in raising the general standard of ringing, stimulating interest in the art, teaching young people to ring, and generally giving encouragement to everyone. A number of peals has been achieved largely due to his influence and ability, culminating in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major in December, 1965, at Cockermouth by an all-resident band of the Association for the first time. This was a moment of triumph after numerous previous disappointments resulting from failures.

The Association will feel the loss of the Boumphreys very severely, and all their friends are most grateful to them for the uplift they provided during their stay in the area. We wish them well in their new sphere of activities and hope that a set of handbells will provide Leslie with the opportunity of spreading the art in a part of the globe where ringing is unknown, and the nearest ring of bells is some 600 miles away. R. W.

A CONTRAST

A peal attempt on August Monday at Durleigh, Somerset, was brought to a halt obout halfway through when a very hysterical woman burst into the church shouting, swearing and brandishing a large pair of scissors with which she wanted to cut off the ropes! Luckily, the door of the ringing chamber of this ground-floor ring was locked, so no damage was done Two would-be first-pealers were very taken aback at such goings-on.

The same band, with one exception, met again the day after Boxing Day to try again, this time at Berrow, Somerset. They were successful, and as the elated band, with three first-pealers in it, left the tower they found by the door a packet of cigarettes, a box of matches and a note, written on the back of an envelope, which read "Thank you for the pleasure of hearing you ring. I am 86 years of age." What a wonderful gesture.

COULD DO IT!

After losing several quarters, the Bramford, Suffolk, band were accused by their instructors of lack of enthusiasm and concentration. To prove that they were not wholly to blame at Polstead, the scene of the infamous Red Barn Murder, they succeeded with Plain Bob after a failure at Hintlesham. Reporting this success, the "rebels" would like to thank their instructors—Messrs. Whettell—for teaching them in the first instance.

A 90th BIRTHDAY AT BROMLEY

The 90th birthday of Mr. Ted Mounter was not overlooked, as until recent years he was a regular attender at both Bromley towers. On the very day (December 18th) a quarter peal of Plain Bob Major was conducted by Percy Ladd at the Parish Church. Ted is now kept up to date with ringing news by regular visits from Mr. P. J. Spice, the captain of Bromley Parish Church band.

RETFORD MAN RECEIVES BRAVERY AWARD

The honorary testimonial, inscribed on parchment of the Royal Humane Society has been presented to Mr. H. John Womack (18), an apprentice plater, who is a ringer at St. Michael's, West Retford, Notts.

The citation stated that a 27-year-old man fell into the sea while fishing from a motor boat at Dawlish, Devon, on July 2nd. John was in another boat about 100 yards away with his father. They rowed over and found that the man had stopped struggling and was floating just under the surface. John dived in and held him above the water until assistance arrived. The man revived after the application of artificial respiration for about 10 minutes.

At the presentation Mr. W. H. Bradley, chairman of Retford Magistrates, described John's act as "extreme bravery." So much had been said about the younger generation, he went on, but if they were all of Mr. Womack's calibre there would be nothing to worry about.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL BAND RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING

Congratulations from throughout the Lincoln Diocesan Guild will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. John Walden on their golden wedding. The congratulatory peal on the Cathedral bells on December 29th also marked Mr. Walden's 60 years of membership of the Guild.

By pure coincidence it also marked the wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Randles and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Pack. Mr G. E. Fearn was on this occasion ringing his 500th peal.

IRISH ASSOCIATION'S LEADING CONDUCTOR

Mr. John T. Dunwoody is the first to conduct 100 peals for the Irish Association. He is justly proud of his 100th peal, which was Double Norwich Court Bob Major, at Holywood, in which six of the band were making their first attempt for a peal in the method. John T. was also conducting his first in the method.

NEW 12-BELL RECORD

A new record in 12-bell ringing was set up on December 17th at Manchester Town Hall with a peal of Spliced Surprise Maximus in 24 methods. This peal surpasses the previous record of 18 methods rung on April 13th, 1963, also at the Town Hall, which was conducted by the late Derek Ogden. Both peals were rung by members of the Lancashire Association.

LODSWORTH TACKLING SURPRISE MAJOR

Recently we called attention to the enthusiastic band that has been formed at Lodsworth, Sussex, by the Rev. John Greene. Mr. Leslie Weller informs us that four of the Lodsworth band, including the Vicar, are now regularly practising Cambridge Surprise Major at the Billingshurst practices on Friday evenings. The same four ringers rang their first peal at Lodsworth on December 20th with confidence, competently ringing four Minor methods.

150 MAJOR METHODS REACHED

The 150 Spliced Surprise Major methods to a peal has been reached by Anthony R Peake's band at Knowle, Somerset, on New Year's Eve It was his 200th peal as conductor. There were nine new methods in the peal.

ST. ALBANS MUSIC FESTIVAL

The end of 1966 saw the nineteenth St. Albans Music Festival. In 1963 two handbell sections were introduced. One section was for change ringing, where at least 250 changes on eight bells or more had to rung.

Three teams of four were entered, the first being a St Albans group, Reg Darvill 1—2, and Geoff, Joyce and Frances Dodds 3—4, 5—6 and 7—8 respectively. 272 changes of Bob Major received 98 per cent on an excellent performance.

Next, a Cambridge University Guild team, Richard Youdale 1—2, Alan Scolfield 3—4, Ellis Thomas 5—6 and Charles Hobson 7—8, rang non-conducted Spliced Plain and Little Bob, spoiled only by uneven intensity of clappering and a few slight hesitations

Lastly, a mainly Harpenden team, Sheila Brown 1—2, Jean Dale 3—4, Wendy Brandon 5—6 and Roger Brown 7—8, rang another 272 of Bob Major. With a faster beat, a slight hesitation in the last lead lost them four points.

The second section was for tune ringing and this year the same three Dodds, as above, with Barbara Goodspeed, came an easy first, being the only entry. This was their first try and they rang 4-in-hand a delightful carol "A Boy was born in Bethlehem," a rearrangement of Peter Warlock's arrangement of "Yarmouth Fair," and the Irish tune, "The Galway Piper," In the last two speed was sacrificed for accuracy, but the overall effect was very good and, with 95 per cent, they were asked to open the festival concert of prizewinners.

The adjudicator this year was Walter Ayre, who gave detailed criticism and fatherly advice on each item. He even had his own set of handbells available outside in case a team turned up without any! T. L. W.

WITHYCOMBE RALEIGH'S 50th PEAL TOOK SEVEN ATTEMPTS

With the number of peals on the bells remaining stubbornly at 49, Withycombe Raleigh ringers met on December 27th to make their seventh attempt to ring a peal of Plain Bob Triples. It was originally intended to ring this peal to mark the 250th anniversary of the first peal ever rung, the first attempt being on May 1st, 1965, then for the induction of the new Vicar (he had to be content with a quarter peal), and now as an "extended service touch" for Patronal Festival Mass, at which the Bishop of Crediton was to be the celebrant.

Two peal attempts during this period by visiting bands had also failed, and when after about 18 minutes a slip was made which evaded correction it seemed as though attempt number nine would also result in failure. However, with 2 hours and 55 minutes left to service time, a fresh start was made and this time success was achieved with five minutes to spare, the bells being lowered without stopping just in time to allow representatives of the band to attend the service. The Bishop later congratulated the band for providing such an appropriate welcome and disclosed that he had also learned to ring many years ago

Thanks are due to Dick and Lis Bowden for accepting an invitation to take part in this attempt, and to the conductor, Frank D. Mack, for his perseverance in getting the 50th peal on the bells rung by as many as possible of the local band.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

Despite a bitterly cold night 30 ringers attended the Ilchester Branch practice at Long Sutton on January 3rd, under the direction of the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. W. E. Turner). Ringing varied from rounds to Cambridge Minor on this fairly heavy six (tenor 17 cwt.). Messrs. G. W. Rendell, W. E. Turner and G. Rendell, who had previously entertained the over 60 party at East Coker, gave selections on handbells after the ringing.

Next meeting: Ilchester, February 4th, subject to consent.

DURHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

The Durham University Society held its annual dinner on December 3rd in the Three Tuns Hotel, Durham. We were pleased to entertain many life members this year.

Our guest, Mr. Denis Bayles, in proposing the toast to "The Society," pointed out his many connections with us. Canon Foley thanked us for services rendered at Brancepeth, and Mr. A. G. Craddock stepped in at late notice to reply to the toast to "The Guests."

The Master, Mr. S. C. Wells, reported on the Society's activities throughout the previous academic year and expressed the hope that the Society, at its strongest for many years, would enjoy some worthwhile ringing during his term of office.

A peal attempt in the morning at Tynemouth was successful, the method being Plain Bob Royal. Ringing in the afternoon at Fenham and Lowelswick ranged from rounds to Surprise. P. A.

HOLSWORTHY, DEVON.—On Dec. 11th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: F. Sangwin 1, P. J. Daniel 2, E. Nunn 3, C. J. Shepherd 4, D. Ley 5, J. P. Coad 6, H. Stacey (cond.) 7, C. Sangwin 8.

THE RINGING WORLD

No. 2910. Vol. LXIII. FRIDAY, JANUARY 27, 1967 9d.

New Ways of Life will Affect the Exercise in 1967

By P. A. CORBY, Secretary, Kent County Association.

IN Church circles the shortage of ordained clergy is forcing a new look at the part the laity could and should take in pressing the urgent missionary needs of the worldwide Church and not least in the vast new housing areas that have mushroomed in the post-war years. The Stewardship Campaigns that have taken place up and down the country have brought out the need for people to offer, not only their money, but their time and talents.

So it is with the Exercise and especially in the production of "The Ringing World." Many of the proposed new features of the paper have been contemplated in earlier years, but it has not been possible to carry them out through lack of volunteers to do the necessary work. Thus the task of "The Ringing World" Committee in 1967 is not merely to be "ideas men"—that is vital in itself—but also to organise, urge, encourage and expedite those upon whom they must rely to provide the articles, the pictures, the historical facts, the local information without which there can be no success in providing a "Ringing World" that will attract a wider readership and give an even better service to the Exercise.

Many who have hitherto been mere armchair critics will be called up to give up spare time to carry out the tasks that we look to our appointed committee to organise for us, as willing volunteers, on a detailed and comprehensive basis, so that nothing is left to chance. The committee must work out the strategy and we who are asked to assist must do so cheerfully and to the timetable laid down for us.

Ringers as a body are worse than most for looking over their shoulders nostalgically at the habits and conventions of the past. This particular trait, conjointly with the recollection of many happy Central Council week-ends made pleasant by the selfless efforts of Association officers and others in numerous places, will no doubt induce a reluctance in members to face the fact of a new way of life in the mid-sixties, resulting from increased leisure for all and a five-day working week for the vast majority.

The Council at its 1967 meeting will have to recognise that future meetings will not be able to ignore the impossibility of ringing bells in busy city business areas on a Monday that is a working day rather than a bank holiday, and that bank holidays are in any case being experimented with according to local needs which are different in different areas. Will the Council meetings in the future have to be on Saturdays?

The peal is the sacred cow and Alan Pink has appointed St. Daisy as the patron saint of all peal ringers. No doubt before 1967 is over there will be the annual plea for the shortening of the standard peal length. Predictably there will be on several occasions during the year, either by bold statement or subtle hint, the time-honoured distinction between the "goodies" and the "baddies"—the non-peal ringers and the peal ringers, the former being the true servants of the cause, and the latter the infidels.

What nonsense this all is—we are all one body of people, some who like ringing peals and other who do not. Some of us go to church, others do not: some of us arrive punctually and regularly for Sunday ringing, others do not: some of us spend many hours teaching learners others do not: some of us support the work of our Associations, others do not. Peal ringers and non-peal ringers alike fall equally into their various categories and it is just nonsense to pretend that the one lot wear devils' horns and the others have harps of shining gold.

They do have a point, however, who say the numbers of peals rung—which will almost certainly increase again in 1967—is not of itself a reliable criterion of the strength of the Exercise. This activity benefits greatly from increased leisure, greater affluence and improved travelling facilities, and many bands are able to ring two peals on a Saturday which was a rare event before the war, being in the main restricted to bank holidays. It is traditional to say that peal standards are not as good as they used to be—in my opinion they are generally much better than thirty years ago.

The more good ringing that is done, whether in peals or at other times, the greater the benefit to the general health of the Exercise. Whereas there is an increasing degree of activity by itinerant bands of ringers, whether peal ringers or tower grabbers, those of us responsible for the affairs of our various Associations find a disquieting continuance of the mixture as before—indeed, if anything, although these things are hard to judge, there is probably a falling off in the amount of Sunday ringing being achieved in our village churches, or for that matter many town churches, especially in down-town parishes.

This is an inevitable corollary of the nation-wide decline in church going. Whereas forty years ago many young people attended three Sunday services and afternoon Sunday school as well, the diminished number of those attending church at all these days more frequently attend one service only. This must affect the number of Sunday attendances by the more casual ringers. If these things are true the only answer is high pressure recruiting. Perhaps those of us who have been able to maintain larger local bands must be prepared for some of our extra members to assist in towers that would otherwise be short of ringers. Also we must find the best teaching methods so as to keep the inevitable wastage of recruits to a minimum. We tend to forget that ringing is a team effort and the learner needs the rest of the team—this cannot be obviated by some magic process of personal instruction.

How then does the Exercise stand at the threshold of 1967? The sport side of the art was probably never stronger and we confidently look forward to many fine peal ringing performances. The duty side of the art is perhaps much less strong even than it appears. Let each one examine the contribution he intends to make to strengthen this aspect of our affairs.

Tower Captaincy Without Tears

(The last of four articles by Osram.)

PART IV

This series is saying that three ways of effectively yet tearlessly serving your church as tower captain are by:—

A. Recognising a few basic principles.

B. Making a plan consistent with those principles and with set objectives.

C. Executing the plan with self-disciplined persistence.

To remind you, nine principles have been posited:—

1. Balance unfrustrated leadership with frustrated second-fiddle playing.
2. A leader need not put in more appearances than the members of his team.
3. Calculate and recognise the non-attendance factor.
4. Calculate and recognise the wastage factor.
5. Recognise youth as a factor in economic recruiting of hobbyists.
6. Recognise the conflict with time.
7. Recognise the plate-spinning concept of leadership.
8. Recognise the concept of balancing walking and running.
9. The use of delegation.

B. FORMULATING A PLAN

Recognising principles, of course, is not being a tower captain. Being a tower captain means practical application of principles.

It means more than that. You go through life planning and then executing those plans, don't you? You plan a holiday in Spain next May. You plan to be chief engineer in five years' time. So life, for most of us, contains a series of enthusiasms to get things done and a series of satisfaction when the job is complete. Why not get and give the same satisfaction in the belfry—by planning and carrying through those plans?

This is what was meant by tower captaincy being more than practical application of principles. It is the practical application of principles to the execution of a plan, with specific objectives.

Now every tower captain would formulate a different plan with different objectives from his peers if asked, and there is no reason why everyone should not be absolutely right for (a) his own tower, (b) his own personality. This is why it would be dull for everyone (except the writer) to talk here about what your detailed plans and objectives should be. Only you can formulate detailed plans for your tower: that's what you're there for. Only you can decide the degree of personal involvement (which should only be part of your plan) in your tower's activities you wish to have yourself.

What you are urged to do is to have a plan with specific objectives, and work to it. Why not recognise the time factor here, too, and make it a plan for a specific period ahead (say a year)?

What also can be done here is to remind you that if you accept the need for a plan then you will accept the need for a plan in all the spheres of tower captaincy—a plan for all the plates you need to keep spinning. What are all the spheres of tower captaincy? Putting them in no special order, they are:—

1. Relations with the church.
2. Relations with other towers (outings included).
3. Personnel — recruitment, training, hierarchy.
4. Relations with the local ringing Association (including meetings).
5. Belfry appearance/maintenance
6. Finance (including investment).
7. Standard of ringing performance.

Perhaps there are more and, if so, why not spell them out and formulate a plan for each sphere?

You might like to have an example to see what is meant by planning. Take item 3, then —training. And within that category take training of members as better ringers (not better instructors, or better team-men).

Ringing levels are easily divisible into broad categories, e.g.:—

1. Learning to handle a bell.
2. Learning to ring rounds.
3. Learning to plain hunt.
4. Learning five-bell methods "inside."
5. Learning six-bell methods "inside."
6. Learning eight-bell methods "inside."
7. Learning ten-bell methods "inside."
8. Learning 12-bell methods "inside."

Why not chart your tower membership split down into these categories? Seventeen in category 1, five in category 2, etc. That is you as currently. Why not then chart out how you think the membership (which, incidentally, you may plan to increase, on the wastage principle) should break down in a year's time? You could split this down into targeted breakdowns by month, showing exactly what progress you hope to achieve stage by stage. Or why not just chart your year-end target and fill in what actually happens each month? I once saw in a tower a chart which did just this, putting each category in different colours so that one could see at a glance which categories were increasing in number, etc. Here was a tower with a plan, at least in the sphere of members' ringing progress.

Why not plan every sphere of belfry activity, setting specific objectives and comparing your periodic achievement with those objectives?

C. DISCIPLINE

This article started as an attempt to point a way to tower captaincy without tears. It pointed to the recognition of certain basic principles. It pointed to planning as a feature of leadership. What it didn't say, and what is now to be said, is that because you are a leader (presumably by the majority consent of those you lead), the chances are that more of your judgments in the belfry on leadership will be more right than anyone else's in the team. So why not have the courage of your convictions and, having decided on a plan, execute it doggedly and with self-disciplined persistence? If you accept that punctuality is important, why not hammer every latecomer every Sunday until you've stamped out lateness and can get on with the job with the full time available?

If your steeplekeeper hasn't organised the belfry maintenance as you asked him, why not remove him from office? People will recognise that you mean business, and either sack you, leave, or conform. You might be amazed how many will conform. But whatever happens, there is no reason why you should not confine your ringing hours to whatever proportion you decide and still be an excellent and progressive captain—without tears.

WHOLE PULL AND STAND MARKS END OF 1966

On New Year's Eve the ringers of St. Catherine's Church, Montacute, Somerset, held their annual celebrations. Ringing took place on the heavy 23 cwt. six from 7-8 p.m., followed by an excellent traditional dinner provided by the captain and lady members at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rendell.

Ringing was resumed at 11.30 p.m. when, for the first time at the tower, members rang "66 whole pull and stand." The midnight hour was tolled on the tenor by Mr. Graham Parkin, after which the band rang rounds. Bob Doubles and Grandsire Doubles until 12.30 a.m.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Bath Branch

The annual meeting of the Bath Branch was held on January 7th at St. Michael with St. Paul's, the Abbey bells being available in the evening. The choral service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. C. Holden, who also preached, the lesson being read by the secretary, Mr. A F. Lee.

The meeting, under the chairmanship of the Rev. Francis Pollard, followed tea. Members stood in silence to mark the passing of four Branch members during 1966. They were Mr. R. Cousins (Upper Weston), Miss Susan Lonsdale (St. Saviour's), Mr. E. King and the Rev. P. Howell (Twerton).

The secretary, in his report, stated that membership had risen by three to a new record total of 170, and several towers had shown marked increases in their bands; these were Freshford, Dunkerton, Bathford and Widcombe. Members were thanked for their co-operation in conjunction with the Central Council meeting held last Whitsun. Another successful venture was the introduction of a striking competition in October, which had been won by Corston "B" team. Peals in the Branch had risen by one to 13.

Officers elected for 1967 were: Chairman, Rev. Francis Pollard (Freshford); vice-chairmen, Rev. C. Holden (St. Michael's), G. J. Hawkins (St. Michael's), L. R. G. Taylor (Corston); secretary and treasurer, Alan F. Lee (Twerton-on-Avon); Ringing Masters, Mr. J. Owen (Abbey), Mr. H. Parfrey (Corston). It is hoped to hold meetings at Upper Weston (April), Batheaston (July), also to have a combined meeting with the Frome Branch in October. Other activities include a striking competition and Corporate Communion at Bathampton. Nine new members were elected, four from Freshford, three from Dunkerton (all sisters), one each from the Abbey and Weston.

The Branch agreed to support the Chew Deanery in recommending John Gilbert as General Secretary, and also that Eric Naylor be nominated to serve on the Central Council. The chairman stated that he would be willing to admit new members into the Association at one of the quarterly meetings if they were not admitted at a church service in their own parishes.

Visitors were welcomed from Bristol, Warmly, Pilton, Midsomer Norton and Wells—the total number of ringers attending was 78.

A. F. L.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSN.

The venue for the annual meeting of the Northern Branch on January 14th was St. Giles', Norwich, when about 50 members attended.

The service was conducted by the Rev. T. F. Drury who, in his address, said this was the time when ringers should take stock of spiritual feelings as well as the affairs of the Association.

At the business meeting the chairman, Mr. G. Sayer, was re-elected; Mr. M. Cubitt elected Ringing Master, in place of Mr. Leslie Bailey (who resigned); Mr. C. Bird re-elected secretary; Mr D. Cubitt and Rev. W. F. P. Kelly, Standing Committee; Messrs. P. Bower and W. R. West elected, with the re-election of Messrs. S. Mortlock, J. H. Tinsey, G. H. Pullin to the Branch Committee. The president (Mr. F. N. Golden) thanked the officers for their work during the year.

Michael A. Frost (Drayton) and Susanna M. A. Pole (Intwood) were elected ringing members, P. Bell, G Londcaulk, Miss P. Londcaulk, Miss B. Long, K. Tinsey and C. Thurston, all of the Barnham Broom Group, probationary members.

Mr. J. H. Tinsey expressed concern as to the number of churches with ringable bells without ringers. He asked what could be done to remedy this.

The chairman thanked the Rev. T. F. Drury, Mr. Boatman for playing the organ and Mrs. F. N. Golden and her helpers for an excellent tea.

BAFFLED BY THE CHRISTMAS QUIZ

There were very few readers who submitted an entry for the Christmas quiz. None was correct. The nearest was J. Seagar, 16, Green Lane, Skegness, Lincs. The questions and answers were:

SECTION 1—RINGERS

1. Who was the first ringer to accomplish 1,000 peals?—Rev. F. E. Robinson.
2. Who "had taken much delight in ringing but my conscience beginning to be tender, I thought such practice was but vain, and therefore forced myself to leave it. . ."?—John Bunyan
3. Name two present-day Diocesan Bishops who have rung peals.—The Bishops of Chester and Ely
4. Who were the first husband and wife to ring a peal together?—Mr. and Mrs. George Williams
5. Who conducted the first peal on 12 bells, and what was the method?—Matthew East, Grandsire Cinques.

SECTION 2—COMPOSERS

1. Two pioneers of Spliced Minor composition used the pseudonyms of "Minormania" and "The Mad Hatter." Who were they?—George L. Joyce, Albert G. Driver.
2. Who is the only lady to have a peal composition of hers rung?—Miss Stella Hughes.
3. Who composed (a) Duffield, (b) Forward?—Sir Arthur Heywood, John Carter.
4. Who composed the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major and what were the methods?—Joseph W. Parker: Spliced Cambridge and Superlative.
5. Who first included a single in a composition in a Treble Bob hunt method?—James Lockwood.

SECTION 3—PEALS AND PEAL ATTEMPTS

1. What is the longest false peal rung?—18,240 Kent Treble Bob Major.
2. Where was the first peal rung on nine bells?—Basingstoke.
3. A peal of Cinques and one of Maximus have been rung by bands of the same Christian name What is it?—John.
4. Where was the extent of Bob Major first rung?—Leeds, Kent.
5. Where and in what year was the first peal of Surprise Royal rung?—Wakefield, 1822.

SECTION 4—MISCELLANEOUS

1. Who was Harvey Reeves?—Founder and first editor of "The Bell News."
2. How many editors has "The Ringing World" had?—Three.
3. John Powell Powell installed a ring of 12 bells at his own expense. Where?—Quex Park, Birchington.
4. Name the weekly journals other than "The Ringing World" which have been devoted exclusively to ringing.—"The Bell News," 'Campanology' 'The Bellringer."
5. Augmentations from eight to twelve are not unusual. Names two towers where the bells have been reduced from twelve to eight.—Christ Church, Spitalfields; Christ Church, West Bromwich.

GRATITUDE

Dear Sir,—I am most grateful to all for "The Ringing World" and a most sincere thank you to all for same.—Yours truly,

HARRY MOODY.

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS—No. 31

DAVID RENNOLDS,
The Gloucester and Bristol Association.

THE first of this series for 1967 comes from the Gloucester and Bristol Association. David Rennolds was born at Bristol on Christmas Day, 1952.

David is attending Lockleaze Comprehensive School, where he is in the Grammar stream and hopes eventually to obtain his G.C.E.s, particularly in chemistry. A keen chorister, singing in the choir at his parish church, St. Werburgh's, Bristol, and at Bristol Cathedral, David started ringing lessons in March, 1965, his tutor being Richard W. Sweet. Hard work in the belfry and at home studying the mysteries of method ringing resulted in his scoring his first quarter peal in the short space of five months, and three months later his first quarter as conductor. At twelve years of age a performance such as this is surely something to be proud of.

Shortly after his quarter peals his first attempt to ring a peal was successful. This took place at St. George's, Bristol, when he rang the second to Grandsire Triples, which was conducted by Mr. D. John Hunt.

David's peal total to date is seven, of which he has conducted three. His first peal as conductor took place at St. Werburgh's on April 23rd, 1966, when he conducted two Doubles methods, and it is interesting to note that three members of the band were first pealers. He has since conducted two peals of Bob Minor Progress increased rapidly for this brilliant young ringer for it was not long after when he scored two peals in one day. The morning peal was Yorkshire Surprise Major at Kingsdown, where he rang the treble, scoring his first peal of Surprise. In the afternoon he rang his first peal of Surprise on a working bell at Bitton, when he rang the second to Cambridge Surprise Major.

David has a keen interest in the theoretical side of ringing, enjoys composing touches and has already composed a number of peals; his ambition is to achieve a high standard of ringing, to ring many more peals in many more methods and to conduct a peal of Stedman Triples

This excellent record from one so young is a great credit to those who have helped him and, indeed, a challenge to all youngsters throughout the Exercise. Congratulations, David, and good luck in the future.

NORVING.

SELBY & DISTRICT COME OF AGE

THE 21st A.G.M. of the Selby and District Society was held at Selby Abbey on January 7th, when ringing took place on the fine ring of 10 bells at the Abbey.

A service (fully choral) was held in the Abbey at 4.15, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. J. A. P. Kent (president of the Society), assisted by the Rev. H Lawn (Vicar of Huntington) and the Rev D Burnett (Vicar of Tadcaster). The president gave an address, his subject being "Why we are ringers and members of the Church." Tea was served in the Corunna Cafe, followed by the business meeting.

Mr W F. Moreton (honorary general secretary of the Yorkshire Association on behalf of the Yorkshire Association congratulated the Society upon attaining its "majority" The report of the secretary/treasurer was presented, each member present having a copy which showed the Society was thriving, the average attendance at eleven meetings being 35 The annual ringers' outing was held on Whit-Monday, visiting Kildwick, Skipton-in-Craven, Lower Bentham, Kirkby Lonsdale and Sedbergh, and was supported by 90 members and friends Ringing at monthly meetings had ranged from Plain Bob to Surprise methods, and mention was made of the efficient manner Mr. R R. Warford (Ringing Master) had carried out his duties.

Officers for 1967 were elected as follows: President, The Rev J. A. P. Kent (Vicar of Selby Abbey); vice-presidents, incumbents of the various churches in the district; chairman, Mr H Walker (York Minster); Ringing Master, Mr. R. R. Warford; honorary secretary and treasurer Mr L. M. Woodhead; committee, Messrs. T. H. Foster, G. F. Terry and Miss M. E Wilkinson. The two delegates appointed to represent the Society at the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies' functions are Messrs. L. M Woodhead and A. Sheppard, with Miss M E. Wilkinson as substitute.

Tribute was paid to Mr. H. S. Morley, chairman since the formation of the Society twenty years ago, who was unable to carry on owing to his disability. The president was thanked for the use of the bells and for conducting the service by Mr. H. L. Roper, who also thanked the local company for arrangements. Further ringing on the Abbey bells until 9 p.m. brought a successful meeting to a close. L. M. W.

SHEFFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY

The first meeting of the New Year was held on January 7th at St Marie's and Sheffield Cathedral. An excellent tea was served in the new Cathedral Hall by the Cathedral company.

During the business meeting Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert presented a Parker "61" pen to Mr. J. Seager. Mr. Seager retired as secretary in March and the gift was a tangible token to him in recognition of the work which he had carried out

A slight mishap at the Cathedral took place when the 11th bell on being rung up went right over However, the steeplekeeper soon put this right and ringers were able to enjoy ringing on the bells till 9 p.m.

SELECTING RECRUITS

Dear Sir,—In the preamble to Part I of the present series "Tower Captaincy Without Tears" "Osram" excuses his "subjective opinions" by stating that the reader will benefit from the resultant thought. True as this may be, he does well to excuse himself, for in Part II of the series (page 19) I was not a little surprised to read his advocation of discrimination in the selection of recruits to the Exercise, purely on the premise of wishing to train a "Londinium Maximus band." Surely it is far more advisable willingly and enthusiastically to welcome any similarly enthusiastic volunteer—so that the bells may continue to ring—rather than turn him away because he is judged to be of a lower intelligence level than the author regards as being suitable. This proposed discrimination is all the more inadvisable as it is based on that dubious educational "filter"; the 11-plus. One can ill afford to consider seriously any long-term plans if the prospective recruit is anyway as unpredictable as "Osram" earlier suggests (cf. the first paragraph of Principle 4).

In conclusion I question also the suggestion that one should continually pester a local headmaster for his suggestions for recruits. If we are to believe the teachers' statements; are they not busy enough already? and surely there is no surer way of prejudicing the reputation of the Exercise than by pursuing this practice?—Yours faithfully,

GRAHAM BENJAMIN.

Cranbrook, Kent.

CHOIRBOYS AND SCOUTS AS RINGERS

Dear Sir,—I've been reading with interest and some agreement your series "Tower Captaincy Without Tears," but I feel I must disagree when Osram says that choirboys and Scouts are not your best potential ringers because "you don't want two-hobby people."

Hasn't he noticed that the busy people with enthusiasm and many interests are the ones who find time to do more things?

It is these active, alive people we need. In adddition to this choirboys and Scouts have a certain amount of dedication and stickability which is so necessary in bell ringing.

Thank you for an interesting series providing food for thought. It must have—I've never written to an Editor before!—Yours sincerely,

R. J. VIDLER.

Headcorn, Ashford.

CHRISTMAS BROADCAST

Dear Sir,—With regard to the Christmas bells broadcast I'm afraid I must disagree with some of those people who say they sounded quite good. Wells and St. Michael's yes, but the rest were too fast, too "fussy," some out of tune and the lead came in far too soon in the call changes.

It makes me wonder why the B.B.C. cannot pick six "melodious" towers out of the thousands available. I have on my tape (which I am building up) thirty-five different examples of ringing towers and would be pleased to assist anyone who requires any "bells-on-tape." I feel sure the general public prefers a ring of bells which is in tune.

I found the article about rhythm ringing very interesting and helpful.—Yours faithfully,

S. SAYER.

PROFESSOR'S RECOLLECTION QUESTIONED

Dear Sir,—If the Professor's comments on page 8 of the January 6th issue of "The Ringing World" are examples of the "erudite extracts" which H.C mentions on the front page of the December 30th issue then I am sure the public would be more grateful if he kept them to himself. Firstly, he should get his facts right. The peal in 130 methods on handbells on May 26th, 1961, was not the record for Spliced Surprise Minor since not all the methods, by any means, were Surprise. It was, and still is, the record number of Minor methods on handbells. The record for Spliced Surprise Minor stands at 60. This was achieved in a peal at Stisted, Essex, on February 16th, 1962, which was conducted by Howard W. Egglestone, and was then the most Surprise methods rung to a peal.

Secondly, the Professor scorns methods which contain fifths place without the treble behind. I would like to defend them in the following way. There are only just over 40 regular Surprise Minor methods which do not contain fifths. Therefore, if one wishes to extend the Surprise Minor record, one must first include irregular methods, which the Professor seems to like Now the only argument I have heard put forward against methods containing fifths place is that they produce 65's at backstroke. However, in the case of many of the irregular methods which do not contain fifths, one cannot obtain a true extent without producing 65's at backstroke and so if one is prepared to include these methods, there is no reason for not including the ones with fifths. In fact, the number of Surprise Minor methods which can be obtained in seven extents is severely limited unless these methods with fifths are included.

In any case the argument against 65's at backstroke is purely one of musical quality. No one complains about the 82's and 83's in the Surprise Major record peals simply because a peal in so many methods could almost certainly not be rung without them.—Yours sincerely,

TIMOTHY G. PETT.

Herne Hill, London, S.E.

TEN BELL CHANGES

Dear Sir,—Can any of your readers from the West Country give me information concerning a way of ringing call changes on six bells, which was known as the ten bell changes? These used to be rung when my father was tower captain at Ilminster, 80 years ago, before he succeeded in teaching the local band the elements of method ringing. It was done thus. Using very thick padded muffles, the 3rd was muffled to strike an open blow at handstroke only (inaudible at back), and the tenor muffled to strike open only at backstroke Calls were then made on 1245, with 3rd and tenor striking together thus:

1 2 4 5 3 1 2 4 5 6

(T) (3) and so on.

Was this method known elsewhere?—Yours sincerely,

H. SHIRE.

Welwyn Garden City.

BLAGDON SURPRISE

Dear Sir,—As the method we have named Bedminster Surprise Major ("R.W." January 6th, page 10) is not a true contraction of the method Bedminster Surprise Royal I wish to rename it Blagdon Surprise Major.—Yours faithfully,

ANTHONY R. PEAKE.

Swindon.

RINGING WILL BE MADE EASIER

By Gilbert Thurlow

A GLORIOUS church must have glorious bells. The story of Wymondham bells could be sparklingly written up, as a facet of England's history—medieval quarrels between monks and people as to who should ring them and when, the building of a monastic "central tower" which, far from being central, actually took over part of the people's nave, and so forth.

Modern bells are far finer than those of the past and the Wymondham ring is "very scrappy" compared with modern ones. The bells date between 1606 and 1903—the date on one, 1653, if correct, shows sturdy Norfolk men were casting bells even during the Commonwealth! Some of the bells are thin, and frame and fittings badly need an overhaul.

The work being done here is the most important work on Norfolk bells since Great Yarmouth's new bells came in 1959 Care is being taken to ensure that tower, bells and ringing arrangements are as fine as today's methods can make them. The tower has been badly split in past years. It has been strengthened by the most modern means.

LOWER IN TOWER

The bells will be rehung several feet lower than before. This will make ringing easier, with shorter ropes. It will greatly reduce the oscillation set up in the tower when ringing, and will improve the sound, which will be quieter near by but will carry further afield.

The fine old bell frame, a magnificent piece of work by Day of Eye, will be re-used. But it will be carried, as at Yarmouth, on a reinforced concrete grillage grouted several inches into the walls, and spanning the tower three times in both directions, making a monolithic structure of great strength Adaptation of the frame enables two more bells to be added, making ten. Who would like to give two new bells to achieve this?

The bells will be tuned in modern style. Two generations ago Canon Simpson did valuable research into bell tuning, so that today the 13 different notes which a bell gives can be tuned to accord with each other as the tuner wishes.

The note of the tenor bell (which will weigh 27½ cwt.) will be D in the modern low pitch, with 294 vibrations a second. The work is being carried out by Mears and Stainbank.

With acknowledgment to "Norwich Churchman."

PRINTING OF PEALS

Dear Sir,—I felt compelled to express a word of sympathy with Mr. Taylor and his friends in St. Martin's Guild (page 856), who view the juxtaposition of their peal and ones of Doubles and Bob Major with justifiable indignation.

The idea appalled me: that these two peals, each containing a "first" and no doubt other novices, making them fine achievements, delighting many and offending few, should be placed next to one which achieved nothing (except the "longest peal of Stedman Cinques" as if that meant anything), which was almost guaranteed from the start, and left the participants no better equipped to serve the Exercise or Church.—Yours faithfully, R. BUTTON.

OBITUARY

MR. CECIL EVANS

The passing of Cecil Evans came to me as a great shock Up to his death he was Master of Aldenham ringers and was primarily responsible in having the fine ring of eight bells rehung recently

Cecil had many fine qualities and amongst these he had a very musical ear and was quite an expert at tune ringing on handbells. I think he was disappointed over the fact that he was unable to further this particular art, owing to no one else being sufficiently interested. He was a devout member of the Hertford County Association, and had very recently completely 50 years' continuous membership. To commemorate this a certificate was presented to him at the 1966 A.G.M., appropriately held in Watford. He served at various times on the Watford District Committee and was rarely absent from any meeting.

It was always a great pleasure to meet him and Mrs Evans, both of whom the writer knew personally as friends.

Peal ringing was not a great love of Cecil's but the following list may be the outstanding peals he stood in. His first peal was of Grandsire Triples on 17-12-19 (conductor M. Hibbert) The first peal of Surprise he rang in was one of Yorkshire S.M on 18-4-53 (conductor G. W. Seaman). The third one of note was on 5-10-55, this being Stedman Triples (conductor J. R. Mayne) The last was a specially arranged peal of Aldenham S.M. rung on his completion of 40 years' membership of the H.C.A., this being rung on 15-9-56, conducted by J. R. Mayne. The writer was fortunate to stand in the peals of Stedman and Aldenham S.M. Incidentally, all the peals mentioned were rung on Aldenham bells. To my knowledge he did not ring many (if any) outside his own tower.

A short memorial service was held on December 8th in Aldenham Church, followed by the ashes being laid in the garden of rest in the churchyard

Cecil will be sorely missed by his fellow ringers and friends. Sincere sympathy from the Watford District is extended to Mrs. Evans in her sad bereavement.

K. R. D.

MR. E. C. STACEY

The ringers in the Doncaster area have suffered a great loss in the death of E. C. (Ned) Stacey who died on January 1st, 1967.

In those days Sprotborough had a ring of six, and eventually it became unringable. Ned then became a ringer at Doncaster Parish Church, in the days when Stedman Triples was the order of every Sunday, and even a course of Ken was quite adventurous. He became Ringing Master both at his own tower and of the Doncaster and District Society. A modest and almost humble man, he spent his working life as a gardener and revealed great skill in his calling. In his earlier years he was an amateur cricketer of no mean repute in the villages in the south of Yorkshire.

These three interests, floriculture, cricket and bell ringing, formed a triad from which he drew a tremendous fund of tales—and was never happier than when he was able to exhibit his very great talent as a raconteur. He joined the Yorkshire Association in 1919, and had rung 26 peals; like many of his contemporaries he was no great peal ringer; nevertheless we miss him sorely.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Wimborne Branch

The annual meeting of the Wimborne Branch took place at Wimborne on January 7th, attended by 63 ringers and friends, including quite a few visitors from Hampshire. Ringing on the ten bells of the Minster ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major and Plain Bob Royal.

The Guild service was conducted by the new Vicar, the Rev. D. Strickland, who also preached an interesting sermon on the Epiphany. The lesson was read by Mr. L. J. Lockyer.

After an excellen tea a long and lively business meeting followed. Officers elected for 1967 were: Chairman, Mr. L. J. Lockyer, Wimborne; vice-chairman, Mr D. R. Fuller, Swanage; honorary secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Robertson, Wareham; Ringing Masters, Mr C M. Heawood, Poole, and Mr. H. I. Pitman, Canford; committee members, Mr. P. Cumberland, Cranborne, and Mr. P. Keough, Wareham.

In her report, the secretary stated the membership was now at 96, an increase on previous years. Meetings held during the year had been poorly attended even though new ventures, including a cricket match and barbecue, had been introduced in the hope of attracting more ringers. The Branch held a dinner in July and the response to this had been overwhelming with 80 people attending. It seems ringers would rather pay 16s. to attend a dinner than 2s. 6d. for a tea at a meeting! The Branch had undertaken to teach a new band at Poole and regularly for a year each of the four active towers sent a contingent to that tower together with a few locals. Progress had been good and two of the new ringers had scored quarter peals. The secretary congratulated the two towers that had rung peals with an all local band, namely Canford and Wareham. Also 21 quarter peals had been rung during the year.

It is hoped to introduce monthly practices in each of the five practising towers in turn, in order to encourage new methods and also help those "in a rut." Meetings for the year are as follows: April 15th, Wimborne St. Giles and Cranborne; July 15th, Lytchett Matravers and Wareham: October 21st, Swanage and Kingston; Annual, January 6th, 1968, Poole.

MR. ARTHUR ROBERTS

We regret to report the death of Mr. Arthur Roberts, aged 73, a member of the St. Andrew's band at Cobham, Surrey, for over 50 years and a sidesman at St. John's, Cobham, for many years. He was a regular member of the team for Sunday morning service ringing and an active member right up until the time of his death.

GLATTON.—Tenor 9 cwt in E flat, cast by Thomas Eayre in 1736. The two trebles are by Watts and the third by Taylors of Loughborough (1863). The bells were rehung (1904) in an iron frame, with steel headstocks, and are the easiest-going ring of four in the county, with quite a nice tone as well.

There are three method-ringing locals, who ring occasionally with help from outside.

GRAVELY.—All these bells were cast by William Haulsey of St. Ives in 1624 The tenor weighs 7 cwt., note A The bells were rehung in 1910 and go quite well with a new set of ropes recently provided. Their tone is beautifully sweet and mellow, and they are tuned Nos. 2-5 of an octave (i.e D sharp. C sharp, B, A), very vague and extremely lovely to hear, although augmentation is rather hindered by this.

This is a popular ring with the "Minimus Kings of Huntingdonshire" and there have been two quarters rung here the first believed to be the first quarter of Minimus in the county, and the second the first in two Minimus methods in the county. The bands stood:—First: F. J. Hughes 1 D. J Prescott 2, G. E. Bonham 3, P. Woollven (cond.) 4; second: C. J. Higgins 1, Hilary Knight (cond.) 2, T R. Garrett 3, P S Abbott 4 The method for the first quarter was Plain Bob, and for the second Plain and Double Bob.

HAMERTON.—Another excellent ring. The tenor weighs 9 cwt, 1 qr 20 lb. in F sharp, and was cast in 1706 by Penn. It is a thin bell, as its note suggests, but nevertheless of good and full tone The bells were rehung in 1931 by Taylors, after 25 years' silence, and were heard again on Christmas Day of the year stated. The treble was cast by C. and G. Mears (1854), the third by Thomas Norris (1628) and the second by T Eayre (1728).

Although the bells go well have a lovely tone and are well maintained, there is only one resident ringer but ringers from other villages come and give a hand when needed. There has been one quarter on the bells, on March 26th, 1966.

HILTON.—The second and the tenor were cast by J. Eayre (1744), the latter weighing 10 cwt., note A flat The treble was cast by Holdfield in 1604, and the third by Thomas Norris in 1657. They have a pretty tone for what one would expect to be a nondescript ring judging by the weight and key. There is, I am told a resident band who ring card-changes regularly

OFFORD CLUNY.—The original tenor was cast by Miles Graye I in 1624, and weighed 11 cwt. In 1842, being cracked, it was recast by Thomas Mears, and now weighs 10 cwt. The front three were cast by James Keene, of Woodstock (1630) They were ringable until a few years ago but, from what information I can obtain, they are now reputed to be unringable and are only chimed

OLD WESTON.—Tenor 9 cwt. in A minor (undated) by Toby Norris, who cast the second and third in 1612. The treble is a very ancient and interesting bell, but the inscription is unintelligible. The bells were in a terrible state in 1890, but have been rehung at some time since then The wheels have now decayed again and the frame is rotting. All four are chimed on Sundays.

ORTON WATERVILLE. — Tenor 7¾ cwt., cast by J Eayre (1755), who cast the second in 1754. Thomas Norris cast the treble in 1670, and Toby Norris the third in 1606. The wheels are all broken and the tower is not at all safe.

Thousands Hear School Handbells Around Sheffield

Ecclesfield (Sheffield) handbell ringers have an international reputation. Michael King tells of the vicissitudes of an old set of handbells bought secondhand in 1902, and of the use made of it by a school team in the autumn and at Christmas.

A SET of handbells, approximately 80 years old, has been used so much recently that if they could talk they'd probably say, "Gee, mister, give us a rest!" The bells belong to the Hunshelf Secondary Modern School, Chapletown, near Sheffield. Originally bought secondhand in 1902 by the Ecclesfield village ringers, they were replaced in the 1920s by a newer set. One of their last big appearances with this team was at the last Belle Vue, Manchester, handbell ringing contest.

In 1933 they were loaned to the new grammar school, built at Ecclesfield, and a team of staff and pupils was tried. With one or two short breaks, the bells were in use until 1961, when so bad was their condition that the then Grammar School team began to use the village team's "newer" set, which had recently been renovated by Mears and Stainbank.

The old set were then "laid to rest" in a box in a dark cupboard until October, 1964, when I approached Mr. G. Mitchell, science master at the Grammar School, and also leader of the Ecclesfield village ringers, with a view to using some of the old bells at my school, then at High Green. Permission was given and 10 volunteers were found and a slow start was made to introduce tune ringing into the school.

The school moved to new premises in February, 1965, and gradually the bells came more and more into use. Practices began in earnest in September, 1965, and the bells "reappeared" in public prior to Christmas, 1965, at a school concert, after a break of nearly five years. The Wentworth handbell ringers also used the bells that year.

CLIMB TO FAME

Last May the "climb-to-fame" for the team and bells really began. The school's newly-formed dramatic society was putting on two half-hour plays and the handbell ringers were asked to provide a musical interlude. This they did with relish, with the audience joining in the chorus of "Ilkla' Moor." With this came a front-page photograph in a local newspaper, and invitations to two garden parties at Ranmoor, Sheffield, and Elsecar, near Barnsley. The old bells travelled with the Ecclesfield village handbell ringers to the rally at Hazel Grove. Although the old bells, only 35 in number, couldn't compare with the 170 bells of the Ecclesfield set, they gave as good an account as other bells at the rally, despite the fact that about 15 of them looked like hospital cases with "Elastoplast" around their aging handles. A clapper of one of the bells fell out just before the start and so part of a Hazel Grove tree branch was placed in to act as a temporary clapper staple!

CIVIC INVITATION

After the rally, one of the bells, 20E, which had been cracked through old age and over use, was sent with three of her companions to Taylors to be recast. Back she came after a two-week absence. Practices could now restart properly as during the absence of these bells, an invitation had come from the Sheffield newspapers, acting on behalf of the Sheffield City Council, for the team to ring during the opening of the Christmas lights on the steps of the City Hall on December 1st. The invitation was accepted and the resulting publicity of photos and interviews duly took place.

The night was extremely windy and cold as the team braved the elements, in the presence of a crowd of 10,000 and the Lord Mayor. The sound of the bells was relayed by microphone. Afterwards the ringers went with the official party on a coach tour of the lights.

December was a very busy month. Practically every dinner-time the bells were rung for about 30 minutes at practices for engagements undertaken on December 14th, 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th. These included a Red Cross concert at a Working Men's Club, the school concert and a church carol service at Walkley, Sheffield, a truly arduous time for a team of six girls and six boys, all aged about 14 or 15 years.

AND TWO WERE LOST

Twenty one bells from the set were in action on December 22nd at a practice by the Wentworth handbell ringers. Two days later, after being recorded, they were taken into various houses of the village on a Christmas Eve tour. Rapturously received at one of the public houses, they were then carried into the village's second pub. Oh! but tragedy! Two of the bells were removed from the tables and, although the police were informed and appeals made in two local weekly papers, they are still missing. Fortunately two spare bells from Rawmarsh enabled the Wentworth ringers to complete the second half of their tour and so help to raise £16 16s. 6d. for Christian Aid, the Handbells Restoration Fund and the Parish Church's Belfry Fund.

The bells were also heard at the Wentworth choral service on New Year's Day.

What of the future? The school has started its own restoration fund to raise the £60 or more needed to renovate the set. An extra £20 will be needed to replace the two bells, unfortunately lost by the sour deed of some drunken joker.

In 1967, the set will get hammered no doubt. Twenty volunteers want to learn before Easter. Some of them will replace Easter leavers in the team. After the summer break, what then? Hunshelf School is to be amalgamated with the neighbouring Grammar School to form a 1,750 pupil comprehensive school. The Grammar School team at present uses the Ecclesfield village team's bells. The new comprehensive school is going to have a rare distinction—on its premises will be two sets of handbells, one of 170 bells, the other of nearly 50 bells. All being well, both sets will be in good condition, and no doubt at least two school teams and probably two village teams will be using them.

Footnotes to the peal at Nazeing (page 26) should read: First of Minor P. M. F. Searles; first in two methods P. Owen.

The bells of St. Edward's, Leek, Staffs, have been to Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and are to be rehung.

A four-day conference on "Acoustic Noise and its Control" is being held at the Institute of Physics and the Physical Society in London. It started on January 23rd.

Miss Hazel Day informs us that for the Christmas Day broadcast St. Paul's Church, Sketty, band were ringing call changes on eight bells and not six as was inadvertently published.

Members of the Worcestershire and Districts Association will congratulate their librarian, Mr. C. W. Cooper, who is now 80 years of age, on ringing a peal at Clent on December 27th.

A loss to Leicester ringing was the departure on January 4th of Mr. and Mrs. Derek M. Sawyer to Toronto. To cheer them on their journey a peal of Yorkshire Royal was rung at Leicester Cathedral on January 2nd.

Silver wedding bells were rung at Redenhall, Norfolk, for Mr. J. Flatt (the tower captain) and his wife. Mr. Flatt participated in the peal on January 7th; he is now teaching a completely new band.

The peal of Yorkshire S.M. at Holy Trinity, Hull, on December 4th, was not the first peal of Surprise Major on the bells. A peal of Cambridge S. Major was rung there on May 6th, 1950, conducted by George E. Feirn.

The parents of three ringers—Mr. and Mrs. C. Brain and Mr. and Mrs. Smith—received silver wedding compliments in a peal of Triples at Olveston, Gloucestershire. For seven of the band it was their first peal of Triples and for the conductor, Anthony W. Gibbs, his first of Triples as conductor.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Fred Adams, of Staveley, Chesterfield District chairman for over 15 years and now a vice-president of the Derby Diocesan Association, has been suffering recently from a bad attack of fibrositis which has of necessity strictly curtailed his ringing activities for a while at least. However, we gather he is still in good spirits and hopes to be out and about again when the weather gets warmer.

DONATED BY JOHN TAYLOR & CO., LOUGHBOROUGH, LEICESTERSHIRE

SINCERE THANKS

Once again readers are indebted to Mr. R. L. Roper for providing a very comprehensive index to "The Ringing World" of 1966. Mr. Roper has patiently undertaken this task since 1957 and each succeeding year it has grown. After 10 years of labour he pertinently asks if ringers still want an index. Our opinion is that they do; repeatedly, the Editor has found the index of the greatest assistance. Thank you, Mr Roper.

NEW RECORD "ALL THE WORK"

A new record has been set in "all the work" Spliced Surprise Major. On December 11th at Burley Leics, a peal in 19 methods was rung. Norman Smith was the composer and conductor.

FORMER CAPTAIN TRIES OUT NEW BELLS

Ringers in the Tonbridge District and further afield will be delighted to see the name of Bob Collins in the quarter peal columns. Due to awkward working hours and to a long spell of ill-health he has only recently been able to take up ringing again. He cared for the old bells at Sevenoaks as captain and steeplekeeper for many years, and was very glad to be able to take part in a quarter peal on the new bells, with which, like the rest of the local band, he is highly delighted.

LADY IN CHARGE OF HOLY TRINITY, GUILDFORD

In view of the increased demands on his time by being in charge of ringing at Guildford Cathedral, Mr. David Tubbs has resigned the position of conductor at Holy Trinity, Guildford. Appreciation of his service in office for the past three years was expressed at the annual meeting and dinner of Holy Trinity Society on January 9th. Miss Janet Cleeve was elected to succeed him.

Mr. Stanley G. Ponting, the secretary, is also secretary to the Cathedral Society, which has been reorganised. This involves attending at the Cathedral on Sunday mornings. Mr. Ernest Warner offered to relieve Mr. Ponting of certain of the secretarial duties and this was accepted. The Rector (the Rev. Michael Hocking) presided, and his attention was drawn to the unsatisfactory "go" of the bells and the urgent need for attention.

VANCOUVER WEDDING

New Years Eve was a special day for the ringers at Holy Rosary Cathedral, Vancouver, when Delia Barkworth and John Rossi, two popular members, were united in marriage.

Mary Barkworth, another ringer, attended her sister as maid of honour. Bernard Rossi, also an up and coming ringer, played the organ and read the lesson at the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Father Beatch. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barkworth.

Later, the New Year was rung in, in the traditional manner, and was broadcast by the C.B.C., along with the bells of Victoria.

As it is centennial year in Canada, it is hoped there will be some Canadian peals in "The Ringing World."

NORMAN CHADDOCK'S 400th PEAL

On Boxing Day Mr. Norman Chaddock rang his 400th peal, of which number he had conducted 195. It was intended to make the attempt at Sheffield Cathedral but the clapper of the 11th broke on Christmas Eve and the peal was transferred to Rotherham, where 83 of his peals have been rung. Mr. Chaddock rang his first peal (Bob Major) on June 9th, 1934, and in the last 34 years has averaged a peal a month—a slow rate in comparison with many today!

He is indebted to many ringers for opportunities to ring peals and help others. Outstanding among these are Mr John J. L. Gilbert (Sheffield), his brother Herbert, son John and wife Elsie, Messrs. W. E. Critchley (Doncaster), W. F. Moreton and J. Henry Fielden (Halifax), all of whom have impeccable Sunday service ringing records.

Mr. Chaddock writes that his peal total includes 70 of Plain Bob, mostly for first pealers, and the following: Treble Bob (Major, Royal and Maximus), Double Norwich (Major and Caters), St. Clement's, Winchester Bob and Spliced T.B Major, Little Bob (Major Royal and Maximus), Cambridge (Minor Major, Royal and Maximus), Grandsire (Doubles, Triples, Caters and Cinques), Stedman (Doubles, Triples, Caters and Cinques), a variety of Surprise Royal and Maximus methods, peals in 23 different Surprise Major methods, peals of Spliced Surprise Major in 3, 36, 42, 48 and 53 methods (the record for 11 years), peals of Spliced Surprise Major (all the work) in 4, 5 6, 7 and 8 methods, peals of Spliced Surprise Royal in 4, 6, 12, 18, 21, 27, 32 and 42 methods (record), Minor in 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 9 and 15 methods.

HIS 73rd YEAR IN THE CHOIR

Attention was drawn last October by Mr. Raithby to the long record as a chorister of Mr. John Thomas Gascoigne, of 15, Brandon Close, Balderton, Notts. The service then recorded was that at North Muskham (1897-1962) and Balderton (1962-). Mr. Gascoigne now informs us that he started in the choir at Somerton, Oxon, in 1894 and after 2½ years there moved to North Muskham. As he is still in the choir, he has now entered his 73rd year as a chorister. As to ringing, he started to learn in 1897 and rang until 1965. A very good innings!

ELTHAM PEAL OF WELCOME

The peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original) rung to welcome Fr. Lacey to the parish provided John Sims with an opportunity of writing an explanation of the principles of change ringing for the Eltham Church News. There is also an excellent picture of the band, which stood E. Coode 1, Mrs. C. Sims 2, Mrs. B. Coode 3, K. Small 4, G. Clarke (cond.) 5, P. Clarke 6, R Clarke 7, F. Hurrell 8.

RUDDINGTON BAND START PEAL RINGING

After ringing several quarter peals of Bob Triples and Bob Major, the band of St. Peter's, Ruddington, Nottinghamshire, rang their first peal of Bob Triples (at Basford) at the first attempt. This was the first peal on eight by the regular Sunday service team and was the first of Triples for most of the band. They look forward to their first peal of Major in the near future.

"THE BISHOP'S FLOCK" IN LONDON

Tony Bishop's West Country holiday party held its reunion in London on January 7th. Eight London ringers, four from Hampshire and one from Hereford met at the first tower, St. Mary's, Battersea, at 9.45 a.m. We were very pleased that Gillian Lewis was able to make the journey from Hereford.

A fair start was made to the day on Battersea bells, with ringing of Bob Major, Cambridge Major and Stedman Triples. Moving across to East London, where we joined a party from Slough at St George's-in-the-East, Shadwell, the remarkably bright octave was much enjoyed bearing in mind the 6 cwt. tenor. At St. Vedast's, Foster Lane, however, the ringing was not helped by the springy ropes.

After a "pint and a roll" in the Globe at Southwark some of the party went to get the bells up at Rochester Row, while a few remained behind to assist the Slough party at Southwark Cathedral; these arrived at St. Stephen's just in time to hear the last bell being pulled up. Justice, alas, was not done to this fine octave, but a fair course of Cambridge was rung. Thence to St. James', Clerkenwell, where a good course of Yorkshire was rung on the fine Gillett eight.

Touches of Stedman and Double Norwich at Putney and a fair course of Yorkshire on the odd-struck bells at Wimbledon closed the day's ringing and the party then adjourned to Tony and Deborah's flat in Raynes Park to commence arrangements for this year's West Country tour.

"FATHER O'LEARY."

FRONT PAGE HEADING

The Northern District of the Hertford Association are in favour of the old style heading which is now back in use, but thought the new style heading went well with the photographs. Hope was expressed for more of these excellent photographs. We hope to fulfil this wish in issue of February 3rd.

HULL TRAWLER DISASTER

The quarter peal rung at Holy Trinity Church, Kingston-upon-Hull, before Choral Evensong on January 8th was a token of respect to the members of the crew of the Hull Trawler S T. Saint Finbarr, 1,500 tons, who died when their ship exploded and later sank in the fury of the North Atlantic on Christmas Day. Also this month is the anniversary of the loss of the Hull Trawlers S.T. Lorella and S.T. Roderego, in which all 44 men perished.

The quarter peal on January 8th was rung half-muffled on the middle six. It was 1,380 Grandsire Doubles, the ringers being M. Harding 1, H. Pickering 2, J. Singleton 3, F. Reed 4, D. Stipetic (cond.) 5, Miss B. Fletcher 6.

The text books give a very popular and useful quarter peal of Stedman Triples having calls at 7.12 or at 3 8. Both these bring 67 home at each course end Here is another variation of the same quarter peal where the bells ringing plain courses are at the lighter end This may sometimes be expedient where beginners are involved

The fourth is good observation for calling this 1,260 There is always a call as 4 comes out of the slow In the first block (of six courses) the calls at 1 come when 5 is dodging with 4 in 4–5 In the second block (of nine courses) the calls at 1 come immediately after 2314 come home on the lead

The last bob at 1 puts the bells into the plain course. and the succeeding bobs at 6 prolong the touch to make 1,260.

It is possible to vary this touch again by calling the nine-course block first and the six-course block second

COMMENT

POTT SHRIGLEY BELLS

By R. M. W. CLOUSTON

MR. SCHOFIELD'S letter on page 20 asks for comment on the preservation of ancient bells, and this is a matter which will perhaps interest readers generally.

Our parish church and their fittings, which include bells, come under faculty jurisdiction. This means that before any work other than very minor repairs are carried out a faculty has to be applied for and obtained to cover the work. This is granted by the diocesan chancellor after he has obtained the advice of the Diocesan Advisory Committee for the Care of Churches, and he acts in accordance with powers delegated to him by the Bishop. Thus church possessions in a particular parish are not the property of the present parishioners to do what they like with them without diocesan permission.

The Diocesan Advisory Committees, of which there are some 42 in England, are provided with guidance by the Council for the Care of Churches, which is a Standing Committee of the Church Assembly. In the case of church bells a number of resolutions were passed by the Council in 1952. These were revised in 1959 at a meeting held between representatives of the bell founders, the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, and the Council for the Care of Churches, and the resulting agreed statement of policy was published in the 15th Report (1961) of the Council for the Care of Church and reviewed in "The Ringing World" on pages 533–534 of the issue of August 11th, 1961. Two of the eight resolutions read:—

(a) Bells cast before 1550 should not be recast, as all such bells are of archæological importance. Sound bells should be retained in use in the church to which they belong. If of good tone they should be kept in the ring; if musically unsuitable they can be hung as single bells. Bells which are cracked or otherwise incapable of use should be preserved in the church or loaned to a museum.

If, for exceptional reasons, it is desired to recast bells of this early date, the proposal should in each case be referred to the Council. The petitioners will be expected to put forward proposals for the mounting and display in the church of the crown and inscription band of the bell.

(b) Bells dated between 1550 and the middle of the 18th century should not be recast unless cracked. If it is desired, on special grounds, to recast a bell of this period, information should be sought from the Council for the Care of Churches as to the rarity and arcæological value of the bell. This application for advice should be accompanied by a statement of the opinion of the bell founder, as to the musical qualities of the bell. If such bells are allowed to be recast, their inscription should be recast in facsimile on the new bells with the date of recasting added.

Turning now to the particular bells at Pott Shrigley, Cheshire, the writer has not personally examined them. The two trebles were cast at one of the pre-Reformation London bell foundries and bear a shield with the initials R.C. on it. This founder was most probably Richard Crowch, or less likely, Richard Cresswell, and as he was only working in the period 1420 to 1426 approximately, bells bearing this shield are rare.

A list of them is given in "The Church Bells of Essex," page 32, but only one is noted at Pott Shrigley. Allowing for the two bells here the total is 14. There are no others in Cheshire, but they are found as far apart as Bedfordshire, Buckinghamshire, Cornwall, Essex, Hampshire, Kent, London, Northants, Shropshire and Worcestershire.

Another factor is that the Chester Diocese now has very few pre-Reformation bells, in fact one list made before a complete survey of the county had been commenced listed only two others, Bunbury tenor and Handley treble, and since then Mr. Clarke has published an account of the Dodleston fifth.

Mr. Schofield suggests that both the Crowch bells are cracked, but only the treble is reported to be cracked; in this case in the soundbow, most probably caused by clocking, which was still carried out on the other two at least till recently.

The Bramford tenor of 11¼ cwt. cast by Miles Graye I of Colchester in 1632 was similarly cracked, and after a welding repair in Denmark the tone was fully restored. The bell has been rung to a number of peals since rededication and so far the tone has not deteriorated at all.

The British Welding Research Association is working on this problem and has commenced using the Danish technique on bells here which will save the high cost of transport to and from Denmark and the attendant delays with Customs, etc. The Pott Shrigley treble would seem to be a suitable bell for them to repair in due course.

OUR PICTURE

PENRITH BELLS

By G. NELSON

THE town of Penrith is undoubtedly ancient, but it is not known whether of British or Saxon origin. Its market, famous since 1223, was opened and closed by the ringing of a bell. The curfew, rung nightly for about ten minutes at eight o'clock, ended with the requisite number of strokes to indicate the day of the month—a unique survival which ended in 1939.

A likely man to have had a hand in providing Penrith Church with "Gret Belles" worthy of its fine tower would be Bishop William Strickland (1400–1419), who gave to Carlisle Cathedral "Quator Magnas Campanas." "He, descending from a famous family in these parts, did in 1395, at his own charge, draw hither a water-course from the little River Peter. In the year 1552 Penrith had only 'ij gret belles,' one of them the mediæval (Jesu Maria). Did Henry VIII's visitors take the others for 'ye Kinge's use,' as a Mr. Richarde Wasshingstone of Kendal hadd the bell of the poor Penrith ffreers (MS.)."

In 1639 Penrith was the only parish church in the diocese to have a ring of five; change ringing, then in its infancy, must have been introduced by Thomas Stafford. This bellfounder, if not a native of Penrith, resided here for some years, making bells for Cartmel and Kirkby Stephen.

During the time of the Commonwealth the then Presbyterian Vicar of Penrith had no love for bells and allowed them to fall into disuse, the big bell especially causing a great deal of trouble and expense. How many of the five bells were in use at any given time or what sort of system regulated the ringing, it is not easy to say. It was customary in those days for the parishioners to assemble round the Cross, "a tall, narrow building in the centre of the town," where a quantity of ale was consumed and a number of tar barrels burned. On most occasions these were paid for out of church money, viz.:—

"1708. Ale for ringers and treating the soldiers 14s."

In 1745 Penrith, having again undergone the experience of being occupied by an invading army, had a fortnight's rejoicing after the danger to which it had been exposed was passed. Two large chandeliers were purchased with "ye fify guineas given by the most noble William Duke of Portland to his tenants of ye honor of Penrith associated in defence of the Government and town against the rebels."

In 1763 six new bells were cast by Lester and Pack at the cost of £332. Also in that year "a water engine bought by order of the vestry." This was kept in the tower and duty and care of the same was assigned to the bellringers at 15s. per annum to each man. The additions of a new tenor and treble by John Taylor in 1889 made up the fine ring of eight we know today. The best bell to be cast in Penrith was in 1963, made by Mr. G. Nelson and Mr. A. Idle (moulder) to commemorate the bicentenary of the old six.

ROTHERHAM RINGER SEEKS PASTURES NEW

Rotherham ringers gave Mr. John N. D. Chaddock, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Chaddock, a splendid send-off when he left home for a new teaching appointment at a Church of England school at Beverley. At the annual dinner of the Rotherham Parish Church Society, held at the Red Hart Hotel, Blyth, on January 3rd, he was presented with a transistor radio set from the Parish Church ringers. In making the presentation, the Rector, the Rev. G. Hollis, thanked John for his services to the church, which started with seven years as a choir-boy, followed by ten years as a bellringer.

EGGLESTONES' CHRISTMAS BASKET AT HENLEY

WHEN Howard and Margaret Egglestone came to Suffolk from Essex, teaching beginners was their main objective. So hard have they worked in this and all other facets of Guild work that it seemed quite appropriate they should be the organisers of the social! So, what started as their Henley Christmas party (Henley is a village with a young band, six miles from Ipswich) is now very much a Guild affair.

The Christmas, 1966, one was an outstanding success—well over 100 ringers and friends attending, including several from Essex. Henley were aided and abetted by Bramford, and between them a lively evening was the result.

Stan Bloomfield started the evening showing his colour slides of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand and, in the richest dialect, giving an account of his ringing travels.

There were a number of humorous sketches interspersed with the ever-popular "one-man affairs." Lawrence Pizzey (soon to become Reverend, so we made the most of this licence!) imagined himself as political correspondent to "The Times" dealing with such important Bills as the Suffolk Guild and "The Ringing World." Then Patrick Saltmarsh, special guest from the Deep South, took on the role of Old Testament News Reader around Tyre and Sidon.

The buffetings and innuendos that the Guild officers had to grin and bear were softened to some degree by some of the "nicer" items on the programme: delightful songs and piano solos by the Henley girls, followed by Jim Pipe reciting Jonah and the Whale and singing two old favourites. It is quite plain, despite lobbying by our younger long-haired ringers, that Jim is reluctant to get the big beat; bass to Stedman Cinques perhaps—no further!

"New Idea" this year was a Rogues Gallery, devised by Joyce Christian, the Bramford Vicar's good lady. A competition was held to guess 14 different Suffolk ringers from photographs taken when babies. What a hoot!

After the supper a draw with many good prizes concluded the evening. To all those who contributed in any way to the organisation and entertainment, especially the versatile David Derrick and the Henley and Bramford bands, a hearty thank you.

College Youths Renew Cirencester Link

200th Anniversary Peal

THE first peal on the bells of Cirencester Parish Church and the first peal on 12 bells outside London was rung on Wednesday, January 7th, 1767, by members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, who were invited to ring the peal by Mr. Samuel Blackwell, of Williamstrip Park, Coln St. Aldwyn, who was a member of the College Youths and later Member of Parliament for Cirencester Borough.

The peal was one of 5,082 changes of Grandsire Cinques rung in 3 hours and 57 minutes by the following ringers: William Underwood (conductor) treble, James Darquit 2, Thomas Bennett 3, George Meakins 4, William Moss 5, Winstanley Richardson 6, William Mills 7, John Lokes 8, William Scott 9, William Clay 10, Robert Bly 11, Joseph Monk and Thomas Fifield tenor.

To commemorate the 200th anniversary of the event the present band of Cirencester ringers invited the Ancient Society of College Youths to repeat the performance on Saturday, January 7th, 1967. Before the peal, the band, led by Mr. Alan J. Frost, Master of the College Youths, were entertained to lunch by local ringers. Amongst those present were the Vicar of Cirencester (the Rev. Roland Hill), Mr. H. Cooke (tower captain) and Mr. Frank J. Lewis, sen., Cirencester's oldest active ringer, aged 85. On display at the lunch were the handsome oak chair, and ram's horn drinking cup presented to the Cirencester ringers by Mr. Blackwell just before his death in 1785. The drinking horn bears the following inscription on a silver plate: "Prosperity to the Cirencester Ringers, 1785 : In tactum sileo, percute dulce cano," the motto of the College Youths.

The oak chair was occupied during the lunch by Mr. Frost, and later he was the first to drink from the horn, which then circulated among the whole company. This is thought to be the first time the horn, which was recently recovered from the attic of the Vicarage, has been put to its proper use for over 100 years.

In thanking the Cirencester ringers for their hospitality, Mr. Frost spoke of the strong links between the Society and the local ringers, and brought them the good wishes of the Society members everywhere.

The 1967 peal was also one of Grandsire Cinques, 5,015 changes, specially composed for the occasion by the conductor, Mr. Albert M. Tyler, of Bristol, and was rung in 3 hours and 32 minutes by the following: Albert M. Tyler (St. Stephen's, Bristol) treble, Austin T. Wingate (Hereford Cathedral) 2, Andrew N. Stubbs (St. Paul's Cathedral) 3, Cyril A. Wratten (St. Mary's, Cheltenham) 4, D. Kay Adkins (St. Mary's, Whitney) 5, A. Leslie Barry (Gloucester Cathedral) 6, Robert E. J. Dennis (St. Vedast's, City of London) 7, Christopher H. Rogers (St. Paul's Cathedral) 8, Frank Reed (Cirencester Parish Church) 9, Alan J. Frost (St. Paul's Cathedral) 10, Michael P. Moreton (St. Paul's Cathedral) 11, William F. Scudamore (Cirencester Parish Church) tenor.

The peal attempt had been given more than usual advance publicity in the local Press, and the whole of Cirencester town, which is always conscious of its ancient heritage, appreciated the fact that ringers had travelled so far to write another page in its history.

A NEW NORFOLK SIX

Next Sunday (February 5th) a new ring of six at St. Margaret's, Drayton, Norfolk, to replace three poor bells will be hallowed, the ceremony being conducted by Canon Gilbrt Thurlow, president of the Central Council.

The bells were cast and hung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who also supplied the frame castings.

Nearly half the sum of £1,500 has already been raised, and at a Candlelight Dinner-Dance at the Village Hall on January 19th the sum of £160 was raised for the Restoration Fund.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

Elloe Deaneries Branch

At the annual meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch at Spalding on January 15th all the retiring officers were re-elected. (Secretary, Mr. K. R. Davey, as in Ringers' Diary).

It was also decided as an experiment to replace the normal quarterly afternoon and evening meetings with an evening practice, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., to be held on alternate first Saturdays in the month beginning with February. This will enable the Branch to meet in towers often neglected because of the difficulty of arranging a tea, and it is hoped that many new faces will be seen in addition to those who normally attend.

The annual meeting will take place as usual at Spalding in January, 1968.

It was pleasant to hear of new bands being formed, particularly at Moulton. A flourishing practice takes place at Gosberton on Thursday evenings, where many Surprise Minor methods are attempted. E. T. L.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

The annual meeting of the Monmouth Branch was held at Marshfield on January 14th. A gathering of some 60 ringers enjoyed the pleasant ring of bells during the afternoon and evening. The Rev. A. K. James (Vicar) took the service, Brian Neale read the lesson, and M. B. Knowles acted as organist.

Tea was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Neale and helpers, to whom Mr. Richard Stewart voiced the thanks of the company.

The business flowed smoothly, and Mr. Richard Stewart was elected Branch Ringing Master. Fourteen new members were elected, being one from Blaenavon, four from Chepstow, two from St. Woolos, two from St. Mellons, two from Monmouth, and three from Bassaleg—a good start to the year's activities.

The proposed programme of meetings for the year was decided upon, being Caerleon May 13th, Rumney July 8th, and Usk October 14th, with Abergavenny in January next year.

TOWER GRABS OF 1966

Dear Sir,—I understand that Barrie Dove is not compiling the tower grabbers list for 1966. If ringers who have rung in 100 or more new towers during 1966 will they let me know:—

(a) How many new towers they rang in during 1966,

(b) Their total number of towers at the end of 1966,

I will leave what constitutes a tower "grab" to individual consciences.—Yours sincerely,

CHRISTOPHER GROOME.

Cathedral Tablet for St. Martin's Record Peal

THE annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild was held in St. Martin's Hall, Birmingham, on January 7th, with an attendance of about 90 members.

Before commencing the ordinary business of the meeting the Master (Mr. R. C. Ingram) referred to the passing of Percival Richards, a member of the service band at St. Martin's Church. A moment's silence was observed to his memory.

A letter from the secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths was read conveying their congratulations to the Guild upon ringing the record peal of Stedman Cinques at Birmingham Cathedral. Their good wishes were much appreciated. The meeting decided that a tablet should be erected in the Cathedral tower to record this performance, which was a great honour for the Guild.

The Misses Susan Morgan (Packwood), Joyce Hall (Harborne) and Linda Deebank (Coleshill) were elected resident members, and the following tower elections as life members were ratified: R. W. Sherriff (Southam), A. J. Cox (Kenilworth), P. C. Randall (Warwick), N. Thomson (Wallington), D. P. Hilling (Slough), Miss A. M. Sparshott, P. S. Reading and Miss S. E. Jones (Kenilworth).

Satisfaction with the present officers of the Guild was shown by their re-election for 1967, as follows: Master, Mr. Richard C. Ingram; Ringing Master, Mr. J. Alan Ainsworth; trustees, Messrs. S. O'C. Holloway and Bryan A. D. Woolley; auditors, Messrs. Henry H Fearn and S. O'C. Holloway; librarian, Mr. W. G. Chaplin; hon. secretary and treasurer, George E. Fearn.

Notice of motion was given that at the next annual meeting a proposal to increase the annual subscription would be presented, the proposer pointing out that although the Guild's finances appeared to be in a healthy state, considerable expenditure was urgently necessary. A new bookcase was required to house the volumes of "The Ringing World," also a fireproof cupboard in which to keep the peal books.

The ringers of Solihull Church invited the Guild to hold the next meeting at Solihull on April 8th, an invitation which was gratefully accepted.

The Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner will be held on March 4th, and Canon Gilbert Thurlow will preside.

The striking competition will be held at Yardley on October 14th. A small sub-committee was formed to examine the rules for the competition and, if necessary, offer suggestions for alterations at the next quarterly meeting

Portions of the long peal of Stedman Cinques, including the start and finish, have been recorded, and will be on sale shortly.

ANOTHER LADIES' PEAL

Bath and Wells ladies are in the news again. Miss Marjorie Legg reports a ladies' peal, which she conducted, at Locking on January 14th. It was five methods of Doubles—the most ever rung by a ladies' band for the Association.

Looking Back on the Six-Bell Scene

DEVON IN 1966

DOMINATING the competition-ringing world in Devon, the County Six-Bell competition, with its northern and southern semi-finals and its final between the six leaders of each half, is undoubtedly the ultimate goal of every ambitious call change band. During the last 13 years two bands have dominated the Devon Six-Bell—West Down and Down St Mary. West Down have won the George Facey Shield no less than eight times since 1953, and they won it last year at St. Budeaux from Talaton, a band which does not generally reach quite these heights but which on this occasion beat Down St. Mary into third place. West Down rang in ten competitions in 1966—not a very great number by the standard of some bands; they won six of these, and in the other four had one second and three thirds. Their highest marking was 34 at Dolton—but it was good enough to give them the Shield there. Their lowest was a winning 11 at Bishop's Tawton. Only three bands have beaten them, their old rivals, Down St. Mary at Swymbridge and Witheridge, the Swymbridge band at Northam and Bickleigh, and Plymstock at Swymbridge. Swymbridge ringers have always been among the unpredictable bands of Devon. In the North v. South competition at Clawton a few years ago their first peal was the worst of the day and their second was the best. In many competitions they seem no threat to the leaders, but when they hit their form they can ring superbly.

One of the most remarkable things about West Down's achievement was the fact that in only three of these events did they have a practice on the bells beforehand; normally the tower is closed for teams competing a fortnight before the day of the competition, but competing teams try to get there before that time to try the bells. West Down trust their ability to find the measure of any bells without previous practice and in fact on two of the occasions when they did have previous practice on the bells they were beaten.

Down St. Mary are a much more travelled band. They competed 21 times for eleven first, five seconds and four thirds, were never below third place, and have a most impressive collection of silverware—five shields, five cups and a rose bowl Their poorest marking was a 49 in the heavily-marked event at Dolton, where they came third; their best was 12¼ at Diptford, which oddly enough gained them only third place. This was Beric Bartlett's invitation competition, and the standard was very high, as we shall see when we discuss the winners.

Thanks perhaps to their willingness to travel and their central position in the county, which makes travelling easier, Down St. Mary are probably the best-known band in Devon, and I strongly suspect that if you asked 100 people in Devon villages who the Wright brothers are they'd say without hesitation that they ring treble and tenor for Down St. Mary.

North Devon has had an ascendancy over the South for many years now; it's never been very much, but it's always there. It's very seldom that the six-bell shield goes to South Devon, and some years they've had no one in the first three. John Hine's band at Plymstock is certainly the one which the North has most reason to fear, and they have had a good season with 15 competitions, out of which they had eight firsts, three seconds, three thirds and one fourth. Their average marking came to 22 1/3rd faults per peal, compared with West Down's 24 and Mary-Down's 26 1/3rd, but this may not be a fair comparison. It is certainly held by the North Devon ringers that judges in the South are more lenient, and this is partly borne out by the fact that it was on a sally into North Devon that Plymstock had their heaviest marking—44¼ at Witheridge. However, against that one must set the notable achievement of tying with Down St. Mary to beat West Down at Swymbridge with a fine peal with 17¼. Their best peal of the year, which beat Down St. Mary, was the one which won Beric Bartlett's competition at Diptford with 9¼. In the Devon Six-Bell at St. Budeaux they came fourth.

Perhaps most notable among the rising bands of the county is Meavy. This little village, clustering round its incredibly ancient oak in the foothills of Dartmoor, has brought both its two bands into the county reckoning this year, and I heard them do some very fine ringing when they were at Dolton. Whether they will be able to surmount the last barrier, which, like the four-minute mile and the even-time 100 yards, seems to lie between the very good and the outstanding, remains to be seen. There are plenty of bands which with real keenness and pots of practice can turn in peals with between 30 and 40 faults; it's the getting into the 'teens that takes something extra. If I knew what that something was I'd be the most sought-after ringer in Devon

Frome Branch A.G.M.

St John's Church, Midsomer Norton, was the venue for the Frome Branch annual general meeting on January 14th. Due to a long meeting agenda the service was held half an hour earlier, to the consternation of those who do not take "The Ringing World" (shame!) and at least one who does.

Tea was provided by Jackie Purnell and a host of willing helpers, and the meeting that followed was every bit as long as had been anticipated All serving officers were re-elected as were vice-presidents and the chairman, the Rev. A. V. Durston. Special thanks were accorded to the secretary, Ted Chivers, for working so hard all the year and providing an interesting report and balance sheet, both of which were adopted. David Robertson had to give up being Press correspondent due to the pressure of other activities, and Max Heymann is his successor.

John Gilbert was proposed as the Branch nomination for general secretary when Gwyllym Salmon gives up in March, and John's request for members' views on training courses was read. Interested members should advise the secretary.

A proposal that ran into trouble was that wreaths be bought for practising members who died, and as a conscience salver the secretary was instructed to write letters of condolence to the bereaved. From this innocent beginning, which highlighted a serious lack of funds, came the first rumblings of what might well be a move to propose an increased subscription for the Bath and Wells.

The Branch, having already proposed that annual reports be in members' hands before the annual general meeting, now reinforced their previous resolution with a request that the Executive Committee consider bringing the date of the end of the financial year forward, thus enabling secretaries to render their returns earlier.

Special reference was made to three peals rung during the year—one of Grandsire included the Rev. Mr. Durston and was conducted by his daughter, Jennifer; one of Spliced Surprise Minor by Chilcompton Sunday service band; and one of seven Surprise Minor, which was John Maggs' first peal. The Branch lost three members but gained 13 during the year, which is a healthy sign. Ringing was resumed after the meeting and produced amongst other things some Little Bob Major, Grandsire and Bristol, none of which came round, and some Stedman and London which did.

NORTHERN DISTRICT'S CONFIDENCE

At the annual meeting of the Northern District at Hitchin on January 7th the secretary (Mr. C. M. Orme) spoke confidently of future ringing in the District as there appeared to be a fresh crop of youngsters learning "the ropes." All the evening meetings last year had been well attended, but more support was required for the quarterly afternoon meetings.

It was decided that as the monthly meeting at Norton had received such little support these bells would be rung for a quarter peal once a month under the directions of the Ringing Master, M J. Trigg. This would give all towers in the District a chance to allow their members to partake and Mr. Trigg requested ringers wishing to ring in them to contact him.

Officers elected for 1967 were: Secretary, C. M. Orme; Ringing Master, M. J. Trigg; assistant, A. R. Agg; press representative, Mrs. J. K. Orme; General Committee, Messrs. E. G. Buck and J. R. Castledine; District Committee, Messrs. D. Taplin, C. Worboys, A. R. Agg, M. J Trigg; trustees, Messrs. A. C. Harris and J S. Dear.

The Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Meredith) presided and conducted the service, and an excellent buffet tea was arranged by Mrs. Agg and helpers.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Bingham District Annual Meeting

Bingham District held its fifth annual meeting at St. Mary's, Radcliffe-on-Trent, on January 14th. Ringing before the service was a learner's paradise but the experts rang the service touch. The Vicar (the Rev. G. L. Halsey) conducted the service, which was followed by tea—the excellent meal prepared by local ladies being enjoyed by a company of over 50.

At the business meeting new members elected were Mr. A. Haines (Radcliffe) and the Misses S. Anthony and R Bellaby (Gedling). The chairman, Mr. D. Clarke, and the District secretary, Miss R. Blackshaw, were both re-elected. In future the District is to have three Ringing Masters and these are Messrs. D. Stainsby, R. D. Marsh and M. W. Harrison, who was also elected to the committee.

The chairman gave a special welcome to Mr. J. Dawson (Gedling) after his recent illness. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Buswell, and the collection for the Bell Repair Fund amounted to £3.

The attendance exceeded 70 for the evening ringing.

Next meeting: Hickling, March 11th.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Exeter Branch A.G.M.

The annual meeting of the Exeter Branch was held at Heavitree Parish Church, when 25 members and visitors attended. After touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Little Bob Major, a service was conducted by the Vicar, Prebendary E. Royle. During the service a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by N. Mallett, J. Longridge, R. Pargetter and C. Bryant.

Tea and the business meeting followed, when the following were re-elected: Chairman, Mr. F Wreford; secretary and treasurer, G. Skinner; Ringing Master, Mr. N. Mallett. It was decided to hold Branch meetings at Bramford Speke, Upton Pyne and Newton St. Cyres during the coming year, with monthly Branch practices and a visit to each of the silent towers in the Branch for Sunday service ringing.

Further ringing then took place at the Cathedral with touches of Grandsire Caters, Grandsire and Erin Cinques and Cambridge Surprise Major.

Letters to the Editor

12-BELL PEALS BY ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

Dear Sir,—Mr. Barry Corbishley is one of, I believe, a very small minority of ringers who chooses to denigrate the achievement of members of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham in successfully completing four peals of Londinium Surprise Maximus over a comparatively short period, the details being published in the issue of December 30th last. He comments that they were rung by nearly the same band but the facts suggest otherwise—a total of 17 ringers from the Birmingham band and one visitor took part; each peal was called by a different conductor; three compositions were employed, all of which used four or five short courses.

This does not indicate the static position implied by Mr. Corbishley. Anyone who knows the problem of organising a Maximus band will appreciate that to ring these peals with this large number of ringers from one area is an achievement in itself, involving considerable long-term planning and training. One of the peals was rung on the noble, heavy but rather awkward to handle 12 at Worcester Cathedral, when ringing of the very highest standard was achieved, as many of the numerous listeners would testify.

I am sure that no member of the St. Martin's Guild belittles the performance of any band simply on account of the number of bells on which they ring.—Yours faithfully,

J. A. AINSWORTH.

SPEED OF HANDBELLS IN TUNE RINGING

Dear Sir,—Mr. G. M. Cox's account of the Knowle handbell ringers is most interesting (page 37, January 20th, 1967).

To answer the point about the speed of ringing handbells, surely there is no hard and fast rule whatsoever. The speed depends on the tune, e.g. "English Country Gardens"—fast, lively ringing; "Silent Night"—slow, "quiet" ringing.

Another factor is the number of bells involved. A full set of 50 plus handbells with four plus bells at a time playing intricate harmony should be rung fairly steadily, if possible, but again the music dictates (also the ability of ringers to ring heavy handbells quickly).

What Mr. Cox and Mr. Kedge ought to do is to see other handbell teams in action, preferably at the October rally of handbell ringers being held at Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar School, then they would see teams of from three to fourteen players and using from 12 to 170 bells. From their observations I think then they would quite clearly see that there is no hard and fast rule.

If, however, this fails, then I suggest that the Knowle team tackles two tunes of differing beats and speeds and rings them before an audience. If both are rung well, I don't think an appreciative audience will clap more loudly for either tune. I myself with my school team at Hunslett, Chapeltown, have embarked on a programme of differing tunes, these being versions of "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Winchester Cathedral," "Summertime" (Gershwin) and "Morning Town Ride." How they will work is anyone's guess! But only by contrasting tunes can handbells be rung to their full capabilities, whether slowly or quickly.—Yours faithfully,

MICHAEL KING.

Wentworth, Yorks.

LEST WE FORGET!

Dear Sir,—It is interesting to see that Mr. Tubb is quoting "Berkeley, Glos" under his recent epistles. To the uninformed, this is his place of employment—he lives at Filton, Bristol. Still, I suppose it does make a refreshing change to think that he has managed to get his own name right this time. A year ago his acrimonious correspondence was published under the pseudonym "Plain Hunt."

Mr. Tubb seems to possess a rather short memory or is screaming a little belatedly over the Bristol Society. He appears to have forgotten that he rang a peal of Stedman Triples at St. George's, Bristol East, on Good Friday, 1966, which was accredited to the Bristol Society with his full knowledge and consent. After the peal each person, including Mr. Tubb, donated one shilling, which was given to the Vicar for the tower rope fund. He either entered blindly into something without first finding out what he was letting himself in for, or he agreed at the time and has later turned sour. I think I can say without much doubt that the latter is more accurate.

Since Mr. Tubb seems so interested in who the officers are I suggest he condescends to emerge from hiding and spend a little of his spare time in supporting Bristol ringing functions—he would then be able to meet them in person.—Yours faithfully,

D. J. HUNT.

Brislington, Bristol.

CONGRATULATIONS

Dear Sir,—May I congratulate the band who rang the 10,032 Plain Bob Maximus on Christmas Eve. To put the record straight, I must remind R. B. S. that a handbell peal of 5,376 Kent Maximus was rung at Hampton, Evesham, on November 21st, 1923, in 3 hours and 20 minutes, which was composed by Arthur Knights and conducted by Joseph D. Johnson. The bells were size 20 in E.—Yours faithfully,

G. J. HENNING.

Evesham.

Note.—Also to send congratulations is William Shepherd, of Addlestone, who took part in 14,031 Stedman Caters in 7 Hours and 3 minutes on June 1st, 1912; 19,738 Stedman Caters in 9 hours and 32 minutes on August 31st, 1912; and 13,139 Grandsire Caters in 6 hours and 34 minutes at Bournemouth on January 31st, 1953.—Ed.

CHRISTCHURCH CATHEDRAL, N.Z.

Dear Sir,—I have just received from my New Zealand friends, Nelson and Rita Sloan, a most delightful gift in the form of a book entitled "Bobs and Singles at Christchurch Cathedral, New Zealand." The book contains the history of the Christchurch Cathedral Society of Bell Ringers. I understand that 500 copies have been printed and it will shortly be advertised in "The Ringing World."

I would like to take this opportunity of congratulating Mrs. Patricia Ward, the writer of this excellent work, and thank her and all other members of the Cathedral Society who have helped to make it possible for the book to be made available to the Exercise.—Yours sincerely,

NORMAN V. HARDING.

King's Lynn.

"PETER" OF EXETER AND LLANDAFF

Dear Sir,—It was suggested that I might like to comment on the story that five of the Exeter bells were exchanged for "Peter" in 1484. It seems to be a very old story and like most old stories probably contains some element of truth; I think that there may have been some such transaction but I can't see how it can have concerned "Peter" as a complete bell.

The inscription on the bell of 1484, repeated by Purdue in the 1676 recasting, is:—

Plebs Patriae Plaudit dum Petrum Plenius Audit.

Ex Dono Petri Courtenay Episcopi Exon Anno Dom 1484.

Now if the bell came from Llandaff in 1484, how can it have been a new bell in 1484, as the inscription implies? Moreover, the Latin rhyme is one which is almost exactly the same as one very frequently used by the Exeter founders from about 1440 until the Reformation, for it was one of their "stock" inscriptions. This being so, I have no doubt at all that the bell was cast in Exeter, and it may not be a coincidence that the Exeter founder of that time, Robert Russell, was Mayor the the city the following year.

But the Cathedral Fabric Rolls contain entries from 1329 onwards referring to a bell called "Peter," and I can hardly believe that the foundation dedicated to St. Peter can have gone on for over 400 years without a bell named after its patron saint, and that one of the biggest.

It seem, then, that Russell recast "Peter" in 1484 from an older bell; but it is not unlikely that some exchange was made with Llandaff involving extra metal to make him bigger, and that Bishop Courtenay may have made the Llandaff metal part of his contribution to the work.

Until the last century, incidentally, the name "Great Peter" was never used. He was either "Peter" or "The Peter Bell." The name "Great Peter" properly belongs to York Minster.

The new cover design is first-rate; to put the old heading above these excellent pictures would ruin them.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN G. G. SCOTT.

Newton St. Cyres.

"A GREAT PERFORMANCE"

Dear Sir,—I write to congratulate Mr. Peake and his band on their brilliant achievement in ringing the peal of 150 Surprise Major methods.

When we rang the peal of 148 Minor methods at Ashbocking in July we certainly expected our record to be beaten in a short while but I am quite sure that nobody expected a Major band to pass our total.

Yes, a great performance and one which reflects great credit on Mr. Peake for the obvious enthusiasm and hard work he has put into these peals.—Yours sincerely,

HOWARD W. EGGLESTONE.

Henley, Suffolk.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

The A.G.M. of the Syston District was held at Syston on January 14th, attendance being 74. Ringing on the eight bells preceded the service, which was from the Guild's proposed service booklet. The Vicar (the Rev. C. Wall) officiated. Tea was taken in the Red Cross Hall.

Opening the business meeting the chairman (Mr J M Morley) thanked the Vicar, Mr. Holmes (the organist) and the ladies who had prepared tea. He was sorry to hear that Mr. E. F. Payne had retired from being Ringing Master of the Syston tower, but was pleased that his son had taken over the post.

The secretary (Mr. F. W. Faulkner) reported that in 1966 there had been 37 new members elected (10 adults, 27 juniors); paid up members were 82 (69 adults, 13 juniors). The average attendance at Saturday meetings was 39, and for evening practice meetings 27. He hoped that the ringers would help the learners as much as possible.

The Ringing Master (Mr. B. S. Payne) reported that the accent at meetings had been on assisting learners and therefore "rounds" played a prominent part. The more experienced ringers have been very helpful in this, and the large number of new members this year shows that it has all been worthwhile. He had noticed, however, a tendency to ring the handstroke lead too quickly and then an attempted correction by holding up the backstroke, which was the wrong way. Good rounds were not easy to ring. Method ringers should avoid the temptation to regard rounds as an unimportant preliminary. If the correct beat was not established the change ringing would not be good. He urged conductors not to call "Go" until good rounds were achieved.

There seemed to be a lack of conductors in the District and perhaps an afternoon session could be arranged for advancing conducting. There was a temptation to leave all the conducting in a tower to one person. They should not be satisfied until every member of the band could call something.

Triples: Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, St. Edmundsbury.

Officers elected for 1967 were: Chairman, J. M. Morley; secretary, F. W. Faulkner; committee, M. E. White and D. Lowe; Ringing Master, R. A Clarke; Deputy Ringing Master, Miss J. H. Cox.

Thanks to the chairman and secretary were proposed by Mr. B. S. Payne, and Mrs. Smalley thanked the ladies who had prepared tea.

OBITUARY

MR. ALBERT BATES

The death took place at Farningham, Kent, on December 30th, after a short illness, of Mr. Albert Bates, one of the oldest members of the Kent County Association, at the age of 81.

Mr. Bates never hit the headlines in "The Ringing World," but he gave a lifetime of service to Farningham and Eynsford towers. He probably learned to ring at Eynsford as a boy, when they had a ring of six, with a band who, at the end of the last century, taught themselves to ring from scratch and who become proficient ringers in the plain methods. With the addition of a new treble to the then ring of five at Farningham in 1903, he took charge of the tower and with varying degrees of success maintained a band there ever since.

For most of his working life Mr. Bates was a gardener and a chauffeur and, apart from service in the Royal Naval Air Service and the Royal Air Force in World War I, he lived at Farningham all his life. A quiet, self-effacing man, he wasa familiar figure at meetings of the Lewisham District, to which he would often bring his set of ancient cup handbells with boxwood clappers, which taxed the ingenuity of competent handbell ringers on many occasions.

His peals, all in the plain methods, were not many—he may have rung one or two at Dartford, where a brother of his (killed in an accident about 1930) was a ringer, the remainder being at Farningham, Eynsford or Shoreham. Our sympathy is extended to his widow and to his daughter, Mrs. Scott, whom he taught to ring at Farningham. E. B.

MR. FREDERICK C. BOREHAM

Lavenham has lost yet another of its ringers by the sudden death of Mr. Frederick Charles Borcham on January 16th.

Fred learned to ring during World War I and had rung regularly at Lavenham tower till a few weeks before his death. To coincide with the deceased's age the tenor bell was rung 67 times, and at the burial service, which took place at Lavenham Church on January 22nd, 20 ringers were present, including M T. Symonds (Ringing Master) of the local company, and Miss E. Cansdale, District secretary. In the evening touches of Plain Bob, Kent and Grandsire Triples were rung on the tower bells with half-muffled clappers as a last mark of respect. M. T. S.

BISHOP HARVEY

The bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, were rung half-muffled for the burial service of the Rt. Rev. T. A. Harvey, former Bishop of Waterford and Dean of St. Patrick's (1933–35), who died on Christmas Day.

As a student at Dublin University in the 1900's he was capped for Ireland at rugby, cricket and athletics and had the enviable distinction of having caught and bowled Dr. W. G. Grace.

MR. C. E. RICHINGS

We regret to record the death on January 10th of Mr. Charles Edward Richings, who was tower captain at Leckhampton, Glos, for nearly 20 years. He had been in poor health for just over a year but continued to ring as his health permitted, having been in church on the Sunday evening previous to his death.

Mr. Richings was well known locally and, though not a prolific peal ringer, had served Leckhampton Church faithfully for very many years.

At his funeral service at Leckhampton on January 13th the bells were rung half-muffled by ringers from his own tower and from Badgeworth, Charlton Kings and Cheltenham Parish Church. Past and present members of Leckhampton tower rang a memorial quarter peal on the same evening.

MR. HAROLD WHITE

A member of a well-known ringing family, Mr. Harold White, of Basingstoke, died on December 30th at his home in Worting Road. He enjoyed Christmas thoroughly, but on December 30th he decided to have a day in bed and passed away the same evening.

Harold was the only son of Mr. Henry White, who was well known in the Winchester Guild and one of the founder members of the Central Council He had four sisters, Alice, Dora, Nellie and Delia; the first two became famous for their peals in the 1890's. Harold was progressing with ringing but was called up in the first world war, and he lost his father in 1918. He served in the Post Office but did little ringing, and probably his last visit to a tower was to have a ring at Guildford Cathedral. Our sincere sympathy goes to his widow, Mrs. Eileen White, and his two children, Sheila and John. W. S.

MR. SIDNEY PROCTOR

The band at St. Wulfram's, Grantham, has lost another of its older members with the death on January 13th of Mr. Sidney Proctor at the age of 78

When I joined St. Wulfram's band in 1937 I quickly formed the impression that I would never completely measure up to Sidney's exacting standards, the acme of which appeared to be the mastery and perfect striking of Stedman Triples and Caters In ringing under his leadership the reward in having taken part in a well-struck touch was found not only in the personal and collective achievement, but in Sidney's quiet but obvious pleasure.

In recent years his activities had been curtailed but his brain was as active as ever. The last time he rang was at a quarterly meeting at Heydour in July, 1965, when he conducted a near-perfect 252 of Stedman Triples from the 2nd after a lapse from ringing of six or seven years.

It is interesting to note that although his main interest was in Grandsire and, to a greater degree, Stedman, he was mentioned by the late Ernest Morris in his work "The History and Art of Change Ringing" in connection with a Surprise method. He also took part on December 28th, 1929, in the first peal of Maximus at Lincoln Cathedral. This peal of Cambridge Surprise was the first of Maximus for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and was conducted by that legendary figure the Rev. H. Law-James. Sidney's peal total was roughly 100, of which he conducted 50 or so.

A quarter peal of 1,241 Grandsire Caters was rung on the half-muffled bells of St. Wulfram's, Grantham, to his memory on January 19th by the following: D. A. Frith (conductor) 1, V. P. Evans 2, G. Vinters 3, Mrs. H. Ketteringham 4, F W. Pinchbeck 5, T. A. Relf 6, J. R. Holmes 7, H. L. Squires 8, H. R. Woods 9, K Ketteringham 10.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

An enjoyable nomination meeting was held on January 14th, with ringing at St. Giles', Camberwell, and St. John's, Deptford. The hospitality of the local company at Camberwell was very greatly appreciated.

At the well-attended business meeting, nominations for the officers for the coming year were: Masters, H. W. Rogers and C. M. Meyer; Deputy Master, D. Hewitt; hon treasurer, W. G. Wilson; hon. secretary, Miss V. E. Dupré; assistant secretary No. 1, L. Way; assistant secretary No 2, C Dalton; senior steward, A. F. Udall; junior steward, Miss J. Spurgeon; trustees, J. H. Lott and C. A. Hughes.

The election of new members included the Misses Rosemary Cotton, Ann Griffith and Jennifer Murphy. Messrs. John Bull, Jeremy R. Pratt and Alan J. Taylor.

Our thanks to the incumbents of both towers and to Mr. and Mrs. Oakley and Miss C. Jones for their excellent hospitality.

Some New Touches of Grandsire Doubles

By ANTHONY P SMITH

In spite of the fact that much Grandsire Doubles is rung, there are very few different touches called. This is a pity, because Grandsire has a large number of touches of varying length even in the Doubles stage.

This collection is the result of a complete analysis of the touches in the method. No originality is claimed for any of the touches. Even-length touches can be called starting from any lead giving a total of 83 different touches.

PLAIN HUNTING IN CRAVEN

EARLY in 1966 the Western District of the Yorkshire Association debated the proposal that evening practice meetings be held with the primary aim of encouraging learners and providing them with opportunities for advancement.

Ringing Masters reading this will probably smile cynically and mutter "Yes, and I wonder how many turned up!" In fact the first practice meeting held at St. Matthew's, Holbeck, would fully justify such cynicism.

However, the immediately following September quarterly meeting was, as it so happened, at Skipton, and the dismal tale of the Holbeck disappointment was recounted. Imagine the reactions of the officers organising the practice meetings when members from the Craven area expressed a keen desire for such practices to be held.

The scene now moves to Kildwick (a lively eight midway between Keighley and Skipton, and the date to early October. Approximately 30 ringers fill the tower and the night calm is rent by plain hunting, call changes plus Plain Bob and Stedman. The standard of striking is less than desirable, but the enthusiasm apparent compensates.

November came and with it a practice at Ilkley. Progress was discernible in the standard of the ringing and also in an extended vocabulary of methods. One felt Jasper Snowdon would have approved.

The most recent practice, held on the fine-toned eight at Skipton fully confirmed the decision to hold these meetings. As well attended as many quarterly meetings, both by learners and the more experienced, an evening of solid ringing took place. As far as one can see, and hope, these monthly practices are likely to become a permanent feature in the Skipton area. Naturally the success of these is very much a joint affair—the core of experienced ringers which has made these possible must be enlarged and one hopes that increasing numbers of learners will come along.

Presumably one should try and seek a moral in this story? Several spring to mind from "taking a horse to water . . ." to Doctor Johnson's definition of a second marriage "the triumph of hope over experience"!

However, perhaps the important factor is that whilst many ringers may "need" help, it is only with those that "want" help that ventures of this sort can become a success.

SUFFOLK GUILD

N.W. District

The N.W. Suffolk ringers met at Barrow on January 14th and were warmly welcomed by the Rector and Mr. Rawlings, a ringer and churchwarden. Mr. John Underwood, the new District Ringing Master, had a band of young recruits from Barrow with him and three were made members of the Guild. The service was taken by the Rector, who gave a most appropriate address. Tea was served in the Church Room, for which Mr. Rawlings and his helpers were thanked. This was followed by tunes on handbells by Mr. Rawlings and his team and Plain Bob Major by Messrs. A. Balham, J. Underwood, George Pipe and Andrew Beckworth.

At the quarterly meeting, with Mr. C. Hancock in the chair, Mr. George Pipe, the Guild Master, spoke appreciatively of the work done in this sparsely populated district, and Mr. Andrew Beckwith, Guild secretary, also spoke.

Members were reminded that the Suffolk striking competition will be at Horringer on May 6th.

February meeting at Rougham, and that for March at Lakenheath.

BELFRY GOSSIP

After 46 years in the electricity industry Mr. G. E. Fearn, the secretary of the St. Martin's Guild, has retired.

Mr. Robert E. Harding writes correcting Kent friends. Elstree is in Hertfordshire and the weight of the tenor is 6 cwt. 1 qr. 26 lb. in C.

The dinner in celebration of the 90th anniversary of the founding of the Durham and Newcastle Association will take place at St. Aidan's College, Durham, in September.

Details of a quarter peal rung in the Exeter area was recently sent to the local newspaper stating that the preformance was by the local band. The news item was headed "Local Bandsmen Ring Quarter Peal."

The quarter peal at Beaconsfield to honour the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wingrove was rung following a peal attempt breaking down after an hour's ringing. The band was afterwards entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. Wingrove.

One of our Lancashire correspondents desires to make the following peal corrections (page 48, column 2): Standish peal, Keith Livsey should read Keith Lister; Farnworth peal, Roy Collier should read Roy Jolley. Apologies to all concerned.

Chiddingfold handbell ringers collected £16 10s. for the Lifeboat Institute over Christmas.

Mr. Ernest J. Rowe, of Tottenham, has now rung in all the possible towers in Kent. (Special information for the Rev. P. N. Bond and Mr. Ian Oram.)

The peal rung at St. Margaret's, King's Lynn, on September 8th, 1955, and referred to on page 42, was Grandsire Caters by Frank Lufkin, and not as stated, writes Mr. Norman V. Harding.

Mr. J. H Musson received congratulations from the Rector for some fine ringing in a peal at Horbling on December 27th. The band contained two first attempts and a first "inside."

At St. Ebbe's, Oxford, on January 5th, Mr. William Birmingham rang his 50th different Surprise Major method (Quornden) to a peal and his 350th for the Oxford Diocesan Association.

Correction to peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Wellington, Somerset, on December 10th (page 9). The footnote should read: First peal on eight bells for ringers of 2, 3, 4, 7, 8. First peal of Major 5, 6.

A BEACONSFIELD GOLDEN WEDDING

On January 11th Mr. Henry Wingrove, foreman at St. Mary and All Saints' Church, Beaconsfield, and his wife celebrated their golden wedding They were married at Holy Trinity Church, Kilburn, in 1917.

Harry was born 73 years ago of an old Beaconsfield family, whose history he can trace back for 500 years. As a boy he sang in the Parish Church choir and on leaving the choir he learned to ring. He became a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild in 1911, and has given many years of service to his church. Many older ringers will remember his prowess as a conductor of the many Surprise methods composed by Gabriel Lindoff.

On the evening of the 11th Harry and his family entertained numerous friends and the local ringers at their home in Malthouse Square, where a good time was enjoyed by all. Many good wishes were expressed to the happy couple. During the evening some touches were rung on the tower bells and also on handbells.

On Saturday, January 14th, a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at Beaconsfield, and a peal was rung at Hughenden on Monday, January 16th, in honour of the event. The quarter peal band was entertained to tea on the 14th. D. M.

ST. KATHERINE'S SOCIETY REUNION

The day (January 7th) started with a peal tempt of Yorkshire at Battle, Sussex, unfortunately called round after nearly an hour because of the poor quality of the ringing. However, this enabled a quarter to be scored. Coffee was then taken through the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

During the afternoon ringing took place at Westham and Eastbourne (St. Mary's, St. Saviour's and Christ Church). Methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Surprise Major. Perhaps the highlight of the ringing was a course of London on the difficult heavy eight at St. Saviour's; an attempt or spliced at Christ Church unfortunately came to grief.

We then descended on the Baldocks' home at Westham to enjoy a sumptuous spread prepared by Christine. The evening was spent listening to records, and tape recordings of ringing, interspersed with handbells, and drowned at times by campanalogical chantings from the sofa.

Owing to large distances to be travelled the evening came to an end about 10.30. Many thanks to Alan and Christine for putting up such a good show. Let's hope next year's culprits will do as well.

(Tour this year: Cornwall, September 2nd to 9th—all members please note.)

MEMORIAL TO OLD WOKING RINGER

A memorial plaque has been erected in the ringing chamber of Old Woking Parish Church to the late Mr. James Brackley. Mr. W. Shepherd informs us that there is in the tower a photograph and his record of service in tower and choir for 62 years (1904 to 1966). Mr. Shepherd called "Jim's" first peal at Horsell on May 20th, 1911, and one of his last peals, at Staines in 1946, is recorded on a peal board at St. Peter's Church, Staines.

Theale, Berkshire, ringers have been busy on behalf of their restoration fund. A whist drive realised a profit of £12: a gentleman in Salisbury who read of their money-raising efforts sent them a donation.

The Salisbury Diocesan Guild Festival will be held at Fordington St. George in May.

WELL DONE, THE WIRRAL

An example of concerted effort to improve ringing standards comes from the Wirral peninsula. This week's issue contains ten peals from this area, in which 47 members of the Wirral Branch participated. Nineteen rang their first peal, there were two firsts as conductor and six rang their first peal of Major. Of the peals four were on eight bells and six on six bells. Another pleasing feature for those who have to see that "The Ringing World" is solvent was a cheque for £1 14s. —at the rate of 6d. a rope per peal.

Mr. Alex J. Martin writes: "The peals were arranged to enable some of the Branch Sunday ringers, who surely have an opportunity for peal ringing, to ring a peal. It was intended to complete the programme within a month, but lost attempts, rearrangements and clashing of dates made this impossible."

RUSHDEN NO LONGER A SILENT TOWER

For some time now the bells of Rushden in Hertfordshire have only been heard when ringers from nearby Sandon have come over to ring for a service. Now Rushden can boast of a band of its own, thanks to the hard work of Mr. L. Hatchett, from Sandon, who has painstakingly taught a group consisting of six adults, one girl and three boys, the children all being under 14.

The band can now ring Plain Bob Doubles but would appreciate a visit from any of the ringers in the area on practice nights (Thursdays, 7.30 p.m.).

PEALS AT WITHYCOMBE RALEIGH

With regard to the 50th peal at Withycombe Raleigh Mr. W. Shepherd writes that on Aug. 7th, 1900, he rang his first peal there and the only local ringer was Adolphus H. Snow, who rang the tenor. On April 13th, 1903, he had the pleasure of conducting a peal there, the band including Julius and Ernest Snow, William J. Manley, John R. Hayman and Harry T. Burch. Sixteen years later (July 19th, 1919) John R. Hayman conducted a "Peace" peal and, being on holiday, Mr. Shepherd was invited to take a rope "A lucky tower for me," concludes W. S., "no failures in peals or quarters."

DUKE'S AWARD A SPUR AT GUISELEY

Guiseley, in the West Riding, is the Friday night practice venue for a number of enthusiastic ringers from neighbouring towers. Youth is much to the fore, and "The Ringing World" in the past has chronicled such events as the ringing of Yorkshire Association qualifying 720's of Bob Minor.

In the same method, but for a different purpose, was the recent ringing of a 480 containing six bobs and two singles. Readers may query the importance of noting the number of calls? However, those who are familiar with the Duke of Edinburgh's Award Scheme will appreciate that the calling of a touch containing a minimum of six calls may comprise part of the silver level award.

Thus, with the completion of 480, Ivor Stevens, of Otley, completed a further step towards his silver level award.

BUCKLEBURY'S VETERAN

A fine record to St. Mary's Church, Bucklebury, Berks, has Mr. A. Hawkins, for whose 80th birthday a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung on January 15th. He is a regular member of the Sunday service band, a service he has undertaken for 45 years, also for 30 years a chorister and 28 years sexton. Congratulations, Mr. Hawkins.

A MILESTONE FOR ESSEX UNIVERSITY

The quarter peal of Bob Minor rung at Wivenhoe in January represents a milestone in the progress of the University of Essex Society, as it was the first by a band drawn entirely from the University. It contained two first quarters and two firsts for several years by two others.

At a meeting held recently, the following were elected into office: President, Michael J. Bew; vice-president, John Mattingly; secretary, Helen Millward, and treasurer, Abby Ballinger.

Mr. Brian Downie, last year's president and founder of the Society, is to be greatly thanked for getting things so efficiently off the ground before taking on the greater burden as president of the Students' Union this year. Thanks must also go to Mr. Harry Millatt, of St. Peter's, Colchester, for his help and encouragement in bringing on our recruits, and to the ringers of St. Leonard-at-the-Hythe, Colchester, for strengthening our practices once a fortnight at St. Peter's. M. J. B.

50th QUARTER PEAL AT MARCH

With the culmination of a quarter peal of Bob Doubles recently March bellringers recorded the 50th quarter at the tower. A happy coincidence was that Miss Anne Readshaw, who rang her first of this length very well, was the 25th person to achieve a quarter peal at St. Wendreda's Church, since the first peal was rung a few years ago. Two full peals have also been rung by March ringers, and two half peals.

All but three of the quarters have been rung on Sunday mornings. Ten methods from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise have been employed In the last 20 years over 100 young people have been trained to ring the bells, and the tower has three teams at present —18 ringers, including a girls' team, one lass of whom is an ardent Methodist. Together with young ladies from March and Whittlesey, March High School has 18 pupils who are keen ringers, a number having already rung quarter peals Is this a record for a girls' school? Despite the fact that March bells, being on the weighty side, are not exactly easy to ring, some excellent quarters have materialised, and all concerned are looking forward to the 100th!

IRISH NEWS

After ringing his first quarter peal on tower bells on January 11th at SS. Augustine and John's, Dublin, Mr. Paddy Mills recalled being a member of the band at St. Paul's, Arran Quay, until the bells were rehung for chiming in the early 1930's. With Jim Reynolds he learned change ringing on handbells in the John's Lane band when Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Darmon rang there in 1950.

A BATTERSEA OCCASION

Friday, January 13th, was a "Battersea occasion" at Southwark Cathedral, when the ex-Rural Dean of Battersea and Vicar of St. Barnabas', Clapham Common (Canon R. V. Bazire), was installed as Archdeacon of Southwark. After the service the Battersea ringers and friends rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters to celebrate the event and included in the band were two of the new Archdeacon's ex-choirboys (Bob Cooles and Jeremy Pratt).

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Halstead was the venue chosen for the Northern District's annual general meeting on January 14th, when many methods up to four-spliced Surprise were rung.

After the service, conducted by the Vicar (Canon A W. Swallow), the company adjourned to the Church Hall for tea.

In his report the Master said that 13 peals had been rung in the District during the year, a highlight of which one was in 145 Minor methods at Rayne—at that time a record. They were pleased to welcome the band responsible at their meeting. Two members rang their first peal and seven their first quarter.

Mr. R. J. Lindsell was re-elected Master and Mr. R. Threadgold elected secretary on the retirement of Mr P. Wood from this office.

A WORPLESDON GOLDEN WEDDING

By the presence of the immediate Past Master (Mr. D. A. G. May) as conductor, the felicitations of the Guildford Diocesan Guild were conveyed to Mr. and Mrs. S. Petter on January 13th by a peal of Minor in four methods rung at St. Michael's, Pirbright. It was the 50th anniversary of their wedding, which took place on January 13th, 1917, in the neighbouring Church of St. Mary, Worplesdon, where Sam was captain of the ringers for many years.

Sam was born at Rogate and came to Worplesdon from Milland, where he first became interested in ringing at the age of 19. Now 89 years of age, the same age as his wife, he is no longer a regular ringer at St. Mary's but he rang there on the Sunday morning before the anniversary. Mr. Cherryman, another well-known local ringer, motors Mr. Petter most Sunday mornings to church so that he can sit and listen to the bells that have given him so much pleasure over the years. J. C.

THE RINGING WORLD

No. 2912 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1967 9d.

The Night The Cathedral Fell Down — A Fantasy

THE usual, midweek, evening peal came to a successful conclusion, and in the uneasy silence which followed the setting of the bells each member of the band breathed an almost silent sigh of relief. Another twelve bell peal, another superlative performance which would soon be swallowed up in "The Ringing World" among the miscellaneous peals of Doubles and Minor of the surrounding alien Guilds and Associations.

The formalities over, the ringers tottered down the stairs and headed across the Cathedral yard in the general direction of a nearby alehouse. The bells had been set but twenty minutes but already the ringers were settling down to the social chitchat which, if the truth were known, was almost as much an attraction as the ringing. As closing time drew near the ringers were distracted from a discussion on freemasonry by a hideous sound which rooted them to the spot. With an ominous rumble, accompanied by a slight tremor of the ground, came a cacophony reminiscent of "the bells of Bethlehem." With one accord the ringers leapt to their feet and ran from the alehouse in the general direction of the disturbance. George, the first arrival on the scene, stood dumbfounded at the scene which he beheld.

The rest of the ringers were soon on the spot, each expressing individual cries of astonishment and disbelief. The tower had indeed disappeared and the picture before them resembled something from science fiction, the dramatic effect heightened by the now superfluous floodlighting which illuminated only the circling starlings screeching at having been so rudely dislodged from their home. Huge jagged pieces of masonry lay in a grotesque heap, with here and there fragments of the bell frame protruding, but of the bells there was no sign. The crumpled cupola, once a proud part of the city's skyline, had fallen and now lay like a crude hat atop the pathetic pile which, until a few minutes ago, had been the city Guild's pride and joy. Over the whole unhappy scene hung a thick pall of dust which seemed unwilling to settle on such a hallowed spot, and all the while starlings in their thousands screeched noisily overhead.

The ringers, with the exception of George, who seemed to be suffering from shock and unable to move, suddenly ran forward and began clawing at the debris in a state of frenzy. (This latter state produced by their recent consumption in the alehouse.) Like men possessed they attacked the shattered masonry, determined to catch a glimpse of their beloved bells, although the prospect of any surviving intact seemed unlikely. For many hours they toiled but to no avail. At irregular intervals a cry of anguish would be heard as a fragment of the once noble ring was extracted from the ruin and reverently placed within the precincts of the church. As dawn approached, eleven begrimed, weary ringers clambered from the wreckage and made their way from the disaster area, their work completed; the smashed ring, the excellent products of a bygone foundry, lay at rest in the Cathedral nave.

As the noise of the collapse had subsided the previous evening, a shadowy figure could have been seen lurking in the background. His feelings on the disaster were very mixed. Although he himself was an excellent ringer and an officer of the Guild he had never liked the eighteenth century Georgian style of architecture of which the Cathedral tower had been an almost perfect example. He was a "Gothic" man himself and so the loss of the tower itself did not unduly worry him. As he peered at the dusty scene he recalled the words of Pugin to the effect that domes and cupolas were "inventions of the devil."

The loss of the bells, however, was another prospect altogether which he did not relish. He had rung many peals here and would feel the loss deeply himself, in fact he wondered if the Guild could survive this second blow. (The first had been six years previously when a fine octave had been sacrificed in the interests of a road widening scheme.) He was sure that the Cathedral authorities would not be keen to rebuild the tower in the foreseeable future—the Bishop was at present spending all available money on towerless churches for the new estates which were being built in the suburbs of the city. "No," he decided, "the Cathedral would remain a mere shadow of its former self, its west end bricked up with some of the surviving masonry." He shuddered and wandered off in search of a night service bus.

Meanwhile, George had remained in close proximity to the disaster area, apparently in a state of severe shock. His whole world lay literally in ruins about him, his hopes and ambitions dashed in a single evening. In the cold grey light of the dawn he took stock of the situation and silently vowed to himself that in the interests of succeeding generations of ringers he must do all within his power to have his beloved bells rehung—but where? He had no doubt that the necessary finance would be forthcoming to pay for the purchase and recasting, but there was nowhere in the city where they could be hung to advantage. With a sigh almost of despair he turned to move away from the scene and then—it happened. As the morning mist cleared the roof-tops of the city centre buildings he caught sight of the newly constructed post office tower. A gleam of hope came into his eyes.

"Why not?" he muttered and, snatching his trusty bicycle, he pedalled away furiously into the suburbs.

At home he sat down wearily and, beneath the heading of the Guild note-paper, began to write a letter.

"To the Postmaster General...." it began.

LITTLE JOHN.

Suffolk Veterans Hold Pre-Christmas Party

A VERY happy afternoon was spent at Ufford on December 21st, when Cecil Pipe arranged a little pre-Christmas gathering for ten veterans of the Suffolk Guild.

Ringing took place at the Parish Church and included Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Superlative Surprise Major with everyone having a ring and making a good job of it, too! This was followed by "ringers' tea" (ham, sausage rolls, etc.) at Ufford Crown, and many a tale was spun around the roaring fire in the parlour. Cecil Pipe spoke to each of the old 'uns in turn, highlighting their ringing careers, and George Pipe, much to their amusement, gave a verbal sketch of each one in turn as he remembered them when he started to ring!

Percy May, born 1895 at Kelsale, Suffolk, first peal at age of 13 with the famous Bailey brothers of Leiston. Peals include Superlative, Maximus and Treble Ten "in hand." A railwayman.

Willoughby (Sonny) Maulden, born 1891, Framlingham, Suffolk. Contemporary of Horace Howlett and William G. Crickmer. Rung over 200 peals including several "in hand" during his stay in Guildford in 1912–15 with A. H. Pulling. A cashier.

George Finch, born 1890 at Wickham Market. Sixty years a ringer and chorister, taught to ring by Charles E. Fisher, rung about 50 peals. A master gardener.

Gilbert Goodship, born 1888 at Reading, Berks. Taught by Ambrose Osborne and has rung about 130 peals. Elected to Oxford Guild when F. E. Robinson was Master in 1905. Rang with R. T. Hibbert and C. W. O. Jenkyn and Gabriel Lindoff whilst living in Dublin. Taught bands at Basford, Harrow Weald, Little Missenden and Offton, Suffolk. Member of five Associations, including A.S.C.Y.

James Bennett, born 1887 at Ashbocking and taught to ring by the sexton, Walter Butcher. One of the most famous ringers of all time, having rung 1,300 peals, 321 of them with William Pye and in 50 different 12-bell towers. Has rung in four continents and chimed on the fifth. A Royal Marine.

Charles J. Sedgley, born 1887 at King's Lynn and taught to ring by his father, John W. Sedgley. A well-known composer and conductor and 12-bell ringer, the only survivor of the second peal of Cambridge Maximus in 1910. Rung over 350 peals, many of them with the Motts, Catchpole and Barrett brothers For 30 years a printer.

Frederick J. Crapnell, born 1881 at Clopton and taught to ring there. A devoted Churchman, over 70 years a ringer and sidesman. Rung 52 peals up to Royal, including many with beginners. A blacksmith.

George E. Symonds, born 1875 at Oakley, Suffolk, learned to ring at Brome (5) 80 years ago, taught by Fred Day, the Eye bellhanger. First peal was Treble Ten at Camberwell in 1897, joining the College Youths in 1898. Over 100 peals of Maximus in his 467 peals (conducted 254). A master of Stedman and Grandsire and "off-beat" methods (Albion, Forward, Duffield Maximus). Conducted Holt's Original 20 times. Oxford Maximus "in hand" and many other fine performances. A chorister for many years. Celebrates his diamond wedding this year and intends to ring a peal for it. (92!)

Charles E. Fisher and Harry Hall joined these eight, and the average age of the ten men was 79 years and 7 months. Suffolk is proud of them. G. W. P.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Guildford District

A disappointing year was reviewed by Mr. W. Savill, who presided, at the annual meeting of the Guildford District held at Holy Trinity Vestry, Guildford, on January 21st. He said attendances at meetings had been small, there was no striking competition, and often the secretary had difficulty in arranging meetings through lack of support from local tower captains.

Good wishes were extended to Miss Stevinson, on her marriage, by the chairman, and Miss Diane Street, the retiring secretary, was congratulated on her engagement.

The District faces 1967 with new officers. Mr. David Tubbs, who is in charge of ringing at the Cathedral, becomes District Ringing Master, and Miss Yvonne Eloie, the Guild librarian, District secretary. Mr. J. Payton (Chiddingfold) is Assistant Ringing Master and Mr. J. Horsman (Shalford) auditor. Mr. W. Savill was appointed to the Guild Committee.

The Guild service was held in St. Nicolas' Church, the Rector (the Rev. W. Goddard) officiating and giving a short address. Ringing was at St. Nicolas' and Holy Trinity Churches.

RAVING RINGERS' REUNION

The reunion of the Society of Raving Ringers was held at Northampton this year with headquarters at the Angel Hotel on the first full week-end in January.

Ted Venn did the organising, and it was damp and dismal on the morning of January 7th. Before long, snow began to fall, but we soon warmed up on the handy eight at Desborough, where the party was completed by the arrival of Ted and Marion Richards. Rothwell bells were rung to a good variety of methods, the highlight being a well-struck course of London. After an hour on the ten at Kettering, the Master and a Past Master present had lunch with two of our older members, Dennis and Christine Bowen, now residing in the town. In the afternoon, after the well cared for five at Barton Segrave, we rang methods up to eight spliced at Burton Latimer before finishing on the sixes at Isham and Wilby.

Dennis and Christine attended the dinner at H.Q., and afterwards a party of about 20 adjourned to a private room at the Old White Hart. With Chris Clarke in the chair the annual meeting was soon completed. Chris remains Master, with Ron Russ and Jim Linnell as joint Ringing Masters. The retiring Ringing Master, Michael Coleman, was thanked for his services. We received a progress report on the 1967 tour, which is to be in Kent and Sussex, with headquarters at Tunbridge Wells, during the last week in July. The rest of the evening was spent singing ringers' songs and watching a film show of the Cornish tour.

On Sunday morning we split up to provide service bands at both St. Edmund's and St. Giles', Northampton. With all our regular conductors at St. Edmund's, the St. Giles' band managed to keep right long enough in Grandsire Caters to allow the Master to call his first touch! Those who attended service at St. Giles' afterwards were pleasantly surprised by the large congregation. Here is a town church that is far from being in the doldrums.

After lunch Clare Higby (née Chambers), another old member, joined us in ringing on the fives at Walgrave and Orlingbury. A broken rope at Walgrave put us a bit behind time, but did not prevent us enjoying the music of the fine-toned six at Mears Ashby. Ringing finished at Earls Barton, where the eight were rung for evening service in methods up to Bristol. Farewells then concluded another enjoyable reunion. R. K. R.

GREAT DAY FOR SMALL KENT VILLAGE

THE low-lying flatlands which form the valley of the Kentish Stour east of Canterbury contain many tiny villages and hamlets with such delightful names as Marshside, Pluck's Gutter, etc., and many fine rings of bells, such as Ash, Chislet, Wingham and others which will be well known to Kent ringers.

Lying close to the diverging valleys of the Great and Little Stour are the united parishes of Stourmouth, Elmstone and Preston-by-Wingham Of these, Stourmouth and Elmstone churches have but three bells each, but for 250 years there has been a ring of five at St. Mildred's, Preston. Alas, for nearly a quarter of that time these bells have been silent and unrung owing to the decayed state of the frame in which they hung. On Wednesday, January 18th, the silence of over 60 years was broken, and the bells rededicated by the Ven. Alexander Sargent, Archdeacon of Canterbury.

Interest in bells has never been entirely lacking in recent years in the "Three Parishes," for in 1960 the derelict ring of three bells at Elmstone was completely restored by the Whitechapel foundry, though lack of funds precluded their being rehung for full swing ringing The story of the restoration of the bells of Preston is one of vision and great courage, for the village is one of the smallest in this part of Kent.

There are no records of the bells that hung in the church in the Middle Ages, but one may safely assume that the church probably possessed bells at an early date. The church itself is Early English in its original style, but was much enlarged at a later date, as the fine moulded Perpendicular arches of the south aisle show, in marked contrast to the stumpy pillars of the earlier north aisle. The tower itself is low and massive, capped by a plain tiled pyramid spire, and is pierced by single lancet windows.

MADE A RING OF FIVE

We do know that by 1700 at least there was in this tower a ring of four bells, though no record survives of their weights or inscriptions. As the present ring of five was cast from their metal, it may be calculated that the tenor of this ring weighed about 12 to 14 cwt. Perhaps some of the bells were survivors of the mediæval ring, or cast by the celebrated founder Joseph Hatch. In 1712 it was decided to have them recast and made into five, and the bells were taken down and sent to the Whitechapel foundry, then owned by Mr. Richard Phelps. While they were away the frame in which they hung was altered to take five bells, and the new bells were duly hung in it

There is no record of any major restoration after this. As may be expected in a small country parish, the churchwardens were always buying new bell ropes, as they required the old ones for use on their farms! No doubt many minor repairs were carried out. When the writer of this article saw the bells first in 1963, he noted several patchings on the fittings appeared to be of the 19th century type.

No doubt ringings became fewer as the years went on. We have no record of any peal on the bells, but we do know that in 1905 the bells were rung by a band from nearby Wickhambreaux, one of whom is still alive. This is probably the last time that the bells were rung By 1963 they had become derelict, the tower dangerous, the frame rotten and the fittings had largely rotted away, the bells being sounded by clocking. Estimates were taken before this, and a plan to have them altered to a chime was fortunately not proceeded with.

A RESTORATION

In 1965 the Rev. C. T. Spurling became Rector of the Three Parishes and determined to have something done about the bells at Preston. When he was Vicar of Otham his son, a ringer, had put the three bells in order and trained ringers. Hopes soon crystallised into action, and shortly before Easter the bells were removed to the foundry from which they had first come. The frame, fittings and upper tower floor were all removed and placed in the churchyard for disposal. After removal, the tenor was found to be cracked in the crown, and was recast later in the year. Meanwhile at Preston money was being raised so that the bells could return as soon as possible. Early in December they were returned, having been cleaned, tuned and quarter-turned, and were rehung in a new cast iron and steel frame with new fittings throughout by Mr. Harry Parkes, of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

On January 18th a goodly congregation assembled in the church for the dedication. Amongst the many ringers present were Mr. B. J. Luck (chairman, Canterbury District) and Mr. K. I. Davis (District secretary). After the bidding and the singing of the second hymn the procession made its way to the tower, and the Archdeacon blessed and hallowed the bells, charging the Rector to see "that they be ever and only used in God's service and to His glory." As the procession re-formed the bells were rung in rounds, and the band included 84-year-old Mr. Sidney Walter, of Wickhambreaux, the last surviving ringer to have rung in the tower in 1905.

In his sermon the Archdeacon commended all those who had worked hard to make this service possible, and addressed himself particularly to those who heard the bells and their message of "Come." He said that the Church was going through a particularly difficult period, and that not everyone would respond to the message of the bells, but it was their own personal witness which counted.

A collection was taken towards the bells fund during the singing of the Ringers' Hymn, and the service ended with prayers and the Blessing. After the service many members had their first ring at Preston.

THE BELLS

Treble (3¼ cwt. in D): R. Phelps Fec: 1712. Robert Wyborne Gent: Benefactor.
Second (4¼ cwt. in C): Richard Phelps made me. 1712.
Third (5 cwt. in B): Richard Phelps made me. 1712.
Fourth (6¼ cwt. in A): Richard Phelps made me. 1712.

The five bells tuned, quarter-turned and rehung and the tenor bell recast, with new fittings and frame for six bells 1966/67 by Mears and Stainbank.

Donations for the Preston Bells Fund will be thankfully received by the Rev. C. Terence Spurling, The Rectory, Elmstone, Wingham, Canterbury, Kent, and gratefully acknowledged.

"STUPENDOUS ACHIEVEMENT"

Dear Sir,—I would like to offer my congratulations to the band who rang 160 different methods to a peal on January 21st. It is a stupendous achievement and must earn the unqualified admiration of all ringers—it certainly has mine.

Seeing, as I do, several members of the band frequently in Bristol, I have come to accept without question that each attempt will be planned, gone for and achieved without fear of failure. It is a very long time since an attempt has failed and the attainment of such certainty in a precarious world is not the least of the triumphs of this band. I do know, however that behind all this there has been a lot of time spent by each member of the band in doing their homework.

As much as one boggles at the skill of all eight members of the band, the skill of Tony Peake, in particular, surpasses them all. Not only has he conducted all the peals, he has also arranged all the recent compositions and spent countless hours selecting methods which will not go false in the peal and proving the compositions. Without Tony's leadership and single-minded devotion I am sure this Everest of the ringing intellect would not have been scaled.

Congratulations to you all. — Yours sincerely, PHILIP GRAY.

A BELL'S NOTES

Dear Sir,—I have understood that there are five main notes in a true harmonic bell—(1) nominal, (2) fifth (quint), (3) third (tierce), (4) fundamental, (5) hum—and that there are others which make the total nine, and even eleven.

Now I see by Canon Gilbert Thurlow's article in "Norwich Churchman" on the Wymondham restoration ("Ringing World," January 27th, 1967, page 60) that there are now "13 different notes which a bell gives."

Would Canon Thurlow be so good as to give us the names of these, please, and add what are the other 12 notes if the fundamental is middle C on the piano.

Any advance on 13 now or in the future?—Yours sincerely, CLAUDE RUSH.

Felixtowe.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD AND PEALS

Dear Sir,—We are concerned that the views of this Guild have been misrepresented on the subject of the publication of peals.

Our members do not expect their peals to have preference over any others but they do consider that the old system of peal classification was better.—Yours faithfully,

R. C. INGRAM, Master.

BYTHORN, HUNTS

Dear Sir,—I was very interested to read the article "Rings of Four Bells in Huntingdonshire" by Peter S. Abbott, particularly the reference to Bythorn, the bells of which I am sorry to learn are not likely to be rung again. About 1922–24, with two friends, I used to cycle regularly from Raunds to Bythorn to ring with the two local lads and then return to Keystone for a couple of 120's of Plain Bob on the hard-going heavy ring of five.

Incidentally, my father often told me that the late Henry Chapman, whom I met on several occasions, was born at Bythorn, and he returned there on his retirement after living and ringing in the Manchester district for many years.—Yours truly,

Hemel Hempstead. FRANCIS KIRK.

CHIMES—TENS AND NINETEENS

Dear Sir,—I was very interested to read the letter on "Ten-Bell Changes." This was done at the two Plympton towers until the early 1930's by means of swing chiming, ringing for divine service being only permitted one Sunday a month, the first Sunday at St. Maurice's and the last at St. Mary's. This system had been going on from time immemorial, as the chimers, some of whom were not ringers, received a fee annually and the ringers did not. It was a big struggle to get this abolished in favour of ringing every Sunday.

Here is the chime known as Tens:

3 and 6 had to be dropped and picked up.

Then we had Nineteens, which sounded very beautiful when well struck and which was really a work of art to perform, 3, 5 and 6 having to be dropped:

14265
14235
1426

Just at the turn of the century I have seen an old chimer at St. Maurice's, Jack Luscombe, perform on 1, 4 and 2, one in each hand and one by his foot.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM G. LAVERS.

Plympton, Devon.

ORIGIN OF GRANDSIRE WANTED

Dear Sir,—I am writing to ask if any of your readers know the origin of the word "Grandsire"—repeated inquiries from various people have so far produced no result. When the method was originally invented was Grandsire the name of a place, person or suchlike?

The only connection I can find between the word as we use it and that in the Oxford Dictionary: "esp. of animal's sire, also=ancestor, old man. . ." is when Grandsire Triples is sometimes jokingly referred to as "Grandfather's Troubles"(!).

Perhaps there is an explanation for this much-used and well-known (in the Exercise, that is) word.—Yours faithfully,

P. D. DAWSON-TAYLOR.

Beddington, Surrey.

CHORISTERS AS RECRUITS

Dear Sir,—Whilst not wishing or presuming to criticise the articles written by "Osram," I, like Mr. Vidler, must disagree with his exclusion of choirboys from the category of "best potential ringers."

We have always looked to the choir for recruits, and never more than at present. We have taught a number of 11-year-olds over the last few years, some in the choir and some outside it but, generally speaking, it is the choirboys who have stuck whilst the others have fallen by the wayside. My experience has been that the double interest strengthens the link with the church and that the two things tend to support, rather than detract from, each other. The backbone of our present band includes five choristers, one server and several ex-choristers.

I think it very unlikely that I should have been writing this letter had I not first been a chorister and the son of a chorister.—Yours faithfully,

LESLIE BAINHAM.

All Saints', Newport.

ADVANCE ON SPLICED SURPRISE

Dear Sir,—At the time of writing, Mr. Norman Smith's compositions of Spliced Surprise Major with all the work of between 13 and 23 methods have not been published (we hope this will soon be remedied) but, having seen the figures, may we express our admiration for Mr. Smith's achievements, both as the composer and as the conductor of several of the peals. The simplicity of the basic arrangement is perhaps the most outstanding feature and in our view the series represents the most striking advance in Spliced Surprise Major composition since the first "all-the-work" peal was produced.

We would also like to offer our congratulations to the rest of the band.—Yours sincerely,

E. A. BARNETT,

THE PROFESSOR'S REPLY

Dear Sir,—The Professor regrets that the word "Surprise" which inadvertently crept into his statement about Spliced Minor should have so upset Mr. Timothy G. Pett, although he feels that persons with a normal I.Q. should have recognised the intruder as a slip of the pen. He would otherwise, he says, have taken steps to correct the mistake immediately. Delete the word "Surprise" and the statement is, of course, correct.

With regard to 5ths place without the treble behind he would point out that, having long maintained that 65's at backstroke add rather than detract from the musical interest, he therefore regards the increased possibility of such change endings as the only redeeming feature of these methods.

Both single change and methods containing 5ths without the treble behind were common enough during the past but after allowing them, in our wisdom, to die a natural death we find they are suddenly resuscitated. The Professor's objection to them is that they increase stagnation both musically and methodically although he admits that many so-called regular methods (including some Surprise) are stagnant enough

Much rubbish has been rung, he insists, under the magical name of "Spliced," particularly of Minor and Doubles. Anything that tends to increase the amount of rubbish is, he declares, a retrograde step.—Yours sincerely, H. C.

A DEVON OPINION

Dear Sir,—A recent letter to "The Ringing World" suggested that Guilds and Associations when meeting should discuss the new look of the front of the paper and convey their observations to the Editor as a possible means of guiding the Editorial Committee on what was most acceptable to the readers.

This matter was raised for discussion at a recent meeting of the South West Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers and became the subject of much comment. The result of these discussions showed the members to be roughly equally divided: one section favoured the new style lettering when produced in conjunction with a full size front plate, illustrating one of our historic churches or cathedrals provided this was printed on good quality embossed paper to enable it to be cut out and possibly framed. The remaining members' view was that the frontal appearance of the paper was relatively unimportant providing the internal reading matter was of sufficiently good quality to appeal to a wide selection of ringers. Secretary, South West Branch,

NORTHERN UNIVERSITIES' MEETING

THE meeting for the Spring Term of the Northern Universities was held on January 28th at Derby, Nottingham University being the hosts.

Ringing began on the fine ten at Duffield, where contingents from the nearer Universities appeared in force. Following Duffield, the assembled company invaded Derby, beginning the day's ringing in earnest at St. Alkmund's Owing to time table alterations, the lunch break consisted of an hour and a half. Any tower grabbers with both enterprise and/or transport were promptly lured off to ring for a wedding at Beeston, Nottingham University's home tower. Comparing numbers at Beeston with those seen earlier in the day, we assume that a goodly proportion were content to grab a pub instead!

Fortified with some form of midday repast, all met at St. Luke's to tackle the heavy eight. This was followed by ringing at St. Peter's (a very nice eight), nestling in the heart of Derby. Those who chose to leave St. Luke's early and arrive at St. Andrew's late enjoyed a good ring here. At St. Andrew's the capacity crowd of St. Luke's materialised again, and the ten were put through their paces, though some experienced difficulty owing to the height of the ropes.

Ringing concluded at the end of a busy day at Derby Cathedral. While a touch of Spliced Surprise Major floundered, a touch of Double Norwich provided some of the best striking of the day. Another notable event was an invitation to Manchester University, who had come armed with a strong contingent to parade their own Royal band. They declined—they said—being unable to decide on which version of London!!!

The usual impromptu "business meeting" was held at the Cathedral. Here the suggestion, mooted at the previous meeting, to form an Association on an organised basis was reviewed and dropped. The Northern Universities will continue in its own sweet, but unofficial, way!

It was also decided that the venue of the Summer Term meeting would be Liverpool on June 17th

A vote of thanks is due to all local ringers who met us and, of course, to all visiting Societies for making the day a successful one.

OBITUARY

MR. SIDNEY PROCTOR
A popular member of the band at St. Wulfram's, Grantham, whose death was reported in our last issue (page 79).

M. ALBERT HUNTER

The death is regretted of Mr. Albert Hunter, a member of St. Martin's, Ruislip, band of ringers since just after the First World War

Before coming to Ruislip he was a ringer at St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, and was then a well-known member of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association. He rang a few peals in his early days and was most reliable for service ringing. A member of the Parochial Church Council, he had been a sidesman at Ruislip for many years. A widow and three sons are bereaved. He will be greatly missed at St. Martin's

The funeral service was held at St. Martin's Church on January 25th and was followed by cremation. May he rest in peace. T. C.

MR. CLAUDE RANDALL

Claude Randall was the last of the old band at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Mansfield, Notts. Reluctantly, he had to give up active ringing in October, 1964, at the age of 77, after 55 years' service. A regular attender at practice and twice every Sunday, he set a fine example to the younger members who made up the band.

Since giving up ringing, Claude's health failed chiefly due to being thrown from the platform of a moving bus and he died on January 22nd. His lasting memorial will undoubtedly be the stone-cum-concrete stairway to the belfry, which he so expertly repaired some years ago. Mr. Randall was a life member of the Southwell Diocesan Guild.

THE MEETING THAT WAS ALMOST TOO POPULAR

FOR some time the secretaries of the Eastern and Western Districts of the Durham and Newcastle Association had been uneasy about the attendance at the average ringing meeting and the progress achieved. Although there were usually 20 to 30 ringers present they were nearly always from the same few towers while most towers were not represented. There were ringers who would be seen if a meeting was held at their own tower but seldom, if ever, were seen at District meetings and hardly seemed to advance in their ringing.

Feeling that as we are an "Association of Church Bell Ringers" we should try and cater for all our members, it was decided to hold a meeting for learners only. Speculating on attendance, we felt that if we got 20 we would be doing well. but it would be pure gain and success if we attracted learners from two or three towers to ring strange bells with strange people.

Gateshead was chosen as being convenient to all areas, having easy-going bells, no problems over noise, and the Eastern District secretary, Miss Margaret Thow as tower captain. Unfortunately we can only ring on the front six, as the seventh is badly cracked. The meeting was duly announced for January 21st as "Learners only: Rounds, Call Changes, Plain Hunt, Plain Bob."

During the week Miss Thow grew more and more surprised and alarmed as over 50 names arrived by Wednesday. In all 55 sat down for tea and. with other visitors, there must have been nearly 70 ringers there, with ringers from as far afield as Hartlepool, Sedgefield, Shildon and Bishop Auckland with nine other towers represented.

Ringers began to arrive at 2.30 p.m. and soon packed into all possible nooks and crannies, while we attempted to give everyone a try at rounds. It was not the easiest thing to organise, not knowing the capabilities of many ringers, trying to avoid too many unsure ringers at once and keeping some reliable ones on the treble to set the pace. However, by tea most ringers had rung twice and a set of handbells in the church to practice Plain Hunt reduced the congestion a little. After tea half an hour was spent ringing plain courses of Bob Minor, then back to more rounds and call changes.

An attendance of 60 proves that there is a demand for this type of meeting; for some ringers it was their first meeting and for some it was the first time that they had rung outside their own tower. At a short discussion after tea it was agreed to hold a similar meeting soon, at Shildon if possible.

Finally, if other Districts have our original problem, we can only suggest: "Go thou and do likewise." There was a profit of £4 10s. on the tea, which will go into the Bell Fund, bringing the fund total to £87 12s. 6d.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A well-attended meeting of the Maidstone District was held at Headcorn on January 14th. Ringing was under the supervision of Messrs. B. Groves and G. Evenden, and methods rung included Yorkshire Surprise Major, Spliced Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

The service was conducted by the Rev. D. J. Pharoah, who extended a very hearty welcome to the visitors. After a splendidly prepared tea Mr. Pharoah presided at the business meeting.

The vote of thanks was given by Mr. P. Carter, and ringing continued until 9 p.m.

ACTIVITIES IN HERTFORDSHIRE

The extremely mild weather encouraged many members and welcome visitors to attend the annual District meeting of the St. Albans District at Hatfield on January 21st Methods rung during the afternoon ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal. The Rev Michael West conducted an interesting service and then joined the members for tea in the Memorial Hall.

At the business meeting the president of the Association, Mr. Ken Dunstan, took the chair. Before the business, all present stood in silence in memory of members who had died during the past year—Mr. Fred Spicer (St. Albans), Mr. J. Wells (Kimpton) and Mr. J. T. Watkins.

It was decided to hold the annual District meeting of 1968 at St. Albans.

The secretary read his report, in which the past year's activities were enumerated—the District outing, car rally, dinner, advanced ringing course, a series of evening practices, the first District peal of Spliced Surprise Major, and the loss of Tewin to the Eastern District.

When it came to the election of new officers, the secretary, Mr. Roger Brown, announced that he would not be seeking re-election and had pleasure in nominating Mr. Keith Walpole, of Wheathampstead, to succeed him. Keith was unopposed and elected to office. The committee presented a small gift to both Roger and Sheila Brown and, on behalf of the entire District, Mrs. Amy Coburn thanked Roger for his work over the past two years.

Mr. Gerald Penney was re-elected as Ringing Master, and Miss Julia Fellows as "The Ringing World" representative. The District Committee was elected as follows: Mrs. M. A. Coburn, Miss J. Fellows, Messrs. Roger Brown, Geoffrey Dodds, Eric Edmondson, John Ewer and Gerald Penney. Mrs. Coburn was no longer standing for the General Committee, and Mr. Geoffrey Dodds was elected to join Gerald Penney on this committee. Miss Fellows was elected to write up the District peal book, and the Ringing Master mentioned a few points he had noted about 1966's "District Peal Programme" — 16 peals were rung, of which ten were on tower bells and six "in hand." Five members rang their first peal, 19 rang something new, and altogether 37 District members took part

The proposed activities for 1967 were discussed—unfortunately there was very little response from the District as regards the car rally, dinner, further courses and practice meetings. It was decided that the committee would carry on and organise something on these lines, but it was pointed out that if anyone had any bright (or otherwise!) ideas, the committee were there to hear and discuss them. Suggestions already received are a course on belfry maintenance and instruction of learners.

Under any other business, some discussion followed on the possibility of a visit by the Central Council, and it was pointed out that if the Association were to be hosts a good deal of money would have to be raised by each District, and there was no time like the present to think seriously about ways of raising as much as possible.

Finally the meeting was closed with votes of thanks. Evening ringing continued until 8.30 p.m

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

At the annual meeting of the Eastern District at Hertford on January 14th Mr. E. Newnham was proposed as president of the Herts County Association in succession to Mr. K. Dunstan. Mr Newnham intimated that he was prepared to accept nomination..

The District secretary, Mr. P. M. F. Searles, and the District Ringing Master, Mr. S. James, were both re-elected, and elected to the District Committee were Messrs. S. James, D. Harris, J. Thorp, P. Owen and B. Foley. To the Association Committee Messrs. R. Berry and S. James were elected. Eleven new members were elected from Hertford, Cheshunt, Tewin, Benington and Little Munden.

It was agreed that during 1967 a series of practice meetings be arranged on a tower's own practice night to assist learners in method ringing, particularly the towers that lack outside support.

Mr. D. Harris suggested that advanced ringing practices should be held to help those ringers who are learning the more advanced methods but are reluctant to "catch hold" during meetings and when visiting other towers on practice night. These practices will be arranged by the District Committee.

The vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist and ladies who prepared tea was proposed by Mr. S. James.

Next meeting: Little Munden, February 11th.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSN.

N. and E. District

The January meeting of the N. and E. District was held on the 14th, at the very fine Church of St. Andrew, Kingsbury, which also has a fine octave cast by an organ builder, Lewis of Brixton, about 100 years ago. Unfortunately only about 20 people attended the afternoon ringing.. The bells, owing to local complaints, are not very often available for meetings. Ringing included Stedman, Cambridge and Yorkshire

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. G. Springford), who gave a talk on the history of the church. He told of the building of the church in Wells Street in the West End of London in 1847 at a cost of £10,300 without internal fabric—of how it was moved stone by stone to Kingsbury in 1934. He said that the church architect had recently stated that today he would not even start to draw up plans like this unless he knew that there was at least £1,000,000 in the building fund.

Tea was followed by the business meeting. Nine new members were elected—the Misses W. and L. Ferguson, S. Taylor, E. Pearce, together with M. Pearce and D. Gazeley (Hendon), C. Pike (Kingsbury) and D. Willcocks and P. Blakebrough (Southgate). The provisional election as a non-resident life member of Mr. Jeremy R. Pratt, of Clapham, prior to a peal at Bishopsgate, was ratified.

Evening ringing took place at St. Mary's, Hendon.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Biggleswade District

Biggleswade was a popular venue for the District annual general meeting on January 14th. The Vicar, the Rev. J. H. Dominey, conducted the service and presided at the business meeting. The secretary (Mr. K. Fleming) in his annual report mentioned the formation of two new bands—at Potton and Old Warden—and that the young people were among the most regular attenders at meetings.

Officers elected for 1967 were: Chairman, Mr. P. Mehew; secretary, Mr. K. Fleming; committee, Messrs. R. Giddings, P. Rogers, R. Sharp and A. H. Smith; Belfry Repair Fund treasurer. Mr. G. Mayer; organists, Messrs. H. J. Lockey and P. Rogers; Press secretary, Miss L. Ellison.

The general secretary (Mr. A. S. Smith) in his speech stated that the Striking Committee's report would be considered at the Association's annual general meeting in May, and expressed the hope that within the next few months a District Ringing Master would be appointed.

The president (Mr. A. Rushton) closed the meeting by noting the high percentage of youth present and also thanked the ladies for a splendid tea.

Ringing under the joint management of Messrs. A. H. and A. S. Smith was then resumed until 9 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal.

Next meeting: Clifton, February 11th. L. E.

THE END OF SOUTHAMPTON DISTRICT

About 80 people (61 of whom are District members) were present at what is scheduled to be the final annual meeting of the Southampton District, which took place at Romsey Abbey on January 21st. During the afternoon and evening ringing ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise Major. The service was conducted by Canon K. W. H Felstead.

Tea was served in the new Church Rooms, and the chairman (Mr. J. Hartless) commenced the business meeting by thanking Canon Norris for his cordial welcome to the ringers and by proposing a vote of thanks to the local ringers and their wives for such an excellent tea.

The treasurer's report showed that membership during the year had increased from 105 to 115, there was an 11 per cent. increase in the balance in hand, and the number of towers paying affiliation fees had increased from four to twelve. Seventeen new members were elected.

With District boundaries due to be changed at the Guild annual general meeting in July, it was thought advisable to arrange only the April quarterly meeting. The Ringing Master, Mr. J. R. Faithfull, proposed that it should be a memorable one, held in Southampton, with ringing at St. Mary's, St. Michael's and Bitterne Park on April 15th.

Mr. A. V. Davies, chairman of the Christchurch District, proposed that a joint meeting of towers in the New Forest area should be held in September. As there was general agreement, arrangements are being made for September 16th.

LEICESTER DISTRICT HELD ITS OWN IN 1966

In his report presented to the annual general meeting of the Leicester District, held at South Wigston on January 7th, Mr. R. Hughes, the District secretary, said 1966 had been a year in which the District could be said to have held its own, perhaps even bettered itself ever so slightly. This must be a very good thing in these days, when pessimism was so rife concerning things cultural, artistic, religious and otherwise generally worth while.

New and rejoined members totalled 20, six being from Bitteswell. thus putting this tower more firmly on the map. Paid-up membership was 137 as compared with 134; there were also 39 outstanding subscriptions. The average attendance at meetings was 25, a slight but encouraging increase.

Mr Brian G. Warwick presided over an attendance of 39, representing 11 towers. An apology was received from the Guild president, Mr. Bernard S. Payne, and it was reported that John A. Acres, a long-standing friend, was in hospital at Chelmsford. It was decided to send him the good wishes of the District with a little present of cigarettes.

Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. B. G. Warwick; secretary, Mr. Ron D. Hughes; Ringing Master, Mr. Sid Harrison; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. J. Poynor. A very heartening sign was the election of ten new members, six being from Blaby.

Mrs. P. J. Staniforth thanked the ringers and friends at South Wigston for a much enjoyed tea, the Vicar (the Rev. Neil Robinson) for conducting the proposed new Guild service, and the organist.

Ringing afterwards included London and Bristol.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

In the truly massive tower at Ramsbury, the Marlborough Branch held its first meeting of 1967 on January 21st. Twenty-three members and visitors from Wooburn, Bucks, Wroughton and Swindon were present The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. Roger Keeley and tea prepared by Mrs. G. Westall and helpers.

Mr. G. Newman (chairman) thanked all who had helped with the arrangements and congratulated Miss P. Mundy on scoring her first quarter. Mr A. Watts, tower captain, thanked the near neighbours who had helped with the Christmas ringing There were plenty of opportunities for beginners in the ringing, which was under the direction of Mr. Fred Read.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Coventry Diocesan Guild is holding its 60th anniversary dinner on November 25th.

Surprise Major is becoming more and more popular in Somerset. There were five first quarters of Yorkshire at Burwell on January 13th.

Double Court, and not Double Bob, was rung in the first extent of the seven Minor methods peal at Ightham, Kent, reported on page 864, writes Michael J. Uphill.

For the benefit of those who keep individual records, Jane Reynolds and Jayne Reynolds, of the Lancashire Association, are the same person.

Great Barton, Suffolk, has two promising youngsters in Martin J. Drury and Robert J. Ellis. Their quarter of St. Clement's Bob Minor on January 25th was their first touch in any method except Plain Bob.

Mr. Joseph A. Fenton, whose death was reported on page 5, lived for 20 years at Melton Mowbray, and to his memory a quarter peal of Plain Bob Royal was rung at Melton Parish Church.

AMERICAN ORGANIST'S APPRECIATION

Mr. Frank I. Eldridge, a professor of music at Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York, writes his appreciation of England and English ringing in the following terms:

"In the brief time I had in England I shall long remember the glorious ringing at 10.01½ hours at St. Paul's; the astonishing bells at Liverpool Cathedral; the delightful eight in F (it says 'E' in 'Dove'!) at St. Mary's, Ely; and the revelations and completely delightful time with those of you participating in the joint meeting at Longstanton.

"For never to be forgotten moments of shooting the breeze, I especially want to send greetings to Messrs. Douglas and William Hughes, Paul Taylor (all to whom I owe special thanks for time freely given from their businesses), Donald Murphy, of Sutton, Cambs, Peter Bedford (and his delightful family) of Aldeburgh, and Mrs. Wilfrid Moreton. To Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shepherd, my appreciation for wonderful hospitality for a weary traveller.

"I want the Exercise to know that yet another American has returned to the States deeply moved and really 'turned on' by all that the Exercise means in the world of today. If fate shall determine that I am not successful in spawning a ring of bells and active ringers in central New York State, perhaps my message will be received by someone who will one day be able to carry the torch. At least I have been personally thrilled and inspired!"

RECEIVED OFFICIAL APPROVAL

Ten-year-old Katharine M. Thorley rang her first quarter peal at Caldecott in Rutland with four officials of the Rutland Branch of the Peterborough Guild; it was very well struck. She is the fourth successive generation of her family to reach this standard. She previously trebled a 720 of Minor at Edith Weston to qualify for membership of the Yorkshire Association. She was born in Leeds and it is not long since she was using the upturned box of the eleventh at the Parish Church as a play-pen.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON RINGING IN LONDON

Mr. F. Fowler, jun., of 9, High Street, Stourton, Warminster, Wilts, wants to record London bells available between 11.30 a.m. and 4.30 p.m. He asks particularly for the times of St. Paul's Cathedral, St. Martin-in-the-Fields, St. Clement Danes', Westminster Abbey, St. Margaret's, Westminster, and others available.

ELY DIOCESE RINGING MAP

A map showing the state of ringing in the Ely Diocese is included in the January issue of "Sentinel," the Association's news letter. Depicted in it are towers with resident Sunday service teams; ringable but no team; few ringers; little ringing; unringable. The map is exceedingly useful for tour organisers and to them is well worth the 2s. charged.

ODD VENTURES

E. C. S. writes: "I am sorry that two errors crept into the notes on Grandsire Doubles, the publishing of one 240-block twice, and the attributing of another well-known block to the wrong Mr. Morris. I hope that my old friend Leslie will forgive me. The mistakes were mine and not the Editor's, and I can plead only the old excuse: 'Men are not wise at all hours.'"

PREACHER WAS ONCE TOWER MASTER

The Rev. Roger O. Fry, Rector of Portishead, returned to St. Michael and All Angels', Twerton-on-Avon, where he was tower master before entering a theological college in 1958, to preach at the Festal Evensong to mark the 81st anniversary of the rebuilding of the church. A feature was the church being lit by 81 candles. Previous to the service Roger rang the tenor to a quarter peal of Plain Bob Major, in which three of his pupils took part —D. J. Barnett, A. F. Lee and T. J. Milsom. It is interesting to note that since 1955, when he introduced ringing for three Sunday services, the bells have never failed to ring three times and often four times on a Sunday.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

Arising from the good response to his request for touches of Grandsire Triples, Mr. Alan A. J. Buswell writes: "Two interesting things have come to light over this which some of our experts could comment upon. Firstly, nobody could give me a touch of 98 changes; two people said it was impossible but could not say why. Secondly, it was not possible to work out 'round blocks' of touches with an odd number of changes as it is with touches of an even number of changes, i.e. calling the same touch but starting from a different place."

FIRST FOR 1968

Mr. H. E. Taylor, of Darley Dale, Matlock has pegged a claim to be the first "Ringing World" subscriber for 1968. This promptness in meeting an obligation might serve as a reminder to those who have not yet paid Mr. Jeater their subscriptions for 1967.

A CHRISTMAS OUTING

About a dozen ringers from South Cambridgeshire and Saffron Walden took part in a day's outing on December 27th organised by Mr. Ian G. Stracey. The occasion was marred by an accident at Linton, the first tower visited, which has a rather difficult heavy five. After ringing, Miss Jean Sanderson slipped on the way down and fractured her ankle. It is possible that another two months will elapse before she is ringing again.

Owing to the accident, the programme was a little behind time at Great Thurlow. It was at the next tower, Belchamp St. Paul, that the best ringing of the day took place—Cambridge Surprise. Spliced Doubles were rung on the noisy five in a round tower at Pentlow.

At Glemsford the Vicar expressed pleasure at hearing the bells rung for the first time over the Christmas festival. The six bells here are not the easiest to ring, but Plain and Little Bob Minor were rung. Other towers before lunch were Hartest and Whepstead.

Much of the afternoon's ringing was Doubles but at West Stow some Kent and Oxford Spliced was rung with the assistance of a local ringer. One car load failed to locate Dalham, our last tower, where the pleasant-sounding five were rung by the light of candles and hurricane lamps. The Rector rang with us and mentioned that the bells were only rung very occasionally. M. E. S.

GETTING READY FOR UNITY

Among latest recruits at All Saints', Huntingdon, is the daughter of the local Methodist minister.—"Sentinel," news letter of Ely Diocesan Association.

AFTER SEVEN YEARS IN THE WILDERNESS

IT was asking for trouble in the first place, and was perhaps even presumptuous. Until nine months ago there had been hardly opportunities to do any ringing—the job which brought in the bread and butter made it almost impossible There were a few towers near, but work always seemed to prevent ringing. Altogether during the past seven years two peals, perhaps half a dozen practices, no Sunday service ringing at all—it was not very encouraging. So it was really asking for trouble to accept an invitation to stand in a peal of Maximus. Three peals on 12, two of them Maximus, the other Cinques, and all rung eight or more years previously, was not very promising.

My thoughts ran on these lines when the peal of Maximus was first mentioned; and I had very mixed feelings when offered a rope. But the Ringing Master of what was now my home tower (I had moved last May) asked me, and seemed to have more confidence in me than I had myself. Since last May we had been concentrating on learners, and the whole 12 had only been rung twice on practice nights, and then only in rounds. Would I be able to stand up to it physically? After all, it would mean about 3¼ hours of ringing, and I was seven years older and out of practice.

Incredibly, in the event it all went well. Much of the ringing was splendid, and the striking good (after one or two crisp comments). It was bitterly cold in the tower, at least five degrees warmer outside than in when we came down the steps eventually. At one awful moment I thought cramp would cripple my arms; and towards the end it felt as though my hands would be pulled off the ends of my arms. But not even one small blister resulted from all that unaccustomed exercise! It was my 25th peal.

The point of writing this? Not to do any personal trumpet-blowing, but to place the credit where it belongs, namely to those who taught me so well—they were and still are the Ringing Masters of Cleeve Prior and Evesham, and both are still teaching. It is also written in the hope that it might encourage others who have been unable to ring (for whatever reason) to return and try again. A. W.

JACK WORRALL RINGS AGAIN

A panel meeting of the Southern Regional Examination Board in Southampton on January 23rd was the occasion of a minor University of Bristol reunion between Heather and Ivor Trueman and Jack Worrall on the previous Saturday at the home of the Truemans. Circumstances prevented them attending the major reunion at Bristol on the same day.

For Jack Worrall, who was over from Germany for the week-end as representative of the Forces Schools at the panel meeting, it was an opportunity for ringing at Romsey and Southampton. This is only the second time in the seven years he has been absent from England that Jack Worrall has had a chance to ring, the previous one being at Cambridge two and a half years ago.

KEENNESS DESPITE DUAL ROLE

Osram's article has provoked a reply from Miss Ruth Blackshaw, who writes that at the small Church of St. Edmund, Holme Pierrepont, Nottingham, all the ringers are choristers. While they do not claim to be expert ringers, all are very interested in church work The choir is manned twice each Sunday and the District meetings claim a full attendance each month. Also, time is spent in helping learners in other towers.

"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

This unique work, second in the series entitled

is complete in itself. Its subject is treated both for beginners and for advanced practical ringers. It is not a textbook on specific methods, of which several exist but it shows, for the first time, the detailed structure of the general plan of change-production, by types of methods, traced from 3-bell (basic) to 12-bell stages.

Well bound in an attractive stiff cover in blue with gold lettering the book measures 8" x 6½" x 1" and contains nearly 300 of such large pages with some 80 figures or diagrams, also 8 double-page and 5 single-page "charts." Included are series of "definitions" and "axioms" listed to serve as an index. Paragraphs throughout are numbered for ready cross-reference. Chapters close with test-questions and indication of answer-location.

This book is very highly commended, especially by leading members of the Exercise, including the Rev. Canon Gilbert Thurlow, M.A., Fredk. Sharpe, F.S.A., and E. C. Shepherd. (See "Ringing World" 1966 pp 339 and 340) Much of the work was hitherto unpublished in book form.

The whole book has been planned for issue at minimum cost of production, being thereby cut from pounds to shillings, so as to be within the reach of all. The price, packing and postage included, is only 17/- (seventeen shillings), and your copy comes by return of post from: College Publications, 40, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea, Hants. 897

Proving 135 Methods

By JOHN SEGAR

Many multi-method peals of Surprise Major have three leads only in a course. They are the Home, Middle and Wrong leads. A peal could start as above with a lead of Rutland, which could be the only lead of this method in the peal. In the peal of 135 methods composed and conducted by Mr. A. R. Peake there is one lead only of 112 methods.

There are courses of Rutland which cannot be used because they are false against the plain course of this method. There are 21 courses of Superlative which are false against the plain course of Rutland. But why waste time finding the falseness between courses when the only leads involved are the H, M, W? I do not remember seeing any article dealing with the proof of these leads. I regret I omitted from my book what I am about to explain here. Most systems require a lead of each of the 135 methods, an early intimation of the enormous task ahead. The falseness between them can be calculated 135×134=18,090. Never before in the history of ringing has a composer and his friends had a task taking the time this peal needs. It is wise to consider carefully which is the best system. Mr. Peake chose the Blue Line system advertised by the Central Council librarian. Instead of using the figures of the methods it has figures agreeing with the seven blue lines. Copy from each of the 135 sheets the required lead, see pages 4 and 5. The plus and minus signs of methods occur in a variety of ways. While copying a lead bring together for easier examination the rows with the treble in the same place with the same sign. The top row, pages 4 and 5, is 7864235, so copy the figures under 78 on the Rutland page, under 86 of Superlative, and under 57 of London (not in the book). This table should be completed for all positions of the treble. It will show there is no falseness between the selected leads of these methods. As more methods are filled in, duplicates will occur. There is 3+68 in the Home lead of Watford and Rutland, which must be dealt with as explained in the book.

THE RINGING WORLD

No. 2913 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1967 9d.

TOURS AND OUTINGS, 1966

By PHILIP M. J. GRAY

WHAT greater joy has ringing got to offer than the occasional excursion to unknown parts? There is the excitement of the break from routine, the challenge of finding the way along unfamiliar roads, the effort of handling bells heavier and worse going than our own, the delight of sweeter and more smooth going bells and, above all, the enjoyment of one's fellow travellers, some met for the first time and some regular companions for many years past. I doubt whether any other pastime offers such a pleasure as does ringing and I have yet to meet any other body of people so well informed about the highways and byways (especially the byways) of our land as are ringers.

To judge by the pages of "The Ringing World" in 1966, tours and outings are as popular as they ever were but, of course, their nature is changing. In the 18th century we read of a band walking from London to Oxford and back to display their skill on a few rings in that city. In the 19th century the train made it possible to travel further quicker, but the more remote country parishes were seldom visited. Then we hear of the wagonette for outings, the motor-coach and the bicycle. Like most other features of life today, the motor-car has now largely taken charge but it must be noted that in 1966 some travellers still forged up and down hill into the wind and rain on bicycles and the motor-coach has not totally disappeared.

But it is the car which mostly carries ringers about and accounts now record mishaps to crankshafts, tyres and gaskets almost as often as they mention the accomplishment of a satisfying touch of Stedman or a successful course of London. What the record number of towers visited in one day now is I hate to think, but the breathless, surging appetite for bells and miles comes through in most reports. A kaleidoscope of personalities, funny incidents, romances, weights of bells, teas, other refreshments, missed turnings, sun, rain and snow whirls through the lines of these reports like a newsreel played at double speed. I salute the College Youths who travelled in measured tread to Gloucester, had a ring, some tea, perhaps some other drink and home again; no precipitate anxiety to get into the 20th century for the College Youths!

There must be many an outing and some tours which never make the pages of "The Ringing World" and why should they? We do not need to record every such event for the present or posterity. A tour does, nevertheless, provide excellent material for those who can write to contribute something readable for all. One is justified, I believe, in reviewing tours and outings for their literary merit as much as for the events they recount. There is a story in every trip that ringers make; there is a sight, sound or saying that is there to be shared with many more than the few who were present. When writing about a trip, should not the dominant thought be how to entertain the 5,000 or more readers than how to satisfy the dozen or so fellow tourists who pressed the job on you? Literary style is an elusive and personal thing but it is no bad exercise to consider for a moment how Pepys, Cobbett, Borrow, the journalists who write your daily papers or even Ian Fleming would have handled the events you have experienced. I am sure they would have put in much less detail and conveyed the flavour of that particular outing by more careful attention to just one or two events which they thought others might like to share and enjoy with them. Enjoyable though all tours and outings in 1966 undoubtedly were, the accounts of most of them were, sad to relate, a bore.

The year 1966 was not, happily, a complete literary wilderness. One can re-read Hugh Falkner's delightful Rabbit's Run from Jamaica to Melbourne (April 15th) and savour again such an original thought as "The Whitechapel Bellfoundry are paid to hang bells dead and this saves the Rabbit the embarrassment of exposing his deficiencies." The Rabbits' Guild had another hit when their president, Betty Dobbie, gave us witty glimpses of the Universities' Association in motion (October 14th): "Ranald Clouston, often viewed from below climbing a ladder, unchallengeable authority in his own field" is surely the perfect word picture of Ron to the many who know him and the definitive "Identikit" for those who have yet to have that pleasure. October 14th was a vintage number as it also had the anonymous racy account of the Campingologists. The prose positively sprang into blank verse and almost fooled me that camping is enjoyable when experience tells me positively otherwise. Different, but very readable, was Birgit Hoffmann's account (July 1st) of an outing seen through the eyes of a German girl and written in English that ought to shame many of our native writers. Of the more conventional tour reports I found Chris Kippin's on Wratten's Wringers the most readable (September 16th), mainly because of the clever use of recurrent themes (the Test Match score, somebody called Richard and "Yorkshire and score") which gave a connecting thread and sense of progression to the account which was lacking in most others. It made one want to read on to see what happened next.

At the year's end most of us are fortunate to be able to look back on some very happy days on tour or on an outing. May 1967 give us every bit as much pleasure and may you charm all of us with your writings.

Royal Cumberland Youths Celebrate Pinnacle Year

VICAR OF ST. MARTIN'S PRESENTS GIFT OF HANDBELLS

WITH the presence of ladies as full members, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths is providing London ringers and beyond with one of the big social occasions in the ringing calendar. This year's dinner at the Church House Restaurant, Westminster, on February 4th, was the largest in the history of the Society, and a company exceeding 200 participated in a happy evening under the genial chairmanship of Mr. Dennis Beresford, who was accompanied by his wife.

The dinner had the distinguished patronage of the Bishop of London (the Rt. Rev. R. W. Stopford), who was accompanied by Mrs. Stopford and the Dean of Westminster (the Very Rev. E. S. Abbot), because the Cumberlands were privileged to make a contribution to the Abbey's 900th anniversary year. Before the Master was a glittering set of 12 handbells. These, the gift of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, were presented to the Society by the Vicar (the Rev. Austen Williams), who was accompanied by his two churchwardens, Miss F. Nuell and Mr. W. O. Newport.

Canon K. W. H. Felstead, a Cumberland Youth of long standing, had made the journey from Southampton to propose the toast of "The Society" in its pinnacle year with a galaxy of outstanding peals. The gibe against the Ancient Society regarding its "Sevenoaks English" was replied to by its Master (Mr. A. J. Frost). Others on the top table were Mr. W. R. Winterton (who invariably starts the speeches by proposing "The Church") and Mrs. Winterton, Preb. G. R. Timms (St. Andrew's, Holborn), Mr. P. M. Wilkinson and Miss Foster, Mr. D. E. Sibson (the Society's secretary, who had the onerous task of making the arrangements), Mrs. A. J. Frost, Mr. J. S. Barnes (senior steward) and Miss A. Parish.

Following the toast of "The Queen," the Master gave a welcome to the guests. He expressed his gratitude to the Bishop of London for in his busy life coming to spend an evening with them. The Society had the privilege, he said, of sharing in the ringing in the ninth centenary celebrations of Westminster Abbey, when its representatives were entertained by the Dean. It was their delight to welcome the Dean that evening. There was also a special welcome to the Rev. Austen Williams, Vicar of St. Martin's, the Society's headquarters, and to Preb. G. B. Timms, Guild Vicar of St. Andrew's, Holborn, who allowed the Society to practise at his church.

Mr. W. R. Winterton proposed the toast of "The Church" and recalled that he first came to one of their dinners 20 years ago and in that time he had heard 20 different speeches and replies to that toast. Some were quite sermonistic, quite a lot were done by him and, after all, one did not know what attitude to adopt in proposing such a toast which was really one to themselves—for they were all members of the Church. They were delighted to have with them for the first time the Bishop of London. Thank goodness it was a gathering of the Cumberlands and not the College Youths, as they were thus able ot have Mrs. Stopford with them.

BELLS—ONLY TWO MENTIONS IN BIBLE

The Bishop of London, in reply, said if they looked at Cruden's Concordance they would find that bells were only mentioned twice in the Bible and it was perhaps strange that bells should become such a feature of English Church life. Bells became associated with English Church life about the fifth century and then they were rung in the same manner as in some parts of Europe today—noise was made Change ringing was a peculiarly English thing and he did not know why the English should have taken to this somewhat mathematical pursuit and about the 17th century it embodied itself in the life of the Church.

One of the things they could be extremely thankful for was the remarkable revival in ringing ever since the second world war and quite a lot of young people had taken to it. Their Society reminded them that it was not solely a masculine pursuit; many girls and young ladies had taken to ringing and their Society had taken them into their ranks for what they were worth.

"Speaking for the Church, which is all of us, we are immensely grateful for those who ring our bells with such devotion. It has not always been easy to man the towers; now it seems that the future is assured by the activities of this Society and another which we do not mention very often!"

ST. MARTIN'S GIFT OF HANDBELLS

The Master said at the last dinner the Vicar of St. Martin's promised them a gift of handbells. The rules of their Society were changed a few years ago and at the annual meeting it was the unanimous wish of the members that the Rev. Austen Williams should be elected an honorary member. The Master then presented Mr. Williams with an illuminated certificate and welcomed him as a member of the Society.

Thanking the Society, the Rev. Austen Williams said: "I have over the years grown fond of bells. I have always regarded them with a certain amount of apprehension as I live close to the bell tower. . . I feel you have done me an honour but I shall never attempt to ring bells."

Mr. Williams then handed over a beautiful set of 12 handbells and added: "I make one condition. I hope by next year the bells will ring 'Cwm Rhondda.'"

A touch of Stedman Cinques was then rung on the new bells in impeccable style, conducted by the Master. The band was E. A. Barnett 1–2, Miss Joan Beresford 3–4, D. Beresford 5–6, D. E. Sibson 7–8, P. Beresford 9–10, J. A. D. Woolford 11–12.

The toast of "The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths" was proposed by Canon K. W. H. Felstead, who said he was taught to ring by George Williams, who was for many years a revered member of the Society. Mr. Winterton had mentioned 20 years ago; it was exactly 20 years ago when he was asked to take the chair at a Cumberlands' annual meeting. George Cross was Master and George Steere secretary. Alf Pulling proposed Mr. Teddy Barnett as Master, an honour which he declined.

OFFICE OF "WARNER"

Later he found that E. J. Osborne was a Cumberland Youth 125 years ago. He was a kindred spirit of his as they both collected peals. Osborne did a great work in searching out and preserving records of peals which he found in the British Museum. The Canon added that he personally owed a great deal to him. Another old Cumberland Youth was William Shipway and he was fortunate enough recently to pick up his book. From that he noticed that he was "Warner" to the Society of Cumberland Youths. He did not know if his duties were to warn the Society if another Society was trying to capture some of its members. Those were the times when the rivalry with the College Youths was at its height.

In humorous vein the Canon narrated that it was not generally known that St. Peter and the Devil were interested in ringing. They met on the boundary of heaven and hell and had an argument. The Devil said: "I am sure the College Youths started in 1637." St. Peter said: "I am not so sure." It was agreed that they would consult the College Youths in their respective territories. When they met again the Devil said: "November 5th, 1637. All the College Youths tell me so." St. Peter replied: "I will have to take your word for it. There only seem to be Cumberlands up here!"

Concluding, the Canon said the Society was in very good heart under its excellent Master and in the future they would go from strength to strength.

AIMS OF THE SOCIETY

The Master, who was very cordially received, said they were a little surprised at their last annual general meeting when they discussed the rules of membership that they had not been altered for over 50 years. They were surprised by a question that was asked as to what were the principal aims of the Society. One went year by year following what they considered to be the best course to follow. They considered the following: (1) To continue the tradition of one of the old London Societies by the maintenance of the best possible standards; (2) to promote the Society on a national basis as one to which ringers aspire to join; (3) to endeavour to promote a fellowship within the Society that would induce ringers to join the Society.

With regard to the last object they could justifiably claim that they had been successful in promoting in the Society a spirit of comradeship and the success of that dinner proved the point. There were over 200 people present and they were delighted to welcome people who had travelled far. There was a large contingent from Lincolnshire and Newark and other friends from South Wales.

On the subject of fellowship, their big departure last year was the holding of a county meeting at Leicester after a period of retrenchment. This year they were going to visit Northampton in April. Another Society was visiting there later in the year.

Those of them who read the report of the other Society's dinner would find that a certain passage was difficult to understand as it was written in Sevenoaks English. It referred to gullible natives being subjected to proselytising activities from their Society. It was, of course, their aim to increase their membership but they did not regard them as gullible natives but as discerning ringers. This year their proselytising activities would be in Northampton.

PEALS—HIGHEST EVER

Their peal total in 1966 was higher than it had ever been in the history of the Society, with a total of 26 peals. The first peals for the Society in 10, 12 and 14 Spliced Surprise Major had been rung and the first peals for the Society in 6, 7 and 8 Surprise Major methods silent and non-conducted. Peals of Eardley, Milford and Hereford Surprise had been rung for the first time, and a peal of 91 Spliced Minor methods rung in Essex, which was the most methods to a peal for the Society. Their progress during the year had been amazing through their weekly practices and they were indebted to the incumbents of St. Andrew's, Holborn, and St. Martin's for permission to ring.

One of the special items of the year was the ringing of a quarter peal of Bristol Surprise in connection with the ninth century celebration at Westminster Abbey and the cordial welcome given them by the Dean. Another was the memorial to George Cross, and Walter Dobbie made a wonderful oak table for St. Martin's belfry.

Concluding, the Master said: "One of the landmarks this year has been the change in the secretaryship of the Central Council. I think all of us owe a big debt of gratitude to Teddy Barnett for all he has done while he was secretary of the Council, and this Society is proud of him."

Excerpts from a recording of the quarter peal of Bristol Surprise rung by the Society at Westminster Abbey were then played over to the company.

The toast of "The Visitors" was wittily proposed by Mr. P. M. Wilkinson, and the Dean of Westminster, in reply, said one of the merits of a Grant of Royal Peculiar was that it could open its doors very wide, and during their 900th anniversary year they opened them wide and admitted everyone. One great event of the year was the harvest festival and while the gifts were being carried in procession they were accompanied by the ringing of handbells. He was greatly impressed by their gathering— by their youth and by their ladies as much as by their men.

"FAR FROM HOME"

Also to respond was the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, Mr. A. J. Frost, who said from the speeches he could understand why it was customary for the Master of his Society to reply. He had some notes and during the proceedings had written down a line from a hymn: "The night is long and I am far from home." He thanked the large number of members of his Society present for their support—were it not for the ladies it might have been one of their gatherings! At College Youth dinners they toasted "The Visitors and Kindred Societies." He could well understand why there were no kindred Societies toasted there!!

In a few weeks' time both their Master and he would be privileged to be in that room as guests of the University of London Society. That was one of the many Societies of ringers today as there were the territorial Associations, the touring Associations and the peal ringing Societies. From the number of peals being rung today many who took part could be called professional ringers.

Mr. Frost said he would like to take up the point their Master raised that each individual Society should consider its purpose in life and whether it was making its full contribution. He felt it was time a new approach was made. It might be that Saturday meetings made no appeal. "The Ringing World" was undergoing a change; things needed to be changed to keep up with direction of today. Ringing dinners seemed to be popular but he hoped that they would never reach the state of one ringing Society in the West Country that only met for its annual feast!

Middx. School's Progress with Handbells

IT would appear from the article in "The Ringing World" of January 27th, on the activities of the Hunshelf Secondary Modern School, Chapleton, that there lies within the schools up and down the land a large nucleus of potential bellringers just waiting to be tapped. This has certainly been the experience of the writer at the De Brome Secondary Modern School for Boys, Feltham, Middlesex. Over the past two years a bell-ringing society has been formed at this school using, with the permission of the local incumbent, both the tower and handbells of St. Catherine's Church, Feltham.

We are not so fortunate in the number of handbells on loan to us at the Hunshelf School, there being only eight handbells in the Taylor set at Feltham, but this Christmas we were kindly lent the William Barber set of 12 handbells from All Saints' Church, Isleworth, which has given us a little more scope.

The boys in the accompanying photograph astounded everybody by the speed at which they were able to produce quite an extensive repertoire of carols in the short space of three weeks from their joining the Society, plus an extensive amount of blisters. Nevertheless, their enthusiasm undaunted, their first public appearance took place at the school concert on December 14th, when after two weeks' practice they could manage two carols of an acceptable standard to the listening audience. This led to their visiting the old folk's homes in the area, plus Ashford Hospital, Middlesex, where many had a Christmas surprise they had not anticipated.

The headmaster, very much impressed by the performance of these boys, has now ordered from the Whitechapel Bell Foundry a new set of 12 handbells, which will undoubtedly be pressed into active service as soon as possible after their delivery to the school, unfortunately at least 12 to 15 months away.

To anyone who is seeking new ringers to join their Society the writer suggests an appeal to the local schools where, as already stated, a vast number of enthusiastic youngsters are to be found.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The first meeting of the Society since November was held at the 10-bell tower of Bradford Cathedral on January 28th.

Some 34 members were present before the meeting, a much improved figure on recent attendances, and Royal, Caters, Major and Triples methods were rung with varying degrees of success.

Tea was kindly provided nearby and the local company were thanked for this meal.

At the business meeting Mr. Irvin Slack said that he had, on behalf of the Society, brought up the question of the clashing of dates between the Yorkshire Association's practice evenings and the Leeds and District's own meetings, at the Yorkshire Association's meeting at Sheffield. The secretary (Mr. Ian North) suggested that it should be put to the Yorkshire Association that these meetings could help the Leeds and District Society by being held at the same tower, thus swelling the attendance. The vote taken was unanimously in favour of this suggestion.

The meeting decided, after discussion, that with such a short time available it would not be wise to hold a striking competition.

The date of the annual general meeting is to be moved to coincide with a Yorkshire Association meeting. Leeds Parish Church will not be available for this event but it is hoped that the meeting will be held within the city of Leeds.

Next meeting, Birstall (8), February 25th.

Letters to the Editor

IN TRUE PERSPECTIVE

Dear Sir,—In the last few weeks there have been several letters published plainly "sniping" at the St. Martin's Guild. There appears to be no reason for this unless it is that the writers of these letters are upset about their inability to maintain as high a standard in their own ringing.

Mr. Corbishley's letter displayed a remarkable ignorance of Surprise Maximus ringing—he even implies that there is something immoral in ringing peals of Londinium! Peals of this calibre are not "churned out," as he stated—the band has to be recruited and highly trained. In this respect the St. Martin's Guild is to be congratulated in building such a fine band in such a relatively short period of time.

Mr. Button's letter, together with his references to the record length of Stedman Cinques appalled me. The peal was obviously not "guaranteed from the start"—is any peal? The performance was a remarkable study in physical and mental endurance and we in the St. Martin's Guild are proud of the fact that there are enough ringers in the Guild to undertake such a formidable task. Mr. Button's attitude can only be classified as "sour grapes." The annual general meeting of the Guild gave an overwhelming vote of thanks to the band for maintaining the position of Birmingham ringing—at the top! I heartily endorse this view.—Yours faithfully,

PAUL J. RIGBY.

MURPHY OF DUBLIN AND OTHER THINGS

Dear Sir,—Rummaging through some old papers, I turned up a postcard photograph of St. Mary's Cathedral, Cork, Irish Republic, upon the back of which I have written "8 bells, tenor 34 cwt., 1870, Murphy of Dublin; Flat 2nd hung dead, ¼ over ⅛ ins"

I recall visiting the tower about seven years ago and everything then was in an appalling state—steps, tower chambers and bell frame inches deep in sticks, bird carcases, eggs and worse, resembling one of the guano islands off the coast of Peru or Birmingham Cathedral in the pre-Fearn era The bells hung in a timber frame with large clumsy fittings and, although hung for ringing, appeared to be sounded by a chiming apparatus of Ellacombe-cum-Murphy vintage As far as it was possible to judge by chiming them they were not too bad apart from, I think, 5/6, which verged on being what Tom Miller would have termed "noodles."

I should be interested to know something of the history of these bells, whether they have ever been rung, also if any further complete rings by Murphy exist anywhere.

In Cork a chime of eight at St. Ann's, Shandon, is now hung "dead." Can anyone confirm whether or not they have ever been hung for ringing? I have a suspicion that they were prior to 1908.

In passing, is Ronald Dove correct in asserting in his crossword puzzle that the original of "Fenchurch St. Paul" in the "Nine Tailors" is Terrington St. Clement? I have always understood from information gathered in the area that it was a "composite" of Walpole St. Peter, March (the "angel roof"), and Redenhall, but this may easily be wrong. —Yours sincerely,

W. E. BOX.

Harborne, Birmingham.

P.S.—The tower of St. Mary's Cathedral, Cork, besides being lofty, has tall, stout pinnacles and this, coupled with a large west window, seems to indicate that there would be considerable movement if the bells were rung. —W. E. B

TEN-BELL CHANGES

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. H. Shire's letter (January 27th), although I do not hail from the West Country, I may be able to throw a little light on his request for information.

In my home tower (Otley, Yorkshire), there was often talk of "Long Ten," which was stated to be an attempt to make five bells sound like ten bells. There were, however, two schools of thought, and readers will readily detect the fallacies in both.

The first school of thought was that "Long Ten" was rung on the back five of an octave, and went as follows:—

3 1 4 2 3 1 4 5

The other school of thought was that it should be rung on the back six of an octave as follows:—

4 2 1 5 3 4 2 1 5 6

In each case it will be noticed that two bells miss a blow alternately.

There was, however, a difference between Mr. Shire's method and our method. Mr. Shire's is rung with the bells up; ours was always rung with the bells down, i.e. in the chiming position.

It will be readily appreciated how difficult it would be for the two bells missing alternate blows, particularly the tenor. This was eased at Otley, however, by the fact that there was a hammer which struck the tenor bell independently, and was used as a "minute" bell at funerals.

I must confess I had never thought of attempting to ring this with the bells up. It would appear to be fairly simple, in that the two bells which strike alternately would ring "half-pull and stand," which would be somewhat comparable with the well-known "whole-pull and stand."—Yours sincerely,

J. W. HORNER.

DOUBLES NAMES

Dear Sir,—The following Doubles variations were rung in the peal at Chapel Allerton on January 2nd, 1967. Although none of them is to be found in Dodd's and Jones' collection, we believe that some of them may already have been rung to peals and named and we should be glad to hear from anyone who can enlighten us and so help to keep the records free from the confusions of duplication.

TUITION OF BEGINNERS

Dear Sir,—The correspondence upon the subject of tuition of beginners appears to have grown as cold as the early days of January. In answer to a repeated request by Mr. N. Chaddock for information upon methods of tuition practised in the Exercise, I submitted notes which were utilised for an article on page 682 of "The Ringing World." In the preamble to this article I suggested that this was a subject which was without glamour and far too mundane to incite our leading ringers and conductors to meet Mr. Chaddock's request, and indeed the notable lack of disagreement even with my own peculiar and non-traditional ideas lends support to my contention that the average change ringer is a selfish personality. I can only hope that the seamy picture that this paints of our mentors as they ring their long length and multi-method peals can be relieved by the knowledge that Mr. Chaddock has received a crushing volume of mail, sent privately. An affirmative from Mr Chaddock would be gratefully received by all of us, since the only alternative is to believe that our leading bands "win" recruits already trained from more modest and less ostentatious belfries.

There are one or two rays of light amongst the dark shadows. An article by a Yorkshire lady contains the type of information requested twice by Mr. Chaddock If I may comment on Miss Wilkinson's plan, I would first suggest that most of us might find there is something which is new; in my own case the idea of chair-lifting exercises seems quite original and useful, in theory. My second comment is that 20 beginners seem too many, but no one else has given us an idea of the ideal number. Also it seems a dreadful waste of Miss Wilkinson's time to teach these girls if she has no control over their future elementary change ringing.

Mr. Collins underlines the enthusiasm and purpose shown in Canadian ringing in his letter from Montreal. I would compliment him on the production of an excellent visual aid, but I am afraid that he would be very disappointed with the comparatively insipid and mediocre attitude in England, where a multitude of excuses at belfry level would be advanced for not projecting his film. Messrs. Michael King and M. J. Kirk appear to have first-hand knowledge of the problems of tuition, from the reception point of view. However, the lack of Christian charity shown by local ringers in Yorkshire and Nottinghamshire respectively, in deliberately neglecting to assist struggling bands emphasises my statement concerning attitudes.

Other items of information that one can ferret out of obscure corners of "The Ringing World" are more encouraging. Miss Amanda Powell (see page 8) is not the only beginner taught by that progressive Addington band who weekly contribute to our quarter peal columns. At least two Scouts have obtained bellringers' badges during 1966 (see page 844). Rutland High School contains four very active youngsters (see page 828). There is a band of young and enthusiastic ringers in the Lake District under the leadership of Mr. K. Price (see page 787). Redditch High School (see page 6) contains 20 pupils who have been introduced to ringing on a neglected octave. This good work continues, despite the lack of assistance from the peal ringers or from some of the Guilds. I would commend the faceless many who maintain this good work, in the face of ridicule and scorn from several of the Exercise, but would draw even their thoughts to consideration of the latter from an 11-year-old (see page 4): "When I started bell ringing six months ago a lot of my friends made fun of me . . ."—Yours sincerely,

D. C. JACKSON.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern Division Secretary Retires

Although not good, it was a fairly representative gathering that attended the Northern Division annual general meeting at Balcombe on January 28th. Warnham and Withyham were strong supporters, backed up by members of the Western Division. Ringing started smartly at 3 o'clock and the service was conducted by the Rev I. Paton Hunter, Vicar of Danehill, who brought along his organist; grateful thanks were tendered to both. A splendid tea (as usual) had been provided by the local ringers in the Church Hall.

At the business meeting the balance sheet showed a slight drop over last year but it was not considered too bad as individual subscriptions had been introduced in place of affiliation fees.

When the election of officers took place the hon. Divisional secretary (Mrs. E. L. Hairs) intimated that she wished to resign and this information was received with general regret. Mrs. Jean Osbon was unanimously elected to fill the post.

The Master (Mr R. Johnson) thanked Mrs. Hairs, not only on behalf of the Division but on behalf of the whole Association, she having filled the offices of Divisional secretary in the Southern and Northern Divisions, peal secretary and Central Council representative, and during the last war had written up a duplicate book of the whole of the peals of the Association.

The Master commented that the younger generation were now progressing much faster than years ago and were ready sooner for holding office. It would no doubt help the Association if the older members were to realise this. He wanted it put on record that his thanks were also for the enormous amount of work done for the Association over a large number of years both by Mr. and Mrs. Hairs.

Practice meetings were again discussed and it was left to the Ringing Master and the hon. secretary to try and work up a little more support.

Under "any other business" Mrs. Hairs thanked all concerned for their support over the years and promised the new secretary all the assistance she could give.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN E. STOKES

By the death on January 1st of John Stokes, at the age of 64, the Beccles company have lost a faithful member. He became very interested in ringing when driving the coach for the ringers' outing about ten years ago and decided to learn to ring, and in spite of restricted time due to his varied working hours, became a useful and regular Sunday service ringer when his duties permitted. He will be very much missed at the belfry.

MR. E. CHARLES BAILEY

The Beccles company suffered a second loss this month by the passing of Charles Bailey, at the age of 71, on January 16th. Charles learned to ring in 1910, with his father and other members of the family at Rickinghall with the band that made some West Suffolk ringing history before the first world war. He served in Flanders 1914–18 and after the war he settled down near Beccles and became a regular ringer at Beccles and Barsham and, except for a few years during the last war, spent the rest of his life in this district. He rang about 70 peals, shared between the Suffolk Guild and the Norwich Association, and was a staunch churchman, regular in attendance in the belfry and at services and was for some time a member of the Church Council.

He will be very much missed at Beccles, and also at many other Norfolk and Suffolk churches which he often visited and was very well known. At his funeral ringers from Norfolk and Suffolk rang handbells, and the bells of St. Michael's were half-muffled on Sunday to his memory. E. R. G.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSN.

Eastern Branch

The Eastern Branch annual meeting was held at St. Margaret's Lowestoft, on January 28th, and was splendidly supported with just on 50 members attending.

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. K. Wilkinson Riddle, and the address given by the curate, the Rev. J. F. Towler, who is also a ringer. Mr. C. Mitchell played the organ. An excellent tea was served by Sister Riley and her staff at Harleston House, a nearby Church Army old people's home.

At the business meeting the following officers were elected: Chairman, Miss D. E. Lidbetter; secretary, Mr. N. P. J. Cossey; Ringing Master, Mr. J. B. Pickup; Standing Committee, Mr. T. J. Brock, Mr. A. E. Crowe; Branch Committee, Miss M. Kindred, Mr. A. H. Roberts, together with the re-election of Messrs. A. W. Bird, J. W. Forder and J. B. Gorrod.

Meeting dates for 1967 were proposed as: April 15th (Catfield); June 3rd (Blofield); September 30th and December 9th. New ringing members elected: Rev. Peter N. Bond, Roger Newstead, David Wright (Great Yarmouth), Miss Ann Corney, Miss Elizabeth Carr, Rev. J. F. Towler (Lowestoft) and Paul Holsworth (Gorleston). Probationers: Mr. G. G. Townshend, Miss J. E. Groome (Loddon). The belfry election of Mr. R. A. Hunt, of Ruskington, Lincs, prior to a peal, was ratified.

Members stood in silent tribute to the memory of Mr Charles Bailey, of Beccles, who died on January 16th, and had been a member of the Association since 1910, also to Mr. J. E. Stokes, who, although not a member, was well known as a ringer in the District.

Forthcoming practice meeting: March 18th, Haddiscoe or Aldeby. N. C.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District

The 20th annual meeting was held at Newark on January 21st. The 31 cwt. ten sound beautiful in the market place and are well worth the long climb to the ringing chamber.

After Evensong, conducted by the curate, the Rev. Mr. Toons, both he and the Vicar, the Rev. E. J. Kingsnorth, joined a good crowd for tea, at which the Vicar expressed his pleasure in entertaining the District.

The business meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter. In presenting the annual statement the secretary said the substantial balance was not entirely due to the increase in members' subscriptions and the peal booking fee, as the membership had risen by nine and there had been quite a few more peals rung than in 1965. Following up with a report on the year's activities, the secretary said both these facts were healthy signs, and the District began the New Year with considerable optimism for an even better year. One new member was elected, Mr. Keith Vernon of Balderton.

Mr. F. W. Midwinter and Mrs C. W. Reed were re-elected as chairman and hon. secretary respectively, Mr. Peter Wakefield re-elected as Ringing Master and Miss Margaret Chilton a committee member.

Mr. Midwinter gave a report on the activities at Southwell Minster, where he and two others had been teaching a new band. Several people had been taught to handle a bell and to ring rounds and call changes but he appealed for more assistance to help to break into change ringing The next meeting was arranged at Southwell in the hope that taking the District there would fan more enthusiasm in ringing activities generally.

The meeting was brought to a close with a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Charles Copp and ringing continued during the evening. B. N. R.

Mansfield District

The annual meeting of the Mansfield District took place on January 28th at Grove House, Mansfield, and the Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul and, as usual, it was well patronised. In the absence of a resident incumbent the service was taken by the Rev. A. Pettingell, at Mansfield again after a lapse of six years.

Following an excellent tea, the chairman opened the business meeting with a hearty welcome to new members, after which a short silence was observed to the memory of Mr. C. Randall, of Mansfield, who had passed away the previous Sunday, aged 79.

The secretary's report and balance sheet for 1966 were approved, and among items discussed was the Guild's Bell Repair Fund and suggestions on how the District income could be increased.

The following were accepted as Guild members: Mrs. F. Fogg and Messrs. D. Coulson, D. Marsh, P. Sheward, T. Ford, A. Godfrey, A. Whittamore, J. Simpson and A. Nelson, all of Eastwood; A. Wood and Miss M. Horsley of Kirkby-in-Ashfield; C. Pack of Warsop, Mrs. V Sollis was elected an honorary vice-president.

District officers returned were: Chairman, Mr. S. W. Fossey; secretary, Mr. D. J. Beach; Ringing Master, Mr. H. T. Rooke; Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. B. A. Richards. Mr. D. A. Whetton was elected to the committee.

Thanks were accorded to all who had helped with the meeting, and ringing continued with an interesting and varied range of methods until 9 p.m.

Next meeting: March 18th, Selston. D. J. B.

RINGS OF FOUR BELLS IN HUNTINGDONSHIRE

Mr. Percy Amos, captain at Weston Favell, sends us the following corrections to Mr. Peter Abbott's articles on the "Rings of Four Bells in Huntingdonshire":

Catworth tenor 15¼ cwt., not 17¼ cwt.

Brington tenor 5¼ cwt., not 5 cwt.

Glatton tenor 7 cwt. 1 qr. 8 lb. The note is nearer B flat than E flat. Bells rehung in 1908, not 1904. The tenor is only 35½ in. in diameter. To be 9 cwt. it would have to be around 37½ in.

Old Weston tenor is a 35½in. bell and is 7¼ cwt., not 9 cwt. The treble is not pre-Reformation but of the Elizabeth I period. The steeple is three-tier

Offord Cluny tenor is only a 36¼ in. bell and could not possibly weigh 10 cwt. To do so it would have to be around 39–39½ in. Its weight is more like 8–8½ cwt.

Orton Waterville tenor was recast by J. Eayre, not cast. Here there were originally three bells, all by the first of the three Toby Norris's of Stamford, 1606. This Toby Norris founded bells from 1603 to 1626, in which year a plaque in St. George's Church, Stamford, tells us he died. The present incumbent in a conversation with me said he would like to see a recording of other bells in place of the present four. I was recently assured by a well-known ex-Archdeacon ringer in the Ely Diocese that no faculty would be granted this tower for a sham apparatus if applied for, nor yet one to dispose of the bells. To anyone interested in pulpits, this church has a fine specimen of the Elizabeth I period.

JOINT MEETING AT STOCKTON

A joint meeting of the Southern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association and the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association drew over 50 people to Stockton Parish Church on January 28th. One attraction was the Washington Cathedral film, shown in the vestry by Mr. Fred Hodgson, who also showed one of British Railways films on its modernisation, which was of great interest.

At the business meeting the Southern District vice-president, Mr. T. Cooke, welcomed an old friend, Mr. Phil Tocock, whom they had not seen for nearly 20 years but who was stationed in the area again.

The Vicar and churchwardens were thanked for the use of the bells by Mr. T. M. Cox, president of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, and Mr. W. Tyson, president of the Durham and Newcastle Association, was in his usual good form in thanking the ladies for a tea which came up to the very high reputation they have built up.

During the afternoon and evening methods rung ranged from Cambridge, Yorkshire, Little and Plain Bob Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Double Norwich Major, Stedman Triples to several spells of rounds for the beginners. E. P.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Devon Branch held an enjoyable meeting at All Saints', Babbacombe, Torquay, on February 4th, although it was not largely attended.

The ringing, supervised by Mrs. G. E. Retter, consisted of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major. The Vicar (the Rev. A. B. de T. Andrews) conducted a short service, with Mrs. C. Pearson acting as organist.

After a bountiful tea in the St. Anne's Hall, the business meeting followed with Mrs. H. Boobier (vice-president) in the chair. Members were reminded of the annual meeting to be held at Lincoln in July and were asked to book accommodation early. Two new members, the Misses Lynn Murkin and Ann Retter, were elected.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the Branch at South Brent with Diptford (subject to permission). It was reported that flowers were sent to Mrs. Pauline Burnham, the Branch secretary, on the birth of her first child, a daughter, on February 2nd. Votes of thanks concluded the meeting and ringing took place at Torre Parish Church in the evening. A. E. R.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

The largest District annual general meeting at Basingstoke for many years was held on January 28th, with the bells of both St. Michael's and All Saints' Churches being rung during the afternoon and evening. The Guild service at St. Michael's was conducted by the Vicar, Canon Norman J. Woodhall, who is District vice-chairman. The Rev. Kenneth C. Davis, of Tadley, himself a ringer, gave an inspiring address based on the Linlithgow coat of arms on a Garter stall in St. George's Chapel, Windsor. Under the device of the earth split in two is the motto "Spes manet" (Hope remains). In an age when standards of behaviour were declining and few people attended their parish church, he said, bellringers were able to ring out their message of hope into homes having no other contact with the Church.

A fire which damaged Church Cottage in the early hours of Friday morning necessitated quick changes in the arrangements, and the tea was held in St. John's School. At the business meeting the District chairman, Canon F. A. Sanders, welcomed the visitors, amongst whom was the Master of the Guild (Canon K. W. H. Felstead) and the chairman of the Andover District (Mr. G. K. Dodd). He was also delighted to see Church Oakley tower again represented at an annual general meeting.

The meeting stood in silence as a tribute to the late Bert Garrett, honorary life member and for many years captain at Overton.

After the routine business of approving last year's minutes and accounts, 11 new members were elected, all juniors, five from Bramley and six from Sherborne St. John.

The votes of thanks included a special one to St. Michael's captain and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor, who had been working until the early hours of that morning salvaging and washing crockery from Church Cottage kitchen to enable the ladies of St. Michael's tower to provide tea.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The South West Branch held its annual meeting at Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, on January 28th. Some good ringing was enjoyed on the fine ring of eight, including the four standard methods and Double Norwich. A service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Roy E. Harris, and the visiting preacher was the Rev. Eric Hayman, who is a ringer. The organist was Mr. P. Grant Arnold.

Tea was followed by the meeting under the chairmanship of the Rev. Eric Hayman, in place of Mr. T. G. Myers. A minute's silence was observed in memory of Mrs. Owen Thomas, wife of the branch auditor, who died recently. The secretary, Mr. Robert A. Southwood, gave a very fine report on the activities of the towers within the Branch.

Officers re-elected: Chairman, Mr. Thomas G. Myers; Ringing Master, Mr. D. Roy Bould; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Robert A. Southwood; Press officer, Miss Sylvia Sims; auditor, Mr. H. Owen Thomas. New members proposed and accepted were Paul Perkin (Whitchurch), Brian Hancock, Mrs. Julia Steere, Judith Hughes and Susan Davison (Stoke Damerel).

The following programme was decided upon for the coming year, subject to permission: Buckland Monachorum on April 15th, Stoke Damerel and the annual meeting at Plympton St. Mary on January 27th.

The resignation of Mr. F. E. Day was accepted by the meeting. It was decided to hold an annual Branch social event and a committee was elected to arrange this. The committee elected comprised Mr. Barry Knight (Stoke Damerel), Miss Linda Le-Tissier (Emmanuel) and Mr. D. Wheeler (St. Andrew's).

The presentation of a certificate was made to Mr. John P. Sims, captain of the Emmanuel tower, whose ringers came second in a ringing festival held at Stratton in December. Votes of thanks to all who had made it such a success concluded the meeting.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual District meeting of the Farnham District was held at Farnham on January 28th, when 134 members and visitors were present. The service was conducted by Canon J. S. Tudor-Jones with Mr. L. S. Cook as organist. An excellent tea in the W.V.S. Hall was followed by the business meeting, with the Master (Mr. P. Smart) in the chair.

Mr. T. Page (District Master) gave a rather less fiery report than of recent years. The District has 153 members but the average at meetings last year was 29. "I would not complain about the small attendance if it was not for the fact that it is usually the same ringers who turn up every time," said Mr. Page. "The Saturday evening practices attract quite a few visitors and were worth coming along to." He appealed to all to come and enjoy themselves and bring their friends next time.

Mr. Page made a suggestion that an evening practice could be arranged during the summer months at a tower that needed assistance to coincide with the normal practice. Such towers should apply for help. On recruiting, he said it was escsential to start a vigorous campaign. He envisaged a colour poster with a church in the background and a group of people of all walks of life heading for the tower. "No class or colour bar," said Mr. Page. "Perhaps one of our C.C. representatives will take it up. There must be a ringing commercial artist who could produce a suitable poster." Frensham had now restarted and he hoped they would manage to continue.

Officers returned unopposed were: District Master, Mr. T. Page: secretary, Mrs. B. Simpson, treasurer, G. K. Williamson; auditor, W. Viggers. A ballot for Assistant Master went in favour of Mr. M. Church, who also goes on the Executive Committee. Two new members were elected.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Breaking with tradition, the annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at Charminster on January 14th. Bradford Peverell bells were also available during the evening. The Guild service, attended by the church choir, was conducted by the Branch vice-chairman, Canon E. B. Brooks, and an address given by the Branch chairman, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. Tea, provided by lady helpers in the School Hall, was enjoyed by a gathering of 37 members including ringers from North Dorset.

The secretary's report for 1966 stated that membership had slightly increased, Maiden Newton and Upwey towers having rejoined the Branch. Quarter peals had been rung at seven towers during the year and the quarter peal at Maiden Newton was believed to be the first in the Branch by an all-ladies' band. Branch practices had continued on alternate Saturday evenings, and five meetings had taken place. The statement of accounts, showing a satisfactory balance, was adopted.

Branch officers were re-elected for 1967 with the exception of the Ringing Master (Mr. J. W. Rose), who tendered his resignation after six years in the post. Mr. E. H. Amey, of Charminster, succeeds him, and Mr. B. Kear (Wyke Regis) now joins Mr. G. Goringe (Cattistock) as Deputy Ringing Master.

Subject to permission, branch practices will be held at Cattistock on February 11th, Upwey February 25th, Puddletown March 11th, St. Peter's, Dorchester, March 18th, and Wyke Regis April 22nd

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

The ringing chamber of St. Mary the Virgin's was packed to overflowing on February 4th when the Ilchester Branch held a practice meeting at its own home tower. Ringing on the 11¼ cwt. five was under the direction of the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. W. E. Turner) and included rounds, Bob Doubles, Grandsire and Stedman.

A most enjoyable evening was spent and thanks expressed to the Rector, the Rev. G. Thomas, and to Mr. H. Pope for their courtesy in making the tower and bells available.

Next meeting: South Petherton (8) on March 4th (quarterly).

BELFRY GOSSIP

Congratulations to Mr. V. Nutting, who has been elected to a fellowship at Selwyn College, Cambridge.

First year undergraduates at Cambridge have now rung peals of Plain Bob Major on tower bells and "in hand" this academic year.

In the handbell peal of Plain Bob Royal at Halling, Kent (page 53), the name of Thomas Cullingworth, ringer of 9–10, was inadvertently omitted. Our regrets.

The treble ringer in the peal at Blunsdon, Wiltshire, on January 3rd ("Ringing World," page 85) was Roger Fry, not Rev. Roger O. Fry as printed. The error is regretted.

Mr. G. H. Ellis, Ringing Master of the Southern District of the Irish Association, contributes to this quarter's issue of the "Irish Bell News" a clear and practical article on Plain Bob Minor.

It will not be possible to use the bells of St. Catherine's, Montacute, Somerset, for some six to eight weeks while extensive repair work is being carried out to the somewhat notorious "swinging" tower and its roof.

John Mayne conducted his 200th different Surprise Major method in 1966 and was the first person to do so. It was in 1965 that he became the second person to ring 250 different Surprise Major methods, and not as stated in the recent article. The author sends his apologies.

The footnote to the peal of Yorkshire Maximus rung at Nottingham on January 7th was not R. B. Smith's 100th peal of Surprise Maximus on tower bells but was his 100th peal on 12 tower bells.

Found in the belfry after the Sheffield and District Society meeting at Wentworth on February 4th, one large blue sweater. Will the owner please contact the secretary, Wentworth Vicarage, near Rotherham.

The ladies of the Essex Association have scored their first peal— at Tolleshunt D'Arcy, on January 28th. It was a peal of Plain Bob Minor. It would be interesting to know in how many counties the fair sex have recorded peals.

Mr. R. B. Smith writes: "I thank Mr. Hemming for pointing out to me that 5,376 Minimus had previously been rung on handbells. A 5,280 was published in 'The Ringing World' in 1964 as being the record and at the time this was not disputed."

Miss Helen Henderson in sending us two quarter peals which she conducted at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne—Plain Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise Minor—informs us that she plans to come to England some time next year. An accomplished ringer, we are sure she will receive a warm welcome.

BELFRY GOSSIP

BELL OF ST. PATRICK

St. Patrick's bell is the oldest and most authentic relic of Irish Christian metal work that has been preserved for us, having been in existence for over 1,500 years. The bell is formed of two plates of sheet iron which are folded over so as to meet, and then fastened together by large-headed iron rivets, the joints having been strengthened by a jusin of bronze by which the frame was consolidated and preserved.

The bell was used by St. Patrick himself in connection with Christian worship. Bells of this type were used by the Druids and St. Patrick, in order to eliminate prejudices, continued the use of the bells for Christian worship.

After St. Patrick's death, the bell has seen much history—it has been plundered, lost and found.

The Mulhollands became the hereditary keepers of the bell and for this duty they were given a townland near Stewartstown in Co. Tyrone, which is called Ballyclog (town of the bell).

The bell eventually came into the possession of a Mr. Adam McClean, of Belfast. After his death it was purchased by the Rev. J. H. Todd, D.D., for £150. It was eventually purchased along with its beautiful shrine by the Royal Irish Academy for £500.

It is now preserved in the National Museum, Dublin, and has on occasions been loaned for special ecclesiastical events.

St. Patrick may be regarded as the first Christian bellringer in Ireland. He had his own bell-maker, and gave a bell to each Bishop he consecrated.

(From the "Irish Bell News.")

BOURNEMOUTH SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. D. T. Matkin, of Bournemouth, as conductor of two record handbell peals, 13,139 Grandsire Caters and 15,840 Plain Bob Royal, both rung by all-local people, writes sending his congratulations to Mr. R. B. Smith and his band on the record of 10,032 Plain Bob Maximus.

STRONGEST CENSURE

Mr. C. J. Mobbs, president of Oastler College Guild of Church Bell Ringers, Huddersfield, had an unfortunate experience when he booked the film "Ringers Required" in October for showing on February 3rd. The booking was confirmed, but a reminder brought forth the answer that the film was no longer available—as the previous borrowers had not returned it! Such selfish and thoughtless action deserves the strongest censure. Mr. Hobbs had the unenviable task of preparing a hurried talk on the subject.

MINOR PEAL AT WOOTTON WAS HARD WORK

The bells of St. Mary's, Wootton, Oxon, are not an easy-going six, and the band who scored the first peal of Minor there on January 28th can take a just pride in their good peal. Some of the band took part in a quarter peal of seven Minor methods there in Oct., 1965, and it proved such hard work that doubts were expressed as to the success of the venture. However, this time the bells went very well and, although the band had to work hard, it was not so tiring as the quarter peal.

There have been three previous peals on the bells—all Grandsire Doubles. The first peal was on March 13th, 1927, and the others were on March 31st, 1928, and November 5th, 1938.

BELL FOR A NEW RADAR TRAINING SHIP

This bell has been presented to the Sir John Cass Foundation for their new ship in memory of the late Albert A. Hughes by members of his family.

Cass's Foundation in Aldgate in the City of London is a technical college with a department of navigation, and their original training vessel was rammed and sank while moored in the Thames in fog nearly two years ago.

A new motor vessel, 100 feet long, and of 180 gross registered tons, has been completed by Bolson and Son Ltd., of Hamworthy, near Poole, and will shortly be brought round to the Thames for the handing over ceremony.

Mr. Hughes was a governor of the Foundation from 1942 to 1964, and chairman and treasurer from 1957 to 1962 and, as chairman, the original ship was registered in his name.

The bell, which is 12 inches in diameter and weighs 50 lb., was engraved by Mr Warden, of Clerkenwell, with the inscription and coat of arms and was harmonically tuned to G.

LOSSES TO LIMERICK

St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, which has a ringing membership of 18, is losing two members. Mr. George Eades has been transferred to Dublin, and he and his wife, Kathleen (a member of the choir), were presented with a pair of fireside chairs, the gift of the bellringers, choir and vestry. The other, Mr. Alfred Foster, who was married on December 10th, has accepted employment in England.

LADIES' LINCOLN VISIT

The programme for the Ladies' Guild annual meeting at Lincoln on July 1st is: Service in the Cathedral at 12 noon, followed by buffet luncheon in the Chapter House; annual general meeting 2 p.m., ringing afterwards; dinner 6 for 6.30 at Moor Lodge, Branston.

RETURN TO LEICESTER

Sussex has lost one of her leading ringers by the return to his native Leicestershire of Arthur Riddington, from Upper Beeding. Moving south due to business some 14 years Ago, Arthur soon took an interest in ringing at Brighton, especially at St. Peter's. Here he met, and arranged several peals for, that stalwart Harry Stalham, the last being for Harry's birthday.

Gradually Arthur's interest veered towards his own village's bells, virtually unringable, as shown by a well-known tenor ringer. Many evenings were spent "digging" the bells out from the accumulated birds' nests and getting them into a ringable condition before he was able to begin to teach the first of many learners. Through all this he sustained his enthusiasm for peal ringing, helping many younger ringers to gain experience and knowledge.

Arthur did much to foster ties between ringers in Kent and Sussex, frequently visiting Kentish towers and arranging peals in Sussex towers so that ringers from both counties could ring together.

To mark his departure from Sussex two peals were arranged, one in his own tower at Upper Beeding, the other at Harry Stalham's old tower, St. Nicholas', Brighton, the ringers coming from both Sussex and Kent to take part. The Rev. J. Pearson, Vicar of Upper Beeding, was present to thank Arthur for his work in the church, and wish the band success in their attempt, a short prayer being said before ringing commenced. It was fitting that the second of the peals was his 200th in the South of England.

All ringers, especially from Sussex and Kent, wish Arthur every happiness in his new home and hope that he will manage the odd journey down to revisit old friends.

P.C.C. TOLD ABOUT RINGING ACTIVITIES

At the annual church meeting at Carbis Bay, held on February 2nd, amongst the reports given by the secretaries of the various organisations John Copping, secretary of the ringers, reported as follows:

There are 17 ringers and three probationers. The bells had been rung regularly throughout the year on Sundays and other occasions. The full ten bells had been rung every Sunday morning but usually fewer in the evenings.

The band had attended the two Branch festivals at Phillack and Helston and the rededication of the rehung bells at Manaccan. On the occasion of the annual Diocesan Festival at Truro in July this was combined with an outing when in the morning, the towers of St. Agnes, Perranzabuloe and Newlyn East were visited.

Three quarter peals had been rung, two by visiting bands and one by our own band: we hope to do more this year. Two full peals, one by a band from outside Cornwall and one by the Diocesan Guild, had been tried but both had failed. John was thanked for his report by the Vicar (the Rev. A. S. Roberts). This had created much interest amongst the 50 people present.

1,000 PEALS BEFORE MARRIAGE!

In a moment of ringing enthusiasm the bachelor member of the Spalding area peal band declared that he was not going to get married until he had 1,000 peals to his credit. At 50 peals a year this would mean wedding bells in 1982! And now he has been bewitched by a lady member of the band and become engaged. Does she relish a 15-year courtship, or will her charming personality cause him to recant!!

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Salisbury Branch

The annual meeting of the Salisbury Branch was held on January 28th at St. Thomas', Sarum. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, Canon E. J. Chard, who welcomed the Guild to his church.

Presenting the annual report, the secretary, Mr. G. A. Trimby, stated the membership was now 135, an increase over the previous year, and attendances at meetings had shown a slight improvement.

Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. H. A. Roles; vice-chairman, Mr. R. C. Mundy; secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. A. Trimby; assistant secretary, Mr. N. Skelton; auditor, Mr. A. Newman; Ringing Masters, A. Haines, R. Jones, L. Page, N. Skelton, together with J. Baverstock and D. Briggs on the committee.

Meetings arranged for the coming year, subject to permission, are at Wilton, Tisbury, Chilmark, Shrewton, East Knoyle, Chitterne, Winterslow, Amesbury and Damerham.

Ringing continued afterwards at St. Thomas' and St. Martin's towers. G. A. T.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

On the evening of February 4th the ringers at the small Bedfordshire village of Campton were hosts for the first hour's ringing of the Northern District, with thanks to the Biggleswade District for the use of one of their towers. The usual well-known five-bell methods were rung but spliced would not go. It is sad to report that there were not many members present, probably on account of the tower being rather awkward to reach from the District's point of view. Then a few miles back across the border to Pirton (yet another five, anti-clockwise and rather noisy): Doubles and rounds for the ever-present and most welcome learners. Many visitors joined us and we hope that they will renew their friendship at our next meeting—St. Ippolyt's, Saturday, March 4th, 6 p.m. C. M. O.

LATE NEWS

We regret to learn that Mr. Harold Walker, president of the York Minster Society, is in a York nursing home. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

The Bob Course of Stedman Cinques appears in Trollope's "Stedman" (1938) and is familiar to most Stedman conductors. The bob at 1 puts the bells into the Tittum position and the succeeding calls bring rounds in the same course. The plan for coming round is a parallel of that used in touches of Stedman Caters already shown in this series. Here, the bob at 12 holds E8 behind for one six and allows the 10th to come up to the 8th. 8.10 are then kept behind by bobs until the 11th comes from the front. As soon as the familiar termination E80 is heard the omission of further bobs allows the bells to run home.

A little experimenting shows that it is easy to extend this touch to two courses or more. The 240 given here merely adds a single at 7. This call comes when the 6th is dodging in 10-11 up. The 6th is not affected by the single, but 2 and 3 are turned over, so that as the big bells are called home, rounds is just avoided. The whole procedure is then repeated.

The two touches that follow are really quite simple, the second being merely an extension of the first. If the opening couse (a very useful and much used one) is pricked out in full it will be seen that at the calls 6s.7. Nos. 1 and 2 are behind, and the effect of these two calls is to get the treble as seconds-place bell.

COMMENT

FINDING NEW FIELDS TO CONQUER

CHANGE RINGING in England has reached a stage far in advance of anything contemplated as recently as five years ago. Spliced Surprise Major under the guidance and inspiration of Mr. Anthony Peake has climbed to 165 methods, and Mr. Norman Smith has had the immense satisfaction of ringing a peal to 23 Spliced Surprise Major methods in which all the work of all the bells is rung in the stipulated methods. Minor and Doubles multi-method peals have attained fantastic heights and it is not uncommon to read the report of a peal occupying about half a column of "The Ringing World."

The pinnacle of human endeavour, both mental and physical, mounts up steadily year by year. The performances of Mr. Peter Border have set those who study the mastery of the bell and change ringing new standards, and some might say that the time is ripe for opening up a new vista in the art of change ringing. A unique opportunity for inventive genius is being stimulated by the offer of an anonymous donor to provide a prize of 100 guineas for the best new method on an even number of bells in which all the bells do all the work. The idea is to break away from treble-hunt and treble-dominated methods.

We are approaching the time when three centuries will have passed since Fabian Stedman expounded his principle in "Campanalogia." It has stood the test of time; Stedman is still considered to be a very worthy method in Triples, Caters and Cinques. Indeed, the polished performances of Cinques by St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham culminating in a peal of 15,699 changes on November 12th, and the College Youths' outstanding exhibition of ringing simultaneously three peals of Stedman Cinques in London, indicate the favour with which the music of Stedman is held and that it calls even in this age for faculties of concentration.

Can this age produce a method to capture the imagination like the Stedman principle? There have been attempts, as evidenced by Duffield or Forward, but they have never succeeded in becoming popular. A similar idea was promoted by Lord Wrenbury when Saffron Walden bells were being restored, but it fell upon an unresponsive public. Before accepting this generous offer the Editor consulted members of his committee and certain officers of the Central Council. Whilst the view was not unanimous, the consensus of opinion was in favour of the competition being held.

The Editor has been fortunate in obtaining the services of two able assessors, both of whom are well known as composers and peal ringers of repute. It is their wish and also the desire of the Editor that they shall remain anonymous; furthermore, their work shall be divorced from any committee of the Central Council. Methods approved by them will be published under a number—it is considered that entries from well-known names might have an influence on public choice. The main gauge will be ringing the method to peals, quarter peals or touches. These should be reported to the Editor with individual comments.

Lastly, the Editor would like to express a warm thank you to the generous donor who conceived the idea. The prize money has already been paid to "The Ringing World" and it now remains for the ringers of this generation to prove that we have men, and possibly women, among us capable of presenting new ideas in composition to expand the Exercise in directions so far untrodden.

OUR PICTURE

St. Wendreda's Church, March

Mr. Trevor A. Bevis, whose articles and drawings have given pleasure to our readers for many years, provides our front page picture this week. The church, which is a mixture of 13th, 14th and 16th century styles, occupies a position on the Old Fen Road, and the passage beneath the tower preserves an ancient right-of-way.

The steeple is unusual for the Eastern Counties in that it has a turret backbone, which style is found mostly in Devon and Somerset. While the exterior is pleasing to the eye, the famous showpiece of March is the remarkable double-hammerbeam angel roof, which was carved by Suffolk men about 450 years ago. Embodied in the design are over 100 angel musicians, attended by a mute congregation of martyrs and prophets holding books and emblems. No wonder the Camden Society regarded this hammerbeam roof as the finest in existence. It has been said that this roof played a part in the inspiration of that masterpiece of detective fiction, "The Nine Tailors," as Miss Dorothy Sayers, who lived a few miles from the church, frequently visited St. Wendreda's.

The six fine-toned bells, with a tenor of 15 cwt., were cast by Thomas Osborn at Downham Market in 1802, and the treble recast in 1929. With war years excepted, not once in living memory has March Church been without an active team of ringers, and it is thought that they have been manned successively for 165 years. The past 20 years have been particularly rewarding and in that time at least 100 boys and girls have learned to ring. There are at present 18 ringers, and the bells are rung on Sunday mornings and evenings, with practices on Mondays.

63 YEARS A BELLRINGER

A remarkable record of 63 years of bell-ringing at St. Alkelda's, Giggleswick, Yorks, was honoured on January 28th, when a dinner was held at the Black Horse Hotel, Giggleswick, with Mr. William Silverwood, of Marshfields, Settle, as the guest of honour. Mr. Silverwood began his ringing career in 1904 and still, on occasions, gives the younger members of the band the benefit of his vast experience.

Canon E. A. J. Miller, president of the belfry, proposed the toast to Mr. Silverwood, saying that few indeed can have so long a record. Commenting on Mr. Silverwood's youthful appearance, he said that bellringing must be a most healthy form of exercise. He thanked Mr. Silverwood for his exceptional service, not only in the belfry but also in the choir and every church activity. Mr. Silverwood is the only surviving member of the original Church Council founded in 1921, and he has to his credit many years of service as a churchwarden.

Replying, Mr. Silverwood expressed his appreciation and recalled days and names of long ago. He wished the ringers well and said how pleased he was with the progress made in the past year under the patient and painstaking tuition of the conductor, Mr. Stan Wright.

David Parry was thanked for the arrangements he had made for an excellent dinner and an enjoyable evening. It is hoped to hold this function annually.

ONE HUNDRED GUINEAS PRIZE

We are approaching the period of the tercentenary of the works of Fabian Stedman. "Tintinnalogia" was published in 1668 and "Campanalogia" in 1677. These thoughts have induced an anonymous donor to ask the question "Can this age produce a modern Fabian Stedman?" Accordingly, he has generously offered a prize of 100 guineas for the best new system of even numbers of bells in which all the bells do all the work.

The anonymous donor writes: "With the exception of Stedman's Principle, which is still as popular as ever, the system of change ringing which has developed over the past three centuries, and which is now almost exclusively practised, is that of Treble-hunt, or Treble-dominated, methods. By thus confining itself to one form of change ringing, the Exercise may have lost sight of the possibilities, opened up by Stedman, of ringing by other systems."

This competition is therefore arranged to see if any present-day ringer can emulate Stedman and produce a system for even numbers in which every bell does the same work.

THE RULES

1. Entries may consist of one principle. If, however, this principle can be shown to be one of a larger class or system, this will be taken into account by the assessors.

2. Purely theoretical entries are not required; the competition is for a principle or system suitable for practical ringing.

3. In order to give as wide a field as possible, and bearing in mind that a new system would probably require its own rules, competitors may disregard the present rules of the Central Council relating to method construction, but the traditional requirements of starting from and finishing with rounds and without repetition must be observed and no bell may move more than one place at a time.

4. It is not a condition that the principle or system must give a simple blue line extension, although it will be considered a merit if the principle or system can be extended to higher numbers using a reasonably straightforward set of rules. Nor, if for eight bells, is it necessary that the principle should be adaptable for Minor.

5. The competition is not restricted to individuals, for it is envisaged that the best entries may well be the result of collaboration.

6. Entrants are required to submit the following:—

(a) A description of the basis upon which the system or principle is constructed, and how it is adapted for 6, 8, 10 or 12 bells.
(b) A plain course pricked out in full.
(c) Particulars of the means of obtaining longer lengths.
(d)) If suitable for six bells, written out in shortened form.
(e) For eight bells or more, a quarter peal, and a demonstration that a peal is possible.
(f) A clear description of the way of proving the truth of touches and peals.

CONDITIONS

The Editor's decision in making the award is final. He is being assisted by two assessors who shall remain anonymous. Methods worthy of consideration will be published, so as to enable the Exercise to appreciate their value. Due consideration will be given to reports or tests such as peals and quarter peals. When a method is published the name of the entrant will not be announced; he will be given a number. More than one entry may be submitted from an individual or group.

Entries close on December 31st, 1967, and must be addressed to: The Editor, "The Ringing World," c/o Seven Corners Press, Onslow Street, Guildford. Members of the Editorial Committee of "The Ringing World" and ex-officio officers of the Council attending meetings of that committee are barred from entering.

LEADING PEAL RINGER, 1966

MR. G. E. THODAY

Heading the list of peal ringers for 1966 is Mr. G. E. Thoday, of Cambridge, with a total of 116 (conducted 50) and rung in 98 different towers. He works in Essex in the County Council's Motor Taxation Department.

A native of Over, Cambridgeshire, he was born in 1941 and taught to ring there in 1955. He made rapid strides with the invaluable assistance of ringers at Willingham, having rung his first peal (seven Doubles methods) on September 6th, 1958.

Of his present total of 497 (conducted 172), his most memorable attempt was at Exeter Cathedral in May, 1965. A novel point about his 1966 peals is that his first was rung in Suffolk on January 1st and his last of the year on December 31st, also in the same county.

Mr. David Beacham has resigned the secretaryship of the Worcestershire and Districts Association. His successor is Mr. Roy Sheppard.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

Bitterly cold weather; a treble that went so well she parted company with her stay in the first minute of ringing: a tenor which got hot bearings and wasn't going to go anywhere at all: a nice touch of Stedman Triples ably conducted by Mrs. Jeanne Bottomley; Norwich Surprise which didn't manage to get conducted by anyone; a tea which did manage to rise above stale sandwiches: and a whole bevy of new officers—all part of the Guild's annual general meeting held on January 7th at Almondbury.

After a vote of thanks to retiring officials (especially to Miss Winnie Mortimer for three years as a first-class secretary), the following elections were made: Chairman, R. Senior; Master, A. Rogers; secretary, I. Roberts; treasurer, A. W. Bond; auditor, H. Quarmby; committee, P. Birkett, H. Quarmby, D Smith; Joint Council representatives, P. Birkett and E. Lord.

All good men and true, determined to ring lots more Woodbine, Violet and other methods bringing up 65's whilst rejecting Cambridge, London and the like as needless and "Irregular" Southern innovations.

If you like your Minor rung "Cartwheel" come and join us at Northowram on March 4th, where for additional fun we propose to do surgery on the Guild's constitution. I. R.

ALDRINGTON, KENT. — On Feb. 2nd, 1,272 Minor (three methods): E. Clifton 1, Sylvia Knight 2, Brenda Davies 3, H. Deacon 4, B. J. Johnson 5, N. J. Davies (cond.) 6.

Yorkshire Association's Popular Meeting

The general meeting held in and around Sheffield on January 21st was the Association's most successful January meeting for a long time. Whether the attendance of well over 100 was due to the attraction of the six at Walkley, so long out of action, to the election of a replacement for Mr. V. Bottomley as one of the Association's representatives on the Central Council, or to the presentation of the new rules, was a matter of discussion during the day.

A good selection of towers—two sixes (Wentworth and Walkley), two eights (Ecclesfield and St. Marie's), a ten (Ranmoor) and a twelve (the Cathedral)—provided a wide variety of opportunity for members, while the crowds in the belfries provided the Ringing Masters with organising problems.

The welcome given by the Vicar, ringers and parishioners at Walkley, in church, at tea and in the belfry, was outstanding. This was the Association's first visit to the parish; it is likely there will be others if members' reactions have any influence. Mr. E. Hudson spoke for all when he proposed a vote of thanks at tea to everyone who had helped, and the Rev. S. A. Clark (Vicar) replied. He allowed the ringing at Walkley afterwards to exceed the allotted time by an hour so that everyone could ring, and while members organised themselves into bands waiting to ring, they rang handbells and talked with the local ringers and churchwardens.

Some important business was dealt with. The new rules and standing orders were approved unanimously and are now in operation. Two of the more important changes are that "Honorary" members will be called "Associate," and there will be a standing sub-committee. Standing orders for peal conductors are described in detail, and the size of District committees is being reduced.

Mr. John Seager, of Sheffield, was voted to be the new Central Council representative, and the nomination of Mr. Christopher Moxon, of Cawthorne, for the treasurership was received. Mr. A. Bashforth gave a brief report of the 1966 Snowdon Dinner at Catterick Bridge and he was thanked by the president, Mr. V. Bottomley, for making such a success of the event.

Mr. R. Ducker reported that the next Snowdon Dinner, on October 21st, would now be held in the Civic Hall, Cottingham, and not at Beverley, and that there was ample accommodation there.

The annual general meeting was arranged for April 29th at Skipton, and the autumn meeting will probably be at Whitby on September 16th.

New members elected were: Peter Town (Northallerton), Geoffrey Dykes (Scarborough), Philip Moorhouse (Barwick-in-Elmet), Jeremy Burnett (Tadcaster), D. H. Warren, B. M. Warren, R. H. Brueton and H. Walker (Giggleswick), and as non-residents: Katherine Thorley, D. A. Pearce, Marjorie Yarnold, Harry Parkes and Arthur Lewry.

PEAL RINGING IN 1966

656 First Pealers

OF the 5,000-6,000 peal ringers in the Exercise, 3,971 rang peals during 1966. 252 of them rang 25 or more peals, but only one—George E. Thoday, of Cambridge—rang more than 100. Of his total of 116 he conducted 50, and he consequently tied with C. Barrie Dove for the position of leading conductor. For the second year in succession Gillian M. Hunt (née Hussey) is the leading lady, with 75 peals, while her husband, D. John Hunt, with 89 peals, has dropped to second place in the tower-bell list and to third overall. Special congratulations go to No. 8 in the list—Edward Jenkins, of Oldham. To ring 75 peals, many of them on the "heavy end," while in one's seventies is a wonderful achievement. Congratulations are also due to Martin Green, of Leicester, who appears at No. 58. He rang his first peal at Shepshed on January 1st, 1966, and the 48 peals he rang by the end of the year included 44 of Surprise from Minor to Maximus, and one of Bob Royal.

Complete details are published on page 129, but the following are the leading ringers in the main divisions:

TOWER BELLS

FOR MAJORITY—A SUCCESSFUL PEAL A REAL HIGHLIGHT

As John and Gill Hunt passed their index cards to us at the beginning of 1966, it has been possible to compare details of ringers who scored peals last year with those who did so in 1965. Although the number of peal ringers in each of the last three years has remained fairly steady (there were 3,668 in 1964 and 4,010 in 1965, compared with 1966's 3,971), it has become apparent that the actual number of peal ringers is probably nearer 6,000. A check has shown that 1,456 of those who rang a peal in 1965 failed to ring another last year. Since nearly 1,400 of these rang only one or two peals in 1965 anyway, and three-quarters of the 1966 peal ringers did the same, it is clear that the majority of the names we see in the peal columns are those of men and women to whom a successful peal is a real highlight in their ringing lives, something to be looked forward to with excitement, tinged perhaps with an element of dread, and looked back on with pride. In the annual interest in the list of Leading Peal Ringers (sometimes referred to irreverently as "The Crazy Gang") this is something that may be overlooked.

The "hard core" of leading peal ringers, on the other hand, would seem to number something in the neighbourhood of 150, and their names have appeared in all three comprehensive lists that have now been produced.

The ratio between men and women overall also seems to stay pretty constant, with four men to every woman; in 1966 the actual totals were 3,219 men and 742 women. But when the first pealers are considered, it seems that the picture may be gradually changing. There were 656 of them last year—440 men and 216 women, i.e. the ratio here was two to one. But at the same time the fair sex seems singularly loath to accept the responsibilities of conducting. Of 570 conductors in 1966 only 21 were women—and one or two of those contented themselves with ringing their bells to non-conducted peals rather than raise their voices to shout "Bob" at the menfolk!

MRS. GILLIAN M. HUNT

For the second year in succession Mrs. Gillian M. Hunt, of Bristol, has the place of honour as the leading lady peal ringer. In 1965 she gained her success with 100 peals as Miss Gillian M. Hussey. Despite the responsibilities of marriage she rang 75 peals, 18 in advance of her nearest rival. Her peal total is 290.

To finish with, a few more words about those who scored their first peals during the past year. The youngest seems to have been 8-year-old Paul Jopp, of Stoulton, Worcs, and the oldest A. William Gibbons, of Bridgend, who was 73. A total of fifteen first-pealers under the age of 14 augurs well for the future.

The leading first-pealers were:

1. Martin Green	45
2. Keith W. Eaton ..	28
3. David Allman	17
4. Peter J. Church ..	13
5. Owen P. Claxton ..	11

A check was also kept of the Associations and Guilds for which these first-pealers rang their first peals and of which, presumably, they were resident members. While the results are to some extent dependent on the physical size of the Association, they do perhaps serve as a quick guide to the amount of instruction going on in each one. It is consequently hoped that the following list of all Associations, etc., who had ten or more first-pealers may be of interest.

1. Kent County, Yorkshire	40 each
3. Winchester & Portsmouth Dio.	37
4. Chester Dio., Sussex County	35 each
6. Lancashire	31
7. Oxford Diocesan	27
8. Gloucester & Bristol Dio.	24
9. Surrey	19
10. Derby, Southwell, Salisbury Dio.	18 each
13. Peterborough Diocesan	17
14. Bath and Wells Diocesan	16
15. Ely Diocesan, Suffolk	13 each
17. Leicester, Llandaff & Monmouth Diocesan	12 each
19. Coventry Dio., Essex, Hereford, Middlesex, Archdeaconry of Stafford	11 each
24. Devon, Lincoln Diocesan	10 each

SURREY ASSOCIATION
Northern District

Beddington is always a popular venue for meetings and the annual general meeting of the Northern District proved to be no exception. Some 70 members and friends attended the business meeting, at which 17 new resident ringing members were elected. The officers elected for 1967 were: Master, Mr. W. Jackson; hon. secretary, Mr. N. Steere; assistant secretary, Miss A. Mann; auditor, Mr. H. Pitstow; committee members, Messrs. D. Brookes, R. Cooles and C. Mew.

The committee's proposed programme for 1967 of 12 meetings, including a social, striking competition and four Surprise practices, was presented to the meeting.

The new look of the front page of "The Ringing World" was discussed at some length. The general secretary, Mr. W. Parrott, gave details of the type of photographs required for the front cover. On a show of hands an overwhelming majority liked the new style.

Further ringing continued on Beddington bells, when members were able to sample the fine musical qualities of Double Norwich Caters, the special method selected for the meeting.

THE REPORT

The year 1966 has been a very full one, with several new ideas being put into operation. As a direct result of discussion, which started at a Northern District committee meeting, the Association is planning its first dinner since 1955.

Pride of place for originality must go to Mr. C. F. Mew for his series of lectures held at Putney during September and October. They attracted an average attendance of 25.

Mr. John Ketteringham is teaching a band from scratch at Barnes. The District is giving assistance there on practice nights as often as possible. Instruction at two other towers continues but with only mixed success.

A new form of assistance has emerged in the form of a circulating monthly practice. Committee members take turns in raising bands to visit the weaker towers. All previous forms of instruction and assistance have worn stale with time but it is hoped that the circulating practice catches on..

We will be saying farewell to the assistant secretary, Mr. Brian Bull, during the coming year and thank him for his work in the Putney area and for the Association. We are also losing the services of the Rev. Tony Clayton.

Membership shows an increase of 19 to 224. Forty new members were elected. We lost three members by death and 18 left the district or left ringing.

PEALS BY LOCAL BANDS

There were 17 peals rung during 1966; these consisted of two Triples, eight Major, one Caters, five Royal and one Cinques. Two new methods were rung— St. Clement's Triples and Orkney Surprise Major. Both Beddington and St. John's, Croydon, rang local band peals. One hundred and thirty-three quarter peals were rung during the year. The leading tower was Addington with 43, of which 40 were rung for Sunday service. Clapham Common and St. John's, Croydon, rang 13 each and Putney 11.

Striking Competition.—There was a record entry of nine, due in no small measure to the persuasive efforts of the committe. The previous highest total of entries in the 10-year history of the competition is six. Beddington, the only team to ring eight bells, were the winners. Only three towers managed an entry for the handbell competition.

The usual number of meetings has been held with an average attendance of 46, two more than last year. Collections for the Belfry Repair Fund amounted to £10 0s. 6d.

Letters to the Editor

BELL WIDOWS

Dear Sir,—I have for some time wanted to write to you on behalf of those numerous readers of "The Ringing World" who are either not ringers or not any more, namely, the non-ringing wives. "Bell widows" might be a suitable name.

We are, I feel, a somewhat maligned group who, apart from an aversion to spiral staircases, things on the end of ropes that we can't see, and elusive husbands, have very little other objection to bellringing. Yet we are frequently spoken of as though engaged on some sinister campaign to undermine "the art." "Ah, she let you out tonight, then!" lugubriously intoned is a greeting that must echo round many ringing chambers, and, far from leaping to our defence, the sheepishly grinning male basks in his martyrdom!

We, on the other hand, are treated with that gentle consideration that can only, one feels, mask a guilty conscience. "Old X asked me to help him out over a ring at Puggleton next October. Couldn't let him down. You didn't want to do anything that day, did you?" And, of course, we didn't. Though one feels that a genuine campaigning wife would floor him completely at this point by producing from a secret list an unalterable engagement involving the whole family for that very date.

We are, in fact, the essence of patience and tact. We carefully peruse "The Ringing World" on its arrival in the morning post, so that we can tell him what was in it on his return in the evening. ("Sorry, dear, but when I turned round he'd eaten most of it.") We take garbled phone messages about plain young men called Bob who are always having triplets, and majors in Yorkshire who are consequently surprised, and make beautiful sense out of them ("I told him you would be away"). We prepare sandwiches for his trips ("Cheese again?"), pore over columns of minute figures ("I tell you you said it wrong. There's a kinky bit in the middle") and offer dutiful congratulations to peal attempts ("You're home early again—how nice").

But joking apart (well of course we were), there is quite a lot to be said for those quiet afternoons and evenings when there is no one around to leave the daily papers strewn over the floor, deafen the neighbourhood with the radio and monopolise "The Ringing World."

There goes the phone—must dash off and tell them he's out—before he hears it.—Yours sincerely,

DOROTHY WAITE.

North Cheam, Surrey.

GUIDES AND SCOUTS AND RINGING

Dear Sir,—We are writing to say how much we are in wholehearted agreement with the views expressed by R. J. Vidler in your issue of January 27th. Being members of both the Guide and Scout movements and the local company of ringers we feel we can speak up for "two (or even more) hobby people."

To attain our respective ringing proficiency badges we had, amongst other things, to splice ropes, a simple example of a useful activity common to ringing and scouting.

The team spirit, concentration and friendliness one finds and indeed has to have in Guilding, Scouting and ringing is surely proof that various interests can and do help each other.—Yours sincerely,

ANGELA McBRIDE.

BRISTOL SOCIETY PEALS NON-ASSOCIATION?

Dear Sir,—May I repeat my two questions to Mr. Hunt which he has so far ignored: Who are the "officers" of the Bristol Society, and is it correct to suppose all peals rung for the "Society" are non-Association?

Anyway, how can one meet what I presume are purely fictitious persons? There were certainly no "officers" of the "Society" last April and I very much doubt if there are now. Just two plain, straightforward answers, please, Mr. Hunt!

No doubt he will also be interested to read the list of Sunday service ringers in the Gloucester and Bristol report for 1966, showing that I do support Bristol ringing whenever my work permits. A glance occasionally at the quarter peal columns will also show this. Also, Filton is not in Bristol, as it is within the county boundary of Gloucestershire. —Yours sincerely,

A. TUBB.

Filton, Glos.

Note.—Peals rung under the heading of "The Bristol Society" are recorded by the Peals Analysis Committee as non-Association Only Guilds and Associations that are members of the Central Council are recorded separately..—Ed.

PREFERS PEALS IN PRESENT FORM

Dear Sir,—I am sorry that Mr. Ainsworth has chosen to think that I was trying to denigrate the Birmingham ringers' peals. That was not my intention. I was commenting on their obvious disapproval of the present arrangements of peal reports.

The object of mentioning the four peals of Londinium in my previous letter was to question the need for prominence when in one single issue of "The Ringing World" they can consume over half a column of top-class peals. Peals of this nature are quite capable of standing out amongst the others without segregating them. As I said in my last letter, all peals are achievements for someone and should be given the same treatment (except for record peals).

It was difficult to believe that anyone could want preference for their peals but the Editor's footnote to Mr. Taylor's letter certainly implied this, whether intentionally or not, and he did ask for readers' views.

Personally, I prefer the present system of arranging peal reports by Guilds and I am sure there are others of the same opinion. There are probably many who have no preferences on this subject. So, since it is not possible to please everyone, it seems sensible to choose the way (of the two methods in question) which is most economical on space and, therefore, cost, unless there is a great demand otherwise (especially if the saving contributes to giving us more front page pictures!!).—Yours faithfully,

BARRY CORBISHLEY.

Macclesfield, Cheshire.

A FANTASY

Dear Sir,—With reference to "A Fantasy on page 93 of "The Ringing World," I understand that the P.M.G. is to bring the matter before the House during the summer recess. Meanwhile it may be of interest to note that, after a trip to Newcastle upon Tyne, a visit to the Post Office ("Tavern"), a peal of Cambridge Maximus at the Cathedral, followed by a good dinner and an after-dinner party, George is once again his old smiling self.—Yours sincerely,

OLD BILL.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM MASSACHUSETTS

Dear Sir,—It has given me considerable pleasure in recent months to follow the excellent progress of Mr. Norman Sherratt and his band in North Staffordshire as reported in the peal columns of "The Ringing World." From the days when Kidsgrove Parish Church had a pleasant ring of six bells to the present time, when what might be termed the "Kidsgrove" band is ringing peals of Glasgow Surprise Major (vide page 67), there has been a consistent record of achievement coming quietly from this part of England.

Some years ago I had the pleasure of ringing with some of the people who are now realising some of their early ambitions; it was clear to me at that time that nothing but general benefit could come from such evident enthusiasm. I know that Mr. Sherratt himself is doubly rewarded by each new triumph, since one of his most notable characteristics is the obvious joy he derives from the achievements of others.

Perhaps in the not too distant future I may once more be able to join in. In the meantime I must be content with admiration from a "safe" distance.—Sincerely yours,

GEOFFREY DAVIES.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Rochester District

The first quarterly meeting for the year 1967 of the Rochester District was held at St. George's Church, Gravesend, on January 21st, which was attended by over 80 ringers and friends. The ringers' service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. M. P. Beck), who extended a warm welcome to the Association and gave an inspiring address. Tea in St. John's Church Hall was kindly given by the ringers and friends of St. George's Church.

At the business meeting the Rector was elected chairman. A report on the November committee meeting was given by a District representative, and other matters discussed were the one-day ringing school and the Easter Monday annual general meeting.

Mr. L. Mitchell thanked all who had helped with the Christmas draw in aid of the Newington Tower Fund, which raised £45. Fifteen new members were elected to the Kent County Association. An omnibus vote of thanks to all who had helped with the meeting was proposed by Mr. F. J. Cheal, and further ringing continued under the direction of the District Ringing Master (Miss Joan Hayward). Hallowing of Drayton Bells

THE six bells at Drayton, near Norwich, were hallowed on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 5th. The church was packed from corner to corner, with many people standing, and there was an atmosphere of triumph and joy such as many a parish might envy. This village, once small, is expanding with the coming to it of more and more Norwich people, and the church is obviously abreast of events there.

The church, whose origins are Norman, has long had three bells. Michael Frost and his enthusiastic friends have been agitating for some time for a proper ring, and they were determined to obtain one by whatever means ingenuity might discover. "Do it yourself" was the idea, so far as possible, and the new metal bell frame was largely supplied and installed by generous co-operation from local builders and engineers.

Of the original bells, the tenor (weighing 6 cwt. 3 qr. 1 lb., cast by Brasyer of Norwich in the 15th century and inscribed "Dulcis Sisto Melis @ Campana Vocor Michis,") has been retained as the tenor of the new ring, the old 1 and 2 (by Brend, 1660, and Tooke, 1676) are recast as the new 4 and 5, whilst the three trebles are cast of metal from the treble, 3rd, 4th and tenor of Wood Dalling (formerly by Newman, 1697, Newman, 1707, Draper, 1620, and Neman, 1701).

The work has been excellently done by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, and the new bells "marry" well with the ancient tenor, which has been tuned.

The service was shared by the Rector (the Rev. Humphrey Squire), Mr. G. Wood, the lay reader, and the new tower captain, Michael Frost, read the lesson. The president of the Central Council hallowed the bells and preached. Immediately after the words of hallowing and the handing of a rope and the responsibility thus symbolised to the Rector, the bells were rung by six of the local band—Michael Frost 1, Mrs. Margaret Holloway 2, D. Lloyd 3, Margaret Bunting 4, Mrs. Ella Frost 5, Bob Walker tenor.

THE CHURCH ALIVE

In his address Canon Thurlow said: "For 800 years and more there has been a church here, and never has it seen a more triumphant day than this. It has three particular implications—the Church is alive, the Church has a message to proclaim, the Church is a family united in service

No such work as this, involving so much goodwill, generosity, imagination, courage, co-operation between so many people, could be faced were the Church not alive. We are told the Church is dying. Of course there are more ignorant of Christianity than in the past because the Church has been pushed out of one sphere after another where it has pioneered. But the Church is far more alive than one would expect from the spirit of our people.

In an England where the spirit of paganism is so obvious, the fact that there are so many Christians seems marvellous.. Oh yes, anti-Christ is strong! The agnostics and atheists shout loudly, but despite these things—perhaps because of them—the Church is alive! There's more self-criticism, more planning for future difficulties, less self-satisfaction, more courage among Church folk than for a very long time. The Church in Drayton is alive.

The Church has a message to proclaim This is what ringers do! The one fact which proclaims the Church's existence most dearly to the neighbourhood is the call of the bells. Their ringing is an inescapable challenge to all.

The Church is a family united in service. One sometimes hears of ringers who are not members of the Church family. What a reflection on that branch of the Church family! How miserable to have a congregation whose members have not enough of the spirit of service to raise a band of ringers amongst them! It is indeed right and proper that the new band of ringers at Drayton should be first and foremost members of the Church family, who add this way of service to the other ways of service they already give."

TRAINED IN NORWICH

Whilst the work has been in progress during the last few months, these and other enthusiasts in the church congregation have been learning to ring at St. George's, Colegate, under the kindly tuition of David Cubitt and the band there. These bells were made a nice light six by Gilbert Thurlow several years ago to serve as a "teaching tower" for Norwich.

Amongst the large congregation were between 70 and 80 ringers—a goodly number for a Sunday afternoon—from Norwich, Bunwell, Wymondham, Great Yarmouth, Keymer (Sussex), New Buckenham, Thetford, Honingham, Ipswich, Aylsham, Wroxham, Barking (Suffolk), Ruskington (Lincs), Beccles, East Dereham, King's Lynn, Gaywood, Blofield, Caston and Loddon.

A splendid running buffet tea, kindly provided by ladies of the parish, and ringing up till Evensong completed an outstanding day in the life of Drayton parish. G. T.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Visitors from Bath, London, Long Sutton, Wiveliscombe, Wells and Yatton were welcomed at the annual general meeting of the Axbridge Branch held at St. Andrew's Church, Banwell, on January 28th. The Vicar (the Rev J. Bromwich) conducted the service and, at the meeting which followed, the officers for 1967 elected were: Chairman, J Walton; Ringing Master, H. Hopper; secretary, Miss M. Legg.

Two new members were elected from Winscombe, two from Banwell and nine from Churchill. The Branch is nominating John Gilbert as general secretary of the Association.

Subject to permission, the next meeting will be at Compton Bishop (April) with practices at Congresbury (February) and Weare (March)

MR. WILLIAM FAIRES

It is with great regret that we report from Lavenham, Suffolk, the death on January 29th of another of the local band, Mr. W. Faires, at the age of 78 years. He learned to ring at this tower in 1907. This makes four Lavenham ringers to pass on within 12 months.

Bill, as he was known to all ringers, rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples) in January, 1909, and rang regularly in this tower until a few months ago. At the burial service at Lavenham Church on February 2nd the company were represented by Messrs. M. T. Symonds, F. Turner, J. Johnson, C. Curtis, F. Hunt, A. Knight and H. Pryke.

In the evening touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob were rung with the bells half-muffled.

COMPTON DANDO, SOMERSET.—On Feb. 5th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: F C. Mogford (cond.) 1, Mrs. A J. Frith 2, R. W. Treasure 3, C. Allward 4, L. B. Coles 5, L. Batten 6. Rung half-muffled in respected memory of Preb. Frederick Cresswell, late Vicar, died January 27th.

OBITUARY

MR. F. J. COPE

Mrs. E. Mason sends us news of the death in a Guernsey hospital of Mr. Frederick James Cope, aged 60, the elder son of the late Mr. F. E. Cope, of Lichfield, Staffs His ashes were scattered at Bisley, Surrey, where he won many cups for shooting

The Copes were a very old family of ringers unique in their faithful and clever work with bells—both tower- and handbells. The late Mr. F. J. Cope was a bellringer at St. Mary's, Lichfield, and also at the Cathedral. Writing of his father, Mrs. Mason states: "He would walk a mile and back probably four times on a Sunday to ring at the Cathedral and St. Mary's. He had a broad, measured stride which didn't seem to vary or tire, and going to and from church and cathedral his face always wore the look of one with a solemn, serious mission from which nothing sort of an 'earthquake' could have deterred him. Also, he was a man with an old-world sense of courtesy to all men."

MR. W. D. PEART

With great regret we record the passing of Mr. David William Peart in his 85th year, on February 1st

Mr. Peart ("Bill") commenced his ringing career at All Saints' Church, West Bromwich, at the end of the last century. He first rang as a competent ringer in 1898, when a new organ was dedicated. His first peal was rung in 1902 and his last in 1954. He was not a prolific peal ringer but he had stood in 20 peals in his own tower in this period. He was a remarkably regular attender both for service ringing and at practices; even up to the last few months prior to his retirement from the belfry due to ill-health

For many years he was secretary to the belfry and regularly attended Society meetings as a representative of the tower. For more than 50 years he was a member of the choir, in which service he was equally assiduous, as he was in numerous other church activities. He loved his church, he loved the bells and he will be greatly missed.

A quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, with the bells half-muffled, was rung by his fellow ringers on the evening of the funeral as a token of respect to him and to express the ringers' sympathy to his widow. J. R. C.

MR. RALPH BEARD

With the passing of Mr. Ralph Beard, at the age of 85, on January 31st, the band at St. Mary Cray and the Kent County Association have lost a very faithful and well-loved member. He first began ringing at St. Mary Cray before the turn of the century. After his marriage, when he lived away from St. Mary Cray, there was a long gap before he came back to ringing after the death of his wife, about 12 years ago. One of the most faithful members of the band, he was not even daunted at having to learn new methods to enable him to keep up with the rest of the band.

Beside his bellringing, for which he thought nothing of walking two miles each way, often in inclement weather, even after he had reached his 80th birthday, he had a great love for his church and he will be sadly missed from his accustomed place each Sunday. He also took great pride in his care of the churchyard, which work he continued until his 83rd year.

In his earlier years he held various jobs locally, including that of verger at the Parish Church, and in his later years he worked for a local paper mill. Our sympathy is extended to his daughter and her husband.

42365		—		S	2
62345			S		2S
23456		S	S		2

The main purpose of this composition is to provide the basis for a large number of 5,040's containing a variety of popular musical qualities. The 5,040's are produced by omitting an appropriate number of the round blocks (e.g. 2 singles at Home, 3 bobs at Middle) which abound in this composition.

The choice is further increased by the fact that singles at 4½, which produce 87's, may be inserted in any of the courses, thus making available for selection a total of 42 courses, all of which are true with one another.

The following options are also available:

34256	2½	M	6½	H
32654			S	S
36254	2S			S
23456		3	S	—

This block makes it possible to obtain all 24 56 roll-ups.

This may only be used provided that the whole block between and including the two singles at 6½ in the original peal is omitted, except in the case that one of the blocks is rung with 87's throughout, and the other with 78's throughout

42365	2½	M	W	H
32564		—		2S
62345	2S	2	S	2S

This block makes it possible to obtain 13 combination courses with 7890 fixed.

As before, this is only permissible with the same restrictions as for (i). (i) and (ii) may not be used together in a peal.

The following three peals are given as examples:

23456	2½	M	W	6½	H
23546	S		3
42356	S				—
52346			S

Contains 21 56's and 21 65's; 6th 13 courses in 5-6.

24 56's; 3 65 courses.

Peals can also be constructed to include the following properties:

6th 9 courses home and 24 56 roll-ups; 24 6587's and 3 56 courses; 3 courses each of 56, 65, 5687, 6587; 21 56's, 21 6587's; 9 courses of 87's with the 6th in 5ths place and 5 56 courses; 24 56's and 24 6587's (7,200 changes).

A WORSHIPFUL MASTER

Bro. F. Barraclough, of Eccles, Lancs, was installed as Worshipful Master of the Bridgwater Lodge, No. 1213, on February 9th. He is one of our one-armed ringers, having lost his right arm and shoulder in 1940. We wish him good health and a happy year of office.

HIGHCLERE BAND'S PROGRESS

The peal of Plain Bob Minor rung at East Woodhay, Hants, was by the Highclere band, this being the first peal ever rung by an all-Highclere team.

As Highclere has an eight-bell tower it was decided to ring the peal at a neighbouring six-bell tower, and the slow-moving six at East Woodhay proved admirable. In the team was one 12-year-old and three 15-year-olds. It is now hoped that two more of the band will be sufficiently advanced to attempt Triples this year.

First rung at Guildford Cathedral on January 28th, 1967.

This is an ingenious composition. Either the 6 or 5 is in 5ths place throughout the peal and the bells in 6ths place are in the order 2, 3, 4 in the first third of the peal and 2, 3, 4, 5 in the last two-thirds of the peal. It produces the best Tittums music using short courses throughout.

NEW RECORD PEAL

Mr. Anthony R. Peake's band created another record in Spliced Surprise Major on Saturday, February 11th with a peal in 165 methods. The peal was rung at Longney, Glos. There was an attempt on the previous Saturday at Stratton St. Margaret, which came to grief after 75 minutes.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. R. Clarke, of Eltham, conducted his farewell quarter on January 8th. He has accepted an appointment in Toronto, Canada.

Mr. Russell Young, of Groton, is coming to England this summer. He hopes to make his headquarters at Hereford.

To mark their arrival in Perth, Western Australia, Arthur R. Mann and Heather A. Mann with Eileen S. Palin rang a handbell touch of 540 Plain Bob Minor at 9, Grant Street, Morley, W.A.

Stowmarket, Suffolk, bells were returned on February 6th after eight months' absence for recasting or tuning at Messrs. John Taylor and Co.'s foundry, Loughborough. The seventh bell, dated 1672, has been recast.

Mr. Joseph W. Cotton, secretary of the Midland Counties Guild, rang his 1,100th peal on January 24th.

Mr. Tom Goodyer, of Sydney, is planning an overseas trip in 1968. The only fixture to date is the Centra! Actuarial Convention in Munich from June 4th to 11th.

A quarter peal handbell tribute to the late Mr. Cecil Evans, tower master at Aldenham Parish Church, was rung in Western Australia. One of the ringers was Mrs. Heather A. Mann, who was taught to ring by the deceased ringer.

Those who took part in the peal of Havant Surprise Major at St. Cuthbert's, Wells, on February 4th, would like to associate with it the name of Eric Naylor, who was to have been the conductor. Eric had to withdraw on the Saturday morning because of his wife's illness and Percy H. Hull stood in at very short notice.

BELFRY GOSSIP

POMMIES TAKE OVER THE SHOW AT PERTH

According to "The Sunday Times," Perth, Western Australia, there are so many Pommies in St. George's Cathedral belfry that they have taken over the show. And Laith Reynolds, the captain, agrees, for half of his 20-strong ringing force are from England. When the English bellringers were in Perth in September, 1965, Tom Lock and A. Patrick Cannon told the authorities that the bells should be hung lower in the tower to as to reduce oscillation. They also recommended recasting into a ring of ten and new bearings. Ringing on that occasion was limited to two quarters — it was felt that a peal could not be attempted.

We now learn that a public appeal has been launched for $15,000 (£7,500). If the appeal is successful the bells will be shipped to Loughborough and recast into a ring of ten with a tenor about 15 cwt in D against a tenor of 22 cwt in E flat. The scheme is to hang the bells 12 feet lower in two tiers—six on the bottom and four above. This will reduce the strain on the tower.

MR. F. C. MOGFORD RINGING AGAIN

Mr. F. C. Mogford, of Pensford, Bristol, is ringing again, and on February 5th he rang his first quarter since his most unfortunate accident last September, when he broke both legs. As it was, he had to ring sitting on a stool, as the plaster was only taken off on February 1st, and he cannot yet bend one leg. Compton Dando, where he rang, has a ground-floor ring and, for the time being, his ringing will be limited to such towers, as he cannot yet climb stairs.

Through "The Ringing World" Mr. Mogford desires to thank all ringers who came to see him while he was in hospital.

LONG WEDDING PEAL

If the length of the peal was the extent of the affection of the band, then the 10,080 Plain Bob Major rung by the Manchester University Guild at the Church of the Sacred Trinity, Salford, on February 4th, indicates that Dr. David Baker and Miss Norma Coom are exceedingly popular with the Guild. The peal lasted 5 hours and 23 minutes and was the longest for the Guild and for all the band. The happy couple were married earlier in the day and it is probable that they have been honoured by the longest wedding peal on record.

BANKRUPTCY IN IDEAS

There was once a peal-ringing band
Where a "first" in a method was planned.
When success duly came
They were beat for a name
Until the conductor called "Stand"

If you do not believe it, see Surprise Methods, C.C.C. 1964, No. 201.—D. B.

A LIMERICK IN SIX-SPLICED

A ringer renowned for his yells
Was quite handy with "spliced" on six bells
Surfleet and Beverley
He joined up quite cleverly
With London, York, Cambridge and Wells.

Try your hand at composition to introduce more methods. I have another one which has nine methods in it.—D. B.

BOLTON BRANCH'S NEW ACTIVITIES

At the annual general meeting of Bolton Branch, Lancashire Association, on January 28th, it was decided to hold a series of Branch evening practices in addition to the normal monthly meetings. As far as possible these are to be the ordinary weekly practice of the tower chosen, augmented by as many visitors as possible. It is hoped that this will help to introduce to the rest of the Branch these towers whose members do not at present attend meetings.

Alternating will be visits to the towers with few or no ringers at all, to keep the bells going.

The first meeting was at Bolton Parish Church on February 6th, when ringers from Bolton (Holy Trinity), Leigh and Westhoughton joined the local band for their weekly practice.

The next is to be at Holy Trinity, Bolton, on Friday, February 17th, and future meetings will be arranged to suit the convenience of all concerned. It is to be hoped that these practices will be supported by visitors and residents alike, as the extra effort of arranging them will otherwise be wasted.

AN UNSUNG MEMBER

After the peal at Barrow-on-Humber, Lincs, on January 30th, in honour of the 80th birthday of Mr Albert E. Fowler, the band, along with other Barrow ringers, were entertained at his residence. This provided an opportunity for Guild officers to express admiration and thanks to Eddie, as he is affectionately known, for 60 years of faithful service ringing and church membership.

This is probably the first time that his name has appeared in "The Ringing World," but his service to his church has been of great value. All Guilds and Associations have their unsung members, and it is well that at times they are given rightful thanks. That Eddie might be spared many more years to continue his service ringing was the sincere wish of all present, writes the Master of the Lincoln Guild.

SUFFOLK TOWER'S PROBLEM

An appeal may soon be launched to restore the 14th century church at Kersey, near Hadleigh, Suffolk. The cost is estimated at £9,300. At the moment the "Friends" of the church are raising money for the rehanging of the bells and have about £700 towards the £2,000 needed for the job. "With a repair bill of £9,300 for general church restoration," writes our correspondent, "it does not look as if the bells will be overhauled just yet, unless something unexpected happens."

ON SYDNEY TV

The two elder sons of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Goodyer, of Sydney, N.S.W., had a ten-minute interview on Sydney TV in the Children's Programme—"My Hobby." Philip explained lucidly how bells were rung and showed various exhibits such as a bell rope and an old stay to explain his points. Afterwards the boys rang a plain hunt on four bells. In his congratulations afterwards the producer said the boys had the most interesting hobby he had come across.

CARY DISTRICT'S FIRST ANNUAL AT MILBORNE PORT

The holding of the Cary Branch annual meeting at Milborne Port on January 28th is believed to be the first District annual meeting to be held there. The Vicar, Preb. E. D. Buxton, who conducted the service with the Branch vice-chairman (Preb. O. H. Skipwith), mentioned that this was one of his first engagements since returning the previous day from a trip to Canada and New Zealand, that had taken him round the world.

At the business meeting, which followed tea, an apology for absence was read from the Branch chairman (the Rev. G. S. Robinson), and best wishes were sent for his recovery. A silent tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. C. Brown (Templecombe) and Mr. C. Thomas (Queen Camel), who had died during the past year. The secretary's report and balance sheet were adopted and a list of peals and quarter peals rung in the Branch during 1966 read out.

The officers were all re-elected as follows: Chairman, Rev. G. S. Robinson; vice-chairman, Preb. O. H. Skipwith; Ringing Master, Mr. D. M. C. Hill; secretary, Mr. L. McCreadie. Mr. John H. Gilbert, of Long Ashton, was nominated for the post of general secretary.

Certificates were presented to four South Cadbury members, and 17 new members were elected, coming from the towers of Barton St. David, Castle Cary, Ditcheat, Henstridge, Milborne Port, Templecombe and Wincanton.

Quarterly meetings (subject to permission) were fixed for Babcary in April, North Cheriton and Maperton in July, and Bruton in October, with next year's annual meeting at Wincanton. The Corporate Communion is to be held at Henstridge, with Branch practices at North Cadbury, Stoke Trister, Corton Denham and Charlton Mackrell.

South Devon was chosen at the venue for the Branch outing and approval was given to Mr. J. H. Gilbert's proposal that instructional courses in bellringing should be held in Somerset.

Thanks were accorded to the Vicar, organist, tower captain and the ladies who had prepared and served tea.

A return was then made to the belfry, about 60 ringers being present.

RINGING PART OF UNIVERSITY RAG

The Rag Committee of University College of Wales, Aberystwyth, are this year making a special effort for the Royal National Institute for the Blind. A quarter peal was rung on the steps of Capel Seilo. Donations in support will be acknowledged by David E. P. Watkins, 13, Terrace Road, Aberystwyth.

IN MEMORY OF A DOG

It is not often we have quarter peals to mark the passing of a dog, but such a quarter peal was rung at Abingdon, Berks, on February 6th, in memory of "Scamp," aged 14 years. The memorial inscription reads: "In memoriam Rectori canis, nomine Scamp, qui aet 14 ann. A.D. iii, Kal. Feb. ob."

CHILCOMPTON'S PROGRESS

Following a recent report that the Sunday service band at Chilcompton had entered the field of Spliced Surprise Minor ringing, we are now able to report further that this band rang an excellent peal of 16 Surprise Minor methods involving 98 changes of method on February 6th. The conductor was Adrian P. Beck. It is understood that the next attempt will be for 20 methods.

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS

Preliminary Notice

Meeting in Northamptonshire on May 20th. Ringing at Kettering, Northampton and Daventry. Lunch will be arranged. Full details later.—J. G. A. Prior. 1009

Mr. R. Kingsley Mason informs us that in his 300 peals he has rung 153 Surprise Major and three Bristol, not one. Also in the peal of Leicestershire Surprise Major (page 103) the composition was by the late Albert J. Pitman, and not as submitted.

The use of the single in Surprise methods has in recent years become a commonplace procedure; and a device that would, years ago, have caused the purists to uplift disputatious voices has now been quietly accepted.

Whatever the musical advantages secured by this means it can be acknowledged that the single has brought some variety to compositions of Royal and Maximus that have hitherto tended to be somewhat limited in scope. In the case of Surprise Maximus there is the very practical benefit of being able to ring 5,042 changes instead of 5,280.

These touches show the application of the single on a small scale, but they may suggest to the curious some further experiments in the use of this call.

In each case, rounds appears two rows after the backstroke lead at the Wrong. The 1,250 of Yorkshire provides an exact quarter of 5,000, and for securing a convenient quarter peal of Surprise Royal the benefit of the single is obvious.

HEREFORD GUILD

The annual meeting of the Bridgnorth Branch was held at Bridgnorth on February 4th. Ringing in the afternoon was at St. Mary's and at St. Leonard's in the evening. The service at St Mary's was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. G. Abel.

Tea, very kindly provided by the wives of St. Leonard's ringers was served in the Old Grammar School. At the subsequent meeting Mr. Alan Jones was re-elected Ringing Master. Mr. Tranter (of Madeley) Deputy Ringing Master, and Mrs. Joan Bennett secretary/treasurer. Mr. A. Elsmore agreed to continue as auditor, and Mr. F. C. A. Bennett Branch member of the Hereford Guild Committee. An encouraging feature of the meeting was the number of young ringers present. J. B.

A painted board with a red border was recently found at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry containing the above five peals rung in West Surrey about 150 years ago. They were all conducted by William Baldwin whose age is given as 22 in the peal painted on the wall of Holy Trinity belfry, Guildford. Some names have been obliterated by age.

"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

This unique work, second in the series entitled

is complete in itself. Its subject is treated both for beginners and for advanced practical ringers. It is not a textbook on specific methods, of which several exist; but it shows, for the first time, the detailed structure of the general plan of change-production, by types of methods, traced from 3-bell (basic) to 12-bell stages.

Well bound in an attractive stiff cover in blue with gold lettering the book measures 8" x 6¼" x 1" and contains nearly 300 of such large pages with some 80 figures or diagrams, also 8 double-page and 5 single-page "charts." Included are series of "definitions" and "axioms" listed to serve as an index. Paragraphs throughout are numbered for ready cross-reference. Chapters close with test-questions and indication of answer-location.

This book is very highly commended, especially by leading members of the Exercise, including the Rev. Canon Gilbert Thurlow, M.A., Fredk. Sharpe, F.S.A., and E. C. Shepherd. (See "Ringing World" 1966 pp. 339 and 490). Much of the work was hitherto unpublished in book form.

The whole book has been planned for issue at minimum cost of production, being thereby cut from pounds to shillings, so as to be within the reach of all. The price, packing and postage included, is only 17/- (seventeen shillings), and your copy comes by return of post from: College Publications, 40, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea, Hants. 897

"SUMMONED BY BELLS!"

By the REV. ERIC HAYMAN

Let us now praise famous men
Such as did bear rule in their kingdoms,
Such as have brought tidings in prophecies,
Such as sought out musical tunes.

The Lord manifested in them great glory;
Peoples will declare their wisdom,
And the congregation telleth out their praise.
Ecclesiastes XLIV.

"SUMMONED by Bells!" John Betjeman, one of England's best-known contemporary poets, has done all church bell-ringers a great service when he chose that evocative phrase as the title for his long narrative poem which he published in 1960. For that title, together with its cover design of three great bells, has been displayed in many book-shops and on many book-stalls in our country, in America, and possibly on the Continent; and thus has brought into public prominence one of the most familiar and latent characteristics of the English way of life; English traditional activity, English native genius; and English church worship.

"Summoned by Bells!" We cannot even begin to think of England and her history without hearing, in that same moment, the Sound of Bells. The church bells of England have rung, almost without cessation, down through more than a thousand years of English history. . . .

In our cities and in our towns, in our villages, and even in our hamlets, the church bells have called Christian people to their parish churches for Sunday worship. The church bells have pealed out their warning in times of national crisis, have rejoiced in times of national celebrations, have marked the passing of countless Christian people, the great and the lowly, and have given to thousands of church bellringers the satisfaction of achievement, and the exercise of intellect.

"Let us now praise famous men." This is just what the church bells of England have been doing for a thousand years. Warriors home from the battlefields, or great sailors home from the fighting stations of the seven seas, marching in triumph through their native cities, and the church bells ringing in their honour. Look through the many books on bell ringing and notice the many peals, half-peals and quarter peals which have been rung to commemorate the achievement of some famous person.

"Such as did bear rule in their kingdoms." The church bells of England have always paid their due homage to Kings and Queens and Princes and Statesmen. There has been hardly a State or civic occasion in our country but which has not been accompanied by the Sound of Bells.

Coronation and Burial; State Visits and City Freedoms; Royal Jubilees and lesser commemorations. Within all these cameos of royal and of common life the Sound of Bells has been heard, adding to the pageantry or to the solemnity of the occasion their own peculiar tribute.

"Such as have brought tidings in prophecies." The bell has always sounded the tocsin of danger. There is the strident clamour of the fire engine bell. There is the penetrating boom of the single bell warning sailors of a submerged reef or a dangerous shoal. And there is the sound of many bells in a church tower telling out the news of invasion or of some national calamity.

And, together with the tidings of ill, there has always been the tidings of good. A victory at sea. A king is crowned. A new year has come in. A royal child is born. And, Sunday by Sunday, the church bells ring out their greatest good tidings of all: the tidings and news of a Loving God and a Living Lord!

"Such as sought out musical tunes. . . ." We have come, now, to the heart of it all. To those men who have made bellringing, as we know it today, possible at all. This art, this science, has received far less acknowledgement than is its due, and part of my task is to remedy this defect and to make good this omission.

The English Church has always had her wealth of church music and musical tunes of the finest quality, and it is a parody of the truth to ask why the Devil should have all the best tunes. Turn back the pages of English church music and great names appear . . . Thomas Morley, William Byrd, Thomas Tallis, Henry Purcell and many other composers of church music down the centuries into our own generation.

These are names written upon the manuscript pages of our Church's musical history. But there are great names written upon other pages also. The plain white pages upon which are written, not notes of music in staff notation, but row upon row of familiar figures: some five—six—seven—eight—nine—ten—and some eleven to the row. The names of the men who have written down these numbers are also famous in their own right, for they, too, are "such as sought out musical tunes" and are composers of an integral part of the Church's music.

John Holt, Samuel Lee, William Crofts, Jasper Snowdon, J. J. Parker, Fabian Stedman, John Garthon, Thomas Thurstans, William Shipway, John Reeves and a host of others. These, too, are composers of the Church's music. And as such they must never be forgotten. . . .

Their names, like their genius, evoke the whole rich atmosphere of English bellringing, the English church, and the English countryside. Some of these names will be familiar to you, some may not. And these that I have mentioned are but a few of the great campanologists of England: men, who through a knowledge of mathematics, and a skill for permutation, "sought out musical tunes" from mere figures. Who heard in the ever-changing sequences of numbers as they wrote them down the sound of bells making merry music to the Glory of God!

To the average man in the street, and even to the faithful on their way to church, these "musical tunes" are but the Sound of Bells . . . but to the experienced ringer there is something more: for to him, and to her, each "musical tune" has an ethos and a quality all its own. The very titles of these "musical tunes" have a ring of old England about them. They have the nostalgia of the English countryside, and they speak of the rich heritage of English history.

These "musical tunes" have the power to bring a man to tears, for they speak of God and His love. . . . They have the power to awaken in the sorrowing heart a new hope of Heaven, and to renew in an anguished mind a faith in God that was almost lost. . . .

Stedman Doubles and Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob Major, Kent, and Bristol, Caters, Royal, Cinques and Maximus, praising God—and making a merry noise before the Lord! Every bell in her place. Striking cleanly, hand and back. . . . And down below in the ringing chamber, hid from the gaze and acknowledgement of the people, the ringers stand beneath their bells. The composer is dust, but his music lives on—translated and transmuted into Call Change and Method and Round.

There is a discipline and a seriousness in the ringing chamber which only those who ring can really know. There is a co-ordination of hand and eye, and heart and mind, that only the ringer can truly appreciate.

The common weal is the desire for perfection, and the common bond is in the aspiration towards excellence in ringing, be it simple Rounds or complex Method.

Young men and maidens, old men, and not-so-old men and ladies, all compose this goodly band of church bellringers: in our land, in our county, and, indeed, in this South West branch of our Guild. I do not feel that I have dramatised or over-idealised this fine art and science which you and I practise. Some of you

INSIDE STORY OF A LANCASHIRE TRIUMPH

"HOW about ringing a few peals of 'spliced' again, Norman?" This simple question put in the summer of 1966 could be regarded as the beginning of a sequence of events culminating in the ringing of "23 all the work" on December 31st.

We had rung a series of Norman Smith's compositions up to 24 methods in 1964 but three members of the band had now left the district—and so this was to be regarded as a new beginning. But by now Tony Peake and his band had already broken the Yorkshire record of 53 methods and seemed likely to carry on and set new records far beyond what we could hope to achieve. So what could we do?

Norman came up with the answer. "I've been working on an idea that theoretically should lead to a composition of 23 methods—with each bell doing all the work of every method!" At first the significance did not dawn on us. What was magical about the number 23? Then it hit us. There are only 23 courses in a peal of Surprise Major and if every bell was to ring a full course of each method then this was the maximum number of methods that could ever be rung in a peal of normal length. This was staggering. As far as we knew "Pitman's 9" or "Crossland's 10" was the existing limit in this field—and to suggest that 23 was possible seemed fantastic. "The idea is so simple," Norman added, "I'm surprised it hasn't been done before now.'

Although the idea of a regular seven-part peal might be simple, we were under no illusions that the ringing of such a composition would be simple. As it would involve the learning of over 150 different leads, we would have to work up to it gradually and get used to ringing the methods with the tenors parted. So a band was formed, some dates were fixed and within a few weeks Norman produced a composition of 13 methods—the standard eight plus five of the methods he had used in his previous compositions—Uxbridge, Cassiobury, Cornwall, Ashtead and Lindum.

Our first two attempts met with no success but we were gaining confidence and getting further each time. For the third attempt Cray and Ipswich were added but this, too, was lost after about an hour and a half's good ringing.

INSPIRED CONFIDENCE

Double Dublin was added for the next attempt and Neil was able to join the band for the first time. This fourth attempt was successful and a good peal was rung on the fine eight at Heptonstall—16 spliced, all the work. No doubt Neil's presence contributed largely to this success, not only because of his own ability and certainty but also because of the confidence he inspired in the rest of the band.

Another attempt had been planned for the following day with an unnamed method "Whalley," to be included. This proved quite a tricky method and led to a breakdown in the third part.

Although we had only scored one peal out of five attempts we were ringing with more confidence, trips were being quickly corrected with little disturbance and we all began to feel that the final target of 23 was in sight. Wembley and Glasgow were the next methods to be included; a Friday night's practice attempt proved valuable; and a good peal in 19 methods was rung on the Sunday afternoon at Burnley. The next attempts were fixed for after Christmas—21 methods (including Watford and Tavistock) on the evening of the 28th and the ultimate 23 (adding Jersey and Preston) on the morning of the 31st.

A CHRISTMAS OF SQUIGGLY LINES

There were thus at least eight people whose Christmas activities were tempered by the drawing and learning of countless squiggly lines; but it paid off, because both attempts were successful. The "21" was rung at Accrington despite one or two shaky movements, and the "23" was scored at Bilsborrow—a very good peal apart from a few over-anxiety errors as the end was drawing near.

Derek Butterworth, who had stood in some of the early attempts, kindly came along to umpire and take tape recordings of the peal. Afterwards the band returned to Preston, where a celebration cake was eaten, wine was drunk, and the recording played back to prove to ourselves that we really had succeeded at last. (We are not quite sure whether the celebration was put on for the successful ringing of the peal or the fact that husbands would now reply when spoken to and all those strange looking diagrams could now be thrown away.)

The band were unanimous in their praise of the composition. It was not just a collection of any 23 methods that would fit. It included the standard eight methods plus some which had been used in his previous compositions, so that bands who had rung these compositions could more easily move in to the "all the work" ones. It carefully avoided the reversal of coursing pairs in 7-8 so that there would be no 8-7's; many of the methods were included because of their specific qualities of difficulty or difference from each other; and, although the tenors are parted for almost half the peal, it produces much interesting music.

The same band rang the composition again on the following Saturday with Walter Wilkinson ringing "inside" (he had previously rung the treble) and Neil Bennett conducting it.

"SUMMONED BY BELLS"

have been ringing church bells for years, and I pray that you have found in this your Christian vocation. Some of us have only just begun, and to every young ringer here this afternoon I would say just this: "Let the discipline that you must accept in the ringing chamber as part of your membership be a lesson in the greater discipline of the Christian way of life."

My last words this afternoon I would like to address to every individual ringer present at this service. On practice evenings your ringing is partly for your pleasure and mostly for your learning. On Sundays, throughout the day, your ringing is an act of worship.

To the dedicated ringer, the service begins when he or she first handles a bell, whether to rise or whether to go into rounds. From the very moment that your bells commence to ring the act of worship has begun. The bells, your bell, is sending forth to a largely disinterested world outside and below the good news of God in His Son, Jesus Christ.

The writer of the book Ecclesiastes could not foresee the great company of church bell ringers and composers such as I have spoken of this afternoon. But his words ring true of all who compose and conduct and ring our bells:—

The Lord manifested in them great glory,
Peoples will declare their wisdom,
And the congregation telleth out their praise.

2nds place i.e. 142

The first lead of each part is a lead of the plain course of Yorkshire, the part ends being the lead ends of the plain course

In each of the seven parts three bells remain in plain coursing order with a 4th bell also in P.C.O. fo. 14 of the 23 leads. The fixed bells are as follows:

1st part	246(8)
2nd part	532(4)
3rd part	875(3)
4th part	468(7)
5th part	324(6)
6th part	753(2)
7th part	687(5)

The first fixed bell in each part, i.e. 2 in the 1st part, 5 in the 2nd part, is the bell that is in 2nds place at each of the lead ends of the plain course of Yorkshire. The composition may be reduced to a variety of lengths by omitting any number of 3 bobs at W or complete parts with the exception of the first lead, e.g. for a quarter peal with tenors together ring 1st lead of parts 1, 2 and 3, part 4 with 3 bobs at W omitted 1st lead of parts 5 and 6, and the whole of the last part.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Eastern District

Good use was made of the very hard-going six at Little Munden, where the Eastern District held its monthly meeting on February 11th. Ringing ranged from Cambridge Surprise to rounds. The ladies who provided tea in the Village Hall were thanked by Mr. E. Newman

Next meeting: St. Mary's, Ware, March 11th.

Where Peals were Rung in 1966

By R. H. DOVE

MOST of the peals rung in 1966 will now have been reported and doubtless the official peals analysis will appear in due course.

I have been keeping a record of towers where peals were rung during 1966 solely to satisfy my own curiosity The official Central Council "league table" will no doubt be rather more accurate than mine but, including four peals of which I am told the reports have got lost, I make the total number 3,003, and they have been rung in 1,487 different towers

Eighteen towers reached double figures as follows:—

1	Loughborough Bell Foundry	53
2	Birmingham Cathedral	45
3	Daventry Parish Church	19
4	Leeds Parish Church	16

Surprisingly, most of the towers where the higher numbers of peals obtain are in built-up areas, which suggests that proper attention has been paid to sound control and perhaps tolerant neighbours or a combination of both.

Yorkshire heads the "County Championship" with 213 peals rung in 88 towers, with Kent (157 peals in 79 towers) and Lancashire (153 peals in 61 towers) second and third respectively.

The second county in the number of towers, Somerset, recorded 130 peals in 84 towers, the highest "score" being four peals in only two towers

Thus Bristol with peals in 16 of its 24 towers, comes first, Cheshire second with 55 per cent., and Sussex and Nottinghamshire tie in third place with roughly 47 per cent. of their towers recording peals.

At the other end of the scale, in Devon and Cornwall, where less importance attaches to peals, the rate falls to nine per cent.

Wales's 78 peals were distributed over 44 towers, while Scotland recorded but one, Ireland nine and outside the British Isles, Canada contributed one peal, Australia two and Africa and the United States one peal apiece.

A sign of the changing times is the frequency of peals at the Cathedrals and, apart from Birmingham's mammoth total, there were ten peals at Leicester, seven at Guildford, six at Bristol, five at Llandaff, four each at Lincoln and Wakefield, Bradford, Rochester and Lichfield recorded three peals, and of the remaining 29 Cathedrals of England and Wales where the bells are pealable only four failed to record a single peal, the exceptions being Carlisle, Gloucester, Manchester and Bury St Edmunds.

Similarly, the percentage of 12-bell towers with peals in 1966 was high, and of the 61 towers in the British Isles eight only had no peal. They were Quex Park, Cirencester, Christchurch Priory, Ipswich, Taunton, St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Shoreditch and Dublin.

I rather think this may be the first time a census of peal towers has been taken or at least published and, as far as I am concerned, it will be the last—a new edition of "Dove" will take up all the time I can spare as well as a lot of time I can't spare.

Lewisham District K.C.A. at Chislehurst

Twenty-three years have elapsed since the last meeting of the Association at the Church of the Annunciation, Chislehurst, and the hope was expressed at the quarterly meeting on January 28th that it would not be as long to the next visit.

Those for whom this was a first visit to the church would find several distinguishing features. J. Brooks was the architect for the church, which, together with the lower stage of the tower, which is virtually detached, was erected in 1870 as a daughter church to St. Nicholas' to meet the needs of the growing population in that part of Chislehurst. It was not until 1930, through the enthusiasm of the then Vicar, Canon S. E. B. Serle, that the tower was completed to the design of E. J May, who is said to have been inspired by the towers of Exeter Cathedral. Following the advice of the late Canon G. F. Coleridge, the design ensured good sound control in that there are no louvre openings, but a sound lantern is provided on the roof. To further minimise the volume of sound in this predominantly residential area, in June last year a floor was erected over the bells with trapdoors incorporated so that the bells can scarcely be heard outside on practice nights, etc. The fifth bell was installed by Gillett and Johnston as the clock bell and, three years later, in 1935, John Taylor and Co. installed the other seven.

In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, the Rev. D. V. Reed, the service was conducted by Father Shackleton, who also gave the address. We were fortunate in having a choir to lead the singing, with Mr. Frank Seabrook at the organ; the Rev. P. N. Bond read the lesson. During the service we remembered Albert Bates, of Farningham, who had died since the last meeting.

Some 90 ringers and friends were present at tea and the meeting in St. Mary's Hall, with Father Shackleton in the chair. Ten resident and two non-resident members were elected. A comprehensive report of the Association's November committee meeting was presented by Paul Smith. Joint practices had been held at monthly intervals and the meeting felt these should continue Colin Tester, District Ringing Master, was prevented by evening classes from attending some of the practices, and therefore an assistant was proposed to assist him Michael O'Callaghan being elected.

Following the success of last year's ringing school at Frindsbury, it was hoped to hold two schools this year jointly with the Tonbridge District the arrangements being left in the hands of the District officers. Congratulations were extended to Mr. E Barnett on his 70 years' membership of the Association. A comprehensive vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting was warmly received, and the company then returned to the tower to enjoy further ringing to suit all tastes from rounds to Bristol.

Next meeting (subject to permission): St. Mary Cray, April 22nd.

WOODBURY, DEVON.—On Jan. 28th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples, G. Skinner 1, F. Williams 2, J. H. Glanvill 3, D. A. Wills 4, C. G. Bryant 5, G. West 6, F. D. Mack (cond.) 7, A. E. Knight 8. Rung to welcome the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Dawe.

Letters to the Editor

IMPORTANCE OF THE STANDARD AT THE TOP

Dear Sir,—I refute Mr. D. C. Jackson's belief that the average change ringer is selfish Human would be more correct and we, as Christians, all know what that entails.

As for the leading change ringers, they have a job to do, and that is to set a standard. Long length and multi-method peals create new horizons and these produce an even greater challenge for those capable. Think of Roger Banister and the mile; if these barriers are not broken we would live in a very dull world and nobody would strive to do anything The standard at the top creates standards below.

Not everybody can teach, and some with the best brains are known to be bad teachers. At the same time those who can teach well should, as I am sure most of them do. Instruction in the art of change ringing is not easy and should be done well. I would like to see much more attention paid to style in handling a rope This I fear is much neglected in many towers and it is very important. A good style looks neat and adds much to the house of God.—Yours sincerely,

J. M. L. HOOTON.

Ardingly Sussex.

RECRUITING SCOUTS AND CHOIRBOYS

Dear Sir,—My brother, a fellow ringer, and I are keen scouters, choristers and bellringers!! We form the backbone of our Sunday service band and are also getting on well with change ringing. Personally, I think that it is a matter of keenness; if someone is interested in bellringing he will, usually, pick it up quickly. Also, if really keen, he will go to Branch meetings, practices at other towers, etc., and therefore have more chance to learn quicker.—Yours faithfully,

J. HEREWARD.

Maiden Newton, Dorset.

TUITION OF BEGINNERS

Dear Sir,—I would like to thank Mr. D. C. Jackson for his keen interest in the above subject ("Ringing World," February 17th, 1967, page 112).

However, perhaps he will forgive me for asking readers not to identify me personally with all his views.

In answer to his query, I may say that I have received private communications from a few people. Work on the script has started and is proceeding.—Yours faithfully,

N. CHADDOCK.

BELLS OF ST. FRANCIS', SALISBURY

Dear Sir,—According to "Dove's Guide," St. Francis' Church Salisbury, which is under construction, has five bells from the disused church at Imber, Wilts.

It appears that the parishioners have little or no interest in having the bells hung, although the financial state of the church is in a very healthy position.

It now seems (subject to the P.C.C.'s approval) that the bells are to be given to Edington Priory, Wilts, to be incorporated in the proposed recast ring.

I might also add that the other bell given to St. Francis', Salisbury, to form the treble bell, was sold about two years ago. — Yours faithfully,

N. O. SKELTON.

PENGE BELLS RING AGAIN BUT . . .

Dear Sir,—On moving to Penge, S.E.20, two years ago, I at once started ringing again I visited most of the towers in the district and tried to find out from other ringers what ringing there was at my own Parish Church, St. John's Penge. They all seemed very uninterested and said there was no band.

So with the Vicar's permission and with the help of my wife and son, we started to train a band That was two years ago; we now have a very keen band which includes three West Indian students. We ring twice on a Sunday and practise on Tuesdays at 8 o'clock Enthusiasm is so good that we hope very shortly to attempt a quarter peal.

The Kent County Association have not come to see us or give us help in any way. We did hope they would, as our tower is in their Lewisham District We are now trying to find some way of leaving this Association and joining, perhaps, the Surrey.

Could anybody please give us advice on this subject.—Yours faithfully,

GEOFFREY H. GOODYEAR.

TEN-BELL CHANGES

Dear Sir,—Messrs. Shire's, Lavers' and Horner's letters in recent issues on ten-bell changes bring back happy memories of quite 70 years ago, when I learned to ring at the little Devon village of Musbury, about three miles from Axminster, on the Seaton road. We rang call changes with an open lead and practised rising and lowering on handbells standing behind each other in order. The performance of rising ringing (call changes) and lowering, chiming and ceasing without a note struck after the order of a foot stamping by the captain was the task which learners had to carry out in no uncertain way of instruction.

On special occasions or for a change we rang the ten-bell row and, if my memory or young brain at that time serves me right, the third was silently muffled at backstroke and the tenor at handstroke; the pull-off instead of rounds was 1 2 4 5 3 1 2 4 5 6. Call changes on 1 2, 4 5 rung steadily, the third in fifths place and the tenor behind, produced very beautiful music.—Yours sincerely,

W. A. OSBORN.

Yeovil.

"LAZY FOUR"

Dear Sir,—Mr Horner's letter describing the "Long Ten," which was rung at Otley, recalled to me some ringing that I saw and heard at Shorwell, Isle of Wight, some years ago. We held a Guild meeting there and all the local band turned up, some six or seven ringers of a tower with five bells. After we had done our best to help them ring Bob Doubles it was suggested that the locals did some ringing, whereupon the ropes were manned and when asked what they intended ringing the captain replied "Lazy Four." How this really worked I can't honestly say except that the 1, 2, 3 and 5 changed each half-pull with the fourth coming in every other pull. The striking was good and the musical effect equally good.

Unfortunately the bells are now very difficult to ring, but the ringers are still around.—Yours sincerely, L. BAILEY.

Godshill, I. of W.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

THERE was a record attendance of over 70 members for the annual meeting of the Society held at All Saints', Hessle, on February 11th. A pleasing feature of the meeting was the large proportion of young ringers, many in the learner stage, and the Ringing Master (Mr. R. Ducker) had some difficulty in catering for the varied requirements of such a large number of people within the scope of six bells which are not the easiest to handle.

The service in church, a shortened form of Evensong, was conducted by the Society chaplain, the Rev. F. Ross, in the unavoidable absence of the Bishop of Hull and the Rector of Hessle. A substantial tea was provided in the Parish Hall and, in a short break before the business meeting, the president (Mr. K. Kirk) presented the Albert Sellars Memorial Cup to Mr. I. J. Booth, the captain of the band at St. Mary's, Cottingham, judged by the Ringing Master and committee to have made the most progress in 1966 to further the aims of the Society.

The annual reports submitted by the General Committee and the Ringing Master were formally approved and reference was made to an average attendance of 45 members at 12 meetings held during 1966. The balance sheet showed a credit balance of £39 as compared with £32 at the end of 1965, and subscriptions were collected during the year from 170 members. Thirty-seven new ringing members, two honorary life members and four non-resident members were elected during the year The Beverley Society is well known for the number of married couples in its membership and the number was increased during the year by the weddings of David S Johnson (of Kirk Ella) to Elizabeth Peace (of Shelley), Keith Goldthorpe (of Kirk Ella) to Christine Anderson (of Leeds), and the Rev. F. Ross to Rosemary Bailey (of Hessle).

The Society officers were re-elected for the year 1967 as follows: President, Mr. K. Kirk; vice-president, Mr. N. W Castle; Ringing Master Mr. R. Ducker; Assistant Ringing Master Rev. F. Ross; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. B. Cooper; assistant secretary, Miss J. Gray; committee, Rev. F. Ross, Messrs. I. J. Booth, D. S. Johnson, J. Brooks and R. Hawtree; hon. auditors, Miss C. Ham and Mr. F. Scotney; librarian, Mr. A. B. Cooper

The Ringing Master, in his first report as Master, stated that there had been at meetings a much greater proportion of lesser experienced members in attendance, which did not make the Ringing Master's job any easier. The year had provided plenty of firsts—ten "first attempted" quarters, eight "first inside," 12 first peals.

The annual report of the Society is a very praiseworthy effort and the majority of towers presented encouraging reports on Sunday service ringing and a good stream of recruits.

THE WIGAN METHOD OF TRAINING

BY J. W. HORNER, OF WIGAN

IN "The Ringing World" (June 24th, 1966), Mr. Norman Chaddock, the convener of the S.S.R. and Education Committee of the Central Council, asked for contributions on the teaching of campanology.

I would like to say that my method of teaching bell control is that published in the manual of the College of Campanology, which appeared as a series of articles in "The Ringing World" several years ago and which, I understand, is known as the "Cathedral system."

It is obviously not for me to set out in this article the whole of this system but I have found the logical, step by step drill to be extremely useful in teaching bell handling and control and I would commend it to anyone who is interested in the subject.

START WITH PLAIN BOB

As regards the teaching of change ringing, I have often seen suggestions that beginners should be taught Grandsire as their first method. Personally I much prefer to start them off on "Plain Bob." My reasons are mainly two-fold:—

(1) Grandsire starts off with a "dodge," which is only an added complication to the many which face beginners.

(2) "Plain Bob" will come round at the end of the first lead (without a "dodge," of course), whereas Grandsire will not.

I also think that "Plain Bob" is a much better starting point than Grandsire.

The only methods which I know of (and here I may be wrong) which would follow Grandsire are Stedman and Erin. "Plain Bob" on the other hand can be the starting point for almost any method. I even tell learners that, for a start at least, Grandsire can be regarded as "Plain Bob" with two "trebles" stuck together.

PROGRESSION FROM PLAIN BOB

Again, once a learner can ring "Plain Bob" reasonably well it is not a big step to "Treble Bob," thence progression can be made to "Double Court," "Double Norwich" and Surprise methods.

I also feel that it is not necessary for a learner to be complete master of one method before he goes on to a new method. I find that learning new methods has a lot in common with learning new languages. Each new language that is learned is helped by the ones which have been learned previously, and also helps in a better understanding of those learned previously.

As regards rising and falling a bell, I never attempt to teach a learner to do this until he has at least some little experience in ringing changes. I feel that it is impossible for a learner to control a bell halfway up until he can control it when it is fully up, and this he can only do adequately when he can ring changes. I know, of course, that not everybody would agree with this, and I appreciate that many tutors are successful in teaching a pupil to rise and fall in the quite early stages of his training. In this connection it is perhaps worth mentioning that we always rise and fall in peal at our tower.

A NOTTINGHAM GOLDEN WEDDING

On Friday, January 20th, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salter entertained St. Peter's, Nottingham, ringers at their home in celebration of their golden wedding. Needless to say, the handbells came out and the evening was much enjoyed by all, not the least by Fred himself. The winter keeps him indoors and he has been rather poorly of late but he is always pleased to see friends at 64, Randal Street. His wife devotes herself to his welfare.

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS—No. 32

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

The first double to appear in this series, made up of two youngsters from one tower. Both have a promising ringing career, and the majority of their ringing has been done together.

PHILIP TAYLOR

Philip, who is now 14 year of age, started his schooling at Woolton Hill Junior School and is now at Park House Secondary Modern Boys' School. A member of the Highclere Church choir, he started having ringing lessons at his church in August, 1964, under the watchful eye of the tower captain, Mr. G. K. Dodd, who has instilled in Philip from the very first lesson the need for good striking.

Philip rang his first quarter of Plain Bob Doubles at Woolton Hill last April and, with five of his fellow ringers, his first peal—Plain Bob Doubles—at Longparish on June 8th. Ringing his first peal with him was his father

Three months later came his first of Bob Major, at Aldermaston, and Plain Bob Triples at Highclere for the annual bellringers' service. Five of the local team took part, including his father, who was scoring his first peal on eight.

Philip's ambitions include conducting and eventually ringing in a peal of Glasgow Surprise. The latter ambition was fired by hearing the first peal in the method for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild rung at Highclere in March, 1965.

Inspired by his conductor (Mr. Geoffrey Dodd), Philip has an enthusiasm for new towers, recording no fewer than 120 last year Another is helping to get silent bells ringing again. Not always successful was his attempt, with four other young friends and with the backing of the Vicar to get the three bells ringing again in the neighbouring village of Faccombe. The invasion by these young ringers was objected to by the lady who owns the village and tower. One of the wheels was repaired by Philip and his helpers, only to be pulled apart by one of her workmen!

On New Year's Eve he conducted his first quarter, with his father ringing his first on a working bell, and on New Year's Day his first of Plain Bob Minor, with G. K. Dodd as a non-ringing conductor. With the exception of his father, all the band were 15 or under.

PETER FURNESS

Peter, aged 12, attended Highclere Junior School, where he passed his 11-plus, which took him to his present school, Newbury Grammar. Like Philip, he is a member of the church choir. He started ringing at the age of nine in company with his mother and two brothers, being introduced by his schoolteacher, Mrs. Green. All of them were members of the choir. Peter, like his elder brothers, passed his 11-plus into Newbury Grammar School.

A month before his 11th birthday he rang his first peal—Plain Bob Minor— at East Woodhay in August, 1965, from the second. It was a creditable performance with very few mistakes, reports his instructor. So far he has rung six peals, including Bob Major at Aldermaston and Plain Bob Triples at Highclere. His ambitions include ringing a peal with his two brothers and mother and to be a member of the Highclere team to win the Aird Challenge Cup of the Andover District.

Peter and his family enter fully into the social life of the Highclere team which includes two outings a year—one in August to a seaside resort with ringing at five towers, and in the winter to London, which includes a theatre and ringing at four towers en route. With the loyalty and enthusiasm of its young ringers, Highclere may well look forward to the future with confidence.

ALL LADIES' PEALS

Dear Sir,—In reply to the item in "Belfry Gossip" (February 17th) about peals rung by the fair sex there have been two rung at Hughenden, Bucks, for the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild—a peal of Grandsire Triples in 1956 and a peal of Plain Bob Major on August 6th, 1966.—Yours faithfully,

R. BIGGS.

OBITUARY

MR. G. A. BARBER

St. Mary's, Battersea, has suffered a great loss in the death of George A. Barber, at the age of 67. Although not well known in ringing circles he gave devoted service to St. Mary's belfry A peal last year marked his completion of 50 years as a ringer at Battersea.

It was chiefly through his perseverance that the bells were not silenced in the 1930's and he did an inestimable amount of work to achieve the rehanging and retuning of the bells in 1938.

Yet George's chief work was the instruction of beginners. This task he did unflinchingly and with great patience. His pupils will agree with the Vicar when he said at the funeral service that George will be remembered as a "gentle man." — A. J. C.

MR. WALTER L. C. BARLOW

By the death of "Bill" Barlow the Windsor Branch has lost the service of a keen and loyal ringer.

Bill started to ring at Edmonton in the 1930's, being taught by Mr. and Mrs. G. W Fletcher. He joined the Middlesex County Association in 1938. Captured at Dunkirk whilst serving in the Rifle Brigade and a prisoner of war for four years, he did not return to ringing until 1962, but he did so with enthusiasm and was always prepared to rearrange other business in order to attend on practice nights and Sundays. His wife died two years ago and a son and daughter are bereaved. He will be greatly missed at St. John's.

MR. JAMES CLEMENTS

Hundreds of visiting ringers to the magnificent church at Salle, in Norfolk, must have met and enjoyed the welcome of Jimmy Clements, who for 50 years gave loyal service as sexton and verger to that beautiful place. He died a month ago, active to the last of his 78 years

Though he had never learned the art, he was keenly interested in his bells. He was critical of the standards of all who came, expert and beginner alike were heartily welcome. Mr. Clements will be sorely missed; he was one of those irreplaceables who give in abundance more than can reasonably be expected

MR. A. L. JAMES

The death on January 13th of Mr. A. L. James was a great shock to ringers and all departments of High Wycombe Church. Born in 1889, he came to High Wycombe in 1947 and was not then a bellringer. When he climbed the belfry steps in response to a post-war appeal for ringers he was well over 50 years of age. Mr. James made good progress and was soon able to hunt the treble to Triples and Major or drum the tenor behind. In this capacity he took part in many quarter peals.

He was a little man with a very big heart—always willing and anxious to help in any way whatsoever with anything connected with the church. He was always there when needed. It was a tonic to tired spirits to see him drumming the High Wycombe 30 cwt. tenor to a quarter peal of Caters. In all he did he was a pattern for the younger generation.

During the last few years he found the tortuous belfry staircase more than he could manage but he had climbed them once or twice recently when occasion demanded.

On the evening of the funeral, January 17th. members of the local band rang a near-perfect half-muffled quarter peal of Stedman Triples to his memory, which gave all who took part a certain sense of satisfaction. We hope that in some way he heard it. S. M. B.

MRS. E. M. FREEMAN

Many members of the Exercise will have heard with regret of the death of Mrs. E. M. Freeman the widow of John Ashley Freeman and mother of John and Michael.

Mrs. Freeman had many friends among ringers and many found a welcome at 95, Sincil Bank. She gave her interest to all ringing meetings, outings, tours, etc., and although her own ringing was confined to a little on handbells she was an enthusiastic supporter of her family's activities, and indeed of all ringers.

The funeral took place at her Parish Church of St. Peter-at-Gowts and was attended by many Guild and Cathedral representatives.

Our sympathy goes to John and Michael.

J. M.

MR. EDWARD HOWES

The sudden death of Edward Howes, of North Elmham, on Tuesday, January 31st, at the age of 63, came as a great shock to members of the Norwich Diocesan Association. Ted was a delightful friend with a zest and joy of living which endeared him to all who rang with him. He will be sadly missed, especially by members of the Western Branch, and long remembered

Ted Howes rang his first peal at Buxton in 1925, when, with other keen members of the local band, he joined the Association. He became an excellent striker on six bells and was an active peal ringer before leaving his native village. From Happisburgh his work took him to Mellis and finally to North Elmham. Here he played a leading part in the work which led to the recasting and restoration of the bells in 1962 and the raising of a new band to ring them. The tower representation soon rose to a dozen members.

For some years Mr. Howes had been a member of his Association's Standing Committee and recently had been elected chairman of the Western Branch. His peal total for the Norwich Association was 79.

On February 4th the bells were rung half-muffled as Ted was carried to and from his church for the service, conducted by the Rev A. Eden, which preceded cremation at Norwich. Many ringing friends attended. Later the same day as a last tribute a half-muffled peal of Double Norwich was rung at North Elmham by members of the Northern and Western Branches in thankful remembrance.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Football Fever at Marlborough

Despite the powerful attraction of an English cup-tie at nearby Swindon, there was a good attendance at Preshute on February 18th. when the Marlborough Branch held its monthly meeting

Besides Branch members, visitors were present from Reading. R.A.F. Wroughton, Stratton St Margaret and Lechlade.

Ringing commenced on the light six but, after half an hour, No. 2 was unfortunately thrown over, bringing the proceedings to an abrupt halt. Efforts to locate the key to the bell chamber proved unavailing and further ringing was limited in scope.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. D. Shorten), the lesson being head by the Rev. Roger Keeley. Miss Heather Jones, of Aldbourne, was organist.

Tea at a Marlborough café was enlivened by soft background music from chairman George Newman's transistor radio. The reason for this became apparent as 5 p.m. approached and the football results began to be announced. A breathless hush reigned until the Swindon result came through, when the resulting cheer would not have disgraced the County Ground! A highly elated party then made its way to Mildenhall, where, on another light six, ringing was continued under the direction of Mr. Fred Read (Ringing Master). W. A. E.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

FOR the Leicester Diocesan Guild quarterly meeting at Birstall on February 11th there was ringing at Rothley, Thurcaston, Wanlip and Birstall during the afternoon. The Vicar (the Rev. A A. Lander) conducted the service held in the new church at Birstall. Afterwards 80 members adjourned to the schoolroom, where Mrs. Smalley and her helpers had prepared an excellent meal of tomato soup, turkey, apple tart and cream, cheese and biscuits and coffee.

Whilst the tables were being cleared the St. Mary's (Siteby) handbell ringers entertained by ringing "The Sound of Music," "Edelweiss," "My Favourite Things," "Country Garden," Purcell's "Trumpet Tune," 'Morning Town Ride," and finishing superbly with "The Can-Can." The transpositions have all been arranged by the leader, Mr. M. White

The president, Mr. B. S. Payne, said how pleased he was to see so many people present, especially as the Birstall ladies had worked so hard in preparing such an excellent meal. Twenty-five certificates of membership were presented. The president, in asking for nominations for Guild officers, to be elected at the A.G.M. on April 1st, announced that he was unable to stand for the office of president for the ensuing year. Two nominations were received—Mr. A. E. Rowley, of Ibstock, and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, of Leicester. All other officers were proposed en bloc.

Two proposals for alterations to rules were forthcoming: That junior members should not be allowed to vote at general meetings (which caused much discussion) and the complete rewording of the rule governing the Bell Repair Fund.

The election of 41 ringing and seven non-resident life members was confirmed.

Thanks were accorded to incumbents of towers open, the Syston District Committee, the Birstall ladies and the handbell ringers. Further ringing took place in the evening at Birstall A. J. P.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

St. Stephen's St. Albans, was the tower for the District meeting on February 18th, the ground-floor six inspiring a fair attendance. Methods including York and London were rung until 4.30 p.m. The Rev. A. Hart-Synnot took the service (which was also sharp!), remarking on the high percentage of young people present An excellent tea followed at the Cavalier Hall.

The Rev. A. Hart-Synnot took the chair for the business meeting. New members elected were: Misses E J. and M. P. Shelley (St. Michael's, St. Albans), Philip Roberts and Carol Parhurst (St. Stephen's, St. Albans), Daniel Keen (Harpenden, transferred from probationary to full membership) and Mr J. R. Mayne as a resident member.

The secretary, Mr. Keith Walpole, announced a course on belfry maintenance to be held in St. Peter's belfry on Thursday, March 16th, at 7.30 p.m.; there would be a talk and demonstration. East tower was expected to send at least one member!

Mr. Gerald Penney said the Cathedral Society would like to invite the District in July: final details will be announced later.

There was also a request from the secretary: Would anyone who has a black and white photograph and the negative of any tower in Hertfordshire (preferably in the St. Aibans District) please let him have both as soon as possible.

A vote of thanks was proposed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to Robert Hardy for playing the organ, and to the St. Stephen's ringers, led by Alison Macfarlane, for the first-class tea. Evening ringing followed until 7.45 p.m.

Next meeting: Welwyn, March 18th.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. P. S. Abbott writes thanking Mr. P. Amos for the corrections to his article on the rings of four bells in Huntingdonshire.

By a ratio of 37 to 2, members of the Northern District of the Surrey Association preferred the new heading and a picture on the front page.

A Ringer's Diary, containing photographs of the Great Bell of Moscow, was left in Eye Suffolk, belfry on January 28th. Write: R. E. Lester, 40, Stowmarket Road, Needham Market, Ipswich.

Ted Hutchby has made 12 red, white and blue wool mats for St. Peter's, Nottingham, and presented them to the tower. He was unfortunate not to score his first peal at Greasley recently.

A peal of Stedman Triples was arranged at Darley Dale on February 22nd for two of Messrs. Mears and Stainbanks' staff—Arthur F. Lewry and Harry Parkes, who are working on the rehanging of Hathersage bells.

In connection with Mr. A. L. Bennett's tour of North East Devon on February 18th, a peal board at Huntsham Parish Church recording the first peal ever rung in Devon, in the year 1875, created much interest. This was Grandsire Triples in which two members of the Troyte family took part.

Mr. C H. Rogers is the new secretary of the S. and W District of the Middlesex County Association.

"The Ringing World" is tremendous value for money and could never be replaced."—Canon Gilbert Thurlow at the Sir A. P. Heywood Memorial Dinner, Chesterfield, on February 18th.

The peal at Erith (see page 118) was rung with the best wishes of the band to George and Anne Butcher on their silver wedding anniversary. It was also the first peal of Rutland that Tony Lewis had called.

Mr. Nolan Golden, president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, has been in hospital again and is due for another major operation early in March. The good wishes of some hundreds of ringers are extended to him.

The Prime Minister announced in the House of Commons that the United Government's gift to mark the golden jubilee of Canberra is to take the form of a structure housing a carillon on Aspen Island on Lake Burley Griffin. Three Australian and three United Kingdom architects are to be invited to take part in a competition for the design. The cost of the gift, including the competition, will be about £200,000.

SCARBOROUGH "OUT OF SEASON"

After our visitors for the holiday season left us in late September, life has not by any means been dull for the bellringers at St. Mary's Parish Church In October we held our quarterly meeting, at which it was decided to redecorate the belfry. Almost immediately work was started and by Christmas it was completed, several of our team helping to make it resplendent in the new blue colour scheme. In November a coffee morning was held by the younger members, which raised £4 towards the cost.

A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples came round ten minutes too soon, when two bells crossed. This was rung in memory of the victims of the Aberfan disaster.

On Tuesday evenings the handbell team were practising carols and by Christmas had 17 in their repertoire. Several evenings out at Christmas time raised £10 11s. for Save the Children Fund.

Early in the New Year our new ropes were put on the bells with sallies in a colour combination that has not been seen anywhere else.

The climax of our activities came on Saturday, February 4th, when a dance was held in the Parish House. Around 300 youngsters danced to the beat of "The Urge," a local group from Filey. Proceeds from this successful venture were £44 and, after expenses were paid, we had a profit of £25.

On Wednesday evening February 15th, we held our annual general meeting, at which it was decided to have the handbells overhauled at John Taylor's foundry, and that the annual outing would be in the Harrogate-Ilkley area and to be held on July 1st. Also the election of officers was delayed until our next meeting in May.

Once again we shall be looking forward to our visitors during the coming summer and hope they will enjoy their stay in Scarborough and ringing with us. E. P. K.

MAIDSTONE GRAMMAR SCHOOL SOCIETY

This Society was re-formed after a lapse of three years, in December, 1964, under the excellent captaincy of Mr. P. F. T. Smith and vice-captaincy of Mr. J. C. Britton, both masters at the school. Experienced ringers in the Society were few and many started learning to handle a bell by visiting three churches in rotation—St. Michael's, Maidstone, Holy Cross, Bearsted, and St. Peter's, Aylesford.

As our members became better ringers they joined local bands and now the majority ring regularly for Sunday services and are valuable assets to their local band.

In the summer of 1965 we were offered the opportunity to ring every week at St. Nicholas', Leeds: this use we gladly accepted as it gave us a permanent base.

The year's ringing was brought to a fitting end by an "all-school" band ringing the first quarter peal for the Society at Hollingbourne in January, 1967. P. R. K.

"ELEANOR SPRIGGS" PEAL

Regarding the recent peal at Saxlingham Nethergate, composed by "Eleanor Spriggs," Mr. Nolan Golden writes: "On inquiry I am satisfied that a peal was truly rung. The composition was a reduced 27-course block. I regret the childish stupidity in reporting and am glad that none of our resident members is responsible."

The conductor has also written affirming that a true peal was rung.

PEAL GRABBERS

Captains, in your towers, how many
Human beings ring, if any?
"We're six," you say, or "eight" or "ten."
You may be wrong; survey your men.
Within that close-knit band of brothers
A few may be unlike the others.
So pay attention to these lines
And learn to recognise the signs.
Their brains are clear, their eyes are bright—
Oh, they're intelligent, all right.
At opening time they're down there first
(They're permanently crazed with thirst),
They don't mix much with other folks;
They have a store of private jokes
That no one else can understand.
If you've got grabbers in your band,
On Sunday evening no one's there—
They all go ringing peals elsewhere,
Apologise, as well they might,
Then come in hordes on practice night.
They've looked up Lincolnshire, no doubt;
And learn their Glasgow sitting out.
A grabber never simply rings—
They do the most peculiar things.
They blow their noses, air their views,
And scratch their heads and lace their shoes,
And casually remove their ties
Whilst ringing peals of Spliced Surprise.
The way they spend their Saturdays
Just never ceases to amaze.
They drive themselves to distant towers
And ring the bells for hours and hours
And drink the local pubs dry, then
Quite soberly drive home again.
I fear the wrath that this unleashes—
But boy! are they a crazy species!

FIRST DEVON TOUR OF THE SEASON

On February 18th a small number of members of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, headed by Mr. A. L. Bennett, held their first tour of the year when North East Devon was the venue. Those accompanying Mr. Bennett were Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Myers and family (Plymouth), Messrs. D. R. Bould, E. J. Cann, J. C. Michelmore, C. E. Mudge (Tavistock), W. J. Harvey (Topsham) and Mr. W. H. Ware (Tiverton), to whom sincere thanks are due for his help and advice and for acting as guide.

Towers visited were Rackenford (a long-draught six with new and springy ropes), Oakford (a nice-going eight), Morebath (a light six hung in a peculiar tower), Bampton (a superb six, where an equally superb course of Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung), Huntsham (home of the Troyte family, where the octave is now rather indifferent), Stoodleigh (a fair-going six) and Kenn and Kenton (two nice-going sixes).

Two well-struck six-scores (Grandsire Doubles) at the last tower rounded up an enjoyable day, with thanks to the organiser for arranging the tour. The lunch break was at Bampton, whilst tea was enjoyed at the Peamore Garage Restaurant, Exeter. A. L. B

IN YORKSHIRE TODAY

The Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies have just issued their annual report for 1966, which presents a comprehensive picture of ringing in the largest county in England. The size, territorially, not numerically, of the Association is probably its greatest problem. Each of the four Districts is larger than many county or diocesan Societies, and containing a considerable number of towers, and each has a numerical strength more than adequate for holding quarterly meetings.

The three general meetings of the Yorkshire Association held in 1966, at Guiseley, Ripon (the annual general) and Bridlington, attract about 60 or 70 members on average, about a tenth of the membership (Bridlington's attendance was about double the average because of the presentation to Archdeacon Ellison.) Time and distance must account to a certain extent for this low proportion; the average distance for members travelling to general meetings, taken over the years, must be about 50 miles each way and it is fairly common to do 150 miles in a day

Apart from the meeting at Bridlington, the most successful event of the year was the Snowdon Dinner at the Catterick Bridge Hotel. Mr Arthur Bashford and his committee did an excellent job in organising this, the first dinner to be held in the Northern District, and there was a capacity attendance.

In most Districts there are thriving local Societies and the first object of the Joint Council is to represent all ringers in Yorkshire An annual festival is promoted and a forum is provided for the discussion of common problems and the exchange of ideas for the training of ringers A new venture was the holding of a one-day course/conference for instructors, tower captains, ringing masters and anyone interested An attendance of over 70 indicated appreciation. The second annual festival drew approximately 200 ringers and friends to Beverley Minster

The programme of the Joint Council this year is the course/conference at Normanton, near Wakefield, on April 22nd, and the festival at Halifax on June 17th. A committee has been formed to look into the organisation of a striking contest for all Yorkshire towers. Officers of the Council are: Chairman, Mr. Ted Hudson, of Sharow, Ripon; secretary, Mr. Arthur Farrant, Mossley, Ashton-under-Lyne; education adviser, Mr. W. F. Moreton Wakefield; publicity officer, Mr. C. A. Moxon, Cawthorne, Barnsley.

RINGING CONTESTS OF OLD

Mr E. H. Simpson, now 84, of Shipley, Yorks, who, when possible, rings at Bingley Parish Church recalls the days he spent at Bury St Edmunds in 1904 and rang at Horringer. Among the ringers he then met were Harry and Arthur Moore and their father.

Another of his memories is taking part in contest ringing with the old Bradford company. Before his day there were great trials of skill in Yorkshire and he sends us an advertisement of the two-day contest on July 31st and August 1st, 1854, at St Lawrence's Church, Pudsey.

For the "best true peal" of Kent Treble Bob Maior of 2,528 changes, a first prize of £10 was offered, second of £6, third £4, and £1 given to the company covering the greatest distance and not getting a prize. The time of 1 hour and 29 minutes was allowed for the "peal."

LINCOLN GUILD

West Lindsey Branch

The annual meeting of the West Lindsey Branch was held at the ancient market town of Gainsborough on January 21st. Lincolnshire Surprise and Grandsire Triples were the special methods rung.

A departure from usual custom was having the tea and meeting before the service; 45 people sat down to tea in the Old Hall at 4 p.m.

The Branch president, Canon J. E. Roberts, was in the chair for the meeting, when all the officers were re-elected and the balance sheet approved. The secretary, Mr. G. L. A. Lunn, reported a few less members but some very well-attended meetings and a most enjoyable summer outing into Yorkshire.

Mrs. Baker presented the Sunday Service Ringing Cup to Mr. J. Blaikie on behalf of the Saxilby ringers.

This year the outing will be to Ely, and the next Branch meeting is at Epworth on April 15th. T. A. G.

THE RINGING WORLD

No. 2916 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1967 9d.

THE READERS' OWN JOURNAL

THERE has always been a close link, since the days when John Sparkes Goldsmith founded "The Ringing World," between the reader and the editor, and because of the family spirit that has been engendered over the years that relationship is very real. At times the editor disappoints certain sections of the family as, for example, the introduction of the new type of heading on the very week of the College Youths' dinner. Never before has the editor been chivvied so mercilessly as on that occasion. But, as our readers know, it was just part of the picture, and when the grandeur of Mancroft in that Christmas scene was presented the volume of appreciation was very stimulating.

Since then there have been other issues of "The Ringing World" with a tinted cover—giving, incidentally, another four pages—and these have met with warm approval. The Committee decided at their last meeting at Derby to plan for 20 of these front page cover issues during 1967, and if the results are encouraging in three channels—greater circulation, more advertisements and notices and a better return from the publication of peals and quarter peals—this might well become a permanent feature except during the holiday period.

On the other hand, there might be a universal desire to increase the selling price of the journal. As every housewife knows, "the freeze" does not apply to commodities and costs are rising. While the audited figures of "The Ringing World" accounts are not yet available, the convener is aware that trading during 1966 was successful after taking all sources of revenue into consideration. There was a fair profit. But is this profit adequate to meet the new scale of charges that became operative this year of an approximate 5 per cent. rise in costs?

A 16-page issue of the journal with postage and carriage costs approximately £160 and with a 20-page issue this is increased to £200—blocks being an extra. Fortunately, "The Ringing World" has behind it financial reserves, and it is essential that the Central Council should be in this happy position. The possession of liquid assets is invaluable when it come to financing publications where substantial sums are locked-up in the form of books for years before sufficient revenue is received to meet the printers' bill for the next publication.

Next week we embark on something new—a questionnaire to our readers, which is the brain child of two members of the Committee, Dennis Beresford and George W. Pipe. It is an attempt to analyse "The Ringing World's" family; to find out what the readers desire for the journal and how they would prefer the space available to be utilised. Such questions readily occur to one. The peal is a standard of performance that has been in existence for 300 years. There is a constant advance in the technical side of peal ringing and at the same time the development of physical fitness. Should the Exercise frame its being largely on peals? What is the percentage of readers' indifference to peals? What ratio of contents should be devoted to their publication? These are things the Editorial Committee want to know.

If you don't like peals, what would you like to read? Activities of Guilds and Associations, outings and tours, new methods and compositions, or turn the journal into a text-book to rival "The Beginners' Handbook"? Then there are others who feel that as we are Church Bell Ringers our primary purpose should be Sunday Service Ringing, and that we should fill our pages with subjects that would create an interest among call change ringers and those who have no desire to go beyond 120 changes of Grandsire Doubles. Can a journal for the advancement of change ringing build up a lasting circulation on such a basis?

The desire behind the questionnaire is to ascertain how to fashion "The Ringing World" so that a big sales drive can be attempted. This does not mean embarking on extravagant ideas, but to make the journal appealing to the many we know who are not subscribers—and they are also in the ranks of peal and quarter peal ringers. The journal is the property of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers and above all its mouthpiece. The rules and decisions the Central Council have recommended to the ringing Exercise thus become part and parcel of our outlook.

Similarly, the work the Council undertakes in the installation and presentation of bells and facing up to the problems of sound control is a great service offered freely and gladly to the Church authorities. This relationship with the Church is very real, and the Central Council and its affiliated bodies desire that those who ring church bells should be recognised as true servants of the Church. With this thought uppermost, the men and women of our great family can say, "I am proud to be a Church bell-ringer." And the social link stimulating that family is "The Ringing World."

Behind the Scenes Story of 165 Spliced Surprise Major

By M. J. HOBBS

FOLLOWING the new Spliced Surprise Major record of 64 methods, which was set at Stratton St. Margaret on May 21st, suitable celebrations were held at the conductor's home to discuss what our next plan of action should be. The unanimous decision, that we should continue to meet on the first and third Saturdays in each month in an attempt to increase our record, had already been anticipated by Tony Peake, who was in touch with the composer of our previous peals to see whether or not further progress was possible.

A number of reserves were drafted into the band for a short while and on May 28th and June 4th peals of 17 and 20 spliced were rung at Backwell and Highworth using Norman Smith's composition. On June 18th, again at Stratton, the first peal of what was to be more or less another series in itself was successfully accomplished in 70 methods. Whereas the previous record held by the Yorkshire Association had lasted for 11 years, ours was surpassed within one month.

Our next meeting place was to be at Blagdon on July 30th, when it was hoped that the composer, W. Eric Critchley, would be able to join us for 75 methods. However, this was not possible and it was not until the first Saturday in August that the next step was made, a peal in 80 methods at St. George's, Bristol, in 2 hours and 55 minutes. This peal introduced all of the band to their first Little Surprise Major method (Herefordshire), hence the reason that the number of changes were altered at this stage to 5,080 and not the standard 5,088.

THE MAGICAL HUNDRED

Once again holiday arrangements caused havoc with our programme and not until October 1st, a gap of almost two months, were we able to assemble again at Stratton, where 85 methods were scored without incident. At this stage Tony Peake took over the arranging of Eric Critchley's composition and his first increase brought the magical one hundred into our grasp. Six months had passed since we had been to one of our favourite towers, Longney, Glos, and so the time seemed ripe to pay a somewhat belated but nevertheless welcome return visit. On Sunday, October 16th, a good peal of 100 methods was scored in 2 hours and 40 minutes as a welcome to Penelope Jane, daughter of Jim and Jennie Taylor.

The amount of checking required for each composition was now so great that an error would have been too easy, so a second system of proof was set up and the somewhat onerous task of double checking fell upon the shoulders of the writer, who was thus able to reassure the band that each attempt was true.

By kind permission of the Vicar, churchwardens and senior ringers the next attempt was scheduled to take place on November 5th at Malmesbury Abbey. An extremely cold and wet Saturday afternoon saw us assembling in the tower, where we were very warmly welcomed by Mr. H. Blacker. With guest treble ringer Chris Kippin leading the way, a peal in 110 methods was rung in three hours.

Further work by Tony resulted in a peal of 120 methods at Longney on November 20th, including many local sounding place names—Calne, Shrivenham and Stratton. It was at this juncture that Lis Bowden confided in us that she was "infanticipating" an important event in May of 1967, so it appeared that our days were now numbered.

One hundred and thirty methods at Bradford-on-Avon on December 3rd did not even get off the ground due to one of the band going down with gastro-enteritis a day prior to the attempt. However, six new methods were added to this unrung composition and, on December 17th, once again at Stratton, 135 methods were rung in 2 hours and 46 minutes to herald the arrival of Brian and Lesley Bladon's first daughter, Helen.

GREATEST NUMBER OF METHODS

A suitable conclusion to 1966 came on December 31st at Knowle, Bristol, when our next goal was achieved. A peal in 150 methods, surpassing the previous record for the greatest number of methods rung to a peal (148 Minor at Ashbocking), was completed in the somewhat brisk time of 2 hours and 47 minutes. This was one of the few peals in the series to be preceded by a false start. For some reason known only to himself, after 32 minutes' ringing, the conductor decided to call "Houghton" instead of "Houghton-le-Spring"—the result of this was complete and utter confusion, the like of which it is hoped we do not see again. Luckily there was no Evensong and through the good offices of Mr. Cocks, the local tower captain, we were allowed a second and successful attempt.

During 1966 we had jumped from 32 methods on January 1st to 150 on December 31st, and it was therefore with a feeling of trepidation that we approached the first attempt of the New Year on January 21st at Yatton, Somerset. This was the last peal in which Lis would be participating, and 160 methods—necessitating a change of method every lead—seemed as good a number as any for her to finish on. This being University Dinner Day, many people had gathered outside the tower to listen and record our efforts. It was very pleasing to make acquaintance with friends both old and new after the peal but time, as always, was not on our side. A hurried exit had to be made from Yatton in order that we could attend the U.B.S.C.R. Dinner.

Many would have thought that we had now reached "the end of the line" method-wise, but not our aspiring conductor/arranger. The Major record now lay, of course, in the hands of the Bath and Wells Association, so Tony, in an attempt to return it to our home Association, the Gloucester and Bristol, again burned the midnight oil and came up with a peal of 5,280 changes in 165 methods, to be attempted at his home tower (Stratton) on February 4th.

Although the day dawned bright and sunny, our ringing, unfortunately, was not so brilliant. Bearing in mind that this peal would be the culmination of two years' dedicated work, Tony set the bells up after 75 minutes due to the striking not being of a sufficiently high standard. This was our first failure since attempting 27 methods on November 6th, 1964, and so, after the usual peal ringers' inquest, it was decided that we should meet at Longney on the following Saturday in the hope of a successful conclusion to the series.

With Di Chapman conveniently placed outside the tower, complete with tape-recorder, our second attempt for 165 methods commenced at 2.40 p.m. A slower speed than usual was adopted for this peal and it was some 3 hours and 3 minutes before "This is all" was called. Apart from one minor incident, when the conductor's glasses became dislodged and swung precariously from one ear, which resulted in several of the band endeavouring to restrain their mirth at his antics to right the situation, everything went according to plan. At this stage it is only fair to mention the herculean task taken by Ted Venn, who, after ringing the 7th since 85 methods, volunteered (?) to take Lis's place and ring the second for the final attempt—a jump of some 80 methods.

For the statistically minded, from the first peal on January 30th, 1965, the band met for 37 attempts and 34 peals were rung in 19 different towers; the total number of methods rung during these attempts was 187—75 of which were rung for the first time. Nine peals were rung at Stratton St. Margaret and seven at Longney, for which we are deeply indebted to the Rev. R. G. Bryant and the Rev. G. R. K. Moule respectively, also the local ringers at each tower. Seven of the peals have been recorded (14; 24; 53; 64; 150; 160; 165), the amount of time spent ringing is somewhere in the region of 111 hours and, finally, just for sheer irrelevance, during the series five babies were born—all girls— to various members' wives!

The band's combined thanks are accorded to W. Eric Critchley, Stephen Ivin, John Segar, Cyril A. Wratten and Shirley Burton for their help with compositions and methods and, once more, to the long-suffering husband, wives and girl friends who have so patiently stood and watched "from the touchline."

It would be wrong to close this report without singling out for special mention Anthony R. Peake, whose drive and enthusiasm had been a source of encouragement since the days of the humbler numbers. He has spent an immeasurable number of hours poring over figures, and without his initiative and leadership we are all sure that these attempts would never have been possible.

HENLOW, BEDS.—On Feb. 12th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: R. Measures 1, R. Dilley 2, P. Rogers 3, R. Fuller 4, L. H. Bywaters (cond.) 5, R. Cousins 6. For Parish Communion.

OBITUARY

MR. W. H. FERN

Walter Henry Fern, of Iffley, Oxon, or "Walt" as he was affectionately known, will be sadly missed by the host of friends who mourn his sudden death on February 18th. For practically all his life Walt served his church in a variety of ways. Although we always associate him with bell ringing his first love was for the children and for over thirty years he taught at the Sunday School and great was his joy to know that in the latter years he was teaching children of parents he had taught in earlier days.

In his ringing it was the same; although quite an accomplished ringer, nothing gave him more pleasure than to help and encourage youngsters in the art and he would cheerfully stand practice after practice ringing rounds or call changes. Apart from his faithful attendance at his own tower at Iffley he was always ready to help any other band and many of us within quite a few miles of Iffley have good cause to be grateful to him.

Having lived in the Iffley and Cowley districts when they really were village communities he knew everybody and was always ready with a helping hand and a cheerful word and smile. He had a fund of anecdotes about past happenings and the inevitable characters one hears of in villages and not least about his probationary period in bell ringing, of sitting through the service ringing as patiently as he could until he was allowed to ring the calling bell, finally being accepted as one of the band and proudly ringing a plain course of Grandsire Doubles from the card in front of him. It wasn't until after the war that he learned change ringing.

We also remember Walt for his love for his "cottage" garden, and his special love for animals. How for years, until the village school was closed, every night before he went to bed he walked or cycled from his home to feed the school cat and budgie, and again before he went to work in the morning whatever the weather. Stray cats strayed no longer, Walt took them in and cared for them.

May he rest in peace. W. F. H.

MR J. H. McGREGOR

After a short illness the death of Mr. John Henry McGregor occurred in Bakewell, Derbyshire, on February 15th.

Mr. McGregor joined the Midland Counties Association in 1929 and was a regular ringer at All Saints Church, Bakewell, till a few years ago, when his health prevented him ascending the steps to the ringing chamber. He was also a member of the Bakewell handbell team, and was well known throughout Derbyshire.

He will be greatly missed, but remembered by us all. Our sincere sympathy goes to his widow and family. B. B.

MR. JOHN JOLLEYS

With the sudden death of Mr. John Jolleys on February 10th not only did the Preston Branch of the Lancashire Association lose a most loyal and steadfast member; but the Church of St. John the Baptist, Broughton, lost a life-long servant and friend.

He was taken ill after returning home from work on the Tuesday evening, and passed away just over 48 hours later. In the sixty years of his life, he had served Broughton Church in many ways, for more than fifty of them being a ringer for more than 40 years and tower captain for over 30. A truly outstanding record of loyal and faithful service.

But John Jolleys was not merely a ringer and tower captain; living as he did, next door to the church he had often been called upon to act as verger, sexton, grave-digger and general handy man. His knowledge of the church and its congregation was immense, and his memory had often satisfied people trying to trace the graves of distant relatives. To many people John Jolleys was Broughton Church.

As a ringer his name was seldom found in the peal columns; but he was rarely, if ever, missing from Sunday service ringing or weekly practice. In his time he taught scores of young people to handle a bell and ring a course of Bob Minor, and in recent years his Friday night practices had been of enormous benefit to many young ringers from various towers in the Preston area.

His sudden passing leaves a gap at Broughton which will be very difficult to fill, but we must hope that the example of devotion, patience and service that he set will inspire others to carry on his work.

The funeral service, on Feb. 13th, was well attended by ringers and friends and a quarter peal of Bob Minor was rung immediately afterwards. On the following Saturday a peal of Minor in seven methods was rung by members of the Preston Branch.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Southern Division

The annual Divisional meeting was held at Brighton on February 18th. Afternoon ringing was at St. Nicholas Church, and the tea and business meeting were held at St. Peter's Church Hall with about 50 members present.

Canon Keeling, Vicar of Brighton, presided at the meeting when the Divisional secretary (Mr. D. L. Hall) the committee (Mr. G. P. Elphick and Mr B J Stone) and the Divisional auditor (Mr. S. W. Brown) were re-elected. Mr. J R. Norris was elected Ringing Master, and Mr. J. Hills his deputy

The secretary's report, including the moans about attendances at meetings, and the balance sheet were passed. Attention was drawn to the lower net income and it was agreed that this must be kept under review.

In the discussion on "The Ringing World" opinion seemed more or less evenly divided between those who approved the change in appearance and those who disliked the change. Several individual opinions could be summarised as "it doesn't matter what it looks like, it's what's in it that counts." A common desire was for the return of the name of Mr. J Goldsmith to the front cover.

A sub-committee was formed to consider attendances at meetings and if thought desirable to alter the present system. D. L. H.

SPLICED MINOR "FIDDLES"

Dear Sir,—I have noted with interest the recent exchange of views between Mr. H. Chant and Mr. F. Pett. Being very interested in the matter of Spliced Surprise Minor ringing, I would like to state that I can see no objection to ringing methods of the type used in the peal at South Mymms, from either a musical or an aesthetic point of view. Mr. Chant, himself a champion of 65's at backstroke, and surely the only other criterion which can be used in judging a method is its difficulty.

Having had some experience of this type of method myself, I can say that they are very difficult to ring, in spite of their stagnant appearance. I suppose one could conceivably condemn the methods as just being a "fiddle" to get more methods in, but aren't singles in Surprise Major just a "fiddle" to introduce more musical courses? Surely the man who subscribes to one of the biggest "fiddles" in Spliced Minor ringing, namely Alliance and Little methods, can have no objections on these grounds?

It is a sad fact that any form of progress is always attacked most bitterly by those who have helped the course of progress in their time. I would urge the young people who rang this peal to persist in their efforts and to take no notice of such criticism from those who should know better. I note from the quarter peal columns that the ringers appear to be a Sunday service band, and their achievement is the more to be congratulated for this reason.

I would, however, like to make an inquiry. The arrangement of most of the extents used is fairly obvious from an examination of the method contained in them, but it would be interesting to know how the method "Queen Mary" has been introduced. It is a fairly simple method to adapt Mr. A. G. Driver's six method extent so that it contains "King Edward," as was recently done by a Kent band (who, incidentally, renamed a method which had already been rung to a full peal!) or the sixth's place variation of this, appropriately named "Queen Mary." I cannot, however, see how it is possible to include both these methods with the "Cambridge" six. Perhaps someone could enlighten me?—Yours sincerely,

JOHN D. GRUE.

Chorleywood, Herts.

DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,—Re Mr. R. Brown's letter (page 112), I enclose the names of some of the Doubles variations that he rang at Chapel Allerton:

Plain Course	Bob	Name
St. Hilary	Grandsire S.	Brightwell
"	Antelope S.	Standlake
"	All Sts. P.L.	Sandford
Blackburn Place	Grandsire S.	Lillingstone
"	Antelope S.	Sevalcliffe
"	All Sts. P.L.	Arnold
Westminster II	Grandsire S.	Burton Joyce
"	Antelope S.	Epperstone
"	All Sts. P.L.	Stoke Bardolph

These were all rung for the first time in a peal, I think, at North Muskham, Notts, on November 4th, 1965.

I have no record of any variations of New Bob using Grandsire Singles, etc. — Yours sincerely,

GEORGE A. DAWSON.

Carlton, Nottingham.

THE BRISTOL SOCIETY

Dear Sir.—There is nothing quite so boring as a Tubb-thumper.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN BRAIN.

Backwell, Somerset.

BUREAUCRACY

Dear Sir,—Tub-thumping Mr. Tubbs seems to have caught hold of the parrot-cry of sections of industry (the Egg Board, the Potato Board, the Milk Board, the chain stores and supermarkets etc.), "Get big or get out"! Has he forgotten what we had the last war against?—it was surely against HIS system of bureaucracy and totalitarianism, and that was told every Englishman on September 3rd, 1939, from the words sent forth: "We are fighting for freedom: Freedom in Politics, freedom in Religion, and freedom to manage our own affairs our own way"!

"Tubb-thumping Mr. Tubbs," if I read his letter in "The Ringing World" of February 24th correctly, would have ringing go the same way as industry—everything streamlined into a sort of closed-shop or bureaucracy, and only the biggest allowed to survive, that is—only those Guilds, Associations or Societies with 75 members (the minimum for sending one of its number to the Central Council) to be recognised. If they have less, then Mr. Tubbs and his kind consider them non-Associations. Who does "Tub-thumping Mr. Tubb" think he is to declare such a state of affairs? Did not every Society have to start from small beginnings—how many began with more than 75 members?—Sincerely yours,

P. AMOS.

Northampton.

TOURS AND OUTINGS

Dear Sir,—I agree with Philip Gray that the reports of some outings are boring but I am quite prepared to put up with those in order to enjoy the excellent reports which appear from time to time. Some of the accounts are very informative in a general way and also help to keep one's "Dove" up to date, although a few scribes are unreliable witnesses and their reporting needs corroboration—steel bells at Lower Beeding, for instance.

I should like to thank A. E. R. for his contributions on the activities of the Bedfordshire ringers. Their pilgrimage to Kent as reported by Mr. Rushden (I presume) made excellent reading.—Yours faithfully,

W. B. KYNASTON.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSN.

The annual meeting of the Southern Branch was held on February 4th at Diss and was well attended with over 50 members and friends sitting down to tea. The Rector (Canon E. L. Corbell) conducted the service and gave a most interesting address.

At the business meeting the officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Dr. P. Jonason; secretary, Mr. C. F. W. Phillippo; Ringing Master, Mr. H. B. Fuller; Standing Committee, Mr. F. C. Arnold, Mr. J. Mowle; Branch Committee, Messrs. C. Catchpole, L. King, W. G. Saunders, T. Simmons and F. Sutton.

Five new members were elected, four of them from East Harling, where it was decided to hold the next meeting on May 6th.

Thanks were accorded to all who had helped with the meeting, especially Canon Corbell and Mr. A. G. Harrison. C. F. W. P.

CORK AND SHANDON BELLS

Dear Sir,—Re Mr. W. E. Box's letter in a recent "Ringing World" concerning St. Mary's, Cork and St. Ann's, Shandon.

My grandfather, the late Alfred P. Botsom, used to recall ringing at St. Mary's just after the turn of the century. Although the frame and fittings had been regarded as unsafe as early as 1897, the bells were rung, up to about 1912, for special occasions. I believe the last time was in April, 1912, when a half muffled quarter peal was rung for the "Titanic" disaster. I still have my grandfather's records of peals and quarter peals; I believe the one at St. Mary's was his last.

Although the bells were installed in 1870, it was well known that an unsuitable kind of wood was used for the frame and fittings, and that the tenor was too heavy for the frame and the tower. How the 1912 quarter was rung I can never think, as my grandfather recalled that three men were needed on the tenor, and two each on the seventh and sixth.

Regarding St. Ann's, Shandon, I can confirm that these bells were hung for ringing until about 1908. Most Irish ringers will have heard of T. E. Cobley, who has become something of a legend as far as ringing in that country is concerned. He was tower captain here until 1908, when the condition of the tower necessitated the bells being hung "dead." Although it broke Tom's heart, it was no loss to Irish ringers; my grandfather's little black book has several rather uncomplimentary things to say about St. Ann's bells. The measurements and weights are as follows:

3rd: 30", 7-3-8, B flat.
4th: 35" 9-0-2, G sharp.
5th: 40", 10-0-5, G.
6th: 45", 11-1-6, F.
7th: 50", 12-3-8, E.
Tenor: 56", 27-1-9, D.

The treble and tenor are inscriped "FERRA LINGUA LOQUOR . J. HATTE . 1714." —Yours sincerely, TIMOTHY BOTSOM.

Chipstead, Surrey.

SALISBURY GUILD AND PEALS

Dear Sir,—The General Committee of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild at its meeting in Salisbury deplored the fact that the rules of the Guild were not being adhered to in the case of two peals:—

No. 1. Yorkshire, at Wareham, Dorset, on May 28th, 1966.
No. 2. Grandsire Triples, at Wareham, on July 8th, 1966.

The peal booking fee has not been paid in the case of No. 1 peal. The same applies to No. 2 peal with the addition that at least one ringer was not a member until December 31st, 1966. The Salisbury Guild will not be claiming this peal.—Yours faithfully,

JOSEPH T. BARRETT.

Beaminster, Dorset.

HANDBELL FOUNDER

Dear Sir.—Recently I was asked to inspect a set of bells acquired by a lady whose knowledge about them was rather limited. I discovered them to be musical handbells minus their handles or clappers. On the largest of them is inscribed: "Symondsons, Founders, No. 1 Tottenham Court Road, London." Does any reader know any particulars of this foundry? I hazarded a guess that they could have been cast from about 100 to 150 years ago. Am I right or hopelessly out—as sometimes occurs in that "antiques" programme "Going for a Song"?—Yours faithfully,

Rotherham, Yorks. MICHAEL KING.

P.S.—One bell is marked: 13 F (M. & S. number is 12F).—M.K.

London County Association's Policy

LONDON County Association's A.G.M. was held on February 11th, proceedings starting with ringing at St. Giles', Cripplegate, and St. Clement Danes', where the service was conducted by Mr. W. D. Grainger, a member of the Association.

Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells during the service and the lesson was read by H. W. Rogers. Tea, excellently prepared by three lady members of the Association, was then taken in a private room at the Edinburgh Tavern, just opposite the church.

About 56 members and friends of the Association were present at the annual general meeting which followed. During the year 20 new members had been elected, and to these were added at this meeting Messrs. C. G. Wright, D Wright, A. Skilton, J. Gaze and R. Lister. Association members who had passed on during the year were R. Sanders (elected 1914), G. Hoad (1907), P. Crook (1918), S. H Symonds (1919), E. D. Smith (1921), J. G. W Harwood (1936), T. R. Dennis (1936), G. H Barber (1946), W. H. Hewett (1907). Also remembered was Mrs. Emily Grainger, a great friend of the Association and mother of Mr. W. D. Grainger, who had earlier taken the service. The accounts, presented by Mr. W. G. Wilson, showed a balance of £182, being an increase of £16 over last year

The Master, Mr. C. M. Meyer, presenting his report for the year, gave a most encouraging picture of the various activities and work of the Association in the realms of Sunday service ringing, meetings, practices, lectures and had been rung was the official peal to celebrate demonstrations. Among the eleven peals which had been rung was the official peal to celebrate the diamond jubilee of the Diocese of Southwark, one of Stedman Cinques rung at the Cathedral. In contrast, great regret was expressed by Mr. Meyer that the Association had been omitted from the 900th anniversary celebrations at Westminster Abbey.

NEW MASTER OUTLINES HIS POLICY

To preside over the election of Master, Mr. W T. Cooke, a member of the Association and a Past Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, was unanimously voted to the chair.

Two nominees had been put forward—Mr. C. M. Meyer (the retiring Master) and Mr. H. W. Rogers. Speeches supported the two candidates, and a ballot resulted in favour of H W. Rogers

After Mr. Meyer invested the new Master with his badge of office, Harold Rogers made his maiden speech to the Association as Master.

The entire theme of this was future policy, and broadly it was to be a genuine "new look" and 1967 interpretation of the stated objects of the Association. Subject only to approval of the committee of the Association it would be:

(a) To do all possible to help improve and establish local companies of ringers within the area of the Association. Without strong local companies neither this nor any other Association can do a really useful job of work.

(b) As the only territorial Association embracing the whole of the County of London, to collaborate fully in uniting and rationalising the manifold ringing activities which take place in the area. The Master mentioned that for many years his ambition has been to get the Secretaries or other leading officers of such associations around a conference table to work out and publish a joint plan of activities for the benefit of all London area ringers, the majority of which each belong to several of the overlapping Associations. Is it too much to ask of human nature that 1967 shall see an attempt by all the bodies concerned to start such a plan of rationalisation. This Association would willingly provide central meeting facilities for all secretaries who would co-operate with this.

MR H. W. ROGERS

The new Master, formerly for 18 years general secretary, and Central Council representative for 21 years.

(c) To recognise the changed pattern of living, leisure and extra mural pursuits of ringers in 1967 and to adjust social and practice meetings to suit up-to-date and new requirements.

Finally, the Master stressed that alone he could do nothing; he must have the full support of the membership. Given this support he could provide the platform and lead the organisation from which a year of useful activity could be launched.

The following supporting officers were elected: Deputy Master, D. Hewitt; treasurer and librarian, W. G. Wilson; secretary, Miss V. E. Dupré; assistant secretaries, L. Way and C. Dalton; stewards, A. F. Udall and Miss J. Spurgeon; trustees. C. Hughes and J. H. Lott.

The secretary gave details of an attractive programme of meetings and events for 1967, the majority of which were on the Association's regular second Saturday in the month basis. One exception was April, when a meeting proposed for Aldgate and St. George's-in-the-East was on April 15th to avoid clashing with the Richmond-upon-Thames Music Festival ringing competition at Isleworth on April 8th. Both tower- and handbell entries are still required for this function. A good social evening concluded the day's activities.

New District Secretary Elected

THE S. and W. District annual meeting was held at Twickenham on February 11th. Ringing and a service at St Mary's preceded the tea and business meeting, which was attended by about 40 members and friends.

The secretary was able to present a reasonably encouraging report on the year's activities. One hundred and fifty ringing members had paid subscriptions for the year and, as a result of the increased subscriptions, there had been a substantial rise in income, the balance carried to the Association's Central Fund being up about 60 per cent. on that of the previous year. Another encouraging aspect of the finances was the sum that had been donated to the Bell Restoration Fund. The introduction of the "pink pig" collection box had produced a sum of over £25 for this fund.

The peal and quarter peal ringing activities of the year had been similar to those of 1965; eight peals were rung and 44 quarter peals had been reported. The secretary said that he felt the quarters total was disappointingly low, especially as five towers accounted for almost the entire total. He felt that quarter peal ringing was of great importance for improving standards of striking, and he hoped that many more towers in the District would make the effort to "have a go" in the coming year.

The most satisfying aspect of the year's activities had been the continued success of the evening meetings. Attendances had now settled down to a steady level higher than was being achieved with Saturday meetings, and this change of emphasis appeared definitely to have been for the better. The year had also seen the introduction of practices devoted purely to Surprise ringing, and the District was very grateful to the Vicar of Feltham for allowing the bells to be available once every two months for these meetings.

The elections of officers produced two changes. W. S. Deason resigned from the secretaryship following his election as Master of the Association and C. H. Rogers, of Isleworth, was elected as the new District secretary. F. T. Blagrove was elected to the post of District auditor.

Six new ringing members were elected, viz.: R. E. J. Bunker (Ruislip), M. Lane and N. J. Perryman (Stanwell) and the Misses G. Birchall, H. Chisholm and M Jeppeson (Hampton). Nine non-resident life members were also elected.

Under "any other business" it was pointed out that by holding the A.D.M. on the second Saturday in February the District was clashing with the A.G.M. of the London County Association. It was decided that in future years the A.D.M. should be held on the last Saturday in January

The meeting closed with the customary votes of thanks and was followed by evening ringing at All Hallows', Twickenham. W. S. D.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

The Bingham District had an excellent meeting attended by over 50 ringers at St. John of Beverley, Whatton, on February 11th. Whatton ringers are to be congratulated, not only for the work on the bells, but for the beautifully decorated ringing room.

Four new members were elected, viz.: Mr. P. Hall, Mr. C. Cade, Miss W. Hall, Miss J. Holmes, all from Lowdham. Mrs. J. Dawson was proposed as a vice-president. The sum of £1 15s. was collected for Bell Repair Fund.

Central Council President at Derbyshire Association Dinner

DESPITE the last minute change of date almost 200 members and friends were present when the Derby Diocesan Association held its 15th annual and Sir A. P. Heywood Memorial Dinner at the Odeon Cinema and Restaurant Chesterfield on February 18th. Prior to the dinner several of the principal guests, including the Mayor and Mayoress of Chesterfield (Councillor Mrs. Annie Collishaw and Mrs. E. Hill) visited the Parish Church where they not only saw both the bells and ringers in action but also had first-hand experience of learning to ring.

After the loyal toast, Mr. J. F. Smallwood, in his opening remarks as chairman for the evening, paid tribute to the life and work of Sir Arthur Heywood, of whom, he said, all Derbyshire ringers should be proud. Another Derbyshire celebrity of whom they should also be proud, namely Mrs. Elisabeth Bowden, was actually present and on behalf of the company he heartily congratulated her on taking part in the record peal of 160 Spliced Surprise Major methods. The chairman said he had great pleasure in introducing Canon Thurlow, in his official capacity as President of the Central Council.

Proposing the toast of "The Church and Exercise," Canon Thurlow said he was, first of all, very pleased about two things. One was that he was glad the change in date had not prevented him from coming whilst the other was that the famous crooked spire was still attached to Chesterfield Church and not on top of St. Albans Cathedral as shown on television recently! It just showed how careful you had to be, particularly for example with forms of address as the Bishop of Bath and Wells discovered when he received a letter addressed to "Messrs. Bath and Wells Ltd."! In another instance which occurred recently a friend of his rang the G.P.O. inquiry service to make sure of the Bishop of Portsmouth's address and phone number, only to be told that the addresses and phone numbers of all public houses were to be found under the name of the landlords!

LOYALTY TO CHURCH

On a more serious note, Canon Thurlow urged the company not to worry too much about the Church being criticised so much nowadays This was no new pastime but had been going on for ages—ever since the days of Pontius Pilate, who said then that the Church was dead and had no future. However, it had survived despite this as it always would continue to do. When one considered that in this country alone we spent over £2,000 million a year on gambling it was nothing short of a divine miracle that the Church is as good as it is. In actual fact some sections of the Church activities were better now than they ever had been, particularly when the state of present day ringing was taken as an example.

Referring to the "Exercise," the Canon assumed all those present took "The Ringing World" and knew all about the Central Council. He did, however, urge everyone to support their ringing paper as much as they possibly could as it is was tremendous value for money and could never be replaced. Similarly he hoped they fully appreciated the Central Council and the work of all its various committees. Although all the committees did extremely useful work, the Towers and Belfries Committee in particular was worth a special mention as it was always very busy giving advice based on many years of experience to one church or another.

In conclusion Canon Thurlow reminded the company that despite all the criticisms and faults both the Church and the Exercise were part and parcel of the same thing and always would be. As an example of the co-operation between the two bodies, he quoted the Association's effort to raise £1,000 towards the £200.000 needed for the extensions to Derby Cathedral which he thought was most commendable and hoped they would be successful in their venture.

Responding to the toast of "The Church and Exercise. the Bishop of Repton, the Rt. Rev. Warren Hunt, said speaking at that dinner rather reminded him of the time he was inducted, when he had to ring the bell as many times as years he intended to stay. On one side there was his family wondering whether it was worth unpacking or not, on the other side the congregation eyeing him over with a mixture of suspicion and distrust whilst at the back the ringers were wondering if he was going to break the rope, the stay or both!

F E. COLLINS!

Joking apart, though, he really was a keen supporter of ringers and ringing, admiring in particular the tremendous drive and enthusiasm which the majority of ringers seemed to have. A very good illustration of what he meant was the tower captain at his former parish of Croydon (Mr F E. Collins) for no matter which church the Bishop visited if there was a ring of bells there, Ted Collins had not only rung there but more often than not had got his name on a peal board too! In fact he had often thought that the Royal Commission at present looking into drugs ought to look into ringing as well!

Although he fully agreed with Canon Thurlow's present day definition of "The Church and Exercise" it was not so many years ago that the ringers' exercise consisted only of ringing and then getting down the steps, out of the church and into the nearest public house as fast as possible, whilst the local Vicar's exercise consisted of continually going back and forth to answer the telephone during peal attempts! Nowadays of course the ringers go to service and then go for a drink.

Proposing the toast of "The Visitors," Mr. G. Roobottom (Derby District) said he was a farmer by trade and so apologised for any muck spreading which might occur! He welcomed the distinguished guests, the visitors and all the ladies present. This, he said with a twinkle, was one of the rare occasions when the ringers saw their wives! He always thought it a great shame that they should be left at home doing nothing, whilst their husbands were out ringing peals and so wondered whether they could more usefully employ the time making bell ropes!

In her response on behalf of the visitors, the Mayor of Chesterfield, Councillor Mrs. Annie Collishaw, said as this was the third consecutive year the dinner had been held in Chesterfield it was obvious that they liked coming, particularly as she understood the attendance of over 200 on each occasion was an all-time record for the Association. She hoped that their visit to the ancient borough would be well worth while.

The formal part of the evening thus at an end the floor was cleared and dancing enjoyed. A raffle in aid of Derby Cathedral Extension Fund realised just under £14. Votes of thanks were passed to Canon Thurlow, Miss June Brocklehurst and Mrs. Pegg for singing and reciting respectively, and last but not least the organisers.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Alan H. Durfee is starting a handbell ringing group at Cornell University.

This year's St. Valentine's quarter peal was rung by the single ringers at Rayne, Essex—and there were four ladies!

The last peal the late Mr. John Worth rang was at Liverpool Cathedral on February 18th. He conducted a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus from the third, the time taken being 4 hours 30 minutes.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Reginald S. Cook, of King's Langley, Herts, aged 82. He was president of the Herts County Association in 1938. An obituary will appear next week.

Mr. Samuel J. Haines, of Wigston Magna, Leicester, rang 56 peals in 1966 and not 54 as recorded The error arose through his name having also been printed in peals as S. John Haines.

The band who ran the peal at Penn would like to express their thanks to Derek Knowles for stepping in at short notice in place of Gordon Griffiths, who was a victim of the "tummy bug" which has been busy in the district, and to Daisy Eyre for preparing the tremendous spread which followed. A special mention too of Lily Griffiths' "fish pie" which all enjoyed.

The first in memoriam peal to Mr. John Worth was rung at Heywood, Lancashire, on the day following his death, conducted by Mr. Neil Bennett.

Easter Monday will be a great day in the Schofield and Crossthwaite families as it is the wedding day of Gillian and Maryl. The two families have rung a peal together—probably the last together in the girls' spinsterhood.

Twelve dozen handbells made of glass belonging to Mr K. J. Foss were sold for £2,726 at Sotherby's recently. Prices ranged from £38 for specimens of four various colours with plain glass handles to £170 for a pair with turquoise bodies decorated with raised spirals.

By calling Parker's twelve-part peal of Grandsire Triples at Withyham, Sussex, on February 26th, E. J. Ladd, of Tunbridge Wells, completed his 150th peal as conductor. It was at this tower that he called his first peal, ringing the same bell to the same method and composition

The 40th anniversary of the hallowing of the restored Diocese of Leicester on Feb. 21st was marked by a visit of the Archbishop of Canterbury. The ringers did their part as, previous to the service, a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal was rung on St. Martin's bells, conducted by Mr. Herrick B. Bowley.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A BERKSHIRE RESTORATION

In the Lambourn Valley, Berkshire, between Newbury and Lambourn, there are many picturesque villages. All, writes Geoffrey K. Dodd, have impressive church towers—Boxford, with a short red brick tower and an unringable five Welford, a round tower and round tall spire, Shefford, also a round tower, with an unringable six.

A little further on is East Garston, with a centre tower and heavy going six. Here the film "The Quiet Week-end" was made. Finally comes Lambourn, with its tall central tower and majestic ring of eight, with a 24 cwt tenor.

Our story concerns Welford. Three young Highclere ringers, led by Philip Taylor, received permission from the Vicar and churchwardens to endeavour to repair the broken wheels and clappers in their half term holiday.

Fortunately Philip's father is an engineer and a keen ringer, and he was able to assist in thread cutting. After several days' work, Sunday, February 19th, was fixed for the red letter day, the only work remaining being the loose headstock of the fourth. There remained 1¼ hours' work before the bells could be raised singly and rung in rounds for the first time for at least 50 years. Changes were attempted with some success before the bells were lowered it being asserted that the half hour's service ringing planned could be done with safety

It cannot be claimed that the bells are 100 per cent perfect. The old-fashioned fittings, dating from 1600, long-flighted clappers and old-fashioned bearings ensure that plenty of pulling is required on the back two. The tenor, in Mr Dodd's opinion, is nearer 12 cwt. than the 17 cwt. mentioned in Dove's, but the ring of five is of excellent tone. It is to be hoped that the efforts of these lads will eventually have the fruitful result of being rung Sunday by Sunday by a local team.

The inscriptions are:

Treble.—Joseph Carter. 1588. Blessed be the Name of the Lorde.

Second.—Henri Knight Made Mee. Ano 1592.

Third.—Henri Knight Made Me. 1619.

Fourth.—William Webb. Georg Coxhead, Church Wardens G.B. 1661. W.W.P. WB.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The Southern District meeting on February 18th got off to a good start with South Anston's eight bells being raised promptly at 2.30 p.m. A wide variety of ringing took place and a pleasing feature was the attendance of Mr Ernest Short's youngsters from Sprotbrough. Tea was served to 40 ringers and afterwards Mr. Harold Chant took the chair, due to the enforced absence of the District's vice-president, Mr. Michael R. Meadows. The main item was the acceptance of the committee's proposals for six practice meetings, details of which have now been circulated to all the District's towers. The clash of dates with the Eastern District also came under discussion, but nothing really definite could be resolved.

Further ringing continued at Harthill, a "silent" eight bell tower. Despite various mechanical contrivances in the ringing chamber the fine-toned bells were again rung to a wide variety of methods. The attendance of 40 to 50 ringers was an improvement on the November meeting, no doubt the main factor being that it was the District's first meeting at both towers, since 1939 at least.t M. K.

SUSSEX VETERAN HONOURED

Rogate, Sussex, recently honoured Mr. James Stenning (77) and his wife Ethel by a parish party Mr. Stenning has completed 62 years as a ringer at Rogate Parish Church and for 40 years was captain of the tower, maintaining the bells in perfect order and teaching novices the art of change ringing.

He was presented with an address commemorating "with gratitude and affection an outstanding record of service to the Church," and his wife received a bouquet. A cake in the shape of a bell, and bearing the inscription on Rogate tenor had been made by Mrs. Kristen Munday, and this the couple cut.

The Vicar, the Rev Percy Hayman, paid a happy tribute to Mr. Stenning's service, and there were congratulatory messages from the Bishop of Chichester (the Rt. Rev. R. P. Wilson) the Sussex County Association of Change Ringers and Mr. Paul Taylor, as the Loughborough Foundry was responsible for recasting and augmenting Rogate bells to six in 1904. From Mr. Taylor there was a gift of a handbell to Mr. Stenning to mark the occasion.

Mr. Stenning has no intention of retiring. "Hard work and study is the secret of ringing. It is very absorbing, and you have never finished—I am still learning." was how he regarded his duties as a ringer.

THE FESTIVE BOARD AT ILMINSTER

The Crewkerne Branch's annual dinner at the Royal Oak, Ilminster, on February 10th was a happy occasion attended by a company of 50. The Rev. P R. Shepherd, of Shepton Beauchamp was in the chair and proposed the loyal toast The secretary, Mr. Robert Dean, then welcomed the visitors from neighbouring Branches and proposed a toast to them. Mr. G. Jeanes replied on their behalf, and the evening concluded with a light entertainment.

31 YEARS AFTER

The peal at Maresfield, Sussex, was of special interest to two of the ringers—Messrs. Frank H. Hicks and Arthur J Hart—as they both rang their first peal in that tower when the ring was a lumpy-going six, on February 9th, 1935—31 years and two days before the present peal. In their first peal Arthur rang the heavy-going tenor and Frank the treble. It was Grandsire Doubles, conducted by William A. Kitchenside.

JOINT MEETING IN LEICESTERSHIRE

Over 40 ringers attended a successful joint meeting at Somerby, Leics, on February 25th of the Midland District of the Ladies' Guild and the Melton District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild.

After a short service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A W. Harrison), with Miss Hollingshead as organist, the company was hospitably entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M T Simson. Mrs. Jill Staniforth proposed a vote of thanks to them for their hospitality and to the ladies who helped with the tea.

At the Ladies' Guild meeting Mrs. Staniforth was re-elected vice-president, Miss S. Chesterton honorary secretary and Mrs. M. Jelly and Mrs. P. Morris as Ladies' Guild Central Council representatives.

THE PEAK(E) OF SPLICING

There was a young (?) ringer signed "D. B."
A composer of limericks we see.
But the Peak(e) of splicing
(Though, I admit, not in writing),
Must be one-sixty-five at Longney.

H. TAYSOM.

CHANGE RINGING AT LEEDS HIGH SCHOOL

The Leeds Central High School Handbell Society was formed in late 1960 as a change ringing group, using six borrowed bells. Double-handed ringing was taught from the start and about a dozen boys received instruction in the first year. By July, 1961, four of them were ringing plain courses of Bob Minor.

In the following three years membership fluctuated considerably, although fresh incentive was given in 1962, when, as the result of a generous donation by the Parents' Association, a secondhand set of six handbells (tenor size 17 in B flat) was purchased.

April, 1964 proved a crucial month in the Society's history Two boys were ringing touches of Bob Minor of all lengths up to 180 when we were requested to take the handbell part in a Leeds schools' performance of Benjamin Britten's "Noyes Fludde" in Leeds Parish Church. Six boys responded very well and the final results were most impressive Unfortunately, there seemed to be a reluctance to return to change ringing and by March, 1965, the Society had ceased to function

A fresh start was made in the following September, and four boys rapidly achieved plain courses of Bob Minor. Progress was maintained, and bobs and singles were tackled with enthusiasm. We eventually scored a 360 in the autumn of 1966. Now, for the first time, attention has been turned to Bob Doubles, a move which was fully justified when, on February 17th, two boys, Lisle Joseph and Michael Perrins, scored their first quarter peal

Michael has recently been receiving tower bell instruction at Pudsey. Lisle hails from Port of Spain, and it would be interesting to know whether he is the first Trinidadian ever to ring a quarter peal. Both boys are looking forward to scoring their first full peal in the not-too-distant future.

Apart from its weekly practices, the Society has given demonstration performances at Parents' Association musical evenings and has rung touches at the school's annual carol service and in assembly. Whatever the personal successes achieved, some 1,500 to 2,000 people are now aware that there is method in a bell ringer's madness. R.B.

NEWS FROM DURBAN

Back from his travels in Australia and South Africa, Mr. W. Moorey, of Elstead, near Godalming Surrey, has had interesting letters from Perth, W.A., and Durban, Natal. For years the leader of ringing in Durban has been Mr. Cyril Chambers and he reports that their ringers can only be described as learners and a plain hunt is their capacity St. Paul's, Durban, has now a Vicar interested in bells and the consequence is no shortage of recruits. A curate is shortly due—the Rev. Mervyn Moore who, according to rumour, has rung in England.

THE WHISTLING BEER MUG

Permission was sought at a Consistory Court at Oxford on February 24th by the Vicar and Parochial Church Council of Lambourn, Berks, to sell a silver gilt "whistling tankard" valued at between £8,000 and £9,000. It was traditional for parish choir and bellringers at their suppers to blow into the holes in the handle to order more beer.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The Biggleswade District meeting at Clifton on February 11th proved to be a great success with an attendance of 59, despite the rather uncertain weather. Under the management of Mr. G. Mayes, methods ranged from rounds and call changes for beginners and elementary change ringing for those a bit more experienced to the special methods, Oxford Bob Trinles and Glasgow, for the more adventurous. Tea and the business meeting in the Church Hall followed shortened Evensong, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hall. After tea ringing continued with a vast improvement in attendance until 8.30 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal. E. L.

Next meeting: Old Warden, March 11th.

Mr. David Beacham has not given up the secretaryship of the Worcestershire and Districts Association but the secretaryship of the Worcester Cathedral Guild. We willingly correct the error that appeared on page 127.

"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

This unique work, second in the series entitled

is complete in itself. Its subject is treated both for beginners and for advanced practical ringers. It is not a textbook on specific methods, of which several exist, but it shows, for the first time, the detailed structure of the general plan of change-production, by types of methods, traced from 3-bell (basic) to 12-bell stages.

Well bound in an attractive stiff cover in blue with gold lettering the book measures 8" x 6½" x 1" and contains nearly 300 of such large pages with some 80 figures or diagrams, also 8 double-page and 5 single-page "charts". Included are series of "definitions" and "axioms" listed to serve as an index. Paragraphs throughout are numbered for ready cross-reference. Chapters close with test-questions and indication of answer-location.

This book is very highly commended, especially by leading members of the Exercise, including the Rev. Canon Gilbert Thurlow M.A., Fredk. Sharpe, F.S.A., and E. C. Shepherd. (See "Ringing World" 1964 pp. 339 and 490). Much of the work was hitherto unpublished in book form.

The whole book has been planned for issue at minimum cost of production, being thereby cut from pounds to shillings so as to be within the reach of all. The price, packing and postage included, is only 17/- (seventeen shillings), and your copy comes by return of post from: College Publications 40, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea, Hants. 897

No. 2917 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1967 9d.

ST PHILIP'S CATHEDRAL, BIRMINGHAM

THE choice of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, as the illustration for this issue is indeed a happy one, as it coincides with the report of the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner. The year 1966, as regards ringing, was probably the most honoured for St. Philip's in its 240 years' history. In December the record length of 15,995 Stedman Cinques was rung in its tower, and the fine collection of Maximus peals included many of Londinium Surprise.

One can scarcely believe that when St. Philip's was built, Birmingham was in the hollow below, clustered around St. Martin's. To the north of St. Philip's extended open country. The church was consecrated in 1715 and the tower finished ten years later, and only then after George I had given £600 towards completion.

Famous are the three windows at the east end and that in the Baptistry designed by Sir Edward Burne-Jones and made by William Morris. St Philip's has been noted for its music festivals, and its list of organists includes the name of Jeremiah Clarke, the composer of the Purcell "Trumpet Voluntary." Music is still prominent in Birmingham in addition to the bell music that is heard regularly each Thursday evening and again on Sundays.

The Diocese of Birmingham is barely 60 years old; it was carved out of the Worcester Diocese and a Suffragan Bishop of Coventry had the oversight of this rapidly growing and highly industrialised area. Bishop Charles Gore was the city's first Bishop, being enthroned on March 2nd, 1905. Upon his translation to Oxford in 1912 he was succeeded by Bishop Wakefield and then in 1924 came that outstanding personality, Dr Barnes, who held the episcopate until 1953. The present Bishop, Dr. J. Leonard Wilson, one-time Bishop of Singapore and a prisoner in Japanese hands, succeeded him.

THE BELLS

St. Philip's has had a ring of bells since 1727—two years after the completion of the tower. The original ten came from Whitechapel—then trading under the name of Lester, Pack and Chapman. The first recorded peal on the bells was in 1755, rung by the St. Martin's Youths.

During part of the time that Henry Johnson was directing ringing at St. Martin's John Carter was the conductor and tower captain at St. Philip's; he died in 1914. About the time of World War I the bells deteriorated and were in a bad condition. Indeed they were silent for a number of years. The conclusion eventually reached was recasting and a new ring of ten was installed to commemorate the Coronation of King George VI by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston and dedicated on St. Philip's Day, 1937.

Mr. George E. Fearn was the appointed Ringing Master of the bells and he has remained in office ever since. Under his leadership St. Philip's has become the great peal ringing tower of the country. He himself has taken part in 530 peals on these bells and, including the old bells, it is probable that 650 or more peals have been rung here.

But many in Birmingham felt that the true beauty of St. Philip's bells would not be obtained without a ring of 12. This came about through the generosity of Mr. Frank B. Yates, who donated two new trebles. This was his second augmentation, as he had previously given two bells to King's Norton, thus providing a ring of ten.

Changes were necessary to the frame and, for the sake of audibility and to allow the ropes to fall into a good circle, the seventh, eighth and ninth (of the 12) were hung in a separate frame above the existing one. The work was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston and has worthily stood the test of time.

The ring of 12 was dedicated by Bishop Barnes and the Lord Bishop, in his address, made this striking commentary: "May the bells, the ring of 12, ring often on occasions of peace, but never for war. If war should come may they be silent like men stricken with plague."

It seems in these days that the Provost (Bishop George Sinker) co-operates fully with the wishes of Dr. Barnes. The relationship between the Provost and his ringers is most cordial, and in the wonderful performances that have taken place during the last year or so the ringers have been encouraged and exhorted by Bishop Sinker, who takes a personal interest in each new peal.

COMMENT

DON'T MAKE IT A HEADACHE!

THIS week we are asking all readers to fill in a questionnaire relating to "The Ringing World." And we don't want it to create any headaches because it is not designed as an intelligence test. What is desired is definite answers. If you find it difficult to do so, cross out both Yes/No.

Some might read into the questionnaire that it has a mercenary purpose and is the thin edge of the wedge for an increase in price. The committee has not taken a decision on an increase in price, and all the time the journal can produce a profit will not consider such action unless a very substantial majority of readers desire "The Ringing World" to be converted into one of those highly glossy technical magazines.

There is also the Postmaster General to be considered and he has more or less promised that there will be no alteration in the basic postal charges during the present year. We have in the past absorbed a portion of increased postal charges but it is very doubtful if that preference will be continued in the future. Of the 3d. postage on a single copy, in the case of an annual subscriber, "The Ringing World" pays 10s. a year, leaving the subscriber only three farthings a week to pay towards the postage.

To comply with the Post Office Box regulations, the Post Office has asked us to change the title of the Questionnaire to "Census." They also insist that no private correspondence should be included. Anything of that character, and also peals and quarter peals, must be addressed in the usual manner to the Editor.

The work of sifting the census and analysing the forms will be undertaken by Mr. Dennis Beresford, who has recruited a staff of willing workers to assist him. A meeting of "The Ringing World" Committee has been arranged for April 29th and it is probable that Mr. Beresford's conclusions will be ready for presentation by that date.

An elaborate list of different interests has been prepared but it must be remembered that the space position is governed by peals and quarter peals, unless they are to be ignored. After all, the main purpose of the journal, apart from being the mouthpiece of the Central Council, is to be the means of knitting together in one big family and brotherhood all who ring bells to the glory of God and His Church.

St. Martin's Guild and a National Championship

PROPOSAL MADE AT HENRY JOHNSON DINNER

In recent years it has been the custom of the St. Martin's Guild to invite as chairman at the "Henry Johnson" commemoration dinner leading personalities in the Exercise. This year, for the 79th annual, Canon Gilbert Thurlow, the president of the Central Council, was the chairman and introduced wit and banter to keep the programme flowing in a happy manner.

Will this dinner be epoch-making? Mr. Alan Ainsworth, the Ringing Master, submitted tentative proposals for running a national competition for ringing, to be centred on the facilities available in Birmingham. His idea is that the competition should be held every three years and to him it seemed the natural outcome to the movement among many Guilds and Associations holding striking competitions.

Supporting the chairman on the top table were Bishop Sinker (Provost of Birmingham) and Mrs. Sinker, Mr. R. C. Ingram (Master of the Guild) and Mrs. Ingram, Mr. G. E. Fearn (hon. secretary) and Mrs. Fearn, the Archdeacon of Aston, Mr. J. Alan Ainsworth (Ringing Master). Canon D. McLean, Rev. D. Sansum, Group Captain S. Mason Messrs. F. W. Perrens, J. F. Smallwood, P. L. Taylor and J. Garner-Hayward.

"THE CENTRAL ACT"

The toast to the memory of the late Henry Johnson was proposed by the chairman, who said for one brief moment they came to the central act that had called them all together to drink in silence to one of the greatest ringers who ever lived. He wished them to drink the traditional toast to Henry Johnson in silence.

A pleasing ceremony followed with the presentation of a flowering plant to Mrs. Sinker and then the visitors proceeded to entertain with a touch of Stedman Caters rung by J. C. Millhouse 1–2, F. W. Perrens 3–4, D. Beresford 5–6, Joan Beresford 7–8, Peter Beresford 9–10.

The chairman said anyone coming back to Birmingham for an occasion like that could not fail to feel the presence of the late Albert Walker, who had done so much for ringing in Birmingham and throughout the whole country. It was a pleasure to them to welcome Mr Fred Walker, Albert's son, who had some presentations to make.

Mr. Fred Walker then presented the model bell given to his father by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, in the hope that it would find a resting place in St. Martin's Church, and also the complete record of his father's peals. The first of these was rung at Taunton in 1896 and his first of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's in 1900. In 1960 he rang a peal to commemorate the 62nd anniversary of his wedding at Birmingham Cathedral, and also that year one to mark his 84th birthday.

The Master (Mr. R. C. Ingram) said he was very glad to accept the gifts. The bell would find a resting place in St. Martin's, and the peal books would be placed in the library.

POINTERS TO PROSPERITY

Mr. T. J. Lock was entrusted with the toast "Continued Prosperity to the St. Martin's Guild," which he felt sure not only everyone present but everyone throughout the ringing Exercise wished. He suggested that the word "prosperity" was the operative word and "continued" the signifying word. The word "prosperity" stood for those who led and those who could set the example—it was something which meant progress. St. Martin's Guild, formed over 200 years ago, was an example of continued prosperity and only in the past year there was that performance of the record length of 15,699 Stedman Cinques. In addition there was the "Royal" tour last September.

Prosperity depended on the high standard of ringing and St. Martin's Guild claimed to be in the forefront in the ringing of advanced methods and the peals of Londinium Surprise Maximus took place in their regular ringing and was an achievement which indicated the prosperity of the Guild. Members of the Guild were also in the forefront of the Exercise as composers and conductors and had introduced the single into Surprise methods. The single had produced better peal music on even-bell methods.

RENEGADES

St. Martin's Guild set an example in regular Sunday ringing in several towers and also an example in handling. There were, however, still one or two renegades who would put their left hand over their right on the sally. He supposed they had been told, but it did not conform to modern standards. There was a report in "The Ringing World" of the Guild's last striking competition at Yardley, when one of the judges complained of "clipping" at backstroke. The most important bell for striking was the second and a badly-rung second bell upset the rhythm.

Concluding, Mr. Lock said there was no question that the prosperity would continue with the re-election of its officers and that prosperity was unaffected although they had been able to dispense with such famous ringers as Edgar Shepherd, Frank Smallwood, Frank Haines and Bill Critchley. It seemed to him that the Fenn brothers were still the driving force in the Guild. One encouraged them in their ringing and the other replenished their physical resources with a certain brand of liquid refreshment.

The Master (Mr. Alan Ainsworth), in reply, said he first heard of St. Martin's Guild when he was in the Army and went to London and asked Tom Lock for permission to join in his famous peal tours. He took part in two of those tours and they were enjoyable in every way. In 1955 he was invited to stand in the first attempt for a peal of Londinium Surprise Maximus at Southwark Cathedral. Unfortunately when the time came for the peal he was taken ill and the first peal of Londinium was not rung until two years later at Ashton-under-Lyne.

At Birmingham they had quite a number of visitors who came to join in their peals. In the last two years 102 peals had been rung and the visitors taking part in those peals numbered 92.

One of the main activities, continued Mr. Ainsworth, was the quarterly meetings which were business meetings, but over the last year or two there had been some rethinking going on and from "The Ringing World" he noticed that the College Youths had been reviewing their policy. He intended at the next Guild meeting to ask members to do some rethinking. What did they go to meetings for? Just a tower grab or a chat with members?

NATIONAL COMPETITION

"One of the early signs of this rethinking has been the reintroduction during the last decade of ringing of striking competitions into the activities of many societies and it was during informal discussion by members of this Guild's competition sub-committee that the idea of a national ringing competition was mentioned. Since then the sub-committee have discussed the idea at some length, and at this stage of the dinner I would like to offer you this food for thought:

"1. Would it be a workable proposition to attempt to organise a ringing competition open to bands nominated by societies affiliated to the Central Council? I envisage that in many cases the nominated band would be the winners of that society's own ringing competition. No one can say yes or no to that question without research.

"2. It seems to me that to gauge effectively the reaction of all these societies, and also to seek their advice on the form and details of a national competition, a sound policy would be to send a detailed questionnaire to all affiliated societies, possibly through Central Council machinery, in any case suggesting that a competition could not be properly and fully organised before 1969.

"You may say 'But 1969 is a long time away.' In suggesting 1969 I have in mind the fact that some societies may wish their members to voice their opinions at an annual meeting before answering a questionnaire. Also you should consider organisational problems involved in obtaining accommodation and towers, etc., and, what might be the most time-taking task, the careful and detailed drafting of the rules required for a national competition. For this it would probably be a great advantage to ask the national ringing societies, the College Youths, the Cumberland Youths and the Central Council to each appoint one of their number to join with us in the drafting of the rules.

"The benefits to the Exercise of a competition of this scope would be, to my mind, an improvement in standards of ringing mainly because it would provide an opportunity for ringers, many of whom would normally only ring in their own areas, of comparing standards. In the nature of the occasion there would be plenty of opportunity for discussion and for the social side which all gatherings of ringers seem to encourage and the importance of which we should not underestimate. I envisage that the competition, if it is to be held, will be on a large scale and in view of the problems of organisation and in order that it doesn't become an annual pilgrimage for the visitors and an annual burden or chore for those organising it, that it should not be held more often than once every three years, that is 1969, 1972, 1975, and so on.

"Now, after all this, is the question 'Where should the competition be held?' Where else but here in Birmingham! There seem to be at least five good reasons: (1) In our view, Birmingham is the best place, being, as it is, at the geographical centre of the country. (2) Birmingham is at the heart of the motorway system. (3) Birmingham has good rings of bells of all numbers, closely situated, first to provide towers for the competition, and second, to provide towers for the supporters of the competing bands to sample during the competition which would, you should remember, last all day. (4) The city has ample hotel facilities, particularly at a week-end or a Bank Holiday, for accommodation and also for a competition centre. (5) The Guild has officers willing and, I hope, able to tackle the necessary organisation.

"After that food for thought, which I trust will not give you indigestion, I hope I have convinced you that St. Martin's Guild intends to follow George Elliot's advice as given on the toast card: 'You must remember it is not only laving hold of the rope, you must go on pulling.'"

FRIENDSHIP

Proposing the toast of "The Visitors," Mr. David J. Parnell said he thought the main reason their visitors came to Birmingham was because of the friendship engendered. Over the last few years their average attendance had been 75, and half appeared to be visitors: those numbers appeared to be increasing. He hoped the Henry Johnson Dinner would always remain popular.

Among the visitors mentioned by name were the Archdeacon of Aston (the Ven. Guy Worman), Canon D. McLean, Mr. Dennis Beresford (Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths), Mr. Bill Robson (a member of the Durham and Newcastle Association since 1910). Mr. Gwillam Salmon (retiring secretary of the Bath and Wells Association), Mr. E. Naylor, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harding (King's Lynn) and Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Rothera.

Mr. Purnell concluded on a sober note, saying that Mr. John Worth, who intended being there that evening, died the previous Saturday at Lincoln prior to a peal attempt. He was sure they would all express their heartfelt sympathy with his family.

Canon D. McLean, of Perry Barr, who replied, was introduced by the chairman as the Vicar of a ring of eight that badly wanted rehanging. Canon McLean mentioned his Association with Canon Thurlow since his Cambridge days and said: "I knew I would be pressurised about my bells. Let me add I shall always be pleased to do what I can for my bells if someone will give me the money."

Mr. Richard C. Ingram proposed a toast to "The Ringing World" saying some of them were a little in doubt as to changes to "The Ringing World," but he liked the idea of a cover with a picture of a church tower and looked forward to seeing Aston tower there. The main thing they liked to read in "The Ringing World" was the news—what was happening far and wide. They also liked the truth in their news. Recently "The Archers" had been referring to ringing, and it was certainly not the truth as they knew it.

Mr. T. W. White (Editor of "The Ringing World"), in reply, referred to an approach that had been made by a leading hotel company to the General Secretary of the Central Council to promote a ringing festival in London. He did not know whether the proposal would dovetail with the idea of a national competition suggested by Mr. Ainsworth. The Editor referred to the questionnaire which was being circulated and appealed to readers to answer the questions. He also referred to the number of hoaxes that were being attempted on "The Ringing World," which were a source of anxiety to him.

The health of the chairman was proposed by Bishop Sinker, and Canon Thurlow, in acknowledging the compliment, expressed the indebtedness of the company to Mr. George Fearn for the excellent arrangements made and his personal thanks to Bishop Sinker, who was entertaining him for the evening.

A full programme of ringing was announced but at the Cathedral the programme was limited because of a clapper snapping during a peal attempt.

OBITUARY

MR. CHARLES GUY ROWORTH

The news of the sudden death of Mr. Charles Guy Roworth, at the age of 54, on February 6th was received with very great sorrow by a host of friends of all ages and in all walks of life. He learned to ring at Stratton St. Margaret in 1954 and became a member of Christ Church, Swindon, in October, 1960. At the time of his death he was in his sixth year as chairman of the Swindon Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association and his third year of office as president of the Guild of Medical Ringers.

The bells at Christ Church were rung half-muffled as a tribute to him on the practice night following his death and on the day of the funeral, when 19 of his ringing friends visited the tower and many more attended the service. The bells were rung for 40 minutes before the service and as the coffin approached the bells were stopped from rounds one at a time until only the tenor was left tolling. The ringers' hymn was sung at the service at the request of the deceased's family, and afterwards the whole pull and stand was rung 54 times. In the evening a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Caters was rung by members of the Swindon Branch.

He will long be remembered with great affection by all who knew him—in his professional capacity at the hospitals in the town and beyond; in the Swindon Branch, where his grey minibus was a landmark at all meetings and outings, providing transport for up to a dozen ringers, as he loved being host on these occasions; in his church, where he was greatly respected, and in the belfry where he rang the bells regularly, he will be sadly missed.

E. J.

MR. REGINALD S. COOK

We are sad to record the death on February 21st, at the age of 82, of Mr. R. S. Cook, of King's Langley, Herts, and Hunstanton, Norfolk.

Mr. Cook started ringing very early in the century and rang his first quarter at King's Langley in February, 1904, this being the first quarter peal on the bells by a local band. In the following year he rang a number of peals in and around Hertfordshire. In particular he conducted the first peal for his daughter and future son-in-law! He was president of the Hertford County Association in 1938.

After the war, in 1946, he and his wife moved to Hunstanton, where the family have a garage business. For some years he rang in Norfolk and came back to Hertfordshire whenever he could. Due to failing health in the past few years he had not been able to ring tower bells but was always ready for a tune on handbells.

A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples (his favourite method) was rung at King's Langley on February 27th.

MR. LEONARD CLIFTON

A veteran Oxfordshire ringer, Mr. Leonard Clifton, died on February 14th at Great Tew. He was 79 years of age and was one of the oldest members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which he joined in 1906.

He learned to ring at the age of 11 and rang regularly at St. Michael's, Great Tew, for upwards of 65 years. Amongst his early memories was standing in for Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee and the Relief of Mafeking.

Throughout his life he had been a loyal ringer and regularly attended the local Branch meetings, where his strong tenor voice leading the hymn singing gave many a timid young ringer encouragement to join in with equal enthusiasm.

The funeral service took place at Great Tew on February 18th, and on the evening of February 20th ringers of the tower joined by friends from Banbury rang a half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples. Those taking part were: J. M. Stretton 1, Mrs. M. O. Gillett 2, Mrs. D. Bentley 3, Mrs. J. Parfitt 4, R. Taplin 5, W. Cross 6, I. Harris (conductor) 7, H. Pratt 8.

Experiment with Evening Meetings

The eight bells of All Saints' Church, Edmonton, some dating as far back as 1734, were put to good use on February 18th when the North and East District visited North London for its annual meeting. It was a great pleasure to meet the new Vicar, the Rev. F. G. Burton, who conducted the service and later joined the company at the excellent tea one always associates with the Edmonton meeting. The fact that the Vicar can handle a bell and was able to join in a touch of Grandsire Triples prior to the service was a pleasant surprise.

At the business meeting the secretary reported that eight District meetings had been held during the past year and one evening meeting, with an average attendance of 30. Sunday service ringing had been well maintained in most towers and the number of quarter peals rung had been fairly evenly distributed over the District. Ten new ringing members had been elected and eight non-resident life members. Peals included the first of Surprise Royal and four Spliced Surprise Royal on handbells.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Master, Mrs. H. G. Hart; Deputy Master, Mr. T. G. Hawkins; chairman, Mr. H. G. Hart; secretary, Mr. E. H. Kilby; assistant secretary, Mr. D. T. C. Smith; auditor, Miss V. E. Ware; committee representatives, Miss G. E. Newcombe (Edmonton), Mr. D. C. R. Knights (Pinner) and Mr. R. A. Gage (Harrow).

The Rev. F. G. Burton and the Rev. C. E. Welch (Vicar of St. Mary's, Hendon) were elected honorary members, and Peter T. Ashbridge (Harrow) and Miss Janet Walker (Pinner) ringing members. The provisional elections of Miss Yvonne Edwards and Mr. M. Roger Ashmore, prior to peals, were ratified.

After discussion it was decided as an experiment to hold four evening meetings during the year, the position to be later reviewed in the light of the experience gained.

The votes of thanks included a special word for Miss Trudy Newcombe and her young helpers who not only provided a splendid tea but handed the proceeds to the church's restoration fund.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Taunton Branch

The Taunton Branch held its spring meeting on a lovely sunny afternoon at Ash Priors, and the 50 ringers who made their way to this delightful small village found the journey well worth while. The handy ring of six (tenor just over 9 cwt.) was made good use of and the Branch received a warm welcome from the Rector, the Rev. H. A. Dunn, who conducted the service. The slight variation from the Guild Office and the Rector's short address were much appreciated and there was no lagging behind in the singing! Ladies in the village provided a nice tea in the Parish Hall and were warmly thanked.

Mrs. S. G. Williams (vice-chairman) presided over the business meeting, and at the outset Mr. A. H. Reed spoke of the loss sustained by Ash Priors and the Branch in the recent deaths of Mr. E. Branchflower and Mr. H. Seeley, whose local ringing activities went back over 40 years. New members were elected from Ash Priors and Sampford Arundel, and the next meeting was arranged for June 17th at Creech St. Michael.

After the meeting members were entertained by Mr. R. Arscott with his talented band of handbell ringers, and the bells at Halse were available during the evening.

HENSTRIDGE, SOMERSET.—On Feb. 25th, 1,260 Doubles (three methods): Susan Miles (first quarter) 1, Helen Julius 2, Rosemary Julius 3, F. Priddle 4, H. P. Sparks (cond.) 5, A. J. Sherrin 6. To congratulate Mr. and Mrs. D. M. C. Hill on the birth of a son.

RINGS OF FOUR BELLS IN HUNTINGDONSHIRE

By PETER S. ABBOTT

LITTLE PAXTON.—The tenor weights 8¼ cwt., by R. Taylor (1791), third by Toby Norris (1669) and the treble by Holdfield. Newman probably cast the second (1713). The tenor is a good bell for its weight The tower is now unsafe and the frame is rotting away.

SOUTHOE.—Tenor 10 cwt. in A, and all the bells cast by Dobson (1828). There are pits for five The wheels are rather fragile, but the bells are perfectly ringable, although they take a bit of pulling As can be expected from this founder, the bells have a splendid tone, crisp and clear cut, with plenty of "hum."

Unfortunately, the tower is the subject of some consternation, and the bells cannot be obtained for long periods, but long enough for a quarter or short visit.

GREAT STUKELY.—Tenor 9¼ cwt., by Tobias Norris II, and of poor tone. The treble is by Haulsey (1622). The second was cast by Newcombe, and the third by R. Taylor (1797). It is impossible to report upon the condition of the bells as the belfry has been used as the church's junk room, and the bell chamber is inaccessible Once again, the tower is thought to be unsafe.

LITTLE STUKELY.—The tenor was cast by Holdfield and weighs 11 cwt., note G. Its tone is rather harsh and unpleasant. The two trebles were both originally by Newcombe and Watts, but the treble was recast by Taylors in 1898 after being cracked for some years. The third was cast in 1759, but the founder is not known On the frame is carved "R.O. I.G. C.W., 1659." The bells were rehung by Day, of Eye, Christmas, 1891. They go reasonably well, but quarters have been unsuccessful so far because the bearings will not hold their oil. A quarter peal to mark the 75th anniversary of the bells was rung on December 30th. The bells are rung by our team for Matins every two weeks.

WISTON.—Tenor 9¼ cwt. in A minor, by Haulsey (1628). The second and third are by Thomas Norris, cast in 1642 and 1678 respectively. The treble is by Eayre (1756). The bells cannot be rung now because the frame is rotting, although there used to be a regular card-change band.

WOODWALTON.—These bells are quite distinguished, being the lightest ringable four (tenor 6¼ cwt in B), the best-toned four, and the roughest-going four in the county! The tenor and treble were cast in 1764 by Eayre, and Thomas Mears cast the middle two in 1841. The bells were rehung in 1860 with pits for six. Their roughness may be explained by the fact that they had not been rung for 30 years, and were completely buried in twigs until we cleared them out (May, 1966). The rope circle is anti-clockwise. It is a pity that this church is closed at present, for the bells are a perfect set-up for a light six.

When the church was open the bells were rung by us for weddings, etc.

YELLING.—Tenor 8¼ cwt., by Eayre (1739), who cast the third (1770). The two trebles were by Christopher Graye (1666). These bells are well kept but, unfortunately, the treble had to be sold in 1953 to defer the cost of removing the unsafe spire. So the bells remain as a nice three.

Summing up, the state of our fours is not too bad, as far as the state of most fours goes, although there is plenty of room for improvement, with the ringable as well as unringable towers.

The main trouble is, most of our four-bell ringers are young people with no influence, and we are ostracised by the older ringers. With this state of affairs, of course, no restoration of any size which requires expert attention can be effected. Let us hope for friendlier and better days to come.

I have also found that in most villages the bells are invariably said to be unringable if they are not rung regularly. However, a little bit of gentle persuasion can often yield fruitful rewards (e.g. the bright medium-weight four at Southoe, or the glorious little ring at Woodwalton, which would probably have hung silent and ignored for another 30 years).

However, to any other Minimus ringers in Britain, I can assure you that you will receive a grand welcome at any of Huntingdonshire's ringable fours, if you should wish to visit them.

I would also like to record my thanks to Chris Higgins, whose idea it was to visit these towers, and who has always been taken for granted as being at all of our Minimus "Do's."

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS—No. 33

HELEN HENDERSON,
St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne.

It was curiosity that brought Helen and her friend Anne Cowling, now Mrs. Anne Doggett, into the belfry. They were walking past St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, towards the end of 1961 as the bells were being rung for practice. They decided to investigate and climb the broad staircase leading to the ringing chamber. Helen confesses that before ascending she had a vague picture in her mind of an ancient bell ringer, seated in the ringing chamber systematically pulling ropes which hung in front of him. With Anne having read "The Nine Tailors" her previous conception was different—there might even be a handsome Lord Peter Wimsey!

They were invited to learn under the guidance of Jack Roper and George Pipe, and entered into their pupilage with true ringing fever. "We never missed a St. Paul's or St. Pat's (St. Patrick's R.C. Cathedral, Melbourne) practice, even though it was examination time of our first year at the University. (We may have had double exams the next day about which we knew very little, but we still turned up for ringing practice.) It was a miracle that we passed that year. I have not been quite so lucky since then and have still two subjects to finish for my B.A. degree."

It was about a year before the two girls rang their first quarter peal "inside"—Bob Minor. Six months later came their first peal—Plain Bob Major. First out of Melbourne towers Helen visited were the two at Ballaarat, which is Anne's home town, and this took place as soon as they could ring in rounds. Anne's sister, Mary, was assigned as learner at the City Hall, Ballaarat.

3,000 MILES HOLIDAY

The first ringing holiday of the girls started on January 4th, 1964, when over 3,000 miles were covered. Most of the three weeks was spent in Sydney, their ringing Mecca, but Maitland was visited twice and there was the great adventure of a three-day return train trip to ring at St. Paul's, Maryborough, Queensland which is 804 miles north of Sydney. Here they found that the ringers rang Plain Bob and Grandsire from charts!

On this holiday they rang in nine towers—four being new ones, and gained six quarter peals in different methods, including Double Norwich C.B. Major and Stedman Triples at St. Mary's Basilica, and Kent Treble Bob Minor, conducted by Mr. W. Smith at St. James', Turramurra. (Helen was born here 23 years ago.)

Both Helen and Anne have conducted quarter peals, their first on tower bells being at St. Patrick's Cathedral, of Plain Bob Minor and Doubles. But Helen's first quarter conducted "in hand" was an al fresco affair in the scrub at National Park, Belair, South Australia, and it was the first handbell quarter for all the band. To master handbell ringing was a hard struggle as all were self-taught and Anne conducted their first quarter "in hand" on January 8th, 1965. Sydney was then the only place where there were handbell ringers and in consequence most of their holidays were spent there. Conditions in Melbourne changed with the arrival of Robin Turner and Andrew Belton from England, and more rapid progress was made.

Helen's ability was quickly recognised when the English ringers of Great Adventure II arrived in Melbourne, and she was invited to stand in the peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus at St. Paul's Cathedral, conducted by Tom Lock. This is the only peal of Maximus that has been rung outside the British Isles. Another joy of the visit of Adventure II party was Helen and Anne ringing their first handbell peal. This was Plain Bob Major conducted by the Rev. M. C. C. Melville.

Helen's present peal total is nine—four tower bells (two Bob Major, one Bob Royal and one Kent T.B. Maximus) and five "in hand" (one each of Plain Bob Major, St. Clement's Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Ashbourne College Bob Major and Spliced Plain Minor in seven methods).

Her quarter peal total is 41, of which 30 were rung on tower bells and 11 "in hand." Conspicuous in the list are two "in hand" of Spliced Minor and Spliced Major in nine methods, and one tower quarter of Cambridge Surprise Minor rung on February 1st, this year, which she called. She has yet to ring her first quarter of Surprise Major, although several have been attempted. Other quarter peals she has conducted are Grandsire Triples 2, Bob Major 1 Bob Minor 3, and Bob Doubles 4. Her present tower total is 21—all the ringable Australian towers except St. George's Cathedral, Perth.

The two girls teach at the local high school, their subjects being music and English. Helen plans to visit England next year. With her keenness, charm and enthusiasm we feel sure she will be very welcome and her English friends will do their best to swell her peal total and make her visit as enjoyable as possible.

Letters to the Editor

PENGE RINGING—A HOAX

Dear Sir,—I wish to draw attention to the letter appearing in a recent issue of "The Ringing World" over the name of Geoffrey H. Goodyear concerning ringing at Penge. There is every reason to suppose that this letter is a hoax, as

(i) I live within 150 yards of the church and have not heard the bells rung for many years, the last time being for the induction of the present Vicar by a band drawn mainly from Beckenham, who found the condition of the bells and tower to be extremely bad and unsuitable for training a band.

(ii) We at Beckenham have never been approached by this Mr. Goodyear and as ours is the nearest tower to Penge it is to be supposed that we are among those to whom he refers.

(iii) There is, to the best of my knowledge, no such road as "Beckenham Lane" within the parish, the only road of this name mentioned in gazetteers of London is some three miles away on the boundary of Beckenham and Bromley.

I hope that this letter will serve to warn anybody who may come to Penge that there is little chance of them getting a ring and at the same time save others from making a wasted journey.—Yours faithfully,

D. G. BROWN.

Penge.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION'S REPLY

Dear Sir,—In answer to the letter signed by Mr. Geoffrey H. Goodyear (page 148), I do not know where he obtained his information about Penge. The bells here have not been rung for at least two years. Paul Smith and I have been up and pulled the bells up and down and inspected the frame and fittings, etc., and we can find nothing that an hour or two with grease and spanner could not put right. We offered to do the work and to try and start a local band but this was turned down by the Vicar, who had been told by a ringers "from just down the road" that Penge bells were unringable. (What rubbish!)

I think, sir, we have been the subject of yet another hoax, written by a maniac ringer, who for self-glory delights in causing the maximum of inconvenience to all who are concerned, including the staff of "The Ringing World."—Yours sincerely,

TONY LEWIS,

Lewisham District Representative of the Kent County Association.

Chislehurst, Kent.

SILENT 12 BELL PEALS

Dear Sir,—The number of 12 bell towers wtihout a peal in 1966 can be reduced to seven as Mr. R. H. Dove appears to have missed the fact that a peal of 5007 Stedman Cinques was rung at Christchurch Priory on December 17th, conducted by Frank L. Harris. There were three other fruitless attempts during the year, one of which came to grief in the last few changes, when the clapper of the tenth fell out.

May I thank the Priory ringers and, indeed, the ringers of the Christchurch District for their kindness and hospitality during our stay with them. We have made many new friends and cannot hope to be happier when we move to Middlesex shortly.—Yours sincerely,

RICHARD F. PRIME.

Christchurch, Hants.

PEAL RINGING "A DISEASE"

Dear Sir, — After reading "The Ringing World" for February 24th I am stirred to write about peal ringing. Is it not time to take a new look at it and, indeed, at all bell-ringing? As "Comment" says, "it has reached a stage far in advance of anything contemplated as recently as five years ago."

With some people this peal ringing has become almost a disease. They have long since given up the idea of ringing as a service to God or the Church They simply use a place of worship and some very valuable equipment for their own enjoyment and satisfaction.

Thank God there are others, and the same issue of "The Ringing World" praises them, who have a more reasonable attitude to ringing and render a happy and valuable service in the Church. They are regular service ringers and therefore help to support the Church financially. Many of them may not ring more than half a dozen peals a year, some of them none at all. Their regular attendance on Sundays and at weekly practices deserves far more praise than the ringer who averages two peals a week!

Peal ringers should have to pay a considerable amount of money to the church which provides their equipment, and churches which provide ringers' outings with the use of bells should also receive a substantial fee. After all, other sports and hobbies entail considerable expense; why should ringers go around getting free equipment?

I hope this letter will provoke much thought and action.—Yours sincerely,

H. J. F. MUNCEY.

Histon, Cambridge.

SAFFRON WALDEN RINGING

Dear Sir,—The recent correspondence on 10 bell changes brings back memories of my early ringing days here at Saffron Walden. Many years ago—about 1860-70—there were two bands of ringers here, the change ringers and the chimers. Of the latter Jonathan and Charles Freeman and John Penning joined the change ringers and so the chiming band became defunct.

After 1914-18 war, when I learnt my ringing, if we met short in numbers, say 6 ringers, we rang eight bells — 4 up and 4 down.

One way was 1356 "down" and 2478 "up." The pull-off was 135642135678. This was varied to 135627135648. Another variation was 1246 "down" and 3578 "up" producing 642135642178—all beautiful music. On many occasions I have seen old Fred Pitstow chime three bells—1 and 3 by hand and 5th by foot. This method of ringing has not been attempted here for approximately 40 years. — Yours faithfully,

L. E. PITSTOW.

Saffron Walden.

URCHFONT SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir, — Congratulations to Anthony Peake and the band for the recent peal in 165 Spliced Surprise methods.

Some of the ringers here at Urchfont, including myself, are curious about the method called Urchfont. Such as who invented and named it? Is there any link with the village? Has a peal ever been rung? If so where? If not, why not the first here at Urchfont?—Yours faithfully,

W. T. ALEXANDER.

Urchfont.

ALDGATE BELLS

Dear Sir,—I wish to congratulate Mears and Stainbank on the magnificent job they made of the rehanging of the bells and especially the recasting of the old sixth, at St. Botolph's, Aldgate.

I rang there on February 25th and, on listening, appreciate that the sixth has been tuned old style—thus preserving the mellowness of this grand old Lester and Pack ring.

Mears have achieved something unique nowadays, when so many otherwise good old rings are spoilt by modern-tuned recastings that do not match the rest.

I personally like both modern and old rings—but why not let us have one or the other?—Yours sincerely,

GEOFF P. HUCKSTEP.

Crayford.

ELEANOR SPRIGG

I am in full agreement with Mr. Nolan Golden condemning the attribution of the 27-course block reduced to Eleanor Spriggs. I should have thought that the conductor of the peal at Saxlingham Nethergate would have realised by now that the 27-course block reduced has frequently appeared in "The Ringing World" under Mr. Golden's name. — Yours faithfully,

DUDLEY COOK.

London, E.C.

14 SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,—Re compositions of Spliced S. Major on page 147 of "The Ringing World" the last course of 14 spliced should be CCINNP, and not as printed.—Yours sincerely,

NORMAN SMITH.

Burnley.

WHERE PEALS WERE RUNG IN 1966

Dear Sir,—Mr. Dove's figures for the totals of peals rung in 1966 ("Ringing World," March 3rd, 1967) are inaccurate in the case of Somerset There were 135 peals in the county last year, rung in 86 towers. 26 per cent. of the possible towers. Five peals were rung in one tower and four each in three others. All these peals had been published by January 20th, 1967.

In all respects 1966 was a record year for peals, both for the county of Somerset and for the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. This was due in part, of course, to the presence of the Central Council in Bath at Whitsuntide.—Yours sincerely,

GEORGE W. MASSEY,
Peal Secretary,
Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION
Northern District

For the evening meeting on March 4th St. Ippolyts had originally been the venue but at the last minute builders moved into the ringing chamber and dug up the floor! Hurried telephone calls and the helpfulness of the Vicar enabled us to obtain Great Wymondley, to whose incumbent we are extremely grateful.

The bells were raised in peal shortly after 6 p.m. and were kept going for over an hour to various requests; ringing was then adjourned for a short business meeting. The dates and places of forthcoming meetings were discussed and the general secretary, Mr. A. B. Agg, enlightened the meeting on a topic which will arise at the annual general meeting. The ringing which followed included a touch of Stedman by a ladies' band.

Next meeting: April 8th, Benington.

TECHNICAL

Widening the Field in Method Design

By A. YORK-BRAMBLE

ALL who have anything to do with promoting the "Search for a Modern Fabian Stedman" are to be congratulated.

Of all the various aspects of Campanology that of designing methods following a study of method structure seems to have been most neglected. From this standpoint and with a lifelong interest in the subject, I venture modestly to offer some comment on what is involved in this competitive project. I do so since it has been one's privilege to have the results of one's efforts rung, in both peals and touches, not only of extensions of existing methods but also of new methods based on novel design forms, as for example on the "Hybrid" plan.

It may not be generally realised that the number of those currently working seriously in method design, for publication, is probably less than the number of fingers on one hand. In saying this, scientific distinction is to be understood as between "designers" on the one hand and "composers" on the other. And since this competition is mainly for designers it may not be amiss to look more closely into the nature of these two fields of activity. (In this part of the discussion the term "method" is to be understood as including the term "principle"—these two terms being distinguished later.)

DESIGNER

First as to an exact understanding of the terms used in this connection. The words "composer" and "composition," as used normally, relate strictly to the work of producing touches and peals in a method. Clearly this is not to be confused with the totally different activity that precedes "composition"; namely, the working out of the plan of change-row production, i.e. the method itself. For this the useful term employed without possible confusion or misunderstanding is "design"; and clearly the method is evolved by a method "designer." The need for this distinction is obvious when it is realised:

(a) That the designer must complete his job before the composer can begin his; and

(b) That the successful composer need have little or no experience of designing new methods; as is proved historically by the fine work of some composers who nevertheless have apparently had small knowledge of method synthesis and analysis, i.e. no record of method production. But the composer does need to be able to apply the processes of proof to his work.

Fabian Stedman was primarily, of course, a designer. It was for those expert in composition to produce Stedman peal compositions, as, for example, Thomas Thurstans.

From this it follows that it would scarcely suffice to employ as judges of design those whose knowledge and experience did not go beyond that of "composers and peal ringers of repute." This phrase is quoted from the penultimate paragraph of the article headed "Comment" on page 126 of "The Ringing World" issue of February 24th, 1967. It is suggested, with all due respect, that the assessors of the competition entries should include at least a designer as well as a "composer," and one who is an expert conductor as well as a "peal ringer"; but of course the two assessors may well be qualified each in both fields respectively. (These remarks are in no sense intended as a criticism of arrangements being made, but rather as a clarifying of the all-important issue.)

In any event the rules of the competition (page 127 of "The Ringing World," February 24th) require that the competitor (or collaborating competitors) demonstrates ability in both design and composition. This is clear from Rule 6, clauses (a) and (b), which call for the design itself; and clauses (c), (e) and (f) which call for composition right up to peal level, with proof.

Of these two requisites consider first that of method design. Here we are concerned with patterns or systems of evolved change-rows. These systems fall into two main classes—(a) Hunt-controlled, and (b) Omni-working.

In class (a) one bell (usually but not necessarily the treble) is given a consistent path throughout, of either plain hunting or variations on it. The elements of the "working" path, given to every other bell, are to be identified in relation to the various positions of the hunt-control bell—hence its name. This name is preferable to the alternative "treble-dominated," for the simple reason that this particular "key" bell can be, according to the particular design, some bell other than the treble. The change-rows produced on this hunt-controlled plan are divided into successive similar groups, marked off by the recurrent leading (or returning to starting point) of the hunt-control bell. These groups are called "leads"—for that reason.

In class (b) all the bells have the same "working" path. Accordingly the division of change-rows into groups cannot be marked by the "leading" of a hunt-control bell, so the name for the groups is simply—"Division." This more general name can be (in fact is preferably) used also in respect of the "leads" in a hunt-control method; because it thus reduces the ambiguity of the term "lead" as used in other senses. And since all the bells in this type of design work in exactly the same way a preferable name for this class of method is "Omni-working." Technically, these systems of design are known as "principles," while the hunt-control type are known as "methods founded on principles." (See Central Council's "Handbook.")

METHOD PATTERN

As to his actual work, the designer should first compile a "division" of the basic stage of his method pattern; preferably in the "grid" form, to show most readily the plan of the design itself. It should have its terminal "index" rows, "lead-head" and/or "lead-end," in natural coursing order, though technically speaking this is not essential. Then, having determined the plan of row-phase of the division (i.e. the arrangement of the "in-and-out-of-course change rows") and having proved the division (and therefore the plain course) he should next decide on the form of calls (bob, single, etc.) he will employ. He is now able to produce tables of course-heads/ends, derived by the application of the calls His next step is to build up (preferably on squared paper) the "Stage Variations" of the method This is expressed simply, though not entirely accurately, as "checking for extensions." To complete his work he should prepare the "method specification," which is a comprehensive description of the method plan, enabling anyone to make out the cognate stages from the basic design.

Finally, as to designing, Rule No. 2 of the competition states that "Competitors may disregard present rules of the Central Council, relating to method construction, etc" Those not experienced in method designing may feel some sort of relief on learning of this, but, in fact, a word of warning against this disregard may save hours of wasted labour particularly from the "pealability" angle of the method. A typical C.C rule, which calls for respectful observance is that the plain course shall contain as many divisions as there are working bells. The force of this is seen in considering the second requirement referred to, namely composition And, of course, if a competing designer can achieve his entry with due regard to all C.C. requirements of method structure, so much the greater is the credit due to his effort.

Incidentally, the whole subject of method structure and design is discussed fully in the recently published work entitled "Method Structure in Change Ringing," as currently advertised in this paper.

MERITS OF COMPOSITION

Now for the second requisite referred to above, i.e that of composition, as in Rule 6 of the competition. The composer will have in mind certain merits of composition, e.g. simplicity and musicality, which he will set out to achieve. He has before him the method set out in grid-form, with the table of index rows (l.h. or l.e.), and a table of course-heads/ends. From these he essays a plan of composition. But now must come the check of the method for "f.c.h.'s" (false course-heads— or ends, depending on the type of method). Steering clear of these he proceeds with his plan and finally checks that the whole composition is free of falsity.

It should not be taken that all that is set out in this discussion is required to be prepared as an entry for submission to the judges. What has been said is intended to be of some help and encouragement, perhaps, to those entrants who, though inexperienced, are resolved to "have a bash"!

What emerges is that the competition calls for a design of the Omni-working type, and one that is applicable to even-bell stages, and, if possible, from Minor to Maximus.

Memorial Meeting at Bradpole

The West Dorset Branch held the Langford–Beams–Cox memorial meeting at Bradpole on February 18th, the home tower of the two first-named ringers, who were pioneers of change ringing in West Dorset. Canon Carew Cox laid the foundation of the standard of the present Branch.

The choir attended the Guild service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev Barrington Woods), and tea in the Vicarage was prepared and served by local ringers and lady helpers Mr. C W. Powell presided at the business meeting, when meetings were arranged for April 22nd (quarterly at Burton Bradstock) and practice meetings at Powerstock, April 12th, and Symondsbury, May 10th. A coach has been arranged for the Guild Festival at Melksham

Methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Yorkshire and Double Norwich Court Bob Major. J. D.

FOR THE BEGINNER

SUGGESTIONS for INSTRUCTORS

By BARRY J. COUZENS

(Aided and abetted by JEAN SANDERSON)

I AM appalled at the general low standard of instruction given to learners, seen on practice nights in a variety of places. In particular I recall one newly-opened tower where the undoubtedly enthusiastic captain (the only experienced ringer in the locality) was trying to drag his recruits through Bob Minor before most of them could even handle a bell properly. This tendency to push learners on too fast is very widespread. Another common fault is a lack of constructive criticism, particularly in the early stages; learners are allowed to get away with handling faults which they will find difficult to correct later on and which will interfere with their striking and future progress. Praise is occasionally given so indiscriminately that the learners hardly know whether they are doing right or wrong.

Perhaps the commonest fault of instructors is not letting the pupil ring the bell! Instead, the instructor rings it, holding the tail end and catching the sally a few inches above his pupil's hands. From this the pupil learns nothing except the fault of ringing with bent arms. The instructor may justify this by saying it is necessary to keep the bell in place, but until the pupil has passed this stage he should still be on silenced bells. Another ringer I know pushes his pupil's arms and hands about, and gesticulates and shouts to such a degree that many are literally scared away. People learn best from their own mistakes when these are sympathetically pointed out and explained. Also many instructors themselves have handling faults which they transmit to their pupils.

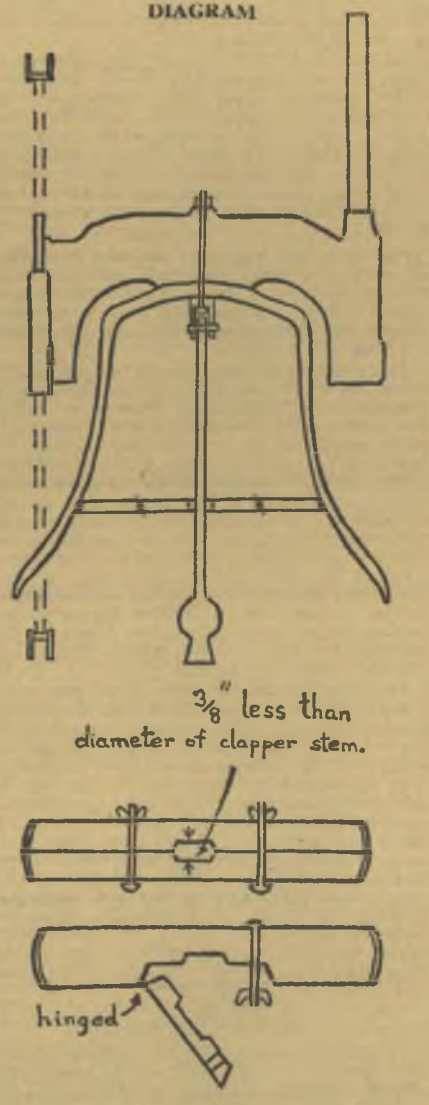
HIGH WASTAGE: A REASON

Come to that, what is an instructor? At the moment it is any ringer who is prepared to give up the occasional evening to teach learners, and whose only qualification may be that he has so far escaped hanging himself while ringing a bell. Considering all that can happen, it is remarkable that many learners do not leave the church feet first, or at least seriously injured. As it is, I shudder to think how much the already high wastage rate among recruits is increased through poor tuition. What can we do about it? I suggest that instruction should be organised on a national basis; that special week-end courses should be available for would-be instructors, and that no one should consider himself qualified to teach until he had attended such a course and attained a suitable standard. Surely anyone who is prepared to give up his evenings year in and year out to teach learners wishes to do it as effectively as possible and would welcome the opportunity of improving his teaching technique? Surely an active tower would wish to subscribe towards sending at least one of its members on an instructor's course?

Help from ringers without instructor's qualifications is also needed, particularly in the early stages of method ringing. Recently we tried to arrange a practice to help some learners acquire ropesight. Just four experienced ringers were needed. Fourteen of those we asked were either unable to come or withdrew after having said they would come. There were other ringers whom we knew it would be useless to ask. The practice was cancelled. This is not good enough. In fact, at the risk of overworking the word, it is appalling. There has got to be a change of attitude; there must be an improvement of tuition standards: there must be an improvement in the organisation of talents available.

In the meantime perhaps the following notes will at least persuade instructors to re-examine their methods and consider their serious responsibilities, also to encourage others to become active in this field; for without teaching there will be no Sunday ringing and no peal ringing either.

DIAGRAM



GENERAL PRELIMINARIES

Begin the lesson with a brief verbal explanation of what the bell is doing, illustrated by a model if possible. Right from the start the potential danger of bells in the "up" position must be made clear. For pupils with imagination, a simple "you could be hurt" is enough, while for those less sensitive a recitation of suitable cautionary tales may be needed. The learners should be shown the bells and fittings and how a bell is rung (by an experienced ringer from below), but it may be good tactics to postpone this until after the first lesson, as half a ton of whirling metal, wood and rope, especially when seen from underneath, can be very intimidating. Has it been made clear to the learners that ringing is a skill which takes a lot of practice and patience and that it will probably take six months of regular attendance before they are really in control of the bell? Remind yourself, and encourage the slower ones by pointing out that different people learn at different speeds; so that one will be quicker to ring a bell solo, but may have much more difficulty in ringing rounds, and another who took much longer to get the first stages right may catch up and overtake others. In fact, most learners appear to gain handling skill in spasms, between stages of no apparent progress: and a quick way of losing promising learners is to let them think they are the only failures in the group just because they seem to be falling behind the others.

CHOICE OF BELL

Choose a bell of suitable weight and go, with as few vices as possible (remember, familiarity breeds contempt). Smoothness and consistent response to the rope, no tendency for the rope to slip wheel, and the sally in a satisfactory position are more important than pound for pound weights, but on a modern or recently rehung ring suitable weights might be around four cwt. for an average 12-year-old to about 11 or 12 cwt. for a strong man. Other things being equal, the lighter bell is better; until the learner is skilled he has to handle the bell by strength alone. As tuition goes on it is both desirable and necessary to change to another bell, and as he progresses, first on tied, then on open bells, the pupil should try an increasingly wide range of weights and types of bell. Various faults will show themselves: the learner may have difficulty in keeping the bell up—change to a lighter bell, unless the fault is due to catching rope or sally too high or too soon. An incorrigible over-puller and stay-banger may do better on a heavier bell which can argue back. The trend today is for lighter, quicker and more responsive bells; it is no kindness to teach someone on the heavy end and then wonder why he is always over-pulling on the light ones, or cannot manage them at all. Make them try the similarities and the differences while you are there to help and advise.

Until the learner can control a bell well enough to ring tolerable "rounds" following another tied bell, his bell should be silenced. This may be done by tying a rope to one wheel spoke, knotting, not just looping it round the clapper, and fastening it to the opposite spoke. A clamping device inside the bell is much more satisfactory—the clapper cannot shift, but is held in a central position. On a light or very tender-setting bell the effect of this is surprising, but if the learner can set the bell properly with the clapper central, he should find no problems when ringing open. There is no strain on the wheel, it is quick to fit and easy to remove, even on a bell that is up, if this is obligatory because of the local conditions. Two similar designs are shown in Diagram I.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

There was a good attendance for ringing on the 23 cwt. eight at South Petherton at the meeting of the Ilchester Branch on March 4th. In the absence of the Vicar, the Branch chairman (the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall), conducted the service with Mrs. Hebditch as organist. An excellent tea followed.

At the business meeting a tribute was paid to the late Mr. F. Strickland, of Martock, one of the oldest members.

Certificates of membership were presented to Messrs. Gilbert W. Rendell, Gordon W. Rendell, Robert Parker, Derek Irwin, the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall and Mrs. M. M. Legget. Three new members from Long Sutton were elected—Tim Shire, Nigel Hunt and Tom Talk.

LAPPING AT APPLETON

Appleton ringers have made progress with their lapping heard at the last March 4th gathering, when a bob course of Stedman Cinques was presented. Now Mr. W. Hibbert informs us that a quarter peal of Stedman Cinques has been lapped. He adds that great credit is due to all the lads, especially when one realises that two of them do not know the first thing about change ringing. The band was Brian White 1–2, Frank White 3–4, Vivian White 5–6, Bob Mordaunt 7–8, Roger Mitty 9–10, Harry White 11–12.

Compositions of Surprise Maximus

On April 23rd, 1965 (page 278), a 5,042 Superlative Surprise Maximus was published which is false as printed.

The correct version is included in the following, which have been rung in the Birmingham area in the last two years and which are now published for the first time.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A peal of Plain Bob Royal was rung on the bells of Christ Church, Macclesfield, immediately after the funeral service for Mr. John Worth, the late tower captain and Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild, on March 2nd.

After a lapse of 35 years, Mr. W. J. Ranson, of Rewe, Stoke Canon, Exeter, is back again ringing and on February 16th took part in a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles with the Silverton band.

There is a promising young band at Calverton, Bucks, where a quarter of Bob Doubles was rung on the five bells. Four of the band rang their first quarter, and for David Coxhill it was his first as conductor.

An all-teenage band has been performing at Caxton, Cambs. On February 25th they rang a quarter of Plain Bob Doubles. There were three firsts of Doubles, one first of Doubles "inside," and conductor D. G. Carr was calling his first of Doubles.

Christ Church, Swindon, has lost three valuable members within a month. Two of them, Mr. C. G Roworth and Mr. A. George Wells, are, alas, dead, and Mr. Michael Scowen is emigrating to Melbourne, Australia. All three of them were over six feet tall.

The conductor of the peal of Plain Bob Doubles rung at North Moreton (page 138) on January 28th was Melvyn J. Hiller.

Radlett, Herts, has two recruits, a brother and sister from the U.S.A. Unfortunately for Radlett they go home in July.

Will Mr. W. Bridges let the Editor know where the quarter peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor for the 83rd birthday of Mr. Jarrett was rung.

Because of the low attendance at meetings the Eastern District of the Ladies' Guild has decided to hold one meeting a year and that in the form of a ringing day or outing.

On March 4th a peal of Plain Bob Doubles was rung at Ellesborough, Bucks. It is believed to be the first peal on the bells for 25 years.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. B. H. Luck, of Canterbury. A peal wishing him a speedy recovery was rung at St. Lawrence in the Isle of Thanet on March 4th.

Known to his friends as "Plain Bob" Edden, Mr. R. J. Edden is leaving Warwickshire for Brixham, Devon. He rang the treble to a quarter peal of Plain Bob at Kineton, where he learned to ring over 50 years ago.

BELFRY GOSSIP

ONE OF HIS BEST DAY'S WORK

"Ringing is a West Country Art" is the title of a fascinating article by Canon H. Miles Brown in the "Western Morning News" of February 22nd. The Canon mentions an old odd-shaped bell at Lanhydrock, which is said to date from the 10th century, and that between 1712 and 1814 no fewer than 83 rings of bells were cast for Cornish churches. The best year was 1767, when six rings were hung. The founders in those day toured the county and set up their furnaces in some sheltered spot near the church tower. Noted founders in the second half of the 18th century were the Pennington family.

One of the best known of Cornish poets was Parson Hawker of Morwenstow. He paid tribute to "the Ringers of Launcells Tower," near Bude, who rang as a team of five vigorous young men on the accession of George III in 1760 and lived to ring again in extreme old age at the King's jubilee in 1810.

The Canon concludes: Certainly the writer, as he looks back to the moment when, nearly 40 years ago, he first took a rope in his hand, considers it one of the best day's work he did. For it opened to him a way into a brotherhood of ringers and a welcome into towers as far apart as Manchester, London and Bournemouth as well as to many scores in the West Country.

BELLS IN WISBECH DISTRICT

Mr. J. E. Fox, the Wisbech District secretary, asks us to make the following corrections to a map published in "The Sentinel" showing the state of ringing in his district:—

Tydd St. Giles.—Bells rung every Sunday.

Walpole St. Andrew.—Bells rung every Sunday and practices held on alternate Fridays, with rounds and methods up to London.

Emneth.—Bells rung Sundays and for practices.

Upwell.—Bells rung.

Shouldham.—Bells not unringable, but ringing confined to special occasions.

Omissions from map. — Crimplesham (5) ringable: West Dereham (5) unringable; Barton Bendish (5) unringable; Methwold (6) unringable: Northwold (8) ringable; and Fincham (6) unringable.

MANCROFT GUILD

The Guild's annual dinner was held at the Flixton Rooms, Norwich, on February 15th and was attended by 47 members and guests. The Rev. W. J. Westwood, Vicar of Mancroft, was in the chair and the principal guests were the president of the Central Council, who responded to the toast of "The Guests," and Mrs. Thurlow and Messrs. Albert Eagle and C. J. Tomkins, churchwardens at Mancroft. A recurrence of the trouble which kept Nolan Golden, the Ringing Master, away from last year's dinner again prevented his attendance and David Heighton, the Deputy Ringing Master, in the course of replying to the toast to the Guild, expressed the wish of all for Mr. Golden's speedy restoration to health.

GUILDFORD CATHEDRAL BELLS

"May I add a postscript of thanks to Guildford Cathedral bells for ten minutes' unforgettable pleasure? Going home for a brief holiday on New Year's Eve I had to change trains at Guildford and heard the Cathedral bells for the first time. Perhaps it was the surprise and holiday relaxation that made the ringing sound the most wonderful I have ever heard!"—Cecily C. Roberts.

CHICHESTER CATHEDRAL RINGERS MARRIED

A wedding of wide interest in the Western Division of the Sussex Association took place at St. Mary's, Felpham, on February 25th between Miss Anne Macdonald Smith, twin daughter of Mrs. M. M. Smith, of The Crescent, Felpham, and Mr. Philip Stevens, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Stevens, of Roundle Avenue, Felpham. The couple first met while ringing at Felpham and now are both regular ringers at Chichester Cathedral.

The Rev. Donald Manners officiated at the service, with Mr. Michael Champneys as organist. The bride, who was given away by her great uncle, Mr. R. W. Obee, was attended by her twin sister Elizabeth, who is also a ringer. Also a ringer was the best man, Mr. Andrew Stevens, the bridegroom's brother.

The bride wore a full length dress of ivory brocade, cut to classic style, with short bouffant veil. She carried a bouquet of narcissi, freesia and white hyacinths.

After the ceremony Felpham ringers rang a quarter peal of Doubles in three methods, and at the reception the newlyweds joined Chichester ringers in handbell ringing. A peal in honour of the occasion, in seven Minor methods, was rung on March 2nd.

The many presents included a table lamp from the Western Division of the Sussex Association and a teak coffee table from Chichester Cathedral band.

STOWMARKET CURFEW

Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have now rehung Stowmarket tenor but it has not yet been rededicated. This is an old curfew tower, the custom dating back 890 years. We learn from the local Press that it is to be revived for the six winter months.

Mr. Oliver Barnard is the new steeplekeeper and the procedure at 8 p.m. is for the tenor bell to be tolled for five minutes before the hours are struck; then the number of days in the month will be struck on the seventh bell.

OPPOSITION TO BUNGAY BELLS RESTORATION APPEAL

A public appeal for £3,000 for the restoration of the bells of St. Mary's, Bungay, Suffolk, signed by the Town Reeve (Mr. R. G. McDaniel), the chairman of the Bungay Urban District Council (Mr. D. Trafford) and the Vicar (the Rev G. J. Tarris), has met with unexpected opposition. Mr. Vincent Wareing, a Bungay business man, has opposed the appeal, regarding it as anti-Christian and unworthy of support. There are needier causes, he states.

The signatories to the appeal are confident of a ready response and point out that the P.C.C. of St. Mary's was financing from its own funds the repair of the tower roof. They felt that, as the bells were enjoyed by the whole community, it would be an unfair burden to restrict the appeal for them just to the worshippers of the church.

Mr. R. A. Pearce, secretary of the appeal, says that before the bells can again be rung they must be removed so that a new steel frame could be put in the tower. It is more than a century ago since they were last taken down and sent to a foundry.

The bells stopped ringing in November, 1965, when an expert declared them unsafe. The tower contains an anti-clockwise ring of eight with a tenor of 16 cwt. 1 qr. 4 lb.

Canon W. M. Lummis, a former Vicar and author of an illustrated guide to the church, comments: "It was the people of Bungay who built the bell tower in the first place. The present people of Bungay will not let their forbears down." So far £105 has been raised. A number of money-raising events are being organised.

ANOTHER USEFUL RINGER FOR MELBOURNE

Mr. Michael Scowen, who is emigrating to Melbourne, Australia, learnt to ring at Christ Church, Swindon, in 1962. In the four years he has been a member of the tower he has rung four peals (two of Grandsire Caters, one of Grandsire Triples and one of Stedman Caters), and the quarter rung by the local band as a farewell to him was his 25th. He was always a very loyal member of the tower and will be greatly missed by the local band. After the quarter peal, on his last Sunday in England, the Ringing Master, Mr. E. Sutton, presented him with a copy of "Change Ringing" by Wilfrid G. Wilson. The book had been inscribed "Presented to Michael Scowen with the very good wishes of the members of Christ Church Belfry for every success in Australia. February, 1967."

AUSTRALIA'S FIRST UNDER 16 QUARTER

Main news from "Down Under" this week is the first under 16 quarter peal rung at Burwood, N.S.W., on February 19th. It was planned six week ago but a suitable band in Sydney was not easy to find. A new conductor was tutored and as a test the band rang a quarter on tied bells. The result was success at the first attempt on open bells. Four of the band are from Burwood, the wedding tower with ringing for 100 weddings a year. Mr. Ross W Bampton tells us that enthusiasm among the boys runs high and they are saving their wedding peal money for a 2,000 miles rail trip during the school holidays in May to ring at Melbourne and Adelaide.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION
Eastern District

The choice of York with Huntington for the February quarterly meeting of the Eastern District attracted a good number of members along with visitors from Darlington, Lincolnshire and Pontefract.

Ringing on the heavy 12 at the Minster took place during the afternoon up to Evensong, which was attended by most of the ringers present.

At the short business meeting, which followed an excellent buffet tea arranged by members of St. John's College, two nominations were received for the position of District Ringing Master—A. C. Banton and D. S. Johnson. This will be decided by vote at the annual general meeting. A committee meeting is to be called to decide the best way of reducing the District Committee to six to comply with the new rules of the Association.

Six new full members were elected to the Association—Michael Brook (Pocklington). John Whittaker (Market Weighton), John (Birdsall (Beverley), Gwynneth C. Ducker (Sutton-on-Hull), Elizabeth Johnston (North Ferriby) and Peter Perry (Selby). Mr. A. R. Hall was re-elected after lapsing and Messrs. P. M. Park and D. R. Cox, of Darlington, were elected as non-resident life members.

Mr. L. M. Woodhead, in proposing a vote of thanks to the local clergy and company, said he thought the ringing at the Minster had been very creditable and the singing of Evensong by the Minster choir "an inspiration."

LATE NEWS

The Editor regrets to announce that the "peal" rung for the London County Association at Clapham (page 171) is a hoax.

"... HAST OVERCOME DEATH"

By Rev. P. T. Robbins

OUR taste in hymns has changed. We only have to look through most hymn books and see how many which may have been popular once are never sung now —or at least I hope they aren't! A good example is that famous children's hymn which starts:

"Within the churchyard side by side
Are many long, low graves;"

Few of us would bewail the fact that this one has failed to make a place in the charts for a good number of years now. We find this Victorian harping on death very dated. But are we really wise to dismiss the image which these lines put before us? Is it really possible to try, as our generation undoubtedly does try, to ignore or gloss over the fact of death? Really the one sure fact of life is death. The one certain prediction that each of us can make about the future is that we are going to die. This is an intensely personal thing. To use the imagery of that hymn, one of those graves is going to be ours. How do we look forward to that event—with indifference? with alarm? with despair? with resignation? with hope?

For the Christian there can be no doubt; even if we do not contemplate the hour of our death with eager expectancy as some of our forefathers did, we can at least look forward with hope. And the whole basis of our hope is the Easter message. At Easter we are reminded again of how our Lord Jesus Christ shared with us the experience of death. He had been betrayed by one of his disciples, tried falsely by his religious leaders, cynically abandoned by the State, mocked and tortured by Jews and Romans, and finally executed in a cruel and disgusting manner. Up to this point his story had run parallel with the experience of the general run of mankind. However, after Jesus had well and truly died something happened which was completely different. Resurrection took place.

The Resurrection of Jesus was not, we must be quite clear, a putting back of the clock. Jesus himself had previously caused one or two people who had died to be restored to life; medical science too from time to time succeeds in reviving someone who technically has died. Jesus didn't just go on as if he hadn't died. He was raised to a mode of being higher than that which he had enjoyed during his earthly life. Certainly he was able to do the same things that he had done previously—talking, walking, eating — but he was obviously alive after the Resurrection in an altogether profounder sense. Even before, and certainly after, the Ascension, the new life of Jesus was essentially something that he was able to communicate to others. People were convinced that in a very literal sense he was in them and that they were in him.

In this way the Resurrection of Jesus becomes the real source of hope for us in facing the grim fact of death. In Jesus we have one who has passed through death to a fuller life beyond. Furthermore he promises some form of mystical union between himself and us. "I am with you always"; "Dwell in me, as I in you"; "This is my Body" and "This is my Blood" as we eat and drink the bread and wine of the Holy Communion. We in all our mortality are joined to Christ in all his risen, eternal reality. In other words we can approach the apparent dissolution of our humanity in the confidence born of our knowledge that we are inextricably united with a reality greater than earthly life through our union with one who "was dead, and now is alive for evermore".

For this reason Easter is of all the Christian festivals most charged with joy and hope. The most fearsome and discouraging threat to our very being finds its complete answer on Easter Day. It must be a peculiar delight to us ringers to make a joyful noise on this day, to proclaim as long and as loudly as we can that in the Resurrection of Jesus Christ God has overcome death. I have in my possession an old peal book which records several peals rung at Tunstall in Kent in the years before the First World War, "for early service" on Easter Day. Perhaps this is more than many of us would achieve now—and maybe our efforts would not always be appreciated if we did! At any rate, let all our bells be rung as fully as they can be on Easter Day, and let us try to visit as many "silent towers" as we can at Eastertide, so that the great Christian message of hope may ring out at this joyful season.

JOHN WORTH — A GREAT MAN IN MANY SPHERES

CHESTER GUILD MOURNS ITS MASTER

ON June 3rd, 1929, six of the young service band at Christ Church, Macclesfield, who had been trained by William Gayes, rang their first peal by all, Grandsire Doubles, conducted by John Worth. Before the end of the year most of them had rung peals of Plain Bob Minor, Kent Treble Bob Minor, Oxford Treble Bob Minor and Grandsire Triples and most of them were conducted by their youthful 19-year-old conductor. The next year saw the conductor venturing farther afield. He began his association with Norbury, which lasted the rest of his life, and made contact with the ringers in the Potteries. The first peal on the eight at Christ Church, Macclesfield, was rung, a feat in itself because the tower had considerable movement. He also called the first peal by Boy Scouts, rung at Over on Empire Day.

After such a beginning to his ringing career it is no surprise that he soon became one of the leading ringers of the Chester Guild and his ability as a conductor was soon recognised Naturally his weekly visit to Norbury gave him an interest in Spliced Minor and in 1933 and subsequent years peals in increasing numbers of Treble Bob methods were rung, culminating in the peal in 73 methods in 1937. During this period there began that system of dual conducting with the writer, which later did much to develop method ringing in the area. It was typical of his kindness and genius that he, the recognised conductor, encouraged and helped another member of the band to become a conductor.

ASSOCIATION WITH LINCOLN GUILD

At this time the Lincoln Guild had two bands which were competing with Cheshire in the Minor field, and contact was established with the North Lincolnshire band through Mr. J. L. Millhouse, who came to Norbury in August, 1939, and called a peal. Since that time the closest association existed between the two and it was perhaps fitting that he died on a visit to our Lincolnshire friends, with whom he had passed many happy hours.

However, he did not permit us to concentrate on Minor; we had to be able to ring anything from Doubles to Maximus. At Christmas, 1938, in six days, "East Cheshire on Holiday" rang eight peals ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Plain Bob Maximus.

In 1935 he called the first peal of four-spliced Surprise Major in the county. This was rung at the first attempt but the band had had to be trained in a new technique for them, that of ringing lead by lead. His great patience on practice nights with their efforts and his good humour when tempers were frayed undoubtedly inspired the band.

After the war came the opportunity to get together from the Guild a band capable of advanced ringing but there was much experimenting to be done before a resident band rang a peal of Cambridge Maximus, in 1947. The dual conductorship was extended and now there might be five or six conductors keeping an eye on the ringing. Since then there have been many changes and there is a new generation of ringers carrying on the work he began.

It is not the intention here to itemise his many great performances: he was the first member of the Chester Guild to ring 1,000 peals, but when his peal book is analysed it will be its great variety which will strike the reader.

LEARNERS' PEALS IMPORTANT

The above sketch of a great career cannot do justice to a man who was humble, loyal, kindly, wise and patient. One to whom a peal of Doubles for a learner was as important as a peal of spliced, who rejoiced in the accomplishments of his friends, who appreciated the efforts of his rivals without envy, and who was always on the look-out for something new and challenging.

MR. JOHN WORTH

He was anxious that the education of young ringers should be improved through day-courses and one of the last things he discussed with the writer was a device to demonstrate a point to learners.

He had played a leading part in getting a scheme lauuched for a ring of bells worthy of Chester Cathedral and was not dismayed when difficulties arose; he was confident they could be overcome.

But ringing was only one part of his life. He had attended Christ Church from boyhood, was educated at its school and became Assistant Scoutmaster there. Later he held the highest lay office the church affords, that of churchwarden, and subsequently became a trustee and elder statesman of the Church. He was also a keen member of the billiards team of the Church Institute. In his business life he served his trade associations in many ways.

In all spheres his many friends will miss him, for no one ever turned to him for advice or help and was refused. Men of his calibre are rare and it was a privilege to know him.

C. K. L.

AN APPRECIATION

The Exercise has lost, in the death of John Worth, not only one of its most accomplished ringers, but one of its greatest personalities. John Worth, to many ringers in the north-west, was a man to whom they could turn for advice. Many of the 300 people who attended his funeral on Thursday, March 2nd, were young ringers, who had come to consider John as a father figure. John was a man who always seemed to say the right word at the right time, he was never ruffled and could always see the good in any person. When the occasion demanded it John could reprimand a person without anybody else being aware of it.

John inspired many performances in which he did not take part, the extent of Major being one of them. He was consulted before every long peal attempt we made, not because we felt bound to do so, but so that we could receive his advice. John lived the Christian life to the full; he never gave anything but his best in everything he undertook. It seems almost impossible that we shall never again see his smiling face, which is the only way one could ever picture him.

His last peal attempt was Grandsire Cinques on handbells and it was fitting that a course of Grandsire Caters should be rung during the funeral service. For those taking part it was the longest course they had ever rung as they thought, like many of those present, of their associations with a man they all admired.

To Mrs. Worth and John's relations we can only say, at this difficult time, "Our lives are all very much richer for having been associated with John Worth."

Remarkable Tribute at Funeral

MORE than 300 people attended the funeral service for Mr. John Worth (57), Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild, held at Christ Church, Macclesfield, on Thursday, March 2nd. Mr. Worth died in the street at Lincoln the previous Saturday.

The Vicar of Macclesfield (the Rev. Dick Rees) led the prayers and the address was given by the Vicar of Christ Church (the Rev. A. H. M Turner), who said Mr. Worth was a friend at home, at church, at work and in his hobbies. Christ Church would remember him as a man of statesmanlike wisdom, whose opinions were highly valued and as a man of peace.

During the service a course of Grandsire Caters was rung "in hand" by Messrs. Alan Potts, Alan McFall, R. B. Smith, C. K. Lewis and G. Moorhouse

Committal followed at Macclesfield Crematorium. The bearers were ringers from Christ Church—Messrs. D. Pearson, H. Farrer, G. Farrer, W. Stephenson, E. Potts and H. Wood.

Surrey Assn. want to share new Cathedral with Guildford Guild

SANCTION TO VISIT CAUSES SCARE

A controversial speech by Mr. C. W. Munday, the general secretary, at the 39th annual general meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Guildford Cathedral on March 11th gave rise to lively exchanges. The bone of contention was the decision of the Surrey Association to hold its annual meeting in May at the Cathedral. Was this part of Surrey's expansion policy to penetrate into the whole county? he asked.

Proceedings started with the Guild's service, held in the beautiful Lady Chapel, conducted by the Dean (Bishop George Clarkson), who gave an address. Tea followed in the Refectory; this had been prepared by Mrs. Munday, Mrs. Smart and other ladies. About 100 members and friends were present.

The Master, Mr. P. G. Smart, presided at the business meeting supported by his officers, who were elected for another year of office. They are: General secretary, Mr. C. W. Munday; treasurer, Mr C. H. Kippin; auditor, Mr. P. G. Sherwood.

MEMBERSHIP SLIGHTLY LESS

Presenting the annual report, the Master said the total membership of 591 (579 ringing and 12 associates) was slightly less than that of the previous year.

The meeting stood while the following losses by death were remembered: Miss M. E. Bragg (Aldershot), Messrs. J. Brackley (Old Woking), W. F. Matthews (Cobham) and A. Roberts (Cobham). The last three were founder members.

Reporting on the peals, which numbered 33, eight fewer than in the previous year, Major Bragg said these were rung in 18 towers by 130 members in 23 different methods. Mr. R. C. Kippin was the leading conductor with five. Fifteen members rang their first peal and 68 their first in the method. He congratulated John Hayns on ringing his first peal as conductor.

The peal book was now at Aldershot. Leading conductors since the foundation of the Guild were A. H. Pulling 334, John Wells 99, A. Harman 85, A. P. Cannon 83, C. E. Smith 49. Three of the four Districts held striking competitions, winners being St. Martin's, Epsom (Leatherhead), Farnborough (Farnham) and Egham (Chertsey).

CATHEDRAL BELFRY

Regarding the Cathedral, the secretary said £45 had been spent in providing a dedication tablet. With the Master, he had met the Cathedral Council, the builders and Mr. D. Hughes to discuss ways and means of controlling sound in the belfry and dealing with the damp conditions. The Dean told him that day that some sound deadening material was to be used to make the bells more pleasant inside the ringing room. Unfortunately they were not in a position to move the Guild library into the tower because of water coming in and the Dean promised that would also receive attention.

The Master called attention to changes in District officers, Miss D. Street had resigned as secretary of the Guildford District and had been succeeded by Miss Y. L. Eloie; Mr. R. Collins, who for 13 years had been either Master or secretary of the Chertsey District, had moved to Farnham and had been succeeded as secretary by Mr. R. Caporn; Mr. D. Tubbs had succeeded Mr. W. Savill as Master of the Guildford District, and Mr. J. L. Hayns had relieved Mr. D. Herschell as Master of the Leatherhead District.

The hon. treasurer, Mr. C. H. Kippin, presented the audited accounts, which showed an increased balance in the General Fund of £67 8s, 8d. as against £47 6s. 6d. The improvement was partly due to no Central Council expenses being claimed and the Master did not get his five guineas. The Cathedral Bell Fund had a balance of £312 11s. 2d. and the Benevolent Fund £160 19s. 7d.

BENEVOLENT FUND WOUND UP

The meeting unanimously agreed to the Benevolent Fund, established in 1935, being wound up and the balance transferred to the Guild General Fund. Provided the General Fund balance was not reduced below £100, a grant not exceeding £25 may be made with the consent of the Master and general secretary to any member or dependant of any living or deceased member in distress or in ill health or suffering from any other adversity, upon the written application of another member.

The secretary explained the differences between this rule and the previous one. The old rule provided for a member who wanted help applying; now it was another person who applied on the individual's behalf; the District officers had previously to approve. Since the fund was established, £85 10s. had been paid out; the last payment was in 1960.

TOWER AFFILIATIONS

On behalf of the Farnham District, Mr. G. K. Williamson proposed that the Guild rules relating to tower affiliation fees be rescinded. He pointed out that out of the 63 towers in the Guild in the Chertsey District six out of 15 paid; Farnham District 13 out of 15, Guildford District six out 18; Leatherhead three out of 15. He thought that only 50 per cent. of the towers were represented at that meeting and no money would be forthcoming from those towers.

During the discussion it transpired that the responsibility of collecting affiliation fees had been placed on the Districts. Mr. Kippin said when he collected in one year he received £21 15s. He had a printed form which he sent to incumbents and if the money was not forthcoming within a month he sent a reminder. If there was still no response he asked the tower captain to call. "If you want money you have to ask for it," concluded Mr. Kippin.

The motion was defeated and it was left to the Executive Committee to consider method of collection.

FEARS OF SURREY ASSOCIATION PENETRATION

Under other business, the Master said the Surrey Association was holding its annual meeting at Guildford Cathedral in May. Was it right for an outside Association to hold its annual meeting at their headquarters? he asked. The general secretary felt strongly about it.

Mr. C. W. Munday said the Winchester Diocesan Guild, which included the present Guildford Diocese, was founded in 1879, and the Surrey Association, which worked among the eastern portion of the county, in 1880. With the division of the Winchester Diocese, the Guildford Guild was formed in 1927. From the beginning there was opposition to the Guildford Guild from the Surrey Association and some of their members wanted the Surrey Association to penetrate into their area. At the present time the area in which their Association overlapped was not large.

In 1962 there was a move to amalgamate the two. At a special meeting the voting of the Guildford Guild against amalgamation was 126 against, 19 for. The report of the Surrey Association for 1963 contained a recommendation to carry out a survey of all towers in Surrey on the question of Sunday ringing, to penetrate areas in Surrey where the Association had no members and encourage ringers to join Their policy was one of expansion throughout the county.

"I felt very strongly when I heard that the Surrey Association was to hold its annual meeting in Guildford and the first I knew about it was when I read it in 'The Ringing World,'" said Mr. Munday. Continuing, he said when he spoke to the Dean about the meeting the Dean had the impression that the Surrey Association was a more important body than the Guildford Guild. The Surrey Association had only a handful of ringers living within 12 or 15 miles of Guildford.

AFRAID OF "A TAKE-OVER"

Mr. C. H. Kippin said he could not see what the general secretary was creating about. If the Surrey Association had members in every tower what difference did it make to the Guildford Guild? The fact that they had liaison officers showed there was a desire to co-operate. The general secretary seemed afraid of a "take-over" bid. The Surrey Association as far as he could see was a very go-ahead Association, very enthusiastic, and he admired it very much. He hoped the Guild would welcome the members at Guildford in May.

The opinions of the liaison officers were sought and Mr. W. Jackson, of Kingston upon Thames, said the request for the meeting to be held at Guildford came not from the officers but from the body of the hall. The Surrey Association officers felt that they would be coming to Guildford as their guests.

Mr. J. A. Harrison pointed out that where he came from, in the Southwell area, there were about six Associations operating amicably together.

The matter was discussed at length and it was finally left to the liaison officers to arrange for an amicable meeting. The general view was that the Association would be welcomed to Guildford as guests and not as "penetrators."

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Following a decision taken at the Nottingham A.G.M., Saturday meetings are held once every two months and special practices for learners are held twice a month. There was a fair attendance at the meeting on March 4th, which began with an hour's ringing on the pleasantly-toned bells at All Saints', Nottingham. Repairs carried out by Mr. Syd Foskett and helpers have made these bells ringable. Ringing continued at Bulwell, where a splendid tea was provided at the Rectory. Ringing ranged from rounds to Stedman and Surprise Major and the evening concluded with a good course of Yorkshire.

Letters to the Editor

SOMERSET COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Dear Sir,—Before you finally put the axe down on the "Bristol affair" may I say that the Bristol Society appears to be in the same position as its slightly more southerly neighbour, the Somerset County Association.

Well known throughout North Somerset, the S.C.A. members endeavour to achieve a high standard of performance, though any peals in which its members take part are usually credited to the Bath and Wells. This is perhaps the major difference between the S.C.A. and the Bristol Society—and is probably the reason behind all the controversy.

So far nobody has done a "Mr. Tubb" on the S.C.A., and it is hoped that nobody ever will, since relationship between the Bath and Wells members and the S.C.A. members is extremely good, and many enjoyable ringing and social hours have been enjoyed in each other's company.—Yours faithfully,

M. HEYMANN.

Chilcompton.

A DIFFERENT PEDAL

Dear Sir,—Perhaps the reason for the so-called Bristol Society is valid. The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association has now discontinued the recording of peals and still expects to receive the same peal fee as before, one shilling per rope. This appears to be illogical, as the funds of the Association are at a higher level now than for some time, though some contribution should be made towards the cost of printing the annual reports. In any case the general trend indicates that the Association intends to become a profit-making concern.

Perhaps the secretary of the Association, Mr. Rouse, or one of the auditors, Mr. Hunt, would like to comment.—Yours sincerely,

A. TUBB.

Filton, Glos.

POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS

Dear Sir,—I beg to point out the following with regard to four recent peals:—

(i) Abergele Imperial Bob.—The peal rung at Buckley, Flintshire, on January 28th, 1967, was actually a peal of Nashdom Imperial Bob Major. The first peal of this method was rung at Burnham, Bucks, on July 11th, 1964. (See "Ringing World," July 24th, 1964, page 503.)

(ii) Kenwyn Surprise Major.—An error in the notation given on page 119, February 17th. I assume that the figure 6 with which it begins should be a letter b.

(iii) Pendeen Surprise Major.—An error in the notation given on page 155 of March 3rd. I assume that the method intended is:

d—58—16—56—36—34—38.14—12.7.

I think it is the duty of conductors to see that the notation they submit is accurate, and also to do something if it is inaccurately published. It is a pity when even those of us who have some experience in these matters can only decide what method has been rung by a series of inspired guesses.—Yours faithfully.

JOHN R. MAYNE.

St. Albans.

LANCASHIRE REPORT CORRECTION

Dear Sir,—On page 59 of the 1966 Annual Report of the Lancashire Association appears a composition of 5,184 Plain Bob Major. This composition cannot be reduced to 5,072 simply by the omission of course "A." All concerned please note. Apologies for the error.—Yours faithfully,

R. BARNES.

Preston, Lancs.

WANTS TO HEAR GREAT PEALS

Dear Sir,—Once again I am spurred to write on a subject which has, for a period of 18 months, irked more and more.

165 Spliced Surprise Major at Longney. Before this Surprise Maximus at Liverpool; three simultaneous peals of Stedman Cinques, London; to name but a few outstanding achievements of recent months. Marvellous, we all agree.

All right, outstanding so they are; but my point is that if these gentlemen are confident enough to ring the stuff, then they should be confident enough to advertise when and where these peals will take place. Even "ordinary" peals on the more noble rings of bells should be announced; then lesser mortals of the Exercise can at least listen and share the delights.

One conclusion only can otherwise be drawn from this, that those taking part ring from motives of pure selfishness.—Yours faithfully,

EDWARD CRIBLEY.

Stroud, Glos.

A recording of the peal of Stedman was advertised on page 196.—Ed.

COMBATING HOAX PEALS

Dear Sir,—It is deplorable that the peal columns of "The Ringing World" should be used as a medium for private jokes.

After reading the two hoax peals—on pages 88 and 171—we strongly recommend that the "R.W." should become a rival to the "Beginners' Handbook" rather than a forum for private jokes.

We appreciate that it is impossible for the "R.W. to examine the validity of each peal but we feel that action must be taken.

We suggest that one of the following steps should be taken:

(i) Charge a 6d. "rope fee," thus discouraging would-be hoaxers.

(ii) The peals should not be printed until the conductor has obtained the signature of a senior Association official on the peal report.

(iii) That the "R.W." should cease the publication of peals.

—Yours faithfully,

G. F. WHITE,
M. MAJOR,
M. J. TUNNICLIFF,
P. S. JONES.

Forest Hill, S.E.

HANDBELL FOUNDER

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. M. King's inquiry concerning a handbell foundry in Tottenham Court Road, I cannot help him as to the site of the foundry, but the founder was Henry Symondson, a member of the Junior Cumberlands (an old London Society) mentioned by the late J. A. Trollope when writing about the Junior Cumberlands.

Symondson rang all his peals with that Society between the years 1793 to about 1814. His name appears as having rung the second to a peal of 6,003 Stedman Caters by the Junior Cumberlands at Christ Church, Spitalfields, on Monday, November 13th, 1797, composed and conducted by John Noonan, with whom Symondson rang all his peals. So the handbells Mr. King mentions could be at least 150 years old, perhaps older.

It is a pity the date is not stamped on them. I hope the lady who has acquired them will be able to have the bells restored to their former glory.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM J. WHITMORE.

Raunds, Northants.

IMBER'S BELLS

Dear Sir,—Having read N. O. Skelton's letter on page 148 of "The Ringing World" about the five old bells from Imber, I think that those in whose care the bells are now should have a look around Salisbury Plain at the number of towers with five bells.

I can think of at least half a dozen towers and one not much more than a stone's throw from Imber, which if another bell was added would make a far wider scope for those who delight in the art of change ringing in country parishes.

I fully understand that it would cost a good deal more to have these bells recast and rehung as trebles in these towers, and am not against these bells going to Edington to make a fine ring of bells but not all of Imber's residents went to Edington, nor did all the furnishings of St. Giles' Church, as these were distributed among many parishes on the Plain.—Yours faithfully,

ALLAN E. COOK.

Netheravon, Wilts.

"SUMMONED BY BELLS"

Dear Sir,—May I, through the courtesy of your "Letters to the Editor" column, correct an inadmissible error on my part when typing the manuscript of my sermon "Summoned by Bells!" which you printed in "The Ringing World" of March 3rd, 1967.

The source of my text is, of course, Ecclesiasticus, and not Ecclesiastes, as I in error gave you. Those of us who are familiar with these two collections of Hebrew literature know how very different the former is from the latter! For the record, then, the exact text is Ecclesiasticus 44, 1, 3, 5, 2, 15.—Yours faithfully,

ERIC HAYMAN.

Plymouth.

Note.—We thank other readers who have called attention to the error.—Ed.

OBITUARY

MRS. E. M. CORDEROY

After a very short illness the death of Mrs. Ethel May Corderoy on March 2nd came as a very sad happening in the village of Aston Tirrold, Berkshire.

Mrs. Corderoy had lived in the village all her life and died at the age of 52. A ringer for the past 33 years, her entire ringing activities had been devoted to Sunday service ringing, for which she attended twice each Sunday with complete regularity. This service, performed with the assistance of her husband, son and daughter-in-law, had been the backbone of the Aston six for many years and the link in this chain will be greatly missed.

She had also served the church as secretary to the Parochial Church Council for the past four years, a church cleaner, and enrolling member for the Mothers' Union. The Aston tower band has provided very strong support for the North Berks Branch and the members have been known to cycle 20 or 30 miles on a pouring wet day in order to be present at a Branch meeting. Mrs. Corderoy will be greatly missed by many for her great example of humble service. Sincere sympathy is extended to Gilbert and family.

The funeral service on March 6th was well attended and handbells were rung at the graveside and a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on the tower bells in the evening.

A. H. W.

NORTHALLERTON, YORKS.—On March 4th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: W. Pedley (first quarter) 1, Mrs. M. Town 2, A. Bashforth 3, D. Town 4, E. W. Metcalfe (cond.) 5, N. Munden (first quarter) 6. Rung on the back six.

ELECTION OF HONORARY AUDITORS

Mr. H. N. Pitstow was re-elected and Mr. D. Hughes elected, proposed by Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, seconded by Mr. P. A. Corby.

LOSS OF MEMBERS THROUGH DEATH

The president reported the death of the following members and past members of the Council, the assembly standing in silence:—

Messrs D. H. Bennett (1939–50), P. Crook (1927–29, 1939-50 and 1957–62), J. T. Dyke (1927–65), Mrs. G. W. Fletcher (1915–65), Messrs. E. C Gobey (1912–14 and 1933–35), C. Harrison (1945), G. L. Hewitt (1946–56), T. Metcalfe (1913–36), Canon J. D. Pearson (1946–47), Messrs. A Paddon Smith (1921–53), W H Southeard (1927–32) and S. H. Symonds (1929–45)

Tributes were paid to the memory of many of the deceased, in particular to Mrs. Fletcher for her work both for the Council and the Ladies' Guild.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING

The minutes as published in "The Ringing World" of March 25th, 1966, were adopted subject to the insertion of "by Mr. F. W. Perrens" after "Standing Committee" under "Election of Life Member," on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. F. W. Perrens.

REPORTS

These have been published as shown:—

HONORARY SECRETARY AND TREASURER
(June 10th, 1966, page 372)

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. W. Ayre.

HONORARY LIBRARIAN
(June 17th, 1966, page 392)

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. F. W. Perrens, seconded by Mr. C. K. Lewis

The president expressed the Council's thanks to Mr and Mrs. R. F. B. Speed for their work during the previous eight years in connection with the sale of publications.

Mr. G. Dodds suggested that the possibility be investigated of "Xerox" copying of certain books now out of print.

BALANCE SHEET AND ACCOUNTS
(June 17th 1966, page 388)

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes.

TRUSTEES OF THE CARTER RINGING MACHINE
(June 17th, 1966, page 391)

STANDING COMMITTEE

The hon. secretary reported that at its meeting the previous evening the Committee had considered the agenda in detail and made a number of recommendations which would be placed before the Council.

The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. R. S. Anderson.

"THE RINGING WORLD" COMMITTEE
(June 17th, 1966, pages 386–388)

The Standing Committee recommended the adoption of the report and accounts and the re-election of the committee with the exception of Mr D. A. Bayles.

During the debate which followed a number of criticisms were made of the layout and contents of the paper. A proposal by Mr. J. Freeman, seconded by the Rev. J. G. M. Scott, that an ad hoc committee be formed to examine the position was defeated. Mr. R. F. B. Speed proposed, and Mr. W. L. Weller seconded, that the committee be voted on individually This was carried and it was agreed that the committee should consist of six members. After a ballot Messrs. R. S. Anderson, D A. Bayles, D. Beresford, G. W. Pipe, J. F. Smallwood and W. G. Wilson were elected. The report and accounts were adopted.

RECORDS COMMITTEE
(June 17th, 1966, pages 390 and 395)

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. F. T. Blagrove, seconded by Mr C. K. Lewis. Mr. Blagrove was re-elected and Messrs. D. E. Gibson and C. A. Wratten elected to the committee.

It was agreed that the records typed by Mrs. Fletcher should be bound as a memorial to her. Thanks were expressed to Mrs. C. C. Marshall and Mr. J. R. Mayne for their work for the committee in the past.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. C. Shepherd, seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes, who were re-elected to the committee.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE
(June 17th, 1966, page 393)

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. F. Sharpe, seconded by Mr F. J. Sanger.

It was agreed that, in addition to the comprehensive treatise for which approval had been given in 1964, the existing handbook should be reprinted to meet current needs. Tributes were paid by Messrs. Sanger and H. W. Rogers to Mr. Sharpe for his work for the committee. The existing members (Messrs. F. Sharpe, B. Austin, F. E. Collins, J. Freeman, A. J. Frost, H. J Sanger, Rev. J. G. M. Scott, B. D. Threlfall and J. Worth) were re-elected and Mr. T. M. Roderick added to the committee.

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. Ayre, seconded by Canon K. W. H. Felstead. Mr. Ayre, Canon Felstead and Mr. H. L. Roper were re-elected to the committee.

PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE
(June 17th, 1966, page 391)

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. E. Critchley, seconded by Mr. R. F. B. Speed, The committee (Messrs. W. E. Critchley, G. E. Fearn, A. J. Pitman and R. F. B. Speed) were re-elected.

BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. T. J. Lock, seconded by Mr. W H. Viggers. The committee (Messrs. T. J. Lock, W. Parrott. W. H. Viggers and J. Willis) were re-elected.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING AND EDUCATION COMMITTEE
(June 17th, 1966, page 390)

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. N. Chaddock, seconded by Mr. W. F. Moreton.

It was agreed that the committee should proceed with compiling a manual for instructors. Mr. N. Chaddock, Miss M. R. Cross and Messrs. W. F. Moreton and F. Sharpe were re-elected to the committee. Mrs. P. J. Staniforth was added in place of Mr. F. B. Lufkin, who did not wish to stand again

OVERSEAS RINGING COMMITTEE

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. G. W. Pipe, seconded by Mr. A. V. Sheppard. At Mr. Pipe's suggestion, Mr F. T. Blagrove reviewed the state of ringing in Africa, from where he had recently returned.

Messrs. Pipe and Sheppard were re-elected to the committee, after which, on behalf of the St. Paul's Cathedral Society, Melbourne, Mr. T. J. Lock presented to the Council a book entitled "Australia—Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" and an illuminated address. The president expressed the Council's thanks and congratulated Mr. Lock on the success of the previous year's tour of Australia.

BROADCASTING AND TELEVISION COMMITTEE

Adopted on the proposition of Mr. H. N. Pitstow, seconded by Mr. D. A. Bayles. The committee (Messrs. H. N. Pitstow, D. A. Bayles, G. E. Fearn, J. T. Dunwoody, H. J. Sanger, Canon A. G. G. Thurlow and R. S. Wilson) were re-elected.

METHODS COMMITTEE

Mr. C. K. Lewis said that the committee had nothing to report. Mr. Lewis and Mr. F. T. Blagrove were re-elected to the committee, and Mr. S. J. Ivin was added in place of Mr. J. R. Mayne, no longer a member of the Council. The thanks of the committee were extended to Mr. Mayne for his work on their behalf.

STANDING COMMITTEE—MEMBERSHIP

The hon. secretary announced the names of the ex-officio members: Canon A. G. G. Thurlow, Messrs. J. Freeman, V. Bottomley, F. W. Perrens, D. Hughes, H. N. Pitstow, F. Sharpe, E. A. Barnett, G. W. Fletcher, R. S. Anderson, W. Ayre, F. T. Blagrove, N. Chaddock, W. E Critchley, C. K. Lewis, T. J. Lock, G. W. Pipe and E. C. Shepherd.

After a ballot, the following 12 members were elected: Mrs. O. D. Barnett, Messrs. J. Bray, W. B. Cartwight, P. A Corby, Miss M. R. Cross, Messrs. F. E. Dukes, F. I. Hairs, W. F. Moreton, H. J. Sanger, J. F. Smallwood, J. F. B. Speed and W. G. Wilson.

MOTIONS

(a) Proposed by Mr. C. K. Lewis, seconded by Mr. J. Worth:

"That this Council favours all affiliated Societies fixing the rate of their non-resident life membership subscriptions at a figure which does not exceed one and a half times the resident members' subscription."

The motion was lost.

(b) Proposed on behalf of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers by the Rev. J. G. M. Scott, seconded by Miss B. M. Boyle:

"That the names of those taking part in peals reported in 'The Ringing World' be not published except after payment to 'The Ringing World' of not less than sixpence for each person taking part in the peal."

The motion was lost.

(c) Proposed by Mr. A. V. Davis, seconded by Canon K. W H. Felstead:

"That this Council invites all affiliated Societies to contribute a sum of not less than three guineas per representative annually towards the cost of maintaining 'The Ringing World.'"

After debate, the Council passed on to the next business on the proposition of Mr. P. M. J. Gray, seconded by Mr. S. J. Ivin.

FUTURE MEETINGS

It was agreed that the 1967 meeting at Nottingham should be held on Tuesday, May 30th, instead of on Whitsun Tuesday.

Invitations had been received from the Surrey and Worcestershire and Districts Associations to visit Croydon and Worcester respectively in 1968. It was agreed by a majority to accept the invitation to Worcester.

The Council took note of an invitation to visit Hertfordshire in 1971.

OTHER BUSINESS

Mr. C. A Lewis asked whether the Council would publish a Doubles book giving details of all plain methods and variations. Mr. C. K. Lewis undertook to discuss this with his committee

On the proposition of Mr. W. H. Dobbie, seconded by Mr. C. K. Lewis, Mr. F I. Hairs was thanked for his services to "The Ringing World" Committee during the preceding 15 years. Congratulations were also extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hairs on their golden wedding anniversary earlier in the year.

VOTES OF THANKS

On the motion of the president, the thanks of the Council were expressed to the Mayor of Bath, the Assistant Bishop of Bath and Wells and the Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association for their welcome; to the Mayor and Corporation for the use of the hall; to the Rector of Bath Abbey for the use of his church for the Holy Communion service; to the officers of the Association, in particular the secretary, Mr. G. Salmon, the treasurer, Mr. E. Naylor, and Mr. J. H. Gilbert for the local arrangements; and to local incumbents and towerkeepers for the use of their bells.

The members were the guests at tea of the Mayor and Corporation of Bath.

University of London Society Dinner

THE University of London Society of Change Ringers again held its annual dinner at Church House Restaurant, Westminster, on February 25th. Ringing during the day took place at St. Giles', Camberwell, St. John's, Waterloo, St. Luke's, Chelsea, and at the City towers of St. Dunstan-in-the-East, St. Mary Woolnoth, St. Mary-le-Bow, St. Botolph's, Aldgate, and St. Margaret's, Westminster. Some members also rang at Southwark Cathedral and St. Olave's, Hart Street.

Though the number present was smaller than last year's bumper total, nevertheless the 80-odd who were present seemed to have a festive spirit about them. The dinner was presided over by Mr. David J. R. Martin, the president, who gave the loyal toast.

The toast of "The Church" was ably proposed by a former Master of the Society, Dr. John Armstrong. In a short but apt speech he referred to the amazing achievements of the present technical age in which so much around us was changing.. The Church was also changing and it was essential that it did; but as far as we were concerned it remained our bedrock and, as regarded our Exercise, we were deeply beholden to the Church, for without it there would be no Exercise.

In replying, Canon C. B. Mortlock (Rector of St. Vedast's) told the company that the Church was indeed changing; indeed it might change so radically that the Church of England might become unrecognisable, particularly in view of the steps being taken towards Church unity. He reminded members, however, that Ecumenism was no new thing. As early as 1908 the Bishops of the Anglican Communion at the Lambeth Conference had issued a "Call to Unity"—something sensational in those days

In giving his own welcome to the visitors, the president particularly welcomed Mr. John Euston, of St. Margaret's, Westminster.

DEBT TO ST. OLAVE'S

The toast of "The Visitors" was proposed by the secretary, Mr. David Cawley. In welcoming the clergy present he said how happy they were to have Canon Mortlock with them, whose six bells the Society has almost free use of. Also present were the Rev. Maurice Dean (Rector of St. Olave's) and Mrs. Dean. The Society rang the bells of St. Olave's in a room right next door to the Deans' sitting room. Not only that but they used the vestry (under the sitting room) for handbell ringing, called Mrs. Dean from the kitchen for making of coffee, etc. They were also privileged to have with them the Masters of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths (Mr. Dennis Beresford) and the Ancient Society of College Youths (Mr. Alan Frost) together with their ladies. There were also guests from many Universities and at the top table Messrs. Stephen Darvill and Stephen Royal, Master of the Cambridge Guild and secretary of the Oxford University Society respectively.

Replying, Mr. Dennis Beresford regaled the company with various clerical snippets and spoke of the close link which existed between the old London Societies and the University Society and, in thanking the Society for its welcome, he expressed the hope that this link would long continue.

The toast of "The University of London Society" was given by Mr. Stephen Darvill, of Cambridge. and replied to by the Master, Mr. Timothy Pett, who reiterated the history of the Society from its inception until the present day. It was as early as 1934 that the first steps had been taken to form such a Society, but these proved abortive. But in 1943 the nucleus of the Society which existed to that day was formed, and several of the foundation members were present at the dinner that evening

WRONG PRIORITIES

Reviewing the year, Mr. Pett said that he felt that it had been an unsatisfactory one from many points of view. The Sunday service ringing had been continued without a break but was not well supported. He thought that this was partly due to some hard feeling which had arisen in the Society; but he also felt that some members had their priorities wrong, and that the correct attitude should be the same as one's attitude to a peal—attendance should be regarded as obligatory. Referring to the summer tour, he said that it had been impossible, owing to the strike, to go to Ireland; they were doing that in the coming summer. Last summer, however, Mr. Graham Elmes had kindly organised a Dorset tour, which had been much enjoyed.

The year had seen other feats performed. The magnificent Taylor eight at St. Dunstan-in-the-East had been put in thorough order and many members had rung on them that day. It had been the Society's privilege to provide the band to perform the opening ringing on them on May 24th. Quarter peals had met with varying success; ten had been rung at St Vedast's, ranging from Plain Bob Minor to 20-spliced Surprise, three at St. Clement Danes' and two at St. Botolph's, Aldgate, one of which had been the first on the bells. Referring to peal ringing, the Master said that only 12 had been rung, of which the breakdown was: Caters 1, Major 3, Triples 1, Minor 7. The last-named included a fine performance of 51-spliced Surprise. A bid for the record in Surprise Minor had unfortunately been lost, as had notable attempts at Grantham, Yarmouth and Redcliffe, the last being due to a slip, the ringing being excellent.

The formal part of the business was then concluded but many members enjoyed the facilities for thirst-slaking, and the handbells were put to good use. D. L. C.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual general meeting of the Sheffield and District Society was held at Whiston and Rotherham on March 4th. Whiston bells were available in the afternoon and a group made good use of the bells. Attendance at Rotherham was low, although 37 people sat down to tea in the Church Hall. This was followed by the meeting. Mr. Michael King was elected president, Mr. G. Pilkington vice-president and all the other officers were re-elected. The recommendations of the sub-committee for the Cup rules were adopted. The meeting concluded with the showing of the Washington Film by Mr. N. Chaddock.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A young starter is N. Salter, who, at the age of 11, rang his first quarter "inside" at Dunkeswell, Devon.

A special welcome was given at the Guildford Guild annual meeting to the six new members from Newdigate.

The Vicar of Malmesbury, the Rev. A. Beaghen, has coined a new ringers' motto and has used it twice recently, it is "Wait your pull, and pull your weight."

A good evening's ringing, including Cambridge Surprise Major, was enjoyed at the Eastern District of the Herts County Association practice meeting at Ware on March 11th.

A progressive young lady is Miss Ann R. Munslow (14), who only learned to handle a bell less than a year ago and is now ringing quarter peals "inside" to a number of Doubles methods in the Melton Mowbray area. She can also ring the treble to Triples and Caters.

This year's ringing tour of the University of Wales was based on Cardiff and held during the week-end of February 18th. Towers visited were St. John's, Cardiff, Whitchurch, Llanbradach, Ebbw Vale, Abergavenny and Llangibby. The dinner and meeting were held at Cardiff, when John Turney was elected Ringing Master and Miss Susan Herber secretary. The summer tour will be in Warwickshire from August 30th to September 5th.

On Mothering Sunday the bells of St. Mary's, Barking, Suffolk, were rung to call changes by six mothers for Evensong. With one exception, all are members of the local band.

Conducting his first peal at Blo-Norton, Norfolk, on February 25th, A. W. Foreman had a band of five first pealers. The peal was a 66th birthday compliment to his wife, who was ringing her first peal (Bob Doubles) from the treble. A happy occasion!

The Colegate Society, which did much work in training the new band at Drayton, Norfolk, had the privilege on March 7th of ringing the first peal on the bells—one of seven Minor methods. The bells were hallowed on February 5th.

WHAT NEXT!

"The Ringing World" once did advise:
"New methods can win a big prize,"
Till a student name Rob
Tried to prove Churchyard Bob
Extended to Headstone Surprise.

Do Limericks cause pleasure or pain?
They're not written for profit or gain,
But after a while
We can tell from the style
That "D. B." has struck once again.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A LINCOLNSHIRE FIRST ANNIVERSARY

If you are among the 70,000 holidaymakers who visit Skegness there is an excellent ring of eight (tenor 17¼ cwt) at Burgh-le-Marsh, five miles west of Skegness. In charge of the tower is Mr. R W. Paddison, and his band has just celebrated their first anniversary. He tells me that the band can now ring Plain Bob, Grandsire, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, but mainly Minor.

The ringers here are having to face opposition. Certain mothers have approached the parish council asking them to stop practices on a Tuesday night and ring on Fridays. Steps have been taken to hold the practices during Lent on Thursdays, and the reason Friday is not possible is that Friskney practice is on that night and both towers help each other.

Mrs. Sylvia Smith, the clerk to the Parochial Church Council, gives a very good reply to the parish council. She states:

"As most of the friends on your council will know in order to continue a tradition, dating back hundreds of years, a heritage not only of the church and congregation but indeed the whole of the parish, the bells recently were rehung at a cost of over £2,600. This money being provided by the generous support not only of church members but by members of other denominations."

Mrs. Smith goes on: "Since the bells were rehung, much effort has gone into the training of ringers; included in these are quite a number of the younger generation and also of other denominations, and they are all showing a keen interest in the art of change ringing. It is understood that there are other social activities for the young held on Friday evenings and for the bell ringing practice to be retained on Tuesday evenings does help to keep these youthful members of the parish usefully employed."

APPRECIATION

Miss G. B. Smith, of Rugeley, writes: "May I take this opportunity of saying how much I enjoy your magazine and, speaking from a learner's point of view, how much benefit I obtain from some of the articles. Surely this must be the most interesting technical publication available."

Mr. P. R. Brooks, tower captain, Swindon Village, Glos: "I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the ringers at Swindon Village, to say that we think the present cover design is an excellent one, eminently suitable for a publication of such an excellent standard."

CUPID AT MANCHESTER

Dr. and Mrs. J. Baker, now of Canterbury, whose recent wedding was honoured by Manchester University Society by a long length peal, were the eighth pair of members to get married since 1961. For those interested in marriage statistics there have been five ex-masters, five ex-secretaries, one ex-treasurer and three ex-committee members of the Guild involved. Has any other University Guild a higher penalty for taking office?

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD

At the A.G.M. of the S.U.G.C.R. on March 8th, Robert A. Partridge was re-elected Master and Miss Susan E. M. Davis was elected as secretary and treasurer of the Guild. Please note that the address for correspondence is now: c/o J.C.R. Post, The University, Highfield, Southampton.

MELTON DISTRICT DINNER

A "coming-of-age" iced cake, made by Mrs. Wilson, was cut at the annual dinner of the Melton District at the King's Arms, Scalford, on March 17th by the Rev. Ian Phelps, South Croxton, who proposed the toast of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. The company of 50 was welcomed by the chairman (Mr. J. H. Cook) and guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Price (Crowthorne), Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth and Rosemary, Mrs. Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jelley, Mr. A. J. Poynor, Mr. and Mrs. R. Morris and Miss S. E. Chesterton. Mr. Staniforth showed his film of the English ringers' visit to Washington, which was much appreciated.

WYMONDHAM TO HAVE RING OF TEN

Wymondham, Norfolk, is to have a ring of ten bells. At a meeting of the Parochial Church Council last week the Vicar (the Rev. Tansley Thomas) announced that he had promises from two donors to provide two more bells to augment the ring to ten.

The original eight have now been recast at the Whitechapel Foundry and the recasting of the tenor on February 22nd was witnessed by the Vicar and some of the ringers. It is hoped that the bells will be back in the tower by Whitsun.

TOWER CAPTAIN MAYOR

Councillor H. W. Page, the tower captain at St. Paul's Church, Chippenham, and the present Mayor of the borough, has been nominated for a second year of office. Congratulations were offered him at a Branch meeting held at Chippenham on Wednesday evening.

89th BIRTHDAY COMPLIMENT

Mr. Thomas Briggs, of Somerby, Leics, celebrated his 89th birthday by ringing in a quarter peal as Asfordby on March 9th. He carries his years lightly—still drives his own car and climbs the 52 steps up to Melton belfry every Sunday morning. A veteran of the Boer War, he has been driving a car since 1905 and has never had an accident.

KINGSTON'S GREAT LEAP FORWARD

For the first time for many years the local band at Kingston upon Thames recently broke the "six-bell barrier" and, unaided, rang Grandsire Triples for Sunday service. By itself this fact may seem trifling, but the measure of progress it represents is the other fact that until 15 months ago it was touch and go whether enough ringers turned up to ring at all for Sunday service.

On this recent occasion the great leap forward from the front six to the 27 cwt. back eight was a fluke due to one or two "irregulars" happening to turn up together. In three months' time, however, if present progress is maintained, eight-bell ringing will be the norm for Sunday service. And then for the ten . . .

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch was held at Durweston on March 11th, attended by 27 members and visitors. Ringing reached London Surprise Minor. During the Guild office 120 Plain Bob Minor was rung on handbells by T. Bleathman, C. Longridge and J. Longridge. Eight new members were elected, including four from Shillingstone, thus bringing that tower back into the Guild. A proficiency certificate was awarded to Roy W. Jeans, of Durweston.

REDEDICATION of STOWMARKET BELLS

Stowmarket, Suffolk, bells, which have recently been thoroughly overhauled and rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., were rededicated on Sunday, March 12th, by the Bishop of Dunwich. The ceremony was carried out prior to morning service in order that bells, which have been silent for nearly three years, could be rung for that service.

The ceremony was brief but solemn and dignified. Ropes had been lowered from the ringing chamber to the base of the tower and these were handed to the Bishop by the captain of ringers, Oliver G. Barnard, who requested the Bishop to "dedicate, to the glory of God and the use of this church, this peal of bells."

The appropriate psalm was recited and the lesson read, and the Bishop, holding the ropes, blessed and dedicated the bells and handed the ropes to the Vicar, the Rev. A. Arthur Muxlow, entrusting the bells to his care to "be ever and only used in the service of God and in His Glory." The ceremony concluded with the Grace and the clergy retired to the accompaniment of dedicatory rounds from the bells above. The bells were then rung by an invited band to touches until service time.

During the service the Bishop, in his address, made suitable reference to those responsible for the restoration and spoke in glowing terms of the work of ringers generally. This gave great satisfaction to the ringers present and it was with joy and pleasure that they assembled in the tower after the service for a further half-hour's ringing, to the great delight of home-going worshippers.

It is intended to hold an open day for ringers in the very near future, and due notice will be given in "The Ringing World."

CLERICAL GUILD'S WEEK

Headquarters for this year's ringing week of the Guild of Clerical Ringers will be the Diocesan House, The Old Palace, Lincoln. The week starts on the afternoon of April 3rd at Bottesford. There are to be two peal attempts—at Gainsborough and Ewerby. The week concludes on Friday at noon.

The party will consist of the following: The Revs. Prebendary J. H. B. Andrews, P. N. Bond (Great Yarmouth), N. F. D. Coleridge (Tatworth), K. C. Davis (Tadley), S. M. Evans (Bredgar), Canon K. W. H. Felstead (Southampton), M. Hart (Tarrington), J. B. T. Homfray (Staverton), R N. Longridge (Okeford Fitzpaine), R C. Lucas (Rumney), C. J. B. Marshall (Long Sutton), I. J. Richards (Llanarth), P. T Robbins (Charing), Canon F. A. Sanders (Overton), D. H. Sansum (Birmingham), J. Shepheard-Walwyn (Westleigh), R. D. St J. Smith (Darley), R. W. Thomas (Tenby), J. Tomsett (Surbiton), H. F. Warren (Exford), and part time A. C. F. Davies (Horncastle), Canon A. G. G. Thurlow (Norwich), E. B. Wood (Mapledurham). Mesdames Longridge, Lucas, Richards, Sanders, Tomsett, Miss Homfray, John and Christopher Longridge and Robert Coleridge will accompany the party.

SURREY ASSOCIATION ANNIVERSARY

To commemorate the 87th anniversary of the foundation of the Surrey Association, every tower in the Association is going to be encouraged to ring a quarter peal for Sunday service on May 21st.

"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

This unique work, second in the series entitled

is complete in itself. Its subject is treated both for beginners and for advanced practical ringers. It is not a textbook on specific methods, of which several exist but it shows, for the first time, the detailed structure of the general plan of change-production, by types of methods, traced from 3-bell (basic) to 12-bell stages.

Well bound in an attractive stiff cover in blue with gold lettering the book measures 8" x 6¼" x 1" and contains nearly 300 of such large pages with some 80 figures or diagrams, also 8 double-page and 5 single-page "charts". Included are series of "definitions" and "axioms" listed to serve as an index. Paragraphs throughout are numbered for ready cross-reference. Chapters close with test-questions and indication of answer-location.

This book is very highly commended, especially by leading members of the Exercise, including the Rev. Canon Gilbert Thurlow M.A., Fredk. Sharpe, F.S.A., and E. C. Shepherd. (See "Ringing World" 1964 pp. 339 and 490). Much of the work was hitherto unpublished in book form.

The whole book has been planned for issue at minimum cost of production, being thereby cut from pounds to shillings so as to be within the reach of all. The price, packing and postage included, is only 17/- (seventeen shillings), and your copy comes by return of post from: College Publications 40, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea, Hants. 897

WITTERSHAM, Kent.—The bells of the Parish Church of St. John the Baptist will be rededicated by the Rector at Matins (10.30 a.m.) on Sunday, April 2nd, 1967. Everyone welcome. Please send names, addresses and numbers to Mrs. Denne, 11, The Street. 1147

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2919 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1967 9d.

JOHN CARTER 1854 - 1927

By E. C. SHEPHERD

EARLY one afternoon on a fine day in May 1911 two gentlemen arrived at a modest house in Walford Road, Sparkhill, Birmingham. One was Sir Arthur Heywood, President of the Central Council; the other was the Secretary to the Council, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies. Both gentlemen were in a high state of expectancy, for they had been invited to this house by Mr. John Carter and they were to see a demonstration of a remarkable machine that was reputed to be able to ring changes in any method required of it. They were not disappointed in their hopes, for the machine exceeded their expectations, and, indeed, defied their powers of description. In a long and interesting account of this afternoon Mr. Davies struggled to convey to readers of "The Bell News" the principles on which the machine performed its functions; but he had neither the technical knowledge nor the powers of exposition necessary for this difficult task. Most of us will doubtless readily acknowledge that we could have done no better; indeed no adequate explanation of the working of this and other ringing machines was ever made until March 1950, when Mr. Brian D. Price in a series of articles excellently planned and painstakingly illustrated brought the whole thing as near to our comprehension as is possible with so complex a subject.

John Carter, the deviser of this the first Campana Mutaphone (as the ringing machine is sometimes called), was born at Darlaston in 1854 and died in 1927. His father was a gun-lock maker, and John, at the age of 12, was taken by his parent to work at Enfield where the small-arms factory was busy in the manufacture of pistols and the new Schneider rifle. Later the family returned to Darlaston, and at the age of 19 John, through an accidental visit to a belfry, became interested in ringing. Within two months he could ring Stedman Triples better than his tutors, and indeed he had completely mastered this method long before he learned to ring Grandsire. He has described a visit he made to Bethnal Green, and the astonishment of the ringers there to find that this young man rang Stedman so perfectly but had no knowledge of Grandsire. But master as John became of Stedman in theory and practice, he later developed an absorbing love for Grandsire and stoutly defended the method, even on eight bells, going so far as to compose and call a 10,000 of Grandsire Major. Tom Miller, who rang in the latter performance, used to chuckle and say: "Henry Johnson said that John Carter couldn't compose 10,000 of Grandsire Major. But he did, and we rang it on handbells!"

From about 1890 to 1900 Carter ruled over a lively band of young men at St. Philip's Church, Birmingham, and he founded what he called the Birmingham and District Amalgamated Society, a body rather frowned on by the aristocracy at St. Martin's Church, in whose circles it was held that the new society tended to diminish the importance of the old Society of St. Martin's Youths. John Carter, however, was too discreet (or perhaps too inarticulate) to quarrel with the Bull Ring men, and relations between St. Philip's and St. Martin's remained for all practical purposes unimpaired.

It was during this time that Carter's genius as a composer and method constructor produced an astonishing stream of compositions and new inventions. This was the time of birth of Darlaston Bob, Forward, Handsworth, Aston, and Carter's Principle, and in Stedman Triples the famous Odd-Bob One-Part. In the realm of Stedman he was amazingly prolific, and his productions of peals of Caters and Cinques numbered many thousands. A broadsheet published by him provides 7,000 peals of Stedman Caters on the half-and-half plan having the 6th fixed in 5ths place; and some years ago we received from Mr. Albert Walker a small and tattered piece of paper on which were inscribed in Carter's crabbed figuring 217 different peals of Stedman Cinques. This curious and very useful production will be found in the Central Council's Collection of Peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques.

John Carter was notable rifleman, and distinguished himself at Wimbledon and Bisley. In the gun trade he was a fine craftsman, and, we are told, produced a number of minor inventions which were afterwards patented. But in the eyes of ringers he stands as the inventive genius of the ringing machine. For some years his mind had worked on the possibility of such a device, and it was in 1890 that the self-sown seed suddenly germinated. He described to Mr. Alex Young in after years how he was ringing and conducting a peal of Bob Major at Handsworth when the full plan of what he needed to do unfolded itself before his mental eye. The peal was lost, but John was soon hurrying home to get to his drawing board. There followed thirty years of work and experiment before John was satisfied; and then the masterpiece appeared to astonish the Exercise.

We knew the old man in his latter years and occasionally rang with him in Birmingham. The last time we saw him he rang in a touch of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's Church. He was by then very deaf, and we recall his turning to James Groves, who was calling, and saying in his piping voice; "You must tell me the calling, Jim; I can't hear very well."

He was a wonderful man, one of the great geniuses of the ringing world. Obstinate in his views, inarticulate and often unable to convey conviction by word of mouth, but so often fundamentally right, he commanded respect on the Central Council and in ringing circles. In his grasp of method construction and composition his touch was sure and eminently practical. And in the Science Museum at South Kensington the Campana Mutaphone stands as a lasting monument to his virtuosity and mechanical skill.

ISLEWORTH'S FIRST 250 PEALS

A WEALTH of ringing history lies behind the 250th peal, which was rung at All Saints', Isleworth, on February 11th, 1967. This stems largely from the fact that Isleworth has, for the majority of the life of its bells, had a fairly strong local company and visiting ringers have always been made welcome to join in the ringing and conducting.

The local element was predominant in the 250th peal, there being eight members of the local company and two visitors participating. Additionally, at least five other members of the local company are capable of peals in the same method

Stedman Caters was the method chosen; the peal was rung for the London County Association and the composition was specially produced for it by Mr. C. W. Roberts. It consisted of 5,250 changes starting with a full quick six and having the first third in the handstroke position and the other two-thirds in the tittums. As can often happen with Stedman, two abortive efforts had been made, both failing as a result of bells crossing over; the first after one hour and the second after two and a half hours.

THE EARLIER PEALS

The first peal on the bells was Bob Major in 1768, rung for the Ancient Society of College Youths and conducted by Joseph Monk. Five more peals occurred before the end of the 18th century and it is notable that these first six were all of Major—three of Oxford Treble Bob and three of Plain Bob. The fourth of these was conducted by the famous Samuel Lawrence, of Shifnal, Shropshire, who was supposed to have weighed 32 stone and was the second heaviest man in England. In the 19th century the first 80 years saw only seven more peals, and before the last of these in 1879 there had been a gap of 26 years without a peal. However, a peal rung in 1831 is of special interest as it was the first of Stedman on the bells and a board, the largest in the tower, records that:

"On Sunday, March 13th, 1831, was RUNG on these BELLS A complete PEAL of 5040 trebles on STEDMAN'S principle composed by MR JOSEPH CLARK of Kingston upon Thames, Consisting of 240 Singles, 158 Bobs and 22 Doubles, being the first PEAL ever RUNG with the least calls on this SYSTEM."

The 14th peal, one of Grandsire Triples in 1889, marked the start of regular peal ringing at Isleworth, and indicated the beginning of a local change ringing band that has continued ever since. This peal was conducted by John Barsden, who altogether conducted 20 peals on the bells, of which all were Triples, and 11 Holt's Original.

Between 1880 and 1900 fourteen more peals were rung, and another 52 before the outbreak of the first world war. In this period most of the peals were of Grandsire or Stedman Triples, but in 1905 came the first of Surprise—London—by the College Youths, and also peals of Superlative (1908) and Bristol (1911).

AUGMENTED IN 1931

In between the two wars a further 28 peals were rung and the augmentation of the bells to a musical ring of ten had taken place in 1931. The nine years between 1931 and the second world war saw 36 peals, mostly of Caters and Royal, which brought the total for the first 188 years to 143 peals.

After the war the local company turned its attention to peals in the standard ten-bell methods and also to the field of Surprise Royal. In the eleven years from 1945 to 1955 inclusive a further 50 peals were rung with three new Surprise Major and nine new Surprise Royal methods being added to the list. These were rung principally by the local company and all for the London County Association; most of them were the first in the method for the Association and the county of Middlesex. Also included during this period were peals of two- and three-method Spliced Surprise Royal.

Eleven years further on brought us to the 250th peal and in this period 57 peals had been rung with four new methods added—Gainsborough Bob Royal, Isleworth Little Bob Royal, Fulbeck Bob Royal and Syon Court Bob Royal.

In summary therefore, the peal curve ran: No. 1 in 1768, No. 100 in 1925, No. 200 in 1956, No. 250 in 1967.

One performance which is recorded on a board in the tower but not included in the foregoing reads as follows:

"On Friday, August 12th, 1826, was performed on Six of these BELLS by JOHN STONELY of Twickenham, a Compleat 720 of Court Bob in 31 minutes which is believed to be the first ever done by one person."

PERSONAL MILESTONES

Among the personal milestones in the 250th peal were the following:

One hundredth peal on the bells and 65th as conductor for H. W. Rogers, 93rd, 72nd and 38th peal on the bells respectively for Mrs. O. L. Rogers, W. G. Wilson and Mrs. K. Parr.

It was also the 135th peal together for Harold and Olive Rogers.

ASSOCIATIONS, SOCIETIES AND GUILDS

Heading the list is the London County Association (including the St. James' Society) with 123 peals from 1897 to 1967. Running second is the Middlesex County Association (including the South and West Middlesex Society) with 88 peals from 1894 to 1939. The only other body in double figures is the Ancient Society of College Youths with 18 peals from 1768 to 1932. Three peals have been rung by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and one each by the following: Waterloo Society 1879, Winchester Diocesan Guild 1907, St. Mary Abbots Guild 1910, Guildford Diocesan Guild 1936, University of London Society 1963, and the Cambridge University Guild 1965.

CONDUCTORS

Twenty-four different conductors have called the peals, the leading five being: H. W. Rogers 65 (1946 to February 11th, 1967); J. Basden 20 (1889 to 1907); T. H. Taffender 13 (1921 to 1947); E. C. S. Turner 10 (1933 to 1939), W. G. Wilson 10 (1956 to 1966).

Additionally, the Cambridge University Guild's peal in 1955 was Stedman Caters, silent and non-conducted, umpired by R. C. Kippin.

METHODS RUNG

In all, 43 different methods and extensions of methods have been rung to peals. The highest number in one method was Stedman Caters with 34. Running second was the old standby for the early Isleworth ringers—Grandsire Triples with 32. Other methods rung were:—

Twenty-eight Stedman Triples, 18 Plain Bob Major, 17 Cambridge S. Royal, 15 Grandsire Caters, 14 Kent T.B. Royal, 12 Yorkshire S. Royal, 11 Kent T.B. Major, 9 Plain Bob Royal, 8 each Oxford T.B. Major and Oxford Bob Triples, 7 Double Norwich C.B. Major, 3 Yorkshire S. Major, 2 each Bristol S. Major, Cambridge S. Major, 2-Spliced S. Royal, Little Bob Royal, Syon Court Bob Royal, 1 each of Oxford T.B. Royal, Union Triples, London S. Major, Superlative S. Major, 4-Spliced Surprise Major, Isleworth Bob Royal, Erin Caters, Pudsey S. Royal, 3-Spliced S. Royal, Solihull S. Royal, New Cambridge S. Royal, Albanian S. Royal, Prittlewell S. Royal, Belgrave S. Royal, Lincolnshire S. Royal, Southwell S. Royal, Southwell S. Major, Ashtead S. Major, Rutland S. Major, Rutland S. Royal, Gainsborough Bob Royal, Isleworth Little Bob Royal, Plain Bob Caters, Fulbeck Bob Royal.

BURMARSH, KENT.—On March 1st, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Mrs. R. Wratten 1, Mrs. M. Watts 2, R. P. Brotherston 3, Miss A. Rayner 4, B. Watts (cond.) 5, T. Fagg 6. Rung half-muffled as a token of respect to W. A. Watts, aged 96, grandfather of the conductor.

CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

Preliminary Notice

The second session of the 26th Council (70th Annual Meeting) will be held on Tuesday, May 30th, 1967, in the Portland Suite of the Victoria Hotel, Nottingham.

Committee Reports (Rule 12 (1)). Conveners of committees are reminded that reports must be made in writing to the secretary by March 31st, 1967.

Notices of Motion (Rule 14). Notices, signed by two members of the Council, must be received by the secretary by April 18th, 1967.

VERNON BOTTOMLEY,
Hon. Secretary.

45, Westercroft Lane,
Northowram,
Halifax.

HUNTINGTON GUILD'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR

THE week-end of February 17th-18th marked the end of another highly successful year for the Guild. On Friday evening a good company of members and friends gathered at the Londesborough Hotel, Tadcaster, for the Guild's first dinner. After an excellent meal the president, the Rev. Geoffrey Lawn (Vicar of Huntington) welcomed the guests, who included the Dean of York (the Very Rev. Dr. Alan Richardson) and Mrs. Richardson, and the president of the Yorkshire Association (Mr. Vernon Bottomley) and Mrs. Bottomley.

The president expressed the thanks of all to the secretary for his arrangements. He added that all too often the church organisations were run with little regard for the remaining body of the church, in Huntington he was thankful that this was not so. The bellringers were active in other spheres, too, not least in the choir, of which they formed a considerable part.

The Dean, who is patron of the Guild, said it was a joy to see a group of young people working hard in the church; bells had an important part to play in church life for they could be heard by many people, and even if people were not moved to come to church the sound of the bells reminded them of the work and prayers of the Church.

Mr. Bottomley endorsed the remarks made by the Dean and said that the number of young people who took up bellringing seemed to be on the increase; nevertheless it was not always that one found a complete group of young people working together in this way. He also expressed thanks for the invitation which had been extended to his wife for a most enjoyable evening.

The evening concluded in a very informal manner.

The annual general meeting was held on February 18th. The meeting began with the president thanking the Guild for all its work over the past year.

The annual report and balance sheet were formally approved, thanks being expressed to the secretary. There were 18 members actively concerned in Guild activities and Sunday service ringing. Of these, 13 had rung at least one peal during the year for the Guild, the total for the year also being 13. The balance sheet showed a very healthy state, there being a credit balance of £51 9s. 2d.

Officers elected for 1967 were: President and chairman, Rev. Geoffrey Lawn; joint Guild Masters, Mary I. Hildred and Jennifer E. Pearce; treasurer, Bryan J. Seymour; secretary, A. Colin Banton; committee, the above plus Lynne I. Clowe and Susan Mitchell.

Both the general report and the peal report emphasised the importance of good striking and the need for co-operation and teamwork. One can only hope that this Guild, made up very largely of young people, will continue to work towards even higher standards and that 1967 will go down as a year of even greater progress and success.

Liverpool Univ. Society Annual Dinner

ANY misgivings which might have been entertained over the necessity of changing the date of the Society's sixth annual dinner to March 4th proved unfounded for the weekend turned out to mean success. Many friends arrived in time for the University practice on the eight at the R.C. Church of St Francis Xavier, or at St. Nicholas', Pierhead.

On Saturday four peals were attempted, those at Liscard and Halsall being unsuccessful, but Cambridge Royal was scored at Blackburn and the University's first peal of Stedman Caters at Leyland. For those not ringing in peals there was general ringing in the morning at Birkenhead (6), Port Sunlight (8), Bromborough (8), Oxton (8). In the afternoon St. Nicholas (12), St. Francis Xavier (8), West Derby (6), Huyton (6) and Woolton (8) were visited.

Dinner was served at the Strand Hotel, where 98 ringers and friends sat down to a very satisfying meal.

WEDDING RINGING

The Master, Mr. D. F. Moore, proposed the loyal toast and then a toast to "The Church." In reply the Rev. P. J. Pasterfield, Vicar of Oxton, reminded us that some people actually objected to the sound of bells; he maintained that ringing at Oxton that morning had only been possible because it had been at a time which could have passed for a wedding, and that he had walked round the parish for most of the morning looking as if he had just conducted a marriage ceremony or was about to do so. He went on to express his hopes that the ringers present did not think of a church merely as a building which functions as a prop for a belfry!

Proposing that toast of "The Visitors," Dr. Tony Bennett welcomed, on behalf of the Society, members from the Universities of Birmingham, Leeds, London, Loughborough, Nottingham, Sussex and Wales, and the vintage wine collectors of Bristol. Also present, he noted, were five members of the band which had recently rung the first of peal of 24 Spliced Surprise Maximus for the Chester Guild; two of them being past members of the Society and another the guest speaker. Non-University ringers from Essex, Herts, Manchester, the Midlands, Preston, Somerset and South Wales were welcomed. So too were friends from the Liverpool Branch and the Wirral Branch (Chester Guild) and the two honorary members — Tudor Edwards and Alex Martin — who did much to encourage the growth of the Society during its formative years. The two "youngsters," Lester Gray and Joe Ridyard, firm and valuable friends, were also welcomed.

In reply Mr. Robert B. Smith entertained with stories of many famous local ringers which will never reach the "R.W." We listened enthralled to tales of wooden legs being nailed to the belfry floor, of countless insults flung (in fun, of course) across belfries and of the startling coincidences between the standing-up of peals and opening time.

Proposing the toast of "The Society" Mr Smith said that he hoped the Society would continue to prosper and wished it every success in the future. The reply was undertaken by Miss Julie Lethbridge, who reported that three peals had been rung during the year, Cambridge Minor, two Minor and the Stedman Caters that morning. The annual tour had been held in Warwickshire, and a highly successful minibus outing had been held in Cheshire and Shropshire.

Miss Lethbridge commented that a cupid in numan form did not seem to be necessary in Liverpool, and expressed congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. M. Pilgrim on their recent marriages, Mr. J. Fox and Miss Janice Smith on their engagement and best wishes to Mr. J. Fielden and Miss Maryl Crossthwaite and Mr. P. Bennett and Miss Marion Panton on their forthcoming marriages. She concluded by emphasising that the Society, although possessing only an indifferent peal record for the year, was in fact very much alive and much more socially active than the publicity of its ringing indicated.

The formal proceedings concluded, the rest of the evening was spent to the strains of handbells and obscure melodies from a piano in the corner.

Those who were still in Liverpool on the Sunday morning were invited by the Dean to ring at the Cathedra, and by kind permission of the Ringing Master were allowed to return in the afternoon to ring with the local band for Evensong. Thus ended a very successful dinner weekend.

THE COMPANY

The Master was accompanied on the top table by the Rev. P. J. Pasterfield, Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. Crossthwaite, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. M. Phillips Mr and Mrs. A. Martin, Mr. and Mrs M. Pilgrim, Mr. and Mrs. J. Foot, Miss Julie Lethbridge and Messrs. T. Bennett, G. Pullen, R. Shea, B. Veitch.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. G. Goodall, the Misses H Arrowsmith, J. Bateson, D. Bird, G. Brearley, H. Buller, S. Cowan, E. Cranfield, M. Crossthwaite, L. Emmett, H. Essen, L. Essen, F. Fairbank, B. Faunch, B. Fox, A. Hoggarth, V. Powell, L. Roberts, J. Reynolds, M. Simmett, G. Smith, S. Sutton, S. Turner, M. Webster, H. Walters, R. Wilson J Young.

OBITUARY

MR. J. L. HEDGE

The Daventry Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild has lost its oldest member in the death of Mr. John Linnel Hedge, of Flore. He was 91 years of age.

When the Branch was formed, in 1924, he was one of its first members and, until about 15 years ago, when his disablement and ill-health prevented him, he was to be seen regularly at Branch meetings.

Although his name did not appear in the peal columns he was a keen ringer and was always ready to welcome and encourage young learners.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the St. David's Guild was held at St Mary's, Haverfordwest, on March 11th, when 20 members from eight towers and three visitors from Hereford attended.

This was the first meeting at Haverfordwest for a number of years as unfortunately, this tower does not belong to the Guild. The bells are an anti-clockwise ring of eight (tenor almost 20 cwt.) The stay of the treble bell was broken, which limited its use to the more experienced ringers. The afternoon ringing was not a success, partly due to the fact that three bells were "up" the wrong way. This was later rectified.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Michael Hart, a life ringing member of the Guild; the organist was the Rev R W Thomas (Master), and the lessons were read by the secretary, Mr Richard C. Warburton.

The business meeting was held in the Parish Hall. The Master took the chair and, after the opening prayer apologised on behalf of Canon Tree of Haverfordwest, for his unavoidable absence. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the report of the committee was discussed.

At the business meeting, with the Master presiding, it was decided to produce another booklet in three years' time for the 25th anniversary of the Guild and an annual leaflet containing a brief report of the activities and the balance sheet.

It was decided to retain Llanelli for the competition venue in May provided the work on the tower had not by then been started. Mr. Rees (Llanelli) reported that they had been given seven new handbells by various parishioners, and the Ringing Master reported that the three bells at Bosherston were being rehung for ringing by Taylors of Loughborough.

Touches of Grandsire Triples and Cambridge Surprise Minor were successfully brought round in the evening ringing.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD

Southern District

The first quarterly meeting of the Southern District was held at St. Cattwg's, Cadoxton, on March 4th. Towers represented were Cadoxton, Neath Newton Nottage, Swansea and Sketty. Ringing throughout the day ranged from rounds to London Surprise Minor.

After the service an excellent tea was served in the Church Hall.

The chair at the business meeting was taken by the Vicar (the Rev. J. G Lloyd). Both the hon. secretary (Mr. J. A Hoare) and the hon. auditor (Mr. T. M. Roderick) were re-elected. Gorseinon will be the place of the September meeting (alternative, Baglan). Two new members were elected and Mr. Alwyn Lewis and David Culpan were congratulated on their first peal.

Five bands agreed to enter the ringing competition on May 20th. A coach is to be hired to make the event more of a social occasion.

GARDENING AND RINGING

Dear Sir,—Two thoughts prompted by recent issues First, what began as an understandable error before the war seems in danger of being accepted as a fact. Many people well remember Mr. C. H. Middleton's radio talks on gardening, but to the best of my knowledge he knew absolutely nothing about the composition of Cambridge Major. I hope that for the future Charles Middleton can be allowed the credit for his celebrated composition without an "H" he never possessed.

Second, I wonder if the "unnamed ringer" of the tenor to a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples by the Essex University Society had the same motive as an earlier undergraduate. About 1880 the Oxford University Society published an account of various performances including (I think) an extent of Grandsire Doubles which showed a "—" against one of the bells. A footnote explained that the name had been omitted because the gentleman in question objected to having it associated with such an insignificant performance! — Yours sincerely, E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

"LONG TEN"

Dear Sir,—The passing of Mr. Bert Dean, of Little Shelford, Cambridgeshire, at the advanced age of 82, brings back to me the subject of "The Long Ten" recently discussed in your columns. In the early 1930's, when I was without a local tower and lived in the adjoining village of Newton, I chanced to hear the five old bells of Little Shelford being rung. On entering the belfry I found a band ringing call changes, which they called their "long ten." This consisted of a Grandsire start, then all bells plain hunting in the order 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, which, of course, never comes round—a very "long ten" indeed. How they brought it round I cannot remember.

This struck me at the time as an easy step from call changes to method ringing. After a few rebuffs I succeeded in getting the same band through a peal of Grandsire Doubles. One or two of them afterwards managed Stedman and were a great help to me when I had the forming of a new band at Harston in 1937.—Yours faithfully,

C. W. COOK.

Meldreth, Cambs.

ST. MARY'S, BUNGAY

Dear Sir,—Suffolk ringers will welcome the news that an appeal has been launched for the restoration of the bells at St. Mary's, Bungay, and wish the organisers success in their efforts. The amount required is not excessive by present day standards and I am sure that, in spite of a few dissident voices, support will be forthcoming both locally and further afield in the county.

Tragedy has on occasion struck at the tower of St. Mary's, as the following extract from the churchwardens' book shows:—

"1774, January 18th As the church clock was striking 12 at noon and the ringers were on their way down from ringing a peal on the Queen's birthday, the large clock weight fell upon the head of John Gibborn, one of them, who died the next day, and cut off one of the great toes of Edwd. Tibbenham, another of the ringers."

This event must have cast a gloom over what, in happier circumstances, would have been a convivial occasion.—Yours sincerely,

C. W. HANCOCK.

Thurston, Suffolk.

JOHN CARTER

Dear Sir,—In the brief but admirable survey of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, in your issue of March 17th, reference is made to the famous John Carter, and the writer states that this notable person died in 1914 This is not correct. In May, 1914, John conducted a "veterans" peal of Grandsire Caters, each member of the band being over 60 years of age. Mr. Carter just crept in, being 60 years and six months. I think I am right in saying that the composition was later found to be false. John Carter died in 1927.—Yours sincerely,

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.

Warminster.

IN DEFENCE OF LEFT-HANDED RINGERS

Dear Sir,—I have just finished reading the report of the St. Martin's Guild dinner and I feel bound to write before every left-handed ringer thinks himself a renegade.

The hand that is uppermost on the sally is the hand not holding the tail-end. When the learner is presented with the tail-end he should take hold of the end of the rope as if he was grasping a cricket bat, and the rope is retained in the hand nearest the rope end. This will be the most natural and comfortable way of holding the rope and there is nothing outdated in holding it left-handed, as suggested by Mr. Lock.

Females, who on the whole do not indulge in cricket should not be asked to hold the rope end like a hockey stick, as hockey is the only game where one is not allowed to play left-handed.

JONATHAN A. ROYDS-JONES.

Holt, Norfolk.

LONDON SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,—It seems rather strange that the "Ringers' Diary" contains no touches of London Surprise Minor which are shorter than a 720 and longer than 456 changes, since touches of this length are desirable for quarter peals. I have not seen any published elsewhere, so I enclose the figures of one which may be of use:

This is probably not original, but can any readers supply some others?

Does a bob "in" followed by a single "before" provide the quickest way of bringing up backstroke 468's in Bob Major, as used in the following quarter peal?

A MOSCOW MYSTERY

"We slowly climb a winding, narrow stairway. Thick, bare stone walls remind me of a mediæval casement. It's cold and damp. 'Take it steadily, my guide warns me, 'there's a long way to go' . . . I was warned to be careful of the ropes, 'otherwise the bells will be ringing at the wrong time.'"

Another first visit to a belfry? Yes, but not to an English tower this time. It's the start of an article on the Kremlin chimes by Ya. Miletskij in the January issue of the Russian illustrated "Ogonek."

The clock and its bells are in the Spasskij ("Salvation") tower of the Kremlin. The original clock was of 16th century construction but it was replaced in 1625, when the Spasskij tower was finally completed. It was again replaced during the reign of Peter the Great (1672–1725), this time by a Dutch clock, which was itself completely reconstructed in 1851–52. The last major overhaul of the clock and chimes took place in 1918, just after the Revolution.

The "Encyclopædia Britannica" says that "in 1625 an Englishman erected the famous peal [sic] of bells in the tower above the Spasskij gate." Unfortunately it doesn't name the Englishman, and Miletskij doesn't refer to him at all in his article He does, however, quote the inscription on one of the smaller bells:

> "This chime was cost on the 27th day of May, 1769, to chime the quarters in the Spasskij tower. Weight 21 poods (i.e. about 7 cwt.). Semen Mazhzhukhin, Master Founder."

Clearly, whatever "famous" bells the mysterious Englishman hung in 1625, the implication seems to be that either some at least were recast in 1769 or that the chime was then augmented. At present it consists of ten bells

Miletskij gives the weight of the hour bell as 135 poods, or just over 43 cwt., and adds that the "nine smaller bells . . (are) also of considerable weight." One of the photographs accompanying the article shows five of the bells hanging suspended from metal crossbars, apparently in the tower openings; a sixth bell is standing on the floor, and would seem to be additional to those in the chime. All are complete with canons, but, as they are shown in silhouette, no inscriptions are visible. Through one of the openings, incidentally, the famous Tsar Kolokol is discernible on the ground far below, apparently with a small crowd of sightseers round it.

But we are left with a number of questions. Who was the Englishman referred to in the "Encyclopædia Britannica"? And what bells did he hang, and what became of them? One might perhaps speculate that, under the circumstances, they may even have been English castings But in view of the inscription quoted by Miletskij it would seem that the encyclopædia entry is at best misleading, with its implication that the present bells are those hung in 1625, and at worst incorrect. PEALS AT ELLESBOROUGH

The suggestion that the peal at Ellesborough, Bucks, is the first on the bells for 25 years (page 185) is refuted by Mr. A. J. White, of Aston Clinton, who recalls ringing in a peal in four Doubles methods there in June, 1953, for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

Mr. F. Reed, of Little Rissington, Cheltenham, states that he rang a peal of Grandsire Doubles there in 1947 whilst undergoing training at nearby R.A.F. Station, Halton.

FOR THE BEGINNER

SUGGESTIONS for INSTRUCTORS

By BARRY J. COUZENS

(Aided and abetted by JEAN SANDERSON)

I find it best to divide the process of learning to handle a bell into several distinct stages. Before expecting the learner to try each stage the instructor should demonstrate exactly what he wants him to do, preferably by another experienced ringer playing the part of the learner.

THE BACKSTROKE

The instructor should set the bell at backstroke, then ask the learner to reach as far up the rope as he possibly can with both hands, without pulling at all on the rope The rope should be adjusted until between two and four inches are showing beneath the lower of the learner's hands when they are close together, but not overlapping. Depending on the age and attitude of the pupil, the instructor can tell him to stand on tiptoe when trying the length, or just say that the correct place to hold the end is an inch or so above the highest point the learner can reach without going on tiptoe At the same time explain that the object is to get the bell up to the balance but not as far as the stay and having the arms at full stretch when the bell is in this position is the easiest way to achieve it It puts far less strain on the pupil's muscles, already taut with the excitement and the novelty.

The bell should then be set at handstroke and the exact position of the hands on the tail-end demonstrated. The right hand should be above the left, with all the fingers around the rope and the thumb along it. Close enough to touch, but not overlap, the left hand has the rope tucked well into the crotch of the thumb and palm, with the fingers round the rope and the thumb across it, as in diagram 2.

Left-handed learners may prefer left hand above right, in which case change the description as necessary, but make sure that in subsequent lessons he keeps to the decision. In the early stages an unnoticed change of top hand can be confusing for the learner, later it can slow his progress.

The rope should be held at the proper position already found, full stretch on tiptoe when set at back. Impress on the learner that you will look after the woolly bit (sally); all he has to do is allow his hands to be pulled up by the tail-end and then guide it right down, straight down. This should have been demonstrated earlier, but is probably worth doing again.

Have your pupil stand in the correct position, with the rope about six to eight inches in front of him, facing the centre of the circle. Talking of standing, have you looked at his feet? Astride or at attention? Persuade him to stand with his feet comfortably apart, with the right foot a little further forward than the left if he is ringing right hand above left Then at last (hands in the right position?) you are ready to go. For the first few strokes you will probably need to guide the rope down, with one of your hands well above the pupil's. The instructor should always be able to reach above the learner in the early stages, perhaps by standing on a box. I prefer to stand, not directly opposite, but at an angle of about 120 degrees to the pupil with my right side towards his left.

Diagram 2

FAULTS TO WATCH

I deliberately tell the pupil to guide the rope, not to pull it. If the bells go well he will probably pull too hard, anyway, and using the word "pull" will only encourage this. Guide also stresses the importance of direction. The pupil often throws the rope outwards in an arc, through not bending the arms sufficiently on the way down. This must be cured by demonstration: "Your way . . . my way," by firmer guidance, and verbally: "Imagine your hands are made of lead falling straight down." One of the most common faults—and one that will cost him dear on more difficult bells with a long draught—is that of not completing the backstroke. I have often seen and winced as learners desert the tail-end at waist level. Show him again, and emphasise the important point: "Guide it right down, as far as your arms can go, and give it a final flick with your right thumb as if you were throwing the rope on to the floor a few inches in front of your feet." This fault is likely to recur, particularly when later stages are reached and the learner is concentrating on another movement, when the instruction can be shortened to an anguished cry of: "Finish your backstrokes!" Beginners often fail to notice when the bell comes off balance at backstroke, with the result that yards of rope fall in any direction. It must be driven home that sufficient tension must be kept on the rope whenever the bell is near the balance to feel what the bell is doing: "After all, you cannot see the bell, and there is nothing else to tell you what is going on up above."

Instructors frequently encourage overpulling This, combined with bent arms (also often neglected, if not actually taught) results in exhaustion, a broken stay and a badly frightened learner, who may become an incurable bell-mauler if he continues at all. This stage is the best chance to check a tendency to overpull. If the handstroke nearly lifts you off your feet, tell him to ease up. You, for your part, should give the bell little more than the minimum impetus to carry it up to the balance at backstroke. If it fails to get there you know he is checking it: "Let it go right up, Stretch!" About this time explain the difference, and show it, between "checking" the bell (restraining it from going to the balance or over it) and "pulling" it (adding to its momentum) so that clear instructions can be given crisply and understood: "Check your bell; pull harder." Encourage the learner to keep the bell going right up, close to the balance. As his skill develops, show him exactly what setting a bell entails, that is, getting it up over the balance and easing it back on to the stay, while always being ready to guide it down in the usual way if it should some off the balance again.

This is a good stage to show the effect of too long and too short hand positions on the tail-end. If the learner has enough confidence and is handling reasonably well, teach him the technique to shorten his rope, by an inch at a time. The right hand moves up the rope a little, while the arms are at full stretch downward, followed by the left hand as soon as possible. Emphasise that the time for shortening tail-ends is not just before the bell reaches the balance at backstroke, and you mean an inch, not half a yard. How often have I seen a learner in rounds getting farther and farther out of place because no one sees that the tail-end is too long, or has slipped, and the learner cannot alter it while ringing.

From the first a learner must be taught to ring by skill and not strength. He should be guiding the tail-end straight down, right down as far as he can, not pulling too hard, then after the handstroke (looked after by the instructor) letting the end go up smoothly until the bell is on the balance. He is? Full marks, go on to the next stage.

THE HANDSTROKE

The pupil should guide the rope down and with arms stretched downwards give the final flick with the right thumb as before, but immediately bring the right hand off the rope and move it so that the right arm is beside and a little away from the body. At the end of the handstroke, as the sally reaches its lowest point the right hand should return to its original position on the tail-end just as this starts to rise This sounds far more complicated than it is, and should be carefully demonstrated. At first, until the pupil is familiar with the timing, it helps to say: "Away . . . and . . . back" at the appropriate times. Be prepared for the pupil to ring one-handed at an unlikely time. The instructor must be prepared for anything at any time; I remember very clearly a particular lady learner who twice succeeded in getting an almost complete coil of rope around her neck. She was freed both times before the following backstroke At this point, particularly at this stage, the instructor will have to exhort the pupil to look straight ahead, not upwards or at the floor. Explain that it is much more difficult to get the timing right if he watches the sally approaching, and that later he will be looking past his sally at others.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Miss Kay Lynas, from Adelaide, arrives in England on Easter Sunday.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Audley for the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society was the 25th together by Philip R. Johnson and Philip G. K. Davies.

Eastwood Church, Notts, which was burned down in 1963, is being rebuilt but the bells have been rehung Appropriately, a new Surprise method—Eastwood— was introduced for the first peal on the bells since rehanging.

From Ashington, Sussex, a reader writes that in last week's copy of "Amateur Gardening" there was an article entitled "Bark Ringing Methods." He suggests that "Woodbine" might be applied!

This Easter Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd completes 60 years of close service in the church, having joined the village choir at Solihull (it is now a borough) in 1907. For the last 40 years he has been both a ringer and chorister.

The bells of St. Lawrence's (8) at Bourton-on-the-Water, Glos, are now available to visiting bands. Peals are restricted to four peals a year and there are three bookings left—June, September and December quarters. Requests should be addressed to the Rector, the Rev. C. H. Pickthorne, The Rectory, Bourton-on-the-Water, Cheltenham, Glos.

Sincere regret at its failure was expressed by the band that attempted an in memoriam peal to Mr. John Worth at Crewe. A quarter peal was, however, rung.

Mr. J. Henry Fielden, of Halifax, rang 32 peals last year, and not 27 as published. The extra ones were not credited to his namesake, John H. Fielden, as his were correct!

We are sorry to learn that Mr. W. Shepherd, of Addlestone, is in St. Peter's Hospital, Chertsey, having been taken ill suddenly on March 17th. At the time of writing his friends are anxious about him.

At the memorial service to John Worth, late Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild, on Saturday, April 22nd, the address will be given by the Bishop of Birkenhead (the Rt. Rev. E. A. J. Mercer).

An interesting point about the peal of Minimus on the four bells at Lazonby, Cumberland, is that the bells are hung in a straight line on one side of the tower only. It was the first peal on the bells and was listened to throughout by Mr. M B. Graves, the tower captain, who has been a ringer here for 50 years. The peal was a compliment to him.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A WORTHWHILE VENTURE IN SUFFOLK

Until recently, Horringer, a small village near Bury St. Edmunds, had not had its eight bells rung by a local band for at least 30 years. And so it may have remained but. following a peal attempt in August, 1966, the new enthusiastic Rector asked who he could get to instruct a band.

The task was readily snapped up by members of the young Great Barton band and the first practice started at the end of October. Our target was to have all the bells manned locally on a Sunday in six months. provided that the Rector could supply enough recruits. This was achieved in four months and now the eight bells are rung twice on a Sunday with a total complement of 20 either handling competently or under instruction.

Several factors have contributed to the initial success of this venture. The Rector obtained his recruits of mainly teenagers and a few older family men to add some stability and instilled in them the strength of purpose which is so important in the early stages when a dozen or more are being taught to handle a rope. With this backing the beginners showed loyalty from the start. determined to master this new. fascinating pastime.

The striking thing about practice night is the atmosphere which prevails. The evening has a friendly "club-like" air and the people come as much for a social chat as for a ring and so look forward to a Thursday evening gathering Before long. we hope. they will have caught the ringing "bug" and gain experience in other towers.

There is of course a moral in this story. The only result of perseverance is success It does mean the self-denial of another evening a week, and it may be felt that progress is stationary, but the final reward is seeing the pleasure of a new band pulling together and working to one end. One member has already rung a quarter peal and several others are showing promising ability.

The 20 or so present on practice night shows that the decline of bellringers and ringing in N.W. and Central Suffolk need not continue. The incumbent must be closely associated with starting a new band He only can do the behind the scene prodding which is necessary to keep morale up in difficult times and show public gratitude when progress is made

Create your own friendly atmosphere. let them know who is in charge. get them to respect your ability and have confidence in you, and they will give you and the church 100 per cent. effort. No one can give or ask for more.

TAUNTON SCHOOL SOCIETY

The quarter peal recorded by the Taunton School Ringers' Society as a welcome to the new headmaster was conducted by Stephen Gullick as a farewell performance. In October he goes to Durham University to read law and will no doubt be adding to his ringing achievements which also include a peal of Double Norwich C.B. Major.

BUSY AT ORSETT

Mr. Gordon Lucas rang his first quarter peal for 14 years at Orsett. Essex, on March 11th He rang originally at Clapham and is now teaching at Basildon. Miss Joan Hills tells us that his presence is truly welcome, as Desmond and Mary Mayell have moved to Somerset, leaving Messrs. F. W. Blatch and Vivien Matthews and Miss Hill with a tower full of learners.

FIRST WEEK-END SCHOOL FOR LINCOLN GUILD

The proposal to organise a week-end school. presented at the last annual Guild meeting. reached fruition on March 10th, when 33 students assembled at the Youth Service Residential Training Centre at Brant Broughton, Lincolnshire

After an excellent evening meal the students were welcomed to the course by Dr Golby, the Director of Education for Kesteven, the sponsoring authority and by Mr. J Bray, the Master of the Lincoln Guild.

Lectures on a wide range of topics including "Bells, History of Casting and Tuning." "Learning and Teaching Elementary Change Ringing." "Double Handed Handbell Ringing." "Tune Ringing on Handbells." "Maintenance of Bells and Fittings" and "Conducting" were given by the very able lecturing team of Messrs. N. Chaddock, J. Freeman W. F. Moreton and F. Sharpe.

Practice ringing sessions. using the six-bell towers of Brant Broughton and Bassingham and the eights at Caythorpe and Balderton. enabled the student body to make use of the new ideas in conducting training sessions for recruits.

The full programme of Saturday was closed by the showing of the Washington Film.

The lectures on Sunday morning were preceded by a short service conducted by the Vicar of Brant Broughton. for which Mr Sharpe hastily produced a score to provide music for the hymn "There is a Green Hill."

All connected with this course spent an enjoyable week-end and thanks are due to the Kesteven authority. the staff of Brant Broughton House and the incumbents who allowed the use of the bells. H. J. R.

MONTACUTE RINGING AGAIN

For the last eight weeks the bells of Montacute. Somerset. have been silent owing to the renewing of the tower roof. It can now be said. writes Mr. G W. Rendell. that the bells will be ringing for Easter. The ringers would like to thank the incumbents and tower captains of Seavington. Marston Magna. Ash. Bradford-Abbas. Preston Plucknett. North Perrott. Langport and Yetminster for the use of their bells during this period and for the cordial way in which they were received. Thanks also to friends who came along and kept the numbers up.

BRISTOLIANS IN LIVERPOOL

Four members of Bristol University Society had an adventurous time when they set out to attend the Liverpool Society's dinner on Friday March 3rd. making the journey in a little old Morris 8. E. M. E. writes: "We stopped twice on the way for liquid refreshments and chips. after which the co-driver was seen feeding the driver with his share so that he could keep both hands on the wheel. Later on in the week-end, however. the driver became more competent and found out. much to his delight. that he was quite capable of driving with one hand!

The climax of the week-end was ringing at Liverpool Cathedral on the Sunday afternoon "Here our tenor queen was seen being rung by the tenor with the aid of our C.C. representative. Unfortunately the Master was not there to watch this spectacle.!!"

Home was reached at 12 midnight (Sunday) and the purport of the report is: "Thank you, L.U.S.C.R., for giving us the opportunity to visit your city. A good week-end enjoyed by all."

"BLACK TUESDAY" AT HOBART

Last week-end we received a graphic account of the great fire in Tasmania from Miss Mary Atkinson whose home is in the Lenah Valley. Hobart She writes:—

"I was at work on 'black Tuesday about 2 p.m. when thke smoke became so thick in the city that we had to put our lights on. Then I rang Mum to see how things were. To say she was alarmed was to put it mildly. She said flames three times as high as the houses were shooting up further along the Valley and that there was a constant stream of cars as people came out.

"I came home and watered the roof while Mum watered the walls with the poor trickle we could get from the taps. Smoke was so thick in the passage that we could hardly see from one end of the building to the other. I put the car out on the road with a few things we most treasured and that are quite irreplaceable The fire was now on both sides of the Valley. but after three anxious hours of watering there was a slight wind change which took the fire over the hill at the back and we were saved There were 14 homes in the Valley burnt and three people lost their lives."

Overall picture: The fire burned over an area of approximately 60 miles by 30 miles in the space of one afternoon Approximate figures to date: Sixty-three persons dead, 1,400 homes destroyed. 4,000 homeless, 50,000 sheep, 1,000 cattle, 300 dairy cows and 600 pigs burned

We are pleased to learn that all Hobart ringers are safe.

RINGING PROSPECTS AT NORTHALLERTON

We hope that the local quarter peal from Northallerton. the seat of local government for the North Riding of Yorkshire. will be the forerunner of many more. as there is a keen group of grammar school boys and girls who have been taught by David Town. the vice-captain. David. who is 18, only started ringing in 1964 and can now take his place in a Surprise Major band

All Saints' Church has a fine central tower and is situated in the High Street. The main road from York to Darlington runs by it on the east side and on the north and west side is the church green. The bells are a very fine eight (tenor 18 cwt.), recast at the end of 1961 To combat the noise outside the local company are planning to provide a shuttering device to deaden the sound Mr. E. D. Metcalfe informs us that peals here are out of the question on account of the proximity of local government and business premises, but permission might be obtained by a touring party for an odd quarter peal.

PEALS ON ALL CORNISH EIGHTS

By taking part in a successful peal at Werrington, Cornwall, on March 11th, the Rev. A. S. Roberts has now rung a peal on all the 45 rings of eight in Cornwall, and he proudly informed the band at the conclusion of the peal that it was 40 years and one week since he rang his first on eight, at Kea in 1927. His ultimate Cornish eight for a peal would have been at St. Mary's, Launceston, where a successful peal was rung last Whit Monday, but before the claim could be published it was discovered that a boundary change a few weeks previously had brought the parishes of Werrington and North Petherwin "back into the fold" from the foreign parts of Devon!

Like all the lovers of Stedman Caters and Cinques, Albert Walker had a large collection of touches, many of them with unusual features. A number of them must have come from his great friend, John Carter, and Carter was as versatile and resourceful as Handel.

This touch of four short courses was one of Albert's favourites and he used it on many occasions. Each of the courses is called alike (2, 6, 11) but we have here printed the first two in order to show the pattern the more clearly.

The fixed bells are 2, 8 and 9, and the touch may be called by an observation of any of these three. If the 2nd is chosen, the calling will be:

First Half Turn

The touch of 219 has not, we believe, appeared in any text book. It is very easy to memorise and to call, and comes round in a rather unusual way, three rows after 134265879. This sometimes gives rise to the impression that the ending runs false with the opening rows, but this is not so.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

No. 2920 Vol. LXIII FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 1967 9d.

Little John Dreams Again — Another Fantasy

A GROUP of ringers was waiting at the foot of the Post Office tower for the last three of the band to arrive. It was rather a dull autumn afternoon and the top of the tower was veiled in mist. No matter, the bells were hanging there, unseen, waiting. At last the second city had a ring worthy of its ringers!

The months of waiting had seemed endless and had not been without their difficulties. George reflected that, in spite of all his efforts, he had been unable to persuade a band to ring at that nearby pseudo-Gothic edifice designed by Pugin. Those small towers, the ringers exclaimed, could not possibly hold a ring of bells. They would not even believe an officer of the Guild who explained in simple language that there were four bells in each of the twin towers. In any case, they insisted on ringing peals on twelve bells, those on lesser numbers being impossible to find in the new mixed up lay-out of "The Ringing World."

What they really meant, as George knew only too well, was that they doubted their ability to ring difficult methods such as Double Norwich or Bob Major. No, it had not been an easy time. They had had to travel quite a lot to get their peals—Exeter, Manchester, Cripplegate, Newcastle on Tyne. George looked pensively at the rather battered bicycle leaning against the wall. It would never be quite the same again!

The last of the ringers arrived and they all ascended the tower. It had a spacious ringing room, but was cluttered up with a certain amount of apparatus belonging to the Post Office. (There would be time enough later to remove this if it interfered with the ringing.) Fourteen ropes dangled in a good circle—yes, FOURTEEN. The Guild must make progress, it could not stand still. It had rung many new Maximus methods, and held records for long lengths. It had shown the Exercise the value of singles in Surprise ringing, and had introduced calls when the treble was behind. What more remained but to have more bells to ring in a peal—from the right foundry, of course.

Stedman Sextuples was the method chosen for the first peal, and soon the glorious music of the bells was booming down the wide thoroughfares of the city, reverberating from the new skyscraper blocks of offices and drowning the roar of the traffic. The dislodged starlings swirled round the swaying tower, their screams unheard. Some four hours and a bit later the bells came into rounds in a masterly fashion. The first peal at the Post Office tower had been accomplished. Peace descended once more on the city and the ringers, in their time-honoured custom, made their way to a nearby alehouse.

The weeks passed into months, and the columns of "The Ringing World" were full of the peals of Surprise rung on fourteen bells. At the same time, the columns of the national Press carried much speculation about the new code with which the Post Office was experimenting, involving the use of bells.

February and March brought a period of severe gales, and ringing at the tower became a tricky matter, as one had to combat the sway of this tall mass of masonry. One night seemed worse than all the others. The tower was buffeted by severe gusts of wind and rocked and shaken to its very foundations. Little John was rather glad when the bells at last came into rounds. His arms ached from ringing under these conditions.

"I think we'll drop them tonight," said George. "It won't do to have them damaged by this gale." The bells were about halfway down when the lights began to flicker and some went out. The shadows of the ringers on the walls danced like dervishes, now short, now tall. The tower lurched again, and the box on which Little John was standing slid towards the centre of the room. Wildly he clutched the sally as he felt himself falling . . . falling . . . falling with a crash to the floor.

He wakened in a tangled cocoon of bedclothes, one hand still gripping an end of the sheet. He had had a nightmare. What had caused it, he wondered, as he scrambled back into bed. Could it have been that piece of Continental cheese given him by a well-known ringer who was partial to the stuff? Surely not! Then, was it that last half-pint with which he had "washed it down"? Perish the thought!

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION AT ITS ZENITH

RECORDS IN ALL DIRECTIONS

Ringing in Kent seems to have reached its highest peak during the 87 years of its existence. In all directions—practising members, finance, peals rung—we cannot recall a more satisfactory year in the Association's history than 1966. And the presence of the large number of enthusiastic youngsters at the annual festival at Maidstone on Easter Monday augurs well for the future.

Maidstone rose to the occasion in its welcome. The centre of the spacious nave of All Saints' Church was well-filled for the service; a congregation of more than 200, which included the Mayor (Aid. P. A. Barden) and the Mayoress, was present. Later lunch was served at Maidstone Grammar School, the catering and serving being undertaken by local ringers and their wives.

THE SERVICE

The theme of the service was the Easter Festival and the hymns were all associated with it. The singing was led by the choir, who sang as an anthem the Jubilate to a setting of Benjamin Britten. The secretary of the Association, Mr P. A. Corby, read the lesson, and the service was conducted by the Rev. G. Warner, priest-in-charge during the interregnum since the appointment of the Rector to a canonry at Canterbury.

The Archdeacon of Maidstone, the Ven. Michael Nott, gave the address, and in his welcome commented that the presence of the Mayor and Mayoress strengthened the recognition of the civic authorities of the importance of the work ringers were doing.

The Archdeacon said he often wondered what was the dominant thought in most people's minds when they heard church bells ringing, either coming across the countryside or among the houses of their towns and cities. To him it was a vital one. The message could be crystallised as "The Lord is risen." It was a challenge to a disobedient world of a factual expression of the Risen Lord.

THE DINNER

The meal was served in the dignified hall of Maidstone Grammar School. It was not inappropriate that those assisting with the meal were members of the Maidstone Grammar School Society. The helpers included Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Groves and Bernard, Valerie and Christine, Mr. and Mrs. T. Cullingworth, Mrs. Beer, Mrs. Carter, Mr. and Mrs Leeds, John Betts, Pamela Davis, W. Manser and W. Manser.

Mr. John Willis, who for many years has occupied the chair, was again in office, and brief speeches were given by the Mayor and the Archdeacon, who had a word of appreciation for those who provided "the lovely grub."

For the business meeting Mr. Willis was voted to the chair on the proposition of Mr. F. S. Macey seconded by Mr. D. W. Woodcock. With him sat Mr. E. A. Barnett (vice-president) and the general secretary.

APOLOGIES

The general secretary reporting the apologies said Mr. B. J. Luck, a vice-president, had been ill with a heart attack but was making excellent progress. The meeting decided to sent good wishes for a speedy recovery. Another absentee was Mr. E. Barnett, who had not been absent from an A.G.M. since 1904. Good wishes were also sent to him. Mr. Tom Sone had had a recurrence of his chest trouble, and Mr. G. H. Spice was not very well. Other apologies were received from Mr. F. J. Cullum and Mr. W. A. J. Knight, now at Milverton, Somerset.

LOSSES BY DEATH

The following deaths of members were remembered, the company standing:—

Practising: T. Baker (Bobbing), A. Bates (Farningham), R. W. Belsey, C. Chapman, J. W. Coleman (Cobham), T. G. Dennis (Rainham), Miss L. B. Finn (Brabourne), H. Gilbert (High Halden), J. E. Grinstead (Borden), H. Kingsnorth (Selling), Miss A. D. Mills (Selling), P. Page (Margate), E. S. Ruck (Willesborough), J. A. Russell (Birchington).

Life Members: Mrs. M. Poole (Northfleet), J. A. B. Robertson (Shoreham), H. Reid.

Non-resident: Peter Crook, sen. (Bolton), T. R. Dennis (Cambridge), W. H. Hewett (Westminster), W. L. Rayner (Bosham), R. Sanders (Streatham), K. Snelling (Cuckfield), J. W. Ward (Melbourn, Cambs), J. Worth (Macclesfield). Also Mrs. A. L. T. Lewis, wife of the late Edwin H. Lewis, former president of the Central Council and a vice-president of the Association.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

This was taken as read and gave the membership of the Association as 1,279 resident members, 72 associate members. District resident membership was: Ashford 241, Canterbury 283, Lewisham 183, Maidstone 239, Rochester 189 and Tonbridge 144.

Towers in union were 168, and not in union 62

RESTORATION WORK

The secretary's report stated that they rejoiced in the fine new eight at Sevenoaks, which although lighter than the previous ring were a delight to ring and hear. Brabourne and East Malling sixes were both now hanging in new iron frames, and the five at Preston-by-Wingham were also in a new frame. All four jobs were completed by Mears and Stainbank. They still awaited the return of Mersham and Queenborough.

Wittersham bells had been restored by J. Taylor and Co.; Ivychurch's were now ringing for short periods as a result of voluntary labour by David Cawley. Newchurch had a bell fund, and Kingsnorth had been inspected by Mr. R. Clouston, who gave advice at Tenterden when the bells there were restored. There was still hope of a new ringing floor at Eynsford, and Foots Cray had been rehung.

Upchurch bells were ringing again. Rodmersham's had been rehung without assistance from the Association. It was hoped the work to the tower at Queenborough would be completed in 1967.

There was an attempt to raise £1,000 at Newington, and the fund at Bredgar was progressing well.

ACCOUNTS FAVOURABLE

The Income and Expenditure Account concluded with a balance carried forward of £248, against £245. Mr. B. W. May (honorary treasurer) reported on the income side; membership had gone up and the arrears due last year from the District secretaries had all been paid. The A.G.M. last year showed a profit of about £10. Eight or nine years ago the A.G.M. cost about £30. They had completed the purchase of £50 in 5½ per cent Development Bonds for the upkeep of Milton-next-Gravesend bell fund. From the Belfry Repair Fund only one payment had been made—a grant of £30 to Sevenoaks. This year they had made from the fund grants of £90 and he had another £25 which he proposed to pay that week. He commended the excellent work Mr. Berry was doing in support of the Belfry Repair Fund in the Ashford District.

The general secretary gave a word of warning about the cost of the printed reports as their printers had given up. This coming year the cost would be nearly £200, as against £120 last year.

The balance sheet showed that the assets of the Association had increased from £1,214 to £1,542.

The accounts were adopted.

The general secretary said a lot of hard work had gone into the preparation of the peal report. It was a record year for the Association in the number of peals rung, and also for the number of first pealers.

The chairman added his congratulations to Mr. Ian H. Oram (peal secretary) and to the little lady who, they hoped, would eventually be his bride.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

There was no change in the election of the president, vice-president and officers of the Association. Since the last A.G.M. they had lost one vice-president, Mr. E. S. Ruck. The officers were all thanked for their services.

When it came to the election of the other members of the committee (permitted number six) Mr. Corby proposed the election of the present five members, Messrs. E. Barnett, G. J. Butcher, E. J. Ladd, F. S. Macey and T. E. Sone. The meeting would not accept this but wanted elections individually. Eight nominations were received and the following were elected by a show of hands: Dr. Niblett, Mrs. Olive Tester, Messrs. C. Osenton, N. Davies, G J. Butcher and E. J. Ladd. Messrs. F. S. Macey and D. Manger were unsuccessful. Mr. Macey had previously commented that he had been 60 years with the Association and was prepared to stand down for a younger man

OTHER BUSINESS

Under other business the secretary said Mr. Victor Sheppard, who was responsible for the Overseas Committee on the Central Council, had suggested that their Association should establish some link with Kent School, Connecticut. He was waiting to hear from Mr. Sheppard whom to contact.

Mr. Corby also made an appeal for a 100 per cent response from Kent members to "The Ringing World" questionnaire.

The secretary announced that a little while ago the mother of the late Frank Knight sent £5 to the Association. He thought it would be a pity to pay it into the General Fund, but it should be identified with some object. He accordingly sent it to Mr. Bert Luck to use for a new shelf to the library at Canterbury Cathedral When Mrs. Knight heard of the proposal she kindly sent a further £10 for additional shelving.

Mrs. Olive Barnett proposed a vote of thanks to the Maidstone District for the wonderful job they did in providing such an excellent lunch, which included soup. The ladies and gentlemen responsible were called from the kitchen and thanked from the chair.

This was followed by votes of thanks to the many who had contributed to the success of the festival and to the chairman.

RECORD YEAR FOR PEALS

The peal secretary's report stated that 207 peals were rung for the Association during 1966, 30 more than last year; this total constituted a record, the previous highest being 183 in 1951. The increase was almost entirely due to a jump in handbell peals from nine to 35. Forty members rang their first peal, an increase of six. This high number of first pealers augured well for the future of the Association.

There were 44 conductors, and Christopher T. Osenton headed the list with 38, followed by Bernard F. L. Groves and the peal secretary with 24 each. The local bands at Chartham, Crayford Eltham, Hawkhurst and Tonbridge each scored a peal.

Mr. Ian Oram presented the report and announced the ringing of Surprise Major in five methods rung at Frindsbury the previous Saturday, with changes of method at the half lead and full lead. He congratulated the conductor (B. F. L. Groves), the composer (R. G. Crosland) and the band.

100 Peals at North Muskham, a Trent Valley Tower

STANDING on a hillock surrounded by what was once marshland, keeping look-out on the Great North Road on the one side and the placid waters of the River Trent on the other, there is the embattled tower of St. Wilfrid's Church, North Muskham, Nottinghamshire

One foggy day in November, 1928, a young man who was just learning to ring heard the five bells being raised and, making his way to the belfry, he sat down in the gloom of an oil lamp and two flickering candles and as he watched and listened he witnessed the first peal to be rung on these bells.

Nearly 40 years later this same man, still young in heart, had the satisfaction of turning in the tenor to the 100th peal on the bells, but on this occasion there were all the comforts of a present-day ringing chamber with electric light, carpeted floor and the added luxury of being transported from his own front door by motor car—it was, however, still foggy outside.

Originally a ring of three old bells thought to have been founded by Henry Oldfield of Nottingham during the early 17th century, and made into four when a treble was added by John Taylor and Co. in 1897, increased to five when two of the old bells were recast and a new treble added by Taylors in 1923, they were made into the present ring of six when John Taylor and Co. made a 13¼ cwt. tenor in 1935. The money for this tenor bell was raised by local subscriptions in the 1930's, when the tower had an enthusiastic band of nearly all lady ringers.

And so it was that on Friday, February 10th, 1967, the 100th peal was rung on the lovely bells of this little Nottinghamshire village church in the Trent Valley, thus stirring the memories of ringers over the years who have rung on these bells, either in peal attempts, on outings or at meetings. This is a popular tower for ringers on the move, and a genial welcome is always there from Mr. Charles J. Copp and his almost perpetual band of youngsters learning to ring, and the Vicar, the Rev. W. H. Snow, who takes a rope occasionally if they are one short for service ringing.

THE PEAL RECORD

Glancing through the peal record book, many names well known as ringers throughout the land appear during the last 20 years or so.

Of the successful peals, 57 were of Doubles from one to 126 methods/variations, and 43 of Minor from one to 35 methods. One false peal was rung in 1954 and had to be withdrawn, and the footnotes over the years make interesting reading.

Most of the peals were rung for the Southwell Diocesan Guild, with an occasional one for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, although the earlier ones were for the old Midland Counties Association or the North Notts Association.

It is also noted that 19 people are recorded as having rung their first peal on these bells, and the number of times ringers have "circled the tower" has become something of a local maypole dance.

The first peal to be rung on the bells was on Friday, December 7th, 1928, and was in three Doubles methods, taking 2 hours and 30 minutes (M.C.A.): Edward Foster 1, George E. Foster 2, Arthur J. Chamberlain 3, Leonard Pierrepont 4, J. Frederick Milner (cond.) 5.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Bristol ringers provided the tea when the Society held its monthly meeting there on February 25th. Methods ranged from Plain Bob Minor to Double Norwich and Cambridge.

Because of "beat-the-tax" weddings, Rothwell Parish Church will not be available for the March meeting. The reserve tower, East Audsley, was immediately offered and accepted. Two new members from East Audsley —Paul Swindale and John Marsh—were welcomed.

LADIES' GUILD

The South Wales District held a very enjoyable and well-attended meeting at St. Augustine's Church, Penarth, on February 25th.

The ring of eight bells, with a 12 cwt. tenor, proved ideal for such a meeting and a variety of methods was rung. Visitors and friends were warmly welcomed by the Rector (the Rev. Norman Griffiths), by Mr. John Garrett (tower captain) and by Mrs. Jacqueline Apsitis, a member of the band and the organiser of a fine tea.

After appropriate votes of thanks new members elected were the Misses Anne and Frances Cooke and Lynn Parker (all of Llandaff Cathedral). Miss Anne Thomas (Rumney) and Miss Margaret Luther (Swansea).

It was decided to try to hold meetings at Ebbw Vale in June and at Swansea in November.

PEAL RINGING EXAMPLES FROM KENT

Dear Sir,—The letter from Mr. Muncey is yet another instalment of the unwarranted and usually unfounded attack on peal ringing, which has exploded fairly regularly ever since I have been reading "The Ringing World" (45 years).

It is significant that most of the letters written in criticism are from people who do not take part in peals and who object to the prominence given to peal achievements, and usually based on the assumption that peal ringing is almost the only ringing activity of the people concerned My own experience shows me that this is not so and, indeed, that those ringers whose names appear or have appeared frequently in the peal columns are among those who give freely of their time and energy to the furtherance and continuation of the Exercise.

It has been my privilege and pleasure to have taken part in successful peal attempts with ringers in this part of Kent, whose names were and still are household words as some of the leading ringers and conductors—I instance such people as the three generations of Barnetts of Crayford, two generations of Groombridges, the present H. E. Audsley, F. J Cullum, the late J. Chiesman, I. G. Shade and I. Emery, etc. All these people were, or are, excellent ringers who gave freely of their time in their own and neighbouring towers to local bands. Many learners have reason to be grateful for the time spent with them, and although these notable ringers scored a high number of peals they all derived (and those still living do derive) the greatest pleasure from including "first pealers" and "first in the method' by individuals in the band

From this I am sure that the peal ringers are just as dedicated to ordinary ringing and ringers as anyone else, and look upon the opportunity for peal ringing as a relaxation and reward for all their other ringing activities, and I feel they are justified. Because of this, the peal columns of "The Ringing World" should still retain prominence as a measure of the progress of our Exercise.

There are "pealers" and "non-pealers." The latter derive a "full life" in ringing from their activities, and it is not in Christian charity and tolerance for them to decry the "full life" of the former.

Let us have a little more community attitude in a community hobby.—Yours sincerely,

Erith, Kent. C. BRETT-SMITH.

PEAL RINGERS AND CHURCH SERVICE

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr H. T. F. Muncey, of Histon, Cambs, I suggest his facts are not correct, that people who ring peals have some sort of disease and do not ring for service or render any other valuable service to the Church. My experience of peal ringers has been the reverse—peal ringers I know and respect have many interests in church affairs, many serve on Parochial Church Councils and other committees and do a considerable amount of minor repairs and maintenance to bell frames, etc. Some ringing chambers are a pleasure to enter.

To clear the position of Mr. Muncey's last paragraph, that ringers should pay a considerable amount of money for the use of the valuable equipment, he may be correct in this statement but who is he to say what moneys should be paid? This is a matter for the Church authorities or the incumbent to decide.—Yours sincerely,

RON BULLEN.

Darley Dale.

THE BEST WAY FOR PROFICIENCY

Dear Sir,—I feel that I cannot let the letter from Mr. Muncey, of Cambridge, pass without comment. He is the third person in recent weeks to "have a go" at peal ringers, and now people who go on outings are included! What Mr. Muncey and these other correspondents do not seem to realise is that the great majority of peal ringers are regular Sunday service ringers. Mr. Muncey would be at home working for the Inland Revenue—"if anybody enjoys anything, put a tax on it."

Peal ringing is the best way to become a proficient ringer and most "first pealers" learn more from their first peal than they would from a dozen practices or lectures. Regular peal ringing is one of the few activities having a sporting atmosphere that is associated with the Church. Why shouldn't we enjoy it and try to excel? It grips some of us like a disease, Mr. Muncey says—ringing would be in a pretty poor state if somebody was not very enthusiastic about it! Somebody did comment that the footnote "Rung to the glory of God" did not appear very often; this should be taken as read if the participants are all Christians. We cannot vouch for every member of a band, however, and to put the footnote would be hypocritical.

To take up Mr. Muncey on another point about our expensive equipment; we are well aware that it is expensive, and modern restorations and augmentations are paid for with money raised by ringers. We had two new trebles added at our tower a few years ago and £640 was provided via the ringers towards the bill paid by the P.C.C. (this is not an isolated case, either). Eight resident members of our Guild appeared in the list of leading peal ringers which was referred to; all eight serve in some office in the Guild, five of them being tower captains. We are trying to raise £15,000 for Chester Cathedral bells, and now Mr. Muncey wants to charge us for ringing!

Looking down the list of leading ringers I could quote cases outside the Guild of which I am a member, of ringers doing similar work throughout the country. I suggest Mr Muncey and his fellow killjoy friends forget about charging for peal ringing and touring bands.—Yours sincerely,

ROBERT B. SMITH.

Marple.

P.S.—There is plenty of evidence available to support the theory that learners progress more quickly in areas where there are active peal bands.—R. B. S.

HOAX PEALS

Dear Sir,—I would suggest that it is now time to impose a tighter control on what peals are published, as we seem to be getting a number of hoaxes these days as well as the recent childish misattribution of a composition. Might I suggest that there are two possible approaches which might help, viz.:

(a) A publication fee, or
(b) only accepting peals which are countersigned by the appropriate Association's peal secretary.

Both have objections, (a) because many people (including myself) do not think there should be such a fee, and (b) because "non-Association" peals present a problem, but I think something must be done.—Yours faithfully,

W. D. N. FOOTE.

Bracknell, Berks.

UNORTHODOX "RUBBISH"

Dear Sir,—I noted with considerable interest the letter from John D. Grue ("Ringing World," page 164) concerning the introduction of somewhat unorthodox Surprise Minor methods into peals.

Many years ago I had the privilege of living for some time with that well-known pioneer of Spliced Surprise Minor, Douglas B. R. Helbeach. I can remember that he once produced the same methods as those rung at South Mymms by the University of London band, together with a number of equally inferior methods

We found that by using such methods we could in fact raise the record of Spliced Surprise Minor up to at least 135 methods. However, after many hours of fruitful discussion we came to the conclusion that the ringing of these methods would do nothing to further the art of Surprise Minor ringing. It was with this in mind that our files were left to gather the dust and the methods we hoped would remain "undiscovered." You can imagine the shock I received on seeing some of these methods included in a peal of Spliced Surprise Minor.

I am entirely in agreement with Professor Dodge when he condemns the ringing of this rubbish and only hope that the habit is not catching or else we will find ourselves ringing Surprise Major methods with places made in 78 while the treble is neither leading nor lying.

However, I think it was most appropriate that the South Mymms band should give these methods equally ridiculous names such as St. Pancras and Eadburgebyrig (wherever that may be).

May I remind Mr. Grue that I am not some old "fuddy-duddy" who is opposed to change. I am merely trying to stress the fact that. like all noble institutions, the ringing Exercise has got certain standards which must be maintained at all costs.—Yours faithfully

CHARLES M. WILSON.

THE WAY KENT HELPED

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. G. H. Goodyear's letter in the issue of March 3rd, I would disagree about the help from the Kent County Association in such conditions.

In my own case if it had not been for the very real help and encouragement that I have had in the past dozen years or so not only would I not be a ringer now but the bells of Ash would have been silent as well.

I was left to try and keep the bells ringing about one year after I learned, and the Rochester District provided instructors to get the band started. Since that time I have been made welcome with any of my ringers who were willing to travel to other towers to practise. For a long time we had a regular monthly meeting here when several really experienced ringers came nearly 20 miles in order to try and keep the enthusiasm and to train us in method ringing.

I know that there are towers that will have nothing less than perfection and do not welcome visitors; there are also ringers who unfortunately have forgotten that they were once learners. These are, I am glad to say, in the minority, otherwise we should have no ringers today.

Now that I have a new band in the making, we had ringers from nearly 20 miles away on a recent Friday. Our own beginners made a big stride forward and I was encouraged more than I can say.—Yours truly,

JOHN V. MULLER,
Tower Captain.

When we found that Barrie Dove was giving up the task of compiling a list of "tower visitors," I took it on mainly to avoid disappointing ten-year-old Katharine Thorley, who was pleased with her 104 new towers. In the event it has been a pleasurable task with many correspondents writing full and interesting descriptions of their year's ringing activities in addition to the bare figures.

Of particular interest was a letter from Clare Masefield, of Kidlington. She did not ring in 100 new towers because the supply ran out—she spent a year in Australia and New Zealand. She rang in 23 towers, all the ringable bells except those in Tasmania—quite an achievement for a 20-year-old girl on her own. She speaks highly of the hospitality of ringers down under, a sentiment which I would like to echo for the ringers in Canada and U.S.A., who were so kind to me a year ago.

There has been some comment on my open use of the common term "tower grabber" rather than the euphemistic term "tower visitor" beloved of Mr Dove. Unfortunately Mr. Dove has not sent in his total, though by all accounts he has not let the grass grow under his feet. I was also rather puzzled by one ringer's letter giving details but asking that his name should not be published as he was not proud of his activities. Two other keen tower grabbers (I do not count myself as one) have also declined to give even their numbers to make the list complete. Perhaps whoever does the job next year will make it easier for them!

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

Welwyn, one of the best-kept villages of Hertfordshire, was the delightful setting for the meeting on March 18th. The spring weather encouraged a fair number to come and ring on the light eight, which are not the easiest bells to strike. Methods up to London were rung during the afternoon in spite of difficulty with the treble and yards of rope on the fifth—both causing much amusement throughout the meeting.

Tea was in the small village teashop and, due to the size of the shop and the time it closed, ringers were served in two "shifts."

At the service the Vicar remarked on the age of those present, as well he might—out of the 18 members only two were over 24 years of age

The business meeting was held in the tower, everyone just about finding room! The chair—or should I say floor—was taken by Mr Robert Hardy. The secretary, Mr. Keith Walpole, mentioned that the course held on belfry maintenance recently was very well supported.

Again a request from Mr. Walpole—to think hard of ways of raising money for the possible visit by the Central Council. The figure of £75 was a possible target for the District to think about.

WHERE PEALS WERE RUNG IN 1966

Dear Sir,—While apologising for any inaccuracies in the above article I would explain that the reason for my research was merely to ascertain how many other towers were privileged to record as many peals as my own, and not with a view to preparing the article, otherwise I might perhaps have taken greater care.—Yours sincerely,

R. H. DOVE.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Presentation to Secretaries

The Northern District held a well-attended meeting at Wethersfield on March 18th, when the pleasant six were rung to a variety of methods. The Vicar (the Rev. J. B. MacGowan) conducted the service, during which he gave some thoughts for Holy Week to take the place of ringing for the next seven days.

Tea in the Village Hall was followed by the business meeting. The District Master, Mr R. J. Lindsell, congratulated the Vicar on ringing his first quarter peal last year and apologised for omitting this from his annual report.

The last two District secretaries, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wood, who are leaving Essex to live in Malvern, were presented with a stainless steel tea set in gratitude for all their work for the Northern District through the past years.

LADIES' GUILD

The annual general meeting of the Eastern District was held at Norwich on February 4th, when 14 ladies attended the meeting held at St. Miles'.

Ringing during the day took place at Scole Long Stratton, Mulbarton, St. George's Colgate, St. Miles and St. John-de-Sepulchre.

It was decided to hold one meeting per year in future, because of the low attendance, to take the form of a ringing day or outing

CENTRAL COUNCIL MINUTES

Dear Sir,—May I please draw attention to a misprint in the minutes as published on March 24th.

On page 202 under "The Ringing World" Committee, the end of the first sentence should read, ".... with the addition of Mr. D. A. Bayles."—Yours faithfully,

VERNON BOTTOMLEY,
Secretary.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

The crisp spring day of March 18th drew from hibernation over 60 ringers of the Church of St. Mary of the Holy Rood, Little Chart. A short service was conducted by Fr. Denis H. May and was followed by tea in the Village Hall. It was disappointing to note that several ringers had not sent in their names for tea, thus inconveniencing the resources of the hard-working Little Chart band. The business meeting was short, thanks to the skill of the chairman Mr. A S. Phelips. Ringing to suit all tastes, under the enterprising direction of Nicholas Davies, concluded a happy meeting

JOINT MEETING AT STAPLEHURST

The annual meeting of the Kent Branch of the Ladies Guild, which was held in conjunction with the Maidstone District of the Kent County Association at Staplehurst on March 11th, attracted over 80 ringers and friends, including 17 members of the Ladies' Guild. The service was followed by an excellent tea provided by the Staplehurst band.

At the business meeting of the Ladies' Guild the resignation of Mrs. S. Dobbie after ten years as secretary was received with much regret. Miss Marilyn Chidwick is her successor. Although there was a possibility that Mrs. Mitchell might be moving from Kent in the near future, she agreed to carry on as vice-president. Elected to the committee were Mrs. Cheal, Mrs Wratten, Miss I. Pearce and Miss J. Wood, and to the Central Council Miss F. Cannon and Miss E. Todd As many members as possible were asked to attend the Guild's annual general meeting at Lincoln on July 1st.

FOR THE BEGINNER

SUGGESTIONS for INSTRUCTORS

By BARRY J. COUZENS

(Aided and abetted by JEAN SANDERSON)

Point out that in the previous exercise the right hand of the pupil has been doing nothing for several seconds, then get him to bring his right hand up to the sally to cover the instructor's hand before taking it away and replacing it on the tail-end. Demonstrate and keep the bell well up on the balance. Timing is assisted by an elaboration of the commentary: "Away, up to the sally, down and away, and back on to the rope." When this goes smoothly the instructor should leave a gap between his hands on the sally, at the height where the learner should catch it. This height is very critical, like the position of the hands at backstroke, and can be gauged in the same way as was done for the tail-end. The learner should catch it in that space. Any tendency to keep hold of the sally too long should be nipped in the bud; once cured, this fault seldom recurs. Also its opposite, "touch and off," should be discouraged gently until the pupil's hand is coming off the sally at the right time and going down to rejoin the other hand on the tail-end. As the pupil progresses the instructor should be able to manage the sally with only one hand. Eventually he will be able to leave the sally to the learner for an occasional stroke, then for several at a time. Triumph! At last he is ringing a bell by himself! Some praise and congratulation are called for; they help him over the next stages. Be alert; he is bound to miss the sally sometimes or get into other difficulties, and this is the time at which those who are overpulling will break stays. Do not linger over this stage, its value is limited and can lead to bad habits, such as relying on one hand to do the work on the sally when two should be used, and taking the hands off the sally at different times. The beginnings of a bad fault may show at this stage. Having taken his hand off the sally the learner may keep it at waist level or a little below, and wait for the left hand to pass by, catching on the tail-end only as it passes his chest. It may seem easier to him, and he may have seen experienced ringers doing it—he cannot distinguish between the good and the bad handler yet. Make sure his hands do go down to join the tail-end. This fault is likely to reappear when using both hands on the sally, and again when trying to follow another bell, and therefore not concentrating on "Finishing handstrokes."

As a preparation for catching the sally with both hands, the learner returns to handling backstroke only, leaving the sally to the instructor. Make sure that the rope is held deeply in the crotch of the left thumb, as in diagram 3. After he has guided the rope right down (Beginners' Handbook, fig. 10) he brings his hands up quickly, without touching the sally All the fingers must point diagonally upwards, as in diagram 3:—

Provided the rope is in place in the crotch of the left thumb, the rope then falls over the back of the hand (not the knuckles or the elbow) and past the wrist. The end itself will stick out horizontally between the hands, already in the correct position to lie across the learner's side of the sally later on. When this is being done correctly it should be easy to work up to catching the sally as before: hands over the instructor's; hands in gap left by instructor; instructor using one hand, then neither, though ready for emergencies Many learners are very much afraid of dropping the tail-end when catching the sally. Ask them to think how little weight there is in the rope (there is no pressure on it until the handstroke is completed) and the pressure of the thumb against the sally will hold the tail-end securely. (See Beginners' Handbook, figs 7 and 9) for the correct position of tail-end and hands on the sally.

Diagram 3

You will have noticed that I have not mentioned a technique which is widely used and recommended: the use of a dummy tail-end. This does not come into my basic routine but I am quite ready to use it, and often do, when a learner has some trouble catching the sally, usually due to incorrect handling of the tail-end. Another technique is that of swinging the bell so that the sally is bobbing up and down, then getting the learner to catch the sally on alternate swings while holding the tail-end. This is an exercise intended to give practice at coping with the tail-end as the sally is caught, since the motion is somewhat similar to the sally's bob up to the balance and off again, but my opinion is that it is too far removed from reality to be of much value It has the advantage that the learner cannot come to any harm. and so gains confidence. and can be used if the instructor is swamped by learners.

By the time he can catch the sally with both hands as well as look after the backstroke the learner should have been shown a bell in action. You can remind him that, contrary to instinct, a bell has to be checked rather than pulled to make it ring faster, and that when it is not reaching the balance, and he has least time to pull it, that is the time it needs pulling most. and that the art of bell handling is not the application of brute force, but skill.

As soon as the learner learns to catch the sally with both hands, or even earlier if you like, the pupil should be shown how to raise and lower a bell. The correct way to make coils and to let them out when raising the bell and to pick up coils when lowering is very important Any fool can pull a bell about menacing life and limb, not only of himself but others also. If later in his career he is with those who ring up and down in peal he will be at a tremendous disadvantage if he has to unlearn bell-bullying. The correct way has to be explained and demonstrated with care, and faults spotted quickly. Make the learner show you how he will pick up the coils in lowering (on a bell that is already down) when you have explained and demonstrated it. "Take in the rope about an inch at each stroke until you have about a foot of tail-end beneath your hands. Make your first coil by sliding your left hand down to its original position at the end, then catch the rope again just beneath your right hand, which has kept hold of the same place on the rope and has been guiding the length of it. Feed rope into the coil until it is bigger than you want it (never let it get so big that it could slip back over your elbow), slide the left hand back to half-way, and rejoin the right hand (below, not on top of or above it)—now you have two coils. Continue feeding into the latest coil, and make others as necessary, until you can stop the bell by holding on to the sally." When a learner does this on a bell that is up, the instructor should look after the sally as soon as the bell is away from the balance until coil-making is fairly competent.

Faults to watch for include: Moving the right hand up as the left hand moves down the rope; taking the right hand off the rope then grasping it palm outwards so that the coil is made by the right hand's circular movement at the risk of a wrenched wrist: a frantic flapping movement carried out by the left hand because it has not gone far enough down to make the new coil In the same way, when about to raise a bell, the coils held in the hand must never overlap, or be paid out all at once. An inch at a time, paid out only as the bell "asks for it." Of course, the instructor must emphasise again that the tension must be kept on the rope above the right hand all the time. Experience in raising and lowering a bell gives a pupil much more confidence in ringing, and no learner should be allowed to ring a bell more than a few paces from a reliable source of help until he can raise and lower by himself.

When learners can handle a bell fairly competently by themselves they should try to follow the instructor as in rounds, though still on tied bells. As they improve, he can vary his speed of ringing, and tell them if they are in the right place. One pupil may be under instruction and ringing steadily, and the more experienced learner may try to follow him. In suitable cases an element of competition can be introduced when practising standing the bell When the learners do come to ring on open bells they should not disgrace themselves or their instructor.

ODDS AND ENDS

The instructor must think for the learner a great deal and be ready to explain in different ways if the first one has not been understood. For example, it may not dawn on the hapless learner that some of his troubles are due to his hands having slipped two or three inches down his tail-end. All he knows is that he is losing control of the bell and cannot apply the good advice you gave him just before he pulled off. Tell your learners that ringing is like learning to drive a car really well, and encourage them with a kind word when they do correctly what you have just explained. Some learners are bumptious and think they know it all after two lessons; is it because they are ready to go on to the next stage, or is it showing off? Others are nervous, willing to do their best, but panic-stricken when expected to do it. Treat them gently and do all you can to give them confidence in their own ability to ring the bell. Warn the learners that you will nag them for their faults in handling, and that the nagging will seem everlasting, but that you really want them to be admired for their good ringing. (Note: Not just for their own good, but with a definite object.) Try to get each pupil to achieve something by the end of the lesson, particularly in the early stages. It may happen that you have an extra tall learner for whom you cannot shorten the rope enough at backstroke, for some reason. The surplus tail-end can be tucked up the pullover sleeve (not the shirt sleeve), or held against the arm by loose broad rubber bands. In an emergency the wool or rubber bands will let the rope go without any risk, but will keep a long tail-end from bothering him until he is able to ring with the spare rope, as coiled tail-ends are not satisfactory for the learner.

There are some advantages in two instructors combining their talents. Provided, of course, that they get on reasonably well and can co-ordinate their teaching techniques. There are several learners to learn from one another, and two ringers who can do demonstrations and share the responsibilities of learner-watching. If one instructor has to be absent the tuition can still continue. One pupil may be stuck in a particular fault; sometimes this is improved by a change of instructor, and each instructor's pet handling fault is less likely to be passed on to his learners. Two instructors combining their learners will also be encouraged to visit both towers, usually with considerable benefit to all. One final suggestion, which should perhaps have been given right at the beginning: get copies of the Beginners' Handbook. It is wonderful value and all good sense.

BELFRY GOSSIP

We are asked from Taunton School to state that Mr. Stephen Gullick is going to Birmingham University in October, and not Durham University, as stated.

To the list of unlucky 13 comes the experience of Mr. E. G. Slater. On March 4th he rang his 13th peal at Illston-on-the-Hill, Leics, despite his bell having no stay and a rope with a tendency to unravel at tail-end. But he got the peal.

The claim that the peal at Streatley, Berks (page 189), was the first of Surprise on the bells is not correct. Mr R. A. Partridge informs us that a peal of Cambridge Minor was rung there on April 2nd, 1964, conducted by P. G McIlhone.

The service of Family Communion at Yardley Parish Church, Birmingham, on Sunday, April 2nd, is to be televised by ABC television and transmitted in the Midlands and the North. It is hoped that the bells of this church will be heard at the beginning of the broadcast at 11 a.m

By ringing the second to a peal of Stedman Triples at Hook Norton, Oxfordshire, on February 18th, Mr. Ronald K. Russ scored his first peal in this principle. There had been previous attempts to enable Ron to ring a peal of Stedman but, as these had all come to grief, word was getting round that Stedman and Ron just did not get on together.

Miss Anne Horsford arranged a beginners only practice at Sunbury on April 1st, followed by tea at All Hallows', Twickenham.

Mr. T. G. Pett, Master of the University of London Society, informs us that the letter signed "Dudley Cook" on page 182 is a hoax.

The Davids have added another name peal—this time Cambridge Surprise Royal at St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, on March 18th. It was conducted by David P. Hilling.

St. Patrick's Day was observed in Western Australia by the Manns with Miss Eileen S. Palin ringing a 720 "in hand" of Double Bob Minor and St. Clement's.

Mr. Dennis Willcocks, of Southgate, who started ringing on May 7th, 1966, rang in his 100th tower on March 11th. Has any beginner rung in 100 towers in 10 months? he inquires.

A film is being made about the Post Office in which a girl counter clerk gives her hobby as bell ringing. The ringing part of the film was done at Chiswick on March 28th, the actors having had three lessons previously.

Another example of local progress is at Minster-in-Sheppey, where the quarter peal is the first by an all Minster band since December, 1948. Only one of the present band—Joan Exeter—rang on that occasion. From Sprotborough, Yorks, there is the first local quarter for 40 years.

BELFRY GOSSIP

TWO UNUSUAL FIRST PEALS

Rotherwick has for some time been known as one of the roughest sixes in North Hampshire, and it proved to be the third time lucky for the band that rang the first peal on these bells on March 11th. The first visit there, two years ago, resulted in a quarter peal being curtailed owing to illness.

On our October visit last year we met one short so had to be satisfied with one peal only at Dummer, another first on the bells This time, however, we made sure by ringing only Plain Bob, but the ringers of 2, 4 and 6 had had enough at the end and were glad to finish.

At Swallowfield, just over the border in Berkshire, there is an unusual ring of five with a very long draught, and 1, 2, 3, 4 in a dead straight line and 5 level with the treble. Here Peter Shipton, our man on the spot, joined us and, after oiling and tightening the tenor wheel, a start was made to ring five Doubles methods on this tricky five that tend to drop unexpectedly

The Vicar, walking about among the ropes in the fifth 720 of Grandsire, added interest to the peal, and all credit to the men in the straight line for keeping a good five-bell beat and ringing a good peal far better than we had expected.

Robert, our youngest member, still at school, handled the second well and made an able substitute for Reg, who preferred to stand out after his hard work on the tenor at Rotherwick. All agreed Roger rang well We very much doubt if either church will have another peal. G. K. D.

SURREY ASSOCIATION GOING TO GUILDFORD

Mr. C. W Munday, general secretary of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, was misreported at the annual meeting of the Guildford Guild. It was another speaker who said that the first he knew of the Surrey Association's intention to hold their A.G.M. in Guildford was when he read it in "The Ringing World." Mr. Munday adds that in fact Mr. Parrott, the Association's general secretary, sent him a letter telling him about the Surrey Association's decision to go to Guildford the day after the decision had been taken.

The quotation about penetrating every tower in the county was taken from the 1962 report.

FORDINGBRIDGE'S HAPPY EVENING

A vigorous young life prevails at St Mary's, Fordingbridge, Hants, and on February 6th they were able to revive their annual dinner. The New Inn Hotel provided a splendid meal for the 15 members Mr. Ron Marlow, the captain, who presided, gave a special welcome to friends from Ringwood and thanked them for their help during the past year. A pictorial record of the event was secured by Frank Marks, and after the meal the Rev. John Richards joined the company.

The evening concluded with darts, at which Dennis Melborne scored 107, and the domino man, Frank Marks, also had his usual game. After all the happiness, the company are determined that the event will be in the 1968 calendar.

MARRIAGE OF CUMBERLANDS' SENIOR STEWARD

Mr John S. Barnes, of Caston, Norfolk, was married to Miss Anne M. Parish, A.R.C.M., at St. Dunstan's Church, Cranbrook, Kent, on February 18th The service was conducted by Canon R. S. G Bradshaw, Vicar of Cranbrook, who also proposed the toast to the bride and bridegroom at a reception held afterwards at the Willesley Hotel, Cranbrook. Mr. Charles Rowe, of Chelsfield, Kent, was best man.

The bride, the only daughter of Mrs. M. L. Parish and the late Dr. T. N. Parish, is an organ student at the Royal College of Music, London, and was given away by her uncle, Mr. E. G. Parish. She wore a peacock green wild silk dress and coat.

The bridegroom, elder son of Mr. and Mrs H. J. Barnes, of Caston, Norfolk, is senior steward of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and is a schoolmaster at Tubbenden Junior School, Orpington, Kent.

The bride and bridegroom departed from tradition by travelling to church together half an hour before the service in order to hear Dr. Harold Darke, Anne's professor, play the organ she knows so well. Then, having made a secret exit, the bride entered the church to "Rhosymedre," by R. Vaughan Williams. For the service they had chosen a New Testament psalm from the New English Bible: "Let your bearing towards one another arise out of your life in Christ Jesus." The ceremony was followed by Holy Communion for the newly-married couple, during which "Nun Komm', der Heiden Heiland" by J. S. Bach was played. The service ended with that great hymn of dedication "Forth in Thy name, O Lord, I go.' While the register was being signed "An Wasserflüssen Babylon" by J. S. Bach was played, after which Harold Darke's own triumphal "Bridal Procession" accompanied the happy couple down the aisle.

Both bride and bridegroom are bellringers, and the occasion was marked with two peals in the morning, one of Pitman's four-Spliced Surprise Major at Brenchley by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and the other a peal of Zennor Surprise Major at Benenden by members of the Kent County Association. The Cranbrook ringers and ringing guests joined in ringing as the couple left the church

After the reception there was an informal party at the bride's home, Hazels, Cranbrook, by kind permission of Mrs. Parish. Then in the late evening the married couple left for their new home at 56, Leamington Avenue, Orpington. D. L. P.

THE TENOR

I call from tower high and strong
To those among the mighty throng,
Who to our Mother Church belong,
For Matins. Mass and Evensong.

My voice is heard both far and near
As through a dodging course I steer,
To dodge the treble was once no bother,
But nowadays I'd rather cover.

I'm getting old; my canon's cracked;
My headstock's held up by a strap.
One consolation yet there be,
Into the pot they'll ne'er put me!

READING UNIVERSITY'S DISAPPOINTING YEAR

Reviewing the past year, Mr. M. G. Ingram, secretary of Reading University Society, reports disappointments during the year, the main one being the cancellation of the Society's dinner. Two reasons are given for the poor response—the date was in the middle of six or seven other dinners in the South and the advertisement in "The Ringing World" was late. "We have learned that it is futile to try and arrange a dinner in the two months after Christmas."

Another disappointment was that St. Laurence's tower was being repaired throughout the autumn term "The Society considers itself very fortunate to have a 12-bell tower for practices and Sunday service ringing"

Despite these setbacks the Society is probably in a better state than for some years. It has about ten keen ringers and is in the process of teaching four or five others. Next term the Society will be able to ring the 12 regularly on Sunday mornings and evenings. The present repertoire is rather limited—Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Cambridge Minor. It is hoped next term to ring a peal or two and arrange two or three outings. The report concludes: "If our ringers spent as much time in the tower as they did in the pub then we should have the most advanced University Society in the country."

SCIENTIFIC TRIPLES

Calling attention to the fine achievements of Mr. Robin Leale's peals of Scientific Triples, Mr. Roy Collins writes: "I think Robin is the only person to have called this method, though after the first one he did issue a challenge to others to do so. Perhaps we could ask him to submit an article on the method, also the story of the peals." We fully endorse Mr. Collins' request.

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Mr. Paul L. Taylor was re-elected president of the Nottingham University Society at its annual general meeting on March 15th. The following were elected to serve on the committee: Master and chairman, D. R. McLean; secretary, Miss C. Stewart; treasurer, Miss M. Coombes; steeplekeeper, I. V. J. Smith; committee member, Miss A. Harris. Ringing arrangements for next term were deferred as there was an uncertainty as to when the bells would be removed to the foundry.

HIS AMBITION—PEAL IN EVERY TOWER IN HAMPSHIRE

Mr. G. K. Dodd joined the growing company of ringers who have rung 500 peals, on March 15th, with a peal of London Surprise Minor at Midgham, Berks. This total has been spread over 18 years of peal ringing and involved visiting 16 counties.

By far the greater number of his peals have been rung in the area of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. Of the 147 towers, he has rung peals in 62, but 11 of these are regarded as having unringable bells, the latest being Sydmonton. Spurred by the example of the late Ernest Morris in ringing a peal in every possible tower in Leicestershire, Geoffrey hopes by 1980 to have done the same in all ringable towers in Hampshire and the Isle of Wight.
