WILLIAM SHEPHERD

An Appreciation.

Another link with the generation of Another link with the generation of ringers who were prominent at the turn of this century was broken when, as briefly reported in The Ringing World, William Shepherd, of Addlestone, Surrey, died recently. A fine ringer of tremendous enthusiasm and physique in his "heyday," he made his mark in the ringing Exercise when many great men were seemingly overshadowed by such names as J. Washbrook, william Pye and his brothers, Bert Langdon, James Pettit, W. T. Cockerill, Bob Newton, Alf Pulling, Rev. F. E. Robinson, Canon Coleridge, Fred Holden, George N. Price and many others. He rang peals with them all, both on tower- and handbells.

To anyone with a knowledge of ringing history, Bill's progress when he arrived in the London area from his beloved home county of Devon could only be described as remarkable. No doubt, with a famous father already established in ringing circles (Ferris Shepherd) and two good ringers as brothers, he had a good introduction. He rang his first peal in August, 1900—Grandrang his first peal in August, 1900—Grand-sire Triples conducted by his father—at Withycombe Raleigh, Devon. January, 1901, saw him in London ringing two peals conducted by Thomas Langdon, for the Waterloo Society, the one on January 25 being half-muffled for the passing of Queen Victoria. On September 7 of that year he Victoria. On September 7 of that year he rang his first peal of Stedman, Caters at St. Margaret's, Westminster, for the College Youths. The ringers were: James Pettit 1, Ferris John Shepherd 2, William Shepherd 3, Herbert Harman 4, Herbert Langdon 5, Challis Winney 6, Thomas Langdon 7, Thomas Taffender 8, W. T. Cockerill 9, Walter Prime tenor. A footnote says it was an 18th hirthday compliment to William an 18th birthday compliment to William Shepherd. He must have acquitted himself well in this peal as he was invited to ring yet another peal of Stedman Caters at the same tower a fortnight later with many of those same famous ringers taking part, this time with two ringers called Thomas Langdon-one a member of the Cumberlands.

William went home to Exeter for his first peal as conductor-Grandsire Triples at Heavitree on September 10, 1902. This peal was a 19th birthday compliment to him. In the same year he rang the Heavitree tenor to Bob Major.

In 1904-5-6 he rang several peals with James Washbrook in Ireland. It was in 1906 that Alfred Pulling's name appears in his peal book and on February 2, 1907, Alfred conducted 7,392 Double Norwich Court Bob Major with William ringing the 7th and Rev. G. F. Coleridge the 2nd. In August of that year he rang the treble to Superlative, and included in the band were William Pye, Isaac Shade, James Hunt, Bertram Brewett, James George, Ernest Boneface and John Lamb.

It would appear that he conducted his first peal on handbells—Grandsire Triples from 3-4, his brother, Arthur Ferris Shepherd, not quite 17 years of age, ringing his 20th peal on 7-8. This was at Hersham, Surrey, a parish and church to which later he gave devoted service. By this time he had joined the Middlesex Association, ringing peals in which the names of William Pye, Bertram Prewett, C. T. Coles, James George and other worthies figured frequently.

Early in 1909 came the first peal on handbells by the Surrey Association, Stedman Triples, conducted by Clement Glenn, William Shepherd ringing 5-6. In September of that year peals for the All Saints', Fulham, Society, with James Driver, Cornelius Charge, Louis Attwater and others were rung and in October a peal of Stedman Caters in hand conducted by James Driver.

February, 1910, saw the Shepherd family peal on handbells, Father ringing his first peal on handbells on 1-2; William conducted from 5-6. This was Grandsire Triples. The footnote claims it as the first peal on handbells by the Devonshire Guild. The following month, on March 7, came a peal of Stedman Caters in hand by Bertram Prewett 1-2, William Pye (conductor) 3-4, William Shepherd 5-6, George E. Pye 7-8, W. J. Hudds 9-10.

On April 18 came a peal of Stedman Cinques in hand by the same band, the extra pair being rung by Ernest Pye. Arthur King, C. T. Coles, R. E. Stewart and William Lawrence were umpires here.

In May a "deeply-muffled" peal in the same method was rung at Cripplegate with the "Pye band" for the passing of King Edward VII. The band included John H. Cheesman, Reuben Sanders and Harry Flanders were on handbells.

In July, William and his brother, Arthur Ferris, rang Grandsire Triples in hand at Basingstoke, Hampshire, Henry White ringing 1-2, and his daughter, Miss R. Alice White, 7-8. This seemed to start a friendship which was to last for 60 years, because only in recent times letters were being exchanged between Alice, who was Canada, and William, the contents of these being mostly about ringers and ringing. In this year he rang 29 peals, of which 11

50 PEALS TOGETHER

In 1911, ringing 24 peals, he rang less on tower bells, but in hand 13 were scored. One which he conducted in August was with Miss Elsie Bennett, who rang 1-2 (her first peal)—Frank Hairs was umpire! In November Frank Bennett conducted Bob Major in hand on 5-6, his daughter ringing 1-2 and Frank Hairs 7-8, William being on 3-4. Later, in December, Arthur Ferris and William rang what was their 50th together.

The year 1912 saw William achieving what must have been a tremendous feat in those days of 54 peals in the year-44 being on handbells. It was about this time that the famous handbell peal under Alf Pulling was making history, and on June 1, 14,031 Stedman Caters was rung by: Arthur F. Shepherd 1-2, Alfred Pulling 3-4, William Shepherd 5-6, James Hunt 7-8, Frank Blondell 9-10. Seven hours three minutes was the time.

In July, 8099 Grandsire Caters was scored at New Cross and conducted by William from 3-4, and this was a record length which stood until 1953, when the Bournemouth folk rang 13,139.

On August 5 a peal, of which William often spoke, was rung—5040 Stedman Triples in hand in two hours! At that time the speed which the Guildford people were ringing peals was in question, and if the writer's memory is not at fault, the ringer of 7-8 was a culprit. I was invited to take part, and check that, in particular, open handstroke leads were being kept! A footnote states that six umpires verified the time. Willoughby E. Maulden was the name of the ringer of 7-8.

On the last day of August came a crowning achievement, when the longest peal on handbells, 19,738 Stedman Caters was rung in 9 hours and 32 minutes, and William rang 5-6. He would account on occasion the happenings on the day when this peal was rung. Apparently a late start for some reason really prevented them from ringing a peal of 22,220 which had been planned and it was quite amusing to hear how, during the progress of the peal, an argument developed between Alf Pulling, who was calling from 3-4, and Jim Hunt, ringing 7-8, as to when the bells should be called round and it was only when Jim Hunt threatened to put his bells on the floor that Alf agreed to call the shorter length. The bells on which this peal was rung are a beautiful set of 12 in B flat which then belonged to Jim and now hang in the belfry of St. James', Taunton, as a memorial to him.

Not content with his Saturday's effort. William called another peal of Grandsire Triples on handbells the Monday after.

In November, with his brother on 7-8 and George and Ernest Pye on 1-2 and 3-4 respectively, William rang 5-6 to Kent Royal—this was conducted by Alf Grimes on 9-10. On Monday, December 2, William conducted Stedman Cinques from 5-6 with the same band except (his brother being absent) Bertram Prewett rang 1-2 and Jim Hunt 9-10. A footnote to this peal recalls that William was summoned by telephone to take part in this an hour before the start!

In March, 1913, a long peal in this method (6063) was rung by almost the same band, this time Jim Hunt being absent; William Pye rang 9-10. A footnote claimed this as the longest peal in the method yet rung in hand.

A "William" peal of Stedman Triples came in August and was rung at Sunbury. William conducted this, and in December he and his brother rang Bob Major with John D. Matthews on 5-6 and Mrs. Elsie Matthews on 7-8.

It was natural that in 1914 only 17 peals were recorded by him, the First Great War intervening, and in the next four years only two tower bell peals were rung by him and a total of 28 in hand during this time. Sixteen peals on tower bells and two in hand were recorded in 1919. He continued with a few peals each year until 1947, when he rang his last peal at Hersham, noted as a birthday peal for Princests Elizabeth.

Altogether he rang 311 peals and conducted 120 of them; of these, 133 were in hand, of which he conducted 71. He kept wonderful records in detail. These show that he rang peals for 16 different associations and societies with almost every ringer of note in his day. One item among these records that he started ringing in 1893 at the age of 10 and had rung 200 peals by the time he was 28. At the end of his books are recorded several quarter peals rung in London by his old friends for his 82nd to 86th birthdays.

Jack Euston, who usually arranged these compliments was among the ringers who attended the funeral at Woking, where a large congregation heard the Rev. Ian Hanmel Cooke, vicar of Addlestone, refer to William as a well-known and loved Christian man. Mr. W. J. Tucker, a past-president of the local branch of the British Legion, read the lesson and gave his personal appreciation, mentioning William's loyal and devoted service to the church as chorister and ringer, to his country as a distinguished soldier, and to various voluntary organisations where, as he said, William Shepherd gave up his leisure time in service to those less fortunate than himself.

He voiced the sympathy of us all with Mrs. Shepherd, his loving and devoted partner, and concluded with words which will be echoed by all who knew William well:-"Let us go on to our tomorrows and remember with proud thanksgiving his Life and Work."

SERVICE RECOGNISED

The report of the presentation of a cheque, etc., to the retired Editor brought to mind many memories of the struggle for survival of The Ringing World in earlier days. Mr. White's account is fairly accurate, but it should be pointed out that the 1951 Committee did not cut his salary—which at that time was £5 per week. Mr. White voluntarily relinquished £1 per week on the understanding that the Committee would relieve him of the duty of providing the weekly leading article.

When the 1951 Committee was elected. there had been a loss on the previous year's working, and it was only by a lucky chance that a few copies of Trollope's History of the College Youths were discovered amongst the effects which had been taken over when the Council acquired ownership. The sale of these books just put the balance about level—but when the new Committee took over there was nothing in the kitty. It was plain that economies had to be effected. so the convener and Frank Hairs went to Guildford to interview Mr. White and the directors of the Woodbridge Press to discuss production economies. As both the convener and Frank had considerable practical experience in printing technique, they were able to suggest a few alterations in typesetting, etc., which would help to reduce costs. Every penny which could be saved was saved. Advertisement rates were revised and increased, but only a small number of illustrations could be provided in the paper. At the time it was realised that an increase in circulation was of vital importance, and everything possible expenses—travelling, postages, etc.

For several years the financial position was so uncertain that the members of the Committee had to defray all their personal expenses—travelling postages etc.

The matter of providing leading and other articles was a real problem, and from the start the Committee were greatly helped hy that wonderfully good exponent of Edgar Shepherd, who has carried out his promise to help right up to the present day. His writin been of the highest order. His writings have always phest order. Joe Dyke made useful contributions, and he was a very wise and co-operative committee Frank Hairs was also a valuable and loyal member, and his advice was always practical and helpful. Between us and with the help of many kind well-wishers, we weathered the storm, and with careful management The Ringing World should now go forward to fresh triumphs, and its future under the new committee and enterprising editor seems to be assured. We extend every good wish that their efforts will be successful. JAFUS.

Belfry Gossip

The sympathy of the whole Exercise will be extended to Derek and Jane Sibson in the loss they have sustained by the death from leukæmia of their younger son, Richard Kenneth.

We are informed by Mr. Marcus C. W. Sherwood that in Manchester University Guild's 100 peals (Ringing World, page 283) the record should have read: Maximus (1), Royal (5), Caters (3) and Major (53). Surprise has been rung "at all stages."

"That very enthusiastic ringer, conductor, organiser and live wire of the guild," writes a correspondent, "rang his 100th peal for the Suffolk Guild, in which he has only resided for a little over two years." The place, Wilby; the method, Cambridge Surprise Major; the ringer, J. Martin Thorley.

We should have known better. The peal on May I for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association was rung at Caerffili, and the method was also spelt the same way: Caerffili. (Our proof reader is not Welsh.)

Leslie Dobbie, of 30 New Bridge Avenue, Milton Regis, Kent, would appreciate a companion between 40 and 50 years of age to join him in his bellringing outings and other interests, as he is finding life lonely since becoming a widower.

Peals and quarter peals are now printed strictly in sequence of receiving them at our office (except when re-writing is necessary or insufficient information is supplied) and we advise any correspondents who find their contribution not appearing within 21 days of sending to send it again with a-covering letter stating it is a duplicate.

James Jones, of Alveley, died on Monday, June 8, aged 86. He had been a regular ringer in the Alveley tower for over 60 years. Call changes have been the tradition for many years at Alveley, and so half-muffled call changes were rung at his funeral.

The ringers concerned in the peal at Cranford rang it as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kasameyer, who were married at All Saints' Church. Peterborough, New Hampshire, U.S.A., the previous day. Mrs. Kasameyer (nee Janet Nichols) is a great-niece of W. H. Coles and cousin of F. C. Price.

The first Festival of Flowers to be held at St. Margaret's, Rainham, Kent, was held from June 12 to 15. The opening ceremony was performed by the Mayor of Gillingham, and the tower was open, some 500 people visiting the belfry. The sum of £47 was raised from these visits for church funds, so writes Mr. F. L. Cheal, who thanks all the ringers and others who helped to make it a successful festival.

The peal at King's Cliffe, Northants, is believed to be the first there for almost 40 years (the last was Grandsire Doubles on January 24, 1931), and was rung silent and non-conducted. Those who are familiar with the tower will understand why is was rung unconducted, for, with the bells immediately overhead, and only a thin floor between, the noise in the ringing chamber is almost overwhelming. The band therefore furnished themselves with quantities of cotton wool, firmly packed in the ears! The result was a very respectable peal.

First peal congratulations to Anne M. Robinson, C. Ann Steed, Alastair M. F. Stracey, Elizabeth Eady, Eileen Jayne, Cynthia F. M. Rolph, Neil R. Voller. Personal Record: David W. Parkin (100 peals). New conductor: Ronald Andrew.

Mr. Arthur Fidler has completed the rehanging of the six bells of Sampford Courtenay (tenor 13 cwt. 3 qr. 2 lb.) and has now taken down the six at Drewsteignton, which are to be tuned, turned and hung with new fittings in a new frame. He is also rehanging four bells at Clyst St. Mary.

We apologise to Mr. and Mrs. Brian Tomlinson for having printed their new home address in our advertisement columns before they were (in fact) married. Brian wrote pointing out the error of our ways and said: "We may live in a permissive society but Mary and I are not now living at 14 Blenheim Drive, etc.—not just yet." The advertisement was billed to appear on July 10 but, always trying to be ahead, it appeared on June 12. Our very best wishes to the (now) newlyweds.—Ed.)

At Earlsheaton, Yorks, on June 7, the band who rang a peal of Little Bob Major associate the name of Hemingway Dronsfield, a local ringer in his 90th year.

At Harthill, Yorks, on June 6, by special invitation, the Wentworth ringers (with one exception) rang a quarter prior to the annual summer meeting and service of the Sheffield Diocesan Lay Readers.

The Rev. A. J. Pearson, rector of New Alresford, Hants, who was always happy and willing to have his bells rung, died suddenly in his church on Sunday. May 31. A half-muffled quarter attempt later that evening was unfortunately lost five minutes from the end.

Eleven-years-old Jeremy Piron rang a quarter of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Bedford on June 7, his father. Robert L., ringing the 7th. The treble is a 6 cwt. bell, so Jeremy's effort is all the more praiseworthy. He hopes to ring a full peal of Cambridge Royal before long.

Fifty quarter peals together is the record of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Mavell and their daughter, Susan, of Portsmouth.

On May 22, students and staff at Lowestoft Grammar School joined to ring a quarter of Doubles, firstly to see if they could manage it, and secondly to wish good luck to various ringers who were taking G.C.E. "O" level exams. (We hope they all pass.—Fd)

A family non-conducted quarter of Stedman Doubles by the Taylors of Corse, Glos, would have also been a silent one except for one word hissed across the belfry— "Lead!" Better luck next time.

Colin and Daphne Verdon celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary, and Beshill ringers wish to associate them with a quarter recently accomplished. During the past year they have both worked very hard to raise the standard at Beshill with the result that the locals can now ring Grandsire the best results for over 15 years. (Why not make a peal attempt?—Ed.)

Albury (Herts) have had an unfortunate accident with their treble bell. The stay was broken and fell in the frame, and as the bell swung down it caught on it and cracked the cast iron headstock through the centre. A new headstock is being supplied by Messrs. Taylor and it is hoped it will not be long before the bell is refitted.

BELLS STOLEN—AND FOUND

As briefly reported last week, a most audacious bell theft occurred at St. Andrew's Church, Gargrave, near Skipton, Yorkshire, containing a ring of eight (tenor 16 cwt.).

The bells were sent to the foundry for retuning, the cost being the gift of a local lady. Five bells were returned on June 15 and unloaded in the churchyard. One of these, an original pre-Reformation bell (1521) was among those stolen.

Late in the night of June 16 the vicar (Rev. K. H. Cook) looked out of the Vicarage window and was surprised to see men stealing the bells from the churchyard.

"They were loading them on to a lorry," he said. "By the time I had called the police and pulled on some clothes the thieves had driven off." Three bells had been stolen and it is estimated that they will cost £2,000 to replace.

Gargrave Church has suffered previously from thieving and vandalism. Lead has been stripped from the church roof and bronze taken from a memorial in the churchyard.

MEN IN CUSTODY

We have since learned from Mr. A. Stott, of Holy Trinity, Skipton, that the smashed bells were found in a scrapyard in Huddersfield and that four men were accused of the theft at Court on Monday, 22nd. They were remanded in custody until July 1.

QUITE SOMETHING!

On May 9 on the coach going to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild A.G.M. at Bridport a quarter peal of 1344 Plain Bob Major was rung "lapped" by the following:

Stuart Hale 1-2 places (first on working pair, first on handbells); Timothy Jones 3-4 places (conductor, first on handbells as conductor); Margaret Bowman 5-6 places (first on handbells); Peta Lloyd 7-8 places (first on working pair, first on handbells).

(first on working pair, first on handbells). First of "lapping" and of Major by all the band. First on handbells and of Major by pupils of Marlborough Grammar School.

The band would be interested to know if this is the first recorded quarter peal rung by "lapping" on a coach!

A GREAT YARMOUTH J.P.

Mr. Peter G. W. Newstead, of Barnard Avenue, Great Yarmouth, who is employed by British Rail, has been made a Justice of the Peace. He is secretary of St. Nicholas ringers, having been for ten years (from 1953) a branch secretary of Norwich Diocesan Association, and is now a vice-president.

In his other church activities Peter has served as a sidesman, deputy people's warden, secretary of the P.C.C. and is at present secretary of St. Nicholas Church Committee. He is a busy man!

NEW VICE-CAPTAIN

The secretary of St. Mary-at-Finchley ringers tells us that the photograph of the ringers at St. Mary-at-Finchley recently published is already out of date and they have said goodbye to the vice-captain. Richard Bateman, as he and his wife have moved out of the area to live. At a special meeting and by a unanimous vote, the new vice-captain is now 17-years-old Christopher Fuller.

If Moses had been a committee the Israelites would still be in Egypt.

MEADOWS' MARVELS IN DORSET

On Monday, May 18, a very fine day, the following left Corse at 7 a.m. for this year's tour: Wendy and Les Meadows (the organisers, from Churcham), Jack Long and Lena (Lydney), Jack Webb and Anne Butcher (Ross-on-Wye), Ray Brewer and Beryl (Llangarron), Charles Biggs (Stoke Lacey), Cecil Cox (Much Marcle), Derek Price (Welland), David Huddleston (Henbury), Brian Danby (Nether Heyford) and Geraldine Mitchell (Corse).

We arrived at Frome at 9.30 and the local bell and clock restoration fund received our support. At Sutton Veney the children were enjoying a morning break next to the church. Faulty map-reading made arrival at Tisbury 30 minutes late and the rhododendrons in the churchyard at Semley (like the bells) were much appreciated. Following our first picnic lunch came Gillingham, but, because of a funeral, ringing began later than planned. The ground-floor ring at Sturminster Newton had a broken stay but did not prevent a good ring or admiration of the splendid east window. We were now near our base, with only Piddletrenthide and the eight of Dorchester to visit.

The first tower visited on Tuesday was at Litton Cheney, where, after climbing numerous steps, we had a drop of about six feet into the ringing room. On through the hills to Loders, where the flowers and handmade kneelers were greatly admired. The tenor clapper was broken but we rang the front five. Yet again more lovely flowers decorated the church at Bradpole. After lunch, travelling to the swaying tower of Whitchurch Canonicorum, we encountered goats on the roadside. A Mothers' Union service at Thorncombe meant a late start to ringing, and then on to the six at Netherbury. Trouble with the bus delayed us but we were told we could still visit Maiden Newton, even though later than schedule.

At Puddletown on Wednesday we found a most interesting church with a fine Norman font. This was followed by Bere Regis, where the church (which figures in Thomas Hardy's Tess of the D'Urbervilles) has an extremely fine roof given by Cardinal Morton in 1475. Here also is a set of iron hooks dating back to about 1600. that were used for pulling down thatch in the event of fire. From here we travelled to Lytchett Matravers and to Lytchett Minster, where Egyptian silver on the main doors make them rather unusual. One bell is rung part way up the stairs and "striking" is somewhat different!

Following lunch. Wareham was visited and the six-sided lead font admired, and next came the eight at Swanage. The massive church at Kingston gives a feeling of security and the impression that it will last for ever. Leaving Kingston and the fine view of Corfe Castle, our last tower was at Wool, where we were met by the vicar (one-time curate at St. Barnabas', Tuffley, Gloucester).

Frampton, with its long draught, was the first tower on Thursday. From here we travelled to Leigh and Yetminster, and at Thornford it was lunch-time. The first tower of the afternoon. Milborne Port, was likened to a little cathedral. At Bishop's Caundle the vicar met us and the day's ringing finished at Haselbury Bryan and Buckland Newton.

Milborne, with a tree growing from the tower, began Friday's visit. At Blandford we were informed that the second and tenor were without stays, but, with

The Ladies' Guild.
PLEASANT ATMOSPHERE

The last time the Central District of the Ladies' Guild attempted to hold a meeting at Penn and Beaconsfield the snow put a stop to it, but, nothing daunted, the members tried again on May 30. This time the sun shone, and those who were waiting a turn to ring were able to admire the lovely blossom in the churchyard at Penn. A variety of methods was rung on the six, and on the eight at Beaconsfield. Plans were discussed for another ringing week-end next spring on the lines of the past two very successful ones. The company was refreshed with cups of tea before the evening ringing. The help of a number of gentlemen was much appreciated, both in the towers and in the kitchen. A very pleasant atmosphere prevailed throughout. G. C. R.

A YOUNG IDEA

Several pupils from a nearby junior school recently paid a visit to the tower of St. Mary's, Eastbourne. They were accompanied by a teacher, who recorded on tape the sound of the bells being raised, and the ringers going through their normal practice night routine.

Questions and answers, and preliminary instruction in handling were also taped. Less gentle instruction concerning a touch of Little Bob Major which threatened to go wrong came over loud and clear! The schoolchildren will use the tape as a basis on which to lecture the remainder of the class.

Southwell Guild.

CRAWFORD CUP

The Crawford Cup round of the Newark District was held on May 16 at Barnby-in-the-Willows. Three teams entered and the ringing was of a good standard. Tea was served by the local ladies in the school hall.

At the business meeting which followed, the chairman (Mr. F. W. Midwinter) welcomed the judges—Ruth Blackshaw and Maurice W. Harrison. The results were: 1 Balderton (23 faults), 2 Newark (40½), 3 Coddington (56½).

Two new members from Balderton were elected. Ringing continued during the evening, and members from the Bingham District joined in.

Next meeting: Sutton-on-Trent in July. M. E. S.

help, one stay was replaced and ringing commenced on the front six. At Wimborne St. Giles we were met by Fred Price (Southbourne) who came with us to Cranborne. After Wimborne Minster Mr. Price led the way to his tower at Poole, set in dismal surroundings but the church is light and beautiful. We then travelled on to Corfe Mullen and to Sturminster Marshall the last tower of the dev shall, the last tower of the day.

Saturday, the last day of the tour, arrived, and Richard Danby and Malcolm Chown (Nether Heyford) joined us at Melbury Osmond. This was followed by Bradford Abbas, but at Trent we were not able to ring because of local affairs. At Queen Camel the mellow bells were very much enjoyed, and then Castle Cary, followed by Bruton, where the ringing room was one of the cleanest we have visited. The bells at Evercreech were most enjoyable, for they sound like the gentle plucking of a harp, and the day closed at Midsomer Norton.

Sincere thanks go to the organisers and also to the incumbents and local ringers (especially those who met us). It was a most pleasant week.

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Ringing World for June 29, 1945

Mr. J. E. Bailey, of Dartford, replying to a suggestion that the Central Council draw up a list of ideal speeds according to the weight of the tenor, said "No!".

proposed ringing competition Blandford, Dorset, was not favoured by members of the Salisbury Guild, who decided to arrange a ringers' festival in its First peals were recorded for Harry Pearson (at Church, Lancs), Patricia Smee (Epsom), Stanley Darmon and Sidney Matthews (Sawston), Roland Smith and Alan Behagg (Kibworth), Harold Punt (Pinner), Miss E. Crawley-Bolney (Bradford-on-Ayon) and Albert E. Davies (Kingsland).

The leader discounted call-changes (stoney ringing) as vastly inferior to change-

Writing from S.E.A. Command, N. Chaddock gave a full description of the bells of St. Patrick's, Bangalore.

A meeting of the College Youths at Southgate was at the express invitation of the Middlesex County Association.

50 YEARS AGO July 2, 1920

The leader spoke of the investigation of 6-bell methods being completed, and that the exploration of 8-bell methods was being started, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob being combined under the name of Worcester.

At All Saints', Loughborough, a peal of Stedman Caters was rung and included four ringers from Leicester, no opportunity being available for 10-bell ringing for them in their own town.

At Minehead, Henry Louis Arscott and Francis George Arscott rang their first peal

— Grandsire Triples—and were elected members of the Bath and Wells Association

At Tyldesley, Lancs, five members of the Allred family took part in a peal of Grandsire Triples.

Miss Dorothy Willett (aged 13) and Miss Alice Stokes (aged 14) rang their first quarter at Portishead, Somerset.

A letter from Wm. Aggett and Sons, of Chagford, Devon, explained the patent adjustable bearings which they were fitting and how they were superior to ball and roller bearings.

A brief statement was made about the possibility of a strike in the printing trade because the Union had demanded a 20s. a week rise and had only been offered 10s.

A peal board was unveiled at Corston. Bath, in which a father, mother and son had taken part, viz.: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilkins and Arthur E. Wilkins.

St. Wulfram, Grantham, Lines

Cover Picture

St. Wulfram, Grantham, Lincs

There is an old jingle that goes thus:-"Stop Traveller, this wondrous sign explore, And say when thou hast viewed it o'er and o'er.

Grantham now two rarities are thine, A lofty steeple and a living sign.'

The "living sign" is the Beehive Inn in Castlegate and the lofty steeple, that of St. Wulfram's, a landmark for all who travel on the Great North Road and railway. spire when completed in the early 14th century was, with the exception of St. Paul's the tallest in the land. Now standing 281 feet high the tower has indeed a rarity unto itself. The finest ring of ten bells for their weight in the world.

According to Street's "Notes on Granit appears that in 1640 the bells, then five in number, were rehung and the chimes were repaired. In the records of Rosse gives a bell at Belvoir towards a sixth bell . . . (1652)." In 1752 the front four bells of the six were recast and two trebles added to make eight, by Thomas Eayre, of Kettering.

THREE MEN ON TENOR

The first peal, of Grandsire Triples, was rung on the bells on Easter Sunday, April 22, 1764.

In 1775 the then treble, seventh and tenor were recast and two trebles added to make ring of ten by Pack and Chapman, of Whitechapel.

The first peal on the ten, Grandsire Caters, was rung by the Sherwood Youths on September 19, 1775, conducted by W. D. Crofts, who had W. Bradley on the ninth with him. There were three men on the tenor! St. Wulfram's possessed a change-ringing band until 1881, as can be seen on one of the peal boards:-

"Grantham Society of Change Ringers. On March 28th, 1881, this society, having been established 100 years, a centenary festival was resolved upon by the members and in celebration of the event a full and complete peal of Grandsire Triples consisting of 5040 changes, was most excellently rung on these bells which occupied 3 hours and 5 minutes by the following band.

In 1888, when the bells were rehung in an iron A-frame mounted on Danzig oak beams, change-ringing gradually died out and nothing else but "stoney" was rung until 1910, when a new band was formed under the auspices of the Guild master, Rev. H. Law James.

Change-ringing continued until forbidden by the outbreak of war in 1939. After a silence of seven years the tower and top of the steeple were repaired and a completely recast ring by Taylor's was dedicated in 1947. The bells have never stopped ringing since. The present society of change-ringers, some 24 strong, with several learners following on, ensures that all ten are rung for morning and evening services on Sundays. It is a mainly young and lively band, which should ensure that changeringing in Grantham will continue for many years to come.

Our past members are too numerous to mention but they cover many parts of the United Kingdom and other parts of the world, and to them we send our best wishes.

Practice night is Tuesday at 7.30 and visitors are very welcome.

PEALS ON THE BELLS

There have been 83 peals on the bells, 58 of which have been rung since they were last rehung in 1947. The most popular methods are Grandsire Caters (17) and Cambridge Royal (10).

Leading pealers include our present steeplekeeper, Denis A. Frith, who has circled the tower three times, and the president of the Central Council, Mr. John Freeman, who rang in the first peal on the recast bells and has rung in some seven

We have for many years been limited to four peal attempts per year, and it is our custom to allow visiting bands the pleasure of three of them while the local band attempts at Christmastide. We are booked for a few years to come and we are sure to welcome the Sherwood Youths again in 1975

Sanctus bell.—It The gift of Mis Ann Hurst of Barraby Dockter Hurst Widow to the Church of Grantham 1674.

A four-line stanza with which to end is to be found on a peal board of 1775 and with it a prayer for the future that these glorious bells will continue to ring for many years to the glory of God:

"These Sabbath bells shall still arise And sound their notes to yonder skies, The living to worship God they'll call; And to the grave they'll summon all."

ABBEY RINGING DAY

Saturday, June 13, was a lucky day for Wymondham Abbey Ringing Day and was enjoyed by all. The combined efforts of Messrs. H. Tooke, T. E. Spight and local ringers helped in the success of the venture.

The party from St. Albans was welcomed and ringing was up to a good standard.

The secretary (Mr. C. Bird), in the temporary absence of the chairman (Mr. G. Sayer), thanked the vicar (Rev. J. G. Tanstey, Thomas), for inviting the ringer for ley Thomas) for inviting the ringers, for conducting the service and his interesting address, the organist, the verger and local ringers. and also the ladies for preparing and serving the free tea.

Ringing continued after tea. and the ringers adjourned to the Green Dragon and rang methods on the landlord's recently-acquired set of handbells. C. B.

THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The annual general meeting was held at St. David's Cathedral on June 13, when ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m. Tea, provided by the ladies (who were thanked by Mr. D. P. Griffiths), was served in the Cathedral Hall, and Cathedral Evensong followed, conducted by the Dean (Rev. T. E. Jenkins) with Mr. P. Boorman at the

The retiring master (Rev. R. W. Thomas) was unable to be present, he having moved out of the diocese, and his report for the past year was read by the Dean, who presided over the business meeting. In the report the need was stressed to keep a balanced outlook in the belfry. Over-emphasis, it said, on method ringing led to lack of interest by beginners, and, similarly, over-emphasis on beginners led to lack of interest by method ringers. He wished the guild and the new master every success in the future.

The ringing master reported a decline in the number of peals and quarters rung during the year, but was pleased to note that a peal and quarter peal were successfully rung to mark the investiture of the Prince of Wales.

The officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Master, P. C. Rogers; ringing master, A. F. Walters; secretary, Prytherch; treasurer, D. P. Griffit auditor, M. E. Lewis. Griffiths;

It was decided to hold a dinner at the Ivy Bush Hotel, Carmarthen, in October, to mark the 25th anniversary of the guild, and to hold a raffle to help guild funds and to be drawn at the dinner.

The meeting stood in silent tribute to the memory of Mr. Taylor (Llanstephan), who had died a fortnight previously.

An appeal for anecdotes and other items of interest for the booklet to be published in September was made by the editor, Mr. P. Griffiths.

THE MIXTURE AS BEFORE

LADIES' GUILD DECIDES TO "CARRY ON"

During the last two years no special efforts have been made to recruit new members to the Ladies' Guild because of the uncertainty of its continuance, but at the annual general meeting at Leicester on June 27 it was unanimously decided that there is a place in the Exercise for such a body and that efforts be made to interest lady ringers, to encourage them to join and to take part in the functions arranged by the various districts of the Ladies' Guild.

During the meeting members from districts represented gave brief reports of the state of affairs in their particular areas, and from these it appeared that in certain rural parts, particularly in S. Wales, the Guild is well supported at its meetings, but in the cities and larger towns the reverse is the case. Some places did well with weekday evening practices, whilst others preferred Saturday afternoon meetings. It was pointed out that this was not a new situation and, in fact, it had always been obvious that the pattern of things varied according to the different areas, but it was not detrimental to the life of the Guild. Rather, the reverse was the case, for such variations made it more interesting for those attending.

The Central District (led by Mrs. Sandra Poyner), which organised this year's A.G.M., was somewhat disappointed that only 70 ringers (about 55 of whom were Guild members) supported the function, but those who did attend were well rewarded for the arrangements for the committee meeting on the Friday evening and the full day's ringing and social evening on the Saturday were most enjoyable. Although some of this was in the nature of an experiment the members agreed that similar arrangements be made next year, when it is hoped to visit the South Wales District in the Chepstow area.

Mrs. E. Palfrey (president) presided at the business meeting (which opened with prayer), supported by Miss D. E. Colgate (retiring hon. secretary) and Miss J. Beresford (retiring hon. treasurer). The meeting remembered in silence four members who had died since the last meeting, viz.: Mrs. Heath (Chippenham), Mrs. Frances Carter (Frome), Mrs. Diana Frost (Leighton Buzzard) and Mrs. Olive Vann (Rugby).

Following the reading of the various apologies received the item "Future of the Guild" was discussed, and a considerable debate followed. At no time, however, was it suggested that the Ladies' Guild, as such should cease to function. Indeed the enthusiasm from one or two area organisers was so infectious that there was little doubt that when the proposal made by Mrs. Richardson (Surfleet) was put that "the Ladies' Guild continues on similar lines as in the past" there were no hands raised against it.

This point having been agreed, various suggestions were made for recruitment, for meetings and practices, and for encouraging the ladies to take a greater interest in the affairs of their own Guild.

NEW SECRETARY AND TREASURER

Mrs. Palfrey was unanimously re-elected president for a third year, and this was greeted with applause. Miss Colgate, who has carried out the arduous duties of hon. secretary for 19 years, retired from that office in spite of much pleading from members for her to continue, and after it had been stated that Mrs. Jacqueline King had been proposed "in writing," this energetic and enthusiastic lady was elected as the new hon. secretary, although not promising to do more than one year's service in that capacity. There seemed no doubt in the minds of those present that in spite of denials about her ability to carry out the duties, Mrs. King will prove very efficient at it.

Miss Joan Beresford, who has served the Ladies' Guild for 12 years as its treasurer, also retired, and some difficulty was experienced in finding a successor but eventually Mrs. Chapman agreed to take over this part of the organisation.

After Mrs. Shirley Slade had been reelected hon, auditor a vote of thanks to the retiring officers was extended and was received with acclamation.

INCREASE IN SUBSCRIPTIONS

Miss Beresford, presenting the accounts for the past year, gave a very comprehensive statement on the Guild affairs. She said that there had been a loss of £13 14s. Id. on the year's working, mainly accounted for by a fall in subscriptions which, it was interesting to note, were in total about half of what they were in 1959. Miss Beresford gave details of the badges sold and in stock, of the cost of advertising and of increased postage. Finally she said that the paid-up membership was 178 adult, 52 junior and 15 life—a total of 245, and that she felt the subscriptions should be increased: adults from 3s. to 5s., junior 1s. to 2s. and life £2 2s. to £5 5s.

The accounts were adopted and a discussion followed on the suggestion of increasing the subscriptions. It was decided unanimously that the adult and junior amounts be increased as proposed, but for the life subscription Mrs. J. King voted against it, stating that she felt it was too large an increase.

Thanks were extended to all who had helped organise the meeting, and the editor preceded the business meeting), to which full justice was done, and before the social evening started the ladies rejoined the men who had been doing their best in the nearby tower to drown the voices of the ladies' deliberations in the St. Margaret's vestry. Evensong was sung at 4.30, the vicar (Rev. D. J. Nudds) conducting; Mr. R. Hughes, general secretary of the Leicester Guild, was at the organ and Mrs. Palfrey read the lesson.

The towers at which ringing took place were Aylestone, South Wigston, Wigston Magna, Birstall, Anstey, Leicester Cathedral and St. Margaret's.

SOCIAL EVENING

A capacity for enjoying themselves was evinced by the Leicester ringers on June 27 when, in conjunction with the Ladies' Guild A.G.M., a social evening was spent at The Blackbirds Hotel. The several visitors who attended (some by special invitation) found themselves joining in wholeheartedly with the games, competitions and dancing (very old and very new), and the high spirits and energy of the young people present were transmitted to those who sometimes feel they are "past it," with the result that the whole evening was one long round of enjoyment—if at times somewhat noisy!

The M.C. was Mr. John Bramley, who was ably assisted by Jim Poyner and a team of willing helpers, and at the end of the evening the president of the Ladies' Guild (Mrs. Palfrey) and Mrs. Jill Staniforth both expressed appreciation to all who had helped in the arrangements.

During an interval a buffet was disposed of and the president drew numbers from a hat for prizes in a lottery, which had been given by several well-wishers. Altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent. Ilkley, May 26, 1970.

CENTRAL COUNCIL DELIBERATIONS

SECTION V

There appeared to be a feeling of relaxation among those present when Item 10 on the agenda was announced. This involved the acceptance of the various reports of committees which had already been printed and circulated and little discussion on each was apparently anticipated.

The first report, that of the Literature and Press Committee, was accepted after Mr. Edgar Shepherd had asked if "Overtones" was still appearing and Mr. Sharpe had confirmed that it was.

Item 10 (b), the report of the Biographies Committee, was approved without comment and was followed by that of The Ringing World Committee.

Mr. Wilfrid Wilson expressed sincere thanks to the members and past members of The Ringing World Committee and apologised to Mr. W. B. Cartwright for having omitted his name in the report, as he had helped considerably in the legal side of the affairs of the committee. Mr. Wilson also stated he had not yet found the time to answer certain letters addressed to him as convener, but hoped to do so very soon.

The Ringing World was this year publishing an illustrated calendar, a "Year to View" on each monthly page and also View" on each monthly page, and also space for weddings, meetings and other relevant data. Sample sheets were cir-culated to those present and it was stated that the calendar would retail at 6s. including postage. Orders were being taken during the meeting.

The cost of producing The Ringing World had been kept to a minimum, but it was feared that there would of necessity be a rise in the price next year due to increased wages and higher paper costs.

Following a question by Mr. Hartless as to whether there ought not to be a charge of 1s. per name in the peal reports, Mr. Wilson said it would cost more to collect the shillings than was worth while, and the committee were very reluctant to introduce such charges. He expressed thanks to Messrs. D. Beresford and G. Pipe for help given in the past to The Ringing World.

Mr. Dodds said if charges for peals were introduced there would be no guarantee that all peals would be sent to The Ringing World for publication. It was essential that all peals were printed, or records would not be complete.

Mr. Reynolds stated that the Lancashire Association made a charge of 1s. per rope, 6d. going to the association and 6d. to The Ringing World, the full amount being sent once a year.

That the peal layout was all right for recording, was Mr. Roper's comment, but the quarter peal format was awkward. Mr. Mason suggested that uniformity was essential.

Mr. Wilson said that the technical questions asked could be answered by the Editor, and asked the permission of the chairman for Mr. Denyer to speak, which was granted.

Thanking the Council for accepting him as an honorary member, Mr. Denyer en-deavoured to explain the technical details of production, and appealed to those pre-sent to make every effort to increase the circulation of the paper, to help the printers by sending in good copy, written on one side of the paper only, and not to delay in sending in reports and advertisements. Many correspondents did not supply full details, which caused considerable holdup and unnecessary expense. The editorial department was often blamed for late publication of items of news, peals and quarter peals, when in point of fact many reports were late—some very late—in being sub-mitted. He thanked the many ringers who had advised, helped and encouraged him in his task, and asked for patience and cooperation in the future.

Mr. Ayre asked that proper alphabetical order be adhered to in the peal reports. Considerable merriment was caused by a quick retort by Canon Felstead that such an arrangement would ruin his records and asked that they remain as now printed.

PEALS COLLECTION REPORT

Mr. W. E. Critchley proposed and Mr. R. F. B. Speed seconded that the Peals Collection Report be approved, and this was carried without comment.

The Overseas Report, when proposed and seconded, brought a query from Mr. G. W. Pipe about the condition of ropes in Rhodesia, where there was considerable ringing activity. He asked if there was any way of getting round" rules and cutting red tape to supply ropes to Rhodesia. Mr. Frank Blagrove offered to advise on the matter.

The report was then adopted.

ST. JOHN-THE-DIVINE, LEICESTER

A native of Leicester, where he learned to ring, Mr. Norman S. Bagworth, of Wimbledon, has written to the vicar of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, stating that the ring of ten bells there has a nationwide reputation as one of the finest rings in the country, and all ringers would be much concerned if St. John's Church was declared redundant and demolished. The back eight bells were cast in 1902 at a time when the Loughborough Foundry was producing bells as fine as at any time in its history.

"If the whole ring of ten bells at St. John's is to be moved, may I make the suggestion that it be installed in the tower of St. Peter's, which, to the best of my knowledge, is not intended for demolition. and which is quite suitable for a ring of bells. Perhaps even St. John's frame could be used. The transfer of the bells would be a comparatively inexpensive item compared with the cost of an equally good ring of bells, and it would be an everlasting preservation of these fine bells, their original donation (by Mr. Bunning, and the two trebles by Mr. William Willson) and the wholehearted appreciation of ringers everywhere."

Copies of this letter have been sent to the Diocesan Chancellor and the ringing master of St. John's (Mr. Sydney Harrison).

Letters

WHAT IS CHANGE RINGING?

Dear Sir,—At the 1969 Central Council meeting in St. Albans new decisions were made on definitions and requirements for methods and calls. During the discussion of the sub-committee's proposal prior to the vote I demonstrated to members of that committee that the wording of (E) A. 1 & 2 did not exclude jumping changes. No alteration was made at St. Albans, but I had the impression that the sub-committee would consider and advance a more rigorous definition in its further deliberations.

At this year's meeting in Ilkley, Messrs. Camp, Barnett and Roaf took up the point again since no proposal for a revision of this section had been put forward by the sub-committee. However, although it is clear that the wording does now permit jumps as well as exchanges of pairs of adjacent bells in moving from one row to the next (and this could apply to calls as well as methods), the Council did not seem to consider it necessary to modify its decision since no new proposal or amendment was put forward.

The Exercise should realise that the laissez faire with which the Central Council now brims over has reached the fundamental rules by which rows are generated. Some of the basic constraints on bell movements in change ringing which we were taught early in our ringing careers are no longer deemed inviolable.

The chances of jumping-type methods finding favour do not seem high at present, but we should all be aware that the door is open if we wish to use jumping calls to achieve certain results.

E.g., a special bob (firsts and thirds) at end of first lead of Bob Major.

First lead end 13254768.

Plain coursing order 5324687. Second lead head 15237486. New coursing order 2534687.

Yours faithfully, JAMES R. TAYLOR. Backwell, Bristol.

NOT IN SURREY (?)

Dear Sir,-I have just read your Belfry Gossip in last week's R.W. (I do the quarter peal analysis before I read my copy) and notice your correspondent's remarks about quarter peals of Cinques rung at St. John's, Croydon. These have indeed been credited to this tower but not to Surrey, as no doubt your correspondent will now realise from recent articles in The Ringing World that Croydon is one of these unfortunate towers that according to "Dove" are in Greater London (sorry—Surrey!).—Yours faithfully, ALAN A. J. BUSWELL.

Denmead, Hants.

EAST PENNARD BELLS

Dear Sir,-I see from the report of the Bath and Wells A.G.M. that "occasional ringing" is to take place on the bells of East Pennard Church. It will be safe to assume, no doubt, that all those members of the Bath and Wells who have been so eager to criticise the band which rang these bells on January 24 for the first time since 1912 will have the courage of their conviction that it is not wise to do so and will therefore not be taking part in any of the ringing that takes place.—Yours faithfully, MICHAEL J. UPHILL.

London, S.W.

GOSPEL OAK

Dear Sir,—I read with interest in the R.W. (June 26) the letter from R. Newman regarding St. Martin's, Gospel Oak, N.W., commending the efforts of Mr. Walter Knight to raise a band for resuming ringing at this tower (R.W., June 5).

My father, Arthur Harwin, and myself were also regular members of the band (along with Dick Newman) over 40 years ago, with well-known ringers of that day whose names will refresh the memory of Dick Newman-Frank Smith, his daughter, Kitty, R. Bevan, T. Bevan, E. Bonfield, F. Bonfield, A. Bonfield, W. J. Norton, Ernie Young, Ernie Chapman, Tom Bannister and other frequent visitors to the tower.

Best wishes to Walter Knight: may he succeed in his efforts and to see his reward in the R.W. quarter peals.—Yours faith-

W. J. HARWIN.

THE NORTH AMERICAN GUILD

Dear Sir,-We were disappointed to read in the final paragraph of the report of the Overseas Committee (Ringing World 3086, 1970, page 472), that the North American Guild is regarded by the committee merely as a "title of convenience." We have every reason to believe that, on the contrary, the N.A.G. is an integral part of the North American ringing scene. One has to live in America, and participate in the ringing, in order to appreciate this point.-Yours faithfully, > GEOFFREY DAVIES ELIZABETH F. DAVIES.

YOUNG ENTHUSIASTS

Comments from Mr. Howard Egglestone. ringing master of the Suffolk Guild, are of more than passing interest. Sending us some "copy," he writes:-

"The quarters have all got a story of some effort behind them! The Glasgow was rung by a South East District band at the third attempt. The first time we met it took all evening to ring a course, the second we struggled to within two leads of the quarter before breaking down, but the third time a good quarter was rung at the first attempt.

"I am particularly proud of the three quarters rung on the same evening. Having several learners coming to the quarter peal stage all together and several youngsters waiting to try to call a quarter, I decided to kill several birds with one stone by attempting three quarters all at once at three different towers. The five inside ringers were the same for all three quarters. and three of them took turns in calling one each (all their first as conductor). The three different treble ringers were all attempting their first quarter.

"Of course, we decided to meet on one of the hottest evenings in June! Burgh, where one rings in the porch, wasn't too bad with the outside door open. Otley, however, with a large west window and the sun pouring in, was a different story. Considering that blisters were beginning to be felt and the temperature was very high the youngsters showed great deter-mination to ring the quarter. With a stop for coca colas (and plasters) between towers a good quarter was rung at Ashbocking in the cool of the evening.

"All the band except Stephen Pettman are Henley ringers. The average age of the band (excepting one—I spoilt it!) was around 16."

THE ILKLEY MEETING

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Pipe's letter (R.W., page 494), the Central Council should alter its rules before complaining about the "infantile" naming of newly-rung methods.

As I understand it, the band who first ring a new method have the right to name it. Cannot Mr. Pipe trust eight good ringers (for they must be of a good standard to ring these methods) to name a method as they think reasonable?

Council members appear to watch the "Magic Roundabout" or they wouldn't know anything about "Mr. Rusty." Must every method named after something on television be condemned as "infantile"?
Would they prefer "24 Hours Delight Major" in the R.W., just to look grown-up?

The Council make the rules and the Surprise ringers have so far kept to them. If some members do not like the names given they should press for the Council to name 'sensibly" methods not yet rung. - Yours faithfully,

PETER L. R. HAYWARD.

Woodborough, Notts.

KINGSTEIGNTON AGAIN

Only seven 8-bell bands came to Revelstoke (the church is in the village of Noss Mayo on the Yealm estuary but retains the parish's ancient name) for the Devon 8-bell competition in April, and the weight was strongly on the South Devon side, with only Appledore and North Tawton (which isn't all that far north) to keep the North Devon flag flying. Appledore has a young band, comparatively new to competition ringing, so it was very heartening to see them, and maybe we shall be hearing of Pilton again now that their bells are rehung.

Once again it was Kingsteignton who won, with 42 faults, and once again it was North Tawton who pushed them with 48½. Buckland-in-the-Moor followed with 59½ and Plympton St. Mary with 72½. Tavistock, Appledore and the normally methodringing band from Withycombe Raleigh brought up the rear.

THE SIX-BELL

No fewer than 17 bands converged on lde, near Exeter, for the South Devon half of the 6-bell competition and kept the bells going until well into the evening. Ide is one of those fortunate villages which, having access only by lanes, remain real villages even within a mile of a city boundary: thatched houses, a brook running through the village and an exceptionally attractive feature of a row of cottages fronting on to a little causeway beside the stream. church was rebuilt in the early 19th century, wide and open with its single-span roof, but the tower remains from the former church. The bells are a six by Warner, a little hard in tone but well enough going for a band which can make allowance for small vagaries, as Plymstock undoubtedly could, for they came home with a first-class peal of 14½. Stoke Gabriel, West Alvington "A" and Dunsford came next, with Kenn and West Alvington "B" to make up the six for St. Petrox, Dartmouth, in the final.

Widecombe for much of their peal sounded like getting into the top six, but—maybe they were missing Bill Miners—they spoilt it with a miscall and lost a good many marks before they could get sorted out. The fact that they still came in on 50½ gives an idea of the quality of the rest of their ringing. "Also rans" were S. Brent, Bickington, E. Portlemouth, Stoke Fleming, Plymstock "B", Loddiswell, Diptford, Broadhempston, Dartington and E. Allington, and it looks as if Plymstock may give the North Devon fellows a good run in the final.

The North Devon end of the competition was rung off at Black Torrington, which is another attractive village in very different country—the wide (and rather wet) open spaces of the district between Hatherleigh and Holsworthy. The bells, a Pennington six, have not been in very good shape lately and obviously taxed even the best of the bands which met, 12 in number, to ring them. Predictably, West Down and Swymbridge and Down St. Mary topped the list, West Down clear ahead on 21½ and Down St. Mary just pipped by half a fault for second place on 30 to Swymbridge's 29½. South Tawton and Kentisbeare tied on 43 for fourth place—a good piece of ringing by S. Tawton, who have been having some intensive training from Tom Wright. Ide, Plymtree, Yarnscombe, Bishop's Tawton, Spreyton, Burrington and Alwington came along behind.

West Down are obviously right back in form after a patchy time last year.

ST. MARY'S, HORSELL, SURREY

After a silence of many months, the bells of St. Mary's Church, Horsell, are ringing again. Some young boys and girls are being trained by Mr. E. R. Warner (Woking), who has been a ringer at various churches for over 50 years, and is a founder member of the Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers. Mr. Warner has had invaluable assistance from Patricia Laycock and David Smith.

The young people are very enthusiastic and have already reached the stage at which they can ring rounds and call changes.

The photograph above was taken in the ringing room at Horsell Church just before the vicar, Canon J. J. Cresswell, (in the photograph) left Horsell to become rector of Busbridge, Godalming.

NINETY YEARS AFTER

If some of our predecessors of, say, 90 years ago, could step into our belfries to-day, what would be their reaction? How would they feel once they had accustomed themselves to the mini-skirts and the "withit" jargon of our young people? Whatever criticisms they may have (even of the female presence!) they would (or should) be gratified to see that the ringing examples they set have continued and developed into a friendly, mixed and competent society of ringers.

We know of their undoubted abilities in the ringing chamber, and discipline, in their eyes, would no doubt appear wanting (in some instances to be deplorable), but enthusiasm and co-operation between branch and towers would, as shown recently in the Sonning Deanery, stand up to any test.

The occasion could itself be called a "test"... a test of the strength of our Sunday service bands, the towers within a branch. The "test piece"—a quarter peal in every tower in the branch to mark the 90th anniversary of the Sonning Deanery Society of Change Ringers. A small, practical mark of esteem and respect to the members and officers who have passed on to us the knowledge, skills and aptitudes of ringing.

During the last week of May and the first in June the bells of the 13 towers of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild rang out, all but one quarter peal succeeding. This branch is little different from most . . . a few weak towers, several strong, tenors varying from six to 20 cwt., ringers' ages from ten to 80 (plus), a membership of about 130 and a nucleus of a couple of dozen "regulars." Most branches could no doubt programme a similar event, many with more success; but here the effort was made. Co-operation between the weak and strong, young and old, was put to the test and all members have been made aware of, or reminded of, the 1880 Society, which later became the Sonning Deanery Branch.

The first meeting at Wokingham on May 22, 1880, resolved "That the bellringers of the Deanery be incorporated into a Society for the encouragement of change ringing and the cultivation of Order, Moral Tone and Reverence in belfries . . . " John Walker, Esq., M.P., and the Rev. J. F. Llewelyn (chairman and secretary respectively), both ambitious men and the first of many officers whose names are well-known today throughout the Exercise: Rev. F. E. Robinson, Canon G. F. Coleridge, Canon Gilbert Thurlow; a small nucleus from which has sprung a large territorial body (made up of bands from town and country) of Sunday service ringers, several of whom indulge in peal ringing.

Responsibility, borne by branch officers continuing the work of these predecessors, was on this occasion shared by almost every member capable of ringing a quarter, and it is hoped that the numerous "firsts" will encourage many to take an active part (perhaps in other branches, too!). By coincidence the fourth at Wokingham (St. Paul) was rung without a stay and the fourth at Warfield without a slider (it had been damaged by a clapper falling out earlier).

In the Erin Triples the 117 calls had to be repeated after two bells had "switched" at the first attempt. These minor occurrences proved the only "sensational" items to report. Good ringing, like good weather, is not interesting reading but an acknowledgment from a body that it is alive; that it prospers after 90 years augurs well for the future of the Sonning Deanery.

The organiser would like to take this opportunity to thank all incumbents, tower captains and secretaries for their assistance and use of their bells for this anniversary "ring-in," and may it also be put on record that for the majority the quarter peals will be remembered for the social contact and for the sheer fun of it.

MEMORIES

"When I was 14 I was apprenticed to a North London firm for three years and continued with the firm for a further three years. Then I went to a firm in Whitechapel, where I used to ring at St. Mary's; I wonder how many people remember the tower keeper, Ned Wallage! I also used to ring at All Saints', Poplar, which I found hard work, especially as on the 7th or 9th the sally used to shoot across rather sharply. Good luck to The Ringing World I remember Mr. Goldsmith very well," writes Phil Avey of Clacton.

TOWER CAPTAIN WEDS

The wedding took place at Bathampton on May 23 of Miss P. Gouly (tower captain at Bathampton) and Mr. R. Weeks (a ringer at Bathford).

The local ringers attended the ceremony and later in the day were to have attempted a peal but unfortunately the team was one short. A quarter of Doubles was substituted.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Derby District bellringers had a quarter peal tour on Saturday, June 27, three bands of ringers circulating round towers in the East Derbyshire area, Swanwick, Tibshelf. Clay Cross and Blackwell.

Derby Cathedral raised £48 for the Cathedral restoration appeal by opening the tower to the general public. Only £32 is now required to achieve the target of £1,000 which Derbyshire ringers promised to raise.

A band of ringers from Derby went to Blackburn on Saturday, June 20, to ring a peal to mark the wedding of Brian A. Tomlinson (of Derby and Blackburn Cathedral) and Miss Smith (sister of Norman Smith, the well-known composer).

EXAMPLE OF A SUFFOLK VILLAGE

Behind the rehallowing of the bells of St. Mary's Church, Kersey, Suffolk, by Canon Gilbert Thurlow on June 5 is a wonderful story of achievement in this village, which has a population of 400. The bells were last rung for Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee and there are people still living in the village who remember that occasion in 1897.

Five years ago a committee of "Friends of the Fabric and Bells of St. Mary's Church" decided to restore the bells. In 1967 the bells were taken to John Taylor's of Loughborough, where the tenor was recast and the other five retuned. By September, 1968, the Friends had raised the £3,000 necessary. Alas! a quinquennial inspection found the tower in a poor condition, and without major repairs it would be impossible to ring the bells. The minimum estimate for church restoration was £20,000—£13,000 on the tower and £7,000 for the remainder.

In January, 1969, an appeal for £20,000 was launched. The result was fantastic and by March sufficient money was promised to start on the tower. This has been completed and, it is hoped, paid for after a flower festival at the end of August. Stage II appeal for the rest of the church has now been launched.

THIS GREAT DAY

Commenting in the service on "this great day for all the friends of the parish," Canon Thurlow said it was one of the finest tales that could be told in this faithless age, when so many people would say "We can't do it, we haven't the money." Others might have said even worse things: "What a waste! It should have gone to feed the hungry."

"To those who say such hypocritical words," continued the Canon, "I would make two replies: (1) This is just not true.
The truth is that those who give will give to both—the hungry and the bells, and others won't give to either; it isn't true that £100 to the bells means £100 less to the hungry; (2) Words like these were spoken by Judas, who said: 'What a waste of precious ointment; its price should have been given to the poor.'

"The purpose of all this effort was to proclaim the Kingdom of God. The news that life was not a matter of chance; we live because the universe is the work of a divine spirit, who is good, is great and all around us. In finding Him we find a worthy reason for living and spending life in service to other people.

"Finding Him makes all the difference to our lives, and this is what you who ring Kersey bells can do in the hearts of people, lonely, despairing, worried. Your ringing can tell them that life has a purpose and that life is worth living."

The oldest bell, the third, was cast in 1576 by Stephen Tonni, of Bury, the tenor (which has been recast) by Miles Graye in 1638, the fifth by John Hodson in 1662, and the fourth by Christopher Hodson in 1689. Thomas Gardiner, of Sudbury, cast the treble and second in 1716.

Taking part in the service were the vicar (the Rev. C. R. W. Goddard) and the Archdeacon of Ipswich.

Light refreshments were served after the service to the congregation and visiting ringers in the village hall.

"If there be good in that I wrought Thy hand compelled it, Master, Thine-Where I have failed to meet Thy thought I know, through Thee, the blame was mine."

IN LINCOLNSHIRE Once again the Huntingdon District was fortunate in its choice of date for the annual tour, taken this year in Lincolnshire on June 5.

Ely Association.

Our first call was at Billingborough, where there is a lightish ring of eight and a fine example of an old village cross in its Silk Willoughby (well known in centre peal circles) was found to be worthy of its reputation of possessing a good six. After a satisfying lunch in Sleaford we visited Ewerby but did not do justice to the ten; nevertheless, it was an enjoyable experience. On to Rustington, where the church is one of the few without a spire, being flat on top, no pinnacles or battlements, but, inside, the church was beautifully clean.

Tea was partaken at the Prattinden Arms. and at Tattershall our attention was somewhat divided between the lovely church with its heavy ring of six and the mediæval castle. At our last tower, Heckington, we found a very fine eight.

We are very grateful to Paul Wells for making the arrangements and to all incumbents, tower captains and others who helped make a successful day's outing for us.

MR. E. BARNETT RETURNS

The venue of the spring quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at Downe, the quiet Kentish village recently made famous by the epic voyage of Robin Knox Johnston.

During the afternoon the association were made very welcome by the local ringers, and many viewed the stained glass window in the sanctuary which commemorates Mr. Knox Johnston's non-stop voyage round the world. The incumbent (Rev. J. Harrison) conducted the service and after tea took the chair at the business meeting. The highlight was the return of Mr. E. Barnett (Crayford) who has made a fine re-covery from a broken leg which he sustained in the icy weather earlier in the year.

Seven new members were elected, one each from Bromley, Chelsfield and Eynsford, and four from Chislehurst. A report of the annual meeting at Folkestone was given by Tony Lewis and a lively discussion took place on the proposition that a peal booking fee be inaugurated.

Afterwards ringing was resumed at the neighbouring village of Cudham. P. M. F.

SERVING OTHERS

The Ringing World has recently reported a number of guild and branch A.G.M.s and the term "the officers were re-elected en bloc" has occurred in many of the accounts recorded. There have, however, been several cases where a senior officer -master, secretary or treasurer-has not sought re-election and retired, sometimes after years of service in one capacity or another. Usually a hearty vote of thanks is recorded in the minutes for posterity to read, although seldom, if at any time, have old minute books been on display for such a purpose. Occasionally a presentation is made to the retiring officer "for services rendered" or a vice-presidency is conferred to honour him.

The vast majority of ringers, however, will not take an office, even in their own tower, and there are many who criticise and find fault. Fortunately, these are a a small minority, and not worthy of comment. Generally the main body gives support and encouragement to those elected and do appreciate what is done on their behalf. The considerable amount of time spent, the inconvenience and disruption of home affairs, and the expenses incurred (and seldom recoverable) and the many disappointments after all these sacrifices can be heartbreaking to an officer. And yet, fortunately, there are always those to be found who will "have a go" for the good of the Exercise and as a service to others.

We should all express our thanks to these hard-working individuals, and the best way to do this, we suggest, is by loyally supporting their efforts and assisting when called upon to do so. In this way each and every one of us will be sharing in the future success of the Ringing Exercise and ensuring that the generation of ringers who follow us will still have the solid foundation our own fathers and grandfathers helped to lay.

Obituary

MR. JOHN W. FAITHFULL

As we go to press we learn of the death in a Hampshire hospital on June 23 of Mr. John Walter Faithfull, of St. Mary's, Southampton, who was in his 73rd year. A report and appreciation will appear in our next issue.

Older Sussex ringers will remember Mr. Bert Mitchell, who died at Guildford re-cently, aged 77. Born at West Grinstead. he rang at St. George's Church there, and among his contemporaries were Harry Turrell (deceased), Bert Coote (Steyning) and Bert Haycock (Brighton).

For many years he had lived in Guildford and was associated with St. John's Church, Stoke - next - Guildford, where he was a sidesman. The ringing boxes in the tower are his handiwork, and his crafts-manship was revealed in repairs to the church, including the main doors.

Belfry Gossip

The sponsored peal of Plain Bob Major at St. James', Birch-in-Rusholme, Manchester, on Easter Monday, raised £36 towards the repair fund.

First peal congratulations to Paul Flavell, P. Moore, Elizabeth Gardner, Donald Ramsay.

At a meeting of the Leatherhed District of the Guildford Guild on June 20 at Stoke D'Abernon a hymn specially written for the occasion was sung. The composer, Mr. Bernard Ash, one-time local captain, is in hospital at present. We wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

Long service. — Mr. A. D. Barker has been hon, treasurer of the Oxford Diocesan Guild for 34 years, in the same office for the East Berks and South Bucks Branch for 46 years.

An order for a new single bell for Holy Trinity, Stroud, Glos, has been placed with Taylor's, of Loughborough. On the advice of local ringers it is to bear the simple and beautiful inscription once used by the Rudhalls: Peace and Good Neighbourhood.

74 next birthday, Mr. Edward V. Rodenhurst is one of the most respected of members of the Shropshire Association, and he has now circled the tower at Clive (25 cwt.) with a peal of Plain Bob Minor, taking 3½ hours. No doubt he will start on the second circle shortly.

The quarter peal at Cockington, Devon, to celebrate the birth of the conductor's daughter was also rung on the wedding anniversary of the conductor, who recently "slipped a disc" and rang while still encased in a plaster jacket!

The first peal of Fourteen for the Oxford Diocesan Guild was rung at Crowthorne, Berks, on June 19. The method: Kent Treble Bob; the conductor: Mr. Frank C.

A past president of the Manchester University Guild, Mr. Brian A. Tomlinson, was married to Miss M. Smith on June 20. Peals to mark the occasion were rung at Blackburn and Manchester Cathedrals.

Four married couples took part in ringing at Evensong at Harpenden on June 15, the service being a thanksgiving for marriage. It was also the silver wedding anniversary of the rector and Mrs. P. Graham.

Barstable School Society of Change

Ringers, Basildon, Essex, have a keen band of 14-year-olds who have rung the first quarter of Major (in hand) for the Society.

Disestablishment of the Church of Wales came after a political battle 60 years ago. The anniversary of this victory was commemorated by a quarter peal at Hope, Flintshire, on June 8.

Sunday evening quarter peals are a feature at St. Mary's, Lewisham. That this month was of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods.

A remarkable coincidence (some called it a fiddle!) was seen at the social function held at Leicester. A draw organised to help expenses was made for about a dozen prizes, and the first three to come out of the hat were collected by three ladies all sitting at one small table, and each had a different coloured ticket!

Incidentally, the M.C. (Mr. John Bramley) who worked so hard and successfully to keep the party going is obviously a conductor in a noisy belfry, for his strident voice was always able to rise above and control the din made by the revellers.

STUDENTS HELP

That enthusiastic young man Marcus C. W. Sherwood sends us the following news: "Our much used bells at Sacred Trinity, Salford, are going to receive a slight overhaul while we are away in the long vac. Since the end of exams we've been labouring day and night (students are used to that!) to remove pulley blocks, wheels and a clapper. The pulleys are now so worn that the ropes get caught in the grooves, a couple of wheels are rapidly losing their rims and the 7th clapper is—dare I say it? clapped out. So Taylors will do their stuff on this lot, and we hope to have them replaced and all working well for the arrival of our freshers next session. If you like I'll produce a two and a half column report on the operation, with photos, and an ode to the clapper!" (Just a short report will suffice.—Ed.)

A RINGING BISHOP

The Very Rev. J. D. Wakeling, M.A., M.C., Archdeacon of West Ham, has been appointed Bishop designate of Southwell, Notts. He was ordained at Barwell Parish Church in 1947 by the late Bishop Willis, and served his curacy there under Canon H. V. Williams.

A hockey Blue at Cambridge and a very fine cricketer, Denis Wakeling was taught to ring by Richard Belton at Barwell and was treasurer of the local society of ringers. During a visit to Barwell for the Children's Festival the Archdeacon expressed his appreciation at being persuaded to learn to ring because of the fellowship he had ex-T. C. North Wales Association.

RULES AND SUBSCRIPTIONS REVISED

The annual meeting of the North Wales Association was held at Machynlleth on Saturday, May 30. Over 40 ringers and their wives from the Wrexham area made the long and delightful journey by coach calling at Bala and Dolgellau. Some very good touches were rung at Dolgellau be-fore continuing on to Machynlleth to join the local ringers.

The service in St. Peter's, attended by a large congregation, was conducted by the rector (Rev. A. Leslie Evans), assisted by the Rural Dean and the Rev. A. L. Cooke, president of the association. The address was given by the Lord Bishop of Bangor (Rt. Rev. Dr. G. O. Williams), who welcomed the members and said how impressed he was, when he entered the church, by the number of young ringers present.

Tea prepared by the locals followed in the church hall, and among the guests was the chairman of the Machynlleth Council (Cclr. J. D. Holt) and Mrs. Holt. Mr. D. H. B. Millward (Buckley) expressed thanks to all (especially the ladies) who had assisted in making the occasion so enjoyable.

THE BUSINESS MEETING

At the business meeting, with the president in the chair, and supported by the ringing master (Mr. F. R. Evans), the revision of the association rules was the most important item on the agenda.

The new rules, suggested by a committee appointed for that purpose, were dealt with at length, and, after certain amendments made regarding decimalisation. were approved. The annual subscription of ringing members is to be 20 new pence, associate and junior members 10 new pence, paid on January 1, and non-resident lifemembers 25 new pence. A proposal to increase the peal booking fee to five new pence was also carried. The balance sheet was adopted and a credit balance of £73 18s. 6d. considered satisfactory.

The officers were elected as follows: President, Rev. A. L. Cooke, M.A.; ringing master, Mr. F. R. Evans; secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. Cathrall; auditor, Mr. J. M. Capper; peal recorder, Mr. G. H. Randles; district secretaries—Wrexham area, Dr. E. V. Woodcock; Bangor area, Rev. C. Evans; district instructors. Warsham area Evans; district instructors—Wrexham area, Mr. D. H. B. Millward; Bangor area, Mr. H. L. Fearn.

It was proposed to hold the next half-yearly meeting at Gresford in September, and the annual meeting in 1971 at Llangollen.

Dr. E. V. Woodcock, the Central Council representative, gave her report of the Central Council meeting at Ilkley. The secretary reported that he had received a letter from the Gloucester and Bristol Association asking for support in the case of the Stinchcombe bells, and this received sympathetic consideration.

Lancashire Association.

PRESTON'S NEWS MEDIUM

For the last 18 months the Preston Branch has produced an attractive news letter to keep towers informed of activities. The branch now includes Scorton, where the ringers at the A.G.M. opted to join Preston. There is always a cordial welcome for the ringers in this picturesque village. Mr. D. G. Lawson (branch secretary), who is behind this enterprise, has carpet squares available for small towers. He makes one stipulation—that the carpets are collected!

KERSEY, SUFFOLK

60 Years to Restore the Bells Friday, May 8, was a great day for the parish of Kersey in Suffolk. It saw the parish of Kersey in Suffolk. It saw the final achievement of 60 years' efforts to get the bells rehung. The church was tightly packed for the service of dedication. which was performed by Canon G. Thur-low, past president of the Central Council, who also preached the sermon. He spoke of those who might think that the restoration of bells was a waste of money in the present uncertain age. He pointed out that all the bells in the tower had been cast at uncertain periods of history, when the same accusation could have been levelled. Mary Magdalene had been accused of extravagance but had been supported by Our Lord. Canon Thurlow said that it was invariably those who complained most about waste of money who never gave anything to any object or person. Those who gave liberally of what they had for bells were generally to be found in the ranks of those who gave to such objects as Christian Aid.

After the service the bells were rung to a touch of Cambridge Minor by the following representative band:-

Treble Rev. L. R. Pizzey (gen. sec., Suffolk Guild), 2 A. T. Beckwith (vice-president, Suffolk Guild), 3 Canon G. Thurlow (past president of the Central Council), 4 R. Clouston (technical adviser, Suffolk 4 R. Clouston (technical adviser, Suffolk Guild), 5 A. Clayton (John Taylor and Co.), tenor H. W. Egglestone (ringing master, Suffolk Guild).

The bells have been entirely rehung lower in the tower, the cracked tenor bell has been recast; the retuning of the older bells has effected a vast improvement.

In his sermon Canon Thurlow mentioned that Messrs. John Taylor and Co. were producing better bells than in any previous age and the splicing of the new tenor bell, as well as the whole installation, is well up to the high standard expected of this firm.

JOINT STOOLBALL MATCH

The Northern District played the East Grinstead and District Guild at stoolball on June 6 at West Grinstead. A very enjoyable match commenced at about 3.30 p.m. with Colin Osbon opening the batting for Sussex. It was arranged for each side to have an equal number of overs. At the interval Sussex had scored 117. Vernon Standing opened the batting for the guild. Two overs from the close of play things looked desperate with the guild having scored only just under 100 runs. With loud cheers from the touchline the last two men hit at everything and at the final count up it was found that the guild had scored 116 runs, just one less than Sussex.

After a picnic tea the rector of West Grinstead conducted a short service and at the end said a prayer and pronounced the Blessing at the grave of R. Knatchbull-Hugessen, first secretary of the Kent County Association (1880–1889) and rector of West Grinstead 1889-1909. Two ringers from Kent and two from Sussex then rang a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells at the graveside.

Ringing took place until 9 p.m. R. J. E.

RE-ROPED AND CLEANED UP

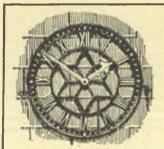

Two towers in the suburbs of Leeds at which meetings are not normally held were made available for the last meeting of the Leeds and District Branch on May

St. Matthew, Holbeck, and St. Francis of Assisi Roman Catholic Church, Holbeck, are two eight-bell towers which have no local band. Through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Snack and party from Chapel Allerton the bells were re-roped before the meeting with an astortment of ropes, some with Yorkshire ends and some without, borrowed from many towers. They had the unpleasant task of removing the masses of dead and decaying debris from the belfries and of sweeping out the ringing chambers.

Around 40 members and visitors took advantage of the towers, the bells being found to go easily and to be pleasant sounding, and throughout the day some well-struck ringing was produced.

Next full meeting: July, at Tadcaster.

EASTON, HANTS

Sunday, June 7, dawned a perfect summer's morning and no more perfect setting for a dedication on so lovely a day could be found than the green Itchen valley with its small villages and chattering water so beloved of anglers.

Easton Church is a largely Norman building still retaining its original apse and fine chancel arch. The tower is at the west end surmounted by a large wooden bell-cote. Until recently the church's ancient three bells hung precariously in this wooden portion. The bells have now been entirely rehung by John Taylor and Co., with three trebles to make a pleasing ring of six rung from the ground floor. The new bell frame is mounted lower in the stronger stone part of the tower. The founders were faced with a formidable task, as the three old bells were not only tonally unpleasant but the harmonics were wildly out of tune. Combined with this the fourth is a particularly narrow and long bell, creating obvious difficulties for any bell hanger. It says a lot for Taylors' ability that they have managed to produce so pleasing a ring with so little good material to work on in the way of old bells. At the service of dedication the bells were handed over to the Archdeacon of Win-chester by Mr. A. Clayton, representing Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

THE BELLS

Treble: Founder, Taylor; date, 1969; diam., 1ft. 11½in.; 2: Taylor; 1969; 2ft. ½in. 3: Taylor; 1968; 2ft. 2in. 4: Unknown; ancient; 2ft. 3½in. 5: R. Landen; c. 1450. 2ft. 6½in. Tenor: R. Beconsall, 1614; 2ft. 9½in.; weight 6 cwt. 2 qr. 23 lb.

The name of the present rector, Rev. P. Dodwell, has been attached to the bell frame in the form of a hellmetal plate.

WATFORD DISTRICT STRIKING COMPETITION

Initiated by the district committee, the competition got away to a good start on June 13, when South Mimms was the venue on a glorious summer day (almost too hot for ringing). Mr. John Mayne was the adjudicator and the duties of starter were undertaken by Mr. Robert Hardy.

The contestants rang 240 changes in a method of their own choice (or a similar length in call-changes) and Watford, called upon to start, chose Plain Bob Minor.

Then followed Aldenham (Grandsire Rickmansworth (Plain Bob Doubles), Doubles), Bushey (Plain Bob Minor) and a combined band from Bushey Heath and Stanmore (Plain Bob Minor).

Tea was taken in the Littlebury Hall in Watford, where Mrs. Mayes, the vicar's wife, and Mrs. Mary Bartholomew had prepared the meal.

All awaited the judgment of Mr. Mayne on this - to most of the company - novel occasion. He explained in detail how he had set about his task; it was most interesting and lucid. The placings were: 1 Bushey, Bushey Heath-Stanmore, 3 Watford, with Aldenham and Rickmansworth a tie.

A cup, to be competed for annually, was presented by Mr. Rex Agg (president of the Hertford County Association) to Miss Anne Thompson, who received it on behalf of the Bushey band.

The venture was voted a great success and was concluded with an hour's ringing on the ten at St. Mary's. R. G. B.

Mr. Andrew Stott, of Skipton, informs us that the three men accused of the theft of the three bells from Gargrave, Yorkshire (and reported in our columns), were remanded on bail of 50 each and one similar surety, and were also told to report daily to the police.

Taken from The Ringing World for July 6, 1945

The death was announced of Mrs. Robert Whittington, of Cranleigh, Surrey, who was a founder member of the Ladies' Guild and who had covered over 100,000 miles, with her husband, on a tandem and rung in 400 towers. Mr. and Mrs. Whittington were the first husband and wife to ring in a tower bell peal.

Mr. B. T. Jeanes (Bridgwater) wrote disagreeing with an opinion that it was a good thing for change-ringers to ring with stoney bands as the latter rang at a lower compass than the former.

The leading article gave advice to bands who might be contemplating augmentations and suggested that in many cases this could cause trouble by ruining the company or by excessive noise to the public around. It would be far better to overhaul the ring and maybe increase the weight rather than just add two trebles. Light rings of eight are not always effective and a light 12 are nearly always a failure.

W. Eric Critchley, Leslie Woodhead and Ernest Short rang their first peal of Major Plain Bob—at Campsall, Yorks.

At Epsom, Surrey, in a peal of Grandsire Triples, Elizabeth M. Pett and Richard F. B. Speed rang their first peal, whilst Philip M. J. Gray, Geoffrey Dodds and Denis N. Layton their first of Triples, the latter conducting his first peal.

A peal recorded as having been rung at St. Woolos', Newport, seemed to have been a "practical joke," although for no especial purpose. "One is apt to wonder how many more unbalanced people are in the ringing fraternity," wrote a correspondent.

A handbell peal at Enfield was Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major and had 56 changes of method. The ringers: Eric Dench, Mrs. J. Thomas, John Thomas and Charles Roberts (conductor).

"... men in 6-bell towers should be encouraged to become proficient on higher numbers of bells, . . it should be recog-nised that eight-, ten- or 12-bell ringing is not the be-all and end-all of ringing.

Following a meeting of the London County Association touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung on Mr. A. D.

Barker's new set of handbells.

A list of 19 city churches threatened with closure was printed and gave details of the

A meeting of the Ladies' Guild (Midland District) was held at Erdington, between 30 and 40 attending. Mrs. Preston presided over the business meeting. The Western District held a meeting at Portbury, and it was the first time these bells had been rung by six ladies.

The first peal of Stedman on the bells of Samlesbury (Lancs) parish church was of especial interest as many previous attempts had been lost owing to the excessive noise in the ringing chamber.

The peal of Grandsire Triples at Royston was the first on the augmented eight. William B. Manning was the conductor.

A Northants "peal week" recorded four tower bell peals and one on handbells, E. M. Atkins conducting all except one of Double Norwich.

By STEPHEN P. PIPER

THIS CHURCH is built of local sandstone and there is some evidence of there having been a small church on this site in Saxon times. However, the earliest reference to the church in records is c. 1100.

The church was considerably enlarged in the mid-14th century and various changes were made in the Perpendicular style in the mid-15th century.

A WAR VICTIM

In August, 1944, a German VI bomb fell in the churchyard, grievously damaging the church. Most of the tiles were blown off and the windows blown in. Helped by the woodworm-ravaged state of the roof timbers, part of the roof collapsed. Fortunately the tower and bells were undamaged and the latter were still rung although no services were held.

Through the generosity of the parish, aided by a grant of £40,000, the church was repaired at a cost of £53,000 and was reconsecrated in 1957.

The great east window is noted for its beautiful tracery which forms a curvilinear design of "Decorated Style," c. 1350, and has been described as one of the finest pieces of this architecture in the country.

THE BELLS

Looking now to the bells, the earliest bell of which we have founders' records is dated 1612, but it would seem that there were at least two bells hung for church service as early as the mid-14th century; seven items on record point to this. There are various charges for work on the bells, also dated A.D. 1551: "Paid to Glazier for mending of the bell-house window 13/4.

The ring (E flat) is made up as follows:-

Treble. — 6-1-25. Cast 1847 by J. & G. Mears. Inscr.: Holiness unto the Lord Second. — 6-3-27. Cast 1847 by J. & G. econd. — 6-3-27. Cast 1847 by J. & G. Mears. Inscr.: Holiness unto the Lord Third -7-0-25. Cast 1734 by R. Phelps.

Inscr.: Joseph Hatch made me. Recast 1847 by J. & G. Mears.
Tenor.—23-0-19. Cast 1824 by T. Mears.
Inscr.: Thomas Mears made me.

There is also a small undated sanctus or passing bell, known locally as the (its name implies its dull sound).

It is believed that when the two trebles were added, given by the vicar in 1847, the hostelry across the road had to change its name from The Six Bells to The Eight Bells.

The fifth in the present ring was recast and the bells rehung in a new frame in 1904. Then in 1965 the bells were again ouarter turned and rehung on ball bearings, together with other minor work.

The tower was once affiliated to the Hastings Guild, but as our membership increased in strength the Guild was renamed as the Hawkhurst and District Guild. This flourished for many years with regular meetings, but due to lack of interest the Guild has waned rather.

As for the ringers, the younger element in the belfry has grown in the last few years and the junior membership is now approaching that of the senior ringers. The regular band now numbers about 15.

I will finish with a verse by an irate local professor, whose studies, he claimed, were disturbed by the bells many years ago.

Disturbers of the human peace, Whose chimes are always ringing;

I wish the ropes were round your necks, And you were from them swinging.

ST. NEOTS WIN AGAIN

In the Huntingdon District striking competition held recently at Holywell, near St. Ives, St. Neots ringers, who make a habit of collecting ringing trophies, yet again won for the third year in succession (and the fourth in the five-year history of the competition). The trophy now rests alongside the Diocesan trophy they won last year (for the second time in three years).

The team was: Treble Phillip S. George, 2 Timothy W. Griffiths, 3 Ian P. Sawford, 4 William A R Chamberlain, 5 Christopher D. Corby, tenor George E. Bonham (captain and conductor). Suffolk Guild STRIKING COMPETITION

A musical Gillett six, a lovely summer's day in the heart of Constable country, Higham (St. Mary) was the wise choice for this year's striking competition.

The three judges, no mean exponents of good striking and particular authorities on 6-bell ringing, were Joe Roast, Pat Saltmarsh and Dennis Symonds, and they commented on the general good standard of the afternoon's ringing.

A competition seems to have the right blend of challenge and festivity, and this year was no exception. Eleven teams entered, the ringing master (Howard Egglestone) expressing a wish that where possible these should be Sunday service bands. There is always a little apprehension when a team has won the shield for two consecutive years as Bramford had done. "Can they do it a third time?" (and if so, do they keep the shield?). Bramford must certainly have started hot favourites, with probably Grundisburgh and Lavenham well in the running.

Well, as we all know, anything can happen under the tense moments of competition, which all adds to the spice of the event. It did! But early on Lavenham set such a splendid standard that it was hard to imagine their being beaten, and it was indeed a happy Lavenham team that heard the declaration of being winners.

After the service a really top-class homemade tea by the Stratford and Higham ladies was enjoyed and the judges were introduced, Pat Saltmarsh their spokesman.

Results were as follows: 1 Lavenham (35 faults), 2 Bramford "A" (42), 3 Grundisburgh (47), 4 Central District (73), 5 Henley (74), 6 Clare (78) 7 Horringer (83), 8 Central District (98), 9 South East District (113), 10 Bramford "B" (128), 11 Rougham

After presenting the shield to the Lavenham captain, Maurice Symonds, the vicar, Rev. J. H. H. Griffin, placed Higham and Stratford St. Mary bells at our disposal until 9 p.m. G. W. P. Oxford Guild Festival

MISS CROSS RETIRES AS SECRETARY

APPRECIATION CHEQUE OF £125

A change in procedure of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was the holding of the annual meeting at the Church Centre, Bicester, on June 27. The autumn meeting is to be held at Christ Church, Oxford. The occasion marked the retirement of Miss Marie R. Cross as hon. secretary, an office she has held for 13 years. Her successor is Mr. W. Butler, of Thatcham.

The Guild showed its appreciation of Miss Cross's work with a cheque for £125. The presentation was made by the master (Canon C. Elliot Wigg) who was supported by the deputy master (Mr. Frederick Sharpe) and the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker).

The master said he had known Miss Cross longer than most people as he first met her at High Wycombe in 1932, and they had been working together in Guild affairs ever since. The Guild desired to express its gratitude to her for her work and enthusiasm, so willingly given, during the past 13 years as hon. secretary and to offer good wishes to her for the future. Many towers and individual members had contributed to this little gift which amounted to £125 and they hoped Miss Cross would find some suitable use for it.

Thanking the Guild for the cheque, Miss

Thanking the Guild for the cheque, Miss Cross said she heard that something was in the wind, but this had not come from the girls in her own tower.

GREAT COMRADESHIP

She was appointed general secretary 13 years ago after a period as hon. librarian of the Guild and a branch secretary. The thing that stood out during that period was the great comradeship of the members and its officers, something they had not always seen in the past. That did not mean that there had not been differences, but when once a decision was taken that divergence of opinion was forgotten, and the members proceeded in a true bond of partnership.

Another thing was the devotion of the officers both at branch and Guild level. In two years time she would have been a member for 50 years and only once could she recall when the Guild had to step in and help out a branch. She asked the members to let Mr. Butler develop the Guild as a living body in the way he thought it should.

THREE SUGGESTIONS

There were three suggestions she would like to make regarding the office of secretary. The first was that he should have a float of say £20 for expenses and not have to wait to the end of the year before claiming from the treasurer. In these days only 60 circulars could be sent through the post for £1. When she was appointed it was 240. The second was the provision of a duplicator. It cost £27 to duplicate the rules. The third was that the certificates of membership should be prepared by someone else other than the secretary. (The election of 322 new members was ratified at the meeting.)

at the meeting.)

Concluding, Miss Cross thanked the officers and members for all they had done for her. She had received an invitation to visit the States next year, and she would like to spend the money on that visit. "I wish the Guild well," said Miss Cross and received tremendous applause when she sat down,

The master in his welcome to the gathering, mentioned Mr. Jim Marriott of Launton, who was 86 last Easter Day and rang three 720s, a marvellous effort for a man of his age. The bells of Stanford-in-the-Vale (formerly St. Peter's-in-the-East, Oxford) would be dedicated on Sunday, July 12, by the Bishop of Oxford. The service was at 6 p.m. and ringing would follow until 9 p.m.

AUGMENTATION

Mr. Brian Eastwood presented the report of the sub-committee regarding funds for augmentations. They recommended: (1) that the restoration fund be used to provide the funds for augmentations. (2) The alteration of new rule 11b to read, "the fund shall be used for the purpose of making grants towards the restoration and augmentation of bells or their gear (excluding ropes) within the. Diocese and for such purposes only." (3) P.C.C.s should be recircularised giving details of the restoration and augmentation fund and if the Guild was agreeable to this, the committee would undertake the necessary work involved.

The only opinion against the proposal came from the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker) who maintained that the £800 in the restoration fund from the Jenkyn bequest could only be used for restoration

Mr. W. Butler, who had inspected the wills of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and his wife, maintained that this procedure was in order. The sub-committee's recommendations were then adopted.

REPORTS ACCEPTED

The officers' reports as printed were accepted and from these the following points were made.

The master's: The ringing of quarter peals had much to commend it. A quarter peal was long enough to provide excellent practice in striking and not so long as to tax the patience of nearby householders. He called attention to the notable achievement of the South Oxon Branch in ringing a quarter peal in each tower in the branch to mark the end of the decade and ten years of progress in the branch. Fifty-four ringers were involved in ringing these 20 quarters out of a branch membership of 84 and 31 "firsts" were achieved. A notable innovation was the holding of a ringing festival in the Chipping Norton Branch and ringing the bells in the 14 towers on the same day.

Deputy master's: Inspected and reported on the condition of bells, their gear and towers in 20 churches in the diocese during the year. He was revising The Church Bells of Berkshire, which was being reprinted.

Hon. general secretary's: During 1968-69 235 new members were elected and certificates issued, yet membership had fallen from 1,735 to 1,715. The obituary list was very long and included Mr. R. J. F. Gilling, J.P., secretary of the Vale of White Horse branch from 1945 to 1954; Mr. G. Hearns, Checkendon, who saw the augmentation of the bells brought to fruition. Mrs. E. D. Catherall (nee Blencowe), of St. Laurence's, Reading; Mr. B. D. Costar (Standlake); Mr. M. Rosier (Peasemore), Mr. A. Burton (Twyford). These are those of whom the preacher wrote in Ecclesiastes—people whose loyalty and devoted service to their parishes will be their memorial. Peals had dropped from the record number of 212 achieved in 1967 to 137 in 1968 and 151 in 1969. Mr. A. R. Pink and his band added nine new methods in 1968–69 to the Guild's list of firsts.

Hon. general treasurer's: The general funds of the guild amount to £2,369, of which £1,936 was in the Restoration Fund. During the year £44 2s. had been received from P.C.C.'s The St. Peter-in-the-East Fund had reached a total of £245 16s. 2d. After meeting expenses, the balance of £165 had been paid to the Church of St. Denys, Stanford-in-the-Vale, to help meet the cost of installing the bells.

The hon. librarian offers a supply of attractive books and pamphlets for a display table for any tower holding an open evening or for any member giving a talk.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Canon C. Elliot Wigg was elected master and Mr. Frederick Sharpe deputy master. Mr. A. D. Barker was elected hon. treasurer, Rev. E. Wood librarian, and Mr. P. Walker editor of the report. Messrs. H. Oglesby and J. Baldwin were re-elected stewards, and Miss Cross's offer to serve in this capacity was gladly accepted. To the general committee were elected Mrs. A. D. Barker, Miss D. Fletcher, Miss D. J. Pollard, Messrs. A. Diserens, P. Walker and F. A. White. In recognition of her long service to the guild Mrs. A. D. Barker was elected a vice-president.

CENTRAL COUNCIL DELIBERATIONS

SECTION VI

Continuing the discussion and acceptance of the reports of various committees (Item 10), the Sunday Service and Education Committee convener, Mr. N. Chaddock, spoke of the making of a gramophone record, illustrating good striking on 5, 6, 8 and 10 bells. He gave the costs involved in its production as up to £124 for 99 discs the number necessary to avoid paying purchase tax. He suggested the cost would be 35s. each record and that the ringers who had helped in the making of the record should be given a free disc. might be a profit of £20, but this was doubtful. When possible it was intended to advertise it in the R.W. so that individuals and towers could order the record.

Mr. Speed said 99 records were not many and asked what would be the purchase tax if another pressing were made.

Mr. Chaddock replied that 99 was the original number agreed, and the churches concerned granted the use of their bells on the understanding it was a non-profit mak-ing business. If more discs were cut it would be necessary to have the further approval of the churches involved.

Mr. C. Pipe asked who chose the bells to be recorded and why.

Mr. Chaddock answered that it was the towers with attractive bells and which were available for recording on Sunday after-

The Council approved the necessary expenditure for the record.

SUNDAY SERVICE SURVEY?

On the educational side of the report Mr. Butler pointed out that there was no report from the southern part of the country. He suggested courses should be arranged for tower captains and also a possible Sunday service ringing survey organised.

Mr. Davis asked if the record to be made would be suitable for broadcasting, and if so would it be construed as the Central Council encouraging it for service use.

After Mr. Chaddock had replied that it was not suitable for broadcasting, the Rev. St. John Smith suggested that for theological colleges the Guild of Clerical Ringers might liaise with the committee.

The Inveraray bells restoration was mentioned and Rev. J. Scott testified to the work and co-operation between Mr. Chaddock and his team and Mrs. Noble, who was behind the project.

Among other suggestions made were a prize for film making, that articles on rope splicing be included in future issues of the committee's publication and that Mr. Butler be added to the committee, he to undertake the Sunday service survey.

Following agreement to this, and that Mr. Chaddock would consider the suggestions made, the report was approved.

PEALS ANALYSIS

Two points brought forward from this report were the peal of Erin Caters on the nine bells at Basingstoke and the peal of Minor, with a cover, at Sawston, Cambs. Canon Felstead said he hoped the peal of Erin Caters would be accepted, and when Mr. Warwick asked if the musical implications had been considered he replied that they had. a very full measure during her 13 years as secretary. When he joined the guild everything was much simpler. Life today was far more organised in order that they could carry on and it was the same with the guild. They should think of those responsible for this organisation, and especially at this time for Miss Cross's successor, and pray for him.

Miss Mary Cross (photographed by Miss Terry Riggs) with Mr. Tom White.

The song that nerves a nation's heart is ALERED TENNYSON. in itself a deed.

Mr. R. Savory (master of the Guild of which Basingstoke is part) said he had taken part in the peal himself and it was quite musical. He also hoped the peal would be accepted by the Council.

Mr. Crossthwaite said that the Winchester peal had not been accepted and asked if the convener had included the peal of Minor at Sawston. Mr. Ayre replied that it had not been printed in the R.W. peal columns, there-fore it was not in the analysis.

The chairman asked why the band had rung Erin Caters at Basingstoke, to which Mr. Savory replied that the local ringers wanted to ring a peal in their own tower. Mr. Savory proposed and Mr. Blagrove seconded that the Erin Caters be included, and this was agreed, four voting against the motion.

Mr. F. E. Collins asked if this would legalise all other 9-bell peals at Basingstoke and received a negative reply.

Mr. C. Crossthwaite proposed that the peal of Minor with cover at Sawston which had five first pealers in it and which was rung to celebrate the Prince of Wales' 21st birthday (on the anniversary of a peal rung on the day of his birth) be accepted. Mr. Peacock seconded and this also was carried, six voting against.

Mr. Dodds asked for the exclusion of the peal of Spliced Major rung for the Herts Association as it was false, and Mr. Threlfall asked the convener to bring doubtful peals to the Council to decide on acceptance or otherwise.

Mr. Ayre replied that he had been let down too many times in the past.

Mr. Mew asked whether long lengths which were not accepted as records qualified as peals, and Mr. Lufkin said that the committee must work to rules and not offer opinions.

Mr. Corby expressed the sympathy of all on the withdrawal of the multi-Maximus effort, which was an outstanding performance but had been proved false.

The report was adopted. (To be continued)

This is the first time that St. Peter's have won the cup; on several previous occasions they have been narrowly beaten into second place by the Cathedral. The favourites, Old Whittington, delighted listeners by firing out, just as they did in 1969.

The same scoring system was used as in previous years: 200 changes rung being marked with a maximum of one fault, the score being obtained by subtracting the number of faults from 240 and adding a bonus of 2½ per cent. for Doubles, 5 per cent. for Plain Minor, 7½ per cent. for Treble Bob Minor, and no bonus for call changes. The bonus system has only a marginal effect on the results-it has never changed the winning team-but provides an incentive towards more advanced ringing. D. J. M.

elected; Mr. A. J. Rance (Easthampstead) was the other candidate. In thanking the members for their confidence in him, Mr. Butler promised to do his best.

Mr. Rance congratulated Mr. Butler on his election.

Regarding the report, Mr. Walker said it had been agreed to print a report each year. He suggested to the meeting certain deletions, which were accepted.

Mr. A. Diserens proposed that a contribution of £5 5s. be made to The Ringing World. Thanking the guild, Mr. Wilfrid Wilson said that the increase in costs of printing and paper would present difficulties for the committee. vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. C. Kinch, who was responsible for the arrangements for the meeting, and incumbents and steeplekeepers of towers.

1885 MEETING RECALLED

The service in St. Edburg's Church followed tea and was conducted by the rector, Canon W. H. Treble. The deputy mas-ter read the lesson and the address was given by the master, who said that on June 6, 1885, the fifth annual meeting of the Oxford Guild was held in that church, and the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, captain of Keble College, Oxford, came and preached the sermon. He took as his text St. Luke xii, 48: "For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required: and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask for more."

The master applied his text to Miss Cross, who, he said, had been a good servant of the church and the guild. They had expected much of her and she had given them HORSLEY CUP CONTEST, 1970

H. Rooke. The entrants were the winners and run-ners-up of the four district contests held

York Colleges Guild ACTIVITIES OF THE INAUGURAL TERMS

Many ringing students coming to York in past years have been disappointed to find the absence of any ringing society attached to the University and St. John's College, and with this in mind a group got together to make a determined effort to start what it is hoped will grow into a flourishing organisation.

The immediate problem was the acquisition of a tower to use as a base. Over the past 50 years York has lost six rings of bells, and now there are only two in the city, one of these the Minster (13, 59 cwt.). The alternative is the Arts Centre (formerly St. John's, Micklegate) (6, 9 cwt.), which is somewhat peculiar. Before ringing, tables and stools have to be moved as ringing takes place in part of the licensed bar. Tim Haunton, the manager, readily agreed for us to use the bells, but evening ringing was out. During these hours the sanctity of the ringing chamber is given over to revellers (wine, women, and no doubt the occasional song!).

Our first meeting was in January and the rest of the spring term saw ringing on Wednesday and Sunday afternoons. Twice a month the Guild rang for Evensong at Huntington, at a tower three miles out of York, and the term finished with a very successful ringing tour to six towers in and around the Vale of Pickering.

The summer term saw the Guild moving in wider circles. Due to a festival, the Arts Centre has been unavailable for the whole of the second half of the term, but ringing took place regularly on Wednesday and Sunday afternoons. The Dean of York gave permission for the Guild to ring the Minster bells for Evensong on two occasions. Huntington was visited on occasional Sunday afternoons and on three occasions Wednesday afternoon outings to Holme-on-Spalding Moor, Nunburnholme and Whixley proved popular.

In two terms the Guild has rung together on 30 occasions, ringing being varied and two quarter peals being achieved, whilst a peal of Cambridge Minor was also attempted but lost.

Numbers are small, and our sincere thanks to all who have given help, without whom much of what has been achieved would not have been possible. Thanks also to Tim Haunton, who has made the Arts Centre available.

With this behind us we look to the future. Fortunately we are not losing any who began the venture, and the beginning of a new academic year will (we hope) bring us recruits in abundance. We eagerly await their arrival.

DAVID E. POTTER.

Obituary

MR. J. W. FAITHFULL

St. Mary's Church, Southampton, has lost a devoted servant by the death in a Hampshire hospital of Mr. John Walter Faithfull, aged 72 years, on June 23. His service embraced 50 years in the capacities of chorister, ringer, sidesman and church councillor, but his love was the "Bells of St. Mary's" and ringing. He was captain of the ringers for more than 30 years until his stroke in 1961.

Born on November 26, 1897, he joined the ringers of St. Mary's in 1915 and, like many of his contemporaries, was called up for military service, during which he lost his left arm. Despite his loss he returned to St. Mary's, and in October, 1920, rang his first peal at North Stoneham — Bob Major, conducted by Mr. George Williams, who was his tutor and rang in every one of his first 55 peals.

His ringing friends were too numerous to mention, but notable was his friendship with Mr. George Pullinger, who lost his right arm during World War I. Together with Harry Balaam, the third one-armed ringer of that era, they took part in a peal of Bob Major at East Tytherley on September 18, 1935, conducted by George Williams

A memorable day in John's life was September 19, 1934, when he conducted his first peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Mary's, the first peal on the bells after they had been augmented to ten by the gift of two trustees through the Barron Bell Trust in January.

It was a sad day in 1941 when the church and bells were destroyed by enemy action, but with a thankful heart he rejoiced in 1948 when the bells, recast and rehung by Taylors, were rededicated. The first peal on the new bells—treble ten on July 28, 1948—was conducted by C. H. Kippin. John and his son. Roy, stood in the peal, which was rung on one of the hottest days known. with the temperature in the 90s.

The Faithfulls still carry on the ringing at St. Mary's. Roy met his wife, Betty, when she was a pupil of his father. They have now left Southampton. Another brother, John R. Faithfull, remains and became captain of ringers, but suffered a tragic accident when returning from a ringing outing in June, 1965. Ringing with him in the belfry are his wife, Margaret, and his children, Paul and Karen.

The funeral service at St. Mary's Church. Southampton, on June 26, was conducted by Rev. D. J. L. Agassey and the lesson was read by a ringing friend of long standing, Canon K. W. H. Felstead, Rural Dean Southampton.

The bells were rung half-muffled by a representative band, which included Mr. M. Butler (captain of St. Mary's), Mr. R. Savory, Mr. A. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kippin, Miss Joy Butler, Mr. J. Hartless, Mr. and Mrs. K. Croft and Mr. W. Croft.

BILL HOOKWAY-An Appreciation

My first meeting with Bill Hookway was in 1953 when, with two of his distant relatives, Jack and Jim Phillips, of St. Paul's Cathedral, I went to ring "Scientific" at West Down, a village in those days where "method" ringers feared to tread unless with a "cast iron" band. Seated in a corner of the tower on our arrival was this rather fierce-looking and very critical man, who scared us even before we started. After we had completed a very presentable 120 of Stedman he vehemently criticised it as being too fast altogether, and next time to ring it slower! Quite naturally, I wondered what right he had to criticise ringing of which he knew nothing! How wrong I was.

Bill had learnt "method" at the age of 14 at Ilfracombe and in 1918 had rung a peal at St. Mary's, Southampton, to celebrate the end of the war. He was particularly proud of his membership certificate to the Devon Guild and never tired of telling me that he had gained it by ringing 120 of Doubles on an inside bell, not on the treble "like you gained yours, my lad"!

Over the years he helped the incomparable West Down band to win many competitions, often ringing any bell from 2nd to tenor-a most unusual feat. Call-change ringers always ring the same bell for competitions. In 1965 he retired completely from the ringing scene, refusing the many pleas to judge competitions all over the county. He would have been absolutely fair and first-class as a judge but, as he said, "West Down enter most competitions, and as my son, Ivor, two nephews, Mervyn and Les Phillips, and son-in-law, Len Smale, still ring, I might be accused of favouritism!"

For his ready help, kindly and constructive criticism, Bill will be greatly missed. May he rest in peace.

THE REV. W. F. G. MITCHELL

Following an illness which lasted 12 months, the Rev. William F. G. Mitchell, former rector of Wymondham, Norfolk, died recently at the age of 59. During his ministry he served at Chelmsford Cathedral, During his as a naval chaplain, prison chaplain at Parkhurst, Isle of Wight, and then at Wymondham, and was extremely popular and was referred to by the rector of Saxby at the funeral service as a gentle, courageous and dedicated man, and the large congregation from the surrounding neighbourhood testified to the affection in which he was held. The committal was at Loughborough, Leics.

Only a few months before his death he was married at St. Mary's, Melton, Leics, and it was then thought he was on his way to complete recovery of health.

On the evening of the funeral a quarter peal, half-muffled, was rung on the parish church bells.

Bath and Wells Association.

DUNSTER DEANERY

The summer quarterly meeting of the Dunster Deanery was held on June 13 at All Saints', Selworthy, where the bells are always a joy to ring. The glorious weather and the superb setting of Selworthy left nothing more to make a perfect day. Only 18 ringers attended, the smallest number for many years. The service touch was All Saints Doubles, and the Rev. J. F. W. M. Bowen took the service, when the lessons were read by the tower captain (Mr. F. Arscott) and the ringing master (Mr. W. Nurcombe).

In the Rectory garden there were two tables laid out for tea, and at the business meeting a vote of thanks to the ladies was accorded. Three new members received certificates and were welcomed to the branch. It was announced that learners' practices had been stopped for the summer but were to start again in the autumn. Branch practices and the autumn quarterly meeting were arranged. Ringing continued until 9 p.m., including some beautiful call changes by ringers from Devon. P. G. T.

Letters

SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES

Dear Sir,—May I be permitted to comment on Mr. G. W. Pipe's letter (page 494) concerning certain aspects of the Ilkley Central Council meeting and state a few facts which Mr. Pipe omitted from his

At Ilkley the Council experienced one of the rare occasions when it was necessary, to comply with certain rules, for the representatives to indicate their acceptance (or otherwise) of a peal which did not comply to the letter with the general regulations governing such performances. I refer to the nine-bell peal rung at Basingstoke last year. Such performances must have separate consideration by the Council. If it considers there are good reasons for the peal not complying entirely with the general regulations it can accept the peal.

At All Saints', Basingstoke, there are special circumstances, as this tower contains only nine bells and all are in a true diatonic scale, equivalent to the back nine of a ring of ten.

Mr. Pipe writes, erroneously I consider, that the matter of the Basingstoke peal was not satisfactorily resolved at Ilkley. missed that part of the proceedings I would inform him that the Council did vote on the proposition, as it was bound to do, and to use Mr. Pipe's own words—"by a majority vote in Council which represents the Exercise" the peal was accepted.

Regarding the "fiction" which Mr. Pipe has written about the passive submission of the Peals Analysis Committee to "persistent outside pressures," nothing could be farther from the truth. It was a member of this committee who first rose to ask the Council's acceptance of the Basingstoke peal and I gave my support to that request

The acceptance of a peal rung at Sawston is different. Sawston has an eight-bell tower and so should have peals rung on all eight. All Saints'. Basingstoke, is a nine-bell tower and should be allowed to have peals rung on all nine. To talk about ringing the back 11 at Winchester to Cinques is ridiculous, and to suggest that the Council would accept such peals is, in my opinion, an insult to their intelligence. And what intelligence has to do with a university education I fail to comprehend.

The Council, I feel certain, will not per-"opening of floodgates" tolerate bulldozers for peals of 4999 changes. Some will recall the cold reception given to a suggestion for lowering peal lengths from a minimum of 5000 to 4000 changes.

It is a pity many good points raised in Mr. Pine's letter got lost amid accompanying hysterics.—Yours faithfully,

ROGER SAVORY.

Fawley, Southampton.

SUNDAY SERVICE EFFORTS

Dear Sir,-What a delightful treat! (See Ringing World, page 476.) Hats off to the ringers at Waltham Abbey, Essex. I am one of the ringers at St. Catherine's, Hats off to Montacute, Somerset—a village directly linked via the legend of the "Black Shining Cross" with Waltham Abbev. I read, more than once, "For Matins," "For Evensong."
Surely these are true "Sunday Service" ringers and their best efforts are tributes to Him—which is as it should be.—Yours faith-

BLIND JACK METCALFE

Dear Sir,-Bells lend themselves to many unusual uses and it may interest your readers to learn of the strange way Blind Jack Metcalf, of Knaresborough, used handbells to help him win a race.

Jack had overheard two men deciding to race their horses. He was interested in sport and was a very good rider despite being blind, so he joined in. They decided on a circular track, one mile in circumference and each man had to ride his own horse three times round the track.

Most of the wagers were against Jack, for being blind everyone thought he would find difficulty in negotiating the track.

On the eve of the race Jack gathered together 10 or 12 of his friends and equipped them each with a handbell borrowed from the local guild of handbell ringers.

Just before the start the men spread out round the edge of the course in order of pitch, the lowest nearest the starting post. As the shout of "Off!" went up from the starter, the first ringer, some 150 yards down the course, started ringing wildly. Jack then "homed in" on the sound, and as he passed the first ringer the next one started. this way Jack made his horse keep to the track and finished ahead of the others, who had been somewhat troubled by the noise.

This event occurred about 1738, when Jack was 21, and is typical of the way he used his ingenuity and skill to overcome his blindness.—Yours faithfully,

MICHAEL SMITH. Beverley, Yorkshire.

GOSPEL OAK

Dear Sir,-I do thank my old friend Reg Newman for remembering me at St. Marthis, Gospel Oak, over 40 years ago. I shall always remember with gratitude the warm, friendly welcome we always got at St. Martin's. It was a privilege to ring with the fine ringers mentioned. I, too, wish Mr. Knight every success in getting this fine six going again.—Yours faithfully, REG V. JOHNSON.

ST. STEPHEN'S, CLAPHAM PARK

Dear Sir,—I was very sorry to learn that my article on St. Stephen's, Clapham Park, has caused offence to Nigel Thomson and his local ringers. Perhaps it may be some consolation to him that the views I expressed were only personal opinions, to which everyone is entitled. No doubt any-one else sufficiently interested would already have drawn their own conclusions about the church building and its history.

One inexcusable omission in the article was a reference to the magnificent work by Nigel and his band in keeping the bells going over the last few years. I am sure that without their effort and enthusiasm these lovely bells would long ago have become silent. Perhaps in the near future the band will "adopt" another of the many forgotten London towers. In any case, London ringers owe them a good deal.

I look forward with great interest to reading more about the history of Clapham Park bells.—Yours faithfully,
JOHN PLADDYS.

Dear Sir,—I was surprised to read in your report of the Central Council's deliberations on the recommendations of the joint committee on revision of decisions (July 3) that "three-quarters of those present, not understanding the technicalities or implications, did not vote, it being obvious that many had no notion of what was being debated." I hope I am not alone in think-ing that reports of Central Council meetings should be objective accounts of what took place, and free from editorial interpretation of members' reasons for voting or failing to vote

I was even more astonished to find no mention of the effect of the abolition of the decision on regular methods. As Dr. Roaf and I pointed out at the meeting, there is now no decision which requires that a bell moves only one place up or down at a time. Decision A1, which defines a method by the places made between successive rows in the plain course, does not prevent "jumping places": if, for example, seconds and thirds places are made between rows, the bells in firsts and fourths places would exchange positions. Whatever one's views on the desirability of this situation, it is most important that ringers should not be left in ignorance of what the Council has decided.

The committee was put in some embarrassment at the meeting on this point. am sorry about this, but, as I have already explained to Mr. Sibson, neither Dr. Roaf nor I had realised the implications of abolishing the decision on regular methods until the meeting itself.—Yours faithfully, JOHN CAMP.

NOT SIMPSON OR HEMONY

How right your correspondent, W. Box (on page 434 of The Ringing World), is in saying that "no English bells were in tune with themselves or anything else for that matter," or rather if they were in tune it was more by accident than judgment. However, he is slightly in error when he says the Hemonys first produced scientifically tuned bells. I have always understood that they were the men with the commercial ability who put into practice the findings of their predecessor, Pieter van den Gehye. Neither van den Gehye nor Hemony bells can be said to be the "equal by and large of modern bells." Anybody listening to even a recording of Hemony's bells will hear how poor are the bass bells and ex-cruciatingly out of tune are the treble bells. Ringers owe the present-day tonal beauty of bells not to Canon Simpson or the Hemonys. Present-day tuning was developed first in the Taylor foundry at Loughborough quite without any knowledge of the Hemonys. Canon Simpson encountered the Taylors at a stage where they had already almost reached complete success, and his part in the discovery was one of encouragement and confirmation. Taylors have always called the modern system of tuning the "Taylor true-harmonic principle," and such it indeed is. This system has gradually been taken over in part by other founders, who for obvious commercial reasons could not continue to use its true name, "The Taylor true-haruse its true name, "The Taylor true-har-monic Principle." Hence Gillett and Johnston's use of the phrase "Simpson 5-Tone Principle," which has ever since caused such confusion and diverted from the Taylor family their true position as the discoverers and developers of the modern true-harmonic system of tuning.

RINGING IS ALIVE AND DOING WELL IN OUEBEC

Members of the North American Guild of Change Ringers had been looking forward all year to the spring meeting in Quebec, ably organised by Bill Jackson. To our immense joy two towers had been located in this one city—a unique abundance for this side!

In February Bill Jackson attended a business conference in Quebec, and it "just happened" that between meetings he was able to contact local ringers and authorities, investigate the state of the bells, arrange for permission to ring at both towers along with free accommodation at the church hall—no small task! The week-end of May 29-31 was chosen since it was thought to be the American Memorial Day week-end—unfortunately our Canadian friends had underestimated the American system, for we celebrate no less than four different "memorial days," depending upon one's home State.

Despite this complexity, the turnout for the week-end was good—23 attended of whom 18 were ringers, travelling from Washington D.C. (782 miles!) from States along the east coast, from Toronto. were joined and very warmly received by the local band at the Anglican Cathedral, under the direction of Christopher Wilson. This band is coming along very nicely, although there are no local, experienced ringers. Unfortunately there is no band at the second tower, St. Matthew's, and we wished that we had had more time to stir up interest and to instruct beginners.

An advance party, composed of John Owen and David Ingram, arrived early on Friday to go to work with a spanner, a few ropes and some oil. Soon others were popping into the foreign-flavoured city, and luckily, as we were hesitatingly phrasing "Ou est la Cathedrale?", some more familiar accents were heard coming around the narrow street, thus beginning the happy

We all bounced out of bed early on Saturday, or, that is, "bounced" off the floor, to put in a bit more work before the general ringing at the Cathedral began at 10.30.
Once we remembered to give a bit of a Once we remembered to give a bit of a pull, the bells went well (a Mears 8 with 16 cwt. tenor in F). After two hours of general ringing and a bit of lunch we turned to the St. Matthew's bells; their lovely mellow tone made up for the universe of the state of the st expected jumps in the ropes and the bare light bulb dangling in the centre of the ringing chamber, making a dodge with the person opposite a bit dazzling. These bells were cast by Warner's and are of unknown weight, certainly a bit more than the 8 cwt. reported in "Dove's."! The local inhabitants seemed to enjoy our music although the bells are exceedingly loud in the street. At one point, when the bells were set up, an elderly lady rushed up, full of concern that the bells had stopped. "Oh, you must ring more!" We received some exclamations in French which then became, "You enjoy yourself? Good, good." We then asked our listener if he enjoyed our bells. "Oh yes, I enjoy. I like. Very good!"

At 3 p.m. a peal attempt began at the Cathedral. When the rest of us finished at St. Matthew's we thoroughly enjoyed walking back into the old city, listening to the bells pealing away so well. We found an outdoor cafe within earshot and sat in the sun, sipping some liquid refreshment-what could be more delightful?—until the bells stopped. Upon hearing that two bells had been swapped over, a local church member asked in great consternation, "Oh, dear, you mean they got their ropes tangled?"

However, soon, to make amends, handbells were tapping away a quarter peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, successfully com-pleted by Bill Jackson, Derek Sawyer, Rick Dirksen and John Owen. At the end Rick was asked if he had rung much Kent on handbells. "No, that was my first touch"! We were then treated to a very nice supper by the members of the Cathedral Guild, and we very much enjoyed the relaxed evening, talking away, ringing handbells (even some tunes).

On Sunday we were soon up for service ringing at both churches. A lovely quarter peal of Cambridge was nearing completion at St. Matthew's when an enthusiastic church member came up to the ringing chamber and inadvertently turned the lights off—quite a disappointment to all. success was finally met with a half peal of Bob Major at the Cathedral in the afternoon. Others of us continued ringing at St. Matthew's, doing a bit of teaching as well. We all met again for tea, thoughtfully provided by the ladies of St. Matthew's, but all too soon our party had to

The great success of the week-end was due to the excellent advance work and arrangements of Bill Jackson and the warm reception and hospitality of the Quebec ringers, headed by Chris Wilson Many thanks.

Guildford Guild.

SEARCHING FOR SOMETHING NEW The Caertsey District was entrusted with organising the Guild Summer Festival on June 6, and the officers (all new since the last four-year turn) explored various possibilities such as a coach-tour-like outing or treasure nunt with clues to the next tower. The final decision was a central tower where people could join in a mystery tour at any stage. Three tours—by car, bicycle and on 100t-were devised, and these were competitive with each other.

We could not publish the programme beforehand, or the ideas, although the latter were circulated to guild towers. The ringing plans drawn up were complicated by a rush of weddings and the secretary was driven to make re-arrangements many times. Of course you can't have a competition without prizes, so there has to be an entry fee.

At last all was ready. Would there be the hoped-for adventurous crowd from all over the country to try something new?

No. What about the rest of the guild—surely they would try? Ah! yes, a few.

But what's this? The Chertsey District members turned up in greater numbers than for their usual meetings, despite marghely and wedding demands. shals and wedding demands.

Thus the competitions were on. Fierce rivalry held sway between a Volkswagen minibus, a Triumph 2,000 and a Suzuki motorcycle, but they all were finally beaten by the unseen dogged walkers. Great ingenuity was shown in that out of a planned maximum of 300 points the results were:— Four walkers (Hazel Pady, Stella Woods, Jane Hartt, David Woods, from Hersham) 312 points; two Farnham (car, T. C. Norris, E. T. Futcher) 310; Andrew Pearman and crew 298.

The winners shared a £2 gift voucher, while the first car was presented with a bellringer car badge, and the second with a ringer's tie. The draw, by programme num-ber, to give non-serious competitors a chance, was for a miniature bell rope, and was won by Mrs. C. Webb.

Was it a success? Everyone who took part seemed to enjoy it, but where were the steady stream of normal visitors joining in as the day progressed? (There was a tremendous gap from about 9.30 a.m. to 4 p.m.) Perhaps our pre-publicity was not good enough. It could not have been the ls. or 2s. entry fee, could it? Maybe ringers do not know what sponsor forms are. We sent out 360 to try to raise money for the new Belfry Repair Fund. Only about 10 were used, and yet this is the most powerful fund-raising activity known in recent years—one Surrey band raised over £100 with seven people on a one-hour swim. Ah! well, it's another district's turn next year-wonder what they will do? D. P. RINGING IN THE 1970's

In a message in the Northampton Branch News Letter, Mr. Dennis E. C. Isaacs, J.P. (vice-president), writes: "A feature of our meetings, especially of late, has been the influx of youngsters, and I often think they must view we older ones with mixed feelings—hardly a laugh or a smile as they nervously take the rope. What a difference it would make if we smiled and just said: 'Don't worry.'

"To foster interest in our art, and so discover the make-up of our ringing friends. I am convinced we must get together more. We should find that the atmosphere so induced would automatically lead to better ringing, better relationship, better service to our church and tower and the enjoyment we would get in doing this service.

IN THE COTSWOLDS

On June 6 ringers from Marlborough, Aldbourne, Chiseldon and Swindon set off on an outing to the Cotswolds and arrived at Hook Norton, where real justice was done to the fine Taylor eight (20 cwt.). Then a short trip to the village of Churchill, where the light eight (10 cwt.) go very well. The tower is a two-thirds replica of Magdalen College, Oxford.

On to Kingham, which has another light Taylor eight (12 cwt.), of exceptional tone.

Lunch was then taken before proceeding to Stow-on-the-Wold, and the heavy eight (27 cwt.) were rung up in peal after considerable effort (with two on the tenor). On to Bourton-on-the-Water with a pleasant eight (12 cwt.) before tea, after which we took the opportunity of looking round this attractive, picture-book village.

At our next tower, Little Barrington, we maintained a good, brisk rate of striking on the six (8 cwt.) and at Burford, with its beautiful wool church and graceful spire and its delightful eight (17³/₄ cwt.), the best ringing of the day was achieved on this "Gillett masterpiece." The best touch of the day was at Bampton, where we soon managed the difficult eight (25 cwt.). R. G.

A DOUBLE JUBILEE

Dave and Nelson Sloan are brothers who became members of New Zealand's Christ-church Cathedral Society of Bellringers in 1919. Their uncle, the Cathedral verger, introduced them to the tower, and they learned much of the ringing of towerand handbells from George Claydon. Both are still active ringers and regularly attend on Sundays, Dave usually being seen on the 32 cwt. tenor.

Nelson was the society's secretary for over 20 years and served as master in 1936–38, 1939–40 and 1943–46; he has also been South Island secretary of the Australian and New Zealand Association. The highlights of his many years of ringing came during his trip to England in 1959, when he made many new friends, rang at Westminster Abbey and became a College Youth.

The important golden jubilee of the Sloan brothers' membership of the society was celebrated at a social gathering attended by many past and present ringers. They were presented with inscribed doorbells by the society's patron, the Bishop of Christchurch, and in their replies gave a number of interesting anecdotes concerning their 50 years' service to the Cathedral. On a later occasion the Dean of Christchurch made another presentation to them on behalf of the Cathedral Chapter. These important events were recorded by the local newspaper, and Nelson was interviewed during a ten-minute television programme about the Cathedral bells.

CHURCH REBUILT BECAUSE BELLS AND TOWER WERE THERE

A successful joint meeting was held by London County as hosts and the Middlesex County Associations in brilliant weather on June 13.

Ringing, with some 60 participants, took place at Isleworth, St. Mary's, Ealing, and Christ Church, Ealing.

The first ringers' service in the new church at Isleworth was conducted by the vicar (Rev. D. Hayward) and the lesson was read by Mrs. Olive Rogers, master of the host Association. In place of the traditional address the vicar delighted the congregation with the history of the church, which goes back to Roman days. No fewer than three churches had at different times abutted on the east side of the existing tower. In the last two years the new church, to a very modern and extremely functional design (by Mr. Michael Blee, of Sussex), had been built. Considerable thought had been given about not rebuilding, with pressure from the diocese in this direction, but one of the principal factors which influenced the final decision to rebuild was the presence of the fine old 14th century tower and the musical ring of ten bells.

On the first text page of the appeal leaslet for the new church we read ... the inscription on the seventh bell reads: 'Our voices shall with joyful sound make hills and valleys echo round and so they do regularly week by week as worship is offered here as it has been for so many centuries."

Tea was provided by local ladies in Isleworth Parish Hall (some half a mile from the church) and the vicar told the ringers "Next time you come your tea and meeting can be right here within the church complex. This summer we hope to complete the associated secular rooms, one of which is a parish room for tea and meetings and

CANDIDATE DEPARTED

On June 13, a bright, fine day, a party of 40, including many from Sussex University, departed from St. Peter's, Brighton, for the annual outing.

St. Mary the Virgin's (8), Shalford, the first tower, was reached in good time, and after three-quarters of an hour's enjoyable ringing the party continued through countryside brilliant with rhododendrons to Reading, the main stop of the day. We were fortunate here to ring on both the 12 at St. Laurence's and the 8 at St. Mary's, the latter recently attaining national fame when a political candidate had to abandon a campaign meeting due to a peal attempt. The luckless gentleman was there again on our arrival and once more swiftly departed to the merry sound of bells!

In steadily rising temperatures we left for All Saints', Odiham (6), the only ground-floor ring of the day. We managed to arrive punctually at Farnham to ring at the Parish Church of S. Andrew (8) and were greeted by Mr. Roy Collins, who with the the local band, had kindly given up Saturday afternoon to provide tea at a nearby hall. After a vote of thanks to our hosts we drove to St. Mary's, Pet-worth (8), the last tower of the day. A broken rope slightly marred an otherwise enjoyable excursion, and during some expert splicing the remainder of the party sought liquid refreshment.

Our thanks are due to Ian Vaughan for his planning and hard work, and to all who helped to make a successful day.

adjacent to it will be a well-equipped kitchen."

Ringing masters for the three towers which were open and catering for all tastes from call-changes to Spliced Surprise were Mrs. Olive Rogers, Tom Lock and Frank Blagrove.

RULES

Should rules drawn up for, and approved by Gui'ds, Societies and Associations be strictly observed by the members, or are there special occasions when one of these rules may be waived?

At an annual meeting held this month a proposal was made for a lady member to receive honorary life membership because, it was stated, she had served the ringing Exercise in general and the Guild in particular for over 50 years. It was pointed out, however, that no written record of membership 50 years earlier could be established and the matter therefore would be referred back to the executive committee for investigation and possible recommendation in a year's time.

Deprecating this decision, a speaker emphasised that the lady's husband enjoyed honorary membership for 50 years' service and it was generally agreed that the lady herself was a member before her husband. The chairman, however, stated that rules are rules and they must abide by them.

Ironically, later in the proceedings, when an objection was voiced to the reading out at district A.G.M.s of the names of members who had not paid their subscriptions (according to the rules), officers and individuals present stated that this rule in most instances, if not all, was not carried out and names were not, therefore, read,

It is said that rules are made for the guidance of wise men and the obedience of fools, and we suggest that if, in special circumstances, a proposal made at an A.G.M. is acceptable to the majority present, even to the extent of waiving the rule or rules, the members of the guild should have the right to accept it, but the minutes recorded should state the special circumstances which allowed it.

5040 SURPRISE MAXIMUS

Dear Sir, -- I thank Mr. R. Dennis for pointing out the error in my letter of May 8; being no "scoop" or expert letter writer I fell into a trap.

What I should have stated was that the two 5,040s of Surprise Maximus rung at Ipswich in the very early '30s were the first "ever."—Yours faithfully,

G. E. SYMONDS.

Ipswich, Suffolk.

UNDERLYING PRINCIPLES

Dear Sir,—As I read the recent numerous letters from ringers who are concerned for the principles underlying the ringing of bells, and who ring and teach beginners only when inspired by the highest motives, I am worried by the tone of their letters. I am sure it is not consistent with the advice of St. Paul, to be found in his first letter to the Corinthians, and particularly Chapter 13, verses 4 to 7.

PAUL CATTERMOLE.

Belfry Gossip

A tub in the village stream at Kersey, Suffolk, has produced £180 for the restoration of bells, tower and church. The sum of £16,000 has been raised by this village of 400 people, with another £7,000 to find.

Back in March the Barstable School of Change Ringers rang on handbells their first 1260 Plain Bob Triples: Gary Mason 1-2, Anthony Gibbs 3-4, Gordon Lucas (conductor) 5-6, Paul Cammiade 7-8. This we received late in June, and we wonder why three months have elapsed before sending it to The Ringing World!!

The Editor acknowledges receipt of the following annual reports: Oxford Guild, Sussex County Association, Peterborough Diocesan Guild, Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

First peal congratulations to Robert Bennett, Nicholas W. Jackson, David Cooper, C. E. Bulleid, N. M. Gower.

New conductors: Monica M. Jelley and C. D. Collin.

Personal records: Kenneth J. Hesketh (500 peals), Marcus C. W. Sherwood (150), Monica M. Jelley (100), Tom R. Roast (25), J. Barry Pickup (400), Cecil W. Pipe (750).

For the fifth year in succession Addington, Surrey, band scored a quarter peal on Trinity Sunday. The method was Trinity Sunday.

To celebrate his 60 years as a change ringer Mr. Albert Bennett took part in a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Bicker, Lincs.

Where is the Abbey Church of SS. Mary and Helen? We have received the copy of a peal which was rung there without the name of the place, association or address of sender. The signature is Rosemary A. Hartley.

In a peal at Wells Cathedral recently Tim Collins was a last-minute (literally!) stand-in for the tenor, and made a fine job of it. I think that at 19 years 1 month he must surely be the youngest person ever to have rung a bell of this weight to a peal, writes Robert Dennis. [Anyone better this?—Ed.]

Mr. Edward Tinsley, a ringer at Long Clawson, Leics, for over 60 years, celebrated his diamond wedding on June 26, when a quarter of Doubles was rung in the church. For many years he and his wife cleaned the church and for 18 years he daily climbed the steel ladder to wind the church clock. "His record deserves a quarter," writes Mr. J. H. Cook

The Northern District of Hertford Association met at Sandon in glorious sunshine for its monthly meeting on June 6. Various Doubles methods were rung before the company moved on to Wallington to be joined by visitors from several parts of the county and a variety of methods were rung.

The latest peal in Canada was thought to be an excellent way to welcome Bill Jackson back to peal ringing following his very speedy recovery from an operation, and now it is intended to follow through the Kent and Oxford variations, as they form an interesting and musical sector of ringing which do not appear to have been really explored for several years, writes Derek Sawyer, from Ontario, Canada.

Very good reasons for ringing a peal at Carbis Bay, Cornwall, were the 60th anniversary of the dedication of the western towers and bells of Truro Cathedral (a quarter was also rung at Paul for the same reason) and a welcome return to peal ringing by Mrs. Minnie Foskett after three years' absence for health reasons.

For the Surrey Association's 90th anniversary, the incidence of the Bank Holiday week-end resulted in a small number of successful quarter peals, and attempts at Coulsdon, Battersea (2) and Kingswood came to grief. Peal attempts at Putney, Wimbledon and Kingswood were unsuccessful. At Kingswood the clapper fell out of the five after two hours' ringing, and at Wimbledon the clock hammer fouled a bell after a similar length of time.

With the quarter at Grantham on June 7 Mr. Frederick Pinchbeck has now rung 100 quarters on the bells, his first being in 1947. These are: Royal 21, Caters 40, Major 13, Triples 19, Minor 4, Doubles 3. All at Grantham would like to congratulate Fred on his achievement and look forward to seeing a footnote to a quarter "200th on the bells."

Saltley Carillon, Parkfield Road, Birmingham 8. Ringers in the area can hear lunch time recitals most Thursdays 10 a.m. to 1.45 p.m. and Sundays 11.15 a.m. to 12 noon. Sunday evening recitals, 2nd and 4th Sundays, until September inc, 6.40-7.30 p.m. Visitors welcome.

Mr. Neville Gower has scored his first peal (at Stoke D'Abernon) following his arrival from Australia.

The B.B.C. colour film to be shown on Sunday, August 2, has been edited and "made ready." Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson spent some time on July 7 in the "cutting room" and he says the production, in his opinion, is excellent.

The 900th anniversary celebrations at Alton, Hants, this coming weekend will provide plenty of ringing for all, and the organisers, who have worked hard in the preparation, hope for fine weather.

In the decision on peal ringing change (C1), spliced compositions, passed by the C.C. at Ilkley, this should read: "Compositions in more than one method in which the changes of method occur at the half-lead and/or the lead-head shall be called spliced. In the case of compositions containing changes of method at both half-lead and lead-head, all the methods shall be symmetrical about the half-lead, with no two of them differing only in the places made at the half-lead and/or the lead-head."—So writes Mr. F. T. Blagrove.

FRED DUKES INJURED

"The car was completely wrecked and it is wonderful that he escaped with a chest injury and multiple bruises and abrasions, from which he is recovering. He is detained in hospital."—So writes Mrs. Rita Dukes from Meadow Cottage, Whitecross, Drogheda. Co. Louth, Ireland, and asks us to say that Irish Bell News, of which Fred is editor, will be delayed. All will wish him a speedy and complete recovery, and no doubt letters would be welcomed by him.

Peterborough Guild.

RETIRING MASTER ON "TYPES OF RINGERS"

The guild's annual general meeting was held at Woodford, Northants, in the Thrapston Branch. The attendance was approximately 105, and members and visitors made good use of the bells that were open for ringing from mid-morning until the late evening.

The guild's form of service was held in the parish church and conducted by the rector of Woodford, Rev. L. E. P. Casabianca, who gave the address.

Tea followed, and at the business meeting the president, Rev. E. G. Orland, was in the chair. Certain minor amendments to the printed annual report were noted and the report was then unanimously adopted.

TWO TYPES OF RINGERS
The master, Mr. J. H. Bluff, stated that during 50 years as a member of the Exercise he had met different types of ringers. He would mention two—"the ever faithfuls," who enjoy ringing and turn up regularly and promptly whether for service ringing or practice. Secondly, those who profess to be ringers, but usually turn up late or stay away for no genuine purpose, knowing full well the team would be short-This was the worse type of dishanded. loyalty with which ringers had to contend. No guild or association could prosper without the loyalty of its members.

The Bishop of London said recently that the clergy should be very grateful for bellringers and thank them for all the skill and energy they devoted to the art, because the voice of the clergy could only be heard by those people within the walls of the building, but the voice of the bells was heard over a wide area by many. "Therefore, let us keep the clergy and people ringing-conscious—not to gain glory, but to remind people that bellringing is a very human and skilful art, showing the values often lacking in other spheres today."

During the year a number of new and outstanding peals had been rung and he congratulated all who had taken part in them. But success in these days could not be counted entirely by the number of peals rung but rather by the number of churches where the bells were rung regularly for Sunday service.

The general secretary in his report stated that 1969 had been a year of mixed for-Foremost on the success side had been the record number of 143 peals and the introduction of the guild newsletter. However, to offset these successes was a reduction of 120 fully paid-up members and the unfortunate cancellation of the annual dinner through lack of support. Most branches had reported reasonably successful years, and the guild annual meeting and summer festival were very well supported.

The financial state of the guild could only be regarded as reasonable despite an increase of approximately £15 in the General Fund balance. Increased costs could be expected in 1970, although the recent revision of subscription rates would help to reduce their effect. The balance in the Bell Restoration Fund (£1,084) continued to rise and the beneficiary effects of re-investing this capital would be fully realised in 1970

MR. J. M. TYLER, THE NEW MASTER

A NEW MASTER

The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: President, Rev. E. G. Orland (re-elected); master, Mr. J. M. Tyler; secretary/treasurer, Mr. E. Billings (re-elected); peal secretary, Mr. E. Garrett (re-elected); auditor, Mr. R. J. Danby.

Mr. J. H. Bluff retired after five years as master, and after Mr. Tyler's election as master he invested the new master with his badge of office. Special thanks were accorded to Mr. Bluff for his work for the

The meeting approved the following grants from the Bell Restoration Fund: Castor, £50 (cost of work £400); Polebrook, £225 (cost of work £1,670). A special grant of £20 was also approved for the Gloucester and Bristol Association's Special Appeal Fund for Stinchcombe bells.

MR, J. H. BLUFF, RETIRING MASTER

Regrettably, the 1969 annual dinner had had to be cancelled, and no dinner has been arranged for 1970, but it was agreed to hold a dinner in 1971 and then every third year, as this would coincide with the guild's golden jubilee year in 1974.

It was agreed to hold the 1971 annual general meeting at Uppingham in the Rutland Branch.

The 1970 summer festival would be held in September at Castor in the Peterborough Branch, and full details would be circulated at a later date.

Members approved an amendment to Guild Rule III, which had the effect of removing the auditor from the guild committee. This change, it was strongly pointed out, did not reflect on the integrity of past holders of this office. The guild treasurer, on behalf of the committee, presents accounts to the members, and it is only right that the person who audits these accounts on the members' behalf should not be a member of the committee that is presenting the accounts.

CATHEDRAL BELLS

The subject of the Cathedral's bells was raised again by the reading of a statement from Mr. P. I. Chapman. No discussion took place on the statement, but it was agreed to circulate copies of the statement together with relevant correspondence between Mr. Chapman and the Dean to branch secretaries to enable the subject to be fully aired at branch meetings. This would provoke a more meaningful discussion at next year's committee and annual general meetings.

Mr. R. Daw proposed the omnibus vote of thanks to all those who had been concerned in any way in making the very successful arrangements for the meeting. motion was seconded by Mr. G. F. Roome and appreciation shown in the usual manner.

The president then closed the meeting, and members dispersed to continue their ringing activities in the available towers.

[The lateness of this report is regretted, the original letter containing the copy being lost in the post.-Ed.]

THEFT OF A VERY HISTORICAL BELL

The latest theft, that of the early 13th century bell from Chaldon Church in Surrey, has reduced to only two or three the number of inscribed bells of this period still remaining in England.

With a scrap value of only £50 to £60. 750 years of history has in all probability been destroyed forever.

The bell, which hung in the church porch high over the door, has recently been protected with a cage of steel bars bolted to the roof trusses and built into the wall, but sufficient of these were ripped out to get the bell down, and the thieves not only took away all the steelwork which they had removed but tidily swept up the plaster they had dislodged.

This bell was also famed as being the oldest in Surrey. It was dedicated to St. Paul and its companion bell. dedicated to St. Peter, was lost in the 18th century.

LINCOLN GUILD FESTIVAL

This year it was the turn of the Elloe Deaneries Branch to play host to the guild for the annual summer festival, which was held at Moulton on June 27. Most of the towers in the branch were open to the many visitors and guild members.

After the service, which was conducted by the Vicar of Moulton (Rev. S. Cory), over 110 sat down to a most enjoyable strawberry tea in the village hall. The winner of the "church search" competition, organised by Mr. Porter, was Vivienne West, of Lincoln.

Ringing continued in various towers until nine o'clock.

SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL BELLS DEDICATED

The old 12 bells of the Cathedral were rung for the last time on March 3, 1968. The following week work commenced, on a minor scale, to put the bells in better order, but it was discovered that time had taken a much greater toll than was at first apparent and that a major operation would be advisable. The ringers held a meeting, considered a number of schemes and finally recommended the Cathedral authorities if possible to install a new frame, recast the bells, the 12 with a tenor 34\frac{1}{4} cwt. in D flat, treble 5\frac{1}{2} cwt. and with a flat 6th, making a light octave, tenor 14½ cwt., this being the heaviest ring that could be hung on one level.

An order was placed with the Whitechapel Foundry and a Sheffield firm of builders co-operated with the foundry for construction work and repairs to the tower.

On June 13 this year (on the Queen's official birthday) the bells were ready for a try-out and all went well. Sunday service ringing was resumed next morning and was followed by a service of dedication in the

The bells were rung for the usual 45 minutes before Evensong, and after the second collect the choir and clergy processed to the forecourt on the south side, followed by the congregation. One verse of "Now thank we all our God" was sung and the provost (Very Rev. I. D. Neill) proclaimed: "In the faith of Jesus Christ we bless these bells now set in the tower of this Cathedral Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, at Sheffield, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy followed by other words appropriate for this occasion. During the last verse of the hymn the choir, clergy and congregation returned to their places and the bells were rung in well-struck rounds. Evensong then continued and later the bells were rung until 9 p.m.

We still have "Tom Tinker," cast 1589 by Godfrey Heathcote, of Chesterfield, and items referring to bells in the records of 1557-63; also records of two peals rung on the eight bells (tenor 33 cwt.) in 1764. Some of these were recast and made into ten in 1799; one peal on these is recorded, but they must have been a failure as in 1805 Thomas Mears recast most of them and produced the grand old ten which did such yeoman service, two trebles being added in 1868. The Y.A.C.R. records 126 peals rung on these bells.

They are now all gone and we have the new ring, beautiful in tone, nice to handle, the "go" excellent, on a massive, durable frame, good for many years - a credit to their founders and a glory to the Cathedral. Quite a lot of work in the belfry remains to be done but which is being dealt with. Our thanks go to the Cathedral authorities for carrying the responsibility for such a comprehensive task, to the good people who have donated the money, to the Whitechapel Foundry and the builders who have done an excellent job, not forgetting Messrs. Parks, Leary and Baker, the bellhangers, and all others concerned.

To have witnessed what was at the end of the war a rather gloomy church transformed into a cathedral of light and beauty and now crowned with this fine ring of bells has indeed been a great experience.

One moment's success pays the failure

Taken from The Ringing World for July 13, 1945

The leading article wrote of a "silly hoax" perpetrated when someone sent in a fictitious peal report and the writer pointed out it was not possible to check every item sent and in any case to do so would only be casting an unmerited slur on innocent and deserving bands.

A peal of Victoria Little Court Bob

Major was rung at Hethersett, Norfolk, conducted by Nolan Golden—the first in the method by the band,

Betty Spice, John Spice, Wilfrid Moreton and Michael Moreton rang a handbell peal of Bob Major, the first-named scoring her 100th peal.

Mr. Joshua B. Booth collapsed and died whilst ringing the tenor at Felkirk, Yorks.

He was 57

George W. Slack wrote saying that in a noisy tower he had lightly muffled the bells and the effect was most pleasing.

Because of poor postal deliveries readers were complaining that they did not get their R.W. on time and sometimes not at all. [Times haven't changed.-Ed.]

A meeting was held at Ilkley, Yorks, where the bells had recently been recast and rehung.

Sgt. P. Tocock, who was leaving for the Far East, was presented with a wallet and cheque in recognition of his services as ringing master of the Dorchester Branch, Salisbury Guild.

50 YEARS AGO July 16, 1920

The first peal (Grandsire Caters) on the bells of Cullompton, Devon, was rung by the Devonshire Guild (St. Sidwell's, Exeter, Branch) and was conducted by Edwin Shepherd.

Mr. Harold J. Poole rang the 4th for his first peal — Stedman Triples — at Stoney Stanton, Leics, and was elected a member of the Midland Counties Association before the start of the peal.

The first peal of seven 720s in nine Surprise methods was rung at Edenham, Lincolnshire, conducted by J. W. Lake. The methods were Ipswich and Cambridge. Cunecastre and London, York, Wells, Dur-Cambridge. ham, Surfleet and Beverley.

At the summer meeting of St. Martin's Guild a new ring of 12 handbells was "opened" with three courses of Stedman Cinques: A. Paddon Smith 1-2, A. Walker 3-4, J. E. Groves 5-6, T. Russam 7-8, J. F. Smallwood 9-10, Morris J. Morris 11-12. The star turn, however, was a course of Bob Minor in which the 7-years-old son of Mr. Laslin (Percy O.) rang 5-6.
The Society for the Archdeaconry of a head peal booking fee.

Stafford at their annual meeting at Lichfield raised their subscription from 1s. to 1s. 6d. but refused to accept a proposal for a 6d.

An advertisement announced the unveiling of a tablet in Easton Neston Church, Towcester, to the late James Slarke and at the meeting afterwards it was hoped to restart the Towcester Association.

Mr. Ernest Morris wrote about 6-bell towers in the Leicester area and said they were sadly neglected by ringers in towers where there were eight, ten and 12 bells. A controversy between Fred Dexter and Ernest Morris occupied several half columns for a number of weeks about the matter.

Mrs. A. D. Barker was the first lady to ring at St. Paul's Cathedral. The company was one short at a practice and she rang the fifth to Stedman Triples.

Holy and Undivided Trinity,
Stratford-onAvon

Cover Picture

Holy and Undivided Trinity, Stratford-on-Avon

THE CHURCH of the Holy and Undivided Trinity, Stratford-on-Avon, has been described as one of the most beautiful parish churches in the world; it is lovely whether viewed from a distance or close at hand

No trace remains of the 7th century Saxon monastery established at Stratford. It is believed that in Norman times a church occupied the site of the monastery, but of this there is no certainty. About 1210 the original north and south transepts were built. Between 1280 and 1330 the north and south aisles, the tower and the piers of the nave were constructed, and the period from 1480 to 1520 saw the addition of the chancel, the clerestory, the west window and the north porch. In the chancel, in front of the high altar, lie the remains of William Shakespeare and his family.

The early 13th century transepts and the upper part of the tower are the earliest features of the church. There are remains in the east and west walls of the north transept (now the vestry) of narrow arches which apparently opened into the 12th or 13th century aisles to the north of the nave and former chancel.

The porch is a late 15th century addition and has an upper chamber, or parvis, which is approached from inside the church. The porch ceiling is vaulted in white stone, which has suffered serious mutilation. On the west and east sides there are stone seats which were probably used for parish meetings. There are remains of holy water stoups in the north angles. The outer entrance is fitted with a pair of 17th century doors; the inner doors, which are massive and of fine workmanship, were made and hung in 1480. On the outside of the west wall there are incisions in the stone, thought by some to be bullet marks, but more probably made by 18th century archers sharpening their arrows in the stone when shocting in the churchyard after Sunday morning services.

After the Reformation the interior of the church suffered many changes, chiefly in the direction of increased simplicity. The rood and chantry chapels were abolished, many carvings mutilated and glass destroyed. The original wooden spire, erected in 1675, was replaced with the present stone one in 1763.

At the moment there is extensive restoration work in hand and there has been a world-wide appeal for funds. But this great church is not a museum of the past; it is still a parish church and constantly in use. Here Christians worship continues after nearly 800 years, here the sacraments are administered, here countless people come to pray and to meditate, and here people come in sorrow and in joy. The church stands as a bulwark of the Christian faith and witness to the Holy and Undivided Trinity.

THE BELLS

The original six bells were the work of Henry and Matthew Bagley and cast between the years 1683 and 1742. Two trebles were added in 1887 to celebrate Queen Victoria's jubilee, thus making a ring of eight. The whole ring was melted down in 1948 and the tower now contains a fine ten from the foundry at Loughborough.

The first peal on the bells was one of Bob Major by the St. Martin's Guild at the beginning of this century. Peal boards in the belfry commemorate a peal of Grandsire Triples by the St. Martin's Guild in 1904, conducted by Harry Withers, and a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major by the Yorkshire Association, conducted by James Cotterill, in 1907. The Rev. F. E. Robinson also conducted a peal of Stedman Triples here in 1907. No more were rung until 1946, when a peal was rung by a local band, to be followed by many more by ringers from many parts of the country.

Through the years the bells had been rung twice every Sunday by a faithful, but a "stoney" band. It was not until after the First World War, when V. B. (Jack) Hunt moved into the district and joined the band with several new recruits, that changeringing started. After doing most of the hard work in those early days, Jack was elected captain in 1937, a post which he held until 1967, when his commitments as churchwarden made him feel that he must relinquish the office. It was primarily due to his efforts that in 1948 the existing eight bells were removed, recast, augmented and rehung, to be recognised as the best ring of ten for their weight in the country. After a period of 30 years under one leadership there has been a change, and the tower now has a complement of some 20 members and Sunday by Sunday, and on practice nights, Caters and Royal can be regularly heard.

KEEN RABBIT

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read the comments of a "Keen Rabbit" in the July 3rd edition or The Ringing World. As a fellow rabbit myself I do have a certain amount of sympathy with his views, but I am left with the impression that this person is suffering from an oversize chip on the shoulder. If he finds ringing so intolerable in his local tower why doesn't he show some enterprise and find a tower where he will be helped in improving his ringing?

As the "Keen Rabbit" is so fed up with

As the "Keen Rabbit" is so fed up with his present ringing, could he send his name to The Ringing World and I am sure that some kind and (I pray) tolerant tower captain will make this ringer welcome. May I add that I am most grateful for all the help I have received in various towers from the "holier than thou" ringers. — Yours faithfully.

JAMES T. SHEPARD. Bermondsey, London.

OVER 50 YEARS A RINGER

Arthur H. Smith was born at Lamberhurst, Kent, in 1902, and it was there that he learned to ring during the first world war. Under the tutelage of Albert Relfe he soon became a regular member of the local Treble Bob and Surprise Minor band. He rang his first peal in 1920 and during the next ten years rang nearly 50 more, all in Kent, in a variety of methods. Moving to Leatherhead, Surrey, in 1929, he joined the local band, to which he still belongs. Becoming secretary of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Guild in 1930, he held the post for 30 years, and during this period was a regular member of the local Surprise band led by Albert Harman. They rang the first peal in a number of Major and Royal methods.

On relinquishing the post of district secretary in 1960 Arthur was made a vice-president of the Guild, being the fourth member of the Leatherhead band to be so honoured. His son, Alan, was master of the Leatherhead District until very recently, when he took up a post in Fiji. Arthur's peal total is 173, of which he has conducted 12.

Winchester and Portsmouth Guild

FRIENDLY WELCOME AT BASINGSTOKE

BUT POOR ATTENDANCE

A full programme of ringing in churches on routes leading to the town, an interesting business meeting, well conducted, with a fair proportion of those present taking part, a bright church service with good singing, the address by the rector although over 15 minutes that seemed only like five, a home-made tea, plentiful and well served by local ladies, followed by more ringing at several other churches until all had had their fill; such was the pattern — as in many other areas — when the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild held their A.G.M. at Basingstoke on July 4. Although better support should have been forthcoming from the large guild membership, the 60-70 who did turn up found the friendly atmosphere (always forthcoming from Basingstoke ringers) most convivial, the striking generally good and altogether a well worth while event.

An Executive Committee meeting in All Saints' Hall held before the main business of the day overran the hour allotted, but this gave those waiting the opportunity to see the carnival procession, which Basingstoke had arranged, it seemed, especially for the occasion!

The master (Mr. Roger Savory) presided at the meeting, accompanied by the hon. secretary (Mr. David Forder), the acting hon. treasurer (Mr. Kenneth Croft) and the Editor of The Ringing World (Mr. Charles Denyer. A welcome to the last named and also to other visitors was given by Mr. Savory, and among the apologies received were those from Canon K. W. H. Felstead and Mr. A. York-Bramble.

The company remembered in silence Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Francis, Messrs. F. Attrill, F. Gosling, S. Carey, S. Blake, J. W. Faithfull, A. Jackson and Mesdames W. Tate, G. M. Hunt and R. May, who had died during the year.

Following the lengthy minutes, the secretary read a letter from Mr. John Hunt regarding peal ringing and the guild rules, and this will now be dealt with in committee with a view to a proposition being made at the 1971 A.G.M.

THE ACCOUNTS

Before the accounts were presented, the chairman spoke of the work of the late treasurer (Mr. Tom Francis) and said that with Mr. Kenneth Croft's co-operation and the Executive Committee's agreement (and the appropriate rule) Mr. Croft would assume the duties of hon. treasurer until next year's triennial election, but as the secretary had done both offices since Mr. Francis' death Mr. Forder would present the accounts for 1969.

These showed that the balance of £319 15s. 10d. had been reduced to £198 5s. 4d., but as printing the triennial reports had cost £252 the loss was not what it appeared to be. The question of a modified—possibly annual—report replacing the larger one was being studied. Mr. Francis, it was pointed out, had prepared the accounts—one of his last acts for the guild.

The treasurer's statement of accounts were received without comment.

Mr. D. Matkin, presenting the peal recorder's report, which had been previously circulated, said he felt the guild had acquitted itself well and the report was very satisfactory. Total peals rung were 105, plus six handbell peals. (The peal of Minimus recorded had not been accepted by the Central Council, although the Erin Caters on the Basingstoke nine bells had!)

The master pointed out that because the Erin Caters had been approved it did not follow that any other similar peals, or of Major with a cover bell, would be accepted. Congratulations were extended to Katherine Maundrell (leading peal ringer—34), to and Wells "Stinchcombe Bells Appeal" was discussed and the committee had recommended that £5 be sent when the work is put in hand. Mr. F. E. Collins made a proposition, stating that this was a test case which should be supported. Canon Paton-Bradbury seconded. The proposition was carried, no contrary votes being recorded.

GUILD DINNER REPORT

The guild dinner is to be fixed for the last Saturday in April each year, and when Mr. Jackson said that the photo and three-line report which appeared in The Ringing World was not really good enough, the Editor pointed out that he had been unable to attend himself and had asked for a report

Geoffrey Dodd (leading conductor—21) and. North Stoneham, where 17 peals had been rung.

Apologising for not having submitted a report last year, Mr. M. J. Butler (librarian) stated that the late Mr. Tony Jackson's mother had handed Tony's collection of ringing books to the guild library, and appreciation of this gift was expressed.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING

A comprehensive report of the Central Council's meeting at Ilkley was given by Mr. A. V. Davis and by Mr. Hartless. The members learned that it was a long and interesting meeting with much improved organisation and arrangements, and a real Yorkshire welcome. Both gentlemen were applauded for their explanation of what took place.

Giving his comments on the year's work as he had seen it, the hon. secretary spoke of the tragic deaths of Tom and Margaret Francis; the former had been treasurer and had served the guild and other associations well, and Margaret had been secretary of the old Southampton District. A memorial to them, erected by their family in North Stoneham belfry, would be dedicated in August.

Restoration work had been completed in Bishop's Waltham, and they had a new ringing tower with a ring of six at Easton. The second annual dinner was a highly successful event, as was the striking competition, won by Eling.

The secretary then gave details of work in the various districts, which generally were satisfactory, but a close watch is to be kept on membership, so that there will be no decline.

Although no guild applications had been received for restoration grants, the Bath to be sent. When nothing had been received he had asked the guild master, at Ilkley, to do something about it. Unfortunately it was another three weeks before the report arrived, and this was much too late for full publication. He hoped to be present himself next year and would see that a report did appear on time.

The guild striking competition is also now a definite date—the third Saturday in May each year, and the same sub-committee were given authority to organise the event.

According to a rota system in operation, the A.G.M. in 1971 is to be held on the first Saturday in July at Ryde, I.O.W., it being stated by Mr. Bailey that a keen young band there would welcome the guild.

A considerable discussion took place when the election of life honorary members was proposed. Any member with 50 years' membership of the guild is elected to life membership, and in the case of Messrs. H. A. Nobes, F. Barron, T. Taylor and R. Smith this was agreed. However, when one lady's name was mentioned, it was pointed out that although it was believed that she qualified, there was no recorded proof in the 1920 report. The Executive Committee would discuss the matter and make a proposal next year. When Canon Sanders protested (and others supported him), the master pointed out that the rules stated that this was the proper procedure and they must abide by the rules. It was no good making rules if they did not abide by them OTHER BUSINESS

When "other business" was announced,

When "other business" was announced, Canon Paton-Bradbury rose and objected to the practice which, according to the rules, necessitated the names of non-paid-up members being read out at the annual district meetings. He was supported by Canon Sanders and several other members.

CENTRAL COUNCIL DELIBERATIONS

SECTION VI

RECORDS COMMITTEE

When the Records Committee report was proposed for acceptance by Mr. Blagrove, Mr. Lewis seconded and queried the names given to some methods. He suggested that "Mr." be dropped from "Mr. Rusty" as a method name.

Mr. Blagrove said the naming of a new method was the prerogative of the band ringing it, but Mr. G. W. Pipe said the names should be chosen sensibly—not childishly.

Mr. Seagrave suggested that the Council should have the power to rename a method—it it had not already that power. Mr. Mayne replied that the Council could claim powers to rename a method.

This report was also adopted.

Mr. Cyril Wratten asked the whereabouts of three manuscripts: (a) James Barham's peal book, (b) any papers left by Henry Davis, and (c) Parnell manuscripts, and, if anyone knew about them, to communicate with him.

OTHER COMMITTEES

The Towers and Belfries Committee report was accepted, Mr. Sharpe expressing thanks to Mr. W. B. Cartwright for his help in legal matters, and others who had assisted in many ways.

Considerable discussion took place on the report of the Broadcasting Committee, acceptance of which was proposed by Mr. H. N. Pitstow, seconded by Canon A. G. G.

Thurlow.

Mr. W. G. Wilson spoke of a colour film being made by the B.B.C. and Mr. Pipe mentioned the poor recording made of the Elstow (Beds) bells.

Among comments and suggestions made during the discussion were that the B.B.C. would not be intimidated; that Leicester ringers were asked to record Stedman Cinques for the B.B.C. but nobody came near the belfry; that the Council should give more support to the committee and the new Publicity Committee; that the B.B.C.

were to make a record of bells for sale to church authorities and ringers, but that they (the B.B.C.) would choose the towers and bells; that the towers chosen were to be given a free disc, and that there was no copyright to the recordings.

At the close of this debate Mr. Chaddock asked Mr. Wilson if a copy of the colour film being made could be obtained, and Mr. Wilson assured him that every endeavour would be made to that end.

Item 10 (K) was the report of the Item 10 (K) was the report of the Methods Committee, and its acceptance was proposed by Mr. C. K. Lewis, with Mr. S. Ivin seconding.

Great difficulty appeared to be experienced by a good percentage of the Council to understand (or follow) the debate which ensued. Mr. Jelley stated that in 1959 a precedent was set when two methods of the same name, one of Major, the other Royal, were rung, the extension not being orthodox, and the band were asked to change the name of one of them, and this was done.

TRIVIALITIES

The methods discussed now were Leatherhead and Kegworth, and Messrs. Mayne, Blagrove, Seager, Speed, Barnett, Beresford and Dodds all took part in cross-talk of technical method construction. This resulted in Mr. P. A. Corby remarking that the behaviour of certain people was becoming increasingly worrying, apart from the considerable time being spent on trivialities.

Mr. R. S. Anderson, following up this cue, promptly proposed that the Council move on to the next business, which received general approval.

The Methods Committee's report was adopted, three voting against.

For the final report, about the general interest film, Mr. Bottomley said that the cost of this was increasing, and it was not right to put the Council's money at risk. However, the name of a contact at the B.B.C. had been passed on by John Betjeman, and with this information the report was accepted.

It was stated by Mr. A. V. Davis that he had yet to attend a meeting where this had happened, as the district officers allowed much more latitude despite the rules. Others present also agreed that the rule in this case was not enforced.—No action was taken.

It was announced that Canon Felstead would be leaving St. Michael's, Southampton, later in the year to become master of St. Cross, and a message of congratulation and good wishes is to be sent to him from the guild.

RINGING WORLD SUPPORT

Mr. A. V. Davis proposed that £10 be sent to The Ringing World funds. He felt it necessary, he said, to do all possible to support and encourage the paper, and now that they had a new editor and a new look it was even more necessary to give help.

it was even more necessary to give help. Mr. D. Matkin seconded, but Mr. F. E. Collins spoke against the motion and said it was not right to use guild moneys in this way. "Raise the price to 2s.," he said.

After the motion had been approved by 41 to 6, the Editor asked permission to speak, which was granted.

Mr. Denyer said he did not control The Ringing World. This was done by a committee (under the Central Council), who worked hard to keep it going. He pointed out that the paper was owned by the Central Council, and that as the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild was affiliated to that body, the paper virtually belonged in part to all those members present. As such they should support The Ringing World wholeheartedly.

Regarding the price, this probably would have to go up next year, although he, personally, hoped to keep it down. So many letters came in at "renewal" time from the old subscribers who could not now afford The Ringing World because of rising costs elsewhere and they had to economise; The Ringing World subscription was one of these economies. He appealed to all members of the guild and to ringers everywhere to go on supporting The Ringing World and to help to increase the circulation.

A final word from the master included thanks to all who had helped to organise the day's activities and a reminder that at next year's triennial elections neither he nor the secretary would be seeking re-election.

The guild's service was conducted by the rector of Basingstoke in St. Michael's Church at 5 p.m., and tea was served afterwards in the church hall.

VISITING COVENTRY

For the Central Council meeting in 1971 it was announced that the Coventry Association would be the hosts, but no actual centre had yet been chosen. Mrs. Beamish (master) stated that an announcement on the headquarters chosen would be given in due course.

The Spring Bank Holiday week-end is again to be the dates for the Council's assembly. When asked where the Council would like to meet in 1972, it was asked if London was a possibility. Exploratory inquiries are to be made as regards this suggestion. Canon Thurlow suggested the Council might consider returning to the real Whitsun week-end for its meeting so as to avoid holiday traffic and accommodation problems.

ANY OTHER BUSINESS

When the chairman announced this final item on the agenda, the Rev. J. Scott invited the Council to visit Devon in 1974, which would be the centenary year of the Devon Association.

The gathering expressed disappointment when it was voiced that for the first time ever a member who was a Benedictine monk (a Roman Catholic), Father P. Angold, and who had been unable to be welcomed last year, had been present at the Council's discussions but had not been formally welcomed as a new member. However, it was found that the Reverend Father had just left the meeting and could not, once more, be introduced.

Mrs. Staniforth asked that the official welcome by the civic dignitaries be arranged in future as for this year—on the Monday evening—leaving Tuesday free for the business meeting.

Thanks to Mr. Garner-Hayward for his services in connection with the Central Council publications were expressed on the proposition of Mr. W. F. Moreton, and Mr. Cartwright called on the assembly to show its appreciation to Mr. John Freeman (president) for his tolerance, skill and judgment and capable handling of the meeting. This brought tremendous applause, and was fully justified.

The Rev. St. John Smith proposed thanks to the Council's Yorkshire hosts, and Mr. Walter Ayre spoke appreciatively of the excellent organisation of the Monday Dales tour.

The hon. secretary announced the attendance as 170—the same as in 1969, made up as follows: 46 associations fully represented, 120; 11 partly represented, 27 (16 absent); six not represented (six absent); eight life members (two absent); 15 honorary members (seven absent). Total: 170 present; 31 absent.

Summing up, the president said it had been a long but happy and very useful meeting, and thanked the officers for their services. He also thanked the members of the sub-committees for the work they had done for the Exercise in general and the Central Council in particular. He was very proud to be president of such a body and looked forward to continued support from the members.

GUILDFORD CATHEDRAL VISITED

On May 30, members of the Northern Division and friends set off on an outing in fine weather, Guildford Cathedral being the central attraction, but on the way Cranleigh and Holy Trinity, Guildford, were visited. At the latter church we were met by Mr. White, who made us very welcome. There were not many visitors at the Cathedral when we arrived, and some of us went to the top of the tower to enjoy the view. All ringers had a pull on the magnificent bells, but I fear we did not do them justice. We had lunch in a High Street restaurant, after which we made our way to the towers at Chiddingfold and Haslemere for the afternoon. After a tea of scones, raspberry iam and cream we went on to Petworth where one bell was without a stay, but this did not mar our enjoyment. Our last did not mar our enjoyment. Our last tower was at Billingshurst and, although a bit tired, everything went well.

It was a good day, and we owe our thanks to Mrs. Osbon (secretary), to the ringing masters and to incumbents and local ringers G. T. J. who made us welcome.

About four miles from the ringers' Mecca (Loughborough) stands the little village of Walton. This small village with its little brick church tower, holds an honoured and often forgotten place in the history of change-ringing in North Leicestershire. At the turn of the last century the rector of Walton for 45 years was Rev. M. B. Bird. When he came to Walton he found a 3-bell tower. He was himself a keen change-ringer and to his consternation discovered that change-ringing was largely unknown in North Leicestershire. He soon struck up a friendship with John Taylor and in 1896 the three bells were rehung in a new cast iron frame with the addition of treble and tenor. It was only later dis-covered that Mr. Taylor had given the treble as an anonymous gift. The Rev. M. B. Bird developed a good change-ringing band and the enthusiasm of his band spread change-ringing throughout North Leicestershire. When Mr. Bird died he directed that he should be buried as near as possible to the bells he knew so well. His grave lies just by the tower door.

WALTON-LE-WOLDS, LEICS

Since 1896 no work has been undertaken on the bells whatever. As was only to be expected, the various frictional parts of the installation were showing signs of wear and the bells have now been rehung on ball bearings and everything generally refur-bished. The frame itself has been ably Payne, who is hoping to train a local band here. Mr. Payne is doing excellent work by reviving interest in "dead" towers in Leicestershire.

At the service of rededication on Trinity Sunday the ring of bells was once again set apart for the praise and glory of God by the rector. The ringers present took a part in leading the prayers, and Mr. A. Clayton, representing the founders, Messrs. John Taylor and Co., gave a brief talk on the history of the bells and the work which had been undertaken. He pointed out that the Loughborough Foundry was successor to the Nottingham Foundry and could therefore claim 314 years of association with Walton. Walton lies in the Lough-borough District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, and it was regrettable that no district officers were present and only one district ringer. This lack was, however, well met by the presence of a good number of ringers from the rest of Leicestershire and the presence of the general secretary of the Guild, Mr. R. Hughes.

The bells were rung after the service and all present were well pleased with their improved handling.

The A.G.M. of the Southern District was held at Heighington on June 27, but due to clashing with other church activities the meeting was not very well attended. lack of numbers, however, enabled those present to practise various methods, some regular, some irregular, and an enjoyable time was spent by all.

A satisfying tea was provided by the wives of the Heighington ringers.

The officers elected at the meeting were: Mr. K. Lawson (chairman), Mr. T. Cooke (ringing master) and Mr. F. Hodgson (sec-

SERVING OTHERS

Dear Sir,—Although the basis of your Editorial of July 10 is true, the reason for it gives food for thought. How many members are reluctant to be nominated, and indeed are not nominated for office because to be so would appear ungracious and perhaps hurtful to the current holder? How many might not, in fact, have worked harder and proved to be better if given the chance? None can know, for they have never had the opportunity.

In a close-knit, friendly society, there will always be this reluctance to cause hurt to others. How much easier it would be if all officers resigned after three, or, at most, five years and refused renomination. Somebody else would come forward—as happens anyway when death, ill-health or a move occurs. The new holder might be worse or no better than his predecessor, or he might be much better! At least his capabilities will be known, and a useful proof of experience will build up.

The Services probably have more experience than any other organisation in training, leadership, administration and morale. They post officers and men every three or four years, partly to gain ex-perience, but primarily to ensure a regular influx of new ideas and new enthusiasms. One wonders how much progress in all aspects of the Exercise is stultified, because officers hang on to office too long, thus denying others the opportunity to introduce and try out new ideas.—Yours faithfully, Galmpton, Devon. G. J. L. READ.

ST. JOHN THE DIVINE, LEICESTER

Dear Sir,—Whilst one understands the feelings of local ringers at St. John's, Leicester, and, indeed, of ringers through-out the country, at the prospect of the de-molition of the church, I am surprised that the future of the bells should be considered a major issue when weighing up the "pros and cons."

The decision to demolish a church is a very serious one that is not taken lightly by the ecclesiastical authorities. Surely the questions at issue behind such a decision rise far above such comparative trivialities as the beauty of the bells, the organ or any other item of the church furniture.

On the other hand, speaking as a ringer, I heartly commend the St. John's ringers in their fight to keep their church openmay their lovely bells ring out for a long time to come.—Yours faithfully,
London, S.E. JOHN PLADDYS.

ORIGINAL MINOR

Dear Sir,—I was interested to see the compositions for 720's of Original Minor (Ringing World, page 534).

At the risk of being accused of petty-mindedness, could I make the observation that No. 1 consists simply of bobbed and plained leads of sixths place Single Oxford Minor. No. 2 consists of half a dozen or so basic Plain, Little and Alliance methods, spliced at the half-lead.

Working on a similar principle one could almost claim a 720 of Plain Bob as being "Original," with all bobs made at the treble lead.

It has certainly shattered the delightful vision previously held by many of us of Original being a wild medley of calls. No doubt it was such a vision that prompted a correspondent to ask for the figures of a 720.—Yours faithfully,

Crowborough, Sx. PETER MARSHALL.

THE REVISED DECISIONS

Dear Sir,—Whilst agreeing with some of the sentiment behind George Pipe's letter, I must point out that some of his statements are not correct.

'Well you might as well ring what you like" was the position adopted by the Central Council in 1955, when all restrictions on methods and calls used in peals were removed. This let in methods with plain courses of two leads, eight consecutive blows in one place, containing some leads different from others, more hunt bells than working bells and even false in the Also calls which altered the plain course. path of the treble, left the bells in the same course, altered the length of a lead or were such that the bobbed lead had no resemblance to the plain lead. It also gave the silly situation that the longest peal in a method, recognised by the Council, was not necessarily the record.

In the revised Decisions, the Joint Committee and the Council have brought back restrictions on the construction of methods and calls. In the Decisions on Methods and Calls, paragraph A gives these restrictions, and in the Decision on Peals paragraph A requires that the methods and calls used in all peals must conform to these restrictions. Also a practical sanction against peals not conforming to the simple conditions for record peals was introduced.

At Ilkley, one member of the committee proposed that the conditions for record peals be removed, but the rest of the committee and the Council overwhelmingly rejected the motion. Before their reports were adopted by the Council the conveners of both the Peals Analysis and Records Committees stated that the long length of Superlative was not included in their re-Superlative was not included in their reports. Surely this is more than rejection by implication.

The choice of strange names appears to have started with the silly craze of "completing the alphabet." But surely the name of Mr. Rusty, Dougal, Florence and Zebedee is wholly innocent compared with the deliberate use of place names of an alcoholic or anatomical connotation?

Jumping changes are not part of change ringing. Is it really necessary for the Decisions to include definitions of change ringing, truth, rounds, tower bells or even the differences between consist and contain? 4999 Jumping Caters chimed at Hounds-ditch Warehouse would be precluded on at least three counts.

Having brought back restrictions on the construction of methods acceptable for peals, the Joint Committee could find no valid need or use to divide these acceptable methods into regular and irregular methods. Indeed, at St. Albans many speakers stressed the need for recommendation and guidance in the construction of methods. Hence the recommendation to the Council to drop "regular methods" and to widen the terms of reference of the Methods Committee. Recommendations for different types of methods on different numbers of bells can be of much more use than a general overall definition of a regular method. It will of course be necessary for the Records Committee to record all acceptable methods rung in recognised peals.

Likewise with calls. Having brought back restrictions on their construction, it is difficult to define worthwhile restrictions on their number and placing in a method.

WHO TOOK THE ROPES?

Dear Sir, — The bells of St. Mary's Church, Rotherhithe, were to have been rung for the evening service on Sunday, July 5, 1970, a special service to commemorate the 350th anniversary of the sailing of the "Mayflower," but the occasion passed with the bells remaining silent, for someone had removed the ropes from the tower.

The congregation was disappointed, the rector was upset and also bewildered and, from a ringing point of view, the ringers had a wasted journey.

The rector was unaware that the ropes had been taken away until the Sunday band reported them missing. All he knew was that a peal attempt had failed the previous day, when one rope broke.

Does anyone know what happened to the ropes, two of which were on loan from the writer's tower—St. Leonard's, Streatham?— Yours faithfully,

EDWARD J. ADAMS.

MEMORIAL TO TOM & MARGARET FRANCIS

Dear Sir,—At the thanksgiving service for Tom and Margaret Francis I announced that a fund was to be opened to provide a memorial to these two well-liked and respected people. The exact form which the memorial will take depends naturally on the extent of the response to the appeal for A suggestion has been made this purpose. that it should be associated with St. Martin-in-the-Fields, with which Tom and Mar-garet were so long connected, and probably take the form of an article of furniture in the belfry. The vicar of St. Martin's has indicated his full approval if this proposal should be adopted.

I shall be pleased to receive donations, which will of course be acknowledged, and it is hoped ringers and friends from all over the country will respond generously to this appeal so that a fitting memorial may be provided.—Yours faithfully,

DEREK E. SIBSON,

Hon. Secretary,
St. Martin-in-the-Fields Ringers.

15 Garden Royal, Kersfield Road, Putney, London, S.W.15.

The worst example of a conglomeration and mixture of calls in the 1955 to 1969 derestricted period appears to be the new compositions for Cambridge Royal.

The paragraph which "let in" the peals at Basingstoke and Sawston was not put in under pressure from sensationalists, rebels and cranks; it was put in at the suggestion of two senior and most respected members of the Council, so that the Council should debate separately all peals not complying with the Decisions. It is easily possible that such debate could go the other way and lead to a tightening of conditions.

Far from lowering their standards or capitulating before a silly fringe, the Joint Committee have recommended a tightening up of standards, and the Council has endorsed their recommendations for new restrictions on the construction of methods and calls, and the continued standard of conditions for peals. Individually or collectively, the members of the technical committees will, I am sure, do their utmost to maintain the good sense, standards and taste in ringing.—Yours faithfully,

F. T. BLAGROVE.

AN ANNUAL EVENT?

The Northern District held its first striking competition at Aston on June 20. The judge took up his vantage point, the six bands drew for order of ringing, and the tension mounted as each team in turn went up the tower to exercise its skill in 240 changes.

Tea was taken in the village school and the president of the association (Mr. A. R. Agg) welcomed the judge, Mr. A. E. Rushton (president of the Bedford Association). He thanked Peter Cranfield for organising the competition which, being well supported, it is hoped to make an an-

Mr. Rushton proceeded to give his comments and marks for each team, which were: 1 Hitchin (Plain Bob Minor, 112 faults), 2 Sandon (call changes, 186), 3 Benington (call changes, 216), 4 St. Ippolyts (Plain Bob Minor, 218), 5 Baldock (Original Doubles, 243), 6 Actor (call changes, 243), 6 Actor (call changes, 243), 6 Actor (call changes, 243), 6 Actor (call changes) Doubles, 243), 6 Aston (call changes, 250).

Hitchin were presented with the trophy, and Peter Cranfield thanked Mr. Rushton for his very helpful remarks, Mr. L. Izzard for the use of Aston bells, and the Aston ladies for the splendid tea.

The District also met at its two most easterly towers on July 4, when it visited Barley and Barkway. Ringing took place at Barley before the rector (Rev. A. S. Lockett) welcomed the gathering and conducted a shortened form of Evensong.

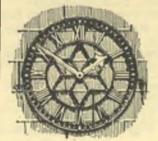

Members then went to Barkway, where tea and the business meeting were held in the vicarage. The president (Mr. A. R. Agg) took the chair, and it was announced that the district dinner would be held at the Three Horseshoes, Norton, in October, and that the next evening meeting would be at Walkern and Ardeley.

Bands were invited to enter for the Kimpton Cup in September in view of the success of the district striking competition.

Miss B. Harris suggested that a donation should be made to Great Wymondley in view of the state of the ropes, or that other towers should pass on old ropes.

The vicar (Rev. P. D. Kingston) and Mrs. Kingston were thanked for the use of the room, and the ladies for providing tea.

WILLIAM PYE CENTENARY

To many younger ringers the name of William Pye is just a legend, but to the not-so-young who were privileged to meet and perhaps fortunate enough to ring with this remarkable man the experience will never be forgotten.

August 11 this year is the centenary of William Pye's birth, and it has been suggested that peals and quarter peals might be rung to honour the occasion. A well-known and respected member of the Central Council has offered to write an article on the career and achievements of William Pye, and this will be included in the issue of August 7. Any special ringing carried out during the following month will be under a separate heading, if contributors will indicate that this was the purpose for the effort.

The East Anglian Daily Times carried a letter recently, with illustrations, telling of an alarm bell associated with the Dickens era which is still hanging over furniture premises and formerly part of a school block depicted in the early editions of Mr. Pickwick's night adventure.

Nancy Lewis, who comes from Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts, was one of the first young ladies to be taught to handle a bell by Mr. William Theobald when installing the bells over there. Now she has rung the 2nd to a quarter of Bob Major over here after only three plain courses in the method.

A page from the Estates Gazette, sent to us from Mr. Macadam, of Barcombe, Sussex, depicts an architect's model of an £18m. development scheme in Melbourne, Australia, for a six-storey podium block backed by a 53-storey tower block which would completely dwarf the Cathedral and could compromise any ringing which might take place there. Building is scheduled to start in 1971.

Mr. Claude Rush, of Felixstowe, tells us that after spending £36,000 on restoring St. Peter's Church tower, Sudbury, the Parochial Church Council of St. Gregory's with St. Peter's has decided to close St. Peter's Church down and continue with St. Gregory's only. The eight bells (tenor 21 cwt.) are at the foundry and may be rehung "dead," whilst at the other churches, St. Gregory's (8, 16 cwt.) and All Saints' (8, 26 cwt.), the bells are unringable. A very sad state of affairs generally, he concludes.

About the New Secretary.

The Oxford Guild's new secretary, Mr. W. Butler, whose photo appeared last week, was introduced to ringing when his sister married a ringer, who started him in 1945 at Clewer. His first peal was in 1947 (Bob Minor) at Clewer, and he has rung about 200 in most standard methods, conducting about half of them.

He was secretary of East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild for nine years, ringing master of the Newbury Branch for some years, represents the Guild on the Central Council 1957-60, 1966— and recently was elected on the Sunday Service and Education Committee.

Belfry Gossip

St. Paul's, Maitland, N.S.W., celebrated the centenary of the installation of its bells by a ringing weekend last May.

Personal Records: Gerald C. Hemming (375 peals), Jack L. Millhouse (1,400), Percy Newton (200), Roderick R. Horton (25).

New method this week is Meldreth S. Major at Meldreth, Cambs, for Ely Diocesan Association.

The greatest number of methods yet rung to a peal on 12 bells was achieved at Leicester Cathedral on June 20 when 105 were scored, Neil Bennett conducting.

We were just too late to correct a printer's error in last week's issue. The caption on page 552 gave Miss Mary Cross when, of course, the name so well known to ringers is MARIE! (Sorry!)

First peal congratulations to P. J. Tyler-Maggs, Clive W. Templeton, Sally A. Gifford, Edward Willitt, Jacqueline Saker, Michael LeClere, Margaret Jones, John F. Hocking, Nicholas E. Green, Andrea E. Smith and David Woodward.

Mrs. D. E. Beamish corrects a recent paragraph and says that the £10,000 legacy at Exhall was left to beautify the churchyard. No mention was made of the bells. However, the ringers can always hope!

The youngest band in the Guildford Guild to ring a peal had an average age of 15 years 7 months and rang 5040 Doubles at Send, Surrey, conducted by 16-years-old Eddy Futcher. The editor's nephew, 12-years-old Timothy Denyer, rang the treble—his first attempt for a peal.

A photo received of Michael E. Brown standing beside a bell frame which he and Des Butterfield have made is of considerable interest but the print is not sharp enough for reproduction in the R.W.

We are going through a period of lost quarters, writes Mike Scowen from Ringwood, Victoria, in sending us a report of the ANZAB festival. He says they attempt one a week and haven't scored one since the beginning of May. ["If at first . . ., etc."—Ed.]

Whether 'tis better to remain thirsty or to sully one's delicate palate with some unknown liquid is a question asked by a reader when on a ringers' tour. [It has never been a problem to ringers in our area.—Ed.]

1066 and all that. "Norman service ringing" will take place, said a leaflet advertising an open day for the public to learn more of their bells, their tower and their ringers. Nevertheless over 100 signed the visitors' book at Kingswood, Surrey, and William the Conqueror was not among them.

David Cooper, of Gnosall, Staffs, has obtained a first-class degree in maths in this year's finals at Oxford University and awarded a junior maths prize. David rang his first peal (P.B. Major) with O.U.S.C.R. in June at Kingham, Oxon.

In place of the normal district meeting in Derby on June 27 nine quarter peals were attempted, aimed to provide quarters for ringers who lacked the opportunity in their own tower. Five were successful, but the practical experience at the other four must have proved beneficial to those taking part. (Congratulations to the organisers.)

"I'm sorry that it hasn't been typed but my handwriting is the lesser of two evils," quotes E. C. (a correspondent). [If all our ccpy was as well written our editing would be halved.—Ed.]

Our leader of a few weeks ago asking for "other hobbies" resulted in just two replies. Michael Swales, of Dunstable, tells us he is interested in church organs and keeps a record of various details—maker, age, specification, etc.; and Richard Cann, of Solihull, is interested in phillumeny (collecting of matchbox labels and booklets). He is hon. secretary/treasurer of the West and Mid'and Match Label Society.

The local company at St. George's, Doncaster, has continued to make progress this year by ringing a quarter peal in each of the standard eight Surprise Major methods and a peal of Bristol, the latter being the first peal of Surprise for Sheila Bruce. The band hope to ring at least a quarter peal in all the eight methods spliced before the end of the year.

"Our grateful thanks to all who so hospitably received us and made us welcome ... the memory of your friendly welcome and excellent bells will remain with us for a long time," is the way A. E. R. concluded a brief report of an outing and which is typical of what ringers wish to express after a pleasant trip.

Under the heading "A Composers' Conundrum" a ringer asks: Could any of our expert composers compose a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples which if transposed four times would include all the 5.040 changes? The same question might be asked also for peals of Plain Bob Major with eight transpositions for the extent. These nine peals of 5,040 changes could be called by a collective name and numbered 1 to 9 as could the five quarters of Grandsire.

A programme of peals, quarters and other special arrangements is planned for May 15 next year, when the Leicester Guild celebrates the 25th anniversary of its formation. A service is to be held in Leicester Cathedral, at which the Lord Bishop of Leicester will preach and at which, it is hoped, representative clergy will be present. The Bishops of Derby and Southwell and the Vicar of Burton-on-Trent have been invited and a dinner will be held in the evening to round off the celebrations.

When we receive letters of criticism and complaints (as any newspaper does) we are inclined to forget that many readers enjoy our efforts. This one is particularly cheering: "May I say how very much I enjoy reading your excellent paper every week—I go through it 'with a toothcomb'. Anything to do with campanology fascinates me immensely and I love ringing, having visited no less than 138 different towers since I started in April, 1968." [Thank you, G.E.—Ed.]

A long and, unfortunately, out-of-date report of an outing in April, headed "Bing's Ring" has been received and gives details of the churches visited and ringing enjoyed. Huntingfield, Heveningham, Badingham, Peasenhall, Framlingham, Yoxford, Bramfield, Halesworth, Wissett, Bungay, Beccles, Barsham, Southwold-on-Sea and Westhaston were included during the weekend tour.

RINGERS OF HOLY TRINITY CHURCH, STRATFORD-ON-AVON

Special mention must be made of the five ringers in the front row, for between them they account for more than 165 years of regular service ringing at Stratford, unbroken except for the war years. They are (I, to r.) Reg Chapman (34 years), Bert Print (35), Fred Lyne (35), George Ingram (25), Jim

GARDEN PARTY

The weather let us down very badly this year and our garden party had to move indoors. The amusements were soon set up, however, in the spacious schoolroom next to the church, and games, competitions and ringing were enjoyed.

The Rev. M. C. C. Melville paid us a visit and was "roped in" to judge the "six-in-line" handbell competition. This took the place of our usual six-a-side cricket match and proved to be just as hilarious. The judge summed up in like vein (obviously overawed by his surroundings) and we thank him for his patience. Unfortunately the changes were not too well struck.

THE TAYLOR SHIELD

The seventh annual striking competition of the Southern Branch was held at Horbling (6) on June 20. The afternoon started with a service conducted by the Rev. R. H. Moseley, and was followed by the six teams ringing as follows: Grantham (B) 72 faults. Bourne 63, Grantham (A) 27. faults, Bourne 63, Grantham (A) 27. Silk Willoughby (rang out), Stamford 45, Billingborough 92.

The winning team was: H. Leslie Squires 1, Mrs. Hazel Ketteringham 2, Peter A. Hill 3, Vaughan P. Evans 4, Brian Buttery 5, Peter A. Slight (conductor) 6.

Grantham (A) and Stamford will represent the branch in the guild competition to be held at Waddington in September.

The judges were Messrs. P. Reynolds (Swineshead) and H. Barsley (Algarkirk). Tea was provided by Mrs. Moseley and ladies of the Horbling M.U. on the Vicarage lawn, after which ringing took place with friends and visitors from Horncastle. Kent County Association.

SEETHING WITH ACTIVITY

As usual, the past five months in the Maidstone District have been seething with activity — beginners' practices, advanced practices, quarterly and by-meetings, a football match and a striking competition.

On the whole, the attendance at beginners' practices, held in groups of three. could be a lot better. However, those that have attended seem to benefit from having an experienced band round them whilst they ton Monchelsea, Staplehurst, Headcorn, Boxley, and last but not least to those at Hollingbourne for so graciously accepting an invasion of "foreigners" on their practice nights.

Advanced practices, held on the first Tuesday in every month, at Aylesford, Leeds, Linton, Maidstone or West Malling, have been reasonably successful, but once again attendance could be better.

Attempts to arrange a district social for February failed, but a return football match between Ashford and Maidstone eventually materialised at the ringing festival held at Aylesford on May 30. In spite of the ball spending more time in the adjoining rub-bish tip, and in spite of Maidstone's careful selection of referee, Ashford won.

The striking competition this year was held at Wateringbury. Six bands entered and were placed as follows: 1 Maidstone All Saints' (A), 2 Wateringbury, 3 Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, Maidstone St. Michael and Water Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B), followed by Headcorn, which was supported by the Maidstone All Saints' (B) and Maidstone All Saints' (B) a Maidstone St. Michael's and West Malling.

The district outing, originally planned for Bedfordshire in July, has been changed be-cause of the introduction of driving restrictions and is now to be to the South Downs.

Bath and Wells Association GOODWILL MESSAGE

On June 6, a perfect June day, the Ilchester Branch held its quarterly meeting at the lovely Parish Church of St. Andrew. Trent. The village many years ago was handed over to Dorset, but the church remains in the diocese of Bath and Wells.

Ringers and friends were welcomed by the rector (Rev. T. C. P. Brook), who read the belfry office and conducted the Guild service. The rector conveyed a message of goodwill from Lord Fisher of Lambeth, who regretted being unable to attend, and gave a simple and moving address. The organist was Miss Brooks and the tower master Mr. H. Brooks.

At the business meeting in the church. under the chairmanship of Mr. Gilbert Rendell, the branch was pleased to receive Rev. T. C. P. Brook as an associate member. (Ilchester is well on the way to having its own "clerical" team!) Other ringing members elected were as follows: Mr. Mervyn Clark (Langport), Miss P. J. Stephens (Odcombe), Mr. Colin J. Baker (Montacute), Miss Maxine Trott (Somerton). Miss Anna Penny (Stoke-sub-Hamdon). Messrs. H. W. Pearce, Nigel Grinter. Paul Grinter, Kevin Beale and Mrs. Audrey Cole and Miss M. J. Wilburn (South Petherton), Misses Wendy Leach, Sandra Parker, Janet Bradford, Ruth Palmer and Hilary Thorne (Tintinhull).

The company stood in silence, remembering W. Sweet (Norton-sub-Hamdon) and E. Lucas (Kingsdon), who had died.

The pleasant, good-going six (tenor 18 cwt.) were put to good use during the afternoon and evening, under the direction of the assistant ringing master (Mr. Jim Taylor).

Thanks are extended to all responsible for their courtesy and kindness.

it is found that (i) gives CDE JMN and ACE JMN as compatible so far and (iv) gives BDE JKL. Taking into account that K must be in if both C and D are in and also that if N is not in E is out we are left with ACE and JMN as the only completely compatible band.

BUTLEIGH, SOMERSET

7s. 6d. in the Bell Fund

A few years ago the bell fund of Butleigh Church only contained 7s. 6d. All hope of restoring the bells must have seemed impossible and yet now, just a few years later, a full restoration has been completed. The restored ring, completely rehung in a new frame and fittings by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., was rededicated by the Bishop of Taunton on Wednesday, June 10. The church was well filled for the service, during which the Bishop took in hand, for the blessing of the bells, two ropes hung from the internal window of the ringing room of the central-towered church.

After the service refreshments were provided for all the ringers present by the liberality of the Vicar of Butleigh.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have been associated with Butleigh since 1857 (see list below) and must be proud of this final crowning achievement. It is hoped that the sound of the bells will soon be modified in the ringing chamber to put the finishing touches on this excellent ring of six bells.

THE BELLS

Treble: Founder, Taylor; date, 1873; diam. 2ft. 10¾in.; weight, 8cwt. 1 qr. 15 lb. 2: Austen (?); 1619; 2ft. 10½in.; 7-1-8. 3: Taylor; 1876: 3ft. 1½in.; 8-3-4. 4: Taylor; 1857; 3ft. 4¾in.; 11-3-17. 5: Purdue; 1694; 3ft. 7½in.; 14-0-19. Tenor: Taylor; 1907; 4ft. ½in.; 19-3-5.

Bath and Wells Association. A MEMORIAL SUGGESTED

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Branch was held at Easton-in-Gordano on June 20, and after the service, conducted by the Rector (Rev. J. Ramsey), a buffet tea was served by members of the local band and their wives to some 30 members and friends.

New members elected were Mr. and Mrs. J. Powell (Publow), Mr. N. Newton, Miss J. Newton and Miss H. Bell (Long Ashton) and Mr. J. Mounty, Mr. I. Crighton and Mr. I. Ramsey (Easton-in-Gordano).

A sub-committee consisting of Mr. T. G. Phillips, Mr. W. Kingscott, together with the secretary (Mr. D. G. Yeo), was set up to consider the form of a memorial to the late ringing master and chairman, Mr. H. W. Knight, and to report back in due course. The chairman gave an account of the annual meeting held at Bath, and also reported that five quarter peals had so far been rung in the branch to mark the 80th anniversary of the association. Further ringing followed the meeting.

Middlesex Association. A POOR START

The monthly meeting of the N. and E. District at Pinner on June 20 was held in glorious summer weather, and visitors were present from Epsom, Watford, Melbourn (Cambs), Tunbridge Wells, Hever (Kent) and Bedford. The attendance was poor in the early afternoon, Mrs. Hart (master) finding it difficult to maintain continuity of ringing. Numbers improved somewhat after tea and upwards of 50 ringers took part in the ringing during the meeting.

It was pleasing to welcome members of the St. John at Hackney band who made the rather long journey, and to see the progress they have made over the last few months.

Tea preceded the service, which was conducted by the vicar (Rev. D. Ritchie), who took part in the ringing. A short business meeting followed, at which Miss Ann Duffell and Peter H. Mackie were elected ringing members, and the provisional belfry election of Mrs. Alice M. Talbot Ponsonby (Radlett) as a non-resident member was ratified.

Thanks were accorded to Don Knights and Ken Sanders for local arrangements and to Mrs. Bardsley and her helpers for providing an excellent tea. Ringing continued but was brought to a premature close by an unfortunate mishap to the 7th bell. E. H. K.

Bedfordshire Association.

LADIES TO REPRESENT DISTRICT

It was a glorious, sunny afternoon for the annual striking contest of the Biggleswade District held at Tempsford on June 20, when six teams entered. The final placings were: 1 Henlow (combined), 2 Stotfold, Biggleswade (B), 4 Biggleswade (A), 5 Maulden, 6 Ampthill.

Tea was served in the Stuart Memorial Hall by Mrs. R. Houghton and helpers, after which the judges, Mr. C. M. Orme and Mr. R. Piron (both from the Bedford District) gave the results and commented on the afternoon's ringing. Mr. R. Piron presented the cup to Mr. B. Sims (of the Henlow combined team).

Stotfold and Biggleswade (B), all ladies, represent the district at the Bedfordshire Association contest, as the Henlow combined team was not a complete Sunday service band

Later, further ringing continued with Mr

C. D. Mann as ringing master.

The arrangements for the contest were M. L. M. made by Mr. M. Major.

Salisbury Guild.

ON A SUMMER'S DAY

The quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch was held at Iwerne Minster on June 13, a lovely summer's day. The bells were kept moving from 3 until 4.30, when the guild office was conducted by the chairman (Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore) and the than (Rev. R. A. Wells, vice-chairman). The lesson was read by Mr. J. Ralph, a veteran from Gillingham, and the organist was Mr. D. Greenway (also a ringer). Prayers were said for Miss Lottie Ride-out, vice-captain at Compton Abbas, a guild member, who had died the previous week. Later the chairman paid tribute to her work.

Tea was provided by the ladies of Iwerne Minster in the Vicarage room, and was enjoyed by 35 members and friends representing 15 towers within the branch and three outside it. Mr. C. Longridge reported on the guild A.G.M. and also on the progress of arrangements for the branch outsing in September. outing in September.

New members elected were: Mrs. Hayward (Compton Abbas), Messrs. Lillie (Zeals), M. Turpin, M. Coombes, C. Dudderidge, P. R. Extance, N. Warren and C. T. Wells (Marnhull), the last five being junior members.

After the meeting there was ringing at Blandford and at Shroton.

Herts County Association. A ROPE WAS MISSING

The Eastern District journeyed into Lincolnshire on June 13 for the annual outing, arranged by the district secretary (Mr. Stanley James). The first tower was at Edenham, where Ernie Newsham took charge, and we then moved on to the large Fen village of Billingborough, where David Harris supervised at the very attractive church with an equally fine ring of eight

After lunch we went to Heydon, where unfortunately the tenor rope was missing which prevented us from ringing. Next was the magnificent ring of ten at Grantham and the party then moved on to Barrowby (6), overlooking the Vale of Belvoir, the ringing being under the guidance of John Kemp.

Tea had been prepared in the church hall by local ladies, who were thanked. This was followed by handbell ringing.

We arrived in Hertford at approximately 9.50 p.m., and thanks were expressed to Stanley James for making the arrangements.

OH, DEAR!!

Mr. G. D. Armitage, of Harrogate, Yorkshire, writes correcting our report on page 496 "Lost his trousers, etc." He says the peal attempt at Lightcliffe lasted one hour and ten minutes, and the St. Matthew's bells there are to be recast into a "mini-ring."
(It is hoped to have the work done this autumn.)

The bells of St. Oswald's, Durham, are not to be melted down, five of them being by Christopher Hodson, 1694 (the 2nd is a recast by Gillett and Co., 1881). It is at St. Oswald's that it is hoped to arouse local interest to have the bells hung on a metal frame lower in the tower.

[Mr. Armitage says he has been embarrassed by our incorrect report, but on our part the information was written on both sides of three octavo sheets and the pages not numbered, and this partly caused the mix-up when rewritten.

We again ask all correspondents please to write on one side of the paper only, each sheet numbered. Rewriting will not then be necessary.]

[&]quot;Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, then do that with all thy might.'

WEDDING

The marriage took place at Clitheroe Parish Church, Lancs, on July 4 of Mr. John Pilkington and Miss Shirley Wash-brook. The bride wore a full-length dress of Milano satin cut on semi-princess line, shoulder-length veil (embroidered with bells) and with bandeau of lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow tea roses. She was attended by four bridesmaids, and the best man was Mr. Ian N. Goldthorpe. John was tower captain at Blackburn Cathedral until this year, and he is ringing master of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association and also leader of Blackburn Cathedral team of handbell ringers. Shirley was also, until this year, tower captain at Clitheroe. Local ringers rang before and after the service. John and Shirley will live at Whalley, Lancs

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Ringing World for July 20, 1945

A date touch of Grandsire Triples (1945 changes) was rung at St. Peter's, Bourne-mouth, in which Miss Mary Davis rang the 3rd, J. V. Davis the tenor and A. V. Davis conducted from the 7th.

Reuters reported that Sub-Lieut, A. R. Pink showed the Duke of Gloucester how to ring handbells when the latter visited the battleship "Duke of York."

"I consider it better to ring call-changes with respectable striking than to attempt change-ringing and produce jangling" (letter from Denis A. Bayles).

At Isleworth a quarter of Bob Minor was rung for Evensong by Miss S. Harris, Mrs. O. L. Rogers, Miss K. Brooks, A. F. Thirst (cond.), G. Dodds and H. W. Rogers.

Redvers F. Elkington conducted a peal of D. Norwich at Aldershot and next day a peal of Stedman at Alton.

At Helmingham, Suffolk, T. W. Last conducted Cambridge Major, Leslie G. Brett ringing the 2nd and Ronald Bullen the 6th

Rivalry is a great incentive to progress and there is no doubt that the rivalry between bands and societies was an important factor in the life and development of the Exercise.—Leader.

A joint meeting of the College Youths and Middlesex Association was held at Southgate, and Mr. J. F. Smallwood congratulated Mr. C. T. Coles on having brought about such a meeting.

Firsts in the method (Double Norwich) were scored by Denis Layton, E. S. John Hatcher and Vernon Benning at Bexley. Kent, Mr. P. A. Corby conducting.

July 23, 1920

The Dean of Wells upset the Bath and Wells Association by refusing to allow a simple tablet bearing 54 names of ringers killed in the Great War to be placed in the Cathedral. The Dean insisted on a more ambitious and expensive memorial—a statue in one of the niches. It was decided to place the tablet in Bath Abbey instead of Wells Cathedral.

Geoffrey Milton, aged 13, rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples) at Chester, the conductor being Robert Sperring.

At Selly Oak in a peal of Kent T.B. Major William B. Cartwright rang his first peal in the method, the conductor being Samuel Grove.

Frederick J. Bowley, jun. (aged 11), rang the treble for a peal of Grandsire Doubles. conducted by his father. He is believed to be the youngest peal ringer in the country.

A handbell peal of Bob Minor at Reepham, Norfolk, was rung by six ringers. each ringing one bell.

Northam, Devon, bells were dedicated after augmentation to eight; a new ring of eight at Heathfield, Sussex, was also dedicated as were two new bells at North Mymms, Herts.

The Hereford Guild festival at Leominster heard that the new districts which had been formed a year previously had proved a great success.

At a mid-week meeting of the Middlesex County Association at Northaw over 20 attended, which was considered very satisfactory. Unfortunately, because of illness near the church, ringing was stopped after two short touches had been rung.

St. John-the-Baptist, Frome,

Cover Picture

St. John-the-Baptist, Frome, Som.

THERE ARE four churches in Frome and St. John's is the one with the steeple, halfway up the hill which takes holiday traffic out southward. The town itself has grown around the church which was founded as a mission station (in Selwood Forest) by St. Aldhelm, abbot of Malmesbury, sometime between 675 and 695. The monks chose the site because of the abundant supply of pure water which breaks out as springs from the hillside and one of these (now piped) runs west of the church and then (openly) down the centre of Cheap Street towards the Market Place.

Of this church, which lasted for 500 years, only a single stone can be identified. by a pair of entwined dragons carved on its side. This was built into an earlier squint in the base of the tower in the 19th century, when an arch was cut through the northern, inward-facing, wall.

A doorway and the curve of a window remain from the 12th century rebuilding, leading now from the Baptistry to the Lady Chapel, but then from the churchyard. The lower-part of the tower and the east end of the nave date from the 13th century. An abrupt change of style shows where the western half of the nave was added a century later. Similarly, the upper part of the spiral staircase is anti-clockwise while the lower part is clockwise and shows where the tower was made higher, with a spire, in the 15th century.

By the 18th century the springs under the church were causing trouble, and the building seemed in danger of slipping down the hill. Nothing was done till the second half of the 19th century when, under Vicar Bennett, nearly the whole church (but not the tower) was pulled down and rebuilt in similar style but on a stronger foundation.

The churchwardens' accounts, beginning in 1567, show there were five bells but none of these remain, although the metal may be the same. The 4th and 5th are dated 1624, the earliest known remaining bells made by John Lott, of Warminster. The 5th was recast once, but the 4th (the old fore-bell) was recast no fewer than four times in those 57 years. Three unsuccessful attempts were by the Purdue family (plain "Purdye" in 1586), William Purdye the Younger in 1597, at Frome, and Richard Purdie in 1616, at Edington, when he was probably doing work for the Priory. The sum of 20s. 6d. was paid for "4 days expenses for ourselves and our cattel when the Treble was carried to casting". The distance travelled by the ox-team over the hilly, muddy road was five miles per day.

John Lott used very much the same de-coration as the Purdue family—flat sheet-metal lettering, a bell between his initials as trade-mark and the running vine, and even a copy of the big Prince-of-Wales feathers device with CP on it (Carolus Princeps, not GP for George Purdue, as is suggested in "Church Bells of Wiltshire"). It is possible he learned his craft from the Purdues.

The fourth proclaims proudly "I am hee for John Lott made mee", and the tenor is his bell, too, dated 1662. He had two attempts at recasting it, the second one lasting ten times longer than the first. Its weight, by tradition, was 36 cwts, and there was great consternation amongst the ringers when Gillett and Johnston, rehanging the bells in 1937, estimated it to weigh only 31 cwts. Some weight must have been lost with the removal of the canons. Nowadays it is considered by size and note (C sharp) to be nearer 30 cwts. The 7th, recast by John Lott with the other two in 1632, was cast again by Robert Wells, of Aldebourne, in 1792.

A bell given to augment the five in 1684 A bell given to augment the five in 1004 does not record the founder, but it could have been made by Lewis Cockey, the father (or uncle) of William Cockey, living in Frome at that time. The "Church Bells of Wiltshire" gives Lewis Cockey as a Bristol founder on the strength of an entry in the Yatton churchwardens' accounts, but he could be another with the same name. The L C bell at Farleigh Hungerford, in 1681, is quite different in style from the others and was made by the old waist-bell method. Lewis Cockey's L (bell) C trademark and style of lettering suggest he may have learned from John Lott. The 1684 bell had to be recast by William Bilbie, of Chewstoke, in 1788 (after William Cockey's death)

The two trebles, made by William Cockey, were added in 1724, the gift of an unknown donor. It is thought that a new wooden frame was installed in the mid-19th century, and it is this frame which is causing the trouble now. Though the timbers are sound the joints have worked loose and the nuts on the metal ties which were added later in an attempt to steady it have rusted solid. Wedges driven in between the upper part of the frame and the tower fortunately seem to have done no damage and are ineffective. This movement of the frame makes the bells unpredictable when ringing. particularly in dry weather, and in wet weather the stiffening ropes do not fall as expected after a complicated journey through guides and chutes.

There was a clock in 1567, when records begin, and some of its wheels are probably incorporated in the present clock (restored by Singer of Frome in 1868). In 1637 there was some sort of a chime and in 1760 the 113th Psalm from Ripon's selection was played. After two additions to the tunes. the present carillon was installed by Gillett and Johnston in 1922. Both clock and carillon are in working order but they do not operate as the wiring to the hammers has become unsafe. During a practice in 1963 a wire holding the clock-hammer broke as the clock struck. The bell hit the hammer through the wheel of the 5th, ripping half of it away. Inspection showed other wires ready to break and springs so weak that the hammers were resting on the The unsafe parts were dismantled and the clock and chimes silenced till money could be raised for an overhaul. As the frame also needed attention it seemed best to leave matters until new hammers could be fixed to the new frame. Frome ringers have launched an appeal for £4,000 for the rehanging of the bells in a steel frame and for the restoration of the clock and chimes.

Although the bells are not the easiest to ring, there have been 27 peals on them. The first was Stedman Triples in 1890 with the Rev. F. E. Robinson as conductor. There were seven peals of triples before 1937 when the bells were rehung on ballbearings and for all but two, two men always rang the tenor. The stalwarts were J. H. Shepherd (in 1907), after rehanging by Lewellyns and James, and S. J. Hector of Trowbridge (in 1919). The tenor was first turned in by A. P. Cannon (to Double Norwich) on New Year's Eve, 1938, Nolan Golden conducting, and 15 years later J. T. Dyke conducted a peal of Cambridge with

E. J. Chivers on the tenor. Since then there have been 19 other peals, 11 with the tenor turned in, but no-one has attempted it twice. Of the 15 conductors George Massey has nine to his credit and has rung in 12 peals. In the total of 27 peals, 11 have been of major, 16 of triples and 136 ringers have taken part. The fastest peal (triples) was rung on Boxing Day, 1956 (3 hours 2 mins.). the slowest (also triples) six months later (3 hours 27 mins.), the bells being half-muffled in memory of W. Flower, ringer at St. John's for 53 years.

The last peal with two on the tenor (1930) included W. H. Mills, who rang for the relief of Ladysmith and Mafeking, and now at 88 still rings regularly for service.

The bells were kept ringing during the First World War and were fired when peace was declared. They were kept ringing for the Second World War (until stopped) and the ringers practised jangling them as airraid alarm. Until the Second World War the Curfew was rung each night at 8 p.m. and the bells used to be rung only on the first Sunday of each month and for festi-vals. Later this was increased to first and third Sundays and then to every Sunday, and always for evensong. Now service ringing is at 8.15 a.m. for family Eucharist Now service (at 9 a.m.) and for evensong only on festival occasions.

To raise £4,000 is the formidable task that the ringers have accepted, for the Church has many other problems. In addition to skittles at the fete and an open day and exhibition in the tower, Orchardleigh Park and Gardens will be open to the public on Bank Holiday Monday (August 31st) and it is hoped to have Frank Mack's very light ring of six available. There will be a handbell concert and community singing evening on September 19th and Christmas cards (depicting a very fine pen-and-ink drawing of the Church) will shortly be on sale, price 9d. Please watch the "Ringing World" for all details.

Donations to the Bell Fund should be sent to the secretary, R. Baker, 5, Cranmore View, Frome, or direct to the Westminster Bank, Market Place, Frome.

900 YEARS OF WORSHIP

ALTON (HAMPSHIRE) RINGERS JOIN IN CELEBRATIONS

Four years after the Norman Conquest a church was built in Alton (Hampshire) and dedicated to St. Lawrence. Nine-hundred years later - in 1970 - celebrations are taking place in this delightful country town with its melodious ring of eight (tenor 18 cwt.) and socials, concerts, recitals, musical festivals with visiting societies, and son et lumière have been or are taking place. A great deal of organisation and hard work has had to be done, and the local ringers, under their captain (Mr. Rex Corke) and hon, secretary/treasurer (Mr. Clive Chennell-White), have played a part—a very large part -in all the activities.

Special ringing, quarter-peals, interchange of bands with towers in the area, have been organised and successes reported in the R.W. The culmination of these ringing festivities was on July 18 with a programme (well advertised and circulated) arranged to suit the many visitors expected from a wide area. Lunch was booked at a local hotel mear the church and tea laid on. Tickets were printed to enable numbers to be estimated, and the organist and choirmaster volunteered to play and for his full choir to attend to lead the singing. The preacher at the service (Rev. P. W. Gallup) travelled up from Buriton (Petersfield), the Vicar (Rev. D. L. Couper) conducting the service. which was bright and interesting.

WHAT WENT WRONG?

The fact that ringers generally are unpredictable, particularly in supporting meetings, practices and festivals, has often been stated, and this was emphasised in no small degree on this occasion. Whilst it is believed that ringing did take place at many of the churches whose incumbents had lbaned their bells for given periods, only five sat down to lunch (including three local ringers), 15 attended the service (two being in the choir and four locals) whilst 12 sat down to tea (four locals, the Vicar, the preacher and six visitors).

To say that the Alton ringers were disappointed is an understatement. Any church celebrating an anniversary expects to be supported locally, for it is a special event for parishioners. Alton has no cause to complain on this count, but it was rather a "let-down" for bellringing.

However, at tea, a delightful meal with a great variety of edibles. Mr. Corke welcomed the visitors, particularly Mrs. Gladys Munsey who had travelled down especially for the occasion from Peterborough, and Mr. Jack Euston, of St. Margaret's, West-minster. He also thanked all who had helped in any way to organise and take part in the arrangements, and commiserated with Mr. Chennell-White on the disappointing support after so much hard work.

The Vicar spoke of the excellent work of his own ringers and invited those present to attend son et lumière during September

The Rev. P. W. Gallup, who is the district chairman for Alton and Petersfield area, in his address emphasised the part bellringers play in the worship of God, quoting from the Book of the Revelations "And they rest not day nor night, singing Holy, holy, holy". The worship of God goes on all over the world at all times, he said, and bellringers take a part - an important part—in that worship. It was not the 18 cwts. of bell metal that gave praise but the spirit of the ringer, each holding a rope, which in a unique way added a little to the worship of the world's Creator.

1971 CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING: LEAMINGTON SPA

The general secretary of the Coventry Diocesan Guild has sent us the following information:-

"At last I can let you know that the Central Council meeting will be held at Leamington Spa in 1971. We have arranged for the headquarters to be the Regent Hotel, and to have the Civic Reception in the Royal Pump Rooms, Leamington, with the meeting in the Town Hall.

"We made three attempts to secure a headquarters for the Council. The first was all arranged some 12 months ago, but when we arrived at Ilkley Mr. Perrens produced a telegram, received the day before, saying that the arrangements could not be carried out by the hotel concerned. We set out on a hotel hunt on the day we returned to Coventry, and tried again with another hotel in a different town, only to be told, when we wrote to confirm our verbal arrangements, that they "could not cope." The third try, in Leamington, produced very satisfactory results, and we look forward to the best-ever Central Council meeting in 1071." ing in 1971."

[Thank you, Coventry.—Ed.]

AN ABBEY OCCASION

To many who visit Westminster Abbey, the memories taken away are marred by the jostling masses of tourists straining to catch snatches of history from their guides above the sounds of shuffling feet and the murmur of many tongues.

To the privileged few who were invited there on the evening of Tuesday, July 7, the scene was very different. The Dean and Chapter had graciously decided to commemorate the 400th year of the White-chapel Bell Founday and their chapel Bell Foundry and their own association with the foundry since 1583. To this end the foundry staff and members of the Abbey ringers, with their wives, assembled in the cloisters and were led into Henry VII's Chapel, where at 6.30 p.m. a service of thanksgiving and Holy Communion was conducted by the Dean, assisted by two Minor Canons.

After this moving service in a most historic setting, the Dean and Dr. Carpenter acted as guides and took the company on a tour of the Abbey. Seeing the building in the stillness of a summer evening, bereft of the multitudes, and with the westering sun streaming through the great windows was an experience none will forget.

After listening with rapt attention to the fascinating narratives given by the Dean and Dr. Carpenter, the party retired to St. Katharine's Chapel garden, where cool and nourishing refreshments were laid before

A set of ten handbells was presented to the Dean by the brothers Hughes, and after thanking the foundry for the gift the Dean called on Mr. Pitstow, who arranged bands for a touch of Grandsire Caters and three leads of Kent Major. The ringers also entertained the company with some tune-ringing and as the echo of the bells and the lengthening shadows of the setting sun drifted across the lawn, there was borne in on the minds of all present the realisation that they had been participants in a rare occasion, delightfully English and exclusively "Abbey."

FIFTY PEALS AT BARNES

Some interesting facts concerning peals at Barnes have emerged. The bells were augmented to eight in 1887 by the addition of five new bells. The three old bells were dated 1575, 1616 and 1667, and the 1575 one was cast by Mott of the Whitechapel Foundry and is the fifth of the present ring.
The first peal Plain Bob Major (conducted by W. T. Elsom) was not rung until December 12, 1903, and the 25th 63 years later, on March 5, 1967. However, the next 25 took only three years, the 50th peal being rung on May 23 this year! The increase is mainly due to the enthusiasm and support of the present rector (Rev. Basil Whitnorth).

The first peal of Surprise was Bristol on December 27, 1910, conducted by William Pye, and it took 56 years for the next, Cambridge, conducted by Robin Leale. Altogether 26 methods have been rung on the bells to peals, Plain Bob Major being the most popular (with nine), closely followed by Yorkshire (with eight). Included in the total are 14 different Surprise, two of Delight methods, and the record length of Lincolnshire

The leading association is Surrey (with 18), followed by London County (with 11) and Middlesex (with 10). Other associations which have rung neals at Barnes are the Ancient Order of College Youths. Royal Cumberland Youths. University of London, Kent. All Saints', Fulham, and St. Mary Abbots Societies.

A SHORT TRIP TO SCOTLAND

There are really only three requirements for a ringing trip to Scotland—reliable cars, reliable ropes (minimum 10) and at least 13 willing ringers. The result was that in early summer these three ingredients were found proceeding from various parts of Somerset en route for Edinburgh and a week's tour of Scotland.

Our first stop was at Leyland to ring for a wedding, but they had forgotten us, and we reflected rather sadly on local memories before making tracks for the heavy eight at Lancaster Priory, where springy ropes made handling tricky. We stayed overnight at Penrith, after first visiting Great Salkeld, our only six of the week.

An invitation to ring at Penrith's early service on Sunday was eagerly accepted before we reverted to the programme and rang at Harraby, near Carlisle, for Matins. With motorway-type roads, the journey to Edinburgh was accomplished without incident, and we signed in at our H.Q. for the week. The party was cordially welcomed at Fettes College by Mr. Cole Hamilton, the second master. The lightest five in the U.K. proved quite a test to aspiring treble ringers and seasoned tenor ringers alike, but creditable 120's were rung before a sensitive lower in peal. Evensong ringing was at Leith, and those who stayed to the service were treated to a ringers' sermon (not to mention coffee at the Rectory afterwards).

DUNDEE'S TWO TOWERS

Dundee was our goal on Monday, and after journeying through Fife via the Forth and Tay bridges we arrived at the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Paul and spent a pleasant hour on the bells. A complaint from a nearby office was received in the record time of five minutes, but the messenger departed somewhat reassured when told we were staying only for a short time. Despite all efforts and copious correspondence, permission to ring at the Old Steeple was not forthcoming, but Ron Short's persistence finally achieved success, and at 2 o'clock the municipal guardians arrived with the key and we were able to enjoy a good hour's ringing on what must un-doubtedly be one of the best maintained eights in Scotland. We left the city and visited Perth on the way home.

Tuesday saw the cars heading westward to Argyll and we arrived at Cairndow to a very warm welcome by Mrs. Noble (wife of the M.P. for the county), who showed us round the gardens and woods of the estate. As the chairman of the recentlyformed Friends of Inveraray Bells, her en-thusiasm is unbounded, and the attractive brochure with its coloured frontispiece that has been produced is ringing publicity at its best. We drove to the town for lunch. and afterwards fitted ropes, paying tribute to the hard work which Norman Chaddock and his team had done. Ringing included Caters and Royal, Double Norwich on the back eight, and finished with a memorable fall on the eight. Amongst the visitors who watched was the present heir to the Duke of Argyll, the Marquis of Lorne, and we were delighted to hear of his strong support for the bells and for the work being done at the tower.

DUNBLANE PRAISED

Wednesday was a "towergrab," with no fewer than four towers on the programme! At Alloa Harry Glover and two of his lady ringers joined us, and we were grateful to the locals for giving up their weekly practice to allow us to ring. There are inevitable complaints if the normal quota is exceeded. Dunblane Cathedral was next, and inquiries about the weatherbeaten qualities of the nave pillars revealed that the building was roofless for 300 years, but was restored in the 19th century. Despite the dark belfry (and a degree of odd-struckness) the 24 cwt. eight have a fine tone. The Cathedral contains some of the best wood carving in the British Isles, which visitors should not miss.

In Edinburgh we were welcomed at the Cathedral by Miss Benson, and if the catwalk did not appeal to everyone, the belfry interior must be unique for its collection of old prints and plaster casts of bells, not to mention the telephone. Sad to relate, the fall was marred by a clapper breaking on the 5th. Good ringing was enjoyed at St. Cuthberts, where Mr. R. S. Wilson, the Scottish general secretary met us, and joined us for a course of Cambridge. We enjoyed the best of both worlds here for those not ringing were able to sit out on the roof in the warm sunshine and admire the views of the castle and the city around

Thursday took us to Inverness, the most northerly eight in the British Isles. Earlier talk of driving up had been abandoned in favour of the railway, and it was pleasant to enjoy the relaxation of a ride through the mountains, with views of the snow-capped Cairngorms and Grampians and marvel at the tenacity of the engineers who drove the line through to Inverness in those far off days. St. Andrew's Cathedral is situated alongside the River Ness, and we found this Warner eight a little difficult to strike well but it was good to hear that these bells are kept ringing by a local band, considering their isolated position.

Friday saw the party at Glasgow Cathedral, where we met Magnus Peterson, who was a great help in planning the tour. The bells are an extremely good Taylor ten, of early 20th century vintage, and those waiting on the stairs were well placed to hear a good touch of Grandsire Caters. Our other tower was at Paisley but the acoustics made hearing difficult; the tape recording told a very different story and proved them a fine mellow eight.

We left Edinburgh on Saturday morning, enjoying splendid motoring and a feast of scenery over Cheviot and Pennine. The 200 miles to York slid away and although the Minster is again in splints, the bells are happily still ringable. Harold Walker guided us through the scaffolding to the ringing chamber, to enable some of us to ring on our heaviest 12 (apart from Exeter).

East Grinstead and District Guild.

A VARIED PROGRAMME

The meeting on July 11 was advertised as being at Newdigate, and as members raised the bells the incumbent arrived and asked us to stop as he was holding an old people's party, which included a display of country dancing and they were unable to hear the music because of the bells! He also explained that he had been in the parish for only one week, and his pre-decessor had not informed him of the meeting. With the use of his phone the vice-chairman arranged that we might have the use of Rusper bells, and a note having been left for latecomers we moved over there. We were met by a local ringer, who told us that he was going to start teaching local girls at 7 p.m.

However, after some ringing, members had tea at a fete on the Rectory lawn, and the business meeting was held in the recreation ground. One new member was elected. A collection was made for the rope fund, and the chairman announced that the meeting in August would be held at Speldhurst, and at the September meeting we would join the Croydon festival. Provisional arrangements have been made to hold the November meeting at East Grinstead.

A game of cricket followed, using an old branch as a bat, and, later, members adjourned to the Star nearby, where dominoes, shove-ha'penny, darts and bar billiards were played.

R. J. E.

The ten at Pontefract followed, and here Brig. Young made a presentation to Ron Short on behalf of the party, thanking him for his hard work in arranging the trip, which Ron acknowledged with his customary modesty. Doncaster was our last tower of the day, and after an overnight stop at Chesterfield the tour ended with service ringing at Ruddington (a recently rehung Taylor eight) just outside Nottingham.

It remains only to say thank you, Scotland, for your warm welcome and hospitality and your excellent hells

Obituary

ALEC HOWELL

On June 25 the Stroud Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was robbed of one of its best-loved brother ringers by the death, at the early age of 58, Alec Howell.

Alec was born in Woodchester and learned to ring at St. Mary's Church at a very early age, which is remarkable, for he lost his sight when he was seven.

He was a fine ringer and a good conductor, and in 1958 conducted a touch for the B.B.C. programme "Christmas Bells." He also conducted peals and quarters.

A welcome attraction to the annual Randwick handbell festival, he played a small carillon which he built himself.

Alec moved to Stonehouse and became tower captain at St. Cyr's. It was here that he was laid to rest when the funeral took place on June 30, and four of his brother ringers acted as bearers.

The service was conducted by the vicar (Rev. Lionel Ford), who paid tribute to and gave thanks for the life of Alec Howell, making special mention of the large congregation, which showed how greatly he was esteemed.

The vicar spoke of how Alec made light of his affliction of blindness and what an inspiration he was to all who knew him.

Alec Howell was laid gently and reverently to rest in the shadow of the church to which he was devoted and within the sound of the bells that he loved. Of the many beautiful wreaths, one is worthy of mention. Bell-shaped, it was from the young ringers of St. Cyr's, whom he taught so well and who thought so highly of him.

Half-muffled quarter peals were rung at St. Cyr's, Stonehouse, and St. Lawrence's, Stroud, and the bells of St. John the Baptist, Randwick, and St. Mary's, Woodchester, were also rung.
"May God grant him peace eternal, and may Light perpetual shine upon him.'

MRS. ROSE E. MAY

The funeral of Mrs. Rose E. May, for many years secretary and treasurer of the Liss, Hampshire, ringers, took place on July 6 at St. Mary's, Liss. The service was conducted by the rector (Rev. N. Barnett). During the interment of the ashes Liss handbell team rang hymn tunes, and open ringing on the tower bells followed, Liss ringers and representatives of other local towers taking part in a quarter of Doubles.

Although never reaching great heights in the art, Mrs. May was an example in her devotion to her church and to her duties as a member of the Sunday service band. Her popularity in the village life was shown in the number of people attending the funeral service. May she rest in peace. D. M. H.

MR. R. W. WORRALL

Members of the Northwich Branch and other members of the Chester Diocesan Guild were greatly saddened by the untimely death of Mr. R. W. Worrall, tower captain at Hartford. He died suddenly at his home on June 20, and the funeral service took place at Hartford on June 24. The six bells were rung half-muffled by his friends from surrounding towers.

Reg Worrall was born in the shadow of Great Budworth Church and it was natural that he should take up ringing. He Swansea and Brecon Guild.

A LADY MASTER

Between 40 and 50 attended the 42nd annual festival at Brecon on July 4, and the majority of members were from the Southern District. Ringing arrangements included Llanfeigan, St. David's, Llanfaes, and St. Mary's, Brecon, and the service, which was fully choral, was held in the Cathedral. Attending the service at the same time were members of the West Wales Organists' Association, who were holding their meeting in Brecon the same day. The preacher was the Rev. David P. Davies, of Lampeter, who based his sermon on "One Part of a Whole" (a combination of parts). The Bishop, Dr. J. A. Thomas, pronounced the Blessing.

Tea was kindly provided by the Dean (Dr. D. W. W. Jacob) in the schoolroom.

The business meeting followed, and the Bishop, who presided, thanked the Dean for providing the tea. The hon. secretary, in his report, said it was not a happy one, and then gave a list of towers that were still silent. Something must be done in this matter, he said, and monthly practices should be organised in each of these towers, for missionary work is certainly the answer. The annual ringing competition was cancelled because of lack of interest, and this was a blow to the guild's progress, as in the past the competition proved beneficial.

Mr. C. N. Wedgwood, the newly-elected hon. secretary (Northern District) was doing his best to organise and create more in-terest. On a more cheerful note, the Southern District was improving both in membership and ringing.
ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Miss Susan Jackson, a very capable ringer and instructor, was elected master, and the other officers were all re-elected. The annual report was discussed, but the printing was left until it was known how many copies would be required. The 1971 annual festival will be held in Swansea, the date to be given later. Miss Jackson proposed the affiliation of the Swansea University Guild to the Swansea and Brecon Guild, and this was agreed unanimously.

The hon, secretary was instructed to send a letter to Mr. W. J. Thomas expressing the members' best wishes for a speedy recovery from his recent illness. The meeting closed with prayer. J. A. H.

started to ring in 1923 at the age of 17 and was taught by the late John Holden; from then on ringing became his only serious hobby.

Before the last war Reg was a member of a group of enthusiasts, which included among others Albert Booth, Harry Howard and Harry Parker. They were anxious to increase their ringing skill and cycled to as many meetings as they could. In 1951 Reg became tower captain at Hartford and was chairman of the branch from 1952 to 1954. He spent most of his working life in Local Government and brought his professional skills to the service of the branch as secretary and treasurer from 1958 to 1963. leaving immaculate accounts and minutes as a memorial to his period in that office. He had rung well over 100 peals but only 99 for the Chester Guild. It was his ambition to ring a peal of London Surprise Major as his 100th peal for the guild.

Reg was a skilful ringer, and for this he will be sorely missed in a small branch, but he will also be remembered as a very kindly man who would suddenly produce gifts of sweets for children, or flowers for a sick friend, and for his devotion to his invalid To her and their son, Raymond, we offer our sympathy in their grief.

Leicester Guild.

SUMMER QUARTERLY MEETING

The summer quarterly meeting of the Leicester Guild was held at Bottesford on June 20. Towers open were at Long Towers open were at Long Clawson, Hose, Harby, Granby, Orston and Bottesford, a programme which took ringers through the beautiful Vale of Belvoir in excellent summer weather.

After the service at Bottesford tea was provided in the village hall by the Melton District ladies.

Mr. John Bramley (president) welcomed the company, which included visitors from London, Dublin, Kettering, Nottingham and Peterborough.

The meeting stood in silence in memory of two members, Mr. Horace Over (Hugglescote) and Mrs. Joyce Wright (Groby).
The election of 18 ringing members and 13 non-resident life members was confirmed and ten certificates of membership were presented.

Arrangements for the dinner in September were announced, as was the festival on May 15 next year to mark the breaking up of the old Midland Counties Association.

A letter had been sent to the Bishop of Leicester, expressing the concern of the guild for the future of the bells of St. John the Divine, Leicester, and requesting that the guild be kept informed of any developments.

The date of the guild striking competition was given out and will be held at Countesthorpe. The next quarterly meeting will be held in the Loughborough district in October.

Mr. Brian Warwick (C.C. representative) gave a brief report on the meeting at Ilkley.

Mr. Paul Taylor spoke of his visit to Australia and told of the excellent hospitality he had enjoyed there. He then proposed a hearty vote of thanks to all who had worked so hard to make the meeting such a success.

Mr. Warwick informed the meeting that a suggestion had been made that Bottesford be transferred to the Southwell Guild be-cause more support came from "over the border." The matter had been fully dis-cussed and it had been decided that this tower should remain in the Leicester Guild, although co-operation between bordering towers of neighbouring guilds was a very good thing.

Further ringing took place under Mr. Roland Cook until 8.30 p.m. R. D. H.

Salisbury Guild DAY'S RINGING PLANNED

On July 4, a fine and pleasant afternoon, the quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Evershot, home tower of the ringing master (Mr. H. D. W. Bishop), who took charge of the ringing. The guild service was conducted by the vicar (Rev. P. J. Helyer) and the organist was Mr. D. Ellery.

A most welcome tea was prepared and given by the local ringers and their wives in the village hall. The chairman (Mr. C. W. Powell) presided at the business meeting, and the members expressed appreciation to the hon. secretary and his wife (Mr. and Mrs. J. Davis) for all the arrangements and catering for the guild festival and also to the ladies who helped.

The next meeting is at Lyme Regis in Sentember, and plans for a day's ringing were put in hand for October.

Two new members from Lyme Regis were elected, and 14 methods were rung during the afternoon and evening. J. D.

A "HAPPENING" AT KINGSWOOD

Sunday, July 5, was Belfry "Open Day" at Kingswood, Surrey, and the tower was open to interested parishioners so that they had the opportunity to meet the ringers, to see the "works" and to find out what bellringing is all about! Ringing started at 8.45 a.m. for Sung Eucharist, followed by normal ringing at 10.30 a.m., a ringersfamily service taking the place of Matins. It was attended by the Guides and their captain, Miss Janet Jesson (who is also a ringer), read the lesson.

A large number of Sunday School members were present and provided a band of six to illustrate on handbells some of the noises emanating Sunday by Sunday from the belfry. Demonstrated were rounds, the belfry. Demonstrated were rounds, Queens, Whittingtons and Tittums, and (at very short notice) plain hunting! The captain of the tower (Mr. Bernard Hawkins) gave a short accompanying explanation. The vicar (Rev. E. G. Ashford) concentrated his address on the message of the bells and said that the message depended solely (or soully) on the person on the end of the rone.

Displayed in church were posters on aspects of ringing (including the Surrey Association), bellcasting, The Ringing World, Dove, and Kingswood Outing, 1970. Ringing An excellent one on being a beginner was by the latest recruit, Alan Veness. Throughout the day parties of parishioners and their families were escorted up the tower, given a short explanation of the mechanics of bell-handling, and use was made of the tower bells and a delightful model (loaned by Peter Ford, of Leatherhead), which it was possible to ring. Further showings were of call changes and change ringing, followed by ascent to the bell chamber and to the top of the tower.

Over 100 signed the visitors' book and we were pleased to welcome four ringers from the Southampton area and one from Toddington (Beds). A quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was brought round for Evensong and a final tour took place afterwards. I can only conclude that the day was an enormous success and goes to prove how interested the "natives" are when given the opportunity. The most common comment was to remark how very much more was involved than had been imagined.

Out of the day we gained a large amount of interest and goodwill (and a learner or two?) and we say: "Go to it everybody! The public are itching to be educated and you might even gain some ringers!" B. H.

HEARTY CO-OPERATION

On July 4 the Ilchester Branch held their monthly practice meeting at St. Catherine's, Drayton.

Despite holidays, local fetes and outings, there was a good attendance, and especially was it pleasing to have such an excellent turn-out of Drayton ringers, led by their tower master (Mr. John Stone). Ringing at this tower has revived enormously, and the Sunday service band ring at least once every Sunday.

The branch ringing master (Mr. Gordon Rendell) was in charge, and the pleasant ground-floor 8 (22 cwt.) was put to good use during the evening in a variety of methods, call changes and rounds.

The members are grateful to the Sequestrators for permission to use the bells, also to the tower master and the Drayton ringers for their hearty co-operation in making such a pleasant evening possible. M. M. L.

UNFORTUNATE OCCURRENCE, IF TRUE

Dear Sir, — As people's warden for the parish of Preston, Brighton, I feel it my duty to write concerning a disgraceful epi-sode at St. Peter's Church, Preston, on a recent Saturday.

I am informed by the Vicar that three young men swung St. Peter's bells "full circle", expressly against his wishes. They had been told that the tower and bells were unsuitable for this, but proceeded to endanger themselves and the church fabric after a parishioner had allowed them entry.

Some years ago the Diocesan Architect had advised against ringing "full circle" owing to the dangerous state of the stone-

I am informed that such insolent and dangerous behaviour is not uncommon in this part of the country and therefore would like to use your columns to bring this matter to a wider attention. — Yours faithfully,

L. S. GRENFELL.

AN ALLEGATION

Dear Sir,—I refer to a letter by Mr. R. H. Dove on page 170 (March 6) of The Ringing World.

He suggests that the appointment of honorary members of the Central Council is a question of patronage rather than merit that they are not democratically elected.

This is strong language, and I am surprised that no-one has written to denyor confirm-this allegation. Can I assume that this allegation is correct?

Incidentally, I should be very interested to learn why Mr. Dove has not been made a member of the Council. After all, every serious ringer must use his Guide at some time or other. Isn't it time that Mr. Dove's labour of love was recognised by the Exercise through honorary membership of the Council?—Yours faithfully,
G. D. ARMITAGE.

GOSPEL OAK

Dear Sir,-May I thank your correspondents, Messrs. Newman and Harwin, for their continued interest in the bells of Gospel Oak, and for their kinds words of encouragement.

But it would be wrong of me to accept this praise personally, as I live near the church and generally attend morning service there anyway. No, the real thanks for keeping these bells ringing should go to those people who travel several miles, usually by public transport (not the easiest way of getting about London on a Sunday morning), often after ringing at their home towers—people like Keith and Diana Trip-low, David and Dianne Gazeley, Roger Tompsett and Susan Shaw.

As the almost total redevelopment of the Gospel Oak area proceeds, it is to be hoped that one of the few "constants" hoped that one of the few "constants" during this period of radical social change will continue to be the sound of Gospel Oak bells. And let us hope that when the community settles down again a local band may be formed to continue the tradition so ably started by the people mentioned by your correspondents.—Yours faithfully, WALTER KNIGHT.

GRATEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGED

Dear Sir,—Further to my letter on page 290 of your issue No. 3,077 dated April 19, 1970, we have now completed the second quarter of 1970, and your readers may be interested in the following figures. These are again based on 12 issues, commencing with April 3, 1970, and ending with June 26. 1970, but omitting the issue of June 19. 1970, as this did not include a "Gratefully Acknowledged" column.

Totals Donations Published Acknowledged Peals 668 128 (£29 5s. 9d.) H.B. Peals 134 1 (10s. 0d.) Quarter Peals 1079 634 (£134 12s. 9d.)

Thus 19.16 per cent. of published peals and 58.75 per cent. of published quarter peals sent included donations towards. The Ringing World production costs, and it is encouraging to note that these show a slight increase over the previous figures.

The total subscribed during the second quarter amounts to £202 5s. 6d. and is made up as follows:-

> 29 Peals H.B. Peals 10 12 17 134 Quarter Peals ó Personal £202 5

Peals account for 14.478 per cent. of this total, quarter peals 66.56 per cent., and personal donors 18.712 per cent. overall figure is lower for this quarter than the previous one and, based on an average week's figures, would probably still have fallen short of the final total, even including the issue for June 19, 1970.

I am again showing the breakdown taking an average of all peals (tower- and handbell) and quarter peals basing on six alternatively eight bells, with a 6d. contribution from each ringer.

I believe readers will be able to draw their own conclusions from these figures, especially when compared with those pre-viously published. I still feel that a small contribution from a lot of people would help put The Ringing World finances on a sure

Since my last letter was published Governments have changed, but you will recall that there was, and may be still is, a threat of increased postal charges. Furthermore, there has been unrest in the printing industry, and printing costs could rise by as much as 15 to 20 per cent. before the year is out. These two items alone would make serious inroads into any funds What would this mean? now available. Firstly an increase in the price of The Ringing World, which would no doubt have a secondary effect in reducing circulation, the very item that The Ringing World Committee are anxious to increase.

Need I say more? Please continue with your donations, the larger the better, and let us see if, during the current quarter, we can improve on past performances and really indicate to The Ringing World Committee our support for all that The Ringing World means to us.—Yours faithfully,

RICHARD J. CANN.

DISTRICT MEETINGS

Dear Sir. -- Mr. House (Ringing World, page 343) claims that the meetings held by guilds and associations along traditional lines serve no useful purpose and implies that they could well be discontinued. He is, of course, overlooking one basic fact, that these meetings are the backbone of our guilds and associations, and to take this course of action would without doubt be to sound their death knell as we know them today. No one would deny the good that can be achieved by additional organised practices held on week-day evenings, thus allowing beginners to take advantage of the additional facilities provided, but I would disagree with him that the successful organisation of such practices is as easy as he would have us believe. The tuition of inexperienced bands in their own tower by a team supplied by the guild or association involved is again not so easy to organise, mainly because a large number of would-be instructors can only give one evening a week to ringing, which is rightly spent in their own tower. Even in cases where such organisation is possible, great care must be exercised with the often delicate feelings of the local band, if these are to go smoothly and the bells continue to be rung on Sundays, which is the prime object of the

To return to meetings, regrettably a large proportion of Mr. House's admittedly cynical remarks are nevertheless true at many of our guild and association meetings. A beginner attending perhaps his or her first meeting generally feels that there is very much a cold "them and us" atmosphere. A simple method is called for and a band comprising 75 per cent. beginners catches hold. The ringing master makes no effort to correct this, with the inevitable result. Surprise is then called for and the so-called experts ring a touch, only to disappear again without trace. The answer clearly lies with the ringing master. Obviously the person holding this office must have the personality to welcome the ringers into the tower, particularly the nervous beginners, quickly putting them at their ease. He must ensure that a good distribution of ringing to meet all needs is met as far as possible. That a touch in a simple method is not overloaded with beginners, asking some to stand down and detailing more experienced ringers, who rarely have any objection to ring when required. ensure that those who have been attempting Grandsire for upwards of 20 years with no visible personal effort to improve and thus avoid wasting others people's time do not hog the available time, and generally to conduct the proceedings in an efficient and agreeable manner. After all, the ringing master is the principal officer that many ringers come into contact with, and to them he is the guild or association.

How then do we elect a person to this important post? Only too often the position is considered as the junior post in the officers' team. This results in an up-and-coming youngster, who may well be a capable ringer although this is by no means an essential requirement, who has no idea of how to organise and manage other ringers, being elected with the all too familiar result. Indeed this attitude is almost sponsored by many guilds and association, including my own, by making the post a supernumerary one with no place on the general committee.

More thought by our guilds and associations as to their aims and objects will convince them that to abandon meetings would be contrary to their function for the simple

ORIGINAL MINOR

Dear Sir,—The publication by Mr. K. Price of the compositions used by his band for Original Minor (Ringing World, page 534) raises several interesting points.

I am sure that Mr. Price and all other interested people will have noticed that Extent No. 1 is identical in all respects except the instructions given by the conductor with Extent No. 94 of Single Court in the 1961 edition of the Minor Methods Collection. Any extent of Single Court Minor can in fact be produced by ringing Original, and this raises a question concerning the specification of the contents of touches. I think it is true in general that if a touch contains a plain lead of all the methods rung it is possible to tell, by listening to the ringing, exactly what methods have been rung, although in some cases one might not be sure how much of each method had been rung (e.g. in a touch of Spliced Single Court and Single Oxford Minor). Ignoring for the moment the particular problems of Doubles ringing and irregular methods, there is only one situation where the above statement is not true, and this is when either or both of Single Court and Original Minor are rung.

When Mr. S. Humphrey published the report of the first peal of Original Minor to be rung on tower bells there was a footnote to the effect that Single Court was not rung, which presumably meant that anyone listening to the ringing would have been in no doubt that the band was ringing Original. But can we say this of some of Mr. Price's peals, which have included a peal of Original, peals including Original and Single Court in separate extents, and peals including an extent of Spliced Original and Single Court? I would suggest that the peals in which both methods were rung should have both methods counted only if, to a listener, it was absolutely certain that Original was being rung when the band thought they were ringing it.

I would hasten to assure Mr. Price and his band that this is in no way intended as a criticism of their peals. I have been aware of this anomaly in the rules for some time and these peals provide an appropriate example of the ambiguity which can arise.

Finally, a brief reference to Doubles. All parts of Grandsire Doubles except singles can be produced in ringing, Original, and Reverse St. Bartholomew has now, in spite of its plain lead being a Grandsire single, been accepted as a regular method. So there is really no such method as Grandsire Doubles; what we ring is simply Soliced Reverse St. Bartholomew and Original (Grandsire variation), but of course, iust like those who continue to use April Day as the name of a variation although they are ringing spliced, those who wish to, and I am sure we are in the majority, will continue to use the time-honoured name.—Yours faithfully, reason that it would be tackling the problem from the wrong direction. What they may well conclude is that far more of their and indeed the Central Council's efforts should be directed at a ringing in the tower level and less on agendas and activities that have little meaning to the majority of ringers in general.

In conclusion it would appear that David and Janet House may well have had some unhappy meeting experiences in a land of cocoa drinking ringers.—Yours faithfully, C. A. TESTER.

Maidstone, Kent.

KEEN RABBIT

Dear Sir,—"A Keen Rabbit" must not despair. He has come up against one of the facts of bellringing life, and that is that the one who needs the most practice, the learner, gets the least.

The one who can only ring rounds is fortunate to get two goes an evening. When he can ring plain hunt he can grab a rope for the rounds as well. Arriving at the plain course he comes in three or four times an evening, and so on.

We are all learners at one stage or another, and at a meeting everybody likes to have an attempt at something near the borders of his capacity, and the experienced ringer "attempting to ring..." Chowbent Surprise will have spent some considerable time previously learning the method. Of necessity, few of us get as much ringing as we would like at a branch meeting.

If "A Keen Rabbit" wishes to progress more quickly I would suggest that he gathers together three or four other ringers of similar attainment, and with one or two ringers a little further on in experience spend a Saturday afternoon ringing plain courses of Plain Bob. His branch secretary would, I have no doubt, give him assistance in the organisation of such a practice.

There are villages on the Derbyshire-Cheshire border where the inhabitants, as they pursue their daily avocations, are known to whistle plain courses of Plain Bob Minor. With variations in the last lead. And syncopated. They love it,—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR WHITING.

Burnage, Manchester.

A WARNING!

Dear Sir,—While browsing through some old magazines I came across this little article in "A. Webb's Parish Almanack, Tettenhall, 1888," which might serve as a warning to anybody who wishes to get rid of any bells:

"King Henry VIII looked upon church bells only as so much metal that could be melted down and sold, hence in the wholesale destruction and distribution of church property in his reign countless bells disappeared, to be sold as mere metal. curious coincidences attend this appropriation. The King himself suffered greatly from marital and ministerial troubles after the dissolution of the monasteries. Ships attempting to carry bells across the seas foundered in several havens, as at Lynn and Yarmouth. Fourteen of the Jersey bells, on being wrecked at the entrance of the harbour of St. Malo, gave rise to a local saying to the effect that when the wind blows the drowned bells are ringing to haunt the sailors. A certain Bishop of Bangor, too, who sold the bells of his sethedral was stricked with his drown when cathedral, was stricken with blindness when he went to see them shipped, and Sir Miles Partridee, who won the Jesus bells of St. Paul's Cathedral from King Henry at dice, was not long afterwards hanged on Tower Hill."-Yours faithfully.

CHRISTINE TEBBOT.

DEDICATION QUARTER PEAL

On June 28 at a service at SS. Peter and Paul, S. Petherton, Som, the new heating system and also the restoration of the belfry were dedicated by the Rural Dean of Crewkerne (Rev. W. T. Taylor) and Rev. J. H. Jelly (vicar).

The ringing chamber has been extensively improved and redecorated and has a new ceiling, panelling, fluorescent lighting, etc. The local ringers have worked hard cleaning, painting, installing panelling and laying carpeting. Special thanks are due to the vicar, the tower master (Mr. R. C. Beale), Mr. Gordon Glyde (correspondent), the lady ringers and others who assisted

The vicar encouraged the ringers and thanks go also to those in and around the village (of all denominations!) who gave during the ringers' house-to-house collection.

There was a good attendance of ringers for the morning service, including officers of Ilchester Branch (to which this tower belongs), and later a quarter peal of Plain Bob Major (1,264 changes) was rung for the dedication. It was also the 14th wedding anniversary of the captain (Mr. R. C. Beale), a 9th birthday compliment to Keven Beale (his son and a ringer at this church) and a welcome to the grandson of Mr. F. Welch. Those taking part were Mrs. A. Medley 1, R. C. Beale 2, R. Beale 3, F. Welch 4, W. H. Pearce 5, R. A. Welch 6, M. J. Medley 7, W. E. Turner (cond.) 8.

LANGAR (NOTTS) CHURCH BELLS

Early in 1970 a band of ringers from Wolverhampton on a ringing outing found Langar bells in an unringable state due to missing ropes and stays. A letter to the vicar resulted in him contacting Mr. M. W. Harrison in order to get the necessary repairs started. A working party was set up and found the installation in a poor state. The bells are in a wooden frame on ball bearings (rehung 1939) in the central tower. The louvres were open to the atmosphere, there being only some broken mesh in the windows. The clappers were all loose, as were two bells on their metal headstocks. These troubles were righted, the louvres being blocked by heavy gauge clear polythene sheeting nailed upon frames put up, and this served a dual purpose—excluding both birds and the weather, and is recommended. The clappers were removed, regreased, wire brushed and painted and replaced and tightened.

It was at this point that some consideration was given to the ringing of the bells. They are a ground-floor ring with 30 feet of loose rope, rung from the crossing of the church. Installation of rope guides was impossible without obscuring the view. However the upstairs floor (of concrete) was about 13 feet below the bell frame, which had no floor, and after consultation with the church authorities, permission was obtained to put a new floor in the bottom of the bell frame. The timber was kindly donated by Maurice Harrison, but before laying the floor the whole of the bell frame and supporting timbers were given two coats of preservative. Two trapdoors were made in the floor, a large one below the tenor and a small one for access to the bells and clock.

The rope circle upstairs was found to be unsatisfactory, the treble and second ropes being about nine inches apart and six inches from the wall. Both were lifted and turned to bring the wheels further into the centre of the ringing chamber. The wheel on the third also had to be turned. The ropes on 1 and 2 now fall in line with one of the 14in. deep main beams, and an augur had to be borrowed from Messrs. J. Taylor to do this job. A catwalk was built across the roof to prevent undue strain and, as a finishing touch, lights were installed in the new belfry and on the stairs.

Those taking part were Jack Dawson, Geoff Wells, Peter Hayward, David Flower, Maurice Harrison, Brian Mills, Liz and George Dawson. To many others who have helped at various times thanks are also due. As a result of donations by various people and money-raising by the Bingham District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, the effort has cost the church nothing, and it is to be hoped that a tower which previously was unsafe for any but experienced ringers will now be available to train a local band.

ERNIE AMBROSE JOINED IN

The day fixed for the Lavenham ringers' outing was June 27, and with wives, friends and ringers from the district they visited Bungay, Beccles, Pakefield, Southwold and Leiston and a variety of methods was rung. Lunch was at the King's Head, Beccles, and tea at the Dutch Barn, Southwold. It pleased everyone to have in their company the grand old man of Sudbury, Mr. Ernie Ambrose, who despite his 92 years ascended the towers and took part in the ringing. Home was reached at 10 p.m., when a vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Arthur Haynes, the organiser.

Guildford Diocesan Guild.
FOURTEEN TEAMS ENTER

The Farnham District striking competition was held at Ash on June 27, when a representative cross-section met on a rather blustery afternoon, and this was not the only problem for the judge (Mr. C. H. Kippin), who had also to contend with diesel trains and low-flying aircraft, which at times shut out the sound of the bells.

Fourteen teams took part, eleven tower teams and three mixed (who were not competing). Later all sat down to tea in the church hall.

The ringing master (Mr. T. Page) introduced Mr. Kippin, who gave the results with remarks about each team. Most of the bands, he said, appeared competent, but those with probationers could not expect to produce perfect ringing but should not be discouraged.

Farnborough ("A" team) were the winners, followed by Ash ("A") and Aldershot.

Mr. Kippin was thanked for adjudicating, and Mr. J. Dodds thanked the Ash ringers for acting as hosts.

MARPLE'S BELLS

The fine old ring of six was cast by Rudhalls of Gloucester and hung in the Parish Church of Stockport in 1731, where they remained until the church was taken down in 1810. For some years the bells were stowed away, partly in the hearse house and partly in an old mill. The successors of Rudhalls, having contracted for a new ring in 1816, offered £400 for the old ring of six, but owing to their sweet tone a strong desire prevailed that the bells should be retained in the parish, and as Marple Church had been rebuilt with a tower the Stockport Parish Church authorities resolved that Marple should have the preference of purchase at the price offered by Rudhalls.

An appeal was made to the inhabitants of Marple not to suffer the bells to be conveyed from amongst them for ever. As a result several local gentlemen guaranteed the amount and concluded the bargain. The same day (April 29) a dray was sent for the tenor and treble and two carts for the remaining four. On June 30, 1816, they were opened, and the day kept as a gala day. They were rehung in the early part of 1886 by Taylors and re-opened on Easter Sunday by the Hayfield ringers. It is strange to note that there is no record of a peal having been rung on them.

The church is on an eminence which commands an extensive view of the bold, swelling hills of Derbyshire and of the more fertile vales of Cheshire, and no situation could be better adapted to give the full effect of the uncommonly fine tone of the bells.

"How Marple obtained its fine bells"—from a report printed in The Ringing World, July 9, 1920.

72 YEARS A RINGER

The Western Morning News of July 3 reported that recently many tributes have been paid to Mr. Richard Grylls Collacott at Bradworthy Parish Church (Devon).

An illuminated scroll, presented by the vicar (Rev. H. T. Lingham Lees), was from the bellringers of Bradworthy and the Tamar Valley Guild "in appreciation of 65 years of devoted service as bellringer at Bradworthy, and over 25 years as captain."

A certificate of merit in appreciation of 63 years as a guild ringer was presented to Mr. Collacott, a man "skilled in the art of bellringing." He retired last year at the age of 85, having completed in all about 72 years as a ringer.

PAUL TAYLOR IN AUSTRALIA

(From Ringing Towers.)

Among her many official duties on her Royal Tour of New Zealand and Australia, H.M. the Queen opened the carillon in the new tower at Lake Burley Griffen, Canberra. This, it will be remembered, was built with money given to the Australian Government by its counterpart in the U.K. There is obviously little point in commenting again on the lack of a ring of swinging bells in the project, suffice it now to say that a ring was originally envisaged and that its absence is due mainly to delay on the part of the Australian authorities.

If we did not get a new ring, the opening of the carillon at least brought us a visit from the founder, Paul Taylor, and his charming wife, Merle. They arrived in Perth, where Paul inspected the bells at St. Paul's Cathedral. Next stop was Adelaide, where a very good practice night at the Cathedral was highlighted by a well-struck course of Cambridge Major, the first for some little time.

The following day was spent with visits to St. Cuthbert's, Prospect, where a new ring is to be installed, and to the Town Hall. Here Hervey Bagot and Richard Jolly rang the bells for Paul's inspection. While he was looking over the bells a couple of photographers arrived, beautifully dressed. This is a mistake in the Town Hall belfry, which bears the marks of 105 years of occupation by feathered creatures. One of the photographers managed to get himself stuck in a corner of the belfry, and generally a good time was had by all.

The Taylors' next few days were spent between Melbourne, Sydney and Canberra, with little time spent in any place at any one time. Monday night at Sydney was spent at St. Andrew's Cathedral practice, and afterwards with lower captain Bill Rowe. On the following night Paul met a large group of Sydney ringers at that well-known ringing centre, Enid Roberts' flat. This was a most enjoyable evening, listening to Paul Taylor's stories of ringing, bells and ringers. Wednesday was spent at the Sydney University carillon. On the next day I was able to lunch with the Taylors in Sydney before taking them for Paul to look over the bells at Christ Church, St. Laurence, at Railway Square.

Next stop was to be New Zealand, and then home.

The Adelaide Advertiser published a report on Mr. Taylor's visit to the Town Hall. Mr. Taylor's verdict, after dusting off the grime and pigeon feathers he had collected was "Not very good." The bells should be melted down, remodelled and recast, he said. "I could make them sound beautiful . . . like those at St. Peter's Cathedral, the finest ring in the Southern Hemisphere."

Concluding, he said that his firm did not make the Town Hall bells, but did make those at the Cathedral. It would cost the city about $5,000 to have the ring of eight recast, and about half as much to just repair the bearings, headstocks and other mechanism. "It is a bad thing when a town hall cannot keep its bells in order. You have one of the few town hall rings in the world. Sooner or later one of two things, or both, will happen. The bellringers will pack up in disgust, because they will be exhausted by the physical strain of ringing or the worn working parts will break and the headstocks will split."

Mr. Taylor afterwards went to St. Cuthbert's Church, Prospect, to discuss proposals for installing bells there.

LONDON, E.1

HOLIDAYS

The holiday season is here and many ringers from various parts of the country will be visiting new areas and doing a little tower-grabbing. In some cases the method ringer will be hoping for a pull with his brother ringers who ring call-changes, but it is doubtful if the latter will, in similar circumstances, be courageous enough to join a "scientific" band.

Whatever your ringing capability, however, if circumstances allow, we ask you to go along to your nearest church with a ring of bells, find out the times of Sunday ring and be prepared to take a rope, even if it is only for rounds.

Nothing sounds more depressing than three or four bells being chimed when four or five might be rung. The complaint that "most of our band are on holiday" or "we always stop ringing during August" are frequently heard, whereas if a visiting ringer or ringers to that particular town or village had contacted the incumbent or one of the local band the bells could have been kept ringing, even in lesser numbers. In this way, and with forethought and cooperation, the Exercise will be carrying out its main function, which is the ringing of the bells for the church services.

RINGING ON T.V.

The Rev. John Elphinstone Fyffe, of the B.B.C., has been able to arrange that the B.B.C. I programme "The Ringing Isle", to be shown at 6.15 p.m. on Sunday, August 2. will be repeated at 12.55 p.m. (lunch time) on Monday, August 10. This will enable many people with Sunday duties to see the programme. Please let your incumbent (and others) know. W. G. W.

BRAIN-TEASER

Our band recently rang a splendid peal of Cambridge Major, in spite of our three odd-struck bells, and in our tower that's hard and thirsty work. In the "Stay and Slider" afterwards they quenched their thirst in the traditional way. Each man drank as many pints as the number of the bell he rang, plus an additional number depending on his age. The two in their twenties drank one extra, the two in their thirties two extra, the two in their forties three extra and the two in their fifties four extra. On top of all this, anyone who rang an odd-struck bell was entitled to an extra pint and the conductor to two extra.

I asked Charlie on the following morning who had rung each bell, but all he could tell me was:-

He drank most (exactly twice as much as Fred). George drank nine pints, the ringer of the second six pints, and the tenor ringer ten pints. The ringer of the third drank least. George rang between Harry and Alf. Our veteran, Don, rang the treble. Fred rang an odd-struck bell. Bert rang a heavier bell than Ernie. The conductor was not on the fourth. The number of pints that Harry drank was half the sum of the numbers of the odd-struck bells. Everyone drank a different number of pints.

Of course, I know the age of our ringers, so I had no trouble working it all out, but can you, if I tell you that George is twice as old as Harry?

Answer next week.

Belfry Gossip

Personal Records: Frank Beech (100 peals). Mandi McCallion (50), K. Paul Gilliver (175).

New Conductors: Roger Hippisley (handbells), Edward Futcher.

The band who rang the peal at Chirton, Wilts, on July 4th, were entertained by the Vicar and local ringers afterwards and are grateful to them for their generosity.

It is encouraging to read of youngsters ringing in peals, and this week we record a peal where the average age of the band was 15-7 years and another where 5 of the 6 averaged 17 years.

The 750th anniversary of the granting of the Charter to Stockport was marked by a peal at St. George's, but this was especially arranged and unfortunately further peals are barred, for the time being, at any rate.

To ring a quarter after less than 18 months is quite an achievement for a man over his half century in years, writes a correspondent (a young one, no doubt), but "turned 50" is not old when you reach that "mature age", as we all find out in time!

The first peal of Bristol S. Maximus to be rung in the City of London was rung at St. Mary-le-Bow on July 11, and simultaneously Cambridge S. Maximus was rung at St. Michael's, Cornhill, in connection with the City of London Festival.

First Peal congratulations to Vivian B. Bennett, Edward J. Berridge, D. Andrew Carter, Pamela Hough, P. Graham Walters, J. Robert Jervis, Timothy Denyer (12), Ian Hiscock, Jacqueline W. Wolfe, Susan Redmond (13).

Yorkshire Surprise Royal was rung to a peal at Southampton, Hants, on July 11, as a thanksgiving for the life of John W. Faithfull, who was captain there for 30 years.

On the eve of the A.G.M. members of the Winchester and Portsmouth D. Guild rang a peal of Spliced Surprise Major named after their Guild at Whitchurch, Hants

Your old friend (and ours) Mr. Tom White celebrated his 76th birthday on July 22 and is now in good health. Each Sunday he visits his mother (at Woking), who is in her 101st year.

We were glad to welcome to our office on July 21 Mr. and Mrs. Denis Bayles, of Chester-le-Street, Durham, who were on holiday in Hampshire. Denis is a valuable member of the R.W. Committee.

News from America is that Marjorie Batchelor is going to Smith College and will be invaluable to other ringers there. Bill Theobald is hoping to go over himself in September and to help out during his stay.

Miss Doris Weiss, of Chicago, who wrote so appreciatively of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lock's help whilst she was in England, has returned some photographs of church towers which we loaned her, and she adds: "We miss England and its bells greatly."

When the Leatherhead (Surrey) ringers held their annual outing they visited Basingstoke and rang at both churches and after lunching in the town went on to Bramley, Stratfield Mortimer and Yateley. An early return was made, arriving at 7.30 p.m.

Quite a relief to Worcester Schools Society is the end of G.C.E. exams and, to celebrate, three of the G.S. for Girls and three of Kings School got together and rang a quarter of Doubles. (What a wonderful relaxation is bellringing!)

When Marborough (Wilts) Grammar School had its annual commemoration service at St. Mary's, Marlborough, the school ringers were able to ring a variety of methods including, for the first time, Grandsire and Plain Bob Triples — quite something for a "school" band.

The first quarter peal for Eastbourne Grammar School Society by one past and five present pupils was rung to welcome back Mr. J. Harrisson, a master at the school for 39 years, after a serious illness, and as a farewell to Mr. G. D. Buckwell, leaving the school after three years.

Mrs. E. M. Mitchell's 80th birthday was not allowed to pass un-noticed, and peals and quarter peals were attempted. One, at St. Peter's, Brighton, of Grandsire Doubles, was difficult to arrange as so many regulars are away on vacation, but no doubt the effort is appreciated by Mrs. Mitchell.

The Wiffin family were known in the Exercise for many years, and to mark the 73rd birthday of Albert, the only remaining active ringer, the Braintree ringers, with Albert Wiffin on the tenor, rang a quarter to mark the occasion.

A hundred or more ringers attended the Truro Festival, and five towers were available and well used during various hours of the day. The only visible damage was one broken rope — which happened in "extra time"—the tower being open till 8 p.m. and the rope broke at 8.20! (In protest, no doubt!)

The quarter rung at Brill (Bucks) on June 27th was the first family quarter—Mr. R. C. Ingram and Mrs. E. Ingram coming from Birmingham and Mr. R. and Mr. V. Sadowski from Cheltenham to make up the band. The quarter was rung on the first day of the flower festival at Brill.

The boys of King Alfred's School, Wantage, rang the bells of the Parish Church, Wantage, for the end of term service on July 10. It is hoped to ring a peal in the near future, the ringers being either members of staff or former pupils.

Mrs. Gladys Munsey, who travelled all the way down to Alton, Hants, from Peterborough, for the 900th anniversary of the church, was able to claim several new towers (and two new counties) for her collection. She had to leave her home very early to make the long journey and returned on the 11.45 p.m. train to reach home during the early hours of Sunday. All very worthwhile, she said, but she could not understand why others living in a 20-30 miles radius of Alton did not make the effort.

One reason offered by a ringer 10 miles from Alton was that 6s. 6d. for high tea was too expensive. Several ringers were taking a picnic tea, it is understood, but did that necessitate non-attendance at the church service? The ringers at Alton are a keen Sunday service band, loyally supporting their church and going around to other village towers to help keep the bells going.

Face flatterer and backbiter are the same.—Tennyson.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY OF CHANGE RINGERS By ROBIN BROWN

ON January 31, 1970, after 14 months of discussions and negotiations, the Leeds and District Amalgamated Society was formally dissolved and immediately reborn as the Leeds and District Branch of the Yorkshire Association. Thus ended an 81-year period in which the Society and the Association had coexisted, sometimes on amicable terms and sometimes on anything but! Certainly there can be little doubt that fraction within the Association helped to give rise to the District Society. Conversations the writer has had with old ringers who knew the founder members have inevitably come round to the subject of rivalries, and an entry in the minute book for September, 1890, echoes this: on the Association's move to introduce prize ringing on church bells it was resolved "that the Yorkshire Association be left to manage its own business" and added, in a different hand (probably that of Bob Binns), "if it ever could"! Evidence of clashes appears throughout the Society's history. Even in the 1960s the formation of the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies was feared by some to be an insidious "takeover bid" by the Association! And in 1968, when the idea of the present merger was first mooted, there was strong opposition from a small group. It seems auspicious for the new branch, however, that differences of opinion were so reconciled that the final motion to fuse with the Association was carried unanimously.

After an exploratory meeting the previous Sunday the Leeds and District Society came into being on March 30, 1889, with Tom Lockwood, of Leeds, as its president. The inaugural meeting, which was held in the Old Nag's Head Inn opposite their church, was called "at the instigation of the Leeds Parish Church company." Towers represented were Bramley, Headingley St. Chad's, Holbeck, Leeds, Pudsey and Rothwell, and of these Headingley, Pudsey and Rothwell maintained a continuous association with the Society until its dissolution.

By May, 1889, membership had topped 60, but early the following year only six or eight ringers were attending the meetings. Interest was revived; August saw over 40 members at Armley and by mid-1891 the Society was flourishing. Nevertheless, these early vicissitudes foreshadowed the pattern of the Society's history. By 1903 there were 120 members; in 1938 249; in 1957 255 (although only 104 were paid up). At the time of dissolution there were exactly a hundred paid up members. In contrast, the years 1923-5, 1948 and the mid-1960s were very bleak periods. In 1924-5, indeed, the Society had no officers, apart from the secretary, and must have been very near to folding up.

The original district was an area with a six-mile radius from Leeds City Square, but a provision for selecting towers outside this area led to a rapid spread of activities. Otley was visited in 1891 and Harrogate in 1892. Both became regular towers and, in a different direction, Shipley held regular meetings from 1901 onwards. The 1904 (June) invitation meeting was held at Hull! In January, 1893, it was agreed that each member be allowed sixpence as expenses for the Otley meeting. Fears about the possible repercussions of such a decision led to a motion preventing any backdating of expenses and finally to a rescinding of the rule in January, 1894.

Meetings were held on the last Saturday in every month, although the December meeting was almost always transferred to early January and was eventually dropped. Ringing in the early days was generally by companies, Rule IX providing the "steward in charge" with power "to call on any member of the committee present, to make out any company who are unable to make up a full set." Long touches were the order of the day: 720s were common and one or two date touches were rung! In November, 1891, prior to general ringing, a peal was attempted at the meeting tower (Pudsey) and this established a custom which, in spite of some opposition and various interruptions, was not finally abolished until September, 1927. It is difficult to see how, under these circumstances, the original object of the Society, "to mutually assist each other in the advancement of the Art of change-ringing," could ever be realised, and thus not surprising to find the following minuted in 1902: a long discussion "as to whether the Society . . . had ever carried out the object for which it was formed, but too much personality being introduced. the Chairman was obliged to apply the closure."

On the credit side, the meetings seem to have been a great success in another respect. For many years the business meetings were invariably held in a pub and were followed by long and much-enjoyed social sessions, with handbell ringing, both changes and tunes, and vocal contributions among the regular features.

In 1894 the Society became affiliated to the Central Council and was regularly represented until 1921 when it "temporarily" withdrew its membership. In fact it was never represented again: when the Council approached the Society in 1927 a motion to reaffiliate was defeated.

Traditionally the Society seems to have been strongly opposed to striking competitions of any kind. Its reaction to a Yorkshire Association proposal in 1890 has already been mentioned and a proposal that it should introduce its own contest was defeated in 1907. When, in 1966, the writer proposed that the Society support a joint council striking contest, his motion received only two votes; yet exactly a year later the same motion was accepted and as a result the Society organised its own competition in both 1968 and 1969. So successful was the venture that it is to continue as an annual event in the new branch. A pewter tankard, as a trophy, has been presented to Mr. and Mrs. R. Cater. There seems a light irony in the fact that in the 1969 joint council contest the Leeds Society came second, beaten only by the Halifax District experts from Roughtown.

The golden jubilee of the Society in 1939 was celebrated with a service in Leeds Parish Church, followed by a "hotpot" supper, for which members paid 1s. 9d. each; 120 members attended, at least four of them being founder members. A peal of Bob Major, composed by the first president, was rung at Burley by past and present officers, being conducted by William Barton, of Pudsey, who 32 years later also conducted the final peal for the Society at St. Chad's, Far Headingley having by that time been a member for 56 years.

In spite of its varied fortunes, the Leeds and District Society may fairly be said to have played, eventually, a leading role in

"PULL THE OTHER ONE"

Under this heading in a local newspaper a householder put all sorts of reasons forward for a rate reduction, but it was refused. The article said: "The bells of St. Mary's, Oldswinford, ring out loud and clear—but they are too loud and peal for too long."

A 26-year-old accounting analyst, Mr. A. Telford, was asking for a reduction in the rate assessment on his three-storey house in Chawn Park Drive. The church was 250 yards away from his house but the bells often drowned the television.

"I think they are so monotonous," he said. "It is the same thing over and over again and they go on for hours at a time. I think some of them might be cracked."

He agreed that he felt the view of the church outweighed nuisance from the bells. Mr. Telford, who also spoke for three neighbours, claimed that the church spire caused "ghosting" on the TV picture.

The chairman said the panel felt that the

The chairman said the panel felt that the objection to the church could hardly have been made seriously.

If allowance were made to every property within 250 yards of a church, it would affect the large proportion of homes in the country.

WHAT REALLY HAPPENED

During a recent peal of Eastwood S. Major at St. Mary's, Reading, the ringers heard a chorus of young people loudly bellowing below and feared that they were "after their blood." When they descended the stairs they discovered a Conservative election meeting at the base of the tower and the speaker being subjected to rough verbal treatment. Trying to overcome both the hostile audience and the bells ringing overhead must have been quite a problem. Later that evening (June 6) some of the band heard their efforts on the TV news during an election round-up, and the incident was repeated immediately after the election. One, at least, of the ringers concerned enjoyed a second hearing. W. B.

the advancement of ringing in the area. has had its due share of both highly talented and colourful ringers. Yet first and foremost in its ranks stands one who qualified at neither extreme but who, by long and unstinting dedication to his task, brought the Society from the verge of extinction into the most flourishing state it has known. Harry Lofthouse, of Armley, became secretary of the Society in 1923, when times were so hard that it was unable to purchase new membership cards without pleading for payment of subscriptions. When he relinquished the post, exactly 30 years later, there were 230 members, of whom 163 were fully paid up, and the balance sheet (on an annual subscription of sixpence) showed assets of over £23. From taking office he went seven years before he missed a meeting and in his 30 years as secretary missed only 12 times altogether. In May, 1937, he organised what was believed to be the "first service of its kind ever held"—a ringers' Communion service. He was made a vice-president in 1954 and was president from 1955-57. He died in 1960. There was no secret or complex formula for Harry's success: he was a perfect gentleman. Perhaps the greatest tribute to his work was implicit in the fact that by 1953 the Society had come to be known affectionately as "Lofty's L. and D."

9th ANZAB RINGING FESTIVAL

The entry in the Ringer's Diary for June 13, 1970, states "Anzac Festival Starts, Sydney." This was technically the 9th Annual Festival of Ringing held by the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellringers, and what a successful week-end it turned out to be!

It was in 1966 that the ANZAB Festival was last held in Sydney and many of those attending this year vividly remembered the amount of rain that fell on that occasion. However, any fears of a similar fate soon disappeared, as Sydney turned on its best and brightest autumn weather to greet the nearly 70 ringers present.

The week-end (unofficially) began on the Friday, when ringers from Adelaide, Melbourne and Ballarat flew or drove to Sydney and joined with the local ringers at Turramurra for their weekly practice. Also present was New Zealand's representative, Mike Clayton, who had been in Sydney for several weeks. We knew that John Smith had flown down from New Guinea, and his father, Sid Smith, had come up from Hobart. After an enjoyable practice, visitors were invited to Tom and Margaret Goodyer's for supper.

TELEVISED

Saturday dawned bright and clear as we met at St. Andrew's Cathedral. Ringing was on the relatively new Taylor 10 (tenor 29 cwt.) and ranged from rounds to Stedman. During the morning two commercial television stations sent their cameras to film the ringing, and we were able to see ourselves on both channels that evening.

We again met at St. Andrew's after lunch to be officially welcomed by the president of the N.S.W. Association, Ralph Clark. To enable everyone to ring in the nine towers open, the ringers divided into two groups, each following a pre-arranged programme. On Saturday Group 1 rang at St. James', Turramurra (6, 9 cwt.), All Saints', Parramatta (6, 10 cwt.) and St. Paul's, Burwood (8, 11 cwt.) Group 2 rang at St. Andrew's and then followed Group 1 to Turramurra and Parramatta. Impressions of the ringing were getting in and out of cars, crossing the Harbour Bridge, short cuts round Sydney and bells! bells! and more bells!

THE DINNER

The annual dinner was held that evening at Manning House, Sydney University. About 60 ringers attended and ANZAB president Jack Roper, who was accompanied by his wife, presided. Guests were Dean Marley (St. Mary's Basilica) and the Rev. and Mrs. Johnstone (St. Jude's, Randwick). An excellent four-course meal was served and Ralph Clark acted as toastmaster. Dean Marley proposed the toast to "The Association" in an amusing speech and expressed the churches' thanks to the ringers for their services. Replying, the president said it was their duty to ring for Sunday service and to practise during the week in order to become more proficient in their art. "The Visitors" was proposed by Ralph Clark, who asked inter-State visitors from each tower to stand as their names were called. He welcomed the ringers to Sydney, and congratulations were offered to Willie Watson and his fiance for their wedding the following Tuesday. Replying for the visitors, ANZAB secretary, Mike Scowen, expressed thanks for the excellent arrangements and read a letter from Andrew and Shirley Bolton in England. During the evening it transpired that there were now only three members who had attended all nine ANZAB dinners—Jack and Gwen Roper and Willie Watson.

Sunday morning saw service ringing at St. Andrew's and St. Paul's, Burwood. After an early lunch everyone met outside St. Mary's Basilica and negotiated the 111 steps and the catwalk without much difficulty. Ringing took place on the Mears eight (25 cwt.) and later the ringers again divided into two groups for the remaining Sydney towers. Group 1 faced St. Benedict's, Broadway (6, 16 cwt.), St. Mark's, Darling Point (8, 8 cwt.), and St. Philip's, Sydney (8, 20 cwt.), followed by a choice of service ringing at Parramatta or Burwood. Group 2 continued at St. Mary's and then followed the first group with service ringing at St. Judes, Randwick. By the end of the afternoon everyone had had enough, St. Benedict's and St. Philip's having taken their toll. (The writer suffered ignominious defeat at the hands of the 4th at St. Benedict's, when it dropped like a stone immediately after being pulled off, and all his efforts to get it back up were of no avail.),

1972 FESTIVAL IN NEW ZEALAND

After service ringing, all dashed into the city to rendezvous in Enid Roberts' flat for the A.G.M., 42 members being present and business proceeding briskly. The results of the postal vote on the proposed new constitution (70% Yes, 29% No) had been circulated and the constitution is effective as from April 14, 1970. Officers elected were: President, John Cummins; secretary, Michael Scowen; treasurer, Ross Bampton; peal secretary, Ralph Clark; Ringing Towers editor, Richard Jolly. Following Ralph Clarke's resume of what was involved in visiting New Zealand and Mike Clayton's invitation to a visit, it was unanimously agreed that the ANZAB Festival be held there in May, 1972. Next year's Festival is to be in Ballarat and Bendigo on the Queen's birthday week-end in June. The meeting closed at 10 p.m. and an excellent supper followed.

THE BARBECUE

The final day was the best as far as weather was concerned and also for hospitality. There was ringing at St. Andrew's and this was followed by what the programme called "Surprise Major Ringing." Apart from some Superlative and Cambridge, however, Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung!

The highlight of the day was when all boarded the chartered ferry at Circular Quay and took a short cruise to Clark Island in Sydney Harbour. Here our hosts had prepared the traditional ANZAB barbecue in a setting where the sky was cloudless, the Harbour Bridge towered in the background and the waves gently lapped at the edge of the island. Vast quantities of chops, sausages and salad were consumed and there was a cruise around the harbour before finally returning to the quay, where most of the farewells were said and visitors started on their long trek home.

A few staying on in Sydney met that evening at St. Andrew's and St. Mary's for the weekly practice and, following custom. later found themselves eating and drinking in Enid Roberts' flat. Five other intrepid ringers decided to go to Maitland for their evening practice and after a 260-mile round trip were back in Sydney by 11 p.m.

Thus another successful ANZAB weekend came to a close. Our thanks go to all New South Wales ringers who worked so hard and with such enthusiasm to make the week-end the success it proved to be.

MRS. MITCHELL'S BIRTHDAY

On July 4 eight members of the Ladies' Guild met at Henfield, Sussex, to pay tribute to one of their number, Mrs. E. M. Mitchell, a founder member of the guild, who was keen to ring a peal for her 80th birthday. We were met at the church by the incumbent, who was until recently at the church Mrs. Mitchell attends in Southwick, who led us in prayer before we started for a peal of Stedman Triples.

Unfortunately we were not successful (through no fault of Mrs. Mitchell), but we then rang a quarter of Stedman to honour the occasion. Those taking part were: Joan Beresford (cond.) 1, Mrs. E. M. Mitchell 2, Mary R. Andrews 3, Jean M. Pike 4, Susan E. M. Davis 5, Freda Cannon 6, Doris Colgate 7, Anne Horsford 8. Then, although we did not deserve it, we were royally entertained to tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cruttenden, and any ringer who has ever had tea at Henfield will know what this means. We finished the meal with portions of birthday cake, beautifully decorated with silver bells and golden bellropes, made by Mrs. Mitchell' daughter.

REPORT OF THE TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE FOR 1969

The number of enquiries received by the Committee during 1969 shows a slight decrease on the previous year but nevertheless is the second highest yearly total on record. Advice on bell and tower restoration was given by members of the Committee in 1969 in one hundred and twenty-nine churches. Sixteen enquiries were dealt with by correspondence; the remainder necessitated visits to the churches

As has been the custom for many years the report of the Committee's work has been compiled by the Convenor from statistics sent in by its members, and a brief summary is appended. The 129 churches in which advice was given

Frank Perrens conducted a peal of Sted-man Cinques at Wolverhampton and Sgt. George Gilbert conducted one of Minor at Puttenham in which the Misses Hilda and Bertha Mills, of Aldershot, rang their first peal.

The new ring at Pontefract was dedicated by the Bishop of Beverley, and the Mayor and Corporation also attended.

It was proposed to restore the ancient use of the Peace Bell on Fridays at noon in the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, as a perpetual memorial to the fallen.

ST. MICHAEL & ALL ANGELS. TETTENHALL. STAFFS

TETTENHALL is an extensive parish three miles to the north-west of the centre of Wolverhampton. Until a few years ago it was an urban district in its own right, but has now been absorbed into the county borough of Wolverhampton.

The name Tettenhall first appeared in records as the site of a battle in 910 A.D. between Viking raiders from the North and the forces of Edward the Elder (910-925). The Vikings were overwhelmed and the Midlands were freed from raids for There was certainly some many years. settlement at the time of the battle, for the Saxon form of the name was Teotan Heale, which means Teotta's nook of land. It is possible that Teotta and his Saxon friends had to dispossess some earlier inhabitants, for the remains of an ancient British camp have been found on the Wrottesley Estate to the north-west of the village.

There was certainly a church on the present site in the 10th century. Tradition says it was built to commemorate the victory against the Vikings, and an entry in the records of Henry IV says: "Edgar Late King of England, gave and conceded to the Dean and Canons of the Free Chapel of Tetunhal, 100 acres of land and 10 marks for the Support of the said church to hold to themselves and their successors." The church was therefore founded not later than 925 A.D.

The Domesday population was 100, mainly people concerned with hunting in the three great forests of Brewood, Kinver and Cannock. Henry II owned the hunting lodge of Gorsty Hayes, and poaching was obviously commonplace, for the Dean in 1230 boasted the name of Peter Chacepork.

COLLEGE OF CANONS

In 1086 the church was constituted as a College of Canons, and William I placed the church in the charge of his chaplain, Sampson. The College was dissolved in 1549 and the whole property was granted to Walter Wrottesley, who with his descendants became lay rectors and patrons of the living. The church remained "peculiar" or exempt from the Bishop's control until the abolition of such jurisdiction in 1857.

The Wrottesley family date back to the 12th century, and are one of the few whose ancestors were the original holders of the Order of the Garter. Sir Hugh Wrottesley fought with the Black Prince, and during the Civil War the Wrottesleys sheltered

Charles II.

Tettenhall has always been important as the place where the London-Holyhead road cuts across the escarpment known as the "Rock." In 1810 Thomas Telford built the new cutting, which is still the only wide road connecting the village to the church.

There have been three churches on the site—the original Saxon one, the second church and the present, which was built in 1951. The second church contained many Norman features, the nave and side aisles and chancel, but also contained a pure example of Early English architecture in the beautiful east window, dated 1207 A.D. The windows of the south clerestory were famous as perfect examples of the transition period. The church contained an enormous amount of stained glass, which made it rather dark, but was a famous feature. The tower was built in the 14th century, and except for the destruction of the crocketed pinnacles on the four corners, it remains the same today.

In 1951 the second church was burned to the ground, except the tower, but the floors of this were burned and the beams in the ringing chamber charred. All the monuments and peal boards were lost, but the bells escaped damage.

THE BELLS

The first mention of bells at Tettenhall was a ring of five dated 1604. Three of these could not be traced, but one, inscribed "Com Com and Praye 1604" is hanging in St. Mary's, Wolverhampton, and another inscribed John Shawe, Walter Northwood, Churchwardens, 1675, is in St. Jude's, Wolverhampton.

In 1841 this ring of five was replaced by a ring of six (tenor 12½ cwt. in the key of G), cast by Thomas Mears of London. Two more bells were added and the whole ring recast and rehung in 1922 by Gillett and Johnston (tenor 14 cwt. 3 gr. 25 lb. in F sharp). They are a lovely ring and "go" well, but many find them noisy, as the ringing chamber is immediately beneath the bells, the soundproofing being burned in the fire. The local band practise on Wednesdays and visitors are always welcome.

THE BELLS OF LUNDY

Browsing in a Canterbury bookshop recently the owner of the initials below came across a recently-published book on Lundy, the little island off the North Devon coast, which figured quite recently in the news. In it he found the following passage: it refers to the building of the Church of St. Helena, under the then Lord of the Manor, Rev. H. G. Heaven. By reference to this cleric's surname the wit of the bishop mentioned below will be recognised.

"A legacy from Mrs. Langworthy enabled Mr. Heaven to achieve his lifetime's ambition to build a permanent stone church on the island, and in 1895 he invited tenders for the contract. Britton and Pickett of Ilfracombe were awarded the contract, and then progress was rapid . . . The church was dedicated to St. Helena in 1897 by Bishop Bickersteth . . . who was evidently something of a wit. The crossing was an unusually bad one . . . he acknowledged his belief in Purgatory by his experience of what it was necessary to go through to enter 'the kingdom of Heaven'.

The church is an example of Victorian Gothic revival, with nave, chancel, square tower, chiming clock and a peal (sic) of eight bells.

"In 1905 a party of change ringers visited the Church to ring a peal of Stedman Triples. After a rough crossing the party found on landing that the bearings of the bells had suffered from the effects of sea air. After some attention had been given to them, an attempt was made to peal the bells, but had to be abandoned. A gale developed and the party was stranded Lundy overnight, but in the morning, after further attention had been given to the bearings, the team was able to ring a complete change (Sic) before leaving the island. A plaque in the porch commemorates this

This quotation leaves several interesting questions. What has happened to the bells of Lundy? Has any reader a copy of their dimensions and inscriptions? Does the peal board still exist, and who were the ringers? A picture of the Rev. H. G. Heaven with some other clergy and a party of ringers is reproduced; can anyone identify them?

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH SURPRISE MAJOR

The idea of a peal in these two methods originated in the early 1950's by a leading member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, but his efforts to find a suitable composition proved impossible and the idea was shelved.

A less prominent member, however, tried again in 1960 but the leading composers of that time were unable to produce anything because of the complete difference in the methods, one being 2nds place and the other 8ths.

Again, in 1969, the methods were produced, and Bill Perrins agreed to try to produce something.

A month later a band was assembled and in October, 1969, the first attempt at East Tytherley went approximately an hour before a miscall brought it to an end.

The second attempt, in December, at Highelere, went an hour and a half before a shift course brought this to a premature conclusion, and for the January attempt at North Stoneham we met short.

Whitchurch was secured for the Friday prior to the annual meeting of the guild and, despite very springy ropes, a firstclass peal was scored. Credit goes to Bill Perrin in the calling, as not more than two leads of Portsmouth are rung without a change of method, and only one of Winchester. It can truly be called Spliced.

The writer is particularly pleased that the peal was rung in the Andover District. Only a year previously Winchester and Portsmouth College Minor was rung to Spliced Minor in his own district (on the guild's first dinner day). G. D.

Were any other peals rung there-when indeed were the bells last rung? This academic information is of particular interest in view of the fact that the present inhabitants of Lundy will never again, it would appear, hear their bells competing with the Atlantic breakers which marooned the peal ringers 65 years ago.

WILLIAM PYE: 1870-1935

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO on August William Pye was born at Chadwell Heath, Essex. It was a momentous time. that year 1870. The intrigues of Bismarck provoked France into a disastrous war and aroused and alarmed Europe to the menace of Prussian ambition and aggression. In Britain the Forster Act was laying the foundations of our modern educational system; and the sudden death of Charles Dickens brought a sense of loss far beyond the ordinary literary circles.

In the world of bellringing there was an awakening and a stirring after nearly 50 years of decline and stagnation. Soon the writings of Jasper Snowden would be spreading new knowledge and enlightened instruction, the coming of The Bell News in 1881 provided the vehicle for the carrying of tidings of ringing activities to all parts of the land, and the move forward. gathering momentum rapidly, led almost inevitably, it would now seem, to the founding of the Central Council. Into this renaissance came the genius of William

He seems to have begun change ringing at a very early age, for when he was 11 years old he rang a 720 of Minor on hand-In the following year he was ringing tower bells on the five at Little Heath, but opportunities for practice and advancement were not readily available, and many miles had to be walked for the chance of a ring. Seven years passed before he was able to get any ringing on eight bells, and not until 1889 did he score his first peal, Grandsire Triples, conducted by A. J. Perkins. Opportunities were slow in coming, and it was not until 1893 that his visits with his brothers George and Ernest to Walthamstow were encouraged by Mr. W. B. Manning, who gave the young man the chance to practise the calling of Stedman. brothers Pye were by now showing their ability with handbells. George, Ernest and William rang in a number of peals of Stedman and Grandsire, and in the year 1897, joined by brother Staff-Sergeant A Pye, they scored brotherly peals of Stedman and Kent Treble Bob in hand.

William's opportunity came in 1898, when Mr. A. T. King, having founded the Middlesex Association, had secured a number of towers for peal attempts and was looking for a leader to ensure successful progress. Pye was introduced to him by W. Brighton, and it was soon clear that the association had found the man for the job. A great run of success followed, and the Middlesex Association came to the forefront among the leading societies.

During the next 30 years there came a succession of remarkable achievements, and among them a number of notable long lengths. On April 3, 1899, Pye called 15072 Double Norwich Major at Erith, which, together with Washbrook's 17024 at Kidlington, stirred up what must always be regarded as the classic among ringing disputes. In 1901 came 11111 Stedman Cinques at Birmingham, followed two years later by the conducting of 14112 of London at King's Norton, Worcestershire (as it was then). Two features of this peal (apart from the excellence of the performance) are worthy of note. The first is that Harry Withers took down the composition from outside the tower and presented the conductor with the figures after the peal. other quite remarkable thing is that although the peal could not have finished before 6 p.m. William Pye reached his home in Essex the same night and posted the peal report before going to bed, so that this report reached The Bell News office the next morning. We have this on the authority of the Editor.

In 1903 came the notable feat of ringing the great tenor at Exeter single-handed to Stedman Caters, and in the following year the brothers George, Ernest and William, joined by William Keeble, rang the first peal of London ever to be rung on handbells. This performance brought from William Willson a spontaneous and enthusiastic appreciation. Six years later came the 18027 Stedman Caters at Loughborough, when Pye rang the 30 cwt. tenor and conducted for more than 12 hours. This was matched in endurance and excellence by the 15312 Cambridge Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne in 1929, where this remarkable man rang the tenor for 11½ hours. It would require a lengthy essay to touch at all adequately on the ringing performances of William Pye during the first 30 years of this century. When he completed a thousand peals, in the year 1911, The Ringing World described him as the greatest ringer of that time. It was a just appreciation, and 20 years later, when his total was nearing two thousand, there was little need for reappraisal. He rang 1,969 peals, 172 of them on handbells, and the complete list of these was last published in The Ringing World of April 7, 1961.

About the middle of 1934 his health declined and although he continued peal ringing until the end of the year his condition gave increasing cause for alarm. His last peal was Cambridge Major at Heavitree. On March 8, 1935, his death came rather

Of him The Ringing World wrote: "There passes the greatest ringer the Exercise has ever known. Judged from every angle of performance the late master of the Middlesex Association surpassed anything which ringers of this or any other generation have ever accomplished. On all numbers of bells, on any weight of metal, he was a ringer par excellence; in any method or combination of methods he was a conductor with few equals and no superior. . . . A man of strong convictions and fearless in voicing his opinions, he was ever ready with appreciation of the achievements of others. Behind a rugged exterior was ever a warm heart, a generous nature, and one ever unostentatiously ready with tangible assistance for a friend in need."

Of the very human side of this great ringer Mr. E. A. Barnett writes: "One thing I remember Olive's mother (Mrs. Hairs) saying, was that when the Pyes came to ring handbells at Clapham, when Olive was very young, William Pye always insisted that if Olive were to wake up and start crying, that was to be the end of the peal attempt. . . . Olive also told me that when Mrs. Hairs was to ring her first of Cambridge 12 at Waltham Abbey, he insisted that she should not ring for a wedding at St. Margaret's, Westminster, beforehand, and personally escorted her to Waltham Abbey early to ensure that she did not have to rush—this, of course, in the days when Cambridge 12 was 'something.' (Mrs. Hairs was the first lady to ring a peal of it.)"

Of William Pye's integrity Mr. E. Barnett, who knew him intimately for very many years, tells us: "In what would have been the first peal of Cambridge Maximus after the 1914-18 war all went well until the last half-lead, when a lapse by one of the band caused several bad blows. the treble in 5-6 down Bill set his bell, remarking 'We can't have that; anyone outside will think the peal was cooked.

"Another instance was in the first peal of (I think) 12-spliced. When the peal was finished he said to C. T. Coles, who in later years made all his ringing arrangements: 'Don't send this up yet. I am not sure in such and such a course if I called such and such a change of method instead of so and so. I must check with Mr. Pitman to see, if I did, whether it would affect the truth of the peal."

The true and enduring greatness of a man rests not only on his personal achievements but also on the legacy he bequeaths to those who follow. In physical strength, stamina and skill in bell handling, William Pye stands with the foremost, and his ringing record holds its own with that of anyone in any age. But in his example he has left us something even more valuable. His patience and perseverance in his early in the face of tremendous difficulties should be an encouragement to all who seek opportunities; his unerring skill in the selection of men and appraisal of their skill when big tasks had to be performed offers important lessons for all who would aspire to leadership (and many have profited by this example); while his ringing feats and the records he set up have presented a challenge that has brought many of the astonishing achievements of the last 30 years. It is well for us at this time to remember his centenary, to honour his memory and to draw fresh inspiration from his career.

"COUNTRY GARDENS"

A concert in honour of the late Percy Grainger, the famous Australian com-poser, at St. Wilfrid's Church, Pevensey Bay, Sussex, was opened by his popular composition "Country Gardens," played by the St. Mary's, Eastbourne, Handbell Choir, who later contributed other items.

Chatting to the ringers during the interval, the composer's widow, Mrs. Ella Grainger, confided that she was the owner of several octaves of handbells, which she plays in a frame with hammers. Mrs. Grainger unveiled a plaque in memory of her husband.

Among the many music lovers, musicians and friends of Percy Grainger who attended the concert was Cyril Scott, the composer. Mr. Bryan Fairfax, director of the London Grainger Festival, told the crowded church of the life and works of Percy Grainger, and of his great love for Pevensey Bay, where he and his wife lived for a number of years

"ABOUT BELLS" AT EVENSONG

On July 11 the quarterly meeting of the Maidstone District took place at Headcorn, and on Sunday, July 12, the vicar of Head-corn (Rev. D. J. Pharoah) preached at evensong about bells. He told the congregation all could learn a lot from bells, for they make a joyous sound, and our worship should be joyous.

Bells, he said, "ring true," and we say "as sound as a bell." We, too, should be pure and true.

Bellringing needs teamwork. We must all pull together in accord, and so we must Surely a fitting message for today's world!

RESTORATIONS IN KENT

Kent is fortunate in possessing a large number of rings of bells—most in working order—and equally fortunate in having in its two major dioceses, Canterbury and Rochester, incumbents who are prepared to keep their rings in good order.

At Benenden, which has a tower well-known to many Wealden travellers, the fine eight is in the hands of Messrs. John Taylor and Co for retuning and rehanging in new fittings. This is a mixed ring, of varying dates, from the Whitechapel foundry, the last major work being the re-casting of the 3rd by Taylors in 1882.

St. Stephen's, Canterbury (in actual fact the Parish Church of Hackington) has a light eight, the back six by R. Catlin, 1744 (5th recast 1902), with two trebles added by C. and G. Mears, 1944. An enthusiastic local band has raised over £1,000 (by waste paper salvage and other efforts) and now the bells are to be rehung by the Whitechapel founders with new fittings in the existing frame, the 6th recast, all tuned and turned, and a new ringing floor installed.

At the glorious Church of St. Mary, Elham, the eight bells were recast from an old five, formerly in St. Mary's, Sandwich, the work being done by Lester and Pack, The 7th was recast at Whitechapel in 1809, and all rehung about 1887 by John Warner and Sons. Since then, apart from maintenance, little work has been done. Now a new and enthusiastic band is raising funds, and the bells are to be rehung, the frame strengthened, bells 1, 2 and 4 recast and the rest tuned, quarterturned and provided with new fittings by the Whitechapel Foundry. Donations to this small village's bell fund would be grate-Donations to fully received and acknowledged by the secretary, Mrs. R. Mallett, 2 Braeside secretary, Mrs. Cottages, Elham.

Ringers are a mixed bunch, but all enjoy the preservation of really ancient bells in any number. The Romney Marsh group of parishes has, in recent years, had many of its bells restored by the Whitechapel Foundry. In the parish of St. Dunstan, Snargate, interest in the three bells has never been lacking, and much restoration was carried out on the tower in 1958. Now it is the turn of the bells, of which the treble is considered to be of late 13th century date, inscribed "+ AVE . MARIA"; the tenor is a bell with a rough inscription
"+SANCTE DVNSTAN," and although considered to be older than the treble by Stahlschmidt, is now thought to be of a shape and with the type of canons favoured by William le Beleyetere, working in Canterbury c. 1325, but the lettering is not his normal type.

The second bell (J. Hodson, 1673) has a remarkable array of coins in its double line of inscription, and in view of this it is to be welded through its crack in the crown by Messrs. Soundweld, under the direction of Mr. K. J. Clews. The bells will then be rehung for ringing in new fittings in the existing frame by the Whitechapel Foundry, but they will not be tuned, so that the same music that has been produced by two of them for over 600 years will continue to be heard over Romney Marsh. A new ringing floor is to be provided, thanks to the Rev. Nigel O'Connor's enthusiasm, to replace the existing rotting first floor. This will cost in the region of £550 to £600, and any ringer who would feel disposed to help defray this sum with a con-tribution should send it to Mr. O'Connor at Ivychurch Rectory, Romney Marsh; it will be gratefully acknowledged.

BELL FOUNDRY IN ATHENS

Mr. M. C. W. Sherwood sends the following interesting item.-

"Anyone lucky enough to be visiting Athens this summer might like to know of a bell foundry I discovered there last year. As you walk from Omonia Square towards the Acropolis you pass a Byzantine church on the left, opposite which a small street goes off to the right, just before the underground station. This street is devoted to metalworkers of all sorts, and the pavements are piled with ornamental copper and bronze ware, kitchen ware, farming implements and divers tools, etc., and in the middle of the clutter two large bells (about 6 cwt.) mark the entrance to the alley of the bell foundry.

"Close to the street is the bell shop, an amazing room with shelves of bells round the walls, bells hanging from the ceiling and standing on the floor. Further down the alley is the foundry itself in a lean-to reminiscent of our own early founders' temporary buildings. There stands a well-worn furnace, and, nearby, a number of bell cores are let into the floor, which seem to be more or less permanent.

"Other items of the founder's equipment are there, too, easily identifiable by anyone with any knowledge of English founders' workings. The proprietor—and apparently sole worker-is Demetrios Papodoloupos, who unfortunately speaks no English, but I managed to gather that this business has always been in the family and that trade is remarkably brisk—no doubt due to the destructive qualities of the chiming apparatus often used.

The obvious difference between this foreign product and our own versions is the mass of detailed relief ornamentation, differently designed for each individual bell. Thus instead of the plain, almost dowdy appearance of the English bell the Greeks. like other continentals, enjoy a wealth of original art, spectacularly and appropriately displayed on the most noble of instruments. English founders have, of course, sacrificed visual appeal to the perfection of aural qualities. We may hope that founders will eventually combine these two skills.'

STRIKING COMPETITION

Three teams took part in the branch striking competition at Gorleston on June 6. The results were: Lowestoft 43 faults, Kessingland 61, Pakefield 74.

"ANYTHING FOR A SKIVE"

News of the restoration of the bells to the church of Ingoldmells in Lincolnshire (Ringing World, July 3) brought back memories of a spell in the Royal Navy's training establishment in Butlin's Camp between Ingoldmells and Skegness, H.M.S. "Royal Arthur."

One morning in 1942 there was a "pipe" for anyone with a knowledge of bellringing to report to the chaplain, and though I had done no ringing for seven or more years I went along in the true Service spirit of "anything for a skive."

It appeared that the chaplain wanted to get a team to ring at Ingoldmells in celebration of the victory at El Alamein. I told him that I had once been a member of the Ely Diocesan Association, and he accepted that as evidence that I was an expert, and suggested that it would be as well to go along and see if the bells were all right for ringing.

Since this meant a morning away from the classrooms I was most willing, and went to the tower to have a look. quite clear that to attempt to ring the bells would be to court disaster, for the frame and wheels were in a poor state, and it was decided that it would be better to chime

At the appointed time a scratch band of five mustered in the tower and we tried to chime. We were hopelessly handicapped, however, by the fact that one of the band was a Norwegian, who had no idea of rounds, and chimed his bell happily at a speed which made it quite impossible for the rest of us to fit in with him, and he knew too little English to understand any attempt to tell him where he was going

We made a terrible noise, but it did not appear to displease the folk living within earshot. One old couple sacrificed part of their precious ration to give us all a cup of tea afterwards, and I am only sorry that they must have died before they could hear their bells rung properly.

A footnote to this recollection: Last year, while visiting the bell foundry at Loughborough, I saw the Ingoldmells tenor awaiting attention. It was a handsome bell, and it would be a real pleasure to revisit Ingoldmells tower should the chance ever come my way.

ABOUT WHEATLEY IN OXFORD

When the new church at Wheatley was consecrated in June, 1857, the tower contained five bells cast in 1793 and 1794 by John Briant, the Hertford bellfounder. These bells (tenor 9-10 cwt.) were presumably the bequest of a local man. Thomas Sims, who left the money for the building of the previous church in 1793. In 1868 a spire was added to the tower and in 1879 Mears and Stainbank cast a treble weighing 4 cwt. 1 qr. 9 lb. at a cost of £36 7s. 6d., which completed the present ring of six bells.

A new band was started in 1967, and the bells are now rung regularly for two services each Sunday and at Thursday evening practice sessions. Learners are taught the basics of change ringing as soon as they are able to handle a bell, and two quarter peals have been rung by a Sunday service band this year.

The ringers do not confine their activities to the bells, however; they have scrubbed out the church twice, the most recent occasion being in readiness for the Flower Festival and Local History Exhibition held in June. A special booklet with photographs telling the history of the bells and ringers was produced, and there was also a display in the exhibition hall. A model tower built by Miss Terry Riggs was used to explain the working of a church bell to many visitors, and over 50 people climbed the steps to the ringing chamber to watch demonstrations. Several have since taken the opportunity of coming to watch the ringers at practice.

Any of the many visitors who have rung at Wheatley will remember the clock case in the centre of the ringing chamber, and will be pleased to know that plans are being made for the removal of this obstacle. Any contributions towards the fund for this work would be most gratefully received by the tower secretary at 12 Ambrose Rise, Wheatley, Oxford, OX9

A PEAL AT GREYSTOKE

The recent first peal on the bells at Greystoke, Cumberland, must surely be unusual in several respects. The four bells are all of pre-Reformation date and were regarded as unringable until 1969, when two who rang in the peal inspected them and arranged ringing in March, 1970. It was not possible to ring them successfully even at this stage, due to the low ceiling in the ringing room and the consequent difficulty in handling the bells. The ringers were helped on this occasion by Hugh Lawrence, a student at the Pre-Theological College, and a ringer from Wiltshire, who assisted them in repairs and testing the three alternative ringing rooms for better comfort. Another attempt was arranged for May

Another attempt was arranged for May 23rd, and this was successful, thanks to Hugh, who kept interest alive in the village and who made sure the bells were rung, even for daily services, between our visits. The bells, however, are still extremely hard work. During the peal Colin Gates rang without a sally, and the other ropes were constantly slipping wheel and catching on

It was, however, not without its humour. After an hour a tramp, with his dog, wandered up the belfry stairs (the ringing room is also used for college lectures and as a cloakroom, so the door was not locked) and demanded to know where the rector was. The dog was nearly hanged! After frantic explanations the tramp departed, taking the dog with I'm and heading towards the Rectory.

WHEATLEY RINGERS

Back: Len Porter (from Marston), John Walford, Bill McGowan, Colin Smith, Fred Deacon, Maureen Long, Kevin Harris.

Front: Ian O'Reilly, Terry Riggs, Hilary McGowan, Anita Parsons, Paul Glenny.

So ended the first peal on this very ancient ring, in what must be one of the most unusual towers in the North of England.

DETAILS OF THE BELLS

(Quoting from the History of the Church) The bells (which were rehung in the new tower in 1840) are mentioned in an inventory of 1552 as "iiij gret belles".

They are:

Treble.—Note E, diameter 30½ ins. 2.—Note D, diameter 32½ ins. 3.—Note C sharp, diameter 33½ ins. Tenor.—Note C, diameter 36 ins.

The treble and third bells are apparently from the same foundry and have the same black-letter type, over an inch high, and very thick, cast with the bell. The inscription on the treble bell is: DEI: GRA: KATERINA: XPI: SPONSA: PRO: NOBIS: OIBUS: ORA: T: AUKELAND: IHS: That on the third bell is: ROBERTUS: EDMUNDSON: ANDREAS: DEI: GRACIA: IHS:

These two bells, bearing the names of two of the chantry saints, were doubtless placed in the tower when it was repaired about 1382. Aukeland and Edmundson were possibly the donors of the bells. Edmundson is a well-known local name; Auckeland, however, is not.

The tenor bell has two inscriptions; one round the shoulder reads: JHESUS: BE: OURE: SPED: EVER: AME: IHON: TORNOR: MAYDE: THYS: B:

Of the bellfounder, Ihon Tornor, nothing is yet known. The second inscription, round the soundbow, reads: THOMAS: DACRE: DOMINUS: DE: DACRE: ET: GRAISOTK: MILES: GARTERII: QUI: OT: ANO: XI; MDXXIII: ET: XXIIII: DIE: OT: It is in large capitals of a nondescript character, the stops are a wavy bell-rope, the Dacre escallop and the ragged staff. The bell was probably given by Lord William Dacre to commemorate his father, who was a notable man in the border in his time, was warden of the West Marches and contributed greatly to the English victory over the Scots at Flodden Field in 1513.

The second bell has a very difficult inscription, as the lettering runs right round the shoulder, with only the initial cross to indicate where the words begin and end. The last two letters are placed under the cross. The type is composite, some letters being Lombardic and some black-letter. This is indicative of the period 1400-1420, when the two styles existed side by side. Each letter is on a square of metal, soldered separately on the bell (as is also the case with the tenor bell). The letters are:—

CANONICASDNSCOLLMGRINHENA-PARECCEWILELMASMEFABRICARE-FACITERASMUSSUMSONOQINTAS.

The six letters INHENA might be INBENA (for "in beneficium") and the sentence has been translated as: "Canon William, Master of the College, for the benefit of the Parochial Church, caused me to be made. My name is Erasmus, I am fifth in the Ring." Unfortunately, no record has been found of a William as Master of the College, and in any case there are only four bells and not five. It is just possible that there may have once been eight bells in the peal, and that the others have disappeared, but that is conjecture.

No man is justified in doing evil on the ground of expediency.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

PITMAN'S PRINCIPLE

Dear Sir,-I confirm Mr. George Challan's statement published on page 514 of The Ringing World. The figures were given to me by Mr. William Thornley, of Stapleford, Notts, on July 8, 1951, having been given to him in 1949 or 1950 by the late Mr. A. J. Pitman, of Port Talbot. He had discovered them some time before this date, and they have never been published by A. J. P. or by myself.

The principle was practised at Stapleford and Sandiacre for some time, but without much success, and at Warsop in 1951 and during the next few years; we still ring it occasionally. A number of 720's have been rung, and peals have been attempted but without success, although on one occasion the fifth 720 was reached. We have named it Pitman's Principle.

I have a letter from A. J. P. dated December 6, 1951, wishing us success, and leaving the naming of it to us. We have. I believe, seven variations of the figures, one by A. J. P. and the other six by Mr. Brynley Richards, of Warsop, who was given some guidance by Mr. John Segar, of Skegness.

These all have 120 changes to a plain course, but the six by Richards are rather unorthodox and difficult to ring, and no 720's have been rung. This field of Minor is almost unexplored, and could possibly yield some very interesting results if fol-lowed up.—Yours faithfully, Warsop, Notts. HERBERT T. ROOKE

GOOD STRIKING RECORD

Dear Sir,-Mr. Chant suggests that the gramophone record is not comprehensive enough, yet it includes 12 different examples of commonly rung methods on 5, 6, 8 and 10 bells. No more from an even more comprehensive list could be squeezed on to one 12in. L.P. record.

He insinuates that the examples are not good enough for use for the purposes in-tended, although the record has not yet been distributed.

His final paragraph, a sentence of 70 words, is difficult to follow but appears to be a criticism of ringing in connection with the Central Council's visit to Yorkshire. It has no relevance to the gramophone record.

Everyone who applied for one of these records before the closing date will have their record posted to them. I am confident that most of those who took advantage of this opportunity will obtain great pleasure and satisfaction from their purchase.

I estimate that this project, when completed, will have taken up some 250 hours of my own time in organisation, including artist's work on cover and notes, correspondence, negotiation, administration, practical aspects and final dispatch of 250 records all over Britain, the Commonwealth and U.S.A.

My own car, expensive tape recorder. etc., has been in use for dozens of hours on this task—all "for free," to further the work of the Council and produce a useful and economically priced aural aid.

In addition, Mr. Clive M. Smith has put in a vast amount of time in recording and producing the master tape for the record. Many other colleagues have rendered valuable assistance in various ways, especially in travelling considerable distances, free of charge, to take part in recording sessions. Even at labourers' rates of pay all the

GREATER LONDON TOWERS

Dear Sir,—In his letter in the issue of June 26 Mr. C. H. Rogers raises a matter of general interest. I share his pleasure in the listing of towers in the 4th edition of Dove by their old familiar parish names. but I have misgivings about the system of locating them. The location of a tower according to its new London borough is not helpful, for some of the new names are not well known, and some are quite misleading in relation to the older places they comprise. Nor are the London postal district numbers any better, for they are not in topographical order, and in any case they are being superseded by postal codes.

I think ringers in general are concerned with where a tower is, rather than the local authority which collects the rates, or the number of the local sorting office. Within the lifetime of many people still living, and for over a thousand years before, every place in England (the City of London excepted), was identified by its "county," which is the Norman equivalent of the Old English "shire"—and the "shires" of Middlesex, Essex, Surrey and Kent were even then so old and so well established that they did not need that

I therefore put forward a suggestion for the continuance of this historic and still common usage, and for the disregarding of local government boundaries, which (as we have seen twice in 80 years) are liable to drastic changes. I am sure if the Exercise is generally in favour. Mr. Dove will consider following suit.—Yours faithfully, Westminster, S.W. T. G. HAWKINS

THE ROTHERHITHE ROPES

Dear Sir,-It was rather unfortunate that your correspondent made a public issue of what is a simple domestic matter.

Until comparatively recently, the bells of St. Mary's, Rotherhithe, were considered almost unringable. At least four of the ropes were lent by various people, who presumably retrieved their property a short time before the Monday in question.

The Saturday peal band, knowing the neglected state of the bells, and that ropes would be missing or in poor condition, brought their own. Only three Rotherhithe ropes were in the tower, both before and after the peal attempt.

Had the band known that ringing was to take place the following evening they would. no doubt, have been able to take steps to ensure that the congregation and ringers for the "Mayflower" service were not disappointed.—Yours faithfully,

London, S.E. JOHN PLADDYS.

TAPES WANTED

Dear Sir,—I have received a request from friend in South Africa for a tape of hymn tunes played on English church bells. He realises that this is not quite a proper request to make to a change ringer, but asks me to do my best.

Local inquiries have proved fruitless, so I am wondering if anyone can provide such a tape. I will gladly pay the cost.—Yours faithfully, above would imply either an expense to the Council or a much higher-priced record.

Westminster, S.W. T. G. HAWKINS.

The continuance of voluntary work on the scale referred to above is not encouraged by letters such as that written by Mr. Harold Chant.—Yours faithfully,

NORMAN CHADDOCK Market Weighton, Yorks.

FALSE COMPOSITION

Dear Sir.-It has been brought to my notice that the composition of 5088 Yorkshire Surprise Major by Richard J. Parker, published in The Ringing World of December 30, 1966, page 868, is false. I therefore wish to withdraw a peal of Yorkshire rung at Maldon, Essex, on April 5, 1969, and published in your issue of May 2, 1969. My apologies to all concerned.

I cannot recollect seeing in print any announcement to the effect that this composition was false (I may, however, have overlooked it), neither have I noticed any other peal withdrawals, although the composition has been rung by at least one other band. If this assumption is correct perhaps someone could explain the long silence, or is the falseness so obvious that every potential conductor has spotted it immediately?—Yours faithfully,

Danbury, Essex. J. E. G. ROAST.

TRUE HARMONIC TUNING

Dear Sir,—Replying to the most interesting and informative letter from "A. C." (Ringing World, July 17, 1970), founders had been striving for scientifically tuned bells from about 1300, but it was not until late in the 15th century that any practical progress was made. In 1477 Gleitz, an organist, recorded the harmonics of a bell in Erfurt, and the earliest treatise on the subject appeared in Venice in 1540, followed in 1636 by the "Harmonicorum libri" of Mersenne which, with a commentary by Billon, was drawn upon by Hemony.

Peter van den Gheyn is usually credited with having brought the third and fifth partial tones into agreeable relationship and the small carillon of 24 bells cast in 1554 now in the Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam, is an interesting example of his work.

I cannot accept the statement of "A. C" that Hemony's bass bells are poor and his treble bells "wildly out of tune" as, again to quote Starmer, such bells would have "a deplorable effect if used in the carillon" and, quite apart from my own opinion, it is impossible for me to believe that such famous carillons as Mechlin, Utrecht and Amsterdam would have been accepted for three centuries by carilloneurs of the calibre of Jef Denyn, Anton Brees, Lefevere, Cees Roeloffs and others, nor would the City of Amsterdam have invited the Hemony brothers to establish themselves therein in 1654 backed by a free foundry of small bells, I feel that the clear, bright "singing" tones of these in the Hemony carillons are preferable to the shrill "plonk" that modern founders seem to be producing, and even with the three to five hundredweight trebles of swinging rings the shrill caterwaul, in many cases, leaves much to be desired. Again, to borrow from the anonymous compiler of the Handbook to Bournville Carillon, 1934, "the treble bells so often hard and shrill." As regards the business methods of the Hemony brothers, "A. C." may be thinking of their apprentice Melchior de Haze, who copied their tuning methods and was much more of a high pressure salesman.

Whilst I have no wish to obscure the contribution of the Taylor family to the science of true harmonic tuning, I was not aware that they had already developed this before the advent of Canon Simpson but, again, this must have been late in the 19th century, nearly 200 years after the time of the Hemonys, to whom, I still feel, the pioneering credit must be given.—Yours faithfully, W. E. BOX. faithfully, Birmingham 17.

Handbell Ringers of Great Britain

Impressions of the Fifth Annual Rally

Wyggeston Boys' Grammar School, Leicester, was the venue this year and the day was warm and clear, very pleasant after the long, cold winter.

The proceedings opened by the Lord Mayor were immediately followed by the host team (The Beltonians) ringing a piece for bells, organ and voices, specially written for the occasion, with words added as a welcome to all visitors.

Following this the 1st Alton Company of the Boys' Brigade gave us "Heykin's Serenade," a piece nicely played. Ashover ringers then gave a nursery rhyme selection which was tuneful and quite well executed, if a little too slow at times. This was followed by six young ladies in smart green dresses, who hailed from Hyde Lea and Coppenhall, who treated us to an arrangement of "Ten Pretty Girls," which was well played.

Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar have two bands. The juniors played "The Bell Polka," while the seniors chose "Euturpe Mazurka," and both are to be congratulated on their good striking and presentation. Burnham (Bucks) "A" band played "Doh, Ray, Me," and the "B" band played "Bobbie Shaftoe," both with success, but a little more practice might help (or could it have been stage fright?). This is not always confined to youngsters; older ones get it, too, but don't worry, boys and girls, you looked as striking as any band in the room, with your smart white dresses and emerald green sashes.

Cannington ringers then treated us to "Country Gardens"—their striking was excellent and they kept a steady beat through-

An arrangement 1 liked, called "Donau Wellen" (Waves of the Danube), by the Charnwood ringers, was next on the programme, and was effectively presented, although it could have been a little louder. By way of contrast, no one could accuse the Kingsbury ringers of this fault. They played an air from Handel's "Water Music," which came over very clearly in-deed. Ecclesfield School treated us to "Waltz of the Flowers" (Tschaikowsky) and the runs on the treble bells, both up and down, were a real treat to listen to.

Great Glen ringers chose the "Bluebells of Scotland," their striking being very good indeed, but I thought their bells a trifle too loud, which made for harshness. They would have been more effective no doubt had the ringers not been quite so vigorous.

I was intrigued to meet "The Hoodeners" of Folkestone, a band of four young ladies and two gentlemen, all dressed in period costume (white stockings and black cloaks), who rang a Christmas selection which in-cluded "Silent Night." Whilst this was going on one of the gentlemen donned a costume with a wooden horse's head at the The mouth of the horse was arranged to open, and could be fed with coin of the realm! This custom is peculiar to East Kent and is of great antiquity. The Hooden Horse is taken around at Christmas time by carters and wagoners who collect with the "Horse" after ringing handbells and singing carols, and it may also be seen accompanying the East Kent Morris Men at Whitsun and Michaelmas. "If ye the Hooden Horse do feed, throughout the year ye shall not need."

The Hamlet Ringers (two ladies who played "Four-in-Hand) next played a Brahms waltz in A flat, and did it very well, especially when it is realised that only two persons and four hands were involved! St. Peter's, Henley, chose an arrangement of "Holsworthy Bells" with rounds and Queens changes, and this was a nice piece and well presented. It was followed by ringers of Higher Walton with an arrangeringers of Higher Walton with an arrangement of "Morning Town Ride," which was a little subdued at times. Nothing like this could be said of the ringers of New Parks Boys' School, Leicester, who followed with "Heykin's Serenade," for this was presented very vigorously indeed. More "pianissimo" would have reduced some of the brassy jangle and would have improved this presentation a great deal.

The Loughborough Collegians, four charming ladies, then rang two very pleasant pieces—"Fine Knacks for Ladies" and "Come again, sweet love of my life," and were followed by St. Thomas's ringers, Moorside, who rang William Gordon's "Championship Polka," giving a creditable performance. The Octavius Wigram ringers then rang, what was to me, a very fine arrangement of "Land of Hope and Glory." The Offenham ringers chose the "Heatherbell Polka," in which they kept good time and struck their bells very well, if a trifle too loudly at times.

The band from St. Mary's, South Reddish, have only recently been formed and I was most pleased with their rendering of Tschaikowsky's "Italian Serenade." Rich's Ringers comprise nine young folk who had chosen a Russian melody—"How Great Thou Art," quite a solemn and moving piece, nicely rendered and well presented. A complete contrast was shown by the ringers of St. Mary's, Sileby, with "Elizabethan Serenade" (Binge), which they delivered with very good striking, but I have the other trees they are their expectations. thought the effect was rather spoiled by the vigour of the performers and the number and brassiness of the bells used in the harmonics.

Silverdale (Lancs) had made the long journey from their sylvan village at the edge of Morecambe Bay and they looked very smart in their crimson jackets. They rendered a little number called "The Wayside Chapel," which was new to most if not all the audience. That delightful little melody "Cubley Brook" was next played by the "Sound in Brass" on their highly polished set of bells recently renovated. vated. There was some good striking by these ringers and their treble runs were excellent. Quite a high standard was achieved by the Staverton ringers, who treated us to a selection of Old Favourite Tunes.

Stokesay ringers have a good set of bells on which they played "In a Monastery Garden," and it was rung with care and great feeling. The band from St. George's, Wilton, chose a most appropriate piece, "Rule Britannia," for their contribublete, Rule Billamia, for their contribu-tion, and this popular arrangement was ably played on their tuneful bells. St. Michael's, Winterbourne, next gave a lively little arrangement of "Drink Up Thee Zyder," and this was followed by seven young ladies from Warnham in multicoloured dresses, who together with their leader played a Gavotte, "The Musical Box" (Gossec). They have a lovely set of bells and could use them to some purpose, their striking and general timing being well-nigh perfect. The last of the afternoon performers were the Black Country Ringers with Handel's "Harmonious Blacksmith"; this was well arranged and presented with care.

Following tea, a departure from the usual at these functions was a concert, in which four of the larger and more experienced bands had been asked to play, each for about half an hour. Unfortunately Thurlstone had to withdraw as one of their key ringers had cut the top of one of his fingers. Fortunately the Beltonians agreed to fill the gap.

Playing six tunes, in groups of two, Ealing Ringers (43 bells, 12 ringers) commenced with a "Gavotte in D" by Bach. and the precision and care with which the and the precision and care with which the ringers struck their bells was a lesson that could be studied by other four-in-hand ringers. Their other tunes were "Chicka-biddy." "Butterflies in the Rain," "Dreamringers. Their other tunes were "Chickabiddy," "Butterflies in the Rain," "Dreaming." "Trumpet Tune and Air" and "Minuet in G" (Beethoven); the last piece I can only describe as of intricate loveli-

So, too, was the rendering of "Lead Kindly Light" by the Norbury (Hazel Grove) Ringers (140 bells, 10 ringers), an arrangement with variations of the well-known hymn tune. "Trudie," a lively and jolly piece, followed, after which Wagner's Stirring march from "Tannhauser" and Chopin's peaceful "Etude" were rung. Norbury finished their selection with part of Rossini's overture to "William Tell" (a newly arranged and excellently played piece) and the familiar "Blue Bell Polka."

Ecclesfield Ringers (163 bells, 11 ringers) in a way in which they make it look so easy (but isn't) also played six arrangements. After a march, "King Edward VII," and "Classical Extracts" came the highspot of the whole day, the overture "Caliph of Bagdad" (Boieldieu). The arrangement and presentation was absolutely Mozart's "Minuet and Waldteufel's "Skater's Waltz" followed, and finally a most fascinating arrangement of "Old War-Time Tunes." The applause after each item was fully justified, and the audience were loth to let them go!

The fourth team, The Beltonians, have ten ringers using 74 bells and a very capable performer on the electric organ. They blend well and, in contrast to the other three teams, treated us to an excellent selection of popular tunes, which in-cluded this year's Eurovision winner, "All cluded this year's Eurovision winner, "All Kinds of Everything." Other tunes played were "Years may come, Years may go," "Two Little Boys," "Marching Through Georgia," "The Happy Wanderer." "Moulin Rouge," "Trumpet Voluntary," "God Bless the Prince of Wales," and finally that most popular of handbell pieces, the Gallop from "Orpheus in the Underworld."

So ended another handbell ringers' rally, a day with so much packed into it. Our thanks to our hosts for all the work they put in to make the day go so smoothly (including feeding all 700!). It was indeed grand to meet old and new friends, all enthusiastic music-makers in this peculiarly English way. The Handbell Ringers of English way. The Handbell Ringers of Great Britain is a flourishing concern, with many up-and-coming youngsters to carry on when their time comes.

"Praise Him upon the high sounding cymbals," says Psalm 150, and there is nothing I like better!

REPORT OF THE BROADCASTING AND TELEVISION COMMITTEE FOR 1969

As mentioned in the report for 1968 the convener was engaged early in this year in representations to the B.B.C. in an endeavour to effect a change in the bells used for introducing Sunday programmes on Radio 4, and these discussions raised hopes of not only changing the towers used but of increasing the number from four to eight. However, the powers that be decided eventually to do no more than add three towers to the four already being used, and the three chosen were St. Peter Mancroft ringing Stedman Caters, St. Philip's Birmingham, ringing Cambridge Maximus and St. Mary and St. Helena, Elstow, ringing Bob Minor.

The B.B.C. was not disposed to change the recordings of Evercreech bells being used for introducing Sunday programmes on Radio 2.

From reports received it would appear that bells have been broadcast more frequently from local stations than in national programmes.

In the MIDLANDS region Radio Leicester has broadcast recordings of several towers in the surrounding district to introduce its Sunday programmes. Radio Stoke, too, has used bells frequently and in one programme featured the bells of Newcastle-under-Lyme, and some of the ringers were interviewed. The newly-enthroned Bishop of Birmingham told the ringers there that he was greatly heartened to hear St. Martin's bells broadcast on Chrismas morning and regarded it as a welcome to his new diocese.

In the WEST region the bells and ringers of Winchester College were featured on 27th April, in the B.B.C.s "Meeting Point". The programme, entitled "Compulsory Requirement", dealt with religion in four schools in Winchester. In the section on Winchester College one of the subjects was bell ringing. There were shots of the ringers and a short touch of Plain Bob Minor was rung. Whilst the striking was not perfect it was creditable having in mind the fact that most of the ringers had been ringing for less than two years.

No pre-service ringing has been noted this year, although there may well have been some instances not brought to our attention.

Approaches have been made to the Regional Religious Organiser with a view to bells being more widely used prior to the broadcasting of services on T.V. A considerable amount can be done in this direction by the ringers on the spot keeping themselves well informed of local happenings and pressing for the bells to be included in a broadcast.

From WALES again there is news of many broadcasts of bells during the year, most of them on I.T.V. Harlech. It interviewed Mr. Jack Hayward, an English millionaire living in the Bahamas who had given £150,000 for the purchase of Lundy Island and was appealing for the church there and its bells to be restored.

The bells of St. Margaret's, Westminster, were heard and shots of that church shown at the beginning of the I.T.V. film "80,000 Suspects", and these bells were heard again in the background during an interview with Robert Maxwell, M.P. During the showing of the film "The Pool of London" the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral could be heard for some time. its news programme Harlech gave good coverage to the dispute over Stinchcombe bells, and in the same programme showed some good shots of the bells of Maisemore, Glos., being rehung in the tower after restoration. On Christmas Eve, Harlech's programme for children, "Very, Very Varied", was excellently produced and technic "Very, Very There were demonstrations with a ally correct. any correct. There were demonstrations with a model bell and with the tower bells of Llandaff Cathedral. The ringers were interviewed in a very friendly fashion. Snowflakes were falling as the cameras approached the Cathedral, giving a touch of realism to the programme.

The B.B.C. programme "Good Morning Wales" gave interviews with notable guests at the wedding of the Welsh rugby player, Barry John, and throughout the interviews could be heard the bells of St. Mary's, Swansea.

B.B.C. Heddiw gave shots of the ringers ringing the eight at Dolgelly, and a talk, in Welsh, with the ringers.

The SCOTTISH region reports no broadcasting or televising of bells during the year. The choice of Inverness for the "Christmas Bells" programme appears to have been very convenient for the B.B.C., as it was already engaged on a programme connected with the centenary celebrations of the dedication of St. Andrew's Scottish Episcopal Cathedral.

In IRELAND too there seems to have been less broadcasting of bells than in previous years. The bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral were heard over Radio Eireann ringing Grandsire Caters after the carol service on Christmas Eve. This appears to be an annual broadcast. Christ Church Cathedral bells were on the air on New Year's Eve. Both cathedrals, of course, are in Dublin. The eight bells of Holywood represented Northern Ireland in the "Christmas Bells" programme.

From the NORTH region we learn that the visit of the "Expo" belfry to Saltburn in July attracted the attention of B.B.C. television. The bells were seen in action on "Look North" with Durham and Newcastle ringers at the ropes.

One of the band was interviewed.
Radio Durham recorded bells around the county and broadcast them on a programme on Christmas Day as a prelude to the Bishop's message for Christmas. The bells of Shincliffe, Roker, South Shields, Chester-le-Street, Lanchester, Stockton, Darlington (Holy Trinity) and Durham Cathedral were introduced by Nigel Holmes.

Bells were heard preceding T.V. services on some occasions, and on Whit Sunday St. George's, Doncaster, made their introduction with Spliced Surprise!

In EAST ANGLIA the visit of "Expo" to Long Melford was recorded for the B.B.C. Overseas Service and was heard by ringers in Singapore and Cyprus, and possibly elsewhere—very interesting news. The "Expo" was also shown on Anglia T.V. Other Items of broadcasting news (very brief) as supplied by B.B.C. Norwich, are —on radio—mention of a peal at Warboys to mark a ringer's 81st anniversary, an appeal for the bells of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, tolling (?) for Biafra, and the bells of Wherestead being taken into safe custody (shown also on T.V.).

Canon Gilbert Thurlow was inveigled into a sort of burlesque on ringing by being asked at the last minute on New Year's Eve to go to Kirby Bedon Church, there to talk about "ringing in the New Year" and afterwards to get three well-known Anglia T.V. faces to chime the ancient three (one each), after which he had to chime all three. He says: "I got quite a lot in, in a few words, by saying "You got me here on false pretences. I am trying, as it were, to describe the technique of a Cambridge Rowing Eight, and illustrating with three old men in a LONDON region. The news of any broadcasting of bells in this region is very scarce. During spring and summer Radio 2 on Saturday mornings issued rounds on eight to precede greetings to couples being married on that day.

At the end of the year came the programme "Magpie", when the Whitechapel "Expo" belfry was erected in the T.V. studio and the bells rung by a band drawn from The Ancient Society of College Youths. This was described very graphically by W. T. Cook in "The Ringing World" in January.

The B.B.C. again invited the convener to attend the editing and building-up of the master tape for the "Christmas Bells" programme. This is made much simpler and occupies much less time now that the ringers indicate which section of their tape they consider to be best for the broadcast.

POORLY ATTENDED

A meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch was held at Lutton (6) but was very poorly attended. Only 15 sat down to tea, which was in the village hall. However, the bells were kept going to a variety of methods until 8 p.m.

The next meeting will be at Whaplode in September. G. C.

WILLIAM LANCASTER MAKER OF SHEEP BELLS

Maker of sheep and cattle bells, Mr. William Lancaster, has died, aged 76, at his native village of Great Cheverill, Wilts. He was well known at sheep fairs.

Much of his work was sent to Australia and New Zealand sheep farms, but the quaint music of his sheep bells can still be heard on the Downs of England.

NOVEL PEAL OF BELLS

A New Device which secures Purity of Tone.

I to the Church the Living call
And to the Grave I summon all.

This inscription was found on the tenor bell at St. Mary's, Watford, during the work of recasting. All the eight bells of the peal have been recast and rehung, after having been in constant use for 130 years.

A novel feature of the peal, which was dedicated on Saturday, is the use for the first time of a device which prevents the clapper or bell-tongue from rebounding on to the bell after striking. This feature does away with the dull after-sound which is usually heard when church bells are rung.

Bell experts have for years been trying to secure an effective device for this purpose. A provisional patent has been taken out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnson.

ROYAL EXCHANGE

Evening Standard, 16/2/21.

'CHANGE CHIMES AGAIN

Lady Mayoress presses Electric Button to start them.

A romantic combination of ancient bells and modern electric button was brought into play at the Royal Exchange today, when the famous chimes which have recently undergone the process of renovation and retuning were inaugurated by the Lord Mayor, Alderman Sir James Roll, and the Lady Mayoress.

The Ceremony, which the Sheriffs and Members of the City Corporation attended, took place in the Court of the Royal Exchange, a number of Members of the Gresham Committee being present. There was also a large gathering of City men outside starting the Chimes.

The Lady Mayoress pressed the button on a table. From the button a wire was stretched away up to the sunlit roof of the building. Some seconds elapsed before the current set the drums turning, then the old familiar tunes pealed down from somewhere underneath the grasshopper, beginning with the National Anthem followed by the chorus of "Tom Bowling."

The chimes have been rung since 1671, said the Master of the Mercers' Company, which Company is part owner with the Corporation of the building.

The chairman of the Gresham Committee regretted that there was not a more complete harmony in the world around us to fit in with the harmony of the bells.

The Lord Mayor said that the bells had always been regarded with fondness by citizens of London. They were repeatedly alluded to in the Histories of Civic events, and they found a place in the quaint annals of the old city on which so many novels had been founded.

Softening a Bargain.
"In modern days," added the Lord Mayor,
"Their delightful chimes had had a softening effect on many a hard bargain on 'Change."

TOWER OUTINGS

In conversation recently with a very worthy tower captain (who realises his own limitation in ringing) we found he was profoundly disturbed by the attitude and behaviour of a coachload of visiting ringers to his church from a south-eastern tower who had been on an outing. Arriving 20 minutes late, they bustled into the belfry with no apology and, ignoring the "local" standing in the corner, except to ask which was the treble.

They then proceeded to go for London Major, which came to grief after three and a half leads, and followed this with Yorkshire, which lasted about one lead longer. A heated argument then broke out between two of the ringers, which resulted in one of them walking out of the tower. Bad rounds and a bob course of Stedman were succeeded by another futile attempt at the London, and finally the ringers left completely ignoring the suggestion by the "local" that they might sign the visitors book and with no expression of thanks or appreciation!

Now we do not suggest that this display of bad manners on the part of this particular coach tour is general. On the contrary, we know that ringers on their "annual" are well behaved and appreciative of local co-operation. Nevertheless such displays do periodically come to light and do not encourage sympathetic consideration when subsequent and more worthy applications are received for "the use of your bells on our annual outing."

It is essential—indeed the duty—of the organiser of every outing, be it for half-day, whole day or week-end, to plan and arrange the tour allowing for traffic and other local conditions so that punctuality is kept, that proper decorum is observed in the belfry and church, that the method attempted is not above the capability of the team ringing it (outings should not be used for practising), and that suitable appreciation (with a contribution to tower funds) be expressed to the local representative present, who has been inconvenienced in order to meet the visitors.

The proper time for thanks is at the end of the visit, followed by a written note of appreciation to the tower secretary (or incumbent) sent during the week following the visit. A paragraph at the end of a report in The Ringing World, printed possibly a month after the event, is of no consequence and probably not read by the particular incumbents and ringers "who met us at the church." If an outing is enjoyed it is the duty of the organiser to write and say so to the people who were responsible, and not leave it to a possible chance reading of The Ringing World report.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Smith and their daughters have now arrived in Fiji and are at Lautoka, where they haven't "grabbed" the tower yet as the church has but one bell. They await their heavy luggage, which includes their handbells and is travelling by sea and should be with them within a month—"if it got away before the dock strike," added Alan.

Belfry Gossip

Father and son rang their 50th peal together at Cardiff on July 16. They are Messrs. G. I. and A. R. Lewis.

At Gamston (Notts) a 720 was included in a quarter and named "Gamston" after the church in which it was rung.

A "Dry" trip down the Thames on their day's outing was not enjoyed by some members of the St. Albans District recently, but the return journey was "wet," and several made up for it then.

An injury to his right arm did not deter Mr. R. E. Manton from ringing and conducting a quarter of Bob Doubles at Melton Mowbray on July 14. He rang single-handed.

Bats in the Belfry? No, but a bat in her washing machine was the find of Mrs. R. C. Stevens, of Telford (Salop) recently. Where it came from is unknown, but it evidently got caught up in a garment and was well and truly washed (and drowned) before being discovered.

The quarter peal at Woodbury, Devon, was for the Patronal Festival, also for the ruby wedding of Doreen and Jim Gooding. It was the first of Triples for Mr. and Mrs. Bushell, first of Triples inside for M. Cain, and first of Triples as conductor.

Off to Cambridge in October is Miss Margaret Elwood, having obtained a B.A. (Mus.) degree at Manchester. She will be welcomed to the University Guild there and able to extend her ringing activities when studies permit.

Midland Bank clerks make up a small association who, because of distance, are not able to meet often. Perhaps other bank employees who are ringers might affiliate and help in this particular problem.

The additional bell to give St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, a light ten is being installed by John Taylor and Co., who will follow this work by rehanging a ring of 12 at St. Stephen's, Bristol, three bells having been recast, two new ones added, and a new frame and fittings supplied.

Fred Dukes is home from hospital after his accident and is convalescing. His progress, however, is slow, and he has a certain amount of discomfort. Unfortunately he cannot yet read or write, which to Fred must be very irritating. It may take some time before he is his usual self, and all ringers hope that complete recovery will be attained in due course.

Mr. David L. Cawley (F.S.A.Scot.) writes: "I have come to the conclusion that ringing is a good way of "cooling off" in summer. I have now left St. Edmund's School staff, Canterbury, and am proceeding to ordination training (the completion of it) at King's College, London, and a little later at St. Augustine's College, Canterbury."

Mr. G. Dodd writes to correct the following statement attributed to Mr. Savory (Ringing World, page 552). The fact was: "A local ringer wished to ring a nine-bell peal in his own tower, as only one had taken part in the peal of Erin Caters." Mr. Dodd adds: "In a more recent peal (on May 31) two members of the band and two from Basingstoke District took part in a nine-bell peal."

The Brain Teaser: The solution to this will appear next week.

A new six for Cornwall will be ringing soon, as John Taylor and Co. are installing two trebles to the existing four at St. Clement, near Truro.

New Conductor: Patrick M. Wills (Plain Bob Major) at Pulborough, Sussex. First peal congratulations to Susan Mc-

First peal congratulations to Susan Mc-Neil, Freda Salter, Richard L. Wallace, Susan Phillips and Ann Copley.

Personal Records: Geoffrey R. Drew (300 peals), Joyce M. Clarke (25), Andrew C. D. Mayes (25), John R. Scott (225).

The peal at Chepstow on July 4, in addition to being a 100th birthday compliment to the conductor's grandfather, was the 400th for Donald G. Clift, the well-known South Wales ringer, and his 100th peal of Stedman.

Writing about a tour of North Lincolnshire towers, Mr. S. Hopkins, of Streatham, adds: "In particular I would like to thank Rev. Standley, Martin Walker and the parishioners of Ulceby for the reception they gave us after our service ringing. In these days, when we hear so many complaints about noise, it was a great pleasure to receive such enthusiastic congratulations and thanks from so many people, just for doing our job.

There will be no ringing at Ewell, Surrey, for about three months. The eight (13 cwt.), all cast at various times at White-chapel, are back there preparatory to being rehung in a new frame. A bells fund started three years ago by the local ringers has, to date, produced £1,900. With ancillary work the cost will be in the region of £2,500, but this does not include the possible conversion of the 1799 Thwaites and Reed Westminster-chiming clock to automatic winding.—J. E. B.

"The Streams of Lovely Nancy" was the title of the programme produced by the Rev. M. Kirby of the Wiltshire Youth Clubs in Salisbury Cathedral on Sunday, July 26, and included folk dancing, Morris dancing and many other jigs and songs. At one period handbells were rung—somewhat crudely—to "The Bells of St. Mary" and afterwards it was learned that the performers were not ringers at all, but some of the folk dance team "called in to help out!"

Bedfordshire Association.

CERTIFICATES PRESENTED

All Saints', Clifton, was the tower for the July meeting of the Biggleswade District. Ringing during the afternoon was followed by the service conducted by the Rev. H. P. Hansen (Shefford), deputising for the rector.

Tea had been prepared in the church hall by Miss S. Percival, Miss I. Sharp and helpers, and Mr. S. H. Ashton was in the chair for the business meeting.

The secretary gave details of the proposed district dinner, and the three winning teams in the recent striking competition were presented with certificates by one of the judges (Mr. C. M. Orme, of Bedford).

Mr. R. V. Webb was ringing master during the evening, and methods were rung to cater for all present.

HISTORY OF LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

One of the most notable of the "characters" of the Society was P.J.—Percy Johnson, of Holbeck, a fine ringer and conductor on both tower and handbells, celebrated for his love of good striking and for his iron discipline, which caused him, like others of his kind, to be much misunderstood. It was P.J. who, in the early '20s, claimed that the "new age ringers" were "not as stout-hearted as the old."

Another Holbeck man was Bob Binns, whom Mr. Barton remembers being described as "the gentlemanly blackguard"! He was secretary of the Society from 1891 to 1899 and, as far as can be ascertained, was the only person ever to be expelled from the Society. In November, 1906, "The conduct of R. Binns at the last meeting... was brought before the members and it was pro[posed] ... that he is requested to apologise to the President to be expelled from the Society. Carried." He was duly expelled on January 5 following. He is also reputed to have wielded an ash stick to some effect while instructing his learners!

Also a stalwart member of the Society was Tom Strangeway, of Rothwell, until illhealth forced him to retire from ringing in 1965. Tom, too, was a strict disciplinarian and stoutly refused to tolerate bad striking On one occasion at Batley an old ringer was floundering rather badly in a touch of Stedman. Every time Tom corrected him he retorted: "All right!" Eventually Tom stood his bell in disgust, saying: "It's not all rayt—it's all wrong!" In recent weeks Tom has taken up handbell ringing again, though whether he will emulate his old Leeds and District friend Gerry Moorhouse remains to be seen.

It was not until 1917 that the Society elected its first lady member, Miss O. Lumley, and not until 1962 that a lady held office, Angela Skidmore, of Batley, becoming secretary. Miss Lumley, although grossly outnumbered was clearly not outclassed, for she seems to have been a very competent ringer, especially on handbells. Amongst others she rang the tenors to a peal of Bob Royal and conducted a peal of Double Norwich from 7-8. As she rang most of her peals with Jack Moorhouse's band, perhaps Gerald Moorhouse could tell us more about this pioneer lady ringer.

The Society's records, which are to be deposited in the Leeds Libraries' Archives, make fascinating reading, of which the following brief extracts may give some idea.

In 1894 a subsidised dinner, which was to have been an annual event, was declared "anything but satisfactory" and no further mention of such a function is found.

The first meeting day peal attempt at Pudsey in 1891, already alluded to, is minuted thus: "... good ringing for 2 hours & 40 minutes. Then something happened. Well Known to all peal ringers. It collapsed and no one was wrong as the Bells got the blame."

April, 1895, a complaint "respecting the dilaterry manner the Treasurer has served the Society during the past month." Pressed to attend the May meeting, he did—and resigned!

In 1896 the retiring president was presented with an easy chair, a silver-mounted pipe, a pouch, tobacco and a purse containing 53 15s taining £3 15s.

1925 A.G.M. "The Chairman in his vote of thanks [sic!] said he hoped Mr. Smith would tell the churchwardens that the bells needed attention. Mr. Smith said the bells were all right, but it was the visitors who needed more practice."

In April, 1944, organists and bellringers

In April, 1944, organists and bellringers found themselves meeting at the same time in Leeds Parish Church, and the ensuing dispute was settled only when the vicar was called in to arbitrate!

Perhaps the oddest minute reads: "The president took the tombstone!" Nothing macabre about it, in fact—merely an openair meeting at East Ardsley.

Apart from those rung to mark the dissolution, 625 peals are recorded in the Society's books, none having been credited to the Society between 1959 and 1970. Ringing in peal No. 624 was George Steele, of Rothwell and Woodlesford (then in his 84th year), who rang his first peal for the Society in 1895.

The Society's first two peals were scored by the Rothwell band in the foundation year: seven T.B. Minor, followed by Kent T.B. Major. The first of Royal was scored at Leeds in 1891. Only two peals of 14×360 Minor are recorded (in 1892 and 1898) and in June, 1901, it was agreed that C.C. decisions be strictly adhered to.

Peal No. 38 was the first handbell peal in the city of Leeds, Holt's 10-part Grandsire Triples, conducted by Harry Williams who, in 1895, called the same peal from 5-6, ringing blindfold and striking well throughout: "the first peal ever rung and called solely by ear." The number of handbell peals rung in the early days is worthy of note, and all were properly umpired.

note, and all were properly umpired.

In October, 1896, the Society made its first payment under the rule that awarded £1 for any band which pealed a new method for the Society. This was to the Rothwell band for a peal of College Exercise Major. The rule was later to cause a lot of argument but it was many years before it was dropped.

before it was dropped.

The first of Surprise Major (Cambridge) was called by Pratt Cordingley at Pudsey in 1906. In 1910 Jack Moorhouse's band rang the first of Caters in hand, P.J. ringing 5-6.

In October, 1932, the Pudsey handbell band rang a peal of Double Norwich silent and non-conducted. P.J. rang 3-4 and William Barton 5-6, handling the same pairs a year later, when Mr. Barton conducted spliced Plain and Double Norwich.

The leading peal ringing tower for the Society was Rothwell, with 72, and Rothwell bands were largely responsible for the 13 peals at neighbouring Woodlesford, as well as for half-a-dozen or so at Thorner. Other leading towers were Calverley (37), Bramley and Pudsey (33 each), Drighlington (24), Guiseley (23), Armley (22) and Shipley (20). Nine towers had between 10 and 19 peals and a further nine towers between 5 and 9. In hand, 115 peals were rung: 28 at Armley, by two bands, and 40 at Pudsey, almost all of them by William Barton's band between the wars.

The Society's influence did, in fact, spread a great deal further than six miles from City Square: one peal is recorded from Stratford-on-Avon and another from St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green.

Outings

MAULDEN OUTING

On June 27th the Maulden, Beds, ringers and friends had their annual outing, when a visit was made to the Cotswolds.

The first tower was the many-pinnacled SS. Peter and Paul, Deddington, and this was followed by the delightful six at Enstone.

Lunch was taken at Burford, and after this pleasant stop everyone was in fine shape for the splendid octave at St. Michael's, Highworth, and some good ringing was enjoyed.

Next came the anti-clockwise six at Ashbury, followed by a really delightful run through the Vale of the White Horse to Wantage for tea.

Another enjoyable ride through the rolling countryside to East Hagbourne, where the fine eight of St. Andrew's gave great satisfaction and made a fitting conclusion to the day's ringing.

After a stop for fish and chips there followed the journey home of some 50-odd miles, which was enlivened with some hearty singing.

A most delightful trip, for which we all are indebted to Colin and Mary Mann, the organisers.

LUTON OUTING

Accompanied by several old friends and some new ones, Luton Parish Church ringers had their annual outing on July 4th.

Kent with its many attractions, not the Kent, with its many attractions, not the least of which are its bells, was the scene of this year's activities.

After an hour's ringing at St. Alfege's. Greenwich, we headed south for Westerham (where lunch was taken), followed by ringing on the fine octave at the Parish Church.

At Brasted, the next stop, the delightful six was much enjoyed and the beautiful countryside around was at its best. We journeyed on to Wrotham and it was a real pleasure to sit back and feast one's eyes on Kent's luxurious sylvan splendours. There were further delights, too, for who could fail to be impressed by the magnificent ring of eight at Wrotham's Parish Church? Tea was taken here, and then on to Crayford, where it was a pleasure to be met by Mr. E. A. Barnett and who gave us the freedom of the belfry—the very same belfry where, over 60 years ago, the Luton captain, Harry Wood, first learned to handle a bel!!

But nothing in this world is perfect, and a custom of many years' standing was shattered when nobody could obtain his favourite brew! Refreshment of one kind or another was obtained, however, and our sincere thanks to our Kentish hosts, to all incumbents for the use of their bells, and to Mary Garrard for her organisation.

SPALDING

Despite cloudy skies, Spalding ringers and friends set out in good spirits for their annual outing on July 4. This year they crossed the border into Norfolk and rang at Fakenham, Saxthorpe and Aylsham en route for lunch and an afternoon's ringing at Norwich. Here they visited St. George's, Colegate, St. Giles' and St. Peter Mancroft.

On the return journey stops were made at Hethersett and the impressive Abbey at Wymondham. In the time-honoured tradition Jack Allen voiced everyone's appreciation of the excellent arrangements made by Ron and Joy Noon.

PRACTICES STILL SUCCESSFUL

The large Norman Priory church of Stoke Courcy was the venue for the summer meeting of the Bridgwater Branch.
Ringing started at 2.30—no doubt to the pleasure of local bride and her husband, just leaving the church after their wedding. The lovely 24 cwt. six were rung in various methods until service time, when about 30 members attended the service taken by Preb. Scholl. Tea was enjoyed in a local inn.

Mr. Herniman opened the meeting, held in the church, by thanking Preb. Scholl and those who had helped with the arrangements. Four new members from Westonzoyland, Moorlynch and Cannington were elected. The Silent Towers Committee reported that the Monday practices were still successful. A special practice had been held at Thurloxton and Goathurst, when Michael Horseman came down from Clutton and gave a talk on ringing, for which all are indebted to him. Some discussion also took place on helping the Stogurcey band. Ringing continued until 9 p.m. G. N.

Gloucester and Bristol Association. OPEN DAY

The open ringing day of July 4 proved to be quite a success, apart from a scarcity of ringers in the Tewkesbury area during the morning. Although a wedding was behind schedule at Prestbury, the full afternoon programme went smoothly.

Some ringers managed to get in an extra tower (which was not included in the official programme) and thereby missed an enjoyable hour at Leckhampton Parish Hall. Tea prepared by the local ringers was largely provided by parishioners and resulted in a contribution to the fund to rehang their bells, now in a rather bad condition.

Mr. E. Taylor and family regaled us with some excellent tune ringing, and Miss M. Bliss (association chairman) welcomed all visitors. The evening programme finished at the attractive village of Badgeworth, whose ancient bells only respond to some hard work. The organisers would like to offer compliments on the standard of ring-W. A. F ing attained.

THE THREE COUNTIES BELFRY

The Three Counties Agricultural Show has long been an occasion of co-operation between Gloucestershire, Herefordshire and Worcestershire, and 1970 saw that co-operation extended for the first time to the three ringing associations which cover these counties.

When George Cousins, secretary of the Hereford Guild, first conceived the idea of erecting the Whitechapel Expo Belfry at the Great Malvern showground in 1969 he immediately sought the reaction and assistance of the Worcestershire and Districts Association and the Gloucester and Bristol Association. A joint committee was set up to investigate the possibilities, but for various reasons the scheme did not materialise in that year.

However, in the autumn of 1969 an approach to the Three Counties Show Committee showed that not only was that committee agreeable to the belfry being erected on the showground but it was prepared to put in the concrete footings, provide a tent for housing a display and give some finan-cial aid. With this good news the project went ahead and at a series of meetings held in Worcester the officials of the three ringing associations made detailed arrangements for transporting the tower and bells, erecting them on the site, manning them during the show and even sleeping overnight on the showground to guard the bells should this prove necessary (though there was some doubt as to whether or not the two policemen members of the committee were the best to leave in charge).

As with all projects there were minor hitches, but by June 13 the pamphlets for distribution to the public were printed and the belfry was on the showground. Saturday and Sunday were days of hard work for various volunteers from the three asso-ciations who worked together under the guidance of John Slater. Spurred on by the friendly rivalry between Whitechapel and Loughborough, the belfry, complete with its new name, was, according to J. S., erected in record time and all were anxious to try out the bells.

As the sound would undoubtedly affect other exhibitors and events on the showground, the show committee had agreed that there should be demonstration ringing for five minutes each hour on the hour with handbell ringing during the afternoon. Accordingly it was agreed that each association should be responsible for one day, and would provide ringers for the demonstration ringing, a handbell team and sufficient people to man the display during the As Worcestershire was the host county for this year's show the Worcestershire Association ringers were given the honour of ringing on the opening day, June 16, with Hereford ringing on Wednesday and Gloucester and Bristol on Thursday, which we later discovered to be General Election day.

It was inevitable that a belfry at an agricultural show should attract attention. From the first approach to the Show Committee in 1969 various newspapers had given snippets of information, and on the opening day both Press and TV were on the scene. The Worcestershire ringers graced the front page of local newspapers and appeared on B.B.C. TV in the "Midlands Today" programme, whilst the following morning George Cousins was heard being interviewed in the B.B.C.'s radio programme "Today."

On Thursday the Rev. John Elphinstone-Fyffe and his team appeared to film shots for "This Ringing Isle" and for this occasion the Gloucester and Bristol Ringers were joined by George Cousins and John Slater. The filming attracted a large crowd and ringing time was extended. In the midst of this arrived what appeared to be an irate show official, who engaged in earnest conversation with a ringer who was distributing pamphlets. The ringing master was tempted to stop the ringing but feared for the TV shots. However, it ensued that the official was heralding the arrival of the show president (Alderman Sir Michael Higgs) and Lady Higgs, who had expressed a desire to visit the belfry. They were received by the ringing master and chairman of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and also met George Cousins and John Slater. They showed great interest both in the ringing demonstration and in the exhibits in the tent, which included a fine model bell loaned by the Loughborough Foundry, and a display illustrating the manufacture of handbells arranged by Frank Barnett. Before leaving, Lady Higgs was presented with a miniature bell rope by Miss Mary Bliss.

All too soon the three days were over. There was an hour's open ringing for those ringers who happened to be at the show, before, at 6.30 p.m., the valiant volunteers began their task of taking down the bells.

The organising committee thank very sincerely all those who contributed in any way to the success of the occasion by as-sisting with the erection and dismantling of the belfry, by travelling long distances to take part in the ringing demonstrations on both tower bells and handbells (to judge by the crowds the latter were a very popular part of the programme) and by doing all the many other necessary tasks, but the greatest thanks must be accorded to George Cousins, whose brainchild this was, and who negotiated over a very long period with the Show Committee to ensure that all was in order for us. All enjoyed Three Counties Show and hope that the time and effort put in by so many people will have been of service to ringing and that some of the 4,500 pamphlets distributed will have inspired at least a few to take up the art.

OBITUARY

MR. A. FOSTER

It was with considerable shock that members of the Bingham District of the Southwell Guild at their monthly meeting at Shelford on July 11, learned of the death the previous day of Mr. Albert Foster, of Orston.

To many, Albert was Orston, and Orston was Albert; few can remember Orston without Albert. He had been a ringer there for over 30 years and tower captain for nearly He taught his wife and his sons to ring, also his neighbour and his family. In fact he taught half the village to ring but despite this the tower was always short of ringers.

In 1955 he rang the first of his 19 peals. He was a loyal guild member and a founder member of the Bingham District.

Perhaps his greatest enjoyment came from ringers' outings, and whenever possible he joined local towers. Once he joined a holiday outing of members of the Southwell Guild to the south-west of Cornwall.

For some years he nursed his wife, and when she died in 1965 a half-muffled peal was rung at Orston. To her memory he gave a set of new bell ropes.

He married a second time, but his health began to fail. Last year he moved from Orston to Aslockton, where, because of the view of Whatton Church, he called his bungalow "Church View."

He was in and out of hospital and seemed to be making a good recovery, when the end came with unexpected suddenness.

The funeral service was at St. Mary's,

Orston, the bells being rung half-muffled by fellow ringers. Cremation followed at Wilford Hill, Nottingham.

On the following Saturday a half-muffled peal was rung at Orston by members of the Bingham District.

SHORT STORY

No doubt you have heard the story of the visitor to a well-known country village with a fine peal of bells, who remarked on the excellence of the ringing to a somewhat deaf local inhabitant.

After three attempts at making the yokel understand him, the latter pleaded in extenuation of his non-comprehension that "He couldn't hear the gentleman's remarks because of those d—d bells."— Extract from "Electricity," 25/7/24.

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Ringing World for August 3, 1945

Writing about the use of Plain Major methods, the leading article stated "There is no greater mistake than to imagine that the more advanced a method is, the more interesting it must be to ring."

In spite of a bus strike there was a good attendance at Cobham, Surrey, when a variety of methods was rung.

And at a meeting of the Portsmouth District at Titchfield, Hants, tea was at the invitation of the Parochial Church Council.

Members of Swansea and Brecon Guild elected Mr. A. Hoare as master, Mr. D. G. Williams as hon. sec, and Mr. C. Morgan as hon, treasurer.

In a peal of Grandsire Caters at Beddington, Surrey, J. G. Saunders rang his first on ten bells, and F. E. Collins conducted his 100th peal for the Surrey Association.

At Poynton, Cheshire, 5040 Spliced T.B. Minor had 17 methods and 48 changes of method and was conducted by C. K. Lewis.

Arthur Jones and C. A. Levett, Norman V. Harding, Frank H. Hicks and Arthur Newton all rang their first on 12 at High Wycombe, Bucks. The method, Stedmare Cinques.

A letter from W. A. Osborn, of Gal-hampton, Somerset, suggested that letters previously printed and signed Herbert Drake were fictitious.

50 YEARS AGO AUGUST 6, 1920

The heavy decline in the purchasing power of money is being felt in the operations of the various ringing organisations and nearly all of them have been forced by necessity to raise the amount of the annual subscriptions. (Leader.)

A peal at Bishop's Stortford was rung for the 100th anniversary of the ten bells (1820).

Mr. John Sadler rang his 100th peal but had yet to ring one of Triples.

The Leicester controversy between Ernest Morris and Fred Dexter continued with Mr. Dexter writing "... there are two sorts of conductors, one who does it for selfglory and the second who does it to oblige a band."

At the Oxford Guild's 39th Festival the annual subscription was raised from 1s. to 1s. 6d., and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (hon. sec.) was voted an honorarium of £20.

At a meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Association at Olveston a party from Bristol made the journey in a "lorry bus."

In a peal of Doubles at Wood Ditton. Cambs, Miss V. Shorter and Mr. R. Lath-bury both rang their first of Doubles, the latter being the conductor.

> A beggarly people! A church and no steeple.

Dean Swift.

LEATHERHEAD PARISH CHURCH has its origin in the late 11th century but it has been altered and extended by succeeding generations. There is evidence that a central tower was contemplated in the 12th century but this idea was abandoned, presumably due to doubts as to the strength of the foundations. The present tower was built on to the west end of the nave in the 14th century and appears to have been very much an afterthought as it is not square to the rest of the church and offset to the north of the centre line of the Little is known of the early history of the bells. In 1549 the valuation of the church furniture included four bells but three of these were subsequently seized by the Commissioners. The remaining bell, which was inscribed SANCTA MARIA ORA PRO NOBIS, was later incorporated in a ring of six.

In the late 18th century a flourishing change ringing band existed and records at Epsom and Horsham show that they travelled considerably to further their knowledge. In 1792 it was decided to recast the old six and add two trebles, the new ring having a tenor of about 14 cwt. Two tablets in the ringing chamber record these events:

"On the 30th July 1792 was, rung in this steeple four true and complete peals of Treble Bob (Viz) 720 changes College Treble, Do. College Pleasure, Do. Oxford Treble and the Composition Crown Bob being 360 changes in one hour and thirty eight minutes by Willm Chilman Treble Benjn Simmons 2d Jas Brown 3d Jno Brown 4th Robt Brown 5th Jas Harrison tenor. Call'd by Benjn Simmons. N.B. The above is the last ever rang on the old six bells."

"BE IT REMEMBERED That the late WILLM BAKER of this Parish set on foot a Subscription and Collected the sum of £200 for improving the ring of bells in this Church. Accordingly 1792 the Six old Bells were recast & the Peal of eight opened on the 21st of August in the same year. The above mentioned WILLM BAKER likewise collected the subscription for the purchase of the FIRE ENGINE."

There has been much speculation as to how the bells could have been recast and rehung in such a short time, it being suggested that the new eight were already cast before the old bells were removed. (If this was not so the founders certainly did not waste any time over the work!)

The first peal on the new bells was rung by the College Youths, some also being members of the local band, on the day that they were dedicated. The method was Oxford Treble Bob Major, which appears to have been the favourite method locally at that time, for seven out of the first thirteen peals were of Oxford. A band largely drawn from the Horsham company rang the next peal, Grandsire Triples, but it was not until 1795 that an all local team succeeded in ringing a peal. The climax of their efforts came on May 17, 1808, when 10080 Oxford Treble Bob was rung in 6 hours 4 minutes, and this remains the longest length ever rung at Leatherhead. By 1816 several of the bells were in need of attention. Five were melted down and, with additional metal, made into a heavier ring of eight, the tenor weighing just under The old 3, 4 and 5 were retained as 2, 3 and 4 of the new ring. were opened with a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major on August 21, 1816, but thereafter the local band appears to have de-Only three peals were rung in the next fifty years, two being by visiting bands from London.

A revival took place around 1870 and a number of peals was rung during the next few years. In 1877 the three remaining 1792 bells were found to be cracked and were recast, with two new trebles added to make a ring of ten. Some two years elapsed before the first peal on the augmented bells, 5129 Grandsire Caters, conducted by Stephen Brooker (tower captain) on July 23, 1879.

Until 1891 the ringing chamber was situated on a gallery at the west end of the nave in front of the great west window and at the same level as the present small chiming gallery. The church authorities decided to remove all the galleries in the church and the ringing chamber was transferred to the clock room immediately beneath the bells, thereby reducing the draught by about 30 feet. This must have made handling much easier and improved hearing, but at the expense of light and ventilation.

During the early 1900's the old frame was constantly in need of repair and after the First World War it was decided that the bells would have to be rehung in a new frame. By November, 1923, sufficient money had been raised to do this and to recast the 9th, which was cracked. bells were removed, retuned, quarter-turned and renung on ball bearings in the new frame and opened on Easter Sunday, 1924.

The details of these bells are:-Treble: The details of these bells are:—Treble: J. Warner, 1877, 6-0-23, F sharp; 2nd: J. Warner, 1877, 6-1-21, E. 3rd: T. Mears, 1816, 6-1-8, D. 4th: J. After 1924 the pattern of peal ringing changed. Since 1877 the majority of peals rung had been of Grandsire Caters, but now a Surprise band became established and rang peals in several methods including the firsts ever of Painswick, Cobham S. Royal and Leatherhead S. Major under the leadership of Albert Harman. During the Second World War "ringing" was practised on the front eight minus their clappers, 9 and 10 being left ringable for "early and 10 being left ringable for warning" alarm.

Further work became necessary in 1964 when the 6th headstock broke-luckily without damaging the bell. thorough inspection it was decided to rehang seven of the bells with new headstocks, at the same time removing the canons and refitting the clappers. As the bells were not reweighed after this work, only the weight of the 9th is now known accurately, the rest all being somewhat lighter than their 1924 weights. Peal ringing has continued in recent years and the total recorded to date is 121 (29 Royal, 42 Caters, 30 Major, 20 Triples).

HILARIOUS MEETING

The Monmouth Branch held a very enjoyable and light-hearted meeting at Christ Church, Ebbw Vale, on July 11. The fine ring of eight was well used during the afternoon until service time at four o'clock.

The Rev. John Stacey (vicar of St. John's Ebbw Vale) took the service, and the Rev. Ivor J. Richards (Rural Dean of Raglan) gave the address, which was of considerable interest, being a short history of the instal-lation and dedication of the eight bells in the tower. He had been ringing master at the time and rang for the service (which was in September, 1937) and was the first dedication to be broadcast on radio. result of an appeal for the bells was a great triumph, for the area was one which had known hardship during the years of the depression.

The "Ebbw Vale tea" served in the church hall was a happy meal, when many old friends met again. A special welcome was given to Brian and Barbara Wild (nee Stephens) and to Mrs. John Woodward (nee Delwyn Evans), one-time members of Christ Church.

Mr. Reuben Clench thanked Mrs. Audrey Bruten and her helpers for preparing the fine meal, and Mr. Roger Shea thanked Mr. Huw Lewis for playing the organ.
The chairman (the lively Rev. John Stacey) was at one time a ringer at Bedwellty, and has promised to renew his efforts on the end of a bell rope!

Amongst great hilarity the meeting progressed and fresh efforts with learners were reported from Nash, Llangibby and Ebbw Vale.

Mr. Clench thanked the Rev. John Stacey for his "light-hearted chairmanship," and the meeting closed with peals of laughter at the remarks of the chairman and, later, members enjoyed other "peals" from the

"THE RINGING ISLE"

A FILM ABOUT CHURCH BELLS AND THE PEOPLE WHO RING THEM

This announcement on B.B.C.1 television on Sunday, August 2, at 6.15 p.m., was the prelude to half an hour of delightful country scenes, of interviews with ringers from all walks of life, of interesting commentary and lucid explanations of the art, and a clear picture of how ringing is done and what it is all about. To a bellringer it was a joy to watch and to those who had no knowledge the descriptions and explanations must have been very helpful.

It was very disappointing, however, that the time of showing clashed with the usual evening service ringing, and although the film is to be shown again on Monday, August 10, at 12.50 p.m., this also is not a very convenient hour, for many are away on business or at the office.

WHO RINGS THEM?

The programme commenced with a driver, a postman, a young couple and a well-known Central Council member going about their daily tasks. With rounds sounding in the background, the commentator spoke of the practice of ringing bells in changes being an art peculiar to England, and England for this reason is termed "The Ringing Isle."

"We hear church bells in England wherever we are and whether we like them or not, but who rings them?" he asked. Several contrasting persons were shown and the remark made: "These are the ringers, 40,000 of them, including 10,000 women and many boys and girls, in 6,000 towers and belfries all over England.

Interviews then followed with a schoolmaster (Mr. Carey), and the captain of Bibury tower, who told of his difficulties in keeping a band of ringers. "We find it a problem getting youngsters," he said. "We teach them to ring rounds and plain course and then they just give it up."

Methods rung were named by the commentator: Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Triples and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, with more ringing in the background. Several ringers spoke of their ininterests, one saying he had rung in over 1.000 towers.

THE BEGINNING AND THE END

That he and his brother learned to handle a rope at Bibury in 1950 was stated by a ringer who runs a haulier's business, but that they later both moved to Fairford (Glos) to learn change ringing.

Bells mark the beginning and end of life, said the commentator, and told of inscriptions on some 18th century bells which proclaimed:

"When female virtue waits with manly worth

We catch the rapture and we spread it forth."

Ringers of St. Mary's, Harrow-on-the-Hill, who rang Grandsire Triples.

This reference was for wedding bells, whilst another well-known inscription on a tenor bell solemnly stated:

"I to the church the living call—And to the grave do summon all."

The practice still continues in certain villages for the bell to be tolled for a death—nine tellers for a man, six for a woman and three for a child, and for many festive occasions the bells ring out.

The Expo Tower was then shown at Great Malvern during the Three Counties Show, and this led up to a talk on the founding of bells, with old engravings screened and the 650-years-old bellfounders window in York Minster depicting the casting of a bell. This brought the remark: "The techniques of long ago are the same—only the generations change."

Mr. William Hughes was interviewed and gave a brief history of the Whitechapel Foundry from its original owner, Robert Mott, in 1570, its removal to a former inn (the Artichoke) in 1738, and the present day set-up. The various processes in bell casting were seen and was followed by further ringing on the Expo bells, whilst the number of changes obtained on given numbers of bells was stated.

A DEMONSTRATION

An explanation of a bell and its fittings and the difference between chiming and ringing were next shown with Mr. Wilfrid A young lady (from the B.B.C.) was next seen being instructed by Mr. Wilson in the handling of a bell and her actions (and reactions) were typical as the rope flew skywards.

FURTHER INTERVIEWS

Practice night at Harrow-on-the-Hill was the next scene, with further interviews with various local ringers, including the tower captain, the secretary/treasurer and her husband and a young man at Harrow School. All testified to the pleasure and enjoyment obtained in bellringing, both in their own tower and whilst visiting others.

A return to Fairford followed, and the postman spoke of ringing the third observation and the tenor behind and "that's my lot," he concluded.

"Bells are noisy things," said the commentator, "and have been sounding from Fairford Church for 500 years . . . beneath the watchful eyes that look out from some of the most beautiful stained glass in the world."

Grandsire Doubles, with 1, 2 leading and tenor covering were heard, and finally "Stand" was called and the bells ceased ringing. A little lad was seen tolling for service, assisted by his instructor, and then a young girl ringing the same bell; the lad, now robed as a chorister/server and bearing a lighted taper, lights the altar candles as the picture fades.

Outings

ST. AUGUSTINE'S, PENARTH

A full coachload of ringers and friends left Penarth and made its way to Abergavenny to ring the very nice bells (10) of St. Mary's Priory. At St. Gwendoline's, Talgarth, the pleasant ring of six was put to good use, and the last tower was St. Michael's, Clyro (a ring of five with a long draught of rope).

A barbecue followed in a field bordering the River Wye, a very pleasant setting for the curried chicken and crisps washed down by several kinds of beverage. The weather was dry and very warm during the day but it drizzled as we neared Penarth. D. A. H.

ON THE MAINLAND

On July 25, ringers from All Saints', Ryde, Isle of Wight, set off on a day's outing to belfries in the Southampton area. Romsey Abbey was the first stop, the eight sounding very mellow and handling well. St. Peter's, Bishop's Waltham (8) were next, followed by the Church of Our Lady, Warnford, and a stop for lunch. The anticlockwise five at Droxford, in the Meon Valley, proved an interesting experience for all, the majority of the band having been ringing for only two years and the last stop was at St. Peter's, Titchfield.

Thanks to incumbents, secretaries and all who waited at the various churches. J. R.

SIX-BELL TOUR

Paul Sidwell, an energetic ringer from Northenden, Manchester, had arranged eight Cheshire six-bell towers for an enthusiastic band of 15 for the afternoon of July 11. The object, apart from towergrabbing, was that everyone should learn something during the day, and in this respect it was entirely successful.

First stop was at Rostherne (22 cwt.) where the tough-going bells proved too much for many of the party. The pleasant Rudhall six at Mobberley yielded some nice Stedman and some rather poor Kent.

Disaster was to follow at Lower Peover, where a stay was broken, and the rope followed suit when attempts were made to overturn the bell.

Ringing at Holmes Chapel was delayed by a road accident, but though the stay here was curtailed, good use was made of the bells, and the best ringing of the day was enjoyed.

The light Barwell six at Goostrey came next and gave the learners some good practice on light bells. At Chelford, where the bells are exceedingly loud, the ringing generally was poor and attempts at Chelford Alliance failed twice (after about ten changes).

After tea the seldom-rung bells of Nether Alderley rang out. The wicker rope on the tenor proved very interesting with its strange creaks. Finally the highlight of the day was a course of Poynton Alliance at Poynton, and a ladies' band rang a course of Bob Minor.

All in all a highly successful day, with the learners taking on plain hunting, the plain hunters learning to ring inside, and the more experienced ringers learning new methods. The last stop, of course, was at the Tatton Arms at Northenden, where the landlord is the father of a local ringer (extremely handy!), and where thanks were expressed to Paul for his impeccable arrangements.

RINGING IN DARKEST AFRICA!

Monday, July 20, saw the Exercise hitting the front page headlines of Rhodesia's national daily paper, making the British dock strike an also ran.

The occasion was a truly international one—a meeting of the Rhodesia Guild in Salisbury, with visitors from Zambia and Malawi.

The highlight was undoubtedly the first quarter peal at Salisbury Cathedral for two years, but to the photographer of the Rhodesia Herald there was more interest in the four visitors disturbing the Sunday morning peace by ringing handbells on the very spot where the settlers first raised the Union Jack, now world-famous Cecil Square.

A beer and handbell lunch at Lake Macillwane, a local beauty spot, followed service ringing.

The week-end was completed for the mature contingent by a visit to one of Salisbury's night clubs, where the guild secretary caused great consternation by asking to have his three-handled three-pint beer mug filled.

The visitors were right royally entertained and would like to thank the local ringers for their hospitality.

THATCHAM (BERKS) FOLK FESTIVAL

Serious thought was given to Thatcham Folk Festival about the middle of 1969, the object being to increase the community spirit amongst the 10,000-odd inhabitants of this very large and sprawling village on the outskirts of Newbury. Almost from the first the bellringers were brought in, and a set programme of ringing was drawn up.

up.
The opening ceremony took place in the Broadway, and was begun by "Firing the Anvils," a custom last carried out in Thatcham for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. It consists of packing the small notch on a blacksmith's anvil with gunpowder, retiring to a safe distance and applying a red hot iron! This was followed by displays of country dancing by school children accompanied by local brass and silver bands, and then the villagers were drawn to the church by the sound of the bells. Here they were invited to walk round the tower and see ringing in pro-

Shropshire Association.

ANNUAL GATHERING

Bellringers from Hodnet, Oswestry, Edgmond, Prees, Atcham, Market Drayton, Stanton Lacy, Coalbrookdale, Meole Brace and Shrewsbury met in Shrewsbury on July 11 for the annual meeting of the Shropshire Association. Visitors were welcomed from Wallasey (Wirral) and Bridgwater (Som), and ringing was at St. Chad's and St. Mary's.

After tea, served by Mrs. E. F. Willcox and helpers, the meeting was chaired by the Rev. Mr. Follis. He paid tribute to the work of the ringers and thanked the retiring officers, Mr. P. J. Evans (master), Mr. R. E. Morris (deputy master), Mr. E. F. Willcox (secretary) and Mr. M. Orman (treasurer), for their services.

Officers elected were: Master, Mr. E. F. Willcox; deputy master, Mr. R. C. Stevens; hon. secretary, Miss Pat Stocken; hon. treasurer, Mr. K. Brice; trustees, Mr. F. H. Bennett and Mr. A. E. G. Owen.

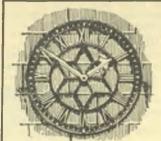

It was agreed to hold quarterly meetings on Saturdays in October, January, 1971, and April, 1971, with the annual meeting in Shrewsbury in July, 1971.

It was also suggested that meetings be held in Cheswardine or Newtown, Oswestry and Market Drayton.

gress. Many of them availed themselves of this opportunity, whilst several hundreds more spent some time in the church viewing the magnificent flower arrangements and the ringers' corner, where a comprehensive exhibition on bells and ringing was set out, including free copies of The Ringing World.

The organisers of the festival had requested that the ringing be confined to the specific times laid down in the programme so as not to interfere with the concerts and plays that were taking place, so only four quarter peals were attempted, three of which were successful. The first was arranged to be rung prior to the combined church service, recorded by the B.B.C. and broadcast the following week as "Sunday Half Hour," but unfortunately the B.B.C. were unable to allocate any time for the broadcasting of the bells. However, mention was made during the service of the two new bells added this year, making Thatcham the fifth ring of ten in Berkshire.

IDLE THOUGHTS OF AN IDLE RINGER

With the growing popularity of striking contests I wonder how long it will be before someone suggests that the winners of the guild competitions should meet in a national contest? With full Press and TV coverage, of course. Who knows, it may one day be a more popular programme than the Cup Final.

The Bishop of Hereford is not the only one who thinks all ringers are slightly crazy. There's my wife, for instance. But at least they are not making the same mistake as that newspaper which reported, just over a year ago, that the Misses Grace and Katherine Burchnall had retired from ringing. Presumably they had heard about the accident and assumed—quite wrongly, of course—that ringers are ordinary mortals. But crazy? Abnormal perhaps, if you agree that an abnormality is merely a deviation from generally accepted customs and standards of behaviour.

But craziness implies an abnormality which is in conflict with the best interests of the individual concerned or of his relatives and friends, and I do not believe that to be a fair description of bellringing which gives pleasure to a great many people, including thousands who know nothing about it except that it is a noise which comes from church towers. Furthermore, history has many stories of minority groups who in their day were thought to be crazy, but in time were proved to be saner than their contemporaries. And history has a way of repeating itself. I therefore suggest that it is not we who are crazy for ringing, but the others who are crazy for not ringing. In a delightful kind of way, of course.

Just fancy that! Someone visits a tower, sees something strange being done and writes to The Ringing World about it. Let's hope he never tries to take a holiday in Rome, where, I am told, it is advisable to do as the Romans do. And anyway, surely even he isn't so dull as always to conform.

THE PASSING OF ST. EBBE'S, OXFORD

I look out through my window
To a great wide open space,
To what was 20 years ago
A very happy place.
St. Ebbe's was all a working class
And thought of one another.
If trouble ever came your way,
They would always pull together.

The little shops around the street
Were all lit up and bright,
And you could buy a cottage loaf
At nine o'clock at night.
There were quite a lot of beer shops
At the corners of the street,
But a copper was never beaten up
When walking on his beat.

The men that used the pubs the most
Were there on Saturday nights,
And arguing over politics
They ended up in fights.
Sunday was a quiet day
When all folks had a rest.
But if they thought of going out
It was in their Sunday best.

At evening most went for a stroll
With children hand in hand.
A walk as far as Carfax
To hear the Salvation Army Band.
Monday morning comes again
When all to work would go—
Most men went out at six o'clock
In hail, rain, sleet or snow.

I like to wander round the streets
Where little houses stood—
Whatever they may build in place
St. Ebbe's was really good.
I am the last of all the tenants
That lived in Castle Street
And born not very far from here in 1896.
I am hoping I shall stop here still
At the end of this old street
To see the Westgate Centre
When all is made complete.

BELL RESCUED BY THE MOHAWKS

Has any bell had a more adventurous history than the 268-year-old "turncoat" bell in possession of the Jesuit Fathers in Caughnawaga, on the banks of the St. Lawrence River? A Massachusetts historical society is seeking to acquire it.

A Jesuit missionary in this mission among the Iroquois Indians convinced them that what they wanted most for their chapel in the woods was what he called "a great voice from on high"—meaning a bell—which would carry a sound from their mission for miles around.

To fulfil this requirement, the Indians spent months in the woods hunting, and when they had sufficient pelts sold them to purchase an 800 lb. bell made in France. During transport across "the great salt lake" to Caughnawaga the ship was captured by the British and escorted to Salem, where the bell was auctioned and subsequently installed in the steeple of a Protestant meeting hall at Deerfield.

BELL RECOVERED

The Mohawks of the mission learned the whereabout of the bell, allied themselves to the French army and invaded the Deerfield settlement one winter night in 1794. Recovering the 800 lb. bell they carried it on their shoulders through the snow to the shore of Lake Champlain, where it was buried until the springtime.

Returning when the weather was better, the Indians tied the bell to a wooden beam which they placed on the backs of a team of oxen. Thus it was transported to Caughnawaga, where it boomed out its nightly evangelical message from the Catholic mission steeple for 200 years.

Alas, corrosion caused it to lose its mellowness and two years ago the Deerfield bell tolled for the last time. Now it is a museum piece alongside the William IV bell, which was also used in the mission, to complete the legend of Caughnawaga's bells.

CENTRAL COUNCIL REPORTING

Dear Sir,—Although entirely agreeing with them, I had not intended to associate myself publicly with the views of Mr. John Camp, in The Ringing World of July 17, about your report of the Central Council meeting, but I must protest most strongly at the paragraph in the July 24 issue headed "Trivialities." Part of this reads "Messrs. Mayne, Blagrove, Seager, Barnett, Beresford and Dodds all took part in crosstalk of technical method construction. This resulted in Mr. P. A. Corby remarking that the behaviour of certain people was becoming increasingly worrying, apart from the considerable time being spent on trivialities."

Whether the discussion was trivial and what, if anything, my own contribution was are now immaterial (although it is of course, easy to dismiss as trivial any matter in which one is not personally interested). However, the second sentence puts a completely wrong slant on Mr. Corby's remarks, and the paragraph as a whole is insulting in its implication that those names did not observe the rules of constitutional procedure and that the president did not enforce them. But in any case the function of the report should have been to give an objective account of the proceedings not to describe as "cross-talk" a part which, it would appear, you and your assistant were unable (maybe with good reason) to record accurately. Such a remark might be fair comment in an independent review of the meeting but it is out of place in an official report. Furthermore, the absence of any details prevents anyone not present from making an assessment of the value or otherwise of what went on.

I trust that in future years discussions on technical matters will not be dismissed in such a cavalier fashion.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

HAROLD HOBDEN

Dear Sir,—I was saddened to read the announcement in a recent issue of The Ringing World of the death of Harold S. Hobden.

I had the privilege of making his friendship whilst I was in the Army at Aldershot during the early part of the last war. rang several handbell peals together in users and supplying the Hodgson taking part and supplying the venue for the practices and peal attempts. You, Mr. Editor, practised with us on at least one occasion when you were home on leave from the R.A.

Harold was a most kind and gentle person. We had met several times sine war and corresponded occasionally. We had met several times since the health had deteriorated over the last few years, but he remained the same person with a quiet sense of humour.

I had intended to say that better pens than mine would be paying tribute in a later issue of The Ringing World, but I felt that I owed a tribute to such a fine person.

May his soul rest in peace and may his good wife receive comfort.—Yours faithfully,

THE HIGH TIDE ON THE COAST OF LINCOLNSHIRE—1571

- The following verse in the Dear Sir. long narrative poem by Jean Ingelow (1820-1897) was written in 1863 and appears in Palgrave's Golden Treasury.

The old mayor climbed the belfry tower, The ringers ran by two, by three;

"Pull, if ye never pulled before; Good ringers, pull your best," quoth he. "Play uppe, play uppe, O Boston bells!
Ply all your changes, all your swells,
Play uppe 'The Brides of Enderby.'"

The ringing of The Brides of Enderby is referred to several times in the poem and I would be interested to know what this is. It appears to be some kind of special warning rung on the bells but perhaps there is someone who could explain. Yours faithfully,

F. LESLIE COVENTRY. 14 Highcroft Avenue, Bebington, Wirral, Cheshire.

PLAIN BOB ROYAL

Dear Sir,-I would like to submit these compositions of Plain Bob Royal for publication in The Ringing World.

They are the result of an experiment in re-arranging the tenors in an attempt to relieve the monotony of the normal 8x97 coursing order so rigidly adhered to in most compositions. This is done by using the Q set in which the tenor first runs out, then makes the bob, and finally runs in, all at bobs.

The first of these is a service touch which should provide some interesting ringing in a tower fortunate enough to boast ten change ringers! Each course has the tenor differently arranged, and Tittums oc-curs at the beginning of the second (at handstroke).

ORIGINAL

Dear Sir,—In reply to the letter from Mr. Peter Marshall (Ringing World, page 574) regarding the two extents of Original Minor which I had previously submitted to you, does Mr. Marshall really think that we had not made these observations ourselves (incidentally sixths place Single Oxford Minor is usually called Single Court) regarding No. 1 extent? The analysis made of No. 2 extent is completely irrelevant, as many methods could be described as simply "half a dozen or so . . . methods simpily spliced together." The important thing to note, however, is that the extents were certainly not rung as such. It is true that a band could simply ring a peal of Single Court and call it "Original," but this we regard as completely unethical and I am sure that no band in their right senses would do this sort of thing.

No. Mr. Marshall, our peals were rung as Original with all the bobs called, and despite the shortcomings of the composition(s) I can assure you that a peal of Original Minor still consists of "a wild medley of calls" (about 2,000 in all).

As I mentioned in my original (excuse the pun!) letter, the extents were supplied to me by Mr. C. K. Lewis, who I consider to be in a position to judge their validity. -Yours faithfully, KEVIN M. PRICE.

Dear Sir,-Our band rang a new Minor method for the Patronal Festival at Twyning on July 22, wishing to name it Twyning Delight. Had we known that this method had been conquered we would have obviously attempted another

Standard "Calling" in Minor Methods "Regular" and Otherwise

By THE PROFESSOR

HAVING received several inquiries about this subject and observed that people some-times conduct Minor in an aura of uncertainty, I should like to pass on several hints that I have myself found useful during my protracted and, to use a rather hackneyed expression, somewhat chequered career as a

In Minor ringing, particularly in Treble Bob, the observance of coursing orders does not assume the importance that it does in ringing on higher numbers. In "irregular" methods, where the "natural" coursing order breaks down even during the Plain Course itself, checking the position of the bells except at course-ends and/or part-ends, is not a very profitable occupation. profitable occupation.

[I have promised myself, and others, that I will write an article on the subject of coursing in Minor ringing at some future date.]

It is important to know, therefore, with absolute certainty the position of every bell at every Bob throughout the 720. The young (or old) conductor must learn to call the Bobs as much by the general position of all the bells as by the one which he is using as "observation." If he has to rely on the position of one bell (say, the tenor) he will remain merely a Bob-caller.

Having learned the position of all the bells at the Bobs he will find that, after a while, a lead or so before the call is made he will be anticipating it and watching the bells fall into their positions as the pieces of a jig-saw fit together, and also that for a lead after the call has been made he will be observing the bells work away from their Bob positions.

With additional experience and the develop

With additional experience and the development of extra check-points he will eventually discover, perhaps to his amazement, that there is not a lead goes by in the 720 in which he doesn't know the position of every bell.

As this happy state of affairs depends upon the Bob positions, I shall now proceed to divulge, free of charge, how this knowledge can be procured.

By "standard" calling it is generally accepted that the 6th is used as "observation" beil, thereby being unaffected by the Bobs, so far as its duties are concerned, and the 5th is used as "sub-observation," or, that these two bells are used the other way round. The 720 naturally falls into three parts and the sub-observation bell performs similar duties in each part. Both bells are at "home" at the part-end, i.e. the end of the second, fourth and sixth courses.

If the standard calling with the 6th as observation and with 6th place lead-ends is mastered, other standard callings can be fairly easily learned by comparing them with this and noting the similarities and differences. I therefore propose to go through this in some detail before moving on to the others.

Here is a 720 called with the 6th "In" (to Slow-work), "Out" "In," twice repeated, given by Bob lead-heads and part-end (head), lead-heads (ends). [One has to be very careful nowadays about one's terminology.]

And here are the actual Bobs giving the lead-ends and lead-heads showing what actually takes place:

	1st Part	2nd Part	3rd Part
Transition	146253	136452	126354 lead-end
Tenor 'In	164235	163425	162345 lead-hea
T . ((O4))	162453	164352	163254
Tenor "Out"	126435	146325	136245
T	136524	126543	146532
Tenor "In"	163542	162534	164523

The position of the 6th requires no comment but it will be noticed that the 5th dodges behind at the first two Bobs in each part and makes the third (i.e. 4ths place at the Bob). The bell with which the 5th dodges at the first Bob in each part it also dodges with at the second. Let us call this bell the part-bell." It is, of course, a different bell in each part; in the first part it is the 3rd bell, and in the second and third parts it is the 2nd and 4th respectively. Notice also that the part-bell comes out at the third Bob as the 6th goes in. 6th goes in.

The other two bells work, as it were, in pairs. One makes the first Bob whilst the other comes out and this bell then makes the second Bob whilst the one that made the first runs in. Finally, at the third Bob they dodge behind together.

Let us summarise these points as follows:

1. 6th: 'In-Out-In' in each part.

2. 5th: 5-6; 5-6; Bob; in each part.

Bells making Bobs: 1st Part 2.4.5. Part bell 3. 2nd Part 4.3.5. Part bell 2. 3rd Part 3.2.5. Part bell 4. 3rd Part Paired bell not making Bob on the front with 6th for the first two Bobs. Paired bells in In each part. 5-6 at third Bob.

There are several ways of memorising this information but. I have always found the simplest way is to remember the paired bells

2-4; 4-3; 3-2.

Notice that these start with the 2nd and move anti-clockwise. 4-3;

Two additional points:

i. In forward hunting methods the 5th always comes down before the partbell.

ii. The paired bells always come down in the order you have memorised them, which is also the order in which they made the Bobs.

As an illustration of the use of this information of the use of the part of the tion let us imagine applying it to the first part of a 720. The mental processes would be somewhat as follows:

FIRST BOB

"Paired bells 2-4 therefore 2nd make the "Paired bells 2-4 therefore 2nd make the Bob; 4ths comes out as 6th goes in; if 2-4 are paired bells 3rd must be part-bell; 3rd and 5th dodge behind together; 5th comes down first. Second Bob: 4th makes Bob, 2nd on front with 6th; 3 and 5 together behind; 5th comes down first. Third Bob: 5th makes Bob; 3rd on front with 6th; 2-4 behind together; 2nd comes down first."

And similar reasoning for the other parts.

Everything depends on remembering the paired

Everything depends on remembering the paired bells.

Of course it is not necessary, as I pointed out previously, to wait until the lead-end in order to see if all the bells are in position. Let us suppose that we are ringing Oxford T.B. and approaching the first Bob in the third part. The paired bells are 3-2, therefore the Bob-making bell will be the 3rd, and the 2nd will come out of Slow as the 6th goes in. A glance will show that the 2nd is doing Slow-work even if we did not notice him go into Slow-work at the previous lead-end. The 3rd should course up after the treble and follow him down to make first thirds. It tenor should come down before the treble and be last bell to lead. The 5th should be noted going up after the 3rd and the 4th after the 5th.

All this is noted almost subconsciously by

All this is noted almost subconsciously by an experienced conductor who adopts similar procedures for other more advanced methods

Having sampled the system it will not be necessary to go so fully into the other variations. Here is the standard calling with 6th observation and 2nds place lead-ends presented in tabulated form with a few comments:

Here the order in which the bells make the Bobs is exactly the reverse of that in the previous calling. This interesting mathematical snippet is not, however, a great deal of use to the conductor. What he will notice on examining the table is that the 5th makes the first Bob in each part instead of the last, that the 5th and the part-bell work on the front instead of the back, a condition shared by the paired bells at the first Bob, and that, as in the previous calling, the whole operation can be quickly assimilated by memorising the paired bells. Furthermore, these paired bells again start with the 2nd but this time working clockwise instead of anti-clockwise.

In considering the use of the 5th as ob-servation instead of the 6th I shall give the Bobs for the first part only as all the necessary information can be obtained therefrom. The young conductor, if he is wise, as I am sure he is, will write out the 720 in full by the lead-heads in order to familiarise himself with the facts.

Norwich Diocesan Association. SOMERLEYTON VISITED

About 40 ringers attended the Eastern Branch quarterly meeting in early summer, which, for the first time in over 20 years, was held at Somerleyton. Ringing during the afternoon was followed by the service, taken by the rector (Rev. E. Brooks), and afterwards tea was served in the village hall by the wives and friends of the ringers.

At the business meeting thanks were extended to the Rev. E. Brooks, Mr. John Robins (organist) and the ladies who served tea. Two members were elected, Mr. Percy Cave (ringing) and the Rev. E. Brooks (honorary). The branch outing to the Loughborough Bell Foundry will be in September, and the dinner will be at Great Yarmouth in October.

observation, with the other as sub-observation a call is made every time the observation bell falls into such a calling position at the leadratio such a caning position at the lead-end unless his companion, the sub-observation, happens also to be in such a position that he is unaffected by the call.

In the days when nice distinctions between "regular" and "irregular" were unknown and ringers had not learned to discriminate between ringers had not learned to discriminate between them, it was convenient to describe this type of calling as "Tenor without fifth" or, if the of calling as "Tenor without fifth" or, if the 5th was used as observation and 6th as subservation, "Fifth without tenor." It was not unknown, indeed, for other pairs of bells to be used, a contingency that often depended upon which particular bell the conductor happened to be ringing. Whatever two bells were chosen would, of course, be at home (i.e. in their own place) at the "partends" ("part-heads" being then practically unknown).

In comparing the 720s with the 5th as observation instead of the 6th, there are many similarities and one or two differences to notice. I give tables of comparison without comment.

2.	Part bells:	3 - 2 - 4.

I am not altogether happy about the nomen-clature of the calling for the 5th. Regarded from the point of view of the 5th bell it is "Wrong," "Home," "Wrong." It would, therefore, be safer to call the positions 6ths, 5ths and 6ths, giving the position into which the 5th bell falls at the lead-head when the call is made call is made.

Let us now examine "irregular" methods. Disregarding those that have 4ths place made at the lead-ends as an integral part of the method such as Duke of York and Violet, there are eight possible variations, four of them with 6ths and four with 2nds at the lead-ends.

Here are the Bob leads and part-ends (heads) for standard calling both 2nds and 6ths with the 6th as observation followed by the 5th. The Bobs occur in the same order for all four types of 2nds as they do in a similar manner for all four types of 6ths lead-ends.

I should automatically expect a conscientious conductor, who knew he was going to conduct a 720 or a peal, to have done his homework beforehand, acquainting himself thoroughly with his methods and callings, and writing out the latter, memorising where necessary.

In case he is called upon to conduct at

In case he is called upon to conduct at short notice, without due preparation, and has forgotten the sequence of paired bells upon which, as I have already said, he can fix the position of all the bells at all the Bobs throughout the 720, he can obtain all the information he requires from the first Bob called, providing this is successfully reached.

i. Where the sub-observation makes the first Bob (as in examples C. F. F.

first Bob (as in examples C, E, F and H), the part-bell will be working and H), the part-bell will be working with the observation bell and the paired bells be together. The first of the paired bells will be the one that goes on to the front (2nd in C and H) or the one hunting down first from behind in a forward hunting method (2nd in E, 3rd in F).

ii. Where the sub-observation does not make the first Bob (as in examples A, B, D and G) it will be working with the part-bell. The first paired bell will be making the Bob and the second paired bell working with the N.B.—It should be noticed that no sequence of paired bells ever starts with the 4th. If, therefore, the 4th is one of the paired bells its companion must be the first of the sequence.

iii. The sequence of paired bells is then one of the following:

(a)	2-3.	3-4,	4-2.
(b)		4-3,
(c)		2-4,
(d)	3-4,	4-2,	2-3.

Seeing that standard callings in regular methods do not employ (c) and (d) we have the following useful rule:

"In standard callings for regular methods the first of the two paired bells is always the 2nd" (which sounds like a contradiction in terms but will no doubt be understood by all sensible ringers) all sensible ringers).

In addition to the Bobs there are, course, additional check-points that one learns to look out for. I will mention one or two:

i. It is useful to know the lead-heads of the plain course of regular methods off by heart. This may serve as a check both before the first and after the last Bob.

The part-heads (423 or 342) are always a useful check and with both 6ths or 5ths as observation, in regular fact part-head will be methods, the first part-head will be 423 with 6ths lead-end methods and 342 with 2nds lead-end methods. With all irregular methods using standard calling the first part-end will always be 342.

In the complete courses, i.e. before the first and after the last Bob, be-

LOST SPIRES

ST. MARGARET'S, DUNHAM MASSEY. CHESHIRE

For many years the Ring of Ten bells had remained unrung, prior to 1914 there had been an additional number of bells hung stationary to form a carillon which were sold when Dr. Hewlet Johnson was Vicar. In 1927 Mr. Potts, who used to be at Stoke Coventry, was the Vicar and he asked me to look at the bells which I did on July 11 of that year.

From the outside, the spire looked alright but when viewed from the inside it was a different story. When I did eventually reach the Bellchamber and looked up it was very evident that the spire was not in a safe condition. Daylight could be seen through every joint as all the mortar must have perished and only the weight of the stones was keeping them in place, so it looked as though a mere push would send the lot toppling.

Before even looking at the bells I went down and told Mr. Potts how things were; he immediately contacted a Manchester firm of steeplejacks and they lost no time in coming out, they confirmed my findings and stated the spire must come down otherwise it would fall down so advised that the Church Architect be informed. I believe Mr. Ellis, of Liverpool, was the architect and he arranged to come out the following morning, he did not take long to weigh up the situation and it was decided to take the spire down without delay.

The condition of the masonry was such that the steeplejacks dare not place ladders against it for fear of pushing the stones out so they had to erect a scaffold from the parapet level of the tower to the cap stone. It was a tricky task, the stones were removed without effort and care had to be taken otherwise the lot would have collapsed like a pack of cards.

St. Margaret's Spire had been a landmark for years but now it is no more—I believe some of the stones were used in the Vicarage garden to form a rockery-and I doubt if ever it will be replaced. The top of the tower was reinforced by a concrete ring and a new roof with a sound opening erected. In later years the bells were again rung but age and fair wear and tear are making their mark.

> tween the 3rd and 4th Bobs or between the 6th and 7th Bobs, one of the lead-heads in regular methods will be one of the three: 56342, 56423 or 56234. and one of the lead-ends 65432, 65243 or 65324. With irregular methods these last three lead-ends will appear as lead-heads and the lead-heads appear as lead-ends.

Coursing orders can be useful in certain cases and in certain methods, but this is too large a subject to discuss here

If most of the information given here seems to an experienced conductor somewhat trite I can only ask them to re-read my opening paragraph. To the inexperienced conductor who seems doubtful about the information I can only say: Trite yourself.

P.S.—Although I have written this article with mainly Treble Bob 720's in mind, the information can also be applied to Alliance and Plain methods. The introduction of and Plain methods. singles in order to obtain extents requires a little further study, and perhaps I may explain fully some other time. But I have no doubt that the conscientious student having digested the foregoing information will be able to solve the additional problems himself.

EDUCATING THE PUBLIC

We have, over a period, reported in our columns details of local functions such as "Open Day," "Visitors to the Belfry" and 'Tower Open to the Public," etc.—occasions when parishioners and other interested nonringers have been shown the "mysteries" which take place in the towers and steeples of our parish churches. We have recently read of the tremendous interest taken in Australia for its festival and in Canada for a ringing week-end, whilst the Whitechapel Expo Belfry is appearing periodically in different parts of the country and drawing crowds of spectators.

We also print peals and quarter peals carrying footnotes that they were rung for a village fete, a garden party, or perhaps for the town's carnival. The three-day flower festivals which are now so very popular are supported by the ringers in varying ways, and invitations to other ringers to come an have a ring are often advertised in our columns, and many avail themselves of this opportunity for a "pull."

Last Sunday week the B.B.C. production of "The Ringing Isle" will have been seen by many thousands and will do much to educate and inform the public of what takes place in our belfries.

Whatever the occasion, therefore, it is good for the Exercise, for it is an acknowledgment that the church bells are still part of the British way of life,

In spite of the many silent towers and the demolition of churches, ringers can prove by their efforts that this ancient art is not dying but is a very thriving concern; that each and every one who can handle a rope is prepared to do his (or her) share in the work in which we all believe.

So when an opportunity occurs to "spread the gospel" of church bellringing or to assist the local church (and the tower in particular) go to it. Invite the parishioners and the public into the belfry to see the ringing. Tell them of the interest and pleasure obtained, and of the association and fellowship to be found among bellringers, for then, when necessity arises, sympathy and support will be forth-coming to enable one of Britain's ancient arts to be kept alive.

THINK ON

Some time, when you feel that your going

Would leave an unfillable hole, Just follow this simple instruction And see how it humbles your soul.

Take a bucket and fill it with water, Put your hand in it up to the wrist, Pull it out—and the hole that's remaining Is a measure of how you are missed.

You may splash as you please when you enter.

You may stir up the water galore, But stop, and you'll find in a minute That it looks just the same as before.

The moral of this quaint example Is do just the best that you can, Be proud of yourself, but remember There's no indispensable man.

Belfry Gossip

"From time to time complaints are made about the ringing of church bells. It seems strange that a generation which tolerates the uproar of the internal combustion engine should be so sensitive to the one loud noise that is made to the glory of God."— The concluding comment as the bell tolled for The Ringing Isle.

We ask organisers and correspondents sending details of outings to submit copy promptly and written on one side of the paper only. Please also be brief and give facts only. Personal data between individuals is of little news value and will not be included, neither are the methods rung, except in special circumstances.

At a ringers' meeting last week the clergyman conducting the short service which is customary at these functions welcomed the gathering and then said that he had been strictly informed not to speak for longer than five minutes. He then proceeded to give his hearers the history of church bells from the story of priests' robes decorated with bells and pomegranates to the up-to-date information of the Whitechapel and Loughborough foundries. suggest that if a local organiser is courageous enough to tell the parson to speak for only five minutes he should also be able to warn him to keep away from the history and origin of bells and bellringing.

People no longer buy works of art because they love them and want to live with them, but because they are an investment.— Provost of Leicester in his newsletter.

"Have just watched the film on B.B.C. I thought it was well done, with just enough about change ringing not to bore the 'unin-structed.' 'Wilf' is quite photogenic, isn't he?"-First comment received.

The Ringing World calendar which is being printed and should be on sale early October, contains 12 illustrations of churches and towers depicted at various times on our covers. It also has a "yearto-view" on each page and a diary space for advance bookings of weddings, meetings, peals, etc. The price is 6s. post free, and as it is a limited edition early application is

March 27 next is the diamond jubilee of The Ringing World, and a special gathering will be held in the Guildford/Woking area. A special issue of the journal will be published and articles, pictures and historical data will be included.

"Why do I go out ringing? It is difficult to say, but bellringing is a bug that bites, and once it has bitten you enjoy it so much ringing with good ringers."—Clive Simpson, who with his wife, Jean, was interviewed on the B.B.C. programme The Ringing Isle. Jean said that when she married Clive he went out ringing so much that she came to the conclusion that if you can't beat them you'd better join them so she learned to ring.

Before the last war many ringers collected postcards of the churches in which they rang, and maybe this is still a hobby with a few. There are, however, in a great number of churches illustrated history books and pamphlets telling the story of the building and outstanding architectural building features of the structure. Many give an account of the bells and their founders, but none we have come across give the details of Sunday ringing or times of practice. We suggest this omission (where applicable) should be remedied.

During the delightful summer weather this year ringers have enjoyed beautiful countryside while attending meetings or on day or weekly tours. The Nottingham University Society during their week's camping in Worcester and Oxford went on three midnight hikes of up to ten miles at a time.

The enjoyment of a ringing week is not always the ringing or the bells, but the "happenings" which occur in between. One report from Leeds University Society told of a Morris Minor firing on three cylinders, a Minx which at times refused to fire on even one, and of a TR4 which added colour and dash to the driving.

Because it was thought that the tourists would miss their annual free-flowing supply of rough cider through a change of area from the West Country to Hampshire, the organiser imported a barrel especially for the occasion.

"We have had this peal in mind for a long time but we only decided to attempt it on this occasion five minutes from the start (the band having been subjected to lastminute alterations) and the general feeling was that had we planned it ahead we would have failed," writes Mr. Anthony J. Davidson, of Truro, in submitting a silent and non-conducted peal of Grandsire Triples. He goes on: "I doubt if there are any other ringers in Cornwall who have called Grandsire Triples, so it was lucky to get them all together without prior arrangement. One way and another we are having quite a year!" [Hear! Hear!—Editor.]

His many friends in the Exercise congratulate Jim Carrott, of Hornchurch, on reaching his 80th birthday (July 26). He is an active member of the local band, and on his birthday entertained them in his home. His health was drunk, presentations were made, and later a quarter peal was rung. Jim is an example regarding punctuality and regularity and his keenness is unsurpassed. Good luck, Jim, and long may it continue.

At a meeting of the Llandaff Branch at Caerphilly the attendance was the smallest in the history of the branch, and unless this improves there is the possibility that the number of meetings now held may have to be reduced.

First peal congratulations to John Hosfield, Tony F. Crawford, John I. White, Ann Sisley, Rachel Gee.

Personal Records: Elizabeth Forster (25 peals), Julia A. Fellows (250), Richard E. Price (650), Martin D. Fellows (500), Morley P. Tobin (100), Peter C. Randall (200), Stephen F. Royal (200).

New Method: Bushmead Surprise Royal, rung at St. Paul's, Bedford, conducted by Stephen Ivin.

The Skipton-in-Craven ringers who rang for the funeral of Mr. Iain Macleod, which took place at Gargrave, had rung their bells half muffled two days before for the funeral of a churchwarden.

All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is for enough good men to do nothing.-Edmund Burke.

ST. JOHN-THE-DIVINE, LEICESTER

As a result of the petition printed in The Ringing World, Mr. S. Harrison writes: "Copies of this have been received, typed by the senders, for which I am truly grateful. Thank you, good rolk.

"I have a quantity of forms ready duplicated which it will be a pleasure to forward to any interested persons, thereby eliminating the irksome task of typing each out separately. I will forward a stamped addressed envelope with each for convenience when replying.

"According to a recent announcement in the local press, the Bishop of Leicester stated that a meeting of the pastoral committee was due to take place on July 14 to discuss the situation regarding 'Down Town' churches.

"We have started our petition early, just in case, for this state of affairs could go on for months, even years. (We were last time without a vicar for 12½ years.) Or the necessity for the official protest could be thrust upon us sooner than expected. I have already been interviewed on the subject through local radio, which was a transmitted repeat on the Sunday afternoon in the same week and immediately after the Bishop's interview.

"A second point concerns our ringing practices. This is a very important matter affecting all who visit us on practice nights. It was discovered some weeks ago that an attempt had been made to start a fire in the choir vestry (which is used as the ringers' entrance) by the side of the west door and opposite the car park. Because of this the inner door of the vestibule leading to the choir vestry is locked, but arrangements have been made to leave the yaletype key in a secluded hiding place, and this information will be given to all ringers (especially regulars) if application is made to Mr. Harrison.

Thank you, Ringing World, for your valuable assistance, and those who have already come forward in support of our petition."

BOB SMITH AS HOST

Early in July the Marple (Cheshire) band, with friends from Bredbury and Chapel-enle-Frith, were invited to visit their former tower captain, Bob Smith, at his new home in Leicester. There were 18 distributed in five cars, and youth and beauty were well represented.

On the way we rang at Shardlow (6). chiefly, I think, because Frank Osbaldiston (present tower captain) had so often passed the church and wanted to ring there.

After lunch Bob met us at the Loughborough Foundry and showed us round. The young thoroughly enjoyed the bit where you hit bells with mallets (other people's bells of course!). On the 12 from Bristol one of the lads (aged 12), by dint of haring up and down the line, tapped out "On Ilkla Moor bart 'at" and part of Beethoven's 8th Symphony. (Not a great deal of the latter, but recognisable.)

We had a ring on the Foundry ten and found the trebles a skilled job. We managed Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters, however.

Our next port of call was Anstey (8) (a very nice church and bells, partly Norman, I think—the church, not the bells). then proceeded to Bob's new home and were sumptuously entertained and afterwards, of course, handbells!

We left by various routes at about 7.30, each making his own way home. A. W.

Obituary

MR. DENNIS FRANCIS

The death occurred at Musgrove Park Hospital, Taunton, at the age of 48, of Mr. Dennis Francis, of Long Sutton, near Taunton.

During the Second World War Mr. Francis served in the Somerset Light Infantry, and since 1946 had worked for the County Council. He was a keen bellringer and rang at Holy Trinity Church for some

The funeral service, at which the Rev. W. W. Mee, vicar of Huish Episcopi, officiated, was held at Holy Trinity Church on July 17, when the bells were rung halfmuffled.

HAROLD S. HOBDEN, 1907—1970

At the age of 11 Harold Stanley Hobden was taught to handle a bell by his father in the village church of Waldron, Sussex. An apt pupil from the start, he rang his first peal a few weeks after his 15th birthday, and two years later conducted his first. Meanwhile he taught himself mathematics and began to compose touches and delve into the mysteries of Q sets. After several years in an ironmongery and tool shop he moved to Eastbourne to become the manager of a similar concern.

The band at St. Saviour's, Eastbourne, which he joined, was well known for producing a faultless 500 of Stedman Triples on the heavy eight every Sunday. But Harold, noting that at 26 he was the youngest member, was dismayed that no learners were in evidence. He foresaw the trouble which was to overtake this tower in later years, amicably resigned from the experts, and joined the stoney band of nearby Christ Church, whose vicar had requested help.

Elected captain, he began his uphill task with months of slow progress. Eventually some of his ringers were inspired to emulate their leader's zest, attending two practices a week, plus theory lessons at his house. They rang four times each Sunday, and several sang in the choir as well! In a few years they were ringing Cambridge and London Minor, attending meetings and taking part in peals. They were later to pass on their keenness, and the training of a large percentage of present ringers in the district can be traced back, through these Christ Church ringers, to Harold's efforts at this time.

The declaration of war and the subsequent ban on ringing broke up the band, and Harold himself used his self-taught skills in specialised work at the R.A.E., Farnborough, where he was able to keep up his handbell ringing. At the end of hos-tilities he rejoined his family in Sussex, but before long his health deteriorated seriously, and intermittent spells in hospital made regular ringing impossible. He maintained, however, a lively interest, and his advice and opinion were frequently sought. After an enforced early retirement, he had ambitions to complete a ringing machine which he had begun to construct, but these, too, were thwarted by ill-health, and he died on July 9, 1970, aged 62.

The younger generations of ringers in Eastbourne and the nearby towers hear the name of Harold Hobden quoted often enough, but they know little of the man himself. Yet it is safe to say that none of

BRAIN TEASER SOLUTION

A total of 61 pints must have been drunk and this can only be arranged if the different numbers drunk are 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12. The least is 4, drunk by the 3rd, and the most 12, drunk by Charlie. Fred must therefore have drunk 6, which makes him ring the 2nd, which is therefore odd-struck. This gives the following pattern. with one or two immediate conclusions inserted:-

Bell	Age	Con.	Odd	Tot.	Name
1	4				D
2			1	6	F
3	1	0	0	4
0	2/1	U	0/1	10

One approach now is to try out the various possibilities for the odd-struck bells. Their total must be even for Harry to have drunk half of it, and there are thus six possibilities (125, 127, 246, 248, 257, 268). Only one arrangement satisfies the conditions that there should be the right number of ringers of different ages, that all the numbers of pints drunk should be different and that the specifications for Harry and George are obeyed. Note that Harry must be 20-30 to be half George's age and conversely that George must be 40-60. The arrangement for the odd-struck bells is 257.

Bell	Age	Con.	Odd	Tot.	Name
1	4	0*	0	5*	D
2	3*	0*	1	6	F

The numbers asterisked can be inserted immediately if Harry's total is 7 and there are not to be three men in their twenties.

Harry must be on the 5th or 6th to total 7, and for George to total 9 he cannot be on the 4th or 7th. Harry and George are therefore on the 5th and 6th. Charlie's maximum of 12 can now only be achieved on the 7th. If George is between Harry and Alf, the order must be AGH on 456. This leaves 3 and 8 unnamed, but as Bert rang a heavier bell than Ernie, he must have been on the tenor. All conditions are then satisfied if Charlie is the conductor and in his thirties and Alf is in his fifties.

Bell	Age	Con.	Odd	Tot.	Name
2	3	0	1	6	F

HE MOVED HOUSE

Dear Sir. - Please allow me to place before your readers a few observations upon the complaints made of the bells of St. Mary's Church, Old Swinford, Stourbridge.

The article, which was a typical example of Press sensationalism, contained several inaccuracies. Chawn Park Drive is certainly more than 250 yards from the church, and incidentally, in between the two places is situated Stourbridge Junction Station, which is in use for six days a week.

The sound of the bells cannot be said to cause annoyance, for the belfry windows are covered with sound insulation board. As for the bells being rung for too long, at the time of the article ringing was taking place on Sundays for three-quarters of an hour and on Mondays for an hour and a half. The rector (the Rev. H. L. Davies) takes a sensible view of peal ringing activities, and on average there are about six attempts a year.

Your readers will be interested to learn that Mr. Telford, in addition to asking for a reduction of rate assessment on the alleged nuisance of the bells, also asked for the large number of steps up to his house over his own land to be considered! I was told a few days ago that Mr. Telford has moved house.—Yours faithfully, Stourbridge, Worcs.

Mr. Peter Staniforth.

M. D. FELLOWS.

THOSE ROPES

Dear Sir,-As I have been responsible for all ringing arrangements at St. Mary's, Rotherhithe, for the past three years, I feel I should write to Mr. E. Adams (Ringing World, July 24, 1970), in reply to the queries he raises in his concluding paragraph.

- 1. The removal of ropes (nothing to do with the peal band who had to contend with a similar situation) was due to an unfor-tunate series of misunderstandings which might have been prevented had I been in London at the time. The persons who removed the ropes, in the course of normal maintenance work, had full authority to do
- 2. The ropes on loan from St. Leonard's, Streatham, were, and still are, in the ringing room cupboard.

I should point out that the rector apologised for the disappointment and inconvenience caused to the band of which Mr. Adams was a member, and that these apologies were accepted, so it appeared to the rector, wholeheartedly at the time. It is odd, therefore, that Mr. Adams should see fit subsequently to misrepresent the matter in the pages of The Ringing World.—Yours faithfully,

KENNETH J. RIDER.

CHAPEL OF ST. CATHARINE, LEICESTER

"This Chapel of St. Catharine was made fit for Divine Service by members of the family of Herrick, U.S.A., 1929.'

This printed notice under a heading "For Private Devotion" is to be found in the N.E. part of Leicester Cathedral, and entering the chapel one finds it beautifully kept, well furnished, and surrounded on its walls with tablets of stone inscribed to members and descendants of the Herrick family, who for centuries lived near and supported the parish church of St. Martin in Leicester, now its Cathedral.

One of these stone tablets, about 4ft. x 2ft. 6in., is of particular interest and reads: "Here lyeth buried the bodie of John Here lyeth buried the bodie of John Heyricke of this parish who departed this life ye 2 of Aprill 1589 beinge a bout ye age of 76. He did marrie Marie ye daughter of John . . . " and below:

"Marie his wife departed this life ye 8 of December 1611 being of ye age of 97 years. She did have, before her departure, of her children, and her children's children and their children to the number of 142.

When a bellringing meeting was taking place in the Leicester area a short while ago Mr. Peter Staniforth met Mr. and Mrs. Dalmer Herrick, who had come over from Tucson, Arizona 85718, U.S.A. (with two American friends, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Stansbury, of Phoenix, Arizona) to visit the home of their ancestors, and to see the chapel restored in 1929 by members of the Herrick family.

The Americans had never before seen bellringing ("the British way") being performed and were greatly interested and impressed. They took photographs and tape recordings of the ringing and signed the visitors book in the ringing chamber before leaving to continue their tour.

In spite of the large family left behind by Mr. and Mrs. John Heyricke in the 16th century, the family is now reduced to Mr. and Mrs. Dalmer Herrick-resident in the U.S.A.

"THOSE B's"

A "swarm of B's" invaded the ringing room at Stoke Poges and scored a very good peal of Stedman Triples to mark the 60th anniversary of the conductor's first peal of Stedman.

One of the churchwardens, a former ringer, opened his window whilst at dinner to listen to it and commented: "It was magnificent striking and a treat to listen to.

Richard W. Butler, who is only 12 years old, shows remarkable promise, having rung over 7,500 Stedman Triples in about 27 hours. The "B's" lost one at High Wycombe on the front 8 the night before after an hour and 40 minutes.

Taken from The Ringing World for August 10, 1945.

At Shirley, Warwicks, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was conducted by Mr. F. E. Haynes, who also rang his first peal of Cambridge Minor, and William G. Critchley, on the treble, rang his first of Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton conducted a three-method peal of Minor at Eye, Suffolk, with Michael P. Moreton, on the treble, ringing his first peal on tower bells.

W. Eric Critchley conducted his first peal of Minor (one in three methods) at Barnby Don, Yorkshire.

Four of the six members in a peal of Doubles at Holt, Wilts, rang their first peal, whilst the conductor rang his first of Doubles.

August 13, 1920.

At Heene, Sussex, Double Norwich was conducted by Frank Bennett, and Mrs. F. I. Hairs rang her first peal of Major on tower bells. Her husband rang the fifth.

The ringer of the treble is but 13 years of age and he only commenced to learn change ringing this year. This was his first attempt for a peal and he had only rung on eight bells on two previous occasions.—Footnote to a peal of Bob Major at Henley, Suffolk, conducted by George E. Symonds. The treble ringer was Cecil W. Pipe!

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd "at the risk of incurring severe censure . . ." placed before the Exercise Solihull Doubles, which he constructed a year or so before.

Mr. Joel Hern, who died at North Shields, was the oldest ringer in the Durham and Newcastle Association. He started ringing in 1867 and was the most elegant handler of a rope.

The six-bell band at Leytonstone, Essex, left Liverpool Street Station at 5.53 a.m. for a day's outing to Cambridge, whilst the St. Mary's, Penwortham, Society, on their tour by charabanc rang a 720 at each of five towers visited in the Lake District.

In spite of long queues at the booking office, trains going before you could get a ticket, missing trains, flat tyres, loaded buses and other "ills" that flesh is heir to all turned up smiling and made the bells pay full compensation.—Report of Bank Holiday gathering in one of the Kent County Association areas.

ANOTHER THEFT

The bell must be worth several hundred pounds, said the Rev. John Rogers, vicar of Hindhead, Surrey, when interviewed following the theft of the 4 cwt. 1922 bell from the turret of his church. The thieves cut the bell down on a Saturday night and removed it on Sunday. Although the villagers saw it on the Sunday resting on the base of the turret nobody thought to report the occurrence and imagined the bell was to be rehung.

A correspondent writes: "After several years' endeavour Mr. C. I. Rowson has at last managed to ring a peal of Stedman, by ringing the treble to a peal of Cinques at Manchester Town Hall. We hear he did quite well for someone ringing his first of Stedman."

All Saints, Hertford

All Saints, Hertford

THE DATE of the first church is uncertain but its appearance suggests that it was at least rebuilt in the early 15th century. It was cruciform with a west end tower and no side aisles. The walls were of flint and chalk and rough cast; the tower, embattled, had a tall spire. Turnor, in 1830, wrote: "The interior is characterised by great plainness and simplicity and devoid of ar-chitectural beauty." Sunday morning mattins must have been impressive for on the second Sunday in the month the Mayor and Corporation came robed and occupied a large pew on the right of the nave. The Mayor should have been comfortable, tor in 1675 Sir Henry Chauncy gave a cushion for the Mayor to lean on-value £7 10 0! As the more important parish church in the county town, All Saints led the way in at least two respects. Firstly it had the only ring of eight bells (cast by John Briant of Hertford) in the county—until 1729 (the Hertford College Youths Society of Change Ringers was founded in 1767). And secondly, it shared with St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford, the distinction of having an organ

This was the church when the worshippers left it on the evening of Sunday, December 21st, 1891, having listened to a sermon on temperance and the notices given out for services on Christmas Day. There had been a stir a week earlier when burglars had broken into the church but had failed to open the chest in which the church plate was kept. At 3 a.m. on the Monday morning all was well, but at 5 a.m. a baker saw flames coming from a room on the north side of the church. The fire brigade was summoned but was hindered by frost and the dry wood in the roof soon caught fire, the flames shooting upwards and the lurid glare could be seen for miles around. By 8 a.m. nothing was left except the smouldering walls and tower, the bells having melted. The cause of the fire was never proved but the general opinion was that the flue pipes from the heating system became overheated and set fire to the wooden roof.

THE PRESENT BUILDING

The foundation stone of the new church was laid by the Countess Cowper on March 25th, 1893. There is little need to describe the building for the dignified simplicity is there for all to see. When one sees some of the horrors which were perpetrated in churches during the last century one can be thankful for the beauty of the present church of All Saints'. The church, built in the Perpendicular style, is of Runcorn stone, the same as used for Liverpool Cathedral, and it can seat about 1,000 people. On the eve of All Saints, 1905, the Bishop dedicated and opened the tower, called the "Victoria Tower" as a thanksgiving for the reign of the great Queen, and an inscription can be seen on the wall. The height to the top of the spirelet on the tower from the ground is 140 feet. Two years later the ring of ten beautiful bells was installed by Mears and Stainbank. At the time of writing a clock is being fitted in the tower and was made by John Briant, of Hertford. It was originally placed in St. Mary's Church, Ware, before being transferred to a tramps' workhouse between Hertford and Ware. This later became a school and was recently demolished so the clock is now being installed in All Saints' Church.

THE BELLS

The ring of ten have wooden headstocks and are hung on ball bearings in a steel frame. Treble, 5 cwt, F sharp, II, 6 cwt. E. III. 6½ cwt, D. IV, 7½ cwt. C sharp. V, 8½ cwt. B. VI, 9½ cwt. A. VII, 12 cwt. G. VIII, 13½ cwt. F sharp. IX, 17½ cwt. E. X, 25 cwt. 25 lb. D.

THE CHURCH AT BROEK

During a short visit to see the tulip fields in Holland a visit was made to a cheese factory and opposite was a very old church with the following details which may be of interest:—

The Reformed Church at Broek in Waterland, Holland. This church was probably built before 1400 and consecrated to Santa Claus. On September 26, 1573, Spanish soldiers set fire to the church and the whole building was destroyed, but in 1628 the people of the village began rebuilding the church on the old walls.

Many of the objects seen are gifts from the inhabitants of the village. The pulpit was a marriage gift from a man, J. S. Rijser, and a woman, G. Jans, who married in this church in 1685 and gave the pulpit for the house of their Lord. It consists of three kinds of wood: Oak, rose and palisander. On the desk can be seen a bird: this is the pelican that wounds itself to feed its young, like Jesus Christ who sacrificed Himself for all people.

On the north side is a chandelier with weapons and three girls in historic dresses. They gave this chandelier to the church and it is the maiden-chandelier.

On the east side is a window which tells the story of the church, In the lower part the church is on fire, set alight by the Spanish soldiers and the people are running away. The second part shows the destruction of the church; the people have returned and built a wooden church. The light comes above the horizon. In the third part we see the church being rebuilt and the sun comes higher and the wooden church is in the background. The fourth part shows the church when the work is finished, and the sun is over the church again, with the people coming for the first service. In the fifth part we see the church inside during the first service, and the wide gate (to hell) with the narrow gate (to heaven).

On the wall is a plan of the church with all 273 graves marked. The graves of rich people have beautiful signs, i.e., Neeltje Pater and J. S. Rijser. The chairs in the church are for the women and the benches for the men. The organ dates from 1832.

On the west wall is a list of names of all clergymen from 1585 to the present day.

A single bell weighing approx. 16 cwt. hangs in the tower and can be swung or clocked. It strikes 10 times for \frac{1}{2}-hour. 20 for \frac{1}{2}-hour and 30 for \frac{1}{2}-hour. At the hour it just strikes the correct number.

The wooden stairs and the three ladders to the tower are in a very poor state, as are the bell fittings. The bell was cast in 1624 in a German foundry and has many ornate designs over it. C.D.

FLOWERS, ORGAN AND BELLS

Much interest was aroused by the Festival of Flowers held at St. Anta and All Saints', Carbis Bay, from July 23 to 26. The general theme was church building (the church was completed two years ago) with a subsidiary theme, The Sacraments. There was a small exhibition of ornaments and books used at the old Mission Church from 1913 to 1929, and this included the old ship's bell, weighing three-quarters of a cwt., which did duty in the present church until 1946. This was set on a blue rug on the Lady Chapel step and garlanded with flowers and a blue rope.

During the Festival there was background music supplied by five different organists, and the bells were rung on the Thursday and Friday evenings, Saturday afternoon and Sunday by the local ringers and visitors. At Carbis Bay the organ can be played and the bells rung without the slightest interference the one with the other, and likewise the bells do not prevent normal conversation in the church nor any annoyance outside. Thus it was the "set piece" for the bells provided a dignified and delightful peal of Stedman Triples in two hours and fifty-eight minutes on the Saturday evening from soon after 6 p.m. until just after 9 p.m., which proved quite a highlight amongst many who were coming and going to see flowers but who also heard bells at their best. Thank you, members of the Truro Guild.

ST. ALBANS G.G.S. SOCIETY

The first quarter peal has been rung by the St. Albans Girls' Grammar School Belringing Society, which was formed in September, 1968, by Frances Dodds.

Tower bell practices are held weekly after school hours at Sandridge Church, where many members ring for the early service on Sundays, later ringing at other churches. The band also ring the bells of the Cathedral before the annual carol service.

Both tunes and changes are also rung on handbells at the weekly practices held during the lunch hour. J. C.

A Ringing Cruise to Lundy Island

"THE BELL NEWS" REPORT OF SEPTEMBER 2, 1905

The article from D. L. C. on page 610 prompts us to reprint the following interesting account of the exciting and successful cruise and the peal that resulted.

AN island barely four miles long and less than one in breadth, lying some 20 miles off the North Devon Coast, far to the west of the Severn sea; its owner, the Rev. H. G. Heaven, who for over 40 years has been "monarch of all he surveys, whose right there is none to dispute," having, if report be true, supreme authority in matters involving life or death, an island where rates and taxes, and consequently the franchise, are unknown-an island boasting a weekly post-bag, wind and water permitting, a population of 33 souls all told, and crowning all, a beautiful church, some 550 feet above the sea, built by members of the Heaven family, and contributed to in gifts by practically every inhabitant of the island. Such is the basis of "this rough island's story," a story which appears in the Bell News solely because the tower of the well appointed church contains a ring of eight bells. Ever since their erection some eight years ago when the church was built, certain venturesome spirits have determined on scoring a peal—no easy matter, seeing the steamers which call now and then do not remain long enough for a peal; that a tug could only be obtained at prohibitive expense; and that the sea is usually so tempestuous that a landing becomes impossible, and even if that be successfully accomplished, a slight change of wind may detain the landing party involuntary prisoners for days or perhaps weeks together. Many drawbacks are therefore set in the way of a successful peal.

EIGHT ADVENTURERS

"Tis not in mortals to command success" says the old proverb, nevertheless the nearest approach to success is always assured when the Rev. H. A. Cockey takes up the matter in hand. At his bidding eight adventurers joined him, and on Saturday and Sunday, August 19 and 20, made the voyage by steamer from Bristol, Cardiff, and Weston-super-Mare, the fares being exceedingly low, though one of the party found his dinner bill an extremely heavy item. Ilfracombe was the rendezvous, and here in the evening a peal of Stedman was rung at the parish church, the first in the method on the bells. Early on the morrow, the "Eirene" of the missions to seamen had got up steam, the chaplain, the Rev. H. E. H. Coombes, having most kindly invited the band to be his guests during his periodical visit, to hold services at the Lundy Island lighthouses and Channel lightships. Unused to the motion of the lively little craft, it was not long before several were sufferers of the horrors of mal-de-mer, while the ardour of others was somewhat cooled by the volumes of spray which swept over them. To add to their misery, ere the island was reached the engines primed, an eccentric rod got bent, causing a stoppage and a wretched hour of wallowing in the sea. A tug came out and would have demanded at least £100 for salvage, had not repairs been effected, whereby at half speed the island was reached after a voyage of five hours. Up the cliffs to a sequestered nook, in which Mr. Heaven's house was built, the band augmented by the chaplain, the doctor, who by the way hailed from Colney Hatch—fit supervisor of ringers who had been dubbed madmen-the Revs. H. L. Pigot and P. E. Barnes with Mr. Bowen, parish clerk of Ilfracombe, and a couple of lads, keen as mustard, were welcomed by the venerable owner, and entertained by him to a sumptuous luncheon, at which a small regiment of lobsters occupied a central position, their valiant appearance no doubt preventing an immediate attack by the invading force. After lunch a further climb to the church, and an attempt to oil and raise the bells, both only partly possible, the sea spray coming over the cliffs having rusted down the coverings of the bearings, and a clock and chime erector, who should have been placed in charge of our Doctor, having carefully fixed his cranks to prevent the tenor being raised. A chisel and hammer sufficed to remedy the first, a screwdriver the second, and a start was made, but as the treble and fifth persistently slipped wheel, it was soon seen that a peal was beyond the range of possibility. The ringing however, worked out some of the best and made things easier, as it turned out, for the morrow.

Beaten and crestfallen, the band went down to the shore, with the idea of sailing for the mainland, but only to be told that the weather had got worse and that the skipper would not take the risk of being out all night in a heavy sea with damaged engines. Beds were sought on land by some, who made the evening merry with handbells, others slept on board. During the night the gale increased, even the big Stormcock tug coming in for shelter and declining to face it. Morning broke and revealed a raging sea, away from the shelter of the island; word was therefore sent round that another start would be made for a peal at mid-day.

FIRST AND LAST

Mr. Bowen put in a good morning's work in the tower resetting the wheels, others plying the oil bottle, to such good purpose, that after Mr. Pigot's camera had successfully done its work the peal was under weigh—and in spite of some hard work, mainly caused by the flimsy nature of the frame, was successfully brought round, the first, and in the writer's opinion, the last to be rung on the island. Mr. Greenleaf, who listened to the peal outside, pronouncing it as "a very good peal indeed."
Thus was the old adage once more fulfilled-"perseverantia omnia vincit," the perseverance of Mr. Bowen being mainly responsible for the success. No more crestfallen looks, but with jubilant spirits the visitors boarded the "Eirene," weighed anchor, and steamed past H.M. torpedo gunboat the "Hussar" which had landed a couple of Admirals during the peal, the handbells going for all they were worth, with wind gone down and a flowing tide, a delightful run to Ilfracombe, with a glorious sunset over the sea, the harbour lights were passed at nightfall, the "Eirene" been quickly berthed alongside the quay just 36 hours after she had cast off the previous morning. On the morrow, the cruise was prolonged to Minehead, the glories of the North Devon and Somerset coast being, in the opinion of a world-wide traveller on board, "unequalled in the wide world." Messrs. H. Moore and G. Atkins of Minehead and Mr. J. Grabham of Dunster stood in for a peal here, in place of those whose duties had called them home. The following day the "Eirene" proceeded across channel to Barry, called on the Breaksea lightship with papers and bread—a monthly luxury—depositing the last of her passengers at that great coal port.

Thus ends the account of the "ringing cruise to Lundy Island." To the Rev. H. G. Heaven are the warm thanks of the band due for his kind permission to ring, for his generous hospitality and deep interest in the venture: to the Rev. H. A. Cockey for his admirable organisation: to the Rev. H. L. Pigot for taking views of the church and band, ever to be treasured in remembrance of the day; and above all to the Rev. H. E. H. Coombes, for making the trip possible and doing all in his power for the comfort and enjoyment of his guests. The collection on board when the hat went round for the Missions to Seamen was felt to be but a poor return for all the kindness and hospitality. The cruise will be a lifelong memory to those privileged to join in it, the sentiment expressed by Mr. Cockey finding an echo in all hearts-"Turrible plazed I be vor zure."

BELLS A NUISANCE?

Under a double-column heading "Ringers Really So Dedicated" and a nom-de-plume "Pancake Bell" the following appeared in the Leicester Mercury on July 27. It indicates what many of the readers feel and think about bellringing and bellringers, and we trust a suitable reply was sent to the newspaper concerned. The article said:

"Poor Peter H. Smith, of Oadby. The poor chap merely wants to be able to listen to his symphony records in peace. That's no reason why he should have the tenor clapper thrown at his head and the Ringers' Manual read over to him, chapter and verse.

"Of course bells are a nuisance to most people, and of course all bellringers aren't the righteous, dedicated types that some make out. Ever heard of tower grabbing? It's a term used among ringers of their fellows who boast of the number of towers they have rung at in a week, or a year, or a lifetime. No quarter given by these chaps to the sufferers outside trying to listen to their symphony concerts while they go bobbing and singling endlessly on through their tuneless Cambridge Surprise or whatever.

"The excuse could be that it's a peal in honour of the vicar's aunt's birthday—but the real aim is another peal to notch up at the end of the list of the scores the band already has to its credit—and a mention in The Ringing World.

If tower bell music is so widely enjoyed outside why is it that some incumbents have had to ban their towers to visitors and limit the performances of their own ringers? And if Sunday ringing is such a service to God in calling the faithful to prayer, why do the ringers not more often heed the bidding on their own bells instead of so often creeping down the tower stairs and out of the vestry door?

"Admittedly there's a certain satisfaction in controlling a good-sized bell in a touch of Stedman or Grandsire that's going nicely, but it's sheer hypocrisy to pretend that this isn't purely a personal, even selfish satisfaction and that the populace is moved to ecstacy outside

"Peter H. Smith has a point. Stopped-up louvres might be the answer. But if the campanologists want to go on proving their mathematical talent why not two-fisted handbell ringing? That's real skill for you."

Llandaff and Monmouth Association. POOR ATTENDANCE

In contrast to the crowded A.G.M. of the Llandaff Branch at Penarth in February, the quarterly at Caerphilly in June was very poorly attended and has the dismal distinction of being the smallest in the history of the branch! A mere 20 were present to enjoy the pleasing octave of St. Martin's, the excellent address of the vicar (Rev. H. Lewis Clarke) and the generous tea (prepared in anticipation of a larger company).
Surprisingly, however, there was a good tower representation, with ringers from Bridgend, Cadoxton, Cardiff (St. John's), Coity, Llanblethian, Llandaff Cathedral, Llantwit Major, Neath, Newton-Nottage and Whitchurch, and two ringers from the Monmouth Branch (Newport and Ebbw Vale) were welcomed.

The next meeting will be held at Porthkerry in September, and the meeting in November will now be at Llantwit Major.

Kent County Association.

EXPERIENCED RINGERS LATE The date set for a quarterly meeting of the Rochester District was July 18, the venue being Minster Abbey on the Isle of Sheppey, the home tower of the district secretary and his enthusiastic band of young ladies. The curate conducted the service, and the company adjourned to the nearby hall for tea and the meeting, at which a new member was elected. One of the district ringing masters spoke at some length on the difficulties of arranging ringing when there were not many experienced ringers available, particularly in the early afternoon. He urged as many ringers as possible to make themselves available in order that learners did not have to struggle on their own with the result of rather mediocre striking. After the meeting ringers returned to the tower for further ringing.

Cowbridge Grammar School Society.

REPORT

The society ended the school year strong in membership, with a good record of service and practice ringing at the home tower, Llanblethian. Our best service band is still not past call changes and this has been something of a disappointment. However, there is no mistaking the revival in the last two years. Much is owed to the retiring ringing master (John Alexander), who leaves school with our best wishes.

A highlight of the year was the Saturday in February, when we took our turn, as a tower, to ring for Evensong at Llandaff Cathedral. Ten ropes look a lot to lads used only to six, but we managed quite well, and went in with ringers enough and to spare.

Congratulations to former ringing master Ellis Thomas, married on June 20 at Llandaff Cathedral to Sue Harber, whom he first met on one of our society ringing tours. Two attempts for a peal of Bob Minor to celebrate this came unstuck in the third 720. John Alexander, Karl Plummer and Iolo Davies were joined, the first time by old boys David Barrington, Rob Mac-Pherson and Ellis himself, and the second time by Mr. Jack Pryor and Mr. and Mrs. Alec Marsh.

Next term's ringing master will be Karl Plummer, who is making good progress as a change ringer thanks to the kind help and encouragement of Mr. T. T. Yeomans and the other Cardiff (St. John's) ringers.

Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

RINGERS' SERVICE

After ringing, over 20 ringers joined the congregation of St. Matthias', Malvern Link, for the ringers' service, when the lessons were read by Mr. J. Clements (branch ringing master) and Mr. G. W. Edwards (tower secretary). A course of Bob Major was rung on handbells by Mr. and Mrs. G. Drew, R. G. Morris and G. Bagley, and an inspiring address was given by the Rev. A. Webb (Evesham). During the final hymn a collection was taken by Mr. E. Barber, the longest serving member of the band, and Miss Jane Davidson, the youngest.

Mr. M. V. White arranged the service prior to leaving for Essex. By coincidence, the service fell upon the day after the 70th anniversary of the casting of the bells

(July 18, 1900).

Obituary

MR. HARRY ROE

A former Sunday service ringer at Kildwick-in-Craven, Yorkshire, Mr. Harry Roe died on July 11, 1970. He had given service to the belfry for 56 years until he had to give up because of ill-health.

He was a member of the band who rang the first peal, in 1916, on the present bells, two years after they were installed.

A devoted ringer, he rang in many parts of the country during his long years of R. C.

IN MEMORIAM IAIN MACLEOD

On July 24, Skipton and the Craven district of Yorkshire paid its respects to one of its most famous sons, Mr. Iain Mcleod, the first Chancellor of the Exchequer of the present Government.

Among those paying their respects were Skipton Parish Church ringers, who rang a half-muffled quarter during the interment at Gargrave, five miles from Skipton.

The ringers assembled at 2.30 p.m and rang rounds while the procession drove past the church on its way to Gargrave.

Ringing would have been at Gargrave but unfortunately three of the bells were stolen recently whilst awaiting rehanging and the remaining five were returned to the foundry until three replacements are cast.

At 2.45 the band rang a quarter peal of 1264 Plain Bob Major, those taking part being F. Alderson 1, I. Cox 2, A. W. Pal-lister 3, J. Smith 4, A. Stott 5, P. Norman 6, W. Hillary 7, R. Crabtree (conductor) 8.

Half-muffled ringing also took place in the evening, and the inhabitants of Skipton were appreciative of the ringers' efforts, which added solemnity to the occasion. R. C.

MRS. MARY LEWIS

Hordle, in Hampshire, lost one of its most faithful and respected parishioners with the death of Mrs. Mary Lewis (60) on July 15, and the loss will be felt by the ringers throughout the district.

Taught to ring by the late Mr. F. Feltham, she succeeded him as tower captain, when Hordle had a ground-floor ring with a call change band. In 1963 an upstairs ringing chamber was built, and the shorter draught improved the "go" of the light six, of which Mrs. Lewis was justifiably proud. A number of learners then began to show an interest in change ringing, and with the help of ringers from other towers began to make progress. Although not a great exponent of the art, being content to remain a treble ringer, Mrs. Lewis gave her ringers every encouragement in their efforts. She was very proud when, in 1967, the local band scored its first quarter peal (Bob Doubles) and it gave her great pleasure to ring in the progressive series of quarters, which ended with the first of Hordle Place Doubles

Mrs. Lewis's health was then failing and forced her to absent herself more frequently, but with great courage she rang for services and taught beginners on practice nights whenever possible until a few weeks before her death.

The bells were rung half-muffled (as she loved to hear them) preceding the cremation on July 10, and a half-muffled quarter was rung on the following Tuesday.

The sympathy of the Exercise is extended to Mr. Lewis and to her mother, Mrs. Maylam.

MR. B. WILTON (Grandad)

For three-score years and ten Grandad lived in his village by the quiet waters of the River Test and for the greater part of those years he saw to it that his tower (St. John's, Lockerley, Hants) rang for both services every Sunday and practised regularly every Tuesday.

But Bob (his successor) knew that very soon Grandad would have to hand over to somebody else and one day Grandad knew this, too. His last words to Bob were: "Keep they bells going."

We laid him to rest just outside the west door of the church he had served so well and we all brushed a tear from our eye as we climbed up to the ringing chamber to ring a half-muffled touch of Grandsire as a farewell to our captain.

He would have been pleased to know that three of his grandchildren rang in that touch and contented now that Bob would "keep they bells going."

The Exercise mourns the likes of G. W. Grandad.

MRS. ARTHUR DAY

For many years Mrs. Arthur Day was a familiar figure at ringers' meetings when they took place at Harpenden. Not in the belfry, but by being ready with the tea pot when the all-important break came for It was therefore doubly appropriate that there should be a peal attempt to mark the golden wedding anniversary of a wellcouple, which fell on July 31.

Arthur Day, who has rung at Harpenden for a little short of 60 years, was president of the Hertford County Association for the troubled year of 1939. Taking part in the peal attempt were three past presidents and Mr. A. R. Agg, president for the current year. Mr. A. E. Rushton, president of the Bedfordshire Association, and three local ringers comprised the band. Unfortunately the attempt did not meet with success, but the good wishes that went with it were no less sincere, especially as it was known that Mrs. Day was ill in the local hospital.

The following day, August 2, a quarter peal was rung with congratulations and good wishes by a local band.

Sadly on August 3 it was learned that Mrs. Day had died. The funeral service took place at Southdown Methodist Church. Harpenden, where Mrs. Day had attended the Women's meeting for many years, and was followed by cremation.

On Sunday, August 9, a quarter peal was rung as a thanksgiving for the life, work and friendship to ringers of Mrs. Day. Arthur Day goes the sympathy and love of his fellow ringers, and the hope that after a well-deserved rest and holiday to ease the strain of the past months he will be back among his friends in the belfry.

Mr. W. S. Girling writes: "With reference to the peal rung at Norton-Subcourse. Tony Crawford, ringing in his first peal, is a member of a new band being taught and who are regularly practising and ringing for services on the six at St. Mary's. Somerleyton, near Lowestoft. Tony is one of five younger ringers (aged 15 and under) and the remainder comprise six adults. three of whom were members prior to the last war, when ringing ceased and failed to resume. Ringing started again during April. 1969, following considerable cleaning and maintenance. the installation of better lighting in the tower and the fitting of new ropes. Simple change ringing is now being mastered." Yorkshire Association.

KIRK ELLA'S "HAT-TRICK"

The Eastern District held their annual striking competitition at Patrington on July 11, and this competition is also a qualifying round for the association's striking competition with the winning team going forward to the Yorkshire competition. Although an Eastern District competition, there was no one taking part who did not belong to the Beverley and District Society and the competition was held on the society's meeting day. The rules of the competition allow both 6- and 8-bell test pieces so the choice of Patrington's light eight (12 cwt.) was ideal, though only one team, Cottin ham, rang the eight, to Stedman Triples. Cotting-

Taking part, according to the rules, were Sunday service bands as follows: Beverley (St. Mary's), Cottingham, Kirk Ella, Market Weighton, Sutton and Walkington. There was also a scratch team from various towers unable to produce sufficient Sunday service ringers and known as Roddy Horton's "All Stars" (half the team was from Hessle). The judge was the well-known adjudicator from the West Riding, Mr. Harold Chant, ably assisted by Mr. Stephen Thompson (Beverley Minster).

Mr. Chant, in his summing up, said there was some good ringing and some not so good, but he thought it promising considering there were so many youngsters participating. Many of these youngsters, waiting their turn, talked nervously, but quiet confidence was shown by Mr. Ian Campbell, leader of the Kirk Ella team, which later proved well-founded.

The tea in the church hall was an excellent salad followed by trifle, cakes and scones, and tribute was later paid to the tea ladies by Mr. Ron Ducker.

The results, announced after tea, were as follows Kirk Ella 29 faults, Market Weighton 46, All Stars 74, Cottingham 83, Sutton 97. Walkington 99, Beverley 144.

This was a "hat-trick" of wins for Kirk

Ella. The winning team was: A. Cooper, Elizabeth Johnson, R. Sherriff, Hobson, D. Johnson, I. Campbell. The surprise of the day was the All Stars' performance. The results were followed by a short recorded excerpt on the winners' ringing from Mr. N. Chaddock.

Middlesex County Association.

A "LOCALS" OCCASION Contrary to the previous meeting a month earlier, when the attendance was very poor at the start, the position was reversed at Monken Hadley on July 18 and ringing got under way promptly at 3 p.m. No doubt the perfect weather and the ideal setting of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin on the fringe of Hadley Woods contributed to the steady flow of members during the afternoon and made the picnic tea all the more enjoyable.

Miss G. E. Newcombe (chairman) voiced thanks to the rector (Rev. S. Spencer), who conducted the service, to Mr. William Soper (organist) and to Mrs. Sharpe (tower correspondent). Mr. Fraser Macfarlane was elected as a ringing member.

Following tea the short journey was made to Barnet, where the bells were put to good use for a couple of hours under the guidance of the association master (Mr. T. J. Lock). A warm welcome was extended to Mrs. Mitchell, from Brighton, a respected member of the Ladies' Guild, who, apart from Neville Gower (who considers himself a resident) was the only visitor, all others taking part being members of the Middlesex Association.

Letters

A FRIENDLY PLACE

Dear Sir,-I was very pleased to see in The Ringing World of July 24 that at the A.G.M. of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild there was still the same friendly welcome at Basingstoke as existed years ago.
By a coincidence of dates, I first went to Basingstoke on July 4, 1921, feeling a very lonely person. However, within a few days I was made most welcome in St. Michael's belfry not only by the then vicar (Rev. H. W. Boustead) but also by members of the belfry, which included the late J. Bullock and F. G. Wilson.

I was also pleased to see in your photo such stalwarts of ringing as Mr. C. Ossler and Mr. J. Chesterman, both of whom I knew in the early 1920's.

District Branch meetings were better attended then than they are today. I remember over 90 being present in the old Church Cottage for tea at the annual branch meeting, although held in January. Yours faithfully,

H. BADGER.

Headington, Oxford.

RECORDS COMMITTEE REPORT

Just to put the record straight, I seconded the Records Committee report and at the same time pointed out two typographical errors which have remained in the report published on page 573. April 12, should read Gayton S. Royal and Treales S. Major. A further one has crept in since then, May 31 should read Xystus.—Yours faithfully, D. E. SIBSON.

WEMBLEY SURPRISE MAXIMUS

Dear Sir,—In connection with the peal of 105 Spliced Surprise Maximus recently rung at Leicester Cathedral, whilst offering my unreserved congratulations to those con-cerned, there would appear to be a slight error somewhere in the naming of the extension of Wembley Surprise Royal as Twickenham. This is not an extension of Major method rung and named Twickenham.

We have here a rather unusual situation in that Wembley Surprise Major and Wembley Surprise Royal are not related to each other but that both extend to Maximus. The difficulty lies in deciding which Maximus method should be named Wembley, or indeed, should both be named Wembley with a suffix, as in the case of the various London and Superlative Royals. The Central Council recently decided that if a method extends in more than one way then the extension running to the greatest number of stages should bear the name of the parent. Might I suggest that this be used as a sort of a precedent by saving that if more than one unrelated method bearing the same name extends to the same stage then the extension of that parent which runs to the greatest number of stages should bear the name of the parent?

In the present case the Major extends only to those stages that are a multiple of four, whereas the Royal extends to all stages, although it cannot be contracted to Major. I would therefore suggest that either the extensions of the Royal be called Wembley and a suitable different name be found for the extensions of the Major, or that they be called Wemblev No. 1 and Wembley No. 2.—Yours faithfully, Leicester.

JOHN M. JELLEY.

CENTRAL COUNCIL, 1974—DEVON

Dear Sir,-May I draw your attention to an incorrect statement in The Ringing World (July 24) under "Central Council Deliberations, any other business."

The invitation to the Central Council to Devon in 1974 would coincide with the centenary of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, and not the Devon Association. The As-sociation comprises "stoney" ringers, whose aims do not coincide with those of our guild.—Yours faithfully,

NORMAN MALLETT,

Central Council Member.

Elburton, Devon.

BALL AND CHANNEL

Dear Sir.-I was most interested to read your newspaper cutting of 50 years ago, referring to the "Novel Peal of Bells" at Watford. The novelty did not last long, as I understand this innovation caused the bells to hum too much and was soon dispensed with. We have, though, in recent years, reinstated this device, with a modification of our own, on the tenor only.

No mention was made of a second novelty-the ball and channel arrangement in place of the slider. While mechanically sound, it is a mixed blessing, the fitting of a new stay calling for a precision that can be irritating. It is noteworthy that the two new bells installed in 1946 were fitted with sliders.

I would be very pleased to know if there are many, or even any, more ball and channel bell setting devices in use. - Yours faithfully,

R. G. BELL.

RINGING THE METHOD

Dear Sir,-I see in The Ringing World, page 620, that a well-known ringer is Claiming to have rung his first peal of Bristol Maximus "in the method" by ringing the treble. I and, I am sure, countless other ringers have rung the treble to such methods without having a clue about the "blue line" and consequently would not think of claiming to have rung a course, touch or peal "in the method." If I were either of the two "inside" ringers in this peal making the same claim, I would consider that the treble ringer had a bit of a nerve, bearing in mind the mental effort which was probably required.

On the same page there is a similar claim to Stedman Triples made by the tenor ringer. I am sure that if we all thought we could claim to have rung a first peal in a method by ringing a non-working bell it would be a sad day for the Exercise, as it would make the mental effort and the satisfaction this usually brings seem totally It should be remembered unnecessary. that this claim once made cannot be made again, I can only assume that it is simply a question of one's personal standards in these matters.

Personally, I would not make such a claim for either of these performances. Perhaps I am "behind the times" but I feel confident that there are many who share my view, i.e. that it is a trend that should be discouraged.—Yours faithfully, KEITH G. GAME.

Redhill, Surrey.

The treble ringer mentioned did, however, conduct the peal and has often rung the method.—Ed.]

NOUGHTS AND CROSSES

Dear Sir,—For years I have used tables of noughts and crosses for a variety of purposes. Mr. H. T. Rooke had one of these tables in mind when he wrote about Pitman's Principle. If the noughts stand for six changes on 123 and the crosses for six changes on 456 there will be 20 changes in a division, as stated by Mr. Wycherley (page 474). Readers may like to try various place notations to bring up each of the 20 skeletons once in each division.

WE MISUNDERSTOOD

Dear Sir,—With reference to an item which appeared in "Belfry Gossip" on page 583 of The Ringing World, the impression given is that the 25th anniversary celebrations are to mark the inauguration of the Leicester Diocesan Guild solely.

May I ask you to correct this, please, as the festival is being held actually to mark the dissolution of the old Midland Counties Association, and subsequent formation of four guilds, viz., Derby Diocesan Associa-tion, Southwell Diocesan Guild, Midland Counties Guild and Leicester Diocesan Guild.—Yours faithfully,

R. D. HUGHES.

GOOD STRIKING RECORD

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read Mr. Norman Chaddock's reply to my letter about the gramophone record of striking.

Let me say first of all that I have always had, and still retain, the greatest admiration for the work that Norman has done for bellringing, particularly in the teaching and encouragement of young ringers.

I have no doubt, also, that he has worked unsparingly in the production of this new record. Nevertheless I am unrepentant.

I am far less concerned about the 12 examples that have been "squeezed on to one 12in. record" than the one (or two) examples that have been squeezed off! How, for example, could we regard a record purporting to survey the development of piano music in the 19th century as "comprehensive" if no room was found for the music of Chopin?

With regard to my "insinuations" that the examples are not good enough, may I remind Mr. Chaddock that it was he himself who implied that they were not up to standard by stating that they could be used for practising fault-finding. Hardly the work of a good advertising manager!

Personally, I think that a golden opportunity has been lost of demonstrating the best of open-lead Minor ringing by, say, Warsop, and immaculate cartwheel by, say, Roughtown.

Mr. Norman Chaddock has, of course, the right to reply to this letter but this is my last on the subject.—Yours faithfully, HAROLD CHANT.

RINGING AND CONDUCTING STANDARD METHODS

PART IV: GRANDSIRE

(a) Ringing the Method.

GRANDSIRE will probably be the first "odd-bell method" to be encountered by most ringers. It can be, and occasionally is, rung on even numbers of bells but the music it then produces is not very rewarding. Grandsire on odd numbers of bells is the counterpart of Plain Bob on even numbers and is almost identical in construction. The first lead of Grandsire Doubles is shown below;—

The first thing that one notices from these figures is that the treble plain hunts out from the lead and back to the Grandsire lead again. In the plain course the 2nd bell also plain hunts throughout and finishes in 2nds Doubles 12345 place at each lead-end. Grandsire may then be referred to as 21354 being a method having two 23145 hunt bells, and consequently the 32415 bell that turns the treble from the lead (in the plain course this is the second bell) is said to be "in the hunt." When 34251 43521 45312 54132 ringing Grandsire it is extremely useful to know which bell is in 51423 the hunt should a trip occur; this will be mentioned later. 15243 12534 Because there are two bells plain hunting, there are only three "working bells" in the plain course of Grandsire Doubles and therefore the length of the course is only 3x10 changes long.

When teaching a band of ringers change ringing with no experienced ringers to assist, Grandsire is preferred by many instructors for the following reasons:—

(a) The treble and second bells both plain hunt.

(b) By having the tenor bell "bobbing behind" (if six bells are available) each of the other five ringers knows in which direction to look when leading.

This in the first instance may be a good idea, but relying on the tenor bell always being available to look at when leading can slow down a learner's progress at a later stage when he or she progresses on to evenbell ringing (or rings at a five-bell tower).

Returning to our consideration of the construction of the method, let us follow the paths of the working bells.

Third Bell.—This bell starts by striking another blow in 3rds place before moving to the lead and then hunting out to the back. As this bell starts to move towards the lead, it is in 4ths place on the way in, when the lead-end occurs (notice that the dodges in the plain course of Grandsire do not take place as the treble leads full).

Fourth bell.—Continuing from where the 3rd bell finished the previous lead, the 4th bell dodges in 4-5 before hunting to the lead and out again to finish in 5ths place.

Fifth bell.—This bell starts the lead by dodging 4-5, followed by lying at the back. It then hunts to the lead and is in 3rds place on the way out when the end of the lead occurs (i.e. we are now back to where the 3rd started).

A number of interesting observations may be made at this point.

1. A close investigation of the figures shows that Grandsire is Plain Bob with two trebles (or hunt bells). Because there are two hunt bells, the bell which would have made 2nds in Plain Bob is forced to make 3rds instead. In turn, the other bells cannot dodge in 3-4, 5-6, etc., but must do so one place higher, i.e. 4-5, 6-7, etc. It also follows that if the dodges take place in the next higher section than Plain Bob, they will be done a row after the lead-end, i.e., as 3rds is made.

2. The rules I gave for ringing Plain Bob in an earlier article can be modified very easily to suit Grandsire, as shown below:—

sequence of dodges.

Starting from 2nd bell (in the Plain Course) the sequence of dodges in Plain Bob is as follows:—

Minor 3-4 down, 5-6 down, 5-6 up, 3-4 up, 2nds.

Major 3-4 down, 5-6 down, 7-8 down,

Major 3-4 down, 5-6 down, 7-8 down, 7-8 up, 5-6 up, 3-4 up, 2nds.

Royal 3-4 down, 5-6 down, 7-8 down, 9-10 down, 9-10 up, 7-8 up, 5-6 up, 3-4 up, 2nds, etc.

First rule for Grandsire—remembering sequence of dodges.

Starting from 3rd bell (in the Plain Course) the sequence of dodges in Grandsire is as follows:—

Doubles 4-5 down, 4-5 up, 3rds. Triples 4-5 down, 6-7 down, 6-7 up, 4-5 up, 3rds.

Caters 4-5 down, 6-7 down, 8-9 down, 8-9 up, 6-7 up, 4-5 up, 3rds, etc.

In both methods it will be observed that the down dodging is done in one place higher in each successive lead and the up dodging is done in one place lower in each successive lead.

Second rule for Plain Bob-remembering where one passed the treble, e.g.:

If one turns the treble from the back, dodge 3-4 down.

Second rule for Grandsire—remembering where one passed the treble, e.g.:—

If one turns the bell in the hunt from the back, dodge 4-5 down.

This rule is not as useful as the first rule in the case of Grandsire, particularly if a touch is being rung, as the bell in the hunt does not appear to be as significant as the treble, when one passes it.

In the foregoing I have tried to show how similar the methods Plain Bob and Grandsire really are. If the explanation of the two rules for ringing the methods appear to be too brief I suggest that one refers to The Ringing World of August 5, 1966, where I gave a detailed description of each rule relating to Plain Bob.

THE EFFECTS OF CALLS

There are two calls normally employed when ringing Grandsire, although some special calls have been employed in compositions in the method from time to time. Consider the figures shown below:—

st lead of	1st lead of	1st lead of
Grandsire	Grandsire	Grandsire
Doubles	Doubles	Doubles
Plain	Bobbed	Singled
54132	54132	54132
51423	51423	51423

Comparing the three blocks of figures that occur at the end of the first lead of Grandsire Doubles, we find that the first row which differs from the Plain Course when a bob or single has been called is at the handstroke lead of the treble, and not the backstroke lead as in Plain Bob, i.e. they take effect one row earlier and therefore the call must be made one row earlier, when the treble is in 3rds (at handstroke) on the way to lead, instead of when the treble is in 2nds (at backstroke) on the way to lead. Unlike Plain Bob, where only three bells are affected at a bob, irrespective of the number being rung, and two bells being affected at a single, in Grandsire all the bells except the one which would be making 3rds in the Plain Course are affected, and every bell is affected by a single. One will appreciate, therefore, that calls must be made precisely —in Plain Bob a call made two blows early would not cause bells to dodge in the wrong positions; in Grandsire they may well try!

BOBS

- (i) At a bob, the bell which is passing the treble in 2-3 as the call is made makes 3rds and turns the treble from the lead, i.e. it becomes the "hunt bell" until a further call is made.
- (ii) The bell which the treble turns from the lead makes 3rds and returns to lead in exactly the same way as if a call had not been made.
- (iii) The bells that are above 3rds place double dodge in the place they happen to be in when the call is made, i.e. 4-5, 6-7, etc. It will be seen that this has the effect on these bells of putting them ahead one lead in the course, i.e. the bell which double dodges 6-7 down in Triples, Caters, Cinques, etc., should have dodged 4-5 down had a call not been made, and this omits the lead of the course between dodging 4-5 down and 6-7 down.

Notice. — The bell which comes out of the hunt always dodges 4-5 down.

SINGLES

- (i) At a single, the bell which is passing the treble in 2-3 as the call is made, makes four blows in 3rds (like the bob bell in Kent Treble Bob does in 4ths place) before returning to the lead.
- (ii) The bell which the treble turns from the lead makes 2nds and turns the treble from the lead, thus becoming the "hunt bell."
- (iii) The bells that are above 3rds place double dodge in exactly the same way as they would have done had a bob been called.

Notice. — In treble-dominated methods which include Grandsire, it is the position that a bell falls in that determines where it proceeds to in the next lead. Check this for Grandsire to see why it is that the bells above 3rds must double dodge at a call.

A "W.I." OCCASION

Stowe Park, the grounds of the famous public school, was the ideal setting for the Buckinghamshire Federation of Women's Institutes to hold its golden jubilee garden party on July 18. As about 5,000 people arrived on the South Lawn for the official opening, they were welcomed by the bells of Stowe Parish Church, rung by W.I. members and friends, led by Hilary Aslett (of Drayton Parslow W.I.). The sound of the bells brought several other bellringers to the church, and as a result an extra session of ringing was arranged (whilst the brass band was taking a rest!). The standard of ringing on the easy-going five was high, ranging from rounds to Stedman. It was pleasing to see so many ringers, about 18, at a non-ringing event. As the crowds made their way home after a very enjoyable sun-drenched afternoon, the bells rang out again in farewell.

NINETY YEARS YOUNG

A BRIEF STORY OF THE SURREY ASSOCIATION

By C. F. MEW (Master)

On May 21, 1970, the Surrey Association celebrated its 90th birthday as a ringing association, having survived two wars and enormous changes in environment with the spreading of Greater London. "The County of Surrey Association of Change Ringers," as it was first known, was formed at a meeting held on May 21, 1880, at the Kings Arms, Carshalton (a venue most ringers would approve of!) largely at the instigation of the ringers of St. Mary's, Beddington, who were to become a leading force in many phases of the association's life. Surrey Association has never affiliated towers but has relied on a system of individual members unified into one body. Churches were said to be "in union" with the society and at the foundation there were eleven—Ashtead, Beddington, Bletchingley, Croydon, Horley, Kingston, Leatherhead, Mitcham (8), Nutfield, Streatham and

The Archbishop of Canterbury, what strangely, was the association's first president, whilst the administrative head was the secretary, Mr. A. W. B. Perceval. The initial subscriptions were 2s. for resident members and 5s. for non-resident life members which, when comparing earnings, was a large sum for the time (and also shows how little we pay now!).

In 1883 the well-known Dr. A. B. Carpenter succeeded as secretary, which position he was to hold for the next ten years.

The end of 1884 saw the membership standing at 113, and this rose to 200 in 1889. During the same period, in 1885, the association name had been changed to plain "Surrey."

The 1890's saw several developments, the first of which was the appointment of Mr. E. F. Strange (of Putney) as the association's first representative to the newly-formed Central Council of Church Bell Ringers (in 1890). This was followed, in 1893, by the election of R. B. Blanchard, of Streatham, as secretary, and in 1896, on the death of Archbishop Benson, the Bishop of Rochester accepted the presidency of the association. The secretaryship changed hands once again in 1897, passing to Charles Dean, of Sutton, one of several persons in the employ of Messrs. Gillett and John-ston, of the bell foundry, who were to hold office in the association.

FIRST WORLD WAR

The years from the turn of the century to the outbreak of the first world war saw several radical changes take place in the structure of the association. The retirement of Charles Dean as secretary in 1911 was the moment chosen to create the new post of master of the association, which was filled by the very able and popular Dr. Carpenter. His enjoyment of this honour was, however, tragically short-lived, as only two years later he died, and the mastership was taken on by James Drewett, of Mitcham.

Two other events in 1911 are worthy of The first was the appointment of Cyril F. Johnston, principal of the Croydon Bell Foundry, to the position of secretary. The second was the formation of a Southern District to stimulate interest in the more outlying areas of the county. The Southern District at first had the support of the towers at Burstow, Charlwood, Horley, Nutfield, Redhill and Reigate and proved an instant success, bringing a good increase in membership.

This was followed in 1913 by the formation of a Western District, comprising the towers at Egham, Kingston and Hersham. It is interesting to note that the splitting up of the territory had been discussed as early as 1898, but had taken 13 years to materialise.

Having traced a path to the first world war it would be a suitable point to look back on the actual ringing that had taken place since the association's formation. The very first peal rung for the "Surrey" was rung at Kingston on February 18, 1881, being Holt's ten-part of Grandsire Triples, conducted by C. James Strutt. This was followed by another of Grandsire, this time Caters, at Beddington, on May 7, conducted by the well-known conductor and composer Edgar Bennett. The first even-bell peal (Plain Bob Major) was at Beddington in January, 1883, and the first of Stedman at Streatham in January, 1887. A peal of Double Norwich C.B. Major at Carshalton received special mention in the 1889 report, and the first peal of Surprise was rung at Bletchingley on October 27, 1894, being Superlative, conducted by James Parker, of Crawley. It was in 1913 that the first peal of Cambridge was rung for the association, at Mitcham on April 19, being Johnson's variation, conducted by William Smith (another foundry employee).

BREAD AND BUTTER METHODS

The bread and butter methods of peal ringers were still Grandsire, Stedman, Treble Bob and Plain Bob, and at this time a points system was devised by a Mr. Attree, Central Council representative for the Sussex Association, points being awarded by the Council for the various peals rung by guilds. The value at that time placed on the methods is reflected in these examples: Plain Bob, 8 points; Grandsire, 9; Seven Minor, 9; Treble Bob, 12; Stedman, 24; Double Norwich, 16; Superla-

One final note about the pre-war era was the succession of the Bishop of Southwark to the presidency of the association, which state was to remain for 20 years, from 1907

The details of the war years are somewhat nebulous. Peal ringing ceased in August, 1914, and many members of the Association gave their lives for their country during the ensuing hostilities. The period between the wars was to herald a great surge of enthusiasm in the association and in the field of peal ringing Surrey ringers, and in particular the Beddington band, led by C. H. Kippin, were to set new precedents.

At some time immediately after the war the Northern District (that remaining after the Southern and Western Districts were formed) was renamed the Central District, and in 1922 Miss Nora Shorter was elected to the post of secretary to the Western District, the first woman to hold office in the association.

In the early years of its existence the association had realised that loyalties to the Winchester Diocesan Guild prevented the association from gaining new members in South-West Surrey, so it was not surprising that when the formation of a Guildford Diocese was mooted in 1926, the officers of the Surrey sought to negotiate an amalgamation with this guild. The talks evidently came to nothing and the Guildford Guild was formed on December 31, 1927. In 1926 James Drewett, the master, died aged 74, having served in this cases of the aged 74, having served in this capacity for a record 15 years. He was succeeded by Kenneth Birt, of Merstham. In the same year the Bishop of Southwark resigned from the presidency and the post remained unfilled for three years.

A further reshuffle of districts resolved itself into two in 1928, these now being called the North-Western and Southern Districts and the following year the first of many joint meetings with the new Guildford Guild were held.

The Bishop of Croydon, Canon E. S. Woods, accepted the presidency of the association in 1930, holding this position until 1937, in which year the Bishop of Southwark again took the post and the Bishop of Croydon became a vice-president.

The association's first dinner was held at Croydon in October, 1935, and appeared at first sight a success, with an attendance of 109, but at subsequent functions in 1936 and 1938 the numbers dropped to 90 and then 56, at which point it was decided to discontinue them.

Ringing between the wars, as previously stated, was exciting. In 1920 the first peal of Surprise Royal (Cambridge) was rung for the association at St. Peter's, Croydon, conducted by W. Pye.

The first peals of London Surprise Major were rung on the same day (November 22, 1924) at Carshalton and Godstone. One 1924) at Carshalton and Godstone. One month later, on December 27th, the first 12-bell peal was rung for the Surrey, at St. Mary-le-Bow, when Charles Kippin who was only 18 at the time, called Grandsire Cinques whilst turning in the 11th of the then 53 cwt. twelve.

Bristol Surprise Major was first rung for the Association in 1926, and in the same the Association in 1926, and in the same year C. H. Kippin conducted 10400 of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Christ Church, Epsom. It was now Mr. W. H. Hewett's turn to reel off some firsts for the association, as follows: 1927, Cambridge S. Maximus (Southwark); 1928, Yorkshire S. Royal (Beddington); 1929, Stedman Cinques (Southwark); and 1931, Pudsey S. Royal St. Martin's, Epsom).

LONDON ROYAL The year 1932 saw no fewer than nine different Surprise Major methods rung for the association and culminated in a peal of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative being rung at Banstead on September 10, conducted by C. H. Kippin. On Feb-ruary 4, 1933, the first ever peal of London Surprise Royal was rung by the Beddington band, the "Beddington Version," now rather sadly known as "No. 3," is today the accepted best extension of London on ten bells. Subsequent years saw the first ever peals of Bristol S. Royal (February, 1934); Superlative S. Royal (September, 1935); and finally the achievement of the first of Spliced Surprise Royal (London, Cambridge, Printel Superlative) (London, Cambridge, Printel Superlative) (London, Printel Superlative) Cambridge, Bristol, Superlative) (January, 1936). Each of these peals of Surprise Royal was rung at Beddington, composed by Frank Darby and conducted by Charles

When war was declared in 1939 the Home Office Order relating to the Control of Noise did not prevent ringing but the blackout regulations presented difficulties and caused ringing times to be altered. In 1940 the complete ban was imposed and in the same year the Kings Arms at Carshalton, birthplace of the association, was destroyed.

The ban on ringing was lifted for two days in 1942 (November 15 and Christmas Day) and in 1943 it was completely lifted, but naturally enough it was the end of the war before ringing could start getting back to normal.

Editorial

ABOUT OURSELVES

A FULL 100 per cent attendance of members of the Ringing World Committee was maintained when we met at Stoke on Sunday, July 12, with the Editor, to discuss an agenda which seemed to deal preponderantly with finance. Apologies were received with regret from the Council's officers and the R.W. Treasurer—perhaps as we did they found a Sunday meeting difficult.

The financial statement of the T. W. White testimonial was received and Mrs. Staniforth and Mr. Hughes were thanked for their help in the success of the scheme.

Cash statements prepared by the Guildford office and bank statements supplied by Mr. Hughes were considered and the R.W. investments reviewed. Requests from Seven Corners Press, Ltd., for a substantial increase in the price paid for printing were considered very carefully and the convener reported on his talk with the managing director. It was agreed to offer a limited increase per week for the time being in respect of present costs and to consider the matter further when detai's of the expected increased wages and paper prices were available. At the same time a variation in the method of payment was agreed to help the firm. The convener has since received the thanks of the managing director for the consideration given to his requests.

Mr. Denyer reported on the reactions at likley to the proposed R.W. calendar and it was agreed to go ahead with the scheme and have the calendars printed in August. The Committee ask for the support of all ringers in this venture.

It is proposed to consider at our next meeting in November (14th at the Whitechauel Foundry) the preparation of the R.W. Index for 1970 in the same form as this year, subject to readers' reactions received by then.

Arrangements for the R.W. jubilee were further considered and readers are asked to note that a feature of the celebration will be a lunch at Gui'dford on March 27. Full particulars will be published as soon as finalised.

The Committee's thanks were accorded to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and son John, for their hospitality and help in what the Editor has since described as "a very useful and most enjoyable meeting".

WILFRID G. WILSON.

AN AFTERTHOUGHT?

Wishing to dissociate his name from the footnote of the peal of 14 Spliced Major at Birstwith, Yorks, on May 18, (Ringing World, page 581), Mr. P. H. Gardner states: "The peal was not rung for a special occasion, it was one of the regular 'Monday' evening peal attempts by the band. None of the band was informed either before or after the peal that it was to be rung for someone's birthday

"I object to events connected with persons relatively unknown to the band taking precedence over events and records connected with those who ring—unless the peals are genuinely rung for a special occasion."

Belfry Gossip

We are confident that there was no ulterior motive when the name of the Central Council president was printed upsidedown in a letter last week. A correction (made "on the machine") was put in by the operator—and unfortunately no revise proof was produced for the reader to check.

First peal congratulations to Pauline Tallis, Maureen Welsh, Richard W. Butler (12), Stephen J. Bayliss, Sonia Hailes, Hilary Dash, David J. W. Bath, Jane E. Coles, Janet Walker, Kit Matthew (handbells).

Personal Records: Walter Perry (25 peals), Stephen Bedford (75), Vernon Bedford (100), M. Iain Davey (25), Phillip Stevens (75).

For their ringing weekend in Salisbury, Rhodesia, a quarter peal was rung and it was the first in the southern hemisphere for Kay Moore, Jonathan Chamberlain and Jeff Lawrence.

The peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells rung for the Leicester Diocesan Guild on July 7 and reported in last week's Ringing World was not, of course, the first for Peter and Jill Staniforth.

Mr. N. F. Moxon of Cawthorne. Barnsley, is very appreciative of the help and information to his enquiry about Holsworthy Church bells.

Quarter peals were rung at Laughton and Barcombe, Sussex, for the 65th birthday of Mr. J. E. Baker and for a happy retirement—but not from ringing!

For the Suffolk Week, 11 of the 13 peals were successful and two of the band were Christine Broadley (aged 16), who scored 8, and Katharine Thorley (aged 14) got one more—9. (Well done!)

We agree with a comment sent by a correspondent that visiting ringers on tour who criticise the go of the bells, or the length of rope, etc., are not "cricket" as in some cases it disheartens young, inexperienced and yet enthusiastic bands,

The organiser of the peal of Stedman Cinques at Manchester Town Hall (Mr. J. E. Andrews) is grateful to the three ringers who stood in at short notice and to another who agreed to ring Cinques instead of Maximus.

We learn from a press report that the late Mr. Harold Hobden, whose death we reported recently, won a national prize in 1963 connected with his expert knowledge of ironmongery and tools. In addition he took a keen interest in astronomy and built his own telescope.

A "go-ahead" young man is Richard Butler (aged 12) of Thatcham, Berks. He was at the C.C. meeting and was selling pens in aid of the bells fund at his home tower. Now he advertises the pens "as supplied to the officers of the Central Council"! [We hope he sells dozens!—Ed.]

"Bells" ringing at 3 a.m. for half an hour and again at 7 a.m. at Belstead near Ipswich disturbed the peace of the inhabitants recently, until it was discovered that the ringing came from sledge hammers hitting railway lines being laid in a tunnel at Ipswich station.—C. R.

Michael D. Fellows, who rang his first peal in 1959, has now rung his 500th. Mr. F. G. Handley was in both peals.

The quotation on page 572, "Once to every man and nation", was by J. Russell Lowell (1819-1891) we are informed on expert authority.

The Leeds University Society went for its second peal of 27-spliced on June 28 at Sharow, Yorkshire; two days after the first peal was scored! The peal was lost in the last course with only five leads to go, when the third rope broke. It was notable in that Gill Cleaver, who has rung the treble in this series, was ringing inside, this being only her second peal of Spliced Surprise, and she gave a very good performance.

It was announced over ITV (Southern) on Monday evening that a bell had been stolen from Hartley Maudit, Hampshire, but no other details were given.

Following his letter published last week about the Rotherhithe ropes, Mr. K. J. Rider states that Mr. Pladdys' remarks are largely incorrect. None of the ropes, he says, apart from two spares belonging to St. Leonard's, Streatham, are the property of anyone other than the Rotherhithe Church authorities.

We also have received a long letter from Mr. M. J. Uphill on the subject, confirming various factors already printed, but he states that he told Mr. Adams the facts before the latter wrote to us. For our part in this saga of the ropes we feel the whole episode was misunderstood from the first. We published the original letter because we thought a malicious parishioner or other person had purposely taken the ropes to stop any further ringing in other words, stolen the ropes! We trust the whole matter will now be closed.

The Lundy article last week has brought in many comments and interesting points, which we will publish next week. Information about Lundy Island is obtainable by writing to the agent: Mr. F. W. Gade, Manor Farm, Lundy, Bristol Channel, via G.P.O., Bideford.

In the peal at Lowestoft on July 20, Mr. R. W. R. Coates, who rang the 5th, is the only surviving member of a band formed when the bells were installed, as a war memorial, in 1920. Mr. D. Carr, who rang the 6th, rang his second peal—his first being in 1939.

The newly-formed ringing society at Faringdon County Grammar School recently rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Trinles (in hand). It was the first for all and first for the conductor, and was rung for the school's golden jubilee, also for the 80th birthday of Mr. Hewitt. Next term a peal is to be attempted.

A correspondent suggests that the poor attendance at the Alton Festival was due to many of the towers being open a fortnight previously for the guild A.G.M. at Basingstoke. Whilst Basingstoke is always a popular centre, a visit by the guild to Andover might have led to a better attendance at both functions.

Barry F. Peachey of Lyndhurst writes regarding Mr. Gay's comments on Original, to say that at last someone has come up with proof that Grandsire Doubles does not exist! He also thinks the 105 Spliced S. Maximus at Leicester is a marvellous achievement (which it certainly is!).

ATTENDING FIRST MEETING

The Western Branch annual meeting was held at St. Wilfrid's, Calverley, in June, and 70 members enjoyed the rehung bells and the excellent tea provided by the local company and served in the church

At the business meeting the chairman (Mr. W. Barton) welcomed ringers from Bingley, Drighlington, Tong and Kildwick, attending their first meeting of the association. Eight members were elected-Dr. W. E. Court, Messrs. J. L. Jessop and P. Serotsky, and the Misses A. Beswick, G. Entwistle, S. J. Rees, C. E. Simms and Thompson.

Branch officers elected were: Ringing master, Mr. M. Thurmott, and committee members Messrs. P. Birkett and R. Crab-A. B. S.

Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

GUILD MASTER ATTENDED

Members of the Dorchester Branch were honoured to have the master of the Salisbury Guild (Rev. Roger Keeley) with them at their summer meeting at Wool on July
11. The Vicar (Rev. F. C. Whitter) conducted the guild service, with Mrs. Baker as organist, and the singing being led by the choir, which included several local

Mr. and Mrs. Butler were thanked for providing an excellent tea in the school hall, and a short business meeting followed with the branch vice-chairman (Rev. K. W. Meiklejohn) in the chair. The six bells were rung during the afternoon and evening to a variety of methods under the supervision of the branch ringing master (Mr. David Cull). Ringers attended from Dor-chester (St. Peter's), Fordington (St. George's), Preston, Upwey, Whiteparish and Wool.

Hertford County Association.
ATTENDANCE NOT LARGE

The St. Albans District held a meeting at Peter's, St. Albans, on July 18, when ringing on the ten started a little late due to a wedding. The attendance was not as large as was expected, a little surprising for it was a warm, sunny day.

The vicar (Rev. F. Bradley) took the service, and after a salad tea the meeting was held, 32 members being present, with Mr. John Mayne in the chair.

lengthy discussion took place whether the format of meetings should be altered, and it was agreed that two meetings (September and October) be held and the new idea tested.

Mr. R. E. Hardy asked that names be collected for the petition to save St. John the Divine, Leicester. Congratulations were extended to Bob and Kathleen Hardy on the birth of a daughter the previous evening.

The meeting at North Mymms in August was announced, and ringing at St. Peter's followed.

DISTRICT OUTING

Members of the St. Albans District visited London on July 4, the party travelling by The first towers visited were St. Giles'. Cripplegate, and St. Lawrence's, Jewry, and after lunch all enjoyed a trip on the Thames from Charing Cross Pier to Greenwich.

After an hour's ringing at St. Alphege's, Greenwich, there was the return trip on the river and ringing at St. Vedast's, Foster Lane, and St. Margaret's. Westminster.

All are grateful to Mr. Andrew Wilby for making the successful arrangements. H. D. Midland Bank Ringers.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE VISITED

The third annual meeting of the Midland Bank Bellringers was held on July 4, and branches represented came from London, Amersham, Tring, Birmingham, Northampton and Gloucester. Accompanied by a few friends, they spent an enjoyable day in Buckinghamshire.

Ringing commenced at Leighton Buzzard and started with a touch of Kent Royal! and was followed by the eight of Stoke Mandeville.

During the afternoon the interesting old church of Little Missenden was visited, and later the ground-floor ring at Penn was rung. It is here that a jug of fresh drinking water is always available in the porch for weary travellers. After a conducted tour of the well known church of Stoke Poges we were joined in some Stedman Triples by Mr. Barker and members of his family. Beaconsfield we were met by Miss Fletcher, who also rang with us.

The towers visited in the evening were G.M. at Amersham and Berkhamsted.

PARTING OF THE WAYS

July 12 was a sad day at Malvern Link. as it was the last time that four loval members would be ringing regularly.

In the past few months the tower has lost a complete Surprise Minor band, the loss being (mainly) the gain of the Great Dunmow area of Essex. Earlier this year Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Wood and family returned to their native county and now Mr. and Mrs. M. V. White and family have moved to the same area. Miss Jane Coles and Miss Clarissa Caroe have left Malvern Girls' College, Jane to study at Bart's and Clarissa at Derby and London.

Outings

GOSFORTH'S DAY

Gosforth ringers held their annual outing on July 18, which was a lovely day. The grand ring of six at Buxhall was the first to be tried and was followed by Great Finborough's; here the bells are somewhat Lunch was at Stowmarket, and Framsden the first tower in the afternoon. followed by Ashbocking and Henley. Tea was taken at Needham Market, and the final tower was at Barking. There was a "refreshment stop" on the way home, and all had an enjoyable time. S. P. S.

GUILDFORD AND BASINGSTOKE VISITED

The annual outing of Holy Trinity, Hurstpierpoint, took place at the end of June and the ringers, with members of the congregation, visited Guildford and Basingstoke areas. The first stop was at St. stoke areas. The first stop was at St. Mary's, Liss, where excellent ringing took place and provided a good opening to an enjoyable day. Our next call was at Alton (a fine ring of eight), where a flower festival and anniversary celebrations were in pro-

A break for lunch was followed by ringing at Overton, followed by the nine-bell tower at Basingstoke, where we found difficulty in getting used to the rhythm. On to Chobham, where some of the visitors braved the noise to climb up to the bell chamber to watch the bells swing as we rang them. The last stop was at Worplesdon (8) but unfortunately we could not stay very long. K. M. L.

FOREST OUTING

The Forest Ringers, with friends from neighbouring districts, held their annual outing on July 11, and the first tower visited was at Wootton Bassett, followed by Wanborough, with its combination of tower and spire—an unusually interesting silhouette. The 14th century nave is separated from the 15th century chancel by a narrow crossing, above which is a small hexagonal lantern capped by a spire. At the end of the nave is the normal bell tower.

Following this interesting church came Marlborough, and, after lunch, Upavon, with its massive 13th century west tower. Next came the Church of St. John, Devizes, which was beautifully decorated for an organ recital that evening. The Normart architecture is some of the finest in the

The towers visited after tea were at Seend, Steeple Ashton and Hilperton. The brass at Seend was greatly admired, and Ashton appreciated. The mellow bells are well suited to this sturdy church. The day closed with the light, ground-floor 7 cwt. six at Hilperton.

It was noted that all churches visited were very well kept, with tidy churchyards. The party are grateful to the organisers, incumbents and ringers who met them for the successful day.

FRAMSDEN

The so-called Framsden outing was at the end of June with London as the venue. A delay of nearly an hour got some of the party on edge, and we could not make up lost time, consequently we could spend only 20 minutes at St. Dunstan's. Stepney, much to the disappointment of

The bells at St. George-in-the-East were much enjoyed, as was the excellent lunch at the Lord Raglan. St. Michael's, Cornhill, followed, where a course of Bob Maximus was well rung. However, despite a large bunch of keys not one would unlock the church at Aldgate, much to the annoy-ance of our guide, but some of the party got a pull at Bishopsgate with the veterans. Our last tower was at Poplar, where the bells were rather difficult to ring. Our thanks to Trevor Bailey (organiser and guide). Ipswich was reached soon after 9 p.m.

THE FOREST OF DEAN

In mid-July ringers from St. Matthias', Malvern Link, set out on a glorious summer's morning for their annual outing, this year to the Forest of Dean. After a pleasant 30 miles drive Mitcheldean was reached and the nice ring of eight very much appreciated. Some eight miles on, the Littledean six were rung, followed by lunch, and thanks to a local ringer a perfect spot known as Pleasant Stile was found for a picnic. The lovely countryside with the River Severn making its way to Newnham will be a memory to be cherished for

After a journey of 18 miles the party arrived at Chepstow and were privileged to take part in ten-bell ringing a rare opportunity for the majority and a first ex-perience for some. The last call was to that well known Forest of Dean church at Newland, dedicated to St. Peter and the Holy and Indivisible Trinity, with its ring of six (tenor 16 cwt.).

Our thanks to the incumbents, to ringers who met us, and to Gerry Richards for making the arrangements. B. C. B.

AUGMENTATION AT RAMPTON

A new treble bell has been installed at Rampton and the other bells put in order by the Histon and Rampton ringers, making a delightful ring of six. This was made possible by a generous donation from the Rev. T. Havens in memory of his son. The dedication service was on July 22 by the Lord Bishop of Ely.

HANDBELL TIME RECORD (?)

Dear Sir, On Sunday, July 26, as part of the Penarth Holiday Festival activities, a team of handbell ringers from St. Augustine's Church, Penarth, attempted to set up a time record of continuous handbell ringing of tunes, hymns, rounds, queens, etc.
The band attended Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and after ringing the church bells for divine service assembled in the bandstand of the Windsor Gardens, Penarth. Ringing commenced at 10.30 a.m. and carried on continuously until 4.47 p.m.-6 hours and 17 minutes.

Can this be claimed as the longest time to ring handbells without a break, or can someone else claim a longer time?

Each hour of ringing was sponsored by individuals and organisations for varying amounts per hour, and approximately £14 was collected. Penarth Santa Claus Distress Fund will receive £7 and the Cardiff Edward Nicholl Children's Home also £7. -Yours faithfully

DEREK A. HERBERT, Hon. Sec. and Treas.

Penarth, Glam.

[Many long-length handbell peals have far exceeded this time, but it is doubtful if any record exists for tunes, etc.-Ed.]

SHEILA'S HUNDRED

On July 18 Sheila Dobbie rang her 100th peal. It was arranged as near as possible to the 21st anniversary of her first peal, Grandsire Triples, at Salehurst, on July 23, 1949, conducted by M. S. Cloke. A return to Salehurst was arranged, and this time a peal of Bristol Surprise Major was rung with some of her close ringing friends. It took Sheila ten years to ring her first 15 peals, but the remainder since 1960 have been rung at a fairly steady rate. Her 100 peals range from Minor to Maximus, and include two peals of Bristol Maximus and 27 peals of Spliced Surprise up to 18 methods. We trust the next hundred will not take as long!

THE EDINBURGH PEAL

The notable peal of London Surprise Royal (No. 3) rung as part of the celebrations of the IXth British Commonwealth Games, and recently published, was at the request of the Cathedral authorities. A party of ringers from the Manchester area travelled to Edinburgh on July 18 to ring at St. Mary's Cathedral and the attempt was publicised beforehand in the official games brochure and in the Press and was well received.

The band extend their thanks to the Provost and to Kate Branson and the Cathedral ringers, who went to so much trouble to ensure that the bells were ready, and who after the peal provided a marvellous tea and suitable liquid refreshments for all. Such Scottish hospitality was much appreciated.

This was the first peal in the method on the bells, and is believed to be only the second of Surprise on them. Ken Lewis, Bob Smith and Brian Harris have now rung in all three peals of London Surprise Royal in Scotland, one at each of the ten-bell towers-Edinburgh, Glasgow and Inveraray. Brian claims that his achievement is unique because he rang the ninth in them all! Basil Jones has rung peals in all towers in the British Isles which have tenors of two tons or over, and is believed to be the first person to do so.

In 1945 the president of the Association was the Bishop of Southwark, and this has remained so (except for the years 1957-59, when the post was unoccupied). The when the post was unoccupied). mastership was held by Daniel Cooper after the war until his death in 1954. One note-worthy event took place in 1945—the open day held at the Croydon Bell Foundry, and followed by a service at St. John's, don. No fewer than 100 people sat down to tea with an air of celebration, the date being September 8, just three weeks after VJ Day.

The next few years passed uneventfully. The North-Western District reverted to the title "Northern" and the deaths occurred of two prominent members. Cyril Johnston died in 1950, and it was not many years after that the foundry at Croydon ceased to undertake work on church bells. In March, 1954, the master (Daniel Cooper) died. He was succeeded by Roydon Davies, as master, for the next three years.

To celebrate the 75th anniversary of the founding a dinner was held on May 21, 1955, and was well attended.

Following a suggestion in 1959, a team of ringers, under the leadership of Norman Bagworth, undertook a series of "teach-ins," regular visits to certain towers to assist with teaching change ringing, and this project proved quite successful and continued for several years.

Undoubtedly the most important year of the 60's was 1962. A special meeting was held, with the members of the Guildford Guild, with a view to amalgamation, history repeating itself after 35 years, but after a ballot it was resolved that each should continue its separate way.

Also in 1962 the Beddington band had the honour of being selected to provide ringing for the Christmas Day radio broadcast of church bells.

The most recent years have shown an increase in the number of social gatherings in the association together with an emphasis on practical training for young ringers. The year 1963 saw the first of several social evenings, and dinners were organised in 1967 and 1968, whilst a 90th anniversary dinner was held on May 16 this year.

Two series of lectures were held in 1966 and 1968 and a demand has also been found for printed lecture notes and a booklet on conducting. The association has also gained nine new bells, eight in the tower at Tooting Graveney and the other a model bell donated by John Taylor and Co. as a trophy for the annual striking competition.

The masters of the association since 1957 have been: F. E. Collins, 1957-59, 1965; A. P. Cannon, 1963-66; and F. E. Darby, 1960-62, 1967-69. Mr. Cannon, whilst in office, became one of those having rung 1,000 peals.

The Surrey Association is a comparatively small society, the greatest number being 395 in 1967. It contains very contrasting areas, from the edge of the metropolis to the North Downs and Sussex borbers, and yet there is an enthusiasm which has maintained momentum for 90 years. The ringers of Surrey have had amongst their ranks over the years men and women who have been acknowledged as leaders in ringing circles and who have contributed in some measure to the furtherance of the art. Let us hope that the association will continue to thrive, that young people will continue to come forward to carry on to the centenary and that experienced ringers of all ages will help and encourage them.

Ringing from 10.45 a.m. 9466 ANOTHER RINGING THILLER

A book to stand on your shelves by the de of the immortal Nine Taylors by Dorothy L. Sayers is Death of a Dissenter by Lynton Lamb. The author has more than a passing insight into a belfry and ringers, and even The Ringing World is quoted for a peal of Minor in seven methods. The mystery is solved by P.C. Fell, one of the ringers at Flurry Feveral, and it was in the belfry there that the body was found.

Could anyone be more despicable than Silas Finch, whose last act appeared to have been cutting bell ropes to silence the bells? Investigations by Detective-Superintendent Quill and Inspector Glover all point a condemning finger to the beloved rector until P.C. Fell provides an ingenious solution. The Central Council has for years advocated that all parsons should have a knowledge of bells and bell control. This is admirably emphasised in Death of a Dissenter (Gollancz, 21s.).

Taken from The Ringing World for August 17, 1945.

The College Youths made a rule restricting the membership to persons of over 16 years of age.

It was announced that 90 peals were rung in July, 72 on tower bells, 18 in hand. [We average 65 a week now-Ed.]

Why is "firing" of bells so universally practised and approved at weddings and other celebrations?-Rev. Herbert Drake. of Ufford Rectory.

Mr. Lock advised that a few extra copies of The Ringing World were now being printed. [We always have plenty of spares now !-Ed.]

There is among the rank and file of ringers a great and general tendency to confine their attention and interest to their own belfry . . . and to treat with indifference anything which happens to those with whom they seldom or never come in contact. (Leader.)

Miss Mary Davis, Andrew Pearmain and Bruce Rogers rang their first peal of Major at Ringwood, and William C. Shute his 200th peal. Arthur V. Davis conducted.

The first peal of Doubles to be rung in Sydney, Australia, was conducted by S./Lt. A. R. Pink, R.N.V.R., and others taking part were W. Harry Short, Ralph A. Joyner, William M. Rowe, Edward V. Connock (R.M.) and Arthur C. Macey, all ringing their first peal.

A Central Council circular to all clergy was to be a definite piece of propaganda work. . . . In this way they would be able to get right home to the clergy who are at present indifferent to matters. (Leader.) 10

The first peal in the method (Cambridge S. Royal) for the Worcestershire and Districts Association and in the county was rung at Bromsgrove.

At Old Windsor, Berkshire, Arthur D. Barker conducted his first peal of Triples (Stedman), and Daniel T. Matkin rang his first of Stedman Triples at Condover, Shropshire.

At Wootton Courtenay, Som, Messrs. H. J. Arscott, H. W. Arscott, H. L. Arscott, F. C. Arscott and F. G. Arscott rang a peal of Doubles (three methods) with H. Reberts on the tone. The Arscott He. Roberts on the tenor. The Arscott brothers were all elected members of Dunster Deanery Branch, and H. J., H. W. and F. C. rang their first peal at first attempt.

Walter Ayre conducted a peal of Minor at Barton-on-Humber in connection with a pageant for the 1,251st anniversary of Old St. Peter's Church.

The trusty cycle was the chief means of transport round the winding lanes of Berkshire and Hampshire, except where flood water covered the road, and then "fields and pastures new" were trodden—Report of Winchester Guild meeting at Yateley.

St. Mary the Virgin, Henbury, Bristol

By ANTHONY BENNETT HENBURY, situated some four miles from the centre of Bristol, was for many years an isolated, picturesque little village. With the expansion of the city much of the surrounding countryside has undergone extensive urban development; the intrinsic village atmosphere, the quaint houses, the large manor houses, the narrow lanes and the old Parish Church still remain, and following an extensive corporation survey the village area is now the subject of a preservation order, thus guaranteeing its

The Parish Church of St. Mary the Virgin has been the centre of continuous building activity since Saxon times. Nothing of the Saxon church remains and the oldest portion is the late-Norman south doorway. The fine nave arcade was built in 1200 upon late-Norman circular piers; the side aisles, clerestory and chancel were added in the 13th to 15 centuries. Victorian vandalism occurred in 1836 by Rickman, but a careful restoration by Street in 1875 restored the church to its original form.

HISTORY OF THE BELLS

The tower of St. Mary's, Henbury, as seen today, was erected in the 13th century at a time when the nave of the church was being enlarged. It presents a robust and broadly-based structure and is devoid of buttressing. In the north-east corner there is a flatly projecting staircase turret of the same period. The tower roof originally contained pinnacles but these were removed and the roof levelled in the 15th century. Leading to the staircase turret is a fine oak door dating from the 17th century.

Bells must have hung here from early times and some authorities maintain that they were destroyed by the Puritan zeal of the 17th century. However, no evidence remains of their existence prior to 1717. It was in this year that a ring of six was cast by Evan Evans, who had established a foundry in Chepstow in 1686 and who also became churchwarden of Chepstow Parish Church. His two sons, William and Evan the younger, continued the work of the foundry after his death in 1730. Over the period of 100 years or so the family supplied bells to many churches in Wales and the West Country.

The bells at Henbury were, in all proba-

The bells at Henbury were, in all probability, cast in the locality at a temporary foundry built for the purpose.

Two of the original Evans ring survive—the sixth and tenor of the present ring of eight; the wooden frame exists in the form of the heavy oak chest now in the ringing chamber.

Three of the original ring were recast by John Warner at Cripplegate in 1857, and the original inscriptions were preserved on the waist of the recast bells, but the initials of the original founder were omitted.

Two treble bells were added to complete the octave in 1897 (Jubilee Year), by John Taylor of Loughborough, and the dedication and inscriptions are given on a brass plaque placed on the inner north wall of the tower, close to the stair entrance in the body of the church.

The fifth, one of the original Evans ring, required recasting in 1914, having been cracked by the clapper of the tenor bell which had fallen out during ringing. Major changes to the whole ring were undertaken and involved removing the canons, mounting in new cast iron headstocks, the provision of self-aligning plain bearings, the recasting of the fifth and rehanging all the bells on a new steel joint frame. The work was undertaken by John Warner and Son, of Spitalfields, London, at a total cost of £267 15s. The result was the ring as we know it today. They were retuned on the Simpson diatonic principle, but the effect was, mercifully, to preserve the old tone of the bells, and it avoided the stereotyped sound often associated with modern bell tuning.

Since 1914 no major work has been done but minor maintenance, repairs, replacements and frame painting have been undertaken by the local ringers themselves. This has resulted in a considerable financial saving to the church. Renewal of the bearings is now overdue, as many visiting ringers will know. The ringers hope in due course to raise the necessary money to do this.

A brass tablet at the foot of the tower records the following:

"Bells I & II were hung in this tower in the name of the most Holy Trinity to the service of the Church. Dec'r 3rd, 1897.

Let them be for the praise of God and for a remembrance of Victoria R.I. + II +

All the people shouted God Save the Queen."

Another brass tablet records the 64 years' ringing service of Joseph Gould, tower captain, and Henbury's most prominent ringer, who died in 1947. His wife, Gwen, rang at this church for 50 years and died in 1970.

For many visitors the name Henbury is synonymous with the grave of Scipio Africanus, the negro servant of Edward Southwell, Earl of Suffolk, whose name appears on the seventh bell.

THE FESTIVAL

The climax to the Henbury and Brentry Festival was a flower festival in the Parish Church, a bellringing festival and exhibitions in the mansion of Blaise Castle House. There was also the opportunity of seeing many of the old houses in the village and their beautiful gardens.

A bellringing festival on July 11 enabled visitors to ring from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Some teams arranged to ring quarter peals, and of four attempted two were successful. These were rung by bands from Thornbury and Henbury, both ringing Grandsire Triples. A band representing the Bristol City Branch attempted Bob Major, and a band from Easthampstead, Berks, were foiled by a broken rope from getting Stedman Triples. In both instances there was good striking, which was much appreciated by the hundreds of non-ringing visitors.

In addition, several towers were available during the day, and open ringing times at Henbury enabled numerous visitors to ring.

A peal of Bob Major had been attempted by the local band earlier in the week, but the hot, humid weather made ringing difficult and the bells were stood up after 13 hours' ringing.

To close the proceedings, a Festival Evensong was sung on Sunday, July 12, a special choir ,under the direction of George Locke (organist and bellringer) sang "O Thou, the Central Orb" by Charles Wood and the Te Deum to the Stanford setting in B flat; the Bishop of Bristol preached the sermon.

Although not primarily a money-raising venture, the £700 proceeds of the flower festival were given to the Church Restoration Fund.

POST OFFICE REGISTER?

With the peal of Plain Bob Maximus at Kidderminster on July 4, successes in Doubles, Minor, Major (three times), Royal and Maximus have been achieved by bands consisting of Post Office personnel. Triples are to be attempted in October and intentions are that Caters and Cinques be attempted next year.

It is hoped to compile a register of all ringers who work for or who have retired from the British Post Office. Names can be sent in the first place to R. W. Balls, 24 Buristead Road, Great Shelford, Cambridge, or to D. A. Frith, 22 Redcliffe Road, Grantham, Lincs.

AN AMBITIOUS PROJECT

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION; AND AN APPEAL LAUNCHED

Welcome to St. Botolph's. Today's service has a twofold purpose. We are commemorating the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the two trebles by the then Archdeacon of Rochester on August 14, 1920. Since then the ring of eight and its fittings, although well cared for, have not received any professional attention and are now in need of restoration. This service therefore also launches an appeal for the restoration of the

The Church Council has accepted the challenge of installing a new ring of ten at a cost of £4,500, but half this figure must be raised before the Council will consider placing an order with the foundry. Will you belp to keep Northfleet on the bellringing map?

Leaflets bearing these words were handed to about 70 ringers, parishioners and visitors who entered the parish church at Northfleet, Kent, on August 15, a few at-tending by invitation, many in response to advertisements and notices displayed, but all willing to support the efforts of the vicar and a committee in launching an appeal for bell restoration and augmenta-

A quarter peal attempt in the morning was unsuccessful but the anti-clockwise eight were rung during the afternoon and again in the evening, the service being at 4.15, conducted by Rev. Stanley Evans, of Bredgar (a ringer), who is chairman of the Rochester District of the Kent County Association. The vicar (Rev. D. F. H. Glanfield) read the lesson and Rev. Ian Lovell, of Minster-in-Sheppey, gave an interesting address, in which he referred to the purpose of the gathering that afternoon.

REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING

The service, which was fully choral, was followed by tea in the hall adjoining the church, and among those supporting the appeal, duly launched, were the chairman (and vice-president) of the Kent County Association, Mr. E. A. Barnett, who was accompanied by Mrs. Barnett, and his father, veteran Mr. E. OVER THE ROOF

A week or two ago Mr. A. Fidler took down the remaining four bells of St. Edmund's Church, Exeter (the other four were stolen). Owing to the weakened condition of the floors and no hatch in the first floor, which is in a bad state, he had to hire a mobile crane to get the bells out over the roof. Edmund Street is a busy one-way street and the police were on duty controlling traffic. One of the gang who stole the four bells was an interested spectator and offered advice on how to remove the headstocks and clappers! He openly boasted of his part in the theft and said he had had to pay a large fine. Some weeks ago Mr. Fidler collected the broken metal from the police in Exeter and, with the four bells, it is now at Loughborough.

LUNDY'S BELLS

The article by D. L. C. on the bells, etc., of Lundy Island has caused considerable interest and many have written giving references and details of the historic event. Mr. J. Hedgcock, of St. Helens, Lancs, states that it is believed the new owner may have the bells overhauled, and other venturesome spirits will then "have a go."

Mr. G. K. Austin, of Huyton, Liverpool, was on the island last September and found the bells in the church porch, arranged four on each side and resting on wooden planks. They were cast with angular canons, and although the fittings have suffered from the sea air, the bells are in good condition. Two of the clappers, however, are used as clock weights. The peal board, also weather worn, hangs in the porch.

Mr. R. J. Bowden, of Westbury-on-Trym, Bristol, has in his scrapbook an undated cutting (circa 1965) from the Bristol Evening Post about the peal rung in 1905. but the article does contain photographs of the church, the ringers and the peal board. Referring to the bells, he says: "They have for many years been unringable although it is recorded that they were chimed for a wedding in 1954. If memory serves me was published in The Ringing World following an inspection made in the early 1960's by Major H. J. Cann, of Kilve, near Bridgwater." [Major Cann was a nephew Bridgwater." [Major Cann was a nephew of Canon G. F. Coleridge.—Editor.]

Another account is supplied by Mr. E. Barnett, of Crayford, Kent, who confirms various points and gives the following interesting story about the peal rung:

"What has impressed this peal on my mind is that in the following year (1906) I went from London to Bristol on a cargocum-passenger coasting steamer, and coming up the Bristol Channel we passed fairly close to Lundy Island. Looking across through a pair of binoculars among the few buildings in view I saw what I have always thought was the church.

"Incidentally, the day before was spent at Penzance loading and unloading cargo. During the evening when walking towards Marazion I heard another island ring being chimed, the ring of six on St. Michael's Mount."

Two other correspondents who quote the Bell News report are Mr. E. C. Sheoherd, of Warminster, and Canon K. W. H. Felstead, of Southampton, the latter confirming that the peal rung is the only one ever accomplished.

Mr. D. C. Manger, of Frittenden, Kent, also sends the peal board wording and the inscriptions on the bells, which vary by one or two letters in the Latin. the stonework and mortar are crumbling alarmingly and although the bells may one A LATE PEAL REPORT

Sending us details of the peal, recently published, but rung in August, 1969, Derek

M. Sawyer, of Ontario, adds:-

"The peal was itself rung under rather unusual conditions during the second North American tour of 1969, organised by Geoff and Liz Davies. On the Saturday afternoon two handbell bands went for two peals simultaneously at Smith College. Unfortunately coincidence would have it that both of these attempts failed in almost identical places at the same time, only two or three courses from the finish. My own band contained two Washington girls, one of whom had never rung a handbell peal before, and they were both extremely disappointed with our failure since they only had the opportunity for this style of ringing when we met as a guild.

"Bill Jackson and myself decided they should not return to Washington without a peal, so the only possible time in the otherwise tight weekend schedule to attempt a peal was selected—starting at 7.15 a.m. Sunday morning. After the excellent hospitality which Ernest Rawson's daughter, Margaret, had extended to us on Saturday evening, we certainly expected to have to work very hard indeed for a peal at that time of day, especially when coupled with the fact that the only seating available in the appointed building was a rather high version of threelegged stools-not too compatible with the writer's bony, non-padded structure! Despite this a first-class peal was rung, to the distinct credit of the girls.

"An account of this weekend, together with a copy of the peal and, I believe, a quarter peal which was rung at Groton later in the day, was promptly submitted by David Ingram, of Hamilton. Approximately two months later a carbon copy of this material was sent to your office as nothing had appeared in print at that time. On a recent visit to Washington the two girls were quick to challenge me as to why the peal remained unpublished.

"Returning to Toronto, Bill Jackson was good enough to check all of his copies for me (since mine are incomplete—a penalty of sea mail; I seem to miss one about every two months or so). He also came to the same conclusion that the peal remained unpublished."

The present Editor is not able to check peal reports or what happened in August, day be put in working condition it is doubtful if they will be replaced in position for full circle ringing. Mr. Manger was on the island last year and again this year.

Mr. C. T. W. Coles, of London, gives various references and reports the condition of bells, etc., as very poor when he saw them in 1961.

Details of the inscriptions on the Lundy bells are supplied by Mr. B. V. Mountjoy, of Bideford, Devon, as follows: Treble: HORAM. PRECANOI.

Obituary

CHARLES H. STONEHOUSE

Ringers of the Melton Mowbray District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild were sorry to hear of the death of Charles Hector Stonehouse, of Hoby, Leics, which took place on July 21 in Leicester Hospital.

Hector was an agricultural engineer and had rung at Hoby over 40 years. He was at one time captain of the ringers and also maintained the ancient parish church clock,

The funeral on July 25 was attended by many villagers and friends. Mr. J. H. Cook represented the Leicester Guild, of which Charles had been a member; he also belonged to the Goscote Society of Change Ringers.

In the absence of the rector, in Canada, the Vicar of Seagrave conducted the committal service and a memorial service on August 2 was taken by the rector (on his

A half-muffled quarter was conducted by Mr. H. T. Bonshor, of Great Dalby, on August 6.

WILLIAM PICTHALL

Miss N. Picthall has sent us some details of her father's ringing career, following the notice of his death a few weeks ago.

Born in 1904, William started ringing at St. James', Barrow-in-Furness, and his first peal was on March 6, 1926, at Beetham. He also rang peals at Kendal and in Lanca-shire in the '20s and '30s, Edwin Jennings conducting most of them. Later he rang at St. Mary's, Bury, and moved south in 1938, ringing at Ruislip for some time until on doctor's orders he had to give it up.

He was a member of the Cumberlands and also of the Middlesex County Associa-

William Picthall died after a heart operation on July 12.

MR. C. G. GLASS

A former member of the 1st Rifle Volunteers, who was one of 100 men 6ft. in height chosen to represent Devon at Queen Victoria's funeral, died after a brief illness in Exeter recently. He was Mr. C. G. (Charlie) Glass, aged 97. His three big interests were campanology, shooting and cricket. He joined the Heavitree band of bellringers in 1906 and remained with them until he was 86. He was their captain for 30 years and captain of the Exeter Cathedral ringers for 15 years.

One of the original members of Clyst St. George Cricket Club, he later became a vice-president of both the old Heavitree and present Exeter St. James's cricket clubs.

THREE JOURNEYS
"Bird, Patey and West, Bell Repairs carried out.1

Members will recall when ringing at Bale after the Wiveton meeting, the clapper of the 4th decided to drop out. One visit to remove the "U" bolt (by the three of us). a second to see how the bolt fitted (it not being a conventional one), only to find a special spanner was needed to fit same. Our thanks to the Norwich ambulance mechanic, Mr. R. Cheney, for making one. Our third visit proved positive with work completed.

Many thanks to Carol Patey for her interest and assistance, for without her help this task would have been much more difficult. The three journeys constituted a mileage of approximately 165.

GOLD MEDALLIST

The first gold medal struck by the Worshipful Company of Blacksmiths in some 600 years of history was presented to Mr. Eric Stevenson, a 62-year-old Wroxham blacksmith at a ceremony in London recently.

The Company, one of the City of London livery companies, awarded the medal to Mr. Stevenson for his "superlative craftsmanship" in the manufacture of wrought iron screens for the ancient Church of St.

Nicholas at Yarmouth.

Mr. Stevenson was also admitted as a Liveryman of the Company, which automatically makes him a Freeman of the City of London.

LAST OF LINE

A member of a family that has produced blacksmiths at Wroxham for over 200 years, Mr. Stevenson, who is now the last of the line, had already received the Company's bronze and silver medals for outstanding craftsmanship.

The screens, which involved 15 tons of wrought iron, took Mr. Stevenson and his assistant, Mr. Bob Blake, six years to complete and three weeks to erect at St.

Nicholas' Church last year.

They are regarded by the Company, which has encouraged this form of craftsmanship since the Middle Ages, as probably the largest and most exquisite to be constructed this century.

Mr. Stevenson took over the forge at Wroxham from his father in 1928 after working as a local journalist for six years.

One of his first big tasks in wrought iron was a screen for St. Saviour's Chapel at Norwich Cathedral and this brought him the bronze medal award.

He later made a wrought iron gate for the entrance to the Dick Sheppard Memorial Chapel in St. Martin-in-the-Fields,

Mr. Stevenson has been a member of the Norwich Association for a number of years, and the report given here was taken from the Eastern Evening news.

Kent County Association. NO LOCAL RINGERS

The summer meeting of the Lewisham District was held in the attractive village of Farningham. It is unfortunate that there are no local ringers to keep these pleasant and easy-going six bells ringing regularly. In the absence of a local band a volunteer team of ladies prepared tea in the extremely well-kept village hall, whilst the bells were rung to a variety of methods under the direction of the ringing master. At 4.30 all gathered in church for a shortened Evensong conducted by the Rev. D. Campbell. In his brief address on church towers as strongholds, the vicar drew attention to the fact that Farningham tower had been designed as a place of refuge and could have been barricaded from the inside, although there is no historical evidence to suggest that it had ever been used for this purpose.

At a short business meeting it was learned that both Mr. Percy Spice (Bromley) and Mr. Sid Ball (Dartford) had been very ill. All ringers wish them both a speedy return to health. New members were elected from Crayford, Eynsford, Hayes and Lewisham. The date of the Kent County annual dinner was announced, also the fact that an appeal is to be launched by Northfleet tower for the restoration of their bells. The next three district practices will be at Eltham (August), Crayford (September) and St. John's, Erith (October).

Mr. Eric Stevenson here seen handing a gilded scroll to Princess Margaret, the design of which was the same as for the gates of Great Yarmouth Church, which he made.

MOVED TO CAMBRIDGE

Mr. W. S. (Bill) Deason writes: "As a result of my change of job I have to end my association with ringing at St. Mary's, Hampton. I first learned to handle a bell there 19 years ago and have been tower captain for the past 10. The new tower captain is Peter A. Lawrence who, like myself, has held several positions as an officer of the Middlesex Association, and is currently chairman of the S. & W. District. Although I shall clearly not be an active Middlesex member for a while, I intend to remain a ringing member of the association and attend the A.G.M.'s.

Bedfordshire Association.

AWARE OF WHAT IS HAPPENING

For the first time since joining the Biggleswade District, St. Andrew's, Ampthill, ringers were hosts to the district for a full meeting on August 8. Summer holidays and heavy rain showers were possibly the cause of a lower than usual attendance when Mr. C. D. Mann was ringing master. An excellent tea was served in the church hall by the local ringers and helpers.

Mr. S. H. Ashton was in the chair for the business meeting and Mr. A. S. Smith was appointed acting secretary for the meeting. Discussion took place on the district dinner and details of the social evening to follow the association striking competition were given.

Mr. K. H. Fleming (Central Council representative) gave a report of the meeting at Ilkley and stated that many items on the agenda were topics discussed at our meetings. He felt that in the district we were aware of what is happening within the Exercise.

Ringing continued in the evening with Mr. R. V. Webb as ringing master. During the meeting the district were pleased to welcome visitors from Kent, Surrey, Essex, Northants and Middlesex. M. L. M. Northants and Middlesex.

A GREAT DISTRACTION

On August 1 the Ilchester Branch held their monthly practice meeting at St. Mary's, Mudford, with the usual good attendance. Rounds and a variety of methods were rung on this 17 cwt. five under the direction of the branch ringing master and his assistant (Messrs. Gordon Rendell and Jim Taylor).

Ringers were welcomed by the tower master (Mr. Ken Deacon), and the vicar (Rev. Douglas White) invited all present to the Vicarage during the evening, where ample and delightful refreshments were available on the lawns, served by the ladies and friends. Some of the ringers found the lawns and refreshments—on a perfect summer evening-a great distraction from the ringing chamber!

The Ilchester Branch is grateful indeed to Mr. White, his helpers and the tower master for their hospitality and co-opera-M. M. L.

A NOTE OF LEVITY

"Having heard recently about some carpenters doing work around a church and who went up through a ring of bells left up . . . fortunately without harm to bells or carpenters! . . . I am inspired to send for publication in your "Little sayings of the week" sections, the following notice that used to adorn the armoury in a National Service camp (author unknown), and which would be useful at the entrance of a bell chamber:

What you don't know won't hurt you .. it will probably kill you!

There used to be another good one in the ammunition hut:

Smoke if you must,

then leave by the hole which will appear in the ceiling.

And on that profound note of levity, I remain . . "-From a correspondent.

FALSE COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,-With reference to Joe Roast's recent letter, the falseness of this composition was pointed out in letters from myself and Richard Parker on pages 616 and 654 of The Ringing World for 1967.

This recent incident only serves to emphasise the point that the correction never catches up with the mistake. With the availability of computers to prove compositions so easily, has not the time come for all compositions to be independently proved before publication and not haphazardly afterwards?—Yours faithfully, Putney, London, DEREK E. SIBSON.

METHOD NAMES-SURPRISE MAXIMUS

Dear Sir,-It has been pointed out that the names Twickenham and Welford have already been used for Surprise methods and rung to peals. The methods published on page 608 of the R.W. for July 31, 1970, under these names have therefore been re-

Twickenham S. Maximus has been renamed TRAFFORD S. Maximus. —5T—16—12—36—14—3T—16—3T—

36-3T-36h.l. 3T I.h. 12 (f)

Welford S. Maximus has been renamed KILSBY S. Maximus. —5T—16—56—3T—34—3T—14—5T—

16--7T--10h.l. 9T I.h. 12 (b)

It is worth noting that the comments on page 608 regarding Twickenham S. Maximus now apply to Trafford S. Maximus, i.e., that the method is a true extension of Wembley S. Royal but cannot be named Wembley since Wembley S. Maximus has already been rung and is a true extension of Wembley S. Major.—Yours faithfully, Yelvertoft, Rugby. JOHN H. FIELDEN.

"LOOK TO ..."

Dear Sir,—May I be forgiven for offering advice on ringing, since I myself am not far removed from the rabbit stage. But time and time again I hear and see the ritual of "Look to, treble's going, she's gone" with an obvious ignorance on the part of the ringer of what the "look to" is for. When I was taught to ring the treble my tutor made it clear to me that "look to" was an instruction to the other ringers to look to their ropes and get set, and only when I had checked that they were all of them ready was I to go on with pulling off the treble, say she's going and when she's gone. So often at meetings and practice nights, and even on the B.B.C. television of The Ringing Isle, the treble ringer fails to look around to see that people have "looked to"!

So—look to it, treble ringers . . . and instructors!—Yours faithfully, Swanage, Dorset. HUGH FALKNER.

BRIDES OF ENDERBY

Dear Sir,-I remember well having a long discussion at school a number of years ago on this subject. Our conclusion was that the phrase was simply a poetic euphemism for the bells. After all, Lord Peter Wimsey met Gaude, Jericho and Tailor Paul in his travels. Could it be that Jean Ingelow was sticking more to the tradition of regarding the bells as feminine?-Yours faithfully, Redcar, Yorks. PETER SOTHERAN.

RINGING AT BRADPOLE

Dear Sir,-I am trying to collect any quarter peals rung on the bells of Holy Trinity, Bradpole, Dorset.

We have complete records from 1963 to the present day. If any reader rang a quarter peal at Bradpole, or knows of anyone who rang one there before 1963, would they be good enough to send details to me at 74 Crock Lane, Bothenhampton, Bridport. A date, year and method would be helpful, but if the band is available this would be even better.—Yours faithfully,

MELVYN J. HILLER.

Bridport, Dorset.

WILLIAM PYE

Dear Sir,-I have read with great interest the article by Edgar C. Shepherd on William Pye. My father, the late C. T. Coles, and he were lifelong friends, Bill Pye having conducted my father's first peal and my father conducted Bill's last. He and his family were frequent visitors to our house -both handbell and social visits-but I got to know him well when, after leaving school, I worked for him in his building business at Leytonstone. Bill was a man of austere and sometimes strange habits, a non-smoker and almost teetotal, with the same integrity in his business dealings as with ringing; very human, his bark always worse than his bite, and always able to see the humorous side of any situation. I remember his mirth on hearing his band of ringers referred to by a non-ringer as "Pye-

Many stories he told of his early life, of driving steam traction engines with a man and red flag in front. He, together with his father and brother, Bob (George R.), were among the first "agricultural engineers," travelling from farm to farm with traction engines and mechanised farm equipment, pioneers of modern mechanised farming. Later, and for many years, he was a rail-way carpenter; this for him often meant peal ringing on Saturday afternoon, then straight on to an urgent track-laying or bridge building job, working night and day to get the trains running first thing Monday morning.

One memory I have of Bill Pye was the record peal of 10,440 changes Cambridge Royal at Walthamstow on Boxing Day, 1923. Still a schoolboy, I went with my father to hear the start. All the band arrived early except Bill; his brother informed them that Bill had been down with a bilious attack the previous evening. Bill arrived a little late, looking rather haggard. Upon being asked if he felt fit he replied: "It's a case of got to be fit, isn't it. Are the bells up yet?" He, of course, rang the tenor and conducted the peal.

I am enclosing an old photograph [unfortunately not good enough for reproduction Ed.]. Bill is standing in front of his own car! — a Ford T type chassis with a body fitted by himself, used by him in his business and also for ringers' outings and tours. He once took it on a peal tour of Leicestershire. The photo is of Walthamstow ringers about 1920. The other car was a Ford tourer owned by his brother, Bob. Incidentally, Bill's car had no protection whatever from the weather for either driver or passengers.

Looking back, I feel it to be a great honour to have known so great a ringer and "character" as William Pye. — Yours faithfully,

C. T. W. COLES.

BROADCAST BELLS

Dear Sir,-With regard to the comments in the report of the Broadcasting and Television Committee, an account of our experience at Grantham, Lincs, may be of help to ringers when services from their churches are to be broadcast.

When we heard that our harvest festival service was to be recorded for B.B.C. Television one of our ringers asked the vicar if the bells were to be included. "Do you think they ought to be?" "Yes," said the ringer. "Then I'll write to the B.B.C." replied the vicar.

A few days later we heard that plans had been made to record the bells on the Saturday evening previous to the service. When the time came for this to be done there were no involved arrangements—the recording engineer merely held a microphone out of the window of the B.B.C. van parked near the church and a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung and recorded.

This shows, I think, how easily things can be done—a word with the vicar, a letter to the company and a quick, uncomplicated tape recording.—Yours faith-

D. A. FRITH.

DIARY DETAILS

Dear Sir,-I returned from holiday and on looking through the previous week's R.W. noticed to my horror that I had about three days in which to supply information to Mr. Viggers for the 1971 Ringers' Diary, regarding Guild officers, etc.

I had not noticed the original request which, I presume, was in an earlier edition and, judging by the fact that there were 56 other secretaries who had not responded, I was not the only one. Had I stayed away as long as I had intended it would have been too late.

Since this is a commercial venture I feel that each secretary should be sent a request for information in the form of a questionnaire and the Diary publishers should not rely on notices in the R.W. being spotted. -Yours faithfully,

DAVID FORDER, Gen. Sec., Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. Chandler's Ford, Hants.

MORE HELP WANTED

Dear Sir,-Some time ago some of your readers were very helpful in supplying me with information regarding the weights, diameters, founders and dates of casting of bells in a number of city towers.

May I, through the columns of The Ringing World, ask if anyone can supply me with similar information regarding (a) the former rings of bells at (1) St. Nicholas, Liverpool, including subsequent recasting by John Warner; (2) St. Luke, Bold Street, Liverpool; (3) St. Botolph, Boston, Lines; (4) St. Bride, Fleet Street, London; (5) St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, London (at the time of the restoration and recasting by Gillett and Johnston); (6) Ripon Minster.

(b) The present bells at: (1) the one bell at St. Bride's, Fleet Street; (2) Ely Cathedral; (3) St. Mary Woolnoth, London; (4) St. Mary Mag., Old Fish Street; (5) St. Bartholomew the Great, Smithfield; (6) St. John, Waterloo Road; St. Luke, Chelsea; (8) Wells Cathedral; (9) Chichester Cathedral.-Yours faithfully,

THE 4-BELL TOWERS OF WORCESTERSHIRE

By Paul Cattermole and Christopher Pickford.

Abbot's Morton (St. Peter).

6½ cwt. in A sharp. Treble and third, Thomas Mears II, 1842; second, Thomas Hancox II, of Walsall, 1633; tenor, mediæ-val, "Royal Head" bell, cast at Worcester,

The frame and fittings date from 1842 and are by Thomas Mears. The frame is positioned diagonally to the walls of the tower. The fittings are somewhat derelict, with the wheels falling to pieces and the headstocks decaying. The tower is thought to be unsafe.

Alfrick (St. Mary Magdalene).
2½ cwt. in F. A complete four by John Rudhall, dated 1820, and inscribed with the names of their donors. The gear dates from 1820, is in very good condition, and the frame was rebuilt at that time. The bells are "clocked" at present, though the gear is perfectly sound. There is, however, some doubt about the safety of the timber tower, though one would not have thought that such light bells could be the source of any danger. The tone of the bells is excellent and they are to receive professional attention.

Birtsmorton (SS. Peter and Paul).

9 cwt. in A. Treble and second by John Martin, of Worcester, 1665; third, mediæval, by Robert Crowch, of London, c 1440; tenor, Thomas Hancox I, of Walsall, 1630.

The mediæval frame was altered in the 17th century and is now unsafe. The gear dates from the early 19th century and is no longer serviceable. The bells are tuned as the front four of a ring of six.

Defford (St. James).

6 cwt. in C. Treble and tenor by Charles Carr, of Smethwick, 1903; second, Harry Farmer, of Gloucester, 1604; third, Mat-thew Bagley, of Evesham, 1689.

The old treble, by a mediæval Worcester founder, was recast by Carr in 1903. At the same time he added the tenor and hung the bells with new fittings in a new com-posite iron and wood frame. They are ringable but not regularly rung.

Eastham (SS. Peter and Paul).
7 cwt. 1 qr. 17 lb in A. Treble, Abel Rudhall, 1745; second, John Martin, 1663; third, John Martin, 1655; tenor, Abraham Rudhall I, 1699.

These fine bells were rehung in a new steel frame, on ball bearings and new fit-tings in 1949 by Taylor's of Loughborough. They go well and sound excellent. There was a local band in 1960 but its activities have ceased.

Himbleton (St. Mary Magdalene).

9½ cwt. in G. A complete ring of four by John Martin, of Worcester, cast in 1675. The bells have rather quaint and interesting inscriptions. The mediæval frame is built into the timber tower and was altered in the 17th century. The gear dates from the mid-19th century and is in reasonable condition, but the clock, which was put in in 1910, was installed without much forethought, and the hammers and other parts of the clock prevent treble and tenor from being swung. The organ and the clock are both in the way of the rope circle and so the bells cannot have been rung since before 1910. The bells are tuned as numbers 1, 2, 3, 5, of a ring of five.

Holt (St. Martin).

10 cwt. 1 qr. 5 lb. in F sharp. Treble, Richard Saunders, of Bromsgrove, 1713; second, mediæval, uninscribed, c 1340; third, John Green II, of Worcester, 1632; tenor, originally by John Green I, recast by Mears and Stainbank, 1937.

These bells are hung dead as a chime, but as such are very fine. They hang in a much decayed mediæval oak frame. is also a small sanctus bell.

Pendock.

7 cwt. in A flat. Treble and third, Abel Rudhall, 1753 and 1745 respectively; second, Abraham Rudhall I, very early bell, 1686; tenor, Bond, of Burford, 1908.

The bells are numbers 1, 3, 4 and 5 of a ring of five, the second having disappeared long ago. They are hung dead for chiming. except the tenor, in a 17th century five-bell frame. The tone of the bells is very harsh.

Queenhill (St. Nicholas).

7 cwt. in B. 1, Abraham Rudhall I, 1718; 2 Abraham Rudhall I, 1718; 3, John Martin, of Worcester, 1680; 4, Henry Farmer, of Gloucester, 1602.

These bells are certainly unringable, and even inspection was dangerous. The treble has jumped out of its pit and rests on the floor of the third pit, this happened because of the looseness of the frame. The frame is basically of 15th century construction, while the gear in each case corresponds with the date of the bell to which it belongs.

Spetchley (All Saints).
61 cwt. in B flat. A complete mediæval four of which only one bell, the third, bears on inscription. This bell is an early bell of Richard le Bellyeter, of Worcester, c 1430. The frame dates from the 18th century and the gear dates from 1904, when the bells were rehung by James Barwell and Co. They are ringable, and have recently been attended to by the King's School, Worcester, Change Ringing Society, who moved the ringing chamber down to the ground floor. The bells do not conform to any known musical scale.

One quarter peal is recorded on the bells, rung in 1960, by a band of school-The method was Spetchley Court Bob Minimus and the band consisted of J. E. Pullen (treble), M. J. Fellows (second), M. D. Fellows (third) and P. Cattermole (tenor).

Stanford-on-Teme (St. Mary).
5 cwt. in C sharp. Treble, Richard Keene, of Woodstock (probably cast in the locality), 1673; second, Abel Rudhall, 1753; third, mediæval, Richard le Bellyeter, of Worcester, c 1440; tenor, mediæval, as Spetchley third, c 1430.

The third bell is cracked from the waist to soundbow. The tenor is a very fine, shapely and well-toned bell. The frame and fittings are both of mid-18th century vintage and are unserviceable, the frame being sadly decayed and the gear neglected. The safety of the tower is questionable. There is also a small sanctus bell.

Bricklehampton (6 cwt.). These bells are not totally unringable, and have been rung recently, though they are not to be recom-

Dormston (43 cwt. in C sharp). These bells also can be rung, but the clappers will not strike at the right time, and again should not be rung, though they can be.

East Grinstead Guild.

NO SEPTEMBER MEETING

On August 8 the guild met at Speldhurst and despite torrential rain there was a very good attendance. After ringing, picnic teas were eaten in cars because of the weather, but the business meeting was held in the ringing room. The chairman announced that there would be no September meeting but he urged members to go to the Croydon festival. He also asked members soon to contact Mr. C. A. Bassett to book seats for the outing in October.

It is hoped to visit East Grinstead in November, and in December the guild will be joining the Northern District of Sussex for a ringers' service. Members were told that an evening practice would be held at Hever in August.

Thanks were expressed to E. J. Ladd and J. E. Warner for preparing the bells and ropes, and also to Mr. E. Turley.

Guildford Guild.

DISTRICT OUTING CANCELLED

The Farnham District meeting on August 1 was held at Hawley, 26 district members and 16 visitors being present. The guild service was conducted by the Rev. E. Garth-Long (vicar) and the organist was Alan Rapley, a young ringer from Gray-shott. Tea and the business meeting followed in the village hall with Mr. Tom Page, district ringing master, in the chair.

New members elected were Miss Gillian Cornell (Grayshott) and Mr. J. Reynolds (Hawley).

It was decided to hold advanced practices in September and October, one of these to be at Aldershot, with the next evening practice meeting at Bentley in September. It was stated that the district outing had had to be cancelled for lack of support. Mr. Page thanked the vicar, the organist and the ladies.

Ringing continued in the evening.

WISE PRECAUTIONS

No bells! No clock! No weather vane! It is one of my boasts about Lillington Parish Church that one of its bells has rung out over the fields and houses of Lillington at least once a week for the past 600 years. But now the tower roof has had to be renewed. Who even knows there is a roof on the tower?—but there is, and it protects our bells which must be looked after. — From Orbit, the Lillington magazine.

Kington (4 cwt. in D sharp). These bells are ringable and go well; they sound very They were rehung early this pleasant. century.

South Littleton (8-1-1 in A). These bells were rehung in 1968 in a steel frame for six and on ball bearings.

White Ladies, Aston (7½ cwt. in C). These bells are ringable, but at the expense of the tower. They do not go well, and the tenor is virtually unringable despite the fact that they were rehung in 1904.

Wichenford (7 cwt. in B). These bells, rehung in 1898, have recently been restored locally, and the gudgeons removed and the bearings cleared. They are ringable and are reported to go well.

OUTING

WENTWORTH, YORKSHIRE

Wentworth ringers were joined by friends from Bradfield and Wortley for a tour, by cars, into North-West Lincolnshire. though not met by any local ringers, the tour proved of much use, especially to the learners in the party. The towers visited were at Haxey (a heavy six in a large church), Owston Ferry (a pleasant six from the ground-floor of a beautifully decorated church near the River Trent), Epworth (eight well-toned bells and a church with outward-leaning interior pillars) and Belton (a well-kept ringing chamber). A parish fete was in progress when the party arrived and was still carrying on when the ringing finished! Altogether a pleasant July 11!!

Editorial

ALL-OR NONE

ABOUT ten days ago the Editor received a letter which expressed the writer's extreme displeasure because a report of a day's outing had been "mutilated" and part used as a separate item in the Gossip columns. The letter concluded: "I do, however, ask that, in future, reports are published in entirety or that you should let me know what alterations you propose—you could then return the cheque that I invariably send, so that I could make what I consider appropriate alterations to that."

Now although we feel certain that our correspondent, who is a ringer and guild officer, held in high esteem by his fellows, did not intend to "blackmail" the Editor, it is necessary, we are convinced, to make clear to all contributors the position regarding reports, articles and letters sent to The Ringing World office.

A donation sent with any item for publication (other than an advertisement) does not carry an automatic right to publication in full, in part or even at all if, in the Editor's opinion, such item is not suitable, although every endeavour is made to give fair and impartial treatment to everything received.

We believe the majority of ringers sending contributions do so to support the production of the ringers' paper, without which the Exercise, as such, could not continue to flourish. We also believe that these contributions indicate that something of interest is found and enjoyed each week somewhere within the columns of The Ringing World.

The Editor, therefore, will not be bribed, blackmailed or coerced into printing reports and items "in their entirety," however large the donation, unless the particular item is to to be printed as an advertisement, when it will appear in the appropriate section.

To produce a paper which embraces every part of the ringing Exercise is the aim of the R.W. Committee, and the Editor's job is to ensure that the reader gets a balanced and interesting weekly journal. We ask all our contributors to bear with us and to be patient, and if they feel that to cut their particular contribution would, in their opinion, be detrimental to its contents, it should be headed "ALL—OR NONE," when it would receive the appropriate treatment.

We hope all readers will continue to send contributions, large and small, to help in the difficult task of keeping the accounts out of the red, particularly in these days of rising costs, and to try to understand the difficulty of cramming 28 pages of news into a 20-page paper.

The ring of bells at Georgeham, North Devon, have been overhauled and a quantity of steel angle which had deteriorated through lack of painting has been replaced. In addition, the bells at Somerton, Som, are being augmented to eight and the two trebles are expected to be installed by the end of August. Both these jobs are being carried out by Mr. A. Fidler, of Bow, Devon.

Belfry Gossip

We are delighted to hear that George Symonds (95 last July 11) and Charles Sedgley are in "pretty good health."

Ringers from Middlesex called at Holsworthy during a tour of the West Country, according to a report in The Western Times of August 14.

Commenting on the good reporting of the handbell rally a few weeks ago, a correspondent suggests that name or initials should be added, so that an assessment of the comments could be made.

The Editor acknowledges receipt of Annual Reports from the Middlesex County Association and the Worcestershire and Districts Association.

New Method this week is Stonehenge Surprise Major at Urchfont, Wilts, conducted by A. R. Pink. First-time Conductor: Michael J. Belcher (15).

If any ringer visiting Weston-super-Mare left a cardigan in the tower, please contact M. Legg at Drove Farm, Locking, Weston-super-Mare.

A quarter peal on handbells was rung by members of S.U.G.C.R. aboard narrow boat "Grebe" in Husbands Bosworth tunnel. They believe this is the first quarter rung in a canal tunnel.

Personal Records: Barry R. M. Johnson (50 peals), Gerald Penney (500), Patrick I. Chapman (500), Edward C. Buckby (50), Sheila M. Dobbie (100), Ivan V. J. Smith (100), Edward J. Chivers (250).

First-peal congratulations to Helen Garside, Valerie Calvert, Tony Ford, Margaret Eyre, Trevor Hillman, Gary Smith (13), Yvonne Singleton (14), Antony J. Singleton, Christine P. Garrod, Philip J. Garrod, Michael R. Davies, Lynn Trevor.

The Western Times announced on August 14 that Mr. W. G. Craddock, a keen member of the Holsworthy, Devon, band, had died. Mr. Craddock learned to ring when he was police-sergeant at Holsworthy, and helped to raise funds for restoration work in 1949.

"The Postmaster is very sorry this packet has been accidentally delayed in the post." This was attached to a letter received on August 17 and postmarked Maidenhead, July 26. Fortunately it did not contain advertisement copy, but six handbell peals and five compositions.

Conducting his father's composition of Cambridge Royal, Mr. Ernest Pye was disappointed that young Ernest (grandson) was unable to stand in at the last moment. The peal was for the centenary of William Pye's birth.

We hear that Peter D. Sell, currently living at Albrighton, Salop, has met with a motor accident and is in Kidderminster Hospital suffering from a broken arm and leg. We hope he will be back ringing soon.

The girls of Simon Langton's Grammar School for Girls in Canterbury have always been able to raise a team among themselves to ring some, if not all, the bells for their annual commemoration service at the Cathedral.

You can help our office accountant, Mr. Charles Lucas, by sending your renewal subscription in promptly when the expiry date is reached. The sending of reminders is expensive as well as time absorbing, and we understand that 70 such reminders were sent out recently.

Martyn Hawkes, of Swindon Village, Cheltenham, sends a new Delight Minor method rung at Tirley, Glos, on July 8. A 720 of Tirley Delight Minor was accomplished by F. Lawrence 1, H. N. Evans 2, B. Spiers 3, J. Clements 4, D. Price (cond.) 5, M. Hawkes 6. —34—16—12—1236—14—36. i.e. 12: 142563.

If "Quasimodo" will forward his name and address to the Editor his letter regarding The Ringing Isle will be published.

Calling all Christophers.—Anyone with this Christian name who would like to attempt a Christopher peal is asked to write to C. D. Corby at 58 Cambridge Street, St. Neots, Huntingdon, PE19 1PJ.

We learn three of the unringable five at Colkirk, Norfolk, have been scrapped, the treble and tenor remaining for chiming. Likewise the eight at Holy Trinity, Burnley, have been scrapped, the treble being kept for tolling, and the eight at St. Hilda's, Middlesbrough, have also been removed with a possibility of breaking up.

Has anyone a record of a peal rung at St. Nicholas', Harwich, between 1948 and 1951 in which a Mr. A. Gow took part (method not known). Please write to the Editor of any details.

If Messrs. W. P. Collins, Castell, Jones, Gascoyne, Miss Bown and Stephen Gregory will re-apply to Mr. N. Chaddock, he can now supply them with the record which they wished to purchase.

Share Our Cotswold Village is the title of a well-printed and attractively-designed folder which was distributed around Great Witcombe advertising a rural display with flowers and bellringing in aid of Witcombe Church Fabric Fund.

Further letters about the Lundy Church and bells have been received from Mr. D. Hughes (of Liss, Hants), Mr. M. F. Waldrop (Winchester), Mr. W. Simmonds (Torquay) and Deborah Bishop (London). The Editor is grateful for their interesting letters.

A Warning from Ireland.—"It has been frightening to visit towers and see ringers, usually new recruits, sitting around the room with crossed legs, one foot swinging within a foot or two of a moving bell rope."—Edmund G. White to Irish Bell News.

In December, 1948, Eckington (Worcs) bells were rehung and augmented to eight, the two new bells being given by Mr. F. R. Perks in memory of his parents. It is very fitting that Mr. Perks should have rung in the first peal on one of these bells, Bob Triples, on August 6, especially as the peal was a wedding compliment to him and his wife.

Four of the young ringers from St. Mary de Lode, Gloucester, with two Barnwood assistants, recently rang two hours' of sponsored call changes which realised £32 towards the interior decoration of their tower. Boring, but lucrative, and a fine effort. (Also excellent practice for striking!—Editor.)

DIAMOND WEDDING

On August 2, 1910, the five bells of the little church of All Saints', Coddington, Notts, rang out for the wedding of Mr. Sam Simpson and Miss Edith Walster. They were rung on that occasion by five of the bride's brothers. On August 2, 1970, there were six bells (a treble was added in 1965) to ring a diamond wedding compliment—a well-struck quarter in five Doubles methods.

Afterwards the band (four locals and two "guests") had the pleasure of joining Mr. and Mrs. Simpson for a piece of cake and a glass of sherry.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, who live just across the road from the church, are both regular members of the congregation at All Saints' and love the sound of the bells. They open their door on Friday practice night to hear them better. Mr. Simpson was a keen ringer in his younger days, being a member of the band at Cotgrave before moving to Coddington.

Nottingham University Society. CAMPING TOUR

The Nottingham University Society's summer tour took the form of a week's camping in Worcestershire and Oxfordshire, and 17 towers and three midnight hikes were enjoyed.

On the first evening we visited Hintonon-the-Green, and the following morning we rang at two towers, Mickleton, where we had to weave our way through a mountain of flowers to reach the belfry, and Moreton-in-the-Marsh. The afternoon was spent in exploring the charming village of Bourton-on-the-Water, where we rang before going on to Winchcombe.

On the first midnight hike we visited another tower, at Broadway (with no bells), at the top of the hill above our camp site, which in daylight commands a view of 13 counties. In the morning we visited Childswyckham, where we rang, and in the afternoon after walking across fields we came to Buckland, where our ringing had to be cut short. In the evening we revisited Broadway tower and rang on handbells handbells.

On Sunday we rang for the service at Badsey and then went on to ring at the old church at Broadway, which was beautifully decorated for a flower festival. The afternoon was spent at Evesham and later we rang on the beautiful 12.

We moved to a new camp site on Monday at Henley-on-Thames and attended a ringing practice at High Wycombe.

CLAPPER FELL OUT

On Tuesday we rang at Henley where, during the raise, the clapper fell out of the sixth! Nevertheless, a touch of Bob Minor was rung with the tenor covering, and we went on to Checkendon (a pleasant eight). In the afternoon we rang at Brightwell Baldwin and on to Watlington, where we took turns to ring the difficult tenor.

Our midnight hike was somewhat shorter, for it was after the 21st birthday celebrations of one of our company. We visited two towers on Wednesday—Wooburn and Cookham—and then went rowing on the Thames, which is far harder work than ringing! Our last hike took place that night, the tour ending the following day.

Our thanks to Eleanor and Martin (who arranged the tour), to Roz, Peter, Phil and Ferret, who provided the transport, and to the incumbents, many of whom personally welcomed us.

GOLDEN WEDDING

MR. and MRS. ARTHUR R. TUDBALL Tuesday, August 11, 1970, marked the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tudball, Dunster, Som. Arthur has been a member of the Dunster band for 55 years, for many of which he was tower captain. He was secretary for a number of years of the Dunster Deanery Branch and he is a life member of the Bath and Wells Association, and has always shown infinite patience in instructing learners. Not a prolific peal ringer, he would probably be proudest of the peal of Stedman Triples at Dunster in 1950 by an entirely local band. He is of the second generation of a family of ringers at Dunster and the tradition is now carried on by a third and fourth.

Outside of ringing Arthur is a skilled sign-writer and peal boards decorating a number of local towers are evidence of this. He has been secretary of the local court of the Ancient Order of Foresters for many years and has served the parish church in numerous ways.

Mrs. Tudball does not ring but has served the village community in more ways than could be listed. Any local function has seen her giving assistance in some way or another

Mr. and Mrs. Tudball are the type who make the backbone for village life. They have always given generously of their time and energy. Long may they continue to grace the village with their presence.

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Ringing World for August 24, 1945.

The Dean of St. Albans banned a civic service and victory peals at the Abbey as a sign of disapproval of the use of the atomic bomb.

A long letter was printed from Alan R. Pink on the ringing position—towers, ringers, etc.—in Australia.

Mr. Ernest Morris wrote about the splitting up of the Midland Counties Associa-tion and of the future membership of the paid-up members.

Edwin Barnett, at Crayford, Kent, rang the second to Stedman Triples, his 500th peal.

Four first peals were scored (Grandsire Triples) at Dunster by Nolan Dibble, George Maidment, John Tudball and Ernest Payne, whilst Arthur Tudball rang his first inside.

The leading article wrote about the six long years of war which ceased this weekof the problems of the future, but also of the strength and interest in the Exercise.

Two peals of Double Norwich by the same band—on the same day—one at Brenchley, Kent, and the other at Marden, Kent.

John R. Mayne rang his first peal (Cambridge Major) on the 2nd at Ufford. Suffolk.

At Grayshott, Hants, Harold A. May and Raymond A. Clist both rang their first peal of Major, whilst at Burnham, Bucks, Ronald C. Noon rang his first peal of Triples.

50 YEARS AGO August 27, 1920.

Encouraging young conductors was the editorial comment which criticised the attitude adopted in some towers, where a bob caller in a tower was determined to maintain his position to the exclusion of all others.

Ten handbell peals, nine conducted by A. H. Pulling and one by R. Richardson, were rung during a holiday in Surfleet, Lincs. Six were of Plain Bob and four of Grandsire, and the places included a rowing boat on the river, the fuselage of an aircraft, a cornfield, a bulb shed and a cricket field. (Walter Eyre rang in eight of the peals.)

A peal of Stedman Triples at Erdington was rung to celebrate the 21st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. Preston.

Grandsire Triples at Hillingdon was conducted by William Welling after meeting short for Stedman.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston had the work in hand for recasting the 13 bells at London's Royal Exchange.

Under a heading "Three Peals in 190 Years," a report stated that at Ellesmere, Salop, a peal in 1730 contained a ringer named Langford, whilst in 1894 R. D. Langford, sen., rang, the conductor being R. T. Holding. Again, in 1920, R. D. Langford, jun., took part with R. T. Holding also ringing.

At Hemingbrough, Selby, Yorks, a board was unveiled recording all the peals rung on the bells—six peals in all. A local ringer, Mr. William A. Hudson, carried out the work and presented it.

Hoylandswaine, Yorks, where Barnsley Association held a meeting is near, yet seemed to escape the dust and smoke of the mines which surround Barnsley.

St. Martin,
Stamford Baron,

St. Martin, Stamford Baron, Northants

ST. MARTIN was born about A.D. 315 in Sabaria in the Province of Pannonia in the Roman Empire, now the village of Szombat

At the age of 18 he enlisted in the Roman Army and, like his father, soon rose to officer rank and was then issued with a magnificent white cloak, part sheepskin, worn over close-fitting armour, as his uniform.

While still a young officer he was posted at Amiens on garrison duty, and one bitterly freezing winter's day he took compassion upon the cries of a poor beggar, shivering with cold, who arrived at the gate where he was on guard. He cut his cloak in half with his sword and gave one half to the beggar.

That night the Lord Jesus Christ appeared to him in a vision and said: "Know ye who hath arrayed Me? My servant, Martin, though not yet baptised, hath done this."

Soon after this Martin was baptised, and later on at the age of 40 resigned the Army and entered the ministry. In 371 he was consecrated Bishop of Tours and lived to govern his diocese for nearly 30 years. He died at the age of 82. It is, therefore, very fitting that so many English churches are dedicated to the memory of this soldier saint.

The original Church of St. Martin, Stamford, was built between the years 1133 and 1147 by Martin de Vecti and was destroyed in 1461.

The present building was built between 1480 and 1484 during the episcopate of John Russel, Bishop of Lincoln, St. Martin's then being in the Diocese of Lincoln.

The church comprises a fine western tower, exterior walls with embattled parapets, a nave with clerestories and north and south aisles prolonged to flank the tower (with vestries for clergy and choir formed by modern screens). A spiral staircase leads from the choir vestry to the ringing and bell chambers, where hangs the ring of six bells with a tenor of 14 cwt. 10 lb., cast by C. and G. Mears (London) in 1850; they were tuned and rehung in the old oak frame by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1928.

Several peals have been rung here, the first in 1897 by the St. Martin's Scholars, conducted by Rev. H. Law James, who was curate at the church at that time.

On April 28, 1951, the Marquess and Marchioness of Exeter sat for over an hour and listened to a peal being rung by the local band to commemorate their golden wedding anniversary. It was conducted by John H. Bluff, who later framed a record of this and it stood on a table in the main entrance to Burghley House until the Marquess died in 1956. It now hangs in the belfry of St, Martin's.

The font is possibly from the original church. The panels of the octagonal bowl are carved with window tracery design of the early 14th century.

Passing down the centre aisle we see on the north side of the chancel the Burghley Chapel, where the magnificent monument to Sir William Cecil, Lord Burghley, K.G., Lord High Treasurer of England, stands. It is richly carved and painted and Lord Burghley is shown in his armour with a mantle bearing on the left shoulder the badge of the Order of the Garter, his head on a pillow of gold brocade, his wand of office in his right hand and a lion at his feet.

On the east wall is a memorial tablet showing the family crest of William Thomas Brownlow, 5th Marquess of Exeter, K.G. (who died in 1956), over which hangs his banner as a Knight of the Garter. During his lifetime it hung over his stall in St. George's Chapel, Windsor. The chapel is still used by the present Marquess and Marchioness of Exeter.

On the south wall of the south aisle is a memorial to Henry Fryer, of St. Martin's, Stamford Baron, who died in 1823 aged 61 years; having through life been a friend to the poor, he finally devoted to their use the bulk of his estate. He was the founder and benefactor of the Stamford and Rutland Hospital, which was opened on August 5, 1828.

The present parish of St. Martin, Stamford Baron, includes also St. Martin's Without and Wothorpe and covers about 1,700 acres Stamford Baron has had an entirely separate history from the town of Stamford itself, being outside the town walls. The church was transferred to the newly-formed Diocese of Peterborough in 1541.

Before we leave all the dignity of St. Martin's mention must be made of Daniel Lambert, a native of Leicester, who died in Stamford on June 21, 1809, aged 39 years.

He was a great figure indeed, but hardly dignified. In the separate churchyard south east of the church is a monument erected as a testimony of respect by his friends in Leicester: it records that he was possessed of an exalted and convivial mind and in personal greatness had no competitor. He measured 3 ft. 1 in. round the leg, 9 ft. 4 in. round the body, he was 5 ft. 11 in. in height and weighed 52 stone 11 lb. A painting of the man hangs in the George Hotel, Stamford.

Visitors to Stamford will enjoy seeing the architectural features of this Church of St. Martin and the other churches in the small country town and to read some of the historical associations connected with it.

The Gloucester and Bristol Association
Exhibitions

Recently the Gloucester Diocese held an exhibition in and around the Cathedral, mainly with the purpose of keeping young people who had been confirmed during the last three years interested in the activities of the Church and other bodies which cater for young people. The association were asked if they wished to participate, and readily agreed to put on an exhibit to let these young people know something about our Exercise.

As this was a young people's show the job of assembling and setting up the exhibit was left to the younger members of Barnwood, Mitcheldean and St. Mary de Lode, Gloucester, material was supplied from association property and from the hon. secretary's private collection, and a model bell from Sandhurst. Permission was obtained to use tape recordings of bells and to sell the Central Council Handbook for Beginners (and a number were sold). Forms were also available for those interested in "having a go" to fill in, and these have been sent to the nearest tower with bells for action. We may have obtained a few recruits in this way.

Within a short time we learned that the village of Great Witcombe was having an open week-end to raise money for the church roof. There was to be ringing, alternating with organ recitals, every half-hour all day Saturday, and on Sunday until Evensong. David Pobjoy organised this, and at least 70 different ringers from neighbouring towers, besides the local band, took part. We asked permission to put a few posters at the back of the church, and finished up with a large exhibition in a garage, which was visited by at least 500 people over the Friday, Saturday and Sunday. And we sold a number of handbooks and obtained names of several who want to learn more.

Both exhibits were basically the same—books, photographs, copies of The Ringing World, model bells and posters setting out why and how we ring. There can be no doubt about the good which all this has done, and many asked if we could do something to get their bells ringing again. One lady was disappointed — she had never heard the bells of her church, and it turned out this was because the church had no hells!

Visitors came from places as far apart as Cornwall and Northumberland, from the East Coast and from Wales. Other associations might well make up an exhibit for use in local church events—ours is going to Coalpit Heath later this year. The exhibition at Witcombe was manned during the whole of the time by the hon. secretary, his wife and the association chairman, whilst at the Cathedral the young members who set it up had a rota, several being present for the times of opening. IN RUTLAND AND NORTHANTS

Early in July the members of the London County Association left South Kensington for Rutland and Northamptonshire. The day started off rainy but by the time coffee was taken at Stamford the weather had improved and it remained hot and sunny.

At the first tower, Oakham, the eight bells were rung, while a few were able to take a quick look at the nearby "Horseshoe Hall." It was a short ride to Somerby, to a reunion with the Stimpsons, who, with a few helpers, had prepared a magnificent lunch in the village hall—all home-cooking and Stilton cheeses. With great difficulty the coach load was persuaded to move on to the ten at Melton Mowbray, and then to Kettering, where the stallholders in the market square had already heard sufficient ringing for the day with a wedding earlier in the afternoon. After tea at Bedford we rang the ten at St. Paul's, where some of the best ringing of the day included Yorkshire Surprise Royal.

Our thanks to the organiser, Frank Udall, the incumbents and tower captains of the churches visited, and the ladies who prepared the mammoth spread for a 50-seater coach party.

WESSEX PEAL WEEK

This year the Wessex ringers donned warm clothes and went north to Nottingham (Midlands, some tell us, but North for us). We were truly a band of Wessex ringers with members from Devon, Somerset, Dorset and Hampshire, and we decided to ring the peals for the guild to which all belonged—Salisbury.

On July 26 we assembled in Nottingham and rang for Evensong at St. Peter's. The first peal attempt was at Radcliffe-on-Trent, where Lincolnshire was scored, and Chris Longridge was congratulated on his first of Surprise Major. The afternoon attempt was at Bottesford, where Bill Perrins was to call London. The first course was so good that when three listeners who had headed for Grantham for afternoon tea, returned, to hear the last hour or so's ringing, they were dismayed to find that the clapper of the third had fallen out during the second course! Three of the party made up the loss with a peal of Bob Minor in hand.

Early on Tuesday we arrived at Bulwell for a peal of Rutland, which was duly scored, David Massey confidently conducting. A hasty snack and on to Ruddington, where Tim called a John Longridge composition to Yorkshire. Another hasty snack and off to Nottingham (St. Peter's) for Bob Dennis to call Cambridge Maximus. Everyone was tired and hungry, especially Graham Elmes, who had rung in all three peals.

COMPLETED THE FAMILY

On Wednesday we rang a very good peal of nine-spliced at Eastwood, which Richard Youdale called from the treble. In the afternoon we continued last year's success by scoring a peal of Stedman Triples at Greasley, which Bob Dennis called from the tenor. Mary Elmes was delighted to ring her first of Triples in the method, so completing the family. We stayed at a very good hotel near Lincoln and were all fit by the morning and ready for the big job of the week—Louth. Ron Marlow rang the tenor magnificently to Cambridge Major; a very good peal was scored and a triumphant card sent to A. P. C. We then made our way to Lincoln, where Richard Inglis called a peal of Stedman Cinques.

Next morning Tim Collins proved that he could push a tenor as well as the best of them by bringing round four-spliced on the 18 cwt. eight at St. Giles', Lincoln, in under three hours. Katharine Maundrell called a peal of Superlative at Sutton-on-Trent, very appropriate in this well-known ladies' tower. The Misses Burchnall kindly provided tea for the party of 13 hungry West Countrymen (no mean feat) and later we were treated to a wine and cheese party by Richard Inglis.

THE LAST DAY

Too soon it was the last day of the Peal Week, and with 100 per cent. success (apart from the attempt at Bottesford, a failure which was not our fault) we were determined to finish well. The party divided to ring a fast peal of nine-spliced at Balderton and a more sedate but physically harder peal of Yorkshire at Colston Basset. Alas, in the afternoon we spoiled our record, for the attempt for Cambridge Royal at Nottingham (St. Mary's) drifted into a spell of very rough ringing during the second course and was set up. This was a disappointment, but everyone was tired, and the one advantage was that it enabled most of the party to make an early start for home.

The success of the Week has proved that West Countrymen are not so much in the backwoods as once was thought. Thanks are due to Bill Perrins and Richard Inglis for the organisation, to John Blackwood for his good offices in arranging Louth and to all incumbents and ringers, without whose support we should have had no tour.

KENT RINGERS INVADE N. WALES

The second tour organised by members of the Ashford District got under way at 3 a.m. on Sunday, July 26, when six of the thirteen staggered into the minibus at Rolvenden. By the time we reached Charing, at 4.15 a.m., we were all aboard and amazingly alert for that unearthly hour of the morning.

After a watery breakfast (rain accompanied our journey with a vengeance) and a ring at Chippenham, Wiltshire, we soon arrived in Wales and erected the three tents at Cwmdu in Breconshire.

From this base we set out every morning to travel about 150 miles to visit five towers each day, returning in the evening to relax gratefully in the Farmers Arms!

David and Jenny Manger joined us for Monday and Tuesday nights, cramping our style in the tents and being a great help with the ten- and twelve-bell rings on Tuesday.

Altogether, 24 towers were visited, including the heaviest ring in Wales (Pentre Rhondda) and the one twelve (Newport Cathedral). The ringing achieved quite a high standard, with many Surprise methods being rung.

Non-ringing activities included a climb to the top of a mountain (which was higher than expected!), a visit to a waterfall (which one unfortunate decided to sit in!), much sight-seeing (with great admiration for the fantastic views) and a sing-song in the local (which established our arrival).

Apart from the minibus getting over-

Apart from the minibus getting overheated and having to be pushed over the brow of a particular beacon, and the day we had mushroms for breakfast, the tour was a great success, and our thanks go to our organiser of the tour and the two who did the "pedalling." Our thanks, too, to the incumbents and local ringers of the towers we visited for their co-operation and, most of all—thank you, Wales!

MAD MEN OF KENT (AND MAIDENS).

WATERWHEEL II

Following the enormous success of Waterwheel '69, 27 members of S.U.G.C.R. once again took to the canals this year aboard "Greylag" and "Grebe," the latter a heroine from Waterwheel '69. However, it soon became apparent that she had recognised her crew, for she showed her disapproval by overheating at regular intervals for the whole of the week!

During the 160-mile journey the band enjoyed ringing at 14 Midland towers.

The trend of weather for the week was set on arrival at the unique double-towered St. Mary's, Rugby, by a torrential thunder/ hail storm. Undaunted, most of the group managed to reach the wharf on time to set off for Norton, the stopping-place for the night, negotiating Braunston locks and tunnel en route.

Most of Sunday was taken up by canalling; the navigation of Foxton and Watford locks and Crick and Husbands Bosworth tunnels, the latter reputedly haunted. "Grebe's" courtesy in allowing "Greylag" to overtake just before Crick tunnel was explained when "Grebe" stopped in midtunnel to allow some of her crew to ring a quarter on the handbells. Foxton tower was visited the same evening.

An early start on Monday morning brought the band to the pleasant eight at Market Harborough by 9 a.m.

Progress to Leicester was difficult. seemed strange that there was a distinct lack of water at the lower level, whilst the summit level was nearly overflowing. Efforts to rectify this were foiled by a British Waterways official determined to defy the Law of Gravity!

Having enjoyed the glorious ring of 12 at St. Margaret's, Leicester (which, incidentally, has an unusual ringers' window), brisk progress was made downstream the Soar to All Saints', Loughborough. Unfortunately, with half the band stranded on board a rather sick "Grebe" outside Loughborough, the remainder were not able to do justice to these fine bells.

Thence to the Taylor foundry, where the campanile bells were rung before most of the band were fortunate enough to be taken on a tour of the foundry.

Owing to the fact that by now "Grebe" had become extremely temperamental as regards movement, an incredibly early start was necessary to arrive punctually at the Burton-on-Trent towers. Even so, some members of the band found a swift walk across the by-pass the only way to arrive on time at Horningblow to ring on the steel bells. All credit is due to the local band who have brought these back into use; they are quite an experience to ring-and listen to! Having visited the three excellent rings at St. Paul's (10), St. Modwen's (8) and All Saints' (6), a sampling of the local hostelry in this brewery town nearly met with disaster when a (female) member of the party requested Newcastle brown ale!

Alrewas was the next port of call and ringing in a variety of methods was enjoyed on the pleasant light eight. The heavy five at Mancetter provided a marked, and exhausting, contrast.

To reach the final tower, at Shilton (a beautiful six), the crew of the obstreperous "Grebe" were forced to "abandon ship" and hitch-hike.

With the two boats supposedly securely moored ("Greylag" later, under dubious

THE 150th CHURCH

The following report appeared in The West Briton on August 3rd, 1970:— St. Clement Parish Church became the 150th church in Cornwall with five or more bells when, on August 2, the Bishop of Truro, the Rt. Rev. J. M. Key, dedicated the two new bells to augment the former ring to six.

The new treble bell is dedicated to the memory of Miss Violet Lash, sister of the vicar of St. Clement, Bishop W. Q. Lash. Miss Lash was an enthusiastic supporter of the bell fund which was begun some 18 months ago.

Now the money required has been raised. and during the Sung Eucharist the six bells rang cut for the first time at Sunday wor-

WALK REALISES OVER £300

The young band of ringers at St. Clement, supported by the vicar and church council, organised a series of fund-raising activities, the most successful being a sponsored walk, which raised over £300.

A bell once at the ruined Merther Church was also used by the bellfounders, and this offset the cost by about £100.

After the service Mr. Alan Carveth, president of the Truro Diocesan Guild of Ringers and a member of the Bell Fund Committee, gave a talk on the advantages of six bells. He welcomed St. Clement tower as the 150th in Cornwall to have five or more bells.

At Evensong visiting bellringers, including some from Wales and Somerset, rang before and after the service, and the preacher was the Rev. A. R. W. Gray, rector of Merther, just across the river from St. Clement.

The new bells bear the following inscrip-First bell: Remembering "Rabbuni." The second tions: Lash. The second hell: "Come, Lord Jesus." Both bells bear the names: W. Q. Lash, vicar, and A. G. INVITATION TO RUISLIP RINGERS

The summer meeting of the South and West District on August 1 at Cranford and Heston made for a pleasant afternoon and evening-good weather, a good attendance of members and visitors, a good variety of ringing at both towers, and an excellent tea prepared by the Heston band.

The agenda for the business meeting was not long and was soon disposed of report on the local bands at certain towers, there was good news of progress at Hayes and Stanwell, but it was disappointing to learn that regular ringing at Feltham has ceased. One new member was elected-Mr. Andrew Perryman (Stanwell). Mrs. Elsie Savory invited all to a social evening to be held at Ruislip Church Hall on October 3 in aid of the (very necessary) rehanging of Ruislip bells, and the association master (Mr. T. J. Lock) spoke of the centenary of the birth of William Pye, a past master of the association.

IN NORTH WALES

Mr. Les Wright again organised a very successful tour of North Wales, when several ringers from Rougham tower were joined by others from Beccles, Diss, Ipswich, Elveden, Horringer, Pulham Market, South Lopham and Thetford, and by friends. The first stop was Lutterworth for lunch and the first belfry visited Llangollen. Mr. Nefound met the ringers and several Major methods were rung. The party then travelled to the Hall of Residence, Nouad Emerys Evans, Bangor, University. Saturday was a lovely day and the party went by the coast route to St. Mary's, Rhuddlan, ringing the six bells there. then went to Ruthin and were joined by Mr. Millward and two other ringers from Buckley tower, who assisted us on our way and joined in the ringing. After lunch Mr. Millward piloted us to St. Mary's, Mold, when the six were rung. Here, too, John Otley was successful in gaining access to the organ, and whilst the bells were heard from without the organ was enjoyed within.

At the next belfry, St. Cynfarch, Hope, Miss Margaret Price met the ringers, and following tea at Wrexham all ringers were taken to St. Giles', Wrexham, to ring in the only 10-bell tower of the tour. The best tower of the day was St. Matthew's, Buck-ley, and we were surprised to see a Norfolk ringer, Ernie Mastin, awaiting us. He had been ringing there that afternoon on a university tour.

The last visit that day was to St. Deinol, Hawarden, where Gladstone's tomb and memorial garden are situated. Mr. Ames met the ringers and Nouad Emrys Evans Hall was reached very late that night.

On Sunday the party attended service at St. David's, Bangor, and afterwards climbed the steps and rang Major methods. Later they visited Snowdon, some making the train trip to the top.

Monday we travelled via the coast road, first stopping at a church without bells at Bodelwyddan, noted for the marble work and rich carvings, which was well worth while. The only belfry this day was St. Mary's, Flint. After lunch we stopped for some time at Llandudno and returned to Bangor early that evening for an enjoyable social evening.

Next morning the party expressed thanks to Les Wright for his organisation and he was presented with an electric drill.

We made a pleasant homeward journey, stopping at Wellington for lunch and Newport Pagnell for tea. Most of the party are looking forward to another tour in 1971.

WILLIAM PYE IN CORNWALL By CANON A. S. ROBERTS

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd's interesting article on William Pye and the reference to his last peal at Heavitree in September, 1934, at once reminded me that this was rung on his way home after a tour in Cornwall, which was a memorable one for members of the Truro Guild for several reasons. William Pye had first come to Cornwall in 1913 on a tour which must have brought several disappointments to the band. Illness near Kenwyn Church prevented a peal attempt there and the time was spent "seeing the sights of Truro" (Ringing World report) until 8.15 p.m., when "we were allowed to sample the Cathedral bells with a few touches." A peal was not permitted. Compensation for these disappointments was a second peal at Kea the next morning, starting soon after 6 a.m. so that the band could get to St. Andrew's, Plymouth, for a later attempt and yet another disappointment as the clapper dropped out of the 9th. Five peals had been rung in Cornwall, but these were credited to the Devon Guild, the methods being Cambridge, Superlative, Bristol and London. In this party was A. W. Brighton (referred to by Mr. Shepherd), whose business many years later used to bring him to Cornwall most summers. His enthusiasm and help was always a tremendous encouragement. This little man was amongst the cleverest of ringers and one can well imagine why William Pve included him in his peal bands. He had many stories to tell of their activities together both on tower- and handbells as well as of his early days in Norwich, where he had learned to ring with J. Armiger Trollope. Although being such a great ringer he was at home with the HIS LAST TOUR humblest.

William Pye revisited Cornwall on a tour in 1934, which proved to be his last. It was a pleasure to help with the arrangements on behalf of Charles T. Coles, who was the correspondent. General excitement prevailed in Truro, for touring bands came so infrequently some 30 to 40 years ago, in fact the previous tour in Cornwall was eight years earlier, in 1926, when George R. Pye was one of William H. Fussell's band, and he came again with his brother William. The 1934 tour began at Yeovil on Saturday, September 15, with a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal—the first of Surprise Royal for the Truro Guild. The first peal in Cornwall was at Ladock the next afternoon, Sunday. I cycled out next afternoon, Sunday. I cycled out from Truro to greet the band and to listen to Bristol. Later we were joined by our visitors at the Cathedral for our Sunday evening ringing. Thus it was the tour began and during the week ten peals were rung as well as help given at local practices, but the highlight of this was when four of the Truro band rang their first peal of Stedman Triples at Kea with C. T. Coles, G. R. Pye, Gabriel Lindoff and R. T. Hibbert. This peal and that at St. Mary's, Penzance, were the only two in which William Pye did not ring. He conducted Cambridge Royal at Truro from the tenor, this being his last ten-bell peal and on a bell he had waited 21 years to conquer. On the Saturday morning he conducted London from the tenor at St. Stephen-in-Brannel, where a tablet records this (his last as conductor, I believe) to go on and ring another, his last, at Heavitree later in the day. It was in Cornwall that the last big programme in a great career was achieved.

Peterborough Diocesan Guild. IN LONDON

A party of ringers from the Peterborough Guild and their friends went on a day's outing to London on August 15, when the day's events started with a visit to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. We spent a very enjoyable morning with Mr. William Hughes, who showed us every aspect of bell founding from mediæval times right up to the present day. After lunch we visited St. Michael's, Cornhill, to ring on the fine 12 (tenor 42 cwt.), where we managed some quite good ringing despite the weight. The next tower was St. Olave's, Hart Street, and everybody enjoyed the easy-going bells. Following tea we went to St. Clement Danes' in the Strand, where the best ringing of the day took place on the fine ring of ten. The final tower was St. Luke's, Chelsea, where we were met by Mr. John Lott. The bells are a pleasant ring of ten and the youngsters managed them very well.

Our sincere thanks to all tower captains and incumbents for helping us have such an enjoyable day.

A RINGER PARSON IN BOTSWANA

From a founder member of the Roving Ringers, Rev. Alan Butler (of Bourne-mouth), we learn that at an open-air service the bell for his church, Holy Trinity, Gaborones, Botswana, was dedicated. The service was conducted in two languages and was a thanksgiving for the completion and was a trainsgiving for the completion of the church. The bell was cast by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry and was inscribed: "TLAUG; TLAUG; TLAUG" (Come! come! come!). Fr. Butler is returning to England in September.

SET STANDARD

It is a matter of much interest that 21 years after William Pye's first tour of Cornwall the methods rung, apart from the Stedman Triples, were again the same—Cambridge, Superlative, Bristol and London, which points in part to the set standard which prevailed up to the last war at least. These men really knew the methods they were to ring with profitable and convincing results. It is interesting, too, that not one peal was more than seven minutes under three hours, whilst at Lanivet (13 cwt.) 5088 Bristol took 3 hours and 12 minutes, Middleton's Cambridge at Penzance 3 hours and 25 minutes, and the Stedman at Kea (12½ cwt.) 3 hours and 12 minutes. This slower and very dignified ringing had its appeal and is perhaps why we remember with gratitude these men of old and what they contributed to the Exercise. When, later, I was a curate at Edmonton, Charles Coles, who was secretary of the Middlesex Association, often talked to me of William Pye and their last tour to-gether in Cornwall. He more than once expressed amazement that he had gone through the tour ringing no less than six tenors (including Truro) when there was ample evidence that he was far from well, and despite this the placing of his bell and the anticipation of a possible mistake was almost "uncanny." The genial and sociable Charles T. Coles, who had organised so many peals and tours for William Pye, passed on very suddenly in 1946. After the war there emerged a new era but many still retain memories of men we knew and what they achieved in so fine a fashion, and not the least amongst them, William Pye.

FIFTY-TWO YEARS OF SERVICE

Learning to handle bells at the age of 13 (in 1918) was Leslie Thomas Stacey, of Northfleet, Kent, and he was sufficiently accomplished to be able to stand in the victory celebrations at the end of that year.

Today, 52 years later, Mr. Stacey is still ringing the bells at Northfleet and hopes to do so for many years yet, particularly if restoration and augmentation are carried out. Although not a prolific peal ringer, he hopes to be in the first quarter peal attempt after that event.

Leslie rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, in 1923 and has rung but five since, but his record of quarters is innumerable. 'A quarter is quite long enough," he said, "and it doesn't worry me-or the neighbours. I don't travel around much either," he added, "but I look after my own tower and have served a period as captain.

A member of the Kent County Association, Mr. Stacey enjoys the meetings of the Rochester District, particularly when in Northfleet tower. He is now retired from his job as a fitter's mate, is a widower, having lost his wife last year, and has no family. His cheery, homely smile, however, was a welcome in itself to the many visitors who recently visted his beloved tower.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Dear Sir.-In response to a suggestion in the article on page 624 of the R.W. that I should enlarge on the pioneering work of Miss Lumley in connection with lady members, with your agreement I am submitting the following:-

As an old member, I was interested to read the story of this society, and whilst I am pleased to add to the comments already made regarding Miss Lumley's ringing activities, I must confess that memories become rather dim 50 years after the date—to me at any rate.

Miss Lumley came down from Middle-ham, North Yorkshire, to take up a position in Leeds. The Moorhouses were introduced to her by a mutual ringing friend. Mr. Sherwood, who for a few years rang at St. Michael's, Headingley. She was already a tower bell ringer but expressed a desire to learn handbell ringing. As she was needing somewhere to live, my father seized the opportunity to have four handbell ringers under one roof by offering her accommodation with us.

She was a lady of great determination and quickly picked up the art and rang her first peal of Bob Major on January 9. 1919, which was only the second peal rung by my brother, Malcolm, and me.

Her progress can be judged by the fact that by May 11, 1919, along with the three Moorhouses, she rang the tenor to a nonconducted peal of Kent Treble Bob Major. Incidentally, the time taken was 1 hour Following further peals of Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford, Major and Royal (one of which was with the late Mrs. Fletcher, then Miss Edith Parker), she conducted a peal of Double Norwich from 7-8-as already mentioned—on the eve of my brother Mal-colm's 15th birthday (he rang 1-2).

I feel, however, that a better performance than this was the peal of Stedman Triples, in 2 hours I minute, in which she rang 3-4.

Altogether I rang 15 handbell peals with Olive Lumley, but my only other particular recollection of peal ringing with her took place at the home of Rupert Richardson, Surfleet, in 1920 when, along with Alfred Pulling, Kathleen Jutson and the two Moorhouse brothers, she rang 1-2 to a peal of Stedman Caters, J. W. Moorhouse acting as umpire. By modern standards this would be considered rather slow, taking 2 hours and 44 minutes.

In between practice and peal ringing Miss Lumley also rang with us on a number of occasions at local concerts.

Work and weddings broke up the quartet, Miss Lumley marrying Jimmy Cotterell, a well-known member of the Yorkshire Association. I cannot recall how long they were married but some time after her husband's death Mrs. Cotterell became Mrs. Clement Glenn. Some years ago she died from a brain tumour whilst living at Bramhope. Leeds.—Yours faithfully,

GERALD MOORHOUSE.

WILLIAM PYE CENTENARY

Dear Sir, - Little Heath Church, where Bill Pye learnt to ring, was demolished to make way for the "Eastern Avenue" from London to Southend. Just over a mile away at the western end of this road stands St. George's, Barkingside, built at about the time the road was made.

For the centenary of Bill's birth a quarter peal of London S. Major was rung on the bells—an appropriate method for, I understand, it was one of his favourites. It is also appropriate that the church is the nearest to his birthplace with a ring of bells and that our vicar (who built the church), when he was a curate at Romford, knew Bill Pye.

I do not know if Bill ever rang on our four bells (the back four were hung after his death) but perhaps one of our readers could enlighten me.—Yours faithfully,

D. ELLISDON.

AN AMENDMENT

Dear Sir,—In R.W. No. 3094, Aug. 14, 1970, you were kind enough to publish two compositions of Plain Bob Royal submitted by myself. Anyone who has given the 5220 more than a cursory glance will no doubt be confused by the blocks of 5 Home and of 5 Middle.

I should have explained in the accompanying letter that all blocks of five calls were to be called BBSBB, and I offer my sincerest apologies both to you and to anyone who may have been inconvenienced by this omission.—Yours faithfully,

S. NICHOLAS HARROP.

BELLS A NUISANCE?

Dear Sir,—I was very interested in your item headed "Bells a Nuisance?" in The Ringing World for August 21, referring to recent correspondence in The Leicester Mercury. As I was directly concerned with this I feel that you would like to know the full story.

The correspondence started with a letter from a newcomer to the village of Oadby (Peter H. Smith), who complained about the bells of Oadby, even when ringing for normal Sunday service. He referred to ringers as being "selfish," "anti-social" and 'pharisaical"

I felt bound to reply to this, which I did, and my letter was followed by another from a lady resident of Oadby; she praised the bells and said she "counted herself lucky to live in a village which still retained a fine set of bells." Her reference to a "set" of bells indicates that she is not herself a ringer.

This was then followed by the letter from "Pancake Bell," which you reproduced in full. I regard this letter as a regrettable piece of sarcastic mud-slinging, the more so because it comes from someone with a good inside knowledge of the Exercise.

In subsequent conversation with fellow ringers (not at Rothley) I said that I would be willing to reply but felt that someone better known and more competent than myself should now do so (I am only a modest 6-bell ringer). We agreed to leave the matter as it was and to see what happened. But so far no one else has replied.

My letter was intended as both a defence of the Exercise and to provide some enlightenment to the non-ringing public who. as we all know, are deplorably ignorant regarding the planting.—Yours faithfully,
J. H. DURANCE. regarding the practice and purpose of ring-

NOT AT BEDDINGTON

Dear Sir,—Once again we are informed in the R.W. that the first peal of Spliced Surprise Royal was rung at Beddington in 1936. This is not correct. Let us give credit where it is due.

The first ever rung was at the Church of St. Magnus the Martyr, London Bridge, on July 25, 1931, by the Middlesex County Association. The peal comprised 2240 Yorkshire, 560 Pudsey and 2240 Cambridge. It was composed and Pye.—Yours faithfully, JOHN G. NASH. It was composed and conducted by William

HISTORIC OLNEY

Dear Sir,—Whilst we still enjoy the right to free speech and (dare I say?) a free Press, it does not require a person to live in a town or village to write about it.

There must be many readers of The Ringing World who have at some time or other rung at Olney-a small market town inside the north-east borders of Bucking-Olney is not only historic for hamshire. its very wide main street with stone houses, but its associations with the poet and hymn writer William Cowper (1731-1800) and John Newton, that other hymn writer (1725-1807) give it an interesting history.

The Cowper and Newton Museum, in the small market place (where Cowper once resided), is a large house to which an entrance fee is charged to go around and see its contents.

Nearby is the glorious large parish church of SS. Peter and Paul, where the vicar (Canon Ronald Collins) is at this moment appealing for £12,000, mainly for restoration of the steeple, which houses a lovely-toned ring of eight bells (tenor 25 cwt.) Before 1893 Olney had six bells, two trebles then being added. All were put on ball bearings by Mears and Stainbank in 1931, when the Rev. L. E. Gee was

Not only is the church a well-loved place, but its surroundings, with the wide River Ouse close by, make it a beauty spot, with picturesque Weston Underwood, Emberton, Clifton Reynes and Ravenstone within easy

Whenever you sing the hymn "God moves in a mysterious way," think of William Cowper, who wrote it. Equally so of John Newton, who wrote "How sweet the name of Jesus sounds" (and a number more). Newton was an ex-slave trader who made friends with William Wilberforce.

Another Olney worthy of whom little is heard was its one-time vicar and writer of church music, Rev. Henry John Gaunt-let, Mus.D. He became organist to his father (of the same Christian names) at the age of nine.

Another event associated with Olney is its annual pancake race every Shrove Tuesday, which dates back many years and is well known everywhere.—Yours faithfully, P. AMOS.

Four juniors from St. Michael's, Mottramin-Longdendale, Cheshire, are in search of a ringing master. Since the master married and moved away the four are only permitted to ring one bell (for the services) and have now to join St. Mark's, Bredbury, for ringing practices. There is a good ring of eight at Mottram and the normal practice night is Wednesday. If anyone can help in any way please contact Miss Rachael Loynes at 196 Mottram Road, Stalybridge, Cheshire.

GALAXY OF TOWERS

The July meeting was held on the 4th at Fenny Compton, together with ringing at eight other towers throughout the day. ringing was well attended, showing that this arrangement is very popular with the members. The Rev. S. A. Cyster gave an interesting talk during the service, based on the course of bells during change ringing. Tea was arranged by Mr. Spraggett in the village hall.

The appreciation of the guild to the vicar, organist and Mr. Spraggett for the excellent arrangements, and to all the incumbents for allowing us the use of the bells was expressed by Mr. Stote.

The committee's recommendations on finance were accepted and it was agreed that the balance sheet be modified to include any outstanding commitments, and that the funds be invested.

After considerable discussion on the running of a course in change ringing, it was decided this could be arranged during the winter months to take place one week-end.

The president gave a report on the proceedings at the Central Council meeting at Ilkley, and the secretary announced that the arrangements for the Council meeting at Leamington in 1971 were nearly complete.

The meeting stood in remembrance of Mrs. Olive Vann, and at the close of the meeting the secretary asked for comments to be made on the new service form (used during the day) so that the forms could be printed.

Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m.

CONCERTED EFFORT

At All Saints' Church, Blaby, Messrs. A.
J. Poyner, the conductor (Aylestone), R.
H. Cook (Asfordby), R. A. Clarke and C.
Mobbs (Birstall) and J. E. Harrold (Wigston Magna), members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, rang a sponsored peal of 21 Doubles methods on Saturday, July 25, in aid of the church's Sixth Bell Fund.

The Blaby ringers are very pleased with this effort, which is expected to raise about £30. The idea of a "sponsored peal" sparked off a good deal of enthusiasm in the Leicester Diocese, and many bands have already generously donated. The sponsored peal account is still open for receipt of contributions and donations and therefore the total amount collected is at present unknown.

The Sixth Bell Fund account now stands £560, but the estimated cost of the work is in the region of £2,000! Although this figure appears to be on the high side, the work involves more than the addition of a new treble bell. The existing five bells will have to be completely rehung and a new two-tier frame installed, there being no room at the existing level for a sixth bell. It is also likely that the floor, where the bells are installed, will have to be lowered in the tower.

Leeds University Society. SUMMER TOUR

This year the society decided to go camping again and made their headquarters near Romsey, in Hampshire—a change from Devon, where the two previous tours had been held. The tour started on July 5 at North Stoneham, where Little Bob Royal was scored was spent in the Southampton area, starting at Bishopstoke, and later the party moved on to ring at six other towers, in-cluding St. Mary's, Southampton, and Lyndhurst, where Geoff Cooper (a past president) joined the band.

The Portsmouth area on Tuesday included the Cathedral and four other towers. There was also a visit to Southsea, but the swimming was rather painful because of the stony beach. At Havant the movement of the frame caused some concern but we were assured it was safe to ring. Jon Rose left for home and the night was marked by tremendous thunderstorms, but none of the tents was washed away.

The next day we made for the Win-chester district, and Glasgow was rung at Bishops Waltham. Sparsholt was the "annual five" and good use was also made of the tower's handbells. Pattie Clapham, Liz Campbell and Graham Jones arrived during the ringing, after a very fast journey from Leeds, and later there was ringing at Winchester College.

Thursday was Dorset day, starting at Wimborne Minster. The arrival at Poole was rather belated but the party was given a warm welcome and allowed to extend the visit. In the afternoon Wareham bells were obtained at short notice, and some time was spent on a beach near Bournemouth. Another dash led to Christchurch Priory, and much amusement caused by the unusual noise of the chimes, which whirr and chortle intermittently. At Lymington the local ringers made us very welcome at their practice night.
Friday was a full day, which started well at Romsey Abbey and included all the ringable towers in Salisbury. On the fine eight at Ringwood a touch of ten Spliced Surprise proved more successful than Stedman. This was supposed to end the day's ringing, but an extra ring was enjoyed later in the evening at East Tytherley.

An early start was needed to arrive at Basingstoke for 9.30 a.m. on Saturday. where the party rang on both the eight and the nine, and a touch of 12-spliced was rung at Alton. The party was made welcome at a meeting at Blackmoor before going to ring at Liss. After ringing at Easebourne Priory the party was enter-tained to tea by Mrs. Palmer (mother of Laurie, a society member who was unable to take part in the tour) and the last tower was at East Meon.

The numbers had increased to 18 by the arrival of Jan Buckley, Mick Rollason and Geoff Cooper, and the tour's final tower was Winchester Cathedral for Sunday morning service, arranged specially by Geoff with the Cathedral ringers. After a very enjoyable time the campers separated and some were able to ring at Wells Cathedral in A. P. C. the afternoon.

Editorial

UNFORTUNATE OCCURRENCE—IF TRUE

THE recent letter signed by L. S. Grenfell, who stated he was people's warden at St. Peter's Church, Preston, Brighton, and complaining about three young men who supposedly rang the bells of the church against the express wishes of the vicar, has caused something of a stir in several places.

Following the publication of the letter, the Editor received a phone call at his home (after the caller had twice failed to contact him at his office) from Mr. D. Snośwell, of Bentham Road, Brighton, stating that he had been talking to the Vicar of St. Peter's, who (he said) was furious. There was no such person as Mr. Grenfell on the electoral roll, or a churchwarden of that name. Asked if the facts of the letter were correct Mr. Snoswell said yes, and added that the vicar wanted an apology from the three young men, who came from Croydon area. They were known and if they did not apologise within three weeks the names would be published in the R.W. and the vicar would take legal action. There must be a letter regarding the "Mr. Grenfell" in the next issue, he added.

The Editor asked the caller if this also might not be a hoax, but Mr. Snoswell assured him this was not so,

A letter was despatched to the vicar (when phone calls were unanswered) asking for information. In the meantime a letter arrived from Mr. R. I. Vaughan, of Brighton, in which he confirmed that L. S. Grenfell did not exist but, contrary to Mr. Snoswell's story, said the vicar had readily given permission to the three young ringers who acted correctly in all respects. No damage was caused, nor was there any reason to anticipate any ban on ringing full circle at the church.

The vicar also wrote stating that there was no Mr. Grenfell and confirming Mr. Vaughan's account of what happened. He had given permission, no damage was caused or discourtesy met with at any time, and certainly no legal action was anticipated, The whole affair was most distasteful.

When the Editor received the letter from "L. S. Grenfell" he made copies and sent one to the master of the Sussex County Association and one to the vicar, asking for comments. A similar complaint earlier in the year from another association had been not proven, which caused the Editor to add the words "if true" to the complaint.

It has been suggested that the letter was written, in a fit of pique, by a ringer who objected to the bells of St. Peter's being rung by outsiders. Mr. Snoswell said he met the vicar, but this the vicar denies and said he only phoned him. Perhaps Mr. Snoswell will explain his misconstruction of the facts and why he phoned the Editor about legal action, etc.

Whissendine, we learn is in Rutland, not Leicestershire (see page 637, quarter peals). Leicestershire, we also learn, has been trying to get its hands on Rutland for many years but they haven't managed it yet!

Belfry Gossip

First peal congratulations to Roger W. Pascoe, Marion H. Saker, Angela Edwards, Peter J. Hollis, Margaret J. R. Duke, Penny Moriarty (handbells).

"Living on the 13th floor, we have a panoramic view, extending from St. Paul's to Shoreditch — with Clerkenwell in the middle!" writes Michael Wycherley, having moved house.

We have been asked to state that the photographs in The Ringing Isle article were taken from the television screen whilst the programme was being shown—hence their rather poor reproduction quality. They were, of course, R.W. photos.

Over the past 14 years John Brain and Michael Horseman have rung many times together in North Somerset, and on July 27 at Compton Martin they rang their 150th quarter in each other's company. They have also rung in seven peals together—which indicates a preference for the former activity.

Miss Sally McCune, a ringer at St. Nicholas, Carrickfergus, for the past four years, was married at this church on July 8. The bellringers presented her with a canteen of cutlery. Carrickfergus has a ring of eight in a detached bell tower.

"Should there be a lengthy period before you receive this letter it will be due to the present state of the Canadian postal system, which is in a worse than usual state of chaos due to a series of rotating strikes and lock-outs," writes John Owen, of Hamilton, Ontario. (It took just seven days.—Editor.)

Touring Ireland.—According to the Irish Bell News, two parties are touring Ireland during August. Mr. David Smith, of Horsham, will tour both North and South from August 16 to 29, and Mr. Richard Youdale, of Winchester, will be in Northern Ireland from August 29 to September 4.

Miss Helen Hubert, whose home is at Jacob's Wells, Guildford, has passed her final medical examination with distinction at Dublin. The Irish Bell News reports that Dr. Hubert will be in Ireland for a while longer as she has taken up residence in a Dublin hospital. During her long training in Dublin Helen has been one of the main props of Dublin University Guild. Her visits to Guildford belfries when on vacation are always much appreciated.

Personal Records. — Timothy F. Collins (200 peals), Ronald Ducker (200), Ruth E. Halford (25), John S. Croft (25), Barry J. Fry (25), Edward W. Colley (300), Edgar R. Rapley (650), Richard Birch (25), Colin J. E. Wyld (50), David Phillipson (50), Stephen C. Wells (75), Stanley G. Ponting (500).

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Carter, of Seale, near Farnham, Surrey, celebrated their golden wedding last month. Jack, who is just 80, does not enjoy physically good health but talks occasionally about his ringing days in the Guildford Guild and of the happy times spent at ringing meetings. Mrs. Dorothy Carter is very well and a family gathering at their home, Lydgate, gave the couple great pleasure.

A change of purpose was necessary when a peal was rung at Watford, Herts. It was originally intended as a compliment to H.M. the Queen Mother for her 70th birthday, but was rung half-muffled following the death of Mr. Peter Gardner, whom several of the band had known for many years—one for over 30.

At Rayleigh, Essex, on August 11, an attempt for Stedman Triples ran round after the half-way single. This was to have been a wedding peal for the popular Essex couple Penny Halliwell and David Sloman, of Prittlewell, and the conductor offers his apologies to all concerned for his negligence when copying the composition.

Encouraging news comes from Mr. Richard S. Dirksen, ringing master of the N. American Guild. What is believed to be the first 10-bell handbell peal has been rung and this marks a significant advance in North American ringing. He also informs us of a revival at the Mitchell Tower in Chicago, Illinois, where a young band is struggling with rounds. A teaching party from Washington hopes to visit them soon.

The quarter peal rung at Headcorn, Kent, on Aug. 4 was to celebrate the 51st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Grant. Mr. Grant, who learned to ring at Lydd 64 years ago and rang the curfew bell there, still rings regularly at Headcorn and even learns new Doubles methods to please his young pupils. The quarter was the first in seven methods for all, including the 15-years-old conductor, Nigel Sheppard.

"I have been persuaded to send an account of the recent outing by . . . mainly because I type with three fingers whilst he merely uses two."—From a correspondent who sends a neatly-typed single sheet. She feels it might be too long (a single quarto, double spaced) in view of editorial comment. No! it was just right. What we are contending with consists of 4, 6, 8 and one of 10 foolscap sheets, close written or single spaced — for which we have unfortunately room for only a quarter. The average report on a week's tour, we suggest, should be about 500-600 words.

It is not often we get the chance to ring for a person's 100th birthday, but at Asfordby, Leics, the ringers were delighted to compliment, with a quarter peal, Mrs. Polly Hudson, on her century. A very active lady, she spends considerable time reading (without spectacles!) and watching television. Her day-to-day routine includes interest in her daughter, her grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

With his tongue only halfway into his cheek, Mr. David Gullick points out the possible results if our request to be brief in reporting outings and tours was taken seriously. He finishes with the amusing story of an over-zealous new sales manager who, taking exception to the motorised vagaries of one of his elderly representatives, instructed him to leave his car at home and adhere to a rigid preordained itinerary from town to town by public transport. The weekly report sent in after a week said simply "No sales, but, thank God, caught all my trains!" Naturally we note the point Mr. Gullick makes, but at the moment we have several reports to "sub" which are very lengthy and give details of drinks consumed, fish and chip shops visited, and one reports Grandsire being rung at four of the five towers.

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Ringing World for August 31, 1945

The charge for supplying the R.W. by post was 4s. 3d. a quarter, 8s. 6d. a half year and 17s, a year.

Two peals were rung by the Universities Association; one at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich (Grandsire Cinques), was rung in 3 hours 28 minutes, the other at Beccles, Suffolk (Stedman Caters), in 3 hours 13 minutes, both times being considered too fast for good striking, according to later correspondence. (Peals at Mancroft now seldom take longer than 3 hours 20-25 minutes.)

At Wisborough Green, Sussex, Walter Sparrow, Francis D. Bishop, Richard E. Price, G. Wm. Morris and Tony Price rang their first in seven Surprise Minor, Tony conducting. Ernest C. S. Turner was the other ringer.

There were 35 victory peals recorded, 15 being Grandsire, and among 16 others four were Grandsire.

Alfred H. Pulling, who conducted a peal of Stedman Triples at Guildford, rang his 200th on the bells of the Cathedral Church of Holy Trinity.

"I consider that having learnt the art of rope-sight, which is 75 per cent of the battle, to be able to strike well is by far the most important thing."—Letter from Major David Satow, B.A.O.R.

50 YEARS AGO

September 3, 1920 At Harborne, Staffs, George Pigott conducted Grandsire Triples, in which Edward Rose rang his first peal and Wm. B. Cartwright his first in the method. . *

The band congratulated Miss Emma Tonge on being the first lady to ring a peal at Worsley, Worcs.

The first peal ever by an entirely local band was rung at Harrold. Beds, the ringers being Charles Cockings, Henry W. Gayton, Alfred Robinson, William Stock, Herbert Robinson and George Thew.

The Leicester controversy between Fred Dexter and Ernest Morris flared up again with three letters printed in the R.W. and the Editor closing the correspondence—no doubt to stop other ringers being involved.

Read "Forty and Two Months," by Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (secretary of Salisbury Guild)—the much-discussed prophecy explained, its recent fulfilment demonstrated-8d. post free.—Advt. [Does any reader remember what this was about?—Ed.] *

Congratulations were extended to Chorley ringers on scoring their first local peal, when they attended a meeting of the Lancashier Association at Leyland.

. . Owing to increased postal rates, the charge for the R.W. sent by post will in future be 3/- per quarter or 12/- per year.— Notice in advertisement columns.

Holy Cross, Daventry, Northants

The present building was erected in 1752—1754 in the then fashionable Classical style, and stands on the site of at least two earlier churches. The first known building, on land given by Simon de Liz, Earl of Northampton, was built to accommodate the Benedictine monks formerly housed at Preston Capes, in 1090.

This building also served as the Parish Church of Daventry, and for a long time the monks provided one of their number to act as parish priest. Relationships between the parishioners and the Prior and Convent (it was a Priory of the powerful Abbey of Cluny) were not always good, and in 1390 there was a great row over the ringing of the bells of the Monastic/Parish Church. The Prior and Convent maintained that the parishioners rang the bells so early in the morning "afore the hour of rising," that the monks were unable to sleep, and as they had risen at midnight for Matins, this was a great hardship. The parishioners, on the other hand, made counter charges that the Prior and Convent "made chase and rechase with their carts through the Churchyard during their carts through the Churchyard during the time of Divine Service," thus causing great offence. The dispute was eventually brought before John of Gaunt, Daventry lying in his Duchy of Lancaster. At his Court it was ruled that the bells were not to be rung to excess, and that each body was to keep a key to the churchvard gate.

The registers of the Bishops of Lincoln record many other interesting and disgraceful happenings in the affairs of the Priory, but these have no place here. Daventry was fated to be one of the 19 religious houses appropriated by Cardinal Wolsey, before the general dissolution of the monasteries. for the foundation of his college at Oxford, later to became Christ Church. Several years afterwards, it is recorded that the church stood in ruins, roofless and windowless, and that much of the stone had been removed for the repair of secular property in the parish.

Some time after 1550 a new Gothic church was erected, and in 1700 Bridges records the inscriptions of the five bells then hanging in the tower, some of which bore the name of the Watts foundry of Leicester.

In 1738, these five, together with three other bells formerly hanging in the tower of Catesby Abbey, were recast by Thomas Eayre, of Kettering, into a fine ring of eight with a 16½ cwt. tenor. They were rehung in the new tower in 1754, and with the exception of the 6th, which was re-cast by Joseph Eayre at St. Neots in 1764, they survived intact until 1908, when the tenor, having become badly cracked, was recast with added metal by John Taylor. In 1915 the 7th fell in two pieces during service ringing one Sunday and this, too, was recast at Loughborough.

By 1938 the bells were badly in need of rehanging, and the old oak frame was strengthened and the bells hung on cast iron headstocks and ball-bearings. Another bell, the 3rd, became cracked in 1951 and was recast.

Inspection by Frederick Sharpe in 1960 and later by Taylors revealed that the frame was once again moving considerably, and the bells were consequently not always easy to ring-particularly the tenor. The cause was found to be the ends of the massive supporting beams which had rotted in the walls. The enthusiasm of the local ringers led to the decision to install a frame for ten and to add two new trebles; at the same time it was thought advisable to recast the old treble, 2nd and 4th—the ringers undertaking to pay for two of them.

The dedication of the newly-restored bells coincided with the visit of the Central Council to Northampton in 1965, and it is not merely local pride to say that they are among the very finest light rings of ten bells to be found anywhere. They are rung twice every Sunday as well as for the Tuesday practice and all the red letter Saints Days. Visiting ringers are always made welcome!

PEAL RINGING

As far as can be ascertained no peals were rung on the bells before 1919, when Sted-Triples was rung by a Northampton band. Only about seven others were rung before 1958, when a peal of Cornwall was rung for the induction of the Rev. Kenneth Ward. The installation of a very effective system of sound control enabled 30 other peals to be rung before 1964, when the bells were taken down for restoration.

In the five years since the ten were installed, more than 100 peals have been rung, and many new methods and compositions, some unorthodox and controversial, have been used. No long lengths have been rung so far, although in 1969 two peals were rung on the same day. It is hoped that within the octave of the Feast of Title this year a long length of London Royal will be attempted.

I would like to acknowledge here that without the goodwill of the rector and the parishioners all this ringing would not have been possible. As it is, complaints are virtually nil and compliments frequent. P. I. C.

LONG LENGTH ATTEMPT

Dear Sir,—I give notice that an attempt will be made for 11,520 London Surprise Royal (Beddington version) at Daventry Parish Church on Saturday, Sept. 19, 1970, starting at 10.30 a.m.

The attempt will be made under the auspices of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and the conductor will be Mr. Graham C. Paul.—Yours faithfully, PATRICK I. CHAPMAN. Daventry, Northants. Aug. 26, 1970.

COMPTON BISHOP'S GOOD FORTUNE

The induction and institution of the Rev. James Tomsett will take place at St. Andrew's, Compton Bishop, near Axbridge, Somerset, on Monday next, September 14, at 7 p.m., and no doubt the bells will be rung before and after the service, with maybe a peal attempt later.

For many years Mr. Tomsett was a ringer at St. Mary's, Wimbledon, and a member of the Surrey Association, and was ordained in 1964. He served his title at St. Mark's, Surbiton (no bells!), and then moved to St Cuthbert's, Wells, Somerset, in 1968.

Mr. Tomsett is looking forward to his new living but regrets he has not been able to accomplish anything with regard to the condition of the bells at Wells, which have now ceased because of the dangerous state of the tower and which requires about £10,000 spent on it.

We look forward to recording various ringing events in the Axbridge area from time to time and in the meanwhile extend congratulations to the new vicar and the parishioners at Compton Bishop.

NORTH WORCESTERSHIRE VETERAN

At the age of 14 Charles William Cooper first climbed the steps of the tower of St. Thomas's Church, Stourbridge. Now, 70 years later, he rarely misses ringing for two services on Sunday, and practice on Monday. Bill, as he is known to his friends, was taught to handle a bell by the late W. A. Pugh, who was for many years tower keeper at the church which has figured so prominently in Bill's long life. Bill first attended Sunday School there in 1894, was secretary of the ringers for many years, and last year provided the tower with a new treble bell in memory of his late wife and late sister. In 1968 he was made an honorary member of St. Thomas's Society of Change Ringers.

It was in 1913 that Bill rang his first peal, when he rang the treble to Bob Major at St. Mary's Church, Old Swinford, and this was the 1,000th peal for the Worcestershire and Districts Association. Altogether he has rung 96 peals.

In 1929 Bill was appointed librarian of the Worcestershire and Districts Associa-tion, an office he still holds. In recognition of his services he was made a Freeman of the association in 1966.

Amongst some of the old ringers Bill remembers are William Rock Small (Tipton), James E. Groves, Thomas Miller and Paddon Smith (Birmingham), William Short (Clent), James George (Rugby) and Robert Matthews and John Bass (Stour-

Bill's 84th birthday was on July 23, and he was determined to mark the occasion by standing in a peal. A good peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by his greatnephew, was rung at St. Mary's Church, Old Swinford, a report of which has already appeared.

Wedding

SOTHERAN—WATTS

Mr. Peter Sotheran, a director of the family printing business, and Miss Susan Clare Watts, a teacher, were married at St. Mark's Church, Bilton, Warwickshire, on August 15. The bride, wearing a dress she had made herself, was attended by three young bridesmaids (aged 5, 6 and 7). The best man was Mr. Paul A. Sheen, of Lidget Hill, Pudsey.

A number of ringing friends were present and were pleased to be able to join the local band for ringing before the service, as did the bridegroom (much to the best man's consternation!).

Peter and Susan met at Saltburn Church, where Susan runs the Church Guide Company and Peter has been ringing for the past 12 years.

RINGERS' SUNDAY AT CHRIST-CHURCH PRIORY

"Ringers' Sunday" was observed at Christchurch Priory on August 16, when some good ringing was heard before the morning and evening services. The attendance during the afternoon session could have been better. However, a capacity congregation, which included 50 ringers, filled the large Priory nave for "Ringers' Evensong," and the first lesson was read by Mr. Roger Savory (master, Winchester and Portsmouth Guild).

The vicar of Christchurch (Rev. Leslie Yorke) preached, taking for his subject "Called to Service," and four members of the Priory band rang a course of Grandsire Triples in the chancel to conclude the service.

At the social hour in Priory Church Hall afterwards about 150 people enjoyed handbell tune ringing by St. James', Pokesdown (Bournemouth), Girl Guides and the showing of the film "Ringers Required."

Ladies connected with the Priory ringers served refreshments, and the evening concluded (at 9 p.m.) with votes of thanks to the vicar and all concerned in the arrangements for a very successful day.

ELEVENTH OCCASION

District outings, tower trips, peal and quarter peal tours—there is no end to the ways in which bellringers will organise themselves for a pull, and often many miles are traversed for the sake of a touch on a musical ring of bells.

One such half-day took place on Wednesday, August 19, when for the 11th successive year Wilson's Wanderers took to the road, travelling from many parts to meet between 1 and 2 p.m. at Bishop's Stortford, Herts.

The majority of the 50 or so who assembled were old friends and acquaintances, but each time there are a few newcomers, and this year was no exception. The company consisted mainly of middleaged ringers, but the younger generation—particularly the ladies—held their own, as did the senior group—several being octogenarians. Transport varied from sports cars to minis, from modern 1100's to large, but older, limousines. The weather was at times atrocious, and there was hardly a dry moment all day. Nevertheless, the beautiful churches visited (many of historic and architectural interest), the excellent rings of bells and the congenial company all made the effort worth while, quite apart from the great pleasure of renewing old acquaintanceships.

The ten (tenor 20 cwt.) at Bishop's Stortford were followed by the eights at Great Dunmow (22 cwt.) and Great Bardfield (16 cwt.). At tea, taken at the Walnut Tree Hotel, expressions of thanks and appreciation were extended to the organiser and to the many others who had assisted in a variety of ways, and the party then made for Finchingfield for an hour's ringing on the eight (18 cwt.). The final tower was at Braintree, another eight (11½ cwt.), following which the "wanderers" wandered homewards, each promising to return next year to explore the Berkshire countryside and to keep up the tradition of good towers, good ringing and good fellowship.

This year's representation came from Hillingdon, Slough, Horsham, Ealing, Maidenhead, Bromley, Windsor, Willesden, Leatherhead, Farnham, Stoke Poges, Leyton, Acle (Norfolk), Chalfont St. Giles, Farnborough (Hants), Twickenham and Bletchley.

COMING HOME

Dr. J. C. Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin are returning from Hyattsville, U.S.A., to Wantage, Berks, this month, and they write:

"Our year in Washington has been extremely rewarding as far as ringing is concerned, and recently we have been able to try Double Norwich, Cambridge Major and Grandsire Caters.

"It is planned that a group of North American ringers will be visiting England for a ringing holiday next summer, and I would be extremely interested to hear of any families who would be prepared to provide hospitality and transport for one or more Americans. I will send a letter for publication when a few more of the details are worked out.

"Meanwhile we are very much looking forward to our return and more plentiful

"May I say how much we enjoy The Ringing World these days—there is always something of interest about people and places we know, and while we do not agree with all the editorials at least they are stimulating."

SPLICE DISCLOSED AFTER FIVE MONTHS

Miles Platting, Manchester.—The Lancashire Association. On Sat., Feb. 22, 1919, in 2 hours and 55 minutes, at the Church of St. John, a peal of Grandsire Triples (5040 changes); tenor 12 cwt.: Miss Emma Tonge treble, Percival W. Cave 2, Arthur Ridyard 3, Thomas K. Driver 4, Joseph Hall 5, Frank Stoneley 6, Walter W. Wolstencroft 7, Amos Trippier tenor. Composed by J. H. Banks, conducted by F. Stoneley. Rung half-muffled on the occasion of ringers' memorial service.

Back in 1919, when the above peal was rung, young Emma Tonge and Percival Cave met for the first time, and neither could have foreseen that in 1970 Mrs. Emma (Richard) Deal would become Mrs. Percival Cave. Such, however, has happened and the news reached us that on April 5, at St. George's, Beckenham, Kent, the wedding took place between Emma Deal and Percival Cave, who later left for the bright lights of Paris. They now live at 37 St. Edmunds Road, Acle, Norwich.

Mrs. Cave received many congratulations when they joined Wilson's Wanderers on a half-day tour recently: "It was so heart-warming to meet after long years . . . and the really extraordinary warm welcome . . ." wrote Emma Cave later.

All their old ringing friends, and all the young ones too, will wish them every happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Percival Cave en route for Paris.

NO DINNER THIS YEAR

For reasons beyond their control, the organisers of the Essex Association Dinner have been unable to arrange the traditional function this year, but instead are holding a ringing festival and supper party, to which it is hoped everyone will give their support. The date fixed is Saturday. October 24, and the supper party will be held at St. Mary's Church, Prittlewell. Details will be advertised at the end of September.

A WEEK IN THE NORTH

At 6 a.m. on July 25, 13 East Anglians left Colchester and Ipswich in three cars for Liverpool. On arrival we met seven others from Hertfordshire and we spent a pleasant hour on the bells of the Cathedral. From here we proceeded to Kirkby Lonsdale, headquarters for two nights.

On Sunday we made an early start to ring for the 10 o'clock service at Morecambe. We are grateful to the locals for allowing us to join them and we enjoyed the pleasant light eight. Afternoon ringing was at Lancaster, but we found St. Mary's bells difficult to ring and strike due to springy ropes, but were of fine tone outside. Next the Roman Catholic Cathedral bells (10, 25 cwt.) were rung, and these must be unique as regards total bell weight for the treble weighs 10 cwt. and the 4th 16 cwt.! Most of us "grabbed" the ring at Kirkby Lonsdale before evening service and found a very pleasant 12 cwt. six.

First on Monday was Kirkby Stephen, where we found the 16 cwt. eight easy to handle despite the long draught. Then to Orton, having a 12 cwt. Taylor ring, and despite a degree of odd-struckness the musical eight were tapped round to a variety of methods. Lunch was in Penrith and ringing on the good-going eight at St. Andrew's enjoyed by all.

After touches at Brampton the local ringers provided us with an enjoyable tea, which was appreciated, and from here we went on to Strathaven for the night.

We travelled the 20-odd miles on Tuesday to Glasgow and rang on the fine 32 cwt. Taylor ten, with ringing following at Paisley (8, 22 cwt.). After lunch in Glasgow the rest of the day was spent travelling to Inveraray and enjoying the lovely scenery of Loch Lomond, Loch Long and Loch Fyne. We arrived at 5 p.m. and ascended the tower to put the ropes on. There followed a celebration meal for the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Laud.

BROKEN ROPE

We rang at Inveraray from 9 to 10.15 a.m. on Wednesday and found a truly magnificent ring of ten (tenor 41½ cwt.). Unfortunately a broken rope rather marred a course of Superlative on the back eight. The rest of the day was spent travelling through the north west Highlands and most of us saw Loch Ness (but not "Nessie") on the way to Inverness.

Thursday at St. Andrew's Cathedral we rang on the Warner eight, and from here travelled over the Cairngorms to Perth, seeing Ben Nevis and other high peaks. Later some of us went into Dundee for evening ringing, where the first tower was the Old Steeple, and the recently-rehung Mears eight were tapped round to a variety of methods. Then down the road to St. Paul's Cathedral, where we found the musical 23 cwt. eight.

At Dunblane Cathedral on Friday we rang on the very good 24 cwt. eight, and after lunch in Stirling we sampled the light Taylor eight at Alloa and found them very quick-running and musical. At Edinburgh Cathedral the 41 cwt. ten were rather difficult to hear inside, whilst at St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh, we were met by Mr. R. S. Wilson (secretary, Scottish Association), who had a lot to do with the success of the tour.

Saturday saw us sampling the lightest five in the United Kingdom—Fette's College, Edinburgh, and we came then to our last Scottish tower, St. James-the-Less, Leith, where we found the eight (23 cwt.) were rather hard going. At Berwick-on-Tweed we took lunch and then made our way to

THE HISTORY OF ST. PETER'S CHURCH BELLS

CHELLASTON, DERBYS.

By the time this article is published most parishioners will have realised that a new sound is to "ring out" over the parish. It is hoped that the bells convey more than just a sound since there is a history attached to the fact that we now have five bells—approximately 265 years of continuity-history. Thanks to the dedication of many people, who had to withstand doubt and criticism of the bells' value or significance, they can still convey a message. How did it all start?

It is quite well known that the church is about 650 years old but it is not generally realised that it wasn't until the year 1705 that the first two bells were cast by George Hedderley of Nottingham and hung in a stone turret on the west end of the church. Popular opinion is that it was a wooden turret but owing to the weight of the bells we believe this was unlikely.

In 1840 the two bells were removed and the turret taken down—being replaced by the present tower. Only one of the original bells was retained, the fate of the other is not known. John Taylor & Co. of Loughborough cast two new bells and they were hung for full swing ringing in a wooden frame.

During 1910 the George Hedderley bell was recast by John Taylor & Co. and when it was refitted all three bells were rehung in a modern low side iron frame at a cost of £78. At this time the clock was also overhauled and striking hammers were refitted at a cost of £4 15s. Od. (How much did you say it cost to get the alarm clock mended dear?) It is interesting to note that at this time a letter signed by a Mr. Ford of Chellaston rejected a quotation of £14 for the provision of a fourth bell. Further attention was given to the bells in 1928 but details of the actual work is not recorded.

In 1956 a scheme was launched to provide ultimately a ring of six bells. Work commenced in 1965 when the existing treble was taken to Taylors' foundry to be retuned and all the three bells were rehung on new ball bearings. At the same time, the frames for three more bells were installed.

During the 1960's a fourth bell was donated to us by St. Andrew's Church, Derby (cast by Means of London). The fifth bell was obtained from the prison at Northampton (originally cast by J. Warner & Co.). It is believed that this bell was probably used as the execution bell at the

An order was placed in August 1969 to have these two bells melted down. Two new bells were cast in October 1969 by John Taylor & Co. and they were collected and hung by a working party from the parish on January 17th, 1970. Further work is being completed to enable them to be rung very soon, and it is hoped to mark the completion of this stage of the scheme with a service of dedication when our new vicar takes up his appointment.

As an indication of how costs soar, a quote in 1956 for the supply of three new bells and the necessary associated work amounted to £500. The costs for the 1969 installation amounted to £675.

The final stage of the scheme, the addition of a sixth bell, cannot be started until we have completed payment for the present installation.

The bell ringers would like to thank all helpers, past and present, for their help and encouragement in this project and invite your continued support since we still have to clear the outstanding debt of approximately £150.

Bamburgh. At Embleton, Jim Pipe made a presentation to Bernard in appreciation of all the work he had put in, and Bernard replied by saying he would be organising another tour in Cornwall next year. After ringing on the six, on to Morpeth, where we sampled the pleasant little eight.

Having spent Saturday night in New-

Having spent Saturday night in Newcastle, we joined the local band at the Cathedral and were grateful for the opportunity of joining them for service ringing. There was just time for a ring at St. Stephen's, Elswick, before starting the long trek home.

Thanks are due to all incumbents and tower captains and to all who helped to make the week a success, and now we look forward to next year in Cornwall.

BRAIN TEASER

Another problem to solve, submitted by Mr. J. S. Rank, of Machakos, Kenya.

Steeple St. Andrew has a ring of six bells and the ropes in the ringing chamber fall in an almost perfect circle. The six local ringers arranged to attempt a quarter peal for evensong each Sunday for several successive weeks.

After the last quarter peal in this series the conductor, who always rang the tenor, mentioned that each ringer had the same two neighbours standing on either side of him once and only once during the series.

How many quarter peals were rung and how was the band placed for each quarter? Answer September 18. GILBERT WHITE ANNIVERSARY

July 18 was the 250th anniversary of the birth of the Rev. Gilbert White, of Selborne, who thus described the bells of his native village in the famous National History and Antiquities of Selborne: "The old bells, three in number, loud and out of tune, were taken down in 1735, and cast into four; to which Sir Simon Stuart, the grandfather of the present baronet, added a fifth at his own expense; and, bestowing it in the name of his favourite daughter, Mrs. Mary Stuart, caused it to be cast with the following motto round it:—

Clara puella dedit, dixitque mihi esto Maria; Illrus et laudes nomen ad astra sono. [Englished, this means: A lovely girl gave me, and named me Mary; now I ring out her name and praises to the skies.]

"The day of the arrival of this tunable peal was observed as a high festival by the village, and rendered more joyous by an order from the donor that the treble bell should be fixed bottom upward in the ground and filled with punch, of which all present were permitted to partake."

present were permitted to partake."

Only one peal has been rung on these bells, six methods of Doubles on November 9, 1963, by the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. A quarter peal was arranged by Canon Elliot Wigg, master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, an admirer of Gilbert White and a member of the Selborne Society. He wishes to thank the members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild for their ready co-operation in making the project possible.

Manchester University Guild WATERWAYS PREFERRED

In recent years a tradition has developed with the Manchester University Guild's summer tour to disregard Britain's highways in preference for the waterways, using a motorised barge as the means of getting from one tower to the next. This year, starting in the last week in June, our course was from Wheaton Aston, just north of the Birmingham / Wolverhampton complex, along the Shropshire Union Canal, the Llangollen Canal, into Wales, finishing at Llangollen.

The tour began in a somewhat fragmentary manner, with two peal attempts: Bob Minor in hand at Manchester (unsuccessful) and Bob Major in hand at Lichfield (successful). For six weeks the weather had been glorious (as it was at the end!) but unfortunately the Saturday morning of the tour proper was grim when the company assembled at Penkridge. The long draught here gave one or two a shake-up and this appeared to be an excellent way to commence a tour!

As in previous years there were three boats: Lindy-Helen, under "Admiral" Sherwood, Pennine Navigation, under "Captain" Reading, Barbara Joan, under "Captain" Polly Goldthorpe, each boat having five "hands." After a short delay we set sail southwards towards Wolverhampton. We docked near Codsall and after a two-mile walk to the church tackled the excellent but light ring of eight. The handbell team, having set their sights on a peal a day, returned early to Lindy-Helen, whence the author scored his first peal as conductor in hand.

NORTHWARDS AGAIN

Sunday morning was as wet as the previous day and after an early rise we sailed northwards, ringing the fine eight at Brewood for matins. The afternoon's travelling was fairly relaxed and for the only time in the week the clouds broke up. Evensong ringing took place at Church Eaton where, unfortunately, the small ring of six is seldom heard. After a short ring following the service we cruised on to Gnosall where, alas, the evening's peal attempt hardly got off the ground.

Monday morning's rise for a 9.30 ring at Gnosall (a minor six) was thankfully leisurely, and then all boats set sail for Cheswardine (8), ten miles upstream. The afternoon run to the next tower, Market Drayton, was not without incident: Barbara Joan ran aground and was followed by one of her "hands" mistiming the jump from quay to boat deck (with obvious conse-quences). However, Market Drayton was a consolation with a magnificent ring of eight. As there were 17 locks before the next tower the following morning the pilots wisely decided to move on, mooring at Audlem for the night. The peal attempt was successful this time, one member scoring his first of Major in hand. The first ring on Tuesday was at Audlem (6) and was not until 11.15 a.m., and in spite of poor weather spirits never flagged.

A BAD PATCH
The next port of call was the picturesque Shropshire town of Nantwich. Unfortunately ringing hit a bad patch so we were unable to match the high standard of Nantwich's eight bells. In travelling to the next tower, Acton (6), most got soaked from the pouring rain. The similarity between the towers of Nantwich and Acton was evident, for both could adequately house rings of 12! The standard of ringing at Acton improved but lacked enthusiasm, mainly due to wet feet.

Early on Wednesday we left the Shropshire Union and proceeded to negotiate the Llangollen Canal. Three 6-bell towers were visited — Wrenbury, Marbury (where the tenor rope broke) and Tushingham. The following day began slightly warmer, with clouds not quite so ominous. Whitchurch (8) was the first tower and we then proceeded to Ellesmere, which has a 21 cwt. eight (a flat treble and a sharp 5th). There being only two towers booked we moved on and docked at Windford. In transit a quarter of Kent T.B. Major was rung aboard Lindy-Helen, the first of T.B. Major in hand for all.

Blustery Friday's first encounter was the delightful six at St. Martin's. The second tower, at Ruabon, was undoubtedly the most scenic and spectacular of the tour. The distant hills, which had been in view for several days, loomed up and appeared to halt further progress, but the canal continued, twisting, tunnelling and crossing precariously high aqueducts. We tied up at the steel mill town of Trevor, almost an eyesore in the heart of the hills. Ringing at Ruabon (6)—a three-mile walk from Trevor—began at 7.15 p.m., and later at the first inn (situated outside the tower) the guild officers held a committee meeting.

The final day started, the last leg being through an increasingly narrowing canal to Llangollen. Barbara Joan never quite made it, suffering from a flooded engine housing. The boats were handed back, cars collected and we made for the final tower, Llangollen (8), whence we dispersed.

All in all the tour was as successful and as enjoyable as we had hoped. Expressions of appreciation are due to the large number of people involved: incumbents and tower captains, organisers Margaret Ellwood, Pat James, Digby Munday, with organiser-inchief Paul Reading.

TETTENHALL'S CHURCH AND BELLS

Dear Sir,—Following the write-up about St. Michael's Church, Tettenhall, in The Ringing World of August 7, may I be allowed to correct one or two points. I do not know who was responsible for the article, but some of the information is out of date.

I have spent some years searching for information to confirm a theory of mine that there is a definite link between the old ring of bells at Tettenhall and four of the present ring at Codsall.

The old five bells which were said to be dated 1604 were replaced in 1841 by a new ring of six as stated, but a local historian wrote in 1894 that he could not discover what happened to the "old and very unmusical" ring of five which was removed from the tower in 1841.

The evidence datewise is fairly convincing, but actual written proof has not to date been discovered, and probably never will be, concerning the movements of the old five.

Certain facts have been established; the date 1604 may have been the only one seen during an examination of the old bells, for we know that a bell dated 1604 hung in St. Mary's Church, Wolverhampton, until partial demolition in 1950 and conversion to other uses.

The whole of the cost of this church, which was over £10,000, was borne by a Miss Theodosia Hinkes, a very wealthy lady, and one of the largest landowners in Tettenhall Wood. She was described as "a generous benefactor to Tettenhall Church."

As St. Mary's Church was built during the years 1840 and 1842 and Tettenhall Church had a new ring of bells in 1841, I am convinced that in exchange for a sizable donation Miss Theodosia Hinkes "persuaded" Tettenhall Church authorities to give her one of the old bells for her new church then being built.

When St. Mary's was demolished I went along to examine the 1604 bell, which had previously been inaccessible, and found that it had been removed from the tower and sold to a local scrap dealer. I went along to his yard and found that the bell was still there intact, and after some persuasion and pointing out the antiquarian value of the bell, managed to prevent it being broken up and sold for scrap.

Soon after this incident the gentleman in question, who I am pleased to state at-tended Tettenhall Church, gave the bell back for use at a temporary church which was being used, as the Parish Church had been destroyed by fire. After the re-building the bell was moved to a new church which was built on a new estate at Aldersley and where it still remains to this day, although it is possibly in some danger, as it is "clocked" for Sunday services.

The bell is the oldest remaining one known from the foundry of Hancox and Clibury, and bears the inscription "Com Com and Praye," and the date 1604.

The other date "tie-up" in the story of the other four bells is that until 1847 Codsall was part of Tettenhall Parish, and as four of the bells at Codsall are from the Hancox and Clibury Foundry and are dated 1637 and 1638, there is a strong possibility that they came from Tettenhall. At that time Codsall possessed only one bell dated

AN APPRECIATION—SUSSEX U.G. IN DEVON

During the recent tour of Dear Sir. Devon by the University of Sussex Guild of Change Ringers several of the local ringers were invited to join in. This was very much appreciated and we enjoyed the time that we could spend with this "Happy Band of Pilgrims." It was so nice meeting some "old" ringing friends once again. It also gave us a chance of "brushing up" on some of the methods that we had not rung for "many moons." We only hope that the local ringers enjoyed our company as much as we enjoyed theirs.

DOES ANYONE KNOW?

Dear Sir,-The Wolverton and District Archæological Society wishes to obtain de-Church of Stony Stratford, Bucks. The church was built in 1450 and was destroyed by fire in 1730. The bells may have stayed longer as the tower still stands.

It is believed that the bells were removed at some time to a yard in St. Ives, Hunts, and then sent on to another church.

Is anybody able to tell the Society, through me, the details of these bells and their present whereabouts?—Yours faith-

ROPESIGHT?

Dear Sir, - I have an 18-months-old Italian greyhound (Judy) and she usually accompanies me in the car when I go to bellringing meetings.

Recently I left the car outside a church. and as it was hot I left the windows slightly open. I was just going to start ringing when in walked my dog; I put her on a seat and during the ringing she seemed very interested.

On Sunday morning at home she was asleep in her basket but when I put on the wireless she jumped up at the sound of church bells and looked around as much as to say "Where are the ropes?" When I first played a bell record she did the same thing.—Yours faithfully,

H. RANSOM.

1815, and added another to complete a ring of six in 1867.

Prior to the recasting in 1936 the Codsall bells were acknowledged to be a very poor lot, a fact which we can only say arose from an attempt to make a "mixed bag" into a ringable if not tuneful ring.

The 1841 ring of six at Tettenhall remained until 1911, when two trebles were added and the whole ring of eight were recast and rehung in 1923.

The church was also first lit by electricity in 1911, and according to the estimates for the recasting in 1923 there was a possibility of a ring of ten bells being installed, but this was never carried through.

As I have said, there is very little written information about the old bells, most of the Tettenhall and Codsall records being kept at Wrotteslev Old Hall, which was completely gutted by fire in 1890, but I am still hoping to find some information to confirm my theory.

I hope this information will be of interest to whoever wrote the article.--Yours faith-

ALL SAINTS', HERTFORD

Dear Sir, - Mr. Foley is correct in stating that All Saints' had the first ring of eight bells in the county. This was in 1674 and the local band rang 5040 changes, "the peal of Tripples," on Monday, the 21st of December, 1724.

Westmill (now an unringable five) and Bishop's Stortford also had rings of eight before 1729, when the bells of St. Peter's, St. Albans, were recast and augmented to

The All Saints', Hertford, bells were re-cast in 1771 by Pack and Chapman, the trebles at the expense of the Society of College Youths of Hertford, assisted by other contributions. The tenor was 21 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb. in E. Twenty years later the Society paid John Briant £20 to add two new "Tribles," making a fine ring of ten. At St. Andrew's, Hertford, Briant added four trebles in 1782 and rang the tenor to the first peal on the bells (5280 Oxford Treble Bob Major) and subsequently seems to have recast the other bells in 1793 and 1797. His first complete ring of eight was cast for Hatfield in 1786, and only one bell has had to be recast.

In 1929, on the centenary of Briant's death, a memorial service was held at All Saints', Hertford, attended by a representa-tive gathering of both ringers and archæologists from London and all parts of Hertfordshire. A bellmetal tablet was unveiled by the Mayor at the service. This tablet was fixed on the south-east pillar of the tower. Four members of the Ancient Society of College Youths under the leadership of Mr. E. Alexander Young rang a course on handbells, standing around the tombstone which had been restored with the additional wording—"He was a famous Bellfounder and Clockmaker." The tombstone was, until quite recent years, close to the tower entrance, and I should be pleased to know if anyone could say to where it has been moved since the new road was built, slicing through the churchyard. Perhaps the Herts Association or the East Herts Archæological Society would again take an interest, if necessary, and no doubt the College Youths of London (which Briant joined in 1782) would be glad to hear any news of its whereabouts.

Briant's largest bell was the old tenor at St. Michael's, Coventry, which weighed 31 cwt. 1 qr. 14 lb. and was 56½ inches in diameter. His lightest ring was probably the original ring of eight at St. Ebbe's, Oxford, cast 1789–1803. The two trebles were afterwards sold and later replaced.

John Briant cast over 420 bells in 45 years. How many turret clocks he made there is no means of telling. He also made handbells and "long case" clocks. He had a good reputation as a "splicer" of trebles on to existing rings, when the job had to be done entirely by ear, as tuning forks were not invented until 1811 and were not used in bell tuning before Canon Simpson's experiments.—Yours faithfully,

H. V. FROST.

Because there's peals of twelve in town Shall five or six bells ne'er be rung? I think 'fis a very stupid thing Of men that take delight to ring, To rail at variety.

THROUGH THE WEALD

The Ash bellringers and friends from neighbouring towers enjoyed a very successful outing through the Weald of Kent on July 25. During the morning the sixes at Pluckley and Benenden were rung, and the heavy eight at Biddenden gave us a good thirst for our lunchtime break.

Ringing during the afternoon was on the eights at Goudhurst, Horsmonden and Tonbridge, where, as was the intention of the day, many of the younger ringers were given the chance to ring or conduct Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob. Following a salad tea at Hildenborough our last ring was on the six at Yalding, where a course of Kent T.B. made a fitting end to the day.

END OF JULY TOUR

The University of Bristol Society held its annual tour this year in Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire during the last week in July. Organised by two members in that area, David Marshall and Royston Blackler, all had a very enjoyable week.

On one of the days a small excursion was made into Leicestershire, where instead of general ringing it was decided to ring a quarter peal on the glorious ten at Loughborough Parish Church.

At Wollaton the "expert" Devon callchange and light bell ringer, Frank Mack, conducted us through "60 on thirds" call changes.

Bill Exton met us at Whatton, where we were very impressed with the well-kept ringing chamber, which contains some very comfortable old cinema seats, and later, to our great surprise, we managed to ring two courses of Duffield Royal at Duffield.

Frank Mack came into his own once again at Pinxton, Derbyshire (a very light new eight), where he demonstrated how light bells should be rung. E. G. M.

GOOD BELLS—GOOD ORGANISATION

The cool, windy morning of July 25 saw the Darlington and Teesside ringers assembled at the Baldersby roundabout on the A1 for another week's tour organised by Fred Hodgson, and the seven cars set off for the base at Cirencester. Whichever way you enter Cirencester, the vista is closed by the splendid tower of the parish church, and, familiar as it became by the end of the week, it never ceased to excite our admiration.

On Sunday we joined the ringers at Holy Trinity, Watermoor, for service ringing, stayed for Sung Eucharist, and afterwards joined the congregation for coffee. Later the party split to go sightseeing, some enthusiasts going to Bristol and, through the kindness of the Cathedral band, enjoyed the delightful eight. In the evening all assembled in the tower of Cirencester Parish Church, but the grand 12 there were too much for us, the back ten were not much more successful, and even Surprise Major did us no credit.

From Monday onwards we were threading the country roads and lanes of a very lovely part of England, seeing some magnificent churches, ringing splendid bells and meeting a lot of very courteous and helpful local ringers at the different towers. First call was at Lechlade, where the six went well to a variety of Minor and Doubles methods. A short run took us to Faringdon's squat, sturdy tower, where we had an enjoyable hour, and the bells were rung down in time to hear the carillon play a hymn tune at noon.

The afternoon began at Clanfield, where several touches were enjoyed on the groundfloor ring, and the party then moved to Burford, where the magnificent church has bells to match. We attended practice at Kingham in the evening, and as only two ringers turned up we had the tower almost

STRIKING MEDIOCRE

In pouring rain next morning we arrived at Wootton Bassett, but the bells were well worth the journey, and here we met Bert Kynaston. Those who did not follow him Kynaston. to Rodbourne Cheney got there eventually after some tricky manœuvring through the streets of Swindon, and enjoyed an hour on the light six, though the striking was nothing to be proud of. Much the same might be said of most of our efforts at the next tower, Stratton St. Margaret, but we did rather better on the excellent, heavier eight at Highworth. All the party attended the evening practice at Christ Church, Swindon, and greatly appreciated the kindness (and tolerance) of the local ringers in allowing us to join them in that notable tower. We had the added pleasure of meeting an old friend in Phil Tocock, from Oxford, who was to spend Thursday with us.

Through a breakdown, one carload missed the first two towers on Wednesday, and when the party arrived at Stroud they were only just strong enough to man the ten before going on to Upton St. Leonards.

The laggards caught up at Longney (another ground-floor eight), and the journey to the next tower, Haresfield, was somewhat complicated by work on a new motorway. We found the church, hidden in trees at the end of a long drive, and it was worth the trouble, for it possesses an excellent six. At the evening practice at Stonehouse we had the pleasure of ringing with the local band, who made us most welcome, and here again there was some good ringing on a very worthwhile six.

Thursday was a memorable day, beginning well at Bishop's Cleeve, where the ancient ladder to the ringing room excited a lot of comment. At our next stop, Pershore, most of the party ventured into the famous cage to ring and the bells were as impressive as the tower in which they hang.

Some of the most enjoyable ringing of the tour was at our next tower, Eckington. where the handy eight go like a dream and the tower is a credit to the ringers. One of the party, venturing into the village during the ringing, heard such flattering remarks that he admitted to being a member of the party.

From Eckington the route led over the hills to Ledbury, and in the fine detached tower with its substantial octave we were almost lost in the wide open spaces. In the evening we arrived at Tewkesbury Abbey just after the Rambling Ringers, and so great was the crush, even in this big tower, that we had to be content with a quick in-and-out.

The last day's ringing began at Tetbury where the vicar (Rev. M. C. G. Sherwood) offered the party a warm welcome. He is the son of a former vicar of Grangetown, Teesside, and his grandparents were from Cleveland.

PRESENTATION

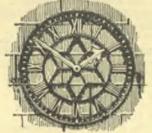

We achieved nothing in the way of striking at Malmesbuy Abbey, and found the lighter bells hard to manage. Rather better results were obtained at St. Andrew's, Chippenham, but by the time we got to that fine tower at Colerne the fatigue of a week's ringing was beginning to tell and we could do nothing right. During the lunch break at Malmesbury, Mrs. Laura Yates, on behalf of the party, presented a stainless steel tea set to Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson as an expression of gratitude for all the work Fred had done in organising the tour.

The thanks of the party are due to Fred for doing all the work and picking such good towers, to the incumbents and to those who met us and helped us with such friendliness. It was for all of us a memorable

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hodgson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Cook, Miss P. Dowse, Miss J. Warwick, David Cox, E. Pannell, Mr. and Mrs. R. Park, Philip and David Park (Darlington), Mr. and Mrs. P. Wishart, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. S. Yates, T. Cox, W. Ward, J. Roach (Teesside), E. Hudson (Ripon) and Mrs. E. Betts (Dewsbury) Mr. and Mrs. E. Betts (Dewsbury).

Editorial

ENJOYMENT IN RINGING

"You bellringers say you ring for the glory of God and for the Church, when of course everyone knows you do it because you enjoy it."

This comment, made last week by a nonringer after morning service to a group of ringers, has often been heard before, but gives food for thought. Over the years many letters and articles have appeared in the daily and weekly press and in our R.W. and the arguments and explanations have been numerous. The subject can never be satisfactorily concluded for it all depends on the individual and the motive behind his ringing.

But is it right to condemn ringers for enjoying what they do? Is it right that criticism should be levelled at a body of people because they use church property for their own pleasure? And is it such a selfish pursuit as some would have us believe? We think not,

Bellringing is and always will be team work. If a team is happy and pulls together nothing but enjoyment is found. Happiness and enjoyment spread quickly to others and therefore is surely very creditable. The use of church property is essential in bellringing and the sound of the bells at any time brings to life outside what is otherwise just a beautiful building. The choir, the organ, the preacher are all inside the building and are virtually non-existent to the surrounding countryside, but immediately the bells peal forth the church becomes alive to those within earshot, and all are immediately aware of the church.

And selfishness? Anything shared cannot be completely selfish, and ringers generally have one main objective—to teach and to pass on their own knowledge of the art to others. At the weekly practice and monthly meetings everyone endeavours to ring something new and to improve, whilst in quarter peals and peals the whole team is striving to accomplish what it set out to do and to do it better than before. This surely proves that in bellringing there is a quality and purpose which is found in very few other pursuits. The mental and physical training and the social contact with men and women in all walks of life are a reward in themselves, and in the words of the well-known hymn

"Who sweeps a room as to the Lord Makes that, and the action fine."

So ringers everywhere, whatever your particular niche in the Exercise, do it to the best of your ability and try to understand that the other chap is also doing his part in this wonderful heritage we possess—bell-ringing.

The delightful picture last week of the London County Association outing was taken by David Gough, the group being at St. Paul's, Bedford.

The first quarter peal rung by Freemasons in Australia was on August 9 at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Sydney, the occasion being the annual service for the Combined United Lodge of New South Wales.

Belfry Gossip

Going to Leeds University is David Herd, of Ripley, Derbys, and a quarter of Bob Triples was rung by his friends as a congratulatory compliment.

Miss Margaret Ellwood is back from her stay in the U.S.A., where she did not manage any ringing. She will make up for it during the next few weeks no doubt.

First peal congratulations to Douglas J. Beaumont, Helen Wright, Elaine Pearson, David G. Salter, Brian G. Greenwood, James Hully, David Bell.

We are asked to state that visiting teams who wish to ring at Lyng, Somerset, should contact the priest-in-charge (Rev. R. J. O. Fry) or Mr. G. H. Baldham at Claygate, West Lyng.

New methods this week are Marshall Delight Major and Teston Surprise Major and there are two first-time conductors—Frederick A. J. Steward and Jennifer A. Dunning.

The Three Choirs Festival in Hereford Cathedral (August 23–28) is always preceded by a peal and ringing before each evening performance. The peal this year was at Clifford because of the condition of the cathedral bells.

Personal Records: Thomas Hobson (25), John Illingworth (75), Geoffrey Fothergill (125), Michael J. Edwards (600), Robert A. Beresford (125), Josephine A. Brown (150), Susan Rothera (300), John G. Gipson (400).

Peter D. Sell is, we understand, still in Kidderminster Hospital following his car crash. His injuries include a broken arm and leg and slight head injuries and he has thrombosis. He is, however, very cheerful and glad to see any visitors.

Attention is called to the displayed advertisement giving times of ringing at St. Peter's, Dorchester, Dorset. This is for the benefit of visitors who may be in the area and wish to join the local society in their ringing.

A North Lindsey Branch meeting of the Lincoln Guild is being held at Burtonon-Stather on Saturday next. This had been advertised for September 5, and the change of date did not reach our office in time to correct the advertisement.

Several readers have written to point out that the first peal of London Surprise Royal was rung at St. Peter's, Brighton, in 1926, conducted by Keith Hart, and not as printed in the Surrey Association history, "Ninety Years Young."

The four peals rung in Dorset were by ringers from South Northamptonshire holidaying in the area with their families. A further peal was attempted at Thorncombe on August 21, but this was brought to an abrupt end by a rope breaking after two hours of Pudsey Surprise.

Wishing to commemorate the centenary of the birth of William Pye, eight members of the Middlesex Association gathered at Harrow Weald on August 20. All had known William Pye well and some had rung peals with him. The tribute consisted of a quarter of 1344 changes of Stedman Triples taken from John Carter's Odd Bob one-part peal and was accomplished in fine style.

We learn that John Taylor and Co. are engaged in rehanging the bells of Marldon, Devon, and adding a treble to make six.

In his letter to The Leicester Mercury,

In his letter to The Leicester Mercury, referred to in our correspondence columns, Mr. Durance, after explaining why we ring, concluded: "I would ask your correspondent to contact his local ringers and I am sure they would be pleased to explain . . . a better understanding is usually the result of such a meeting which is what, as ringers, we are all striving for."

The first peal on the recently-augmented bells at Whatton-in-the-Vale was rung by an almost-local band. John Shenfield, recently married, now lives near Lincoln and Fred Barber, who regularly practises at Whatton, belongs to Cotgrave. William Exton (of course) conducted.

It's happened again! Another quarter at Gospel Oak for evensong! Tony and Deborah Bishop came over from Wimbledon and Pam Gough made a welcome return to ringing after her months of traveling on the Continent to places as far apart as Israel and Iceland. Dianne and David Gazeley got leave to absent themselves from Hendon to help. (Keep it up.—Ed.)

"I recently called a peal on Charlie Hughes' 84th birthday. He rang like the veteran he is and I think he was about the only person in the peal not to make a mistake. He is one of the quiet members of the Exercise but has given yeoman service at Leyton and also in other local towers. He is looking forward to another peal next year for his 85th birthday and I am sure the band hope that this will come about," writes D. E.

Peter Anthony's column in the Newcastle Journal of August 4 contained an article about the bells in the civic centre being recorded on tapes and for sale at 21s. A reception to launch the scheme was held and tapes sent to four other Newcastles-in County Down (N. Ireland), S. Africa, New South Wales and Wyoming (U.S.A.). It concluded by saying: "Maybe Newcastle's carillon may one day make the charts."

carillon may one day make the charts."

A peal of Stedman Triples has been rung on the bells which formerly hung in the tower of the Church of St. Peter-in-the-East, Oxford, and were bought by the Oxford Diocesan Guild when the church was converted into a library. They were stored until another church in the diocese wished to buy them. Many peals were rung on them in Oxford at the end of the last century and the early years of the present one. Mr. F. Sharpe was the only member of the band who had rung on the bells in Oxford and was his first peal after his serious illness in 1968.

Who was the respected captain of a well-known West Middlesex 10-bell tower who concluded "it wasn't his night" at a recent practice? He rang up a stayless bell and, holding it on the balance, sat down on the adjacent bench to wait for the other ropes to be manned. Rising from his seat, he lost control of the bell and over it went. The rope disappeared into the bell chamber, caught on something and broke. Undaunted, later in the practice he took the bell again and this time let it over a bit too far at backstroke. He then entreated: "Well, hold me down someone . . . I must have lost weight!"

CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

RINGING WORLD COMMITTEE Annual Report, 1969-70

Our report for last year referred to changes and cost of improvements in the format of the Ringing World; this year has been one of even more change — of Editor, of Convener and of still further changes in appearance.

Following a brief meeting at St. Albans, the committee have met in August, 1969, at Rugby, in November, 1969, and March, 1970, in London. In spite of long distances, the five members of the committee, Mr. D. Hughes our treasurer, and the two Editors have recorded 100% attendances, and at each of our meetings a member of the dais has also been welcomed. On October 1, 1969, Mr. C. W. Denyer took

On October 1, 1969, Mr. C. W. Denyer took up his appointment as Editor, a very happy outcome of many years of search and weeks of negotiation. From that date until the end of the year the services of Mr. T. W. White were retained as a consultant, and the smoothness of the change-over is greatly due to this.

Our new Editor, with his long experience of the technical side of the work, has been able, with the committee's agreement, to negotiate with Seven Corners Press Ltd., so that by the adoption of type and layouts which were more economical with the apparatus available we have been able to obtain the agreement of our printers for the maintenance of the existing (1969) charges for printing the Ringing World for a further 12 months at least. With rising costs and wages this is no mean achievement and we congratulate Mr. Denyer on the outcome.

We introduced Mr. Denyer and his family to our readers in the Ringing World of August 22, 1969 (page 649). The progress made since he took over has been received so favourably by the large majority of the readers that our hopes for the future under his care are high. He has shown great readiness to make various small changes suggested by readers and, with our support, he will continue to do so wherever possible to meet valid criticism.

In the Ringing World of September 19, 1969 (page 723), we paid a full tribute to Mr. White for his magnificent service to the Exercise for 23 years. And in the same issue, in the name of the Central Council and of the committee, we launched an appeal to the Exercise to show their appreciation. We are gratified to note that at the time of this report the response had been well up to our hopes. At the Council meeting this year the President will present to Mr. White a very tangible token of the esteem and affection in which he is held by ringers everywhere. We are grateful to Mrs. Staniforth who has received, acknowledged and banked the many contributions, and we thank all who have supported us.

The accounts for 1969 will as usual be presented separately, but we are pleased to quote from our auditor's report that they "reveal a profit for the year of £791, as compared with a loss for the previous year of £966. Taking into account the Selective Employment Tax refund which was received in respect of previous accounting periods, it is apparent that your newspaper broke even during the second six months of the year." We should draw attention particularly to the fact that during the last three months of 1969 additional expenditure was incurred for the salary of the new Editor and the retaining fee paid to Mr. White as consultant.

Further changes at Guildford include the taking over by Seven Corners Press Ltd. of the work previously done by the Surrey Advertiser. This meant that new arrangements had to be made for the distribution of newsagents' copies, hitherto carried out for us by the Surrey Advertiser since the cessation of business of Rolls House. We are pleased to say that Mr. Lucas at Guildford has now undertaken this work also and we are no longer dependent on other firms, being our own distributor and publisher.

With the advice and help of our auditor, Mr. David Tate, the system of accounting by Mr. Lucas has been revised during the year so that we are now able to keep a frequent check on the financial position throughout the year, without calling and paying for a full scale interim audit, as we dld in 1969. To quote the auditor again, "the additional work Mr. Lucas has taken on has meant that it has not been necessary for us (the auditor) to ask for an increased fee for the preparation of the accounts, despite rising costs." Our thanks are clearly due and have, of course, been given both to Mr. Lucas and to Mr. Tate.

We are still unable to say whether any dividend will be received following the liquidation of Rolls House, referred to in our last annual report, but it will be recalled that the whole amount has already been written off.

We have found it necessary, because of the need to preserve topicality, to rule that, unless in the clear interest of the Exercise, news items received in the Ringing World office later than one calendar month after the event shall not normally be published. This decision was announced to our readers on August 29, 1969.

We have also found it necessary to warn our readers of our concern at the delay of certain contributors in submitting peals for publication. Peals six months old are not news and only add to the unwanted backlog of peals at certain times of the year. We have considered this matter further and peals sent in which are three months old, or over, will be printed in abbreviated form, as used for quarter peals.

One of the items we have dealt with was the question of charges for the new pictorial covers, and because of possible confusion between the report in the Ringing World of December 5, 1969 (page 947), and the correction printed on December 19 (page 989), we feel it desirable to reiterate here that when for a particular reason a guild or a band ask for the cover picture and accompanying articles for a specific date we considered it right both to charge for the block and to hope for payment for 50 copies of that issue.

Our experiment with Gift Tokens last December was only partially successful—some of the subscriptions so obtained would have been received anyway. However, the form of application did not appear until December 12. We shall repeat the experiment next Christmas, giving longer notice.

As we announced on December 5, we have decided on a new venture—a Ringing World calendar for 1971—to be produced during this coming summer and containing for each month a full-size picture selected from our covers. We hope to have samples on display at Ilkley and shall welcome comments from members of the Council. Any advance orders that can be given will help us to assess likely demand. We ask for the support of the whole Exercise for this venture and can think of no more appropriate calendar for a ringer's home or for the ringing chamber.

Next year the Ringing World will celebrate its Diamond Jubilee—a wonderful feat for a journal such as ours and a tribute not only to the work of our predecessors and the successive editors, but also to the keen interest and support of many devoted readers. Recalling the success of our Golden Jubilee number, we are considering ideas for a suitable celebration issue and will welcome any suggestions which our readers may care to submit either to the Editor or our Convener.

The Index for 1969 has been prepared separately from the journal as another experiment. You will not have to extract the Index from the paper so that it can be bound or filed at the front or back of the volume. We have been able to use those pages for other matter and at the same time save the cost of printing separately. Once again we have to thank Mr. H. L. Roper for giving so much time and patience to the task of preparing the Index, and this year the anonymous typist who made it possible to produce the copies at negligible cost.

We have decided that this coming August we shall retain pictorial covers and not as formerly issue 16-page papers without covers.

Readers will have noticed that in recent issues there have appeared photographs attributed to the Ringing World itself. We have to thank our new Editor, who deliberately chose as a parting gift from his former employers an appropriate camera, so that he could take such photographs when he attends meetings and social functions, thus giving us all pleasure and saving cost to the Ringing World.

We are still greatly concerned at our circulation figures. The average weekly sales for the first two months of 1970 were 5,781, compared with an average for the first half of 1968 of

THE NEW FOREST AREA

After two visits to Norfolk, this year's annual outing for Hornchurch ringers took place in and around the New Forest area. The majority of the band, with wives, friends and children, gathered at Bishop's Waltham for coffee, then strolled to the tower, where we were met by Mr. Colley with the news that a broken clapper had put one of our towers for the following day out of action. His offer to find a substitute was gratefully accepted.

Our second tower was at Curdridge, and then we moved on to Romsey for lunch. Here we were met by Tom East, an expatriate Hornchurch ringer (now living in the Isle of Wight), and his wife, who joined us for most of the week-end.

A feature of the Hornchurch week-end outings is the quality and quantity of food consumed, and the long climb to the ringing chamber at Romsey Abbey immediately after lunch made some regret recent excesses, especially the final narrow ascent.

The maze-like one-way systems of Southampton caused some confusion in getting to St. Mary's, and here we learned that we could ring at Alton the following day.

We next rang on the six at Fawley, surrounded by an oil refinery, then through the Forest to the last tower of the day, at Lymington, and to Lyndhurst for the night.

An early start on Sunday took us to Christchurch Priory to ring for Matins and, after a glimpse of the sea, on to Ringwood. A picnic lunch was taken in the Forest and then a dash to our substitute tower at Alton.

Unfortunately, some of us were unaware that Alton has two parish churches, and spent some time waiting at the first one we came to. The remainder (with what they called common sense) went to the right tower.

Our last ring was at Westerham (Kent), where we rang for Evensong, admired the statue of Sir Winston Churchill and, following dinner, made our final run home.

All were unanimous that it had been a thoroughly enjoyable occasion, and our sincere thanks are due to all who had made it possible—the incumbents, the local ringers who met us (especially Mr. Colley for his efforts) and Frank Gant, who did all the organisation.

6,150, for the second half, after a price increase, of 6,012 and for the first quarter of 1969 of 5,907. We hope all readers will appreciate that continued improvement in our service to them depends on an increasing circulation.

We must end this already long report with our thanks to all who have helped in any way to maintain and we think enhance the service we have been able to give to the Exercise. To those mentioned earlier in this report; to Mr. David House who has prepared the leading peal ringers' list; to Mrs. Lucas who continues to work valiantly in the Ringing World office; to the staff of Seven Corners Press for their cooperation in the production of what many of your letters call the New Look; to those friends who have provided a place for our meetings, and wonderful hospitality; and above all to our loyal supporters, both for their written contributions to our pages, for their regular purchase of the paper and their generous voluntary contributions. The Convenor wishes specially to thank all those, whether Committee members or not, who have helped him to get through very long agendas at our meetings, and Mr. White and Mr. Denyer for their never-failing support in all he and the Committee have tried to do.

THE OTHER DAVID J. MARSHALL

There seemed to be a slow response to the invitations to the marriage at Daventry in July of David J. Marshall and Pamela M. Major. The bride's father is treasurer of the R.D.C. and his usual "requests" are left until another day. However, word got round and friends and ringers gathered in bright sunshine to give symbolic treatment to the splicing.

Daventry ringers fired with their usual precision before and after the ceremony and next day a band made an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Marshall Delight Major. However, amends were made at a later date and the peal was scored with the bridegroom conducting. The organ was played by the master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, Mr. Malcolm J. Tyler, and included Stanley's Bell Allegro.

Miss Clare Chapman, daughter of the Daventry ringing master, was a bridesmaid and the best man was Mr. Malcolm Mc-Connachie, a school friend of the couple and a former local ringer.

The happy couple made their getaway in an ex-Army vehicle, camouflaged in a most unmilitary-like fashion, and the latest report was that computer punchings still keep dropping out in the most unexpected places, but they feel well and truly married.

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Ringing World for September 7, 1945.

Under the heading "Peal Ringing in Kent," 12 peals were rung in a week, all being conducted by P. A. Corby.

Referring to the quick peal at Beccles (3 hours and 13 minutes), "B." wrote "You might ring a fair peal there in 3 hours and 55 minutes, but ten minutes longer would be better."

In certain cases where learners are unusually mentally alert call changes can serve a certain purpose, but almost everywhere the practice of Original or plain hunting on five and six bells will prove far more profitable.—Rev. E. S. Powell on teaching learners. teaching learners.

R. F. B. Speed asked all ringers and intending ringers coming up next term to communicate with him at Caius College, Cambridge.

. . . Erin naturally brings up the beautiful course-end music with 54 changes . . . there is no comparison in Stedman, even in short courses—J. W. Parker's comments, to which the leader answered . . . comparatively few who have rung the method have done so in the course of peals . . and their experience is that it tends to be monotonous, not only to ring, but to listen to.

At Hyde, Cheshire, Miss Mary Elkins rang her first peal, Double Norwich, on the 2nd, conducted by C. Kenneth Lewis.

Thomas W. White rang the treble at Holy Trinity, Guildford, for Grandsire Triples. Two peals of Minor on handballs at Stokener Trept, were conducted by bells at Stoke-on-Trent were conducted by

R. S. Anderson.

Three letters on the firing of bells were printed from William Ambler, Fred J. Lambert and Charles A. Bassett.

50 YEARS AGO September 10, 1920.

The 14 bells at Buckfast Abbey were being rehung with new fittings by Messrs. William Aggett and Sons of Chagford.

A peal of Minor at Frant, Sussex, was rung by six of the Lambert family: Richard B., William H., Frederick J. (jun.), Frederick J. (sen.), Reginald E. and Robert T.

Bristol Surprise Major rung at Leiston included five Bailey brothers, and another at Worlingworth had four Baileys, whilst at Whitley Bay five ringers named Gofton took part in a peal—also Bristol Surprise Major.

The deaths were announced of George Balls (58), Earl Soham, Suffolk; Richard W. Baker, (56), Langham, Rutland; John Blackburn, (73), Staincliffe, Batley, Yorks; John Wymer, Wymondham, Leics; and Samuel Paice (64), Wokingham, Berks.

The leader spoke of bell restorations and of the peglect of bells in churches in the of the neglect of bells in churches in the Metropolis, and a correspondent (Charles Withecomb) lamented the condition of the bells at St. James', Bermondsey, which were almost unringable.

Daniel T. Matkin conducted his first peal—Grandsire Doubles—on handbells at Ludlow, Salop, William R. Nash and Percy Lane ringing their first on handbells.

A team on a day excursion into Suffolk rang touches at Polstead, Stoke Nayland and Stratford, and Mr. C. J. Sedgley conducted.

St. James, Bermondsey, S.E.

Since the early years of the 19th century, Bermondsey has been part of South-East London, as it is no more than two or three miles from the City on the south bank of the River Thames. St. James's Church stands just off Jamaica Road, in the centre of an area where old terraced houses stand side by side with modern blocks of flats, and its fine Classical steeple will be well known to those who travel on the railway which runs along a viaduct nearby from London Bridge and Charing Cross Stations to Kent and Surrey.

The church was built in 1827-29, and is surely the most impressive as well as one of the largest and most expensive of the "Commissioners' Churches." The architect, James Savage, had some years earlier designed St. Luke's, Chelsea, and it is interesting to note that for Bermondsey he reverted from the Gothic to the Classical style. The proportions are very pleasing, and when the present restoration and redecoration are completed the interior will be most beautiful and well worth a visit. Such a vast building is in many ways unsuitable for the needs of the present local church community and some re-arrangement of the seating, etc., is being made; however, many people will be glad that, thanks to the Friends of Friendless Churches and other bodies, the restoration was possible.

As at Chelsea and at many other churches of this period, Thomas Mears II, of Whitechapel, was commissioned to provide a ring of bells for Bermondsey, and so in 1828 he cast a 25 cwt. ring of ten in the key of D and hung it in what appears from outside to be quite a small tower. It is said that the metal was provided from cannon brought back from the Battle of Waterloo, and if this is true one can perhaps imagine that some of the original thunder of the guns still remains when one hears the ten bells being rung. For, though excellence of tone can never be said to have been one of Thomas Mears' strong points, yet the tenor is quite a grand and powerful bell, and the whole ring has a certain presence.

The frame and nearly all the fittings are still the original ones. It was presumably a matter of principle that as many bells as possible should be hung on one level, and the installation is certainly a skilful one from this point of view, the treble and third being the only bells on a second tier. However, this arrangement means that all the ropes fall very close to the walls of the ringing room, which is immediately below the belfry, with consequent difficulties in handling and rope-sight.

A tablet in the church records that the bells were rehung in 1897, but this "rehanging" cannot have involved more than the replacement of gudgeons and bearing brasses, as few other fittings appear to be later than 1828. A few peals have been rung, the last being one of Caters in the 1920's, and this is known to have been very hard work. By 1930 the bells had become derelict.

Early this year the same company of enthusiasts who had re-opened such neglected rings as those at St. Paul's, Shadwell (across the Thames from Bermondsey), St. Paul's. Homerton, and St. Mary's, Islington, approached the vicar of St. James's, the Rev.

Michael Whinney, with a view to restoring the ring. Mr. Whinney and the P.C.C. accepted the proposal with enthusiasm, particularly as it was appropriate to bring the bells back to life at the time of the general restoration of the church, and the go-ahead was soon given by the architect, Mr. Anthony Swaine, and by Mr. Alan Frost of the C.C. Towers and Belfries Committee, who kindly made a preliminary inspection. Five months of evening and week-end work ensued, including repairing, renewing, altering, adding, painting and testing, and the full ring was first heard for morning service on July 12.

Mr. Frost made a further report and it was generally agreed that while the bells are certainly not easy to ring and need the careful handling of experienced ringers, they are not in any way unsafe. A quarter peal may be rung on the day of the rededication of the church later this year, and further ringing will take place from time to time. It is even hoped locally that a band can be raised from the parish to ring at least the front six bells more regularly.

MEMORIAL QUARTER

On Sunday, August 30, 12 friends of Mrs. E. D. Catherall, whose death we reported earlier this year, met and rang a fine quarter peal of Stedman Cinques as a memorial tribute for her loyalty and service to the Church of St. Laurence, Reading. The writer and Mrs. Rampton are proud to think of the distance the friends came to pay homage. (Two had rung with her for 50 years.)

The band stood as follows: William Hibbert 1, Joyce Parsons 2, Albert Tyler 3, Kathleen Chilcott 4, David Parsons 5, John Hibbert 6, William Coles 7, John Napper 8, Michael Chilcott (Conductor) 9, Roger Overington 10, Brian White 11, William Rampton 12.

Afterwards, as good ringers, all went to the usual place of refreshment, silently toasted her and departed their various ways, some of the ringers (as can well be realised) having to go quite a distance to reach home.

UNIVERSITY OF WALES

Our summer tour this year was in East Anglia and held from August 17 to August 23. The company met in Cambridge, and after ringing there and at the detached Norman tower at Bury St. Edmunds "home" was made at St. Clements Church Hall, Ipswich, for the first part of the week. The second half of the week was centred on Norwich, and the week ended in a climax by ringing the 12 at St. Peter Mancroft for Sunday service as well as at three other Norwich towers.

During the week about 40 churches were visited, including St. Mary the Virgin's, East Bergholt (5). The standard of ringing was fair, with the usual Surprise methods being rung, but perhaps the tour was best noted for the variety of unusual methods attempted, including Tolly Cobbold.

A quarter peal was scored at Pulham Market, and generally a successful week was had by all.

The society thanks all for attending (members and non-members) and extends a warm "thank you" to all in East Anglia who gave such a warm welcome.

WILL THEY NEVER LEARN?

It was a coincidence that on the same day that "Over the Roof" appeared in The Ringing World (page 671), another theft was reported from the same church and committed by the man who had watched the remaining bells being lowered. He boasted of his part in the theft of some of the bells; and the following report from the Western Morning News of August 27 is sent by Mr. John Fidler:

Stole Lead from Church Roof

Nearly five months after being jointly convicted of stealing the bells from the disused St. Edmund's Church, Exeter, a 26-year-old man appeared before Exeter magistrates for stealing lead from the roof. He was Ronald William Hannaford, of St. James Road, Exeter, who was gaoled for a total of nine months.

A six months suspended prison sentence passed in March for the joint theft of the church bells was enforced, and included in the total of nine months was one month's imprisonment for £100 outstanding from a fine of £120 made at his March appearance.

From The Times, 7/3/19. BELL SALE AT CHRISTIES "THE BELL OF THE CLOUDS"

The chief feature at Christie's sale yesterday was the "Clog and Air," or "Clog na Neal" (the Bell of the Clouds), a bell traditionally associated with St. Seran of Iniscatha, Scattery Island, and of which the vendor was Mr. Marcus Keane, J.P., of Beach Park, Ennis. The bell, the original portion of which dates back from the 10th century, was described in the "Times" of August 13th, 1918, and has attracted a good deal of attention while on view during the last few days.

Bidding for it was started yesterday at 100 guineas and at 1,250 guineas fell to Mr. Harding, with Mr. Harman as the underbidder. We are informed that Mr. Harding was acting on behalf of Mr. George W. Panter, M.A., Fellow of the Irish Society of Antiquaries, who is presenting the bell to the Irish Nation, the custodian to be the Royal Irish Academy

ABOUT THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

THE SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING AND EDUCATION COMMITTEE

FOLLOWING a detailed survey of 253 towers in Yorkshire by Mr. Norman Chaddock, this committee was set up on his proposition in 1958 to investigate and report upon the state of Sunday service ringing throughout the British Isles and to make recommendations for improvement. A 10-page report summarising the results of the survey, together with appropriate recommendations, was laid before the Council in 1959. The Ringing World gave full support with publicity and supplementary articles.

A thousand copies of extracts from the report, with recommendations, were circulated to church authorities in every diocese and archdeaconry.

The impact of the survey in encouraging ringing associations to examine their responsibilities and initiate action where needed was impressive.

Following this "mammoth" task the committee was given responsibility for educational aspects of ringing, and its work has continued unabated for 12 years.

A sequel to the survey was the Council's publication "Ringing for Service," which gives valuable advice to ringers and others on the recruitment of ringers and the organisation of the local band. In this project and in the report on the survey Mr. Philip Gray played a leading role.

Canon Gilbert Thurlow and Mr. Frank Lufkin undertook initial action and responsibility in connection with theological col-

Over the years various tasks, such as the Council's recruiting leaflet and the Collection of Belfry Prayers, have been entrusted to the committee. In 1964 two members of the committee were selected to go to Washington, where their experience was of great assistance in the "crash course" in training ringers for the new cathedral.

One of the most beneficial developments over recent years has been the establishment of day and residential weekend courses which have, amongst other things, brought ringers in contact with educational authorities and opened their eyes to the value of ringing as a culture and a discipline. The Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee has played an important part in pioneering and promoting bellringing courses. Outstanding examples are: (1) the annual weekend courses at Hereford, organised by Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton in conjunction with the Hereford Guild. For some of the students here, during the 1969 course, lectures and practical sessions extended over five days, a new experiment which proved successful and this has been repeated.

(2) The annual course at Grantley Hall, Yorkshire, organised by Mr. Norman Chaddock for the West Riding County Council. Courses here have continued annually for ten years and various new techniques have been tried and developed progressively.

Assistance by correspondence and in person has been given in connection with other courses organised by various associations. Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who joined the committee following his term of office as president, has been a first choice as lecturer on many of these courses, and his vast store of knowledge and equipment has enhanced many a weekend course.

The committee was also given the task of producing a tutor's handbook, Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton being mainly responsible for drafting Part I (Bell Control to Plain Hunting) and Mr. Norman Chaddock being mainly responsible for Part II (Elementary Change Ringing).

Mr. Norman Chaddock, former convener of the committee.

Another major task was the production of a gramophone record for instructional purposes, illustrating good striking in simple methods, as widely practised for Sunday service ringing.

Mr. Clive Smith was appointed to the committee to help with the technical aspects and compile the master tape for this record.

Present and past members of the committee have devoted a great deal of time to its work. At peak times the convener has had an almost full-time job. Miscellaneous enquiries dealt with by him are received every few days, and many of these require much more than a formal answer. Replies include preparing and giving advice on such things as organising evening institute courses, syllabuses, recruitment and training, notes for talks and articles on bell-ringing, teaching techniques and loan of visual aids, tower open days, relationships with church authorities, Girl Guide and Boy Scout badges, striking contests, loan and sale of filmstrips on bell control, taperecordings and regular hire of the Washington film.

The committee's work has been of value to hundreds who are endeavouring to promote Sunday service ringing, often under difficult conditions. The appreciation expressed by many of these makes the work worthwhile.

In 1965, in his final report as secretary, Mr. E. A. Barnett, now vice-president of the Central Council, referred to the activities of the Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee as being a notable example of the Council's responsibilities for the welfare of the Exercise in general. WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

The time may be ripe for another detailed survey of Sunday service ringing. Ringing as a hobby and as a way of expressing intellectual and physical achievement flourishes as never before. Is the quality and regularity of Sunday service ringing in the 5,000 or more "ringable" towers progressing at the same rate?

The opportunity is at hand for Council members, in their mood for change and the desire to take on responsibility, to ensure the continuity and expansion of this vital section of the Council's activities.

St. Albans District.

EXPERIMENTAL MEETINGS

Two experimental meetings have been arranged by the district, one in September and the other in November. At each meeting the evening ringing will be a social occasion, giving everybody a ring but with no attempt at serious instruction for learners. During the afternoon, however, the ringing will be at several towers and aimed at several different levels of ability.

At one tower the ringers will endeavour to produce good rounds and call changes and in helping learners through the difficult stages of plain hunting and ringing "inside." At the second tower a restricted number of ringers will have the opportunity of extending their repertoire to the slightly more difficult methods, whilst at the third tower it is hoped to arrange a quarter peal of Surprise Major for those who rarely get the opportunity to stand in one.

At each place there will be a nucleus of

At each place there will be a nucleus of competent ringers to ensure that the best possible chance is given to all to enjoy and achieve some measure of improvement in their ringing.

If the experiment is successful it is hoped, subject to modifications as experience indicates, to introduce this style of meeting on a regular basis with, possibly, "full" quarterly meetings in the traditional style.

RAISING FUNDS

An article in The Notts Free Press about the bells and ringers at St. Wilfrid's Church, Kirkby-in-Ashfield, Notts, makes interesting reading, as well as appealing for financial help.

They Want Ring of Six
Bellringing in St. Wilfrid's Church,
Kirkby, all began about 400 years ago.
Then there was one bell, in 1800 there were three bells and today there are five. Now the dozen bellringers are thinking up money-raising schemes for a sixth bell, which must be the last since the tower cannot hold any more.

The present band of bellringers, all girls between the ages of 12 and 16, except Mr. Sollis (tower captain) and the deputy tower captain, have been ringing for the past 15 months since the break-up of the previous band when most of the members left the area to go to college, leaving the tower captain to find new recruits.

The target which must be reached by the bellringers for the new bell is £313. This will be needed to complete the payment on the old clock bell which used to hang over the Stockwell Gate entrance to the Co-op, Mansfield. Most of the money will be spent on recasting the bell at the bell foundry in Loughborough.

One of the money-raising ideas which has already been put into action is a guess-the-weight competition of the new treble bell.

Other ideas for raising money include an old time dance and a prize draw. The band foresee that it will take them about two years to raise the money and would be pleased to hear of any original fund-raising schemes to help them with their task.

VILLAGE BELLS

Then let the village bells, as often wont, Come swelling on the breeze, and to the sun Half-set, sing merrily their evening song Now dying all away, now faintly heard, And now with loud and musical relapse Its mellow changes huddling on the ear.

—James Hurdis.

SOMERSET AUGMENTATION

The Mendip village of Ston Easton has an unpretentious Perpendicular church, dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary. It was well restored in the last century and has a modest tower, in marked contrast to that of Chewton Mendip, which has one of the more spectacular of the many famous steeples in the county. For some years the five bells, all cast by Thomas Bilbie, of Chew Stoke (1752/53), have been unringable, but on August 27 they were rededicated after recasting, with a new treble, and rehung in a new frame.

The church was filled for the service, which took the form of Choral Evensong, conducted by the vicar (Rev. Kelvin Williams), the rededication being performed by the Bishop of Taunton (Rt. Rev. Francis Horner West), who also gave the address. Ringers from all over the diocese attended the ceremony, with visitors from the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

Immediately following the prayer of dedication some perfectly-struck rounds were rung by a representative band, and after the service the ringing was under the direction of Mr. R. G. Beck, who saw that everyone had an opportunity for a touch.

The new ring, possibly the lightest in the diocese, has been recast by the Whitechapel Foundry and the "go" is excellent, although some experienced ringers found the front bells difficult to control at first, and there was admiration for the faultless rounds earlier in the proceedings. A band of learners has already been recruited and are under the tuition of the Chilcompton

The original tenor weighed 9 cwt., and the inscriptions have been retained in the recastings. The weights of the new bells are as follows: Treble, I cwt. 3 qr. 1 lb., B; 2nd, 1-3-20, A; 3rd, 2-1-17, G; 4th, 2-3-17, F sharp; 5th, 3-1-10, E; tenor, 4-0-21, D.

The 1604 bell which once hung in St. Mary's Church, Wolverhampton. It was used for a time at Tettenhall Church, and now hangs outside the Church of Christ the King at Aldersley, Wolverhampton. There is every reason to believe that it once formed part of the old ring of five bells at Tettenhall, the other four now being at Codsall Church. (See Ringing World, page 714).

We had a brief reference on page 703 to the 51st wedding anniversary ringing for Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Grant, of Headcorn, Kent. A photo taken on that occasion shows those who took part in the quarter peal rung that day.

PEALS AROUND THE WEALD

We printed last week the details of a peal tour and the following is a summary of the event:-

Twenty-seven peals were attempted, five were lost and one was stopped. The peal at Maidstone started at six minutes past eight in the morning, due to a service being arranged for 11.30 a.m. Wilfred Williams arrived at 11.30 a.m. to listen-and found no ringing!

Tony Smith rang 13 peals out of 14 and Ken Hesketh rang 12 out of 12!

"STAY AT HOME" PEAL WEEK
In mid-July several ringers in the St. Albans area discovered that during the first week in August they would be on holiday, and at home, with nothing to do! It was resolved to arrange an afternoon peal each day, and letters were written and friends with holidays and time to spare were contacted. On the Monday a peal of Cassiobury Surprise Major was rung at Knebworth, and on Tuesday a new composition of Rutland Surprise Major by Christopher Forster (another Hertfordshire local) was brought round rather fast at Norton.

The band ventured north on Wednesday to Clifton, Bedfordshire, where Superlative was lost through a miscall after 12 hours' very good ringing. The following day, in home territory at Barkway, a very good The following day, in peal of Easingwold Surprise Major was rung. Friday's attempt was at Old Harlow, Bouble Norwich Court Bob Major conducted by a well-known tenor ringer and exponent of the method. Unfortunately the composition did not seem quite normal and the attempt came to an untimely halt.

The week was most enjoyable (and cheap!) with everyone living at home. Seventeen ringers took part in five attempts and the only observation to be made is that Hertfordshire bells seem to know how to ring peals better than foreign ones! . . . O.K. . . O.K. . . . we'll stay at home next time! A. W. R. W.

ONE HUNDRED PEALS AT 14

Katharine M. Thorley, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Martin Thorley, of Laxfield, Suffolk, completed her first 100 peals at the age of 14 years and 5 months by ringing the 2nd at Halesworth, Suffolk, to a peal of Pudsey Major on Bank Holiday Monday.

Born in Leeds on March 12, 1956, she was taught to handle a bell by her parents at Caldecott (Rutland) during the summer of 1965, and rang her first quarter there at the age of 10. Her first peal was rung at Deeping St. Nicholas, Lincolnshire, on October 28, 1967 (five Minor methods "inside") and she repeated this performance before the end of the year. Then followed a move to the rather remote village of Laxfield, in N.E. Suffolk, and this, coupled to the arrival of a second sister, led to a short period of comparative inactivity in ringing matters.

ROYAL AT 12

However, once things became organised again, peals became a normal part of her ringing life, and whilst still 12 years old she scored peals of Royal and Surprise Major and conducted a peal of Minor at the age of 13. Her century includes peal in 11 different Major methods and up to 14 methods of Minor. She has rung peals in 39 towers in seven counties and completed the circle in one. A member of the Ladies' Guild since the age of two weeks, Katharine had the pleasure of ringing in an all-ladies' peal a few days before her 14th birthday. Both her father and grandfather rang their first peals as teenagers and have reached three-figure totals, but it is from her mother that she has inherited her love of tower-grabbing, whose present total is around the 500 mark.

Having achieved an under-age place at the Rutland Girls' High School in 1966, Katharine is now a fifth-former at the Mills Grammar School in Framlingham and shortly takes the first of her "O" levels.

The Raving Ringers A TOUR IN DEVON

The annual tour of the Raving Ringers was in Devon from July 24 to August 2, 14 members (many new ones) taking part.

Everyone reached Withycombe Raleigh on Friday for the local practice and later proceeded to Frank Mack's house to sample the tiny ring of six horse bells in his garage and ten handbells in the bedroom. It was 11.30 p.m. before we finally reached our centre, Okehampton.

On Saturday we were joined by Beryl Simpson and rang at Throwleigh, where the pleasant six were greatly enjoyed. After ringing at Manaton we elected a second ringing master (Alan Flood) and had the first of many alfresco lunches before going on to Wolborough, where we enjoyed the fine eight. At Brixham, Yorkshire Royal and Stedman Caters were successfully brought round, while in contrast we rang some Devon-style call-changes on the eight at Upton (Torquay), which has a first-class local call-change band. At Babbacombe, the last tower of the day, we were met by Don Roberts, the secretary of the Guild of Ringers, who had assisted the organisers of

At Okehampton we rang for and attended morning service and later were welcomed by the vicar. Ringing in the afternoon was in Exeter, with a stop at the six at Tedburn St. Mary on the way. At St. Mark's, Exeter, some good ringing was enjoyed on the light eight, and here we were joined by Graham Austin (Liverpool), who had been delayed. At the Cathedral, where we rang for evensong, we were rather disappointed because a few days previously the tenor clapper had fallen out, thus bringing the aspirations of budding tenor-men to an abrupt halt. However, the minor ten were magnificent. Our last tower was at Teignmouth, where we rang for the holiday-makers' service.

On Monday we first went to Moreton-hampstead and in the afternoon Buckfast Abbey, where we were met by Father Paulinus Angold. After ringing we were privileged to ring the 7½ ton Bourdon bell. In the evening we rang at one of the outstanding eights of the tour—St. Saviour's, Dartmouth, and the last tower of the day was at Bovey Tracey.

Percy Newton joined us on Tuesday and we rang on the last official ten of the tour at Cullompton and Yorkshire Royal was brought round. Probably the best eight of the tour was at Tiverton, and we hope that we did the bells justice.

The next day we rang three very good eights in the morning at Heavitree, Broadclyst and Ottery St. Mary, and in the afternoon we held our A.G.M. in Sidmouth. It was decided to hold next year's tour in Lincolnshire and the reunion at Stratfordon-Avon. Peter Heritage was elected master and later we rang at Woodbury.

Thursday was our most strenuous day

Thursday was our most strenuous day with 11 towers, two of which were in Cornwall (Poughill and Stratton). At Stratton, at the request of the local ringers, we rang a quarter peal for the local fete, just as we did in 1966 when we toured Cornwall.

Friday was not quite so strenuous (a mere ten towers), but the organiser had not taken into account the first tower. Brent Tor, at the top of a hill 1,200 feet up. The climb sorted out the fittest, the unfit just managing a few leads of Grandsire Doubles. In the afternoon we were joined at Plympton St. Mary by Norman Mallett and Bob Southwood, and an almost faultless touch of 8-spliced Surprise Major was rung. The lighter but excellent eight at Plympton St. Maurice went well and the evening was spent convivially, and to the accompaniment of traditional Ravers' songs the minibus made its way back to Okehampton.

We spent our last full day together in North Devon among some good eights— Great Torrington, Pilton, Chittlehampton, South Molton and Chulmleigh, whilst the eight at Barnstaple provided something of a challenge.

The next day we departed early for Exeter, where we rang for morning service at St. David's and Pinhoe, later proceeding home by a rather devious route—Wells Cathedral, where we rang for evensong. At East Pennard we inspected the world's heaviest ringable five, and at Trowbridge the local ringers kindly stood down to allow us to ring for service.

Thanks are due to the numerous clergy who allowed us to invade their towers and to Ron Russ, Chris Venn and Peter Heritage, whose arrangements went so smoothly.

FINISHING THE EIGHTS

In 1968 a few of the less competent of the Stockport Branch decided that it would be a good idea to ring at all the ringable Cheshire sixes, and one of the party being the proud owner of a minibus we set out. A start was made at Mobberley, and we finished at Dodleston in the dark. Since then we have been a little less ambitious, but we have finished the sixes, taken in the twelves, tens, fives and fours, and are now finishing off the eights.

As the originator of the idea has gone, temporarily, South, and did not want to be left out of the eights, we went to Yorkshire on July 18—a dozen of us from Wilmslow, Bredbury, Chapel-en-le-Frith and Marple, including three learners.

We started at Silkstone, where there is a monument in the churchyard commemorating "an awful visitation of the Almighty, which took place . . . on the 4th June, 1838." "On that eventful day the Lord sent forth his Thunder, Lightning, Hail and Rain," which caused 26 human beings to be drowned in the local coalpits—eleven females ages varying from 7 to 17 years, and 15 males from 8 to 17 years. There is a pleasant ring of six in the church tower.

At Hoylandswaine the rope of the fifth did queer things. The sally dodged when you tried to catch it. At Penistone we had lunch followed by ringing on the glorious eight. A very steep hill took us to Shelley, scene of the Elmsley television mast disaster, and another pleasant six followed on close by Kirkburton's eight. Here we were joined by a gentleman who said he had already listened to us at Shelley. It was gratifying to find someone prepared to listen to us twice!

After tea we rang at New Mill (6, and very dark, narrow stairs), Holmfirth (8), perhaps our best ringing of the day, and Meltham (6), where we were rather overawed by photographs of local bands who had won striking competitions. Three of the local band turned up to listen, but we are not the kind of band that wins striking competitions, although we would like to be.

During the day most, if not all, rang something they had not attempted before or were just learning. Nobody would attempt Stedman Minor, although assured that it appears in Shipway, but then nobody seemed to have heard of Shipway!

We arrived back at our gathering place about 9 p.m., happy and tired, grateful to incumbents and local ringers who had done so much to make the day an unforgettable one.

Let each ringer be known by the number of the bell which he rang in the first quarter peal.

Ten quarter peals were rung, the ringers standing as follows:—

DISCOVERIES

Dear Sir, — We inspected recently two derelict rings of bells and discovered:

At the Church of All Saints, Speke, Liverpool, a ring of three, cast by John Taylor and Co., dated 1874, with diameters 28 ins., 30 ins. and 33ins., and hung in a wooden frame and cast with canons.
The most interesting "find" was at the
R.C. Church of St. Michael, Ditton Hall, Widnes. This large church was built by the Stapleton-Bretherton family, who were also responsible for building the R.C. Church of St. Bartholomew, Rainhill, which contains a ring of six by Mears in 1848. Local rumour said that Ditton Church had a ring of bells, hence the investigation.

After the necessary permission, we ascended the tower and found some 20 feet above the bell chamber floor six bells hanging in a wooden frame, level with the louvres. All were cast by William Blews and Sons of Birmingham in 1878, and the details are: Treble: Diameter, 29½ ins., inscription, St. Raphael; 2: 32½ ins., St. Gabriel; 3: 35 ins., St. Michael; 4: 36½ ins., St. Bartholomew; 5: 40 ins., St. Joseph; tenor: 44½ ins., The Great Mother of God, Mary Most Holy; note: between E and F.
The bells are badly corroded and cast with angular canons on wooden headstocks. Remnants of wheels are on all bells but only two have any part of the rims left. Stays are present on four of the bells.

Ropes have been fitted around the flights of the clappers and are attached to a primitive chiming apparatus. It is doubtful if the bells were ever swung and they certainly have not been rung within living memory.

We would be interested if any readers could give any further information.—Yours faithfully.

GRAHAM K. AUSTIN. IAN HEDGCOCK.

Huyton, Liverpool.

WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,-I regret that I must withdraw the record of a peal of Aylestone Surprise Major rung by the Bedfordshire Association at Maulden on April 4, 1964, since I have recently found that the composition is false. -Yours faithfully.

STEPHEN IVIN.

Bletchley, Bucks.

DIARY DETAILS

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. Forder's letter on page 674, I would have thought that Bill Viggers has enough to do without sending out questionnaires general secretaries. Surely it is an obligation for the secretaries to advise the alterations as soon as possible, and not wait to be chased! After all, I would not like to think that they wait for the bank to return cheques unpaid with the answer "Drawer's signature differs" before changing the signatories on the association's bank account.—Yours faithfully,

DAVID HERSCHELL.

Epsom Common, Surrey.

FALSE

Dear Sir,—Re the method "Gamston Surprise" rung in a quarter at Gamston on July 17 (Ringing World, August 21), I regret to say this method is false, and I am grateful to Mr. Cyril Wratten for pointing this out.—Yours faithfully, Retford, Notts. C. PRESTON.

TOWER CAPTAINS—THE MAN OR* THE MONSTER?

Dear Sir,-The appropriate heading can fit any one of us in our dealings with visiting ringers or even our own local team.

Are we humane? In the case of the local band this could mean buying the beer once a week, and to the visitors who write "Can we come?" a ready "Yes" if it is convenient or the rector is agreeable.

But how many of us do this? Don't we find it much easier to write "No" because we want to see a football match or can't be bothered to contact the rector, and of course only we can meet the visitors, no other local ringer is capable of this, and we cannot trust others to remove the clock chime, therefore it is much easier to write "No."

And of the peal bands-we don't want peals rung on our bells-if anybody is going to ring a peal here it will be the local band; we only ring call changes at the moment, but we might learn change ringing one day and then we'll ring a peal. "Never been one here yet and while I'm captain there won't be one."

Then we have the self-styled captain, a veritable one-man band, who manages to control the tower by winding the clock, fitting a rope or even just chatting up the rector with vague promises of teaching a local band.

'Once in, I stay in, and nobody rings here without I say so; now I've got the only belfry key there won't be any ringing unless I'm in charge; I shall do all the calling and occasionally, just to keep the rector happy, I'll fix up a Sunday ring; I must try to get the key to All Hallows as well, no ringing over there, either, I'll stop these tower grabbers."

Well, am I one of these? Doesn't sound like me, but it could be-or am I the tower captain who welcomes the visitors, shakes their hand individually and says "Come again when you're down this way, or "The occasional peal won't hurt, I think we'll ration them to four a year; see what the rector thinks in order of application."

I know which one I would rather be. TOWER CAPTAIN.

JEAN'S WEEK

An appreciation from a correspondent is given below:-

Jean Berriman's quarter peal week in Durham during the first week in August certainly gave those concerned some memories to take away with them—all with a strong flavour of Newcastle "Broon." Even though there were some splendid failures including Double Norwich and Yorkshire. not to mention two Minor catastrophies in Plain Bob — we did score at some Bob Major proved to be the attempts. staple diet; after a quarter in the method at Shildon some were photographed ringing the stuff on handbells and appeared thus in The Northern Echo. The fare was varied with Grandsire Triples, Oxford T.B. and Cambridge Minor for the chosen few, and an adventure into unknown fields for most with Middlesex Triples at Consett on the last day.

Thank you, Jean, for all the work you put into organising it all; thanks to Canon and Mrs. Berriman, too, for enduring our "Scrabble" and sleeping bags in St. Hilda's Vicarage for the week; and to Peter Howard, Geoff Soul and Martin Cass for transport. And thank you, everyone, who let us ring and let us in, making us all so very welcome wherever we went.

LOST LETTERS

Dear Sir,—May I, through the columns of The Ringing World, apologise to the incumbents and local ringers whom I contacted earlier this year in connection with a ringing tour in the Brighton area. fortunately, since moving, all the correspondence appears to have been lost and it therefore will not be possible to go ahead with the tour.

My most sincere apologies to all concerned.—Yours faithfully,

THE HIGH TIDE OF THE COAST OF LINCOLNSHIRE—1571

Dear Sir,-There is much about this poem in The Church Bells of Lincolnshire under the description of the Boston bellsthe upshot was that the tune "The Brides of Enderby" was a piece of poetic fancy.

However, there is a case for the tune being just "firing"! In 1571 there was of course no change ringing as we now know it. Boston then had only five bells, and Mavis Enderby, which is a place nearby, had three.

Supposing the ringers at Mavis Enderby tower were the first in the district to fire their bells at weddings, then the practice of firing could naturally be referred to as "playing the Brides of Enderby." Moreover this warning "tune" was heard "full five good miles away," at which distance no tune or set of changes would be recognisable—but "firing" the five bells would have been unmistakable, and the obvious way of giving out a general warning. -Yours faithfully,

F. H. ERITH.

Colchester, Essex.

Dear Sir,-Although it is possible that Jean Ingelow was using the Brides of Enderby as a euphemism for the bells, as suggested by Peter Sotheran, I think it is much more likely that she was using a local name for a particular set of changes, much as we now use Queens, Tittums and Whittingtons.

This is by no means the poet's only reference to bells, and she displays an unusual knowledge of what was going on.
In her poem "Songs of Seven" we read:

"You bells in the steeple, ring, ring out your changes,

How many soever they be."

Perhaps the lady would have been a ringer had Victorian custom allowed such ringer had Victorian cally, a thing!—Yours faithfully, ROY COLLINS.

Farnham, Surrey.

OLD RINGING WORLDS

Dear Sir,-I have hundreds of old Ringing World copies dating from 1925 or 1926. If anyone would like to have them (or any belfry) would they please contact me. They can be had for uplifting, or carriage forward, but they fill several boxes and are heavy.—Yours faithfully,

C. SNOWDEN. 7 Eldindean Road, Bonnyrigg, Midlothian, Scotland.

BEING BRIEF

Dear Sir,-Your request to be brief in reporting outings, etc., reminds me of the Irish railway ganger who was also re-quested to be brief in his reports of "happenings." Following a derailment, his next report was "Off again, on again, away again, Finnegan."—Yours faithfully, DENNIS H. B. MILLWARD.

SECURITY

A tower captain, making a call this week from a tower in the Oxford Diocese, asked how many bell thefts had occurred recently. The members of his Parochial Church Council were very worried about the safety of their church bells and wanted advice on how to safeguard their ring.

We have reported about six thefts during as many months and there are many more we have not heard about. What then can be done to protect our valuable bells? It is not always the cost of the bell metal that is important but the fact that old and historic bells cannot be replaced.

Much depends, of course, upon the architectural design of the tower, the accessibility to the bell chamber and the location of the church. The habit of locking the tower (or church) door and hiding the key nearby is foolish and should be stopped. The old lock fitted to the door is often worn and a second (Yale-type) lock should be fitted. The steeplekeeper and tower captain should be responsible to see that the door or doors are securely fastened at all times.

The fitting of further locks to trapdoors, slides or whatever other contraption (if any) that leads to the bell chamber, is also essential and, although a nuisance, will help deter any marauder.

We do not think there is a threat to towers where a live band of ringers operates, but the danger is to churches which are remote or closed (and often derelict!) and which possess one or more bells. The church authority in each case should be advised to take down the bells and store them in a safe place.

The classic we reported recently shows how unsuspecting is the church congregation. A single bell (3-4 cwt.) had hung in the turret and been regularly rung, but the bell was removed on a Saturday night, left on a ledge for all to see and taken away on Sunday night. The verger, clergy and congregation all took it for granted that the bell fittings had broken and would need attention, but nobody bothered to find out. The church stands in the centre of a village and beside a main road!

The police, when approached, will always advise on security, and when requested will make periodic checks. Clergy, sextons and weekday regular worshippers should also be alerted to the possibility of theft and asked to report anything unusual.

The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers might well appoint advisers (at a fee) to visit and deliberate with local church councils when asked to do so.

From Canada a christening—of new handbells. For 18 months Canadian handbell peals have been rung on an old set of eight gratefully borrowed from Aston (Birmingham) ringers by David Ingram. Now the "old faithfuls" are joined by 14 beautiful 60-year-old Mears bells. Ruth Horwood, of Kensington, kindly secured the bells for Bill Jackson and had them restored to their original perfection. Within days of their arrival in Toronto eight of these glorious bells were contentedly humming a "christening" peal of the Ilkeston variation.

Belfry Gossip

Spotted at the "proof" stage of a ringing publication recently—a handbell peal with the tenor "size 17 cwt. in A."

Ringing her first quarter peal at Asfordby, Leics, on August 26, was Lorraine French, who at the age of 11 rang her bell perfectly throughout. (Well done, Lorraine.)

First peal congratulations to Gerald H. Allen, Michael K. Till, Graeme P. Turner, Frank Preston, Jane A. Smith, Leslie G. Smith, Philip C. Evans.

Personal Records: J. David Clarke (50 peals), Ernest Preston (50), Alan G. Feaver (100).

Ringing World No. 3097, page 692. "In North Wales." Quote: "Monday we travelled via the coast road, first stopping at a church without bells at Bodelwyddan . . " Statement incorrect—Bodelwyddan has a ring of eight, tenor 14 cwt. odd in F, writes E. G. G.

"We have just returned from Lincoln, where we found the president of the Central Council and his family in magnificent health after a holiday abroad," writes a correspondent.

Two peals reported on page 618 of The Ringing World give the tenor weight at Bowdon, Cheshire, as 14½ cwt. The correct weight is 18 cwt. 5 lb. in E. The bells were recast in 1964, writes Alan G. Brown.

A recording of a quarter peal of Doubles rung at St. Audries, Somerset, on August 30, was made by Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Cape Town and sent to South Africa.

Endeavouring to unearth as yet undiscovered belfries in Germany is Marcus C. W. Sherwood's attractive sister, Claudia, who reports little success so far, but adds "the beer is good." (Perhaps that is all she is there for!)

In our "25 Years Ago" column in the August 14 issue we gave a quarter peal as rung at Eye, Suffolk, when in fact it was rung at Eye in Hereford (a few miles north of Leominster).

We have received from Canada a change of address two-colour announcement card (very elaborately printed) but with no details filled in. Would the sender please contact The Ringing World office?

The Croft family have scored another handbell peal of Bob Major whilst up in Lincoln—Kenneth's old home. James conducted from the tenors—his first as conductor. We are still hoping for Royal from the family—when mother can find the time to join the rest of the family.

The bells of Holy Trinity, Wickwar, Glos, are being rehung, and we understand that the work is now almost completed. John Taylor and Co. are carrying out the work and they are, we believe, also installing two trebles to make a ring of eight at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Warsop, Notts, and this work also is nearly finished.

Michael Livesey, who has been a ringer at Guisborough, Yorks, since 1959 and treasurer since 1960, leaves for Germany shortly to take up a new post in his profession as a chartered accountant. He will be much missed at Guisborough and he will no doubt miss his bellringing.

Overheard one Wednesday evening on a bus in Albert Square, Manchester: "I wonder why the Town Hall bells are ringing tonight," and the reply, "It must be for High Mass."

During the last few weeks we have received many reports of peal tours and requests to print the peals and the tour report in the same issue. This we have endeavoured to do. On Tuesday, September 8, in our first post we had 45 peal reports (including four tours) for publication, and the total "gratefully acknowledged" from these was—3s. 6d. from one tower. The six quarter peals in the same post produced 25s. A suggestion made by one reader is that quarter peals be printed in the larger (8-pt.) type now used for peals, and the smaller (6-pt.) face for peals. This would give approximately two and a half more pages for general matter. [It might be worth considering!—Ed.]

Some friends from the hotel where 1 am staying visited Lundy yesterdaay (August 28) and report that the bells are still in the church porch, writes Mr. R. S. Anderson, from Woolacombe, North Devon, whilst Mr. B. V. Mountjoy tells us that one of the bells is cracked because of corrosion and rust.

St. Andrew's, Farnham, Surrey, has a close link with the police! In addition to P.S. M. Blencowe and his son Peter they have Eddie and Jill Futcher, son and daughter of P.S. J. Futcher, and have now been joined by Anne Mills, daughter of P.S. G. Mills.

Complaints about bells appeared last month in the Gravesend (Kent) Reporter, The Kent Messenger and The Dartford and Swanley Chronicle, and in each case the usual exaggerated accusations were made of ringing for hours non-stop and having to close windows and doors to keep out the noise. A similarity between the reporting suggests that a journalist or similar correspondent had been encouraging residents to make complaints, but fortunately the clergy of the churches concerned refused to be inveigled into clamping down on the bell-ringing.

SCARBOROUGH AREA

On July 11 ringers and old friends from Scalby, Scarborough and Bridlington filled their coach for their outing to the Doncaster area. Thorne's bells were enjoyed, and many thanks to Mr. Leaske for meeting us. At Tickhill, we were rather disappointed to find a neglected belfry, the 7th which took more pulling than the tenor and is very odd-struck.

After an excellent meal in Doncaster we had to apologise to Mr. Johnson at Adwick-le-Street for being 20 minutes late. A happy hour was spent at Campsall, where Mr. W. Fay was able to visit an old friend. Tea was taken in Pontefract as a prelude to enjoyable ringing on the fine eight at All Saints Church. Our last tower was at Sherburn-in-Elmet, where the general verdict was that the youngsters handled these bells better than expected.

Ringing masters during the day were E. P. King, Michael Pickup, Pamela Rennard. Geoffrey Dykes and Alan Grundy. Our thanks for their efforts, also to all who met us (individual letters have been written!). E. P. K.

FAMILY RINGING TOUR

William Butler's latest campanological inspiration of a family ringing tour came to him conventionally at a meeting of the Cockcroft Society, and the Wells and Livingston car loads were immediately involved. Plans were laid for a rendezvous on August 13 at Great Haseley, Oxon, and we all made it! There we enjoyed the very pleasant six and were only sorry that time prevented us from accepting the local ringers' invitation to coffee. We moved on to the anti-clockwise eight at Long Crendon, where a photograph of Rev. F. E. Robinson reminded us of the famous Long Crendon Society, a forerunner of the present Oxford Guild. Despite screams for food, our next stop was at Nether Winchendon (an anti-clockwise five) and we were delighted that Mr. Orchard (an octagenarian-plus) could join us. We also watched with interest the antics of the ringers of the fourth, whose rope passed deliriously near a gently undulating clock weight.

After lunch we visited North Marston (another fine six). Here we found we were a little "backward with our Forward"! We rang at Granborough (an 8 cwt. five) and then at Padbury, where we made good use of the easy-going six, and so to Steeple Claydon, the last tower before tea, where again we found a pleasant ring, the second bell having a rather unique sound, or so we thought . .

Sustenance was again needed so we converged on an already well-trampled picnic spot, discharging food, children and thermos flasks in all directions. Those elevated on chairs were fascinated by our more primitive equipment, particularly the carpets of unknown lineage (Aubusson?). On to Twyford, the final tower, and another good ring, where we received a warm welcome.

Navigating homewards proved erratic due to a dispute as to wot the map said, wot the man in the pub said and wot the signposts said; anyway, despite a divergence at a crossroads we all arrived home safely and are already planning the next trip, which in view of the complement of the weaker sex and stronger teenagers will be restricted again to light bells. We are grateful to all incumbents and to all those who met us at the towers. Finally, we are indebted to David Livingston, who secured the selected bells—his first foray into the uncharted depths of outing organising! J. B.

Our England is a garden, and such gardens are not made By singing "Oh how beautiful," and sitting in the shade,

While better men than we go out and start their working lives

At grubbing weeds from gravel paths with broken dinner knives.

A WEEK IN YORKSHIRE

The venue this year for Mr. George E. Bonham's peal tour was Yorkshire, and on August 8 ringers from Dorset, Cambridge, Herts and Lincs made their way to Ossett. After the usual greetings had been exchanged we ascended the tower for our first peal of Royal (Yorkshire). The ringing was not up to expectation but after the tenor ringer had been persuaded to produce some of his vintage skill the peal was completed in fine style. After a quick repose the party headed for its H.Q. (the Compton Court Hotel) at Cawood, a very pleasant village on the border of the East and West Ridings.

FIRST LOSS

Disaster struck quite early on Sunday, following our matins ringing at Wakefield Cathedral. A short journey down the M1 to Rotherham soon had us pealing out Cambridge Royal, the organiser suitably placed on the treble and the writer on the tenor. After only 12 minutes' ringing the rope of the tenor refused to come down at backstroke (very frustrating to the ringer!). It did, however, give the band an opportunity to refresh themselves. The "knockknock" master was at it again in the afternoon, and via Rawmarsh, Wentworth and Wath-on-Dearne we found ourselves in Barnsley, where we rang for evensong. Some of the party apparently had wandered and had sampled the new 12 at Sheffield Cathedral.

"YORKSHIRE AND SCORE"

An early start was made on Monday in order to get to Hedon, some 50 miles due east. The cry went up "Yorkshire and score": thus the major version was rung in sedate fashion. Those who were out spent the morning visiting Spurn Head and exploring the nature reserve, returning in good time to hear the last few courses of the peal. The first real test came in the afternoon at Patrington. The very unusual entrance into the belfry (a crawl through the transept roof) took us by surprise, but it did not put us off ringing a good peal of 8-spliced "all the work." At the conclusion we were almost blasted out of the tower by another well-known composition, this time for organ solo. Bach supplying the complexities. Kingston - on - Hull practice night and the Berni Inn rounded off our only day in the East Riding.

WHARFEDALE—"EE-BY-GUM"

Blazing sunshine and Wharfedale gave us a splendid tonic for the first peal of the

Our first taste of Yorkshire tail-ends or "tuffs" did not deter our efforts and George B. really distinguished himself in the star performance of the week. A late start at Otley enabled us to take full advantage of the warm weather, Bolton Abbey ruins providing an ideal setting for our handbell experts to show off their prowess. Rutland S.M. with 132 roll-ups kept our attention at Otley, where the organiser was at it again, coping quite well with the 5th rope like a true Indian! Guiseley's fish and chip shop was the next port of call, it being the largest in the country (according to the tenor king, that is).

COLLEGE YOUTHS' PEAL

Wednesday's first attempt was at nearby Tadcaster, where the press were given full details of the tour and where Pat really showed his skill. Three members of the party had opted out by staying in the hotel and ringing a peal in hand (Bob Minor being scored). They later came across to Tadcaster to hear what had developed into a very fast peal of Double Norwich on the rather noble eight. After a short ride to Collingham we squeezed into the small belfry to ring 10-spliced Surprise for the College Youths (a unique feature for a Bonham tour!). A suggestion that we visit York Arts Centre for a ring did not materialise, it being found closed upon arrival. This disappointment was followed by a second — unpalatable steaks in a nearby steak-house.

Our timekeeping record went overboard on Thursday as the morning peal at Campsall started an hour late, Superlative proving tricky although the conductor had chosen one of his "stock" compositions. We made up time by arriving at Selby Abbey early to find Norman Chaddock in the churchyard preparing to record our ringing. Unfortunately a shift and a miscall sealed our fate after almost two hours, so we consoled ourselves by listening to Norman's recordings and drowning our sorrows. Following an excellent meal back at our hotel, the first public performance of the "Bonham Song" was given, copies of which had only just caught the printing presses in time.

YORKSHIRE-FRENCHMEN

A long drive the following morning across the West Riding brought us to Heptonstall, where yet another peal of spliced was rung (4-spliced by Davies) and included three "firsts." Before commencing the peal we had to "eject" two gentlemen whom the writer/conductor thought were local ringers but soon discovered were Frenchmen on holiday. Our bilingual expert put matters to rights and we were left in peace. During the peal, another, in hand, came to grief in the parish hall. Marsden saw the third attempt for Cambridge Royal, this time successful, but it was evident that we were tiring and the peal finished in almost total darkness as we had forgotten the light switch. A gloomy journey back to Cawood ensued, where we had left the tenor king to his own devices all day, but Alan Barber had arrived from Cambridgeshire for the Saturday attempts.

Alas! the last day was upon us, and soon we were speeding towards Harrogate to be welcomed by the incumbent and the press. Rutland S.M. was chosen for the first peal on the magnificent 12 cwt. eight. The peal was part of the Harrogate Festival of Arts and Sciences, we being greatly indebted to the incumbent for allowing us the privilege of ringing here.

Doncaster brought the tour to a close, but the treble rope did not stay the course and descended upon its ringer after almost three hours of London S.M. Grateful thanks was extended to George for organising such an excellent tour before we finally dispersed. Our thanks also go to incumbents and ringers in Yorkshire who made us welcome and for making our stay there G.E.T. an enjoyable one.

UPON A RING OF BELLS

Bells have wide mouths and tongues, but are too weak

Have they not help, to sing, or talk, or speak.

But if you move them they will mak't appear,

By speaking they'l make all the Town to hear.

When Ringers handle them with Art and Skill,

They then the ears of their Observers fill. With such brave Notes, they ting and tang so well,

As to out strip all with their ding, dong, Bell.

A.G.M. REPORT JUST RECEIVED

On Spring Bank Holiday Monday, members and friends from all over the county assembled at Chelmsford Cathedral for the 91st A.G.M. of the Essex Association of Change Ringers.

The service held in the Cathedral was conducted by the Provost, the Very Rev. Hilary Connop-Price.

After the service, a little over 100 members and visitors crowded into the Chapter House of the Cathedral for the business meeting. The master of the association, Frank B. Lufkin, for the first time wore the badge of office, which was presented to the association by the Southend and District Guild of Change Ringers on the winding up of the guild.

After the preliminary formalities of the meeting had been dealt with, the report was formally adopted. The master, in his annual report, spoke of the "Ginger Group" which had been formed to go into different aspects of the association's activities with a view to streamlining and modernising the association as a whole. This committee decided to form six more sub-committees, each with a particular subject to explore, namely: (1) Education and public relations, (2) Social events, (3) Handbells, (4) Finance, (5) Care of bells, (6) Ringing (tower bells). It was pointed out, however, that it was a long-term policy and that continuity was the desired objective.

tinuity was the desired objective.

The master urged all active ringers to do their best in encouraging ringing on Sundays at silent towers and to the giving of help to fellow ringers in need of tuition.

Tribute was paid to the previous master, the late Robert C. Heazel, who died last year after serving as an officer of the association for 20 years. Sincere thanks were given to Mr. Heazel's family, particularly his wife, who had requested that any tribute to him could be in the form of donations to the Essex Association's Bell Restoration Fund. Donations had been received with thanks from individuals and organisations from all parts of the country as a tribute to a man who was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

The treasurer in his report stated that the financial affairs of the association continued to show a healthy position, the balance on the General Account increasing from £17 14s. 11d. to £74 15s. 5d. He was glad to say that the functions held on an association basis during the years had been profitable, thanks to the efforts of members.

In the trustees' report members were reminded that the association's library had been moved from the belfry of Chelmsford Cathedral to the Reference Section of the Chelmsford Borough Library, under the expert care of the borough librarian. In view of the rarity of some of the books the practice of loaning books out was to be discontinued, but would be available for reference at the library.

The number of peals as having been recorded during 1969 amounted to 106; this was six less than that of the previous year, although if it had not been for the successful tour organised by Tom Lock the number would have been well down. It was alarming to note that only 15 members rang their first peals of which five scored their first altogether in a peal at Chigwell, and both they and the conductor are to be congratulated on this achievement. During the year a peal of London Surprise Major was rung at Danbury by officers of the association to mark the 90th anniversary of the association.

After some considerable discussion it was decided that one of the rules should be altered, enabling each district to have a master, secretary and treasurer, one deputy master and a committee representative.

The officers of the association remain unchanged: Master, Frank B. Lufkin; hon. secretary, P. Saltmarsh; hon. treasurer, P. J. Eves; auditors, Miss V. Cross and G. H. Isgar; trustees, J. Clarke, P. J. Came and D. A. S. Symonds.

It was also pointed out that because Miss Hilda Snowdon did not wish to stand as deputy master, and no other nominations being received, the post was vacant for 1970. The master said that Miss Snowdon had not been well during the last 12 months and hoped that she would soon return to full health.

The following were honoured by life membership for services given to ringing: S. Clark (Fyfield), Mrs. A. Crampion, C. Jay (Rettendon), C. L. Matson (South Benfleet), F. May (Rayleigh), J. Negus (Elmdon) and H. Watts (Stansted).

RINGING AT HARROLD

Over the past 18 months a new band of ringers has been taught at Harrold (Beds), where previously the bells had been silent for several years. Four quarters were rung in one week-end, because in teaching a new band one has to keep everybody's interest, otherwise the numbers attending start to decrease. Similarly, problems can arise from pushing a few ringers hard so that they ring methods well before their fellows. At Harrold we have brought the band forward as one. Out of a total of 16 recruits 12 are still ringing, and in the quarter peals rung ten different ringers took part, and included seven first quarters and one first inside. I enclose a photograph of the band which rang the first quarters and one first inside.

The bells at Harrold are now rung for every service each Sunday and the tower is beginning to attract ringers from other towers to the Friday evening practices.

We hope that in the next few months and for many years to come Harrold ringers will make a good contribution to ringing in North Bedfordshire. A. J. C.

YESTERDAY?

Children dear, was it yesterday
We heard the sweet bells over the bay?
In the caverns where we lay,
Through the surf and through the swell
The far-off sound of a silver bell?
When did music come this way?
Children dear, was it yesterday?

-Matthew Arnold.

In bringing the meeting to a close, the master once again thanked members for their support, and also the Provost for the use of the Cathedral for the day. An excellent dinner was then served in the Cathedral Hall, with the following towers open in the afternoon and evening: Sawbridgeworth, Bishop's Stortford, Ashdon, Littlebury, Saffron Walden and Stansted. grand tea was served at Saffron Walden in the comfortable surroundings of the Friends Meeting Hall.

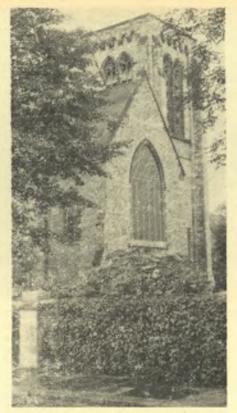

EMMANUEL CHURCH, PLYMOUTH. CENTENARY

The city of Plymouth may be approached from six directions, but perhaps the most imposing and impressive is that coming in from Tavistock, when you travel over the wonderful expanse of Dartmoor, entering into the Mannamead area. Coming from this direction on any Sunday you will hear the very fine ring of bells of Em-manuel Church, and on any Thursday evening (wind, of course, being favourable).

This year is a very important one in the life of Emmanuel, the Parish Church of Compton Gifford, as it has reached its centenary. One must admire the foresight of those Christians of 100 years ago, who de-cided that a church should be built at Mannamead, right in the country at that time, with just a few villas scattered around, and the now busy shopping centre of Mutley Plain just beginning to take shape. Emmanuel stands now in the centre of a very thickly populated residential area of the city.

Plymouth 100 years ago was one of three small towns, each with its own council, lying between the Rivers Plym and Tamar, the other two being Devonport and Stonehouse. The whole, with much extension of boundary, now forms the city of Plymouth and covers an area of approximately 50-60 square miles.

It was in December, 1866, that the vicar of Charles (Rev. D. Greaves) and the new curate-in-charge of Compton (Rev. G. A. Fletcher) circulated the principal inhabitants of Compton and Mannamead, and all in the vicinity, asking them to attend a meeting to adopt measures for providing a new church at Mannamead. Rapid progress was made and on June 17, 1869, the Rev. D. Greaves laid the corner stone for the first part of the building. ceremony he announced that the church was to be dedicated to "Emmanuel" instead of the customary saint, by the express desire of the ladies who gave the land, the Misses Revel

On September 19, 1870, Bishop Temple consecrated the completed section of the new Church of Emmanuel.

With the first part of the church built and legally constituted as the Parish of Compton Gifford, the Rev. G. A. Fletcher continued his ministry, no longer as curatein charge, but as vicar.

Work continued until Emmanuel Church was finished as we have it today, standing back from the main road and with a very pleasant forefront.

The ring of eight (tenor $21\frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) was hung by Messrs. Warner and dedicated on December 5, 1903. A peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on December 5, 1953, to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the bells, and was conducted by the present captain, Mr. J. P. Sims, who has held that office since 1946. The writer became hon. secretary during the last war. The bells were rehung in 1939 by the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Pullen, whose photo is in the belfry.

The present vicar (Rev. Roy Harris) is the 10th vicar; his predecessors were: Rev. G. A. Fletcher (first vicar), 1870–1878; Rev. G. B. Berry, 1879–1912; Rev. F. Finn. 1912–1928; Rev. Arthur Champion, 1928–1929; Rev. R. C. Knox, 1929–1939; Rev. J. W. Morris, 1940–1946; Canon B. Chapman, 1946–1932; Pickon, Walching, 1953–1959. 1946–1952; Bishop Wakeling, 1952–1959; the Ven. Peter Young, 1959–1965. The Rev. J. W. Morris continued his ministry which position he still holds. in Paris, Bishop Wakeling, to the joy of all Emmanuel folk, has recently been appointed Bishop of Southwell. Bishop Wakeling is a ringer and during his incumbency at Emmanuel never failed to join the ringers in the belfry on Old Year's Night and rang rounds. The Ven. P. Young left to become Archdeacon of Cornwall.

Several hundred visitors have visited Emmanuel in post-war years for ringing at both Sunday services and on practice nights, and it is hoped this brief history may bring back memories of pleasant holidays spent in the district.

The centenary celebrations of thanks-giving and praise at Emmanuel extend from September 19 to October 4.

THE TEN BELLS AT ASHFORD

At a service of thanksgiving and inauguration of the ten bells at St. Mary's Church, Ashford, Kent, on August 22 there was a goodly company present, including ringers from a wide area. It took the form of Evensong, the bellringers' hymn changing God" opening the service. The address was given by the vicar (Canon N. M. G. Sharp), who also gave the Blessing.

The following information was included in the service paper and tells its own story: We bid you welcome this day to our Parish Church of St. Mary the Virgin to give praise and thanksgiving for the completion of the work culminating in the augmentation of the ring of eight bells to

This year is rather special to us in Ashford in that we are celebrating the 500th anniversary of the building of our churcha fact recognised by the Archbishop of Canterbury when he visited Ashford to dedicate the new treble bell and the refurbished chapel.

The former ring of eight bells was rehung in 1965, lower in the tower, in a two-tier iron and steel frame designed to house ten bells, by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. At the same time one of the two clock bells, hung "dead" for chiming, was recast to a weight and note suitable as the 2nd bell to the future ring of ten. The ringers of Ashford were given the task of raising the necessary money to provide the new treble

Although a proportion of wedding fees had been put to the "Ten Bell Fund" for some time, it was not until early 1969 that the work began in earnest to raise the money. As well as raffles, rummage sales and coffee mornings, the tower was opened on various Saturdays to allow visitors to see how the bells are rung, the bell frame and the view from the top of the tower.

It was realised that using these methods it would be some years before the necessary money would be available and therefore, at the same time, a search was made for disused bells. In some nine months over eight cwt. of bell metal was collected from various towns and villages in Kent, including Maidstone, Whitstable and Faversham—even a bell which warned some of the Ashford ringers that they were late for school was included, and the metal taken to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry.

On May 28 in the presence of some of the Ashford band, the new treble was cast using the metal collected—and was tuned the following week.

The bell was collected from the Whitechapel Foundry on July 3 and installed, together with the wheel, headstocks and ropes, in the church at the base of the tower ready for the dedication, which was performed by His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury on July 5.

At the end of July the bell was raised to the bell frame and installed, together with the clock bell, in the vacant pits—the work being undertaken by Mr. Harry Parkes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry (himself a local ringer at Ashford for many years) to-gether with local members of the Kent County Association of Change Ringers.

Details of the bells are as follows: Tenor, 21cwt. 2 qr. 22 lb., 1796; 9th, 14–3–9, 1620; 8th, 12–1–14, 1898; 7th, 9–1–17, 1633; 6th, 7–2–2, 1651; 5th, 6–0–0, 1620; 4th, 6–1–0, 1762; 3rd, 5–0–17, 1762; 2nd, 4–3–26, 1965; treble, 4–2–12, 1970. The treble is inscribed "Subscribed by Ashford Ringers and Friends," and bears the 400th anniversary mark of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry.

TO BE RESTORED?

The bells of St. Martin's, Ruislip, Middle-sex, have been going very badly for many The cracked headstock of the 3rd bell is being replaced by a metal one and the wooden frame has been tightened by the bellfounders, who are of the opinion that a new metal frame is needed. They can do no more with the old wooden one and there is still a very great deal of movement when the bells are rung. The headstock of the treble also has been found to be wormeaten. Because of this, St. Martin's ringers are holding a social and dance on October 3rd as a beginning to a bell restoration fund.

our new curate, Revd. Michael XYZ, will wear nothing, to distinguish himself from the parishioners."

FAMILY AFFAIR

An action picture in The Western Daily Press recently showed Andrew Short, Mrs. Rosemary Short and Mrs. Dorothy Strong in the tower at Nailsea, Bristol, and the article quoted that campanology had become a family hobby with Mrs. Dorothy Strong, her daughter, Rosemary Short, and grandson, Andrew.

Mrs. Strong, of Goss Lane, Nailsea. started 20 years ago and was followed by Rosemary when she was about 14.

Sixteen years and four children later, Rosemary is still pulling the bell ropes. She was joined eight months ago by her son, Andrew, aged eight.

"I had a break when I had the children, but was able to pick it up again," said Rosemary, of Church Lane, Nailsea. "There are so many different methods that I never stop learning."

Six-vear-old Sarah will be the next member of the family to join in and already she goes to watch her brother, Andrew, at practice.

STILL GOING STRONG

The Waltham Forest Guardian of August 14 gave the following account (and picture) of Charles Hughes who has been "at it" for 65 years. A retired compositor, he is married and has a grown-up family.

"How do most people celebrate their 84th birthday - certainly not by ringing church bells 5,040 times for nearly three hours.

"But that's the way Mr. Charlie Hughes, of 92 Stanley Road, South Woodford, chose to mark it. "Mr. Hughes has been the captain of St. Mary's Church, Leyton, since 1928. "On Saturday night at St. Mary's Mr. Hughes was in full swing up to 8 p.m. Afterwards he commented: 'Phew! But I don't feel so bad considering.'

"A member of Essex Association of Bellringers, Mr. Hughes has been bellringing for 65 years. He has rung in over 200 churches, including St. John's, Leytonstone.

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Ringing World for September 14, 1945

A large gathering of the Surrey Association met at Croydon bell foundry by invitation of Mr. C. F. Johnston, with peace celebrations and the future of the foundry for casting bells very much in mind.

A handbell peal of Bob Major at Burgess

Hill was rung by Mrs. E. A. Barnett 1-2, Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay 3-4, Miss M. R. Cross 5-6 and E. A. Barnett (cond.) 7-8. It was Mrs. Marshallsay's 100th peal.

Four letters were printed about the practice of firing the bells-from H. Pailing (Notts), George Ward (Abergavenny), John Segar, jun. (E. Retford) and W. Mathews Bucklebury).

Letters also were from Malcolm Melville (Lichfield) and Edwin Goate (Beccles) about fast peal ringing.

At Sherfield English, Hants, in a peal of Bob Major, Robert E. Turner rang his first (on the treble), Ernest A. Jurd first inside and John H. Hunt conducted his first peal.

Miss Madeline M. Lyon rang her first peal (3rd to Stedman Triples) at Washingborough, Lincs, conducted by John A. Free-John Bragg rang his first in the method.

James E. Bailey and Herbert E. Audsley rang their 50th together at Dartford, the latter conducting Stedman Triples.

CHURCH BELLS

(R.W., Sept. 14, 1945)

Can you express a world's desire today
Ye ancient bells—the bells of peace? And will you voice for us what we would sav

That henceforth wars must cease? Ye who have told a nation's joy or grief. Called her to prayer, proclaimed her firm belief

In God, shared all the greatness of her past, Ring in a future greater still-

A righteous peace that surely shall outcast

All hate—all lust to kill.

Forget your tragic silence through long years of pain

And with compelling music, speak for us again.

Miss E. M. Storr (Exmouth) won a prize for this poem in the C. of E. Newspaper.

50 YEARS AGO September 17, 1920

Master Tony Price, son of the Vicar of Shouldham, and aged 14, rang his first peal (Kent and Oxford T.B. Minor) and was complimented on his success as he only started ringing at Easter.

The membership of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was given as 2,900.

Alfred Pitstow had a long letter printed about the "Preservation of Conductors" a discussion (by mail) which occupied several sections over many weeks.

The possibility of a peal of Stedman Triples in Vancouver was suggested by Mr. A. C. Limpus when a new set of ropes was received.

At Ilkeston, Derbys, two James Georges rang in a peal of Stedman, whilst another in the peal was Henry George. Two days later at Duffield the two James rang Kent T.B. Major.

George Marriner and Albert Harman rang Kent Major together at Reigate. George Hoad conducting.

At Llanelly a three-method Minor peal was rung by Alfred, John H., Sidney T. and Alec R. Rackman, James P. Hyett and Charles Edwards (cond.) being the other two ringers.

Whitechapel Foundry

Looking Forward-to the Next Four Hundred

It's a surprising place altogether: one expects, in the Whitechapel Road, to see the littered pavements, the kosher butchers' shops, the dreary foothills of the rag trade. though a few buildings - but fewer every year-still show some signs of faded dignity. But to come upon Number Thirtyfour, in the dustladen gale which always seems to be blowing down the wide street, is a constantly-recurring surprise even to those who know it well—this handsome early Georgian façade of mellow red brick with its pedimented doorway and its win-dow shutters, the oak-grained shop front and the Victorian wire mesh screens with "Church Bell Foundry" emblazoned on them in gold. True, this is still, after many centuries. London's workshop area, and bellfounding is a heavy industry when all's said and done, but when all other industries, especially those involved with metal, seem doomed to surround themselves with corrugated iron and blackened, gaunt steel skeletons, here is one branch of metalworking able to present a face to the world which says "What they say is not true: making things in metal can still go hand in hand with dignity-even with elegance."

TRADITIONS CHERISHED

If you haven't already deduced it from outside, one step inside the door will tell you that this is a place where old traditions are cherished and a long history is a matter of pride. You come in beneath the strickles for "Big Ben" and in the glass case before you are hundreds of bygones of the firm's history — models, drawings, photographs, fragments of bells, sets of stamps, letterheads and accounts. The office, with its big double-sided partners' desk, is warmly panelled, and among the new, old and curious bells in the yard outside the old "Guv'nor," A. A. Hughes, used to tap one by Robert Mot as he took visitors past it with the superb throw-away remark: "This is one of our bells which we have brought in for repair; we cast this one in 1597." In the foundry itself there seems to be the same atmosphere of a craft in which things change slowly if at all: look at the Victorian steel engravings from Cassell's "Magazine of Art." 1854, and you can recognise some of the building around you; if the workmen no longer wear those paper caps in the pictures they may well be using tools which look the same, and the modern tuning machine stands in what looks very like the stone kerb which surrounded the one donkey power affair which came from the Gloucester foundry in 1844.

THE REAL IMPORT

Yet if you think that this is all ancient craftsmanship and immemorial custom you will have missed the real import of what's happening here. Robert Mot would have soon got the hang of the furnace which melted the metal here 20 years ago, but he wouldn't even recognise the oil-fired rotary one which stands in the corner today for what it is. As well as the old stone kerbing in the tuning room you will see a highly sophisticated electronic instrument for measuring musical pitch-no substitute for the trained human ear but a great saving in time and work. Alongside the elm and cast iron headstocks you will find fabricated steel ones designed on entirely new principles; there are new materials in ground pulleys and clapper bushes and in a small room nearby a whole battery of equipment for making all those 2,400 replica Liberty Bells, using the most ancient of all foundry techniques with the materials and methods which are applied to jet engines. You will find a great respect here for the work of ancient craftsmen; a traditional method of doing something is not discarded until a new one is conclusively proved to be better: looking at an old six which has come in for augmentation I've heard them say: "They're not the kind of bells that we'd cast now, but they're good bells, cast by good workmen, and we're good enough workmen to make a couple of trebles to fit them, even though it would be easier to scrap them and cast a new eight." But respect is one thing and stagnation another.

Mixed here with the air of bygone ages, the air breathed by Mot and Bartlet, Phelps, Lester, Pack, Chapman and the rest is a bracing breeze of experiment and forward thinking, which since the war has brought into being a new design for handbells, new casting techniques, new approaches to tuning, new patterns and materials for frames and gear, and not least the great radial frames of Liverpool and Washington and their little but even more revolutionary brother the Expo Belfry—and all this side by side with a steady output of restoration and repair work along traditional lines.

I have heard people mourn the swallowing up of the local foundries in the early 19th century which allowed Whitechapel to grow at the expense of Gloucester, Hertford, Downham and Aldbourne, and it's easy to say that the better founders were put out of business by the worst. But don't we too often judge the vanished

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AFTER

CROYDON CELEBRATES AND GIVES THANKS

One hundred years ago, following a disastrous fire which destroyed the parish church (and tower) of St. John's, Croydon, those attending the service of rehallowing and rededication gave thanks for the magnificent and imposing structure which replaced the original building. On September 12 this year about 130 bellringers and friends congregated in the now even more beautiful parish church to take part in a special service for church bellringers, also to give thanks for one hundred years of continuing prayer and praise and marking the centenary of the rebuilding.

The service took an unusual form and was divided into four parts, each related closely to the purpose and function of the ringing of church bells. The first part, The call to worship, found the full choir, servers and vicar (Canon R. O. Bowlby) assembled under the tower and, following the introductory sentences and responses, processing to the chancel, whilst the hymn, the Old Hundredth ("All people that on earth do dwell"), was sung. Prayers, confession and the Absolution followed.

The second part, Craftsman's Art, included the anthem "Rejoice in the Lord alway" (Henry Purcell), sung by the choir. This is also known as the Bell Anthem and it was beautifully executed and much enjoyed. The local tower master (Mr. Kevin Taber) then read from the New English Bible a passage from the Second Book of Chronicles which was followed by an extract from a book by F. H. Crossley on "Church Towers (English Church Design)", read with much expression by Miss Wendy Wallace, of St. Mary's, Addington. The choir and congregation joined in the hymn "Angel voices ever singing," which was sung with tremendous gusto, the crescendos echoing around the lofty building.

"RING OUT, WILD BELLS"
Working together, the title of the third section, was made up of a further Bible reading (Corinthians i, 12) by Mr. Brian E. Jeffrey (SS. Peter and Paul, Edenbridge) and Mr. Keith Game (St. Mary Magdalene, Reigate), followed by the well-known poem "Ring out, wild bells" from Tennyson's "In Memoriam." The Vicar of Croydon then ascended the pulpit and delivered an interesting and inspiring address on the theme "Team Work," which was well received by the congregation.

The fourth and final part of this service of thanksgiving was To the Praise of God and included a prayer for bellringers and one for faithfulness to their craft. At the one for faithfulness to their craft. At the close the hymn "Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven" was sung and the vicar gave the benediction. A collection taken was for tions, William and Douglas Hughes were hard at it, getting down to the "real" work of the day.

Then in comes Ron Brown, to each of them in turn, with the request "Would you please come out into the shop for a few minutes." No reason given, no questions asked, the two brothers, not knowing what it was all about, did as they were asked and found assembled in the moulders' shop all the staff. Union meeting?—Not likely! General complaint?—Doubt it.

Then George Knott stepped forward beside a table upon which was placed a mysterious parcel wrapped in a grey blan-ket which we had not noticed before and made a proclamation.

feel part of the family . . . couldn't let this year go by . . . some permanent record ... all associated with it ... He then unveiled the tablet shown in the photo-the Croydon Churches Housing Association, the nominated charity during this centenary vear.

As the congregation left, the organist (Mr. Michael Fleming) played Louis Vierne's voluntary "Carillon," which provided a fitting climax to a wonderfully uplifting service.

Tea and biscuits were served in the hall for any needing light refreshments, but many moved off to the tower, into the town or to one of the other churches where ringing had been arranged. During the day special routes had been planned to give visitors a chance to ring whilst travelling to and from Croydon and, with one exception, all were used and enjoyed.

Lunch had also been laid on for the benefit of long distance ringers, includ-ing those from Kent and Essex (a coach from Braintree) and one lady from Peterborough. The organiser for the festival of ringing was Mr. Kevin Taber, and he is to be congratulated on the success of the func-tion, which in the early stages appeared to be hanging fire. The unsettled weather and at times torrential rain did not in any way dampen the enthusiasm of those attending and although returning holiday - makers, Farnborough Air Show and road repairs at various points caused motoring delays and difficulties, these were soon forgotten when the bells began pealing.

graph. Beautifully designed and engraved. with foliage and bells incorporated in the "W" of Whitechapel, and conceived and put into effect entirely by the foundry staff, it took the brothers Hughes completely by surprise.

It has now been installed in a place of honour in the main entrance, surrounded by the pictures which tell something of the foundry's history and the bells it has made.

The Ringing World Committee, the editorial staff and the whole bellringing Exercise extend good wishes to Mrs. A. A. Hughes and her sons, William and Douglas, on the unique occasion of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry quatercentenary.

Whitechapel Quatercentenary (continued) foundries by their best work? The 1830s and 1840s were a poor time for bellfounding generally, and I know of no founder, the Rudhalls included, who turned out consistently good bells at that time. The development of transport and the trend of industry everywhere was bound to put many bell foundries out of the race, and we can be glad that one of the most ancient and most honourable was able to survive, even by devouring its fellows and rivals, so that it could make outstanding contributions to the craft at the opening of its fifth century.

MR. BERNARD ASH

Mr. Bernard Ash, aged 59, the author whose researches into the men and events of the Second World War threw new and sometimes controversial light on its history, died in Epsom Hospital, as reported last week. For the past 15 years he lived at Knowle Park, Cobham, Surrey. He leaves a widow and one son.

Born in Liverpool, he had a varied career and was latterly manager of a computer

For a number of his books Mr. Ash was accorded access to special material by the Admiralty. His book "Someone Had Admiralty. His book "Someone Had Blundered," a vigorous account of the sinking of the "Prince of Wales" and the "Repulse," caused a great stir on publica-

Mr. Ash was a well-known figure in local life and a leading member of St. Mary's Church, Stoke D'Abernon, where he was captain of the tower for ten years.

His body was received into the church the evening before the funeral, when a halfmuffled quarter peal of Bob Doubles was rung. One of the ringers was his 14-yearsold son, Alex, who rang his first quarter. Five of the six ringing had been taught by Bernard.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. John Waterson (rector) and two hymns written by Mr. Ash were sung, one being a hymn he composed for the bellringers' meeting held at St. Mary's this summer.

Cremation was at Randall's Park, Leatherhead.

Mr. Ash graduated with first-class honours from Oxford. In his twenties he was a councillor on Paddington Borough Council.

His publications include: "Silence for His Worship," "Omega Street," "Three Men Went to War," "Fitchell's Inn," "Burning Glass," "Too Deep the Sea," "Someone Had Blundered," "Norway 1940," "The Lost Dictator" and a history of the City of London called "The Golden

CANON R. H. ROBINSON

An obituary notice in The Times last month announced the death on August 19 of Canon Reginald Henry Robinson, D.D., M.A., at the age of 89. Canon Robinson was the son of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, the now legendary ringer and the first man ever to score 1,000 peals. Although himself not a ringer, Canon Robinson was an honorary member of the Peterborough Guild and, in the words of a correspondent, "a saintly and impressively knowledgable biblical scholar." He was Canon Emeritus of Peterborough Cathedral and one time Dean of Calgary, Canada. His father was the finest ringer of his time and the author of "Among the Bells," of which few copies now seem to remain.

MR. EDGAR J. SHERWOOD

As briefly recorded last week, Mr. Edgar Jabez Sherwood, of East Wyke Farm Cottage, Ash, Surrey, died in Northfields Hospital, Aldershot, following a long period of failing health. He was 70 and had farmed all his life until his illness, when he handed over East Wyke Farm to two of his sons. Brian and John. His other son, Peter, is a qualified accountant and an officer of the Guildford Guild, whilst his only daughter, Sylvia, is married to a doctor and lives with her family in Kent. During the long period of indifferent health, as well as the last months of serious illness, Edgar was devotedly nursed by his wife, Lilian, to whom all extend their deep sympathy.

Coming to Ash from Middlesex 50 years ago, Mr. Sherwood took up bellringing with the then stoney band of ringers at St. Peter's and was largely instrumental in turning it into a change-ringing tower. help from Aldershot and by recruiting new members a regular team of change-ringers was built up, and his own family helped in no small way. About 20 years ago the bells were recast and rehung in a new frame, the ringing chamber modernised and improved, and this was brought about mainly by Mr. Sherwood, together with the members of the band ringing at that time at St. Peter's Although he had only rung a few peals, Edgar encouraged others to ring them and he was, himself, very fond of quarter peal ringing. A staunch supporter of the Guild-ford Guild, he and his family were unobtrusively generous in every way and particularly supported their own parish church.

The funeral service was on September 14 at Ash Parish Church and was followed by cremation at Aldershot. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service and there was a representative gathering in the church to pay an affectionate farewell to a much-loved and highly respected Christian gentleman and bellringer. The rector (Rev. H. Jackson) conducted both the service in the church and the committal at Aldershot and in the evening further ringing took place.

MR, W. E. REDRUP

It is with much regret that the death of William E. Redrup (Bill) is recorded at the early age of 61. He died on July 30. Bill was taught to handle a bell by his father when he was nine years old at Amersham, Bucks, and a firm friendship developed with the writer which lasted until the end. He became one of the most expert 6-bell ringers and conductors in the E. Berks and S. Bucks Branch of the O.D.G. and trained a first-class band at Amersham which rang difficult Surprise Minor methods for Sunday services.

He rang in the first peal of London Surprise Minor for the Guild at Amersham and he was one of five Bills in the first (Superlative) when Stoke Poges bells were augmented to eight. He was a good cricketer and had played for Amersham for some years. With the coming of the war in 1939 he joined the local police and after the war he drove a delivery van for 15 years. He joined the band at Little Missenden for a time and was responsible for putting many on the road to success. He eventually gave up ringing, although he continued to take the R.W.

His widow, Beryl, is nursing at Amer-sham Hospital and his son, Robert, is curate at Maidenhead, and to both we convey our deepest sympathy and condo-A. D. B. lence.

MR. EDWARD DANCE

On September 4 the death occurred of Mr. Edward Dance, of Whitchurch, Hants. A keen churchman, he was tower correspondent, churchwarden and an enthusiastic member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. He had been a ringer for 14 years and I was privileged to know him all that time. He attended all district meetings and had acted as a marshal at the striking competitions during the last eight years.

The respect and esteem with which he was regarded was evident when on the Sunday evening following his death members representing district towers of Andover (Burghclere, Highclere and Whitchurch) met and rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples to his memory, the bells being halfmuffled. For six members of the local band listening this was the first time they had heard their bells rung half-muffled. Taking part were D. Samways (first on eight) 1, Mrs. J. Tarrant 2, R. Wimlett 3, M. Goss 4, J. Wimlett 5, T. Tarrant 6, G. K. Dodd (cond.) 7, W. Mulford 8.

May he rest in peace.

ERNEST FITCH

On August 19 Ernest Fitch passed away at the grand old age of 92. He was one of the pre-war St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, company, and although he only rang the tenor behind he was a faithful member for many years. Most of his peals were of Stedman Cinques and Caters and he was a good striker.

Like many another St. Mary-le-Tower man he spent his working life at Ransomes, Sims and Jefferies as a maintenance fitter. Ernest Fitch was also a fine singer and over 50 years a chorister. May he rest in peace.

DULL READING?

"I gather quite a few ringers miss the controversial things we used to have (in the R.W.). Our local newspaper has more bite than the present Ringing World! However, I wish you well in your efforts at stopping controversy. I suppose it pleases the majority, but to me it is dull reading."

We wonder how many of our readers feel the same as our correspondent who supplied this piece of logic. From time to time we receive letters and messages about too much (apparent) "back-biting, ill-will, jealousy and bad feeling" among bellringers "who ought to be more Christian in their views and outlook."

We do not agree with these views. In every organised society there are those who like to "stir it up," to use a common expression, and bellringers are normal human beings (in spite of what the general public think!) and from all walks of life. As one gets older, tolerance to other people's ideas and prejudices becomes more pronounced, and the possibility of becoming dull is a danger. However, the variety of interesting items which daily arrive on the editorial desk will, we feel sure, prevent any R.W. of the future being completely dull.

AN UNUSUAL "FIRST"

The scene: a field in deepest Dorset as dusk approaches on a lovely evening in late August. Six members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths-the master, one of the C.C. representatives and a trustee, together with their wives—"clothed in woolly wraps," except for the master who, being in the medical profession, had forgotten that nocturnal vigils can be chilly ones, ascend a hill in complete silence. Skirting the edge of a cornfield when they reach the top, they plunge through a hol-low, avoiding as far as possible nettles and brambles, to a copse on the far side. Here they settle as comfortably as the ground will allow and, still with no word spoken, they peer anxiously ahead.

The minutes pass—nothing happens apart from the odd rustle in the undergrowth and the alarm call of a blackbird overhead; surely that will scare everything within miles? Maybe no-one is coming out tonight. Or perhaps they have already left by the back door. Half-an-hour now, the light is failing fast, but this is the opportunity of a lifetime and no one wants to move until all hope has vanished.

Then—suddenly—yes, there it is. Have the others seen it too? Well, we shall soon know. Just as suddenly the face, scarcely visible in the near-darkness but for the white streak running down it, senses that someone is there and is gone in an instant.

But not before four of the band had seen their first badger, two of them at the first

Belfry Gossip

A quarter was rung by two former Haseley (Oxon) ringers and their families, with best wishes to the new Haseley band.

The peal for the Truro Guild at St. Gulval recorded in shortened form (page 702) was submitted with the wrong date and is reprinted in this issue in correct form (and the correct month!)

Forms for peals are available free from our office. A slightly modified form has now been printed and a 9in. x 4in. stamped addressed envelope will bring a supply to applicants.

Personal records: Christopher W. Woolley (1,000 peals), Kevin M. Price (200), Stephen Ivin (500), Katharine M. Thorley (14) 100, Stephen Fenwick (100).

New method this week is Blaenafon Surprise Major rung at the Church of St. Peter, Blaenavon, Mon.

New conductors: Roman E. Sadowski, Elizabeth Stevens, Morley P. Tobin.

Peal and quarter peal cards are a personal service dealt with by the previous editor, Mr. T. W. White, to whom all inquiries (or complaints) should be addressed. A separate copy must be submitted for these cards (which are 16s. for 12, minimum).

Still in his thirties (but only just!), J.

Martin Thorley has now rung 100 peals with his eldest daughter, Katharine. The 100th was scored at Tannington, Suffolk, not quite three years after their first together.

The Central Council "Good Striking" record is sold out, we learn from Mr. Norman Chaddock. It would be interesting to know what the demand would be if a second pressing was made.

The quarter at Huntington, Yorks, on August 30, was the first for Christine Sanderson, 12-years-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Sanderson of the local company, and the first quarter for 23 years for Mr. L. J. Atkins, who moved to Yorkshire two years ago from Clevedon, Somerset.

Campaigning for a recruit (in a few years' time) the ringers at Thrapston dedicated a quarter peal to 2-years-old Claire Steward, who, although living within 20 yards of the church, has never complained about the bells!

Young Jeremy Piron rang the second to London S.M. at Husborne Crawley, Beds, ten days before his 12th birthday! He therefore equals that rung by Margaret Beamish, who was exactly that age when she scored London Major. Jeremy is the youngest male to ring this method. (Congratulations.—Ed.)

First peal congratulations to John E. Elsworth, Philippa Garrard, Walter Seward, Julia H. Whitehead, Peter E. Hine, Jeremy M. Gough, Nigel Bellamy, Geoffrey W. Young, Julia A. Tyler, Adrian D. Tyler, Denise Hogarth, Christopher J. Cull (12), Miles W. C. Lawson.

Does anyone know which bells were heard on the "Saturday Play—The Volunteer" on B.B.C. Radio? Some very brisk six-bell rounds crept into the background, writes P.S.

Mr. Peter A. Slight, who has been a stalwart member of the Grantham band for many years, is leaving for teachers' training college in Birmingham, and the good wishes of his colleagues go with him.

Generally, the ringing at all towers visited during the Croydon Festival was of a high standard, but at St. John's itself this left much to be desired at times. The chief cause was the new ropes on the back seven bells, which, not having been pre-stretched, were very much like elastic, and even the more experienced peal ringers had great difficulty in handling. However, the local team are probably grateful that the work of "settling in" the new ropes has been largely done for them.

We hear that the famous tenor king from Surrey had about five shots at setting a tenor in a tower recently and was ap-plauded when he eventually succeeded. (And this was not at Croydon!)

The organiser of the J. R. K. tour of Lancashire is grateful to all who took part and helped in the arrangements and also for their patience and co-operation. success of this year's tour and the desire for one next year prompts him to suggest that S.W. of Bolton may be explored in

"We were very fortunate this year to keep a 100 per cent. record throughout the week. The only bad luck was with the publication of The Ringing World! We had rung what we thought was a new method at Stowmarket (which is what we named it on Tuesday). On Thursday it was published as rung to a peal two weeks previous and named Stonehenge!" writes Howard Egglestone, sending a tour report.

MEMORIAL DEDICATED

On Sunday, August 30, during morning service at St. Nicolas, North Stoneham, a memorial tablet to the late Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Francis was dedicated by the rector (Rev. R. E. P. Serecold).

The tablet, on the belfry wall, bears the inscription "In loving memory of Thomas Hunt Francis and his wife Margaret, bellringers at this church, killed in a car accident March 8th, 1970."

Present were members of the family, the master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild (Mr. R. R. Savory), the secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths (Mr. J. E. Barnes), together with other ringers from the area who took part in ringing before the service.

Afterwards, during a short private service, the asnes of 10m and interred at the foot of the tower.

TRUE HARMONIC TUNING

Dear Sir,-I was very interested to read the informative letter from Mr. W. E. Box on page 614 of The Ringing World. This letter is most enlightening, and Mr. Box obviously has great knowledge of the

When we consider the effect of bells on the individual ear we are treating to some extent with personal preference with all the factors which influence a person's discernment and taste. Mr. Box feels unable to accept what I say about Hemony bass and treble bells. Just before putting my pen to this paper I listened to a recording of the great carillonneur, the late Jef Denyn, whom Mr. Box mentions. The recording is of the Mechlin carillon, also mentioned by Mr. The playing is a revelation in beauty, control and technique. However, I still maintain that the bass bells are poor in comparison with those of a better modern instrument. Mr. Box mentions a shrill "plonk" in modern small bells. This is just the description I would apply to the Mechlin trebles. Surely the trebles of both carillons and light rings produced nowadays do not "plonk"—rather they sing tunefully. Some modern bells are shrill indeed, but this is far to be preferred to the dead, dull tones so favoured by our Victorian foun-ders of the mid-1900's. It would be interesting to know what modern bells Mr.
Box has in mind. Has he heard the recent carillons and rings produced by the Loughborough Foundry—particularly the carillons for Spokane, U.S.A., and Canberra, Australia? Also such trebles as those of the 12 at Solihull cast very recently, etc.?

Most keyboard instruments have a range over which they sound most effective to the human ear and certainly a carillon is at its weakest in the treble.

In an issue of The Sunday Times in 1920 a correspondent complained that bells tuned on the modern harmonic principle "have a dirge-like, mournful howl," whilst "the old tuned rings have a bright, cheerful This he attributed to the succeseffect." sion of octaves and fifths in harmonics which he said was against the laws of harmony, whereas old rings with their strike notes and sevenths (instead of the octave) give the effect of an incomplete cadence, and so brighten the sound of a bell when

Anyone who has tried to take the notes of bells will know how rare is the accuracy of the latter part of this statement if ever Mr. Cyril Johnston of the former Croydon Foundry took up this matter. He said "it is hard to believe that a bell is more pleasing to the ear if its hum-note (or octave below the fundamental) is at the interval of a seventh below-in preference to an octave below." He advised his readers to try it on the piano. He then offered to have two rings—one in "sevenths" and the other in "octaves" of the fundamental placed side by side with a competent band of judges. If the sevenths won, then he would present £50 (not a small sum in 1920) to the writer of the original letter.

It is a matter of fact that the Taylor family developed the science of true har-monic tuning—the Taylor true-harmonic principle before the advent of Canon Simpson. Mr. Box casts doubt on this. When the Dutch and Belgian founders knew nothing of this between the two world wars at least three carillons each were supplied to these two countries from the Loughborough

CORRECTING AN ERROR

Dear Sir,-It has come to our attention that the handbell peals which we have rung in Canada over the last few months have not been reported in accordance with the regulations of the Central Council. Specifically, the peals should have been called Spliced Treble Bob Major, and the number of methods, number of changes in each method and number of changes of method should have been given.

To correct this error, I give below the complete information, together with the dates on which the three peals were rung.

THE SAWSTON PEAL

Dear Sir,-We are grateful to the Central Council for accepting the peal of Minor rung at Sawston last November, and hope that the ten members who voted against us will be consoled with the fact that we can ring Minor without a cover, though we still have not enough in the band to ring Major. We believe that we are the only tower in the Ely Association to ring a peal with a purely local band, and wonder how many of the peals published are rung by locals of that tower.— Yours faithfully.

MICHAEL R. LING.

and Croydon foundries. Perhaps the greatest of these was that supplied in 1921 by John Taylor and Co. for Rotterdam Town Hall (destroyed in the 1939-45 War). Certain proof of the superiority of English tuning at that time.

Words of Mr. F. C. Meyer taken from a book by Graham Price form a fitting con-

1. A carillon and a ring require that all the bells be in good tune among them-

2. To be musically agreeable each bell must have at least the first five tones of the harmonic series within each individual bell in good tune.

3. The tone of a bell whose principal harmonics are in tune will sound clear, true, bright, golden, sweet, sonorous and harmonious in quality, appealing to the affections-musically-and blending well with

The tone of a bell whose principal harmonics are not in tune will sound proportionately false, muddy, dull, leaden. sour, lifeless and inharmonious in quality, unsympathetic to the affections-musicallyand incompatible with other tones.

Certainly the Taylor true-harmonic principle produces the former.-Yours faith-

LONG LENGTH ATTEMPT

Dear Sir,—I give notice of an attempt for 12,096 Lincolnshire Major on handbells to be made on October 10, 1970, at 13 Tudor Road, Wheathampstead, Herts, starting at 11 a.m. The attempt will be made for the Oxford Diocesan Guild. -Yours faithfully, Maidenhead, Berks. C. I. ROWSON.

B.B.C. RADIO BRISTOL

Dear Sir, — A new radio station has opened up in Bristol on a local basis on the V.H.F. wavelengths. This is known as "B.B.C. Radio Bristol." Prior to going into actual daily broadcasts, I was approached by the Director of Religious Broadcasts to advise on a selection of rings of bells which could be used for opening up broadcasting on Sunday mornings at Recording has now commenced with towers in the Bristol area, and will give a selection for a period of about six to nine months. This local service will allow for some of the lesser known towers to be heard over the air, and will include B.B.C. library recordings of peals rung at Bristol Cathedral, Evercreech and Ditcheat. St. Saviour's Parish Church, Coalpit Heath, will be heard at the commencement of their Festival Week on Sunday, September 20, and St. Peter's, Dyrham, near Bristol, on the morning of Sunday, September 27. Should any tower within a radius of 25-

30 miles of Bristol have any unusual ringing functions, or anniversaries of an historical nature, such information should be passed directly to me so that it can be brought to the notice of the programme producer. It might be possible to get this new radio station interested.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM F. SCUDAMORE, Master,

Gloucester and Bristol Assn. County Police Station, Coalpit Heath, Bristol.

WONDERFUL EXAMPLE

Dear Sir,—Here at Wadhurst, the church and chapel congregations regularly join forces and on Sunday it was the chapel's turn to be host, thus there was no evening ringing and my wife and I took advantage of this and went out to enjoy the sun, and called in to have a ring at Westham, the home tower of Alan and Christine Baldock, general and district secretaries respectively of the Sussex County Association.

Three weeks previously Christine had given birth to their second daughter, and one would have thought that this would keep her away from ringing for a while and curtail Alan's activities, but not so. In the morning they both went ringing, wheeling the pram into the church to the belfry arch, where the baby was watched or nursed by willing helpers, while little Rachel played happily in the belfry. Afterwards Alan stayed to sing in the choir while Christine took the children home. In the evening the role was reversed, Christine staying and Alan returning home. This no doubt will be the order of things for weeks to come.

What a wonderful example to the ringers whom they serve and represent, and it follows the pattern set by their predecessors, Bob and Betty Percy, of Willingdon.

The Sussex County Association are fortunate indeed to have such people for their officers.—Yours faithfully, CHARLES A. BASSETT.

SCOTLAND AGAIN!

If anyone had suggested it was possible to ring at all the Scottish towers (except the most northerly-Inverness) over the Bank Holiday week-end they would have been laughed at, especially had they known that ropes would have to be fitted at Inverarary.

However, the organisers of the Andover District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild made their plans well in advance and with the help and co-operation of the Scottish ringers the party set out on the Friday by coach, ringing on the way on the ten at St. Helens Parish Church, Lancs, and the very nice light eight at St. Thomas's, Eccleston, where Mr. Hurst met us. He rang the tenor remarkably well considering he is blind.

Next came St. James's, Poolstock, Wigan, where interest was taken in the peal boards showing two men ringing the tenor in each peal recorded, and in one case two on the seventh. Despite this, the bells have not received any attention since that time and go remarkably well.

The ten at the Roman Catholic Cathedral at Lancaster and the eight at Lancaster Priory completed Friday's programme before travelling overnight to Inveraray. Arriving in plenty of time for 8.30 breakfast, by 10 a.m. the glorious ten were sounding out over Loch Fyne and the surgunding houses rounding houses.

For us all these bells will be something long remembered, at least four of the party ringing their first of Cambridge Royal, and the two hours spent were very rewarding. Lunch was taken at the Anvil Restaurant and then on through beautiful mountain scenery to Dunblane Cathedral, where again the bells left a lasting impression.

An extra bell not mentioned in "Dove" and hung for ringing proved to be a sharp fifth, enabling us to ring a middle six, and this proved interesting. A contrast was the light eight at Ailoa, and they were much enjoyed before heading for the hotel in Edinburgh and a good night's sleep.

On Sunday we enjoyed service ringing at the Cathedral and again were impressed with the bells before ringing on the light five at Fettes College immediately afterwards. The bells are housed in a most impressive pile, proving what bellhanging can do, as the bells are hung at the top of a stair turret.

St. Cuthbert's eight can only be described as a glorious ring, whilst the final eight in Edinburgh (St. James's, Leith) made a change from Taylors with a Mears 1866 eight.

From here we travelled the 55 miles to ring for Evensong at St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow (another beautiful ten), where Cambridge Royal again went well, and Paisley, where we rang after the evening

Monday, our final day in Scotland, and for all of us our first trip across the Forth Bridge. At ten o'clock we were ringing on the eight at Old Steeple, Dundee, an old Mears eight rehung last year, followed by a similar ring at St. Paul's Cathedral. We then moved back into England, ringing on the eight at Carlisle Cathedral and then to the 14cwt. eight at St. Elisabeth's, Carlisle. Here a surprise awaiting us was to find a modern church (only built in the last three years); the bells, transferred from the demolished Church of St. Stephen, Carlisle, are a very useful ring.

And so ended a tour to be remembered by all. G. D.

ON UNIVERSALITY-No. 3

In a recent letter Giles Thompson set out various groups of courses based on fixing one bell in its home position for the 12 possible + courses and in the same or another position for the 12 possible — courses. The resulting sets of 24 are true to various combinations of f.c.h. groups. Some of Giles' results Some of Giles' results were groups. wrongly given and his list is not complete. The correct results are given below; the notation a/b means the two sets of 12 courses having, respectively, either bell a fixed in a+ and b— or the bell b fixed in b+ and a-.

2/2 true to all g h i k n o p r s u CDEF. 3/3 & 4/4 true to all c f i l p r s B C D F. 5/5 & 6/6 true to all ceghilmnors

BEF 2/3 & 2/4 true to all dfioprs ABF. 2/5 & 2/6 true to all e g i r s A B C. 3/4 true to all bilnoprs ABCE. 3/5 & 4/6 true to all c i 1 r s A E. 3/6 & 4/5 true to all b c i l n r s D. 5/6 true to all b g h i l m o r s

While these sets are extremely useful, further results may be obtained for other combinations of f.c.h. groups by a simple extension of the fixed bell principle. basic idea is that of fixing one pair of bells in two pairs of positions. I have not seen a UC published having this property.

BCDF.

First select two position-pairs which we will call a,b and c,d. These may have one position in common, eg. 3,4 & 4,6. To obtain a UC for any given combination of f.c.h. groups it is a necessary and sufficient condition that none of the individual f.c.h. (both + and -) in this combination must have bells a and b in any of the positionpairs a,b b,a c,d or d,c. (This automatically means that bells c and d will also not fall in any of these positions.) If this condition is met, there are 24 true courses for the f.c.h. chosen, and these are the 24 courses where either of these bell-pairs does fall in these positions. The true set of 24 will thus consist of four sets of six, in each of which a pair of bells is fixed. The fixed pair must be the same pair through-

As an example, here is the f.c.h. group t:

24536 36452 62453 53246) 25346 43526 26354 24653 32564 32645 46235 45263

None of the previous types of UC is true to this group. Examining the individual members of group t it will be found that (a) position-pairs 3,5 and 4,6 and (b) position-pairs 3,4 and 5,6 fulfil the conditions above. Considering (a), the true 24 courses will be the four blocks of six having the skeleton structures either 03050,05030, 00305 and 00503 or 00406, 00604, 04060 and 06040. For (b) these skeletons will be either 03400, 04300, 00034, 00043 or 00056, 00065, 05600, 06500. We are not concerned about the sign here, although each set of six naturally consists of three each of + and -.

Some of the more useful results based on investigations of all the possible position-pairs are given below. This list is very incomplete, as some results are not worth the effort of using. Some of the compositions below are just about OK by the Central Council, but after this year's meeting, who knows?

4.5 2.5 & 2.6 3.6 true to all c e f i m n r s BDE. 4,5 2,4 true to all c e i k n p r s B D F. 2,4 2,5 true to all c g i k o p s u C. E. 3,5 4,6 true to all e g i m o r s t A B C D E F. 5,6 2,5 & 5,6 2,6 true to all f i 1 m o r B C.

5,6 3,5 & 5,6 4,6 true to all g h i l o p r BDEF. 4,5 5,6 & 5,6 3,6 true to all i k o p r s BF. 3,4 5,6 true to all f g i m s t C D E F.

I have not managed to join up the courses of this last set. Any offers?

The singles are made in 1278 and the two bobs are in 1456. The composition is true to all e g i m o r s t A B C D B F, and is the first UC I have seen for group t. As given, this is a 5120 for methods of groups C and F. For group A it is 5184 and for B is 5056; in these instances the composition must be reversed. Groups D and E cannot be fitted in without losing too many changes, so this composition is not as universal as it might be. Similar restrictions apply to 8ths place methods, where the singles are of course called in 1238.

RECENT EXAMPLES OF BELLFOUNDING

I would like to draw the attention of your readers to a number of recent augmentations and new rings of bells in the Midlands. It would appear that the Loughborough Foundry, which has been responsible for the rings I wish to mention, is embarking on a period of great achievement in bellfounding. This is probably due in no small measure to the energy, ability and musical knowledge of its present principal, Mr. Paul Taylor.

Aspley, Notts, has a ring of eight (tenor

9 cwt.) which are, in the minds of many who ring in the area, the height of perfection. There is a perfect balance in the go of these bells which makes ringing quite effortless. J. T. and Co. can be congratulated on all aspects of this ring.

St. Thomas, Stourbridge, Worcs, once had a lumpy ring of eight, which were hung too high in the tower, and which swung alarmingly under the strain. They are now an excellent ring of ten. The bells are hung after the pattern of the Taylor 12 at Evesham. Although on the same level the castings are split into three distinct groups in order to distribute the stresses over the whole tower.

Ruddington, Notts, bells were last year recast into a lighter ring of eight and rehung in a new frame lower in the tower. They were originally in a two-tier wooden frame. They are now a fast-going ring which it would be difficult to strike badly.

Through the efforts of Mr. Gordon Lane the ring of six at Kingsbury, Warks, has been recast, augmented to eight and rehung in a new metal frame, making this a fine ground floor ring.

Many other rings could be mentioned in detail if space permitted. The recast and rehung 23 cwt. ten at East Retford; the old ring of eight at Southwell Minster, recast and augmented to 12; St. Peter's, Nottingham, where the ring of ten was partly recast, augmented to 12 and rehung in a twotier metal frame; the augmentation at Whatton from six to eight are just four of the excellent rings of bells in Nottinghamshire dealt with by Taylors. Also, mention should be made of the augmentation of that glorious ring of ten to 12 bells at Solihull. P. C. R. H.

CHANGES IN ST. ALBANS

The St. Albans District Committee of the Hertford County Association has recently co-opted several new members on to the committee in anticipation of the departure of three leading members.

Mrs. Alice Talbot-Ponsonby will be leaving in October as her husband has been appointed curate at St. Martin's, Salisbury. The Rev. Andrew Talbot-Ponsonby is also a keen ringer and the absence of both will be felt not only at Radlett but in the district as a whole. Mr. Kenneth J. Darvill is to be married at the end of October and will be living at Beaconsfield, Bucks. He has agreed to continue as a committee member until the A.G.M. The district ringing master, Mr. Andrew W. R. Wilby, will also be standing down at the end of the year as, from September, he is taking up an appointment in Nottingham, although he will be returning home at most week-ends for the time being. The district is fortunate in that several competent ringers have recently moved into the area, and it is hoped that they will be able to support the district activities; a warm welcome certainly awaits them!

HOTEL-WITH BELL BAR

A luxury hotel recently opened in the Midlands is the Post House, Leicester, at the junction of Narborough Road South and Braunstone Lane East. A four-page illustrated folder, of newspaper size, enumerates the amenities available for the traveller, but the one which must be of most interest to bellringers is the Bell Bar. This, says the advertisement, is the only bar in Britain with a campanologists' carpet.

The carpet in the Bell Bar has an original and appropriate pattern, recognisable instantly to any campanologist as being based upon bell change ringing. The carpet specially designed by Allan Ballantyne features a series of rectangles of differing size and pattern based on the change ringing method of Double Bob Minor. The zigzag motif of the curtains is, again, illustrative of the bell ringers' diagram for executing, in bellringing parlance, a Plain Hunt.

The hotel's Bell Bar is adjacent to the Wyvern Grill Room, and its design incorporates items salvaged from the old Bell Hotel, Leicester,

In the Bar itself, also from the old Bell Hotel, known to many Leicester folk, are the bright red and green sallies, or bell rope ends, used now as decorative features.

Sending the folder, Mrs. Jill Staniforth tells us that the architect in charge of the building, which opened recently, is Mr. John Sanson, of Castle Hill Avenue, Berkhamsted, Herts. He is a bell ringer and made himself known after sending a donation to the T.W.W. fund.

Any ringer visiting Leicester should make a point of calling to sample the comforts of the Bell Bar at the Post House.

At the conclusion of their marriage service at Holy Trinity Church, Ash Priors, Taunton, Mr. Keith Beale and Miss Frances Gadd took their turn at ringing the church bells, accompanied by the bride's stepfather, Mr. Albert Knight, and two of the bridesmaids, Miss Marian Beale and Miss Susann Somers.

maids, Miss Marian Beale and Miss Susann Somers.

The couple met through their common interest in church bell ringing. Mr. Beale being deputy ringing master of the Taunton Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, tower captain of Holy Trinity Church, Taunton, and secretary to the Church Council. Mr. Knight is captain of the tower at Ash Priors, the bride being one of the band, while the bridegroom's sister, Marian, rings in the Holy Trinity tower and Miss Somers at St. George, Wilton, Taunton.

Under a heading "Old Bells Peal Again" The Ipswich Evening Star of August 20 gave a very good picture (here reproduced) and a write-up about the peal of Minor (page 719). It said:—

"Last night the bells of St. Mary's-at-the-Quay Church in Key Street, Ipswich, were heard over the town. The church is now used as a headquarters for Ipswich Boys' Brigade and the bell tower has not been used regularly since the 1939-45 War. The ringers were all members of the Suffolk Guild of Bellringers and one of them, Mr. Frank Lufkin, said: 'We all ring for religious services and national holidays. Tonight we were ringing for our own pleasure.

"'Ipswich was the Mecca of church bell ringing in the 1920s, and it's good to hear the old bells peal now and again,' he said. The picture shows the ringers outside the church. Left to right: John Girt, Walter Arnold, Keith Whittell, Martin Thorley, Frank Lufkin and Alan Bridges."

The last peal was in July, 1968, for George E. Symonds' 94th birthday.

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY"

was sung with gusto on September 5 at Willow Grove, Middlesex, when a jolly party was held to celebrate Wilfrid Wilson's 60th. Between 20 and 30 guests—the majority bellringers—were wined and dined luxuriously, the mountains of food and good company being the main features. Naturally handbells were part of the proceedings and a good time was had by all! Next day (in spite of the late night) a good quarter was rung at Ealing for Wilfrid's anniversary.

Miss Katharine M. Thorley, of Laxfield, Suffolk, who has, at the age of 14 years 5 months, rung 100 peals (R.W., page 732).

I.O.W. HOLIDAY

Sandown, Isle of Wight, was the venue for Jack Pryor and associates' family-cumringing holiday this year. Introductions having been made in the course of attendance at the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild meeting at Brading on August 15 and service ringing the following evening, the first of the week's three peals, Cambridge at Ryde, was rung on Monday morning. Ted Marsh (Havant) joined the band on Wednesday for Kent Treble Bob at Brading, his first peal for nearly 20 years, and Friday's peal was Minor in four methods at Godshill.

The usual seaside activities were enjoyed by all, including a paddle boat regatta in which Bob and May took the honours, and a visit to the Anglers Inn, when the menfolk, in their determination to get a head start on the ladies following by car, took a short cut across the fields.

The conclusion of a successful week was duly celebrated on Friday evening when the town crier of Sandown and Shanklin ap-peared in full regalia in the hotel dining room to proclaim a welcome to the visiting bellringers and congratulate them, and particularly 79-years-old Mr. Arthur Mason. upon the successful completion of their peal attempts. His own duties were successfully completed by serving champagne to all members of the party.

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Ringing World for September 21, 1945

Because of the great increase in ringing long touches, following the cessation of hostilities, it was decided to cease publication of any touches less than a quarter peal in length.

At Bocking, Essex, three members of the Wiffen family—Lewis, Arthur and Albert—rang in a peal of Superlative, the lastnamed being the conductor.

At Ewell, Surrey, a peal of Superlative was rung for the wedding of the Rev. K. C. Davis and Miss W. E. Bishop.

Nolan Golden composed and conducted Double Norwich at St. Giles, Norwich, whilst at Rocester, Staffs, a peal of Minor was rung with a cover bell!

L.A.C. Peter Bond wrote from Ceylon about Limpsfield Chart Church, a few miles from his home.

"Is peal ringing an art?" asked H. P. G. in a letter to the R.W., finishing: "Can any ringer think of an art which is practised or appreciated in doses of three to four hours without a second's break?

A way of reinforcing bell ropes was the subject of a letter from Peter Laslin, of Stockport.

James George (aged 91) rang 7-8 for Grandsire Triples in hand—his 1,279th peal.

A quarter peal of Stedman Caters at Southgate had six firsts on ten, and H. E. Balaam was congratulated on ringing with one arm, he having lost the other in the war.

Cambridge University Guild toured East Hertfordshire for a week and Crewe ringers had a day's outing to Derby.

A handy ring of six was installed in Bispham Church, Blackpool, and enough money was collected for two trebles, if it were possible to get them into the tower. The ringing chamber was only 8 ft. 6 in. square.

Michael Haighton, of Nantwich, Cheshire, tells us that in addition to bellringing his hobby is collecting parish magazines, of which he has between 300 and 400 collected from all over the world.

St. Michael the Archangel,
Southampton

Cover Picture

St. Michael the Archangel, Southampton

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Southampton, is the city's oldest building. The exact date of its consecration is not known, but the experts agree that it must have been between 1065 and 1075 on various pieces of evidence, and so to make 1970 the time for the ninth centenary celebrations seems reasonable.

The massive Norman (some have thought Saxon) tower is the main feature which has come down to us from the original building although the central parts of the east and west ends also incorporate Norman work of the then cruciform church. The aisles were added about 200 years later to bring the church to its present shape. Like so many other churches, St. Michael's suffered from "improvements" in 1828. The old Norman nave arcade was pulled down, the three-gabled roof disappeared and the present slender but not very suitable columns were built to support a roof of very low pitch. This always caused trouble because nothing could prevent the rain driving under the slates in a gale. Fifteen years ago the condition of the roof became so bad that it had to be replaced by one of copper. This was only the start of a complete restoration of the church, which was undertaken as a preparation for the ninth centenary, when it became obvious that the structure was in a dangerous condition. This is now almost complete, the whole church having been "tied up" with great ring beams, new ceilings inserted, plaster stripped and renewed, walls limewashed, vestries reorganised, etc. As far as ringers are concerned, it was discovered that the ringing chamber floor was unsafe. In fact if a couple of dozen ringers had jumped on the floor together it would probably have collapsed completely! In putting in the new floor, it was discovered that the previous one had been made by hacking away some very fine Norman ornamentation at the base of a series of arches on each side of the tower to put in the main supporting beams. A little trapdoor in the new floor shows the best of the remaining Norman decoration. It is now hoped that St. Michael's is in a better state of repair than it has been for very many years. Almost £50,000 has been spent on the fabric in one way or another in the last 25 years.

THE BELLS

Now for the bells. The church has had bells from ancient times-how long, nobody knows. The earliest mention of the church in the city archives relates to the clock and bells. Until 1878 there was a ring of six which originally came from the Salisbury foundry. The second, third and tenor of these bear the date 1663 and the initials W. P. (William Purdue); the fifth has, in addition, R. P. (Roger Purdue) and is dated 1664. In 1680 Clement Tosier took over the foundry and the treble is inscribed: "Clement Tosiear cast mee in the year 1693." Actually it was a recast, for the churchwardens' accounts record: "Item; Clem Tosier for casting the Treble Bell and adding 1 qr. of metall, £10. Item; Carriage of Treble Bell twice to Sarum, £1 18s." In 1878 the ring was augmented to eight, the two new trebles being cast by John Warner and Sons. The tenor in E (some say E flat) weighed only 16 cwt. and was consequently very thin! Eventually it was cracked and in 1897 was brazed by Hero Ohlsson of Lenbeck. He contracted to do the work on condition he could lock himself in the belfry so that nobody would learn the secret of his craft. It appeared to be successful, for I have never heard that it afterwards sounded any worse than the other bells. In 1923 the ring was recast by Gillett and Johnston and hung in a new iron frame. Then in 1948 two more trebles were added, cast by John Taylor and Co. from bell metal salvaged from the ruins of Holy Rood Church, destroyed in the 1940 blitz.

PEALS RUNG

Finally, some brief notes about the peals rung on the bells. The first was rung in 1894—Grandsire Triples, conducted by George Williams. The second was one of Kent Treble Bob Major in 1907, and 13 had been rung by 1914, one in 1909 being the first by an entirely local band. These were all the peals that were rung on the old bells. The first on the recast bells was in 1926, again conducted by George Williams, and only eight were rung prior to the second world war. Of the total of 21 peals at that time George Williams had rung in 19. Since the last war 102 have been rung, making the present total 123. This would have been more but for the enforced stopping of ringing whilst the spire was repaired and whilst the church was closed for its restoration (thus no peals in 1967, 1968 and 1970 so far). Since the augmentation to ten 96 peals have been rung on them, about 80 of which were Caters and Royal. Of the latter, no fewer than 23 different Surprise Royal methods have been rung—in most cases the first in the county and for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. Some of these were also the first in the method. In 1955 the only peal ever rung of Exercise Royal was rung. There will never be another because the manner of nomenclature has since been changed and all will be "Surprise" methods in future. Details can also be seen in The Ringing World of November 2, 1962, in an article recording the 100th peal on the bells.

So St. Michael's, Southampton, celebrates its 900th birthday with ringing, special services, a flower festival, a dinner, musical recitals, etc. The events will cover the month of October and the final services of thanksgiving will be on All Saints' Day. May the church long survive to lead the worship of the citizens of Southampton.

K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

INVALIDS

Michael Uphill tells us: "I have visited Peter Sell in hospital. Considering he has been in bed (and unable to get up) since July 26 he is in very fine spirit and eager to get hold of a bell rope again. He expects to remain at Kidderminster (Bewdley Road) Hospital, Ward 3-4a, until about the end of October, when he will go to his father's vicarage for about a month.'

Ken Rider, whose sudden illness was reported last week, is well on the way to recovery (no operation was performed) and hopes to be home very soon.

Whilst on a ringing outing on September 19 the well-known Cheshire ringer Mr. Harry W. Howard was taken ill with a heart attack in Wrexham belfry. He is in Wrexham Memorial Hospital, where he is likely to be for some time. All who know Harry will wish him a speedy recovery.

Kent County Association. LOWER THAN AVERAGE

Many weddings and also a mass exodus of Kent ringers to Exeter for the wedding of an ex-Rochester District ringing master, Miss Joan Hayward, resulted in a lower than average attendance at the by-meeting of the Rochester District held at Meopham on September 5. However, those present enjoyed the hospitality of Meopham's inhabitants and the bells were kept going under the guidance of Mr. David Leworthy and Miss Wendy Austin in the absence of the ringing master. CONSERVATION YEAR

The master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild (Mr. J. N. Tyler) contributed the following to his guild's News Sheet, and whilst directed to members in his area we feel the Exercise as a whole could benefit from these words of wisdom:—

"This is not going to be a discourse on the preservation of wild life. Rather it is that the thought of conservation ought to remind us all of two very important duties that we, as members of the Guild, have.

"First, we all have a responsibility to-wards the upkeep of the towers in our diocese, for whether we use them often or only seldom, it is sure that if we do not make it our business to see that they are kept in repair and running order then there is every likelihood that they will suffer neglect, and generations yet to come will blame us for it. Then comes the time when fairly major work is needed. It is encouraging then to see how some even quite small communities buckle to and make every effort to raise money; but then it is also that our Bell Restoration Fund should be available to help. And this is how we can all help. It is my great hope that we shall see the size of this fund so increased that we can give generous grants towards major repairs, drawing only on the interest and leaving the capital untouched; and I very much hope that there is going to be a particular effort from every branch towards this end.

"But then, what use is a tower in good order if there are few ringers to use the bells? Constant instruction of beginners is the duty of every capable ringer, and in every tower there should be a band of learners. Indeed, I would go so far as to say that the tower where there are no learners is a dead tower-or at least it very soon will be! An unpopular comment? To some I expect it will be, but common sense tells us it's only too true. Teaching can be a disappointing task, but if we face it accepting that out of every ten who start perhaps only one or two will get anywhere, then we are being realistic. And what a joy and a reward it is when those few do get somewhere; it's worth all the frustration of the others! Nor should we wait patiently for the would-be ringers to come to us: we must go out and invite them in ourselves-that's really doing some missionary work!

"I believe that if these two duties could become realities then we could claim with honesty to be a live and active guild. And it's never too late to start, for as far as every sincere church bellringer is concerned, every year should be Conservation Year!"

TWO NEW BELLS

About 20 people were present at St. Michael and All Angels, Somerton, Som, on August 14, when two new bells arrived from the bell foundry of Taylor's at Loughborough; but more than twice that number were in the belfry a week later when the bells were tried out under the watchful eyes of Mr. Arthur Fidler, of Crediton, the bell-hanger, and the captain of the tower, Mr. H. E. G. Jeanes. The new bells are two trebles to complete a ring of eight, the tenor weighing 19\(\frac{3}{4}\) cwt. One of them carries the inscription "Raised by subscription and the perseverance of the Captain, H. E. G. Jeanes, 1970."

The bells were not rung again until September 5, when the Bishop of Taunton (the Rt. Rev. F. H. West, M.A.) dedicated the new bells at a special Evensong, which was well attended. Immediately after this service there was rung a touch of Grandsire Triples, conducted by Mr. T. Setter, the captain of the tower at St. John's Church, Yeovil. Refreshments were served at Montecliffe School for members of the congregation and there followed an evening of ringing by all the ringers who were present.

COMPETITION RINGING IN DEVON

Once the association eight- and six-bell competitions have been disposed of early in the summer, the way is clear for a whole succession of local festivals, many of which, though invitation competitions run by an individual tower, carry a good deal of prestige, which is why one finds the "Big League" bands travelling right across Devon to ring in them. The West Down band came down to take away the Down St. Mary Shield, and also collected the Torridge Vale Cup at Clovelly, being followed by Swymbridge in the first case and Down St. Mary in the second. "Mary-Down" returned the compliment by going north to beat West Down by one fault for the Yarnscombe Shield (Swymbridge came third in this one, but a fair way behind), and did the same at Poughill for the Poughill Shield. At Plymtree they also won the Shield, this time from Swymbridge,

One invitation competition which will surely be talked about for a long, long time was the Miners Rose Bowl at Widecombe, the trophy which the late Bill Miners gave during his lifetime so that he could have the fun of competing for it himself. Here the South Down ringers were in their best form (which is very good indeed), with West Alvington first and Plymstock second; Down St. Mary came third and Swymbridge fourth— and the marking was 10½, 11, 11½, 13! I cannot remember ever hearing of a competition in which the fourth place went to a band with 13 faults, nor one in which the standard was so high and at the same time so well matched. Down St. Mary say that this was the best ringing they ever did, but one "chitter" at the end of the lower was enough to put them into third place.

September sees a continuation of the pattern of invitation competitions, along with some of the local Deanery festivals which generally wait until harvesting is over. Swymbridge had their Charlie Holland Shield and Ted Holmes Cup on September 5, Bow has a competition for two shields on the 12th, and South Tawton an invitation competition on the 19th, while the Cadbury Deanery ringers will be holding their own festival on the same day on the light six at Washford Pyne. The 26th sees the Chawleigh Shield for the six-bell ringers and the Tawstock Shield (to be rung for at Torrington) for eight.

North Wales Association. HALF-YEARLY MEETING

This was held at All Saints', Gresford, on September 5, when more than 50 ringers and friends attended from all parts of North Wales, and two visitors from Eastbourne were also welcomed. After an hour's ringing under the direction of Mr. Fred Evans (master) the service was held at which the vicar (Rev. Oliver Hill) officiated, assisted by Rev. E. L. Cooke, vicar of Hope and president of the association). The vicar of Buckley (Rev. E. Jones) was also present. The vicar welcomed the members to Gresford and, quoting two ancient conundrums, he connected the work of man and bell in an interesting address.

Tea was served in All Saints' School by the Gresford ladies and was followed by the meeting under the chairmanship of the president. He thanked the vicar for the use of the bells, the Gresford ringers for their arrangements, the ladies for the excellent tea, and the organist for his services.

Members were reminded of the Ringing School to be held at Hope under the guidance of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Lewis, to which all were invited to attend. Mr. D. Millward suggested that all towers in the association should place a notice of their membership of the association in the porch of the church, and Mr. G. H. Randles further suggested that this should also give information to visiting ringers about times and arrangements for ringing at the church. The secretary (Mr. W. Cathrall) distri-

The secretary (Mr. W. Cathrall) distributed the new book of rules which has been compiled during the year. Arising from this, two new honorary associate members were accepted, Mrs. Eleanor Potts and Mrs. Mabel Faulkner; both have had a close association with the Gresford tower for 50 years.

After the meeting the ringing continued and a course of Grandsire Triples by a band of ladies was warmly applauded by the company.

FURTHER RESTORATION IN KENT

It was recently reported in these columns that the ring of eight at Elham was to be rehung. On reaching the ground, it was found that two more bells, the third and tenor, were cracked (the treble, second and fourth were known to be cracked), and it has therefore been decided to recast the whole ring. The old bells have now been broken up, and the Whitechapel Foundry are to recast the eight, with tenor 14½ cwt. in F sharp, in place of the previous eight (tenor 15 cwt. 1 qr. 8 lb. in F). This will increase the cost by many hundreds of pounds, and donations will be very gratefully received and acknowledged by the belfry treasurer, Mr. R. Mallett, 2 Braeside Cottages, Elham, Canterbury, Kent.

belfry treasurer, Mr. R. Mallett, 2 Braeside Cottages, Elham, Canterbury, Kent.

In 1960 one of the finest rings in Kent, at St. Mary's, Chislet, was rehung in new fittings and framework, and justifiably became known for its resonant tone and easy "go." However, in 1967 the fourth cracked suddenly during Sunday service ringing and was silenced. The bell is to be recast in October at the Whitechapel Foundry, and it is hoped that the whole ring will be heard again properly for the first time in three years in good time for Christmas. This is a heavy and unexpected blow to so small a parish, and the vicar (Rev. G. Stephens) will be pleased to receive and acknowledge donations.

The Kentish Express reports that the heavy ring of eight at Cranbrook is to be placed in the care of John Taylor and Co. for rehanging, through the enthusiasm and exertion of the local band of ringers.

Bedfordshire Association.

SEPTEMBER MEETING

Despite the torrential rain, about 24 members of the Biggleswade District bell-ringers journeyed to Roxton (5) for the afternoon's ringing of the September meeting. A buffet tea which had been prepared at Sandy by Mr. and Mrs. E. Skipsey and helpers was much appreciated.

Mr. S. H. Ashton was in the chair for a short business meeting. Two new members were elected and names were taken of members wishing to attend the district dinner at Norton in December. As members are still showing interest in the weekly practices, Mr. A. S. Smith said it was hoped to restart in the winter months but on different nights each week to give all members a chance to attend. During the evening Sandy's bells were rung and the ringing masters were pleased to welcome further members and visitors from surrounding associations.

Ely Diocesan Association and Hertford County Association. JOINT MEETING

When the Cambridge District meeting was planned to be at Guilden Morden on September 12, members were surprised and pleased to hear that the association president (the Bishop of Ely) would be there as well. The Bishop is a ringer, though on this occasion he did not take a rope. The weather was discouraging and there were some weddings to be rung for, but there was a good attendance of members and also friends from the Northern District of the Hertford County Association, who had been invited to make this a joint meeting.

The Bishop conducted the service, with Mr. O. Kaye, a local ringer, as organist. There were babies and small children present, and the Bishop was clearly delighted to meet them as well as their families. Mrs. Kirby and her helpers had laid on a sumptuous tea which was enjoyed by all. J.S.

FAMILY OCCASION

September 12 was a real family occasion for William Rogers, of Tonbridge, when his grand-daughter, Josephine Kay Moody, was married at Rotherfield. Two of his other grand-daughters were bridesmaids, his grandson was best man and, all told, 11 of his grandchildren and two great-grandchildren were present. Unfortunately Bill was unable to get his family's permission to ring in the wedding peal! The band, however, very much enjoyed his hospitality afterwards at the Catts Inn.

EAST RETFORD OUTING

The East Retford outing on September 5 was to Leicester and its immediate vicinity. After the fine light eight at Birstall, where an ancient church has been enlarged by the addition of a modern extension, the party encountered the first 12 of the day at St. Margaret's, Leicester. Here some found their first opportunity to ring Maximus with a course of Little Bob.

Disappointment was felt when All Saints' was found locked and no key forthcoming. Nevertheless this was largely compensated for by the rest of the day, towers rung at being Leicester Cathedral, St. Mary-de-Castro, St. John the Divine, Aylestone and Syston. Methods rung included five Surprise and all the standard methods up to Maximus. As always, the day was a social occasion both for the ringers and their non-ringing friends, the usual ringing tour activities being continued until closing time.

Peterborough Diocesan Guild. SUMMER FESTIVAL

The annual summer festival was held on September 5 at Castor, near Peterborough, when 24 towers in Northamptonshire, Lincolnshire and Huntingdonshire were open for ringing. Good use was made of the bells by members of the guild and also a considerable number of visitors from many parts of the country.

many parts of the country.

The Guild service was held in Castor Parish Church and was conducted by the rector (Rev. T. P. Adler). The guild president read the lesson and the address was given by past-president Canon G. F. Turner. Mr. J. Malcolm Tyler (guild master) was the organist. The opening and closing music for the service and the accompaniment to the last hymn was provided on handbells by the Peterborough Handbell Ringers. The collection for the guild bell restoration fund amounted to £6 13s. 1d.

Tea followed in the village hall and was attended by approximately 110 members and friends. An apology for absence was received from Mr. R. Turner, who had recently reached his 90th birthday and has completed over 70 years as a ringer. The general secretary was requested to write and convey the congratulations and best wishes of the meeting to Mr. Turner.

Notice was given of the Northampton Branch's "Festival of Music on Handbells" to be held on October 3 in Moulton Village School. As all proceeds from the festival bazaar and prize draw would be donated to the guild's bell restoration fund, members were urged to give the event their utmost support.

On behalf of the Peterborough Branch, Mr. Daw welcomed all members and visitors to the Peterborough area and expressed the hope that their visit had been an enjoyable

The vote of thanks to the numerous people who had been responsible for the excellent arrangements was proposed by Mr. John Foot and seconded by Mr. Richard Danby

The president closed the proceedings in the usual manner, and members dispersed to continue their ringing activities in the towers available. E. B.

HANDBOOKS FOR LEARNERS

The Dunster Deanery quarterly meeting was held at St. Decuman's, Watchet, on September 12. We were very pleased to welcome the association secretary, Mr. John Gilbert, and two members from the Taunton Branch. In spite of many members being on holiday we kept the bells going until the service at 4.30, which was followed by tea.

After an excellent meal (provided by the Watchet ladies) the secretary reminded all that it was time to start thinking of new officers for election at the A.G.M. It was decided that a monetary gift from visiting peal ringers should be spent on handbooks for learners

A return was then made to the tower, where Farmborough ringers joined in until 9 p.m. P. J. T.

RECORDS

The greatest number of Royal methods yet rung to a peal was accomplished at St. John's Church, Leicester, on September 19, composed and conducted by Anthony R. Peake; 75 methods were rung! And at Daventry the same day 9960 of London Surprise Royal was accomplished, Graham C. Paul conducting. It took 5 hours and 55 minutes to complete.

WEAKNESS OF INTELLECT

On page 739 of last week's Ringing World we recorded a peal for the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild at St. Mary's Church, Rotherhithe. The copy was typed, the conductor's signature and address appended and everything appeared in order, including well-known names (except two) taking part. We were quickly informed by one member of the "band" that the peal was not rung, had never been arranged, that the "ringers" of the 2nd and 4th did not exist, and the whole thing was just a malicious attempt to cause trouble.

But with whom and for whom? There is only slight irritation in the editorial office that valuable space in The Ringing World has been wasted, and the perpetrator of this piece of idiocy can only snigger in private for he (or she) cannot publicise the childish effort. To do so would bring the scorn of every ringer—both young and old—on his (or her) head and he (or she) would be shunned, and yet without publicity what satisfaction is there?

Such peals, and other items, have appeared before, one quite recently. Normal individuals just treat the writer of such missives with contempt-even though unknown. For our part, having had denials from those whose names were printed (and we cannot see any of them including their own name in a fictitious report) we try to understand the weakness of intellect of such a person and trust that he (or she) will one day develop a sense of responsibility and be able to mix openly with his (or her) fellow men without the sense of guilt which must of necessity pervade at present.

RECTOR OF SANDRINGHAM

The Norton Subcourse and District ringers are sorry to have lost the Rev. Alan Glendining after seven years as rector of the Raveningham Group of Parishes. the start of Mr. Glendining's ministry in the Group a fund for the rehanging of Norton Subcourse bells was well under way, and he gave every support and encouragement to this. In 1964 he was elected as honorary member of the Norwich Diocesan Association.

All wish him well in his new work as rector of the Sandringham Group of Parishes (unfortunately a bell-less zone), which includes the Domestic Chaplaincy to H.M. the Queen.

Obituary.

FRANK REGINALD MITCHELL

Ringers from Kent will be sad to learn of the death under tragic circumstances on August 25 of Frank Mitchell. Though not a ringer he was an associate member of the Kent County Association and regularly attended meetings of the Rochester District and the A.G.M.'s. He enjoyed going on ringers' outings, many organised by his son, Laurence. He will be very much missed at Newington-next-Sittingbourne, where for 17 years he was churchwarden, and where his generosity played no small part in the recent restoration of the six bells. R. I. P.

Belfry Gossip

A quarter at Loughborough was rung with rather more than usual pleasure by the local ringers, for it was their special compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor, whose daughter was married that day. peals were also rung for this event.

A couple of errors have slipped in. The first is the last item on page 652. I doubt if the Salisbury Guild would wish to lay claim to us. (Come to think of it, I doubt if the Worcesters wish to, either, but they are stuck with us!) The other thing is the last item on page 664; the last full line thanking a Mr. Gerry Richards should read Mr. Gerry Edwards, writes R. G. M.

Laura Higginson, who is only 13, rang the treble at Patrington, Yorkshire, to her first peal, eight-spliced, and rang extremely well. She has been ringing for two years and was taught at Sutton, Hull, by Ron Ducker. Laura is quite accomplished in page 14. complished in many Minor and Major Surprise methods, and spent her holiday towergrabbing and managed a new tower each

Mr. E. J. F. Rose, of Upper Colwall, was aided in a grand double celebration by his ringing friends of Malvern Link on September 6. Not only did his ruby wedding fall upon this date, but four days previously was the 50th anniversary of his first peal. The event was marked by a quarter peal in which Mr. Rose rang the second.

The footnote to the peal of 5152 Superlative (page 648) should refer only to calls at Middle, "2" at Wrong and Home is two bobs, and the peal at Manchester was not my first peal of Stedman, nor my best, though it was certainly my last, writes Christopher I. Rowson.

In our "50 Years Ago" (Ringing World, page 667) the first peal of Stedman as conductor for A. D. Barker was incorrect. This was achieved on August 13, 1913, we are

A quarter peal was rung at Wheatley, Oxfordshire, for the induction of the Rev. H. Brasier. Mr. Brasier was previously vicar of Enstone in the Chipping Norton Branch of the Oxford Guild.

Writing from Nantwich, Cheshire, M. Haighton thanks the Rochdale Branch of the Lancashire Association for "putting up with him" when he visits their area.

Commenting on the Editorial of September 11 (page 723) Mr. F. M. Bowers, of Penzance, Cornwall, suggests: "A good method of reminding ourselves of the chief purpose of ringing is always to have a prayer before the start. It just brings to mind where we are (in church) and our purpose for ringing. I wonder how many towers still keep this up today?"

Woman's Own for September 26 carried a very interesting article by Mrs. Joan Glazebrook, of Braughing, Herts, in "The Way We Live" column about being the wife of a bellringer. Peter, her husband (whose name often appears in The Ringing World), apparently makes a full-time hobby of bellringing, and his four children hope to emulate their father, and Mrs. Glazebrook, although not a ringer herself, obviously encourages this. An illustration of the Glazebrook family, with father "at the ready" with a bell rope, heads the article.

Confirming that Bodelwyddan, Flintshire, has a ring of eight (Ringing World, page 692), Mr. Charles A. Pound, of Hawkley, Hants, says that the Church of St. Margaret is known as the Marble Church and is very beautiful.

Sending details for a cover picture, Mr. R. J. Stevens, of Christchurch, New Zealand, delighted us by putting ten or a dozen different stamps on the packet—a really pretty and interesting collection, and much appreciated.

First peal congratulations to Penny Moriarty (handbells), Cecily Rock (handbells), Margaret P. Byrne, Joyce Richards, Clive Bradley (14), Keith Richardson (12), Laura Higginson.

Personal Records: Lawrence R. Pizzey (100 peals), James L. Towler (400), Cyril A. Wratten (500), Simon Humphrey (200), Clive J. Mobbs (50). New Method: Overstone Surprise Major at Moulton, Northants.

The excellent article on "The Four-Bell Towers of Worcester" (page 675), compiled by P. Cattermole and C. J. Pickford, should have stated that the Addendum dealt with 3-bell towers.

Recently the bellringers at Crosthwaite, Westmorland, raised over £45 for belfry funds at a coffee evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens, of Telford, Salop, paid us a visit recently whilst holiday-making in Surrey. Mr. Percy Venn, of Hayes, has also called whilst working in Guildford.

Lindsay Messenger and Tim Wray of Grofield both rang in their first quarter peal of Bob Minor on September 1. This quarter has made local history, for it is the first quarter rung by a Sunday service band.

The young band who rang a peal of Doubles at Bicker, Lincs, on September 7, are to be congratulated, for the average age was just 14 years. (Keep it up, lads and lasses.—Ed.)

"I absolutely and fully agree with your remarks anent 'Blackmail' . . . Should my letter not be published please do not return cash," writes a correspondent. (Thank you, we haven't !—Ed.)

"He rang excellently throughout the whole peal (his first of Spliced Surprise) and is to be congratulated," writes a correspon-dent in sending details of four-spliced at Soberton, Hants. The ringer congratulated A. Patrick Cannon.

"We always look forward to the arrival of The Ringing World, to keep us up to date with developments and the movements of ringers," writes Kenneth S. Cross, of Salisbury, Rhodesia. We trust we shall continue to have news from Mr. Cross, but the stamps, according to a label on the letter, "have no legal basis" and are accordingly surcharged. (We didn't pay, though.—Ed.)

Ringers in the North-West will be sorry to learn that Mr. H. W. Howard, tower captain at Davenham, Cheshire, was taken seriously ill in the tower of St. Giles, Wrexham, during a Northwich Branch outing on September 19. He was taken to the War Memorial Hospital, Wrexham, and is expected to be kept there for some weeks.

VERSATILE BELLS

Dear Sir,-On a recent Sunday evening a group of ringers bearing odd names like Cannon, Border, etc., cannoned into the peaceful border town of Ellesmere, Salop, where they ascended the central tower of the old Norman church and rang excellent touches for Evensong, rounding off with call changes for a local lady-learner (she has since aspired to plain hunting).

Before leaving, this strangely-named party solemnly pronounced the eight bells to be out of tune, though it seems they were at some little variance as to which of the bells were not in tune.

To be fair to these good ringers, however, the bells, off and on, have been the subject of similar controversy for at least half a century. An ancient ring, cast by Rudhall of Gloucester in 1727, this is almost certainly the oldest octave in Shropshire or, indeed, the north-west. The treble, fourth, fifth and sixth were recast in 1768 and the tenor (21 cwt. in E) in 1799. The bells were quarter-turned and rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1894 and again in 1952. Commencing with a peal of Grandsire Triples by a local band in 1730, there have been some dozen or so peals rung on them, three of these peals being mentioned in The Ringing World of August 28 under the heading "50 Years August 28 under the heading Ago."

The intriguing, and somewhat amusing, feature is how very widely visiting experts have disagreed as to what is wrong with these well-going, but allegedly strange-sounding, bells, while, indeed, quite a few. well-known ringers—perhaps too polite do not appear to have offered any comment at all. Many have found the third out of tune, some the fifth, others have decreed that the seventh or tenor is wrong, yet others the second, while a few have decided that both the trebles are out of key, and so on. Manchester University ringers recently were more precise when they reported a flat treble and sharp fifth in your issue of September 11. At least one excellent ringer has declared the bells to be in the minor key!

On the other hand, some ringers, less numerous perhaps, but certainly no less qualified, have spoken more favourably of these bells. Shortly after they were rehung, 18 years ago, the late Mr. Albert Hughes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, told me he had found them "reasonably in tune" and it is worth noting that, had he found otherwise, his firm would have had the job of recasting them. The local ringers, too, including Mr. Frank James, considered somewhat of an expert in this field, and Mr. Arnold Whitehead (the tower captain) do not agree that the bells are seriously out of tune. When a touch is being rung, I, personally, find them far easier to "read" and check, either nearby or over a mile away across the beautiful mere, than, say, the grand but indecipherable Liverpool Cathedral ring at any distance.

Is it possible that some visiting ringers, not having heard Ellesmere bells at any distance, are misled and bemused by rather exceptional tower acoustics, or is it that with many others, Messrs. James, White-head and I have become "immune" to the sound of these, my "mother" bells? Or can it be that, as I think Dr. John Spice once put it, old bells become mournful and saddened with the passage of time?—Yours faithfully,

Liverpool. TOM BUTLER.

LONDON ROYAL
Dear Sir,—Under "Belfry Gossip" in The Ringing World recently I observed that several readers have written to say that the first peal of London Surprise Royal was rung at St. Peter's, Brighton, in 1926. However, I send details as below from, I think, The Bell News, stating that the first peal of London Surprise Royal was rung at St. Dunstan's, Stepney, on November 11, 1907, giving the names of all the ringers, of whom I am the sole survivor; this record also appears in the College Youths'
Peal Book. I would mention that I have a cutting of every one of my peals—a modest total of 381.—Yours faithfully, Oxhey, Herts. HENRY HODGETTS.

The Ancient Society of College Youths. On Monday, November 11, 1907, in 3 hr. 38min. at the Church of St. Dunstan, 38min. at the Church of St. Dunstan, Stepney. A Peal of London Surprise Royal, Stepney. A Peal of London Surprise Royal, 5040 changes. Tenor 31 cwt. William Truss treble, Henry Hodgetts 2, Hubert Eden 3, George N. Price 4, Frederick W. Brinklow 5, Henry G. Miles 6, William E. Garrard 7, Alfred B. Peck 8, Henry R. Newton 9, John W. Golding tenor. Composed by G. Lindoff and conducted by George N. Price. This is the first peal of London Surprise Royal ever rung, the method having been extended to ten bells by G. Lindoff of Dublin. by G. Lindoff of Dublin.

WHO WERE THEY?

Dear Sir,—At short notice the bells of St. Leonard-the-Less, Samlesbury, were re-quested for a peal. We permitted the request, only to find, on Sunday morning, that the visitors had left very short ropes and a broken stay behind them (without a note to tell us)

May I, through The Ringing World, point out how dangerous and ill-mannered this is. We at Samlesbury feel very strongly about this as there was very nearly an accident. We know nothing about the ringers except that they were visiting most of the towers in our area.—Yours faithfully,

GLEN CLAYTON,

Blackburn. Tower Captain.

THE FROME PEAL

Dear Sir,—I have just been informed by the master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild that the peal rung at Frome on March 14 and credited to the Bath and Wells Association and the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild has not been accepted by the latter guild.

This is strictly in accordance with the Central Council Rules and Decisions (of which I was not aware at the time), that only the first-named guild or association for which a peal is rung is recognised.

The Ringing World has already given valuable space to publish the views of officers of both associations, the Bath and Wells being quite happy to record this peal as published. In neither letter was the Central Council ruling mentioned. The fact that there is also a Central Council ruling regarding seven- and nine-bell peals has not deterred my own guild from recognising the latter, which I consider a case of "don't do as I do, do as I say."

I regret that it has taken three months for the Guild Executive Committee to inform me of this Decision and also that they did not inform the guild annual meeting (which immediately followed the Executive Committee meeting) of this Decision. hope resident bands will remember that this rule exists and that the Central Council recognises peals for one guild only.—Yours

Highclere, Hants. GEOFFREY K. DODD.

COURSE AND CONFERENCE

Dear Sir,-Now that ringing courses are comparatively frequent our committee intends to hold a conference on the content of courses, and on ringing education generally, at Hereford, from April 15 to 18, 1971, parallel with the usual course at the College. We hope that anyone interested will come (please note the advertisement on the back of this issue), but it will be particularly helpful to have the assistance of at least one lecturer or organiser from the other courses that have been held. hope to have discussions in depth and a number of demonstrations of methods of teaching, in and out of the tower. — Yours faithfully,

WILFRID F. MORETON, Convener,

Sunday Service & Education Cttee. Wakefield, Yorks.

HELP NEEDED

Dear Sir,-Essential work has to be carried out on the bells and frame at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Monken Hadley, Herts. To raise the cost of this we are arranging to hold, on October 17, a 20-mile sponsored walk. I ask readers of our excellent weekly journal to help make our venture successful by sponsoring some of our walkers, or perhaps walking with us. Any offers of assistance will be gratefully appreciated.—Yours faithfully, 9 Falkland Road, Barnet. TOM PINK.

RINGING THE METHOD

Dear Sir,- Keith G. Game objects to the ringer of the treble or the tenor behind claiming "first in the method" (Ringing World, page 654). Although Mr. Game has pointed out that the ringer of the treble need not know anything of the blue line, and that it depends upon one's standards whether one can claim drumming the tenor behind as part of the method, I feel he is being rather hard on these humble partici-pants. That expression of anxious inquiry on the treble ringer's face may not be due to having lost his place; it may be a reflec-tion of the question: "Whatever made me say I'd stand in a peal attempt?" and the ringer of the tenor may be fighting boredom rather than a heavy bell. If one knows the blue line it can take more concentration to stick to the treble-bob work

After all, how many peals are rung without the treble?

A SUPPORTER OF THE RABBITS' GUILD. (Name and address supplied.)

BAD LUCK

There have been many Dear Sir, calamities in the history of change ringing, but we are particularly sad about our recent misfortune. We wish to withdraw the peal of Minor in nine methods at Great Barrington on September 2. [This had not been printed and has been withdrawn.-Editor.] The perils attending those who attempt to splice Minor are greater than we had supposed.

Thinking that all 2nds place Plain Minor methods would splice in 360's we rang St. Clements and Childwall in this way. are, of course, false when rung like this. The tragedy is all the worse as the peal was struck excellently throughout; it had one "first inside in Minor" (aged 13) and Bernard Taylor "called" his first peal (aged 14).

For the same reason we wish to withdraw the quarter of Spliced Minor at Great Witcombe on June 13.—Yours sadly ERIC J. TAYLOR. Cheltenham.

Kent County Association RAFFLE FOR R.W.

A friendly welcome is always assured to ringers by the happy band at Woodchurch (one of the Ashford District's most loyal bands), and a successful meeting was held there on September 5.

Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and by service time over 50 ringers and friends were present. The service was conducted by the rector (Rev. R. D. Wain), Mr. H. Wilkinson, of the local band, read the lesson and Mr. Barnes was at the organ. The offertory, amounting to £4 10s., was donated to Tenterden Tower and Bell Restoration Fund.

Tea, generously provided, was served by the local band and friends in the village hall and a business meeting followed. At the conclusion the secretary proposed a vote of thanks to all who had assisted with the day's arrangements, particularly Mr. R. E. Pellett, who in spite of muddled notices had everything well under control. A raffle in aid of The Ringing World realised £4.

Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m., under the direction of Mr. J. Hemsley, and notwithstanding the weight of the bells touches were invariably successful.

Towers represented were Appledore, Ashford, Brabourne, Folkestone, Hythe, Lympne, Mersham, Newchurch, New Romney, Rolvenden, Tenterden, Willesborough. Woodchurch and Wye. A. B.

PEAL WEEK-GRANTHAM RINGERS

A peal week in August was first suggested in the winter months, when holidays were being planned. It was decided that four members of the Grantham band would embark on the Week and so increase their knowledge of Surprise, Delight and Plain Minor methods. The towers were arranged by Denis Frith, who also obtained the services of David R. Baxter and Melvyn J. Hiller. Denis, who was to conduct the Minor methods, provided copious papers covered in diagrams, aides memoire, notes and general advice on the methods that were to be rung.

Monday morning saw us at Stamford (All Saints') with a peal in 11 methods, and our efforts on the pleasant six at Uffington brought the number to 19. Our thanks go to Mr. John Bluff for meeting us at both these towers. It was at Uffington that we learned that John was on holiday and so he was "roped in" for a peal of Major on Thursday at Heydour.

Witham-on-the-Hill (Tuesday) was eventful, and a peal in 23 methods came round after a couple of attempts, switching of ringers, and the last two extents being rung by the tenor man with his rope end lashing his forehead. Relaxation followed at the Six Bells in the village. We must have relaxed too much, as we suffered our first failure in the afternoon at Morton.

St. Andrew's, Horbling, brought us to the most methods in the week (31) and there then followed three failures—at Bourne, Heydour and Sempringham. With some of the band a little dispirited, we met on the Friday morning for a peal on the light five at Thornhaugh, Northants, with a peal in 130 methods and variations. The afternoon ringing on an even lighter six (tenor 3 cwt.) at Wansford was the fastest peal of the week in 15 Plain Minor methods and came home in 1 hour and 59 minutes.

We had scored only six out of ten but comforted ourselves with the fact that the ringing had been good and that we had attempted something different methodwise each time.

Tom Wright, of Down St. Mary, Devon, leads his daughter, Heather, into church through the ringing room for her marriage to Paul Madge, of Crediton. Heather, who rings with the Down St. Mary "B" band, is a student at St. Luke's College, Exeter, and will continue to ring in her home tower from their new home in Copplestone. We understand that Paul is to be one of his father-in-law's new recruits this autumn!

St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers, Dorchester, Dorset

Dear Sir,—I should be most interested to know if there are any ringers' pewter flagons in existence, apart from the one belonging to the ringers of St. Peter's, Dorchester. Little is ever written about the former habits of past generations of ringers, in the days when the flagon would stand ready filled in the belfry for the ringers to quench their thirst.

A brief account of the flagon belonging to the ringers of St. Peter's, Dorchester, is printed below, which it is hoped will be of interest to other ringers. — Yours faithfully,

R. H. DUKE,

Captain and Towerkeeper.

Dorchester, Dorset.

A RINGERS' PEWTER FLAGON (The only example known in pewter.)

For generations in the past it was common practice for ringers to have a well-filled flagon of beer or cider—anything up to six gallons in capacity—in the belfry, from which they drank heartily during their strenuous labours.

The St. Peter's, Dorchester, ringers' flagon is at present on loan and in the safe keeping of the Dorset County Museum next to St. Peter's Church, but is claimed, and exhibited, at ringers' meetings and on other special occasions.

In 1933 the flagon was found to be in a very bad state and was restored to its present condition. It was covered in black scale (i.e. corrosion) which was flaking off. and, underneath, a second layer of corrosion in the form of a hardish grey powder had formed, and so it would have continued until the point of disintegration had been reached.

It had obviously been entrusted to some inexperienced tinker to repair at some time as some very clumsy repairs had been made to the cover and handle, which at some time appeared to have been broken off. A puncture beneath the frontal inscription had been carelessly attended to. The chief danger was the possible loss of the finely executed inscription upon the front, but this was saved as it had been deeply cut.

The dimensions of the flagon are as follows: Total height to the top of the thumbpiece $15\frac{1}{8}$ in.; to top of cover 14in.; and to the lip $12\frac{3}{8}$ in.; the diameter of the base being $8\frac{5}{8}$ in. and of the lip $6\frac{1}{8}$ in. The weight is $10\frac{1}{2}$ lb. and capacity $1\frac{1}{4}$ gallons.

The inscription affords a fine example of the stiffly conventionalised Stuart mantling into which the actual lettering cuts at two points. It reads: "Feb. 7th, 1676. The Guift of Edward Lester wch is to remaine for ye use of ye Ringers of Dorchester for ever," and beneath the mantling is cut "St. Peter."

In the centre of the cover are struck the hallmarks of the maker, probably those of Samuel Attley (Old Pewter, Its Makers and Marks).

The flagon was restored by Messrs. Isher and Sons and the cost was shared by Mrs. Scott Nicholson, Archibald J. Irving Esq., Cyril C. Minchin Esq., Alderman J. E. Pink, Major John Richardson, D.S.O., and Howard H. Cotterell Esq.

It was hoped to exhibit this ringers' pewter flagon on Sunday, September 20, when St. Peter's, Dorchester, ringers were to hold their annual Festival Sunday.

The pewter flagon described above and a copy of the scrollwork and inscription.

North Staffs Association.
GONE TO ELY

Throughout its history the North Staffordshire Association has had as its president the Archdeacon of Stoke-on-Trent. On his appointment in 1956, the Ven. George Youll succeeded Ven. Percy Hartill, and over the years has always shown a keen interest in church bells and ringing. Mr. Youll has attended every annual meeting of the Association during his 14 years as president, even at some inconvenience.

It was with considerable regret that members learned recently of his resignation as Archdeacon to become Canon Treasurer of Ely Cathedral.

Mr. Youll left North Staffordshire on September 16, and no opportunity occurred for the association to bid him farewell. In the circumstances four members,

In the circumstances four members, Messrs. G. S. Ryles (chairman), R. S. Anderson and George Biddulph (former chairmen) and R. Ballard (secretary) entertained him at an informal dinner and presented him with six cut glass sherry glasses and book token subscribed to by members.

The Archdeacon was deeply touched by the gifts and asked that his sincere thanks be conveyed to all members for their kind thought and generous gesture. He said he would take away with him many happy memories of times spent with ringers, and hoped that he would be able to meet the North Staffordshire ringers on some future occasion.

Sussex County Association SAMPLED THE HOPS

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division was held on August 22 at St. Giles, Bodiam, and the tower contains an excellent ring of six cast by Whitechapel Bell Foundry in 1961.

Ringing in a variety of methods was enjoyed during the afternoon and evening and the Association's form of service was conducted by the priest-in-charge (Rev. E. G. Allsop), following which tea, arranged by Mrs. Allsop, was taken at the Church House.

At the business one new member was elected. Following the evening ringing a return was made to the Church House where a free sample of the products of Messrs. Guinness Hop Farms Ltd. awaited the party, being the gift of one of the directors of the firm which owns much of the land around Bodiam and on which they grow the hops from which their products are made.

Winchester and Portsmouth Guild MEETING GATHERS MOMENTUM

In glorious weather, members of the Christchurch and Southampton District met for their quarterly meeting at Ringwood. It was a meeting which gathered momentum as the day went on, starting with some 20 ringers in Ringwood belfry in the afternoon and finishing with upwards of 60 members in the beautiful little Church of St. Michael, Sopley, for some evening 6-bell ringing.

The guild office was used at the service in Ringwood Church, conducted by the vicar, and about 35 sat down to tea prepared by Mrs. Olive Collins and her lady helpers in the church hall. A brief but very useful business meeting followed. Ringing was enjoyed on the eight at Ringwood (up to London Major) and on the six at Sopley, where some good striking in methods up to London Minor was heard. Perhaps this was due to a team of ladies who set the pace with a near-perfect 120 of Doubles early in the evening.

ANOTHER TRIP TO SCOTLAND

The report in a recent edition of The Ringing World of a short trip to Scotland listed three essential requirements, one of them being 13 willing ringers. We intended to take 12 ringers but, with a couple of late drop-outs, were left with only ten. Luck was on our side, for at our first tower in Scotland, St. Cuthbert's Edinburgh, where we were ringing for morning service, we met Helen Henderson, from Melbourne, Australia, and she was able to join us for the week. [It is also understood that one of the party, who shall be nameless to spare his blushes, continued to escort Helen for a further 24 hours or so after the tour ended!]

We spent the Sunday after our arrival ringing at the four towers in Edinburgh, where we value the friendly welcome at each tower. Two of the band, making inquiries outside Fettes College, had difficulty in persuading a lady that they were not wishing to ring the door bell, but the five light bells in the chapel. Here one or two of the band climbed through a window and traversed a parapet to watch the bells in operation at close range.

On Monday we drove from headquarters at Linlithgow (The Star and Garter Hotel made us feel very much at home) north-wards to Inverness, where we admired the work put into furnishing the ringing room. We returned to Linlithgow via Loch Ness, Fort William and the ferry at Ballachulish, driving some 400 miles in the day and viewing with awe much of Scotland's wonderful scenery.

RECORDED FOR TV

Tuesday was a more restful day. Dunblane our ringing was recorded without warning by the B.B.C. Wales TV unit. The play-back greeted us as we left the tower, and this proved the cue for technical discussion on cutting out wind noise from recordings. Owners of tape recorders in the band eyed with envy the £50 piece of apparatus used by the B.B.C. to protect their mike from interference.

St. Paul's and St. Mary's, Dundee, were also visited, but many of the party went to the wrong St. Paul's, arriving at the right tower just in time to ring before we were due to move on. At. St. Mary's the con-ductor, resplendent in his kilt, called some changes so that two Dundee ringers could join in the ringing with us.

Wednesday was the great day for our
"Taylor" enthusiasts, when we drove to Inveraray, swept water from the tower, fitted ten ropes and coached one of our members through his first course of London Royal. An intrepid carpenter continued to work on top of the tower whilst we rang, having first watched us raise the bells in peal-his first sight of ringing. Although the sound of the bells inside the tower is spoiled by the concrete floors, re-cordings taken outside confirmed that these are indeed a fine toned ring of ten. planned to join the local practice at Paisley on our way "home," but found that Paisley ringers were on holiday and we had the bells to ourselves. It was unfortunate that one car arrived late through stopping to photograph Highland cattle at close quarters, but we still managed to fit in five touches of Surprise Major, including Glasgow and six-spliced, on this very pleasant ring of eight. We spent a friendly evening at our hotel, ringing handbells after closing time, and being rewarded with a spirited rendering of "Ye banks and braes," and entertained by the presence of the local police constable drinking his lemonade and pocketing crisps for his night's rounds.

TOUR-WITH A DIFFERENCE

When your wife says: "I've arranged a ringing holiday for you," you listen very carefully. Such was the situation in Basildon New Town earlier this year. What she really meant was that there was a fortnight when she would be minding some children and her husband could be free. From this beginning a start was made to plan a holiday for up to 12 local ringers, travelling by Utilabrake.

Overnight accommodation could only be found at Shipham in Somerset and at the Outdoor Pursuits Centre at Abercrave in South Wales. We settled for this and bought cheap maps of the areas, pasted them on card and proceeded to add small home-made flags to mark the various rings of bells. Then commenced the seemingly endless task of letter writing, mainly to 6bell towers. A handbook was duplicated, containing methods and spaces for towers, and excitement mounted as the replies began to come in and the planned tours for the various days began to take shape.

It was at about this point that the organiser began to have doubts. There was one adult and nine young people, whose ages ranged from 11 to 15. Seven were from Langdon Hills and the others from Downham and Orsett. Their experience was in some cases only nine months and some tower totals were barely into double figures but they were keen. Well, we could always settle for call-changes if necessary; but what about raising and lowering bells singly in places where this was always done in peal? We therefore checked that all could do this singly and determined to begin with three in peal and work up.

We set off on August 1, and our first tower turned out to be the most unusual. One bell was minus a stay (we found it tied to the rope as a warning), another was minus a rope, the ringing room was minus

The next day, in Glasgow, seven of the party went to the wrong cathedral, leaving the small remainder, with two ladies who met us, to ring Minor on the back six of this 32 cwt. ten. There was time for only a short touch on the ten before service. Luckily we were allowed to ring again after the service, and appreciated the fine tone and easy "go" of this Taylor ten.

We were now left with only one ringable tower to visit in Scotland, and after spending Friday in various pursuits we met at Alloa. At least, most of us met at Alloa to ring, but the occupants of one car arrived very late and very merry, with a complicated story about being shown round a cooper's yard and sampling whisky from a milk bottle. Ringers from Alloa kindly provided coffee for those of us who did not have to hurry back to the hotel. When settling our bills that evening, our hotel manager paid for drinks all round, and would not charge for an extra room we had booked and not used. (A hotel to be revisited!)

We left Linlithgow next morning and crawled through dense traffic from Carlisle southwards, but arrived at Worsley in time to ring in the early evening. After taking group photographs we dispersed to our various destinations in Leicestershire and Somerset. Our thanks go to all incumbents for their willing permission to ring and to the many ringers who welcomed us to their towers.

part of the ceiling and the belfry part of its floor. We certainly heard our Minimus on the odd four, but what could we say to the lady who met us outside and asked if we liked the bells!

Highlights of the holiday were the visits to practices at Bath Abbey and Wrington, where some scored their first on ten. Having consolidated our Stedman we managed our first course of Carter at Nempnett Thrubwell, after waiting for the organ tuner to finish. The heavy sixes at Publow and Axbridge were voted by some the best of the holiday although others preferred Penhow in Monmouthshire. Our plain courses of Plain Bob Triples at Castle Cary and Machen were quite promising. We greatly enjoyed the lovely setting and bells of Over Stowey, where we attempted to ring cartwheel call-changes but found it difficult to close the handstroke lead.

VILLAGERS' INTEREST

Having worked our way steadily through touches of Plain Bob Minor, we commenced our second week with a good first course of Double Oxford at Llanfaes. At Bronllys that evening several villagers and holidaymakers turned out to watch through the door of the detached tower. It was here that some of the change-ringers had trouble with call-changes called local style. After our ring at Cadoxton Mr. Gwyn Lewis very kindly guided us to Neath and saw that everything was in order before we rang. The second Wednesday evening, when we rang at New and Old Radnor, was particularly enjoyable and on the former bells we managed a good course of Kent (our first). This inspired the youngsters to suggest Cambridge and a good course was rung at Llangynwyd the following evening.

Further inspired by this unexpected success they decided that London must also be rung, and late into the night voices could be heard chanting the work of the blue line and agreeing that it was hard. As usual we had to wait for easy bells before we could try, and after a couple of attempts we managed three-and-a-half leads before someone was lost, and that was the best we

It has to be admitted that towards the end of the holiday late nights were beginning to have an effect, and in attempting to ring more difficult methods we lost the precision which we had steadily built up during the first week. We rang very badly at Llanblethian and were disappointed not to do justice to the heavy six at Huntspill, where we had hoped to ring Huntspill Doubles but somehow had difficulty catching the tenor sally. We must also admit that after having difficulty obtaining the key at Stogursey and not being able to decide whether the chime hammers were off or on we felt we could not ring there. So we rang a course of Bob Minor on the hand-

Throughout the holiday we progressed from raising and lowering three until we could manage five quite well if we were lucky (does it really depend on luck, as it seems to?). We did occasionally try six but found that needed even more luck.

The final tower total was 65, and in spite of a late return home on the final Saturday five of Langdon Hills' bells were taken up in peal before the Sunday morning service, and Plain Bob and Double Oxford Minor replaced the usual Doubles.

Our apologies to Somerset and South Wales that we sometimes did not ring as well as we ought; but if it's any consolation, you have contributed to progress in our small area of Essex. G. I. L.

Miss Susan E. M. Davis-Mr. Brian J. Read.

Because of her flowing wedding dress the bride was unable to climb the tower steps at St. Mary's, Ealing, on August 29, but before the marriage service the bridegroom and his best man did so and managed a pull to welcome the bride to church.

The happy occasion was the wedding of Miss Susan E. M. Davis and Mr. Brian J. Read, both ringers at Ealing. Both have been officers of their respective University Society. A large number of ringers from all parts of the country were at the ceremony.

Attended by four lovely bridesmaids dressed in blue, Susan entered the church on the arm of her father, Mr. Martin T. Davis. The service was conducted by the vicar (Rev. E. Vevers), who gave an interesting address on the use of bells as a means of communication, comparing communication and understanding as of great importance in married life. Following the service about 100

Following the service about 100 attended the reception and later the couple left for a honeymoon on the Continent.

Brian, former pupil at Ealing Grammar School, having gained a first class honours degree in mathematical physics, is now reading for his Ph.D. at Sussex University, whilst Susan, former head girl at Walpole Grammar School, Ealing, and with a degree in mathematics, will be teaching at St. Mary's Hall, Brighton.
