THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2440 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, JANUARY 3, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

THE 6-5s AT BACKSTROKE

By H. CHANT, WAKEFIELD

WHAT is the chief objection to 6-5s at backstroke in open-lead ringing? Most ringers have come to accept that these are something which must be avoided at all costs; I wonder how many pause to ask themselves why?

Several ringers whom I have asked say to me: 'Well, they don't sound very nice, do they?'

Don't they? Why?

Of course, in ordinary music where the melody settles upon the supertonic (5th on the bells) at a half-cadence, it is more often than not preceded by the mediant (4th), usually in hymn tunes with the chords 6-4 5-3, but frequently elsewhere in some variation of the dominant thirteenth.

But it is not difficult to find quite a few well-known hymn tunes that contain this progression (6-5) at a half-cadence, witness 'A & M' 254: 'Art thou weary,' and 'A & M' 228: 'Jerusalem the golden,' where tonic followed by supertonic occurs at least three times in the course of the tune at prominent cadences.

And although I have no Psalter by me at the time of writing I think I can remember several examples that could be quoted from the Chants. (Chants are nothing if not orthodox!)

Many more examples could be taken from the works of classical composers; witness again the exquisite use by Schubert in the opening phrase of the slow movement of the 'Unfinished,' where the insistence upon the tonic followed by the supertonic is beautifully effective (bar 6).

These excursions make the return to the tonic welcome and satisfying. If in ringing we hear the tenor behind a few changes after the 6-5s, we almost have the effect of an imperfect followed by a perfect cadence, or the resolution of a discord in music, and in ordinary dodging or forward hunting methods the 6th must be moving upwards to produce 6-5s at backstroke. Consequently we shall hear either 1-6, 2-6, 3-6 or 4-6 coming up shortly afterwards, giving us the repose required after the 'disturbance' of the 6-5s.

Do 6-5s sound worse than (say) 6-1s or 6-2s? Personally I don't think so, and in Major I can think of nothing more harsh than 8-2s, apart from actual 'clashing' of the bells.

With 6-3s, in Minor, we have a special case. Most handbell ringers have at some time or other indulged in the sport known in different parts of the country by different names and in this area as 'Rattler,' in which six bells are arranged in the order 1, 2, 5, 4, 6, 3, and Grandsire Doubles rung with the 3rd covering. The covering bell executing some rhythm or giving two extra blows of regular beat when the bells are up on the backstroke.

The effect of this arrangement is to 'fix' the bells in key of the sub-dominant, in this case the 3rd.

Now most students of harmony are warned against modulating too soon to the 'flat' side of the tonic, and in extemporising (at the piano) it is frequently advisable to return to the tonic through the 'sharp' side in order to re-establish the key.

Therefore in Minor ringing, after a succession of 6-3s, even when the tenor comes behind, doesn't one have the feeling of still being away from the key? Shouldn't one, therefore, following the argument of 6-5s to its logical conclusion, avoid 3-2s in the vicinity of 6-3s?

This sense of modulation is, I think, not so acute in Major as the leading-note (the 2nd) is, of course, never flattened, whereas with Minor the flattening is implied.

Are there any reasons, other than musical, for the prevalent objection to 6-5s?

Could it be that ringers object to hunting the 5th down before the 6th, or in Major coursing the 7th before the 8th? It certainly 'feels' awkward on handbells. Yet in Grandsire the last two bells course in this order without any feeling of discomfort on the part of the ringers. Is this because there is a covering bell or merely that we have got accustomed to it?

Or what?

Can it be that the avoidance of 6-5s is a task self-imposed by composers or arrangers on right or wrong premises until it has come to be regarded by ringers as a hallmark of quality?

It would be interesting to find out why many ringers do object to 6-5s and whether they think an occasional one might not improve the interest in the striking. At any rate it might encourage some of them to listen to what they ring.

We might, in fact, hear a little less about the 'new beat,' which was probably invented by someone who wasn't capable of listening to the old one anyway!

BELLS OF ST. PAUL'S, LONDON

'THE STRATFORD CHURCH MONTHLY' for January, 1901, the monthly magazine for St. John the Evangelist's, Stratford, E., contains an interesting article on pages 18 to 21 by the Ven. W. M. Sinclair, D.D., Archdeacon of London, Canon of St. Paul's and Chaplain-in-Ordinary to the Queen, on St. Paul's Cathedral bells, then a comparatively new ring.

He records that much of the information in the article came from his 'old friend, Mr. J. R. Haworth, formerly one of the ringers at Westminster Abbey. He rang at the Queen's Accession, Coronation and both of the Jubilees, as well as every other Royal event when the Abbey bells were rung.' 'He is in excellent health,' adds the Archdeacon, 'and received a portrait of herself from Her Majesty of the occasion of the Jubilee of 1897.'

The article, which contains six illustrations—(1) 'Inside Great Paul' (a man with lantern in one hand, the other touching the clapper, which is half again his height); (2) 'A Corner of the Belfry'; (3) The Belfry, 'Looking North'; (4) 'The Bells'; (5) 'Great Paul Ringing for Service'; and (6) 'Chiming' (using the apparatus)—runs as follows:—

'It was in 1882 that the bells of St. Paul's were finally completed by the erection of "Great Paul" in the south-west tower of the Cathedral. It must be remembered that there are two great bells at St. Paul's—one, the old State bell, which is still tolled on the death of any of the Royal Family, or of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London, the Dean of St. Paul's or the Lord Mayor of London: the other is the huge monster of which we shall speak presently. Both hang in the south-west tower.

'WESTMINSTER TOM'

'First, as to the old bell, now so greatly surpassed by the young giant of 1882. The old bell was originally cast in the reign of Edward I. and hung at the gate of Westminster Hall to notify the hour to the Judges. It was first called "Edward of Westminster," afterwards "Westminster Tom." King William III. gave it to St. Paul's Cathedral, where it was brought on New Year's Day, 1699. It then weighed 8,271 lbs., but it has since been twice recast with additional metal. It now weighs 11,474 lbs., and is 10 feet in diameter. Its metal is 10 inches thick. The hour is struck on the bell by a hammer weighing 145 lbs. The clapper weighs 180 lbs. The chimes are struck on two smaller bells below.

'Before the Great Fire of 1666 a bell-tower stood at the angle of the east end of the churchyard of old St. Paul's, which, Dugdale tells us, "contained four very great bells, called 'Jesus Bells,' in regard that they specially belonged to Jesus Chapel, situate at the east end of the undercroft (crypt) of St. Paul's." He also narrates how these bells were in existence until the time of Henry VIII., when a certain Sir Miles Partridge, "having won them from the King at one cast of the dice, pulled them down." Sir Miles Partridge was put to death for high treason by Edward VI.

'During the great revival of the activity of St. Paul's Cathedral, which was begun under Dean Milman, and reached a climax in the time of Dean Church, it was determined to have a new "ring" of 12 bells.

'They were rung for the first time on All Saints' Day, 1878. The Corporation of London unanimously agreed to take part in the cost, on a petition presented by Canon Lightfoot (afterwards the famous Bishop of Durham), the organist (Dr. Stainer), and Dr. Webber (the Sub-Dean, the head of the Minor Canons).

THE BELLS AND THEIR DONORS

'The following list contains exact information about this great addition to the Cathedral, namely, the donors of each bell, its musical note and precise weight, details which, we are sure, the reader will be glad to have:—

No.	Note	cwt.	qr.	lb.	Donor
1	F	8	1	16	Drapers' Company
2	Eb	9	1	15	Ditto
3	D	10	0	3	B'ness Burdett-Coutts and the Turners Company
4	C	11	3	21	Ditto
5	Bb	13	2	14	Ditto
6	A	14	0	4	Ditto
7	G	16	2	21	Salters' Company
8	F	22	1	18	Merchant Taylors' Company
9	Eb	28	0	7	Fishmongers' Company
10	D	30	0	22	Clothworkers' Company
11	C	44	2	0	Grocers' Company
12	Bb	62	0	0	Corporation of the City of London (Lord Mayor Cotton).

'The bells were cast by Messrs. John Taylor of Co., of Loughborough, and were pronounced by Lord Grimthorpe (then Sir Edmund Beckett) to be "on the whole unquestionably the grandest ringing peal in England, and therefore in the world."

'The bells are rung by a Guild of College Youths (so called from a Society founded in the reign of Charles I., in connection with a church on College Hill, E.C.) on Sunday mornings, the Great Festivals and days of National Rejoicing. The Guild also practises from time to time, after six o'clock, when houses of business are closed and very few are left in the city. There are several records of change-ringing on this new and glorious peal. One of the most notable was on December 10th, 1881, when 5,014 changes of Stedman Cinques were rung in 4 hrs. 17 mins., the St. Paul's bells being the heaviest set of twelve bells in the United Kingdom.

'Amongst other sets of twelve the highest place is usually given to those of St. Peter Mancroft, in the City of Norwich.

'GREAT PAUL'

'Now we come to the greatest bell of all—the young giant, as I have called it (giantess, perhaps, it should be, for bells are treated as feminine in the craft)—"Great Paul." It was founded by Messrs. Taylor and Co. and was placed in the south-west tower in 1882. It weighs 16 tons 14 cwt. 2 qr. 39 lb. The height is 8ft. 10in. The diameter at the base is 9ft. 6¼in., the height inside the crown is 6ft. 11¼in., and the thickness where the clapper strikes is 18¾in. The clapper is 7ft. 9in. in length and weighs 4 cwt. 20 lb. The note is E flat. The witty and devout Canon Liddon chose the motto, which is inscribed under the arms of the Dean and Chapter: "Vae mihi si non evangelizavero." In St. Paul's epistle the words meant "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel." Canon Liddon, translating on behalf of the bell, said: "May I be cracked if I don't call people to church."

'Sir John Stainer, writing to "The Times" on December 7th, 1881, after witnessing the casting of the monster, said: "The general appearance of the bell is handsome, and all campanologists should, if able to get to Loughborough, take a walk round her and also have an eye to the many valuable appliances which Mr. Taylor has brought together for the perfecting of his art. The cost of the bell and hoisting it in its place in the upper part of the south-west tower will be about £3,000. It has been decided to use the bell on Easter Sunday next, when I shall be surprised if Londoners do not realise the fact that "Great Paul" is worthy alike of their ancient City and splendid Cathedral.

'The pilgrimage of "Great Paul" from Loughborough to London attracted great attention. It was by road, and the machinery consisted of two traction engines and a trolley. The trolley weighed two tons, so that the weight on the roadway was nearly 19 tons. The journey took about a week. The lifting of the bell took about 15 hours. The work was done very expeditiously and quietly. The appliances for raising the bell answered their purpose admirably. No hitch whatever occurred. "Great Paul" is now heard every day at 1 p.m., tolling with solemn and melodious tones for the mid-day meeting for prayer in the midst of the vast and bustling emporium of business.

'"Great Paul" has not superseded "Edward of Westminster," as the State bell of S. Paul's Cathedral. "Edward of Westminster" still tolls for the national deaths before enumerated. But "Great Paul" in being by far the largest bell in the United Kingdom, has added dignity to the Cathedral of the Imperial City. And his twelve companions in the opposite (north-west) tower give voice to the various emotions which pass through the building and city, as the haunts and homes of living men and women, with all their daily tale of hopes and fears, joys and sorrows, aspirations and experiences. The Cathedral has become the centre of religious life in London, and its bells, great and small, new and old, contribute to the outward expression of that life. May the Christianity of London ever grow deeper, broader and truer, like the strong note which booms forth daily from our chief House of Prayer!'

OBITUARY

MAJOR H. J. CANN

We regret to announce the death at Carhampton, Somerset, of Major H. J. Cann, Royal Signals (retired). For many years he was prominent in Surrey ringing circles, attending meetings regularly. He held strong views in his later years against peal ringing and felt that ringing should be confined purely to church services or practices.

To his memory a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on December 22nd at St. John-the-Baptist Church, Carhampton, where he was a former ringer and a benefactor to the tower.

L.A.C. COLIN MICHAEL STEPHENSON

The tower of Ossett Parish Church has sustained a severe loss by the passing of L.A.C. Colin Michael Stephenson, aged 20 years. He was fatally injured whilst riding pillion on a motor-cycle during a week-end leave. Colin, who had only eight weeks to go before completing his National Service, was serving with the R.A.F. at Princess Mary Hospital, Halton, Aylesbury, Bucks.

Of a cheerful and amiable disposition, he commenced to handle a rope at the age of 14. His keenness was such that he took every available opportunity to contact many towers and well-known ringers. This was most marked during his stay at Halton. His parents are specially thankful to all the ringers who have thus enabled him to pack so much ringing experience into a short life.

The funeral took place at Ossett Parish Church on December 19th, when a contingent of R.A.F. from Halton acted as bearers. Muffled touches were rung before and after the funeral service; also a joint band of local and Wakefield Cathedral ringers took part in a muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Caters during the evening.

To his parents and younger brother, Rodney, who is also a ringer, sincere sympathy is extended.

BELFRY GOSSIP

On St. Thomas' Day eight Thomases met at St. Peter's Church, Tunbridge Wells, and rang a peal of Stedman Triples. The method selected was Thomas Thurstans' Four-part.

Diana and George Pipe from 'down under' send New Year's greetings to all ringing friends. Their wish is 'an even happier 1958.'

Our correspondent sends a correction to the quarter peal at Old Headington, reported in the issue of November 29th. The ringer of the tenor was John Cruickshank and not Reg Brown as submitted.

Mrs. E. M. H. Saunders, of Langdon Hills, celebrated her 84th birthday on December 13th. The band who rang a peal in her honour wish to congratulate her and thank her for her kind hospitality after the peal.

Lyme Regis awoke to the sound of its church bells on Thursday, December 19th, as they rang in the diamond wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Keeley. Later in the day a peal was rung in honour of the occasion.

Two local resident bands—St. Giles', Ashtead, and St. Augustine's, Penarth, Glam—report their first peals this week. May they both be the forerunners of a long list of local achievements. At Penarth there were five first peals.

Mr. Seymour Barker, who celebrated his 80th birthday on December 16th, is still an active ringer at St. John's, Cardiff. He has been a Sunday service ringer here for 52 years and towerkeeper for most of that period. Over a hundred peals in this tower stand to his credit. On his birthday the local band with some of his ringing friends from towers in the area rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters in his honour.

Following on A. H. Pulling's note the other week re Leicester's quickest peal of Stedman Triples to be rung 'in hand,' our peal columns for this week record a peal by his Leicester friends just under his Guildford peal time. (Incidentally, this Guildford peal has stood for 46 years.) While the Leicester ringers agree the time for the 5,000 can still be lowered, one record of A. H. P. and his famous Guildford handbell band constitutes a very different proposition, namely his 19,000-odd of Stedman Caters. Handbell enthusiasts, what about it?

The York youth, said to be 16, who rang the tenor on the Liverpool Cathedral open day, will not be 16 until next May.

The six mid-Suffolk ringers tender their many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Chapman for their most generous hospitality after the Lowestoft peal.

We hope to publish as early as possible our annual feature, 'Peal Ringers of 1957.' Will those ringers who have rung 25 peals or more during the year kindly co-operate by sending totals of tower and 'in hand' peals rung, together with the number conducted.

Two of the eight learners at St. George's, Doncaster, rang their first peal at Conisbrough on December 14th, and one of them was selected for the Christmas Day broadcast from Doncaster. Despite the 30 cwt. tenor, the learners rang very creditable rounds for Sunday morning service.

Mr. John J. Tune has completed 50 years' service as a regular Sunday service ringer at Hemingbrough, and a peal commemorating his half-century of useful church work was rung on December 14th. Afterwards the band were hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Tune.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED 1570

MEARS & STAINBANK, 34, WHITECHAPEL ROAD,
BISHOPSGATE 2599. LONDON, E.1.

PORTSMOUTH CATHEDRAL BELL DEDICATION

SUNDAY, December 22nd, was an 'occasion' for Portsmouth Cathedral and for ringers generally in that area. During Matins the re-hung and augmented ring (10) was dedicated by the Bishop of Portsmouth (Rt. Rev. W. L. S. Fleming) in an interesting ceremony in which the Provost (Very Rev. E. N. Porter Goff), the bell-founder (Mr. Paul Taylor) and the newly-constituted (Cathedral) 'Guild of Ringers of St. Thomas of Canterbury' all took part.

After the traditional hand-over of a new rope the two new trebles were raised and rung; and then, after a blessing by the Bishop, six whole-pulls were rung on the ten. Later, as the congregation left the Cathedral, a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung by the Cathedral Guild.

A luncheon, given by the Cathedral Council to the Guild and its guests, then followed in Cathedral House, to mark the occasion. The Provost presided, as representing the Council and as president of the new Guild; and he was supported by the Guild chairman (Mr. A. York-Bramble) and the tower captain (Mr. F. Burnett). An apology for absence was presented by the Provost on behalf of the Bishop (Dr. Fleming), who sent his good wishes for the Guild. Guests included Mr. Fred Rogers (the Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild of Ringers), Mr. Paul Taylor, and the Isle of Wight District Ringing Master (Mr. W. Upton), the only survivor of the band attending the previous dedication (also on a Sunday morning) 45 years ago.

After the loyal toast the Provost referred briefly to the work of Mr. York-Bramble in ringing training, which had led to the initiation of work on the bells, carried out by Mr. Taylor and his firm. He invited them both to speak.

Mr. Taylor, in a few happily-chosen words of thanks, spoke of his pleasure in carrying out further work on the bells that had been recast and rehung on the previous occasion, in 1912. He noted the number of ladies present, whose charm, he felt sure, must enhance the membership of the Guild, and he wished it all success.

A BAND WORTHY OF THE BELLS DESIRED

Mr. York-Bramble voiced the thanks of the Guild to the Cathedral Council for their hospitality, and to the president (the Provost) for his ever ready encouragement and practical interest in both bells and ringers of the Cathedral. The Guild's real work was only now beginning, but he could assure the president of the Guild's loyal service to the Cathedral, and of their intention to build up a proficient 10-bell band worthy of the new ring they now had.

The Provost then joined the Guild for an interval in the tower, where visiting ringers were received throughout the afternoon. Although it was Sunday, yet their number reached some 50, and included ringers from Surrey, Sussex, Kent, Devon and many parts of Hampshire. The general verdict on the tone and match of the two new trebles was one of considerable praise, the effect of the whole ten being judged as very good indeed.

After tea in Cathedral House a B.B.C. unit visited the tower and recorded ringing and interviews with the tower captain (Mr. Burnett), Mr. Simmonds, from Torquay (an 'unbiased' visitor), and Mr. York-Bramble. This was broadcast the next day in the West Regional programme 'Round Up—People, Events and Opinion.'

Then came the first significant ringing by the new Guild—a well-struck quarter peal of Stedman Caters, in 50 minutes, conducted by the tower captain. This was followed by an 'action' photograph of the ringing in progress, and a group of the Guild.

Only a quarter-of-an-hour was left before Evensong for the remainder of the 25 Guild members (mostly beginners) to make their contribution to the ringing—rounds—before the lowering.

The improvements and decoration in the ringing chamber were noted and favourably commented on, and the Guild now looks forward to receiving visitors in happy ringing. (Practice night is Thursday, 7 to 9 p.m.)

FIRST PEAL IN A CHESHIRE TOWER

This week we record the first peal to be scored on the bells of St. Mary's, Upton, Birkenhead.

The bells were originally hung in the tower by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1868, and were overhauled just before the last war (about 1937).

Recently an anonymous donor has paid for essential tower repairs occasioned by dry-rot. This donor has also paid for the tower clock to be electrified and so earned the thanks of all ringers at Upton, as no longer does the pendulum case protrude from the ceiling down the centre of the ringing chamber. This had been a menace to ropesight and also a great cause of bumped heads to all except midgets who rang at Upton.

The members of the peal band would like to express thanks to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. H. Jones (Wendy's parents) for their hospitality after the peal.

INSIDE STORY OF 10,000 DOUBLE NORWICH AT BUXTON

It was at 5.30 on the cold winter morning of December 14th when I opened my eyes; breakfast, and a lightning drive to the station and I was on the way to Wolverhampton—and still not dawn! Having found the other half from Staffordshire we reached the county town and had thoughts of joining the Warrilow family for breakfast! Then in the gathering daylight to Crewe and so on to Stockport. The last lap took us via Hazel Grove and over the Pennines, where the higher slopes were covered with hard snow.

At last we arrived, and at Fairfield Church, where Brian Woodruffe and his band met us. The usual preliminaries, and we set off soon after 11.45 a.m.—a rather messy start and the writer apologises for being a bit of a headache to the conductor—must be all these early mornings! However, we soon settled down to a steady beat, and apart from the occasional skirmish everything went well.

The hours passed very quickly and Brian did a splendid job with both conducting and his accurate bob-calling. Soon after 5.30 p.m. the bells came safely home and we had rung for 5 hours and 43 minutes.

The peal was the conductor's 100th, and his 50th as conductor, and was rung with a band average age 17 years; your reporter was amazed to find four younger than herself ringing! Though the 'old hands' at the heavy end were always very reliable, particularly to be congratulated is the treble ringer whom no one noticed but who was always in the right place, and also Frank Osbaldiston, the youngest, who at 13 rang quite as well as anyone else and whose only comment at the end was: 'What a pity we couldn't have rung for six hours!'

S. H.

The conductor would like to thank Stella Hughes and John Allen for coming all the way from the Midlands to ring in the peal, and also Neil Bennett for standing in at the last minute in place of Alan McFall who was to have rung.

STILL RINGING AFTER 70 YEARS

There was a happy gathering at Eccleston, Cheshire, on December 14th, when Mr. Sam Jones celebrated his 89th birthday. A peal of Cambridge, conducted by Mr. John Worth, was rung on the fine eight during the afternoon, and our veteran, having met the band in the ringing chamber before the peal, retired to his armchair to listen to the performance.

All went well with the exception of the 'firing' afterwards, which was just a shade below average. However, the fall from grace was overlooked and soon forgotten round the festive table, which carried a huge cake as its centrepiece. The toast, 'Congratulations and many happy returns,' was proposed by Mr. Sam Jones, jun., and honoured by the assembled company in the traditional manner.

Sitting round the fire afterwards the conversation centred, as it must on such occasions, on peals and bells, ringers and towers, with Peter Laflin's soft Suffolk accent mingled with the sharper speech of those of the north. It was indeed a memorable occasion and one which give very great pleasure to those privileged to be present, for not everyone can claim to have joined in the toast to a man who has been ringing for over 70 years, and what is more, a man who is still ringing twice every Sunday. Sam has set a fine example. He is one of the 'evergreens' of the Exercise, and these lines will doubtless bring him to the minds of the host of ringers who have met him at Eccleston. They will join with those who were present at his birthday party and with them wish him 'many happy returns.'

A TRANS-BORDER TREK

On Saturday, December 7th, the Sassenachs invaded the Scottish capital again, not this time after loot or the Calcutta Cup, but for a peal.

The tower was St. Cuthbert's, Lothian Road, with its spotlessly clean belfry, kept by the ladies of the tower, gleaming handbells and good-going Taylor eight of 21 cwt. The church is at the west end of Princes Street and is overshadowed by the Castle.

So through the morning three motor vehicles set off from Newcastle-upon-Tyne, the place which many Southerners, contemptible people, think is in Scotland. After an hour and a half they reached the border and were at their rendezvous outside the church by 2.15 p.m.

Inside the belfry they were met by what seemed to be the entire local band, and after some discussion about what Association we were to ring the peal for, a start was made at 2.47 p.m., with a fugitive Welshman, at present studying in Edinburgh, on the treble. In the meantime various fiancées and wives went Christmas shopping.

With a peal board on the wall recording the first peal of Double Norwich in Scotland, called by William H. Barber on September 13th, 1902, to spur the band on, a good peal in the same method was scored in three hours and two minutes. What else could we do when the Edinburgh 'Evening News' had said that we were going to ring a peal of 5,024 changes? We even gave them 16 changes credit! The peal also served as an unofficial send-off to a two-week Parish Mission as part of the follow-up to 'Tell Scotland.'

The journey back to England was literally through clouds and pouring rain.

Thank you, St. Cuthbert's Church authorities and ringers for the privilege of ringing a peal on your bells, and thank you, Eric Harrison, for thinking of and arranging the peal. We must go back again some time, perhaps the St. Mary's Cathedral authorities will allow us to ring there? After all, we are all enthusiastic and fully paid-up members of the Scottish Association now!

CALNE RINGERS' GUILD'S 30th ANNIVERSARY

Sunday, December 15th, was celebrated as the 30th anniversary of the foundation of the St. Mary's Guild of Ringers at Calne, Wiltshire, and the occasion was marked by special services.

The members assembled at 7.30 a.m. to ring for early service and then attended Corporate Communion, and special prayers were said at morning service. In the evening the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. O'Hanlon) and his curate joined the ringers in the ringing chamber for prayers. Evensong, conducted by the Vicar, included handbells rung for tunes, the singing of the ringers' hymn and prayers for ringers. In his address the Vicar spoke of the message of the bells throughout the ages. The Vicar and Mrs. O'Hanlon kindly entertained the Guild members and their wives to supper.

The Guild was formed by the late Canon Coulter on December 14th, 1927, soon after he became Vicar of Calne. The main purpose of the Guild was to form a regular Sunday service band, and the register shows members have put in 23,000 attendances for Sunday service ringing. The bells were rehung in 1928, and for the first time a serious attempt was made to teach a change-ringing band. The Guild was fortunate in finding the late Mr. S. Wiltshire, of Chippenham, willing to act as instructor, and with the help of others he taught the principles of change-ringing in this tower. Mr. H. Burry, the present captain and towerkeeper, took over in 1929, and his many years of faithful service in these two offices is an example to all. The Guild moved steadily forward and just before the band broke up because of war service, an entirely local Sunday service band rang 1,260 Stedman Triples.

When the ban on ringing was lifted the Guild found several ringers among the thousands of R.A.F. men stationed in the district. This association with ringing members of the R.A.F. has been a happy one, continuing up to the present time. The first lady member joined the Guild in 1945, and there are now three lady members. The Guild has broadcast on four occasions, the method being Stedman Triples, this being rather a favourite among the members. W. A. H.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Ten towers were represented at the monthly meeting held at Monkbretton, Barnsley, on December 14th. Ringing commenced at 3.30 p.m., continuing till 5 p.m., when cups of tea were served in the Church Hall.

The president (Mr. Noel F. Moxon) was in the chair for the business meeting, when three new members were made, viz.: Harold Schofield, Gillian and Barry, from Bradford. Nominations for officers received were president, Mr. Noel F. Moxon; secretary, Mr. James W. Buxton; treasurer, Mr. Harold Chant; auditors, Mr. Herman Rusby and Mr. Wm. Womack. The next meeting (the annual) will be at St. Mary's, Barnsley, on January 25th. A vote of thanks was given by the president to the Vicar and wardens, and to Mr. Frank Chatterton for making all the necessary arrangements. It was decided to try and hold the Hoylandswaine cup contest at Hoylandswaine in September.

Further ringing followed the meeting.

SUCCESS FOLLOWS FRUSTRATION OVER A FIRST PEAL

It was at a Branch meeting on November 30th that the idea of peals for the induction of the new Archbishop of Wales was first mentioned, and right away the idea of our first peal coming off before Christmas was born.

The following day a discussion after ringing fixed December 14th as the most suitable day, when all the band would be available; however, as that was the date of our Branch quarterly meeting, we decided to ring it in the morning. Also we wanted Gordon to ring, and he said he was only free in the morning and we knew we could get a lift in his truck to the meeting if we succeeded. So 9.30 a.m. was fixed as zero hour.

A shock was when, two days before the peal, a funeral arranged for 11 a.m. on Saturday was advertised in the evening Press. 'We knew Gordon had to leave before 1.30 p.m., for Llantrisant is where Teresa his girl friend lives, and he had other business there besides the meeting, and as a peal before 11 a.m. was out of the question, we cancelled the whole thing. That was Thursday night!

It was late Friday night before Teresa's plans, and hence Gordon's, were altered. Thus when Jeff and Tony called on Saturday to see if he could leave for Llantrisant later, they had little hope and were very pleased to learn he had till 3 p.m.

1958 Has Arrived

Will ringers whose subscription to 'The Ringing World' is still outstanding kindly remit as soon as possible to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro. Rates: 12 months, £1 8s.; six months, 14s. 6d.; three months 7s. 6d. New subscribers are welcome.

A quick visit to Jack Palmer, our captain, ensured that he would be at the tower by 11.30 a.m., but at the Hartleys' they found Adrian had severe tonsilitis, and would be unable to ring. Yvonne, our number one reserve, thinking the peal was off, had gone to Cardiff shopping, and the hurried tour of other ringers' homes also proved unsuccessful.

It was thus a somewhat dubious band which raised the back five and started Grandsire at 12 noon. After less than ten minutes Tony called us back to rounds. Then we heard the service bell chiming in with us. The bells were stood and Tony rushed down to unlock the door, anxious to find out whether is was somebody to complain or somebody to ring. It was Yvonne! We hurriedly 'moved round one' and we restarted on six. No more 'Go, rounds' now, only Grandsire until 3.8 p.m., when we heard Tony say 'That's all,' and knew that for five of us our first peal was no longer a pleasant dream of the future.

By the time he had had his dinner, Gordon was an hour late, and as that meant only half-an-hour in Llantrisant, none of us went to the meeting. But this disappointment was dwarfed by our success, particularly Tony's, for he had conducted his own first peal after nine attempts with others conducting.

THE 300th PEAL AT ASHTEAD

The ringing chamber at St. Giles', Ashtead, is on the first floor and is open to the church on the eastern side. At some time in the past the north and south walls of the ringing chamber were plastered and painted and panels formed, on which could be recorded details of some of the many peals rung in the tower. Amongst the interesting peals written in the panels is the first peal of Ashtead Surprise Major rung in 1932. After writing in details of this peal one of the panels remained empty and it has for some time been the intention of the local ringers that this panel should be reserved for details of the first peal to be rung by a resident Sunday service band. When the present band was formed some years ago a local peal seemed a very remote possibility and more perhaps a pious hope, but some of the members were firm in their belief that such a peal could and would be achieved in due course.

Some two years ago a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung by a resident band and at the beginning of last year a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, the first by a resident Sunday service band. During the present year the band has made rapid progress but suffered a set-back when its young conductor, Derek Astridge, won a place at Swansea University. Four previous peals have been rung this year and the 300th on the bells was to have been a peal of St. Giles' Surprise Major rung for the Patronal Festival of St. Giles on September 1st. Unfortunately that was lost after nearly three hours, while a peal attempt for Stedman Triples by the College Youths had to be postponed.

This left the 300th peal still to be rung, and at the annual meeting of the St. Giles' Society of Change Ringers held on the eve of Derek's departure for Swansea it was decided that the next peal attempt should be reserved for the local band. Derek returned on December 13th and great was the jubilation the next day, when after just over three hours' ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples was brought round. Not the first local peal, but the first peal ever to be rung by a band of Ashtead residents who were also regular Sunday service ringers.

A fitting birthday compliment to Kathleen Beasley, the ringer of the second, and a complete justification of the hopes that a local peal would some day be rung. J. T. S.

MEMORIES FROM THREE CONTINENTS

Dear Sir,—As one who has always been an interested follower of the art of change ringing immediately I became a regular subscriber and reader of 'The Ringing World,' I continue to find many items of personal interest among its columns. Memories of places and personalities of long ago are brought to mind.

Before leaving for Canada some years ago I was a member of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers (St. David's, Exeter, Branch). I am sorry that band seems to have fallen by the wayside. Frank Davey was one of the stalwarts in those far-off days. He took a keen interest in the young chaps. One of the team whose name is sometimes mentioned is not, I understand, enjoying very good health, namely, A. W. Searle, of Exeter. Let's see your name in print now and again, Art; that used to be your lifework when I knew you.

My boyhood home tower was SS. Peter and Paul's, Hellingly, Sussex, where my father was captain of the ringers. He was also organist at the church for 35 years. I am happy to read reports of the young people and their quarter peals at Hellingly, Hailsham and, indeed, all over the country.

Before leaving England in 1911 I had roamed round quite a bit. I always received a warm welcome and an invitation to have a ring at any tower I visited. St. Nicholas' Cathedral, Newcastle-upon-Tyne was content to ring call changes. Jesmond Church had a nice ring of bells; what has become of them? In 1929 I was ringing at the Parish Church of St. Andrew, Plymouth. During a short holiday in 1951 I rang at St. Andrew's while just the walls of the blitzed church were standing. It was a pleasure to renew acquaintance with old friends such as the Myers. I hope Tom G. will soon be feeling well again.

I see my old friend, Colin E. Verdon, of St. Peter's, Bexhill-on-Sea, breaks out in print now and again. Good luck, Colin! Why do not others follow your example and make the ringers' own paper more interesting?

While in Canada my only contact with bells was a ring of eight by John Taylor and Co. hung 'dead' in the tower of St. John-the-Baptist, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. These are only 'clocked.' On many an occasion I have chimed them for services. When leaving Canada for New Zealand I had the privilege to have a pull on the eight at Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, British Columbia. It is refreshing to see Mr. Izard's name in print now and again.

During my seven months' visit in Auckland, New Zealand, I found a ring of Warner eight bells in St. Matthew's Church. According to report, the tower is unsafe; to a casual observer the building is far more substantial than many churches in the homeland.

Now, after many years abroad, I am settled down in the county of Hampshire (Diocese of Winchester). My only ringing during the last 12 months has been a few pulls at St. Mary's, Frensham, Surrey; St. Peter's, Bexhill-on-Sea, Sussex; and St. Nicholas', Wickham, Hants. I have enjoyed a few pleasant chats with our friend, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, of St. Peter's, Southampton.

At present I am organist and choirmaster at St. Barnabas', Southampton. That gives me plenty to keep my time fairly well occupied. I might say that the new St. Barnabas' is rising from the ashes, and due to be dedicated. It replaces the first church, destroyed by enemy action in September, 1940.

Incidentally, if any of you chaps are musically inclined and would care to give a donation, however small, to the New Organ Fund, it would certainly be appreciated.

'L' RINGERS AND THE DAILY PRESS

Dear Sir,—Following up the account on 'Change Ringing,' as quoted in the front-page article of the issue of December 13th, 1957. I herewith enclose a report regarding 'L' ringers. It is not quite so amusing but, nevertheless, emphasises how inaccurate and distorted statements can and do appear in the daily newspapers.

To any 'L' ringer who is instructed to keep his or her eye on the bell I can only wish him or her the very best of British luck.—Yours faithfully,

J. W. ABBOTT.

Melksham, Wilts.

The cutting, headed 'Safety for the 'L' Ringers,' reads as follows:—

The authorities have been urged to stop the practice of allowing the lights in bell chambers, ringing rooms and staircases to be controlled by one main switch.

Emphasis on the danger was given by the Rev. T. H. Dart, an Army chaplain, who is himself an 'L' ringer at Aldershot.

'Some of the bells weigh four to seven tons,' he said. 'The ringer has to keep his eye on the bell when he pulls the rope. If the lights are suddenly switched off and he can't see the bell he does not know what is going on.

'The bell may be swinging down at that moment, and the rope may be pulled out of his hand. When that happens the rope lashes about, and it could easily cut off a man's head.

'It might not happen to a skilled ringer, but with a beginner it is only too possible. . .'

PATIENCE, PRACTICE AND PERSEVERANCE

Dear Sir,—Whilst having been unable to attend the annual general meeting of the Rabbits Guild, reported in 'The Ringing World' of December 20th, I claim to be a strong supporter. Among my achievements I can say I have wrecked nearly all the attempts at change ringing in which I have been allowed to take part in several neighbouring towers.

My experiences, though rather limited, lead me to confirm all the evidence brought up regarding the teaching of ringing, but before anyone criticises let him first become a teacher and tower captain, and shoulder the responsibities involved. Let him experience the sinking feeling, waiting one dark, wet night in the tower when nobody turns up. Let him organise a working party for painting bell frames and see who comes. Has he tried the impossible task of getting a few bells rung by a lot of ringers, so that they all get a ring in the method they want, always bearing in mind the effect on the listeners at the same time?

If he can do it, and succeed, he will know why the cry of 'We want teachers' is raised so loudly.

It will be his duty to train not only ringers but teachers of ringing. Nothing has improved my own ringing so much as having had the opportunity of teaching it.

Incidentally, the more I have to do with it, the more convinced I am that the time is not wasted. So many things can be learnt in a church tower which are invaluable aids to modern life. One is the control of one's nerves (mine are particularly annoying) and somebody once said that the three 'P's' of ringing are 'Patience, Practice and Perseverance.' In how many things does this apply? —Yours faithfully,

HUGH B. MAKINS.

Bruton, Som.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

For their winter meeting the members of the Eastern Branch paid their usual visit to the readily accessible village of Acle, with its ring of six.

The first touches served as a wedding compliment to a local couple, and after the ceremony a good variety of methods was rung until the service, conducted by the recently inducted rector (Rev. E. W. Alexander), who also acted as organist.

After the inevitable excellent tea the meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman (Mr. E. R. Goate), who was supported by other Branch and Association officials. Amongst apologies for absence was one from the president (Rev. H. G. Lillingston), who was unable to stay to the meeting proper. The belfry election of Mr. Peter Bedford, prior to a peal, was ratified, and Mr. Norman Cossey, of Norton Subcourse, was elected a ringing member. Subject to permission, the Branch annual meeting will be held at Loddon on February 15th.

Mr. F. Nolan Golden congratulated the local 'young' veteran, Mr. H. W. Lidbetter, on his usual birthday peal a few weeks previously at the age of 85. Mr. Lidbetter replied suitably. Mr. Golden also spoke briefly of the life and work of the late Mr. George Ford, of Blofield, who had died some months previously.

ODE TO ST. MARY'S, NOTTINGHAM

Climb a tower to the sky,
Stars are nearer, still so high:
Down below, all things are not so plain, to passers by.
It almost seems in vain to try
For Heaven or Earth, and yet,
Just half way up, a peaceful atmosphere—
Save for the chiming bells,
Ringing out their gladness to those below,
Telling of the beauty up above—and so
Let's climb a tower to the sky,
Now I've told you a reason why.

* * * *

Ding Dong, Ding Dong, Ding Dong,
The bells—they ring so long,
And should they falter in their chime,
It only seems as if they rhyme
With human life, below; they make mistakes.
But, should you climb a tower to the sky
You'll find that life's serene, and all the world is still;
So let the lovely bells ring out—in their goodwill.

'BEGINNER.'

DUTCH SCOUTS' CAMPANILE

Dear Sir,—I was delighted on opening 'The Ringing World' on December 6th to see a photograph of the Dutch 'Campanile' at the Scout Jamboree. It brought back pleasant memories of the wonderful fortnight we spent, all creeds and breeds, all camping together as one big family. There was no such thing as class distinction or colour bar, and everyone willing to help with language difficulties and weather difficulties (e.g., dust storms the first week, mud baths the second week).

Like Mr. C. T. Blundell, I didn't grab the tower, either, but I did grab St. Martin's, Birmingham, and Sutton Coldfield.

If I may reply to Peter Crook's letter, 'Scouts and Ringing,' I would like to correct his information. The article in our weekly paper, 'The Scout,' is not a weekly contribution, but a series of articles which appears from time to time entitled 'Focus on . . .' (some sort of art, profession, job, etc., e.g., G.P.O. Telephones, A.A. Patrols and many other things), and gives the readers some idea of interesting hobbies and jobs, which may be of use when choosing a career.—Yours sincerely,

South Shields. J. BRENDA SOFTLEY.

A SHAPE FOR THINGS TO COME

PART II

A SLIP of paper on the floor as Dan Doubtful came home for tea one day proved to be a note which read: 'Dear Dan, I have some news for you about new bells. Can you come over tonight? Yours, Ned.'

So after tea away goes Dan down the road, eager to hear details of the defeat which he felt sure must be inevitable. 'Well, so you have got your answer from the bell-founders,' he greeted his friend. 'I trust that you have not been too rudely awakened.'

N. N.: 'As a matter of fact I had an extremely nice reply in which they extended a most sympathetic ear to what I had to say. In addition I received a cordial invitation to come up to the foundry and see things for myself. And before we go any further I will take back what I said about no bells being designed to meet the requirements of new churches with weak towers. Practically the first thing I was shown was a little ring of six specially designed for the small tower. It was on test, and before I had hardly had time to look at it I found myself turning in the 3 cwt. tenor to a course of Bob Minor.'

N. N.: 'You must be ham-fisted then. I had no difficulty at all once I had adjusted myself to the light weight and short movement of the rope. I also rang 120 Stedman Doubles on a 60 lb. treble for the first time without any special difficulty, and I found the ringing quite delightful. Naturally the higher pitch of the lightweight bell would sound rather out of place in the large church or cathedral, but in a small church, and particularly in a new church, I think that light rings are very much in keeping with the somewhat streamlined styles that are appearing elsewhere in the furnishings of churches. They can be produced at a reasonable price without any sacrifice in quality. Moreover, the founders say that they have been setting themselves to the problem of casting and hanging rings of small bells, and that their efforts have been crowned with success. I personally couldn't agree more.'

D. D.: 'You've been side-tracked, Ned. What I want to know is what the bell-founders thought of your "in hand" style of church bell ringing.'

N. N.: 'Well, the idea of "nesting" bells into one another is no good because with small bells the difference in size is not very great and therefore the saving of space would be very small. Moreover, they feel that any electrical system of the necessary quality and reliability would be extremely costly, possibly more so than their normal ringing fittings. They thought that the idea of using "dummy handbells" was most ingenious and interesting, but felt that ringers would lose the sense of "contact" with their bells which the normal bell rope gives.'

D. D.: 'It is working out just as I thought it would. The bell-founders are not catching on to your idea, but they are being very nice and polite about it.'

N. N.: 'Nothing surprising in that. You would hardly expect them to approach such a problem without caution.'

D. D.: 'You were going to ask them about designing bells intermediate in size and character between tower bells and handbells. I think you had the idea of lowering the pitch of a light bell by making its walls thinner.'

N. N.: 'And the answer to that one is that if you reduce the thickness you will certainly lower the pitch, thereby possibly enhancing the dignity of tone, but you would also sacrifice sound volume and carrying power. They held the view, too, that with the "dummy handbell" system the time lag between the closing of the contact by the bob-weight in the "dummy handbell" and the resulting sound from the bell in the bell chamber might cause difficulties to ringers.'

D. D.: 'Well, really! What about the time lag between the pulling of a normal bell rope and the resulting sound of the bell? Does that delay cause difficulty to ringers? And as for the sacrifice of sound volume, I should have thought that would have been a desirable feature in many cases, judging by the frequency of complaints of excessive noise.

As far as I can see there is nothing in what you have been told to rule out the feasibility of your scheme of "in hand" ringing of fixed tower bells. Your visit to the foundry seems to have deflected your aim. You went away full of ideas on "dummy handbells" and have come back an ardent fan of lightweight rings of conventional bells.'

N. N.: 'I look at it like this, Dan. I have for a long time been searching in vain through the pages of "The Ringing World" to find some inkling of what is being done in the way of bell-founding and bell-hanging to meet the requirements of churches that do not have massive buttressed towers—or indeed whether anything is being done at all. I now find that in the meantime, and without shouting it from the house-tops, the bell-founders have been quietly setting themselves to the task of supplying these needs as and when they arise. Unfortunately, they do not arise very frequently. The price asked for a new lightweight ring of six suitable for a small modern church is roughly 5 per cent. of the total cost of the church, which in my opinion is quite reasonable. In fact, I think the price asked is sufficiently reasonable to be able to affirm that it is now no longer true to say that high cost is the reason why modern churches do not normally have rings of bells. I confidently affirm this with the proviso that you are prepared to accept lightweights. Castings and fittings that are not toys, but gems in miniature of the bell-founders' art, and I for one would much prefer to go into the service fresh and unruffled than like a wet rag.

'I will go further than that. Owing to the fact that the demand for rings is so small, each installation is virtually a "one off" job, and the cost is higher than it would be if the demand were greater.'

D. D.: 'Do you mean to tell me that the widely acclaimed idea that rings of bells are too costly is a fallacy? You have certainly shattered one of my life-long illusions.'

N. N.: 'Well, you can take it that it is so. Just look around and see the money that is being spent in other ways. There is no real lack of money, but there is a lack of desire to spend it on bells. To my way of thinking there is a connection here with a feature of the present age which many regular ringers may have noticed, namely the absence of any marked sense of vocation in ringing.

So many people are taking up ringing and reaching varying stages of proficiency, and then, often without any tangible reason, they drop it again. They do not seem to have inherited or acquired any marked desire to keep their hand to the plough. They seem to be lacking in a sense of continuity of service and of responsibility for maintaining and handing on their heritage.

I heard recently from a source in whom I have every confidence—and perhaps this may shatter another illusion you may have held—that at meetings of country clergy, if the subject of bellringing should come under discussion, the general feeling among the assembled incumbents is that ringers are more trouble than they are worth.'

D. D.: 'Those are rather strong words, Ned. I suppose you realise their significance.'

N. N.: 'Indeed I do. Coming from ordained ministers of the Church they can only mean one thing. They mean that there is a feeling abroad that on balance the services of bell-ringers do not fulfil a worthwhile purpose in the extension of Christ's kingdom on earth.'

D. D.: 'Then surely the right thing to do would be to lower all the bells from towers and steeples, except the one required under Canon 102 of the Church of England, and take them away to be melted down for crosses and candlesticks or other suitable ornaments. It seems very sad after all we have done, or tried to do with our bells, but if our ringing is no use to the Church, I feel, speaking as a Churchman, that the Exercise should be disbanded.'

N. N.: 'Is that not in effect precisely the state of affairs in three churches out of every four. But take courage. We still have one church left and I believe that it is up to us as ringers to make the most of them. I think we should try and take a fresh look at what ringing means in the service of the Church. We should try and instil a greater sense of vocation. Many of us are doing so already. There is nothing wrong with bells. Bell metal is one of the fruits of the earth to be enjoyed, and the ringer's art is also a gift from God to be used or abused at man's will. Use it rightly and the general feeling towards ringers at clerical meetings will change for the better.'

D. D.: 'If, as it appears, finance is not really the root of the trouble, and in any case the financial advantages of your scheme are somewhat doubtful, I suggest that no useful purpose can be served by pressing on with the "in hand" system of ringing church bells.'

N N.: 'Maybe you are right. I have never had the opportunity to do much handbell ringing myself but I think it is rather fascinating. I think that there are a lot of other people who would find it fascinating, too, if they ever got the chance. What appeals to me most though is the idea of raising handbell ringing from the status of a secular amusement to that of an art in the service of the Church. This surely should make it worthy of a trial.' C. E. Y.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The December meeting of the St. Albans District was held at Hatfield (10) on December 21st, and in spite of being so near Christmas was well attended.

Ringing commenced with Grandsire Caters just after 3 p.m., and continued in various methods until the service. The Rector of Hatfield took the service in the Brocket Chapel, and after welcoming those present read the Christmas Story from a modern translation.

Tea, with seasonal table decorations, was prepared and served in the Old Palace by the local band, who invited everyone to make a contribution to St. Audrey's Home for the Blind—a collection which amounted to £2 8s.

At the short business meeting following tea, Mr. A. Day (Harpenden) acted as chairman. Votes of thanks to the Rector and those who arranged tea were passed.

The annual District meeting will be held at St. Albans on January 18th. St. Peter's bells will be available in the afternoon and the Cathedral bells in the evening.

Ringing continued during the evening until 7.20. About 30 members were present at the meeting, representing most towers in the district.

GRANDSIRE CATERS

Its Notation and Calling

BY EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

We have now examined seven of the standard callings used in Grandsire Caters and it is hoped that the meaning of the customary notation of these callings is clear. There are, of course, more callings than these, but they will be found to be based almost entirely on the above and produced chiefly by the substitution of singles for certain bobs. In the early days of Cater ringing, and, indeed, for some considerable time, the single was regarded with great disfavour, and looked upon as a somewhat disreputable expedient, to be avoided as much as possible. There can be no doubt, however, that the use of the single has brought to the method a much greater flexibility and an increased scope in the construction of musical touches and peals, and nowhere has it proved more valuable than in the construction of short touches.

At this point it will be convenient to give the full table of 18 callings from one normal Tittum course end to another. A glance at the list will show the important part the single plays in providing many possibilities.

H.—TABLE OF TITTUM CALLINGS

62354	9-3s
35426	8-3
45326	8-3s
65324	8-2
53426	1s
43652	89
63452	89s
34256	78
43256	78s
43625	1s.4
63425	1s.4s.
34526	1s.5
43526	1s.5s
53624	8-2 and 78
35624	8-2 and 78s
32654	1.2.3s.4s

An examination of these eighteen courses will reveal a very important and useful fact. Every one of these callings either retains the fifths-place bell intact or else provides a new fifths-place bell taken in every case from the bell-in-the-hunt of the previous course end. It is thus manifest that the only possible way to get a bell into fifths place is first to get it into the hunt: and when we consider the great musical advantage of having the 6th in this position we realise the importance the composer must attach to the simple fact made clear by the Table.

We have already referred, in dealing with the calling 8-3, to the possibility of leaving out the third call and allowing the sixths-place bell to remain in the hunt. This calling is shown above, and is known as 8-2. It will be found very useful for moving the 6th, or any other bell, from 6ths place to the hunt, ready, if need be, to be placed in fifths place in the next course.

The use of the singles in the above Table should explain itself, the only ones providing any ambiguity being 9-3s and 8-3s. In these callings it is understood that the third call is a single.

Having examined the notation and callings of the Tittum position it is now necessary to consider what notation is customary in other musical placings of the back bells; for, as we have already pointed out, a new position of 789 or of 6789 means a course end with a different look, a different form of expression in its notation, and what may appear to be a different notation altogether. As in practical ringing it is often a natural transition from Tittums to Handstroke Home, so here we will move on to the consideration of the calling of the latter.

Tittums ..	00000978
Handstroke Home ..	00000879

The 8th and the 9th have changed their places, the coursing order being 7-9-8 instead of 7-8-9. Bearing this in mind we should have no difficulty in applying the Tittum Table H to callings for the Handstroke Home. Even so, one or two points are worthy of note:—

(1.) Seeing that 8 has become 9 and 9 has become 8 it must be noted that 9-3 in the Tittums is 8-3 in the Handstroke, and that this 8-3 has no relation to the 8-3 of the Tittums. Similarly 8-3 in the Tittums is given as 9-3 in the Handstroke Home but is something entirely different from the 9-3 of the Tittums. If these two callings were always referred to as 1.2.3 and 2.3.4 respectively no confusion would arise, but the notation of the method being as it is we are bound to pay careful attention to its differing implications.

(2.) The Handstroke Home position is virtually useless unless the 6th is in fifths place at the course end, and it is therefore likely that the only callings that will be used from Table H are those that retain the fifths-place bell, and of these the more usual are (in Handstroke notation) 8-3, 8-3s, 98 and 98s. It is necessary, nevertheless, to be prepared to find the others in use for special purposes, particularly in short touches.

(3.) The 7th bell retains the place that it held in the Tittums. It therefore remains a sure guide and observation for the safeguarding of the calling, just as in the Tittums.

Thus the notes for the calling of 9-3 and 89 and the other Tittum courses apply equally to the calling of 8-3, 98, and so on in the Handstroke Home.

OPENING AND TURNING COURSES

Two opening courses from rounds to Tittums and two turning courses from Tittums to Handstroke Home are shown here in full:—

23456789	23456789

53427698	25364879
52364879

The notation underneath shows the way in which these courses are usually expressed. It is not uncommon to find the first expressed as '7 in and out at 3,' or the third one as '9 in and out at 2,' but any attempt to express the other two in words results in a somewhat clumsy form of wording, and the simple figuring is perhaps the best for general use. These courses are, of course, capable of considerable modification of which two instances may be mentioned. The opening course, 1.4, may have another bob added, which will immediately bring up the course end 23456978. Likewise the turning course 1.3 may have an added call, which will bring up the position . . . .7698 and, it may be noted, shorten the course by one lead. The turning course 2s.3.4 is an interesting one, for if a bob were called instead of the single the bells would remain in the Tittums and the calling would be just the familiar 8-3 of Tittum blocks. The single, however, turns over 8 and 9, and a careful observation of this will serve to remind the student that the Handstroke Home is mathematically only the Tittums with 8 and 9 the other way round. This turning course, 2s.3 or 2s.3.4 or 2s.3.4s, is a very handy one for use in short touches. It not only turns the bells but it also moves the seconds-place bell to fifths place, and this, as may be seen, is of considerable importance in the quick placing of the 6th.

These courses should be studied, not only for the method by which the heavy bells are turned but also for what they do to the small bells, which is a matter for further consideration in the survey of other course end positions. To some of these possibilities we now come.

Before passing to the more elaborate arrangements of the heavy bells some reference must be made to the Inverted Tittum position, one that can hardly compare with the Tittums for beauty, but possessing valuable qualities when bells are half-mufled, and extremely useful in the construction of short touches. The course end of the Inverted Tittums is . . . . . 798, and the musical effect is such that the attractive terminations produced at backstroke in the ordinary Tittums are here produced at handstroke. Two simple opening courses from rounds are shown here, and these, like the previous opening courses, may have calls added to shorten the course and to modify the position of the smaller bells. Among these possibilities it may be remarked that in the second example another bob might be added to bring up the course end 23456798 in four leads.

In the application of standard callings to the Inverted Tittums the two course end positions, 978 and 798, must be compared and the resulting differences of notation carefully mastered. All the callings of Table H are available for use, of course, but in the Inverted Tittums bobs at 1.2.3 are noted as 7–3 (instead of 9–3), bobs at 2.3.4 remain as 8-3 (because the 8th occupies the same position in 798 as it does in 978), the bob at 5 becomes '87' instead of 89, and the bob at 6 becomes '98' instead of 78.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2441 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

A DEDICATED SPORT

FROM time to time editors receive anonymous letters without a clue as to the identity of the writer. No editor summarily throws such a missive into the waste paper basket. At times these letters contain information or comment of more than passing interest, but the general rule for the conduct of all newspapers is that the name and address of the sender must be sent to the editor, though not necessarily for publication. Recently we had a controversial letter from an anonymous writer which, because of its interest, we would have considered for publication; we made an appeal in the following issue for the sender to forward his name, but although many weeks have elapsed there has been no response to our request.

The theme of the letter was one that has been frequently ventilated in our columns—the relationship of peal ringing to the vocation of a bellringer as a servant of the Church. The writer stated that he became a ringer under the impression that the purpose of bellringing was to summon people to worship or to celebrate some event in connection with the Church; and that the bells being the property of the Church, the ringing of them should be confined to these occasions, together with such practice as might be necessary to attain proficiency in this direction.

The writer goes on to say: 'It comes as rather a shock, therefore, on turning the pages of "The Ringing World" to find details of large numbers of peals which are apparently rung for neither of these reasons, or worse still, for no reason at all. Even more disconcerting are the many peals bearing such footnotes as "A's 100th peal," or "The first peal in the method on the bells," giving the impression, rightly or wrongly, that these peals were rung solely for the purpose of enabling "A" to ring his 100th peal, or whatever the reason might be.'

No peal ringer is going to be so pharisaical as to suggest that his ringing is exclusively in the interest of the Church and is solely dedicated to that purpose. The blunt fact is that we ring bells because we love ringing. The art of change-ringing developed as a secular sport, and the sporting side of ringing with the pleasure of individual attainment in peals and the variety of methods rung as well as in good striking is as real today as in the early days of ringing for wagers and prize money. Peals are almost exclusively rung for the pleasure provided for the individual, although happily on many occasions there is a secondary reason, and in the public or Church's eyes a justifiable purpose for the ringing of the bells.

The art of change-ringing must have a standard of proficiency, and the peal or quarter peal has by custom been the recognised medium. The constitution of a true peal in performance and composition is a matter of no little concern to the Central Council of Church Bellringers. All peals are recorded in our columns and tabulated by a special committee. There are theorists—composers who expend their skill in creating on paper a true peal and in splicing various methods into a peal. They set a challenge to the skilled ringer that requires mental concentration of a high order. Spliced ringing is not service ringing; there are not half-a-dozen towers in the country that have an 8-bell Spliced Surprise Sunday service company. But it is all part of the evolutionary process that has gone steadily on since the days of Fabian Stedman.

Fortunately the art of change-ringing has a second side; it is probably the only known sport that is dedicated to the service of the Church. Almost without exception the great men of the Exercise are Sunday service ringers, taking their place with the rank and file, and ringing with them one of the four standard methods. 'We were made to honour the Lord' runs the title of an ode to the bells of a Suffolk village. And in humbleness of heart as we ring on Sundays as part of our act of worship, let us be conscious of the fact that the practical experience gained and enjoyed in advancing 'the sport' of the Exercise is dedicated like all true vocations. Yes, we, like bells, are 'made to honour the Lord.'

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

On December 14th a quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at the Church of St. Dingat, Llandovery. After a little attention being given to the stay of the treble, the bells were set going by the members who came from Llanelly, Burry Port, Carmarthen, Tenby, Llandilo and Sketty.

At 4 p.m. a service was held at the church, at which 30 members attended. The Vicar (Canon J. Rees) officiated, and the organist was the Ringing Master, Mr. Gwyn Thomas. After the service the members were entertained to a very welcome tea at the Church Hall, which was given by the ladies of the Mothers' Union.

The Vicar presided at the usual business meeting and opened the proceedings by extending a hearty welcome to those present. All the members stood in silence while the Vicar said a prayer as a token of respect to Mrs. L. Hurren, who had passed on since the last meeting. The agenda was disposed of very quickly and an apology was made for the Master of the Guild, Mr. Ed. J. Thomas, who had to leave early to get home.

A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised the sum of £1. The next quarterly meeting will be held at Pembroke in March, 1958.

It was agreed that Mr. Ivor Jenkins be made a life ringing member of the Guild, and also that the Vicar be made an honorary life member of the Guild upon his retirement, as an appreciation for his interest in the Guild's activities. The members were very concerned about the illness of Mr. W. L. Williams, of Carmarthen. After the secretary had assured the meeting that he was out of hospital and getting about a bit, the secretary was instructed to write him hoping he would make a speedy recovery and be back at the bell-ropes before long.

Another pleasing incident of the day was the marriage of Mr. Mervyn Jenkins, of Tenby. St. David's Guild wish him joy and happiness during his married years.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar for having the Guild at Llandovery, and to the kind ladies who provided the tea. All were aware that the Vicar was retiring at the end of the year and spending the rest of his years in London. He has been in the Ministry for 51 year; 30 of these have been spent in Llandovery. Although regretting his retirement, the Guild hope he will be spared for many years and enjoy his retirement.

The vote of thanks was given by Mr. Gwyn Thomas, the Ringing Master, and members then returned to the tower to finish the evening.

The Extra Call

The quarter peal of St. Clement's Bob Minor at Easton-in-Gordano, Somerset, on December 27th, was not without incident. Apart from 60 calls in the first 720 and 18 in the second, the proceedings were enlivened by an extra call in the second part when the trapdoor in the floor of the ringing chamber rose, and the face of a coalman appeared, asking where he had to put a load of coke for the church.

Following comments from various members of the band, the face was withdrawn, and the quarter brought to a successful conclusion.

60th ANNIVERSARY OF HEAVITREE BELLS

The ringers of Heavitree Parish Church, Exeter, recently marked the 60th anniversary of the dedication of the bells by ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples, as reported in our peal columns.

It was on Christmas Eve, 1897, that the bells first rang out and were dedicated by the Bishop of Crediton. According to old records, tenders were received from no less than 16 of the chief bell founders of the country, and eventually Messrs. J. Taylor, of Loughborough, were given the contract. The four old bells which hung in Heavitree's old tower were taken by the founders, and the total cost of the new octave was £825 17s. 5d.

A member of the recent peal band, Mr. A. Mitchell, recalls the joyous occasion when the new ring was first rung out by ringers from other towers in the city.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Western District

A quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Chewton Mendip on December 14th, when, in spite of a very cold afternoon, a good number of members and friends gathered in what must surely be one of the finest of Somerset's churches, containing an equally fine ring of bells, which were put to good use during the afternoon and evening.

At the business meeting it was decided to hold the next (the annual) meeting at Beckington, subject to the necessary permission being obtained. One new member was elected, Miss Frances Massey, of Frome.

The Guild service was held at 6 p.m. and was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. P. Kingdom, to whom thanks are due for the welcome given to the District.

BELFRY GOSSIP

In conducting from the treble Mr. A. J. Pitman's well-known composition of Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative, with all the work of each method for every bell, Mr. W. Eric Critchley, of Doncaster, has now called this composition from all the eight positions. He believes this to be unique.

To the memory of the late Mr. Harry Morgan, a hymn board has been given by his widow to Bilston Parish Church.

Mr. J. H. Musson, of Silk Willoughby, has 'circled' his own tower to peals of Surprise Minor.

The peal rung at North Stoneham on November 30th was a non-Association peal and not for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, as published.

For the first peal on Theberton bells, Mr. Alan R. Bridges invited five members of the Leiston company to stand in. It was at this tower he learned to ring, ten years ago.

Not every ringer has Cambridge Surprise Major for his first peal, but such was the case of Derek Price, of Welland (nephew of Fred Price, Bournemouth), at St. John's, Worcester, on December 21st.

The Exercise is indebted to Mrs. Steeples for the efficient and painstaking manner in which she has taken charge of the Central Council's library's despatch department for the past four years. Miss Elizabeth Sharpe is her successor.

Bells will be heard prior to the evening services to be broadcast at 7.45 from Westbury Parish Church, Wilts, on January 19th (captain of the ringers, Trevor Holloway) and from Paul Parish Church, near Penzance, on January 26th, both in the West Home Service only.

The peal at Brampford Speke, on Boxing Day, was arranged to enable the conductor (Mr. E. M. Atkins) to celebrate the 50th anniversary of his first peal. This was at Isham, Northants, and was also of Plain Bob Minor. It was the first peal by all except the conductor, the late Mr. Edward Chapman, of Kettering, who had instructed the band formed when the bells were opened in June, 1906.

The band who rang the quarter peal at Easton-in-Gordano would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Bennett very much for their hospitality after the attempt.

Readers are indebted to Mr. H. R. Roper, of Adderbury, near Banbury, for again providing the Index to 'The Ringing World' for 1957. Copies reprinted suitable for binding can be supplied on application to this office with a stamped addressed envelope.

Mr. B. Stedman Payne, of Barrow-upon-Soar, Loughborough, in sending the second family peal, states that the first family peal was rung at Cossington, near Leicester, in December, 1922. The Paynes are hoping that it will not be another 29 years before the next one.

Mr. Hermon J. Oliver, of Downham, Essex, celebrated his 50th anniversary as a ringer by ringing at Shenfield on Christmas Day. It was there on December 25th, 1907, that he first rang for service. The local band congratulates him and thanks him for his valued support of ringing at Shenfield.

The ringers at Farnworth, Lancs, after ringing for Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve, turned on the portable radio to hear the bells of Dedham Church, Essex. Also, after ringing for Mass on Christmas morning, switched on again to hear the Christmas bells which were broadcast in the Home Service.

BISHOPSGATE 2599. LONDON, E.1.

'WE WERE MADE TO HONOUR THE LORD'

Story of Theberton Bells

Saturday, December 14th. was a memorable day for the village of Theberton, Suffolk. There have been bells at Theberton from the days of the Reformation. According to the late Dr. Raven there was one dated 1553, another of 1594, which bore the arms of France and England, the Royal initials E.R. and the inscription 'nos sumus instructi ad laudem Domini.' The others were two of 1614 and one of 1663 by John Darbie.

The earliest bell had disappeared when, in 1875, Messrs. Mears and Stainbank recast the four bells into a ring of five with a tenor of 7 cwt. in A. These bells, alas, were rehung by a local blacksmith, and as two of the bells hit each other in their revolution only chiming could be done. In 1943 the bells were regarded as unsafe and were taken down.

It was when Canon J. R. Chapman was rector that a bell restoration fund was started, and then, under the leadership of the present incumbent (the Rev. J. W. H. K. Greenway) the sum of £1,175 was collected as the result of a gift day.

The work of restoration has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and this included the retuning of the five bells and the provision of a new treble bell, the gift of a parishioner as a memorial to his wife. The inscription on the new bell reads: 'In memory of my wife, Alberta Louisa Wright, died 4th January, 1944.' The tenor now weighs 6 cwt. 2 qr. 6 lb. in the note of B. flat.

There was a large congregation present for the service of dedication performed by Canon J. R. Chapman, now Rector of Great and Little Whelnetham. During the singing of the hymn 'Angel Voices' Canon Chapman, preceded by Mr. A. Bridges (captain of the ringers), the churchwardens and clergy, processed to the tower, where the new bell was dedicated and the old bells rededicated. In handing the ropes to the Rector, the Canon repeated the dedication charge:—

> 'Receive these bells, which have now been solemnly set apart from profane and unhallowed uses, as a sacred trust committed unto thee, as the appointed minister of Christ in this church, and take care that they may be ever and only used in God's service and for His glory.'

As the procession returned to the east end, six members of the Suffolk Guild rang rounds: A. R. Bridges (Theberton) 1, A. S. Ling (Blaxhall) 2, L. G. Brett (Framsden) 3, J. M. Bailey (Leiston) 4, C. W. Pipe (Grundisburgh) 5, J. W. Blythe (Halesworth) 6.

FIVE-YEAR PLAN

In his address, Canon Chapman described the service as being one of thanksgiving for the culmination of a five-year plan, when he became Rector, five years ago. Much had been done in rethatching the church, but the walls of the interior were in a deplorable condition, and there was much more to be accomplished. First the choir was re-formed and robed. Then the church was redecorated and the lovely pews removed from the Doughty Chapel to the chancel. Then a fund was started for heating the church and restoring the bells. Now they thanked God all these things had been completed. The purpose of the bells was a call to prayer, and he asked his congregation to resolve another five-year plan and, as they heard their music, to draw the younger generation to God's house and the consecration of their lives to His service. 'May the sound of the Theberton bells help all who hear them to dedicate their lives anew to God's service,' he said.

As the congregation left the church a touch of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung.

A cordial welcome to the visitors was made at the tea by the Rector, and Mr. C. W. Pipe, in reply on behalf of the visitors, recalled that he was present only three and a half years ago at the dedication of Stonham Aspal bells when the Rector was their present incumbent (the Rev. J. W. H. K. Greenway). He presented the Rector with a cheque for £5 5s. from the Suffolk Guild Restoration Fund.

Mr. A. R. Bridges has been training five boys and a girl at Leiston to ring Theberton bells. Assisting him have been Mr. J. Bailey and Mr. S. Bailey. During the last four years Mr. Bridges has raised £200 for the Bell Restoration Fund.

CHIMES OF THE THEBERTON BELLS

(Theberton, October 20th, 1874)

SONG OF THE OLD BELLS

For thrice one hundred years our cry
Has sounded from the belfry high,
*Facti sumus in honorem Domini.

For thrice one hundred we tell
Our message from each warning bell,
Facti sumus in honorem Domini.

Worn out at last by service long
Our followers must repeat the song,
Facti sumus in honorem Domini.

Neglectful hearts they still will rouse
Inviting all to God's own house,
Facti sumus in honorem Domini.

If any wander near in doubt
Hark let them hear the bells ring out,
Facti sumus in honorem Domini.

If any fainting in despair should cry
Why was I born? The bells reply,
Facti sumus in honorem Domini.

Let all who hear the solemn lay
Or young or old, for pardon pray,
Facti sumus in honorem Domini.

W. B.

* Inscription on one of the old bells, dated 1595. (May be translated 'We were made to honour the Lord.')

THE GLEANING BELL

Until about half way through the last century one interesting custom still held its own at Theberton — the gleaning bell, when the poor were allowed to gean after harvest. Parish bills show that from 1815 to 1849 a gleaning bell was paid every year.

The following lines are quoted from 'Suffolk Largess' (1865). The speech is fairly well rendered:—

(Morning)

Why! listen, yow be quiet, bo'—the bell is tolling eight.
Why don't yow mind what you're about? We're allers kind o' late!
Now, Mary, get that mawther dressed—oh dear! how slow you fare!
There come a lot o' gleaners now. Maw, don't stand gawkin' there!

* * * * *

(Evening)

Dear me! there goo the bell agin—'tis seven I declare.
And we don't fare to have got none—the gleaning now don't fare
To be worth nuthin'; but I think—as far can tell
We'll try a coomb somehow to scratch, if we be live and well!

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

50th Anniversary of Queensbury Bells

December 14th, 1907, was a memorable day for the ringers of Holy Trinity, Queensbury, for on that day their newly rebuilt tower and augmented ring of eight bells were dedicated by the then Bishop of Ripon, Dr. Boyd-Carpenter. On this occasion a 'date touch' was rung by eight prominent members of the Western District, namely: J. Hardcastle, J. E. Jenkinson, J. Cotterell, J. S. Ambler, J. Barraclough, T. B. Kendall, G. B. Bollard and J. Broadley. On March 21st, 1908, these gentlemen rang the first peal on the bells—5,088 Kent Treble Bob Major, conducted by J. Cotterell.

It was, therefore, most fitting that the final meeting of the Western District in 1957 should be held at Queensbury on December 14th, even though, at the time this was suggested, no one was aware that the date coincided with the 50th anniversary of the dedication ceremony.

Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m. and continued until 5 p.m., when tea was served in the Co-operative Assembly Rooms, followed by the business meeting in the schoolroom. Methods rung during the day ranged from Plain Bob and Grandsire to Spliced Surprise Major.

The vice-president, Mr. P. J. Johnson, presided at the business meeting, supported by the Vicar of Queensbury, the Rev. A. Ridings. A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, local company and other helpers was carried with applause.

The Vicar formally welcomed the visitors to Queensbury and expressed pleasure at seeing so many ringers present on this particular occasion. He praised the work done by ringers in summoning people to church, but stressed that this in itself was not enough—this act of worship must be completed by attending the service to which they had called others.

Following the business meeting, further ringing brought to a close a most successful meeting.

Eastern District

The winter meeting of the Eastern District, a combined one with the Beverley and Selby Societies, was held at Goole on December 21st and was attended by over 60 members and friends representing 21 towers.

The Vicar conducted a short service in church. An excellent tea was provided by Mrs. Taylor, who also made a Christmas cake, which was cut by Mrs. Pomsher, wife of the Vicar of Snaith. After tea Mr. L. M. Woodhead read a letter of congratulation and best wishes to those present and especially to those with over 50 years' membership of the Yorkshire Association, in answer to a letter sent on behalf of those veterans by Mrs. J. J. Taylor to Her Majesty, conveying loyal greetings and best wishes for Christmas.

The vice-president, Mr. A. C. Sellers, presided over the business meeting. Mr. James Thompson, of Patrington, and Mr. Ronald R. Worford, of Selby, were elected members. Bridlington was selected for the next meeting. The usual votes of thanks were passed. The business of the Beverley and Selby District Societies was then proceeded with. Mrs. Taylor was most heartily thanked for all she had done for the success of the meeting and the comfort of those present.

A social hour and a sumptuous tea followed the peal at Blankney, Lincs, on December 21st, in honour of the birthday of Mr. G. Leonard Thompson. The event, arranged by Mr. Thompson, came as a very pleasant surprise to the peal band.

SATURN TREBLE BOB DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—The combination of changes rung as Saturn Treble Bob Doubles does not constitute a method, since its plain course is not true to itself, there being repeats when the treble is in thirds.

It is obvious that any four-lead Treble Bob Doubles method on this treble plan must have a single change when the treble makes thirds. This would mean that a bell would have to lie still for three consecutive blows. This is, of course, permissible in the case of Doubles.

If, however, it is desired to have no more than two consecutive blows, then a three-lead slow course type of method is possible, there being two of these. I suggest that they be named Ockham and St. Mary's.—Yours sincerely,

F. T. BLAGROVE.

For 240 call bob every third lead (three callings).

Dear Sir,—I was greatly interested in the publication of Saturn Treble Bob Doubles in your issue of December 13th, and in the subsequent record of a peal in this method. More than 40 years ago I framed this hunting course and experimented with it for a long time in attempts to produce a six-score. In one of my scribbling books of that time I find it dated November, 1916, and a note beneath says: 'See note book.' The 'note book' is unfortunately lost, but I recollect that my experiments were inspired by Law James' Treble Bob Caters which, not long before, had set all the method experts chattering and had caused much controversy in the Exercise.

I can find no example of the use of this hunt in any of the old books. The nearest approach to it appears in a queer manuscript book of the last century called 'The Five- and Six-Bell Peals of Mr. Richard Valentine,' and in this book we find two six-scores of Doubles, one called 'Double Grandsire' and the other 'The Dream.' In each of these the treble describes a complicated path, as follows:—Four blows at lead, two in seconds, two in thirds, treble bob work behind, two in thirds, two in seconds, and so to the four blows at lead again. This produces a treble lead of 40 changes (as in Saturn), but most of the work of each 120 is highly unorthodox.

My own experiments, although extensive, were purely empiric, and were directed chiefly to attempts to secure the 60 in-course rows, with a view to doubling to 120 by the use of two singles. The idea of a 12-score does not seem to have occurred to me. I have often thought, however, that someone skilled in method construction might from this material make something worth while for Doubles ringers.

I wonder if Mr. Moreton or Mr. Leale would be good enough to let us know who arranged the Doubles, or from what source they came for this occasion, and also if any six-scores (as well as 12-scores) are available for use.—Yours sincerely,

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION & SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Despite near-Arctic conditions, a fair proportion of the 'faithful' of both Associations arrived at Staveley on December 14th. After ringing on the pleasant ring of eight during the afternoon, members made their way to the Schoolroom, where an excellent tea was provided by the locals.

This was followed by the brief business meetings. That of the Sheffield and District was considerably enlivened by a warm discussion as to the place of the next monthly meeting, a motion to change the venue from All Saints' to St. Marie's, Sheffield, being defeated.

A return to the tower was then made, where ringing, including rounds, call-changes, Superlative and Yorkshire took place, the proceedings being rounded off in typical style by some excellent London Major. J. M. H.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The Llandaff Branch held a quarterly meeting at Llantrisant on December 14th. Very cold weather conditions probably caused quite a few members to miss this meeting. However, 32 braved the elements, and this included 12 from one tower! The General Ringing Master, Mr. T. Yeomans, kept the bells going throughout the afternoon, catering for all standards.

The service at 4 p.m. was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Edwin Davies). Tea followed in the nearby hall, which had been prepared by several young ladies of the local youth club. A vote of thanks to those concerned was given by Mr. L. Malings.

During the business meeting Mr. Neville James spoke of the good progress now being made by the young ringers at the Cathedral. At the conclusion further ringing took place, but many members then left for home.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

A good touch of Stedman Triples opened the Southern District's nomination meeting on the fine ring of eight at Bletchingley on December 14th. Although the start was a little late, some good ringing was enjoyed until 4.30 p.m.

The service of shortened Evensong was conducted by Father Nicholls, who also played the piano for the hymns as there was no organist. A very good tea was provided at the Church House, with thanks to Mr. F. W. Bird, his wife and helpers.

The business meeting followed in the usual form, except that nominations were required for officers in 1958. All the members who held office now were renominated, also Mr. B. A. Cracknell for Ringing Master and Messrs. A. P. Cannon, E. G. L. Coward, F. E. Roberts, A. R. C. Clarke for the committee. Votes of thanks were then passed by members to Father Nicholls for taking the service, and to Mr. F. W. Bird for the arrangements of a successful meeting.

Ringing was resumed afterwards until 8.45 p.m. with methods up to Yorkshire Surprise Major. A. S.

OUR CHRISTMAS CROSSWORD

Our Christmas Crossword proved to be popular with readers, and we are indebted to Mr. Bert Sutton, of Scarborough, for providing the competition. The first prize, a book voucher for 10. 6d., has been awarded to Mr. Peter N. Bond, Gaywood, 30, Stocks Green Road, Hildenborough, Tonbridge, Kent.

The solution was as follows:—

Across: 1 Saddleworth, 8 Rye, 9 Irvine, 10 Places, 12 Heels, 14 Meter, 15 Alloa, 16 Nobly, 18 Nolan, 20 Troyle, 22 Extent, 23 Ram, 24 Kingsbridge.

Down: 2 Daniel, 3 Lore, 4 Weep, 5 Rogate, 6 Heighington, 7 Eastrington, 11 Wells, 13 Say, 14 Man, 17 Leyton, 19 Ostend, 21 Eros, 22 Emir.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN H. BROTHWELL

Appreciation from North Nottinghamshire

The sudden death of 'Old Jack' or 'The Old Man,' as he was affectionately known, has taken from our midst one of the truly great characters of the Exercise.

His regular attendance at the monthly meetings of the North Notts District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild made them always lively and instructive. A forthright and fearless critic, he spared no one.

His one aim in ringing was perfection in striking, and for a youngster to receive a 'well done' from 'Old Jack' was praise indeed! Month by month and year by year his example of punctuality (always there by 2.30) and faultless striking did much to raise the standard of ringing in this area. Although an excellent ringer on higher numbers, his greatest enjoyment came from Minor ringing. His alertness of mind, especially in the realm of Minor methods, right to the last was a source of wonder to all.

We will remember long his cry, 'Get on with it!' which should be taken as a challenge: if we do that, there will be no doubt as to the future of ringing. H. T. R.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Dear Sir,—I have had some amount of correspondence with the B.B.C. recently (chiefly though Mr. Henry Riddell), and this being on the happiest of lines, I look forward to an improvement in future broadcasts of ringing.

Certainly the broadcast of Christmas bells was the best ever in that we heard the ringing without interruption (a special feature among my several requests). A postcard to Mr. Stuart Hibberd, B.B.C., London, thanking him for a good broadcast, would be greatly appreciated.

At their request, the B.B.C. now have in their possession a list of some of the best rings of bells of all numbers in all the counties of the British Isles.

It appears that the length of time allowed for ringing prior to a service very often depends on arrangements made between the incumbent and ringers. In some cases the bells are overlooked, and a timely reminder by the ringers to the B.B.C. staff will usually result in a broadcast of the bells. Quite often where there is a fine ring of bells the ringers 'are not available.'

Listening to bells, especially those on the air, is a great delight to some people, and I would like to suggest as a New Year's resolution that those ringers whose local church has a broadcast service will do all they can to co-operate with the B.B.C. and put their bells on the air.—Yours sincerely,

CECIL W. PIPE.

Grundisburgh, Suffolk.

A POINT FOR CENTRAL COUNCIL'S CONSIDERATION

Dear Sir,—I should be interested to learn the opinion of other members of the Exercise on a point which is brought to mind by the recent long peal of Minor at Stisted. I have been startled to find that many of my acquaintances, if they were to be involved in an attempt upon the Minor record which broke down in the interior of the eighth or a later extent, would not be prepared to submit the first seven or more complete extents for publication as a peal of normal, abnormal or even record length.

My own attitude, which I almost fear to state in view of the hostile reception with which it has been met recently, is that I should have no hesitation at all in publishing any seven or more consecutive extents as a peal, as I fail to see how anything that occurs after the end of the last published extent can detract in any way from what has gone before.

Perhaps some other and more authoritative of your readers would care to comment on this question.—Yours sincerely,

ROBIN G. LEALE.

Surbiton, Surrey.

MR. NEWMAN'S VIEWS ENDORSED

Dear Sir,—I feel that I cannot let the occasion pass without writing, through your columns, to say how heartily I endorse Mr. Newman's sentiments about the infamous propaganda which has lately appeared in 'The Ringing World.'

In this age it is to cheap sensational papers that we look for examples of this type of vulgar primitive wit, and not to respectable journals such as 'The Ringing World.' As the official organ of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers it is to be hoped that in the future 'The Ringing World' will confine its tastes to articles of a more refined nature.—Yours sincerely,

TREVOR N. J. BAILEY.

Beccles, Suffolk.

THOUGHTS ON CAMBRIDGE MAXIMUS

Dear Sir,—I am very interested to read other opinions about R. J. B.'s cartoons and also my opinion on same.

I would remind Francis R. Lowe, a lady or gentleman does not indulge in abusive personal remarks towards the other party during an argument. I have 'come out into the open,' as you term it, still that is not correct.

I, too, am an ardent church attendant from a boy chorister to a communicant, and often attend the church service I have just assisted in ringing for. I am not a teetotaller and, as I stated in my letter, I am not opposed to bellringers enjoying a glass of beer.

There is certainly no need to shield the fact. But why, on the other hand, as N. Robinson remarks, make our magazine into a brewer's journal?

To L. Bailey: If my letter gave you a bigger laugh than the cartoon, then why on earth do you support the publication of such nonsense in 'The Ringing World'? I would suggest you read again my letter. You will probably realise I am far from being opposed to bellringers partaking of a glass of beer: I am no prohibitionist.

What you are compelled to do after a peal is of no interest to me and does not in any way connect with any remarks in my letter. In conclusion, you have rather run off the rails of the argument. Have a drink with whom you like, but please try to adhere to the subject under discussion.—Yours,

R. NEWMAN.

COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,—Reading the correspondence appertaining to compositions brought back to my mind a remark by the late H. W. Wilde at the Central Council meeting held in Chelmsford in 1929, when reporting the finding of the Peal Collection Committee. He stated that he didn't know how many his colleagues had done, but he himself had gone through over 800 compositions of Major during that year. He added a rider, 'Good, bad and indifferent.'

This report gave me the impression that to try and find something original would be a waste of time. There is in the Central Council's library an unrivalled collection of peals of Treble Bob proved by the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and typed by Mrs. G. W. Fletcher. It must be an almost impossible task to tabulate the whole of these, but the committee have done a grand job in selecting good ones and putting them in book form. Surely there are sufficient good compositions to supply the needs of all.

We keep getting withdrawals on account of falseness; there should be no need for this. Since the war I visited a certain district. A ringer approached me with a view to calling some of his Major compositions. He produced a pocket book: on every page was a new (?) composition. As he turned over the pages I noticed a date at the top of each page; they were produced (?) at the rate of one a day. It only needed a quick glance to see that heads had been cut off and put at the feet, and vice versa.

The development of splicing has certainly opened out a new channel. I like to see the footnote: 'C.C. Collection No. . . .' It is to achieve such things that our Central Council has been built up.

CARTER'S ODD-BOB PEAL OF STEDMAN TRIPLES

Dear Sir, — Congratulations to Mr. Alan Ainsworth on calling Carter's Odd-Bob peal of Stedman Triples. He correctly assumes that there are two versions of this peal. The original composition was first rung on tower bells at Selly Oak on May 5th, 1902, and on handbells in Birmingham on August 20th, 1902, both conducted by William H. Barber. The figures of the peal were published in 'The Bell News' on October 18th, 1902. John Carter later revised the peal and the simplified version was published in 'Stedman' by Jasper Snowdon and the later edition by J. A. Trollope.

I gave Mr. R. G. Leale the figures of the original composition, which he subsequently called, and I shall be pleased to let Mr. Ainsworth have them also when I am in Newcastle early in the New Year. He will find the original composition more difficult but I wish him and his northern band every success in trying to emulate the achievements of his friend in the Home Counties.—Yours sincerely,

BRIAN BUSWELL.

PEAL OF GAINSBOROUGH SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,—I notice in 'The Ringing World' of December 27th the report of a peal of Gainsborough Surprise Major rung at Sherfield English for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

As the composition was a 5,088 by Arthur Craven, perhaps the conductor will assure us that it was not the well-known peal that is quite frequently called to Yorkshire Surprise.

This does not run true to Gainsborough as it contains bells reversed in 5/6 in a number of courses.—Yours sincerely,

ARTHUR V. PEARSON.

HUNTS OLD AND NEW

THE recent publication of Saturn Treble Bob Doubles provides another interesting example of the hidden possibilities of change ringing and the scope for enterprise in even the limited field of five-bell ringing. Since the days when change ringing emerged from the half-light of the ingenious, though clumsy, constructions of the Plain Changes, the systems of composition have divided themselves into two groups, one group having a bell with a very rigid path and another in which all the bells have the same path. The former group comprises what are sometimes called the 'Treble-Dominated' methods, and this term, although not agreeable to all the experts, seems to express conveniently enough the particular systems in which the working bells are made to conform to the path of the fixed hunt bell.

The earliest, best known and most universally satisfactory forms of hunt are, of course, the plain hunt and the treble bob hunt, both of which belong to the early days and both of which are the basis of virtually all our method construction to-day. But there have been, as our text books and ringing papers show, some interesting and ingenious experiments with other types of hunt, and the treble bob hunt is the one to which attention has been chiefly directed and in which some variation and modification have been sought.

Towards the end of 1894 two clever method builders published, almost at the same time, variations of the treble bob hunt. In 'The Bell News' of October 6th, 1894, Henry Dains displayed 'Alliance Major,' a method in which the Treble dodged, treble bob fashion, in 1–2 and in 7–8, but plain hunted through the other places. This combination of plain and treble bob was aptly named Alliance by Earle Bulwer. It produced a plain course of 168 changes, and was intended, as Dains said, to shorten the course of treble bob methods and render them more pliable and adaptable for short touches. It would also, he hoped, provide 'scope for the construction of sound variations and musical compositions.' In December of that year John Carter published 'Champion Surprise Major,' an extraordinary production in which the Treble dodged three times in every place. Dains' plan was to shorten the treble bob lead and consequently the course; Carter's avowed aim was to lengthen the lead and the course. Champion had a lead of 64 changes and a course of 448. Neither enterprise met with much lasting success. The course of Alliance was subject to much the same laws of composition as Plain Bob, and, as Holme Pilkington pointed out, many peals of Plain Bob Major and Triples could be adapted to Alliance. The versions of Royal and Maximus were published and, although the twelve-bell system gave convenient peals of 5,080 in full course, the method did not become a favourite with Maximus ringers. Champion had less success. The course was much too long for the method to be of any value for Sunday service ringing, and the leads must have been intolerably long, both for the Treble man and his colleagues.

For some years no novelty of note appeared to set composers at work with a new hunt, but in 1913 the Rev. H. Law James constructed what he called 'Surfleet Treble Bob Caters,' composed a peal of it, and conducted it on his new ten bells. In Surfleet the Treble dodged in 1–2, 3–4, 6–7 and 8–9, up and down, in the traditional treble bob manner, and filled in the awkward gap in the middle by making fifths-place going out and coming in. This system presented the method experts with a problem and opened the way for what Law James delighted in, a grand argument about basic principles. After a time the controversy died, and nobody had really decided whether this treble path was treble bob or not. But no further peals of Surfleet were rung.

It would not appear likely, at first sight, that any variant of the plain hunt could be made without turning it into something entirely different. But Bankes James, the clever brother of Law James and one of the shrewdest method manipulators we have ever had, introduced the 'Little' methods, in which the Treble hunted only to fourths-place and back. This plan was found to be surprisingly pliable and adaptable, and very useful for short touches. It became deservedly popular in the Major methods, and has been successfully exploited in Caters, Royal and Maximus. It cannot, of course, produce extents, and so cannot be used for 720's of Minor except in combination with other hunts, but it has been successfully spliced with Alliance methods to provide interesting material for the six-bell ringer.

The old plain and treble bob hunts remain the most popular and of the greatest general utility, but the appearance of the little planet 'Saturn' and the thoughts arising from it remind us that all the fields for study are not yet worked out.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Philip Mehew, in conjunction with Mr. Stephen Ivin, is organising an attempt to ring 40,320 Plain Bob Major at Loughborough on February 8th. Full official details will be published when arrangements are completed.

Bushey Heath claims the distinction of ringing the first quarter peal in 1958. It started on the first hour stroke of Big Ben, conveyed by wireless, and finished in under 44 minutes. The method was Grandsire Triples.

A veteran of the Chester Diocesan Guild is Mr. Albert H. Booth, captain of Davenham tower. Last month he rang in a peal of Minor to celebrate the 60th anniversary of his first peal.

An attempt for a peal of Grandsire Caters on December 21st at St. Woolos' Cathedral, Newport, to mark the enthronement of the Archbishop of Wales, was lost after about an hour's ringing, through the clapper of the second bell dropping out.

Ringers at Weldon, on the fringe of Corby, Northants, rang a quarter peal of Minor, starting at midnight, Jan. 1st. This young band are shortly to attempt a peal and, if successful, it will be the first peal on the bells by a local band. The bells were installed in 1710.

The quarter peal at Babbacombe by the young local band (average age 20½ years) gave great pleasure to the umpire, who sat in the tower and checked every lead-end. This was the first quarter ever rung in Torquay by a resident band, all of whom learnt to ring in the tower. Five of the local band are now away at various universities, but the eight bells are rung every Sunday by the rest of the band, Grandsire Doubles, with cover bells, being the usual method for service ringing. There is a total strength of 14 ringers in the tower with an average age of 17 years.

Six members of the local band rang in the peal of Grandsire Triples at Henbury, Bristol, five of them scoring their first peal. On no previous occasion have more than three local ringers rung in a peal here, and this peal is a reward for a great deal of enthusiasm and hard work over the past year or two. Unfortunately his work prevents the tower captain, Mr. Brian Huddleston, ringing on Saturday afternoons. It is to be hoped that soon this band will score their first peal on their own.

The Dukes family rang a handbell peal on New Year's Eve at Juhanstown, which was Miss Sandra Dukes' (aged 13) first peal. Within two hours Sandra was ringing out the Old and ringing in the New Year at St. Peter's, Drogheda.

The bells of Barnard Castle Parish Church, Co. Durham, will be heard prior to the service to be broadcast from there at 9.45 a.m. on Sunday, January 26th in the North Home Service only. The captain of the belfry is Mr. E. W. Willis.

Hendon ringers toured their parish prior to Christmas, ringing carols on handbells. They collected £71 towards the cost of providing two more bells for their tower. The total of the fund now stands at £270, nearly half the total required.

Mr. George Scott, who will be 80 next month, impressed those who took part in the peal at Leadenham, Lincs, on Boxing Day with his ringing. He gave an excellent example of model open handstroke ringing to the younger generation. He is looking forward to ringing another peal for his birthday.

Great hilarity was caused by the remark made by a lady who, after watching a demonstration of change ringing in Cornwall, where handbells are crossed and passed on the floor, said: 'Oh! I can see how it is done now, but it must be awfully difficult running around a belfry pulling all the ropes in turn'!

ESTABLISHED 1570

MEARS & STAINBANK, 34, WHITECHAPEL ROAD,
BISHOPSGATE 2599. LONDON, E.1.

ANOTHER FINE NEW RING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

THE installation of a ring of ten (tenor 21¼ cwt. in E) at the Benedictine Westminster Abbey, Mission City, has now been completed, and a short account of the events leading up to the successful conclusion of this project may be of interest to readers.

In 1947 the Whitechapel Foundry supplied the architects, Messrs. Gardiner, Thornton and Partners, with details of a suitable chime for keyboard operation, and later, the Prior, the Very Rev. Eugene Medved, O.S.B. (now the Rt. Rev. Abbot) wrote inquiring as to the possibility of having a ring of bells, and teaching his monks to handle them.

The tower was then only in the design stage, but it was to attain a height of 140 feet, and to be constructed as a thin concrete shell, with walls only nine inches thick, webbed at the corners, and practically free standing, as the buildings either side were only of single storey height.

To put a ring into such a tower seemed at first an impossibility, but after long negotiation between the architects, the engineers and the bell founders, a scheme was finally evolved upon which the three parties were in full agreement.

Meanwhile a donor had been found for the bells and the order was placed in November, 1949. During the following October, Father Eugene visited Europe, and during his stay at Buckfast called at Whitechapel and witnessed the casting of some of his bells.

In August, 1951, the bells, fittings and framework were shipped, but the new monastery and tower were far from ready, and the monks therefore erected the ring on the lawn and connected up the chiming apparatus.

Eventually the long-awaited tower was built and the frame and bells hoisted into position, much valuable guidance being given by Mr. E. W. Izard, of Victoria. He reported that everything went together very well, despite its sojourn of some six years in the open on the lawn, and on October 26th, 1957, he flew over his band from Victoria to try out the new ten.

They rang for several hours and included Stedman Triples with tenors behind 9, 8, 10, Bob Major with 9, 10 behind, and 504 of Grandsire with 9, 8, 10 behind.

They also 'fired' the bells for the architect's benefit as he was carrying out structure tests, and a penny was balanced on edge at the top of the tower, which speaks well for the overall design when one considers the lack of mass compared with traditional English towers.

Mr. Izard reported that the bells 'go' perfectly, and despite new ropes they were well struck and sounded beautiful.

The site was well chosen, being on a hill overlooking the Fraser Valley, and the bells were heard for many miles around.

Thus British Columbia has become possessed of another fine ring from Whitechapel, and the monks, who are already progressing, will eventually be able to ring the bells for their various occasions.

Peal Ringers of 1957

Will all those who have rung 25 or more peals during 1957 please forward particulars at once. The list will be published next week.

During the annual meeting at Ely on January 4th, whilst the two District secretaries were enjoying the ringing on this beautiful eight, someone else was ringing changes on the secretaries' cars. One official missed his aerial, whilst the other lost a valuable spotlight. It is wondered if any other member lost anything. The cars were within 50 yards of the tower.

HANDBELL RINGING AT ROTHERHAM

On Saturday, December 21st, a team of handbell ringers rang in Rotherham Parish Churchyard to raise funds for the church. The team consisted of Patricia Walker, Susan Chaddock, Christine Rodgers, Mary Atkinson, Joyce Godber, Diane Harrison, Denise Breedon and Rosamund Barclay, members of the Rotherham High School, under the direction of Mr. N. Chaddock, the trainer of the team. Elizabeth Wardill and Margaret Mills also helped with the ringing. Carols and traditional melodies were played and courses of Grandsire Triples were rung by Rotherham Parish Church ringers. As the darkness fell the gaily-lit Christmas trees in the yard provided a suitable atmosphere.

The people of Rotherham seemed to enjoy the ringing and gave generously. By the end of the afternoon £31 4s. 6d. had been collected.

In spite of a long and arduous afternoon, the team were not too tired to visit Rotherham Hospital in the evening to play to the patients. Five wards were visited, and afterwards the staff kindly provided refreshments, which were greatly appreciated.

BOXING DAY AT NORTHAMPTON AND AROUND

Boxing day is a day in the year when the Hunt meets, football matches are played and motor-cycle scrambles are held, so why not a tower grab? So it was that at 9.30 on December 26th some 30 or more ringers and friends from Northampton and district assembled at Campbell Square, Northampton, and boarded a coach for a day's ringing round part of the county.

At the first tower, Chelveston (5, tenor 8 cwt.), eager ringers and friends piled out of the coach and with hurried footsteps made for the church tower. A variety of Doubles methods were brought round, but unfortunately Stedman would not come round. Now on to Raunds for an hour's ringing on this beautiful ring of eight (tenor 22 cwt.). We had rounds for the learners; Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major for the little more experienced; and, for the even better, Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise Major. Ringing ended with a near perfect fall.

Lunch was taken with a little liquid refreshment in one of the local ale houses. (I hope this doesn't lower Mr. R. Newman's opinion of ringers any more, after his criticism of R. B. J.'s good cartoon in 'The Ringing World.'—'Thoughts after Cambridge Maximus.') Lowick (6, 13 cwt.) was next visited and proved to have a rather odd-struck ring of nice tone. At Sudborough (5, 10 cwt.) one of the local inhabitants recorded an extent of All Saints' Doubles, which was completed with, unfortunately, one clip, but this was only just audible when the record was replayed. Congratulations to that band—it was lovely. From Sudborough on to the 13¾ cwt. ring of five at Brigstock. A good rise was followed by a good 120 of St. Simon's Doubles. By this time everyone was beginning to feel hungry, so on to Thrapston for the last tower before tea. We had an hour's ringing on this grand ring of eight (tenor 14 cwt.). There were touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major, and at the third attempt a course of Double Norwich was brought round. Tea was had at the cafe opposite the church.

After tea we had two more towers to visit—Twywell (5, tenor 7 cwt.) and Woodford (6, tenor 16 cwt.), where the bells have a lovely tone. The bells were fell, and as the calls 'One,' 'Two,' 'Miss' and 'Catch this one' echoed round the now empty church the last tower bells of the day were chimed.

Although ringing had ended, the day was far from being over. Now back to Raunds to spend the evening at the 'local,' and the chap who hasn't had a very successful ringing year had a very successful time playing his accordion for dancing and singing. We were also entertained by the handbell ringers of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Northampton, who rang the well-known melodies of the Christmas carols. Solos were sung by various members of the party, and everyone, including the 'locals,' joined in the more popular 'Good King Wenceslas,' 'O come, all ye faithful' and 'Hark, the herald angels sing.' Singing ended with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

We rejoined the coach and set off for home, the bus 'choir' again being led by our own self-styled comedian, 'Tec.' At last Northampton was reached and the party broke up, everyone having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. I know they had, because hardly a person left without saying to our tour organiser: 'Goodnight, George, it's been a wonderful trip, thanks very much—when's the next one?'

UNIVERSITIES' ASSOCIATION

To Hold Annual Dinner in Provinces

PROBABLY the small attendance of 35 influenced the Universities' Association at their annual dinner at the Victoria, Buckingham Palace Road, London, to break from a long-standing custom and hold their next annual dinner in the provinces—Birmingham being selected.

A full programme of ringing, starting at 10 a.m., was well supported. Towers visited were St. Mary Magdalene, Woolwich (8); St. John's, Deptford (8), St. Lawrence Jewry (8) and St. Gabriel's, Pimlico (8). The service was held in the last-named church.

Mr. A. York-Bramble, in proposing 'The Church,' said in connection with the toast they might ask themselves a few simple questions. Why were they members of their Association? Because they were interested in ringing. Why interested in ringing? It was a pastime for a lifetime, a husband and wife job for both sexes; it provided interest and scope for amusement, both physical and mental, but he thought there was a more cogent answer that as practising Christians they could find in ringing an opportunity of real service to their Mother Church. That service gave them deep and lasting pleasure and it was up to them as ringers to do something in return.

TWO-FOLD DUTY

That something was a two-fold duty—to give of their best for divine service ringing, which did not mean complicated method ringing and complicated touches, but proficiency of the highest order which a ringer could attain, and he would include in that a clean rise and fall and perfect striking. These qualifications should come first and they must be backed up by regular and punctual attendance.

The second duty was in handing on the torch, in other words, keeping up the scope and standard of ringing training; they must be particularly patient and painstaking because the youngster of to-day had so many counter-attractions and soon lost interest.

As to helping others, what a surprising amount of good came from visiting other towers—a little word spoken was often so helpful. Ringers owed a tremendous amount to the officers of the Church, who made it possible for them to go into a church for practice or visiting, and that day they had the privilege of ringing in four London towers, and they were delighted to have with them the representative of the Corporation of London, the Rector of St. Lawrence Jewry.

The Rev. J. F. D. Tringingham, in reply, spoke of the pleasure it gave him to welcome the U.A. to St. Lawrence Jewry. They knew that bellringers met with varying degrees of appreciation of their art. The day after St. Lawrence Jewry was reconsecrated, following which the bells rang out, a letter appeared in the 'Daily Telegraph,' which was most enthusiastic, and the writer likened the bells to the heavy artillery of the Church. He heard later that an irate chartered accountant rang up the Mansion House and said: 'Can't you stop these bells?' They replied that it was nothing to do with them. He then rang up the Guildhall, and they asked him if he was worried, to which he replied that he could not tot up. To this the Guildhall replied: 'These bells have not rung for 20 years, so I think they might ring this afternoon.'

He hoped they would have a very happy time ringing in the future, for they say bellringers never die. At the veterans' gathering he was talking to one venerable gentleman, who told him that he had been ringing for 60 years with another veteran.

The president interpolated with a story concerning the College Youths ringing a long length of Stedman Cinques at Cripplegate. Sir Arthur Heywood was standing outside in the street listening when an indignant man came up to him and said: 'Excuse me, what are these bells ringing for?' Sir Arthur replied that the College Youths were attempting a long peal of Stedman Cinques: 'If they succeed it will be a very great achievement.' The questioner replied, 'I wish to God it was impossible.'

DIFFERENT ATTITUDES TO RINGING

Dr. P. A. F. Chalk, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, proposed the toast of 'The Universities Association.' The last time he attended one of their dinners was in 1952, and, commented Dr. Chalk, he wondered if he was invited as the lad who had made good! Their Society was founded with the idea that those who rang at Universities should get together and ring and have a dinner meeting. There was an idea that the Universities were centres for the fanatics. He thought it might be said that the Universities cultivated a rather sporting attitude towards their ringing; their approach was different from the College Youths. The latter rang the same method week after week, but at Universities it was anything that one was inclined to have a 'go' with varying degrees of success.

Mr. R. F. B. Speed replied and welcomed the guests. These included the Rector of St. Lawrence Jewry, the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths and his fiancée, the Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, Mr. F. Cullum, who told him that his first peal was rung 40 years ago on Boxing Day, Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. T. W. White.

BUSINESS MEETING

A business meeting followed with the president in the chair. New members elected were Dr. D. G. Neal Smith and H. Collins (London University), Roger Baldwin (Nottingham University) and Miss Molly Tilbury (Reading University).

In regard to the 1958 Week, which will be held either in Sussex or Dorset. Miss Cross and other members agreed to endeavour to find accommodation.

The meeting agreed to the next annual dinner being held at Birmingham on Saturday, January 3rd, 1959.

The hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. B. D. Threlfall) appealed to the meeting for the creation of two separate offices of hon. secretary and treasurer. The meeting felt unable to proceed with the new appointment as due notice to amend the rules had not been given. The meeting, however, approved of Mr. Threlfall having an assistant to help him.

Handbell ringing concluded a pleasant reunion.

NON-RINGER CAPTURES THE SPIRIT OF CHANGE RINGING

The following appreciation of change ringing appeared recently in 'The Weekly Scotsman,' written by a non-ringer. We reproduce it as one of the best examples of appreciation of change ringing (written by Philip A. Stables) of our art:—

Once or twice in the decade before the outbreak of the second world war, I was among the guests at the annual dinner of the change ringers of St. Cuthbert's Parish Church, in Edinburgh. It was an exceedingly pleasant function. There were, as far as I remember, about a dozen change ringers and 50 guests.

The first time I attended I was astonished to find so many guests being lavishly entertained in one of the most expensive Edinburgh hotels by a little group of bellringers. But the explanation was that a wealthy and warm-hearted old lady left a sum of money to be invested to supply the bellringers with a dinner once a year, and the money was so well invested that more and more guests were invited each year to share in the enjoyment of their gracious benefactor's bequest.

There used to be a box of chocolates for every lady and a box of expensive cigarettes for every gentleman. And the most charming part of the evening was when eight change ringers, using handbells, gave us a short touch of Grandsire Caters.

WHO'S GRANDSIRE?

I know nothing about bellringing, but I was fascinated by the name of the tune they played. 'Caters,' I learned, was a corruption of the French 'quatres,' But who the original 'Grandsire' was, I never heard. Nor did I ever learn how long a long touch of Grandsire Caters would last. A short touch lasted about 20 minutes.

These recollections arise from reading the announcement of last Saturday afternoon's performance on St. Cuthbert's bells, by seven ringers from Newcastle and one studying in Edinburgh, of Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

That magnificent title puts Grandsire Caters in the shade, and confirms my impression that the nomenclature of bellringing made all other musical terms seem dull. Moreover, there is something heroic about change ringing, when you consider that Double Norwich Court Bob Major lasts for three hours, and is, I gather, only an eighth part of the whole pattern of sound of which it forms a section.

SWEET SOUNDS

Yet, forgetting the quaintness of these names for the moment, is there any sweeter sound on God's earth than the chiming of bells? In an age which has produced hideous vandalism in all the arts—music, sculpture, painting, poetry—bellringing has been mercifully unspoilt.

The sound of distant bells coming across a city, or across country fields, on a winter's evening—rising and falling as the wind brings them towards us or takes them away—has a restfulness equal to the loveliest of Chopin's nocturnes or to Beethoven's wrongly-despised 'Moonlight' Sonata.

KENWYN OUTINGS

BOXING DAY

Six Kenwyn ringers and one supporter left Truro for the annual Christmas outing on Boxing Day. The first stop was at the little church of Landewednack, the bells of which are the most southerly in England. They are a ring of six (tenor approximately 9 cwt.) and although very musical do not go as they should. A rather rapid six-score of Stedman was rung in about three minutes dead, with the 'little elf' on the tenor evidently desirous of getting it over with as quickly as possible.

After refreshment at the Lizard Hotel (a meal of Christmas Day left-overs, washed down with ale), we journeyed on to St. Keverne where we joined up with three or four other illustrious members of the Truro Guild. The glorious octave (tenor 19 cwt.) was soon sounding out to the music of Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob.

St. Anthony-in-Meneage, a church which must surely be in one of the loveliest settings in the county, being situated in an isolated creek of the Helford River, right at the water's edge, was next visited. It is hard to imagine that this lovely old church was, not many years ago, a partial ruin, and was used as a barn. The hole through which the chickens used to run in and out can still be seen in the west door. In spite of opposition by a couple of ladies on the organ, and a rather obnoxious infant with a 'squeaker,' we managed to produce some rather shaky Grandsire and Plain Bob on the merry little octave (tenor 12 cwt.).

The eight (recently restored) bells of Helston Parish Church (the home of the Cornish 'Furry Dance') were soon sounding to the tune of various standard methods. It was here, I think, that we had our best ringing of the day, finishing with an excellent 'fall' in peal, in which all but one of our number (who shall be nameless) managed successfully to 'catch' in queens at the end.

Our thanks are due to the Ringing Master (Douglas Burnett) for arranging the ringing, and to the clergy concerned for so readily allowing us the use of their bells.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 28TH

Saturday saw us once again on the road with an ambitious programme including 11 towers. We were very pleased to have as our guest Mr. Ron Short, of Wembdon, Somerset, who had travelled down especially for the trip, all the towers being new to him.

The first stop was at St. Eval (6, tenor 6 cwt.). It was apparent from the start that we had got over our poor ringing of the previous trip, the rise in peal and the change-ringing being quite commendable. Our 'supporter' was encouraged to take a rope for rounds, and did very well considering it was her first attempt on 'open' bells.

St. Merryn (6, tenor 7 cwt.) was the next stop, and everyone enjoyed the ringing on the musical little six. It must be told here that our esteemed president confessed to having a dream the previous night, where one of the towers at which we were to ring collapsed on us. It was with some trepidation, therefore, that we eyed St. Merryn tower with its numerous cracks and crevices, before going in to ring. However, no ill befell us, and the tower (as far as we know) is still standing.

At Padstow (6, tenor 12 cwt.) we found the tower captain waiting to greet us. The bells are rather a poor six with high sallies almost out of reach. However, the usual variety of Minor and Doubles was accomplished, and we by no means disgraced ourselves.

At Little Petherick (6, tenor approximately 6 cwt.) we had just risen the bells and started a touch of Plain Bob when a local gentleman came into the tower and to the 'little elf' who was ringing the second said: 'There baint no stay on that thar bell, missy!' Needless to say, 'missy' broke into a cold sweat and nearly ruined the touch. However, our fears were unfounded when on setting the bells we discovered that they had a full complement of stays and other fittings.

On then up the hill to St. Issey, where we met our very good friends the Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Roberts, of Carbis Bay, their daughter Evangeline, and another stray member of our band. An excellent chicken lunch awaited us at the Ring o' Bells, and we were all (or nearly all) able to do full justice to it. The treat was on Alan Carveth, and we are all most grateful to him for his kind action. The fine old six (tenor approximately 14 cwt.) although a bit heavy going were greatly enjoyed by all.

At Eglashayle (tenor 12 cwt.) we had our first eight for the day: and here we really excelled ourselves. Stedman and Plain Bob were perfectly struck, and even the hardened prize ringing locals who were there were greatly impressed by our 'scientific' ringing.

It was only two or three miles to St. Breocke, with a rather nondescript six (tenor 9 cwt.). A certain ringer (who again shall be nameless) upset the whole proceedings by getting his car stuck on the steep approach to the church. Practically the whole village had to be called out with mats, etc., to put under the wheels before we could successfully extricate him. This certain gentleman was promptly declared to be 'in disgrace,' and only redeemed himself by buying a round of ale later in the evening.

Withiel (6, tenor 10 cwt.) was our next tower, and here the sallies were so high that we all had to stand on forms, boxes, etc., in order to reach the ropes. We left there fully convinced that the local ringers must be a race of giants.

At St. Wenn (6, tenor 10 cwt.) we had to contact the vicar for permission to ring. This was readily granted and we enjoyed a pleasant half hour on the bells.

After bidding farewell to Mr. Roberts and his family we journeyed on to St. Mawgan-in-Pydar, where we were met by Douglas Burnett and Tony Locke and warmly welcomed by the vicar (himself a change-ringer), and managed successfully to ring a course of 'Kenwyn Major,' an incredibly vile method which was composed locally and which the composer has not dared to send up to the C.C. for approval.

St. Columb Major (8, tenor 12¼ cwt.) was the last tower for the day, and we finished up in fine style with some well-struck Stedman and Plain Bob. A hasty meal, a pleasant hour in the Ring o' Bells, and we were on our way back to Truro.

We are most grateful to our organiser and chauffeur, Alan Carveth, for a wonderful trip, and to the clergy and local ringers. R. A. S.

HALSTEAD RINGERS' WEDDING

Dixey — Snowden

The marriage took place on Saturday, December 14th, between Robert Arthur Dixey, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Dixey, of Earls Colne, and Hilda May Claudette Snowden, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Snowden, of Halstead, and niece of Miss Hilda G. Snowden. Both the bride and bridegroom are ringers of St. Andrew's, Halstead.

The ceremony was performed by the Vicar (Rev. A. W. Swallow), and Miss Hilda G. Snowden was at the organ.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an Elizabethan-style gown of white nylon net, silver entwined, with a three-quarter nylon veil held by a coronet of pearls and stones; she carried a bouquet of red carnations with trailing fern.

Attending the bride was matron-of-honour Mrs. J. Rawlinson (bride's sister), Miss Maureen King (friend) and Miss Elvina Dixey (bridegroom's sister), all wearing nylon dresses, two in blue and one in yellow. The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. G. Miller (bridegroom's friend).

The bells of St. Andrew's were rung before the service: the bride entered the church as a successful touch of London was brought round. Afterwards a peal of Yorkshire Surprise was rung. Mr. and Mrs. Dixey are residing at 25, Belle Vue, Hedingham Road, Halstead.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RINGING AND CHIMING

Dear Sir,—Mr. William Shepherd writes:—'We cannot expect the public Press to be correct in reporting all details of ringing news and I rather think some of the blame can be traced to those who supply the information in the first place. After all, how many editors know anything about ringing? Now, not wishing to dispute with Mr. Shepherd, my experience with the Press resulted in the few following lines appearing in the 'Daily Mail,' on December 17th:—

A FIVE-BELL BLACKSMITH

Blacksmith Mr. Frederick Coates, of Theberton, Suffolk, used to ring all five bells in the parish church.

They weighed nearly one and a half tons. Two ropes were tied to his elbows, he held two, and one was tied to his foot. But Mr. Coates died last June. Now schoolchildren are being trained as ringers.

The paper telephoned me about one man ringing five bells and, try as I might, I could not convince them that the bells were chimed, so I went into a lengthy conversation of what happens when a bell is rung, and what happens when a bell is chimed, and tried to explain the difference but only with the result you see. On being asked the weight of the bells I told them 26 cwt. If this is not a good example in exaggeration on a simple statement, how can we expect more technical things to be correct? We can only try and hope.—Yours faithfully,

ALAN R. BRIDGES.

Theberton.

NON-GUILD MEMBER IN PEAL

Dear Sir,—The peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Portsmouth Cathedral on Saturday, July 27th, 1957, and published in 'The Ringing World' dated August 9th, 1957 (page 507), cannot be accepted as having been rung for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild due to one ringer's non-membership of the Guild.—Yours faithfully,

J. A. C. KING,
General Secretary,
Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.

LIGHTS IN BELFRIES

Dear Sir,—While most of us will agree with J. W. Abbott that it is hardly possible for an 'L' ringer (or a non-'L' one for that matter) to keep his eye on the bell when pulling the rope, many, I am sure, will agree that the press report quoted isn't quite as silly as it sounds.

Imagine a very raw learner being suddenly plunged into darkness!—the result could be very serious indeed with a rope nipping around the belfry like a mad thing.

Plenty of ringers could tell us tales of lights being turned off at very awkward moments—it happened at Ashford on several occasions, and in the end an oil lamp was kept burning all the time ringing was in progress—just in case!

In my humble opinion all belfry lights should have separate controls from all other church lights and should be operated by tower keepers and the like.—Yours sincerely,

Bethersden, Kent. W. W. RING.

GAVELKIND

Dear Sir,—The name of the Lodge of the ringer of the second in the Masonic peal at Bristol, reported in our last issue, is Gavelkind, not 'Gravelkind,' as stated.

The law of Gavelkind is an ancient one dating from the Norman Conquest and peculiar to the county of Kent, whereby land and estates held under this law, instead of descending upon the eldest son only, descends upon all the sons in equal parts. E. BARNETT.

SCOUTING, GUIDING AND RINGING

Dear Sir,—I have been very interested in the recent correspondence concerning the close connection between these three activities.

Almost every member of our young band has been a volunteer to ringing from either the Guide Company or Scout Troop attached to our church. A more loyal set of young people I could never wish to find in any tower, and I feel that a lot of this is due to their Guide and Scout training. Their willingness to do any job (including belfry cleaning) and their perseverance is exceptional. (We have just scored the first quarter peal of Stedman Doubles after 11 vain attempts during the past year!)

To those looking for new recruits I could not recommend anything better than a visit to your Scouts and Guides. (We have a waiting list of those who have asked if they can be taught to ring.)

In conclusion, may I also say what a wonderful spirit of brotherhood I found at the Scout World Jamboree last August. How thrilling it was to meet Scouts from all parts of the world and see them living so happily together.

I too saw the Dutch Scouts' campanile, and was lucky enough to ring rounds and a few changes of Grandsire Doubles while on a visit to that part of the camp.—Yours sincerely,

HARRY W. BROWN.

Aldrington, Hove, Sussex.

SOMERSET BELLS

Dear Sir,—I was very interested to read the article by J. G. M. S. in the December 27th issue concerning the bells of Sutton Bingham and Brympton d'Evercy.

I was living in Yeovil until about three months ago and started to learn to ring two and a half years ago at St. John's, Yeovil, and about that time managed to borrow, for a short time, Canon Ellacombe's 'Church Bells of Somerset.' I see, from some notes I made then, that the Canon lists Sutton Bingham as having one undated bell and one of 1685, but I didn't note any reference to Brympton (which may be my omission).

In connection with your contributor's statement that 'Nobody since Ellacombe . . has "done" Somerset,' I should like to draw attention to a note in A. K. Wickham's book, 'Churches of Somerset,' where, in the introduction, comment is made on Canon Ellacombe's book, and it is stated that in 1914 the Rev. G. Aldridge made a preliminary survey, and later, in 1920, H. B. Walter collected further data for a more comprehensive account of Somerset bells. Reports of the work of these two gentlemen appeared in the proceedings of the Somersetshire Archæological and Natural History Society and Mr. Wickham goes on to say that their unpublished manuscripts are in the archives of that Society in Taunton Castle.

One further note I have from Ellacombe's book is that St. Mary's, Clatworthy, is credited with a treble (of four) dated 1199. I haven't found out whether this is correct or a printer's error or a bellfounder's mistake. Perhaps your contributor can enlighten me.

Now another matter in the same issue. The 'Belfry Gossip' column refers to the financial loss on the Bournemouth rally and dinner, and it occurs to me that Yeovil and district were visited by the College Youths on a date very close to the Bournemouth event, and one can't help wondering if the loss would have been avoided if somebody's diary entries had 'dodged' properly. Please do not take this as an ill-considered criticism of anybody concerned, as I know that coinciding dates are unavoidable at times, but it is a plea from a

SUPERLATIVE AND YORKSHIRE COURT MINOR

Dear Sir,—In response to Mr. Frost's request in your issue of December 20th, I hope the following brief explanation will clear up the matter of Superlative and Yorkshire Court Minor.

In the case of Superlative (in notation -34-14-1256-46-34-5) the rows with the treble in third's place are of the same nature (even). Now if we ring the 30 leads which make up the extent we shall have rung 120 even rows with the treble in third's. An extent of Minor consists of 120 rows with the treble in each position (1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6ths), half of which are even in nature and half odd. Therefore if our extent of Superlative contains 120 even rows with the treble in third's place then each one appears twice and we cannot get the rows which are odd in nature. A similar state of affairs occurs in the case of the rows with the treble in fourth's which are all odd in nature. (N.B.—Older readers, for even read 'in course' and for odd read 'out of course.')

Reverse Cambridge will produce the extent.

Yorkshire Court is an asymmetrical method (in notation: -14-46-16-16-16-12), i.e., the places in the second half-lead are different from those in the first half, and as such has four false lead heads against the first lead; 53624, 65432, 65324, 54632. Each lead head of the extent must be transposed by these four, and if the transposition appears amongst the lead heads then there is repetition. 53624 can be ignored as it comes naturally as the lead end and is therefore ineligible for further use, but the other three effectively prevent the production of an extent. For those who are not clear what all this is about just write out a lead of Yorkshire Court from lead heads 65432, 65324 and 54632 and compare it with that produced from 23456.—Yours faithfully,

C. KENNETH LEWIS.

PEAL RINGING AND REFRESHMENTS

Dear Sir,—Referring to the Central Council's 'Handbook,' under the heading: (D) Peal Ringing, Section (1), Sub-Section (f) on page 19, which reads: 'That in the case of a peal rung to surpass previous peals of 6,720 changes and upwards, compliance with these further conditions is necessary.' A further condition is found on page 20 at Sub-Section (f) (v). which reads: 'That no ringer shall have any refreshment handed to him whilst taking part in the peal.'

Is this a paradox in face of the fact of what occurred at an event for a record length not very long ago?

Sub-Section (v) provides a very big loophole in its construction: No ringer shall have 'handed' to him. Handed to him was easily overcome by the erection of a shelf round the circle of the band and within easy reach. Food was placed on this shelf, and they were able to partake of it. It there was an object in forming this rule, it is obvious that it can easily be defeated.

Why such a rule? Is there better striking on an empty stomach or when there is a physical contentment and comfort? What is there in a long length if the striking is poor?

I would humbly suggest to the powers that be that either the Sub-Section be amended or deleted, the latter preferred.

COMPOSITIONS AND AUTHORSHIP

By E. A. BARNETT

THE recent correspondence concerning the authorship of a composition of Yorkshire Surprise Major has once again focused attention on a problem which the Exercise never has satisfactorily solved and probably never will—that of what constitutes an original composition. This was a subject to which writers like Jasper Snowdon and J. A. Trollope devoted much time, and it may perhaps be profitable to consider the matter again.

The problem naturally intensifies as time goes on, and more and more people become interested in composing peals. What usually happens is that someone either wants a composition in a hurry, or puts one together in the course of playing around with figures; later someone else rings it, and subsequently the composition finds a place on the back page of 'The Ringing World' as the work of 'X.' Or it may never become more public than the pages of an Association's report.

As Mr. C. W. Roberts said in this journal some time ago, it is the duty of every composer to endeavour to satisfy himself that he is not putting forward someone else's work under his own name, with which everyone will doubtless agree. But, in practice, what chance have most people got of making a satisfactory check? Few are in possession of, say, 'The Bell News' and 'The Ringing World' down the years, fewer still a large collection of reports: and even with these it requires a colossal amount of work to go through them all, or to form one's own personal index of peals. It is only, therefore, if someone like Mr. Roberts happens to recognise the composition (and personally I have great admiration for his efforts in this direction) that there is any hope of justice being done if, in fact, it is not a new one, for more often than not the original composer is dead.

The problem is further complicated by the fact that opinions sometimes differ on what is an original composition and what is a variation. As far back as 1885, J. W. Snowdon wrote to the Editor of 'The Bell News.'

> 'I can well understand that with your duties you cannot thoroughly investigate everything that is sent to you . . . . and for this reason I would ask [your correspondents] seriously to consider, before sending such contributions, whether the compositions are of genuine interest,' and went on to chide those who 'when they get a peal hasten to forward it to you without much regard for its properties, its originality or its truth.'

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S CONCLUSIONS

Later, in 1898, the Central Council adopted a 'Report on Variation and Authorship,' which was reaffirmed in 1955, and so appears in the Council's Handbook, and which contains probably as good a definition of 'originality' as can be set down on paper:—

> 'The following propositions are, therefore, limited to a general statement of the features distinguishing "originality," which are made more or less applicable to all methods:—
>
> (1) The earliest ascertainable true composition on any definite plan in any method, which is not a reproduction or obvious variation of the same composition in another method, is entitled to be called the "original" composition on that plan.
>
> (2) Subsequent compositions on the same plan which are not demonstrably reversals or transpositions (as hereinafter described) or obvious variations of a previous composition in the same method, may be considered as "distinct" compositions on the plan and allowed the claim of "originality."'

Perhaps it would be as well to consider some examples of what, in my view, are 'obvious variations.' In giving these I would like to make it clear that I am making no reflection on any of the composers named, some of whom I know, or knew, well. They may consider that I am quite wrong. But when I look at some of the compositions which make their appearance in print, I sometimes wonder why the majority of my own have been hidden in a notebook because of doubts whether they really are mine. This is, perhaps, due to the influence of A. G. Driver, to whom the Exercise generally and Spliced Minor ringers in particular owe so much, for nothing but the best was good enough for him. ('Have you been overworking and got overtired, or been racing against time, trying to do more than is possible? You must curb your youthful exuberance, or let it off at cricket, and come to ringing matters in a calmer spirit.'—A letter to me in July, 1932.)

EXAMPLES

Here, then, are some examples, chosen for no better reason than that they are ones which have come to my notice from time to time. The first is the well-known 6,048 of Superlative, etc., given on page 39 of 'Surprise Methods' as by John Cox, though the Middlesex County Association's report for 1914 ascribes its reduced version (5,152) to Ernest Pye, under whose name it has, on quite a number of occasions, been rung!

23456	M	W	H
52436		—	(3)
34625	(—)	—	(3)
23645		—	(3)

Twice repeated, omitting any two blocks of 3H.

The 6,048 was rung at Benington in 1855, but would it be doing an injustice to a celebrated ringer to say that it can hardly be called his composition? It is, after all, a three-course touch produced by calling three consecutive bobs at Wrong, with blocks of three Homes added to make it nine courses, and a shunting bob at Middle to turn it into a 27-course peal: the sort of thing that whoever first tried his hand at composition might well have done by accident.

Whether or not Cox has any claim to the foregoing peal, F. H. Dexter has absolutely none to the following 5,056, which is sometimes rung under his name (it was so published in the Kent County Association's report for 1949). All that he has done is to substitute for in a transposed and reduced version of the 27 courses. The two are given side by side for comparison:—

54632		—	—
64235		—
43652	x			3

The last 18 courses as in the 5,152.

Here is another example from 'Surprise Methods,' page 40. I have said several times in these columns that almost every 5,056 of Superlative, etc., with one bob 'before' is just the following three-course touch extended as necessary:—

23456	B	M	W
43652		—
35426	x

As Mr. Harold Chant pointed out a year or so ago, peals can be (and have been) put together ad nauseum from this one touch. The results have appeared under the names of at least 50 different different composers, yet if, as 'Surprise Methods' says, John Thorp, of Ashton-under-Lyne, was the first to obtain a peal of Superlative with the 6th its extent home, scores of peals attributed to Knights, Pitstow, Dains, Lindoff and Hattersley, to name a few deceased composers, and to quite a lot of living ones, are only simple variations of this one peal. The composition made what was probably its first public appearance on page 815 of Sottenstall's book, which was published in 1868. Quite a few peals Mr. P. A. Corby has called have been published as 'composed by J. Thorp,' I am glad to say, though others have claimed the figures as theirs. In fact, right next to Thorp's peal in 'Surprise Methods' is a simple variation said to be by N. J. Pitstow, and the fact that two extremely capable composers like Pitstow and the author of the book, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, should consider it appropriate to regard the compositions as separate ones, shows how rigid people's minds were, and, in some ways, still are.

The peal is based on the 21 courses having the 5th and 6th their extent at home at course-ends. Two courses need to be inserted to make a 5,056, and whereas Thorp added 3W with the second in 6ths, Pitstows were added with the 3rd in 6ths, while Sottanstall ('that archpirate,' as J. A. Trollope once called him) had previously added them with the 4th in 6ths and claimed it for himself (page 818 of his book). In the Middlesex County Association's report for 1928, the peal appears under Mr. G. H. Cross's name, again with the 3W inserted with the 4ths in 6ths! Mr. Cross, however, inverted the calling of the last 12 courses, as shown, but in my view the peal is Thorp's, however it may be varied.

ONLY HOPE OF ORIGINALITY

The only hope of originality in methods like Superlative or Yorkshire must surely lay in peals with reversed course-ends. But even this has its pitfalls. F. H. Dexter published the following in 'The Ringing World' of February 24th, 1933, as his own composition of Superlative.

This has five pairs of bells reversed in 5-6, but it was pointed out in a subsequent issue that the same composition had been rung in 1850 at Bethnal Green, composed and conducted by Henry W. Haley—only the fourth peal rung in the method! (See also 'The Bell News,' November 16th, 1912.)

Let us take another example, this time of Surprise Royal. This composition has appeared in several different Association reports in recent years as the composition of Mr. C. J. Sedgley (used, of course, for methods other than Cambridge). When Mr. Sedgley first wrote this down I do not know, but the same figures appear in the Middlesex County Association's report for 1931 as the composition of Mr. C. W. Roberts, of all people. I say 'of all people' because Mr. Roberts is normally most meticulous in such matters. For what, after all, is the composition but a ten-course touch with the 6th at home, often rung to Maximus methods, with four courses added to make the number up? In the 1904 Collection of Plain Bob compositions these ten courses were ascribed to John Reeves (one half of a 5,016 Bob Maximus). That, no doubt, is as good a guess as any, and surely both Mr. Roberts and Mr. Sedgley, if they read these lines, would agree that, if any name at all is to be attached to the composition, that of Reeves is the most suitable. It is, incidentally, difficult to understand why anyone nowadays should want to claim the 14 courses of a peal of Royal, unless there are false course-ends to contend with, as in Cambridge—though even in this method many of the compositions are almost entirely taken from Middleton's peal of Major

63254	—		3
24536	—	—	2
32546		—	3

One could go on in this strain. For instance, I have before me some compositions which Mr. Sedgley sent to a well-known conductor in my district a short while ago, and one of them—his 'No. 31' of Superlative, New Cambridge, etc.— is one of C. H. Hattersley's best-known compositions, which was first published in May, 1888; while 'No. 3' of Bristol is a three-part peal of Treble Bob by Arthur Knights, which appeared in the Kent County Association's report for 1896. 'No. 45' of Superlative also appeared about the same year as the production of Henry Dains.

The situation is clearly chaotic, and there seems to be no remedy apart from one which could be used by composers themselves—that before they circulate the figures of a peal they should ask themselves this question: Is it likely that a composition such as the one I have produced is an original one, bearing in mind that others have for years probably been working on similar lines? If the answer is 'No,' surely they should in all honesty regard their efforts as merely a stepping-stone to something really new and worthwhile—and keep the figures to themselves. For instance, during the past 12 months four different people have published in 'The Ringing World' three-part peals of Bristol. A composition of this nature requires either five or six courses to a part, according to the distribution of bobs, and three of the peals, I think, had only 4-5-6 in 6ths at course ends, which means that the part-ends were either 23564 or 23645. Consequently there are only 15 different ways of beginning such a peal (counting 1H and 2H, but regarding, e.g., 2M, 2W and 'Before' as the same). What scope for originality can there be for peals of this nature? With great respect to the gentlemen concerned, surely the answer is 'none.'

However, no doubt most of us have skeletons in the cupboard in this respect, and someone may well come up with a similar comment on compositions which have gone out under my name. This much can be said, though: I have made every effort to avoid what 'The Bell News' often referred to as 'using the property of others.'

OBITUARY

MR. F. J. BAILEY

Captain of Whitchurch, Glam, bells since they were installed in 1909, Mr. Frank Joseph ('Joe') Bailey died at his residence, 46, Merthyr Road, Whitchurch, on December 27th, aged 85 years. He came to South Wales from Newton St. Loe in the early '90's and was employed by the Taff Vale Railway and later by the G.W.R.

Failing eyesight had prevented him from travelling to neighbouring towers in recent years. Quiet and unassuming in character, he was very popular with all who came in contact with him.

The funeral took place on December 30th. Messrs. F. J. Hannington and R. Coles represented the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, and Mr. Hoffman the Whitchurch ringers.

F. J. H.

MR. JOHN ARMOUR HAYDN

With the death of Mr. John Armour Haydn in the early hours of Christmas Day, the Irish Association has lost one of its most interested ringers.

Mr. Haydn was attached to St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick. He was one of Limerick's most esteemed citizens, and of the Cathedral a devoted benefactor. Apart from his accomplishments as a bellringer he did much for the Cathedral bells, was president of the bellringers' Association and published a full history of the Cathedral bells. He also was an artist, and his paintings of the interior of St. Mary's Cathedral and St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, were exhibited in the Royal Hibernian Academy. He was also a talented musician, being a 'cello player and an organist of no mean ability.

The son of the late Ven. J. A. Haydn, Archdeacon of Limerick, he spent his younger days in Dublin, where he rang at St. Patrick's Cathedral, and on returning to Limerick rang at St. Mary's Cathedral, subsequently becoming president of the Ringers' Guild, and, as such, was an inspiration to the Limerick ringers. He regularly took his place at the ropes and did so a few weeks, although advanced in years, before his death. One of his ambitions was to see the local band ring a peal, which was realised when the local team scored their first peal unassisted in their own tower on March 16th, 1956.

Mr. Haydn was for many years a member of the Irish Association and was honoured in 1951 by being elected a life member. In 1953 he was chairman of the Southern District.

The Cathedral bells were rung half-muffled for all services on Christmas Day, and as the remains were received into the church the same day. The funeral took place in the adjoining churchyard on December 27th, and during the committal the Cathedral bells were rung fully muffled as a last tribute to a much-loved bellringer and Cathedral friend.

F. G. B.

MR. JAMES W. WHITE

With regret we received the news of the passing of Mr. James W. ('Bill') White on December 12th, at the age of 71 years.

'Bill' was a keen member of the Aldrington band and a regular Sunday service ringer at the same church for 42 years. He took part in several peals and was the last surviving member of the band which rang the first peal of London Surprise Minor in Sussex.

The bells were rung half-muffled by ringers from Brighton and Aldrington for the funeral service. The local band rang a half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on the Sunday as a last token of respect. May he rest in peace.

S. W. B., H. W. B.

MR. HARRY THORPE

It is with regret that we record the death of Mr. Harry Thorpe, of Grantham, Lincs, who died after a brief illness at his home on December 30th, at the age of 66 years.

Mr. Thorpe had been a regular Sunday service ringer at St. Wulfram's Parish Church, Grantham, for upwards of 50 years, but had to relinquish his Sunday service ringing about three years ago owing to ill-health, which prevented him from climbing the 80-odd steps to the ringing chamber.

He had taken part in about 110 peals, a few of which he conducted. He was one of the band who at one time were the expert peal ringers of the county.

The funeral service, attended by a number of ringing and other friends, took place at the Parish Church on January 4th, followed by cremation at Nottingham.

In the evening a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters, with the bells half-muffled, was rung by his fellow ringers to his memory. H. R. W.

Resignation of the Vicar of Bray

The Vicar of Bray (Rev. E. S. C. Lowman) has left Bray, Berks, to live in Portsmouth, and took up his new position as cathedral chaplain on January 1st. During his 16 years at Bray he learnt to ring, and rang Bray tenor (27 cwt.) to a peal on V.E. Day. He had been chairman of East Berks and South Bucks Branch for 15 years.

Members of the Branch rang a quarter peal of Stedman Triples on December 28th as a farewell and were entertained to dinner afterwards at the Hind's Head Hotel, Bray. During the evening Mr. Lowman was presented with an inscribed silver tankard by the local ringers, who rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on Sunday after Evensong. J. N.

MISCELLANEOUS

CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS.—Affiliation fees.—Association secretaries are reminded that affiliation fees (ten shillings per representative) are now due.—E. A. Barnett, Hon. Sec. and Treas.

THE CHEQUES ACT, 1957.—The coming into force in October last of the Cheques Act, 1957, means that a cheque which appears to have been paid by the banker on whom it has been drawn is evidence of the receipt by the payee of the sum payable by the cheque.

This, as will be realised, has a far-reaching effect upon business procedure, and renders unnecessary the issuing of receipts for payments made by cheque. To save labour and postage, therefore, receipts will not be sent for payments by cheque to 'The Ringing World' unless they are specifically requested.

RINGER disposing of large selection of books on bells and ringing. Rare volumes as first edition of Shipway, etc., also accounts of bells in various counties, etc. For list write Box 1677, 'The Ringing World' Office, Onslow Street, Guildford.

INDEX FOR 1957 of 'The Ringing World,' in loose sheets suitable for binding, can be obtained from this office on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

PEAL CARDS & QUARTER PEAL CARDS can now be ordered at 5s. a set of 12, post free (minimum charge). Order and remittances must be sent with peal report. For quarter peals write separate copy in same style as peals.

GRANDSIRE CATERS

Its Notation and Calling

BY EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

It will be recollected that in dealing with Tittum callings we laid stress on the value of the 7th as a guide and observation, and it was found that the same assurance was offered in the Handstroke Home. In the Inverted Tittums the 7th will not offer us this help, for its place is now taken by the 9th. The general principle, nevertheless, remains, namely, the call at 4 cannot be made until the three heavy bells, 7, 8 and 9, have all made thirds.

Before leaving the Inverted Tittums two observations would seem to be worth making. The first is that whereas in the Tittums the termination 7689 (probably the finest music of all) is produced with the 6th in fifths place, in the Inverted Tittums this effect (at handstroke, of course) can only be secured if the 6th is in sixths place. The reason for this can speedily be determined by a little paper study of relative coursing order and the ringing of one or two touches in both positions. The second point to be noted is that the two opening courses given above have merely reversed 8 and 9, which makes it manifest that the same callings will restore the position 789. This fact is of some importance in the composing of short touches.

In a previous section of this essay we have remarked that in addition to the normal Tittum and Handstroke Home course ends of Grandsire Caters, the forms of which are reasonably familiar to most ringers, there are other formations of the back bells that will produce musical effects and which are well worth the composer's attention. The best of these are taken from what may perhaps be conveniently called the four-bell combinations, that is positions constructed by the transposition of 6789. Among these, of course, we shall find 7689 and 7698, which are what John Carter used to call the 'natural course ends' of Grandsire Caters. Among the other transpositions it is not unusual to find 7968, 7896, 9786 and 9876. The student will find it interesting and instructive to write out the whole of the twenty-four positions and to try to decide which are the most musical: he will probably be surprised at the musical potentiality of these figures.

In the consideration of the callings of these blocks one thing will speedily be apparent. In order to retain the four bells in their position the choice of callings is limited (using Table H as our guide) to those that leave the sixths-place bell unaffected. This gives us only eight callings, but it will be found that these provide ample scope for all ordinary purposes. The notation of the callings of these courses must, it will be remarked, be adjusted according to the position of the bells at the course end, just as we adjusted the Tittum notation to the Handstroke Home; and to the earnest student this cannot need detailed explanation. The following may provide sufficient guidance. The calling 1.2.3 is 9-3 in the 7968 position, and 8-3 in the 7896 position. Similarly the calling 2.3.4 is 8-3 in 7968 blocks, and 6-3 in 7896 courses. These callings, together with 1s and 2.3.4s, will present no great difficulty, but 1s.5 and 1s.5s will need careful watching and should therefore be studied on paper according to the musical position in which they are to be used.

It will be recognised, of course, that attractive as some of these musical positions may be, it is not possible to take advantage of them unless some callings can be found that will move the heavy bells into these places. This must be the next line of inquiry. Some of these places can be reached quite simply from rounds, but others cannot be arrived at direct by any simple calling, although most of them can be derived fairly easily from each other. Table K has been prepared in order to demonstrate what can be effected from rounds by simple opening courses. An examination of this list will show that the Tittum 6978 can be obtained but not the Tittum 7689, and that no Handstroke Home placing can be secured direct from rounds. 7968, however, is produced by two simple callings. Another notable absentee from this list is 7896, a very interesting and useful placing of the back bells. Nevertheless if we cannot get this direct from rounds we can secure it quite easily from 7698 or 7968, for it is clear that if 1.4 turns 6789 to 6978 so it will turn 7968 to 7896, and if 1.3.4 turns 6789 to 6987 so it will convert 7698 to 7896.

6978	1.4
6978	2s.4
6798	2.4
6798	1.2s.3
6987	1.3.4
6987	2s.3s.4
7968	1.5
7968	2s.5
9768	2.5
8967	1.3s.4
8769	2.3s.4
8769	1.2.4

The importance of Table K, it should be noted, lies not only in its indication of certain convenient opening courses, but also in its value as a general transposition table by means of which we may juggle, as it were, with 6789. The student will find it an exercise of great interest and educational value to take Table K and, starting from rounds, to transpose 6789 through a number of these positions and to return to rounds either at handstroke or at backstroke. A simple specimen of such an exercise suggests itself as follows. From rounds 1.4 gives 6978. From here 1.2.4 gives 7968. Proceeding with 1.4 we arrive at 7896, and finally 1.3.4 brings up 7698. The latter is, of course, the Handstroke Home position, and in this formation the bells may be brought into rounds by standard callings.

Upon skeleton plans like this many new compositions may yet be produced and some very entertaining results secured. In peal collections of past and present there will be found compositions in which 7689 alternates with 7698, where 6978 alternates with 7968, and where 7896 and 7698 are exploited, and more elaborate works where the bells have successive blocks in 7689, 7968, 7896, 7698, and sometimes other positions. The basis of these manifold manipulations of the four back bells can be traced in Table K, and it will be found that there is still ample scope for constructional enterprise in this fascinating field.

To illustrate the points made above, and to conclude this essay, the quarter peal given here

'Grandsire' (the Jasper Snowdon Series). This book contains chapters dealing extensively with the anatomy of Grandsire Caters, and the interested student is strongly advised to pursue his investigations in this profitable field. Many ten-bell bands, whatever their ambitions in the more difficult realms of ringing, are fond of Grandsire Caters, a method so charming for Sunday service ringing, and it is earnestly hoped that this excursus will assist to shed new light in old haunts, and possibly reveal new treasures.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Christ Church, Swindon, on December 14th, and former members of the Branch were welcomed from Moreton-in-Marsh and Pinner and other visitors from Aldbourne and Humberstone.

The Vicar (Canon F. W. Thomas) conducted the service in his usual thought-provoking manner and those present were entertained to tea in the Church Hall by the Christ Church ringers.

Dr. H. Craig presided at the business meeting and the secretary reported a fairly successful year, with membership being maintained, despite the loss of Malmesbury to the Chippenham Branch, and an average attendance of 36 at the eleven meetings held during the year.

Although sundry warnings have appeared in divers publications from time to time concerning the re-election of officers year by year, the warnings were disregarded by the members, and all the retiring officers were re-elected.

Subject to permission being obtained, it was proposed that the next three meetings be held at St. Mark's, Swindon, Rodbourne Cheney and Stratton-St.-Margaret. The chairman expressed the good wishes of the members to Mr. W. H. Trueman on being elected Master of the Association, and to Mr. F. G. Wilton on becoming peal secretary.

Ringing was resumed after the meeting and ranged from rounds to Oxford and Cambridge Royal. W. B. K.

NEWARK PARISH CHURCH SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Newark Parish Church Society of Ringers was held in the belfry on December 20th, the president, the Rev. J. H. D. Grinter, taking the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, as were the Master's, secretary's and treasurer's reports. One new member and one probationer were elected, namely, M. Brewin and T. Wylde.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:—Master, Mr. J. W. Raithby; Deputy Master, Mr. W. L. Exton; hon. treasurer, Mr. H. Stevenson; hon. secretary, Mr. F. W. Midwinter; two committee members, Mr. D. N. Sellars and Mr. A. E. Chilton.

After a lengthy discussion it was decided to hold the annual outing on June 21st, 1958, the final venue to be decided later.

The date of the annual Gopher Dinner was fixed as November 14th, 1958, the entertainment arrangements being left in the hands of the Deputy Master. The Master then proposed a vote of thanks to the president and congratulated him on being appointed a canon of Southwell Cathedral. The Vicar, in reply, thanked the ringers for their kind wishes and for all the ringing during the past year.

A PEAL BOARD RETRIEVED

Mr. James Clarke, steeplekeeper at Stradbroke, Suffolk, has recovered a peal board from a blacksmith's shop in the nearby village of Wingfield. He has touched it up and intends to fix it in the ringing chamber at Stradbroke Church.

It reads:—

'On January 10th, 1882, a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major was rang in this tower, containing 6,048 changes in 4 hours and ten minutes.

The Band were stationed as follows:—R. Huggins Treble, W. Motts 2nd, J. Motts 3rd, J. Pulham 4th, R. Ruth, senr. 5th, W. Riches 6th, R. Ruth, junr. 7th, W. Gobbett Tenor, and conducted.' C. R.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2443 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

CONCISE DICTIONARY OF CAMPANOLOGY

THE compiler feels that the following short list of words and phrases used by pursuers of the Exercise may fill a few long-felt wants.

After Bell.—The bell that strikes simultaneously with you when neither of you have learnt your front work in Stedman properly. (See Course Bell.)

Band.—A collection of people with determined expressions. Those readers who have come expecting brass instruments, not handbells, are in the wrong pub.

Bell.—If you don't know this one already, don't bother to go on reading.

Composer.—Natural enemy of the Conductor.

Course Bell.—The bell which is going wrong in 5-6 up, when you are hopelessly lost in 3-4.

Down.—A course of procedure that rapidly causes a bell to become unmanageable.

Erin.—Don't have anything to do with this method. If anyone asks you to loc[illegible] it up, say with quiet dignity that you prefer Stedman.

Foreman.—Nominally in charge of the belfry. Actually the scapegoat for every sin committed by local ringers, from practising after 9 o'clock to ringing the Vicar's doorbell and running away.

Grandsire.—A method generally regarded as easy for beginners and difficult for advanced ringers. Also known as 'The Conductor's Downfall.'

Home.—(a) A hotel for other ringers. (b) The lead where all the sorting out is done.

In.—See Out. When spelt with two 'n's this denotes a place of refreshment.

Lady Ringer.—(See earlier articles for information on this much-debated subject: The Lady Ringer—does she really exist?)

Lead.—If you don't know what this is, you are probably still ringing call-changes.

Lie.—The Conductor's excuse that two bells must have swapped, when he has called a Wrong by mistake for a Home.

Look To (Treble's going).—A warning phrase, denoting that the treble ringer has lost patience with those who are still discussing what method they shall ring. Stand To is a variant, indicating that it's about time Jim stopped fiddling about with the double tuck in his rope and put both hands to the sally. (See Sally.)

Out.—Opposite of In.

Peal.—Ringing that goes on far too long for comfort.

Queen's.—Don't bother about this one. No complete band ever hears the command 'Catch them in Queen's,' anyway.

Sally.—(a) A fluffy thing with stripes. (b) The tower captain's daughter, often little more than a disembodied voice calling outside the local: 'Dad, Mum says come home, the boiler's bust again.'

Slider.—The thing that gets broken when the stay doesn't.

Stedman.—A method of ethereal beauty, sent upon earth as a consolation for the shortcomings of Grandsire.

Tenor Man.—Nature's noblest creation.

Treble.—The bell with the shrillest voice. Also the chief choirboy, who has been persuaded by the Vicar to take up ringing and doesn't look as if he is liking it much.

Wrong.—This speaks for itself.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal at Stradbroke on January 4th was specially arranged so that Mrs. C. E. Archer could hear for the first time the bell she gave to the church over five years ago. For Mrs. Archer is 'The Bor Daivud's' sister, and arrived in this country with her husband in November from Perth, Western Australia. Owing to illness, Mrs. Archer had unfortunately been unable before to make the first visit to her native village since 1911. The ringers, equally divided between Norfolk and Suffolk, were heartily congratulated on the peal, and then went on to Fressingfield, where at Willow House they were bountifully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Etheridge.

Ringing is suspended at Chester-le-Street for the time being. A gale shifted the top of the recently-repaired steeple.

The Rev. John Scott has been appointed to a living near Holsworthy. It embraces the parishes of Clawton, Tetcott and Luffincott. He will be moving from Newton Abbot in March.

The hon. secretary and treasurer of the West Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild is now Mr. J. T. Barrett, of 120, Gerrards Green, Beaminster.

Swynnerton, Staffs, bells, which have been to the Loughborough foundry for reconditioning, are now ringing again.

The quarter peal rung at Burgate, Suffolk, on January 4th was illuminated by candlelight and was a novel experience by all the band. It was the first quarter peal on the bells for about 30 years and the ropes passed through about three feet of twigs.

From Swindon we hear that a former member sent to the staff a box of mince pies as a New Year gift, with the following instructions:

If Uncle Bert was belfry bound
And giving bells the clout
Around the midnight hour—then Jack
Exclude the —— out.

The photograph advertising a certain brand of margarine was taken at St. Mary's Parish Church, Hendon, where ringing is from the ground floor immediately inside the west door. The ringers photographed are members of the local band, writes Mr. T. J. Lock.

The quarter peal at Rye was rung to mark the rehanging of the bells on ball bearings after a peal attempt had failed.

The band which was privileged to ring a peal at Ebbw Vale on January 4th would like to thank the Ebbw Vale ringers for the kind hospitality extended to them after the attempt.

Mr. W. H. Clarke, veteran ringer of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, has undergone an operation in the Leicester Royal Infirmary. His many friends will wish him a very speedy recovery to health and strength.

The ring of eight at Milborne Port, Somerset (tenor 28 cwt.) will be heard on the West Home Service on Sunday, February 2nd, at 9.45 a.m. The captain of the ringers is Mr. A. W. Barter.

Mr. Roger Leigh, of Hindley, Wigan, has produced an attractive booklet as a hand-out to possible recruits. The text, written by the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, is one that will fire the imagination of youth. There is space at the back for local details.

There will be no ringing at St. Peter's, Twineham, Sussex, for some time, owing to the tower being badly cracked. Mr. E. H. Wickens, captain and churchwarden, writes: 'We are already having the Horsham stone roof seen to and this is costing £1,000, which we are struggling to raise.' He thanks all ringers who sent in donations in response to his letter for the roof.

LEADING PEAL RINGERS OF 1957

Mr. J. R. Acres Scores a Century

MR. JOHN R. ACRES, of Leicester, heads our list of peal ringers for 1957 with a total of 100 peals. This brings his grand total of peals to 436, of which 371 have been rung in the last 4½ years since he moved to Leicester from Newmarket, Suffolk.

Second on the list is Mr. Derek P. Jones with 91 peals, produced by a fine Christmas spurt of 12 peals, mainly in Hertfordshire.

Mr. Ernest J. Jelley, of St. Thomas', South Wigston, Leicestershire, claims third place with 81, closely followed by Mr. Ernest Morris, who has more peals to his credit than any other ringer, with 79.

The leading lady ringer is Mrs. Phyllis Poole, of Leicester, who rang in 75 peals, followed by Miss Joan M. Wilcockson with 45.

The honour of being the most successful conductor of the year goes to the Leicester Guild secretary, Mr. Brian G. Warwick, he conducting 66 out of his 73 peals Mr. John R. Mayne, of Harrow, conducted 60 and had the highest number for tower-bell peals.

Youngest ringer in our list is Frank Osbaldiston, aged 13, with 32 peals; but 14-year-old Bernard Groves had the big total of 54.

THREE PEALS IN 60 YEARS

The bells of St. Michael's, Teignmouth, in South Devon, well known to many summer holidaymakers, were installed for Queen Victoria's jubilee in 1897, but the third peal on them has only just been rung.

The first peal—Superlative Surprise—was rung on September 4th, 1912, during a tour by the Cambridge University Guild. It was conducted by the Rev. H. Law James, and in addition to the present tower captain the only other survivor is the former president of the Central Council, Mr. Edwin H. Lewis. Both the other peal towers of this tour, viz.: Charles Church, Plymouth, and St. Sidwell's, Exeter, were blitzed during the war.

The second peal—Yorkshire Surprise, on August 20th, 1934—was one of ten rung during a week's holiday tour in Devon. It was conducted by Frank Bennett, and the party included such names as George and Alfred Pye, Gabriel Lindoff, G. R. Newton, Harry Wingrove and William Henley.

Now that change-ringing is practised in the tower, it was thought that the Vicar's jubilee of 25 years as a priest was a fitting occasion for another attempt to be made.

Six officers of the Devon Guild met the Vicar's wife and son, who have learned to ring here, and a peal of Bob Major was rung on January 4th. After the peal the band were very kindly entertained to tea at the Vicarage by the Vicar and Mrs. Hood.

Previously on December 22nd, the actual day of the anniversary, the bells were rung before the 8 a.m. service, at which a chalice and paten, presented to the Vicar by the congregation, were used for the first time.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The prospect of ringing at a tower rarely seen in the Society's fixture list did not seem to provide as big a 'draw' as anticipated, and the attendance at All Saints', Sheffield, for the January meeting was below average. However, ringing to suit most tastes took place on this pleasant ring of eight, which unfortunately had to be rung muffled due to the proximity of the dense local population.

In the evening, headquarters were transferred down town to the cathedral, where further ringing, including rounds on 12, Cambridge Royal and Little Bob Maximus, was enjoyed.

RESTORATION

Exhall, Coventry

There are two parishes in Warwickshire named Exhall. Both have a church dedicated to St. Giles. Exhall, near Alcester, has only one bell hung in an open turret, but the history of the bells of the scattered parish adjoining Coventry might be worth recording.

The tower originally contained three bells, cast by Joseph Smith, of Edgbaston, in 1706. These were recast by Messrs. Barwells in 1900 and hung in a frame for six with wood beams top and bottom, joined together by cast steel cross-sections.

In 1920 two trebles and a tenor were added as a memorial to the men of the parish who fell in the first world war. Owing to the awkward conditions of handling—21 feet of rope without guides—very little regular ringing was done on them until 1951, when a set of rope guides was installed and a band of service ringers recruited from members of the choir and congregation. The bearings of the three old bells have since given trouble and it was only the regular attention by the captain and tower keeper, David Harrison, that kept them going over the years.

In October, 1957, the six bells were removed from the frame and the fittings taken to Whitechapel Foundry for restoration and adaptation for roller bearings. While the bells were out the local ringers painted the frame and also bricked up the louvres to the turn of the window arches, to reduce the noise in the immediate vicinity and throw the sound further into the distance.

On Thursday, December 19th, the bells were tried out after rehanging by the local ringers, together with a few invited friends from the neighbouring tower of Keresley, who expressed their admiration for both the excellent 'go' of the bells and the effect outside achieved by bricking-up the louvre windows.

The bells were rededicated at Evensong on December 22nd by the Vicar (Rev. Leonard Bruce) in time for Christmas ringing. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are to be congratulated on a first-class rehanging job. W. A. S.

4 A.M. START FOR RECORD LENGTH ATTEMPT

Dear Sir,—By kind permission of Mr. Paul Taylor an attempt will be made to ring 40,320 Plain Bob Major at the Bell Foundry Campanile, Loughborough, on Saturday, February 8th, 1958. The attempt is planned to begin at 4 a.m., and the composition is as follows:—

40,320 PLAIN BOB MAJOR

23456	W	V	M	H
42635	—	3	—
65234		3	S	—
26534		3		—
52634		3		—
62435		3	—
36425	—	3
45362	—	3	S	—
34562		3		—
53462		3		—
42365		3	S	—

Eleven times repeated, calling bob for first single M in all other parts except the seventh, and calling single for bob at every third part-end. Arranged by Dennis Knox.—Yours truly,

PHILIP MEHEW.

HORSMONDEN, KENT.—On Dec. 29th, 1,280 Cambridge Surprise Major: W. H. Fuller 1, G. Waghorn (first in method) 2, A. W. Durham 3, E. Bromley 4, F. Bromley 5, R. E. Lambert 6, A. Bromley 7, R. T. Lambert (cond.) 8. For morning service.

A CHRISTMAS PEAL TOUR IN HERTFORDSHIRE

IT was not quite like the ordinary peal tours. In the first place it was in the dead of winter. Then again, it was a kind of non-resident affair, people joining for odd days here and there, the organiser himself combining Christmas at home with a little bit of ringing (only 12 peals in just over a week, for a start). Moreover it was exceptional in that all eleven attempts were successful.

The visitors came from far afield—a young lady from Rye, another from Duffield, a little lad from Derby, a well-known tenor man from Dorking and a friend from Kent and, not least, several from Miss Stella Hughes' cycle tour reunion the same week-end at nearby Whitwell Youth Hostel. Local ringers from Hitchin, Baldock, Stotfold, Barkway, Benington, Clifton and Hertford completed the party. Three of these on Boxing Day nearly rendered themselves incapable of completing the week by scoring Cambridge Royal at Cambridge and ringing the three heaviest bells.

The needle-spiked tower at Braughing, with a nice old Miles Graye octave, famous in earlier days, was first. A well-struck peal of Double Norwich was rung, the notoriously odd-struck seventh not proving as difficult as anticipated. One moment of the customary A. P. C. hilarity, however, nearly jeopardised his chance of scoring Sir A. P. Heywood's well-tried composition for the 50th time. It transpired it was 71 years since the last peal of Double Norwich was rung on the bells.

On the way to Hertford our transport gave up the ghost. Moreover the towers were exchanged at the last minute owing to a funeral, but despite the difficulties, the first peal of Cambridge Major on the bells in St. Andrew's Church was well and truly rung.

Some reached the imposing sandstone tower of All Saints', Hertford, next morning in the luxury of a beautiful ivory Consul car, and the sonorous Mears ten were soon tapping along to the music of Bob Royal in the tittums, the best peal of the tour being scored.

Three bus journeys made us a little late at Baldock. These heavy bells, with Hertfordshire's largest tenor (dated 1711) sound grand outside but are very exacting to the ringer within. Everybody tried hard, however, and the first peal of Yorkshire in the tower was scored with a good beat, and again pleasure was given to several critical listeners. Farewells were said to Pat and Ian and the fresher ones hastened to join Stella's reunion social at Whitwell.

The visitors assisted with the service ringing on the lovely old eight at Hitchin next morning before embarking by train and taxi into the wilds of the East Anglian heights to ring the pleasant Bryant eight at distant Barkway, where Mr. Charles Bysouth had everything in readiness. A fast peal of Bob Major was brought round in ample time for service.

Even more lonely Great Munden caused some trepidation next morning about transport and about the 'go' of the bells, which had not been pealed since December, 1934. The first fear was removed by bus and taxi, and Mr. Jack Welch, of Holmes Farm, Walkern, and his daughter, Frances, had done all they could to alleviate the latter fear. They are both very capable ringers and all thanks are due to them for not only standing in several peals to the detriment of the farm welfare, but in taking great trouble to make all the arrangements for the three days of the tour in their district. As a result the notorious Great Munden tenor went very well. Some of the small bells proved difficult, however, owing to frame movement, and it was with some relief that the first peal of Surprise on the bells (Cambridge) was completed at a very steady pace.

A three-mile walk to Puckeridge in the fresh breeze and bright winter sunshine (just like the peal excursions the veterans describe!) made us ready for a late lunch, then a taxi was hired to take us into Benington by a roundabout route, visiting the seldom-heard and very ancient ring of five (once a ring of eight) in the picture-book village of Westmill, where the fourth is one of Hertfordshire's oldest bells (14th century) and to the good-going, pleasant six at Little Munden, where Mr. Phillipps patiently waited in readiness in the tidy ringing chamber.

SQUIRE PROCTOR'S CHURCH

At Benington Mrs. Robinson was justifiably recommended as a source of tea, and she 'did us proud,' so that the peal on the famous little eight at St. Peter's, where Squire Leonard Proctor and his men rang the first true peal of Cambridge Major in 1873, was entered upon with zest. Jack Welch had rung the tenor here to the Bob Major record (over 18,000!) 25 years ago, so we could do no other than press him to ring it again. I am sure it goes far better now than then, thanks to Messrs. Mears' recent overhaul. Ilkeston Variation of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob was tapped out, and it proved a most musical peal, the two youngsters certainly earning their 'stars,' and Stella scoring her 100th.

Through a mistake, we met short at Datchworth the next morning, the last day of the year, but fortunately Philip and Jack were able to shelve work and so we postponed till the afternoon the first attempt for a quarter of a century on these bells cast by Chandler. Mr. Milton, though not enjoying the best of health, has managed to keep the old six at Watton ringable, though it is over a century since they saw the bellhanger, and they take quite a bit of ringing. Datchworth, in an unusual (for the county) shingled spire, are also hung in the old style, but are a pleasant six to ring, especially since rope guides were fitted recently. A good peal in seven methods was scored, the Rev. H. Tross, the Vicar, meeting us at the end to compliment the team. The six at Aston, rung on a flight of steps in a gallery, were visited for a short while, but the good tenor does not blend well with a very odd-struck front end, and ringing seemed to suffer as a result. The remnants joined the keen youngsters at Offley later that evening as the year drew to a close, and young Kenneth went so far as to ring for midnight at Hitchin.

The year 1958 began well, with two peals of Minor on nice bells in unusual methods. Ardeley was the morning tower, a very pretty six with a fine pre-Reformation tenor, another mediæval and an Elizabethan (John Dier) bell, set in a needle-spike flint tower in a picture-book thatched village in the chalky upland wilds.

The rain descended in torrents as the now much-diminished party proceeded to Walkern, but the Welch family turned out in force, transport, too, to make it possible to ring on the very light six at Walkern and the even lighter five at Rushden (six with the second missing).

Poor Kenneth's hands were by now in ribbons, as six peals in five days on old-style bells is a tall order for a lad of 13, and he seemed very disconsolate about his chances of making a good job of the evening attempt. But a little act of thoughtful kindness now seemed to give him new heart. The intricacies of Conway Delight were quickly mastered and a first-rate 'first in the method' was brought round, the flickering light casting strange shadows as the ropes danced. Kenneth, far from giving up, rang his 'inside bell like a veteran, and has done well to ring 19 peals in his first year of ringing.

There still remained one attempt, almost as an afterthought but by no means the least task—Morpeth Surprise Minor at Ashwell—a hard method on Hertfordshire's heaviest six. With distant visitors from Watford and Dunstable a good peal was scored, Philip making a good job of the tenor, and another elusive 'first in the method' achieved, a very satisfactory conclusion. There can be few tours, faced with such difficulties of organisation, to achieve 100 per cent. success in such a variety of towers and methods. D. P. J.

SOCIETY OF RAMBLING RINGERS

The third annual reunion of the Society took place on December 14th at Northampton. During the afternoon ringing took place at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, St. Edmund's, St. Peter's and St. Giles'. Ringing ranged from rounds to Yorkshire Royal, including a good touch of Spliced Surprise Major.

In the morning six members attempted a peal of Cambridge Minor, but unfortunately this came to grief in the early stages.

At 6.30 the party adjourned to the Grand Hotel for an excellent meal, after which the annual meeting was held. During the evening the entertainment was home-made, and included a rendering of 'Figaro' by a well-known member.

At the annual meeting Mr. P. I. Chapman was elected president, Mr. J. E. Cook Ringing Master, Mr. D. Mottershead deputy Ringing Master and Mr. A. E. Hartley secretary and treasurer. Miss A. Thackeray, of Bedford, was elected a member.

A long discussion took place as to why the report of the tour had not appeared in 'The Ringing World,' although this had been sent up. The secretary was left to deal with the matter and to write to 'The Ringing World' Committee if no satisfaction was forthcoming from the Editor.

Members and friends attended from Leeds, Birmingham, Burton Latimer, Branston, Bedford, Daventry, Grantham, Heywood (Lancs), Kettering, Leicester, Lichfield, Nottingham, Northampton, Retford, Todmorden, Swindon, Stoney Stanton and Wales.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A LINK IN ANGLO-AMERICAN FRIENDSHIP

Dear Sir,—Your readers may be interested to know about the dedication of the bells in Eriswell Church on April 17th at 7 p.m. It is over 200 years since any fresh bells were added to the belfry, and as the two new bells have been donated by members of the United States Air Force living in the parish, the service on April 17th may be quite an important link in Anglo-American friendship. The American Ambassador is sending his special assistant to represent him, and the Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich is coming to dedicate the bells.

At present we have three bells that have now been taken to the Loughborough Foundry—two for retuning and one for recasting. After April 17th we shall have a ring of five bells, and any visiting teams of ringers will be welcome to ring after the service.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM DONNAN.
Rector of Eriswell.

MUSIC OF CHANGE RINGING

Dear Sir,—As a ringer and chorister for well over 70 years, I am naturally interested in both and fascinated by the music of the changes produced in bellringing.

Your leading article by Mr. H. Chant on the different variations of dominant notes to end cadences is admirable.

Enclosed is a single chant I have arranged from the third change of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, starting without a bob, viz:—3, 2, 4, 1, 6, 5, 8, 7, 9, 10, this being the treble air to the chant. In the key of D major is D. E C sharp, F sharp: A, D F sharp, G E, D.—Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

6-5 AT BACKSTROKE

Dear Sir,—I read with great interest the article by Mr. H. Chant on 6-5's at backstroke and as a closed lead ringer I find it difficult to discover any objection.

During the many years I spent ringing the 5th with a fastidious tenor ringer beside me, I found it was a distinct advantage to give the tenor 'plenty of room' at both hand- and backstrokes, a point which is well known to all 5th ringers in successful contest teams.

When ringing the tenor at meetings I find it easy to identify an open lead ringer on the 5th as he tends to ring too close to the tenor. It therefore is feasible that a backstroke change being completed with the 5th too close to the tenor followed by a pause must be objectionable, but if the two bells concerned were separated by a proper interval some sense of music would be produced and, we trust, appreciated.

Many ringers are today anxious to complete their peal or touch in some fantastic time, an instance being quoted in the 'R.W.' of a peal at Merstham on December 11th with a tenor of 14 cwt. being rung in 2 hours and 33 minutes! At 33 changes per minute, allowing for 16 open leads per minute, it would appear that seven bells struck every two seconds!

At this speed, with a 14 cwt. tenor, the effect of a backstroke change ending with the 5th coming down on the tenor would be indescribable and suggests a reason why 6-5 backstrokes are shunned.

I apologise to Mr. Cannon for selecting his peal as an example, but it happened to be the first which caught my eye. However, it would be interesting to know what is the pendulic swing of the Merstham tenor and how far it rose above frame height during the peal.—Yours faithfully,

N. F. MOXON.

PEALS WITHOUT OUTSIDE NOISE

Dear Sir, — When our Vicar came to our village, over three years ago, it soon became obvious that, as ringers, we should no longer have all our own way!

He had never had a church before where there was more than one bell and to come and live within 30 yards of six of John Warner's rough'uns—well, it made him sit up, to say the least.

He allowed us to have a peal fairly early in his ministry here, not quite knowing what he was letting himself in for. After that, things became more difficult; he had complaints from two or three people who came to live near the church; one man threatened to shoot the ringers—I believe he would have done if there had been an 'R' in the month!

I tried various methods of quietening the bells. I fitted shutters to the bell openings, gunmetal tips to the clappers, boxwood clapper ends—but all to no avail. One man suggested cutting the ropes but I thought that was rather drastic!

I made friends with a local instrument maker and with his brains and my brawn we devised a system whereby when we ring the tower bells (with clapper stays on) this rings six handbells in the ringing chamber. There used to be a similar system at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, and I believe there still is one in use at St. Mary's, Ely, and I dare say lots of other towers, but they differ from ours inasmuch that one is mechanical and one is electrical. Ours will operate either from the mains or by batteries. We can now have as many peal attempts as we like without disturbing anyone except our loving wives when we creep into bed!—Yours sincerely,

HAROLD MUNCEY.

CALNE RINGERS' GUILD

Dear Sir,—No doubt in company with all former members of the R.A.F. who spent any time at Compton Bassett or Yatesbury, I was very interested to read W. A. H.'s account of the 30th anniversary of the foundation of the Calne Ringers' Guild. During 1945 I had the pleasure of calling several quarter peals there, and the displeasure of miscalling a peal of Grandsire Triples two days before my 'release,' which fortunately was put right six months later. I'm afraid that ringing at Calne and other towers in the district, such as the fine eight at Bishops Cannings, provided most of the scant enjoyment I was able to extract from my 12 months in that pleasant part of the country.

May I offer my best wishes for the future to Mr. Burry and all other friends in and around Calne.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

TWO PEALS QUESTIONED

Dear Sir,—I have been looking through recent 'R.W.'s' during the holiday, and must draw attention to two peals which, I feel, do not conform to the requirements for a peal.

Erin Doubles rung at Shepperton on November 23rd. The 360's of which this peal is made up do not conform to the second paragraph of the Council's decision of 1951, i.e., that a peal may consist of 'Round blocks consisting of two or more six-scores, provided that each of the six-scores which comprise the round block shall be itself a true and complete round block.'

This means that each of the six-scores in a 360 must contain all the 120 rows but need not start from nor end with rounds. Thus in a 360 you have three six-scores, each one complete in itself, joined together to make the block. (In the same way as in the Bankes-James arrangement for Cambridge Minor, in which each extent is complete in itself but does not end in rounds.)

In the 360's used in the peal (I am assuming they are those published in 1951) each row appears three times but each six-score does not contain the 120 rows.

Saturn Treble Bob Doubles rung at Ockham on November 30th. The method is false. The rows with the treble in third's place of the first lead of the plain course repeat with those of the third lead and similarly with the second and fourth leads.

I feel that there is a connection between the two peals due to a misunderstanding of what the Council's decision was. It may stem from the fact that in 1951 a leading article publicised as being the Council's decision a proposition that 'A peal of Doubles shall consist of either 42 extents of 120 changes rung without interval or any arrangement of changes in which each change occurs as many times at 120 is divisible into the total length, or any combination of these.' This proposition was rejected by the Council and the present decision (made originally in 1937) was adopted. Although the mistake was corrected immediately, I fear the correction has never really caught up with the original misstatement.—Yours faithfully,

C. KENNETH LEWIS.

ST. JOHN'S, HONG KONG

Dear Sir,—Re your inquiry about the bells of St. John's in Hong Kong, I have a son in Malaya doing his National Service, who spent a month's leave in Hong Kong last February. After reading the item in 'The Ringing World' I wrote and asked him if he could tell me anything about the bells, and this is his reply:—

'I do not know much about the bells except that they are a ring of eight. The ringers, numbering three or four, are very enthusiastic and they do hold a practice Monday evenings. They chime changes and hymn tunes from cards, and while I was there they invited me to join them in their chiming on Mondays and Sundays, which I did.'—Yours sincerely,

P. LEWINGTON (MRS.).

Guild of Devonshire Ringers

The East Devon Branch held their quarterly meeting at Awliscombe on January 11th. The service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hillier (of Awliscombe) and the bells were rung by members from Sidbury, Honiton, Luppitt, Cotleigh, Hemyock and Awliscombe before and after the service. Methods rung included Stedman and Grandsire. Tea, followed by a business meeting, was held in the Village Hall.

OBITUARY

MR. JAMES ARTHUR MILNER

We regret to record the passing of Mr. James A. Milner, of Disley, Cheshire, at the age of 60 years. He was buried in the churchyard of his village church on January 11th, when ringers from many churches in the Stockport Branch of the Chester Guild were present. Many of those present had been taught the elements of change ringing by him and had taken part in peals with him.

He joined the Chester Guild in 1912 as a boy and he used to relate how, on his first visit to Norbury, he had to stand on a chair to ring the treble. In 1914 his family moved from Disley to Hyde, and he attached himself to the tower there until he joined the Forces. During the 1914-18 war he served with the Sherwood Foresters and had many harrowing experiences. On demobilisation he returned to Disley to settle down, and resided there for the rest of his life, being a tower of strength to the local band.

He rang his first peal in 1921 (the treble to a seven-method peal) at Disley and his second peal later the same year was in 17 methods 'inside.' This was the precursor of many peals of Spliced in which he took part in up to 84 methods. In all he rang 333 peals for the Chester Guild and several for neighbouring Associations, such as Lancashire and North Staffordshire, but as he kept no detailed record, his peal total is not known. He took part in the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major for the Chester Guild and in many others 'firsts' for the Guild in the years immediately prior to the Second World War.

But it is not for his ability as a peal ringer that he is best remembered. It is for his uncanny knack of teaching beginners the art of change ringing. In the 1930's many young ringers used to meet for practice at Disley and no matter how large the crowd he would see to it that each was enabled to make some progress, and it is to his unbounded patience and skill that the writer learnt how to ring. When his learners advanced further he was ever ready to guide them with good advice proffered in such a way that it seemed like the learner's own idea. His work was not confined to his own tower and when Fairfield (Buxton) appealed to him for help in raising the standard of ringing about the year 1930 he willingly went once a week for several years and had the pleasure of conducting the first peal on the bells there, in which three of the band rang their first peal and the other two had had their peal conducted by him earlier that year (1933).

His quiet, unassuming disposition endeared him to all and his unruffled manner in the most trying circumstances often had a tranquillising effect on the band. In all the years the writer rang with him he can only remember him once appearing to be angry, and then he had more than ample cause. He did not regard himself as a conductor but there is no doubt he was very able in the field of Spliced Minor and he called the first peals of many in the district.

From 1950 to 1952 he was Ringing Master of the Stockport Branch of the Chester Guild and only retired because his health was beginning to fail. He got steadily worse and for the last two years had been unable to ring. At its last annual meeting, in January, 1957, the Branch decided to bestow upon him the highest honour in its power, and made him a vice-president.

The Exercise is poorer for his passing, and to his widow and daughter and son-in-law heartfelt sympathy is extended. C. K. L.

James Arthur Miller passed to his rest on January 8th. So ends an era in the bellringing life of the Cheshire village of Disley.

When I was still a schoolboy I joined the band of ringers at Taxal Church, where change ringing was little in excess of a plain course of Bob Minor. The then leader of Taxal band took me to Disley one Friday evening and introduced me to Jim Milner, and thus began a period of instruction and friendship which continued for many years.

Amongst the towers of the Cheshire-Derbyshire borders, Jim was regarded as the instructor, and apart from his own practice night he spent many evenings and Saturday afternoons visiting surrounding towers to give of his time and instructional ability to struggling bands who looked to this humble, genial plumber to impart to them his knowledge and ability to ring Spliced Minor.

Such was Jim's ability to attract enthusiastic learners to his nursery that I, and many others through the years, accepted his summons 'You are in a peal at such and such a place' with the feeling that our presence was absolutely essential to ensure our continued progress in the world of change ringing.

Never was he ruffled and never did he point a finger at anyone when things went wrong or a peal was lost and it was this characteristic which endeared him to all who came to him for advice and instruction.

As was said in his funeral address, there is no doubt that the sound of bells, which he loved, would welcome him on his passing over. A. H.

MR. ARTHUR YOUNG

With deep regret we record the sudden passing of Mr. Arthur Young, of Frampton, Lincs. Going home on the night of December 26th he collapsed on the roadside and was later found to be dead.

A ringer at Frampton for about 40 years, he will be sadly missed. He held the office of sexton, a duty he carried out faithfully despite the fact that he had an artificial leg, having lost a leg during the first world war.

Mr. Young was a regular Sunday service ringer and a sound peal ringer, having taken part in 110 peals, which included several of Surprise Minor.

The funeral was at Frampton on December 30th. The service was fully choral, and was attended by ringers from Algarkirk, Boston, Sutterton, Sibsey, Swineshead, Wigtoft, Kirton and Tattershall. Four of his fellow ringers acted as bearers..

MR. DAVID McINROY

On January 6th a half-muffled quarter peal was rung at Farnborough Parish Church in memory of David J. McInroy, whose tragic death was reported in 'The Ringing World' on December 6th.

David rang at Farnborough during his National Service and also took part in other church activities. We are sure he enjoyed his time in Farnborough, during which he made much progress with his ringing and gained many friends. M. A. F.

MR. JOHN H. MASTERS

Mr. John H. Masters, who died on December 6th at the age of 67, had been a ringer at Houghton-le-Spring for over 30 years. He joined the Durham and Newcastle Association in 1918 and was a very regular service ringer until illness compelled him to give up ringing in 1949. He had acted as secretary of the belfry for many years. His father and three of his brothers had also been ringers at Houghton-le-Spring.

The bells of Houghton-le-Spring were rung half-muffled for the funeral and the Sunday Evensong the night before.

MR. LEWIS NEWMAN

A member of the Kent County Association for the past 40 years, Mr. Lewis Newman died in Pembury Hospital after a short illness, and his funeral service was held at St. Michael's Church, East Peckham, on January 11th.

Among the ringers attending were Messrs. T. Saunders, L. J. Honess (East Peckham), W. R. Manser (Barming), T. E. Sone (Paddock Wood), Mr. and Mrs. W. Dobbie and Messrs. J. T. Medhurst and G. Fry (Tonbridge) and P. Carter (West Malling).

At the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Mrs. W. Dobbie 1-2, T. E. Sone 3-4, W. Dobbie 5-6, G. Fry 7-8. Afterwards 720 Plain Bob Minor, with the bells half muffled, was rung in the tower by J. T. Medhurst 1, T. Saunders 2, T. E. Sone (conductor) 3, W. R. Manser 4, L. J. Honess 5, G. Fry 6.

Mr. Newman started ringing at the early age of 11, and at the age of 20 went to America. Returning to England in 1918, he restarted ringing the day after he arrived back. Lewis was very keen and made many friends. He was always willing to help the learner and also to fill a gap for a peal at the last minute. T. S.

OBITUARY (continued)

MR. J. H. BROTHWELL

A last tribute to the memory of John Harry Brothwell was paid by members of the Yorkshire Association and Sheffield District Society on December 28th with a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major, his favourite method, at Handsworth, his last tower as a regular Sunday service ringer and where he enjoyed some of his best peals. The bells were not muffled for the peal as muffled ringing was one of his pet aversions. Mr. Brothwell was one of the oldest members of the Yorkshire Association, both in age and his continuous membership of 64 years.

Born in the little village of Silk Willoughby, Lincolnshire, in 1874, after leaving school at an early age, he worked for a few years as farm hand, and at the age of 18 ventured to the colliery village of Treeton, near Rotherham, and lived there for the remaining 65 years of his life. He became head horseman to the Rothervale Collieries, and a few years later, when motoring was in its infancy, taught himself to drive, on the quiet, whilst supposedly washing the chief's Rolls-Royce. His chief, Sir Walter Benton Jones, heard of this and appointed him his personal chauffeur. He was with the same firm until he retired in 1939, and ended his career as transport manager to the collieries. He held a driving licence from the year 1904, and was driving regularly until the week before he died at the age of 83.

He learned to ring at Treeton a year after his arrival there and it was on this ring of six that he rang his first peal in 1893. He rang 11 peals of Minor up to 1910, when he scored his first peal of Major, Plain Bob at Eastwood, and joined this company about the same time. A little later he joined the Rotherham Parish Church company. All his peals from 1910 to 1920 were conducted by the late Clement Glenn, and from then until the second world war he rang most of his peals, including many Surprise methods, with the late John Flint, of Bolsover. He never kept any peal records and always said he indulged in peal ringing for the pure enjoyment of it rather than for statistical purposes. There are, however, 229 peals to his credit in the Yorkshire Association's records, and he rang many for the old Midland Counties Association in the Chesterfield area, besides many others in all parts of the country. He was an excellent striker and right up to the last rarely made a trip, even in the most difficult Surprise method. He once rang two peals of London in a day with the late William Pye, and the latter afterwards congratulated him on not making a single trip. He rang his last peal, one of Cambridge Major at Handsworth in 1953, at the age of 79.

Being mechanically minded he was always a useful man to have around a belfry. Not only was he willing and able but the job had to be done right, and his new stays and rope-splices were works of art.

Probably his greatest assets were his punctuality and regularity at Sunday service ringing. Except for holidays and his very rare illnesses, he never missed, except once, it is recalled, when he apologetically announced one Sunday morning that he wouldn't be at the tower in the evening because his family insisted he stay at home for his golden wedding celebrations.

Mrs. Brothwell predeceased him by two years and he leaves two sons and three daughters, the two sons also being accomplished ringers.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

Joint Meeting at Chester-le-Street

A Western District meeting had been suggested for Chester-le-Street on January 18th, and the idea of running that partly as a social evening had been favourably received. That date proved inconvenient at Chester-le-Street and the meeting was rearranged as a joint Northern and Western District meeting on January 4th. That brought the date within the 'twelve days of Christmas' as was foreseen, but also enabled the bells to be rung before a gale shifted the top of the recently-repaired spire, as was not foreseen! Ringing is suspended at the time of writing.

Ringing before tea was concluded with a contest by three teams, drawn from the hat, ringing a course of Grandsire Triples. The judges (male) were posted outside in the usual fashion, where they were immune from any female charms. This was a wise precaution as it turned out, or one of them might have had a sticky time trying to explain to his wife why the band with five females had been declared the winners while her own band had been placed last! Tape recordings were played back during tea before the verdict was given.

Tea was served buffet fashion to lessen the formality of the proceedings. In place of the usual service the Rector said a few prayers by way of introduction to some Christmas carols. 'The First Noël' was rung on handbells, and 'Ding, Dong, Merrily on High' was rendered by a hastily-gathered quartet, in addition to the 'massed choral' items.

Music for a barn dance proved rather elusive but was eventually found, and then several party games kept things moving until just after 8 p.m. All present joined in with enthusiasm to provide a rather different composition, 'conducted by D. A. Bayles.'

More tea was made and a second attack launched on the food. The tower was revisited for a few short touches before the bells were lowered in peal to complete the programme.

The experiment seems to have been successful and it is hoped that it may be repeated and made even better another year. D. A. B.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District Annual Meeting

Once again the majestic bells of Hitchin rang out for the North Herts and District meeting. Together with many friends from Bedfordshire we rang, then attended the service, conducted by the Rev. G. N. O. Walsh, with Mr. P. Wells at the organ.

The meeting was held after tea in the Church House, with Mr. F. Plummer in the chair. Mr. E. Buck, who is also president of the Association, was re-elected as District secretary and treasurer, with acclamation. In his report he emphasised that although progress has been made, there is still room for improvement, and meetings should be better supported.

Messrs. J. Dear and F. Plummer were elected to the general committee, after the chairman had given some account of the duties of the District when electing their representatives. The District committee members are: Messrs. S. Ashton (Pirton), W. Brown (Stevenage), G. Critchley (Knebworth), A. Harris (Walkern) and H. Werrett (Norton). Miss J. Sanderson remains 'R.W.' representative.

Mr. K. Timbury has moved from the county and has become a non-resident life member; Miss D. Childs (Knebworth) is now a ringing member.

Ringing continued with Spliced Surprise and other methods to suit all the ringers there.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Banbury District at Work and Play

The winter quarterly meeting of the Banbury and District Branch was held at Tadmarton on January 4th, about 25 members and friends being present, with more turning up after tea. The Guild form of service was conducted by the Rector, and there was a strong choir to lead the singing in church and afterwards to sing carols, unaccompanied, during tea—a charming touch.

The Branch chairman (Rev. C. O. Moreton) presided at the business meeting, at which it was agreed to hold a joint meeting with the Oxford City Branch at Adderbury on March 8th. The next quarterly meeting was fixed for Shenington for April 12th and a practice at Bodicote on February 8th.

It was reported that the bells at Mollington are to be made ringable and the tower to come into union with the Guild; so far as is known the bells have been chimed but never rung since they were rehung in 1875.

Working on a suggestion first put forward by Mr. George Burton, an ad-hoc committee organised a dinner and social evening which, judging by its popularity and success, is likely to be the first of a long succession of annual affairs.

There was some ringing at St. Mary's Church, Banbury, on the afternoon of January 11th, but the festivities really started at 7.30 p.m. when dinner was served at a local hotel to a full house.

Afterwards there was some friendly rivalry between teams of handbell tune ringers from various towers in the Branch, Adderbury being judged the best by volume of applause. Mr. Cliff Wightman and Miss Janice Grimsley then put the company through its paces with seasonable fun and games, and ringers of rounds and ringers of Surprise methods were reduced to a common level.

MISCELLANEOUS

THE CHEQUES ACT, 1957.—The coming into force in October last of the Cheques Act, 1957, means that a cheque which appears to have been paid by the banker on whom it has been drawn is evidence of the receipt by the payee of the sum payable by the cheque.

This, as will be realised, has a far-reaching effect upon business procedure, and renders unnecessary the issuing of receipts for payments made by cheque. To save labour and postage, therefore, receipts will not be sent for payments by cheque to 'The Ringing World' unless they are specifically requested.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

The annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at the St. Martin's Hotel on January 4th, with the Master (Mr. Frank E. Haynes) in the chair.

The membership of the following ringers, who were elected prior to peal attempts, was duly ratified: Miss Shirley M. Parsons (Cheltenham), Miss Nadine Price and David Beacham (Tewkesbury), Ian M. Holland (Sheffield), John E. Neale and Michael Lawrence, both members of Boldmere Parish Church.

The balance sheet disclosed a loss sustained during the year, due to a deficit on the Johnson dinner account, and also to the cost of recording peals.

No changes were made in the list of officers for the ensuing year, the following being re-elected: Master, Frank E. Haynes; Ringing Master, John Pinfold; trustees, Alderman A. Paddon Smith and Edgar C. Shepherd; auditors, Henry H. Fearn and Sidney O'C. Holloway; librarian, Edgar C. Shepherd; hon. secretary and treasurer, George E. Fearn.

A proposition to invite Mr. J. Frank Smallwood to occupy the chair at the forthcoming Henry Johnson dinner was enthusiastically received and carried unanimously. The date of this function will be March 1st.

For the next meeting King's Norton was chosen by the majority. Instead of the usual first Saturday in the month, the date of this meeting will be April 12th, subject to the Vicar's consent.

A pleasant social hour was spent, some ringing handbells, others chatting over old times, perhaps for the last time in that large, familiar room, which the brewery find unremunerative in these days of television.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2444 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, JANUARY 31, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

A-HUNTING WE WILL GO

THE lot of the expert, it has often been remarked by the humble commoner and doubtless deeply felt at all times by the expert himself, is not unreservedly happy. What views he puts before the public are more open to criticism than those of lesser lights; what work of investigation or compilation he is asked to undertake will, in its finished and published form, be scrutinised keenly by friend and foe, and woe to him, despite his long and weary labours, if he fails to justify what he postulates.

This has always been so, and indeed in past days, criticism was more fierce than it is today; and it was often more crude and relentless. Among the more cultured, nevertheless, it has always been considered good form to disagree in a gentlemanly fashion, to smite the adversary, even if relentlessly, at least with soft weapons: in short, to quarrel in a very agreeable manner. The following little controversial comedy, although leading to no neat climax or portentous conclusion, has a happy humour of its own.

At the end of the year 1903 the Central Council issued its first Collection of Peals, a comprehensive (if not consistently accurate) book of compositions in what were called 'Odd-Bell Treble-Dominated Methods.' It was 'Treble-Dominated' that started the fun, and the columns of 'The Bell News,' from the rising of the sun on January 4th, 1904, to the going down of the same on April 23rd, recorded a long, rather pedantic, but by no means uninteresting discussion.

First, Mr. Herbert Drake, writing to congratulate the Central Council, objected very strongly to 'Treble-Dominated' on the grounds that the treble did not dominate the method but was dominated by the places. This view was supported in the following week by that excellent but rather verbose scholar Mr. R. A. Daniell, who pointed out that 'Treble-Dominated' was ambiguous and might mean that the treble was dominated or that the treble did the dominating. Moreover, he said: 'The notion that the hunt is the dominating influence in a method is FLATLY CONTRARY TO THE TRUTH. . . . Wherefore, let us spew out of our mouths this false term.'

As may be imagined, this stirred the committee responsible for the book, and J. A. Trollope, bowing to the storm with mock humility, requested some suggestions for a better term, so that he might, as he said, be able to be critic in his turn. Mr. Daniell now began to hedge. He was only too conscious that his technical equipment was inadequate in any tussle with Trollope over methods, and he evasively asked for a definition of the issue between them. But now Mr. Herbert Drake had got himself prepared to be helpful. 'Treble-Dominated' he could not and would not accept, but as some term had to be found to distinguish between methods with a hunt and methods without a hunt, he suggested that perhaps the Exercise would take kindly to one of the following: uniform, iterated, monod, monomorphous, monometric, symmetric, rhythmic, sequential, and a few more simple, easily-comprehended expressions.

Mr. Daniell and Mr. Trollope tactfully ignored this scholarly exposition and returned to the simple problem of hunting for a name for the Hunt. Daniell held strongly to the view that places dominated the treble, and not the other way about. He brushed aside Mr. Trollope's reference to correspondence with Law James, deeming this a palpable red herring; and to his support he called Mr. Dains, who both as the author of Alliance and a building expert should, he considered, know something of foundations. So he wrote:

> 'If Mr. Trollope instructs Mr. Dains to build him a private dwelling house, and Mr. Dains does so, will he send in his bill in this form: To building you a foundation-dominated house . . . 2s. 6d., or whatever the price may be?'

At this stage the issue was somewhat clouded by an unfortunate remark by Mr. Drake, giving the impression that Grandsire should be called Compound and Stedman Simple. This wasted a certain amount of time, but eventually both sides began to be hopeful over the use of some such term as Huntful or Huntless. But now, at this point, Mr. Dains came down heavily. Mr. Trollope withdrew from the arena. Mr. Drake made an unobtrusive exit, and Mr. Dains and Mr. Daniell started to fight it out. They began with technicalities on the function and limitations of foundations in buildings, with reference to Gothic and Classic designs, and here the building expert showed authority. Mr. Daniell was undaunted, and he raised the question of the beginning of the construction of an opera house, a project abandoned at the foundation stage to result in the building of a new Metropolitan Police headquarters. Mr. Dains knew all about this, but spoilt the fun by insisting on getting back to method building.

The editor of 'The Bell News' now suggested that the matter was closed, but Mr. Daniell had one more last word. On April 23rd he wrote: 'I agree with Mr. Dains that there is no necessity to make any statement about the dominating factor at all'; which will be seen to be both magnanimous and a worthy termination to a grand intellectual contest.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths re-elected Mr. F. J. Cullum as Master for 1958 at their annual meeting last Saturday. Mr. A. W. J. Butler succeeds Mr. Peter N. Bond as hon. secretary and Mr. Bond becomes assistant secretary in lieu of Mr. J. L. Morris.

The annual meeting of the Crewe Branch was a 'profitable' day, with the election of 21 members and two juniors.

The bells of Belton, Isle of Axholme, Lincs, are shortly to be augmented from four to six. Eight ringers from the village have joined the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

Mr. C. Wallater, tower Master of St. Giles' Parish Church, Willenhall, received congratulations on his 75th birthday when the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford visited his tower.

The Central Council have electrical switchgear warning cards available. They will be sent free on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope to Miss Elizabeth Sharpe, Derwen, Launton, Bicester.

Whilst attending the annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch, Mr. Frederick Precey collapsed and died. He had been a member of the Central Council since 1948. The funeral was at Wool on January 22nd.

Members of the newly-formed King's School, Grantham, Society, lost their peal attempt at Harmston on January 11th. Afterwards the band, composed of past and present members of the school, rang a quarter of Plain Bob Major.

We regret to hear of the death of Mrs. Charles J. Camms, of Upton-on-Severn, after an illness of two days. He had been Ringing Master of the Western Branch of the Worcestershire Association since 1929. He rang his 600th peal in March, 1955. A memoir will appear in our next issue.

'The Ringers' Magazine' has completed its first year of publication, and Mr. W. Butler has produced another interesting number. The issue contains a supplement dealing with the Oxford Diocesan Guild. 'John Bunyan—Bellringer,' by Mr. Ernest Morris, is most interesting. 'The Ringers' Magazine' has embarked on a sales campaign to increase its present circulation of 500.

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd has completed 50 years in the choir of St. Alfrege's, Solihull. A peal was rung on Solihull bells to mak the happy occasion, which was also Mr. Shepherd's 60th birthday.

We regret to learn that Mr. J. T. Dyke, owing to his continued ill-health, has resigned the chairmanship of the Frome and Midsomer Norton Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

Kent School Bell Ringers' Guild (Conn.) attempted a quarter peal of Doubles to mark 1958. Unfortunately the band only managed 240 changes but they realised that since they had got so far it would only be a matter of time before they could go the whole way!

The quarter peal from St. Alfrege's, Greenwich, recorded this week, was the first for all the band except Mr. Jack Dafters, the conductor. It was rung as a farewell to the Rev. G. Stephen Nason, who will always be remembered by Greenwich ringers for the tremendous efforts he made to get the bells restored.

Leicester Cathedral Society have elected the following officers for 1958: President, the Provost, the Very Rev. Mervyn Armstrong; chairman, Harold G. Jenney; Ringing Master, Herrick B. Bowley; Deputy Ringing Master, John A. Acres; treasurer, S. Anthony Jesson; tower keeper, Richard Grant; secretary, Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, 150, Narborough Road South, Leicester.

Twelfth Annual Meeting at Repton

FOR the beginning of Repton's history one must go back to very early times, when the Saxons became converts to the Christian faith. It was for a time the ancient capital of the Saxon kingdom of Mercia. Most of the Repton Church, dedicated to St. Wystan, an early Christian martyr, was rebuilt about 1340, but the chancel of the old building was retained. Beneath this is a unique Saxon crypt that was discovered in the 18th century; a remarkable example of ancient Saxon work.

Just as Repton's ancient history is connected with its church, so its modern history centres on the school, where the present Archbishop of Canterbury and his predecessor, Dr. Temple, were at one time headmasters. The Archway, Pears Hall and the School Chapel are very fine buildings of a more recent period.

It was at the beautiful Church of St. Wystan that the Guild held its 12th annual meeting, when upwards of 50 ringers and friends were present from a wide area during the afternoon or evening. The Vicar (the Rev. G. Harcombe) conducted Evensong and gave an inspiring address on the history of Repton bells.

An excellent tea followed in the Court Room, prepared by the lady ringers. Following tea, the annual business meeting was held at which the chairman, Mr. W. H. Curson (in the unavoidable absence of the president, the Ven H. E. FitzHerbert), presided.

One new ringing member from Winshill and one honorary member were elected, before the treasurer (Mr. J. H. Brittan) presented the balance sheet, which again showed the Guild in the happy position of having made a small credit balance for 1957.

In presenting the yearly report, the secretary (Mr. J. W. Cotton) spoke of the loss the Guild had sustained by the death of Messrs. H. C. Lewis, J. W. Shorthose and J. W. Hovey; the members stood as a mark of respect. Seven meetings—including three joint meetings with neighbouring Guilds—were held, with an average attendance of 24. One honorary, eight resident and 13 non-resident members were elected during the year, giving a total membership of 23 honorary and 106 ringing members. Thirty-two peals were rung at 16 towers in four counties. Mr. D. P. Jones headed the list of conductors with a total of nine peals, followed by Messrs. P. J. Staniforth (four), G. H. Lane (four), B. G. Warwick (three), R. Beniston (three), B. G. Key (two), J. M. Jelley (two), A. Foster, A. E. Rowley, A. V. Pearson, J. Millhouse and J. W. Cotton one each. Spliced Surprise Major and Rutland Surprise Major were recorded by the Guild for the first time.

The election of officers was as follows:—President, the Ven. H. E. FitzHerbert; chairman, Mr. W. H. Curson; Ringing Master, Mr. A. Foster; treasurer, Mr. J. H. Brittan; secretary, Mr. J. W. Cotton; auditor, Mr. T. Pryce; committee, Messrs. S. H. Jones, W. J. Leach, W. F. Woodward and W. G. Soar.

Meetings cards were available for distribution and it is hoped that the necessary arrangements will be made to carry out the list as follows:—March 1st, Ashby; April 19th, Winshill; June 7th, Seales; July 26th, Hoar Cross; August 23rd, Melbourne; September 13th, Rolleston or Measham; November 1st, Burton.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar, organist and local ladies for preparing tea.

Amongst towers represented were Burton (St. Paul's and St. Modwen's), Winshill, Lullington, Overseale, Netherseale, Kingsbury, Coleshill, Measham, Derby, King's Bromley, Hoar Cross, Newchurch, Yoxall, Uttoxeter, Duffield, Melton Mowbray and the local company.

FIRST PEAL FOR 45 YEARS AND FIFTH ON THE BELLS

There has been some discussion in Bristol as to which ring of eight is the roughest. Extensive comparison was made of a light eight on the outskirts of the city with another weightier ring more centrally positioned. The outcome of this argument was not resolved, but the whole question was raised prior to a proposed peal attempt at St. Thomas', Bristol.

The bells here have a tenor of 29 cwt., with a melodic note of D, and cast by Llewellin and James in 1894. The other bells are older and include some Bilbie products. All were hung in 1894 on a wooden frame and have had no attention from bellhangers since, with the exception of very necessary renewal of headstock bolts on the tenor bell in recent years.

At least two of the peal band were prepared to lay wagers that the peal would not be successful. In spite of the fact that these bells are not 'ladies' bells' by any means, and also that some doubts had been cast about necessary stamina involved, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung. This was the first for 45 years, and the first with only one tenor finger.

The secret of success was a mixture of two unpleasant substances. The products of boiled sheepskins and squashed seeds were not eaten, but made into a sticky glue better known as tallow and castor oil, and applied to the bearings. OIL CAN.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

The College of Campanology has issued its report for the year of foundation (ended August 31st). It states:—

During the first year of its existence it was not expected that the College would be able to do much more than come into being and shape its organisation and publish the first part of the 'Training Manual' in provisional draft form. It has become established with a working constitution and with its complement of officers and governors, many of whom are eminent in the Exercise. It has survived a declared attempt to put an end to its activities and is gathering strength. It is represented in England, Wales, Ireland and overseas. It has a country-wide panel of examiners and tutors and a steadily mounting membership. It has published Part I. of its 'Training Manual' in completely revised form and has the remaining Parts in course of preparation by appropriate experts.

In addition, the provision made by the College in its constitution for affiliation of schools of ringing has already been implemented in so far as although there are only a few known schools of ringing, one—the Portsmouth Cathedral School of Ringing—became affiliated towards the close of the year. Two other schools of ringing, also other college centres of instruction, have this question under consideration.

As to evidence of progress, the following facts may be cited:—

Areas in which the College is represented:—Bucks, Cornwall, Devon, Glam, Hampshire, Herefordshire, Kent, Leicestershire, Lincolnshire, Norfolk, Northumberland, Oxford, Somerset, Suffolk, Sussex, Warwickshire, Yorkshire, County Meath and Tanganyika Territory.

Panels.—Examiners 12, tutors 17.

Correspondents.—11.

Courses.—Completed or under way, eight.

Towers.—Instruction being given in over 30.

Learners.—About 150 have received and are receiving instruction.

LIVERPOOL PARISH CHURCH SAYS FAREWELL TO ITS RECTOR

When the Rev. Robert Nelson became Rector of Liverpool, in 1949, the foundation stone of the new Parish Church of Our Lady and St. Nicholas had been laid and there was a small but devoted congregation, but that was all. The old ring of 12 bells was still at the Loughborough foundry and there were no definite plans for its future. Last Saturday Father Nelson was consecrated Bishop Suffragan of Middleton (in the diocese of Manchester) in York Minster.

During the past eight years Father Nelson has seen a new church completed and consecrated, and has built up a large and flourishing congregation. Also, as most ringers will know, the old bells have been recast into a magnificent ring of 12. Much of Father Nelson's incumbency has been overshadowed by financial worries over the rebuilding; indeed, at one time the parish was in debt to the tune of nearly £20,000. If, therefore, the financial position had not happened to look relatively hopeful in 1951, the order to recast the bells might not then have been given. In this case the bells certainly would have been one of the luxury items which were cut out a year later when things looked black, and all unnecessary expenditure was being eliminated. However, by then the bells were safely in the tower. Through all this anxious period of the rebuilding, Father Nelson was most sympathetic to the idea of having bells, and this was at a time when he knew nothing about ringing or ringers. His elder son, John, has become a valued member of the band and has about a dozen peals to his credit.

During 1957 Liverpool Parish Church has been celebrating its 700th anniversary, and it is a matter for deep thanksgiving that it has been possible to clear the debt completely. Ringers may like to know that the 13 cwt. bell (kindly lent by Taylors of Loughborough), which stands in the church gardens, has made its small contribution to this end, over £70 having been put into it during the two years it has been there. On Sunday, December 29th, the Bishop of Liverpool preached at both services. After the Parish Communion the people's warden handed him a cheque for £16,000, this being the church's debt to the diocese, and its last remaining debt. Before Evensong a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung by: T. S. Lee 1, Miss G. I. Howlett 2, E. C. Birkett 3, J. Nelson 4, J. N. Brown 5, R. M. Edwards 6, J. E. Spice (conductor) 7, E. F. Bennett 8.

On January 16th, in the course of a social evening, parting gifts were presented to the Rector and his family from the congregation. Among the tributes to the Rector which were also made came one from Dr. J. E. Spice on behalf of the ringers. On January 19th, Father Nelson's last Sunday as Rector of Liverpool, a quarter peal of 1,311 Stedman Cinques was rung before Evensong by: L. L. Gray 1, T. S. Lee 2, A. P. Sandford 3, J. Nelson 4, H. Poyner 5, F. S. Almond 6, J. Grove 7, J. Ridyard 8, E. F. Bennett 9, E. C. Birkett 10, J. E. Spice (conductor) 11, J. N. Brown 12.

The ringer of the fourth, the elder son of the Bishop, has been a valued member of the band, with about 12 peals to his credit. The band are very sorry to see John go.

100 PEALS AT ST. MARY'S, MAULDEN

The peal of London Surprise at Maulden on December 30th was the 100th peal on the bells, and thus this tower becomes the first in Bedfordshire to achieve that total.

The first peal on the bells was one of Minor in seven methods, on September 28th, 1912, and then follows a long silence until 1936, when, as the outcome of a chance visit Eddie Jeffries paid to the tower, the local band were persuaded to try their hand at method ringing (call change ringing having hitherto been the order of the day) and a peal of Bob Minor was their first success, on April 22nd of that year.

From then until the war, activity was vigorous, 14 peals being rung before the ban, all multi-method Minor peals, one in 12 methods being a record for the county. After the war enthusiasm was still undamped, and 28 peals were rung on the six bells prior to their augmentation to eight in 1950. Once again, these comprised almost entirely multi-method peals, and several records for the county, including one in 21 methods, and one in 14 Surprise methods. All the highlights of these 44 peals on the six were conducted by C. Edward Jeffries.

After a brief silence the tower was re-opened with its eight bells, and then follows a spate of remarkable activity, no less than 54 peals on the eight and two on the six having been rung since November, 1950. This tower was clearly marked out for the headquarters of the Surprise Major band, built up over the last three years to London Surprise standard through the unflagging efforts and ability of Eddie Jeffries, and having two of the most constant performers, Andrew Sinfield and Ron Sharp, living on the spot, besides holding an almost central position in the county. Four new Surprise methods have been rung here for the first time in the county. In all, 20 different Surprise Major methods have been rung to peals in the tower.

Among the conducters, Eddie Jeffries holds pride of place, with a total of no less than 46 peals. Others connected with the tower in that capacity include Lewis H. Bywaters, and, of course, C. Henry Harding, a much-loved figure whose early pioneer efforts contributed so much to the prosperous state of peal ringing in Bedfordshire at the present day. Conductors of the younger generation include Dennis Knox, also the writer, who is very proud of his association with Maulden tower, and fully realises the debt of younger ringers in Bedfordshire to those who laid such firm foundations. Perhaps he may here be allowed to register his gratitude to Eddie, Ron and Andrew, in particular, for the opportunities he has been given, and to make mention of Maurice Lockey and the rest of the Sunday service band, the most gratifying feature of the tower, and of memories of pleasant social occasions with them. The peal of London was a fitting landmark, and we shall all remember the immaculate beauty of the closing courses for a long time. Long may Maulden tower enjoy prosperity.

NEW YEAR'S EVE AT NORWICH

Eighty ringers and guests attended the annual dinner of St. Peter Mancroft Ringers' Guild at the Bell Hotel, Norwich, on New Year's Eve and were regaled with a menu which included turkey.

The Rev. H. G. Lillingston, president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, in a speech, said: 'Ringing is not just something which concerns church people. It is something which concerns the life of Norwich. People would soon notice if the bells were not being rung.'

The Guild also did duty in other towns and was handing on its knowledge, experience and art of ringing to others, particularly young people.

Canon J. A. H. Waddington, Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft, thanked the Guild members for the 'loyal and energetic way in which you discharge your duties so regularly throughout the year.'

Other speakers were Mr. A. G. Bason, Ringing Master, and Mr. Nolan Golden, Deputy Ringing Master, who appealed to members to make 1958 a very fine ringing year.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

The annual meeting of the Southampton District was held at Romsey on January 11th and attended by some 50 members, who were very kindly entertained to tea in the Church Hall by the Romsey ringers. Ringing ranging from rounds to Surprise Major took place on the Abbey bells during the afternoon and evening.

The business meeting was presided over by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. Mr. M. Butler, the District secretary, tendered his resignation because of business commitments. This was accepted with regret and Mr. Butler was thanked for his valued services during the eight years he had been secretary. The new secretary is Mr. John Hartless, 17, Testwood Crescent, Totton, Southampton. Mr. C. H. Kippin was elected auditor, and Mr. D. Forder representative, otherwise the District officers were re-elected.

District meetings were provisionally arranged at: Bishopstoke, March 15th: Eling, June 21st: Bitterne Park, September 20th: with the annual meeting at Southampton on January 10th. All will be duly advertised in due course.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

Members and friends were the guests to tea of the local band for the first quarterly meeting of the year of the Ashford District, held at Hythe on January 11th.

In his address of welcome the Vicar (the Rev. E. A. Newman) spoke highly of the work of all ringers, with a special word of praise for those oft-maligned members of the Exercise—the peal ringers. Mr. J. R. Cooper combined the duties of organist and Ringing Master. Mr. Alan Berry read the lesson.

After tea the Vicar presided over a business meeting, at which Mr. R. Birch, captain of the Hythe ringers, reported that the combined practices which he organised in his own and neighbouring towers had been well supported. Two new members were elected to the Association.

Mr. T. Cullingworth, on behalf of the visitors, thanked the Vicar for taking the service and permitting the use of the bells; Mr. Cooper for playing the organ; the Hythe ringers for their hospitality; and Mr. W. J. Bidwell for making all the arrangements.

Ringing on this fine eight ranged from rounds to Grandsire and Yorkshire Surprise. An all-ladies course of Grandsire Triples was creditably brought round. The gentlemen's touch of Bob Major was less happy, the ringer of the third not having sufficiently recovered from the sight of so much loveliness proving useful as well as ornamental!

An enjoyable meeting concluded at 9 p.m.

Canterbury District

The first meeting of the year for the Canterbury District was held at Wingham on January 18th. Always a popular venue, this was no exception, some 82 members being present, these representing 20 towers from within the District, with visitors from Egerton and a carload from Frindsbury.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. D. Brockman), who also gave an address. At the organ was Mr. R. Cook, and the Rev. Stanley Evans, who many remembered as one of the strong young band at Minster, Sheppey, just after the war, read the lesson. Mr. Evans has lost none of his ringing skill and will no doubt prove a great help at St. Laurence, Thanet, to which church he has recently been appointed curate.

Tea was taken in the Village Hall and Mrs. J. L. Kemp, of Wingham, had worked wonders, preparing nearly all the food on her own, but being helped at the tea by her family and the ringers at Wingham. They were all very warmly thanked.

Mr. J. A. Russell took the chair for the meeting, during which two new honorary members were elected, also 12 new practising members. A report of the Central Committee's meeting held at Maidstone in November was given by Mr. E. T. Eades. He was warmly thanked by the chairman. All Saints', Birchington, was selected from three towers for the next quarterly, and Great Mongeham as the tower for the by-meeting. Thanks were expressed to the Vicar. Further ringing took place until about 8 p.m., methods up to Cambridge being practised.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PIPE'S PILGRIMS

Dear Sir,—From the correspondence I am receiving it appears many people are under the impression the week's tour in Ireland during Whitsun in connection with the Central Council and Pipe's Pilgrims' tour are one and the same thing.

This, however, is not the case. I am only organising the 'Dawn Flight' from London Airport, 7.55 a.m., May 24th, to Ireland, so as to obtain a cheaper rate for a party of 15 or over. It is hoped a ringing tour (peals or otherwise) may be arranged when it is known which towers are available. I am not arranging accommodation in Ireland. Pipe's Pilgrims hope to tour South Wales from Chepstow to St. David's during the week August 3rd to 9th inclusive, and those who wish to join the party are asked to advise me as soon as possible. Stamped addressed envelopes, please.—Yours sincerely,

CECIL W. PIPE.

PEAL PUBLICITY

Dear Sir,—Your excellent article in 'The Ringing World' on the relation between peal and Sunday service ringing prompts me to follow it up with two pertinent thoughts about peal ringing generally.

Is it the policy in any of our Associations, or do individuals for that matter, when fixing up a peal attempt, ask the Vicar if he will announce the fact in church prior to the attempt? As ringers we have a duty to the public, and if the facts are faced, few people living near the tower enjoy the prospect of a three-hour peal, however good the striking. Even a crack band who ring, shall we say, a peal of Spliced Surprise on an unmusical eight will never convince nearby residents that their achievement renders complaints unjustified. When no warning of a peal is given, people who might have made some other arrangements endure it with an ill grace, and their attitude towards ringers generally becomes soured. These people are bad ambassadors, who can do us much harm, because they carry this attitude with them into their own circles for which they can hardly be blamed.

However, if an attempt is publicised, those who dislike bells can go out anyway, but those who can't, instead of complaining to the Vicar about the selfishness of people ringing for their own gratification, might thank him for his thought in advertising the attempt, and tolerate it without ill will.

Secondly, how often do tower captains ask the Vicar to publish details of peals and quarter peals in the parish magazine in detail? How many lay people know of the existence of a Central Council or of the Diocesan Associations? I am convinced that this sort of publicity would not only open the eyes of lay churchmen to the part played by ringers in the church, but it would show how we are united as a network of Associations under a Central Council whose declared aim is the promotion of Sunday service ringing, and not just a race apart from other church workers.

Finally, if our achievements are put in print for all to see, isn't it possible that some readers would be curious enough to inquire further into the art, and thus present the tower with a potential recruit? The tower captain today is often heard to blame the lack of recruits as a reason for many silent towers. These suggestions might help a little in finding a solution.

I wonder if your readers have any ideas about these suggestions?—Yours sincerely,

JOHN BRAIN.

Backwell, Somerset.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING

Dear Sir,—I am afraid I cannot agree with the front page statement on January 10th, which says 'Spliced ringing is not service ringing.' Up till a few months ago we were ringing Spliced Surprise Major regularly twice on Sundays until we tired of it, so have now given it a rest.

As we have a young band, only two of us ring our 20 cwt. tenor, but apart from that we take any bell, and we have four conductors, and I give a nod to one of these whilst rounds are being rung so no one knows the method beforehand. It may be anything from Bob Triples to London. By this practice one must know the starts of every method in our repertoire, and knowing your place bell at the lead-end is all that is required to ring spliced, and to further assist every lead-end is based on Bob Major.

All our ringers live within walking distance of the tower and six of our best team were taught here, so we are a real local band.

I suppose someone will say, 'What about their striking?' To this I can only answer that we treat this as of foremost importance, but teenagers and, in fact, some of the older ones suffer with nerves when critics, etc., are in the tower.

To say that not half a dozen towers in the country ring Spliced Surprise for service is, to my mind, a conflicting statement, and the purpose behind this letter is to find out the real state of the Exercise because, I suspect, many more than half a dozen.—Yours sincerely,

LESLIE D. MILLS.

Bures, Suffolk.

Note.—I cannot recall an occasion when public appreciation has been expressed to me of Surprise ringing for Sunday services, but there have been a number of times when members of the congregation have said how much they enjoyed the bells when we have been ringing Stedman Triples. Perhaps Surrey ears are untutored to those of Suffolk.—Ed.

GAINSBOROUGH SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Arthur Pearson's query which appeared on page 27 of 'The Ringing World' of January 10th regarding the composition of the peal of Gainsborough Surprise Major, which I conducted at Sherfield English last December, I can assure him that it was Arthur Craven's 3-part 5,088 frequently called to Yorkshire, and less frequently to Pudsey.

My initial information on Gainsborough, which I obtained from one of our leading young composers, led me to believe that any Yorkshire composition was suitable for this method, i.e., that only one false course-end applied (24365) and I pursued the point no further until reading Mr. Pearson's letter. However, since this cast some doubt on the validity of my initial information on Gainsborough, I requested a member of the Methods Committee to work out the false course-ends, after giving him the method's places, viz., x 38 x 14 x 58 x 16 x 14 x 58 x 1236 x 7. The reply to my inquiry was that the only false course-end is 24365, thus confirming the fact that any Yorkshire composition is suitable.

Since the figures for Gainsborough were not published in 'The Ringing World' when the method was first rung, would someone please idenify the above method, which was that rung at Sherfield English? If it is, in fact, Gainsborough, I fancy Mr. Pearson is 'barking up the wrong tree.' If it is not Gainsborough the band concerned will have another method to add to their collection.—Yours faithfully,

R. ROGER SAVORY.

Southampton.

SYSTEMATIC COMPOSITION

Sir,—The letter by D. R. Carlisle on November 29th last should have been answered by someone in an official capacity. A definite charge is made that information is being withheld, and then the suggestion is made that 'The Ringing World' should supply this information in the form of articles. A few years ago the Editor laid it down that 'The Ringing World' is not a text book, but is primarily a ringer's newspaper. This does not exclude technical articles occasionally, but text books have nearly always been efforts by private individuals. I am afraid D. R. C. does not know of the bitter wrangles about composition in the old 'Bell News' and in 'The Ringing World' up to about 1935. You could say that almost all of the composers of that period gained their knowledge from the study of Treble Bob (Part One). As a rule this knowledge was not shared with anyone else, any system which these composers discovered they kept to themselves.

The late Mr. G. Lindoff invented a cardboard cylinder for producing 5,056 of London on the In and 5ths plan. It was in the possession of Mr. E. Jennings, who now lives in Essex. A fair question to D. R. C. would be, 'Who is going to write the articles he suggests?' He mentions two successful composers, but they are not in any way compelled to give away the knowledge they have gained by their own efforts. So, in conclusion, I think Mr. Carlisle is on the wrong track by demanding that the Central Council should publish highly technical articles in 'The Ringing World.' The stringing of courses together, as he puts it, is, therefore, an individual matter. I hope he will be successful in producing peals, though I am afraid that methods like Superlative have been almost worked out. I have in my possession a 5,952 by A. Knights that is capable of 21 variations.—Yours truly, E. R. MARTIN.

Preston.

FINE PEAL ON ROUGH-GOING BELLS

Dear Sir,—Having listened to the peal rung at St. Thomas' Church, Bristol, on January 11th, I feel that tribute should be paid to those who took part.

Many of your readers will have tried their skill on this heavy octave of rough-going bells, which has not appeared in the peal columns of 'The Ringing World' for many years, and I am sure that they will join me in congratulating the band on ringing a peal in which the striking was uniformly good from start to finish. This was, I believe, the first occasion on which a peal has been rung there by eight men only, the tenor having been rung double-handed previously.—Yours sincerely,

ROGER O. FRY.

Bath, Somerset.

CRAVEN'S THREE-PART?

Dear Sir.—It seems most probable that the 5,088 Gainsborough rung at Sherfield English was Craven's three-part ('Ringing World,' page 27). Although the falseness is not in the same place, Gainsborough and Yorkshire have the same false course-end (24365) and the bells in 5-6 may be reversed provided that the bells in 3-4 are not reversed also. Thus a peal of Yorkshire such as this is suitable for Gainsborough.—Yours sincerely,

P. G. K. DAVIES.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the North Staffordshire Association, attended by more than 70 ringers and friends, was held at Stoke-upon-Trent on December 7th. Ringing preceded the service taken by the Rector (the Rev. F. A. R. Chapman), and was resumed in the evening after the business meeting.

The president (the Ven. George Youell), opening the annual meeting, expressed the pleasure of those present at the transformation which had taken place at Stoke both in the church, which is undergoing considerable restoration and improvement, and in the belfry, where great progress was to the credit of all concerned.

The meeting stood in silent prayer to the memory of those members whose deaths had occurred during the year—Charles H. Page (Stoke), Samuel Pointon (Brown Edge) and the Rev. W. D. Morgan, Vicar and ringer at Broughton.

The following appointments were made for 1958:—Chairman, Mr. R. S. Anderson; vice-chairman, Mr. A. W. Hall; secretary, Mr. E. H. Edge; assistant secretary, Mr. G. W. Biddulph; auditor, Mr. G. Burton; Ringing Masters: 8- and 10-bell towers, Mr. W. P. Deane; 6-bell towers, Mr. W. Hazeldine.

Mr. Anderson, chairman since 1945, gave notice that pressure of ringing and other commitments would oblige him to retire at the end of the current year, and a sub-committee was appointed to make a recommendation for nomination to this office.

In the annual report, adopted at the meeting, the secretary stated that during the Association year ended October 31st, 11 peals had been rung comprising Major (8), Triples and Minor (2), compared with 12 in the previous year. It was notable that the peals included London (3), Bristol, Superlative and Yorkshire Surprise, Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob. The first two peals on the bells were recorded at Eccleshall, one on the six and the second after augmentation. Congratulations were extended to the Sunday service band at Norton-le-Moors on their peals of Oxford Treble Bob Major and Yorkshire Surprise Major, and to Mr. F. E. Wilshaw on ringing his 200th peal for the Association.

Eleven meetings had been held during the year and attendances had been well maintained. There had been a marked increase in the number of young people learning to ring in the District, which augured well for the future of the Association. Nineteen ringing members were elected during the year and five non-resident life members.

The statement of accounts, which showed the Association to be in an extremely healthy financial position, was adopted.

Monthly meetings were fixed as follows:—January, Longton; February, Hanley; March, Tunstall; April, Brown Edge; May, Leek; June, Stone; July, Swynnerton; September, Uttoxeter; October, Wolstantan; November, Bucknall; December, Stoke (annual general meeting).

A sub-committee was established to consider certain matters relating to the Central Council and its constitution.

Five ringing and two non-resident life members were elected at the meeting.

LEATHERHEAD, SURREY.—On Jan. 12th, 1,260 Bob Royal: A. P. Cannon (cond.) 1, Patricia Smee 2, T. A. Cross 3, G. Marriner 4, G. K. Dodd 5, B. H. Hawkins 6, Rev. C. Marshall (first of Royal) 7, A. H. Harris 8, A. H. Smith 9, H. V. Young 10.

LEIGHTON BROMSWOLD, HUNTS.—On Dec. 27th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: E. J. Whiting 1, Maureen Allen 2, J. W. Allen 3, R. Chapman 4, R. F. Baker (cond.) 5.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

South Oxon Branch

The Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe) and the secretary (Miss M. R. Cross) attended a meeting of the South Oxon Branch at Benson on January 11th, when about 30 members and visitors were present. At the business meeting, with Mr. T. Bowles (vice-chairman) presiding, four new members were elected from Great Milton. The annual meeting will be held at Great Milton on April 19th.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar (the Rev. G. Palmer) for conducting the service, and to Mr. P. Wilson, of Warborough, for acting as organist.

Bicester and District Branch

The quarterly meeting was held at Bicester on January 18th when there were 39 members and friends present. The bells were rung to rounds, Grandsire Doubles, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob, Minor and Plain Bob Major.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. H. Trebble); the Branch president (the Rev. J. H. B. Elkerton) gave the address; the president of the Central Council (Mr. F. Sharpe) read the lesson; Mr. C. Smith was the organist. A ringers' tea was provided by Mrs. Palmer and her helpers.

At the business meeting which followed the following were elected members of the Guild: The Misses Margaret Smith and Valerie G. Crowther (Bicester) and Mr. M. Hawes (Bletchington). The next meeting was arranged for Kirtlington on April 26th, and the outing for July 12th. Votes of thanks concluded the meeting and ringing was enjoyed until 7.45 p.m.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Chippenham Branch was held at Malmesbury on Dec. 14th, when the secretary reported the membership of the Branch had doubled itself during the year; he was also pleased to see several younger members had joined their ranks, particularly at Corsham, Shipton Moyne and Tetbury.

The Rev. A. Beaghen conducted a service especially for members in the Abbey, and later joined them for refreshments in the Parish Hall.

Officers appointed were chairman, Mr. H. Blacker (Malmesbury); Ringing Master, Mr. V. Hemus (Malmesbury); representative on management committee, Mr. R. Tigwell (Chippenham); secretary-treasurer, Mr. H. Heath (Chippenham). Ringing took place in a variety of methods before and after the meeting.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch

The annual meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at St. John's, Devizes, the 70 ringers present including visitors from Chippenham, Uphill, Salisbury, Frome, Backwell, Nailsea, Clutton, Twerton, Shiplake, Blunsdon, Swindon and Sussex.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Mr. Dabbs) and the business meeting was presided over by the chairman (Mr. A. Week) supported by Mr. W. C. West (general secretary).

Mr. G. Harding, of Trowbridge, was congratulated on completing 50 years as a member of the Devizes Branch, with Mr. J. Harding, of Urchfont, a close second. All the Branch officers were re-elected. The next three meetings were fixed for Holt, Potterne and Urchfont. Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for providing tea. Methods were rung at all three towers to suit all ringers.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Crewe the Most Progressive Branch

More than 80 ringers and friends attended the annual meeting of the Crewe Branch held at Christ Church on January 18th.

Ringing was under the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. Ivor Nichols, supported by the towerkeeper, Mr. George Packer, who had the bells in good-going condition, and ringing ranged from rounds, standard and Surprise methods. Unfortunately, one of the B.Y.P.'s qualified for his degree 'N.S.B.'; a new stay on the next bell had been renewed only that morning. Still, it did not prevent the 10 going merrily, only it meant getting the bell 'up' and holding it each time.

The Guild Office was said by the Vicar (the Rev. Francis G. Gentry) and those present included the Rev George and Mrs. Needham, Mrs. Gentry, the Master of the Guild (Mr. J. W. Clark) and Mrs. Clark, the two churchwardens and Mr. 'Bill' Pritchard (Tarporley).

A very substantial tea was followed by the business meeting with the Vicar in the chair. Mr. Wilf. Kerr (hon. secretary), in his report, said monthly meetings had been well attended although there were still too many black spots in the Guild, with three in the Branch. He was pleased to welcome back St. Helen's, Tarporley. Sunday service ringing was being well maintained.

Mr. F. Stenson (hon. treasurer) said that despite outstanding subscriptions (although over £3 had come in that day) the funds were ample for the Branch's needs. The statement was adopted.

The officers re-elected were: The Rev. F. G. Gentry, chairman; Mr. Wilfred Kerr, hon. secretary; Mr. Frank Stenson, hon. treasurer and representative of 'The Ringing World'; Mr. Bernard Ongly rejoins the general committee along with Mr. Jack Brough and Mr. Fred Sutton; Branch Ringing Masters (8-bell towers), Mr. Ivor R. Nichols; (6-bell towers), Mr. Herbert Sutton, vice Mr. Derek Smith, on leaving the town; auditors, Mr. Herbert Sutton and Mr. Alec Merrill..

Meetings for 1958 were arranged as follows; February 15th, Holmes Chapel; March 15th, Wybunbury; April 19th, Acton; May 3rd, annual general meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild at York Minster; 10th annual Chester Guild Festival at Stockport and the 31st Goostrey; June 21st, Church Lawton; July (open date); August 30th, Tarporley; September 20th, Wrenbury; October 18th, Nantwich; November 15th, Alsager; December 13th, Sandbach.

Mr. R. D. Langford moved the vote of thanks and extended a special welcome to the Master of the Guild. Mr. J. W. Clark, in reply, said it was a pleasure to him and his wife to attend the Crewe Branch, as it was certainly the most progressive—and friendliest—in the Guild.

OBITUARY

MR. L. CHARLESWORTH

Mr. Leonard Charlesworth, of Sheffield, passed away on January 6th at the age of 82. Failing eyesight compelled him to give up ringing four years ago. He had been a keen member of the Sheffield Cathedral company for 45 years, before which he rang at Ranmoor.

He rang 28 peals for the Yorkshire Association, but service ringing at the Cathedral he regarded as the most important side ringing. In his youth he was exceedingly strong and a fine heavy-bell ringer, but always an immaculate striker. He leaves a widow, son and daughter.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

Diamond Jubilee Dinner

The Bishop of Truro was present at the diamond jubilee dinner of the Guild held at the Brookdale Hotel, Truro, on January 18th, at which nearly 60 members attended. Others present included the president (Mr. A. Carveth), the Ringing Master (Mr. D. Burnett), the secretary (Rev. H. Trewhella), the treasurer (Mr. S. Robinson), Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram (a former ringing Master, who represents the Guild on the Diocesan Advisory Board), Miss Symons (former president), Mr. H. J. Clark (Assistant Ringing Master), the Rev. A. S. Roberts (secretary of the Penzance Branch), the Rev. E. M. Thomas and the Rev. H. H. Dixon, who are ringers. Members were present from various parts of the Diocese as far east as the Tamar, and Gulval in the west. Mr. Southeard (Master of the Cathedral Tower and for many years Ringing Master of the Guild) was unable to be present, but the Vice-Master of the Cathedral (Mr. B. Parkin) attended.

Toasts were proposed to 'The Queen' and 'The Church and the Diocesan Guild of Ringers,' and the speakers were the Lord Bishop, the Rev. A. S. Roberts, Mr. Carveth and Mr. Burnett. The Lord Bishop said that although he knew nothing about bells or ringing he greatly valued the services rendered by the ringers of the Diocese and that he never realised before he came to Cornwall how closely they were linked to the Church: many of them were not only ringers but held other offices.

Mr. Roberts told how the Guild was founded in 1897 with the object of raising the standard of ringing, which was very low in those days, and most of the bells in poor condition. During that time there had been four Ringing Masters and four secretaries and numbers in the Guild had steadily increased and ringing improved.

A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by four members and then two ladies played tunes, each holding four handbells. The evening concluded most appropriately with 120 Grandsire Doubles on handbells, for it was with this method that change ringing was introduced to Cornish ringers, and a silver medal used to be given to those who could ring in turn each of the four inside bells to any calling.

We are very grateful to Mr. Burnett and the Rev. A. S. Roberts for arranging the dinner, and to Mr. A. Carveth for his generosity.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Waltham Abbey, Essex, was visited by the Northern District for their annual meeting on January 18th. Methods rung ranged from rounds to Kent Maximus.

Tea was partaken in the Church Hall, where 35 ringers and friends sat down.

The business meeting followed with Mr. C. A. Hughes in the chair.. In his report he stated that this would be his last year in office, as he had been Master since 1937 and thought it was about time for a change. The District had had a very successful year and the balance in hand was good. Mr. H. W. Rogers thanked Mr. Hughes for all the work he had done for the Association.

Officer elected for the coming year were:—Master, Mr. L. W. Bullock; secretary, Mr. S. Nelson; treasurer, Mr. D. Hewitt; steward, Mr. L. Prior.

Thanks are due to Canon A. V. G. Cleall, Mrs. C. W. Roberts and Mr. Michael Austin for a very successful meeting. L. W. B.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN

Wellingborough Branch

The Branch annual meeting was held at Rushden on January 18th. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. I. E. Douglas Jones), who gave an interesting address. The collection for the Guild Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £1 15s. The company of approximately 60 adjourned to the Church Institute, where a fine tea was prepared by the ladies of the catering committee supervised by Mrs. L. Priestley.

Before commencing the business proceedings the president called for a minute of silence in remembrance of Mr. J. Labutt, whose funeral took place that morning at Easton Maudit. The report and balance sheet for 1957 were accepted and showed a balance in hand, but the average attendance was lower than the previous year.

After 23 years as secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. Bigley, of Irthlingborough, retired, and was presented with a travelling clock by the Branch president (the Rev. C. W. Knight) on behalf of the Branch. The new secretary elected was Mr. J. Skerritt, of Irthlingborough. Mr. H. Wooding, of Yardley Hastings, was elected on the central committee, all the other officers being re-elected.

It was decided to visit Mears Ashby, if possible, during April, for the next quarterly meeting. Two new ringing members were elected from Irthlingborough and two from Ecton.

BEACONSFIELD'S NEW SCHOOL

A new Church of England Primary School was opened at Beaconsfield, Bucks, on January 8th by H.R.H. Princess Alexandra of Kent, and dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Oxford. It is believed to be the largest of its kind in the country, and is the first Church school to be built in Buckinghamshire for some years.

This school replaces the old Church Primary School, built in 1872, and on the Wednesday evening eight ex-pupils of the old school rang the bells of the Parish Church in honour of the Princess' visit. They were Harry Wingrove, Sheila Hare, Gordon Wingrove, Richard Broadley, Ann Shiels, Audrey Green, David Lamb and Stanley Hatfield.

Afterwards 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung by four ex-pupils, one parent, one ex-parent and two members of staff: Harry Wingrove (conductor) 1, Gwen Reeves 2, Dorothy Fletcher 3, Ann Shiels 4, Albert Bridges 5, John Meads 6, David Lamb 7, Stanley Hatfield 8.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Sussex Branch

The annual general meeting of the Sussex District was held on January 11th at Seaford, and at the appointed time quite a large number of ringers assembled, only to learn the very sad news of the verger's death in the church the previous day. At the Vicar's suggestion, the bells were rung half-muffled for an hour during the afternoon, the curtailing of the ringing being in itself, as we were reminded during the service following, a tribute to one who served the church faithfully for so many years.

After the service 23 people sat down to a most enjoyable tea at 'Granny's,' and then the ladies held their meeting in the choir vestry at church. The business of the day was disposed of in record time, the officers and committee all being re-elected: Mrs. Betty Percy as vice-president; Miss Daphne Lester as secretary; and Mrs. C. A. Levett, Miss A. Eldridge, Miss E. Everest and Miss K. W. Apps to the committee. Three new members were elected:—Miss Jeannette Plumer (Wivelsfield), Miss Katherine Stisted and Miss Celia Whitfeld (Battle)—bringing the total membership of the District to 42. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar, tower captain and organist.

Several members afterwards travelled to Southover, Lewes, to ring, and here touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and a course of Double Norwich were brought round. Again a bereavement caused the bells to be half-muffled, the Vicar having recently lost his mother-in-law. D. F. L.

NEW RECRUITS

By ALAN A. J. BUSWELL

IT was about nine weeks ago that Fred Snowball was called up for National Service in the Army. He was rather disappointed, as he was getting on so well at learning to conduct Doubles at his home tower, and then having to leave knowing full well that he would be unable to do much ringing during the next few months. There was one consolation that maintained his interest; he loved to prick out changes on paper and invent new methods without worrying whether they were false or not, and this could be done anywhere.

He did it sitting on his bed in the Barrack Room during the evenings and there were about twenty of his comrades milling around all the time. They all seemed interested in what he was doing, but that was about all and went away thinking that he was a bit of a 'crank.' He did not say, however, that it was anything to do with bell ringing, but just said that he was playing around with figures and seeing how many combinations he could get out of a certain number of figures. There was one person who seemed more interested in it than the rest. He was Claude Dumas.

Claude asked him to explain what he was doing, so that evening Fred showed him how one got all the combinations of four numbers and then went on to explain the variations. The inevitable question had to be asked some time: How did you learn all this and what has it got to do with?

Fred had to start his explaining all over again, but this time on the art of campanology and the connection which it had with permutations. Claude became more interested in the subject and he even asked if he could take up the art, but it was explained to him that he had better leave it until he was demobbed as he would be shifted from one place to another and so pass through too many instructors to be of any use.

This put the damper on him a bit as he did not like the thought of having to wait nearly two years before being let into a belfry. An opportune moment was when Fred received his new set of handbells from the founders. Claude could be taught to ring them without having to worry about bell management and bell control. There was one drawback, however. Would they be posted together at the end of their training and so continue in the good work? This they could do nothing about, but, nevertheless, they started ringing Minimus and soon were able to ring all the methods that were printed in a past issue of 'The Ringing World.'

The time came all too soon when their training was at an end and they were to be posted. All their company were paraded and the postings were read out. Claude, being near the beginning in the alphabet, was read out first and was told that he was going to Hong Kong. His heart sank. All the other names were read out and practically every place in the world was mentioned, and then it came. Claude could not believe his ears at first, but yes — Fred Snowball had been given the same posting.

The next few days passed very quickly and they soon found themselves in Hong Kong with, of course, their beloved handbells. They realised that they would have to find a third person before they could do any serious ringing, and as luck would have it they found John Peters, who had done a little change ringing, but knew no methods at all, as he came from Devon.

John was asked if he would like to take up handbell ringing and of course he accepted with glee. The three of them quickly got down to some serious practising and were soon able to ring plain courses of Bob Doubles. Now that Fred had taught the other two to ring the plain courses from scratch he now had to teach himself to conduct, and with the little experience he had before he was called up he soon had the other two ringing the full extent. To get them ringing Minor was quite easy and they found no real difficulty except for Fred, who had to learn the new callings and the different ways to get the various extents.

One day Claude had nothing much to do so he started pricking the changes of Bob Minor and, experimenting with them, found that he could reverse the method. Also he found that he could put the two methods together and still come out at rounds after the five leads. He showed his discovery to Fred, who was extremely pleased with what he had done and pointed out to him that these were recognised methods.

At the next practice night they had a go at these two new methods. They found it difficult at first, but they were soon ringing short touches. At the end of one of these practices Fred brought up the subject of ringing a peal in the methods. They were a bit taken aback at the idea of it at first, but they thought that they would be able to do it if they could get used to ringing for long periods at a time.

A few months later there appeared in the peal columns of 'The Ringing World' a peal of Minor 'in hand' in three methods and it had the following footnotes:—

First peal 'in hand' for all the band;
First peal as conductor.
The ringer of 1–2 (i.e., Claude) has never rung a tower bell and the ringer of 2–3 (John) has never rung methods on tower bells.
Believed to be the first peal in Hong Kong, China.

Their next peal was in the middle of the Indian Ocean during their voyage home and this had the peculiar footnote as being rung while travelling between Longtitude 70° and 80° East along the Equator.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. T. E. Sone returned to Marden, Kent, where he rang his first peal on January 19th, 1911, for his 600th peal. Unfortunately Mr. F. S. Macey, the only other survivor of the first peal, was unable to stand in. After the peal the Vicar (the Rev. C. G. Eagling) congratulated the band and Mr. Sone on his fine record.

Mr. Peter J. Staniforth has been appointed official umpire on behalf of the Central Council in the attempt at 40,320 Plain Bob Major at Loughborough to-morrow. The best of luck to all the band.

The local band at Weldon, Northants, rang their first peal on January 17th and this is the reward of many hours of patient instruction by Mr. F. A. Ginns. This is the first peal on the bells by a service band since the installation of the bells in 1710.

After conducting a confirmation service at Winlaton, Durham, the Bishop of Jarrow (the Rt. Rev. J. A. Ramsbotham) went up to the belfry and thanked the ringers. He had a word with each and was most interested when the Rector told him that among his ringers were three fathers and three sons.

After an hour's ringing of very good Plain Bob Caters at North Stoneham on January 24th a peal attempt was lost by ringers from North Stoneham, Bourneham, Portsmouth, Newbury, Thatcham and Highclere. It was a farewell to Cedric Murphy, who is joining the R.A.F.

The band that rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Erith on January 24th would like to thank Mr. A. G. Hill for kindly standing in at a minute's notice, so as to enable Mr. T. J. Lock to complete the circle. It was his first Surprise peal since before the war. Congratulations!

Some 46 ringers attended an informal dinner and social evening at Lovell's Restaurant, Newport, on January 25th, arranged by the Monmouth Branch. Thanks were expressed to Mr. Jack Jarves for arranging the dinner, to Mrs. Ron Lucus, the M.C., and Miss Delwyn Evans, accordioniste, but the best compliment of members' enjoyment was the wish that it would be an annual event.

The peal at St. Andrew's, Pershore, was the first peal on the bells since 1927 and Mr. Albert Grinnall's first peal since 1936.

'The Irish Bell News' maintains its reputation for brightness with No. 1 of Vol. III. An article on the bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, is appropriate in view of Whitsun. 1958.

In 1903 Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen, of Braintree, rang his first peal of London Surprise Major. At Halstead, recently, 55 years later, he rang his 86th in the method. Not bad going for an 'old 'un.'—C. J. S.

Writes A. H. P.: 'What pleasure to see the names of Billy Hewitt, Albert Coles and Reuben Sanders in a peal together, and what memories they recall! As one ringer remarked years ago, "No need to wonder what sort of a peal. Look at the names!" How thankful Reuben must be that his health is so good.' (See Page 70.)

Previous to the peal at Hose, Leics, on January 11th there had been only one peal in the tower—in 1927, conducted by Mr. William Sharpe. The peal was the first on the bells, as the bells were recast in 1938. Mr. William Sharpe, now 80, completed 53 years as captain of Hose ringers but retired two years ago. He is still able to take an active part in local ringing.

Mr. J. T. Dyke's Retirement

Announcing his retirement as chairman through continued ill-health, at the meeting of the Frome Branch, Mr. J. T. Dyke, referred to a recent leading article in 'The Ringing World'—'A Dedicated Sport.' He said:—

'During the 44 years in which I have been connected with the Branch I have always kept the right uses of church bells to the fore, viz., regular and punctual ringing for service and the necessary practice, which includes peal ringing. At the same time I have always set by face against birthday peals and things of that sort. It can hardly be right to use church bells to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of one of the ringers. The national Press a few months ago recorded an even more weird use of church bells. In a small Devonshire town, it was recorded, the church bells were rung late at night to celebrate the victory in London of one of their young boxers. I am confident that this could not occur here, not even if Yeovil won the football cup.'

Of the Branch Corporate Communion, which received such a welcome at Radstock, he said: 'In a Branch the size of ours, attendance on these occasions demands considerable sacrifice. So it should do. May we never fail to make these efforts.'

The secretary, Mr. E. J. Chivers, reported steady progress during the year. Membership topped the 200 mark with 23 towers affiliated, Marston Bigot being the newest. Young peal ringers have done particularly well this year, with Miss Frances Massey ringing her first at the age of ten, R. Abbott conducting Cambridge Minor at 15, and E. Bray now conducting Triples, while D. Hoare, with numerous peals to his credit, continues to organise his Wednesday band for Surprise ringing.

Before the meeting, members stood in silence in memory of Mr. William Flower and Mr. Frank Veasey. Apologies for absence were received from the Ringing Master (Mr. R. Beck), whose daughter was being married that day, from Frome tower captain (Mr. D. Flower), because of illness, and from Messrs. H. Baker and M. Rose. Eleven new performing members and two associates were elected. They were: Beckington, Miss J. Phillips, R. Smith: Chewton Mendip, T. Whitfield: Doulting, F. Warren: Hinton Blewitt, Misses D. Lyons and V. Russell, B. Smith and D. Uphill; Shepton Mallet, J. Mitchell and P. J. Newman: Whatley, Miss V. Bailey. Associates: Buckland Dinham, the Rev. S. Max Benjamin; Radstock, the Rev. N. Mitchell.

All last year's officers, with the exception of the retiring chairman, were re-elected. The new chairman is Rev. Norman Mitchell, of Radstock.

Mr. E. Bray suggested that monthly practice meetings might be held, at least in the summer. It was agreed to consider this and make any arrangements at the next quarterly meeting.

Mr. F. Carter, of Radstock, proposed the vote of thanks and mentioned Mrs. Hilda Massey and helpers for the tea, and Frome ringers for their welcome.

Nearly 60 members and friends representing 22 towers attended the meeting and were joined by others for an enjoyable evening's ringing of many methods, from rounds to Double Norwich and Yorkshire Surprise.

NORTH HERTS' PEAL WEEK

Dear Sir,—My reaction on perusing your peal columns in the issue of January 24th is that anybody who encourages a lad of 13 years of age to ring six peals in five days on 'old style' bells, must be devoid of any sense of proportion or responsibility.—Yours faithfully. C. W. HANCOCK.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Dorchester Branch

The collapse and sudden death of Mr. Frederick Precey while attending the annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch at Dorchester on January 18th resulted in the evening's ringing concluding at 7 p.m. Mr. Precey was Branch Ringing Master for 11 years until last year, when he retired owing to ill-health.

Tea followed the Guild service at St. Peter's Church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. P. F. Heaton), who also gave the address.

The Rev. P. F. Heaton (vice-chairman) presided at the business meeting. Mr. J. H. Hayne (retiring hon. secretary) reported an increased membership of 161, of whom 148 are ringing members. Eleven quarters and two peals were rung. The financial statement showed a credit balance of £27.

Officers were re-elected as follows: Chairman, the Rev. S. P. Rowcroft; vice-chairman, the Rev. P. J. Heaton; Ringing Master, Mr. H. J. Ford (Abbotsbury); Deputy Ringing Masters, Messrs. J. W. Rose (Wyke Regis) and Mr. J. Slade (Preston). Mr. R. H. Duke, of St. Peter's, Dorchester, was elected hon. secretary and treasurer on the resignation of Mr. J. H. Hayne after holding the office for 11 years. A vote of thanks to Mr. Hayne was carried with acclamation. Mr. Hayne returned thanks and wished Mr. Duke every success in his new post. He also thanked him for his invaluable help as assistant secretary for the past nine years. Twelve new members were elected.

Places suggested for meetings in 1958 were: Abbotsbury, Cattistock, Wyke Regis and possibly Bradford Peverelle and Stratton. It was stated that Messrs. Taylor were soon coming to hang the bells at Piddlethrentide.

The address of the present secretary is: Mr. R. H. Duke, Morland, 46, Prince of Wales Road, Dorchester, Dorset.

A vote of thanks was given to Mr. Duke for the arrangements for tea and ringing and to the Rector for the service and taking the chair at the meeting R. H. D.

Another Peal at St. Paul's

The peal recorded this week of Stedman Cinques at St. Paul's Cathedral, rung on January 25th and conducted by Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, is the 17th on the bells. The last peal was rung for the Queen's coronation on June 20th, 1953.

Of the peals rung, 13 have been Stedman Cinques, three Kent T.B. Maximus and one Cambridge Surprise Maximus. The first peal was rung on December 10th, 1881.

THE LADIES' GUILD

South Wales District

The annual meeting of the South Wales District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Llandaff Cathedral on January 18th. The service was conducted by the Dean of Llandaff (the Very Rev. Eryl Thomas). Tea was afterwards served in the Hall, given and prepared by the Llandaff ringers. Mr. R. E. Coles thanked them on behalf of the visitors.

At the business meeting a favourable report of the past year was given by the secretary. District officers elected were: Vice-president, Mrs. Whitworth; secretary, Mrs. D. J. King; committee, Mrs. J. James, Mrs. F. Bailey, Mrs. D. Bruton, Miss Margaret Way; Central Committee, Mrs. R. E. Coles, Miss Dilys Hulbert.

Two new members were elected—Miss Carol Eustace, of Cheltenham, and Miss R. Dunning, of Ebbw Vale. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Sketty, Swansea.

REUBEN SANDERS

On Sunday, January 12th, some of us were having coffee after ringing when Reuben remarked that he was enjoying his birthday! To my own knowledge he had rung the tenor at St. Margaret's, Westminster, for a wedding on the previous Wednesday, and on the Friday for a broadcast rehearsal. On Saturday he rang the ninth at Southgate to Stedman Caters in 3 hours and 18 minutes (see peal columns) and rang it faultlessly at a really good pace. That very Sunday morning he had been at Westminster at 9 a.m. for the broadcast ringing and afterwards had rung at Streatham for morning service. And Reuben's age is not 64, but 84 years young!

Mr. Sanders was in his thirties before his first peal, but his total to date is 648, including 127 on 12 bells. Among notable feats may be mentioned: The tenor to the first peal of Cambridge Maximus in Ireland; the 11th to Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maximus at Exeter Cathedral; the only man to ring two Surprise peals (Bristol and London) at Westminster Abbey; took part in the long peal (15,264 changes) of Bristol Surprise Major; also in the well-known four peals in different Surprise methods in one day; 7,000 Cambridge Maximus at Bow, Cheapside; and 56 peals at Southwark Cathedral.

Whether or not there is any significant connection between his good health, his outstanding ability with a heavy bell and his never-failing good humour, and the fact that he does not conduct peals, I cannot say. Perhaps it is only his modesty that lets him leave bob calling to others. But I know of no one I would rather stand beside when ringing a heavy bell. His many friends in the Exercise wish him many more birthday peals, with continued good health, happiness and vigour. W. G. W.

B.B.C. AT EAST HARLING 'MARDLE'

The fifth annual dinner 'mardle' of the East Harling bellringers was held on Saturday, January 25th—the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul—in the Nag's Head, Harling. Thirty-two ringers and friends attended, including ringers from Costessy, Wymondham, Diss, Bunwell, Garboldisham, Blo-Norton and New Buckenham.

Short touches of Treble Bob and various Minor methods were rung on the tower bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Church beforehand in order to shake the icicles off the boots of some of the more distant travellers!

After the dinner (which included pheasant) the company got to grips with handbells. Interesting comparisons were made between Mr. Goodman's 150-year-old handbells and a relatively new set of Mr. Leonard Last.

David Brigson and Jonah Barrington, of the B.B.C. East Anglian Region (Norwich) were present, and recordings were made of touches of various methods of Triples, Minor and Major as well as some excellent ones of Mr. Charles Goodman's company ringing 'Ding Dong Merrily on High.' Local jargon, idiom and some real campanological discussions were also recorded. We hope that this get-together between ringers and the B.B.C. in this part of the country will help both ringers and broadcasters. P. J.

SOCIETY OF SHERWOOD YOUTHS

The Society of Sherwood Youth at their annual meeting on January 25th at St Mary's, Nottingham, elected the following officers:—Master, Mr. F. A. Salter: hon. secretary, Mrs. P. C. Clarke: treasurer, Mr. W. Nichols.

The ten bells of St. Mary's were rung during the afternoon and evening to Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, Plain Bob Major and Royal, Double Norwich Major and Cambridge Surprise Major. P. C. C.

NEWS FROM ESSEX ASSOCIATION

South-West Division Healthy

The South-Western Division of the Essex Association held its annual general meeting at St. Andrew's, Hornchurch on January 11th. Ringing preceded the service, conducted by the chaplain of Hornchurch, who also joined us at tea.

About 90 members and friends were present at tea to welcome Mr. Reeve after his motor-cycle accident. Later, in the tower, Mr. Reeve was to be seen ringing Yorkshire with a precision which belied his 83 years.

Opening the meeting, Mr. Crampion welcomed Mr. Heazel and Mr. Ludkin, always honoured visitors at South-Western meetings. He asked the meeting to remember absent friends, especially Maurice Baker and Dick Stannard, the latter having had to give up active ringing. He congratulated Mr. Oliver, of Downham, on his 50 years of service ringing, which had recently been honoured at Shenfield. Silent tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. Richman, an honorary member.

Mr. Wilmington, in his report, said that he had approached 1957 with some trepidation after such a successful year as 1956, but they had managed to maintain an even keel, with membership well up to standard. There had been restorations at Epping and Chigwell Row, and they hoped that Orsett would soon be ringing again. During the year they had lost three old ringers, Roland Fenn, A. C. Hardy and Bob Chambers, who had been called to higher service. There had been five marriages within the Division. It was hoped to repeat last year's successful coach outing to the Saffron Walden Great Ringing Day, and this looked like being an annual event.

Mr. Willmington appealed to members not to make the Association meetings an occasion for tower grabbing, and said they should take their place at the service and business meeting as well as paying a fleeting visit to the tower. Mr. Heazel added that the Association had given a ringers' welcome to the Queen when she visited Brentford in the autumn.

All the officers of the Division were re-elected, and a healthy number of new members were elected (two from Shenfield, four from Hornchurch, five from Waltham Abbey, one from Barking, two from Rayleigh, one from North Weald and one honorary member from this tower, one from Woodford, one from Havering, one from Prittlewell, two honorary members from Wanstead, two non-resident members following a peal at Writtle, two from Leytonstone and one from Bentley South Weald). The last named was Mr. George Sewell, who was re-elected so that he could later be proposed for life membership. A most welcome new member was Mr. Attwater, from Barkingside, vigorous and smiling 80 years young. Mr. Attwater had been to the U.S.A. and had helped to teach ringing at Kent School, Connecticut.

Mr. Willmington asked for a nomination to fill the vacancy on the Central Council. A young member, Mr. Lionel Woods, of Dagenham, was proposed, and although Lionel demurred on the grounds that he lacked technical knowledge, he was persuaded to accept nomination. Two Walthamstow ringers, Mr. Maynard and Mr. Rumens, were proposed for life membership, and also Mr. Oliver, of Downham. Mr. Sewell, of Bentley South Weald, was first re-elected a member and then put forward for life membrship.

The programme for 1958 was accepted and it was pleasing to note that Orsett appeared for the first time since pre-war days. Mr. Chalk congratulated Mr. Gant on the excellent arrangements that had been made for the visit to Chelmsford of the Central Council. He also announced that Waltham Abbey was offering several of their part-worn ropes to any tower where ropes were needed and funds were low. To conclude the meeting, Mr. Turner moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Gant and all those who had helped to make the visit to Hornchurch such a pleasant one. The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £3 2s. 4d. J. E. M. H.

Northern District

The annual meeting of the Northern District was held at Bocking on January 4th, when some 67 members assembled at the Deanery Church of St. Mary and kept the bells going until 4.30, when the Dean of Bocking (the Very Rev. H. D. S. Bowen) conducted Evensong and gave an inspiring address. Tea was prepared in the Workman's Hall by the Bocking ringers; this was greatly appreciated.

Miss Snowden, the District Master, opened the meeting and welcomed the visitors, and the Dean then presided over the business.

The Master and secretary reported that a most successful year had just concluded; more peals had been rung and there were larger attendances at the five meetings held. The bells at Halstead had been rehung and dedicated, and the record peal of Minor was rung at Stisted. Sunday service ringing had been maintained.

Four new members were elected, as were all the District officers. All the retiring officers of the Association were re-nominated and Mr. O. Broyd, of Sible Hedingham, was nominated for life membership. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Felsted in March. Votes of thanks were accorded to all who had worked and made the meeting a great success. A return to the tower and handbells concluded the proceedings

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

About 50 members were present at the annual meeting of the Gainsborough District held at All Saints', Gainsborough, on January 18th. Ten new members were elected and a special welcome was extended to eight new members from Bilton, Isle of Axholme, where the four bells are shortly to be augmented to six.

The officers for 1958 are:—President, Canon J. E. Roberts; Ringing Master, Mr. G. E. Feirn; hon. secretary, Mr. L. A. Lunn; representative on Branch Committee, Mr. J. Blaikie.

The following places and dates were chosen for this year's meetings: Stow, February 15th; Corringham, May 15th; Bilton, July 19th; Broughton, September 20th; Upton and Willingham, November 15th. The outing to Knaresborough, June 28th.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District

For the 11th annual meeting of the Newark District, ringing was divided between the bells of St. Giles', Balderton, and Newark Parish Church in the evening.

The business meeting was held in the ringing chamber of Newark Parish Church and commenced with a moment's silence in respect of two departed friends—the Rev. C. J. Sturton and Mr. J. Brothwell.

The report and statement of accounts was adopted, and the officers re-elected, viz.:—Chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter; hon. secretary, Mr. W. L. Exton; Ringing Master, Mr. T. D. Clarke; committee, Messrs. G. E. Foster and C. J. Copp. New members elected were: G. Davis (Newark), J. Pratchett (Southwell) and W. Rushby (Sutton-on-Trent).

A joint meeting with the North Notts District at Tuxford on March 8th was approved, and Winthorpe was chosen for the May meeting. The collection for the Bell Repair Fund was 18s.

A letter from the Vicar of Averham, which had recently appeared in the local Press, concerning the condition of his bells and the possibility of some restoration being done, was discussed. It was finally decided to ask the general secretary to contact the Vicar, pledging the Guild's support as far as possible.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Hunts District Annual

January 18th was the day of the annual meeting of the Hunts District, which was held in Huntingdon. Godmanchester's delightful eight were available at 2.30 and good use was made of these until four o'clock. All Saints' was open from 3.45 until the service, which was conducted by the District president (the Rev. J. M. E. Bagley).

Tea followed, prepared by local ladies, and then came the meeting. The secretary reported a record year in membership, etc. All the officers were re-elected with the exception of the Deputy Ringing Master, and Mr. J. Dyer was voted to this vacant position. After tea good use was made of All Saints' and St. Mary's bells by a very good attendance of members and friends from over a wide area.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

Ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise at the annual meeting of the North Norfolk Branch held on January 11th at Wroxham and attended by 36 ringers and friends. The Rev. A. Cole conducted the service, Mr. Cowell was organist and Mr. Nolan Golden read the lesson.

Following an excellent tea, Mr. A. Bason presided at the business meeting, supported by the Rev. H. G. Lillingston (president). Officers re-elected were Mr. A. Bason, chairman; Mr. C. Bird, Branch secretary; Mr. G. Sayer, Branch Ringing Master; Mr. J. R. Smith and Mr. W. Clover were elected to the standing committee and Messrs. W. R. Catchpole, H. F. Carter, J. G. Dowe, F. C. Goodman and C. H. Moore to the Branch Committee. Mr. W. G. Spence (Norwich) was elected a probationary member.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SERVICE RINGING IN LEICESTERSHIRE

Dear Sir,—May I be allowed to comment on a statement from the front page of the 'R.W.' by M. R. P., of December 6th, who writes: 'I do not know if all bells in Leicester are rung Sunday by Sunday, but one church can manage Surprise Maximus for service.'

The answer to the first part is, of course, none, and I wonder how many captains could write to you, sir, and claim to have kept all their bells ringing for every Sunday service over a period of years? I do know that for four years after the war, the eight bells at Barwell were rung twice every Sunday and for practice. It was to the credit of the local band that not once were there insufficient ringers to ring the full peal.

What a church can manage to ring and what in fact it does ring regularly is very much a question of attendance in a great many cases, and it is true that a good number of towers suffer the handicap of 'hangers on' who attend when it is convenient to themselves, and feel that they are performing a great favour when the spirit moves them so to do.

How many times have I been to churches for a ring to be told that 'if they all came we could ring a touch of so and so,' and usually end up by ringing half the bells or none at all. That is why Guild reports are always misleading. The number of ringers shown as attached to towers very rarely gives a true state of the ringing actually accomplished. Several weeks ago I went to one church in the hope of having a ring before the service. There was, in the tower, a ring of eight. There were on paper 14 Guild members. We chimed six, and there were three other ringers, all choristers. It is all very distressing to hear Grandsire Doubles being rung from a 12-bell tower on Christmas Day for Mattins. I do not wish to imply that the method was less worthy for the occasion than Maximus—it was very well struck—but what I do suggest is that Leicester ringers would be the last to claim that they were on top of the world as far as Sunday service ringing is concerned. To believe so would create a further sense of apathy to a problem which is the concern of all conscientious tower captains and regular ringers, not only in this county but in every Guild and Association throughout the land.—Yours faithfully,

THOMAS C. BELTON.

Birstall, Leics.

SPEED OF RINGING

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. N. F. Moxon's comment on the recent peal at Merstham in 2 hours and 33 minutes, I would mention that I rang another peal there in May, 1954, in 2 hours and 34 minutes. The tenor measures 43½ inches in diameter, so is probably very close to 14 cwt. In each case I had the same 5th ringer, Mr. Ralph Bird. Several times I have rung this weight of tenor in under 2 hours and 35 minutes, and the main qualifications are fitness and a liking for hard work.

In fact, I find it difficult to ring anything under 16 cwt. in over 2 hours and 45 minutes, and when ringing at various six-bell towers am usually surprised that a peal by another band has taken longer than 2 hours and 50 minutes. In all cases we keep an open lead, but the faster six bells are rung the better they sound: 32-33 changes per minute is the speed of the Devon call-change competition ringing. Most of the fast peals of mine have been rung on bells hung in the 'old style' in wooden frames. With modern bells, hung in metal frames, and with the tenor well 'tucked up,' a fast peal is not so easy.—Yours faithfully,

A. PATRICK CANNON.

Dorking, Surrey.

6-5 AT BACKSTROKE

Dear Sir,—I doubt whether either Mr. Chant or Mr. Moxon have expressed an unbiased opinion on 6-5's at backstroke in Minor ringing. The latter seems to be concerned mainly or only with closed-lead ringing in his letter (page 63), where the objection to 6-5's at backstroke obviously does not arise. I cannot understand his argument in the second paragraph of that letter, that the 5th should give plenty of room to the tenor. If there is to be a 6-5, whether at hand or at back, then the tenor strikes in 5ths and the 5th in 6th's place. The phrase 'plenty of room' implies striking the 5th in 6¼ or 6½'s place. Is that what Mr. Moxon wants? If so, then he is bringing another factor into the argument, that of the interval between bells in 5th's and 6th's place, whereas Mr. Chant and other exponents of the 6-5's at backstroke theory argue only from the point of view of order of notes.

The argument put forward by Mr. Chant, that some hymn tunes and chants finish the half-verse with a 6-5 cadence, is hardly valid when applied to ringing. It would be all right if we rang changes in groups of eight, say, and had our 6-5 at the end of the fourth change. But since most of us ring changes in twos, and then have a pause, the only place for the 6-5, using his analogy, is at the end of the first change, that is, at handstroke. Let him listen to some really well-struck Minor (open leads, of course) rung at a brisk rate, and then say whether he honestly likes a 5-6 at handstroke followed by a 6-5 at backstroke.

Further, would anyone care to say what the incidence of 6-5's at backstroke in 720's of irregular (pace Chant) Minor methods is compared with regular ones.—Yours faithfully,

WILFRID F. MORETON.

Hereford.

P.S.—To come to Mr. Cannon's aid. Mr. Moxon's argument that to ring seven blows every two seconds would sound awful is hardly acceptable. It would mean that to ring a peal of Major on a 14 cwt. tenor in 3 hours and 20 minutes is too fast. Most ringers would say that a suitable time for a peal on that weight is 2 hours and 50 minutes to 3 hours, and at that speed there would be approximately eight bells struck every two seconds (but there would be no 8-7's at backstroke). Speed of ringing depends partly on the sound of the bells (inside and outside the tower) and partly on the ability of the ringers to put the bells where they want to (and this depends on skill. 'go' of the bells, draught of rope and, no doubt, pendulic swing) and partly on the whim of the conductor. I think that in some peals a lot of time is wasted through waiting or 'hanging up' for someone else who is slow.

60th ANNIVERSARY OF HEAVITREE BELLS

Dear Sir,—I read with much interest the account of the above, for it recalled the early days of the Heavitree Society when my father and I used to ascend the 52 steps four times weekly to help the newly-formed band into the art of method ringing. My dad worked hard to maintain good ringing on a lovely octave from 1898 to 1904, and it may be of interest to the Devon Guild if I quote from a framed testimonial which hangs in my sitting room: 'This testimonial, together with a marble clock, was presented by members of the above Society to Mr. Ferris Shepherd in grateful recognition of his services as Instructor, in remembrance of good fellowship and friendship over the whole period of the Society's existence from February, 1898, until his severance from it upon leaving England in January, 1904, and with every good wish for his future welfare.'

There are 24 names on the testimonial, and the oval-shape photograph of the tower is still in good condition. The marble clock still keeps good time in its position just under the testimonial, and its gong reminds me of the days when ringing and good fellowship produced a local Society of which the Devon Guild can always be proud.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

SATURN TREBLE BOB DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—This method, published in the December 13th issue of 'The Ringing World,' and referred to in the leader by E. C. S. in the issue of January 17th, is false. When the treble makes thirds, on the way either up or down, the two changes repeat, at opposite strokes (hand or back) with the corresponding changes two treble leads further on, in the plain course.

The method was produced by a Rugby ringer some years ago, but was dropped when its falseness was discovered.—Yours faithfully,

G. A. PECK.

Rugby.

COMPOSITION AND AUTHORSHIP

Dear Sir,—How can originality have been claimed and sustained so long for Pitstow's 5,088 of Superlative? Every change in this peal is found in the earlier peal of Cox's (or Reeves'). A shortening of the original peal has been achieved merely by the use of three bobs Before. The following comparison shows the Q sets paired off, and all complete except for the abbreviated one.:—

M	W	H	23456		B	W	H	23456
	—	3	52436	a		—	3	52436	a
	—	3	35426	b	—	—	3	34625	h

Absolute originality would seem to be almost impossible to attain. If this is very important, instead of attaching a sponsor's name to a peal, it might be better to give it a code number referring to the fundamental basic plan or composition from which it is derived. After all, 'composed by John Brown' tells us nothing at all about the peal.—Yours faithfully,

RAYMOND OVERY.

PRESENTATION TO DARTFORD'S RETIRING SECRETARY

For the past 30 years Mr. R. A. Jenkins, better known as 'Dick,' has held the post of secretary to the ringers of Holy Trinity Church, Dartford, Kent. The band of ringers felt that this length of unfailing service could not be passed over lightly, and on January 23rd, in spite of a very heavy snowstorm, almost all the band turned up to show their appreciation, and the Vicar (Canon E. C. Mitchell) presented Mr. Jenkins with an inscribed hip pocket flask.

In making the presentation the Vicar paid tribute to the work he had done, remarking that during his (the Vicar's) living at Dartford (26 years), 'Dick' had never let him down in any way connected with the tower and bells. He wondered if 'Dick' was getting tired, but on hearing that he was not thinking of leaving the tower he agreed that at the age of 72 he could safely hand over his job and still feel proud of his achievements.

After Mr. Jenkins had recovered from his surprise he suitably thanked the Vicar for presenting him with a splendid souvenir, and the ringers for their appreciation of his services, stating that he hoped to spend many more years with them so that he could enjoy the use of their gift, and wishing success to the new captain and secretary in taking up office together. TEWKESBURY ABBEY OUTING

On December 28th Tewkesbury Abbey ringers, together with a few friends, held an outing around Bredon Hill. The party travelled in cars belonging to obliging members. Ringing started on the light six at Bredon's Norton, and from there it was just a short ride to Eckington, where the best ringing of the day was had on the heavy six.

The recently rehung six at Great Comberton came next on the list. The 'go' of the bells was good, but the ringing chamber left much to be desired. Little Comberton was a complete contrast—the 'go' of the six bells was not very good and the bells were not all in the same key. The last tower before tea was the six at Elmley Castle.

Tea was taken in Elmley Castle and the party then moved on to Ashton-under-Hill. After driving out the resident robins, the bells were rung for a short time before moving on to the very fine six at Overbury. The last tower of the day was Kemerton, where good use was made of the six bells. A tired but happy party then returned to Tewkesbury.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Southern District

The District annual meeting was held at Godstone on January 18th. Although the weather was cold and damp it did not stop 50 ringers attending, of whom 27 were District members. Ringing took place in the afternoon until 4.30 on the musical ring of eight.

A service was conducted by the Rev. K. G. Hoare and a very enjoyable tea followed.

The business meeting was presided over by the Rector. One new member was elected and also three new non-resident life members.

The committee's report stated that 33 quarter peals and five peals were rung in the District in 1957. A number of members gained their first quarters, also first as conductors. Although the subscription was raised the membership was still strong.

The treasurer's statement showed that the balance at the bank was a little higher than last year.

There were two ballots for officers, as there were two nominations for Ringing Master and eight nominations for the committee. The officers elected for 1958 were:—Ringing Master, Mr. B. A. Cracknell; hon. secretary, Mr. A. Streeter; hon. treasurer, Mr. A. Gear; hon. auditor, Mr. M. A. Northover; committee, Messrs. T. H. Bird, G. Olliver and A. R. C. Clarke.

Votes of thanks were passed to Mr. A. P. Cannon, who had done very good work in his five years as Ringing Master, and it was hoped that Mr. B. A. Cracknell would carry on the good work which had been established by him.

Ringing was again resumed after tea until 9 p.m. with methods from rounds to Bristol Surprise Major. A. S.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Salisbury Branch

The annual meeting was held in Salisbury on January 18th. Although the attendance was smaller than usual visitors were present from as far away as Southampton and Keynsham. The Branch officers were re-elected with the exception of the vice-chairman (Mr. Chalk feeling obliged to resign, after seven years in office; Mr. Audley Trimby, of Wilton, was elected in his place) and Mr. Cecil Haines as a Ringing Master in place of Mr. Jim Maidment, resigned. A number of new members were elected, including Mr. R. Davis (Britford), Mr. G. Beckley (Martin), Mr. Rayner (unattached) and Mr. H. Collins (life ringing member).

The following dates and places were approved for meetings, subject to the necessary consents:—March 8th (practice), Netheravon and Amesbury: April 26th (quarterly), Durnford and Woodford: May 31st (practice), Winterslow and St. Thomas': July 19th (quarterly), Chilmark and Barford: September 13th (practice), Semley and Tisbury: October 18th (quarterly), Downton and Britford: November 29th (practice), S. Newton and Wilton; January 24th (annual), St. Paul's, Salisbury.

The company then adjourned from the Assembly Rooms to St. Thomas' Church, where the Vicar (the Rev. P. J. Hayes) conducted Evensong, with ringers' hymns and prayers, and gave an address from Micah vi., 8, on sincerity in our service and devotion to God. The ringers wish to express their thanks to him and also to the Rectors of St. Martin's, St. Paul's and Wilton, who allowed the use of their bells during the afternoon and evening. Ringing was available to all according to their skill, from Grandsire Doubles to Double Norwich and various Surprise Major methods.

"CHEERS CHAPS... TREBLE'S GONE!"

THE FAILURE

By H. Allen, Leamington Spa

A man you meet in many a tower
He talks bellringing by the hour.
He picks out touches by lead-ends
And what spare time he has he spends
Travelling by land or water
To ring somewhere a peal or quarter.
He grips his sally close and tight,
The rope-end firmly in his right.
He moves his hands both low and high,
Always 'down' below his thigh;
And if his bell just doesn't quite,
In its swing, maintain its height,
He simply flexes at the knees
And up it goes with greatest ease.
He's very good at ringing 'Rises,'
Kent T.B. and all Surprises.
From Royal, Caters, down to Double
Methods, none give him any trouble.
He'll call a peal in tower or 'hand.'
Or join in any wedding band.
He comes to ring on Christmas Day.
On New Year's Eve up late he'll stay
Simply so that he can ring
The Old Year out, the New Year in.
And yet with all these virtues blest
He fails to pass the crucial test.
He rings on Tuesday, Friday, Monday,
But doesn't come to ring on Sunday.

OBITUARY

MR. CHARLES J. CANNS

By the death of Mr. Charles J. Canns at his home at Upton-on-Severn on January 21st, the Worcestershire Association has lost one of its stalwarts and one of its most esteemed officers. More particularly is this loss applicable to his home tower; for nearly half a century the name of Canns has been synonymous with that of Upton. Aged 67, his ringing activities had been somewhat restricted since an illness two years ago, but he was in the tower on Christmas morning, although having to give up and rest after two very short touches. The news of his death came as a shock, his last illness only lasting two days.

By trade a blacksmith and agricultural engineer, he had served the district—first with his father—for over 55 years. He was well known for his great skill and was of that type of country craftsman now, alas, becoming increasingly rare; the type who loved the craftsmanship and workmanship first, with the commercial angle a secondary consideration.

Of fine physique, he was never afraid to use his strength, and until later years was never happier than when on the tenor box; there were very few bells that he would not tackle. He rang his first peal some 47 years ago, and his 600th—and last—in March, 1955, both at his home tower. His peals run through the whole range, from Grandsire Doubles, numerous Minor methods, Spliced Surprise Major to Cinques and Maximus; 560 of these had been rung for the Worcestershire Association, of which he had conducted 187.

But it will not be for his peals that Charlie will best be remembered. Since 1929 he had been Ringing Master of the Western Branch, and it had been his ambition to complete 30 years in this office—unhappily not fulfilled. In that time no one could attempt to estimate the time he gave and miles travelled in teaching and helping struggling and isolated bands. Indeed a large proportion of his peals were Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Plain Bob arranged for the same object. And at Branch meetings, too, his first duties were to the learners, while at his own tower he held and maintained a band by virtue of his own inimitable personality. He leaves a legacy which should be an inspiration to those who follow.

As a committee man, he never aspired to debate, but he had a shrewd assessment of any problems, and his remarks were always forthright and very much to the point.

A large congregation, representative of all walks of life in Upton and the district, were present at the funeral on January 24th. Over 40 ringers from the district lined the entrance to the church. Handbells were rung over the open grave and the tower bells rung muffled after the service. He is survived by one sister, with whom he lived, and to her goes our sympathy

Now he has reached the end of the road, we shall remember him. J. D. J.

MR. CYRIL NICHOLS

Cyril's death was caused by bronchial pneumonia on December 14th, 1957. Strange to say, after his last quarter at St. Leonard's Church, Streatham, on Remembrance Sunday. he remarked that he was then at the same age (48) as was his father (David Nichols) when he died. Those who knew the difficulties he had to contend with during these later years admired his courage. Our sympathy is extended to his invalid widow.

I first met him with George Goodman, his boyhood friend from Kettering, at St. Luke's, Chelsea, during 1933, and George was able to participate in one of the 'In Memoriam' quarters. We shall miss him because he was the 'right type' and always ready to assist with Sunday service ringing. J. E.

MR. GEORGE W. MOSS

We are sorry to report the death of Mr. George Moss, at the age of 77. He was a life member of the Essex Association, and with his warm and genial nature he must have made scores of friends in all parts of Suffolk and Essex.

He learned to ring at Thornham Magna, in Suffolk, where his first peal, in seven Doubles methods, was rung in 1898, the band being self-taught. In 1900 he went to live at Harwich, where he married the sister of a local ringer, Arthur Morris. In 1904 he removed to Bolsover, where he remained until 1912. During this period he rang 94 peals, mostly for the Midland Counties Association. He rang the tenor in the first peal of London Surprise Major in the county of Nottingham, at Mansfield, in 1909. Other highlights in his ringing career were a peal of Forward Royal at Chesterfield, in 1909, when his two brothers, Jesse and Harry, also took part, and a 7,238 of Oxford Treble Bob Major at North Wingfield, in 1906, when Arthur Knights, the composer and conductor, gave no forewarning that the peal was to be of an abnormal length. On November 22nd, 1905, George rang the ninth to a peal of 5,003 Grandsire Caters, to which he appended the following footnote: 'This peal was rung for the silver wedding of Mr. A. Knights, and will long remain in my memory, having to walk home from Chesterfield after ten o'clock at night, a distance of eight miles, in a drenching rainstorm.'

After the 1914 war he returned to Essex. to live at Manningtree, where he was employed at the Waterworks. For 35 years he was a member of the Mistley band, where he rang many peals of Minor, some of them being conducted by his son, Stanley. His last peal was at Ardleigh, in 1954, rung in memory of a previous peal he had rung there exactly 50 years before, in 1904.

In all he rang 175 peals, of which eight were on handbells, 52 were in Surprise methods, and he conducted 13. He used to say he was steeped in London, and if ever he needed a cure for insomnia he would say a course of London to himself and after a couple of leads he would be asleep.

In his retirement he took every opportunity to visit any tower in Essex or Suffolk where there happened to be a meeting, and he must have made many new friends in this way. He appreciated the social side and he often referred to the brotherhood of ringers. Once when en route to a meeting we passed a crowd coming out from a football match, he said: 'Look at all those poor fellows, most probably every one is a non-ringer!'

When in 1948 a new band was learning at Great Bromley he regularly cycled over once a week to instruct them, and he was a consistent attendant at practice nights at St. Peter's, Colchester, and at Ardleigh. At all these places he will be sadly missed.

At the funeral many local ringers were present, and handbells were rung over the grave by A. Honeywood, E. P. Duffield and N. Foakes. After the service the Mistley bells were rung half-muffled, and on the previous Saturday a quarter peal was rung at Great Bromley, conducted by H. J. Millatt, Master of the N.E. Division of the Essex Association. A quarter peal of Bob Major was also rung half-muffled at Ardleigh on the day following the funeral. F. H. E.

MR. BEN FULLWOOD

Mr. Ben Fullwood, a ringer at Sedgley Parish Church for the last 60 years and a member of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford for 55 years, died on January 31st, aged 85 years.

MR. FREDERICK PRECEY

It is with great regret that we learn of the sudden collapse and death of Mr. Frederick Precey whilst attending the annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers on January 18th. He was well known as a ringer throughout the Salisbury Diocese. In his younger days he was a very active ringer in the Salisbury District. Later he moved to Dorset, on appointment as clerk of works, Bovington Camp.

It was while he was at Bovington that he became Branch Ringing Master of the Dorchester Branch, a post he held for 11 years until last year. when he retired owing to ill health. He was deeply respected and was always very kind and helpful and a good one to take advice from. He was particularly interested in helping learners or less experienced ringers and will be greatly missed by all. He died in harness, as he would have wished. We extend our sympathy to his wife and family.

The funeral took place at the Church of the Holy Rood, Wool, on January 22nd. The Vicar (the Rev. F. C. Whitter) officiated, assisted by the Rev. R. P. Farrow (East Lulworth). Besides the family mourners the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was represented by the Dorchester Branch. Mr. E. Amey (Charminster), Mr. F. B. Stedman (Wyke Regis), J. H. Hayne, H. J. Ford (Branch Ringing Master, Abbotsbury), L. G. N. Williams, A. Dorey, H. Runyard (Wool), Mrs. D. P. Duke, Mr. R. H. Duke (Branch hon. secretary, St. Peter's, Dorchester, also representing the Rev. Canon C. C. Cox, Master of the Guild), the Rev. Canon A. W. Markby and Mr. W. C. West (hon. secretary, Salisbury Guild).

The bells of St Peter's, Dorchester, were rung half-muffled in the afternoon of January 25th as a token of respect to the late Frederick Precey. The ringers were: J. H. Hayne, H. J. Ford, Miss B. Marsh, J. Slade, F. B. Stedman J. Rose, E. Amey, R. H. Duke.

R. H. D.

MR. E. H. OXENHAM

Mr. Ernest H. Oxenham, Bampton, Devon, died at the Tidcombe Hospital, Tiverton, on Jan. 25th, aged 78. He had lived for many years in the Crayford area, but for the rest of his life he had resided with his sisters at Bampton.

A faithful churchman, his great interest was ringing. He had rung 89 peals, his first being in 1900 and the last in 1950. Local men and learners owe much of their instruction to his unselfish help and ability. He had rung at 190 different towers around Kent and Devonshire. Such stalwarts are difficult to replace in a belfry. V. N. B.

MR. ARTHUR YOUNG

An Appreciation

Arthur Young was a truly great six-bell ringer who not only took part in record peals of Surprise on the bells of his own beautiful church but also, before World War II., participated in many record peals of Minor in those great days of battle betwixt the rival bands of the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and Cheshire some 20 years ago.

Moreover it was therein that Arthur Young showed his capacity as a ringer, and his courage and tenacity as a man. since not only was he seldom at fault when disaster befell peal attempts, but also, as a result of grievous injuries received in World War I., he had one entirely artificial leg, which none the less did not prevent his cycling 10 or 15 miles each way for a peal attempt, foul weather or fine. Furthermore, he often suffered, uncomplainingly, too, bouts of ill-health, yet seldom did he miss his Sunday service, practice or peal ringing, all of which he undoubtedly loved. Quiet and retiring by nature, he was the friend of all and we who knew him well will always treasure his memory and think of him with affection. VERNON TAYLOR.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

A winter afternoon in January does not tend to show off the Black Country town of Willenhall to its best advantage, but the welcome received from the Vicar of St. Giles' (the Rev. A. G. Bond) and his tower master (Mr. C. Wallater) more than made up for the bleak outlook from the church door. These two gentlemen had gone to considerable trouble with their arrangements for the winter meeting of the Society on January 18th. The result of their efforts was a bright, fully choral service followed by a bountiful tea.

The attendance of 91 was evidence of the high regard members of the Society have for the bells of St. Giles', Willenhall, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Wallater. There was plenty of ringing during the afternoon and evening under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. G. Hughes). After tea, thanks were expressed by the Rev. C. H. Barker (clerical secretary), to the Rev. A. G. and Mrs. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Wallater, the lady helpers and the organist and members of the choir for their respective parts towards the success of the meeting. Mr. Barker also congratulated Mr. Wallater on reaching his 75th birthday.

The next meeting of the Society will be at Tamworth on March 2nd. L. C. A. B.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Manchester Town Hall was once again chosen by the North-Western District for its annual meeting, which was held on January 18th, jointly with the annual meeting of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association. In spite of bad weather 23 members attended, and varied ringing was enjoyed during the afternoon and evening.

At the business meeting the following District Officers were elected:—Vice-president, Mrs. M. Lawton; secretary, Miss S. P. Wain; Central Committee representatives, Miss D. Edwards and Mrs. M. Lewis; District Committee representatives, Miss A. Brown and Miss M. Ridyard. Two new members were also elected.

Votes of thanks were accorded to all who had contributed towards the success of the meeting, particularly to the Town Hall Superintendent for so kindly allowing the use of the bells, and to the secretary of the Manchester Branch, Lancashire Association, for inviting the ladies to hold a joint meeting on this occasion.

It was agreed to hold the next meeting of the District at Macclesfield on April 12th.

DORKING'S NEW YEAR'S EVE SUPPER

For the last seven years, it has been the custom for the Dorking, Surrey, ringers to be entertained to a grand supper on New Year's Eve. 1957 was no exception, and Miss Bessie Dowling and Miss Ethel Clear, assisted by other ladies, again provided a splendid feast. The Vicar (Rev. K. D. Evans) and Mrs. Evans were present, also Mr. Pickford (vicar's warden). Since the union of St. Barnabas', Ranmore Common, parish with St. Martin's, Dorking, the new band at Ranmore, which are being instructed by the Rev. C. Munt, were invited to join in.

After supper, games were organised by Harry Arminson and at 11.45 the ringers returned to the tower, accompanied by the Vicar, to ring out the old year and welcome in the new. The captain of the ringers is now Mr. E. G. L. Coward, and Mr. B. Read is vice-captain, and the beginners are making good progress in method ringing The band hope to have a successful year, and score their first peal with a local band.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2446 Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

THOSE WICKED PEAL-RINGERS!

IN his editorial of January 10th the Editor very ably replied to the criticisms levelled against peal-ringers by an anonymous correspondent who was shocked by the large numbers of peals and the excuses for ringing them suggested by their footnotes. There is little argument against peal-ringing being a sport, but has our correspondent ever seriously considered whether it has anything to commend it?

The writer knows only too well from bitter experience how the peal-ringer is howled down at almost any ringing meeting immediately he attempts to justify this apparently diabolical practice he pursues. The statement that the peal-ringer is the backbone of the ringing Exercise is greeted with jeers and catcalls. Why is there such a vociferous antipathy towards peal-ringing?

Are the critics jealous because they have not been invited in peals? Are they sore because others can enjoy ringing peals on Saturday afternoons when they can't afford the time, or are indulging in some other sport? Have they an inferiority complex because of the greater proficiency of their peal-ringing colleagues? Do they feel pious and superior because, perhaps, they think they are more regular in their attendance at church services? Could there be a 'dog in the manger' attitude in that, because they are not interested in peal-ringing, or feel that church bells should not be used for that purpose, they should do their utmost to obstruct their colleagues who hold other views? Whatever may be the cause of their attitude there is one criticism they cannot honestly advance, and that is that the peal-ringer does not do his fair share of Sunday ringing. In all the belfries known to the writer where one or more members of the band are peal-ringers they are not only the most regular attenders, but take the lead in ensuring that the bells will not become silent.

As the Editor pointed out, 'The art of change ringing must have a standard of proficiency, and the peal or quarter peal has been the recognised medium.' The writer has participated in a number of peal attempts where the conductor has stood the bells because the standard of ringing was unsatisfactory. This is as it should be. There may be special reasons very occasionally for relaxation, but the general standard of peals should be very high. It is for this reason that every instructor should endeavour, as soon as mastery of a method is achieved by his pupils, to arrange a peal (or quarter peal) in which they can ring with people who have acquired that finesse which peal-ringing gives. If they have the aptitude to become good ringers (and that does not mean to ring advanced methods!) they will soon acquire peal standard which they can thenceforth apply to their Sunday ringing and raise the general standard of their tower. This is the prime justification for the peal.

Peal-ringers undoubtedly derive great personal satisfaction from a well-struck peal successfully brought round. And why shouldn't they? We all enjoy success in our hobbies and pastimes, be they solving crossword puzzles, climbing to the top of mountains, winning the cup at the local horticultural show or being on the winning side in a football match. What is wrong with making change ringing one's sport? For a football fan to see his team at the top of their league gives him the same satisfaction as it would 'A' to ring his 100th peal — which answers our correspondent's question. Peal-ringing must not be confused with Sunday ringing. The two are complementary, but generally separate. The former is a bellringer's pastime; the latter is his duty. But there is no doubt whatever that the skill acquired in pursuit of his sport makes all the difference to what the peal-ringer can contribute to his service to God on Sundays, and to his belfry on practice night.

One of the most noticeable things the layman sees in bellringers is their wonderful camaraderie, and every effort should be made to maintain this fellowship. The non-peal-ringers who 'get hot under the collar' about their peal-ringing colleagues should remember this. We have a fraternity second to none, and should be profoundly thankful for it and do nothing to sow disharmony in our ranks. If a ringer prefers not to ring peals on Saturday afternoon, but to dig his garden, or watch his favourite football team, his peal-ringing colleagues do not criticise him publicly at the local ringers' A.G.M. Why should he so vehemently condemn others for enjoying the pastime they get most pleasure from? Ringers must learn to be tolerant and to appreciate the other fellow's point of view.

Peal-ringers are criticised for the wear of ropes and the cost of printing the results of their activities in Annual Reports, but these accusations are easily disposed of by levying a peal fee, as is already done in many towers. This would be a gross injustice to those who do most for ringing, but they would probably pay up quite willingly.

It is a pity that custom has decreed that a peal shall run to 5,000 changes and one cannot see any hope of this being diminished. Many ringers have admitted that the last hour is rather trying, and many are only too pleased to participate in a 'quarter' who would reject the invitation to stand in a peal. The shortening of the standard peal would be a blessing to the public and appreciated by not a few ringers.

A black sheep is an uncommon animal; so is a 'black sheep' among ringers. One does hear of talented ringers who have no allegiance to any tower, but they are very rare. Most good ringers are always on duty in their own belfry on Sunday, not only because of their love of their art, but because they have the proper sense of vocation towards their ringing. Everyone who derives pleasure from his sport of peal-ringing owes it to the Church, which provides him with the instruments, to repay that enjoyment in faithful and regular service ringing. If he does not, then he is utterly selfish and deserves to lose the respect of his colleagues. Such a person is responsible for this unwarranted castigation of peal-ringers by the ordinary ringers, who are only too eager to find someone to quote as an example of those wicked peal-ringers.

No one must under-estimate the invaluable contribution the ordinary ringer makes. It is his presence Sunday after Sunday which keeps the bells ringing, and without his aid service ringing would immediately cease. Peal-ringing is not the be-all and end-all of our art, and every sincere peal-ringer recognises this. But the peal-ringer is the backbone of the Exercise.

Sooner or later he finds himself, because of his wider experience and of his knowledge of conducting, elected to the office of Belfry Captain. This is the penalty he pays for the time he has spent ringing. Until now he has helped to inculcate the standard of ringing acquired in peals into his own tower, but on taking office he assumes the onerous task of keeping the bells going, which involves recruiting and training new ringers. No one can lead anyone further than he has gone himself, so the ordinary ringer is at a serious disadvantage in this task. It is the peal-ringer who is called into service. Everyone knows of towers that have become silent on the death of the captain, where no capable successor has been left behind, and of the resurrection of silent bells in a village when some enthusiastic peal-ringer has moved in. The writer began that way.

When this yoke falls upon our peal-ringing colleague, he does not try to be rid of it. He has had his fun. Now he ungrudgingly repays it in creating the next generation of ringers. He is the backbone. Those round him are vital—they are the flesh and blood of ringing, essential also to its survival. If more ringers became peal-ringers instead of standing aside and hurling brickbats at their peal-ringing brethren, they would become more proficient ringers and better strikers and their Sunday ringing standards would be much higher. (Think of some of the 'stuff' broadcast only too often.) Besides this, they would be better qualified to teach youngsters, and towers would not become silent for lack of capable instructors. Yes, the ordinary ringer is the flesh and blood of the Exercise, but the peal-ringer is the backbone.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Frank Oakshott, who has just called a quarter of Doubles at Parramatta, N.S.W., writes: 'I am enjoying my stay here very much. All the local ringers I have met so far have been real pals, their hospitality has been grand, and I can assure all who contemplate a trip out here a right royal welcome.'

The peal of Minor in four methods credited with having been rung at Warsop, Notts (see Page 89) was rung at Norton Cuckney, Notts. The conductor regrets the mistake.

Mr. Victor Sheppard, of Capetown, is sailing early in March for a holiday in Britain. His London address will be c/o Mrs. Watts, 34, Canberra Road, Charlton, S.E.7.

According to the 'Liverpool Echo' of January 31st, Messrs. H. W. Howard, H. Parker and C. Raddon have 'each of them rung over 250 peals since the beginning of the year!' Pity our peal pages! What does the Leicester Guild say to this!!

Harpenden Parish Church bellringers, at their annual meeting on February 1st, presented Mr. Arthur Day with a copy of 'Towers and Bells of Britain' in recognition of his 25 years' service as hon. secretary of the band. Mr. W. Hill, in making the presentation, thanked Mr. Day for his work. Thanking the members, Mr. Day said he had spent many happy hours in the tower.

Although the peal at Starston, Norfolk, on January 18th, was rung by the youngest team ever to ring a peal for the Norwich Diocesan Association, there was a peal rung in Norfolk by a younger team at Winfarthing in 1912, but this was rung for the Norwich and Ipswich Association. This peal was conducted by Mr. Leonard Last, who is now residing in Hoxne, Suffolk.

Readers will join with us in congratulating Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Harris, of Woburn, on their diamond wedding anniversary on February 1st. A peal of Bristol was rung on Mr. Harris' 'own' bells, St. Mary's, Woburn, to mark the event.

Three generations rang in Grandfather Henry E. Harper's 65th birthday peal at Polesworth, Warwickshire. This was his second peal—his first was rung 48 years ago.

Guildford Diocesan Guild is to have a new team of officers. Nominations so far received are: Master, Mr. C. W. Denyer (Farnham); hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. S. Russell (Ash); assistant secretary, Miss R. Hide (Farnham).

The band which rang the peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at High Halden on January 25th had to battle through antarctic conditions to meet at this ancient all-wooden tower. They also survived an invasion of choir members who blithely wheeled their cycles in and out of the ropes and the four doors halfway through the peal. They were dispersed by the conductor calling one of his most stentorian 'Bobs.'

After climbing the 35 steps to the belfry of St. Leonard's, Streatham, on February 2nd, Mr. F. V. Sinkins took part in a touch of Grandsire Triples. He celebrated his 93rd birthday the previous Thursday. He was down for a quarter peal attempt in the evening in honour of the event, but just felt he could not manage such a long touch. Another ringer stepped into the breach and the quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung as a birthday compliment. He received many letters and birthday cards from his ringing friends.

CENTRAL COUNCIL VISIT TO DUBLIN

The information given below has been supplied by the Irish Association for the benefit of members and friends attending the Council's meeting in Dublin. Those concerned are asked particularly to take note of the request for information, by February 28th, if they wish to take part in any of the suggested tours.

Association secretaries are reminded that affiliation fees became due on January 1st.

E. A. BARNETT,
Hon. Secretary.

The Irish Association has the following suggestions to offer to visitors who wish to ring at as many towers as possible during their stay in Ireland:—

Arrive via Heysham and Belfast (8 a.m.), which will enable a number of towers around Belfast area to be taken in. Depart to Dublin later in the day or on subsequent days. Last train 6 p.m., or Depart via Belfast (9 p.m.) to Heysham after arriving from Dublin by various trains between 10.30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Visitors arriving on Saturday, May 24th, at Belfast, could be facilitated by local ringers in getting a number of towers in. Whit Monday is not a holiday in Northern Ireland.

There is also a day excursion from Dublin to Belfast on Whit Monday for £1, giving about six hours in Belfast. Some towers would be available.

Arrive via Fishguard and Cork (Friday and Sunday 9 a.m.) to ring at Cork Cathedral and, with the help of locals, at two six-bell towers. Some may wish to call into Limerick en route (fare extra) to ring at both towers there. Last train to Dublin 6 p.m., or Depart from Cork 6 p.m. to Fishguard, having arrived earlier in the day or on previous days.

There is also a day excursion, Dublin to Cork, on Whit Monday, fare 27s. 6d. Dublin dep. 8.45 a.m.; Cork arr. 11.45 a.m.; dep 6 p.m.; Dublin arr. 9 p.m. Local ringers can assist in getting in the three Co. Cork towers, also possibly a visit to Shandon bells.

A day excursion to Limerick for 20s. 9d.; Dublin dep. 10 a.m.; Limerick arr. 1.15 p.m.; dep. 6.20 p.m.; Dublin arr. 9 p.m. Will give two towers—a 'ten' or an 'eight,' or

A combined day excursion to Cork returning from Limerick, fare 26s. 6d. Journey Cork to Limerick by road; charge, if any, depends upon numbers available for this trip; four towers possible.

Arrive from Fishguard via Rosslare (Thursday and Saturday, 5.30 a.m.), Wexford and Arklow en route to Dublin probable, or Depart to Fishguard from Rosslare (Tuesday, Thursday, 11.15 p.m.).

It is not intended to organise a coach tour for Whit Monday in view of the distances necessary to travel to take in even a few towers.

CIRCULAR RAIL TOURS

The following table gives fares quoted by British Railways for various circular tours:—

Ports of Entry and Exit and Starting and Finishing Points:—

Heysham, Belfast, Dublin, Holyhead:
Manchester 127/-, Bristol 165/6, Leeds 135/-, Birmingham 141/-, London 170/6.

Holyhead, Dublin, Rosslare and Fishguard:
Manchester 146/6, Bristol 150/-, Leeds 166/6, Birmingham 142/6, London 162/6.

Heysham, Belfast, Rosslare and Fishguard:
Manchester 163/-, Bristol 177/-.
Leeds 174/-, Birmingham 169/-, London 189/-.

Fares direct to Dublin are: London 158/2, Birmingham 125/4, Manchester 112/8, Leeds 125/10.

The Irish Committee would like to know not later than February 28th how many of the visitors would be taking advantage of any of the above suggestions in order that local arrangements can be prepared.

HOTELS

The Headquarters hotel, as previously reported, is the Central Hotel, Exchequer Street, Dublin. Special tariff is 23s. per day for bed and breakfast. There are still some vacancies and bookings will not be taken after May 1st.

Other hotels accepting bookings are:

Ivanhoe Hotel (unlicensed), Harcourt Street, Dublin. Special rate not more than 24s. per day for bed and breakfast.

In both of these cases the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers' meeting should be mentioned.

The Four Courts Hotel, Dublin, will accept bookings at their standard tariff, viz., 27s. 6d. per day for bed and breakfast.

CAR HIRAGE

There are a number of car-hire firms. Prices have been obtained from Murray's Car Rentals, Baggot Street Bridge, Dublin, and the following is a typical charge: Austin A.40, all-in per week, 19 guineas; petrol and oil extra. Limited mileage, per week 15 guineas up to 500 free miles (excess miles 4d. per mile) plus £1 10s. Full collision insurance.

Other firms offering slightly lower charges are John Purcell Car Hire, Smithfield, Dublin, and Shelbourne Motor Co., Ltd., 20, Kildare Street, Dublin. Visitors should contact these firms direct to confirm prices and to make bookings.

AIR TRAVEL

Aer Lingus, as has already been mentioned in 'The Ringing World' by correspondents, offers discount rates of five per cent. for parties of 10 to 14 and 10 per cent. for parties of 15 or more all travelling together. Seventeen-day excursion return fares quoted are: Dublin to and from London £12 18s.; Bristol £9 4s.; Manchester £6 19s.; Birmingham £8 14s.

RINGING IN DUBLIN

Permission has been obtained for ringing during the Whitsun week-end for the four Dublin towers and also at Bray and Drogheda. Times will be announced later when the programme of meeting arrangements is published.

Cead Mile Failte (hundred thousand welcomes) to all prospective visitors.

LEICESTER'S G.O.M.

The 93rd birthday of Mr. John O. Lancashire was marked by the ringing of a handbell peal specially composed for the occasion, viz., 5,093 changes. Mr. Lancashire is the only surviving member of the Leicester handbell band who rang the famous silent peal of Stedman Cinques. Another contribution to the ringing Exercise is his composition of Stedman Triples, which is regarded as a 'model' by many well-known composers. He is still fairly active, making a regular weekly visit to town. When last seen, a few days ago, he remarked that he had just decided to retire from business—that of an architect.

Extent of Plain Bob Major Failed

The gallant attempt last Saturday to ring the extent of Plain Bob Major, 40,320 changes, at the Bellfoundry Campanile, Loughborough, failed after 10 hours 15 minutes' ringing.

The attempt started at 4.16 a.m. and ringing was of a high standard. About 2.30 p.m. it was observed that there had been a shift course and the fourth and fifth bells had changed over. Immediately it was spotted the conductor (Dennis Knox) called a halt.

About 20,500 changes had been rung —more than half the peal—and all the band were quite fresh.

The band consisted of Brian Bladon 1, Philip Mehew 2, Stephen Ivin 3, Patrick I. Chapman 4, C. Michael Orme 5, Ralph Bird 6, A. Patrick Cannon 7, Dennis Knox (conductor) 8.

At the conclusion of the attempt the band were definitely of the opinion that the ringing of the extent of Plain Bob Major is a possibility. The greatest troubles to be combated are stiffness through standing and monotony. There is every intention of making another attempt in five or six weeks' time.

The hospitality and arrangements for the attempt made by Mr. Paul L. Taylor were most admirable.

We hope to publish a full story in our next issue.

HONITON CLYST BELLS REHUNG

Many ringers and parishioners attended a service for the blessing of the bells of St. Michaels and All Angels' Crurch, Honiton Clyst, Devon, on February 1st. The ring of eight have recently been rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. V. Christie) assisted by the Rev. C. J. Poulton (chairman of the Exeter Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers) and Mr. Wheeler (lay reader).

During the service the clergy proceeded to the belfry, where Mr. F. A. Tavender (Vicar's warden) presented the ropes to Preb. E. V. Cox (president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers) for the blessing of the bells, after which Preb. Cox returned the ropes to the Vicar for his safe keeping. Rounds were then rung on the bells by Mr. J. Salway, Mr. W. D. Ashdown, Mrs. G. E. Retter, Mr. D. Callard, Mr. E. E. Retter, Mr. A. Holway, Mr. G. E. Retter and Mr. E. Morgan.

In his address, Preb. Cox explained the difference between 'call change' and 'method' ringing for the benefit of the non-ringers present, taking as his text 'Whatsoever thy hand finds to do, do with all thy might.' He closed his address with the words of the inscription on the seventh bell, 'Draw near to God.' This inscription dates back to the year 1608.

The collection amounted to £5 10s., which will be given to the bells' fund.

After the service over 80 sat down to tea in the Church Hall, which was served by Mrs. S. Bridle, Miss A. Christie, Mrs. I. Mace, Mrs. J. Salway, Mrs. E. Morgan, Mrs. A. Holway and Mrs. G. E. Retter. The Vicar announced that about £60 was still needed to pay off the bill of £400. He thanked all helpers and all who had given donations, also the local ringers who had painted the bell frame and cleaned the tower.

On February 2nd the first quarter after rehanging was rung, being Grandsire Triples from Holt's Original. G. E. R.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

Kettering Branch

By kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. T. R. Bonsey) the annual Branch meeting was held at Desborough on January 18th.

As a result of some hard work by the local band, there has been a considerable improvement in the bells; in particular, they can now be heard much more clearly in the ringing chamber. Methods rung during the afternoon included rounds for the less experienced, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich Court Bob and the now inevitable Little Bob Major.

The Guild Office was conducted in church by the Vicar and the lesson was read by Canon G. F. Turner (Guild president). In his address Fr. Bonsey made an interesting comparison of the progress made in ringing with the progress made in the spiritual life. He pointed out that, in both, in order to improve one's standard of attainment it is first of all necessary to mix with people who are better at it than oneself; and, secondly, one must study the Book at home in order to learn the method; then followed a lifetime of continuous practice.

After the service, tea was served in the Church Hall to about 60 members and friends by the lady members of the Desborough band, assisted by other local ladies under the direction of Mrs. A. Loake. This was an excellent meal, much appreciated by all.

The Vicar, the organist and the ladies were warmly thanked by Mr. B. Austin, Branch Ringing Master.

The business meeting was necessarily long, though the officers were elected unopposed, They remain: President, Canon G. F. Turner; Master, Mr. B. Austin; secretary and treasurer, Miss S. R. Collins; and auditor, Mr. S. J. Loasby. The delegates to the Guild Committee are now Mr. B. Austin and Mr. G. E. Watson, and the Branch Committee members are Mrs. B. Austin, Mr. R. G. Black and Mr. G. Clarke.

Five new ringing members were elected, including Fr. Bonsey and two others from Desborough, also two honorary members, and the belfry election, prior to a peal, of Mr. R. G. Leale, of Surbiton, was ratified. Mr. J. Richards, of Pytchley, was elected a free life member.

Mr. Murray Coleman was presented with a certificate to mark his first peal on a working bell, and the Weldon band were congratulated on ringing a peal of Plain Bob Minor on the previous evening. Three certificates will be needed at the next meeting as a result of this peal.

Mr. Watson expressed the good wishes of the Branch to Mr. Ray Idle, whose short holiday in England ends in March. He added that he hoped it would not be another seven years before he paid another visit, unless, of course, there was more than one passage to pay for by then. Mr. Idle, replying, said that New Zealand was a fine country. Christchurch Cathedral has ten lovely bells but a shortage of ringers. Any would-be emigrants can be assured of a welcome.

It was announced that the Bell Restoration Fund would benefit to the extent of £1 6s. 1d. as a result of the meeting, and that the next meeting would be at Pytchley (five bells) on April 12th. S. R. C.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual meeting of the Stockport, Bowdon and Mottram Branch was held at Stockport St. George on January 25th, when some 60 members and friends were present. The bells were busy from early in the afternoon and at 4.30 the usual form of Guild Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Wilfrid Garlick), who also gave a very interesting address basing his remarks on the word 'Skill.'

After tea in the Parish Hall the annual meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Vicar, supported by the Deputy Master of the Guild (Mr. Elkins) and the chairman of the Branch (Mr. A. J. Brown). Before proceeding to the business of the meeting the chairman referred to the losses which the Branch had sustained since its last meeting and the members stood in silent tribute to the memory of James Fernley, James Arthur Milner, Harold Jackson and Alfred Barnes. Mr. T. Wilde, one of the oldest members present, spoke feelingly of the departed members and the contribution they had each made to the life of the Branch.

The statement of accounts and the annual report were adopted and Mr. Wilde supported the secretary's remarks, 'We would remind all that it is not the complexity nor the multiplicity of methods which really matters; it is the standard of striking.' The report found that the life of the Branch was vigorous and progressive and had rung more than half the peals scored by the whole Guild in 1957 and noted the pleasing progress being made by the young members.

In passing, it was worthy of note that at least half of the members present were under the age of 25.

The officers were re-elected with Mr. M. J. Pryor to fill the vacancy on the committee caused by the elevation of Mr. Elkins to the Deputy Mastership of the Guild. The following new members were elected: Michael Freeman, David Potts, Barry Ward (Bowdon), James Fuller (Cheadle), Timothy Allen, Michael Gardiner, Roger Steer, Graham Stott (Poynton), William Gibbon, Albert Edwards, Raymond Tasker (Rostherne), Maureen Barker, Margaret Fairlie, Paul Beech, John Bell (Stockport St. George). Congratulations were extended to Mr. John Wheadon on ringing a peal of Minor for his 86th birthday.

The meeting concluded with a cordial vote of thanks to the Vicar, wardens, organist, local ringers and the ladies for their efforts to make the meeting a success.

Gratefully Acknowledged

Peals. — Cranfock 5s., St. Albans (handbell) 1s. 6d., Sittingbourne 4s., Burton-on-Trent 2s. 6d.

Quarter Peals.—Aberavon 2s. 6d., Battle 2s. 6d., Backwell 4s., Hazelbury Bryan 2s., Minchinhampton 2s., Crawley 5s., Whittlesey 2s., Willingham 3s., Streatham 2s. 6d., Finchley 2s. 6d., Wimbledon 2s. 6d., Tiverton 4s., Benenden 5s., Streatham 2s. 6d., Burnham-on-Crouch 3s., Wingfield 3s., Maidstone 4s.

Farnham Nominate Mr. C. W. Denyer as Master

Despite the wintry weather there was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Farnham District at Farnham on January 25th. Most of the towers in the district were represented and ringers from the Leatherhead and Chertsey Districts were also welcomed.

Afternoon ringing was under the guidance of Mr. R. Corke, the retiring Ringing Master, and the service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. R. Wilds) with the District choir leading the singing and Miss A. Heath the organist.

An excellent tea was served at the Queen of Hearts Restaurant, followed by the business meeting, at which Mr. A. Harman, Master of the Guild, acted as chairman. Mrs. M. Welton thanked the Rector for his inspiring service, and also Miss Heath for playing the organ.

The District reports and financial statement were read and adopted. The report showed that on the whole ringing had deteriorated during the past year and there was a drop in ringing members. A great effort was called for to keep the Farnham District in the strong position it has always held in the Guild.

By unanimous acclaim Mr. C. W. Denyer (Farnham) was elected as District Ringing Master, with Mr. W. H. Viggers (Aldershot) as his assistant. Mr. C. J. Beadle (Farnham) was re-elected secretary with Mr. R. H. Mills (Farnborough) assistant secretary and treasurer. Miss M. A. Cass (Seale) was elected correspondent to 'The Ringing World' and Mr. W. Wright (Farnborough) as representative on the Executive Committee and also hon. auditor.

On behalf of the District, Mr. C. W. Denyer thanked the retiring Ringing Masters, Mr. R. Corke and Mr. T. Page for their work during the past year.

Nominations were received in favour of the following as Guild officers: Mr. C. W. Denyer, Master; Mr. S. Russell (Ash) with Miss R. Hide (Farnham) as secretary and assistant secretary. Mr. S. Joyce expressed the ringers' appreciation to Mr. Harman for his work as Master of the Guild during the past 16 years.

The new year started off well, with the election of four new junior members and two honorary members. M. A. L.

NORTON SUBCOURSE RINGER'S WEDDING

In the presence of a number of ringers the wedding took place at St. Mary's Church, Norton Subcourse, on February 1st, of Mr. James William Forder and Miss Sarah Louisa Tranter, both of Thurlton. Mr. Forder has been a regular member of both the Norton Subcourse and the Beccles companies and is a well-known figure in local ringing circles. The Rev. Mr. Crawshaw, Rector of Chedgrave with Langley and Hardley, officiated.

After the service the bells were rung and 'fired' as the happy couple left the church, and shortly afterwards a peal of Minor in three methods was accomplished in 2 hours and 36 minutes. The peal band were royally entertained by the newlyweds, thus ending a very happy day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ERIN DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—I have noted Mr. C. Kenneth Lewis's recent remarks in your columns on the subject of the peal of Erin Doubles which I called at Shepperton, and am interested to learn that, in the eyes of the Central Council and (presumably) all right-thinking ringers, our peal is not a peal.

I do not, however, intend to make any show of 'withdrawing' the performance in question as, so far as I could ascertain at the time, the fact that the 360's used did not consist of true and complete round blocks failed to lead to any noticeable irregularities in the ringing or to draw forth any protests from even the more æsthetically minded of the local inhabitants.

Moreover, I have little respect for any rules which, for the same reasons as they exclude Erin, disallow the finest Doubles method yet rung to a peal (Saturn Treble Bob), and yet at the same time give their approval to such ghastly concoctions as, for example, Merton Slow Course.

I therefore leave it to some officially appointed Central Council member to expunge our peal from the records, whilst hoping that our efforts may at least have served to draw the attention of one or two of your readers to yet another example of the somewhat ludicrous effects of the rules which are supposed to guide us.—Yours very sincerely,

Surbiton. ROBIN G. LEALE.

SUPERLATIVE AND YORKSHIRE COURT MINOR

Dear Sir,—Regarding Mr. C. K. Lewis' letter in the January 17th issue of 'The Ringing World' on Superlative and Yorkshire Court Minor.

The method he gives is definitely not Superlative Minor. It is, presumably, 'Rev. Law James' Superlative.' I think we can be certain that wherever Superlative Minor has been rung in a peal the method rung was as Reverse Cambridge. This method first appeared in Shipway's 'Campanologia' of 1813. It subsequently appeared in 'Hubbard,' 1868, and 'Banister,' 1879, all long before Law James introduced his method, which is, of course, useless.

Perhaps we should point out here that Superlative Surprise Minor (in place rotation, —36—, 14, —56—, 36, —14—, 56, 12 L.E.) is a regular method that can be spliced in courses with Cambridge Surprise Minor. In fact adjacent places in 56 by two working bells does not in itself make a method irregular. Will the new Minor Collection consist of all regular methods? I doubt it!

The title Yorkshire Court is incorrect. Firstly, the method has 'Bob' places (seconds) at the lead-end. Hence it cannot be a Court method. Also, far more important, the Major of the method was first rung in the 1740's, under the title of Eastern Bob. Peals of Eastern Bob Major, Double Eastern Bob Major and Eastern Bob Royal were rung at this time. One hundred and thirty years after, the method was published in 'Church Bells' as Yorkshire Court Major. A peal under this title was rung at Cargrave in 1882, and of the Double version in 1913 at Selly Oak. These peals are recorded in 'History and Art' as first performances, and are, of course, 140 and 170 years too late.

Who will ring the first peal of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Minor? I hope that in future reference will be made to Eastern Bob Minor, etc. The Minor can be spliced with Oxford Bob Minor by ringing the standard 720, WRW, and ringing the first lead of each part as Eastern Bob, all other leads as Oxford Bob.—Yours sincerely,

Windsor. F. T. BLAGROVE.

SATURN TREBLE BOB DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—Apathy is the disease with which British life and the Ringing Exercise are suffering.

People do not seem to care enough about ringing to question the rules and conclusions of their ancestors.

The story goes that, since the war, some members of an Association decided to raise their subscription from 2s. 6d. to 3s. a year to cover increased costs. After a little discussion, someone, for a joke, proposed it should be put up to 4s., and although this was unnecessary at the time, no one was interested enough to say so, and the 4s. proposal was carried. This is but one example!

It was, therefore, with some relief that I saw letters from Messrs. Shepherd, Blagrove and Lewis in connection with a recent 5,040 of Saturn Treble Bob Doubles.

In reply to Mr. Shepherd as to the origin of the method, it must have occured to me first, sometime before August, 1947, for on the 28th of that month seven members of the Oxford University Society and myself rang a plain course of (Saturn) Treble Bob Triples at Chipping Campden. In this Triples the treble still makes 3rds and dodges in 1-2, 4-5 and 6-7.

I had been told that Treble Bob on odd numbers had only been rung by each bell lying for four blows at the back (and 8 at a bob!).

This must have been unbearable, and would account for it not being rung at all nowadays.

I think this type of Treble Bob Triples bears the same sort of relationship to Treble Bob Minor as Bob Triples bears to Bob Minor; and just as Grandsire Triples (which may be described as Bob Minor with two bells in the hunt) is a better method than Bob Triples, so (Saturn) Treble Bob Triples is better than the Treble Bob Triples rung in the past.

I believe no extent of Treble Bob Doubles is possible.

Mr. Lewis thought there might have been some misunderstanding of the Central Council Decisions. There was none. The problem is now apparent.

One assumes that rules are formed for a purpose, and in reading the Central Council Handbook—Decisions—Peal Ringing—para 2. Peals of Doubles (Page 20), we see that peals shall be in (i) six-scores; (ii) Round blocks of two or more six-scores, provided that the six-scores which make the round block shall be true in themselves; (iii) 240's known as Morris's and Pitman's; (iv) Combinations of (i), (ii), (iii) or any two of them

Now if the object of Rule (i) was to prevent monotony by ringing a change too frequently, it immediately fails when it allows (ii), (iii) and (iv). If its object is to prevent peals being rung in blocks that are not made of 120's, then it fails in allowing Morris's 240's.

In view of this, I feel that while ringing peals of Doubles in 240's does not meet the letter of the Central Council Decisions, there is no other objection on ethical or artistic grounds.

We now turn to the question of falseness. The Plain Course is false. Peals do not consist of Plain Courses, and the 240's which made up this peal each contained each change twice, just as Morris's 240's of Grandsire Doubles do.

One is tempted to meet objections before they are raised, and one must point out that because a person is prepared to ring Doubles methods which have a false Plain Course (but run true in 240's), it does not mean that he would do the same on higher numbers, where interesting material is already available without this defect. There are a number of very poor Doubles methods and they are only rung because the field is so limited.

The fact that the Central Council allows Doubles methods with such horrible things as bells staying four blows in the same place, and methods where the treble does one thing, three others do another and the last bell has some special work all of its own, bears witness to the fact that they are aware of the dangers of stifling the enthusiasm of the keen Doubles ringers through limiting the methods available.

While being pleased to see that one of our leading method construction experts, Mr. Blagrove, finds this Treble Hunt Plan interesting enough to produce and publish two further methods ('Ringing World' No. 2,441, January 10th, 1958, page 26), I hope that those who contemplate ringing Treble Bob Doubles will start on Saturn (it being the simplest), or, better still, try them all.

Saturn has only 12 'single-changes' in a 240, compared with 18 in Morris's Grandsire and 44 in St. Mary's Treble Bob!

Mr. Blagrove has suggested calling his other method Ockham. No doubt we would have called Saturn by that name, but as there is already a Doubles method called Ockham, it was thought that it would be very confusing when ringing Spliced or multi-method peals.

On the practical side, Saturn, which is easy to learn, can be used in a six-bell tower where 'Old Jasper' always rings the tenor behind, and a learner needs practice at Treble Bob dodging, before going to ring Treble Bob Minor at some nearby tower.

A rose by any other name might smell as sweet, but, apart from the fact that it runs rings round most other Doubles methods, it's heavenly to ring, is great fun and was rung on a Satur(n)day, so why not . . . . Saturn Treble Bob Doubles.—Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL P. MORETON.

P.S.—In view of the fact that man has succeeded in making a rocket to travel beyond the earth's gravitational pull, will all those who would like to be in the first peal of Saturn on the planet please send in their names in the Interplanetary Ringing Association. We shall leave on the rocket we get from the Methods Committee. M. P. M.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Dear Sir,—On February 21st, 1908, at St. Mary's, Gateshead, Co. Durham, the late William H. Barber conducted Carter's odd-bob peal of Stedman Triples while taking part in the peal blindfold. I have been reminded of this by a recent inquiry from the Rev. Canon C. Carew Cox, who took part in that peal and who, I have ascertained, is the sole survivor.

There is no doubt that this ranks as one of the outstanding feats of conducting and I feel that the 50th anniversary should not be allowed to pass unnoticed. This feat required not only the usual ringing ability but also an extremely acute ear, which Bill Barber was recognised as possessing.

It might be appropriate to recall some of the other feats that have been performed with Stedman Triples, such as the Swinfields of Burton-on-Trent, for I feel that with to-day's emphasis on Spliced Surprise and multi-method peals there is a danger that the present generation may overlook or underrate some of these outstanding feats performed in other generations.—Yours sincerely,

DENIS A. BAYLES.

CUMBERLANDS WANT TO MEET COLLEGE YOUTHS

MR. F. J. CULLUM, the Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, at the Society's annual dinner at the Old Bell Restaurant, Holborn, on February 1st, made an appeal to the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths (Dr. P. A. F. Chalk) for a joint meeting between the two Societies during the coming year. Dr. Chalk, in reply, felt that it was important that both Societies should maintain their rules and traditions. He would, however, do what he could to arrange for a social gathering for members of the two Societies.

Supporting the Master and Mrs. F. J. Cullum on the top table were the Rev. and Mrs. Meredith Davies, Dr. P. A. F. Chalk, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Francis, Mr. P. N. Bond and Mr. T. White.

Others present were the Rev. G. Blacktop, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hawthorne, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Audsley, Mr. and Mrs. Foord, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Exton, Mr. and Mrs. C. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raithby, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Deal, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Prockson, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. J. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Kirkby, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Humphries, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bevan, Mr. and Mrs. S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Baker.

Messrs. E. K. Jordan, A. York-Bramble, F. W. Burnett, T. J. Clark, E. Haddon, E. J. Ladd, E. J. Brunger, R. Caporn, W. D. N. Foote, D. Bladon, A. D. Barker, B. Collison, G. Fry, C. A. Tester, D. R. Bartholomew, A. G. Hill and party, G. J. Butcher and party, D. L. Hall and party, A. G. Mason, M. Brewin, W. Nichols, J. L. Millhouse, A. R. Leirg, R. Brockington, A. J. House, A. Cutler, P. F. Borer, D. Beresford, P. P. Brown, B. Chapman, P. Mehew, J. L. Morris, J. R. Cooper, E. V. Williams, N. J. Steere.

Mrs. W. M. Steere.

The Misses J. Garner, V. Horton, M. Carnochan, O. Couchman, L. Hawes, M. Ladd, E. W. Keyes, Nolan, B. Millhouse, M. Prockson, D. M. Ward, B. Thompson and H. Talbot.

Mr. F. E. Hawthorne, in proposing the toast of 'The Church,' said that to-day ringers thought more of the Church than in the earlier days. They would find that where the incumbent took an interest in ringers and ringing, invariably the tower captain was able to keep together a decent band and enjoy the ringing. The more they allied themselves to the Church the more they would find their ringing go forward by leaps and bounds.

The Rev. Meredith Davies, Vicar of St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, who replied, said whenever he went round talking to ringers he looked round with a great deal of anticipation and trepidation, for he started at Borstal and finished up at Dartmouth during the 26 years he was a prison chaplain, and he looked round to see if there were any 'old boys' present.

WORK AT SHOREDITCH

Mr. Meredith Davies expressed his sincere indebtedness to Mr. Tom Francis. After the war they were in dire straits at Shoreditch. The belfry was in a shocking state and Mr. Francis and those with him scraped, cleaned and painted it, provided new ropes and oiled and greased the bells. Sunday by Sunday they travelled up from Orpington. Now Mr. Francis was training a team of ringers from his own parish and he thought it was marvellous. (Applause.) They had not been very successful and there were frequent cases of broken stays.

He was very grateful to the ringers—they did call the people to church and at Shoreditch they had built up their congregation. He was delighted to see so many young people among the ringers and he hoped they would carry on the tradition of their fathers. 'Remember, boys and girls, you have something to catch on to. In America they had a sneaking regard for their traditions. In London you have these famous churches and famous bells. Hold on to them for, after all, we are the leaders of the world spiritually, and, he believed, traditionally.

BEST OF LUCK!

A performance of magic was then given by Mr. Philip Mehew and at the conclusion the Master, in thanking him, wished him and his band the best of luck in their attempt for a peal of 40,320 changes at Loughborough. (Applause.) He was wondering whether Philip, with a few of the rope tricks he had been performing, would be missing a few dodges or putting in a few next Saturday.

Mr. A. W. J. Butler, the new secretary of the Society, proposed the toast of 'The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.' He was pleased to see so many there—a larger number than last year. That day happened to be the birthday of their friend, Mrs. Bevan, and also nearly the anniversary of the first peal of Cambridge—a peal they said Middleton would never get. They could look back on such stalwarts as John Cox, Henry Dains and Henry Newnham—but they had great ringers to-day; they had not gone backwards.

It was said at the annual meeting that there was some apathy. He would not believe it. A Society had its ups and downs. St. Martin's had gone down a little but it would go back shortly and be ringing 12 bells again on Sundays and at practices.

The Master, in reply, said the Society had done quite a lot of spade work in the past year. They had held three successful meetings. Their peal ringing had not been up to standard but they had rung five good peals and had made a number of friends.

APPEAL TO COLLEGE YOUTHS

They did endeavour to get a meeting with their friends, the Ancient Society of College Youths. They were unsuccessful and were informed that owing to the number of meetings they had during the year it could not be arranged. The year was early and he appealed to them again to see if a meeting was possible, as he thought the time had come when they and the College Youths should meet together at least once a year.

Mr. N. J. Steere, the junior steward, submitted the toast of 'The Visitors,' mentioning in his welcome the Master of the College Youths (Dr. Chalk), Messrs. R. F. Deal, F. E. Collins and A. York-Bramble, who were also members of the Ancient Society. It was also a great pleasure for them to meet again Mr. Raithby and his friends from Newark, who had been coming since the days when the Rt. Rev. Charles-Edwardes was Vicar, the Millhouses and Browns from Lincoln and visitors from Portsmouth, Chichester and Tunbridge Wells.

Dr. P. A. F. Chalk congratulated Mr. Steere on his maiden speech. The Master, he said, had mentioned the possibility of a meeting between the two Societies. For many years their two Societies had been quite distinct and he, personally, felt that as these two Societies had their own rules they should retain them and also their old customs, but there was no reason why they should not meet together socially. 'I think that is a very good thing and I shall see what we can do.'

Mr. T. W. White also replied.

In addition to Mr. Philip Mehew the entertainment was provided by Betty and Bunny Chapman, Peter Brown and Mrs. S. Brown (at the piano). The artists were thanked by the Master and the evening concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

About 50 members attended the annual meeting of the Society held in the Fellowship Hall, St. Martin-in-the-Fields, on January 25th. The Master, Mr. F. J. Cullum, presided and welcomed the members.

Mr. P. N. Bond, in his report as secretary, stated that 37 new members had been elected during the year; seven peals had been rung (Plain Bob Major, Cambridge, Ealing and Bristol Surprise Major, Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques); quarterly meetings had been held at Erith, Loughton and St. John's, Croydon; two very successful joint meetings had been held, one with the London Counties Association at Isleworth and one with the Middlesex Counties Association at St. Martin's and St. Giles-in-the-Fields. The monthly practices at St. Martin's had been poorly attended during recent months and members were urged to give them stronger support.

Mr. F. E. Hawthorne pointed out that, as in other activities, members could only expect to get out of the Society what they put in, and if they turned up at practices they would not only be supporting St. Martin's but helping themselves also.

The accounts, presented by the treasurer, Mr. F. E. Hawthorn, showed a balance of £123 8s. 8d.

LOSSES BY DEATH

The meeting stood in silent memory to the following members who had been called to higher service: Messrs. F. Bennett (Brighton), H. Hoverd (Dartford), F. Hayes (High Wycombe), C. Smith (Boyne Hill), S. Wade (Southgate), W. Shimmans (Sidcup) and A. Talbot (Bridgend). Particular reference was made to Mr. Frank Bennett, who had been a member for over 60 years and had done a lot for the Society, especially during the early years of this century.

The following new members were elected: Miss P. Collins (Sutton), Mr. A. Boyd (Cuffley) and Mr. E. Jordan (Wickham). Ratifications of the elections of the following members were made: Messrs. M. Orme (Hitchin), C. Tester (Brenchley), S. Ponting (Ticehurst), H. G. Hart (Stanmore), F. J. Spicer (St. Albans), B. E. Jeffrey (Edenbridge), R. W. Leavett (Tollesbury) and H. S. Bonnett (Letchworth), the Misses V. Horton (Duffield), J. Mayes (Clifton), O. Couchman (Maidstone) and Mrs. E. K. Hart (Stanmore).

The Master intimated that he wished to retire but the meeting felt that he should preside at the annual dinner to be held the following week. He was unanimously re-elected and thanked members for their support during the past year.

The secretary, Mr. P. N. Bond, stated that owing to pressure of work he did not feel that he could carry out his duties satisfactorily and therefore did not seek re-election. Mr. A. W. J. Butler was elected secretary and Mr. P. N. Bond assistant secretary. Other officers elected were: Hon. treasurer, Mr. F. E. Hawthorne: senior steward, Mr. A. R. Ling: junior steward, Mr. N. Steere: trustees, Messrs. A. W. J. Butler and T. H. Francis: auditors, Mrs. R. F. Deal and Mrs. T. H. Francis.

The Society had been invited by the South West District of the Essex Association to hold a joint meeting with them at Prittlewell on June 7th and it was unanimously agreed to accept this invitation. A joint meeting with the Middlesex Association will be held on December 6th.

The votes of thanks were proposed by Mr. A. G. Mann to the Vicars of St. Martin's and St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, for the use of their bells. Thanks were also accorded to Mr. T. H. Francis for his work at St. Martin's and to the retiring secretary for his past efforts.

OBITUARY

MR. ALFRED BARNES

We regret to record the passing of Alfred Barnes on January 18th, in his 90th year. A native of Hertfordshire, he had lived on the border of Lancashire and Cheshire for about 60 years and was well known to ringers in and around Lancashire and Cheshire.

His ringing career began in October, 1886, when he was elected a member of the Cathedral Society of St. Albans, and he rang his first peal, Bob Triples, on April 11th, 1887, at the age of 19, at the Cathedral and was elected a member of the College Youths the same day. In many of his early peals he was associated with the late W. H. L. Buckingham and a few years ago he renewed his acquaintance when, just before his death, Mr. Buckingham came north to reside with his son. From St. Albans he went to the Birmingham area and rang some peals there before he moved to Bournemouth. In 1898 he came to Reddish from Matlock and became conductor of the local band until the mid-1920's. He joined the Lancashire Association and for many years acted as auditor.

His first association with the Chester Guild was as a non-resident life member but in 1907 he became a resident member and one of the band, which under the inspiration of the Rev. A. T. Beeston, was venturing into the field of method ringing away from the then accepted standard methods. In 1916 he was appointed by the Stockport Branch to represent them on the Guild Committee and held that office for 28 years and only then retired, as he himself said, to make way for a younger man. He did yeoman service on the committee and his point of view, quietly and thoughtfully put, was always appreciated. When the Chester Guild changed its rules to permit the appointment of lay members as vice-presidents of local branches his was one of the first names to be proposed. He was always present at branch meetings unless something quite unforeseen prevented him. The last meeting he attended was at Dunham Massey in September when, in spite of very inclement weather and wrong directions resulting in a long walk, he finally arrived at the church, and after tea took part in a course of Bob Major 'in hand.' He was present at the funeral of Mr. J. Fernley on November 30th, this being the last time most of his ringing friends saw him.

In November, 1887, he rang his first peal on handbells (Grandsire Triples) at the Abbey National Schools, St. Albans, and from then on he became more and more enthusiastic about this form of ringing. When he came to the Manchester district he associated himself with the band which comprised the late J. W. Washbrook, Harry Chapman, Fred Page, Allen Bailey and others. In the 1920's and early 1930"s this band, under the conductorship of Allen Bailey, rang many handbell first peals for both the Lancashire Association and the Chester Guild, including Stedman Cinques, Oxford Treble Bob Royal and Major and Double Norwich Court Bob Major. Mr. Barnes usually rang 1-2 to these peals but his name may be found on other pairs, and his handbell peals, which numbered over 100, ranged from Triples to Maximus. His last peal was rung on the front eight at Manchester Town Hall on November 20th, 1947, for the wedding of the Queen to Prince Philip and in honour of the Lord Mayor, Miss Mary Kingsmill Jones.

Of a quiet disposition, perhaps one of his greatest qualities was his loyalty to his associates. He would join in any touch he was asked to and was equally happy whether it was rounds or some more advanced method. Young ringers, a little awed by his age, though he did not look his years, were often surprised by his kindly manner and the help which he gave them. To the officers of his branch he was a tower of strength, for they could turn to him for advice and know that what they would receive would be sound and born of a long experience of ringers. His presence will be greatly missed and one might sum up his character in the subscription with which he invariably ended his letters, for he really carried it out—'Fraternally yours.'

It is hoped at a later date to furnish an analysis of the peals he rang. C. K. L.

MR. J. E. LABUTT

John Edward Labutt, who died on January 14th, aged 72 years, was a faithful member of his village Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Easton Maudit, in the Diocese of Peterborough. For 52 years he had been a bellringer at this church and rang until a few months of his death.

He dearly loved the bells of his parish church, and was never happier than when ringing them or talking about them, and he watched over their welfare with a zealous eye. For 16 years he was Vicar's warden, for 45 years a chorister and for a few years sexton.

The funeral service was held in the church on January 18th, and many friends and members of the Wellingborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild were present.

John Labutt was the last surviving male descendant in the village of his family, originally a Huguenot refugee family named La Brett, which found sanctuary in the village in the 17th century. A muffled quarter peal was rung by members of the Bozeat and Easton Maudit belfries on January 20th to his memory.

EX-SUPT. F. R. WILLIAMS

With deep regret we record the sudden passing of Mr. Frederick Ralph Williams, aged 69 years, at his home in Higher Crumpsall, Manchester, on January 11th.

A native of Oxfordshire, where he learned to ring, he joined Manchester City Police in 1909 and became a regular ringer at the Town Hall, which at that time had the heaviest ring of ten bells in the country. He retired from the police in 1939 after being Superintendent in charge of 'A' Division for eight years.

He was a life member of the Lancashire Association, a member of the College Youths and a founder and ex-president of the National Guild of Police Ringers. On his retirement he accepted the office of treasurer of the Lancashire Association and Ringing Master and chairman of the Manchester Branch, for which he worked untiringly with the then general secretary, the late W. H. Shuker.

Some years ago he underwent a serious operation and was reluctantly, on medical advice, forced to relinquish his tower ringing activities. He continued for some time handbell ringing with a band of local ringers with whom he was always eager at all times to attend hospitals and functions to add some cheer to the lives of the sick and elderly, whose welfare was always dear to his heart.

The service at Manchester Crematorium was conducted by Canon T. F. Ethell, of St. Margaret's, Whalley Range, where a large number of ringers, former police colleagues and friends were present. During the committal a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by ex-P.C. G. Pye, P.C. R. Benson, ex-P.C. W. Pye and ex-P.C. W. Robinson, of the Town Hall.

He leaves a widow and daughter to mourn their loss, and to them all ringers with whom he was acquainted, and his former colleagues, will extend their sincerest sympathy. R. B.

MR. BEN FULLWOOD

Mr. Ben Fullwood, a ringer at Sedgley Parish Church for the past 60 years, died on January 31st, aged 85. His contribution to ringing consisted of lifelong service as tower master and ringer at All Saints', Sedgley. The eight bells in the tower were his pride and joy and he never spared himself time or trouble in his maintenance of them. As recently as January, 1957, when the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford held a meeting at Sedgley he had, at the age of 84, gone up amongst the bells and greased them in readiness for the meeting.

Mr. Fullwood did not take part in many peals and his total was only about 25, all rung on the tenor. He had been a member of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford for 55 years and was also a member of the Dudley and District Guild.

At his funeral the Society was represented by Messrs. F. Bennett (lay secretary), E. E. Speake and J. D. Holden. There was a large congregation at the service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. S. Lloyd). Before and after the service the bells were rung fully muffled by members of the local band. There was further half-muffled ringing the same evening. Mr. Fullwood is survived by his widow, to whom the sympathy of his many ringing friends is extended. F. B.

MR. H. E. SIMPSON

On January 24th the Kent County Association lost one of its oldest members by the death of Mr. Herbert Edward Simpson—'Simmy,' as he was familiarly known by his many bellringing and bowling friends of the Sittingbourne district.

He came to Sittingbourne from Aylesford when in his early twenties, and before very long had established for himself a successful grocery business, from which he retired some 30 years before his death at the advanced age of 85. For well nigh 60 years of Mr. Simpson's long and useful life he was a member of St. Michael's band of ringers, of which he was captain for close upon 50 years. He resigned a few weeks before Christmas because of ill-health.

During his long association with St. Michael's he took part in a good number of peals and was always ready to do all he could to make bells available to others more keen on peal ringing than himself. He was a regular Sunday service ringer, a staunch churchman and a generous supporter of good works connected with the Church of St. Michael, Sittingbourne.

Besides his love of bellringing Mr. Simpson was a founder-member of Sittingbourne Bowling Club, in which he took a keen interest.

The funeral took place at Sittingbourne Cemetery on January 27th following a well-attended service in St. Michael's Church. Before and after the service the bells were rung half-muffled and in the evening a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the local ringers and friends. G. H. S.

MR. THOMAS WILLIAM STAGG

The death occurred in December at Bury St. Edmunds of Mr. Thomas William Stagg, a ringer at Thetford, Norfolk, for over 50 years. Mr. Stagg was aged 65 and had been working until the short illness which preceded his death. He was for many years a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association, for which he had taken part in five peals.

At the funeral at Thetford Cemetery on December 23rd Mr. H. Fuller represented the South Branch of the Norwich Association and the Diss company, Mr. G. Peck the Thetford and Elveden companies, and Mr. S. Nunn, Miss J. Nunn and Mrs. Foreman the Garboldisham and Blo-Norton company. Later in the day a half-muffled quarter peal was rung at St. Peter's, Thetford, by his former fellow ringers.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

The annual meeting of the St. Albans District was held in St. Albans on January 18th. At St. Peter's, where ringing commenced at 3 p.m., the bells were rung to the standard methods until the service, which was taken by the Rev. Mr. Salisbury. Tea followed at St. Peter's Institute.

The business meeting had an able chairman in the president of the Association, Mr. E. Buck (Baldock). The secretary, in his report, said that on the whole the year had been one of progress, and that Sunday service ringing was being maintained in most churches in the District. Mr. S. Huckle (Hatfield) was re-elected District secretary, and Mr. G. Dodds (St. Albans) re-elected District Ringing Master. Votes of thanks concluded the business.

The meeting was exceptionally well attended, 43 members being present at tea, even more arriving in time for evening ringing at the Cathedral. M. A. C.

Northern District

One of the most popular meeting places of the Northern District is Baldock, with the heaviest octave in Hertfordshire. Some previous meetings have been held in very bad weather, but this year it was fine on Feb. 1st.

An enormous tea was enjoyed in the Rectory, followed by handbell ringing until the service, conducted by Canon F. C. Brenchley.

At the meeting held in the bell chamber the election of the following non-resident life members was confirmed: Messrs. K. Ballington (Chaddesden), I. Holland (Sheffield), J. Holland (Erdington) and the Misses V. Horton (Duffield) and P. Forster (Derby); also elected were Mr. A. Shepherd (Cambridge) and two ringing members, Mrs. W. Wade (Stevenage) and Mr. J. Mynott (Knebworth).

The next meeting will be at Offley, with London Surprise Minor as the special method.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Twelve towers were represented at the annual meeting of the Barnsley District Society at St. Mary's, Barnsley, on January 25th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. until the service, which was conducted by Canon A. P. Morley. An excellent tea was served in the Rectory.

Canon A. P. Morley, who is hon. president of the Society, was in the chair for the business meeting. The treasurer's andsecreta ry's reports were adopted. Officers elected were: Mr. Noel F. Moxon, president: Mr. Harold Chant, treasurer; Mr. James W. Buxton, secretary; Mr. Herman Rusby and Mr. William Womack, auditors. It was decided to go to Derbyshire for the annual outing. New members elected were: Mrs. Bennett (Barnsley), Billy and Sydney Cooper (Brampton), Chris Moxon (Cawthorne), Chris Mayhard (Sandal), Anthony Dale (Ecclesfield).

Appreciation was paid by Mr. Harold Chant to Mr. Dan Smith for the good work he had done for the Barnsley District Society as secretary and regret expressed that illness had caused his resignation.

OBITUARY (continued)

MR. JAMES BARBER

By the death of Mr. James Barber, at the age of 82 years, Wingfield, Suffolk, has lost one of its oldest and most respected ringers.

For many years he was Ringing Master and also Branch secretary for the Fressingfield Branch. He rang several peals of Minor, the last one being to celebrate his 80th birthday.

The funeral service at Wingfield Church on January 16th was attended by several local ringers. In the evening the bells were rung half-muffled by the local band.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Melton Mowbray District

On January 25th the annual District meeting was held at Melton Mowbray. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. on the bells of the Parish Church and continued until 4.15, when a service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. M. S. Clark). Some 30 ringers and friends were entertained to tea, which was provided by the ladies of the Mothers' Union in the Colles Hall.

At the business meeting the Vicar took the chair and Messrs. J. H. Cooke and T. Templeton were respectively re-elected to the offices of chairman and secretary for the coming year. The usual business followed with six new members being elected. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and the ladies of the Mothers' Union.

Afterwards there was further ringing, which, together with the afternoon efforts, ranged from rounds on ten to Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise Major. M. D. S.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

A short period of silence preceded the January business meeting at Drighlington for Michael Stephenson, a young member of the Ossett band, who died at the beginning of December as the result of a motor-cycle accident. The business included the election of three new members and thanks to those responsible for local arrangements.

The bells were raised in peal just after 3 p.m., and one of the ringers was the Vicar, who assists the local company when his duties permit. The next meeting will be at Pudsey on February 15th.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Peak District at Fairfield, Buxton, on January 11th, coincided with the first snow of the year. Despite this a good number of ringers braved the very cold day and enjoyed the ringing on this handy ring of eight.

The local company provided the very welcome 'cuppa' in the Church Hall, Brian's mother and Mrs. Eric Ellison doing the necessary to the accompaniment of a concert in the Main Hall given for Girl Guides and Brownies.

Mr. Alex Richardson presided at the business meeting, when the only change in the officers was Mr. Arthur Hibbert being elected vice-chairman in place of Mr. W. A. Smith, who has left the district.

The sad news of the passing of Mr. Jim Milner, of Disley, was announced, and on the suggestion of the chairman those present stood in silence as a mark of respect to the one who had done so much for ringing in the Buxton district. Other names of those recently passed on remembered were Mrs. J. Smith (Fairfield) and Mr. John H. Brothwell (Treeton).

Meeting places in 1958 are Great Longstone, Hope, Bakewell, Darley Dale, Wormhill and Chapel-en-le-Frith. H. E. T.

Wiverton Bells To Ring Again

The six bells at Wiverton, Norfolk, are being rehung and will shortly be in use again after 20 years' silence. Nearly all the old team of ringers are eager to get started again and are rejoining the Norwich Diocesan Association. These bells will be the only ring in the Holt Deanery suitable for change ringing. An attractive booklet in aid of the restoration of this church—over £1,000 is still required—can be obtained from the Rector (the Rev. C. L. S. Linnell), Letheringsett, Norfolk, who will also be pleased to acknowledge donations towards the Restoration Fund.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2447 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS

THIS article will cover the peals rung in the last quarter of 1957. The first milestone to be recorded is the 700th peal at the Loughborough Bell Foundry! Peals come so frequently from there that such events are past before we realise they are imminent! The tower had easily the most peals in 1957—47 in all. This number is not quite the most ever rung there in a year for it has twice had more than 50, the most being 53 in 1954 I will try to give due notice of the 750th peal—it should take place later this year at the present rate.

Debenham probably passed its 300 mark during the year. I say probably because I don't know how many peals were rung prior to 'Bell News' in 1881. I have 299 since 1881 and five peals rung before that date (eight peals were rung at the tower in 1957). But if there were more earlier peals than that five, it is quite likely the 300th peal was rung in 1956 or before. But at least we have a record of more than 300 peals now, so congratulations to Debenham. The peal rung at Ashtead on December 14th was the 300th I have recorded at that tower—293 since 1881 and seven earlier ones. So that is another tower we have to congratulate this time. This means that there are now 16 towers which have had 300 peals or more.

I am pleased that my records agree with Ashtead on this, according to the footnote to the peal, as I fear they do not do so about the claim for the 250th peal at Hazel Grove! I had noted that this was rung on November 2nd and made the peal claimed as the 250th on December 7th the 252nd. Perhaps there are a couple of false ones which I did not know about. I would like to compare notes with those concerned. But congratulations to the tower. Unlike the previous two towers, all have been rung this century.

Walsall had its 200th peal since 1882, but there were earlier ones here. This came up a year or two ago, and I am sorry that the matter was not pursued further at the time so that a more accurate total could be ascertained. A footnote to a peal rung at St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, on August 4th, 1895, said it was the 100th peal on the bells (it must, therefore, have been one of the earliest centenarians). It was one of the most flourishing towers in the country in those days, for all these had been rung since 1871 when the present bells were put in, I believe. That peal was my 97th for the tower, but in those early days (especially prior to 'Bell News') it is not easy to discover all the peals that were rung. If it was the 100th peal, it means that the peal on December 28th was the 175th there. The second 100 is taking a lot longer than the first!

Manchester Cathedral had its 150th peal since 1882. This tower, too, was more popular at the end of the last century, for more than half this number came in those 20 years. Earlier ones make the probable total nearer 160 now. Next we come to towers which have reached the 100 mark. Maulden's century has already been announced in a special article. The other two passed by unknowingly—Dorchester (Oxon) and Birchington, Quex Park. Although the first peal was in the 1880's and (I believe) the record length of Oxford Treble Bob Major (17,824 changes) was rung there in 1927, Heptonstall has only just reached its 50th peal with the one last October. Another 50th peal was at St. John's, Worcester, as claimed in the footnote. Thus there were an unusual large number of 'milestones' this time.

Then we come to first peal on the bells. This took place at Erlestoke, Hemyock, Welcombe, Theberton and Sherborne (Glos). Some of these were claimed and some were not. I fear the claim for the first peal at Euston, Suffolk, can not be substantiated. A previous peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung there in 1910.

As for infrequent visitors to the peal columns, there are several of these. The footnote was correct for the recent peal at Clifton, Notts. This was the first time a peal had been rung there this century, the only previous one being scored in 1898. The only previous peal at Balderton (Notts) was almost 50 years ago—in 1911, so that is another long silence. Warwick, St. Nicholas', has had three peals: Stedman Triples in 1888, Grandsire Triples in 1922 and now Bob Major in 1957, so the tower seems to appear once every 35 years or so. Starston, Norfolk, likewise has had three peals—in 1924, 1927 and 1957.

I confirm the claim for the first peal of Bob Minor at Brightwalton. Since there had only been one peal before—Grandsire Doubles in 1928—the claim was hard to disprove! Bradden and Kimpton both last were mentioned in 1931. The former had one earlier peal in 1911 and the latter two in 1923 and 1929. Although Sawbridgeworth had 16 peals from 1881 to 1914, there have only been four since—three were in 1930 to 1933 and the fourth last October. So again, we have almost a 25 years' silence. Datchworth likewise was last heard in 1933—it has recorded four peals altogether. Four towers last had a peal in 1934. They are Great Munden (where 13 peals were rung from 1902 to 1913, and 18 from 1919 to 1934); Weybread (only previous peal 1934); Theale (six peals) and East Teignmouth (three peals: Superlative Major in 1912, Yorkshire Major in 1934 and now Plain Bob Major). Ford End's last peal was in 1936 (four peals), whilst Rampisham's one and only previous one was in 1937. Freshford has logged three peals, the last in 1938, and Tawstock only two—both Grandsire Triples, the first in 1939.

Rare visitors since the last war include Haslemere. Although so popular between the wars (56 peals were rung from 1919 to 1939), it has only had one peal since up to the one in November—Stedman Caters in 1943. We hope for a more frequent appearance again now. The first peal on the augmented bells of Huish Episcopi was rung in December. Recording this showed that there had only been three previous peals in this tower—Grandsire Doubles in 1903 and 1911 and Bob Minor in 1944. Ashill and Moorlinch both last appeared in 1947. The latter has a peal every ten years it seems—1937, 1947 and 1957. The former also has only had three in all, but the first was in 1911. Llanover appears for the third time in the peal lists—1908, 1949 and 1957, and the only previous peal at Heddington was in 1948. Aspenden, Herts, is another infrequent visitor, especially for an 8-bell tower. There have only been three peals there—in 1928, 1952 and 1957.

I omitted to mention above how nice it was to see a peal at Bromley, Kent, again. Of course, the church suffered grievously in the blitz, but now that it has been restored and the bells put back, we hope as many peals will be rung there as before the war. It passed the 100 mark in 1936. Entering the peal at Tibenham on my card index revealed an unusual state of affairs there. The first peal was rung in 1901. Then came five more from 1905 to 1909. After that 33 peals in the next four years! Since then there have only been three more—one in 1930 and two in 1955 and 1957. Certainly there are some ups and downs here!

Finally, some general points. The Wiltshire tour last September did very well for first in the methods on the bells. Without going into details, only Hilperton and Warminster didn't have something 'new' for the tower rung at them. I confirm that the peals at Portishead and Leigh, Lancs, were the first of Surprise on the bells. Also that the peal at St. Mary-the-Great, Cambridge, was the first of Cambridge Royal there. The peal at Wellington, Somerset, was the first peal of Treble Bob on the bells (Surprise ringers please note!). There have been 13 peals in all there now, commencing in 1896. Then, we must congratulate the ringers of Long Buckby on causing their 5-bell tower to enter the select few which have reached double figures for peals.

NEWS FROM NORFOLK

Mancroft Guild of Ringers

On February 4th the Mancroft Guild of Ringers held their annual general meeting, the chairman (Canon J. A. Waddington) presiding.

The existing officers were re-elected, viz.: Mr. A. G. Bason, Ringing Master; Mr. F. N. Golden, deputy R.M.; Mr. C. Bird, hon. secretary; and Messrs. R. W. Barber and W. G. Mayers, steeple-keepers.

It was decided to attempt to complete the records for the Guild library, and the Guild would be glad to accept any 'Ringing Worlds' from 1911 to the end of 1956, also Norwich Association reports for the years 1913/20/1, 1923/5/6/7/9, 1931/2/3/4/8, 1945/7, 1950/1.

The chairman, on behalf of the P.C.C. and himself, expressed thanks to all members of the Guild for their services during the past year.

Hope of Restoration at Attleborough

Provided that sufficient money can be raised, it is hoped that restoration may be carried out at St. Mary's, Attleborough, in the near future. The amount of work done will depend upon the amount raised. It is estimated that a partial overhaul, which will include new bearings and all other necessary repairs, will cost £365, whilst a complete overhaul, which will include retuning, quarter turning, new fittings and some new headstocks, will cost £714. Ringing has had to be suspended until the work is completed.

This small town has already raised £2.000 for its ancient church, seen by all travellers on the A11 road, and the money required will not be easy to find. Contributions, however small, will be welcomed and acknowledged by Mr. L. Lawrence at 1, Gladstone Terrace, Chapel Road, Attleborough.

Wood Dalling

The five bells of St. Andrew's, Wood Dalling, have been unringable for some years now, and a recent inspection showed that the dilapidated state of the frame and fittings placed them in danger of falling and consequently they have been taken down for safe keeping. An article describing the lowering of the bells appeared in the 'Eastern Daily Press' on the last day of 1957, and this has produced a considerable amount of correspondence about bells and ringing, all of it good publicity for our art.

At Wood Dalling, when repairs have been carried out, one of the lightest bells will be left in the tower, but alas! the remaining four will stand on the church floor to await better days.

Increase in Number of Youngsters Learning

The past few months has seen a great increase in the number of youngsters learning to ring. At Dereham, following restoration, 12 are under tuition, while at Saham Toney, one of the best rings of six in the county, there are nine. Gressenhall, with its most enthusiastic rector (Rev. R. G. E. Dodson) has three beginners in the very early stages. Without doubt the most praiseworthy effort is at Swanton Morley, where Royal Air Force personnel trained eight girls and one boy to handle their bells. The instructors were posted in December, but these young people who are all under 15 manage to ring rounds on the rough-going five for Sunday services.

A special practice for all these beginners was held at Yaxham on Monday, January 6th, when the afternoon was devoted almost entirely to rounds and call-changes in order to give them experience in ringing bells other than their own.

RICKMANSWORTH'S SPECIAL PEAL BOARD

A pleasing ceremony took place on Monday, January 27th, in the belfry of St. Mary's, Rickmansworth, the occasion being the unveiling and dedication of a peal board by the Vicar (Rev. Kendrick H. Hart) in the presence of the churchwardens, assistant curate, the Rickmansworth ringers and friends from other towers in Hertfordshire. The board is no ordinary one for it has eight peals inscribed thereon and is the gift of the tower foreman (Mr. Frederick W. Elliott), the whole work having been admirably executed by Mr. Albert W. Coles.

The peals recorded are: Plain Bob Major, conducted by J. H. R. Freeborn; Double Norwich C.B.M., E. M. Atkins; Cambridge S. Major, G. H. Cross; Superlative S. Major, G. H. Cross; Stedman Triples, C. C. Mayne; Bristol S. Major, C. C. Mayne; Grandsire Caters, H. G. Cashmore; Grandsire Caters, G. W. Seaman. Mr. Elliott took part in each, on eight different bells.

After an excellent dinner, the annual tower meeting which, as always, had the atmosphere of a social gathering, was held. The officers were all re-elected, namely, tower foreman, Mr. F. W. Elliott; steeple-keeper, Mr. D. R. Bartholomew; hon. secretary, Mr. H. W. Bradbury; after which, other local matters were deliberated. The concluding business was a 'few words' from Fred, who really 'went to town' and surpassed himself. Among other things, he said it was his very great pleasure to present the board as a permanent record of many of the ringers he had been proud to be associated with. Many, he said (some no longer with us), were well-known ringers and conductors, and many were his personal friends. He would always look at that board and recall a happy lifetime of ringing and service.

BELFRY GOSSIP

In Cambridge the five bells of Holy Trinity have been sold for scrap, whilst the six at St. Edward the King are hung dead. Organisers of outings should therefore not write for permission to ring at these two towers, as recently did one organiser! All owners of 'Dove' please note!

The footnote to the peal of Pudsey Surprise Royal (see page 102) should read: 'First peal of Pudsey Surprise Royal in London and by the Society (College Youths).

The peal of Bristol by a local band at Allesley, Coventry, was rung to celebrate the arrival of a first grandchild to Charles Aylett, a member of the band for nearly 50 years.

In honour of the centenary of St. Bernadette, Miss Jennie Armstrong was asked to play the Lourdes Hymn on the bells of Murpeth Watchtower on February 11th.

At Woodford, Northants, a very creditable performance took place on February 1st, when the whole of the band rang their first peal. It was the first peal in this tower by a Sunday service band for over 65 years.

After two and a half hours' perfect striking during a recent peal rung in Cornwall, the conductor was heard to shout across the belfry: 'Charlie! If you don't keep that bell in place I'll kick 'ee from yer to Lan'son.'

The Guildford District of the Guildford Guild has a new team of officers. Mr. Donald Kirk, of Cranleigh, has succeeded the Misses Monica Collins and Ann Cox as hon. secretary, and Mr. T. Mark White is the new Ringing Master. Mr. F. A. Munday, the Master, is leaving Guildford, probably in June, on promotion in the Post Office Telephone Service. It is possible that Mr. Munday's next post will be in Yorkshire.

Every member who took part in the quarter peal in nine Surprise Major methods at All Souls' Church, Halifax, on January 29th, learned to handle a bell in this tower. It was a genuine local company quarter. There was only one three-lead course in the quarter.

Willoughby-on-the-Wolds was the 25th tower in Nottinghamshire in which Mr. W. T. Exton has rung a peal.

Appreciation was expressed at the meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex Association of the 19 years' service of Mr. T. J. Lock as hon. secretary. The responsibility of Association secretary has now devolved upon him. His successor is Mr. C. E. Slade.

We regret to learn of the sudden death on February 8th of Mr. Harold S. G. Pike, captain of the St. Bartholomew's tower, Crewkerne, Somerset, for the past four years. On the day of his funeral a quarter peal was rung to his memory by the local band.

The Stoney Stanton handbell ringers will be broadcasting in the Home Service on Wednesday, February 26th, at 6.30 p.m. in a programme entitled 'The Dancing English.' Two of the numbers are 'Soldier's Joy' and 'Grandfather's Clock.' This talented band was heard at the social that followed the Central Council meeting at Leicester in 1956.

The mainstay of ringing at Stepney has been Mr. Thomas G. Fox, who has been associated with the tower since 1928 and has been responsible for much of the training. When the Stepney Guild of Ringers was re-formed, in 1937, he was elected captain, a position he has held until now. Tom was presented with a fountain pen from the members at the Guild dinner on February 8th. His resignation is due to his removal to Romford.

LESSONS FROM THE LOUGHBOROUGH RECORD PEAL ATTEMPT

By RALPH LOWINGS

AFTER the columns that were written about the venture in a dozen different national newspapers, not to mention the generous airing given on B.B.C. television, what remains to be said that has not already been said of the recent attempt to ring the extent of Major at John Taylor and Co.'s Bell Foundry at Loughborough?

The simple facts of the endeavour are now history; the attempt broke down after ten hours and ten minutes, and 20,500 of the 40,320 changes mathematically possible, after an argument that developed between two of the ringers caused a shift to occur.

It was an ignominious ending, an unfortunate (to say the least) climax to an effort that had seemed to have every chance of succeeding. There was an ugly scene, reports of which, let us make no mistake about it, brought no glory to the ringers involved or to the Exercise in general.

But it would be a mistake to dwell upon the purely negative aspect of the attempt when so much of positive value also arose from it.

LESSONS FROM THE ATTEMPT

Lesson number one is that, in future, an extent band must not be chosen merely on account of its members' ability to endure the strain of 20 hours of Plain Bob. It is equally important that they should be so matching in temperament as to be able to stand the sight (and the foibles and mannerisms) of each other for 20 hours in the confinement of a tiny bell chamber.

Lesson number two is that the conductor should be able and feel prepared to exercise strict control over the band if the need should arise; a few stern words from Dennis Knox at Loughborough might well have prevented that fateful argument from developing—if they had been uttered at the right moment.

Lesson number three: Three hours' sleep is inadequate before an extent attempt. A good night's rest away from the sight and sound of bells is an essential preliminary to such a great physical ordeal.

And lesson number four: There should be no Press ballyhoo. The fact that a dozen national paper journalists are waiting outside to pounce upon the story the moment the ringing breaks down is not calculated to induce mental calm. The flashlight photographs, the endless interviews, the quest for individual angles, the searing television lamps, all added up to a mental tension that lessened the chance of success.

This was, of course, the second attempt to ring the extent at the Taylor campanile (Eric Critchley's gallant but abortive venture in 1954 will be recalled by many ringers) and, if these points are borne in mind, it may well be the forerunner of a third and successful attempt in the not very distant future.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT PLANNED

Philip Mehew, who, as prime mover with Stephen Ivin in the effort earned nothing but praise for his organising ability, is already laying plans for another assault on what has been termed 'the bellringers' own Everest.' But he should not leave it too long, for a rival band is now known to be interested in the possibility of beating him to 'the topmost peak' . . . . if only to show him how it's done!

Philip's team arrived at Loughborough in a blizzard during the late Friday evening before the ringing was to start at 4 a.m.

A hurried meal at the nearby Great Central Hotel preceded a visit to the Foundry, where the bells were tried out, and ropes adjusted for length, and a Press conference was held. Various members of the team were photographed in various attitudes while going through the motions of one-handed eating and drinking (and ringing a touch of Cambridge Minor at the same time!), and the B.B.C. took pictures, shown in the late TV news the following night, of the peal actually starting!

Mr. Paul Taylor, principal of the Foundry, again excelled over arrangements at the Loughborough end. Beds for the band had been booked at the Great Central, where the new manager, Mr. M. T. Mozo, from Hungary—he had taken over that day—proved to be kindness itself. It later transpired that Mr. Mozo was, in fact, a fellow spirit, having helped with another young lad years ago to toll the 4½ ton bell of a cathedral near Budapest.

After all too little sleep, the party was up again for a 3 a.m. breakfast and a start was made on the real business at precisely 4.16 a.m.

The Press And The Attempt

If the two Loughborough long peal attempts have served no other purpose, they have certainly helped to educate the national press reporters in what bellringing is all about.

Several have already stopped talking about 'that fluffy bit' but refer quite knowledgeably to sallies! One London journalist even got quite enthusiastic about the Exercise and wanted to know where he could learn.

As far as the reporters were concerned, the sensational ending couldn't have been better.

Prize headline was probably that of 'The Observer,' which headed its story: 'Eight bells and all was not well.' 'The News Chronicle' ran a good second with 'Eight ringers at sixes and sevens.' Typical of the others was 'The Loughborough Monitor's' 'Peal to end all peals finished in an argument.'

And the best picture: again 'The 'Observer.' It covered some 64 square inches on the top of the front page and was a death watch beetle's eye view of the team at their ropes. It was taken by the photographer's lying on his back at the ringers' feet, with his wide-angle lens camera pointing to the ceiling.

For the record, Peter reports that the standard of ringing was quite good and, in parts, very good though on the slow side for the quick-running campanile of eight. If the speed at which the 20,500 changes were rung had been maintained, he estimates that the extent would have been accomplished in a little under the 20 hours. Peter was relieved for six or eight courses by John Smith, who, he comments, did a really grand job.

LIGHTHEARTED ATMOSPHERE

As time went by, Stephen Ivin smoked a number of cigarettes and called for a bottle of beer, which duly disappeared. As for the first extent attempt, Mr. Taylor had had wooden shelves fixed to the walls of the ringing chamber. The shelves were laden with an assortment of sustaining items, ranging from ham sandwiches to chocolate-coated raisins and Ovaltine tablets, and the ringers experienced no difficulty in pulling one-handed while they helped themselves. Stephen had earlier pinned a box of matches to his food shelf, rough side uppermost, and by this simple artifice managed to light his own cigarettes.

In this lighthearted atmosphere (was it too lighthearted?) the ringing went smoothly on during the morning, and optimism continued to run high about the success of the outcome—justifiably so as things seemed then.

Then, soon after 2 p.m., IT happened. One ringer missed catching his sally a couple of times and another took it upon himself to rebuke him for the general manner of his ringing—pointedly hinting that it might be better if he started using both hands.

THE CLIMAX

Resentment, putting it mildly, was expressed by the first ringer at this suggestion and, during the sharp exchange of words that followed, the 'Everest' party fell, as it were, into a crevasse. In the ensuing argument a shift occurred among two other bells and 'Stand' was called. The halfway mark had been passed a few moments earlier, at 2.14 p.m.

So the bellringing stopped and the handwringing started!

It so happened that, at the time, a reporter from the world's largest-selling Sunday newspaper was in the belfry, and his verbatim account of what happened was emblazoned across the front page of the following day's edition.

Thus ended a venture that had brought together eight of the ringing world's foremost figures and had excited the interest of ringers, and even non-ringers, throughout the country.

Even the 'Baltimore Sun' sent a representative along to see what all the fuss was about!

Though the actual ringing had ended on a discordant note, harmony prevailed in the end. Back at the ringers' hotel a short 'inquest' was held on the proceedings: it ended with handshakes all round, a general burying of hatchets—and no hard feelings.

After ten solid hours of ringing it was obviously time for a little relaxation, so the party piled into Mr. Taylor's estate car and set out for the eight-bell tower of nearby Prestwold for—more ringing.

Later in the day the party also joined in a Leicester Diocesan Guild meeting in progress at Loughborough, with more ringing on the Parish Church ten.

'Most unfortunate' was how Philip Mehew afterwards summed up the failure.

TELEVISION INTERVIEW

By the following Monday general interest in the attempt was still running so high that the B.B.C. television featured Philip in an interview on its topicality programme, 'Tonight.'

His appearance served to show that he is as unassuming and charming a personality on the 'little screen' as he is in the ringing chamber. The Exercise could not have had a better ambassador than he proved to be as he explained what peal ringing was all about and how attempting the extent of Major was a challenge to ringers comparable with the challenge of Everest to mountaineers or the four-minute mile to athletes.

The strain of ten hours' ringing was, he said, the root cause of the breakdown, and the much publicised flare-up was only the manifestation of pent-up emotion—and the sort of risk that accompanied any other kind of exacting and physically exhausting endeavour.

On one point all the ringers were agreed—that the extent on eight is possible and will sooner or later be accomplished, and all but possibly one considered that the Loughborough foundry bells are ideal for the purpose.

As the peal had proceeded ringers visiting the Leicester Guild meeting had made pilgrimages down to the foundry to hear how the ringing was going on. So effective are the sound-proofing measures that have been taken at the tower that, outside, the bells can only be heard if there is no passing traffic, and a really good impression of the 'music' can only be had by pressing one's ear to the brick wall.

Which explains why little knots of people could have been seen adopting odd postures outside the foundry that morning. It only served to confirm the common belief that 'those bellringing folks are quite mad.'

GOODWILL MESSAGES

Before the start of the peal, goodwill messages reached the party from ringers all over the country. Mr. Fred Sharpe, president of the Central Council, wired his good wishes, and also Preb. E. V. Cox, president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. The Mayor of Loughborough, who had intended to visit the ringing chamber—wearing gold chain—at the end of the peal if it had succeeded, sent similar words of encouragement.

In conclusion, a question that should be asked and answered: Was the attempt worth while? Assuredly it was, for it provided further valuable lessons that ought to guide the next 'Everest' party past the snags and high up to the summit.

But—and this is not to discount the 50-odd letters that Philip Mehew wrote and the countless telephone calls he made in getting his team organised—any new venture will need to be planned and timed to a nicety. Nothing, certainly not the possibility of a temperamental clash, must be left to chance.

And if the next attempt should be crowned with success, none will be better pleased than those who were robbed of it on this occasion.

Treble: Brian Bladon (24), accountant, Tottenham.
2: Philip Mehew (27), electronics research engineer, Stotfold, Beds.
3: Stephen Ivin (20), Oxford classics student, Houghton Conquest.
4: Pat Chapman (26), works study engineer, Daventry.
5: Michael Orme (20), electrical engineer, Hitchin.
6: Ralph Bird (30), light engineer, Croydon.
7: Pat Cannon (45), schoolteacher, Dorking.
Tenor: Dennis Knox (29), assistant Post Office engineer, Willesden.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Between 80 and 90 ringers and friends attended the annual meeting of the South-West Branch at St. Andrew's Church, Plymouth, on February 1st. The meeting was particularly noteworthy for the number of ringers present from 'call-change' towers, many of whom had never rung on ten bells before, and there were several periods of rounds so that all who could joined in.

The Bishop of Plymouth (Dr. Norman H. Clarke) not only attended the service but joined the ringers at tea. Mr. H. H. Thomas (the chairman) thanked him and mentioned that it was in 1928 that a bishop last attended a Branch meeting. Dr. Clarke, in reply, thanked the ringers for their efforts Sunday after Sunday, and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many young ringers present.

In his report the hon. secretary (Mr. T. G. Myers) said during the year there had been broadcasts from both St. Andrew's and Emmanuel Churches. The Branch was in a strong position financially.

The officers were re-elected, viz.: Mr. H. H. Thomas, chairman and press officer; Mr. T. G. Myers, hon. secretary, treasurer and ringing master; Mr. O. Thomas, auditor. Messrs. F. Day, H. Milford and J. P. Sims were elected to the general council, and seven new members were admitted. The secretary was asked to convey best wishes to Mr. Harvey, of the Lifton area, for a speedy recovery from illness.

A request was made to the secretary to send the Branch's congratulations to Mr. Richard Bowden and Miss Elizabeth Grimes on their wedding that day at Breadsall, Derbyshire, to which the chairman added that he had sent a telegram of good wishes from the Emmanuel band.

After discussion, the Branch by a large majority favoured the Guild annual meeting being held on a Saturday not in a holiday weekend. The votes of thanks included a special one to Mrs. Chappe and her helpers for the excellent tea.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

Good use was made of the bells at Huddersfield during the annual meeting of the Archdeaconry of Halifax Guild. Reporting on the past year, the secretary said six meetings had been held in widely scattered towers with a fair amount of success. Paid-up membership was up to the average and the balance sheet showed a net gain of 15s. 3d. on the year. All the officers were re-elected. A vote of thanks was passed to the local company.

Although the weather probably affected the attendance, ringing to suit everyone present was arranged from Plain Bob Minor to Cambridge Major.

SHEPTON MALLET, SOMERSET.—On Jan. 29th, 1,264 Plain Bob Major: E. J. Chivers 1, E. Brown 2, H. Smith 3, V. Roberts 4, D. Hoare 5, D. Lee 6, M. Rose (cond.) 7, G. Salmon 8.

STORRINGTON, ESSEX.—On Jan. 28th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Anita Middleton (first quarter) 1, Miss G. M. Smith 2, J. Young 3, Miss J. Horton 4, B. Farhall (cond.) 5, J. Maple 6.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

THE winter general meeting of the Association was held at St. Chad's, Far Headingley, Leeds, on January 18th, when in spite of the inclement weather, the attendance was most satisfactory. Good use was made of the fine ring at St. Chad's during the afternoon and evening, and in addition, members were able to enjoy ringing on the equally good bells at St. Michael's following the meeting.

The general committee met during the afternoon, followed by a service at St. Chad's, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. Wylie), assisted by the president of the Association (the Ven. C. O. Ellison).

An excellent tea was served in St. Chad's schools, following which the business meeting was held, at which the chair was taken by the president. Apologies for absence were received from the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. Benfield), and Messrs. H. Chant, B. Sutton, T. W. Strangeway, E. Hudson, I. Slack and P. J. Johnson.

A vote of thanks to the vicars and churchwardens of St. Chad's and St. Michael's for the use of the bells was very ably moved by Mrs. C. C. Marshall, seconded by Mr. F. A. Staveley.

In acknowledgment, the Rev. J. Wylie said how glad he was to once again welcome the Association. He loved to hear the bells ringing, and was glad to see so many young people taking up the art. It was a matter for real regret that many towers were short-handed, but he felt sure that members were not unmindful and were doing all possible to remedy this.

A similar vote of thanks to the local companies of St. Chad's and St. Michael's, with special reference to Mr. A. Johnson, Mr. R. Bettley-Cooke and the ladies who officiated at the tea tables was unanimously accorded on the motion of Mr. W. Barton, seconded by Mr. J. Gibson.

It was unanimously agreed to adopt the committee's recommendation to try and arrange the next meeting (the annual meeting) at Pontefract on May 10th. Mr. G. Benfield, the retiring hon. treasurer, was nominated for re-election at the annual meeting on the motion of Mr. V. Bottomley, seconded by Mrs. C. C. Marshall.

Mr. N. Chaddock gave a report on the Snowdon Dinner held at Rotherham, which attracted a record attendance of 172, and had resulted financially in a net profit of £6 16s. 4d., which would be handed to Association funds. The president congratulated Mr. Chaddock and his organisers on this most excellent result. With regard to the dinner this year, he had made enquiries in Leeds, and had provisionally booked a room at the Griffin Hotel on October 11th. If members approved, he would be pleased to proceed with arrangements. Without passing a formal motion, this course was unanimously agreed to.

The following new members were elected: I. Fraser, D. Fraser, H. Bishop, of Harthill; Mary Atkinson, Christine Rodgers, P. Haselden, of Rotherham; H. Lawn, of Pudsey; Shirley A. Mudd, Arline A. Rouse, Angela M. Skidmore, Christine M. Tattersall and Brenda Wood, of Batley; Miss M. J. Roper, of Wakefield, and as an out-county member, Mr. Max P. Page, of Ipswich. This concluded the business, and further ringing was then enjoyed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CRAVEN'S THREE-PART PEAL

Dear Sir,—It appears evident that a great deal of confused thinking has gone into the production of the recent letters on the truth of Craven's well-known three-part peal of Yorkshire when rung to Gainsborough.

In the first place may I assure Mr. Savory that the method he rang was indeed Gainsborough and that the composition that he used was true.

Assuming that the tenors are kept together, both Gainsborough and Yorkshire have the one false course head, viz., 24365, but this does not of itself justify the statement that any peal of Yorkshire is true to Gainsborough or vice-versa.

On examination of Yorkshire it is found that falseness occurs between the courses 23456 and 24365 in the following places:—

(a) Treble in 1-2, between the leads 13527486 and 17865432; 15738264 and 18573624.

(b) Treble in 5-6, between the leads 12345678 and 15382746.

Falseness also occurs at the same places in the corresponding leads of other pairs of courses similarly related.

Now, Gainsborough also exhibits falseness in exactly the same way as Yorkshire when the treble is in 1-2, for the good reason that at these sections both methods produce the same rows. However, there is no falseness when the treble is elsewhere.

It therefore follows that Yorkshire is 'more false' than Gainsborough and that any true peal of Yorkshire will run true to Gainsborough. It is obvious that the converse is not necessarily true.—Yours faithfully,

PETER BORDER.

TREBLE BOB DOUBLES

Dear Sir, — With reference to the correspondence in 'The Ringing World' about Treble Bob Doubles, I have worked out what seems a logical adaptation of the Treble Bob Principle to five bells. I do not know if my 'method' is original or not. It resembles Kent or Oxford in that it has a slow, and no places at the lead-end. I enclose the figures and would suggest it be named Barsham Treble Bob if accepted as a method. — Yours faithfully,

PAUL D. T. CATTERMOLE.

MISS SNOWDON SAYS 'GOODBYE'

Dear Sir,—May I, through your columns, beg for a small space in which to say 'goodbye.' Though our dear ringing friends will still see the advertisement of the Jasper Snowdon series of change ringing books, my name will no longer be at its foot. This is just as it should be.

For years I have enjoyed the job of handling them, but it is with profound satisfaction that I now give them to Mrs. Ernest Turner. She is the one on whom so much depends and you will not fail her.

A grand future is before the series, in which their present usefulness will not only be maintained but extended.

In conclusion, may I thank your paper most heartily for the help it always gives.—Yours sincerely.

MARGARET E. SNOWDON.

GAINSBOROUGH SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,—The above method, as given to me, is a variation of Lincolnshire, with the bells coming down from fourths and sevenths at each lead head and dodging and making places alternately with each other instead of what is, in Lincolnshire, the five-pull dodge in 1-2. This variation eliminates the three false course ends 26543, 36245 and 42563, leaving only 24365 false against the plain course.

Mr. P. G. K. Davies tells us that the falseness in Gainsborough is not in the same place in the course as that in Yorkshire. I would like to point out one place in both methods where the same false row occurs. If we write out a course of any method from 24365 having pure Cambridge above the treble, we get 17856342 when the treble is dodging with seventh prior to leading its whole pull. That is, three rows before the said row would normally appear as a plain course lead head! The other two 6-5s would be false against the corresponding 5-6's in the same way.

I feel that composers of methods in the Treble Bob and Surprise Major class would be doing the Exercise a service if, when their methods appear in 'The Ringing World' together with F.C.E.'s, they would give some indication where the falseness is to be found! Yours, etc.,

WILIAM A. STOTE.

Coventry.

Sir.—Gainsborough has one F.C.E., 24365 in 2356 leads, so any composition of Superlative without reverse in 5-6 will go. I got this when 'playing about' with Lincolnshire in 1952 and handed it to Mr. Leo Brett with the request that if he rang it he should call it Gainsborough, to show its derivation from Lincolnshire and in honour of one of Suffolk's most famous sons. This he did at Helmingham on July 14th, 1954. I did not like publishing it because of its three contiguous places, but as it cuts out three of its parent's F.C.E.'s, considered it justifiable, moreover it had a precedent in New Cambridge. There is yet another variation which I give—x38x14x58x16x14x12 36 12 7. It has the same F.C.E. as Gainsborough.

As a rule variations of methods are not very successful and are hardly worth while unless they achieve a definite object, a case in point is Wye, which is simply Yorkshire spoiled.—Yours faithfully,

CHARLES F. SEDGELEY.

Look After Your Belfry!

In his newsletter to the Witney and Woodstock Branch Mr. David Smith writes:

'One thing that has struck me as I go round is the matter of comfort in the belfry. Three of our towers have howling draughts, two bare electric bulbs staring you in the eye, and in some you would think twice before sitting down because of the dust.

'It doesn't take much thought to make a belfry really attractive. What about finding a little table for the middle of the floor? Then there is the question of a spot of heat. In Witney we asked the P.C.C. if we could have an electric fire. This was approved and installed and is now the focal point for our junior gossip group.'

WILLIAM H. BARBER'S WONDERFUL FEAT

Dear Sir,—Fifty years ago, on Friday, February 21st, 1908, William H. Barber conducted Carter's Odd Bob One-part peal of Stedman Triples at St. Mary's, Gateshead, blindfold, from a non-observation bell, not only making the calls correctly but also picking up one or two slight trips—just momentary hesitations which a word from him smoothed over.

Few can hope to surpass or even equal that achievement, and this peal has always lived in my memory as one exciting the admiration of all who took part in it, not least my own. It was accomplished at the third attempt, the two previous attempts each lasting something over two hours. I have forgotten the cause of the failures, but the remarkable feature of each attempt was that so far as the peal had progressed just that far had the conductor turned in a circle around his rope. When at the final attempt the peal ran into rounds he was again facing as at the start.

Of this rotary movement he was apparently unconscious and expressed his own surprise afterwards. He had wondered why his voice sounded different half way through the peal, when he was calling towards the tower wall!

It would be interesting to know if the exercise of the brain under such circumstances causes the body to rotate, and it must certainly remain a phenomenon that, as in this case, the distance of the movement should be relative to the progress of the composition. Perhaps there is some physiological explanation of this. Have any others who have called a tower peal blindfolded had a similar experience?

The band stood as follows: Joseph Rowell 1, Joseph E. R. Keen 2, Alfred F. Hillier 3, C. Carew Cox 4, William H. Barber 5, William Story 6, Robert Richards 7, John Stuart, 8; and I understand I am now the only survivor of the performance.—Yours faithfully,

C. CAREW COX.

Bridport, Dorset.

PEAL AT WHITTLESEY WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,—I am very sorry to report that the peal of Bob Major I conducted at St. Andrew's, Whittlesey, on Saturday, April 6th, 1957, has proved to be false. I apologise to all and hope they will withdraw it from their records.

The composition is quite true in the full which is 5,376, but rendered false by shortening in the wrong block to 5,040.—Yours, etc.,

JOHN H. BLUFF.

Melbourne Ringers Make Golden Journey To Adelaide

ADELAIDE; clean, spacious and restful—a beautiful city indeed. After our very successful weekend in Sydney last July we decided to push on westward to South Australia, and having Monday a public holiday (A.N.A. Day) our social secretary (Kenneth Minchinton) soon got down to business arranging the trip.

So, on Friday, January 24th, 18 of the St. Paul's Cathedral Society travelled on the luxurious 'Overland,' the inter-state train, for the 470-mile trek to Adelaide. After a very eventful journey, with little or no sleep (!), we first saw the city at about 8 a.m. from the National Park in the Lofty Ranges, some 1,000 feet up on the east side.

With introductions and handshakes all round at the station we soon had a quick shower and lemonade (a delightful brew) at the Metropolitan Hotel and were 'rarin' to go' to St. Peter's Cathedral. Due to very good organisation we were allowed two hours on this noble ring (a Taylor eight, tenor 41 cwt. in C) and enjoyed every minute of it, ringing from rounds to Kent Treble Bob and Stedman. The belfry and bell chamber reflect great credit on the local company and are well in keeping with the remainder of the church.

By mid-day it was 100°, and strange as it may seem to our friends in the Manchester or London districts, a very comfortable heat. A good lunch followed; then to the north-east of Adelaide, along King William Road, Pennington Gardens to Walkerville, a really picturesque suburban village. Here is St. Andrew's Church, Adelaide's only other ringing tower, a very musical six by Mears (tenor 13 cwt.). How we enjoyed ourselves here! The local companies turned up in full force, amongst whom were Hervey Bagot, Des O'Brien, Harry Cox, Dick Lamphee and many others. We all look forward to seeing Philip Cooper one of these days, one who did so much for ringing in this part. The Rev. Eggleton greeted us with 'The tower is yours,' and after two or three touches presented us with a huge basket of peaches, fresh from the rectory garden. Very soon ringing from rounds to Cambridge Surprise sounded out over the very 'English' scene at Walkerville—green, cricket square and a little down the road the 'Sussex Arms,' a well-appointed tavern.

Our evening was free: some swam at Glenely at about 9 p.m., when the water was still very warm; others indulged in varying degrees of horseplay and generally had fun.

Sunday was another century day, and what with ringing and attending Eucharist at St. Peter's Cathedral, and ringing and singing at Walkerville for Evensong, much honest sweat was lost. In the afternoon the Adelaide ringers made a very fine gesture by hiring a 30-seater bus and taking us on a breathtaking tour of the Ranges. Even colour-slides couldn't do justice to the panorama of Adelaide and the plains, the vineyards and the olive groves from these heights—2,000 ft. or more above sea-level.

Two great and most pleasant surprises in the evening climaxed a thrilling day. Enid Lloyd-Roberts had made the 200-odd-mile trip from Mount Gambia to meet us, and then we were all chauffeured up to the summit of Mount Lofty in the evening to see the city by night. The myriads of amber, green, white and red lights created an indescribable vista. At supper in the evening John Roper, the Melbourne captain, thanked Harry Cox, of St. Peter's Cathedral, and all his merry men for their unlimited hospitality, to which H. C. charmingly replied. Bed (for some) came round at about 3 a.m.

Monday was our last day, and the radio feature 'Monitor' requested a recording of the Cathedral bells and an interview with one of the ringers. All this went off very well and was rounded up by Grandsire Triples on handbells by Brenda Sheppard 1-2, Graeme Heyes 3-4, George Pipe 5-6 and John Roper 7-8. By kind invitation of the Walkerville ringers, as a permanent record of our visit, a good quarter peal of Kent Treble Bob and Plain was rung in 46 minutes. The temperature was still hovering around the 100° mark: needless to say, the Sussex Arms was loyally patronised.

It was soon to be time to pack and have our last meal, but a pleasant hour was spent on the beach when, in traditional Hyde Park style, Ken Minchinton was presented with a small gift in appreciation of all his work in arranging the tour.

So, at 7 p.m., it was 'goodbye Adelaide,' with memories of fine people, fine bells, good food and wine—a delightful visit.

GEORGE W. PIPE,
ERNEST H. HUGHES.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

Irish Carillon Festival, Cobh, May, 1958

Members and friends attending the Dublin meeting may like to know that Dr. Staf Gebreurs, carillonneur of St. Colman's Cathedral, Cobh, Co. Cork, will be host to American and continental carillonneurs at the carillon festival to be held in Cobh during Whitsuntide, 1958.

Dr. Gebreurs has invited the Irish Association of Change Ringers and any of the members of the Council who would like to be present to a recital to be given on the Cathedral carillon on Wednesday evening, May 28th, followed by a gathering in the local hall, and he has offered to arrange hotel accommodation locally should any Council member wish to attend the festival after the Council meeting. Will anyone interested please write to Mr. F. E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath, who will forward the correspondence to Dr. Gebreurs. E. A. BARNETT, Hon. Sec.

THE SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS' ANNUAL REUNION

SIX months had sped by since the Roving Ringers went their various ways home from Southampton at the end of their summer tour, and on February 1st they gathered again at Bristol for the 11th reunion. The shorts and open necks of the summer had given place to more elegant attire, so that one had to look twice in some cases to recognise the wearer. One member put all to shame by cycling from London and looking perfectly fresh on arrival.

Ringing commenced at Long Ashton, and continued in the afternoon at St. James', St. Thomas' and St. Stephen's, in Bristol. The eight at St. Thomas' lived up to their reputation of being a pretty tough old lot. The three leads of Bristol which ended the ringing here was thought, by a local ringer, to be the first on the bells.

The floodlit tower of St. Stephen's, with its delicate pinnacles, looked very graceful and lovely when we arrived in the twilight. Our Caters and Surprise Royal caused it to move very vigorously, and one or two glanced aloft as they left to see if those pinnacles were still intact.

The dining room of the George and Railway Hotel was almost filled by our party of 46 for dinner. We enjoyed an excellent meal, more than adequate for even the largest appetites.

In opening an informal meeting in the lounge, the president (Mark White) welcomed two honorary members, Herbert Knight and William Farmer, whom we were very pleased to have with us. Apologies for absence were received from other honorary members, and Cyril Lewington, shortly due for 'demob.', sent greetings from Malaya.

The secretaries reported a successful summer tour, and gave a brief survey of matrimonial activities in the Society during the past 12 months. With seven weddings in as many months, 1958 will clearly break all records.

Thanks were expressed to Albert Tyler, who was present with Mrs. Tyler, for his work in arranging the reunion, and he was elected an honorary member in appreciation of his help.

Ronald Diserens was elected Master for 1958, and promptly gave a good account of himself with an authoritative blast on the Master's trumpet. All other officers were re-elected with acclamation, and the president thanked them and the retiring Master for their work in the past year. Having toured practically all suitable parts of the country in previous years, it was decided to revisit East Anglia for the summer tour, with Norwich as the Bank Holiday centre.

With the business completed, a buzz of conversation ensued, indicating the happy atmosphere of the evening. Handbells could be heard occasionally, and later advantage was taken of the notice which said 'Licensed for Music and Singing.' All too soon it was time for guests and visitors to leave, and so ended an evening which showed that young ringers of today do know how to enjoy themselves.

Considering the early hour, a surprisingly large number arrived at St. Mary Redcliffe for Sunday morning ringing. The local ringers kindly gave us full use of the bells, so that all had a chance to ring on this fine 12. Those who failed to get up early were able to ring there later in the morning, while others visited Emmanuel, Clifton.

By lunch time most people had said their goodbyes and another successful reunion was over. We thank the incumbents for the use of their bells and the Bristol ringers for their help and hospitality, which added much to the enjoyment of the weekend. M. V. C.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Rochester District

Despite the very cold and snowy weather about 60 ringers and friends attended the quarterly meeting at Frindsbury on January 25th. At the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Prentis) we were very fortunate in having the church choir to assist with the singing. The Vicar gave a very interesting address on the subject of different types of bells.

Tea was taken in the Village Hall, where we were the guests of the local ringers. On the proposition of Mr. Knight the Vicar was voted to the chair for the business meeting.

During the meeting 15 new members were elected. 'The Ringing World' representative, Mr. Cheal, said that with all these new young ringers in the District every effort should be made to introduce them to 'The Ringing World.' Mr. E. Barton gave a very full and detailed report of the November committee meeting held at Maidstone. He was congratulated by everyone present.

Mr. T. Beaumont thanked the Vicar, the organist, the choir, and the ladies for preparing such a good tea.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY RINGING DAY

THIS year's ringing day and dinner—the tenth —on January 25th, started at 9 a.m., when past and present members assembled at Christ Church to attempt a peal of Plain Bob Royal. A well-struck peal was rung in 2 hours 56 minutes, conducted by the Master (David Heighton). Other members of the Society spent the morning ringing at SS. Phillip and Jacob's Church, the Lord Mayor's Chapel and St. Stephen's. After lunch the party reassembled at St. Thomas', and later came the climax of the day's ringing at St. Mary Redcliffe.

After tea, members were on home ground, ringing at St. Michael's Church, and it was here that Dr. Hudson conducted the service and the Master played the organ.

The dinner, served in the senior common room, with the president (Professor Brocklehurst) in the chair, was a most enjoyable meal. The toasts of 'The Queen' and 'The Church' were proposed from the chair, and this was followed by the secretary (Mr. Patrick Bird) proposing 'The Visitors.' He had a special word of welcome for Mr. Roger Fry (secretary of the Bath and Wells Association), Mr. Walter Trueman (Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association), Mr. Roger Keighley (Master of the London University Society) and Mr. Robin Pittman (Master of the Oxford University Society).

Thanks for the welcome and hospitality was expressed on behalf of the visitors by Mr. Roger Fry, who said that on leaving the District in the near future he would take with him many happy memories of his association with the Society. An aspect of the Society which encouraged him was the active part its members played in the Church, and he wished them every success in the future.

The toast of 'The Society' was proposed by Mr. Roger Keighley, who commended it as 'an alert and vigorous force.' This was achieved in that the Master and more experienced members helped and encouraged learners, so that besides its own activities it was able to give help to the City Branch of the G. and B. Association.

In his acknowledgment of the toast, the Master gave a review of the Society's activities in the past year. Sunday ringing, he said, had been kept up throughout the year, including most of the vacations, with help from some city ringers. Also during the term help had been given at St. Mary Redcliffe and at St. Stephen's, and a quarter peal had been rung at St. Thomas' by Society members for the industrial thanksgiving service. Two or three ringers had been instructed from scratch, but most progress had been made by members who had been in the early stages of change-ringing when they came up.

During the year six outings had been held; in all, 42 towers being visited. The latter was a lower number than in previous years, but the emphasis had changed from 'tower-grabbing' and visits had been more carefully selected; three cathedrals, including the heaviest ring of ten at Wells, were visited. The summer ringing tour had been in West Somerset, Dorset and Wiltshire, taking in some 20 towers, which included the heaviest ring of six at Queen Camel.

Mr. Heighton made special note of last term's outing to Gloucester, in which Angela Grainger had overturned a bell. He said that this was an unusual event, so interrupted his report to present her with an inscribed half of the stay as a souvenir, whilst members gave a rendering of 'Eight good ringers.'

He continued on a more serious note, in that, although tower ringing had been plentiful there had been less enthusiasm for handbell ringing, which originally had been the main activity of the Society, and he appealed to members to give greater support to handbell practices.

In the field of peal ringing, the Society had been more successful: six peals and two quarter peals had been rung in the past year, these including the first peal of Treble Bob, of Royal and of Surprise for the Society. Four members of the Society had also taken part in the achievement of ringing three peals in a day.

He also announced that, after long years of arbitration, the Society tie was now available and could be seen adorning several members.

The president thanked the speakers for their eloquence. He was encouraged to hear of the progress the Society had made, and wished it every success for the future. He then suggested that a move to the more comfortable chairs of the next room be made, where an enjoyable evening was spent, handbells being rung well until about 11 p.m.

The day proved a great success from every aspect, and warm thanks are due to everybody who helped to organise it. B. J. W.

THE 'LONDON APPRENTICE,' ISLEWORTH

The 'London Apprentice,' at Isleworth, is an inn standing on the bank of the River Thames. It is reputed to be 500 years old and has a very interesting history. In the cellar can be seen the entrance to a tunnel which it is said was used by smugglers in bygone days.

But it is the living room which will attract the interest of ringers, for there on the wall is a plaque which reads as follows:—

'On February 10th, 1848, was rung in this room a true and complete peal of 5,093 changes of Grandsire Caters in 3 hours 20 minutes by the following persons:

Charles Buckland ..	1—2
William Nowell ..	3—4
Thomas Winkworth ..	5—6
William Hamblen ..	7—8
John Carter	9—10

Conducted by W. Nowell.'

It will be noted that there is no mention of the name of the composer, and one wonders whether the peal is recorded in the annals of any society or association.

On Monday, February 10th, 1958, at the invitation of the licensee (Mr. R. Aldington), a few ringers and friends forgathered at the 'London Apprentice,' and to mark the 110th anniversary of the peal a course of Grandsire Caters was rung in the same room. Afterwards Mr. Aldington entertained his guests very hospitably, and provided a very enjoyable evening.

The B.B.C. recorded the proceedings and put them on the air the following morning.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY'S DINNER DAY

FRIENDS from all over the country came to Oxford on February 1st for the Society's dinner day. Ringing began at Christ Church (12) at 2 p.m. and parties also went to see Great Tom, led by Mr. D. J. Roaf, and equally interesting, although in a less campanological way, to peer down upon Oxford from this exalted position, and see Pembroke College, 'the coal scuttle of Christ Church,' immediately opposite through a haze of dust and cobwebs.

At 2.30 ringing began at Merton (8) also, but people who preferred a ringing chamber with a floor rather than a gaping void in the centre remained at Christ Church until they were able to move on to New College (10), St. Mary Magdalen (6), St. Ebbe (8), Magdalen (10) and finally St. Mary-the-Virgin (6), where the service was afterwards held, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Dr. R. S. Lee). In his sermon he observed how much the sound of a bell may help a man in his religion, and stressed that ringing should always be remembered as a service to the Church and to God.

The dinner which followed was well attended, as the president (Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) presided over a company of 62. Mr. C. J. B. Taylor, in proposing 'The Exercise,' spoke of the many reasons why ringing is enjoyed, and of personal preferences and dislikes among different methods. In considering the more adventurous and experimental side of ringing, he likened the treble ringer to Christopher Columbus, saying that 'when he pulled off, he didn't know where he was going; when he got there, he didn't know where he was, and when he came back, he didn't know where he'd been.' Although delighted to find a technical ringing joke which even they could understand, the less advanced members of the Society who were present were nevertheless glad to proceed to further speeches, where the laughter, even if incomprehensible, seemed to be at the expense of their more expert fellows.

Mr. D. J. Roaf, in proposing the toast of 'The Visitors,' welcomed the Society's guests, who included Mr. E. H. Lewis, Rev. C. Elliot Wigg, Dr. L. E. Sutton (the senior member), the Masters of the Cambridge University Guild and the Bristol and London University Societies, and Mr. Philip Walker (secretary of the Oxford Society).

Mr. E. H. Lewis, who replied, spoke very interestingly and entertainingly about the early days of undergraduate ringing in Oxford and Cambridge at the beginning of the century, remembering the time when four undergraduate ringers from Cambridge combined with the only four at Oxford for a peal attempt at Drayton which, if they had got it, would have been the first peal rung by an entirely undergraduate band. He spoke, too, of the very valuable work which he has done, and the advice which he has been able to give about the hanging of bells and their placing in the tower.

Mr. Brian Cookson (Master of the Cambridge University Guild) proposed 'The Oxford University Society,' and was thanked by the Master (Mr. R. N. Pittman). In his speech, Mr. Pittman added his welcome to that of Mr. Roaf, and expressed the Society's appreciation of the co-operation it receives from the clergy of Oxford. In summing up the events and achievements of the past year, he reported that 21 peals, of which nine were on handbells, and 15 quarter peals had been rung by the Society, and that at the beginning of the academic year the treasurer had received subscriptions from nearly 50 resident members. He concluded with the wish that at the next annual dinner his successor should be able to report on a year 'even if not so full of technical achievements, at least as full of satisfaction from service rendered and the companionship gained from membership of the Society.' OBITUARY

MR. ERNEST H. OXENHAM

The news of the death of Mr. Ernest H. Oxenham, of Bampton, Devon, will have been received with great regret by all who remember him in North Kent. He came to London at the beginning of the century as a harness maker, but preferred outdoor life, and when a new tram route from Shepherds Bush to Hampton Court was opened he became a tram driver. In 1903 he transferred to another new route between Bexleyheath and Woolwich, which later joined up with one run by the Dartford authorities and remained with that undertaking until the advent of trolleybuses about 1936, when he retired.

In his early years in London he had done a lot of ringing with the then very active Waterloo Society, and in the report of one peal at Camberwell in December, 1900, he was described as 'Ernest H. Oxygen,' which led to the following rebuke from the Editor of 'The Bell News' to the sender in the next issue: 'In forwarding a report of a peal last week, a correspondent perpetrated what no doubt he thought was a joke. Others are of a different opinion. Peal records are important matters, and should be quite free from every kind of buffoonery. The writer is cautioned against a repetition of his stupid conduct.'

About this time he took part in a peal by eight Devonshire men resident in London, but owing to his occupation his peal ringing virtually ceased for more than 30 years, though he attended practices and Sunday ringing at Crayford, where he became a member of the band, whenever possible. Afterwards he became active again as a peal ringer, and of the 89 which V. N. B. says he rang, 44 were on Crayford bells. A bachelor, he returned to Devon with some reluctance on the death of his landlady in 1946, and apart from a return visit for a few months in 1948 he was not seen in the district again. An occasional contributor to the columns of 'The Ringing World,' he usually injected a touch of humour typical of his nature into his letters, as, for instance, in a reference to William Corder having been a ringer at Challis Winney's native village, which he concluded with: 'I have always thought it fitting that Corder should have finished his inglorious life at the end of a rope.'

MR. FRANK E. PERVIN

With regret we record the death of Mr. Frank Ensor Pervin, of Coventry, in Keresley Hospital, Coventry, on February 9th. He had been in failing health due to a seizure two years ago which affected his right side. Unfortunately he had another seizure on February 1st, from which he died. The deep sympathy of many friends is extended to his widow and relatives.

The funeral service took place at Stoke St. Michael's Parish Church, the Rector conducting the service, and in his address he paid a fitting tribute to Frank's long and devoted service as a ringer at Stoke for over 50 years.

In addition to the widow and relatives the Coventry Guild was represented by Mr. Frank W. Perrens (president), Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward (hon. secretary), Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beamish (Nuneaton), and the St. Martin's Guild by Messrs. F. E. Haynes (Master) and A. Walker. Local ringers also attended and rang the bells half-muffled before and after the service. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the end of the service by E. Sibley, A. Walker, F. W. Perrens and A. H. Beamish.

MR. HENRY W. BROWN

The death occurred on January 25th of Mr. Henry W. Brown, 36, Triangle, Bath, at the age of 95. He was a ringer at Bath Abbey for 70 years, his last appearance in the tower being the occasion of the visit to Bath of the Queen, then Princess Elizabeth. A founder member of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, he represented that body on the Central Council from 1927 to 1938.

He had rung about 200 peals, the most notable being the first peal of Grandsire Caters on Bath Abbey bells, which he conducted in the year 1906, and the first peal of Grandsire Triples on the famous bells at Wells, Somerset, in 1900. He also conducted the first peal of Stedman Triples in Bath, and rang in the first peal of Cambridge Major in Bath, together with other Surprise peals.

Mr. Brown was a good musician in his younger days; he and his three brothers were bass singers in the choir of St. John's, Bathwick. Afterwards he joined the choir of St. Michael's, Twerton, and later held the post of organist at the Church of the Ascension.

Despite failing health during the last few years he retained a lively interest in ringing, and whenever one paid him a visit he always had figures of quarter peals and date touches to show.

The funeral took place at the Church of the Ascension on January 31st. Before the cortege left the church a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung by T. Jones 1-2, W. J. Prescott 3-4, G. Hawkins 5-6, A. S. Read 7-8. The whole pull and stand and Grandsire Caters was rung at Bath Abbey during the evening as a tribute to a valued friend and ringer.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2448 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

WILLIAM H. BARBER

SPLICED Surprise has reached such dizzy heights that the younger generations of ringers may be unaware of some of the great performances in the past with the humble Stedman Triples.

In Stedman Triples one encounters about the maximum number of working bells (seven), for there is no treble performing a regular work as in the vast majority of other methods. In Stedman on higher numbers the additional bells are fixed bells, and peals of Caters and Cinques have usually only four working bells for most of the peal. In Surprise Major there is, after all, a regular treble and the tenors are usually together so that there the number of working bells is usually five.

The standard compositions can hardly be regarded as elementary conducting, but there are several other compositions which present even greater problems in the mere memorising of the calling. One of these is Carter's 'odd bob' peal, which recent correspondence shows to be still quite a rarity in the peal columns, even when the conductor rings the seventh and has his eyes wide open. How much greater a feat, therefore, was the performance of William H. Barber at St. Mary's, Gateshead, on February 21st, 1908, when he conducted the 'odd bob' peal from a non-observation bell while blindfold! The 50th anniversary can hardly be allowed to pass without recalling what must surely rank as one of the greatest individual feats in ringing, especially on tower bells.

The years have taken their toll of the ringers, and the Rev. Canon C. Carew Cox is the sole survivor of that band. He it was who reminded me of the anniversary, and I am pleased to note that he has contributed some personal memories of that occasion, for here on Tyneside we now have no direct link with that band.

St. Mary's, Gateshead, bells have been rehung twice since 1908, but on neither occasion has recasting been allowed—a matter for regret rather than congratulation—for the bells cannot be described as a musical ring or in any way ideally suited to such a task.

A feat such as this requires an extremely acute musical ear, that I suppose one possesses or does not. Bill Barber certainly had that, as one small incident will testify. With two others I was ringing handbells in the belfry of St. John's, Newcastle, and we had reached a hiatus with the bells temporarily stopped, waiting for a missing bell, when Bill's voice came up the stairs, calling: 'Two, two.' He had entered the church, recognised the method, and was able to put things right. My acquaintance with him began when he was well into his sixties and partially deaf. I can only wonder what he was like at the height of his powers.

The acuteness of his hearing is also illustrated by the information given to me by a much closer acquaintance of Bill's, Mr. W. J. Davidson, that Bill himself did not regard this particular performance as his greatest in Stedman Triples. He assigned pride of place to the Law James seven-part. At a Johnson dinner early in the century Sir Arthur Heywood had suggested that there was still scope for originality in Stedman Triples by the composition of a peal in seven equal parts. Bill Barber said that if such a composition were produced he would tackle it. Law James produced a composition and Bill Barber called it. Evidently, therefore, the inability to see the ropes did not present the same problem to Bill Barber that it does to others of us.

In paying a humble tribute to a genius of bellringing I cannot help but muse on the desirability of having such an acute ear, for surely, when the striking deteriorates the suffering must be even more intense. Perhaps like the little girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead: 'When it is good it is very, very good; but when it is bad it is horrid!'

BELFRY GOSSIP

The bells of St. Alphege's, Canterbury, are rung exclusively for Sunday services by scholars of King's School. Since their ringing has started, states our correspondent, the church congregations have doubled. This is a fine achievement considering that the church is virtually in the shadow of the Cathedral. Two scholars of the school rang their first peal on the bells on February 8th.

We thank the West Dorset Branch for their generosity. They have decided to donate 10s. to 'The Ringing World' with each account of quarterly meetings.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. W. H. Webb, who for 25 years has been Ringing Master at Halesowen. A course of his favourite method, Kent Treble Bob Major, and a quarter of Stedman Triples, was rung at his funeral with the bells half-muffled.

Last week the six bells at Wonersh, Surrey, were removed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for recasting. Hopes are entertained of a ring of eight similar to St. Olave's, Hart Street. The parish has not yet issued an appeal but Wonersh ringers have started the fund by raising £50.

Next Sunday, the B.B.C. Television Service will broadcast at 9.45 a.m. the Sung Communion Service from St. John-the-Baptist's, Hillingdon, Middlesex. The fine ring of ten bells will play its part and will be heard at the beginning of the broadcast. The service touch will be Grandsire Caters, rung, with one exception, by the local band. Encouraged by the Vicar (Rev. F. C. Tyler), who takes a great interest and is keen on good striking, St. John's band are making steady progress. Three or four keen youngsters are a great help, and the band are beginning to emulate the enthusiasm of their forefathers who rang three peals of Grandsire Triples at St. John's in 1733.

Mr. Donald H. Niblett, by his peal at East Hagbourne, became the sixth member to ring 50 peals for the Oxford University Society. Other members with this distinction are John E. Spice (96), Mrs. P. T. Robbins (87), Peter Border (65), Wilfrid F. Moreton (61) and Robin G. Turner (51).

The peal at Walsall, recorded this week, was rung as a birthday compliment to Miss Stella Hughes.

Less than eight members attended the monthly meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association at Hampton on February 15th. The secretary urges members to make a great effort to attend the meeting at Uxbridge on March 15th.

An old gardener, who, when his boss said to him, 'Don't those bells sound lovely?' replied with a wry affirmative and then added: 'But I likes them, say, three fields away.' His master was not long left in doubt, for the old man continued: 'Chesterfield, Sheffield and Huddersfield.'—Told by the Vicar of Holmes Chapel to the Crewe Branch.

The peal of Rutland Surprise at Loughborough Bellfoundry on February 19th completed 200 peals on these bells by Ernest Morris, of Leicester, he being the first to reach this total. Included are peals of Doubles, Minor, Triples, Major, Caters and Royal, and long lengths of 13,440 (conducted), 10,976, 9,760 (400 singles c.), 9,600, 9,120 (c.), twice 7,008 (c.)

Mr. Ernest Morris has resigned his post as verger of St. Margaret's, Leicester, after an association of nearly 20 years with Canon E. N. Ducker. He is continuing his services with St. Margaret's as registrar. Mr. Morris has handed over his extensive library and lantern slides to the P.C.C. We hope to publish tributes to his work in our next issue.

MUSIC IN BELL-RINGING

By DESMOND PAINTER

MR. CHANT'S front page article in 'The Ringing World' of January 3rd, 1958, propounds an interesting thesis which seeks to justify 6-5's at backstroke in Minor on the grounds that the equivalent sound is a recognised progression in music and that in any case 6-5's sound no worse than, for instance, 6-2's, their avoidance being a matter merely of long-standing prejudice. Mr. Chant's challenge to the many abhorrers of the 6-5's at backstroke to justify their views raises again the old question of what constitutes good and bad music in bell-ringing.

Many of the great figures of the Exercise have held decided views on this subject, and Mr. Nolan Golden touched on some of them in his article on 'Composition Qualities' in 'The Ringing World' of August 9th, 1957. He did not go very deeply into the matter, however, since his object was rather to explain the meanings of the phrases attached by composers to their peals in order to describe their qualities than to offer an opinion on those qualities themselves.

WHAT IS A 'MUSICAL' CHANGE?

A change can be said to be 'musical' in three senses which may overlap but are distinct:—

(a) In that it is a succession of musical notes.

(b) In that it reproduces the phenomena of what Mr. Chant calls 'ordinary music.'

(c) In that the listener finds its sound pleasant.

Used in the sense (a) the word 'musical' is, though accurate, of no value to us since all changes must by definition be musical.

Taken in its wider and most literal, sense (b) is, of course, equivalent to sense (a), since any change could in theory be a reproduction of a succession of notes in a piece of music. We can most usefully limit this use of the word 'musical' by considering first, what 'ordinary' music the bells are capable of reproducing, and second, whether all music so reproduced is in fact 'musical' in any real sense.

The capacity of the bells to reproduce 'ordinary' music is severely limited by their nature, and by the nature of change ringing. Our bells (with a few eccentric exceptions, such as the ring of five at Manudin, in Essex, where the tenor is a semi-tone sharp) are tuned in the diatonic major scale.* This means that we can at once ignore all chromatic and most modal music, which the bells cannot reproduce at all. Further limitations are imposed by the fact that a ring of bells is fixed in pitch and in key, which means that it is impossible to modulate as in music from one key to another, and by the fact that each of the eight notes of the scale can be sounded once only in each change.

It is apparent from this that the number of musical phenomena which can be reproduced in ringing is small. Furthermore, not all of these phenomena will in fact be 'musical' because although technically reproducible on the bells they will be divorced from the context which explains them. Disregard of this fact has, with respect, led Mr. Chant astray. He seeks to justify 8-7's at backstroke by reference to examples of the same thing from music. (He might have added 'The Bells of St. Mary's,' a favourite with handbell tune ringers.) In fact, however, none of his examples is a correct analogy.

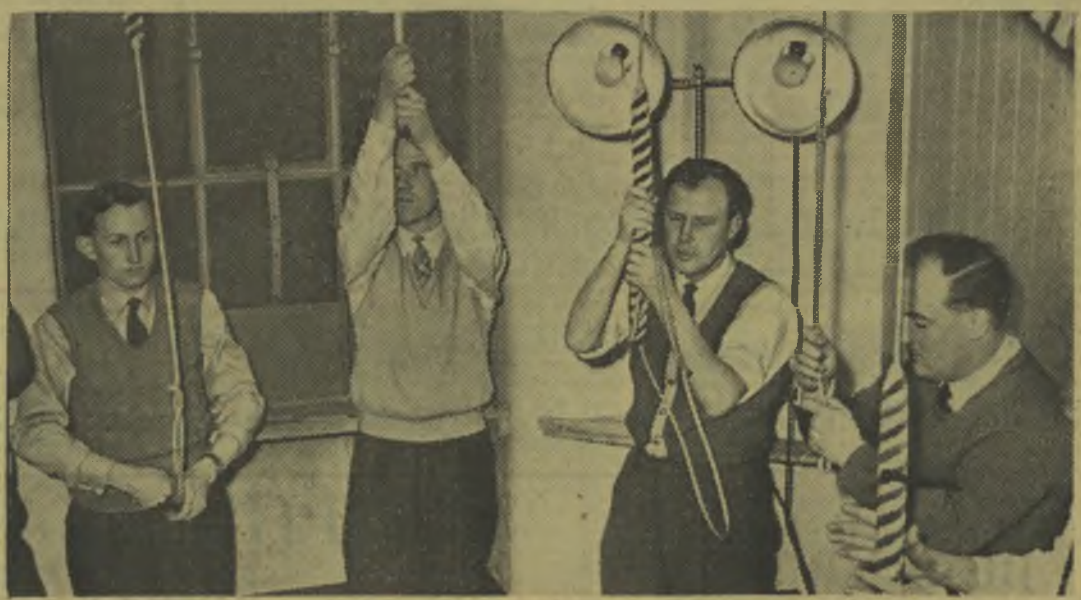
DO 8-7's OCCUR IN MUSIC?

The progressions which Mr. Chant quotes are not tonic-supertonic progressions at all. In 'Stephanos' (A. & M. 254), which is in the key of G major, the progression is a tonic-dominant one, in which the note A (equivalent to the 7th bell) appears not in its capacity as the root of the supertonic chord but in its capacity as the fifth† of the dominant chord. In both 'Ewing' (A. & M. 228), which is in the key of D major, and in the slow movement of Schubert's 'Unfinished' Symphony, which is in the key of E major, the progression is from the submediant (the relative minor key) to the dominant, and the notes D and E in the hymn tune and E and F sharp in the Schubert Symphony are respectively the third of the submediant chord and the fifth of the dominant chord. It is quite wrong to regard any of these (or the hundreds of similar progressions which are as common as blackberries in music) as tonic-supertonic progressions. They are nothing more than examples of one of the most universal characteristics of a diatonic tune—the halfway modulation to the dominant key. A glance at the bass part, or the 'cello part in the Schubert Symphony (itself one of Schubert's loveliest tunes) will show that this is so.

A further point of distinction between Mr. Chant's examples and the 8-7's at backstroke in change-ringing is the rhythmical one. Each of the progressions that Mr. Chant calls in aid in an anacrusis—that is, a weak beat followed by a strong one—coming to rest on the dominant chord in a half close. In ringing, however, the rhythmical effect is to emphasise the bells striking in the odd places at the expense of those striking in the even places (except for the 678's and 748's, where the cadential effect is too strong for the natural rhythm—though not, curiously enough, in the Tittums change itself). An 8-7 is therefore a strong beat followed by a weak one, not only not suggesting a cadence, but emphasising the 'left in the air' feeling which helps to make the 8-7's so unpopular.

The fact is that tunes, or even any recognisable part of them except the final full close, cannot be reproduced in ringing. I shall go on to consider in my next article what musical phenomena can be reproduced by the bells.

*Only a ring of eight bells, of course, forms a true diatonic scale, but smaller and larger numbers are merely reductions or extensions of the scale. The examples in these articles are given in terms of a ring of eight unless otherwise stated and must be adjusted for other numbers of bells.



†It may be as well to explain that the notes of a chord are described by their distance upwards from the root or bottom note. Thus in the major third C-E-G, C (the tonic note) is the root, E (the mediant note) is an interval of a third above the root and the third of the chord, G, is the fifth.

A NEWCASTLE SILVER JUBILEE

A company of 35 attended a dinner to mark the silver jubilee of SS. James and Basil's, Fenham, Society on February 7th. The Rev. J. R. H. Prophet presided and speeches were given by the Rev. W. Forsyth, Messrs. N. H. Hewett, R. W. A. McDonald, Kenneth Arthur (who was hon. secretary of the Guild from 1933 to 1957), J. A. Ainsworth and J. Anderson (who rang in the first touch and first peal on the bells).

A course of Stedman Triples was rung by John Anderson 1-2, Kenneth Arthur 3-4, Denis A. Bayles 5-6, J. Alan Ainsworth 7-8. Songs were sung by Mr. Jack Wilson, accompanied by Mr. John Healy.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

North and East District Report a Good Year

Sixty members were present at the service, tea and business during the annual meeting of the North and East District of the Association, which was held at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, Holborn, on February 8th. Several more ringers joined the proceedings during day, when the bells of St. James', Clerkenwell, St. Gabriel's, Warwick Square, and St. Giles' were available.

The service in St. Giles' was conducted by the Association's president, the Rev. G. C. Taylor, who gave a thought-inspiring address on the acceptance of, and belief in, the miracles of Our Lord.

At the business meeting the hon. secretary submitted a report, which was well received.

Thirty-two ringing and ten non-resident life members had been elected. Acknowledgment of many years of loyal and devoted service to St. Andrew's, Enfield, by Mr. I. J. Attwater, was recorded, and although he now resides in Ilford he is still rendering assistance to his old tower. Through the splendid efforts of Messrs. E. J. Rowe, B. Bladon and W. A. Theobald, St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, now possessed a pleasant light ring of eight, made by the addition of two treble bells. Structural defects in the tower were temporarily preventing any ringing at Harrow-on-the-Hill. A very encouraging total of 138 quarter peals had been returned from 16 towers, thus directly reflecting the expansion of ringing for church services. Stamford Hill received congratulations for again heading the list with a total of 38, these being in a large variety of methods and all rung by members of the local band.

All officers were re-elected except Mr. T. J. Lock, the retiring hon. secretary. He did not seek re-election because he had been elected the Association's general secretary. Although temporarily indisposed and unable to be present, Mr. C. E. Slade was unanimously elected District secretary.

Mr. Cutler said that the opportunity could not pass without Mr. Lock being thanked for his work as District secretary over a period of 19 years, and this was endorsed by prolonged handclapping.

Mr. Lock replied by saying that he had enjoyed his period as an officer, which had extended over a period of 23 years because from 1935 to 1939 he was District Ringing Master. He thanked the District officers for the work and team spirit and paid tribute to his wife for her support and sympathetic contribution.

The following new members were elected: Miss L. Fletcher, Miss M. Hawkins, M. I. Hawkins (Enfield), Miss E. Bevis, R. Bevis (Kingsbury), Miss M. Harte (St. Olave's, Hart Street), Miss P. Rowe, Miss L. Hawes (Stamford Hill), H. Miller, W. C. G. Wainwright (Southgate), G. Howells (Stanmore), J. M. Steele (Upper Clapton), W. G. Wilson (Ealing) unattached, Mrs. R. L. Armstrong (Ilford) non-resident life member.

Thanks were accorded to clergy and all others connected with the day's proceedings, whereupon Mr. H. G. Hart, vice-president, declared the business of the meeting closed and thus permitted a further hour's ringing.

Vancouver Bells Ring Again

Last June, Mr. Anthony J. M. Collins, who used to ring at Merstham, Redhill, Kingwood and Reigate, arrived at Vancouver. His first act was to find a job as an estimator for a contracting company; his second to set the bells in the tower of Holy Rosary Cathedral ringing again after a silence of nearly five years.

His appeal for volunteers last August was answered by 24 persons, but before anyone so much as placed a hand on a sally Tony put the group to work scrubbing the dirt and grime from the bells and brick walls of the belfry. There were also repairs to be made, bearings to be greased, broken stays mended and the ringing chamber whitewashed.

Mr. Collins, who has been elected president of the Vancouver Society of Change Ringers, writes that the Society was formed in September and they have a group of nine ringers from the old country (only six regular attenders) and over 20 learners, some of whom in less than four months were able to ring fairly good rounds for the traditional radio broadcast of ringing in the New Year, which had lapsed for over five years.

The Society rang for the visit of the Queen Mother on January 28th, and has a big programme ahead as this is the centennial year of British Columbia. Included in these days is the arrival of Princess Margaret in Vancouver next July.

The bells of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary will always be associated with the name of Alfred C. Limpus. It was he who not only got the bells hung for ringing and had five recast in England, but in 1906 trained a local band. The first peal on the bells and in Canada was rung on July 1st, 1911. Since his death in 1952 until last year, the bells have been mute.

Now a new chapter is being written, and all readers will wish president Tony Collins and his band many years of happy ringing in the service of Church and State.

YOUNG RINGER AND PEAL WEEK

Dear Sir,—In reply to your correspondent's letter ('The Ringing World,' February 7th, 1958), concerning a young ringer ringing an 'excessive' number of peals in just over a week, may I be allowed to say, 'What utter nonsense!'

This letter is typical of ringers of the old school, whose voice of jealousy is saying, 'I know I have had my day, and I am going to do my best to see that you do not have yours.'

I am sure the young lad concerned was not forced to ring in peals in which he did not wish to participate.

It is to be hoped that your correspondent will concern himself solely with his own personal affairs, and cease his wilful interference into the affairs of ringers who obviously have more drive and enthusiasm than he has or ever will have.—Yours sincerely,

TREVOR N. J. BAILEY.

Beccles, Suffolk.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

West Dorset Branch

The music of the delightful though odd-struck eight at Whitechurch Canonicorum was heard to good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise Major at the quarterly meeting of the Branch.

Canon Havelock-Davidson conducted the service and gave the address, and Canon C. Carew Cox read the lesson. Tea followed in the reading room. Twenty-three sat down, including visitors from North Dorset and Wimborne Branches.

Prior to the business meeting, Canon Cox said a few words about the late Frederick Precey, who had often attended the meetings, and was one who had done much for ringing. The meeting stood in silence. Other points from the meeting were: April meeting at Burton Bradstock on 19th; Guild Festival at Dorchester on May 17th; that 10s. be donated to 'The Ringing World' with each account of quarterly meetings.

Canon Cox had the congratulations of the meeting on the 50th anniversary of the peal of Stedman Triples, Carter's odd bob, conducted by the late W. H. Barber, blindfolded. Canon Cox is now the sole survivor of this band. He gave a few of his memories of the peal and the two attempts before it was scored.

The meeting also expressed its pleasure at the news that Mr. Roger Keeley was now the Master of the University of London Society.

STEPNEY GUILD OF RINGERS

As briefly announced last week, Stepney Guild of Ringers, at their annual dinner on February 8th, made a presentation to Mr. T. G. Fox, in recognition of his long service to the Guild, of a fountain pen.

Mr. H. G. Weedon recalled Mr. Fox's work and mentioned he became a ringer in 1928, and in 1937, when a new Guild was formed, he was elected captain, a position he had held until now. Since his removal to Romford he had found it increasingly difficult to make the journey and, therefore, he had reluctantly resigned.

His brother, Len, has been elected captain, and Mr. H. G. Weedon [illegible], Toronto House, Ocean Estate, Stepney, E.1, is the new secretary. Tom leaves a good band, a wonderful example and a belfry with a happy atmosphere.

Another presentation is to be made to Tom on behalf of the congregation at the next meeting of the Parochial Church Council.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The annual meeting of the Midland District was held, together with a Leicester Diocesan Guild meeting, on February 1st, at St. John-the-Divine, Leicester.

After ringing in the afternoon the Vicar held a most helpful service.

The two Guilds split up for their meetings after tea. All the Ladies' Guild officers were re elected and the vice-president (Miss Thompson) thanked everybody for the work they had done. Five new members were elected and it is felt this is a good start for 1958. The next meeting will be at Ruddington on April 19th.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

6-5 AT BACKSTROKE

Dear Sir,—It was interesting to read the letters connected with 6-5's at backstroke. Mr. Moreton's is critical and demands an answer.

The main purpose behind the writing of my letter to the 'R.W.' on this subject was to encourage ringers to listen to what they ring; to examine 6-5's at backstroke and discover for themselves, without being influenced by the opinions of other people, whether the devil is ever so black as he is painted, or indeed in this case if he is at all black.

Too often we hear glib expressions such as: 'There are (or are not) 6-5's at backstroke'; 'Cambridge Major is not a very musical method'; 'Double Norwich (or Yorkshire, etc.) is a musical method'; or, 'It is, unfortunately, an irregular method.' So long as these are expressions based on personal experience I have no objection to them, but the speaker is frequently repeating a cliché that has been handed down from one generation of ringers to another.

But catch the spreading notion of the town.'
(If I may quote—or misquote Pope.)

Mr. Moreton and I have had many friendly arguments on the subject of 6-5's, and although I think the reasons he advances against them, like the ones in his letter, are feeble to say the least, nevertheless I respect his opinions on 6-5's because he has heard and examined them. Not in every case willingly!

On some occasions when he has been ringing and I have been calling (open-lead) Minor, I have reversed the tenors to bring out the beauty of the 6-5's! I must admit, however, that if he is on the leading bell at the time the 6-5's are due to appear, he (intentionally) turns the open into temporarily closed leads—a stratagem that merely avoids the issue. Although I have tried hard to follow the reasoning in his letter to the 'R.W.', I still fail to see the connection he tries to establish between 6-5's in hymn tunes at half-cadences and 6-5's at handstroke in ringing.

But perhaps, as Mr. Moreton observes, I am biased.

It is the pause that emphasises the change-endings and whatever the preceding sound pattern may be, it is the final note that lingers most in the musical memory until the next pause-ending.

With regard to the 'Speed of Ringing,' mentioned on the same page (95), I was amazed to learn from Mr. A. P. Cannon that 'the faster six bells are rung the better they sound.'

Well, well! We live and learn!

It is a pity that there is no means of assessing striking with the same accuracy as assessing speed or we may possibly be reading footnotes of: 'The best struck peal on the bells.' instead of 'the fastest.' I very much doubt whether these two terms would be synonymous!

—Yours sincerely, H. CHANT.

Wakefield, Yorks.

NAMESAKES

Dear Sir,—Some of your readers can claim to have been members of unusual bands or to have rung in unusual peals, e.g., 'John' or 'William.' 'Teacher,' 'Clerical,' 'Verger,' 'All Lady' bands, and so on.

I have been wondering if many readers can claim to have rung six or more peals in the counties or cities of the peals' namesakes—say a peal of 'Cambridge' in Cambridge, 'Oxford' in Oxford, 'London' in London, 'Bristol' in Bristol, 'Double Norwich' in Norwich, 'Lincolnshire' in Lincolnshire, 'Yorkshire' in Yorkshire, 'Kent' in Kent, etc.—Yours truly,

F. MORRIS.

Burghill, Hereford.

OTHER 'FAILURES'

Dear Sir,—May I say how much I enjoyed Mr. H. Allen's little poem entitled 'The Failure.' It expresses the sentiments of every loyal bellringer, and ought to be recited before every peal attempt.

If Mr. Allen is the gentleman better known in another sphere as 'Harry,' then, like the creatures among which he works, the sting is in the tail, viz.:

'He rings on Tuesday, Friday, Monday,
But doesn't come to ring on Sunday.'

There is another category of ringers not included in the above who are equally deserving of castigation, yet who do ring on Sunday. I refer to those who gad about continuing their 'tower-snatching' habit, and are usually welcomed wherever they drop in as they sometimes complete the band or strengthen the ringing. They are not really of assistance, as help given on one isolated occasion is worthless. Such people are deluding themselves if they think they are Sunday service ringers. The only help on Sundays worthy of the name is that which can be relied upon because it is regular. No tower leader can build up and maintain a Sunday service band on the unexpected and rare visits of talented itinerant bellringers.

Many of us would like to be freelances and enjoy other people's company and bells on Sundays, but a sense of duty prevents this. With the traditional 'freedom of the belfry' which allows these visits and welcome genuine visitors temporarily resident in an area, little, unfortunately, can be done to give these nomadic ringers a sense of responsibility.

As you, sir, recently described it, ringing is a 'dedicated sport,' and it is on Sunday that the first word should have precedence over the second.—Yours faithfully,

W. BIRMINGHAM.

Slough, Bucks.

P.S.—Is not Mr. J. T. Dyke, whose views are much respected generally, rather too damning of birthday ringing? If a loyal member of a band, at his own request, would prefer to celebrate his birthday ringing with his friends and colleagues to 'throwing a party,' or drinking at 'the local,' or going to a show, surely it is very difficult to say him nay. When the mention of an impending birthday is eagerly seized upon as an excuse for a 'quarter' or a peal, then, I believe, Mr. Dyke is justified in his remarks.—W. B.

PEAL RINGERS' PRACTICAL HELP

Dear Sir,—I read with interest 'Paludian's' article on those wicked peal ringers ('Ringing World,' February 14th). I rang my first peal on February 8th and since then I have received nothing but congratulations for myself and the other boy who rang it with me. Many of these good wishes have come from my own band of ringers in the school (I am the captain of the recently-formed King's School band), none of whom can ring a peal as yet.

I heartily agree with 'Paludian' concerning the backbone of English ringing. At the beginning of the term I wrote to the District secretary of the Kent County Association asking for help in teaching my band method ringing. The response has been really wonderful and all the help that has come has been in the form of peal ringers who want to help us. Because of the new field opened up to the learners and those who can ring simple call changes a renewed interest is clearly visible.

I feel justified in agreeing with 'Paludian' about those wicked peal ringers. — Yours sincerely,

NEALE J. MULLER.

Canterbury.

GIVING THE TENOR 'PLENTY OF ROOM'

Dear Sir,—Mr. W. F. Moreton wishes me to explain my term 'giving the tenor plenty of room.' This is difficult but it is obvious that the frequency of sounds should be brought into the matter. The vibrations emitted from the tenor and 5th will be slower than the treble and 2nd, so that to give a slightly wider interval between the tenor and 5th is desirable.

To measure such an interval, which I am expected to do by Mr. Moreton, is well-nigh impossible but if he is a musician he may appreciate a musical analogy. When playing a woodwind instrument amongst a crowd of strings I find that their D sharp is a different note from E flat, and unless the orchestra is balanced by bass and woodwind the strings move into a key of their own.

The difference in pitch is apparently immeasurable, as is the extended interval between the tenor and 5th, but a ringer who listens to the music produced by the bells as distinct from the sound of the bells can make the minute adjustment.

The music on closed leads is quite different from what is produced on open leads; a phrase on the latter lasts merely two changes but on closed leads the phrase extends for many changes, and when the harmonics are superimposed the music is unique.

Mr. Moreton states that I said 'to ring seven blows in two seconds would sound awful' This is not correct; my letter stated that 'the effect of the 5th coming down on the tenor at that speed would be indescribable.'

The speed at which a ring of bells should be rung depends on the intelligence of the tenor ringer and the co-operation of the other ringers who must ring to him.

I regret the views of Mr. A. P. Cannon on the speed of ringing leave me stunned: I can offer no answer. I am too overwhelmed!

Well, you ringers, jump on the 6-5 Special —there's plenty of room.—Yours faithfully,

N. F. MOXON.

Cawthorne.

GRATEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGED

Dear Sir,—After conversing with ringers in many parts of the country I have not been able to find out why many of our most prolific peal ringers seldom, if ever, seem to appear in the column 'Gratefully Acknowledged.' I wonder if some ringer could supply the answer?—Yours faithfully, JOSEPH T. BARRETT.

Beaminster.

'PALUDIAN'

Dear Sir,—For the information of your readers, the term 'Paludian' is only applicable to past scholars, according to sex, of either a certain High or Grammar School. Your leader-writer is not so qualified, having been educated in another county. Were he to return to his own particular 'bed of nettles,' his 'backbone' would probably find more exercise than in his present tower.—Yours faithfully,

NOAH BITTE.

VISITORS WOULD BE WELCOME

Dear Sir,—With the lengthening days and the better weather, we expect a lot of ringers are planning their summer outing. May I make a suggestion that here at this somewhat out-of-the-way village in Kent we have a band of young ringers who would really welcome visitors, though we should ask to be coached in method ringing. We practise on Fridays and can manage simple dodging but we would like to get on so that at least we can ring service touches on special occasions.

If there are ringers passing through on a Sunday we manage to ring on first and third Sunday mornings regularly.—Yours truly,

Ash, Kent. JOHN V. MULLEN.

LETTERS—Continued

'THE SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT'

Dear Sir,—On Feb. 9th yet one more representative of the Press has outraged ringers by his presentation of the story of the attempt on the 40,320; this time the special correspondent of 'The News of the World.'

I write without knowledge of any 'publishing rights' this 'special correspondent' may have obtained, and he may be entitled to present the 'story' in a way he imagines will best suit his readers, but surely it is the duty of ringers to reserve their own rights.

To imply that umpires were counting each change, to say they were 'tugging, tugging, tugging' and slanging each other, with sweat on their brow (6 cwt. tenor) is offensive in the view of most ringers.

If these attempts on records result only in stupid articles which debase our art in the celebrated 'Sunday Press,' it were better for ringing if 'freedom' for this type of 'special correspondent' were confined to a desert island.—Yours faithfully,

FRED PRICE.

Bournemouth.

'THOSE WICKED PEAL RINGERS'

Dear Sir,—The writer of the front page article in the issue of February 14th mentions hobbies and pastimes in solving crossword puzzles, winning cups at a horticultural show, climbing mountains and being on the winning side in a football match, but he must understand that these things are not consecrated to the glory of God.

I am not against peal ringing, as I have rung a few myself, good and bad, but what I am most interested in is why the writer is ashamed to put his name to what he has written.

I think it would make our paper more interesting if we could have the names of these writers. Not so very long ago you would not accept an article under a nom de plume. What is the difference?—Yours, etc.,

W. H. HOWE.

Exeter.

SATURN TREBLE BOB

Dear Sir,—As a member of the Saturn Treble Bob peal band I was glad to see at last Mr. Moreton's anti-missile missile, which has so successfully exploded the missiles launched at the method.

Saturn is simple and elegant in construction and very musical in effect. It is easy to ring, yet has plenty of interest to last a peal: and, in fact, on November 30th it was thoroughly enjoyable throughout.

In these matters we should remember that rules are made to serve us and not we to serve them. If they are bad or have outgrown their usefulness they should be changed.

With Messrs. Moreton and Leale I suggest that the Council Decisions in this field are bad, and therefore should be changed.—Yours sincerely,

F. ERIC ROBERTS.

Reigate, Surrey.

Herts County Association

Hadley was chosen for the February meeting of the St. Albans District. Ringing began soon after 3 p.m. and continued until the service, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Preb. H. C. Harland).

Tea was taken in a nearby cafe. 18 members being present. The business meeting was conducted by the Ringing Master, Mr. G. Dodds, as the secretary was unavoidably absent.

Methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge. It is hoped to arrange the next meeting at Sandridge. M. A. C.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

A new secretary was elected at the annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch held at St. Michael's, Teignmouth, on February 15th. Mr. J. E. Lilley, who presided, was unanimously re-elected chairman, but Mr. A. L. Bennett did not seek re-election as secretary and treasurer. He agreed, however, to act as assistant secretary and 'Ringing World' representative. Mr. D. Roberts, of Babbacombe, is his successor. Appointed to serve on the General Committee were Mrs. D. E. Hood, Messrs. A. Goss and A. Radcliff. Two new members were elected from Babbacombe and two also from St. Michael's. The president (Preb. Cox) presented certificates to Miss Blake (Townstal) and Mr. Radcliff (Coffinswell).

The holding of the Guild annual meeting on Whit Monday was discussed and it was resolved to support a suggestion that this should be held on the Saturday after Whit Monday.

The Rev. J. C. M. Scott, who gave the address at the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. D. E. Hood), bade farewell to the Branch: he has been appointed to a living near Holsworthy.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members returned to the tower where a peal board recording a peal of Plain Bob Major rung at the beginning of the year was dedicated by the president, and a move was afterwards made to Bishopsteignton for further ringing.

Subject to permission, the next meeting will be held at Paignton on April 19th.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The good work done by Mr. Dan Smith, who, owing to illness, recently resigned from the post of secretary, is to be recognised by a presentation. This was decided at a meeting of the Society held at Ossett on February 8th, when 13 towers were represented.

The business meeting, which followed an excellent tea, had the president (Mr. N. F. Moxon) in the chair. A silent tribute was paid to L.A.C. Colin Michael Stephenson (20), of Ossett, who was fatally injured whilst riding pillion on a motor-cycle.

The next meeting will be at Penistone on March 8th and the annual outing will be in Derbyshire in July.

The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton with special thanks to Mr. Fred Bennett and the local company for making the arrangements and to the ladies for the tea. Mr. Moreton spoke of the great welcome he had received from all ringers whilst he had been in the area during the past four and a half years.

Two plain courses of Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung, but there was also a big variety of six- and eight-bell methods during the afternoon and evening.

Gratefully Acknowledged

Personal.—Norah M. Bibby 6s., Salisbury Guild (West Dorset Branch) 10s.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Sonning Deanery

About 70 members attended the annual meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch at Wokingham on February 15th, at which the Branch chairman, the Ven. Thorndike Shaw, welcomed the Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe) and the general secretary (Miss Cross) of the Guild.

The Branch secretary reported that a good, steady membership had remained about the same for the past few years. He spoke of well-attended meetings and of the untiring efforts of the Ringing Masters, Messrs. W. J. Parkes and M. Smith, in ensuring that all got the practice they needed.

The officers were re-elected and the sum of £25 was voted towards the cost of re-hanging the bells of All Saints' Church, Wokingham.

Much concern was expressed over the curtailment of ringing at Wargrave following complaints by local residents, and Miss Cross offered to interview the Vicar on the subject.

The Rev. M. C. Clarke, Rector of Easthampstead, preached at the service, and tea was followed by a selection on handbells by young ringers of St. Michael's, Sandhurst.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Leatherhead District

The Leatherhead District at its annual meeting on February 8th, presided over by Mr. H. V. Young, decided to submit to the Guild annual general meeting that the Mastership shall not be held by any one person for more than three consecutive years. Nominations for Guild officers were: Master, Mr. C. W. Denyer and Mr. H. N. Pitstow; Mr. S. Russell and Miss R. Hide general secretary and treasurer and assistant; Mr. W. Parrott (Epsom), auditor.

A good start of the year was the election of 18 new members. District officers elected were: Ringing Master, Mr. H. V. Young; hon. secretary, Mr. A. H. Smith, with Miss Catherine Powell as his assistant; hon. auditor, Mr. A. H. Winch; general executive committee, Messrs. C. W. Munday and A. S. Harris.

It was decided to arrange a combined practice at Merrow and West Clandon. Cobham are holding an advanced practice on the first Wednesday in each mo[illegible].

Mr. H. N. Pitstow proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar (Canon F. A. Page) for conducting the service, the Rev. C. Marshall (a welcome addition to the local band) for giving the address, the ladies for a jolly good tea, and to Mr. George Marriner for making the arrangements.

JOINT MEETING AT WOOLWICH

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association was held at St. Mary's, Woolwich, in co-operation with the Kent Branch of the Ladies' Guild. A total attendance of 70 kept the Ringing Master (Mr. A. S. Richards) busy.

Mr. E. A. Barnett (vice-president) presided at the Kent County Association meeting, when 12 members were elected. The passing of Mr. F. W. Richardson and Mr. H. Hoverd was marked in the traditional way and tributes to their memory were paid by Mr. J. Dafters and Mr. R. A. Jenkins.

It was unanimously agreed that all tower secretaries be asked to ensure that the Association is adequately represented at the funeral of any member of their band.

Mr. A. S. Richards proposed a vote of thanks to the Ven. D. Brown, Archdeacon of Lewisham, for taking the service and for his address, to Miss Richards and her helpers for an attractive tea and to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting.

CHESTERFIELD RINGERS RESTORE THEIR HANDBELLS

A pleasant surprse awaited the Vicar, the Ven. T. Dilworth-Harrison, Archdeacon of Chesterfield, when he paid his customary visit to the ringing room at Chesterfield Parish Church on practice night, January 31st, and was shown a set of 26 apparently new handbells hanging in the handbell cabinet.

Actually these handbells were discovered when the tower was reopened ten years ago, and were in very poor condition owing to long disuse during the 25 years' period of inactivity in the belfry. The leather handles and the clapper pads were perished and the bells themselves were dull, both in tone and colour.

In due course they were despatched to the Whitechapel Bellfoundry for a complete overhaul and were received back in Chesterfield shortly before Christmas, 1957, just 70 years after the handbell cabinet was made, according to an inscription which is painted on the doors of the cabinet.

The ringers have borne the whole cost of the restoration between themselves, thus making the scheme a real 'belfry effort,' as the church authorities are under considerable expense in repairs to the crooked spire and the organ.

After congratulating the ringers on their achievement, the Vicar, at the request of the captain of the ringers, Mr. Sam Scattergood, offered a prayer of rededication and accepted the handbells once again into the service of the church. They will be a most valuable asset in the belfry for many years to come.

HOLY TRINITY, GUILDFORD, TO LOSE ITS CONDUCTOR

The prospect of losing their conductor, Mr. F. A. Munday, who will probably be going to Yorkshire on promotion, was announced to Holy Trinity Society, Guildford, at their annual supper. A company of 22 members and wives was present with the Provost in the chair.

The hon. secretary, Mr. T. W. White, reported a membership of 12 and three probationers. Four peals had been rung in the tower but none by the Society. Two honorary members—Mr. A. H. Hutton, who had retired after 60 years of active service in the tower, and Supt. R. J. C. Hagley, of Godalming—were welcomed.

Officers elected were: Conductor, Mr. F. A. Munday (until he leaves Guildford); sub-conductor, Mr. T. Mark White; steeplekeepers, Messrs. A. W. G. Oliver and Colin A. Hopper; hon. secretary, Mr. T. W. White.

Regret was expressed at the absence, through indisposition, of Mr. A. H. Pulling, and the good wishes of the company are to be conveyed to him.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Nottingham District

A ten minutes' bus ride from the centre of Nottingham brings one to the suburb of Basford, where its old church is dedicated to the little-known St. Leodegarius, and the church has still its Norman masonry in the walls. 13th century work in the chancel, the nave arcades, the font and south doorway, and 15th century work in the south aisle and south porch.

In the tower hangs a grand ring of eight bells dedicated on July 4th, 1921, and this is where on February 1st the Nottingham District held their monthly meeting. The bells were rung up in peal at 2.45, just as some happy couple left the church. Mr. R. W. Carlisle was acting Ringing Master in place of Mr. Nicholls, and the bells were rung from rounds to various methods during the afternoon and early evening. A short business meeting was held and Nuthall selected for the meeting on March 1st. S. A.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

There was a very cordial welcome at the happy Crewe Branch meeting at Holmes Chapel on February 15th to Mr. John Wheadon, who last month celebrated his 86th birthday and diamond wedding by ringing in a peal of Minor at Poynton—no mean feat for a lad of 86.

Others present included the Master of the Guild and Mrs. Clarke, the Deputy Master, Mr. A. R. Elkins and the hon. secretary of the Guild, Mr. K. M. Kingdom.

Ringing preceded the singing of the Guild Office and a sumptuous tea was provided by local ringers and served by their wives under the direction of the tower captain (Mr. L. Copnall). At the business Mr. Frank Stenson extended a welcome to all and regretted the absence of Mr. Jack Baston, through illness. The sympathy of the meeting, with wishes for a speedy recovery, is to be conveyed to him.

To an omnibus vote of thanks, ably moved by Mr. Derek Smith, short acknowledgments were made by the Vicar (the Rev. J. Culey), the Master, Deputy Master, Guild hon. secretary and the tower captain. Another hour's ringing was afterwards enjoyed.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

South Norfolk Branch

At the 24th annual meeting of the Branch held at Diss on February 8th and attended by 60 members and friends from 32 parishes, Dr. P. Jonason, who presided, presented Mr. A. G. Harrison with a book, 'Norfolk Churches,' by Munro Cautley, and a handsome writing set in appreciation of his 20 years of loyal and faithful service as Branch secretary until his retirement last year. The chairman feelingly spoke of Mr. Harrison's work, and this was endorsed by a former chairman, Mr. W. L. Duffield. Mr. Harrison suitably replied.

Officers re-elected were Dr. P. Jonason (chairman) and Mr. C. F. W. Phillippo (hon. secretary). Mr. W. G. Saunders was elected Ringing Master and Mr. L. Last and Mr. F. C. Arnold to the Standing Committee. Miss B. Syrett, Messrs. F. Whiting, H. Moss, F. C. Roper and W. Holt were elected to the Branch Committee.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM CLARKE

The death of Mr. William Clarke, following an operation in Newark General Hospital on January 28th at the age of 88, has removed one of the last links with the famous band which rang with Sir Arthur Heywood at Duffield at the end of the last century.

Learning to ring at Duffield, his first peal was of Bob Triples on September 13th, 1888. In the next ten years he rang 35 peals; 34 were at Duffield, and 28 of these were conducted by Sir Arthur Heywood. These included 15 peals of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, along with Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Double Oxford, Duffield, London and Superlative Surprise Major.

From Duffield he moved to Lincoln, where he rang peals at all the towers in the city. He was in the band which rang the first peal on the Cathedral bells after their restoration.

Retiring to Winthorpe, he rang with the local band until his recent illness overtook him. He was laid to rest in Newark Cemetery on January 31st, and among the floral tributes was one from his ringing friends in the Newark District. W. L. E.

MR. FRED DENCH

With deep regret we announce the death of Mr. Fred Dench on Saturday at the Addenbrooke Hospital, Cambridge. Fred had been ill for one week with a cold, but on the Friday afternoon passed into a diabetic coma and was taken to Cambridge Hospital that night.

The funeral service will take place at Saffron Walden Parish Church, tomorrow (Saturday), at 2.30 p.m.

MR. JOHN HALL

The death occurred on January 6th of Mr. John Hall, of Keighley, Yorks, who had been a ringer at St. Andrew's Parish Church for over 50 years. His long service was recognised by the presentation of a gold watch suitably inscribed.

Mr. Hall joined the Yorkshire Association in 1905 and had rung 12 peals for the Association. Over his long period of service he was a most regular and consistent Sunday service ringer and he will be greatly missed by his colleagues in the belfry.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT FOR RECORD LENGTH

Mr. Philip Mehew informs us that another attempt will be made to ring 40,320 Plain Bob Major at the Bell Foundry Campanile, Loughborough, by kind permission of Mr. Paul Taylor, on Saturday, March 8th, starting between 6 and 7 a.m.

Six of the original band who made the attempt on February 8th are included. Unfortunately, the conductor (Mr. Dennis Knox) will be unable to ring. Because of the conductor's absence there might be a postponement of the attempt.

The composition, which is the same as for the previous attempt, is as follows:—

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2449. Vol. LIV FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

OLD TED AND YOUNG BILL

IT was in 1901 that Ted and Bill first met; and what a contrast they made, for Ted was a famous personality in the ringing world and a regular ringer at St. Paul's Cathedral, London, while Bill was a lad of 17 whose knowledge of London amounted to a few months in various 8- and 10-bell towers.

Ted took a kindly interest in young Bill, and before long he took the lad under his roof so that he could enjoy home comforts and also progress in ringing. Ted was mostly a 12-bell ringer, and Bill would often watch the College Youths at work with Cinques and Maximus, often wondering how long it would be before such ringing came his way.

It came sooner than he expected, for one Sunday morning Old Ted did not feel well, and Bill was asked to deliver a letter addressed 'Mr. James Pettit, St. Paul's Cathedral Belfry.'

Young Bill hastened to the station, and by means of train and bus he reached St. Paul's, where he found two vergers in conversation at the entrance to the tower. In his haste to deliver the letter he found his progress barred by one of the vergers, who demanded to know his business, and after being told by Bill that the letter was to be delivered personally the verger replied that he would deliver it, because 'College Youths only were allowed up there'! 'But I am a College Youth,' exclaimed Bill; and after asking him the names of a few ringers the verger raised no further objections.

On arriving in the ringing chamber another Bill spotted the letter in young Bill's hand, and the pair went to Mr. Pettit, who opened the letter, read it and said: 'One short this morning.' Young Bill sat down, but not for long, and when he saw the famous conductor approaching him he wondered what sort of message he would be requested to take back to Old Ted; but his surprise was great when he was asked: 'Do you ring Stedman Cinques?', and the reply was 'No, Sir.' After this came: 'Can you ring Stedman Caters?', which was followed by another 'No, Sir.' 'Can you ring Stedman Triples?' came next, and the reply was 'Yes, Sir, and Grandsire Caters as well.' The conductor smiled and told Bill that as he came from a good ringing family he would take a chance and let him stand in for Stedman Cinques in place of Ted, with the proviso that he must do his best and not let the band down.

Those three courses came quite naturally to most of the band, which included J. Pettit, J. R. Haworth, M. A. Wood, C. F. Winney, W. T. Cockerill, W. Prime and H. R. Newton; but to young Bill, who had come through the ordeal without any 'nervy' signs, the final change sent a great thrill of pride within, and when he was requested to be present for the afternoon ringing he received yet another surprise and thrill.

Old Ted listened carefully to young Bill's account of the morning ringing at St. Paul's, and then suggested plenty of 10- and 12-bell practice in addition to steady progress on eight bells. Bill found many towers where local bands did not exist and the bells were rarely heard regularly, and it was surprising what could be done by co-operation to keep change-ringing alive in many London towers.

Ted's work sometimes took him away for short periods, and this enabled Bill to act as deputy for Sunday ringing even though no peal of Stedman had come his way. The renowned James Pettit often asked if one had been scored, and he must have tired at receiving the same answer every time for he invited Bill in a peal of Stedman Caters on his 18th birthday, a peal in which, unfortunately, Ted could not take a part. Strange to relate, Ted and Bill never rang a peal together—a matter of deep regret to young Bill, whose admiration and respect for Ted was very great.

And now it is time to enlighten readers as to the identity of Old Ted and his youthful companion in 1901. Ted's full name was Edwin Horrex and he was born in 1838, so in 1901 his age was 63, not a great age judging by present day standards. He died in 1925 at the age of 87, a grand veteran of genteel character, and a staunch College Youth whose name is still remembered by many ringers. Bill was born in 1883 and became a College Youth in 1900. His ringing career really started in 1893, and as he is still with us it does not need much calculation to get his age at the present time. Time, yes time, marches on; and though some readers may have guessed Bill's name, here it is in full—

BELFRY GOSSIP

The reference to Pembroke College as 'the coal scuttle of Christ Church,' contained in the report of the Oxford University Society's dinner day (see page 129), has resulted in a protest 'from a gentleman from Pembroke College, Cambridge, protesting at this slight on the noble name.' Mr. Dermot Roaf assures us that the words complained of were not used by him.

The bells of Woolton, Liverpool, are at present under repair. There are about a dozen or more keen schoolboys in the band.

Mr. T. Blagrove asks us to point out that Barsham T.B., published on February 21st, is not a method as it is false in the plain course.

The Bedfordshire Association have invited the Hertford County Association to join them in a summer festival on June 14th, centred on Woburn.

The peal of Kent T.B. Major at Stoke Poges was rung by seven of the regular Sunday service band. They were grateful to Mr. W. G. Wilson for standing in.

Mr. S. Cadle, who first rang at Bengeo, Herts, in 1924, and scored his first peal on the old bells, rang in a quarter peal in honour of his 70th birthday on February 16th.

Miss Jean Roberts, formerly of St. Peter's, Syston, Leicestershire, who is residing at Wellington, N.Z., is the first woman ringer to ring the 32 cwt. tenor of Christchurch Cathedral. The Christchurch Bellringers' Society has been in being for 76 years.—'Ringing Towers.'

Mr. C. E. Verdon, of Bexhill-on-Sea, has converted the ship's bell of H.M.S. Banbury into a working model of a ringing bell, with a frame and headstock of English oak, and the wheel, stay and slider of ash. It was greatly admired at a recent meeting of the Hawkhurst and District Guild.

The grand old man of Market Weighton, Yorks, is Mr. J. W. Kneeshaw, who has a record of 60 years' service to the tower, and his devotion to the belfry is obvious to any visitor. His and Mrs. Kneeshaw's golden wedding was fittingly observed by a peal on the bells, which was followed by generous hospitality from them to the peal band.

In regard to the obituary report of Mr. Henry W. Brown (see page 130), he rang in the first peal of Grandsire Triples on the renowned bells of Mells, Somerset, a village famous for its natural charm, and not Wells, as printed.

Mr. John Welch has been nominated by the Eastern District of the Hertford County Association for election as president at the annual general meeting at Hemel Hempstead on April 12th.

Messrs. B. V. Collison and E. J. Ladd scored their 100th peal together on February 20th. It was rung at the same tower as they started their peal ringing partnership—St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells—over 20 years ago.

Miss Pat Stevenson, of Farnborough, Hants, who learned to ring while working in South Africa, rang in a farewell quarter at Farnborough before flying to Jerusalem, where she is to be governess to the children of the British Consul.

The band who rang the peal at Dunkerton on February 15th wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Butt for their most generous hospitality after the peal, which was specially rung as a 36th wedding anniversary compliment to them. Mr. Butt has been tower Master at Dunkerton for many years, and following the restoration of the bells in 1953 has raised a very keen local band in a very small community.

BISHOP OFFICIATES AT RINGERS' WEDDING

THE fog, which had hung like a shroud over the village of Breadsall, Derbyshire, for most of the week, lifted on February 1st for the wedding of Miss Elizabeth A. G. Grime, of Breadsall, to Mr. Richard J. Bowden, of Tiverton, Devon.

The service was conducted by the Bishop of Derby, assisted by the Provost Emeritus the Very Rev. H. Ham. Most of the villagers attended, showing the esteem in which the bride was held in the village.

The bride wore a dress of white nylon, full length, full-skirted, shirt-waisted style with a stand-away neckline and a white satin cummerbund and headdress. She carried a bouquet of white narcissi and lilies-of-the-valley. The two bridesmaids wore dresses of similar style, in blue with short skirts.

The bride was given away by her father, the Rev. A. Grime (Rector of Breadsall). The best man was Mr. R. O. Fry, of Bath, a friend of long standing of both bride and bridegroom.

The six bells were pealing merrily as the couple emerged from the church, and although the weather was still slightly overcast, a motion film of the proceedings was made.

The reception was held in the Church Hall nearby and was attended by the Bishop and the Provost. Mr. Tony Brown proposed 'The bride and bridegroom,' to which the bridegroom made a suitable reply.

The large number of telegrams of best wishes from friends and ringers all over the country were then read out by the best man, who also wished the couple all best wishes for their future. The honeymoon was spent in London and Bournemouth.

A quarter peal at Breadsall immediately after the service was unfortunately lost, but a good peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung at St. Peter's, Derby, in the evening, conducted by the best man. Two attempts for peals of Stedman Caters the following week—one at St. Stephen's, Bristol, the other at Cardiff—were lost, the former after 2¼ hours' good ringing.

Elizabeth has been at Bristol University for the past four years and is now working at Avonmouth. Richard, who was at Plymouth, is returning to Bristol where they hope to settle. One can definitely say that Bristol ringing will be helped greatly by the permanent presence of them both. Known all over the country as good ringers, and even more so, as two extremely nice and pleasant people, Elizabeth and Richard have the good wishes of everyone who has had the pleasure of meeting them for their future married life.

The Bishop of Derby (the Right Rev. A. E. J. Rawlinson) congratulating the bride and bridegroom. The best man, Mr. Roger O. Fry, is on the left.

The Stranger

'Who's the stranger, mother dear?'
Look, he knows us, ain't that queer.'
'Hush, my own, don't talk so wild,
He's your father, dearest child.'
'He's my father? No such thing;
Father passed away last spring.'
'Father didn't die, you dub,
Father joined a ringing club!'

MR. E. MORRIS' RETIREMENT GIFT TO HIS CHURCH

Briefly announced in our last issue was the retirement of Mr. Ernest Morris from the post of verger at St. Margaret's, Leicester.

Writing in the March issue of the parish magazine, the Vicar (Canon E. N. Ducker) states:—

'Personally I shall miss Ernest more than words can say, for our partnership in all things belonging to St. Margaret's has been so long and intimate. We have been together for a few months short of 20 years, during which time Ernest has shown the greatest kindness and courtesy . . . . As we all know, he has been much more than a verger, and we shall always be delighted to have him round about St. Margaret's, and he has offered his services as registrar, which we are delighted to accept.

'It is most difficult to speak of Mr. Morris' work because it has been of exceptional breadth and interest. Chiefly he will be known as the historian of campanology, and as such he has an international reputation; his various books are standard works on this subject. In fact, amongst bellringers he has become legendary.

'Mr. Morris has bequeathed to St. Margaret's his books and other items of considerable value and interest; these he has now presented to us and they will be housed in a glass case. They will be known as the Morris collection. We thank him greatly for this, which will add to the importance of our tower as a centre for bellringers.'

THE MORRIS COLLECTION

The Morris collection consists of over 60 books, which include all printed works on the history (general) of bells, every county history, and works on the theory and mathematics of change-ringing.

Also some 400 or more lantern slides of Bells of all Nations, every Cathedral in England, and 100 of St. Margaret's Church.

They are at the moment in the clock room of the church, but the ringers hope to erect a suitable bookcase in the ringing chamber as soon as funds can be raised. They have recently spent over £60 to decorate the chamber and provided lino for the floor, so have exhausted their funds.

Mr. Morris has recently given to the Diocesan Advisory Committee five volumes of photos (which took him 40 years to collect), and include every church exterior in Leicestershire, also every village, wayside and churchyard cross in the county; and books to the muniment department of the Museum, county records office and city reference library.

His collection of horse, cow, goat, sheep, camel, sleigh and other various types of bells will shortly be on exhibition at the City Museum

THE RAMBLING RINGERS' TOUR, 1957

TO give an exact account of a tour six months after it has happened is an impossibility, particularly if the memory is the sole guide. Thus this account will be a brief outline of a tour which took three weeks to complete and involved some 113 towers.

The weather can easily be dealt with: the first week was glorious and the second two nothing but rain with thunder and lightning thrown in.

The tour began with ringing for Evensong at Leeds Parish Church; and what a well-balanced 12 they turned out to be. Our thanks here to the local company for standing down for us.

The week that followed was mainly centred on Derbyshire area; and to say that this necessitated hill-climbing would be putting it mildly. Of the outstanding towers of the week, Mirfield springs to mind as a grand eight and at the same time as one of the poorest tens in the country, those two trebles hardly a semitone between them. Holmfirth, with its grand welcome from clergy, press and the youth hostel warden, will always be remembered. The refreshments received from the Church authorities were very welcome and very much appreciated.

Wingather Youth Hostel was rather badly situated at the foot of a mile-long hill, far too steep to cycle and almost impossible to walk up. Unfortunately the local was situated at the top of this hill, but the finding of cider there compensated for this. Our expert in bovine language had an enlightened conversation with one of the local inhabitants, a conversation which could be heard a mile away!

Thursday was mainly spent in Sheffield, and the Cathedral, with its practically non-existent tenor, and that glorious eight at the R.C. Church will be remembered.

LITTLE JOHN'S STRENGTH WANTED

What a ring we found at Hathersage—probably the worst-going six of their weight in the country; the bearings must have contained glue, and added to this were the guide bosses, which had a tendency to seek the vertical. Little John's grave is reputed to be here, and it would certainly need people of his size and strength to ring the bells.

Friday saw us among some of the shield ringing towers, and we hope that our open lead style of ringing did not insult the locals too much. It was back to Leeds again on the Saturday and to meet our reinforcements. The rendezvous was Hunslet, and it was pleasant to stand down for a while and let the new blood monopolise the ringing.

Sunday was a day of three grand rings—Leeds Parish again, Ossett and Wakefield Cathedral. The amplification system at the last named was thought to be a grand innovation —what an improvement it would make to York Minster. Bradford Cathedral must be one of the finest rings of ten in the country: our stay here was all too short. What a grand tower for a peal! The rest of the towers of the day required a great deal of effort to be reached: we had to cycle along a valley floor and climb out up very steep hills to every tower, and then back down again—on our poor, aching legs! The Unitarian Church at Todmorden rounded off the day.

IN LANCASHIRE

The 12 at Oldham were much admired for their tone if not for their 'go'; unfortunately a broken rope put paid to our 12-bell efforts here. At Ashton the worst ringing of the tour was experienced; the locals must have thought us a band of novices. However, we improved on this at Manchester Cathedral.

Wigan's are another grand ten, and a course of Bristol, especially asked for by the locals, did full justice to them. Thursday was a Liverpool day, and after a rather frustrating two hours' wait we managed to ring at Liverpool Parish Church; but as nearly the whole of the party had vanished, we had to satisfy ourselves with Caters and a course of Bristol on the back eight: what a pity it was that we could not have heard the 12. Our thanks to Dr. Spice for letting us in.

The rain and thunder of Friday almost put an end to the day's ringing: some towers we missed and only a small section rang at Blackburn Cathedral, the others being scattered far and wide.

Saturday was a day of eights—seven in all; the finding of one of them, St. James' Church, caused some amusement. After a great deal of cross-purpose talk with a local, we finally impressed him that we wanted St. James' Church. 'Church, why didn't you say that at first?' was the reply!

Sunday was a day of cycling mainly, there being only two towers on the list, although a five was grabbed for good measure.

Ripon Cathedral was the outstanding tower on Monday, a day noted for the standard of ringing. A touch of Spliced Six on the back eight though misfired in the last lead.

EXPLANATIONS TO POLICE

The only outstanding event of the next day was a power dive into the road by one of the ringers, and the long statement our two Cheshire friends had to give to a police constable!

On Thursday we visited York Minster and we were very grateful for permission to be granted for us to ring here. They are a grand 12, and it is a pity that they are not more audible in the ringing chamber.

Huntington bells were only just rung: a few touches sufficed, for the state of the frame here was very much in question.

Friday saw us ringing in two grand towers—Selby Abbey and Howden. What a grand church the latter must have been in its day before the chancel was destroyed.

The two plums of Saturday were that fine ten at Beverley Minster, where we met ringers on outing from Nottinghamshire, and the last official tower of the tour, Holy Trinity, Hull. Some of the party had a galling experience here, for entry to the church is by a door which opens from the inside, and as the door was shut they just had to stand and listen.

A brief analysis of the towers visited: Two five-bells, 28 sixes, 60 eights, 16 tens and seven 12's.

METHODS RUNG

Maximus.—Kent, Plain and Cambridge.

Cinques.—Stedman and Grandsire.

Royal.—Cambridge, Kent, Plain and Little.

Caters.—Stedman and Grandsire.

Major.—London, Bristol, Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire, Rutland, Ealing, Watford, Lincolnshire, New Cambridge, Braunston, Bushey, Spliced 4 and Spliced 6, Plain, Little, Kent and Double Norwich.

Triples.—Stedman and Grandsire.

Minor.—Cambridge, Primrose, Bourne, Ipswich, London, Wells, York, Durham, Beverley, Surfleet, Capel, Sandal, Kingston, London Scholars', College Exercise, Norbury, Duke of Norfolk, Ockley, Kent, Oxford, Plain, Oxford Bob, Double Oxford, Single Court and Double Court.

Doubles.—Grandsire and Stedman

At a short meeting held in Leeds, the place of the reunion was voted for and Northampton was decided upon.

Our thanks go out to all the ringers and incumbents for their kindness and great welcome given to us. Especially to Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, of Thorner, for putting so many of us up during our stay in Leeds. J. E. C.

Emmanuel Church, Plymouth

Taking different parts of the Church as his theme for Lenten sermons, Preb. J. D. Wakeling, of Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, told his congregation how lucky they were to have such a fine ring of bells and such an enthusiastic band of ringers to ring them at each service Sunday by Sunday.

It is estimated the ringers travel between them some 60 miles to ring each Sunday. Two, the captain and hon. secretary, are sidesmen; another is the verger; a young lady is a Sunday School teacher, and one lad is in the choir.

The band keep in contact with the congregation by a paragraph in the parish magazine each month about the ringers and their activities.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Northern District was held at Croydon on January 25th. Ringing at St. Peter's, under the direction of Mr. G. Peters, was followed by a service taken by the Vicar. An excellent tea, prepared by the local ringers, preceded the business meeting in the Church Hall.

The chairman opened the meeting by announcing the death of Mr. C. D. Nichols, of Streatham, and asked the members to stand for a minute in silence as a last token of respect to him. The committee's report mentioned that membership had been held, an increased number of quarter peals had been rung and one more peal than in the previous year. For 1958 the following suggestions were made. That more peals be rung, to which end the committee was prepared to organise attempts; that handbell ringing be given more attention, and that unattached members who rang regularly at towers within the county boundaries could assist in reducing costs by allowing their correspondence to be sent to those towers.

The treasurer's accounts were passed after it had been noted with satisfaction that despite the increase in subscription a record number of subscriptions had been paid in the year. Fourteen new members were elected and all the officers were re-elected with the exception of committee member Mr. J. Hill, who is leaving the county. He was replaced by Mr. C. Champion, of Streatham.

The 1958 programme as recommended by the committee was adopted. It includes provision for another striking competition at Ashtead on October 25th.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DR. ARMSTRONG GIBBS PRAISES DANBURY RINGERS

Dear Sir,—I myself am not a ringer, and I doubt whether anybody could ever make me one, as my brain is quite allergic to mathematics and would be incapable of mastering the permutations and combinations of change-ringing. But, thanks to a long-standing friendship with two brothers, Dick and Ernest Roast, who have been chiefly responsible for the enrolment and training of the present band of young ringers in Danbury, I have been brought into contact with most of the ringing fraternity in Essex, and I am sometimes privileged to act as organist for their special services.

Perhaps just because I do not ring myself I am a suitable person to draw the attention of your readers to some of the feats standing to the credit of this young band. Dick and Ernest inspired these boys and girls eight years ago when they were still at school. At that time Dick's younger son was so small that he had to stand on an upturned packing case to reach his rope. Thanks to good teaching and enthusiasm, it was not long before the group developed great keenness both for change- and handbell ringing, and attained a remarkable standard of proficiency. We who live in Danbury are proud of them, and I feel that your readers will like to hear what hard work and enthusiasm can accomplish. I hope, too, it may encourage others to set out on the same path.

Ringing has become the main pastime of the band. Besides a weekly practice and ringing for service twice every Sunday, they often spend their free time ranging over the surrounding countryside to ring in other towers. Several times in recent years they have joined forces with other local enthusiasts to spend their annual holiday in the same pursuit. An area far afield is chosen, a coach is hired and off they go, staying at some convenient centre and making daily expeditions. Thanks to the sense of brotherhood which is so delightful a characteristic of the craft, they have only to contact some prominent local ringer for him to ensure that all the towers they wish to visit are open to welcome them.

As regards change-ringing, here are three points that seem to me worthy of mention. (1) The band have between them already rung upwards of 400 peals, ranging from Land's End to Norwich. (2) Recently a new member rang his first quarter peal here, and he is the 13th member to reach this stage in the past eight years. (3) One member of Danbury tower in November, 1957, rang in the record Minor peal at Stisted in Essex of 18,000 changes. This feat took 9 hours 38 minutes.

The band is equally keen on handbells, and I confess this side of their work has a special appeal for me. Handbells have a pure silvery tone which is unique, and among my earliest memories is that of the Great Baddow band playing in the big hall of my home over 60 years ago. This custom has been revived in Danbury, and for a fortnight before Christmas the band devotes every evening to going round to all the public houses and many private ones, collecting funds for Church charities to such good purpose that during the past eight years they have raised some £350.

Are only nice people attracted to bell-ringing, or is there something in the art that brings out the best in people? I do not know. What I do know is that I have yet to meet a ringer I did not like, and certainly the young people who are the subject of this letter are as nice a crowd of girls and boys as anyone could wish to meet.

I am, Sir, yours,

C. ARMSTRONG GIBBS,
B.A., Mus.D (Cantab.), Hon. A.R.C.M.
Danbury, Essex.

SERVICE RINGING IN LEICESTERSHIRE

Dear Sir,—In reference to the letter on page 95, February 7th, I am certain that Mr. Belton is a sincere man, but his comment is unfair as he introduces two other subjects, viz.: Hangers on and Inaccuracy of Reports. To refer back to December 6th, 1957, the paragraph about Leicester was itself a commentary about a speech at the annual dinner.

Perhaps Mr. Belton thinks I was romancing—well, we shall see. Last November at Liverpool I saw and heard the Leicester Cathedral company ring Yorkshire Maximus. I was informed that this was the regular Sunday band; perhaps a few 'hangers on' crept in or perhaps I was wrongly informed. However, I am sure that they would have no difficulty in ringing Maximus for service when they rang it so well before a huge audience. Also these performances which we see from time to time at Leicester—do they mean nothing? To my way of thinking they mean a high state of proficiency only attained by constant practice and the will to learn. The county area was never mentioned and I was assured months ago by a friend who now lives in Leicester that the Cathedral company rang the 12 bells on Sundays.

Now these 'hangers on'; are not these people sometimes made by ringers who will not take the trouble to progress? The type is well known and has always the same excuse. They haven't had time to look up a new method, which means to say they don't want to be troubled.

As for inaccuracy of annual reports, this is entirely a matter for the members of the Guild. If a member goes on paying his subscription, who can say his name shall not appear? I am prepared to admit that service ringing is in a bad way in a lot of places. If anything can be done to improve matters then it is time we started doing it. I can assure Mr. Belton that I am a service ringer, but I also believe in progress, as we are told that variety is the spice of life. Well, I have attacked nobody, so will sign myself M. R. P.

TOWER DISCIPLINE

Dear Sir,—On reading the Sunday national papers on the long peal attempt and your correspondent's account in our paper, I wonder what the present day ringer would think of the tower discipline of 50 years ago? At that time not a sound was allowed while ringing was on, except the bells and the conductor's voice, and anyone trying to speak was soon told to shut up; the only thing that mattered was the ringing not the ringer.—Yours, etc.,

Guildford. A. H. PULLING.

PORTSMOUTH CATHEDRAL RINGERS' GUILD

Dear Sir,—On behalf of my committee, may a sincere welcome be extended, through your columns, to ringers generally to meet our 'Guild of Ringers of St. Thomas of Canterbury,' for ringing at the Cathedral on our recently rehung and augmented bells?

Membership of the Guild is also open to those resident outside the diocese, as 'country' members. Even non-ringers who are interested in our reorganised activities are joining us as 'associate' members, and are thus helping us to raise the still outstanding balance of over £400 that we have undertaken to endeavour to raise.

Sunday service ringing is from 10.20 to 11 a.m., and from 5.30 to 6.30 p.m., with practice on Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. (Entry for practice is by the north door of the Cathedral.)—Yours faithfully,

S. K. M. KNIGHT,
Hon. Secretary and Treasurer.

A PLEA FOR RECOGNITION

Dear Sir,—With regard to Mr. C. K. Lewis' letter re peals of Saturn and Erin Doubles.

Since Saturn T.B. is not a method, there being repeats in the plain course, the discussion of peals in this method is of no importance. However, when we consider the peal of Erin Doubles we have an example of the 'consisting only in its inconsistency' of the Central Council decisions.

In his definition of a round block, Mr. Lewis did not point out that the Central Council make an exception of Morris' and Pitman's 240's of Grandsire Doubles, which do not conform to this definition. Why make an exception of only these? Why not also the 240's of B. D. Price, which are far better that Morris'! Surely all that is necessary is that each of the 120 changes should occur the same number of times.

If we are to stick to this definition of the truth of each round block of 120 in the 360, then we must say goodbye to peals of Erin Doubles, for I see no way of getting a conforming 240 or 360, and the extents given in the Doubles Collection contain no plain leads and are produced by the use of four different singles which is, I think, not permissible in a recognised peal, be it a regular method or not.

The reason why the truth of each 120 in the 360 was made necessary was that someone pointed out that a peal of Plain Bob Doubles could be rung with only three bobs. It is extremely unlikely that anyone would ring such a peal, and such a peal would surely be regarded as a freak.

The removal of this restriction on round blocks would not only allow us to ring and have recognised Mr. Topp's 360's of Erin. We could also ring peals of Spliced London and Cambridge Surprise Minor (adding the original Superlative as well).

This case of round blocks is an example of too much tidying up of peals. For example, only one length of Triples, 5,040, is allowed. A peal of 10,080 Triples would not be recognised. Peals of Doubles, Minor and Triples may not be extended by one true touch of less than 120, 720 or 5,040 respectively. Why, if we can ring and have recognised peals of 6,000 Doubles, Major, Caters, etc., can we not ring and have recognised peals of 6,000 Minor or Triples? It is true that such peals can be rung, but they would not be recognised.

Perhaps at some future Central Council meeting the definition of a recognised peal will be extended to include such blocks and also the odd touch at the end of a peal of Doubles, Minor or Triples. Indeed, I still fail to see why a peal of Caters at Basingstoke should not be recognised.—Yours sincerely,

Windsor. FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

STICK TO THE C.C. COLLECTION

Dear Sir,—With regard to Mr. Cattermole's suggested T.B. Doubles, he may be interested to know that this method was rung at Northaw about two years ago, and although no name was given to it at that time, I would suggest that it be called Kent T.B. as it is the logical adaptation of this method to five bells.

Although it is a very good thing to find ringers taking an interest in something unusual, I feel that there are many of the methods in the C.C. collection which are rarely rung that an energetic Doubles band could turn their attention to, rather than to methods which are false in the plain course (as, I believe, any Doubles method on the T.B. principle will be), even if true blocks of 240 changes are obtainable. Many of the Plain Doubles methods are easily learnt as variations of others and should be interesting to any energetic ringer (e.g., New Grandsire, where the hunt bell is in front of the treble instead of behind it).

We have now turned attention to ringing lesser rung methods from the Collection instead of oddities like T.B. Doubles.—Yours faithfully, W. D. N. FOOTE.

Northaw, Herts.

MUSIC IN BELL-RINGING – II.

By DESMOND PAINTER

IN my first article I discussed the main limitations on the capacity of bells to reproduce music, and showed that the '8-7's' which seem to occur in music are not really '8-7's' at all and cannot be adequately reproduced on bells. There are other less basic limitations than the ones I have mentioned; for instance, there is no possibility of varying the dynamics or the tone-colour of bell-music and, pace John Morris, almost no possibility of rhythmic variation (if, that is, mere bad striking and 'the inevitable missed dodges' are discounted). All these are sufficiently obvious, and the point need not be laboured. Let us now consider what genuinely musical effects bells can reproduce.

As we have already seen, a ring of bells is a fixed scale in one particular key. No rearrangement of the order of the notes can alter this fact (the case of 8-5's, or 6-3's in Minor is slightly different, although not so much as Mr. Chant claims. We shall consider this point later). All sense of music in ringing must therefore be related to this scale and to its tonic note, the note of the tenor. The most musical changes will be those which make use of this fact and emphasise the primacy of the tonic note as the foundation of the scale. This can be done in two ways —either by reproducing some or all of the notes of those chords which have the tonic as their root, or by reproducing a succession of notes which suggest a cadence on to the tonic. Let us deal with the chords first.

CHORDS ON THE BELLS

The bells will (we hope) sound consecutively, and will not therefore produce a chord in the strict sense, but a broken chord or arpeggio. On bells the downward form of arpeggio is the most satisfactory because it gives an air of finality and completeness by coming to rest on the tonic. In music, of course, upward arpeggios are as common as downward ones two well-known examples being the opening bars of Handel's anthem 'Zadok the Priest' and the first movement of Beethoven's 'Moonlight' Sonata. These cases are however not strictly analogous to a change in bell-ringing for three reasons: First, the arpeggio in the musical examples referred to does not exist by itself but is always leading on to something else—usually another arpeggio, either on the same or on a new chord. Second, the rhythm of the music emphasises the root note of the chord (tenor on the bells) by the strong beat at the beginning of each bar, which is impossible on the bells. Third, the remaining notes of the scale are omitted: this, too, is impossible in ringing and to counteract the effect of the extraneous notes insistence on the tonic at the end is necessary.

The chords (other than meaningless discords and inversion of chords in keys other than the tonic) which the bells can reproduce in arpeggio form are three: The tone triad 4-6-8, the major seventh 2-4-6-8, and the added sixth 3-4-6-8.

In the case of the tonic triad, the fifth (No. 4 bell) is inessential and is frequently omitted. It may equally be omitted in ringing (although it makes the sound of the chord more complete), and any change ending in 6-8 will give sufficient sense of the tonic chord to be musical. The same is true to a lesser extent of the chord of the major seventh, but this definitely sounds better if the fifth is included. In the chord of the added sixth all the notes are essential. All this means that in practice changes ending in 6-8 are musical, those ending in 4-6-8 more so, and those ending in 1-4-6-8, 2-4-6-8 and 3-4-6-8 the most musical.

CADENCES ON THE BELLS

The second way in which a change can produce a musical effect is by suggesting a cadence on to the tonic. This can be done by a descent down the last few notes of the scale, so that 7-8 will be musical, 6-7-8 more so and 5-6-7-8 still more so. Passing notes can be introduced into these progressions to add melodic interest, and 6-5-7-8, 7-5-6-8, 7-4-6-8 and 5-7-6-8 will all sound musical (the last three are really a cross between the cadence-form and the chord-form).

A cadence may also be suggested by its harmonic foundation—the root of the dominant chord (4th bell) being followed by the root of the tonic chord (tenor). All 4-8's are to some extent musical, but the most effective are those which emphasise the drop on to the tonic by first rising on to the dominant—the 5-4-8's, 6-4-8's and 7-4-8's. The last are the most effective of all: a 7-8 cadence hammered home by the intervening jump to the dominant with such finality as to be the most musically satisfying of all change-endings.

Mr. Chant maintains that a final 8-5 (6-3 in Minor) is equally a cadential progression producing a modulation to the subdominant. This is not entirely true. For one thing the progression does not stand by itself—all the other notes of the scale are also sounded and detract from its effect by asserting the tonic key (this is true even in Minor where the top two notes of the scale are omitted. I do not accept Mr. Chant's contention that a flat seventh is 'implied'). Another point is that when rung on handbells (as in 'Rattler,' 'The Scalded Cat,' 'Hot Tom,' or whichever name is preferred), the man on 6-3 can vary the rhythm to accentuate the subdominant note and thus help foster the illusion of a cadence. This cannot be done on tower bells.

TUNES ON BELLS

An examination of Mr. Chant's musical examples showed us that tunes cannot be easily reproduced in bell-ringing. It is possible, however, for a change to be analogous to a tune not directly, but by sounding a balanced arrangement of rising and/or falling intervals in the same way that a tune will have balanced phrases. Such an arrangement will enhance the musical value of any change, and especially one which already has some of the qualities of which we have already spoken. A typical change of this sort is Whittington's 12753468. Another example is what Sir Arthur Heywood called 'that most beautiful of changes on ten bells, 1286349750.' The musical quality of this last is very elusive, depending mainly on the Minor triad 9-7-5, and less on the tonic note than most 'musical' changes. Not all will find it as satisfying as Sir Arthur Heywood: it certainly has a distinct 'left in the air' feeling about it. We are in fact here beginning to move into the province of personal taste and of our third meaning of the word 'musical,' which I will consider in my next and final article.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

Northampton Branch Healthy

Preceding the annual meeting of the Northampton Branch on February 15th, the bells of St. Edmund's, All Saints' and St. Giles' were rung by the many members attending this function at Northampton.

The Guild service, held in the Church of St. Giles, was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. T. Hughes), who, in his address of welcome, thanked all bellringers on behalf of the non-ringing public, who loved to hear the sound of the bells, also for the service they did for the church.

Tea was served in the Angel Hotel to a record number of ringers yet seen at a Branch meeting. Nineteen churches in the Northampton District were represented.

At the business meeting the Branch president (Mr. S. F. Earl) welcomed the Vicar of St. Giles' and Messrs. B. E. Jeffery, of Edenbridge, Kent, and K. D. Perkins, from Manchester University, who had specially made a journey to attend the meeting.

The secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. F. Roome, presented the report and balance sheet, which showed the Branch funds to be in a healthy state. In his report, the secretary stated that there were now over 200 members in the Northampton Branch and that ten meetings had been held in the year, which were well supported.

The election of officers resulted: Mr. S. F. Earl, president; Mr. G. F. Roome, secretary and treasurer; Mr. B. E. Frost, Ringing Master; Messrs. K. Rogers, P. Jones A. C. Cozens, J. G. Chapman and Miss J. A. Downing, committee; Mr. W. A. Gamage, auditor. New members elected were: Miss S. Hatherley (Wootton), Messrs. D. Ryan (St. Edmund's, Northampton), G. Smith (Duston), J. Chapman (Bugbrooke), C. Roberts and Miss P. Grummitt (Hardingstone).

A first peal certificate was presented to Miss P. F. Curtis, of Roade.

Mr. E. Billings proposed a vote of thanks to all connected with the arrangements for the meeting and Mr. R. A. Eldridge thanked the officers of the Branch for the work they had done during the past year.

Notice was given that the Peterborough Diocesan Guild would be holding their annual meeting in Northampton in May this year.

Following the annual meeting a social evening was held, when 150 members and friends joined in what proved to be a very successful evening. Entertainment was given by the Dominoes Skiffle Group (Duston), whose performance was the highlight of the evening. Handbells were rung by a visiting party from the Guilsborough Branch, and other entertainment was provided by Mrs. M. Coxhill and Mr. A. C. Cozens. The M.C. was Mr. B. E. Frost.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Thirty-eight members attended the February meeting at Beverley, when there was ringing at the Minster in the afternoon, which was followed by a service in St. Mary's Church, conducted by Canon N. A. Vesey. Tea was served at the Church House and was followed by the annual business meeting, with the vice-president (Mr. G. Braithwaite) in the chair.

Mr. A. E. Sellers was re-elected president, Mr. G. Braithwaite vice-president and Mr. L. Rodmell Ringing Master. New officers are Mr. M. Parker, assistant Ringing Master; Miss J. Wilson, hon. secretary and treasurer; Miss A. Cook, assistant secretary. Other members were re-elected.

Ringing in the evening was at St Mary's Church until 9 p.m.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN COOKE

It is with regret that we record the death in hospital on January 27th of Mr. John Cooke, president of the Wirral Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild. The funeral service took place on January 30th at Rock Ferry St. Peter's, followed by interment at Bebington Cemetery. Handbells were rung at the graveside by Wirral ringers.

'Jack' Cooke was a native of Herefordshire, where he learned to handle a bell. Coming to live in Wirral just prior to World War I, in 1915 he joined the band at Rock Ferry. He rapidly became an able ringer, conductor and a first-class instructor. Helped by such stalwarts as Herbert Ludkin and Messrs. J. Martin, T. Gilmour and J. Wilkinson, of Liverpool, he built up a Sunday service band at Rock Ferry that would bear comparison with any 'minor' band in the country. The band's ability could be judged from its 1938 performance when, mainly for Sunday services, 102 extents were rung in 54 different methods (including the 46 Surprise Minor methods).

The church was blitzed in 1940, but undeterred, after World War II Mr. Cooke started afresh at St. Andrew's, Bebington, and with some of the remaining Rock Ferry ringers built up a Sunday service band which scored a peal of Surprise Major in 1948.

He was a faithful member of the Chester Diocesan Guild and served the Wirral Branch as instructor and Ringing Master and, in later years, chairman and finally president. He also had represented the Guild on the Central Council.

Devoting so much of his spare time to instructing it is not surprising that he did not amass a huge total of peals, ringing 108 in all from Doubles to Maximus. His most noteworthy peal was rung at Rock Ferry in 1939, when he conducted a peal of 14 Spliced Surprise Minor methods by the Sunday service band, all of whom he had taught.

However, it is not as a peal ringer that he is remembered, nor would he have had it so. It is as an instructor of the 'old school'—stern, stentorian, sober (but not T.T.), intolerant of sloppy, careless ringers but infinitely patient with determined triers—that one thinks of him. Those fortunate enough to have passed through his hands have been set standards which it is a duty to maintain, and the great loss suffered by the Wirral Branch will be mitigated a little if that is done.

MR. T. F. EARNSHAW

The death occurred at Birmingham on February 13th of Mr. Thomas Frederick Earnshaw in his 90th year.

Mr. Earnshaw learned to ring on the six bells of his native village of Easingwold, North Yorkshire, and as a young man moved to York where he was elected a member of the Minster Society in 1888. Election to the Yorkshire Association followed in 1890, and at the time of his death he was the second oldest member of the Association. In 1912 he was elected president of the Minster Society and remained in office until 1950, when his retirement from office and his 62 years as a bellringer in York Minster was celebrated by a presentation to him, by the Dean of York, of a case of pipes.

By 1951 the six bells at his native village had been increased to eight, and Fred expressed a desire to ring a peal at Easingwold before age compelled him to give up ringing entirely. A peal of Grandsire Triples was arranged and rung with Fred on the treble, to celebrate his 83rd birthday. This was the first peal on the bells and an oak tablet records the peal, and also that Mr. Earnshaw learned to ring in that tower and was for 62 years a bellringer in York Minster.

The death of Fred Earnshaw severs the last link with the band which rang the last peal at York Minster—Grandsire Caters on November 9th, 1892. He was not a great peal ringer, his total for the Yorkshire Association being 19, but he was never missing from service ringing at the Minster.

After the death of his wife Mr. Earnshaw moved to Birmingham to live with his daughter Mrs. Perry. Occasionally he rang at St. Martin's. The death of his daughter last Christmastime was a blow to him from which he never recovered.

The funeral was at Yardley Crematorium on February 18th. H. W.

MR. FRANK E. PERVIN

The Coventry Diocesan Guild, late the Warwickshire Guild, has lost one of its few remaining founder members in Frank E. Pervin, in his 73rd year. He had served the Guild most faithfully during the whole of its existence, having been a District secretary, Ringing Master and for the past ten years the Guild's hon. auditor.

A native of Loughborough, he came to Coventry a short time before the formation of the Warwickshire Guild in 1907. For many years prior to being taken ill two years ago he was Ringing Master of the band at St. Michael's Church, Stoke-in-Coventry. The previous Ringing Master at St. Michael's—Adolphus Roberts—is now the only surviving member of the efficient band they had there in the 1920's.

Frank was an excellent ringer and conductor on any number of bells and in any method, and he was equally good whether ringing at the heavy or light end. In addition to his wide experience on tower bells, he also rang many handbell peals, ranging from Triples to Maximus, his first being Stedman Caters in March, 1922, this being the first peal of Caters 'in hand' for the Warwickshire Guild and the first handbell peal rung in the city of Coventry. Many will no doubt have admired the way he handled a pair in Stedman Cinques on many occasions at the Johnson dinners in Birmingham.

Unfortunately, Frank did not keep a record of his peals, for it would be a most interesting list, but the writer estimates that he must have rung well over 500, for in addition to ringing 262 for the Coventry Diocesan Guild, he had rung a large number for the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, as well as others in many parts of the country.

Among his peals were the first peal of Cambridge Maximus for the Oxford Diocesan Guild, rung at Reading in 1930, the first peal rung at Buckfast Abbey and also the first peal on the new 12 at Buckfast Abbey, when the ringers concerned travelled a total distance of approximately 4,750 miles; the first peals of Cambridge Maximus rung at Painswick and Exeter Cathedral; the first peal of Cambridge Maximus rung for the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford at Walsall; and the first peal on the Winchester Cathedral 12 after they had been recast in 1937.

Frank Pervin always set a high standard of ringing, which was invaluable to the learners in and around Coventry, both on tower bells and handbells. Many must have benefited greatly from his example and tuition.

The Exercise, the Coventry Diocesan Guild in particular, is the poorer for his passing, and he will be long remembered by the many ringers who had the pleasure of knowing him and ringing with him. F. W. P.

COLCHESTER, ESSEX.—On Feb. 8th, 1,344 London Surprise Major: U. W. Wildney 1, Evelyn R. Cansdale 2, B. W. Rairhead 3, E. P. Duffield 4, Cansdale 2, B. W. Fairhead 3, E. P. Davey 7, H. J. Millatt (cond.) 8. First in method by 2, 6 and 7. Rung as a token of respect for the late G. W. Moss, of Mistley.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Guildford District

The affairs of the Guildford District will be in the hands of a new team of officers as the result of the annual meeting held at Guildford on February 15th. Mr. T. Mark White replaces Mr. F. A. Munday as Ringing Master owing to the latter's removal from the district, and Mr. Donald Kirk, of Cranleigh, is the new secretary in place of Miss M. Collins and Miss Ann Cox. Miss Cox has, however, accepted the post of deputy Ringing Master.

Reporting on the general position, Miss Collins said that Wonersh bells were being removed; Mr. Arthur was teaching a new band at Albury; Bramley had elected eight new members; Hascombe and Puttenham bells were silent. The strength of the District was 92 ringing and 2 junior members, but there were also subscriptions due from two towers.

Nominations for Guild officers were the same as from the Leatherhead District. Four new members—Gillian Enticknap (Cranleigh), Janet Cleeve (St. Mary's, Guildford), Mr. Fred Stacey (Stoke) and Doreen Harfleet (St. Nicolas', Guildford)—were elected. Invitations to hold meetings at Cranleigh and Ewhurst were accepted, and the arranging of others was left in the hands of the officers.

Mr. T. M. White expressed the thanks of the meeting to Mr. F. A. Munday for his services as Ringing Master during the past five years. A company of about 60 sat down to tea, including the Kippin entourage from Southampton. The ladies who had prepared the splendid meal were thanked, and also the Rev. Neville Morton, who conducted the service and gave an address on bells. Good use was made of the bells of the four towers open—St. Mary's and Shalford in the afternoon, and Holy Trinity Cathedral and St. Nicolas' in the evening.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

The Elloe Deaneries Branch held their annual meeting at Spalding on February 15th. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and prior to the service the clergy entered the belfry and the Vicar (Canon M. H. R. Synge) dedicated a peal board recording a peal rung to commemorate the Coronation of H.M. Queen Elizabeth II. The service was conducted by the Rev. M. J. Apps, the lesson read by the Rev. R. W. H. Nind and the sermon preached by the Vicar on the theme 'Holiness to the Lord.'

Tea was taken at the Greyhound Hotel, with 63 members and friends present. The business meeting followed immediately after, with Canon Synge in the chair. The secretary (Mr. M. E. Bennett) reported a successful year, and the funds were still in a very healthy state.

All officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, with the exception of the chairman, Mr. A. Richardson having left the area; Mr. R. C. Noon was elected to this office. A collection for the belfry repairs fund amounted to £1 17s. 6d. Mr. J. G. Ames proposed a vote of thanks to all who had made the meeting so successful, and welcomed many visitors. Ringing then continued until 9 p.m., ranging from rounds to Surprise.

SOHAM YOUTHS

The Society of Soham Youths held their first annual dinner at the White Hart Hotel, Newmarket, on February 15th. An attractive toast list was arranged. 'The Ringers' was proposed by Mr. J. P. Clark and responded to by Mr. F. Talbot; 'The Guests' by Mr. G. Watts and replied to by Mr. R. J. W. Housden; 'Jasper Snowden' proposed by Mr. R. O. Fyson; 'Bob Singles' by Mr. D. Pollard; 'Francis Genius Delight' by Mr. C. R. Waller. It seems evident that there was ample scope with such a list for wit and originality.

A RAINHAM ROMANCE

A romance which started in the belfry of St. Margaret's Church, Rainham, Kent, had a happy sequel on Saturday, February 22nd, when the marriage took place between Francis John, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cheal, and Emily, third daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Walker.

Frank has been captain and Emily has been secretary of St. Margaret's ringers for many years, so it was only to be expected that the ringers of the Rochester District of the Kent County Association would turn up in force to witness the wedding of this very popular pair.

The Vicar (Rev. James Clifford) officiated, and the church was packed with ringers and friends for the ceremony. The bride, attired in blue, was given away by her brother-in-law (Mr. G. Ellis), and the best man was Mr. G. A. Naylor, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Miss Cynthia E. Naylor, niece of the bridegroom, attended the bride.

The happy couple left the church under an archway of handbells in the church porch, whilst the tower bells pealed out their notes of joy from above. The reception was held in the Olde White Horse, where over 70 ringers and friends sat down to the wedding breakfast. Mr. A. J. Dunk very ably proposed the toast to the bride and bridegroom, and in responding, the bridegroom thanked everyone for being there, and also for all the numerous presents that he and his wife had received, including one from St. Margaret's ringers.

Messages of congratulation and telegrams of good wishes were read out, whilst in the tower eight members of the Rochester District rang a peal of Plain Bob Major to celebrate the event. During the festivities of the evening ringing, dancing and games were led by Mr. and Mrs. J. Dunk, with the handbells playing a prominent part with some very excellent tune ringing by Eileen and Wilf, of Faversham.

It is the sincere wish of all ringers that the work that Emily and Frank have done for ringers and ringing in the past will be doubly happy for them both in the future. As one greetings telegram said:

'Now both your ropes are spliced,
Go, Marriage Surprise.'

May they both be very happy.

JOINT MEETING AT WESTERHAM

The Surrey Association (Southern District) and the Kent County Association (Tonbridge District) held a successful joint meeting at Westerham on February 15th. Ringing ranged from Cambridge and attempts at London, to rounds and call changes for beginners.

The service, at 4.30, was conducted by the Vicar of Westerham (the Rev. Pat Kirwin). He gave a very thought-provoking address from I. Corinthians, 9, 26-27. The ringer's job, he said, was to bring people to church, and the parson's job was to preach the Gospel to the congregation whom the ringers had called. He urged bellringers to think very carefully about the words 'lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway.' It was very important for both the ringer and the parson to remember that, having called people to church, they themselves should be there.

Members and friends did justice to an excellent tea and then followed a brief spell of the inevitable handbell ringing. Back in the tower ringing continued until about 8.30 p.m. Bristol, Yorkshire, London, Cambridge, Stedman, Plain Bob, Grandsire, rounds and call changes were the methods either brought round or attempted.

The members of the Surrey Association would like to say here how much they enjoyed this joint meeting with the Kent Association, and how much they appreciated the efforts of Miss D. Colgate in making the arrangements.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The shocking weather, which the locals prefer not to publicise, accounted for the lowest attendance for ten years at the annual meeting of the Eastern Division held at St. Mary's, Eastbourne, on February 22nd. The tone of the meeting was one of generous bonhomie, which extended from the Master (Mr. R. V. Johnson), after his uncomfortable 30-mile drive, to the youngest rounds ringer. Also welcomed were Mr. Harry Stalham, the Brighton veteran, and Mr. Giles, Divisional Ringing Master.

The service touch, Stedman Triples, was conducted by Mr. F. H. Dallaway, and the Vicar of Eastbourne (Rev. W. W. S. March) took the service. Afterwards a large tea revealed appetites which, to some extent, made up for the disappointment felt by those who arranged it, due to the poor attendance of 34.

The Master took the chair at the business meeting, and the secretary in his report expressed the opinion that the standard of Sunday ringing was improving. He welcomed the members of the Dallington tower who had joined the Association. Dallington brought the number of affiliated towers in the Division to 25.

The meeting re-elected all its officers and a number of new members. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar, organist, and those who had provided the tea. After several courses on handbells—Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and Minor—the members trooped up the worn staircase once more and continued ringing under the direction of the Ringing Master, later deputised for by the local captain, Mr. R. W. Pankhouse.

ST. CLEMENT DANES'

The Exercise will be pleased with the ten at St. Clement Danes', with a tenor of 21¼ cwt. in E. Recently the bells were tested and the first touch of Stedman Caters was called by Mr. Bert Langdon, who was previously associated with the church, and the second by Mr. J. Frank Smallwood. Mr. E. A. Barnett is in charge of this tower. This is the R.A.F. church and it is expected that the dedication of the bells will be in June.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2450. Vol. LIV FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

FALLEN BY THE WAYSIDE

MR. FRANK E. HAYNES, the Master of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, made an earnest appeal at the Henry Johnson commemoration dinner for a concerted drive to get the many experienced ringers who had deserted the tower back into ringing again to fill the gaps in local towers. The idea has much to commend it. In many a village today there are enough trained ringers outside the tower to ensure that the bells are manned on Sundays.

What are the causes of men and women leaving the belfry, especially in regard to Sunday ringing? One cause is the young family at home and the wife naturally turning to the husband to expect him to help on his free day. The responsibilities of a family have to be borne equally by husband and wife. 'I can't leave the wife to struggle with two young babies under three,' a ringer once remarked to the writer when questioned about his Sunday attendance. And frankly, there is no satisfactory answer. The wife has a right to help and companionship on such occasions. The only answer that can be given is 'Come when you can. You know we miss you.' The occasional attendance becomes eventually complete absence, the Guild subscription is not paid and another ringer falls by the wayside. These casualties include good, sound ringers whose names have frequently been in our peal columns—men whom most bands would rejoice to have with them.

How can they be recovered when it is known that their family ties are less pressing? Throughout the period of their absence they should not be lost sight of. A friendly word in the street when passing, telling them occasional items of belfry gossip; for a man when he is proficient in an art and has attained that proficiency probably by years of practice has still a personal interest, unless his leaving is due to one of those unpleasant circumstances that are apt to occur in all walks of life. The time comes when it is appropriate to make an approach. 'We are one short for some special ringing,' or 'Will you spend an evening to help with learners as so-and-so cannot come?' The direct appeal to his ability to be of use often succeeds. The occasional ringing gradually becomes more frequent, until the enthusiasm of old is rekindled.

Another cause of loss, particularly on Sundays, is the first motor car and the enthusiasm for the new toy. The rush 'to go places' and the Sunday by the seaside at times plays havoc with a band. These cases often arise when the wife is a non-ringer. The only hope for the tower captain is that the keenness for the new toy will rapidly pass. But here again, contact should not be lost; sometimes the suggestion of a lift to a distant ringing meeting is helpful. The great thing is to maintain the contact and, if possible, the friendship. Those in charge of towers have to be born diplomats.

The hardest breach of all to surmount is the quarrel. At times this arises from outside the ringing chamber, an aside by the parson or a church official that disturbs the individual's personal vanity. More frequently, however, these disturbances originate from inside the belfry—youth and aged do not always see eye to eye. A sarcastic young conductor has caused many a gap in the belfry. Elderly men, perhaps not in the front rank of ringers, have left with sad hearts, feeling they are not wanted. Within a year or two the young conductor has left for another town or village. Even then it is difficult to entice the ringers back; these wounds with those getting on in years are deep. These are occasions when the parson's aid might justly be sought.

There are many towers in this country, especially in towns, where the individual ringers are not known to the clergy. The head ringer and tower secretary are known but the individuals constituting the band are not. We are very largely the unseen workers of the Church, and it is only in small communities where each individual is known. Knowing something of the duties of a rector in a busy town church, with the many calls upon his time and a constantly changing staff, we cannot see how it can be otherwise. The problem of recruitment is one in which we can expect the clergy and other church workers to help, but that of wastage and winning back is the ringers' special responsibility. Fortunately for the Exercise we have a solid backbone of men and women dedicated to our art; but there are towers where leadership is not in the hands of a burning enthusiast who is also a born diplomat. The solution to the wastage problem cannot be found by committees or national direction. Its answer is in the town, village and ringing district. The finest servants of the Exercise are those 'revivalists' who by personal enthusiasm can come to a tower and provide that leadership—often by the recruitment of a new band. There are many examples. But even if the reader is just one of the rank and file he can make his contribution by regular attendance, the willingness to give his friendship to young and old, and that quiet influence, often without a spoken word, that is a characteristic of a true Christian character.

Great Yarmouth To Have 13 Bells

Details were given by the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow at the annual meeting of the Eastern Branch, at Loddon on February 15th, of the progress of the restoration of St. Nicholas' Parish Church, Great Yarmouth. Members were pleased to learn that the work completed to date included the strengthening of the tower with a steel and concrete band. (Nine tons of cement were poured in in one day to construct this.) On this band a teak bell frame is to be set. It is also expected that a start will be made on the casting of the 13 bells at the Whitechapel Foundry.

The Branch chairman (Mr. E. R. Goate) was in the chair, and he was re-elected for another term of office as also were Mr. P. G. W. Newstead (Branch secretary) and Mrs. D. E. Lidbetter and Mr. S. Copling (standing committee). Mr. E. T. Chapman was elected Branch Ringing Master, as were also Messrs. Gorrod and Willgress to fill vacancies on the Branch committee (Messrs. Bird, Bailey and Forder were re-elected).

Subject to satisfactory arrangements, the next meeting will be held at Ditchingham on May 17th. The Vicar (Rev. C. R. Ninham) invited ringing support to a Church Army mission to be held at Loddon next October.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for conducting the service, to the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow for giving the address, to the organist and to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barrett and lady helpers for the excellent tea.

Language Of Bells

Bells have many voices, some are grave and some are gay. They speak a language of their own their message to convey. They call the scholar to his books. They tell the hours at sea—and ring for great occasions in the nation's history.

Bells express our feelings: human joy and civic pride. Bells toll softly for the dead and peal out for a bride. And every day wherever God is worshipped and adored—They ring to call the faithful to the Table of the Lord.

PATIENCE STRONG.
From her book 'By Quiet Waters.'

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Many ringers attended the Society's meeting held at Pudsey on February 15th. This was the first meeting to be held at this tower since the bells were recast just over a year ago, and it was generally agreed that a good job had been done.

Throughout the afternoon and evening the tower was full, and ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise. At 4.30 p.m. some 45 members made their way to the nearby Church Hall, where tea was provided by the missionary society of the parish.

The business meeting followed, at which four new members were elected, and thanks were expressed to all who had helped with the arrangements. Not everyone returned to the tower immediately: handbells were brought out and touches of Grandsire Caters, Kent and Plain Bob rung.

The nomination meeting will be held at St. Michael's, Headingley, on March 29th.

RECORD ATTEMPT FAILS AGAIN

There were three changes in the band that made the second attempt this year on the extent of Plain Bob Major at the Bell Foundry Campanile last Saturday. Robin Leale, of Surbiton, who conducted, John A. Smith, of Liccester, and Norman V. Harding, of King's Lynn, who was in the attempt three years ago.

A start was made at 6.53 a.m. and the bells were rung at a much faster pace than on February 8th. The atmosphere was much happier and although at times one or two of the band looked a little green, they quickly recovered.

Later, however, the conductor became indisposed, and he was in the process of calling the bells round with the object of completing a peal of 22,228 changes, which would have constituted a record length, when he was sick and the attempt was consequently halted.

Some 21,800 changes had been rung in ten hours, the end coming at 4.53 p.m.

The band consisted of Robin G. Leale (conductor) 1, Brian Bladon 2, John A. Smith 3, Patrick I. Chapman 4, Michael Orme 5, Norman V. Harding 6, Patrick A. Cannon 7, Philip Mehew 8.

Umpires: Peter J. Staniforth and Wilfred Robinson.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Congratulations to the Brant Broughton band, who on the first anniversary of their bells being rehung rang a quarter peal, not only unaided but the first by all the local band. To teach a band from scratch in just a year is no mean feat, but when the teachers are learners then the achievement speaks for itself. Three of the band rang their first peal at Norton Disney a week later.

Mr. James Parker, of White House, Caister-on-Sea, is 92 on March 17th. A happy birthday!

The peal at Holbeck, Leeds, rung on March 1st, is believed to be the first peal in the tower for over 40 years.

In submitting new compositions for publication, it is an advantage not only to give the type of bob but false course ends.

Mr. Charles McGuiness is leaving Newcastle upon Tyne at the end of the month for Boston, Lincs.

The peal of Yorkshire, at Dursley, Glos, is associated by the band with the birth of a daughter (Caroline Bridget) to Heather and Ivor Trueman the previous day.

There are two villages with the name Ash in Kent. The one referred to in our issue of February 28th, at which visitors would be specially welcome, is Ash, near Sevenoaks. Letters to John V. Muller, School House, Ash, near Sevenoaks.

The order for a new bell to replace the cracked pre-Reformation fourth (St. Michael) in the ring of six at Cromhall, Glos, has been placed. It is hoped that it will be installed this year, and will be named A. D. H. Allan. Mr. Allan was a former rector who worked hard to get six bells. St. Michael will go in the church below. A large sum of money is still required, as the tower has to be reroofed as well as being pointed.

Because of Lent, there was a pre-nuptial peal at Beckington, Somerset, on February 17th, in honour of the wedding of Mr. Michael Saunders, a ringer at this tower, and Miss Joye Galvayne, which took place on February 22nd.

The band who rang a peal of Stedman Triples on March 1st at Chiddingstone, Kent, wish to thank Miss Betty Tester, who stood in at very short notice, and rang her first peal in the method excellently.

Owing to an electricity failure at Berrick Salome, Oxon, the quarter peal for the Confirmation service on February 18th had to be rung by torch-light. One of the ringers' wives held the torch in this real test of ropesight!

While doing his National Service at Stafford Mr. K. Dolby, of Peterborough, has learnt to ring. He rang in a farewell quarter on February 23rd. 'We regret losing him on his return to civilian life as a reporter on a Peterborough newspaper,' writes the tower secretary.

Some years ago a peal was rung on eight bicycle bells—the owner had to collect 63 to get an octave. Has a peal ever been rung upon criers' bells? A writer informs us that he has four such bells all in tune, and if a fifth can be found such a peal will be attempted. Auctions, market stalls and shops are being scanned for the one bell required.

In Pakefield, one of the most easterly ringing towers, St. David's Day was celebrated by a peal rung by an East Anglian band, although the treble ringer has quite often a discernible Welsh accent. The peal also carried the band's compliments to Mr. J. Kindred, whose birthday falls on March 1st, and enabled his brother, Peter, the tower captain, the 'complete the circle' at Pakefield. He recently achieved this at Lowestoft's other tower, St. Margaret's, and has now 'conquered' all the ringable bells in the town.

HIS 50th HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER

MR. J. FRANK SMALLWOOD HONOURED

THIS year's Henry Johnson dinner, the 70th, held at the Imperial Hotel, Birmingham, on March 1st, was the 50th that Mr. J. Frank Smallwood had attended. He was the chairman on this occasion, and in taking the chair he told the company of 76—the lowest since before the war—he had fulfilled an ambition of many years.

Despite the drop in numbers it was a happy evening, the chairman and Mrs. Smallwood being supported by the Master of the St. Martin's Guild (Mr. F. E. Haynes), Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker, Ald. A. Paddon Smith and Lt.-Col. Donald and Mrs. Paddon Smith, Mr. John Pinfold (Ringing Master), Canon Guy Warman, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Shepherd.

Among the visitors were Wing-Comdr. and Mrs. John Mason and Mrs. Mason, sen., Dr. C. M. P. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Edge, Messrs. Paul L. Taylor, A. A. Hughes, W. Williams, R. G. Leale, M. G. Moreton, T. Southam, A. Frost, Morris J. Morris, D. G. Clift, A. H. Houghton, J. L. Millhouse, Miss B. Millhouse, Messrs. Rodney B. Meadows, J. R. Sharman, F. B. Cookson, Miss B. Hill and Mr. A. P. Cannon.

Apologies were received from the Lord Mayor of Birmingham, the Bishop of Birmingham, the Provost (Rev. Bryan S. W. Green) and Mr. H. George Williams, an old member now living at Exeter.

Ald. A. Paddon Smith submitted the toast of 'Church and State,' and said he thought they were extremely lucky in this country in having Church and State so closely connected. They had a very good representation of the Church in the House of Lords with the bench of Bishops, and they voiced the opinion of the Church in no uncertain manner. From their recent discussion he would wish them a happy issue.

BIRMINGHAM'S FINEST CHURCH

Coupling Canon Warman's name with the toast, the alderman said he was a lucky man in being Vicar of Aston because architecturally he thought that Aston was the finest church in Birmingham, and in his parish was Aston Hall, the most historic building in the city.

Replying, Canon Warman said he felt that the Exercise they pursued with so much technique and skill was one of the main links between Church and State because the bells of the Church summoned the people to church. People no longer answered that summons as in the old days, when one had to get early to Aston Church to secure one of the 950 seats. It was now not easy to keep their church in repair.

He expressed regret that Aston bells were not available that afternoon as he had eight weddings and he could marry people with Stedman Cinques coming from the tower at the same time.

BELLS AND THE PEOPLE

That time last year the people of Aston were looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to a certain event at Wembley Stadium. They did ring a quarter peal to mark the occasion. He did not know what sort of a peal they would ring this year, whether it would be muffled or half-muffled. That sort of thing was part of the ancient village life of England when the Church and State marched hand in hand and brought together the whole community.

The toast of 'The memory of the late Henry Johnson' was drunk silently on the request of the chairman.

'This was his hobby, and 'tis mine
Good man, he was our better.'

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd, in proposing 'Continued prosperity to the St. Martin's Guild,' said the fortunes of Guilds, as with all worldly enterprises, waxed and waned, and their Guild was no exception.

In the early 19th century it was clear that the reputation of their Guild was on its 12-bell ringers as exemplified by the many peals in 1820, with the long peals of Stedman Cinques and Kent Maximus. But fortunes changed, and after 1820 to 1830 the Guild had to struggle for its existence. The Guild was saved by a cantankerous old man, Cattall, who started to teach beginners and saved it from extinction.

They knew that about 1840 the reputation of the Guild was not so much on its ringing as its composers. It was people like Day, Thurstans and Johnson himself who were keeping the name of the Society to the fore, and their ringing whilst good was not at its highest peak. Later in the century they saw the building up of those wonderful 12-bell bands with some remarkable performances.

A BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE

Side by side with these performances was the handbell ringing, which culminated with a peal of Stedman Cinques rung silently, in which each man walked into the room, picked two bells from a bag and rang the peal.

There were men in that room who had taken part in those brilliant performances, and one of those experts he had in mind was their old friend Frank Pervin. He always admired the rock-like way he could ring a tower bell or a handbell. He was a gallant old warrior and he felt certain that those who knew him were grateful to his memory.

During the last 12 years there had been no lack of Stedman Cinques, and it had been very interesting to see the younger generation coming forward—starting with Grandsire Triples and now ringing Surprise methods better than they could ring them. They saw some of them asserting themselves at the annual meeting and it was a very joyful thing to see. The future was in their hands and whatever the ultimate trend one thing was quite clear, that at St. Martin's Guild there was opportunity for everyone to progress at any stage of ringing.

It was a sad thought that they had quite a number of young ringers round about the city who were not availing themselves of these opportunities—young men and women who had gone through the drudgery and were now content to stand still. He appealed to them to take advantage of the opportunities for their own sakes and also to improve their service to the Church.

The Guild was fortunate in its leaders. In their Master they had a man of culture and catholic tastes; their secretary was a man of infinite resource and sagacity; their Ringing Master, John Pinfold, showed consideration and patience with all sorts and conditions of ringers. With those leaders and young people coming along there was a future for the Guild.

MOVE WITH THE TIMES

The Master in his reply said he was beginning more and more to realise that there were other aspects of bell-ringing, besides ringing Stedman Cinques, although that would always come first. He realised, however, that any Guild if it was to maintain its prosperity must move with the times and adapt itself to the wishes of the younger ringers.

'I have wondered recently whether or not we in the St. Martin's Guild do not tend to confine our activities a little too much to the city. I know the diocese of Birmingham is quite a small one: there are not more than about 30 towers where there are bands of ringers of any kind, and among these 30 the number of bands that may be classed as really proficient is quite small. I know that remark can be applied to most of the ringing guilds throughout the country, and it is a challenge to the ringing Exercise to increase the proportion of towers in 5, 6, 8, 10 or 12 bells where there is a really proficient band.'

How was it to be done? There had been an effort in recent years to give instruction on a wider basis in the sending out of instructors. There had been a college founded which had very laudable aims although its methods had not appealed to the majority. Indeed, the prospectus published in 'The Ringing World' reminded him of the chapter of a book he had been reading, entitled 'The bewildered man's guide to an inextricable tangle.' Whether they could get good ringers by those means was, to him, extremely doubtful. Ringing was something very difficult to teach. He thought it was something a person took to and found he could do with a little guidance, and then they could instruct him and bring him along as they did at St. Martin's.

The prosperity of any society depended on its enthusiasts. They in the St. Martin's Guild had had burning enthusiasts for 30 or 40 years, notable among them being his old friend, Albert Walker.

GET THE OLD RINGERS BACK

He thought they would be doing a very good job if for a period of six months instead of teaching any young people to ring they tried to persuade those who had learnt to ring to ring. He could think of many capable ringers who had given up the hobby. Recently he returned to his native village of Trumpingham, Cambridge. He knew of four or five good ringers there who now never rang.

'Why do people give up ringing? I have been on the verge of giving it up on certain occasions since I started 30 years ago, but I have never given it up. One of the reasons is the fact that since I have been in Birmingham I have been closely connected with St. Martin's and St. Martin's Guild . . . . I think it is a fact that St. Martin's will continue to enjoy a measure of popularity that is very important to ringing, and I am proud to hold the position of Master in such a Guild.'

The chairman gave a special welcome to three old stalwarts—Mr. Morris J. Morris, who will be 90 in August, Mr. J. R. Sharman and Mr. Albert Walker, who had recently been 'through the hoop' with sciatica.

Replying to the toast of 'The Chairman,' proposed by Mr. F. E. Collins, Mr. J. Frank Smallwood said in taking the chair he had fulfilled an ambition of many years, and that was also his 50th Henry Johnson dinner.

In a general commentary he said certain recent performances had not impressed him—but perhaps he was an old fogey. 'I always thought it was a fine thing while ringing a good peal to have pleasurable thoughts of the social hour afterwards, but now that was old-fashioned—we should have learnt to do the two things together by taking our refreshment at the same time . . . . I do not think the recent exploits have done the ringing Exercise any good. I think we have been held up to ridicule.' He wished the further attempt at the 40,000 good luck—if people went to such lengths, he added, they deserved to get it.

During the evening there was some good singing by Mr. Geoffrey Dale, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Owen, and the usual Stedman Cinques, by W. Williams, F. W. Perrens, Albert Walker, J. F. Smallwood, F. E. Haynes and Geo. E. Fearn.

STORY OF SOME SOMERSET BELLS

Will They Ring Again?

THE bells were everywhere ringing their joyful shout for the New Year, but at Buckland Dinham the sound was only a ghostly echo. The 300-year-old bell frame, weakened by the work of generations of beetles, had sunk until this year it was impossible to swing the bells full-circle, instead the clappers were pulled up to their sides by a makeshift arrangement of ropes.

Buckland, three miles from Frome on the Bristol road has plans to remedy this in 1958. The wooden frame must be replaced by a modern steel one and another bell added to bring the present seven to a full octave.

THE MISSING BELL

There is a curious story concerning this missing bell. Many parishes have a tradition that some of their property has gone astray—Frome lays claim to Mells bells though without foundation at least for any of the present eight. Binegar thinks that neighbouring Emborough had two of its old five, since the 1-3-5 of its present six are modern, and a 3-5 to match its old 2-4-6 were in Emborough tower. Conversely Priston (just south of Bath) says its immense weathercock was delivered there by mistake, instead of to the Lancashire Preston. Buckland's claim, though more modern, is equally difficult to substantiate.

EARLY HISTORY

Before 1638 there were four bells, and the oldest part of the frame has pits for these, the tenor swinging E-W and the other three N-S. An extra beam was added then to support the new bell between it and the side of the old frame, and when the present treble was added in 1859 they were both fitted into this gap. The end beams of the tenor pit have been hollowed out to allow for the swing of a much larger bell than either the original or the present ones, but this was probably the same note, E, as now, as bells cast at that time were customarily higher in proportion to their diameter than modern bells.

TENOR CRASHES

It is said that when the tenor was lowered down the outside of the tower for recasting it fell and was smashed — the flagstones it cracked in its fall can still be seen. This was probably in 1856, the date of the present tenor. This and the little clock bell on the roof sounding an octave higher are Warner stock bells, with the founder's name and date in raised lettering. The inscriptions 'Peace' and 'Glory to God, on Earth Peace' (chipped out to the customer's requirements) commemorate the end of the Crimean War.

THE OTHER BELLS

In 1858 the third was recast, again by Warner's, and the fourth in 1896. The present second is the 1638 treble cast by John Lott, of Warminster, and the fifth came from the Bristol foundry in the early 16th century. The present treble was added in 1859 and cost £7 7s. out of the church rate. At that time the Rev. (after Prebendary) Henry Clutterbuck was Vicar, and Mrs. Clutterbuck, sen., had paid for the new clock and clock bell.

The story runs that another bell was cast by Warner's, probably at the same time as the present treble, to be the second of the full ring of eight, and this too was probably paid for by the Clutterbucks, with part of the cost of the new treble, as the £7 7s. quoted seems altogether too small a sum. The frame would not hold another two bells, nor probably would it even at that date safely support them in an upper tier. For some reason the bells could not then be rehung in a new frame and the unused second (so the story goes) was taken over to Orchardleigh to be the clock bell over the newly-completed stables. The Vicar's daughter, Miss Jeanette Clutterbuck, married Mr. Russell Duckworth, great-uncle of the present owner of Orchardleigh, in 1863 and it could well have happened that the Vicar, finding after all that the purpose for which he bought the bell was impossible to complete, sent it to Orchardleigh for another use.

BUCKLAND DINHAM TOWER

UNSOLVED MYSTERY

When someone who remembered this story saw the bell between the wars they noticed it was the right date and founder and that the note was exactly right for its place in the octave. About five years ago the bell-tower was found to be dangerous owing to decayed timber, and to save the great expense of reconstruction the whole thing was taken down and the bell sold to help pay for the making good of the roof, so the mystery of how it came to be at Orchardleigh, or if, indeed, it was ever intended for Buckland in the first place, must remain unsolved.

SERIOUS DECAY

Before Buckland bells can ring again the frame supporting them must be renewed, for some of the lower timbers have been almost eaten away by woodworm and their fragments hang down from the very beams they are meant to be holding up. Since what might have been the second has gone for good a new one must be bought and about £1,300 will be needed to complete the job—an ambitious sum for a village of less than 400 inhabitants.

A NEW EFFORT

Within the last few years money has been raised to renew the church lighting and heating and to repair the roof, and now a new fund must be started.

Friends of Buckland Church, from its visitors to those who only rely on its tower for a glimpse of the time at the bend of the hill, those who ring bells and those who enjoy hearing them, can take this opportunity of helping to set them ringing again. The Vicar, the Rev. S. Max Benjamin, M.A., will be very glad to receive any sum, however small, towards the cost of putting the bells in order. As soon as a sufficient sum has accumulated work can start on the frame, the new bell being added later. With luck, the help of friends and the usual hard work in the parish, Buckland Dinham will be able to welcome Christmas and ring in 1959 in its traditional way.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

After a lapse of 35 years the Llandaff Branch held a meeting at Sully on February 15th, which attracted a surprisingly good attendance, and the five bells were in full use from early in the afternoon with the Association's Master in charge.

The Rector (Rev. Basil Jones) conducted the service and gave a warm welcome to the Branch in his address. A most delightful tea, arranged by wives and mothers of local ringers, followed, and those responsible were thanked by Mr. L. Malings.

Before the business meeting commenced, the Rector asked members to stand in silent prayer to the memory of Mr. F. J. Bailey, of St. Mary's Church, Whitchurch.

Mr. R. E. Coles was re-elected as secretary/treasurer, and Mr. Gwyn Lewis, of Cadoxton, Neath, was chosen as the new Branch Ringing Master. Fourteen new members were elected, which included seven of the local band. Subject to permission, the next meeting will be held at Peterston-super-Ely.

Further ringing followed to wind up a very pleasant afternoon and evening.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LAPPING FAVOURED IN 19th CENTURY

Dear Sir,—The 5,093 of Grandsire Caters referred to by H. N. P. as having been accomplished at the London Apprentice, Isleworth, on February 10th, 1848, was probably 'lapped' and not, to quote the phrase always used in 'Bell News' in peal reports, rung 'on handbells retained in hand.' The time taken (3 hours 20 minutes) and the fact that the names of the performers are not recognisable as those of ringers of the day, tend to confirm this.

'Lapping' must have been a favourite pastime years ago. In 'The Bell News' of November–December, 1900, quite a lot of correspondence took place on the subject, including the following letter from Frederick W. Thornton, who may be remembered by some as a prominent member of the band at Greenwich for many years:—

'It is evident that half a century ago "lapping" was much thought of at St. Alfege, Greenwich . . . for stowed away in a loft above our ringing chamber are several boards recording "true and complete" peals of Grandsire Caters by the Society of Eastern Scholars. Until recently, a similar tablet was to be seen exhibited in the bar of a tavern midway between Greenwich and Lewisham, rung on the premises about 1848. Twenty-two years ago, before I knew anything of half-pull ringing, I assisted in "lapping" a peal of Caters, conducted (?) . . . . from a blackboard upon which the bob leads had been carefully figured in chalk. At that period, two of us regarded it as a great achievement—five years later our opinions materially altered.'

The year quoted by Mr. Thornton, 1848, is the same as that of the Isleworth 'peal,' and one wonders if it might have been by the same performers, or indeed, if it was the same performance, with the band perhaps taken from one public house to the other on a change of landlord. But it is clear that quite a number of such peals were accomplished, for in a leading article (December 1st, 1900) the editor had commented:—

'The elders among the Exercise will not have forgotten the publication of records of such displays of skill in the sporting papers. Many of them will remember these impudent persons who put the word "Professor" before their names when sending these worthless accounts of "peal-lapping." And we have our doubts whether all the peals said in these early days to have been rung in hand were so rung.'

Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

YOUNG PEAL RINGERS

Dear Sir,—A recent letter on this subject can achieve no good purpose. Some still only think the youngsters should be allowed the condescending and much-hampered opportunities of earlier days—a sure formula today for an empty tower. They are also slow to recognise achievement and to give credit where due. In these days of spoon-fed amusements it should be a source of satisfaction that there are still some young people in our midst who are prepared to show a bit of ambition and determination, and we should encourage them within their limits. I should not have thought participation in a peal tour was more damaging physically than some types of out-of-door sport at school which are accepted without comment, but it does require an exacting standard of mental discipline.—Yours faithfully,

D. P. JONES.

THE RINGER'S EVEREST

Dear Sir,—Ringing the extent of Major with one set of men has been likened to the ascent of Everest. While I would not disagree with this comparison of the tasks themselves, I would suggest that in the planning of the assault on these objectives very little comparison can be seen.

I remember attending a lecture in Newcastle by two members of the Everest expedition and marvelling at the meticulous care with which the whole operation had been planned. I cannot express the same admiration for the 1954 and 1958 attempts on the 'ringer's Everest.' Surely the 1954 attempt with its sick man and the 1958 attempt preceded by only three hours' sleep did not deserve success. The inadequacy of three hours' sleep is surely obvious and does not require to be learned in such a hard way.

In these attempts the record length of 21,600 has not been exceeded, and I do not see that any great advance has been made to give reliable grounds for any belief that the extent will be achieved in the near future.

Meticulous attention to details will not detract from the merit of the performance if and when it is accomplished, but without much more careful preparation I think the second 20,000—which after all will be worse than the first—will still be a long way off. Remember that while one cannot command success one can do more—deserve it.—Yours sincerely,

DENIS A. BAYLES.

A LEARNER'S GRATITUDE

Dear Sir,—If knighthoods were conferred on those who brought happiness to others, I would not hesitate to bestow one on Tom Greasley, of Whatton, Notts (Newark District). He first taught me to handle a bell, and the happiness I have since derived from learning to ring could only compensate him for his patience, even though I am not yet advanced.

I hope other learners are as grateful as I.—Yours, etc.,

A. HENSON.

LITTLE MUNDEN

Dear Sir,—May I make a correction with regard to notes printed by K. W. H. F. regarding the ringing of 13 peals from 1902 to 1913. It should be Little Munden. I should know as I was one of the ringers, and took part in most of them.

Great Munden did not at that time have a band of ringers; they used to come to learn from us at Little Munden.—Yours faithfully,

CHARLES GALE.

Wyke Regis.

REUBEN SANDERS

Dear Sir,—It was a pleasure indeed to read W. G. W.'s remarks about my old friend Reuben Sanders. We here remember him very well—certainly for his good humour and his outstanding ability in and out of the belfry. Reuben was with us during the early part of the last war for some considerable time, and he rang with us until the ban came, which stopped all ringing.

However, I saw him many times still with the rope-end in his left hand, but it wasn't 'Sally' in the right—it may have been 'Blossom' or 'Turpin,' as he was on his way to the village blacksmith's with a shire horse.

Good health, good luck and many happy returns.—Yours, etc.,

C. W. DIXON.

TEN SECONDS BROADCAST

Dear Sir,—Having read your note in some recent Belfry Gossip concerning the service to be televised by the B.B.C. from Hillingdon I, as no doubt did many other ringers, made a point of watching and listening at that time. Once again the B.B.C. have, I feel, let us down. A picture of Hillingdon Church appeared on the screen at exactly 9.45 a.m. and we had the pleasure of listening to about six whole pulls of perfectly-struck rounds before the bells were set up and the introduction to the service began. It really makes one wonder if the B.B.C. do realise the immense amount of arrangements which must have been necessary to arrange for a near-perfect service touch to be rung, and yet all that is broadcast is about ten seconds or less of the final rounds. Congratulations, Hillingdon, your striking was as perfect as it could have been: I consider it disgraceful that the B.B.C. only allowed about ten seconds of it to be broadcast.

In contrast, the Independent Television Authority televised a civic service from St. Mary's, Warwick, on March 2nd. A picture of the church appeared on the screen, with the bells in the background being rung to rounds—no commentator broke in at all. We continued to hear the bells for several minutes while we watched the civic procession moving up the street to the church. This took several minutes, and all the time the bells were heard—in fact they were still ringing when the service began! After the service, as the Mayor's procession moved out of the church, the ringing began again, and the broadcast finished as it had begun, with a picture of this beautiful church on the screen, and the sound of its equally fine bells in the background.

Yes, the I.T.A. gave the bells a far greater place in their organisation than did the B.B.C. at Hillingdon, and the I.T.A. are to be congratulated on this. On the B.B.C. channel, the interval signal appeared for several minutes before the picture of the church and views of Hillingdon itself appeared. Surely during this time it would have been perfectly easy for the sound of the beautiful ring of ten to have been sent out on sound only at least.

One really wonders just when the B.B.C. will begin to realise that the ringers have a part to play in a church service equally with the organist, choristers and other Church workers. Once again, thank you, Hillingdon and Warwick, for the sound of your fine bells—to me, the bells made a perfect introduction to both services.—Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.

Hildenborough, Kent.

STRIKING IN ODD PLACES

Dear Sir,—Mr. Desmond Painter says in ringing the rhythmical effect is to emphasise the bells striking in odd places. I agree this might be so when ringing rounds with a powerful treble and a nondescript tenor, but this isn't usual. A few changes taken on their own emphasise odd places such as 75312468, but the popular Queens will sing that too: it is hard work putting emphasis on the odd places. . . .

I would appreciate guidance on the following points:—

When ringing with an open handstroke lead and tenor covering, is it desirable to hold off the tenor a fraction at back stroke?

When ringing down in peal, at the stage where the tenor is striking only at hand, must the treble's back stroke be kept behind the tenor until such time as the treble is low enough to strike only once?

With thanks in advance to any who reply.—Yours, etc.,

H. Y. PRICE.

MUSIC IN BELL-RINGING – III.

By DESMOND PAINTER

WE have now seen what music can and cannot be reproduced on bells. A consideration of this problem brought me in my first article into disagreement with the first of Mr. Chant's points—that '8-7's' occur in 'ordinary' music. What of his second contention that in any case 8-7's are no worse than, say, 8-4's? (Mr. Chant spoke in terms of Minor, of course, but I am sure he will not quarrel with this translation of his point into terms of eight bells.)

If his theories on the first point were suspect, it is difficult to quarrel with Mr. Chant's second point. Can it seriously be contended that 8-7 is a less musical combination than 8-anything else? It is certainly more musical than 8-2. The fact is that here we are beginning to use the word 'musical' in our third sense—to express a personal liking for a particular combination of notes. Such a use of the word is common, especially in imaginative literature, and frequently describes a sound that has nothing to do with music at all—the sound of a rushing stream, for instance, or of laughter. It is equally so in ringing, and many changes which ringers may describe as musical are only so in the very wide sense which we dismissed at an early stage as being too all-embracing to be of any use.

There are of course degrees of musicality which vary as a change approximates more or less closely to those qualities we have already discussed—for instance, changes with the tenor last are far more musical than those with the tenor turned in; hence the famous story about Stainer and the bells of St. Paul's. But the extent of variation between these degrees is so much one of personal preference that it serves only to confuse the issue if combinations other than the few we have already singled out are described as 'musical.' Thus some ringers will find 4-5-8's 'musical'; others will see nothing in them. Some will think the 8-7 at backstroke the worst that can happen to a ringer, while others (like Mr. Chant and myself) will find the 8-4 just as bad.

I do not wish to be misunderstood on this point. I hold no brief for 8-7's. My plea is merely that we should reserve the description 'musical' for those changes in respect of which it has some recognisable meaning, and treat the rest as a matter of taste. After all, there is nothing to stop anyone liking an unmusical change or disliking a musical one; but it will make his point clearer if he says so, instead of treating 'musical' as identical with 'what I happen to like,' an error easily and understandably made because the two so often coincide.

MUSICAL METHODS AND COMPOSITIONS

We have so far dealt only with the musical qualities of particular changes, and not of methods or compositions. The two aspects of ringing are closely connected, of course, and in general the most musical method or composition will be that which contains the greatest number of musical changes. Whether this is always so depends on the way in which the musical changes are grouped together, for as the late J. A. Trollope said, when even a musical pair of bells dodges over and over again the result is 'not music but monotony.' Music and monotony are not perhaps necessarily inconsistent, but no one would quarrel with the general sense of Trollope's view—one can have too much of a good thing. It is on this that the protagonists of even-bell methods often base their claims, and there is much to be said for the view that the musical changes sound all the better for coming after a number of unmusical ones, or that the way the musical combinations coalesce and disperse in an intricate pattern of forward and backward hunting in Bristol is better than anything the odd-bell methods have to offer. On the other hand, can it really be said that the regular striking of the tenor at the end of each change in the odd-bell methods, at least on higher numbers, is monotonous? Keeping the tenor behind gives the ringing a general musical sense which the even-bell methods cannot equal, while the changing pattern of the bells below the tenor is quite fluid enough to avoid monotony.

A strong point in favour of the odd-bell methods is that they can make use of the tittum position, which depends for its effect on the fact that the tenor is behind. The great merit of the 'harmonious tittums' is of course not merely that it produces a number of musical changes—the handstroke home probably produces more—but that the coursing order of the bells is itself musical, so that the effect of a roll-up is maintained for anything up to twelve changes at a time, but without becoming monotonous, since the little bells coursing in the opposite direction to the big ones break the rigid pattern up.

In the last resort the merits of different methods must be at least partly a matter of taste, although it is easier to measure the qualities of a composition against the criteria elaborated in the second of these articles.

Perhaps I may conclude by summing up the contents of these articles.

We began by distinguishing between three possible senses of the word 'musical' in connection with ringing:—

(a) A succession of musical notes.
(b) A reproduction of 'ordinary' music.
(c) A pleasant sound.

We rejected the first as too wide to be meaningful, and investigated the second. This led to the conclusion that the only music readily reproducible on bells was a small number of chords and cadences, and that the only genuine musical changes were the 6-7-8's, 4-6-8's and 7-4-8's, together with a few other closely related ones. Anything else was 'musical' only in the third sense, which was also rejected as too subjective to have a generally accepted meaning.

It may be said that this is not news; but my object was not to evolve some startling new

Famous Handbells Sold At Parish Sale

Handbells of the once famous Horbury Handbell Ringers, who won the National Handbell Ringing Championship and made two successful North American tours at the turn of the century, were recently found in a basket in the parish church tower.

The bells, nearly 70 in number, ranging from a few ounces to 8 lb., were cleaned and offered at a handbell stall at the parish church sale on February 22nd.

About 48 of them had been ordered beforehand and the remainder sold quickly. The bells fetched a total of more than £30.

Two of the largest were bought by a woman from Grimethorpe to use on her farm for calling the workers in to meals.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Society was held at St. John's Church, Ranmoor, on March 1st. Apart from the break for tea and meeting, the Ringing Master (Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert) was fully occupied in catering for a large number of ringers, from 3 to 9 p.m., when the local tower captain (Mr. F. B. Ditcher) regretfully had to bring the meeting to a close.

As is usual at Ranmoor, the belfry was spotlessly clean and well heated, and it was noted that a large proportion of the members present were teenagers. A wide range of methods from Bob Doubles to Cambridge Royal, London Major and Stedman Caters was rung, whilst an unusual feature was a three-course touch of Double Norwich Caters.

After an excellent tea the Vicar (Rev. G. Payne) presided over the business meeting. The principal officers were re-elected, the only new appointments being Mr. S. Scattergood, a vice-president; Mr. I. M. Holland, deputy Ringing Master; and Miss S. Chaddock, 'The Ringing World' correspondent.

Six new members were elected, and it was announced that the next meeting would be at Rotherham Parish Church on Easter Monday.

MR. T. E. SONE'S 600 PEALS

With a peal at Marden, Kent, after 47 years Mr. T. E. Sone, of Paddock Wood, Kent, rang his 600th peal. These have been rung with 549 ringers in 153 towers for 25 Associations. He has conducted 226 different compositions by 68 composers. His peals are as follows:—

Doubles.—Grandsire 2 (cond. 2).

Minor.—In two, three, four methods 6 (1), in seven methods 2 (1), Cambridge 3 (1).

Triples.—Grandsire 65 (45 Holt's Original, five times round 'circle' and on non-conducted), Stedman 18 (2), Oxford Bob 1, Spliced Grandsire and Bob Major 1 (1).

Major.—Plain Bob 26 (10), Canterbury Pleasure 1 (1), Spliced Canterbury and Plain Bob Every Lead 1 (1), St. Clement's College 1, Double Norwich 99 (66), Dartford Little Bob 1 (1), Kent Treble Bob 98 (85), Oxford Treble Bob 11 (11), Spliced Oxford and Kent 1 (1), Ilkeston Treble Bob 1, Worcester Treble Bob 1 (1), Liversedge Treble Bob 1 (1), Cambridge Treble Bob 1, Double Oxford 1.

Major Surprise.—Superlative 50 (24), Cambridge 44 (18), New Cambridge 3 (1), Pudsey 3, Ashtead 11 (6), Yorkshire 44 (17), Rotherfield 1, Rutland 4 (1), Lincolnshire 6 (2), Aldenham 1, Ipswich 1, Apsley 2 (1), Warwickshire 1 (1), Bristol 2, London 1, Staffordshire 1, Southwell 2, Whitwick 1, Lyme 1, Belgrave 1, Hockley 1, Jedburgh 1, Gainsborough 2, Painswick 4, two spliced 4, three spliced 1, four spliced 1

Royal.—Plain Bob 8 (5), Canterbury Pleasure 1 (1), Kent Treble Bob 19 (17).

Royal Surprise.—Cambridge 9 (1), Yorkshire 1.

Cinques.—Grandsire 1 (1), Stedman 1.

Maximus.—Kent Treble Bob 3 (2), Plain Bob 1 (1).

Total.—600; conducted 344.

theory about what changes are musical or unmusical. Rather was I attempting to analyse why the musical changes are musical, and to introduce some definition into the present vague use of the word 'musical' in relation to ringing. I hope I have in some measure succeeded, if only to the extent of prompting someone better qualified than I to make a better job of it.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK DENCH

The death of Frederick Dench, of Saffron Walden, came as a great surprise to his many ringing friends. He had been in remarkably good health until a week before his death, when he developed a chill. A sudden turn for the worse turned to a diabetic coma from which he never recovered.

Fred Dench was born in the village of Worth, near Crawley, Sussex, in 1875, and commenced bell-ringing at the age of 13 with James Parker's band at Crawley. He soon showed great promise and was in the band which rang all the Surprise peals.

In 1897 he moved to London and joined the Rochester Row band for Sunday ringing. Later he became a member of the St. Paul's Cathedral band. One of his great peals in London was the non-conducted Stedman Cinques at Cornhill.

In 1911 he moved to the village of Ditton, near Cambridge, and rang with the Cambridge Youths. In 1914 he moved to Saffron Walden and opened up a business on his own as a coach painter. He became a member of the Saffron Walden Society, and composed and conducted many peals. He retired from business about ten years ago.

He will chiefly be remembered as a composer. He was the first to discover that IN and 5ths runs true to London Surprise and to break away from Middleton's peal of Cambridge Major by parting the tenors. His method, Bedford Surprise, extends from Minor to Maximus, and his Dench's Principle from Doubles to Cinques. He was one of the few to compose and conduct peals of Cambridge Surprise from Minor to Maximus. His record of peals is not available at present, but it is hoped to publish this later.

He was a very modest man and a most genial companion and will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

The funeral service took place in the Parish Church and was conducted by the Vicar (Canon M. R. Sinker). Among those present were L. E. Pitstow (College Youths), A. E. Pitstow, J. Negus, L. Mumford, H. Cranwell (Saffron Walden Society), T. R. Dennis E. Hibbins, J. Quinney, J. G. Gipson, S. F. Brown (Cambridge), J. W. Ward (Melbourn), Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Austin (Newmarket).

As the cortège left the church some well-struck Stedman Triples was rung on the half-muffled ring by the following: J. Quinney 1, S. F. Brown 2, J. G. Gipson 3, E. Hibbins (conductor) 4, T. R. Dennis 5, J. Negus 6, J. W. Ward 7, A. E. Austin 8.

AN APPRECIATION

The death of Fred Dench, which occurred on February 22nd, is a great loss to ringing and to the Exercise generally, for he was in the front rank as a composer and conductor.

It is 60 years ago when I first met Fred and I have esteemed his friendship ever since. He first learned to ring at Crawley, where the band, with 'Jim' Parker as conductor, was one of the few bands at that time which was practising Surprise methods and which band did hold the record length for Superlative Surprise.

Ringing was Fred's only hobby, and like all great artists he put his heart and soul into it and became the composer of peals in various methods. At one time he contributed news of much interest in 'The Bell News' and later to 'The Ringing World.'

He was outstanding as a conductor and it was very rare that he made a mistake. It was when he and 'Jim' Parker left Crawley and we all worked in London that I first met Fred, and we rang several peals together. He left London and went to Cambridge, and later came to Saffron Walden. We considered it very fortunate to have such a noted ringer join us.

On the social side Fred had a fine personality and disposition, and it was a pleasure to spend an hour or two with him.

He was always ready to impart his knowledge to those who were eager to learn. I myself, and I think I can include his many friends, wish to express our regret at the passing of a friend and a great ringer.

A. E. PITSTOW.

Saffron Walden.

MR. J. B. HESSEY

Many ringers, particularly in Surrey, will deeply regret the passing of Mr. John Belchamber Hessey at his home in Chertsey on March 2nd. He was 76 years of age and was a lifelong resident of Chertsey. These last few years he had been in failing health, but maintained his interest in ringing although unable to handle a rope or visit the belfry.

John Hessey came to the tower from the choir stalls, and the writer first met him in 1902, when the Chertsey bells were a handful to manipulate, and after rehanging took place he set the good example of regular and punctual attendance. As tower captain and District Ringing Master of his Diocesan Guild, he accomplished much steady progressive work, and he will also be remembered as a loyal member of the Surrey Association.

Of quiet disposition, Mr. Hessey was not selfish when it came to conducting peals or quarter peals, yet he could call peals such as Penning's One-part or Parker's One-part. He was not a prolific peal ringer, but he loved a well-struck quarter or touch and he was regarded as a safe ringer. John won esteem and affection from ringers over a wide circle, and his steady but sure work as ringer, conductor, instructor and unassuming guide and friend will not easily be forgotten.

Cremation took place at Woking on March 6th. W. S.

MR. WILLIAM A. LEWIS

Although not so well known to members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association of today as he was to the older generation, the passing of Mr. William A. Lewis at the age of 83 on February 23rd has taken from us one who was looked up to and respected for many years.

He had been a member of the Association for 53 years and was one of the founder members of the first Branch, Wotton-under-Edge. For ten years he was Branch secretary, and after that its chairman for two years; he was the captain of Berkeley tower for 50 years and in 1955 was made a life member of the G. and B. for his faithful services. Mr. Lewis rang only one peal, the treble to Grandsire Caters.

The Wotton-under-Edge Branch was represented at the funeral at Berkeley on February 27th, and a wreath was sent. Tribute was paid to his memory at a meeting at Chipping Sodbury by the chairman (Rev. W. A. Peel), and members present stood in silence. Mr. Lewis's grandson (Mr. R. Cox) thanked the Branch on behalf of the family. C. R.

REDEDICATION

Wiveton, Norfolk

On Sunday, March 2nd, at St. Mary's Church, Wiveton, at the end of an ordination service, the Bishop of Norwich rededicated the bells, which have been rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

The opening rounds were rung by Janet Harcourt 1, John Bone 2, Edward Copeman 3, W. H. Theobald 4, William West 5, R. Whisker 6—local ringers, with exception of Mr. Theobald, of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, to whom credit must be given for overcoming difficulties caused by the snow and gales, and getting the bells ringable in time for the service.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Chertsey District

In spite of bad weather, more than 60 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Chertsey District at Walton-on-Thames, which was held jointly with the Ladies' Guild. Before the service, conducted by the Rev. G. Greig, in Walton Parish Church, there was ringing in standard methods at Oatlands Park and Walton.

Local ladies prepared a grand tea, and at the business meeting all the retiring officers of the Chertsey District were re-elected unopposed. Mr. T. Luxford was elected to the Guild executive in place of Mr. Goldstone who had retired.

Both the District Ringing Master and secretary stressed the need for the more experienced ringers to attend meetings to assist the large number of recruits. Membership was over the hundred mark for the first time. The balance sheet showed an increase of £1 19s. 10d.

New members were elected from Hersham 4, Walton 1, Horsell 1 and Chobham 1 (junior).

No nominations were made for Guild Ringing Master or secretary. Mr. George Brown, of Aldershot, was nominated as Guild auditor.

Mr. W. Shepherd proposed a vote of thanks to all who had made the meeting a success, and welcomed visitors from Watford, King's Langley, Henfield, Hawkley, Sevenoaks and Reading.

Ringing continued at Walton till 8.30, and included a touch of Grandsire Triples by an all-ladies band. R. C.

EWELME, OXON.—On Feb. 15th, 1,320 Plain Bob Doubles: Patricia Reason 1, F. Godden 2, Joan Busby (first quarter) 3, R. Baker (first as cond.) 4, R. Tuckwell 5, H. J. Winfield (sen.) 6. First quarter by an all-Ewelme band.

WAKEFIELD RINGING IN 1757

By DAVID CUBITT

THE intention behind this article was to review the activities of Wakefield ringers 200 years ago, as revealed in the churchwarden's accounts, against the background of local and national events; but, as most of the entries merely recite the payment of a sum of money to 'the Ringers' without further explanation, the reason for ringing in all instances cannot be given. The wardens of All Saints' Church, Wakefield, eight in number—six representing the town, two for each of the three streets, Northgate, Westgate and Kirkgate, and the yards and alleys leading off them, and two representing the parish, which included the outlying hamlets of Thornes, Alverthorpe and Stanley—were elected annually and levied a rate, from the proceeds of which they paid the salaries of church and parish officials and made such other payments as were necessary.

Before noting payments made to the ringers, it might be interesting to give some indication of wages about that time. In 1771, Arthur Young published his 'Six Months' Tour through the North of England.' He wrote that Wakefield was noted for the cloth dressing trade: 'The men earn from 6s. a week (in winter) to 14s.; boys till 14 or 15 years of age, 1s. 6d. to 2s. a week.' Miners in nearby pits earned 10s. or 12s. a week: a farm labourer at harvest time 1s. 4d. a day, in winter 9d. or 10d.

With regularity, in January, April, July and October of every year, the churchwardens paid the ringers their salary, for Sunday ringing, by quarterly instalments. In 1757, on the 25th of those months, they paid 'Ringers' Sallary' of £3 6s. 8d.—that is, 8s. 4d. per ringer This payment remained at £3 6s. 8d. a quarter till 1773, when it was increased to £4.

But if £13 6s. 8d. a year for the eight ringers was a flat rate, there were bonus payments to be had, for which the ringers presented the wardens with a note or bill. It was customary then for the bells to be rung on January 30th, May 29th and November 5th each year; for those days in 1757 the ringers received 4s., 10s. 6d. and 10s. 6d. respectively.

January 30th was, of course, the day of the execution of King Charles I. in 1649, and by Act of Parliament of 1660 it was enacted 'That every thirtieth day of January, unless it falls out to be upon the Lord's day, and then the day next following, shall be forever hereafter set apart to be kept and observed in all churches and chapels of these your Majesty's Kingdoms . . . . as an anniversary day of fasting and humiliation, to implore the mercy of God, that neither the guilt of that sacred blood, nor those other sins by which God was provoked to deliver up both us and our King into the hands of cruel and unreasonable men, may at any time hereafter be visited upon us or our posterity.'

May 29th, 1660, saw the restitution of Charles II. on the throne (on his birthday) and the restoration of the Government, in commemoration of which Parliament enacted 'That all and singular ministers of God's word and sacraments, in every church, chapel and usual place of divine worship and public prayer, which now are or may hereafter be within this realm of England, and the respective dominions thereof and their successors, shall in all succeeding ages annually celebrate the twenty-ninth of May by rendering their hearty public praises and thanksgivings unto Almighty God . . . . ' Branches of oak were displayed on this day, an allusion to Charles II. concealing himself in the oak at Boscobel, after the battle of Worcester.

The payment for November 5th requires no explanation. Parliament proclaimed this day to be one of public thanksgiving for the deliverance of James I. and Parliament in 1605. The special forms of service for these three days no longer appear in the Prayer Book.

Other payments, made annually, were for New Year's Day, Good Friday and Christmas Day—8s., 2s. 6d. and 8s. respectively in 1757.

Wakefield has two annual fairs, one at midsummer, dating from 1258, the other at All Saints'-tide, dating from 1204. For the fair held on Nov. 10th and 11th, 1757, the ringers received 10s. 6d. for the first day (a cattle fair) and 3s. 6d. for the second (when workmen and servants were hired). Lest anyone should query an All Saints' fair being held on November 10th and 11th, the seeming discrepancy is explained by the Act of 1751 which corrected the calendar, as a result of which the day following September 2nd, 1752, was accounted September 14th, 11 days being omitted. The Wakefield fair continued to be held on the old days.

For payments on only three other days in 1757 can reasons be ascribed with certainty. Friday, February 11th that year, was appointed a national day of fasting to deprecate God's judgment for the sins of the country, and for ringing that day 4s. was paid. On February 18th appears a payment of 10s. 'For going about the Parish and the Ringers,' and refers, no doubt, to the churchwardens' annual perambulation and survey of the parish.

In the previous year, what was to be called the Seven Years' War broke out, following a diplomatic revolution in which Britain allied herself with Prussia against France and Austria and, later, Russia. Britain's activity in this war was almost entirely directed against the French, and chiefly in India and Canada and on the high seas. On May 6th, 1757, Frederick II. of Prussia engaged and defeated the Austrians near Prague. The news of the victory was published in the London Gazette Extraordinary of Friday, May 20th, and on May 23rd 10s. 6d. was paid 'By Ringers pr. Note/ King of Prussia's Victory.'

There are five other entries when payments were made for ringing, at 10s. 6d. a time.

On Shrove Tuesday, 1757, the Wakefield ringers travelled to Leeds, where, at the Parish Church, they rang a peal of 5,040 Grandsire Triples in 2 hours and 55 minutes. The journey and the peal must have been for the love of the art and not for financial gain, as no payment was made this day—unless the Leeds churchwardens paid them something.

Wakefield in 1757 was a prosperous wool and cloth market as well as an agricultural centre, and ripe for expansion: but an 'upper class' of merchant in the town, not wishing to have the air they breathed polluted by soot and smoke or their views spoiled by factory chimneys, succeeded in keeping industry away from the town, so that in the early years of the industrial revolution other West Riding towns outstripped it in size and commercial importance. That, however, is another story.

Benson's Bells Rehung

The service to commemorate the rehanging on ball-bearings of Benson's bells was held on February 25th, the day of the worst weather this winter. Nevertheless, Mr. Frederick Sharpe and the handbell ringers of St. Mary's, Launton, made the journey.

Besides conducting the service, Mr. Sharpe gave an illustrated talk on bells, and the handbell ringers gave a recital.

A recording of the service and of the tower ringing was played back at a reception arranged by the P.C.C. at the Vicarage. Mr. F. White, who rehung the bells, was thanked by the Church Council and ringers for a really good job.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

THE University of London Society held its annual dinner at the Mitre Tavern, Chancery Lane, on February 15th. During the afternoon ringing took place at St. Mary's, Putney, St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, and St. Lawrence Jewry. The afternoon's chase across London succeeded in producing healthy appetites, and in pleasant surroundings a meal of roast beef was served to a record gathering of 52 people.

The loyal toast, followed by the president's customary blessing that 'those who must smoke may now do so,' was observed and, with that feeling of well-being so essential to the reception of after-dinner speeches, the company relaxed. The toast of 'The Church' was given by the president (Dr. Denis Layton), who dwelt briefly on the beginnings of the Society and spoke of the blessings which the Society now enjoyed at its home—St. Olave's, Hart Street.

The Rev. Stanley Evans, who replied, said as a ringing member of the Society he was able to speak from, as it were, both sides of the belfry door. He touched lightly on his experiences as a 'clerical gentleman' and on his recent tour to Russia, and then went on to advise ringers to treat other members of the congregation as though they were fellow ringers. He felt the unity of the Church would be thus strengthened.

The toast of 'The Society' was proposed by the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths (Dr. Philip Chalk). His sense of the dramatic was highly delightful to watch and, although it is now difficult to remember what he said about the Society, it is certain that his stories will be remembered. Roger Keeley (Master of the Society) replied, and gave a summary of recent activities. He expressed his pleasure in seeing the Dawes Cup come home for another year and congratulated the members concerned in the competition.

John Armstrong, last year's Master, was called upon to propose the health of 'The Visitors, and regretted the absence of the Rev. Powell-Miller (Rector of St. Olave's, Hart Street), who was convalescing after his long illness. In his reply, Mr. Frederick Cullum (Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths) thanked the Society for their hospitality.

The Masters of Oxford, Cambridge and Bristol Universities Guilds, who until that moment had been enjoying themselves, soon lost their soporific smiles when told by the president that the U.L.S.C.R. was not a completely charitable organisation and that they would have to sing for their suppers. Copies of a conventional Victorian melodrama were produced, and the parts of the Villain, his assistant and the Hero given to Brian Cookson, David Heighton and Robin Pittman respectively. Insults, abuse, villainous interjections and the snarls which soon ensued were all uttered with such depth of feeling that one felt here at last was the ideal medium for the expression of inter-university rivalry. The audience were highly amused and the end came far too soon. R. L. A.

First Peal of Doubles at Lewknor

With reference to the peal at Lewknor on February 15th (see page 153) which states: 'Believed to be the first peal of Doubles on the bells,' Mr. Alan R. Pink informs us that the first peal on the bells, on May 7th, 1947, then a ring of five, was in 19 Doubles methods, which at that time was the greatest number of Doubles methods rung to a peal by the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2451 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

APPLETON 'FOURTH-OF-MARCH-DAY'

'May friendship and freedom this day much abound;
May mirth and good humour go jovially round:
May the young and the old, may the grave and the gay,
Remember that this is March-the-Fourth-Day.'

SO runs the song, composed by John Harding, of Appleton, and sung on the first "Fourth-of-March-Day' in 1818 when, through the generosity of Squire Southby, the whole village was entertained to feasting and dancing to celebrate the opening of the ring of six bells he had given to the parish church. We know how much they enjoyed themselves on that occasion for many of us rang with stalwarts like Richard White, who related first-hand accounts of the proceedings he had heard from his grandfather, Alfred, who rang on that never-to-be-forgotten day. So much did they enjoy themselves that they resolved to commemorate each anniversary by special ringing, and a dinner, at which the traditional songs should be sung. Except for the gloomy years during the last war, each anniversary has been commemorated, most of them by a peal and by a dinner or high tea afterwards.

Change-ringing was introduced into Appleton tower by James Newman, one of the original band in 1818. He had formerly been a member of the Oxford Society of Change Ringers. But the great personality was Alfred White, who established a few years later the bell-hanging business now carried on by his great-grandson. It was not the first connection the White family had had with either bell-founding or bell-hanging, for Alfred's half-brother, Chamberlain White, had been at one time assistant to the Berkshire bell-founder, John Hunt, and through him had some connection with the Aldbourne founders. It was not long before Alfred made himself responsible for augmenting the Appleton bells to eight. This he did by adding a second-hand tenor, formerly the fifth of a ring of eight at Wednesbury, Staffordshire, and a new treble. The hanging was done by Alfred, and he overcame the difficulties occasioned by the smallness of the tower by removing the roof and hanging two of the bells in a lantern above.

Following the successful completion of their first peal of Stedman Triples in 1861, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, founder and first Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, gave two tenors to augment the number of bells in the ring to ten. In hanging these Alfred White made a name for himself, and the masterly way in which he overcame all obstacles is a lasting memorial to his craftsmanship. He hung the tenor, eighth, seventh and fourth in the lantern above the tower walls. There they remain; and many are the record peals rung on them, including the 21,363 Stedman Caters, in 12 hours 25 minutes, on April 22nd, 1922, and the 16,271 Grandsire Caters, in 9 hours 20 minutes, rung on December 27th, 1932.

On Saturday, March 1st, we met once again to celebrate 'The Fourth.' Friendship and freedom did abound! and the day was full of mirth and good humour, to quote the words of the traditional song, which it has been the writer's privilege to sing now for a good number of years. As reported in the peal columns, a peal of Stedman Caters, conducted on this occasion by Stephen Ivin, opened the proceedings. After lunch the tower was open to visitors. They came from Berkshire, Wiltshire and Gloucestershire, Buckinghamshire and Oxfordshire, Northamptonshire, Bedfordshire and Leicestershire, and the Plough Inn was filled to capacity when the company sat down afterwards to enjoy a high tea. The visitors were welcomed by Mr. Frank White, and it was gratifying to see how well he fulfilled the duties, done for so long and so admirably by his late father. The toast of 'The Appleton Ringers, the Whites and the non-Whites,' was proposed by the president of the Central Council—not the first holder of this office to do so, for it was done for many years by Canon G. F. Coleridge who, like the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, seldom missed attending this gathering. Sir Basil Blackwell responded to the toast on behalf of the parishioners of Appleton.

Then came songs by members of the White family and visitors, and tune-ringing by the Appleton Ringers on the fine set of handbells made by Frederick White, Frank's grandfather. This gathering, as usual, was conspicuous for its informality and friendliness. But unlike all other 'Fourth-of-March-Days,' there was something different—it was a special occasion. The B.B.C. had sent down two engineers to make a record of parts of the celebrations. They recorded part of the morning's peal of Stedman Caters, a brief interview with Mr. Frank White, the Appleton handbell ringers, and some of the traditional songs. These were heard in 'Town and Country' in the Home Service on the following Monday, and so a much wider circle of friends was able to hear a little of the one-hundred-and-fortieth anniversary of that memorable day when John Harding sang:

'In this present year which we have now all seen,
The number: one thousand, eight hundred, eighteen;
The six well-tuned bells, that by Southby were given,
Rang their first merry peal, our hearts to enliven.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal of Stedman Cinques at Newcastle Cathedral on March 8th was arranged as a farewell to Mr. C. McGuiness, who has been on the Tyneside since 1951 and is leaving for Boston, Lincolnshire. The last peal of Stedman Cinques for the Association was in November, 1946, and although a number ot attempts have been made in the last few years, success has been elusive. This was the first 12-bell peal for the Association for almost seven years.

Congratulations to Mr. T. J. Fowler, of Cookham, on his 70th birthday today.

With the peal at St. Margaret's, Leicester, on March 8th, Mr. W. H. Poole has now rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

The bells of St. Mary's Parish Church, Calne, Wiltshire, will be heard prior to the family service to be televised from there on Palm Sunday, March 30th, at 10 a.m. The captain of the ringers is Mr. H. Burry.

Southampton University Society have started handbell ringing, and scored their first quarter—Plain Bob Major—on March 9th. Margaret Beamish conducted. The others—Don C. Exell, Michael V. White and John L. Queen—rang their first 'in hand.'

We regret to hear of the death following an accident on March 3rd of Mr. W. S. Bleasdale, a former ringer at St. Peter's (R.C.) Cathedral, Lancaster. As a token of respect a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the bells on March 9th.

Mr. Fred Harrold, who has been a regular Sunday service ringer at East Dereham, Norfolk, since 1920, rang his first peal for his 65th birthday. Prior to the recent rehanging of East Dereham bells he did all the builder's work in the tower; and a first-class job, states our correspondent.

A turning point in the progress of the band at St. John-the-Divine's, Leicester, was reached on March 2nd by the ringing of the quarter peal of Grandsire Triples before Evensong—the first by an all-local band for over 18 years. Mr. S. Harrison, who became Ringing Master in 1946, has had an uphill struggle to raise the band to its present standard, and is hoping that a peal by all regular Sunday service ringers will be accomplished this year. The old band, under the late William Willson, who passed away in 1941, never recovered from the wartime ban on ringing, which was eventually lifted in 1943. St. John's has now the youngest band in the city, the youngest ringer being ten years old.

The peal of Superlative at Dunstable Abbey on February 22nd was a race against the clock. It finished three minutes before Evensong was due to start.

Readers have written in complimenting Ipswich ringers on the background broadcast to children's television circus introduction last Sunday.

A programme entitled 'Bells and Belfries' will be broadcast in the B.B.C. northern Children's Hours on Easter Sunday. A B.B.C. mobile recording unit is now touring the area interviewing young enthusiasts and recording short spells of ringing. The programme is being organised by a script-writer, Miss Bertha Lonsdale, of 9, Glenaire Drive, Baildon, Shipley, Yorkshire

In recognition of his 25 years' service as secretary of the Swindon Branch of the G. and B. Association, Mr. W. B. Kynaston was presented with a brief case and a fountain pen and pencil set at the quarterly Branch meeting at Stratton St. Margaret on March 8th. The presentation, made by the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. Wolsey) came as a complete surprise to Mr. Kynaston, who appropriately thanked the subscribers.

ESTABLISHED 1570

MEARS & STAINBANK, 34, WHITECHAPEL ROAD,
BISHOPSGATE 2599. LONDON, E.1.

THIRD ASSAULT UPON THE EXTENT OF MAJOR

AS briefly announced in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' a further attempt to ring 40,320 changes of Plain Bob Major failed at John Taylor's Loughborough Bell Foundry on March 8th. Ringing was brought to a halt by the illness of the conductor after about 21,800 changes had been rung in a little under ten hours.

It was an unfortunate ending to an attempt which, up to the time when the half-way mark was passed, had seemed to have very fair prospects of success.

The band had stood as follows:—

Treble: Robin G. Leale (21), Surbiton (conductor).

2: Brian Blaydon (24), Stamford Hill.

3: John Smith (22), Leicester.

4: Patrick I. Chapman (26), Daventry.

5: C. Michael Orme (20), Hitchin.

6: Norman V. Harding (48), King's Lynn.

7: A. Patrick Cannon (45), Dorking.

Tenor: Philip Mehew (27), Stotfold, Bedfordshire (the organiser).

LESSONS TAKEN TO HEART

The lessons which had been so forcibly driven home four weeks previously were taken very much to heart in the preparations for the new attempt. Thus, although the start was this time to be put back three hours, 'early to bed' was the order on Friday night, and after a brief visit to the Foundry to adjust ropes and an even briefer visit to the hotel bar to pose 'in conference' for our friends from B.B.C. Television, goodnights were said soon after half past ten.

As a result of Paul Taylor's impeccable local arrangements, headquarters were once again at the Great Central, where Mr. Mozo is fast becoming accustomed to ringing habits and was quite overwhelmingly kind and helpful.

Five-thirty on the Saturday morning saw most of the band eating a hearty breakfast (whilst those new to the game were finding out exactly how the condemned man feels) and an hour later all were esconced in the pleasantly warm ringing chamber at the Foundry. Following graceful submission to further photography of last-minute preparations (including a close-up of the conductor dismembering a soon to be notorious orange) the real business of the day commenced.

It had been intended to step up the rate of striking considerably over that of the previous attempt, and, in fact, the first 5,040 was completed in only two hours and ten minutes, which augured for a time of less of 17½ hours for the extent. Although this was, of course, advantageous in some ways, it did tend to lead to a certain degree of discomfort being experienced by at least one front-ender, who found the necessary lightning hand movements, together with the unaccustomed slenderness of the rope-end, rather conducive to cramp in the hands and wrists. It is interesting to note that complaints of leg tiredness, on the other hand, are almost unknown among those who have experienced long peals, and this may well be a pointer to the desirability of making the attempt upon somewhat heavier bells (perhaps in the region of 12 cwt.) when, although the duration of the peal would, of course, be increased, it may be that the dangers of hand and wrist cramp would be substantially lessened.

SMOOTH PROGRESS

The ringing proceeded smoothly throughout the morning and early afternoon, the necessary comic relief being provided by the customary sustenance-snatching antics and the wisecracks of the tenor king, who, from his position on the seventh, was fortunate in being able to see down the stairs and thus to exchange greetings with those who were so kind as to call from time to time to inquire after progress.

After nine hours and fourteen minutes the half-way mark was passed, but very soon after this it became evident that the conductor was losing some of his poise, and he was, indeed, observed to be making somewhat alarming deviations from the vertical at ever-increasing intervals. Eventually his indisposition led, after about 21,500 changes had been rung, to his missing the first of a block of three bobs at fifths. It was immediately decided to call the peal round as soon as possible, but before this could be accomplished nausea took charge and the ringing came to a halt.

CONCLUSIONS

Thus ended the latest and longest-lived attempt to win one of ringing's most tempting prizes. It should be mentioned that, at the end, more than half of the band, and particularly the two oldest participants in Norman Harding and Pat Cannon, appeared to be perfectly capable of going on for at least another day or two. Norman, especially, impressed everybody by his rock-like stance and seemingly quite untiring demeanour; it is also notable that he ate nothing at all until past the half-way mark.

The gentlemen of the Press were not so numerous as they had been a month previously, and were generally remarkably unobtrusive, their reports being largely authentic and free from exaggeration.

It is understood that at least one other band is now making preparations for an attempt upon the extent; if the writer, who was intimately connected with the latest efforts, may be permitted to offer some general advice, it would be that the ideal band for the job might possibly be made up of eight ringers all of whom:

(a) are aged 35 or over;

(b) have turned in a tenor of at least a ton in weight to a peal of normal length;

(c) are mentally stable, of amiable disposition, and sufficiently resolute to ring for nine or ten hours and then to meet the realisation that they are still only halfway with equanimity.

Incidentally, all citrus fruits should definitely be barred. Not to mention raisins.

BEHIND ERNEST THERE WAS BEATY

SATURDAY, MARCH 1st, will certainly go down as one of the blackest days in the long history of St. Margaret's, Leicester. A day of tragedy for all connected with the church; for it was on this day that our esteemed Ringing Master moved his home from the Verger's Lodge and took up residence on the fringe of the city. After 20 years as verger of St. Margaret's, Ernest has now retired. True, he is still to be found at the principal services leading the procession with his verge at the ready. He still continues as clerk to the Select Vestry. He is still in evidence at weddings and funerals and, of course, he is still our Ringing Master. Wherein then, you may ask, lies the tragedy? For this, one must look deeper.

It is often said that behind every great man there is a greater woman. To those of us who are connected with Leicester ringing, and particularly we ringers at St. Margaret's, it has long been recognised that the driving force behind the most remarkable achievements of Ernest Morris is that commanding character, Mrs. Morris, known with affection (and fear, by not a few) as Beaty. Yes, it is in the loss of Mrs. Morris that the real tragedy lies, and the question we are asking ourselves here at St. Margaret's is, 'Who is going to keep us in order?' The writer himself already misses his weekly 'ticking-off,' and this similarly applies not only to the rest of the band, but also to members of the congregation, choir and (ssh!) the clergy!!

On the Sunday following the departing of the Morrises, did we see a trace of anxiety on the Vicar's face? Did the curate seem a little lost? Were the churchwardens rather bewildered and the choir a trifle short of wind? Was the organ in tune? These questions may be hard to answer, but one thing did bring the bitter truth home to us all, and that was, that for one of the few times in his life, 'Our Ernie' was late for ringing and (get ready for it) he never had a ring!!

We all have much to thank Mrs. Morris for. As a critic of ringing she was unsurpassed, and foolish was the ringer who boasted a good peal at St. Margaret's before hearing her verdict!! For many years we parked our bikes in her yard (surely the safest spot in Leicester). It would be a brave scoundrel indeed who could plunder a cycle from the Morrises' yard, and an equally brave ringer who attempted to extract his or her bike after the gate had been locked at 10 p.m. This was proved some years ago when one of our number (now fled to Canada), after taking liquid refreshment at the nearby hostelry, returned to the Verger's Lodge to remove his cycle for the journey home. Alas, the gate was securely locked. After much brooding, he swallowed hard, and with the agility that only youth can muster, launched himself on to the Morrises' wall, with the intention of unlocking the gate and removing the offending means of transport. The household, however, had not retired for the night, and the keen ears of Mrs. Morris detected the sounds of treachery without, and before one could utter the word 'bike' the door was flung open and the trespasser caught aloft the wall. A few sharp words of opinion and command from Mrs. Morris saw our petrified colleague sprawled on the floor at our feet (a goodly drop of 10 feet!) and a few moments later he was joined by his bicycle!! He has, I know, never forgotten this nightmare experience and neither has the lady concerned.

Mrs. Morris once complained to me that Ernest was continually receiving mention in 'The Ringing World' and that it was high time that she received some recognition. I trust that this has now been remedied.

In seriousness I must express on behalf of every member of the band our sincerest best wishes to Ernest, Beaty and Margaret in their new home, and we hope that they will gain a well-earned rest from the ceaseless parade of parishioners, Scouts, Cubs, Young Wives, Sunday scholars, Mothers' Unionists, clergy, courting couples, workmen, undertakers, reporters, ringers, policemen, tramps and dogs that have appeared at the Morrises' door inquiring for keys and crusts, peals and polish, marriages and money, bodies and bones.

It is, I know, a matter of no small pleasure to Ernest that his retirement has come at a time when his band is gaining in strength and that he has a sound core of ringers who are capable of conducting, as has been shown in the monthly Sunday quarter peals that have been recently rung. Also, we must indeed thank him for the generous gifts of books which he has presented to the belfry, surely a unique collection, which we and our successors must treasure. We hope, too, that he will continue for many years in sound health and long may he remain 'our gaffer.'

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

At the annual meeting of the Sudbury District held at Cavendish on March 1st, the attendance was not very good. A service was conducted by the Rector, Canon J. D. Barnard, who was later elected an honorary member of the Guild.

At the business meeting Mr. Allen W. Cansdale, of Bures, was elected Ringing Master, and Miss R. J. Seabrook, of Clare, secretary and treasurer.

Peals rung in the District during the year numbered seven. There were 60 ringing members.

Subject to permission, the next meeting will be held at Assington on May 10th.

FALSE COURSE HEADS FROM THE BLUE LINE

By JOHN SEGAR

Readers who ring Cambridge Surprise Major and know the start of every bell will see that figures in columns under 7864235 agree with the blue line of the method. Also shown are the place notation, the work of the treble and the nature of the rows. Two rows marked 3+ have the treble in the same place and are the same nature.

	1+	7864235
	2+	8753146
38	1—	8643257
	2—	7534168
14	3+	8624157
	4+	7513268
1258	3+	6514278

etc.

All systems of extracting F.C.H. from the one in Snowdon's Treble Bob to Corrigan's book of half lead systems are out of print. Some would be of little use in these days of Spliced Surprise in a large number of methods. This article introduces a new system. Some originality is claimed for it because the F.C.H. are extracted direct from the seven blue lines without any reference to the figures of a method and the blue lines are obtained direct from the place notation. Bring together

3+ 8624157
3+ 6514278 for examination

By using any system it has been found that F.C.H.s resulting from these two rows are 46253 and 32546. It may be thought that this pair of proving rows will not reveal the required F.C.H.

Lead Heads	Proving Rows
2345678	7864235
4263827	8642357
6482735	6423578
8674523	4235786
7826342	2357864
5738264	3578642
3527486	5786423

This table shows the positions which figures 7864235 occupy in each lead head. In these proving rows there is no alteration of figures in relation to each other except when the first figure becomes the last of the next row. This will be called rotation. The row 6423578 has 78 behind so the scale 45362 brings it back to the original course head 23456. This gives the two clues required. Rotate two proving rows until the duplicate pairs of figures come behind and transpose by 45362. Try this on the example above.

	Rotated	Sc.45362	F.C.H.
3+	2415786	15472	46253
	5142786	42175
and	6241578	41256	32546
	6514278	14526

No difficulty will be found in reading off the F.C.H. as shown. A leaflet on this system is in print. It does not include the above explanation. Instead it has a ready reckoner to give the F.C.H. without doing the work. My average time to extract the F.C.H. of a method is fifteen minutes. Readers interested should see this week's advertisement.

SIR ARTHUR HEYWOOD MEMORIAL DINNER

THE sixth annual dinner of the Derbyshire Association, with which the name of Sir Arthur Heywood, the first president of the Central Council, is commemorated, was a most enjoyable function on February 22nd, held at the Corporation Hotel, Derby.

Three peal attempts took place in the morning, each of which failed. That at Eastwood, Notts, was due to a clapper falling out, and on investigation it was found that the bells and fittings badly needed the services of a bell-hanger. Ringing in the afternoon was at the Cathedral and St. Andrew's, Derby.

In a welcome to the company of 92 at the dinner, Mr. D. R. Carlisle said the function kept alive the name of Sir Arthur Heywood and freshened their thoughts of him and other great ringing personalities of the past. It reminded them of the debt that all ringers owed to them.

On behalf of the Derby District he welcomed members from other Districts of the Association. Chesterfield members were represented from Chesterfield, Bolsover and Staveley; Peak District by Buxton members, and the Ilkeston District by a strong band of Sandiacre ringers. He also welcomed ringers and friends from neighbouring Guilds: Mr. and Mrs. G. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. E. Malin, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Turley, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Carlisle, Mrs. Mason and Miss Anne Brown, Messrs. J. M. and D. Holland, Hough, R. E. Carlisle and G. R. Edwards. These represented the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society, the Sheffield and District Society, Chester Diocesan Guild, Southwell Diocesan Guild and the Leicester Diocesan Guild. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor were then introduced as the principal guests.

Mr. Paul Taylor replied with a short and amusing speech mainly composed of anecdotes resulting from the recent attempted record. For example, one member of the lay public, intrigued by the mathematical nature of this feat, sent a request to Mr. Taylor for a copy of each of the 40,320 changes.

Social events, mainly consisting of games and dances, followed.

Mr. D. P. Jones, the acknowledged leading belfryman in the area, provided a lively one-man act depicting bell-ringing characters from some odd towers in Hertfordshire.

The highlight of the evening, as usual, was the presentation of the medal of the order 'Capita Magnissimus' to the belfryman of the year—in this case Mr. P. Bellamy-Knights, of Stapleford. The claim for the award was mainly for the performance he enacted during a quarter peal attempt on the bells of Ashbourne. These are notorious for their difficulty in handling due to the very long draught of rope.

A choir, selected from the gathering and unrehearsed, followed up the presentation with a most stirring rendering of the 'Song of the Medal,' written for the occasion to the tune 'Gaudeamus.'

There are now six holders of the coveted award, and it would not be surprising if a peal attempt on medal-holders was arranged before the next annual dinner.

The organising committee wish to thank all the company for their enthusiastic co-operation. They particularly wish to thank Mr. A. B. Cooper, Mr. Derek P. Jones and the Carlisle brothers for helping with the entertainment.

SPEED OF RINGING

Dear Sir,—I am a little surprised at Mr. A. P. Cannon's contention that 'the faster six bells are rung the better they sound.' If for 'six bells' we substitute 'old-fashioned light eights and tens' I could agree, for where there is no great depth of tone available, rhythm is the thing, and at that a quality of sustained rhythm unknown to our young 'rock 'n' roll' experts.

I find it hard to decide on a particular rate until the peal is under way because it depends on the wishes and ability of all the band and not just those on the tenors. What does A. P. C. do if he finds ringers on 2 or 3 who will not be driven at 2 hours 35 minutes' pace on a medium six? Does he 'cut their tails off'?

As I have said before, re Hoar Cross, it is a great mistake to chase musical heavy sixes as they have their own special music and grandeur missed by those who never venture on smaller numbers. By way of postscript, my Leicester friends may note that I have revisited Hoar Cross recently, spending under 3¼ hours there this time (they might think I could not do it), but convincing myself afresh that 3 hours 40 minutes is a more sensible time to take for a peal there.—Yours faithfully,

D. P. JONES.

Overseale, Burton-on-Trent.

Note.—We should like the opinion of our bell-foundry friends as to the speed with which the bells they tune should be rung.—Ed.

SERVICE RINGING IN LEICESTER

Dear Sir,—After reading the letter from M. P. P. in 'The Ringing World' I feel I must write and say how much we appreciate his kind words about our ringing at Liverpool.

Regarding service ringing at Leicester Cathedral, it is only on rare occasions that the 12 bells are not rung for Sunday service—Maximus and Cinques are rung most Sundays. Considering that we have lost during the last five or six years, through ringers leaving the District and death, upwards of 20 Surprise Maximus ringers, we can still look with pride on our ringing at the Cathedral.

It would be interesting to know where Mr. T. C. Belton does his Sunday service ringing. On looking through the 1957 report of the Leicester Guild, I fail to find his name; perhaps he has a reason for this. I am sorry Mr. Belton was so distressed to hear only Doubles being rung for Matins on Christmas morning. As at all festivals at the Cathedral, we have only ten minutes' ringing for Matins. In this time we have to lower the bells which had been rung for the 8 a.m. Communion service.

May I take this opportunity to say how proud we are to have in the Cathedral company the leading peal ringer for 1957, Mr. John A. Acres, also the leading lady peal ringer, Phyllis Poole. All honour is due to them, as both are loyal Sunday service and practice ringers. Peal ringing is the best practice, and means progress and good service ringing.—Yours truly,

HERRICK B. BOWLEY,
Ringing Master, Leicester Cathedral.

BELFRY PRAYERS

Dear Sir,—I recently selected from various Association reports nine different prayers suitable for use before ringing for services, practice and other occasions, and duplicated them on foolscap-size paper.

I shall be very pleased to supply a copy to anyone who sends me a stamped addressed envelope.—Yours, etc.,

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

Broom, Rotherham.

OFFICIAL ANSWER TO MR. R. G. LEALE

Dear Sir,—The matter mentioned by Mr. R. G. Leale has, I think, been argued before, though when I cannot recall at the moment. The official answer, surely, is that a peal must begin and end with rounds, and if rounds does not appear at the conclusion of the ringing, no matter how many times it may have come up previously, then the performance is not a valid peal. That, at all events, is how I should look at it, although I can see something in Mr. Leale's argument.

Of course, this serves to bring up again a point which I have mentioned once before in these columns, and frequently in private, that it is really only by stretching the meaning of words that 42 or more extents of Doubles or seven or more extents of Minor can be regarded as peals, since they contravene a basic principle of ringing that there shall be no repetition of changes. In reality one cannot ring 5,040 changes of Doubles or Minor. This is not a revolutionary idea, for if one looks at 'The Bell News' for the years 1894 to 1896 one sees Doubles and Minor under the heading 'Performances on Five and Six Bells,' which to my mind is a far more accurate description.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

STRIKING IN ODD PLACES

Dear Sir,—A misprint in my letter (page 175) which appeared in a recent 'R.W.' altered the sense. It should read: '. . . but the popular Queens, well (not will), sing that too; it is hard work putting emphasis on the odd places.' This was an invitation to the reader to sing the change for himself to see where the natural emphasis falls.

My theory (that in ringing, emphasis usually falls on bells striking in even places) is supported by the old nursery song, 'Upon Paul's steeple stands a tree,' which opens thus:—

1/2345/6781/3572/468

(e.g., emphasis on bells striking in even places in a round and Queens).—Yours sincerely,

H. Y. PRICE.

Kimpton, near Hitchin.

YOUNG RINGER AND PEAL WEEK

Dear Sir,—I have read Mr. Trevor Bailey's letter in your issue of February 28th with some amusement, though no doubt I ought to feel suitably abashed. He appears to be one of the 'angry young men' we hear so much of, and his highly-coloured picture of me as a miserable old curmudgeon is, I hope, contrary to fact. Indeed, it is difficult to see on what he bases his somewhat wild accusations, as his knowledge of me must be precisely nil. He appears to act on the well-worn principle, 'If you have a weak ease, abuse your opponent.'

I observe that Mr. Bailey also adopts the totalitarian attitude that criticism should not be allowed, but I shall never subscribe to such a theory. Nobody suggested that the lad in question was forced to ring in peals, but a great responsibility rests on those who instruct the younger members of the Exercise, to guide their enthusiasm wisely. To push along too fast at too young an age is to invite staleness and loss of enthusiasm later.

Finally, I would mention that several ringers who lack neither ability nor enthusiasm have expressed their agreement with my remarks. I bear Mr. Bailey no ill-will for his personal attack and am sure that he will acquire a more adult approach in the fulness of time!—Yours unrepentantly,

C. W. HANCOCK.

Tonbridge, Kent.

'FEARED STARVATION'

Dear Sir,—If an old hand, now out of the running, might venture a comment on the recent long peal attempts, it would be that too much stress was laid on food and drink.

One reads, especially in the first and second attempts, of a 'self-serve cafeteria' layout in the ringing room. All sorts of refreshment, even extending to beer and cigarettes, were there we read. One might ask if these lads feared starvation or even what the striking was like while a beer was being lowered.

The old rule used to be, for a long peal, 'without food or rest.' One peal tablet, at Debenham, mentions this.

Allowing for the excessive length of the extent of Major, assuming that all had a real good breakfast before starting, surely a few pieces of chocolate, or nourishing tablets placed handy with instructions not to touch for, say, 12 hours, would be sufficient for men in the prime of life to last out.

After all, William Pye rang a 30 cwt. tenor for 12 hours, and a 25 cwt. bell for nearly 12 hours, and I have heard that he never even looked round, except at his comrades.—Yours faithfully,

PETER LAFLIN.

Heaviley, Stockport.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY

A few days of arctic conditions had given way to some beautiful weather (for February!) when the U.B.S.C.R. set off on their Rag Week tour on the 26th. The cycle party, thoroughly warmed by this time, arrived ten minutes early at Easton-in-Gordano. Here is a six to be enjoyed, and although they are a little odd-struck, there was some good ringing from rounds to Cambridge.

Portbury was approached with some trepidation due to the notoriety of this hard-going six. Their reputation was found to be well deserved. The rise proved their difficulty, and the ensuing rounds and Grandsire Doubles were not of the highest standard.

The ride down the Gordano Valley was followed by tea in a pleasant cafe at Clevedon, before going on to the old church (St. Andrew's), perched on its cliff top at the southern end of the town. A reasonable eight, these, upon which Plain Bob Maior and Grandsire Triples were rung and Stedman was miscalled. We had to depart all too soon.

On the hurried ride to Nailsea our 'short cut' merchant, despite warnings, again found himself lost in the lanes of Somerset, and only arrived to hear the end of the second touch on the beautiful six. The ringing here was thoroughly enjoyed, ranging from rounds to Surprise Minor.

The usual refreshment followed, during which time the East somehow managed thoroughly to beat the West at darts. The 'short cut' home inevitably proved more uphill than the promised down, and it was a tired party that reached Bristol that night.

ST. JOHN'S, HILLINGDON

Forty-eight members and friends attended the annual dinner of the St. John's, Hillingdon, Guild of Ringers, which was held at the Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge, on February 15th. The chair was taken by the Vicar (the Rev. F. C. Tyler) and toasts were drunk to 'The Queen,' to 'The St. John's Guild' and to 'The Visitors.' Replying to the second toast, the captain, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, said that 1957 had been a very successful year, particularly for the learners, and the tower could now at least boast a resident 'Surprise' band. After the dinner five members rang a well-struck (and evidently much practised) touch of Grandsire Caters on handbells, and the evening continued with games and dancing until 11 o'clock.

THE LEATHER JACK OF LINCOLN IS HOME AGAIN

A FEW years ago Mr. Ernest Morris wrote a series of articles on 'Ringers' Jugs and Pitchers' and commenced by saying that the most famous was the Leather Jack of Lincoln. At that time the Jack was not in Lincoln, as the then owner lived at Hove, but now it has been returned to Lincoln Cathedral and it seems to me that a few notes on it and its history may be of interest.

This leather jug is 15¾ inches in height, the base being 9½ inches in diameter, with the opening at the top 4½ by 3¾ inches, and spouted for pouring. It is said to hold 11 quarts.

On the front side of the jug is inscribed '1782 City Ringers.' It is adorned on one side with the City Arms, and on the other side with a bell. The following legend runs from side to side past the handle and fronts on the leather:—

'This Jack was the gift of Alderman Bullen to the Company of Ringers.'

Alderman Bullen, who was a brewer, was Mayor of Lincoln, 1781-2.

The jug was kept in the ringing chamber of the city church, St. Peter at Arches (now demolished).

Bellringing was a very strenuous employment, especially in hot weather, and undoubtedly when ringing was finished some liquid refreshment would be most acceptable to the ringers.

When the city ringers went to ring the Cathedral bells they took their jug with them, most likely getting it replenished at the Great Tom public house, which was situated in the Exchequer Gate Arch.

The Great Tom Inn was closed in 1822 and the Black Boy Inn across the Castle Hill became the ringers' house.

On one occasion the ringers pawned the jug with the landlord for 13s. The ringers never redeemed the jug and the landlord (Mr. John Kirk) claimed it in the inventory.

It is said there were two leather mugs with silver rims, but these were lost sight of.

When the licence was taken from the Black Boy (now the Castle Hill Club), Mr. Kirk's daughter and her husband loaned the Jack to the Lincoln Museum until 1926, when they took it away to Hove, near Brighton.

I made many inquiries during the last 30 years as to whether there was any possibility of ever getting it back to its rightful place.

In the early part of 1957 we learned that the owner had passed away and on inquiry being made by the Dean of Lincoln, the Rt. Rev. Colin Dunlop, we were informed that she had left it to the Dean and Chapter, the Dean himself bringing it home from Brighton on September 21st, 1957.

It is now housed in one of the side chapels of the Cathedral. J. A. F.

PREVIEW OF MAIDSTONE BELLS DURING LEICESTERSHIRE WEEK-END

A PARTY of 28 visitors from all over Kent made a round trip of 380 miles to spend an interesting and enjoyable week-end in Leicestershire on February 22nd and 23rd.

The party was organised by Mr. Thomas E. Sone, Mr. Frederick G. Huckstepp was at the wheel, and Mr. Peter Bond chief navigator and back-seat driver. Between them these three seemed to have first-hand knowledge of every tower on the route.

The weather deteriorated after St. Albans, where a brief halt was made for refreshment, but this was offset by the warmth of the welcome given by Mr. Brian G. Warwick, the energetic young secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, who met the party at Loughborough.

After an excellent lunch at The Three Nuns the visitors proceeded to the Bell Foundry, where they were welcomed by Mr. Paul Taylor. The new ring of ten destined shortly to be rehung at All Saints', Maidstone, was awaiting inspection. Maidstone ringers in particular were very gratified by the sight and sound of their new bells. Mallets were used to tap out a plain course of Bob Minor on the front six. Mr. Taylor and members of his staff kindly showed the visitors round. In the campanile the tourists rang rounds, Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise Major, but the ringing here, generally, suffered from inexperience from handling bells of such lightness and short draught. Admiration was expressed at the ingenious shelves which remained as evidence of the late much-publicised attempt to ring the extent.

The visitors then rang on the beautiful ten at Loughborough Parish Church, and agreed that its claim to be one of the finest rings in the country was justified. We were fortunate to have Mr. Warwick to act as our guide to Coleorton and Copt Oak, where he had arranged for us to ring, as weather conditions made driving more than ordinarily difficult.

At The Bell Hotel, Leicester, where the visitors enjoyed bed had breakfast, the handbells proved quite a counter-attraction to some of the dancers from the nearby ballroom.

The Sunday morning, which saw us ringing at South Wigston, Aylestone and St. John-the-Divine, was bright and sunny. At Glen Parva the coach made a slight detour to enable old friends to renew, and new friends to make, the acquaintance of Mrs. B. G. Warwick.

Not the least memorable part of the whole expedition was the morning prayer at Aylestone Parish Church. Perhaps it was simply the change of environment, but the Purcell voluntary, the lovely minor chant of the penitential 51st Psalm, the simple rendering of our matchless liturgy, the familiar Lenten hymns and the clarity and relevance of the sermon, all combined to make this service one which, the visitors said afterwards, would long be remembered.

The good weather continued during the return trip. Fred Huckstepp varied the route to pass Bunyan's Tower at Elstow and reach the Parish Church of Southgate, Middlesex, by 5.30 p.m. where we joined in the ringing for Evensong.

For the remainder of the journey the party continued to be entertained by the handbell ringers, by anecdotes from Mr. Sone and by Mr. Bond's conversation. C. T. H.

OBITUARY

MISS MARGARET S. RHODES

Margaret Stansfeld Rhodes learned to ring ten years ago and was the first lady to do so at Leeds Parish Church. It was a pity she had to wait until she was on the wrong side of her 40th birthday to do so just because it had been taken for granted that these bells were too heavy for lady pupils to manage, for then not only could she have gone much further in ringing but we might have known her longer.

She rang in all a modest 17 peals, which do scant justice to her attainment, and their number is unrewarding of her effort. Her first peal, Bob Major, at Drighlington in 1950, was a near perfect peal, and she took part in the first peals on the new bells at Hemsworth and Chapel Allerton, where she also rang her last, Bob Minor, last Easter.

While willing to stand in peals when invited and delighted to visit fresh towers when the opportunity arose—and her tower record book shows that she had rung in almost 500 towers spread over 18 counties—there were to her no bells to compare with Leeds and no ringing of such importance as service ringing there.

Her record of service ringing was outstanding and it was service in its highest sense, and to Margaret service spelt sacrifice. Commencing Sunday ringing barely one month from her introduction into the belfry, until illness brought her active ringing to a close last July, she had missed only 20 out of a possible 1,000 attendances, and this in spite of living eight miles from the tower—a standard by comparison with which some of our efforts do not look so brilliant. Once, when transport was unobtainable, she even walked the eight miles, passing near to two towers where she would have been welcomed and could well have been excused had she obeyed what must have been a real temptation.

Her ringing career to all intents and purposes ended in July, when she entered hospital, although upon her leaving hospital she made several courageous attempts to ring when she could manage to climb the steps, and she rang for the last time one Sunday towards the end of October, a few days before the relapse from which she never recovered.

Long and faithful service seems to have been a feature of her life—when she died on February 20th she was within two days of completing 38 years with the firm to which she went from school, and management, staff and workpeople of Henley's Telegraph Company were all present at her funeral on February 26th to pay their tribute.

Before cremation at Lawnswood, the Precentor (Rev. T. H. Bone), who is also the belfry chaplain, conducted a service at Leeds Parish Church, and referred to Margaret's regularity as a communicant and to her example of service as a ringer.

The 12 bells she loved above all others were rung half-muffled both before and after the service, and ringers from other towers joined with us to bid her farewell, and on the following Saturday eight of her friends, among them several who took part in her first peal, rang to her memory a peal of Bob Major, the conductor thoughtfully selecting the same composition as her first peal.

During my ringing career I have enjoyed many privileges, but there is none I value more highly than to have been Margaret's instructor.

TETTENHALL, STAFFS.—On Mar. 5th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Miss B. Falkiner 1, Miss C. Slater 2, R. Humphries 3, E. Southwick 4, A. G. Newman (cond) 5, F. Southwick 6. Rung half-muffled in memoriam the seventh Earl of Dartmouth.

MR. G. BLANCHARD

By the death of Mr. George Blanchard, of Barnetby, at the age of 83, the Lincoln Diocesan Guild has lost one of the few remaining founder members. He was a regular attender at meetings and was for a number of years Ringing Master of the Grimsby District.

There are no ringable bells at Barnetby, and Mr. Blanchard used to walk to the 6-bell tower of Bigby, at which church he was tower captain and a regular service ringer, and also at one time churchwarden. He served this church faithfully and devotedly and maintained his interest to the end. As churchwarden he took part in what is believed to be the only churchwardens' peal on eight bells.

Although Mr. Blanchard had not rung a large number of peals, he did great work for the Guild and was always ready to help learners in any tower near enough for him to attend.

Canon H. Thackray (president of the Grimsby District) assisted at the funeral service, which was attended by officers and members.

Among the flowers there was a tribute from the Guild.

MR. J. W. GROUNDS

The Lancashire Association has lost one of its oldest and most esteemed members by the death on March 3rd of Mr. James William Grounds, of Standish, at the age of 70. He had attended a meeting of the local Freemasonry, and as the Lodge meeting ended he collapsed and died.

Until his retirement about five years ago, he was a maintenance engineer at a local colliery. All his life he had been associated with St. Wilfrid's Church, Standish; he was a ringer for 53 years, and for the past seven years had been people's warden. He is survived by his widow and a married son.

The funeral was at Standish on March 7th, and the large congregation was eloquent testimony to the esteem in which Mr. Grounds was held. The choral service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. C. E. Bramley) and the address was given by a former rector, Canon Mellor, of Rufford. The cortege left the church to the singing of the Nunc Dimittis. Cremation afterwards took place at Wigan Crematorium.

The Lancashire Association were represented by Messrs. P. Crook (treasurer), T. Marshall (Parbold), E. R. and W. K. Martin (Preston), J. Marsh (Aughton), D. Vincent (Hale) and the local band. Touches of Stedman and Bob Major were rung half-muffled after the service and a peal of London was rung the following day.

AN APPRECIATION

In his address, Canon Mellor described Jimmy Grounds as a man who believed in doing things, and in all he undertook that was the keynote. He was known to ringers all over Lancashire along with his friend the late John Booth. The inseparables, or the twins, as they were jocularly called, must have rung 150 peals together, and now they have both passed on.

Jimmy Grounds was of a quiet disposition, a safe ringer and a true friend. Men like him are not easily replaced. He left the conducting to others, but he was interested in composition and liked to see the figures after a peal. He joined the Lancashire Association before World War I and had rung 250 peals. A few of these may have been for the Yorkshire Association and the Chester Guild, but it will be some time before the list is checked over. His enthusiasm for ringing and his devotion to Standish Church will remain as an example to all of us.

May he rest in peace. E. R. M.

MRS. ELIZABETH BIBBY

The news of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Bibby will have brought back many pleasant memories of the '20s and '30s, when ringers were welcome visitors at London Road, Frodsham, where with her husband, the late William Bibby, she lived.

Her pleasure in welcoming visitors made one a member of the family in no uncertain manner, and her interest in ringing was as intense as any ringer's could be. Any failure of a peal attempt had to be explained in a thorough manner, and the delinquent was subjected to motherly leg-pulling; a successful attempt was as much a source of pride to her as it was to the participants.

For the last few years she had lived with her daughter, Norah, at Lincoln, where she passed peacefully away on February 16th. One ringer will remember her as almost a mother and a very noble lady. E. J.

MR. ERNEST E. GRIMES

The death took place on March 9th at Ipswich of Mr. Ernest E. Grimes ('Ted'), who had been in failing health for some three years. A grocer by trade, he was the son of the late William Grimes, captain at Debenham tower for years, and brother of the well-known Alfred W.

He rang his first peal at Debenham in 1910, the only surviving members of that peal being James G. Rumsey, of Leiston, and the ever-young Peter Laflin. An excellent striker of any bell, he had taken part in 108 peals for the Norwich Diocesan Association and the Suffolk Guild. He also rang peals for the London County Association, of which no information is available. He was District secretary for St. Edmundsbury District from 1919 until the formation of the Suffolk Guild in 1923. He served in the 1914-18 war and was badly wounded; although always belted up he would turn in tenors with grace and ease. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

The funeral took place at Ipswich Cemetery on March 14th. Amongst the many flowers was a wreath from the Framsden Company, and the Guild was represented by Messrs. W. J. Button, G. A. Fleming and L. G. Brett. As a last respect a well-struck peal of Cambridge was rung at Debenham, his native tower.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Southern District

The ladies who attended the A.G.M. at Oatlands Park and Walton-on-Thames on February 22nd were very pleased to welcome Miss Colgate, the Guild secretary, who had motored from Sevenoaks in the cold and wet weather.

The afternoon was shared with members of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Guild, who held their A.G.M. (a report of which appeared in last week's 'R.W.'), and thanks are due to them for their cheerful co-operation. Mrs. Lathbury and Miss Shorter, two members of both Guilds, prepared a fine tea enjoyed by all.

Miss Colgate kindly took the chair at the business meeting. The main item was election of officers. Mrs. Hazelden had written saying she felt unable to continue as vice-president and suggested Miss W. Oliver as her successor. This idea was warmly applauded and Miss Oliver has since accepted the position. Thanks were expressed to Mrs. Hazelden for the interest she has always taken, and it is hoped she will be seen at summer meetings despite her 83 years.

Other officers elected were Miss B. Mayers (secretary), Miss M. Collins, Miss M. Shorter and Mrs. M. Pridham. Two new members were elected. All will be welcome at the next meeting on May 17th, not May 3rd, at Cobham and Stoke D'Abernon.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

The severe weather, which had almost paralysed transport in East Kent a few days previously, cleared by the morning of March 1st to enable a good muster of ringers from the Ashford District to meet at Sellindge on that afternoon.

The six bells of this ancient little church were rung up promptly at 2.30. The Vicar (the Rev. R. Petty) welcomed the visitors and conducted the service. Nicholas Davies, one of a party of six ringers from King's School, Canterbury, read the lesson; Mr. Tullett, of New Romney, was the organist.

An excellent tea was prepared and served in the nearby Church Hall, as far as we could see, entirely by Mrs. Petty and two very young ladies.

At the business meeting, presided over by the Vicar, the secretary spoke on the forthcoming annual general meeting of the Association, which is to be held at Ashford on Easter Monday. Two new members joined the Association.

Mr. J. R. Cooper, the Ringing Master, thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and for taking the service; Mrs. Petty and her helpers for so cheerfully and efficiently catering for the needs of some 40 guests; and Mr. Peter Small for making the local arrangements.

Afterwards ringing to suit all degrees of efficiency was enjoyed until nine o'clock.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

Winchester District

The annual meeting of the Winchester District was held at St. Maurice's Hall, Winchester, on February 1st.

The chairman (Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth) welcomed the members and friends from neighburing Districts. He referred to the loss during the year of four members who had been called to higher service.

The secretary (Mr. R. F. Brewer) in his report thanked members for their support during the year, and regretted that owing to unforeseen circumstances he had to resign the secretaryship as he was now residing in another district.

The committee members were thanked for their services, and the election of officers then took place. The committee are as follows: Chairman, Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth; secretary, Mr. P. Nash; assistant secretary, Mr. P. Dickinson; treasurer, Mr. F. C. Mouland; Ringing Master, Mr. R. Smith.

Eight new ringing members were elected from Preston Candover, Winchester Cathedral, Winchester College, Nether Wallop and Kingsworthy.

After some discussion it was proposed to hold both the outing and the dinner again this year. An ample tea followed the meeting, and members then attended Evensong in the Cathedral. After the service good use was made of the Cathedral bells, ringing consisting of Grandsire Triples and Caters, and rounds on the 12.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2452 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

THOUGHTS ON OUTINGS

THE time of outings draws near and organisers begin to plan the details of their annual visits to cathedrals and churches throughout the land. It is indeed a great joy to be able to ring upon the many rings of bells, and we gain not only pleasure but much experience from these visits. Not only are we fortunate in having such magnificent buildings to visit but we see many lesser-known parts of the country untrodden by the weekend trippers and sightseers. Many a gem can be found in the quiet of the countryside far from the crowded watering places. We are able to look back and relate many happy and interesting stories of our wanderings which in themselves make many an evening's entertainment.

However, we must realise at all times that it is only through the very kind help and co-operation of the clergy and local ringers that this is possible. We must remember that we exercise no right to ring upon any bells but that this is a privilege which is extended to us whenever possible. For this we must be most grateful, and the least that we can do is to make our request politely and to visit in a well-mannered way.

So often one hears of the company who have asked permission to ring at a parish church but, despite requests in our weekly paper, no stamped addressed envelope is enclosed. In such cases as these it is small wonder that sometimes the letter is ignored. Surely it is of much more satisfaction and creates a far better impression for the visitors to over-correspond rather than the reverse. Sometimes when arrangements are not confirmed, one arrives at the tower to find it locked and no person to meet the visitors. A short note a week or so before would have probably avoided this situation and also saved much valuable ringing time. It would have been, in fact, to the mutual benefit of both visitors and local tower captain.

Unless asked to do otherwise, we should always ascertain if it is convenient for us to start ringing either from the incumbent or tower captain, if there is no one at the tower to meet us. One illustration of this comes to mind. Some two or three years ago a party of ringers visited a country tower. The local ringer who had arranged to meet the party arrived at the tower about three minutes before the scheduled time, to be greeted by the sound of the bells being raised in peal. Needless to say, he was rather annoyed, and accordingly expressed his feelings to the ringers in question. Had he been late arriving at the tower, the incident could no doubt have been overlooked, but he certainly was justified in expressing his disapproval. These visitors did not leave a very impressive record behind. We can only hope that through their mistake they gained discretion which would be of value on future occasions.

Tower-grabbing is also frowned upon by many people. It is safe to say that nearly all ringers who have visited towers other than that of their own parish have indulged at some time or other in grabbing the odd one. However, when one stops to consider, it really is very bad manners and should be discouraged to the greatest extent. It is more of an intrusion than a visit. Surely the least that we can do is to write beforehand to ask if we may be allowed to come.

We must remember also that a visit to another tower on our annual tour is not a time for practice. It is in fact rather more in the style of an exhibition, and we must all give of our best as we always do. More important still, to ring what we are capable of performing in a competent manner. We can leave a good or bad impression behind us, and it is imperative that we leave the former. It is far nicer to hear well-struck Grandsire or call-changes than a badly-rung course of Surprise. Naturally, we like to ring as complicated a method as we are able, but let us not be over ambitious and in so doing spoil our efforts. The time for experimenting with our latest method can quite well be kept for our practice nights!

Let us also remember that we are visiting a holy place, and that the tower is as much the church as the nave. We should behave in a reverent manner at all times, and it is most desirable and pleasing before commencing to ring to join together in a short belfry prayer, asking God to help us in our efforts. We are Church workers and a Christian body, so let us be proud to acknowledge this fact.

Therefore, exercise discretion and judgment in arranging various outings and tours, and in so doing bind together closer the existing bond of fellowship between clergy and ringers. We shall then be assured of a warm welcome wherever we are able to visit, and our tour will be so much more pleasurable and successful from all aspects and so much more worthwhile. D. H.

THE LADIES' GUILD
Western District

The annual meeting of the Western District was held at Beckington, Som., on Mar. 8th; in spite of the extremely wintry weather a good number of members managed to attend, and the warmth of the welcome which awaited them certainly compensated for the chilly conditions outdoors.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. T. H. Davies), after which a sumptuous tea was provided by Mrs. Massey and other local ringers, and members were very grateful to the Vicar for allowing them to have this meal at the Priory.

At the business meeting the officers were elected as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. Parfrey; secretary, Miss B. Johnson; committee, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. de Jong, Mrs. Massey and Miss Williams.

Five new members were elected, all from Beckington—Miss A. Fear, Miss M. Griffin, Miss J. Gillard, Miss T. Jones and Mrs. Randle.

It is intended to hold the June meeting in the Yeovil district, and the usual coach will run from the Bath/Bristol area. M. de J.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

In wintry weather, the Society held its monthly meeting at Penistone, Sheffield, on March 8th, but a warm welcome was given by the Vicar and the local company. The afternoon's ringing was followed by an excellent tea. Ten towers were represented at the business meeting, at which Mr. Noel F. Moxon (president) presided. Sandal, Wakefield, was selected for the meeting on April 12th. The president in his vote of thanks had a special word for Mr. Arthur Champion and the local company, and also the ladies responsible for tea. Good use was made of the lovely bells in the evening.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

The March meeting of the Society was held at Tamworth on the 8th. It was a coincidence that the arctic weather conditions that day were exactly similar to those which prevailed when the Society last met at Tamworth in March, 1952. The adverse weather, however, did not affect the attendance, and it must have been very gratifying to Messrs. G. and G. H. Peers to see that 77 sat down to enjoy the very nice tea which they and their band of helpers had provided.

A feature of the meeting was the number of young ringers present—a third of the total attendance would be under 30. The pleasing ring of eight bells (tenor 21 cwt.) was put to good use during the afternoon and evening. The Vicar of Tamworth (Rev. A. Jones) conducted the service and gave the address. The interior of the church is particularly fine and compares favourably with any parish church in the country.

Owing to a musical festival being held in the Assembly Rooms adjoining the church, ringing had to terminate by 7.30 p.m., but by that time most of the ringers were anxious to be on their way home because of the weather. It was a most enjoyable meeting, and Messrs. G. and G. H. Peers and the Tamworth ringers are deserving of thanks and appreciation for their arrangements.

The next meeting of the Society will be at All Saints', West Bromwich, on May 10th.

F. C. A. B.

WITHAM, ESSEX.—On Mar. 2nd, 1,280 Plain Bob Major: Mrs. J. Hull 1, W. S. Butler 2, R. Dorking (first quarter) 3, J. Warner 4, B. Crook 5, B. Rice 6, E. W. Bright (cond.) 7, H. Dorking 8. For morning service.

JOINT MEETING AT HEADCORN

A joint meeting of the Maidstone District of the Kent County Association and the Kent Branch of the Ladies' Guild was held at SS. Peter and Paul's, Headcorn, on March 8th.

In spite of threatening snow showers it was a well-attended meeting, and the bells were put to good use during the afternoon and evening, the ringing including Hereward Bob Triples, the method for the day suggested by the Maidstone District.

A most enjoyable service was conducted by the Vicar, and included a course of Grandsire Triples rung on handbells.

Tea was held in the Church Hall, and this was followed by the Maidstone District's short business meeting.

During the ladies' meeting, Mrs. Mitchell, on behalf of the Branch, congratulated Mrs. Cheal on her recent marriage. Hythe was suggested for the next meeting on May 24th. Miss Colgate reminded members of the annual meeting at Canterbury on July 5th. As this concluded the business, ringing was resumed.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Although the previous week's snowfall was still evident, a very successful meeting of the Bedford District was held at Sharnbrook on March 2nd. About 40 ringers were present from all parts of the county, together with a few members of the Peterborough Guild.

The bells were raised in peal and kept going in a variety of methods until 4.30, when the Rector of Sharnbrook conducted a short service and gave an inspiring address. Tea was then taken in the Church Hall.

Several methods up to London Surprise were rung during the evening and a successful day's ringing was brought to a close at nine o'clock, when the bells were lowered in peal.

BELFRY GOSSIP

For the first time, boys from Rotherham Grammar School rang for their founders' day service at the Parish Church on March 13th. Quite well-struck touches of Bob Doubles, Grandsire Doubles and a course of Bob Minor were rung on the front six. The ringing concluded with rounds and call-changes on the back six, the 34¼ cwt. tenor being ably rung by David French (aged 15). The other ringers taking part were Ian Tilling, Peter Hayselden, Donald Fraser and John Carson, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. N. Chaddock.

Correction.—The ringer of the treble in the peal at Tollesbury (see page 168) was Robert W. Leavett, and not as printed.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung at St. Annes-on-Sea on March 15th is believed to be the first peal of Surprise Major to be rung in the Fylde.

Miss M. Mills conducted the peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Kirby-le-Soken on March 8th (see page 184), and not Mr. U. W. Wildney as published. The peal was a birthday compliment to her.

A notable achievement comes from Middle Littleton, Worcs, where, in the absence of a tenor ringer, M. G. Selby (aged 15) called his first quarter (Grandsire Doubles). Three other members of the band also scored their first quarter.

'The election of a new member of the Guild (Oxford Diocesan) is something more than just paying 2s. 6d.', writes Mr. David Smith in the Witney and Woodstock Branch News Letter. 'Those people who propose that certain new members be elected are really taking upon themselves the responsibility of saying that certain ringers can handle a bell properly, will try and progress in the Art, and will become regular service ringers.'

Mr. V. Sheppard, of Cape Town, has lost no time in getting back to ringing since arriving in England. He arrived in London late on Friday night, and the following afternoon was ringing for a wedding at Bexley and that evening at St. Alfege's, Greenwich. Sunday's service ringing was at St. Mary's, Woolwich, and Eltham. On the journey home he spent ten hours at St. Helena, which enabled him to ring at three 'towers' and to see his first Warner bell.

Buckfastleigh Youth Club had a talk on bells and bell-ringing given by Mr. W. Simmonds, of Torquay, who is the general treasurer of the Devonshire Guild of Ringers, with the assistance of Mr. A. L. Bennett, of Buckfastleigh. The talk was illustrated by lantern slides, kindly loaned by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. A short demonstration of handbell ringing followed.

Miss Catherine Powell (aged 14), of Stoke D'Abernon, Surrey, rang well to score her first peal on eight bells at Ranmore on March 15th. She has only been practising Double Norwich for a month and is presumed to be the youngest lady to score a peal in this method in Surrey. She has learnt her change-ringing at Leatherhead, under the tuition of Messrs. G. Marriner, H. V. Young and A. H. Smith.

The recent peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Milton-next-Gravesend was the 100th peal on the bells and commemorated Mr. F. M. Mitchell's 50 years' membership of the tower. In the 100 peals, Mr. Mitchell rang in 67 (40 on six bells) and conducted 35. Now in his 80th year, it is regretted that ill health prevents him from ringing at present. For nearly 40 years he held offices in the K.C.A., and was Master of the College Youths in 1932.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD

79th Anniversary Dinner

'SNOW was falling, snow on snow,' when the Cambridge University Guild held their 79th anniversary dinner on March 8th. The writer recalls that four years ago it was decided to change the date of the dinner from February to March, 'as the weather would then be better.' Since then we have had mild Februarys and wintry Marches . . . .

It is rapidly becoming a tradition that the Guild should lose a peal of Grandsire Caters at Saffron Walden on the morning of the dinner, and the custom was again honoured this year, although it was nearly three hours before a mistake was made in the calling. An innovation was the form of transport from Cambridge to Saffron Walden. This journey has often been accomplished in the famous taxi, 'Ichabod,' but the glory is now finally departed, and Roger Morris, the unofficial chauffeur to the Guild, has acquired a hearse, which after suitable conversion carries a peal band in comparative comfort. A valuable feature of this vehicle is that there is ample room inside it to ring handbells; we trust it will not be long before the footnote, 'Believed to be the first peal rung in a hearse,' appears in this journal.

After lunch, the four Cambridge towers were open at various times, and the bells were all put to good use, the ringing during the afternoon ranging from rounds to Cambridge Maximus. We were also privileged to have the use of Trumpington bells, which have recently been restored and augmented, and have been turned from an unremarkable six into a very handy eight.

The dinner was 'partaken of' in the Hall of Selwyn College, and we were all extremely grateful to those who had made the necessary arrangements for it to be held there; it was not just that the food and the service were excellent, but however well a restaurant caters for you, it cannot provide the atmosphere of a college hall, which is so completely appropriate to such a function. It is very much hoped that similar arrangements can be made in future years. We were also very pleased that our president (Rev. A. C. Blyth) was able to preside over the dinner once again, as last year he was unfortunately not well enough to do so.

After the president had welcomed the gathering to Selwyn College, the Vicar of Great St. Andrew's (Canon Woodard) proposed the toast of 'The Guild.' Not unnaturally, some of his speech was devoted to the subject of the St. Andrew's Bell Restoration Fund, which is making steady progress. It is still, however, literally true that the Guild, which has made itself largely responsible for raising the money for the restoration of the bells on which it rings, 'owes a great deal' to St. Andrew's; and if any of you who read this would care to make a donation, sending it to Dr. C. M. P. Johnson, Selwyn College, Cambridge, it would be very gratefully received. Incidentally, it now seems certain that whatever is eventually decided about the future of Great St. Andrew's, it will not be demolished.

Replying to the toast, the Master (Brian Cookson) outlined the year's activities and achievements. These were sufficiently varied, ranging from peals of Spliced Surprise and of Stedman Cinques to the arrival in the world of some nine or ten future members of the Guild. What did emerge from this report was the satisfactory fact (try saying that quickly) that the standard of Sunday ringing and the level of enthusiasm among the resident members have most definitely been maintained, if not improved on.

Major J. H. R. Freeborn, in an amusing speech, proposed the health of 'The Visitors.' These included the Masters of the Oxford, London and Bristol University Societies, two members of the Cambridge Youths, Canon Woodard, and 'a host of others, too numerous to mention'—but none the less welcome because of that. This toast was replied to by Robin Pittman, the Master of the Oxford University Society. He was obviously suitably impressed by finding himself within the precincts of The Only University, but your correspondent regrets that his (Robin Pittman's) words remain for ever lost, as far as this journal is concerned. 'Full many a flower is born to blush unseen. . . .' We feel sure it was an excellent speech.

After dinner, Dr. Johnson (not the famous lexicographer, but the one who Does Things to Atoms in the Cavendish Laboratory) entertained us in his rooms to an extremely pleasant evening. The handbells rang out merrily (though not always accurately) and the ale flowed freely. All too soon the time came to depart, and members and guests left, replete and happy, in a flurry of snow and in conditions under foot all too reminiscent of a line of Tennyson's: 'I slip, I slide, I gloom, I glide. . .' At least one former Master of the Guild was seen to 'measure his length' on the ice in King's Parade. So ended a day that the writer feels sure will long remain in the memory of all who were present. W. T. C.

TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. PHYLLIS POOLE

With deep regret we report the death of Mrs. Phyllis Poole, of 150, Narborough Road South, Leicester, on Thursday, March 20th. She was the widow of the late Mr. Harold J. Poole, president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, and was 59 years of age.

Mrs. Poole had left her home to attend a practice at the Church of St. John-the-Divine, and was crossing the main road near her home when she was knocked down by a motor shooting brake. She was found to be dead on reaching hospital.

The foremost lady ringer in the country, she had rung about 677 peals and was held in affection and esteem by a very wide circle of friends.

The sincere sympathy of the whole Exercise is extended to her only child, Jill, and Peter Staniforth, her son-in-law.

A memoir and appreciation of her work for ringing appears on page 209.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

The following additional information in connection with the Dublin meeting is given:—

Saturday, May 24th.—A tour of Guinness's Brewery has been arranged to take place during the morning, and visitors have been invited to a buffet luncheon.

Sunday, May 25th.—A coach has been reserved for a tour of Glendalough, Co. Wicklow, with ringing at Arklow and Bray.

Further details of these events later.

Carillon festival at Cobh.—As already announced, Wednesday, May 28th, is a special day, to which members and friends are invited, but visitors may like to know that the festival is also taking place during Whitsuntide. The Irish Association will be represented on the special night.

Accommodation.—Mrs. Hamilton, 3, Wyndham Park, Bray, Co. Wicklow, with whom a number of ringers are staying, has several vacancies. Weekly terms: Full board, £6; or bed and breakfast and tea only, £4 18s.

E. A. BARNETT,
Hon. Secretary.

Children and Bells

The many young people to be found in teams of bellringers is one of the chief reasons for including a feature entitled 'Ring Them Merrily—Ding Dong Bells' in the Children's Hour programme from Manchester on Easter Day, April 6th (Home Service, 5 p.m.). The programme will be broadcast by all Regions, although it originates in the North. Some special points of interest will be explained, and among the recordings of bells, all in the north, to be heard in the programme will be the oldest dated bell in the country, at Claughton, near Lancaster, which bears the date 1296. The other of the two bells in this tiny church is much more recent.

Churches and towers to be mentioned include Kirkby Malzeard Church, Ripon, where in 1591 a bell was cast inside the building; Bedale, Yorks, the tower of which was once used for refuge and defence; Kirkby Stephen, Westmorland, with interviews with the team of young bellringers; Holy Trinity, Ripon, with a team of children ringing handbells; All Saints', Pavement, Yorks, a very old partly-Saxon church, where a lantern used to be hung in the tower to guide mediæval travellers through the forest; St. Mary's, Beverley, Yorks, where Lewis Carroll's original March Hare is carved over the sacristy; Cottingham, York; Cartmel Priory, Lancs, and Patrington in East Yorkshire.

Record Length of Double Norwich Court Bob Major To Be Attempted

Dear Sir,—In accordance with the rules of the Central Council, I wish to give notice of an attempt for 27,328 Double Norwich Court Bob Major to be rung at Fairfield, Buxton, Derbyshire, on Monday, April 7th, starting at 7.30 a.m.

The composition will be as follows:—

23456	1	3	4	6
35426	—	3
52436	—	3
63254	—	3	—
45362	—	3	—

36542		3	S	—
65342		3		—
24563	—	3	—
34265		3	—

Five times repeated, Single at 6 in the last course gives 24356. Then:—

24356	1	3	4	6
64253		3	—
35462	—	3	—
64532	—	3		—
24635		3	—
46532		3	S	—
65432		3		—
23564	—	3	—
43265		3	—

Five times repeated omitting all bobs at 3 and adding a single at 6 in the last course.—Yours sincerely,

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE.

NEWS FROM CANADA

Mr. A. J. M. Collins, writing from Vancouver, B.C., informs us that an oak plaque or tablet is being erected in the tower of the Church of the Holy Rosary, Vancouver, to commemorate the work of Alfred C. Limpus, who died in 1952. It was solely through him and against immense difficulties that these bells were ever rung for change-ringing. The tablet is being made in Gloucestershire.

The other four experienced ringers in this tower besides Mr. Collins are:—

Edwin Lee: Kirkby-in-Ashfield, Notts, 1920-1930; Arksey, Yorks, 1930-39; Newark, Notts, 1945-52.

Mike Causley: Buxted, Sussex, 1945-51 and 1955. (He has also rung at Durban, South Africa, and handbells in Hong Kong.)

David Mason: Llanbadarn-Fawr, Aberystwyth, Wales, 1932-39.

Mrs. Helen Lee.

Mrs. Jean Causley, who rang at Uckfield, 1946-51, is not at present able to ring as she gave birth to a son, David, on January 4th.

The bells at the Benedictine Monastery, Mission City, Westminster Abbey, were first rung together on October 13th last by members of what has since become the Vancouver Society of Change Ringers. They were asked to go and ring the bells on the day of the blessing of the seminary. This preceded the visit by the Victoria band by two weeks.

The monks are receiving regular tuition (there are 16 learners) by members of the Vancouver Society of Change Ringers, who visit the tower either individually or collectively every two weeks. At the present time five of the band can plain hunt. Mr. Collins is Ringing Master of both towers.

Vancouver is holding the first of what will be an annual arts festival this year, and the Vancouver Society of Change Ringers are taking part by ringing at suitable times and holding 'open house' to visitors. Special ringing took place for the brief visit of the Queen Mother to Vancouver and will again take place when Princess Margaret visits the city on approximately July 20th.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

Although the weather was not very kind, 70 members attended the quarterly meeting of the Guild at St. Mary's, Pembroke, on March 9th. Towers represented were Llanelly, Llandilo, Carmarthen, Burry Port, Tenby, St. David's, Llanstephen and Pembroke.

The bells were available at 2.30 p.m. and the Vicar (Rev. R. C. Davies) officiated at the service, the Ringing Master (Mr. Gwyn Thomas) acted as organist and the Master (Mr. Ed. J. Thomas, of Carmarthen) read the lesson.

A very welcome tea in the Church Hall followed. The Vicar, who presided at the business meeting, declared the meeting open by extending a very hearty welcome to the visitors to Pembroke. This was followed, as is usual, by a grand touch on handbells given by members. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised £1 17s. 6d. The meeting accepted the invitation of the Vicar of Llanelly to hold the Guild annual meeting at Llanelly on June 14th.

The Vicar was made a vice-president and one life ringing member was elected.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar, to the ladies who gave and waited at tea, and to all those who helped to make the meeting such a success. C. H. H.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting Adopts a Badge

FOLLOWING a most interesting service, conducted by the Vicar and Curate, 80 members and friends did justice to a fine tea at the annual meeting of the Surrey Association at Reigate on March 15th.

At the opening of the meeting the company stood in silence to the memory of the late Mr. J. B. Hessey.

The committee's report disclosed the loss of Horley due to tower weakness, but welcomed Addington, which had recently been increased from four to six and now had a method-ringing band. Putney had also returned to the ranks with a young band which was making good progress.

Membership had been further reduced by 20 to 355, primarily due to lapsing members under Rule 12. Losses by death during the year were Messrs. J. Crawford (Epsom), R. Lathbury (Walton-on-Thames), Cressey (Streatham, Emmanuel), J. Holland (Oxted) and C. Nicholls (Streatham, St. Leonard's).

From records published in 'The Ringing World,' 132 quarter peals had been rung during the year. Nearly all of these were by resident bands for Sunday services. Twenty-four peals had been rung, in which 87 ringers took part. Of these, 47 were resident members.

The treasurer reported an increase in the balance in hand at the end of the year, but pointed out this was due chiefly to the variation in the rate of the District's contributions to the general fund.

All the general officers were re-elected except the assistant secretary, Mr. P. Davis, who had resigned and was succeeded by Mr. F. E. Roberts. All the officers were sincerely thanked for their services during the past year.

Following a proposal by the younger members, the meeting decided to adopt a badge which will be on sale in the near future. It was also decided to prepare a 'form of service' to be used at meetings.

Mr. Cracknell mentioned that Messrs. F. and G. Hoad had been members for 64 years. Frank was at the meeting but George, who has been seriously ill and is now fairly well on the way to recovery, could not face the cold winds.

Ten new members were elected.

Epsom was selected for next year's annual general meeting on March 21st, 1959.

After votes of thanks to all who had helped to make an enjoyable afternoon and evening, the ringers made their way to the belfries of Reigate and Redhill for further ringing, which ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY

On March 8th the Guild visited nine towers in the Winchester area. It was not the best weather for cycling, and all extremes of weather conditions were encountered from bright sunshine to howling blizzard. Nevertheless, some 60 miles were covered by the end of the day, and apart from minor mishaps a most enjoyable time was had. Methods rung during the day included London, Cambridge, Surfleet, Beverley Surprise, Stedman, Plain Bob and Grandsire. On the four bells at Kingsworthy, courses of Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Minimus were rung.

The journey home was broken in the time-honoured way, and Southampton was eventually reached at about 11 p.m. J. L. Q.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Eastern District

On the evening of March 8th the Eastern District held their monthly meeting at St. Mary's Church, Standon. This tower has a heavy ring of six, the tenor weighing 17 cwt.

About 25 members attended this meeting from eight local towers. This rather low figure was probably due to the heavy falls of snow.

The ringing consisted of Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Doubles, as the object of these evening meetings is to help local 6-bell tower ringers to improve their striking and knowledge of standard methods.

Everyone was catered for, and it was considered a very useful meeting.

St. Albans District

Sandridge was chosen for the meeting of St. Albans District on March 15th. Soon after 3 p.m. the bells were ringing to a variety of methods and continued to do so until 4.30, when a service was taken by the Vicar (Rev. P. G. Handford).

Tea was taken at a nearby café, after which a business meeting was held in the belfry, with Mr. T. J. Southam in the chair. It was decided not to hold a meeting next month as the annual general meeting at Hemel Hempstead was on April 12th. A meeting in May at Essenden was being arranged.

During the afternoon and evening some 20 ringers were present, and most towers in the District were represented. M. A. C.

Northern District

Traces of Tuesday's snow still lingered around Offley on March 1st, where the District meeting was held. Members of the local band (many of whom are young learners and have not previously tried half-pull change-ringing) were there to welcome us, and joined in the ringing until the service, conducted by the Rev. H. Senar. He told us some of the fascinating history of the ancient church.

Tea was enjoyed, then the business meeting was held in the church with the Vicar in the chair. The secretary gave a report of a recent committee meeting, and there was a prolonged discussion about differential subscriptions.

Ringing began again, the special method, London Surprise Minor, proving very popular. J. S.

MR. T. J. LOCK'S 500 PEALS

Mr. T. J. Lock rang his 500th peal at Harrow Weald, Middlesex, on February 20th, this was also his 99th different Surprise Major method rung to a peal on a working bell. His first peal was rung on December 20th, 1927.

The peals have been rung in 194 towers for 30 ringing Associations or Guilds, and comprise the following:—

Minor 6 (conducted 1): Triples 22 (2); Major 386 (43): Caters 12: Royal 45 (2): Cinques 20: Maximus 9.

Included in this total are 26 peals (conducted 1) 'in hand' and two non-conducted peals. The list of methods includes Duffield and Single Norwich Court Bob Major and Surprise Major with the initial letters ranging the alphabet. Spliced peals include those in Plain, Treble Bob and Surprise. Methods named after 11 counties and after 15 cities or cathedral towns are also listed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir,—I thoroughly enjoyed reading your leading article, and the sound suggestion it contained about 'Fallen by the Wayside,' but I should like to point out that there may be 'another side to the picture.'

There have been occasions just recently, to my own personal knowledge, where a modern peal band, having found that they are one short at the last possible moment, decided to call on 'old so-and-so' to fill the gap—he won't mind!

Is it going to be easy to recruit the 'old hands' back to the tower if they have the feeling that they are only wanted as stop-gaps? I say No! sir.

If they are really wanted back, something more than diplomacy and 'kind' words will be required, to make those who have 'fallen by the wayside' feel that they are really welcomed back to the fold. This is just another angle to the problem of how to entice the 'old stagers' to 'have another go.'

Surely, sir, now is the time for the various officials of the Guilds and Associations to get really cracking.—Yours sincerely,

PERCY GREEN.

Chelmsford.

NON-RESIDENT MEMBERS

Dear Sir,—For some time I have wondered why the fees payable by non-resident members of ringing associations should be so variable. In my own Guild anyone joining us for a peal has to pay 10s. On top of an expensive journey this is rather steep, so we often have a 'whip round' to help the unfortunate victim. Such a high fee often results in a peal being rung for some other association whose fee is more reasonable.

What a non-resident member gets for his money is the privilege of ringing a peal (or peals) for a particular Association, with, occasionally, the presentation of a certificate of membership. As this appears to be applicable to any ringing association, surely it would be reasonable to suggest that these fees be standardised.

The Central Council cannot, of course, insist on its member associations demanding a standard subscription, but could it not recommend uniformity, seeing that the benefits seem to be the same? Perhaps some C.C. representative could take up this matter.

I don't propose to make any suggestion as to the fee, but I feel, with the continued rise in the cost of administration of ringers' societies, that the 5s. many of them still levy is letting non-resident members off lightly, especially when one compares it with what the resident members have to pay annually in some cases!

Would readers please give their views?—Yours faithfully,

W. BIRMINGHAM.

HALF-MUFFLED RINGING

Dear Sir,—I believe that the C.C. rules state that peals and quarter peals must be rung on half-strokes. But when the peal or quarter is rung half-muffled, how much better it would sound to have it rung on full strokes: the listener then hears one change and a pleasing echo of that same change. I am not suggesting that peals should be rung like this so as to take twice the normal time, but what is the objection to ringing quarter peals like this? The C.C. should, in my opinion, allow half-muffled quarter peals to be rung either on full- or half-strokes, at the band's discretion.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM FISHER.

BELL MUSIC

Dear Sir,—Mr. Desmond Painter is correct to observe that 'musical changes' are a matter of personal taste, but some psychologist in our midst ought to tell us why most ringers we question prefer 84 at the end of a row to 82, say: is it merely what we have been taught to believe? My own preference by the way (maybe unusual) would be 85, 84, 81, 83, 86, 82 and 87 in that order. In answer to Mrs. H. Price, if I am involved in a roll-up, I always try to accentuate (by slightly easing the spacing) the 'combination' changes, and encourage the rest of the band to do so. It is very vexing if one of the bells involved mars it by not practising this technique; yet it is a matter of opinion really, and it makes a slight break in the rhythm, accommodated by the hand-stroke gap. It can be overdone on a light, fast ring. I suppose it is the difference between workmanlike ringing and 'that bit extra' which, just as in orchestral conducting, can make or mar the performance for some.

About lowering in peal, I always try to keep the backstroke double-clappering of the treble clear of the tenor or last audible bell. This encourages the essential 'packing' of the bells necessary as a good lower progresses, and avoids the unseemly snatching of the big bells down to the chime caused by too suddenly bringing down the treble. When most of the bells are chiming the treble can then in one movement be brought low enough to strike only on the chiming side for the finish.

I do not know how the Devon call-change ringers keep their bells clappering correctly all the way down, as with some bells it seems practically impossible, and I have yet to discover the method of striking a bell properly which speaks early after the back stroke in a lower-in-peal once the sally has ceased to bob, especially as bells with this fault tend to double-clapper too long anyway.—Yours faithfully,

D. P. JONES.

FORDCOME SURPRISE MAJOR?

Dear Sir,—Appearing in the 'R.W.' dated February 21st is an article dealing with Gainsborough Surprise, by Mr. C. J. Sedgley, together with a variation of the method in notation form. Upon looking into this, there appears to be something missing. I believe this to be 5.8 at the third cross-section. If this is so both methods would read the same up to the 7.8 half section, when we get 12.36.12.7, or in full, x38x14x58x16x14x58, 12.36.12.7.

Should my guess prove to be right, then this method has been rung and named Fordcome. Is this correct?—Yours truly,

E. W. TIPLER.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE FOR BELLRINGERS

Many teams of bellringers are insured under the special policies issued by the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office Ltd., 11, Norfolk Street, Strand, W.C.2. Particulars will be supplied on application. Those with old policies are recommended to consider increasing the scale of benefits provided.

The Ecclesiastical Insurance Office, Ltd., was founded in 1887 to conserve for the Church of England profits arising from Church Insurances. The Office undertakes all kinds of parochial insurance. 2039

DISCIPLINE IN LONG LENGTHS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Pulling, in his letter ('R.W.' March 7th) implies that discipline has declined a lot in the last 50 years, and that half a century ago 'only the ringing mattered.'

The ringing must always be the first consideration, but there are various beliefs as to how ringing can best be served, and the young people of today would not respond to the strict discipline of a bygone age. What we have to do, I feel, is to keep our methods of teaching our art in line with the trends of modern education, and I heartily agree with the remarks of Mr. D. P. Jones in the 'R.W.' of March 14th.

An attempt for a record length in a secular tower is an entirely different thing from normal service ringing, and I should have thought that those who have enough energy and enthusiasm to tackle the colossal task of ringing 40,000 changes were entitled to use any reasonable means of relieving the tedium and steadying the nerves.

Whether the extent of Major will eventually be rung by one set of men or not remains to be seen, but one does not have to be a great psychologist to realise that the strain on the human system, and particularly the nerves, is infinitely greater when there are 20,000 changes achieved and still another 20,000 to go than in any past effort, laudable as some of them undoubtedly were, and especially the record length of Bristol at Over, Cheshire.

Let us, therefore, be quite fair in our criticisms and thank God that this nation still produces men with enough of the indomitable spirit of our forefathers to tackle a task that seems almost impossible. We shall all acclaim them when they do succeed, as they surely will, one day.—Yours sincerely,

A. E. RUSHTON.

ROYAL AIR FORCE ASSOCIATION OF RINGERS

Dear Sir,—Mention of St. Clement Danes' in 'The Ringing World,' dated March 7th, has prompted me to inquire of the above movement. I attended the first meeting at Edmonton in 1949, but later that year I went overseas. Since my return to this country in 1952 I have been unable to find conclusive evidence of its existence.

As so many members of the Royal Air Force made contribution to the restoration of St. Clement Danes', present day ringers who are serviing in the R.A.F. have the ideal headquarters, in their own church, from which a reborn Association of Ringers could be governed —perhaps called the St. Clement Danes' Guild of R.A.F. Ringers.

When a ringer joins the service, from his own choice or otherwise, the tendency is for him to lose touch with his own tower, and perhaps ringing altogether. If a movement such as the above was recognised by the Central Council, and membership to all other Guilds, Associations, etc., be given in the honorary status, more service ringers would strive to visit the local church to the station at which they are serving, and do more ringing. The outcome would be that the tower would gain another ringer, the ringer would gain tower experience and the long-term gain would be a more competent ringer.

I am very interested in hearing from anyone who may have views on the subject.—Yours faithfully,

J. D. SANKEY.

LETTERS—Continued

FIRST IN SHIPWAY'S

Dear Sir,—Like Mr. Moreton's anti-missile missile, Mr. Roberts' letter in 'R.W.', February 28th, is a Flopnik. Saturn T.B. Doubles is not a method, for by definition, all methods and principles must be true within the plain course. Therefore, as we ring peals of different methods, the 5,040 Saturn T.B. Doubles was not a peal.

Unfortunately, Saturn T.B. has confused two entirely different issues. Firstly, that methods must be true in the plain course. Just as call-change ringing differs from method ringing, so does the ringing of a succession of rows such as Saturn Doubles. Secondly, the composition of round blocks of 240 or 360 Doubles or 1,440 or 2,160 Minor. On this issue I am in absolute agreement with Messrs. Moreton and Leale, and no doubt something will be done to remove the restrictions.

We should, however, get some of our historical facts correct. Surely Chipping Campden T.B. Triples was rung in August, 1957. This is 144 years after it was first published, by Shipway, as Cumberland T.B. Triples. He also gave the Caters.

Mr. Shepherd, in the 'R.W.', January 17th, mentioned Surfleet T.B. Caters, 'constructed' by Rev. H. Law James in 1913. This also was published by Shipway, in 1813, as College T.B. Caters.

Barsham T.B., which is obviously false in the plain course on five bells, was also published, as London T.B. Triples.

We see then that the idea of Treble Bob on odd numbers, in which the treble makes one place going out and in, was introduced by Shipway in 1813, although there is no evidence that such methods were rung until the peal of Surfleet T.B. Caters.

As these methods are of interest and are probably quite musical, I give them here for seven and nine bells. As there is no evidence that Cumberland and College were rung under these names, it is probably best to use the names Chipping Campden and Surfleet. In Chipping Campden and London the treble dodges in 1-2, 4-5, 6-7 and 8-9 and makes 3rds. In Surfleet and Imperial, the treble dodges in 1-2, 3-4, 6-7 and 8-9 and makes 5ths.

Chipping Campden Treble Bob:—
3, 9, 3, 1, 3, 9, 3, 1, 3, 9, 3, 1, 3, 9, 3, 1, 3; 9; 127a.

Surfleet T.B.:—
5, 7, 5, 1, 5, 7, 5, 1, 5, 7, 5, 1, 5; 7; 127a.
5, 9, 5, 1, 5, 9, 5, 1, 5, 9, 5, 1, 5, 9, 5, 1, 5; 9; 129a.

London T.B.:—

Imperial T.B.:—
5, 7, 5, 1, 5, 127, 5, 1, 5, 127, 5, 1, 5; 127; 1mx.
5, 9, 5, 1, 5, 129, 5, 1, 5, 129, 5, 1, 5, 129, 5, 1, 5; 129; 1mx.

London and Imperial both have a slow work, like Kent T.B. A peal of London T.B. Caters or Cinques should prove interesting and musical.—Yours sincerely,

F. T. BLAGROVE.

LITTLE MUNDEN

Dear Sir,—I think Mr. Gale will find he is wrong in his letter which says that the 13 peals from 1902 to 1913 were rung at Little Munden and not Great Munden. Both towers were very active at that period, and I don't think I have got mixed up between them. The first peal at Great Munden (p. 428, Vol. XXI, 'Bell News') was rung on December 6th, 1902. Mr. Gale's memory is also at fault about there not being a band of ringers at Great Munden at that time. The footnote to the second peal there on February 2nd, 1907, says: 'This is the first peal rung by a Great Munden Society.' The Rev. A. G. Langdon rang the second. The 11th of the 13 peals I mentioned in my article, on December 30th, 1911 (Minor in seven methods), was claimed to be the first non-conducted peal of Minor ever rung ('R.W.' Vol. II, p. 26). Three ringers were from Great Munden and three from Little Munden.

As a matter of fact, on looking at the 13 peals, I see Mr. Gale did not ring in any of them. The first peal at Little Munden was rung in 1897, and no less than 41 were rung before the first world war. It will be some of these which Mr. Gale has in mind, of course, but I fear his memory must have played him false as regards to peals at Great Munden. I'm sorry to have to correct him.—Yours faithfully,

K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

INFORMATION WANTED

Dear Sir,—I found the following extract in a service record book in Cawthorne Church:—

'Letter from Edward Conybeare, Barrington Vicarage, Cambridge, in "The Church Times," April 2nd, 1875.

"Mr. Rocket, Sussex Street, Cambridge, steeple warden to University Church, fixed up a chiming apparatus for our bells at a cost of 30s., and has worked well without repair for two years. Chiming done by one hand in any changes, tunes and cadences that can be got into their notes".'

Can any reader give information about this apparatus?—Yours faithfully,

N. F. MOXON.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Swindon Branch

The spring quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Stratton St. Margaret on March 8th, and the eight bells were put to good use in various methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Major. The customary service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. G. Wolsey) and tea had been arranged by the local ringers.

Before commencing the business meeting the Branch chairman (Dr. H. Craig) called on the Vicar to make a presentation on behalf of the members to Mr. W. B. Kynaston, who had completed 25 years as secretary of the Branch. The gifts consisted of a brief case and a fountain pen and pencil set, and tributes were paid to Mr. Kynaston for his loyal service over a quarter of a century.

In thanking the subscribers, Mr. Kynaston said the presentation came as a complete surprise, and he would have to revise his opinions on the keeping of secrets by the opposite sex as his wife had kept him quite in the dark, although apparently aware of the proposed presentation.

As the annual meeting of the Association would take place in April, no Branch meeting was arranged for that month, and it was proposed to visit Brinkworth and Bishopstone in May and June respectively.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark and North Notts Districts

Despite the appalling weather conditions, approximately 45 ringers attended this, the second joint meeting of the two Districts, held at the Church of St. Nicholas, Tuxford, on March 8th.

Mr. H. T. Rooke took the chair for the business meeting, when three new members—B. Wild, N. Wild and R. Wild, of East Bridgford, and four non-resident life members, C. P. Pitchford, S. T. Rodgers, J. Marshall and D. Briggs, of Brant Broughton—were unanimously elected.

Winthorpe was confirmed for the place of the May meeting, and East Bridgford was chosen for July. In place of the normal bell repair fund, a collection was made on behalf of the Tuxford Church tower restoration fund: this realised £1 1s. 7d.

Mr. F. W. Midwinter proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the ladies for the tea, Mr. Brett for all the local arrangements, and the North Notts District for inviting the Newark District to this joint meeting.

Mr. H. T. Rooke suitably replied, and ringing then continued up to 8.30 p.m. W. L. E.

Nottingham District

The Church of St. Patrick, Nuthall, where a yew tree many hundreds of years old spreads its shapely arms in a garden of flowers and evergreens, was the meeting place for February for the Nottingham District, and from 2.30 onwards some 40 ringers enjoyed themselves ringing various touches from rounds to London and Cambridge Surprise. A well-attended service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. L. R. Barker), and tea was provided in the Church Hall by the local company of Girl Guides. The usual business meeting was held, and Mr. J. E. Hobbs gave a report on the progress of the local band which was a great credit to both tutors and learners.

The next meeting will be at the old village church of Clifton. S. A.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

Western Branch

A record attendance of 70 members and friends representing 28 towers was present at the annual meeting of the Western Branch held at St. Margaret's Church, King's Lynn, on February 22nd. Among those present were the president, the general secretary, the Association Ringing Master, the Branch chairman, Ringing Master and secretary.

Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and various methods were rung to suit all tastes and capabilities. An excellent tea was arranged and served by relatives and friends of the local band. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. A. Aitkin) and the lessons were read by the president, who was at one period a curate of St. Margaret's.

At the business meeting all the officers were re-elected and five new members were enrolled. Prayers were said for Mr. W. Rose, a member of the local band, who is in hospital, and also for Mrs. Ebberson (wife of the Branch Ringing Master) who has been ill. Hopes were expressed for their speedy recovery.

The president, in his remarks, congratulated the Western Branch on their great efforts during the past year, and thanked the officers for their work.

The secretary expressed his thanks to all who had co-operated with the various ringing meetings, and said how pleased he was that so many young people were taking such a great interest in learning the art and attending the meetings.

It was suggested that the next annual meeting in February, 1959, should be held at Swaffham, and that the next quarterly meeting should be at Saham Toney on May 31st. It was also agreed that an interim meeting should be held at Sculthorpe on April 12th.

OBITUARY

MRS. PHYLLIS POOLE

For the fifth time within the past three years I have had the mournful task of paying tribute to the passing of a Leicester Cathedral ringer. It was a severe shock to learn of the death of Mrs. Phyllis Poole, which occurred under tragic circumstances about 7.15 p.m. on Thursday, March 20th, when she was knocked down by a motor shooting brake on the main road almost immediately after leaving her home. She was found to be dead on reaching hospital. It should have been the usual practice night at the Cathedral but this had been cancelled as the bells were not available. Mrs. Poole had decided to go to the practice at St. John-the-Divine Church to aid a young band make progress.

Mrs. Poole was a talented, keen and enthusiastic ringer and had shown great courage in carrying on after the tragic death of her late husband, Harold Poole. She was in the forefront of peal ringers and was last year easily the leading lady peal ringer. She was also regular in attendance for Sunday service ringing and practice, and always willing to give help at meetings and in other directions. She had always given ringers a cordial welcome at home.

She was held in high regard and affection in the Leicester Diocese and amongst a much wider circle of ringers and friends.

The sympathy of all will be extended to her daughter, Jill Staniforth, and her husband, Peter, who, for the second time have been called upon to face stark tragedy. H. G. J.

AN APPRECIATION

Words fail to express the emotional shock one received at the tragic news of the accidental death of Mrs. Phyllis Poole, for it was only a few short hours before when we stood in a peal together. Not only Leicester will be overwhelmed by the sudden end to a very fine career, but the whole Exercise will be stunned, for Mrs. Poole was, without doubt, the 'leading lady.' It was only recently she remarked to me after a peal that she thought —and quite rightly, I believe—that she and I were the lady and gentleman with most peals to our credit.

It does not seem nearly 36 years ago since Mrs. Poole (then Miss Phyllis Hare) made her first visit to Leicester to score her first peal of Cambridge Major. This was at Kibworth in 1922 and was the first of 'Surprise' on these bells. It was conducted by Harold J. Poole, who later became her husband, and I had the pleasure and honour to ring the tenor in that peal; and now, alas, I was in her last. Phyllis made many visits from her native Woodston, Peterborough, and we rang scores of peals in all the standard and many Surprise methods. I always admired her, not only for the graceful and skilful way she handled her bell, but for her great ability to ring any method perfectly. But most of all I respect her memory because she never refused to join in a simple peal of Plain Bob Minor or Grandsire Triples if it was to help some struggling local band. But apart from all her peal ringing activities she was of a fine disposition and a lively and pleasant companion. She will be greatly missed in Leicester and throughout the Exercise. Mere words fail to express our deepest sympathy and condolences to Jill and Peter Staniforth in their tragic loss.

MISS MARGARET RHODES

AN APPRECIATION

The Ladies' Guild have lost a valued member through the death of Margaret Rhodes, who was for many years vice-president of the Yorkshire District of the Ladies' Guild, and gave up the post only recently.

Despite many responsibilities she was the type who form the dependable core of organisations, and the trouble and expense taken to attend Ladies' Guild meetings, even if only for a short visit, was a compliment in itself. Her presence turned any mediocre or disappointing meeting into an enjoyable event, and she possessed a delightful sense of humour which always came as a surprise because it was delivered so seriously.

Ringers paid their respects to her before and after the funeral service in Leeds Parish Church before cremation at Lawnswood, Leeds.

Members of the Guild sent floral tributes from Rotherham, Sheffield and Leeds. It is with a sad heart we say goodbye. E. D. K.

MR. JOHN WOOD

Mr. John Wood, captain of St. Mary's, Woodstock, Cape Town, died on March 5th in hospital after several weeks' illness

'Cappy,' as he was known, was born at Walsall, Staffs, at the turn of the century, and emigrated to South Africa at the age of eight. He joined St. Mary's band in the early 1920's, being taught by James Priest (Wanstead), Lewis Green (Exeter) and later by Fred May (Bristol).

His first quarter peal in 1925 was also the first ringing since the 1904 peal. For the following 25 years' work, Cape Town owes a great debt to him for keeping the bells in working order and the nucleus of a band together.

His work had its fruition in South Africa's Coronation peal, and the revival of the past five years.

After a major operation in 1954 he stubbornly refused to give up ringing, and hastened his own end in serving St. Mary's.

A floral tribute was sent from the band, and in muffled ringing they paid their last respects.

The funeral was held on March 7th, and in the evening of that day a touch of 720 Plain Bob Minor was rung in his memory. His ringing colleagues sent a floral tribute.—A. V. S.

MR. FREDERICK VICKERS

The death took place on March 13th in Tindal Hospital, Aylesbury, after an operation, of Mr. Frederick Vickers, of Linslade, Leighton Buzzard. He would have been 85 on March 18th, the day of his funeral.

The Rev. Wyndham Edgar (rural dean) conducted the funeral service in the presence of a large congregation, and the lesson was read by the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild). Miss Evelyn Steel (president) represented the Beds Association, Mr. W. Insley and Mr. C. Vincent St. Barnabas', Linslade, and Mr. H. B. Whitney and Mr. J. H. Conquest All Saints', Leighton Buzzard.

Fred Vickers, as he was affectionately called, had a long association with St. Barnabas', Linslade. His grandfather worshipped at the church when it was first opened in 1849, and his father was parish clerk and sexton from 1886 to 1936. Fred succeeded his father as verger and sexton and held office for 18 years. His forthright character and devotion to duty won him many friends.

He commenced bellringing in 1886, became foreman at St. Barnabas' in 1895, and joined the Bedfordshire Association in 1902. He rang quite a few peals for them including five at All Saints', Leighton Buzzard, and did much hard work in teaching learners. Fred will be remembered with affection for his part in getting the rough-going five at Tilsworth augmented to six, placed in an iron frame, and made into a good circle.

On the evening of the funeral the bells of St. Barnabas' were rung half-muffled to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and rounds by ringers from Linslade, Leighton Buzzard, Buckingham, Woburn and Aston Abbotts.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Western District

The first meeting of the Western District in 1958 was held on March 15th at Keighley and was favoured by a considerable improvement in the weather. It was, however, still very cold, and for this reason it was fortunate that the 50 or so members who attended were not all present at the same time, as accommodation in the small ringing room was somewhat limited.

Ringing took place from 3 until 4.30 p.m., when a pleasant short service was conducted by the curate of Keighley (Rev. Mr. Riley). The Vicar had been away on business during the afternoon, but did manage to return in time to address a few words of welcome to the visitors at tea time.

In the absence of the vice-president, the chair at the business meeting was taken by the Association's general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris). Thanks were expressed to the church authorities and local company for the excellent arrangements.

A short period of silence was observed to respect the memory of four members of the District who had recently passed away: Miss Margaret S. Rhodes, of Leeds; Mr. Walter Smith, of Mirfield; Mr. John Hall, of Keighley, and Mr. Joe Hardcastle, of Bradford.

Six new members were elected: Miss J. R. Hutchings and Messrs. R. Stephenson, S. K. Williamson, J. Kerby, J. Burgess and C. Millthorpe.

Arrangements are being made to hold the next meeting at Lindley, near Huddersfield, on June 21st, following a kind invitation from the local company.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY

After a number of meetings at which the attendance had been very disappointing, it was most encouraging to see well over 40 members and friends at the meeting of the S. and W. District, held at Uxbridge on March 15th. The eight bells were put to good use afternoon and evening, the methods rung ranging from rounds to London Surprise, in spite of the difficulties caused by the smallness of the tower.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. Dunning), who also presided over the business meeting which followed an excellent tea in the Church Hall. At this meeting it was suggested that meetings were nearly always more successful when a service and a tea were arranged, and the District secretary said he would endeavour to arrange this for future meetings.

During the day, it was recalled that Uxbridge bells were once the subject of a curious complaint. The tower is immediately opposite a dance hall, and one Sunday evening, while the bells were being rung for service, a request was received from the dance hall for the bells to stop, as the dance band couldn't hear itself practising!

The thanks of all who were present are due to the Vicar of Uxbridge, to Mr. H. W. Impey, and to all who worked to make the meeting the successful occasion it was. W. T. C.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2453. Vol. LIV FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

THE CONQUEST OF DEATH

A QUESTIONNAIRE taken this term of undergraduates at Cambridge University showed that 17 in every hundred did not believe in life after death and a further 22 were not sure. To the first group Easter is just a holiday, and to the second there is no real appreciation of the reality of this great and fundamental fact that the only son of God, after living a perfect life, made the supreme sacrifice for the sins of the world, and the third day by His Resurrection gave proof to mankind of the perpetuation of life after death. The questionnaire also provided this interesting fact that 55 per cent. of the undergraduates attend church or chapel regularly, which is a very high percentage, as the general view is that only between 10 and 20 per cent. of the population of this country are members of an organised Christian Church.

Some might say, what has this to do with bell-ringers and change-ringing? Ringers in this country are bonded together in one great body through the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, to which are affiliated the various Guilds and Associations. Not one of these affiliated bodies is purely secular; most Guilds have a strong point in their objects—the securing for members recognition as servants of the Church. These are not new-fangled ideas; in modern times they date from the formation of Diocesan Guilds and Associations.

This call and demand for recognition as servants of the Church should be kept in the forefront of all our activities; it is the basis of our Sunday ringing. Unless we are hired servants, it means that when we ring on Easter Sunday we affirm our belief in the Risen Christ, and when we make our Easter Communion, however unworthy we may be, we are joined with Him, and all those in this life and the next who recognise Christ as the Saviour.

The happiness of Easter is founded on the conquest of death—that when we step across the threshold into immortality there is the beginning of a new life in new surroundings. The belief in this great tenet of the Christian faith takes away the sting of death. There are many of our readers who have more friends who for 'a season they see no more' than with them in their earthly life. As Easter succeeds Easter their strength and belief is renewed. They take comfort in the words of Psalm xxiii.: 'Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, Thou art with me.' With such thoughts and such a belief one can step out courageously into the unknown.

This knowledge, 'that we with Christ shall all be made alive,' does not remove completely the sorrow of the parting among those who are left behind and to whom the individual in question is very dear. This last week the prayers and love of hundreds of ringers have been extended to a young couple at Leicester who have had taken from them the centre of their affection. Phyllis Poole, apart from being the foremost lady ringer in this country, was a mother in the true sense of the word. Her children extended far beyond her own family circle; that sympathetic understanding with which she was endowed had a very wide radius. Above all, she was a woman of courage. When faced with probably the hardest trial in her life, she gave to the world an unprecedented example of courage. She carried on despite the hidden ache in her heart, and by her Sunday service and peal ringing followed in the wake of a tradition in her life that had been practised by her for 40 or more years. A Christian fortitude and belief enabled her to win through by leading a full life. And now, unexpected, has come the call to be with Harold.

Frequently from the pulpit we as ringers have been told that we are the advertising agents of the Church. The bells have a great message for Easter Day: the rejoicing of a risen Christ and an empty tomb. May they ring out true from every belfry of the land, and may each ringer say to himself the well-known Belfry Prayer as a blessing to his work as a servant of the Church:—

> 'Grant, O Lord, that all who are hindered by sorrow or sickness or any other adversity, from assembling themselves together for Thy worship, may, by the bells, be reminded to their exceeding comfort, of the prayers of the Church, and may rejoice in the communion of saints, through Jesus Christ our Lord.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

There was another day of over 20,000 changes at the Loughborough Bell Foundry Campanile on March 15th when Mr. Derek P. Jones conducted four peals, and five of the ringers had the privilege of scoring four peals in a day for the first time. The day was organised by Mr. J. W. Cotton, secretary of the Midland Counties Guild, and a fifth peal would have been attempted had transport arrangements permitted. The first peal, in 1 hour 48 minutes, was probably the fastest Surprise peal yet rung. The organiser of the 40,320 took part in the four, thus having a more 'fruitful' visit to the Campanile than of late.

The Mayor-elect of Abergavenny is Ald. W. Horsington, a local ringer. Although 76, he rang in a quarter peal in honour of his selection.

The fund for the overhaul of Eye, Suffolk, bells has now reached £818. Fifty-four tons of waste paper, etc., have been sold, realising £294 of that amount.

Correction.—The peal at Brafield-on-the-Green, Northamptonshire, was conducted by Allan R. Jones and not by Alan C. Cozens as stated on page 185 of the March 21st issue of 'The Ringing World.'

The peal from Melbourne, Australia, recorded in this issue, in honour of the visit of H.M. Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, was rung as Her Majesty drove from Government House to the Royal Ball in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Mrs. Mary Jane Burton gave 100 pennies to launch the £100,000 Hexham Abbey Restoration Fund appeal, on condition that the Abbey bells were rung on her 100th birthday. On March 20th she listened at an open window at Hexham General Hospital as the promise was kept. 'The best thanks I could get,' was her comment. She also received a telegram from the Queen.

As a welcome to the new Suffragan Bishop of Middleton to the diocese of Manchester, a peal of Grandsire Caters was attempted at Manchester Cathedral on March 22nd. Unfortunately, it was lost in the last few minutes. The band included John Nelson, the 16-year-old son of the Bishop.

A group of young ringers of St. Andrew's Church, Weybread, Norfolk, collected £21 by ringing handbells at each house in the village, in order to reduce the repairs debt on the church.

A ring of church bells was blessed and hallowed by the Bishop of Fulham at St. Mary's Church, Rotterdam, on November 17th, 1957. After the blessing the bells rang out and played three leads of Grandsire Triples, states a report. Is anything known about these bells?

The conductor of the peal at Starston (Mr. Paul D. T. Cattermole) on March 22nd found this, his 13th peal, somewhat elusive. Several attempts in the past month had been lost for reasons from miscalling to the unravelling of the sally and disintegration of a rope.

Latest addition to the list of brides who rang in their wedding gowns is Miss Margaret Wilson, of Thorne, Yorks. After her wedding on March 22nd she, with the bridegroom (Clifford Leask) and the bridegroom's father and brother, rang in a touch of Grandsire Triples on Thorne bells.

By ringing a peal at Padworth, Berks, on March 22nd, Mr. A. Patrick Cannon has now rung peals in 500 different towers. He is the fifth ringer to reach this total and the youngest. By a coincidence it was rung on the 28th anniversary of his first quarter peal at Combe Florey, Somerset. He would like to thank all his many friends who have helped him to reach this total.

MRS. PHYLLIS POOLE: A MEMOIR

The tragic death on March 20th of Mrs. Phyllis Poole brought to a close a wonderful ringing career. She was undoubtedly the outstanding lady ringer of her generation, and her passing is a great loss to the Exercise.

Phyllis, as she was always affectionately called, commenced to ring during the first world war at St. Augustine's, Woodston, Huntingdonshire, when volunteers were called for to fill the places of male ringers who were engaged on sterner duties. For a time, she had as tutor and guide the late Rupert Richardson, and was quick to make progress. Her first peal—Bob Minor—was rung at Woodston on May 10th, 1919. During the next three years she took part in a further 26 peals on six, eight and ten bells, two of the latter being conducted by the late Rev. H. Law James.

About this time forces were at work which were to mould the pattern of her future life. On May 13th, 1922, at Isham, Northants, she took part in the first peal of Minor to be rung by an entirely ladies band. On that day also the ringers of St. Martin's, Leicester, held their annual outing in Northamptonshire. The parties chanced to meet in the evening and spent a pleasant hour together. During the course of conversation Phyllis mentioned that she had the desire to ring some of the more advanced methods, but that the opportunity either for practice or peals did not exist in her district. She was told to study Cambridge and Superlative and that later an opportunity would be found for her; and on November 18th, 1922, she came to Kibworth, Leicestershire, for her first attempt at Cambridge Surprise. Any doubts that may have existed about her ability to accomplish the task she had set herself were speedily dispelled. She rang like a veteran and came through with colours flying. The youth who conducted the peal was later to take her for his bride.

A fortnight later she rang Superlative at Loughborough Foundry, again without previous practice, and though the bells were much lighter and the tempo of the ringing much faster than what she was accustomed to, she again did her ringing extremely well. Having shown what she could do and what stuff she was made of, she was frequently asked to ring in further peals. With her smiling face and cheery manner she was always very welcome. On two occasions she took part in two Surprise peals in the course of an afternoon—no mean feat for a young lady! In addition to the ringing she was doing with the Leicester ringers, she still rang many peals in other parts.

On Monday, October 24th, 1927, she was married to Harold J. Poole, and came to make her home amongst us at Leicester and became a member of the Cathedral band. In due course she presented us with her daughter, Jill, and for this gift we are greatly in her debt. Peals continued to come until the war stopped all ringing. After the war she took part in the great spate of peals that came from the Leicestershire towers at this time. Then came the greatest tragedy of her life, when her husband was so cruelly taken from her. After a time she continued ringing, and during the past two years few indeed have been the issues of 'The Ringing World' that did not have her name at least once in the peals columns.

She was a member of 25 Associations and had rung peals in many of the English counties, over the borders of Scotland and Wales, and across the sea in Ireland. She had taken part in 677 peals on all numbers, her last being Double Norwich at the Bell Foundry the evening before her death.

She was a devout churchwoman, a regular attender at service ringing, practices and meetings, and always ready to give a helping hand in cases of sickness and distress. She was a great and lovable woman, and a multitude of hearts will be the sadder for her passing. Saddest of all will be the three that she has left at home—Jill, Peter and lovely little Rosemary. The sympathy of ringers throughout the world will be with them in the irreparable loss they have sustained.

As these notes were being penned the bells that Phyllis loved were sounding forth a last farewell, and whilst listening for a while the following lines, written by the late Wm. Willson many years ago, came to mind:—

'The bells in cadence sweet,
Pour muffled music down;
A ringer's requiem they beat,
Their dirge a message oft repeat:
After the Cross—the Crown.'

HARRY BROUGHTON.

THE FUNERAL

The Cathedral Church of St. Martin was almost filled by friends from far and near at the funeral service on Tuesday, March 25th. The choir led the singing of Psalm 23. The hymn, 'Blessed are the pure in heart,' Phyllis' favourite, was sung, and finally the Nunc Dimittis. Cremation followed at the Gilroes Crematorium.

There were no flowers, by request, with the exception of a beautiful cross of lilies from Jill and Peter, and also a posy from her granddaughter, Rosemary.

Among the many mourners were Mr. Paul L. Taylor (president, Leicester Diocesan Guild), Mr. P. A. Corby and Mr. E. C. Turner (vice-presidents), Mrs. Corby, Mrs. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Milner (Southall), Mr. A. H. Pulling (Guildford), Mr. R. Edwards (Birmingham), Mr. and Mrs. A. Beamish (Chilvers Coton), Mr. T. J. Lock (president, Ladies' Guild), Mrs. A. Richardson and Mrs. Wayman (Surfleet), Mr. J. Cotton (Midland Counties Guild), Mr. Herrick B. Bowley (head of the Cathedral ringers).

In the evening an in memoriam peal of Stedman Cinques with the bells half-muffled was rung on the St. Martin's Cathedral bells, conducted by Mr. Herrick B. Bowley.

OBITUARY

MR. C. W. SMITH

The death in Addenbrooks Hospital, Cambridge, on March 20th, of Mr. Charles William Smith, at the age of 73 years, was a great shock to his fellow members at Great St. Mary, Cambridge. It was only three weeks previously that he had rung 350 Grandsire Triples for Evensong. Until retirement, he was a railway clerk.

Mr. Smith's early years were spent at Pinchbeck, Lincolnshire, where he did much ringing in the company of such stalwarts as the Rev. H. Law James and Rupert Richardson. Moving to Cambridge in the '20s, he joined the Cambridge Youths in 1927 and was Ringing Master for some years.

He would stand in an occasional peal, but was not interested in ringing peals just to pile up the number. It is thought that he had rung about 80 peals, and amongst them were Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Caters, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise Major and Court Bob Royal. Some of these peals he conducted included Holt's Original and Grandsire Caters.

As a last tribute to him, 1,344 Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled at Great St. Mary's by P. Latchford 1, P. H. Pigg 2, C. M. P. Johnson 3, E. G. Hibbins 4, T. R. Dennis 5, D. Latchford 6, J. W. R. Quinney (conductor) 7, H. F. Brown 8.

The funeral service, followed by cremation, was held at St. John's Church. The congregation included several railwaymen and the following members of the Cambridge Youths: Messrs. A. T. Chenery, H. F. Brown, D. Stubbings, T. R. Dennis, J. W. R. Quinney and E. G. Hibbins. E. G. H.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

Preliminary Notice

The second session of the 23rd Council (61st Annual Meeting) will be held on Whitsun Tuesday, May 27th, 1958, in the Synod Hall, Dublin, by kind permission of His Grace the Lord Archbishop of Dublin.

In accordance with Rule 13, notices of motion, signed by two members of the Council, must be received by the Secretary not less than six weeks previous to the meeting, i.e., by April 15th, 1958. E. A. BARNETT,
Hon. Secretary.

Attempt At Record Length Of Doubles

Dear Sir, — An attempt will be made on Easter Monday, April 7th, to exceed the 10,080 changes of Doubles rung at Whaplode, Lincs, on February 27th, 1775, in 7 hours 26 minutes. It is hoped to commence at 9 a.m. with an all-local band at St. Nicholas', Marston, Oxford.—Yours, etc., ALEC GAMMON.
Marston, Oxford.

'Booklet For Beginners'

Dear Sir,—The seventh impression of the above has now been sold out. Following a recent meeting of the committee appointed by the Central Council to prepare a new book for beginners, the Council will be asked at Whitsun to agree to print, and sell at a low price, a book which will include material from my booklet.

In that event I shall not prepare another edition of the booklet; so with the hope that the Exercise will give equal support to the Council's book, when available, may I thank all those whose encouragement and appreciation have helped me to produce and sell well over 3,000 copies of the booket?—Yours, etc.,
WILFRID G. WILSON.
Alperton, Wembley.

MR. JOSEPH HARDCASTLE

The death of Mr. Joe Hardcastle, at 70, Beechwood Road, Wibsey, Bradford, on March 13th, broke a link in the ringing family which commenced in the 18th century, for his father and grandfather were prominent ringers. Joe was in his 88th year, and had been a member of the Bradford Cathedral company for over 60 years and secretary of the company for 40 years. He joined the Yorkshire Association in 1887, and rang his first peal in the same year—his total of peals being 66 (five conducted).

In 1934 he was a member of the band which toured Australia and New Zealand on the occasion of the ringing centenary. He had been confined to his house for several years, after losing a leg in an accident, but maintained a keen interest in all ringing activities.

The funeral service at the Cathedral on March 18th was taken by the Succentor (Rev. Graeme Spiers), and the Provost (Very Rev. J. R. Tiarks) paid a tribute to the late Mr. Hardcastle for his very outstanding work in his long association with the Church. At the funeral service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by P. J. Johnson, W. Barton, L. W. G. Morris and S. Longbottom.

The Cathedral bells, half-muffled, were rung before and after the service. In the evening a quarter peal of Bob Major was rung with the bells half-muffled by the local company and Calverley ringers. Those taking part were Mrs. P. Dawson (first quarter peal) 1, Miss S. G. Schofield 2, Mrs. M. Evans 3, Mrs. H. B. Schofield 4, John Rhodes (first quarter) 5, S. L. Bailey (first quarter) 6, P. Dawson 7, E. H. Simpson (conductor) 8, H. B. Schofield tenor covering.

The bells were also rung muffled for service on Sunday, March 23rd. E. H. S.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

The annual meeting of the East Grinstead and District Guild was held at East Grinstead on March 8th, and ringing was enjoyed from 3 to 4.30, when the service was held. At this the Guild president (Rev. H. C. F. Copsey) officiated, and in the absence of the local organist Mr. S. Ponting deputised.

Tea was taken in the Clarendon Restaurant, but unfortunately the president had to leave immediately afterwards, so the chair was taken by Mr. E. J. Ladd. The main item was the election of officers, and this resulted in several changes. It had been suggested that a new president be elected, but as Mr. Copsey was showing some interest in the Guild, owing to the state of ringing at East Grinstead, he was re-elected.

The chairman announced that he was not standing for re-election as he thought it only fair that the officers' jobs should be changed often, to give the younger members a chance. He said that this did not mean that he would take less interest in the Guild. He proposed that the vice-chairman (Mr. S. G. Ponting) should be elected. This was carried, and Mr. Ponting moved to the head of the table, and in his opening remarks paid tribute to the sterling work of Mr. Ladd who was a founder member of the Guild. Mr. B. V. Collison also supported the new chairman in his tribute. For the post of vice-chairman, one of the young members, Mr. E. Brunger, was elected.

As was known, Mr. Wellington, owing to health reasons, had to give up his treasurership, and Mr. C. Hancock was elected to be his successor. Mr. Ladd then spoke of Mr. Wellington's work for the Guild, and said that the accounts had been meticulously kept and that the finances had been ruled with an even sterner hand than the late Mr. Olliver's. The other changes were in the committee, which now consists of Messrs. E. J. Ladd, A. Relfe, E. Jenner and G. Fry.

The summer outing was discussed, and a route taking in both towers at Portsmouth was chosen. The date fixed was September 13th.

The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks, especially to Miss Shepherd, who is now the sole link between the Guild and East Grinstead tower.

THORNE RINGERS' WEDDING

A wedding of special interest to the ringers at Thorne, Yorks, was held on March 22nd at St. Nicholas' Church between Margaret Wilson and Clifford Leask. The bride and bridegroom and the bridegroom's father and brother are regular ringers at Thorne. The large congregation included members of the Thorne Girl Guides, of which the bride is a member. As the happy couple left the church, 672 well-struck changes of Grandsire Triples were rung by E. C. Stacey 1, John Thorley 2, F. A. Staveley 3, L. M. Woodhead 4, E. Short 5, H. Wagstaff 6, C. Thorley (conductor) 7, E. Thorley (8).

During the reception, 120 Grandsire Doubles were rung on handbells by John Thorley 1-2, James Thorley 3-4, C. Thorley 5-6. Following tea the bride and bridegroom and bridegroom's father and brother rang in a short touch of Grandsire Triples, following which other ringing friends rang various methods, concluding the day with a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples.

NELSON'S BELL AT JAMAICA

Two bells, hung for swinging, stand one on each side of a pleasant drive lined with palm trees leading to a beautiful church set amidst tropical trees and vivid flowers. These bells you will find outside the Garrison Church—a pleasant place in park-like surroundings set against a colourful background of mountains—at Up Park Camp, Kingston, in Jamaica.

One of these bells is of considerable historic interest and bears the following inscription: 'JAFFANA PATNAM. ANNO 1763.' Nelson on one of his journeys is reputed to have acquired this bell from an Indian port. It is more than likely that it was stolen by some of his men when on shore leave there. The bell was brought to Port Royal, near Kingston, where Nelson had it hung outside his house. There it remained until 1937 when Padre Tovey had the bell moved to Up Park Camp, where it has since called thousands of soldiers to worship. Last year this ancient bell was found to be cracked, but fortunately it was decided that it should be preserved.

Now on the other other side of the drive there is a new bell, cast by Messrs. John Taylor, of Loughborough, which was hung only a few months ago.

To mark the end of 1957 and the beginning of 1958, both of these bells were rung. How appropriate the flat, tuneless thud of the old, and the melodious and musical sound of the new heralding what it is hoped will be a more happy and prosperous year for us all.

WHITBY, YORKS.—On Mar. 6th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: J. Hodgson 1, Miss K. Mallinson 2, J. R. Waller 3, D. Elwick (cond.) 4, G. W. White 5, H. Waters 6, S. R. Elwick 7, F. Lamerton 8. A compliment to Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Elwick on the occasion of their silver wedding.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Despite the uncertain weather conditions and icy winds, nearly 40 ringers from places as far distant as Spalding, Great Yarmouth, Leiston, Ipswich and Needham Market attended a general meeting of the Suffolk Guild at Beccles on March 22nd.

Ringing took place on this grand ring of ten during the afternoon and evening, and included Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Bob Royal and Kent T.B. Royal, Double Norwich, Cambridge Surprise and Superlative Surprise Major. The service was conducted by the Rector (Canon W. R. F. Hares), who extended a warm welcome to the members. A bountiful tea was served by the local ladies in the Church Hall.

At the following business meeting the Rector presided, supported by the general secretary, Mr. E. R. Goate (District secretary) and Messrs. R. Clouston, L. Last and R. Lester (committee members). The secretary reported that at a recent committee meeting the question of Central Council representatives' expenses was discussed. As there was nothing laid down concerning this he proposed the following rule be added: 'That the secretary be authorised to pay on request 2nd class return railway fare together with a maximum of two nights' hotel expenses to each representative attending, provided that the total indebtedness of the Guild for all representatives does not exceed £20 in any one year.' This was seconded by Mr. Clouston, and it was agreed that it be submitted to the next general meeting for confirmation. It was pointed out that this would not be operative until the 1959 Central Council meeting.

Two new members were elected, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Rector, organist, verger, the ladies and Mr. Goate for the excellent arrangements. Handbells were then rung to Grandsire Caters and Triples before returning to the tower.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The annual meeting of the West Midlands Branch was held at Claines, Worcs, on March 8th, and although it was very cold and snowy there was a good attendance. A short service was conducted by the curate, followed by tea in the schoolroom, where the company was entertained to some excellent tune-ringing on handbells, which was enjoyed by all.

The business meeting was then held, at which Miss Evelyn Fletcher was elected vice-president and Mrs. Molly Barron secretary and treasurer. Miss Frances Elizabeth Haynes, born on February 14th, 1958, was created an honorary member of the Guild.

MUSIC IN BELLRINGING

Dear Sir,—Mr. Painter's articles on 'The Music in Bellringing' were most interesting and in spite of the many inaccuracies and misstatements contained therein, are a useful contribution to the subject. As some of these statements are made the basis of his arguments against 6 5's, I should be pleased in the interests of truthfulness to be allowed to correct him where he has gone wrong and put him right where he has gone astray.

'These progressions are not tonic-supertonic, etc., etc.' It would be interesting to discover since when the 3rd of the submediant has not been the tonic or the 5th of the dominant not the supertonic, or how long it has been necessary when harmonising a melody to make each melody note the root of a chord of which it is part. These are only not tonic-supertonic progressions of they form part of another key.

'The submediant chord is the relative minor.' It most certainly is not, unless a modulation has been made thereto, and as in the examples quoted the phrases are in the tonic key, the words in parentheses are therefore not only irrelevant but misleading.

'Tonic-supertonic progressions are as common as blackberries in music.'

I feel inclined to take this ambiguous statement literally! But contrary to the intended meaning, tonic-supertonic progressions at a half-cadence are far from frequent and for every one Mr. Painter discovers he will find, I should say, at least a dozen of the normal half-cadence progressions. This, however, I pointed out in my original article.

'Anacrusis.' Here the term is incorrectly used (or understood). An anacrusis is the unaccented beginning of a musical phrase and does not occur at a cadence. It is, in fact, almost equivalent to its poetic counterpart. (Mr. Painter should be wary of showing this part of his essay to his music teacher, or he is likely to receive a (metaphorical) rap on the knuckles.)

It rather surprised me that open-lead Minor ringing could be regarded as being accented in pairs beginning with a strong beat, with a final accent on the last note when the tenor is behind This means that in rounds the accents would fall: Strong, weak, strong, weak, strong, strong, which reels to and fro and staggers like a drunken man with two left legs. I should have thought that owing to the predominance and regular spacing of the tonic triad (2nd, 4th and tenor) the accent would have tended to fall on the second of each pair, the whole 12 blows being equivalent to a musical phrase that really begins with an anacrusis. A mental rhythm begun in rounds would, I imagine, tend to continue during the changes.

Of course this grouping is only, after all, a mental process, and it is interesting to note that while Mr. Painter, for some curious reason, prefers the above grouping, many will think of the accent as being on the second of the pair, and some, no doubt, think of the 12 blows as being continuous, with possibly a final accent made prominent by the pause.

Mr. W. F. Moreton, on the other hand, implies in his letter (page 95) that he separates the 12 blows into two groups of six, whilst, judging from some ringing that we sometimes hear, quite a few people have no sense of rhythm at all. Again it would be interesting to discover the reactions of other ringers.

So Mr. Painter disagrees with my suggestion about the implied flat seventh and even has doubts upon the implied modulation? This is a great pity as I consider this to be one of the most fascinating features about open-lead Minor ringing. However, let him, or anyone interested in this facet of our art, carry out the following experiment.

Ring the following touch of Westminster Surprise Minor:—

23456	42635	63542	56423
35264	— 42356	34625	62534
56342	25463	— 34256	23645
64523	56234	45362	— 23456

Now at any time when we have a prolonged period with the 3rd behind (at backstroke) there is a feeling of shifted key, but the sense of modulation is most acute with 6-3's or 4-3's, of which only the former occur in the above touch. In the sixth lead of the above the centre of gravity of the key can be felt to move from the tonic to the sub-dominant, as it starts off with 5-6 behind and finishes with 6-3's.

If, in this touch, 'Stand' is called at the end of the sixth lead the sense of modulation is, I contend, completely satisfied. Ask an unbiased and musical layman to hum a tune in the finishing key and I should be much surprised if he chose the home tonic. An even more conclusive result can be obtained by writing out the given lead (in staff notation, if necessary) and playing it over on the piano. At the end the two perfect cadences could be played, using the dominant 7th chord followed by the tonic in both cases to secure equality of treatment, and comparing the results.

If, at the end of these simple experiments, Mr. Painter still has his doubts, I can do nothing more than feel sorry for him! To much of the remainder of his articles I am in agreement and am relieved to discover that, at any rate, there is at least one more intelligent person who finds 8-7's (6-5's in Minor) no more unmusical than 8-2's or 8-4's. It perhaps, after all, boils down, as Mr. Painter points out, to personal taste, and so we may find in future a little less fuss made about 6-5's at backstroke.—Yours sincerely,

H. CHANT.

MUSIC IN BELLRINGING

Mr. Desmond Painter desires us to correct the following errors in his articles 'Music in Bellringing.'

Page 141, column 1, paragraph 5: 'Taken in its wider and most literal sense' should read: 'Taken at its widest and most literal senses.'

Page 141, column 3, second footnote: The second sentence should be reworded to read: 'Thus in the major chord C-E-G, C (the tonic note) is the root, E (the mediant note) is an interval of a third above the root and is known as the third of the chord, and G (the dominant note) is an interval of a fifth above the root and is known as the fifth of the chord.'

Page 160, column 1, paragraph 4: For 'inversion' read 'inversions'; for 'tone' read 'tonic.'

Page 176, column 1, paragraph 3: For 'changes with the tenor last are far more musical than those with the tenor turned in' read 'changes with the tenor last are more musical . . . .'

LONG PEALS OF MINOR

Dear Sir,—Mr. E. A. Barnett's remarks and conclusions in connection with attempts for long peals of Minor which may fail in the interior of the eighth or a later extent are, I fear, not logically connected.

He states correctly that, according to the Central Council rules, a peal must begin and end with rounds, but goes on to suggest, apparently consequentially, that rounds must appear at the conclusion of the ringing.

In the theoretical (but by no means unlikely) eventuality which I have in mind, it is, however, clear that the 'peal' and the 'ringing' would not be synonymous terms. Although the ringing as a whole might well conclude chaotically, the 'peal' (i.e., that part of the total ringing which would be published in 'The Ringing World' as such) would undoubtedly have ended in rounds at the conclusion of the last-published extent.

It would therefore appear that, with the rules in their present form, a peal of the type under consideration would fall within them in exactly the same way as would any normal peal in which the ringing ended in the customary well-ordered fashion.—Yours sincerely,

ROBIN G. LEALE.

STRIKING IN ODD PLACES

Dear Sir,—I was rather surprised to see Mrs. Price's letter in 'The Ringing World' for March 14th, and its correction and elaboration in the issue of March 21st. I should be very interested to know whether many of your readers find that the emphasis in ringing falls naturally on the even places of a change. Mrs. Price quotes a nursery rhyme in support of her argument: there is, of course, also that unaccountably popular hymn we hear so often at ringers' services, in which the first and third lines are representations of rounds and Queens. The latter has always seemed to me to exemplify exactly the way bells do not naturally sound, but perhaps I am alone in this.

As for the 'hard work' in putting the emphasis on the odd places, may I invite your readers while at their singing practice to try stressing the even places in, say, Tittums, Queens on six or ten, or the favourite change of a member of the Cambridge University Guild, 12764358? —Yours faithfully,

DESMOND PAINTER.

Harpenden.

'OLD FAITHFULS'

Dear Sir,—In 'Fallen by the Wayside,' the front page article of March 14th, bellringers are called the unseen workers. Certainly they are, but what about the few people who regularly either climb over or crawl under the bells to grease and tighten and splice ropes and replace all necessary bits and pieces, so that the bells are ready for the 'call to service' on Sundays and Holy Days? These are the 'Old Faithfuls.' I wonder how many of the young ringers of today can splice a rope?

Also, I agree with A. H. Pulling in 'Tower Discipline' of March 7th. I think today there is more noise sometimes from tongues than bells. Bring back the tower discipline, especially when the bells are rung from the balcony of the church.—Yours, etc.,

REPORT AS TO MEMBERSHIP

The Hon. Secretary reported that 56 Associations were affiliated entitled to 154 members. The Rules provided for 24 Honorary Members and there were 6 Life Members, making a total membership of 184. There were vacancies for two Representative and seven Honorary Members. All affiliation fees had been paid with the exception of those of the North Wales Association.

APOLOGIES FOR ABSENCE

Apologies were received from Messrs. F. Ainsley, C. A. Bassett, G. Benfield, P. Border, P. A. F. Chalk, J. W. Clarke, P. Crook, G. H. Cross, F. Dunkerley, J. T. Dyke, J. P. Fidler, N. Golden, C. H. Hawkins, J. E. Hobbs, P. J. Johnson, G. I. Lewis, J. E. Lilley, R. B. Meadows, D. H. B. Millward, A. Mould, T. G. Myers, G. E. Oliver, W. N. Park, F. W. Perrens, A. J. Pitman, F. W. Rogers, Miss M. E. Snowdon, Mrs. P. J. Steeples, Messrs. A. Walker, J. J. Webb and R. St. C. Wilson.

PRESENTATION OF NEW MEMBERS TO THE PRESIDENT

The following were presented: Messrs. W. Allman (Chester), D. Beacham (Worcestershire and Districts), F. H. Bennett (Shropshire), E. C. Birkett (Police), F. T. Blagrove (Middlesex), W. Boucher (Truro), L. G. Brett and K. G. Brown (Suffolk), W. Butler (Oxford Diocesan), A. P. Cannon (Surrey), G. W. Critchley (Herts), J. P. Davis (Salisbury), J. G. Gipson (Ely), P. M. J. Gray (New South Wales), G. W. Hughes (Stafford Archdeaconry), A. J. Martin (Chester), J. S. Mason (College Youths), J. R. Mayne (Middlesex), G. S. Morris (Salisbury), J. L. Morris (Cumberlands), D. H. Niblett (Oxford University), E. G. Orland (Peterborough), R. Overy (Sussex), Rev. A. S. Roberts (Truro) and W. Williams (College Youths).

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

PRESIDENT: Mr. Frederick Sharpe was elected on the proposition of Mr. A. A. Hughes, seconded by Mr. T. J. Lock.

Mr. Sharpe thanked the members for electing him as President and expressed the Council's deep gratitude to the retiring President, Mr. E. H. Lewis, for his great services to the Council both as President since 1930 and as a member since 1908. A presentation was made to Mr. Lewis on behalf of the members by Mr. A. A. Hughes.

VICE-PRESIDENT: As the appropriate rule had not been amended, this was not proceeded with.

HON. SECRETARY AND TREASURER: Mr. E. A. Barnett was re-elected on the proposition of Mr. E. H. Lewis, seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes.

HON. LIBRARIAN: No nomination had been received. Mr. F. Sharpe kindly agreed to act as Librarian for a further twelve months.

ELECTION OF HONORARY MEMBERS

The Standing Committee recommended the re-election of the following retiring members: The Earl of Shaftesbury, Messrs. J. T. Dyke, J. P. Fidler, A. A. Hughes, D. Hughes, Mrs. C. C. Marshall, Messrs. C. W. Roberts, E. C. Shepherd, P. L. Taylor and A. Walker.

The Committee also recommended the election of Messrs. R. F. B. Speed, L. Stilwell and J. Willis.

The recommendations were adopted on the proposition of Mr. R. S. Anderson, seconded by Mr. T. J. Lock.

Messrs. A. H. Pulling, proposed by Mr. G. Pullinger, seconded by Mr. W. Ayre, and T. W. White, proposed by Mr. W. H. Viggers, seconded by Mr. A. D. Barker, were also elected.

Messrs. A. York-Bramble, proposed by Mr. H. Miles, seconded by Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher, and R. M. Clouston, proposed by Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher, seconded by Mr. J. T. Dunwoody, were not elected.

ELECTION OF HONORARY AUDITORS

Messrs. A. A. Hughes and F. W. Perrens were re-elected on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs.

LOSS OF MEMBERS THROUGH DEATH

The President reported the death of the following members and past members of the Council, the assembly standing in silence: Mr. T. G. Bartlett (Devon), Rev. L. S. Clark and Mr. R. Narborough (Peterborough Diocesan), Rev. F. Ll. Edwards and Mr. J. S. Rumming (Salisbury Diocesan), Mr. W. Gordon (Chester Diocesan), Rev. C. W. H. Griffiths (Bath and Wells Diocesan), Mr. C. H. Harding (Bedfordshire), Rev. N. E. Hope and Mr. F. G. May (Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan), Messrs. H. J. Mansfield (Essex), F. O. Moule (Norwich Diocesan), N. E. Snow (North Lincolnshire), E. C. S. Turner (Honorary and Middlesex County), R. Whittington (Guildford Diocesan) and E. A. Young (London County, Honorary and Life).

Tributes were paid to the memory of Mr. E. C. S. Turner, the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards and Mr. E. A. Young.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING

The Minutes as published in 'The Ringing World' of April 19th, 1957, and circulated to members, were adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. C. K. Lewis.

REPORTS

These have been published in 'The Ringing World' as shown:—

HON. SECRETARY AND TREASURER
(June 21st, 1957, page 399)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes.

HON. LIBRARIAN
(June 21st, 1957, page 399)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. F. Sharpe, seconded by Mr. A. B. Peck.

GENERAL ACCOUNTS
(June 21st, 1957, page 399)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes.

TRUSTEES OF THE CARTER RINGING MACHINE
(June 21st, 1957, pages 399 and 400)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. G. W. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs. It was agreed to take advantage of an offer by Mr. Douglas Hughes to publish a descriptive booklet of the machine, with photographs.

STANDING COMMITTEE
The Hon. Secretary reported that a sub-committee consisting of the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, Mr. C. K. Lewis and Mr. E. C. Shepherd had been appointed to consider the practicability of compiling a history of change-ringing. The Committee had also accepted an offer by Mrs. W. D. Turner to hand over for completion and publication the papers relating to a revision which was being undertaken by the late Mr. Ernest Turner of Mr. J. A. Trollope's book 'Stedman.'

The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. J. F. Smallwood.

(a) HANDBOOK SUB-COMMITTEE
(June 21st, 1957, page 400)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. C. K. Lewis.

(b) CLEMENT GLENN BEQUEST COMMITTEE
The Hon. Secretary stated that the Standing Committee had considered the report but recommended instead that the money should be invested as a whole under the name 'Clement Glenn Bequest' and that the income and capital should be applied as necessary to such uses as may be decided.

The Standing Committee's recommendation was adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead.

'THE RINGING WORLD' ACCOUNTS
Adopted, subject to audit, on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs.

'THE RINGING WORLD' COMMITTEE
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. J. F. Smallwood, seconded by Mrs. P. J. Staniforth. The Committee (Messrs. J. F. Smallwood, F. I. Hairs, J. T. Dyke and R. S. Anderson) were reappointed.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE
(June 28th, 1957, page 416)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. C. Shepherd, seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes. The Committee (Messrs. E. C. Shepherd and F. E. Dukes) were reappointed.

BROADCASTING AND TELEVISION COMMITTEE
(June 28th, 1957, page 415)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. H. J. Sanger, seconded by Mr. J. T. Dunwoody. The Committee (Messrs. H. J. Sanger, J. T. Dunwoody, G. E. Fearn, A. A. Hughes and the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow) were reappointed.

BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE
(June 28th, 1957, page 418)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. A. C. Hazelden, seconded by Mr. W. H. Viggers. The Committee (Messrs. A. C. Hazelden, W. H. Viggers, L. Stilwell and J. Willis) were reappointed.

PEAL BOARDS COMMITTEE
(June 28th, 1957, page 416)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. Ayre, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs. The Committee (Messrs. J. W. Clarke, W. Ayre and J. P. Fidler) were reappointed.

'BEGINNERS HANDBOOK' COMMITTEE
(June 28th, 1957, page 418)
Adopted on the proposition of Miss M. R. Cross, seconded by Mr. W. G. Wilson. The Committee were empowered to include in the book such photographs and sketches as they considered necessary. It was agreed to circulate copies of the draft to the Standing Committee for comment. The Committee (Miss M. R. Cross, Messrs. J. T. Dyke, R. F. B. Speed and W. G. Wilson) were reappointed.

METHODS COMMITTEE
Adopted on the proposition of the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, seconded by Mr. C. K. Lewis. The Committee (Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, Messrs. F. N. Golden, C. H. Kippin and C. K. Lewis) were reappointed.

PEAL ANALYSIS COMMITTEE
(June 28th, 1957, page 415)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. Ayre, seconded by Mr. H. Miles. The Committee (Messrs. W. Ayre, H. Miles and the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead) were reappointed.

PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE
(June 28th, 1957, page 411)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. C. W. Roberts, seconded by Mr. W. E. Critchley. Messrs. C. W. Roberts, A. J. Pitman and W. E. Critchley were reappointed with Mr. Critchley as convener. Mr. G. E. Fearn was added to the Committee on the proposition of Mr. J. Freeman, seconded by Mr. W. Ayre.

RECORDS COMMITTEE
Adopted on the proposition of Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, seconded by Mrs. C. C. Marshall. The President emphasised the need for the figures of new methods, and the composition, to be sent to the Committee. Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. Marshall were reappointed.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE
(June 28th, 1957, page 417)
Adopted on the proposition of Mr. F. Sharpe, seconded by Mr. E. H. Lewis. The Committee (Messrs. F. Sharpe, J. W. Clarke, F. E. Collins, J. Freeman, E. H. Lewis and W. A. Osborn) were reappointed, with the addition of the Rev. J. G. M. Scott.

REAPPOINTMENT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE
The President announced the names of the ex-officio members: Messrs. F. Sharpe, E. A. Barnett, E. H. Lewis, G. W. Fletcher, A. A. Hughes, F. W. Perrens and all conveners of committees.

As the result of a ballot the following were elected to the Committee: Messrs. R. S. Anderson, W. B. Cartwright, P. A. Corby, F. E. Dukes, J. T. Dyke, J. Freeman, F. I. Hairs, C. K. Lewis, T. J. Lock, A. H. Pulling, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow and Mr. A. Walker.

ALTERATION OF RULES
On the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. R. S. Anderson, the Rules were amended as follows:—

(a) Rule 9 (Election of Officers), by inserting the words 'Vice-President' between the words 'President' and 'Hon. Secretary' where they occur.

(b) Rule 11 (Committees), Clause (ii) (a), by adding at the end the words 'and the Vice-President for the time being.'

(c) Rule 14 (Procedure at Meetings), by inserting the words 'or Vice-President' after the word 'President' where it occurs.'

MOTIONS
(a) Proposed by Mr. P. A. Corby, seconded by Mr. J. T. Dunwoody, and carried:—

'That this Council as the representative assembly of all change-ringing associations deprecates the proposed introduction of academic titles for ringers, particularly by a body which is not recognised by or affiliated to the Council.'

(b) Proposed by Mr. P. N. Bond, seconded by Mr. F. E. Hawthorne:—

'That this Council, while appreciating the good intentions of the organisers, considers that the so-called College of Campanology is unlikely to prove of any service to the furtherance of the art of change-ringing; and therefore that no form of official recognition whatever be accorded to the organisation. In addition, valuable space in the Council's official organ, "The Ringing World," should not be wasted by the publication of any further "College Manuals," the Exercise being already well supplied with instruction manuals.'

After discussion the Council moved to the next item on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes.

(c) Proposed by Mr. A. C. Hazelden, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs:—

'That the attention of the responsible Electrical or Ecclesiastical Authority be drawn to the dangerous practice of permitting bell chamber, ringing room and staircase lights to be controlled from the main switch box by one master switch; that in cases where such a state of affairs exists the authority be asked to fix cautions against switching off without due investigation.'

After discussion, it was agreed that a 'Warning' card should be printed for distribution.

(d) Proposed by Mr. A. D. Barker, seconded by Mr. W. Butler, and carried:—

'That this Council deplores the change of name of a standard method in "The Ringing World" and declares that in its view "Bob" is a general term for a class of methods and should not be substituted for the "Plain Bob" which indicates a particular method in that class.'

PLACE OF NEXT MEETING
Invitations had been received from the Irish Association and jointly from the Oxford Society and the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Ireland was chosen by 59 votes to 51.

VOTES OF THANKS
A vote of thanks to Mr. E. H. Lewis, Mr. F. Sharpe, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett and Mr. T. W. White was proposed by Mr. F. E. Dukes, seconded by Mr. P. A. Corby, and carried.

On the motion of the President, the thanks of the Council were expressed to the Lord Mayor of Chelmsford, the Lord Bishop of Chelmsford and the Master of the Essex Association (Mr. R. C. Heazel) for their welcome; to the Provost for opening the meeting with prayer and for officiating at Holy Communion that morning: to Messrs. F. V. Gant, A. H. Everett and other members of the Essex Association for local arrangements; to Miss H. G. Snowden for peal and tour arrangements; and to local incumbents and towerkeepers for the use of their bells.

After the meeting, the members were the guests of the Essex Association at tea.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2454. Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, APRIL 11, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

RINGING AND THE ROYAL AIR FORCE

ATTENTION over a wide field will no doubt be re-awakened by the reader's letter in last week's issue on this matter. In this connection the following information, taken from the writer's records, may be of interest.

On October 29th, 1948, Mr. Eric A. Dench put a notice in "The Ringing World" as to a proposed R.A.F. Society of Ringers. In March, 1949, he issued a circular to those responding, with suggestions for the formation of the society, the idea of which sprang from the R.A.F. Cranwell Society of Change Ringers, which had a membership of nine ringers, stationed at Cranwell at the time. In May he invited the writer to put forward further suggestions and to attend an inaugural meeting at Edmonton on June 4th, 1949.

At this meeting the Society was launched under the title of "R.A.F. Guild of Ringers." The writer declined the honour of its mastership, in favour of Mr. Dench, whose enterprise and leadership had earned him the position. Acting officers of the Society up to to that time were A/C Rogers, of Rotherham (Hon. Secretary), and A/C Manton, of Leicester (Hon. Treasurer), though whether these appointments were confirmed one's records do not show, but a committee was elected, and annual subscriptions of the order of 7s. 6d. were paid for membership. It was arranged to call a meeting of the committee in the near future to organise the Guild.

Shortly afterwards Pilot Officer Dench was posted to the Far East, and some time later, was tragically killed on active service.

Disappointingly, one never heard anything further of the Guild. However, in May, 1951, A/C Chapman, of R.A.F., Cardington, endeavoured to arrange a peal attempt by R.A.F. personnel, but apparently his difficulties were too great at the time.

In April, 1956, the Royal Air Forces Association (of which, as a life member, one has had the privilege of helping in its charitable work) suggested the writer should get into touch with Air Vice-Marshal Sir Cecil Bouchier, director of the appeal for the rehabilitation of St. Clement Danes' and its bells, as the Church of the Royal Air Force. As a participant in the only two peals that have been rung by serving officers of the Forces, one then ventured to put forward suggestions as to the ringing at this church of the R.A.F.

In a gracious letter of acknowledgment, Canon A. S. Giles, the Chaplain in Chief of the Royal Air Force, spoke 'with great interest' of being 'extremely grateful for the kind suggestions,' which included:—

(a) The ringing of touches at the dedication ceremony by R.A.F. personnel, past and present, who had contributed to the rehabilitation fund.

(b) Attempt for the first peal by present and past members of the Royal Air Forces.

(c) A revival of the 'R.A.F. Guild of Ringers,' centred in the R.A.F. church.

(d) An annual 'Remembrance Peal' on Battle of Britain Day, rung at St. Clement Danes' by present and/or past members of the Royal Air Forces.

Canon Giles intimated that he had received other similar suggestions, and that they would all be passed to a belfry master, whom they were going to appoint, and who, he was sure, would be getting in touch. As last week's correspondent recalls, it is now reported that Mr. E. A. Barnett, the well-known Secretary to the Central Council, 'is in charge of this tower,' so doubtless more of this most interesting matter will be heard before the dedication.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Congratulations to the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead on his appointment as Rural Dean of Southampton. Mr. Felstead has been Vicar of St. Michael's, Southampton, since 1946, and during his incumbency the congregation has raised nearly £12,000 for the fabric fund of the church. Mrs. Felstead is presiding member of the Mothers' Union for Southampton 'A' deanery, the largest M.U. group in the Winchester diocese.

Mr. Arthur Bason made a welcome return to peal ringing on March 29th, when he took part in a peal of Cambridge at Loddon.

The band who rang in the 70th birthday peal to 'Uncle John' Fowler at Cookham are grateful to him for his hospitality after the event.

Two boys of Rotherham Grammar School selected as their prizes 'Towers and Bells of Britain.'

The Twerton-on-Avon ringers, with Mr. T. Edwards, from Bristol, rang a quarter peal on March 16th to mark the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Bruten, of Ebbw Vale. Mrs. Bruten (Audrey Stephens) had been a great help to Twerton when living in Bath.

The five bells at Dickleburgh, Norfolk, are unsafe to ring. The P.C.C. hope to put them in order and add a sixth bell. To complete the work over £1,000 has to be raised. Since early February over £600 has been received, mainly by donations, but £11 came from salvage paper sales.

Mr. J. M. Page, of Hatfield, will shortly be moving to Carlisle to take up a senior appointment with the Cumberland County Council. He is an active member of the Herts County Association and the Society of Roving Ringers.

We regret to hear that Mr. Norman Mallett, of Exeter, is receiving medical treatment in hospital, after which he has been ordered a complete rest. This will prevent him from ringing for the greater part of the year.

A well-known Cheshire ringer, J. E. B., once made a statement in Devon that if ever a Yorkshire band rang a peal of Glasgow Surprise Major he would buy them 'pints all round.' Perhaps he might now forward the 'necessary.' Glasgow Surprise Major is regarded by some to be the most difficult method ever devised.

Apropos the recent peal of Cambridge at Acle, this was not the first peal of Surprise on the bells, for the first peal on the bells on April 12th, 1934, was of Cambridge.

The will of Mr. William Armley Wooler, of Great Hazeley, Oxon, a retired colliery surveyor, who was a ringer in the north of England some 30 years ago, has been proved at £12,598 gross (£12,526 net). He left £3,000 each to the Church of England Children's Society and the Ordination Candidates Exhibition Fund, and £2,000 to the British Empire Cancer Campaign.

When St. Paul's, Bedminster, was first consecrated, 'a triumphant peal of thanksgiving' was rung at St. Thomas', Bristol, on October 24th, 1831. One hundred years later, in 1931, a quarter peal celebrated the centenary, and now in 1958 another quarter peal at St. Thomas' marks the reconsecration of the rebuilt church of St. Paul, Bedminster. The new church has only one bell, which was cast by Mears and Stainbank recently (12 cwt. in F).

In connection with the end-of-term service of Chesterfield Grammar School and the Girls' High School, held at Chesterfield Parish Church on March 28th, the ten bells were rung, with one exception, by scholars from those two schools, the exception being an adult lady, Mrs. Elsie Silcock, who resides near the church and made up the band. The scholars are all regular service ringers at neighbouring churches, viz.: Clay Cross, Bolsover, Old Brampton and Chesterfield Parish Church.

ENGLAND HAS 42,319 RINGERS

CHURCH'S ESTIMATE FOR PROVINCES OF CANTERBURY AND YORK

SOME time ago the Central Board of Finance of the Church of England kindly agreed to include in their forms of inquiry about parochial statistics for the year 1956 a section relating to the number of ringers in a manpower census which they were undertaking of parishes in the provinces of Canterbury and York.

So far it has not been possible to total returns for more than 14 dioceses. This is largely due to the slowness with which the returns have been received and also to a high incidence of sickness among the small staff in the Statistical Unit.

'The average percentage of returns from both provinces of Canterbury and York,' writes Mr. R. F. Neuss, assistant secretary to the Central Board of Finance, 'is now almost 84, and we are now engaged on the work of tabulating the results. The questions relating to bell-ringers are, of course, only a small part of the comprehensive statistical inquiry undertaken for 1956, and it would not be practicable or economical to produce the statistics of bell-ringers separated from the 15,000 returns received.

'So far as I can judge, we shall not complete the scrutiny and tabulation of the results until the late summer. However, I have pleasure in sending you the results for the 14 dioceses we have completed. The table summarises all the figures which we have obtained from the parochial returns from the 14 dioceses, and estimated figures have been included for the churches for which no return was received.'

THE 14 DIOCESES

Salisbury Diocese: Males 1,707 (paid 128), females 351 (23); total 2,058.

Durham Diocese: Males 432 (paid 59), females 118 (8); total 550.

Chester Diocese: Males 775 (paid 356), females 201 (63); total 976.

Leicester Diocese: Males 1,031 (paid 78), females 267 (7); total 1,298.

The estimated totals for 43 dioceses in the Church of England, based on the figures for 14 dioceses, would be 42,319 ringers (33,595 males, 8,724 females).

Comparative figures are: 1939, 42,765; 1938, 44,980; 1937, 45,088; 1936, 45,255; 1931, 45,872; 1921, 49,084; 1916, 40,942; 1911, 49,372; 1906, 46,471; 1901, 38,545; 1896, 35,452.

Mr. E. A. Barnett writes: 'How far the total includes people who chime one solitary bell, for instance, one does not know; but possibly any of those who are included may serve to balance omissions caused by failure to render returns.

'I am sure ringers will be grateful to the Board of Finance for providing this comprehensive information.'

BELL YEAR AT OAKLEY, SUFFOLK

The year 1958 is Bell Year in the villages of Brome and Oakley, near Eye, and the united parish hopes to raise between £1,150 and £1,200 to put the six bells in Oakley Church in order.

The work proposed is to hang the bells in a steel frame to replace the present wooden one; all bells to be quarter turned, mounted on ball-bearings and retuned; the fourth bell, which is cracked, to be recast.

Three of the bells—the second, third and tenor—were cast by I. Goldsmith, of Redgrave, in 1711. The fifth is very old, dating from about 1400. The inscription is badly mutilated.

An order for the work has been placed with John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

Donations sent to the Rector (Rev. H. D. Tyson), The Rectory, Oakley, Diss, will be gratefully acknowledged.

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Ringers entering the University of Nottingham have always been few and far between since the foundations of a University College in the 1910's, and consequently it has become a tradition that intending University undergraduates should shun Nottingham. With the recent decline of ringing in Nottingham following the death of Clement Glenn, one would have suspected that even fewer ringers would grace Highfields, but fortunately exactly the opposite has happened. Over the past two sessions no fewer than 13 ringers have entered the University—no doubt poor misguided people who think that too much ringing makes one fail examinations! Eager to relieve Nottingham of the disgrace of being amongst the four 'ringerless' Universities, preparations were made, and the present Society emerged at the end of Christmas term.

On January 29th the inaugural meeting was held in order to ratify the constitution and to elect the officers. Mr. Paul Taylor, of bell-founding fame, was elected president, and amongst the vice-presidents was Mr. Fred Salter. Other officers were: Chairman, John Underwood; secretary, Roger Baldwin; treasurer, George A. Hurd; committee—David A. Gebbett, Jill Lepper, and 'Fresher' representative, Rosemary Clarke. The Union Executive Committee has granted the Society financial aid, but we have been told that the full grant will not be available unless we 'break sufficient bells'!

Activities this term have been quite successful, and membership has reached 20, 13 of whom can handle a bell, and the rest are learning. The first quarter and also the first peal (in seven Minor methods) have been scored, and it is hoped to ring our 8-bell peal before the end of the year. It has only been possible to hold four practice nights this term, and we are greatly indebted to Mr. Fred Salter and to the Vicar of St. Peter's for granting the use of St. Peter's bells for these practices.

Finally, would any graduate or past member of the University who is interested in joining the Society please write to: The Secretary, Bell-Ringing Society, Students' Union, University of Nottingham. R. B.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

SATURDAY, MAY 24TH

By kind invitation, a tour of Messrs. Guinness's Brewery, St. James's Street, Dublin, has been arranged. Those intending to avail themselves of this wonderful opportunity must arrive at the Brewery not later than 11 a.m. Tours commence at 10 a.m. for those arriving early in the day. Visitors arriving by air are advised to go direct to the Brewery. The managing director has kindly invited the visitors to lunch at the Brewery and requires numbers for same. Lunch will be at 12.30 p.m. Please notify Mr. F. E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath, by not later than April 19th.

SUNDAY, MAY 25TH

A 39-seater coach has been provisionally reserved for a tour of Glendalough (Garden of Ireland). Depart Headquarters at 1.30 p.m.; due back at about 8.30 p.m. Ringing at Arklow and Bray. Tea at Arklow. Inclusive charge about 12s. 6d. per head. Please notify Mr. Dukes as above, sending money with reservation.

MONDAY, MAY 26TH

Rail excursions to Cork and Limerick. See 'The Ringing World,' February 14th, for charges. Numbers limited, and preference will be given in order of application. Notify Mr. Dukes as above.

TUESDAY, MAY 27TH

Members and friends are invited to a reception by the Bord Failte Eireann after the Council Meeting. Notify Mr. Dukes as above.

Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch

A meeting of the Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch was held at Choadle on March 22nd, when in spite of a very cold day over 40 members and friends were present. The ring of eight bells was made good use of until service in church, conducted by the assistant curate, who gave the Branch a warm welcome to the church and parish. Tea was served in the near-by schools, where some difficulty was caused by more turning up than had sent names.

At the business meeting, which was held under the chairmanship of Mr. M. J. Pryor (vice-chairman) in the absence of the chairman who was indisposed, reference was made to the impending departure for South Wales of Mr. Pryor. Just tribute was paid to his unbounded enthusiasm and hard work at Marple, which has borne such amazing results. He is leaving behind a tower so manned with young men and women that few 6-bell towers could compete with it both for numbers and variety of ringing. It is to be hoped that in his new home he will be able to render similar assistance to the local band.

The following were elected members of the Guild: Barry, Stuart and Martin Jones, of Wilmslow, and Barry Hendry, non-resident. It was decided to write to Mrs. M. G. Beeston, widow of the late Rev. A. T. Beeston, conveying the good wishes of the Branch for her speedy recovery to health. C. H. L.

THOSE I REMEMBER

By ERNEST MORRIS

WHEN I got too big for my work as costing clerk in a leather factory I was sent out 'on the road,' and for a time did all the local calls and later was sent further afield. On one occasion I visited Bristol, which meant an overnight stay there. The late John A. Burford fixed up a peal of Stedman Caters for me at St. Stephen-the-Martyr's—that tall tower which (to me) seems top-heavy with the grand surmounting ornamental parapet. I rang the ninth to a quick peal conducted by the veteran Alf. E. Reeves, this being his 50th peal of Stedman Caters. The late Rev. Mr. Whitford rang, also the late Charles E. Jennings, that well-known Dorset enthusiast from Wyke Regis. Mr. Burford entertained me until midnight-train-time, and gave me several compositions of his of Cambridge Royal, of which I called two or three in later years.

'JAZZ ON CHURCH BELLS'

I had previously joined the Bristol and Gloucester Association when, after the 1918 Armistice, I was sent to Cheltenham to assist in the demobilisation of the Area Administrative R.A.S.C., of which I was a staff-sergeant. While there I rang regularly at the Parish Church with that fine ringer, the late William T. Pates, who called (the then) record long peals of Stedman and Grandsire Caters. I remember on one occasion on practice night trying to ring London Surprise on the top eight of the twelve—not a true octave, and they didn't know much about the method, and I knew less! Mr. Pates told me on the following Sunday that the churchwarden wanted to know what we were doing on Thursday. He got away with it by saying, 'You know the modern craze for jazz and syncopated music—we were trying to do this on the church bells'! On Sunday Mr. Pates would never ring anything but Stedman or Grandsire, which they could ring perfectly, and he delighted in calling the former with a lot of singles, and the latter with Holt's bob singles.

On one occasion I cycled against a terrific high wind to Tewkesbury, where I had the pleasure of ringing the tenor to a perfect peal of Grandsire Caters called by John Austin, the well-known Gloucester conductor. Mr. Austin was one of the 'old brigade,' a pioneer of the early days of Surprise ringing at Burton-on-Trent. When he went to Gloucester he joined the enthusiastic band at St. Michael's, which included the brothers E. Bankes and H. Law James. Mr. Austin conducted many Surprise and other peals in this district and was the first man ever to call a bob in Cambridge Maximus! In the Tewkesbury peal that well-known figure from Wales took part—John W. Jones. There were but ten bells at Tewkesbury at that time, and the ninth was rung by the veteran ex-Police Sergeant Williams, who—before starting—turned to me and said, 'Send them along, my lad.' I did, and it was one of my best peals.

On another occasion I cycled to Painswick and rang the eighth to 6,335 Grandsire Cinques in about 4¼ hours. I did not know they were going for above 5,000, but was told afterwards it was the half the 13,001 they were going for. After my demobilisation Mr. Wright (the conductor) wanted me to go for this length, but I had not settled down to civilian life, and had illness at home, so declined. Later still they went for the record length but lost it after attempts of five hours and nine hours, the tenor men giving up. Mr. James George declared he could ring it, so they fixed up (without me) and rang the peal in just under 12 hours. Unfortunately, on the publishing of the figures, it was found to be false.

TOOK HANDBELLS 'OVER THE TOP'

In this long false peal that eccentric Hinckley District ringer took part—E. Harry Stonely, a grand ringer who could ring and conduct any method up to London Surprise. Shortly after this time I met Harry in Hinckley—he was dressed in Boy Scout shorts, a khaki tunic, and a little boy's blue cap on his head! During the war he was a sergeant in the Royal Engineers, and had a small ring of handbells, which he took with him everywhere he went. He served overseas, and many times went 'over the top' in the front lines, but whatever happened, whether advance or rear action, Harry never left his bells behind whatever else had to be discarded. After his return home I had the pleasure of taking part in a peal of Stedman Caters on these handbells.

In my journeyings I went several times to London, and once wrote to the late Tom Coles asking if any practice on, I would like to stay late and join in. He replied there was a peal on at St. Mary Matfelon, Whitechapel, specially for William Pye to get one at this church, and I was welcome to be in it. As the usual preliminary trying out before the peal began, I noticed no one tried the tenor, so I asked Tom if anyone was ringing it and he said, 'No, not particular.' I tried it, set it back and hand—it was just right length, so I thought I'd have a nice easy job ringing it behind Stedman Triples.

A TENOR EXPERIENCE

William Pye was very late coming and as soon as he entered the belfry asked, 'Who is ringing the tenor?' Tom said, 'Ernest.' So he made no comment and took the seventh. I was wearing a stiff starched collar with hickey-bow, and never even took my waistcoat off or rolled up my sleeves!

Off we started and all went well for about a quarter of an hour, when down went W. Pye's bell—and mine followed! I got it back all right in a couple of blows. Then all plain sailing for a while when down went the seventh and my bell did likewise!! I thought if this happened many times I should not be able to manage it. I noticed one of the ringers' watches hung on the wall every now and then swing like a pendulum! I had a rare job and at the last quarter (it was Davies' transposition) Tom Coles, on the treble, said, 'Are you all right, Ernest?' I was so far gone that I could only nod, but, determined to do or die, I counted every time the seventh went slow and quick, saying to myself, 'One more—one less.' I stuck to it and finished like a wet rag—my stiff collar was like a dishcloth.

It was a standing joke for years after. Tom Coles' brother, Albert, whom I call the 'land agent'—you tell them why, Bert!) told me the tower was on a nodding acquaintance with the shops opposite! The bells originally were in a good, square tower, but on the church being enlarged this present tower of brick and stone with a two-faced clock hanging over the pavement, was not really big enough to carry the bells. The seventh and tenor could not swing clear of their frames, so they built up the bearings on blocks over and above the frame. Consequently when they swung right over they were right above it. Bert told me that every time a train went by on the underground railway beneath the church, it 'took it along with it'! In the great blitz this church was utterly destroyed, and the bells are no more.

'SQUIRE' JACKSON

One of my early peals outside my native 'woolly-back' county of Leicester was at Belton, Rutland, where the enthusiastic 'Squire' John J. Jackson was then living. He invited me for a week-end at the Hall, and on the Saturday afternoon attempted a Minor peal. We rang Double Court and Single Court, but failed in St. Clement's. So, after tea, we started again where we failed and rang seven methods, finishing with the Court methods. I had the pleasure to call this peal, which was the first by Henry Churchill. Soon after came the Great War (1914) and Harry went overseas, but unfortunately came back minus his right arm. This did not mean the end of his ringing career, and his next peal I called he rang perfectly on the second with his left arm only. I also called an ex-Servicemen's peal here, as I did at Enderby later on.

JIMMY GEORGE TELLS HIS STORY

Another well-known one-armed ringer I had the happiness to ring with was George Hughes, of Wednesbury, when 'Uncle' Joe Sykes called my composition of 5,760 Kent Royal, in 1921. After this peal I found I could not get home to Leicester that night so James George, who was in it, invited me to stay the night with him at Nechells, Birmingham. This I did, and must confess that although I liked ringing and all connected with it—James George just about knocked me out! He talked of all the peals he had rung in, showed me all his peal records—all duly entered in a huge book and analysed! When eventually we did get to bed he hadn't finished, and kept me awake half the night. I was glad when morning came and so escape—for more ringing at St. Martin's, Birmingham!

IRON CLAPPERS

Dear Sir,—When one considers the amount of work put into casting and tuning, one wonders if that work and full quality of tone are cast to the four winds in sacrifice for volume after the bells are hung.

Is it really necessary that they should be contemptuously struck by a whacking great lump of old iron? Isn't there a hardened wood or like substance capable of perhaps less volume but improved musical quality, more pleasing to both ringers and listeners?

During a visit to a bell-foundry, demonstrations of tone were carried out by striking the bells with a wooden mallet. Do the iron clappers extract the same tone values, or are they fitted solely for volume's sake?

My regrets should it be proved that the iron clapper be of indigenous skill; nor am I soliciting a supply of wooden mallets.—Yours faithfully,

G. W. BISHOP.

East Hagbourne.

NON-ASSOCIATION PEALS

Dear Sir,—Recently in the peal columns a number of 'Non-Association' peals have been reported. What is, one wonders, the reason for this? Is it because the ringers concerned cannot afford to pay a 'non-resident member's' subscription, or is it because they cannot agree between themselves which Association the peal shall be credited to? If the latter is the case, the peal should not be rung, as the Central Council states that when more than one Association is represented the band shall decide beforehand to which Association the peal shall be credited.

The peal at Histon, Cambridgeshire, on March 3rd was not a peal because the Central Council regulations regarding peals states that 'every bell must, during the peal, sound at every change.'—Yours sincerely,

R. HOBBS.

Retford.

BEGINNERS AND PROGRESS

Dear Sir,—It was with vast surprise that I perused the peculiar effusion above the name of C. W. Hancock.

If Mr. Hancock considers that my remarks concerning jealousy of young ringers were intended for him personally, it would appear that he is suffering from delusions of grandeur.

First, may I point out that I am no 'angry young man,' as it is my sincere belief that there is no place in ringing for their warped mentalities: neither am I against criticism in its right time and place. Mr. Hancock goes on to say that 'if you have a weak case, abuse your opponent,' following which he abuses me right and left: most surely an incredible piece of logic!

Secondly, if a young ringer's enthusiasm is to be maintained, especially in these modern times, and in the face of so much competition from entertainments of various types, every possible encouragement and opportunity must be advanced to enable him to attain an ever-increasing standard of proficiency.

Mr. Hancock would do well to remember that:—

(a) A beginner's enthusiasm will soon wane without fast and continuous progress.

(b) The beginners of today whom he would train so slowly will tomorrow be the mainstay of ringing.

I conclude by hoping that Mr. Hancock will see the error of his misguided ways, and in future will offer constructive advice instead of endeavouring to destroy all before him.—Yours faithfully,

TREVOR N. J. BAILEY.

Beeeles.

'WHITTINGTON'S'

Dear Sir,—It will be generally agreed, I think, that 12 is the number of bells most suited for the ringing of Whittington's. The musical quality of this row, 531246E9780T, leads one to wonder whether it can be produced during the ringing of some particular method. It can, of course; but as this would occur only once per touch or peal, and would also be complicated, this trail was not followed any further. However, the appeal of the Tittums position on ten bells is enhanced by the amalgamation which automatically occurs between two well-known features:—

(1) Tittums is naturally associated with 'four bell' music.

(2) The back four bells are normally kept in the same relative position for lengthy periods in ten-bell ringing.

One wonders, therefore, whether a 'Whittington's' position can be evolved for 12 bells, for such a position would cause the back bells to sound in the order when it came into operation.

E . . 9 . . 7 . . 8 . . 0 . . T

This effect can be produced, the case of attainment being quite different for different methods. Before going on to discuss this, it should perhaps be noted that the Whittington's position involves the 'fixing' of six bells in a 12-bell method, i.e., with respect to facts (1) and (2) just mentioned, we have a state of affairs analogous to the Tittums on ten bells.

With regard to choice of method for our new position, it may seem at first sight that Maximus is more suitable than Cinques. For in Plain Bob Maximus one has only to call 9 and 0 each Before with a single to reach the desired position. However, I think consideration of rhythm makes Cinques more advantageous. The effect sought after can be produced in Grandsire, although this takes quite a number of calls. Stedman readily lends itself to the production of the coursing order 0879E: the 11th and 7th are easily interposed with a single, and one bob and a single will bring the 10th and 8th into the desired place.

The music we seek can be brought up more often in Erin Cinques, however. It is an advantage to change the leading in Erin from wrong (back and hand) to right throughout; and this can easily be done by writing out the plain course in the reverse manner to that usually adopted. Rounds is then the first change of a division, following standard practice, e.g., Erin Triples:—

1234567
2135476
2314567
3215476
3124567
1325476

3152746
1357264
1532746
5137264

If Erin Cinques is written likewise, the back bells can easily be brought into the coursing order E9780. Comparison of this with the order mentioned when discussing Stedman leads to the concept of Whittingtons and inverted Whittingtons. These positions can be quite easily reached in Plain Bob Cinques, also. This is illustrated below:—

INVERTED

Call the 9th Before with a single, and the 8th Before with a bob, in the first course. Call the 10th Before with a single in the second course.

'STRAIGHTFORWARD'

Call bobs thus:

1E907856342
19E08765432

First Course

1E980674523
19E86047253

1078593E264 Second Course
1708 95E3624

1780392E564 Third Course
1870 93E2654

[As in the case of Stedman and Erin, the return of the back bells to plain coursing order is simple.]

When the bells are moving in the opposite direction to that in which they sound

E . . 9 . . 7 . . 8 . . 0 . . T

they will sound 0 . . . 9 . . . E . . . T. This is almost Tittums, and sounds pleasant. [cf. the —6578's in Major ringing]. The musical appeal of both the above arrangements is due partly, I think, to the 'up and down' effects of the notes concerned when sounded in these sequences.

Finally it should be mentioned that snatches of the effects under consideration are already audible, though perhaps not familiar, in some methods. For instance, certain turning courses in Stedman Cinques give the said effects for a short while. Secondly, one can 'combine' the sound of the last half of one row with that of the first half of the next row, during certain portions of Plain Bob Maximus, e.g.:—

(648201T3)E597
68402T(1E3957)

This can also be done, to a lesser extent, in Cambridge and Yorkshire Maximus. The back bells also sound 0 . . . 9 . . . E . . . T at certain points in Cambridge.

'THOUGHTS ON OUTINGS'

Dear Sir,—I expect you will receive many appreciations of D. H.'s 'Thoughts on Outings' in the issue of the 'R.W.' of March 28th: I should like to add mine. At the same time I hope all your readers will make a special note of what the writer says about an annual tour not being a time for practice. 'It is indeed imperative that we leave a good impression behind us.'—Yours sincerely, E. V. COX.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society's nomination meeting was held at St. Michael's, Headingley, on March 29th. The bells were raised shortly after 3 o'clock and ringing continued until just before 9 p.m. Throughout this period the tower was quite full. Unfortunately, the quality of a good deal of the ringing left much to be desired.

As at the last meeting, tea time saw a considerable increase in teas wanted over names sent in, and once again an overflow had to be provided for—this time at the home of a local ringer!

The business meeting was held in the tower. Two new members were elected and thanks extended to all responsible for the arrangements for the meeting. It was proposed that a revision of the Society's rules, concerning membership and towers to be visited, be considered at the next meeting.

The following nominations were received for officers for the year 1958-59: President, I. Slack, J. F. Hodson; vice-presidents, H. Lofthouse, C. Sutcliffe, J. Gibson, D. Thorpe; Ringing Master, L. Drake; secretary and treasurer, J. M. Thorley; auditors, R. Cooke, A. Johnson.

LETTERS—Continued

THE R.A.F. ASSOCIATION

Dear Sir,—To the best of my knowledge, this Association ceased to function over five years ago. I remember, when I was at Hednesford, Staffs, a band of recruits rang a peal of Minor at Rugeley, and we thought at the time of reforming the Association. However, I heard shortly afterwards from Mr. James B. Morley, late of Diss, that a friend of his, Mr. John S. Barnes, had also thought of such a guild, but on getting down to details found it wouldn't be a practicable proposition. This would still seem to be likely, as the ever-present possibility of a posting overseas would give many a headache to the secretary.

The only way I can see it working well is to have various groups centred on the larger camps, like Locking and Yatesbury. During the nine months I was at the former camp there were always at least six ringers in camp of varying abilities, and several peals were rung, but a guild was never formed there; unlike the Yatesbury ringers—an account of whose activities appeared recently in this journal—but I don't know if this Guild is still active. Usually, the time spent in a large camp is fairly short, and there are no doubt many ringers scattered all over the country and like myself stationed at very small camps, where membership of any national association as suggested would be of no advantage.

Mr. Sankey mentioned helping at the local tower. I find that I'm never in one camp long enough to be of any real assistance, but wherever I have visited in many parts of the country I have always been made very welcome.

The real trouble seems that before a particular ringer enters the R.A.F. he has had no encouragement to visit other towers, and just stayed at home ringing Grandsire; consequently on joining up there is no incentive to carry on ringing, and when he leaves he has almost certainly lost all interest. When at Locking, a notice of a special practice for ringers brought very little response, although it was known that several ringers were in camp, but they just hadn't sufficient interest.

The formation of a St. Clement Danes' Guild would only be of use if there were sufficient R.A.F. ringers stationed in London more or less permanently.—Yours sincerely,

IAN H. ORAM.

FORDCOME SURPRISE

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. E. W. Tipler: Yes, his guess is right; the 5.8 at third cross section had somehow got mislaid, so the method in question is Fordcome. This is a pity as I had had a letter from a Lincolnshire friend wanting to ring and name it.—Yours faithfully,

CHAS. J. SEDGLEY.

OBITUARY

MR. J. E. CLARKE

The South Wigston ringers have lost one of their most loyal members with the death of Mr. John Edward (Jack) Clarke on March 25th, aged 89 years. He was one of the most regular ringers up to about four years ago when, unfortunately, he could no longer climb the steps. An original member of the South Wigston band, he had never left the tower since its opening (1902).

Mr. Clarke first learned ringing in the Tewkesbury District. As a ringer, he would always try to put the best into it, and never failed to have friends. He always welcomed learners and tried to help beginners all he could.

Ringers paid their respects before and after the service at St. Thomas's Church, before interment at Wigston Cemetery. E. J. J.

UNRINGABLE BELLS RING OUT AGAIN

Situated some three miles from Whitchurch, Hants, is the village of Hurstbourne Priors, with its picturesque church. Its brick, ivy-clad tower contains a heavy ring of six bells, with a tenor of 18 cwt.

It is reputed in the village that these bells have not been rung for at least 40 years; the previous rector was not keen for them to be looked at, and it was not until the parish was amalgamated with Longparish that permission was granted for them to be inspected.

The Rev. Agg-Sage, of Longparish, was most keen for them to be rung again, if safe, and at the latter end of last year a team of ringers from Highclere visited the tower, and after clearing twigs, oiling and some spanner work, the bells were raised and rung to a few rounds.

Difficulty was experienced with the old-style set of ropes—twice the thickness of ordinary ropes and with yellow sallies. It was resolved that before any real ringing could be done another set of ropes would be necessary.

Further consultation with the Vicar followed, and the writer was given permission to bring a real tough band to attempt a 5,000 on the bells, the date fixed being March 29th. An early meeting was arranged, and on the appointed day, shortly before 2 p.m., five of the band arrived at Hurstbourne Priors complete with ropes, and it was all hands on deck changing the ropes and once more oiling the bells. The 'Tenor King' arrived shortly after, and by 3.30 a start was made in what is believed to be the first peal on the bells.

Despite the fact that there was a constant dropping of twigs and rubbish, and the tenor man apparently experiencing great difficulty with his bell (it slip-wheeled at least once every 720 for the first five of the peal), a really high standard of striking was kept up and a first-class peal was brought round shortly after 6.30 in 3 hours and 3 minutes.

Congratulations were received afterwards from the villagers and the secretary of the P.C.C., and arrangements are under way for ringing for evening service on April 13th.

The Vicar already has several recruits to take up bell-ringing, and it is now hoped that the silent tower will no longer remain silent. One thing is certain, the peal of Bob Minor rung at Hurstbourne Priors will long be remembered after most other peals have been forgotten—a fine achievement by all concerned. G. K. D.

RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD

The first Regional (L. Mid.) meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild was held at Derby on March 29th. Probably due to short notice, the attendance was thin, but the meeting lacked nothing in enthusiasm and some good ringing was enjoyed on Mr. Freebrey's lovely ten at St. Andrew's.

Tea was served at the Railway Institute, where the Vicar of St. Andrew's (Rev. C. N. Lavender) welcomed the ringers.

Mr. Paulson (Darley Dale) was voted to the chair for a short meeting. Mr. Foskett, the regional representative, welcomed the visitors and submitted suggested amendments to the constitution, as proposed by British Railways Staff Association. These were generally accepted and passed on for the annual general meeting at York on May 3rd.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar, Mr. Freebrey, the Derbyshire Association, Mr. Paulson, Mr. Foskett and all who had helped to make such a pleasant 'first.'

Members of the Guild will be interested to know that Mr. Whitaker (secretary, joint committee, B.R. Staff Association) will be meeting Mr. Barrett (general secretary, North Eastern Region, Staff Association) at York on April 9th, when the Master of the Guild hopes to discuss final amendments to the constitution.

PEAL TABLETS AT HILLINGDON

Inside the tower of St. John-the-Baptist's, Hillingdon, on the north wall, below the floor of the present ringing chamber, is an old peal tablet. It is high up, although at one time it would have been conveniently placed above the old gallery, long since demolished, at the west end of the church, from which the bells used to be rung.

It records the ringing of three peals of Grandsire Triples in 1733 and another, presumably Oxford Treble Bob Major, in 1737. The former peals are mentioned in Snowdon's 'Grandsire,' but apart from a reference to the latter by our late captain, Jack Pratt, I have not come across any mention of it elsewhere. Reference to the peals of Grandsire Triples is also made in one of the earlier reports of the Middlesex County Association, from which it is evident that they were rung by Hillingdon men!

Restoration of the tablet is shortly to be undertaken, the cost being defrayed by the local ringers. The stone tablet is defaced in places and the painted lettering and base, which are in very poor condition, will have to be completely removed, the stonework made good and the tablet rewritten. This latter it is proposed to do in the same characters, etc., to give as accurate a reproduction of the original as possible.

I took the opportunity last week of spending a couple of hours up a ladder, armed with a magnifying glass, etc., and made as complete a copy of the record as possible. Much of it is unreadable without magnification, but perseverance brought its reward and only one word—the name of the tenor ringer in the 1737 peal—could not be completely identified. Incidentally, there is a curious small figure 8 above a stroke following '1737' on the tablet. It seems as though the writer couldn't make up his mind whether he should have written 1737 or 1738.

I give below details of what appears on the tablet, and it is likely that this is the first time that the full details have been published. The account in 'Grandsire' is not quite accurate. It only refers to 11 men and their names are not correctly given. We are going to look in the parish registers to see what clues can be had about the name of the tenor ringer; but have any readers any suggestions as to how the name might be traced? F. W. G.

The Guild of Clerical Ringers start their annual week next Monday with headquarters at Knight's Bull Hotel, Bridport, Dorset. Nineteen members are staying for the five days and three others part-time. There will be a peal attempt at Litton Cheney on Thursday, April 17th. Some 28 towers, mostly in Dorset, are being visited.

OBITUARY

MR. W. DENYER

The passing of Mr. William Denyer, of 120, Ash Road, Aldershot, briefly recorded in our last issue, has left a gap in Aldershot ringing which is most difficult to fill. He had a heart attack whilst on his way to Holy Communion on Sunday, March 30th, and died the following morning. He was 75 years of age and is survived by three sons and two daughters, who are all ringers. His four grandchildren are also ringers.

He learnt to ring at Aldershot just before World War I, during which time he served with the Queen's Royal and the Middlesex Regiments. For 35 years he was captain of St. Michael's, Aldershot, ringers. Although he had only rung 15 peals, Mr. Denyer would spend five evenings a week attending practice meetings. He was a staunch churchman and strict disciplinarian. He was a retired printer's manager.

THE FUNERAL

There was a very large attendance at the funeral service at St. Michael's Church, Aldershot, on Maundy Thursday. The Vicar (Rev. T. H. Dart), who officiated, in an address said he was a man of quite outstanding worth. It would be trite and quite insufficient merely to say that he would be missed, for here was a man whose daily life was so bound up with his church, and he brought so many qualities with him, that among those who knew him and loved him, no one could be unaffected by his Christian influence.

Interment followed in the same grave as his wife, Mrs. Emily Florence Denyer, who died 25 years ago. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave by Edward J. Bragg 1-2, Charles W. Denyer 3-4, Alfred H. Pulling 5-6, William H. Viggers 7-8.

The family mourners were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Denyer, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Denyer, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Denyer (sons and daughters-in law), Major and Mrs. E. J. Bragg, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Whitford (sons-in-law and daughters), Miss N. E. Bragg and Miss J. M. Whitford (grand-daughters), and Mr. R. W. Bragg and Mr. W. J. Whitford (grandsons), Mr. F. Denyer (brother), Mrs. H. Dines, Mrs. H. Vickery and Mrs. A. Collier (nieces), and Mr. J. V. Harrison (nephew) and Mrs. Harrison.

Ringing friends present included Mr. A. Harman (Master, Guildford Diocesan Guild) and Mrs. Harman, Mr. G. L. Grover (general secretary, Guildford Guild), Messrs. A. H. Pulling, A. C. Hazelden, F. A. Munday, W. J. Robinson, Misses M. and S. Collins (Guildford), Capt. J. F. Bowen, C.F., Rev. H. M. Insley, Messrs. E. and P. Sherwood, Mrs. Sherwood, Miss S. Sherwood (Ash), Mr. W. Viggers, Miss E. C. Stewart, Miss S. Tate-Mitchell, Messrs. H. C. Williamson, G. K. Williamson, D. Williamson, J. Preston, G. Chapman, D. Macpherson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Page, Miss A. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown, Miss H. F. Mills (Aldershot), Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mills, Miss M. Finch, Mr. R. Finch, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mills (Farnborough), Mrs. E. H. Gant (Binsted), Mr. and Mrs. P. Eldridge (Winchester), Mr. F. Cherryman (Pirbright), Mr. S. Petter (Worplesdon), Miss R. A. Heath (Frensham), Rev. H. R. Wilds, Messrs. C. J. Beadle, E. J. Wells, E. C. Wells (Farnham), E. Gardner, Miss M. A. Cass, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carter (Seale), and Mr. R. S. Newton and Mr. A. Chaffey.

AN APPRECIATION

William Denyer was one of those rare persons who are the real backbone of our Exercise. The furtherance of the art of bell-ringing was his life and he had no patience with others who were not prepared to put ringing first.

For over a quarter of a century he had been captain of the Aldershot tower and, being a generation older than any others in the band, he was our natural leader.

Always most regular and punctual in his attendance at his own belfry and at all Farnham District meetings he was, while not a prolific peal-ringer, a safe and careful striker in the standard methods. As well as serving Aldershot he regularly visited two or three neighbouring towers each week, his main object being the encouraging and advising of beginners.

He had introduced his three sons and two daughters (and latterly his grandchildren) to ringing, and at the time of his death his eldest son, Charles William Denyer, is Ringing Master of the Farnham District (and a vice-president of the Guildford Diocesan Guild), while his son-in-law, Major E. J. Bragg, is peal recorder for the same Guild.

William Denyer was an extremely modest man and abhorred anything in the nature of show or regimentation. He would never take Guild office, being quite content to allow others to hold the limelight while he quietly advised and assisted when necessary. Every year at the Aldershot belfry meeting he would urge that someone younger than himself take over, but this was invariably voted down. So most weeks he would hand over the running of the Aldershot practice to one of us.

Perhaps his most outstanding quality was the high standard of his churchmanship. Each Sunday would see him at 8 o'clock Communion and at one other service, and no ringing at Aldershot tower ever commenced without the Belfry Prayer. He used to say that peals were lost for want of a commencing prayer.

His friendly welcome to any ringer visiting Aldershot was well known, and many a young soldier has benefited from his advice and hospitality whilst doing his National Service in the district. This has resulted in a number of lasting friendships between Aldershot and district towers, so his passing will be keenly felt over a wide area, but it will be in the towers of the Farnham District that the sad loss of 'Pop' Denyer will leave a gap which no other person will ever be able to fill. W. H. V.

'A QUIET, HARD WORKER'

By the passing of William Denyer the Church has lost one of those quiet, hard workers. Never in the limelight—he had no wish to be so—he was content to go on year after year teaching. He not only taught his own family, to the great advantage of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, but a vast number of young people, as Aldershot bells are ideal for children. At Aldershot it is quite an ordinary event for 20 or more people to be at the weekly practice. It is not only in his own tower but in neighbouring towers that his helpful presence will be missed. The Exercise at large can ill afford to lose such men as William Denyer. A. H. P.

MR. W. VALE

The death took place on March 27th of Mr. William Vale, Chigwell Row, Essex. Mr. Vale was involved in an accident close to his home, an accident which necessitated his removal to hospital and which resulted in his subsequent death.

For many years 'Bill' Vale had been in charge of the tower at Chigwell Row, and in spite of many difficulties had ensured that the bells were rung Sunday by Sunday. He was a life member of the Essex Association and a devout and loyal worshipper at his parish church.

The funeral took place on April 2nd at All Saints', Chigwell Row, the bells being rung half-muffled as the cortege entered the church, and a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung at the graveside.

Among the many mourners were Messrs. J. Chalk (life vice-president, Essex Association), F. V. Gant (hon. secretary and treasurer), C. E. Willmington (District secretary), R. Pittman (Shenfield), H. Nicll, Miss J. Hester, E. Smith (Leytonstone), A. J. Salisbury and A. Grainger (Hornchurch).

AN APPRECIATION

How often does one hear the term stalwart? If it applies to peal ringers, tower snatchers or those who take office in their respective Associations then it does not apply to Bill, for he was none of these—but he was a stalwart of the Exercise all right.

Bill was one of the many who seek no honours or limelight but who are content to carry on in their respective towers serving their church and Maker tirelessly and ceaselessly.

His greatest admirer would not have called Bill a great ringer, but nobody would deny his cheerfulness, honesty and sincerity, as week after week, mainly with a call-change band, he ensured that the bells rang out over the fast-diminishing countryside around Chigwell Row.

He was especially proud of the fact that he was a life member of the Essex Association.

Bill lies at rest in the churchyard of his beloved church. His tall but bent form, the forthright and stick-assisted walk, the eyes that twinkled with fun through his spectables as he welcomed bands for occasional quarter peals are all going to be sorely missed, but he leaves behind a record of devoted service in what was once a quiet, peaceful and tranquil Essex countryside. F. V. G.

MRS. DORA MACK

A name unknown to many of the present generation of ringers, yet one who made ringing history some 40-odd years ago, Mrs. Dora Mack passed away peacefully on March 22nd. She was the first lady to ring a tower bell peal of Stedman Triples.

Dora White and her sister, Alice, were the daughters of the late Henry White, of Basingstoke, and Alice (still with us, but now living in Canada) also made history, being the first lady to ring a tower bell peal.

During the early part of the last war, when ringing was banned, Mrs. Mack was 11-12 'man' to many hours of Stedman Cinques rung by the brothers Fred and Jack Munday, Ron Kingham, Don Nash and the writer, and 11-12 were always rung very precisely after the style of Josiah Morris.

When four of the band were called up for service, Mrs. Mack was very disappointed, and on a very few occasions, when all were on leave at the same time, the handbells were dusted and used, but Ron Kingham and Don Nash were fated not to return, so the peal of Stedman Cinques 'in hand' which was in the back of everyone's mind did not materialise.

Right to her death she took 'The Ringing World,' and she and the writer were always very happy to talk over the old days and the old ringers.

Mrs. Mack had a very acute ear, and her tower bell ringing was as accurate as her handbell ringing; and so passes one more of the old school, whose aims and ambitions were not perhaps so high as the present day ringer, but one who always strived for perfection.

She leaves a husband and daughter to mourn her and the writer who was proud to have had many happy hours of good ringing and good companionship.

May she rest in peace. W. H.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2455 Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE MAXIMUS

AUGUST 15th is a notable date in the annals of ringing, for on that day, fifty years ago, was rung at Ipswich the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus; and perhaps it would be opportune at this time, before they are forgotten, to try and recall the events leading up to this historic peal. That it inaugurated a new era in Maximus ringing is evident, for previous to its accomplishment the summit of a man's ambition on 12 bells was to ring a peal of Kent Treble Bob. True, a few peals of Oxford T.B. Maximus had been rung—and weird stuff it is—and the Ipswich men had rung Double Norwich C.B. Maximus, a lively and musical method which has never found favour, but Kent T.B. remained the standard. Now today Cambridge Surprise has taken its place.

At the turn of the century there was a spirit of progress and achievement apparent in the Exercise, new methods were being rung and there was a search for fresh fields to conquer. Amongst the most progressive was a group of ringers in the west, including John Austin, Wm. A. Cave, the brothers James and others; they had rung a peal of Cambridge S. Royal in 1898, the first in the method since the one at Wakefield in 1822, and naturally turned their attention to the Maximus, thus becoming the first band to practise it. Courses were rung and peals attempted under the conductorship of John Austin, who was the first to call a bob in the method, but they never attained success.

We turn now eastward to Ipswich. Here for a long period there had been a good 12-bell band; for 30 years or more they had rung an average of two or three peals on 12 each year, including the Double Norwich C.B. Maximus before mentioned. Amongst its members were the brothers Motts, W. L. Catchpole, R. H. Brundle, with a younger leavening represented by L. W. Wiffen and E. Evans.

About this time the most prolific peal ringers in the country were the brothers Pye and one or two kindred spirits, and living as one might say on the doorstep of East Anglia, they often made incursions there, where they knew they could get good bells and good ringing. At the Whitsun weekend of 1908 they made one of these periodic trips, ringing Stedman Cinques at Ipswich on the Saturday, Double Norwich at Debenham on Sunday, and Superlative at Halesworth the following day—quite a good weekend bag for those days. After the peal at Ipswich the band adjourned to one of those places beloved of ringers for refreshment and talk, and the subject of Cambridge S. Maximus was broached by—so I have been told—Wm. Pye. Anyway, it was taken up by the progressive-minded ones, diagrams were produced, and it was decided to try a course at St. Mary-le-Tower for service the next morning. Now it must not be thought that this would entail 'slap-banging' about: it was a band of experienced 12-bell ringers who did not tolerate that sort of thing. The attempt was made and about eight leads rung, quite a good start this was considered, and a peal attempt was fixed for a month later, which resulted in 4¼ courses being rung, under the conductorship of James Motts. It was too good to abandon now, and another attempt was fixed for August 15th which turned out successful, for a very good peal was rung in 3 hours 47 minutes. James Motts again conducting the composition taken from Middleton's, being M H W five times. The band was as follows:—

Edgar Pemberton	Treble	William L. Catchpole ..	7
William Motts	2	James Motts	8
George R. Pye	3	William Pye	9
William P. Garrett ..	4	Edward Evans	10
Bertram Prewett	5	Lewis W. Wiffen	11
Charles H. Gillingham	6	Robert H. Brundle ..	Tenor

Of this band, L. W. Wiffen, actively peal ringing, is happily still with us, and I am indebted to him for help in preparing this.

There matters rested for a couple of years, during which time a peal of Cambridge S. Royal was rung by an entirely local band with the addition of Charles A. Catchpole—no relation of W. L. Meanwhile, Arthur S. Boar, a local man, and Charles J. Sedgley, who had come to live in the town in 1909, made good progress with the St. Mary-le-Tower band, courses of Cambridge S. Maximus were rung, and a good half peal was rung on August 20th, 1910, at a special practice. A peal attempt was then fixed for September 17th which resulted in an excellent peal again under the conductorship of James Motts, and the same composition. The band, all Sunday service ringers, was

William L. Catchpole ..	5	Lewis W. Wiffen	11
James Motts	6	Robert H. Brundle ..	Tenor

At the end of the peal, when the seventh ringer went to set his bell it went over! At that time its slider used occasionally to jump off the pin; how long it had been off no one knows, but it is just as well he had not 'missed his sally'! It is worth recording also that Robert H. Brundle, who rang the tenor to both these peals, lived to the great age of 97 and rang the fifth to a peal of Cambridge S. Maximus for his 87th birthday.

A few months later the College Youths rang a peal at Cornhill, and up to the outbreak of the first world war seven had been rung—the two at Ipswich, three by the College Youths, one at Cripplegate, conducted by Wm. Pye, and the West Country men had at last succeeded with one at Redcliffe, Bristol, W. A. Cave ringing the tenor and conducting.

Came the war, when ringing was stopped: on its resumption Ipswich was again first with Cambridge S. Maximus, ringing a peal on March 5th, 1921, with the bells muffled in memory of Dr. Hodgson, first Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich. Later the band went on to ring the first peals in six other methods of Surprise Maximus and, in all, 68 peals of it have been rung at St. Mary-le-Tower . . . but that is another story.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The annual meeting of the East Devon Branch was held at Sidbury on Easter Monday, and about 40 ringers and friends attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. Taylor and tea was provided by the local ringers and their wives.

At the business meeting the secretary in his report said that membership during the past year had increased and also that there were a greater number of younger members.

Mr. G. C. Woodley was re-elected chairman, Mr. F. Parr vice-chairman, Mr. W. Webb secretary and treasurer and Ringing Master, Mr. C. Webb vice-secretary and Messrs. F. Parr, P. Davis and C. Turner on the Guild committee.

Fifteen new members were elected, including a new band at Hemyock.

Methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Cambridge and Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples, and Bob Major.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Easter Monday fixture of the Society, at Rotherham, proved to be a great attraction, and this noble ring was tapping out Grandsire Caters as early as 2.30 p.m. Besides numerous stalwarts from the Sheffield and Rotherham areas visitors from Leeds, Bradford, Newark, Retford and Canterbury were also present.

After the catering prowess of the lady members of the local company had been sampled, a short business meeting was held, with the president, Mr. H. O. Chaddock, in the chair.

The more serious business of ringing then continued with Yorkshire and London Major, Cambridge Royal and Double Norwich Caters, interspersed with numerous rounds and courses of Plain Bob for the probationers. L. M. H.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD

In her report presented at the fourth annual meeting of the Southampton University Guild, the Master (Miss Ruth A. Carey) stated that the Guild had successfully continued to encourage regular ringing, especially for Sunday services.

Apart from weekly tower-bell and handbell practices there had been cycling outings in the Portsmouth, Winchester and the Meon Valley area. Inter-University meetings had been held with Reading at Alton, and with Bristol at Bradford-on-Avon and Westbury.

The custom of visiting towers for Sunday ringing had continued throughout the summer term, but this had to be dropped in the autumn when the ring of bells at Bitterne Park was opened, as the University had agreed to help teach a local band there. During the year 45 to 50 towers had been visited, covering some 850 miles, and considerable improvement had been made by the less experienced members in the art of change-ringing.

The first peal, Plain Bob Major, had been rung for the Guild. Altogether two peals had been rung and six quarters in the past year. This included the first quarter 'in hand.' The Guild had been privileged to provide the band for the opening rounds at the Bitterne Park dedication.

The officers elected for the coming year were: Mr. D. Exell, Master; Miss R. A. Carey, deputy Master; Mr. D. d'A. R. Blackwall, secretary-treasurer; Mr. J. A. Queen, committee member.

Mr. G. Pullinger was unanimously elected as an honorary vice-president of the Guild as a tribute to the way in which he had helped so many members when learning.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Central District

The annual meeting of the Central District was held at St. Giles-in-the-Fields on March 29th. Owing to the great number of weddings there was very little ringing in the afternoon, but during the evening touches varying from rounds to 6-spliced were rung. We were pleased to see so many friends present, especially a gentleman from South Africa.

Tea was taken in the Y.W.C.A., and a short service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Gordon Taylor).

At the business meeting the chair was taken by the president, Mrs. Lock. Mrs. Savory was re-elected vice-president and Mrs. Bullock was re-elected secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Bagworth, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Rose were elected to the committee. Three new members were elected—Miss R. Clarke, Miss D. Robinson and Miss J. Spreadbury. E. S.

TEWKESBURY ABBEY GUILD OUTING

On Easter Monday afternoon a party of 11 ringers—members of the Tewkesbury Abbey Guild and friends—made an assault on six-bell towers west of the Severn.

Ringing started at Eastnor, a very nice, light ring. The next tower was Dymock, set amid fields of wild daffodils, where the bells required more effort. Newent and Huntley (the best bells of the trip) followed.

After tea, ringing was resumed at Blaisdon and this proved to be the last tower; an eight-mile traffic jam on the main road to Gloucester frustrated all efforts to arrive at Churcham.

Methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob, and some well-struck touches were brought round

BELFRY GOSSIP

Truro Cathedral bells will be heard prior to the morning service to be broadcast on Sunday, April 27th, at 9.45 a.m. in the basic and West of England Home Services. The service will be conducted by the Sub-Dean, Canon J. E. Fison, who will also preach.

Three fathers and three daughters rang in the Easter Day quarter peal at St. Faith's, Havant.

A peal of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus was rung at Buckfast Abbey last Saturday in 4 hours and 10 minutes.

In the 16th century the Hinxworth ringers were referred to as the Tin Army.—From 'The Hertfordshire Countryside.'

Stafford ringers have enjoyed having Arthur Young, of Hastings, with them during his National Service. A farewell quarter was rung on March 30th.

The light bells of St. Nicholas', Marston, Oxford, were rung for 6 hours and 20 minutes when a new long-length of Doubles (12,600 changes) was rung by local ringers.

Six inches of snow in the Northumberland countryside did not deter Newcastle ringers having an enjoyable Bank Holiday with peals at Newton Hall and Allendale.

The peal at Bitterne Park, Southampton (see page 214), was a 21st birthday compliment to Miss Ruth A. Carey, who was Master of the Southampton University Guild until the end of last term.

Mr. Brian J. Woodruff informs us that the attempt for 27,328 Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Fairfield on Easter Monday was called round at about 8,000 changes after four and a half hours' ringing. The ringing had deteriorated somewhat in the last half-hour and was regarded as unsatisfactory. Another attempt is to be made in the near future.

Mr. Donald Flower, captain of St. John's, Frome, was unlucky on Easter Eve, when he slipped while changing a rope and broke two ribs—the tenor crown-staple nut being the culprit.

The thanks of ringers of the Guilsborough Branch of the Peterborough Guild are due to John Kinchin, of Yelvertoft, for organising a most enjoyable Easter Monday outing to the Uppingham area.

Fifty-two ringers from Northampton and District spent Easter Monday on tour in Oxfordshire. Towers visited were Hook Norton, Chipping Norton, Churchill, Burford, Witney, Charlbury and Enstone. Thanks are recorded to the incumbents and tower representatives who met the party.

At the Banbury and District Branch meeting on April 12th, Mr. Watson conveyed the good wishes of the Branch to 'Jo' on her marriage to Mr. Wilfrid Moreton, and hoped that all the 'changes' of married life would 'come round.' The meeting at Shenington was attended by 25 members, representing eight towers.

Bro. W. Frank Stenson, P.P.G.M., of 142, Minshull Road, Crewe, is again organising the ringing at the A.M.C. of the Odd Fellows conference at Blackpool. He is hoping that for the special service at St. John's Church, on June 1st at 10 a.m., to have not only a full band for ringing but a singing party. There will be other ringing facilities during the week. Bro. J. M. Foster is co-operating to make an attractive programme.

'When I went to get my "Ringing World" from the newsagent,' writes Miss A. Henson, of West Bridgford, Notts, 'he asked me if it was a pigeon racing booklet. I ought to have replied, "No; but there is a pigeon connection—the one the Ringing Master carries if a beginner breaks a stay".'

FIRST PEAL PERFORMANCES

By F. T. BLAGROVE

THE records of early first peal performances in different methods are often inaccurate and incomplete. The most complete list is given in E. Morris' 'History and Art,' but some of the dates are incorrect and since its publication earlier performances in some methods have come to light.

Confusion has sometimes arisen in some early 18th century dates because of the change in New Year's Day, which at that time was at the end of March. For example, the first known peal of Grandsire Cinques is usually given as January 19th, 1724. But if we follow through the early records of the College Youths we see that this is 'old style' and should now be given as 1725.

I hope in this article to sort out the incorrect dates, but it may be that some earlier dates are known to others. If so, I hope that such information will be sent to 'The Ringing World.'

Reference will be made to 'History and Art' and to the Central Council Collections of Triples and Major.

Plain Bob Triples.—The earliest peal board is at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, dated May 2nd, 1715. Reference is made to two earlier false peals, but it does not say whether false in composition or performance. The College Youths have a note of a peal at St. Sepulchre's, London, on January 17th, 1690, which Snowdon dismisses as probably false, he having found no composition of that date. But this opinion can be dismissed when we remember that Stedman undoubtedly knew how to obtain a peal of Triples from an extent of Minor. It is extremely probable that the College Youths, and maybe the London Scholars, were ringing peals long before the Norwich peal of 1715.

Plain Bob Major.—The earliest known peal was rung at St. Bride's, London, on April 26th, 1725, by the College Youths. But their records before 1725 are lost, and earlier peals were probably rung.

Plain Bob Caters.—The earliest known peals are of 6,480 at Leeds, Kent, on November 2nd and December 12th, 1751. The peal of Old Doubles Caters at Fulham on March 23rd, 1783, was presumably also Plain Bob Caters.

Plain Bob Royal.—5,040 at St. Bride's on November 22nd, 1725, by the College Youths.

Plain Bob Maximus.—5,280 at St. Bride's on February 26th, 1726, by the College Youths.

Grandsire Triples.—A peal board at St. Peter Mancroft records a peal rung on August 26th, 1718, and also refers to other previous false peals. Grandsire Triples and Caters had been practised in London since 1684, and although the Norwich peal is the first known, it is extremely unlikely that it is the first actually rung.

Grandsire Major.—5,071 rung at St. George's, Southwark, on October 11th, 1773, by the Cumberlands and 5,151 at Whitechapel on April 26th, 1775, by the London Youths. Morris gives 7,552 at Aston on July 30th, 1792.

Grandsire Caters.—5,040 at St. Bride's on January 11th, 1717, is the earliest known, and also the earliest known peal by the London Scholars. Probably not the first peal in the method.

Grandsire Royal.—5,360 at Fulham on November 26th, 1780, by the College Youths. Morris gives 5,159 at St. John's, Southwark, on September 23rd, 1787.

Grandsire Cinques.—5,060 at St. Bride's on January 19th, 1725, by the College Youths. Incorrectly given as 1724, which is old style.

Grandsire Maximus.—5,112 at St. Saviour's, Southwark, on May 7th, 1792, by the Cumberland Youths.

Reverse Bob Major.—5,040 at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on January 22nd, 1751, by the College Youths. Morris and C.C.C. incorrectly give March 23rd, 1751, at Harrietsham, but this was actually Double Bob Major.

Reverse Bob Royal.—5,040 at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on November 22nd and December 22nd, 1761, by the College Youths. Not given by Morris.

Reverse Bob Maximus.—5,280 at St. Bride's on May 15th, 1769, by the College Youths.

Double Bob Major.—5,040 at St. Bride's on January 14th, 1726, by the College Youths.

Double Bob Royal.—5,040 at St. Bride's on February 28th, 1733, by the College Youths.

Double Bob Maximus.—5,016 at St. Bride's on March 24th, 1740, by the College Youths.

Reverse Grandsire Triples.—The peal at Hackney on March 9th, 1782, by the Cumberland Youths is probably the first in the method. The peal of John Holt's Grandsire 'tripple' reverse at Horsham was most probably Holt's ten-part Grandsire Triples reversed. (J. A. Trollope, 'R.W.', August 3rd, 1945.)

Reverse Grandsire Caters.—5,058 at Shoreditch on September 10th, 1769, by the Cumberland Youths.

Reverse Grandsire Cinques.—Apparently has not yet been pealed.

Double Grandsire Triples.—Annable gave two Double Triples, now known as Double Grandsire Triples or Grandsire Double Triples. Peals of Double Triples were rung on November 17th, 1765, at Spitalfields and on January 4th, 1766, at St. George's, Southwark, by the College Youths. These were most probably Holt's ten-part peal of Double Grandsire Triples. C.C.C. gives the 1766 peal and Morris gives a peal at Chester on January 6th, 1913.

Double Grandsire Caters.—5,094 at St. Bride's on March 21st, 1732, by the College Youths.

Double Grandsire Cinques.—5,060 at St. Bride's on November 29th, 1738, by the College Youths.

Spliced Plain Bob Triples and Major.—5,012 at St. George's, Southwark, on April 17th, 1768, by the London Youths. Not given by Morris.

Bob Major, St. George.—5,040 at St. George's, Southwark, on August 27th, 1750, and is Plain Bob with two types of bob.

AMERICA'S GIFT TO A SUFFOLK CHURCH

Yesterday the Lord Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich dedicated two new bells at St. Peter's Church, Eriswell, Suffolk, and rededicated the three old bells. At the ceremony Colonel Maynard E. White, U.S.A.F., former commander of the 3910th Air Base Group, R.A.F., Lakenheath, and Colonel David A. Tate, the present commander, handed the ropes of the new bells to the Bishop and asked him to dedicate the bells 'purchased by the officers and airmen under our command, to the glory of God and the strengthening of Anglo-American friendship.'

Originally there were six great bells in the belfry of St. Peter's Church, Eriswell, according to the inventory made during the last year of the reign of Edward VI in A.D. 1553. These bells, however, were probably melted down for munitions during the Civil War, 1642-1648, and were much larger than the present bells. It is over 200 years since the three old bells were hung in the church, and during most of this period Eriswell has had a link with North America through the New England Company. This Company bought the entire village of Eriswell in 1649, and with the money raised here sent Christian teachers and missionaries to build schools and churches in North America.

Today, 308 years later, men from all states of America are living in the parish of Eriswell at the U.S.A.F. base, and it is therefore most fitting that they should cement Eriswell's long link with America by donating two new bells.

DETAILS OF THE RING OF FIVE BELLS

Treble.—1 cwt. 2 qr. 22 lb., note A. 'Americans gave me, John Taylor made me. April 17th, 1958. Rector, William Donnan.'

Second.—1 cwt. 3 qr. 20 lb., note G. 'John Taylor and Co., founders, Loughborough. God protect those who fly; may Anglo-American friendship never die. April 17th, 1958. Ch. Ws. W. Lock, C. Frostick.'

Third.—1 cwt. 2 qr. 25 lb., note F sharp. 'John Spark, churchwarden. Thos. Osborn, founder, 1795.'

Fourth.—2 cwt. 2 qr. 16 lb., note E. 'John Spark, churchwarden. Thos. Osborn, founder, 1795. Taylor tablet: Recast 1958. May this bell forth tell glory to God in Eriswell.'

Tenor.—3 cwt. 16 lb., note D. 'Tho. Gardiner made me 1743.'

After the service the bells were rung by members of the Norman Tower, Bury St. Edmunds.

THE ADDERBURY WEDDING

In the presence of a large congregation in which there were a number of well-known ringing personalities with Yorkshire, Hereford and the Universities' Associations being strongly represented, Mr. Wilfrid Moreton and Miss 'Jo' Roper were married at St. Mary's Church, Adderbury, Oxon, on Easter Monday.

The service was conducted by Canon H. A. Moreton, of Hereford, father of the bridegroom, assisted by the Rev. A. D. Walmsley, Vicar of Adderbury.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a ballerina-length dress of white lace, a shoulder-length veil and a diamante coronet. She carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and yellow carnations and was attended by her sister, Miss Ann Roper, and two pages, nephews of the bridegroom. The best man was Mr. Michael Moreton, brother of the bridegroom.

At the reception, held in The Rookery, the home of Lord and Lady Elton, the toast of 'The Bride and Bridegroom' was proposed by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, president of the Central Council.

The bells were kept going before and after the ceremony by the local band assisted by ringers from Wakefield and Hereford, and after the reception an attempt was made for a peal of Superlative but abandoned after two hours.

IRISH ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

Southern District

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held before lunch in the Central Hotel, Mallow, Co. Cork, on St. Patrick's Day (March 17th). The District chairman, Mr. C. W. Galbraith, in his usual quick and efficient manner, got through all the business in record time—although there were 80 people present and a lot of them had (or tried to have!) much to say. Visitors included Lady Doneraile, the Rev. F. Garrett (Rector of Mallow), the Very Rev. M. J. Talbot (Dean of Limerick), Canon Osborne (Rector of Doneraile), Miss Jean Stewart (Northern District) and Fred Dukes, general secretary, representing Mr. Pratt, president.

After the meeting had paid their respects to two good friends of the District—the late Leonard Dobbin and J. A. Haydn—the various reports and routine business were dealt with.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Vice-president of executive council, Mr. D. Benson (Limerick); representatives on executive council, Messrs. G. Bingham, C. Galbraith and F. Bogan; chairman, Mr. C. W. Galbraith; treasurer and secretary, Mr. G. Bingham; Ringing Master, H. Ellis; assistant secretary, P. Hanley.

Waterford was selected as the place for the 1959 annual meeting. Nine new members were elected.

After an excellent lunch at the Central Hotel the draw took place for the R. R. Sherry striking contest. Seven teams competed on the bells of St. Mary's, Mallow, and the placings of the judges (Miss Jean Stewart and Mr. F. E. Dukes) were: Mount St. Alphonsus 'A' 106½ faults, Mount St. Alphonsus 'B' 120 faults, Doneraile 126½ faults.

Later after tea Miss Stewart presented the cup to Mr. Liam Benson, captain of the winning team and also the attendance shield to the same tower, which had a 100 per cent. record for 1957 Sunday service ringing. The shield was shared with Drogheda, who also had a 100 per cent. record.

Mr. Dukes, speaking on behalf of the president, complimented the District on its prosperous position and keen officers. He also congratulated them on their advance in change-ringing—Bob Triples is now being practised at St. Mary's, Limerick.

Eastern District

Almost 40 bell-ringers from Arklow, Dublin (St. George's, SS. Augustine and John's and St. Patrick's Cathedral), Drogheda and visitors (Mr. G. Bingham, Southern District secretary, the Rev. Professor D. Vokes, Archbishop King's Professor in Dublin University, and his son, Mr. A. Vokes, both formerly of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich) met at the annual meeting of the Eastern District in Drogheda on Easter Monday.

Ten new members were elected at the business meeting, and Bray was approved for the summer meeting on September 6th.

Election of officers: Vice-president of executive council, H. Johnston (Bray); chairman, J. MacManus (Dublin); Ringing Master, W. T. Shaw (Arklow); treasurer, W. D. Graham (Drogheda); secretary, Mrs. F. E. Dukes (Julianstown); assistant secretary, R. Huber (Drogheda); representatives on executive council, Mrs. Dukes, J. McManus and V. Crawford (St George's, Dublin).

It was decided to send a letter of good wishes to Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, now in his 85th year, and who has recently been in hospital for treatment.

Following lunch at the Gwent Arms Hotel, the Lindoff cup striking contest was held, with Messrs. G. Bingham, V. Crawford and H. H. Brown as judges. The cup was won by Drogheda, 21 faults, followed by SS. Augustine and John's, Dublin, 56 faults, and Arklow, 98 faults. The cup was presented by Mr. Bingham to Mr. F. E. Dukes, captain of the winning team, and the attendance shield to Mr. W. Bovenizer, secretary of the Drogheda tower.

Tea was kindly provided by the Drogheda Society, and good use was made of the bells between 11.30 a.m. and 7 p.m.

NEWS FROM CAPE TOWN

At a recent meeting of the Woodstock ringers held at St. Mary's Rectory, the proceedings opened with a brief silence in memory of Mr. John Wood, who was captain of the band for many years. The following officers were then elected to hold office for the year ending Easter, 1959: W. J. Smith, Ringing Master; J. Ernstzen and C. Gardiner, bell maintenance, with O. Lamb and L. Hewitt assisting with supplies; L. Hewitt, public relations; Miss F. Collins, funds organiser. In addition to the foregoing the following ringers were also present: Messrs. J. Crump, R. Laws, J. Riley and R. H. Stickley, together with the two churchwardens E. Rip and G. L. E. Soderlund, the latter being voted to the chair in the absence of the Rector (Rev. D. H. Cumming).

The meeting heard with regret that after a stay of only a few months, J. Crump was leaving for Salisbury (Southern Rhodesia) about the middle of April. The chairman stated that the new ropes had been received from the U.K., and he wished to thank R. H. Stickley for paying the local customs duty of 20 per cent. thereon. Thanks were also accorded to the Rector for advancing the money in the U.K. to pay for the ropes, and a guarantee was given that this amount would be available for him upon his return from leave in Britain in September. Those present also sent their regards to Vic Sheppard and Mary, who are also enjoying a holiday there.

Progress has continued; ringing now includes touches in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor, Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major. Four new recruits have just joined the band. R. H. S.

Maidstone Grammar School Society

Twenty past and present members of Maidstone Grammar School Society had the privilege of visiting Messrs. Mears and Stainbank's foundry, Whitechapel, on March 28th.

After a morning sight-seeing, the party was met at the foundry by Mr. A. A. Hughes at 2.30 p.m. and an enjoyable and instructive afternoon followed.

Before returning to Maidstone the party split up; some gate-crashed the Ladies' Guild meeting at St. Giles-in-the-Field. Thanks were due to the organiser, Mr. Scott, and, of course, Mr. Hughes.

DEDICATION OF PEAL PANEL AT ASHTEAD

There was an interesting ceremony at Ashtead on Palm Sunday when a panel in the ringing chamber commemorating the recent 300th peal on the bells was dedicated. During Matins, immediately after the second prayers, the rector reminded the congregation that there are only a few churches in the land containing rings of bells upon which 300 full peals have been rung. This distinction came to Ashtead last year when the resident band of ringers, who ring for all Sunday services, rang the 300th peal in just over three hours. The rector added: 'I will now ask you to join with me in an act of dedication.'

The clergy, preceded by the Cross, and followed by such members of the choir as were ringers then proceeded down the church to the ringing chamber, which is on the first floor and is open to the church. As they proceeded, other ringers who were in the congregation joined in the procession and all went up to the ringing chamber. Then the rector unveiled the panel commemorating the peal and used the following prayer:—

'O God, the King of kings and Lord of lords, the Creator and Sanctifier of all things of true worth, we dedicate in Thy Name this panel. May the bells which ring from this church call us to worship Thee in spirit and in truth to the praise and honour of Thy holy Name. Through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen.'

The clergy and choristers then returned to their places while some of the ringers remained in the ringing chamber to ring immediately after the service. As the ringing chamber is open to the church the congregation by turning round were able to join in the act of dedication.

The panel was beautifully written by a member of the peal band.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch

The quarterly meeting of Devizes Branch was held at St. Michael's Church, Urchfont, on March 29th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. A. Sayer) and tea served in the Village Hall by Mrs. Smith and helpers, to which 32 ringers sat down. Visitors were present from Bath, Bridgwater, Chippenham, Chichester, Ottershaw, Reading, Runcorn and Salisbury. The meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman, who gave a very warm welcome to the Vicar and the visitors. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, the organist, Mrs. Smith, and the captain of the tower for the arrangements. Ringing during the afternoon and evening on the eight bells (tenor 19 cwt.) was of a high standard. A. T. W.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NELSON'S BELL AT JAMAICA

Dear Sir,—L/Cpl. Goldthorpe's drawing of 'Nelson's' bell at Jamaica clearly shows the monogram of the United Dutch East India Company (Oostindische Vereenigde Maatschappij) V.O.C. This great trading and exploration combine had full administrative, judicial and legislative powers from the Cape of Good Hope eastwards to Cape Horn. It is not surprising that there are two bells with the V.O.C. mark in Cape Town.

In the tower of the Groote Kerk a clock bell of 37 in. diameter bears the inscription 'Jan Albert de Grave me fecit Anno 1726, V.O.C.', and also in the castle a fine ornamented bell of 26 in. diameter is inscribed 'Claudefremi me fecit Amstellodami Anno 1697,' and in this case the V.O.C. mark is surmounted by a small 'A' —like the Jamaica bell—showing it to have been cast in Amsterdam.

As to the inscription, I can only say that the town of Jaffna in North Ceylon shows considerable Dutch influence dating from 1658, and it is locally called Yal-Pannan.—Yours sincerely,

VICTOR SHEPPARD.

Charlton, S.E.7.

'THE CONQUEST OF DEATH'

Dear Sir,—May I comment on a sentence in the front page article 'The Conquest of Death' (April 4th) which reads: 'Unless we are hired servants it means that when we ring on Easter Sunday we affirm our belief in the Risen Christ . . . .' Does this mean that ringers who receive some monetary reward for ringing do not believe in Christ? This is a very serious statement which can also apply to the organist, the choirmaster and the verger, who also may be hired servants.—Yours faithfully,

N. F. MOXON.

Cawthorne.

NOTE.—It was intended to convey that the art of ringing on Easter Sunday is an affirmation of our belief in the Risen Christ, unless the ringer regarded himself as a 'hired servant,' in other words, not a member of the family of Christ on earth. Payment of a 'hired servant' need not be monetary; it can be in selfish pleasure, whereby the individual allies himself to a church tower for personal motives and not to give his talents to the glory of God.—Ed.

NON-RESIDENT MEMBERS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Birmingham's letter in the issue of March 28th touches on a matter that I raised in the issue of September 3rd, 1956 (page 491).

For ringing a peal for an Association other than his own 10s. is, in my opinion, too much (even if the ringer can well afford it; even today there are many who cannot), as in most of these cases the peal may be an isolated one. I have had one experience of a suggested whip-round to assist a visiting ringer to take part in a peal for an Association other than his own. This caused some embarrassment to the proposed recipient, and much against his wishes the attempt was made and failed; nothing further was done about the 5s. life membership subscription. I have an idea this is nothing unusual when a peal attempt under these circumstances fails.

My letter of August 3rd, 1956, makes a practical suggestion, which if properly organised and put into operation would I am sure be of benefit to both ringers and their Associations. Perhaps some of our up-and-coming legislators would consider the idea.

In conclusion, whether the subscription for life membership of a ringing organisation is 5s. or 10s., both are too much; for what extra expense is incurred by printing the visitor's name in the peal records in an annual report? Presumably peal booking fees are general.—Yours very truly,

B. S. THOMPSON.

South Lowestoft, Suffolk.

JACK WOOD, OF CAPE TOWN

Dear Sir,—I was shocked to learn from your columns of the death of Jack Wood, of Cape Town. I had the good fortune to ring at St. Mary's, Woodstock, from 1947 to 1950, and during that period gained a great respect for Jack. He was a good servant to his church and to ringing, and I am certain it was almost entirely due to his enthusiasm that method ringing has survived and flourished in the face of difficulties we in this country can hardly credit.

To me he was a good friend, and I shall long remember his hospitality which meant a lot.—Yours faithfully,

HAROLD W. MILFORD.

Plymouth, Devon.

JOHN CARTER'S ODD BOB STEDMAN TRIPLES

Dear Sir,—The interesting letters concerning John Carter's composition of Stedman Triples, at one time known as Carter's Odd Bob One-part, has resurrected much interesting history.

It may well be that the number of times it has been performed are few owing to the difficulty of obtaining the figures. It might be useful to the few conductors interested in Stedman Triples to have the figures, and they are therefore appended.

It is interesting to recall that in 1947 Mr. Fred Dunkerley, then of Moorside, received the figures from the late Mr. F. R. Hibbert, who at at that date had not called the composition.

Within a few days of receiving the figures the Moorside company rang it, being conducted by Mr. Fred Dunkerley. This is believed to be the only occasion on which a Sunday service band has accomplished this composition.

It is worth noting that, soon after, Mr. Dunkerley called J. O. Lancashire's famous composition at St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, the late Ben Thorp acting as umpire.—Yours, etc.,

Oldham. E. JENKINS.

MUSIC IN BELL-RINGING

Dear Sir,—May I trespass once more upon your space to reply to Mr. Chant's criticisms of my articles?

1 'These progressions are not tonic-supertonic progressions.' I find it difficult to believe that Mr. Chant's comments on this proposition are seriously intended as a summary of my arguments. I did not claim that the tonic and supertonic notes lose their identity in a progression of this sort, nor did I claim that the top note of a chord must be its root. What I did say and still maintain is that Mr. Chant's so-called 'tonic-supertonic' progressions are only such if regarded purely melodically, and that so to regard them is to distort their meaning by ignoring the harmonic context which explains them; taken in this context, they are merely part of a tonic-dominant or submediant-dominant progression.

2. 'The submediant chord is the relative minor.' Mr. Chant correctly points out that this is so only when a modulation to the relative minor has been made; his criticism is, however, open to his own charge of being irrelevant and misleading, since the argument at this point is not affected by it.

3. 'Tonic-supertonic progressions are as common as blackberries in music.' This quotation of Mr. Chant's is not an accurate rendering of what I actually said. Nevertheless, I agree that a melody moves down to the supertonic note at a half close more frequently than it moves up; whether this occurs so frequently as Mr. Chant alleges, I am not so sure. It is interesting to see that his 'more often than not' in his article of January 3rd has now become a ratio of 12:1, and that whereas on January 3rd it was 'not difficult to find quite a few well-known hymn tunes that contain this progression,' they are now 'far from frequent.'

4. 'Anacrusis.' Here, as in No. 2, Mr. Chant is quite right in pointing out that I have used the word wrongly (although 'The Everyman Dictionary of Music' says that 'anacrusis has become synonymous with upbeat"). Here, as in No. 2, the objection is irrelevant and misleading, since the argument is not affected by it.

5. Rhythm. The letters from Mr. Chant and Mrs. Price show that this is a more subjective matter than I thought when I wrote my articles, and I can only say that I just don't hear bells as they apparently do. (I may say that I don't hear six bells in the inebriated rhythm Mr. Chant attributes to me either, but I realise that my article may have made it seem so.)

6. 6-3's at backstroke. On this point I must defer to Mr. Chant, who is more experienced than I both as a musician and as a ringer of Minor. I have never heard any Minor which sounded as if it had modulated to the subdominant, but Mr. Chant says he has, and I have no reason to doubt him.

There is one final point. In the first paragraph of his letter Mr. Chant says that those statements of mine which he criticises are 'made the basis of my arguments against 6-5's.' Three of the statements are not the bases of any arguments at all, while of the remaining three only two have to do with 6-5's. Neither of these is part of an argument 'against 6-5's,' for there is none such in my articles, although they do seek to counter one of Mr. Chant's arguments (not his conclusion) in favour of 6-5's.—Yours faithfully,

LETTERS—Continued

SATURN DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—I can assure Mr. Blagrove that the ringing which took place at Ockham on November 30th last year was a peal. How many ringers realise what vague rules have been laid down for the judgment of peal ringing?

The Central Council Handbook—Decisions—(D) Peal-ringing (on page 19) calls our attention to a number of rules and goes on to issue a code to apply to ordinary peals and also to peals rung to surpass previous achievements.

The code is divided up into paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and so on, and when we come to paragraph (f) we read that for peals rung to surpass previous peals of 6,120 changes or more, compliance with certain further conditions is required.

The last of these further conditions relating to long-length peals is:—

'(vi) The methods rung in such peals shall comply with the Report on Regular Methods (as on page 22).'

That is to say that whereas a long-length peal must be in a proper method, an ordinary peal is not subject to that qualification, and Mr. Blagrove's assumption that one must ring peals in regular methods (as given on page 22) is unjustified.

However, I do not wish to slide round the rules which the Central Council hoped they had set out, but rather, in this letter, to show how the changes which we rang conform with rules on both peal ringing and regular methods.

The following is a Principle and a Method. There are no 'hunt' bells.

	The name of the method is
1 2 3 4 5	SATURN DOUBLES
2 1 3 5 4	For 240 call any bell to lead full
1 2 5 3 4	three times with a bob and once
2 1 5 4 3	with a single, repeated twice.
	(The singles may be positioned
2 5 1 3 4	instead of any bob provided that they come with three bobs
Bob	between.)
2 1 5 4 3	This should give 20 different callings.
2 1 4 5 3	The plain course is 20 changes
	long and is TRUE.
Single
2 1 5 4 3
2 5 1 4 3

The name given to the 5,040 rung at Ockham was Saturn Treble Bob Doubles. The changes we rang were indistinguishable from a 240 of Saturn Doubles (given above) with the treble called in firsts place, BBBS, BBSB, BSBB and SBBB, each of the four callings repeated twice.

If it will ease the consciences of those who would otherwise have liked to try Saturn T.B. Doubles, just say you are ringing Saturn Doubles, with a bob every time the treble leads, which you are ringing non-conducted! That is then no more wicked than Stedman Doubles with the singles 'winked.'

This, of course, is far from being the only anomaly in the guiding (?) rules of the Central Council.

A peal of Reverse College Minor (which has not got plain bob lead-ends) would be perfectly acceptable if rung as a peal of Reverse Original.

Similarly, Court Minor could be published as Original Minor. I know of no rule to say that a peal may not be part called, part silent.

It is ridiculous for the truth of a peal to be judged by the name given to it, yet that would seem to be the state of affairs at present.

Of course, to return to the peal in question, the fact that the peal was in 240's which were not round blocks remains, and we can only hope that revision of the rules will be enacted.

There is another method whereby this peal may be justified, but I feel that I have already taken up too much space in trying to convince, against their will, those who do not wish to ring the method, that it is worth while.

After all, we ring methods for fun . . . DON'T WE?—Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL P. MORETON.

London, S.W.19.

P.S.—We wait at London Airport with dying hopes for our rocket's arrival . . . feeling rather like the level-crossing keeper who kept one gate open, one gate shut—said he was half-expecting a train.—M. P. M.

VARIOUS TOPICS

Dear Sir,—I forwarded a letter to your office for your issue of February 28th; the letter appears to be lost. It was in relation to pp. 133 (front), the last paragraph, by Mr. William H. Barber; 140, The Old Gardener; 141, Music in Bell-ringing, by Mr. Desmond Painter; 143, 6-5 at Backstroke, by Mr. H. Chant; 143, Giving the Tenor Plenty of Room, by Mr. N. F. Moxon, of the Barnsley Association.

To the ringing fraternity I hereby express my own feelings towards these subjects. I am glad to belong to Associations which do appreciate and feel that everyone who rings in them does listen to the bells for music's sake. Amongst them I include Mr. H. Chant and Mr. N. F. Moxon, of the Barnsley Association.

I realise that should the likes of these yes-'strikers' become extinct, so will the music of the bells.

As Mr. William H. Barber's statement in the last paragraph—when the striking deteriorates the suffering must be more intense, and the fields of the Old Gardener will multiply.

What is a musical change? (by Mr. Desmond Painter). Does 6-5 and 8-7 occur in music? I would advise him to listen to the actual striking and music of those bells as Mr. H. Chant has. I think he would agree.

'Giving the Tenor Plenty of Room,' by Mr. N. F. Moxon: good luck to you, for it has been my view that the Central Council should give a lead through one of their recognised committee for a time which should appertain to the tenors. They must admit that a lot of peals are murdered for speed.—Yours fraternally,

J. BURGESS.

Friezland.

PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,—I wish to withdraw the peal rung at Alford, Lincs, on Saturday, March 15th, 1958, as I find the extent of Little Bob at the end does not conform with the C.C. ruling.

I apologise to the band for it was entirely my own responsibility in adding the extra extent which I had no idea did not meet the C.C. requirements.—Yours sincerely,

JACK L. MILLHOUSE.

Lincoln.

Progress In Australia

Ringing advances apace here. The advent of the Pipes, of course, helped us tremendously. Here at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, we now ring Kent Major, Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples quite regularly. We can also manage a course of Cambridge Major but it's a bit rough yet. Practice recently produced a course of Kent Royal—it's really lovely music.

A while ago we had a visit from the ringers of St. Paul's, Bendigo, and of St. Peter's, Ballaarat. (It's rather unfortunate but the treble at St. Peter's has been cracked. It will require re-casting.) Had a good day's ringing. Eight of us went up to St. Patrick's R.C. Cathedral and rang for half-an-hour. The ring is one of eight (tenor 20 cwt.) cast by Murphy, of Dublin. Considering they have only been rung four times since 1948, they went very well. We managed to score a plain course of Grandsire Triples.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Bedfordshire Association took place on Easter Monday in and around Bedford. Ringing during the morning at Elstow, Kempston, Goldington and St. Peter's, Bedford, preceded the meeting in St. Peter's Hall, which was followed by further ringing at Felmersham and St. Paul's, Bedford. There was a very large attendance at all towers, visitors being present from as far afield at Maidenhead and Leicester, and it was most encouraging to notice the large number of youngsters. Methods rung during the day ranged from rounds and Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Major and Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Royal.

The business meeting, with the president (Miss E. Steel) in the chair, was less well supported, only about 40 Bedfordshire ringers being present. Apologies for absence had been received from Messrs. H. Gayton, H. D. Harris, E. Munday and A. King. The statement of accounts and committee's report for 1957 were all adopted, and the Association's officers all re-elected with the exception of hon. auditor, the vacancy caused by the resignation, through ill-health, of Mr. G. A. Mason being filled by Mr. F. J. Plummer.

After much discussion it was decided that the annual meeting for 1959 should be held once more in Bedford, the towers of St. Peter's and St. Paul's only being opened. It was felt that six-bell ringers, too, could be adequately catered for in these towers. The question of an organised lunch was raised; this not apparently being possible, Miss Anne Amor offered her services in arranging tea. The offer was gratefully accepted.

The joint summer festival with the Hertford County Association, to be held this year on June 14th, at Woburn, was discussed, and some suitable towers suggested to the general secretary, the arrangements to be left in his hands.

The annual dinner, 1958, was not felt to have been a success, although the meal itself was described as the best so far. It still being considered desirable by the Association to hold a dinner, the general secretary suggested that a dinner committee be formed, and Mr. J. Michael Stephens was elected with powers to form his own committee.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned, and the members scattered to find more ringing.

'A MORAL FOR RINGERS'

By the late H. W. GIDDINGS, of MARCH

Church bells ringing in the height
Of many a tower and tapering spire,
Convey a message to our souls
As sweet as sung by any choir.

They call us on God's Holy Feasts,
To Eucharist or Vespers low;
They ring, they chime in cadence clear
For sacred worship, joy or woe.

'Glory to God, goodwill and peace,'
Each Christmas day they early greet;
At Easter Festival they hail
The Resurrection's message sweet.

For ever down the stream of time,
Which slowly bears its sons away,
The old familiar changes sound
When evening practice ends the day.

Ring forth change and well-known course,
By method and by striking true,
Bring touch and peal completely round—
Ring out the old! Ring in the new!

Lord, give us ringers grace to serve
Thy Church with loyal, godly zeal:
So by Thy mercy we may share
In those blest joys Thou wilt reveal.

OBITUARY

MR. ARTHUR ALLMAN

There was laid to rest on Easter Thursday in the churchyard of the 16th century Church of St. Bertoline, Barthomley, Cheshire, Mr. Arthur Allman, who had rung these bells for 60 years.

Arthur was leading ringer, towerkeeper, sexton and parish clerk. The last of his line to hold the office of Clerk's Freehold—he followed his father, who rang at Barthomley for many years, in this office. His son, Eric, is carrying on the ringing traditions of the family as captain of the ringers.

Arthur rang 86 peals—as also did the late John Brassington (they were inseparable twins)—for the Chester Guild. On the augmentation to the Rudhall six Arthur was afflicted with deafness and probably never really heard the 'lovely eight.' It was not, however, by his peals that Arthur was so well known and much loved in Cheshire, Staffordshire and Shropshire, but by his quiet, steadfast, delightful personality and lovely character and his devotion to his Sunday service ringing.

On Easter Sunday, at 80 years of age, Arthur went to ring out the Easter message of triumph; he collapsed in the tower—at his rope— and 'passed on'—as he would have wished—ringing. With the local band were Herbert Sutton (Acton), Richard D. Langford (who rang his first peal at Barthomley, with Arthur), George A. Packer and W. Frank Stenson (Christ Church, Crewe), and some impressive touches were rung semi-muffled. A very interested visitor to the tower was the Rev. Donald F. Finlay, the Manse of Stitchill, Kelso.

May the souls of the faithful, through the mercy of God, rest in peace; let light perpetual shine upon him, and God give Eric and family courage and comfort. F. S.

MR. PERCY A. THRIFT

A much-loved member of the St. Martin's, Ruislip, band, Middlesex, for over 30 years, Mr. Percy A. Thrift died suddenly on Good Friday, aged 59 years.

He was a member of the Middlesex Association and although he never rang a peal he was always most keen to go for a quarter peal, of which he rang several at Ruislip and Pinner. He did not care for Surprise, but was a safe ringer of Double Norwich and Stedman, his favourite methods.

The bells of St. Martin's were rung half-muffled before and after the funeral service on Wednesday, and a quarter peal was attempted in the evening but came to grief about half-way. He will be sadly missed at Ruislip, where he was of great assistance in teaching the young band of Girl Guides, who are making fine progress. He was cremated at the new crematorium at Ruislip on Wednesday. Goodbye, Percy, old friend, may you sleep peacefully. T. C.

MR. FELIX J. SUTTON

On Good Friday, Mr. Felix J. Sutton passed away at his home in Kegworth, midway between Loughborough and Derby, in his 88th year. He had been a ringer at Kegworth Parish Church for nigh on 70 years, and was a staunch churchman and regular attender at his church until illness overtook him a few months ago.

He was a man of very kindly disposition and rarely missed a meeting of the old Midland Counties Association and of the present Leicester Diocesan Guild, whenever meetings were held within striking distance of Kegworth.

He was buried at Kegworth on Easter Monday and leaves a son, Mr. Percy Sutton, a ringer, to carry on his father's tradition. Many of the older members of the old M.C.A. and Leicester Diocesan Guild will regret to hear of the passing of 'Old Felix.' C. H.

MR. J. E. LILLEY

Ringers in Mid-Devon and throughout the Guild of Devonshire Ringers heard with great regret of the death of Mr. James E. Lilley, of Perry Farm, Highweek, Newton Abbot, which occurred at the Newton Abbot Hospital in the early hours of April 8th after a short illness. The deceased, who was 50 years of age, was a market gardener, and the greatest sympathy is felt for his wife and widowed mother, more especially seeing that they had suffered two other bereavements in recent months.

Mr. Lilley was an active member of the Devon Guild, having been chairman of the Mid-Devon Branch as well as Ringing Master for a number of years, and he had been one of the Guild's Central Council members since 1951. The exact number of peals he had taken part in is not definitely known, but it is estimated that he had rung over 400, 54 of these being for the Devon Guild.

The funeral took place at Highweek Parish Church last Friday, and in addition to the family mourners and general sympathisers the following ringing colleagues were present: The Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox (president), the Rev. and Mrs. D. E. Hood (Teignmouth), Messrs. A. L. Bennett, A. Radcliff, R. E. Truman, W. G. Lavers, A. H. Birley and H. G. Lewis. Among the beautiful floral tributes sent was one from the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Peter C. Young (Rector of Highweek). A. L. B.

MR. RICHARD DUNKLEY

Another link with the distant past was broken on April 2nd by the death of Richard Dunkley, which occurred at the home of his daughter, at Wollaston, Northants. A contemporary of Harry Chapman, of Keyston, he was born at Bythorn, Huntingdonshire, 93 years ago.

His introduction to change ringing was probably at Keyston, and here he called the first peal on the bells in 1888, one of seven Doubles methods. Two years previously he called a peal of Minor in seven methods at Raunds for the Raunds, Wellingborough and District Society, which he helped to form in 1883. At Raunds he was a firm friend of the brothers Gilbert.

He will, however, probably be best remembered for his long service to the church life of Lowick, where for many years the anticlockwise ring of six was in his care. During these years he gave a helping hand to many a young ringer who visited his belfry, and to raise and fall his bells to his satisfaction was something of an achievement. He retired some years ago and left the village.

At the funeral service at Kettering Crematorium on Easter Tuesday morning the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was represented by Mr. G. W. Jeffs. The same evening a half-muffled quarter peal of Plain Bob was rung at Lowick by: S. Coulson 1, E. E. Whitmore 2, I. Witten 3, G. W. Jeffs 4, W. J. Whitmore (conductor) 5, H. Richardson 6.

MR. T. M. STEDMAN

Mr. Thomas Maurice Stedman, who died at Capel on March 30th, aged 92, took part in two notable peals 70 years ago. On May 3rd, 1888, he rang at Capel in the first peal in seven Surprise methods for the Sussex County Association, and on the same bells on July 7th, 1888, a peal of Minor of 10,080 changes in 14 different methods in 5 hours and 18 minutes. This was the first peal of over 10,000 changes rung for the Winchester Diocesan Guild. The last time Mr. Stedman rang was in 1951, when Capel bells were rededicated.

At his funeral on April 2nd the bells were rung half-muffled.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association was held at St. Woolos' Cathedral on Easter Monday. The weather was dry but dull and cold, nevertheless a warm welcome awaited the 80 members who attended. Ringing started just after 2 o'clock under the able guidance of the Master, Mr. T. Yeomans, who saw that all had a chance to ring.

The Dean, who conducted the service, extended a welcome to the members to St. Woolos'. Tea followed in the Church Hall, which was kindly provided by the Dean and churchwardens and ably presided over by the lady ringers of St. Woolos'.

The Dean presided at the business meeting and at the outset asked the members to stand for a few moments in silence to the memory of Mr. Alfred Parnell, of St. John's, Cardiff, who had recently passed away.

The secretary conveyed greetings and good wishes from Mr. A. J. Pitman and Mr. E. Stitch. Arising from the minutes, Mr. T. Roderick said he had returned the Association's war memorial tablet to Llandaff Cathedral, where it was now waiting to be replaced in its original position.

The Rev. Ivor Richards presented the balance sheet, which showed a credit balance of £8 11s. 3d., but it was pointed out that the various officers were not claiming their expenses to which they were entitled, otherwise there would have been a deficit.

MEMBERSHIP OF 287

The secretary gave his report, saying the membership was down a little, there being 287 fully-paid members from 39 towers. Three new towers had joined during the year but several towers had lapsed during the last two or three years. Quarterly meetings had been well attended. Twenty peals had been rung, which was about the average. One peal calling for special note was the one at Penarth by the local band—first for five of them in their teens. Five members had died during the year, and Mr. A. J. Pitman had left the district to live at Leamington Spa; his loss will be keenly felt.

Mr. D. King, of Chepstow, was elected Master for the ensuing year; the hon. secretary, Mr. F. J. Hannington, was re-elected, as were the auditors, Messrs. T. M. Roderick and R. C. Lucas.

Mr. J. Sims reported on the restoration of Chepstow bells, saying the order had been placed for the complete rehanging and retuning of the present eight with the addition of two trebles, making a ring of 10. He added they were still about £160 short of the total cost. Mr. L. Malings reported that work would shortly start on the restoration of Porthkerry tower, and on the proposition of the secretary it was decided to donate £10 towards the cost.

Three life members and several resident members were elected. It was proposed to hold the next annual meeting at Llandaff.

MRS. PHYLLIS POOLE

It is with a sad heart that I, as Ringing Master at Leicester Cathedral, add my tribute to Phyllis Poole, who had been a ringer at the Cathedral from the time of her marriage. She was a shining example to all who entered a belfry—a willing helper in so many ways.

Her tragic death has caused a gap in the band which will be difficult to make good, in fact she is irreplaceable. She was a sincere churchgoer, and the respect shown at the service was most impressive. She was greatly esteemed by a very wide circle of ringing friends; I personally have lost a very sincere friend. The sympathy of all is extended to her daughter, Jill, and son-in-law, Peter Staniforth.

HERRICK B. BOWLEY.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2456 Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

IN EAST ANGLIA

WITH memories of the last Central Council held at Chelmsford, it is not unnatural that the 1957 annual report for the Essex Association should be of more than ordinary interest. All present will agree that Essex ringers were most hospitable hosts, and the visit cost the Association some £55. While not a wealthy Association, Essex started 1958 with a balance of £222. Two people are singled out for special praise in connection with the visit —Mr. A. H. Everett, who was mainly in charge of accommodation, and Miss Hilda G. Snowden, who arranged all the ringing. Nevertheless, we feel we should be neglectful if we did not add two names—Mr. Robert C. Heazel, the Master, and Mr. F. V. Gant, the hon. secretary and treasurer. 'This is only part of our duty as members of the Council and the great fellowship to which we belong,' concludes the paragraph in the report dealing with the visit. We can only add that it was duty well done.

The Essex Association has an ambition—to reach 1,000 ringing members; with 915 they are 'tantalisingly close,' and they would have been nearer but for two towers in the North Western District—Newport and Wenden—having dropped their membership. The Association is fortunate in having 220 honorary members. An interesting suggestion has been made regarding the Association's library, that towers might like to be responsible for the binding of old reports, generally in units of five, and to dedicate the binding to an old respected member who had 'passed on.' The same could also apply to copies of 'The Ringing World' which are purchased for the library.

The year 1957 was a vintage one for peal ringing, with 122 peals against 72 in 1956. In these peals 238 members took part, 16 scoring their first peal and 312 rang their first peal in the method. The conducting was shared by 40 members, with J. E. G. Roast leading the list with 17 and F. B. Lufkin—who during the year rang his 400th peal and 250th for the Association—with 16. The Association also established a record length of Minor of 18,000 changes in 25 methods rung at Stisted.

While smaller in membership than the Essex Association, the Suffolk Guild had a record year for peal ringing in 1957, with a splendid total of 135 rung in 63 different towers. Over 200 members took part in these peals, and although rung on all numbers of bells, no peal of Cinques was recorded. Mr. Sedgley retired from the office of Ringing Master, a post he had held since 1923, and in recognition of his long service had been elected a vice-president. His successor, Mr. Leslie G. Brett, is the popular Framsden conductor.

The Suffolk Guild have an officer not generally met with in these reports—a technical adviser. The holder of the office, Mr. R. W. M. Clouston, has already reported on the bells in 113 of the 500 Suffolk towers. The results, he writes, so far indicate the very poor state of many belfries, and in a number of towers containing up to four bells most unsafe conditions. Far too high a proportion of the bells are unsafely clocked due to decayed and insecure fittings. Mr. Clouston expresses his great disappointment that an order had not yet been placed to have the eight bells of St. Margaret's, Ipswich, overhauled. With the 12 at St. Mary-le-Tower in poor order, ringing in Ipswich, he writes, cannot be expected to flourish under present conditions.

Financially, the Suffolk Guild has assets of £177 16s., of which £40 is in the Restoration Fund. From this fund grants of £49 were made during the year. The annual report costs £52 10s. to print, against which peal fees amounted to £21 11s. A Guild badge was introduced during the year, and of a stock of 328 no less than 124 have been sold. The whole report indicates a very friendly atmosphere in Suffolk, with a resolve to make 1958 an even better year than 1957.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Our peal columns record the first peal by Old Boys from Collyers School (previously Horsham Grammar School). Two previous attempts failed after 1 hour and 42 minutes and 2 hours and 20 minutes, and the band regretted that W. Leslie Weller was unable to be in the peal. Boys at the school have rung for various school services for the last ten years. Girls from Horsham High School also ring for their services, and these two schools between them have turned out many excellent ringers.

Mr. Geoffrey Hulatt, of Felmersham, Beds, who was taught to handle a bell a month ago, has now rung his first quarter on Felmersham's 20-cwt. tenor.

Mr. Peter Crook, of 203, Devonshire Road, Bolton, would like to hear from Masonic friends interested in the proposed Masonic peal at Manchester Town Hall.

Correction.—The ringer of the third in the peal at Stockport St. George on March 15th (page 230) should be John E. Bibby. Our correspondent sends his apologies to all concerned.

The comment of Charlie Dukes on the 'Tykes' peal of Glasgow, and J. E. B.'s statement of 'pints all round,' prompts Mr. Walter Allman to remind readers that at the time 'Food was only 5d. per pint.'

There are several vacant seats on the plane to Dublin, which leaves London Airport on Saturday, May 24th, at 9.10 a.m. These seats can be obtained at a reduced rate through Mr. C. W. Pipe, Grundisburgh, Woodbridge, Suffolk.

Mr. T. Wells, who rang in a quarter peal at Lyminster, Sussex, in honour of his completing 46 years as a ringer and chorister at this church, is the only survivor of the band ringing in 1912.

Mr. J. T. Dyke, who has been a member of 'The Ringing World' Committee since 1951, has resigned. Mr. W. N. Park, of the Durham and Newcastle Association, has been co-opted in his place.

Easter Day, 1958, was a stepping stone for the Alrewas, Staffs, band, when the first quarter peal for the local band was scored. We look forward to many more.

Sixteen-year-old Brian Downes has made a good start in conducting by calling his first quarter peal of Grandsire Caters at Walthamstow, which was his own composition.

We cannot publish quarter peals unless the place and date is given in the copy. Will readers submitting same for publication follow form appearing in 'The Ringing World.' It saves re-writing.

The quarter peal called at Llandaff Cathedral on Easter Day is believed to be the first quarter peal conducted by a lady ringer (Miss Penelope Welch) resident in the Diocese, since 1920.

Kent County Association had 180 new members last year, but unfortunately subscriptions were received from 45 fewer practising members, and the four-figure total was only just maintained at 1,000.

A correspondent writes: 'Owners of Dove's please note: Canewdon, Essex (pronounced Canndon), five bells dated 1634, 1678, 1704, 1724 and 1791. Frame is insecure, wheels broken, no stays, so much nesting material in belfry that only one bell can be chimed—in short, unringable.'

Mr. G. Fry informs us that he is not a member of the committee of the East Grinstead and District Guild, but the names of S. Jenner and C. Tester should be added to the list published in 'The Ringing World.' (See page 222.)

KENT JUST MAINTAINS ITS THOUSAND RINGERS

IN spite of the cold weather, some 180 members and friends of the Kent County Association met this year at Ashford for their annual meeting on Easter Monday.

The officers met for preliminary business at 11 a.m. They enjoyed coffee, but not the company of the secretary, as he was unavoidably detained owing to an accident to the coach bringing the Maidstone District party. However, he arrived in time to give out the annual reports.

The service at noon in the Parish Church was conducted by the Rev. T. G. Williams, Rector of Willesborough. His address, appropriate to Easter, was much appreciated by the large congregation. The lesson (Colossians iii., 1-11) was read by Mr. J. Willis, of Folkestone, and Mr. G. N. Butcher was at the organ.

Lunch was held at the Ashford School for Girls. Afterwards letters of apology were read from the Archbishop of Canterbury (president of the Association), the Bishop of Dover, a vice-president, Miss Lilian Brake, O.B.E., one-time ringer and former headmistress of the school, and the chairman of the Ashford Urban District Council, who all regretted they were unable to attend as guests. The Rev. H. O. Albin, Vicar of Bethersden, speaking on behalf of the guests, thanked the Association for their hospitality, and said he would try to learn to ring. The Rev. T. G. Williams also spoke, but made no rash promises.

Mr. Willis presided over the business meeting with his usual good-humoured efficiency. The minutes, the secretary's report and the treasurer's report, which had been previously circulated, were taken as read and adopted. The auditor's report was read by the treasurer (Mr. B. W. May), who added that he was much happier about the state of the Association's finances this year.

24 FIRST PEALS

The peal secretary (Mr. T. Cullingworth) reported that 154 peals were rung during 1957, an increase of 38 over the previous year. Twenty-four members rang their first peal. There were 38 conductors (including 13 non-resident conductors who called 43 peals) and two 'first as conductor.'

The Association officers were thanked for their services and re-elected en bloc.

Discussion on the printed report revealed that an imposing but anonymous list of service touches should have been credited to Egerton, and that Ospringe appeared to have changed Districts.

Mr. R. L. Sills (Maidstone District secretary) said that arrangements were in hand to hold the annual dinner at Maidstone in October. Mr. C. T. Hillis, secretary of the Ashford District, urged members to be punctual in their applications for tickets. He pointed out that 20 per cent. of those present had not notified the treasurer by the specified date. Consequently there was a shortage of beer.

The Association secretary (Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher) informed the meeting that subscriptions were received from 45 fewer practising members. A four-figure total of 1,006 was only just maintained, but it was heartening that 180 new members had joined. There was a net increase of two affiliated towers. He spoke with pleasure of the restored ring of ten at All Saints' in the county town of Maidstone.

NO CONFIDENCE

The main topic discussed was the work of the committee. Dr. Hatcher said that in 1957 this body had the disquieting experience of having two of its recommendations reversed at the annual general meeting. In politics this would have been a vote of no confidence.

Mr. W. A. J. Knight said this implied resignation.

The chairman pointed out that the committee did resign automatically each year, and had been re-elected on his (Mr. Knight's) proposition. Mr. Knight had confidence in the officers.

Mr. R. J. Carlton, while appreciating the work of the committee, maintained the rights of democracy.

Dr. Hatcher said that the committee had no wish to dictate, and explained more fully its function of government. He only pleaded that members should not act precipitately in reversing the considered recommendations of their elected committee.

Speaking on behalf of the Association, Mr. E. A. Barnett (secretary of the Central Council) thanked the Rev. T. G. Williams for taking the service; Miss M. Nightingale (headmistress of Ashford School for Girls), for so kindly lowing the meeting to use the premises; Mr. G. N. Butcher (organist of the Parish Church); incumbents and tower captains who had made their bells available; the Mothers' Union, for providing tea and cakes; and Mr. C. T. Hillis and his helpers, for making all the arrangements.

The bells of Ashford, Bethersden, Biddenden, Charing, Little Chart, Sellindge, Tenterden, Willesborough and Wye were available at various times throughout the day. C. T. H.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Great Milton was looking at its best on April 12th, when the South Oxon and Mid-Bucks Branch held their annual meeting at this rather out-of-the-way village. The Vicar (the Rev. F. B. Baker) conducted the service and gave a helpful address and the lesson was read by the Master of the Guild, the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg.

Four new members were elected, making the total membership of the Branch 111. Several members of the Oxford City Branch, including the secretary, Mr. J. Adams and Mr. W. H. R Wilkins, were present, and also one of the Branch's oldest members, Mr. J. E. Allen.

The Branch secretary had intended to resign owing to his removal from the Branch, but, after discussion, was persuaded to carry on for another year. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Chinnor in July.

LEICESTER VETERAN 80 TO-DAY

Mr. W. H. Clarke, of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, will be 80 years of age to-day. To honour the event a peal is to be attempted at St. John's to-morrow.

He is at present confined to his room at home recovering from his illness, which necessitated some time ago an operation, but he is making a slow but steady improvement.

Mr. Clarke sends his greetings to all ringing friends, particularly those who have so kindly remembered him during his illness.

MOTIONS

11. (a) Proposed by Mr. N. Chaddock, seconded by Mr. P. M. J. Gray:—

    'That a committee be appointed to investigate the state of Sunday service ringing, to find out the factors making for success and to report back their findings and recommendations so that together with the Ringing Associations and Church authorities the Central Council may help to increase and improve Sunday service ringing.'

    (b) Proposed by Mr. F. T. Blagrove, seconded by Mr. F. W. Goodfellow:—

    'That the conditions required for peals of Doubles shall be amended to read as follows:—

    (a) Peals of Doubles shall consist of 5,040 or more changes rung in:—
        (i) True and complete six-scores without interval between any two six-scores and without rounds or any other row being struck more than once before the next change is made.
        (ii) Round blocks of a multiple of 120, provided that such round blocks contain each of the different 120 changes the same number of times, without interval between such blocks and without rounds or any other row being struck more than once before the next change is made.
        (iii) Combinations of (i) and (ii).
    (b) Peals of Doubles may be rung with or without a covering bell, and no continuous leading bells are allowed.

    That the conditions required for peals of Minor shall be amended to read as follows:—

    (a) Peals of Minor shall consist of 5,040 or more changes rung in:—
        (i) True and complete 720's without interval between any two 720's, and without rounds or any other row being struck more than once before the next change is made.
        (ii) Round blocks of a multiple of 720, provided that such round blocks contain each of the different 720 changes the same number of times, without interval between such blocks and without rounds or any other row being struck more than once before the next change is made.
        (iii) Combinations of (i) and (ii).
    (b) Peals of Minor to be rung on six bells.'

12. To fix the place of the next meeting.
13. Any other business.

E. A. BARNETT, Hon. Sec.

Crayford, Kent.

Joint Meeting At Speldhurst

The lovely old village of Speldhurst was the venue for a joint meeting of the Tonbridge District, Kent County Association, and the East Grinstead Guild on April 12th, and the light eight in the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin were rung to a variety of methods, including Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Cambridge, Ashtead, Superlative and London.

Through a misunderstanding with the Rector, the customary service was not held: this did not prevent, however, Miss Colgate from collecting contributions to the Benevolent Fund of the Kent County Association. About 40 sat down to tea and at one time five members of the Central Council joined in the ringing.

WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION

THE 75th annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held, according to custom, on Easter Monday at Worcester. The service, at All Saints, was conducted by the chaplain, the Rev. L. J. Birch (Vicar of Hanbury). The new Dean of Worcester, the Very Rev. R. L. P. Milburn, read the lesson, and the Blessing was given by Bishop Stuart. The ten bells of All Saints' were rung before the service, making a suitable introduction to the day's activities of worship, business, ringing and the renewal of old and the making of new friendships.

At the business meeting, which was held in the College Hall, Worcester, the Ringing Master formally welcomed the new Dean, and hoped that he would continue to fulfil the traditional office of president of the Association. The Dean replied that he would be most pleased to accept the presidency, and hoped that he would now have further opportunity of developing his interest in campanology—an interest which previously had been confined to bell inscriptions.

The meeting then stood in silence to pay tribute to the memories of those who had died since the last annual meeting—notably the late president, the Very Rev. W. E. Beck, and Mr. Charles Camm, who had been Ringing Master of the Western Branch for 28 years. All the retiring officers of the Association were re-elected, and an especially appreciative vote of thanks was made to the secretary of the Association. They are: Master, Mr. W. B. Cartwright; chaplain, the Rev. L. J. Birch; general secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. D. Johnson: auditors, Messrs. G. J. Hemming and F. Hyde; Central Council representatives, Messrs. W. B. Cartwright, B. C. Ashford and D. Beacham; librarian, Mr. C. W. Cooper.

The secretary informed members that the annual dinner would again be held in the Guildhall, Worcester, and this year it would take place on October 18th. The dinner committee was asked to consider the possibility of changing the form of that occasion, when branches had reported their observations in the matter.

In the afternoon ringing of varying quality took place in the towers of St. John's, Worcester, Hallow and Kempsey. At the latter tower, where the bells are hung anti-clockwise, a touch of Grandsire Doubles caused some amusement. The conductor had a 'back seat' prompter, half the band had helpers standing by, and the six-score was brought round with the help of five additional conductors, none of whom was ringing! Perhaps the best ringing of the day was a touch of Spliced Surprise at St. John's (Cambridge, London and Bristol). It was almost faultless, and a fine example of Major ringing in a packed tower. After tea the Cathedral bells were rung to rounds, Stedman Cinques, Grandsire Caters with a fine course of Bob Royal on the back ten, followed by an equally good course of Bristol Surprise on the back eight.

The thanks of the Association were accorded to the incumbents and towerkeepers for their ready co-operation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A HANDBELL NOVELTY

Dear Sir,—Mr. Morris' writings always make interesting reading and although many of us are not old enough to even have heard of most of 'those he remembers,' I do recall those two Gloucester stalwarts he mentioned, viz., John Austin and ex-Sgt. Williams. I remember attending a ringers' dinner at Bristol before the war and being entertained by these two elderly gentlemen, who sat in chairs, back to back, to ring Grandsire Triples (I think) on handbells. Not being a handbell ringer myself, it had always been a matter of wonderment to me that some ringers were blessed with sufficient powers of concentration to allow them to ring two bells at a time to changes; and so I was really fascinated to see these two old-timers performing with two bells in each hand and out of view of one another at that.

Other memories I have of that dinner are of tune-playing by the St. Thomas' (Bristol) handbell team, and also of Mr. Joe Dyke smoking the largest pipe I have ever seen!—Yours truly,

A. J. GOULD.

Portishead, Bristol.

THOUGHTS ON OUTINGS

Dear Sir,—I am very indebted to 'D. H.' for the leading article in 'The Ringing World' of March 28th, but I should like to know the views of other readers on the paragraph which was underlined by Preb. E. V. Cox. Is it generally agreed that a tour is not a time for practice but is more in the style of an exhibition? Without disputing the facts, I should have thought that applied mainly to ringing for services.

As for the time for experimenting being better left for practice nights, that may not always be possible—in my own case there are only three bells in my home church. Anyway, if we are to make progress someone will have to put up with some bad ringing some time or other, and it may well be more objectionable at 8.30 p.m. in a town than in the day time in the country on a week day.

A recent writer referred to ringing as a dedicated sport. Is this not rather like going in for the high jump but refraining from putting the bar above a certain height for fear of not clearing it?

I see that it is important to leave a good impression behind us in such matters as reverence for the Church, politeness, punctuality and money in the box, but just which way must we try to convince everybody that we are all good ringers when some of us are not?—Yours faithfully,

HUGH B. MAKINS.

Great Down Cottage, Pitcombe, Bruton, Somerset.

DATE OF HILLINGDON PEAL TABLET

Dear Sir,—Could the date on the Hillingdon peal tablet be February 6th, 1757/8 rather than 1737? In 1752 the calendar was amended by missing out 11 days, since it had slipped that far behind the sun—the solar year being the awkward length of 365 days, 5 hours, 49 minutes 12 seconds. [Julius Cæsar had to insert two extra months to put it right in his day!] At the same time the New Year was changed from March 25th to January 1st, so that for dates between these two there was considerable confusion for some time and it was customary to write the year as 'F. W. G.' found it on the tablet.—Yours sincerely,

EUNICE D. OVEREND (MISS).

Frome, Somerset.

PEALS ON SMALLER NUMBERS

Dear Sir,—I am a little grieved to hear of a breath of suspicion by a very eminent ringer against the validity of 5,040's of Minor and Doubles to qualify for true peal status, though this suggestion is, of course, a very old one. Nobody disputes the facts of the case, that each change in 5,040 Doubles, for example, is bound to appear 42 times. To suggest that this reduces it to a 'performance' is bandying terminology and stressing the theoretical aspects of ringing at the expense of the practical.

What was the original motive of fixing the extent of Triples as the qualifying length for a peal? This number has no special magic excepting in that it is long enough to require a certain measure of skill and competence in composition and performance and of physical and mental determination in completion. Thus, though it is a number based on theory, it is meant to be a measure of practical attainment.

Viewing peals of Minor and Doubles from this standpoint, they are, in my view, well worthy to be classed as peals, as weight for weight and intricacy for intricacy, they are much more exacting physically and require much more mental concentration and determination.

For example, if I rang a peal of St. Clement's Bob Royal, conducting from a 20-cwt. tenor, I should expect to finish fresh and relaxed, but if I rang the same method on five (St. Simon's), again conducting from the tenor of a 20-cwt. five, and making probably about 300 calls, I should probably finish in a state of physical and mental exhaustion. Which is the more notable performance to deserve the honour of being called a 'peal'?
